Chapter 13

#1.00 Hrg re: Motion for Relief from Stay [RP]

DEUTSCHE BANK NATIONAL TRUST CO
VS
DEBTOR

Docket 87

Tentative Ruling:

Grant as provided below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to serve and lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date.

Termination. Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1).

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) is also terminated, because it has not been shown to have any basis to exist independent of the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a). To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Effective date of relief. Deny the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a)(3) for lack of sufficient cause shown.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Docket 38

Tentative Ruling:

Grant as provided below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to serve and lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this court's final ruling. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

The automatic stay does not apply. This case has been dismissed, which terminates the automatic stay. See 11 USC 349(b)(3) & 362(c).

In the alternative and in addition, this court grants relief from the automatic stay as follows.

Termination. Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (d)(2).

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) is also terminated, because it has not been shown to have any basis to exist independent of the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a). To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Effective date of relief. Grant the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a)(3).

HSBC BANK USA

Docket 39

Tentative Ruling:

Grant the motion as provided below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to serve and lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date.

Key documents reviewed (in addition to motion papers): debtor's opposition (dkt. 46).

I. Tentative findings of fact:

(A) In violation of the loan documents, an interest in the subject property purportedly was transferred to the debtor, either individually or as trustee of a purported trust.

(B) The transfer was part of a scheme to delay or hinder movant's remedies against the property by implicating the automatic stay of 11 U.S.C. 362(a) in the debtor's bankruptcy case.

(C) This court does not find that the debtor was part of any such scheme (i.e., based on the record before this court it appears that this may be a so-called "hijacked" or "dumping" case in which a third party seeks to implicate the automatic stay for their own benefit, without the debtor's participation or acquiescence, by transferring property into a random bankruptcy estate, or by back-dating or falsifying a grant deed to make it appear that such a transfer occurred).

II. Tentative conclusions of law:

Pursuant to the legal analysis in In re Vazquez (case no. 2:16-bk-10699-NB, dkt. 75) and/or In re Choong (case no. 2:14-bk-28378-NB, docket

no. 31), as applicable:

(A) Jurisdiction. This court has jurisdiction to grant the type of relief requested in the motion.

(B) Termination of stay. The automatic stay, if it applies, is terminated pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1), (d)(4), and 1301(c).

(C) Relief notwithstanding future bankruptcy cases. If this order is duly recorded in compliance with applicable State laws governing notices of interests or liens in the property at issue, then no automatic stay shall apply to such property in any bankruptcy case purporting to affect such property and filed within two years after the date of entry of this order, unless otherwise ordered by the court presiding over that bankruptcy case. For the avoidance of doubt, any acts by the movant to obtain exclusive possession of such property shall not be stayed. Any additional request for relief applicable to future bankruptcy cases is denied (e.g., any request to grant relief against third parties without any notice is denied) due to lack of sufficient factual or legal grounds presented in support of such relief.

(D) Effective date of relief. The 14 day stay under FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived.

(E) No prejudice to debtor intended. Nothing in the foregoing disposition should be interpreted to support the application of 11 U.S.C. 109(g)(2) in the event of any future dismissal of this bankruptcy case. See generally In re Leafy, 479 B.R. 545, 550 (9th Cir. BAP 2012); In re Payton, 481 B.R. 460 (Bankr. N.D. Ill. 2012).

Tentative Ruling:

Grant as provided below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to serve and lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date.

Termination. Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (d)(2).

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) is also terminated, because it has not been shown to have any basis to exist independent of the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a). To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. #42.00 Hrg re: Motion in Individual Case for Order
Imposing a Stay or Continuing the Automatic
Stay as the Court Deems Appropriate

Docket 12

Tentative Ruling:

Grant, subject to the following conditions, and also subject to any opposition at the hearing. Appearances required.

After the hearing date this court will prepare an order and the tentative ruling is to include the following language in that order:

The stay of 11 U.S.C. 362(a) applies subject to the following modifications and conditions:

(1) Service and reconsideration. Any party in interest who was not timely served in accordance with FRBP 7004 (incorporated by FRBP 9014(b)) is hereby granted through 14 days after proper service to seek reconsideration, including retroactive relief (under FRBP 9023 and/or 9024). Any such person (a) may set a hearing on 14 days' notice, (b) may appear by telephone (if arrangements are made per Judge Bason's posted procedures), and (c) may present all arguments orally at the hearing (i.e., no written argument is required). If written arguments appear necessary then this court will set a briefing schedule at the hearing.

(2) Reasons. (a) It appears appropriate to impose the automatic stay, and to impose it as to all persons rather than just as to selected persons, because one purpose of the automatic stay is to preventing a "race to collect" that could unfairly advantage some creditors at the expense of others. (b) To prevent possible abuse, this court provides the foregoing simple process for reconsideration.

#54.00 Hrg re: Motion in Individual Case for Order
Imposing a Stay or Continuing the Automatic
Stay as the Court Deems Appropriate

Docket 13

Tentative Ruling:

Grant, subject to the following conditions, and also subject to any opposition at the hearing. Appearances required.

After the hearing date this court will prepare an order and the tentative ruling is to include the following language in that order:

The stay of 11 U.S.C. 362(a) applies subject to the following modifications and conditions:

(1) Service and reconsideration. Any party in interest who was not timely served in accordance with FRBP 7004 (incorporated by FRBP 9014(b)) is hereby granted through 14 days after proper service to seek reconsideration, including retroactive relief (under FRBP 9023 and/or 9024). Any such person (a) may set a hearing on 14 days' notice, (b) may appear by telephone (if arrangements are made per Judge Bason's posted procedures), and (c) may present all arguments orally at the hearing (i.e., no written argument is required). If written arguments appear necessary then this court will set a briefing schedule at the hearing.

(2) Reasons. (a) It appears appropriate to impose the automatic stay, and to impose it as to all persons rather than just as to selected persons, because one purpose of the automatic stay is to preventing a "race to collect" that could unfairly advantage some creditors at the expense of others. (b) To prevent possible abuse, this court provides the foregoing simple process for reconsideration.

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 1/9/18:

Dismiss this adversary proceeding for failure to prosecute. Appearances are not required. This court will prepare the dismissal order.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, the mandatory status report that was supposed to be filed two weeks prior to this status conference is not reflected on the docket.

Furthermore, at the hearing on 11/7/17, the parties stated that they had reached a settlement of their disputes, but no party in interest has requested that this court approve any settlement or otherwise memorialized the fact of any settlement. Counsel for the debtor suggested that no such act was required. This court expresses no view on that issue, except to note that this implies that the lack of prosecution might be because this matter has been resolved.

In addition, the debtor's main bankruptcy case was closed on 9/19/17 (2:17-bk-15002-NB), and nondischargeability proceedings are not mooted by closure, the fact that enough time has passed for this case to be closed reinforces this court's conclusion that this matter has been pending for long enough that it should have been prosecuted by now, and the debtor has an interest in getting on with her "fresh start" post-bankruptcy. Cf. generally In re Carraher, 971 F.2d 327, 328 (9th Cir. 1992) (in analogous context of dismissal of main case, bankruptcy court should consider economy, convenience, fairness and comity in deciding whether to retain jurisdiction over adversary proceeding).

Tentative Ruling for 11/7/17:

Appearances required. There is no tentative ruling, but the plaintiff should be prepared to address: (i) the outstanding deficiencies with respect to service of the summons and complaint; (ii) what efforts, if any, plaintiff has undertaken to retain the services of an attorney; and (iii) whether he intends to prosecute this matter.

If you do not appear, and the matter is not adequately resolved by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 10/3/17:

Appearances required. There is no tentative ruling, but the plaintiff should be prepared to address why the summons and complaint have not been served, and whether he will prosecute this matter.

If you do not appear, and the matter is not adequately resolved by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

#1.00 Hrg re: Motion for Authority to Incur Debt

Docket 111

*** VACATED *** REASON: Notice of cont'd hearing filed on 1/8/18 -
Continued to 1/23/18 at 1:00 p.m. [dkt. 115]

Tentative Ruling:

Continue to 1/23/18 at 1:00 p.m. to address the following issues.
Appearances are not required on 1/9/18.

Reasons: The motion refers to an Exhibit A that is missing from the attachments. Further, the motion was not filed using mandatory Local Form F 4001-2, which would reveal whether there are certain unusual or standard provisions, e.g., if the loan is secured (by vehicle or other collateral) or whether it is supposed to be an unsecured loan (perhaps with administrative priority over other claims).

Option for shortened time: This court has selected a continued hearing date that contemplates shortened notice (per Rule 9006) but that date is conditioned on the movant serving all papers on the day after the current hearing date. Alternatively, the movant may self-calendar a continued hearing on regular notice.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." (1) Current issues

(a) Ms. Cohen's motion for reconsideration (dkt. 1421) and related papers (dkt. 1423, 1431, 1434, 1436). The tentative ruling is to deny the motion as to the approximately $67,128 paid into this court's registry and as to all but $20,000 of the approximately $32,872 held by Ms. Cohen's current counsel. In addition, the tentative ruling is to require Ms. Cohen's current counsel to continue to hold that $20,000 pending a further order regarding the proper person(s) to whom those funds should be distributed.

Reasons: The point of coercive sanctions is to coerce compliance, and up until that compliance happened the sanctions had not had their intended coercive effect. In addition, there is a "moral hazard" problem (both for Ms. Cohen's future behavior and for any other parties involved in bankruptcy cases) if this court were to reduce coercive sanctions after (very belated) compliance. The motion asserts that Ms. Cohen has suffered and will suffer various hardships due to lack of funds; but she always had the ability to mitigate those hardships by complying with this court's orders (and her own prior agreements), thereby stopping the accumulation of coercive sanctions.

Nevertheless, as the motion points out, Ms. Cohen's counsel had to "negotiate, review and draft the documents needed to comply with the Confirmation Order" (dkt. 1421, p.4:12-14), which means that even after she was prepared to comply with this court's orders there was a period of time when the coercive sanctions were continuing to accrue at a rate of $500 per day. Although Ms. Cohen has not presented any evidence regarding how many days this took (or whether her efforts at compliance were always genuine or diligent), this court is familiar with the progress of documentation based on the hearings that were held before this court. Giving Ms. Cohen the benefit of the doubt that the documentation took 40 days after she was diligently committed to compliance, the tentative ruling is that as a matter of discretion the coercive sanctions will be reduced by $20,000.

Proposed order: Ms. Cohen is directed to serve and lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this court's final ruling. In addition, Ms. Cohen is directed to lodge a proposed order on Local Form F 7067-1.1.ORDER.REGISTRY.FUND.

(b) Effect of attorney liens (dkt. 1423, 1431)

To the extent that Ms. Cohen's former counsel (Mr. Shensen, Mr. Aron, and their firms) request to be paid immediately - either out of the $20,000 referenced in section "(1)(a)" of this tentative ruling or out of any other distributions that might be made to Ms. Cohen - the tentative ruling is that those matters are not properly before this court. First, those request should be the subject of their own proceedings, rather than simply being included in oppositions to Ms. Cohen's motion for reconsideration.

Second, to the extent, if any, that those attorneys are seeking declaratory or injunctive relief, those matters presumably would require an adversary proceeding. See Rule 7001 (Fed. R. Bankr. P.).

Third, presumably any such proceeding would need to join all other known potential claimants, including not just each other but also the IRS/FTB, the bankruptcy estate (dkt. 1434), and perhaps Ms. Cohen's other former or present counsel and anyone who has asserted liens that may apply against her distributions, such as persons who have filed judgment liens or conducted a judgment debtor exam.

The foregoing is based solely on the filed papers to date. This court has not researched the mechanisms for enforcing attorney liens, and does not intend for this tentative ruling to supplant or prejudge any such mechanisms.

(c) Adversary proceedings. The parties should be prepared to address whether Ms. Cohen is moving forward with prosecuting the various adversary proceedings that have been assigned to her under the (now effective) chapter 11 plan. If not, what remedies are appropriate?

(d) Motion to employ professionals (1429). The tentative ruling is to grant the debtor's motion to employ professionals for the benefit of the estate.

Proposed order: The debtor is directed to serve and lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date.

(e) Compensatory civil sanctions (adv.p. 2:16-ap-01046-NB, dkt. 90, 97, 118, 126, 147), and attorney liens (dkt. 1423, 1431, 1433). The parties should be prepared to address the issue of which party should receive the monthly rent and the security deposit that Ms. Cohen would otherwise receive pursuant to the plan. As stated above in section "(1)(b)" of this tentative ruling, this court has concerns about whether this issue has been properly presented for determination at this time.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 6/25/13. The tentative ruling is to set a continued post-confirmation status conference for 7/11/17 at 2:00 p.m., but the parties should be prepared to address at the hearing the necessity of scheduling a continued hearing sooner or later than that date, and any other deadlines in this case.

If you do not appear, and the matter is not adequately resolved by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Plan/Disclosure Statement: At the hearing on 12/5/17, this court cautioned debtors' counsel about the possibility of dismissing this case for failure to prosecute. Although the debtors have reached an agreement with Sheffield Financial (dkt. 51, 53), it does not appear that the debtors have reached agreements with any of their other secured creditors (see dkt. 45, Ex.H, at PDF p.14, Endnotes 2B-2D), despite this case having been pending for nearly eight months. As a result, counsel for the debtor should address why this court should not dismiss this case.

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues.

(a) Plan/Disclosure Statement (dkt. 44, 45). There is a blank page in the plan that should be deleted (dkt. 44 at PDF p.11).

Exhibit F (dkt. 45 at PDF p.12) appears to contain some errors: line "1" lists general unsecured claims of $64,716, the source for which is listed as dkt.10, plus another $7,970.39 in line "8" from a "Continuation Sheet"; but dkt.10 is not a listing of creditors (it is a notice of commencement of this case and the meeting of creditors), the only bankruptcy Schedule E/F that appears on the docket (dkt.1) lists general unsecured claims of $64,672.60, and there is no "Continuation Sheet" attached.

The debtor discloses (dkt. 45, Ex.H, at PDF p.14, Endnotes 2B-2E) that agreements have yet to be reached with various secured creditors; and therefore it appears appropriate to defer any solicitation of votes. The debtor's counsel should be prepared to address how long it is expected to take before agreements are reached or unresolved disputes are ready for presentation to this court for decision.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 5/10/17.

(a) Bar date: 8/31/17 (timely served, dkt. 26).

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement (dkt. 77, 76)*: 11/14/17 deadline to file (NOT SERVE - except on the U.S. Trustee) any redlined revisions per the above tentative ruling and any matters discussed at the status conference.

(c) Continued status conference: 12/5/17 at 1:00 p.m. No written status report is required.

*Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

(1) Current issues.

(a) Orders. The debtors' counsel should be prepared to address why certain orders have not been lodged, namely, (i) the order on the debtors' motion to value their personal property (dkt. 27), which motion was granted on 7/11/17, and (ii) the order on the debtors' application to employ general bankruptcy counsel (dkt. 22).

Tentative Ruling for 6/20/17:

Grant the budget motion and continue the status conference as set forth below. Appearances are not required on 6/20/17.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Budget motion. This court mistakenly ruled at the status conference on 6/13/17 that the budget motion would be granted on a final basis, not realizing that the 6/13/17 hearing on that motion had been vacated because an amended motion had been filed and set for hearing on this 6/20/17 date. See dkt. 16, 20. Notwithstanding that error, no opposition has been filed to the budget motion, and the tentative ruling is to issue an order

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: file by 9/15/17 using the forms required by Judge Bason (DO NOT SERVE yet, except on the U.S. Trustee - the court will set a deadline and procedures at a later time).

(1) Current issues.

(a) Budget motion. The debtors' amended budget motion filed on 6/1/17 (dkt. 20) appears to have only partially cured the defects pointed out by the U.S. Trustee in its opposition (dkt. 19) to the initial budget motion (dkt. 16). First, the debtor and/or spouse apparently has income from a property or business but has failed to provide a breakdown of gross receipts, ordinary and necessary business expenses, and calculation of the resulting monthly net income. See dkt. 20 at PDF p.7 (bankruptcy schedule "I" line 8a).

Second, the budget motion includes both (a) bankruptcy schedules "I" and "J" and (b) a spreadsheet showing what appears to be largely or entirely duplicative data. Which one controls (or are both the same)?

Third, the notice of the amended motion incorrectly provides that oppositions are due 14 days prior to the hearing on the motion, although the motion was set on shortened notice pursuant to this court's posted Procedures. For this reason, this court intends to hear oppositions to the amended budget motion at the hearing on 6/13/17.

The tentative ruling is to grant the budget motion on an interim basis, based on the proposed budget spreadsheet (not bankruptcy schedules "I" and "J"), with a deadline of 6/14/17 to file a supplemental declaration providing a thorough breakdown of gross revenues, expenses and calculation of net income for each property/business, and with a continued hearing on 6/20/17 at 1:00 p.m.

#7.00 Cont'd Status Conference re: Chapter 11 Case
fr. 12/19/17

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 1/9/18:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues. At the 12/19/17 status conference this court continued the hearing at the debtor's request for more time to engage counsel and to file missing documents (see Order Setting Deadlines, dkt. 11). The documents were timely filed - but they did not appear on the docket until the following week due to holiday court closures, and this case was erroneously dismissed with a bar to refiling (see Dismissal Order, dkt. 13). The Dismissal Order was vacated once the documents appeared on the docket (see dkt. 18). In the midst of correcting these and other deficiencies, it appears that the debtor neglected to comply with this court's Order Setting Principal Status Conference and Procedures (dkt. 2, the "Status Order"), which directed the debtor to (a) file a Case Status Report using Local Form F 2081-1.1.C11.STATUS.RPT (originally due 12/5/17), (b) serve that status report on the United States Trustee and any person who requests a copy, with a proof of service, and (c) serve the Status Order itself on all parties in interest, and file a proof of service. There is no Tentative Ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address these issues and present a case status report orally.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 11/29/17.

- (a) Bar date: 3/6/18 (DO NOT SERVE notice yet - court will prepare an order after the status conference).
- (b) Plan/Disclosure Statement: The court will set a deadline and procedures at a later time.
- (c) Continued status conference: 1/30/18 at 1:00 p.m., brief status report due 1/16/18.

Tentative Ruling for 12/19/17:

Appearances required. The tentative ruling is to dismiss this case with a 180 day bar against being a debtor in bankruptcy for willful failure to appear in proper prosecution of this case. 11 U.S.C. 109(g)(1). The deficiencies noted by the Clerk's office when the petition was filed (dkt. 1) have not been cured, and the debtor did not serve this court's order setting this status conference (dkt. 2) as directed therein.

Continue to 2/27/18 at 1:00 p.m., pursuant to the debtor's request (Orantes Decl., dkt. 114, para.12) to provide the debtor with an opportunity to negotiate with the claim holder. In addition, based on that declaration this court is persuaded, subject to any interim and final fee applications, that it is appropriate for counsel to bill (a) for the claim objection and (b) for the time spent preparing that declaration. Appearances are not required on 1/9/18.

Continue to 1/9/18 at 1:00 p.m. to address the following issues. Appearances are not required on 12/19/17.

Reasons:

(1) The claim objection fails to include a sufficient cost/benefit analysis.
Judge Bason's posted Procedures (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) state:

When objecting to claims, be sure to consider whether the costs of preparing and litigating the claim objection (administrative expenses) do not exceed the anticipated benefits (reductions in claims). For example, if the anticipated dividend is small or 0%, your claim objection to any general unsecured claim should clearly explain how it is justified to incur the attorney fees for that objection.

In this instance, it is unclear whether the debtor has more than minimal assets, so it is possible that claim objections do nothing but deplete whatever minimal recovery creditors might otherwise receive. In other words, counsel for the debtor may be charging the bankruptcy estate (and the debtor) more than it would cost simply to pay the projected distribution to the claim.

No later than 12/29/17, the movant must file either:

(a) a supplemental declaration explaining why the attorney fees for this objection are justified (including supporting evidence, such as a copy of the plan showing the projected dividend to the claimant, and a calculation comparing that projected dividend against the attorney fees related to this claim objection), or

(b) a withdrawal of the claim objection (so as not to further waste the time of this Bankruptcy Court, the claimant, and any other parties in interest in addressing this matter).

(2) Counsel is not expected to charge any fees on this matter. This Bankruptcy Court presumes that counsel will not charge any fees on this matter (including all past, present and future work related to this claim objection) and will return any fees that might be (or might have already been) awarded relative to this matter, without prejudice to renewing any application for fees if at a later time it appears that such fees are warranted based on a cost/benefit analysis supported by adequate evidence. If the foregoing presumption is incorrect, then counsel must appear at the continued hearing and argue why fees are appropriate.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." (1) Current issues

(a) Status Report (dkt. 42): The debtors' status report fails to suggest any bar date or any deadline for filing a draft plan and draft disclosure statement. The debtors suggest that the Fresco litigation might have to conclude before they can propose plan, but they fail to support any such delay with relevant information about that litigation, nor do they explain how claims estimation and/or a disputed claims reserve would be inadequate to address this litigation. See generally 11 U.S.C. 502(c) and Rule 3018(a) (Fed. R. Bankr. P.). Accordingly, the tentative ruling is to fix the deadlines set forth below.

(b) Cash collateral motion (dkt. 8). The tentative ruling is to grant this motion on a final basis, on the same terms as the interim order (dkt. 43).

(a) Proofs of service (dkt. 18, 19, 21, 22). Service does not appear to be in compliance with this court's orders shortening time because they do not certify that anyone was served via overnight delivery or other expedited means.

The following tentative rulings are contingent on filing a corrected proof of service, no later than the day after this hearing, declaring that such expedited service was actually done, or if that is not true then the tentative ruling is to impose sanctions of $200 on counsel for the debtors and, despite the lack of service, authorize the proposed expenditures of cash collateral and the proposed utility deposits as an interim method of providing adequate protection under 11 U.S.C. 361-366.

Tentative Ruling for 11/14/17:

This court anticipates posting a tentative ruling at a later time.

Tentative Ruling for 10/26/17:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor.

(1) Current issues

(a) Proof of service (dkt. 28). Service appears to be in compliance with this court's orders shortening time, except that no addresses are listed. The following tentative rulings are contingent on filing a corrected proof of service, no later than the day after this hearing, listing those addresses.

(b) Cash collateral motion (dkt. 9). Subject to any opposition at the hearing, the tentative ruling is to grant this motion on the terms set forth in the separate tentative ruling on that motion.

(c) Payroll motion (dkt. 6). Subject to any opposition at the hearing, the tentative ruling is to grant this motion. Proposed order: Movant is directed to serve and lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 10/16/17.

(a) Bar date: TBD

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: TBD

(c) Continued status conference: 11/14/17 at 1:00 p.m. (see order, dkt. 20).

*Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

If you do not appear, and the matter is not adequately resolved by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Chapter 13

#1.00 Hrg re: Motion to avoid junior lien on principal residence
with creditor: Hilltop Colony HOA

Docket 21

Tentative Ruling:

Appearances required. There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address the following issues:

(1) FRBP 7001

Hilltop Colony Homeowners Assoc. ("Hilltop") contends that an adversary proceeding is required pursuant to Rule 7001 (Fed. R. Bankr. P.), but this argument has been mooted by the recent amendment to Rule 3012 ("a request to determine the amount of a secured claim may be made by motion") (emphasis added; as amended 12/1/17). Additionally, even under the prior version of Rule 3012, Judge Bason followed the predominant view adopted by other courts and Collier on Bankruptcy that no adversary proceeding is required.

Hilltop contends (dkt. 26, p.2:25-3:1) that it is "critical" that it have the procedural protections of an adversary proceeding, so as to be able to impeach the debtor and her witnesses. But discovery, cross examination and other tools generally are available in contested matters. See Rule 9014(c). This court has discretion whether to incorporate any specific rules from adversary proceedings (id.), but Hilltop has not established any reason why the ordinary procedures applicable to contested matters would be inadequate.

(2) Res Judicata

Judge Bason is not persuaded by Hilltop's arguments regarding res judicata. There is nothing in the record to show that Judge Zurzolo ruled on the merits. Rather, based on this court's review of the audio recording from the prior hearing, his decision avoided making any substantive determinations and denied the motion on procedural grounds.

(3) Discovery and evidentiary Hearing

(a) Principal residence issue

Chapter 13

Hilltop states that it intends to challenge the debtor's assertion that the property is her "principal" residence. First, that issue appears to be irrelevant to the debtor's motion under 11 U.S.C. 506. A debtor generally has greater, not less, ability to modify the rights of lienholders under section 506 and a chapter 13 plan if the property is not a principal residence. See 11 U.S.C. 1322(b)(2); In re Zimmer, 313 F.3d 1220 (9th Cir. 2002).

Second, although the use of the property as a residence could matter if the debtor were seeking avoidance of the lien because it allegedly impairs her homestead exemption (11 U.S.C. 522(f)), that is not what the current motion does. The debtor's motion seeks to value the property and (eventually) avoid the lien under 11 U.S.C. 506, not 522(f), so exemptions are irrelevant. (The debtor confuses the issue because her declaration, dkt. 21, para.7, states that if Hilltop's lien is not entirely unsecured that lien impairs her homestead; but this court interprets that statement as merely a preservation of rights to bring a motion under section 522(f) in the event that the current motion under section 506 fails.)

In sum, the principal residence issue appears to be irrelevant at the present time. If it becomes relevant at a later time then the parties can address it.

(b) Valuation

The parties should be prepared to address how they propose to resolve their disputes re: valuation of the subject property - e.g., (i) with an evidentiary hearing; (ii) with a court ruling based solely on the written record (to save costs, if all parties consent), (iii) through mediation, or (iv) through appointment of an appraiser (jointly selected by the parties/their appraisers) as the court's own expert under FRE 706. Note: Judge Bason requires valuations at or near the petition date. See In re Gutierrez, 503 B.R. 458 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2013).

Tentative Ruling:

Appearances required. This matter was set for hearing based on the Chapter 13 Trustee's objection (dkt. 89) that, among other things, "it is not clear if all lienholders have agreed to such a sale." One lienholder (apparently the senior lienholder who will be paid in full) has filed a conditional non-opposition (dkt. 96), but what about the other lienholders? The motion does not request any sale free and clear of liens under 11 U.S.C. 363(f), nor does the motion address the elements of that statute. Does the debtor intend to amend the motion to seek such relief?

Docket 17

Tentative Ruling:

Deny (without prejudice). Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to serve and lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this court's final ruling.

Reasons:

(1) Service

The motion papers were not served: to the attention of an officer, a managing or general agent, or to any other agent authorized by appointment of law (FRBP 7004(b)(3)), at an address that appears to be reasonably calculated to reach the officer (e.g., corporate headquarters). Note: Judge Bason does not require that a specific individual be named -- "Attn: Officer or Managing/General Agent" is sufficient.

(2) Valuation

The Kelly Blue Book valuation filed in support of the motion (Exhibit 2) lists a "trade in" value range of $3,160 - $4,115 with an average of $3,638. First, a "trade in" value is not the "replacement value" that "a retail merchant would charge" the debtor within the meaning of 11 U.S.C. 506(a)(2). Second, the debtor seeks a valuation even below the lowest range of trade in values: $3,135.

#13.00 [CASE DISMISSED ON 11/8/17]

Hrg re: Objection to Claim Number 4 by Claimant
American InfoSource LP as agent for Midland Funding LLC.

Docket 156

Tentative Ruling:

Continue to 2/8/18 at 8:30 a.m., subject to the conditions set forth below, or deny if the debtor cannot meet those conditions. Appearances are not required on 1/11/18.

(1) Option for continued hearing date

This court has selected a continued hearing date that is conditioned on the debtor (a) serving a copy of this tentative ruling on the claimant no later than 1/15/18, (b) serving an amended claim objection addressing the issues described below no later than the same date (which should be possible if, as the debtor implies, she already has the missing documents), and (c) filing a proof of service no later than 1/18/18.

Alternatively, the debtor must lodge a proposed order denying this claim objection (without prejudice) within seven days after this hearing, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this court's final ruling.

(2) Key documents reviewed: debtor's claim objection (dkt. 156); amended claim (no. 4-2); debtor's reply (dkt. 160).

(3) Reasons for conditional continuance

As this court has explained before, the debtor has the burden of proof in asserting a defense of the statute of limitations. See dkt. 141 and memorandum decision referenced therein. The debtor now asserts that, although she apparently has no records related to this claimant, she and her husband stopped paying other creditors around December of 2008 and she believes that they stopped paying this claimant as well. She declares, "[w]e stopped making payments on all of our credit cards and stopped making payments at that time." Dkt. 156, p.6:12-13 (emphasis added).

The debtor's memory from several years ago is not normally sufficient to overcome the claimant's records (as this court has explained before, her remedy is to supplement her memory with her own written records or by seeking discovery, if appropriate). In this instance, however, a combination of things might be sufficient, if supplemented as described below, to shift the burden back to the claimant.

That combination of things is:

(a) the original proof of claim includes a summary of its business records, not a monthly statement that covers the alleged date of the last payment, and although the summary is sufficient as against the debtor's memory, she allegedly has more evidence (as described below);

(b) the amended proof of claim includes a monthly statement for the applicable month but the debtor's name has been redacted (that would not matter, because even without a monthly statement the debtor's memory is not enough to overcome the prima facie validity of the proof of claim, not to mention the claimant's written business records; but again the debtor alleges that she has more evidence); and

(c) the debtor asserts that "I obtained a copy of my credit report" and that report "did not include any information related to an account with 'Chase Bank USA, NA' which Creditor asserts was the 'Previous Creditor.'" Dkt. 156, pp. 6:14-15 & 7:17-18. (This court notes that the debtor's only claim objection is the statute of limitations - she does not argue that there was no debt owed by her in the first place.) There are at least three problems with the debtor's reliance on this last item "(c)".

First, the debtor fails to provide a (redacted) copy of the credit report. The debtor's hearsay summary of that report is insufficient to shift the burden to the claimant to show the lack of a statute of limitations defense.

Second, the debtor tacitly admits that she and her husband were both involved in credit transactions for which she is liable, but she only refers to "my" credit report, not his. The claimant's business records show that someone made a payment on "06/05/2009" (see dkt. 156, p.6:10), so the debtor's alleged credit report showing that she did not make a payment is insufficient to overcome the creditor's evidence that a payment was made. (The debtor at times refers to "reports" - plural - which implies that she already has her husband's credit report. But if the debtor does not have her husband's credit report, and cannot obtain it, then she can seek discovery if she truly believes that neither she nor her husband made the payment that the claimant's record shows was made.)

Third, the debtor has brought the identical claim objection to three claims, so she is suggesting that three separate proofs of claim coincidentally made the same mistake of reflecting payments that were not actually made. This court assumes without deciding that a credit report plus the debtor's memory would outweigh the evidentiary effect of a single proof of claim (unsupported by a monthly statement showing the debtor's name). But it is implausible that three separate proofs of claim signed under penalty of perjury, supported by three separate sets of business records, would all make the same mistake of reflecting payments that were never made. It is unclear if there is any explanation for this alleged coincidence, but perhaps the debtor can offer one. See generally Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678 (2009) (to avoid dismissal, "a complaint must contain sufficient factual matter, accepted as true, to state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face") (citation omitted, emphasis added). See also Rule 9014(c) (Fed. R. Bankr. P.) (rules applicable to complaints can apply to contested matters).

The bottom line is that the debtor has the burden to show a statute of limitations defense, and her hearsay, partial, and implausible evidence is inadequate to shift the burden to the claimant to show the lack of such a defense. As this court has explained before, the debtor must meet her burden of proof even absent a written response by the claimant, especially because it generally costs more for the claimant to respond to unmeritorious claim objections than the claim is worth. See Case No. 2:13-bk-15745-NB, Dkt. 134, p.15.

(4) Caveats

By way of background this court notes that the debtor's case has been dismissed due to the debtor's failure to turn over tax refunds of over $17,000 (despite numerous notifications that she was required to do so). Now she hopes that if she can reduce her claims and pay an increased dividend, or even pay her creditors in full, then she can have the dismissal vacated and obtain her chapter 13 discharge.

First, this tentative ruling should not be read to suggest that if the debtor files an amended claim objection satisfying the conditions described above that will necessarily result in disallowance of the claim. For example, the claimant could raise additional responses, or whatever amended claim objection the debtor files could raise issues that this court has not yet anticipated.

Second, this tentative ruling should not be read to imply that, even if this claim and other claims are disallowed and the debtor pays all remaining claims in full, the dismissal of the debtor's case will be vacated. This court has often expressed concerns about the "moral hazard" of establishing a practice of excusing a debtor's failure to turn over tax refunds - which is essentially the theft of funds that belong to the estate - if the only condition is that the debtor pays back the funds. That is essentially an incentive to engage in such theft because there is no penalty for getting caught except return of the funds.

Third, this tentative ruling should not be read as an assurance that whatever the debtor's counsel might charge the bankruptcy estate will be justified by a cost/benefit analysis. Of course, if the debtor can afford to pay counsel's fees and also pay 100% of all allowed claims then counsel's fees will meet the cost/benefit test; but if the debtor proposes to pay her creditors less than 100%, in order to pay her attorney to overcome her theft of funds from the estate, then it will be more difficult to show that the expenditure of those funds is warranted from a cost/benefit perspective.

(5) Conclusion

The tentative ruling is that the debtor can choose to file and serve an amended claim objection, objecting to claim no. 4-2, if she can provide (redacted) credit report(s) for herself and her husband and an argument and/or evidence for why it is plausible that three proofs of claim filed under penalty of perjury and supported by business records would all be incorrect about the dates of the last payments. If the debtor does not file and serve such amended documents, then the tentative ruling is that she must, within seven days of this hearing, lodge a proposed order denying her claim objection (without prejudice).

Judge Bason's posted Procedures (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) state:

When objecting to claims, be sure to consider whether the costs of preparing and litigating the claim objection (administrative expenses) do not exceed the anticipated benefits (reductions in claims). For example, if the anticipated dividend is small or 0%, your claim objection to any general unsecured claim should clearly explain how it is justified to incur the attorney fees for that objection.

In this instance, it appears that the cost/benefit analysis might be favorable to bringing this objection (see dkt. 20, p.2), but that does not obviate the need to provide that analysis. No later than 1/25/18, the movant must file either:

(a) a supplemental declaration explaining why the attorney fees for this objection are justified (including supporting evidence, such as a copy of the plan showing the projected dividend to the claimant, and a calculation comparing that projected dividend against the attorney fees related to this claim objection), or

(b) a withdrawal of the claim objection (so as not to further waste the time of this Bankruptcy Court, the claimant, and any other parties in interest in

#20.00 Hrg re: Motion for order compelling The Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department and Cardlock Fuels Systems, Inc. to return estate property

Docket 31

Tentative Ruling:

Deny. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Creditor Cardlock Fuels System, Inc. ("Cardlock") is directed to serve and lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this court's final ruling.

Key documents reviewed (in addition to motion papers): debtor's motion (dkt. 31); Cardlock's Opposition (dkt. 33).

Reasons for denial:

(1) Facts

Neither party provides any copy of any levying documents, or any declarations to support their allegations. Nevertheless, the following facts appear to be undisputed.

Prepetition, on February 21, 2017, at the request of judgment creditor Cardlock, The Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department ("Sheriff") served a Writ of Execution and notice of levy on Wells Fargo Bank, NA ("Bank") where the debtor held a bank account. On February 28, 2017 the debtor filed her bankruptcy petition. Postpetition, on March 2, 2017, Bank delivered to Sheriff $32,775 (the "Funds"). See dkt. 31, p.3:1-12 and dkt. 33, pp.1:25-2:8.

(2) Legal authority

Neither party cites any authority for their principal arguments. The authorities they do cite appear to be mostly the wrong statutes and irrelevant decisions.

The debtor asserts that the Funds are property of the estate under the general principles of 11 U.S.C. 541, without any citation to California law defining when ownership of funds is transferred away from the depositor/debtor. See In re Hernandez, 483 B.R. 713, 720 (9th Cir. BAP 2012) ("Whether a debtor's interest constitutes 'property of the estate' is a federal question to be decided by federal law [but] the nature and extent of the debtor's interest in property must be determined by nonbankruptcy law.") (citations and internal quotation marks omitted, emphasis added).

The debtor next argues that Cardlock and Sheriff should be ordered to return the Funds to the debtor "under 11 U.S.C. [section] 105" (dkt. 31, p.4:6), which is the general authorization for the Bankruptcy Court to issue any order or judgment that is "necessary or appropriate to carry out the provisions of this title." The debtor ignores 11 U.S.C. 542 and 543, which are the specific statutory provisions governing turnover to the estate of property of the estate.

Cardlock argues, also without citation, that when the Funds "were levied" they "ceased being the Debtor's property" - Cardlock does not specify whether the time when the Funds "were levied" means when the writ and notice were served on Bank (prepetition), or when the Funds were delivered by Bank to Sheriff (postpetition). Dkt. 33, p.2:24-25. Cardlock may mean the latter because in the next sentence it states that when the Funds "were delivered from [Bank] to [Sheriff], title to the property was vested in creditor [Cardlock]" (dkt. 33, pp.2:25-3:4) based on a decision from the Seventh Circuit involving escrowed funds. See Fed. Deposit Ins. Corp. v. Knostman, 966 F.2d 1133, 1142 (7th Cir. 1992). Cardlock does not cite any California law or any decision applying California law, nor any decision involving a levy by a sheriff (as opposed to escrowed funds).

This court declines to perform the parties' research for them. Nevertheless, this court must determine based on general principles and who has what burden whether to grant or deny the debtor's motion. Accordingly, this court has performed some brief research on the following issues.

(a) The debtor had an interest in the Funds as of the petition date

Although this court's brief research suggests that California law is not entirely clear, it appears that when a bank has not yet turned over funds to the sheriff prepetition, the levying creditor only has a lien not an ownership interest in the funds. See Hernandez, 483 B.R. 713, 721 (under Cal. Code Civ. P. 700.140(a)&(e), creditor obtains execution lien on amounts in deposit account at time of service on financial institution, and that lien terminates when the funds are paid to the levying officer, which implies that the debtor's interest is transferred at the latter time). (The statute was amended after Hernandez was decided, including designating paragraph "(e)" as paragraph "(f)," but the amendments do not appear to be material.)

(b) Any postpetition termination of the debtor's interest in the Funds is void

Assuming that Cardlock is correct that the transfer from Bank to Sheriff terminates the debtor's interest in the Funds under California law, Cardlock has not suggested any reason why that transfer would not have violated the automatic stay of 11 U.S.C. 362(a). Therefore any such transfer apparently is void ab initio. See, e.g., In re Gruntz, 202 F.3d 1074 (9th Cir. 2000), and In re Schwartz, 954 F.2d 569 (9th Cir. 1992). (The debtor asserts, dkt. 31, p.3, n.1, that because the transfer from Bank to Sheriff occurred postpetition "the Debtor most likely has grounds to avoid the transfer of the Funds pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 549." This court expresses no opinion on that issue.)

(c) The debtor has neither sought, nor established a basis for, turnover

The debtor cannot use 11 U.S.C. 105 to evade or enlarge the specific statutory provisions that govern turnover: 11 U.S.C. 542 and 543. So one of those latter statutes governs - this court does not decide which one (i.e., whether Bank and/or Sheriff qualify as a "custodian" under 11 U.S.C. 101(11) and 543), because for present purposes the issues are the same under each section.

This court also assumes without deciding that the debtor would have standing to seek turnover under 11 U.S.C. 542 or 543 (or, for that matter, standing to seek avoidance under 11 U.S.C. 544-549 and recovery under 550, although as Cardlock points out any such avoidance actions presumably would require an adversary proceeding under Rule 7001, Fed. R. Bankr. P.). Compare In re Cohen, 305 B.R. 886, 891-900 (9th Cir. BAP 2004) (chapter 13 debtor has standing to bring avoidance actions).

So far so good for the debtor's position. But it is not enough for the debtor to show that someone is in possession of property in which the bankruptcy estate has an interest. The debtor also must establish that any persons holding an interest in that property, such as Cardlock, will have their interests adequately protected. See 11 U.S.C. 363(e) (court "shall" provide adequate protection of person's interest in property proposed to be used, upon request); 11 U.S.C. 542(a) (turnover only applies to property that trustee may "use, sell, or lease" or that debtor may exempt, i.e., which is subject to section 363(e)); 11 U.S.C. 543(c)(1) (court shall "protect all entities" to which custodian of property has become obligated).

The debtor has not shown that simply turning over the Funds to the debtor would adequately protect Cardlock, or for that matter that such turnover would be an appropriate use of property of the estate. In sum, the debtor has neither requested relief under the applicable statutory provisions, nor established a basis for such relief.

This court expresses no opinion regarding the remaining arguments raised by Cardlock - e.g., that the debtor lacks "clean hands," or that this case should be converted to chapter 7. It is unnecessary to reach the former issue, and the latter has not been properly presented (in the form of a motion to convert).

Tentative Ruling:

Grant the application for compensation, as reduced by this court's previous order (dkt. 48), without any further reduction as requested in the debtor's opposition (dkt. 50), because of the applicant's evidence that the debtor received a copy of the application and yet did not object to it (until now, very long after the deadline for any objection). To the extent, if any, that this court is persuaded to address the other issues raised in the debtor's opposition (dkt. 50) and the applicant's reply papers (dkt. 57), the parties should be prepared to testify under oath, either at this hearing or, if necessary, at a future hearing. Appearances required.

Proposed order: If this court is not persuaded to depart from this tentative ruling then the applicant is directed to serve and lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this court's final ruling.

#23.00 Cont'd hrg re: Trustee's Motion to Dismiss Chapter 13 Case Due to Infeasibility of the Plan Pursuant to Section 1307(c)(6) fr. 11/2/17, 12/7/17

Docket 57

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 1/11/18:

The tentative ruling is that the current motion to dismiss is mooted by the order (dkt. 93) on the FTB's motion to dismiss, and if the Chapter 13 Trustee wishes to request dismissal based on the current posture of this case then that can and should be requested in a new motion to dismiss. Appearances are not required.

There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to provide this court with an update regarding the status of their negotiations, and address the issues raised in the papers (including the debtor's latest notice at dkt. 87).

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 1/11/18 (same as for 12/7/17):

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures"). The parties should be prepared to address the status of their negotiations and whether they have been able to resolve their disputes.

Furthermore, at the 8/17/17 hearing on this motion, the creditor was directed to file a declaration no later than 9/21/17 addressing (a) its purported non-payment of this court's prior award of fees and expenses (see order, dkt. 77); its re-calculation and/or verification of the purported shortfall after reviewing the debtor's Objection (dkt. 106) to its response (dkt. 94) to the Chapter 13 Trustee's notice of final cure payment [to the extent not addressed by the creditor's supplemental response at dkt. 115]; and (c) the reasons for its late filing of (i) its response to the notice of final cure and (ii) its response (dkt. 115) to the debtor's Objection. A scheduling order continuing the hearing to 10/5/17 was entered on 8/23/17, memorializing the above (dkt. 116).

Creditor has not filed any such declaration on the docket (as of the date when this tentative ruling has been prepared, over a week after the deadline). Why not?

Should this court issue an order to show cause ("OSC") why sanctions should not be imposed? Should this court entertain a motion by counsel for the debtor for sanctions? At the very least, the late responses and lack of responses appear to be costing the debtor/estate the time and expense for the debtor's attorney to appear in court to address these things.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you

Grant as set forth below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to serve and lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this court's final ruling.

Key documents reviewed (in addition to motion papers): Joseph Barrett's Limited Objection (dkt. 189); Movant's reply (dkt. 190).

Reasons: The motion is granted and the omnibus procedures specified in the motion are approved, except as to the Barrett Claims, which shall be pursued and resolved in the Advocate Capital, Inc, v. Maximum Legal (California) LLP, 2:17-ap-01503-NB adversary proceeding.

DEBTOR

Docket 44

Tentative Ruling:

Grant as provided below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

Termination. Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (d)(2).

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) is also terminated, because it has not been shown to have any basis to exist independent of the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a). To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Effective date of relief. Grant the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a)(3).

PACIFIC UNION FINANCIAL, LLC
VS
DEBTOR

Docket 33

Tentative Ruling:

Appearances required. There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address (a) whether the alleged arrears have been brought current and/or (b) whether they will agree to the terms of an adequate protection order (see the debtor's response, dkt. 35).

DEBTOR

Docket 43

Tentative Ruling:

Grant as provided below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

Termination. Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1).

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) is also terminated, because it has not been shown to have any basis to exist independent of the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a). To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Effective date of relief. Deny the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a)(3) for lack of sufficient cause shown.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." Docket 10

Tentative Ruling:

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

The tentative ruling is to overrule the debtor's objections (dkt. 19, 25) to the extent that the debtor asserts a lack of adequate notice, but the parties should be prepared to address the debtor's other arguments. As for the alleged lack of notice, the debtor admits receiving notice on 1/6/18 which is over two weeks prior to this hearing and this court routinely shortens time on this type of motion (when there have been unauthorized transfers as part of an apparent scheme to hinder, delay or defraud a creditor), and the debtor has not established any undue prejudice arising from the current time frame.

SPRINGDALE PRESERVATION LIMITED PARTNERSHIP
vs
DEBTOR

Docket 7

Tentative Ruling:

Grant as provided below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

Termination. Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (2).

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) is also terminated, because it has not been shown to have any basis to exist independent of the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a). To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Effective date of relief. Grant the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a)(3).

Imposing a Stay or Continuing the Automatic

Docket 9

Tentative Ruling:

Grant, subject to the following conditions, and with a caution to the debtor's counsel that under Judge Bason's posted procedures any opposition may be filed five - not seven - days prior to the hearing (in future a failure to state the correct deadline in the notice of motion may result in various remedies, possibly including denial of certain fees). Appearances are not required.

After the hearing date this court will prepare an order and the tentative ruling is to include the following language in that order:

The stay of 11 U.S.C. 362(a) applies subject to the following modifications and conditions:

(1) Service and reconsideration. Any party in interest who was not timely served in accordance with FRBP 7004 (incorporated by FRBP 9014(b)) is hereby granted through 14 days after proper service to seek reconsideration, including retroactive relief (under FRBP 9023 and/or 9024). Any such person (a) may set a hearing on 14 days' notice, (b) may appear by telephone (if arrangements are made per Judge Bason's posted procedures), and (c) may present all arguments orally at the hearing (i.e., no written argument is required). If written arguments appear necessary then this court will set a briefing schedule at the hearing.

(2) Reasons. (a) It appears appropriate to impose the automatic stay, and to impose it as to all persons rather than just as to selected persons, because one purpose of the automatic stay is to preventing a "race to collect" that could unfairly advantage some creditors at the expense of others. (b) To prevent possible abuse, this court provides the foregoing simple process for reconsideration.

#6.00 Status Conference re: Complaint Objecting to Debtor's Discharge and for Fraudulent Transfer

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Appearances required. The court has reviewed the parties' filed documents and records in this adversary proceeding. The parties must address why they failed to file the required status report, and also the following issues. The following are Judge Bason's standard requirements for status conferences.

(1) Venue/jurisdiction/authority. The parties are directed to address any outstanding matters of (a) venue, (b) jurisdiction, (c) this court's authority to enter final orders or judgment(s) in this proceeding and, if consent is required, whether the parties do consent, or have already expressly or impliedly consented. See generally Stern v. Marshall, 131 S.Ct. 2594, 2608 (2011) (if litigant "believed that the Bankruptcy Court lacked the authority to decide his claim...then he should have said so – and said so promptly."); Wellness Int'l Network, Ltd. v. Sharif, 135 S.Ct. 1932 (2015) (consent must be knowing and voluntary but need not be express); In re Bellingham Ins. Agency, Inc., 702 F.3d 553 (9th Cir. 2012) (implied consent), aff'd on other grounds, 134 S. Ct. 2165 (2014); In re Pringle, 495 B.R. 447 (9th Cir. BAP 2013) (rebuttable presumption that failure to challenge authority to issue final order is intentional and indicates consent); In re Deitz, 760 F.3d 1028 (9th Cir. 2014) (authority to adjudicate nondischargeability encompasses authority to liquidate debt and enter final judgment). See generally In re AWTR Liquidation, Inc., 548 B.R. 300 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2016).

(2) Mediation. Is there is any reason why this court should not order the parties to mediation before one of the volunteer mediators (not a Bankruptcy Judge), and meanwhile set the deadlines set forth below? The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 2/6/18 for the parties to lodge a proposed mediation order (the parties are directed to use the time between now and that deadline to find a mutually agreeable mediator whose schedule can accommodate the needs of this matter; and if the parties cannot even agree on a mediator they may lodge separate orders and Judge Bason will chose among them, or issue his own order).

(3) Deadlines/dates: This adversary proceeding has been pending since 11/21/17. The tentative ruling is to set the following deadlines/dates. Pursuant to LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B), plaintiff is directed to serve and lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the status conference, attaching a copy of this tentative ruling or otherwise memorializing the following.

Discovery cutoff (for completion of discovery): 5/1/18

Expert(s) - deadline for reports: 5/8/18

Expert(s) - discovery cutoff (if different from above): 5/15/18

Dispositive motions to be heard no later than: 6/26/18

Joint Status Report: 2/6/18

Continued status conference: 2/27/18 at 11:00 a.m.

Continue to 2/27/18 at 11:00 a.m. Appearances are not required on 1/23/18.

Reason: This court has reviewed the U.S. Trustee's status report (dkt. 69), which requests a continuance to allow time for the debtor to provide further evidence supporting his job loss and to find new employment.

Continue to 1/23/18 at 11:00 a.m. to allow the United States Trustee ("UST") to verify whether the debtor's contract at LiveNation has ended, and whether the debtor has obtained other, similarly lucrative employment. Appearances are not required on 10/17/17.

By no later than 11/6/17, the debtor shall file amended bankruptcy schedules, an amended statement of financial affairs, and any other appropriate amendments, including bankruptcy Schedule J, to provide accurate information as of the petition date. In addition, no later than the same deadline, the debtor shall file a statement of postpetition income and expenses, to provide accurate current information.

Docket 41

Tentative Ruling:

Appearances required by one or both of the debtors. There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address the issues raised by this court's Order setting the matter for hearing (dkt. 42). Namely: (1) Why was this motion not brought sooner? (2) Why would a less expensive vehicle not be adequate? (3) Why have the debtors failed to file a declaration addressing these issues by 1/17/18, as required by that order? (The debtors have instead filed and served another copy of their motion, dkt. 45.)

fr. 1/11/18

Docket 184

Tentative Ruling:

Grant, subject to holding the proceeds for future division between the bankruptcy estate and Premium Assignment Corporation II ("Premium") as set forth in the Chapter 11 Trustee's reply (dkt. 207). Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this court's final ruling. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

Key documents reviewed (in addition to motion papers): Mr. Barrett's Opposition (dkt. 192); Premium's Opposition papers (dkt. 195, 196); Mr. Barrett's Brief re Informal Discovery Conference (dkt. 199); the brief of Evanston Insurance Company ("Evanston") re same (in support of protective order to preclude deposition) (dkt. 200); Evanston's Statement of Non-Opposition (dkt. 198); Evanston Replies (dkt. 205, 206); and the Chapter 11 Trustee's Reply (dkt. 207).

Reasons: The tentative ruling is that, in addition to the reasons stated in the motion (dkt. 184) and the reply briefs filed by the Trustee (dkt. 207) and Evanston (dkt. 206), Mr. Barrett has not established that (a) the expense to the bankruptcy estate of the proposed discovery (let alone any expense that Evanston could charge against any premium refund) would be justified by (b) the apparently remote or perhaps non-existent possibility of discovering facts that would support Mr. Barrett's legal theories, nor has he established that the language of the proposed release in the settlement agreement is so broad that it exceeds the scope of what the estate is permitted to release. See Motion, dkt. 184, pp. 9:27-10:2 (citing inter alia Cal. Ins. Code section 650 "The rescission shall apply to all insured under the contract, including

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 1/23/18:

Continue this status conference and the combined hearing on final approval of the disclosure statement (dkt. 60) and confirmation of the plan (dkt. 59) to 2/13/18 at 1:00 p.m. Appearances are not required on 1/23/18.

Reasons: (a) the debtor's failure to file the ballot summary with respect to the plan, which was due on 1/16/18 (see Order, dkt. 61) and (b) the inability of the Office of the United States Trustee ("UST") to appear (or perhaps even to analyze whether it should appear) because of the shutdown of much of the federal government.

At the continued hearing the debtor should be prepared to testify, or make an offer of proof, as to feasibility.

statement." No such statement appears to be provided.

(b) Disputed claims and other prior issues appear to be adequately addressed. The revised Exhibit F (dkt. 58) lists the 16th Street Group twice: once for the undisputed portion and once for the disputed portion - if the dollar amount of the disputed portion of the claim is sufficient then this appears to fully address this court's concerns expressed in the tentative ruling for 11/7/17. All of this court's other concerns appear to have been fully addressed as well.

(c) Feasibility. This court anticipates that the debtor may be required to testify, or make an offer of proof, as to feasibility at the combined hearing (set forth below) on final approval of the disclosure statement and confirmation of the plan.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 6/7/17.

(a) Bar date: 8/18/17 (timely served, dkt. 27, 30)

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement (dkt. 59, 58)*: 12/15/17 deadline to file (NOT SERVE - except on the U.S. Trustee) any redlined revisions to be discussed at the status conference and lodge Judge Bason's form of order authorizing service of the voting package, setting deadlines, and setting a combined hearing on final approval of the Disclosure Statement and confirmation of the Plan for the same time as the continued status conference.

(c) Continued status conference: 2/27/18 at 1:00 p.m. No written status report is required.

*Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues - plan (dkt. 54) and disclosure statement (dkt. 53)

(a) Disputed claims. The plan contemplates non-payment to some disputed claims. Unless and until those claims are disallowed (or allowed), the debtor must establish a disputed claims reserve and pay into that reserve in order to confirm any plan.

(b) General unsecured creditors. The plan includes a confusing mix of different listings of general unsecured creditors. Exhibit F starts with the total from the debtor's bankruptcy schedules and then reduces it by a dollar amount that appears to be random (there are no calculations to show how the debtor arrived at that reduction). Attached to Exhibit F is a copy of the debtor's bankruptcy schedules, but those are not manually marked up to show how the debtor arrived at the dollar amounts in Exhibit F.

Exhibit I lists not only general unsecured claims but also priority and secured claims, so it is not helpful to figure out how the debtor arrived at the dollar amount of reduction in Exhibit F.

Exhibit H item "(6)" lists anticipated/pending objections to claims, and provides what appear to be estimated dollar amounts, but there is no basis for such estimates and they are not tied to the reduction in total claims listed in Exhibit F.

It appears that the simpler solution would be (i) to use the "electronic option" in Exhibit F (starting at line 5) for general unsecured claims, instead of attaching the bankruptcy schedules, (ii) cut all unsecured claims from Exhibit I as redundant, and (iii) use a disputed claims reserve and/or obtain final orders disallowing or allowing claims and/or follow the proper procedures for claims estimation, if permissible (see 11 U.S.C. 502(c) and Rule 3018(a), Fed. R. Bankr. P.).

(c) Tax claims. One tax claim has been withdrawn (dkt. 52). Is the tax claim listed in Exhibit A for "LACTTC" a different claim?

(d) Pagination. The debtor's plan divides one-page exhibits onto two pages, which is somewhat confusing. The debtor may need to adjust the page margins to enable them to print on a single page.

(e) Income calculation. Exhibit C, Attachment 1, lines 1 and 7, do not provide adequate disclosure of the debtor's income calculation. Line 1 is for "wages, salary, and commissions" but as an independent contractor the more appropriate line would appear to be line 7 for "operations of business," which requires the debtor to "attach detailed statement." In any event, the debtor cannot simply list net income without any disclosure as to the gross revenues, specific expenses, and calculation of that net income.

The debtor's failure to disclose sufficient information about revenues and expenses has been a recurring theme - see the tentative ruling for 7/11/17 (reproduced below), item "(1)(a)" under the "Third" issue. Given this history, this court will require the debtor to file and serve on the U.S. Trustee, no later than the deadline set forth below for filing an amended plan and disclosure statement, a detailed declaration providing documentation as to the basis for each aspect of the income and expense projections (the debtor may incorporate Monthly Operating Reports by reference, but cannot rely only on those MORs - the debtor must provide additional support for his projections).

(f) Double-counting of expenses. Exhibit C, Attachment 1, line 17, includes an adequate protection payment of $325.50/mo. (with a reference to "RFS Order Dkt No. 45"), but it appears that these adequate protection payments will be replaced by the payments in Class 1A of $383.28/mo. It appears that once the added $325.50/mo. is eliminated then the cash flow might be more feasible.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 6/7/17.

(a) Bar date: 8/18/17 (timely served, dkt. 27, 30)

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: file "blacklined" versions by 11/21/17 (the spreadsheets probably will need to be manually blacklined) (DO NOT SERVE yet, except on the U.S. Trustee - the court will set a deadline and procedures at a later time).

(c) Continued status conference: 12/12/17 at 1:00 p.m. No written status report is required.

Tentative Ruling for 7/11/17:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor and by the debtor himself.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Budget motion (dkt. 21). This motion is not on for hearing, but in connection with this Status Conference the debtor should be prepared to address the following concerns.

First, the debtor lists $1,350/mo. in income derived from unemployment benefits, in addition to his $6,150/mo. in business income derived from his self-employment as an independent marketing consultant, a job at which he claims to have been employed for the past year. Dkt. 21, p. 8. How can the debtor obtain unemployment benefits when he is employed? How will the budget change when those benefits cease?

Second, the debtor lists net business income but has failed to provide a breakdown of gross receipts, ordinary and necessary business expenses, and calculation of the resulting monthly net income, as required by the instructions on bankruptcy Schedule "I" line 8a. See dkt. 21 at p. 8.

Third, the debtor asserts a 50% interest in a real estate business in Miami, Buena Vista Terminal, LLC. See dkt. 1, pp. 19, 51. What is the nature of that business? Does the debtor derive any income from that business?

Finally, the debtor reports that he has just $43.43 in monthly net income to contribute to a chapter 11 plan. But the debtor has two cars and a motorcycle and over $700/mo. in automobile payments (plus "transportation" costs). Is that reasonable? See In re Concoff (case no. 2:13-bk-37328-NB, dkt. 246).

(b) Application to employ counsel (dkt. 24). Does the U.S. Trustee have any concerns about the proposed interim payment procedures and fee sharing arrangement between Ms. Ghanooni and Ms. Esmaili?

According to the retainer letter (dkt. 24, Ex. 3, para. 4) some of the retainer was to be paid by the debtor's mother, as a gift. But the application and the Rule 2014 disclosures by proposed counsel and by the debtor assert that there is no connection with any insider, and that all funds have come solely from the debtor. Which version of the facts is true? If any portion of the retainer has been paid by a third party, that raises special concerns (e.g., was the third party fully informed, in writing, that counsel represents the DIP not the third party, and might actually have to sue the third party if there were any potentially avoidable transfers? are there any such transfers or other potential conflicts?). See In re Kelton Motors, Inc., 109 B.R. 641 (Bankr. D. Vt. 1989); In re Hathaway Ranch Partnership, 116 B.R. 208, 219 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1990); In re Park-Helena Corp., 63 F.3d 877 (9th Cir. 1995).

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 6/7/17.

(a) Bar date: 9/22/17 (DO NOT SERVE notice yet - court will prepare an order after the status conference).

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: file by 10/13/17 using the forms required by Judge Bason (DO NOT SERVE yet, except on the U.S. Trustee - the court will set a deadline and procedures at a later time).

Tentative Ruling for 1/23/18:

Continue this status conference to 2/13/18 at 1:00 p.m. Appearances are not required on 1/23/18.

Reasons: (a) the debtors' apparent need to amend the proposed plan in view of the recent withdrawal of their objection to the prior claim of the Internal Revenue Service ("IRS") in view of the IRS' amended claim (see dkt. 119);

(b) the debtor's failure to file a brief status report (due 1/16/18 per the adopted tentative ruling for the 11/7/17 hearing, reproduced below); and

(c) the inability of the Office of the United States Trustee ("UST") to appear (or perhaps even to analyze whether it should appear) because of the shutdown of much of the federal government.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Monthly Operating Report (dkt. 94). What is the $700 transfer for 8/31/17 (at p.4) entitled "money owed"? The debtor reports one missed payment to Wells Fargo in the amount of $2,167.68 (at p.10), as against only $2,398.12 in her rental property account (p.11) and $1,404.57 in her personal account. Is the debtor losing money? Can the debtor propose a feasible plan of reorganization?

(b) Plan (dkt.92) /Disclosure Statement (dkt. 91). (i) These documents are not signed by the debtors ("/s/" typed signatures are only permitted for limited categories of persons, such as registered CM/ECF users). (ii) The Disclosure Statement contemplates claim objections (dkt. 91, Ex.H, Endnotes 1-2). Why have these issues not been resolved by now? (iii) The Disclosure Statement's Endnotes 2A, 2B, 2C and 5 repeat (and/or misstate) the terms of the Plan. Those endnotes should be deleted. (iv) The Disclosure Statement's Ex.C (income/expenses) is divided into two periods, but the income and expenses appear to be identical in each period. Why should this not be a single period?

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 2/27/17 and converted from chapter 13 on 4/28/17.

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor and by the debtor(s) themselves.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Status Report. The debtor is using an outdated form. The current version is Local Form F 2081-1.1.CH11.STATUS.RPT.

(b) Cash collateral motion (dkt. 30). Grant on a final basis, on the same terms as in the interim order (dkt. 58).

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 2/27/17 and converted from chapter 13 on 4/28/17.

(a) Bar date: 8/24/2017 (DO NOT SERVE notice yet - court will prepare an order after the status conference).

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: file by 9/5/17 using the forms required by Judge Bason (DO NOT SERVE yet, except on the U.S. Trustee).

(c) Continued status conference: 9/19/17 at 1:00 p.m. No written status report is required.

*Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

If you do not appear, and the matter is not adequately resolved by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Continue to 2/23/16 at 2:00 p.m. unless any opposition/response to employment or recusal are filed prior to 1/30/16. Appearances are not required on 2/2/16.

Reasons: At the hearing on 1/19/16, this court stated that the status conference would be continued without further hearing if no oppositions/responses to employment or recusal were received by the deadline for such things, which is 1/29/16. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling (on 1/29/16) no such documents have yet been filed.

If you wish to dispute the above tentative ruling, please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings".

Revised Tentative Ruling for 1/19/16:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

Key documents reviewed: Motion for relief from automatic stay (dkt. 11), the debtor's opposition (dkt. 33), and the movant's reply (dkt. 46); and the debtor's application to employ Browne George Ross LLP as special counsel under 11 U.S.C. 327(e) and supporting papers (dkt. 26-30, 44, 45).

(1) Current issues.

(a) Background. Claimant Britton's motion for relief from the automatic stay (dkt. 11) seeks to modify the automatic stay to liquidate the parties' claims in the underlying State Court action (Britton v. Riggs, LA Superior Ct. No. BC 496298). Just before trial was set to commence, the debtor filed this bankruptcy case, and trial has now been continued to 2/10/16. The debtor has filed an application (dkt. 26) to employ its existing attorneys in the State Court action as special counsel.

In view of the apparent urgency of these matters, this Bankruptcy Court issued an order raising a number of its initial concerns (dkt. 35), held a preliminary hearing on 1/8/16, and directed the debtor to serve a supplemental notice addressing certain issues. In addition, when Judge Bason's law clerk learned of certain attenuated connections between him and the parties in this case, those matters were disclosed on the record (dkt. 39), and the debtor was directed to serve those disclosures on all parties in interest.

The debtor complied with these notice requirements (see dkt. 44, 43, 45) and the period for any response expires on 1/29/16 (fixed date in dkt. 39 as to this court's disclosures; and service on 1/11/16 + 14 days' notice + 3 days for service via U.S. mail = 1/29/16 as to the employment application). As of the time when this tentative ruling has been prepared (1/18/16) no response on either matter appears on the docket.

(b) Relief from the automatic stay. The tentative ruling is to modify the automatic stay as follows, effective immediately upon (i) entry of an order of this court granting the employment application (so that the debtor can defend and prosecute its claims in the State Court action) and (ii) resolution of any request to be heard regarding recusal. Specifically, the automatic stay would be modified to permit litigation of the State court action insofar as liquidating claims by Mr. Britton against the debtor and its principal, Mr. Riggs, as well as liquidating any counterclaims, including all subsidiary disputes such as whether the statute of limitations should be tolled and any alter ego issues, but not to permit enforcement of any judgment against any property in which the debtor asserts an interest absent further order of this Bankruptcy Court.

Judge Bason is not persuaded by the debtor's argument that the statute of limitations issue should be addressed by this Bankruptcy Court before any State Court litigation is permitted to continue. The principles underlying the Rooker Feldman doctrine (that this Bankruptcy Court may not act as essentially an appellate court for State Court determinations), as well as comity, a respect for the State Court's determination of these issues, conservation of judicial resources, the avoidance of forum shopping, and not permitting a party to obtain "two bites at the apple" all weigh against deciding the statute of limitations issues here. The State Court issued a detailed tentative ruling (dkt. 46-1, Ex.A, pp.23-26) regarding the statute of limitations issues, including its conclusion that those issues could not be determined as a matter of law because a reasonable trier of fact "may well determine that the delay in filing the action was due to the Defendants' fraud or other misconduct such that Defendants should be estopped from asserting the statute of limitations," and the State Court apparently adopted that tentative ruling when it denied the defendants' motion for summary judgment and declined to address the statute of limitations issues before trial. Judge Bason is not persuaded that this Bankruptcy Court can or should revisit that determination.

As to any claims that are truly alter ego claims (as distinguished from fraudulent transfer claims or other avoidance actions that belong to this bankruptcy estate), the tentative ruling is that under the Ahcom decision (623 F.3d 1248 (9th Cir. 2010)), any such claims do not belong to the bankruptcy estate and, therefore, the automatic stay would not prevent claimant Mr. Britton from seeking to establish and pursue any alter ego claims against Mr. Riggs. Alternatively, the tentative ruling is to modify the automatic stay (if it applied) to permit such true alter ego claims to be litigated (when and if the State Court determines that they should be) because if those issues turn out to be relevant then they will have to be litigated anyway, and the State Court would be the proper forum in which to litigate them. To the extent that the debtor seeks to stay (enjoin) any such alter ego claims against Mr. Riggs in this bankruptcy case, such an injunction would have to be the subject of a separate adversary proceeding. See, e.g., In re Excel Innovations, Inc., 502 F.3d 1086 (9th Cir. 2007).

(c) Employment of special litigation counsel. The tentative ruling is to conditionally approve employment of special litigation counsel for the reasons stated at the preliminary hearing on 1/8/16 and in the application (dkt. 26) and debtor's supplemental disclosures (dkt. 44). The condition is that no order approving such employment should be lodged until after the period for responses to such application or to this court's disclosures has expired (on 1/29/16), and of course if any such response is filed then this court will consider such responses (at a hearing as set forth below).

The potential for alter ego claims does not appear to create any cognizable conflict, at least at this stage of the litigation. Although it could be argued that there would be a conflict because any recovery that Mr. Britton could obtain from Mr. Riggs would decrease his claim against the debtor, and therefore theoretically benefit the debtor, it seems more likely at this stage that both Mr. Riggs and the debtor have a unified interest in contesting any asserted grounds for alter ego liability (i) so as to assure that Mr. Riggs devotes his energies to the debtor's future success and ability to pay its creditors, and (ii) so as to attempt to assure that there is a level playing field among the debtor's creditors (which, arguably, there would not be if one creditor - Mr. Britton - could pursue alter ego recoveries before other creditors could seek to do the same).

Of course, counsel for the debtor (both general and special counsel) and Mr. Riggs himself will need to monitor the situation continually. If a conflict or potential conflict does develop, they will need to file appropriate disclosures and/or seek a supplemental ruling from this court regarding the terms of any continued employment of special counsel.

(d) Tentative hearing. If any response is filed to either the employment application or this court's disclosures, then a hearing will take place on 2/2/16 at 2:00 p.m. to address those things. If there is any such response, the debtor must notify chambers so that the matter may be added to this court's calendar for that day.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 12/1/15.

(a) Bar date: Bar date: 2/8/16 (timely served, dkt. 19 & 25).

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: file by 7/1/16 using the forms required by Judge Bason (DO NOT SERVE yet, except on the U.S. Trustee - the court will set a deadline and procedures at a later time).

Note: If the U.S. Trustee wishes to file initial comments on any draft Plan documents before the regular deadline, it should do so at least two weeks prior to the next status conference (but, whether or not any comments are filed, all rights are reserved to object to the Disclosure Statement or Plan when deadline(s) for such objections are established).

(c) Continued status conference: 2/2/16 at 2:00 p.m. (no written status report required; telephonic appearances permitted provided that parties comply with posted procedures for same).

This court anticipates posting a tentative ruling at a later time.

Tentative Ruling for 1/5/16:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor and by the principal of the debtor.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Affiliated businesses. The debtor's status report (dkt. 20, p.8:17-9:3) requests that the debtor be excused from providing financial information concerning affiliates in both the status report and monthly operating reports. The tentative ruling is to grant that request.

(b) Service of status report. This court's form status report must be served on, inter alia, all of the debtor's secured creditors and the top 20 largest general unsecured creditors. It appears that there are no secured creditors, but that unsecured creditors were not served (see dkt. 20, p. 10). The tentative ruling is to direct the debtor, no later than 1/6/16, to serve all parties in interest with a copy of the status report and this tentative ruling, and then parties in interest may, if they choose, raise any appropriate issues at future status conferences.

(c) Plan and disclosure statement. The debtor has suggested (dkt. 20, p.4:20-23) a deadline of 4/30/16 to file initial drafts. The debtor should be prepared to address the associated procedures, including the local form plan and whether that deadline is consistent with the pending litigation with creditor Layne Leslie Britton (dkt. 11), currently set for trial in State court for 2/10/16.

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 1/23/18:

Continue to 2/13/18 at 2:00 p.m., in view of (a) the debtor's status report (dkt. 313) and (b) the inability of the Office of the United States Trustee to appear on 1/23/18 in view of the shutdown of much of the federal government. Note: Prior to 2/13/18 this court anticipates posting a tentative ruling for a further continuance to 4/17/18 at 2:00 p.m., unless a party in interest files a status report no later than 2/6/18 requesting to be heard on 2/13/18. Appearances are not required on 1/23/18.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 11/7/17:

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address any issues appropriate for resolution at this post-confirmation status conference.

If you do not appear, and the matter is not adequately resolved by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 8/8/17:

Appearances required. The court has reviewed the crossclaim (dkt. 47) and answer to crossclaim (dkt. 52), and the other filed documents and records in this adversary proceeding.

(1) Venue/jurisdiction/authority.

The parties are directed to address any outstanding matters of (a) venue, (b) jurisdiction, (c) this court's authority to enter final orders or judgment(s) in this proceeding and, if consent is required, whether the parties do consent, or have already expressly or impliedly consented. See generally Stern v. Marshall, 131 S.Ct. 2594, 2608 (2011) (if litigant "believed that the Bankruptcy Court lacked the authority to decide his claim...then he should have said so – and said so promptly."); Wellness Int'l Network, Ltd. v. Sharif, 135 S.Ct. 1932 (2015) (consent must be knowing and voluntary but need not be express); In re Bellingham Ins. Agency, Inc., 702 F.3d 553 (9th Cir. 2012) (implied consent), aff'd on other grounds, 134 S. Ct. 2165 (2014); In re Pringle, 495 B.R. 447 (9th Cir. BAP 2013) (rebuttable presumption that failure to challenge authority to issue final order is intentional and indicates consent); In re Deitz, 760 F.3d 1028 (9th Cir. 2014) (authority to adjudicate nondischargeability encompasses authority to liquidate debt and enter final judgment). See generally In re AWTR Liquidation, Inc., 548 B.R. 300 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2016).

(2) Mediation. Is there is any reason why this court should not order the parties to mediation before one of the volunteer mediators (not a Bankruptcy Judge), and meanwhile set the deadlines set forth below?

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 1/23/18:

Continue the status conferences in both the main case and the adversary proceeding (adv. no. 2:17-ap-01326-NB) to 2/13/18 at 2:00 p.m. with a status report due 2/6/18 (at which time other documents are also due as set forth below) for the reasons set forth below. Appearances are not required on 1/23/18.

(1) Current issues

(a) Reasons for continuance: (i) because of the problems noted below; (ii) because of the debtor's untimely last-minute filing of status reports (the debtor is cautioned that continued untimely filings may result in sanctions); (iii) because of the inability of the Office of the United States Trustee to appear due to the shutdown of much of the federal government, (iv) to be concurrent with the (improperly self-calendared) motion to amend the complaint, and (v) in view of the debtor's various status reports (main case dkt. 117, adv. dkt. 122, 127, 129).

(b) Bar date. The debtor's proofs of service of the bar date order are missing exhibits and incomprehensible (see dkt. 110, 111). The debtor is directed to file, no later than 2/6/18, either a corrected proof of service or an application (supported by a declaration) to set yet another supplemental bar date - whichever is appropriate.

(c) Status of existing complaint in adversary proceeding. On 11/20/17 this court issued an order (adv. dkt. 117) denying the plaintiff/debtor's motions for default judgments, without prejudice. The debtor now seeks to amend the complaint (adv. dkt. 125). All of these things moot the motions for default judgments so the hearings on those motions have been vacated.

In addition, the tentative ruling is to memorialize this court's reasons for denying the motions for default judgments by filing on the docket a copy of this court's adopted tentative ruling for the 11/14/17 hearings on those motions (reproduced within the tentative ruling for calendar no. 9. 1/23/18 at 2:00 p.m.).

(d) Motion to amend complaint (adv. dkt. 125). This motion was self-calendared for 2:00 p.m. (a time that cannot be used for self-calendaring) on 2/13/18. Nevertheless, the tentative ruling is to permit that motion to proceed at that time.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 11/23/16.

(a) Bar date: initial date of 7/10/17 (order timely served, dkt. 56, 60); supplemental date of 1/26/18, to be served no later than 11/15/17 (per Order, dkt. 107) but proofs of service are incomprehensible (dkt. 110, 111) - see above under "current issues".

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: TBD.

(c) Continued status conference: as set forth above.

*Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address the following issues.

(1) Current issues. The debtor has filed a second (very belated) proof of service (dkt. 103) of this court's order (dkt. 56) setting a bar date. Under that order the bar date was set as 7/10/17 and service was required no later than 5/8/17. What does the debtor's belated service do except cause confusion? Does the debtor require a new bar date for previously unknown creditors?

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 11/23/16. If this case is not converted or dismissed, the tentative ruling is to set the following:

(a) Bar date: 7/10/17 (order timely served, dkt. 56, 60; but see above under "current issues").

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: TBD.

(c) Continued status conference: 1/30/18 at 2:00 p.m., status report due 1/16/18.

*Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

Tentative Ruling for 8/22/17:

The tentative ruling is to dismiss this case with a 180 day bar for willful failure to appear in proper prosecution, as set forth below. See 11 U.S.C. 109(g)(1). Appearances are not required.

Reasons: This case was filed on 11/23/16. The debtor's assets consist of disputed rights in hydrocarbon leases. See Status Report, dkt. 81. Realizing any value from those rights apparently depends on retaining special counsel who will diligently prosecute the debtor's claims. Despite numerous opportunities, the debtor has failed to satisfy the prerequisites for retention of special counsel.

(1) Inadequate declarations about "connections"

At the hearing on 7/11/17 this court extensively reviewed the evidence that would be required before this court could approve the application to employ the latest proposed special counsel, Mr. Montes. That included a requirement of detailed declarations from Mr. and Mrs. Hoats regarding any transfers of any property (including intangible property) involving the debtor and any of them, as well as any other "connections" (as that term is used in Rule 2014, Fed. R. Bankr. P.) to the debtor and any other party in interest.

This court recognizes that Mr. and Mrs. Hoats are not the professionals whose employment is being sought. Nevertheless, given their very close ties to the debtor, and their failure to disclose connections to the prior proposed special counsel that raised questions about conflicts of interest, this court orally ordered the debtor to provide their declarations at the hearing on 5/2/17. That order has been ignored.

(2) Knudsen factors

This court also directed Mr. Montes to file a declaration addressing the factors that this court must consider in assessing his request to be paid more frequently than once every 120 days. See In re Knudsen, 84 B.R. 668, 672-73 (9th Cir. BAP 1988). Mr. Montes has filed such a declaration (dkt. 82) and has adequately summarized the factors (id., p.3:15-23) but he has not adequately addressed the third factor, which he summarizes as: "any funds paid but later disapproved by the court can be recovered from the professional" in one or more of the ways listed in Knudsen. (Emphasis added.) Those ways are:

- [a. Holdback] retainer payments are for only a percentage of the amount billed so that the likelihood or necessity of repayment is minimal [Mr. Montes suggests a 10% holdback, which has not been shown to be adequate - the typical amount is 20%, and that typically applies only to well established firms whose ability to repay funds is reinforced by the firm's longevity and reputation or similar considerations];
- [b. Bond] counsel can post a bond covering any possible reassessment [Mr. Montes has not addressed this factor];
- [c. Financial ability to repay] counsel's financial position makes it certain that any reassessment can be repaid [Mr. Montes has not addressed this factor]; [and/or]
- [d. Hold funds in trust account] funds paid prior to allowance are held in a trust account until a final or interim fee allowance is made [Mr. Montes has only offered to place the 10% proposed holdback in a trust account]. [Knudsen, 84 B.R. 668, at 672]

(3) The debtor appears to cite the wrong statutory authority

The debtor's application to employ Mr. Montes (dkt. 65) requests that his employment be approved under subsection "(e)" of 11 U.S.C. 327. But that subsection only applies by its terms to an attorney who "has represented the debtor" (i.e., prepetition counsel whose employment is to continue postpetition). Id. (emphasis added).

That is not the end of the analysis, because it has been held that special counsel can be employed even when such counsel has not represented the debtor prepetition. See In re Fondiller, 15 B.R. 890, 892 (9th Cir. BAP 1981) (emphasis added), appeal dismissed, 707 F.2d 441 (9th Cir. 1983). Although Fondiller has been interpreted as authorizing employment under subsection (e) (see, e.g., Covenant Fin. Group of Am., Inc., 243 B.R. 450, 455 & n. 8 (Bankr. N.D. Ala. 1999)), the precise holding of Fondiller appears to be that special counsel can be employed under subsection "(a)" of Section 327 because any "omission" in subsection "(e)" does not limit the general authority in subsection "(a)." See Fondiller, 15 B.R. at 891-92 (interpreting § 327(a) by comparison with §§ 327(c) and (e)).

True, the precise statutory authority appears to make little if any practical difference, because Fondiller held that when counsel is only employed to perform limited services, then an interest "adverse to the estate" means "an adverse interest relating to the services which are to be performed by that attorney," which appears to mean that the inquiry for proposed special counsel under subsection "(a)" is the same as under subsection "(e)." Fondiller, 15 B.R. at 892 (emphasis added). Mr. Montes' declaration (included in dkt. 65) appears to meet this test because he states that he has no adverse interest.

Nevertheless, as stated above this court has required additional evidence from Mr. and Mrs. Hoats and that evidence has not been provided. In addition, because the debtor has sought authority under subsection "(e)" instead of "(a)" it appears not have met the technical requirements for employment of Mr. Montes.

If you wish to dispute the above tentative ruling, please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings".

(1) Current issues

(a) Employment of special counsel. Deny the application to employ the Law Offices of M. Brian McMahon (dkt. 46) because he no longer intends to pursue employment. See dkt. 73, para. 3. Deny the application to employ the Law Offices of Mike Montes, Jr. (dkt. 65) due to the failure to address the issues raised by this court in the tentative ruling for 5/2/17 (reproduced below) (without reaching the issues raised by the U.S. Trustee's objection, dkt. 72, and the debtor's reply, dkt. 74). The U.S. Trustee is directed to lodge proposed orders denying each application within seven days after this hearing date.

attorney, Brian McMahon Esq., should be prepared to address the concerns set forth in the U.S. Trustee's objection (dkt. 49) and the other issues set forth below.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Proposed special counsel.

(i) Background. On 4/5/17 the debtor filed an application for authority to employ the law offices of Mr. McMahon as special counsel under 11 U.S.C. 327(e) (dkt. 47). On 4/12/17 the United States Trustee ("UST") filed an objection to the employment application, which expressed concerns about the payment arrangement proposed in the application (dkt. 49).

The debtor filed a statement of disinterestedness for Mr. McMahon (dkt.53), and a reply (dkt.55), stating that a third party, Ms. Lilian Hoats, will be paying the attorney fees for Mr. McMahon's representation. Ms. Hoats is the CEO of Inviron Technologies, Inc. ("Managing Member"), which is the debtor's managing member (dkt. 55, Ex.1, p.1, recital "b"). Attached to the reply (dkt. 55, Ex.1) is a written document that purports to be a waiver of conflicts (if any exist) among the debtor, Ms. Hoats, and the Managing Member (the "Hoats/Managing Member Conflict Waiver").

The Attorney-Client Retainer Agreement attached to the employment application (dkt. 46, Ex.1) provides that Mr. McMahon is representing not only the debtor but also its affiliates Riverwood Energy, LLC ("Energy Affiliate") and Riverwood Resources Ltd. ("Resources Affiliate"). This court is not aware of the precise organizational and contractual relationships among the debtor, Energy Affiliate, and Resources Affiliate, nor of any written document purporting to be a waiver of conflicts (if any exist) among them.

(ii) Statutory provisions and rules

Although special counsel does not have to be "disinterested" (compare 11 U.S.C. 327(a)), special counsel still must not "represent or hold any interest adverse to the debtor or to the estate with respect to the matter on which such attorney is to be employed." 11 U.S.C. 327(e) (emphasis added). Under Rule 2014 (Fed. R. Bankr. P.) both Mr. McMahon and the debtor were supposed to disclose all connections between Mr. McMahon and "the debtor, creditors, any other party in interest, their respective attorneys and accountants, the United States trustee, or any person employed in the office of the United States trustee."

The disclosures have not been adequate. This court does not know enough about the underlying litigation and the organizational and contractual relationships among the various entities to assess whether there may be conflicts of interest between the debtor, on the one hand, and Ms. Hoats, Managing Member, Energy Affiliate, and/or Resource Affiliate.

(iii) A DIP's conflicts generally cannot be waived

Any purported conflict waiver probably cannot waive actual conflicts. See, e.g., In re Perry, 194 B.R. 875, 880 (E.D.Cal.1996) (waiver of conflict by non-debtor parties was insufficient and "[i]nformed consent could not be obtained" because "the real parties in interest in this case are the creditors, and that is not a waivable conflict"); In re B.E.S. Concrete Products, Inc., 93 B.R. 228, 235 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 1988).

But while actual conflicts of interest create a violation of 11 U.S.C. 327 which would require disqualification of the proposed professional, the mere existence of a potential conflict of interest does not require disqualification, and it is up to the court's discretion whether the purported conflict is sufficiently threatening to the estate to warrant disqualification. In re Wheatfield Business Park, LLC, 286 B.R. 412, 421 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2002).

Are proposed counsel and the debtor aware of any actual conflicts?
How about potential conflicts?

(iv) The purported conflict waiver is incomplete

The Hoats/Managing Member Conflict Waiver is not actually signed by Ms. Hoats in her individual capacity (she has only signed it on behalf of the debtor's Managing Member). In addition, as noted above, this court is not aware of any purported conflict waiver among the debtor and Operating Affiliate or Resources Affiliate.

(v) There might be conflicts among the debtor and Ms. Hoats

A third party who funds a retainer for the debtor (the "Funder") generally has some pre-existing relationship with the debtor, and/or some motivation to providing the funding. Those things increase the likelihood that the Funder could be the recipient of an avoidable preference, or might have alter ego liability, or otherwise might have interests that are adverse to (or at least not fully aligned with) the bankruptcy estate or creditors. For these reasons, although payment of a retainer by a third party is not outright prohibited, it is fraught with ethical concerns. At the hearing, counsel for the debtor and proposed special counsel should be prepared to address the following.

(A) Terms. What are the precise agreements, understandings or expectations regarding the funds -- e.g., are the funds a loan, a gift, an investment, or something else?

(B) Informed consent of Funder. Has the Funder been advised regarding actual and potential conflicts of interest, and that the sole attorney-client relationship and duty of loyalty is with the debtor, not the Funder? Who provided such advice: independent counsel? counsel for the debtor? the debtor's proposed special counsel? Has the Funder given informed consent? Are those things in writing?

(C) Informed consent of debtor. Has the debtor likewise been fully advised and given informed consent? Who provided such advice? Are these things in writing? Ms. Hoats has signed the Hoats/Managing Member conflict waiver on behalf of the debtor: how can she, acting for the debtor, waive conflicts with herself?

(D) Other considerations. Has proposed special counsel demonstrated or represented to the Court the absence of an actual or potential conflict, a lack of disinterestedness, or any other basis for disqualification? See In re Kelton Motors, Inc., 109 B.R. 641 (Bankr. D. Vt. 1989); In re Lotus Prop's LP, 200 B.R. 388 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1996) (rejecting per se disqualification when fees are paid by third party); and compare In re Hathaway Ranch Partnership, 116 B.R. 208, 219 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1990) (per se rule). See generally In re Park-Helena Corp., 63 F.3d 877 (9th Cir. 1995).

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 11/23/16. If this case is not converted or dismissed, the tentative ruling is to set the following:

(a) Bar date*: to be set during the status conference.

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: same.

(c) Continued status conference: 5/23/17 at 2:00 p.m., status report due 5/9/17.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Status report. This court's previous tentative ruling (reproduced below) directed the debtor to file a status report by 3/14/17. Why has no such status report been filed?

(b) Exit strategy. What is the debtor's exit strategy, and what progress has been made toward that goal?

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 11/23/16. If this case is not converted or dismissed, the tentative ruling is to set the following:

Continue to 4/4/17 at 2:00 p.m., status report due 3/14/17. No appearances are required on 2/7/17.

(1) Current issues

This case was filed on 11/23/16. The debtor's status report (dkt. 34) states that the debtor intends to retain special counsel, and the monthly operating reports (dkt. 37, 38) appear to show no activity other than opening DIP bank accounts and paying associated fees. Although progress in this case has been slow, it does not appear efficient to hold a status conference at this time. If substantially more progress is not shown by the next status conference, this court may dismiss this case for failure to appear in proper prosecution. See 11 U.S.C. 109(g)(1), 349.

(a) Substitution of attorney. On 12/23/16, the debtor filed a substitution of attorney (dkt. 22) reflecting that current proposed counsel is Giovanni Orantes, Esq. Why has no employment application been filed?

(b) Exit strategy. What is the debtor's exit strategy, and what progress has been made toward that goal?

Chapter 11

On the one hand, there appears to be successful prosecution of this adversary proceeding because, according to the plaintiff's status report (adv. dkt. 92), all of the defendants have either agreed to the requested declaratory relief or have defaulted. On the other hand, there are some fundamental issues that appear to prevent this court from granting default judgments at this time.

(1) Self-calendaring error. The motions for default judgments were only served on 10/27/17. See, e.g., Motion for Default Judgment Derek Wilshee (dkt. 83, 74) (collectively, the "Wilshee Default Motion"). That is insufficient time prior to the hearing, under the applicable rules, nor was there any cover notice of the hearing date and deadline for any opposition or response.

(2) Jurisdictional issues.

(a) Personal jurisdiction. Does the complaint adequately establish personal jurisdiction over each defendant? At least one defendant is alleged to be a resident of Australia (dkt. 1, para. 14), although the plaintiff has voluntarily dismissed claims against that defendant (dkt. 107). Are each of the defaulting defendants subject to personal jurisdiction?

(b) Subject matter jurisdiction, and abstention. The complaint and motions for default judgment make somewhat vague assertions of other action(s) that were or are pending in other courts apparently involving the same subject matter, and involving at least preliminary injunctive relief if not other relief. Can this Bankruptcy Court assume jurisdiction over matters that are pending in other courts? Must or should this Bankruptcy Court abstain?

(3) Allegations of wrongdoing. Where is the analysis tying each of the defaulting defendants to one or more of the specific acts of wrongdoing bringing them within the claims in the complaint? For example, the only allegation in the complaint regarding Mr. Wilshee (dkt. 1, para. 14) appears to be that he was at one time an officer of the debtor. How is that an act of wrongdoing?

The Wilshee Default Motion seeks a default judgment against Mr. Wilshee of $431,472,300.00 (dkt. 74, at PDF p.51 of 53). How is he responsible for such alleged damages? Does the complaint need to be amended to establish, as against one or more of the defaulting defendants, how they are alleged to be liable?

(4) Calculation of damages. An exhibit to the plaintiff's motions for default judgments asserts that "Based on Department of Conservation Records [available on a website and/or verified by whom?], these leases [which leases? the ones that allegedly were supposed to be assigned but were not?] were producing 1730 barrels of Oil a day [when?] and "[w]ith today's technology [how is today's technology better?], a conservative figure would be 3500 barrels a day [based on whose expert opinion?] that will be used as a figure for all the losses caused by Western States International [how about other defendants?]." Dkt. 83, Ex.A, at PDF p.17 of 53. The same exhibit shows a calculation of alleged damages based on "Approx Production" of "105,000" which is far more than 3500 barrels (perhaps using a 30-day presumptive month multiplied by 3500 barrels a day?), an "Average Oil Price [from what source?]," and a "Cost [to extract, market, refine, deliver, and sell the oil - or some other or different set of things? based on what expert's opinion?]." Based on the foregoing questions, and applying Rule 55(b)(2) (Fed. R. Civ. P.) (incorporated by Rule 7055, Fed. R. Bankr. P.), it appears that additional evidence and a "prove up" hearing will be needed to determine the amount of damages, if not other issues.

(5) Alleged costs, attorney fees, and interest. The debtor/plaintiff asserts $1 million in costs (dkt. 74 at PDF p.51 of 53) - how is that possible? What are the components? Attorney fees are alleged to be $300,000 - this case has barely commenced, so how is that possible? Where are the daily time sheets and/or other support for this figure? Prejudgment interest is alleged to be at a 10% rate per year starting 1/1/11. What is the contractual or statutory basis for that interest rate and that commencement date? The purported damages were incurred month by month, so how can interest run from before those damages were incurred?

(6) Declaratory relief. The plaintiff makes broad allegations about the rights under various contracts, or arising from breaches of those contracts or by operation of law. Where is the support for these allegations? The plaintiff cannot place the burden on this court to sort through numerous provisions of various contracts to piece together the plaintiff's theory. The plaintiff must provide specific, easy-to-follow analysis and evidence.

(7) Conclusion. Because the motions for default judgments are both procedurally and substantively deficient in all of the ways set forth above, the tentative ruling is to deny them without prejudice.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 8/22/17:

Appearances required. This court notes that the parties were directed to file a joint status report two weeks in advance of this hearing (dkt. 2), but have not done so. In addition, this court notes that the tentative ruling in the main case status conference (calendar no. 3, 8/22/17 at 2:00 p.m.) is to dismiss the main case, which normally would terminate this adversary proceeding. Nevertheless, to preserve all rights in the event that this court were to be persuaded not to dismiss the main case, this court has reviewed the other filed documents and records in this adversary proceeding and issues the following tentative ruling.

(1) Venue/jurisdiction/authority.

The parties are directed to address any outstanding matters of (a) venue, (b) jurisdiction, (c) this court's authority to enter final orders or judgment(s) in this proceeding and, if consent is required, whether the parties do consent, or have already expressly or impliedly consented. See generally Stern v. Marshall, 131 S.Ct. 2594, 2608 (2011) (if litigant "believed that the Bankruptcy Court lacked the authority to decide his claim...then he should have said so – and said so promptly."); Wellness Int'l Network, Ltd. v. Sharif, 135 S.Ct. 1932 (2015) (consent must be knowing and voluntary but need not be express); In re Bellingham Ins. Agency, Inc., 702 F.3d 553 (9th Cir. 2012) (implied consent), aff'd on other grounds, 134 S. Ct. 2165 (2014); In re Pringle, 495 B.R. 447 (9th Cir. BAP 2013) (rebuttable presumption that failure to challenge authority to issue final order is intentional and indicates consent);

(2) Mediation. Is there is any reason why this court should not order the parties to mediation before one of the volunteer mediators (not a Bankruptcy Judge), and meanwhile set the deadlines set forth below?

(3) Deadlines: This adversary proceeding has been pending since 6/19/17. Pursuant to LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B), plaintiff is directed to serve and lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the status conference, attaching a copy of this tentative ruling or otherwise memorializing the following.

Discovery cutoff (for completion of discovery): 1/12/18

Expert(s) - deadline for reports: 1/26/18

Expert(s) - discovery cutoff (if different from above): 2/9/18

Chapter 11

#17.00 Cont'd Status Conference re: Chapter 11 Case
fr. 11/14/17, 1/9/18

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 1/23/18:

Continue all matters scheduled for today in the Sakurai and Checkmate cases and related adversary proceeding to 1/30/18 at 2:00 p.m. in view of the apparent inability of the Office of the United States Trustee to appear due to the shutdown of much of the federal government. At the continued hearing the parties must be prepared to address all issues appropriate to raise at a status conference, including the issues in their recent status reports and related documents (case no. 2:17-bk-22660-NB, dkt. 87, 104, 105, and 2:17-bk-22648-NB, dkt. 90, 93, 100, 102, 104, 105, 106, 109). Appearances are not required on 1/23/18.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 1/9/18:

Appearances required by the debtor's counsel.

Proposed orders: The debtor is directed to serve and lodge proposed orders on each motion listed below via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date.

(1) Current issues

(a) Nov MOR (dkt. 83): On page 8 of 34, there is a line item reflecting a $5,000 payment to Mr. Aronson for legal fees. It is unclear why the Sakurai's are paying Checkmate's counsel for legal fees. What is this payment for?

- (a) Bar date: 1/17/18 (order timely served. dkt. 58, 59)
  - (b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: file by 4/16/18 using the forms required by Judge Bason (DO NOT SERVE yet, except on the U.S. Trustee - the court will set a deadline and procedures at a later time).
  - (c) Continued status conference: 3/6/18 at 1:00 p.m. Brief status report due 2/20/18.
- *Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

Revised Tentative Ruling for 11/14/17:

Appearances required by at least one of the debtors and their counsel.

Proposed orders: The debtors are directed to serve and lodge proposed orders on each motion listed below via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date.

(1) Current issues

(a) Status Report (dkt. 42): The debtors' status report fails to suggest any bar date or any deadline for filing a draft plan and draft disclosure statement. The debtors suggest that the Fresco litigation might have to conclude before they can propose plan, but they fail to support any such delay with relevant information about that litigation, nor do they explain how claims estimation and/or a disputed claims reserve would be inadequate to address this litigation. See generally 11 U.S.C. 502(c) and Rule 3018(a) (Fed. R. Bankr. P.). Accordingly, the tentative ruling is to fix the deadlines set forth below.

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor.

(1) Current issues

(a) Proofs of service (dkt. 18, 19, 21, 22). Service does not appear to be in compliance with this court's orders shortening time because they do not certify that anyone was served via overnight delivery or other expedited means.

The following tentative rulings are contingent on filing a corrected proof of service, no later than the day after this hearing, declaring that such

Revised Tentative Ruling for 11/14/17:

Appearances required by the debtor's principals and debtor's counsel.

Proposed orders: The debtor is directed to serve and lodge proposed orders on each motion listed below via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date.

(1) Current issues

(a) Status Report (dkt. 37): The status report states that the debtor has no executory contracts. What about all the contracts with Radiology Solutions Inc./Corp. (whichever name is correct)?

(b) Cash collateral motion (dkt.9): The debtor reports (dkt. 53, p.3) that it has reached a stipulation with Community Bank regarding the use of cash collateral, but as of the preparation of this tentative ruling no such stipulation appears on the docket. If there is no such stipulation, or if it does not moot the bank's opposition (dkt. 50), then the parties should be prepared to

Tentative Ruling:

Grant as provided below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this court's final ruling. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

Key documents reviewed (in addition to motion papers): The debtor's non-opposition (dkt. 46).

Termination. Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1).

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) is also terminated, because it has not been shown to have any basis to exist independent of the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a). To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Relief notwithstanding future bankruptcy cases.

Pursuant to the legal analysis in In re Vazquez (case no. 2:16-bk-10699-NB, dkt. 75) and/or In re Choong (case no. 2:14-bk-28378-NB, docket no. 31), as applicable:

If this order is duly recorded in compliance with applicable State laws governing notices of interests or liens in the property at issue, then no automatic stay shall apply to such property in any bankruptcy case purporting to affect such property and filed within two years after the date of entry of this order, unless otherwise ordered by the court presiding over that bankruptcy

Docket 11

Tentative Ruling:

Grant as provided below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

Termination. Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (d)(2).

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) is also terminated, because it has not been shown to have any basis to exist independent of the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a). To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Effective date of relief. Grant the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a)(3).

Note: Although the tentative ruling is to grant relief for cause under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and alternatively based on 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(2), the movant has not established that a prepetition unlawful detainer judgment and writ of possession were obtained, so it has not established that it is also entitled to relief under In re Perl, 811 F.3d 1120 (9th Cir. 2016). Judge Bason does not follow In re Smith, 105 B.R. 50 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1989). Accordingly, the tentative ruling is that these alternative arguments are rejected. #11.00 Hrg re: Motion in Individual Case for Order
Imposing a Stay or Continuing the Automatic
Stay as the Court Deems Appropriate

Docket 8

Tentative Ruling:

Grant, subject to the following conditions. Appearances are not required.

After the hearing date this court will prepare an order and the tentative ruling is to include the following language in that order:

The stay of 11 U.S.C. 362(a) applies subject to the following modifications and conditions:

(1) Service and reconsideration. Any party in interest who was not timely served in accordance with FRBP 7004 (incorporated by FRBP 9014(b)) is hereby granted through 14 days after proper service to seek reconsideration, including retroactive relief (under FRBP 9023 and/or 9024). Any such person (a) may set a hearing on 14 days' notice, (b) may appear by telephone (if arrangements are made per Judge Bason's posted procedures), and (c) may present all arguments orally at the hearing (i.e., no written argument is required). If written arguments appear necessary then this court will set a briefing schedule at the hearing.

(2) Reasons. (a) It appears appropriate to impose the automatic stay, and to impose it as to all persons rather than just as to selected persons, because one purpose of the automatic stay is to preventing a "race to collect" that could unfairly advantage some creditors at the expense of others. (b) To prevent possible abuse, this court provides the foregoing simple process for reconsideration.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." Docket 10

Tentative Ruling:

Supplemental Tentative Ruling for 1/30/18:

This court has reviewed the movant's supplemental attachment 3 (dkt. 35) and the attached documents including the broker's opinion of value. This court notes that there is no proof of service of that document on the debtor (let alone proof of hand delivery or other service that would be received prior to the hearing). In other respects the tentative ruling set forth below remains unchanged.

Tentative Ruling for 1/30/18:

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

At the 1/23/18 hearing, this court continued the matter at the debtor's request for additional time to secure the assistance of counsel or otherwise address the issues raised by this motion. There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address the issues raised by the underlying papers, including the debtor's responses (dkt. 19, 25) and the creditor's reply (dkt. 29).

The tentative ruling is to overrule the debtor's objections (dkt. 19, 25) to the extent that the debtor asserts a lack of adequate notice, but the parties should be prepared to address the debtor's other arguments. As for the alleged lack of notice, the debtor admits receiving notice on 1/6/18 which is over two weeks prior to this hearing and this court routinely shortens time on this type of motion (when there have been unauthorized transfers as part of an apparent scheme to hinder, delay or defraud a creditor), and the debtor has not established any undue prejudice arising from the current time frame.

Tentative Ruling:

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

There is no tentative ruling but the parties should be prepared to address the following. Conceptually there is no reason why debtors in a chapter 7 case could not seek a modification of a loan and then, if the modification were granted and that made it feasible to pay their debts in chapter 13, seek to convert the case back to chapter 13. But (1) typically in such a situation the debtors, at a minimum, would have to reimburse the chapter 7 trustee and counsel for all expenses and (2) meanwhile the debtors have duties including cooperating with the Chapter 7 Trustee, and the Trustee has asserted (dkt. 163) that the debtors have not cooperated, so it would be inequitable to permit the debtors to proceed with the protections offered by this court's loan modification program while the debtors are being uncooperative. In addition, this court is concerned about fairness to the Trustee's real estate broker, and possible chilling of any attempted sale.

Appearances required. The court has reviewed the parties' joint status report (dkt. 12) and the other filed documents and records in this adversary proceeding.

(1) Venue/jurisdiction/authority.

The parties are directed to address any outstanding matters of (a) venue, (b) jurisdiction, (c) this court's authority to enter final orders or judgment(s) in this proceeding and, if consent is required, whether the parties do consent, or have already expressly or impliedly consented. See *generally Stern v. Sheffield Financial (dkt. 51, 53), it does not appear that the debtors have reached agreements with any of their other secured creditors (see dkt. 45, Ex.H, at PDF p.14, Endnotes 2B-2D), despite this case having been pending for nearly eight months. As a result, counsel for the debtor should address why this court should not dismiss this case.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 5/10/17.

(a) Bar date: 8/31/17 (timely served, dkt. 26).

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement (dkt. 77, 76)*: If this case is not dismissed, this court will set a hard deadline for the debtors to negotiate agreements with their secured creditors regarding plan treatment.

(c) Continued status conference: If this case is not dismissed, this court will set a date for a continued status conference.

*Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

Tentative Ruling for 12/5/17:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues.

(a) Plan/Disclosure Statement: The tentative ruling is not to impose at this time a deadline for filing amended documents, but to caution debtor's counsel that if this case is not adequately prosecuted then it may be dismissed.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 5/10/17.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Plan/Disclosure Statement (dkt. 44, 45). There is a blank page in the plan that should be deleted (dkt. 44 at PDF p.11).

Exhibit F (dkt. 45 at PDF p.12) appears to contain some errors: line "1" lists general unsecured claims of $64,716, the source for which is listed as dkt.10, plus another $7,970.39 in line "8" from a "Continuation Sheet"; but dkt.10 is not a listing of creditors (it is a notice of commencement of this case and the meeting of creditors), the only bankruptcy Schedule E/F that appears on the docket (dkt.1) lists general unsecured claims of $64,672.60, and there is no "Continuation Sheet" attached.

The debtor discloses (dkt. 45, Ex.H, at PDF p.14, Endnotes 2B-2E) that agreements have yet to be reached with various secured creditors; and therefore it appears appropriate to defer any solicitation of votes. The debtor's counsel should be prepared to address how long it is expected to

Tentative Ruling for 6/20/17:

Grant the budget motion and continue the status conference as set forth below. Appearances are not required on 6/20/17.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Budget motion. This court mistakenly ruled at the status conference on 6/13/17 that the budget motion would be granted on a final basis, not realizing that the 6/13/17 hearing on that motion had been vacated because an amended motion had been filed and set for hearing on this 6/20/17 date. See dkt. 16, 20. Notwithstanding that error, no opposition has been filed to the budget motion, and the tentative ruling is to issue an order after this hearing granting the amended motion on a final basis (the debtor is directed to lodge a proposed order within seven days after this hearing date).

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 5/10/17.

(a) Bar date: 8/31/17 (dkt. 23) - to be served by 8/20/17

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: file by 9/15/17 using the forms required by Judge Bason (DO NOT SERVE yet, except on the U.S. Trustee - the court will set a deadline and procedures at a later time).

but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues.

(a) Budget motion. The debtors' amended budget motion filed on 6/1/17 (dkt. 20) appears to have only partially cured the defects pointed out by the U.S. Trustee in its opposition (dkt. 19) to the initial budget motion (dkt. 16). First, the debtor and/or spouse apparently has income from a property or business but has failed to provide a breakdown of gross receipts, ordinary and necessary business expenses, and calculation of the resulting monthly net income. See dkt. 20 at PDF p.7 (bankruptcy schedule "I" line 8a).

Second, the budget motion includes both (a) bankruptcy schedules "I" and "J" and (b) a spreadsheet showing what appears to be largely or entirely duplicative data. Which one controls (or are both the same)?

Third, the notice of the amended motion incorrectly provides that oppositions are due 14 days prior to the hearing on the motion, although the motion was set on shortened notice pursuant to this court's posted Procedures. For this reason, this court intends to hear oppositions to the amended budget motion at the hearing on 6/13/17.

The tentative ruling is to grant the budget motion on an interim basis, based on the proposed budget spreadsheet (not bankruptcy schedules "I" and "J"), with a deadline of 6/14/17 to file a supplemental declaration providing a thorough breakdown of gross revenues, expenses and calculation of net income for each property/business, and with a continued hearing on 6/20/17 at 1:00 p.m.

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.," "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues

The tentative ruling, subject to any objections at the hearing and further subject to consideration of whether re-balloting is required, is to provide the debtors with one final opportunity to correct the issues set forth below with the disclosure statement (dkt. 250) and the debtors' proposed plan (dkt. 249). The principal documents reviewed by this Court are the plan, disclosure statement, and supporting documents (dkt. 249-254), Butler Capital's objection (dkt. 256), and the debtors' reply (dkt. 257).

(a) Sequence of property sales.

The sequence of property sales in Exhibit H of the Disclosure Statement is not clear. Do the properties have to sell in a particular order? Are the debtors obligated to sell whatever they can as soon as they can and/or in whatever sequence and combinations will maximize value and/or speed? The tentative ruling is that the debtors must clarify Exhibit H either to demonstrate the correct order of sale or that the plan does not require sale in a particular order.

(b) Escrow Deadlines.

From this Court's review of the amended Exhibit H, it appears that the debtors intend to have one year from the projected effective date of December 1, 2016 in which to open escrow, and if any properties that meet that condition later fall out of escrow, the debtors have sixty days to open a new escrow, with an outside period of 18 months from December 1, 2016 (or earlier, if an escrow is opened earlier) in which all escrows must close. However, the way that this is written in the plan is difficult to understand. Particularly, Exhibit H, pp. 4:25-5:1, is unclear, especially because the projected effective date of the plan is not listed until Exhibit H, Page 10. The tentative ruling is that the debtors must revise the language in the plan to clarify these provisions.

(c) Provisions for relief from default.

The sentence on p.5:14-19 regarding relief from default remains confusing. Is default exclusively tied to proceeds given to Bayview? Can other parties declare default? The tentative ruling is that these provisions must be revised to be written in "plain" english to better reflect the debtors' intention.

(d) "Good cause" for relief from default.

The sentences on p.6:10-14 regarding the standard for cause for relief from default are confusing. The debtors list as a possible standard the same standard that would apply to a debtor showing adequate protection in defending against a motion for relief from the automatic stay, but then they state that alternative standards may be proposed by the parties or the Court, if the Court deems some other standard more reasonable under the circumstances. How would this court make that determination? The tentative ruling is that the debtors must clarify these provisions so they may be more equitable to creditors.

(e) Feasibility of interest payments.

In its Tentative Ruling for 9/27/16, this Court addressed the issue of the feasibility of the debtors' proposed interest payments to Bayview (Exhibit H, p.7:14-16) without some sort of cash infusion at the beginning of the plan. Exhibit H does not appear to have been explicitly amended to address the Court's concerns. The tentative ruling is that the plan must be amended to provide for a cash infusion, and to make the failure to provide such infusion, or failure of the debtors immediately to provide evidence of that infusion, an event of default. In addition, the parties should be prepared to address whether Exhibit H should include an explanation of Butler Capital's treatment under the plan, in light of Butler Capital's objection to confirmation (dkt. 256), and the debtors' reply (dkt. 257).

In addition, the debtors should be prepared to address the status of the proposed sale of the Foasberg Dry Cleaning business and whether, after payment of creditors to that business have been paid, the proceeds will constitute an adequate cash infusion to support the proposed interest payments.

(2) Deadlines/dates. These jointly administered cases were filed on 1/23/15.

(a) Bar date: 4/20/15 (timely served per dkt. 40)

(b) Plan: The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 12/13/16 for the debtor to lodge proposed orders approving the disclosure statement and confirming the plan and to file and serve on Bayview, the Receiver (for Hilma Foasberg), and the debtors' equity holders (i) notices of lodgment, (ii) an amended plan as set forth above (with any additional changes ordered at the hearing) and (iii) a redline showing the changes. If those documents appear accurately to reflect this court's rulings and otherwise to be acceptable, and if there are no objections to those changes by 12/20/16, then this court intends to issue orders approving the disclosure statement and confirming the plan. Otherwise, this court intends to hold a telephonic hearing.

(c) Continued status conference: 1/10/16 at 2:00 p.m. No written status report is required. (This likely will be continued for 60 days or so if the plan is confirmed.)

*Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

infusion or other sufficient evidence of feasibility as set forth below. The principal documents reviewed by this court are the plan, disclosure statement, supporting documents (dkt. 229-231), Bayview's objections (dkt. 240), the ballot summary (dkt. 242), the debtors' reply (dkt. 243), and Mr. Foasberg's supplemental declaration (dkt. 244).

(a) Explicit incorporation of Exhibit H into the plan

The tentative ruling is that either Exhibit H itself, or the plan, or the order confirming the plan, or all three, must make it explicit that Exhibit H is incorporated into the plan (although it is only attached to the disclosure statement). That appears to be the intent of the plan, if not its actual terms, because it references Ex.H and vice versa, but this should be more explicit.

(b) "Hard" dates for the close of escrow

The debtors' current proposed plan adopts the previously ordered deadlines that for each property the debtors must be in escrow one year after confirmation (dkt. 228, Ex.H, p.4:24-25), and close escrow 18 months after escrow is entered (id., p.5:26-28), and also proposes (i) that they have 60 days from the failure of any escrow to re-open an escrow if they find a new buyer (id., p.5:2-4) and, apparently, (ii) that each new escrow opens a new 18 month period (id., p. 5:26-28). The tentative ruling is that the former condition meets the standards for cramdown (fair and equitable etc.) but the latter does not.

The tentative ruling is further that the debtors could cure this problem by expressly providing two things. First, the 18 month period would run from the first date when any escrow is opened as to a given property (or, for any escrow that is pending on the Effective Date, 18 months from the Effective Date). Second, to prevent possible evasion of the deadlines, sales would need to be all cash at closing (no deferred payments; no transfers of equity in lieu of cash; etc.).

(c) Confusing additional preconditions to any default

The debtor apparently seeks to impose an additional precondition (dkt. 228, Ex.H, p.5:12-25, the "Additional Precondition") that before a party in interest may send a notice of default it must show that the payment of its claim is actually threatened after taking into account the likely proceeds from whatever properties actually are in escrow. First, as Bayview points out, this appears to place an undue burden on creditors.

Second, the Additional Precondition appears to be unnecessary because the debtors have an alternate remedy. If the debtor is actually able to pay creditors from the pending sales of other properties, and those sales are sufficiently likely to occur quickly, then the debtor can argue as much in its motion for relief from default (dkt. 228, Ex.H, pp. 5:28-6:6, the "Relief From Default Provisions").

Accordingly the tentative ruling is that the Additional Preconditions are not fair and equitable and must be struck from the plan.

(d) Relief from default

The debtor has presented evidence regarding the difficulty of selling the properties, due in large part to environmental issues. Based on that evidence, it is difficult to tell in advance, for example, (i) what defaults could reflect a lack of diligence by the debtor, as opposed to genuine obstacles to closing due to environmental issues, or (ii) whether the debtor is unreasonably seeking to eliminate all possible environmental issues instead of selling at a moderate discount to a buyer who is willing to address some such issues. In other words, there may be good reasons for the debtor to be able to seek relief from default, but it is difficult if not impossible to know in advance, so the debtor appears to have proposed a reasonable mechanism to place this issue before this court, subject to the familiar standards for relief from the automatic stay.

Bayview has not presented contrary evidence or a suitable alternative mechanism for dealing with these issues. Accordingly, the tentative ruling is that the Relief From Default Provisions are fair and equitable and otherwise satisfy the requirements for confirmation under the circumstances.

(e) Reinstatement

The debtors do not disagree with Bayview's proposed language: that "any [currently pending] foreclosure [proceedings with respect to] the subject properties will be rescinded" as opposed to stating that the loans will no longer be in default. The tentative ruling is that the plan must be amended to make this change (see dkt. 228, Exhibit H, p. 6, dkt. 240, p.12:5-8, dkt. 243, p. 8:10-12).

(f) Interest payments

The debtors' plan proposes to make monthly interest-only payments of $5,963.41 and $3,794.45 to Bayview until it is paid in full from the sale of the real properties (dkt. 228, Ex. H, p.7:2-4). This raises two issues: (i) whether the proposed rate of interest is appropriate and (ii) whether the proposed payments are feasible (11 U.S.C. 1129(a)(11)).

(i) Appropriate interest rate

Chapter 11

The debtors have proposed interest rates of 7.5% (dkt. 228, Ex.H, p.7:2-4). This is somewhat higher than the rates in the existing promissory notes (dkt. 243, pp.8:28-9:4).

As stated in Judge Bason's posted procedures,

Judge Bason has expressed the view in various cases that when dealing with relatively small dollar amounts (for which the cost of presenting expert testimony as to interest rates would be prohibitive) the analysis in Till v. SCS Credit Corp., 541 U.S. 465 (2004), is appropriate, and conversely when dealing with larger dollar amounts the Till analysis probably is not appropriate, and one acceptable method for experts to opine as to the appropriate interest rate is the method described in In re Boulders on the River, Inc., 164 B.R. 99 (9th Cir. BAP 1994); see In re N. Valley Mall, LLC, 432 B.R. 825 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2010) (discussing continued viability of Boulders on the River).

In this case it does not appear to be cost-effective for either party to incur the expense of expert testimony as to interest rates (i.e., the type of expert testimony addressed in Boulders on the River and N. Valley Mall). In any event neither party has chosen to do so. So the tentative ruling is to apply the Till analysis or something comparable.

Under that analysis, courts typically apply an interest rate of 1% to 3% over prime, although the starting point might be different (higher) in situations such as this when the properties have environmental issues, so this court also looks to the contract rate used by the parties. This court also takes into consideration that payment to Bayview has been much delayed, and the debtors are proposing interest-only payments (as opposed to amortizing payments), but on the other hand Bayview's claims are protected by a large equity cushion, and national interest rates are near historic lows.

Under the foregoing analysis the debtors have made a sufficient prima facie showing that their proposed interest rates are within the range of what is permissible. Bayview has not rebutted that showing. Therefore the tentative ruling is to approve the proposed interest rates.

(ii) Feasibility

The supplemental declaration of Mr. Foasberg indicates that he intends to sell the dry cleaning businesses that have been failing to pay rent to the debtors for several months (dkt. 244, p. 2). The problem is that it is not at all clear how the debtors intend to make plan payments prior to the sale of the business given their recent performance, i.e., lack of feasibility (11 U.S.C. 1129(a)(11)). Their MOR for August (dkt. 241, p. 21), states that they only hold unrestricted cash of $2,044.28.

It appears that the debtors will need a cash infusion if this court is to make a finding of feasibility. In addition, testimony will be needed (or at least an offer of proof subject to cross-examination) to support the debtors' assertion that any given dollar amount is adequate to show feasibility.

To the extent that this or any other issue requires testimony, this court may accept an offer of proof or brief testimony at today's hearing, or may set a continued hearing for the presentation of evidence and cross-examination. The parties should be prepared to address timing and procedures.

The tentative ruling is that the plan must be amended to provide for such a cash infusion, and to make the failure to provide such infusion, or failure of the debtors immediately to provide evidence of that infusion, an event of default.

(g) Preservation of net revenues/"set aside" for possible environmental remediation

The plan apparently contemplates that if the debtors have their projected cash flow then most net revenues would be used to fund a "set aside" each month for possible environmental remediation of their properties estimated at $5,000 per month per debtor. The tentative ruling is that for the plan to be fair and equitable (and otherwise meet the standards for confirmation) any such funds must be subject to the following conditions.

First, they must be actually paid: if the debtors make any expenditures out of the ordinary course of business, except to fund such a set aside or pay for environmental remediation, then it seems that must be a default under the plan for the plan to be fair and equitable. Second, if the debtors fail to provide monthly accounting of such funds, including a bank account statement, then that would have to be a default under the plan for it to be fair and equitable.

(h) Form of confirmation order

The tentative ruling is that, pursuant to LBR 3020-1(b) the confirmation order shall include the following:

Within 120 days of the entry of this order, the debtors shall file a status report explaining what progress has been made toward consummation of the confirmed plan of reorganization. The initial report shall be served on the United States trustee, the 20 largest unsecured creditors, and those parties who have requested special notice. Further reports shall be filed every 120 days thereafter and served on the same entities, unless otherwise ordered by the court. A postconfirmation status conference will be held on January 17, 2017 at 2:00 p.m.

If this case is converted to one under chapter 7, the property of the reorganized debtor shall be revested in the chapter 7 estate.

(2) Deadlines/dates. These jointly administered cases were filed on 1/23/15.

(a) Bar date: 4/20/15 (timely served per dkt. 40)

(b) Plan: The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 10/4/16 for the debtor to lodge proposed orders approving the disclosure statement and confirming the plan and to file and serve on Bayview, the Receiver (for Hilma Foasberg), and the debtors' equity holders (i) notices of lodgment, (ii) an amended plan as set forth above (with any additional changes ordered at the hearing) and (iii) a redline showing the changes. If those documents appear accurately to reflect this court's rulings and otherwise to be acceptable, and if there are no objections to those changes by 10/11/16, then this court intends to issue orders approving the disclosure statement and confirming the plan. Otherwise, this court intends to hold a telephonic hearing.

(c) Continued status conference: 10/18/16 at 2:00 p.m. No written status report is required. (This likely will be continued for 60 days or so if the plan is confirmed.)

(1) Current issues

(a) Background

These cases were filed in January of 2015. The debtors have filed several proposed plans and disclosure statements, the latest of which are dated 6/21/16 (dkt. 217, 218).

They blame the lack of a confirmed plan of reorganization on the fact that they own several parcels of real estate that may require extensive environmental remediation, and therefore are difficult to sell. The primary outstanding issue in this case is whether their proposed joint plan must provide for a more expedited sales process than the one they have proposed.

That is primarily a confirmation issue (under, e.g., 11 U.S.C. 1129(a)(3) (good faith), (a)(11) (feasibility), and, to the extent "cramdown" is required, (b) (1) (no unfair discrimination, and being fair and equitable, with respect to each impaired, non-consenting class)). Typically, however, the bankruptcy courts consider prior to any confirmation hearing whether a plan is so deficient on its face that sending it out for voting is not worth the resulting expense, delay, and potential confusion.

In addition, the disclosure statement must contain "adequate information" under 11 U.S.C. 1125(a). Again, that is generally an issue for a later stage - the disclosure statement hearing - but bankruptcy courts often address as a preliminary matter whether the disclosure statement is so deficient that no such hearing should be set. That is particularly important given Judge Bason's practice of setting combined hearings on the disclosure statement and plan confirmation. Therefore it is appropriate to address at this stage, initially, whether the debtor has adequately disclosed the potential environmental issues and analyzed the nature of possible remediation, possible approaches that could maximize the sale proceeds balanced against expediting the time for sale, etc.

At the status conference on 5/31/16 this Bankruptcy Court established procedures for the parties to address these issues on a preliminary basis - to determine whether to authorize the debtor to mail a voting package to creditors. The debtors have filed the declaration of their real estate broker Mr. O'Healy (dkt. 220). No other parties in interest have filed any contrary evidence, although creditor Bayview Loan Servicing, LLC ("Bayview") has filed an "opposition" to the proposed joint plan (dkt. 222), which includes an objection to Mr. O'Healy's declaration. The debtors have filed a reply (dkt. 223).

(b) Tentative Rulings

The tentative rulings are as follows, taking into account the amendments that the debtors propose in their reply (dkt. 223) (and solely for the limited purpose described above - i.e., for authorizing the debtor to mail its voting package - and without prejudice to objections at the combined hearing on adequacy of the disclosure statement and whether to confirm the proposed joint plan):

(i) Evidence: Overrule the objections to Mr. O'Healy's declaration.

(ii) Timing: Overrule Bayview's objection as to the timing of the sales, except that the timing must be clarified regarding how long escrow can be open before it can be said to have "fail[ed] to close" (dkt. 218-7, Disclosure Statement p.39:3, which is Ex.H at 5:3); and how long the debtors would after any new escrow were to open before it too would have failed to close. On the present record, this Bankruptcy Court is not persuaded that the "drop dead" dates proposed by Bayview are essential, and that the voting package should not be sent. The debtors argue, with supporting evidence, that "[i]f Bayview were to foreclose, it would face the same problems facing Debtors because the hurdles to selling these properties would not be eliminated if someone else were to sell them." (Dkt. 223, p.6:10-12.)

The foregoing should not be interpreted as a ruling for confirmation purposes. It may be necessary or appropriate, in order to confirm any plan, to establish either "drop dead" dates or some mechanism to assess whether the debtors have been dragging their feet and whether it is fair and equitable to grant additional time to engage in the sale process.

(iii) Default terms: Sustain Bayview's objections regarding the proposed default terms, because of the difficulty (if not impossibility) that Bayview would have in filing a declaration under penalty of perjury as to the debtors' funds and the status of the debtors' sales. The parties should be prepared to address alternative default terms.

(iv) Reinstatement of loans: Overrule Bayview's objections regarding the reinstatement of its loans.

(v) Other issues: The debtors' Exhibit H is needlessly repetitive (this Court will review the details orally at the hearing). In addition, the parties appear to assume that the automatic stay will continue to apply (see, e.g., dkt. 218-7, Disclosure Statement p.89:9, which is Ex.H at 5:9) but the "boilerplate" language in the plan provides for property to revert in the reorganized debtors on the Effective Date (dkt. 217, p.5, part IV.B.) which generally terminates the automatic stay (11 U.S.C. 362(c)(1)). If the debtors intend to provide for the automatic stay to continue (either by eliminating revesting, or by some other means) then they must disclose that clearly, and establish that they legally can do so.

(1) Current issues: estimating Mr. Britton's claim

At the hearing on 10/3/18 this court contemplated that after the debtor filed its motion (dkt. 297) for an order estimating the claim of creditor Layne Leslie Britton then this court would set a briefing schedule. The tentative ruling is to set the briefing schedule set forth below.

This court notes that the parties have already briefed, and this court has preliminarily addressed, some of the underlying issues, in connection with the debtor's prior motion for an order approving a draft plan and disclosure statement. Therefore a longer briefing schedule does not appear to be necessary. See dkt. 244 (motion), dkt. 260 (opposition, especially at pp.17:11-21:13 and Winston Decl. Ex.1.B.), dkt. 263 (reply, especially at pp.9:9-12:24), transcript of 8/22/17 hearing (dkt. 272), debtor's status report (dkt. 273), and audio recording of 10/3/17 hearing.

Appearances are not required on 4/12/16.

Based on the statements made in the debtor's status report (dkt. 92), this Court continues this status conference as set forth above. The debtor shall file a brief status report two weeks before the continued status conference.

Continue to 2/23/16 at 2:00 p.m. unless any opposition/response to employment or recusal are filed prior to 1/30/16. Appearances are not required on 2/2/16.

Reasons: At the hearing on 1/19/16, this court stated that the status conference would be continued without further hearing if no oppositions/responses to employment or recusal were received by the deadline for such things, which is 1/29/16. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling (on 1/29/16) no such documents have yet been filed.

Chapter 11

(a) Background. Claimant Britton's motion for relief from the automatic stay (dkt. 11) seeks to modify the automatic stay to liquidate the parties' claims in the underlying State Court action (Britton v. Riggs, LA Superior Ct. No. BC 496298). Just before trial was set to commence, the debtor filed this bankruptcy case, and trial has now been continued to 2/10/16. The debtor has filed an application (dkt. 26) to employ its existing attorneys in the State Court action as special counsel.

In view of the apparent urgency of these matters, this Bankruptcy Court issued an order raising a number of its initial concerns (dkt. 35), held a preliminary hearing on 1/8/16, and directed the debtor to serve a supplemental notice addressing certain issues. In addition, when Judge Bason's law clerk learned of certain attenuated connections between him and the parties in this case, those matters were disclosed on the record (dkt. 39), and the debtor was directed to serve those disclosures on all parties in interest.

The debtor complied with these notice requirements (see dkt. 44, 43, 45) and the period for any response expires on 1/29/16 (fixed date in dkt. 39 as to this court's disclosures; and service on 1/11/16 + 14 days' notice + 3 days for service via U.S. mail = 1/29/16 as to the employment application). As of the time when this tentative ruling has been prepared (1/18/16) no response on either matter appears on the docket.

(b) Relief from the automatic stay. The tentative ruling is to modify the automatic stay as follows, effective immediately upon (i) entry of an order of this court granting the employment application (so that the debtor can defend and prosecute its claims in the State Court action) and (ii) resolution of any request to be heard regarding recusal. Specifically, the automatic stay would be modified to permit litigation of the State court action insofar as liquidating claims by Mr. Britton against the debtor and its principal, Mr. Riggs, as well as liquidating any counterclaims, including all subsidiary disputes such as whether the statute of limitations should be tolled and any alter ego issues, but not to permit enforcement of any judgment against any property in which the debtor asserts an interest absent further order of this Bankruptcy Court.

Judge Bason is not persuaded by the debtor's argument that the statute of limitations issue should be addressed by this Bankruptcy Court before any State Court litigation is permitted to continue. The principles underlying the Rooker Feldman doctrine (that this Bankruptcy Court may not act as essentially an appellate court for State Court determinations), as well as comity, a respect for the State Court's determination of these issues, conservation of judicial resources, the avoidance of forum shopping, and not permitting a party to obtain "two bites at the apple" all weigh against deciding the statute of limitations issues here. The State Court issued a detailed tentative ruling (dkt. 46-1, Ex.A, pp.23-26) regarding the statute of limitations issues, including its conclusion that those issues could not be determined as a matter of law because a reasonable trier of fact "may well determine that the delay in filing the action was due to the Defendants' fraud or other misconduct such that Defendants should be estopped from asserting the statute of limitations," and the State Court apparently adopted that tentative ruling when it denied the defendants' motion for summary judgment and declined to address the statute of limitations issues before trial. Judge Bason is not persuaded that this Bankruptcy Court can or should revisit that determination.

As to any claims that are truly alter ego claims (as distinguished from fraudulent transfer claims or other avoidance actions that belong to this bankruptcy estate), the tentative ruling is that under the Ahcom decision (623 F.3d 1248 (9th Cir. 2010)), any such claims do not belong to the bankruptcy estate and, therefore, the automatic stay would not prevent claimant Mr. Britton from seeking to establish and pursue any alter ego claims against Mr. Riggs. Alternatively, the tentative ruling is to modify the automatic stay (if it applied) to permit such true alter ego claims to be litigated (when and if the State Court determines that they should be) because if those issues turn out to be relevant then they will have to be litigated anyway, and the State Court would be the proper forum in which to litigate them. To the extent that the debtor seeks to stay (enjoin) any such alter ego claims against Mr. Riggs in this bankruptcy case, such an injunction would have to be the subject of a separate adversary proceeding. See, e.g., In re Excel Innovations, Inc., 502 F.3d 1086 (9th Cir. 2007).

(c) Employment of special litigation counsel. The tentative ruling is to conditionally approve employment of special litigation counsel for the reasons stated at the preliminary hearing on 1/8/16 and in the application (dkt. 26) and debtor's supplemental disclosures (dkt. 44). The condition is that no order approving such employment should be lodged until after the period for responses to such application or to this court's disclosures has expired (on 1/29/16), and of course if any such response is filed then this court will consider such responses (at a hearing as set forth below).

The potential for alter ego claims does not appear to create any cognizable conflict, at least at this stage of the litigation. Although it could be argued that there would be a conflict because any recovery that Mr. Britton could obtain from Mr. Riggs would decrease his claim against the debtor, and therefore theoretically benefit the debtor, it seems more likely at this stage that both Mr. Riggs and the debtor have a unified interest in contesting any asserted grounds for alter ego liability (i) so as to assure that Mr. Riggs devotes his energies to the debtor's future success and ability to pay its creditors, and (ii) so as to attempt to assure that there is a level playing field among the debtor's creditors (which, arguably, there would not be if one creditor - Mr. Britton - could pursue alter ego recoveries before other creditors could seek to do the same).

Of course, counsel for the debtor (both general and special counsel) and Mr. Riggs himself will need to monitor the situation continually. If a conflict or potential conflict does develop, they will need to file appropriate disclosures and/or seek a supplemental ruling from this court regarding the terms of any continued employment of special counsel.

(d) Tentative hearing. If any response is filed to either the employment application or this court's disclosures, then a hearing will take place on 2/2/16 at 2:00 p.m. to address those things. If there is any such response, the debtor must notify chambers so that the matter may be added to this court's calendar for that day.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 12/1/15.

(a) Bar date: Bar date: 2/8/16 (timely served, dkt. 19 & 25).

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: file by 7/1/16 using the forms required by Judge Bason (DO NOT SERVE yet, except on the U.S. Trustee - the court will set a deadline and procedures at a later time).

Note: If the U.S. Trustee wishes to file initial comments on any draft Plan documents before the regular deadline, it should do so at least two weeks prior to the next status conference (but, whether or not any comments are filed, all rights are reserved to object to the Disclosure Statement or Plan when deadline(s) for such objections are established).

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor and by the principal of the debtor.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Affiliated businesses. The debtor's status report (dkt. 20, p.8:17-9:3) requests that the debtor be excused from providing financial information concerning affiliates in both the status report and monthly operating reports. The tentative ruling is to grant that request.

(b) Service of status report. This court's form status report must be served on, inter alia, all of the debtor's secured creditors and the top 20 largest general unsecured creditors. It appears that there are no secured creditors, but that unsecured creditors were not served (see dkt. 20, p. 10). The tentative ruling is to direct the debtor, no later than 1/6/16, to serve all parties in interest with a copy of the status report and this tentative ruling, and then parties in interest may, if they choose, raise any appropriate issues at future status conferences.

(c) Plan and disclosure statement. The debtor has suggested (dkt. 20, p.4:20-23) a deadline of 4/30/16 to file initial drafts. The debtor should be prepared to address the associated procedures, including the local form plan and whether that deadline is consistent with the pending litigation with creditor Layne Leslie Britton (dkt. 11), currently set for trial in State court for 2/10/16.

Tentative Ruling for 1/30/18:

Appearances required. There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address the following issues:

(a) Current Issues:

(1) Lake Elsinore Mortgage: In paragraph 13 on Schedule I (Exhibit A to the Motion), the Debtors state that Checkmate pays the mortgage on the Lake Elsinore rental property, but it was unclear whether Checkmate would continue to make those payments going forward in light of its own bankruptcy filing. Debtors indicate that this would result in a drop in income. Schedule J (Exhibit B to the motion) lists a net monthly income of $1,313.62. Are the debtors now paying the Lake Elsinore mortgage and, if so, will the debtors be filing a revised budget reflecting the impact that payment has on the debtor's net monthly income?

What is this money from? Is it currently being held? Is it available to pay secured or unsecured creditors?

(ii) On page 7 of 34, there is a line item reflecting a $5,000 payment to Mr. Aronson for legal fees. (c) Continued status conference: 2/13/18 at 1:00 p.m. Brief status report due 2/6/18.

*Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

Tentative Ruling for 1/23/18:

Continue all matters scheduled for today in the Sakurai and Checkmate cases and related adversary proceeding to 1/30/18 at 2:00 p.m. in view of the apparent inability of the Office of the United States Trustee to appear due to the shutdown of much of the federal government. At the continued hearing the parties must be prepared to address all issues appropriate to raise at a status conference, including the issues in their recent status reports and related documents (case no. 2:17-bk-22660-NB, dkt. 87, 104, 105, and 2:17-bk-22648-NB, dkt. 90, 93, 100, 102, 104, 105, 106, 109). Appearances are not required on 1/23/18.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 1/9/18:

Appearances required by the debtor's counsel.

(a) Proofs of service (dkt. 18, 19, 21, 22). Service does not appear to be in compliance with this court's orders shortening time because they do not certify that anyone was served via overnight delivery or other expedited means.

The following tentative rulings are contingent on filing a corrected proof of service, no later than the day after this hearing, declaring that such expedited service was actually done, or if that is not true then the tentative ruling is to impose sanctions of $200 on counsel for the debtors and, despite the lack of service, authorize the proposed expenditures of cash collateral and the proposed utility deposits as an interim method of providing adequate protection under 11 U.S.C. 361-366.

(b) Cash collateral motion (dkt. 8). Subject to any opposition at the hearing, the tentative ruling is to grant this motion on the terms set forth in the separate tentative ruling on that motion.

(c) Utility motion (dkt. 11). Subject to any opposition at the hearing, the tentative ruling is to grant this motion. Proposed order: Movant is directed to serve and lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 10/16/17.

The tentative ruling is that although there are substantial grounds under the Curtis factors to grant relief from the automatic stay, nevertheless it would be in the best interest of creditors to delay granting such relief, on a temporary basis, to afford the debtor a breathing spell from litigating the state court action, and to obtain a better sense of the debtor's assets and prospects for generating income, all of which this court will discuss further with the parties at the hearing.

#1.00 Hrg re: Motion to Avoid Lien junior lien on principal residence with creditor Wells Fargo Bank NV NA; City of Pomona, Housing Division

Docket 8

Tentative Ruling:

(1) Deny for the reasons set forth in the opposition (dkt. 22) filed by Wells Fargo Bank, N.A. ("Wells Fargo") and the additional reasons set forth below, and (2) direct counsel to address at the hearing (a) why he should be allowed any fees for this motion, (b) whether he is competent to represent the debtor at all, and (c) whether he should be associating experienced bankruptcy counsel or arranging for a substitution of counsel and transfer of any fees received from the debtor. Appearances required by counsel for the debtor and by the debtor himself (counsel for the debtor must appear in person, but the debtor and any other parties in interest may appear by telephone if they follow Judge Bason's posted procedures for telephonic appearances, available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov).

Proposed order: Wells Fargo is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this court's final ruling. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

Reasons for denial: The debtor seeks to avoid the junior liens of Wells Fargo and the City of Pomona, Housing Division's ("Pomona") on his principal residence pursuant to section 506(d). But on the record before this court (1) service is inadequate, (2) the evidence is inadequate, and (3) there is no basis to avoid either lien (in whole or in part) under section 506(d).

(1) Service is inadequate

The proof of service (dkt. 8, last 2 pages) fails to comply with the rules for service. Service on Pomona does not comply with Rule 7004(b)(6).

This court also notes that service on Wells Fargo was defective, although Wells Fargo has waived any such defects by filing an opposition (in which it did not raise any deficiency in service). Among other things, Wells

Fargo was not served to the attention of an officer as required by Rule 7004 (b)(3) & (h) (Fed. R. Bankr. P.) (incorporated by Rule 9014(b), Fed. R. Bankr. P.).

(2) Evidence is inadequate

The form motion includes a section for describing the supporting evidence by exhibit numbers. See dkt. 8, p.4, section 3.c. That section is mostly blank.

(3) Section 506(d) does not support avoidance of either lien

The motion papers include an appraisal valuing the property at $265,000. The debtor states that the total value of all liens against the property is $207,417.65. Motion, p.3, lines 3-7 (1st DOT $89,545.97 + Wells Fargo's 2nd DOT $65,157.55 + Pomona's 3rd DOT $48,714.13 = $207,417.65). Therefore, according to the debtor's own evidence both liens are fully secured and cannot be avoided under section 506(d).

It appears that counsel for the debtor has mistakenly conflated two sections of the Bankruptcy Code:

(a) section 506(d) (which only permits avoidance of liens to the extent they are "under water" (and sometimes not even then - see 11 U.S.C. 1322(b) (2)), and

(b) 11 U.S.C. 522(f), which permits avoidance of judicial liens to the extent that they impair a valid homestead exemption: there is no showing that the liens of Wells Fargo or Pomona are "judicial" liens, and in any event the motion neither seeks nor establishes a sufficient basis for avoidance under section 522(f).

The debtor's reply (dkt. 24) cites irrelevant cases. One case was decided under section 522(f) (and much of its discussion involves matters that have since been mooted by the 2005 revisions to the Bankruptcy Code). See In re Smith, 92 B.R. 287 (Bankr. S.D. Ohio 1988). The debtor cites one other case, for the proposition that "a Motion to Strip [a junior] mortgage may be filed, despite [the fact] that Debtor already obtained a Chapter 7 Discharge." Dkt. 24, p.1:24-25 (citing In re Blendheim, 803 F.3d 477 (9th Cir. 2015)). That issue is irrelevant to whether the lien is partially or wholly unsecured; and on the debtor's own facts the subject liens are wholly secured.

(4) Counsel's fees and competence

Bankruptcy is a complex specialty. It appears that the debtor's counsel is not sufficiently familiar with the Bankruptcy Code and Rules to represent the debtor, either in this specific matter or more generally in this bankruptcy case. Awarding fees for the counterproductive work on this matter would only harm the debtor and creditors, and going forward this Bankruptcy Court is concerned about the potential for irreparable harm to the debtor and creditors. Counsel should be prepared to address (a) whether new counsel should be substituted in and (b) whether any fees that the debtor or the Chapter 13 Trustee may have paid to such counsel should be transferred to new counsel.

Chapter 13

#8.00 Hrg re: Chapter 13 Trustee's Intent to File Final Report and Account, Obtain Discharge of Chapter 13 Trustee and Close Case

Docket 142

Tentative Ruling:

Approve the Chapter 13 Trustee's final report (dkt. 142) subject to clarification in that report and in the order approving it, all as set forth below.

Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: The Chapter 13 Trustee is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(1) Background

The Chapter 13 Trustee's final report (dkt. 142) includes the notation "(j) PAID IN FULL" and then lists claims and disbursements including claim no.1 of creditor Long Beach City Employees Federal Credit Union (the "Credit Union") stated to be in the "Scheduled Amount" of $22,295.50 and the "Proof of Claim Amount" and "Allowed Amount" of $15,481.11 with "100%" to be paid. Credit Union has objected (dkt. 143, 146) that in fact its claim has not been paid in full, and it is concerned that the debtors might use the final report to argue the contrary in nonbankruptcy courts.

(2) The parties' arguments, and this Court's analysis

The Trustee points out that the language in her final report is standard practice, and that practice is supported by the Local Bankruptcy Rules ("LBR"). Those rules provide that when an order grants relief from the automatic stay to permit a creditor holding a secured claim to exercise its remedies against its collateral then (unless the order provides otherwise) the secured claim is deemed withdrawn:

(4) Payments after Relief from Automatic Stay. If an order is entered granting relief from the automatic stay, unless otherwise specified in the order, the chapter 13 trustee is relieved from making any further payments to the secured creditor that obtained such relief. The secured portion of that creditor's claim is deemed withdrawn upon entry of the order for relief, without prejudice to filing an amended unsecured claim for a deficiency when appropriate. The secured creditor that obtains relief from the automatic stay must return to the chapter 13 trustee any payments the creditor receives from the chapter 13 trustee after entry of the order unless the stipulation or order provides otherwise. [LBR 3015-1(r)(4) (emphasis added)]

In other words, as the Trustee points out (and the Credit Union agrees, dkt. 146, p.2:1-2), the payments that have already been made on the secured claim (before relief from the automatic stay was granted) constitute the full dollar amount that the Trustee is required to pay on account of the secured claim. That is what the final report means when it states that the claim was "paid in full."

The Trustee does not argue that the Credit Union's claim was actually disallowed above what was paid. But as the Credit Union argues (dkt. 143, 146) the final report's statement that the claim was "paid in full" could be misread to mean that.

The Credit Union is "concerned that with the Debtors' past actions, the Debtors may try to claim the Credit Union's allowed claim was only for the sum of $15,481.11, which is what the Trustee's Report says on its face." Dkt. 146, p.2:6-8. That concern is reasonable. This Court takes judicial notice that in this particular bankruptcy case the debtors (or their counsel) have made extensive unmeritorious arguments. See, e.g., dkt. 55, 108 (orders overruling claim objections and disallowing certain fees sought by debtors' counsel).

Any argument by the debtors that the Credit Union's claim was reduced to the dollar amount listed in the Trustee's final report would be frivolous. First, this court has overruled the debtors' claim objections. See, e.g., dkt. 55, 108.

Second, the LBR cannot have the effect of automatically disallowing the Credit Union's claim because claims can only be disallowed for the reasons set forth in 11 U.S.C. 502(b). See, e.g., In re Campbell, 336 B.R. 430 (9th Cir. BAP 2005) (rules cannot add to statutory grounds to disallow claims); In re Heath, 331 B.R. 424 (9th Cir. BAP 2005) (same). See also Travelers Cas. & Sur. Co. of Am. V. Pac. Gas & Elec. Co., 549 U.S. 443, 449 (2007) ("the court 'shall allow' the claim 'except to the extent that' the claim implicates any of the nine exceptions enumerated in § 502(b)").

Third, the only sensible reading of LBR 3015-1(r)(4) is that the secured claim is only "deemed" withdrawn for purposes of distributions by the Trustee, not for purposes of allowing or disallowing the claim itself. In other words, LBR 3015-1(r)(4) and the Trustee's final report have no effect on any in personam or in rem claim that a creditor such as the Credit Union has outside of the Bankruptcy Court (of course, any debtor who receives a discharge of a particular debt no longer has in personam liability on that debt, but that is a separate issue that has nothing to do with LBR 3015-1(r)(4) or the Trustee's final report).

In sum, the Credit Union is correct on both issues: (a) the Trustee's final report could be misread by the debtors or their counsel (either intentionally or, perhaps, unintentionally) and (b) there is no support for such a reading. Therefore it is appropriate to clarify that the Trustee's final report does not reduce the Credit Union's claim.

(3) Specific language to be used for clarification

The Credit Union requests that the following language be inserted both in the final report and in any order approving the final report:

It is acknowledged that the allowed claim of Long Beach City Employees Federal Credit Union only reflects the amount the Credit Union had been paid, as of the time it was granted relief from the automatic stay. Said sum is inserted in place of the Credit Union's actual allowed claim. [Dkt. 146, p.2:18-21]

This Bankruptcy Court is persuaded that in the unique circumstances of this contentious bankruptcy case it is appropriate to insert such language, or similar language, if the parties can agree on the appropriate phrasing. If the parties cannot agree then they are directed to telephone Judge Bason's chambers and arrange for a telephonic hearing to resolve the issue at a mutually convenient time.

Note: The Chapter 13 Trustee is invited to consider whether a change in phrasing in the final reports and/or in LBR 3015-1(r)(4) would be appropriate, to preclude the type of problem that the Credit Union is (reasonably) concerned about in this case. Judge Bason anticipates addressing that with the Chapter 13 Trustee in other appropriate fora, such as in connection with proceedings before the Rules Committee.

Tentative Ruling for 2/8/18:

Continue to 3/8/18 at 8:30 AM for corrected service on the junior lienholders, and clarification of certain ambiguities, all as set forth below. Appearances are required by debtor's counsel on 2/8/18.

Key documents reviewed (in addition to motion papers): IRS's Opposition (dkt. 103).

(1) Background

The debtor's original motion (dkt. 85) did not ask for authority to sell free and clear of liens under 11 U.S.C. 363(f), although it appeared to seek such relief. The Chapter 13 Trustee responded, among other things, "it is not clear if all lienholders have agreed to such a sale." Dkt. 89. (The senior lienholder, Wells Fargo, also filed a conditional non-opposition, dkt. 96.)

The debtor has now filed an amended motion (dkt. 102) which seeks authority to sell free and clear of liens under 11 U.S.C. 363(f). The debtor does not have any specific sale arranged, although the debtor hopes to sell the property for something in the range of $1 million, which apparently is above the dollar amount owed to senior lienholder Wells Fargo but well below the dollar amount sufficient to pay the junior liens on the property.

The motion appears to be seeking authorization for sale procedures. In addition, the motion appears to be seeking either (a) pre-authorization to sell for whatever price the debtor might obtain (which this court tentatively is not prepared to grant) or, alternatively, (b) a subsequent motion and/or hearing to approve whatever proposed sale the debtor actually negotiates (which is a procedure that this court is inclined to approve, subject to the issues noted below).

(2) Service

Service on the junior lienholders does not appear to comply with the applicable rules. For example, Rules 2002(g) and 7004(b)(3) (Fed. R. Bankr. P.) generally require service at the most recent address designated by the creditor (typically in a proof of claim) or, if no such address has been designated, then organizations typically must be served "Attn: Officer or Managing/General Agent" or the like, at an address reasonably calculated to reach that person (e.g., corporate headquarters, rather than a P.O. Box used for payments). Service on attorneys who have represented a creditor outside of the bankruptcy case is inadequate. See In re Villar, 317 B.R. 88 (9th Cir. BAP 2004). FDIC-insured institutions must be served via certified mail, per Rule 7004(h).

Similarly, service on the Internal Revenue Service ("IRS") usually must comply with Rule 7004(b)(5) (the Court Manual includes instructions and addresses for such service). The rules are not entirely clear, but that may be superseded by the address designated by the IRS in its proof of claim, although that does not help because the debtor has not used that address. See Claim 2-1, p.1, under "Where should notices to the creditor be sent?"

The debtor must re-serve the motion in compliance with the applicable rules for service. That motion must be accompanied by a notice of the continued hearing date (with the standard deadline for any opposition) and a notice clarifying the ambiguities noted below.

(3) Ambiguities

(a) Proposed use of proceeds

The debtor calculates, based on a hypothetical sale price of $1 million, that after paying Wells Fargo's senior debt, real estate taxes, and costs of sale, there will be a remaining balance of roughly $135,000 "for the benefit of creditors." Dkt. 102, p.6:27-28. It is not clear what the debtor means by this.

Typically a sale "free and clear" of liens and other interests under section 363(f) provides for net proceeds to be held in a segregated account and with all remaining liens to attach to those proceeds pending further order of the court, with the same priority, validity, and dollar amounts as those liens had attached to the original collateral. The typical benefit to the debtor and the bankruptcy estate of using this procedure, instead of simply paying the liens out of escrow, is that (i) the sale will not be delayed by any dispute as to the priority, validity, or dollar amount of any lien, or by litigation to avoid one or more liens under 11 U.S.C. 522(f), 547, or on other grounds, and (ii) if the debtor can provide adequate protection of the junior liens then the debtor might be able to use the funds in a way that ultimately will result in a net benefit to all parties - such as repairing a roof on rental property that will assure more rental income, or investing in a business that will generate more revenues.

It appears that the debtor might intend to pay liens, in their order of priority, "directly from escrow" (dkt. 102, p.9:17), or at least provide the Chapter 13 Trustee with discretion to do so (id., p.9:1-6), so perhaps there will be no need to hold net proceeds in a segregated account. In any event, the debtor should clarify what is intended by proposing to use the projected $135,000 "for the benefit of creditors." (If the debtor intends something different from the options outlined above then the debtor must say so; but what the debtor cannot do is to simply use the $135,000 for personal reasons, or distribute it to unsecured creditors, because then the debtor would be ignoring the secured claim(s) held by junior lienholder(s).)

(b) Approval of actual sale

As noted in the "Background" section of this tentative ruling, it is not clear if the debtor intends for this court to pre-authorize whatever sale the debtor might negotiate, but this court is not inclined to grant such a pre-authorization. On the other hand, this court is inclined to approve a two step process: first authorizing the sale procedures set forth in the motion (dkt. 102), as clarified above, and second authorizing the debtor to provide notice to creditors of the actual sale price and other terms (once a sale is negotiated) pursuant to the usual procedures for sales of property in chapter 13 cases in this district. If the debtor seeks any special procedures, such as shortened time, then the debtor should make that clear in the motion papers.

Appearances required. This matter was set for hearing based on the Chapter 13 Trustee's objection (dkt. 89) that, among other things, "it is not clear if all lienholders have agreed to such a sale." One lienholder (apparently the senior lienholder who will be paid in full) has filed a conditional non-opposition (dkt. 96), but what about the other lienholders? The motion does not request any sale free and clear of liens under 11 U.S.C. 363(f), nor does the motion address the elements of that statute. Does the debtor intend to amend the motion to seek such relief?

Appearances required. At the hearing on 1/11/18 this court orally granted the motion, directed counsel for the debtor to lodge a proposed order vacating the dismissal of this case, and set this continued hearing both to assure that the order was duly lodged and as a status conference to address whether this case is being adequately prosecuted. Counsel for the debtor has filed a notice of lodgment (dkt. 27), but did not actually lodge any proposed order. In addition, the docket does not reflect any other progress in this case. The parties should be prepared to address the status of their negotiations and whether they have been able to resolve their disputes.

Furthermore, at the 8/17/17 hearing on this motion, the creditor was directed to file a declaration no later than 9/21/17 addressing (a) its purported non-payment of this court's prior award of fees and expenses (see order, dkt. 77); its re-calculation and/or verification of the purported shortfall after reviewing the debtor's Objection (dkt. 106) to its response (dkt. 94) to the Chapter 13 Trustee's notice of final cure payment [to the extent not addressed by the creditor's supplemental response at dkt. 115]; and (c) the reasons for its late filing of (i) its response to the notice of final cure and (ii) its response (dkt. 115) to the debtor's Objection. A scheduling order continuing the hearing to 10/5/17 was entered on 8/23/17, memorializing the above (dkt. 116).

Creditor has not filed any such declaration on the docket (as of the date when this tentative ruling has been prepared, over a week after the deadline). Why not?

Should this court issue an order to show cause ("OSC") why sanctions should not be imposed? Should this court entertain a motion by counsel for the debtor for sanctions? At the very least, the late responses and lack of responses appear to be costing the debtor/estate the time and expense for the debtor's attorney to appear in court to address these things.

If so, this court would address what further procedures to implement, such as setting an evidentiary hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 10/5/17:

Deny. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Nationstar is directed to serve and lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this court's final ruling.

(1) Background

As this court understands the debtor's assertions, his motion involves the senior lien (Claim No. 8) on his principal residence at 28832 Benjie Way, Lancaster, CA (the "Property"). Originally the holder of that lien was BAC Home Loans ("BAC"), but subsequently the claim was transferred to Nationstar Mortgage, LLC (dkt. 89) ("Nationstar").

The debtor asserts that Nationstar violated the discharge injunction by initiating foreclosure proceedings and refusing (for a number of months) to release its lien. The debtor admits that he must show a "willful" violation of the discharge injunction. The debtor's assertions are puzzling for several reasons.

Normally, the rights of a senior lienholder on a debtor's principal residence cannot be modified. See 11 U.S.C. 1322(b)(2). The only statutory exception is that arrears can be cured during the term of the plan; but the long term debt and lien survive. See 11 U.S.C. 1322(b)(5). Therefore, if the debtor fails to pay the full, unaltered amount of the debt, the senior lienholder can foreclose without violating the discharge injunction.

Of course, junior liens on principal residences can be avoided if they are entirely underwater (because then they are not "allowed secured claims," so they are not entitled to the protection of the above-cited statutes). See In re Zimmer, 313 F.3d 1220 (9th Cir. 2002) and In re Lam, 211 B.R. 36 (9th Cir. BAP 1997). But even then, the junior lienholder receives a lot of very clear notice, which means that the debtor has a good record to establish a "willful" violation of the discharge injunction if the junior lienholder attempts to foreclose after its lien has been avoided.

Specifically, the junior lienholder must be served with a required form of motion to determine that the lien is entirely underwater (Local Form F 4003-2.4, at dkt.14 in this case), that motion expressly states when the lien is to be avoided (see id.) (normally either upon completion of the plan, or receipt of a chapter 13 discharge), and if the lien actually is to be avoided then the court issues an initial order granting the motion (Local Form F 4003-2.4.ORDER, at dkt. 32 in this case) and a second order, after the preconditions for avoiding the lien have been satisfied, avoiding the lien (Local Form F 4003-2.4.ORDER.AFTERDISCH).

Again, however, this matter involves a senior lien. In this case it appears that the debtor is relying on a very unusual provision regarding that lien which was added to the confirmation order. But, as discussed below, there is no showing that Nationstar was made aware of that provision at any time before it released its lien; and that provision is ambiguous on its face, so by itself it does not appear to establish any "willful" violation of the discharge injunction.

(2) Highly unusual modification of the senior lien at the confirmation hearing

On 6/14/12 this court held a hearing on whether to confirm the debtor's chapter 13 plan or dismiss the case. After several breaks in the hearing for the parties' negotiations, an agreement was reached and subsequently included in a special provision of the confirmation order. That order provides:

For purpose of plan confirmation, the value of the real property commonly known as 28832 Benjie Way, Lancaster, CA 93536 is determined to be $194,000. The amount of the secured claim which shall be paid, in full, during the life of the chapter 13 plan is $169,340, with interest at the rate of 6.75% for the remaining 48 months of the Chapter 13 Plan. [Dkt. 73, p.3, para. 1.b.]

This court is not aware of any evidence in the record that the debtor ever pointed out this language to Nationstar. As noted above, normally senior liens pass through bankruptcy unaffected, so the burden is on the debtor to show that Nationstar was even aware of this special provision in the confirmation order.

Moreover, even if Nationstar knew of this special provision, the language on its face is somewhat ambiguous about whether the in personam and in rem liability are actually reduced to $169,340, or if that is just what must be fully paid during the remaining 48 months of the plan without reducing the long-term obligation to pay any remaining balance. Although the former interpretation seems more likely (based solely on the above quote), the typical treatment of senior liens is to provide for some payments (arrears) during the plan without reducing the long term obligation, so, again, the language is somewhat ambiguous. Moreover, the ultimate question is whether this provision is clear enough that (if Nationstar was even aware of this language) Nationstar "willfully" violated this provision and thereby willfully violated the discharge injunction.

On 11/20/12 Claim No. 8 was transferred from BAC to Nationstar (dkt. 89). The transfer document lists the claim in the full amount of $379,125.14.

Moreover, the order says nothing about when the lien will be avoided. The debtor seems to think it is when he receives his discharge, which is one of the typical choices (the other being upon completion of the plan), but again, the order itself is silent, so the question is whether Nationstar's failure to recognize when its lien was avoided amounts to a willful violation of the discharge injunction.

From the foregoing it appears that nothing in the record provided clear notice to Nationstar that (a) whatever unpaid balance remained (out of the full $379,125.14 debt) would be forgiven at the end of the plan, or (b) whether and when its lien would be avoided. Normally none of those things would happen to a senior lienholder, and if they did they would be the subject of a motion and two orders, rather than a special, somewhat ambiguous provision inserted into a confirmation order.

(3) Apparent lack of other clear notice to Nationstar

The debtor points to the reports provided by the Chapter 13 Trustee. It is true that the trustee's notice of intent to file final report (dkt. 172) was served on Nationstar on 5/12/15, and the final report (dkt. 176) was filed on 6/17/15 and approved on 6/18/15 (dkt. 179), but nothing in those documents states whether the $169,340 was in full payment of the claim or if the balance remained due, as would be typical for a senior lien on a principal residence.

The debtor received a discharge on 6/22/15 (dkt. 181). But the debtor has not shown how Nationstar had any clear notice that this meant its lien was avoided (again, typically the senior lien on a principal residence would be unaffected by the discharge).

On 7/27/15 the debtor (acting without an attorney) apparently sent a letter to Nationstar (dkt. 207, Ex.C). But that letter is somewhat difficult to follow (unsurprisingly for a non-lawyer's letter) and it does not explain any of the above. In addition, Nationstar asserts that the letter was incorrectly addressed (dkt. 208, p.8:11-23) and the debtor's (belated) reply (dkt. 237) does not dispute that issue.

The debtor points to a letter from Nationstar's attorneys on 12/15/15 stating that the loan has been referred to them for foreclosure. Dkt. 184, Ex.A (last page). Former counsel for the debtor attests that he called that firm on 3/31/16 (dkt. 184, p.5, para.4), but he does not say that he explained any of the above (nor does it seem likely that he did, at least in any way that Nationstar clearly understood, because the subsequent motion papers do not clearly explain the special provision to this court).

On 12/8/16 the debtor filed the present motion (dkt. 195) seeking sanctions for violation of the discharge injunction. That motion refers to the motion to avoid the junior lien, but does not explain how the senior lien was (purportedly) altered: there is no citation to, let alone quotation of, the (somewhat ambiguous) special provision the confirmation order.

On 3/16/17 Nationstar, having apparently figured out the facts, send a release of its lien to the county recorder. Dkt. 208, Ex.A. On 3/23/17 Nationstar filed its opposition (dkt. 208) which cites to and quotes the special provision in the confirmation order (id., p.2, para.8) - the first time this court was apprised of the precise basis for the debtor's arguments. The opposition point out the lack of evidence that Nationstar had actual notice of the special provision in the confirmation order, or any other facts that would have made its alleged acts "willful":

Debtor's claim that Nationstar is in contempt and violated the discharge injunction is premised on numerous unsubstantiated allegations that Debtor reached out to Nationstar and advised it that the lien was to be released due to the cramdown [i.e., the special provision in the confirmation order], despite having never filed a Motion to Value Collateral. Debtor has also failed to meet his burden in showing that Nationstar knew of the discharge injunction was applicable and acted with intent to violate the injunction. [Dkt. 208, p.4:6-10, emphasis added.]

The opposition also cites authority expanding upon the willfulness requirement, and holding that a willful violation of the discharge injunction must be shown by "clear and convincing" evidence.

On 9/28/17 the debtor (now represented by different counsel) filed a belated reply (dkt. 237). That reply does not address any of the foregoing issues.

The reply does explain many ways in which the debtor allegedly suffered emotional and financial damages. It specifies that the debtor seeks an award of $893,964.85 in alleged actual damages plus $15 million in punitive damages.

(4) Conclusion

Whatever harm the debtor suffered from Nationstar not releasing its lien sooner is tragic. But the debtor has the burden to show, by clear and convincing evidence, that Nationstar knew the discharge injunction applied to its acts, and that it nevertheless proceeded in willful violation of the discharge injunction. Based on the evidence summarized above, this court does not understand the debtor's factual or legal theory to be able to meet that burden. Therefore, it does not appear appropriate to issue an order directing Nationstar to show cause why it should not be sanctioned.

If you wish to dispute the above tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings".

Tentative Ruling for 8/17/17:

Appearances required. On 6/19/17, this court entered its order assigning this dispute to mediation (dkt. 215). There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address the status of their negotiations.

If you do not appear, and the matter is not adequately resolved by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 3/30/17:

Appearances required.

On 4/27/16, nearly one year ago, this court entered its order granting the debtor's motion to reopen his case to file the subject motion (dkt.186). The debtor filed the motion on 12/8/16 (dkt. 195), and due to the debtor's failure to correct multiple defects therewith (see this court's adopted 2/2/17 tentative ruling on the motion, reproduced below), this court's tentative ruling for the 3/2/17 hearing on this motion was to deny it.

Chapter 13

At the 3/2/17 hearing on the motion, however, this court was persuaded to grant the debtor's request for another continuance to cure the deficiencies in the motion, which it appears the debtor has now done (see dkt. 204, 207). This court has also reviewed the opposition to the motion filed by Nationstar Mortgage LLC (dkt. 208).

There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address the status of their disputes, and why this court should not order the parties to participate in mandatory mediation.

If you do not appear, and the matter is not adequately resolved by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 3/2/17:

Deny. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: This court will prepare the order.

Reasons for denial: At the 2/2/17 hearing on the motion, this court adopted its tentative ruling and continued the hearing to allow the movant to correct certain deficiencies in service and a lack of evidence in support (2/2/17 tentative ruling reproduced below). This court has reviewed the case docket, and no supplemental proof of service or evidence in support of the motion has been filed.

If you wish to dispute the above tentative ruling, please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings".

Tentative Ruling for 2/2/17:

Continue to 3/2/17 at 8:30 a.m. to address the following issues. Appearances are not required on 2/2/17.

Reasons:

(1) Service. There has not been any response to the motion, but that may be due to apparent deficiencies in service. Specifically, the motion papers were not served:

(a) to the address for notices in the creditor's transfer of claim (dkt. 89) which was filed prior to the time that the motion papers were served (and which appears to be the most recent designated address) (FRBP 2002(g));

(b) to the attention of an officer, a managing or general agent, or to any other agent authorized by appointment of law (FRBP 7004(b)(3)), at an address that appears to be reasonably calculated to reach the officer (e.g., corporate headquarters) (note: Judge Bason does not require that a specific individual be named -- "Attn: Officer or Managing/General Agent" is sufficient) (further note: arguably the address designated on the proof of claim supersedes any requirement to address an officer or managing/general agent; but the issue is not free from doubt so the debtor is directed to serve the creditor using both forms of address: with and without the quoted phrase above); and

(c) to Buckley Madole, purported counsel for Nationstar Mortgage LLC ("Nationstar") from whom the debtor has allegedly received multiple communications regarding Nationstar's alleged foreclosure efforts (note: again, arguably this additional notice is not required, but in the circumstances the tentative ruling is to require that the debtor use all three separate forms of notice).

(2) Evidence. The debtor's motion is unsupported by any evidence, despite the reference in the motion to an accompanying declaration of the debtor (dkt. 195, p.4:7). This court is not inclined to grant the motion absent some supporting evidence of the purported actions of Nationstar and the damages allegedly suffered by the debtor. In addition, the motion does not specify the actual dollar amounts of various types of damages that the debtor requests, and to provide proper notice the motion should specify such damages.

(3) Caveat. If the foregoing deficiencies are cured, the motion appears to provide appropriate legal authority for damages of various types, and Nationstar is cautioned that disregarding the motion may result in an award of damages.

If you wish to dispute the above tentative ruling, please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings".

#17.00 Cont'd hrg re: Motion for Reconsideration of Order on Application for 2004 Examination, or in the Alternative, for a Protective Order fr. 12/7/17

Docket 242

Tentative Ruling:

Ruling for 2/8/18:

Grant the motion for the following reasons. This court will not entertain appearances on this matter.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this court's final ruling. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

The following supplements this court's oral findings of fact and conclusions of law at the hearing on 12/7/17.

(1) Reconsideration is proper

As this court explained at the hearing on 12/7/17, the usual procedure of this Bankruptcy Court is to grant motions for Rule 2004 examinations without a hearing (LBR 2004-1(d)) but subject to the limitations in Rule 9016 (Fed. R. Bankr. P.) (incorporated by Rule 2004(c)). That is parallel to the usual procedure in many jurisdictions (both State and Federal) permitting attorneys to issue subpoenas without a prior court order, but subject to various limitations and remedies.

One such remedy would be to seek to quash or modify the subpoena. Another appropriate remedy is to seek reconsideration of the Rule 2004 order.

(2) Rule 2004 is not the correct discovery tool

Nationstar argues persuasively (dkt. 242, p.7:24-10:2) that there is a pending contested matter so Rule 2004 is not the proper vehicle for discovery. The debtor could only use the more limited discovery tools available in Rules 7026 and 7028-37 (incorporated by Rule 9014(c), Fed. R.

Alternatively, the debtor must lodge a proposed order denying this claim objection (without prejudice) within seven days after this hearing, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this court's final ruling.

(2) Key documents reviewed: debtor's claim objection (dkt. 156); amended claim (no. 4-2); debtor's reply (dkt. 160).

(3) Reasons for conditional continuance

As this court has explained before, the debtor has the burden of proof in asserting a defense of the statute of limitations. See dkt. 141 and memorandum decision referenced therein. The debtor now asserts that, although she apparently has no records related to this claimant, she and her husband stopped paying other creditors around December of 2008 and she believes that they stopped paying this claimant as well. She declares, "[w]e stopped making payments on all of our credit cards and stopped making payments at that time." Dkt. 156, p.6:12-13 (emphasis added).

The debtor's memory from several years ago is not normally sufficient to overcome the claimant's records (as this court has explained before, her remedy is to supplement her memory with her own written records or by seeking discovery, if appropriate). In this instance, however, a combination of things might be sufficient, if supplemented as described below, to shift the burden back to the claimant.

That combination of things is:

(a) the original proof of claim includes a summary of its business records, not a monthly statement that covers the alleged date of the last payment, and although the summary is sufficient as against the debtor's memory, she allegedly has more evidence (as described below);

(b) the amended proof of claim includes a monthly statement for the applicable month but the debtor's name has been redacted (that would not matter, because even without a monthly statement the debtor's memory is not enough to overcome the prima facie validity of the proof of claim, not to mention the claimant's written business records; but again the debtor alleges that she has more evidence); and

(c) the debtor asserts that "I obtained a copy of my credit report" and that report "did not include any information related to an account with 'Chase Bank USA, NA' which Creditor asserts was the 'Previous Creditor.'" Dkt. 156, pp. 6:14-15 & 7:17-18. (This court notes that the debtor's only claim objection is the statute of limitations - she does not argue that there was no debt owed by her in the first place.) There are at least three problems with the debtor's reliance on this last item "(c)".

First, the debtor fails to provide a (redacted) copy of the credit report. The debtor's hearsay summary of that report is insufficient to shift the burden to the claimant to show the lack of a statute of limitations defense.

Second, the debtor tacitly admits that she and her husband were both involved in credit transactions for which she is liable, but she only refers to "my" credit report, not his. The claimant's business records show that someone made a payment on "06/05/2009" (see dkt. 156, p.6:10), so the debtor's alleged credit report showing that she did not make a payment is insufficient to overcome the creditor's evidence that a payment was made. (The debtor at times refers to "reports" - plural - which implies that she already has her husband's credit report. But if the debtor does not have her husband's credit report, and cannot obtain it, then she can seek discovery if she truly believes that neither she nor her husband made the payment that the claimant's record shows was made.)

Third, the debtor has brought the identical claim objection to three claims, so she is suggesting that three separate proofs of claim coincidentally made the same mistake of reflecting payments that were not actually made. This court assumes without deciding that a credit report plus the debtor's memory would outweigh the evidentiary effect of a single proof of claim (unsupported by a monthly statement showing the debtor's name). But it is implausible that three separate proofs of claim signed under penalty of perjury, supported by three separate sets of business records, would all make the same mistake of reflecting payments that were never made. It is unclear if there is any explanation for this alleged coincidence, but perhaps the debtor can offer one. See generally Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678 (2009) (to avoid dismissal, "a complaint must contain sufficient factual matter, accepted as true, to state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face") (citation omitted, emphasis added). See also Rule 9014(c) (Fed. R. Bankr. P.) (rules applicable to complaints can apply to contested matters).

The bottom line is that the debtor has the burden to show a statute of limitations defense, and her hearsay, partial, and implausible evidence is inadequate to shift the burden to the claimant to show the lack of such a defense. As this court has explained before, the debtor must meet her burden of proof even absent a written response by the claimant, especially because it generally costs more for the claimant to respond to unmeritorious claim objections than the claim is worth. See Case No. 2:13-bk-15745-NB, Dkt. 134, p.15.

(4) Caveats

By way of background this court notes that the debtor's case has been dismissed due to the debtor's failure to turn over tax refunds of over $17,000 (despite numerous notifications that she was required to do so). Now she hopes that if she can reduce her claims and pay an increased dividend, or even pay her creditors in full, then she can have the dismissal vacated and obtain her chapter 13 discharge.

First, this tentative ruling should not be read to suggest that if the debtor files an amended claim objection satisfying the conditions described above that will necessarily result in disallowance of the claim. For example, the claimant could raise additional responses, or whatever amended claim objection the debtor files could raise issues that this court has not yet anticipated.

Second, this tentative ruling should not be read to imply that, even if this claim and other claims are disallowed and the debtor pays all remaining claims in full, the dismissal of the debtor's case will be vacated. This court has often expressed concerns about the "moral hazard" of establishing a practice of excusing a debtor's failure to turn over tax refunds - which is essentially the theft of funds that belong to the estate - if the only condition is that the debtor pays back the funds. That is essentially an incentive to engage in such theft because there is no penalty for getting caught except return of the funds.

Third, this tentative ruling should not be read as an assurance that whatever the debtor's counsel might charge the bankruptcy estate will be justified by a cost/benefit analysis. Of course, if the debtor can afford to pay counsel's fees and also pay 100% of all allowed claims then counsel's fees will meet the cost/benefit test; but if the debtor proposes to pay her creditors less than 100%, in order to pay her attorney to overcome her theft of funds from the estate, then it will be more difficult to show that the expenditure of those funds is warranted from a cost/benefit perspective.

The tentative ruling is that the debtor can choose to file and serve an amended claim objection, objecting to claim no. 4-2, if she can provide (redacted) credit report(s) for herself and her husband and an argument and/or evidence for why it is plausible that three proofs of claim filed under penalty of perjury and supported by business records would all be incorrect about the dates of the last payments. If the debtor does not file and serve such amended documents, then the tentative ruling is that she must, within seven days of this hearing, lodge a proposed order denying her claim objection (without prejudice).

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." Tentative Ruling for 2/8/18 (same as for 12/7/17, 10/5/17 and 7/20/17):
Appearances required. There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address how they propose to resolve their disputes re: valuation of the subject property - e.g., (i) with an evidentiary hearing; (ii) with a court ruling based solely on the written record (to save costs, if all parties consent), (iii) through mediation, or (iv) through appointment of an appraiser (jointly selected by the parties/their appraisers) as the court's own expert under FRE 706. Note: Judge Bason requires valuations at or near the petition date. See In re Gutierrez, 503 B.R. 458 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2013).

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 2/8/18:

Appearances are required for the debtor's counsel on 2/8/18. The tentative ruling is to continue to 3/8/18 at 8:30 a.m. to address the following issues, with a caution to the debtor's counsel not to disregard this court's rulings. This court presumes that counsel will not charge for this appearance - if that is incorrect then counsel must address at the hearing why any such fees should be permitted.

At the 1/11/18 hearing, this court continued the matter to allow the debtor time to cure the (1) deficiencies in service and (2) lack of a sufficient cost/benefit analysis. The debtor has since filed a declaration (dkt. 36) that addresses only the latter issue. The issue of service appears to remain unresolved: this claim objection (dkt. 24) has not yet been served on the claimant at the address for notices listed in the proof of claim.

(1) Service

The claim objection (dkt. 24, 26) was not served on the claimant at the address for notices listed in the proof of claim.

(2) The claim objection fails to include a sufficient cost/benefit analysis

Judge Bason's posted Procedures (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) state:

When objecting to claims, be sure to consider whether the costs of preparing and litigating the claim objection (administrative expenses) do not exceed the anticipated benefits (reductions in claims). For example, if the anticipated dividend is small or 0%, your claim objection to any general unsecured claim should clearly explain how it is justified to incur the attorney fees for that objection.

In this instance, it appears that the cost/benefit analysis might be favorable to bringing this objection (see dkt. 20, p.2), but that does not obviate the need to provide that analysis. No later than 1/25/18, the movant must file either:

(a) a supplemental declaration explaining why the attorney fees for this objection are justified (including supporting evidence, such as a copy of the plan showing the projected dividend to the claimant, and a calculation comparing that projected dividend against the attorney fees related to this claim objection), or

(b) a withdrawal of the claim objection (so as not to further waste the time of this Bankruptcy Court, the claimant, and any other parties in interest in addressing this matter).

Grant as provided below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

Termination. Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1).

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) is also terminated, because it has not been shown to have any basis to exist independent of the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a). To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Effective date of relief. Deny the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a)(3) for lack of sufficient cause shown.

Docket 35

Tentative Ruling:

Grant as set forth below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this court's final ruling. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

The automatic stay does not apply. This case has been dismissed, which terminates the automatic stay. See 11 USC 349(b)(3) & 362(c).

In the alternative and in addition, this court grants relief from the automatic stay as follows.

Termination. Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (d)(4).

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) is also terminated, because it has not been shown to have any basis to exist independent of the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a). To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Relief notwithstanding future bankruptcy cases.

Grant the following relief pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(4) and/or the legal analysis in In re Vazquez (case no. 2:16-bk-10699-NB, dkt. 75) and/or In re Choong (case no. 2:14-bk-28378-NB, docket no. 31), as applicable:

If this order is duly recorded in compliance with applicable State laws governing notices of interests or liens in the property at issue, then no automatic stay shall apply to such property in any bankruptcy case purporting to affect such property and filed within two years after the date of entry of this order, unless otherwise ordered by the court presiding over that bankruptcy case.

For the avoidance of doubt, any acts by the movant to obtain exclusive possession of such property shall not be stayed. Any additional request for relief applicable to future bankruptcy cases is denied (e.g., any request to grant relief against third parties without any notice is denied) due to lack of sufficient factual or legal grounds presented in support of such relief.

Effective date of relief. Grant the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a)(3).

Attorney fees. Movant may add its attorney fees to the debt to the full extent permitted by nonbankruptcy law.

CTF ASSET MANAGEMENT, LLC
vs
DEBTOR

Docket 18

Tentative Ruling:

Grant as provided below. Appearances are not required.

Termination. Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1).

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) is also terminated, because it has not been shown to have any basis to exist independent of the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a). To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Retroactive relief. Grant the request for retroactive annulment of the stay. See In re Fjeldsted, 293 B.R. 12 (9th Cir. BAP 2003).

Relief notwithstanding future bankruptcy cases.

Pursuant to the legal analysis in In re Vazquez (case no. 2:16-bk-10699-NB, dkt. 75) and/or In re Choong (case no. 2:14-bk-28378-NB, docket no. 31), as applicable:

automatic stay shall apply to such property in any bankruptcy case purporting to affect such property and filed within two years after the date of entry of this order, unless otherwise ordered by the court presiding over that bankruptcy case.

For the avoidance of doubt, any acts by the movant to obtain exclusive possession of such property shall not be stayed. Any additional request for relief applicable to future bankruptcy cases is denied (e.g., any request to grant relief against third parties without any notice is denied) due to lack of sufficient factual or legal grounds presented in support of such relief.

Effective date of relief. Grant the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a)(3).

Docket 10

Tentative Ruling:

Grant, subject to the following conditions. Appearances are not required.

After the hearing date this court will prepare an order and the tentative ruling is to include the following language in that order:

The stay of 11 U.S.C. 362(a) applies subject to the following modifications and conditions:

(1) Service and reconsideration. Any party in interest who was not timely served in accordance with FRBP 7004 (incorporated by FRBP 9014(b)) is hereby granted through 14 days after proper service to seek reconsideration, including retroactive relief (under FRBP 9023 and/or 9024). Any such person (a) may set a hearing on 14 days' notice, (b) may appear by telephone (if arrangements are made per Judge Bason's posted procedures), and (c) may present all arguments orally at the hearing (i.e., no written argument is required). If written arguments appear necessary then this court will set a briefing schedule at the hearing.

(2) Reasons. (a) It appears appropriate to impose the automatic stay, and to impose it as to all persons rather than just as to selected persons, because one purpose of the automatic stay is to preventing a "race to collect" that could unfairly advantage some creditors at the expense of others. (b) To prevent possible abuse, this court provides the foregoing simple process for reconsideration.

Grant as provided below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

The automatic stay does not apply. This case has been dismissed, which terminates the automatic stay. See 11 USC 349(b)(3) & 362(c).

Termination. Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1).

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) is also terminated, because it has not been shown to have any basis to exist independent of the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a). To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Effective date of relief. Grant the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a)(3).

Tentative Ruling for 12/5/17 (same as for 10/17/17 and 8/15/17):

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures"). There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address (a) whether the alleged arrears have been brought current and/or (b) whether they will agree to the terms of an adequate protection order (see the debtor's response, dkt. 46).

If you do not appear, and the matter is not adequately resolved by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Docket 14

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 2/13/18:

Grant as provided below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this court's final ruling. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

Background. This matter was restored to the calendar pursuant to this court's adopted tentative ruling for 6/20/17 (reproduced below) and the movant's notices (dkt. 56, 57).

The automatic stay does not apply. This case has been dismissed, which terminates the automatic stay. See 11 USC 349(b)(3) & 362(c).

In the alternative and in addition, this court grants relief from the automatic stay as follows.

Termination. Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1).

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) is also terminated, because it has not been shown to have any basis to exist independent of the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a). To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. Relief notwithstanding future bankruptcy cases.

Pursuant to the legal analysis in In re Vazquez (case no. 2:16-bk-10699-NB, dkt. 75) and/or In re Choong (case no. 2:14-bk-28378-NB, docket no. 31), as applicable:

If this order is duly recorded in compliance with applicable State laws governing notices of interests or liens in the property at issue, then no automatic stay shall apply to such property in any bankruptcy case purporting to affect such property and filed within two years after the date of entry of this order, unless otherwise ordered by the court presiding over that bankruptcy case.

For the avoidance of doubt, any acts by the movant to obtain exclusive possession of such property shall not be stayed. Any additional request for relief applicable to future bankruptcy cases is denied (e.g., any request to grant relief against third parties without any notice is denied) due to lack of sufficient factual or legal grounds presented in support of such relief.

Effective date of relief. Grant the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a)(3).

Tentative Ruling for 6/20/17:

Take off calendar, in view of this court's order (dkt.30, para. 14) granting the debtor's motion to commence loan modification program, without prejudice to the movant self-calendaring this motion again if the loan modification program is terminated without a consensual loan modification. Appearances are not required.

accordance with Rules 4001 and 7004(b)(3) (incorporated by Rule 9014(b), Fed. R. Bankr. P.), and Local Bankruptcy Rule 4001-1(c)(1)(C)(i). Under Judge Bason's posted procedures (at www.cacb.uscourts.gov), he generally does not sua sponte require that specific individuals be named - service can be "Attn: Officer or Managing/General Agent" or a similar phrase - but in the circumstances of this case, in which there are disputes regarding who is or is not authorized to represent the debtor, Judge Bason will direct that service be (i) on the debtor at its address of record "Attn: Philip Layfield, Officer of Record" and also, in a separate envelope, (ii) on the debtor at its address of record "Attn: Any Officer Other Than Philip Layfield."

(b) Chapter 11 Trustee's Request for Extension

This court has reviewed the chapter 11 trustee's reponse (dkt. 152) to the motion, and movant's reply (dkt. 159). Given that this case is an involuntary case and the trustee has not had the benefit of any bankruptcy schedules, any statement of financial affairs, or access to the debtor's principals, this court is not persuaded by movant's argument that the trustee has already had sufficient time to investigate the alleged pre-petition transfer. In addition, the trustee has provided adequate evidence that the equity cushion and the relatively short delay provide adequate protection.

Continue this status conference to be concurrent with the hearing on the pending summary judgment motion, which is presently scheduled for 3/20/18 at 11:00 a.m. Appearances are not required on 2/13/18.

This court has reviewed the parties' late-filed joint status report (adv. dkt. 10, 11) and the other filed documents and records in this adversary proceeding.

(1) Venue/jurisdiction/authority. Matters of venue, jurisdiction, and authority have been determined and/or waived or forfeited (at the hearing on 12/5/17). See also adv. dkt. 10, 11.

(2) Deadlines: This adversary proceeding has been pending since 9/26/17. The applicable deadlines are reflected in this court's orders (adv. dkt. 7, 20).

(dkt. 5) and the other filed documents and records in this adversary proceeding.

(1) Venue/jurisdiction/authority.

The parties are directed to address any outstanding matters of (a) venue, (b) jurisdiction, (c) this court's authority to enter final orders or judgment(s) in this proceeding and, if consent is required, whether the parties do consent, or have already expressly or impliedly consented. See generally Stern v. Marshall, 131 S.Ct. 2594, 2608 (2011) (if litigant "believed that the Bankruptcy Court lacked the authority to decide his claim...then he should have said so – and said so promptly."); Wellness Int'l Network, Ltd. v. Sharif, 135 S.Ct. 1932 (2015) (consent must be knowing and voluntary but need not be express); In re Bellingham Ins. Agency, Inc., 702 F.3d 553 (9th Cir. 2012) (implied consent), aff'd on other grounds, 134 S. Ct. 2165 (2014); In re Pringle, 495 B.R. 447 (9th Cir. BAP 2013) (rebuttable presumption that failure to challenge authority to issue final order is intentional and indicates consent); In re Deitz, 760 F.3d 1028 (9th Cir. 2014) (authority to adjudicate nondischargeability encompasses authority to liquidate debt and enter final judgment). See generally In re AWTR Liquidation, Inc., 548 B.R. 300 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2016).

This court recognizes that, at least at this stage, the attorney who filed the answer (dkt. 4) for both trustees of the trust has also executed the Status Report (dkt. 5) on behalf of one of the defendant trustees (the debtor/defendant) asserting that neither of them can consent to this Bankruptcy Court entering a final judgment because third party beneficiaries of the trust allegedly have a right to have their rights litigated "outside of this venue." Counsel for the answering defendants should be prepared (a) to explain whether this is a Stern objection or something else and (b) whether both answering defendants or only one of them takes this position, and if the former, why he did not execute the status report on behalf of both of them.

Counsel for the plaintiff should be prepared to address whether the plaintiff contends that there are no additional parties who need to be joined, and why.

(2) Mediation. The plaintiff suggests in the Status Report (adv. dkt. 5) that mediation, if any, should not be ordered before dispositive motion(s) are heard, which the plaintiff anticipates will be by 3/1/18. The tentative ruling is

Tentative Ruling for 2/13/18:

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues.

(a) Plan (dkt. 127) and Disclosure Statement (dkt. 126).

(i) Impairment - Class 2B. The Plan lists Class 2B as unimpaired - is it?

(ii) Impairment - Class 4A. The Plan does not specify whether Class 4A is impaired.

(iii) DIP Financing. Class 2C appears to consist of the debtor's contemplated postpetition DIP borrowing (dkt. 111, 121). First, classes under the Plan are reserved for prepetition debts, whereas repayment of postpetition DIP financing should be reflected in cash flow projections (Ex.C) (this is not just an academic issue: for example, Classes vote; DIP lenders do not).

Second, Endnote 2C (in Ex.H) appears to relate to this "Class" of DIP financing, and it appears to state that the terms of that financing are unknown ("Debtors will have full and accurate loan information as the loan is processed"). The debtors' counsel must address at the hearing whether there is any reason why the Plan cannot be updated to reflect the actual financing terms, which would eliminate the need for any such Endnote.

(iv) Stipulation with US Bank. The Plan should attach a copy of the Stipulation (dkt. 124) with creditor U.S. Bank N.A. (as trustee); Wells Fargo Home Mortgage as servicer (collectively, "US Bank"), as it may be modified (see below re possible amendments to that Stipulation). See dkt. 129 (limited objection of US Bank).

Chapter 11

(b) US Bank's concerns (dkt. 129). This Court's posted procedures (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov, under Judge Bason) provide in part: § 362: Automatic Stay. (1) Stipulations. Generally, the judge will not approve a stipulation for relief from stay/adequate protection order ("APO") that purports to be automatically effective ... because there might be equity in the property .... [Emphasis altered.]

Consistent with this limitation, US Bank agreed to an Adequate Protection Order ("APO") which does not provide for any automatic termination of the automatic stay. Instead it provides (in the APO attachment, at paragraph 6.b.) that in the event of a default:

[US Bank] may file and serve a declaration under penalty of perjury specifying the default, together with a proposed order terminating the stay, which the court may grant without further notice or hearing.

More recently, however, US Bank entered into its Stipulation with the debtors (dkt. 124) which not only includes the above-quoted language about what will happen in the event of a pre-confirmation default but goes on to add another clause. It states:

5. ... [US Bank] may file and serve a declaration under penalty of perjury specifying the default, together with a proposed order Terminating the Automatic Stay, which the Court may grant without further notice or hearing, and Creditor (and/or its servicer) may commence any and all action necessary to obtain complete possession of the Subject Property ... without further notice, order, or proceeding of this Court. [Emphasis added.]

US Bank argues (dkt. 129, p.6:3-12) that this language in the Stipulation was "taken from" the APO (para. 6.b.), but this is not quite accurate: the emphasized language has been added. Does that additional language mean anything? US Bank now appears to argue that it means nothing - that "the intent was simply to maintain the status quo like it is under the APO" (dkt. 129, p.6:6).

This Court agrees: the emphasized language appears to be surplusage; but unfortunately it is arguably subject to a different interpretation. Because it is unusual for parties to add meaningless language to their stipulations, the emphasized language arguably could be read to mean that US Bank could "commence" all actions necessary to foreclose without any order of this court.

Charles Elvin Lamay and Silvana Marie LaMay

Chapter 11

Because of this (and other) ambiguities in the Stipulation this Court added the following caveat in its order approving the Stipulation:

... notwithstanding anything in the Stipulation to the contrary, the automatic stay will not automatically terminate upon a default or conversion of this case except as to Debtors (i.e., no automatic termination as to the bankruptcy estate, so as to preserve any equity that might then exist in the property for the benefit of other creditors) .... [Dkt. 128, p.2:5-8, emphasis in original]

US Bank now requests "that the Order [approving the Stipulation] be amended to clarify that any pre-confirmation default shall be in accordance with the [Stipulation] at paragraph 5, or in the alternative, pursuant to the existing APO, paragraph 6(b)." Dkt. 129, p.6:10-12. This Court believes the simpler solution - both in this case and in all future cases - would be to delete the surplus language in paragraph 5 of the Stipulation. US Bank's counsel should be prepared to address whether they will agree to delete the surplus language in paragraph 5 of the Stipulation in this case and in all future stipulations in any case before this Court.

Similarly, paragraph 13 of the Stipulation ends by stating that in the event the debtors' case is dismissed or converted then not only shall US Bank retain its lien securing the full dollar amount it is owed (less any payments received) but also "the Automatic Stay shall be terminated without further notice, order or proceeding of the Court." (Emphasis added.) US Bank has now agreed to delete this emphasized language. See dkt. 129, pp.5:26-6:2. Again, US Bank's counsel should be prepared to address whether they will delete this language in all future stipulations in cases before this Court.

Another concern raised by US Bank is that this Court's language in the order approving the Stipulation (quoted above) appears to limit paragraph 6 of the Stipulation, which provides that upon confirmation of debtors' chapter 11 plan "the Automatic Stay shall be deemed terminated as to the Debtors and the estate" and US Bank can pursue its contractual remedies under the loan documents "without further notice, order, or proceeding of this Court." Dkt. 124, p.4:12-18. This Court did not intend to override that provision - the tentative ruling is that upon confirmation of a chapter 11 plan it is entirely appropriate to provide that the automatic stay no longer applies because then the parties have a revised contractual relationship - so US Bank is correct that the order approving the Stipulation is overbroad to the extent that the language added by this Court affects paragraph 6 of the Stipulation.

Based on all of the foregoing, the tentative ruling is that if US Bank will agree to amend its Stipulation in paragraphs 5 and 13 as set forth above (to delete the language about automatic termination of the automatic stay), and leave paragraph 6 unchanged, this Court will approve that Stipulation without the modification that is included in the current order approving the Stipulation. The debtor will need to attach the amended Stipulation to the Plan.

Note: The parties might wish to take the opportunity to review the Stipulation for any other provisions that would benefit from revision. For example, this Court notes that paragraph 13 of the Stipulation starts by providing that "[t]he terms of this Stipulation are contingent upon Debtors' confirming a Chapter 11 Plan." Dkt. 124, p.6:8-8. Read literally this would mean that the Stipulation's terms regarding pre-confirmation defaults (para. 5) are contingent upon confirmation, which makes no sense. Other provisions similarly do not appear to be intended to be contingent on confirmation (but it is up to the parties to decide if they wish to clarify such issues).

Tentative Ruling for 1/23/18:

Continue this status conference to 2/13/18 at 1:00 p.m. Appearances are not required on 1/23/18.

Reasons: (a) the debtors' apparent need to amend the proposed plan in view of the recent withdrawal of their objection to the prior claim of the Internal Revenue Service ("IRS") in view of the IRS' amended claim (see dkt. 119);
(b) the debtor's failure to file a brief status report (due 1/16/18 per the adopted tentative ruling for the 11/7/17 hearing, reproduced below); and
(c) the inability of the Office of the United States Trustee ("UST") to appear (or perhaps even to analyze whether it should appear) because of the shutdown of much of the federal government.

Appearances are not required on 11/7/17.

Reasons: This court is continuing the hearing in light of the response filed by the IRS (dkt. 105) and because (1) if the dollar amount owed to the IRS changes then changes also will be needed to the amended plan (dkt. 107) and amended disclosure statement (dkt. 106) and (2) although the debtor correctly deleted Endnotes 2, 2A, 2B and 2C from Exhibit H, the debtor forgot to delete the references to those (non-existent) endnotes on Exhibits A and E. (a) Monthly Operating Report (dkt. 94). What is the $700 transfer for 8/31/17 (at p.4) entitled "money owed"? The debtor reports one missed payment to Wells Fargo in the amount of $2,167.68 (at p.10), as against only $2,398.12 in her rental property account (p.11) and $1,404.57 in her personal account. Is the debtor losing money? Can the debtor propose a feasible plan of reorganization?

(b) Plan (dkt.92) /Disclosure Statement (dkt. 91). (i) These documents are not signed by the debtors ("/s/" typed signatures are only permitted for limited categories of persons, such as registered CM/ECF users). (ii) The Disclosure Statement contemplates claim objections (dkt. 91, Ex.H, Endnotes 1-2). Why have these issues not been resolved by now? (iii) The Disclosure Statement's Endnotes 2A, 2B, 2C and 5 repeat (and/or misstate) the terms of the Plan. Those endnotes should be deleted. (a) Status Report. The debtor is using an outdated form. The current version is Local Form F 2081-1.1.CH11.STATUS.RPT.

(b) Cash collateral motion (dkt. 30). Grant on a final basis, on the same terms as in the interim order (dkt. 58).

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 2/27/17 and converted from chapter 13 on 4/28/17.

(a) Bar date: 8/24/2017 (DO NOT SERVE notice yet - court will prepare an order after the status conference).

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: file by 9/5/17 using the forms required by Judge Bason (DO NOT SERVE yet, except on the U.S. Trustee).

(c) Continued status conference: 9/19/17 at 1:00 p.m. No written status report is required.

*Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

If you do not appear, and the matter is not adequately resolved by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Docket 271

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 2/13/18:

Continue to 7/10/18 at 1:00 p.m. as suggested in the debtor's latest post-confirmation status report (dkt. 272, para. 10). Appearances are not required on 2/13/18.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 11/14/17:

Continue to 2/13/18 at 1:00 p.m. Appearances are not required on 11/14/17.

Reasons: The debtor's post-confirmation status report (dkt. 270) appears to show sufficient progress and compliance with the confirmed Plan (dkt. 227, confirmed by order at dkt. 253). Therefore the tentative ruling is to continue this status conference to allow the parties more time to reach a resolution with regards to the Tchoupitoulas property.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 9/19/17:

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Continuance. The debtor's post-confirmation status report (dkt. 264) appears to show sufficient progress and compliance with the confirmed Plan (dkt. 227, confirmed by order at dkt. 253). Therefore the tentative ruling is to continue this status conference to 11/14/17 at 1:00 p.m.

(2) Request for early discharge. The same status report (dkt. 264, para. 7-10) suggests that the pendency of this case is impeding the debtor's ability to finish reorganizing his finances, and therefore the debtor may seek to close the case, but he is concerned that creditors may misinterpret that as permission to pursue him for prepetition debts (beyond enforcement of any such debts that survive in his Plan obligations) and therefore he may seek to obtain an early discharge of any debts that are not being paid under the Plan. That anticipated request is not presently before this court, but in the context of this status conference it is appropriate to address any standing policies of this court and any procedures that should be established regarding any such request.

Under the terms of the Bankruptcy Code, incorporated into the confirmed Plan (dkt. 227, p.4, Art.IV.A.) (see also Disclosure Statement, dkt. 228, p.2, summarizing same), without modification by the confirmation order (dkt. 253), there are only limited circumstances in which the debtor can obtain a discharge prior to the 84 month term for completion of payments to general unsecured creditors:

IV.A. ... Pursuant to § 1141(d)(5), Debtor will not be discharged from any debts unless and until (1) Debtor completes all payments "under" the Plan and obtains an order of the court granting a discharge (§ 1141(d)(5)(A)&(C)) – for purposes of this Plan payments that extend beyond the Plan Term stated in Exhibit A are not considered payments "under" the Plan (e.g., if the Plan Term is 5 years then Debtor will be eligible for a discharge under this clause

[Dkt. 227, p.4 (emphasis added)]

The debtor should be prepared to address whether he will pursue his stated intent to seek an early discharge, and if so on what grounds, and pursuant to what procedures.

If you do not appear, and the matter is not adequately resolved by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

(A) Current issue: objection to AOK claim

This court has reviewed the debtor's objection (dkt. 121) to proof of claim 9-1, filed by AOK Brothers, LLC (AOK); AOK's opposition (dkt. 147); and the debtor's reply to the objection (dkt. 150).

(1) Default interest

The parties do not appear to disagree on the legal standards. The debtor does not (at this time) seek to disallow default interest pursuant to any "cure" concept under bankruptcy law. Cf., e.g., GECC v. Future Media, 547 F.3d 956 (9th Cir. 2008); In re Entz-White Lumber and Supply, Inc., 850 F.2d 1338 (9th Cir. 1988). Rather, the debtor relies on California law. See generally In re Kord Enterprises II, 139 F.3d 684, 687 (9th Cir. 1998).

As stated by the California Supreme Court, the analysis under California law is to determine whether default rates of interest are either permissible liquidated damages or an impermissible penalty:

[California Civil Code] Section 1671 authorizes the assessment of agreed-upon and anticipated damages only when the fixing of the actual damages which would be sustained upon a breach would be "impracticable" or "extremely difficult." Where, as here, the issue is presented on admitted facts it is one of law and must be examined from the position of the parties at the time the contract was entered into. The party seeking to rely on a liquidated damages clause bears the burden of proof. [¶] "The validity of a clause for liquidated damages requires that the parties to the contract 'agree therein upon an amount which shall be presumed to be the amount of damages sustained by a breach thereof....'" (Civ. Code, § 1671.) This amount must represent the result of a reasonable endeavor by the parties to estimate a fair average compensation for any loss that may be sustained. [Garrett v. Coast & Southern Fed. Sav. & Loan Assn., 9 Cal.3d 731 (1973) (citations and some internal quotation marks omitted, emphasis added). See also Ridgley v. Topa Thrift & Loan Assn., 17 Cal. 4th 970, 981 (Cal. 1998).]

Chapter 11

In this instance, AOK has not met its burden to establish that the default rate of interest is permissible under California law. A five percent (5%) interest rate has not been shown to be a reasonable estimate of liquidated damages, given the $1.3 million equity cushion AOK has in the property. In addition and alternatively, there is no showing of any anticipated damages - beyond the compensation that AOK already can claim through late charges, ongoing interest at the non-default rate, and other things such as attorney fees as set forth below – let alone evidence that the parties made a reasonable endeavor to estimate any such additional losses.

The debtor estimates that AOK's proof of claim includes at least $15,000 of default interest. The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 9/20/16 for AOK to file an amended proof of claim that shows the calculation of default interest, and a deadline of 9/27/16 for the debtor to lodge a proposed order, with a copy of this tentative ruling attached, that disallows all default interest (including not just whatever AOK asserts as of the petition date but also any future claim for default interest).

(2) Attorney fees

The debtor's motion requests that AOK's claim be reduced by $34,221.46 for unreasonable and unnecessary attorney's fees incurred by AOK's counsel. The tentative ruling is to disallow a portion of those fees as set forth below.

The debtor is correct that the loan documents contain confusing provisions regarding attorney fees. But the tentative ruling is that the debtor is incorrect in arguing (dkt. 121, p.5:27-28) that a notice of acceleration or similar predicates were required before he had any obligation to pay AOK's attorney fees.

(a) Some loan document clauses require notices of acceleration or similar predicates

On the one hand, several clauses support the debtor's reading that AOK was required to send a notice of acceleration (or similar predicates) before being entitled to any attorney fees.

(i) The promissory note has a section (section 4.D) providing that "[i]f immediate full payment is required (acceleration, at AOK's option upon default) then AOK will have the right to be paid its reasonable attorney fees (dkt. 121, Ex.1, at PDF p.30, emphasis added).

Chapter 11

(ii) The deed of trust ("DOT") provides (section 17) that if a notice of default is provided and the breach is not timely cured then AOK shall be entitled to collect all reasonable attorney fees "incurred in pursuing the remedies provided in this paragraph 17" (power of sale and other remedies permitted by applicable law). Dkt. 121, Ex.1, at PDF p.48.

(iii) The DOT's more general provision regarding protection of AOK's security (section 7) states that if debtor fails to perform then "upon notice to [debtor]" (dkt. 121, Ex.1, at PDF p.46, emphasis added) AOK may disburse sums and take actions necessary to protect its interests including disbursement of reasonable attorney fees.

(iv) An addendum to the promissory note (id., at PDF p.35, the "Note Addendum") and a rider to the DOT (dkt. 121, Ex.1, at PDF p.55, the "DOT Rider") both provide that "[i]n the event that" there is a payment default and AOK permits the debtor "to cure the default," then the debtor shall pay AOK "all reasonable attorney fees and costs incurred by [AOK] originating from this default and the cure thereof." (Emphasis added.)

(v) The tentative ruling is that the debtor is correct that his "personal guaranty" of his own obligation is a nullity, so its attorney fee clause (dkt. 147, Ex.B, section 6) is of no force and effect.

(b) Other clauses require the debtor to pay AOK's attorney fees reasonably necessary to bring any late payments current

On the other hand, the Note Addendum and DOT Rider also provide that, if AOK has not received the full amount of any monthly payment by the end of ten calendar days after it is due, the debtor "will promptly pay to [AOK] all costs incurred by [it], including, but not limited to, attorneys' fees reasonably necessary to bring any late payments (overdue payments) current." Dkt. 121, Ex.1, at PDF pp. 35 & 55 (emphasis added). No notice of acceleration or other prerequisite is required for this obligation.

The debtor (dkt. 121, pp. 7:23-8:11 and 8:17-9:3) cites authority that such clauses must be construed narrowly against the lender, and argues that in this light AOK's bankruptcy litigation was not "reasonably necessary to bring any late payments (overdue payments) current." Instead, the debtor argues, AOK's litigation was bankruptcy-related: opposing the debtor's use of cash collateral; seeking to convert this case to one under chapter 7 of the Bankruptcy Code; opposing the debtor's motion to extend the exclusive period in which only he may propose a plan of reorganization; etc.

It is true that the decisions cited by the debtor construe such clauses strictly against the lender. See dkt. 121, p.8:1-11 (citing cases); and see, e.g., In re Cukierman, 265 F.3d 846, 852 (9th Cir. 2001); In re Westside Print Works, 180 B.R. 557 (9th Cir. BAP 1995). But a fair reading of the loan documents, even construed against AOK, is that it was "reasonably necessary" to pay attorneys to engage in bankruptcy litigation in order to attempt to "bring any late payments" current. In fact, the whole point of bankruptcy reorganization (by this debtor and most debtors) is to attempt to defer or restructure financial obligations; and in opposing such attempts the creditor is attempting to "bring any late payments" current, as nearly as possible given the constraints of the bankruptcy system on creditors' exercise of their remedies.

Alternatively, even supposing that there were sufficient ambiguity about the loan documents to reach a different conclusion, that ambiguity would be resolved by the letter signed by the debtor (dkt. 147, Ex.E) confirmed that he agrees to pay a late fee "in addition to any legal fees [AOK] incurs in connection with collecting any payment on my loan." Again, a fair reading of this document is that "collecting" payments includes filing a claim in a bankruptcy case, opposing the debtor's attempts to defer or reduce payments, and otherwise engaging in bankruptcy litigation.

For the foregoing reasons, AOK is owed its reasonable attorney fees. The remaining question is what attorney fees were reasonable.

(c) Reasonableness of AOK's attorney fees

The debtor is correct that, at least on the present record, AOK appears to be greatly oversecured, so much of its litigation was unnecessary to protect its interests and doomed to fail from the outset. In addition, as this Bankruptcy Court has noted before on the record, many of AOK's arguments lacked a sufficient foundation.

On the other hand, as this Bankruptcy Court previously has also observed, the debtor has been sloppy in some aspects of his case management – such as failing to recognize that AOK has an interest in cash collateral; or failing to provide adequate notice to AOK. In addition, the debtor's sloppiness and tendency to overstate his arguments justify greater involvement by AOK than typically might be required for a creditor protected by a substantial equity cushion.

This Bankruptcy Court has taken these things into consideration in reviewing AOK's daily timesheets. That review has been hampered by the fact that AOK's timesheets do not comply with the local rules and guidelines – for example, time entries are "lumped" together, and they do not often identify the precise issues addressed (e.g., the subjects of telephone conferences generally are not described). Nevertheless, this Bankruptcy Court has sufficient familiarity with the filed pleadings and records in this case, as well as the approximate amount of fees that normally would be incurred in cases of this sort, to be able to rule on this record. In addition, it does not appear that any party's interests would be served by the expense and delay of further briefing.

In view of the foregoing, the tentative ruling is to reduce AOK's legal fees to date by $14,000.00.

On 7/19/16, this Court held a hearing on the debtor's motion to extend exclusivity. At that hearing, this Court exercised its inherent authority to manage its docket and determined that it was appropriate to continue this matter so that it is held concurrently with the debtor's objection to AOK

Revised Tentative Ruling for 5/17/16:

Continue to 6/21/16 at 1:00 p.m. Appearances are not required on 5/17/16.

(1) Current issues

(a) Cash collateral motion. Grant (please see the tentative ruling for matter number 5, 5/17/16 at 1:00 p.m. for this Court's reasoning regarding the debtor's cash collateral motion).

(b) Properties. The tentative ruling is that the debtor has provided an adequate status report (dkt. 81), for present purposes, regarding the two properties as to which there appears to be some confusion regarding ownership: (i) 5255 Tchoupitoulas St., New Orleans Property and (ii) 3324 Octavia, New Orleans, Louisiana.

(c) Claim objections. Once AOK Brothers has filed its proof of claim, and the debtor has filed his objection, this Court will address whether to make preliminary rulings before or after directing the parties to mandatory mediation (note: Judge Bason's policy is to order mediation before one of the volunteer mediators, not a Bankruptcy Judge).

(d) Disclosure statement notice period. The debtor is correct (dkt. 81, para. 25) that the correct period is 42 days (the local rule is outdated and is in the process of being revised).

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 2/17/16.

(a) Bar date: 6/30/16 (timely served, dkt. 58, 67).

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: file by 9/5/16 using the forms required by Judge Bason (DO NOT SERVE yet, except on the U.S. Trustee - the court will set a deadline and procedures at a later time).

(c) Continued status conference: Continue as set forth above. No written status report is required.

Tentative Ruling for 5/17/16:

This court anticipates posting a tentative ruling at a later time.

Tentative Ruling for 4/26/16:

Deny the motion of AOK Brothers, LLC ("AOK") to dismiss or for other remedies (dkt. 51), and set a continued status conference, all as further set forth below. Appearances are not required.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Motion to dismiss etc. (dkt. 51). Deny the motion without prejudice to renewing it at a later date, if sufficient cause exists.

Proposed order: The debtor is directed to serve and lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this court's final ruling.

Reasons for denial:

(i) Motion and opposition. The crux of AOK's motion is that cause exists under 11 USC 1112(b)(4) to convert or dismiss this case, and alternatively under 11 USC 1104, to appoint a chapter 11 trustee based on the debtor's alleged "gross mismanagement of the estate" and his "unauthorized use of cash collateral" that allegedly was "substantially harmful to 1 or more creditors[.]" 11 USC 1112(b)(4)(B) & (D). (In its reply (dkt. 65), AOK raises a number of additional issues allegedly supporting such relief.)

On the one hand this Court is somewhat concerned about (A) the debtor's (apparently inadvertent) use of cash collateral without authorization and (slight) delay in seeking such authorization once he was alerted to the assignment of rents issue (see dkt. 39), (B) his filing of this case in the wrong division of this district (see dkt. 19, 21), (C) his refusal to communicate in writing with AOK's counsel except in limited ways, (D) some vagueness regarding the assets and liabilities of the bankruptcy estate, (E) the prior bankruptcies affecting the property on which AOK has a lien, and (F) AOK's other allegations. Nevertheless, this Court is not persuaded based on the current record that there has been anything remotely approaching "gross" mismanagement of this estate or that the duration and nature of the use of cash collateral caused any "substantial" harm (if there was any harm at all) to any creditors, including AOK.

There is no evidence that the cash collateral was used for anything other than legitimate purposes. One such use has been paying liens, including tendering payments to AOK at an interest rate that is prima facie within a reasonable range for adequate protection of AOK's interest (and AOK has not rebutted that prima facie showing). Another use of cash collateral is to maintain the subject property (see dk. 40, budget at pp. 4-6). AOK has not identified any harm at all, let alone "substantial" harm, from this use of cash collateral.

(ii) AOK's reply. AOK raises a number of new issues in its reply. That is procedurally improper and should be disregarded. See LBR 9013-1 (g)(1).

Alternatively and additionally, these new issues are not sufficient to warrant conversion, dismissal, or appointment of a chapter 11 trustee. It is true that, in general, a debtor has a fiduciary obligation to make disclosures, conduct investigations, and take actions regarding liabilities and assets, including such matters as claims objections and potential avoidance actions. If this bankruptcy estate turns out to be insolvent, and if the other facts and circumstances warrant, then the debtor might have to consider recovering the funds that were used to pay for his son's legal fees, and in any event he may have to sort out his interests in certain real property and in the law firm with his wife. But at this early stage AOK has not established that the debtor is shirking any such duties at all.

The debtor has represented that he anticipates a 100% payment to creditors, and he is contemplating a sale or refinance of at least one property, all of which makes it likely that any pursuit of avoidance actions would be premature and possibly a waste of time and resources. AOK's secured claim appears to be adequately protected (as noted above).

Of course, AOK is not required to accept the debtor's assertions at face value, it can elect to do its own due diligence and otherwise protect its interests, and presumably (although this issue has not been briefed) it may be entitled to reimbursement under the loan documents and applicable law in some dollar amount for a reasonable expenditure of attorney fees in pursuit of those things. But at this early stage of this case AOK has not come close to showing any substantial basis for the extreme remedies of conversion, dismissal, or appointment of a chapter 11 trustee.

Turning to another example, it is true that the California ethical rules provide that "[w]hile representing a client" a member of the bar shall not communicate with a party whom the member "knows" to be represented by another lawyer in the matter (without that lawyer's consent). See Reply (dkt. 65) p.8:10-14 (quoting Rule 2-100). AOK has not cited legal authority that the debtor, representing himself, is "representing a client" within the meaning of the rule. In addition, the debtor has denied having the requisite knowledge of the representation, and AOK has not presented any contrary evidence. Moreover, supposing for the sake of discussion that AOK could show an ethical violation, it has not cited any authority that this would be sufficient for conversion, dismissal, or appointment of a chapter 11 trustee. This Court does not condone the alleged nature and tone of the communications (see Nelson Decl., dkt. 65, at PDF pp. 11-12), but if those were proven and amounted to actual ethical violations there would be separate remedies that would be more closely tailored to any actual wrongdoing, as opposed to sweeping remedies such as dismissal that may harm all creditors (and that might unduly punish even a debtor who has violated an ethical rule).

The remaining issues raised in AOK's reply appear to be most appropriately resolved through other means, such as a claim objection, consideration of a draft disclosure statement and plan, or the usual process of oversight by the Office of the United States Trustee ("UST"). For example, having reviewed the record in this case (including the transcript from the hearing on 4/12/16), it does not appear that this Court ordered the debtor to file an amended bankruptcy Schedule I, contrary to AOK's assertions in its reply. It is true that the UST and the debtor discussed possible amendments to the bankruptcy schedules at a prior hearing, but this Court left that in the first instance to the discretion of the debtor (under the eye of the UST) and any purported lack of accuracy will only be appropriate for this Court to address if later developments show that the debtor abused that discretion.

(iii) Debtor's supplemental opposition (dkt.68). The debtor's supplemental opposition is unauthorized and therefore, like the new arguments in the reply, need not be addressed. In addition and alternatively, this Court need not consider the factual allegations in that document (largely concerning the alleged ethical violation) because this Court is not persuaded

Tentative Ruling for 4/12/16:

Appearances required by the debtor in person and any counsel for the debtor.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Status report. This Court has reviewed the debtor's timely filed status report (dkt. 47).

Regarding the debtor's request to file an explanation of the facts that gave rise to this case under seal, this Court requests that the U.S. Trustee state whether it would oppose such request and whether a written motion should be required.

In addition, the debtor should address what is meant by stating, with respect to possible sale procedures (dkt. 47, p.5:25-27), "This depends on how Court views New Orleans property."

(b) Employment of a real estate professional. When does this debtor anticipate filing a motion to employ a real estate professional to sell the one New Orleans property that he contemplates selling?

(c) Cash collateral. This Court has issued a separate tentative ruling addressing the debtor's proposed use of cash collateral (see calendar number 2, 4/12/16 at 1:00 p.m.).

(d) Monthly Operating Report ("MOR") (dkt. 53). The debtor refers to a postpetition settlement. Will that need to be subject to a motion under Rule 9019?

(e) Business income and expenses. The debtor's amended bankruptcy Schedules I&J (dkt. 45) fail to provide a breakdown of gross income, expenses, and net income for his business despite the instructions to do so on line 8a of Schedule I. The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 4/19/16 to file an amended Schedule I that provides a detailed breakdown.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 2/17/16.

(a) Bar date: 6/30/16 (DO NOT SERVE notice yet - court will prepare an order after the status conference).

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: file by 9/5/16 using the forms required by Judge Bason (DO NOT SERVE yet, except on the U.S. Trustee - the court will set a deadline and procedures at a later time).

the issues set forth below.

Chapter 11

Proposed order: If this court is persuaded to adopt this tentative ruling, then counsel for the debtor is directed to serve and lodge proposed orders (a) approving the disclosure statement (dkt. 101) on a final basis and (b) confirming the plan (dkt. 102), all as amended by the stipulation with class 2A (dkt. 127, 128). Those proposed orders must be lodged via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date.

(1) Ballot Summary. The debtor's ballot summary (dkt. 131) appears to be inaccurate and internally inconsistent. Although the ballots and stipulation attached to the ballot summary show acceptance by 100% in both dollar amount and number of the claims actually voted or deemed to have been voted in classes 2A, 2B and 4A, and no vote by Class 2C, the ballot summary makes assertions that are not consistent with those ballots, namely:

(a) Cramdown: The ballot summary asserts that the debtor is not requesting cramdown (dkt. 131, item 3), even though the lack of an affirmative vote in class 2C means that the debtor does not satisfy 11 U.S.C. 1129(a)(8) and therefore must seek cramdown under 11 U.S.C. 1129(b);

(b) Accepting classes: The ballot summary asserts that only class 4A has voted to accept the plan (dkt. 131, item 6), even though classes 2A and 2B have also accepted the plan; and

(c) Page 2 of the Ballot Summary: The chart on page 2 of the ballot summary (dkt. 131, p.2, top line of chart) fails to show that Class 2A has accepted the plan by 100% in number of claims deemed to have been voted (not just 100% in amount). In addition, it would have been helpful if the ballot summary's "Comments" following that chart had explained that (i) Portfolio Recovery Associates is Class 2C (even though it is listed as LA County Tax Collector in the Plan), (ii) U.S. Bank is Class 2A (even though it is listed as Wells Fargo in the Plan), and (iii) Class 2A is deemed to have voted in favor of the plan under its court-approved stipulation, even though it did not actually cast a ballot. (If any of the foregoing is incorrect then counsel for the debtor must correct those issues at the hearing.)

(2) Status report

The debtor's status report (dkt. 130) misleadingly asserts that this court's order (dkt. 106) previously approved the disclosure statement (dkt.

101), whereas in fact this court only granted preliminary approval for purposes of this combined hearing on whether to approve the disclosure statement (dkt. 101) and confirm the plan (dkt. 102).

(3) Confirmation. Notwithstanding the foregoing, it appears that the debtor's disclosure statement (dkt. 101) should be approved, and that the chapter 11 plan (dkt. 102), as amended by the debtor's stipulation with the holder of the class 2A claim (dkt. 127, 128), has met the requirements for confirmation under 11 U.S.C. 1129(a) & (b).

(4) Correction. This court notes that the tentative ruling for 6/20/17 (reproduced below) was in error in asserting that "[at] the status conference on 5/23/17 this court set a deadline of 6/6/17 to file an amended plan and disclosure statement." In fact, this court was persuaded at that status conference not to impose that deadline.

If you do not appear, and the matter is not adequately resolved by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 6/20/17:

Continue to 8/8/17 at 1:00 p.m. (without the need for any written status report), but impose sanctions of $200 on counsel for the debtor, for the reasons set forth below. Appearances are not required on 6/20/17.

At the status conference on 5/23/17 this court set a deadline of 6/6/17 to file an amended plan and disclosure statement. On 6/15/17, after this court had already prepared a tentative ruling for this status conference, counsel for the debtor filed a stipulation (dkt. 117) and lodged a proposed order for yet another continuance of the confirmation hearing. At no point did counsel telephone chambers to suggest that counsel expected or was attempting to arrange for such a continuance. Moreover, as set forth in the tentative rulings reproduced below, this case has a long history of missed deadlines, last minute filings, and deficient documents.

This court recognizes that to a large extent counsel cannot control delays by a debtor and debtor in possession, and not infrequently a debtor is simply incapable of meeting all of the debtor's obligations. Nevertheless, this court has noted that counsel of record in this case has a pattern, in this and other cases (e.g., In re Barragan, 2:15-bk-29156-NB), of filing late and inadequate documents, and that pattern is not matched by the vast majority of other counsel who appear before this court. All of that strongly suggests that counsel bears some responsibility for those deficiencies, and that imposes substantial burdens on this court, the U.S. Trustee, and any other parties in interest who may be monitoring or involved in such bankruptcy cases. The tentative ruling is that this warrants sanctions under this court's inherent powers and 11 U.S.C. 105. Counsel is also cautioned that this court anticipates issuing similar or increased sanctions if this pattern continues in other cases in future.

If you wish to dispute the above tentative ruling, please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings".

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor, but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues

The ballot summary was due 5/16/17 but was not filed until 5/22/17 at 4:12 p.m. In addition, it is internally inconsistent. What remedies are appropriate?

The plan (dkt. 102) has not been accepted by any class. This is the debtor's second bankruptcy case, and it has been pending for over a year. The debtor's lack of progress for that long a period of time suggests a willful delay. Should this court dismiss or convert this case? Should this court impose a bar against being a debtor in bankruptcy for the third time in a row?

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 4/20/16. If this case is not dismissed or converted, the tentative ruling is to hold a continued status conference on 6/20/17 at 1:00 p.m. with a deadline of 6/6/17 to file (but NOT serve) yet another amended plan and disclosure statement.

(a) U.S. Trustee notice of non-compliance. Has the debtor cured the reporting delinquency noted by the U.S. Trustee regarding lack of insurance (dkt. 94)?

(b) Adequate protection payments. At the hearing on 1/10/17 counsel for the debtor assured this court that the debtor had cured the postpetition delinquency in adequate protection payments. But the monthly operating report for January 2017 (dkt. 95, filed 2/7/17, at p.4) continues to list 4 missed payments for a total of $6,972 delinquency. What was the basis for counsel's misrepresentation to this court? Should this court require counsel and the debtor to testify on that issue, and on the prospects for future income, before this court can find that the plan is feasible (11 U.S.C. 1129(a)(11))? Should this misrepresentation have any other consequences?

(c) Plan (dkt. 82) and Disclosure Statement (dkt. 81). The debtor's ballot summary was due to be filed no later than 2/21/17 (dkt. 89). are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues.

(a) Payments to secured creditor Wells Fargo. The debtor's November 2016 MOR reflects that the debtor has not made 4 monthly payments to secured creditor Wells Fargo. See dkt. 84, PDF p. 7. Is that accurate, or did the debtor intend to state that those payments were made?

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 4/20/16.

(a) Bar date: 7/29/16 (timely served, dkt. 39)

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement (dkt. 82, 81): The tentative ruling is to set the following deadlines: 1/17/17 to file (NOT SERVE - except on the U.S. Trustee) any redlined revisions to be discussed at the status conference and to lodge Judge Bason's form of order authorizing service of the relevant documents and setting deadlines; and 2/28/17 at 1:00 p.m. for the combined hearing on approval of the Disclosure Statement and confirmation of the Plan (with the court to set typical deadlines for objections etc.).

Note: If the U.S. Trustee wishes to file initial comments on any draft Plan documents before the regular deadline, it should do so at least two weeks prior to the subsequent status conference (but, whether or not any comments are filed, all rights are reserved to object to the Disclosure Statement or Plan when deadline(s) for such objections are established).

(c) Continued status conference: 2/28/17 at 1:00 p.m. No written status report is required.

*Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues

(a) Amended Chapter 11 Plan and Disclosure Statement (dkt. 74, 75). There are issues with these documents which this Bankruptcy Court will review orally at the hearing.

(b) Monthly operating reports. The debtor's court approved budget (dkt. 19) and the budget attached to her amended chapter 11 disclosure statement (dkt. 74, PDF p. 13) show various typical monthly expenses such as transportation costs, utilities, and food. The expenses included in her budgets submitted to this court are either not reflected in her MORs for August and September 2016 (dkt. 65 and 73, respectively) or are reflected, but in much smaller amounts than budgeted. Is the debtor reporting all of her monthly expenses in her MORs? If not, why not?

Additionally, the MORs appear to reflect that the debtor is receiving less than her budgeted monthly income ($1,800/mo.) from her job as a real estate professional. In August 2016, the debtor reported receipts of $970.01; in September 2016, receipts of $1,000.

Based on the reporting in the debtor's two most recent MORs, this court is concerned that the debtor may not have sufficient disposable income with which to fund her proposed chapter 11 plan.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 4/20/16.

(a) Bar date: 7/29/16 (timely served, dkt. 39)

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement: Deadline of 12/6/16 to file (but NOT serve) an amended draft plan and disclosure statement if sufficient issues have been resolved to finalize those draft documents (see above).

(c) Continued status conference: 1/10/17 at 1:00 p.m. No written status report is required.

*Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

If you do not appear, and the matter is not adequately resolved by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor, but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues

(a) Chapter 11 Plan and Disclosure Statement (dkt. 59, 58). There are numerous issues with these documents, which this Bankruptcy Court will review orally at the hearing.

(b) Orders on budget and cash collateral motions. On July 19, 2016, this court held continued hearings on the debtor's motion for use of cash collateral (dkt. 18) and budget motion (dkt. 19). The motions were granted on a final basis, and the court's adopted tentative ruling directed the debtor to lodge proposed orders on those motions within seven days of the hearing date. This court has reviewed the case docket and its pending lodged orders, and it appears no such orders have been lodged.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 4/20/16.

(a) Bar date: 7/29/16 (timely served, dkt. 39)

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement: Deadline of 10/11/16 to file (but NOT serve) an amended draft plan and disclosure statement if sufficient issues have been resolved to finalize those draft documents (see above).

(c) Continued status conference: 11/8/16 at 1:00 p.m. No written status report is required.

(1) Current issues. This Court has reviewed the debtor's status report (dkt. 23).

(a) Prior failed case. The debtor's prior case (no. 2:14-bk-14065-NB) was a chapter 13 case that was dismissed because of plan infeasibility due to the objections by Wells Fargo, and claims by the IRS, FTB, and L.A. County

(b) Debtor's real property

(i) Inconsistent rental income amount. This Court notes that the debtor's amended schedule G reflects a monthly rental of $2,200 (dkt. 13, p.10), which was originally listed as $1,500 per month (dkt. 1, p.36). However, the debtor's original schedule I originally listed the debtor's net income from rental property as $2,400 (dkt. 1, p.39). The debtor's amended schedule I now lists net income from rental property as $2,200 (dkt. 13, p.12). Although the rental income now appears to be consistent at $2,200, and schedule G reflects the same lessee, Smark Lyles, is this the correct amount?

(ii) Schedule I. Part 8.a. requires that the debtor attach a statement for each property and business showing gross receipts, ordinary and necessary business expenses, and the total monthly net income.

(iii) Motion to Value. The debtor's status report indicates that the debtor intends to file a motion to value the real property. When does the debtor anticipate filing the motion to value?

(c) UST compliance. The United States Trustee has filed a motion to dismiss or convert (dkt. 24). Although the matter has been set for hearing on 6/21/16, the debtor should be prepared to address more generally, why this case in chapter 11 instead of chapter 13. It appears that the debtor is within the debt limits for chapter 13, and chapter 11 typically is far more expensive, so it seems doubtful that the debtor needs or can afford a chapter 11 case.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 4/20/16.

(a) Bar date: 7/29/16 (DO NOT SERVE notice yet - court will prepare an order after the status conference).

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: file by 8/19/16 using the forms required by Judge Bason (DO NOT SERVE yet, except on the U.S. Trustee - the court will set a deadline and procedures at a later time). This Court is aware that the debtor has requested a much later deadline (dkt. 23, p.4) but this Court is not aware of any reason why so much time is needed. The debtor should be negotiating with secured creditors and other key constituencies already.

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues.

(a) Background. This Status Conference was continued to 9/12/17 at the hearing on 8/15/17, and then further continued by order of this court (dkt. 69) to this 10/3/17 hearing.

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement (dkt. 77, 76). According to Exhibit A to the Plan, Class 2B is unimpaired, but that same exhibit does not show any payments at all to this class, and there is no Endnote stating that the collateral is to be abandoned to the creditor, so how is it unimpaired? Did the debtor intend to pay it in full on the Effective Date (or some other treatment)?

(c) U.S. Trustee's objection (dkt. 82). The debtor will need to correct the math errors noted in this objection, and show that, after those corrections, the projections still would show feasibility.

Tentative Ruling for 8/15/17:

Continue to 9/12/17 at 1:00 p.m. to provide this court and the U.S. Trustee time to review the debtor's anticipated, late-filed amended plan and disclosure statement. Appearances are not required on 8/15/17.

This court has reviewed the debtor's ex parte application to extend the 8/1/17 deadline to file the amended plan and disclosure statement (dkt. 61), filed after the deadline expired. The debtor's counsel is advised that in the future, such applications should be filed prior to the expiration of the subject deadline (or if that is not possible then an explanation should be included), and counsel should lodge a proposed order on the application.

If you wish to dispute the above tentative ruling, please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings".

(1) Current issues.

(a) U.S. Trustee motion to dismiss (dkt.13). The parties should be prepared to address whether the debtor is in compliance. See Opp. (dkt. 17).

(b) Bar date confusion (dkt. 24, 26). The debtor properly served this court's order setting a bar date (dkt. 24), but then improperly served a notice of bar date with blank spaces (dkt. 26, at para. 3.b.). The risk of such erroneous notices is exactly why Judge Bason requires service of the order itself instead of a notice. In future, counsel should be careful not to serve any such notice in cases before Judge Bason.

(1) Current issues.

(a) U.S. Trustee motion to dismiss (dkt.13). The parties should be prepared to address whether the debtor is in compliance. See Opp. (dkt. 17).

(b) Monthly Operating Reports (MORs, dkt. 20, 21). The debtor appears to be losing money (e.g., net losses in December of $7,115.70). At the status conference on 1/10/17 counsel for the debtor attributed this to one-time December/holiday issues. What is the debtor's forecast for January, 2017 and beyond?

(c) Other prior issues. At the status conference on 1/10/17 this court excused the debtor from filing a payroll motion, and counsel for the debtor adequately addressed this court's other concerns orally, but presumably the corrected data should be reflected in an amended bankruptcy schedule G etc. - when will the debtor file such amendment(s)?

Chapter 11

(1) Current issues.

(a) Payroll. The debtor concedes in its status conference report that it has paid its employees' pre-petition wages without court authorization. See dkt. 16, p. 6:20-27. When does the debtor anticipate filing a payroll motion? Also, why does the debtor's payroll account for November 2016 reflect a $0 balance and no disbursements? See dkt. 15, PDF p. 16.

(b) November 2016 monthly operating report ("MOR").

(I) General DIP account. The debtor's DIP account ending in 4231 reflects an ending balance of ($1,153.48), and it appears the debtor incurred multiple overdraft charges. This court is concerned about the debtor's ability to operate, let alone fund a chapter 11 plan. Has the debtor established a positive bank balance in its general DIP account since November 2016?

(II) Payments on executory contracts. Despite listing a lease in its Schedule G (dkt. 1, p. 22), the debtor lists nothing in its November MOR reflecting monthly lease payments (dkt. 15, PDF p. 23). Is the debtor current on its payments to its lessors?

(III) Tax liabilities, accounts receivable, insurance. The debtor has reported no taxes owed for November 2016 for payroll or for sales, no accounts receivable and no insurance policies. See dkt. 15, PDF pp. 23-24. How is that possible?

(IV) Insiders. In its profit and loss statement set forth in the November MOR, the debtor lists current expenses of $1,000/month for insider compensation, yet the debtor has left the schedule of compensation paid to insiders blank. See dkt. 15, PDF pp. 25-26. Why has the debtor failed to disclose the name(s) of its insider(s) and the compensation they were paid? Why has the debtor failed to comply with local procedures for insider compensation?

(c) Application to employ general counsel. The debtor stated in its status conference report that an application to employ its bankruptcy counsel would be filed on or before 12/29/16. See dkt. 16, p. 5, para. 6. This court has reviewed the case docket, and it appears no such application has been filed. Why not?

(d) Schedule G. In its status conference report, the debtor lists two leases it intends to assume: one with Stanford Mart LP for its commercial property space, and one with Merit Group, LLC for its warehouse space. See dk. 16, p. 6, para. 8. The debtor's Schedule G lists only the lease with Stanford Mart LP. See dk. 1, p. 22. The debtor must amend its Schedule G to disclose all executory contracts and unexpired leases.

fr. 7/11/17, 9/12/17, 11/7/17, 12/12/17, 1/23/18

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 2/13/18:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues - plan (dkt. 59) and disclosure statement (dkt. 58)

(a) Background. At the hearing on 1/23/18 the debtor's counsel conceded that he lacked the votes for confirmation of his proposed plan, and suggested various ways in which the debtor might proceed. This court set a deadline of 1/30/18 for filing an amended plan or an alternative pleading, which was later extended (dkt. 71) to 2/7/18. That deadline has passed and, as of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no such papers have been filed.

(b) Exit strategy. What is the debtor's strategy to exit from bankruptcy? Should this case be dismissed?

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 6/7/17.

(a) Bar date: 8/18/17 (timely served, dkt. 27, 30)

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement (dkt. 59, 58)*: TBD.

(c) Continued status conference: 3/20/18 at 1:00 p.m. (if this case is not dismissed). No written status report is required.

*Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

Tentative Ruling for 1/23/18:

Continue this status conference and the combined hearing on final approval of the disclosure statement (dkt. 60) and confirmation of the plan (dkt. 59) to 2/13/18 at 1:00 p.m. Appearances are not required on 1/23/18.

Reasons: (a) the debtor's failure to file the ballot summary with respect to the plan, which was due on 1/16/18 (see Order, dkt. 61) and (b) the inability of the Office of the United States Trustee ("UST") to appear (or perhaps even to analyze whether it should appear) because of the shutdown of much of the federal government.

At the continued hearing the debtor should be prepared to testify, or make an offer of proof, as to feasibility.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 12/12/17:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues - plan (dkt. 59) and disclosure statement (dkt. 58)

(a) Income calculation. Exhibit C, Attachment 1, line 7, for income from "operations of business" requires the debtor to "attach detailed statement." No such statement appears to be provided.

(b) Disputed claims and other prior issues appear to be adequately addressed. The revised Exhibit F (dkt. 58) lists the 16th Street Group twice: once for the undisputed portion and once for the disputed portion - if the dollar amount of the disputed portion of the claim is sufficient then this appears to fully address this court's concerns expressed in the tentative ruling for 11/7/17. All of this court's other concerns appear to have been fully addressed as well.

(c) Feasibility. This court anticipates that the debtor may be required to testify, or make an offer of proof, as to feasibility at the combined hearing (set forth below) on final approval of the disclosure statement and confirmation of the plan.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 6/7/17.

(a) Bar date: 8/18/17 (timely served, dkt. 27, 30)

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement (dkt. 59, 58)*: 12/15/17 deadline to file (NOT SERVE - except on the U.S. Trustee) any redlined revisions to be discussed at the status conference and lodge Judge Bason's form of order authorizing service of the voting package, setting deadlines, and setting a combined hearing on final approval of the Disclosure Statement and confirmation of the Plan for the same time as the continued status conference.

(c) Continued status conference: 2/27/18 at 1:00 p.m. No written status report is required.

*Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." (1) Current issues - plan (dkt. 54) and disclosure statement (dkt. 53)

(a) Disputed claims. The plan contemplates non-payment to some disputed claims. Unless and until those claims are disallowed (or allowed), the debtor must establish a disputed claims reserve and pay into that reserve in order to confirm any plan.

(b) General unsecured creditors. The plan includes a confusing mix of different listings of general unsecured creditors. Exhibit F starts with the total from the debtor's bankruptcy schedules and then reduces it by a dollar amount that appears to be random (there are no calculations to show how the debtor arrived at that reduction). Attached to Exhibit F is a copy of the debtor's bankruptcy schedules, but those are not manually marked up to show how the debtor arrived at the dollar amounts in Exhibit F.

Exhibit I lists not only general unsecured claims but also priority and secured claims, so it is not helpful to figure out how the debtor arrived at the dollar amount of reduction in Exhibit F.

Exhibit H item "(6)" lists anticipated/pending objections to claims, and provides what appear to be estimated dollar amounts, but there is no basis for such estimates and they are not tied to the reduction in total claims listed in Exhibit F.

It appears that the simpler solution would be (i) to use the "electronic option" in Exhibit F (starting at line 5) for general unsecured claims, instead of attaching the bankruptcy schedules, (ii) cut all unsecured claims from Exhibit I as redundant, and (iii) use a disputed claims reserve and/or obtain final orders disallowing or allowing claims and/or follow the proper procedures for claims estimation, if permissible (see 11 U.S.C. 502(c) and Rule 3018(a), Fed. R. Bankr. P.).

(c) Tax claims. One tax claim has been withdrawn (dkt. 52). Is the tax claim listed in Exhibit A for "LACTTC" a different claim?

(d) Pagination. The debtor's plan divides one-page exhibits onto two pages, which is somewhat confusing. The debtor may need to adjust the page margins to enable them to print on a single page.

(e) Income calculation. Exhibit C, Attachment 1, lines 1 and 7, do not provide adequate disclosure of the debtor's income calculation. Line 1 is for "wages, salary, and commissions" but as an independent contractor the more appropriate line would appear to be line 7 for "operations of business," which requires the debtor to "attach detailed statement." In any event, the debtor cannot simply list net income without any disclosure as to the gross revenues, specific expenses, and calculation of that net income.

The debtor's failure to disclose sufficient information about revenues and expenses has been a recurring theme - see the tentative ruling for 7/11/17 (reproduced below), item "(1)(a)" under the "Third" issue. Given this history, this court will require the debtor to file and serve on the U.S. Trustee, no later than the deadline set forth below for filing an amended plan and disclosure statement, a detailed declaration providing documentation as to the basis for each aspect of the income and expense projections (the debtor may incorporate Monthly Operating Reports by reference, but cannot rely only on those MORs - the debtor must provide additional support for his projections).

(f) Double-counting of expenses. Exhibit C, Attachment 1, line 17, includes an adequate protection payment of $325.50/mo. (with a reference to "RFS Order Dkt No. 45"), but it appears that these adequate protection payments will be replaced by the payments in Class 1A of $383.28/mo. It appears that once the added $325.50/mo. is eliminated then the cash flow might be more feasible.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 6/7/17.

(a) Bar date: 8/18/17 (timely served, dkt. 27, 30)

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: file "blacklined" versions by 11/21/17 (the spreadsheets probably will need to be manually blacklined) (DO NOT SERVE yet, except on the U.S. Trustee - the court will set a deadline and procedures at a later time).

Tentative Ruling for 7/11/17:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor and by the debtor himself.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Budget motion (dkt. 21). This motion is not on for hearing, but in connection with this Status Conference the debtor should be prepared to address the following concerns.

First, the debtor lists $1,350/mo. in income derived from unemployment benefits, in addition to his $6,150/mo. in business income derived from his self-employment as an independent marketing consultant, a job at which he claims to have been employed for the past year. Dkt. 21, p. 8. How can the debtor obtain unemployment benefits when he is employed? How will the budget change when those benefits cease?

Second, the debtor lists net business income but has failed to provide a breakdown of gross receipts, ordinary and necessary business expenses, and calculation of the resulting monthly net income, as required by the instructions on bankruptcy Schedule "I" line 8a. See dkt. 21 at p. 8.

Third, the debtor asserts a 50% interest in a real estate business in Miami, Buena Vista Terminal, LLC. See dkt. 1, pp. 19, 51. What is the nature of that business? Does the debtor derive any income from that business?

Finally, the debtor reports that he has just $43.43 in monthly net income to contribute to a chapter 11 plan. But the debtor has two cars and a motorcycle and over $700/mo. in automobile payments (plus "transportation" costs). Is that reasonable? See In re Concoff (case no. 2:13-bk-37328-NB, dkt. 246).

(b) Application to employ counsel (dkt. 24). Does the U.S. Trustee have any concerns about the proposed interim payment procedures and fee sharing arrangement between Ms. Ghanooni and Ms. Esmaili?

According to the retainer letter (dkt. 24, Ex. 3, para. 4) some of the retainer was to be paid by the debtor's mother, as a gift. But the application and the Rule 2014 disclosures by proposed counsel and by the debtor assert that there is no connection with any insider, and that all funds have come solely from the debtor. Which version of the facts is true? If any portion of the retainer has been paid by a third party, that raises special concerns (e.g., was the third party fully informed, in writing, that counsel represents the DIP not the third party, and might actually have to sue the third party if there were any potentially avoidable transfers? are there any such transfers or other potential conflicts?). See In re Kelton Motors, Inc., 109 B.R. 641 (Bankr. D. Vt. 1989); In re Hathaway Ranch Partnership, 116 B.R. 208, 219 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1990); In re Park-Helena Corp., 63 F.3d 877 (9th Cir. 1995).

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 6/7/17.

(a) Bar date: 9/22/17 (DO NOT SERVE notice yet - court will prepare an order after the status conference).

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: file by 10/13/17 using the forms required by Judge Bason (DO NOT SERVE yet, except on the U.S. Trustee - the court will set a deadline and procedures at a later time).

Chapter 11

Tentative Ruling for 11/14/17:

Appearances required. The tentative ruling is to deny the motions for default judgments, without prejudice, for the reasons set forth below, and to set a continued status conference for 1/30/18 at 2:00 p.m.

On the one hand, there appears to be successful prosecution of this adversary proceeding because, according to the plaintiff's status report (adv. dkt. 92), all of the defendants have either agreed to the requested declaratory relief or have defaulted. On the other hand, there are some fundamental issues that appear to prevent this court from granting default judgments at this time.

(1) Self-calendaring error. The motions for default judgments were only served on 10/27/17. See, e.g., Motion for Default Judgment Derek Wilshee (dkt. 83, 74) (collectively, the "Wilshee Default Motion"). That is insufficient time prior to the hearing, under the applicable rules, nor was there any cover notice of the hearing date and deadline for any opposition or response.

(2) Jurisdictional issues.

(a) Personal jurisdiction. Does the complaint adequately establish personal jurisdiction over each defendant? At least one defendant is alleged to be a resident of Australia (dkt. 1, para. 14), although the plaintiff has voluntarily dismissed claims against that defendant (dkt. 107). Are each of the defaulting defendants subject to personal jurisdiction?

(b) Subject matter jurisdiction, and abstention. The complaint and motions for default judgment make somewhat vague assertions of other action(s) that were or are pending in other courts apparently involving the same subject matter, and involving at least preliminary injunctive relief if not other relief. Can this Bankruptcy Court assume jurisdiction over matters that are pending in other courts? Must or should this Bankruptcy Court abstain?

(3) Allegations of wrongdoing. Where is the analysis tying each of the defaulting defendants to one or more of the specific acts of wrongdoing bringing them within the claims in the complaint? For example, the only allegation in the complaint regarding Mr. Wilshee (dkt. 1, para. 14) appears to be that he was at one time an officer of the debtor. How is that an act of wrongdoing?

The Wilshee Default Motion seeks a default judgment against Mr. Wilshee of $431,472,300.00 (dkt. 74, at PDF p.51 of 53). How is he responsible for such alleged damages? Does the complaint need to be amended to establish, as against one or more of the defaulting defendants, how they are alleged to be liable?

(4) Calculation of damages. An exhibit to the plaintiff's motions for default judgments asserts that "Based on Department of Conservation Records [available on a website and/or verified by whom?], these leases [which leases? the ones that allegedly were supposed to be assigned but were not?] were producing 1730 barrels of Oil a day [when?]" and "[w]ith today's technology [how is today's technology better?], a conservative figure would be 3500 barrels a day [based on whose expert opinion?] that will be used as a figure for all the losses caused by Western States International [how about other defendants?]." Dkt. 83, Ex.A, at PDF p.17 of 53. The same exhibit shows a calculation of alleged damages based on "Approx Production" of "105,000" which is far more than 3500 barrels (perhaps using a 30-day presumptive month multiplied by 3500 barrels a day?), an "Average Oil Price [from what source?]," and a "Cost [to extract, market, refine, deliver, and sell the oil - or some other or different set of things? based on what expert's opinion?]." Based on the foregoing questions, and applying Rule 55(b)(2) (Fed. R. Civ. P.) (incorporated by Rule 7055, Fed. R. Bankr. P.), it appears that additional evidence and a "prove up" hearing will be needed to determine the amount of damages, if not other issues.

(5) Alleged costs, attorney fees, and interest. The debtor/plaintiff asserts $1 million in costs (dkt. 74 at PDF p.51 of 53) - how is that possible? What are the components? Attorney fees are alleged to be $300,000 - this case has barely commenced, so how is that possible? Where are the daily time sheets and/or other support for this figure? Prejudgment interest is alleged to be at a 10% rate per year starting 1/1/11. What is the contractual or statutory basis for that interest rate and that commencement date? The purported damages were incurred month by month, so how can interest run from before those damages were incurred?

(6) Declaratory relief. The plaintiff makes broad allegations about the rights under various contracts, or arising from breaches of those contracts or by operation of law. Where is the support for these allegations? The plaintiff cannot place the burden on this court to sort through numerous provisions of various contracts to piece together the plaintiff's theory. The plaintiff must provide specific, easy-to-follow analysis and evidence.

(7) Conclusion. Because the motions for default judgments are both procedurally and substantively deficient in all of the ways set forth above, the tentative ruling is to deny them without prejudice.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 8/22/17:

Appearances required. This court notes that the parties were directed to file a joint status report two weeks in advance of this hearing (dkt. 2), but have not done so. In addition, this court notes that the tentative ruling in the main case status conference (calendar no. 3, 8/22/17 at 2:00 p.m.) is to dismiss the main case, which normally would terminate this adversary proceeding. Nevertheless, to preserve all rights in the event that this court were to be persuaded not to dismiss the main case, this court has reviewed the other filed documents and records in this adversary proceeding and issues the following tentative ruling.

(1) Venue/jurisdiction/authority.

The parties are directed to address any outstanding matters of (a) venue, (b) jurisdiction, (c) this court's authority to enter final orders or judgment(s) in this proceeding and, if consent is required, whether the parties do consent, or have already expressly or impliedly consented. See generally Stern v. Marshall, 131 S.Ct. 2594, 2608 (2011) (if litigant "believed that the Bankruptcy Court lacked the authority to decide his claim...then he should have said so – and said so promptly."); Wellness Int'l Network, Ltd. v. Sharif, 135 S.Ct. 1932 (2015) (consent must be knowing and voluntary but need not BAP 2013) (rebuttable presumption that failure to challenge authority to issue final order is intentional and indicates consent); In re Deitz, 760 F.3d 1028 (9th Cir. 2014) (authority to adjudicate nondischargeability encompasses authority to liquidate debt and enter final judgment). See generally In re AWTR Liquidation, Inc., 548 B.R. 300 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2016).

(2) Mediation. Is there is any reason why this court should not order the parties to mediation before one of the volunteer mediators (not a Bankruptcy Judge), and meanwhile set the deadlines set forth below?

(3) Deadlines: This adversary proceeding has been pending since 6/19/17. Pursuant to LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B), plaintiff is directed to serve and lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the status conference, attaching a copy of this tentative ruling or otherwise memorializing the following.

Discovery cutoff (for completion of discovery): 1/12/18

Expert(s) - deadline for reports: 1/26/18

Expert(s) - discovery cutoff (if different from above): 2/9/18

Dispositive motions to be heard no later than: 3/2/18

Joint Status Report: 11/28/17

Continued status conference: 12/12/17 at 11:00 a.m.

Trial deadlines to be determined at a later time.

If you do not appear, and the matter is not adequately resolved by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 2/13/18:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor and by the debtor(s) themselves but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues.

(a) Status Reports (main case dkt. 122; adv. no. 2:17-ap-01326-NB, dkt. 132). The debtor/plaintiff suggests that it will be filing a motion to approve a disclosure statement. Is that premature, given the following issues?

(b) Motion to amend complaint (adv. dkt. 125). The parties should be prepared to address the issues raised in the motion and in the oppositions filed by the California Department of Conservation, Division of Oil and Gas, and Geothermal Resources ("DOGGR") (adv. dkt. 125, 130, 131).

In addition, the debtor/plaintiff should be prepared to address whether the proposed amended complaint cures the deficiencies in the original complaint, and whether any ruling on the motion to amend the complaint should be deferred until after default judgments are (or are not) obtained on the existing (original) complaint, for the reasons set forth in this Court's Memorialization Of Reasons For Denying Motions For Default Judgments (captioned for the adversary proceeding but erroneously filed in the main case as dkt. 118). See also Order denying prior motions for default judgments (adv. dkt. 117) and subsequent Motions for default judgments (adv. dkt. 133, 134, 135).

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 11/23/16.

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: TBD.

(c) Continued status conference: 3/20/18 at 2:00 p.m., status report due 3/6/18.

If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 1/23/18:

Continue the status conferences in both the main case and the adversary proceeding (adv. no. 2:17-ap-01326-NB) to 2/13/18 at 2:00 p.m. with a status report due 2/6/18 (at which time other documents are also due as set forth below) for the reasons set forth below. Appearances are not required on 1/23/18.

(1) Current issues

(a) Reasons for continuance: (i) because of the problems noted below; (ii) because of the debtor's untimely last-minute filing of status reports (the debtor is cautioned that continued untimely filings may result in sanctions); (iii) because of the inability of the Office of the United States Trustee to appear due to the shutdown of much of the federal government, (iv) to be concurrent with the (improperly self-calendared) motion to amend the complaint, and (v) in view of the debtor's various status reports (main case dkt. 117, adv. dkt. 122, 127, 129).

(b) Bar date. The debtor's proofs of service of the bar date order are missing exhibits and incomprehensible (see dkt. 110, 111). The debtor is directed to file, no later than 2/6/18, either a corrected proof of service or an application (supported by a declaration) to set yet another supplemental bar date - whichever is appropriate.

(c) Status of existing complaint in adversary proceeding. On 11/20/17 this court issued an order (adv. dkt. 117) denying the plaintiff/debtor's motions for default judgments, without prejudice. The debtor now seeks to amend the complaint (adv. dkt. 125). All of these things moot the motions for default judgments so the hearings on those motions have been vacated.

In addition, the tentative ruling is to memorialize this court's reasons for denying the motions for default judgments by filing on the docket a copy of this court's adopted tentative ruling for the 11/14/17 hearings on those motions (reproduced within the tentative ruling for calendar no. 9. 1/23/18 at 2:00 p.m.).

(d) Motion to amend complaint (adv. dkt. 125). This motion was self-calendared for 2:00 p.m. (a time that cannot be used for self-calendaring) on 2/13/18. Nevertheless, the tentative ruling is to permit that motion to proceed at that time.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 11/23/16.

(a) Bar date: initial date of 7/10/17 (order timely served, dkt. 56, 60); supplemental date of 1/26/18, to be served no later than 11/15/17 (per Order, dkt. 107) but proofs of service are incomprehensible (dkt. 110, 111) - see above under "current issues".

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: TBD.

(c) Continued status conference: as set forth above.

*Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address the following issues.

(1) Current issues. The debtor has filed a second (very belated) proof of service (dkt. 103) of this court's order (dkt. 56) setting a bar date. Under that order the bar date was set as 7/10/17 and service was required no later than 5/8/17. What does the debtor's belated service do except cause confusion? Does the debtor require a new bar date for previously unknown creditors?

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 11/23/16. If this case is not converted or dismissed, the tentative ruling is to set the following:

(a) Bar date: 7/10/17 (order timely served, dkt. 56, 60; but see above under "current issues").

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: TBD.

(c) Continued status conference: 1/30/18 at 2:00 p.m., status report due 1/16/18.

*Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

Tentative Ruling for 8/22/17:

The tentative ruling is to dismiss this case with a 180 day bar for willful failure to appear in proper prosecution, as set forth below. See 11 U.S.C. 109(g)(1). Appearances are not required.

Reasons: This case was filed on 11/23/16. The debtor's assets consist of disputed rights in hydrocarbon leases. See Status Report, dkt. 81. Realizing any value from those rights apparently depends on retaining special counsel who will diligently prosecute the debtor's claims. Despite numerous opportunities, the debtor has failed to satisfy the prerequisites for retention of special counsel.

(1) Inadequate declarations about "connections"

At the hearing on 7/11/17 this court extensively reviewed the evidence that would be required before this court could approve the application to employ the latest proposed special counsel, Mr. Montes. That included a requirement of detailed declarations from Mr. and Mrs. Hoats regarding any transfers of any property (including intangible property) involving the debtor and any of them, as well as any other "connections" (as that term is used in Rule 2014, Fed. R. Bankr. P.) to the debtor and any other party in interest.

This court recognizes that Mr. and Mrs. Hoats are not the professionals whose employment is being sought. Nevertheless, given their very close ties to the debtor, and their failure to disclose connections to the prior proposed special counsel that raised questions about conflicts of interest, this court orally ordered the debtor to provide their declarations at the hearing on 5/2/17. That order has been ignored.

(2) Knudsen factors

This court also directed Mr. Montes to file a declaration addressing the factors that this court must consider in assessing his request to be paid more frequently than once every 120 days. See In re Knudsen, 84 B.R. 668, 672-73 (9th Cir. BAP 1988). Mr. Montes has filed such a declaration (dkt. 82) and has adequately summarized the factors (id., p.3:15-23) but he has not adequately addressed the third factor, which he summarizes as: "any funds paid but later disapproved by the court can be recovered from the professional" in one or more of the ways listed in Knudsen. (Emphasis added.) Those ways are:

[a. Holdback] retainer payments are for only a percentage of the amount billed so that the likelihood or necessity of repayment is minimal [Mr. Montes suggests a 10% holdback, which has not been shown to be adequate - the typical amount is 20%, and that typically applies only to well established firms whose ability to repay funds is reinforced by the firm's longevity and reputation or similar considerations];

[b. Bond] counsel can post a bond covering any possible reassessment [Mr. Montes has not addressed this factor];

[c. Financial ability to repay] counsel's financial position makes it certain that any reassessment can be repaid [Mr. Montes has not addressed this factor]; [and/or]
[d. Hold funds in trust account] funds paid prior to allowance are held in a trust account until a final or interim fee allowance is made [Mr. Montes has only offered to place the 10% proposed holdback in a trust account]. [Knudsen, 84 B.R. 668, at 672]

(3) The debtor appears to cite the wrong statutory authority

The debtor's application to employ Mr. Montes (dkt. 65) requests that his employment be approved under subsection "(e)" of 11 U.S.C. 327. But that subsection only applies by its terms to an attorney who "has represented the debtor" (i.e., prepetition counsel whose employment is to continue postpetition). Id. (emphasis added).

That is not the end of the analysis, because it has been held that special counsel can be employed even when such counsel has not represented the debtor prepetition. See In re Fondiller, 15 B.R. 890, 892 (9th Cir. BAP 1981) (emphasis added), appeal dismissed, 707 F.2d 441 (9th Cir. 1983). Although Fondiller has been interpreted as authorizing employment under subsection (e) (see, e.g., Covenant Fin. Group of Am., Inc., 243 B.R. 450, 455 & n. 8 (Bankr. N.D. Ala. 1999)), the precise holding of Fondiller appears to be that special counsel can be employed under subsection "(a)" of Section 327 because any "omission" in subsection "(e)" does not limit the general authority in subsection "(a)." See Fondiller, 15 B.R. at 891-92 (interpreting § 327(a) by comparison with §§ 327(c) and (e)).

True, the precise statutory authority appears to make little if any practical difference, because Fondiller held that when counsel is only employed to perform limited services, then an interest "adverse to the estate" means "an adverse interest relating to the services which are to be performed by that attorney," which appears to mean that the inquiry for proposed special counsel under subsection "(a)" is the same as under subsection "(e)." Fondiller, 15 B.R. at 892 (emphasis added). Mr. Montes' declaration (included in dkt. 65) appears to meet this test because he states that he has no adverse interest.

Nevertheless, as stated above this court has required additional evidence from Mr. and Mrs. Hoats and that evidence has not been provided. In addition, because the debtor has sought authority under subsection "(e)" instead of "(a)" it appears not have met the technical requirements for

(1) Current issues

(a) Employment of special counsel. Deny the application to employ the Law Offices of M. Brian McMahon (dkt. 46) because he no longer intends to pursue employment. See dkt. 73, para. 3. Deny the application to employ the Law Offices of Mike Montes, Jr. (dkt. 65) due to the failure to address the issues raised by this court in the tentative ruling for 5/2/17 (reproduced below) (without reaching the issues raised by the U.S. Trustee's objection, dkt. 72, and the debtor's reply, dkt. 74). Appearances required. There is no tentative ruling, but the debtor's proposed attorney, Brian McMahon Esq., should be prepared to address the concerns set forth in the U.S. Trustee's objection (dkt. 49) and the other issues set forth below.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Proposed special counsel.

(i) Background. On 4/5/17 the debtor filed an application for authority to employ the law offices of Mr. McMahon as special counsel under 11 U.S.C. 327(e) (dkt. 47). On 4/12/17 the United States Trustee ("UST") filed an objection to the employment application, which expressed concerns about the payment arrangement proposed in the application (dkt. 49).

The debtor filed a statement of disinterestedness for Mr. McMahon (dkt.53), and a reply (dkt.55), stating that a third party, Ms. Lilian Hoats, will be paying the attorney fees for Mr. McMahon's representation. Ms. Hoats is the CEO of Inviron Technologies, Inc. ("Managing Member"), which is the debtor's managing member (dkt. 55, Ex.1, p.1, recital "b"). Attached to the reply (dkt. 55, Ex.1) is a written document that purports to be a waiver of conflicts (if any exist) among the debtor, Ms. Hoats, and the Managing Member (the "Hoats/Managing Member Conflict Waiver").

The Attorney-Client Retainer Agreement attached to the employment application (dkt. 46, Ex.1) provides that Mr. McMahon is representing not only the debtor but also its affiliates Riverwood Energy, LLC ("Energy Affiliate") and Riverwood Resources Ltd. ("Resources Affiliate"). This court is not aware of the precise organizational and contractual relationships among the debtor, Energy Affiliate, and Resources Affiliate, nor of any written document purporting to be a waiver of conflicts (if any exist) among them.

(ii) Statutory provisions and rules

Although special counsel does not have to be "disinterested"

(compare 11 U.S.C. 327(a)), special counsel still must not "represent or hold any interest adverse to the debtor or to the estate with respect to the matter on which such attorney is to be employed." 11 U.S.C. 327(e) (emphasis added). Under Rule 2014 (Fed. R. Bankr. P.) both Mr. McMahon and the debtor were supposed to disclose all connections between Mr. McMahon and "the debtor, creditors, any other party in interest, their respective attorneys and accountants, the United States trustee, or any person employed in the office of the United States trustee."

The disclosures have not been adequate. This court does not know enough about the underlying litigation and the organizational and contractual relationships among the various entities to assess whether there may be conflicts of interest between the debtor, on the one hand, and Ms. Hoats, Managing Member, Energy Affiliate, and/or Resource Affiliate.

(iii) A DIP's conflicts generally cannot be waived

Any purported conflict waiver probably cannot waive actual conflicts. See, e.g., In re Perry, 194 B.R. 875, 880 (E.D.Cal.1996) (waiver of conflict by non-debtor parties was insufficient and "[i]nformed consent could not be obtained" because "the real parties in interest in this case are the creditors, and that is not a waivable conflict"); In re B.E.S. Concrete Products, Inc., 93 B.R. 228, 235 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 1988).

But while actual conflicts of interest create a violation of 11 U.S.C. 327 which would require disqualification of the proposed professional, the mere existence of a potential conflict of interest does not require disqualification, and it is up to the court's discretion whether the purported conflict is sufficiently threatening to the estate to warrant disqualification. In re Wheatfield Business Park, LLC, 286 B.R. 412, 421 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2002).

Are proposed counsel and the debtor aware of any actual conflicts?
How about potential conflicts?

(iv) The purported conflict waiver is incomplete

The Hoats/Managing Member Conflict Waiver is not actually signed by Ms. Hoats in her individual capacity (she has only signed it on behalf of the debtor's Managing Member). In addition, as noted above, this court is not aware of any purported conflict waiver among the debtor and Operating Affiliate or Resources Affiliate.

(v) There might be conflicts among the debtor and Ms. Hoats

A third party who funds a retainer for the debtor (the "Funder") generally has some pre-existing relationship with the debtor, and/or some motivation to providing the funding. Those things increase the likelihood that the Funder could be the recipient of an avoidable preference, or might have alter ego liability, or otherwise might have interests that are adverse to (or at least not fully aligned with) the bankruptcy estate or creditors. For these reasons, although payment of a retainer by a third party is not outright prohibited, it is fraught with ethical concerns. At the hearing, counsel for the debtor and proposed special counsel should be prepared to address the following.

(A) Terms. What are the precise agreements, understandings or expectations regarding the funds -- e.g., are the funds a loan, a gift, an investment, or something else?

(B) Informed consent of Funder. Has the Funder been advised regarding actual and potential conflicts of interest, and that the sole attorney-client relationship and duty of loyalty is with the debtor, not the Funder? Who provided such advice: independent counsel? counsel for the debtor? the debtor's proposed special counsel? Has the Funder given informed consent? Are those things in writing?

(C) Informed consent of debtor. Has the debtor likewise been fully advised and given informed consent? Who provided such advice? Are these things in writing? Ms. Hoats has signed the Hoats/Managing Member conflict waiver on behalf of the debtor: how can she, acting for the debtor, waive conflicts with herself?

(D) Other considerations. Has proposed special counsel demonstrated or represented to the Court the absence of an actual or potential conflict, a lack of disinterestedness, or any other basis for disqualification? See In re Kelton Motors, Inc., 109 B.R. 641 (Bankr. D. Vt. 1989); In re Lotus Prop's LP, 200 B.R. 388 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1996) (rejecting per se disqualification when fees are paid by third party); and compare In re Hathaway Ranch Partnership, 116 B.R. 208, 219 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1990) (per se rule). See generally In re Park-Helena Corp., 63 F.3d 877 (9th Cir. 1995).

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 11/23/16. If this case is not converted or dismissed, the tentative ruling is to set the following:

(a) Bar date*: to be set during the status conference.

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: same.

This case was filed on 11/23/16. The debtor's status report (dkt. 34) states that the debtor intends to retain special counsel, and the monthly operating reports (dkt. 37, 38) appear to show no activity other than opening DIP bank accounts and paying associated fees. Although progress in this case has been slow, it does not appear efficient to hold a status conference at this time. If substantially more progress is not shown by the next status conference, this court may dismiss this case for failure to appear in proper prosecution. See 11 U.S.C. 109(g)(1), 349.

(a) Substitution of attorney. On 12/23/16, the debtor filed a substitution of attorney (dkt. 22) reflecting that current proposed counsel is Giovanni Orantes, Esq. Why has no employment application been filed?

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 2/13/18:

Appearances required.

(1) Current issues

(a) Potential settlement with Fresco Parties. The parties must be prepared to address the status of their settlement negotiations and finalization of the draft settlement documents circulated 2/5/18, and all other issues appropriate to raise at a status conference, including the issues in their recent status reports and related documents (Sakurai case, no. 2:17-bk-22660-NB, dkt. 87, 104, 105, 114, 124, and Checkmate case, no. 2:17-bk-22648-NB, dkt. 90, 93, 100, 102, 104, 105, 106, 109, 112, 113, 119, 122).

(b) Cash collateral & budget motions & stipulation (Sakurai dkt. 119, 122; Checkmate dkt. 114, 118, 119). Grant the cash collateral motion in the Sakurai case, subject to the same replacement liens and other terms and conditions as this Court's prior approvals of the use of cash collateral (see Sakurai case dkt. 43, 57); grant the budget motion in the Sakurai case; and approve the cash collateral stipulation in the Checkmate case on a final basis.

(d) Removed action (Adv. no. 2:17-ap-01558-NB), motions for stay and for remand (adv. dkt. 8, 10, 12, 13). The tentative ruling is that the motion for a stay pending determination by the District Court of the debtors' motion to withdraw the reference is moot, because the District Court has dismissed that motion. There is no tentative ruling on the motion to remand.

Tentative Ruling for 1/30/18:

Appearances required.

(1) Current issues

(a) Dec MOR (dkt. 97):

(i) On page 1 of 34, the MOR reflects $793,000 in cash receipts for the pre-petition Community Bank Sakurai Family Trust savings account, with a notation that Community Bank initially seized, but has since returned, the funds. What is this money from? Is it currently being held? Is it available to pay secured or unsecured creditors?

(ii) On page 7 of 34, there is a line item reflecting a $5,000 payment to Mr. Aronson for legal fees. At the status conference on 1/9/18 this court highlighted that the Sakurais had made a similar payment in November for Mr. Aronson's fees and counsel stated that the payment was made in error, and the debtors and their counsel assured this court that this issue would be addressed. By no later than February 7, 2018, Mr. Aronson is directed to file a declaration addressing the status of the $10,000 in legal fees ($5,000 Nov; $5,000 Dec) that he received from the Sakurais.

(b) Turnover of Documents and Information, etc. The parties must be prepared to address what documents and information have been produced by the debtors, and all other issues appropriate to raise at a status conference, including the issues in their recent status reports and related documents (case no. 2:17-bk-22660-NB, dkt. 87, 104, 105, 114, and 2:17-bk-22648-NB, dkt. 90, 93, 100, 102, 104, 105, 106, 109, 112, 113).

Chapter 11

(1) Current issues

(a) Status Report (dkt. 42): The debtors' status report fails to suggest any bar date or any deadline for filing a draft plan and draft disclosure statement. The debtors suggest that the Fresco litigation might have to conclude before they can propose plan, but they fail to support any such delay with relevant information about that litigation, nor do they explain how claims estimation and/or a disputed claims reserve would be inadequate to address this litigation. See generally 11 U.S.C. 502(c) and Rule 3018(a) (Fed. R. Bankr. P.). Accordingly, the tentative ruling is to fix the deadlines set forth below.

(b) Cash collateral motion (dkt. 8). The tentative ruling is to grant this motion on a final basis, on the same terms as the interim order (dkt. 43).

(b) Utility motion (dkt. 11). The tentative ruling is to grant this motion on a final basis.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 10/16/17.

Tentative Ruling for 10/26/17:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor.

(1) Current issues

(a) Proofs of service (dkt. 18, 19, 21, 22). Service does not appear to be in compliance with this court's orders shortening time because they do not certify that anyone was served via overnight delivery or other expedited means.

The following tentative rulings are contingent on filing a corrected proof of service, no later than the day after this hearing, declaring that such expedited service was actually done, or if that is not true then the tentative ruling is to impose sanctions of $200 on counsel for the debtors and, despite the lack of service, authorize the proposed expenditures of cash collateral and the proposed utility deposits as an interim method of providing adequate protection under 11 U.S.C. 361-366.

(b) Cash collateral motion (dkt. 8). Subject to any opposition at the hearing, the tentative ruling is to grant this motion on the terms set forth in the separate tentative ruling on that motion.

(c) Utility motion (dkt. 11). Subject to any opposition at the hearing, the tentative ruling is to grant this motion. Proposed order: Movant is directed to serve and lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date.

#15.00 Cont'd Status Conference re: Chapter 11 Case

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 2/13/18:

Appearances required.

(1) Current issues

(a) Potential settlement with Fresco Parties. The parties must be prepared to address the status of their settlement negotiations and finalization of the draft settlement documents circulated 2/5/18, and all other issues appropriate to raise at a status conference, including the issues in their recent status reports and related documents (Sakurai case, no. 2:17-bk-22660-NB, dkt. 87, 104, 105, 114, 124, and Checkmate case, no. 2:17-bk-22648-NB, dkt. 90, 93, 100, 102, 104, 105, 106, 109, 112, 113, 119, 122).

(b) Cash collateral & budget motions & stipulation (Sakurai dkt. 119, 122; Checkmate dkt. 114, 118, 119). Grant the cash collateral motion in the Sakurai case, subject to the same replacement liens and other terms and conditions as this Court's prior approvals of the use of cash collateral (see Sakurai case dkt. 43, 57); grant the budget motion in the Sakurai case; and approve the cash collateral stipulation in the Checkmate case on a final basis.

(d) Removed action (Adv. no. 2:17-ap-01558-NB), motions for stay and for remand (adv. dkt. 8, 10, 12, 13). The tentative ruling is that the motion for a stay pending determination by the District Court of the debtors' motion to withdraw the reference is moot, because the District Court has dismissed that motion. There is no tentative ruling on the motion to remand.

Chapter 13

#1.00 Cont'd hrg re: Motion to Expunge Bankruptcy Case
From the Public Record
fr. 02/13/18

Docket 17

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 2/27/18:

Grant on the terms set forth in this Court's tentative ruling (see Order, dkt. 27). Appearances are not required. After the hearing time this Court will prepare the order and will mail a copy to the debtor (which he can present to any credit reporting agencies, creditors, or other persons).

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 2/13/18:

Grant subject to (a) adequate service and (b) any oppositions presented at the hearing (see Order, dkt. 24). Appearances required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

Chapter 11

#9.00 Preliminary Status Conference re: Chapter 11 Case

Docket 19

Tentative Ruling:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor. Other parties in interest are invited but not required to appear (and pursuant to LBR 9075-1, any response may be presented orally).

Telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues. As of the time when this tentative ruling has been prepared, there is no proof of service of the debtor's motions. The following tentative rulings are subject to (i) adequate proof of service and (ii) any oppositions presented at or prior to the hearing. In addition, rather than stating at length this Court's reasoning, the following tentative rulings adopt, to the extent relevant, the reasoning of this Court regarding similar motions in the Bachrach case (no. 2:17-bk-15292-NB, dkt. 46-47).

(a) Notice/Service. Pursuant to LBR 9075-1(a)(2)(B), this Court has already orally and conditionally granted the debtor's request to shorten time on the motions identified below, subject to the right of any party in interest to object at or before the hearing to the adequacy of notice. With those limitations, the tentative ruling is to find notice adequate and grant the debtor's requests in its motions (e.g., dkt. 5, p.3:3-5) to excuse any requirement for telephonic notice provided that overnight delivery or other permissible expedited service (e.g., personal delivery, or email as permitted by applicable rules) has been delivered no later than 24 hours prior to this hearing to all persons with a pecuniary interest that could be adversely affected by the relief requested in each motion.

(b) Immediate relief. With respect to any immediate relief described below, the tentative ruling is that the debtor has shown sufficient cause for such immediate relief under Rule 6003 (Fed. R. Bankr. P.), to the extent applicable, and the other rules and procedures governing relief on an emergency or expedited basis.

Chapter 11

(c) Limit Notice Motion (dkt. 3). The tentative ruling is to grant this motion, subject to the following adjustments. First, the Limited Service List must be augmented to include (i) junior lienholder Emerald Capital Funding, LLC ("Emerald") and (ii) the debtor's own bankruptcy counsel (because the motion apparently contemplates that all parties in interest - not just the debtor - will be authorized to use the Limited Service List). Second, this Court contemplates limitations that parallel this Court's modifications to the parallel order in the Bachrach case (no. 2:17-bk-15292-NB, dkt. 53).

(d) Utilities Motion (dkt. 4). The tentative ruling is to grant the motion on an interim basis, with a final hearing at the same time as the continued status conference set forth below.

(e) Tax Motion (dkt. 5). The tentative ruling is to grant the motion on an interim basis, with a final hearing at the same time as the continued status conference set forth below.

(f) Cash Management Motion (dkt. 6). The tentative ruling is to grant the motion on the following conditions on an interim basis, with a final hearing at the same time as the continued status conference set forth below. No later than 2/23/18 the debtor must file a declaration of its CFO or other appropriate person certifying that, first, the debtor has taken measures to assure that prepetition debts are not paid out of its existing accounts (e.g., stopping payment on prepetition checks, except to the extent authorized by this court), and second, the debtor is maintaining sufficiently detailed books and records that, if it becomes necessary to analyze the debtor's finances as of the petition date, such analysis will not be impaired by the non-closing of the debtor's prepetition accounts.

(g) Lease Rejection Motion (dkt. 7). The tentative ruling is to grant the motion on a final basis.

(h) Employee Wages Motion (dkt. 8). The tentative ruling is to grant this motion immediately and on a final basis as to the employees, and to grant it as to the retention of Modern HR, Inc. ("HR") either immediately or at a continued hearing if the debtor can provide an offer of proof or evidence that HR's rates are within normal market rates for comparable services.

(i) Store Closing Sale Motion (dkt. 17). The tentative ruling is to approve the retention of Great American Group LLC and Tiger Capital Group LLC (collectively, "Liquidation Consultant") subject to the filing, no later than 2/23/18, of a satisfactory statement of Liquidation Consultant's disinterestedness on Local Form F 2014-1.STMT.DISINTEREST.PROF. Chapter 11 addition, the tentative ruling is to authorize the proposed sales of the debtor's inventory and furniture, fixtures and equipment ("FF&E"), free and clear of any liens, claims, encumbrances or other interests of all persons/entities who have been served with the motion, with all such interests to attach to proceeds of such sales, under 11 U.S.C. 363(b) and (f)(1), (2) and (5), for the reasons stated in the motion papers. In addition, the tentative ruling with respect to compliance with nonbankruptcy liquidation laws, restrictions in leases, and abandonment of property is to track the limitations in this Court's interim order on the parallel motion in the Bachrach case (no. 2:17-bk-15292-NB, dkt. 71). In addition, the tentative ruling is to grant all such relief on an interim basis, with a final hearing at the same time as the continued status conference set forth below.

(j) Cash Collateral/DIP Financing (dkt. 21, 22). The parties should be prepared to address the following issues. (i) Is there any evidence that the debtor is "unable" to obtain credit by granting a "senior or equal lien" to the lien of Siena Lending Group, LLC ("Siena"), within the meaning of 11 U.S.C. 364(d)(1)(A)? (ii) Why would it be appropriate for this Court to approve a roll-up, cross-collateralization, and other provisions that generally are disapproved (see dkt. 22)? (iii) Why should this Court grant broader relief in this case than it did in approving a similar motion in the Bachrach case (no. 2:17-bk-15292-NB, dkt. 46, Ex.A, pp.5-9, and dkt. 50)? The tentative ruling is to authorize either consensual or non-consensual use of cash collateral and, if the terms can be modified sufficiently to be acceptable, the proposed DIP financing, on an interim basis, with a final hearing at the same time as the continued status conference set forth below.

(k) Notice of continued hearings. The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 2/27/18 for the debtor to file and serve a notice of the final hearing on all motions that are only granted on an interim basis, and to set the same deadline for the debtor to file any supplements or amendments to such motions, with deadlines of 3/6/18 for any opposition and 3/13/18 for any reply.

(l) Proposed Orders. This court intends to file these tentative rulings on the docket (with the caption, "Memorialization Of Tentative rulings" or the like). Thereafter, if appropriate, all orders can grant or deny relief "for the reasons stated in the Memorialization Of Tentative Rulings (dkt. __), as modified or supplemented on the record at the hearing" (or similar language). The debtor is directed to serve and lodge proposed orders via this court's "LOU" system within 7 days after the hearing date.

(c) Continued status conference: March 20, 2018 at 2:00 p.m., status report due 3/6/18. (see order, dkt. 18).

*Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

vs
DEBTOR

Docket 165

Tentative Ruling:

Grant as provided below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

Termination. Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1).

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) is also terminated, because it has not been shown to have any basis to exist independent of the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a). To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Effective date of relief. Deny the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a)(3) for lack of sufficient cause shown.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Grant the motion as provided below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling to the order, thereby incorporating it as this court's final ruling. See LBR 9021-1(b) (1)(B).

Key documents reviewed (in addition to motion papers): The debtor's response (dkt. 51).

I. Tentative findings of fact:

(A) In violation of the loan documents, an interest in the subject property purportedly was transferred to the debtor, either individually or as trustee of a purported trust.

(B) The transfer was part of a scheme to delay or hinder movant's remedies against the property by implicating the automatic stay of 11 U.S.C. 362(a) in the debtor's bankruptcy case.

(C) This court does not find that the debtor was part of any such scheme (i.e., based on the record before this court it appears that this may be a so-called "hijacked" or "dumping" case in which a third party seeks to implicate the automatic stay for their own benefit, without the debtor's participation or acquiescence, by transferring property into a random bankruptcy estate, or by back-dating or falsifying a grant deed to make it appear that such a transfer occurred).

II. Tentative conclusions of law:

Pursuant to the legal analysis in In re Vazquez (case no. 2:16-bk-10699-NB, dkt. 75) and/or In re Choong (case no. 2:14-bk-28378-NB, docket no. 31), as applicable:

(A) Jurisdiction. This court has jurisdiction to grant the type of relief requested in the motion.

(B) Termination of stay. The automatic stay, if it applies, is terminated pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1), (d)(4), and 1301(c).

(C) Relief notwithstanding future bankruptcy cases. If this order is duly recorded in compliance with applicable State laws governing notices of interests or liens in the property at issue, then no automatic stay shall apply to such property in any bankruptcy case purporting to affect such property and filed within two years after the date of entry of this order, unless otherwise ordered by the court presiding over that bankruptcy case.

For the avoidance of doubt, any acts by the movant to obtain exclusive possession of such property shall not be stayed. Any additional request for relief applicable to future bankruptcy cases is denied (e.g., any request to grant relief against third parties without any notice is denied) due to lack of sufficient factual or legal grounds presented in support of such relief.

(D) Effective date of relief. The 14 day stay under FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived.

(E) No prejudice to debtor intended. Nothing in the foregoing disposition should be interpreted to support the application of 11 U.S.C. 109(g)(2) in the event of any future dismissal of this bankruptcy case. See generally In re Leafy, 479 B.R. 545, 550 (9th Cir. BAP 2012); In re Payton, 481 B.R. 460 (Bankr. N.D. Ill. 2012).

This Court has already issued its order granting relief from the automatic stay (dkt. 48) and although that order set this continued hearing (id. para. 18) so as to address whether to grant any additional or different relief, that order also set a deadline of 2/13/18 to file and serve any request for such relief, and the docket does not reflect any such request. "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

At the 1/23/18 hearing, this court continued the matter at the debtor's request for additional time to secure the assistance of counsel or otherwise address the issues raised by this motion. There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address the issues raised by the underlying papers, including the debtor's responses (dkt. 19, 25) and the creditor's reply (dkt. 29).

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 1/23/18:

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

The tentative ruling is to overrule the debtor's objections (dkt. 19, 25) to the extent that the debtor asserts a lack of adequate notice, but the parties should be prepared to address the debtor's other arguments. As for the alleged lack of notice, the debtor admits receiving notice on 1/6/18 which is over two weeks prior to this hearing and this court routinely shortens time on this type of motion (when there have been unauthorized transfers as part of an apparent scheme to hinder, delay or defraud a creditor), and the debtor has not established any undue prejudice arising from the current time frame.

vs
DEBTOR

Docket 54

Tentative Ruling:

Grant as provided below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

Termination. Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (d)(2).

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) is also terminated, because it has not been shown to have any basis to exist independent of the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a). To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Effective date of relief. Grant the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a)(3).

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling:

Grant as provided below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

The automatic stay does not apply. This case has been dismissed, which terminates the automatic stay. See 11 USC 349(b)(3) & 362(c).

In the alternative and in addition, this court grants relief from the automatic stay as follows.

Termination. Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (d)(2).

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) is also terminated, because it has not been shown to have any basis to exist independent of the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a). To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. DEBTOR

Docket 19

Tentative Ruling:

Grant in part and continue in part to 3/6/18 at 10:00 a.m., as set forth below, subject to any opposition presented at the hearing (see Order, dkt. 18).
Appearances required.

Termination. Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (d)(2).

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) is also terminated, because it has not been shown to have any basis to exist independent of the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a). To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Relief notwithstanding future bankruptcy cases.

As to the requested relief that will remain effective notwithstanding any future bankruptcy case, continue the motion to the date and time set forth at the start of this tentative ruling, for service on the tenant named in the written lease. Reasons: (a) This Court's order shortening time (dkt.18) required service not only on the debtor but also on "all known co-tenants." (b) See LBR 4001-1(c)(1)(B). (c) Judge Bason has due process concerns about granting such relief without service on the person(s) whose interests may be most directly affected. See generally Mullane v. Central Hanover Bank & Trust Co., 339 U.S. 306 (1950) (due process generally). In this matter, such persons appear to include: Myung Bo Kim aka Tony Kim, dba Fashion Time/Style Express (see dkt.19, Ex.1(a) at PDF p.4).

Option for shortened time: This court has selected a continued hearing date that contemplates shortened notice (per Rule 9006) but that date is conditioned on the movant servicing all papers on the day after the current hearing date. Alternatively, the movant may self-calendar a continued hearing on regular notice.

Option for interim/partial order: Movant may elect to lodge a proposed order granting the partial relief provided in this tentative ruling, but any such order must recite that a continued hearing has been set to consider additional relief (or, alternatively, that the movant no longer seeks additional relief and the Clerk's office is requested and directed to take the continued hearing off calendar).

Effective date of relief. Grant the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a)(3).

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) is also terminated, because it has not been shown to have any basis to exist independent of the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a). To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Effective date of relief. Deny the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a)(3) for lack of sufficient cause shown.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." #2.00 Hrg re: Motion to disallow claim no. 2
(Internal Revenue Service)

Docket 162

Tentative Ruling:

Deny the motion/objection to claim no. 2 of the Internal Revenue Service ("IRS") for the reasons stated below. Appearances required by counsel for the debtor to address the issue of attorney fees in this and other cases.

Proposed order: The debtor is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this court's final ruling. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

Reasons for denial:

(1) Complaint required. Under Rule 7001(6) (Fed. R. Bankr. P.) a proceeding to determine dischargeability of a debt must be initiated by a complaint, not a motion.

(2) No showing that the issue needs to be addressed by this court. The debtor's own motion concedes (dkt. 162, p.8) that the debtor's chapter 7 discharge appears to include the 2008 tax debt to the IRS, and that the IRS (allegedly) orally stated that they would confirm this in writing. In other words, there does not appear to be any actual dispute.

It is true that the IRS also (allegedly) stated that they could not confirm this in writing for at least January and February of this year. But there is no time limit that would prevent the debtor from waiting to see if the IRS follows through on its alleged representation. If the IRS does not do that, the debtor can file a complaint later. See Rule 4007 (Fed. R. Bankr. P.) (nondischargeability complaint may be filed at any time, with inapplicable exceptions).

The motion is difficult to understand (like other papers filed by Mr. Wiggins, see dkt. 144), but it appears to imply some sort of need for an expedited determination. It states (dkt. 162, p.3:7-9) that "[d]ismissal [sic] of this claim" (by which Mr. Wiggins apparently means a judicial determination that the IRS claim is discharged) will "free up over $35,000 that the debtor, Ms. Allen, can devote to paying her mortgage and living expenses." It is unclear what Mr. Wiggins means by "free up." The motion does not allege that any funds have been seized by the IRS, and if the debtor has any cash on hand then what is preventing her from paying her mortgage and living expenses?

In sum, it appears that there is no actual controversy, and nor is there any urgency. So this Court is concerned that Mr. Wiggins may have filed this motion simply in "churn" this case - to earn more attorney fees.

(3) The claim objection fails to include a sufficient cost/benefit analysis, and this Court presumes that Mr. Wiggins will not charge any fees related to the motion. Judge Bason's posted Procedures (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) state:

When objecting to claims, be sure to include an analysis of whether the costs of preparing and litigating the claim objection (administrative expenses) do not exceed the anticipated benefits (reductions in claims). ... [Emphasis added.]

The motion (claim objection) fails to include any such analysis. That is particularly troubling given (a) this Court's concerns about whether there is any benefit to the debtor (or the estate) in bringing the motion (see issue "(2)" above) and (b) the history of Mr. Wiggins filing papers that are opaque, appear to be unnecessary, and may have been filed for improper purposes such as increasing attorney fees (see, e.g., Order to Show Cause, dkt. 144).

For these reasons, this Bankruptcy Court presumes that Mr. Wiggins will not charge any fees on this matter (including all past, present and future work related to this claim objection) and will return any fees that might be (or might have already been) awarded relative to this matter. If that is incorrect, then he must argue at the hearing why fees are appropriate.

(4) Other attorney fees. At the hearing, Mr. Wiggins is directed to address whether this Court should issue an order to show cause why some or all of his attorney fees in this case and in any other case pending before this Court should not be reviewed again by this Court under 11 U.S.C. 329 and 330, in

(2) Mediation. Is there is any reason why this court should not order the parties to mediation before one of the volunteer mediators (not a Bankruptcy Judge), and meanwhile set the deadlines set forth below? The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 2/6/18 for the parties to lodge a proposed mediation order (the parties are directed to use the time between now and that deadline to find a mutually agreeable mediator whose schedule can accommodate the needs of this matter; and if the parties cannot even agree on a mediator they may lodge separate orders and Judge Bason will chose among them, or issue his own order).

(3) Deadlines/dates: This adversary proceeding has been pending since 11/21/17. The tentative ruling is to set the following deadlines/dates. Pursuant to LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B), plaintiff is directed to serve and lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the status conference, attaching a copy of this tentative ruling or otherwise memorializing the following.

Discovery cutoff (for completion of discovery): 5/1/18

Tentative Ruling for 2/27/18:

Continue to 5/8/18 at 11:00 a.m. with a brief status report due 4/24/18.

Appearances are not required on 2/27/18.

(1) Background. This adversary proceeding has been pending since 4/7/17, and is being jointly administered with Adv. No. 2:17-ap-01551 - all papers are to be filed in this adversary proceeding (adv. dkt. 26). The discovery cutoff and some other deadlines have been set, but no trial date or pretrial conference date has yet been set (adv. dkt. 29). Matters of venue, jurisdiction, and authority have been determined and/or waived or forfeited (adv. dkt. 29). This Court previously ordered mediation (adv. dkt. 17) but at the status conference on 12/19/17 the parties reported that they had failed to comply with that order and the parties' latest status report (adv. dkt. 31) requests that they ordered to mediation again.

(2) Mediation. The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 3/13/18 for the parties to lodge a proposed mediation order (the parties are directed to use the time between now and that deadline to find a mutually agreeable mediator whose schedule can accommodate the needs of this matter; and if the parties cannot even agree on a mediator they may lodge separate orders and Judge Bason will chose among them, or issue his own order).

Chapter 13

#9.00 Cont'd hrg re: Debtor's Motion for Authority to Incur Debt
fr. 1/23/18

Docket 41

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 2/27/18:

This court previously granted the motion to incur debt (dkt. 41) but this court's order (dkt. 42) required that the debtors file declarations and appear at a continued hearing on 1/23/18. They and their attorney failed to do so, and therefore this Court issued an order to show cause (dkt. 46, the "OSC") why all of them should not be sanctioned. The debtors and their attorney have now filed declarations (dkt. 49, 51) that sufficiently address this Court's concerns, and therefore the tentative ruling to to discharge the OSC and not hold any further hearings on the motion to incur debt. Appearances are not required.

This Court will prepare orders reflecting such rulings after the hearing date.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 1/23/18:

Appearances required by one or both of the debtors. There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address the issues raised by this court's Order setting the matter for hearing (dkt. 42). Namely: (1) Why was this motion not brought sooner? (2) Why would a less expensive vehicle not be adequate? (3) Why have the debtors failed to file a declaration addressing these issues by 1/17/18, as required by that order? (The debtors have instead filed and served another copy of their motion, dkt. 45.)

Chapter 11

$1,000 per month in child care (id., line 8). But with 3 young boys, and the debtor's alleged reduction in music and martial arts lessons and other expenses (dkt. 70), the tentative ruling is that these remaining expenses can be approved.

The proposed budget (dkt. 69, bankruptcy Schedules I and J) still fails to provide a breakdown of business gross income, expenses, and net income (Schedule I, line 8a), although it includes partial information (dkt. 69 at PDF p. 14), and combined with the declarations from the debtor and her non-debtor husband (dkt. 70), there appears to be support for the debtor's calculations.

Based on the foregoing, the tentative ruling is to approve the budget motion, as amended by bankruptcy Schedules I and J (dkt. 69), on a final basis. But the tentative ruling is also to sanction counsel $200 for the failure to present the business budget in a clear format (instead of presenting the information in multiple documents in a way that makes it difficult for any parties in interest or the court to analyze).

(b) Plan (dkt. 72) and Disclosure Statement (dkt. 71). First, the debtor served all parties in interest with these drafts, contrary to this court's order (dkt. 7, para. 4, and Procedures section V.N.2., posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov). Serving drafts (particularly with errors) does nothing but confuse parties who are not involved in negotiations, and waste time and money.

Second, Exhibit A to the plan includes an error: an unsecured claim is listed in the section for secured claims, and the spreadsheet even alerts the user that there is an error by listing "Error" in the final column for Class 2B (dkt. 72, at PDF p.8) (and in Exhibit E).

Third, Exhibit C is blank (dkt. 71) - the debtor is permitted to incorporate the data from her own calculations (Exhibit I) but that data must be used in Exhibit C, to show how the debtor can afford plan payments.

Fourth, the proposed $173/mo. for "School Loan" appears to be an attempt to bury within the budget a priority treatment for student loan obligations (100% payment, v. 1.3% projected payment for other general unsecured creditors). The debtor can propose such treatment, but must make it explicit by separately classifying this debt.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Budget motion/April MOR. This court has reviewed the amended schedules I and J filed on 5/15/17 (dkt. 62), as well as the debtor's April 2017 monthly operating report ("MOR"). It appears that the amended schedules I and J do not accurately reflect the actual expenditures of the debtor and her family.

For example, the budget provides for $250 in child care expenses, but in April the debtors spent far more than that: $200 for babysitting expenses and over $700 for their children's art, karate and music classes (some of that might be classified in other categories, such as "entertainment," but the debtor generally appears to be exceeding her budget for those other categories as well). Another example is that the debtor has also budgeted $340 for telephone, cell phone, internet, satellite and cable services, but reported expenses of over $400 to Verizon, over $230 to Frontier Online and $20 to AT&T.

Additionally, it appears the debtor has accounted for her office rental expenses twice: the debtor has reported $250 in net income from her social work in her amended schedule I, taking into account the $150 office rent, but the debtor has also reported the office rent as an expense in item 17.d. of her amended schedule J.

Chapter 11

Can the debtors comply with their amended schedules I and J? How can the debtor and her family hope to have a successful reorganization if they cannot create and adhere to a realistic budget? This has been a recurring theme as reflected in the tentative rulings for 3/21/17, 4/4/17, and 5/9/17 (reproduced below).

The tentative ruling is to continue the hearing on the budget motion to the same time as the continued status conference (see below) subject to the following caveat. If the debtor has not satisfactorily addressed these issues by the time of the next status conference then the tentative ruling is that she will have shown a willful failure to appear in proper prosecution of this case and this case will be dismissed with a 180 day bar against being a debtor in bankruptcy under 11 U.S.C. 109(g)(1).

gross revenues, expenses, and net revenues from the non-debtor husband's business. This court has reviewed the debtor's case docket, and no amended schedules I and J have been filed. How can this court approve the debtor's budget motion based on her filed schedules I and J when those schedules are incomplete?

The tentative ruling is to continue the budget motion to the same date and time as the continued status conference, with a last-chance deadline of 5/16/17 to file fully compliant schedules I and J, failing which this court may dismiss this case, impose sanctions, or impose other remedies.

(b) Amended MOR/U.S. Trustee compliance. At the 3/21/17 case status conference, the debtor's counsel informed this court they the debtor would be filing an amended monthly operating report ("MOR") for February 2017. Additionally, the U.S. Trustee requested multiple documents and evidence from the debtor regarding various expenses and other aspects of the debtor's case. What is the status of the debtor's compliance with the U.S. Trustee's requests? Why has the debtor failed to file her amended February 2017 MOR?

case status report that her secured lenders do not assert any interest in the rents collected from her real property, and that no motion for use of cash collateral is required (dkt. 20). Do neither of the lenders' security instruments include an assignment of rent clause?

(b) Income/expenses and the debtor's budget motion (dkt. . In response to item 8.a. of the debtor's amended Schedule I (dkt. 17, p. 14), the debtor reports $2,750 in net income from rental property and from operating a business. In response to item 13, the debtor disclosed that she works part time as a social worker. The debtor did not, however, attach a detailed income and expense statement breaking down the $2,750/mo. she allegedly receives in rent and business income. Additionally, in response to item 19 of her amended Schedule A/B, the debtor lists a 100% community property interest in her husband's restaurant business (dkt. 17, PDF p. 6), of which her husband is allegedly the sole shareholder, but she has not disclosed any income from that business in her amended Schedule I (dkt. 17, PDF p. 14), and it is not clear whether she has reported any income from the business in her amended Statement of Financial Affairs (dkt. 17, PDF pp. 17-18).

The contribution income allegedly received from the debtor's spouse's uncle for automobile payments (see dkt. 17, PDF p. 3) is not disclosed in the debtor's amended Schedule I.

The debtor lists three vehicles financed by her husband in her amended Schedule A/B, but lists only one automobile payment in her amended Schedule J (dkt. 17, PDF p. 16, item 17.a.).

(c) Unexpired leases. In her amended Schedule G, the debtor lists a sublease of $150/month with landlord Maria Lopez (dkt. 17, PDF p. 12). What is this lease for? Does the debtor's husband's business lease space? If so, why is that lease not listed on amended Schedule G?

(d) Monthly Operating Report (dkt. 27, "MOR"). The MOR for February 2017 lists some cash transactions, but those do not appear to be consistent with the debtor's proposed budget, and it appears that the debtor is using cash rather than checks. Why?

Tentative Ruling for 2/27/18:

The tentative ruling is to continue this status conference to the date and time set forth below, in view of the Chapter 11 Trustee's status report (dkt. 229). Appearances are not required on 2/27/18.

chapter 7, and thereafter the debtor filed a motion (dkt. 19) to convert this case to chapter 11, which this court treated at a hearing on 8/8/17 as a consent to an order for relief conditioned on such conversion. This court orally ordered relief and granted the motion to convert to chapter 11, and although the latter order was reduced to writing (dkt. 25) the former was not. The tentative ruling is to direct the Chapter 11 Trustee to prepare and lodge a written order, memorializing that the oral order for relief was effective on 8/8/17. The parties should be prepared to address whether that written order should modify any deadlines that otherwise would apply (see next paragraph), notwithstanding that all parties in interest appear to have been present in person or on the telephone at that 8/8/17 hearing.

(b) Lack of information. The Chapter 11 Trustee's status report (dkt. 79) indicates that the debtor has yet to provide information on numerous issues, notwithstanding Rule 1007(a)(2), (b) and (c). The docket does not reflect that the debtor has filed bankruptcy schedules, a statement of financial affairs, or other information, or filed any motion for extension of time. What is the current status, and what additional action may be appropriate?

(c) Clients. This court has approved a client transfer protocol (dkt. 83). What is the status of those transfers?

(d) Reconversion? The debtor's status report (dkt. 80, at PDF p.3:4-21) suggests that, although the debtor and other parties in interest stipulated (dkt. 38) to the appointment of a chapter 11 trustee, and this court approved that stipulation (dkt. 42), nevertheless this case is essentially being operated as a chapter 7 liquidation and should be converted back to chapter 7. What are the positions of parties in interest on that issue?

(e) Joint administration? Should this case be jointly administered (not procedurally consolidated) with the case of Maximum Legal (California), LLP (Case No. 2:17-bk-18433-NB)?

Tentative Ruling for 5/9/17:

Continue to the date set forth below, at which time the debtor should be prepared to address why the debtor's March 2017 monthly operating report ("MOR") appears to reflect that the debtor incurred over $650 in bank fees on that account in March alone (dkt. 86, p. 11). This is the second month in a row in which the debtor has incurred significant bank fees on this account. What is the debtor's explanation for this? Is this case viable? Appearances are not required on 5/9/17.

What is the debtor's explanation for this? Is this case viable?

(b) Professional liability insurance. The February 2017 MOR also shows that the debtor's professional liability insurance expired on 3/27/17. Has that coverage been renewed?

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 1/1/17.

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor and by the debtor(s) themselves.

(1) Current issues. This latest bankruptcy case was filed on 1/1/17. Why did the debtor fail to file and serve "first day" motions immediately - cash collateral; payroll; etc.? This is all the more egregious because this is the debtor's third bankruptcy case known to this court.

In the belatedly filed cash collateral motion (dkt. 13, p. 2:8) the debtor states that payroll was due on 1/13/17, and the debtor appears to take the position that authorization to use cash collateral is equivalent to an order also authorizing the payment of prepetition debts to employees. That is incorrect. Those are two separate issues, requiring two separate motions.

In any event, did the debtor pay its 1/13/17 payroll, including prepetition claims of its employees? If the debtor did pay those prepetition claims, it acted without authorization, so how can it be trusted to abide by its duties as debtor-in-possession? Conversely if the debtor did not pay its employees, it has mismanaged this case and prejudiced employees and possibly creditors.

In addition, as set forth in the tentative ruling for the cash collateral motion (1/17/17 at 1:00 p.m., calendar no. 6) the prosecution of the cash collateral motion has been inadequate.

Why should this court not dismiss this case with a one year bar against being a debtor in bankruptcy, or impose sanctions, or other remedies?

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 1/1/17. If this case is not dismissed or converted then the tentative ruling is to hold a continued status conference on 1/31/17 at 1:00 p.m., status report due 1/17/17 (per court's order setting case status conference, dkt. 8).

US BANK TRUST, NA
vs
DEBTOR

Docket 42

Tentative Ruling:

Grant as provided below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

Termination. Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1).

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) is also terminated, because it has not been shown to have any basis to exist independent of the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a). To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Effective date of relief. Deny the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a)(3) for lack of sufficient cause shown.

2nd CHANCE MORTGAGES INC.
vs
DEBTOR

Docket 22

Tentative Ruling:

Appearances required. There is no tentative ruling but the parties must address the issues described below. In addition, the movant's counsel is directed to address why his reply (dkt. 26) has numerous typographical errors that make it difficult to read, and what steps he will take to fix that problem in future (in this case and other cases).

Analysis and tentative ruling: As stated in the debtor's response (dkt. 25) his proposed chapter 13 plan apparently contemplates full payment of the movant's claim during the term of the plan in Class 3A, and although the "boilerplate" language in that plan speaks of "bifurcation" it appears that the debtor intends to treat the entire claim as secured and pay it in full. But there are problems with treating the debtor's plan payments as the equivalent of adequate protection payments.

Specifically: (a) the principal dollar amount owed to the movant as listed in the plan is slightly less than what is listed in the motion papers, (b) the debtor does not provide any rate of interest of the movant's claim, and (c) the order of payment of claims under the plan (p.4 of the plan) provides that before the movant receives any distributions from the Chapter 13 Trustee the debtor's attorney and the Chapter 13 Trustee's fees will be paid, which means that the debtor will fall behind in payments to the movant before catching up, and that exposes the movant to the risk that the debtor will never catch up (if the case is converted or dismissed or if the debtor has a reduction in disposable income). Counsel for the debtor must address at the hearing how the debtor proposes to address the foregoing shortfalls.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances

Tentative Ruling:

Grant as provided below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this court's final ruling. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

Termination. Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (d)(2).

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) is also terminated, because it has not been shown to have any basis to exist independent of the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a). To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Retroactive relief. Grant the request for retroactive annulment of the stay. See In re Fjeldsted, 293 B.R. 12 (9th Cir. BAP 2003).

Effective date of relief. Grant the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a)(3).

Stay as the Court Deems Appropriate

Docket 6

Tentative Ruling:

Grant, subject to the following conditions. Appearances are not required.

After the hearing date this court will prepare an order and the tentative ruling is to include the following language in that order:

The stay of 11 U.S.C. 362(a) applies subject to the following modifications and conditions:

(1) Service and reconsideration. Any party in interest who was not timely served in accordance with FRBP 7004 (incorporated by FRBP 9014(b)) is hereby granted through 14 days after proper service to seek reconsideration, including retroactive relief (under FRBP 9023 and/or 9024). Any such person (a) may set a hearing on 14 days' notice, (b) may appear by telephone (if arrangements are made per Judge Bason's posted procedures), and (c) may present all arguments orally at the hearing (i.e., no written argument is required). If written arguments appear necessary then this court will set a briefing schedule at the hearing.

(2) Reasons. (a) It appears appropriate to impose the automatic stay, and to impose it as to all persons rather than just as to selected persons, because one purpose of the automatic stay is to preventing a "race to collect" that could unfairly advantage some creditors at the expense of others. (b) To prevent possible abuse, this court provides the foregoing simple process for reconsideration.

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

The parties requested a brief continuance of this status conference from 2/27/18 to today's date (see Joint Status Report, adv. dkt. 10). At the status conference on 1/23/18 there was no appearance for the plaintiff, and this Court was persuaded that it was premature to adopt the deadlines stated in the tentative ruling for that status conference (reproduced below). There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to discuss the status of this case.

below). The plaintiff and one defendant (the debtor) have now filed a joint status report (adv. dkt. 10) requesting a brief continuance.

Tentative Ruling for 1/23/18:

Appearances required. The court has reviewed the parties' filed documents and records in this adversary proceeding. The parties must address why they failed to file the required status report, and also the following issues. The following are Judge Bason's standard requirements for status conferences.

(1) Venue/jurisdiction/authority. The parties are directed to address any outstanding matters of (a) venue, (b) jurisdiction, (c) this court's authority to enter final orders or judgment(s) in this proceeding and, if consent is required, whether the parties do consent, or have already expressly or impliedly consented. See generally Stern v. Marshall, 131 S.Ct. 2594, 2608 (2011) (if litigant "believed that the Bankruptcy Court lacked the authority to decide his claim...then he should have said so – and said so promptly."); Wellness Int'l Network, Ltd. v. Sharif, 135 S.Ct. 1932 (2015) (consent must be knowing and voluntary but need not be express); In re Bellingham Ins. Agency, Inc., 702 F.3d 553 (9th Cir. 2012) (implied consent), aff'd on other grounds, 134 S. Ct. 2165 (2014); In re Pringle, 495 B.R. 447 (9th Cir. BAP 2013) (rebuttable presumption that failure to challenge authority to issue final order is intentional and indicates consent); In re Deitz, 760 F.3d 1028 (9th Cir. 2014) (authority to adjudicate nondischargeability encompasses authority to liquidate debt and enter final judgment). See generally In re AWTR Liquidation, Inc., 548 B.R. 300 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2016).

(2) Mediation. Is there is any reason why this court should not order the parties to mediation before one of the volunteer mediators (not a Bankruptcy Judge), and meanwhile set the deadlines set forth below? The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 2/6/18 for the parties to lodge a proposed mediation order (the parties are directed to use the time between now and that deadline to find a mutually agreeable mediator whose schedule can accommodate the needs of this matter; and if the parties cannot even agree on a mediator they may lodge separate orders and Judge Bason will chose among them, or issue his own order).

(3) Deadlines/dates: This adversary proceeding has been pending since 11/21/17. The tentative ruling is to set the following deadlines/dates. Pursuant to LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B), plaintiff is directed to serve and lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the status conference, attaching a copy of this tentative ruling or otherwise memorializing the following.

Discovery cutoff (for completion of discovery): 5/1/18

Expert(s) - deadline for reports: 5/8/18

Expert(s) - discovery cutoff (if different from above): 5/15/18

Dispositive motions to be heard no later than: 6/26/18

Joint Status Report: 2/6/18

Continued status conference: 2/27/18 at 11:00 a.m.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Amended Plan, Amended Disclosure Statement: Counsel for the debtors should be prepared to address the status of the debtors' efforts to reach agreements with their secured creditors.

(b) Monthly Operating Reports ("MORs"). Counsel for the debtor must explain at the hearing the entries reflecting transfers of $1,000 and $8,300 to "cash" "due to bk dismissal" listed in MOR#9 (dkt.76 at PDF pp.3&6, entries for 1/23/18 & 1/17/18). Has the debtor properly accounted for use of the cash while this case was dismissed?

(1) Current issues.

(a) Plan/Disclosure Statement: At the hearing on 12/5/17, this court cautioned debtors' counsel about the possibility of dismissing this case for failure to prosecute. Although the debtors have reached an agreement with Sheffield Financial (dkt. 51, 53), it does not appear that the debtors have reached agreements with any of their other secured creditors (see dkt. 45, Ex.H, at PDF p.14, Endnotes 2B-2D), despite this case having been pending for nearly eight months. As a result, counsel for the debtor should address

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues.

(a) Plan/Disclosure Statement (dkt. 44, 45). There is a blank page in the plan that should be deleted (dkt. 44 at PDF p.11).

Exhibit F (dkt. 45 at PDF p.12) appears to contain some errors: line "1" lists general unsecured claims of $64,716, the source for which is listed as dkt.10, plus another $7,970.39 in line "8" from a "Continuation Sheet"; but dkt.10 is not a listing of creditors (it is a notice of commencement of this case and the meeting of creditors), the only bankruptcy Schedule E/F that appears on the docket (dkt.1) lists general unsecured claims of $64,672.60, and there is no "Continuation Sheet" attached.

The debtor discloses (dkt. 45, Ex.H, at PDF p.14, Endnotes 2B-2E) that agreements have yet to be reached with various secured creditors; and therefore it appears appropriate to defer any solicitation of votes. The debtor's counsel should be prepared to address how long it is expected to take before agreements are reached or unresolved disputes are ready for presentation to this court for decision.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Orders. The debtors' counsel should be prepared to address why certain orders have not been lodged, namely, (i) the order on the debtors' motion to value their personal property (dkt. 27), which motion was granted on 7/11/17, and (ii) the order on the debtors' application to employ general bankruptcy counsel (dkt. 22).

If you do not appear, and the matter is not adequately resolved by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 6/20/17:

Grant the budget motion and continue the status conference as set forth below. Appearances are not required on 6/20/17.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Budget motion. This court mistakenly ruled at the status conference on 6/13/17 that the budget motion would be granted on a final basis, not realizing that the 6/13/17 hearing on that motion had been vacated because an amended motion had been filed and set for hearing on this 6/20/17 date. See dkt. 16, 20. Notwithstanding that error, no opposition has been filed to the budget motion, and the tentative ruling is to issue an order after this hearing granting the amended motion on a final basis (the debtor is directed to lodge a proposed order within seven days after this hearing date).

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 5/10/17.

(a) Bar date: 8/31/17 (dkt. 23) - to be served by 8/20/17

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: file by 9/15/17 using the forms required by Judge Bason (DO NOT SERVE yet, except on the U.S. Trustee - the court will set a deadline and procedures at a later time).

made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues.

(a) Budget motion. The debtors' amended budget motion filed on 6/1/17 (dkt. 20) appears to have only partially cured the defects pointed out by the U.S. Trustee in its opposition (dkt. 19) to the initial budget motion (dkt. 16). First, the debtor and/or spouse apparently has income from a property or business but has failed to provide a breakdown of gross receipts, ordinary and necessary business expenses, and calculation of the resulting monthly net income. See dkt. 20 at PDF p.7 (bankruptcy schedule "I" line 8a).

Second, the budget motion includes both (a) bankruptcy schedules "I" and "J" and (b) a spreadsheet showing what appears to be largely or entirely duplicative data. Which one controls (or are both the same)?

Third, the notice of the amended motion incorrectly provides that oppositions are due 14 days prior to the hearing on the motion, although the motion was set on shortened notice pursuant to this court's posted Procedures. For this reason, this court intends to hear oppositions to the amended budget motion at the hearing on 6/13/17.

The tentative ruling is to grant the budget motion on an interim basis, based on the proposed budget spreadsheet (not bankruptcy schedules "I" and "J"), with a deadline of 6/14/17 to file a supplemental declaration providing a thorough breakdown of gross revenues, expenses and calculation of net income for each property/business, and with a continued hearing on 6/20/17 at 1:00 p.m.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 5/10/17.

(a) Bar date: 8/31/17 (DO NOT SERVE notice yet - court will prepare an order after the status conference).

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: file by 9/15/17 using the forms required by Judge Bason (DO NOT SERVE yet, except on the U.S. Trustee - the court will set a deadline and procedures at a later time).

Tentative Ruling for 3/6/18:

Appearances required. This Court has reviewed the parties' status reports (adv. dkt. 28, 29) and the other filed documents and records in this adversary proceeding.

(1) Venue/jurisdiction/authority. The issues raised in paragraph "(1)" of this Court's tentative ruling for 12/19/17 (reproduced below) appear to have been addressed (see adv. dkt. 28, 29) or waived/forfeited by parties who have not expressly addressed them.

(2) Mediation. The parties are directed to report on the status of the 2/27/18 mediation. If the mediation was not successful, the parties should be prepared to argue the merits of the motion to dismiss filed by Advocate Capital, Inc. (adv. dkt. 24, the "MTD") and related papers (e.g., adv. dkt. 30, 34). To the extent that the foregoing does not resolve the parties' litigation, this Court anticipates setting deadlines for discovery and possibly other matters (see paragraph "(3)" of this Court's tentative ruling for 12/19/17, reproduced below).

(3) Continued status conference: 5/29/18 at 1:00 p.m. Brief status report due 5/15/18.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 12/19/17:

Appearances required. The court has reviewed the parties' joint status report (dkt. 9) and the other filed documents and records in this adversary proceeding. The tentative ruling is to excuse the parties from any Rule 26 compliance at this time (Fed. R. Civ. P. 26, incorporated by Fed. R. Bankr. P. 7026), as requested by certain of the parties. In addition, the tentative ruling is as follows (the parties need not repeat their responses in the status report unless there is some change to those responses).

(1) Venue/jurisdiction/authority.

The parties are directed to address any outstanding matters of (a) venue, (b) jurisdiction, (c) this court's authority to enter final orders or judgment(s) in this proceeding and, if consent is required, whether the parties do consent, or have already expressly or impliedly consented. See generally Stern v. Marshall, 131 S.Ct. 2594, 2608 (2011) (if litigant "believed that the Bankruptcy Court lacked the authority to decide his claim...then he should have said so – and said so promptly."); Wellness Int'l Network, Ltd. v. Sharif, 135 S.Ct. 1932 (2015) (consent must be knowing and voluntary but need not be express); In re Bellingham Ins. Agency, Inc., 702 F.3d 553 (9th Cir. 2012) (implied consent), aff'd on other grounds, 134 S. Ct. 2165 (2014); In re Pringle, 495 B.R. 447 (9th Cir. BAP 2013) (rebuttable presumption that failure to challenge authority to issue final order is intentional and indicates consent); In re Deitz, 760 F.3d 1028 (9th Cir. 2014) (authority to adjudicate nondischargeability encompasses authority to liquidate debt and enter final judgment). See generally In re AWTR Liquidation, Inc., 548 B.R. 300 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2016).

(2) Mediation. Is there is any reason why this court should not order the parties to mediation before one of the volunteer mediators (not a Bankruptcy Judge), and meanwhile set the deadlines set forth below?

The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 1/5/18 for the parties to agree on a mediator whose schedule is consistent with the needs of this matter and lodge mediation order(s) (if the parties are unable to agree on a single order they may lodge competing orders and Judge Bason will decide among them or issue his own, although it should be possible for the parties to agree on a mediator).

(3) Deadlines: This adversary proceeding has been pending since 10/17/17. Pursuant to LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B), plaintiff is directed to serve and lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the status conference, attaching a copy of this tentative ruling or otherwise memorializing the following.

Discovery cutoff (for completion of discovery): 5/14/18

Expert(s) - deadline for reports: 5/18/18

Expert(s) - discovery cutoff (if different from above): 5/25/18

Dispositive motions to be heard no later than: 7/10/18

Joint Status Report: 3/27/18

Continued status conference: 4/10/18 at 2:00 p.m.

Lodge Joint Proposed Pre-Trial Order: TBD

Pretrial conference: TBD

Deliver trial exhibits to other parties and chambers (2 copies to chambers), including direct testimony by declaration unless excused: TBD

Trial commencement: TBD

fr. 12/5/17, 02/13/18

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 3/6/18:

Appearances required.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Motion to Approve Compromise (dkt. 36). The parties should be prepared to address the status of any settlement negotiations with respect to the pending motion to approve compromise.

(b) Status Report. At the last status conference on 2/13/18, this court directed the debtor to file a brief status report by 2/27/18. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, the debtor has not complied. The debtor should be prepared to address why it failed to comply with this court's order.

(c) Employment application: Creditors' Committee Counsel (dkt. 47, 65). The objection by certain truck drivers (dkt. 63) has been withdrawn (dkt. 89). The debtor's limited objection (dkt. 55) and the reply papers (dkt. 85, 86) raise issues that are best addressed in connection with any application for compensation, at which time this Court can evaluate whether the hourly billing rates are commensurate with the nature of the work performed, the time spent on each task, and the other factors under 11 U.S.C. 330. Therefore the tentative ruling is to overrule the objection and authorize the employment.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 11/6/17.

(a) Bar date: 3/16/18 (order timely served, dkt. 43, 46).

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: TBD.

(c) Continued status conference: 5/1/18 at 1:00 p.m., brief status report due 4/17/18.

*Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

Tentative Ruling for 2/13/18:
Appearances required.

(1) Current issues.

The parties should be prepared to address (a) whether the Court should order mandatory mediation of the proposed settlement, proposed assignment of the lease, and related issues; (b) whether concurrently this Court should set deadlines such as a discovery cutoff or, conversely, whether this Court should temporarily issue a stay of some litigation; and (c) whether the parties would prefer that this Court provide some tentative rulings or preliminary thoughts on various issues, or if instead it would foster possible settlement or serve other beneficial goals for this Court not to do those things at this stage of the case.

Chapter 11

Please see the tentative ruling for the status conference in the main case (calendar no. 8, 1/23/18 at 2:00 p.m.).

Tentative Ruling for 11/14/17:

Appearances required. The tentative ruling is to deny the motions for default judgments, without prejudice, for the reasons set forth below, and to set a continued status conference for 1/30/18 at 2:00 p.m.

On the one hand, there appears to be successful prosecution of this adversary proceeding because, according to the plaintiff's status report (adv. dkt. 92), all of the defendants have either agreed to the requested declaratory relief or have defaulted. On the other hand, there are some fundamental issues that appear to prevent this court from granting default judgments at this time.

(1) Self-calendaring error. The motions for default judgments were only served on 10/27/17. See, e.g., Motion for Default Judgment Derek Wilshee (dkt. 83, 74) (collectively, the "Wilshee Default Motion"). That is insufficient time prior to the hearing, under the applicable rules, nor was there any cover notice of the hearing date and deadline for any opposition or response.

(2) Jurisdictional issues.

(a) Personal jurisdiction. Does the complaint adequately establish personal jurisdiction over each defendant? At least one defendant is alleged to be a resident of Australia (dkt. 1, para. 14), although the plaintiff has voluntarily dismissed claims against that defendant (dkt. 107). Are each of the defaulting defendants subject to personal jurisdiction?

(b) Subject matter jurisdiction, and abstention. The complaint and motions for default judgment make somewhat vague assertions of other action(s) that were or are pending in other courts apparently involving the same subject matter, and involving at least preliminary injunctive relief if not other relief. Can this Bankruptcy Court assume jurisdiction over matters that are pending in other courts? Must or should this Bankruptcy Court abstain?

(3) Allegations of wrongdoing. Where is the analysis tying each of the defaulting defendants to one or more of the specific acts of wrongdoing bringing them within the claims in the complaint? For example, the only allegation in the complaint regarding Mr. Wilshee (dkt. 1, para. 14) appears to be that he was at one time an officer of the debtor. How is that an act of wrongdoing?

The Wilshee Default Motion seeks a default judgment against Mr. Wilshee of $431,472,300.00 (dkt. 74, at PDF p.51 of 53). How is he responsible for such alleged damages? Does the complaint need to be amended to establish, as against one or more of the defaulting defendants, how they are alleged to be liable?

(4) Calculation of damages. An exhibit to the plaintiff's motions for default judgments asserts that "Based on Department of Conservation Records [available on a website and/or verified by whom?], these leases [which leases? the ones that allegedly were supposed to be assigned but were not?] were producing 1730 barrels of Oil a day [when?]" and "[w]ith today's technology [how is today's technology better?], a conservative figure would be 3500 barrels a day [based on whose expert opinion?] that will be used as a figure for all the losses caused by Western States International [how about other defendants?]." Dkt. 83, Ex.A, at PDF p.17 of 53. The same exhibit shows a calculation of alleged damages based on "Approx Production" of "105,000" which is far more than 3500 barrels (perhaps using a 30-day presumptive month multiplied by 3500 barrels a day?), an "Average Oil Price [from what source?]," and a "Cost [to extract, market, refine, deliver, and sell the oil - or some other or different set of things? based on what expert's opinion?]." Based on the foregoing questions, and applying Rule 55(b)(2) (Fed. R. Civ. P.) (incorporated by Rule 7055, Fed. R. Bankr. P.), it appears that additional evidence and a "prove up" hearing will be needed to determine the amount of damages, if not other issues.

(5) Alleged costs, attorney fees, and interest. The debtor/plaintiff asserts $1 million in costs (dkt. 74 at PDF p.51 of 53) - how is that possible? What are the components? Attorney fees are alleged to be $300,000 - this case has barely commenced, so how is that possible? Where are the daily time sheets and/or other support for this figure? Prejudgment interest is alleged to be at a 10% rate per year starting 1/1/11. What is the contractual or statutory basis for that interest rate and that commencement date? The purported damages were incurred month by month, so how can interest run from before those damages were incurred?

(6) Declaratory relief. The plaintiff makes broad allegations about the rights under various contracts, or arising from breaches of those contracts or by operation of law. Where is the support for these allegations? The plaintiff cannot place the burden on this court to sort through numerous provisions of various contracts to piece together the plaintiff's theory. The plaintiff must provide specific, easy-to-follow analysis and evidence.

(7) Conclusion. Because the motions for default judgments are both procedurally and substantively deficient in all of the ways set forth above, the tentative ruling is to deny them without prejudice.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 8/22/17:

Appearances required. This court notes that the parties were directed to file a joint status report two weeks in advance of this hearing (dkt. 2), but have not done so. In addition, this court notes that the tentative ruling in the main case status conference (calendar no. 3, 8/22/17 at 2:00 p.m.) is to dismiss the main case, which normally would terminate this adversary proceeding.

Nevertheless, to preserve all rights in the event that this court were to be persuaded not to dismiss the main case, this court has reviewed the other filed documents and records in this adversary proceeding and issues the following tentative ruling.

(1) Venue/jurisdiction/authority.

The parties are directed to address any outstanding matters of (a) venue, (b) jurisdiction, (c) this court's authority to enter final orders or judgment(s) in this proceeding and, if consent is required, whether the parties do consent, or have already expressly or impliedly consented. See generally Stern v. Marshall, 131 S.Ct. 2594, 2608 (2011) (if litigant "believed that the Agency, Inc.*, 702 F.3d 553 (9th Cir. 2012) (implied consent), aff'd on other grounds, 134 S. Ct. 2165 (2014); In re Pringle, 495 B.R. 447 (9th Cir. BAP 2013) (rebuttable presumption that failure to challenge authority to issue final order is intentional and indicates consent); In re Deitz, 760 F.3d 1028 (9th Cir. 2014) (authority to adjudicate nondischargeability encompasses authority to liquidate debt and enter final judgment). See generally In re AWTR Liquidation, Inc., 548 B.R. 300 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2016).

(2) Mediation. Is there is any reason why this court should not order the parties to mediation before one of the volunteer mediators (not a Bankruptcy Judge), and meanwhile set the deadlines set forth below?

(3) Deadlines: This adversary proceeding has been pending since 6/19/17. Pursuant to LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B), plaintiff is directed to serve and lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the status conference, attaching a copy of this tentative ruling or otherwise memorializing the following.

Discovery cutoff (for completion of discovery): 1/12/18

Expert(s) - deadline for reports: 1/26/18

Expert(s) - discovery cutoff (if different from above): 2/9/18

Dispositive motions to be heard no later than: 3/2/18

Joint Status Report: 11/28/17

Continued status conference: 12/12/17 at 11:00 a.m.

If you do not appear, and the matter is not adequately resolved by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 3/6/18:
Appearances required.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Default judgment motion - Wilshee (adv. dkt. 140). Deny for lack of service. See dkt. 140 at PDF p.4 (serving defendant at "ENTER ADDRESS HERE").

(b) Default judgment motion - JNDDC, LLC (adv. dkt. 135). Deny for lack of service. See dkt. 135, last two pages (defendant not listed in service list).

(c) Default judgment motion - Flavio Rodriguez (adv. dkt. 133). Deny for lack of service. See dkt. 133 at PDF p.8 (marked up by someone - movant? - to show deficiencies in completion of proof of service) and dkt. 133 last two pages (defendant not listed on service list).

(d) Default judgment motion - Jag Pathirana (adv. dkt. 134). Grant. It appears that plaintiff has abandoned claims against defendant Jag Pathirana other than "clearing title" to the plaintiff/debtor's alleged property interests at issue in the complaint. That appears to moot the relevant concerns previously raised by this court (see adv. dkt. 116, exhibit).

(e) Case status report (case dkt. 122) and adversary proceeding against Bureau of Land Management (Adv. No. 2:18-ap-01057-NB). The debtor should be prepared to provide an update as to the status of these matters.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 11/23/16.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Status Reports (main case dkt. 122; adv. no. 2:17-ap-01326-NB, dkt. 132). The debtor/plaintiff suggests that it will be filing a motion to approve a disclosure statement. Is that premature, given the following issues?

(b) Motion to amend complaint (adv. dkt. 125). The parties should be prepared to address the issues raised in the motion and in the oppositions filed by the California Department of Conservation, Division of Oil and Gas, and Geothermal Resources ("DOGGR") (adv. dkt. 125, 130, 131).

In addition, the debtor/plaintiff should be prepared to address whether the proposed amended complaint cures the deficiencies in the original complaint, and whether any ruling on the motion to amend the complaint should be deferred until after default judgments are (or are not) obtained on the existing (original) complaint, for the reasons set forth in this Court's Memorialization Of Reasons For Denying Motions For Default Judgments (captioned for the adversary proceeding but erroneously filed in the main case as dkt. 118). (b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: TBD.

(c) Continued status conference: 3/20/18 at 2:00 p.m., status report due 3/6/18.

If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 1/23/18:

Continue the status conferences in both the main case and the adversary proceeding (adv. no. 2:17-ap-01326-NB) to 2/13/18 at 2:00 p.m. with a status report due 2/6/18 (at which time other documents are also due as set forth below) for the reasons set forth below. Appearances are not required on 1/23/18.

(1) Current issues

(a) Reasons for continuance: (i) because of the problems noted below; (ii) because of the debtor's untimely last-minute filing of status reports (the debtor is cautioned that continued untimely filings may result in sanctions); (iii) because of the inability of the Office of the United States Trustee to appear due to the shutdown of much of the federal government, (iv) to be concurrent with the (improperly self-calendared) motion to amend the complaint, and (v) in view of the debtor's various status reports (main case dkt. 117, adv. dkt. 122, 127, 129).

(b) Bar date. The debtor's proofs of service of the bar date order are missing exhibits and incomprehensible (see dkt. 110, 111). The debtor is directed to file, no later than 2/6/18, either a corrected proof of service or an application (supported by a declaration) to set yet another supplemental bar date - whichever is appropriate.

(c) Status of existing complaint in adversary proceeding. On 11/20/17 this court issued an order (adv. dkt. 117) denying the plaintiff/debtor's motions for default judgments, without prejudice. The debtor now seeks to amend the complaint (adv. dkt. 125). All of these things moot the motions for default judgments so the hearings on those motions have been vacated.

In addition, the tentative ruling is to memorialize this court's reasons for denying the motions for default judgments by filing on the docket a copy of this court's adopted tentative ruling for the 11/14/17 hearings on those motions (reproduced within the tentative ruling for calendar no. 9. 1/23/18 at 2:00 p.m.).

(d) Motion to amend complaint (adv. dkt. 125). This motion was self-calendared for 2:00 p.m. (a time that cannot be used for self-calendaring) on 2/13/18. Nevertheless, the tentative ruling is to permit that motion to proceed at that time.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 11/23/16.

(a) Bar date: initial date of 7/10/17 (order timely served, dkt. 56, 60); supplemental date of 1/26/18, to be served no later than 11/15/17 (per Order, dkt. 107) but proofs of service are incomprehensible (dkt. 110, 111) - see above under "current issues".

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: TBD.

(c) Continued status conference: as set forth above.

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address the following issues.

(1) Current issues. The debtor has filed a second (very belated) proof of service (dkt. 103) of this court's order (dkt. 56) setting a bar date. Under that order the bar date was set as 7/10/17 and service was required no later than 5/8/17. What does the debtor's belated service do except cause confusion? Does the debtor require a new bar date for previously unknown creditors?

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 11/23/16. If this case is not converted or dismissed, the tentative ruling is to set the following:

(a) Bar date: 7/10/17 (order timely served, dkt. 56, 60; but see above under "current issues").

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: TBD.

(c) Continued status conference: 1/30/18 at 2:00 p.m., status report due 1/16/18.

*Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

Chapter 11

Appearances are not required.

Reasons: This case was filed on 11/23/16. The debtor's assets consist of disputed rights in hydrocarbon leases. See Status Report, dkt. 81. Realizing any value from those rights apparently depends on retaining special counsel who will diligently prosecute the debtor's claims. Despite numerous opportunities, the debtor has failed to satisfy the prerequisites for retention of special counsel.

(1) Inadequate declarations about "connections"

At the hearing on 7/11/17 this court extensively reviewed the evidence that would be required before this court could approve the application to employ the latest proposed special counsel, Mr. Montes. That included a requirement of detailed declarations from Mr. and Mrs. Hoats regarding any transfers of any property (including intangible property) involving the debtor and any of them, as well as any other "connections" (as that term is used in Rule 2014, Fed. R. Bankr. P.) to the debtor and any other party in interest.

This court recognizes that Mr. and Mrs. Hoats are not the professionals whose employment is being sought. Nevertheless, given their very close ties to the debtor, and their failure to disclose connections to the prior proposed special counsel that raised questions about conflicts of interest, this court orally ordered the debtor to provide their declarations at the hearing on 5/2/17. That order has been ignored.

(2) Knudsen factors

This court also directed Mr. Montes to file a declaration addressing the factors that this court must consider in assessing his request to be paid more frequently than once every 120 days. See In re Knudsen, 84 B.R. 668, 672-73 (9th Cir. BAP 1988). Mr. Montes has filed such a declaration (dkt. 82) and has adequately summarized the factors (id., p.3:15-23) but he has not adequately addressed the third factor, which he summarizes as: "any funds paid but later disapproved by the court can be recovered from the professional" in one or more of the ways listed in Knudsen. (Emphasis added.) Those ways are:

- [a. Holdback] retainer payments are for only a percentage of the amount billed so that the likelihood or necessity of repayment is minimal [Mr. Montes suggests a 10% holdback, which has not been shown to be adequate - the typical amount is 20%, and that typically applies only to well established firms whose ability to repay funds is reinforced by the firm's longevity and reputation or similar considerations];

[b. Bond] counsel can post a bond covering any possible reassessment [Mr. Montes has not addressed this factor];

[c. Financial ability to repay] counsel's financial position makes it certain that any reassessment can be repaid [Mr. Montes has not addressed this factor]; [and/or]

[d. Hold funds in trust account] funds paid prior to allowance are held in a trust account until a final or interim fee allowance is made [Mr. Montes has only offered to place the 10% proposed holdback in a trust account]. [Knudsen, 84 B.R. 668, at 672]

(3) The debtor appears to cite the wrong statutory authority

The debtor's application to employ Mr. Montes (dkt. 65) requests that his employment be approved under subsection "(e)" of 11 U.S.C. 327. But that subsection only applies by its terms to an attorney who "has represented the debtor" (i.e., prepetition counsel whose employment is to continue postpetition). Id. (emphasis added).

That is not the end of the analysis, because it has been held that special counsel can be employed even when such counsel has not represented the debtor prepetition. See In re Fondiller, 15 B.R. 890, 892 (9th Cir. BAP 1981) (emphasis added), appeal dismissed, 707 F.2d 441 (9th Cir. 1983). Although Fondiller has been interpreted as authorizing employment under subsection (e) (see, e.g., Covenant Fin. Group of Am., Inc., 243 B.R. 450, 455 & n. 8 (Bankr. N.D. Ala. 1999)), the precise holding of Fondiller appears to be that special counsel can be employed under subsection "(a)" of Section 327 because any "omission" in subsection "(e)" does not limit the general authority in subsection "(a)." See Fondiller, 15 B.R. at 891-92 (interpreting § 327(a) by comparison with §§ 327(c) and (e)).

True, the precise statutory authority appears to make little if any practical difference, because Fondiller held that when counsel is only employed to perform limited services, then an interest "adverse to the estate" means "an adverse interest relating to the services which are to be performed by that attorney," which appears to mean that the inquiry for proposed special counsel under subsection "(a)" is the same as under subsection "(e)." Fondiller, 15 B.R. at 892 (emphasis added). Mr. Montes' declaration (included in dkt. 65) appears to meet this test because he states that he has no adverse interest.

Nevertheless, as stated above this court has required additional evidence from Mr. and Mrs. Hoats and that evidence has not been provided. In addition, because the debtor has sought authority under subsection "(e)" instead of "(a)" it appears not have met the technical requirements for employment of Mr. Montes.

Tentative Ruling for 7/11/17:
Appearances required.

(1) Current issues

(a) Employment of special counsel. Deny the application to employ the Law Offices of M. Brian McMahon (dkt. 46) because he no longer intends to pursue employment. See dkt. 73, para. 3. Deny the application to employ the Law Offices of Mike Montes, Jr. (dkt. 65) due to the failure to address the issues raised by this court in the tentative ruling for 5/2/17 (reproduced below) (without reaching the issues raised by the U.S. Trustee's objection, dkt. 72, and the debtor's reply, dkt. 74). The U.S. Trustee is directed to lodge proposed orders denying each application within seven days after this hearing date.

(b) Lack of progress. Should this case be dismissed for lack of prosecution?

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 11/23/16. If this case is not converted or dismissed, the tentative ruling is to set the following:

(a) Bar date: 7/10/17 (order timely served, dkt. 56, 60).

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: TBD.

(c) Continued status conference: 8/22/17 at 2:00 p.m., status report due 8/15/17.

*Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

If you do not appear, and the matter is not adequately resolved by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 6/13/17:

Continue to 7/11/17 at 1:00 p.m. to allow the debtor time to prosecute an employment application regarding Mr. Motes (see debtor's case status report, dkt. 62). Appearances are not required on 6/13/17.

If you wish to dispute the above tentative ruling, please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings".

Tentative Ruling for 5/2/17:

Appearances required. There is no tentative ruling, but the debtor's proposed attorney, Brian McMahon Esq., should be prepared to address the concerns set forth in the U.S. Trustee's objection (dkt. 49) and the other issues set forth below.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Proposed special counsel.

(i) Background. On 4/5/17 the debtor filed an application for authority to employ the law offices of Mr. McMahon as special counsel under 11 U.S.C. 327(e) (dkt. 47). On 4/12/17 the United States Trustee ("UST") filed an objection to the employment application, which expressed concerns about the payment arrangement proposed in the application (dkt. 49).

The debtor filed a statement of disinterestedness for Mr. McMahon (dkt.53), and a reply (dkt.55), stating that a third party, Ms. Lilian Hoats, will be paying the attorney fees for Mr. McMahon's representation. Ms. Hoats is the CEO of Inviron Technologies, Inc. ("Managing Member"), which is the debtor's managing member (dkt. 55, Ex.1, p.1, recital "b"). Attached to the reply (dkt. 55, Ex.1) is a written document that purports to be a waiver of conflicts (if any exist) among the debtor, Ms. Hoats, and the Managing Member (the "Hoats/Managing Member Conflict Waiver").

The Attorney-Client Retainer Agreement attached to the employment application (dkt. 46, Ex.1) provides that Mr. McMahon is representing not only the debtor but also its affiliates Riverwood Energy, LLC ("Energy Affiliate") and Riverwood Resources Ltd. ("Resources Affiliate"). This court is not aware of the precise organizational and contractual relationships among the debtor, Energy Affiliate, and Resources Affiliate, nor of any written document purporting to be a waiver of conflicts (if any exist) among them.

(ii) Statutory provisions and rules

Although special counsel does not have to be "distinterested" (compare 11 U.S.C. 327(a)), special counsel still must not "represent or hold any interest adverse to the debtor or to the estate with respect to the matter on which such attorney is to be employed." 11 U.S.C. 327(e) (emphasis added). Under Rule 2014 (Fed. R. Bankr. P.) both Mr. McMahon and the debtor were supposed to disclose all connections between Mr. McMahon and "the debtor, creditors, any other party in interest, their respective attorneys and accountants, the United States trustee, or any person employed in the office of the United States trustee."

The disclosures have not been adequate. This court does not know enough about the underlying litigation and the organizational and contractual relationships among the various entities to assess whether there may be conflicts of interest between the debtor, on the one hand, and Ms. Hoats, Managing Member, Energy Affiliate, and/or Resource Affiliate.

(iii) A DIP's conflicts generally cannot be waived

Any purported conflict waiver probably cannot waive actual conflicts. See, e.g., In re Perry, 194 B.R. 875, 880 (E.D.Cal.1996) (waiver of conflict by non-debtor parties was insufficient and "[i]nformed consent could not be obtained" because "the real parties in interest in this case are the creditors, and that is not a waivable conflict"); In re B.E.S. Concrete Products, Inc., 93 B.R. 228, 235 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 1988).

But while actual conflicts of interest create a violation of 11 U.S.C. 327 which would require disqualification of the proposed professional, the mere existence of a potential conflict of interest does not require disqualification, and it is up to the court's discretion whether the purported conflict is sufficiently threatening to the estate to warrant disqualification. In re Wheatfield Business Park, LLC, 286 B.R. 412, 421 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2002).

Are proposed counsel and the debtor aware of any actual conflicts?
How about potential conflicts?

(iv) The purported conflict waiver is incomplete

The Hoats/Managing Member Conflict Waiver is not actually signed by Ms. Hoats in her individual capacity (she has only signed it on behalf of the debtor's Managing Member). In addition, as noted above, this court is not aware of any purported conflict waiver among the debtor and Operating Affiliate or Resources Affiliate.

(v) There might be conflicts among the debtor and Ms. Hoats

Chapter 11

A third party who funds a retainer for the debtor (the "Funder") generally has some pre-existing relationship with the debtor, and/or some motivation to providing the funding. Those things increase the likelihood that the Funder could be the recipient of an avoidable preference, or might have alter ego liability, or otherwise might have interests that are adverse to (or at least not fully aligned with) the bankruptcy estate or creditors. For these reasons, although payment of a retainer by a third party is not outright prohibited, it is fraught with ethical concerns. At the hearing, counsel for the debtor and proposed special counsel should be prepared to address the following.

(A) Terms. What are the precise agreements, understandings or expectations regarding the funds -- e.g., are the funds a loan, a gift, an investment, or something else?

(B) Informed consent of Funder. Has the Funder been advised regarding actual and potential conflicts of interest, and that the sole attorney-client relationship and duty of loyalty is with the debtor, not the Funder? Who provided such advice: independent counsel? counsel for the debtor? the debtor's proposed special counsel? Has the Funder given informed consent? Are those things in writing?

(C) Informed consent of debtor. Has the debtor likewise been fully advised and given informed consent? Who provided such advice? Are these things in writing? Ms. Hoats has signed the Hoats/Managing Member conflict waiver on behalf of the debtor: how can she, acting for the debtor, waive conflicts with herself?

(D) Other considerations. Has proposed special counsel demonstrated or represented to the Court the absence of an actual or potential conflict, a lack of disinterestedness, or any other basis for disqualification? See In re Kelton Motors, Inc., 109 B.R. 641 (Bankr. D. Vt. 1989); In re Lotus Prop's LP, 200 B.R. 388 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1996) (rejecting per se disqualification when fees are paid by third party); and compare In re Hathaway Ranch Partnership, 116 B.R. 208, 219 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1990) (per se rule). See generally In re Park-Helena Corp., 63 F.3d 877 (9th Cir. 1995).

(1) Current issues

This case was filed on 11/23/16. The debtor's status report (dkt. 34) states that the debtor intends to retain special counsel, and the monthly operating reports (dkt. 37, 38) appear to show no activity other than opening DIP bank accounts and paying associated fees. Although progress in this case has been slow, it does not appear efficient to hold a status conference at this time. If substantially more progress is not shown by the next status conference, this court may dismiss this case for failure to appear in proper prosecution. See 11 U.S.C. 109(g)(1), 349.

(a) Substitution of attorney. On 12/23/16, the debtor filed a substitution of attorney (dkt. 22) reflecting that current proposed counsel is Giovanni Orantes, Esq. Why has no employment application been filed?

Docket 32

Tentative Ruling:

Continue to 4/5/18 at 8:30 a.m. to address the following issues. Appearances are not required on 3/8/18.

Reasons:

(1) The claim objection fails to include a sufficient cost/benefit analysis. Judge Bason's posted Procedures (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) state:

When objecting to claims, be sure to consider whether the costs of preparing and litigating the claim objection (administrative expenses) do not exceed the anticipated benefits (reductions in claims). For example, if the anticipated dividend is small or 0%, your claim objection to any general unsecured claim should clearly explain how it is justified to incur the attorney fees for that objection.

In this instance, it appears that counsel for the debtor may be charging the bankruptcy estate (and the debtor) more than it would cost simply to pay the projected distribution to the claim. No later than 3/15/18, the movant must file either:

(a) a supplemental declaration explaining why the attorney fees for this objection are justified (including supporting evidence, such as a copy of the plan showing the projected dividend to the claimant, and a calculation comparing that projected dividend against the attorney fees related to this claim objection), or

(b) a withdrawal of the claim objection (so as not to further waste the time of this Bankruptcy Court, the claimant, and any other parties in interest in addressing this matter).

(2) Counsel is not expected to charge any fees on this matter. This Bankruptcy Court presumes that counsel will not charge any fees on this

Docket 23

Tentative Ruling:

Grant in part and continue in part to 4/5/18 at 8:30 a.m., with a deadline of 3/13/18 for a declaration of debtor's counsel authenticating timesheets, a deadline of 3/20/18 for any objection thereto, and a deadline of 3/27/18 for any reply, all as further set forth below. Appearances are not required on 3/8/18.

The tentative ruling is that recordation of the abstract of judgment - when the judgment was solely against the debtor - could not be anything but an "act to collect, assess, or recover a [prepetition] claim against the debtor" within the meaning of 11 U.S.C. 362(a)(6). It does not matter that the debtor had already conveyed away any real property because there would be no point in recording an abstract except either (a) the mistaken belief that the debtor did have real property in the county and/or (b) the expectation that the debtor might obtain real property in the county in future, and either one of those things is an attempt to "collect, assess, or recover" the prepetition claim. Moreover, there is no dispute that the creditor knew of the bankruptcy case and that its agent's recordation of the abstract was pursuant to instructions (not some sort of mix up amounting to an unintentional act), so the violation of the automatic stay was "willful" within the meaning of 11 U.S.C. 362(k). See In re Breul, 533 B.R. 782 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2015).

That said, section 362(k) applies to an individual "injured" by willful violation of the automatic stay, and there is no evidence of any injury except that the reply asserts (without evidence) that to date the debtor's attorney fees related to this matter amount to $2,910 (dkt. 20, p.2:8) and that if an evidentiary hearing is required then there will be additional injuries in the form of the debtor having to take time off of work to testify, as well as additional attorney fees. Accordingly, it appears appropriate to continue this matter with the dates set forth at the start of this tentative ruling for evidence of attorney fees and expenses. If the creditor does not dispute that evidence, or if this matter is otherwise capable of resolution without further hearing, then this Court will issue a tentative ruling awarding damages prior to the continued hearing; and otherwise this Court anticipates that such tentative ruling will set an evidentiary hearing or establish other appropriate procedures to resolve this matter.

Finally, the tentative ruling is that the record does not support the imposition of punitive sanctions. Although the creditor could have acted more promptly and transparently, and could have acknowledged its violation and assured the debtor's counsel that it would take corrective action immediately, nevertheless the creditor's delay was relatively minor, and apart from causing the debtor to incur more attorney fees that delay does not appear to have caused any substantial harm.

Deny. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Nationstar is directed to serve and lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this court's final ruling.

(1) Background

As this court understands the debtor's assertions, his motion involves the senior lien (Claim No. 8) on his principal residence at 28832 Benjie Way, Lancaster, CA (the "Property"). Originally the holder of that lien was BAC Home Loans ("BAC"), but subsequently the claim was transferred to Nationstar Mortgage, LLC (dkt. 89) ("Nationstar").

The debtor asserts that Nationstar violated the discharge injunction by initiating foreclosure proceedings and refusing (for a number of months) to release its lien. The debtor admits that he must show a "willful" violation of the discharge injunction. The debtor's assertions are puzzling for several reasons.

Normally, the rights of a senior lienholder on a debtor's principal residence cannot be modified. See 11 U.S.C. 1322(b)(2). The only statutory exception is that arrears can be cured during the term of the plan; but the long term debt and lien survive. See 11 U.S.C. 1322(b)(5). Therefore, if the debtor fails to pay the full, unaltered amount of the debt, the senior lienholder can foreclose without violating the discharge injunction.

Of course, junior liens on principal residences can be avoided if they are entirely underwater (because then they are not "allowed secured claims," so they are not entitled to the protection of the above-cited statutes). See In re Zimmer, 313 F.3d 1220 (9th Cir. 2002) and In re Lam, 211 B.R. 36 (9th Cir. BAP 1997). But even then, the junior lienholder receives a lot of very clear notice, which means that the debtor has a good record to establish a "willful" violation of the discharge injunction if the junior lienholder attempts to foreclose after its lien has been avoided.

Specifically, the junior lienholder must be served with a required form of motion to determine that the lien is entirely underwater (Local Form F 4003-2.4, at dkt.14 in this case), that motion expressly states when the lien is to be avoided (see id.) (normally either upon completion of the plan, or receipt of a chapter 13 discharge), and if the lien actually is to be avoided then the court issues an initial order granting the motion (Local Form F 4003-2.4.ORDER, at dkt. 32 in this case) and a second order, after the preconditions for avoiding the lien have been satisfied, avoiding the lien (Local Form F 4003-2.4.ORDER.AFTERDISCH).

Again, however, this matter involves a senior lien. In this case it appears that the debtor is relying on a very unusual provision regarding that lien which was added to the confirmation order. But, as discussed below, there is no showing that Nationstar was made aware of that provision at any time before it released its lien; and that provision is ambiguous on its face, so by itself it does not appear to establish any "willful" violation of the discharge injunction.

(2) Highly unusual modification of the senior lien at the confirmation hearing

On 6/14/12 this court held a hearing on whether to confirm the debtor's chapter 13 plan or dismiss the case. After several breaks in the hearing for the parties' negotiations, an agreement was reached and subsequently included in a special provision of the confirmation order. That order provides:

For purpose of plan confirmation, the value of the real property commonly known as 28832 Benjie Way, Lancaster, CA 93536 is determined to be $194,000. The amount of the secured claim which shall be paid, in full, during the life of the chapter 13 plan is $169,340, with interest at the rate of 6.75% for the remaining 48 months of the Chapter 13 Plan. [Dkt. 73, p.3, para. 1.b.]

This court is not aware of any evidence in the record that the debtor ever pointed out this language to Nationstar. As noted above, normally senior liens pass through bankruptcy unaffected, so the burden is on the debtor to show that Nationstar was even aware of this special provision in the confirmation order.

Moreover, even if Nationstar knew of this special provision, the language on its face is somewhat ambiguous about whether the in personam and in rem liability are actually reduced to $169,340, or if that is just what must be fully paid during the remaining 48 months of the plan without reducing the long-term obligation to pay any remaining balance. Although the former interpretation seems more likely (based solely on the above quote), the typical treatment of senior liens is to provide for some payments (arrears) during the plan without reducing the long term obligation, so, again, the language is somewhat ambiguous. Moreover, the ultimate question is whether this provision is clear enough that (if Nationstar was even aware of this language) Nationstar "willfully" violated this provision and thereby willfully violated the discharge injunction.

On 11/20/12 Claim No. 8 was transferred from BAC to Nationstar (dkt. 89). The transfer document lists the claim in the full amount of $379,125.14.

Moreover, the order says nothing about when the lien will be avoided. The debtor seems to think it is when he receives his discharge, which is one of the typical choices (the other being upon completion of the plan), but again, the order itself is silent, so the question is whether Nationstar's failure to recognize when its lien was avoided amounts to a willful violation of the discharge injunction.

From the foregoing it appears that nothing in the record provided clear notice to Nationstar that (a) whatever unpaid balance remained (out of the full $379,125.14 debt) would be forgiven at the end of the plan, or (b) whether and when its lien would be avoided. Normally none of those things would happen to a senior lienholder, and if they did they would be the subject of a motion and two orders, rather than a special, somewhat ambiguous provision inserted into a confirmation order.

(3) Apparent lack of other clear notice to Nationstar

The debtor points to the reports provided by the Chapter 13 Trustee. It is true that the trustee's notice of intent to file final report (dkt. 172) was served on Nationstar on 5/12/15, and the final report (dkt. 176) was filed on 6/17/15 and approved on 6/18/15 (dkt. 179), but nothing in those documents states whether the $169,340 was in full payment of the claim or if the balance remained due, as would be typical for a senior lien on a principal residence.

The debtor received a discharge on 6/22/15 (dkt. 181). But the debtor has not shown how Nationstar had any clear notice that this meant its lien was avoided (again, typically the senior lien on a principal residence would be unaffected by the discharge).

On 7/27/15 the debtor (acting without an attorney) apparently sent a letter to Nationstar (dkt. 207, Ex.C). But that letter is somewhat difficult to follow (unsurprisingly for a non-lawyer's letter) and it does not explain any of the above. In addition, Nationstar asserts that the letter was incorrectly addressed (dkt. 208, p.8:11-23) and the debtor's (belated) reply (dkt. 237) does not dispute that issue.

The debtor points to a letter from Nationstar's attorneys on 12/15/15 stating that the loan has been referred to them for foreclosure. Dkt. 184, Ex.A (last page). Former counsel for the debtor attests that he called that firm on 3/31/16 (dkt. 184, p.5, para.4), but he does not say that he explained any of the above (nor does it seem likely that he did, at least in any way that Nationstar clearly understood, because the subsequent motion papers do not clearly explain the special provision to this court).

On 12/8/16 the debtor filed the present motion (dkt. 195) seeking sanctions for violation of the discharge injunction. That motion refers to the motion to avoid the junior lien, but does not explain how the senior lien was (purportedly) altered: there is no citation to, let alone quotation of, the (somewhat ambiguous) special provision the confirmation order.

On 3/16/17 Nationstar, having apparently figured out the facts, send a release of its lien to the county recorder. Dkt. 208, Ex.A. On 3/23/17 Nationstar filed its opposition (dkt. 208) which cites to and quotes the special provision in the confirmation order (id., p.2, para.8) - the first time this court was apprised of the precise basis for the debtor's arguments. The opposition point out the lack of evidence that Nationstar had actual notice of the special provision in the confirmation order, or any other facts that would have made its alleged acts "willful":

Debtor's claim that Nationstar is in contempt and violated the discharge injunction is premised on numerous unsubstantiated allegations that Debtor reached out to Nationstar and advised it that the lien was to be released due to the cramdown [i.e., the special provision in the confirmation order], despite having never filed a Motion to Value Collateral. Debtor has also failed to meet his burden in showing that Nationstar knew of the discharge injunction was applicable and acted with intent to violate the injunction. [Dkt. 208, p.4:6-10, emphasis added.]

The opposition also cites authority expanding upon the willfulness requirement, and holding that a willful violation of the discharge injunction must be shown by "clear and convincing" evidence.

On 9/28/17 the debtor (now represented by different counsel) filed a belated reply (dkt. 237). That reply does not address any of the foregoing issues.

The reply does explain many ways in which the debtor allegedly suffered emotional and financial damages. It specifies that the debtor seeks an award of $893,964.85 in alleged actual damages plus $15 million in punitive damages.

(4) Conclusion

Whatever harm the debtor suffered from Nationstar not releasing its lien sooner is tragic. But the debtor has the burden to show, by clear and convincing evidence, that Nationstar knew the discharge injunction applied to its acts, and that it nevertheless proceeded in willful violation of the discharge injunction. Based on the evidence summarized above, this court does not understand the debtor's factual or legal theory to be able to meet that burden. Therefore, it does not appear appropriate to issue an order directing Nationstar to show cause why it should not be sanctioned.

Appearances required. On 6/19/17, this court entered its order assigning this dispute to mediation (dkt. 215). There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address the status of their negotiations.

If you do not appear, and the matter is not adequately resolved by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 3/30/17:
Appearances required.

On 4/27/16, nearly one year ago, this court entered its order granting the debtor's motion to reopen his case to file the subject motion (dkt.186). The debtor filed the motion on 12/8/16 (dkt. 195), and due to the debtor's failure to correct multiple defects therewith (see this court's adopted 2/2/17 tentative ruling on the motion, reproduced below), this court's tentative ruling for the 3/2/17 hearing on this motion was to deny it.

At the 3/2/17 hearing on the motion, however, this court was persuaded to grant the debtor's request for another continuance to cure the deficiencies in the motion, which it appears the debtor has now done (see dkt. 204, 207). This court has also reviewed the opposition to the motion filed by Nationstar Mortgage LLC (dkt. 208).

There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address the status of their disputes, and why this court should not order the parties to participate in mandatory mediation.

If you do not appear, and the matter is not adequately resolved by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 3/2/17:
Deny. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: This court will prepare the order.

Reasons for denial: At the 2/2/17 hearing on the motion, this court adopted its tentative ruling and continued the hearing to allow the movant to correct certain deficiencies in service and a lack of evidence in support (2/2/17 tentative ruling reproduced below). This court has reviewed the case docket, and no supplemental proof of service or evidence in support of the motion has been filed.

Tentative Ruling for 2/2/17:

Continue to 3/2/17 at 8:30 a.m. to address the following issues. Appearances are not required on 2/2/17.

Reasons:

(1) Service. There has not been any response to the motion, but that may be due to apparent deficiencies in service. Specifically, the motion papers were not served:

(a) to the address for notices in the creditor's transfer of claim (dkt. 89) which was filed prior to the time that the motion papers were served (and which appears to be the most recent designated address) (FRBP 2002(g));

(b) to the attention of an officer, a managing or general agent, or to any other agent authorized by appointment of law (FRBP 7004(b)(3)), at an address that appears to be reasonably calculated to reach the officer (e.g., corporate headquarters) (note: Judge Bason does not require that a specific individual be named -- "Attn: Officer or Managing/General Agent" is sufficient) (further note: arguably the address designated on the proof of claim supersedes any requirement to address an officer or managing/general agent; but the issue is not free from doubt so the debtor is directed to serve the creditor using both forms of address: with and without the quoted phrase above); and

(c) to Buckley Madole, purported counsel for Nationstar Mortgage LLC ("Nationstar") from whom the debtor has allegedly received multiple communications regarding Nationstar's alleged foreclosure efforts (note: again, arguably this additional notice is not required, but in the circumstances the tentative ruling is to require that the debtor use all three separate forms of notice).

(2) Evidence. The debtor's motion is unsupported by any evidence, despite the reference in the motion to an accompanying declaration of the debtor (dkt. 195, p.4:7). This court is not inclined to grant the motion absent some supporting evidence of the purported actions of Nationstar and the damages allegedly suffered by the debtor. In addition, the motion does not specify the actual dollar amounts of various types of damages that the debtor requests, and to provide proper notice the motion should specify such damages.

(3) Caveat. If the foregoing deficiencies are cured, the motion appears to provide appropriate legal authority for damages of various types, and Nationstar is cautioned that disregarding the motion may result in an award of damages.

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

This Court is inclined to grant the debtor's request for a continuance on shortened notice (dkt. 110, p.2:17-19) for service of an amended motion substituting a new purchaser for the one who has withdrawn, but believes that it is appropriate first to address the following issues with the parties. The tentative ruling is to set a continued hearing for 3/20/18 at 8:30 a.m., with a deadline of 3/9/18 to file and serve an amended motion via U.S. mail, which must include a notice that opposition papers are due by 3/19/18 at noon, and any reply may be presented orally at the hearing. Meanwhile the parties should be prepared to address the following issues.

(1) IRS. The IRS has objected (dkt. 103) to one of the prior versions of the debtor's motion (dkt. 102). That objection appears to be largely still relevant to the more recent versions of the debtor's motion (dkt. 105, 108) as well as the anticipated amended motion with a new buyer. Accordingly, it seems appropriate to address some of the issues raised by the IRS, at least on a preliminary basis.

The IRS objects (dkt. 103, pp.1:26-3:27) to the debtor's method of service (see also tentative ruling for 2/8/18, item "(2)"). Rather than deciding whether the address listed on the proof of service does or does not supersede the addresses that would otherwise be required, this Court anticipates that counsel for the debtor will serve the IRS with the amended motion at all addresses listed in the IRS' objection (including the address of its attorneys listed at the top of that objection), thereby mooting the issue.

The IRS also objects (dkt. 103, p.4:1-17) that there is insufficient evidence that the proposed sale is for the highest and best price. This Court notes that the more recent versions of the motion appear to include evidence of marketing by a licensed real estate broker and appear to contemplate overbidding at the hearing, which may resolve the IRS' objection. If this issue is still relevant under the amended motion, the IRS can renew its objection.

The IRS also objects (dkt. 103, pp.4:18-6:3) that its liens must be paid in full. The IRS distinguishes In re Jolan, 403 B.R. 866 (Bankr. W.D. Wash. 2009), relying on In re Hassen Imports P'ship, 502 B.R. 851 (C.D. Cal. 2013). Again, if the IRS wishes, it can renew this objection.

(2) Wells Fargo. This Court presumes that the debtor has no objection to including the language requested by Wells Fargo (dkt. 96, p.2, para.3) in any order granting the motion. If the debtor does object, that must be raised at this hearing.

(3) Service on Los Angeles Federal Credit Union ("LA FCU") and Bureaus Investment Group Portfolio No. 15, LLC ("Bureaus"). The address listed on the proof of service (dkt. 108) for LA FCU does not match the most recent address designated by LA FCU on its proof of claim (see claim no. 9). The address listed on the proof of service for Bureaus does not identify Steven Pickett, the individual identified as the agent for service of process on the California Secretary of State's website.

Chapter 13

and clarification of certain ambiguities, all as set forth below. Appearances are required by debtor's counsel on 2/8/18.

Key documents reviewed (in addition to motion papers): IRS's Opposition (dkt. 103).

(1) Background

The debtor's original motion (dkt. 85) did not ask for authority to sell free and clear of liens under 11 U.S.C. 363(f), although it appeared to seek such relief. The Chapter 13 Trustee responded, among other things, "it is not clear if all lienholders have agreed to such a sale." Dkt. 89. (The senior lienholder, Wells Fargo, also filed a conditional non-opposition, dkt. 96.)

The debtor has now filed an amended motion (dkt. 102) which seeks authority to sell free and clear of liens under 11 U.S.C. 363(f). The debtor does not have any specific sale arranged, although the debtor hopes to sell the property for something in the range of $1 million, which apparently is above the dollar amount owed to senior lienholder Wells Fargo but well below the dollar amount sufficient to pay the junior liens on the property.

The motion appears to be seeking authorization for sale procedures. In addition, the motion appears to be seeking either (a) pre-authorization to sell for whatever price the debtor might obtain (which this court tentatively is not prepared to grant) or, alternatively, (b) a subsequent motion and/or hearing to approve whatever proposed sale the debtor actually negotiates (which is a procedure that this court is inclined to approve, subject to the issues noted below).

(2) Service

Service on the junior lienholders does not appear to comply with the applicable rules. For example, Rules 2002(g) and 7004(b)(3) (Fed. R. Bankr. P.) generally require service at the most recent address designated by the creditor (typically in a proof of claim) or, if no such address has been designated, then organizations typically must be served "Attn: Officer or Managing/General Agent" or the like, at an address reasonably calculated to reach that person (e.g., corporate headquarters, rather than a P.O. Box used for payments). Service on attorneys who have represented a creditor outside of the bankruptcy case is inadequate. See In re Villar, 317 B.R. 88 (9th Cir. BAP 2004). FDIC-insured institutions must be served via certified mail, per

Chapter 13

Rule 7004(h).

Similarly, service on the Internal Revenue Service ("IRS") usually must comply with Rule 7004(b)(5) (the Court Manual includes instructions and addresses for such service). The rules are not entirely clear, but that may be superseded by the address designated by the IRS in its proof of claim, although that does not help because the debtor has not used that address. See Claim 2-1, p.1, under "Where should notices to the creditor be sent?"

The debtor must re-serve the motion in compliance with the applicable rules for service. That motion must be accompanied by a notice of the continued hearing date (with the standard deadline for any opposition) and a notice clarifying the ambiguities noted below.

(3) Ambiguities

(a) Proposed use of proceeds

The debtor calculates, based on a hypothetical sale price of $1 million, that after paying Wells Fargo's senior debt, real estate taxes, and costs of sale, there will be a remaining balance of roughly $135,000 "for the benefit of creditors." Dkt. 102, p.6:27-28. It is not clear what the debtor means by this.

Typically a sale "free and clear" of liens and other interests under section 363(f) provides for net proceeds to be held in a segregated account and with all remaining liens to attach to those proceeds pending further order of the court, with the same priority, validity, and dollar amounts as those liens had attached to the original collateral. The typical benefit to the debtor and the bankruptcy estate of using this procedure, instead of simply paying the liens out of escrow, is that (i) the sale will not be delayed by any dispute as to the priority, validity, or dollar amount of any lien, or by litigation to avoid one or more liens under 11 U.S.C. 522(f), 547, or on other grounds, and (ii) if the debtor can provide adequate protection of the junior liens then the debtor might be able to use the funds in a way that ultimately will result in a net benefit to all parties - such as repairing a roof on rental property that will assure more rental income, or investing in a business that will generate more revenues.

It appears that the debtor might intend to pay liens, in their order of priority, "directly from escrow" (dkt. 102, p.9:17), or at least provide the Chapter 13 Trustee with discretion to do so (id., p.9:1-6), so perhaps there will be no need to hold net proceeds in a segregated account. In any event, the debtor should clarify what is intended by proposing to use the projected $135,000 "for the benefit of creditors." (If the debtor intends something different from the options outlined above then the debtor must say so; but what the debtor cannot do is to simply use the $135,000 for personal reasons, or distribute it to unsecured creditors, because then the debtor would be ignoring the secured claim(s) held by junior lienholder(s).)

(b) Approval of actual sale

As noted in the "Background" section of this tentative ruling, it is not clear if the debtor intends for this court to pre-authorize whatever sale the debtor might negotiate, but this court is not inclined to grant such a pre-authorization. On the other hand, this court is inclined to approve a two step process: first authorizing the sale procedures set forth in the motion (dkt. 102), as clarified above, and second authorizing the debtor to provide notice to creditors of the actual sale price and other terms (once a sale is negotiated) pursuant to the usual procedures for sales of property in chapter 13 cases in this district. If the debtor seeks any special procedures, such as shortened time, then the debtor should make that clear in the motion papers.

Tentative Ruling for 1/11/18:

Appearances required. This matter was set for hearing based on the Chapter 13 Trustee's objection (dkt. 89) that, among other things, "it is not clear if all lienholders have agreed to such a sale." One lienholder (apparently the senior lienholder who will be paid in full) has filed a conditional non-opposition (dkt. 96), but what about the other lienholders? The motion does not request any sale free and clear of liens under 11 U.S.C. 363(f), nor does the motion address the elements of that statute. Does the debtor intend to amend the motion to seek such relief?

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 2/13/18 (same as for 12/5/17):

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address (a) the status of their negotiations, (b) whether the alleged arrears have been brought current, and/or (c) whether they will agree to the terms of an adequate protection order (see the debtor's response, the parties' prior stipulation to a continuance, and the order thereon, dkt. 30-33).

U.S. BANK NATIONAL ASSOCIATION
vs
DEBTOR

Docket 58

Tentative Ruling:

Grant in part, deny in part, and continue to 4/10/17 at 10:00 a.m., all as set forth below. Appearances required.

(1) Background

The parties appear to agree that the debtor has made monthly payments of $3,698.51 (the normal amortizing principal and interest payments). Those payments were due on the first day of each month, and generally were paid a few days later. See dkt. 8, Ex.5 (movant's spreadsheet) and dkt. 61, Ex.A, & dkt. 62) (debtor's copies of cashier checks). The motion lists some late charges, attorney fees, and other items (dkt. 58, p.7, para.8), but those do not appear to have been included in the movant's spreadsheet (dkt. 58, Ex.5, at PDF pp.30-33), perhaps because the listed amounts are for prepetition periods. In any event, the core of the parties' disagreement appears to involve an escrow impound account to pay real estate taxes and property insurance premiums.

(2) The debtor's assertions of "improper" escrow impounds are unpersuasive

The debtor's declaration (dkt. 61, Tribelsky Decl., para.9, at PDF p.7:24-28) asserts that the impound is "improper" and that the debtor has "struggled with [movant] Wells Fargo to have them end these impounds." The debtor also declares (dkt. 61, at PDF p.7:16-22) that there was an "improper increase" in monthly payments starting on March 1, 2016, which he believes was due to an escrow impound for taxes and insurance.

The debtor fails to explain why there is anything "improper" about requiring him to pay into an escrow for real estate taxes and insurance. The loan documents (dkt. 8, Ex.1, para.3, pp.4-5) require the debtor to make escrow payments for taxes and insurance premiums on the same date at the payments of principal and interest.

It is true that the movant apparently had not required escrow payments for some unspecified period prior to March 1, 2016. See Notice of Mortgage Payment Change (Official Form 410S1) (the "Change Notice"), filed 1/19/16 on the Claims Register, at PDF pp.5-6 (requiring monthly payments of $351.96 commencing March 1, 2016). But if the debtor is asserting some sort of waiver that argument is unpersuasive. The Deed of Trust provides (dkt. 58, Ex.1, para.3, pp.4-5) that although the movant may waive the escrow requirement, the movant "may revoke the waiver as to any or all Escrow Items at any time" and then the debtor "shall pay" all escrow amounts.

The debtor apparently just ignored his obligation to pay escrow impound amounts. Instead he has presented evidence (dkt. 61, Ex.B, at PDF pp.38 et seq.) that he paid taxes directly to the tax authorities and insurance premiums directly to the insurers.

It appears that the movant must have credited the debtor's direct payments of taxes and insurance, because its Change Notice filed on 10/18/16 lists a low estimated "Starting balance" of $861.27 as of December 2016 (although that apparently assumes that the debtor would start making his required escrow payments). In any event, the movant's Change Notice is prima facie evidence of the validity of this underlying calculation in support of its claim, and the debtor has not established that there is anything wrong with the movant's accounting included in its Change Notice filed on 10/18/16.

Similarly, by the time of the next Change Notice it appears that the movant must have once again credited the debtor's direct payments of taxes and insurance because, the escrow account projections ("Part 3") project a required "Starting balance" for March 2018 of only $762.96 (although, again, this appears to assume that the debtor will have made certain payments into the escrow account by the start of March 2018). In any event, the debtor has not shown that there is anything wrong with this supporting underlying documentation of the movant's claim.

(3) Despite the deficiencies in the debtor's arguments and evidence, it appears that the motion itself fails to account for the debtor's direct payments of real estate taxes and insurance suspense account balance of $1,166.12, for a total of $10,994.23 as of approximately 12/12/18 (when the declaration in support of the motion was signed). But unlike the Change Notices the motion does not appear to give the debtor credit for direct payments of real estate taxes and insurance.

The motion asserts (dkt. 58, p.9, para.12.c.) that the debtor was behind three payments of $4,053.45, for a total of $12,160.35, less a

Based on the spreadsheet attached to the motion as Exhibit 5 (dkt. 58, at PDF pp.30-33), the alleged shortfall of $10,994.23 appears to be the cumulative sum of all the shortfalls between the $3,698.51 that the debtor was paying each month (the normal amortizing principal and interest payments) and the higher monthly amounts that he should have been paying in order to fund the escrow account. There are no entries in the spreadsheet that appear to reflect the debtor's direct payments of taxes and insurance.

Nor is it possible to rely on the latest Change Notice to determine precisely what the debtor owes. At first glance that Change Notice would appear to have current information because it was filed on 3/5/18, but it provides only a projected shortfall of $762.96 in the escrow account as of March 2018 (3/5/18 Charge Notice at PDF p.6, Part 3, end of first line). That projection probably is too low, because it appears to assume that part of the debtor's monthly payment is credited to the escrow account in January of 2018, and that the debtor will make some very substantial payments in February and March of 2018, and that the real estate taxes that are due in March of 2018 will be paid out of those escrow payments (see id., Part 4, 2d and 5th columns, rows for January, February, and March, including credits of $1,281.90, $9,810.75, and $354.94, and debit of $1,612.38).

The bottom line is that although the movant has not established precisely what the debtor owes, it has established cause for some sort of relief from the automatic stay - namely, there is "cause" within the meaning of 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) in that the debtor has failed for many months to comply with his obligations to fund the escrow account, which exposes the movant to the risk that it will have to bear the cost if the debtor fails to pay real estate taxes or insurance (especially if the property were to be damaged or completely burn down). The required adequate protection is for the debtor to cure the deficiency in the escrow account over a reasonable period of time.

The latest Change Notice (filed 3/5/18) can be used as a starting point. It requires that the debtor pay $381.48 per month into the escrow account, in addition to his regular monthly payments of $3,698.51 on account of principal and interest, for total monthly payments of $4,079.99. The escrow payments may have to be adjusted (as noted above, the Change Notice appears to assume that the debtor will have made some very substantial payments by the start of March 2018), but this Court can set a schedule for such adjustment (see below).

(4) Conclusion

The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 4/1/18 for the debtor (a) to file evidence that he has paid the March 2018 real estate tax payment directly to the taxing authority and (b) to commence making monthly payments of $381.48 into the escrow account, in addition to his regular monthly payments of $3,698.51 on account of principal and interest, for total monthly payments of $4,079.99.

In addition, the tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 4/1/18 for the movant to file a supplemental declaration showing a calculation of the required escrow balance as of 5/1/18, the required monthly payments for the debtor to cure the deficiency in that escrow balance, and the resulting new total monthly payment that the debtor will have to pay on 5/1/18 and each month thereafter.

Finally, the tentative ruling is to set a continued hearing at the date and time set forth at the start of this tentative ruling, so that the parties and this Court can address what to do if the debtor disputes the movant's calculations.

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) is also terminated, because it has not been shown to have any basis to exist independent of the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a). To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Effective date of relief. Deny the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a)(3) for lack of sufficient cause shown.

Docket 54

Tentative Ruling:

Grant as provided below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this court's final ruling. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

Termination. Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (d)(4).

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) is also terminated, because it has not been shown to have any basis to exist independent of the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a). To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Relief notwithstanding future bankruptcy cases.

Grant the following relief pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(4) and the legal analysis in In re Vazquez (case no. 2:16-bk-10699-NB, dkt. 75) and/or In re Choong (case no. 2:14-bk-28378-NB, docket no. 31), as applicable:

If this order is duly recorded in compliance with applicable State laws governing notices of interests or liens in the property at issue, then no automatic stay shall apply to such property in any bankruptcy case purporting to affect such property and filed within two years after the date of entry of this order, unless otherwise ordered by the court presiding over that bankruptcy case.

Docket 35

Tentative Ruling:

Grant in part and continue in part to 4/10/18 at 10:00 a.m. as set forth below.
Appearances are not required on 3/20/18.

The automatic stay does not apply.

This case has been dismissed, which terminates the automatic stay. See 11 USC 349(b)(3) & 362(c).

In the alternative and in addition, this court grants relief from the automatic stay as follows.

Termination. Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (d)(2).

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) is also terminated, because it has not been shown to have any basis to exist independent of the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a). To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Retroactive relief. Grant the request for retroactive annulment of the stay. See In re Fjeldsted, 293 B.R. 12 (9th Cir. BAP 2003).

Relief notwithstanding future bankruptcy cases.

As to the requested relief that will remain effective notwithstanding any future bankruptcy case, continue the motion to the date and time set forth at the start of this tentative ruling, for service on the persons who executed the documents through which the movant asserts its interest in the property (sometimes referred to in the mortgage context as the "original borrower").

Reasons: See LBR 4001-1(c)(1)(B). In addition, Judge Bason has due process concerns about granting such relief without service on the person(s) whose interests may be most directly affected. See generally Mullane v. Central Hanover Bank & Trust Co., 339 U.S. 306 (1950) (due process generally). In this matter, such persons appear to include: Kari Moulthrop and Jason Waltrip.

Option for shortened time: This court has selected a continued hearing date that contemplates shortened notice (per Rule 9006) but that date is conditioned on the movant serving all papers on the day after the current hearing date. Alternatively, the movant may self-calendar a continued hearing on regular notice.

Option for interim/partial order: Movant may elect to lodge a proposed order granting the partial relief provided in this tentative ruling, but any such order must recite that a continued hearing has been set to consider additional relief (or, alternatively, that the movant no longer seeks additional relief and the Clerk's office is requested and directed to take the continued hearing off calendar).

Effective date of relief. Grant the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a)(3).

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Docket 22

Tentative Ruling:

Grant in part and continue in part to 4/10/18 at 10:00 a.m. as set forth below.
Appearances are not required on 3/20/18.

Termination. Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (d)(2).

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) is also terminated, because it has not been shown to have any basis to exist independent of the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a). To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Retroactive relief. Grant the request for retroactive annulment of the stay. See In re Fjeldsted, 293 B.R. 12 (9th Cir. BAP 2003).

Relief notwithstanding future bankruptcy cases.

As to the requested relief that will remain effective notwithstanding any future bankruptcy case, continue the motion to the date and time set forth at the start of this tentative ruling, for service on the persons who executed the documents through which the movant asserts its interest in the property (sometimes referred to in the mortgage context as the "original borrower"). Reasons: See LBR 4001-1(c)(1)(B). In addition, Judge Bason has due process concerns about granting such relief without service on the person(s) whose interests may be most directly affected. Docket 12

Tentative Ruling:

Grant, subject to the following conditions. Appearances are not required.

After the hearing date this court will prepare an order and the tentative ruling is to include the following language in that order:

The stay of 11 U.S.C. 362(a) applies subject to the following modifications and conditions:

(1) Service and reconsideration. Any party in interest who was not timely served in accordance with FRBP 7004 (incorporated by FRBP 9014(b)) is hereby granted through 14 days after proper service to seek reconsideration, including retroactive relief (under FRBP 9023 and/or 9024). Any such person (a) may set a hearing on 14 days' notice, (b) may appear by telephone (if arrangements are made per Judge Bason's posted procedures), and (c) may present all arguments orally at the hearing (i.e., no written argument is required). If written arguments appear necessary then this court will set a briefing schedule at the hearing.

(2) Reasons. (a) It appears appropriate to impose the automatic stay, and to impose it as to all persons rather than just as to selected persons, because one purpose of the automatic stay is to preventing a "race to collect" that could unfairly advantage some creditors at the expense of others. (b) To prevent possible abuse, this court provides the foregoing simple process for reconsideration.

Tentative Ruling for 3/20/18:

Appearances required. At the hearing on 3/6/18, this court continued the matter, at the parties request, to allow time for the debtor's sale of the property to close. There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to update this court on the status of the sale.

The defect is service is that service on a debtor must be via service on both the debtor's counsel and the debtor individually ("double service"), as required by Fed. R. Bankr. P. 7004(b)(9) and (g). This court has neither the authority nor the inclination to excuse non-compliance with these rules. It is true that this double service requirement is the exact opposite of typical non-bankruptcy practice, in which it is generally impermissible to serve a represented party personally; but there are good reasons for the double service rule in bankruptcy. It helps protect the debtor and the bankruptcy estate (i.e., all parties in interest) from matters "falling through the cracks" given the high volume and speed of matters in typical bankruptcy cases, and the frequent use of service via U.S. mail.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." fr. 12/5/17, 02/13/18

Tentative Ruling:

Revised Tentative Ruling for 3/20/18:
Appearances required.

(1) Motion for summary judgment (adv. dkt. 14-18, the "MSJ"); opposition papers (adv. dkt. 22-25); and reply papers (adv. dkt. 26-27). The tentative ruling is to deny in part and grant in part the MSJ, as set forth below.

(a) Legal standards. The legal standards governing motions for summary judgment are well known, do not appear to be disputed by the parties, and need not be repeated in this tentative ruling.

(b) First claim for relief (fraudulent transfer). Although the complaint (adv. dkt.1) asserts fraudulent transfer claims under both California law and the Bankruptcy Code, the MSJ limits this to 11 U.S.C. 548. The MSJ also asserts only constructive, not actual, fraud. See adv. dkt. 14, pp.2:21-3:1.

The complaint alleges less than reasonably equivalent value (11 U.S.C. 548(a)(1)(B)(i)) - namely, transfers by the debtors/defendants for no value from the debtors and/or their revocable trusts (the assets of which apparently could be reached by creditors) to irrevocable trusts. But to establish the elements of a constructively fraudulent transfer the plaintiff must also establish one of three types of insolvency (commonly referred to as "balance sheet," "inadequate capital," or "cash flow" insolvency) or else a transfer to an insider under an "employment contract." See 11 U.S.C. 548(a)(1)(B)(ii)(I)-(IV). There is no allegation about any employment contract, so the plaintiff must establish some type of insolvency.

The MSJ refers to balance sheet insolvency (11 U.S.C. 101(32A)). But the complaint never alleges that type of insolvency, so the plaintiff cannot be granted partial summary judgment as to that element (11 U.S.C. 548(a)(1)(B)(ii)(I)).

The complaint alleges inadequate capital and inadequate cash flow (in language that roughly parallels 11 U.S.C. 548(a)(1)(B)(ii)(II)&(III)). But the MSJ extrapolates that those types of insolvency could be presumed based on the bankruptcy schedules many months after the transfer, and from the sheer number of lawsuits and eventual judgments against the defendants and other circumstantial evidence. Those things might (or might not) be persuasive at trial, but they are insufficient to establish a lack of genuine issue of fact.

(c) Second claim for relief (declaratory relief related to nature of the trusts). The complaint (adv. dkt. 1, para. 23) seeks a declaratory judgment (i) that the debtors/defendants are "beneficiaries" of the trusts within the meaning of California Probate Code 15304, (ii) that the benefits the debtors/defendants receive from the trusts are "property of the estate" under 11 U.S.C. 541, and (iii) that the trusts qualify as "self-settled trusts" under California law, which the MSJ uses as shorthand for a trust the assets of which are reachable by creditors.

Various provisions of the Bankruptcy Code define what property is part of the bankruptcy estate:

The bankruptcy estate includes "all legal or equitable interests of the debtor in property as of the commencement of the case." 11 U.S.C. § 541(a)(1). It does not include, however, "any power that the debtor may exercise solely for the benefit of another," 11 U.S.C. § 541(b)(1), nor does it include "[p]roperty in which the debtor holds ... only legal title and not an equitable interest." 11 U.S.C. § 541(d). Similarly, the estate does not include property containing "[a] restriction on the transfer of a beneficial interest of the debtor in a trust that is enforceable under applicable nonbankruptcy law." 11 U.S.C. § 541(c)(2). [In re Cutter, 398 B.R. 6, 18-19 (9th Cir. BAP 2008).]

Under California law:

(a) If the settlor is a beneficiary of a trust created by the settlor and the settlor's interest is subject to a provision restraining the voluntary or involuntary transfer of the settlor's interest, the restraint is invalid against transferees or creditors of the settlor.

Chapter 7

The invalidity of the restraint on transfer does not affect the validity of the trust.

(b) If the settlor is the beneficiary of a trust created by the settlor and the trust instrument provides that the trustee shall pay income or principal or both for the education or support of the beneficiary or gives the trustee discretion to determine the amount of income or principal or both to be paid to or for the benefit of the settlor, a transferee or creditor of the settlor may reach the maximum amount that the trustee could pay to or for the benefit of the settlor under the trust instrument, not exceeding the amount of the settlor's proportionate contribution to the trust. [California Probate Code 15304]

The California Supreme Court has held that to the extent that the settlor of a trust is also a beneficiary, creditors can reach the property held by the trust:

It is against public policy to permit a man to tie up his property in such a way that he can enjoy it but prevent his creditors from reaching it, and where the settlor makes himself a beneficiary of a trust any restraints in the instrument on the involuntary alienation of his interest are invalid and ineffective. Since [the settlor] was the sole beneficiary, all the property in the trust is subject to the claims of his creditors. [Nelson v. Cal. Trust Co., 33 Cal.2d 501, 501-02 (1949) (emphasis added)]

These principles have been more recently reaffirmed in a decision of the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals:

[U]nder California law, a settlor of a spendthrift trust cannot also act as beneficiary of that trust (i.e., California law prohibits "self-settled" trusts). See Cal. Prob.Code § 15304(a) (West 1987). California law voids self-settled trusts to prevent individuals from placing their property beyond the reach of their creditors while at the same time still reaping the bounties of such property. See Nelson v. California Trust Co., 33 Cal.2d 501, 202 P.2d 1021, 1021 (Cal. 1949). [In re Moses, 167 F.3d 470, 473 (9th Cir. 1999)]

In addition, the MSJ cites authority that if beneficiaries exercise "excessive" control over a trust then under California law they cannot "shield that trust with an anti-alienation provision lacking true substance." In re

Moses, 167 F.3d 470, 473 (9th Cir. 1999) (citation omitted) (emphasis added). See also In re Cutter, 398 B.R. 6, 22 (9th Cir. BAP 2008). MSJ (adv. dkt. 14, p.10:1-14).

The debtors argue that their situation is different from that in Cutter because "the Debtor in Cutter could potentially use all the Trust's principal and income to maintain his standard of living, without limitation" whereas "[t] here is no such provision" in the debtors' trusts. Dkt. 22, p.3:22-26 (italics added to case name). That distinction of Cutter (and the other authorities cited above) is unpersuasive.

The MSJ points to the following facts in support of its argument that (i) the debtors are also beneficiaries and (ii) the anti-alienation provisions of the trust lack "true substance." The debtor/defendants do not raise any genuine contrary issues of fact.

(i) The debtors deducted mortgage interest and real estate taxes on their 2015 tax returns. See dkt. 18, p.4:5-9 (and evidence cited therein).

(ii) During the "initial period" of the trusts (the earlier of the grantors' deaths or 16 years) the debtors can continue to live in the property rent-free. See Dkt. 18, p.4:10-15 (and evidence cited therein).

(iii) During that same period, any net income or excess cash is distributed to the debtors. See Dkt. 18, p.4:16-21 (and evidence cited therein).

(iv) The debtors can manage the property as "absolute owners." See Dkt. 18, p.4:22-28 (and evidence cited therein).

(v) The debtors can loan money to themselves and/or use the property to secure loans to themselves. See Dkt. 18, p.5:2-7 (and evidence cited therein).

(vi) During their lifetime, the debtors can make discretionary distributions to their children, and upon their deaths the trust assets are to be distributed to their children. See Dkt. 18, p.5:8-12 (and evidence cited therein).

Based on the foregoing, it appears that the debtors are indeed beneficiaries of the trusts to a large extent, and moreover the anti-alienation provisions of the trust lack "true substance" as that term has been used in the cited authorities. Accordingly, the tentative ruling is to grant the MSJ on the second claim for relief.

(2) Deadlines: This adversary proceeding has been pending since 9/26/17. The applicable deadlines are reflected in this court's orders (adv. dkt. 7, 20). The parties should be prepared to address whether there are any non-mooted matters left to resolve in this adversary proceeding, if this Court is not persuaded to depart from the foregoing tentative ruling on the MSJ.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

This court anticipates posting a tentative ruling at a later time.

Tentative Ruling for 2/13/18:

Continue this status conference to be concurrent with the hearing on the pending summary judgment motion, which is presently scheduled for 3/20/18 at 11:00 a.m. Appearances are not required on 2/13/18.

This court has reviewed the parties' late-filed joint status report (adv. dkt. 10, 11) and the other filed documents and records in this adversary proceeding.

by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 12/5/17:

Appearances required. The court has reviewed the parties' joint status report (dkt. 5) and the other filed documents and records in this adversary proceeding.

(1) Venue/jurisdiction/authority.

The parties are directed to address any outstanding matters of (a) venue, (b) jurisdiction, (c) this court's authority to enter final orders or judgment(s) in this proceeding and, if consent is required, whether the parties do consent, or have already expressly or impliedly consented. See generally Stern v. Marshall, 131 S.Ct. 2594, 2608 (2011) (if litigant "believed that the Bankruptcy Court lacked the authority to decide his claim...then he should have said so – and said so promptly."); Wellness Int'l Network, Ltd. v. Sharif, 135 S.Ct. 1932 (2015) (consent must be knowing and voluntary but need not be express); In re Bellingham Ins. Agency, Inc., 702 F.3d 553 (9th Cir. 2012) (implied consent), aff'd on other grounds, 134 S. Ct. 2165 (2014); In re Pringle, 495 B.R. 447 (9th Cir. BAP 2013) (rebuttable presumption that failure to challenge authority to issue final order is intentional and indicates consent); In re Deitz, 760 F.3d 1028 (9th Cir. 2014) (authority to adjudicate nondischargeability encompasses authority to liquidate debt and enter final judgment). See generally In re AWTR Liquidation, Inc., 548 B.R. 300 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2016).

This court recognizes that, at least at this stage, the attorney who filed the answer (dkt. 4) for both trustees of the trust has also executed the Status Report (dkt. 5) on behalf of one of the defendant trustees (the debtor/defendant) asserting that neither of them can consent to this Bankruptcy Court entering a final judgment because third party beneficiaries of the trust allegedly have a right to have their rights litigated "outside of this venue." Counsel for the answering defendants should be prepared (a) to explain whether this is a Stern objection or something else and (b) whether both answering defendants or only one of them takes this position, and if the former, why he did not execute the status report on behalf of both of them.

Counsel for the plaintiff should be prepared to address whether the plaintiff contends that there are no additional parties who need to be joined,

(2) Mediation. The plaintiff suggests in the Status Report (adv. dkt. 5) that mediation, if any, should not be ordered before dispositive motion(s) are heard, which the plaintiff anticipates will be by 3/1/18. The tentative ruling is to revisit the issue of mediation after that date.

Docket 5

Tentative Ruling:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor and by the debtor(s) themselves. This court has reviewed the debtor's chapter 11 status report (dkt. 31) and all other filings in this case.

(1) Current issues

(a) Proposed bankruptcy counsel (dkt. 9, 30, 34, 45, 46). The debtor has now disclosed that the source of the prepetition retainer is Olympic Holdings, LLC ("Olympic"), the managing member of which is also the debtor's managing member, namely Mr. Mark Slotkin. The debtor has also clarified that although Olympic proposes to pay counsel's monthly bills as they come due (to be held in proposed counsel's client trust account until allowed), Olympic reserves the right to request reimbursement of prepetition payments as a general unsecured claim and postpetition payments as an administrative claim - would such postpetition request be on "substantial contribution" grounds? or on other grounds, such as an administrative priority loan (under 11 U.S.C. 364? without interest? with interest?)?

The foregoing facts and questions raise a host of ethical concerns. Any counsel who is paid by a third party (the "Funder") may be subject to conflicts of interest, especially if there are potential avoidance actions, reimbursement or contribution or indemnity claims, or other claims that could be investigated or brought against the Funder. At the hearing, proposed counsel must address the following.

(i) Connections. What are all of the connections (as that term is used in FRBP 2014) among the Funder, the debtor, Mr. Slotkin, and proposed counsel? Are there any conflicts of interest, or potential conflicts? In the past, Judge Bason has followed authority holding that conflicts cannot be waived by a debtor in possession because it is representing the interests of creditors and has no authority to waive conflicts on creditors' behalf. In addition, to help in identifying all connections, Judge Bason's posted procedures require the use of Local Form 2014-1 (see those procedures at

(ii) Terms. What are the precise understandings regarding the funds?

(iii) Informed consent of Funder. Mr. Slotkin declares (dkt. 45, para.5) that both he and Olympic understand that proposed counsel "does not represent us, and only represents the Debtor"? Have the members of Olympic (whoever they might be) been advised of this as well? Have all such persons been advised not only of representation issues but also attorney-client privilege issues, including what can happen if a trustee were to be appointed? Have all such persons been advised of duties of loyalty, whom counsel will continue to represent (if anyone) if a conflict develops, and other ethical and practical concerns? Who provided such advice: independent counsel, or the debtor's proposed counsel? Has the Funder given informed consent? Are those things in writing?

(iv) Informed consent of debtor. Has the debtor likewise been fully advised and given informed consent? Who provided such advice? Are these things in writing?

(v) Other considerations. Has proposed counsel demonstrated or represented to this Court the absence of an actual or potential conflict, a lack of disinterestedness, or any other basis for disqualification? See In re Kelton Motors, Inc., 109 B.R. 641 (Bankr. D. Vt. 1989); In re Hathaway Ranch Partnership, 116 B.R. 208, 219 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1990); In re Park-Helena Corp., 63 F.3d 877 (9th Cir. 1995).

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 2/16/18.

(a) Bar date: 5/25/18 (DO NOT SERVE notice yet - court will prepare an order after the status conference).

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: file by 7/16/18 (see Order, dkt. 21) using the forms required by Judge Bason (DO NOT SERVE yet, except on the U.S. Trustee - the court will set a deadline and procedures at a later time).

Note: If the U.S. Trustee wishes to file initial comments on any draft Plan documents before the regular deadline, it should do so at least two weeks prior to the subsequent status conference (but, whether or not any comments are filed, all rights are reserved to object to the Disclosure Statement or Plan when deadline(s) for such objections are established).

(b) Timing. Lodge the proposed order within 7 days after the hearing. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(2) Minimum adequate protection

In addition to the postpetition security interests that are automatically provided pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 552 (e.g., in traceable proceeds and profits), and subject to any more comprehensive protection that may be included in the motion or related papers, the debtor shall provide at least the following protection to any creditor with a security interest in the subject property (pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 361-364, as applicable):

(a) Insurance. For all collateral of a type that typically is insured (e.g., real property and improvements), the debtor is directed to maintain insurance in a dollar amount at least equal to the debtor's good faith estimate of the value of such creditor's interest in the collateral, and such insurance shall name such creditor as an additional insured. The debtor is directed to remain current on payments for such insurance.

(b) Taxes. The debtor is directed to remain current on payments on account of postpetition real estate taxes (to the extent that real estate is part of the collateral).

(c) Disclosures/access. The debtor is directed to provide, upon such creditor's reasonable request, periodic accountings of the foregoing insurance and tax obligations and payments, as well as postpetition proceeds, products, offspring, or profits from the collateral, including gross revenues and expenses and a calculation of net revenues, including any rents and any fees, charges, accounts, or other payments for the use or occupancy of rooms and other public facilities in lodging properties (as all of the foregoing terms are used in 11 U.S.C. 552). The debtor is directed to provide appropriate documentation of those accountings, and access for purposes of inspection or appraisal.

liens shall be limited to the same validity, priority, and amount as prepetition liens. As used herein, the "validity, priority, and amount" or any similar phrase that may be used by the parties or the court is deemed to include the following:

(a) Extent. Such liens shall be limited to the type of collateral in which the creditor held a security interest as of the petition date, unless this order expressly states that the liens granted by this order are intended to attach to different types of collateral from the prepetition collateral. For example, if prepetition liens extended to inventory and accounts receivable but not equipment then postpetition liens are likewise limited (unless otherwise expressly provided below); and postpetition liens shall not extend to the proceeds of any avoidance actions, any recoveries under 11 U.S.C. 506 (c), or any "carveout" under 11 U.S.C. 552.

(b) Priority. Such liens shall be limited to the same priority as the security interest held by the creditor as of the petition date.

(c) Dollar amount. Such liens shall be limited to the dollar amount needed to protect the creditor against diminution in the value of the secured claims as of the petition date.

(d) Enforceability. Such liens shall be limited to the extent that the creditor's security interests were duly perfected and valid as of the petition date, and to the extent that they are unavoidable.

(e) Automatic postpetition perfection. Any automatic perfection of such liens shall be subject to any applicable limitations regarding the Court's authority, jurisdiction, or due process.

(4) Automatic disapproval of insufficiently disclosed provisions

Any provision of the type listed in FRBP 4001(c)(1)(B) or in local form F4001-2 (e.g., cross-collateralization) or any waiver of the "equities of the case" exception in 11 U.S.C. 552(b)(2) shall be deemed automatically disapproved and excepted from any order granting the motion, notwithstanding any other provision of such order, unless either: (a) such provision is specifically and prominently disclosed in the motion papers in a checklist (such as local form F4001-2), or alternatively (b) such provision is specifically identified in any proposed order granting the motion, using terminology of the type used in FRBP 4001(c)(1)(B) or local form F4001-2 (e.g., any "cross-collateralization" that is not specifically identified as such is deemed to be disapproved).

In the event of any disputes regarding the rulings in this order, the parties are directed to meet and confer and, if they cannot resolve their disputes consensually, contact the chambers of the presiding judge to arrange a mutually convenient time for either a telephonic or in-person hearing to address such disputes.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." #5.00 Status Conference re: Chapter 11 Case

Docket 6

Tentative Ruling:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor and by the debtor herself.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Cash Collateral Motion (dkt. 12). See the separate tentative ruling for that motion (calendar no. 4, 3/20/18 at 1:00 p.m.).

(b) Budget Motion (dkt 13).

(i) Service is inadequate. The proof of service (dkt. 13, pp. 5-6) fails to comply with the rules for service. Chase was not served via certified mail or to the attention of an officer as required by Rule 7004(b)(3) & (h) (Fed. R. Bankr. P.) (incorporated by Rule 9014(b), Fed. R. Bankr. P.).

(ii) Unexplained Inconsistencies between Schedule J & Proposed Budget. The debtor should be prepared to address the issues raised in the United States Trustee's opposition (dkt.18).

(c) Notice of continued hearings. If the court grants the budget and cash collateral motions on an interim basis, the tentative is to set a deadline of 4/3/18 for the debtor to file and serve a notice of the final hearing on both motions, and to set the same date for the debtor to file any supplement or amendments to such motions, with deadlines of 4/10/18 for any opposition and 4/17/18 for any reply.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 2/16/18.

(a) Bar date: 5/25/18 (DO NOT SERVE notice yet - court will prepare an order after the status conference).

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: file by 6/12/18 using the forms required by Judge Bason (DO NOT SERVE yet, except on the U.S. Trustee - the court will set a deadline and procedures at a later time).

Note: If the U.S. Trustee wishes to file initial comments on any draft Plan documents before the regular deadline, it should do so at least two weeks prior to the subsequent status conference

fr. 7/11/17, 9/12/17, 11/7/17, 12/12/17, 1/23/18, 02/13/18

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 3/20/18:

Continue to 4/17/18 at 1:00 p.m. to be heard concurrently with the debtor's motion to allow late-filed ballot (dkt. 78). Appearances are not required on 3/20/18.

(1) Current issues - plan (dkt. 59) and disclosure statement (dkt. 58)

(a) Background. At the hearing on 1/23/18 the debtor's counsel conceded that he lacked the votes for confirmation of his proposed plan, and suggested various ways in which the debtor might proceed. This court set a deadline of 1/30/18 for filing an amended plan or an alternative pleading, which was later extended (dkt. 71) to 2/7/18.

At the continued hearing on 2/13/18, the debtor stated that he reached a settlement with Wells Fargo regarding plan treatment and would be filing a motion to allow late-filed ballot. On 3/12/18, the debtor filed that motion (dkt. 78), with a hearing scheduled for 4/17/18.

(b) Exit strategy. At the continued hearing on 4/17/18, if this Court does not approve the debtor's motion to accept late-filed ballot, the debtor should be prepared to address what his exit strategy from bankruptcy is and whether this case be dismissed.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 6/7/17.

(a) Bar date: 8/18/17 (timely served, dkt. 27, 30)

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement (dkt. 59, 58)*: TBD.

(c) Continued status conference: 4/17/18 at 1:00 p.m. No written status report is required.

Tentative Ruling for 2/13/18:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues - plan (dkt. 59) and disclosure statement (dkt. 58)

(a) Background. At the hearing on 1/23/18 the debtor's counsel conceded that he lacked the votes for confirmation of his proposed plan, and suggested various ways in which the debtor might proceed. This court set a deadline of 1/30/18 for filing an amended plan or an alternative pleading, which was later extended (dkt. 71) to 2/7/18. That deadline has passed and, as of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no such papers have been filed.

(b) Exit strategy. What is the debtor's strategy to exit from bankruptcy? Should this case be dismissed?

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 6/7/17.

(a) Bar date: 8/18/17 (timely served, dkt. 27, 30)

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement (dkt. 59, 58)*: TBD.

appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 1/23/18:

Continue this status conference and the combined hearing on final approval of the disclosure statement (dkt. 60) and confirmation of the plan (dkt. 59) to 2/13/18 at 1:00 p.m. Appearances are not required on 1/23/18.

Reasons: (a) the debtor's failure to file the ballot summary with respect to the plan, which was due on 1/16/18 (see Order, dkt. 61) and (b) the inability of the Office of the United States Trustee ("UST") to appear (or perhaps even to analyze whether it should appear) because of the shutdown of much of the federal government.

At the continued hearing the debtor should be prepared to testify, or make an offer of proof, as to feasibility.

(1) Current issues - plan (dkt. 59) and disclosure statement (dkt. 58)

(a) Income calculation. Exhibit C, Attachment 1, line 7, for income from "operations of business" requires the debtor to "attach detailed statement." No such statement appears to be provided.

(b) Disputed claims and other prior issues appear to be adequately addressed. The revised Exhibit F (dkt. 58) lists the 16th Street Group twice: once for the undisputed portion and once for the disputed portion - if the dollar amount of the disputed portion of the claim is sufficient then this appears to fully address this court's concerns expressed in the tentative ruling for 11/7/17. All of this court's other concerns appear to have been fully addressed as well.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 6/7/17.

(a) Bar date: 8/18/17 (timely served, dkt. 27, 30)

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement (dkt. 59, 58)*: 12/15/17 deadline to file (NOT SERVE - except on the U.S. Trustee) any redlined revisions to be discussed at the status conference and lodge Judge Bason's form of order authorizing service of the voting package, setting deadlines, and setting a combined hearing on final approval of the Disclosure Statement and confirmation of the Plan for the same time as the continued status conference.

(c) Continued status conference: 2/27/18 at 1:00 p.m. No written status report is required.

the debtor must establish a disputed claims reserve and pay into that reserve in order to confirm any plan.

(b) General unsecured creditors. The plan includes a confusing mix of different listings of general unsecured creditors. Exhibit F starts with the total from the debtor's bankruptcy schedules and then reduces it by a dollar amount that appears to be random (there are no calculations to show how the debtor arrived at that reduction). Attached to Exhibit F is a copy of the debtor's bankruptcy schedules, but those are not manually marked up to show how the debtor arrived at the dollar amounts in Exhibit F.

Exhibit I lists not only general unsecured claims but also priority and secured claims, so it is not helpful to figure out how the debtor arrived at the dollar amount of reduction in Exhibit F.

Exhibit H item "(6)" lists anticipated/pending objections to claims, and provides what appear to be estimated dollar amounts, but there is no basis for such estimates and they are not tied to the reduction in total claims listed in Exhibit F.

It appears that the simpler solution would be (i) to use the "electronic option" in Exhibit F (starting at line 5) for general unsecured claims, instead of attaching the bankruptcy schedules, (ii) cut all unsecured claims from Exhibit I as redundant, and (iii) use a disputed claims reserve and/or obtain final orders disallowing or allowing claims and/or follow the proper procedures for claims estimation, if permissible (see 11 U.S.C. 502(c) and Rule 3018(a), Fed. R. Bankr. P.).

(c) Tax claims. One tax claim has been withdrawn (dkt. 52). Is the tax claim listed in Exhibit A for "LACTTC" a different claim?

(d) Pagination. The debtor's plan divides one-page exhibits onto two pages, which is somewhat confusing. The debtor may need to adjust the page margins to enable them to print on a single page.

(e) Income calculation. Exhibit C, Attachment 1, lines 1 and 7, do not provide adequate disclosure of the debtor's income calculation. Line 1 is for "wages, salary, and commissions" but as an independent contractor the more appropriate line would appear to be line 7 for "operations of business," which requires the debtor to "attach detailed statement." In any event, the debtor cannot simply list net income without any disclosure as to the gross revenues, specific expenses, and calculation of that net income.

The debtor's failure to disclose sufficient information about revenues and expenses has been a recurring theme - see the tentative ruling for

7/11/17 (reproduced below), item "(1)(a)" under the "Third" issue. Given this history, this court will require the debtor to file and serve on the U.S. Trustee, no later than the deadline set forth below for filing an amended plan and disclosure statement, a detailed declaration providing documentation as to the basis for each aspect of the income and expense projections (the debtor may incorporate Monthly Operating Reports by reference, but cannot rely only on those MORs - the debtor must provide additional support for his projections).

(f) Double-counting of expenses. Exhibit C, Attachment 1, line 17, includes an adequate protection payment of $325.50/mo. (with a reference to "RFS Order Dkt No. 45"), but it appears that these adequate protection payments will be replaced by the payments in Class 1A of $383.28/mo. It appears that once the added $325.50/mo. is eliminated then the cash flow might be more feasible.

Tentative Ruling for 7/11/17:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor and by the debtor himself.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Budget motion (dkt. 21). This motion is not on for hearing, but in connection with this Status Conference the debtor should be prepared to address the following concerns.

First, the debtor lists $1,350/mo. in income derived from unemployment benefits, in addition to his $6,150/mo. in business income derived from his self-employment as an independent marketing consultant, a job at which he claims to have been employed for the past year. Dkt. 21, p. 8. How can the debtor obtain unemployment benefits when he is employed? How will the budget change when those benefits cease?

Second, the debtor lists net business income but has failed to provide a breakdown of gross receipts, ordinary and necessary business expenses, and calculation of the resulting monthly net income, as required by the instructions on bankruptcy Schedule "I" line 8a. See dkt. 21 at p. 8.

Third, the debtor asserts a 50% interest in a real estate business in Miami, Buena Vista Terminal, LLC. See dkt. 1, pp. 19, 51. What is the nature of that business? Does the debtor derive any income from that business?

Finally, the debtor reports that he has just $43.43 in monthly net income to contribute to a chapter 11 plan. But the debtor has two cars and a motorcycle and over $700/mo. in automobile payments (plus "transportation" costs). Is that reasonable? See In re Concoff (case no. 2:13-bk-37328-NB, dkt. 246).

(b) Application to employ counsel (dkt. 24). Does the U.S. Trustee have any concerns about the proposed interim payment procedures and fee sharing arrangement between Ms. Ghanooni and Ms. Esmaili?

According to the retainer letter (dkt. 24, Ex. 3, para. 4) some of the retainer was to be paid by the debtor's mother, as a gift. But the application and the Rule 2014 disclosures by proposed counsel and by the debtor assert that there is no connection with any insider, and that all funds have come solely from the debtor. Which version of the facts is true? If any portion of the retainer has been paid by a third party, that raises special concerns (e.g., was the third party fully informed, in writing, that counsel represents the DIP not the third party, and might actually have to sue the third party if there were any potentially avoidable transfers? are there any such transfers or other potential conflicts?). See In re Kelton Motors, Inc., 109 B.R. 641 (Bankr. D. Vt. 1989); In re Hathaway Ranch Partnership, 116 B.R. 208, 219 (Bankr. C.D. Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

The tentative ruling is to continue the hearing to the same date as the continued status conference in this case (see calendar no. 3 on this 2:00 p.m. calendar) and meanwhile order the California Department of Education ("CDE"), the debtor, and the debtor's principal Dr. Curtis to mediation as further set forth below. For present purposes this court need not repeat the legal analysis set forth by the parties, or repeat their examination of each one of the (non-exclusive) Curtis factors. It is sufficient to address the most pertinent considerations.

On the one hand, the CDE has presented some powerful arguments in favor of relief from the automatic stay. In particular: (a) the OAH is a specialized forum, and the State Courts are at least as well equipped as this Bankruptcy Court, if not better, to determine the competing claims of OAH, the debtor, and any other parties to the nonbankruptcy litigation; (b) that litigation is at advanced stages; (c) the underlying issues appear to be non-core (in both the statutory sense, under 28 U.S.C. 157(b), and as that term has been used to describe the principles of the U.S. Constitution as interpreted by Stern v. Marshall, 131 S.Ct. 2594 (2011)); (d) mandatory or discretionary abstention probably would apply if this matter were to be before this Bankruptcy Court; (e) this case is predominantly (although not entirely) a two-party dispute; and (f) it is not at all clear that the debtor has any reasonable prospects for reorganization without the cooperation of the CDE.

On the other hand, the debtor has presented some persuasive arguments that it may be premature to grant relief at this time. In particular: (g) the bankruptcy case is at its early stages; (h) the automatic stay's "breathing spell" exists to protect the (admittedly few) other creditors and also the debtor and other parties in interest, such as persons whose employment and other interests depend in part on the debtor's existence, including Dr. Parker; (i) regarding "the balance of hurt," the debtor has made a prima facie showing of significant harm to it and the estate if it is forced to continue expensive litigation at this stage, and the CDE has not established that it will be substantially damaged by a relatively short period in which the automatic stay continues, until the debtor's ability to reorganize can be explored; and (j) continuing with "the balance of hurt" analysis, it is not at all clear how much the CDE will be hurt if it cannot continue its litigation (at what may be considerable expense) against a debtor that might be effectively "judgment proof."

Balancing the competing considerations, the tentative ruling is that it is not appropriate to terminate the automatic stay at this time. This court could deny the motion without prejudice, but a continuance is administratively more convenient and may save the parties the expense of a renewed motion. (This court recognizes that, to the extent if any that 11 U.S.C. 362(e) applies, there are time limits on any continuance, but typically the moving party consents to waive those time limits rather than have their motion denied. If CDE does not consent, then it is directed to say so at the hearing.)

CONT... Golden Day Schools, Inc.

Chapter 11

At the continued hearing this court expects that the outcome may be very different if the debtor has not generated a plan with a reasonable prospect of confirmation within a reasonable time, and/or resolution with CDE. In that regard, this court is concerned that the debtor's bankruptcy schedules (dkt. 14), monthly operating reports ("MORs," dkt. 42, 47), and status reports (dkt. 19, 51) appear to reflect a business that is depleting its cash and, unless it can reach an agreement with CDE, may have no realistic prospects for any reorganization.

This court is aware that debtors sometimes have other means of generating assets, such as recovery of fraudulent transfers. But the debtor has asserted in connection with the initial status conference that, notwithstanding the findings in connection with the CDE's audit, any allegedly avoidable transfers are likely to be largely if not entirely unrecoverable because most of them were for salaries, among other obstacles to any recovery (this court takes no position on any such assertion, but merely notes that according to the debtor it may have essentially no assets except for some limited cash that likely would be depleted in any future litigation, and nothing in the record presently before this court establishes otherwise).

In addition, in these circumstances this court's preliminary assessment is that the debtor and its principal, Dr. Parker, must take the initiative to present colorable proposals to CDE. Absent such proposals, this bankruptcy case may turn out to have been filed in bad faith (solely or predominately for purposes of delay and obstruction).

This court will be better able to assess the foregoing issues in the coming weeks and months, including but not limited to reviewing the debtor's proposed plan and disclosure statement that are due 2/2/18 (as orally ordered at the status conference on 10/17/17). Meanwhile, the tentative ruling is to order the parties to mediation under the following procedures.

First, under the circumstances of this case it appears appropriate to require that any expenses of mediation (e.g., travel expenses) be paid by the bankruptcy estate.

Second, it appears appropriate to set a deadline of 12/21/17 for the parties to lodge proposed order(s) assigning this matter to mediation (they are directed to use the time between now and then to attempt to agree on a proposed mediator and assure that the mediator will be available on a schedule that is consistent with the needs of this case). If the parties are unable to agree on a mediator then they may lodge separate proposed orders and this court will either choose one or issue its own order (this court always offers this alternative but no party has ever used it because parties who are acting in good faith ought to be able at least to agree on a non-binding mediator from the court's panel of experienced volunteers).

Third, the tentative ruling is that, if the CDE personnel involved prefer to conduct any meetings at or near their own offices, rather than in the Los Angeles area, then the debtor, Dr. Parker, and their counsel must travel to the CDE.

Fourth, the tentative ruling is that any mediation must be concluded by 1/26/18 (one week before the deadline for the debtor's draft plan and draft disclosure statement).

Appearances required. The tentative ruling is:

- (1) to continue this Status Conference to 2/27/18 at 2:00 p.m., with a brief status report due 2/13/18;
- (2) to continue the hearing on the motion of the California Department of Education ("CDE") for relief from the automatic stay (dkt. 48) to the same time, and meanwhile to order the parties to mediation (all as more fully set forth in the tentative ruling for calendar no. 1 on this 2:00 p.m. calendar); and
- (3) to grant in part the debtor's emergency motion to enforce the automatic stay (dkt. 20), on a final basis, by ruling (a) that the stay does apply, but (b) that the debtor has not established any damages nor that any damages that might exist are recoverable (cf. 11 U.S.C. 362(k)), so (c) the only remedy is that, by operation of the statute, any acts taken in violation of the stay are automatically void ab initio (see In re Gruntz, 202 F.3d 1074 (9th Cir. 2000)).

Proposed orders: The debtor is directed to serve and lodge proposed orders on each motion listed below via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date.

(1) Current issues

(a) Status Report (dkt. 37): The status report states that the debtor has no executory contracts. What about all the contracts with Radiology Solutions Inc./Corp. (whichever name is correct)?

(b) Cash collateral motion (dkt.9): The debtor reports (dkt. 53, p.3) that it has reached a stipulation with Community Bank regarding the use of cash collateral, but as of the preparation of this tentative ruling no such stipulation appears on the docket. If there is no such stipulation, or if it does not moot the bank's opposition (dkt. 50), then the parties should be prepared to address the merits of that opposition. In addition, the parties should be prepared to address the objection of the Fresco parties (dkt. 49) and the debtor's response (dkt. 53).

fr. 11/14/17, 1/9/18, 1/23/18, 1/30/18, 2/13/18

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Revised Tentative Ruling for 3/20/18:

Appearances required.

(1) Current issues: settlement motion (dkt. 137).

(a) Standing. There is evidence in the record that the objecting creditor (dkt. 143, the "Bank") is fully secured, which normally means that the Bank would not have standing to argue for the rights of unsecured creditors (as a portion of its objection does). But the Bank does have standing to oppose the proposed settlement, and it argues persuasively that confirmation issues are implicated by that settlement, so the tentative ruling is that the Bank has standing to argue the confirmation/fairness issues.

(b) Merits. This Court intends to provide an oral tentative ruling at the start of the hearing.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 10/16/17.

(a) Bar date: 1/17/18 (order timely served. dkt. 58, 59)

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: file by 4/16/18 using the forms required by Judge Bason (DO NOT SERVE yet, except on the U.S. Trustee - the court will set a deadline and procedures at a later time).

(c) Continued status conference: 5/8/18 at 1:00 p.m. No status report required.

This court anticipates posting a tentative ruling at a later time.

Tentative Ruling for 2/13/18:

(1) Current issues

(a) Potential settlement with Fresco Parties. The parties must be prepared to address the status of their settlement negotiations and finalization of the draft settlement documents circulated 2/5/18, and all other issues appropriate to raise at a status conference, including the issues in their recent status reports and related documents (Sakurai case, no. 2:17-bk-22660-NB, dkt. 87, 104, 105, 114, 124, and Checkmate case, no. 2:17-bk-22648-NB, dkt. 90, 93, 100, 102, 104, 105, 106, 109, 112, 113, 119, 122).

(b) Cash collateral & budget motions & stipulation (Sakurai dkt. 119, 122; Checkmate dkt. 114, 118, 119). Grant the cash collateral motion in the Sakurai case, subject to the same replacement liens and other terms and conditions as this Court's prior approvals of the use of cash collateral (see Sakurai case dkt. 43, 57); grant the budget motion in the Sakurai case; and approve the cash collateral stipulation in the Checkmate case on a final basis.

(d) Removed action (Adv. no. 2:17-ap-01558-NB), motions for stay and for remand (adv. dkt. 8, 10, 12, 13). The tentative ruling is that the motion for a stay pending determination by the District Court of the debtors' motion to withdraw the reference is moot, because the District Court has dismissed that motion. There is no tentative ruling on the motion to remand.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 10/16/17.

Tentative Ruling for 1/30/18:

Appearances required.

(1) Current issues

(a) Dec MOR (dkt. 97):

(i) On page 1 of 34, the MOR reflects $793,000 in cash receipts for the pre-petition Community Bank Sakurai Family Trust savings account, with a notation that Community Bank initially seized, but has since returned, the funds. What is this money from? Is it currently being held? Is it available to pay secured or unsecured creditors?

(ii) On page 7 of 34, there is a line item reflecting a $5,000 payment to Mr. Aronson for legal fees. At the status conference on 1/9/18 this court highlighted that the Sakurais had made a similar payment in November for Mr. Aronson's fees and counsel stated that the payment was made in error, and the debtors and their counsel assured this court that this issue would be addressed. By no later than February 7, 2018, Mr. Aronson is directed to file a declaration addressing the status of the $10,000 in legal fees ($5,000 Nov; $5,000 Dec) that he received from the Sakurais.

(b) Turnover of Documents and Information, etc. The parties must be prepared to address what documents and information have been produced by the debtors, and all other issues appropriate to raise at a status conference, including the issues in their recent status reports and related documents (case no. 2:17-bk-22660-NB, dkt. 87, 104, 105, 114, and 2:17-bk-22648-NB, dkt. 90, 93, 100, 102, 104, 105, 106, 109, 112, 113).

(1) Current issues

(a) Status Report (dkt. 42): The debtors' status report fails to suggest any bar date or any deadline for filing a draft plan and draft disclosure statement. The debtors suggest that the Fresco litigation might have to conclude before they can propose plan, but they fail to support any such delay with relevant information about that litigation, nor do they explain how claims estimation and/or a disputed claims reserve would be inadequate to address this litigation. See generally 11 U.S.C. 502(c) and Rule 3018(a) (Fed. R. Bankr. P.). Accordingly, the tentative ruling is to fix the deadlines set forth below.

(b) Cash collateral motion (dkt. 8). The tentative ruling is to grant this motion on a final basis, on the same terms as the interim order (dkt. 43).

(a) Proofs of service (dkt. 18, 19, 21, 22). Service does not appear to be in compliance with this court's orders shortening time because they do not certify that anyone was served via overnight delivery or other expedited means.

The following tentative rulings are contingent on filing a corrected proof of service, no later than the day after this hearing, declaring that such expedited service was actually done, or if that is not true then the tentative ruling is to impose sanctions of $200 on counsel for the debtors and, despite the lack of service, authorize the proposed expenditures of cash collateral and the proposed utility deposits as an interim method of providing adequate protection under 11 U.S.C. 361-366.

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 3/20/18:
Appearances required.

(1) Motion to Dismiss. At the hearing on 3/6/18, this court continued the matter for the parties to review relevant authority on the "unfinished business doctrine" and consider the implications of that authority on this proceeding. This Court has reviewed the parties' status reports (dkt. 39, 41), which effectively are briefs, and the parties are directed to address (a) whether further briefing or discovery is needed, either as to the Teitelbaum Case or any other matter, (b) whether the range of possible outcomes could include any in which the underlying clients (or any other parties) could be prejudiced (e.g., if any party presently before this Court is denied a recovery in this proceeding, would that party have any ability to seek recovery from the underlying client on a different theory?) and, if so, whether such persons need to be joined in this proceeding, and (c) whether to bifurcate the Teitelbaum Case from other matters and render a decision as to the former after oral argument and/or set deadlines for discovery or other procedures (see, e.g., the list of deadlines set forth in paragraph "(3)" of this Court's tentative ruling for 12/19/17, reproduced below).

(2) Continued hearing/status conference: 5/29/18 at 1:00 p.m. Brief status report due 5/15/18.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 3/6/18:

Appearances required. This Court has reviewed the parties' status reports (adv. dkt. 28, 29) and the other filed documents and records in this adversary proceeding.

(1) Venue/jurisdiction/authority. The issues raised in paragraph "(1)" of this Court's tentative ruling for 12/19/17 (reproduced below) appear to have been addressed (see adv. dkt. 28, 29) or waived/forfeited by parties who have not expressly addressed them.

(2) Mediation. The parties are directed to report on the status of the 2/27/18 mediation. If the mediation was not successful, the parties should be prepared to argue the merits of the motion to dismiss filed by Advocate Capital, Inc. (adv. dkt. 24, the "MTD") and related papers (e.g., adv. dkt. 30, 34). To the extent that the foregoing does not resolve the parties' litigation, this Court anticipates setting deadlines for discovery and possibly other matters (see paragraph "(3)" of this Court's tentative ruling for 12/19/17, reproduced below).

(3) Continued status conference: 5/29/18 at 1:00 p.m. Brief status report due 5/15/18.

(1) Venue/jurisdiction/authority.

The parties are directed to address any outstanding matters of (a) venue, (b) jurisdiction, (c) this court's authority to enter final orders or judgment(s) in this proceeding and, if consent is required, whether the parties do consent, or have already expressly or impliedly consented. See generally Stern v. Marshall, 131 S.Ct. 2594, 2608 (2011) (if litigant "believed that the Bankruptcy Court lacked the authority to decide his claim...then he should have said so – and said so promptly."); Wellness Int'l Network, Ltd. v. Sharif, 135 S.Ct. 1932 (2015) (consent must be knowing and voluntary but need not be express); In re Bellingham Ins. Agency, Inc., 702 F.3d 553 (9th Cir. 2012) (implied consent), aff'd on other grounds, 134 S. Ct. 2165 (2014); In re Pringle, 495 B.R. 447 (9th Cir. BAP 2013) (rebuttable presumption that failure to challenge authority to issue final order is intentional and indicates consent); In re Deitz, 760 F.3d 1028 (9th Cir. 2014) (authority to adjudicate nondischargeability encompasses authority to liquidate debt and enter final judgment). See generally In re AWTR Liquidation, Inc., 548 B.R. 300 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2016).

(2) Mediation. Is there is any reason why this court should not order the parties to mediation before one of the volunteer mediators (not a Bankruptcy Judge), and meanwhile set the deadlines set forth below?

The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 1/5/18 for the parties to agree on a mediator whose schedule is consistent with the needs of this matter and lodge mediation order(s) (if the parties are unable to agree on a single order they may lodge competing orders and Judge Bason will decide among them or issue his own, although it should be possible for the parties to agree on a mediator).

(3) Deadlines: This adversary proceeding has been pending since 10/17/17. Pursuant to LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B), plaintiff is directed to serve and lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the status conference, attaching a

Appearances required.

(1) Current issues: estimating Mr. Britton's claim

This matter has been substantially briefed and argued at prior hearings (see para. "(1)" of Revised Tentative Ruling for 1/30/18, reproduced below, and Mr. Britton's Opposition to Estimation Motion, dkt. 315, and debtor's Reply, dkt. 317, 322). This Court anticipates providing an oral tentative ruling at the start of the hearing, followed by a brief time (maximum 10 minutes each) for further argument before this Court makes a final ruling on the estimation motion.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 12/1/15.

(a) Bar date: 2/8/16 (timely served, dkt. 19 & 25).

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues: estimating Mr. Britton's claim

At the hearing on 10/3/18 this court contemplated that after the debtor filed its motion (dkt. 297) for an order estimating the claim of creditor Layne Leslie Britton then this court would set a briefing schedule. The tentative ruling is to set the briefing schedule set forth below.

This court notes that the parties have already briefed, and this court has preliminarily addressed, some of the underlying issues, in connection with the debtor's prior motion for an order approving a draft plan and disclosure statement. Therefore a longer briefing schedule does not appear to be necessary. See dkt. 244 (motion), dkt. 260 (opposition, especially at pp.17:11-21:13 and Winston Decl. Ex.1.B.), dkt. 263 (reply, especially at pp.9:9-12:24), transcript of 8/22/17 hearing (dkt. 272), debtor's status report (dkt. 273), and audio recording of 10/3/17 hearing.

Tentative briefing schedule:

2/13/18 deadline for Mr. Britton's opposition to estimation motion (dkt. 297)

2/20/18 deadline for reply by the debtor

2/27/18 at 2:00 p.m., hearing

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 12/1/15.

(a) Bar date: 2/8/16 (timely served, dkt. 19 & 25).

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement: TBD

(c) Continued status conference: to be held concurrent with the hearing on the claim estimation motion; no written Status Report required (but if any status report is filed by any party, it should be filed at the same time as the debtor's reply so that this court will have adequate time to review it before the hearing).

(1) Current issues

The parties should be prepared to update this court on the status of this case including their negotiations, why this court should not order mandatory mediation, which parties in interest should be included in such mediation, and any other appropriate procedures regarding payment of professionals, filing documents under seal, etc.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 12/1/15.

(a) Bar date: Bar date: 2/8/16 (timely served, dkt. 19 & 25).

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement: no deadline

(c) Continued status conference: 2/28/17 at 1:00 p.m. (no written status report required; telephonic appearances permitted provided that parties comply with posted procedures for same).

If you do not appear, and the matter is not adequately resolved by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 11/29/16:

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues

(a) Fee applications. The tentative ruling is (1) after the reductions that Browne concedes, to overrule the Britton objection to Browne's fees; (2) to sustain in part the limited objection of Ms. West by allowing 100%, but temporarily deferring any payment (either from any retainer or from other sources), on account of the fee applications, with a deadline of 12/12/16 for Ms. West to file (a) an adversary proceeding to determine the relative priorities of her rights and interests in the royalties, and/or other funds in which the debtor's estate asserts an interest, as against the debtor, its creditors, and other parties in interest, and (b) a request (motion) for adequate protection of her alleged claims or interests (pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 361 and 363(c), (e), (p), and Rule 7001(2), (7) & (9), Fed. R. Bankr. P.). In addition, this court anticipates providing a tentative ruling on the merits of Ms.

(a) Bar date: Bar date: 2/8/16 (timely served, dkt. 19 & 25).

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement: no deadline

(c) Continued status conference: 4/4/17 at 1:00 p.m. (no written status report required; telephonic appearances permitted provided that parties comply with posted procedures for same).

If you do not appear, and the matter is not adequately resolved by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 9/6/16:

Continue to 12/13/16 at 1:00 p.m. based on the debtor's current status report (dkt. 112). Appearances are not required on 9/6/16.

The debtor is directed to file a brief status report two weeks before the continued status conference.

If you wish to dispute the above tentative ruling, please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings".

Tentative Ruling for 4/12/16:

Continue to 9/6/16 at 11:00 a.m. to address the following issues.
Appearances are not required on 4/12/16.

Based on the statements made in the debtor's status report (dkt. 92), this Court continues this status conference as set forth above. The debtor shall file a brief status report two weeks before the continued status conference.

Chapter 11

Tentative Ruling for 2/2/16:

Continue to 2/23/16 at 2:00 p.m. unless any opposition/response to employment or recusal are filed prior to 1/30/16. Appearances are not required on 2/2/16.

Reasons: At the hearing on 1/19/16, this court stated that the status conference would be continued without further hearing if no oppositions/responses to employment or recusal were received by the deadline for such things, which is 1/29/16. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling (on 1/29/16) no such documents have yet been filed.

If you wish to dispute the above tentative ruling, please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings".

Revised Tentative Ruling for 1/19/16:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

Key documents reviewed: Motion for relief from automatic stay (dkt. 11), the debtor's opposition (dkt. 33), and the movant's reply (dkt. 46); and the debtor's application to employ Browne George Ross LLP as special counsel under 11 U.S.C. 327(e) and supporting papers (dkt. 26-30, 44, 45).

(1) Current issues.

(a) Background. Claimant Britton's motion for relief from the automatic stay (dkt. 11) seeks to modify the automatic stay to liquidate the parties' claims in the underlying State Court action (Britton v. Riggs, LA Superior Ct. No. BC 496298). Just before trial was set to commence, the debtor filed this bankruptcy case, and trial has now been continued to 2/10/16. The debtor has filed an application (dkt. 26) to employ its existing attorneys in the State Court action as special counsel.

In view of the apparent urgency of these matters, this Bankruptcy Court issued an order raising a number of its initial concerns (dkt. 35), held a preliminary hearing on 1/8/16, and directed the debtor to serve a supplemental notice addressing certain issues. In addition, when Judge Bason's law clerk learned of certain attenuated connections between him and the parties in this case, those matters were disclosed on the record (dkt. 39), and the debtor was directed to serve those disclosures on all parties in interest.

The debtor complied with these notice requirements (see dkt. 44, 43, 45) and the period for any response expires on 1/29/16 (fixed date in dkt. 39 as to this court's disclosures; and service on 1/11/16 + 14 days' notice + 3 days for service via U.S. mail = 1/29/16 as to the employment application). As of the time when this tentative ruling has been prepared (1/18/16) no response on either matter appears on the docket.

(b) Relief from the automatic stay. The tentative ruling is to modify the automatic stay as follows, effective immediately upon (i) entry of an order of this court granting the employment application (so that the debtor can defend and prosecute its claims in the State Court action) and (ii) resolution of any request to be heard regarding recusal. Specifically, the automatic stay would be modified to permit litigation of the State court action insofar as liquidating claims by Mr. Britton against the debtor and its principal, Mr. Riggs, as well as liquidating any counterclaims, including all subsidiary disputes such as whether the statute of limitations should be tolled and any alter ego issues, but not to permit enforcement of any judgment against any property in which the debtor asserts an interest absent further order of this Bankruptcy Court.

Judge Bason is not persuaded by the debtor's argument that the statute of limitations issue should be addressed by this Bankruptcy Court before any State Court litigation is permitted to continue. The principles underlying the Rooker Feldman doctrine (that this Bankruptcy Court may not act as essentially an appellate court for State Court determinations), as well as comity, a respect for the State Court's determination of these issues, conservation of judicial resources, the avoidance of forum shopping, and not permitting a party to obtain "two bites at the apple" all weigh against deciding the statute of limitations issues here. The State Court issued a detailed tentative ruling (dkt. 46-1, Ex.A, pp.23-26) regarding the statute of limitations issues, including its conclusion that those issues could not be determined as a matter of law because a reasonable trier of fact "may well determine that the delay in filing the action was due to the Defendants' fraud or other misconduct such that Defendants should be estopped from asserting the statute of limitations," and the State Court apparently adopted that tentative ruling when it denied the defendants' motion for summary judgment and declined to address the statute of limitations issues before trial. Judge Bason is not persuaded that this Bankruptcy Court can or should revisit that determination.

As to any claims that are truly alter ego claims (as distinguished from fraudulent transfer claims or other avoidance actions that belong to this bankruptcy estate), the tentative ruling is that under the Ahcom decision (623 F.3d 1248 (9th Cir. 2010)), any such claims do not belong to the bankruptcy estate and, therefore, the automatic stay would not prevent claimant Mr. Britton from seeking to establish and pursue any alter ego claims against Mr. Riggs. Alternatively, the tentative ruling is to modify the automatic stay (if it applied) to permit such true alter ego claims to be litigated (when and if the State Court determines that they should be) because if those issues turn out to be relevant then they will have to be litigated anyway, and the State Court would be the proper forum in which to litigate them. To the extent that the debtor seeks to stay (enjoin) any such alter ego claims against Mr. Riggs in this bankruptcy case, such an injunction would have to be the subject of a separate adversary proceeding. See, e.g., In re Excel Innovations, Inc., 502 F.3d 1086 (9th Cir. 2007).

(c) Employment of special litigation counsel. The tentative ruling is to conditionally approve employment of special litigation counsel for the reasons stated at the preliminary hearing on 1/8/16 and in the application (dkt. 26) and debtor's supplemental disclosures (dkt. 44). The condition is that no order approving such employment should be lodged until after the period for responses to such application or to this court's disclosures has expired (on 1/29/16), and of course if any such response is filed then this court will consider such responses (at a hearing as set forth below).

The potential for alter ego claims does not appear to create any cognizable conflict, at least at this stage of the litigation. Although it could be argued that there would be a conflict because any recovery that Mr. Britton could obtain from Mr. Riggs would decrease his claim against the debtor, and therefore theoretically benefit the debtor, it seems more likely at this stage that both Mr. Riggs and the debtor have a unified interest in contesting any asserted grounds for alter ego liability (i) so as to assure that Mr. Riggs devotes his energies to the debtor's future success and ability to pay its creditors, and (ii) so as to attempt to assure that there is a level playing field among the debtor's creditors (which, arguably, there would not be if one creditor - Mr. Britton - could pursue alter ego recoveries before other creditors could seek to do the same).

Of course, counsel for the debtor (both general and special counsel) and Mr. Riggs himself will need to monitor the situation continually. If a conflict or potential conflict does develop, they will need to file appropriate disclosures and/or seek a supplemental ruling from this court regarding the terms of any continued employment of special counsel.

(d) Tentative hearing. If any response is filed to either the employment application or this court's disclosures, then a hearing will take place on 2/2/16 at 2:00 p.m. to address those things. If there is any such response, the debtor must notify chambers so that the matter may be added to this court's calendar for that day.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 12/1/15.

(a) Bar date: Bar date: 2/8/16 (timely served, dkt. 19 & 25).

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: file by 7/1/16 using the forms required by Judge Bason (DO NOT SERVE yet, except on the U.S. Trustee - the court will set a deadline and procedures at a later time).

Note: If the U.S. Trustee wishes to file initial comments on any draft Plan documents before the regular deadline, it should do so at least two weeks prior to the next status conference (but, whether or not any comments are filed, all rights are reserved to object to the Disclosure Statement or Plan when deadline(s) for such objections are established).

(c) Continued status conference: 2/2/16 at 2:00 p.m. (no written status report required; telephonic appearances permitted provided that parties comply with posted procedures for same).

*Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

Chapter 11

Tentative Ruling for 1/19/16:

This court anticipates posting a tentative ruling at a later time.

Tentative Ruling for 1/5/16:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor and by the principal of the debtor.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Affiliated businesses. The debtor's status report (dkt. 20, p.8:17-9:3) requests that the debtor be excused from providing financial information concerning affiliates in both the status report and monthly operating reports. The tentative ruling is to grant that request.

(b) Service of status report. This court's form status report must be served on, inter alia, all of the debtor's secured creditors and the top 20 largest general unsecured creditors. It appears that there are no secured creditors, but that unsecured creditors were not served (see dkt. 20, p. 10). The tentative ruling is to direct the debtor, no later than 1/6/16, to serve all parties in interest with a copy of the status report and this tentative ruling, and then parties in interest may, if they choose, raise any appropriate issues at future status conferences.

(c) Plan and disclosure statement. The debtor has suggested (dkt. 20, p.4:20-23) a deadline of 4/30/16 to file initial drafts. The debtor should be prepared to address the associated procedures, including the local form plan and whether that deadline is consistent with the pending litigation with creditor Layne Leslie Britton (dkt. 11), currently set for trial in State court for 2/10/16.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 12/1/15.

such immediate relief under Rule 6003 (Fed. R. Bankr. P.), to the extent applicable, and the other rules and procedures governing relief on an emergency or expedited basis.

(c) Limit Notice Motion (dkt. 3). The tentative ruling is to grant this motion, subject to the following adjustments. First, the Limited Service List must be augmented to include (i) junior lienholder Emerald Capital Funding, LLC ("Emerald") and (ii) the debtor's own bankruptcy counsel (because the motion apparently contemplates that all parties in interest - not just the debtor - will be authorized to use the Limited Service List). Second, this Court contemplates limitations that parallel this Court's modifications to the parallel order in the Bachrach case (no. 2:17-bk-15292-NB, dkt. 53).

(d) Utilities Motion (dkt. 4). The tentative ruling is to grant the motion on an interim basis, with a final hearing at the same time as the continued status conference set forth below.

(e) Tax Motion (dkt. 5). The tentative ruling is to grant the motion on an interim basis, with a final hearing at the same time as the continued status conference set forth below.

(f) Cash Management Motion (dkt. 6). The tentative ruling is to grant the motion on the following conditions on an interim basis, with a final hearing at the same time as the continued status conference set forth below. No later than 2/23/18 the debtor must file a declaration of its CFO or other appropriate person certifying that, first, the debtor has taken measures to assure that prepetition debts are not paid out of its existing accounts (e.g., stopping payment on prepetition checks, except to the extent authorized by this court), and second, the debtor is maintaining sufficiently detailed books and records that, if it becomes necessary to analyze the debtor's finances as of the petition date, such analysis will not be impaired by the non-closing of the debtor's prepetition accounts.

(g) Lease Rejection Motion (dkt. 7). The tentative ruling is to grant the motion on a final basis.

(h) Employee Wages Motion (dkt. 8). The tentative ruling is to grant this motion immediately and on a final basis as to the employees, and to grant it as to the retention of Modern HR, Inc. ("HR") either immediately or at a continued hearing if the debtor can provide an offer of proof or evidence that HR's rates are within normal market rates for comparable services.

(i) Store Closing Sale Motion (dkt. 17). The tentative ruling is to approve the retention of Great American Group LLC and Tiger Capital Group

LLC (collectively, "Liquidation Consultant") subject to the filing, no later than 2/23/18, of a satisfactory statement of Liquidation Consultant's disinterestedness on Local Form F 2014-1.STMT.DISINTEREST.PROF. In addition, the tentative ruling is to authorize the proposed sales of the debtor's inventory and furniture, fixtures and equipment ("FF&E"), free and clear of any liens, claims, encumbrances or other interests of all persons/entities who have been served with the motion, with all such interests to attach to proceeds of such sales, under 11 U.S.C. 363(b) and (f)(1), (2) and (5), for the reasons stated in the motion papers. In addition, the tentative ruling with respect to compliance with nonbankruptcy liquidation laws, restrictions in leases, and abandonment of property is to track the limitations in this Court's interim order on the parallel motion in the Bachrach case (no. 2:17-bk-15292-NB, dkt. 71). In addition, the tentative ruling is to grant all such relief on an interim basis, with a final hearing at the same time as the continued status conference set forth below.

(j) Cash Collateral/DIP Financing (dkt. 21, 22). The parties should be prepared to address the following issues. (i) Is there any evidence that the debtor is "unable" to obtain credit by granting a "senior or equal lien" to the lien of Siena Lending Group, LLC ("Siena"), within the meaning of 11 U.S.C. 364(d)(1)(A)? (ii) Why would it be appropriate for this Court to approve a roll-up, cross-collateralization, and other provisions that generally are disapproved (see dkt. 22)? (iii) Why should this Court grant broader relief in this case than it did in approving a similar motion in the Bachrach case (no. 2:17-bk-15292-NB, dkt. 46, Ex.A, pp.5-9, and dkt. 50)? The tentative ruling is to authorize either consensual or non-consensual use of cash collateral and, if the terms can be modified sufficiently to be acceptable, the proposed DIP financing, on an interim basis, with a final hearing at the same time as the continued status conference set forth below.

(k) Notice of continued hearings. The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 2/27/18 for the debtor to file and serve a notice of the final hearing on all motions that are only granted on an interim basis, and to set the same deadline for the debtor to file any supplements or amendments to such motions, with deadlines of 3/6/18 for any opposition and 3/13/18 for any reply.

(l) Proposed Orders. This court intends to file these tentative rulings on the docket (with the caption, "Memorialization Of Tentative rulings" or the like). Thereafter, if appropriate, all orders can grant or deny relief "for the reasons stated in the Memorialization Of Tentative Rulings (dkt. __), as

This Court is inclined to grant the debtor's request for a continuance on shortened notice (dkt. 110, p.2:17-19) for service of an amended motion substituting a new purchaser for the one who has withdrawn, but believes that it is appropriate first to address the following issues with the parties. The tentative ruling is to set a continued hearing for 3/20/18 at 8:30 a.m., with a deadline of 3/9/18 to file and serve an amended motion via U.S. mail, which must include a notice that opposition papers are due by 3/19/18 at noon, and any reply may be presented orally at the hearing. Chapter 13

(1) IRS. The IRS has objected (dkt. 103) to one of the prior versions of the debtor's motion (dkt. 102). That objection appears to be largely still relevant to the more recent versions of the debtor's motion (dkt. 105, 108) as well as the anticipated amended motion with a new buyer. Accordingly, it seems appropriate to address some of the issues raised by the IRS, at least on a preliminary basis.

The IRS objects (dkt. 103, pp.1:26-3:27) to the debtor's method of service (see also tentative ruling for 2/8/18, item "(2)"). Rather than deciding whether the address listed on the proof of service does or does not supersede the addresses that would otherwise be required, this Court anticipates that counsel for the debtor will serve the IRS with the amended motion at all addresses listed in the IRS' objection (including the address of its attorneys listed at the top of that objection), thereby mooting the issue.

The IRS also objects (dkt. 103, p.4:1-17) that there is insufficient evidence that the proposed sale is for the highest and best price. This Court notes that the more recent versions of the motion appear to include evidence of marketing by a licensed real estate broker and appear to contemplate overbidding at the hearing, which may resolve the IRS' objection. If this issue is still relevant under the amended motion, the IRS can renew its objection.

The IRS also objects (dkt. 103, pp.4:18-6:3) that its liens must be paid in full. The IRS distinguishes In re Jolan, 403 B.R. 866 (Bankr. W.D. Wash. 2009), relying on In re Hassen Imports P'ship, 502 B.R. 851 (C.D. Cal. 2013). Again, if the IRS wishes, it can renew this objection.

(2) Wells Fargo. This Court presumes that the debtor has no objection to including the language requested by Wells Fargo (dkt. 96, p.2, para.3) in any order granting the motion. If the debtor does object, that must be raised at this hearing.

(3) Service on Los Angeles Federal Credit Union ("LA FCU") and Bureaus Investment Group Portfolio No. 15, LLC ("Bureaus"). The address listed on the proof of service (dkt. 108) for LA FCU does not match the most recent address designated by LA FCU on its proof of claim (see claim no. 9). The address listed on the proof of service for Bureaus does not identify Steven Pickett, the individual identified as the agent for service of process on the California Secretary of State's website.

Tentative Ruling for 3/8/18:

This court anticipates posting a tentative ruling at a later time.

Tentative Ruling for 2/8/18:

Continue to 3/8/18 at 8:30 AM for corrected service on the junior lienholders, and clarification of certain ambiguities, all as set forth below. Appearances are required by debtor's counsel on 2/8/18.

Key documents reviewed (in addition to motion papers): IRS's Opposition (dkt. 103).

(1) Background

The debtor's original motion (dkt. 85) did not ask for authority to sell free and clear of liens under 11 U.S.C. 363(f), although it appeared to seek such relief. The Chapter 13 Trustee responded, among other things, "it is not clear if all lienholders have agreed to such a sale." Dkt. 89. (The senior lienholder, Wells Fargo, also filed a conditional non-opposition, dkt. 96.)

The debtor has now filed an amended motion (dkt. 102) which seeks authority to sell free and clear of liens under 11 U.S.C. 363(f). The debtor does not have any specific sale arranged, although the debtor hopes to sell the property for something in the range of $1 million, which apparently is above the dollar amount owed to senior lienholder Wells Fargo but well below the dollar amount sufficient to pay the junior liens on the property.

The motion appears to be seeking authorization for sale procedures. In addition, the motion appears to be seeking either (a) pre-authorization to sell for whatever price the debtor might obtain (which this court tentatively is not prepared to grant) or, alternatively, (b) a subsequent motion and/or hearing to approve whatever proposed sale the debtor actually negotiates

(2) Service

Service on the junior lienholders does not appear to comply with the applicable rules. For example, Rules 2002(g) and 7004(b)(3) (Fed. R. Bankr. P.) generally require service at the most recent address designated by the creditor (typically in a proof of claim) or, if no such address has been designated, then organizations typically must be served "Attn: Officer or Managing/General Agent" or the like, at an address reasonably calculated to reach that person (e.g., corporate headquarters, rather than a P.O. Box used for payments). Service on attorneys who have represented a creditor outside of the bankruptcy case is inadequate. See In re Villar, 317 B.R. 88 (9th Cir. BAP 2004). FDIC-insured institutions must be served via certified mail, per Rule 7004(h).

Similarly, service on the Internal Revenue Service ("IRS") usually must comply with Rule 7004(b)(5) (the Court Manual includes instructions and addresses for such service). The rules are not entirely clear, but that may be superseded by the address designated by the IRS in its proof of claim, although that does not help because the debtor has not used that address. See Claim 2-1, p.1, under "Where should notices to the creditor be sent?"

The debtor must re-serve the motion in compliance with the applicable rules for service. That motion must be accompanied by a notice of the continued hearing date (with the standard deadline for any opposition) and a notice clarifying the ambiguities noted below.

(3) Ambiguities

(a) Proposed use of proceeds

The debtor calculates, based on a hypothetical sale price of $1 million, that after paying Wells Fargo's senior debt, real estate taxes, and costs of sale, there will be a remaining balance of roughly $135,000 "for the benefit of creditors." Dkt. 102, p.6:27-28. It is not clear what the debtor means by this.

Typically a sale "free and clear" of liens and other interests under section 363(f) provides for net proceeds to be held in a segregated account and with all remaining liens to attach to those proceeds pending further order of the court, with the same priority, validity, and dollar amounts as those liens had attached to the original collateral. The typical benefit to the debtor and the bankruptcy estate of using this procedure, instead of simply paying the liens out of escrow, is that (i) the sale will not be delayed by any dispute as to the priority, validity, or dollar amount of any lien, or by litigation to avoid one or more liens under 11 U.S.C. 522(f), 547, or on other grounds, and (ii) if the debtor can provide adequate protection of the junior liens then the debtor might be able to use the funds in a way that ultimately will result in a net benefit to all parties - such as repairing a roof on rental property that will assure more rental income, or investing in a business that will generate more revenues.

It appears that the debtor might intend to pay liens, in their order of priority, "directly from escrow" (dkt. 102, p.9:17), or at least provide the Chapter 13 Trustee with discretion to do so (id., p.9:1-6), so perhaps there will be no need to hold net proceeds in a segregated account. In any event, the debtor should clarify what is intended by proposing to use the projected $135,000 "for the benefit of creditors." (If the debtor intends something different from the options outlined above then the debtor must say so; but what the debtor cannot do is to simply use the $135,000 for personal reasons, or distribute it to unsecured creditors, because then the debtor would be ignoring the secured claim(s) held by junior lienholder(s).)

(b) Approval of actual sale

As noted in the "Background" section of this tentative ruling, it is not clear if the debtor intends for this court to pre-authorize whatever sale the debtor might negotiate, but this court is not inclined to grant such a pre-authorization. On the other hand, this court is inclined to approve a two step process: first authorizing the sale procedures set forth in the motion (dkt. 102), as clarified above, and second authorizing the debtor to provide notice to creditors of the actual sale price and other terms (once a sale is negotiated) pursuant to the usual procedures for sales of property in chapter 13 cases in this district. If the debtor seeks any special procedures, such as shortened time, then the debtor should make that clear in the motion papers.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 1/11/18:

Appearances required. This matter was set for hearing based on the Chapter 13 Trustee's objection (dkt. 89) that, among other things, "it is not clear if all lienholders have agreed to such a sale." One lienholder (apparently the senior lienholder who will be paid in full) has filed a conditional non-opposition (dkt. 96), but what about the other lienholders? The motion does not request any sale free and clear of liens under 11 U.S.C. 363(f), nor does the motion address the elements of that statute. Does the debtor intend to amend the motion to seek such relief?

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." Tentative Ruling for 3/20/18:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor. Other parties in interest are invited but not required to appear.

Telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues.

(a) Cash flow and cash collateral motion (dkt. 5, 14, 15, 29). This Court's written order (dkt. 29) erroneously lists the continued hearing as 3/20/18 instead of 4/17/18 at 2:00 p.m., as orally ordered at the hearing on 3/9/18. Nevertheless, it is appropriate in connection with this Status Conference to address the debtor's current and projected cash flow and related issues.

This Court was not persuaded at the hearing on 3/9/18 that the debtor can generate positive cash flow. The debtor is directed to provide a brief update on any plans to generate positive cash flow from her various businesses and properties. It is also appropriate for other parties in interest to address whether there has been adequate disclosure to date regarding the finances of those businesses and properties. The debtor is cautioned that the declaration due on 3/27/18 must provide comprehensive disclosures regarding those businesses and properties: if the debtor cannot show reasonable prospects for positive cash flow within a reasonable time then this Court might have to grant relief from the automatic stay (upon a proper motion), or convert or dismiss this bankruptcy case, at least if the debtor does not abandon unprofitable businesses or properties.

(b) Employment applications. The parties should be prepared to address the oppositions (dkt. 56, 57) and the direct and indirect source(s) of funds used by the debtor to pay prepetition retainers (see dkt. 48, and cf. dkt.

(i) Proposed bankruptcy counsel - Tilem (dkt. 9, 10): (i) Why were resumes for associates, paralegals, and persons who are "of counsel" to the firm not included? (ii) Has counsel waived or amended the provisions in the retainer agreement regarding the "evergreen" retainer; "overtime" rates, and any attorney's lien? (iii) As for proposed out-sourcing, counsel must address whether employment of such counsel could result in imputed or actual conflicts of interest from any work performed by such attorneys for their own clients or for other law firms.

(ii) Proposed special counsel: the Robins firm and Horvitz firm (dkt. 18, 19, 20, 21). The hourly rates of proposed counsel at the Robins firm and Horvitz firm are substantially greater than those for the debtor's proposed general bankruptcy counsel and the Snyder firm. How will the debtor - acting as a debtor in possession with the duties of a trustee for the benefit of creditors - assure that the potential benefits are not outweighed by the costs that can be reasonably anticipated in connection with the ongoing litigation with Birds Nest, the Archbishop, and the Institute (as those terms are defined in the parties' papers)?

(iii) Proposed special counsel: the Snyder firm (dkt. 36, 37). (i) What is the nature of the litigation in which that firm represents the debtor and co-plaintiff, Bridge Tavern, LLC against Odysseuss Investment Group, LLC? (ii) What are the potential costs/risks and benefits? (iii) Is there any actual or potential conflict of interest between the two plaintiffs (e.g., if any judgment in their favor were to be allocated between them in a way that is unfavorable to one or the other)? (iv) From the description at the status conference on 3/9/18 it seemed that the Snyder firm might be assisting the debtor now or in future in transactional matters - is that so?

#5.00 Hrg re: Motion to avoid junior lien on principal residence Trinity Financial Services

Docket 21

Tentative Ruling:

Continue to 5/3/18 at 8:30 a.m., with a deadline of 4/13/18 for the debtor to file and serve supplemental papers addressing the following issues.
Appearances are not required on 4/5/18.

Reasons:

(1) Debtor's appraisal is inadequate. The evidence in support of the motion (dkt. 21, Ex.4) states that the appraised value is based on a "liquidation" value which is defined as, among other things: "[t]he most probable price ... under the following conditions: (1) consummation of a sale within a short period of time ... (4) the seller is under extreme compulsion to sell ... (7) a normal marketing effort is not possible due to the brief exposure time." These assumptions are inconsistent with 11 U.S.C. 506(a)(1), which requires that the value is to be determined "in light of the purpose of the valuation and of the proposed disposition or use of such property ...." There is no evidence that the debtor is contemplating a sale of the subject property, let alone a forced liquidation sale. To the contrary, if any sale were necessary there are provisions in the Bankruptcy Code that permit an orderly, well-marketed sale for the maximum market value.

This Court presumes that the debtor's appraiser can use the prior investigation of the subject property to arrive at an alleged fair market valuation by the deadline stated at the start of this tentative ruling. If that valuation is sufficient to support the motion then this matter will go forward; and otherwise the debtor should file a withdrawal of the motion.

At the continued hearing, if the parties' appraisals continue to support opposite outcomes, they should address how they propose to resolve their disputes - e.g., (i) with an evidentiary hearing; (ii) with a court ruling based solely on the written record (to save costs, if all parties consent), (iii) through mediation, or (iv) through appointment of an appraiser (jointly selected by the parties/their appraisers) as the court's own expert under FRE 706.

(2) The motion identifies two addresses: (1) 10924 Theis Avenue Whittier, CA 90604 (the "Whittier Address"); and (2) 8018 Spring Hill Street, Chino, CA 91708 (the "Chino Address"). It appears the correct address is the Whittier Address, but debtor's own declaration refers to the Chino Address. Since declarations are filed under penalty of perjury, the debtor is cautioned that she must read, understand and make any necessary changes to any future declarations prior to signing. No later than the deadline stated at the start of this tentative ruling counsel for the debtor is directed to file her own declaration affirming that she has shown this tentative ruling to the debtor and has stressed the importance of reading and understanding declarations before signing them.

Continue to 5/3/18 at 8:30 a.m., with a deadline of 4/19/18 to file and serve the debtor's declaration addressing the following issue. Appearances are not required on 4/5/18.

Reasons: The evidence in support of the motion (dkt. 11, p.9 & Ex.B) is a Kelley Blue Book printout that states that it is a "private party" value, but under 11 U.S.C. 506(a)(2) the value means "the price a retail merchant would charge for the property ..." (emphasis added) (which this Court expects is higher than the "private party" value). The tentative ruling is to continue the hearing to the above date and time and direct the debtor to submit a supplemental declaration addressing this issue.

by Claimant Employment Development Department.

Docket 41

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 4/5/18:

Grant, subject to the caveats set forth below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this court's final ruling. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

Key documents reviewed (in addition to motion papers): Amended proof of service on Employment Development Department (dkt. 50); Supplemental Declaration of D. Justin Harelik In Support of Debtor's Objection to Claim No. 8 (the "Harelik Declaration") (dkt. 51). As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, the Employment Development Department has not filed any response.

Reasons: The tentative ruling is to grant Debtor's objection and reclassify the Employment Development Department's Claim No. 8 as an unsecured claim for $1,874.57. On the one hand, it is not entirely convincing to assert (as Mr. Harelik appears to assert) that it is worth the attorney fees to object to a secured claim of $1,874.57: it is true that if that claim were paid as a secured claim then unsecured creditors would receive a slightly smaller dividend; but it is also true that if the attorney fees are paid for this objection then that will also reduce the dividend, and there is no actual calculation showing that the attorney fees in this instance are worth the projected net gain. On the other hand, Mr. Harelik's declaration states that he will not charge any fees in connection with this claim objection, so no hearing is required to address that issue, and accordingly the tentative ruling is to grant this claim objection without requiring appearances.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances

If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 3/8/18:

Continue to 4/5/18 at 8:30 a.m. to address the following issues. Appearances are not required on 3/8/18.

Reasons:

(1) Service. The proof of service does not reflect service on the Employment Development Department to the exact address provided in the proof of claim (e.g., one address fails to include "BOCS MIC 91" and the other address includes an incorrect zip code). The debtor is directed to re-serve the claim objection and file an amended proof of service by no later than 3/15/18.

(2) The claim objection fails to include a sufficient cost/benefit analysis. Judge Bason's posted Procedures (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) state:

When objecting to claims, be sure to consider whether the costs of preparing and litigating the claim objection (administrative expenses) do not exceed the anticipated benefits (reductions in claims). For example, if the anticipated dividend is small or 0%, your claim objection to any general unsecured claim should clearly explain how it is justified to incur the attorney fees for that objection.

In this instance, it appears that counsel for the debtor may be charging the bankruptcy estate (and the debtor) more than it would cost simply to pay the projected distribution to the claim. No later than 3/15/18, the movant must file either:

(a) a supplemental declaration explaining why the attorney fees for this objection are justified (including supporting evidence, such as a copy of the plan showing the projected dividend to the claimant, and a calculation comparing that projected dividend against the attorney fees related to this claim objection), or

(b) a withdrawal of the claim objection (so as not to further waste the time of this Bankruptcy Court, the claimant, and any other parties in interest in addressing this matter).

(3) Counsel is not expected to charge any fees on this matter. This Bankruptcy Court presumes that counsel will not charge any fees on this matter (including all past, present and future work related to this claim objection) and will return any fees that might be (or might have already been) awarded relative to this matter. If that is incorrect, then counsel must appear at the continued hearing and argue why fees are appropriate.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." Docket 47

Tentative Ruling:

Deny for the reasons stated in the opposition (dkt. 61). In addition, in future counsel for the debtor is reminded to include a cost/benefit analysis as part of every objection to claim (see Judge Bason's posted procedures, available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov). Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this court's final ruling. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

fr. 03/08/18

Docket 8

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 4/5/18:

Appearances required by the debtor and debtor's counsel.

At a hearing on 2/8/18, this court denied the debtor's motion to avoid the junior liens of Wells Fargo and the City of Pomona, Housing Division on his principal residence under 506(d) for the reasons set forth below in this court's tentative ruling. In light of debtor's counsel's apparent lack of bankruptcy experience, this court also set this status conference to determine whether the debtor has associated in, or obtained, new counsel and is properly prosecuting this case.

On 3/5/18, debtor's counsel requested a continuance of this hearing due to a death in the family. On 3/6/18, this court granted the request to continue the hearing and directed debtor and debtor's counsel, Mr. Aviles, to appear and show cause why sanctions, dismissal with a bar, or other relief should not be imposed (dkt. 37) (the "OSC").

There is no tentative ruling, but the debtor and debtor's counsel should be prepared to address the issues identified in the OSC.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." (1) Deny for the reasons set forth in the opposition (dkt. 22) filed by Wells Fargo Bank, N.A. ("Wells Fargo") and the additional reasons set forth below, and (2) direct counsel to address at the hearing (a) why he should be allowed any fees for this motion, (b) whether he is competent to represent the debtor at all, and (c) whether he should be associating experienced bankruptcy counsel or arranging for a substitution of counsel and transfer of any fees received from the debtor. Appearances required by counsel for the debtor and by the debtor himself (counsel for the debtor must appear in person, but the debtor and any other parties in interest may appear by telephone if they follow Judge Bason's posted procedures for telephonic appearances, available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov).

Proposed order: Wells Fargo is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this court's final ruling. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

Reasons for denial: The debtor seeks to avoid the junior liens of Wells Fargo and the City of Pomona, Housing Division's ("Pomona") on his principal residence pursuant to section 506(d). But on the record before this court (1) service is inadequate, (2) the evidence is inadequate, and (3) there is no basis to avoid either lien (in whole or in part) under section 506(d).

(1) Service is inadequate

The proof of service (dkt. 8, last 2 pages) fails to comply with the rules for service. Service on Pomona does not comply with Rule 7004(b)(6).

This court also notes that service on Wells Fargo was defective, although Wells Fargo has waived any such defects by filing an opposition (in which it did not raise any deficiency in service). Among other things, Wells Fargo was not served to the attention of an officer as required by Rule 7004(b)(3) & (h) (Fed. R. Bankr. P.) (incorporated by Rule 9014(b), Fed. R. Bankr. P.).

(2) Evidence is inadequate

The form motion includes a section for describing the supporting evidence by exhibit numbers. See dkt. 8, p.4, section 3.c. That section is mostly blank.

CONT...

Ronald Martinez

Chapter 13

(3) Section 506(d) does not support avoidance of either lien

The motion papers include an appraisal valuing the property at $265,000. The debtor states that the total value of all liens against the property is $207,417.65. Motion, p.3, lines 3-7 (1st DOT $89,545.97 + Wells Fargo's 2nd DOT $65,157.55 + Pomona's 3rd DOT $48,714.13 = $207,417.65). Therefore, according to the debtor's own evidence both liens are fully secured and cannot be avoided under section 506(d).

It appears that counsel for the debtor has mistakenly conflated two sections of the Bankruptcy Code:

(a) section 506(d) (which only permits avoidance of liens to the extent they are "under water" (and sometimes not even then - see 11 U.S.C. 1322(b) (2)), and

(b) 11 U.S.C. 522(f), which permits avoidance of judicial liens to the extent that they impair a valid homestead exemption: there is no showing that the liens of Wells Fargo or Pomona are "judicial" liens, and in any event the motion neither seeks nor establishes a sufficient basis for avoidance under section 522(f).

The debtor's reply (dkt. 24) cites irrelevant cases. One case was decided under section 522(f) (and much of its discussion involves matters that have since been mooted by the 2005 revisions to the Bankruptcy Code). See In re Smith, 92 B.R. 287 (Bankr. S.D. Ohio 1988). The debtor cites one other case, for the proposition that "a Motion to Strip [a junior] mortgage may be filed, despite [the fact] that Debtor already obtained a Chapter 7 Discharge." Dkt. 24, p.1:24-25 (citing In re Blendheim, 803 F.3d 477 (9th Cir. 2015)). That issue is irrelevant to whether the lien is partially or wholly unsecured; and on the debtor's own facts the subject liens are wholly secured.

(4) Counsel's fees and competence

Bankruptcy is a complex specialty. It appears that the debtor's counsel is not sufficiently familiar with the Bankruptcy Code and Rules to represent the debtor, either in this specific matter or more generally in this bankruptcy case. Awarding fees for the counterproductive work on this matter would only harm the debtor and creditors, and going forward this Bankruptcy Court is concerned about the potential for irreparable harm to the debtor and creditors. Counsel should be prepared to address (a) whether new counsel should be substituted in and (b) whether any fees that the debtor or the

#29.00 Cont'd hrg re: Motion to Avoid Junior Lien on Principal Residence with Creditor: NP162, LLC Serviced by SN Servicing Corp. fr. 1/11/18, 03/08/18

Docket 21

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 4/5/18:

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

This matter has been continued from 3/8/18 and 1/11/18 to provide the parties with an opportunity to engage in settlement negotiations and, apparently, agree to an order granting the motion in substantial part based on a third party appraisal. There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address the status of those things.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 1/11/18:

Appearances required. There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address the following issues:

(1) Valuation dispute

The parties should be prepared to address how they propose to resolve their disputes re: valuation of the subject property - e.g., (i) with an evidentiary hearing; (ii) with a court ruling based solely on the written record (to save costs, if all parties consent), (iii) through mediation, or (iv) through

(2) Settlement

The parties should address whether this court should continue this matter to provide the parties with an opportunity to engage in settlement negotiations.

Grant as set forth below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this court's final ruling. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

Key documents reviewed (in addition to motion papers): Supplemental Declaration of Kelving J. Lo In Support of Debtor's Objection to Claim No. 1 (the "Lo Declaration") (dkt. 45).

Reasons: The tentative ruling is to grant Debtor's objection and disallow Cavalry SPV I, LLC's Claim No. 1 in its entirety. Pursuant to the Lo Declaration, counsel may not charge more than $500 in fees for all services provided in connection with the claim objection.

Reasons:

(1) The claim objection fails to include a sufficient cost/benefit analysis.
Judge Bason's posted Procedures (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) state:

When objecting to claims, be sure to consider whether the costs of preparing and litigating the claim objection (administrative expenses) do not exceed the anticipated benefits (reductions in claims). For example, if the anticipated dividend is small or 0%, your claim objection to any general unsecured claim should clearly explain how it is justified to incur the attorney fees for that objection.

In this instance, it appears that counsel for the debtor may be charging the bankruptcy estate (and the debtor) more than it would cost simply to pay the projected distribution to the claim. No later than 3/15/18, the movant must file either:

(a) a supplemental declaration explaining why the attorney fees for this objection are justified (including supporting evidence, such as a copy of the plan showing the projected dividend to the claimant, and a calculation comparing that projected dividend against the attorney fees related to this claim objection), or

(b) a withdrawal of the claim objection (so as not to further waste the time of this Bankruptcy Court, the claimant, and any other parties in interest in addressing this matter).

(2) Counsel is not expected to charge any fees on this matter. This Bankruptcy Court presumes that counsel will not charge any fees on this matter (including all past, present and future work related to this claim objection) and will return any fees that might be (or might have already been) awarded relative to this matter. If that is incorrect, then counsel must appear at the continued hearing and argue why fees are appropriate.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 4/9/18:

Appearances required

(1) Current issues

(a) Motion to approve settlement with Fresco Parties (dkt. 132). At the hearing on 3/20/18, this Court's oral tentative ruling was to grant the motion, but this Court was persuaded to continue the hearing to this date to allow time for the parties to meet and confer about perceived ambiguities and practical concerns raised by the Community Bank. The parties should be prepared to address whether the amended settlement agreement (dkt. 157) adequately addresses the issues raised by Community Bank on the record at the 3/20/18 hearing.

In addition, the parties are directed to address the following issue. The "Release by Debtors" in the amended agreement (dkt. 157, Ex.A, p.3, para.ii.) provides that the debtors release the debtors. Is that intentional, or did the parties intend to provide that the debtors release the Fresco Parties?

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 10/16/17.

Tentative Ruling for 2/13/18:

(1) Current issues

(a) Potential settlement with Fresco Parties. The parties must be prepared to address the status of their settlement negotiations and finalization of the draft settlement documents circulated 2/5/18, and all other issues appropriate to raise at a status conference, including the issues in their recent status reports and related documents (Sakurai case, no. 2:17-bk-22660-NB, dkt. 87, 104, 105, 114, 124, and Checkmate case, no. 2:17-bk-22648-NB, dkt. 90, 93, 100, 102, 104, 105, 106, 109, 112, 113, 119, 122).

(b) Cash collateral & budget motions & stipulation (Sakurai dkt. 119, 122; Checkmate dkt. 114, 118, 119). Grant the cash collateral motion in the Sakurai case, subject to the same replacement liens and other terms and conditions as this Court's prior approvals of the use of cash collateral (see Sakurai case dkt. 43, 57); grant the budget motion in the Sakurai case; and approve the cash collateral stipulation in the Checkmate case on a final basis.

(d) Removed action (Adv. no. 2:17-ap-01558-NB), motions for stay and for remand (adv. dkt. 8, 10, 12, 13). The tentative ruling is that the motion for a stay pending determination by the District Court of the debtors' motion to withdraw the reference is moot, because the District Court has dismissed that motion. There is no tentative ruling on the motion to remand.

Revised Tentative Ruling for 11/14/17:

Appearances required by the debtor's principals and debtor's counsel.

Proposed orders: The debtor is directed to serve and lodge proposed orders on each motion listed below via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date.

(1) Current issues

(a) Status Report (dkt. 37): The status report states that the debtor has no executory contracts. What about all the contracts with Radiology Solutions Inc./Corp. (whichever name is correct)?

(b) Cash collateral motion (dkt.9): The debtor reports (dkt. 53, p.3) that it has reached a stipulation with Community Bank regarding the use of cash collateral, but as of the preparation of this tentative ruling no such stipulation appears on the docket. If there is no such stipulation, or if it does not moot the bank's opposition (dkt. 50), then the parties should be prepared to address the merits of that opposition. In addition, the parties should be prepared to address the objection of the Fresco parties (dkt. 49) and the debtor's response (dkt. 53).

(c) Payroll motion (dkt. 6). The tentative ruling is to grant this motion on a final basis.

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 4/9/18:

Appearances required.

(1) Current issues

(a) Motion to approve settlement with Fresco Parties (dkt. 137). At the hearing on 3/20/18, this Court's oral tentative ruling was to grant the motion, but this Court was persuaded to continue the hearing to this date to allow time for the parties to meet and confer about perceived ambiguities and practical concerns raised by the Community Bank. The parties should be prepared to address whether the amended settlement agreement (dkt. 159) adequately addresses the issues raised by Community Bank on the record at the 3/20/18 hearing.

In addition, the parties are directed to address the following issue. The "Release by Debtors" in the amended agreement (dkt. 159, Ex.A, p.3, para.ii.) provides that the debtors release the debtors. Is that intentional, or did the parties intend to provide that the debtors release the Fresco Parties?

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 10/16/17.

(a) Bar date: 1/17/18 (order timely served. dkt. 58, 59)

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: file by 4/18/18 using the forms required by Judge Bason (DO NOT SERVE yet, except on the U.S. Trustee - the court will set a deadline and procedures at a later time).

Tentative Ruling for 3/20/18:

Appearances required.

(1) Current issues

(a) February MOR (dkt. 145). Pursuant to the Amended and Extended Stipulation for Use of Cash Collateral between Checkmate and Community Bank (17-22648, dkt. 114, p.3, paragraph 5, dkt. 127), to the extent Checkmate has insufficient funds to pay Community Bank $14,000 in monthly adequate protection payments, this court authorized the Sakurais to make that payment (dkt. 119, 131). However, Checkmate's February MOR (dkt. 142) reflects only a single payment to Community Bank on 2/22/18 (p. 2). The debtors should be prepared to address why they gave an additional $14,000 to Checkmate without obtaining court authorization.

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement. If this court approves the settlement with the Fresco Parties (dkt. 132), the tentative is to set a hearing on 5/8/18 at 1:00 p.m. for approval of the plan and disclosure statement for dissemination.

Tentative Ruling for 2/13/18:

Appearances required.

(1) Current issues

(a) Potential settlement with Fresco Parties. The parties must be prepared to address the status of their settlement negotiations and finalization of the draft settlement documents circulated 2/5/18, and all other issues appropriate to raise at a status conference, including the issues in their recent status reports and related documents (Sakurai case, no. 2:17-bk-22660-NB, dkt. 87, 104, 105, 114, 124, and Checkmate case, no. 2:17-bk-22648-NB, dkt. 90, 93, 100, 102, 104, 105, 106, 109, 112, 113, 119, 122).

(b) Cash collateral & budget motions & stipulation (Sakurai dkt. 119, 122; Checkmate dkt. 114, 118, 119). Grant the cash collateral motion in the Sakurai case, subject to the same replacement liens and other terms and conditions as this Court's prior approvals of the use of cash collateral (see Sakurai case dkt. 43, 57); grant the budget motion in the Sakurai case; and approve the cash collateral stipulation in the Checkmate case on a final basis.

(d) Removed action (Adv. no. 2:17-ap-01558-NB), motions for stay and for remand (adv. dkt. 8, 10, 12, 13). The tentative ruling is that the motion for a stay pending determination by the District Court of the debtors' motion to withdraw the reference is moot, because the District Court has dismissed that motion. There is no tentative ruling on the motion to remand.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 10/16/17.

(1) Current issues

(a) Dec MOR (dkt. 97):

(i) On page 1 of 34, the MOR reflects $793,000 in cash receipts for the pre-petition Community Bank Sakurai Family Trust savings account, with a notation that Community Bank initially seized, but has since returned, the funds. What is this money from? Is it currently being held? Is it available to pay secured or unsecured creditors?

(ii) On page 7 of 34, there is a line item reflecting a $5,000 payment to Mr. Aronson for legal fees. At the status conference on 1/9/18 this court highlighted that the Sakurais had made a similar payment in November for Mr. Aronson's fees and counsel stated that the payment was made in error, and the debtors and their counsel assured this court that this issue would be addressed. By no later than February 7, 2018, Mr. Aronson is directed to file a declaration addressing the status of the $10,000 in legal fees ($5,000 Nov; $5,000 Dec) that he received from the Sakurais.

(b) Turnover of Documents and Information, etc. The parties must be prepared to address what documents and information have been produced by the debtors, and all other issues appropriate to raise at a status conference, including the issues in their recent status reports and related documents (case no. 2:17-bk-22660-NB, dkt. 87, 104, 105, 114, and 2:17-bk-22648-NB, dkt. 90, 93, 100, 102, 104, 105, 106, 109, 112, 113).

(a) Status Report (dkt. 42): The debtors' status report fails to suggest any bar date or any deadline for filing a draft plan and draft disclosure statement. The debtors suggest that the Fresco litigation might have to conclude before they can propose plan, but they fail to support any such delay with relevant information about that litigation, nor do they explain how claims estimation and/or a disputed claims reserve would be inadequate to address this litigation. See generally 11 U.S.C. 502(c) and Rule 3018(a) (Fed. R. Bankr. P.). Accordingly, the tentative ruling is to fix the deadlines set forth below.

(a) Proofs of service (dkt. 18, 19, 21, 22). Service does not appear to be in compliance with this court's orders shortening time because they do not certify that anyone was served via overnight delivery or other expedited means.

The following tentative rulings are contingent on filing a corrected proof of service, no later than the day after this hearing, declaring that such expedited service was actually done, or if that is not true then the tentative ruling is to impose sanctions of $200 on counsel for the debtors and, despite the lack of service, authorize the proposed expenditures of cash collateral and the proposed utility deposits as an interim method of providing adequate protection under 11 U.S.C. 361-366.

FEDERAL NATIONAL MORTGAGE ASSOC
VS
DEBTOR

Docket 31

Tentative Ruling:

Appearances required. There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address (a) whether the alleged arrears have been brought current and/or (b) whether they will agree to the terms of an adequate protection order (see the debtor's response, dkt. 35).

DITECH FINANCIAL LLC
vs
DEBTOR

Docket 68

Tentative Ruling:

Grant as provided below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

Termination. Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1).

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) is also terminated, because it has not been shown to have any basis to exist independent of the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a). To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Effective date of relief. Deny the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a)(3) for lack of sufficient cause shown.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 4/10/18:

Grant request for future in rem relief for the reasons stated below.
Appearances are not required on 4/10/18.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this court's final ruling. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

Reason: This matter was continued from 3/20/18 on shortened notice on the condition that Movant serve the motion and notice of this continued hearing on the original borrowers (Kari Moulthrop and Jason Waltrip) by 3/21/18. On 4/3/18, Movant filed an amended proof of service reflecting service on the original borrowers on 3/21/18 (dkt. 34).

Relief notwithstanding future bankruptcy cases. Grant the following relief pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(4) and the legal analysis in In re Vazquez (case no. 2:16-bk-10699-NB, dkt. 75) and/or In re Choong (case no. 2:14-bk-28378-NB, docket no. 31), as applicable:

Grant in part and continue in part to 4/10/18 at 10:00 a.m. as set forth below.
Appearances are not required on 3/20/18.

Termination. Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (d)(2).

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) is also terminated, because it has not been shown to have any basis to exist independent of the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a). To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. Relief notwithstanding future bankruptcy cases.

As to the requested relief that will remain effective notwithstanding any future bankruptcy case, continue the motion to the date and time set forth at the start of this tentative ruling, for service on the persons who executed the documents through which the movant asserts its interest in the property (sometimes referred to in the mortgage context as the "original borrower").
Reasons: See LBR 4001-1(c)(1)(B). In addition, Judge Bason has due process concerns about granting such relief without service on the person(s) whose interests may be most directly affected. See generally Mullane v. Central Hanover Bank & Trust Co., 339 U.S. 306 (1950) (due process generally). In this matter, such persons appear to include: Kari Moulthrop and Jason Waltrip.

Option for shortened time: This court has selected a continued hearing date that contemplates shortened notice (per Rule 9006) but that date is conditioned on the movant serving all papers on the day after the current hearing date. Alternatively, the movant may self-calendar a continued hearing on regular notice.

Option for interim/partial order: Movant may elect to lodge a proposed order granting the partial relief provided in this tentative ruling, but any such order must recite that a continued hearing has been set to consider additional relief (or, alternatively, that the movant no longer seeks additional relief and the Clerk's office is requested and directed to take the continued hearing off calendar).

Effective date of relief. Grant the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a)(3).

Grant as provided below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

Termination. Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (d)(2).

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) is also terminated, because it has not been shown to have any basis to exist independent of the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a). To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. #28.00 Hrg re: Motion in Individual Case for Order Imposing a Stay or Continuing the Automatic Stay as the Court Deems Appropriate

Docket 11

Tentative Ruling:

Grant, subject to the following conditions. Appearances are not required.

After the hearing date this court will prepare an order and the tentative ruling is to include the following language in that order:

The stay of 11 U.S.C. 362(a) applies subject to the following modifications and conditions:

(1) Service and reconsideration. Any party in interest who was not timely served in accordance with FRBP 7004 (incorporated by FRBP 9014(b)) is hereby granted through 14 days after proper service to seek reconsideration, including retroactive relief (under FRBP 9023 and/or 9024). Any such person (a) may set a hearing on 14 days' notice, (b) may appear by telephone (if arrangements are made per Judge Bason's posted procedures), and (c) may present all arguments orally at the hearing (i.e., no written argument is required). If written arguments appear necessary then this court will set a briefing schedule at the hearing.

(2) Reasons. (a) It appears appropriate to impose the automatic stay, and to impose it as to all persons rather than just as to selected persons, because one purpose of the automatic stay is to preventing a "race to collect" that could unfairly advantage some creditors at the expense of others. (b) To prevent possible abuse, this court provides the foregoing simple process for reconsideration.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." Chapter 13

#32.00 Hrg re: Motion to vacate order granting relief from the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. section 362

Docket 59

Tentative Ruling:

Grant on the following conditions: (a) the debtor must tender the $26,278.75 cashier's check (dkt. 65, Ex.A) at the hearing (or as otherwise directed by the creditor) and (b) the debtor must pay any additional shortfall and the creditor's attorney fees and other costs and expenses as set forth below. Appearances required.

Analysis: The tentative ruling is that (1) the debtor has established sufficient excuses both for his own neglect and for the neglect of his counsel, (2) the debtor has presented sufficient evidence of a substantial equity cushion that adequately protects the creditor, and (3) equitable considerations apply both to relief under Rule 9024 (Fed. R. Bankr. P.) and to adequate protection (11 U.S.C. 361 & 362(d)) and it would be inequitable to require the creditor essentially to make a forced loan by incurring attorney fees and other costs and expenses without being reimbursed within a reasonable time. Accordingly the tentative ruling is to set a continued hearing on 5/22/18 at 10:00 a.m. with a standard briefing schedule to determine the dollar amount that the debtor must reimburse as follows.

Specifically, the tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 4/24/18 for the creditor to file declaration(s) setting forth any shortfall in the debtor's cure payment plus its reasonable attorney fees and all other costs and expenses attributable to the debtor's delay in payment (late fees, foreclosure trustee's fees, etc.), with a deadline of 5/1/18 for any objection by the debtor to those dollar amounts, and a deadline of 5/8/18 for any reply. At the continued hearing this Court will resolve any disputes as to the total dollar amount, after which the debtor will be obligated to repay that dollar amount over six months pursuant to a standard adequate protection order.

Key documents reviewed (in addition to motion papers): the creditor's opposition (dkt. 63-64) and the debtor's reply (dkt. 65).

Docket 38

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 4/10/18 (same as for 3/20/18 except encouraging telephonic appearances):

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures"). There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address (a) whether the alleged arrears have been brought current and/or (b) whether they will agree to the terms of an adequate protection order (see the debtor's response, dkt. 40).

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling:

Appearances required. On 2/22/18, the parties stipulated to continue the hearing to this date to allow debtor time to complete a refinance (reverse mortgage) of the property (dkt. 84, 86). There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address (a) what the status of the refinance is, (b) whether the alleged arrears have been brought current and/or (c) whether they will agree to the terms of an adequate protection order.

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 4/10/18:

Grant, because the debtor's amended plan (dkt. 33) does not include the terms discussed at the hearing on 3/6/18. Appearances are not required.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 3/6/18:

Appearances required. There is no tentative ruling but the parties must address the issues described below. In addition, the movant's counsel is directed to address why his reply (dkt. 26) has numerous typographical errors that make it difficult to read, and what steps he will take to fix that problem in future (in this case and other cases).

Analysis and tentative ruling: As stated in the debtor's response (dkt. 25) his proposed chapter 13 plan apparently contemplates full payment of the movant's claim during the term of the plan in Class 3A, and although the "boilerplate" language in that plan speaks of "bifurcation" it appears that the debtor intends to treat the entire claim as secured and pay it in full. But there are problems with treating the debtor's plan payments as the equivalent of adequate protection payments.

Chapter 13

Specifically: (a) the principal dollar amount owed to the movant as listed in the plan is slightly less than what is listed in the motion papers, (b) the debtor does not provide any rate of interest of the movant's claim, and (c) the order of payment of claims under the plan (p.4 of the plan) provides that before the movant receives any distributions from the Chapter 13 Trustee the debtor's attorney and the Chapter 13 Trustee's fees will be paid, which means that the debtor will fall behind in payments to the movant before catching up, and that exposes the movant to the risk that the debtor will never catch up (if the case is converted or dismissed or if the debtor has a reduction in disposable income). Counsel for the debtor must address at the hearing how the debtor proposes to address the foregoing shortfalls.

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) is also terminated, because it has not been shown to have any basis to exist independent of the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a). To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. Docket 35

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 4/10/18:

Grant request for future in rem relief for the reasons stated below.
Appearances are not required on 4/10/18.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this court's final ruling. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

Reason: This matter was continued from 3/20/18 on shortened notice on the condition that Movant serve the motion and notice of this continued hearing on the original borrowers (Kari Moulthrop and Jason Waltrip) by 3/21/18. On 4/3/18, Movant filed an amended proof of service reflecting service on the original borrowers on 3/21/18 (dkt. 48).

Relief notwithstanding future bankruptcy cases. Grant the following relief pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(4) and the legal analysis in In re Vazquez (case no. 2:16-bk-10699-NB, dkt. 75) and/or In re Choong (case no. 2:14-bk-28378-NB, docket no. 31), as applicable:

If this order is duly recorded in compliance with applicable State laws governing notices of interests or liens in the property at issue, then no automatic stay shall apply to such property in any bankruptcy case purporting to affect such property and filed within two years after the date of entry of this order, unless otherwise ordered by the court presiding over that bankruptcy case.

possession of such property shall not be stayed. Any additional request for relief applicable to future bankruptcy cases is denied (e.g., any request to grant relief against third parties without any notice is denied) due to lack of sufficient factual or legal grounds presented in support of such relief.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 3/20/18:

Grant in part and continue in part to 4/10/18 at 10:00 a.m. as set forth below.
Appearances are not required on 3/20/18.

The automatic stay does not apply.

This case has been dismissed, which terminates the automatic stay. See 11 USC 349(b)(3) & 362(c).

In the alternative and in addition, this court grants relief from the automatic stay as follows.

Termination. Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (d)(2).

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) is also terminated, because it has not been shown to have any basis to exist independent of the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a). To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Retroactive relief. Grant the request for retroactive annulment of the stay. See In re Fjeldsted, 293 B.R. 12 (9th Cir. BAP 2003).

Relief notwithstanding future bankruptcy cases.

future bankruptcy case, continue the motion to the date and time set forth at the start of this tentative ruling, for service on the persons who executed the documents through which the movant asserts its interest in the property (sometimes referred to in the mortgage context as the "original borrower"). Reasons: See LBR 4001-1(c)(1)(B). In addition, Judge Bason has due process concerns about granting such relief without service on the person(s) whose interests may be most directly affected. See generally Mullane v. Central Hanover Bank & Trust Co., 339 U.S. 306 (1950) (due process generally). In this matter, such persons appear to include: Kari Moulthrop and Jason Waltrip.

Option for shortened time: This court has selected a continued hearing date that contemplates shortened notice (per Rule 9006) but that date is conditioned on the movant serving all papers on the day after the current hearing date. Alternatively, the movant may self-calendar a continued hearing on regular notice.

Option for interim/partial order: Movant may elect to lodge a proposed order granting the partial relief provided in this tentative ruling, but any such order must recite that a continued hearing has been set to consider additional relief (or, alternatively, that the movant no longer seeks additional relief and the Clerk's office is requested and directed to take the continued hearing off calendar).

Effective date of relief. Grant the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a)(3).

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 4/10/18:

Appearances are not required. A judgment (adv. dkt. 268) has been entered pursuant to the parties' settlement, and the tentative ruling is to excuse counsel's previous non-appearances and discharge this Court's order to show cause why counsel should not be sanctioned for such non-appearance (adv. dkt. 258, 264). There do not appear to be any other reasons for requiring further proceedings in this adversary proceeding.

The Order to Show Cause was served on Mr. Burton via first class U.S. mail on 10/20/17 at his address of record (dkt. 260). As of the posting of this tentative ruling, Mr. Burton has not filed a proof of service evidencing compliance with the Order to Show Cause. Accordingly, Mr. Burton should be prepared to address why this court should not impose sanctions.

In addition, all other counsel have failed to respond to the Order to Show Cause, nor have they filed substitutions of counsel, or otherwise addressed this matter. They should be prepared to address why this should not also be sanctioned.

In addition, the parties should be prepared to address the issues noted in the tentative ruling for 10/17/17 (reproduced below).

There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address the status of this case and the appeal regarding the judgment in favor of the debtor under 11 U.S.C. 727 (adv. dkt. 237, 238) presently pending before the United States District Court for the Central District of California (see adv. dkt. 244, 252).

Chapter 11

#1.00 Status conference re: Chapter 11 case

Docket 9

Tentative Ruling:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor and by the debtor herself.

(1) Current issues. This Court has reviewed the debtor's status report (dkt. 19), the response (dkt. 23) filed by creditor Strategic Acquisitions, Inc. ("Strategic"), and the other filed documents and records in this case.

(a) Prior failed case. The debtor's husband's prior case (no. 17-bk-19071-NB) was a chapter 13 case that was dismissed on 10/13/17 with a 180-day bar to re-filing for failure to make plan payments or appear at the meeting of creditors (11 U.S.C. 341(a)).

(b) Budget Motion (dkt. 21). First, as Strategic points out, the debtor's bankruptcy Schedule I, line 8a, lists $6,220/mo. of net income from "rental property and from operating a business, profession, or farm" but fails to follow the instructions to "[a]ttach a statement for each property and business showing gross receipts, ordinary and necessary business expenses, and the total net monthly income." In addition, as Strategic points out, the debtor may be failing to account for the payment of real property taxes and perhaps also income taxes, and therefore it is not at all clear how the debtor will be able to fund any plan of reorganization.

The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 4/17/18 for the debtor to file declaration(s) (i) attaching the statement(s) required by the line 8a instructions, (ii) providing complete explanations of any other sources of income (e.g., how long does the debtor anticipate continuing to receive disability payments? does the debtor anticipate returning to employment, and if so, when?), (iii) explaining whether the debtor is accounting for real estate taxes and income taxes, (iv) explaining how the debtor anticipates generating sufficient income to fund a plan of reorganization, and (v) attaching historical monthly accounts for the period of one year prepetition through 3/31/18.

Second, bankruptcy Schedule J (attached to the budget motion), lines 17c and 17d, list payments to Strategic of $1,750/mo. and to Ropers Majeski of $500/mo. The tentative ruling is to treat those payments as adequate protection payments on account of claims that appear to be secured claims, conditioned on return of such payments in the event that such security interests or claims are avoided or otherwise disallowed.

Third, notice of the motion and the deadline for objections is inadequate. The proof of service fails to attach a service list of creditors, and the debtor checked the box directing creditors to file any oppositions within 14 days' from the date of the proof of service (3/27/18), which would be the date of this hearing. Nevertheless, despite the lack of adequate service or notice, the tentative ruling is that on the present record it appears that it would be more prejudicial to creditors to prevent the debtors from making their proposed expenditures than to permit those expenditures, so the tentative ruling is to grant the budget motion on an interim basis, subject to any objections at a continued hearing simultaneous with the continued status conference date set forth below. This court has selected a continued hearing date that contemplates shortened notice (per Rule 9006, Fed. R. Bankr. P.), but that date is conditioned upon the debtor serving the motion on the entire creditor matrix the day after the current hearing date.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 3/13/18.

(a) Bar date: 6/15/18 (DO NOT SERVE notice yet - court will prepare an order after the status conference).

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: File by 6/29/18 using the forms required by Judge Bason (DO NOT SERVE yet, except on the U.S. Trustee - the court will set a deadline and procedures at a later time). This Court is aware that the debtor has requested a much later deadline (dkt. 19, p. 5), but this Court is not aware of any reason why so much time is needed. The debtor should be negotiating with secured creditors and other key constituencies already.

(c) Continued status conference: 5/1/18 at 1:00 p.m. No written status report is required.

*Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

#3.00 Hrg re: Motion in individual chapter 11 case
for order authorizing use of cash collateral

Docket 12

Tentative Ruling:

Grant the motion (docket no. 12) on an interim basis, subject to the conditions set forth below, with a final hearing on 5/1/18 at 1:00 p.m., and a deadline of 4/11/18 for the movant to file and serve a notice of the final hearing.

Judge Bason's standard conditions for use of cash collateral and/or postpetition financing (by creditors holding prepetition claims)

(1) Written order

(a) Form. Use local form

F2081-1.1.ORDER.CASH.COLLATERAL or the equivalent. Attach a copy of this tentative ruling as an exhibit, thereby adopting it as the written ruling of the court. Do not repeat the terms set forth in the motion or any stipulation. Incorporate those terms by reference, subject to any modification by this court (including the docket number of the document).

(b) Timing. Lodge the proposed order within 7 days after the hearing. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(2) Minimum adequate protection

In addition to the postpetition security interests that are automatically provided pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 552 (e.g., in traceable proceeds and profits), and subject to any more comprehensive protection that may be included in the motion or related papers, the debtor shall provide at least the following protection to any creditor with a security interest in the subject property (pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 361-364, as applicable):

(a) Insurance. For all collateral of a type that typically is insured (e.g., real property and improvements), the debtor is directed to maintain insurance in a dollar amount at least equal to the debtor's good faith estimate of the value of such creditor's interest in the collateral, and such insurance shall name such creditor as an additional insured. The debtor is directed to remain current on payments for such insurance.

(b) Taxes. The debtor is directed to remain current on payments on account of postpetition real estate taxes (to the extent that real estate is part of the collateral).

(c) Disclosures/access. The debtor is directed to provide, upon such creditor's reasonable request, periodic accountings of the foregoing insurance and tax obligations and payments, as well as postpetition proceeds, products, offspring, or profits from the collateral, including gross revenues and expenses and a calculation of net revenues, including any rents and any fees, charges, accounts, or other payments for the use or occupancy of rooms and other public facilities in lodging properties (as all of the foregoing terms are used in 11 U.S.C. 552). The debtor is directed to provide appropriate documentation of those accountings, and access for purposes of inspection or appraisal.

(3) Limitation on postpetition liens

In the event that the motion or related papers seek authority to grant postpetition liens to the creditor(s) with respect to prepetition debts any such liens shall be limited to the same validity, priority, and amount as prepetition liens. As used herein, the "validity, priority, and amount" or any similar phrase that may be used by the parties or the court is deemed to include the following:

(a) Extent. Such liens shall be limited to the type of collateral in which the creditor held a security interest as of the petition date, unless this order expressly states that the liens granted by this order are intended to attach to different types of collateral from the prepetition collateral. For example, if prepetition liens extended to inventory and accounts receivable but not equipment then postpetition liens are likewise limited (unless otherwise expressly provided below); and postpetition liens shall not extend to the proceeds of any avoidance actions, any recoveries under 11 U.S.C. 506(c), or any "carveout" under 11 U.S.C. 552.

(b) Priority. Such liens shall be limited to the same priority as the security interest held by the creditor as of the petition date.

(c) Dollar amount. Such liens shall be limited to the dollar amount needed to protect the creditor against diminution in the value of the secured claims as of the petition date.

(d) Enforceability. Such liens shall be limited to the extent that the creditor's security interests were duly perfected and valid as of the petition date, and to the extent that they are unavoidable.

(e) Automatic postpetition perfection. Any automatic perfection of such liens shall be subject to any applicable limitations regarding the Court's authority, jurisdiction, or due process.

(4) Automatic disapproval of insufficiently disclosed provisions

Any provision of the type listed in FRBP 4001(c)(1)(B) or in local form F4001-2 (e.g., cross-collateralization) or any waiver of the "equities of the case" exception in 11 U.S.C. 552(b)(2) shall be deemed automatically disapproved and excepted from any order granting the motion, notwithstanding any other provision of such order, unless either: (a) such provision is specifically and prominently disclosed in the motion papers in a checklist (such as local form F4001-2), or alternatively (b) such provision is specifically identified in any proposed order granting the motion, using terminology of the type used in FRBP 4001(c)(1)(B) or local form F4001-2 (e.g., any "cross-collateralization" that is not specifically identified as such is deemed to be disapproved).

(5) Disputes

In the event of any disputes regarding the rulings in this order, the parties are directed to meet and confer and, if they cannot resolve their disputes consensually, contact the chambers of the presiding judge to arrange a mutually convenient time for either a telephonic or in-person hearing to address such disputes.

Chapter 11

#4.00 Status conference re: Chapter 11 case

Docket 7

Tentative Ruling:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor and by the debtor(s) themselves.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Failure to serve order. This Court's order setting this status conference (dkt. 6) directed the debtor to serve a copy of that order on all parties in interest no later than 14 days prior to this status conference. No proof of service appears on the docket. The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 4/11/18 for the debtor to effect such service, with a caution to counsel that in future such failure may result in sanctions.
