#1.00 Hrg re: Motion for relief from stay [RP]

PENNYMAC LOAN SERVICES, LLC
vs
DEBTOR

Docket 30

Tentative Ruling:

Appearances required. There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address (a) whether the alleged arrears have been brought current and/or (b) whether they will agree to the terms of an adequate protection order (see the debtor's response, dkt. 39).

U.S. BANK NATIONAL ASSOCIATION
vs
DEBTOR

Docket 47

Tentative Ruling:

Grant as provided below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

Termination

Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1).

To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Effective date of relief

Deny the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a) (3) for lack of sufficient cause shown.

Co-debtor stay

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) has not been shown to have any basis for any different treatment from the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a), so the tentative ruling is to grant the identical relief regarding any co-debtor stay.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." Docket 30

Tentative Ruling:

Grant as provided below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this Court's final ruling. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

Termination

Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (d)(4).

To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Relief notwithstanding future bankruptcy cases.

Grant the following relief pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(4) and the legal analysis in In re Vazquez, 580 B.R. 526 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2017), and/or In re Choong (case no. 2:14-bk-28378-NB, docket no. 31), as applicable:

If this order is duly recorded in compliance with applicable State laws governing notices of interests or liens in the property at issue, then no automatic stay shall apply to such property in any bankruptcy case purporting to affect such property and filed within two years after the date of entry of this order, unless otherwise ordered by the court presiding over that bankruptcy case.

For the avoidance of doubt, any acts by the movant to obtain exclusive possession of such property shall not be stayed, including any eviction actions, through and including any lockout or other enforcement by the Sheriff or other authorized legal authority.

Chapter 13

Note: Per Judge Bason's posted procedures (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) this Court's order will state that the Court "does not make" a finding that Debtor was involved in the "scheme" referenced in section 362(d)(4), unless there is sufficient evidence that Debtor was involved and Debtor is given clear notice that the movant seeks an express finding that Debtor was involved. The tentative ruling in this particular case is that there is not sufficient evidence and notice.

No prejudice to Debtor intended. Based on the record, it appears that this is a "hijacked" case, and that Debtor is innocent of any involvement. See e.g., In re Vazquez, 580 B.R. 526 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2017) (describing hijacking); In re Dorsey, 476 B.R. 261 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2012) (same). Accordingly, the tentative ruling is to condition any relief from the automatic stay on this Court's determination that this motion shall not result in the application of sections 109(g)(2) and 362(b)(21)(A) to Debtor or any property other than the property that is the subject of this motion for relief from the automatic stay, and that by not contesting this tentative ruling the movant has waived and forfeited any contrary argument. See In re Leaffy, 489 B.R. 545, 550-51 (9th Cir. BAP 2012); In re Mendez, 367 B.R. 109, 116-17 (9th Cir. BAP 2007); In re Luna, 122 B.R. 575, 577 (9th Cir. BAP 1991); Dorsey, 476 B.R. 261, 270.

Effective date of relief

Grant the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a) (3).

Co-debtor stay

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) has not been shown to have any basis for any different treatment from the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a), so the tentative ruling is to grant the identical relief regarding any co-debtor stay.

Grant as provided below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

The automatic stay does not apply

This case has been dismissed, which terminates the automatic stay. See 11 U.S.C. 349(b)(3) & 362(c).

In the alternative and in addition, this court grants relief from the automatic stay as follows.

Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1).

To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Effective date of relief

Grant the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a)(3).

Co-debtor stay

Relief notwithstanding future bankruptcy cases.

Deny, without prejudice to any other types of relief granted herein (or previously granted), for the following reasons.

The motion requests requests "in rem" relief (i.e., relief applicable notwithstanding future bankruptcy cases (under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(4) and/or In re Vazquez, 580 B.R. 526 (Bankr. C.D. Tentative Ruling:

Appearances required. There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address (a) whether the alleged arrears have been brought current and/or (b) whether they will agree to the terms of an adequate protection order (see the debtor's response, dkt. 43).

Hrg re: Motion for relief from stay [RP]

BANK OF AMERICA, NA
vs
DEBTOR

Docket 31

Tentative Ruling:

Grant as provided below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this Court's final ruling. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

The automatic stay does not apply

This case has been dismissed, which terminates the automatic stay. See 11 U.S.C. 349(b)(3) & 362(c).

In the alternative, and in addition, this Court grants the following relief.

Termination

Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (d)(4).

To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Relief notwithstanding future bankruptcy cases.

Grant the following relief pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(4) and the legal analysis in In re Vazquez, 580 B.R. 526 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2017), and/or In re Choong (case no. 2:14-bk-28378-NB, docket no. 31), as applicable:

bankruptcy case purporting to affect such property and filed within two years after the date of entry of this order, unless otherwise ordered by the court presiding over that bankruptcy case.

For the avoidance of doubt, any acts by the movant to obtain exclusive possession of such property shall not be stayed, including any eviction actions, through and including any lockout or other enforcement by the Sheriff or other authorized legal authority.

Note: Per Judge Bason's posted procedures (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) this Court's order will state that the Court "does not make" a finding that Debtor was involved in the "scheme" referenced in section 362(d)(4), unless there is sufficient evidence that Debtor was involved and Debtor is given clear notice that the movant seeks an express finding that Debtor was involved. The tentative ruling in this particular case is that there is not sufficient evidence and notice.

No prejudice to Debtor intended. Based on the record, it appears that this is a "hijacked" case, and that Debtor is innocent of any involvement. See e.g., In re Vazquez, 580 B.R. 526 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2017) (describing hijacking); In re Dorsey, 476 B.R. 261 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2012) (same). Accordingly, the tentative ruling is to condition any relief from the automatic stay on this Court's determination that this motion shall not result in the application of sections 109(g)(2) and 362(b)(21)(A) to Debtor or any property other than the property that is the subject of this motion for relief from the automatic stay, and that by not contesting this tentative ruling the movant has waived and forfeited any contrary argument. See In re Leafy, 489 B.R. 545, 550-51 (9th Cir. BAP 2012); In re Mendez, 367 B.R. 109, 116-17 (9th Cir. BAP 2007); In re Luna, 122 B.R. 575, 577 (9th Cir. #18.00 Hrg re: Motion for relief from stay [RP]

DEBTOR

Docket 39

Tentative Ruling:

Grant both motions in part - the motion for relief from the automatic stay regarding the receiver/custodian, and the motion for relief from the automatic stay to proceed with foreclosure and other remedies (dkt. 39 & 41) - and deny them in part, all as set forth below. Appearances required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this Court's final ruling. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(1) Summary

The tentative ruling is to excuse turnover by the receiver under 11 U.S.C. 543, and grant relief under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1)&(4) from the automatic stay (a) for the receiver to continue to manage the property and (b) for the judicial and nonjudicial foreclosure processes to go forward, but (c) with no foreclosure sale for approximately 60 days, to provide Debtor with an opportunity to sell or refinance the property. In addition, the tentative ruling is to make the foregoing relief effective notwithstanding any future bankruptcy case by Debtor or anyone else ("in rem" relief).

(2) Preliminary issues that this Court must raise

Debtor's response to one of the motions (dkt.46) argues that he is not over the debt limits in 11 U.S.C. 109(e) because the subject real property and debt are not his, but instead are those of the LLC of which he is a member. That appears to be so, which adequately responds to one of Movant's issues, but the fact that the real property and debt do not belong to Debtor implicates jurisdictional issues and other matters that this Court must consider sua sponte.

This Court must consider the possibility that if the subject real property and associated debt are those of a third party (the LLC), rather than the property and debt of Debtor and this bankruptcy estate, then arguably (i) the automatic stay does not apply at all (which may have mootness or jurisdictional implications for Movant's request for relief from the stay), or (ii) the real party in interest is the LLC and not Debtor (which may have implications about whether this is an appropriate proceeding in which to grant relief against the LLC). But, having raised these concerns, this Court's tentative ruling is to dismiss them.

Debtor and the LLC cannot have it both ways: (a) they have invoked the automatic stay to stop foreclosure sales; (b) there are substantial arguments that the stay does apply in this case (e.g., under 11 U.S.C. 102(2) and 362(a)(1), (3)&(6)), because any foreclosure would have a very substantial effect on Debtor's own property (his interest in the LLC); (c) there appears to be adequate notice to all parties in interest because Movant has served the motions on Debtor, the LLC, and the other member of the LLC who executed the loan documents; and (d) it appears appropriate to address whether to grant relief from the automatic stay (to the extent it applies in this case) and whether to grant "in rem" relief (to prevent the automatic stay from applying in any future bankruptcy cases by the LLC, Debtor, or any other person). The tentative ruling is that Debtor, the LLC, and its other member who executed the loan documents are all estopped to argue otherwise - in other words, it is appropriate to reach the merits.

(3) Excusing turnover

The receiver has been in place since 9/11/18, and was put in place pursuant to Debtor's stipulation in the State Court. In addition, this Bankruptcy Court takes judicial notice based on numerous prior cases that, once a receiver has had time to take possession of property, the removal of that receiver generally is highly disruptive to tenants, vendors, and others, not to mention expensive, and risky in terms of preserving property value. In addition, Movant has presented evidence of housing violations, which Debtor has not rebutted. For all of these reasons, it appears appropriate to excuse the receiver from turnover under 11 U.S.C. 543.

(4) Cause for relief under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1)&(4)

As just described, it appears that Debtor has had several "bites at the apple," and that in the past he has caused or tolerated inadequate housing conditions. Movant and the receiver now have to either remedy those conditions (and there is no evidence of excess funds that could be used for that purpose, absent advances from Movant), or else run the risk of subjecting tenants to housing that violates applicable laws and regulations, or other adverse consequences. The longer the delay in disposition of the real property, the greater these risks will be.

All of the foregoing is "cause" under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) to modify the stay so as to provide only a limited time in which Debtor can attempt to realize whatever net value the property allegedly has, for the benefit of Debtor and other creditors. There is also evidence of an intent to "hinder" or "delay" Movant, within the meaning of 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(4): namely, the fact that the nonbankruptcy action was brought and that Debtor stipulated to a receiver in that action but then filed his prior bankruptcy case on the eve of foreclosure, and now this current bankruptcy case in which Debtor admittedly seeks to fend off foreclosure for an additional time to sell or refinance.

(5) Relief

Based on the forgoing the tentative ruling is to grant the following relief:

Termination

Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (d)(4); provided that no foreclosure sale shall take place prior to 3/11/19.

To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Relief notwithstanding future bankruptcy cases.

Grant the following relief pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(4) and the legal analysis in In re Vazquez, 580 B.R. 526 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2017), and/or In re Choong (case no. 2:14-bk-28378-NB, docket no. 31), as applicable:

Choong (case no. 2:14-bk-28378-NB, docket no. 31), as applicable:

If this order is duly recorded in compliance with applicable State laws governing notices of interests or liens in the property at issue, then no automatic stay shall apply to such property in any bankruptcy case purporting to affect such property and filed within two years after the date of entry of this order, unless otherwise ordered by the court presiding over that bankruptcy case.

For the avoidance of doubt, any acts by the movant to obtain exclusive possession of such property shall not be stayed, including any eviction actions, through and including any lockout or other enforcement by the Sheriff or other authorized legal authority.

Note: Per Judge Bason's posted procedures (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) this Court's order will state that the Court "does not make" a finding that Debtor was involved in the "scheme" referenced in section 362(d)(4), unless there is sufficient evidence that Debtor was involved and Debtor is given clear notice that the movant seeks an express finding that Debtor was involved. The tentative ruling in this particular case is that there is sufficient evidence and notice.

Effective date of relief

Grant the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a) (3).

Co-debtor stay

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) has not been shown to have any basis for any different treatment from the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a), so the tentative ruling is to grant the identical relief regarding any co-debtor stay.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

exclusive possession of such property shall not be stayed, including any eviction actions, through and including any lockout or other enforcement by the Sheriff or other authorized legal authority.

The tentative ruling in this particular case is that there is not sufficient evidence and notice.

No prejudice to Debtor intended. Based on the record, it appears that this is a "hijacked" case, and that Debtor is innocent of any involvement. See e.g., In re Vazquez, 580 B.R. 526 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2017) (describing hijacking); In re Dorsey, 476 B.R. 261 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2012) (same). Accordingly, the tentative ruling is to condition any relief from the automatic stay on this Court's determination that this motion shall not result in the application of sections 109(g)(2) and 362(b)(21)(A) to Debtor or any property other than the property that is the subject of this motion for relief from the automatic stay, and that by not contesting this tentative ruling the movant has waived and forfeited any contrary argument. See In re Leafly, 489 B.R. 545, 550-51 (9th Cir. BAP 2012); In re Mendez, 367 B.R. 109, 116-17 (9th Cir. BAP 2007); In re Luna, 122 B.R. 575, 577 (9th Cir. Tentative Ruling:

Grant as provided below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

The automatic stay does not apply

This case has been dismissed, which terminates the automatic stay. See 11 U.S.C. 349(b)(3) & 362(c).

In the alternative and in addition, this court grants relief from the automatic stay as follows.

Termination

Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (d)(2).

To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Effective date of relief

Grant the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a)(3).

Co-debtor stay

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) has not been shown to have any basis for any different treatment from the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a), so the tentative ruling is to grant the identical relief regarding any co-debtor stay.

WILLIAMS L. JURADO
DEBTOR

Docket 13

Tentative Ruling:

Appearances required. Subject to any opposition at the hearing, pursuant to this Court's order shortening time (dkt. 14, the "OST"), the tentative ruling is to grant the motion as set forth below. In addition, as set forth in the OST, counsel for Movant must address why this motion could not have been filed sooner. (The OST also directed Movant to address attorney fees; but that direction was erroneous - any issue of attorney fees is between Movant and counsel, and is of no concern to this Court.)

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this Court's final ruling. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

Movant's assertion that the automatic stay does not apply is unsupported

Movant seeks relief under 11 U.S.C. 362(b)(22) & (l), but those statutory provisions require that a "lessor has obtained[,] before the date of the filing of the bankruptcy petition, a judgment for possession of such property against the debtor," and there is no evidence of such a judgment.

Termination

Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (d)(2).

To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

It is unclear whether failure to supply the Occupancy Certificate constitutes grounds for foreclosure under the deed of trust. What is Movant's basis for that assertion?

(c) Cost of Forced Place Insurance

Movant alleges that it incurred costs of $4,638 for Forced Placed Insurance due to Debtor's failure to provide the Occupancy Certificate. This Court was not provided with evidence that this is the price of insurance.

(d) Debtor's untimely opposition

One week after the opposition deadline, Debtor filed an opposition stating that the Occupancy Certificate has been provided and that insurance advances will be cured (dkt. 61). Why was Debtor's opposition not timely filed?

(e) Adequate protection order?

The parties should be prepared to address whether they will agree to the terms of an adequate protection order.

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 1/8/19 (same as for 11/27/18 and 10/16/18):

Appearances required. There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address (a) whether the alleged arrears have been brought current, (b) the alleged discrepancy in the amounts Debtor paid to SPS, and (c) whether they will agree to the terms of an adequate protection order (see the debtor's response, dkt. 38).

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." Docket 32

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 1/8/19:

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

Movant's supplemental papers (dkt. 37) assert debts for (1) reimbursement for paying real estate taxes of $9,851.79 and (2) reimbursement for force placed insurance of $3,912 (2 x $1,956). The tentative ruling is (1) to require Debtor to pay the tax-related debt via a motion to modify her confirmed chapter 13 plan to amortize that debt over the remaining term of the plan, and (2) to pay the insurance-related debt via a standard adequate protection order ("APO").

(1) Real estate taxes

Debtor argues (dkt. 41) that her chapter 13 plan was intended to include when it listed movant (or its predecessor in interest) with a debt of $33,000 (dkt. 15, confirmed by dkt. 22). But it appears that Debtor listed the wrong party with respect to taxes.

According to Movant, it did not pay those taxes until many months postpetition, on 8/28/28 (see dkt. 37, para. 20), so as of the petition date the debt was owed to the tax authorities, not Movant. Therefore Debtor should have listed the tax authorities in her chapter 13 plan.

Because Debtor did not do so, it appears that those tax debts went unpaid until Movant paid them. Meanwhile, as provided in the confirmation order (dkt. 22), Movant's proof of claim (no. 2-1) controls the monthly distributions by the Chapter 13 Trustee, and that proof of claim apparently did not include the taxes (it is for $20,085.53, which Debtor concedes is substantially less than the $33,000 estimated in her plan).

Based on the foregoing, it appears that the best way to restore the parties to the position they would have been if Debtor had correctly included the tax authorities in her plan is to require Debtor to file a motion to modify her plan to amortize the tax-related debt, with interest payable to Movant at the contract rate, over the remaining term of the chapter 13 plan. The tentative ruling is that Debtor must file such a motion in time to be self-calendared for hearing on the chapter 13 calendar on 2/21/19 at 8:30 a.m.

(2) Insurance

The force placed insurance appears to be for postpetition periods (and paid by Movant postpetition). Accordingly, it is a postpetition default, and a standard six month APO appears to be the appropriate remedy (with the usual cure period of 14 days after any default under the APO, and a maximum of three opportunities for any such cure). The tentative ruling is to direct Movant to prepare and lodge that APO within seven days after this hearing.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 12/11/18:

At the hearing on 11/27/18 this Court was persuaded to continue this matter as Debtor appeared to contest the tentative ruling and inform the Court that the property is insured. Counsel for Movant informed the Court that a declaration re insurance coverage for past period was required.

Appearances required. There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address whether they have resolved their issues re insurance coverage.

Grant as provided below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

Termination. Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1).

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) is also terminated, because it has not been shown to have any basis to exist independent of the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a). To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

The following are Judge Bason's standard requirements for status conferences. (To the extent that the parties have already addressed these issues in their status report, they need not repeat their positions at the status conference.)

(1) Venue/jurisdiction/authority.

The parties are directed to address any outstanding matters of (a) venue, (b) jurisdiction, (c) this Bankruptcy Court's authority to enter final orders or judgment(s) in this proceeding and, if consent is required, whether the parties do consent, or have already expressly or impliedly consented. See generally Stern v. Marshall, 131 S.Ct. 2594, 2608 (2011) (if litigant "believed that the Bankruptcy Court lacked the authority to decide his claim...then he should have said so – and said so promptly."); Wellness Int'l Network, Ltd. v. Sharif, 135 S.Ct. 1932 (2015) (consent must be knowing and voluntary but need not be express); In re Bellingham Ins. Agency, Inc., 702 F.3d 553 (9th Cir. 2012) (implied consent), aff'd on other grounds, 134 S. Ct. 2165 (2014); In re Pringle, 495 B.R. 447 (9th Cir. BAP 2013) (rebuttable presumption that failure to challenge authority to issue final order is intentional and indicates consent); In re Deitz, 760 F.3d 1028 (9th Cir. 2014) (authority to adjudicate nondischargeability encompasses authority to liquidate debt and enter final judgment). See generally In re AWTR Liquidation, Inc., 548 B.R. 300 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2016).

(2) Mediation. Is there is any reason why this Court should not order the parties to mediation before one of the volunteer mediators (not a Bankruptcy Judge), and meanwhile set the deadlines set forth below? The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 1/22/19 for the parties to lodge a proposed mediation order (the parties are directed to use the time between now and that deadline to find a mutually agreeable mediator whose schedule can accommodate the needs of this matter; and if the parties cannot even agree on a mediator they may lodge separate orders and Judge Bason will chose among them, or issue his own order).

(3) Deadlines: This adversary proceeding has been pending since 11/2/18. Pursuant to LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B), plaintiff is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the status conference, attaching a copy of this tentative ruling or otherwise memorializing the following.

Docket 102

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 1/8/19:

Grant as provided below. Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this Court's final ruling. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

The tentative ruling is to issue an order granting the following relief, based on the record before this Court (see dkt. 102, 104, 108, 111, 116, 122, 124):

(1) Contempt: holding each of (a) Amos Wellington, (b) Kousha Berokim, Esq., and (c) Berokim & Duel P.C. (collectively, "Respondents") in civil contempt;

(2) Damages: awarding Movant $6,467.60 in fees and expenses (see dkt. 111, 116, 126 p.7:14-21), payable by Respondents jointly and severally; without prejudice to Movant seeking any additional awards of fees and costs not included in the foregoing amounts;

(3) Injunctive relief: (a) enjoining Respondents from pursuing any claims based on Madison's Note (as defined in the Motion) and/or that is related to the Hauser property, and (b) directing Respondents, by mandatory injunction, to follow all directions of the Chapter 7 Trustee, unless they seek an obtain an order of this Court excusing them from such directions, with respect to the Lawsuit (as defined in the motion, dkt. 102);

(4) Void acts: holding that, under binding precedent of the Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit, all acts taken in violation of the automatic stay, including all proceedings in the Lawsuit since the filing of the bankruptcy petition on 11/4/2017 are void ab initio (see, e.g., In re Gruntz, 202 F.3d 1074, 1082 (9th Cir. 2000) ("actions taken in violation of the automatic stay are void. Further, judicial proceedings in violation of the automatic stay are void.") (citations and internal quotation marks omitted); and

(5) Further proceedings: setting a status conference for 2/5/19 at 11:00 a.m. to address any outstanding issues such as collection procedures, any additional coercive or compensatory measures, etc., subject to any earlier or later self-calendared date that Movant is hereby authorized to set by 14 days' notice served on Respondents via U.S. mail and filed with this Court; and

Reasons:

Assuming solely for purposes of this tentative ruling (a) that Respondents were acting in good faith in preferring a different course of action to what the Chapter 7 Trustee was proposing and (b) truly had doubts about the Chapter 7 Trustee's interpretation of the Bankruptcy Code, those are insufficient grounds to violate the automatic stay. As stated by the Court of Appeals:

"[W]illful violation" does not require a specific intent to violate the automatic stay. Rather, the statute provides for damages upon a finding that the defendant knew of the automatic stay and that the defendant's actions which violated the stay were intentional. ... [And] a party with knowledge of bankruptcy proceedings is charged with knowledge of the automatic stay. [In re Dyer, 322 F.3d 1178, 1191 (9th Cir. 2003) (citation and internal quotation marks omitted)]

The Chapter 7 Trustee cited authority to Respondents that the automatic stay applied; Respondents have not cited contrary authority, so they have waived and forfeited any argument that the stay was inapplicable. In any event, this Court is persuaded that the automatic stay did apply because property of the bankruptcy estate is defined very broadly and includes any claims that a debtor has against third parties, including community property claims, claims for setoff, etc. See 11 U.S.C. 541.

Alternatively, supposing for the sake of argument that there were any question as to Respondents' willfulness, their excuse is inconsistent with the written record and therefore is not credible. Respondents assert that they did not wish to follow the Chapter 7 Trustee's directions to dismiss their Lawsuit (without prejudice) because of concerns that this would mean any claims were barred by the applicable statutes of limitation. See dkt. 124, p.3:13-16. But, first, Respondents never raised that issue until now, and second, if they had raised it and the Chapter 7 Trustee had not been persuaded, Respondents could have sought relief from this Court, rather than unilaterally continuing to violate the automatic stay. For example, they could have filed a motion for relief from the automatic stay, or a motion to compel the Trustee to abandon the claims asserted in the Lawsuit, or an adversary proceeding seeking declaratory relief, or any other appropriate proceeding.

Because Respondents chose not to seek any such relief from this Court, but instead to continue in violation of the automatic stay, the Chapter 7 Trustee was forced to incur the expense of preparing and filing the Motion for Contempt (dkt. 102). See Dyer, 322 F.3d at 1192 (persons who violate automatic stay have "an affirmative duty to remedy" that violation) (citation omitted). The Trustee has provided evidence of the resulting attorney fees, which are compensable as "actual damages" under 11 U.S.C. 362(k).

For all of the foregoing reasons, the tentative ruling is to award damages and other relief as set forth above. Note: (i) The tentative ruling is to accept the parties' late-filed documents (dkt. 124, 126), so as to reach the merits and avoid further delay; and (ii) the requirement at the beginning of this tentative ruling is not an invitation to Respondents to repeat their (unpersuasive) arguments. Rather, this Court is requiring appearances so as not to risk repeating the situation on 11/27/18, in which counsel for the Trustee was not informed that Respondents would be contesting the tentative ruling.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." Grant all of the requested relief, as further set forth below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

The tentative ruling is to issue an order, based on the record before this Court (see dkt. 102, 104, 108, 111):

(1) holding each of (a) Amos Wellington, (b) Kousha Berokim, Esq., and (c) Berokim & Duel P.C. (collectively, "Respondents") in civil contempt;

(2) awarding Movant $5,215 in fees plus $202.50 in costs for a total of $5,417.50, payable by Respondents jointly and severally; without prejudice to Movant seeking any additional awards of fees and costs as they may be incurred;

(3) directing Respondents, by mandatory injunction, to take all steps necessary or advisable to dismiss their Lawsuit (as defined in the motion, dkt. 102);

(4) holding that, under binding precedent of the Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit, all acts taken in violation of the automatic stay, including all proceedings in the Lawsuit since the filing of the bankruptcy petition on 11/4/2017 are void ab initio; and

(5) setting a status conference for 1/15/19 at 11:00 a.m. to address any outstanding issues such as collection procedures, any additional coercive or compensatory measures, etc., subject to any earlier or later self-calendared date that Movant is hereby authorized to set by 14 days' notice served on Respondents via U.S. mail and filed with this Court.

outstanding matters of (a) venue, (b) jurisdiction, (c) this court's authority to enter final orders or judgment(s) in this proceeding and, if consent is required, whether the parties do consent, or have already expressly or impliedly consented. See *generally Stern v. See generally In re AWTR Liquidation, Inc., 548 B.R. 300 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2016).

(2) Mediation. Is there is any reason why this court should not order the parties to mediation before one of the volunteer mediators (not a Bankruptcy Judge), and meanwhile set the deadlines set forth below? The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 9/10/18 for the parties to lodge a proposed mediation order (the parties are directed to use the time between now and that deadline to find a mutually agreeable mediator whose schedule can accommodate the needs of this matter; and if the parties cannot even agree on a mediator they may lodge separate orders and Judge Bason will chose among them, or issue his own order).

#1.00 Status conference re: Chapter 11 case

Docket 5

Tentative Ruling:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor and by the debtor(s) themselves.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Case Status Report

In the Amended Order Setting (A) Principal Status Conference and (B) Procedures (dkt. 4), this Court directed the Debtor to file and serve a Case Status Report on Local Form F 2081-1.1.C11.STATUS.RPT at least 14 days before this hearing. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling the Debtor has not done so. Why not?

(b) First day motions

Debtor has not filed any payroll motion, motion for use of cash collateral, budget motion, utility motion, or other typical "first day" motions. This Court recognizes that Debtor is in the process of formulating its strategy (dkt. 20, p.4:17-21), and has requested an extension of time to file bankruptcy schedules and other documents (dkt. 19), but none of that excuses the failure to file any required first day motions.

(c) Dismissal? Bar?

Debtor is directed to address why this Court should not dismiss this case with a 180 day bar against being a debtor in bankruptcy, under 11 U.S.C. 109(g)(1), for willful failure to abide by an order of this court, or willful failure to appear in proper prosecution of this case, or both.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 12/17/18.

(a) Bar date: TBD

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: TBD

(c) Continued status conference: if this Court is persuaded not to dismiss this case, the tentative ruling is to continue this Status Conference to 1/29/19 at 1:00 p.m., with a status report on the required form (see above) due 1/22/19.

#3.00 Cont'd Status Conference re: Chapter 11 Case
fr. 10/17/18, 10/23/18, 11/27/18

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 1/8/19:

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues.

Debtor's status report (dkt. 72) attempts to put the best face on a dismal record of recent operations. Should this Court set deadlines to sell the estate's property/business, or impose other performance metrics and establish consequences for failure to satisfy those metrics?

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 10/14/18.

(a) Bar date: 1/31/19 (timely served, dkt. 64).

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: TBD

(c) Continued status conference: 2/5/19 at 1:00 p.m., brief status report due 1/29/19.

*Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

(1) Current issues

(a) Cash collateral motion (dkt. 4). This Court has reviewed the supplemental declarations of Kenneth Chung and Rhonda Chung (dkt. 38). Those declarations provide that in the event Debtor lacks the funds necessary to make the required property tax payments, Rhonda Chung will "personally pay any short fall [o]f the Debtor to pay these taxes or, any portion of those taxes, if any, that has not otherwise been approved by the Court as an authorized Cash Collateral expense." (Rhonda Chung decl, para. 7). Would these funds be a loan or a gift? Is Rhonda Chung financially able to provide such a sum?

(b) Creditor First Choice Bank reporting requests: In its opposition to the cash collatera motion, First Choice Bank requests that Debtor be required to provide additional reporting to insure cash collateral is not misued (dkt. 58). Does Debtor object to any of these recommendations? If so, on what grounds?

(c) Order on cash collateral. Debtor is directed to lodge a proposed final order approving the use of cash collateral, incorporating the terms of the interim order plus any additional requirements as noted above, via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(d) Utility motion. Debtor's status report (dkt. 49) states that this motion will be withdraw, either orally or in writing. Debtor should file a written withdrawal, so that the docket is clear.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 10/14/18.

(1) Current issues

(a) Cash collateral motion (dkt.4). Subject to any objections at the hearing, the tentative ruling is to authorize the use of cash collateral to a limited extent, on a further interim basis, with a final hearing at the same time as the continued status conference (see below). What specific use of cash is authorized will depend on any supplement filed prior to the hearing and how the debtor and other parties in interest address the following issues: (i) payment of employment taxes and other withholdings, (ii) payment of income taxes, (iii) payment of sales taxes on room rentals, as well as on food, beverages, and other taxable items, and (iv) adequacy of cash flow, both actual and projected.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

Chapter 11

(1) Current issues

(a) Payroll motion (dkt. 5). As noted in this Court's order setting this hearing (dkt. 10), this Court is concerned about whether this is a self-created emergency. In addition, the parties should be prepared to address the jobs of each person who is proposed to be paid (dkt. 7, Ex.6), whether any of them are "insiders" (11 U.S.C. 101(31)), and how they will be paid if the checks do not clear and other sources of revenue do not come through. Subject to adequately addressing those issues, and (1) confirming notice per this Court's order shortening time (dkt. 10), (2) addressing this Court's concerns in that order, and (3) any objections at the hearing, the tentative ruling is to grant this motion.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this court's final ruling. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(b) Cash collateral motion (dkt.4). The tentative ruling is to grant this motion, subject to the caveats set forth in the tentative ruling for calendar no. 2 (10/17/18 at 9:00 a.m.).

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 10/14/18.

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 1/8/19:

Continue as set forth below. Appearances are not required on 1/8/19.

(1) Current issues.

This Court has reviewed the Debtor's latest filed documents, including its Monthly Operating Report (dkt. 67). This Court is not aware of issues that would warrant a status conference at this time.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 7/11/18.

(1) Current issues. This Court has reviewed the debtor's filed status report (dkt. 42) and the other filed documents in this case.

(a) Motion of U.S. Trustee ("UST") to dismiss or convert (dkt. 21). The debtor claims to have come into compliance (dkt. 41). Does the UST have any outstanding compliance issues?

(b) Budget motion (dkt. 15) and supplemental declaration of non-debtor spouse Jose M. Juarez (dkt. 37). Grant on a final basis. Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(c) Cash collateral motion (dkt. 14, 16). The adopted tentative ruling for the 8/14/18 hearing (reproduced at calendar no. 7, 9/18/18 at 1:00 p.m.) directed the debtor to file an order granting the motion on an interim basis. No such order has been lodged. Why not? Subject to a satisfactory answer, the tentative ruling is to grant the motion on a final basis, on the same terms as it was granted on an interim basis. Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. Tentative Ruling for 8/14/18:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor and by the debtor(s) themselves.

(1) Current issues. This Court has reviewed the debtor's filed status report (dkt. 17) and the other filed documents in this case.

(a) Budget motion (dkt. 15). Grant on an interim basis, with a final hearing concurrent with the continued status conference (see below), and a deadline of 8/21/18 to file declaration(s) regarding the income of the debtor's spouse (see below). Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(b) Debtor's spouse's income. The debtor's bankruptcy Schedule I reports that the debtor's spouse is a self-employed construction contractor, but that the spouse only earns $1,500/mo. in net income. Dkt. 1, at PDF p.32, line 8a. This Court takes judicial notice that there is considerable construction activity in this geographic area. Why is that income not higher?

In addition, there is no attached statement showing gross income, expenses, and the calculation of net income. That is contrary to the instructions for line 8a, and to this Court's order that for reporting purposes any spouse is to be treated as equivalent to the debtor (dkt. 6, para.3).

#6.00 Cont'd Status Conference re: Chapter 11 Case
fr. 07/17/18, 7/20/18, 9/18/18, 10/16/18, 11/27/18

Docket 9

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 1/8/19:

Continue as set forth below, so that Debtor's proposed counsel can further supplement the employment application. Appearances are not required on 1/8/19.

(1) Current issues: professionals

Debtor's latest declaration in support of the application to employ the law offices of Raymond H. Aver (dkt. 55) states that Debtor's friend, Mr. Michael Baradarian (the "Funder"), has agreed to pay the retainer and he "may gift all or a portion of the postpetition retainer." Dkt. 55, p.2:13-14 (emphasis added). See also dkt. 26, 32, 49, 55. That is inadequate.

What would the non-gift portion be? A loan (unsecured, presumably)? An investment (some sort of arrangement akin to an equity infusion into a business)? When and how would those things be decided?

The lack of complete disclosure by Debtor and proposed counsel only cause this Court to have additional questions. This Court's concerns, and tentative ruling about what needs to be disclosed, are as follows.

A third party who funds a retainer for the debtor generally has some pre-existing relationship with the debtor, and/or some motivation to providing the funding. Those things increase the likelihood that the Funder could be the recipient of an avoidable preference, or might have alter ego liability, or otherwise might have interests that are adverse to (or at least not fully aligned with) the bankruptcy estate or creditors. For these reasons, although payment of a retainer by a third party is not outright prohibited, it is fraught with ethical concerns. At the hearing, proposed counsel should be prepared to address the following.

(a) Connections. What are all of the connections between the Funder, on the one hand, and the debtor's proposed counsel or any of the other types of persons listed in FRBP 2014, on the other hand -- e.g., have there been any economic or business or personal connections between the Funder and proposed counsel, or the debtor, or any creditor or other party in interest, or their respective attorneys or accountants?

(b) Terms. What are the precise agreements, understandings or expectations regarding the funds -- e.g., are the funds a loan, a gift, an investment, or something else?

(c) Informed consent of funder. Has the Funder been advised regarding actual and potential conflicts of interest, and that the sole attorney-client relationship and duty of loyalty is with the debtor, not the Funder? Who provided such advice: independent counsel, or the debtor's proposed counsel? Has the Funder given informed consent? Are those things in writing?

(d) Informed consent of debtor. Has the debtor likewise been fully advised and given informed consent? Who provided such advice? Are these things in writing?

(e) Other considerations. Has proposed counsel demonstrated or represented to the Court the absence of an actual or potential conflict, a lack of disinterestedness, or any other basis for disqualification? See In re Kelton Motors, Inc., 109 B.R. 641 (Bankr. D. Vt. 1989); In re Hathaway Ranch Partnership, 116 B.R. 208, 219 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1990); In re Park-Helena Corp., 63 F.3d 877 (9th Cir. 1995).

(f) Deadline. The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 1/22/19 for Debtor to file declarations by (i) Debtor, (ii) the Funder, and (iii) proposed counsel addressing all of the foregoing issues.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 6/21/18.

Tentative Ruling for 11/27/18:

Appearances required. There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address the following issues:

(1) Current issues.

(a) Application to employ Raymond H. Aver (dkt. 26) - The parties should be prepared to discuss whether proposed counsel is disinterested given that they are general counsel to Rabenu Enterprises, LLC (see U.S. Trustee's opposition, dkt. 32, and Debtor's reply, dkt. 47).

(b) Source of funds re retainer agreement - In their opposition, the U.S. Trustee raised the question of what the source of the funds for Debtor's retainer agreement is (dkt. 32). Debtor's reply provides that the source of the funds are "Saeedian's and his spouse's earnings and/or contribution from third parties." (dkt. 47, PDF p. 11). Who is this third party? Would the funds be a gift or a loan?

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues. This Court has reviewed the docket, the debtor's amended schedules (dkt. 33), and monthly operating report no. 1 (dkt. 20, for mo. ending 6/30/18). What is the $660 "miscellaneous expense" reported on p.5? Why was that not explained in the MOR?

(dkt. 18 at PDF p.11) list $0 in secured claims (not even a disputed claim?) even though the status report (dkt. 17) states that the case was filed to stop foreclosure? How can creditor and this Court rely on the accuracy of the bankruptcy schedules in view of such inconsistency?

(b) Income. The debtor's bankruptcy Schedule I (dkt. 18 at PDF pp.19-20) lists a total of $100/mo. in income taxes, medicare and social security. It lists $0 for net income from operating a business (line 8a) despite listing multiple businesses with alleged income: "YB Design, Inc.," "Management of Rabenu Enterprises, LLC," "Babysitting services," and "Cosmetic Sales." It fails to comply with the instructions in line 8a to "Attach a statement for each ... business showing gross receipts, ordinary and necessary business expenses, and the total monthly net income." The debtor appears to be ignoring the requirements to provide disclosure as to his own income and expenses and, under this Court's order (dkt. 9, para.3), to provide equal disclosure with respect to his spouse and their businesses. How can creditors and this Court rely on the accuracy of the bankruptcy schedules and future compliance with orders of this Court in view of such non-compliance?

(c) Deadline for compliance. The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 7/31/18 for the debtor to file amended bankruptcy schedules correcting not only the foregoing deficiencies that this Court has identified but also any other deficiencies that the debtor and his spouse and the debtor's counsel identify after carefully reviewing the documents that the debtor has filed. If in future this Court discovers other non-compliance with the debtor's obligations to provide accurate disclosures and to comply with this Court's orders, this Court may order the dismissal or conversion of this bankruptcy case, or other remedies.

Am./GA-Ltd. Opp. (dkt. 243); Debtor reply (dkt. 245); Committee reply (dkt. 247)

(a) Dismiss, but retain jurisdiction. The tentative ruling is to grant Debtor/Committee's motion, including (i) dismissal of this case, after a relatively short delay (as they request), (ii) issuance of an order compelling payment by Siena of the "carveout" balance of professional fees and other specific administrative expenses (subject to the usual standards to prove the allowable dollar amounts), and (iii) retention of jurisdiction to the maximum extent permitted by law. That retention of jurisdiction includes the landlords' administrative claims against Siena (discussed below), as well as any disputes regarding whether Siena must share any future recoveries - the latter realistically boils down to the controversy over the 25%/75% division of any recoveries on "commercial tort claim[s]," so that is the only aspect of such sharing that will be discussed (although the retention of jurisdiction includes adjudication of any recovery-sharing disputes).

It would be uneconomical and inconvenient for the parties to have to litigate those landlord claims and recovery-sharing claims in a new forum, when this Bankruptcy Court already has great familiarity with those issues. In fact, it is not clear that any other forum would even have jurisdiction over such bankruptcy-specific issues.

It would also be unfair to all parties to make them litigate such issues in a new forum. In construing any ambiguities in the parties' stipulations and this Court's prior orders, it is essential to know the context in which those things happened, including both this case and the earlier bankruptcy case.

Finally, comity is not a concern. The bankruptcy issues predominate, and there is no impingement on the State courts' jurisdiction or authority.

For all of these reasons, retention of jurisdiction is appropriate. See In re Carraher, 971 F.2d 327, 328 (9th Cir. 1992) (approving post-dismissal jurisdiction after considering "economy, convenience, fairness and comity"); In re Knew Weigh, LLC, 576 B.R. 189, 202-04 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2017) (same, considering "(i) judicial economy, requiring consideration of efficiency of judicial resources; (ii) convenience, requiring consideration of the parties' litigation efforts and access to alternative forums; (iii) fairness, requiring consideration of the equity and circumstances of a particular case; and (iv) comity, requiring consideration of whether the state laws involved are complex such that they ought to be construed and applied by state trial courts and reviewed by state appellate courts").

(b) Ripeness of 25%/75% issue. The tentative ruling is to reject the argument of Debtor and the Committee that any interpretation of the 25%/75% recovery-division issue is not ripe or should be deferred. True, Siena might not prevail in such claims, and it would not make sense to expend substantial time and money litigating respective shares of a recovery if those expenses would outweigh the present discounted value of the range of likely recoveries. But the issues have already been briefed, so the expense is minimal.

Nor does the fact that the parties have no actual dollar amounts in dispute, or claims for damages against each other, mean that it would be premature to decide the issues. To the contrary, the tentative ruling is that it is appropriate to address these issues now because Siena needs to know, before it invests in litigation, whether it will receive all recoveries or only 75% of them.

Siena is essentially seeking declaratory relief construing the 25%/75% recovery-sharing provision:

Declaratory relief is an equitable remedy distinctive in that it allows adjudication of rights and obligations on disputes regardless of whether claims for damages or injunction have arisen. In effect, it brings to the present a litigable controversy, which otherwise might only be tried in the future. [In re Singh, 457 B.R. 790, 798 (Bankr. E.D. CA. 2011) (citation and internal quotation marks omitted) (emphasis added).]

There must be an actual controversy, which is definite and concrete, and the matter must be within subject matter jurisdiction for this federal court. Id. All of those conditions are satisfied.

As an aside, this Court notes that sometimes declaratory relief requires an adversary proceeding, but the tentative ruling is that no adversary proceeding is required for the type of dispute at issue. See Rule 7001(9) (Fed. R. Bankr. P.) (adversary proceeding required for declaratory judgment "relating to any of the foregoing" types of relief in that Rule, such as dischargeability litigation). In any event, no party has argued that an adversary proceeding is required.

For all of these reasons, the tentative ruling is that it is appropriate to address the 25%/75% dispute now, rather than defer it to some future date.

(c) Interpretation of the 25%/75% language. Siena argues in effect (dkt. 241, p.2:8-27) that the parties' agreement to the 25%/75% split of any "commercial tort claim" only applied to claims held by the debtor - i.e., derivative claims - and not to Siena's direct claims (for both alleged breach of contract and alleged torts) against the Great American appraisal entity. The tentative ruling is to agree.

Based on the operative language, and the context in which the parties were negotiating, it seems highly unlikely that Siena would have intended to share recoveries from any direct claims it might have. See dkt. 141, p.15, para.28; see also dkt. 241, p.3. It is typical for creditors' committees and debtors to argue that security interests do not extend to claims that could be described as "derivative": e.g., avoidance actions that arise under the Bankruptcy Code. As this Court understands the theories behind such arguments, they would not apply to "direct" claims: those arguments are partly based on the limitations on secured claims under 11 U.S.C. 552, and partly based on whether security interests could attach at all to claims that only come into existence once the bankruptcy petition is filed. Those arguments do not apply to Siena's "direct" claims that exist independent of the Bankruptcy Code.

Accordingly, the tentative ruling is that the 25%/75% recovery-sharing provision does not apply to the claims set forth in Siena's existing complaint against the Great American entities.

(d) Notice by Siena. That said, it might be that the present litigation with the Great America entities will expand, or that future claims against them or the Tiger entity will include claims that might come within the 25%/75% recovery-sharing language. Accordingly, the tentative ruling is to grant the request of Debtor and the Committee that Siena be ordered to provide notice of any recoveries that might be subject to the 25%/75% language (or - although the possibility seems vanishingly remote - the language requiring a sharing of proceeds if Siena's debt is paid down below $1.5 million).

(2) Starwood/Forbes motion re administrative rent (dkt. 225); Siena Opp. (dkt.239, 240); Starwood/Forbes response (dkt. 246, 248); Committee reply (dkt. 247)

(a) Background. It appeared from the start of this case that Siena's claim most likely would be under water, so it made sense that Siena would be primarily responsible for the expense of liquidating Debtor's assets, including administrative expenses. In particular, under prior orders of this Court, Siena is obligated to pay postpetition rents. See dkt. 220 (relief from stay order, with conditions); dkt. 49 (rejection procedures order); dkt.177 (Starwood notice of rejection as of 6/4/18); dkt.213 (Forbes notice of rejection as of 8/29/18); but cf. dkt. 237 (asserting lockout as of 8/27/18) and dkt. 246 (evid. obj.).

(b) Evidentiary objections. The tentative ruling is to sustain Siena's hearsay objection to the evidence attached to the Starwood/Forbes landlord motion (as to the calculation of rents allegedly owing). The supplemental declaration (dkt. 248) does not fully resolve the hearsay problem, although presumably the parties can establish the undisputed and disputed facts with greater specificity, through formal or informal discovery.

The tentative ruling is also to sustain the Forbes landlord's objection to Siena's evidence of a lockout on 8/27/18. Again, though, it should be possible to figure out and present the disputed and undisputed facts (although, given the dollar amount at stake, this particular subset of disputes might be more efficiently resolved by a quick compromise).

(c) Section 506(c). The tentative ruling is to reject Siena's argument under section 506(c). The terms to which the parties agreed, and this Court ordered, are that:

Siena shall not raise as a defense to [landlords' assertion of administrative rent expenses] that the landlords' remedy is limited to surcharging Siena's collateral, and shall pay any amounts that the Court determines Siena is required to pay the landlords within seven days [Dkt. 220, p.3, para.16.3].

Siena attempts to distinguish this language as applying only to its defenses, not to what the landlords have to prove. That is unpersuasive: the tentative ruling is that, both from the language itself and the context in which the parties were negotiating (that all administrative expenses very likely were for Siena's benefit due to its blanket lien), this language can only be interpreted to mean that, as long as a landlord meets the normal standards to establish its administrative expense, there is no additional burden to establish a benefit to Siena under section 506(c).

(d) Percentage rent. The tentative ruling is that, on the one hand, the starting point would be that percentage rent is rebuttably presumed to be included in what Siena would have to pay, because that is a part of every month's rent under the terms of the lease. In addition, any landlord's waiver of the anti-liquidation clause does not constitute a waiver of the percentage rent clause.

On the other hand, the tentative ruling is that the liquidation sale context overcomes that presumption, and leaves the issue of the parties' intent undecided. Put differently, there is a genuine question whether rent of 20% of liquidation sale proceeds is what the parties contemplated.

A hypothetical landlord might expect that, as part of the enforcement of its rights under 11 U.S.C. 365(d), it should receive both minimum/base rent and percentage rent based on a normal month's level of sales. But such a landlord might expect either much less (e.g., if its choice is between minimum/base rent for the month or $0 with no new tenant in sight) or much more (e.g., if the liquidation could be expected to increase sales volume and revenue enormously, perhaps the landlord would expect to be able to demand that in exchange for permitting a liquidation sale, at least if there is a sufficiently robust rental market to give the landlord leverage).

But from the record presented the tentative ruling is that there was no meeting of minds on the percentage rent issue. So the tentative ruling is that the analysis has to fall back to what rent is "reasonable." In re Section 20 Land Group, Ltd., 261 B.R. 711, 717 (Bankr. M.D. Fla. 2000). See also In re Silicon valley Telecom Exchange, LLC, 284 B.R. 700, 706 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. 2002).

(e) Conclusion as to landlords' motions. The tentative ruling is to set a continued hearing (the same date as the continued status conference set forth below) to determine the dollar amount owed to each landlord. The deadline for each landlord to file and serve a declaration with supplemental evidence would be two weeks prior to that hearing, with any responsive declaration and evidence due one week prior.

The tentative ruling is to require evidence on the following issues: (i) calculations: more detail about the calculation of rents allegedly owing, (ii) vertical and horizontal evidence of market rents: Debtor's historical monthly additional rent (percentage of sales) for each of the subject locations, for every month in 2017 and in 2018 through store closing, as well as an average for each year, and evidence about current rental rates per square foot for any new or renewed leases in the same mall in 2018, to assist this Court in determining reasonable rents, and (iii) lockout date: proof whether lock-out date for the Forbes store actually occurred two days before rejection notice. The parties should be prepared to address whether expedited or regular discovery is necessary or appropriate; whether a different hearing date is preferable; and any other relevant issues.

(3) Memorialization these tentative rulings, and lodging proposed orders incorporating them by reference

This Court intends to prepare and file a Memorialization of Tentative Rulings, with a copy of these tentative rulings for 11/6/18, which the parties can incorporate by reference in any proposed order, to the extent this Court adopts these tentative rulings at the hearing. The Committee is directed to lodge the proposed order on the motion for dismissal etc., and the Starwood/Forbes landlords are directed to lodge the proposed order on their motion to compel payment of rent.

(4) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 2/16/18.

(a) Bar date: Timely served (dkt. 155, 163, 167).

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: TBD

(c) Continued status conference: Continue to 12/11/18 at 2:00 p.m., in view of the slightly deferred dismissal requested by Debtor and the Committee. No status report required.

*Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

Tentative Ruling for 8/14/18:

Continue as set forth below. Appearances are not required on 8/14/18.

(1) Current issues. This Court has reviewed the debtor's status report (dkt. 203) and other relevant pleadings in this case.

(a) Siena r/s motion. Although the debtor requests that this status conference be continued to the same date and time as the pending motion (dkt. 205) by Siena Lending Group, LLC for relief from the automatic stay, that could disrupt the relief from stay calendar. As an alternative, the debtor may seek a consensual or non-consensual brief continuance of Siena's motion to be heard at the same time as the status conference, if that would be more appropriate or convenient for the parties.

(b) B&B Bachrach, LLC Post-Confirmation Status Conference (2:17-bk-15292-NB). The tentative ruling is to continue the post-confirmation status conference to the date and time set forth below to be heard concurrently with the continued status conference in the B&B Liquidating, LLC case.

(1) Current issues. As of the time when this tentative ruling has been prepared, there is no proof of service of the debtor's motions. The following tentative rulings are subject to (i) adequate proof of service and (ii) any oppositions presented at or prior to the hearing. In addition, rather than stating at length this Court's reasoning, the following tentative rulings adopt, to the extent relevant, the reasoning of this Court regarding similar motions in the Bachrach case (no. 2:17-bk-15292-NB, dkt. 46-47).

(a) Notice/Service. Pursuant to LBR 9075-1(a)(2)(B), this Court has already orally and conditionally granted the debtor's request to shorten time on the motions identified below, subject to the right of any party in interest to object at or before the hearing to the adequacy of notice. With those limitations, the tentative ruling is to find notice adequate and grant the debtor's requests in its motions (e.g., dkt. 5, p.3:3-5) to excuse any requirement for telephonic notice provided that overnight delivery or other permissible expedited service (e.g., personal delivery, or email as permitted by applicable rules) has been delivered no later than 24 hours prior to this hearing to all persons with a pecuniary interest that could be adversely affected by the relief requested in each motion.

(b) Immediate relief. With respect to any immediate relief described below, the tentative ruling is that the debtor has shown sufficient cause for such immediate relief under Rule 6003 (Fed. R. Bankr. P.), to the extent applicable, and the other rules and procedures governing relief on an emergency or expedited basis.

(c) Limit Notice Motion (dkt. 3). The tentative ruling is to grant this motion, subject to the following adjustments. First, the Limited Service List must be augmented to include (i) junior lienholder Emerald Capital Funding, LLC ("Emerald") and (ii) the debtor's own bankruptcy counsel (because the motion apparently contemplates that all parties in interest - not just the debtor - will be authorized to use the Limited Service List). Second, this Court contemplates limitations that parallel this Court's modifications to the parallel order in the Bachrach case (no. 2:17-bk-15292-NB, dkt. 53).

(d) Utilities Motion (dkt. 4). The tentative ruling is to grant the motion on an interim basis, with a final hearing at the same time as the continued status conference set forth below.

(e) Tax Motion (dkt. 5). The tentative ruling is to grant the motion on an interim basis, with a final hearing at the same time as the continued status conference set forth below.

(f) Cash Management Motion (dkt. 6). The tentative ruling is to grant the motion on the following conditions on an interim basis, with a final hearing at the same time as the continued status conference set forth below. No later than 2/23/18 the debtor must file a declaration of its CFO or other appropriate person certifying that, first, the debtor has taken measures to assure that prepetition debts are not paid out of its existing accounts (e.g., stopping payment on prepetition checks, except to the extent authorized by this court), and second, the debtor is maintaining sufficiently detailed books and records that, if it becomes necessary to analyze the debtor's finances as of the petition date, such analysis will not be impaired by the non-closing of the debtor's prepetition accounts.

(g) Lease Rejection Motion (dkt. 7). The tentative ruling is to grant the motion on a final basis.

(h) Employee Wages Motion (dkt. 8). The tentative ruling is to grant this motion immediately and on a final basis as to the employees, and to grant it as to the retention of Modern HR, Inc. ("HR") either immediately or at a continued hearing if the debtor can provide an offer of proof or evidence that HR's rates are within normal market rates for comparable services.

(i) Store Closing Sale Motion (dkt. 17). The tentative ruling is to approve the retention of Great American Group LLC and Tiger Capital Group LLC (collectively, "Liquidation Consultant") subject to the filing, no later than 2/23/18, of a satisfactory statement of Liquidation Consultant's disinterestedness on Local Form F 2014-1.STMT.DISINTEREST.PROF. In addition, the tentative ruling is to authorize the proposed sales of the debtor's inventory and furniture, fixtures and equipment ("FF&E"), free and clear of any liens, claims, encumbrances or other interests of all persons/entities who have been served with the motion, with all such interests to attach to proceeds of such sales, under 11 U.S.C. 363(b) and (f)(1), (2) and (5), for the reasons stated in the motion papers. In addition, the tentative ruling with respect to compliance with nonbankruptcy liquidation laws, restrictions in leases, and abandonment of property is to track the limitations in this Court's interim order on the parallel motion in the Bachrach case (no. 2:17-bk-15292-NB, dkt. 71). In addition, the tentative ruling is to grant all such relief on an interim basis, with a final hearing at the same time as the continued status conference set forth below.

(j) Cash Collateral/DIP Financing (dkt. 21, 22). The parties should be prepared to address the following issues. (i) Is there any evidence that the debtor is "unable" to obtain credit by granting a "senior or equal lien" to the lien of Siena Lending Group, LLC ("Siena"), within the meaning of 11 U.S.C. 364(d)(1)(A)? (ii) Why would it be appropriate for this Court to approve a roll-up, cross-collateralization, and other provisions that generally are disapproved (see dkt. 22)? (iii) Why should this Court grant broader relief in this case than it did in approving a similar motion in the Bachrach case (no. 2:17-bk-15292-NB, dkt. 46, Ex.A, pp.5-9, and dkt. 50)? The tentative ruling is to authorize either consensual or non-consensual use of cash collateral and, if the terms can be modified sufficiently to be acceptable, the proposed DIP financing, on an interim basis, with a final hearing at the same time as the continued status conference set forth below.

(k) Notice of continued hearings. The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 2/27/18 for the debtor to file and serve a notice of the final hearing on all motions that are only granted on an interim basis, and to set the same deadline for the debtor to file any supplements or amendments to such motions, with deadlines of 3/6/18 for any opposition and 3/13/18 for any reply.

(l) Proposed Orders. This court intends to file these tentative rulings on the docket (with the caption, "Memorialization Of Tentative rulings" or the like). Thereafter, if appropriate, all orders can grant or deny relief "for the reasons stated in the Memorialization Of Tentative Rulings (dkt. __), as modified or supplemented on the record at the hearing" (or similar language). The debtor is directed to serve and lodge proposed orders via this court's "LOU" system within 7 days after the hearing date.

In view of the shortened time on the foregoing motions, parties in interest may appear and dispute the foregoing tentative rulings without prior notice to the debtor or the court (contrary to the usual requirements for "tentative rulings" under Judge Bason's Procedures, posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov).

Chapter 7

#7.00 Cont'd Status Conference re: Chapter 7 Case
fr. 9/4/18,10/9/18, 11/6/18, 12/11/18

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 1/8/19:

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues

Both at the 11/6/18 hearing, and in a subsequent stipulation for a continuance (dkt. 92), the parties informed this Court that they were attempting mediation regarding a motion, filed by Debtor while it was still under the control of its principal, Mr. Brown, to approve a compromise that would provide for distribution of substantial funds to Mr. Brown. See 52, 61, 75, 81, 92, 94. The parties are directed to apprise this Court of the current status of their disputes.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 7/30/18 and converted to chapter 7 on 10/10/18.

(a) Bar date: 11/7/18 (see dkt. 47, 51, and tentative ruling for 10/9/18, reproduced below).

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: N/A.

(c) Continued status conference: 2/5/19 at 2:00 p.m. No written status report is required.

*Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

Tentative Ruling for 11/6/18:

Appearances required.

(1) Current issues

(a) Debtor's motion to approve compromise (dkt. 52). There is no tentative ruling but the parties should be prepared to address the responses by Allstar and the Chapter 7 Trustee (see dkt. 61, 75) and Debtor's reply (dkt. 81).

Revised Tentative Ruling for 10/9/18:

Appearances required. The tentative ruling is to convert this case to chapter 7 pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 1112(b), due to the apparent conflicts of interest of the debtor's principal, Mr. Brown, with the interests of creditors. See Motion by UST (dkt. 39), Joinder by Allstar Fin. Svcs., Inc. (dkt. 62). Although Debtor asserts (dkt. 58) that a number of issues identified by the UST have been addressed, the opposition does not adequately address the alleged conflicts of interest. In addition, the issues identified in this Court's tentative ruling for 10/9/18 (reproduced below) have not been adequately addressed. In addition, this Court's order (dkt. 47) directed Debtor not to serve a notice of bar date and instead to serve a copy of that order itself, no later than 9/7/18, but Debtor disregarded that order and served its own notice (dkt. 51) on 9/16/18.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 10/9/18:

This court anticipates posting a tentative ruling at a later time.

Tentative Ruling for 9/4/18:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor and by the debtor(s) themselves.

(1) Current issues

(a) Failure to serve order. This Court's status conference order (dkt. 9, para.5, bolded text) directed counsel for the debtor to serve all creditors with a copy of the order. Why was it not served?

(b) Failure to comply with requirements for professionals. The debtor's status report (dkt. 45, p.4) states that neither the debtor's attorney nor any other professional intend to apply for employment because they do not intend to seek compensation during the case. That is not the test. They are required to apply for employment under 11 U.S.C. 327. In addition, the United States Trustee ("UST") has objected in its motion to dismiss (dkt. 39) that the person who claims to be acting as the debtor's bankruptcy attorney, Robert A. Brown, Esq., is also the debtor's CEO and General Counsel. The parties should be prepared to address the conflicts issues.

(c) Failure to comply with Chapter 11 requirements. See the UST's motion to dismiss (dkt. 39).

(d) Failure to comply with procedures for plan (dkt. 38) and disclosure statement (dkt. 37). As stated in this Court's status conferences order (dkt. 9), Judge Bason's posted procedures (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) establish procedures for any draft plan and disclosure statement. Counsel for the debtor has violated those procedures by mailing a copy of the drafts to creditors before this Court has approved such mailing.

In addition, those documents omit any meaningful liquidation analysis or disclosure of what could be paid to general unsecured creditors, instead opting for a flat 12% promised distribution (dkt. 38, at PDF pp.13-14). In addition, from the summary of assets and liabilities (dkt. 19) it appears that the debtor might have enough equity in property to pay far more than 12%, depending on the total amount of unsecured claims.

(e) Opaque "disclosures". The debtor's references to a sale of the "Marsh" property is not adequately explained. In addition, although the debtor's bankruptcy Schedule H (dkt. 1) asserts that there are no co-debtors, this Court questions whether that is so because business organizations typically have individual guarantors on any major debts.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 7/30/18.

(a) Bar date: 11/7/18 (DO NOT SERVE notice yet - court will prepare an order after the status conference).

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement: TBD.

(c) Continued status conference: 10/9/18 at 1:00 p.m. No written status report is required.

Chapter 11

#9.00 Cont'd hrg re: Motion for Order Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 3006 Conditioning Withdrawal of Debra West Proof of Claim fr. 12/11/18

Docket 380

Tentative Ruling:

Revised Tentative Ruling for 1/8/19:

(1) Grant Ms. West's motion for leave to withdraw her proof of claim (dkt. 392), and (2) grant in part and deny in part Mr. Britton's motion requesting conditions on that withdrawal (dkt. 380) by (a) requiring disclosure to Mr. Britton (on a confidential basis) of the agreement between Mr. Riggs and Ms. West but (b) denying Mr. Britton's request for attorney fees. Appearances required.

Proposed order: Mr. Britton is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this Court's final ruling (subject to any changes at the hearing). See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

Analysis

Mr. Britton seeks two conditions on Ms. West's withdrawal of her claim: (1) disclosure of the terms of the agreement between Mr. Riggs and Ms. West (dkt. 380, pp.12:3-13:22) and (2) payment of his attorney fees (id., pp.13:23-15:2).

(1) Disclosure of agreement between Mr. Riggs and Ms. West

On the one hand, Mr. Britton's assertions of something nefarious are not very persuasive. As Ms. West argues, she has been caught in the middle of the disputes between Mr. Britton and Mr. Riggs (both in his individual capacity and through the debtor, Cloudbreak). There is nothing surprising in each of Mr. Britton and Mr. Riggs attempting to obtain West as an ally.

The circumstances of this case do not lend themselves to the sort of mischief that Mr. Britton vaguely suggests. For example, Ms. West is not a business competitor who has obtained trade secrets from Mr. Britton that she could sell to Mr. Riggs as part of her settlement with Mr. Riggs. Nor is Ms. West a potential bidder for Cloudbreak's assets who may have engaged in collusion to chill the bidding.

Nevertheless the tentative ruling is that Ms. West and Mr. Riggs have not established a sufficient basis to keep the contents of their agreement secret from Mr. Britton. Given the broad scope of discovery, especially in bankruptcy cases (see Rule 2004, Fed. R. Bankr. P.), a general desire to maintain confidentiality is insufficient. It appears to be appropriate to condition Ms. West's withdrawal of her claim on disclosure (on a confidential basis) of her agreement with Mr. Riggs.

The confidentiality requirement would include a prohibition on Mr. Britton divulging the contents of Ms. West's agreement with Mr. Riggs in any other litigation, without a prior order of this Bankruptcy Court approving such disclosure. The orders on these motions should incorporate a retention of jurisdiction for that purpose.

(2) Attorney fees

Under the "American Rule" parties generally bear their own legal fees. There is a possible exception if an award of fees would be appropriate to compensate for some sort of legal prejudice, but Mr. Britton has not established such legal prejudice. See In re Lowenschuss, 67 F. 3d 1394, 1400-01 (9th Cir. 1995) ("At most, Lowenschuss has been inconvenienced by expending time and resources in preparing for the trial and we have held that the inconvenience of defending another lawsuit or the fact that the defendant has already begun trial preparations does not constitute [legal] prejudice.") (citation and internal quotation marks omitted). But cf. id. at 1401 n.5 (noting possible remedy of conditioning withdrawal of claims on payment of attorney fees). See also In re County of Orange, 203 B.R. 977, 982 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1996) ("loss of a tactical advantage" does not constitute legal prejudice) (citations omitted).

Mr. Britton cites the footnote in Lowenschuss noting that awarding attorney fees might be appropriate in some circumstances (cited above), but that footnote merely notes the possibility without setting forth any standards for this Bankruptcy Court's exercise of that discretion. Mr. Britton also cites other authorities, such as Kern v. TXO Production Corp., 738 F. 2d 968, 971-73 (8th Cir. 1984), but they are unpersuasive. In Kern, for example, the dismissal without prejudice occurred after trial had begun, and there was a substantial risk that the other party would have to litigate the same claims again, so any such second lawsuit would be subject to reimbursement for any "lawyers' services that will have to be repeated," as opposed to those that would be "freely usable in the second [lawsuit]." Id., 972-73 (citation omitted). Britton has not established any scenario in which he will face a similar situation of having to duplicate his payment of legal fees. Rather, the tentative ruling is that Mr. Britton has incurred the usual expenses of litigation, which he must bear himself and cannot shift to Ms. West.

Appearances required.

(1) Current issues

(a) Potential settlement with Fresco Parties. The parties must be prepared to address the status of their settlement negotiations and finalization of the draft settlement documents circulated 2/5/18, and all other issues appropriate to raise at a status conference, including the issues in their recent status reports and related documents (Sakurai case, no. 2:17-bk-22660-NB, dkt. 87, 104, 105, 114, 124, and Checkmate case, no. 2:17-bk-22648-NB, dkt. 90, 93, 100, 102, 104, 105, 106, 109, 112, 113, 119, 122).

(b) Cash collateral & budget motions & stipulation (Sakurai dkt. 119, 122; Checkmate dkt. 114, 118, 119). Grant the cash collateral motion in the Sakurai case, subject to the same replacement liens and other terms and conditions as this Court's prior approvals of the use of cash collateral (see Sakurai case dkt. 43, 57); grant the budget motion in the Sakurai case; and approve the cash collateral stipulation in the Checkmate case on a final basis.

(d) Removed action (Adv. no. 2:17-ap-01558-NB), motions for stay and for remand (adv. dkt. 8, 10, 12, 13). The tentative ruling is that the motion for a stay pending determination by the District Court of the debtors' motion to withdraw the reference is moot, because the District Court has dismissed that motion. There is no tentative ruling on the motion to remand.

Tentative Ruling for 1/30/18:

Appearances required.

(1) Current issues

(a) Turnover of Documents and Information etc. The parties must be prepared to address the debtors' turnover of documents and information, and all other issues appropriate to raise at a status conference, including the issues in their recent status reports and related documents (case no. 2:17-bk-22660-NB, dkt. 87, 104, 105, 114, and 2:17-bk-22648-NB, dkt. 90, 93, 100, 102, 104, 105, 106, 109, 112, 113).

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 10/16/17.

(a) Bar date: 1/17/18 (order timely served. dkt. 63, 69)

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: file by 4/16/18 using the forms required by Judge Bason (DO NOT SERVE yet, except on the U.S. Trustee - the court will set a deadline and procedures at a later time).

(c) Continued status conference: 2/13/18 at 1:00 p.m. Brief status report due 2/6/18.

*Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

Tentative Ruling for 1/23/18:

Continue all matters scheduled for today in the Sakurai and Checkmate cases and related adversary proceeding to 1/30/18 at 2:00 p.m. in view of the apparent inability of the Office of the United States Trustee to appear due to the shutdown of much of the federal government. At the continued hearing the parties must be prepared to address all issues appropriate to raise at a status conference, including the issues in their recent status reports and related documents (case no. 2:17-bk-22660-NB, dkt. 87, 104, 105, and 2:17-bk-22648-NB, dkt. 90, 93, 100, 102, 104, 105, 106, 109). Appearances are not required on 1/23/18.

Tentative Ruling for 1/9/18:

Appearances required by the debtor's counsel.

Proposed orders: The debtor is directed to serve and lodge proposed orders on each motion listed below via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date.

(1) Current issues

(a) Status Report (dkt. 90): The status report states that the debtor's business is dormant with respect to its financing of the purchase of used medical equipment. Where is Radiology Solutions storing the $4.6M worth of financed equipment and does the debtor have a perfected security interest in the equipment?

Revised Tentative Ruling for 11/14/17:

Appearances required by the debtor's principals and debtor's counsel.

Proposed orders: The debtor is directed to serve and lodge proposed orders on each motion listed below via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date.

(1) Current issues

(a) Status Report (dkt. 37): The status report states that the debtor has no executory contracts. What about all the contracts with Radiology Solutions Inc./Corp. (whichever name is correct)?

(b) Cash collateral motion (dkt.9): The debtor reports (dkt. 53, p.3) that it has reached a stipulation with Community Bank regarding the use of cash collateral, but as of the preparation of this tentative ruling no such stipulation appears on the docket. If there is no such stipulation, or if it does not moot the bank's opposition (dkt. 50), then the parties should be prepared to address the merits of that opposition. In addition, the parties should be prepared to address the objection of the Fresco parties (dkt. 49) and the debtor's response (dkt. 53).

(c) Payroll motion (dkt. 6). The tentative ruling is to grant this motion on a final basis.

Tentative Ruling for 1/8/19:
Appearances Required

(1) Current Issues

(a) Chapter 11 Plan (Sakurai dkt. 309, Checkmate dkt. 234, the "Plan")

For the reasons set forth in the tentative ruling for the hearing on 12/11/18, as well as the statements made at that hearing, the parties should be prepared to address whether the Fresco parties will demand conversion of these cases pursuant to the terms of the parties' earlier stipulation (Sakurai dkt. 266, and see, e.g., dkt. 282). Meanwhile, the effective date of the Plan has been deferred pending approval of a real estate broker to sell Debtors' property in Japan (see next paragraph below).

(b) Application to Employ Sekiwa Real Estate Co., Ltd (Sakurai, dkt. 337)

There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address the issues raised in the order setting hearing (Sakurai, dkt. 349).

(c) Motion to Approve Bidding Procedure, Sale of Lake Elsinore Property and Broker Fees (Sakurai, dkt. 333)

The tentative ruling is to grant the motion and, subject to any overbidding, (i) approve the sale to R2H Investments, LLC ("Buyer") for $1.5 million, free and clear of liens pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 363(b)&(f)(2), (ii) approve the broker commissions, and (iii) if sufficient declarations are filed to support a "good faith" finding under 11 U.S.C. 363(m) (see Judge Bason's posted procedures, available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov), include such a finding.

Tentative Ruling for 12/11/18:

Appearances Required

(1) Current Issues

(a) Chapter 11 Plan (Sakurai dkt. 309, Checkmate dkt. 234, the "Plan")

Based on the status reports filed by Debtors (Checkmate dkt. 246, Sakurai dkt. 329), the responses filed by the Fresco parties (Checkmate dkt. 247, Sakurai dkt. 330), and Debtors' reply (Sakurai dkt. 335), and the recent developments regarding the various properties (e.g., Sakurai dkt. 331-34,), the parties should be prepared to address whether the Fresco parties will demand conversion of these cases pursuant to the terms of the parties' earlier stipulation (Sakurai dkt. 266, and see, e.g., dkt. 282).

This Court understands that the Japanese property has not been listed for sale despite this long-standing requirement, as reflected in this Court's order approving the disclosure statement (Sakurai dkt. 325). Debtors have offered various excuses, but the tentative ruling is that whether or not there are good reasons for the delay, that is irrelevant because under the parties' stipulation the Fresco parties do not need any reasons to require conversion, given that Debtors have not met the deadlines.

(b) RS/Fower Adversary Proceeding (2:18-ap-01602-NB)

The parties have indicated the need for further discovery. The tentative ruling is to extend the deadline for discovery to 2/15/19 and to set this case for a further status conference concurrent with the continued status conferences in the main cases, set forth below.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 10/16/17.

Approve the D/S on a final basis, and confirm the Plan, based on the ballot summary (Sakurai dkt. 313) and subject to an offer of proof that the proof of service (Sakurai dkt. 311) should be deemed amended to include service of the Plan, instead of listing the D/S twice. Debtors are directed to lodge proposed orders within 7 days after this hearing (each estate should have an order finally approving the D/S, and a second order confirming the Plan and setting the post-confirmation status conference set forth below).

Tentative Ruling for 10/16/18:

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current Issues

(a) Chapter 11 Plan (Sakurai dkt. 295, Checkmate dkt. 221, the "Plan"); Disclosure Statement (Sakurai dkt. 296, Checkmate dkt. 222, the "D/S"). The parties should be prepared to discuss whether the Plan and D/S fully comply with the Stipulation with the Fresco Parties (D/S, Ex.1, and dkt. 266), including whether the Plan provides for the nondischargeability of the Fresco Parties' claim and the Fresco Parties' right to appoint forensic accountants. In addition, Exhibit C to the disclosure statement does not appear to include the $793,000 account pledged to Citizens Business Bank (the "Bank") or the $400,000 "note owed [by an undisclosed person] in the Sakurai case." D/S, Attachment, p.3:11-14. In addition, periods "A" through "F" on Exhibit C are confusing. In addition, Exhibit F appears to include some printing and other errors.

The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 10/18/18 for Debtors to file a further amended Plan and amended D/S to correct these issues and lodge a proposed order, substantially in the form of the order posted on Judge

Bason's portion of the Court's website (www.cacb.uscourts.gov), authorizing the service of a voting package and setting a combined hearing on final approval of the D/S and confirmation of the Plan for the same time as the continued status conference (see below). The tentative ruling is that the voting package should include Mr. Sakurai's declaration (Sakurai dkt. 297) but not include any of the exhibits to it, and instead include a note stating that the exhibits are available upon request.

In addition, the tentative ruling is that the Plan must include provisions to safeguard proceeds from the sales of property, liquidation of the bank account pledged to the Bank, and any other assets of the estate. The tentative ruling is that any proceeds must be transferred directly from escrow to a bank account from which funds cannot be released absent the signature of Debtors' counsel, upon order of this Court.

(b) RS/Fower Adversary Proceeding (2:18-ap-01602-NB). The tentative ruling is to continue the status conference to the date and time stated below.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Fresco Parties' Motions to Convert Cases (dkt. 199 & Checkmate 2:17-bk-22648-NB, dkt. 185). The tentative ruling is to tentatively approve the parties' stipulations (Sakurai dkt. 266 and Checkmate dkt. 208) as settlements of the respective motions under Rule 9019 (Fed. R. Bankr. P.), and to rule that notice of such settlements need not be provided pursuant to Rule 2002(a)(3). The cause for not requiring notice is that the motions to convert were properly served, a hearing was held, the parties who sought to Proposed orders: The Fresco Parties are directed to lodge two separate proposed orders (one for each settlement) via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this Court's final ruling. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

to convert the Checkmate and Sakurai cases to chapter 7 for the following reasons.

(i) Gross mismanagement. The tentative finding of fact is that the debtors have grossly mismanaged their estates such that cause exists under 1112(b)(4)(B) to convert their cases. These cases have been pending for nearly a year, since 10/16/17, only very belated and half-hearted investigation or collection activity against Radiology Solutions and Fower - either using legal enforcement or practical steps. For example, at hearings on 11/14/17 and 1/30/18, the debtors maintained their belief that they could recover 100% on the dated receiveables from Radiology Solutions, despite this Court's expressed concerns with the debtors' counsel regarding the apparent lack of collection activity based on Checkmate's failure to use the vast panoply of litigation tools available to them, including examinations under Rule 2004 (Fed. R. Bankr. P.), other discovery tools, remedies such as immediately seeking restraining orders and injunctions, and non-litigation approaches such as pressuring Radiology Solutions and Fower by reporting their defaults to Siemens or attempting to use pressure from other suppliers, customers, government regulators, or other persons. All of those avenues should have been explored vigorously, both prepetition and postpetition, and disclosed to parties in interest in these cases.

(ii) Other "cause." The debtors appear to have run through vast amounts of money to "purchase" equipment that does not exist, and yet as set forth above they have a very cavalier attitude toward attempting to engage in discovery or collection, while continuing to insist that they expected very substantial recoveries from those sources and/or from equipment (which turned out not to exist). The tentative finding of fact is that these circumstances show not just gross mismanagement but also that the debtors are hiding facts, or they are attempting to run out the clock on possible causes of action against them or transferees of their assets, or both.

(ii) The debtors' counter-argument about the best interests of creditors is not persuasive. The debtors argue that under their liquidation analysis (Sakurai, dkt. 240, PDF p. 14, Checkmate, dkt. 194, PDF p. 17) creditors will receive faster and better recoveries if the debtors are permitted to engage in a liquidation through chapter 11, rather than converting these cases to chapter 7. There are several problems with this argument.

First, this Court questions the debtors' projected recoveries in chapter 11. The debtors have been wildly inaccurate (or have intentionally hidden the truth) before, as set forth above. This Court has no faith in the Debtors to adequately disclose and maximize the value of their remaining assets, such as the house in Japan or purported interests in that house. Moreover, this Court is concerned about the debtor's management of whatever is recovered, such as what might happen to proceeds from the sale of real property. This Court recognizes that safeguards can be attempted; but safeguards can also be evaded, and the tentative ruling is that the simplest and best safeguard is to appoint a chapter 7 trustee.

Second, this Court questions the debtor's projected lack of substantial recoveries in chapter 7. The tentative ruling is that the Fresco Parties have the better arguments regarding the potential benefits to unsecured creditors in a chapter 7 case (perhaps as much as 80% or more).

Third, supposing for the sake of discussion that the debtors were accurate in their projected recoveries in a liquidating chapter 11 case, and their comparison with projected recoveries in a chapter 7 case, that is not the only consideration. This Court must consider the integrity of the bankruptcy system. Given the debtors' gross mismanagement and this Court's concerns about the debtors' conduct (as described above) it appears that the only adequate safeguard of the integrity of the bankruptcy system is to convert these cases to chapter 7.

(iii) Evidentiary Objections (Sakurai, dkt. 233, 252) & (Checkmate 2:17-bk-22648-NB, dkt. 200, 204). The tentative ruling is that the history of this case and this Court's own admonishments to the debtors provides ample support for conversion, so this Court need not resolve the parties' respective evidentiary objections.

(iv) Proposed Orders. The Fresco Parties are directed to lodge proposed orders via this Court's LOU system within 7 days of the hearing.

(b) Application to Employ KW Commercial Inland Empire (dkt. 197) and Neiman Realty (dkt. 206). If this Court adopts the tentative ruling set forth above, the tentative ruling is to continue these hearings to the date and time set forth below to allow time for the chapter 7 trustees to weigh in.

(c) RS/Fower Adversary Proceeding (2:18-ap-01602-NB). The tentative ruling is to continue the status conference to the date and time stated below.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 10/16/17.

(a) Bar date: 1/17/18 (order timely served. dkt. 58, 59).

Hrg re: Motion to Use Cash Collateral On An Interim And Final Basis

Docket 7

Tentative Ruling:

Grant the motion (docket no. 7) on an interim basis, subject to (1) any opposition at or before the hearing (per the order shortening time, dkt. 16), and (2) the conditions set forth below, with a final hearing on the same date as the continued case status conference (see calendar no. 6, 1/11/19 at 3:00 p.m.). Appearances required.

Note: The following are Judge Bason's standard conditions, and the tentative ruling is to adopt them at this interim hearing. These might (or might not) be superseded by whatever conditions Judge Brand decides to impose at the final hearing, or at any other time.

Judge Bason's standard conditions for use of cash collateral and/or postpetition financing (by creditors holding prepetition claims)

(1) Written order

(a) Form. Use local form

F2081-1.1.ORDER.CASH.COLLATERAL or the equivalent. Attach a copy of this tentative ruling as an exhibit, thereby adopting it as the written ruling of this Court. Do not repeat the terms set forth in the motion or any stipulation. Incorporate those terms by reference (including the docket number of the document), subject to any modification by this Court.

(b) Timing. Lodge the proposed order within 7 days after the hearing. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(2) Minimum adequate protection provided pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 552 (e.g., in traceable proceeds and profits), and subject to any more comprehensive protection that may be included in the motion or related papers, Debtor shall provide at least the following protection to any creditor with a security interest in the subject property (pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 361-364, as applicable):

(a) Insurance. For all collateral of a type that typically is insured (e.g., real property and improvements), Debtor is directed to maintain insurance in a dollar amount at least equal to Debtor's good faith estimate of the value of such creditor's interest in the collateral, and such insurance shall name such creditor as an additional insured. Debtor is directed to remain current on payments for such insurance.

(b) Taxes. Debtor is directed to remain current on payments on account of postpetition real estate taxes (to the extent that real estate is part of the collateral).

(c) Disclosures/access. Debtor is directed to provide, upon such creditor's reasonable request, periodic accountings of the foregoing insurance and tax obligations and payments, as well as postpetition proceeds, products, offspring, or profits from the collateral, including gross revenues and expenses and a calculation of net revenues, including any rents and any fees, charges, accounts, or other payments for the use or occupancy of rooms and other public facilities in lodging properties (as all of the foregoing terms are used in 11 U.S.C. 552). Debtor is directed to provide appropriate documentation of those accountings, and access for purposes of inspection or appraisal.

(3) Limitation on postpetition liens

In the event that the motion or related papers seek authority to grant postpetition liens to the creditor(s) with respect to prepetition debts any such liens shall be limited to the same validity, priority, and amount as prepetition liens. As used herein, the "validity, priority, and amount" or any similar phrase that may be used by the parties or this Court is deemed to include the following:

(a) Extent. Such liens shall be limited to the type of collateral in which the creditor held a security interest as of the petition date, unless this order expressly states that the liens granted by this order are intended to attach to different types of collateral from the prepetition collateral. For example, if prepetition liens extended to inventory and accounts receivable but not equipment then postpetition liens are likewise limited (unless otherwise expressly provided by order of this Court). In addition, postpetition liens shall not extend to the proceeds of any avoidance actions, any recoveries under 11 U.S.C. 506(c), or any "carveout" under 11 U.S.C. 552.

(b) Priority. Such liens shall be limited to the same priority as the security interest held by the creditor as of the petition date.

(c) Dollar amount. Such liens shall be limited to the dollar amount needed to protect the creditor against diminution in the value of the secured claims as of the petition date.

(d) Enforceability. Such liens shall be limited to the extent that the creditor's security interests were duly perfected and valid as of the petition date, and to the extent that they are unavoidable.

(e) Automatic postpetition perfection. Any automatic perfection of such liens shall be subject to any applicable limitations regarding the Court's authority, jurisdiction, or due process.

(4) Automatic disapproval of insufficiently disclosed provisions

Any provision of the type listed in FRBP 4001(c)(1)(B) or in local form F4001-2 (e.g., cross-collateralization) or any waiver of the "equities of the case" exception in 11 U.S.C. 552(b)(2) shall be deemed automatically disapproved and excepted from any order granting the motion, notwithstanding any other provision of such order, unless either: (a) such provision is specifically and prominently disclosed in the motion papers in a checklist (such as local form F4001-2), or alternatively (b) such provision is specifically identified in any proposed order granting the motion, using terminology of the type used in FRBP 4001(c)(1)(B) or local form F4001-2 (e.g., any "cross-collateralization" that is not specifically identified as such is deemed to be disapproved).

(5) Disputes

In the event of any disputes regarding the rulings in this order, the parties are directed to meet and confer and, if they cannot resolve their disputes consensually, contact chambers to arrange a mutually convenient time for either a telephonic or in-person hearing to address such disputes.

#3.00 Hrg re: Motion for relief from stay [RP]

CRESCENT CAPITAL HOLDINGS, LLC
DEBTOR

Docket 78

Tentative Ruling:

Appearances required. The tentative ruling is either (1) if no evidence of insurance is provided at the hearing, or perhaps within a very short window, to grant immediate relief from the automatic stay, and otherwise (2) to require Debtor to sell the subject property immediately, and set related procedures including a continued hearing on this motion for relief from the automatic stay, all as set forth below.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this Court's final ruling. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(1) Background

Movant previously filed a motion (dkt. 8) for relief from the automatic stay in this case. This Court issued an adequate protection order (dkt. 31, the "APO"). The APO provides that the stay will remain in place as long as Debtor makes adequate protection payments, but that the stay will not apply in any future bankruptcy case ("in rem" relief).

(2) Alleged cause for relief under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1)&(4)

(a) Insurance

Movant asserts that Debtor has failed to provide proof that the property is insured. See dkt. 78, p.3. Debtor's response (dkt. 83) fails to address this issue, as pointed out by Movant's reply (dkt. 85).

At the hearing, Debtor is directed to address whether the property is insured, and to make an offer of proof. This Court may be persuaded to terminate the automatic stay immediately if Debtor fails to provide adequate proof of insurance that complies with the loan documents (e.g., naming Movant as a party entitled to notice and/or as an insured party, if that is what the loan documents require).

(b) Order for relief from the stay in a related case

Movant now seeks relief again, pointing out that since the APO was issued an order granting relief from the automatic stay has been issued in a case filed by Debtor's principal and 100% equity owner, Sergio Moreno Morales. See In re Morales (Case No. 2:18-bk-16365-WB), dkt. 31 (issued on 7/3/18) (the "In Rem Order"). The In Rem Order grants relief under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(4) - i.e., relief that is applicable notwithstanding any future bankruptcy case. By definition the In Rem Order is not applicable to this pending bankruptcy case, but Movant apparently believes the issuance of that order should be considered cause under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1)&(4) to modify the APO so as to terminate the automatic stay immediately.

This Court is not persuaded. First, as Debtor points, in this case there is no evidence that Debtor has failed to comply with the APO.

Second, the In Rem Order itself recites that there was no opposition to that order. In contrast, in this case Debtor has responded and adequately established, long before the In Rem Order was issued, that there were grounds to hold Debtor to a strict APO but not terminate the stay.

To summarize this Court's prior reasoning in issuing the APO, although it is true that Mr. Morales has filed multiple bankruptcy cases and previously arranged an unauthorized transfer of title to the real property from Debtor to himself, (a) title was restored to Debtor on or about 6/1/18 (see dkt. 21, p.4:5-6), (b) Mr. Morales has adequately explained his prior bankruptcy cases and the unauthorized transfer of title, at least for purposes of issuing the APO rather than terminating the automatic stay (see dkt. 21, pp.4:9-5:21, and 7:12-10:22), and (c) creditors would be harmed if the stay were terminated in this case. Not only does this reasoning still apply, but the APO is the law of this case, and Movant has neither briefed the standards for overcoming the law of the case nor established legal or factual grounds for reconsidering the APO.

As Debtor argues, Movant must show both (a) a lack of equity in the property and (b) that the property is not necessary for an effective reorganization. Debtor disputes both of these prongs. Ultimately, however, both parties' arguments depend on whether there is equity in the property. If there is, then the property can be sold and net proceeds distributed to creditors. If there is no equity, Debtor has not suggested any reason why the property would be necessary to an effective reorganization.

United States Bankruptcy Court

Any equity in the property is equal to the property's value minus costs of sale and liens or other encumbrances. Debtor questions whether the dollar amount that Movant claims to be owed on its lien takes into consideration the payments made under the APO. That may make a difference of a few thousand dollars. The larger issue is the value of the property.

Movant asserts that the value is $750,000. See dkt. 78, p.8 & Ex.M, and dkt. 85 at PDF pp.11 et seq. (Mauch Decl.). Debtor's principal asserts (dkt. 83, pp.9:20-10:2) that Debtor has recently accepted an offer to purchase the property for $850,000, for which he will seek this Court's approval under 11 U.S.C. 363(b)&(f). Debtor's principal also asserts (id.) that he believes the property is actually worth much more - approximately $915,000 - but that "in the interest of moving Debtor's reorganization along and avoiding Movant's attempts at relief and foreclosure" he "has determined that it is in the best interest of the estate to accept a purchase price of $850,000.00."

The tentative ruling is that the best method of determining whether Debtor has an equity in the property (and hence, in the circumstances of this case, whether the property is necessary to an effective reorganization of Debtor's finances) is to move forward with the proposed sale of the property (presumably subject to overbids). As the Supreme Court has stated, generally "the best way to determine value is exposure to a market." Bank of Am. v. 203 N. LaSalle St. P'ship, 526 U.S. 434, 457 (1999).

This Court takes judicial notice that Debtor has filed an application (dkt. 82) to employ a real estate broker. In other words, Debtor appears to be taking steps to proceed with the proposed sale of the property.

Accordingly, the tentative ruling is to set a deadline for Debtor to file and serve its motion to sell the property under 11 U.S.C. 363(b)&(f), and defer any other issues until after this Court determines whether or not to approve the proposed sale. The tentative ruling is that a motion to sell must be filed and served no later than 2/1/19, and self-calendared for hearing on 2/26/19 at 1:00 p.m.

In addition, the tentative ruling is to continue the present motion for relief from the automatic stay to the same time (specially set at 1:00 p.m., rather than the usual time of 10:00 a.m.). In addition, the tentative ruling is to

Tentative Ruling:

Grant as provided below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this Court's final ruling. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

Termination

Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (d)(4).

To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Relief notwithstanding future bankruptcy cases.

Grant the following relief pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(4) and the legal analysis in In re Vazquez, 580 B.R. 526 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2017), and/or In re Choong (case no. 2:14-bk-28378-NB, docket no. 31), as applicable:

If this order is duly recorded in compliance with applicable State laws governing notices of interests or liens in the property at issue, then no automatic stay shall apply to such property in any bankruptcy case purporting to affect such property and filed within two years after the date of entry of this order, unless otherwise ordered by the court presiding over that bankruptcy case.

For the avoidance of doubt, any acts by the movant to obtain exclusive possession of such property shall not be stayed, including any eviction actions, through and including any lockout or other enforcement by the Sheriff or other authorized legal authority.

Note: Per Judge Bason's posted procedures (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) this Court's order will state that the Court "does not make" a finding that Debtor was involved in the "scheme" referenced in section 362(d)(4), unless there is sufficient evidence that Debtor was involved and Debtor is given clear notice that the movant seeks an express finding that Debtor was involved. The tentative ruling in this particular case is that there is sufficient evidence and notice.

Effective date of relief

Grant the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a) (3).

Co-debtor stay

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) has not been shown to have any basis for any different treatment from the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a), so the tentative ruling is to grant the identical relief regarding any co-debtor stay.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Deny, without prejudice to any other types of relief granted herein (or previously granted), for the following reasons.

The motion requests requests "in rem" relief (i.e., relief applicable notwithstanding future bankruptcy cases (under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(4) and/or In re Vazquez, 580 B.R. 526 (Bankr. C.D. In determining whether "cause" exists to grant relief from the automatic stay to allow a movant to pursue litigation in a non-bankruptcy forum, courts in the Ninth Circuit have examined the factors set forth in In re Curtis, 40 B.R. 795, 799–800 (Bankr. Based on the present record, the tentative ruling is that these factors weigh in favor of granting relief as set forth above. Most significantly: granting Movant's motion will result in complete resolution of the issues, and this issue essentially involves third parties, because Movant seeks relief to be able to recover only insurance proceeds with respect to a vehicle that has been "totaled."

Docket 5

Tentative Ruling:

Grant, subject to the following conditions. Appearances are not required.

After the hearing date this Court will prepare an order and the tentative ruling is to include the following language in that order:

The stay of 11 U.S.C. 362(a) applies subject to the following modifications and conditions:

(1) Service and reconsideration. Any party in interest who was not timely served in accordance with FRBP 7004 (incorporated by FRBP 9014(b)) is hereby granted through 14 days after proper service to seek reconsideration, including retroactive relief (under FRBP 9023 and/or 9024). Any such person (a) may set a hearing on 14 days' notice, (b) may appear by telephone (if arrangements are made per Judge Bason's posted procedures), and (c) may present all arguments orally at the hearing (i.e., no written argument is required). If written arguments appear necessary then this court will set a briefing schedule at the hearing.

(2) Reasons. (a) It appears appropriate to impose the automatic stay, and to impose it as to all persons rather than just as to selected persons, because one purpose of the automatic stay is to preventing a "race to collect" that could unfairly advantage some creditors at the expense of others. (b) To prevent possible abuse, this Court provides the foregoing simple process for reconsideration.

(1) Service and reconsideration. Any party in interest who was not timely served in accordance with FRBP 7004 (incorporated by FRBP 9014(b)) is hereby granted through 14 days after proper service to seek reconsideration, including retroactive relief (under FRBP 9023 and/or 9024). Any such person (a) may set a hearing on 14 days' notice, (b) may appear by telephone (if arrangements are made per Judge Bason's posted procedures), and (c) may present all arguments orally at the hearing (i.e., no written argument is required). If written arguments appear necessary then this court will set a briefing schedule at the hearing.

(2) Reasons. (a) It appears appropriate to impose the automatic stay, and to impose it as to all persons rather than just as to selected persons, because one purpose of the automatic stay is to preventing a "race to collect" that could unfairly advantage some creditors at the expense of others. (b) To prevent possible abuse, this Court provides the foregoing simple process for reconsideration.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 1/15/19:

Appearances required. At the hearing on 11/23/18 this Court continued the matter, without objection, for the reasons stated in the tentative ruling for that date. Have the parties come to any consensual resolution?

Appearances required. The tentative ruling is to continue this motion for relief from the automatic stay to 1/15/19 at 10:00 a.m. for the following reasons.

Background

Debtor was authorized to make reduced mortgage payments of $845.68 per month pursuant to this Court's order (dkt. 39) granting Debtor's motion to commence the Loan Modification Management ("LMM") program. That same order provides that Debtor shall continue making monthly payments in that amount until that amount is superseded - e.g., by a "final loan modification amount" (dkt. 39, sec. b.(2)) - and the order also directs Debtor to "file and serve appropriate papers to revise any plan" to reflect the current LMM payments.

Debtor does not dispute that the loan modification was ultimately denied. See dkt. 64, Ex.2. Debtor apparently made the reduced payments of $845.68/mo. from March through July of 2018, and apparently resumed normal payments of $1,529.99/mo. in August of 2018.

Meanwhile, Debtor's plan (dkt. 48, filed 8/7/18) provides in Class 2 that Movant (referred to as Rushmore Loan Services) will be repaid the prepetition arrears of approximately $51,486.00 (Movant's proof of claim 1-1 lists only $0.06 more) via monthly payments of $1,050.74, without interest. That plan was confirmed by this Court's order (dkt. 59, 10/11/18).

Analysis

Debtor apparently paid $845.68 per month from March through July of 2018. Movant asserts that Debtor should have paid $1,529.99 per month during that time.

Movant's assertion is contrary to this Court's order granting Debtor's motion to commence the LMM program. That order specifically authorizes and directs Debtor to pay the $845.68 amount.

The question is what to do about the shortfall between $845.68 and $1,529.99 now that the loan modification has been denied. The tentative ruling is as follows.

First, the shortfall does not simply disappear. Rather, pursuant to the order granting the LMM motion, now that the loan modification has been denied Debtor is obligated to file and serve a motion to modify the confirmed plan (a "MoMod") under 11 U.S.C. 1329, to reflect that denial.

Second, one form of MoMod would be to repay that shortfall (on top of repaying the prepetition arrears) over the entire remainder of the Plan's term. Another form of MoMod would be to provide for paying the shortfall over a shorter term, such as the typical period for an adequate protection order (usually six months and occasionally up to double that period). There might be other types of MoMod that would be permissible (e.g., providing for a refinancing or "step up" payments).

Third, what type of MoMod is permissible will depend on whether Movant is adequately protected by the proposed terms of repayment of the shortfall. This is akin to the usual analysis under 11 U.S.C. 362(d), except that unlike the usual situation in which a debtor fails to live up to postpetition obligations, in this case Debtor apparently has lived up to such obligations.

court's final ruling. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

More specifically, the tentative ruling is that (1) on the present record some form of relief from the automatic stay is required, including in rem relief, because Debtor appears to have been involved in a "scheme" to "hinder" or "delay" creditors within the meaning of 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(4), due to the filing of this case on 10/2/18, within a relatively short time after the dismissal on 6/5/18 of the bankruptcy case filed by Francisca Sanchez (2:18-bk-15538-WB); but (2) "relief" from the automatic stay does not necessarily mean "termination" of the stay, and could take the form of an adequate protection order ("APO") that (a) requires monthly payments and (b) provides in rem relief as follows:

If this order is duly recorded in compliance with applicable State laws governing notices of interests or liens in the property at issue, then no automatic stay shall apply to such property in any bankruptcy case purporting to affect such property and filed within two years after the date of entry of this order, unless otherwise ordered by the court presiding over that bankruptcy case.

For the avoidance of doubt, any acts by the movant to obtain exclusive possession of such property shall not be stayed. Any additional request for relief applicable to future bankruptcy cases is denied (e.g., any request to grant relief against third parties without any notice is denied) due to lack of sufficient factual or legal grounds presented in support of such relief.

In other words, if Debtor has the financial ability to cure the arrears and otherwise prosecute this bankruptcy case, then Debtor can do so under an adequate protection order; but Debtor must establish that she has the financial ability to do so. In addition, no future bankruptcy case will affect the property (subject to the limitations in 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(4)), so Debtor and any other person who asserts an interest in the property or who is a signatory to the loan documents cannot continue to file repeated bankruptcy cases simply to delay any foreclosure.

The grounds for such relief are that this Court has the power to grant relief in the form of modifying or conditioning the automatic stay, not just terminating it (11 U.S.C. 362(d)), and the foregoing relief appears to be appropriate in the present circumstances. See generally In re Vazquez, 580 B.R. 526 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2017) (even debtor who has excuses for hindering and delaying creditors can be subject to in rem relief); In re Bousheri (Case

Tentative Ruling for 1/15/19:

Deny without prejudice, due to lack of proper service (see this Court's adopted tentative ruling for 11/6/18, in part "(1)"). This hearing will only address (1) Movant's apparent confusion about service (see dkt. 322, pp. 3-4) and (2) Movant's risk of sanctions. See 11 U.S.C. 362(k). Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

Note: Because notice has not been properly given, this Court does not reach the merits, including the parties' dispute about whether Ms. Totaro is or is not a proper defendant in the nonbankruptcy action, and whether the automatic stay should or should not be lifted or should be conditioned on the terms set forth in the Debtor's opposition (see dkt. 319, 321, 322).

Proposed order: Debtor is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling (including the tentative ruling for 11/6/18 which is reproduced below), thereby incorporating it as this Court's final ruling. by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Revised Tentative Ruling for 11/6/18:

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

This Court has reviewed the motion (dkt. 304), Debtor's response (dkt. 306, 309, 310, 311, 312), and Movant's reply (dkt. 310), as well as other relevant filed documents and records of this Court regarding this bankruptcy case.

(1) Procedural issues

The tentative ruling is that all procedural deficiencies by Debtor have been cured or should be excused by this Court, but that a continuance is appropriate for Movant to serve all persons on the Creditor Matrix, because of the potential impact on Debtor's ability to make payments under his confirmed chapter 11 plan. See Rules 4001(a)(1) & 9014 (Fed. R. Bankr. P.) (requiring service on debtor, 20 largest nonpriority unsecured creditors, and "such other entities as the court may direct").

The tentative ruling is to set a continued hearing for 12/11/18 at 10:00 a.m., with a deadline of 11/13/18 for Movant to serve all persons on the Creditor Matrix and file a proof of service.

(2) Applicability of automatic stay

Under Debtor's confirmed chapter 11 plan (dkt. 227, Art. IV.B.), 11 U.S.C. 1141(b)&(c), and the confirmation order (dkt. 253) property of the bankruptcy estate has re-vested in Debtor. That has the effect of terminating the automatic stay as to such property (11 U.S.C. 362(c)(1)), but the automatic stay continues in all other respects until this case is closed or dismissed. Therefore Movant's action is stayed because the stay applies to the commencement of any action or proceeding against Debtor that could have been commenced prepetition, and to assess, collect, or recover a prepetition claim. 11 U.S.C. 362(a)(1), (a)(6), & (c)(2). Those restrictions are paralleled by this Court's order confirming Debtor's plan. Dkt. 253, para. 12.

In sum, the tentative ruling is that Movant does in fact need relief from this Court before he may proceed with any action against Debtor.

(3) Contemplation of limited relief

At the continued hearing, absent persuasive arguments by Movant, Debtor, or other parties in interest, this Court anticipates modifying and conditioning the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) such that Movant may proceed in the nonbankruptcy forum to final judgment (including any appeals) in accordance with applicable nonbankruptcy law, subject to the following limitations (Judge Bason's standard limitations, except for minor modification to address the post-confirmation status of this case).

(a) No enforcement against property subject to chapter 11 plan

To avoid disruption of payments to other creditors, the tentative ruling is to condition and limit relief from the automatic stay such that Movant may not enforce any judgment against any property of Debtor pending further order(s) of this Court (e.g., an order confirming a modified chapter 11 plan that provides for Movant, or an order granting further relief from the automatic stay).

Note: Movant would be permitted to enforce its final judgment by collecting upon any available insurance in accordance with applicable nonbankruptcy law. But, although two insurance companies are named as defendants in Movant's nonbankruptcy complaint (dkt. 304, Ex.A, at PDF p.14), Movant has not established a sufficient likelihood that insurers would pay costs of defense, or any other reason to believe that any insurance would reduce the impact on this bankruptcy case or favor relief from the automatic stay.

(b) Claim allowance, priority, and discharge issues

Any claims arising from the nonbankruptcy litigation are subject to this Bankruptcy Court's jurisdiction regarding claim allowance and priority, and the existence and scope of any bankruptcy discharge.

(c) No relief in other bankruptcy cases

To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

(4) Additional analysis

The Bankruptcy Court "shall grant relief from the stay" upon a showing of "cause." 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1). Such relief need not take the form of a complete termination of the automatic stay, but instead may include

"modifying or conditioning such stay." Id.

"'Cause' is determined on a case-by-case basis." In re Tucson Estates, Inc., 912 F.2d 1162, 1166 (9th Cir.1990). In determining whether "cause" exists to grant relief from the automatic stay to allow a movant to pursue litigation in a non-bankruptcy forum, courts in the Ninth Circuit have examined the factors set forth in In re Curtis, 40 B.R. 795, 799–800 (Bankr. D. Utah 1984). See In re Kronemeyer, 405 B.R. 915 (9th Cir. BAP 2009); In re Plumberex Specialty Prods., Inc., 311 B.R. 551, 559–60 (Bankr. C.D. Cal.2004). Those factors are: (1) Whether the relief will result in a partial or complete resolution of the issues; (2) The lack of any connection with or interference with the bankruptcy case; (3) Whether the foreign proceeding involves the debtor as a fiduciary; (4) Whether a specialized tribunal has been established to hear the particular cause of action and whether that tribunal has the expertise to hear such cases; (5) Whether the debtor's insurance carrier has assumed full financial responsibility for defending the litigation; (6) Whether the action essentially involves third parties, and the debtor functions only as a bailee or conduit for the goods or proceeds in question; (7) Whether the litigation in another forum would prejudice the interests of other creditors, the creditors' committee and other interested parties; (8) Whether the judgment claim arising from the foreign action is subject to equitable subordination under Section 510(c); (9) Whether movant's success in the foreign proceeding would result in a judicial lien avoidable by the debtor under Section 522(f); (10) The interests of judicial economy and the expeditious and economical determination of litigation for the parties; (11) Whether the foreign proceedings have progressed to the point where the parties are prepared for trial; and (12) The impact of the stay on the parties and the "balance of hurt." Plumberex, 311 B.R. at 559. "[W]hile the Curtis factors are widely used to determine the existence of 'cause,' not all of the factors are relevant in every case, nor is a court required to give each factor equal weight." In re Landmark Fence Co., Inc., 2011 WL 6826253 at *4 (C.D. Cal. Dec. 9, 2011).

Based on the present record, the tentative ruling is that these factors weigh in favor of granting relief as set forth above. The following factors are most significant,

(a) Other defendants

As Debtor acknowledges, there is a "difficulty" in that there are "other defendants not subject to bankruptcy court jurisdiction" (dkt. 306, p.19:14-15). This is the most significant factor in the circumstances presented.

Chapter 11

(b) Expertise of fora

As Debtor's letter to movant acknowledges, California law "does not apply" (dkt. 306, Ex.2, at p.38), and this California Bankruptcy Court does not have any expertise in the laws of Louisiana. In addition, as Movant argues, the Louisiana Courts have experience in water intrusion cases (dkt. 310, at PDF p.3:16-17).

It is true that this Bankruptcy Court has expertise in nondischargeability matters; but as noted separately below that does not appear to be as significant an issue in this case as in typical cases.

(c) Expense and inconvenience

This Court recognizes that, as Debtor argues (dkt. 306, pp.19:16-20:16, & 21:13-20, 22:1-20), litigation in Louisiana not only will be inconvenient for him but likely will be more expensive for him than litigation before this Bankruptcy Court, to the possible detriment of all other creditors. But the tentative ruling is that this consideration is outweighed by the other considerations noted above combined with the fact that litigation in this California Bankruptcy Court would be inconvenient and expensive for Movant. Cf. dkt. 306, pp.22:25-24:1 (Debtor's "balance of hurt" argument).

(d) Nondischargeability appears to be mostly a red herring for present purposes

Debtor has not yet received his discharge under 11 U.S.C. 1141(d)(5). Normally nondischargeability issues have the potential to make a substantial difference to a motion for relief from the automatic stay because, if the parties are not very careful to obtain issue preclusive findings of fact and conclusions of law in the nonbankruptcy forum, the parties might have to re-litigate their disputes in the Bankruptcy Court to determine whether the elements of a nondischargeability claim are met. See, e.g., 11 U.S.C. 523(a)(2)(A). In the present circumstances, however, the tentative ruling is that this consideration should not weigh heavily in the analysis.

As Debtor describes (dkt. 306, pp.15:25-16:9), it might well be that Movant can file a proof of claim and assert whatever nondischargeability claim he might have under 11 U.S.C. 523(a)(2)(A) and (3)(B). But it is not clear to this Court that it will make a substantial difference if the claim is nondischargeable, because Debtor's confirmed chapter 11 plan (dkt. 227, 253) provides for 100% payment to creditors and, although that plan does not include movant, presumably it could be amended under 11 U.S.C. 1127.

True, if (hypothetically) Movant were to prevail on his claims and obtain a very large judgment against Debtor then that might force Debtor to amend his Plan to pay only a fraction of creditors' claims. See dkt. 306, Ex.2, at p.39 (suggesting 10% recovery). But Debtor is paying a number of substantial claims, so if Movant files a proof of claim (per 11 U.S.C. 523(c)(3)) and obtains a smaller judgment then presumably the Plan could be amended to provide for 100% payment of that judgment.

In other words, on the present record it appears somewhat likely that the distribution could be the same regardless whether the claim is nondischargeable or not, so this consideration does not appear to have a major impact on whether or not to grant relief from the automatic stay.

Caveat: The immediately preceding paragraph is not intended to constitute any sort of determination on whether a nondischargeability adversary proceeding should or should not be filed, or what might be the consequences of failing to do so or of doing so. The point is only that for purposes of the present motion for relief from the automatic stay this Court believes that nondischargeability issues are not as relevant as they might be in other cases.

(e) Merits of underlying litigation

As Debtor points out, Movant's allegations are vague and his claims may suffer from a number of weaknesses. See generally dkt. 306, Ex.2. But those issues can be addressed by whichever forum adjudicates this claim. They do not appear to be sufficient to warrant an outright denial of any relief from the automatic stay.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 11/6/18:

This court anticipates posting a tentative ruling at a later time.

#24.00 Cont'd Status Conference re: Chapter 11 Case
fr. 01/08/19

Docket 5

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 1/15/19:

Appearances required.

(1) Current issues.

At the Status Conference on 1/8/19 this Court was persuaded not to dismiss this case. Debtor is directed to address (a) negotiations with the landlord regarding the pending motion for relief from the automatic stay and related issues regarding the commercial kitchen (see calendar no. 12, 1/15/19 at 10:00 a.m.) and (b) progress regarding Debtor's exit strategy (possible sale, refinancing, equity investment, contributions from family, etc.).

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 12/17/18.

(a) Bar date: TBD

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: TBD

(c) Continued status conference: the tentative ruling is to continue this Status Conference to 1/29/19 at 1:00 p.m., with a brief status report due 1/22/19.

*Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

Chapter 11

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor and by the debtor(s) themselves.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Case Status Report

In the Amended Order Setting (A) Principal Status Conference and (B) Procedures (dkt. 4), this Court directed the Debtor to file and serve a Case Status Report on Local Form F 2081-1.1.C11.STATUS.RPT at least 14 days before this hearing. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling the Debtor has not done so. Why not?

(b) First day motions

Debtor has not filed any payroll motion, motion for use of cash collateral, budget motion, utility motion, or other typical "first day" motions. This Court recognizes that Debtor is in the process of formulating its strategy (dkt. 20, p.4:17-21), and has requested an extension of time to file bankruptcy schedules and other documents (dkt. 19), but none of that excuses the failure to file any required first day motions.

(c) Dismissal? Bar?

Debtor is directed to address why this Court should not dismiss this case with a 180 day bar against being a debtor in bankruptcy, under 11 U.S.C. 109(g)(1), for willful failure to abide by an order of this court, or willful failure to appear in proper prosecution of this case, or both.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 12/17/18.

(a) Bar date: TBD

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: TBD

(c) Continued status conference: if this Court is persuaded not to dismiss this case, the tentative ruling is to continue this Status Conference to 1/29/19 at 1:00 p.m., with a status report on the required form (see above) due 1/22/19.

*Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

Docket 80

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 1/15/19:

Grant as provided below. At the hearing on 1/8/19 Debtor appeared and this Court was persuaded (dkt. 83) to continue this matter for one week for Debtor to obtain counsel, but meanwhile Debtor filed a motion (dkt. 84) for voluntary dismissal of this case. Appearances required, in case Debtor appears without notifying Movant of her intent to do so (as at the last hearing), but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

There will be no stay

Debtor has filed a request for dismissal of this case (dkt. 84), and once this case is dismissed the automatic stay will be terminated. See 11 U.S.C. 349(b)(3) & 362(c).

Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1).

To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

(i) Income as of petition date or current? The debtor has filed an amended bankruptcy Schedule I (dkt. 30). Is that actually intended to be a decaration of postpetition income, or a correction of the debtor's income as of the petition date?

(ii) Amended budget motion? Should an amended budget motion needs to be filed and served, or is such notice unnecessary and should the budget be deemed amended, in view of what appears to be an increase of approximately $168 in the debtor's monthly income (compare dkt. 13 at PDF p.8, debtor's personal income of $2,800, with dkt. 30, line 7, debtor's personal income of $2,968)?

(b) Cash collateral motion (dkt. 12). Grant on a final basis, on the same terms as the interim order (dkt.24).

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 3/6/18.

(a) Bar date: 6/15/18 (Order, dkt. 23). Note: Timely served? Per the proof of service (dkt. 26, the "POS") the debtor served the POS itself on creditors. Presumably the debtor means that she served the order on creditors (not the POS), but the debtor is directed to file an amended POS saying so, no later than 5/3/18.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Failure to serve order. This Court's order setting this status conference (dkt. 6) directed the debtor to serve a copy of that order on all parties in interest no later than 14 days prior to this status conference. No proof of service appears on the docket. The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 4/11/18 for the debtor to effect such service, with a caution to counsel that in future such failure may result in sanctions.

(b) Budget motion (dkt. 13). Grant on an interim basis, with a final hearing on the same date at the continued status conference set forth below.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 3/6/18.

(a) Bar date: 6/15/18 (DO NOT SERVE notice yet - court will prepare an order after the status conference).

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: file by 8/24/18 using the forms required by Judge Bason (DO NOT SERVE yet, except on the U.S. Trustee - the court will set a deadline and procedures at a later time).

(c) Continued status conference: 5/1/18 at 1:00 p.m. No written status report is required.

#2.00 Cont'd Status Conference re: Chapter 11 Case
fr. 9/4/18, 10/9/18, 11/6/18, 12/11/18

Docket 14

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 1/15/19:

Appearances required.

(1) Current issues

(a) Monthly Operating Reports ("MORs")

The November MOR (dkt. 62, p.2) includes numerous entries described as "Funds Transfer." How is the reader to know what that means? The same MOR includes a column of numbers with nothing else next to it (dkt. 62, p.3). How is the reader to know what that means?

(b) Plan and Disclosure Statement ("D/S")

The deadline to file the Plan and D/S is fast approaching (see below). What is the outline of Debtor's intended plan? Has Debtor reviewed Judge Bason's procedures and form of order re same?

(c) Employment of counsel

At the hearing on 12/11/18 this Court adopted the tentative ruling approving counsel's employment, which directed that a proposed order be lodged within 7 days. Why has no such order been lodged?

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 8/2/18.

(a) Bar date: 12/11/18 (order, dkt. 35).

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: 1/31/19 (dkt. 59)

(c) Continued status conference: The tentative ruling is to continue this status conference to 2/26/19 at 1:00 p.m. No written status report is required.

Tentative Ruling for 12/11/18:

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues

(a) MORs (dkt. 51, 52, 50 for Aug., Sept. & Oct.)

(i) The Payroll Account continues to show a negative balance. How is that sustainable? (ii) The amended August MOR provides for payments to insider Savita Viradia. Why was there no notice of insider compensation filed and served for this person, and what consequences should follow? (iii) The Tax Account shows no activity, and the Tax Liabilities section is blank. Is Debtor paying and/or reserving for all employment, sales, business, income, and other taxes?

(b) Motion to employ (dkt. 49)

Grant.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 8/2/18.

(a) Bar date: 12/11/18 (order, dkt. 35).

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: TBD.

(c) Continued status conference: The tentative ruling is to continue this status conference to 1/15/19 at 1:00 p.m. No written status report is required.

Tentative Ruling for 11/6/18:

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues

(a) MORs (dkt. 44, 45)

MOR1 (for August, 2018) shows an ending balance of negative $4,549.03. MOR2 (for September 2018) shows an ending balance of negative $4,074.81. Both MORs also show negative postpetition accounts receivable. What does that mean?

Both MORs were also filed late. They were due middle of the month following the reporting period, and this Court's adopted tentative ruling for 10/9/18 directed that the defective August MOR be cured by 10/15/18 but it and the September MOR were not filed until 10/31/18.

Are the (untimely) MORs inaccurate? How can parties in interest and this Court rely on them for current information? If they're accurate, they appear to show losses, or at least an inability to generate profits that would be needed to reorganization.

In view of all the foregoing, should this case be converted or dismissed?

(b) Insider compensation

Debtor's notices of insider compensation (dkt. 46, 47) were not served until 10/24/18, even though this Court's adopted tentative ruling for 10/9/18 directed service no later than 10/12/18. Why?

Meanwhile, although Debtor's principal Neel Viradia declares under penalty of perjury that no unauthorized insider compensation has been paid (dkt. 45, p.16, answer #2), the breakdown of payroll in the MORs apparently shows otherwise (e.g., dkt. 45, p.5, lines 1-2). The form itself states (e.g., dkt. 47, p.2, bottom of page): "[T]his notice ... must be filed and served fifteen days before any pay out of compensation" What consequences should follow from Debtor's apparent violation of that limitation?

(c) Employment (dkt. 32, superseded by amended application, dkt. 42)

The amended application does not specify whether the $10,000 fee already paid by Batuk Viradia (and the filing fee), or the $2,000 he has committed to pay, are loans to Debtor, or gifts, or equity investments, or something else. Nor has he filed a declaration confirming that he understands that proposed counsel's sole loyalty must be to Debtor (not to Mr. Viradia), and that has been informed that there might be conflicts of interest and he may wish to seek separate counsel (e.g., conflicts could exist if Mr. Viradia received any preferential payments or other avoidable transfers, or if Mr. Viradia would prefer that Debtor take a course of action that is not in the best interests of creditors).

More generally, although payment of a retainer by a third party is not outright prohibited, it is fraught with ethical concerns. See In re Kelton Motors, Inc., 109 B.R. 641 (Bankr. D. Vt. 1989); In re Hathaway Ranch Partnership, 116 B.R. 208, 219 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1990); In re Park-Helena Corp., 63 F.3d 877 (9th Cir. 1995).

The tentative ruling is that, if this case is not dismissed or converted, the employment application must be continued to the date of the continued status conference (set forth below) with a deadline of 11/13/18 for Debtor to file Mr. Viradia's declaration, with a copy of this tentative ruling attached as an exhibit, addressing the issues described above.

(d) Cash collateral. If this case is not dismissed or converted, the tentative ruling is to authorize the use of cash collateral on a final basis, on the same terms as the interim authorization (dkt. 37).

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 8/2/18.

(a) Bar date: 12/11/18 (order, dkt. 35). Although the order was not timely served (see dkt. 41), the tentative ruling is that the confusion of setting yet another bar date would outweigh the benefit, and that this Court can address any prejudice from shortened notice when and if anyone files a late claim and seeks to have the claim treated as timely.

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: TBD.

(c) Continued status conference: If this case is not dismissed or converted, the tentative ruling is to continue this status conference to 12/11/18 at 1:00 p.m. No written status report is required.

*Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

Revised Tentative Ruling for 10/9/18:
Appearances required.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Cash collateral. The tentative ruling is to authorize the use of cash collateral as set forth in the tentative ruling for calendar no. 6 (10/9/18 at 1:00 p.m.).

(b) Insider compensation. Local Bankruptcy Rule ("LBR") 2014-1(a) requires a notice and opportunity to object before any insider compensation is paid. But no such notice has been filed, and Debtor's Monthly Operating Report ("MOR") for the month ending 8/31/18 reflects payments to each of two insiders. Dkt. 34, at PDF p.8. The tentative ruling is to direct Debtor to serve the notice using the local form no later than 10/12/18.

(c) Bar date. On 9/5/18 this Court entered its "Order Setting Bar Date: November 9, 2018; and Directing Service by Debtor." Dkt. 24. The debtor failed to serve that order. Why? The tentative ruling is to issue an amended order setting a bar date as set forth below.

(d) MOR (dkt. 34). The MOR appears to be incomplete. For example, it refers to multiple accounts but appears to provide only a combined report; many of the entries are vague or have no description; and page one includes a reference to "Non DIP personal checking (see attached letter)" but no letter or any other explanation is attached. The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 10/15/18 to file an amended MOR correcting these and any other deficiencies.

(e) Employment (dkt. 25). As highlighted by the objection of the United States Trustee ("UST") (dkt. 28), the parties should be prepared to address (a) the proposed $12,000 flat fee under 11 U.S.C. 328 and (b) the source of the "loan" for $10,000 of that fee (dkt. 25, p.8) and the source of the remaining $2,000 plus the filing fee.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 8/2/18.

(a) Bar date: See above. In view of Debtor's failure to serve the order (dkt.24), the tentative ruling is to issue an amended order setting a bar date of 12/28/18 and directing the debtor to serve

Tentative Ruling for 9/4/18:

Appearances are not required on 9/4/18.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Dissolution of "Oh Happy Day" (dkt. 544, 579, 583, 602). Grant, provided that all assets (tangible or intangible) in which Oh Happy Day, LLC currently has an interest must continue, after dissolution of that entity, to be administered by the Agent (to the full extent of any interest the debtor has in such assets). See Term Sheet (dkt. 547), section 6 (defining Agent Assets).

Proposed order: The debtor is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(b) Employment of Ballard, Rosenberg firm/Schwettmann as Special Counsel (dkt. 490, 532, 533, 546, 582). Continue to the same date and time as the continued status conference (set forth below), for the reasons set forth in the responses (dkt. 546, 582). In addition, no later than 10/2/18 the debtor is directed to file a supplement clarifying whether the proposed employment is of Mr. Schwettmann individually or his firm.

(c) Expand Kaplan Employment (dkt. 461, 480, 497, 505, 534, 575, 576). Continue to the same date and time as the continued status conference (set forth below), for the reasons set forth in the latest documents (dkt. 575, 576).

Tentative Ruling for 9/4/18:

This court anticipates issuing or posting a tentative ruling at a later time.

Tentative Ruling for 8/3/18:

Appearances required. The tentative rulings are set forth below. In addition, the tentative ruling is to set a continued status conference on 8/16/18 at 10:00 a.m., or such alternative time as may be ordered at the hearing.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Motion to Confirm Dean Rallis as Agent (dkt. 536). Grant (approve the appointment of Dean Rallis, Esq. as Agent) under the Term Sheet, as amended (see below), and subject to the provisions of this Court's order approving the settlement (dkt. 528, paragraphs 3, 4, and 6-8). The tentative ruling to grant this motion is based on the representation in the motion (dkt. 536, p.9:5-9) that the parties who objected/reserved their rights to object have now consented to the appointment of Mr. Ralis. (This Court disregards the invective, id. n.3 & accompanying text.) If that is incorrect then this tentative ruling is subject to any opposition at the hearing (see OST, dkt. 538). This tentative ruling is also based on this Court's review of the other relevant documents. See dkt. 495 (selection of proposed agent), 528 (order approving settlement), 531 (objection), 535 (Committee support), 536 (motion), Application for Order Shortening Time (dkt. 537, 540) and evidence of service (dkt. 541).

Proposed order: Counsel for the debtor is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(b) 9019 Motion (see Term Sheet, dkt. 445, 528). This Court's Order (dkt. 528) approving Settlement directed the parties to prepare, sign and file a final version of the "Term Sheet" reflecting certain modifications. This Court notes that the debtor appears to have circulated a revised Term Sheet (dkt. 536, Ex.A) that incorporates the changes discussed on the record, although that revised Term Sheet is not "redlined" and this Court has not engaged in any line-by-line review of its terms. In any event, the parties are directed to provide a status report on when a declaration will be filed with this Court memorializing the fully executed final Term Sheet.

(c) Motion to Extend Time to Assume or Reject Lease (dkt. 457). The tentative ruling is to continue this motion to the date and time of the continued status conference, for the authorized Agent to consider and take a position on the merits of this motion.

Analysis: Although the debtor argues (e.g., in dkt. 534) that she is prejudiced by any lack of immediate decision on pending matters, the tentative ruling is that the debtor has not established undue prejudice because of (i) the debtor's own delay in selecting a nominee to be the Agent, (ii) the debtor's ability to engage in numerous other activities to attempt to turn around her finances without having to wait for those particular pending matters to be resolved, and (iii) the fact that, as this Court interprets the deadlines in the Term Sheet, "Approval" of the settlement did not occur until "entry" of an order approving the settlement (see dkt. 474, Ex.C, section 1, 1st paragraph, penultimate sentence), and the oral ruling was not entered on the docket, only the written order (dkt. 528) was entered, so the time of Approval (which commences the time for the debtor to perform various tasks under the Term Sheet) did not commence until entry of that written order on 7/25/18.

(d) Motion to Assume and Assign 1629 Griffith Lease (Presbytery) (dkt. 351). Continue to the date and time of the continued status conference, for the authorized Agent to consider the merits of this motion, for the same reasons as stated in section (1)(c) of this tentative ruling, above.

(e) Motion to Expand Scope of Kaplan Employment (dkt. 461, 480, 497, 505, 534). Continue to the date and time of the continued status conference, for the authorized Agent to consider the merits of this motion, for the same reasons as stated in section (1)(c) of this tentative ruling, above.

(f) Scheduling Conference re: Evidentiary Hearing on Motion to Assume 1356 Palmetto Lease (Bridge Tavern/Villain's) (dkt. 187). At the 7/18/18 hearing, this Court was informed that the proposed assignee/buyer had withdrawn. This Court subsequently issued an Order (dkt. 501) deeming the portion of the motion that sought to assign the lease moot and withdrawn, and continuing the portion of the motion that seeks to assume the lease to this hearing solely for scheduling further proceedings on this motion. The parties should be prepared to address a schedule for this motion and/or whether to continue the scheduling matters so that the Agent can determine whether or

If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 7/16/18:

Appearances required. The tentative rulings are set forth below. In addition, the tentative ruling is to set a continued status conference on 7/27/18 at 9:00 a.m., or such alternative time as may be ordered at the hearing.

(1) Current issues.

(a) 9019 Motion (see Term Sheet, dkt. 445). This Court will address the objections filed by Mr. Casanova (dkt. 465, 466) and The Presbytery of the Pacific (the "Presbytery") (dkt. 467) and the replies filed by the debtor (dkt. 472) and by the Archbishop/Institute and the Bird Nest (dkt. 474). Among other things, this Court will address whether the Term Sheet can be approved without the further documentation that is contemplated by the settling parties. In that regard, the parties should address the proposed amendment to paragraph 6 of the Term Sheet. See dkt. 474, Ex.C.

This Court expresses no present opinion on those issues. This Court is intentionally withholding any further tentative ruling on those matters so as not to disrupt potential settlement discussions among those parties, but if the parties have not agreed to the proposed amendment to paragraph 6 (or some other resolution) then this Court intends to provide a tentative ruling at the commencement of the hearing.

The parties are encouraged to meet and confer about the foregoing issues. If, at the end of the hearing, there are issues that remain to be addressed, then the parties should be prepared to address whether this Court should set a continued hearing on the date and time specified at the start of this tentative ruling or some other date.

(b) Stay relief motion (appellate litigation with Bird Nest and Archbishop/Institute) (dkt. 68). Continue to the date and time set forth at the start of this tentative ruling, if this motion is not mooted by the disposition of the settlement motion.

(c) Exclusivity motion (dkt. 308, 348, 422). Continue to the date and time set forth at the start of this tentative ruling, and meanwhile extend exclusivity for the same amount of time, on the same terms and conditions as this Court's Prior Order (dkt. 422) - i.e., no incurring of fees or expenses for plan-related work. This Court calculates that the extensions would be as follows: (i) The 120-day period specified in section 1121(c)(2) and (d)(1) (deadline for filing a plan) will be further extended from 8/15/18 (see dkt. 422) to and including 9/19/18, and (ii) the 180-day period specified in section 1121(c)(3) and (d)(1) (deadline for acceptance of plan by impaired classes) will be further extended from 10/15/18 (see dkt. 422) to and including 11/19/18.

(d) Cash Collateral motion (dkt. 5). Continue to the date and time set forth at the start of this tentative ruling, and meanwhile extend the interim authorized use of cash collateral through and including the conclusion of the continued hearing subject to the same terms and conditions as previously authorized by this Court (see dkt. 29, 79, 239, 244, 347, 413), if this motion is not mooted by the disposition of the settlement motion.

(e) Bridge Tavern, LLC asset sale motion (dkt. 112). Continue to the date and time set forth at the start of this tentative ruling.

(f) Villain's Tavern reopening motion (dkt. 214). Grant. Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(g) Trustee appointment motion (dkt. 332). Continue to the date and time set forth at the start of this tentative ruling, if this motion is not mooted by the disposition of the settlement motion.

(h) Security Deposit refund motion (dkt. 350). Grant. Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the Extend the interim authorization through and including the date of the continued hearing and meanwhile approve the budget subject to the same terms and conditions as previously authorized by the Court (see dkt. 340), if this motion is not mooted by the disposition of the settlement motion.

(j) Claim objection (Bird Nest) (dkt. 292). Continue to the date and time set forth at the start of this tentative ruling, if this motion is not mooted by the disposition of the settlement motion.

(k) Claim objection (Institute) (dkt. 296). Continue to the date and time set forth at the start of this tentative ruling, if this motion is not mooted by the disposition of the settlement motion.

(l) Claim objection (Archbishop) (dkt. 294). Continue to the date and time set forth at the start of this tentative ruling, if this motion is not mooted by the disposition of the settlement motion.

(m) Vehicle refinance motion (dkt. 216). Continue to the date and time set forth at the start of this tentative ruling, if this motion is not mooted by the disposition of the settlement motion.

(n) Vehicle relief from Stay motion (dkt. 349). The hearing on this motion has been vacated, and this matter is off calendar (see Adequate Protection Order, dkt. 444).

(o) Motion to Assume and Assign 1629 Griffith Lease (dkt. 351). Continue to the date and time set forth at the start of this tentative ruling.

by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 6/22/18:

Appearances required.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Urbanlime/Haro employment (dkt. 93, 253), Bridge Tavern (Villain's) Reopening Motion (dkt. 214, previously granted, dkt. 339, but rescheduled per dkt.369 para. 4.5), Sale Motion (dkt. 112, temporarily denied, dkt. 369, 385) and Lease Assignment Motion (dkt. 187, re-set for hearing, dkt. 388). The parties should be prepared to address the issues set forth in this Court's orders (dkt. 369, 378, 385, 388) setting this hearing.

(b) Motion to extend exclusivity (dkt. 308, 312, 333, 348). The tentative ruling is to preserve the status quo by:

(i) prohibiting the estate from incurring any fees or expenses relative to any contemplated plan between time this tentative ruling is posted and the conclusion of the hearing on the motion to appoint a trustee (dkt. 332, the "Trustee Motion"), currently scheduled for 7/10/18 at 2:00 p.m.;

(ii) if the Trustee Motion is denied, then extending exclusivity through at least 8/14/18 (any further extension will be addressed at the hearing on 7/10/18 at 2:00 p.m.), so that Mr. Tilem will have the time he has stated he would need to draft a plan (approximately 30 days); and

(iii) if the Trustee motion is granted, then terminate exclusivity.

(c) Cash collateral motion (dkt. 5, 14, 15, 29, 74, 151, 152, 163, 164, 167, 168, 171, 172, 176, 185, 244). The tentative ruling is to continue this matter to 7/10/18 at 2:00 p.m., and meanwhile authorize the continued use of cash collateral through the conclusion of that continued hearing.

(d) Relief from stay motion (dkt. 68, 79, 141, 147, 154, 162, 222 section v., 270, 312). The tentative ruling is to continue this matter to 7/10/18 at 2:00 p.m.

(e) Expansion of Insul employment (dkt. 305). Please see calendar no. 2 (6/22/18 at 10:00 a.m.).

(f) Hearings on 7/10/18. Some matters in this case have been self-calendared for 7/10/18 at 1:00 p.m. The tentative ruling is that all matters set for 7/10/18 in this case will be heard at 2:00 p.m.

by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 3/20/18:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor. Other parties in interest are invited but not required to appear.

Telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues.

(a) Cash flow and cash collateral motion (dkt. 5, 14, 15, 29). This Court's written order (dkt. 29) erroneously lists the continued hearing as 3/20/18 instead of 4/17/18 at 2:00 p.m., as orally ordered at the hearing on 3/9/18. Nevertheless, it is appropriate in connection with this Status Conference to address the debtor's current and projected cash flow and related issues.

This Court was not persuaded at the hearing on 3/9/18 that the debtor can generate positive cash flow. The debtor is directed to provide a brief update on any plans to generate positive cash flow from her various businesses and properties. It is also appropriate for other parties in interest to address whether there has been adequate disclosure to date regarding the finances of those businesses and properties. The debtor is cautioned that the declaration due on 3/27/18 must provide comprehensive disclosures regarding those businesses and properties: if the debtor cannot show reasonable prospects for positive cash flow within a reasonable time then this Court might have to grant relief from the automatic stay (upon a proper motion), or convert or dismiss this bankruptcy case, at least if the debtor does not abandon unprofitable businesses or properties.

(b) Employment applications. The parties should be prepared to address the oppositions (dkt. 56, 57) and the direct and indirect source(s) of funds used by the debtor to pay prepetition retainers (see dkt. 48, and cf. dkt. 9, p.6, dkt. 18, p.8, dkt. 20, p.8 - blank spaces instead of disclosure), including when the liens against the 1902 property arose (dkt. 48, Ex.A). In addition, the parties should be prepared to address the following issues:

(i) Proposed bankruptcy counsel - Tilem (dkt. 9, 10): (i) Why were resumes for associates, paralegals, and persons who are "of counsel" to the firm not included? (ii) Has counsel waived or amended the provisions in the retainer agreement regarding the "evergreen" retainer; "overtime" rates, and any attorney's lien? (iii) As for proposed out-sourcing, counsel must address whether employment of such counsel could result in imputed or actual conflicts of interest from any work performed by such attorneys for their own clients or for other law firms.

(ii) Proposed special counsel: the Robins firm and Horvitz firm (dkt. 18, 19, 20, 21). The hourly rates of proposed counsel at the Robins firm and Horvitz firm are substantially greater than those for the debtor's proposed general bankruptcy counsel and the Snyder firm. How will the debtor - acting as a debtor in possession with the duties of a trustee for the benefit of creditors - assure that the potential benefits are not outweighed by the costs that can be reasonably anticipated in connection with the ongoing litigation with Birds Nest, the Archbishop, and the Institute (as those terms are defined in the parties' papers)?

(iii) Proposed special counsel: the Snyder firm (dkt. 36, 37). (i) What is the nature of the litigation in which that firm represents the debtor and co-plaintiff, Bridge Tavern, LLC against Odysseuss Investment Group, LLC? (ii) What are the potential costs/risks and benefits? (iii) Is there any actual or potential conflict of interest between the two plaintiffs (e.g., if any judgment in their favor were to be allocated between them in a way that is unfavorable to one or the other)? (iv) From the description at the status conference on 3/9/18 it seemed that the Snyder firm might be assisting the debtor now or in future in transactional matters - is that so?

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 3/6/18.

(a) Bar date: TBD

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: TBD

(c) Continued status conference: 4/17/18 at 2:00 p.m., status report due 4/3/18. (see order, dkt. 30).

continued by stipulation and order thereon (dkt. 51, 53). Prior to the scheduled 11/6/18 hearing, the matter was once again continued by stipulation and order thereon (stipulation agreed to orally at confirmation hearing of Debtor's chapter 13 plan, order thereon dkt. 59). Since the order on Debtor's stipulation, this Court has granted Debtor's motion for authority to sell real property, subject to the Chapter 13 Trustee's comments and objections (dkt. 55, order thereon dkt. 62).

There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to discuss the status of the sale of the property, and any other matters relevant of this motion.

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Appearances required. This Court has reviewed the parties' joint status report (dkt. 23), the Motion for Remand (dkt. 12), the Motion to Dismiss (dkt. 2) and the other filed responses, documents, and records in this adversary proceeding.

(1) Sequence: Motion to Remand Prior to Motion to Dismiss

The tentative ruling is to consider the Motion to Remand first. Even when there was a question as to which of two bankruptcy courts should decide a remand motion, it has been held that a Bankruptcy Court did not abuse its discretion by deciding a remand motion before a venue transfer motion. See In re Caesars Ent. Operating Co., Inc., 588 B.R. 233 (9th Cir. BAP 2018). It is all the more appropriate in this case to decide the forum issue (the remand motion) before reaching the merits.

(2) Remand is appropriate on a discretionary basis

(a) Jurisdiction

The tentative ruling is that this Court does not have "related to" jurisdiction because, for the reasons argued by Siena, there is no "conceivable" effect on the bankruptcy estate within the meaning of the Pacor test, as applied in the Ninth Circuit. See In re Fietz, 852 F.2d 455, 457 (9th Cir. 1988) (adopting the Third Circuit Pacor test). The estate lacks assets to pay claims or indemnify Siena, and any dispute involving 11 U.S.C. 327 is distinct from the claims in the removed action. Accordingly, the removed action has no "conceivable" effect on Debtor's bankruptcy estate and therefore, this Court does not have jurisdiction. See Celotex Corp. v. Edwards, 514 U.S. 300, 308 (1995).

(b) Discretionary remand

Alternatively, the tentative ruling is that the discretionary factors strongly favor remand. See generally In re Cedar Funding, Inc., 419 B.R. 807, 820 n.18 (9th Cir. BAP 2009) (listing fourteen non-exclusive equitable factors to consider when deciding a remand motion). The most important factors are that the removed proceeding only involves state law; Debtor is not a party; the estate will not be impacted by any recovery or loss; Plaintiff's alleged claims arose pre-petition; and Plaintiff has exercised its right to a jury trial. As to any burden on this Court's docket, that factor is neutral because the State courts are also busy (and, at least on a temporary basis, there is the likelihood of a backup of cases in the near future if the federal government's partial shutdown continues).

For both of the foregoing alternative reasons, this Court's tentative ruling is to grant the Motion for Remand.

(3) Motion to Dismiss

The tentative ruling is not to hear the Motion to Dismiss, in view of the foregoing tentative ruling to grant the Motion to Remand.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling:

Revised Tentative Ruling for 1/15/19:
Appearances Required

(1) Current Issues

(a) Final Fee Application for Debtor's Counsel (Checkmate, dkt. 249, 250, 253, 255, 257, 258, 261, 264; and Sakurai, dkt. 343, 346, 352, 355, 356, 363, 367)

The applications seek $350,846.10 (Checkmate) and $118,796.75 (Sakurai). This Court has allowed a total of $300,000, and set this continued hearing to address the balance of $169,642.85. See Interim Fee Orders (dkt. 261, Checkmate; dkt. 363, Sakurai).

The Fresco parties' objections note that this Court has on more than one occasion expressed grave concerns about whether these Debtors have adequately prosecuted these bankruptcy cases. Of course, this Court expects that counsel for the debtors would not in any way have participated in any attempts by these Debtors to mislead or obstruct creditors in these cases, but that is not the end of the inquiry.

On the one hand, when there are legitimate strategic or tactical reasons to chose among different courses of action, counsel for Debtors usually must act at their clients' direction, even if they might harbor some doubts about the efficacy of those choices. On the other hand, in addition to the ethical limits of what counsel may do at their clients' direction, counsel are only permitted "reasonable compensation for actual, necessary services" (11 U.S.C. 330(a)(1)(A) (emphasis added)), and in determining what compensation is reasonable this Court "shall consider the nature, the extent, and the value of such services, taking into account all relevant factors, including [among other things] whether the services were necessary to the administration of, or beneficial at the time at which the service was rendered toward the completion of, [these bankruptcy cases]."

In these cases there are open questions about (i) Debtors' own acts and omissions, and whether Debtors were or were not engaging in a lack of diligent prosecution of these cases or other misconduct, (ii) whether Debtors, if deposed or examined at trial on those issues, will or will not assert advice of counsel, and (iii) whether, regardless of the foregoing issues, counsel for Debtors can satisfy the above-referenced statutory requirements. For all of these reasons, the tentative ruling is that the Fresco parties must have a reasonable period of time in which to conduct discovery to investigate Debtors' apparent failures to prosecute these cases or other misconduct, and whether, in view of the results of any such discovery, the compensation sought by counsel for Debtors is for "necessary" services and is "reasonable" in dollar amount, given all of the facts and circumstances.

Meanwhile, although this Court recognizes that all interim compensation may be revisited in connection with any final award, the question is how much to award on an interim basis, and whether any disbursed funds must be held in trust. The tentative ruling is to award another $35,000 to counsel for Debtors, to be allocated pro rata in proportion to their outstanding fee requests, without requiring any portion of those funds to be held in trust, but also without prejudice to allowance of a greater or lesser final award.

The parties should be prepared to address the schedule for discovery on the issues outlined above. The tentative ruling is that a five month period is appropriate.

Then, in connection with any final fee award, or at such other time as this Court may later determine, the Fresco parties' objections can be revisited with the benefit of both (i) any discovery and (ii) any subsequent developments. For example, any additional disclosures and/or recoveries in the Fower/Radiology litigation might shed light on whether Debtors' and their counsel's strategies and tactics in dealing with those parties were appropriate at the time they were made. (This Court emphasizes that any subsequent developments would be relevant only to the extent they shed light on what was reasonable at the time the legal services were rendered - not for purposes of "20/20 hindsight.")

Tentative Ruling for 6/12/18:

Appearances required.

(1) Current Issues.

(a) Joint Status Report and Notice of Continuances. This Court's 5/8/18 tentative ruling (see below) was not opposed, so it became this Court's actual ruling.

This Court directed (i) Checkmate to file and serve a notice of continuances attaching and incorporating by reference the deadlines in that tentative ruling by 5/7/18, and (ii) the parties to file a brief joint status report by 5/29/18. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, none of the parties have complied. The parties are cautioned that failure to abide by applicable deadlines in future may result in adverse consequences.

(b) Motion for TRO & Claim and Delivery (adv. dkt. 10).

Plaintiff/debtor Checkmate King Co., Ltd. ("Checkmate") has filed a stipulation (adv. dkt. 30) with defendants Radiology Solutions Corp. ("RS") and George Fower ("Fower") for turnover of equipment. But Checkmate has not provided any evidence that it has relief from the automatic stay and consent of the Chapter 7 Trustee in the RS and Fower bankruptcy cases for such turnover (Case Nos. 8:18-bk-10585-TA and 8:18-bk-10583-TA). The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 6/19/18 for Checkmate to file a declaration attaching evidence sufficient to establish those things, and lodge a revised proposed order to approve the stipulation.

(2) Deadlines: This adversary proceeding has been pending since 3/6/18. It is premature to set a discovery cutoff and other deadlines at this time. Continue to 7/17/18 at 2:00 p.m., brief joint status report due 7/3/18.

If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 5/8/18:

The tentative ruling is to continue all pending matters in this adversary proceeding to 6/12/18 at 2:00 p.m. for the reason stated below, with a brief joint status report due 5/29/18, and with a deadline of 5/7/18 for the plaintiff to file and serve a notice of continuances attaching and incorporating by reference the deadlines in this tentative ruling (assuming that this Court is not persuaded to depart from this tentative ruling). Appearances are not required on 5/8/18.

(1) Current Issues. This Court has reviewed the parties' status reports (adv. dkt. 24 & 26) and the other filed documents and records in this adversary proceeding.

(a) Motion for TRO & Claim and Delivery (adv. dkt. 10). At the 4/9/18 hearing on this motion, counsel for plaintiff/debtor Checkmate King Co., Ltd. ("Checkmate") apprised this Court of the bankruptcy filings of defendants Radiology Solutions Corp. ("RS") and George Fower ("Fower") (Case Nos. 8:18-bk-10585-TA and 8:18-bk-10583-TA) and requested a continuance of this hearing to allow time to obtain orders granting relief from stay with annulment. In the Joint status report (adv. dkt. 24), Checkmate states that the hearings on the relief from stay motions are scheduled for 5/15/18. Accordingly, the tentative ruling is to continue this motion to the date and time set forth at the start of this tentative ruling.

(b) Siemens Motion to Dismiss (adv. dkt. 27, the "MTD"). Defendant Siemens Medical Solutions USA, Inc. ("Siemens") has properly self-calendared its MTD for 6/12/18 at 11:00 a.m. Siemens anticipates that it may be voluntarily dismissed by plaintiff (see adv. dkt. 24), but if that does not occur then this Court anticipates that the MTD may take 15 minutes or more to hear. This Court's practice is that matters anticipated to take 15 minutes or more are heard on the 2:00 p.m. calendar (not available for self-calendaring, except by permission of this Court). Therefore the tentative ruling is to re-calendar the MTD from 11:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m., which is concurrent with the other matters in this adversary proceeding that are on today's calendar.

(2) Deadlines: This adversary proceeding has been pending since 3/6/18. It is premature to set a discovery cutoff and other deadlines at this time.

If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 6/12/18:

Appearances required.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Amended Joint Plan/Amended Joint Disclosure Statement (dkt. 175, 176).

These documents, and the supporting declaration of Yuichiro Sakurai (dkt. 177), appear to be identical to the documents filed in the related bankruptcy case of debtors Yuichiro and Akemi Sakurai (the "Sakurais"). See Sakurai BK dkt. 186, 187, 188. Counsel are directed to alert this Court and the parties at the hearing if they are not.

For the tentative ruling regarding these documents, see the tentative ruling for the status conference in the Sakurais' bankruptcy case (calendar no. 4, 6/12/18 at 2:00 p.m.).

Tentative Ruling for 4/10/18:

Appearances are not required on 4/10/18.

(1) Current issues

(a) Motion for Relief from Stay (dkt. 57). In light of the proposed settlement with the Fresco Parties, the tentative ruling is to continue the hearing to be concurrent with the continued status conference (see below).

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement. The tentative ruling is to conduct a combined hearing on the adequacy of the (forthcoming) disclosure statement and confirmation of the (forthcoming) plan to be concurrent with the continued status conference (see below).

Tentative Ruling for 2/13/18:

Appearances required.

(1) Current issues

(a) Potential settlement with Fresco Parties. The parties must be prepared to address the status of their settlement negotiations and finalization of the draft settlement documents circulated 2/5/18, and all other issues appropriate to raise at a status conference, including the issues in their recent status reports and related documents (Sakurai case, no. 2:17-bk-22660-NB, dkt. 87, 104, 105, 114, 124, and Checkmate case, no. 2:17-bk-22648-NB, dkt. 90, 93, 100, 102, 104, 105, 106, 109, 112, 113, 119, 122).

(b) Cash collateral & budget motions & stipulation (Sakurai dkt. 119, 122; Checkmate dkt. 114, 118, 119). Grant the cash collateral motion in the Sakurai case, subject to the same replacement liens and other terms and conditions as this Court's prior approvals of the use of cash collateral (see Sakurai case dkt. 43, 57); grant the budget motion in the Sakurai case; and approve the cash collateral stipulation in the Checkmate case on a final basis.

(d) Removed action (Adv. no. 2:17-ap-01558-NB), motions for stay and for remand (adv. dkt. 8, 10, 12, 13). The tentative ruling is that the motion for a stay pending determination by the District Court of the debtors' motion to withdraw the reference is moot, because the District Court has dismissed that motion. There is no tentative ruling on the motion to remand.

are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 1/23/18:

Continue all matters scheduled for today in the Sakurai and Checkmate cases and related adversary proceeding to 1/30/18 at 2:00 p.m. in view of the apparent inability of the Office of the United States Trustee to appear due to the shutdown of much of the federal government. At the continued hearing the parties must be prepared to address all issues appropriate to raise at a status conference, including the issues in their recent status reports and related documents (case no. 2:17-bk-22660-NB, dkt. 87, 104, 105, and 2:17-bk-22648-NB, dkt. 90, 93, 100, 102, 104, 105, 106, 109). Tentative Ruling for 1/9/18:

Appearances required by the debtor's counsel.

Proposed orders: The debtor is directed to serve and lodge proposed orders on each motion listed below via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date.

(1) Current issues

(a) Status Report (dkt. 90): The status report states that the debtor's business is dormant with respect to its financing of the purchase of used medical equipment. Where is Radiology Solutions storing the $4.6M worth of financed equipment and does the debtor have a perfected security interest in the equipment?

Revised Tentative Ruling for 11/14/17:

Appearances required by the debtor's principals and debtor's counsel.

Proposed orders: The debtor is directed to serve and lodge proposed orders on each motion listed below via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date.

(1) Current issues

(a) Status Report (dkt. 37): The status report states that the debtor has no executory contracts. What about all the contracts with Radiology Solutions Inc./Corp. (whichever name is correct)?

(b) Cash collateral motion (dkt.9): The debtor reports (dkt. 53, p.3) that it has reached a stipulation with Community Bank regarding the use of cash collateral, but as of the preparation of this tentative ruling no such stipulation appears on the docket. If there is no such stipulation, or if it does not moot the bank's opposition (dkt. 50), then the parties should be prepared to address the merits of that opposition. In addition, the parties should be prepared to address the objection of the Fresco parties (dkt. 49) and the debtor's response (dkt. 53).

(c) Payroll motion (dkt. 6). The tentative ruling is to grant this motion on

#9.00 Hrg re: Objection to Claim Number 3 by Claimant Deutsche Bank National Trust Company, et al. c/o Nationstar Mortgage,
LLC. dba Mr. Cooper

Docket 31

Tentative Ruling:

Appearances required.

On the one hand, creditor Deutsche Bank N.A. appears to be correct in its limited opposition (dkt. 36) that the loan modification is "still pending" in the sense that this Court has not yet entered an order approving that modification. On the other hand, that creditor does not explain why it only sought this Court's approval on 1/9/19 (dkt. 34), when the loan modification was entered into on 11/13/18 (dkt. 31, Ex.B, at PDF p.54).

Meanwhile Debtor's counsel has not provided a cost/benefit analysis, including whether it was necessary to file this motion when it appears likely that a telephone call or letter reminding the creditor to amend its proof of claim might have sufficed. Why should counsel charge fees for a motion when these cheaper alternatives apparently would have sufficed, and when the posted Procedures of Judge Bason (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) provide:

§ 502: claim objections & cost/benefit analysis. When objecting to claims, be sure to include an analysis of whether the costs of preparing and litigating the claim objection (administrative expenses) do not exceed the anticipated benefits (reductions in claims). For example, if the anticipated dividend is small or 0% then the attorney fees incurred in prosecuting your claim objection to any general unsecured claim probably will exceed the benefit to the bankruptcy estate/debtor, so filing that objection would be a waste of the bankruptcy estate's (and everyone else's) resources (unless, for example, the claim is nondischargeable, in which event the attorney fees might well be justified).

Docket 79

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 1/24/19:

Appearances required. There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address any pre-trial issues. The Court is prepared to tentatively set the matter for an evidentiary hearing on March 27, 2019 at 9:00 a.m., with a deadline of 3/13/19 for both parties to file and serve declarations serving as direct testimony, subject to live cross-examination. The direct testimony must including declarations of each party's appraiser authenticating their own appraisal and criticizing the other party's appraisal.

Tentative Ruling for 8/30/18:

Appearances required. There is no tentative ruling but the parties should be prepared to address the following issues.

This Court has reviewed the claim objection (dkt. 24), claimant's opposition (dkt. 35), and debtor's reply (dkt. 37). The claimant asserts (dkt. 35, p.4, n.1) that he "is also filing a motion from stay in order to have his claim adjudicated and liquidated in the State Court Litigation" and he claims that this bankruptcy case was filed "less than two months before the State Court Litigation's scheduled trial date." Dkt. 35, p.2:23-24. But, as of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no such motion for relief from the automatic stay has been

The debtor asserts that this bankruptcy case was filed to protect the debtor from this litigation, but he does not cite authorities addressing whether claims litigation should be conducted in the Bankruptcy Court or in State Court. Tentative Ruling for 8/2/18:

Grant, with a caution that in future counsel for the debtor must include a cost/benefit analysis in connection with every claim objection. (In this instance that requirement is being excused because of the nature of the dispute at issue and because the proposed distributions (dkt. 29) appear to make the cost of this claim objection worth the attorney fees involved in prosecuting it; but in future this Court does not intend to do the analysis for the movant.) Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

#16.00 Cont'd hrg re: Debtor's Motion to Reinstate the Debtor's Automatic Stay Protection Nunc Pro Tunc Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 105(A), FRBP 9024 and Fed.R.Civ.P.60(B) fr. 12/20/18

Docket 51

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 1/24/19:

Appearances required to address (1) whether the proper creditors were given adequate notice and service, (2) whether the automatic stay, once terminated, can be retroactively reimposed, (3) whether the automatic stay would apply even if this case had never been dismissed, in view of 11 U.S.C. 362(b)(2)(D), and (4) whether relief is warranted on the facts presented.

(1) Background, and apparent lack of sufficient notice or service

The orders setting this hearing (dkt. 57, 60) directed Debtor to file and serve a declaration specifying, to the best of Debtor's knowledge, what acts were taken while the case was dismissed, as to which Debtor seeks retroactive protection by retroactive reimposition of the automatic stay. Debtor's declaration (dkt. 64, para.3) states that on or about 12/8/18 "both the County of San Diego [SD Child Support] and the County of Los Angeles [LA Child Support] referred my case for delinquent child support to the California Department of Motor Vehicles [DMV] and my license was thereafter suspended." (Emphasis added.) Debtor also states that he has "listed these two [sic] agencies as priority creditors and I seek to pay these delinquent child support payments through my chapter 13 plan." Dkt. 64, para.4.

Debtor's declaration of service (dkt. 65) appears to show telephonic notice but no service on SD Child Support (id., para.7&11, and at PDF p. 6), and no notice or service at all on LA Child Support, DMV, or Debtor's former spouse to whom the child support presumably is owed. Nor does it appear that Debtor has served the other governmental officials who typically require service under Rule 7004(j)(2) (Fed. R. Bankr. P.).

The tentative ruling is to deny the requested retroactive reimposition of the automatic stay due to lack of sufficient notice and service.

(2) Retroactive re-imposition of automatic stay might be appropriate

The Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit has stated that "no authority exists for "reinstating" an automatic stay that has been lifted." In re Canter, 299 F.3d 1150, 1155 n.1 (9th Cir. 2002). Relief might be available under Rule 60(b) (Fed. R. Civ. P., incorporated by Rule 9024, Fed. R. Bankr. P.), but any such relief must be applied only in exceptional circumstances. See In re Gledhill, 76 F.3d 1070, 1078-80 (10th Cir. 1996); In re Camacho, 361 B.R. 294, 299-300 (1st Cir. BAP 2007).

The tentative ruling is that loss of a driver's license is a sufficiently draconian penalty that it might constitute an exceptional circumstance warranting retroactive relief. Without a license, Debtor presumably will be greatly impaired in attempting to make payments to creditors, including child support arrears.

But for the following reasons that tentative ruling appears to be moot.

(3) The automatic stay does not appear to apply

Under 11 U.S.C. 362(b)(2)(D) the automatic stay does not apply to the "withholding, suspension, or restriction of a driver's license" This provision appears in the paragraph primarily addressing domestic support obligations, so it appears that Congress fully intended to leave to the States the suspension of drivers' licenses as a means of enforcing child support obligations.

The tentative ruling is that, for this reason, any retroactive vacating of dismissal will not retroactively impose the automatic stay in any way that would restore Debtor's driver's license. For this alternative reason, the tentative ruling is to deny the motion.

(4) Whether relief is warranted on the facts presented

If Debtor can overcome the foregoing obstacles to relief, Debtor will need to address whether relief is warranted on the facts presented. This Court would be inclined to grant relief, because the loss of a driver's license almost certainly will have serious negative consequences to Debtor and his ability to pay all creditors including child support arrears; but it appears that this Court lacks the power to grant such relief, and in any event it appears that notice and service have not been adequate so this Court cannot hear this matter.

Deny, without prejudice to any other types of relief granted herein (or previously granted), for the following reasons.

The motion requests requests "in rem" relief (i.e., relief applicable notwithstanding future bankruptcy cases (under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(4) and/or In re Vazquez, 580 B.R. 526 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2017), and/or In re Choong (case no. 2:14-bk-28378-NB, docket no. 31)). The tentative ruling is to deny that request because the unauthorized grant deeds were several years ago and appear to be more consistent with (i) a good faith attempt to allocate responsibilities and benefits between Debtor and her father than (ii) any scheme to hinder, delay, or defraud creditors. See dkt. 109, at PDF p.14, para. 10 & 11. In addition, Debtor's explanations of the multiple bankruptcy cases (dkt. 113) are persuasive as to whether "in rem" relief should be granted.

Effective date of relief

Grant the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a)(3).

Co-debtor stay

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) has not been shown to have any basis for any different treatment from the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a), so the tentative ruling is to grant the identical relief regarding any co-debtor stay.

Tentative Ruling:

Grant as provided below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this Court's final ruling. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

The automatic stay does not apply

In the alternative and in addition, this court grants relief from the automatic stay as follows.

Termination

Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (d)(4).

To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Relief notwithstanding future bankruptcy cases.

Grant the following relief pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(4) and the legal analysis in In re Vazquez, 580 B.R. 526 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2017), and/or In re Choong (case no. 2:14-bk-28378-NB, docket no. 31), as applicable:

If this order is duly recorded in compliance with applicable State laws governing notices of interests or liens in the property at issue, then no automatic stay shall apply to such property in any bankruptcy case purporting to affect such property and filed within two years after the date of entry of this order, unless otherwise ordered by the court presiding over that bankruptcy case.

For the avoidance of doubt, any acts by the movant to obtain exclusive possession of such property shall not be stayed, including any eviction actions, through and including any lockout or other enforcement by the Sheriff or other authorized legal authority.

Note: Per Judge Bason's posted procedures (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) this Court's order will state that the Court "does not make" a finding that Debtor was involved in the "scheme" referenced in section 362(d)(4), unless there is sufficient evidence that Debtor was involved and Debtor is given clear notice that the movant seeks an express finding that Debtor was involved. The tentative ruling in this particular case is that there is not sufficient evidence and notice.

No prejudice to Debtor intended. Based on the record, it appears that this is a "hijacked" case, and that Debtor is innocent of any involvement. See e.g., In re Vazquez, 580 B.R. 526 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2017) (describing hijacking); In re Dorsey, 476 B.R. 261 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2012) (same). Accordingly, the tentative ruling is to condition any relief from the automatic stay on this Court's determination that this motion shall not result in the application of sections 109(g) (2) and 362(b)(21)(A) to Debtor or any property other than the property that is the subject of this motion for relief from the automatic stay, and that by not contesting this tentative ruling the movant has waived and forfeited any contrary argument. See In re Leafly, 489 B.R. 545, 550-51 (9th Cir. BAP 2012); In re Mendez, 367 B.R. 109, 116-17 (9th Cir. BAP 2007); In re Luna, 122 B.R. 575, 577 (9th Cir. BAP 1991); Dorsey, 476 B.R. 261, 270.

Effective date of relief

Grant the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a)(3).

Co-debtor stay

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) has not been shown to have any basis for any different treatment from the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a), so the tentative ruling is to grant the identical relief regarding any co-debtor stay.

Docket 12

Tentative Ruling:

There is no tentative ruling but the parties should be prepared to address the issues raised in the opposition (dkt. 15) and any additional opposition at the hearing. Appearances required.

If this Court is persuaded to grant relief then, as usual, after the hearing date this Court will prepare an order and the tentative ruling is to include the following language in that order:

The stay of 11 U.S.C. 362(a) applies subject to the following modifications and conditions:

(1) Service and reconsideration. Any party in interest who was not timely served in accordance with FRBP 7004 (incorporated by FRBP 9014(b)) is hereby granted through 14 days after proper service to seek reconsideration, including retroactive relief (under FRBP 9023 and/or 9024). Any such person (a) may set a hearing on 14 days' notice, (b) may appear by telephone (if arrangements are made per Judge Bason's posted procedures), and (c) may present all arguments orally at the hearing (i.e., no written argument is required). If written arguments appear necessary then this court will set a briefing schedule at the hearing.

(2) Reasons. (a) It appears appropriate to impose the automatic stay, and to impose it as to all persons rather than just as to selected persons, because one purpose of the automatic stay is to preventing a "race to collect" that could unfairly advantage some creditors at the expense of others. (b) To prevent possible abuse, this Court provides the foregoing simple process for reconsideration.

Grant as provided below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

Termination. Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1).

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) is also terminated, because it has not been shown to have any basis to exist independent of the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a). To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied

Docket 40

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 1/16/19:

Appearances required. At the hearing on 12/18/18 this Court was persuaded to continue this matter for a possible finalization of a loan modification. There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address the status of the loan modification.

Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1).

To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Effective date of relief

In view of the alleged equity in the property this Court grants the following limited relief to Debtor:

Deny the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a)(3).

No foreclosure sale of the property may take place prior to 2/28/19.

Co-debtor stay

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) has not been shown to have any basis for any different treatment from the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a), so the tentative ruling is to grant the identical relief regarding any co-debtor stay.

Continue to 2/26/19 per the Plaintiff's filed status report (dkt. 28). Appearances are not required on 1/29/19.

Tentative Ruling for 10/9/18:

The plaintiff mis-filed the status report in the main case (main case dkt. 42) instead of this adversary proceeding. The plaintiff also failed to lodge a proposed order continuing this matter (using this Court's "LOU" program), and instead attached it to the status report.

Notwithstanding these errors, the tentative ruling is to continue this Status Conference to 12/18/18 at 11:00 a.m. Plaintiff is directed to file the next status report in this adversary proceeding (not in the main case) no later than 12/4/18. Appearances are not required on 10/9/18.

This matter has been continued multiple times (see tentative rulings reproduced below, and see Order, adv. dkt. 18). At the 2/27/18 hearing, this court further continued the hearing to today's date and directed plaintiff to give written notice. No such notice appears to have been filed on the docket. Why not?

There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address the issues described in the tentative ruling for 2/27/18.

Appearances required. At the hearing on 5/2/17 this court was persuaded to continue this matter to 9/12/17. This matter was further continued to today's date (see Order, adv. dkt. 18).

There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address (1) the results of their mediation, (2) whether to continue this status conference a short time (for finalization of any settlement) or a long time (far enough ahead that the parties can litigate their issues in State Court, which then presumably will have a partially or fully preclusive effect on any nondischargeability issues before this court), and (3) any other matters appropriate to address at this status conference.

Appearances required. At the hearing on 12/13/16 this court was persuaded to continue this matter to today's date, with a deadline of 4/11/17 to complete mediation (see adv. dkt. 13 (mediation order)).

There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address (1) the results of their mediation, (2) whether to continue this status conference a short time (for finalization of any settlement) or a long time (far enough ahead that the parties can litigate their issues in State Court, which then presumably will have a partially or fully preclusive effect on any nondischargeability issues before this court), and (3) any other matters appropriate to address at this status conference.

If you do not appear, and the matter is not adequately resolved by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 12/13/16:

Continue to 2/7/17 at 11:00 a.m. at which time this court anticipates addressing, in view of the State Court's determinations as to pending matters, what trial date and other deadlines to set. Appearances are not required on 12/13/16.

Appearances required. The parties are directed to address why no timely status report was filed as required by the oral ruling at the 12/11/18 status conference. The parties are also directed to provide an oral status report. The tentative ruling is to continue this status conference to 2/26/19 at 11:00 a.m.

If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 12/11/18:

Appearances required. The parties should be prepared to address (1) why a proposed order memorializing the extended deadlines was not lodged, as directed in the adopted tentative ruling for 11/6/18 (reproduced below) and (2) why a timely status report was not filed as required by that same adopted tentative ruling. The tentative ruling is to continue this status conference to 1/29/19 at 11:00 a.m.

Tentative Ruling for 11/6/18:

(1) Extend various deadlines as set forth below. (2) Continue this Status Conference to 12/11/18 at 11:00 a.m., based on the parties' status report (adv. dkt. 38), with a brief status report due 12/4/18. Appearances are not required on 11/6/18.

Extended deadlines: Extend the discovery cutoff to 2/28/19 (per adv. dkt. 38, p.2:7-9), with an extension of the same number of days for the other remaining deadlines in this Court's schedulings order (adv. dkt. 34) (i.e., the deadline for exchange of any expert reports, and for any hearing on any dispositive motions). In addition, add a deadline for the close of discovery from experts (depositions etc.) two weeks after their reports are due. Plaintiff is directed to lodge a proposed scheduling order containing these new deadlines, and to file and serve a notice of lodgment or else obtain the signature of Defendants' counsel approving the order as to form.

The court has reviewed the parties' joint status report (adv. dkt. 23) and the other filed documents and records in this adversary proceeding.

The plaintiff states (dkt. 23, p.2) that he requested entry of a default against defendants Andrae Perez and Accelerated Capital Group, Inc., but the Clerk of this Court has issued notices of non-entry of defaults (dkt. 15, 16). When will the plaintiff correct the deficiencies?

At the 3/6/18 hearing, this Court continued the matter to allow the parties time to meet and confer about the various deadlines that this court should set in this adversary proceeding and/or court-ordered mediation. This matter was further continued to today's date for the parties to participate in mediation on or about 5/21/18 (see Order, adv. dkt. 21). This Court also directed the parties to file a status report by 5/29/18, but the parties have not done so--for a second time.

There is no tentative ruling, but the parties are directed to address why they have not filed a status report, and to provide an oral status report, and are cautioned that continued failure to adhere to the applicable rules and orders of this Court may result in sanctions.

Chapter 7

At the 3/6/18 hearing, this Court continued the matter to allow the parties time to meet and confer about the various deadlines that this court should set in this adversary proceeding and/or court-ordered mediation. This court also directed the parties to file a status report by 4/3/18, but the parties have not done so.

There is no tentative ruling, but the parties are directed to address why they have not filed a status report, and to provide an oral status report, and are cautioned that continued failure to adhere to the applicable rules and orders of this Court may result in sanctions. The tentative ruling is to continue this status conference to 5/29/18 at 11:00 a.m. with a brief status report due 5/15/18.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 3/6/18:

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

The parties requested a brief continuance of this status conference from 2/27/18 to today's date (see Joint Status Report, adv. dkt. 10). At the status conference on 1/23/18 there was no appearance for the plaintiff, and this Court was persuaded that it was premature to adopt the deadlines stated in the tentative ruling for that status conference (reproduced below). There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to discuss the status of this case.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 2/27/18:

Continue to 3/6/18 at 11:00 a.m. Appearances are not required on 2/27/18.

Reasons: At the status conference on 1/23/18 there was no appearance for the plaintiff, and this Court was persuaded that it was premature to adopt the deadlines stated in the tentative ruling for that status conference (reproduced below). The plaintiff and one defendant (the debtor) have now filed a joint status report (adv. dkt. 10) requesting a brief continuance.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 1/23/18:

Appearances required. The court has reviewed the parties' filed documents and records in this adversary proceeding. The parties must address why they failed to file the required status report, and also the following issues. The following are Judge Bason's standard requirements for status conferences.

(1) Venue/jurisdiction/authority. The parties are directed to address any outstanding matters of (a) venue, (b) jurisdiction, (c) this court's authority to enter final orders or judgment(s) in this proceeding and, if consent is required, whether the parties do consent, or have already expressly or impliedly consented. See generally Stern v. Marshall, 131 S.Ct. 2594, 2608 (2011) (if litigant "believed that the Bankruptcy Court lacked the authority to decide his claim...then he should have said so – and said so promptly."); Wellness Int'l Network, Ltd. v. Sharif, 135 S.Ct. 1932 (2015) (consent must be knowing and voluntary but need not be express); In re Bellingham Ins. Agency, Inc., 702 F.3d 553 (9th Cir. 2012) (implied consent), aff'd on other grounds, 134 S. Ct. 2165 (2014); In re Pringle, 495 B.R. 447 (9th Cir. BAP 2013) (rebuttable presumption that failure to challenge authority to issue final order is intentional and indicates consent); In re Deitz, 760 F.3d 1028 (9th Cir. 2014) (authority to adjudicate nondischargeability encompasses authority to liquidate debt and enter final judgment). See generally In re AWTR Liquidation, Inc., 548 B.R. 300 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2016).

(2) Mediation. Is there is any reason why this court should not order the parties to mediation before one of the volunteer mediators (not a Bankruptcy Judge), and meanwhile set the deadlines set forth below? The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 2/6/18 for the parties to lodge a proposed mediation order (the parties are directed to use the time between now and that deadline to find a mutually agreeable mediator whose schedule can accommodate the needs of this matter; and if the parties cannot even agree on a mediator they may lodge separate orders and Judge Bason will chose among them, or issue his own order).

(3) Deadlines/dates: This adversary proceeding has been pending since 11/21/17. The tentative ruling is to set the following deadlines/dates. Pursuant to LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B), plaintiff is directed to serve and lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the status conference, attaching a copy of this tentative ruling or otherwise memorializing the following.

Discovery cutoff (for completion of discovery): 5/1/18

Expert(s) - deadline for reports: 5/8/18

Expert(s) - discovery cutoff (if different from above): 5/15/18

Dispositive motions to be heard no later than: 6/26/18

Joint Status Report: 2/6/18

Continued status conference: 2/27/18 at 11:00 a.m.

(2) Dates/Deadlines. This case was filed on 5/28/18.

(1) Current issues

(a) Motion to Use Cash Collateral (dkt. 57). Withdrawn (dkt. 69).

(b) Proposed refinance. The refinance motion (dkt. 68) was not filed until 12/3/18 - almost half a year after this case was filed: why was it not filed sooner? The motion fails to include the mandatory notice of hearing, objection deadlines, etc. The motion contemplates that the sale will close in January of 2019, but it lists a hearing date of 1/29/19 at 1:00 p.m., which would give almost no leeway to close in January after the hearing: why was the hearing self-calendared so far out? The motion admits that the payoff amounts will increase by then: will the refinance provide sufficient funds to pay all liens in full? The escrow statement contemplates a payment of $30,000 to Debtors' counsel: any such payment must be held in a trust account unless and until approved by this Court. The tentative ruling is to continue this status conference for one week to see if these issues have been corrected, with a warning to counsel for Debtors that there likely will be consequences to his continued disregard for the rules and procedures of this Court, including a reduction in fees.

(2) Dates/Deadlines. This case was filed on 5/28/18.

(1) Current issues

(a) Motion to Use Cash Collateral. Grant on an interim basis, as set forth in the tentative ruling in calendar no. 11 (11/27/18 at 1:00 p.m.).

(b) Proposed refinance. At the status conference on 10/16/18, Debtors' counsel anticipated filing a motion for a refinance very shortly thereafter, and the tentative ruling for that date set forth various items that Debtor would need to address. No such motion is on the docket. The refinance motion was supposed to supersede the proposed plan and disclosure statement, and as noted in the tentative ruling for 10/16/18 those documents are incomplete and confused. See also dkt. 65 (objection of Ditech Fin. LLC). Are debtors and their counsel properly prosecuting this case?

The tentative ruling is to continue this Status Conference with a warning to Debtors and their counsel that if they do not prosecute this case then it likely will be dismissed with a bar against being a debtor again, or converted to chapter 7, or this Court may impose other remedies.

Chapter 11

Tentative Ruling for 10/16/18:

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues. This Court has reviewed debtor's status report (dkt. 50) and other relevant pleadings.

(a) Plan (dkt. 47) and Disclosure Statement (dkt. 48). These documents are incomplete and confused. But the tentative ruling is that there is no need to proceed with these documents if Debtors are going to proceed with a proper motion to refinance and pay all creditors in full (as stated in their status report).

(b) Proposed refinance. The claims register lists total claims of $419,929.77 as of the petition date (of which $366,270.15 are listed as secured and $150.29 as priority). The proposed refinance would generate loan proceeds of $463,000. This appears to be sufficient to pay all claims, probably including postpetition interest, although perhaps not including 100% of asserted administrative expenses. Counsel for the debtor should be prepared to address (i) the form of motion he intends to file, (ii) whether that motion will seek authority to pay unsecured claims, and (iii) whether unsecured claims will be paid out of escrow or by some other means and, if the latter, who will hold the net proceeds after payment of secured claims.

(2) Dates/Deadlines. This case was filed on 5/28/18.

(a) Bar date: 9/4/18 (timely served, dkt. 23, 25)

Tentative Ruling for 8/14/18:

Continue to the date and time set forth below. Appearances are not required on 8/14/18.

(1) Current issues. This Court has reviewed debtor's status report (dkt. 38) and other relevant pleadings.

(a) This Court does not have any issues to raise sua sponte.

(2) Dates/Deadlines. This case was filed on 5/28/18.

(a) Bar date: 9/4/18 (timely served, dkt. 23, 25)

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: file by 9/25/18 using the forms required by Judge Bason (DO NOT SERVE yet, except on the U.S. Trustee - the court will set a deadline and procedures at a later time).

Note: If the U.S. Trustee wishes to file initial comments on any draft Plan documents before the regular deadline, it should do so at least two weeks prior to the next status conference (but, whether or not any comments are filed, all rights are reserved to object to the Disclosure Statement or Plan when deadline(s) for such objections are established).

Chapter 11

Tentative Ruling for 6/26/18:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor and by the debtor themselves.

(1) Current issues. This Court has reviewed the debtors' status report (dkt. 14), and the other filed documents and records in this case.

(a) May MOR (dkt. 18). The MOR purports to cover the period from 5/28/18 (the petition date) to 5/31/18, but is essentially blank, including the section for disclosure of existing insurance coverage (dkt. 18, pdf p. 5). Debtors should be prepared to address (i) whether they have insurance coverage on their residential real property (and any other asset requiring insurance); and, if they do (ii) whether they read the MOR and understood it prior to signing.

(b) Case Status Report (dkt. 14).

(i) Budget Motion. The status report says that a budget motion is not required by Judge Bason's procedures (dkt. 14, pdf p. 3), but that is not correct. See Judge Bason's Procedures, Section VII.F ("Judge Bason requires the use of local forms F 2081-2.2.MOTION.BUDGET and F 2081-2.2.ORDER.BUDGET"). Did counsel actually review the posted procedures? The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 6/28/18 to file and serve a budget motion.

(ii) Consumers' confidential information. The status report states that the debtors do not have possession, custody, or control of consumers' confidential information (dkt. 14, pdf p. 10), but this Court questions whether that is accurate. What about customer lists from Hey Baby Sales, Inc.? Do the debtors claim any rights to those lists? (e.g. if the case were converted to a chapter 7 case, a sale of the debtors' interest in the company took place, and the buyer wanted the customer lists, would the debtors agree they could not retain or use the lists because the lists are owned by the company?).

The debtors should be prepared to address what steps they will take to protect confidential consumer information, and whether a consumer privacy ombudsman is required (11 U.S.C. 332).

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 5/28/18.

(a) Bar date: 9/4/18 (DO NOT SERVE notice yet - court will prepare an order after the status conference).

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: file by 9/25/18 using the forms required

Tentative Ruling for 11/6/18:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor and by Debtors themselves.

(1) Current issues

(a) Status report (dkt. 43, 45)

Debtors have not used the Local Form, which is mandatory in this case (see Judge Bason's posted procedures, available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov). The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 11/13/18 to file the form and serve it on the United States Trustee.

Chapter 11

(b) Motion to Employ Debtors' Counsel (Dkt. 18)

Debtors have not adequately addressed the issues in this Court's interim order (dkt. 39). Although proposed counsel declares (dkt. 47) that he has "learned" (from unspecified hearsay) that Debtors' relatives have funded the $15,000 retainer as a gift, there is no declaration from the two alleged donors confirming this, and confirming all of their "connections" with all parties in interest and their attorneys and accountants (see dkt. 39, section 6.(a)), and their informed consent to potential or actual conflicts (id., sec. 6.(c)), and Debtors' informed consent (id., sec. 6.(d)). The tentative ruling is to continue this matter to the same time as the continued status conference (see below) and set a deadline of 11/13/18 to file appropriate declarations and serve them on the United States Trustee.

(c) MOR1 (Sept., 2018, dkt. 36)

Debtors report that they spent $1,350.43 in cash, with no breakdown and just a vague description about "personal expenses," "charitable contributions," etc. The tentative ruling is that any proposed order authorizing the proposed budget must include a prohibition on Debtors spending more than $50 cash on any one item or $250 cash in the aggregate per month without attaching photocopies of receipts.

Several insurance policies have expired or are about to (see dkt. 36, at PDF p.16). What are Debtors doing about that?

(d) Motion to Use Cash Collateral (dkt 20)

First, Debtors failed to lodge a proposed order authorizing the use of cash collateral on the terms set forth in the adopted Tentative Ruling for 10/16/18 (see calendar no. 20, 11/6/18 at 1:00 p.m., which includes a copy of that earlier tentative ruling). The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 11/13/18 to lodge that proposed order, with a copy of that tentative ruling attached.

Second, the original motion appears to have been superseded by an amended motion, which has not been separately filed and served but instead is attached as an exhibit to a supplemental declaration. See dkt. 29, Ex.B. The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 11/13/18 to file and serve that motion, which will be heard at the same date and time as the continued status conference (see below).

Third, the tentative ruling is that no order granting Debtors' motions regarding cash collateral shall be construed as endorsing the statements to which creditor Poser Investments, Inc. objects. See dkt. 23. Debtors are

Tentative Ruling for 8/14/18:

The tentative ruling is to convert this bankruptcy case to chapter 7. Appearances are not required. After the hearing this Court will prepare the conversion order.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Background. The debtor's status report notes (dkt. 62, p.2:9-12) that the debtor fell behind in mortgage payments and faced a scheduled increase in monthly payments from $2,500 to $7,800. That is an extremely unfortunate circumstance, but at this point it appears that there is no way to retain the property, and attempting to do so would simply mean that the debtor and her parents would be "throwing good money after bad." The best alternative may be for the debtor to obtain her chapter 7 discharge and the "fresh start" that is one of the main purposes of the bankruptcy system.

This Court recognizes that the debtor has attempted to save the property by moving out and renting it, as well as by obtaining contributions from her parents. Unfortunately, even if the debt is bifurcated as the debtor seeks to do, the property does not appear to be able to generate positive cash flow after payments on the mortgage. See tentative ruling for calendar no. 4 (denying motion to continue automatic stay). In addition, the property appears to have substantial deferred maintenance and other problems. Despite the efforts of the debtor and her counsel, it does not appear possible to satisfy the requirements of the Bankruptcy Code to keep the property.

(b) Denial of motion to continue automatic stay. As noted above, this Court's tentative ruling is to deny the debtor's motion to continue the automatic stay (see tentative ruling for calendar no. 4).

(c) Budget motion (dkt. 17, 41, 46, 50, 56). This Court granted the debtor's budget on an interim basis (dkt. 46) and orally on a final basis at the hearing on 6/12/18, but no proposed final order was lodged. In addition, since that time the debtor has filed amended bankruptcy Schedules I&J (dkt. 56) which appear to amend the proposed budget. In addition, as set forth in the tentative ruling denying the debtor's motion to continue the automatic stay, it appears that even the latest proposed budget would need to be different, to account for greater adequate protection payments in view of increased interest rates and in view of the urgent need to stop the mold and water intrusion issues at the property from becoming worse (see tentative ruling for calendar no. 4). For all of these reasons, the tentative ruling is that, notwithstanding this Court's prior oral ruling, the budget motion cannot be approved on a final basis; but that issue appears to be moot because of the tentative ruling to convert this case to chapter 7.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 5/1/18.

(a) Bar date: 8/7/18 (timely served, dkt. 34, 40).

Chapter 11

(1) Current issues.

(a) Amended Schedule I (dkt. 26). Bankruptcy Schedule I, paragraph 8a, requires a separate statement for any rental property showing gross receipts, ordinary and necessary expenses, and net income. The debtor has not complied. Why not?

(b) Budget motion (dkt. 17, 29). Notwithstanding the foregoing, this Court has reviewed the cash collateral motion (dkt. 28), which appears to set forth the gross receipts, expenses, and net income of the subject property. Based on the presumption that this is included in the budget for which the debtor seeks approval, the tentative ruling is to grant the budget motion as amended (dkt. 29), on an interim basis, subject to a final hearing at the same date and time as the continued status conference set forth below. By no later than 6/8/18, the debtor must (i) correct the above-referenced omission from bankruptcy Schedule I and the budget motion, (ii) provide notice of the final hearing on this motion via U.S. Mail to all parties in interest, and (iii) file a proof of service.

Proposed order: The debtor is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this court's final ruling. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 5/1/18.

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 1/29/19:

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues

The parties should be prepared to address the retention of new counsel (see Status Report, dkt. 112, joint admin. case no. 2:18-bk-15055-NB) and the future of this case in view of the disposition of the stay-related matters on the 10:00 a.m. calendar.

Chapter 11

(1) Current issues.

(a) Motion to employ (dkt. 37)

(i) Retainer

Proposed counsel explains that Debtor's sister, Ms. Corina Ramirez, provided a pre-petition retainer in the amount of $5,000 (dkt. 37, at PDF 6). A third party who funds a retainer for the debtor (the "Funder") might have interests that are adverse to (or at least not fully aligned with) the bankruptcy estate or creditors. For these reasons, although payment of a retainer by a third party is not outright prohibited, it is fraught with ethical concerns.

While Ms. Ramirez has provided this Court with a delcaration (dkt. 37, at PDF 9) that addresses some of the Court's concerns, proposed counsel should be prepared to address the following remaining concerns:

(A) Informed consent of Funder

Has Ms. Ramirez been advised regarding actual and potential conflicts of interest, and that the sole attorney-client relationship and duty of loyaltly is with Debtor, not Ms. Ramirez? Who provided such advice: independent counsel, or Debtor's proposed counsel? Has Ms. Ramirez given informed consent? Are those things in writing?

(B) Informed consent of Debtor

Has Debtor likewise been fully advised and given informed consent? Who provided such advice? Are these things in writing?

(C) Other considerations

Has proposed counsel demonstrated or represented to the Court the absence of an actual or potential conflict, a lack of disinterestedness, or any other basis for disqualification? See In re Kelton Motors, Inc., 109 B.R. 641 (Bankr. D. Vt. 1989); In re Hathaway Ranch Partnership, 116 B.R. 208, 219 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1990); In re Park-Helena Corp., 63 F.3d 877 (9th Cir. 1995).

(ii) Proposed counsel's disinterestedness

The parties should be prepared address whether proposed counsel is truly disinterested. Debtor's daughter is also before this Court, in a case that is being jointly administered with this one (In re Karla Ramirez, 2:18-bk-15055-NB). Proposed counsel for Debtor and for Debtor's daughter are closely affiliated if not essentially the same. Debtor and his daughter have financial interactions, including being co-owners of property.

(b) Separate counsel required?

The tentative ruling is that Sergio and Karla Ramirez need counsel who are separate - not affiliated in the ways that their proposed counsel are affiliated. The parties should be prepared to address whether to adopt that tentative ruling, and, if it is adopted, how soon new counsel can be retained.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 9/26/18.

(a) Bar date: 2/7/19 (timely served, dkt. 46).

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: TBD

(c) Continued status conference: 1/29/19 at 1:00 p.m., with no written status report required.

*Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

Tentative Ruling for 12/4/18:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor and by the debtor(s) themselves.

(1) Current issues

(a) Joint administration

This Court has issued an order for joint administration of In re Karla Ramirez (Case No. 2:18-bk-15055-NB) (daughter; lead case) and In re Sergio Alfredo Ramirez (Case No. 2:18-21263-NB) (father). See lead case dkt. 86 (the "JointAdmin Order") (entered 11/26/18). That order directs that a notice of joint administration must be filed and served "in each case being jointly administered," and an amended master mailing list must be filed in the lead case that "contains the name and mailing address of all creditors and interest holders from each case being jointly administered." JointAdmin Order, para. 2 (emphasis added). As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, this Court's records do not reflect that those things have been done.

(b) Calendar management

A hearing has been set for 12/18/18 at 1:00 p.m. on the employment application (dkt. 37, 39). The tentative ruling is to continue the status conference in the daughter's case to that date (from its current date of 12/11/18 at 1:00 p.m.) and direct proposed counsel, Mr. Giron and Mr. Tang, to give notice.

(c) Allocation of assets, liabilities, and responsibilities, and potential conflicts between estates. As between the father and daughter, what is the correct record title (and actual ownership interests, if different) of the Downey rental property? Which of them are obligated on the debts secured by that property? Which of them has any interests in the rental income?

Does the father need to file a motion for use of cash collateral; a utility motion; a motion to assume or reject any leases; a budget motion; or other motions in connection with the Downey property?

What actual or potential conflicts may exist between the two bankruptcy estates and their creditors?

This Court anticipates addressing these issues only on a preliminary basis at this time. At the continued status conference they will be addressed more comprehensively.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 9/26/18.

(a) Bar date: 2/7/19 (DO NOT SERVE notice yet - court will prepare an order after the status conference).

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: TBD

(c) Continued status conference: 12/18/18 at 1:00 p.m., to be concurrent with the hearing on the employment application (dkt. 37, 39).

*Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

Tentative Ruling for 9/18/18:

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues. This status conference was continued from 8/18/18 to 9/18/18 (dkt.142). Based on recent docket activity, this Court is aware of the following issues.

(a) Dispute with State Compensation Insurance Fund (dkt. 145-156, 158, 159). Has this matter been resolved? Perhaps so, because the Status Report (dkt. 170) does not mention it. If not, what is the status of the parties' disputes?

(b) Final decree (dkt. 141, 151). The Status Report (dkt. 170) projects filing another motion by 12/31/18, so the tentative ruling is to continue this post-confirmation Status Conference to 12/18/18 at 1:00 p.m., with no written status report required and with the expectation that it might go off calendar if a motion for a final decree has been filed by then.

budget motion, utility motion, or other typical "first day" motions. This Court recognizes that Debtor is in the process of formulating its strategy (dkt. 20, p.4:17-21), and has requested an extension of time to file bankruptcy schedules and other documents (dkt. 19), but none of that excuses the failure to file any required first day motions.

(c) Dismissal? Bar?

Debtor is directed to address why this Court should not dismiss this case with a 180 day bar against being a debtor in bankruptcy, under 11 U.S.C. 109(g) (1), for willful failure to abide by an order of this court, or willful failure to appear in proper prosecution of this case, or both.

Appearances are not required on 9/4/18.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Dissolution of "Oh Happy Day" (dkt. 544, 579, 583, 602). Grant, provided that all assets (tangible or intangible) in which Oh Happy Day, LLC currently has an interest must continue, after dissolution of that entity, to be administered by the Agent (to the full extent of any interest the debtor has in such assets). See Term Sheet (dkt. 547), section 6 (defining Agent Assets).

Proposed order: The debtor is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(b) Employment of Ballard, Rosenberg firm/Schwettmann as Special Counsel (dkt. 490, 532, 533, 546, 582). Continue to the same date and time as the continued status conference (set forth below), for the reasons set forth in the responses (dkt. 546, 582). In addition, no later than 10/2/18 the debtor is directed to file a supplement clarifying whether the proposed employment is of Mr. Schwettmann individually or his firm.

Tentative Ruling for 9/4/18:

This court anticipates issuing or posting a tentative ruling at a later time.

Tentative Ruling for 8/3/18:

Appearances required. The tentative rulings are set forth below. In addition, the tentative ruling is to set a continued status conference on 8/16/18 at 10:00 a.m., or such alternative time as may be ordered at the hearing.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Motion to Confirm Dean Rallis as Agent (dkt. 536). Grant (approve the appointment of Dean Rallis, Esq. as Agent) under the Term Sheet, as amended (see below), and subject to the provisions of this Court's order approving the settlement (dkt. 528, paragraphs 3, 4, and 6-8). The tentative ruling to grant this motion is based on the representation in the motion (dkt. 536, p.9:5-9) that the parties who objected/reserved their rights to object have now consented to the appointment of Mr. Ralis. (This Court disregards the invective, id. n.3 & accompanying text.) If that is incorrect then this tentative ruling is subject to any opposition at the hearing (see OST, dkt. 538). This tentative ruling is also based on this Court's review of the other relevant documents. See dkt. 495 (selection of proposed agent), 528 (order approving settlement), 531 (objection), 535 (Committee support), 536 (motion), Application for Order Shortening Time (dkt. 537, 540) and evidence of service (dkt. 541).

Proposed order: Counsel for the debtor is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(b) 9019 Motion (see Term Sheet, dkt. 445, 528). This Court's Order (dkt. 528) approving Settlement directed the parties to prepare, sign and file a final version of the "Term Sheet" reflecting certain modifications. This Court notes that the debtor appears to have circulated a revised Term Sheet (dkt. 536, Ex.A) that incorporates the changes discussed on the record, although that revised Term Sheet is not "redlined" and this Court has not engaged in any line-by-line review of its terms. In any event, the parties are directed to provide a status report on when a declaration will be filed with this Court memorializing the fully executed final Term Sheet.

(c) Motion to Extend Time to Assume or Reject Lease (dkt. 457). The tentative ruling is to continue this motion to the date and time of the continued status conference, for the authorized Agent to consider and take a position on the merits of this motion.

Analysis: Although the debtor argues (e.g., in dkt. 534) that she is prejudiced by any lack of immediate decision on pending matters, the tentative ruling is that the debtor has not established undue prejudice because of (i) the debtor's own delay in selecting a nominee to be the Agent, (ii) the debtor's ability to engage in numerous other activities to attempt to turn around her finances without having to wait for those particular pending matters to be resolved, and (iii) the fact that, as this Court interprets the deadlines in the Term Sheet, "Approval" of the settlement did not occur until "entry" of an order approving the settlement (see dkt. 474, Ex.C, section 1, 1st paragraph, penultimate sentence), and the oral ruling was not entered on the docket, only the written order (dkt. 528) was entered, so the time of Approval (which commences the time for the debtor to perform various tasks under the Term Sheet) did not commence until entry of that written order on 7/25/18.

(d) Motion to Assume and Assign 1629 Griffith Lease (Presbytery) (dkt. 351). Continue to the date and time of the continued status conference, for the authorized Agent to consider the merits of this motion, for the same reasons as stated in section (1)(c) of this tentative ruling, above.

(e) Motion to Expand Scope of Kaplan Employment (dkt. 461, 480, 497, 505, 534). Continue to the date and time of the continued status conference, for the authorized Agent to consider the merits of this motion, for the same reasons as stated in section (1)(c) of this tentative ruling, above.

(f) Scheduling Conference re: Evidentiary Hearing on Motion to Assume 1356 Palmetto Lease (Bridge Tavern/Villain's) (dkt. 187). At the 7/18/18 hearing, this Court was informed that the proposed assignee/buyer had withdrawn. This Court subsequently issued an Order (dkt. 501) deeming the portion of the motion that sought to assign the lease moot and withdrawn, and continuing the portion of the motion that seeks to assume the lease to this hearing solely for scheduling further proceedings on this motion. The parties should be prepared to address a schedule for this motion and/or whether to continue the scheduling matters so that the Agent can determine whether or not to pursue this motion and related matters.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 3/6/18.

(a) Bar date: 8/24/18 (dkt. 367, timely served on 6/19/18 per dkt. 383)

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: TBD.

(c) Continued status conference: Date and time set forth at the start of this tentative ruling. No written status report is required.

such alternative time as may be ordered at the hearing.

(1) Current issues.

(a) 9019 Motion (see Term Sheet, dkt. 445). This Court will address the objections filed by Mr. Casanova (dkt. 465, 466) and The Presbytery of the Pacific (the "Presbytery") (dkt. 467) and the replies filed by the debtor (dkt. 472) and by the Archbishop/Institute and the Bird Nest (dkt. 474). Among other things, this Court will address whether the Term Sheet can be approved without the further documentation that is contemplated by the settling parties. In that regard, the parties should address the proposed amendment to paragraph 6 of the Term Sheet. See dkt. 474, Ex.C.

This Court expresses no present opinion on those issues. This Court is intentionally withholding any further tentative ruling on those matters so as not to disrupt potential settlement discussions among those parties, but if the parties have not agreed to the proposed amendment to paragraph 6 (or some other resolution) then this Court intends to provide a tentative ruling at the commencement of the hearing.

The parties are encouraged to meet and confer about the foregoing issues. If, at the end of the hearing, there are issues that remain to be addressed, then the parties should be prepared to address whether this Court should set a continued hearing on the date and time specified at the start of this tentative ruling or some other date.

(b) Stay relief motion (appellate litigation with Bird Nest and Archbishop/Institute) (dkt. 68). Continue to the date and time set forth at the start of this tentative ruling, if this motion is not mooted by the disposition of the settlement motion.

(c) Exclusivity motion (dkt. 308, 348, 422). Continue to the date and time set forth at the start of this tentative ruling, and meanwhile extend exclusivity for the same amount of time, on the same terms and conditions as this Court's Prior Order (dkt. 422) - i.e., no incurring of fees or expenses for plan-related work. This Court calculates that the extensions would be as follows: (i) The 120-day period specified in section 1121(c)(2) and (d)(1) (deadline for filing a plan) will be further extended from 8/15/18 (see dkt. 422) to and including 9/19/18, and (ii) the 180-day period specified in section 1121(c)(3) and (d)(1) (deadline for acceptance of plan by impaired classes) will be further extended from 10/15/18 (see dkt. 422) to and including 11/19/18.

Tentative Ruling for 6/22/18:

Appearances required.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Urbanlime/Haro employment (dkt. 93, 253), Bridge Tavern (Villain's) Reopening Motion (dkt. 214, previously granted, dkt. 339, but rescheduled per dkt.369 para. 4.5), Sale Motion (dkt. 112, temporarily denied, dkt. 369, 385) and Lease Assignment Motion (dkt. 187, re-set for hearing, dkt. 388). The parties should be prepared to address the issues set forth in this Court's orders (dkt. 369, 378, 385, 388) setting this hearing.

(b) Motion to extend exclusivity (dkt. 308, 312, 333, 348). The tentative ruling is to preserve the status quo by:

(i) prohibiting the estate from incurring any fees or expenses relative to any contemplated plan between time this tentative ruling is posted and the conclusion of the hearing on the motion to appoint a trustee (dkt. 332, the "Trustee Motion"), currently scheduled for 7/10/18 at 2:00 p.m;

(d) Relief from stay motion (dkt. 68, 79, 141, 147, 154, 162, 222 section v., 270, 312). The tentative ruling is to continue this matter to 7/10/18 at 2:00 p.m.

(e) Expansion of Insul employment (dkt. 305). Please see calendar no. 2 (6/22/18 at 10:00 a.m.).

(f) Hearings on 7/10/18. Some matters in this case have been self-calendared for 7/10/18 at 1:00 p.m. The tentative ruling is that all matters set for 7/10/18 in this case will be heard at 2:00 p.m.

Telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues.

(a) Cash flow and cash collateral motion (dkt. 5, 14, 15, 29). This Court's written order (dkt. 29) erroneously lists the continued hearing as 3/20/18 instead of 4/17/18 at 2:00 p.m., as orally ordered at the hearing on 3/9/18. Nevertheless, it is appropriate in connection with this Status Conference to address the debtor's current and projected cash flow and related issues.

generate positive cash flow. The debtor is directed to provide a brief update on any plans to generate positive cash flow from her various businesses and properties. It is also appropriate for other parties in interest to address whether there has been adequate disclosure to date regarding the finances of those businesses and properties. The debtor is cautioned that the declaration due on 3/27/18 must provide comprehensive disclosures regarding those businesses and properties: if the debtor cannot show reasonable prospects for positive cash flow within a reasonable time then this Court might have to grant relief from the automatic stay (upon a proper motion), or convert or dismiss this bankruptcy case, at least if the debtor does not abandon unprofitable businesses or properties.

(b) Employment applications. The parties should be prepared to address the oppositions (dkt. 56, 57) and the direct and indirect source(s) of funds used by the debtor to pay prepetition retainers (see dkt. 48, and cf. dkt. 9, p.6, dkt. 18, p.8, dkt. 20, p.8 - blank spaces instead of disclosure), including when the liens against the 1902 property arose (dkt. 48, Ex.A). In addition, the parties should be prepared to address the following issues:

(i) Proposed bankruptcy counsel - Tilem (dkt. 9, 10): (i) Why were resumes for associates, paralegals, and persons who are "of counsel" to the firm not included? (ii) Has counsel waived or amended the provisions in the retainer agreement regarding the "evergreen" retainer; "overtime" rates, and any attorney's lien? (iii) As for proposed out-sourcing, counsel must address whether employment of such counsel could result in imputed or actual conflicts of interest from any work performed by such attorneys for their own clients or for other law firms.

(ii) Proposed special counsel: the Robins firm and Horvitz firm (dkt. 18, 19, 20, 21). The hourly rates of proposed counsel at the Robins firm and Horvitz firm are substantially greater than those for the debtor's proposed general bankruptcy counsel and the Snyder firm. How will the debtor - acting as a debtor in possession with the duties of a trustee for the benefit of creditors - assure that the potential benefits are not outweighed by the costs that can be reasonably anticipated in connection with the ongoing litigation with Birds Nest, the Archbishop, and the Institute (as those terms are defined in the parties' papers)?

(iii) Proposed special counsel: the Snyder firm (dkt. 36, 37). (i) What is the nature of the litigation in which that firm represents the debtor and co-plaintiff, Bridge Tavern, LLC against Odysseus Investment Group, LLC? (ii)

What are the potential costs/risks and benefits? (iii) Is there any actual or potential conflict of interest between the two plaintiffs (e.g., if any judgment in their favor were to be allocated between them in a way that is unfavorable to one or the other)? Tentative Ruling for 10/2/18:

Appearances required. There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address the issues raised in the papers pertaining to the plan proposed by creditors Mr. Britton and Ms. West (see dkt. 341-60) and particularly the issues of (1) impairment of Class 6, (2) compliance with 11 U.S.C. 1129(a)(5)(A), and (3) the possibility of a structured dismissal or alternative plan proposed by the debtor and Mr. Riggs.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues. At the 12/19/17 hearing, this court continued the status conference for the parties to first address the debtor's motion for an order estimating Mr. Britton's claim (dkt. 297). There is no tentative ruling, but the parties must address the underlying papers concerning that motion, including Mr. Britton's opposition (dkt. 314) and the debtor's reply (dkt. 317).

Tentative Ruling for 12/19/17:

Continue to 2/27/18 at 2:00 p.m. because, so far as this court can tell, it probably makes sense first to address the debtor's motion for an order estimating Mr. Britton's claim (dkt. 297), which is presently set for hearing on 1/23/18. If any party in interest disagrees, or believes that it would be useful to have appearances at a status conference on this claim at this time, they may contest this tentative ruling as provided below. Appearances are not required on 12/19/17.

(1) Current issues: The debtor and Mr. Britton have stipulated (dkt. 327) to continue the hearing on the motion to estimate Mr. Britton's claim to 10/30/18 at 2:00 p.m. This Court issued an order (dkt. 328) setting the matter for hearing so that Ms. West can be heard on the proposed continuance, if she wishes. The tentative ruling is to approve the stipulation, but with one additional week, to 11/6/18@2, because the date selected by the parties is not available on this Court's calendar.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 12/1/15.

(a) Bar date: 2/8/16 (timely served, dkt. 19 & 25).

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement: TBD

(c) Continued status conference: 7/17/18 at 2:00 p.m.; brief Status Report due 7/9/18 at noon.

Appearances required.

(1) Current issues: estimating Mr. Britton's claim

This matter has been substantially briefed and argued at prior hearings (see para. "(1)" of Revised Tentative Ruling for 1/30/18, reproduced below, and Mr. Britton's Opposition to Estimation Motion, dkt. 315, and debtor's Reply, dkt. 317, 322). This Court anticipates providing an oral tentative ruling at the start of the hearing, followed by a brief time (maximum 10 minutes each) for further argument before this Court makes a final ruling on the estimation motion.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 12/1/15.

Revised Tentative Ruling for 1/30/18:

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues: estimating Mr. Britton's claim

At the hearing on 10/3/18 this court contemplated that after the debtor filed its motion (dkt. 297) for an order estimating the claim of creditor Layne Leslie Britton then this court would set a briefing schedule. The tentative ruling is to set the briefing schedule set forth below.

This court notes that the parties have already briefed, and this court has preliminarily addressed, some of the underlying issues, in connection with the debtor's prior motion for an order approving a draft plan and disclosure statement. Therefore a longer briefing schedule does not appear to be necessary. See dkt. 244 (motion), dkt. 260 (opposition, especially at pp.17:11-21:13 and Winston Decl. Ex.1.B.), dkt. 263 (reply, especially at pp.9:9-12:24), transcript of 8/22/17 hearing (dkt. 272), debtor's status report (dkt. 273), and audio recording of 10/3/17 hearing.

Tentative briefing schedule:

2/13/18 deadline for Mr. Britton's opposition to estimation motion (dkt. 297)

2/20/18 deadline for reply by the debtor

2/27/18 at 2:00 p.m., hearing

(1) Current issues

(a) Fee applications. The tentative ruling is (1) after the reductions that Browne concedes, to overrule the Britton objection to Browne's fees; (2) to sustain in part the limited objection of Ms. West by allowing 100%, but temporarily deferring any payment (either from any retainer or from other sources), on account of the fee applications, with a deadline of 12/12/16 for Ms. West to file (a) an adversary proceeding to determine the relative priorities of her rights and interests in the royalties, and/or other funds in which the debtor's estate asserts an interest, as against the debtor, its creditors, and other parties in interest, and (b) a request (motion) for adequate protection of her alleged claims or interests (pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 361 and 363(c), (e), (p), and Rule 7001(2), (7) & (9), Fed. R. Bankr. P.). In addition, this court anticipates providing a tentative ruling on the merits of Ms. West's asserted rights and interests, and addressing what documents (already filed or filed in future) do or do not have to be under seal, and establishing a mutually workable procedure for any sealed documents.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 12/1/15.

Tentative Ruling for 4/12/16:

Continue to 9/6/16 at 11:00 a.m. to address the following issues. Appearances are not required on 4/12/16.

Based on the statements made in the debtor's status report (dkt. 92), this Court continues this status conference as set forth above. The debtor shall file a brief status report two weeks before the continued status conference.

If you wish to dispute the above tentative ruling, please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings".

Tentative Ruling for 2/2/16:

Continue to 2/23/16 at 2:00 p.m. unless any opposition/response to employment or recusal are filed prior to 1/30/16. Appearances are not required on 2/2/16.

Reasons: At the hearing on 1/19/16, this court stated that the status conference would be continued without further hearing if no oppositions/responses to employment or recusal were received by the deadline for such things, which is 1/29/16. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling (on 1/29/16) no such documents have yet been filed.

Chapter 11

Key documents reviewed: Motion for relief from automatic stay (dkt. 11), the debtor's opposition (dkt. 33), and the movant's reply (dkt. 46); and the debtor's application to employ Browne George Ross LLP as special counsel under 11 U.S.C. 327(e) and supporting papers (dkt. 26-30, 44, 45).

(1) Current issues.

(a) Background. Claimant Britton's motion for relief from the automatic stay (dkt. 11) seeks to modify the automatic stay to liquidate the parties' claims in the underlying State Court action (Britton v. Riggs, LA Superior Ct. No. BC 496298). Just before trial was set to commence, the debtor filed this bankruptcy case, and trial has now been continued to 2/10/16. The debtor has filed an application (dkt. 26) to employ its existing attorneys in the State Court action as special counsel.

In view of the apparent urgency of these matters, this Bankruptcy Court issued an order raising a number of its initial concerns (dkt. 35), held a preliminary hearing on 1/8/16, and directed the debtor to serve a supplemental notice addressing certain issues. In addition, when Judge Bason's law clerk learned of certain attenuated connections between him and the parties in this case, those matters were disclosed on the record (dkt. 39), and the debtor was directed to serve those disclosures on all parties in interest.

The debtor complied with these notice requirements (see dkt. 44, 43, 45) and the period for any response expires on 1/29/16 (fixed date in dkt. 39 as to this court's disclosures; and service on 1/11/16 + 14 days' notice + 3 days for service via U.S. mail = 1/29/16 as to the employment application). As of the time when this tentative ruling has been prepared (1/18/16) no response on either matter appears on the docket.

(b) Relief from the automatic stay. The tentative ruling is to modify the automatic stay as follows, effective immediately upon (i) entry of an order of this court granting the employment application (so that the debtor can defend and prosecute its claims in the State Court action) and (ii) resolution of any request to be heard regarding recusal. Specifically, the automatic stay would be modified to permit litigation of the State court action insofar as liquidating claims by Mr. Britton against the debtor and its principal, Mr. Riggs, as well as liquidating any counterclaims, including all subsidiary disputes such as whether the statute of limitations should be tolled and any alter ego issues, but not to permit enforcement of any judgment against any property in which the debtor asserts an interest absent further order of this Bankruptcy Court.

Judge Bason is not persuaded by the debtor's argument that the statute of limitations issue should be addressed by this Bankruptcy Court before any State Court litigation is permitted to continue. The principles underlying the Rooker Feldman doctrine (that this Bankruptcy Court may not act as essentially an appellate court for State Court determinations), as well as comity, a respect for the State Court's determination of these issues, conservation of judicial resources, the avoidance of forum shopping, and not permitting a party to obtain "two bites at the apple" all weigh against deciding the statute of limitations issues here. The State Court issued a detailed tentative ruling (dkt. 46-1, Ex.A, pp.23-26) regarding the statute of limitations issues, including its conclusion that those issues could not be determined as a matter of law because a reasonable trier of fact "may well determine that the delay in filing the action was due to the Defendants' fraud or other misconduct such that Defendants should be estopped from asserting the statute of limitations," and the State Court apparently adopted that tentative ruling when it denied the defendants' motion for summary judgment and declined to address the statute of limitations issues before trial. Judge Bason is not persuaded that this Bankruptcy Court can or should revisit that determination.

As to any claims that are truly alter ego claims (as distinguished from fraudulent transfer claims or other avoidance actions that belong to this bankruptcy estate), the tentative ruling is that under the Ahcom decision (623 F.3d 1248 (9th Cir. 2010)), any such claims do not belong to the bankruptcy estate and, therefore, the automatic stay would not prevent claimant Mr. Britton from seeking to establish and pursue any alter ego claims against Mr. Riggs. Alternatively, the tentative ruling is to modify the automatic stay (if it applied) to permit such true alter ego claims to be litigated (when and if the State Court determines that they should be) because if those issues turn out to be relevant then they will have to be litigated anyway, and the State Court would be the proper forum in which to litigate them. To the extent that the debtor seeks to stay (enjoin) any such alter ego claims against Mr. Riggs in this bankruptcy case, such an injunction would have to be the subject of a separate adversary proceeding. See, e.g., In re Excel Innovations, Inc., 502 F.3d 1086 (9th Cir. 2007).

(c) Employment of special litigation counsel. The tentative ruling is to conditionally approve employment of special litigation counsel for the reasons stated at the preliminary hearing on 1/8/16 and in the application (dkt. 26) and debtor's supplemental disclosures (dkt. 44). The condition is that no order approving such employment should be lodged until after the period for responses to such application or to this court's disclosures has expired (on 1/29/16), and of course if any such response is filed then this court will consider such responses (at a hearing as set forth below).

The potential for alter ego claims does not appear to create any cognizable conflict, at least at this stage of the litigation. Although it could be argued that there would be a conflict because any recovery that Mr. Britton could obtain from Mr. Riggs would decrease his claim against the debtor, and therefore theoretically benefit the debtor, it seems more likely at this stage that both Mr. Riggs and the debtor have a unified interest in contesting any asserted grounds for alter ego liability (i) so as to assure that Mr. Riggs devotes his energies to the debtor's future success and ability to pay its creditors, and (ii) so as to attempt to assure that there is a level playing field among the debtor's creditors (which, arguably, there would not be if one creditor - Mr. Britton - could pursue alter ego recoveries before other creditors could seek to do the same).

Of course, counsel for the debtor (both general and special counsel) and Mr. Riggs himself will need to monitor the situation continually. If a conflict or potential conflict does develop, they will need to file appropriate disclosures and/or seek a supplemental ruling from this court regarding the terms of any continued employment of special counsel.

(d) Tentative hearing. If any response is filed to either the employment application or this court's disclosures, then a hearing will take place on 2/2/16 at 2:00 p.m. to address those things. If there is any such response, the debtor must notify chambers so that the matter may be added to this court's calendar for that day.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 12/1/15.

(a) Bar date: Bar date: 2/8/16 (timely served, dkt. 19 & 25).

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: file by 7/1/16 using the forms required by Judge Bason (DO NOT SERVE yet, except on the U.S. Trustee - the court will set a deadline and procedures at a later time).

*Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

If you do not appear, and the matter is not adequately resolved by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 1/19/16:

This court anticipates posting a tentative ruling at a later time.

Tentative Ruling for 1/5/16:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor and by the principal of the debtor.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Affiliated businesses. The debtor's status report (dkt. 20, p.8:17-9:3) requests that the debtor be excused from providing financial information concerning affiliates in both the status report and monthly operating reports. The tentative ruling is to grant that request.

(b) Service of status report. This court's form status report must be served on, inter alia, all of the debtor's secured creditors and the top 20 largest general unsecured creditors. It appears that there are no secured creditors, but that unsecured creditors were not served (see dkt. 20, p. 10). The tentative ruling is to direct the debtor, no later than 1/6/16, to serve all parties in interest with a copy of the status report and this tentative ruling, and then parties in interest may, if they choose, raise any appropriate issues at future status conferences.

Docket 4

Tentative Ruling:

Grant the motion (docket no.4) on an interim basis, subject to the conditions set forth below and any opposition at the hearing, with a final hearing on 2/26/19 at 1:00 p.m., and a deadline of 2/1/19 for the movant to file and serve a notice of the final hearing. Appearances required.

Judge Bason's standard conditions for use of cash collateral and/or postpetition financing (by creditors holding prepetition claims)

(1) Written order

(a) Form. Use local form

F2081-1.1.ORDER.CASH.COLLATERAL or the equivalent. Attach a copy of this tentative ruling as an exhibit, thereby adopting it as the written ruling of this Court. Do not repeat the terms set forth in the motion or any stipulation. Incorporate those terms by reference (including the docket number of the document), subject to any modification by this Court.

(b) Timing. Lodge the proposed order within 7 days after the hearing. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(2) Minimum adequate protection

In addition to the postpetition security interests that are automatically provided pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 552 (e.g., in traceable proceeds and profits), and subject to any more comprehensive protection that may be included in the motion or related papers, Debtor shall provide at least the following protection to any creditor with a security interest in the subject property (pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 361-364, as applicable):

(a) Insurance. For all collateral of a type that typically is insured (e.g., real property and improvements), Debtor is directed to maintain insurance in a dollar amount at least equal to Debtor's good faith estimate of the value of such creditor's interest in the collateral, and such insurance shall name such creditor as an additional insured. Debtor is directed to remain current on payments for such insurance.

(b) Taxes. Debtor is directed to remain current on payments on account of postpetition real estate taxes (to the extent that real estate is part of the collateral).

(c) Disclosures/access. Debtor is directed to provide, upon such creditor's reasonable request, periodic accountings of the foregoing insurance and tax obligations and payments, as well as postpetition proceeds, products, offspring, or profits from the collateral, including gross revenues and expenses and a calculation of net revenues, including any rents and any fees, charges, accounts, or other payments for the use or occupancy of rooms and other public facilities in lodging properties (as all of the foregoing terms are used in 11 U.S.C. 552). Debtor is directed to provide appropriate documentation of those accountings, and access for purposes of inspection or appraisal.

(3) Limitation on postpetition liens

In the event that the motion or related papers seek authority to grant postpetition liens to the creditor(s) with respect to prepetition debts any such liens shall be limited to the same validity, priority, and amount as prepetition liens. As used herein, the "validity, priority, and amount" or any similar phrase that may be used by the parties or this Court is deemed to include the following:

(a) Extent. Such liens shall be limited to the type of collateral in which the creditor held a security interest as of the petition date, unless this order expressly states that the liens granted by this order are intended to attach to different types of collateral from the prepetition collateral. For example, if prepetition liens extended to inventory and accounts receivable but not equipment then postpetition liens are likewise limited (unless otherwise expressly provided by order of this Court). In addition, postpetition liens shall not extend to the proceeds of any avoidance actions, any recoveries under 11 U.S.C. 506(c), or any "carveout" under 11 U.S.C. 552.

(b) Priority. Such liens shall be limited to the same priority as the security interest held by the creditor as of the petition date.

(c) Dollar amount. Such liens shall be limited to the dollar amount needed to protect the creditor against diminution in the value of the secured claims as of the petition date.

(d) Enforceability. Such liens shall be limited to the extent that the creditor's security interests were duly perfected and valid as of the petition date, and to the extent that they are unavoidable.

(e) Automatic postpetition perfection. Any automatic perfection of such liens shall be subject to any applicable limitations regarding the Court's authority, jurisdiction, or due process.

(4) Automatic disapproval of insufficiently disclosed provisions

Any provision of the type listed in FRBP 4001(c)(1)(B) or in local form F4001-2 (e.g., cross-collateralization) or any waiver of the "equities of the case" exception in 11 U.S.C. 552(b)(2) shall be deemed automatically disapproved and excepted from any order granting the motion, notwithstanding any other provision of such order, unless either: (a) such provision is specifically and prominently disclosed in the motion papers in a checklist (such as local form F4001-2), or alternatively (b) such provision is specifically identified in any proposed order granting the motion, using terminology of the type used in FRBP 4001(c)(1)(B) or local form F4001-2 (e.g., any "cross-collateralization" that is not specifically identified as such is deemed to be disapproved).

(5) Disputes

In the event of any disputes regarding the rulings in this order, the parties are directed to meet and confer and, if they cannot resolve their disputes consensually, contact Judge Bason's chambers to arrange a mutually convenient time for either a telephonic or in-person hearing to address such disputes.

Tentative Ruling:

Grant as provided below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

Termination

Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1).

To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Effective date of relief

Deny the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a)(3) for lack of sufficient cause shown, and for the reasons stated in the debtor's opposition (dkt. 57).

Co-debtor stay

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) has not been shown to have any basis for any different treatment from the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a), so the tentative ruling is to grant the identical relief regarding any co-debtor stay.

Docket 32

Tentative Ruling:

Appearances required. There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address (a) whether the alleged arrears have been brought current and/or (b) whether they will agree to the terms of an adequate protection order (see the debtor's response, dkt. 35).

DEUTSCHE BANK NATIONAL TRUST CO

DEBTOR

Docket 11

Tentative Ruling:

Grant as provided below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this Court's final ruling. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

The automatic stay does not apply

This case has been dismissed, which terminates the automatic stay. See 11 U.S.C. 349(b)(3) & 362(c).

In the alternative and in addition, this court grants relief from the automatic stay as follows.

Termination

Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (d)(4).

To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Relief notwithstanding future bankruptcy cases.

Grant the following relief pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(4) and the legal analysis in In re Vazquez, 580 B.R. 526 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2017), and/or In re Choong (case no. 2:14-bk-28378-NB, docket no. 31), as applicable:

laws governing notices of interests or liens in the property at issue, then no automatic stay shall apply to such property in any bankruptcy case purporting to affect such property and filed within two years after the date of entry of this order, unless otherwise ordered by the court presiding over that bankruptcy case.

For the avoidance of doubt, any acts by the movant to obtain exclusive possession of such property shall not be stayed, including any eviction actions, through and including any lockout or other enforcement by the Sheriff or other authorized legal authority.

Note: Per Judge Bason's posted procedures (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) this Court's order will state that the Court "does not make" a finding that Debtor was involved in the "scheme" referenced in section 362(d)(4), unless there is sufficient evidence that Debtor was involved and Debtor is given clear notice that the movant seeks an express finding that Debtor was involved. The tentative ruling in this particular case is that there is not sufficient evidence and notice.

No prejudice to Debtor intended. Based on the record, it appears that this is a "hijacked" case, and that Debtor is innocent of any involvement. See e.g., In re Vazquez, 580 B.R. 526 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2017) (describing hijacking); In re Dorsey, 476 B.R. 261 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2012) (same). Accordingly, the tentative ruling is to condition any relief from the automatic stay on this Court's determination that this motion shall not result in the application of sections 109(g)(2) and 362(b)(21)(A) to Debtor or any property other than the property that is the subject of this motion for relief from the automatic stay, and that by not contesting this tentative ruling the movant has waived and forfeited any contrary argument. See In re Leafly, 489 B.R. 545, 550-51 (9th Cir. BAP 2012); In re Mendez, 367 B.R. 109, 116-17 (9th Cir. BAP 2007); In re Luna, 122 B.R. 575, 577 (9th Cir. BAP 1991); Dorsey, 476 B.R. 261, 270.

Effective date of relief

Grant the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a)(3).

Co-debtor stay

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) has not been shown to have any basis for any different treatment from the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a), so the tentative ruling is to grant the identical relief regarding any co-debtor stay.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this Court's final ruling. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

There is no stay

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(b)(22) & (l) there is no stay.

Alternatively, there is no stay because the movant obtained a prepetition eviction judgment and writ of possession. See In re Perl, 811 F.3d 1120, 1127-28 (9th Cir. 2016) ("We conclude that under California law, entry of judgment and a writ of possession following unlawful detainer proceedings extinguishes all other legal and equitable possessory interests in the real property at issue.").

Termination

Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (d)(2).

To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Retroactive relief

Grant the request for retroactive annulment of the stay. See In re Fjeldsted, 293 B.R. 12 (9th Cir. BAP 2003).

Relief notwithstanding future bankruptcy cases.

Grant the following relief pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(4) and the legal analysis in In re Vazquez, 580 B.R. 526 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2017), and/or In re Choong (case no. 2:14-bk-28378-NB, docket no. 31), as applicable:

If this order is duly recorded in compliance with applicable State laws governing notices of interests or liens in the property at issue, then no automatic stay shall apply to such property in any bankruptcy case purporting to affect such property and filed within two years after the date of entry of this order, unless otherwise ordered by the court presiding over that bankruptcy case.

For the avoidance of doubt, any acts by the movant to obtain exclusive possession of such property shall not be stayed, including any eviction actions, through and including any lockout or other enforcement by the Sheriff or other authorized legal authority.

Note: Per Judge Bason's posted procedures (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) this Court's order will state that the Court "does not make" a finding that Debtor was involved in the "scheme" referenced in section 362(d)(4), unless there is sufficient evidence that Debtor was involved and Debtor is given clear notice that the movant seeks an express finding that Debtor was involved. The tentative ruling in this particular case is that there is sufficient evidence and notice.

Effective date of relief

Grant the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a)(3).

Co-debtor stay

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) has not been shown to have any basis for any different treatment from the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a), so the tentative ruling is to grant the identical relief regarding any co-debtor stay.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." #18.00 Hrg re: Motion in Individual Case for Order
Imposing a Stay or Continuing the Automatic

Docket 9

Tentative Ruling:

Revised Tentative Ruling for 2/5/19:

Grant, subject to the following conditions, including a separate adequate protection order ("APO") with a relatively brief period to sell the subejct property and "in rem" relief, all as set forth below. Appearances required.

Key documents reviewed (other than the motion papers): opposition (dkt. 15), reply (dkt. 20), chapter 13 plan (dkt. 13), bankruptcy Schedules D, I&J (dkt. 12 at PDF pp. 13 & 31-34); and prior case (Case No. 18-20940), chapter 13 plan (id., dkt. 12), objections thereto (id., dkt. 19, 22, 24, 25, 29), bankruptcy Schedules D, I&J (id., dkt. 10 at PDF pp.13 & 27-28 and dkt. 15), and this Court's own records of the hearings in the prior case.

Note: Some of the documents listed above may be duplicative (because the same document may be contained both in exhibits and as original documents), but the point is to highlight key documents. In addition, the inclusion of the most important documents should be construed to mean that other documents were not reviewed.

(1) Analysis

(a) Legal standards

There is a presumption that this bankruptcy case was not filed in good faith, due to (i) Debtor's failure to "perform the terms of a plan confirmed by the court" in their prior bankruptcy and (ii) Debtor's failure to demonstrate that there has been a "substantial change in the financial or personal affairs of the debtor since the dismissal of the next most previous case" (as noted below, Debtor alleges a change in his contributor, but evidence is lacking). 11 U.S.C. 362(c)(3)(C)(i)(II)(cc) & (III). Debtor has the burden to rebut that presumption by "clear and convincing" evidence. 11 U.S.C. 362(c)(3)(C).

Chapter 13

In determining whether a bankruptcy case has been filed in good faith, courts must consider the totality of the circumstances. See In re Montoya, 342 B.R. 312, 317 (Bankr. S.D. Cal. 2006). The factors to be considered include (but are not limited to): "1) whether debtor misrepresented facts in the petition or the plan, unfairly manipulated the Code or otherwise filed the current chapter 13 plan or petition in an inequitable manner; 2) debtor's history of filings and dismissals; 3) whether debtor only intended to defeat state court litigation; and 4) whether egregious behavior is present." Montoya, 342 B.R. at 317 (citing In re Leavitt, 171 F.3d 1219, 1224 (9th Cir. 1999)).

The tentative ruling is that in interpreting and applying section 362(c)(3) (continuation of automatic stay) this Court should be informed by the interpretation and application of section 362(d) (relief from automatic stay). For example, the tentative ruling is that proceedings under both subsections (c) and (d) are intended to be "summary proceedings" rather a full trial. Among other things, a full trial at the inception of the case would defeat the purpose of the "breathing spell" that is one of the purposes of the automatic stay, and that would harm both debtors and creditors. Cf. In re Veal, 450 B.R. 897, 914 (9th Cir. BAP 2011) (citing authority that hearings under section 362(d) are "summary" proceedings); In re Robbins, 310 B.R. 626, 631 (9th Cir. BAP 2004) ("relief from stay hearings are limited in scope ... do not involve a full adjudication on the merits ..." and adjudicate claims only to the extent of determining "whether a creditor has a colorable claim") (citations omitted).

Similarly, because of the expedited time frame under section 362(c)(3), the limited issues to be decided, and the fact that the merits of any underlying disputes are not fully adjudicated, the tentative ruling is that any determination of "good faith" for purposes of section 362(c)(3) has very limited if any claim or issue preclusive effect, and that any party opposing the good faith determination need only show a "colorable" basis to establish that it has standing and is the real party in interest. Cf. Veal, 450 B.R. 897, 914-15 ("stay relief litigation has very limited claim preclusion effect" and "[g]iven the limited nature of the relief obtained through a motion for relief from the stay, the expedited hearing schedule § 362(e) provides, and because final adjudication of the parties' rights and liabilities is yet to occur, ... a party seeking stay relief need only establish that it has a colorable claim to enforce a right against property of the estate.") (citations omitted); and see generally In re M Capital Corp., 290 B.R. 743 (9th Cir. BAP 2003) (limitations on "good faith" findings when all facts and circumstances might not be established, in analogous context of 11 U.S.C. 363(m)).

To be clear, the tests under subsections (c) and (d) are not the same. For example, if a debtor proposes a plausible attempt to provide adequate protection, or a plausible outline of a possible financial reorganization, that may go a long way toward establishing "good faith" under subsection (c), even if the proposed protection of the creditor's interest turns out not to be "adequate" (11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1)) or if the debtor ultimately is unable to show that property is necessary to an "effective" reorganization (section 362(d)(2)(B)). The point is only that there are parallels in the analysis under subsections (c) and (d) of section 362, and the tentative ruling is that each informs the other.

(b) Evidence for and against good faith

On the one hand, Debtor has not provided sufficient evidence to support his projected monthly income: (i) he has failed to file any contribution declaration from the latest alleged contributor (his uncle, who allegedly will be more reliable than the contributor in Debtor's last case), and (ii) he has failed to support the alleged monthly income from his business, contrary to the instructions in line 8a of bankruptcy Schedule I to "[a]ttach a statement for each ... business showing gross receipts, ordinary and necessary business expenses, and the total monthly net income." Dkt. 12 at PDF p.31.

In addition, Debtor's latest evidence of any substantial equity cushion is thin: he relies on valuations listed on websites, which have not been shown to be admissible evidence. He also admits that those valuations are in excess of his own prior valuations (in his bankruptcy schedules). Based on those lower valuations (as to which Debtor is competent to opine, as the owner of the property), it appears that there is only a small equity cushion: approximately 6.5%.

On the other hand, some of the most important issues in assessing good faith are (i) whether Debtor's proposed prosecution of this case appears to be a genuine attempt to propose a feasible plan within a reasonable time (to pay his creditors the non-exempt value of his assets and disposable income), and (ii) whether Debtor meanwhile can provide adequate protection against diminution of whatever ends up being the allowed amount of the creditor's secured claim. The tentative ruling is that Debtor has adequately addressed these issues and presented clear and convincing evidence of good faith by the combination of (w) his proposal to sell the property within a relatively short time (perhaps no longer than what it would take the creditor himself to foreclose and sell the property), (x) the equity cushion (which is too thin to be sufficient on its own, but can be combined with payments in cash to provide adequate protection against a diminution in the value of the interests held by the creditor as of the petition date), (y) Debtor's proposal to make payments of $7500 per month under the Plan (dkt. 13, p.3), a substantial portion of which will be paid to the objecting creditor, and (z) the APO contemplated by this tentative ruling, which will grant the creditor relief from the automatic stay if Debtor fails to live up to these commitments to sell the property within a relatively short time and meanwhile make those $7,500 per month plan payments. In addition, Debtor has adequately explained the alleged inconsistencies in his prior case (and the objecting creditor itself is in no position to throw stones about inconsistency: it has been all over the map in its on allegations of what interest rate it is asserting).

(2) Tentative relief

The tentative ruling is to issue two orders: (a) an APO prepared and lodged by the creditor (which this Court will modify to add "in rem" language) and (b) an order continuing the automatic stay (which this Court will prepare).

(a) APO with "in rem" relief

Secured creditor must lodge the APO, which includes the following provisions, and this Court will amend such APO to add the in rem language.

Debtor has a relatively short time to sell the subject property: the lesser of (i) 5 months after entry of a confirmation order and (ii) 7 months from the date of this hearing - i.e., by 9/10/19. Debtor must stay current on plan payments. Should Debtor default on those payments, there will be a 14 day period to cure, but no notice of default is required (because the due date for plan payments is established by the LBR, and an independent third party keeps track of what payments are or are not made - namely the Chapter 13 Trustee). If Debtor has not cured any missed plan payment within that 14 day period, the objecting creditor may file a declaration regarding lack of payment and lodge a proposed order terminating the automatic stay (as to that creditor). Debtor will have a maximum of 3 chances to fall behind and cure. In addition, no future bankruptcy case will affect this property ("in rem" relief) (as noted above, this Court will add that provision).

(b) Continuation of automatic stay

After the hearing date this Court will prepare the section 362(c)(3) order and the tentative ruling is to include the following language in that order:

The stay of 11 U.S.C. 362(a) applies subject to the following modifications and conditions:

(i) Service and reconsideration. Any party in interest who was not timely served in accordance with FRBP 7004 (incorporated by FRBP 9014(b)) is hereby granted through 14 days after proper service to seek reconsideration, including retroactive relief (under FRBP 9023 and/or 9024). Any such person (A) may set a hearing on 14 days' notice, (B) may appear by telephone (if arrangements are made per Judge Bason's posted procedures), and (C) may present all arguments orally at the hearing (i.e., no written argument is required). If written arguments appear necessary then this court will set a briefing schedule at the hearing.

(ii) Reasons. (A) It appears appropriate to impose the automatic stay, and to impose it as to all persons rather than just as to selected persons, because one purpose of the automatic stay is to preventing a "race to collect" that could unfairly advantage some creditors at the expense of others. (B) To prevent possible abuse, this Court provides the foregoing simple process for reconsideration.

Relief notwithstanding future bankruptcy cases.

Grant the following relief pursuant to the legal analysis in In re Vazquez, 580 B.R. 526 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2017) ("in rem" relief can be granted outside of 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(4)):

If this order is duly recorded in compliance with applicable State laws governing notices of interests or liens in the property at issue, then no automatic stay shall apply to such property in any bankruptcy case purporting to affect such property and filed within two years after the date of entry of this order, unless otherwise ordered by the court presiding over that bankruptcy case.

For the avoidance of doubt, any acts by the movant to obtain exclusive possession of such property shall not be stayed, including any eviction actions, through and including any lockout or other enforcement by the Sheriff or other authorized legal authority.

Effective date of relief

Grant the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a)(3).

Co-debtor stay

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) has not been shown to have any basis for any different treatment from the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a), so the tentative ruling is to grant the identical relief regarding any co-debtor stay.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." Docket 42

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 2/5/19:

Appearances are not required. The tentative ruling, based on Debtor's latest papers (dkt. 61) and the other filed documents in this case, is to issue an adequate protection order ("APO") providing for an 18 month cure period, with a 7 day notice if the debtor falls behind, and up to 3 opportunities to cure after falling behind. The emphasized language in the immediately preceding sentence is based on balancing (1) on the one hand, the added exposure of Wells Fargo Bank, N.A. ("Wells Fargo") due to the fact that the arrears grew substantially during the periods in which Debtor was participating in the LMM program, and (2) on the other hand, the adequate protection offered by (a) Debtor's increased income, (b) Debtor's demonstrated good faith and performance reflected in paying the (admittedly lower) dollar amounts required by the LMM program and by Debtor's progress in this case to date, and (c) the shorter period (7 days) in which Debtor can cure any further defaults (as compared with the more usual 10 or 14 day period).

Deny, without prejudice to any other types of relief granted herein (or previously granted), for the following reasons.

The motion requests requests "in rem" relief (i.e., relief applicable notwithstanding future bankruptcy cases (under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(4) and/or In re Vazquez, 580 B.R. 526 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2017), and/or In re Choong (case no. 2:14-bk-28378-NB, docket no. 31)). The tentative ruling is to deny that request because there is insufficient evidence on the record to convince this Court that Debtor is involved in a scheme to delay, hinder, or defraud the Movant as is required under section 362(d)(4) or the other authorities cited above.

Effective date of relief

Deny the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a)(3) for lack of sufficient cause shown.

#2.00 Status conference re: Removal

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Appearances required. This Court has reviewed the parties' joint status report (dkt. 9) and the other filed documents and records in this adversary proceeding. Based on those documents it appears that both the plaintiff (Poser Investments, Inc., "Poser") and the Debtor-defendants agree that the four properties at issue either were never properly transferred or have been returned to Debtors, and either way they are now part of the bankruptcy estate. The principal remaining issues appear to be:

- (1) Will the other defendants contest that issue?
- (2) Does this Bankruptcy Court require jurisdiction over those other defendants (so as to enter a judgment against them, or at least against the interests that they previously asserted against the four properties), and if such jurisdiction is required, is such jurisdiction established by their appearance in the removed State Court action, or do they consent to in personam jurisdiction?
- (3) Does the underlying default judgment obtained by Poser's predecessor in interest against Debtors have a preclusive effect against the Debtor-defendants?
- (4) Does Poser have allowable secured claims against the four properties based on the lis pendens and abstracts of judgment?

The parties are directed to address whether there are different principal issues that this Court has not identified. In addition, the parties are directed to address why it would be necessary to have further discovery (in addition to what has already been conducted in the State Court) to address these issues. These appear likely to be resolved based on an application of the law to the undisputed facts, after briefing - e.g., motion(s) for summary judgment.

Meanwhile, it appears appropriate to order mandatory mediation, as set

Chapter 11

The following are Judge Bason's standard requirements for status conferences. (To the extent that the parties have already addressed these issues in their status report, they need not repeat their positions at the status conference.)

(1) Venue/jurisdiction/authority.

The parties are directed to address any outstanding matters of (a) venue, (b) jurisdiction, (c) this Bankruptcy Court's authority to enter final orders or judgment(s) in this proceeding and, if consent is required, whether the parties do consent, or have already expressly or impliedly consented. See generally Stern v. Marshall, 131 S.Ct. 2594, 2608 (2011) (if litigant "believed that the Bankruptcy Court lacked the authority to decide his claim...then he should have said so – and said so promptly."); Wellness Int'l Network, Ltd. v. Sharif, 135 S.Ct. 1932 (2015) (consent must be knowing and voluntary but need not be express); In re Bellingham Ins. Agency, Inc., 702 F.3d 553 (9th Cir. 2012) (implied consent), aff'd on other grounds, 134 S. Ct. 2165 (2014); In re Pringle, 495 B.R. 447 (9th Cir. BAP 2013) (rebuttable presumption that failure to challenge authority to issue final order is intentional and indicates consent); In re Deitz, 760 F.3d 1028 (9th Cir. 2014) (authority to adjudicate nondischargeability encompasses authority to liquidate debt and enter final judgment). See generally In re AWTR Liquidation, Inc., 548 B.R. 300 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2016).

(2) Mediation. Is there is any reason why this Court should not order the parties to mediation before one of the volunteer mediators (not a Bankruptcy Judge), and meanwhile set the deadlines set forth below? The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 2/19/19 for the parties to lodge a proposed mediation order (the parties are directed to use the time between now and that deadline to find a mutually agreeable mediator whose schedule can accommodate the needs of this matter; and if the parties cannot even agree on a mediator they may lodge separate orders and Judge Bason will chose among them, or issue his own order).

(3) Deadlines: This adversary proceeding has been pending since 12/10/18. The tentative ruling is not to set any deadlines (e.g., for cutoff of discovery) at this

Appearances required, but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

At the hearing on 10/9/18, Defendants did not appear, and this Court was persuaded to take a flexible approach to whether Plaintiff would pursue default judgments, or mediation, or other avenues. The docket does not reflect any activity since that time. Should this status conference be continued? Should this adversary proceeding be dismissed for lack of prosecution?

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 10/9/18:

Appearances required, but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address why neither party has lodged a mediation order (via this Court's "LOU" program) as required by the adopted tentative ruling for 9/4/18. Cf. adv. dkt. 7 (belated request for mediation).

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 9/4/18:

Appearances required. The court has reviewed the filed documents and records in this adversary proceeding. The following are Judge Bason's standard requirements for status conferences. (To the extent that the parties have already addressed these issues in their status report, they need not repeat their positions at the status conference.)

(1) Venue/jurisdiction/authority. The parties are directed to address any outstanding matters of (a) venue, (b) jurisdiction, (c) this court's authority to enter final orders or judgment(s) in this proceeding and, if consent is required, whether the parties do consent, or have already expressly or impliedly consented. See generally Stern v. Marshall, 131 S.Ct. 2594, 2608 (2011) (if litigant "believed that the Bankruptcy Court lacked the authority to decide his claim...then he should have said so – and said so promptly."); Wellness Int'l Network, Ltd. v. Sharif, 135 S.Ct. 1932 (2015) (consent must be knowing and voluntary but need not be express); In re Bellingham Ins. Agency, Inc., 702 F.3d 553 (9th Cir. 2012) (implied consent), aff'd on other grounds, 134 S. Ct. 2165 (2014); In re Pringle, 495 B.R. 447 (9th Cir. BAP 2013) (rebuttable presumption that failure to challenge authority to issue final order is intentional and indicates consent); In re Deitz, 760 F.3d 1028 (9th Cir. 2014) (authority to adjudicate nondischargeability encompasses authority to liquidate debt and enter final judgment). See generally In re AWTR Liquidation, Inc., 548 B.R. 300 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2016).

(2) Mediation. Is there is any reason why this court should not order the parties to mediation before one of the volunteer mediators (not a Bankruptcy Judge), and meanwhile set the deadlines set forth below? The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 9/10/18 for the parties to lodge a proposed mediation order (the parties are directed to use the time between now and that deadline to find a mutually agreeable mediator whose schedule can accommodate the needs of this matter; and if the parties cannot even agree on a mediator they may lodge separate orders and Judge Bason will chose among them, or issue his own order).

(3) Deadlines: This adversary proceeding has been pending since 6/22/18. Pursuant to LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B), plaintiff is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the status conference, attaching a copy of this tentative ruling or otherwise memorializing the following.

Chapter 11

#2.00 Status Conference re: Chapter 11 Case

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor and by the debtor(s) themselves.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Missing status report. Debtor is directed to explain why a Case Status Report was not filed, as required by this Court's order setting this status conference (dkt. 5).

(b) Missing "first day" motions. Debtor has failed to file a budget motion (required by Judge Bason's posted procedures, available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov). Debtor also has not filed any other typical "first day" motions (e.g., a utility motion).

(c) Negative, and inadequately supported, monthly income. Debtor appears to have a new job as a real estate broker, but even with that new (alleged) income and supplemental income as a Lyft driver he shows negative cash flow. See Bankruptcy Schedules I & J (dkt. 1 at PDF pp. 43-46).

Debtor appears to have two properties, but does not list any leases or any income from a rental property: why not?

Debtor has stated under penalty of perjury that he does not expect any changes to income or expenses (see bankruptcy Schedule I, item 13, and Schedule J, item 24). How can Debtor hope to reorganize with negative cash flow?

In addition, the (sparse) income that is reported is inadequately supported. Debtor has ignored the instructions on bankruptcy Schedule I, line 8a, to "[a]ttach a statement for each property and business showing gross receipts, ordinary and necessary business expenses, and the total monthly net income."

(c) Dismissal? Should this Court dismiss this case? Does the foregoing constitute a "willful failure to appear in proper prosecution" of this case, and/or a "willful" failure to comply with this Court's order setting this status conference, either of which would support dismissal with a bar under 11 U.S.C. 109(g)(1)?

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 1/8/19. If this case is not dismissed, the tentative ruling is to set the following deadlines/dates:

- (a) Bar date: 4/16/19 (DO NOT SERVE notice yet - court will prepare an order after the status conference).
- (b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: TBD
- (c) Continued status conference: 3/5/19 at 1:00 p.m., brief status report due 2/26/19.

*Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 2/5/19:

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues

(a) Finances (MOR #3, Dec. 2018, dkt. 71; Decl. dkt. 75)

Debtor's recently reported finances are dismal, as noted in the tentative ruling for 1/8/19. It appears that Debtor's occupancy rate is less than half of what was projected (which is itself less than half of available rooms), and that Debtor is failing to pay some franchise fees, utilities, housekeeping expenses, and other items.

Debtor blames outages in its online booking services, but as noted in the limited opposition to extending exclusivity (dkt. 78) filed by First Choice Bank, Debtor's behavior in the face of problems with online booking is puzzling. Why did Debtor not proactively contact the online booking agencies around the time it filed its bankruptcy petition? Why did Debtor not monitor its own finances sufficiently to realize that those agencies had not been paid? Debtor asserts that it was given no advance notice, but that seems highly unusual, so where is evidence of the telephone calls, emails, and letters immediately reacting, objecting to being cut off with no prior notice, and offering immediate payment of any missed bills? This Court takes judicial notice that the booking agencies are large enough to be familiar names, and presumably they have experienced hotel bankruptcies before, so what reasons did they give for their alleged lack of notice and over-reaction? As the bank suggests, the outages in booking were long enough that one would expect Debtor to have made repeated and considerable efforts to resolve the situation, possibly including meetings in person, but there is no evidence of that.

All of the foregoing suggests "gross mismanagement" of the estate, which is one possible basis to dismiss or convert this case. 11 U.S.C. 1112(b)(4)(B). The facts recited above also appear to constitute a "substantial" loss or diminution of the estate, and calls into question whether there is a "reasonable likelihood of rehabilitation." 11 U.S.C. 1112(b)(4)(A). In addition, these facts call into question whether Debtor will be able to meet the feasibility test for any proposed plan. 11 U.S.C. 1129(a)(11).

The parties are directed to address whether this case should be dismissed or converted.

(b) Alleged infusions

There have been promises during this case that cash infusions would be made by Debtor's principal, Rhonda Chung. The Status Report (dkt. 79, p.4:8-21) alludes to some, but the precise dollars amounts are generally unclear, as are the dates, and precisely how those dollars been used. The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 2/12/19 (if this case is not dismissed) for Ms. Chung to file a declaration, with attached evidence, addressing each of these things.

(c) Employment of bankruptcy counsel (dkt. 47, 51, 56, 67, 68, 71)

Have the objections of the United States Trustee (dkt. 51) been resolved?

(c) Motion to Extend Exclusivity Periods (dkt. 73)

(Rhonda Chung decl, para. 7). Would these funds be a loan or a gift? Is Rhonda Chung financially able to provide such a sum?

(b) Creditor First Choice Bank reporting requests: In its opposition to the cash collatera motion, First Choice Bank requests that Debtor be required to provide additional reporting to insure cash collateral is not misued (dkt. 58). Does Debtor object to any of these recommendations? If so, on what grounds?

(c) Order on cash collateral. Debtor is directed to lodge a proposed final order approving the use of cash collateral, incorporating the terms of the interim order plus any additional requirements as noted above, via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

each person who is proposed to be paid (dkt. 7, Ex.6), whether any of them are "insiders" (11 U.S.C. 101(31)), and how they will be paid if the checks do not clear and other sources of revenue do not come through. Subject to adequately addressing those issues, and (1) confirming notice per this Court's order shortening time (dkt. 10), (2) addressing this Court's concerns in that order, and (3) any objections at the hearing, the tentative ruling is to grant this motion.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this court's final ruling. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(b) Cash collateral motion (dkt.4). The tentative ruling is to grant this motion, subject to the caveats set forth in the tentative ruling for calendar no. 2 (10/17/18 at 9:00 a.m.).

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 2/5/19:

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues.

(a) Finances (MOR#6, Dec. 2018, dkt. 72)

Debtor reports having lost money during this month and having missed 3 payments amounting to $3,510 to FCI Lender (but see APO, dkt. 70), 3 payments amounting to $5,334.18 to Rushmore Loan Mgmt (dkt.72, p.7), and quarterly UST fees of $325 (id., p.9). Debtor also reports that vehicle insurance was only $25,000 (does that comply with legal requirements?) and expired on 12/22/18. Id., p.7.

What caused these losses and missed payments? How can Debtor afford to continue in this chapter 11 bankruptcy case?

(b) Plan (dkt. 74), Disclosure Statement (dkt. 73), and order setting hearing re same (dkt. 63)

The tentative ruling is to reschedule the combined hearing on final approval of the Disclosure Statement and confirmation of the Plan from 3/5/19 to 4/2/19 at 1:00 p.m. for two reasons. First, as noted above, Debtor's finances are problematic, and perhaps additional time will enable Debtor to establish a better track record and meet the feasibility requirement of 11 U.S.C. 1129(a)(11).

Second, contrary to the oral ruling at the last status conference, Debtor did not lodge this Court's form of order (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov, under Judge Bason's portion of the web site) setting a combined hearing, which would have directed Debtor to provide notice to creditors of the 3/5/19 hearing (and associated deadlines) in sufficient time to comply with the applicable rules. (Debtor's counsel apparently misunderstood and lodged a different order that included the 3/5/19 hearing along with other matters, which this Court signed without recognizing the error, dkt. 63.)

The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 2/8/19 for Debtor to lodge the correct form of order and file a revised Disclosure Statement and revised Plan that list the revised 4/2/19 hearing date in the caption, and that include a revised form of ballot (dkt. 74, Appendix "1") that states "The Court has provisionally approved" the Disclosure Statement instead of "The Court has approved" (Emphasis added.)

(1) Current issues. This Court has reviewed the debtor's filed status report (dkt. 17) and the other filed documents in this case.

Grant on an interim basis, with a final hearing concurrent with the continued status conference (see below), and a deadline of 8/21/18 to file declaration(s) regarding the income of the debtor's spouse (see below). Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(b) Debtor's spouse's income. The debtor's bankruptcy Schedule I reports that the debtor's spouse is a self-employed construction contractor, but that the spouse only earns $1,500/mo. in net income. Dkt. 1, at PDF p.32, line 8a. This Court takes judicial notice that there is considerable construction activity in this geographic area. Why is that income not higher?

In addition, there is no attached statement showing gross income, expenses, and the calculation of net income. That is contrary to the instructions for line 8a, and to this Court's order that for reporting purposes any spouse is to be treated as equivalent to the debtor (dkt. 6, para.3).

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 2/5/19:

Continue as set forth below. Appearances are not required on 2/5/19.

(1) Current issues

(a) Application to employ bankruptcy counsel (dkt. 26)

This Court has reviewed the supplemental declarations (dkt. 62, 63, 64), and is satisfied that this Court's concerns from the 1/8/19 hearing have been adequately addressed. The tentative ruling is to approve the Application to employ the law offices of Raymond H. Aver (dkt. 26).

Proposed order: Applicant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(b) Finances and exit strategy

Debtor's latest monthly operating report (dkt. 56, MOR#7 for Dec. 2018) appears to show that Debtor is barely keeping his head above water. At the continued status conference this Court anticipates addressing whether Debtor can propose a viable exit strategy from this bankruptcy case, and when to set a deadline to file (not serve) an initial draft Plan and draft Disclosure Statement.

dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 1/8/19:

Continue as set forth below, so that Debtor's proposed counsel can further supplement the employment application. Appearances are not required on 1/8/19.

(1) Current issues: professionals

Debtor's latest declaration in support of the application to employ the law offices of Raymond H. Aver (dkt. 55) states that Debtor's friend, Mr. Michael Baradarian (the "Funder"), has agreed to pay the retainer and he "may gift all or a portion of the postpetition retainer." Dkt. 55, p.2:13-14 (emphasis added). See also dkt. 26, 32, 49, 55. That is inadequate.

What would the non-gift portion be? A loan (unsecured, presumably)? An investment (some sort of arrangement akin to an equity infusion into a business)? When and how would those things be decided?

The lack of complete disclosure by Debtor and proposed counsel only cause this Court to have additional questions. This Court's concerns, and tentative ruling about what needs to be disclosed, are as follows.

A third party who funds a retainer for the debtor generally has some pre-existing relationship with the debtor, and/or some motivation to providing the funding. Those things increase the likelihood that the Funder could be the recipient of an avoidable preference, or might have alter ego liability, or otherwise might have interests that are adverse to (or at least not fully aligned with) the bankruptcy estate or creditors. For these reasons, although payment of a retainer by a third party is not outright prohibited, it is fraught with ethical concerns. At the hearing, proposed counsel should be prepared to address the following.

(a) Connections. What are all of the connections between the Funder, on the one hand, and the debtor's proposed counsel or any of the other types of persons listed in FRBP 2014, on the other hand -- e.g., have there been any economic or business or personal connections between the Funder and proposed counsel, or the debtor, or any creditor or other party in interest, or their respective attorneys or accountants?

(b) Terms. What are the precise agreements, understandings or expectations regarding the funds -- e.g., are the funds a loan, a gift, an investment, or something else?

(c) Informed consent of funder. Has the Funder been advised regarding actual and potential conflicts of interest, and that the sole attorney-client relationship and duty of loyalty is with the debtor, not the Funder? Who provided such advice: independent counsel, or the debtor's proposed counsel? Has the Funder given informed consent? Are those things in writing?

(d) Informed consent of debtor. Has the debtor likewise been fully advised and given informed consent? Who provided such advice? Are these things in writing?

(e) Other considerations. Has proposed counsel demonstrated or represented to the Court the absence of an actual or potential conflict, a lack of disinterestedness, or any other basis for disqualification? See In re Kelton Motors, Inc., 109 B.R. 641 (Bankr. D. Vt. 1989); In re Hathaway Ranch Partnership, 116 B.R. 208, 219 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1990); In re Park-Helena Corp., 63 F.3d 877 (9th Cir. 1995).

(f) Deadline. The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 1/22/19 for Debtor to file declarations by (i) Debtor, (ii) the Funder, and (iii) proposed counsel addressing all of the foregoing issues.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 6/21/18.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Application to employ Raymond H. Aver (dkt. 26) - The parties should be prepared to discuss whether proposed counsel is disinterested given that they are general counsel to Rabenu Enterprises, LLC (see U.S. Trustee's opposition, dkt. 32, and Debtor's reply, dkt. 47).

(b) Source of funds re retainer agreement - In their opposition, the U.S. Trustee raised the question of what the source of the funds for Debtor's retainer agreement is (dkt. 32). Debtor's reply provides that the source of the funds are "Saeedian's and his spouse's earnings and/or contribution from third parties." (dkt. 47, PDF p. 11). Who is this third party? Would the funds be a gift or a loan?

(b) Income. The debtor's bankruptcy Schedule I (dkt. 18 at PDF pp.19-20) lists a total of $100/mo. in income taxes, medicare and social security. It lists $0 for net income from operating a business (line 8a) despite listing multiple businesses with alleged income: "YB Design, Inc.," "Management of Rabenu Enterprises, LLC," "Babysitting services," and "Cosmetic Sales." It fails to comply with the instructions in line 8a to "Attach a statement for each ... business showing gross receipts, ordinary and necessary business expenses, and the total monthly net income." The debtor appears to be ignoring the requirements to provide disclosure as to his own income and expenses and, under this Court's order (dkt. 9, para.3), to provide equal disclosure with respect to his spouse and their businesses. How can creditors and this Court rely on the accuracy of the bankruptcy schedules and future compliance with orders of this Court in view of such non-compliance?

(c) Deadline for compliance. The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 7/31/18 for the debtor to file amended bankruptcy schedules correcting not only the foregoing deficiencies that this Court has identified but also any other deficiencies that the debtor and his spouse and the debtor's counsel identify after carefully reviewing the documents that the debtor has filed. If in future this Court discovers other non-compliance with the debtor's obligations to provide accurate disclosures and to comply with this Court's orders, this Court may order the dismissal or conversion of this bankruptcy case, or other remedies.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 6/21/18.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

debtor's officers, directors, agents, or employees, including whether any offers of employment or compensation have been made or will be offered to debtor's present or former officers, directors, agents, or employees), (2) consideration: whether any consideration is contemplated or has been transferred by the bidder in connection with the sale to any person other than the bankruptcy estate, and (3) absence of fraud or collusion between the bidder and any relevant persons (e.g., other bidders, the debtor's officers, directors, agents or employees), or any attempt to take unfair advantage of other bidders. See generally In re M Capital Corp., 290 B.R. 743, 748-49 (9th Cir. BAP 2003). As used in this paragraph, a "bidder" includes all known prospective bidders.

The tentative ruling is to require the stalking horse bidder, or any winning overbidder, to file and serve on the Trustee's counsel a declaration complying with the above-quoted procedures (except for the references to the debtor's "officers" and "directors").

(2) IRS' liens

Counsel for the United States of America has consented to a sale free and clear of the IRS' liens in exchange for a payment of $50,000 paid through escrow on the sale transaction closing date. See dkt. 123 at PDF 12, Trustee's declaration. In addition, a delay may cause the proposed sale to fall through or chill the bidding. In addition, this Court takes judicial notice that the federal government has now reopened, so if the IRS wishes to appear and be heard it may do so. Therefore, despite the Notice of Federal Government's Lapse of Appropriations, the tentative ruling is not to continue this hearing and instead to grant the motion.

fr. 01/08/19

JP MORGAN CHASE BANK, NA.
vs
DEBTOR

Docket 39

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 2/5/19:

The tentative ruling is that this motion for relief from the automatic stay is moot because (1) this Court previously granted "in rem" relief (dkt. 52) (preventing any future bankruptcy case from affecting the subject property) and continued this hearing only on the issue of whether to terminate the stay in this case; and (2) the stay in this case has terminated by virtue of dismissal (dkt. 64). Appearances are not required.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 1/8/19:

Grant both motions in part - the motion for relief from the automatic stay regarding the receiver/custodian, and the motion for relief from the automatic stay to proceed with foreclosure and other remedies (dkt. 39 & 41) - and deny them in part, all as set forth below. Appearances required.

Chapter 13

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this Court's final ruling. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(1) Summary

The tentative ruling is to excuse turnover by the receiver under 11 U.S.C. 543, and grant relief under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1)&(4) from the automatic stay (a) for the receiver to continue to manage the property and (b) for the judicial and nonjudicial foreclosure processes to go forward, but (c) with no foreclosure sale for approximately 60 days, to provide Debtor with an opportunity to sell or refinance the property. In addition, the tentative ruling is to make the foregoing relief effective notwithstanding any future bankruptcy case by Debtor or anyone else ("in rem" relief).

(2) Preliminary issues that this Court must raise

Debtor's response to one of the motions (dkt.46) argues that he is not over the debt limits in 11 U.S.C. 109(e) because the subject real property and debt are not his, but instead are those of the LLC of which he is a member. That appears to be so, which adequately responds to one of Movant's issues, but the fact that the real property and debt do not belong to Debtor implicates jurisdictional issues and other matters that this Court must consider sua sponte.

This Court must consider the possibility that if the subject real property and associated debt are those of a third party (the LLC), rather than the property and debt of Debtor and this bankruptcy estate, then arguably (i) the automatic stay does not apply at all (which may have mootness or jurisdictional implications for Movant's request for relief from the stay), or (ii) the real party in interest is the LLC and not Debtor (which may have implications about whether this is an appropriate proceeding in which to grant relief against the LLC). But, having raised these concerns, this Court's tentative ruling is to dismiss them.

Debtor and the LLC cannot have it both ways: (a) they have invoked the automatic stay to stop foreclosure sales; (b) there are substantial arguments that the stay does apply in this case (e.g., under 11 U.S.C. 102(2) and 362(a)(1), (3)&(6)), because any foreclosure would have a very substantial effect on Debtor's own property (his interest in the LLC); (c) there appears to be adequate notice to all parties in interest because Movant has served the motions on Debtor, the LLC, and the other member of the LLC who executed the loan documents; and (d) it appears appropriate to address whether to grant relief from the automatic stay (to the extent it applies in this case) and whether to grant "in rem" relief (to prevent the automatic stay from applying in any future bankruptcy cases by the LLC, Debtor, or any other person). The tentative ruling is that Debtor, the LLC, and its other member who executed the loan documents are all estopped to argue otherwise - in other words, it is appropriate to reach the merits.

(3) Excusing turnover

The receiver has been in place since 9/11/18, and was put in place pursuant to Debtor's stipulation in the State Court. In addition, this Bankruptcy Court takes judicial notice based on numerous prior cases that, once a receiver has had time to take possession of property, the removal of that receiver generally is highly disruptive to tenants, vendors, and others, not to mention expensive, and risky in terms of preserving property value. In addition, Movant has presented evidence of housing violations, which Debtor has not rebutted. For all of these reasons, it appears appropriate to excuse the receiver from turnover under 11 U.S.C. 543.

(4) Cause for relief under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1)&(4)

As just described, it appears that Debtor has had several "bites at the apple," and that in the past he has caused or tolerated inadequate housing conditions. Movant and the receiver now have to either remedy those conditions (and there is no evidence of excess funds that could be used for that purpose, absent advances from Movant), or else run the risk of subjecting tenants to housing that violates applicable laws and regulations, or other adverse consequences. The longer the delay in disposition of the real property, the greater these risks will be.

All of the foregoing is "cause" under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) to modify the stay so as to provide only a limited time in which Debtor can attempt to realize whatever net value the property allegedly has, for the benefit of Debtor and other creditors. There is also evidence of an intent to "hinder" or "delay" Movant, within the meaning of 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(4): namely, the fact that the nonbankruptcy action was brought and that Debtor stipulated to a receiver in that action but then filed his prior bankruptcy case on the eve of foreclosure, and now this current bankruptcy case in which Debtor admittedly seeks to fend off foreclosure for an additional time to sell or refinance.

(5) Relief

Based on the forgoing the tentative ruling is to grant the following relief:

Termination

Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (d)(4); provided that no foreclosure sale shall take place prior to 3/11/19.

To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Relief notwithstanding future bankruptcy cases.

Grant the following relief pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(4) and the legal analysis in In re Vazquez, 580 B.R. 526 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2017), and/or In re Choong (case no. 2:14-bk-28378-NB, docket no. 31), as applicable:

If this order is duly recorded in compliance with applicable State laws governing notices of interests or liens in the property at issue, then no automatic stay shall apply to such property in any bankruptcy case purporting to affect such property and filed within two years after the date of entry of this order, unless otherwise ordered by the court presiding over that bankruptcy case.

For the avoidance of doubt, any acts by the movant to obtain exclusive possession of such property shall not be stayed, including any eviction actions, through and including any lockout or other enforcement by the Sheriff or other authorized legal authority.

Note: Per Judge Bason's posted procedures (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) this Court's order will state that the Court "does not make" a finding that Debtor was involved in the "scheme" referenced in section 362(d)(4), unless there is sufficient evidence that Debtor was involved and Debtor is given clear notice that the movant seeks an express finding that Debtor was involved. The tentative ruling in this particular case is that there is sufficient evidence and notice.

Effective date of relief

Grant the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a)(3).

Co-debtor stay

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) has not been shown to have any basis for any different treatment from the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a), so the tentative ruling is to grant the identical relief regarding any co-debtor stay.

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

Although this case has been dismissed, it is still necessary for completeness of the record for Movant to comply with this Court's oral directions at the last hearing, reiterated in this Court's written order (dkt. 52, Ex.1, p.5, last sentence, in boldface and double-underlined). Specifically, Movant is directed no later than 2/8/19 to lodge a proposed order granting the Motion to Excuse the Custodian From Turnover (dkt. 41).

Tentative Ruling for 8/7/18 (same as for 5/22/18, 2/13/18):

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

There is no tentative ruling, but the trustee should be prepared to address the status of the trustee's investigation into the alleged pre-petition transfer.

Chapter 11

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 12/12/17:

Continue to 2/13/17 at 10:00 a.m. Appearances are not required on 12/12/17.

(1) Reasons for continuance

(a) Insufficient Service

The proof of service filed in support of the motion does not reflect service on the debtor to the attention of the appropriate person(s), in accordance with Rules 4001 and 7004(b)(3) (incorporated by Rule 9014(b), Fed. R. Bankr. P.), and Local Bankruptcy Rule 4001-1(c)(1)(C)(i). Under Judge Bason's posted procedures (at www.cacb.uscourts.gov), he generally does not sua sponte require that specific individuals be named - service can be "Attn: Officer or Managing/General Agent" or a similar phrase - but in the circumstances of this case, in which there are disputes regarding who is or is not authorized to represent the debtor, Judge Bason will direct that service be (i) on the debtor at its address of record "Attn: Philip Layfield, Officer of Record" and also, in a separate envelope, (ii) on the debtor at its address of record "Attn: Any Officer Other Than Philip Layfield."

(b) Chapter 11 Trustee's Request for Extension

This court has reviewed the chapter 11 trustee's reponse (dkt. 152) to the motion, and movant's reply (dkt. 159). Given that this case is an involuntary case and the trustee has not had the benefit of any bankruptcy schedules, any statement of financial affairs, or access to the debtor's principals, this court is not persuaded by movant's argument that the trustee has already had sufficient time to investigate the alleged pre-petition transfer. In addition, the trustee has provided adequate evidence that the equity cushion and the relatively short delay provide adequate protection.

Docket 323

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 2/5/18:

(1) General matters

(a) Combined status conferences in the interrelated bankruptcy cases

This hearing includes Status Conferences in each of two related bankruptcy cases before this Court: (a) In re Layfield & Barrett, APC, Case No. 2:17-bk-19548-NB ("L&B"); (b) In re Layfield, Case No. 2:18-bk-15829-NB ("Lay-Invol."). (A third related bankruptcy case, In re Maximum Legal (Cal.), LLP, Case No. 2:17-bk-18433-NB ("Max-CA"), has been closed (Max-CA dkt. 154), so the status conference in that case was not continued to today.)

(b) Lay-Invol 341(a) Meeting

The parties should be prepared to address appropriate remedies for Mr. Layfield's failure to appear at the meeting of creditors (11 U.S.C. 341(a)) scheduled for 1/22/19.

(c) Christine Layfield Delaware bankruptcy case

The parties should be prepared to address any effects of the chapter 7 bankruptcy case filed by Mr. Layfield's spouse, as reported by the L&B Chapter 11 Trustee (L&B dkt. 401, p.7). To what extent does the trustee of that bankruptcy estate assert interests in these related cases? Are there discussions regarding any stipulations for relief from the automatic stay, coordination regarding venue of any proceedings, and/or coordinating other matters as between the estates?

(2) Matters on Calendar Today

(a) Motion to Sell 2720 Homestead Rd, Unit 200, Park City Utah (L&B dkt. 391)

The parties should be prepared to address the issues raised by Wells Fargo (L&B dkt. 396) and Toll Creek Owners Association, Inc. (L&B dkt. 397), as well as Movant's reply (L&B dkt. 402). In addition, if the objections are resolved or overruled and the sale goes forward (subject to overbids), the tentative ruling is that any "good faith" finding (11 U.S.C. 363(m)) will require a declaration from any successful bidder that complies with the posted Procedures of Judge Bason:

§ 363(m): "Good Faith" Findings. Supporting declaration(s) should address: (1) connections: the bidder's prior, current, or expected connections with any relevant persons (other bidders, the debtor, major creditors or equity security holders in the case, or any of the debtor's officers, directors, agents, or employees, including whether any offers of employment or compensation have been made or will be offered to debtor's present or former officers, directors, agents, or employees), (2) consideration: whether any consideration is contemplated or has been transferred by the bidder in connection with the sale to any person other than the bankruptcy estate, and (3) absence of fraud or collusion between the bidder and any relevant persons (e.g., other bidders, the debtor's officers, directors, agents or employees), or any attempt to take unfair advantage of other bidders. See generally In re M Capital Corp., 290 B.R. 743, 748-49 (9th Cir. BAP 2003). As used in this paragraph, a "bidder" includes all known prospective bidders.

(b) Wells Fargo Relief from Stay Motions (dkt. 143, 144)

The parties should be prepared to address the issues raised in Wells Fargo's status report (L&B dkt. 399) regarding all of the condominium units. The tentative ruling is to continue the Relief from Stay Motions to 3/5/19 at 2:00 p.m., with a deadline of 2/12/19 for the Trustee to provide Wells Fargo an updated written report describing the listing price(s), showings, and offers for Units 210 and 220. The tentative ruling is also to extend the previously entered orders for filing under seal (L&B dkt. 387, 388) to any brief the parties wish to file in connection with the continued hearing.

(c) Wellgen Standard v. Maximum Legal (17-1503) Status Conference

The parties should be prepared to address the status of the purported settlement of this adversary proceeding.

(3) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed as an involuntary chapter 7 on 8/3/17 and converted to chapter 11 on 8/11/17.

Appearances required

(1) General matters

(a) Combined status conferences in the interrelated bankruptcy cases
This hearing includes Status Conferences in each of the three related bankruptcy cases before this Court: (a) In re Layfield & Barrett, APC, Case No. 2:17-bk-19548-NB ("L&B"); (b) In re Layfield, Case No. 2:18-bk-15829-NB ("Lay-Invol."), (c) In re Maximum Legal (Cal.), LLP, Case No. 2:17-bk-18433-NB ("Max-CA").

(2) Matters on Calendar Today

(a) Chapter 7 Trustee's Motion for Order (1) Approving Stipulation Relating to Disbursement of Funds, and (2) Closing Case (Max-CA, dkt. 137)

The tentative ruling is to grant this motion, but the parties should be prepared to address the effect on the pending adversary proceeding entitled Wellgen Standard LLC v. Maximum Legal (California), LLP et al. (L&B Case, No. 2:17-bk-19548-NB; Adv. No. 2:17-ap-01503-NB) (the "Wellgen Adv.P.").

On a related matter, as part of case management in the L&B case, the tentative ruling is to continue the Status Conference currently set in the Wellgen Adv.P. from 1/15/19 at 11:00 a.m. to the same date and time as the Status Conferences in the related bankruptcy cases, set forth below.

(b) Final Fee Application of SulmeyerKupetz (Max-CA, dkt. 131)

Tentative Ruling for 6/26/18:

This court anticipates posting a tentative ruling at a later time.

[NOTE: no tentative ruling was posted; instead this Court issued its memorandum decision denying Wellgen's motion to dismiss (adv. dkt. 50).]

Tentative Ruling for 5/1/18:

Appearances required.

(1) Motion to Dismiss (dkt. 24). At the hearing on 3/20/18, this Court delivered its oral tentative ruling to deny the motion but, due to the Court's heavy calendar that day, could not afford the parties an opportunity to present oral arguments in response. This Court lifted the stay of discovery and continued the matter to this date to allow the parties an opportunity to attempt a consensual resolution, or present arguments for or against the tentative ruling.

(2) Deadlines. If this Court sticks with its tentative ruling not to dismiss the complaint, the parties should be prepared to discuss relevant discovery dates and other deadlines.

Appearances required.

(1) Motion to Dismiss. At the hearing on 3/6/18, this court continued the matter for the parties to review relevant authority on the "unfinished business doctrine" and consider the implications of that authority on this proceeding. This Court has reviewed the parties' status reports (dkt. 39, 41), which effectively are briefs, and the parties are directed to address (a) whether further briefing or discovery is needed, either as to the Teitelbaum Case or any other matter, (b) whether the range of possible outcomes could include any in which the underlying clients (or any other parties) could be prejudiced (e.g., if any party presently before this Court is denied a recovery in this proceeding, would that party have any ability to seek recovery from the underlying client on a different theory?) and, if so, whether such persons need to be joined in this proceeding, and (c) whether to bifurcate the Teitelbaum Case from other matters and render a decision as to the former after oral argument and/or set deadlines for discovery or other procedures (see, e.g., the list of deadlines set forth in paragraph "(3)" of this Court's tentative ruling for 12/19/17, reproduced below).

Tentative Ruling for 3/6/18:

Appearances required. This Court has reviewed the parties' status reports (adv. dkt. 28, 29) and the other filed documents and records in this adversary proceeding.

(1) Venue/jurisdiction/authority. The issues raised in paragraph "(1)" of this Court's tentative ruling for 12/19/17 (reproduced below) appear to have been addressed (see adv. dkt. 28, 29) or waived/forfeited by parties who have not expressly addressed them.

(2) Mediation. The parties are directed to report on the status of the 2/27/18 mediation. If the mediation was not successful, the parties should be prepared to argue the merits of the motion to dismiss filed by Advocate Capital, Inc. (adv. dkt. 24, the "MTD") and related papers (e.g., adv. dkt. 30, 34). Tentative Ruling for 12/19/17:

Appearances required. The court has reviewed the parties' joint status report (dkt. 9) and the other filed documents and records in this adversary proceeding. The tentative ruling is to excuse the parties from any Rule 26 compliance at this time (Fed. R. Civ. P. 26, incorporated by Fed. R. Bankr. P. 7026), as requested by certain of the parties. In addition, the tentative ruling is as follows (the parties need not repeat their responses in the status report unless there is some change to those responses).

(1) Venue/jurisdiction/authority.

The parties are directed to address any outstanding matters of (a) venue, (b) jurisdiction, (c) this court's authority to enter final orders or judgment(s) in this proceeding and, if consent is required, whether the parties do consent, or have already expressly or impliedly consented. See generally Stern v. Marshall, 131 S.Ct. 2594, 2608 (2011) (if litigant "believed that the Bankruptcy Court lacked the authority to decide his claim...then he should have said so – and said so promptly."); Wellness Int'l Network, Ltd. v. Sharif, 135 S.Ct. 1932 (2015) (consent must be knowing and voluntary but need not be express); In re Bellingham Ins. Agency, Inc., 702 F.3d 553 (9th Cir. 2012) (implied consent), aff'd on other grounds, 134 S. Ct. 2165 (2014); In re Pringle, 495 B.R. 447 (9th Cir. BAP 2013) (rebuttable presumption that failure to challenge authority to issue final order is intentional and indicates consent); In re Deitz, 760 F.3d 1028 (9th Cir. 2014) (authority to adjudicate nondischargeability encompasses authority to liquidate debt and enter final judgment). See generally In re AWTR Liquidation, Inc., 548 B.R. 300 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2016).

(2) Mediation. Is there is any reason why this court should not order the parties to mediation before one of the volunteer mediators (not a Bankruptcy Judge), and meanwhile set the deadlines set forth below?

The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 1/5/18 for the parties to agree on a mediator whose schedule is consistent with the needs of this matter and lodge mediation order(s) (if the parties are unable to agree on a single order they may lodge competing orders and Judge Bason will decide among them or issue his own, although it should be possible for the parties to agree on a mediator).

Chapter 11

#1.00 Hrg re: Motion for relief from stay [NA]

Docket 42

Tentative Ruling:

Grant Debtor's motion (dkt. 42, the "R/S Motion") for relief from the automatic stay such that Debtor may seek relief from its default in its litigation with creditor Strategic Partners, Inc. ("Strategic"), provided that Strategic also may proceed with its litigation, all subject to the limitations set forth below. Appearances required.

Proposed order: Debtor is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this Court's final ruling. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

Key documents reviewed (in addition to motion papers): Strategic opposition (dkt. 62)

(1) Limited relief. Modify and condition the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) such that the movant may proceed in the nonbankruptcy forum to final judgment (including any appeals) in accordance with applicable nonbankruptcy law, subject to the following limitations (Judge Bason's standard limitations).

(a) No enforcement against property of the bankruptcy estate. The stay remains in effect with respect to enforcement of any judgment or award against property of the debtor's bankruptcy estate - any such property shall be distributed when and how provided by the Bankruptcy Code. Nevertheless, the movant is permitted to enforce any final judgment or award by (i) collecting upon any available insurance in accordance with applicable nonbankruptcy law or (ii) proceeding against the debtor as to any property that is not property of this bankruptcy estate. See, e.g., 11 U.S.C. 362(b)(2)(B) & 541(b)(7) (collection of domestic support obligations from ERISA qualified retirement plans).

Note: If Judge Hatter were to determine, for example, that Debtor could only obtain relief from default by compensating Strategic for certain attorney fees and costs, Debtor would not be authorized to pay such amount without seeking a further modification of the automatic stay. (Procedures for doing so are outlined at the end of this part "(1)" of the tentative ruling.)

This Bankruptcy Court emphasizes that it does not seek in any way to impinge on the authority of the District Court. Rather, this Bankruptcy Court takes seriously its obligations, as a subordinate unit of the District Court, to manage the bankruptcy case on behalf of the District Court. Those obligations including taking into consideration the interests of creditors (who are not parties to the underlying nonbankruptcy litigation), and placing limits on any relief from the automatic stay that Congress has mandated (11 U.S.C. 362(a) & (d)).

(b) Claim allowance, priority, and discharge issues. Any claims arising from the nonbankruptcy litigation are subject to this Bankruptcy Court's jurisdiction regarding claim allowance and priority, and the existence and scope of any bankruptcy discharge.

(c) No relief in other bankruptcy cases. To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

(d) Procedures for further modification/condition of stay. Any party in interest who seeks a further modification or condition of the automatic stay, or the relief granted herein, in light of subsequent developments, may do so by self-calendaring this matter on 14 days' notice to Debtor and Strategic. The notice must describe the additional relief that is being sought and the reasons in support of such relief, and the notice may be supported by any appropriate supplemental papers. The self-calendaring procedures are posted on this Court's website (www.cacb.uscourts.gov).

(2) Additional analysis:

The Bankruptcy Court "shall grant relief from the stay" upon a showing of "cause." 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1). Such relief need not take the form of a complete termination of the automatic stay, but instead may include "modifying or conditioning such stay." Id.

"Cause' is determined on a case-by-case basis." In re Tucson Estates, Inc., 912 F.2d 1162, 1166 (9th Cir.1990). In determining whether "cause" exists to grant relief from the automatic stay to allow a movant to pursue litigation in a non-bankruptcy forum, courts in the Ninth Circuit have examined the factors set forth in In re Curtis, 40 B.R. 795, 799–800 (Bankr. D. Utah 1984). See In re Kronemeyer, 405 B.R. 915 (9th Cir. BAP 2009); In re Plumberex Specialty Prods., Inc., 311 B.R. 551, 559–60 (Bankr. C.D. Cal.2004). Those factors are: (1) Whether the relief will result in a partial or complete resolution of the issues; (2) The lack of any connection with or interference with the bankruptcy case; (3) Whether the foreign proceeding involves the debtor as a fiduciary; (4) Whether a specialized tribunal has been established to hear the particular cause of action and whether that tribunal has the expertise to hear such cases; (5) Whether the debtor's insurance carrier has assumed full financial responsibility for defending the litigation; (6) Whether the action essentially involves third parties, and the debtor functions only as a bailee or conduit for the goods or proceeds in question; (7) Whether the litigation in another forum would prejudice the interests of other creditors, the creditors' committee and other interested parties; (8) Whether the judgment claim arising from the foreign action is subject to equitable subordination under Section 510(c); (9) Whether movant's success in the foreign proceeding would result in a judicial lien avoidable by the debtor under Section 522(f); (10) The interests of judicial economy and the expeditious and economical determination of litigation for the parties; (11) Whether the foreign proceedings have progressed to the point where the parties are prepared for trial; and (12) The impact of the stay on the parties and the "balance of hurt." Plumberex, 311 B.R. at 559. "[W]hile the Curtis factors are widely used to determine the existence of 'cause,' not all of the factors are relevant in every case, nor is a court required to give each factor equal weight." In re Landmark Fence Co., Inc., 2011 WL 6826253 at *4 (C.D. Cal. Dec. 9, 2011).

Based on the present record, the tentative ruling is that these factors weigh in favor of granting relief as set forth above. Most significantly:

(a) the relief set forth above will result in a complete resolution of the nonbankruptcy litigation with Strategic that is at the core of Debtor's business and Debtor's ability to reorganize. In addition, whether Debtor can obtain relief from default might be an important predicate to any malpractice action against Debtor's former attorney or his malpractice insurer, if any.

(b) The litigation with Strategic is intimately connected with this bankruptcy case. In addition, based on the record before this Court the litigation with Strategic will not unduly interfere with this case - and if there were to be any undue interference that can be addressed in future because this Court retains jurisdiction to modify or condition the stay again, if necessary or appropriate.

(c) The interests of judicial economy and the expeditious and economical determination of litigation for the parties are best served by the relief set forth above. If Debtor is not permitted to seek relief during the pendency of this bankruptcy case then it will have to seek relief outside of bankruptcy, probably on an emergency basis, including both relief from its default and injunctive relief to substitute for the absence of the automatic stay. That would only increase the litigation.

(d) The impact of the stay on the parties and the "balance of hurt" favor granting relief. Judge Hatter is in the best position to determine whether to grant Debtor relief from its default and, if so, what conditions to impose that will mitigate any damages to Strategic.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." #2.00 Hrg re: Motion for order determining value of collateral

Tentative Ruling:

Grant in part and deny in part as set forth below. Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Valuation

Debtor has filed motions to value a Jeep at $2,113 (dkt. 19, amended by dkt. 26) and a BMW at $1,793 (dkt. 18, amended by dkt. 24). Creditor Lendmark Financial Services, LLC ("Lendmark") has filed oppositions with evidence that the correct value is $4,225 for the Jeep (dkt. 30) and $2,420 for the BMW (dkt. 29).

For the reasons stated in the opposition papers, the tentative ruling is that Debtor's valuation is too low, and Lendmark's valuation must be adopted.

Therefore the total value of Lendmark's collateral (both the Jeep and the BMW) is $6,645 ($4,225+$2,420=$6,645). Its proof of claim (no. 3-1, "POC") asserts a total claim of $10,700.56 as of the petition date, secured by both vehicles. Accordingly, its secured claim is $6,645 and its unsecured claim is $4,055.56 ($10,700.56-$6,645=$4,055.56), as stated in its POC.

(2) Other issues

The tentative ruling is that the other issues raised by Lendmark are not properly before this Court in connection with these motions to value collateral. For example:

Lendmark objects that in any lienstripping it must retain its lien until the earlier of (a) payment of the underlying debt or (b) discharge under 11 U.S.C. 1328. The tentative ruling is that, although Lendmark probably is correct (see 11 U.S.C. 1325(a)(5)(B)(i)(I)), that is a confirmation issue that this Court will not decide in connection with this valuation motion.

Lendmark objects that Debtor's plan must provide payments in an amount sufficient to provide "adequate protection" (see 11 U.S.C. 1325(a)(5)(B)(iii)) and evidence of insurance on the vehicles. Again, although Lendmark probably is correct, the tentative ruling is that these issues are not presented by these valuation motions: they are issues for confirmation, or any motion for relief from the automatic stay (or any other proceedings in which the concept of "adequate protection" is relevant). See, e.g., 11 U.S.C. 361, 362(d)(1).

Proposed order: Lendmark is directed to lodge two proposed orders: one for each motion, but cumulatively only allowing a single secured claim and a single unsecured claim in the dollar amounts set forth above. Lendmark is directed to lodge those proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this Court's final ruling (unless modified at the hearing). See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(1) Procedural issues

(a) No cost-benefit analysis

The posted Procedures of Judge Bason (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) provide:

§ 502: claim objections & cost/benefit analysis. When objecting to claims, be sure to include an analysis of whether the costs of preparing and litigating the claim objection (administrative expenses) do not exceed the anticipated benefits (reductions in claims). For example, if the anticipated dividend is small or 0% then the attorney fees incurred in prosecuting your claim objection to any general unsecured claim probably will exceed the benefit to the bankruptcy estate/debtor, so filing that objection would be a waste of the bankruptcy estate's (and everyone else's) resources (unless, for example, the claim is nondischargeable, in which event the attorney fees might well be justified).

The claim objection fails to include any cost/benefit analysis. The tentative ruling is to excuse that failure in this one instance, because the benefit of discharging purported student loans is readily apparent. But Debtor's attorneys are cautioned that in future they must always provide a cost/benefit analysis.

(b) No copy of proofs of claim

Chapter 13

The claim objection fails to attach copies of the proofs of claim at issue, as required by LBR 3007-1(c)(2). The tentative ruling is to excuse this defect, with a caution to Debtor's attorneys that in future they must always provide copies of the claims to which they are objecting.

(c) Adversary proceeding required

Dischargeability determinations require an adversary proceeding. A claim objection is not sufficient. See 11 U.S.C. 523(c)(1); Rules 3007(b), 4007, & 7001(6) (Fed. R. Bankr. P.).

(2) Merits

(a) Allegedly inadequate documentation

The tentative ruling is to reject Debtor's arguments about inadequate documentation, for the reasons stated previously by this Court in a different case. See In re Orozco (Bankr. C.D. Cal., Case No. 2:13-bk-15745-NB), dkt. 132, at pp. 5:1-12:23 (explanation of burdens of proof and documentation regarding objections to claims), and dkt. 169.

(b) Prior chapter 7 discharge

Debtor argues that the loans already were discharged in a prior bankruptcy case he filed in Connecticut (Bridgeport) (Case No. 16-50293). To the extent, if any, that Debtor is arguing for any sort of preclusive effect from the prior bankruptcy case, that argument is unpersuasive.

Dischargeability under 11 U.S.C. 523(a)(8) (student loans) does not happen automatically, unlike dischargeability under 11 U.S.C. 523(a)(2), (4) and (6). As noted above, Debtor (or the holder of the alleged student loan debt) would have had to commence a dischargeability adversary proceeding for the prior bankruptcy case to have had any effect on whether the debts at issue are or are not dischargeable. 11 U.S.C. 523(c)(1); Rules 3007(b), 4007, & 7001(6) (Fed. R. Bankr. P.). Debtor has not alleged that there was any such adversary proceeding, let alone that he obtained a judgment of dischargeability.

None of that prevents Debtor from seeking a determination in an adversary proceeding in this case that the debt is not a qualifying student loan debt under section 523(a)(8). If Debtor obtains a judgment to that effect, then Debtor will have established that the debt was discharged in his prior chapter 7 case.

(c) Alleged nature of the debts

Debtor alleges that the loans at issue were not incurred "solely to pay qualified higher education expenses within the meaning of 26 U.S.C. 221(d)(1) and (2)" and therefore, assertedly, do not qualify as nondischargeable under 11 U.S.C. 523(a)(8). Dkt. 25, p.8, para.8-9. Debtor cites In re Christoff, 527 B.R. 624 (9th Cir. BAP 2015).

Christoff involved a "tuition credit" which, the BAP held, did not qualify as an obligation to "repay funds" advanced, because no funds actually had been advanced. Id. at 633-35. It is unclear whether Debtor is alleging a similar set of circumstances (his declaration does not state whether he received tuition credits rather than loans).

Debtor might be making a more general analogy to Christoff, on the basis that the debts at issue are somehow different from the text of section 523(a)(8). But Debtor does not explain how this is so.

As this Court has explained before (see Orozco, cited in part (2)(a) of this tentative ruling) proofs of claim are presumptively valid; and the burden is on Debtor to assert grounds for disallowance and provide evidence in support of those grounds. The tentative ruling is that Debtor has not done so.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

#8.00 Hrg re: Motion to reconsider 180 day bar

Docket 73

Tentative Ruling:

Deny for the reasons set forth below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this Court's final ruling. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

Reasons for denial:

(1) Reconsideration standards

Debtor has filed a Motion for Order to Remove 180 Day Bar to Re-Filing (the "No-Bar Motion," dkt. 73). Debtor seeks reconsideration of this Court's order imposing the 180 day bar against being a debtor in any future bankruptcy case (dkt. 69, the "Bar Order"), but he cites no authority for the applicable standards.

Presumably Debtor seeks relief under Rule 9024 (Fed. R. Bankr. P.).

The tentative ruling is to excuse his lack of citation to the applicable standards under that rule (this one time only) but to deny the No-Bar Motion for the alternative reasons set forth below.

(2) Plain meaning

The Bar Order was issued under 11 U.S.C. 109(g)(2). That statute provides:

notwithstanding any other provision of this section, no individual ... may be a debtor under this title who has been a debtor in a case pending under this title at any time in the preceding 180 days if - ... (2) the debtor requested and obtained the voluntary dismissal of the case following the filing of a request for relief from the automatic stay provided by section 362 of this title. [Emphasis added.]

Debtor did in fact request and obtain the voluntary dismissal of this case (dkt. 66, 69), and that occurred subsequent to the filing of a request for relief from the automatic stay (the "R/S Motion," dkt. 50) (which this Court granted, dkt.

Chapter 13

59). Therefore it appears that Debtor is barred by the plain meaning of the statute. Debtor's No-Bar Motion appears to assert two arguments to the contrary, although perhaps it is just one argument.

(a) Alternative interpretations of the statute

The No-Bar Motion argues that there are "four approaches" (dkt. 73, p.4:8, emphasis added) to the application of section 109(g)(2), but then it only addresses one approach. It concedes that this "majority" approach "holds that the plain language of sec. 109(g)(2) is mandatory." Id., p.4:9-11. That does not help Debtor.

This Court will not do Debtor's research for him and determine whether any of the other three alleged approaches might help him. In any event, the tentative ruling is that there is an insufficient legal and factual basis to adopt the alternative approach that might be most likely to help Debtor. See In re Payton, 481 B.R. 460 (Bankr. N.D. Ill. 2016).

To be fair, it seems likely that the No-Bar Motion is not intended to argue otherwise. Essentially it appears to concede that no interpretation of the statute helps Debtor. Instead he is relying on his alternative argument: that this is one of those rare instances in which this Court should not apply the statute.

(b) Asserted grounds for not applying the statute

The No-Bar Motion argues that this is one of the "rare cases in which the literal application of a statute will produce results demonstrably at odds with the intentions of its drafters." Dkt. 73, p.4:23-25 (quoting United States v. Ron Pair Enters., Inc., 489 U.S. 235, 242 (1989) (citation and typographical marks omitted)). Debtor alleges that the purpose of the statute is "to curb the abuse of repetitive filings" of bankruptcy cases (dkt.73, p.4:7-8) and that this is not such a situation.

Debtor admits that he filed this case to stop the foreclosure sale of his house (dkt. 73, p.3:4-7) and that in seeking a voluntary dismissal of this case he intended to "file another Ch 13 to start the process over again." Dkt. 73, p.5:5-10. But he asserts a variety of reasons why, allegedly, this is not abusive.

Debtor asserts that he had no bad faith or intent to "live in his house for free." Dkt. 73, p.5:5-10. He alleges that since the petition date he has "been making timely plan payments, but due to issue[s] at work and the death of his grandmother, he was not able to make postpetition mortgage payments." Dkt. 73, p.3:7-10. That led to the filing of the R/S Motion, and Debtor alleges that his prior attorney demanded $700 to oppose the R/S Motion. Debtor did not pay that amount; and the prior attorney did not file any opposition to the R/S Motion or negotiate an adequate protection order ("APO"). Debtor alleges that he "would have [had] the financial ability to comply with" such an APO. Dkt. 73, pp.4:26-5:6.

The tentative ruling is that these alleged facts are nowhere near enough to establish that this is one of the "rare cases in which the literal application of a statute will produce results demonstrably at odds with the intentions of its drafters." Ron Pair, 489 U.S. at 242. To the contrary, Congress apparently intended to restrict multiple bankruptcy filings precisely in this situation: when a debtor does not resolve a motion for relief from the automatic stay with an APO (either a voluntary APO or one imposed by this Court), but instead requests and obtains a voluntary dismissal of the bankruptcy case.

True, Debtor now asserts that he could have resolved the R/S Motion with an APO. Perhaps that is so, but he did not do so (and, although Debtor blames his prior attorney, nothing compels attorneys to work for free or for the promise of future payments that might never be made).

The plain meaning of the statute governs for an additional reason: his argument essentially is that Congress could not have intended such a harsh result as punishing debtors like himself by giving them no bankruptcy relief. But his premise is flawed: he has not shown that Congress actually has barred him from any type of bankruptcy relief. If the facts truly are as Debtor alleges then Congress left open the option of filing a motion to vacate the dismissal and reinstate the dismissed bankruptcy case.

Of course, any such motion would have to be supported by evidence that Debtor really could comply with a reasonable APO and cure the $8,573.04 default listed in the motion (plus any additional payments that have come due since then), as well as evidence that the case is otherwise viable (e.g., evidence that plan payments can be brought current if the dismissal is vacated). It is not clear if Debtor can do those things, but the fact that Congress left open this option is a further demonstration that the operation of section 109(g)(2) is not so completely draconian that it must be "demonstrably" at odds with Congress' intentions.

(3) Conclusion

Debtor has not established that section 109(g)(2) is inapplicable, or that this is one of those rare cases in which this Court has any power to disregard the plain meaning of the statute. Accordingly, tentative ruling is to deny the No-Bar Motion, without prejudice to seeking alternative relief.

If Debtor files a motion to vacate the dismissal of his bankruptcy case he will have to support that motion with appropriate evidence of his financial ability to comply with a reasonable APO and catch up on missed plan payments. In addition, any motion to vacate the dismissal of this case would have to comply with the applicable rules (e.g., Rule 9024, Fed. R. Bankr. P.) and procedures, such as the posted Procedures of Judge Bason (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) requiring evidence of attempts to negotiate with opposing parties before seeking reconsideration of prior rulings.

Docket 127

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 2/21/19

Grant in part and deny in part as set forth below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Debtor is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this Court's final ruling. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(1) Background

This Court has already determined that the automatic stay was violated by Mr. Roberts and Ms. Johnson. Dkt. 161, pp.2:4-3:14. This Court has also found that such violation was "willful" and thus they are "subject to actual damages, including costs and attorneys' fees, and may be subject to punitive damages." Id. pp. 3:25-5:4 (citations omitted).

This Court nevertheless provided an opportunity for both Mr. Roberts and Ms. Johnson to present evidence and argument in favor of mitigating any damages. Id., p.5:7-21. Ms. Johnson has not filed any declaration, and Mr. Roberts reports that she is not responding to him. Dkt. 165, p.1:25-27. Mr. Roberts has filed his own declaration (dkt. 165).

(2) Damages

Mr. Roberts' declaration explains why he wanted to keep pursuing the State Court action that involves Debtor's interest in certain rental property. But Mr. Roberts does not adequately explain why he failed to abide by the automatic stay of 11 U.S.C. 362(a) despite repeated explanations of its applicability by Debtor's attorney, Mr. Bryson. See dkt. 127, Ex.5&7. Nor does Mr. Roberts establish any mitigation of damages. Accordingly, this Court must award damages under 11 U.S.C. 362(k) (formerly section 362(h)) (individual injured by willful violation of stay "shall" recover actual damages, including costs and attorneys' fees, and, in appropriate circumstances, may recover punitive damages").

(a) Overview

Debtor seeks (i) emotional distress damages of $5,000 (id., p.2:22-23), (ii) punitive damages of $10,000.00 (id., p.2:19-21), (iii) attorney fees and costs to date of $8,374.94 (dkt. 166, p.2:12 & Ex.9), and (iv) additional attorney fees of $1,200, based on an anticipated three hours at $400/hr. in connection with this continued hearing on 2/21/19 (id., p.2:16-18), for a total of $9,574.94 in attorney fees ($8,374.94 + $1,200 = $9,574.94).

The tentative ruling is to deny any emotional distress or punitive damages because Debtor and his wife have not met the applicable standards under section 362(k) and the decisions interpreting that statute. As for the requested attorney fees, the tentative ruling is to grant in part and deny in part, as further set forth below.

(b) Standards

Neither party has briefed the standards applicable to damages awards under section 362(k). This Court has conducted its own research. Any arguments in favor of any additional or different standards from what are set forth below have been forfeited.

Emotional distress damages are part of "actual damages." In re Hunsaker, 902 F.3d 963, 966 (9th Cir. 2018). The stay violation need not be "egregious," corroborating evidence is not necessarily required, and non-experts may testify to manifestations of mental anguish. In re Dawson, 390 F.3d 1139, 1148-51 (9th Cir. 2004). But to support emotional distress damages a debtor must show "clear evidence" of "significant harm" actually caused by the stay violation, as distinct, for instance, from the anxiety and pressures inherent in the bankruptcy process. Id.

Punitive damages require a showing of "reckless or callous disregard of the law or rights of others." In re Bloom, 875 F.2d 224, 228 (9th Cir. 1989) (citation omitted). An award of punitive damages typically is not awarded absent "egregious, intentional misconduct," and they might not be awarded if the conduct was not ongoing, or when there were no actual damages other than the attorney fees involved in bringing the motion under section 362(k). In re McHenry, 179 B.R. 165, 168-69 (9th Cir. BAP 1995) (citation omitted).

Chapter 13

Attorney fees are part of the compensatory damages that must be awarded under section 362(k). See In re Easley, 910 F.3d 1286 (9th Cir. 2018); In re Schwartz-Tallard, 803 F.3d 1095 (9th Cir. 2015). But attorney fees must be reasonable, and that includes a duty to mitigate attorney fees incurred in response to stay violations. In re Roman, 283 B.R. 1, 11-13 (9th Cir. BAP 1992).

(c) Evidence regarding emotional distress

Debtor's declaration (dkt. 127, at PDF p.18:19-20) states that upon learning that a default had been taken against him and his wife in the State Court action, he "became severely anxious and depressed" and he believed that his "entire Chapter 13 case was in jeopardy, in spite of having made regular and consistent payments to the Chapter 13 trustee for a number of years." He further declares that his distress was "shared with my wife, who was also named as a defendant in [the State Court action] and who suffered as a result." Id.

Ms. King's declaration says nothing about emotional distress. Dkt. 127, at PDF pp.23-24. In addition, this Court takes judicial notice that Debtor filed a motion to abandon the subject property (dkt. 92). Debtor has neither prosecuted that abandonment motion nor withdrawn it; but the fact that Debtor was even considering abandonment undermines Debtor's assertion that the subject property was so critical to this bankruptcy case that he and his wife suffered compensable emotional distress at the prospect that the violation of the automatic stay would cause them to lose the State Court litigation concerning rights to that property.

In sum, the evidence of any emotional distress does not amount to "clear evidence" of "significant harm" caused by the stay violation. Dawson, 390 F.3d 1139, 1148-49. Debtor has not established any emotional distress that exceeds the level of anxiety and pressures inherent in the bankruptcy process, and inherent in the fact that title and rights to the subject property are in dispute.

(d) Punitive damages

On the one hand, both Mr. Roberts and Ms. Johnson sought and obtained a default judgment against Debtor and his wife in a clear and willful violation of the automatic stay, and did not remedy that violation (e.g., by asking the State Court to vacate the default judgment). On the other hand, several considerations weigh against any award of punitive damages.

First, in his telephonic appearances in this Bankruptcy Court Mr. Roberts has exhibited a lack of fundamental understanding of the bankruptcy issues. Ms. Johnson's understanding (or lack thereof) presumably is based on Mr. Roberts' understanding.

Second, Mr. Roberts and Ms. Johnson appear to have acted willfully but not maliciously. Mr. Roberts' declaration (dkt. 165) includes his own statements, supported by copies of correspondence, that appear to reflect frustration with not reaching the merits of the underlying State Court litigation rather than any specific intent to inflict harm on Debtor and his wife.

Third, Debtor and his wife have not shown any actual damages, apart from the attorney fees in bringing the motion under section 362(k). In fact, this Court previously has expressed concerns about whether they and Debtor's attorney, Mr. Bryson, have exercised appropriate judgment throughout the course of this bankruptcy case (i) in apparently using the automatic stay "as a sword rather than a shield" and (ii) in incurring substantial attorney fees regarding the subject property and other matters, given that the potential benefits appear to be outweighed by the litigation expense to the bankruptcy estate. See Abandonment Motion (dkt. 92) and Orders (dkt. 104, 149, 151).

For all of these reasons, the tentative ruling is not to award any punitive damages.

(e) Attorney fees

As noted above, attorney fees are part of the compensatory damages that this Court "shall" award (11 U.S.C. 362(k)), but attorney fees must be reasonable, and that includes a duty to mitigate attorney fees incurred in response to stay violations. Roman, 283 B.R. 1, 11-13. In this case, this Court has serious questions about whether the attorney fees are reasonable and were mitigated, taking into account what fees would be proportional to the matters at issue.

As noted above, Debtor has filed a motion to abandon the property. Dkt. 92. At prior hearings, and in a prior order (dkt. 161, pp.5:22-6:6), this Court has questioned why Debtor would not simply stipulate to relief from the automatic stay to pursue the State Court action, so that the title and rights to the property can be sorted out, rather than depleting the funds in the estate by litigating about the automatic stay (and any related issues, e.g., which forum should decide the merits). Debtor's papers do not address these issues, so there is a lack of evidence regarding the reasonableness and mitigation of the requested attorney fees.

To be clear, this Court is satisfied that in the abstract Mr. Bryson's bills are reasonable in terms of hourly rate and hours spent, if he and Debtor exercised appropriate discretion about what issues to litigate. But there is no evidence about whether appropriate discretion was exercised.

Using a hypothetical example to illustrate further, it would make no sense to embark on litigation on preliminary issues - issues about the automatic stay and which forum should decide the merits - that would then lead to further litigation about rights in the subject property, if (x) Debtor's interests in the property were unlikely to exceed, say, $25,000 (before costs of sale etc.) and (y) the anticipated costs of all that litigation might well approach or exceed that amount. This Court is concerned that this hypothetical example might be all too real (or that the reality might be much worse). Cf. Abandonment Motion (dkt. 92, p.1:24-27) (Debtor initially estimated net equity of $25,000 in property, but subsequently discovered his interest is likely half that).

The point is, there is cause for concern; this Court previously has raised these concerns; and yet Debtor's motion papers and supplements seeking damages under section 362(k) do not include any evidence on these issues. Therefore this Court could simply deny the request for attorney fees based on this lack of evidence.

But this Court is also concerned that parties (Ms. Johnson) and their attorneys (Mr. Roberts) must suffer some consequences for willfully violating the automatic stay. In addition, there is also a public service in Debtor and Mr. Bryson vindicating the application of the automatic stay. Finally, this Court recognizes that, at the time when Debtor and Mr. Bryson first learned of the violation of the automatic stay, they probably expected to incur relatively modest fees, because they probably expected that Ms. Johnson and Mr. Roberts would not be so foolish as to continue violating the automatic stay (especially when there is a quick and easy alternative of seeking relief from the stay).

Based on this Court's considerable experience reviewing fees in bankruptcy cases, it seems reasonable that Debtor and Mr. Bryson initially would have expected to incur fees in the range of $2,000 to address the violation of the automatic stay, including an order from this Court that remedied any harm from the default judgment by determining that any such judgment was void. See Order (dkt. 161). In the face of unexpectedly willful and persistent violations of the automatic stay, perhaps Debtor and Mr. Bryson reasonably could have expected to expend another $1,000 either to stipulate to relief from the automatic stay or, if Ms. Johnson and Mr. Roberts would not so stipulate, to move for relief from the automatic stay so that the issues could be resolved in the pending State Court proceedings.

In other words, even without any evidence from Debtor and Mr. Bryson specifically addressing the reasonableness and mitigation of their attorney fees, the record itself establishes a prima facie showing that attorney fees of approximately $3,000 would be reasonable. As to the balance of the $9,574.94 they now seek under section 362(k) (i.e., $9,574.94 - $3,000 = $6,574.94), the tentative ruling is to award those fees on a conditional basis.

If it turns out that the subject property actually is worth more than it appears to be worth on the present record (i.e., if it has any net value to the bankruptcy estate) then Mr. Bryson would be compensated for his time out of that value, because his services would turn out (despite all indications to the contrary) to have created a net benefit for the estate. Similarly, if it turns out that the subject property has any worth to Ms. Johnson and Mr. Roberts, it is appropriate that they should not receive any funds from disposition of the property or its rents without reimbursing Mr. Bryson's attorney fees. Therefore the tentative ruling is to award the balance of $6,574.94 out of any proceeds from the property or its rents that otherwise would go (i) to Ms. Johnson and Mr. Roberts and, after any such distributions, (ii) to Debtor or this bankruptcy estate. To the extent any of the foregoing is uncollectible, Mr. Bryson could charge the bankruptcy estate $3,000 but no more.

(3) Conclusion

The tentative ruling is to award damages of $3,000 against Mr. Roberts and Ms. Johnson, jointly and severally, payable to reduce Mr. Bryson's attorney fees, and to award Mr. Bryson an additional $6,574.94 payable not by Mr. Roberts or Ms. Johnson in person, and not by this bankruptcy estate, but solely out of (i) any distributions from the property or its rents that otherwise would go to Ms. Johnson or Mr. Roberts and, after that, (ii) any distributions from the property or its rents that otherwise would go to this bankruptcy estate. Mr. Bryson is directed to lodge an appropriate order, including a provision for interest accruing on any amounts that remain unpaid as of March 1, 2019, at the post-judgment rate provided by law (this Court's website, at www.cacb.uscourts.gov, has information about the applicable rate).

There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address whether the default judgment in the state court action has been vacated as contemplated in the Stipulation (dkt. 148, p.3, para.5) and whether there is a need to continue to pursue a hearing on the Order to Show Cause.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." #11.00 Order to show cause re Dismissal due to simultaneous bankruptcy cases

Tentative Ruling:

The tentative ruling is to dismiss this case with a 180 day bar against being a debtor in bankruptcy, for willful failure to appear in proper prosecution of this case, for the reasons stated in this Court's order setting this hearing (dkt. 20). See 11 U.S.C. 109(g)(1). Appearances are not required. After the hearing time this Court will prepare the order.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." Tentative Ruling for 2/21/19 (same as for 1/24/19):

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

At the hearings on 12/20/18 and 1/24/19, this Court continued the hearing based on Debtor's assertion that a settlement had been negotiated. There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to apprise this Court of the status of the negotiated settlement in the non-bankruptcy action, *Jerson Estrada v. Continue to 12/20/18 at 8:30 a.m. because this matter is being resolved in the nonbankruptcy action in Jerson Estrada v. Airport General Auto Repair, Inc. (Superior Court, County of L.A., BC643391). See Order (dkt. 44) (granting relief from automatic stay for that action). Appearances are not required on 10/25/18.

Tentative Ruling for 8/30/18:

Appearances required. There is no tentative ruling but the parties should be prepared to address the following issues.

This Court has reviewed the claim objection (dkt. 24), claimant's opposition (dkt. 35), and debtor's reply (dkt. 37). The claimant asserts (dkt. 35, p.4, n.1) that he "is also filing a motion from stay in order to have his claim adjudicated and liquidated in the State Court Litigation" and he claims that this bankruptcy case was filed "less than two months before the State Court Litigation's scheduled trial date." Dkt. 35, p.2:23-24. But, as of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no such motion for relief from the automatic stay has been filed.

The debtor asserts that this bankruptcy case was filed to protect the debtor from this litigation, but he does not cite authorities addressing whether claims litigation should be conducted in the Bankruptcy Court or in State Court. See, e.g., 28 U.S.C. 1334(c)(2) (mandatory abstention if non-core proceeding has been commenced, "and can be timely adjudicated," in a State forum of appropriate jurisdiction); 28 U.S.C. 1334(c)(1) (discretionary abstention); In re Tucson Estates, Inc., 912 F.2d 1162, 1166-67 (9th Cir.1990).

If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 8/2/18:

Grant, with a caution that in future counsel for the debtor must include a cost/benefit analysis in connection with every claim objection. (In this instance that requirement is being excused because of the nature of the dispute at issue and because the proposed distributions (dkt. 29) appear to make the cost of this claim objection worth the attorney fees involved in prosecuting it; but in future this Court does not intend to do the analysis for the movant.) Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

#1.00 Hrg re: Motion in Individual Case for Order Imposing a Stay or Continuing the Automatic Stay as the Court Deems Appropriate

Docket 7

Tentative Ruling:

Grant, subject to the following conditions, and also subject to any opposition at the hearing. Appearances required.

Key documents reviewed (other than the motion papers): Orders dismissing Debtor's three most recent bankruptcy cases.

After the hearing date this Court will prepare an order and the tentative ruling is to include the following language in that order:

The stay of 11 U.S.C. 362(a) applies subject to the following modifications and conditions:

(1) Service and reconsideration. Any party in interest who was not timely served in accordance with FRBP 7004 (incorporated by FRBP 9014(b)) is hereby granted through 14 days after proper service to seek reconsideration, including retroactive relief (under FRBP 9023 and/or 9024). Any such person (a) may set a hearing on 14 days' notice, (b) may appear by telephone (if arrangements are made per Judge Bason's posted procedures), and (c) may present all arguments orally at the hearing (i.e., no written argument is required). If written arguments appear necessary then this court will set a briefing schedule at the hearing.

(2) Reasons. (a) It appears appropriate to impose the automatic stay, and to impose it as to all persons rather than just as to selected persons, because one purpose of the automatic stay is to preventing a "race to collect" that could unfairly advantage some creditors at the expense of others. (b) To prevent possible abuse, this Court provides the foregoing simple process for reconsideration.

Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1).

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) has not been shown to have any basis for any different treatment from the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a), so the tentative ruling is to grant the identical relief regarding any co-debtor stay.

#7.00 Hrg re: Motion for relief from stay [RP]

vs
DEBTOR

Docket 13

Tentative Ruling:

Grant as provided below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this Court's final ruling. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

Termination

Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (d)(4).

To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Relief notwithstanding future bankruptcy cases.

Grant the following relief pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(4) and the legal analysis in In re Vazquez, 580 B.R. 526 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2017), and/or In re Choong (case no. 2:14-bk-28378-NB, docket no. 31), as applicable:

If this order is duly recorded in compliance with applicable State laws governing notices of interests or liens in the property at issue, then no automatic stay shall apply to such property in any bankruptcy case purporting to affect such property and filed within two years after the date of entry of this order, unless otherwise ordered by the court presiding over that bankruptcy case.

For the avoidance of doubt, any acts by the movant to obtain exclusive possession of such property shall not be stayed, including any eviction actions, through and including any lockout or other enforcement by the Sheriff or other authorized legal authority.

Note: Per Judge Bason's posted procedures (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) this Court's order will state that the Court "does not make" a finding that Debtor was involved in the "scheme" referenced in section 362(d)(4), unless there is sufficient evidence that Debtor was involved and Debtor is given clear notice that the movant seeks an express finding that Debtor was involved. The tentative ruling in this particular case is that there is sufficient evidence and notice.

Effective date of relief

Grant the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a)(3).

Co-debtor stay

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) has not been shown to have any basis for any different treatment from the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a), so the tentative ruling is to grant the identical relief regarding any co-debtor stay.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Docket 8

Tentative Ruling:

Appearances are not required on 2/26/19.

The automatic stay does not apply

This case has been dismissed, which terminates the automatic stay. See 11 U.S.C. 349(b)(3) & 362(c).

In the alternative and in addition, this court grants relief from the automatic stay as follows.

Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1).

To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

documents through which the movant asserts its interest in the property (sometimes referred to in the mortgage context as the "original borrower"). Reasons: See LBR 4001-1(c)(1)(B). In addition, Judge Bason has due process concerns about granting such relief without service on the person(s) whose interests may be most directly affected. See generally Mullane v. Central Hanover Bank & Trust Co., 339 U.S. 306 (1950) (due process generally). In this matter, such persons appear to include: Alejandro Zapata and Felipe Salcedo.

Option for shortened time: This Court has selected a continued hearing date that contemplates shortened notice (per Rule 9006) but that date is conditioned on the movant (i) serving, on the day after the current hearing date, the motion papers and notice of the continued hearing date, and (ii) filing that notice and a proof of service no later than the next day. Alternatively, the movant may self-calendar a continued hearing on regular notice.

Option for interim/partial order: Movant may elect to lodge a proposed order granting the partial relief provided in this tentative ruling, but any such order must recite that a continued hearing has been set to consider additional relief (or, alternatively, that the movant no longer seeks additional relief and the Clerk's office is requested and directed to take the continued hearing off calendar).

Effective date of relief

Grant the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a)(3).

Co-debtor stay

previously granted), for the following reasons.

The motion requests requests "in rem" relief (i.e., relief applicable notwithstanding future bankruptcy cases (under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(4) and/or In re Vazquez, 580 B.R. 526 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2017), and/or In re Choong (case no. 2:14-bk-28378-NB, docket no. 31)). The tentative ruling is to deny that request because there is insufficient evidence on the record to convince the Court that the Debtor is involved in a scheme to delay, hinder, or defraud the Movant as is required under 362(d)(4) or the other authorities cited above.

Effective date of relief

Grant the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a)(3).

Co-debtor stay

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) has not been shown to have any basis for any different treatment from the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a), so the tentative ruling is to grant the identical relief regarding any co-debtor stay.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." #18.00 Hrg re: Motion in Individual Case for Order Imposing a Stay or Continuing the Automatic Stay as the Court Deems Appropriate

Docket 8

Tentative Ruling:

Grant, subject to the following conditions. Appearances are not required.

After the hearing date this Court will prepare an order and the tentative ruling is to include the following language in that order:

The stay of 11 U.S.C. 362(a) applies subject to the following modifications and conditions:

(1) Service and reconsideration. Any party in interest who was not timely served in accordance with FRBP 7004 (incorporated by FRBP 9014(b)) is hereby granted through 14 days after proper service to seek reconsideration, including retroactive relief (under FRBP 9023 and/or 9024). Any such person (a) may set a hearing on 14 days' notice, (b) may appear by telephone (if arrangements are made per Judge Bason's posted procedures), and (c) may present all arguments orally at the hearing (i.e., no written argument is required). If written arguments appear necessary then this court will set a briefing schedule at the hearing.

(2) Reasons. (a) It appears appropriate to impose the automatic stay, and to impose it as to all persons rather than just as to selected persons, because one purpose of the automatic stay is to preventing a "race to collect" that could unfairly advantage some creditors at the expense of others. (b) To prevent possible abuse, this Court provides the foregoing simple process for reconsideration.

To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Effective date of relief

Deny the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a)(3) for lack of sufficient cause shown.

final ruling. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

Chapter 13

More specifically, the tentative ruling is that (1) on the present record some form of relief from the automatic stay is required, including in rem relief, because Debtor appears to have been involved in a "scheme" to "hinder" or "delay" creditors within the meaning of 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(4), due to the filing of this case on 10/2/18, within a relatively short time after the dismissal on 6/5/18 of the bankruptcy case filed by Francisca Sanchez (2:18-bk-15538-WB); but (2) "relief" from the automatic stay does not necessarily mean "termination" of the stay, and could take the form of an adequate protection order ("APO") that (a) requires monthly payments and (b) provides in rem relief as follows:

If this order is duly recorded in compliance with applicable State laws governing notices of interests or liens in the property at issue, then no automatic stay shall apply to such property in any bankruptcy case purporting to affect such property and filed within two years after the date of entry of this order, unless otherwise ordered by the court presiding over that bankruptcy case.

For the avoidance of doubt, any acts by the movant to obtain exclusive possession of such property shall not be stayed. Any additional request for relief applicable to future bankruptcy cases is denied (e.g., any request to grant relief against third parties without any notice is denied) due to lack of sufficient factual or legal grounds presented in support of such relief.

In other words, if Debtor has the financial ability to cure the arrears and otherwise prosecute this bankruptcy case, then Debtor can do so under an adequate protection order; but Debtor must establish that she has the financial ability to do so. In addition, no future bankruptcy case will affect the property (subject to the limitations in 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(4)), so Debtor and any other person who asserts an interest in the property or who is a signatory to the loan documents cannot continue to file repeated bankruptcy cases simply to delay any foreclosure.

The grounds for such relief are that this Court has the power to grant relief in the form of modifying or conditioning the automatic stay, not just terminating it (11 U.S.C. 362(d)), and the foregoing relief appears to be appropriate in the present circumstances. See generally In re Vazquez, 580 B.R. 526 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2017) (even debtor who has excuses for hindering and delaying creditors can be subject to in rem relief); In re Bousheri (Case No. 2:15-bk-11345-NB), dkt. 79 (analogous order, in valuation context, addressing effect of unauthorized transfer of interest in property).

required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 10/9/18:

The plaintiff mis-filed the status report in the main case (main case dkt. 42) instead of this adversary proceeding. The plaintiff also failed to lodge a proposed order continuing this matter (using this Court's "LOU" program), and instead attached it to the status report.

Notwithstanding these errors, the tentative ruling is to continue this Status Conference to 12/18/18 at 11:00 a.m. Plaintiff is directed to file the next status report in this adversary proceeding (not in the main case) no later than 12/4/18. Appearances are not required on 10/9/18.

Tentative Ruling for 6/12/18:

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

This matter has been continued multiple times (see tentative rulings reproduced below, and see Order, adv. dkt. 18). At the 2/27/18 hearing, this court further continued the hearing to today's date and directed plaintiff to give written notice. No such notice appears to have been filed on the docket. Why not?

There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address the issues described in the tentative ruling for 2/27/18.

appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 2/27/18:

Appearances required. At the hearing on 5/2/17 this court was persuaded to continue this matter to 9/12/17. This matter was further continued to today's date (see Order, adv. dkt. 18).

There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address (1) the results of their mediation, (2) whether to continue this status conference a short time (for finalization of any settlement) or a long time (far enough ahead that the parties can litigate their issues in State Court, which then presumably will have a partially or fully preclusive effect on any nondischargeability issues before this court), and (3) any other matters appropriate to address at this status conference.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." Appearances required. At the hearing on 12/13/16 this court was persuaded to continue this matter to today's date, with a deadline of 4/11/17 to complete mediation (see adv. dkt. 13 (mediation order)).

There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address (1) the results of their mediation, (2) whether to continue this status conference a short time (for finalization of any settlement) or a long time (far enough ahead that the parties can litigate their issues in State Court, which then presumably will have a partially or fully preclusive effect on any nondischargeability issues before this court), and (3) any other matters appropriate to address at this status conference.

Tentative Ruling for 7/19/16:

Appearances required. There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address the following issues:

(1) Failure to file a status report. Why did the plaintiff not file a status report updating the Court as to the status of the pending state court litigation (adv. dkt. 4)? Should this Court issue an order to show cause based on plaintiff's disregard of this Court's order?

(2) Status of the state court litigation. What is the status of the state court litigation?

(3) Continued status conference. Assuming that the state court litigation is still pending, this Court intends to set a continued status conference for 11/8/16 at 11:00 a.m. The plaintiff must file a brief status report detailing the current status of the state court litigation by 10/25/16.

Tentative Ruling for 3/6/18:

The parties requested a brief continuance of this status conference from 2/27/18 to today's date (see Joint Status Report, adv. dkt. 10). At the status conference on 1/23/18 there was no appearance for the plaintiff, and this Court was persuaded that it was premature to adopt the deadlines stated in the tentative ruling for that status conference (reproduced below). There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to discuss the status of this case.

Tentative Ruling for 1/23/18:

Appearances required. The court has reviewed the parties' filed documents and records in this adversary proceeding. The parties must address why they failed to file the required status report, and also the following issues. The following are Judge Bason's standard requirements for status conferences.

(1) Venue/jurisdiction/authority. The parties are directed to address any outstanding matters of (a) venue, (b) jurisdiction, (c) this court's authority to enter final orders or judgment(s) in this proceeding and, if consent is required, whether the parties do consent, or have already expressly or impliedly consented. See *generally Stern v. (2) Mediation. Is there is any reason why this court should not order the parties to mediation before one of the volunteer mediators (not a Bankruptcy Judge), and meanwhile set the deadlines set forth below? The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 2/6/18 for the parties to lodge a proposed mediation order (the parties are directed to use the time between now and that deadline to find a mutually agreeable mediator whose schedule can accommodate the needs of this matter; and if the parties cannot even agree on a mediator they may lodge separate orders and Judge Bason will chose among them, or issue his own order).

(3) Deadlines/dates: This adversary proceeding has been pending since 11/21/17. The tentative ruling is to set the following deadlines/dates. Pursuant to LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B), plaintiff is directed to serve and lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the status conference, attaching a copy of this

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 2/26/19:

Continue as set forth below. Appearances are not required on 2/26/19.

(1) Current issues

Mazakoda, Inc's Motion to Extend Time to Object to Dischargeability (dkt. 53). Until the transcript is received for the meeting of creditors (11 U.S.C. 341(a)), it is difficult to assess the issues raised in the opposition (dkt. 63) and reply (dkt. 64). The tentative ruling is to continue this hearing to the same time as the continued status conference (see below).

"learned" (from unspecified hearsay) that Debtors' relatives have funded the $15,000 retainer as a gift, there is no declaration from the two alleged donors confirming this, and confirming all of their "connections" with all parties in interest and their attorneys and accountants (see dkt. 39, section 6.(a)), and their informed consent to potential or actual conflicts (id., sec. 6.(c)), and Debtors' informed consent (id., sec. 6.(d)). The tentative ruling is to continue this matter to the same time as the continued status conference (see below) and set a deadline of 11/13/18 to file appropriate declarations and serve them on the United States Trustee.

(c) MOR1 (Sept., 2018, dkt. 36)

Debtors report that they spent $1,350.43 in cash, with no breakdown and just a vague description about "personal expenses," "charitable contributions," etc. The tentative ruling is that any proposed order authorizing the proposed budget must include a prohibition on Debtors spending more than $50 cash on any one item or $250 cash in the aggregate per month without attaching photocopies of receipts.

Several insurance policies have expired or are about to (see dkt. 36, at PDF p.16). What are Debtors doing about that?

(d) Motion to Use Cash Collateral (dkt 20)

First, Debtors failed to lodge a proposed order authorizing the use of cash collateral on the terms set forth in the adopted Tentative Ruling for 10/16/18 (see calendar no. 20, 11/6/18 at 1:00 p.m., which includes a copy of that earlier tentative ruling). The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 11/13/18 to lodge that proposed order, with a copy of that tentative ruling attached.

Second, the original motion appears to have been superseded by an amended motion, which has not been separately filed and served but instead is attached as an exhibit to a supplemental declaration. See dkt. 29, Ex.B. The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 11/13/18 to file and serve that motion, which will be heard at the same date and time as the continued status conference (see below).

Third, the tentative ruling is that no order granting Debtors' motions regarding cash collateral shall be construed as endorsing the statements to which creditor Poser Investments, Inc. objects. See dkt. 23. Debtors are directed to make this clear in their proposed orders.

(b) Motion for Order Approving a Budget (Dkt. 11)

Grant on an interim basis, with a continued hearing at the same time as

#9.00 Cont'd hrg re: Motion for relief from stay [RP]
fr. 01/15/19

vs
DEBTOR

Docket 78

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 2/26/19:

Please see the tentative ruling in the status conference (cal. #10, 2/26/19 at 1:00 p.m.).

Tentative Ruling 1/15/19:

Appearances required. The tentative ruling is either (1) if no evidence of insurance is provided at the hearing, or perhaps within a very short window, to grant immediate relief from the automatic stay, and otherwise (2) to require Debtor to sell the subject property immediately, and set related procedures including a continued hearing on this motion for relief from the automatic stay, all as set forth below.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this Court's final ruling. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(1) Background

Movant previously filed a motion (dkt. 8) for relief from the automatic stay in this case. This Court issued an adequate protection order (dkt. 31, the "APO"). The APO provides that the stay will remain in place as long as Debtor makes adequate protection payments, but that the stay will not apply in any future bankruptcy case ("in rem" relief).

(2) Alleged cause for relief under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1)&(4)

Chapter 11

(a) Insurance

Movant asserts that Debtor has failed to provide proof that the property is insured. See dkt. 78, p.3. Debtor's response (dkt. 83) fails to address this issue, as pointed out by Movant's reply (dkt. 85).

At the hearing, Debtor is directed to address whether the property is insured, and to make an offer of proof. This Court may be persuaded to terminate the automatic stay immediately if Debtor fails to provide adequate proof of insurance that complies with the loan documents (e.g., naming Movant as a party entitled to notice and/or as an insured party, if that is what the loan documents require).

(b) Order for relief from the stay in a related case

Movant now seeks relief again, pointing out that since the APO was issued an order granting relief from the automatic stay has been issued in a case filed by Debtor's principal and 100% equity owner, Sergio Moreno Morales. See In re Morales (Case No. 2:18-bk-16365-WB), dkt. 31 (issued on 7/3/18) (the "In Rem Order"). The In Rem Order grants relief under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(4) - i.e., relief that is applicable notwithstanding any future bankruptcy case. By definition the In Rem Order is not applicable to this pending bankruptcy case, but Movant apparently believes the issuance of that order should be considered cause under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1)&(4) to modify the APO so as to terminate the automatic stay immediately.

This Court is not persuaded. First, as Debtor points, in this case there is no evidence that Debtor has failed to comply with the APO.

Second, the In Rem Order itself recites that there was no opposition to that order. In contrast, in this case Debtor has responded and adequately established, long before the In Rem Order was issued, that there were grounds to hold Debtor to a strict APO but not terminate the stay.

To summarize this Court's prior reasoning in issuing the APO, although it is true that Mr. Morales has filed multiple bankruptcy cases and previously arranged an unauthorized transfer of title to the real property from Debtor to himself, (a) title was restored to Debtor on or about 6/1/18 (see dkt. 21, p.4:5-6), (b) Mr. Morales has adequately explained his prior bankruptcy cases and the unauthorized transfer of title, at least for purposes of issuing the APO rather than terminating the automatic stay (see dkt. 21, pp.4:9-5:21, and 7:12-10:22), and (c) creditors would be harmed if the stay were terminated in this case. Not only does this reasoning still apply, but the APO is the law of this case, and Movant has neither briefed the standards for overcoming the law of the case nor established legal or factual grounds for reconsidering the APO.

(3) Alleged grounds for relief under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(2)

As Debtor argues, Movant must show both (a) a lack of equity in the property and (b) that the property is not necessary for an effective reorganization. Debtor disputes both of these prongs. Ultimately, however, both parties' arguments depend on whether there is equity in the property. If there is, then the property can be sold and net proceeds distributed to creditors. If there is no equity, Debtor has not suggested any reason why the property would be necessary to an effective reorganization.

Any equity in the property is equal to the property's value minus costs of sale and liens or other encumbrances. Debtor questions whether the dollar amount that Movant claims to be owed on its lien takes into consideration the payments made under the APO. That may make a difference of a few thousand dollars. The larger issue is the value of the property.

Movant asserts that the value is $750,000. See dkt. 78, p.8 & Ex.M, and dkt. 85 at PDF pp.11 et seq. (Mauch Decl.). Debtor's principal asserts (dkt. 83, pp.9:20-10:2) that Debtor has recently accepted an offer to purchase the property for $850,000, for which he will seek this Court's approval under 11 U.S.C. 363(b)&(f). Debtor's principal also asserts (id.) that he believes the property is actually worth much more - approximately $915,000 - but that "in the interest of moving Debtor's reorganization along and avoiding Movant's attempts at relief and foreclosure" he "has determined that it is in the best interest of the estate to accept a purchase price of $850,000.00."

The tentative ruling is that the best method of determining whether Debtor has an equity in the property (and hence, in the circumstances of this case, whether the property is necessary to an effective reorganization of Debtor's finances) is to move forward with the proposed sale of the property (presumably subject to overbids). As the Supreme Court has stated, generally "the best way to determine value is exposure to a market." Bank of Am. v. 203 N. LaSalle St. P'ship, 526 U.S. 434, 457 (1999).

This Court takes judicial notice that Debtor has filed an application (dkt. 82) to employ a real estate broker. In other words, Debtor appears to be taking steps to proceed with the proposed sale of the property.

Accordingly, the tentative ruling is to set a deadline for Debtor to file and serve its motion to sell the property under 11 U.S.C. 363(b)&(f), and defer any other issues until after this Court determines whether or not to approve the proposed sale. The tentative ruling is that a motion to sell must be filed and served no later than 2/1/19, and self-calendared for hearing on 2/26/19 at 1:00 p.m.

In addition, the tentative ruling is to continue the present motion for relief from the automatic stay to the same time (specialy set at 1:00 p.m., rather than the usual time of 10:00 a.m.). In addition, the tentative ruling is to reschedule the upcoming Status Conference in this case from 2/5/19 to 2/26/19 at 1:00 p.m.

#10.00 Cont'd Status Conference re: Chapter 11 Case
fr. 7/10/18, 9/18/18, 10/2/18, 11/27/18, 02/05/19

Docket 8

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 2/26/19:

Appearances required.

(1) Current issues (dkt. 111 etc.)

Debtor's proposed sale of certain real estate is intertwined with Debtor's proposed employment of a real estate broker. The tentative ruling is to go forward with the sale hearing, including any overbids, and approve the sale on a provisional basis, with a continued hearing on both the employment application and the sale motion at the same time as the continued status conference (see below).

(a) Application to employ James Gallardo as real estate broker (dkt. 112, 113)

As pointed out by both the United States Trustee ("UST") (dkt. 104) and creditor Crescent Capital Holdings ("Crescent") (dkt.110), Mr. Gallardo is purporting to act as a dual agent, for both the seller (Debtor) and the proposed buyer (subject to overbids), Luis Vasquez. Judge Bason prohibits dual agency, as noted both in his posted Procedures (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) and in the order approving the prior real estate broker (dkt. 92) (Mr. Leal).

The tentative ruling is that the lack of dual agency is mandated by the disinterestedness requirements of the Bankruptcy Code and Rules, so it cannot be waived. It is irrelevant that, outside of bankruptcy, it is not uncommon for parties in real estate transactions to accept their agent's lack of disinterestedness. See Reply to Sale Motion (dkt. 115, p.3:10-21).

Accordingly, the tentative ruling is that, if the highest and best bid is that of Mr. Vasquez, then Mr. Vasquez must file a declaration confirming that he has retained his own real estate broker (who must be unaffiliated with Mr. Gallardo), and Mr. Gallardo must represent only Debtor and the bankruptcy estate (not Mr. Vasquez).

In addition, the parties are directed to address whether Mr. Gallardo and/or Debtor's counsel must pay the additional real estate broker out of either (i) a portion of the 4% commission that was to have been paid solely to Mr. Gallardo, or (ii) out of a reduction in Debtor's counsel's attorney fees, so that the bankruptcy estate is not prejudiced by Debtor's non-compliance with the prohibition on dual agency. In other words, should this Court order that the total commission to all real estate brokers combined must not exceed 4%?

In addition, there might be other grounds for objecting to Mr. Gallardo's employment, and the time for objections has not yet expired, so the employment cannot be approved yet. The employment application was served on 2/12/19, which means that objections can be filed until 3/1/19 (14 days plus 3 for service via U.S. mail). Until after that date, parties in interest and this Court will not know if, for example, someone were to object to Mr. Gallardo's employment and the proposed sale on the basis that Mr. Gallardo had an undisclosed interest in the sale.

The tentative ruling is that until Mr. Guillard's employment is approved, the sale must be only provisionally approved. The tentative ruling is that it is appropriate to shorten time (Rule 9006, Fed. R. Bankr. P.) because there is a substantial risk in any bankruptcy sale that if the sale is deferred then prospective purchasers may be unable or unwilling to continue to bid on the property (this Court takes judicial notice that there are considerable costs in holding a proposed sale open, if it is even possible to retain enough funds on hand to close a sale that has been deferred).

For all of the foregoing reasons, the tentative ruling is to set the employment application for hearing at the same time as the continued sale motion and continued status conference (see below).

(b) Debtor's Motion for Authority to Sell Altadena Property (the "Sale Motion," dkt. 102, 105, 114)

(i) Continued hearing

The tentative ruling is to approve the sale (subject to overbids) on a provisional basis, with a continued hearing at the same time as the continued status conference (see below). Between now and that continued hearing, Mr. Vasquez must arrange for a separate real estate broker to represent him (or must proceed without any real estate broker), and must disclaim any reliance on any past representation by Mr. Guillard and any present representation by him. In addition, the parties can take whatever steps may be appropriate to address the issues set forth below.

(ii) No approval or payment of attorney fees at this time

The tentative ruling is to sustain the objection of the UST (dkt. 104), joined in by Crescent (dkt. 110), that attorney fees must be subject to approval by this Court pursuant to the usual procedures, and that any approval of the proposed sale shall not be deemed to be approval of the attorney fees. The tentative ruling is that the proposed attorney fees must be held by Debtor's counsel in a separate account from which funds cannot be released without further order of this Court (a "Blocked Account"). In addition, the tentative ruling is to defer any ruling on Crescent's objection that it should be paid in full before any attorney fees are allowed (dkt. 110, p.5:24-25), because the timing of any distribution of attorney fees can be addressed in connection with allowance or disallowance of those fees.

(iii) Payment of real estate taxes

Crescent objects (dkt. 110, pp.4:24-5:14) that LA County's claim for real estate taxes, estimated to be $18,456.38, is of a lower priority than Crescent's own claim and therefore should not be paid until Crescent is paid in full. The parties are directed to address (x) whether the real estate taxes are in fact of a lower priority than Crescent's lien, (y) whether any doctrine of marshaling should apply (i.e., whether, even if Crescent's lien is of a higher priority in this property, its claim should be paid from the sale of any other property of the estate so that LA County can be paid out of this sale, or alternatively whether LA County is entitled to a replacement lien on other property so that it is not prejudiced by the fact that this property is being sold prior to other properties), and (z) whether any disputed funds that Debtor proposes to pay either LA County or Crescent must be held in the Blocked Account pending further order of this Court.

In addition, the parties are directed to address how any accruing interest affects the analysis. For example, if funds are held in a Blocked Account pending resolution of the competing claims of LA County and Crescent, will those claims continue to accrue interest at the rate that otherwise would apply (e.g., 18% or 29.99% or some other high rate), or only at the rate that is being paid by the bank at which the Blocked Account is maintained (e.g., 1%)?

The parties also are directed to address what will happen if the funds are distributed to LA County (to stop interest running) but later turn out to be payable to Crescent or the bankruptcy estate. Will LA County be subject to a disgorgement order, consistent with any sovereign immunity analysis?

(iv) Payment of costs of sale, including real estate brokers

The tentative ruling is to sustain the UST's objection (dkt. 104) and Crescent's objection (dkt. 110) to the extent they object to paying the real estate brokers until those brokers are actually retained. But the tentative ruling is to overrule Crescent's objection to the extent it is seeking to bar paying of any costs of sale, including real estate brokers, until it is paid in full, because those costs are properly chargeable out of Crescent's collateral. See dkt. 110, p.4:5-7; 11 U.S.C. 506(c).

(v) Payment of the portion of Crescent's claim that is not (yet) disputed

Crescent objects that Debtor has had considerable time in which to file any objection to its claim, but has yet to do so, and that the only portion of its claim as to which an objection has been outlined is the default interest. The tentative ruling is that this objection is well taken: not until 2/13/19 did Debtor assert that it would object to Crescent's claim on the additional ground of not fully funding the construction loan. See dkt. 114, p.4, para.7; dkt. 115, p.4:24-26. The tentative ruling is that this last minute suggestion of a possible type of claim objection is insufficient to support Debtor's proposal to withhold all distributions from Crescent.

In other words, the tentative ruling is that Debtor must pay all principal and non-default interest through the date of closing of escrow, plus all other charges included in the proof of claim, without prejudice to Crescent seeking additional charges and default interest, and conversely without prejudice to Debtor objecting at a later time to any charges (other than principal and non-default interest). This means that Debtor would have to pay out of escrow not only principal and non-default interest but also any attorney fees, late fees, or other charges included in the Proof of Claim, and Crescent subsequently could seek additional attorney fees and other charges, but Debtor subsequently could object both to any attorney fees and other charges that have already been distributed and to any new attorney fees and other charges.

The foregoing tentative ruling attempts to balance Debtor's broad rights to object to claims at any time against Debtor's unexplained delay in raising these issues, and against Crescent's rights (consistent with this Court's adequate protection order) to receive distributions without undue delay.

Debtor's latest closing statement (dkt. 114, Ex.A, at PDF p.6) lists the "Loan Payoff" as "To Be Determined" but with an (estimated) amount of $512,500. Crescent is directed to address at the hearing the approximate dollar amount that will comport with the foregoing tentative ruling.

(vi) "Good faith" finding

The tentative ruling is that any "good faith" finding (11 U.S.C. 363(m)) will require a declaration from any successful bidder that complies with the posted Procedures of Judge Bason:

§ 363(m): "Good Faith" Findings. Supporting declaration(s) should address: (1) connections: the bidder's prior, current, or expected connections with any relevant persons (other bidders, the debtor, major creditors or equity security holders in the case, or any of the debtor's officers, directors, agents, or employees, including whether any offers of employment or compensation have been made or will be offered to debtor's present or former officers, directors, agents, or employees), (2) consideration: whether any consideration is contemplated or has been transferred by the bidder in connection with the sale to any person other than the bankruptcy estate, and (3) absence of fraud or collusion between the bidder and any relevant persons (e.g., other bidders, the debtor's officers, directors, agents or employees), or any attempt to take unfair advantage of other bidders. See generally In re M Capital Corp., 290 B.R. 743, 748-49 (9th Cir. BAP 2003). As used in this paragraph, a "bidder" includes all known prospective bidders. [Judge Bason's posted Procedures, available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov]

(c) Motion for Relief from Stay (dkt. 78)

The tentative ruling is to continue this motion to the same time as the continued hearing on the Sale Motion.

(d) Motion for 2004 Examination (the "2004 Motion," dkt. 106)

Grant in part and deny in part as follows. The tentative ruling is to exercise this Court's discretion to limit discovery in keeping with the general principles set forth in Rule 26(b) and 45(d)&(e) (Fed. R. Civ. P.) and Rules 7026, 9016 and 9018 (Fed. R. Bankr. P.). Without limiting the foregoing, this Court is particularly aware that (i) although Debtor has yet to file any actual objection to Crescent's claim, that is clearly contemplated; (ii) Crescent has an interest in maintaining the confidentiality of its loan-analysis methodology; and (iii) Debtor has not shown that it lacks its own records on many of the issues on which it seeks discovery and that the relative burdens and benefits weigh in its favor.

The tentative ruling is that no later than 3/15/19 Crescent must produce the documents listed below (the list is excerpted from the 2004 Motion) and that Crescent's person most knowledgeable about the subject matter of those document requests must appear for examination at Debtor's bankruptcy counsel's law offices on 4/5/19 at 10:00 a.m. The document requests/subject matter that this Court tentatively will allow is as follows:

- (1) "ALL COMMUNICATIONS between YOU and the DEBTOR RELATING TO THE $500,000 LOAN" (dtk. 106, PDF p.23, Section A.6)
- (2) "ALL DOCUMENTS, including COMMUNICATIONS, RELATING TO YOUR assessment of the default interest rate with respect ot he $500,000 LOAN" (Id. at PDF p.24, Section A.11)
- (3) "ALL DOCUMENTS referring or relating to YOUR calculations of damages that YOU would sustain in the event of any default under the $500,000 LOAN" (Id. at PDF p.25, Section B.17)
- (4) "ALL DOCUMENTS referring or relating to YOUR analysis of the appropriate default interest to apply to the $500,000 LOAN" (Id. at PDF p.25, Section B.18)
- (5) "ALL DOCUMENTS referring or relating to YOUR efforts to arrive at a default interest rate that was intended to compensate YOU for actual anticipated damages that would result from a default under the $500,000 LOAN" (Id. at PDF p. 25, Section B.22)
- (6) "All appraisals or title reports completed RELATING TO the REAL PROPERTY" (Id. at PDF p.26, Section B.26)

The tentative ruling is, notwithstanding Debtor's reply (dkt. 117), to sustain Crescent's objections (dkt. 109) to the remaining questions, without prejudice to Debtor seeking further discovery (either under Rule 2004 or under other discovery rules, as appropriate) based upon a proper showing. For example, as noted above Debtor now contemplates that it might object to Crescent's claim based on Crescent not fully funding the construction loan, but Debtor provides no information about the facts and circumstances, which might assist Crescent and this Court to evaluate whether discovery is or is not focused on relevant issues.

Did Crescent promise to fund the loan with no strings attached, or did it impose performance metrics, or was the remaining funding within Crescent's sole discretion? What dollar amount did Crescent refuse to fund? When did it do so? What reasons, if any, did it give? Is Debtor contemplating a breach of contract objection, or a tort claim, or both?

In addition, the tentative ruling is to overrule Crescent's remaining objections as follows:

(i) LBR 2004-1(a): While the conference between Debtor and Crescent may not have been productive (dkt. 109, p.2), this Court is satisfied that for present purposes, the parties have "attempt[ed] to confer" as required by LBR 2004-1(a).

(ii) LBR 9013-1: Although the amount of notice of Debtor's 2004 Motion was short, Crescent has not shown that it was prejudiced by such shortened notice. The tentative ruling is to excuse any untimeliness in the 2004 Motion.

(iii) Laches: Crescent has not alleged sufficient delay to persuade this Court that relief based on laches is appropriate.

Chapter 11

(1) Current issues

(a) Motion to Refinance (dkt. 68). Grant, subject to the conditions in Citibank's Non-Opposition (dkt. 74) and subject to any proposed payment of debtors' attorney fees being held in a trust account with no distributions absent further order of this Court.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(2) Dates/Deadlines. This case was filed on 5/28/18.

(a) Bar date: 9/4/18 (timely served, dkt. 23, 25)

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: N/A

(c) Continued status conference: 2/26/19 at 1:00 p.m. Status report due 2/19/19.

*Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 12/11/18:

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues

(a) Motion to Use Cash Collateral (dkt. 57). Withdrawn (dkt. 69).

(b) Proposed refinance. The refinance motion (dkt. 68) was not filed until 12/3/18 - almost half a year after this case was filed: why was it not filed sooner? The motion fails to include the mandatory notice of hearing, objection deadlines, etc. The motion contemplates that the sale will close in January of 2019, but it lists a hearing date of 1/29/19 at 1:00 p.m., which would give almost no leeway to close in January after the hearing: why was the hearing self-calendared so far out? The motion admits that the payoff amounts will increase by then: will the refinance provide sufficient funds to pay all liens in full? The escrow statement contemplates a payment of $30,000 to Debtors' counsel: any such payment must be held in a trust account unless and until approved by this Court. The tentative ruling is to continue this status conference for one week to see if these issues have been corrected, with a warning to counsel for Debtors that there likely will be consequences to his continued disregard for the rules and procedures of this Court, including a reduction in fees.

(2) Dates/Deadlines. This case was filed on 5/28/18.

(a) Bar date: 9/4/18 (timely served, dkt. 23, 25)

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: N/A

(c) Continued status conference: 12/18/18 at 1:00 p.m. No written status report required.

Tentative Ruling for 11/27/18:

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues

(a) Motion to Use Cash Collateral. Grant on an interim basis, as set forth in the tentative ruling in calendar no. 11 (11/27/18 at 1:00 p.m.).

(b) Proposed refinance. At the status conference on 10/16/18, Debtors' counsel anticipated filing a motion for a refinance very shortly thereafter, and the tentative ruling for that date set forth various items that Debtor would need to address. No such motion is on the docket. The refinance motion was supposed to supersede the proposed plan and disclosure statement, and as noted in the tentative ruling for 10/16/18 those documents are incomplete and confused. See also dkt. 65 (objection of Ditech Fin. LLC). Are debtors and their counsel properly prosecuting this case?

The tentative ruling is to continue this Status Conference with a warning to Debtors and their counsel that if they do not prosecute this case then it likely will be dismissed with a bar against being a debtor again, or converted to chapter 7, or this Court may impose other remedies.

(2) Dates/Deadlines. This case was filed on 5/28/18.

(a) Bar date: 9/4/18 (timely served, dkt. 23, 25)

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: N/A

(c) Continued status conference: 1/15/19 at 1:00 p.m. No written status report required.

*Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

Tentative Ruling for 10/16/18:

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues. This Court has reviewed debtor's status report (dkt. 50) and other relevant pleadings.

(a) Plan (dkt. 47) and Disclosure Statement (dkt. 48). These documents are incomplete and confused. But the tentative ruling is that there is no need to proceed with these documents if Debtors are going to proceed with a proper motion to refinance and pay all creditors in full (as stated in their status report).

(b) Proposed refinance. The claims register lists total claims of $419,929.77 as of the petition date (of which $366,270.15 are listed as secured and $150.29 as priority). The proposed refinance would generate loan proceeds of $463,000. This appears to be sufficient to pay all claims, probably including postpetition interest, although perhaps not including 100% of asserted administrative expenses. Counsel for the debtor should be prepared to address (i) the form of motion he intends to file, (ii) whether that motion will seek authority to pay unsecured claims, and (iii) whether unsecured claims will be paid out of escrow or by some other means and, if the latter, who will hold the net proceeds after payment of secured claims.

(2) Dates/Deadlines. This case was filed on 5/28/18.

(a) Bar date: 9/4/18 (timely served, dkt. 23, 25)

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: N/A

(c) Continued status conference: 11/27/18 at 1:00 p.m. No written status report required.

Tentative Ruling for 8/14/18:

Continue to the date and time set forth below. Appearances are not required on 8/14/18.

(1) Current issues. This Court has reviewed debtor's status report (dkt. 38) and other relevant pleadings.

Tentative Ruling for 6/26/18:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor and by the debtor themselves.

(1) Current issues. This Court has reviewed the debtors' status report (dkt. 14), and the other filed documents and records in this case.

(a) May MOR (dkt. 18). The MOR purports to cover the period from 5/28/18 (the petition date) to 5/31/18, but is essentially blank, including the section for disclosure of existing insurance coverage (dkt. 18, pdf p. 5). Debtors should be prepared to address (i) whether they have insurance coverage on their residential real property (and any other asset requiring insurance); and, if they do

(ii) whether they read the MOR and understood it prior to signing.

(b) Case Status Report (dkt. 14).

(i) Budget Motion. The status report says that a budget motion is not required by Judge Bason's procedures (dkt. 14, pdf p. 3), but that is not correct. See Judge Bason's Procedures, Section VII.F ("Judge Bason requires the use of local forms F 2081-2.2.MOTION.BUDGET and F 2081-2.2.ORDER.BUDGET"). Did counsel actually review the posted procedures? The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 6/28/18 to file and serve a budget motion.

(ii) Consumers' confidential information. The status report states that the debtors do not have possession, custody, or control of consumers' confidential information (dkt. 14, pdf p. 10), but this Court questions whether that is accurate. What about customer lists from Hey Baby Sales, Inc.? Do the debtors claim any rights to those lists? (e.g. if the case were converted to a chapter 7 case, a sale of the debtors' interest in the company took place, and the buyer wanted the customer lists, would the debtors agree they could not retain or use the lists because the lists are owned by the company?).

The debtors should be prepared to address what steps they will take to protect confidential consumer information, and whether a consumer privacy ombudsman is required (11 U.S.C. 332).

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 5/28/18.

(a) Bar date: 9/4/18 (DO NOT SERVE notice yet - court will prepare an order after the status conference).

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: file by 9/25/18 using the forms required by Judge Bason (DO NOT SERVE yet, except on the U.S. Trustee - the court will set a deadline and procedures at a later time).

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 2/26/19:

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues

(a) Wells Fargo. What progress has been made in negotiation with secured creditor Wells Fargo Bank, N.A. ("WF," Class 2B in the debtor's draft Plan, dkt. 47)? This case is nearing its one year anniversary. If Debtor cannot negotiate a consensual resolution with WF, Debtor must either attempt a non-consensual plan or this case may be dismissed or converted.

The parties should be prepared to discuss what progress has been made in negotiation with secured creditor Wells Fargo Bank, N.A. (Class 2B in the debtor's draft Plan, dkt. 47). Appearances required by counsel for the debtor but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues. The debtor's proofs of service continue to be defective. Elizabeth Cruz declares that she has served the "PROOF OF SERVICE" itself, not the underlying orders. See dkt. 20 at PDF p.2 and dkt. 31 at PDF p.2.

At the hearing counsel is directed to explain why the proofs of service are defective, and what steps will be taken to correct this issue so that it no longer occurs. The deadline is 6/19/18 to file further amended proofs of service of both orders (the order setting principal status conference etc. at dkt. 6, and the bar date order at dkt. 23).

Tentative Ruling for 5/1/18:

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues.

(a) Budget motion (dkt. 13). Counsel must address:

(i) Income as of petition date or current? The debtor has filed an amended bankruptcy Schedule I (dkt. 30). Is that actually intended to be a decaration of postpetition income, or a correction of the debtor's income as of the petition date?

(ii) Amended budget motion? Should an amended budget motion needs to be filed and served, or is such notice unnecessary and should the budget be deemed amended, in view of what appears to be an increase of approximately $168 in the debtor's monthly income (compare dkt. 13 at PDF p.8, debtor's personal income of $2,800, with dkt. 30, line 7, debtor's personal income of $2,968)?

(b) Cash collateral motion (dkt. 12). Grant on a final basis, on the same terms as the interim order (dkt.24).

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 3/6/18.

(a) Bar date: 6/15/18 (Order, dkt. 23). Note: Timely served? Per the proof of service (dkt. 26, the "POS") the debtor served the POS itself on creditors. Presumably the debtor means that she served the order on creditors (not the POS), but the debtor is directed to file an amended POS saying so, no later than 5/3/18.

If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 4/10/18:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor and by the debtor(s) themselves.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Failure to serve order. This Court's order setting this status conference (dkt. 6) directed the debtor to serve a copy of that order on all parties in interest no later than 14 days prior to this status conference. No proof of service appears on the docket. The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 4/11/18 for the debtor to effect such service, with a caution to counsel that in future such failure may result in sanctions.

(b) Budget motion (dkt. 13). Grant on an interim basis, with a final hearing on the same date at the continued status conference set forth below.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 3/6/18.

(a) Bar date: 6/15/18 (DO NOT SERVE notice yet - court will prepare an order after the status conference).

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: file by 8/24/18 using the forms required by Judge Bason (DO NOT SERVE yet, except on the U.S. Trustee - the court will set a deadline and procedures at a later time).

(c) Continued status conference: 5/1/18 at 1:00 p.m. No written status report is required.

*Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

#13.00 Cont'd Status Conference re: Chapter 11 Case
fr. 01/08/19, 1/15/19, 1/29/19

Docket 5

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 2/26/19:

Appearances required.

(1) Current issues.

Debtor's status report (dkt. 55) reports some alleged progress in exploring either sale(s) of assets or sale of the business or both. What is the timeline? What assurances do creditors have that debtor's uncertainty on these issues (two months into this case) will not deplete rather than enhance any potential recoveries?

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 12/17/18.

(a) Bar date: TBD

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: TBD

(c) Continued status conference: 3/26/19 at 1:00 p.m., with a brief status report due 3/19/19.

(a) Bar date: TBD

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: TBD

(c) Continued status conference: the tentative ruling is to continue this Status Conference to 2/26/19 at 1:00 p.m., with a brief status report due 2/19/19.

Tentative Ruling for 1/15/19:

Appearances required.

(1) Current issues.

At the Status Conference on 1/8/19 this Court was persuaded not to dismiss this case. Debtor is directed to address (a) negotiations with the landlord regarding the pending motion for relief from the automatic stay and related issues regarding the commercial kitchen (see calendar no. 12, 1/15/19 at 10:00 a.m.) and (b) progress regarding Debtor's exit strategy (possible sale, refinancing, equity investment, contributions from family, etc.).

Tentative Ruling for 1/8/19:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor and by the debtor(s) themselves.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Case Status Report

In the Amended Order Setting (A) Principal Status Conference and (B) Procedures (dkt. 4), this Court directed the Debtor to file and serve a Case Status Report on Local Form F 2081-1.1.C11.STATUS.RPT at least 14 days before this hearing. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling the Debtor has not done so. Why not?

(b) First day motions

Debtor has not filed any payroll motion, motion for use of cash collateral, budget motion, utility motion, or other typical "first day" motions. This Court recognizes that Debtor is in the process of formulating its strategy (dkt. 20, p.4:17-21), and has requested an extension of time to file bankruptcy schedules and other documents (dkt. 19), but none of that excuses the failure to file any required first day motions.

(c) Dismissal? Bar?

Debtor is directed to address why this Court should not dismiss this case with a 180 day bar against being a debtor in bankruptcy, under 11 U.S.C. 109(g) (1), for willful failure to abide by an order of this court, or willful failure to appear in proper prosecution of this case, or both.

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues. This status conference was continued from 8/18/18 to 9/18/18 (dkt. 142). Based on recent docket activity, this Court is aware of the following issues.

(a) Dispute with State Compensation Insurance Fund (dkt. 145-156, 158, 159). Has this matter been resolved? Perhaps so, because the Status Report (dkt. 170) does not mention it. If not, what is the status of the parties' disputes?

(b) Final decree (dkt. 141, 151). The Status Report (dkt. 170) projects filing another motion by 12/31/18, so the tentative ruling is to continue this post-confirmation Status Conference to 12/18/18 at 1:00 p.m., with no written status report required and with the expectation that it might go off calendar if a motion

Chapter 11

(1) Current issues

(a) MORs (dkt. 44, 45)

MOR1 (for August, 2018) shows an ending balance of negative $4,549.03. MOR2 (for September 2018) shows an ending balance of negative $4,074.81. Both MORs also show negative postpetition accounts receivable. What does that mean?

Both MORs were also filed late. They were due middle of the month following the reporting period, and this Court's adopted tentative ruling for 10/9/18 directed that the defective August MOR be cured by 10/15/18 but it and the September MOR were not filed until 10/31/18.

Are the (untimely) MORs inaccurate? How can parties in interest and this Court rely on them for current information? If they're accurate, they appear to show losses, or at least an inability to generate profits that would be needed to reorganization.

In view of all the foregoing, should this case be converted or dismissed?

(b) Insider compensation

Debtor's notices of insider compensation (dkt. 46, 47) were not served until 10/24/18, even though this Court's adopted tentative ruling for 10/9/18 directed service no later than 10/12/18. Why?

Meanwhile, although Debtor's principal Neel Viradia declares under penalty of perjury that no unauthorized insider compensation has been paid (dkt. 45, p.16, answer #2), the breakdown of payroll in the MORs apparently shows otherwise (e.g., dkt. 45, p.5, lines 1-2). The form itself states (e.g., dkt. 47, p.2, bottom of page): "[T]his notice ... must be filed and served fifteen days before any pay out of compensation" What consequences should follow from Debtor's apparent violation of that limitation?

(c) Employment (dkt. 32, superseded by amended application, dkt. 42)

The amended application does not specify whether the $10,000 fee already paid by Batuk Viradia (and the filing fee), or the $2,000 he has committed to pay, are loans to Debtor, or gifts, or equity investments, or something else. Nor has he filed a declaration confirming that he understands that proposed counsel's sole loyalty must be to Debtor (not to Mr. Viradia), and that has been informed that there might be conflicts of interest and he may wish to seek separate counsel (e.g., conflicts could exist if Mr. Viradia received any preferential payments or other avoidable transfers, or if Mr. Viradia would prefer that Debtor take a course of action that is not in the best interests of creditors).

More generally, although payment of a retainer by a third party is not outright prohibited, it is fraught with ethical concerns. See In re Kelton Motors, Inc., 109 B.R. 641 (Bankr. D. The tentative ruling is that, if this case is not dismissed or converted, the employment application must be continued to the date of the continued status conference (set forth below) with a deadline of 11/13/18 for Debtor to file Mr. Viradia's declaration, with a copy of this tentative ruling attached as an exhibit, addressing the issues described above.

(d) Cash collateral. If this case is not dismissed or converted, the tentative ruling is to authorize the use of cash collateral on a final basis, on the same terms as the interim authorization (dkt. 37).

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 8/2/18.

(a) Bar date: 12/11/18 (order, dkt. 35). Although the order was not timely served (see dkt. 41), the tentative ruling is that the confusion of setting yet another bar date would outweigh the benefit, and that this Court can address any prejudice from shortened notice when and if anyone files a late claim and seeks to have the claim treated as timely.

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: TBD.

(c) Continued status conference: If this case is not dismissed or converted, the tentative ruling is to continue this status conference to 12/11/18 at 1:00 p.m. No written status report is required.

(a) Cash collateral. The tentative ruling is to authorize the use of cash collateral as set forth in the tentative ruling for calendar no. 6 (10/9/18 at 1:00 p.m.).

requires a notice and opportunity to object before any insider compensation is paid. But no such notice has been filed, and Debtor's Monthly Operating Report ("MOR") for the month ending 8/31/18 reflects payments to each of two insiders. Dkt. 34, at PDF p.8. The tentative ruling is to direct Debtor to serve the notice using the local form no later than 10/12/18.

(c) Bar date. On 9/5/18 this Court entered its "Order Setting Bar Date: November 9, 2018; and Directing Service by Debtor." Dkt. 24. The debtor failed to serve that order. Why? The tentative ruling is to issue an amended order setting a bar date as set forth below.

(d) MOR (dkt. 34). The MOR appears to be incomplete. For example, it refers to multiple accounts but appears to provide only a combined report; many of the entries are vague or have no description; and page one includes a reference to "Non DIP personal checking (see attached letter)" but no letter or any other explanation is attached. The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 10/15/18 to file an amended MOR correcting these and any other deficiencies.

(e) Employment (dkt. 25). As highlighted by the objection of the United States Trustee ("UST") (dkt. 28), the parties should be prepared to address (a) the proposed $12,000 flat fee under 11 U.S.C. 328 and (b) the source of the "loan" for $10,000 of that fee (dkt. 25, p.8) and the source of the remaining $2,000 plus the filing fee.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 8/2/18.

(a) Bar date: See above. In view of Debtor's failure to serve the order (dkt.24), the tentative ruling is to issue an amended order setting a bar date of 12/28/18 and directing the debtor to serve that order no later than 10/15/18 (DO NOT SERVE notice yet - court will prepare an order after the status conference).

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: TBD.

(c) Continued status conference: 11/6/18 at 1:00 p.m. No written status report is required.

*Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

Chapter 7

#1.00 Hrg re: Motion for Order Compelling Debtor to Appear at Continued § 341(a) Examination and for Order Authorizing Trustee to File Affidavit for Order Pursuant to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 2005

Docket 186

Tentative Ruling:

Grant the motion insofar as directing Debtor to attend the meeting of creditors, either (i) in person on 3/6/19 at 10:00 a.m. or (ii) through a video appearance, at Debtor's expense and using technology and a time and place reasonably satisfactory to the Chapter 7 Trustee, and (iii) continue this hearing to 3/26/19 at 2:00 p.m. to address possible remedies if Debtor fails to appear, including whether to issue an order requesting and directing the United States Marshal or his designee to detain Debtor and compel his attendance. Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Notice of the section 341(a) meeting of the creditors

Debtor asserts (dkt. 191, pp.4-5) that he did not receive proper notice of his obligation to attend the meeting of creditors (11 U.S.C. 341(a)) that originally was set for 1/17/19. First, Debtor does not appear to dispute that he had actual knowledge of the scheduled meeting, and he is charged with knowledge of the law establishing his duty to attend. See 11 U.S.C. 343. Second, as the Trustee's reply clarifies (dkt. 194), the Trustee is not seeking any remedy for Debtor's non-appearance at the initial meeting, but is seeking to address Debtor's preemptive assertion that he need not attend the continued meeting.

(2) Anticipated invocation of the 5th Amendment

Debtor asserts that "the Fifth Amendment will be broadly asserted at the 341 meeting." Dkt. 171, p.5:7-9. But, as explained in the Trustee's reply (dkt. 194), Mr. Layfield cannot assert a generalized right to invoke the 5th Amendment. He must appear and respond to the questions presented.

Chapter 7

(3) Alleged expense or inconvenience of attending the continued section 341(a) meeting

Debtor requests (through his criminal attorney who seeks to appear specially) that the Trustee's motion be denied because he resides in Delaware (dkt. 191, p.3:28) and because his lawyer states that Debtor is indigent (dkt. 191, p.7, para. 7). There is no admissible evidence presented with the opposition. Nevertheless, this Court takes judicial notice that, on other occasions, Debtor himself has asserted that he lives in Delaware and that travelling to California would be costly in terms of time and money.

The parties are directed to address whether Skype or some other video service, or combination of audio and video, can be used to create a recordable record of the meeting (as contemplated at the start of this tentative ruling).

Revised Tentative Ruling for 10/9/18:

Appearances required. The tentative ruling is to convert this case to chapter 7 pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 1112(b), due to the apparent conflicts of interest of the debtor's principal, Mr. Brown, with the interests of creditors. See Motion by UST (dkt. 39), Joinder by Allstar Fin. Svcs., Inc. (dkt. 62). Although Debtor asserts (dkt. 58) that a number of issues identified by the UST have been addressed, the opposition does not adequately address the alleged conflicts of interest. In addition, the issues identified in this Court's tentative ruling for 10/9/18 (reproduced below) have not been adequately addressed. In addition, this Court's order (dkt. 47) directed Debtor not to serve a notice of bar date and instead to serve a copy of that order itself, no later than 9/7/18, but Debtor disregarded that order and served its own notice (dkt. 51) on 9/16/18.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 10/9/18:

This court anticipates posting a tentative ruling at a later time.

Tentative Ruling for 9/4/18:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor and by the debtor(s) themselves.

(1) Current issues

Chapter 7

copy of the order. Why was it not served?

(b) Failure to comply with requirements for professionals. The debtor's status report (dkt. 45, p.4) states that neither the debtor's attorney nor any other professional intend to apply for employment because they do not intend to seek compensation during the case. That is not the test. They are required to apply for employment under 11 U.S.C. 327. In addition, the United States Trustee ("UST") has objected in its motion to dismiss (dkt. 39) that the person who claims to be acting as the debtor's bankruptcy attorney, Robert A. Brown, Esq., is also the debtor's CEO and General Counsel. The parties should be prepared to address the conflicts issues.

(c) Failure to comply with Chapter 11 requirements. See the UST's motion to dismiss (dkt. 39).

(d) Failure to comply with procedures for plan (dkt. 38) and disclosure statement (dkt. 37). As stated in this Court's status conferences order (dkt. 9), Judge Bason's posted procedures (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) establish procedures for any draft plan and disclosure statement. Counsel for the debtor has violated those procedures by mailing a copy of the drafts to creditors before this Court has approved such mailing.

In addition, those documents omit any meaningful liquidation analysis or disclosure of what could be paid to general unsecured creditors, instead opting for a flat 12% promised distribution (dkt. 38, at PDF pp.13-14). In addition, from the summary of assets and liabilities (dkt. 19) it appears that the debtor might have enough equity in property to pay far more than 12%, depending on the total amount of unsecured claims.

(e) Opaque "disclosures". The debtor's references to a sale of the "Marsh" property is not adequately explained. In addition, although the debtor's bankruptcy Schedule H (dkt. 1) asserts that there are no co-debtors, this Court questions whether that is so because business organizations typically have individual guarantors on any major debts.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 7/30/18.

(a) Bar date: 11/7/18 (DO NOT SERVE notice yet - court will prepare an order after the status conference).

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement: TBD.

Appearances are not required on 9/4/18.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Dissolution of "Oh Happy Day" (dkt. 544, 579, 583, 602). Grant, provided that all assets (tangible or intangible) in which Oh Happy Day, LLC currently has an interest must continue, after dissolution of that entity, to be administered by the Agent (to the full extent of any interest the debtor has in such assets). See Term Sheet (dkt. 547), section 6 (defining Agent Assets).

Proposed order: The debtor is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(b) Employment of Ballard, Rosenberg firm/Schwettmann as Special Counsel (dkt. 490, 532, 533, 546, 582). Continue to the same date and time as the continued status conference (set forth below), for the reasons set forth in the responses (dkt. 546, 582). In addition, no later than 10/2/18 the debtor is directed to file a supplement clarifying whether the proposed employment is of Mr. Schwettmann individually or his firm.

(c) Expand Kaplan Employment (dkt. 461, 480, 497, 505, 534, 575, 576). Continue to the same date and time as the continued status conference (set forth below), for the reasons set forth in the latest documents (dkt. 575, 576).

Tentative Ruling for 9/4/18:

This court anticipates issuing or posting a tentative ruling at a later time.

Tentative Ruling for 8/3/18:

Appearances required. The tentative rulings are set forth below. In addition, the tentative ruling is to set a continued status conference on 8/16/18 at 10:00 a.m., or such alternative time as may be ordered at the hearing.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Motion to Confirm Dean Rallis as Agent (dkt. 536). Grant (approve the appointment of Dean Rallis, Esq. as Agent) under the Term Sheet, as amended (see below), and subject to the provisions of this Court's order approving the settlement (dkt. 528, paragraphs 3, 4, and 6-8). The tentative ruling to grant this motion is based on the representation in the motion (dkt. 536, p.9:5-9) that the parties who objected/reserved their rights to object have now consented to the appointment of Mr. Ralis. (This Court disregards the invective, id. n.3 & accompanying text.) If that is incorrect then this tentative ruling is subject to any opposition at the hearing (see OST, dkt. 538). This tentative ruling is also based on this Court's review of the other relevant documents. See dkt. 495 (selection of proposed agent), 528 (order approving settlement), 531 (objection), 535 (Committee support), 536 (motion), Application for Order Shortening Time (dkt.

537, 540) and evidence of service (dkt. 541).

Proposed order: Counsel for the debtor is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(b) 9019 Motion (see Term Sheet, dkt. 445, 528). This Court's Order (dkt. 528) approving Settlement directed the parties to prepare, sign and file a final version of the "Term Sheet" reflecting certain modifications. This Court notes that the debtor appears to have circulated a revised Term Sheet (dkt. 536, Ex.A) that incorporates the changes discussed on the record, although that revised Term Sheet is not "redlined" and this Court has not engaged in any line-by-line review of its terms. In any event, the parties are directed to provide a status report on when a declaration will be filed with this Court memorializing the fully executed final Term Sheet.

(c) Motion to Extend Time to Assume or Reject Lease (dkt. 457). The tentative ruling is to continue this motion to the date and time of the continued status conference, for the authorized Agent to consider and take a position on the merits of this motion.

Analysis: Although the debtor argues (e.g., in dkt. 534) that she is prejudiced by any lack of immediate decision on pending matters, the tentative ruling is that the debtor has not established undue prejudice because of (i) the debtor's own delay in selecting a nominee to be the Agent, (ii) the debtor's ability to engage in numerous other activities to attempt to turn around her finances without having to wait for those particular pending matters to be resolved, and (iii) the fact that, as this Court interprets the deadlines in the Term Sheet, "Approval" of the settlement did not occur until "entry" of an order approving the settlement (see dkt. 474, Ex.C, section 1, 1st paragraph, penultimate sentence), and the oral ruling was not entered on the docket, only the written order (dkt. 528) was entered, so the time of Approval (which commences the time for the debtor to perform various tasks under the Term Sheet) did not commence until entry of that written order on 7/25/18.

(d) Motion to Assume and Assign 1629 Griffith Lease (Presbytery) (dkt. 351). Continue to the date and time of the continued status conference, for the authorized Agent to consider the merits of this motion, for the same reasons as stated in section (1)(c) of this tentative ruling, above.

(e) Motion to Expand Scope of Kaplan Employment (dkt. 461, 480, 497, 505, 534). Continue to the date and time of the continued status conference, for the authorized Agent to consider the merits of this motion, for the same reasons as stated in section (1)(c) of this tentative ruling, above.

(f) Scheduling Conference re: Evidentiary Hearing on Motion to Assume 1356 Palmetto Lease (Bridge Tavern/Villain's) (dkt. 187). At the 7/18/18 hearing, this Court was informed that the proposed assignee/buyer had withdrawn. This Court subsequently issued an Order (dkt. 501) deeming the portion of the motion that sought to assign the lease moot and withdrawn, and continuing the portion of the motion that seeks to assume the lease to this hearing solely for scheduling further proceedings on this motion. The parties should be prepared to address a schedule for this motion and/or whether to continue the scheduling matters so that the Agent can determine whether or not to pursue this motion and related matters.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 3/6/18.

(a) Bar date: 8/24/18 (dkt. 367, timely served on 6/19/18 per dkt. 383)

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: TBD.

(c) Continued status conference: Date and time set forth at the start of this tentative ruling. No written status report is required.

*Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

Tentative Ruling for 7/16/18:

Pacific (the "Presbytery") (dkt. 467) and the replies filed by the debtor (dkt. 472) and by the Archbishop/Institute and the Bird Nest (dkt. 474). Among other things, this Court will address whether the Term Sheet can be approved without the further documentation that is contemplated by the settling parties. In that regard, the parties should address the proposed amendment to paragraph 6 of the Term Sheet. See dkt. 474, Ex.C.

This Court expresses no present opinion on those issues. This Court is intentionally withholding any further tentative ruling on those matters so as not to disrupt potential settlement discussions among those parties, but if the parties have not agreed to the proposed amendment to paragraph 6 (or some other resolution) then this Court intends to provide a tentative ruling at the commencement of the hearing.

The parties are encouraged to meet and confer about the foregoing issues. If, at the end of the hearing, there are issues that remain to be addressed, then the parties should be prepared to address whether this Court should set a continued hearing on the date and time specified at the start of this tentative ruling or some other date.

(b) Stay relief motion (appellate litigation with Bird Nest and Archbishop/Institute) (dkt. 68). Continue to the date and time set forth at the start of this tentative ruling, if this motion is not mooted by the disposition of the settlement motion.

(c) Exclusivity motion (dkt. 308, 348, 422). Continue to the date and time set forth at the start of this tentative ruling, and meanwhile extend exclusivity for the same amount of time, on the same terms and conditions as this Court's Prior Order (dkt. 422) - i.e., no incurring of fees or expenses for plan-related work. This Court calculates that the extensions would be as follows: (i) The 120-day period specified in section 1121(c)(2) and (d)(1) (deadline for filing a plan) will be further extended from 8/15/18 (see dkt. 422) to and including 9/19/18, and (ii) the 180-day period specified in section 1121(c)(3) and (d)(1) (deadline for acceptance of plan by impaired classes) will be further extended from 10/15/18 (see dkt. 422) to and including 11/19/18.

(d) Cash Collateral motion (dkt. 5). Continue to the date and time set forth at the start of this tentative ruling, and meanwhile extend the interim authorized use of cash collateral through and including the conclusion of the continued hearing subject to the same terms and conditions as previously authorized by this Court (see dkt. 29, 79, 239, 244, 347, 413), if this motion is not mooted by the

(h) Security Deposit refund motion (dkt. 350). Grant. Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(i) Budget motion (dkt. 96). Extend the interim authorization through and including the date of the continued hearing and meanwhile approve the budget subject to the same terms and conditions as previously authorized by the Court (see dkt. 340), if this motion is not mooted by the disposition of the settlement motion.

(j) Claim objection (Bird Nest) (dkt. 292). Continue to the date and time set forth at the start of this tentative ruling, if this motion is not mooted by the disposition of the settlement motion.

(k) Claim objection (Institute) (dkt. 296). Continue to the date and time set forth at the start of this tentative ruling, if this motion is not mooted by the disposition of the settlement motion.

Tentative Ruling for 6/22/18:
Appearances required.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Urbanlime/Haro employment (dkt. 93, 253), Bridge Tavern (Villain's) Reopening Motion (dkt. 214, previously granted, dkt. 339, but rescheduled per dkt.369 para. 4.5), Sale Motion (dkt. 112, temporarily denied, dkt. 369, 385) and Lease Assignment Motion (dkt. 187, re-set for hearing, dkt. 388). The parties should be prepared to address the issues set forth in this Court's orders (dkt. 369, 378, 385, 388) setting this hearing.

(b) Motion to extend exclusivity (dkt. 308, 312, 333, 348). The tentative ruling is to preserve the status quo by:

(i) prohibiting the estate from incurring any fees or expenses relative to any contemplated plan between time this tentative ruling is posted and the conclusion of the hearing on the motion to appoint a trustee (dkt. 332, the "Trustee Motion"), currently scheduled for 7/10/18 at 2:00 p.m;

(ii) if the Trustee Motion is denied, then extending exclusivity through at least 8/14/18 (any further extension will be addressed at the hearing on 7/10/18 at 2:00 p.m.), so that Mr. Tilem will have the time he has stated he would need to draft a plan (approximately 30 days); and

(iii) if the Trustee motion is granted, then terminate exclusivity.

Tentative Ruling for 5/3/18:

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

The only issue this Court intends to address is a continued hearing date in view of the last-minute papers that were filed, to fit the parties' and this Court's own needs.

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor. Other parties in interest are invited but not required to appear.

Telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues.

(a) Cash flow and cash collateral motion (dkt. 5, 14, 15, 29). This Court's written order (dkt. 29) erroneously lists the continued hearing as 3/20/18 instead of 4/17/18 at 2:00 p.m., as orally ordered at the hearing on 3/9/18. Nevertheless, it is appropriate in connection with this Status Conference to address the debtor's current and projected cash flow and related issues.

This Court was not persuaded at the hearing on 3/9/18 that the debtor can generate positive cash flow. The debtor is directed to provide a brief update on any plans to generate positive cash flow from her various businesses and properties. It is also appropriate for other parties in interest to address whether there has been adequate disclosure to date regarding the finances of those businesses and properties. The debtor is cautioned that the declaration due on 3/27/18 must provide comprehensive disclosures regarding those businesses and properties: if the debtor cannot show reasonable prospects for positive cash flow within a reasonable time then this Court might have to grant relief from the automatic stay (upon a proper motion), or convert or dismiss this bankruptcy case, at least if the debtor does not abandon unprofitable businesses or properties.

(b) Employment applications. The parties should be prepared to address the oppositions (dkt. 56, 57) and the direct and indirect source(s) of funds used by the debtor to pay prepetition retainers (see dkt. 48, and cf. dkt. 9, p.6, dkt. 18, p.8, dkt. 20, p.8 - blank spaces instead of disclosure), including when the liens against the 1902 property arose (dkt. 48, Ex.A). In addition, the parties should be prepared to address the following issues:

(i) Proposed bankruptcy counsel - Tilem (dkt. 9, 10): (i) Why were resumes for associates, paralegals, and persons who are "of counsel" to the firm not included? (ii) Has counsel waived or amended the provisions in the retainer agreement regarding the "evergreen" retainer; "overtime" rates, and any attorney's lien? (iii) As for proposed out-sourcing, counsel must address whether employment of such counsel could result in imputed or actual conflicts of interest from any work performed by such attorneys for their own clients or for other law firms.

(ii) Proposed special counsel: the Robins firm and Horvitz firm (dkt. 18, 19, 20, 21). The hourly rates of proposed counsel at the Robins firm and Horvitz firm are substantially greater than those for the debtor's proposed general bankruptcy counsel and the Snyder firm. How will the debtor - acting as a debtor in possession with the duties of a trustee for the benefit of creditors - assure that the potential benefits are not outweighed by the costs that can be reasonably anticipated in connection with the ongoing litigation with Birds Nest, the Archbishop, and the Institute (as those terms are defined in the parties' papers)?

(iii) Proposed special counsel: the Snyder firm (dkt. 36, 37). (i) What is the nature of the litigation in which that firm represents the debtor and co-plaintiff, Bridge Tavern, LLC against Odysseuss Investment Group, LLC? (ii) What are the potential costs/risks and benefits? (iii) Is there any actual or potential conflict of interest between the two plaintiffs (e.g., if any judgment in their favor were to be allocated between them in a way that is unfavorable to one or the other)? (iv) From the description at the status conference on 3/9/18 it seemed that the Snyder firm might be assisting the debtor now or in future in

Tentative Ruling for 11/14/17:

Appearances required. The tentative ruling is to deny the motions for default judgments, without prejudice, for the reasons set forth below, and to set a continued status conference for 1/30/18 at 2:00 p.m.

On the one hand, there appears to be successful prosecution of this adversary proceeding because, according to the plaintiff's status report (adv. dkt. 92), all of the defendants have either agreed to the requested declaratory relief or have defaulted. On the other hand, there are some fundamental issues that appear to prevent this court from granting default judgments at this time.

(1) Self-calendaring error. The motions for default judgments were only served on 10/27/17. See, e.g., Motion for Default Judgment Derek Wilshee (dkt. 83, 74) (collectively, the "Wilshee Default Motion"). That is insufficient time prior to the hearing, under the applicable rules, nor was there any cover notice of the hearing date and deadline for any opposition or response.

(2) Jurisdictional issues.

(a) Personal jurisdiction. Does the complaint adequately establish personal jurisdiction over each defendant? At least one defendant is alleged to be a resident of Australia (dkt. 1, para. 14), although the plaintiff has voluntarily dismissed claims against that defendant (dkt. 107). Are each of the defaulting defendants subject to personal jurisdiction?

(b) Subject matter jurisdiction, and abstention. The complaint and motions for default judgment make somewhat vague assertions of other action(s) that were or are pending in other courts apparently involving the same subject matter, and involving at least preliminary injunctive relief if not other relief. Can this Bankruptcy Court assume jurisdiction over matters that are pending in other courts? Must or should this Bankruptcy Court abstain?

(3) Allegations of wrongdoing. Where is the analysis tying each of the defaulting defendants to one or more of the specific acts of wrongdoing bringing them within the claims in the complaint? For example, the only allegation in the complaint regarding Mr. Wilshee (dkt. 1, para. 14) appears to be that he was at one time an officer of the debtor. How is that an act of wrongdoing?

The Wilshee Default Motion seeks a default judgment against Mr. Wilshee of $431,472,300.00 (dkt. 74, at PDF p.51 of 53). How is he responsible for such alleged damages? Does the complaint need to be amended to establish, as against one or more of the defaulting defendants, how they are alleged to be liable?

(4) Calculation of damages. An exhibit to the plaintiff's motions for default judgments asserts that "Based on Department of Conservation Records [available on a website and/or verified by whom?], these leases [which leases? the ones that allegedly were supposed to be assigned but were not?] were producing 1730 barrels of Oil a day [when?]" and "[w]ith today's technology [how is today's technology better?], a conservative figure would be 3500 barrels a day [based on whose expert opinion?] that will be used as a figure for all the losses caused by Western States International [how about other defendants?]." Dkt. 83, Ex.A, at PDF p.17 of 53. The same exhibit shows a calculation of alleged damages based on "Approx Production" of "105,000" which is far more than 3500 barrels (perhaps using a 30-day presumptive month multiplied by 3500 barrels a day?), an "Average Oil Price [from what source?]," and a "Cost [to extract, market, refine, deliver, and sell the oil - or some other or different set of things? based on what expert's opinion?]." Based on the foregoing questions, and applying Rule 55(b)(2) (Fed. R. Civ. P.) (incorporated by Rule 7055, Fed. R. Bankr. P.), it appears that additional evidence and a "prove up" hearing will be needed to determine the amount of damages, if not other issues.

(5) Alleged costs, attorney fees, and interest. The debtor/plaintiff asserts $1 million in costs (dkt. 74 at PDF p.51 of 53) - how is that possible? What are the components? Attorney fees are alleged to be $300,000 - this case has barely commenced, so how is that possible? Where are the daily time sheets and/or other support for this figure? Prejudgment interest is alleged to be at a 10% rate per year starting 1/1/11. What is the contractual or statutory basis for that interest rate and that commencement date? The purported damages were incurred month by month, so how can interest run from before those damages were incurred?

(6) Declaratory relief. The plaintiff makes broad allegations about the rights under various contracts, or arising from breaches of those contracts or by operation of law. Where is the support for these allegations? The plaintiff cannot place the burden on this court to sort through numerous provisions of various contracts to piece together the plaintiff's theory. The plaintiff must provide specific, easy-to-follow analysis and evidence.

(7) Conclusion. Because the motions for default judgments are both procedurally and substantively deficient in all of the ways set forth above, the tentative ruling is to deny them without prejudice.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 8/22/17:

Appearances required. This court notes that the parties were directed to file a joint status report two weeks in advance of this hearing (dkt. 2), but have not done so. In addition, this court notes that the tentative ruling in the main case status conference (calendar no. 3, 8/22/17 at 2:00 p.m.) is to dismiss the main case, which normally would terminate this adversary proceeding. Nevertheless, to preserve all rights in the event that this court were to be persuaded not to dismiss the main case, this court has reviewed the other filed documents and records in this adversary proceeding and issues the following tentative ruling.

(1) Venue/jurisdiction/authority.

The parties are directed to address any outstanding matters of (a) venue, (b) jurisdiction, (c) this court's authority to enter final orders or judgment(s) in this proceeding and, if consent is required, whether the parties do consent, or have already expressly or impliedly consented. See generally Stern v. Marshall, 131 S.Ct. 2594, 2608 (2011) (if litigant "believed that the Bankruptcy Court lacked the authority to decide his claim...then he should have said so – and said so promptly."); Wellness Int'l Network, Ltd. v. Sharif, 135 S.Ct. 1932 (2015) (consent must be knowing and voluntary but need not be express); In re Bellingham Ins. Agency, Inc., 702 F.3d 553 (9th Cir. 2012) (implied consent), aff'd on other grounds, 134 S. Ct. 2165 (2014); In re Pringle, 495 B.R. 447 (9th Cir. BAP 2013) (rebuttable presumption that failure to challenge authority to issue final order is intentional and indicates consent); In re Deitz, 760 F.3d 1028 (9th Cir. 2014) (authority to adjudicate nondischargeability encompasses authority to liquidate debt and enter final judgment). See generally In re AWTR Liquidation, Inc., 548 B.R. 300 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2016).

(2) Mediation. Is there is any reason why this court should not order the parties to mediation before one of the volunteer mediators (not a Bankruptcy Judge), and meanwhile set the deadlines set forth below?

(3) Deadlines: This adversary proceeding has been pending since 6/19/17. Pursuant to LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B), plaintiff is directed to serve and lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the status conference, attaching a copy of this tentative ruling or otherwise memorializing the following.

Discovery cutoff (for completion of discovery): 1/12/18

Expert(s) - deadline for reports: 1/26/18

Expert(s) - discovery cutoff (if different from above): 2/9/18

Dispositive motions to be heard no later than: 3/2/18

Joint Status Report: 11/28/17

Continued status conference: 12/12/17 at 11:00 a.m.

Trial deadlines to be determined at a later time.

If you do not appear, and the matter is not adequately resolved by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 2/26/19:
Appearances required.

(1) Current matters

At the hearing on 10/2/18 this Court heard oral argument on the motion of the Bureau of Land Management ("BLM") to dismiss Debtor's adversary proceeding ("Debtor v. BLM," Adv. No. 2:18-ap-01057-NB). This Court took the matter under submission and continued the various related matters in this case to 12/4/18, and then (for this Court's own scheduling needs) to 12/18/18 (dkt. 167), and then (based on the partial shutdown of the U.S. government) to 2/26/19 (Debtor v. BLM adv. dkt. 44, 46).

(a) Current status and tentative rulings

This Court anticipates, prior to this 2/26/19 hearing, finalizing and issuing a Memorandum Decision granting the BLM's motion to dismiss the Debtor v. BLM adversary proceeding, without leave to amend. Based on that ruling, Debtor will not have any interest in the subject leases. The tentative ruling is that this moots the related matters:

(i) Debtor v. Western States Int'l et al.

Debtor's adversary proceeding against other parties in interest that essentially seeks to clear Debtor's title to the leases ("Debtor v. Western States Int'l, et al.," Adv. No. 2:17-ap-01326-NB); and

(ii) R/S Motion (dkt. 130)

Ms. Aliet-Gass's motion for relief from the automatic stay to proceed with pending litigation in State Court, in which she essentially seeks to assert the alleged interests of Western States Int'l against Debtor.

Accordingly, the tentative ruling is (x) to stay the foregoing related matters for a period of not less than 14 days after entry of this Court's order dismissing the Debtor v. BLM adversary proceeding, (y) if there is an appeal from that order, to extend such stay during the pendency of any appeal and subsequent proceedings on that order, and (z) if there is no appeal, dismiss this bankruptcy case and all pending adversary proceedings and contested matters. This Court will prepare the orders granting the BLM's motion to dismiss and the orders staying the related proceedings.

The parties should be prepared to address whether any additional procedural issues need to be addressed.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 11/23/16.

(a) Bar date: 7/10/17 and 1/26/18 (sufficiently served, dkt. 56, 60, 103, 107, 110, 111, 121, 123).

Tentative Ruling for 5/8/18:

This court anticipates posting a tentative ruling at a later time. [NOTE: no tentative ruling was posted]

Tentative Ruling for 4/17/18:

Continue (1) calendar nos. 5, 6 and 7 on today's calendar, and (2) the motion for relief from the automatic stay filed by Ingrid Aliet-Gass for herself and Western States International, Inc. (dkt. 130, the "R/S Motion") all as set forth below. Appearances are not required on 4/17/18.

Specifically, the tentative ruling is as follows:

(1) Continue (a) the status conference in this bankruptcy case, (b) the status conference in adversary proceeding no. 2:17-ap-01326-NB, and (c) the debtor's motion to amend the complaint in that adversary proceeding (adv. dkt. 125, and see adv. dkt. 130, 131, 139, 142) to be concurrent with (d) the motion by the Bureau of Land Management ("BLM") to dismiss the separate adversary proceeding against it (no. 2:18-ap-01057-NB, adv. dkt. 7), which is currently scheduled for 5/8/18 at 2:00 p.m.

(2) Continue the R/S Motion, which is currently set for 5/1/18 at 10:00 a.m., to the same date and time.

In addition, the debtor/plaintiff should be prepared to address whether the proposed amended complaint cures the deficiencies in the original complaint, and whether any ruling on the motion to amend the complaint should be deferred until after default judgments are (or are not) obtained on the existing (original) complaint, for the reasons set forth in this Court's Memorialization Of Reasons For Denying Motions For Default Judgments (captioned for the adversary proceeding but erroneously filed in the main case as dkt. 118). See also Order denying prior motions for default judgments (adv. dkt. 117) and subsequent Motions for default judgments (adv. dkt. 133, 134, 135).

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: TBD.

(c) Continued status conference: 3/20/18 at 2:00 p.m., status report due 3/6/18.

*Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

Tentative Ruling for 1/23/18:

Continue the status conferences in both the main case and the adversary proceeding (adv. no. 2:17-ap-01326-NB) to 2/13/18 at 2:00 p.m. with a status report due 2/6/18 (at which time other documents are also due as set forth below) for the reasons set forth below. Appearances are not required on 1/23/18.

because of the debtor's untimely last-minute filing of status reports (the debtor is cautioned that continued untimely filings may result in sanctions); (iii) because of the inability of the Office of the United States Trustee to appear due to the shutdown of much of the federal government, (iv) to be concurrent with the (improperly self-calendared) motion to amend the complaint, and (v) in view of the debtor's various status reports (main case dkt. 117, adv. dkt. 122, 127, 129).

(b) Bar date. The debtor's proofs of service of the bar date order are missing exhibits and incomprehensible (see dkt. 110, 111). The debtor is directed to file, no later than 2/6/18, either a corrected proof of service or an application (supported by a declaration) to set yet another supplemental bar date - whichever is appropriate.

(c) Status of existing complaint in adversary proceeding. On 11/20/17 this court issued an order (adv. dkt. 117) denying the plaintiff/debtor's motions for default judgments, without prejudice. The debtor now seeks to amend the complaint (adv. dkt. 125). All of these things moot the motions for default judgments so the hearings on those motions have been vacated.

In addition, the tentative ruling is to memorialize this court's reasons for denying the motions for default judgments by filing on the docket a copy of this court's adopted tentative ruling for the 11/14/17 hearings on those motions (reproduced within the tentative ruling for calendar no. 9. 1/23/18 at 2:00 p.m.).

(d) Motion to amend complaint (adv. dkt. 125). This motion was self-calendared for 2:00 p.m. (a time that cannot be used for self-calendaring) on 2/13/18. Nevertheless, the tentative ruling is to permit that motion to proceed at that time.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 11/23/16.

(a) Bar date: initial date of 7/10/17 (order timely served, dkt. 56, 60); supplemental date of 1/26/18, to be served no later than 11/15/17 (per Order, dkt. 107) but proofs of service are incomprehensible (dkt. 110, 111) - see above under "current issues".

Tentative Ruling for 11/14/17:

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address the following issues.

(1) Current issues. The debtor has filed a second (very belated) proof of service (dkt. 103) of this court's order (dkt. 56) setting a bar date. Under that order the bar date was set as 7/10/17 and service was required no later than 5/8/17. What does the debtor's belated service do except cause confusion? Does the debtor require a new bar date for previously unknown creditors?

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 11/23/16. If this case is not converted or dismissed, the tentative ruling is to set the following:

(a) Bar date: 7/10/17 (order timely served, dkt. 56, 60; but see above under "current issues").

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: TBD.

(c) Continued status conference: 1/30/18 at 2:00 p.m., status report due 1/16/18.

consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 8/22/17:

The tentative ruling is to dismiss this case with a 180 day bar for willful failure to appear in proper prosecution, as set forth below. See 11 U.S.C. 109(g)(1). Appearances are not required.

Reasons: This case was filed on 11/23/16. The debtor's assets consist of disputed rights in hydrocarbon leases. See Status Report, dkt. 81. Realizing any value from those rights apparently depends on retaining special counsel who will diligently prosecute the debtor's claims. Despite numerous opportunities, the debtor has failed to satisfy the prerequisites for retention of special counsel.

(1) Inadequate declarations about "connections"

At the hearing on 7/11/17 this court extensively reviewed the evidence that would be required before this court could approve the application to employ the latest proposed special counsel, Mr. Montes. That included a requirement of detailed declarations from Mr. and Mrs. Hoats regarding any transfers of any property (including intangible property) involving the debtor and any of them, as well as any other "connections" (as that term is used in Rule 2014, Fed. R. Bankr. P.) to the debtor and any other party in interest.

This court recognizes that Mr. and Mrs. Hoats are not the professionals whose employment is being sought. Nevertheless, given their very close ties to the debtor, and their failure to disclose connections to the prior proposed special counsel that raised questions about conflicts of interest, this court orally ordered the debtor to provide their declarations at the hearing on 5/2/17. That order has been ignored.

(2) Knudsen factors

This court also directed Mr. Montes to file a declaration addressing the factors that this court must consider in assessing his request to be paid more frequently than once every 120 days. See In re Knudsen, 84 B.R. 668, 672-73 (9th Cir. BAP 1988). Mr. Montes has filed such a declaration (dkt. 82) and has adequately summarized the factors (id., p.3:15-23) but he has not adequately addressed the third factor, which he summarizes as: "any funds paid but later disapproved by the court can be recovered from the professional" in one or more of the ways listed in Knudsen. (Emphasis added.) Those ways are:

- [a. Holdback] retainer payments are for only a percentage of the amount billed so that the likelihood or necessity of repayment is minimal [Mr. Montes suggests a 10% holdback, which has not been shown to be adequate - the typical amount is 20%, and that typically applies only to well established firms whose ability to repay funds is reinforced by the firm's longevity and reputation or similar considerations];
- [b. Bond] counsel can post a bond covering any possible reassessment [Mr. Montes has not addressed this factor];
- [c. Financial ability to repay] counsel's financial position makes it certain that any reassessment can be repaid [Mr. Montes has not addressed this factor]; [and/or]
- [d. Hold funds in trust account] funds paid prior to allowance are held in a trust account until a final or interim fee allowance is made [Mr. Montes has only offered to place the 10% proposed holdback in a trust account]. [Knudsen, 84 B.R. 668, at 672]

(3) The debtor appears to cite the wrong statutory authority

The debtor's application to employ Mr. Montes (dkt. 65) requests that his employment be approved under subsection "(e)" of 11 U.S.C. 327. But that subsection only applies by its terms to an attorney who "has represented the debtor" (i.e., prepetition counsel whose employment is to continue postpetition). Id. (emphasis added).

That is not the end of the analysis, because it has been held that special counsel can be employed even when such counsel has not represented the debtor prepetition. See In re Fondiller, 15 B.R. 890, 892 (9th Cir. BAP 1981) (emphasis added), appeal dismissed, 707 F.2d 441 (9th Cir. 1983). Although Fondiller has been interpreted as authorizing employment under subsection (e) (see, e.g., Covenant Fin. Group of Am., Inc., 243 B.R. 450, 455 & n. 8 (Bankr. N.D. Ala. 1999)), the precise holding of Fondiller appears to be that special counsel can be employed under subsection "(a)" of Section 327 because any "omission" in subsection "(e)" does not limit the general authority in subsection "(a)." See Fondiller, 15 B.R. at 891-92 (interpreting § 327(a) by comparison with §§ 327(c) and (e)).

True, the precise statutory authority appears to make little if any practical difference, because Fondiller held that when counsel is only employed to perform limited services, then an interest "adverse to the estate" means "an adverse interest relating to the services which are to be performed by that attorney," which appears to mean that the inquiry for proposed special counsel under subsection

"(a)" is the same as under subsection "(e)." Fondiller, 15 B.R. at 892 (emphasis added). Mr. Montes' declaration (included in dkt. 65) appears to meet this test because he states that he has no adverse interest.

Nevertheless, as stated above this court has required additional evidence from Mr. and Mrs. Hoats and that evidence has not been provided. In addition, because the debtor has sought authority under subsection "(e)" instead of "(a)" it appears not have met the technical requirements for employment of Mr. Montes.

If you wish to dispute the above tentative ruling, please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings".

Tentative Ruling for 7/11/17:

Appearances required.

(1) Current issues

(a) Employment of special counsel. Deny the application to employ the Law Offices of M. Brian McMahon (dkt. 46) because he no longer intends to pursue employment. See dkt. 73, para. 3. Deny the application to employ the Law Offices of Mike Montes, Jr. (dkt. 65) due to the failure to address the issues raised by this court in the tentative ruling for 5/2/17 (reproduced below) (without reaching the issues raised by the U.S. Trustee's objection, dkt. 72, and the debtor's reply, dkt. 74). The U.S. Trustee is directed to lodge proposed orders denying each application within seven days after this hearing date.

(b) Lack of progress. Should this case be dismissed for lack of prosecution?

Tentative Ruling for 6/13/17:

Continue to 7/11/17 at 1:00 p.m. to allow the debtor time to prosecute an employment application regarding Mr. Motes (see debtor's case status report, dkt. 62). Appearances are not required on 6/13/17.

If you wish to dispute the above tentative ruling, please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings".

Tentative Ruling for 5/2/17:

Appearances required. There is no tentative ruling, but the debtor's proposed attorney, Brian McMahon Esq., should be prepared to address the concerns set forth in the U.S. Trustee's objection (dkt. 49) and the other issues set forth below.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Proposed special counsel.

(i) Background. On 4/5/17 the debtor filed an application for authority to employ the law offices of Mr. McMahon as special counsel under 11 U.S.C. 327(e) (dkt. 47). On 4/12/17 the United States Trustee ("UST") filed an objection to the employment application, which expressed concerns about the payment arrangement proposed in the application (dkt. 49).

The debtor filed a statement of disinterestedness for Mr. McMahon (dkt.53), and a reply (dkt.55), stating that a third party, Ms. Lilian Hoats, will be paying the attorney fees for Mr. McMahon's representation. Ms. Hoats is the CEO of Inviron Technologies, Inc. ("Managing Member"), which is the debtor's managing member (dkt. 55, Ex.1, p.1, recital "b"). Attached to the reply (dkt. 55, Ex.1) is a written document that purports to be a waiver of conflicts (if any exist) among the debtor, Ms. Hoats, and the Managing Member (the "Hoats/Managing Member Conflict Waiver").

The Attorney-Client Retainer Agreement attached to the employment application (dkt. 46, Ex.1) provides that Mr. McMahon is representing not only the debtor but also its affiliates Riverwood Energy, LLC ("Energy Affiliate") and Riverwood Resources Ltd. ("Resources Affiliate"). This court is not aware of the precise organizational and contractual relationships among the debtor, Energy Affiliate, and Resources Affiliate, nor of any written document purporting to be a waiver of conflicts (if any exist) among them.

(ii) Statutory provisions and rules

Although special counsel does not have to be "disinterested" (compare 11 U.S.C. 327(a)), special counsel still must not "represent or hold any interest adverse to the debtor or to the estate with respect to the matter on which such attorney is to be employed." 11 U.S.C. 327(e) (emphasis added). Under Rule 2014 (Fed. R. Bankr. P.) both Mr. McMahon and the debtor were supposed to disclose all connections between Mr. McMahon and "the debtor, creditors, any other party in interest, their respective attorneys and accountants, the United States trustee, or any person employed in the office of the United States trustee."

The disclosures have not been adequate. This court does not know enough about the underlying litigation and the organizational and contractual relationships among the various entities to assess whether there may be conflicts of interest between the debtor, on the one hand, and Ms. Hoats, Managing Member, Energy Affiliate, and/or Resource Affiliate.

(iii) A DIP's conflicts generally cannot be waived

Any purported conflict waiver probably cannot waive actual conflicts. See, e.g., In re Perry, 194 B.R. 875, 880 (E.D. Cal. 1996) (waiver of conflict by non-debtor parties was insufficient and "[i]nformed consent could not be obtained" because "the real parties in interest in this case are the creditors, and that is not a waivable conflict"); In re B.E.S. Concrete Products, Inc., 93 B.R. 228, 235 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 1988).

But while actual conflicts of interest create a violation of 11 U.S.C. 327 which would require disqualification of the proposed professional, the mere existence of a potential conflict of interest does not require disqualification, and it is up to the court's discretion whether the purported conflict is sufficiently threatening to the estate to warrant disqualification. In re Wheatfield Business Park, LLC, 286 B.R. 412, 421 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2002).

Are proposed counsel and the debtor aware of any actual conflicts? How about potential conflicts?

(iv) The purported conflict waiver is incomplete

The Hoats/Managing Member Conflict Waiver is not actually signed by Ms. Hoats in her individual capacity (she has only signed it on behalf of the debtor's Managing Member). In addition, as noted above, this court is not aware of any purported conflict waiver among the debtor and Operating Affiliate or Resources Affiliate.

(v) There might be conflicts among the debtor and Ms. Hoats

A third party who funds a retainer for the debtor (the "Funder") generally has some pre-existing relationship with the debtor, and/or some motivation to providing the funding. Those things increase the likelihood that the Funder could be the recipient of an avoidable preference, or might have alter ego liability, or otherwise might have interests that are adverse to (or at least not fully aligned with) the bankruptcy estate or creditors. For these reasons, although payment of a retainer by a third party is not outright prohibited, it is fraught with ethical concerns. At the hearing, counsel for the debtor and proposed special counsel should be prepared to address the following.

(A) Terms. What are the precise agreements, understandings or expectations regarding the funds -- e.g., are the funds a loan, a gift, an investment, or something else?

(B) Informed consent of Funder. Has the Funder been advised regarding actual and potential conflicts of interest, and that the sole attorney-client relationship and duty of loyalty is with the debtor, not the Funder? Who provided such advice: independent counsel? counsel for the debtor? the debtor's proposed special counsel? Has the Funder given informed consent? Are those things in writing?

(C) Informed consent of debtor. Has the debtor likewise been fully advised and given informed consent? Who provided such advice? Are these things in writing? Ms. Hoats has signed the Hoats/Managing Member conflict waiver on behalf of the debtor: how can she, acting for the debtor, waive conflicts with herself?

(D) Other considerations. Has proposed special counsel demonstrated or represented to the Court the absence of an actual or potential conflict, a lack of disinterestedness, or any other basis for disqualification? See In re Kelton Motors, Inc., 109 B.R. 641 (Bankr. D. Vt. 1989); In re Lotus Prop's LP, 200 B.R. 388 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1996) (rejecting per se disqualification when fees are paid by third party); and compare In re Hathaway Ranch Partnership, 116 B.R. 208, 219 (Bankr. C.D. Continue to 4/4/17 at 2:00 p.m., status report due 3/14/17. No appearances are required on 2/7/17.

(1) Current issues

This case was filed on 11/23/16. The debtor's status report (dkt. 34) states that the debtor intends to retain special counsel, and the monthly operating reports (dkt. 37, 38) appear to show no activity other than opening DIP bank accounts and paying associated fees. Although progress in this case has been slow, it does not appear efficient to hold a status conference at this time. If substantially more progress is not shown by the next status conference, this court may dismiss this case for failure to appear in proper prosecution. See 11 U.S.C. 109(g)(1), 349.

If you do not appear, and the matter is not adequately resolved by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 12/13/16:

Appearances required.

(1) Current issues

Counsel for the debtor should be prepared to address why no status report has been filed (see dkt. 3); why the docket does not reflect that anything has been done in this case to date; and why this court should not convert or dismiss this case.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 11/23/16. If this case is not converted or dismissed, the tentative ruling is to set the following:

(a) Bar date*: to be set during the status conference.

Tentative Ruling for 12/19/17:

Continue to 2/27/18 at 2:00 p.m. because, so far as this court can tell, it probably makes sense first to address the debtor's motion for an order estimating Mr. Britton's claim (dkt. 297), which is presently set for hearing on 1/23/18. If any party in interest disagrees, or believes that it would be useful to have appearances at a status conference on this claim at this time, they may contest this tentative ruling as provided below. Appearances are not required on 12/19/17.

Docket 7

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 2/26/19:

Appearances required.

This Court is not posting its rulings on the pending, interrelated matters for two reasons:

(1) it is premature to rule until this Court has had an opportunity to review the forthcoming reply of the United States Trustee ("UST") (see dkt. 447, 449) to oppositions of Debtor (dkt. 445) and Mr. Riggs (dkt. 446) to the UST's motion (dkt. 399) to appoint a chapter 11 trustee, and

(2) this Court intends to order Debtor, Mr. Riggs, and Mr. Britton back to mediation, which may be more productive now - in view of developments both in the State Courts and in this Bankruptcy Court since the time of the prior mediation - and this Court anticipates addressing with the parties whether this Court should or should not issue (but stay) rulings on some or all of the pending matters prior to such mediation. If this Court is persuaded that rulings on some or all issues are appropriate prior to further mediation, this Court will issue detailed oral rulings at the hearing.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." Tentative Ruling for 5/1/18:

(1) Current issues: The debtor and Mr. Britton have stipulated (dkt. 327) to continue the hearing on the motion to estimate Mr. Britton's claim to 10/30/18 at 2:00 p.m. This Court issued an order (dkt. 328) setting the matter for hearing so that Ms. West can be heard on the proposed continuance, if she wishes. The tentative ruling is to approve the stipulation, but with one additional week, to 11/6/18@2, because the date selected by the parties is not available on this Court's calendar.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 12/1/15.

Chapter 11

Revised Tentative Ruling for 1/30/18:

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues: estimating Mr. Britton's claim

At the hearing on 10/3/18 this court contemplated that after the debtor filed its motion (dkt. 297) for an order estimating the claim of creditor Layne Leslie Britton then this court would set a briefing schedule. The tentative ruling is to set the briefing schedule set forth below.

This court notes that the parties have already briefed, and this court has preliminarily addressed, some of the underlying issues, in connection with the debtor's prior motion for an order approving a draft plan and disclosure statement. Therefore a longer briefing schedule does not appear to be necessary. See dkt. 244 (motion), dkt. 260 (opposition, especially at pp.17:11-21:13 and Winston Decl. Ex.1.B.), dkt. 263 (reply, especially at pp.9:9-12:24), transcript of 8/22/17 hearing (dkt. 272), debtor's status report (dkt. 273), and audio recording of 10/3/17 hearing.

Tentative briefing schedule:

2/13/18 deadline for Mr. Britton's opposition to estimation motion (dkt. 297)

2/20/18 deadline for reply by the debtor

2/27/18 at 2:00 p.m., hearing

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 12/1/15.

(a) Bar date: 2/8/16 (timely served, dkt. 19 & 25).

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement: TBD

(c) Continued status conference: to be held concurrent with the hearing on the claim estimation motion; no written Status Report required (but if any status report is filed by any party, it should be filed at the same time as the debtor's reply so that this court will have adequate time to review it before the hearing).

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues

The parties should be prepared to update this court on the status of this case including their negotiations, why this court should not order mandatory mediation, which parties in interest should be included in such mediation, and any other appropriate procedures regarding payment of professionals, filing documents under seal, etc.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 12/1/15.

(a) Bar date: Bar date: 2/8/16 (timely served, dkt. 19 & 25).

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement: no deadline

(c) Continued status conference: 2/28/17 at 1:00 p.m. (no written status report required; telephonic appearances permitted provided that parties comply with posted procedures for same).

If you do not appear, and the matter is not adequately resolved by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues

(a) Fee applications. The tentative ruling is (1) after the reductions that Browne concedes, to overrule the Britton objection to Browne's fees; (2) to sustain in part the limited objection of Ms. West by allowing 100%, but temporarily deferring any payment (either from any retainer or from other sources), on account of the fee applications, with a deadline of 12/12/16 for Ms. West to file (a) an adversary proceeding to determine the relative priorities of her rights and interests in the royalties, and/or other funds in which the debtor's estate asserts an interest, as against the debtor, its creditors, and other parties in

In addition, this court anticipates providing a tentative ruling on the merits of Ms. West's asserted rights and interests, and addressing what documents (already filed or filed in future) do or do not have to be under seal, and establishing a mutually workable procedure for any sealed documents.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 12/1/15.

(a) Bar date: Bar date: 2/8/16 (timely served, dkt. 19 & 25).

Tentative Ruling for 9/6/16:

Continue to 12/13/16 at 1:00 p.m. based on the debtor's current status report (dkt. 112). Appearances are not required on 9/6/16.

Tentative Ruling for 2/2/16:

Continue to 2/23/16 at 2:00 p.m. unless any opposition/response to employment or recusal are filed prior to 1/30/16. Appearances are not required on 2/2/16.

Reasons: At the hearing on 1/19/16, this court stated that the status conference would be continued without further hearing if no oppositions/responses to employment or recusal were received by the deadline for such things, which is 1/29/16. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling (on 1/29/16) no such documents have yet been filed.

If you wish to dispute the above tentative ruling, please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings".

Revised Tentative Ruling for 1/19/16:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

Key documents reviewed: Motion for relief from automatic stay (dkt. 11), the debtor's opposition (dkt. 33), and the movant's reply (dkt. 46); and the debtor's application to employ Browne George Ross LLP as special counsel under 11 U.S.C. 327(e) and supporting papers (dkt. 26-30, 44, 45).

(1) Current issues.

(a) Background. Claimant Britton's motion for relief from the automatic stay (dkt. 11) seeks to modify the automatic stay to liquidate the parties' claims in the underlying State Court action (Britton v. Riggs, LA Superior Ct. No. BC 496298). Just before trial was set to commence, the debtor filed this bankruptcy case, and trial has now been continued to 2/10/16. The debtor has filed an application (dkt. 26) to employ its existing attorneys in the State Court action as special counsel.

In view of the apparent urgency of these matters, this Bankruptcy Court issued an order raising a number of its initial concerns (dkt. 35), held a preliminary hearing on 1/8/16, and directed the debtor to serve a supplemental notice addressing certain issues. In addition, when Judge Bason's law clerk learned of certain attenuated connections between him and the parties in this case, those matters were disclosed on the record (dkt. 39), and the debtor was directed to serve those disclosures on all parties in interest.

The debtor complied with these notice requirements (see dkt. 44, 43, 45) and the period for any response expires on 1/29/16 (fixed date in dkt. 39 as to this court's disclosures; and service on 1/11/16 + 14 days' notice + 3 days for service via U.S. mail = 1/29/16 as to the employment application). As of the time when this tentative ruling has been prepared (1/18/16) no response on either matter appears on the docket.

(b) Relief from the automatic stay. The tentative ruling is to modify the automatic stay as follows, effective immediately upon (i) entry of an order of this court granting the employment application (so that the debtor can defend and prosecute its claims in the State Court action) and (ii) resolution of any request to be heard regarding recusal. Specifically, the automatic stay would be modified to permit litigation of the State court action insofar as liquidating claims by Mr. Britton against the debtor and its principal, Mr. Riggs, as well as liquidating any counterclaims, including all subsidiary disputes such as whether the statute of limitations should be tolled and any alter ego issues, but not to permit enforcement of any judgment against any property in which the debtor asserts an interest absent further order of this Bankruptcy Court.

Judge Bason is not persuaded by the debtor's argument that the statute of limitations issue should be addressed by this Bankruptcy Court before any State Court litigation is permitted to continue. The principles underlying the Rooker Feldman doctrine (that this Bankruptcy Court may not act as essentially an appellate court for State Court determinations), as well as comity, a respect for the State Court's determination of these issues, conservation of judicial resources, the avoidance of forum shopping, and not permitting a party to obtain "two bites at the apple" all weigh against deciding the statute of limitations issues here. The State Court issued a detailed tentative ruling (dkt. 46-1, Ex.A, pp.23-26) regarding the statute of limitations issues, including its conclusion that those issues could not be determined as a matter of law because a reasonable trier of fact "may well determine that the delay in filing the action was due to the Defendants' fraud or other misconduct such that Defendants should be estopped from asserting the statute of limitations," and the State Court apparently adopted that tentative ruling when it denied the defendants' motion for summary judgment and declined to address the statute of limitations issues before trial. Judge Bason is not persuaded that this Bankruptcy Court can or should revisit that determination.

As to any claims that are truly alter ego claims (as distinguished from fraudulent transfer claims or other avoidance actions that belong to this bankruptcy estate), the tentative ruling is that under the Ahcom decision (623 F.3d 1248 (9th Cir. 2010)), any such claims do not belong to the bankruptcy estate and, therefore, the automatic stay would not prevent claimant Mr. Britton from seeking to establish and pursue any alter ego claims against Mr. Riggs. Alternatively, the tentative ruling is to modify the automatic stay (if it applied) to permit such true alter ego claims to be litigated (when and if the State Court determines that they should be) because if those issues turn out to be relevant then they will have to be litigated anyway, and the State Court would be the proper forum in which to litigate them. To the extent that the debtor seeks to stay (enjoin) any such alter ego claims against Mr. Riggs in this bankruptcy case, such an injunction would have to be the subject of a separate adversary proceeding. See, e.g., In re Excel Innovations, Inc., 502 F.3d 1086 (9th Cir. 2007).

(c) Employment of special litigation counsel. The tentative ruling is to conditionally approve employment of special litigation counsel for the reasons stated at the preliminary hearing on 1/8/16 and in the application (dkt. 26) and debtor's supplemental disclosures (dkt. 44). The condition is that no order approving such employment should be lodged until after the period for responses to such application or to this court's disclosures has expired (on 1/29/16), and of course if any such response is filed then this court will consider such responses (at a hearing as set forth below).

The potential for alter ego claims does not appear to create any cognizable conflict, at least at this stage of the litigation. Although it could be argued that there would be a conflict because any recovery that Mr. Britton could obtain from

Mr. Riggs would decrease his claim against the debtor, and therefore theoretically benefit the debtor, it seems more likely at this stage that both Mr. Riggs and the debtor have a unified interest in contesting any asserted grounds for alter ego liability (i) so as to assure that Mr. Riggs devotes his energies to the debtor's future success and ability to pay its creditors, and (ii) so as to attempt to assure that there is a level playing field among the debtor's creditors (which, arguably, there would not be if one creditor - Mr. Britton - could pursue alter ego recoveries before other creditors could seek to do the same).

Of course, counsel for the debtor (both general and special counsel) and Mr. Riggs himself will need to monitor the situation continually. If a conflict or potential conflict does develop, they will need to file appropriate disclosures and/or seek a supplemental ruling from this court regarding the terms of any continued employment of special counsel.

(d) Tentative hearing. If any response is filed to either the employment application or this court's disclosures, then a hearing will take place on 2/2/16 at 2:00 p.m. to address those things. If there is any such response, the debtor must notify chambers so that the matter may be added to this court's calendar for that day.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 12/1/15.

(a) Bar date: Bar date: 2/8/16 (timely served, dkt. 19 & 25).

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: file by 7/1/16 using the forms required by Judge Bason (DO NOT SERVE yet, except on the U.S. Trustee - the court will set a deadline and procedures at a later time).

Note: If the U.S. Trustee wishes to file initial comments on any draft Plan documents before the regular deadline, it should do so at least two weeks prior to the next status conference (but, whether or not any comments are filed, all rights are reserved to object to the Disclosure Statement or Plan when deadline(s) for such objections are established).

(c) Continued status conference: 2/2/16 at 2:00 p.m. (no written status report required; telephonic appearances permitted provided that parties comply with posted procedures for same).

*Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

Tentative Ruling for 1/19/16:

This court anticipates posting a tentative ruling at a later time.

Tentative Ruling for 1/5/16:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor and by the principal of the debtor.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Affiliated businesses. The debtor's status report (dkt. 20, p.8:17-9:3) requests that the debtor be excused from providing financial information concerning affiliates in both the status report and monthly operating reports. The tentative ruling is to grant that request.

(b) Service of status report. This court's form status report must be served on, inter alia, all of the debtor's secured creditors and the top 20 largest general unsecured creditors. It appears that there are no secured creditors, but that unsecured creditors were not served (see dkt. 20, p. 10). The tentative ruling is to direct the debtor, no later than 1/6/16, to serve all parties in interest with a copy of the status report and this tentative ruling, and then parties in interest may, if they choose, raise any appropriate issues at future status conferences.

(c) Plan and disclosure statement. The debtor has suggested (dkt. 20, p.4:20-23) a deadline of 4/30/16 to file initial drafts. The debtor should be prepared to address the associated procedures, including the local form plan and whether that deadline is consistent with the pending litigation with creditor Layne Leslie Britton (dkt. 11), currently set for trial in State court for 2/10/16.

#5.00 Hrg re: Emergency Motion for an Order Authorizing
(1) the Use Of Cash Collateral, and (2) Grant of Adequate Protection to Secured Creditors

Docket 13

Tentative Ruling:

Grant in part and deny in part on an interim basis, subject to the conditions set forth below, with a final hearing on the same date as the continued status conference (tentatively scheduled for 3/26/19 at 1:00 p.m. per calendar no. 10, 2/28/19 at 10:00 a.m.), and a deadline of 3/1/19 for the movant to file and serve a notice of the final hearing. Appearances required.

Analysis

The tentative ruling is to deny the motion for use of cash collateral to the extent that it seeks payment on account of prepetition debts, listed on the budget (dkt. 13, Ex.1) as "Critical Vendor Pre-Petition Relief." No motion seeking payment of prepetition claims of critical vendors has been filed (and traditionally it has been generally understood that such relief is not available in the Ninth Circuit).

To the extent the budget contemplates adequate protection payments (as distinguished from actual payment on prepetition debt), the tentative ruling is to grant the motion (subject to the conditions set forth below). Debtor is directed to clarify if the proposed payments listed in the budget as "Credit Line," "Equipment Loan," "Real Estate Loan Interest," and "Equipment Loan Interest" are intended to be adequate protection payments.

To the extent that the cash collateral motion seeks relief regarding Cathay Bank's alleged violation of the automatic stay (see dkt. 13 at PDF p.13-14, dkt. 23), the tentative ruling is to deny any such relief because the alleged stay violations are not properly before this Court. No motion for contempt pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 105 and 362(a) has been filed, nor has Cathay Bank filed a motion for relief from the automatic stay, and the parties have not briefed the issues.

But if the parties are in any doubt about the parameters of the automatic stay they are encouraged to seek relief by filing appropriate motions.

Then they can obtain rulings of this Court determining whether it is a violation of the automatic stay (i) to seek discovery of books and records from third parties in the prepetition action in State Court (see 11 U.S.C. 362(a)(1)&(6)), (ii) to apply a temporary freeze to bank accounts (see Citizens Bank of Maryland v. Stumpf, 116 S.Ct. 286 (1995)), or (iii) to decline to honor any postpetition requests for payment out of Debtor's bank account to pay third parties' prepetition debts (see 11 U.S.C. 362(a)(6)).

Judge Bason's standard conditions for use of cash collateral and/or postpetition financing (by creditors holding prepetition claims)

(1) Written order

(a) Form. Use local form

F2081-1.1.ORDER.CASH.COLLATERAL or the equivalent. Attach a copy of this tentative ruling as an exhibit, thereby adopting it as the written ruling of this Court. Do not repeat the terms set forth in the motion or any stipulation. Incorporate those terms by reference (including the docket number of the document), subject to any modification by this Court.

(b) Timing. Lodge the proposed order within 7 days after the hearing. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(2) Minimum adequate protection

In addition to the postpetition security interests that are automatically provided pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 552 (e.g., in traceable proceeds and profits), and subject to any more comprehensive protection that may be included in the motion or related papers, Debtor shall provide at least the following protection to any creditor with a security interest in the subject property (pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 361-364, as applicable):

(a) Insurance. For all collateral of a type that typically is insured (e.g., real property and improvements), Debtor is directed to maintain insurance in a dollar amount at least equal to Debtor's good faith estimate of the value of such creditor's interest in the collateral, and such insurance shall name such creditor as an additional insured. Debtor is directed to remain current on payments for such insurance.

(b) Taxes. Debtor is directed to remain current on payments on account of postpetition real estate taxes (to the extent that real estate is part of the collateral).

(c) Disclosures/access. Debtor is directed to provide, upon such creditor's reasonable request, periodic accountings of the foregoing insurance and tax obligations and payments, as well as postpetition proceeds, products, offspring, or profits from the collateral, including gross revenues and expenses and a calculation of net revenues, including any rents and any fees, charges, accounts, or other payments for the use or occupancy of rooms and other public facilities in lodging properties (as all of the foregoing terms are used in 11 U.S.C. 552). Debtor is directed to provide appropriate documentation of those accountings, and access for purposes of inspection or appraisal.

(3) Limitation on postpetition liens

In the event that the motion or related papers seek authority to grant postpetition liens to the creditor(s) with respect to prepetition debts any such liens shall be limited to the same validity, priority, and amount as prepetition liens. As used herein, the "validity, priority, and amount" or any similar phrase that may be used by the parties or this Court is deemed to include the following:

(a) Extent. Such liens shall be limited to the type of collateral in which the creditor held a security interest as of the petition date, unless this order expressly states that the liens granted by this order are intended to attach to different types of collateral from the prepetition collateral. For example, if prepetition liens extended to inventory and accounts receivable but not equipment then postpetition liens are likewise limited (unless otherwise expressly provided by order of this Court). In addition, postpetition liens shall not extend to the proceeds of any avoidance actions, any recoveries under 11 U.S.C. 506(c), or any "carveout" under 11 U.S.C. 552.

(b) Priority. Such liens shall be limited to the same priority as the security interest held by the creditor as of the petition date.

(c) Dollar amount. Such liens shall be limited to the dollar amount needed to protect the creditor against diminution in the value of the secured claims as of the petition date.

(d) Enforceability. Such liens shall be limited to the extent that the creditor's security interests were duly perfected and valid as of the petition date, and to the extent that they are unavoidable.

(e) Automatic postpetition perfection. Any automatic perfection of such liens shall be subject to any applicable limitations regarding the Court's authority, jurisdiction, or due process.

(4) Automatic disapproval of insufficiently disclosed provisions

Any provision of the type listed in FRBP 4001(c)(1)(B) or in local form F4001-2 (e.g., cross-collateralization) or any waiver of the "equities of the case" exception in 11 U.S.C. 552(b)(2) shall be deemed automatically disapproved and excepted from any order granting the motion, notwithstanding any other provision of such order, unless either: (a) such provision is specifically and prominently disclosed in the motion papers in a checklist (such as local form F4001-2), or alternatively (b) such provision is specifically identified in any proposed order granting the motion, using terminology of the type used in FRBP 4001(c)(1)(B) or local form F4001-2 (e.g., any "cross-collateralization" that is not specifically identified as such is deemed to be disapproved).

(5) Disputes

In the event of any disputes regarding the rulings in this order, the parties are directed to meet and confer and, if they cannot resolve their disputes consensually, contact Judge Bason's chambers to arrange a mutually convenient time for either a telephonic or in-person hearing to address such disputes.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

#8.00 Status Conference re: Chapter 11 Case

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor and by the debtor(s) themselves.

The tentative ruling, subject to any oppositions at the hearing (pursuant to the orders shortening time) is to grant the following relief and to find that, to the extent relief is granted pursuant to Rules 4001(b)(2) and 6003 (Fed. R. Bankr. P.), such relief is necessary avoid immediate and irreparable harm to the estate.

(1) Current issues

(a) Motion to limit notice (dkt. 8)

Grant in substantial part, subject to certain modifications to be addressed at the hearing. Among other things, this Court anticipates that, because the motion was not served on the entire creditor matrix, any party who was not served may seek reconsideration without meeting the usual standards under Rules 9023, 9024 or 52(b) (Fed. R. Bankr. P. & Fed. R. Civ. P., incorporated by Rules 7052 and 9014(c)).

(b) Motion to extend time (dkt. 9)

Grant, with a caution that this Court is unlikely to grant further extensions.

(c) Payroll motion (dkt. 14)

Grant, except to the extent that the proposed payments in Exhibit 1 (dkt. 14, Ex.1) exceed the priority maximum provided in 11 U.S.C. 507(a)(4) and, if applicable, 507(a)(5).

(d) Motion to use prepetition bank accounts (dkt. 12)

Grant, subject to sufficient safeguards (i) to ensure accurate accounting including separation of pre- and postpetition accounting and (ii) to prevent inadvertent payment of prepetition obligations. Debtor is directed to work closely with the Office of the United States Trustee to develop and implement such procedures.

(e) Cash collateral motion (dkt. 13)

Grant in part and deny in part on an interim basis, as set forth in calendar no. 5 (2/28/19 at 10:00 a.m.).

(f) Motion to reject unexpired leases (dkt. 24)

Grant, except that Debtor seeks rejection effective as of 2/20/19 and, although there is some authority for retroactive rejection (see, e.g., In re At Home Corp., 392 F.3d 1064 (9th Cir. 2004)), Debtor has not addressed the types of considerations that would determine whether retroactive rejection is appropriate (e.g., were the premises vacated as of 2/20/19? when were the landlords given notice that the premises would be or were vacant? were the premises left in "broom clean" condition?). Debtor is directed to address those issues at the hearing.

(g) Utility motion (dkt. 25)

Grant on an interim basis, subject to any opposition at the hearing, with a final hearing to take place at the same time as the continued status conference (see below) and a deadline of 3/1/19 for Debtor to file and serve a notice of the final hearing.

Proposed orders: Debtor is directed to lodge proposed orders on each of the foregoing motions via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 2/20/19.

(a) Bar date: TBD

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: TBD

(c) Continued status conference: 3/26/19 at 1:00 p.m., brief status report due 3/12/19.

*Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

Docket 34

Tentative Ruling:

Grant as provided below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

Termination

Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1).

To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Effective date of relief

Deny the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a)(3) for lack of sufficient cause shown.

Co-debtor stay

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) has not been shown to have any basis for any different treatment from the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a), so the tentative ruling is to grant the identical relief regarding any co-debtor stay.

Docket 29

Tentative Ruling:

Grant as provided below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this Court's final ruling. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

The automatic stay does not apply

This case has been dismissed, which terminates the automatic stay. See 11 U.S.C. 349(b)(3) & 362(c).

In the alternative and in addition, this court grants relief from the automatic stay as follows.

Termination

Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1), (d)(2), and (d)(4).

To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Relief notwithstanding future bankruptcy cases.

Grant the following relief pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(4) and the legal analysis in In re Vazquez, 580 B.R. 526 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2017), and/or In re Choong (case no. 2:14-bk-28378-NB, docket no. 31), as applicable:

If this order is duly recorded in compliance with applicable State laws governing notices of interests or liens in the property at issue, then no automatic stay shall apply to such property in any bankruptcy case purporting to affect such property and filed within two years after the date of entry of this order, unless otherwise ordered by the court presiding over that bankruptcy case.

For the avoidance of doubt, any acts by the movant to obtain exclusive possession of such property shall not be stayed, including any eviction actions, through and including any lockout or other enforcement by the Sheriff or other authorized legal authority.

Note: Per Judge Bason's posted procedures (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) this Court's order will state that the Court "does not make" a finding that Debtor was involved in the "scheme" referenced in section 362(d)(4), unless there is sufficient evidence that Debtor was involved and Debtor is given clear notice that the movant seeks an express finding that Debtor was involved. The tentative ruling in this particular case is that there is sufficient evidence and notice.

Effective date of relief

Grant the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a)(3).

Chapter 13

#5.00 HearingRE: [8] Notice of motion and motion for relief from the automatic stay with supporting declarations REAL PROPERTY RE: 614 West 111th Place, Los Angeles, CA 90044 .

Docket 8

Tentative Ruling:

Grant in part, deny in part, as set forth below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this Court's final ruling. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

Key documents reviewed (in addition to motion papers): Case number 1:18-bk-12728-MB, Order Granting Relief From Stay (dkt. 16).

The automatic stay does not apply

The tentative ruling is to deny the request for an order confirming that no stay was in effect at all relevant times.

(a) In rem relief was effective on 2/6/19 sometime after 10:00 a.m.

It is true that Movant previously was granted in rem relief under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(4) in a bankruptcy case before Judge Barash (see 1:18-bk-12728-MB, dkt. 16), so any bankruptcy case filed after that relief was effective would not cause any automatic stay with respect to the subject property. The hearing in that case was on 2/6/19, commencing at approximately 10:00 a.m. The tentative ruling is that, for two alternative reasons, relief under section 362(d)(4) was effective as of the oral ruling by Judge Barash - i.e., that in rem relief was effective immediately, as opposed to being effective only after the written order was issued and/or recorded.

First, the plain meaning of the statute is that, although it requires recording of the in rem order, it does not make the effectiveness of the in rem relief conditional on prior recording. Congress easily could have done so, and this Court is not inclined to read into the statute a limitation that Congress did not state.

Chapter 13

Second, if there were any ambiguity in the statute, the tentative ruling is that Congress was unlikely to have intended prior recording. That would invite abuse of the bankruptcy system by allowing Debtors to file bankruptcy petitions in response to unfavorable oral rulings, before any written order could be issued and recorded.

(b) This case was filed on 2/6/19 at 10:34 a.m., which might or might not have been after Judge Barash's oral ruling

The bankruptcy petition commencing this case was filed on 2/6/19 at 10:34 a.m., which might or might not have been after Judge Barash made his oral ruling. There is insufficient evidence in the motion papers to determine that factual issue. Accordingly, the tentative ruling is to deny the request for an order that no stay applied (maybe it did, and maybe it did not, but the present record is insufficient to tell).

All of that said, it probably does not matter whether the stay applied, because the tentative ruling is to grant from whatever stay did exist. That relief is described below.

Termination

Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (d)(4).

To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Retroactive relief

Grant the request for retroactive annulment of the stay. See In re Fjeldsted, 293 B.R. 12 (9th Cir. BAP 2003).

Relief notwithstanding future bankruptcy cases.

Grant the following relief pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(4) and the legal analysis in In re Vazquez, 580 B.R. 526 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2017), and/or In re Choong (case no. 2:14-bk-28378-NB, docket no. 31), as applicable:

If this order is duly recorded in compliance with applicable State laws governing notices of interests or liens in the property at issue, then no automatic stay shall apply to such property in any bankruptcy case purporting to affect such property and filed within two years after the date of entry of this order, unless otherwise ordered by the court presiding over that bankruptcy case.

For the avoidance of doubt, any acts by the movant to obtain exclusive possession of such property shall not be stayed, including any eviction actions, through and including any lockout or other enforcement by the Sheriff or other authorized legal authority.

Note: Per Judge Bason's posted procedures (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) this Court's order will state that the Court "does not make" a finding that Debtor was involved in the "scheme" referenced in section 362(d)(4), unless there is sufficient evidence that Debtor was involved and Debtor is given clear notice that the movant seeks an express finding that Debtor was involved. The tentative ruling in this particular case is that there is sufficient evidence and notice.

Effective date of relief

Grant the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a)(3).

Co-debtor stay

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) has not been shown to have any basis for any different treatment from the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a), so the tentative ruling is to grant the identical relief regarding any co-debtor stay.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Docket 9

Tentative Ruling:

Grant, subject to the following conditions. Appearances are not required.

After the hearing date this Court will prepare an order and the tentative ruling is to include the following language in that order:

The stay of 11 U.S.C. 362(a) applies subject to the following modifications and conditions:

(1) Service and reconsideration. Any party in interest who was not timely served in accordance with FRBP 7004 (incorporated by FRBP 9014(b)) is hereby granted through 14 days after proper service to seek reconsideration, including retroactive relief (under FRBP 9023 and/or 9024). Any such person (a) may set a hearing on 14 days' notice, (b) may appear by telephone (if arrangements are made per Judge Bason's posted procedures), and (c) may present all arguments orally at the hearing (i.e., no written argument is required). If written arguments appear necessary then this court will set a briefing schedule at the hearing.

(2) Reasons. (a) It appears appropriate to impose the automatic stay, and to impose it as to all persons rather than just as to selected persons, because one purpose of the automatic stay is to preventing a "race to collect" that could unfairly advantage some creditors at the expense of others. (b) To prevent possible abuse, this Court provides the foregoing simple process for reconsideration.

Tentative Ruling for 11/27/18:

Appearances required. The tentative ruling is to continue this motion for relief from the automatic stay to 1/15/19 at 10:00 a.m. for the following reasons.

Background

Debtor was authorized to make reduced mortgage payments of $845.68 per month pursuant to this Court's order (dkt. 39) granting Debtor's motion to commence the Loan Modification Management ("LMM") program. That same order provides that Debtor shall continue making monthly payments in that amount until that amount is superseded - e.g., by a "final loan modification amount" (dkt. 39, sec. b.(2)) - and the order also directs Debtor to "file and serve appropriate papers to revise any plan" to reflect the current LMM payments.

Debtor does not dispute that the loan modification was ultimately denied. See dkt. 64, Ex.2. Debtor apparently made the reduced payments of $845.68/mo. from March through July of 2018, and apparently resumed normal payments of $1,529.99/mo. in August of 2018.

Meanwhile, Debtor's plan (dkt. 48, filed 8/7/18) provides in Class 2 that Movant (referred to as Rushmore Loan Services) will be repaid the prepetition arrears of approximately $51,486.00 (Movant's proof of claim 1-1 lists only $0.06 more) via monthly payments of $1,050.74, without interest. That plan was confirmed by this Court's order (dkt. 59, 10/11/18).

Analysis

Debtor apparently paid $845.68 per month from March through July of 2018. Movant asserts that Debtor should have paid $1,529.99 per month during that time.

Movant's assertion is contrary to this Court's order granting Debtor's motion to commence the LMM program. That order specifically authorizes and directs Debtor to pay the $845.68 amount.

The question is what to do about the shortfall between $845.68 and

Chapter 13

$1,529.99 now that the loan modification has been denied. The tentative ruling is as follows.

First, the shortfall does not simply disappear. Rather, pursuant to the order granting the LMM motion, now that the loan modification has been denied Debtor is obligated to file and serve a motion to modify the confirmed plan (a "MoMod") under 11 U.S.C. 1329, to reflect that denial.

Second, one form of MoMod would be to repay that shortfall (on top of repaying the prepetition arrears) over the entire remainder of the Plan's term. Another form of MoMod would be to provide for paying the shortfall over a shorter term, such as the typical period for an adequate protection order (usually six months and occasionally up to double that period). There might be other types of MoMod that would be permissible (e.g., providing for a refinancing or "step up" payments).

Third, what type of MoMod is permissible will depend on whether Movant is adequately protected by the proposed terms of repayment of the shortfall. This is akin to the usual analysis under 11 U.S.C. 362(d), except that unlike the usual situation in which a debtor fails to live up to postpetition obligations, in this case Debtor apparently has lived up to such obligations. Therefore, Debtor's promise of future performance is entitled to greater weight.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

#16.00 Cont'd hrg re: Motion in Individual Case for Order Imposing a Stay or Continuing the Automatic Stay as the Court Deems Appropriate fr. 1/29/19

Docket 14

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 3/5/19:
Appearances required.

At the hearing on 1/29/19, this Court was persuaded to continue this matter for a possible adequate protection order. There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address whether they will agree to the terms of an adequate protection order.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 1/29/19:

Grant, subject to the following conditions. Appearances are not required.

After the hearing date this Court will prepare an order and the tentative ruling is to include the following language in that order:

The stay of 11 U.S.C. 362(a) applies subject to the following modifications and conditions:

(1) Service and reconsideration. Any party in interest who was not timely served in accordance with FRBP 7004 (incorporated by FRBP 9014(b)) is hereby granted through 14 days after proper service to seek reconsideration, including retroactive relief (under FRBP 9023 and/or 9024). Any such person (a) may set a hearing on 14 days' notice, (b) may appear by telephone (if arrangements are made per Judge Bason's posted procedures), and (c) may present all arguments orally at the hearing (i.e., no written argument is required). If written arguments appear necessary then this court will set a briefing schedule at the hearing.

(2) Reasons. (a) It appears appropriate to impose the automatic stay, and to impose it as to all persons rather than just as to selected persons, because one purpose of the automatic stay is to preventing a "race to collect" that could unfairly advantage some creditors at the expense of others. (b) To prevent possible abuse, this Court provides the foregoing simple process for reconsideration.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." #1.00 Status conference re: Complaint to determine the dischargeability of debt pursuant to 11 U.S.C. section 523(a)(2)(A)

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

Preliminary matters:

(1) No status report

The parties have failed to file any joint status report. Why not?

(2) Stay all proceedings pending mediation

This Court has reviewed the filed documents and records in this adversary proceeding. This Court notes that a Default was entered in this case on 2/7/19 (dkt. 5); Defendant/Debtor then filed an answer on 2/8/19 (dkt. 6); Plaintiff then filed a Motion for Default Judgment on 2/11/19 (dkt. 8), which is set for hearing on 3/26/19 at 11:00 a.m. The tentative ruling is to stay all proceedings and order mandatory mediation.

The following are Judge Bason's standard requirements for status conferences. (To the extent that the parties have already addressed these issues in their status report, they need not repeat their positions at the status conference.)

(1) Venue/jurisdiction/authority.

The parties are directed to address any outstanding matters of (a) venue, (b) jurisdiction, (c) this Bankruptcy Court's authority to enter final orders or judgment(s) in this proceeding and, if consent is required, whether the parties do consent, or have already expressly or impliedly consented. See generally Stern v. Marshall, 131 S.Ct. 2594, 2608 (2011) (if litigant "believed that the Bankruptcy Court lacked the authority to decide his claim...then he should have said so –

C.D. Cal. 2016).

(2) Mediation. Is there is any reason why this Court should not order the parties to mediation before one of the volunteer mediators (not a Bankruptcy Judge), and meanwhile set the deadlines set forth below? The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 3/19/19 for the parties to lodge a proposed mediation order (the parties are directed to use the time between now and that deadline to find a mutually agreeable mediator whose schedule can accommodate the needs of this matter; and if the parties cannot even agree on a mediator they may lodge separate orders and Judge Bason will chose among them, or issue his own order).

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 3/5/19:

Although this Court questions whether there is any point in keeping a nondischargeability action pending when the debtor is deceased, the tentative ruling is to continue this status conference to 6/4/19 at 11:00 a.m. based on the request in the Status Report (dkt. 20). Appearances are not required on 3/5/19.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 10/16/18:

Appearances required. There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address the following issues.

Current Issues:

(1) District Court Litigation: On 6/12/18 this Court granted relief from the automatic stay (main case dkt. 123) to proceed with related litigation before the District Court. The parties should be prepared to address the status of the District Court litigation, and any other matters bearing on resolution of this matter.

(2) Joint Status Report: Per this Court's adopted tentative ruling for 6/12/18 (reproduced below), the parties were required to submit a joint status report on 10/2/18. No such report was filed. The parties should be prepared to address why the joint status report was not filed as ordered.

Continue status conference to 10/16/18 at 11:00 a.m. for the reasons stated below. Appearances are not required on 6/12/18.

Current Issues.

(1) Motion to Dismiss (adv. dkt.7). At the hearing on 4/17/18, this Court was persuaded to defer ruling on the motion to dismiss in view of the possibility that the issues would be litigated before the district court. On 5/9/18 plaintiff filed a motion for relief from stay to proceed with the district court litigation (2:16-bk-24010-NB, dkt. 117) (the "R/S Motion") and scheduled a hearing for this date on the 10:00 a.m. calendar. This court's tentative ruling for the R/S Motion is to grant that motion. Therefore, the tentative ruling for this matter is to take the motion to dismiss off calendar without prejudice to resetting it or filing appropriate papers after the district court litigation has been resolved.

(2) Deadlines: In view of this Court's tentative ruling on the R/S Motion, the tentative ruling is to continue this status conference to the date and time stated at the start of this tentative ruling. The parties are directed to file a joint status report by 10/2/18.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." Tentative Ruling for 5/22/18:

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 4/17/18:

Appearances required. The court has reviewed the debtor's motion to dismiss (dkt. 7), Plaintiff's opposition (dkt. 14), the parties' joint status report (dkt. 9), Notice of Related District Court Case (dkt. 12) and the other filed documents and records in this adversary proceeding.

Paragraph "(2)" below is the tentative ruling on the motion to dismiss. Paragraphs "(1)," "(3)," and "(4)" below are Judge Bason's standard requirements for status conferences, with additional provisions specific to this matter. (To the extent that the parties have already addressed these issues in their status report, they need not repeat their positions at the status conference.)

(1) Venue/jurisdiction/authority.

The parties are directed to address any outstanding matters of (a) venue, (b) jurisdiction, (c) this court's authority to enter final orders or judgment(s) in this proceeding and, if consent is required, whether the parties do consent, or have already expressly or impliedly consented. See *generally Stern v. Bellingham Ins. Agency, Inc., 702 F.3d 553 (9th Cir. 2012) (implied consent), aff'd on other grounds, 134 S. Ct. 2165 (2014); In re Pringle, 495 B.R. 447 (9th Cir. C.D. Cal. 2016).

With respect to this specific matter, although nondischargeability complaints are prototypically "core" bankruptcy matters, this Bankruptcy Court is concerned about possible duplication of litigation and infringement on the District Court's management of the related nonbankruptcy action pending in that Court since 6/16/17. Should this Bankruptcy Court grant relief from the automatic stay (on this Court's own motion or the motion of either party) so that such litigation can proceed, and meanwhile hold this nondischargeability action in abeyance? Alternatively, are other approaches preferable, such as removal, or withdrawal of the reference, or bifurcation of issues? The parties are directed to address what is the most appropriate and efficient way to proceed.

(2) Motion to Dismiss (dkt. 7)

The legal standards applicable to a motion to dismiss will not be repeated here because they are well known and have been summarized in the parties' filed papers. The tentative ruling is to grant the motion to dismiss the first and second claims for relief, with leave to amend, for the following reasons.

(a) 11 U.S.C. 523(a)(2)(A): false representation etc.

The debtor/defendant seeks dismissal of the first claim for relief, under section 523(a)(2)(A), on the ground that the plaintiff has not alleged that he obtained money, property, services, or credit from plaintiff as a result of the alleged fraud. The debtor/defendant argues (adv. dkt. 7, pp.6:23-7:3) that any alleged misrepresentations occurred in reports filed after the employees had performed services for the prior month and therefore after the debt was incurred, so the money or property at issue was not "obtained by" the alleged fraud.

On the one hand, the motion to dismiss is not entirely persuasive on this point. Reading the complaint in the light most favorable to the plaintiff as this Court must do when addressing a motion to dismiss, the complaint (adv. dkt. 1, p.1, para. 25) alleges that as a result of an ongoing pattern of false reports the Trust Funds (whom the plaintiff represents) missed opportunities to assert claims against the debtor/defendant's general contractors, which allegedly would have resulted in recovery of funds to cover the dollar amounts owed to the Trust Funds. In other words, if the Trust Funds had known of the (allegedly) false representations in those reports (or the allegedly fraudulent nature or false pretenses in those reports) then, allegedly, the Trust Funds could have pursued remedies that apparently are no longer available to them, so the fact that the reports were filed after the services were rendered each month is not dispositive.

But the complaint does not explain how the Trust Funds' missed opportunity amounts to obtaining money, property, services, or credit from plaintiff as a result of the alleged fraud. Rather, it appears that the (allegedly) false reports enabled the debtor/defendant to continue obtaining services from the employees (without providing those employees all of the compensation to which they were owed, in the form of funds that should have been transferred to the Trust Funds for the benefit of the employees). Compare In re Kay, 60 B.R. 174, 176 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1986) (liability based on fact that "the employee beneficiaries" sustained damages as "the proximate result of the defendants' representations") (emphasis added).

In sum, there are not enough allegations in the complaint to show a causal connection between the alleged falsehoods of the debtor/defendant and some sort of damage to the plaintiff. It is possible, of course, that the plaintiff stands in the shoes of the employees for these purposes, but the complaint does not include sufficient allegations (or copies of documents) for this Court to read the complaint that way. It is also possible that the plaintiff itself has been damaged - e.g., perhaps the plaintiff is liable to the employees if it did not detect and cure the alleged falsehoods in the debtor/defendant's reports, and thus the plaintiff itself has been damaged - but again the complaint does not include sufficient allegations (or copies of documents) for this Court to read the complaint that way.

For all of these reasons, the tentative ruling is to grant the motion to dismiss the first claim for relief, with leave to amend. The tentative deadline for filing an amended complaint is 5/1/18.

The debtor/defendant has raised a separate argument with respect to the first claim for relief. The tentative ruling, however, is to reject the debtor/defendant's alternative argument (adv. dkt. 7, pp.7:23-8:5) that, under Rule 9(b), Fed. R. Civ. P. (incorporated by Rule 7009, Fed. R. Bankr.P.), the complaint is not sufficiently precise about the amount of hours that were falsely under-reported in each report. The complaint sufficiently apprises the debtor/defendant of the grounds of the alleged fraud, and any greater specificity is a matter for discovery and proof at trial, not a defect in pleading.

(b) 11 U.S.C. 523(a)(4): fraud or defalcation while acting in a fiduciary capacity, etc.

The debtor/defendant seeks dismissal of the second claim for relief, under section 523(4), on the ground that the complaint lacks sufficient allegations that he is a fiduciary with respect to the funds at issue. The tentative ruling is that this is correct.

The complaint alleges that "amounts withheld from employee wages meant to be transmitted to the Vacation Trust" became assets of that trust "'as of the earliest date on which such contributions ... can reasonably be segregated from the employer's general assets.'" Complaint (adv. dkt. 1), p. 8, para.30 (emphasis added, quoting 29 C.F.R. 2510.3-102). In response the debtor/defendant argues (adv. dkt. 7, pp.9:12-15): "Plaintiff has failed to allege that such withholdings actually occurred and when such employee wage withholdings could be 'reasonably segregated from the employer's general assets.' Without such allegations, Plaintiff has failed to adequately allege that plan assets are at issue." (Emphasis added.)

To illustrate, consider the following hypothetical situation. Suppose that the debtor/defendant was paid $10X by a customer, but had obligations at that time of $15X consisting of $5X owed to employees for their base pay, $1X that should have been transmitted to the Vacation Trust but was not, and $9X for various other business expenses such as rent and income taxes. Did the $1X ever become segregated (withheld from wages) to the extent that it became a separate fund as to which the debtor/defendant had fiduciary obligations, or was the $1X only one contractual debt among many, with no segregated fund and therefore no associated fiduciary obligations?

In a similar vein the debtor/defendant also argues (adv. dkt. 7, pp.9:16-10:17) that the allegations about purported control over plan assets are conclusory, that unpaid contributions to employee benefit funds are not plan assets, and that there are insufficient allegations in the complaint to establish that there was any pre-existing fiduciary relationship. The tentative ruling is that all of these arguments are persuasive.

The debtor/defendant cites persuasive authority in support of the foregoing analysis. It is one thing if an employer misuses employee contributions to a trust fund, but if the funds have never reached the employee and instead are contributions that the employer was supposed to make then the failure to pay that contribution is not, by itself, enough to establish a fiduciary relationship with respect to those funds. See In re Quinones, 537 B.R. 942, 945 n.2 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. 2015) (distinguishing employer contributions "from the situation where an employer has control over funds that were withheld from employees' paychecks"). The complaint does not include sufficient allegations to determine which type of contribution is at issue.

In sum, the complaint does not contain enough allegations about the precise relationships among the parties so as to be able to figure out when the debtor/defendant's duties arose and to whom. The tentative ruling is to set the same deadline to amend the complaint as for the first claim for relief.

Unless this Court is persuaded to depart from the foregoing tentative ruling it will be adopted as this Court's final ruling on the motion to dismiss. The debtor/defendant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this court's final ruling. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(3) Mediation. Is there is any reason why this court should not order the parties to mediation before one of the volunteer mediators (not a Bankruptcy Judge) at this time? The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 5/1/18 for the parties to lodge a proposed mediation order (the parties are directed to use the time between now and that deadline to find a mutually agreeable mediator whose schedule can accommodate the needs of this matter; and if the parties cannot even agree on a mediator they may lodge separate orders and Judge Bason will chose among them, or issue his own order).

(4) Deadlines: This adversary proceeding has been pending since 2/5/18. Pursuant to LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B), plaintiff is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the status conference, attaching a copy of this tentative ruling or otherwise memorializing the following.

#3.00 Cont'd status conference re: Complaint to determine dischargeability of debt pursuant to sections 523 and 727 of the United States Bankruptcy Code
fr. 9/4/18,10/9/18, 11/27/18, 01/08/19, 2/5/19

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 3/5/19:

Appearances required.

The parties are directed to address (1) why no status report was filed as required by the adopted 2/5/19 tentative ruling, and (2) whether the parties have scheduled and/or attended mediation.

The tentative ruling is to continue this status conference to 4/9/19 at 11:00 a.m, with a brief status report due by 3/26/19.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 2/5/19:

Continue to 3/5/19 at 11:00 a.m, with a brief status report due by 2/26/19. Although the latest Status Report (adv. dkt. 16) does not address whether the mandatory mediation ordered by this Court has occurred, it appears that more time is needed for mediation. Caution: If the parties do not schedule and attend mediation before the next status conference, this Court may impose sanctions on the recalcitrant party(ies). Appearances are not required on 2/5/19.

Tentative Ruling for 1/8/19:

Continue to 2/5/19 at 11:00 a.m, with a brief status report due by 1/29/19.

Appearances are not required on 1/8/19.

The parties have lodged, and this Court has approved, the Order Assigning Matter to Mediation Program and Appointing Mediator and Alternate Mediator (dkt. 11). This Court is not aware of issues that would warrant a status conference at this time.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 11/27/18:

Appearances required, but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

At the hearing on 10/9/18, Defendants did not appear, and this Court was persuaded to take a flexible approach to whether Plaintiff would pursue default judgments, or mediation, or other avenues. The docket does not reflect any activity since that time. Should this status conference be continued? Should this adversary proceeding be dismissed for lack of prosecution?

final orders or judgment(s) in this proceeding and, if consent is required, whether the parties do consent, or have already expressly or impliedly consented. See *generally Stern v. See generally In re AWTR Liquidation, Inc., 548 B.R. 300 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2016).

(2) Mediation. Is there is any reason why this court should not order the parties to mediation before one of the volunteer mediators (not a Bankruptcy Judge), and meanwhile set the deadlines set forth below? The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 9/10/18 for the parties to lodge a proposed mediation order (the parties are directed to use the time between now and that deadline to find a mutually agreeable mediator whose schedule can accommodate the needs of this matter; and if the parties cannot even agree on a mediator they may lodge separate orders and Judge Bason will chose among them, or issue his own order).

(3) Deadlines: This adversary proceeding has been pending since 6/22/18. Pursuant to LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B), plaintiff is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the status conference, attaching a copy of this tentative ruling or otherwise memorializing the following.

Tentative Ruling for 10/16/18:

Appearances required. There is no tentative ruling but the parties should be prepared to address the following issues.

(1) Background

Plaintiff filed a motion (adv. dkt. 14) for summary judgment on his first claim for relief (constructively fraudulent transfer) and the second claim for relief (declaratory relief that the purported trust is ineffective to prevent creditors from reaching the assets) in his complaint (adv. dkt. 1). This Court issued an order (adv. dkt. 31) denying summary judgment on the first claim but granting it on the second, for the reasons stated therein - principally the reasons in the Revised Tentative Ruling for 3/20/18 (reproduced below).

Defendants appealed. The District Court dismissed the appeal as interlocutory. See adv. dkt. 52, 53. The parties' joint status report states (adv. dkt. 54, p.4, sec.G) that they have executed but not filed a stipulation "that the dismissed appeal can be re-filed as an interlocutory appeal but on the condition that the trial proceed on the remaining fraudulent transfer claim for relief."

(2) Current issues

It is not clear what the parties intend, or what procedural steps this Court should take. Whatever is in the parties' unfiled stipulation presumably will not bind the District Court (or any other court hearing the appeal) in deciding whether to grant leave to appeal this Court's interlocutory ruling, so what do the parties hope to accomplish with their stipulation? Moreover, the parties' stated intention to proceed simultaneously in both this Bankruptcy Court and the District Court usually is not possible because an appeal generally deprives this court of jurisdiction. Cf. Rule 54(b) (Fed. R. Civ. P., incorporated by Rule 7054, Fed. R. Bankr. P.), and compare Rule 8008 (Fed. R. Bankr. P.). To the extent, if any, that this Court has discretion to grant any relief that would make such dual-tracking possible, is that an appropriate use of judicial resources? On a separate issue, if the plaintiff intends to proceed with the first claim for relief, does the plaintiff plan to amend the complaint to cure the deficiencies in that claim (constructively fraudulent transfer) noted in the tentative ruling for 3/20/18?

The tentative ruling is to continue this status conference to 11/6/18 at 11:00 a.m. with a deadline of 10/23/18 for the parties to file and serve whatever papers they deem appropriate to address the foregoing issues and any other relevant issues at this stage of these proceedings.

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures"). There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should apprise this court about the status of any appeals or other matters (see dkt. 31, order granting in part plaintiff's motion for summary judgment, and dkt. 35, notice of appeal). The tentative ruling is to set a continued status conference for 7/17/18 at 11:00 a.m., with a brief status report due 7/6/18.

(1) Motion for summary judgment (adv. dkt. 14-18, the "MSJ"); opposition papers (adv. dkt. 22-25); and reply papers (adv. dkt. 26-27). The tentative ruling is to deny in part and grant in part the MSJ, as set forth below.

(a) Legal standards. The legal standards governing motions for summary judgment are well known, do not appear to be disputed by the parties, and need not be repeated in this tentative ruling.

(b) First claim for relief (fraudulent transfer). Although the complaint (adv. dkt. 1) asserts fraudulent transfer claims under both California law and the Bankruptcy Code, the MSJ limits this to 11 U.S.C. 548. The MSJ also asserts only constructive, not actual, fraud. See adv. dkt. 14, pp.2:21-3:1.

The complaint alleges less than reasonably equivalent value (11 U.S.C. 548(a)(1)(B)(i)) - namely, transfers by the debtors/defendants for no value from the debtors and/or their revocable trusts (the assets of which apparently could be reached by creditors) to irrevocable trusts. But to establish the elements of a constructively fraudulent transfer the plaintiff must also establish one of three types of insolvency (commonly referred to as "balance sheet," "inadequate capital," or "cash flow" insolvency) or else a transfer to an insider under an "employment contract." See 11 U.S.C. 548(a)(1)(B)(ii)(I)-(IV). There is no allegation about any employment contract, so the plaintiff must establish some type of insolvency.

The MSJ refers to balance sheet insolvency (11 U.S.C. 101(32A)). But the complaint never alleges that type of insolvency, so the plaintiff cannot be granted partial summary judgment as to that element (11 U.S.C. 548(a)(1)(B)(ii)(I)).

The complaint alleges inadequate capital and inadequate cash flow (in language that roughly parallels 11 U.S.C. 548(a)(1)(B)(ii)(II)&(III)). But the MSJ extrapolates that those types of insolvency could be presumed based on the bankruptcy schedules many months after the transfer, and from the sheer number of lawsuits and eventual judgments against the defendants and other circumstantial evidence. Those things might (or might not) be persuasive at trial, but they are insufficient to establish a lack of genuine issue of fact.

(c) Second claim for relief (declaratory relief related to nature of the trusts). The complaint (adv. dkt. 1, para. 23) seeks a declaratory judgment (i) that the debtors/defendants are "beneficiaries" of the trusts within the meaning of California Probate Code 15304, (ii) that the benefits the debtors/defendants receive from the trusts are "property of the estate" under 11 U.S.C. 541, and (iii) that the trusts qualify as "self-settled trusts" under California law, which the MSJ uses as shorthand for a trust the assets of which are reachable by creditors.

Various provisions of the Bankruptcy Code define what property is part of the bankruptcy estate:

The bankruptcy estate includes "all legal or equitable interests of the debtor in property as of the commencement of the case." 11 U.S.C. § 541(a)(1). It does not include, however, "any power that the debtor may exercise solely for the benefit of another," 11 U.S.C. § 541(b)(1), nor does it include "[p]roperty in which the debtor holds ... only legal title and not an equitable interest." 11 U.S.C. § 541(d). Similarly, the estate does not include property containing "[a] restriction on the transfer of a beneficial interest of the debtor in a trust that is enforceable under applicable nonbankruptcy law." 11 U.S.C. § 541(c)(2). [In re Cutter, 398 B.R. 6, 18-19 (9th Cir. BAP 2008).]

Under California law:

(a) If the settlor is a beneficiary of a trust created by the settlor and the settlor's interest is subject to a provision restraining the voluntary or involuntary transfer of the settlor's interest, the restraint is invalid against transferees or creditors of the settlor. The invalidity of the restraint on transfer does not affect the validity of the trust.

(b) If the settlor is the beneficiary of a trust created by the settlor and the trust instrument provides that the trustee shall pay income or principal or both for the education or support of the beneficiary or gives the trustee discretion to determine the amount of income or principal or both to be paid to or for the benefit of the settlor, a transferee or creditor of the settlor may reach the maximum amount that the trustee could pay to or for the benefit of the settlor under the trust instrument, not exceeding the amount of the settlor's proportionate contribution to the trust. [California Probate Code 15304]

The California Supreme Court has held that to the extent that the settlor of a trust is also a beneficiary, creditors can reach the property held by the trust:

It is against public policy to permit a man to tie up his property in such a way that he can enjoy it but prevent his creditors from reaching it, and where the settlor makes himself a beneficiary of a trust any restraints in the instrument on the involuntary alienation of his interest are invalid and ineffective. Since [the settlor] was the sole beneficiary, all the property in the trust is subject to the claims of his creditors. [Nelson v. Cal. Trust Co., 33 Cal.2d 501, 501-02 (1949) (emphasis added)]

These principles have been more recently reaffirmed in a decision of the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals:

[U]nder California law, a settlor of a spendthrift trust cannot also act as beneficiary of that trust (i.e., California law prohibits "self-settled" trusts). See Cal. Prob.Code § 15304(a) (West 1987). California law voids self-settled trusts to prevent individuals from placing their property beyond the reach of their creditors while at the same time still reaping the bounties of such property. See Nelson v. California Trust Co., 33 Cal.2d 501, 202 P.2d 1021, 1021 (Cal. 1949). [In re Moses, 167 F.3d 470, 473 (9th Cir. 1999)]

In addition, the MSJ cites authority that if beneficiaries exercise "excessive" control over a trust then under California law they cannot "shield that trust with an anti-alienation provision lacking true substance." In re Moses, 167 F.3d 470, 473 (9th Cir. 1999) (citation omitted) (emphasis added). See also In re Cutter, 398 B.R. 6, 22 (9th Cir. BAP 2008). MSJ (adv. dkt. 14, p.10:1-14).

The debtors argue that their situation is different from that in Cutter because "the Debtor in Cutter could potentially use all the Trust's principal and income to maintain his standard of living, without limitation" whereas "[t]here is no such provision" in the debtors' trusts. Dkt. 22, p.3:22-26 (italics added to case name). That distinction of Cutter (and the other authorities cited above) is unpersuasive.

The MSJ points to the following facts in support of its argument that (i) the debtors are also beneficiaries and (ii) the anti-alienation provisions of the trust lack "true substance." The debtor/defendants do not raise any genuine contrary issues of fact.

(i) The debtors deducted mortgage interest and real estate taxes on their 2015 tax returns. See dkt. 18, p.4:5-9 (and evidence cited therein).

(ii) During the "initial period" of the trusts (the earlier of the grantors' deaths or 16 years) the debtors can continue to live in the property rent-free. See Dkt. 18, p.4:10-15 (and evidence cited therein).

(iii) During that same period, any net income or excess cash is distributed to the debtors. See Dkt. 18, p.4:16-21 (and evidence cited therein).

(iv) The debtors can manage the property as "absolute owners." See Dkt. 18, p.4:22-28 (and evidence cited therein).

(v) The debtors can loan money to themselves and/or use the property to secure loans to themselves. See Dkt. 18, p.5:2-7 (and evidence cited therein).

(vi) During their lifetime, the debtors can make discretionary distributions to their children, and upon their deaths the trust assets are to be distributed to their children. See Dkt. 18, p.5:8-12 (and evidence cited therein).

Based on the foregoing, it appears that the debtors are indeed beneficiaries of the trusts to a large extent, and moreover the anti-alienation provisions of the trust lack "true substance" as that term has been used in the cited authorities. Accordingly, the tentative ruling is to grant the MSJ on the second claim for relief.

(2) Deadlines: This adversary proceeding has been pending since 9/26/17. The applicable deadlines are reflected in this court's orders (adv. dkt. 7, 20). The parties should be prepared to address whether there are any non-mooted matters left to resolve in this adversary proceeding, if this Court is not persuaded to depart from the foregoing tentative ruling on the MSJ.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." (1) Venue/jurisdiction/authority. Matters of venue, jurisdiction, and authority have been determined and/or waived or forfeited (at the hearing on 12/5/17). See also adv. dkt. 10, 11.

(2) Deadlines: This adversary proceeding has been pending since 9/26/17. The applicable deadlines are reflected in this court's orders (adv. dkt. 7, 20).

Tentative Ruling for 12/5/17:

Appearances required. The court has reviewed the parties' joint status report (dkt. 5) and the other filed documents and records in this adversary proceeding.

(1) Venue/jurisdiction/authority.

The parties are directed to address any outstanding matters of (a) venue, (b) jurisdiction, (c) this court's authority to enter final orders or judgment(s) in this proceeding and, if consent is required, whether the parties do consent, or have already expressly or impliedly consented. See *generally Stern v. Cir. BAP 2013) (rebuttable presumption that failure to challenge authority to issue final order is intentional and indicates consent); In re Deitz, 760 F.3d 1028 (9th Cir. 2014) (authority to adjudicate nondischargeability encompasses authority to liquidate debt and enter final judgment). See generally In re AWTR Liquidation, Inc., 548 B.R. 300 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2016).

This court recognizes that, at least at this stage, the attorney who filed the answer (dkt. 4) for both trustees of the trust has also executed the Status Report (dkt. 5) on behalf of one of the defendant trustees (the debtor/defendant) asserting that neither of them can consent to this Bankruptcy Court entering a final judgment because third party beneficiaries of the trust allegedly have a right to have their rights litigated "outside of this venue." Counsel for the answering defendants should be prepared (a) to explain whether this is a Stern objection or something else and (b) whether both answering defendants or only one of them takes this position, and if the former, why he did not execute the status report on behalf of both of them.

Counsel for the plaintiff should be prepared to address whether the plaintiff contends that there are no additional parties who need to be joined, and why.

(2) Mediation. The plaintiff suggests in the Status Report (adv. dkt. 5) that mediation, if any, should not be ordered before dispositive motion(s) are heard, which the plaintiff anticipates will be by 3/1/18. The tentative ruling is to revisit the issue of mediation after that date.

(3) Deadlines: This adversary proceeding has been pending since 9/26/17. Pursuant to LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B), plaintiff is directed to serve and lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the status conference, attaching a copy of this tentative ruling or otherwise memorializing the following.

Tentative Ruling for 3/5/19:

Appearances required.

(1) Current issues

(a) Finances and exit strategy

Debtor's latest monthly operating reports (dkt. 56, MOR#7 for Dec. 2018 and dkt. 67, MOR #8 for Jan. 2019) appear to show that Debtor is barely keeping his head above water, even though he is not making adequate protection payments - he is over $45,000 behind on monthly payments to Ocwen Loan Servicing. Debtor should be prepared to address whether this Bankruptcy Court should dismiss or convert this case, whether Debtor can propose a viable exit strategy from this bankruptcy case, and when to set a deadline to file (not serve) an initial draft Plan and draft Disclosure Statement.

Tentative Ruling for 2/5/19:

Continue as set forth below. Appearances are not required on 2/5/19.

(1) Current issues

(a) Application to employ bankruptcy counsel (dkt. 26)

This Court has reviewed the supplemental declarations (dkt. 62, 63, 64), and is satisfied that this Court's concerns from the 1/8/19 hearing have been adequately addressed. The tentative ruling is to approve the Application to employ the law offices of Raymond H. Aver (dkt. 26).

Proposed order: Applicant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(b) Finances and exit strategy

Debtor's latest monthly operating report (dkt. 56, MOR#7 for Dec. 2018) appears to show that Debtor is barely keeping his head above water. At the continued status conference this Court anticipates addressing whether Debtor can propose a viable exit strategy from this bankruptcy case, and when to set a deadline to file (not serve) an initial draft Plan and draft Disclosure Statement.

Chapter 11

Tentative Ruling for 1/8/19:

Continue as set forth below, so that Debtor's proposed counsel can further supplement the employment application. Appearances are not required on 1/8/19.

(1) Current issues: professionals

Debtor's latest declaration in support of the application to employ the law offices of Raymond H. Aver (dkt. 55) states that Debtor's friend, Mr. Michael Baradaran (the "Funder"), has agreed to pay the retainer and he "may gift all or a portion of the postpetition retainer." Dkt. 55, p.2:13-14 (emphasis added). See also dkt. 26, 32, 49, 55. That is inadequate.

What would the non-gift portion be? A loan (unsecured, presumably)? An investment (some sort of arrangement akin to an equity infusion into a business)? When and how would those things be decided?

The lack of complete disclosure by Debtor and proposed counsel only cause this Court to have additional questions. This Court's concerns, and tentative ruling about what needs to be disclosed, are as follows.

A third party who funds a retainer for the debtor generally has some pre-existing relationship with the debtor, and/or some motivation to providing the funding. Those things increase the likelihood that the Funder could be the recipient of an avoidable preference, or might have alter ego liability, or otherwise might have interests that are adverse to (or at least not fully aligned with) the bankruptcy estate or creditors. For these reasons, although payment of a retainer by a third party is not outright prohibited, it is fraught with ethical concerns. At the hearing, proposed counsel should be prepared to address the following.

(a) Connections. What are all of the connections between the Funder, on the one hand, and the debtor's proposed counsel or any of the other types of persons listed in FRBP 2014, on the other hand -- e.g., have there been any economic or business or personal connections between the Funder and proposed counsel, or the debtor, or any creditor or other party in interest, or their respective attorneys or accountants?

(b) Terms. What are the precise agreements, understandings or expectations regarding the funds -- e.g., are the funds a loan, a gift, an investment, or something else?

(c) Informed consent of funder. Has the Funder been advised regarding actual and potential conflicts of interest, and that the sole attorney-client relationship and duty of loyalty is with the debtor, not the Funder? Who provided such advice: independent counsel, or the debtor's proposed counsel? Has the Funder given informed consent? Are those things in writing?

(d) Informed consent of debtor. Has the debtor likewise been fully advised and given informed consent? Who provided such advice? Are these things in writing?

(e) Other considerations. Has proposed counsel demonstrated or represented to the Court the absence of an actual or potential conflict, a lack of disinterestedness, or any other basis for disqualification? See In re Kelton Motors, Inc., 109 B.R. 641 (Bankr. D. Vt. 1989); In re Hathaway Ranch Partnership, 116 B.R. 208, 219 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1990); In re Park-Helena Corp., 63 F.3d 877 (9th Cir. 1995).

(f) Deadline. The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 1/22/19 for Debtor to file declarations by (i) Debtor, (ii) the Funder, and (iii) proposed counsel addressing all of the foregoing issues.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 6/21/18.

(b) Source of funds re retainer agreement - In their opposition, the U.S. Trustee raised the question of what the source of the funds for Debtor's retainer agreement is (dkt. 32). Debtor's reply provides that the source of the funds are "Saeedian's and his spouse's earnings and/or contribution from third parties." (dkt. 47, PDF p. 11). Who is this third party? Revised Tentative Ruling for 7/17/18:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor and by the debtor(s) themselves.

(1) Current issues. This Court has reviewed the debtor's filed status report (dkt. 17) and the other filed documents in this case.

(a) Secured claims. Why does the debtor's bankruptcy Schedule D (dkt. 18 at PDF p.11) list $0 in secured claims (not even a disputed claim?) even though the status report (dkt. 17) states that the case was filed to stop foreclosure? How can creditor and this Court rely on the accuracy of the bankruptcy schedules in view of such inconsistency?

(b) Income. The debtor's bankruptcy Schedule I (dkt. 18 at PDF pp.19-20) lists a total of $100/mo. in income taxes, medicare and social security.

It lists $0 for net income from operating a business (line 8a) despite listing multiple businesses with alleged income: "YB Design, Inc.," "Management of Rabenu Enterprises, LLC," "Babysitting services," and "Cosmetic Sales." It fails to comply with the instructions in line 8a to "Attach a statement for each ... business showing gross receipts, ordinary and necessary business expenses, and the total monthly net income." The debtor appears to be ignoring the requirements to provide disclosure as to his own income and expenses and, under this Court's order (dkt. 9, para.3), to provide equal disclosure with respect to his spouse and their businesses. How can creditors and this Court rely on the accuracy of the bankruptcy schedules and future compliance with orders of this Court in view of such non-compliance?

(c) Deadline for compliance. The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 7/31/18 for the debtor to file amended bankruptcy schedules correcting not only the foregoing deficiencies that this Court has identified but also any other deficiencies that the debtor and his spouse and the debtor's counsel identify after carefully reviewing the documents that the debtor has filed. If in future this Court discovers other non-compliance with the debtor's obligations to provide accurate disclosures and to comply with this Court's orders, this Court may order the dismissal or conversion of this bankruptcy case, or other remedies.

Tentative Ruling for 2/5/19:

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues

(a) Finances (MOR #3, Dec. 2018, dkt. 71; Decl. dkt. 75)

Debtor's recently reported finances are dismal, as noted in the tentative ruling for 1/8/19. It appears that Debtor's occupancy rate is less than half of what was projected (which is itself less than half of available rooms), and that Debtor is failing to pay some franchise fees, utilities, housekeeping expenses, and other items.

Debtor blames outages in its online booking services, but as noted in the limited opposition to extending exclusivity (dkt. 78) filed by First Choice Bank, Debtor's behavior in the face of problems with online booking is puzzling. Why did Debtor not proactively contact the online booking agencies around the time it filed its bankruptcy petition? Why did Debtor not monitor its own finances sufficiently to realize that those agencies had not been paid? Debtor asserts that it was given no advance notice, but that seems highly unusual, so where is evidence of the telephone calls, emails, and letters immediately reacting, objecting to being cut off with no prior notice, and offering immediate payment of any missed bills? This Court takes judicial notice that the booking agencies are large enough to be familiar names, and presumably they have experienced hotel bankruptcies before, so what reasons did they give for their alleged lack of notice and over-reaction? As the bank suggests, the outages in booking were long enough that one would expect Debtor to have made repeated and considerable efforts to resolve the situation, possibly including meetings in person, but there is no evidence of that.

All of the foregoing suggests "gross mismanagement" of the estate, which is one possible basis to dismiss or convert this case. 11 U.S.C. 1112(b)(4)(B). The facts recited above also appear to constitute a "substantial" loss or diminution of the estate, and calls into question whether there is a "reasonable likelihood of rehabilitation." 11 U.S.C. 1112(b)(4)(A). In addition, these facts call into question whether Debtor will be able to meet the feasibility test for any proposed plan. 11 U.S.C. 1129(a)(11).

The parties are directed to address whether this case should be dismissed or converted.

(b) Alleged infusions

There have been promises during this case that cash infusions would be made by Debtor's principal, Rhonda Chung. The Status Report (dkt. 79, p.4:8-21) alludes to some, but the precise dollars amounts are generally unclear, as are the dates, and precisely how those dollars been used. The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 2/12/19 (if this case is not dismissed) for Ms. Chung to file a declaration, with attached evidence, addressing each of these things.

(c) Employment of bankruptcy counsel (dkt. 47, 51, 56, 67, 68, 71)

Have the objections of the United States Trustee (dkt. 51) been resolved?

(c) Motion to Extend Exclusivity Periods (dkt. 73)

Debtor is directed to addressing the issues raised by First Choice Bank's Opposition (dkt. 78).

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 10/14/18.

(a) Bar date: 1/31/19 (timely served, dkt. 64).

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: TBD

(c) Continued status conference: 3/5/19 at 1:00 p.m., brief status report due 2/26/19.

(1) Current issues.

Debtor's status report (dkt. 72) attempts to put the best face on a dismal record of recent operations. Should this Court set deadlines to sell the estate's property/business, or impose other performance metrics and establish consequences for failure to satisfy those metrics?

(1) Current issues

(a) Cash collateral motion (dkt. 4). This Court has reviewed the supplemental declarations of Kenneth Chung and Rhonda Chung (dkt. 38). Those declarations provide that in the event Debtor lacks the funds necessary to make the required property tax payments, Rhonda Chung will "personally pay any short fall [o]f the Debtor to pay these taxes or, any portion of those taxes, if any, that has not otherwise been approved by the Court as an authorized Cash Collateral expense." (Rhonda Chung decl, para. 7). Would these funds be a loan or a gift? Is Rhonda Chung financially able to provide such a sum?

(b) Creditor First Choice Bank reporting requests: In its opposition to the cash collateral motion, First Choice Bank requests that Debtor be required to provide additional reporting to insure cash collateral is not misused (dkt. 58). Does Debtor object to any of these recommendations? If so, on what grounds?

(c) Order on cash collateral. Debtor is directed to lodge a proposed final order approving the use of cash collateral, incorporating the terms of the interim order plus any additional requirements as noted above, via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(d) Utility motion. Debtor's status report (dkt. 49) states that this motion will be withdrawn, either orally or in writing. Debtor should file a written withdrawal, so that the docket is clear.

#4.00 Cont'd status Conference re: Chapter 11 Case
fr. 2/5/19

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 3/5/19:

Appearances required.

(1) Current issues

(a) Financial losses and irregularities

Debtor's first Monthly Operating Report ("MOR," Jan. 2019, dkt. 17, p.1) appears to show that Debtor started with $2,518.85 and ended with $25.64. How is this sustainable? It appears to match Debtor's bankruptcy Schedules I&J (dkt. 1 at PDF pp.43-46), which show negative cash flow and no anticipated future change. Although Debtor's status report (dkt. 13) states that Debtor intends to sell one property and/or evict the tenant, but the docket does not reflect any progress on those things. Based on the foregoing, the tentative ruling is to dismiss this bankruptcy case.

The same MOR appears to show that Debtor paid $150 on a "Personal Loan" from "Samuel Samuel" via "Cash App" (dkt. 17, at PDF p.2, 1/15/19 entry) - is that an unauthorized postpetition borrowing? Alternatively, is it an unauthorized payment of prepetition debt? Either way, it appears that Debtor is violating the duties of a debtor in possession.

Likewise, the MOR shows a payment of $479.31 to Capital One Auto Carpay for an "Automobile Loan." Dkt. 17, at PDF p.3, entry for 1/22/19. What is the explanation?

Likewise, the MOR shows a payment of $228.96 to "Charter Communications" on 1/28/19 for "Internet (Includes Past Due Amounts)." This appears to violate the automatic stay: what will Debtor's counsel do about that?

(b) Disregarding Court order

This Court's "Order Setting Bar Date: April 16, 2019 and Directing Service by Debtor" (dkt. 14, emphasis added) specifically directed Debtor to serve a copy of that order no later than February 11, 2019. There is no proof of such service. Why not? The tentative ruling, if this case is not dismissed, is to issue an order setting an amended bar date, and once again direct Debtor to serve a copy of that amended order on creditors (see below).

(c) Missing budget motion. At the 2/5/19 hearing and in the Initial Case Status Report (dkt. 13), Debtor represented to this Court that a budget motion would be forthcoming. As of the writing of this tentative ruling, no such motion has been filed. Why not?

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 1/8/19.

(a) Bar date: 4/16/19 but no notice (see above), so re-set to 5/30/19 (DO NOT service any notice - this Court will prepare an amended bar date order and that order will direct Debtor to serve it on creditors).

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: TBD

(c) Continued status conference: 4/9/19 at 1:00 p.m., brief status report due 3/26/19.

*Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor and by the debtor(s) themselves.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Missing status report. Debtor is directed to explain why a Case Status Report was not filed, as required by this Court's order setting this status conference (dkt. 5).

(b) Missing "first day" motions. Debtor has failed to file a budget motion (required by Judge Bason's posted procedures, available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov). Debtor also has not filed any other typical "first day" motions (e.g., a utility motion).

(c) Negative, and inadequately supported, monthly income. Debtor appears to have a new job as a real estate broker, but even with that new (alleged) income and supplemental income as a Lyft driver he shows negative cash flow. See Bankruptcy Schedules I & J (dkt. 1 at PDF pp. 43-46).

Debtor appears to have two properties, but does not list any leases or any income from a rental property: why not?

Debtor has stated under penalty of perjury that he does not expect any changes to income or expenses (see bankruptcy Schedule I, item 13, and Schedule J, item 24). How can Debtor hope to reorganize with negative cash flow?

In addition, the (sparse) income that is reported is inadequately supported. Debtor has ignored the instructions on bankruptcy Schedule I, line 8a, to "[a]ttach a statement for each property and business showing gross receipts, ordinary and necessary business expenses, and the total monthly net income."

(c) Dismissal? Should this Court dismiss this case? Does the foregoing constitute a "willful failure to appear in proper prosecution" of this case, and/or a "willful" failure to comply with this Court's order setting this status conference, either of which would support dismissal with a bar under 11 U.S.C. 109(g)(1)?

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 1/8/19. If this case is not dismissed, the tentative ruling is to set the following deadlines/dates:

(a) Bar date: 4/16/19 (DO NOT SERVE notice yet - court will prepare an order after the status conference).

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: TBD

(c) Continued status conference: 3/5/19 at 1:00 p.m., brief status report due 2/26/19.

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 3/5/19

Please see tentative ruling in status conference (3/5/19, cal. no. 8 at 1:00 p.m.).

Tentative Ruling for 1/23/19

Grant the motion (docket no.4) on an interim basis, subject to the conditions set forth below and any opposition at the hearing, with a final hearing on 2/26/19 at 1:00 p.m., and a deadline of 2/1/19 for the movant to file and serve a notice of the final hearing. Appearances required.

Judge Bason's standard conditions for use of cash collateral and/or postpetition financing (by creditors holding prepetition claims)

(1) Written order

(a) Form. Use local form

F2081-1.1.ORDER.CASH.COLLATERAL or the equivalent. Attach a copy of this tentative ruling as an exhibit, thereby adopting it as the written ruling of this Court. Do not repeat the terms set forth in the motion or any stipulation. Incorporate those terms by reference (including the docket number of the document), subject to any modification by this Court.

(b) Timing. Lodge the proposed order within 7 days after the hearing. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(2) Minimum adequate protection

In addition to the postpetition security interests that are automatically provided pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 552 (e.g., in traceable proceeds and profits), and subject to any more comprehensive protection that may be included in the motion or related papers, Debtor shall provide at least the following protection to any creditor with a security interest in the subject property (pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 361-364, as applicable):

(a) Insurance. For all collateral of a type that typically is insured (e.g., real property and improvements), Debtor is directed to maintain insurance in a dollar amount at least equal to Debtor's good faith estimate of the value of such creditor's interest in the collateral, and such insurance shall name such creditor as an additional insured. Debtor is directed to remain current on payments for such insurance.

(b) Taxes. Debtor is directed to remain current on payments on account of postpetition real estate taxes (to the extent that real estate is part of the collateral).

(c) Disclosures/access. Debtor is directed to provide, upon such creditor's reasonable request, periodic accountings of the foregoing insurance and tax obligations and payments, as well as postpetition proceeds, products, offspring, or profits from the collateral, including gross revenues and expenses and a calculation of net revenues, including any rents and any fees, charges, accounts, or other payments for the use or occupancy of rooms and other public facilities in lodging properties (as all of the foregoing terms are used in 11 U.S.C. 552). Debtor is directed to provide appropriate documentation of those accountings, and access for purposes of inspection or appraisal.

(3) Limitation on postpetition liens

In the event that the motion or related papers seek authority to grant postpetition liens to the creditor(s) with respect to prepetition debts any such liens shall be limited to the same validity, priority, and amount as prepetition liens. As used herein, the "validity, priority, and amount" or any similar phrase that may be used by the parties or this Court is deemed to include the following:

(a) Extent. Such liens shall be limited to the type of collateral in which the creditor held a security interest as of the petition date, unless this order expressly states that the liens granted by this order are intended to attach to different types of collateral from the prepetition collateral. For example, if prepetition liens extended to inventory and accounts receivable but not equipment then postpetition liens are likewise limited (unless otherwise expressly provided by order of this Court). In addition, postpetition liens shall not extend to the proceeds of any avoidance actions, any recoveries under 11 U.S.C. 506(c), or any "carveout" under 11 U.S.C. 552.

(b) Priority. Such liens shall be limited to the same priority as the security interest held by the creditor as of the petition date.

(c) Dollar amount. Such liens shall be limited to the dollar amount needed to protect the creditor against diminution in the value of the secured claims as of the petition date.

(d) Enforceability. Such liens shall be limited to the extent that the creditor's security interests were duly perfected and valid as of the petition date, and to the extent that they are unavoidable.

(e) Automatic postpetition perfection. Any automatic perfection of such liens shall be subject to any applicable limitations regarding the Court's authority, jurisdiction, or due process.

(4) Automatic disapproval of insufficiently disclosed provisions

Any provision of the type listed in FRBP 4001(c)(1)(B) or in local form F4001-2 (e.g., cross-collateralization) or any waiver of the "equities of the case" exception in 11 U.S.C. 552(b)(2) shall be deemed automatically disapproved and excepted from any order granting the motion, notwithstanding any other provision of such order, unless either: (a) such provision is specifically and prominently disclosed in the motion papers in a checklist (such as local form F4001-2), or alternatively (b) such provision is specifically identified in any proposed order granting the motion, using terminology of the type used in FRBP 4001(c)(1)(B) or local form F4001-2 (e.g., any "cross-collateralization" that is not specifically identified as such is deemed to be disapproved).

(5) Disputes

In the event of any disputes regarding the rulings in this order, the parties are directed to meet and confer and, if they cannot resolve their disputes consensually, contact Judge Bason's chambers to arrange a mutually convenient time for either a telephonic or in-person hearing to address such disputes.

Appearances required. Grant on an interim basis, subject to (1) any opposition presented at the hearing, (2) assurances that Debtor is maintaining sufficient records to account for all assets and liabilities as of the petition date, and (3) assurances that Debtor has adequate safeguards against payment of prepetition claims (except whatever payments are authorized by the payroll motion). The tentative ruling is to set a final hearing on 2/26/19 at 1:00 p.m., with a deadline of 2/1/19 for the movant to file and serve a notice of the final hearing. In addition, the tentative ruling is to find that such relief is necessary to "avoid immediate and irreparable harm" within the meaning of Rule 6003 (Fed. R. Bankr. P.).

fr. 01/30/19, 2/13/19

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 3/5/19

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor.

(1) Current issues

(a) Emergency Payroll Motion (dkt. 3)

Grant on a final basis, on the same terms as in the interim order (dkt. 28).

(b) Cash Collateral Motion (dkt. 4)

Subject to addressing the issues raised in the reservations of rights filed by creditors Wells Fargo Trade Capital Services, Inc. ("Wells Fargo," dkt. 75) and Strategic Partners, Inc. ("Strategic," dkt. 76), grant this motion on a final basis, on the same terms as in the interim order (dkt. 29).

(c) Cash Management Motion (dkt. 6)

Subject to an update from Debtor and, if they elect to appear, counsel for the United States Trustee, regarding the adequacy of Debtor's cash management procedures, the tentative ruling is to grant this motion on a final basis, on the same terms as in the interim order (dkt. 27).

Proposed orders: Debtor is directed to lodge proposed orders on each of the foregoing motions via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 1/25/19.

(a) Bar date: 5/17/19 (dkt. 65). Note: This Court's order setting the bar date (dkt. 65) directed Debtor to serve that order on all parties in interest no later than 2/22/19. Debtor's proof of service (dkt. 82) is deficient.

First, the declarant alleges (dkt. 82, pp.1:25-2:3) that someone else (an unnamed person) served the order. That is inadequate: a declaration of service must be based on personal knowledge.

Chapter 11

Second, it appears that the person who served the order was someone employed by Debtor. Traditionally, service must be verified by someone who is "not a party" (see Rule 7004(a)(1), Fed. R. Bankr. P.), and Debtor has not cited any authority that the rule is different in bankruptcy cases.

The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 3/4/19 for Debtor's counsel to re-serve the bar date order and file a proof of service that complies with the applicable rules. (This Court recognizes that this second notice of the bar date will not be received until closer to that bar date, but in the circumstances that appears to be appropriate.)

(b) Order setting principal status conference. The same deficiencies apply to the purported proof of service (dkt. 53) of this Court' order (dkt. 38) setting this principal status conference.

The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 3/4/19 for Debtor's counsel to re-serve the principal status conference order and file a proof of service that complies with the applicable rules. (This Court recognizes that this second service of the principal status conference order will occur after the principal status conference; but in the circumstances that appears to be appropriate because that order provides official notice of important matters, such as notice that this Court can issue case-dispositive orders at any status conference.)

(c) Proofs of service generally. In addition to the foregoing, Debtor's counsel are encouraged to redouble their efforts to provide accurate proofs of service. See, e.g., dkt. 82, last page (purported proof of service that appears to refer erroneously to status report rather than the declaration to which it is attached).

(d) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: [TBD] [At a future status conference this Court anticipates setting a deadline will be set for filing, using the forms required by Judge Bason (DO NOT SERVE yet, except on the U.S. Trustee - this Court will set a deadline and procedures at a later time).

(e) Continued status conference: 5/7/19 at 1:00 p.m., status report due 4/23/19.

*Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

Tentative Ruling for 2/13/19

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor.

(1) Current issues

(a) Debtor's motion for relief from automatic stay (dkt.)

The tentative ruling is to grant this motion, on the terms and conditions set forth in calendar no. 1 (2/13/19 at 2:00 p.m.).

(b) Cash flow

Debtor is directed to provide an update on its current cash flow andd anticipated DIP financing.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 1/25/19.

(a) Bar date: TBD (DO NOT SERVE notice yet - court will prepare an order after the status conference).

Tentative Ruling for 2/26/19:

Please see the tentative ruling in the status conference (cal. #10, 2/26/19 at 1:00 p.m.).

Tentative Ruling 1/15/19:

Appearances required. The tentative ruling is either (1) if no evidence of insurance is provided at the hearing, or perhaps within a very short window, to grant immediate relief from the automatic stay, and otherwise (2) to require Debtor to sell the subject property immediately, and set related procedures including a continued hearing on this motion for relief from the automatic stay, all as set forth below.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this Court's final ruling. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(1) Background

Movant previously filed a motion (dkt. 8) for relief from the automatic stay in this case. This Court issued an adequate protection order (dkt. 31, the "APO"). The APO provides that the stay will remain in place as long as Debtor makes adequate protection payments, but that the stay will not apply in any future bankruptcy case ("in rem" relief).

(2) Alleged cause for relief under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1)&(4)

(a) Insurance

Movant asserts that Debtor has failed to provide proof that the property is insured. See dkt. 78, p.3. Debtor's response (dkt. 83) fails to address this issue, as pointed out by Movant's reply (dkt. 85).

At the hearing, Debtor is directed to address whether the property is insured, and to make an offer of proof. This Court may be persuaded to terminate the automatic stay immediately if Debtor fails to provide adequate proof of insurance that complies with the loan documents (e.g., naming Movant as a party entitled to notice and/or as an insured party, if that is what the loan documents require).

(b) Order for relief from the stay in a related case

Movant now seeks relief again, pointing out that since the APO was issued an order granting relief from the automatic stay has been issued in a case filed by Debtor's principal and 100% equity owner, Sergio Moreno Morales. See In re Morales (Case No. 2:18-bk-16365-WB), dkt. 31 (issued on 7/3/18) (the "In Rem Order"). The In Rem Order grants relief under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(4) - i.e., relief that is applicable notwithstanding any future bankruptcy case. By definition the In Rem Order is not applicable to this pending bankruptcy case, but Movant apparently believes the issuance of that order should be considered cause under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1)&(4) to modify the APO so as to terminate the automatic stay immediately.

This Court is not persuaded. First, as Debtor points, in this case there is no evidence that Debtor has failed to comply with the APO.

Second, the In Rem Order itself recites that there was no opposition to that order. In contrast, in this case Debtor has responded and adequately established, long before the In Rem Order was issued, that there were grounds to hold Debtor to a strict APO but not terminate the stay.

To summarize this Court's prior reasoning in issuing the APO, although it is true that Mr. Morales has filed multiple bankruptcy cases and previously arranged an unauthorized transfer of title to the real property from Debtor to himself, (a) title was restored to Debtor on or about 6/1/18 (see dkt. 21, p.4:5-6), (b) Mr. Morales has adequately explained his prior bankruptcy cases and the unauthorized transfer of title, at least for purposes of issuing the APO rather than terminating the automatic stay (see dkt. 21, pp.4:9-5:21, and 7:12-10:22), and (c) creditors would be harmed if the stay were terminated in this case. Not only does this reasoning still apply, but the APO is the law of this case, and Movant has neither briefed the standards for overcoming the law of the case nor established legal or factual grounds for reconsidering the APO.

(3) Alleged grounds for relief under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(2)

As Debtor argues, Movant must show both (a) a lack of equity in the property and (b) that the property is not necessary for an effective reorganization. Debtor disputes both of these prongs. Ultimately, however, both parties' arguments depend on whether there is equity in the property. If there is, then the property can be sold and net proceeds distributed to creditors. If there is no equity, Debtor has not suggested any reason why the property would be necessary to an effective reorganization.

Any equity in the property is equal to the property's value minus costs of sale and liens or other encumbrances. Debtor questions whether the dollar amount that Movant claims to be owed on its lien takes into consideration the payments made under the APO. That may make a difference of a few thousand dollars. The larger issue is the value of the property.

Movant asserts that the value is $750,000. See dkt. 78, p.8 & Ex.M, and dkt. 85 at PDF pp.11 et seq. (Mauch Decl.). Debtor's principal asserts (dkt. 83, pp.9:20-10:2) that Debtor has recently accepted an offer to purchase the property for $850,000, for which he will seek this Court's approval under 11 U.S.C. 363(b)&(f). Debtor's principal also asserts (id.) that he believes the property is actually worth much more - approximately $915,000 - but that "in the interest of moving Debtor's reorganization along and avoiding Movant's attempts at relief and foreclosure" he "has determined that it is in the best interest of the estate to accept a purchase price of $850,000.00."

The tentative ruling is that the best method of determining whether Debtor has an equity in the property (and hence, in the circumstances of this case, whether the property is necessary to an effective reorganization of Debtor's finances) is to move forward with the proposed sale of the property (presumably subject to overbids). As the Supreme Court has stated, generally "the best way to determine value is exposure to a market." Bank of Am. v. 203 N. LaSalle St. P'ship, 526 U.S. 434, 457 (1999).

Chapter 11

This Court takes judicial notice that Debtor has filed an application (dkt. 82) to employ a real estate broker. In other words, Debtor appears to be taking steps to proceed with the proposed sale of the property.

Accordingly, the tentative ruling is to set a deadline for Debtor to file and serve its motion to sell the property under 11 U.S.C. 363(b)&(f), and defer any other issues until after this Court determines whether or not to approve the proposed sale. The tentative ruling is that a motion to sell must be filed and served no later than 2/1/19, and self-calendared for hearing on 2/26/19 at 1:00 p.m.

In addition, the tentative ruling is to continue the present motion for relief from the automatic stay to the same time (specially set at 1:00 p.m., rather than the usual time of 10:00 a.m.). In addition, the tentative ruling is to reschedule the upcoming Status Conference in this case from 2/5/19 to 2/26/19 at 1:00 p.m.

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 3/5/19:

Appearances required.

(1) Current issues

(a) Application to employ James Gallardo as real estate broker (dkt. 112, 113)

The parties must inform the Court as to the status of the Mr. Vasquez and the bankruptcy estate having separate real estate brokers (or Mr. Vasquez proceeding without a broker); how any brokers will split the 4% commission; and the other issues laid out by the Court in the tentative ruling for the 2/26/19 hearing. The tentative ruling is that the sale cannot be approved until a broker is authorized to represent the estate in the sale.

(b) Debtor's Motion for Authority to Sell Altadena Property (the "Sale Motion," dkt. 102, 105, 114)

(i) Payment of costs of sale, including real estate brokers

The tentative ruling is to sustain the UST's objection (dkt. 104) and Crescent's objection (dkt. 110) to the extent they object to paying any attorney fees out of escrow, or paying the real estate brokers until those brokers are actually retained, but overrule those objections to the extent they object to paying costs of sale, including real estate brokers, ahead of Crescent.

(ii) Payment of the portion of Crescent's claim that is not (yet) disputed, and real estate taxes

The parties should be prepared to address whether a new closing statement has been generated to update the amount to be paid to Crescent and to show that real estate taxes will be paid out of escrow.

(iii) "Good faith" finding procedures before the proposed order approving the sale is lodged, then the tentative ruling is to include a good faith finding in that order.

(iv) Approval of sale

(c) Motion for Relief from Stay (dkt. 78)

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: TBD.

Tentative Ruling for 2/26/19:

Appearances required.

(1) Current issues (dkt. 111 etc.)

Debtor's proposed sale of certain real estate is intertwined with Debtor's proposed employment of a real estate broker. The tentative ruling is to go forward with the sale hearing, including any overbids, and approve the sale on a provisional basis, with a continued hearing on both the employment application and the sale motion at the same time as the continued status conference (see below).

(a) Application to employ James Gallardo as real estate broker (dkt. 112,

113)

As pointed out by both the United States Trustee ("UST") (dkt. 104) and creditor Crescent Capital Holdings ("Crescent") (dkt.110), Mr. Gallardo is purporting to act as a dual agent, for both the seller (Debtor) and the proposed buyer (subject to overbids), Luis Vasquez. Judge Bason prohibits dual agency, as noted both in his posted Procedures (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) and in the order approving the prior real estate broker (dkt. 92) (Mr. Leal).

The tentative ruling is that the lack of dual agency is mandated by the disinterestedness requirements of the Bankruptcy Code and Rules, so it cannot be waived. It is irrelevant that, outside of bankruptcy, it is not uncommon for parties in real estate transactions to accept their agent's lack of disinterestedness. See Reply to Sale Motion (dkt. 115, p.3:10-21).

Accordingly, the tentative ruling is that, if the highest and best bid is that of Mr. Vasquez, then Mr. Vasquez must file a declaration confirming that he has retained his own real estate broker (who must be unaffiliated with Mr. Gallardo), and Mr. Gallardo must represent only Debtor and the bankruptcy estate (not Mr. Vasquez).

In addition, the parties are directed to address whether Mr. Gallardo and/or Debtor's counsel must pay the additional real estate broker out of either (i) a portion of the 4% commission that was to have been paid solely to Mr. Gallardo, or (ii) out of a reduction in Debtor's counsel's attorney fees, so that the bankruptcy estate is not prejudiced by Debtor's non-compliance with the prohibition on dual agency. In other words, should this Court order that the total commission to all real estate brokers combined must not exceed 4%?

In addition, there might be other grounds for objecting to Mr. Gallardo's employment, and the time for objections has not yet expired, so the employment cannot be approved yet. The employment application was served on 2/12/19, which means that objections can be filed until 3/1/19 (14 days plus 3 for service via U.S. mail). Until after that date, parties in interest and this Court will not know if, for example, someone were to object to Mr. Gallardo's employment and the proposed sale on the basis that Mr. Gallardo had an undisclosed interest in the sale.

The tentative ruling is that until Mr. Guillard's employment is approved, the sale must be only provisionally approved. The tentative ruling is that it is appropriate to shorten time (Rule 9006, Fed. R. Bankr. P.) because there is a substantial risk in any bankruptcy sale that if the sale is deferred then prospective purchasers may be unable or unwilling to continue to bid on the property (this Court takes judicial notice that there are considerable costs in holding a proposed sale open, if it is even possible to retain enough funds on hand to close a sale that has been deferred).

For all of the foregoing reasons, the tentative ruling is to set the employment application for hearing at the same time as the continued sale motion and continued status conference (see below).

(b) Debtor's Motion for Authority to Sell Altadena Property (the "Sale Motion," dkt. 102, 105, 114)

(i) Continued hearing

The tentative ruling is to approve the sale (subject to overbids) on a provisional basis, with a continued hearing at the same time as the continued status conference (see below). Between now and that continued hearing, Mr. Vasquez must arrange for a separate real estate broker to represent him (or must proceed without any real estate broker), and must disclaim any reliance on any past representation by Mr. Guillard and any present representation by him. In addition, the parties can take whatever steps may be appropriate to address the issues set forth below.

(ii) No approval or payment of attorney fees at this time

The tentative ruling is to sustain the objection of the UST (dkt. 104), joined in by Crescent (dkt. 110), that attorney fees must be subject to approval by this Court pursuant to the usual procedures, and that any approval of the proposed sale shall not be deemed to be approval of the attorney fees. The tentative ruling is that the proposed attorney fees must be held by Debtor's counsel in a separate account from which funds cannot be released without further order of this Court (a "Blocked Account"). In addition, the tentative ruling is to defer any ruling on Crescent's objection that it should be paid in full before any attorney fees are allowed (dkt. 110, p.5:24-25), because the timing of any distribution of attorney fees can be addressed in connection with allowance or disallowance of those fees.

(iii) Payment of real estate taxes

Crescent objects (dkt. 110, pp.4:24-5:14) that LA County's claim for real estate taxes, estimated to be $18,456.38, is of a lower priority than Crescent's own claim and therefore should not be paid until Crescent is paid in full. lower priority than Crescent's lien, (y) whether any doctrine of marshaling should apply (i.e., whether, even if Crescent's lien is of a higher priority in this property, its claim should be paid from the sale of any other property of the estate so that LA County can be paid out of this sale, or alternatively whether LA County is entitled to a replacement lien on other property so that it is not prejudiced by the fact that this property is being sold prior to other properties), and (z) whether any disputed funds that Debtor proposes to pay either LA County or Crescent must be held in the Blocked Account pending further order of this Court.

In addition, the parties are directed to address how any accruing interest affects the analysis. For example, if funds are held in a Blocked Account pending resolution of the competing claims of LA County and Crescent, will those claims continue to accrue interest at the rate that otherwise would apply (e.g., 18% or 29.99% or some other high rate), or only at the rate that is being paid by the bank at which the Blocked Account is maintained (e.g., 1%)?

The parties also are directed to address what will happen if the funds are distributed to LA County (to stop interest running) but later turn out to be payable to Crescent or the bankruptcy estate. Will LA County be subject to a disgorgement order, consistent with any sovereign immunity analysis?

(iv) Payment of costs of sale, including real estate brokers

The tentative ruling is to sustain the UST's objection (dkt. 104) and Crescent's objection (dkt. 110) to the extent they object to paying the real estate brokers until those brokers are actually retained. But the tentative ruling is to overrule Crescent's objection to the extent it is seeking to bar paying of any costs of sale, including real estate brokers, until it is paid in full, because those costs are properly chargeable out of Crescent's collateral. See dkt. 110, p.4:5-7; 11 U.S.C. 506(c).

(v) Payment of the portion of Crescent's claim that is not (yet) disputed

Crescent objects that Debtor has had considerable time in which to file any objection to its claim, but has yet to do so, and that the only portion of its claim as to which an objection has been outlined is the default interest. The tentative ruling is that this objection is well taken: not until 2/13/19 did Debtor assert that it would object to Crescent's claim on the additional ground of not fully funding the construction loan. See dkt. 114, p.4, para.7; dkt. 115, p.4:24-26. The tentative ruling is that this last minute suggestion of a possible type of claim objection is insufficient to support Debtor's proposal to withhold all distributions from Crescent.

In other words, the tentative ruling is that Debtor must pay all principal and non-default interest through the date of closing of escrow, plus all other charges included in the proof of claim, without prejudice to Crescent seeking additional charges and default interest, and conversely without prejudice to Debtor objecting at a later time to any charges (other than principal and non-default interest). This means that Debtor would have to pay out of escrow not only principal and non-default interest but also any attorney fees, late fees, or other charges included in the Proof of Claim, and Crescent subsequently could seek additional attorney fees and other charges, but Debtor subsequently could object both to any attorney fees and other charges that have already been distributed and to any new attorney fees and other charges.

The foregoing tentative ruling attempts to balance Debtor's broad rights to object to claims at any time against Debtor's unexplained delay in raising these issues, and against Crescent's rights (consistent with this Court's adequate protection order) to receive distributions without undue delay.

Debtor's latest closing statement (dkt. 114, Ex.A, at PDF p.6) lists the "Loan Payoff" as "To Be Determined" but with an (estimated) amount of $512,500. Crescent is directed to address at the hearing the approximate dollar amount that will comport with the foregoing tentative ruling.

(vi) "Good faith" finding

The tentative ruling is that any "good faith" finding (11 U.S.C. 363(m)) will require a declaration from any successful bidder that complies with the posted Procedures of Judge Bason:

§ 363(m): "Good Faith" Findings. Supporting declaration(s) should address: (1) connections: the bidder's prior, current, or expected connections with any relevant persons (other bidders, the debtor, major creditors or equity security holders in the case, or any of the debtor's officers, directors, agents, or employees, including whether any offers of employment or compensation have been made or will be offered to debtor's present or former officers, directors, agents, or employees), (2) consideration: whether any consideration is contemplated or has been transferred by the bidder in connection with the sale to any person other than the bankruptcy estate, and (3) absence of fraud or collusion between the bidder and any relevant persons (e.g., other bidders, the debtor's officers, directors, agents or employees), or any attempt to take unfair advantage of other bidders. See generally In re M Capital Corp., 290 B.R. 743, 748-49 (9th Cir. BAP 2003). As used in this paragraph, a "bidder" includes all known prospective bidders. [Judge Bason's posted Procedures, available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov]

(c) Motion for Relief from Stay (dkt. 78)

The tentative ruling is to continue this motion to the same time as the continued hearing on the Sale Motion.

(d) Motion for 2004 Examination (the "2004 Motion," dkt. 106)

Grant in part and deny in part as follows. The tentative ruling is to exercise this Court's discretion to limit discovery in keeping with the general principles set forth in Rule 26(b) and 45(d)&(e) (Fed. R. Civ. P.) and Rules 7026, 9016 and 9018 (Fed. R. Bankr. P.). Without limiting the foregoing, this Court is particularly aware that (i) although Debtor has yet to file any actual objection to Crescent's claim, that is clearly contemplated; (ii) Crescent has an interest in maintaining the confidentiality of its loan-analysis methodology; and (iii) Debtor has not shown that it lacks its own records on many of the issues on which it seeks discovery and that the relative burdens and benefits weigh in its favor.

The tentative ruling is that no later than 3/15/19 Crescent must produce the documents listed below (the list is excerpted from the 2004 Motion) and that Crescent's person most knowledgeable about the subject matter of those document requests must appear for examination at Debtor's bankruptcy counsel's law offices on 4/5/19 at 10:00 a.m. The document requests/subject matter that this Court tentatively will allow is as follows:

- (1) "ALL COMMUNICATIONS between YOU and the DEBTOR RELATING TO THE $500,000 LOAN" (dtk. 106, PDF p.23, Section A.6)
- (2) "ALL DOCUMENTS, including COMMUNICATIONS, RELATING TO YOUR assessment of the default interest rate with respect ot he $500,000 LOAN" (Id. at PDF p.24, Section A.11)
- (3) "ALL DOCUMENTS referring or relating to YOUR calculations of damages that YOU would sustain in the event of any default under the $500,000 LOAN" (Id. at PDF p.25, Section B.17)

- (4) "ALL DOCUMENTS referring or relating to YOUR analysis of the appropriate default interest to apply to the $500,000 LOAN" (Id. at PDF p.25, Section B.18)
- (5) "ALL DOCUMENTS referring or relating to YOUR efforts to arrive at a default interest rate that was intended to compensate YOU for actual anticipated damages that would result from a default under the $500,000 LOAN" (Id. at PDF p. 25, Section B.22)
- (6) "All appraisals or title reports completed RELATING TO the REAL PROPERTY" (Id. at PDF p.26, Section B.26)

The tentative ruling is, notwithstanding Debtor's reply (dkt. 117), to sustain Crescent's objections (dkt. 109) to the remaining questions, without prejudice to Debtor seeking further discovery (either under Rule 2004 or under other discovery rules, as appropriate) based upon a proper showing. For example, as noted above Debtor now contemplates that it might object to Crescent's claim based on Crescent not fully funding the construction loan, but Debtor provides no information about the facts and circumstances, which might assist Crescent and this Court to evaluate whether discovery is or is not focused on relevant issues.

Did Crescent promise to fund the loan with no strings attached, or did it impose performance metrics, or was the remaining funding within Crescent's sole discretion? What dollar amount did Crescent refuse to fund? When did it do so? What reasons, if any, did it give? Is Debtor contemplating a breach of contract objection, or a tort claim, or both?

In addition, the tentative ruling is to overrule Crescent's remaining objections as follows:

(i) LBR 2004-1(a): While the conference between Debtor and Crescent may not have been productive (dkt. 109, p.2), this Court is satisfied that for present purposes, the parties have "attempt[ed] to confer" as required by LBR 2004-1(a).

(ii) LBR 9013-1: Although the amount of notice of Debtor's 2004 Motion was short, Crescent has not shown that it was prejudiced by such shortened notice. The tentative ruling is to excuse any untimeliness in the 2004 Motion.

(iii) Laches: Crescent has not alleged sufficient delay to persuade this Court that relief based on laches is appropriate.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 6/11/18.

Tentative Ruling for 9/18/18:

Appearances required.

(1) Current issues. This Court has reviewed the debtor's status report (dkt. 46) and other relevant documents.

(a) Failure to Serve Bar Date Order (dkt. 25). The order directs the debtor to serve all parties in interest no later than 7/16/18 but no proof of service appears on the docket. Why not? The tentative ruling is to set a new bar date of 12/7/18 (the debtor should not serve any notice at this time; this Court will prepare and issue the order after the hearing).

(b) Application to Employ Hector Perez/Advantage Realty Group (dkt. 33). There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address (1) the issues raised in the opposition by Crescent Capital Holding LLC (dkt. 45); (2) whether the debtor is seeking to employ Mr. Perez, or Advantage Realty Group, or both; and (3) the absence of Local Form 2014-1 (required by Judge Bason's posted procedures, available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov).

Tentative Ruling for 12/12/17:

Continue to 2/13/17 at 10:00 a.m. Appearances are not required on 12/12/17.

(1) Reasons for continuance

(a) Insufficient Service

The proof of service filed in support of the motion does not reflect service on the debtor to the attention of the appropriate person(s), in accordance with Rules 4001 and 7004(b)(3) (incorporated by Rule 9014(b), Fed. R. Bankr. P.), and Local Bankruptcy Rule 4001-1(c)(1)(C)(i). Under Judge Bason's posted procedures (at www.cacb.uscourts.gov), he generally does not sua sponte require that specific individuals be named - service can be "Attn: Officer or Managing/General Agent" or a similar phrase - but in the circumstances of this case, in which there are disputes regarding who is or is not authorized to represent the debtor, Judge Bason will direct that service be (i) on the debtor at its address of record "Attn: Philip Layfield, Officer of Record" and also, in a separate envelope, (ii) on the debtor at its address of record "Attn: Any Officer Other Than Philip Layfield."

(b) Chapter 11 Trustee's Request for Extension

This court has reviewed the chapter 11 trustee's reponse (dkt. 152) to the motion, and movant's reply (dkt. 159). Given that this case is an involuntary case and the trustee has not had the benefit of any bankruptcy schedules, any statement of financial affairs, or access to the debtor's principals, this court is not persuaded by movant's argument that the trustee has already had sufficient time to investigate the alleged pre-petition transfer. In addition, the trustee has provided adequate evidence that the equity cushion and the relatively short delay provide adequate protection.

Docket 323

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 3/5/18:

(1) General matters

(a) Combined status conferences in the interrelated bankruptcy cases

This hearing includes Status Conferences in each of two related bankruptcy cases before this Court: (a) In re Layfield & Barrett, APC, Case No. 2:17-bk-19548-NB ("L&B"); (b) In re Layfield, Case No. 2:18-bk-15829-NB ("Lay-Invol."). (A third related bankruptcy case, In re Maximum Legal (Cal.), LLP, Case No. 2:17-bk-18433-NB ("Max-CA"), has been closed (Max-CA dkt. 154), so the status conference in that case was not continued to today.)

(2) Matters on Calendar Today

(a) Wells Fargo Relief from Stay Motions (dkt. 143, 144)

The parties should be prepared to address whether there has been any new information regarding the sale of Units 210 & 220. If there is no progress with a sale, this Court's tentative ruling would be to grant relief from stay as to Units 210 & 220 due to the diminishing equity cushion (dkt. 143). As Unit 200 has been successfully sold, dkt. 144 is moot.

(3) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed as an involuntary chapter 7 on 8/3/17 and converted to chapter 11 on 8/11/17.

(a) L&B Bar date: 2/5/18 (timely served, L&B dkt. 133, 157)

(b) L&B Plan/Disclosure Statement*: TBD. Do not file or serve until further order of this court.

(c) Continued status conference: The tentative ruling is to continue the status conferences in the L&B and Lay-Invol cases to 3/26/19 at 2:00 p.m. to be concurrent with status conferences in the Lay-Invol case and in an adversary proceeding in the L&B case (Adv. No.

(a) Combined status conferences in the interrelated bankruptcy cases

(b) Lay-Invol 341(a) Meeting

The parties should be prepared to address appropriate remedies for Mr. Layfield's failure to appear at the meeting of creditors (11 U.S.C. 341(a)) scheduled for 1/22/19.

(c) Christine Layfield Delaware bankruptcy case

The parties should be prepared to address any effects of the chapter 7 bankruptcy case filed by Mr. Layfield's spouse, as reported by the L&B Chapter 11 Trustee (L&B dkt. 401, p.7). To what extent does the trustee of that bankruptcy estate assert interests in these related cases? Are there discussions regarding any stipulations for relief from the automatic stay, coordination regarding venue of any proceedings, and/or coordinating other matters as between the estates?

(2) Matters on Calendar Today

(a) Motion to Sell 2720 Homestead Rd, Unit 200, Park City Utah (L&B dkt. 391)

The parties should be prepared to address the issues raised by Wells Fargo (L&B dkt. 396) and Toll Creek Owners Association, Inc. (L&B dkt. 397), as well as Movant's reply (L&B dkt. 402). In addition, if the objections are resolved or overruled and the sale goes forward (subject to overbids), the tentative ruling is that any "good faith" finding (11 U.S.C. 363(m)) will require a declaration from any successful bidder that complies with the posted Procedures of Judge Bason:

§ 363(m): "Good Faith" Findings. Supporting declaration(s) should See generally In re M Capital Corp., 290 B.R. 743, 748-49 (9th Cir. BAP 2003). As used in this paragraph, a "bidder" includes all known prospective bidders.

(b) Wells Fargo Relief from Stay Motions (dks. 143, 144)

The parties should be prepared to address the issues raised in Wells Fargo's status report (L&B dkt. 399) regarding all of the condominium units. The tentative ruling is to continue the Relief from Stay Motions to 3/5/19 at 2:00 p.m., with a deadline of 2/12/19 for the Trustee to provide Wells Fargo an updated written report describing the listing price(s), showings, and offers for Units 210 and 220. The tentative ruling is also to extend the previously entered orders for filing under seal (L&B dkt. 387, 388) to any brief the parties wish to file in connection with the continued hearing.

(c) Wellgen Standard v. Maximum Legal (17-1503) Status Conference

The parties should be prepared to address the status of the purported settlement of this adversary proceeding.

(3) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed as an involuntary chapter 7 on 8/3/17 and converted to chapter 11 on 8/11/17.

(2) Matters on Calendar Today

(a) Chapter 7 Trustee's Motion for Order (1) Approving Stipulation Relating to Disbursement of Funds, and (2) Closing Case (Max-CA, dkt. 137)

#1.00 Cont'd Status Conference re: Chapter 11 Case
fr. 02/28/19

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 3/12/19:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor.

(1) Current issues

(a) Motion to use prepetition bank accounts (dkt. 12)

Grant on a final basis, on the same terms as the interim order (dkt. 55).

(b) Utility motion (dkt. 25)

Grant on a final basis, on the same terms as the interim order (dkt. 54).

(c) Cash collateral motion (dkt. 13)

Grant on a final basis, on the same terms as the interim order (dkt. 71), except that after review of the parties' briefs (dkt. 76, 78) and the other documents and records before this Court, the tentative ruling is as follows:

(i) Real estate: Continue Cathay Bank's replacement lien on all of Debtor's real properties (subject to adjustment as set forth below).

(ii) Books and records: Grant access to Debtor's historical books and records, and all documents used to create the cash collateral budget and the chart summarizing collateral values, with such access starting on 3/18/19, for Cathay Bank's forensic accountant, James Crossland, to inspect and copy (including copying hard drives), during normal business hours. Such access must be subject to whatever Non-Disclosure Agreement, redaction, or other safeguards as may be necessary or appropriate to protect employees' privacy, attorney-client communications, Debtor's trade secrets, etc. The parties are directed to meet and confer on those issues, and the parties are also directed to review the posted Procedures of Judge Bason (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) regarding discovery disputes.

(iii) Reporting: Require Debtor to file and serve reconciliations, 10 days in arrears on Wednesday of each week (i.e., covering the week that ended 10 days prior), comparing actual results with budgeted results, and calculating variances against budgeted and actual receipts and expenditures.

(iv) CDs: The tentative ruling is that Cathay Bank need not apply any CDs to the extent that they are collateral for standby letters of credit for any liability to workers' compensation insurers. But the parties are directed to address whether there are any other CDs at issue, and why, as a condition for the other adequate protection being granted to Cathay Bank, it should not be required to apply such other CDs against the loans for which they are collateral, so as to stop accruing interest or other charges adverse to Debtor and the bankruptcy estate.

The tentative ruling is to deny Cathay Bank's request for additional adequate protection in the form of monthly payments of interest. Debtor is liquidating much of its business, which creates a situation in which both assets and cash flow are somewhat uncertain. That uncertainty favors granting the Bank the additional adequate protection set forth above; but it also means that Debtor may have urgent needs to use cash for legitimate purposes other than interest payments to the Bank.

The tentative ruling is that all of the foregoing is subject to being revisited as the facts and circumstances develop. For example, if Debtor turns out to have success in collecting the proportion of accounts receivable that it predicts, it might be appropriate to find that Cathay Bank is adequately protected by a lien on less than all of Debtor's remaining real estate. Likewise, if Debtor pays down some of its debt to Cathay Bank through sales of some real property, that might reduce the need for the replacement liens to be as extensive as contemplated by this tentative ruling.

Conversely, if Debtor's accounts receivable appear to be less valuable than predicted by Debtor then Cathay Bank might need every bit of the replacement liens in Debtor's real property and all other assets (except avoidance actions etc.). Ironically, the more dire Debtor's finances, and the greater the risk of administrative insolvency, the stronger the argument that even if the Bank were free to foreclose it would have to pay someone to liquidate Debtor's assets in an orderly fashion (11 U.S.C. 506(c)), and in any event the "equities of the case" might warrant a carve-out for professionals (11 U.S.C. 552(b)). But those are issues that can be addressed when and if there is any need to do so.

The tentative ruling regarding Cathay Bank's evidentiary objections and due process objections (dkt. 78) is that, if this Court adopts the foregoing tentative ruling (granting replacement liens in essentially all of Debtor's assets),

United States Bankruptcy Court

then those objections should be overruled because (x) Cathay Bank cannot be granted a replacement lien in greater than "all" of Debtor's assets, so to a large extent the value of those assets is irrelevant, and (y) whatever weaknesses may exist in Debtor's valuation evidence, there is enough to establish on a prima facie basis a reasonable probability that Cathay Bank is sufficiently over-secured to provide it with a substantial equity cushion, which is one form of adequate protection, and that is sufficient for present purposes.

As for the alleged costs of selling property subject to Cathay Bank's replacement liens, this Court can assess for each proposed sale whether Debtor's proposed use of the proceeds is consistent with adequate protection, and whether Cathay Bank is unreasonably withholding its consent under 11 U.S.C. 363(f)(2). In addition, all parties in interest are directed to the posted Procedures of Judge Bason (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) regarding 363 sales.

(d) Motion to reject collective bargaining agreements (dkt. 62) (the "1113 Motion")

Debtor seeks relief without a hearing, on 14 days' notice (so called "negative notice," or a "scream or die procedure"). But it appears that an actual hearing is required, and must be held quickly, under 11 U.S.C. 1113(d)(1) ("Upon the filing of an application for rejection the court shall schedule a hearing to be held not later than fourteen days after the date of the filing of such application," although "[t]he court may extend the time for the commencement of such hearing for a period not exceeding seven days where the circumstances of the case, and the interest of justice require such extension, or for additional periods of time to which the trustee and [employee's] representative agree.").

The 1113 Motion was filed on 3/1/19. The tentative ruling is to find that granting a short extension is warranted, based on the apparent lack of prejudice from doing so, and that a hearing should be held either on 3/21/19 at 1:00 p.m. or, if the representatives of the various employee groups will consent, concurrent with the continued status conference (see below). Debtor is directed to address what efforts have been made to obtain the consent of any representative who is not present at the hearing. The tentative ruling is that Debtor must file and serve notice of the hearing date on all representatives (and other parties requiring notice) no later than 3/13/19.

Proposed orders: Debtor is directed to lodge proposed orders on each of the foregoing motions via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR

Tentative Ruling for 2/28/19:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor and by the debtor(s) themselves. The tentative ruling, subject to any oppositions at the hearing (pursuant to the orders shortening time) is to grant the following relief and to find that, to the extent relief is granted pursuant to Rules 4001(b)(2) and 6003 (Fed. R. Bankr. P.), such relief is necessary avoid immediate and irreparable harm to the estate.

(1) Current issues

(a) Motion to limit notice (dkt. 8)

Grant in substantial part, subject to certain modifications to be addressed at the hearing. Among other things, this Court anticipates that, because the motion was not served on the entire creditor matrix, any party who was not served may seek reconsideration without meeting the usual standards under Rules 9023, 9024 or 52(b) (Fed. R. Bankr. P. & Fed. R. Civ. P., incorporated by Rules 7052 and 9014(c)).

Grant, with a caution that this Court is unlikely to grant further extensions.

(c) Payroll motion (dkt. 14)

Grant, except to the extent that the proposed payments in Exhibit 1 (dkt. 14, Ex.1) exceed the priority maximum provided in 11 U.S.C. 507(a)(4) and, if applicable, 507(a)(5).

(d) Motion to use prepetition bank accounts (dkt. 12)

Grant, subject to sufficient safeguards (i) to ensure accurate accounting including separation of pre- and postpetition accounting and (ii) to prevent inadvertent payment of prepetition obligations. Debtor is directed to work closely with the Office of the United States Trustee to develop and implement such procedures.

(e) Cash collateral motion (dkt. 13)

Grant in part and deny in part on an interim basis, as set forth in calendar no. 5 (2/28/19 at 10:00 a.m.).

(f) Motion to reject unexpired leases (dkt. 24)

Grant, except that Debtor seeks rejection effective as of 2/20/19 and, although there is some authority for retroactive rejection (see, e.g., In re At Home Corp., 392 F.3d 1064 (9th Cir. 2004)), Debtor has not addressed the types of considerations that would determine whether retroactive rejection is appropriate (e.g., were the premises vacated as of 2/20/19? when were the landlords given notice that the premises would be or were vacant? were the premises left in "broom clean" condition?). Debtor is directed to address those issues at the hearing.

(g) Utility motion (dkt. 25)

Grant on an interim basis, subject to any opposition at the hearing, with a final hearing to take place at the same time as the continued status conference (see below) and a deadline of 3/1/19 for Debtor to file and serve a notice of the final hearing.

Chapter 11

#4.00 Cont'd Hrg re: Emergency Motion for an Order Authorizing (1) the Use Of Cash Collateral, and (2) Grant of Adequate Protection to Secured Creditors fr. 02/28/19

Docket 13

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 3/12/19:

Please see the tentative ruling for the status conference (calendar no. 1, 3/12/19 at 10:00 a.m.)

Tentative Ruling for 2/28/19:

Grant in part and deny in part on an interim basis, subject to the conditions set forth below, with a final hearing on the same date as the continued status conference (tentatively scheduled for 3/26/19 at 1:00 p.m. per calendar no. 10, 2/28/19 at 10:00 a.m.), and a deadline of 3/1/19 for the movant to file and serve a notice of the final hearing. Appearances required.

Analysis

The tentative ruling is to deny the motion for use of cash collateral to the extent that it seeks payment on account of prepetition debts, listed on the budget (dkt. 13, Ex.1) as "Critical Vendor Pre-Petition Relief." No motion seeking payment of prepetition claims of critical vendors has been filed (and traditionally it has been generally understood that such relief is not available in the Ninth Circuit).

To the extent the budget contemplates adequate protection payments (as distinguished from actual payment on prepetition debt), the tentative ruling is to grant the motion (subject to the conditions set forth below). Debtor is directed to clarify if the proposed payments listed in the budget as "Credit Line," "Equipment Loan," "Real Estate Loan Interest," and "Equipment Loan Interest" are intended to be adequate protection payments.

To the extent that the cash collateral motion seeks relief regarding Cathay Bank's alleged violation of the automatic stay (see dkt. 13 at PDF p.13-14, dkt.

23), the tentative ruling is to deny any such relief because the alleged stay violations are not properly before this Court. No motion for contempt pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 105 and 362(a) has been filed, nor has Cathay Bank filed a motion for relief from the automatic stay, and the parties have not briefed the issues.

But if the parties are in any doubt about the parameters of the automatic stay they are encouraged to seek relief by filing appropriate motions. Then they can obtain rulings of this Court determining whether it is a violation of the automatic stay (i) to seek discovery of books and records from third parties in the prepetition action in State Court (see 11 U.S.C. 362(a)(1)&(6)), (ii) to apply a temporary freeze to bank accounts (see Citizens Bank of Maryland v. Stumpf, 116 S.Ct. 286 (1995)), or (iii) to decline to honor any postpetition requests for payment out of Debtor's bank account to pay third parties' prepetition debts (see 11 U.S.C. 362(a)(6)).

Judge Bason's standard conditions for use of cash collateral and/or postpetition financing (by creditors holding prepetition claims)

(1) Written order

(a) Form. Use local form

F2081-1.1.ORDER.CASH.COLLATERAL or the equivalent. Attach a copy of this tentative ruling as an exhibit, thereby adopting it as the written ruling of this Court. Do not repeat the terms set forth in the motion or any stipulation. Incorporate those terms by reference (including the docket number of the document), subject to any modification by this Court.

(b) Timing. Lodge the proposed order within 7 days after the hearing. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(2) Minimum adequate protection

In addition to the postpetition security interests that are automatically provided pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 552 (e.g., in traceable proceeds and profits), and subject to any more comprehensive protection that may be included in the motion or related papers, Debtor shall provide at least the following protection to any creditor with a security interest in the subject property (pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 361-364, as applicable):

(a) Insurance. For all collateral of a type that typically is insured (e.g., real property and improvements), Debtor is directed to maintain insurance in a dollar amount at least equal to Debtor's good faith estimate of the value of such creditor's interest in the collateral, and such insurance shall name such creditor as an additional insured. Debtor is directed to remain current on payments for such insurance.

(b) Taxes. Debtor is directed to remain current on payments on account of postpetition real estate taxes (to the extent that real estate is part of the collateral).

(c) Disclosures/access. Debtor is directed to provide, upon such creditor's reasonable request, periodic accountings of the foregoing insurance and tax obligations and payments, as well as postpetition proceeds, products, offspring, or profits from the collateral, including gross revenues and expenses and a calculation of net revenues, including any rents and any fees, charges, accounts, or other payments for the use or occupancy of rooms and other public facilities in lodging properties (as all of the foregoing terms are used in 11 U.S.C. 552). Debtor is directed to provide appropriate documentation of those accountings, and access for purposes of inspection or appraisal.

(3) Limitation on postpetition liens

In the event that the motion or related papers seek authority to grant postpetition liens to the creditor(s) with respect to prepetition debts any such liens shall be limited to the same validity, priority, and amount as prepetition liens. As used herein, the "validity, priority, and amount" or any similar phrase that may be used by the parties or this Court is deemed to include the following:

(a) Extent. Such liens shall be limited to the type of collateral in which the creditor held a security interest as of the petition date, unless this order expressly states that the liens granted by this order are intended to attach to different types of collateral from the prepetition collateral. For example, if prepetition liens extended to inventory and accounts receivable but not equipment then postpetition liens are likewise limited (unless otherwise expressly provided by order of this Court). In addition, postpetition liens shall not extend to the proceeds of any avoidance actions, any recoveries under 11 U.S.C. 506(c), or any "carveout" under 11 U.S.C. 552.

(b) Priority. Such liens shall be limited to the same priority as the security interest held by the creditor as of the petition date.

(c) Dollar amount. Such liens shall be limited to the dollar amount needed to protect the creditor against diminution in the value of the secured claims as of the petition date.

(d) Enforceability. Such liens shall be limited to the extent that the creditor's security interests were duly perfected and valid as of the petition date, and to the extent that they are unavoidable.

(e) Automatic postpetition perfection. Any automatic perfection of such liens shall be subject to any applicable limitations regarding the Court's authority, jurisdiction, or due process.

(4) Automatic disapproval of insufficiently disclosed provisions

Any provision of the type listed in FRBP 4001(c)(1)(B) or in local form F4001-2 (e.g., cross-collateralization) or any waiver of the "equities of the case" exception in 11 U.S.C. 552(b)(2) shall be deemed automatically disapproved and excepted from any order granting the motion, notwithstanding any other provision of such order, unless either: (a) such provision is specifically and prominently disclosed in the motion papers in a checklist (such as local form F4001-2), or alternatively (b) such provision is specifically identified in any proposed order granting the motion, using terminology of the type used in FRBP 4001(c)(1)(B) or local form F4001-2 (e.g., any "cross-collateralization" that is not specifically identified as such is deemed to be disapproved).

(5) Disputes

In the event of any disputes regarding the rulings in this order, the parties are directed to meet and confer and, if they cannot resolve their disputes consensually, contact Judge Bason's chambers to arrange a mutually convenient time for either a telephonic or in-person hearing to address such disputes.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

conferences. (To the extent that the parties have already addressed these issues in their status report, they need not repeat their positions at the status conference.)

(1) Venue/jurisdiction/authority.

The parties are directed to address any outstanding matters of (a) venue, (b) jurisdiction, (c) this court's authority to enter final orders or judgment(s) in this proceeding and, if consent is required, whether the parties do consent, or have already expressly or impliedly consented. See generally Stern v. Marshall, 131 S.Ct. 2594, 2608 (2011) (if litigant "believed that the Bankruptcy Court lacked the authority to decide his claim...then he should have said so – and said so promptly."); Wellness Int'l Network, Ltd. v. Sharif, 135 S.Ct. 1932 (2015) (consent must be knowing and voluntary but need not be express); In re Bellingham Ins. Agency, Inc., 702 F.3d 553 (9th Cir. 2012) (implied consent), aff'd on other grounds, 134 S. Ct. 2165 (2014); In re Pringle, 495 B.R. 447 (9th Cir. BAP 2013) (rebuttable presumption that failure to challenge authority to issue final order is intentional and indicates consent); In re Deitz, 760 F.3d 1028 (9th Cir. 2014) (authority to adjudicate nondischargeability encompasses authority to liquidate debt and enter final judgment). See generally In re AWTR Liquidation, Inc., 548 B.R. 300 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2016).

(2) Mediation. Is there is any reason why this court should not order the parties to mediation before one of the volunteer mediators (not a Bankruptcy Judge), and meanwhile set the deadlines set forth below? The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 7/31/18 for the parties to lodge a proposed mediation order (the parties are directed to use the time between now and that deadline to find a mutually agreeable mediator whose schedule can accommodate the needs of this matter; and if the parties cannot even agree on a mediator they may lodge separate orders and Judge Bason will chose among them, or issue his own order).

(3) Deadlines: This adversary proceeding has been pending since 5/16/18. Pursuant to LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B), plaintiff is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the status conference, attaching a copy of this tentative ruling or otherwise memorializing the following.

#1.00 Combined hrg re: Approval of Disclosure Statement and Chapter 11 Plan

Docket 64

 VACATED  REASON: This matter is scheduled to be heard on 03/26/19 at 1:00 p.m.

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 12/11/18:

Appearances required.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Plan (dkt. 64, the "Plan") and disclosure statement (dkt. 63, the "D/S")

It appears that counsel for Debtor has manually altered the spreadsheets, which defeats the purpose of having automatic (reliable) calculations in the spreadsheets. In addition, it appears that the Plan periods in Ex.A are "1" month and 13 months later (month "14"), whereas on Ex.C Period A is 3 months, Period B is 1 month, and Period C is 6 months, which does not match. In addition, the Effective Date (e.g., on Ex.A & Ex. C) should be revised to a date that is at least two weeks after the combined hearing on the plan and D/S set forth below.

Subject to correction of these issues, the tentative ruling is to conditionally approve the disclosure statement and authorize service of the voting package, all as set forth below.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 5/15/18.

(a) Bar date: 8/14/18 (dkt. 35), timely served (dkt. 38).

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement (dkt. 64,63)*: 12/18/18 deadline (i) to file (NOT SERVE - except on the U.S. Trustee) any redlined revisions to be discussed at the status conference and (ii) to lodge Judge Bason's form of order authorizing service of the voting package, setting deadlines, and setting a combined hearing on final approval of the Disclosure Statement and confirmation of the Plan for the same time as the continued status conference. The proposed order should be modified so that the voting package includes Mr. Starflinger's declaration (dkt. 65).

12/11/18

Docket 5

 VACATED  REASON: This matter is scheduled to be heard on 03/26/19 at 1:00 p.m.

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 12/11/18:
Appearances required.

(1) Current issues.

(a) Plan (dkt. 64, the "Plan") and disclosure statement (dkt. 63, the "D/S")

It appears that counsel for Debtor has manually altered the spreadsheets, which defeats the purpose of having automatic (reliable) calculations in the spreadsheets. In addition, it appears that the Plan periods in Ex.A are "1" month and 13 months later (month "14"), whereas on Ex.C Period A is 3 months, Period B is 1 month, and Period C is 6 months, which does not match. In addition, the Effective Date (e.g., on Ex.A & Ex. C) should be revised to a date that is at least two weeks after the combined hearing on the plan and D/S set forth below.

Subject to correction of these issues, the tentative ruling is to conditionally approve the disclosure statement and authorize service of the voting package, all as set forth below.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 5/15/18.

(a) Bar date: 8/14/18 (dkt. 35), timely served (dkt. 38).

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement (dkt. 64,63)*: 12/18/18 deadline (i) to file (NOT SERVE - except on the U.S. Trustee) any redlined revisions to be discussed at the status conference and (ii) to lodge Judge Bason's form of order authorizing service of the voting package, setting deadlines, and setting a combined hearing on final approval of the Disclosure Statement and confirmation of the Plan for the same time as the continued status conference. The proposed order should be modified so that the voting package includes Mr.

#1.00 Hrg re: Objection to Claim Number 3
by Claimant Americredit Financial Services, Inc., dba GM Financial

Docket 23

Tentative Ruling:

Continue to 4/18/19 at 8:30 a.m. to address the following issues. Appearances are not required on 3/21/19.

Lack of cost/benefit analysis. The posted Procedures of Judge Bason (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) provide:

§ 502: claim objections & cost/benefit analysis. When objecting to claims, be sure to include an analysis of whether the costs of preparing and litigating the claim objection (administrative expenses) do not exceed the anticipated benefits (reductions in claims). For example, if the anticipated dividend is small or 0% then the attorney fees incurred in prosecuting your claim objection to any general unsecured claim probably will exceed the benefit to the bankruptcy estate/debtor, so filing that objection would be a waste of the bankruptcy estate's (and everyone else's) resources (unless, for example, the claim is nondischargeable, in which event the attorney fees might well be justified).

No later than 7 days after the date of this hearing the movant must file either:

- (1) a supplemental declaration explaining why the attorney fees for this objection are justified (including supporting evidence, such as a copy of the plan showing the projected dividend to the claimant, and a calculation comparing that projected dividend against the attorney fees related to this claim objection), or
- (2) a withdrawal of the claim objection.

No fees on this matter, absent specific authorization. Counsel is directed not to charge any fees on this matter (including all past, present and future work related to this claim objection), and to return any fees received on this matter, unless and until this Court expressly finds: "Counsel has provided a cost/benefit analysis that is sufficient for purposes of Judge Bason's posted Procedures regarding claim objections." It is counsel's responsibility to include the quoted phrase, if warranted, in the proposed order on this claim objection.

This Court does not have the capacity to monitor all fee applications to assure compliance with the foregoing limitation on fees. But if counsel is found to have disregarded this limitation then this Court may impose sanctions.

#2.00 Hrg re: Objection to Claim #2 by Claimant E-Tail Network Inc.
in the Amount of $ 42349.45

Docket 20

Tentative Ruling:

Grant (sustain the objection to Claim No. 2). Appearances are not required.

(1) Burdens of proof

A proof of claim ("POC") is deemed allowed unless an objection is made, and if such an objection is made then the Court "shall" allow such claim "except to the extent that" it is unenforceable under the agreement itself or applicable law (or other, inapplicable grounds). 11 U.S.C. § 502(a) & (b). In other words, the initial burden is on the objecting party to provide a cognizable ground to disallow the claim. Once the objecting party meets that burden, the burden shifts to the claimant to rebut the objection. The burden can shift back and forth as each party overcomes the other's prior arguments and evidence. See generally In re Orozco (Case No. 2:13-bk-15745-NB), dkt. 134, pp.5:9-8:22.

(2) Analysis

Claimant The E-Tail Network, Inc. ("Claimant") filed a proof of claim (Claim No. 2, copied at dkt. 20, Exhibits, pp.1-9) asserting both in personam liability and a judgment lien against certain real property. Claimant now "acknowledge[s] that it does not possess a judgment lien encumbering the real property." Dkt. 28, p.2:3-4. The remaining issue is whether Claimant has an allowable unsecured claim.

(a) Notice of renewal of judgment

Debtor contends (dkt. 20, p.5:3-4, pp.10:24-11:4) that neither she nor her co-debtor husband ever received notice of the motion papers for renewal of the judgment. But Debtor concedes that there is a proof of service (the "POS") that shows service on her (dkt. 20, Exhibit 4, at p.34) and she does not cite any authority that this Court can ignore that POS.

Debtor points out (dkt. 20, p.4:17-22) that the POS does not show service on her husband. But Debtor has not established either (i) that she has standing to assert, on behalf of her husband, a lack of service on him, or (ii) that, even if he was not served, that would be a basis to disallow the claim as against her.

Debtor points out that the POS shows that service was not made until 3/14/18 (dkt. 20, Exhibits, p.34). Debtor implies that this substantial delay in serving the papers (long after they were filed on 11/27/17) renders the renewal subject to challenge. Perhaps so, but Debtor cites no authority for that proposition.

In addition, as Claimant point out and Debtor concedes, under CCP 683.170 she had only 30 days following service of notice of renewal to file a motion seeking to vacate the renewal based on "any ground that would be a defense to an action on the judgment," and she did not do so. Dkt. 20, p.5, n.2 (quoting CCP 683.170); dkt. 28, p.2:11-13. Again, Debtor contends (dkt. 20, p.5:3-4) that she did not ever receive notice of the renewal papers, but she cites no authority that this Court can ignore the POS.

For all of these reasons, the tentative ruling is that Debtor's argument about lack of proper service is insufficient to disallow Claimant's claim.

(b) Timeliness of renewal of judgment

The judgment at issue was entered on 11/27/07 and the renewal papers were not filed on 11/26/17 but rather one day later on 11/27/17. Debtor asserts that this was one day beyond the ten year period for renewal.

Debtor cites authority that the 30 day limitation on challenging a renewal (CCP 683.170) does not apply because the failure to renew within ten years is jurisdictional and renders the renewal not just voidable but void. Dkt. 20, pp.8:14- 9:28 & nn.4-5. Claimant does not contest that point. Rather, the contested issue is how to count the ten year period.

A judgment expires "upon the expiration of 10 years after the date of entry of [the judgment]" (CCP 683.120, emphasis added), and any application for renewal must be filed "before the expiration" of that 10 year period (CCP 680.130). Claimant asserts that the ten year period commences the day after entry of judgment (not immediately after, on the same day), so for the judgment entered on 11/27/2007 the 10 year period allegedly started to run the next day, on 11/28/2007, and ended at midnight on 11/27/2017.

But Debtor cites authority that the 10-year period "commences on the date of entry" of the judgment. Fidelity Creditor Svc., Inc. v. Brown, 89 Cal.App.4th 195, 201 (2001) (citations and internal quotation marks omitted). For example, a judgment entered on 12/17/07 was held to have lapsed by 12/17/17. Ringel v.

Claimant responds that Debtor "is simply wrong. That is not how deadlines are calculated pursuant to the [California] Code of Civil Procedure ['CCP']." But Claimant cites no authority.

The tentative ruling is that the renewal of judgment was untimely, and therefore void. Accordingly, the tentative ruling is to sustain the objection to Claim No. 2.

Chapter 13

#4.00 Hrg re: Objection to Proof of Claim Number 1 by Claimant Wells Fargo Bank, N.A.

Docket 18

Tentative Ruling:

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Procedures

Debtor's claim objection (dkt. 18-20) requests multiple forms of relief, including an award of damages of not less than $100,000 against creditor Wells Fargo Bank, N.A. ("Wells Fargo"). It appears that an adversary proceeding may be required. See Rules 3007(b) & 7001 (Fed. R. Bankr. P.).

Debtor has not complied with various other procedures, but the tentative ruling is to excuse such non-compliance, with a caution that future non-compliance with applicable rules might result in adverse rulings. (Debtor's objection papers do not reflect proper service on Wells Fargo; Debtor did not include a copy of Wells Fargo's proof of claim and referred to claim no.1 when the correct identifier is claim no.2; etc.)

Debtor may wish to consider retaining a capable bankruptcy attorney.

(2) Creditor's request for more time

The opposition filed by Wells Fargo (dkt. 33) requests that this Court continue the hearing for 30-45 days so that it can complete its full analysis and then file supplemental papers. The tentative ruling is to grant that request by continuing this matter to 5/16/19 at 8:30 a.m., with a deadline of 5/2/19 for Wells Fargo's supplemental papers.

#9.00 Hrg re: Debtor's Motion for an Order to Show Cause Why Synchrony and its agents, CIR Law Offices International, LLP, Moma Funding, LLC, Quantum3 Group, LLC Should Not Be Found in Contempt for Willfull Violation of the Automatic Stay and Co-Debtor Stay

Tentative Ruling:

Grant in part and deny in part, as set forth below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this Court's final ruling. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

The tentative ruling is to issue an Order to Show Cause ("OSC") against Synchrony Bankr ("Synchrony") and CIR Law Offices International ("CIR"), but not against Quantum3 Group LLC ("Quantum") and MOMA Funding LLC ("MOMA"). The tentative ruling is to set a hearing on the OSC for 4/18/19 at 8:30 a.m., with the usual deadlines for Debtor to serve the OSC and file and serve supplemental declaration(s) with evidence of claimed damages (21 days prior to the hearing), any opposition (14 days prior), and any reply (7 days prior) (all subject to adding three days for any service via U.S. mail).

(1) Service

The motion papers were not properly served, as explained below. But the tentative ruling is that it does not matter because the OSC can be issued ex parte, with all rights reserved to respond to the OSC. That appears to be adequate in the circumstances.

(a) This Court has discretion to issue the OSC on an ex parte basis

True, the local rules require proper service of a motion requesting an OSC (LBR 9020-1(a)&(b)), but the same rules begin with the clause, "[u]nless otherwise ordered by the court" (id.). In addition, LBR 1001-1(d) provides that this Court "may waive application of any Local Bankruptcy Rule."

Chapter 13

It appears appropriate to issue the OSC on this basis, because this tentative ruling requires that the OSC itself be served on Synchrony and CIR in accordance with the rules, and they will have ample opportunity to respond. In other words they will not be prejudiced.

(b) Service on Synchrony

It appears that Synchrony is an FDIC-insured institution, so it must be served via certified mail (FRBP 7004(h)). It must also be served to the attention of a bank officer (id.) at an address that appears to be reasonably calculated to reach the officer -- e.g., the address listed for banks on the FDIC website is sufficient (<http://www2.fdic.gov/IDASP/main.asp>), whereas a P.O. Box used for payments is insufficient. Note: Judge Bason does not require that a specific individual be named -- "Attn: Officer" is sufficient.

(c) Service on CIR

CIR must be served to the attention of an officer, a managing or general agent, or to any other agent authorized by appointment of law (FRBP 7004(b)(3)), at an address that appears to be reasonably calculated to reach the officer (e.g., corporate headquarters). Note: Judge Bason does not require that a specific individual be named -- "Attn: Officer or Managing/General Agent" is sufficient.

(d) Service on Quantum and MOMA

Like CIR, these entities also were not served to the attention of an officer, or managing/general agent. But they have responded (dkt. 32), so they have received notice of the motion and therefore have not been prejudiced by the lack of service in strict compliance with the rules. In addition, the tentative ruling is not to issue the OSC against them (as stated below), which is an alternative reason why they are not prejudiced.

(2) Joint Opposition from Quantum and MOMA (dkt. 32)

Based on the opposition (dkt. 32), the tentative ruling is that Debtor has not established sufficient grounds for issuance of an OSC against Quantum and MOMA. In addition, if it turns out that different facts that implicate Quantum or MOMA are alleged by Synchrony and CIR, or are uncovered by discovery, then this Court can always issue an OSC against them at a later time.

(3) OSC Should be Issued Against Synchrony and CIR

The tentative ruling is that Debtor has made a prima facie showing based on clear and convincing evidence that (a) the debts at issue are community debts

(Calif. Fam. Code 910), (b) the debt at issue is a "consumer debt," and (c) Synchrony and CIR violated the automatic stay and/or the co-debtor stay in their postpetition attempts to collect that debt. 11 U.S.C. 362(a) and 1301. Debtor has also made a prima facie showing of the elements of a claim under 11 U.S.C. 105 and/or 362(k), except that Debtor must provide some quantification of whatever damages are sought.

(4) Conclusion

The tentative ruling is to issue an OSC against Synchrony and CIR and require those creditors to show cause why they should not be sanctioned for violating the automatic stay and/or the co-debtor stay. The tentative ruling is also to require Debtor to serve the OSC in accordance with the rules noted above, and to file and serve supplemental declaration(s) quantifying damages, as set forth above.

- #10.00 Order to Show Cause Directing Debtor and His Attorney, Louis J. Esbin, Esq. to Show Cause (1) Why Case Should Not Be Dismissed for Non-Disclosures, (2) Why Debtor Should Not Be Subject to a Bar Against Being a Debtor in Any Future Bankruptcy Case, or (3) Why Other Remedies or Sanctions Should Not Be Imposed

Tentative Ruling:

Appearances required. The tentative ruling is (a) to require further declarations and briefing by a deadline of 4/4/19 and (b) to set an evidentiary hearing on this Order to Show Cause (dkt. 49, the "OSC") for 4/11/19 at 1:00 p.m., all as set forth below.

After this 3/21/19 hearing, this Court will prepare and issue an appropriate order, which may adopt or modify this tentative ruling.

(1) Background

Debtor's bankruptcy schedules and Statement Of Financial Affairs ("SOFA") did not disclose (a) rental payments or (b) Tesla vehicle lease payments that Debtor's employer made as part of Debtor's compensation. Debtor's employer is a dental business that he sold to his brother.

These and other nondisclosures came to light in connection with a motion (dkt. 20) by a creditor for dismissal of this bankruptcy case. That creditor is the trustee in another bankruptcy case. See dkt. 46, p.2:15-27.

At a hearing on 12/20/18 Debtor argued, through his counsel Louis J. Esbin, Esq., that there was no obligation to disclose the rent and Tesla payments because, allegedly, such payments would not be treated as income for tax or accounting purposes. Alternatively, he argued that such compensation had offsetting expenses, so there was no harm.

This Court found these arguments frivolous: as this Court explained at the hearing, and later in greater detail in a written order, the bankruptcy forms instruct debtors to disclose "all" regular income, and "all" means all. See Order

(dkt. 46, pp.4:1-7:11). It is irrelevant if non-bankruptcy law has different requirements; and it is irrelevant if there are offsetting expenses. The same is true for disclosing expenses, assets, liabilities, and all other disclosures: the forms require broad, candid disclosure. See id. and Rule 9009(c) (fed. R. Bankr. P.).

To illustrate, suppose a hypothetical debtor has a luxury rental property with a fair market value of $50,000,000; but also suppose that this property has been depreciated, for tax purposes, to $-0-. Suppose further that the debtor occupies the penthouse, which would have a fair market rent of $20,000 per month, but that this rent is paid by the debtor's employer. Under the approach described by Mr. Esbin, none of this would be disclosed. That is ridiculous.

This Court was shocked that Mr. Esbin would advance such arguments. At a hearing on 12/20/18 this Court stated that it was inclined to issue an order directing Debtor and Mr. Esbin to show cause why they should not be sanctioned (an "OSC").

But Mr. Esbin requested that this Court not issue any OSC, and he represented that Debtor would file amended disclosures and that he (Mr. Esbin) understood and would abide by this Court's interpretation of the disclosure requirements, both in this case and in future cases. This Court was persuaded not to issue an OSC at that time; but only on certain conditions.

This Court expressed concern that there might be misunderstandings over the exact nature of Debtor's disclosure obligations - i.e., that Mr. Esbin's promises might be unclear and unenforceable. So this Court established some safeguards to assure that, on the one hand, Debtor and Mr. Esbin would have an opportunity to cite any authority they might have for their own interpretation of the disclosure requirements and, on the other hand, this Court would have the opportunity to rule on those issues and set forth the disclosure requirements in greater detail (the "Safeguards").

As explained at the hearing on 12/20/18, the mechanism for implementing the Safeguards would be that this Court would dismiss this case with a 180-day bar against being a debtor in future bankruptcy cases, but with a deadline of 1/24/19 for Debtor to file and serve his brief on whether the 180-day bar should be modified, and with a continued hearing date. See Dismissal Order (dkt. 37). In other words, proceedings on the 180-day bar issue would serve as a mechanism for making sure that there were no misunderstandings about Debtor's and Mr. Esbin's disclosure obligations.

But that is not what happened. Debtor did not file any amended disclosures, nor did he file the brief that was due on 1/24/19. Instead he entered into a stipulation with the creditor who had moved for dismissal (dkt. 44). That stipulation provided that Debtor would "refrain" from filing another bankruptcy case for a period of time, and the stipulation requested that this Court take off calendar the further hearing set by the dismissal order.

This Court was concerned that the stipulation did not address (i) Mr. Esbin's commitment that Debtor would amend his disclosures, (ii) Mr. Esbin's promises of compliance with the disclosure obligations in this case and future cases, or (iii) the Safeguards that this Court had established to assure that there was no misunderstanding about Debtor's disclosure obligations. So this Court's order approving the stipulation (the "Order On Stipulation," dkt. 46) provided that this Court was only prepared to approve the stipulation on the condition that Debtor and Mr. Esbin abide by their prior commitments:

The "good cause" for approval of the Stipulation includes this Court's findings of fact and conclusions of law, as stated on the record at the hearing on the Dismissal Motion and more fully stated herein. Specifically, such good cause includes the following.

(a) Full disclosure is required, and was promised in this case

One aspect of "good cause" to approve the Stipulation is the commitment made by Mr. Esbin at the above-referenced hearing that he and Debtor would abide by this Court's interpretation of the official bankruptcy schedules and Statement Of Financial Affairs ("SOFA"). ...

[detailed description of disclosure obligations omitted]

(b) Deadline for full disclosure in this case

The docket does not reflect that Debtor has amended his bankruptcy schedules, notwithstanding the above-referenced commitment by Mr. Esbin that he and Debtor would abide by this Court's interpretation of Debtor's disclosure requirements. This Court presumes that Mr. Esbin and Debtor were awaiting written guidance from this Court (which, as noted above, was to occur after briefing, which Debtor has opted not to provide).

Regardless of the reason for Debtor's lack of amended bankruptcy schedules, and regardless of Debtor's settlement with the Trustee, Debtor still has an obligation to provide full disclosure of all assets, liabilities, income, and expenses by filing amended bankruptcy schedules and an amended SOFA. Debtor is hereby ORDERED to do so no later than February 15, 2019.

(c) Commitment to full disclosure in future cases

Additional "good cause" for approval of the Stipulation includes Mr. Esbin's acknowledgment on the record at the above-referenced hearing that he understood this Court's oral explanation of the foregoing principles and would abide by those principles in all bankruptcy cases before the undersigned Bankruptcy Judge. If, on further reflection and review of this order, Mr. Esbin has any doubts about that understanding, he is directed immediately to lodge a proposed order setting a status conference at which this Court will determine whether to vacate the approval of the Stipulation, set a briefing schedule, and/or take other acts.

(d) Caveat

Debtor is cautioned that if he does not abide by the foregoing disclosure principles then he may be subject to sanctions or other adverse consequences such as a longer bar to being a debtor in any future bankruptcy case. Mr. Esbin is cautioned that if he and any debtor whom he represents in future do not abide by the foregoing principles then they may be subject to sanctions or other adverse consequences. [Order on Stipulation (dkt. 46), pp.4:2-8:17 (emphasis added).]

The 2/15/19 deadline came and went with no amended schedules, and no lodging of any proposed order by Mr. Esbin setting any status conference to address any disagreement or misunderstanding regarding Debtor's disclosure obligations. Accordingly, this Court issued its OSC (dkt. 49) directing Debtor and Mr. Esbin to address

[i] why Debtor should not be barred from being a debtor in any future bankruptcy case, unless and until otherwise ordered by this Court, and [ii] why any other remedies or sanctions should not be imposed for the lack of disclosures in this case, both prior to and after this Court's express order to make disclosures in the Order Approving Stipulation. [Dkt. 49, p.2:14-17 (the OSC also directed them to address why the Debtor has now filed some amended bankruptcy schedules and an amended SOFA. Dkt. 52. He and Mr. Esbin have also filed their declarations and a response to the OSC. Dkt. 53.

(2) Jurisdiction

In his response to the OSC, Debtor (through Mr. Esbin) suggests that this Court no longer has jurisdiction to determine whether Debtor should be barred from being a debtor in bankruptcy for a period of longer than 180 days, or to consider whether to impose sanctions against Debtor or Mr. Esbin. Debtor's argument is that the creditor who filed the motion to dismiss (dkt. 20) later stipulated to resolve that motion. This, he claims, "eliminated the controversy to be adjudicated" and thus terminated this Court's jurisdiction (dkt. 53, p.2 para 1.).

Debtor and Mr. Espin cite no authority for their argument that this Court lacks jurisdiction. But this Court has an independent duty to examine its own jurisdiction. Having done so, this Court is satisfied that it has jurisdiction.

(a) This Court expressly retained jurisdiction, and alternatively has automatic jurisdiction over issues such as sanctions and a bar

Jurisdiction and venue are governed by 28 U.S.C. §§ 1334 and 1408. This Court has the authority to enter a final judgment or order regarding a bar, sanctions, or other matters under 28 U.S.C. § 157(b)(2)(A) & (O). See generally Stern v. Marshall, 131 S. Ct. 2594 (2011); In re AWTR Liquidation, Inc., 547 B.R. 831 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2016) (discussing Stern); In re Deitz, 469 B.R. 11 (9th Cir. BAP 2012) (same); In re David, 487 B.R. 843, 867 (Bankr. S.D.Tex. 2013) (sanctions proceedings are constitutionally "core").

The creditor who raised the nondisclosures by Debtor and Mr. Esbin may have sought only limited relief but, once the nondisclosures were apparent, that implicated the integrity of the bankruptcy system, which is very much an issue for this Court. That issue does not disappear just because Debtor entered into a stipulation resolving that one creditor's disputes.

As explained at the 12/20/18 hearing, the quid pro quo for not proceeding at that time with an OSC against Debtor and Mr. Esbin was to retain jurisdiction to address whether or not this Court, on its own motion, would modify the bar against being a debtor in bankruptcy, and to use that as a mechanism to assure that Debtor filed amended disclosures and to implement the Safeguards - i.e., to clarify the duties of Debtor and Mr. Esbin so that there would not be any misunderstandings in this case or in future. This Court's intent to retain jurisdiction was not just expressed orally at the hearing on 12/20/18; it is also reflected in written orders.

This Court's dismissal order expressly retains jurisdiction on a very broad basis:

this Court retains jurisdiction to the extent provided by Local Bankruptcy Rule ["LBR"] 1017-2(f), and on the limited issue of whether the 180-Day Bar should remain ("180 Day Bar Issue"). [Dkt. 37, p.2:12-15 (emphasis added; redlining marks omitted)]

This language leaves no doubt that this Court retained jurisdiction both on the 180 Day Bar Issue and on all other issues addressed in LBR 1017-2(f), which expressly include sanctions and imposing a bar. In any event, even if this Court had not specifically cited LBR 1017-2(f), that local rule automatically retains post-dismissal jurisdiction to the maximum extent permitted by law.

Alternatively, even if LBR 1017-2(f) were inapplicable for some reason, the retention of jurisdiction over the 180 Day Bar Issue inherently encompasses all conduct (or misconduct) in connection with that issue. That is an additional reason why this Court has jurisdiction to proceed with the OSC (dkt. 49).

Alternatively, even if neither the LBR nor this Bankruptcy Court had said anything at all about retaining jurisdiction, "[i]ssues of ... sanctions survive dismissal." In re Menk, 241 B.R. 896, at 906 and passim (9th Cir. BAP 1999) (citations omitted) (extensive discussion of why bankruptcy courts have such jurisdiction). Likewise, any bar on being a debtor in bankruptcy is an issue of the type that survives dismissal of the case. See generally id.

Debtor and Mr. Esbin are also mistaken if they thought they could moot the Safeguards and deprive this Court of jurisdiction through their stipulation (dkt. 44). First, the stipulation does not say anything about mooting the Safeguards or depriving this Court of jurisdiction. Second, the Order on Stipulation reaffirmed both this Court's intent to retain jurisdiction and this Court's concerns that Debtor and Mr. Esbin abide by their commitments and comply with all disclosure obligations, after an opportunity to cite any authority for any different interpretation of those obligations.

All of the foregoing leaves no doubt that jurisdiction was retained. This Court's approval of the stipulation did not, as Mr. Esbin argues, "nullif[y]" the purpose of this Court's retention of jurisdiction. Dkt. 53, p.12:22-25 (Esbin Decl.).

(b) For the avoidance of doubt, this Court has retained jurisdiction to the maximum extent permitted by law, including over any ongoing or new misconduct

The foregoing discussion of specific issues should not be interpreted as limiting in any way this Court's broad retention of jurisdiction under LBR 1017-2(f). There was good cause for such a broad retention of jurisdiction in the Dismissal Order, and there is still good cause: because of Debtor's nondisclosures this Court does not know what additional issues might be undisclosed, and those unknown issues might have to be addressed in future.

In addition, there is now a history, post-dismissal, of a lack of compliance by Debtor and Mr. Esbin with this Court's orders. Such non-compliance itself has become a separate issue as to which this Court can and does exercise jurisdiction.

(c) Conclusion as to jurisdiction

This Court has consistently retained jurisdiction to the maximum extent permitted by law. That includes addressing not only whether to modify the 180-day bar (to increase it or to decrease it) but also whether to impose sanctions on Debtor or Mr. Esbin.

(3) Due process

The tentative ruling is to reject Mr. Esbin's one-line assertion that his reputation is "under attack without any evidence or due process." Dkt. 53, p.13:4. The evidence of intentional nondisclosures is set forth above; and this Court is not engaged in any attack, but rather a defense of the integrity of the bankruptcy system.

At the hearing on 12/20/18 this Court provided Mr. Esbin and Debtor with a "second bite at the apple" and an opportunity to avoid any OSC, if they would adequately supplement their prior (inadequate) disclosures and provide adequate assurance of future compliance with their disclosure obligations. But instead of doing so, they sought approval of a stipulation that caused this Court to be concerned about a possible evasion of Mr. Esbin's promises and this Court's Safeguards.

Despite these concerns, this Court did not disapprove the stipulation and instead gave Debtor and Mr. Esbin a third bite at the apple by setting a deadline of 2/15/19 to file supplemental documents and, if they disagreed with this Court's interpretation of the disclosure requirements, to address that issue. on Stipulation (dkt. 46). But that deadline came and went with no supplemental papers, so this Court issued its OSC (dkt. 49).

That OSC, this hearing, and any supplemental proceedings are giving Debtor and Mr. Esbin yet more opportunities to address this Court's concerns and show why this Court should end the bar and why they should not be sanctioned. Mr. Esbin and Debtor have failed to establish how any of the foregoing is a denial of due process.

(4) Legal standards for dismissal with a bar, and for sanctions

(a) Dismissal with a bar

Dismissal with a bar of 180 days is expressly authorized under 11 U.S.C. § 109(g)(1) for "willful failure of the debtor to abide by orders of the court, or to appear before the court in proper prosecution of this case." (Emphasis added.) In addition, there is authority that Bankruptcy Courts can impose a bar of any other appropriate duration pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 105(a), 349(a), 1307(a) and, alternatively, pursuant to this court's inherent powers to manage its own docket. See In re Glover, 537 Fed.Appx. 741 (9th Cir. 2013) (affirming dismissal with a five-year bar to refiling under 11 U.S.C. § 105(a)); In re Leavitt, 171 F.3d 1219 (9th Cir. 1999) (affirming dismissal with prejudice based upon a finding of bad faith).

(b) Sanctions

The 9th Circuit has explained that "ordinarily a court proposing to impose sanctions notifies the person charged both of the particular alleged misconduct and of the particular disciplinary authority under which the court is planning to proceed." In re DeVille, 361 F.3d 539, 548 (9th Cir. 2004). This Court is proceeding under the following authority.

(i) Rule 9011

Rule 9011 (Fed. R. Bankr. P.) provides, in relevant part:

(b) Representations to the Court. By presenting to the court (whether by signing, filing, submitting, or later advocating) a petition, pleading, written motion, or other paper, an attorney or unrepresented party is certifying that to the best of the person's knowledge, information, and belief, formed after an inquiry reasonable under the circumstances, –

(1) it is not being presented for any improper purpose, such as to harass or to cause unnecessary delay or needless increase in the cost of litigation;

(2) the claims, defenses, and other legal contentions therein are warranted by existing law or by a nonfrivolous argument for the extension, modification, or reversal of existing law or the establishment of new law;

(3) the allegations and other factual contentions have evidentiary support or, if specifically so identified, are likely to have evidentiary support after reasonable opportunity for further investigation or discovery; and

(4) the denials of factual contentions are warranted on the evidence or, if specifically so identified, are reasonably based on lack of information or belief.

(c) Sanctions. If, after notice and a reasonable opportunity to respond, the court determines that subdivision (b) has been violated, the court may, subject to the conditions stated below, impose an appropriate sanction upon the attorneys, law firms, or parties that have violated subdivision (b) or are responsible for that violation.

(1) How initiated.

(B) On Court's Initiative. On its own initiative, the court may enter an order describing the specific conduct that appears to violate subdivision (b) and directing an attorney, law firm, or party to show cause why it has not violated subdivision (b) with respect thereto. [Rule 9011(b)&(c) (emphasis added)]

When the court initiates sanctions under Rule 9011, the conduct must be "akin to contempt" which requires "more than ignorance or negligence on the part of [the attorney]." In re Nakhuda, 544 B.R. 886, 902 (9th Cir. BAP 2016).

(ii) Section 105(a)

Section 105(a) of the Bankruptcy Code (11 U.S.C. 105(a) provides:

The court may issue any order, process, or judgment that is necessary or appropriate to carry out the provisions of this title. No provision of this title providing for the raising of an issue by a party in interest shall be construed to preclude the court from, sua sponte, taking any action or making any determination necessary or appropriate to enforce or implement court orders or rules, or to prevent an abuse of process.

[Section 105(a) (emphasis added).]

To impose sanctions under § 105(a), there must be "clear and convincing evidence that the contemnors violated a specific and definite order of the court." In re Dyer, 322 F.3d 1178, 1190 (9th Cir. 2003) (citation omitted). A provision of a statute such as the automatic stay, or a national or local rule, or a form can all serve as a specific and definite order of the court. See id. and Rules 1017 & 9009 (Fed. R. Bankr. P.).

(iii) Court's inherent authority

The Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit has held that Bankruptcy

Courts possess the inherent authority to sanction parties for a broad range of improper litigation conduct. Id. at 1196. Before imposing sanctions under its inherent sanctioning authority, a court "must make an explicit finding of bad faith or willful misconduct," which "consists of something more egregious than mere negligence or recklessness." Id. (citations and internal quotation marks omitted).

This standard has been stated more broadly as requiring either bad faith, conduct tantamount to bad faith, or recklessness with an "additional factor such as frivolousness, harassment, or an improper purpose." Fink v. Gomez, 239 F.3d 989, 994 (9th Cir. 2001). Due process is accorded as long as the sanctionee is "provided with sufficient, advance notice of exactly which conduct was alleged to be sanctionable, and [was] furthermore aware that [he or she] stood accused of having acted in bad faith." In re DeVille, 361 F.3d at 549 (citations and internal quotation marks omitted).

(iv) American Bar Association ("ABA") standards

When considering sanctions against an attorney, the Bankruptcy Appellate Panel for the Ninth Circuit (the "BAP") has held that Bankruptcy Courts should assure that (A) the disciplinary proceeding is fair, (B) the evidence supports the findings, and (C) the penalty imposed is reasonable. In re Nguyen, 447 B.R. 268 (9th Cir. BAP 2011). Preferably, the court should consider the ABA standards (id.): "the bankruptcy court should consider: (1) whether the duty violated was to a client, the public, the legal system or the profession; (2) whether the lawyer acted intentionally, knowingly or negligently; (3) whether the lawyer's misconduct caused a serious or potentially serious injury; and (4) whether aggravating factors or mitigating circumstances exist." In re Brooks-Hamilton, 400 B.R. 238, 252-53 (9th Cir. BAP 2009).

(5) Mr. Esbin's and Debtor's conduct prior to issuance of the Order on Stipulation

(a) Mr. Esbin's conduct

Mr. Esbin argued at the hearing on 12/20/19 that Debtor not only was permitted to omit his employer's payment of his rent and Tesla lease from his bankruptcy schedules, but was required to do so in order to be accurate for tax or accounting purposes. Thus there is no question that Mr. Esbin acted willfully, but that is not sufficient for sanctions under the foregoing authorities.

This Court notes the following issues. This list is not intended to be exhaustive, and Mr. Esbin and Debtor are encouraged to make their own assessment of the issues.

The issues include:

- * Did Mr. Esbin form his beliefs regarding the accuracy of Debtor's bankruptcy disclosures after "an inquiry reasonable under the circumstances" (Rule 9001(b), Fed. R. Bankr. P.)?
- * Did Mr. Esbin act with an improper purpose, such as to evade the disclosure requirements under the Bankruptcy Code, Rules, and Official Forms (see Rules 9011(b)(1), 1017 and 9009 (Fed. R. Bankr. P.))?

- * Were his legal contentions "warranted by existing law or by a nonfrivolous argument for the extension, modification, or reversal of existing law or the establishment of new law" (Rule 9011(b)(2))?
- * Did the factual contentions in the bankruptcy schedules, and omissions in them, have evidentiary support or were they "warranted on the evidence or, if specifically so identified, [were they] reasonably based on lack of information or belief" (Rule 9011(b)(3)&(4))?
- * Is there is "clear and convincing evidence" that Mr. Esbin "violated a specific and definite order of the court," statute, rule, or instruction on an official form (Dyer, 322 F.3d 1178, 1190)?
- * Has Mr. Esbin shown "bad faith or willful misconduct" (id.) or conduct tantamount to bad faith, or recklessness with an "additional factor such as frivolousness, harassment, or an improper purpose" (Fink v. Gomez, 239 F.3d 989, 994 (9th Cir. 2001))?

As for the ABA standards:

- * The duty of disclosure concerns not only the creditors in this case but the public's reliance on the integrity of the legal system and the legal profession.
- * Incomplete disclosures place Mr. Esbin's client (Debtor) at risk of denial of discharge in any bankruptcy case, a bar on being a debtor in future bankruptcy cases, sanctions, and other adverse consequences.
- * It is not entirely clear whether the nondisclosures in this case caused serious or potentially serious injury because the whole point of nondisclosures is that creditors and this Court are left in the dark about Debtor's true financial history and circumstances. But this Court has concerns about potentially serious injury to creditors because, despite Debtor's historical annual income of over $600,000, (i) he and Mr. Esbin have alleged that his current income is a fraction of that amount, (ii) he and Mr. Esbin did not disclose the rent and Tesla payments by his employer, and (iii) despite several opportunities to provide adequate disclosures, he and Mr. Esbin have not done so and, to the contrary, appear to be continuing not to treat their legal obligations with appropriate seriousness (see below).
- * Aggravating factors include the apparent attempts to evade the promises and Safeguards that were the basis for not issuing an OSC at the hearing on 12/20/18.
- * Mitigating factors include that the dollar amounts of undisclosed income that have been discovered (so far) are relatively small, and they appear to be offset by expenses.

* As for Mr. Esbin's intent, that may require an evidentiary hearing.

(b) Debtor's conduct

The same issues described above appear to apply to Debtor, except for the ABA standards applicable to sanctioning attorneys. In addition, to the extent if any that Debtor relies on a defense of advice of counsel, he will need to provide evidentiary and legal support for that defense. As with Mr. Esbin, this Court's identification of issues is not intended to be exhaustive, and Debtor is encouraged to make his own assessment of the issues.

(6) Mr. Esbin's and Debtor's treatment of the Order on Stipulation

(a) Mr. Esbin's failure to read the order

Mr. Esbin declares (dkt. 53) that he did not read this Court's Order on Stipulation (dkt. 46) until after this Court issued its OSC (dkt. 49). This Court understands Mr. Esbin's reasons as follows.

First, Mr. Esbin declares that he was busy and away from his office (dkt. 53, p.13, para.4-5). Second, he did not click on the link to this Court's order in the notice of electronic filing that he received (the "NEF") because he assumed that the order had no changes, based on the NEF's text that the stipulation was "approved," rather than stating that the stipulation was "granted in part and denied in part" (id., pp.13-14, para.6). Mr. Esbin argues that this constitutes excusable neglect. See Rules 9023, 9024 (Fed. R. Bankr. P.).

This Court recognizes that mistakes can be made; but in the circumstances of this case Mr. Esbin's excuses actually exacerbate this Court's concerns. They appear to be part of a pattern of not taking the obligations in these bankruptcy proceedings seriously enough.

Recall that, at the hearing on 12/20/18, this Court was shocked at Debtor's nondisclosures and Mr. Esbin's arguments - they appeared to treat Debtor's disclosure obligations as a game of hiding the ball. This Court expressly refrained from issuing an OSC at that time in reliance on (i) Mr. Esbin's promise that Debtor would file amended disclosures, (ii) Mr. Esbin's promise that Debtor and Mr. Esbin would abide by this Court's interpretation of the disclosure obligations, and (iii) the Safeguards to protect against any misunderstanding of those obligations.

Yet now Mr. Esbin is asserting that, even though none of those three things had happened, and even though he claims that approval of the stipulation would moot all of those issues and deprive this Court of jurisdiction, he was so confident that this Court would issue his proposed order without any changes that he did not look at the order. That reinforces the impression that Mr. Esbin has not taken his obligations in this case seriously enough.

(b) Debtor's treatment of the Order on Stipulation

There is no evidence about whether Debtor read the Order on Stipulation. But he was served with a paper copy (dkt. 48), and it has a stamp on the first page and extensive redlining showing that this Court did a lot more than just approve the stipulation.

The order includes several pages explaining Debtor's disclosure obligations in detail (dkt. 46, pp.4:1-7:11) and setting a deadline of 2/15/19 (in boldface) to file amended disclosures. Yet that as that deadline approached and passed, with no communication from Mr. Esbin about Debtor's disclosure obligations, Debtor did not contact Mr. Esbin about the missed deadline (this is known because Mr. Esbin declares that he first learned of the provisions of the Order on Stipulation when this Court issued its OSC).

So it appears that either Debtor failed to read the order or else he read the order and ignored it. Debtor already knew or should have known how concerned this Court was about his nondisclosures, based on the terms of the dismissal order - or, if he also failed to read that order, based on the simple fact that his bankruptcy case had been dismissed. Therefore, as with Mr. Esbin, Debtor's reaction to receiving the Order on Stipulation reinforces the impression that he has not taken his obligations in this case seriously enough.

(7) Amended Bankruptcy Schedules A/B, C, I, & J, and SOFA. (dkt. 52) and Declarations of Debtor and Mr. Esbin (dkt. 53, pp.3-15)

As noted above, Mr. Esbin promised at the hearing on 12/20/18 that Debtor would amend his disclosures. When he failed to do so, the Order on Stipulation set the 2/15/19 deadline for Debtor to file supplemental disclosures. In addition, as quoted above, that order directed Mr. Esbin that if he had any doubts about Debtor's disclosure obligations he was to lodge a proposed order setting a status conference. See Order on Stipulation (dkt. 46).

The latest papers filed by Debtor and Mr. Esbin still do not adequately address these issues.

(a) Debtor's papers are inadequate

First, Debtor's declaration is not actually signed. Debtor's name is typewritten with "/s/" in front, but that is insufficient. See LBR 9011-1.

Second, although the documents strongly imply that Debtor is complying with this Court's interpretation of the applicable disclosure obligations; they do not quite say so. For example, Debtor's declaration and bankruptcy schedules now disclose that his rent and his Tesla car are paid for by his employer (the business he sold to his brother), but those are only the specific items that this Court has already identified. Are there other matters that Debtor is failing to disclose? Will Debtor assert in future that (like Mr. Esbin) he did not actually read this Court's Order on Stipulation (dkt. 46)? Or will Debtor assert that he read the order but (silently) disagreed with this Court's interpretation of his disclosure obligations?

Another example is Debtor's response to this Court's question: "What are the details regarding Debtor's precipitous decline in income reflected on his Statement of Financial Affairs?" Dkt. 46, p.2:23-25. Debtor's declaration on states only that the main source of his income used to be transactions through his real estate investment company, SEW Enterprises, LLC ("SEW") (dkt. 53, p.7, para.17), but that "[i]n 2017, I had no real estate dealings though SEW" Id., para. 19. What does that mean?

Has Debtor had "real estate dealings" through other entities (and left the profits within those entities rather than taking any distributions, so as not to show any personal income)? Or has Debtor otherwise structured his finances in such a way as to depress his apparent or actual income? Has Debtor had a drop in his ability to earn income? Or has Debtor decided to work less? In other word, what actually accounts for Debtor's decrease in income from over $600,000 in 2016 to a fraction of that amount? The point is not only that the answers might be troubling but that, even if they would not be troubling, there is no disclosure regarding such issues.

How can creditors, or this Court, rely on anything that Debtor says when he is still providing only partial disclosures, even after this Court has given him multiple bites at the apple and detailed guidance (dkt. 46, pp.4:1-7:11)? How are Debtor's disclosures reliable when he has failed to address whether or not he is still applying a different interpretation of his disclosure obligations from what this Court has explained?

(b) Mr. Esbin's declaration is inadequate

There is no assurance from Mr. Esbin that he has carefully read, understands, and will abide by the disclosure obligations that this Court has explained in detail (dkt. 46, pp.4:1-7:11), both in this case and in future cases. Nor has he taken any of the multiple opportunities to assert that Debtor's disclosure obligations are something different, if he has any basis to do so.

(c) Additional papers and evidentiary hearing

The tentative ruling is to set the deadline recited at the start of this tentative ruling for Debtor and Mr. Esbin to file and serve on the Chapter 13 Trustee and the United States Trustee their declarations that they have read this Court's Order on Stipulation, including its interpretation of the disclosure obligations (dkt. 46, pp.2:10-7:12), and either (a) that they are abiding by that interpretation or, alternatively, (b) that they are, in good faith, asserting an argument for a different interpretation. The tentative ruling is to set the same deadline for them to file any brief regarding a different interpretation of the disclosure obligations and regarding this Court's jurisdiction, including citations to appropriate authorities.

In addition, the tentative ruling is to extend the bar against being a debtor in bankruptcy until otherwise ordered by this Court.

In addition, the tentative ruling is to expand the OSC to encompass the acts and omissions since the date when the OSC was issued.

In addition, the tentative ruling is to set an evidentiary hearing at the time listed at the start of this tentative ruling.

Once the foregoing papers have been filed and Mr. Esbin and Debtor have testified under oath, this Court can determine whether to discharge the OSC, modify the bar, impose sanctions on Debtor or Mr. Esbin, refer Mr. Esbin to a disciplinary panel of this Court, and/or take any other action.

fr. 1/24/19

Docket 49

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 3/21/19hrg:

Appearances required. There is no tentative ruling, but this Court notes that the docket does not reflect any progress since the last hearing, including whether Debtor has provided the chapter 13 trustee with the 2016 and 2017 tax returns (see the trustee's objection, dkt. 50).

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 1/24/19hrg:

Appearances required. There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address (a) whether the alleged arrears have been brought current and/or (b) whether the chapter 13 trustee is satisfied with Debtor's explanation for requiring a modification (see the debtor's supplemental declarations, dkt. 56, 57) and (c) whether Debtor has provided the chapter 13 trustee with the 2016 and 2017 tax returns (see the trustee's objection, dkt. 50).

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." #16.00 Cont'd Hrg re: Objection to Claim Number 8 by Claimant Pinnacle Credit Services, LLC its Successors and Assigns as Assignee of Midland Credit Management, Inc. fr. 11/29/18

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 3/21/19:

Grant (sustain the objection to claim 8-1). This Court expressly finds that Counsel has provided a cost/benefit analysis (dkt. 98) that is sufficient for purposes of Judge Bason's posted Procedures regarding claim objections (see dkt. 106), so any limitation on fees in the prior tentative ruling on this matter is hereby vacated. Appearances are not required.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 11/29/18:

Continue to 12/20/18 at 8:30 a.m. to address the following issues. Appearances are not required on 11/29/18.

Lack of cost/benefit analysis. The posted Procedures of Judge Bason (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) provide:

§ 502: claim objections & cost/benefit analysis. When objecting to claims, be sure to include an analysis of whether the costs of preparing and litigating the claim objection (administrative expenses) do not exceed the anticipated benefits (reductions in claims). For example, if the anticipated dividend is small or 0% then the attorney fees incurred in prosecuting your claim objection to any general unsecured claim probably will exceed the benefit to the bankruptcy estate/debtor, so filing that objection would be a waste of the bankruptcy estate's (and everyone else's) resources (unless, for example, the claim is nondischargeable, in which event the attorney fees might well be justified).

No later than 7 days after the date of this hearing the movant must file either:

- (1) a supplemental declaration explaining why the attorney fees for this objection are justified (including supporting evidence, such as a copy of the plan showing the projected dividend to the claimant, and a calculation comparing that projected dividend against the attorney fees related to this claim objection), or
- (2) a withdrawal of the claim objection.

No fees on this matter, absent specific authorization. Counsel is directed not to charge any fees on this matter (including all past, present and future work related to this claim objection), and to return any fees received on this matter, unless and until this Court expressly finds: "Counsel has provided a cost/benefit analysis that is sufficient for purposes of Judge Bason's posted Procedures regarding claim objections." It is counsel's responsibility to include the quoted phrase, if warranted, in the proposed order on this claim objection.

This Court does not have the capacity to monitor all fee applications to assure compliance with the foregoing limitation on fees. But if counsel is found to have disregarded this limitation then this Court may impose sanctions.

REVERSE MORTGAGE FUNDING, LLC
vs
DEBTOR

Docket 71

Tentative Ruling:

Grant as provided below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

Termination

Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1).

To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Effective date of relief

Deny the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a)(3) for lack of sufficient cause shown.

Co-debtor stay

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) has not been shown to have any basis for any different treatment from the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a), so the tentative ruling is to grant the identical relief regarding any co-debtor stay.

BANK OF AMERICA, N.A.
vs
DEBTOR

Docket 44

Tentative Ruling:

Appearances required. There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address (a) whether the alleged arrears have been brought current and/or (b) whether they will agree to the terms of an adequate protection order (see the debtor's response, dkt. 46).

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Docket 37

Tentative Ruling:

Grant as provided below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

Termination

Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1).

To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Effective date of relief

Deny the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a) (3) for lack of sufficient cause shown.

Co-debtor stay

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) has not been shown to have any basis for any different treatment from the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a), so the tentative ruling is to grant the identical relief regarding any co-debtor stay.

Docket 29

Tentative Ruling:

Grant as provided below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this Court's final ruling. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

Termination

Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (d)(4).

To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Relief notwithstanding future bankruptcy cases.

Grant the following relief pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(4) and the legal analysis in In re Vazquez, 580 B.R. 526 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2017), and/or In re Choong (case no. 2:14-bk-28378-NB, docket no. 31), as applicable:

If this order is duly recorded in compliance with applicable State laws governing notices of interests or liens in the property at issue, then no automatic stay shall apply to such property in any bankruptcy case purporting to affect such property and filed within two years after the date of entry of this order, unless otherwise ordered by the court presiding over that bankruptcy case.

For the avoidance of doubt, any acts by the movant to obtain exclusive possession of such property shall not be stayed, including any eviction actions, through and including any lockout or other enforcement by the Sheriff or other authorized legal authority.

Chapter 13

Note: Per Judge Bason's posted procedures (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) this Court's order will state that the Court "does not make" a finding that Debtor was involved in the "scheme" referenced in section 362(d)(4), unless there is sufficient evidence that Debtor was involved and Debtor is given clear notice that the movant seeks an express finding that Debtor was involved. The tentative ruling in this particular case is that there is not sufficient evidence and notice.

No prejudice to Debtor intended. Based on the record, it appears that this is a "hijacked" case, and that Debtor is innocent of any involvement. See e.g., In re Vazquez, 580 B.R. 526 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2017) (describing hijacking); In re Dorsey, 476 B.R. 261 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2012) (same). Accordingly, the tentative ruling is to condition any relief from the automatic stay on this Court's determination that this motion shall not result in the application of sections 109(g)(2) and 362(b)(21)(A) to Debtor or any property other than the property that is the subject of this motion for relief from the automatic stay, and that by not contesting this tentative ruling the movant has waived and forfeited any contrary argument. See In re Leaffy, 479 B.R. 545, 550-51 (9th Cir. BAP 2012); In re Mendez, 367 B.R. 109, 116-17 (9th Cir. BAP 2007); In re Luna, 122 B.R. 575, 577 (9th Cir. BAP 1991); Dorsey, 476 B.R. 261, 270.

Effective date of relief

Grant the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a) (3).

Co-debtor stay

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) has not been shown to have any basis for any different treatment from the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a), so the tentative ruling is to grant the identical relief regarding any co-debtor stay.

HONDA LEASE TRUST
vs
DEBTOR

Docket 46

Tentative Ruling:

Grant as provided below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

Termination

Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (d)(2).

To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Effective date of relief

Grant the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a)(3).

Co-debtor stay

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) has not been shown to have any basis for any different treatment from the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a), so the tentative ruling is to grant the identical relief regarding any co-debtor stay.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Docket 29

Tentative Ruling:

Grant as provided below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this Court's final ruling. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(1) Limited relief. Modify and condition the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) such that the movant may proceed in the nonbankruptcy forum to final judgment (including any appeals) in accordance with applicable nonbankruptcy law, subject to the following limitations (Judge Bason's standard limitations).

(a) No enforcement against property of the bankruptcy estate. The stay remains in effect with respect to enforcement of any judgment against property of the debtor's bankruptcy estate - any such property shall be distributed when and how provided by the Bankruptcy Code. Nevertheless, the movant is permitted to enforce its final judgment by (i) collecting upon any available insurance in accordance with applicable nonbankruptcy law or (ii) proceeding against the debtor as to any property that is not property of this bankruptcy estate. See, e.g., 11 U.S.C. 362(b)(2)(B) & 541(b)(7) (collection of domestic support obligations from ERISA qualified retirement plans).

(b) Claim allowance, priority, and discharge issues. Any claims arising from the nonbankruptcy litigation are subject to this Bankruptcy Court's jurisdiction regarding claim allowance and priority, and the existence and scope of any bankruptcy discharge.

(c) No relief in other bankruptcy cases. To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

This Bankruptcy Court emphasizes that it does not seek in any way to impinge on the authority of the Nonbankruptcy Courts presiding over the nonbankruptcy action. Rather, this Bankruptcy Court takes seriously its obligations, as a subordinate unit of the District Court, to manage this bankruptcy case. Those obligations including taking into consideration the interests of creditors (who are not parties to the underlying nonbankruptcy litigation), and preserving the bankruptcy estate by placing limits on any relief from the automatic stay that Congress has mandated (11 U.S.C. 362(a) & (d)).

Additional analysis:

The Bankruptcy Court "shall grant relief from the stay" upon a showing of "cause." 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1). Such relief need not take the form of a complete termination of the automatic stay, but instead may include "modifying or conditioning such stay." Id.

"Cause" is determined on a case-by-case basis." In re Tucson Estates, Inc., 912 F.2d 1162, 1166 (9th Cir.1990). In determining whether "cause" exists to grant relief from the automatic stay to allow a movant to pursue litigation in a non-bankruptcy forum, courts in the Ninth Circuit have examined the factors set forth in In re Curtis, 40 B.R. 795, 799–800 (Bankr. D. Utah 1984). See In re Kronmeyer, 405 B.R. 915 (9th Cir. BAP 2009); In re Plumberex Specialty Prods., Inc., 311 B.R. 551, 559–60 (Bankr. C.D. Cal.2004). Those factors are: (1) Whether the relief will result in a partial or complete resolution of the issues; (2) The lack of any connection with or interference with the bankruptcy case; (3) Whether the foreign proceeding involves the debtor as a fiduciary; (4) Whether a specialized tribunal has been established to hear the particular cause of action and whether that tribunal has the expertise to hear such cases; (5) Whether the debtor's insurance carrier has assumed full financial responsibility for defending the litigation; (6) Whether the action essentially involves third parties, and the debtor functions only as a bailee or conduit for the goods or proceeds in question; (7) Whether the litigation in another forum would prejudice the interests of other creditors, the creditors' committee and other interested parties; (8) Whether the judgment claim arising from the foreign action is subject to equitable subordination under Section 510(c); (9) Whether movant's success in the foreign proceeding would result in a judicial lien avoidable by the debtor under Section 522(f); (10) The interests of judicial economy and the expeditious and economical determination of litigation for the parties; (11) Whether the foreign proceedings have progressed to the point where the parties are prepared for trial; and (12) The impact of the stay on the parties and the "balance of hurt." Plumberex, 311 B.R. at 559. "[W]hile the Curtis factors are widely used to determine the existence of 'cause,' not all of the factors are relevant in every case, nor is a court required to give each factor equal weight." In re Landmark Fence Co., Inc., 2011 WL 6826253 at *4 (C.D. Cal. Dec. 9, 2011).

Based on the present record, the tentative ruling is that these factors weigh in favor of granting relief as set forth above. Most significantly: this action involves largely third parties; the interest of judicial economy provides cause for relief from stay; and it does not appear that the relief requested in the motion will prejudice unsecured creditors.

Effective date of relief

Deny the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a) (3) for lack of sufficient cause shown.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this Court's final ruling. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

The automatic stay does not apply

This case has been dismissed, which terminates the automatic stay. See 11 U.S.C. 349(b)(3) & 362(c).

In the alternative and in addition, this court grants relief from the automatic stay as follows.

Termination

Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (d)(2).

To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Co-debtor stay

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) has not been shown to have any basis for any different treatment from the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a), so the tentative ruling is to grant the identical relief regarding any co-debtor stay.

Evidence

This Court notes that the declaration attached to the motion is incomplete and/or contains changes to the mandatory form (which are hereby treated as a request to amend the form per LBR 9009-1). This Court makes no determination whether such omissions/changes would withstand an evidentiary objection. Nevertheless, this Court has considered the key documents because (a) there are no evidentiary objections and/or (b) those documents appear to be admissible on other grounds. In future the movant's failure to complete the form properly may result in denial of the motion sua sponte.

Chapter 13

#37.00 Hrg re: Motion in Individual Case for Order
Imposing a Stay or Continuing the Automatic
Stay as the Court Deems Appropriate

Docket 12

Tentative Ruling:

Grant, subject to the following conditions. Appearances are not required.

After the hearing date this Court will prepare an order and the tentative ruling is to include the following language in that order:

The stay of 11 U.S.C. 362(a) applies subject to the following modifications and conditions:

(1) Service and reconsideration. Any party in interest who was not timely served in accordance with FRBP 7004 (incorporated by FRBP 9014(b)) is hereby granted through 14 days after proper service to seek reconsideration, including retroactive relief (under FRBP 9023 and/or 9024). Any such person (a) may set a hearing on 14 days' notice, (b) may appear by telephone (if arrangements are made per Judge Bason's posted procedures), and (c) may present all arguments orally at the hearing (i.e., no written argument is required). If written arguments appear necessary then this court will set a briefing schedule at the hearing.

(2) Reasons. (a) It appears appropriate to impose the automatic stay, and to impose it as to all persons rather than just as to selected persons, because one purpose of the automatic stay is to preventing a "race to collect" that could unfairly advantage some creditors at the expense of others. (b) To prevent possible abuse, this Court provides the foregoing simple process for reconsideration.

DEBTOR

Docket 32

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 3/26/19:

Appearances required. There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address the assertion by Debtor's attorney that Debtor is unable to comply with this Court's Order on Motion for Relief From Stay (dkt. 43) because her checks in payment of the tax-related debt have been returned to her with a notation that she has now overpaid that debt, and any other matters relevant to this motion. See dkt. 47.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 1/8/19:

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

Movant's supplemental papers (dkt. 37) assert debts for (1) reimbursement for paying real estate taxes of $9,851.79 and (2) reimbursement for force placed insurance of $3,912 (2 x $1,956). The tentative ruling is (1) to require Debtor to pay the tax-related debt via a motion to modify her confirmed chapter 13 plan to amortize that debt over the remaining term of the plan, and (2) to pay the insurance-related debt via a standard adequate protection order ("APO").

Chapter 13

(1) Real estate taxes

Debtor argues (dkt. 41) that her chapter 13 plan was intended to include when it listed movant (or its predecessor in interest) with a debt of $33,000 (dkt. 15, confirmed by dkt. 22). But it appears that Debtor listed the wrong party with respect to taxes.

According to Movant, it did not pay those taxes until many months postpetition, on 8/28/28 (see dkt. 37, para. 20), so as of the petition date the debt was owed to the tax authorities, not Movant. Therefore Debtor should have listed the tax authorities in her chapter 13 plan.

Because Debtor did not do so, it appears that those tax debts went unpaid until Movant paid them. Meanwhile, as provided in the confirmation order (dkt. 22), Movant's proof of claim (no. 2-1) controls the monthly distributions by the Chapter 13 Trustee, and that proof of claim apparently did not include the taxes (it is for $20,085.53, which Debtor concedes is substantially less than the $33,000 estimated in her plan).

Based on the foregoing, it appears that the best way to restore the parties to the position they would have been if Debtor had correctly included the tax authorities in her plan is to require Debtor to file a motion to modify her plan to amortize the tax-related debt, with interest payable to Movant at the contract rate, over the remaining term of the chapter 13 plan. The tentative ruling is that Debtor must file such a motion in time to be self-calendared for hearing on the chapter 13 calendar on 2/21/19 at 8:30 a.m.

(2) Insurance

The force placed insurance appears to be for postpetition periods (and paid by Movant postpetition). Accordingly, it is a postpetition default, and a standard six month APO appears to be the appropriate remedy (with the usual cure period of 14 days after any default under the APO, and a maximum of three opportunities for any such cure). The tentative ruling is to direct Movant to prepare and lodge that APO within seven days after this hearing.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you

Tentative Ruling for 12/11/18:

At the hearing on 11/27/18 this Court was persuaded to continue this matter as Debtor appeared to contest the tentative ruling and inform the Court that the property is insured. Counsel for Movant informed the Court that a declaration re insurance coverage for past period was required.

Appearances required. There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address whether they have resolved their issues re insurance coverage.

Termination. Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1).

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) is also terminated, because it has not been shown to have any basis to exist independent of the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a). court's final ruling. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

More specifically, the tentative ruling is that (1) on the present record some form of relief from the automatic stay is required, including in rem relief, because Debtor appears to have been involved in a "scheme" to "hinder" or "delay" creditors within the meaning of 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(4), due to the filing of this case on 10/2/18, within a relatively short time after the dismissal on 6/5/18 of the bankruptcy case filed by Francisca Sanchez (2:18-bk-15538-WB); but (2) "relief" from the automatic stay does not necessarily mean "termination" of the stay, and could take the form of an adequate protection order ("APO") that (a) requires monthly payments and (b) provides in rem relief as follows:

If this order is duly recorded in compliance with applicable State laws governing notices of interests or liens in the property at issue, then no automatic stay shall apply to such property in any bankruptcy case purporting to affect such property and filed within two years after the date of entry of this order, unless otherwise ordered by the court presiding over that bankruptcy case.

For the avoidance of doubt, any acts by the movant to obtain exclusive possession of such property shall not be stayed. Any additional request for relief applicable to future bankruptcy cases is denied (e.g., any request to grant relief against third parties without any notice is denied) due to lack of sufficient factual or legal grounds presented in support of such relief.

In other words, if Debtor has the financial ability to cure the arrears and otherwise prosecute this bankruptcy case, then Debtor can do so under an adequate protection order; but Debtor must establish that she has the financial ability to do so. In addition, no future bankruptcy case will affect the property (subject to the limitations in 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(4)), so Debtor and any other person who asserts an interest in the property or who is a signatory to the loan documents cannot continue to file repeated bankruptcy cases simply to delay any foreclosure.

The grounds for such relief are that this Court has the power to grant relief in the form of modifying or conditioning the automatic stay, not just terminating it (11 U.S.C. 362(d)), and the foregoing relief appears to be appropriate in the present circumstances. See generally In re Vazquez, 580 B.R. 526 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2017) (even debtor who has excuses for hindering and delaying creditors can be subject to in rem relief); In re Bousheri (Case

Tentative Ruling for 3/26/19:

Appearances required. At the February 26, 2019 hearing, the Court was persuaded to continue this hearing for an adequate protection order. There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address (a) whether the alleged arrears have been brought current and/or (b) whether they will agree to the terms of an adequate protection order .

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 2/26/19:

stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Effective date of relief

Deny the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a) (3) for lack of sufficient cause shown.

Co-debtor stay

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) has not been shown to have any basis for any different treatment from the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a), so the tentative ruling is to grant the identical relief regarding any co-debtor stay.

(4) Authorizing Payment of Costs of Sale; and (5) Waiving the Fourteen Day

Docket 137

Tentative Ruling:

The tentative ruling to grant the Trustee's request (in the form of a notice, dkt. 140), joined in by the IRS (dkt. 144), and issue an amended or supplemental order providing that Mr. McDonnell's abstract of judgment not be paid out of the distribution of proceeds from the previously-approved sale of the subject property (dkt. 137, 146). Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

Proposed order: Subject to any changes to this tentative ruling, the Chapter 7 Trustee is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby adopting it as this Court's final ruling. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

Analysis

On the one hand, there are some considerations favoring Mr. McDonnell's position. On the other hand, the tentative ruling is that the considerations on the other side are of greater weight.

(1) Considerations favoring Mr. McDonnell's position

(a) Lack of good faith

Mr. McDonnell's opposition papers (dkt. 145, 147, 148) make a strong argument that Debtor lacked "good faith" when he sought to be protected by the automatic stay (11 U.S.C. 362(c)).

(b) Debtor's motion under section 362(c) probably sought relief under the wrong statutory provision

Chapter 7

Mr. McDonnell has presented evidence that Debtor had not one but two dismissed bankruptcy cases that were pending in the year before this case was filed (dkt. 148) - at least, assuming the "Willie Riley" in Case No. 16-52786-DM (Bankr. N.D. Cal.) is the same person as Debtor in this case. If so, then Debtor's motion (dkt. 11) sought relief under the wrong statutory provision, namely paragraph "(3)" instead of paragraph "(4)" of 11 U.S.C. 362(c).

(c) Trustee's change of position

Mr. McDonnell is correct that the Trustee has changed his position. Previously the Trustee favored making a distribution to Mr. McDonnell based on his abstract of judgment, and now the Trustee opposes any such distribution because the recording of the abstract was void as a violation of the automatic stay. See In re Gruntz, 202 F.3d 1074, 1082 (9th Cir. 2000) ("actions taken in violation of the automatic stay are void").

(d) Procedure

The Trustee's notice is not in the form of a motion to reconsider this Court's prior order (dkt. 137) under Rule 9023 or 9024 (Fed. R. Bankr. P.). That order contemplated distributions to Mr. McDonnell, so arguably a motion for reconsideration was required.

(2) Considerations disfavoring Mr. McDonnell's position

Mr. McDonnell is essentially seeking reconsideration of this Court's order (dkt. 21) imposing or continuing the automatic stay. Thereby he seeks to obtain a security interest that would provide him with a far greater recovery than most creditors.

As much as this Court is empathetic to the harm that Mr. McDonnell apparently endured, he is just one of many creditors who have been harmed, and who have been promised more than they will receive. Moreover, it appears that although McDonnell did not know the contents of the 362(c) order when it was issued, he knew that the 362(c) issues had been presented, and he could have sought reconsideration of that order before the Trustee invested the time and effort to sell the property, so his delay has prejudiced the Trustee and the estate. As to Mr. McDonnell's specific arguments:

(a) Lack of good faith

First, it is not a foregone conclusion that this Court would have found a lack of good faith if Mr. McDonnell's objections had been heard at the time when this Court held a hearing on Debtor's motion under 11 U.S.C. 362(c). Even a liar and a cheat can decide that the game is up and can file a bankruptcy petition in "good faith" within the meaning of that statute. In circumstances similar to those alleged by Mr. McDonnell this Court has found in the past that debtors have filed their petitions in good faith (they may have done so because the alternatives appear to be more detrimental to them; but that does not mean there is a lack of good faith).

Second, even if Mr. McDonnell had been able to establish that the petition had been filed without good faith, and even if Debtor's motion under section 362(c) had been denied, that is unlikely to have resulted in an enforceable security interest pursuant to any abstract of judgment. In that situation there would have been no automatic stay, so if Mr. McDonnell had recorded his abstract he would have obtained an advantage over other creditors, but then that probably would have led to dismissal of this case, followed by filing either a voluntary or involuntary bankruptcy petition commencing a new case, and then avoidance of the security interest obtained by Mr. McDonnell within 90 days prior to that new case as a preference. See, e.g., In re Hagen, 922 F.2d 742, 745 (11th Cir. 1991) ("the creation of a lien in favor of a previously unsecured creditor is a transfer for purposes of section 547").

(b) Possible request for relief under wrong statutory provision

If Mr. McDonnell had appeared at the hearing on Debtor's 362(c) motion and pointed out that relief was sought under the wrong statutory provision (paragraph "(3)" instead of "(4)"), Debtor could have amended his request. In any event, this Court's order (dkt. 21) granted relief under whichever paragraph was applicable.

(c) Trustee's change of position

Trustees are permitted (and sometimes required) to change their position. See, e.g., In re Mickey Thompson Entm't Group, Inc., 292 B.R. 415, 421 (9th Cir. BAP 2003) ("a trustee's fiduciary duty to maximize the assets of the estate trumps any contractual obligation that a trustee arguably may incur in the course of making an agreement that is not enforceable unless it is approved by the court") (citation omitted). In any event, Mr. McDonnell has not established any prejudice from the fact that it is Trustee, joined by the IRS, who is objecting, as opposed to just the IRS or just some other creditor.

Chapter 7

This Court's prior order authorizing the sale and distribution (dkt. 137) included notice and an opportunity for objections to the proposed distributions to Mr. McDonnell. So the tentative ruling is that it was not necessary for the Trustee to satisfy the standards under Rule 9023 or 9024, because it is consistent with this Court's intent in establishing a period for objections that Trustee himself could object (based on his further review of the situation). Alternatively, this Court can treat the Trustee's notice (dkt. 140) as a motion for reconsideration under those rules.

Alternatively, this Court can reconsider its own motions at any time and for any reason, or just "fresh thoughts." In re White Crane Trading Co., 170 B.R. 694, 700-01 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 1994).

For all of these reasons, any procedural concerns with the Trustee's request are not persuasive.

(3) Conclusion

From the facts alleged by Mr. McDonnell, he is justifiably frustrated with Debtor. But other creditors also are frustrated. Mr. McDonnell essentially is seeking reconsideration of this Court's order continuing or imposing the automatic stay (dkt. 21), so as to retroactively validate his abstract of judgment, so that he can be paid ahead of other creditors (and the Trustee). The tentative ruling is that he has not established a sufficient basis to do so.

Continue to 5/21/19 at 11:00 a.m., with a brief status report due by 5/7/19, in light of the parties' Joint Status Report (adv. dkt. 10). Appearances are not required on 3/26/19.

The following are Judge Bason's standard requirements for status conferences. (To the extent that the parties have already addressed these issues in their status report, they need not repeat their positions at the status conference.)

See generally In re AWTR Liquidation, Inc., 548 B.R. 300 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2016).

(2) Mediation. Is there is any reason why this Court should not order the parties to mediation before one of the volunteer mediators (not a Bankruptcy Judge), and meanwhile set the deadlines set forth below? The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 1/22/19 for the parties to lodge a proposed mediation order (the parties are directed to use the time between now and that deadline to find a mutually agreeable mediator whose schedule can accommodate the needs of this matter; and if the parties cannot even agree on a mediator they may lodge separate orders and Judge Bason will chose among them, or issue his own order).

(3) Deadlines: This adversary proceeding has been pending since 11/2/18. Pursuant to LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B), plaintiff is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the status conference, attaching a copy of this tentative ruling or otherwise memorializing the following.

In addition, add a deadline for the close of discovery from experts (depositions etc.) two weeks after their reports are due. Plaintiff is directed to lodge a proposed scheduling order containing these new deadlines, and to file and serve a notice of lodgment or else obtain the signature of Defendants' counsel approving the order as to form.

The court has reviewed the parties' joint status report (adv. dkt. 23) and the other filed documents and records in this adversary proceeding.

The plaintiff states (dkt. 23, p.2) that he requested entry of a default against defendants Andrae Perez and Accelerated Capital Group, Inc., but the Clerk of this Court has issued notices of non-entry of defaults (dkt. 15, 16). When will the plaintiff correct the deficiencies?

(1) Venue/jurisdiction/authority. Matters of venue, jurisdiction, and authority have been determined and/or waived or forfeited (adv. docket number(s) 23).

(2) Deadlines: This adversary proceeding has been pending since 11/21/17. Pursuant to LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B), plaintiff is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the status conference, attaching a copy of this tentative ruling or otherwise memorializing the following.

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

At the 3/6/18 hearing, this Court continued the matter to allow the parties time to meet and confer about the various deadlines that this court should set in this adversary proceeding and/or court-ordered mediation. This matter was further continued to today's date for the parties to participate in mediation on or about 5/21/18 (see Order, adv. dkt. 21). This Court also directed the parties to file a status report by 5/29/18, but the parties have not done so--for a second time.

There is no tentative ruling, but the parties are directed to address why they have not filed a status report, and to provide an oral status report, and are cautioned that continued failure to adhere to the applicable rules and orders of this Court may result in sanctions.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." At the status conference on 1/23/18 there was no appearance for the plaintiff, and this Court was persuaded that it was premature to adopt the deadlines stated in the tentative ruling for that status conference (reproduced below). Tentative Ruling for 1/23/18:

Appearances required. The court has reviewed the parties' filed documents and records in this adversary proceeding. The parties must address why they failed to file the required status report, and also the following issues. The following are Judge Bason's standard requirements for status conferences.

(1) Venue/jurisdiction/authority. The parties are directed to address any outstanding matters of (a) venue, (b) jurisdiction, (c) this court's authority to enter final orders or judgment(s) in this proceeding and, if consent is required, whether the parties do consent, or have already expressly or impliedly consented. See *generally Stern v. BAP 2013) (rebuttable presumption that failure to challenge authority to issue final order is intentional and indicates consent); In re Deitz, 760 F.3d 1028 (9th Cir. 2014) (authority to adjudicate nondischargeability encompasses authority to liquidate debt and enter final judgment). The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 2/6/18 for the parties to lodge a proposed mediation order (the parties are directed to use the time between now and that deadline to find a mutually agreeable mediator whose schedule can accommodate the needs of this matter; and if the parties cannot even agree on a mediator they may lodge separate orders and Judge Bason will chose among them, or issue his own order).

(3) Deadlines/dates: This adversary proceeding has been pending since 11/21/17. The tentative ruling is to set the following deadlines/dates. Pursuant to LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B), plaintiff is directed to serve and lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the status conference, attaching a copy of this tentative ruling or otherwise memorializing the following.

Tentative Ruling for 10/16/18:

Appearances required. There is no tentative ruling but the parties should be prepared to address the following issues.

(1) Background

Plaintiff filed a motion (adv. dkt. 14) for summary judgment on his first claim for relief (constructively fraudulent transfer) and the second claim for relief (declaratory relief that the purported trust is ineffective to prevent creditors from reaching the assets) in his complaint (adv. dkt. 1). This Court issued an order (adv. dkt. 31) denying summary judgment on the first claim but granting it on the second, for the reasons stated therein - principally the reasons in the Revised Tentative Ruling for 3/20/18 (reproduced below).

Defendants appealed. The District Court dismissed the appeal as interlocutory. See adv. dkt. 52, 53. The parties' joint status report states (adv. dkt. 54, p.4, sec.G) that they have executed but not filed a stipulation "that the dismissed appeal can be re-filed as an interlocutory appeal but on the condition that the trial proceed on the remaining fraudulent transfer claim for relief."

Chapter 7

(2) Current issues

It is not clear what the parties intend, or what procedural steps this Court should take. Whatever is in the parties' unfiled stipulation presumably will not bind the District Court (or any other court hearing the appeal) in deciding whether to grant leave to appeal this Court's interlocutory ruling, so what do the parties hope to accomplish with their stipulation? Moreover, the parties' stated intention to proceed simultaneously in both this Bankruptcy Court and the District Court usually is not possible because an appeal generally deprives this court of jurisdiction. Cf. Rule 54(b) (Fed. R. Civ. P., incorporated by Rule 7054, Fed. R. Bankr. P.), and compare Rule 8008 (Fed. R. Bankr. P.). To the extent, if any, that this Court has discretion to grant any relief that would make such dual-tracking possible, is that an appropriate use of judicial resources? On a separate issue, if the plaintiff intends to proceed with the first claim for relief, does the plaintiff plan to amend the complaint to cure the deficiencies in that claim (constructively fraudulent transfer) noted in the tentative ruling for 3/20/18?

The tentative ruling is to continue this status conference to 11/6/18 at 11:00 a.m. with a deadline of 10/23/18 for the parties to file and serve whatever papers they deem appropriate to address the foregoing issues and any other relevant issues at this stage of these proceedings.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 8/14/18:

Tentative Ruling for 4/17/18:

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures"). There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should apprise this court about the status of any appeals or other matters (see dkt. 31, order granting in part plaintiff's motion for summary judgment, and dkt. 35, notice of appeal). The tentative ruling is to set a continued status conference for 7/17/18 at 11:00 a.m., with a brief status report due 7/6/18.

Chapter 7

(1) Motion for summary judgment (adv. dkt. 14-18, the "MSJ"); opposition papers (adv. dkt. 22-25); and reply papers (adv. dkt. 26-27). The tentative ruling is to deny in part and grant in part the MSJ, as set forth below.

(a) Legal standards. The legal standards governing motions for summary judgment are well known, do not appear to be disputed by the parties, and need not be repeated in this tentative ruling.

(b) First claim for relief (fraudulent transfer). Although the complaint (adv. dkt.1) asserts fraudulent transfer claims under both California law and the Bankruptcy Code, the MSJ limits this to 11 U.S.C. 548. The MSJ also asserts only constructive, not actual, fraud. See adv. dkt. 14, pp.2:21-3:1.

The complaint alleges less than reasonably equivalent value (11 U.S.C. 548(a)(1)(B)(i)) - namely, transfers by the debtors/defendants for no value from the debtors and/or their revocable trusts (the assets of which apparently could be reached by creditors) to irrevocable trusts. But to establish the elements of a constructively fraudulent transfer the plaintiff must also establish one of three types of insolvency (commonly referred to as "balance sheet," "inadequate capital," or "cash flow" insolvency) or else a transfer to an insider under an "employment contract." See 11 U.S.C. 548(a)(1)(B)(ii)(I)-(IV). There is no allegation about any employment contract, so the plaintiff must establish some type of insolvency.

The MSJ refers to balance sheet insolvency (11 U.S.C. 101(32A)). But the complaint never alleges that type of insolvency, so the plaintiff cannot be granted partial summary judgment as to that element (11 U.S.C. 548(a)(1)(B)(ii)(I)).

The complaint alleges inadequate capital and inadequate cash flow (in language that roughly parallels 11 U.S.C. 548(a)(1)(B)(ii)(II)&(III)). But the MSJ extrapolates that those types of insolvency could be presumed based on the bankruptcy schedules many months after the transfer, and from the sheer number of lawsuits and eventual judgments against the defendants and other circumstantial evidence. Those things might (or might not) be persuasive at trial, but they are insufficient to establish a lack of genuine issue of fact.

(c) Second claim for relief (declaratory relief related to nature of the trusts). The complaint (adv. dkt. 1, para. 23) seeks a declaratory judgment (i) that the debtors/defendants are "beneficiaries" of the trusts within the meaning of California Probate Code 15304, (ii) that the benefits the debtors/defendants receive from the trusts are "property of the estate" under 11 U.S.C. 541, and (iii) that the trusts qualify as "self-settled trusts" under California law, which the MSJ uses as shorthand for a trust the assets of which are reachable by creditors.

Various provisions of the Bankruptcy Code define what property is part of the bankruptcy estate:

The bankruptcy estate includes "all legal or equitable interests of the debtor in property as of the commencement of the case." 11 U.S.C. § 541(a)(1). It does not include, however, "any power that the debtor may exercise solely for the benefit of another," 11 U.S.C. § 541(b)(1), nor does it include "[p]roperty in which the debtor holds ... only legal title and not an equitable interest." 11 U.S.C. § 541(d). Similarly, the estate does not include property containing "[a] restriction on the transfer of a beneficial interest of the debtor in a trust that is enforceable under applicable nonbankruptcy law." 11 U.S.C. § 541(c)(2). [In re Cutter, 398 B.R. 6, 18-19 (9th Cir. BAP 2008).]

Under California law:

(a) If the settlor is a beneficiary of a trust created by the settlor and the settlor's interest is subject to a provision restraining the voluntary or involuntary transfer of the settlor's interest, the restraint is invalid against transferees or creditors of the settlor. The invalidity of the restraint on transfer does not affect the validity of the trust.

(b) If the settlor is the beneficiary of a trust created by the settlor and the trust instrument provides that the trustee shall pay income or principal or both for the education or support of the beneficiary or gives the trustee discretion to determine the amount of income or principal or both to be paid to or for the benefit of the settlor, a transferee or creditor of the settlor may reach the maximum amount that the trustee could pay to or for the benefit of the settlor under the trust instrument, not exceeding the amount of the settlor's proportionate contribution to the trust. [California Probate Code 15304]

The California Supreme Court has held that to the extent that the settlor of a trust is also a beneficiary, creditors can reach the property held by the trust:

Chapter 7

It is against public policy to permit a man to tie up his property in such a way that he can enjoy it but prevent his creditors from reaching it, and where the settlor makes himself a beneficiary of a trust any restraints in the instrument on the involuntary alienation of his interest are invalid and ineffective. Since [the settlor] was the sole beneficiary, all the property in the trust is subject to the claims of his creditors. [Nelson v. Cal. Trust Co., 33 Cal.2d 501, 501-02 (1949) (emphasis added)]

These principles have been more recently reaffirmed in a decision of the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals:

[U]nder California law, a settlor of a spendthrift trust cannot also act as beneficiary of that trust (i.e., California law prohibits "self-settled" trusts). See Cal. Prob.Code § 15304(a) (West 1987). California law voids self-settled trusts to prevent individuals from placing their property beyond the reach of their creditors while at the same time still reaping the bounties of such property. See Nelson v. California Trust Co., 33 Cal.2d 501, 202 P.2d 1021, 1021 (Cal. 1949). [In re Moses, 167 F.3d 470, 473 (9th Cir. 1999)]

In addition, the MSJ cites authority that if beneficiaries exercise "excessive" control over a trust then under California law they cannot "shield that trust with an anti-alienation provision lacking true substance." In re Moses, 167 F.3d 470, 473 (9th Cir. 1999) (citation omitted) (emphasis added). See also In re Cutter, 398 B.R. 6, 22 (9th Cir. BAP 2008). MSJ (adv. dkt. 14, p.10:1-14).

The debtors argue that their situation is different from that in Cutter because "the Debtor in Cutter could potentially use all the Trust's principal and income to maintain his standard of living, without limitation" whereas "[t] here is no such provision" in the debtors' trusts. Dkt. 22, p.3:22-26 (italics added to case name). That distinction of Cutter (and the other authorities cited above) is unpersuasive.

The MSJ points to the following facts in support of its argument that (i) the debtors are also beneficiaries and (ii) the anti-alienation provisions of the trust lack "true substance." The debtor/defendants do not raise any genuine contrary issues of fact.

(i) The debtors deducted mortgage interest and real estate taxes on their 2015 tax returns. See dkt. 18, p.4:5-9 (and evidence cited therein).

(ii) During the "initial period" of the trusts (the earlier of the grantors' deaths or 16 years) the debtors can continue to live in the property rent-free. See Dkt. 18, p.4:10-15 (and evidence cited therein).

(iii) During that same period, any net income or excess cash is distributed to the debtors. See Dkt. 18, p.4:16-21 (and evidence cited therein).

(iv) The debtors can manage the property as "absolute owners." See Dkt. 18, p.4:22-28 (and evidence cited therein).

(v) The debtors can loan money to themselves and/or use the property to secure loans to themselves. See Dkt. 18, p.5:2-7 (and evidence cited therein).

(vi) During their lifetime, the debtors can make discretionary distributions to their children, and upon their deaths the trust assets are to be distributed to their children. See Dkt. 18, p.5:8-12 (and evidence cited therein).

Based on the foregoing, it appears that the debtors are indeed beneficiaries of the trusts to a large extent, and moreover the anti-alienation provisions of the trust lack "true substance" as that term has been used in the cited authorities. Accordingly, the tentative ruling is to grant the MSJ on the second claim for relief.

(2) Deadlines: This adversary proceeding has been pending since 9/26/17. The applicable deadlines are reflected in this court's orders (adv. dkt. 7, 20). Tentative Ruling for 12/5/17:

Appearances required. The court has reviewed the parties' joint status report (dkt. 5) and the other filed documents and records in this adversary proceeding.

(1) Venue/jurisdiction/authority.

The parties are directed to address any outstanding matters of (a) venue, (b) jurisdiction, (c) this court's authority to enter final orders or judgment(s) in this proceeding and, if consent is required, whether the parties do consent, or have already expressly or impliedly consented. See generally In re AWTR Liquidation, Inc., 548 B.R. 300 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2016).

This court recognizes that, at least at this stage, the attorney who filed the answer (dkt. 4) for both trustees of the trust has also executed the Status Report (dkt. 5) on behalf of one of the defendant trustees (the debtor/defendant) asserting that neither of them can consent to this Bankruptcy Court entering a final judgment because third party beneficiaries of the trust allegedly have a right to have their rights litigated "outside of this venue." Counsel for the answering defendants should be prepared (a) to explain whether this is a Stern objection or something else and (b) whether both answering defendants or only one of them takes this position, and if the former, why he did not execute the status report on behalf of both of them.

Counsel for the plaintiff should be prepared to address whether the plaintiff contends that there are no additional parties who need to be joined, and why.

(2) Mediation. The plaintiff suggests in the Status Report (adv. dkt. 5) that mediation, if any, should not be ordered before dispositive motion(s) are heard, which the plaintiff anticipates will be by 3/1/18. The tentative ruling is to revisit the issue of mediation after that date.

(3) Deadlines: This adversary proceeding has been pending since 9/26/17. Pursuant to LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B), plaintiff is directed to serve and lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the status conference, attaching a copy of this tentative ruling or otherwise memorializing the following.

Tentative Ruling for 3/12/19:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor.

(1) Current issues

(a) Motion to use prepetition bank accounts (dkt. 12)

Grant on a final basis, on the same terms as the interim order (dkt. 55).

(b) Utility motion (dkt. 25)

Grant on a final basis, on the same terms as the interim order (dkt. 54).

(c) Cash collateral motion (dkt. 13)

Grant on a final basis, on the same terms as the interim order (dkt. 71), except that after review of the parties' briefs (dkt. 76, 78) and the other documents and records before this Court, the tentative ruling is as follows:

(i) Real estate: Continue Cathay Bank's replacement lien on all of Debtor's real properties (subject to adjustment as set forth below).

(ii) Books and records: Grant access to Debtor's historical books and records, and all documents used to create the cash collateral budget and the chart summarizing collateral values, with such access starting on 3/18/19, for Cathay Bank's forensic accountant, James Crossland, to inspect and copy (including copying hard drives), during normal business hours. Such access must be subject to whatever Non-Disclosure Agreement, redaction, or other safeguards as may be necessary or appropriate to protect employees' privacy, attorney-client communications, Debtor's trade secrets, etc. The parties are directed to meet and confer on those issues, and the parties are also directed to review the posted Procedures of Judge Bason (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) regarding discovery disputes.

(iii) Reporting: Require Debtor to file and serve reconciliations, 10 days in arrears on Wednesday of each week (i.e., covering the week that ended 10 days prior), comparing actual results with budgeted results, and calculating variances against budgeted and actual receipts and expenditures.

(iv) CDs: The tentative ruling is that Cathay Bank need not apply any CDs to the extent that they are collateral for standby letters of credit for any liability to workers' compensation insurers. But the parties are directed to address whether there are any other CDs at issue, and why, as a condition for the other adequate protection being granted to Cathay Bank, it should not be required to apply such other CDs against the loans for which they are collateral, so as to stop accruing interest or other charges adverse to Debtor and the bankruptcy estate.

The tentative ruling is to deny Cathay Bank's request for additional adequate protection in the form of monthly payments of interest. Debtor is liquidating much of its business, which creates a situation in which both assets and cash flow are somewhat uncertain. That uncertainty favors granting the Bank the additional adequate protection set forth above; but it also means that Debtor may have urgent needs to use cash for legitimate purposes other than interest payments to the Bank.

The tentative ruling is that all of the foregoing is subject to being revisited as the facts and circumstances develop. For example, if Debtor turns out to have success in collecting the proportion of accounts receivable that it predicts, it might be appropriate to find that Cathay Bank is adequately protected by a lien on less than all of Debtor's remaining real estate. Likewise, if Debtor pays down some of its debt to Cathay Bank through sales of some real property, that might reduce the need for the replacement liens to be as extensive as contemplated by this tentative ruling.

Conversely, if Debtor's accounts receivable appear to be less valuable than predicted by Debtor then Cathay Bank might need every bit of the replacement liens in Debtor's real property and all other assets (except avoidance actions etc.). Ironically, the more dire Debtor's finances, and the greater the risk of administrative insolvency, the stronger the argument that even if the Bank were free to foreclose it would have to pay someone to liquidate Debtor's assets in an orderly fashion (11 U.S.C. 506(c)), and in any event the "equities of the case" might warrant a carve-out for professionals (11 U.S.C. 552(b)). But those are issues that can be addressed when and if there is any need to do so.

The tentative ruling regarding Cathay Bank's evidentiary objections and due process objections (dkt. 78) is that, if this Court adopts the foregoing tentative ruling (granting replacement liens in essentially all of Debtor's assets), then those objections should be overruled because (x) Cathay Bank cannot be granted a replacement lien in greater than "all" of Debtor's assets, so to a large extent the value of those assets is irrelevant, and (y) whatever weaknesses may exist in Debtor's valuation evidence, there is enough to establish on a prima facie basis a reasonable probability that Cathay Bank is sufficiently over-secured to provide it with a substantial equity cushion, which is one form of adequate protection, and that is sufficient for present purposes.

As for the alleged costs of selling property subject to Cathay Bank's replacement liens, this Court can assess for each proposed sale whether Debtor's proposed use of the proceeds is consistent with adequate protection, and whether Cathay Bank is unreasonably withholding its consent under 11 U.S.C. 363(f)(2). In addition, all parties in interest are directed to the posted Procedures of Judge Bason (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) regarding 363 sales.

(d) Motion to reject collective bargaining agreements (dkt. 62) (the "1113 Motion")

Debtor seeks relief without a hearing, on 14 days' notice (so called "negative notice," or a "scream or die procedure"). But it appears that an actual hearing is required, and must be held quickly, under 11 U.S.C. 1113(d) (1) ("Upon the filing of an application for rejection the court shall schedule a hearing to be held not later than fourteen days after the date of the filing of such application," although "[t]he court may extend the time for the commencement of such hearing for a period not exceeding seven days where the circumstances of the case, and the interest of justice require such extension, or for additional periods of time to which the trustee and [employee's] representative agree.").

The 1113 Motion was filed on 3/1/19. The tentative ruling is to find that granting a short extension is warranted, based on the apparent lack of prejudice from doing so, and that a hearing should be held either on 3/21/19 at 1:00 p.m. or, if the representatives of the various employee groups will consent, concurrent with the continued status conference (see below). Debtor is directed to address what efforts have been made to obtain the consent of any representative who is not present at the hearing. The tentative ruling is that Debtor must file and serve notice of the hearing date on all representatives (and other parties requiring notice) no later than 3/13/19.

Proposed orders: Debtor is directed to lodge proposed orders on each of the foregoing motions via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 2/20/19.

(a) Bar date: TBD

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: TBD

(c) Continued status conference: 3/26/19 at 1:00 p.m., status report due 3/12/19 (see dkt. 4). In addition, if it is necessary before that time to hold a hearing on the 1113 Motion, the status conference will also be held concurrent with that hearing.

*Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 2/28/19:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor and by the debtor(s) themselves.

The tentative ruling, subject to any oppositions at the hearing (pursuant to the orders shortening time) is to grant the following relief and to find that, to the extent relief is granted pursuant to Rules 4001(b)(2) and 6003 (Fed. R. Bankr. P.), such relief is necessary avoid immediate and irreparable harm to the estate.

(1) Current issues

(a) Motion to limit notice (dkt. 8)

Grant in substantial part, subject to certain modifications to be addressed at the hearing. Among other things, this Court anticipates that, because the motion was not served on the entire creditor matrix, any party who was not served may seek reconsideration without meeting the usual standards under Rules 9023, 9024 or 52(b) (Fed. R. Bankr. P. & Fed. R. Civ. P., incorporated by Rules 7052 and 9014(c)).

(b) Motion to extend time (dkt. 9)

Grant, with a caution that this Court is unlikely to grant further extensions.

(c) Payroll motion (dkt. 14)

Grant, except to the extent that the proposed payments in Exhibit 1 (dkt. 14, Ex.1) exceed the priority maximum provided in 11 U.S.C. 507(a)(4) and, if applicable, 507(a)(5).

(d) Motion to use prepetition bank accounts (dkt. 12)

Grant, subject to sufficient safeguards (i) to ensure accurate accounting including separation of pre- and postpetition accounting and (ii) to prevent inadvertent payment of prepetition obligations. Debtor is directed to work closely with the Office of the United States Trustee to develop and implement such procedures.

(e) Cash collateral motion (dkt. 13)

Grant in part and deny in part on an interim basis, as set forth in calendar no. 5 (2/28/19 at 10:00 a.m.).

(f) Motion to reject unexpired leases (dkt. 24)

Grant, except that Debtor seeks rejection effective as of 2/20/19 and, although there is some authority for retroactive rejection (see, e.g., In re At Home Corp., 392 F.3d 1064 (9th Cir. 2004)), Debtor has not addressed the types of considerations that would determine whether retroactive rejection is appropriate (e.g., were the premises vacated as of 2/20/19? when were the landlords given notice that the premises would be or were vacant? were the premises left in "broom clean" condition?). Debtor is directed to address those issues at the hearing.

(g) Utility motion (dkt. 25)

Grant on an interim basis, subject to any opposition at the hearing, with a final hearing to take place at the same time as the continued status conference (see below) and a deadline of 3/1/19 for Debtor to file and serve a notice of the final hearing.

Proposed orders: Debtor is directed to lodge proposed orders on each of the foregoing motions via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

#6.00 Cont'd Status Conference re: Chapter 11 Case
fr. 01/08/19, 1/15/19, 1/29/19, 2/26/19

Docket 5

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 3/26/19:

Appearances required for the status conference, but not for the abandonment motion. Telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues

(a) Dismissal or conversion

Debtor's fourth status report alleges (dkt. 62, p.2:10) that a "363 motion, supported with a stalking horse bid, will be submitted to the court" at some unspecified future date. This Court and parties in interest have heard that hope before, but it appears highly unlikely that Debtor will receive a bid that will exceeding the losses that are accruing meanwhile.

Debtor's situation appears to be getting steadily worse, both on a cash basis and in terms of accrued liabilities for postpetition real property rent, equipment leasing, etc. See MOR for Jan. 2019 (dkt. 57) (small positive cash flow, but $48,522.19 in postpetition payables as against $6,281.31 receivables) and MOR for Feb. 2019 (dkt. 63) lines 22-25 (net cash flow of ($1765.14) and increase in payables to $96,380.19 - almost double the prior month - as against $6,281.31 receivables - unchanged).

The tentative ruling is to dismiss this case and let Debtor and its secured creditors/equipment lessors make whatever arrangements they see fit for disposing of the collateral/leased equipment. (Office of the United States Trustee to lodge proposed order.)

(b) Motion to Compel Abandonment of Property (dkt. 59)

Grant. (Movant Shmashssma, LLC to lodge proposed order.)

Appearances required.

(1) Current issues.

Debtor's status report (dkt. 55) reports some alleged progress in exploring either sale(s) of assets or sale of the business or both. What is the timeline? What assurances do creditors have that debtor's uncertainty on these issues (two months into this case) will not deplete rather than enhance any potential recoveries?
