#9.00 Cont'd Status Conference re: Chapter 11 Case
fr. 3/3/20

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Revised Tentative Ruling for 3/31/20:

Appearances are not required on 3/31/20. If you wish to dispute the tentative ruling you must notify opposing counsel of your intent to appear telephonically.

Pursuant to Judge Bason's COVID19 Procedures, telephonic appearances are REQUIRED until further notice. Please contact CourtCall at (888) 882-6878 to make arrangements for any telephonic appearance. There is no need to contact the Court for permission. Parties who are not represented by an attorney will be able to use CourtCall for free through 4/30/20. Attorneys will receive a 25% discount (for more information, see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.," "Telephonic Instructions").

(1) Current issues

(a) Budget motion(s)

Debtor Anthony Chan's status report (dkt. 39) states that a budget motion is forthcoming, but as of the preparation of this tentative ruling no motion is on file for any of the jointly administered Debtors. Judge Bason's posted procedures (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) Section VII.G provide that budget motions are mandatory in all chapter 11 cases.

The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 4/7/20 to file and serve budget motion(s) for all Debtors who currently have or anticipate any cash flow, with a hearing set on shortened time concurrent with the continued status conference (see part "(2)" of this tentative ruling, below), oppositions due 4/14/20, and replies at the hearing.

(b) Monthly operating reports ("MORs")

Debtor Anthony Chan's February MOR reflects only a single deposit of $2,634.57 for a period covering 2/7/20 - 2/29/20. Is Debtor not paying his debts as they come due? How is Debtor paying ordinary and necessary expenses such as for groceries, transportation, or his mortgage?

Debtor A Touch of Brass, Inc.'s February MOR (Case No. 2:20-bk-11555-NB, dkt. 68, p.11) appears to show a negative balance in Debtor's general account (id., p.1) and reveals that Debtor has not made postpetition payments to "CNC Associates" or "Toyota Financial Services" in an amount totaling $26,018.86. What is Debtor's financial viability, what is the nature of the missed postpetition payments, and how does its inability to pay these debts impact its ability to reorganize? Why is Debtor mailing its MOR to all creditors (presumably at the estate's expense)?

The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 4/7/20 for Debtor to file (not serve) amended February MORs and/or delcaration(s) that address these issues.

(c) Order assigning matter to mediation

Debtor's status report states that the jointly administered debtors and Elegant scheduled a mediation for 4/7/20, but anticipate seeking to extend that date by 45 days (dkt. 39). The tentative ruling is to grant that extension, or any extension of approximately that duration if stipulated to by the parties.

Meanwhile, however, at the last status conference this Court set a deadline of 3/17/20 for Debtor to lodge a proposed order assigning the matter to mediation. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no order has been lodged.

The tentative ruling is to excuse that omission, on a one-time basis, but to direct Debtors and all other parties that they must lodge proposed mediation order(s) no later than 4/7/20 or else face possible sanctions or other remedies for noncompliance.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 2/7/20.

(a) Bar date: 5/5/20 (dkt. 26; timely served, dkt. 27)

(b) Procedures order: dkt.3 (timely served, dkt. 5)

(c) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: TBD

(d) Continued status conference: 4/21/20 at 1:00 p.m. No written status report required.

This Court anticipates posting a tentative ruling at a later time.

Tentative Ruling for 3/3/20:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor and by the debtor(s) themselves.

(1) Current issues

(a) Lack of activity on the docket

This case was filed on 2/7/20 and as of the preparation of this tentative ruling there is very little activity on the docket. There are no "first day" motions such as the cash collateral motion, a budget motion, and the application to employ counsel that Debtor anticipated filing (see Status Report, dkt.18, p.3). Apparently Debtor has either been using cash without authority, or failing to use cash for ordinary and necessary expenses, both of which are bad.

What assurances can Debtor and Debtor's counsel provide parties in interest and this Court that this case will be adequately prosecuted?

(b) Debtor's ex parte motion for joint administration (dkt. 19); oppositions by Le Elegant Bath, Inc. ("Elegant") (dkt. 23) and United States
Trustee ("UST") (dkt.27)

Debtor filed an ex parte request for this Court to jointly administer his case with two related cases: A Touch of Brass ("Brass") (2:20-bk-11555-NB) and AC YU Chan Holdings LLC ("Holdings") (2:20-bk-11476-NB). Elegant opposes joint administration to the extent Debtor seeks relief greater than consolidating filings onto one docket and the UST similarly objects to any financial reporting that does not keep the estates separate, as well as any consolidated billing for professional fees and costs. The parties are directed to address whether this Court should set this matter for hearing or, alternatively, grant joint administration but without combining any financial reporting or professional billing.

(c) Mediation

The tentative ruling is to order Debtor, Elegant, and related debtors Brass and Holdings to mediation before one of the volunteer mediators (not a Bankruptcy Judge) and set a deadline of 3/17/20 for Debtor to lodge a proposed mediation order (the parties are directed to use the time between now and that deadline to find a mutually agreeable mediator whose schedule can accommodate the needs of this matter; and if the parties cannot even agree on a mediator they may lodge separate orders and Judge Bason will chose among them, or issue his own order).

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 2/7/20.

(a) Bar date: 5/5/20 (DO NOT SERVE notice yet - court will prepare an order after the status conference).

(b) Procedures order: dkt.3 (timely served, dkt. 5)

(d) Continued status conference: 3/31/20 at 1:00 p.m., brief status report due 3/17/20.

lack of truthfulness, and delay. The tentative ruling is that those things are part of the totality of the circumstances that this Court may consider in various possible future contexts, but that for present purposes they are not sufficient to warrant denial of further interim relief regarding the use of cash collateral.

Grant on a further interim basis, on the same conditions set forth in the first interim order authorizing debtor's use of cash collateral (dkt. 37), with the requested 15% variances (dkt.49, p.2:4-8), through the conclusion of a continued hearing commencing on 6/2/20 at 1:00 p.m. The last two days of this period extend beyond Debtor's proposed cash collateral budget (dkt.11, Ex.2, at PDF pp.50-58), so the tentative ruling is to authorize expenditures for the week of 5/31/20 through 6/6/20 identical to the authorized expenditures covering the first day of the previous month (4/26/20 through 5/2/20). Id. at PDF pp.55-56.

(1) Current issues

(a) Continued hearing on interim collateral motion (dkt. 51) and stipulation (dkt.61, Ex.A), Debtor's supplemental decl (dkt. 88), interim orders authorizing use of cash collateral (dkt. 80, 100, 113), Hanmi's supplemental statement (dkt. 104)

There is no tentative ruling. The parties should be prepared to address whether Hanmi will consent to further use of its cash collateral.

(b) Untimely status report

At the last hearing, this Court set a 3/20/20 deadline for Debtor to file a status report. Debtor did not file its status report until 3/25/20 and did not provide any explanation for the delay (dkt. 117).

This Court presumes that the delay might have been caused by early disruptions attributable to the very unfortunate COVID-19 situation. That situation cuts both ways. On the one hand, the present situation might be a valid excuse for Debtor being late. On the other hand, it is all the more

(1) Current issues

Despite repeated inquiries from this Court, the docket does not appear to reflect adequate prosecution of this case. To the contrary, the docket and records of this Court appear to reflect considerable mismanagement, lack of disclosure, and other problems set forth below.

(a) Rental income, and disposition or use of various properties

At the hearing on 2/18/20 Debtor belatedly clarified that the second cash collateral motion (dkt.55) was meant to amend the first such motion, and that only one property currently is generating rents - the 69th Way property - although perhaps a second property generates some rents that are not anyone's cash collateral (as noted below). As for Debtor's properties other than 69th Way, Debtor apparently intends to sell the Shadow Ln. property (dkt.89), and it is unclear what Debtor intends to do with the 68th Way property, the Anderson St. property, and the 132d St. property, which appear to be generating minimal if any rental income. See, e.g., Status Report (dkt.69) (listing properties, but not addressing Debtor's intent regarding any of them).

The latest MOR (#4, for Feb. 2020) is unclear about which rental account relates to which property. But it appears that, apart from 69th Way, only one other property has an ending balance above $0, and that is minimal (this unspecified property is the other one that appears to generate some rent, that apparently is not anyone's cash collateral, although that is unclear). See dkt.85, p.18.

In addition, it appears that Debtor's actual rent rolls might differ from what has been disclosed to date. See dkt.86, p.5:11-15, and supporting decl.

With this background, this Court's primary concern is why the docket does not reflect steps to surrender, rent, sell, rehabilitate, or otherwise deal with Debtor's properties (other than Shadow Ln.)? This Court's secondary concern is to obtain much more complete and clear information and explanations regarding Debtor's various properties.

Debtor's lack of disclosure to date only encourages this Court to impose more comprehensive disclosure requirements, or possibly other remedies. If Debtor remains a debtor in possession (see part "(1)(e)" of this tentative ruling, below) the tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 4/7/20 for Debtor to file and serve on Aztec and the United States Trustee ("UST") a declaration specifying:

- (i) exactly what is the current condition of each property;
- (ii) how much each apartment or room in that property (a "Unit") has been rented for at all prepetition times back to 1/1/17;
- (iii) how much each Unit has been rented for at all postpetition times, and whether each Unit has been used or occupied by any relative or other affiliate of Debtor at any times postpetition;
- (iv) Debtor's projections for each Unit, including the timing and dollar amount of all future rents;
- (v) Debtor's proposed disposition of each property;
- (vi) all steps that Debtor has taken since the commencement of this case to accomplish that disposition; and
- (vii) the projected timeline for such disposition.

(b) Debtor's amended cash collateral motion (dkt. 55), opposition of Rehabbers Financial, Inc. dba Aztec Financial ("Aztec") (dkt. 70, 86 & 88), and Debtor's reply (dkt. 90)

Aztec values the property at $860,000 "as is" as of 2/23/20. Dkt. 88, p.2:2-3, dkt.91. Debtor requests time to obtain a competing appraisal. Dkt. 90, p.2:13. Why did Debtor not do this already?

If there is a satisfactory answer, and if Debtor remains a debtor in possession (see part "(1)(e)" of this tentative ruling, below), the tentative ruling is to grant the cash collateral motion on a further interim basis, on the same terms as this Court's previous interim order (dkt. 80), and to set a continued hearing for the same date and time as the continued status conference as set forth below with a deadline of 4/25/20 for Debtor's appraisal to be filed and served on Aztec.

At the continued hearing the parties should address how they propose to resolve their dispute regarding the value of the property - e.g., (i) with an evidentiary hearing; (ii) with a ruling of this Court based solely on the written record (to save costs, if all parties consent), (iii) through mediation, or (iv) through appointment of an appraiser (jointly selected by the parties/their appraisers) as this Court's own expert under FRE 706.

(c) February MOR (dkt. 85)

(i) Insurance

This MOR (dkt. 85, p.17) shows general liability insurance is due to expire/only paid through 1/25/20. Has that insurance been extended?

This is the same problem that occurred and has been pointed out before. Why is this problem continuing?

This Court fully understands that the insurance is month-to-month, according to Debtor's counsel. But that is no excuse. By the due date of each MOR is should be apparent whether the insurance has or has not been continued, so why do the MORs continue to suggest - apparently inaccurately - that the insurance has expired? Alternatively, if the insurance really has expired, what consequence should follow?

Even if Debtor is (barely) current on insurance, this Court questions whether there is a danger every month that the insurance will expire, if the insurance is only month-to-month. How is Aztec, the bankruptcy estate, or the public adequately protected?

If Debtor remains a debtor in possession (see part "(1)(e)" of this tentative ruling, below), the tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 4/7/20 for Debtor to file, and serve on Aztec and the UST, a declaration fully addressing the foregoing insurance issues.

(ii) No blocked account

Aztec's supplemental opposition (dkt. 86, p.9:1-9) states that Debtor's MOR appears to reflect that there is no separate blocked account for Aztec's cash collateral, as was required by this Court's interim order (see dkt. 80, p.3). The rental DIP account ending in 2707 appears to be related to Aztec's property based on the $5,390.00 of receipts for February (dkt. 85, p.5), and Debtor's representation at the last hearing that the 69th Way property is the only property generating rents at this time. Debtor's reply states that he has complied with this Court's order "by setting aside one of debtor in possession accounts as an escrow account for the remaining portion of the rents." Dkt. 90, 4:1-2.

One problem, as noted above, is that it is not clear which account Debtor is referring to (the one ending in 2707?). Another problem is that the MOR appears to show rental income going into that account but does not appear to show payments of "real estate taxes," "utilities," and "essential repairs" out of that account (only insurance appears to have been paid out of that account). See dkt.85, p.6. It appears that utilities, for example, have been paid from the general account. See dkt.85, pp.1-3. This creates a falsely inflated balance in that account.

More importantly, Debtor appears to misunderstand the nature of a "blocked account." In common usage, and as used by this Court, it means an account from which funds cannot be released without either (i) consent of the other party asserting an interest in the account (Aztec) or (ii) an order of this Court. See, e.g., In re Estrada, 224 B.R. 132, 134 (Bankr. S.D. Cal. 1988) (referring to a "blocked account, requiring both the [chapter 7] trustee's and the Debtor's signature for any disbursements").

If Debtor remains a debtor in possession (see part "(1)(e)" of this tentative ruling, below) then, no later than 4/7/20, Debtor is directed to accomplish all of the following:

(A) coordinate with Aztec and Debtor's bank to determine the mechanics of how checks will be signed by both Debtor and Aztec so as to pay utilities etc. (or whether automatic payments will be set up);

(B) actually set up the blocked account and implement those procedures; and

(C) file and serve on Aztec and the UST a declaration confirming that the blocked account has been established and those procedures have been implemented.

Chapter 11

(d) Belated application to employ special counsel (dkt. 57, filed 1/17/20), who has not been approved but has already filed an adversary proceeding (Lora v. Rehabbers Fin., Inc. dba Aztec Fin., et al., Adv. No. 2:20-ap-01067-NB)

The bankruptcy petition was filed on 11/11/19. Over two months later, on 1/17/20, Debtor belatedly filed an application to employ special counsel.

That proposed special counsel apparently represented Debtor in prepetition litigation in State Court (LA Superior Court, Case No. 19LBCV00600, for fraud, quiet title, etc.). Dkt.57, p.5. There is no meaningful description of that litigation in the application, nor does the application say anything about commencing a separate adversary proceeding in this bankruptcy case, as the (still unauthorized) special counsel has done on 3/20/20 (dkt.87).

As set forth in prior tentative rulings, reproduced below (for 2/18/20, item "(1)(c)," and 1/14/20, item "(1)(c)"), this Court is very concerned that Debtor is gambling any possible recovery for creditors on the possibility of prevailing in litigation against Aztec. That litigation should have been fully described in Debtor's initial status report and any later reports (dkt. 30, 69), and also should have been fully described in the (very belated) application to employ proposed special counsel (dkt.57). Instead, the nature of that litigation has only been incompletely and belatedly disclosed in those documents (see, e.g., dkt.30 at PDF p.3, and dkt.57, p.5), and orally at prior status conferences.

As near as this Court can tell, based on those sources and this Court's review of the Complaint (Adv. dkt. 1), Debtor's claims are as follows. Debtor apparently is attempting to reduce or eliminate the principal and/or interest, including default interest, on Aztec's secured claim collateralized by the 69th Way and Shadow Ln. properties. Although Debtor admits receiving the loan proceeds, and using some or all of the proceeds to purchase the Shadow Ln property, Debtor allegedly attempted to cancel both the purchase and the loan on or about 6/8/18. Id., para.16 & Ex.C at PDF pp.4 & 107-08. But then on or about 6/11/18 Debtor and his wife allegedly were pressured and intimidated into executing various documents that they did not understand that reauthorized the transaction, including cross-collateralization (id., para.17), and their signatures allegedly were forged on a closing statement listing various high transaction costs (id., para.18, 26). Debtor's Complaint appears to assert claims for fraud, usury, a determination that some or all of these transactions are void and unenforceable, and damages of an unspecified nature up to or in excess of $1 million. It is unclear how much this adversary proceeding duplicates or is different from the State Court litigation.

This Court expresses no view on the merits of these two actions (in State Court, and in the adversary proceeding in this Bankruptcy Court). The point is only that pursuing such litigation is all very well for this bankruptcy estate if Debtor prevails, but Debtor has a duty, as a debtor in possession acting as a trustee for the benefit of creditors (11 U.S.C. 1101(1), 1106, 1107), to consider a cost/benefit analysis of the litigation, and how to minimize the "down side" risk if Debtor does not prevail.

As this Court has noted previously, the default rate of interest (and even the non-default rate) are large enough that they may eat up any assets of this estate if they continue to accrue and are not disallowed. This Court previously has questioned why Debtor has not been pursuing avenues that might possibly stop the accrual of such interest.

Such avenues conceivably could include such tactics as:

(i) selling the 69th Way and/or Shadow Ln. properties free and clear of liens with Aztec's liens to attach to the proceeds of sale (11 U.S.C. 363(b)&(f));

(ii) selling those properties with the net proceeds being paid over to Aztec subject to claims to recover those proceeds;

(iii) pursuing confirmation of a chapter 11 plan that pays Aztec over time with a new (much reduced) interest rate; or

(iv) some other tactic.

To be clear, this Court expresses no view whether those things actually would work to stop the running of default interest - this Court is not pre-judging any legal or factual issues. The point is only that only last week, on 3/23/20, did Debtor finally appear to take some preliminary steps to possibly addressing this issue, by filing an application (dkt.89) to employ a real estate broker to sell the Shadow Ln. property. Now, with the possible effects of the COVID-19 pandemic on the real estate market, it appears that this is too little, too late.

Meanwhile, Debtor does not appear to have taken any steps to obtain approval for the employment of special counsel, such as setting the matter for hearing or lodging a proposed order. It is also unclear what, if anything, is happening in the pending State Court litigation - is Debtor taking whatever steps are necessary to preserve whatever value that litigation has for the estate?

If Debtor remains a debtor in possession (see part "(1)(e)" of this tentative ruling, below), the tentative ruling is to set the employment application for hearing concurrent with the continued status conference (see part "(2)" of this tentative ruling, below) with a deadline of 4/7/20 for Debtor to serve all parties in interest with a notice of that hearing, with a deadline of 4/21/20 for any opposition, and 4/28/20 for any reply, and with a copy of this part "(1)(d)" of this tentative ruling for 3/31/20 attached to that notice, and with declaration(s) attached to that notice addressing the issues set forth above.

(e) Whether this case should be converted or dismissed, or whether a trustee should be appointed, or other relief

Based on the matters described above, and the history of this case as described in the prior tentative rulings reproduced below, this Court questions:

(i) whether Debtor is grossly mismanaging this bankruptcy estate (sub-paragraph "(B)" of 11 U.S.C. 1104(a)(1), 1112(b)(4)) by:

(A) not taking appropriate steps to surrender, rent, sell, rehabilitate, or otherwise deal with Debtor's properties;

(B) not adequately disclosing the past, present, and projected condition, rents, and proposed disposition of those properties;

(C) not maintaining and/or timely disclosing adequate insurance;

(D) not maintaining a blocked account for cash collateral as order by this Court;

(E) not seeking authorization for the employment of special counsel to prosecute litigation against secured creditor Aztec until over two months after the commencement of this case;

(F) not requesting adequate authorization for that proposed special counsel: the application seeks authorization for him to prosecute the State Court litigation against Aztec, but not any litigation in this Bankruptcy Court with Aztec;

(v) whether there is other "cause" for conversion, dismissal, or appointment of a chapter 11 trustee (11 U.S.C. 1104(a), 1112(b)(1)), or any other remedy for the foregoing deficiencies.

Debtor is directed to address these issues at this status conference. See Procedures Order (dkt.8, 29) (notice and order that this Court may consider case-dispositive matters at any status conference).

motion was not served in compliance with Rule 7004 (Fed. R. Bankr. P.), and Debtor was directed to reserve that motion no later than 1/16/20. Debtor served the second cash collateral motion instead, and did so on 1/17/20. Dkt. 56.

It appears that Debtor has still not complied with Rule 7004. First, Nationstar Mortgage, LLC dba Mr. Cooper was not served at the address listed on POC No. 4 for notices. Second, CitiMortgage, Inc. filed POC No. 5 alleging a security interest in the 68th Way property, and it was not served with either cash collateral motion.

(iii) Allegedly fraudulent liens

As noted in Debtor's status report, Debtor is (belatedly) seeking authorization for the postpetition employment of special counsel to pursue an action in state court for fraud and quiet title with respect to allegedly fraudulent liens encumbering the 69th Way and Shadow Lane properties. Dkt. 57 & 69, p.3:2-4. Debtor has stated an intention to sell the Shadow Lane property but not the 69th Way property. What cost/benefit analysis have Debtor and Debtor's bankruptcy counsel done regarding this litigation?

The holder of the alleged liens appears to be asserting 21% default interest (and a non-default rate of just under 10%) (see dkt.70, p.5:1-6). Of course, all rights are preserved to argue regarding interest rates, but Debtor appears to be gambling on winning the litigation and avoiding the liens and the default interest entirely. In other words, if Debtor is not 100% successful, there appears to be a substantial danger of wiping out any recovery for other creditors and Debtor. Why is Debtor not proposing a course of action that might stop the running of such high rates of interest?

For example, solely for purposes of this tentative ruling this Court presumes (without deciding) that selling the 69th Way property free and clear of the disputed liens, with such liens to attach the proceeds, might stop the running of such interest rates. Alternatively, Debtor might propose a chapter 11 plan that could include alternative treatments of this claim depending on whether the litigation were or were not successful, and restructuring any secured claims to have a lower interest rate. These are only hypotheticals: again, all rights are preserved to argue whether any such possible solutions would or would not stop the running of these high interest rates, but the point is that Debtor is directed to address why the status report and the docket do not appear to reflect any exploration of methods to avoid what appear to be the large risks of staking everything on Debtor's litigation.

(iv) Rehabbers Financial, Inc. dba Aztec Financial ("Aztec")
opposition to second cash collateral motion (dkt. 70)

Aztec's opposition notes that Debtor's second cash collateral motion proposes to pay Aztec $2,000/month of the $5,465/month generated by the property, and allocates $1,058.20 to taxes, insurance, and maintenance, but Debtor does not explain what the remaining $2,379.80/month will be used for. Dkt. 70, p.4:24-27. Aztec also disputes Debtor's valuation of the property, and states that Debtor should at least be making the non-default, pre-maturity contractual payment of $4,535.67/month. Id. at p.5:17-28. While the second cash collateral motion states that Debtor's basis for the valuation of the property is Debtor's declaration, Debtor's declaration does not address the value of the property. Dkt. 55, p.11. Lastly, Aztec states that it has requested access to the property to arrange its own appraisal. Id. at p.5:21-23.

(v) Tentative ruling on both cash collateral motions

The tentative ruling is to order Debtor to segregate 100% of any rents and profits from each rental property (the 69th Way, Shadow Lane, and 68th Way properties), and hold all such funds - after payment of real estate taxes, insurance, utilities, and essential repairs - in separate blocked accounts until further order of this Court, so as to provide an interim form of adequate protection to Aztec and to other lienholders. In addition, the tentative ruling is to direct Debtor no later than 2/25/20 to serve all lienholders with notice of a continued hearing on the cash collateral motions, concurrent with the continued status conference set forth below. In addition, the tentative ruling is to direct Debtor no later than 2/25/20 to provide Aztec and all other lienholders with access to the properties for any inspection/appraisal they wish to conduct (or, alternatively, to schedule by 2/25/20 an inspection/appraisal after 2/25/20 at a time that is convenient for the lienholders).

(b) January MOR (dkt. 73)

This MOR (dkt.73, p.17) shows general liability insurance due to expire/only paid through 1/25/20. Has that insurance been extended? Are the MORs up to date?

(c) Prosecution of this case

As set forth above, Debtor's prosecution of this case appears to be inadequate. Cash collateral motions are known as "first day" motions; but Debtor's cash collateral motions have been filed belatedly, served incorrectly (despite this Court's prior direction), and presented in a confusing manner (it is ambiguous whether the second motion supersedes or is in addition to the first motion). Similarly troubling, Debtor's application to employ special counsel has been filed belatedly, and neither that application nor Debtor's status report adequately address the cost/benefit analysis about pursuing that litigation and selling the 69th Way property or otherwise addressing possible methods to stop the running of high interest rates that could wipe out any value in this bankruptcy estate. What assurances can Debtor and Debtor's counsel provide parties in interest and this Court that this case will be adequately prosecuted?

(1) Current issues

(a) Cash collateral motion (dkt.31&32)

Grant in part and deny in part on an interim basis, as set forth in calendar no. 2, 1/14/20 at 1:00 p.m.

(b) Status report

At the hearing on 12/17/19 this Court orally directed Debtor's counsel to file a status report no later than 12/31/19. As of the drafting of this tentative ruling, no status report has been filed. Why not?

(c) Amended November Monthly Operating Report ("MOR," dkt. 43)

(i) State court suit

The MOR reflects a $5,000 payment to James A. Judge, Esq. related to a civil law suit. Dkt. 43, p.9. Debtor also states that "a civil law suite against Aztec Financial (Secured Creditor) is pending." Id. at p.30.

The docket does not reflect any application to employ Mr. Judge as special counsel. In addition, there is no disclosure whether this payment was on account of prepetition or postpetition fees/costs/other charges. Should this Court issue an order directing Mr. Judge to show cause why he should not disgorge that payment and/or why he, Debtor, and/or Debtor's bankruptcy counsel should not have a remedy imposed for expending assets of this bankruptcy estate in violation of the Bankruptcy Code?

(ii) Car insurance

The MOR reflects that Debtor's car insurance is due to expire on 12/31/19. Id. at p.26. Has Debtor obtained replacement insurance?

Tentative Ruling for 12/17/19:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor and by the debtor(s) themselves.

(1) Current issues

(a) Cash collateral motion (dkt.31-33)

Debtor has self-calendared this motion for 1/14/20 at 1:00 p.m. That is over a month after the petition date.

What is Debtor doing with the cash meanwhile? There may be no good answer: either Debtor is using the cash, in violation of 11 U.S.C. 363(c), or Debtor is not using the cash to pay essential expenses, in violation of Debtor's duties to manage the estate and pay utility bills and other ordinary and necessary expenses in a timely manner (see 11 U.S.C. 1107-08 and 28 U.S.C. 959(b)).

Why did Debtor not use the posted Procedures of Judge Bason (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) to have this matter heard on 14 days' notice, or alternatively apply for an order shortening time if the matter needed to be heard before that 14 day period?

(1) Current issues

(a) Motion of the U.S. Trustee ("UST") to dismiss (dkt. 65), debtor's opposition (dkt. 86), no reply is on file

There is no tentative ruling, but Debtor is directed to address the thousands of dollars of unauthorized payments to "Independent Contractor[s]" Ofir Engel and L. Napolitano, "McCarthy Construction," and cash withdrawals, as well as the other issues raised by the UST. Debtor is also directed to address what progress, if any, has been made on insurance claims, AirBnB arrangements, refinancing or selling the Bel Air and Sweetzer properties, and other aspects of this bankruptcy case.

(b) Application to employ Totaro & Shanahan (the "Firm") (dkt. 63) (the "Employment Application"), Statement of disinterestedness (dkt. 100), UST Objection (dkt. 90), the Firm's errata (dkt. 97)

(1) Current issues

(a) UST's motion to dismiss (dkt. 65), debtor's opposition (dkt. 86), no reply is on file

There is no tentative ruling. The parties should be prepared to address whether debtor has cured all outstanding compliance issues, and whether Debtor's second corrected opposition continues to have error(s) in calculating projected cash flow. That opposition lists net income before personal expenses for "Oct-19" and "Nov-19" as -5,850.00, but then after personal expenses of $1,751.00 for each month it lists "excess income" of $34,900.00. Dkt.94, Ex.1, at PDF pp.8-9. If the spreadsheet is wrong about those numbers, can creditors and this Court rely on the rest of Debtor's projections?

Tentative Ruling for 9/24/19:

Appearances required. The Court has reviewed the Debtor's status report (dkt. 69).

(1) Current issues

In addition to addressing the general status of this case, the following issues will be addressed.

(a) Motion of Alliance for Relief From Automatic Stay (dkt. 40)

There is no tentative ruling. The parties should be prepared to advise this Court on whether they will agree to an adequate protection order and the proposed $50,000 loan from Complete Business Solutions Group ("Complete") (dkt.69, p.2:21-25). The parties also should be prepared to address whether shortened time or other special procedures are requested regarding any proposed lending. See 11 U.S.C. 364; Rules 4001(c) & 9006(c)(2) (Fed. R. Bankr. P.).

(b) Contemplated contract with Majestic Ventures LLC dba VacationHomes365.com ("Consultant") re marketing (Airbnb etc.)

Debtor is contemplating a contract with Consultant for marketing services. Dkt.69, Ex.2. As that contract points out (id., sec.7.2, p.44), Debtor is responsible for complying with legal obligations regarding short term rentals, and associated costs, including local taxes.

The parties should be prepared to address whether Consultant is a "professional" within the meaning of 11 U.S.C. 327; whether approval of the contract with Consultant is required under that section or section 363(b); and whether shortened time or other special procedures are requested regarding any proposed agreement with Consultant. See 11 U.S.C. 327, 363(b); Rules 2002(a)(2) & 9006(c)(2) (Fed. R. Bankr. P.).

Tentative Ruling for 8/20/19:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor and by debtor herself.

(1) Current issues

(a) Airbnb

Debtor's budget motion (dkt. 37, Ex.A, p.2) reveals that, although the Sweetzer property is "listed to be sold," meanwhile "Debtor intends to rent [that property] as an Airbnb." The tentative ruling is that this is a transaction out of the ordinary course, which requires notice, an opportunity for a hearing, and approval by this Court. 11 U.S.C. 363(b). Has Debtor already acted on this intent, without such approval?

In addition, this Court is concerned about (i) whether Airbnb rental would be in compliance with any local permitting and zoning requirements and is otherwise permissible, (ii) whether that proposed use might expose the bankruptcy estate to liabilities, (iii) whether there is adequate insurance for that use of the property, and (iv) whether the proposed sale of the property is consistent with any agreement with Airbnb.

(b) Real estate agent.

The employment application (dkt. 26, p.4:1-4) states that Agent has agreed to disclose to Debtor [i.e., only to Debtor? how about disclosure to creditors, the US Trustee, and this Court?] any agency relationship Agent has with other parties ("Third Parties")

(1) Terminology, and scope of discussion

One terminology issue has to do with Debtor's corporate structure. Debtor is a California nonprofit religious corporation. This Court understands that Debtor has no "equity interest holders" per se. But in discussing the scope of the automatic stay it is helpful to distinguish between persons who might be in a debtor-creditor relationship with Debtor (e.g., arising from LA Open Door's lease of Debtor's property) and persons who assert the sort of control typically exercised by equity interest holders. The following discussion sometimes refers to the latter as "equity."

Another issue of terminology is the distinction between Debtor as an entity and the factions that seek to control Debtor and its property. There appear to be essentially two factions in the present disputes: one led by Rev. Joo Mo Ko (the "Ko Faction") and another consisting of Rev. Jong Suk Choi aka Olaf Choi, the LA Open Door Presbyterian Church ("LA Open Door"), and

The Western Presbytery of the Hapdong ("Hapdong") (collectively, the "Choi Faction"). This tentative ruling will attempt to distinguish among each of these two factions and Debtor itself.

On a related issue, the factions' governance dispute appears to include not just control of Debtor itself but also which church organization governs Debtor's structure. These disputes include whether Debtor and LA Open Door did or did not merge, and whether the local church (i.e., Debtor, either as a separate entity or merged with LA Open Door) is affiliated with/part of the LA Presbytery of the World Korean Presbyterian Church ("World Church") or Hapdong or both. See dk.71, pp.3:13-4:4, 4:25-5:16, 6:13-9:24.

One more preliminary issue is that this tentative ruling covers two motions at once. Both motions deal with the applicability of, and relief from, the automatic stay of 11 U.S.C. 362(a). The Ko Faction seeks an order stating that the automatic stay applies to the State Court litigation (dk. 71, the "Stay Motion"). Conversely, the Choi Faction disputes that any stay applies but, to the extent this Court determines that the automatic stay does apply, requests that this Court grant them relief from the automatic stay to continue with that litigation (dk. 79, 80, 81, the "R/S Motion").

(2) Notice

It is unclear whether service has been accomplished in accordance with Rules 4001(a)(1) (Fed. R. Bankr. P.), or if there are sufficient grounds for ex parte relief under Rule 4001(a)(2). The parties are directed to address those issues. Presuming for purposes of discussion that those issues are adequately resolved, the tentative ruling on the other issues is as follows.

(3) The automatic stay does apply

This is a more thorny issue than first appears. And arguably it is not necessary to determine whether the automatic stay applies, because as set forth below the tentative ruling is that there is "cause" (11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1)) to grant relief from any stay that does exist.

But, as set forth later in this discussion, the tentative ruling is to modify but not terminate the automatic stay, so it makes a difference if there is or is not any automatic stay to begin with. The tentative ruling is that, although several aspects of the automatic stay do not apply, one does apply.

Section 362(a)(1) operates as a stay of "the commencement or continuation . . . of a judicial, administrative, or other action or proceeding against the debtor that was or could have been commenced before the commencement of the case under this title, or to recover a claim against the debtor that arose before the commencement of the case under this title." 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) (emphasis added). No stay exists under section 362(a)(1) because the subject litigation does not include any claims, counterclaims, or other legal actions against Debtor. See Parker v. Bain, 68 F.3d 1131 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Ko Faction asserts that section 362(a)(1) applies because the claims by Debtor (or, more precisely, by the Ko Faction purporting to act for Debtor) "have the same effect as if they had been brought by the Defendants instead" (i.e., by the Choi Faction) and therefore should be characterized as "effectively causes of action against the Debtor." Dkt.93, p.10:9-10 (emphasis added). There is no authority cited for that proposition. To the contrary, it is well established that the act of defending against claims brought in the name of a debtor is not stayed. See, e.g., In re Merrick, 175 B.R 333, 338 (9th Cir. BAP 1994). The tentative ruling is that the automatic stay of section 362(a)(1) does not apply.

Section 362(a)(3) operates as a stay of "any act to obtain possession of property of the estate or of property from the estate or to exercise control over property of the estate." 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(3).

(i) Property "of" or "from" the estate

Although claims held by a debtor are property of the bankruptcy estate, claims about who controls a debtor are not "property of the estate." Any "possession" of property that Debtor owned as of the petition date stays with Debtor, regardless who controls Debtor. The Ko Faction's arguments to the contrary (e.g., dkt.93, pp.10:25-6:12) are not persuasive.

(ii) Acts to exercise "control" over property of the estate

The Ko Faction's alternative argument is more persuasive. In this case the gravamen of the parties' disputes is who has control over Debtor's real property, alleged to be worth roughly $17 to $25 million or more (dkt.71, p.4:9; dkt.84, p.5:19-21). There are interrelated disputes about whether each faction is entitled to control Debtor or is merely a creditor or other type of interested party - e.g., whether LA Open Door is merely a lessee, which is or is not current on rent, or if LA Open Door merged with Debtor and the Choi Faction now controls Debtor.

The issues involve not merely theoretical or future control. The issues include who has current control over physical access to the real property for church services, who can examine books and records, who can use Debtor's name, who can speak for Debtor, who can make agreements for Debtor, who has signing authority over its bank accounts, etc.

In this situation the tentative ruling is that the stay does apply, because the disputes over governance are so intertwined with the control of Debtor's property that they constitute acts "to exercise control over property of the estate" within the meaning of 11 U.S.C. 362(a)(3) (emphasis added). See, e.g., dkt.71, p.16:20-26; Allentown Ambassadors, 361 B.R. 422, 435-40 & nn.34-40 (Bankr. E.D. Pa. 2007) (extensive review of cases, concluding that whether section 362(a)(3) applies depends on "(1) the nexus between the conduct at issue and the property interests of the bankruptcy estate, (2) the degree of impact on the bankruptcy estate, and (3) the competing legal interests of the non-debtor parties") (footnotes omitted).

As the Ko Faction explains:

The Complaint [in the State Court action that is the main subject of the motions regarding the automatic stay] thus alleges that the current state of affairs is that the Defendants are exerting control over the Property, to the exclusion of the Debtor. The Debtor seeks a declaration by the Court as to the respective rights of the parties. The relief sought in the Complaint is thus a zero sum game; if the Debtor fails to obtain this relief, Defendants will continue to exert control over the Property to the exclusion of the Debtor. If the Debtor prevails, the opposite result will occur. [Dkt.71, p.8:17-22 (emphasis added)]

The same exclusive control applies not just to Debtor's real property but also to every other type of property: Debtor's name, bank account, goodwill, etc.

The Choi Faction cites authority that, at least as a general proposition, governance disputes are not stayed by section 362(a)(3). Dkt.84, pp.18:26-20:10. But the tentative ruling is that the cited authorities are distinguishable.

The decision on which the Choi Faction principally relies is In re Am. Media Distribs., LLC, 216 B.R. 486 (Bankr. E.D. N.Y. 1998). But that decision notes that there was "little or no explanation as to why the automatic stay would apply" and the principal focus was only on the "distraction" that the dispute would cause. Id. at 489.

Another decision cited by the Choi Faction did not involve the automatic stay - it never even cites section 362. Rather, it involved whether to enjoin stockholders from exercising their regular voting rights to elect directors, which is not at issue in this case. See In re Johns-Manville Corp., 801 F.2d 60, 64-69 (2d Cir. 1986).

The last decision cited by the Choi Faction involved the voting of pledged shares, but there is no indication that such voting was anything beyond the conventional application of nonbankruptcy contract and voting rights. In re Marvel Ent. Group, 209 B.R. 832, 838-40 (D. Del. 1997). In fact, Marvel distinguishes contrary authorities as involving creditor/shareholders exercising extraordinary remedies, in contrast to "the conventional case of a shareholder seeking to invoke its corporate governance rights" and "matters of corporate governance in the orthodox sense." Id. at 839 (citations and internal quotation marks omitted, emphasis added).

Unlike Marvel, this case involves disputes by the Ko Faction and the Choi Faction that are anything but a "conventional" or "orthodox" exercise of equity holders' voting rights. Instead, both factions allegedly have a mix of roles that appear to include both "claims" (in the broad bankruptcy sense) and the exercise of "equity control," and both factions assert the right to control the disposition of Debtor's real property and other assets. It is difficult to see how the factions' acts to wrest control of Debtor and all its property from one another are not acts to "exercise control over property of the estate." 11 U.S.C. 362(a)(3).

This is illustrated by the fact that the Ko Faction has filed a motion to appoint a real estate agent to sell the real property. Similarly, the Choi Faction has filed a motion to dismiss this bankruptcy case, which would have the effect of terminating the automatic stay and other provisions of the Bankruptcy Code that protect the estate's real property and its rights to whatever rents are or are not being paid. See, e.g., 11 U.S.C. 362(a)(3)&(c)(2)(B), and 549.

In other words, the papers filed in this Bankruptcy Court reflect that the factions' litigation in State Court is not just a conventional stockholder dispute but is a fight among parties whose roles as equity, or creditors, or something else is far from clear, and is a fight over "control" of Debtor's property as much as it is a fight over control of Debtor itself.

In these circumstances, the tentative ruling is that the automatic stay of section 362(a)(3) applies.

(c) Conclusion regarding application of the automatic stay

For the foregoing reasons the tentative ruling is that the automatic stay does apply. But, as set forth below, the tentative ruling is to modify the automatic stay to permit the parties to continue their State Court litigation.

Alternatively, even if the automatic stay were inapplicable to the State Court litigation, the stay still would apply in other respects. For example, the stay would prevent any party from enforcing any future judgment for money damages by collecting out of property of the bankruptcy estate. See 11 U.S.C. 362(a)(1), (3), (4), (6) and (7). Therefore, it is still important to determine how much relief to grant, even if the stay does not apply to the governance/control aspects of the State Court litigation.

(4) There is "cause" to grant relief from the automatic stay (if it applies)

(a) Legal standards

The Bankruptcy Court "shall grant relief from the stay" upon a showing of "cause." 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1). Such relief need not take the form of a complete termination of the automatic stay, but instead may include "modifying or conditioning such stay." Id.

"Cause" is determined on a case-by-case basis." In re Tucson Estates, Inc., 912 F.2d 1162, 1166 (9th Cir.1990). In determining whether "cause" exists to grant relief from the automatic stay to allow a movant to pursue litigation in a non-bankruptcy forum, courts in the Ninth Circuit have examined the factors set forth in In re Curtis, 40 B.R. 795, 799–800 (Bankr. D. Utah 1984). See In re Kronemeyer, 405 B.R. 915 (9th Cir. BAP 2009); In re Plumberx Specialty Prods., Inc., 311 B.R. 551, 559–60 (Bankr. C.D. Cal.2004).

Those factors are: (1) Whether the relief will result in a partial or complete resolution of the issues; (2) The lack of any connection with or interference with the bankruptcy case; (3) Whether the foreign proceeding involves the debtor as a fiduciary; (4) Whether a specialized tribunal has been established to hear the particular cause of action and whether that tribunal has the expertise to hear such cases; (5) Whether the debtor's insurance carrier has assumed full financial responsibility for defending the litigation; (6)

Whether the action essentially involves third parties, and the debtor functions only as a bailee or conduit for the goods or proceeds in question; (7) Whether the litigation in another forum would prejudice the interests of other creditors, the creditors' committee and other interested parties; (8) Whether the judgment claim arising from the foreign action is subject to equitable subordination under Section 510(c); (9) Whether movant's success in the foreign proceeding would result in a judicial lien avoidable by the debtor under Section 522(f); (10) The interests of judicial economy and the expeditious and economical determination of litigation for the parties; (11) Whether the foreign proceedings have progressed to the point where the parties are prepared for trial; and (12) The impact of the stay on the parties and the "balance of hurt." Plumberex, 311 B.R. at 559. "[W]hile the Curtis factors are widely used to determine the existence of 'cause,' not all of the factors are relevant in every case, nor is a court required to give each factor equal weight." In re Landmark Fence Co., Inc., 2011 WL 6826253 at *4 (C.D. Cal. Dec. 9, 2011).

(b) Application of the legal standards

Based on the present record, the tentative ruling is that these factors weigh in favor of modifying the automatic stay to permit the parties to continue their State Court litigation.

As to the first Curtis factor (would relief result in partial or complete resolution of the issues), the tentative ruling is that granting relief would result in complete resolution of the issues. The State Court appears to have all the parties before it, and to be addressing the same governance/control issues that this Bankruptcy Court would have to address, so it can completely resolve these issues.

True, governance issues are also a critical threshold issue for bankruptcy purposes. As the State Court put it, "it's hard for me to believe that the Bankruptcy Court doesn't, as a threshold matter, decide who's in charge." Tr. 2/21/20, p.12:7-9 (dkt.71, Ex.10, at PDF p.139). But, as the State Court also observed, the issues are the same in both fora. See Tr. 2/21/20, p.14:11-13 (dkt.71, Ex.10, at PDF p.141) ("the threshold issue is I suspect the Bankruptcy Court does decide who's in charge just like I'm trying to do for this preliminary injunction") (emphasis added).

As to the second Curtis factor (connection with or interference with the bankruptcy case) and the seventh Curtis factor (prejudice to other creditors/interested parties) the tentative ruling is that, far from interfering with this bankruptcy case or causing prejudice, resolution of the issues that are already well underway in the State Court is essential to determine the bankruptcy issues: e.g., whether Debtor's bankruptcy petition was even authorized; who is authorized to determine the disposition of property of the bankruptcy estate; who has authority to decide what litigation to pursue on Debtor's behalf; etc.

As interesting as these issues would be for this Bankruptcy Court to delve into, the roughly 2000 pages of documents attached to the Choi Faction's motion papers (dkt. 79) show that this Bankruptcy Court would be reinventing the wheel. Starting over and re-litigating the issues would be prejudicial to all parties in interest, and it appears that resolving these issues in State Court is the most expeditious and efficient way to address these issues.

As to the fourth Curtis factor (whether a specialized tribunal has been established to hear the action) and the eleventh Curtis factor (whether the proceedings have progressed to the point where the parties are prepared for trial), the tentative ruling is that, (i) although the State Court is not specialized in the sense of limiting itself to corporate/religious governance/control issues, the same is true for this Bankruptcy Court, so this factor is neutral, and (ii) although the proceedings in State Court appear to be far from any trial, the roughly 2000 pages show that those proceedings are well underway.

As to the tenth Curtis factor (interest of judicial economy) the tentative ruling is that forcing the parties to start anew in this Court would result in a duplication of efforts and would be a waste of judicial resources.

As to the twelfth Curtis factor (the impact of the stay on the parties and the "balance of hurt"), the tentative ruling is that the bankruptcy petition has already delayed adjudication of the issues before the State Court, and caused considerable expense and disruption, and that these things fall more heavily on the Choi Faction than the Ko Faction. Among other things, the Choi Faction was not given adequate notice by the Ko Faction of the extraordinary "emergency" relief that the latter sought in this Bankruptcy Court, and it turns out that, so far as this Court can discern, there is no emergency.

To be clear, this Court is not saying that there is no legitimate need for bankruptcy protection. True, it is not apparent that Debtor is insolvent. But the automatic stay and 11 U.S.C. 549 may provide broader protection than what is available in other fora to protect against unauthorized transfers of property. For example, a typical injunction only applies to specified parties and specified property, and it does not necessarily render acts in violation of the injunction void ab initio. In contrast, the automatic stay applies even to unknown parties and unknown property and acts in violation of the stay are void ab initio. See, e.g., In re Schwartz, 954 F.2d 569, 571 (9th Cir. 1992).

United States Bankruptcy Court

But there is no reason known to this Court why the Ko Faction could not have gained the legitimate protections of the automatic stay and section 549 and then stipulated to relief from the automatic stay to conclude the State Court litigation. Instead, as noted above, the Ko Faction sought "emergency" relief with inadequate notice, in what appears to be an attempted end-run around the State Court proceedings.

For all of these reasons, the tentative ruling is that any continued stay of the State Court proceedings has greater cognizable impact on the Choi Faction than the Ko Faction, and that the "balance of hurt" also favors granting relief from the stay.

In addition to the precise factors outlined in Curtis, this Court is considering all the other facts and circumstances. In the interest of comity and to discourage forum shopping, the tentative ruling is that it is appropriate for the litigation to continue in the State Court. That is the initial forum that the Ko Faction selected, and it is the forum that the Choi Faction favors retaining.

For all of the foregoing reasons, the tentative ruling is that under the Curtis factors and analysis there is "cause" (11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1)) to grant relief from the automatic stay as set forth below. This Court considers below whether there is an alternative basis on which relief from the automatic stay must be granted.

(5) Mandatory abstention does not apply

An alternative ground for relief from the automatic stay would be if mandatory abstention applies. ("Relief" from the stay does not necessarily mean immediate termination of the stay - it might be appropriate to modify but not terminate the stay, or to leave it fully in place for some period of time, to give Debtor a "breathing spell" - but the point is that, if mandatory abstention were to apply, that would be an alternative basis for some form of relief from the automatic stay.)

Mandatory abstention is governed by statute:

11 [i.e., the Bankruptcy Code] but not arising under title 11 or arising in a case under title 11, with respect to which an action could not have been commenced in a court of the United States absent jurisdiction under this section, the district court [and the bankruptcy court as a unit thereof] shall abstain from hearing such proceeding if an action is commenced, and can be timely adjudicated, in a State forum of appropriate jurisdiction. [28 U.S.C. 1334(c)(2) (emphasis added).]

The emphasized terms "related to," on the one hand, and "arising under" or "arising in," on the other hand, are terms of art. The Supreme Court has held that the latter are equivalent to the statutory term "core" under 28 U.S.C. 157(b)(1). Stern v. Marshall, 564 U.S. 462 (2011).

A non-exclusive list of matters defined as "core" proceedings is set forth in 28 U.S.C. 157(b)(2). The tentative ruling is that who has authority to file a bankruptcy petition, make decisions for a debtor in possession, and control its property is a "core" proceeding, as a matter of statutory construction (28 U.S.C. 157(b)(2)(A) & (O)). See e.g. In re Fisher Island Invs., Inc., 778 F.3d 1172 (11th Cir. 2015) (confirming bankruptcy court had statutory authority over ownership dispute under 28 U.S.C. 157(b)(2)(A), (O), because "ownership issue is a core matter that clearly 'arises under' or 'arises in a case under' chapter 11. Resolution of threshold ownership issue was critical to the administration of the Alleged Debtors' estates ....").

Turning to Constitutional limitations, a determination of who controls Debtor and its property is sufficiently central to the administration of the bankruptcy estate that it has been held to be what is sometimes called "Constitutionally core." See e.g., In re Fisher Island Invs. Inc., 778 F.3d at 1192 (affirming bankruptcy court's determination that it had constitutional authority over ownership dispute because "[t]he ownership issue does not simply have 'some bearing' on the bankruptcy proceedings ... the bankruptcy court could not undertake the bankruptcy proceedings without first determining who owned the Alleged Debtor, and thus who represented them ...."); In re First Korean Christian Church of San Jose, 567 B.R. 575, 578-578 (Bankr. N. D. Cal. 2017) (rejecting argument that bankruptcy court lacked jurisdiction to determine who controlled Debtor and noting that although bankruptcy court must defer to church hierarchy for resolution of religious issues, bankruptcy court could "apply 'neutral principals of law' such as corporate governance in settling disputes as to ownership of church

True, the governance of Debtor depends entirely on nonbankruptcy issues: (i) interpretation and application of nonbankruptcy law and (ii) interpretation and application of nonbankruptcy agreements and principles of the local church and any national or international church organizations. But it is difficult to conceive of anything more central to the administration of a bankruptcy case than determining who has authority to file the bankruptcy petition, or to hire professionals for the debtor in possession, or to sell a debtor's assets or otherwise manage the bankruptcy estate as a trustee for the benefit of creditors.

Therefore, the tentative ruling is that any determination of who controls Debtor comes within this Bankruptcy Court's "arising in" jurisdiction and is both statutorily and constitutionally core. In other words, the tentative ruling is that mandatory abstention does not apply, so this is not a ground on which this Court will grant relief from the automatic stay.

(6) Scope of relief

Under Section 362(d) this Court "shall" grant relief if the statutory criteria for such relief are established. But such relief need not take the form of "terminating" the stay. The statute states: "relief ... such as by terminating, annulling, modifying, or conditioning such stay ...." 11 U.S.C. 362(d) (emphasis added).

The tentative ruling is to modify and condition the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) such that the movant may proceed in the nonbankruptcy forum to final judgment (including any appeals) in accordance with applicable nonbankruptcy law, subject to the following limitations (Judge Bason's standard limitations).

(a) No enforcement against property of the bankruptcy estate

The stay remains in effect with respect to enforcement of any judgment against property of the debtor's bankruptcy estate - any such property shall be distributed when and how provided by the Bankruptcy Code. Nevertheless, the movant is permitted to enforce its final judgment by (i) collecting upon any available insurance in accordance with applicable nonbankruptcy law or (ii) proceeding against the debtor as to any property that is not property of this bankruptcy estate. See, e.g., 11 U.S.C. 362(b)(2)(B) & 541(b)(7) (collection of domestic support obligations from ERISA qualified retirement plans).

(b) Claim allowance, priority, and discharge issues

Any claims arising from the nonbankruptcy litigation are subject to this Bankruptcy Court's jurisdiction regarding claim allowance and priority, and the existence and scope of any bankruptcy discharge.

(c) No relief in other bankruptcy cases

To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

(d) Effective date of relief

Grant the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a) (3).

(7) Comity with State Court

The State Court Judges stayed their proceedings pending this Bankruptcy Court's ruling on today's motions. This Bankruptcy Court appreciates the State Court's careful approach to the possible existence of the automatic stay, which turned out to be a complex issue as discussed above.

This Bankruptcy Court also seeks to preclude any undue delays or potential gamesmanship in future by parties who might seek to invoke the automatic stay when it does not apply (either because of this Bankruptcy Court's order(s) granting relief from the automatic stay, or because of the inherent limits of section 362(a)). To that end, this Bankruptcy Court offers the following.

First and foremost, this Bankruptcy Court is available to make rulings on the applicability of the automatic stay, and to grant any appropriate relief. The Local Bankruptcy Rules and this Court's posted procedures permit expedited relief, including speedy telephonic hearings if warranted. Even during this COVID-19 situation, this Bankruptcy Court's law clerks and the Clerk's Office staff are constantly monitoring voicemails, processing orders, setting up telephonic hearings, etc.

Second, recognizing that even speedy relief might not be speedy enough, this Bankruptcy Court reiterates that, contrary to the Choi Faction's arguments (dkt.71, pp.21:25-23:7), the State Court has concurrent jurisdiction. The State Court can interpret (a) the automatic stay (which is deemed to be an order of this Bankruptcy Court), and (b) any other order of this Court, such as an order modifying the stay. This is no different from the State Court interpreting the orders of any other court, as it does all the time.

In other words, the State Court need not halt its proceedings every time any litigant asserts that the automatic stay might apply. See 28 U.S.C. 1334(b) (federal District Courts, and the Bankruptcy Courts as a unit thereof, have "original but not exclusive jurisdiction of all civil proceedings arising under title 11, or arising in or related to cases under title 11") (emphasis added), In re Gruntz, 202 F.3d 1074, 1083-84 (9th Cir. 2000) (distinguishing State Court orders "modifying the automatic stay" from those "merely interpreting federal law").

Of course, it is up to the State Court, in the exercise of its judgment, to assess whether the risks of proceeding are outweighed by the benefits. See Gruntz, 202 F.3d 1074, 1087 (if State Court proceeds without order of Bankruptcy Court, the former "risks having its final judgment declared void"). Meanwhile, again, this Bankruptcy Court will make every effort to grant speedy rulings on any issue that might arise involving the automatic stay.

(8) Conclusion

Assuming for that sufficient notice notice has been provided under Rule 4001(a) for this Court to rule on the motions related to the automatic stay, the tentative ruling is as follows. The automatic stay applies under 11 U.S.C. 362(a)(3), but there is "cause" for relief from the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1). The tentative ruling is that such relief should take the form of modifying the automatic stay as set forth above.

As set forth in more detail above, the tentative ruling is that the parties can proceed with their State Court litigation to final judgments or orders. But the automatic stay remains in place to prevent collection of any monetary judgment out of the bankruptcy estate or disposition of estate property, absent further order of this Bankruptcy Court.

(1) Current issues

(a) Motion of Nathanael Yun and Jung Suk Choi to Dismiss this case as a bad faith filing, and supporting papers ("MTD," dkt. 29, 30, 31, 32, 35, 36, 38), debtor's opposition (dkt. 53, 54, 55) and evidentiary objections (dkt. 48, 49, 50, 52, 56), declaration of Mr. Yun in support of MTD (dkt. 57, "Yun Decl."), debtor's motion to strike Yun decl (dkt. 58), declaration of Barry Florence in support of MTD (dkt. 61), notice of continued hearing (dkt. 73, 74), Yun/Choi reply (dkt. 91)

The tentative ruling is that it is premature to make any final determination, before it is even apparent to this Court who is responsible for the lack of information to prepare bankruptcy schedules and other information. But on the present record this Court is not persuaded that there is no legitimate purpose for this bankruptcy case or other grounds sufficient to dismiss this case. As set forth in the tentative rulings on certain automatic-stay related motions (calendar no. 34, 3/31/20 at 1:00 p.m.), there appears to be a legitimate need for the protections of the automatic stay and 11 U.S.C. 549. But the tentative ruling is also to grant the alternative relief of modifying the automatic stay.

In addition, the parties should be prepared to address how this estate

Current issues

The following tentative rulings are subject to any opposition and other persuasive argument at the hearing:

(1) Background: church solvency, and governance disputes

Debtor appears to be very solvent, but alleges cash flow problems. Those problems appear to be intertwined with governance disputes.

(a) Solvency

Debtor's bankruptcy petition and list of 20 largest general unsecured creditors ("GUCs") (dkt. 1, 11) list very few GUCs, with total claims of under $896,000. Debtor's "first day" motions allege that it owns 1218 South Fairfax Ave., Los Angeles, California (the "Property"), which Debtor estimates is worth between $17 and $18 million and is only encumbered by a first deed of trust lien of approximately $630,000 in favor of Commonwealth Business Bank (the "Bank").

Debtor alleges that its cash flow problems arise from a prepetition dispute with LA Open Door Presbyterian Church ("LA Open Door"), which was a lessee from Debtor under a lease that Debtor alleges was terminated prepetition after months of non-payment. LA Open Door is also subject to a final judgment of approximately $3 million in favor of Evangelical Christian Credit Union ("Evangelical CU"). Debtor reports that Evangelical CU obtained appointment of a receiver over LA Open Door, Thomas Seaman (the "Receiver"), but that LA Open Door has been uncooperative with the Receiver. All of this allegedly has exacerbated Debtor's cash flow problems.

(b) Governance issues

Debtor has no board of directors, but asserts that it is governed by certain elders known as the "Session," which Debtor alleges is analogous to a corporate board of directors. See dkt.16 (the "Plan Procedures Motion"), p.4:1-3. Debtor acknowledges that there is a governance dispute among, on the one side, Debtor's Session and religious leaders associated with the Session and, on the other side LA Open Door, The Western Presbytery of the Hapdong in USA ("Hapdong"), and their associated religious leaders.

Debtor proposes to sell the Property, pay all creditors in full, and have the surplus available "for distribution to the litigating parties who claim to be the true spokespersons of the Debtor, with such funds to be held by a professional third party fiduciary until such litigation has either concluded or the parties resolve their differences." Dkt.16, p.11:1-6. That approach (selling property now, and arguing about the proceeds later) is a common and effective tool in bankruptcy cases. But the twist in this case is that it is unclear who has legal title to the Property and who has authority to authorize the sale of the Property.

In terms of legal title, this Court takes judicial notice that in bankruptcy cases filed by churches of other religions/denominations there have been disputes about whether "church" property is owned by the worshipers, the leadership of a local church, a single church official in the capacity of a "corporation sole," or some other form. Debtor's papers do not address that issue.

In terms of who has authority to authorize a sale of the Property, Debtor alleges that it had discussions with LA Open Door about a possible merger but called off those discussions in August of 2019. Debtor acknowledges, however, that "LA [Open Door] asserted that the Debtor and LA [Open Door] were already 'one' church under LA [Open Door's] leadership." Dkt.15, p.2:21-24 (emphasis added). In addition, Debtor acknowledges that, although LA Open Door allegedly was supposed to occupy only 60% of the Property under the terms of the lease, instead it had been occupying 100%, and has attempted to become the "de facto owner" of the Property. Dkt.16, p.2, n.1 (emphasis added).

In other words, at least in the past, it was hotly disputed who properly controls both Debtor and the Property. The leadership of LA Open Door apparently claimed to control both, and perhaps Hapdong asserted some control, although its role is not described in Debtor's papers.

Nor is it clear what role, if any, is played by the worshipers at the various church organizations. Do Debtor's worshipers have the power to control the disposition of the Property and/or to replace Debtor's Session and/or its individual leaders? Would Debtor's worshipers oppose a sale of the Property, and prefer to lease it or some other approach, based on capital gains taxes or other considerations? Do LA Open Door's and Hapdong's worshipers have any interests at stake? Is it even clear whether a given worshiper belongs to Debtor's congregation or to LA Open Door's and/or Hapdong's?

Perhaps these governance issues have been partially or fully resolved in the nonbankruptcy courts. Debtor reports that on 11/6/19 it commenced an action against LA Open Door entitled Korean Western Presbyterian Church of Los Angeles v. Jong Suk Choi et al. (LA Superior Ct., Case No. 19STCV40062) (the "LA Open Door Litigation"). Debtor reports that the Superior Court has enjoined LA Open Door and others from interfering with Debtor's use of the Property as set forth in its lease with LA Open Door. See dkt.16, p.10:7-14. But, again, Debtor does not describe the situation with Hapdong, and it is unclear whether Debtor's worshipers have any say in these matters.

Based on (i) all of the above-described property ownership and governance issues and (ii) possible assertions that LA Open Door and Debtor have merged or otherwise might be liable for one another's debts, all parties are directed to address whether notice of all of the matters on today's calendar must be provided to various types of persons who have not already been served. In the broadest scenario, perhaps notice should be provided to all worshipers and all creditors of (i) Debtor and also (ii) LA Open Door and Hapdong. The parties are directed to address the scope of notice that may be necessary or appropriate.

(c) Possible difficulties identifying creditors or worshipers, and possible limits on the need for such notice

This Court recognizes that providing notice to a wide range of parties in interest might be difficult, and also might be legally unnecessary. For example, the Receiver for LA Open Door might have supplanted the leaders of that entity, and even its worshipers, on a wide range of governance issues.

But the Receiver's control appears to be limited to collection of revenues, obtaining financial information, and related matters, not sale or other disposition of the Property. In addition, if the Receiver has any potential role in these proceedings, it is unclear if the Receiver would need to apply to the Superior Court for directions, and how principles of comity and respect for the Superior Court's jurisdiction should be applied in this situation.

As for identifying creditors and worshipers, the Receiver's Report regarding LA Open Door (dkt.16, Ex.4, p.2:7-10, at PDF p.33) alleges that the Receiver provided notice to various banks and an "internet giving portal" for LA Open Door. The Receiver reports that in response to requests to turn over funds he received only a single check, from Hanin Federal Credit Union ("Hanin CU") (dkt.16, Ex.4, p.2:10-13, at PDF p.33), and that he received little to no cooperation from the leadership of LA Open Door or its worshipers. According to the Receiver, at the end of various LA Open Door services that he attended its worshipers gave hardly anything to that entity, despite having given generously in the past.

In sum, based on the Receiver's report and Debtor's papers, it may be difficult to identify names and addresses for worshipers or creditors. But the parties are directed to address whether it is necessary or appropriate to direct Debtor to attempt to do so, including but not limited to (i) attempting to communicate to worshipers through the "internet giving portals" for Debtor, LA Open Door, and/or Hapdong, and (ii) attempting to identify creditors through discovery or other mechanisms.

(d) Conclusion as to governance issues

Debtor has served the motions that are the subject of this hearing in accordance with this Court's order shortening time ("OST," dkt. 19), except for one creditor served within a couple of hours after the time directed in the OST, and the tentative ruling to that this is sufficient. See dkt.26, 28. Nevertheless, before this Court can authorize the sale of the Property, and retention of professionals by Debtor in furtherance of any such sale, it is important to consider whether Debtor's present leadership is authorized to seek those things, and whether other persons might be entitled to oppose or support those things, and therefore whether they should receive notice.

Because of these concerns, all of the tentative rulings set forth below are subject to the possibility that, before this Court authorizes anything, more notice must be given.

(2) Debtor's application to employ bankruptcy counsel (dkt. 13); statement of disinterestedness (dkt. 14)

Debtor seeks to employ SulmeyerKupetz, a Professional Corporation ("Attorneys") as its general bankruptcy counsel. The tentative ruling is to grant the application and authorize Attorneys' employment, subject to the caveats stated above, including any arguments and evidence presented at the hearing, and the possibility of not adopting this tentative ruling at this time but instead continuing this hearing to provide more notice.

Chapter 11

(3) Debtor's application to employ chief restructuring officer (dkt. 15)

Debtor seeks to employ Broadway Advisors, LLC ("Broadway"), and its principal Alfred M. Masse, as its financial advisor and Chief Restructuring Officer ("CRO"). Debtor seeks to provide Broadway with "sole decision-making authority with respect to the sale of the Property." Dkt.16, p.10:3-4.

The tentative ruling is that Broadway cannot be its own supervisor, and that provisions in its proposed employment agreement that appear to be to the contrary will be disapproved. For example, the proposed agreement with Broadway requires that it be indemnified as both a director and an officer. See dkt.15, Ex.1, p.3, para. 9 (at PDF p.19)). Debtor and Broadway should be prepared to provide more information on the decision-making and oversight being proposed.

Subject to the caveats above (again, considering any arguments and evidence presented at the hearing, and possibly providing more notice before making any final decision), the tentative ruling is to authorize Broadway to act as CRO, subject to the posted Procedures of Judge Bason regarding terms of employment (e.g., notwithstanding any arbitration provision, this Court will retain jurisdiction in the first instance over any employment/compensation issues).

The tentative ruling is that the authorization for Broadway to act as CRO should include sole decision-making authority with respect to the sale of the Property, except that any proposed sale must be subject to notice and a hearing, with an opportunity for Debtor's leadership and any other parties in interest to object.

(4) Debtor's application to employ real estate broker (dkt. 25)

Debtor proposes to employ Jones Lang Lasalle ("Broker") as its real estate broker to sell the Property. Debtor states that it has consented to Broker representing potential purchasers (dkt. 25, p. 2: 14-15).

Subject to the caveats above (again, considering any arguments and evidence presented at the hearing, and possibly providing more notice before making any final decision), the tentative ruling is to grant the motion, with the following additional caveat. Notwithstanding any provision in the employment application or proposed agreement to the contrary, the tentative ruling is that Judge Bason's standard terms apply (unless struck through) as follows:

(a) employment is per 11 U.S.C. § 327 not § 328; (b) payment only per 11 U.S.C. § 330(a) – no lien or superpriority claim is allowed (except as explicitly allowed – e.g., realtor commissions on court-approved sales); (c) maximum 2 hours per day of non-working time (e.g., travel, or waiting for matter to be called) absent an adequate explanation; (d) no buyers' premium for auctioneers; (e) no dual agency; (f) all matters relating to the professional's engagement, compensation and costs shall be resolved in this court, notwithstanding any provisions for arbitration, choice of venue, or the like, and (g) any indemnification, limitation of damages or the like is ineffective. See generally In re Circle K Corp., 279 F.3d 669 (9th Cir. 2002) and 11 U.S.C. § 327(a) (professionals may not "hold or represent an interest adverse to the estate").

(5) Plan Procedures Motion (dkt. 16)

Before these hearings commence, Debtor hopes to file certain plan-related documents. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, those documents have not been filed.

Debtor requests that it be excused from using the local forms of Plan and Disclosure Statement, and instead that it be authorized to file and serve a combined disclosure statement and plan (collectively, the "Plan"). Debtor requests authority to serve a two-page "Executive Summary" in Korean and English in lieu of serving a full copy of the Plan (but with the Plan available upon request). Debtor also requests that this Court set a combined hearing on (i) final approval of the disclosures in the Plan and (ii) confirmation of the Plan. In addition, Debtor seeks such a hearing on approximately 30 days' notice.

In sum, Debtor and requests (a) streamlined procedures and (b) expedited procedures. The tentative ruling is that the former is justified, but on the present record the latter has not been sufficiently justified.

(a) Streamlined procedures

The tentative ruling is to excuse Debtor from using the local forms, authorize Debtor to file a combined document (the Plan), set a combined hearing on final approval of the disclosures in the Plan and confirmation of the Plan, and authorize service of the Executive Summary in lieu of the Plan but with a copy of the Plan readily available. On this last issue, the tentative ruling is that all parties in interest will actually receive greater disclosure when, instead of stacks of papers filled with dense legal language, they receive a short summary in "plain English" - or "plain Korean" - with easily an exercised option to review the full Plan either online or via email or U.S. mail, at the recipient's option. See 11 U.S.C. 105(d)(2)(B)(vi) (authorizing combined hearing on Plan and disclosures); 1125(b) & (c) (authorizing service of "court-approved summary" in lieu of full Plan, and disclosures "differing in amount, detail, or kind of information, as between classes"); and Rule 3017(d) (1) (Fed. R. Bankr. P.) (reiterating option for "court-approved summary," provided that documents are made available at plan proponent's expense).

(b) Request for a hearing on 30 days' notice

The tentative ruling is that Debtor has not provided sufficient justification for a hearing on 30 days' notice. First, the same caveats apply as with other motions: this tentative ruling is subject to any opposition at this hearing and the possible need for more notice.

Second, until the proposed documents are filed it is premature to determine whether they can be served in their proposed form, or if they need amendments (or replacements with entirely new forms).

Third, it may be problematic to confirm any Plan until the bar date for filing proofs of claim has passed, including the special bar date for governmental entities. The parties are directed to address what bar date this Court should set.

Fourth, although Debtor explains why there is some urgency - its professionals need assurance that their employment is authorized before they can be expected to devote the substantial time and effort needed to market and sell the Property - it is unclear why the Property must be sold so quickly. Presumably that has to do with cash flow issues, but those issues have not been fully explained.

For example, why is it not possible for Debtor to use funds provided by its worshipers (either regular collections or a special collection) to tide Debtor over until the Property can be sold, or some other solution can be explored, on a less expedited basis? Alternatively, why is it not possible to obtain loans (11 U.S.C. 364) or perhaps other funding mechanisms to tide Debtor over?

Subject to all of the foregoing, the tentative ruling is to grant the Plan Procedures Motion, with the date of the combined hearing on disclosures and confirmation to be determined. Deadlines for service of the voting package, filing and service of any opposition, and any other relevant matters also will need to be determined.

There is no tentative ruling on the merits, but the tentative ruling on the evidentiary issues is as follows.

(1) Evidentiary issues

Overrule most of Movant's evidentiary objections (dkt.31). First, Debtor as the owner of the property is competent to opine as to its value, and her knowledge of the property is sufficient foundation. Debtor's different valuation in her bankruptcy schedules, and the lack of documentary support for Debtor's current valuation, go to the weight of her testimony, not its admissibility. At the same time, Movant has not presented evidence regarding valuation.

Second, Debtor as a co-obligor can state her understanding of how the math works, including whether insurance and taxes are or are not impounded. But the tentative ruling is to sustain Movant's evidentiary objection to Debtor's assertions regarding dollar amounts alleged paid by co-obligors.

This Court notes, however, that Movant's own calculations of what is owed appear to be verified only by Movant's attorney (see dkt.26, Eropin Decl., p.2:6-19 & Ex.8 & 9), and not by Movant's custodian of records or other qualified individual (see dkt.26, Crittenden Decl.). A supplemental declaration in the reply papers (dkt.31, Crittenden Decl.) supports Movant's calculations, but Movant did not request permission to provide additional evidence in reply papers.

Although the foregoing tentative evidentiary rulings leave a lot of uncertainty, they do establish some parameters. The tentative ruling is that (a) at best Movant has a thin equity cushion, and (b) postpetition defaults still amount to thousands of dollars. In addition, the tentative ruling is that this Court can take judicial notice that the COVID-19 pandemic has been having a very dramatic impact on economic indicators, and that this is likely to have a negative impact on real estate values, although the extent and duration of that impact are uncertain.

(2) Merits

The parties should be prepared to address (a) whether the alleged arrears have been brought current and/or (b) whether they will agree to the terms of an adequate protection order (see the debtor's response, dkt. 30).

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." Docket 15

Tentative Ruling:

Grant as set forth below. Appearances are not required. If you wish to dispute the tentative ruling you must notify opposing counsel of your intent to appear telephonically. Pursuant to Judge Bason's COVID19 Procedures, ONLY TELEPHONIC APPEARANCES WILL BE PERMITTED until further notice.

The automatic stay does not apply

This case has been dismissed, which terminates the automatic stay. See 11 U.S.C. 349(b)(3) & 362(c).

was dismissed (on 2/25/19) within one year before this case was filed (on 2/21/20), (b) the dismissal was not under 11 U.S.C. 707(b), and (c) no finding of good faith was timely sought and obtained in either prior case. The automatic stay has terminated both as to Debtor in personam and as to property of Debtor. See In re Reswick, 446 B.R. 362 (9th Cir. BAP 2011); In re Hernandez, case no. 2:11-bk-53730-NB, docket #40 (Memorandum Decision).

In the alternative and in addition, this court grants relief from the automatic stay as follows.

Termination

Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (d)(4).

To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Relief notwithstanding future bankruptcy cases

Grant the following relief pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(4) and the legal analysis in In re Vazquez, 580 B.R. 526 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2017), and/or In re Choong (case no. 2:14-bk-28378-NB, docket no. 31), as applicable:

If this order is duly recorded in compliance with applicable State laws governing notices of interests or liens in the property at issue, then no automatic stay shall apply to such property in any bankruptcy case purporting to affect such property and filed within two years after the date of entry of this order, unless otherwise ordered by the court presiding over that bankruptcy case.

For the avoidance of doubt, any acts by the movant to obtain exclusive possession of such property shall not be stayed, including any eviction actions, through and including any lockout or other enforcement by the Sheriff or other authorized legal authority.

Note: Per Judge Bason's posted procedures (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) this Court's order will state that the Court "does not make" a finding that Debtor was involved in the "scheme" referenced in section 362(d)(4), unless there is sufficient evidence that Debtor was involved and Debtor is given clear notice that the movant seeks an express finding that Debtor was involved. The tentative ruling in this particular case is that there is sufficient evidence and notice.

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) has not been shown to have any basis for any different treatment from the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a), so the tentative ruling is to grant the identical relief regarding any co-debtor stay.

(1) Service

The proof of service does not show service on the following parties:

(a) Top 20 unsecured creditors

Service is required on the creditors included in the list filed pursuant to Rule 1007(d) (Fed. R. Bankr. P.), pursuant to Rules 4001(a)(1) and 9014(a).

(b) Both Debtor's counsel and Debtor itself

Service is required not only (i) on Debtor's counsel but also (ii) on Debtor itself ("double service"), pursuant to Rules 7004(b)(9)&(g) and 9014(a)&(b). In addition, service on Debtor must be addressed to it at its address of record (listed on this Court's docket) and the address must include "Attn: Officer or Managing/General Agent" or the like. See Rule 7004(b)(3) (requiring service "to the attention of an officer, a managing or general agent, or to any other agent authorized by appointment or by law to receive service of process and, if the agent is one authorized by statute to receive service and the statute so requires, by also mailing a copy to the [debtor]").

The tentative ruling is that this Court has neither the authority nor the inclination to excuse non-compliance with these rules. It is true that this double service requirement is the exact opposite of typical non-bankruptcy practice, in which it is generally impermissible to serve a represented party personally; but there are good reasons for the double service rule in bankruptcy. It helps protect Debtor and the bankruptcy estate (i.e., all parties in interest) from matters "falling through the cracks" given the high volume and speed of matters in typical bankruptcy cases, and the frequent use of service via U.S. mail.

Based on the foregoing, the tentative ruling is to continue this hearing to 4/21/20 at 1:00 p.m., with corrected service and a filed proof of service required no later than 4/9/20. The tentative ruling is to shorten time (per Rule 9006) such that, if service is made on that date then the hearing can go forward on the stated date, and with any opposition papers due 4/16/20 and any reply due 4/20/20 at noon.

In the interests of efficiency and completeness, this Court now turns to the tentative ruling on the merits. The following tentative ruling is based solely on the motion papers, and is subject to change in the event of any opposition (after Debtor has re-served the motion papers).

(2) "Cause" for relief

The motion papers state that Movant seeks a nondischargeable judgment based on alleged fraud. The tentative ruling is that this is not sufficient cause for relief. Although claims arising from fraud generally are nondischargeable for individual debtors under 11 U.S.C. 523, that section does not apply to non-individual debtors in chapter 11. See 11 U.S.C. 1141(d)(2).

That said, the tentative ruling is that there is still "cause" for relief from the automatic stay within the meaning of 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) for two alternative reasons that are apparent from the motion papers. (a) The nonbankruptcy litigation may resolve any disputes regarding the claims and counterclaims. In addition, (b) the nonbankruptcy litigation involves another named defendant, as well as "Doe" defendants.

(3) Relief notwithstanding future bankruptcy cases

Deny, without prejudice to any other types of relief granted herein (or previously granted), for the following reasons.

The motion requests requests "in rem" relief (i.e., relief applicable

The tentative ruling is to deny that request because there is no showing of multiple bankruptcy cases that were part of a scheme to hinder, delay, or defraud creditors, or other sufficient grounds for such relief.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." (3) Very limited ruling. This Court's tentative ruling to grant the foregoing relief is solely for purposes of this motion, and is not intended to have any binding effect with respect to any future assertions by any party in interest regarding the existence or lack of existence of good faith in any other context.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear telephonically without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Chapter 13

#13.00 Hrg re: Motion in Individual Case for Order
Imposing a Stay or Continuing the Automatic Stay as the Court Deems Appropriate

Docket 16

Tentative Ruling:

Grant, subject to the conditions set forth below including a standard stay-current adequate protection order ("APO"), and otherwise overrule the opposition (dkt.25) of Secured Creditor Louis J. Hillegass, Jr. et al. Appearances are not required. If you wish to dispute the tentative ruling you must notify opposing counsel of your intent to appear telephonically.

Pursuant to Judge Bason's COVID19 Procedures, ONLY TELEPHONIC APPEARANCES WILL BE PERMITTED until further notice. Please contact CourtCall at (888) 882-6878 to make arrangements for any telephonic appearance. There is no need to contact the Court for permission. Parties who are not represented by an attorney will be able to use CourtCall for free through 4/30/20. Analysis:

(1) Substantial changes in Debtor's financial affairs

Louis J. Hillegass Jr., et al. ("Secured Creditor") argues that Debtor has not rebutted the presumption that this case was not filed in good faith pursuant to 11 U.S.C. Section 362(c)(3)(C) because Debtor has not, by clear and convincing evidence, shown that there has been a substantial change in her financial affairs since the prior bankruptcy filing. Dkt. 25, p.4:11-13. The tentative ruling is to disagree.

Debtor declares, under penalty of perjury, (i) that she has resolved the regulatory issues that caused her transportation business to go through a slow-down and eventually a shut down, (ii) that in the time since the prior case was dismissed she has been able to resume operating that business, and (iii) that her monthly income has increased from $7,132.00 from the prior case to $8,031.00 in this case. Dkt. 16, PDF p.18, paras. 10-12. As further evidence of these assertions, Debtor attaches several exhibits to the motion.

One exhibit is the profit and loss statement from her business for the month of February 2020, during the pendency of her prior case, showing that her income from the business was $0 at that time. See dkt. 16, Ex. D, PDF p.35. Debtor also includes evidence of the additional expenses she incurred during her prior case in order to resolve the regulatory issues. Id., Ex. C, PDF p. 29. Debtor also attaches a copy of her Schedule I showing the new income amount. Id. at Ex. E, PDF p.37. The tentative ruling is that this evidence is clear and convincing.

In addition, Secured Creditor does not explain how an almost 13% increase in income and now being able to operate a business does not constitute a "substantial" change in Debtor's financial affairs, or how Debtor's evidence is not "clear and convincing." Secured Creditor simply concludes that Debtor has not met her burden.

True, Debtor's reply states that the California COVID-19 orders have reduced Debtor's ability to earn income (to an uncertain extent). See dkt. 27, p.3:19-23. But this Court cannot presume that Debtor knew, when she filed her bankruptcy petition on 3/13/20, or even today, that whatever might be the temporary or long term effects of the disease would necessarily eviscerate the positive changes in her financial affairs.

In sum, the tentative ruling is that Debtor has shown a substantial change in her financial affairs by clear and convincing evidence.

(2) Chapter 13 Plan

Secured Creditor argues that, because of the history of Debtor's prior chapter 13 case including an APO under which Debtor defaulted and several plan modifications, Debtor's current plan has not been proposed in good faith. See id. pp.2:8-3:4 & pp.3:22-4:8. Secured Creditor also argues that Debtor's proposed Chapter 13 plan, intended to last five years, would allow Debtor to circumvent the Congressional intent behind the five year limitation for Chapter 13 reorganization. Dkt. 25, p.4:4-8 & 16-19. Secured creditor cites In re Huerta, 137 B.R. 356 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1992). See id. p.4:4-8.

First, although this is not a confirmation hearing, the tentative ruling is that it is appropriate to take judicial notice of Debtor's proposed plan and assess whether it has obvious hallmarks of not having been proposed in good faith. The tentative ruling is that there is nothing in the plan of that nature.

Chapter 13

Second, this Court respectfully disagrees with much of Huerta. On the principal issue for which Secured Creditor cites Huerta, it has been criticized by the Bankruptcy Appellate Panel of the Ninth Circuit ("BAP"). Although there are decisions supporting the proposition that the 60-month period for repaying creditors should run from the first Chapter 13 filing, "neither Section 1322(c) nor the legislative history conditions the time limitation of Section 1322(c) in the event of multiple filings." In re Martin, 156 B.R. 47, 51 (9th Cir. BAP, 1993). The total duration is certainly relevant, but not dispositive.

In addition, Debtor proposes to convert her case to Chapter 11. If such conversion occurs, there is no per se 60-month limit, although again the total time creditors must await repayment is certainly relevant. See dkt. 27, p.3:24-25.

In fact, a debtor's willingness to endure the hardships of devoting all disposable income to creditors for a longer duration than 60 months, despite temporary setbacks, can be all the more evidence of good faith. Debtor's negative changes in financial circumstances during her prior case were unfortunate but not evidence of bad faith, and her subsequent positive change in financial circumstances is evidence that her plan is proposed in good faith.

The tentative ruling is that Debtor's clear and convincing evidence of good faith overcomes any contrary inference arising from a total duration of over 60 months, on one condition. Debtor must be prepared to limit Secured Creditor's risk and expense, in the event of any future defaults, by entering into a standard stay-current APO.

The standard terms include 14 days after a notice of default to cure any default under the APO, with a maximum of three opportunities to fall into default and then cure under the APO. The tentative ruling is to direct Secured Creditor to lodge a proposed APO within seven days after this hearing.

(3) Alleged "res judicata" effect of prior adequate protection order

Secured Creditor cites Huerta for the proposition that "in serial Chapter 13 cases, it has been held that an [APO] in a prior case has res judicata effect." Dkt. 25, p.4:9-10. First, it is not clear exactly what this means.

Is Secured Creditor arguing that termination of the automatic stay is mechanically required any time there are successive bankruptcy cases? If that is what Congress meant, surely it would have said so; and to the contrary in section 362(c)(3) and (4) Congress provided detailed guidelines for determining when the automatic stay does or does not terminate when successive cases are involved.

More likely Secured Creditor means that some or all findings of fact or conclusions of law that resulted in the prior APO are "law of the case" or are claim preclusive or issue preclusive in some way. That might be so, but the tentative ruling is that the burden is on Secured Creditor to show precisely how principles of preclusion apply. For example, if proceedings leading up to the prior APO involved findings of fact as to the value of property as of a certain date, that would be preclusive (if that date remains relevant); but there is no such showing.

In addition, this Court notes that Huerta cites In re Abdul-Hasan, 104 B.R. 263 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1989) regarding the "res judicata" effect of an APO. Huerta, 137 B.R. 356 at 373. But Abdul-Hasan involved an APO with the following language: "Respondent(s)/Debtor(s) shall be bound by this Order ... in any subsequently filed bankruptcy proceedings of any nature whatsoever ..." Abdul-Hasan, 104 B.R. 263 at 264 (emphasis added). By contrast, the APO between Secured Creditor and Debtor in Debtor's prior Chapter 13 case did not include any such language. See 2:18-bk-19763-NB, dkt. 50.

The tentative ruling is that the prior APO between Secured Creditor and Debtor has not been shown to have any relevant "res judicata" or preclusive effect in the instant case.

(4) Standard conditions

The following are the standard conditions of Judge Bason when issuing orders granting relief under section 362(c)(3). After the hearing date this Court will prepare an order and the tentative ruling is to include the following language in that order:

The stay of 11 U.S.C. 362(a) applies subject to the following modifications and conditions:

(1) Service and reconsideration. Any party in interest who was not timely served in accordance with FRBP 7004 (incorporated by FRBP 9014(b)) is hereby granted through 14 days after proper service to seek reconsideration, including retroactive relief (under FRBP 9023 and/or 9024). Any such person (a) may set a hearing on 14 days' notice, (b) may appear by telephone (if arrangements are made per Judge Bason's posted procedures), and (c) may present all arguments orally at the hearing (i.e., no written argument is required). If written arguments appear necessary then this court will set a briefing schedule at the hearing.

(2) Reasons. (a) It appears appropriate to impose the automatic stay, and to impose it as to all persons rather than just as to selected persons, because one purpose of the automatic stay is to preventing a "race to collect" that could unfairly advantage some creditors at the expense of others. (b) To prevent possible abuse, this Court provides the foregoing simple process for reconsideration.

(3) Very limited ruling. This Court's tentative ruling to grant the foregoing relief is solely for purposes of this motion, and is not intended to have any binding effect with respect to any future assertions by any party in interest regarding the existence or lack of existence of good faith in any other context.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." Tentative Ruling for 3/3/20:

Grant in part, and continue in part to 4/7/20 at 10:00 a.m., subject to the following conditions. Appearances are not required.

The tentative ruling is (1) temporarily to continue the automatic stay as to the 3775 Ruthelen Street property, through the continued hearing on 4/7/20 at 10:00 a.m., to permit the parties time to obtain an appraisal of the property (see dkt. 35, pp.2-3, and dkt. 36), and assess Debtor's progress in this case, and meanwhile (2) to grant the motion as to all remaining property of the Debtor's bankruptcy estate, such that the automatic stay applies to all such property.

(3) Very limited rulings. This Court's tentative ruling is that any finding of "good faith" is (a) solely for purposes of this motion and (b) as to the 3775 Ruthelen Street property, solely on the limited basis set forth at the start of this tentative ruling. In other words, any good faith finding by this Court is not intended to have any binding effect with respect to the existence or lack of existence of good faith beyond the foregoing very limited rulings.

Termination

Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1).

To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

This Court was persuaded to continue the matter to this date at the request of the parties to allow time for Debtor to pursue refinance efforts. This Court has reviewed Debtor's status report (dkt. 50), which requests a further 30-day continuance to finalize a reverse mortgage. There is no tentative ruling, but Movant should be prepared to address whether it will consent to a further continuance.

filed documents and records in this involuntary bankruptcy case.

(1) Current issues

Cynthia Cohen, Esq. and Theodore Sanos, Esq. ("Petitioning Creditors"), filed an involuntary petition against alleged debtor, Samini Cohen Spanos LLP, on 1/3/20. Non-petitioning partner Babak (Bobby) Samini filed a timely answer on 1/24/20 denying the Petitioning Creditors' allegation that the alleged debtor generally is not paying its debts as such debts become due (unless such debts are the subject of a bona fide dispute as to liability or amount) (dkt. 18). The tentative ruling is to continue this status conference to the time and place set forth below, to allow time for the parties to conduct discovery and start to address the above issue.

This Court also notes that Mr. Samini requests damages pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 303(i) (dkt. 18). The tentative ruling is that it is premature to set any discovery cut-off deadlines, or any other related deadlines, on this issue at this time (prior to a determination whether or not to issue an order for relief).

This Court also notes that Mr. Samini's Answer asserts various affirmative defenses, which appear either to constitute alleged grounds for dismissal (the first, second, and fourth affirmative defenses) or to be the same as the elements under 11 U.S.C. 303(h)(1) (the third affirmative defense). The tentative ruling is to bifurcate and defer the asserted affirmative defenses until after addressing the elements of section 303(h)(1).

(2) Mediation

Is there is any reason why this Court should not order the parties to mediation before one of the volunteer mediators (not a Bankruptcy Judge), and meanwhile set the deadlines set forth below? The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 2/25/20 for the parties to lodge a proposed mediation order (the parties are directed to use the time between now and that deadline to find a mutually agreeable mediator whose schedule can accommodate the needs of this matter; and if the parties cannot even agree on a mediator they may lodge separate orders and Judge Bason will chose among them, or issue his own order).

(3) Deadlines

The tentative ruling is to proceed toward trial on the elements of Appearances are not required. If you wish to dispute the tentative ruling you must notify opposing counsel of your intent to appear telephonically.

Pursuant to Judge Bason's COVID19 Procedures, telephonic appearances are REQUIRED until further notice. Please contact CourtCall at (888) 882-6878 to make arrangements for any telephonic appearance. (1) Preliminary issues

The parties have briefed the standards applicable to an award of attorney fees and costs. This tentative ruling does not repeat those standards, but focuses on some disputed issues.

(a) Request for continuance

In their opposition, Mr. David MacMillan and Mr. William Brownstein, Esq. (collectively "Respondents") request a continuance of this hearing on the Motion Of Wyndham Vacation Resorts, Inc. For Sanctions (the "Sanctions Motion," dkt. 26) because due to the COVID-19 pandemic (i) Mr. Brownstein has been unable to meet and confer with Mr. MacMillan and (ii) Mr. Brownstein has had computer trouble that he has been unable to resolve and that computer has information which may aid Mr. Brownstein in establishing that the filing of the Timeshare Relief, Inc. ("Timeshare") bankruptcy case was not in bad faith. Dkt. 37, p.16:5-14.

The tentative ruling is that neither argument is persuasive. First, as to the inability to meet and confer, Mr. Brownstein has not established any reason why he could not communicate with Mr. MacMillan over the phone or via other technology. Second, any evidence probative of whether the Timeshare bankruptcy was filed in bad faith is presently irrelevant. This Court has already ruled (dkt. 34) that sanctions must be awarded. A continued hearing was set on the Sanctions Motion only to determine the amount of sanctions. To the extent that there are grounds for reconsideration, Mr. Brownstein can file an appropriate motion.

(b) Local rule regarding form of fee applications for estate's professionals

In their opposition, Respondents argue that the requested fees should be disallowed because Wyndham's counsel has not complied with LBR 2016-1(a)(1)(H) (Local Bankruptcy Rule). See dkt. 37, p.3:15-16.

The tentative ruling is that this argument is not persuasive. As explained in the reply, LBR 2016-1, by its terms, does not apply to sanction fee awards, but applies to professionals who are employed by the estate. See dkt. 39, p.4:4-20.

Nevertheless, on one issue this Court is persuaded that the local rules provides a useful guideline. Wyndham is directed to file a declaration authenticating resumes for all individuals who are listed as having performed the work at issue - except for Mr. Daniel Eliades, Esq., because this Court is familiar with his legal expertise based on the arguments he has made in court throughout this bankruptcy case, and the papers he has filed and that this Court has reviewed. The content of the resumes should be as follows:

A description of the professional education and experience of each of the individuals rendering services, including identification of the professional school attended, year of graduation, year admitted to practice, publications or other achievements, and explanation of any specialized background or expertise in bankruptcy-related matters. [LBR 2016-1(a)(1)(H)]

The remainder of this tentative ruling presumes, solely for purposes of discussing the other issues presented, that the hourly rates charged by the listed professionals will not be reduced. If they are reduced, then further adjustments will need to be made to this Court's figures below.

(c) Clerical matters

In their opposition, Respondents object to several time entries on the basis that the work performed is clerical in nature. See, e.g., dkt. 37, p.7:9-12.

Central District of California

Tuesday, April 7, 2020

Hearing Room 1545

11:00 AM

CONT... TIMESHARE RELIEF, INC.

Chapter 7

It is well established that it is inappropriate to bill at attorneys' hourly rates for matters that are clerical in nature. For example, filing and serving papers typically is clerical because it does not take a law degree to stuff envelopes or to e-file.

But sometimes it does take an attorney - and an experienced one at that - to sort out the complex rules and procedures in bankruptcy cases, even for such ordinary matters as service of papers. See, e.g., In re State Line, 323 B.R. 703, 710-13 (9th Cir. BAP 2005) (2-1 decision that service of claim objections is governed by Rule 3007 not Rules 7004 and 9014(b) (Fed. R. Bankr. P.); citing contrary authorities from other jurisdictions) (Rule 3007 has been amended, subsequent to this decision; but the point is that even on such basic matters as service the rules may require an attorney's analysis), vacated and remanded as moot, 2007 WL 1961935.

This Court has used its discretion to reduce fees for some matters that appear to be primarily clerical. This Court has also used its discretion not to disallow fees on other matters that, although arguably are somewhat clerical, appear on balance to warrant billing at attorney rates.

(d) Multiple attorneys, and allegedly duplicative work

In their opposition, Respondents object to several time entries on the basis that the work performed by one attorney constitutes "a duplicate of efforts" by another attorney. See, e.g., dkt. 37, p.5:24-27.

The tentative ruling is that those objections are not persuasive. It is generally acceptable for multiple attorneys to work on the same issue or motion. In fact, sometimes it is far more efficient to delegate work, even though it takes time to explain the relevant issues to a lower billing rate attorney, because ultimately the total bill will be less than if the higher biller did everything. In addition, emails and telephone conferences can be effective, because two (or more) heads can be better than one. Of course, it is a matter of appropriate discretion: delegation and conferences sometimes are wasteful. Attorneys are expected to use sound billing judgment, and this Court scrutinizes fee applications for such matters. But there is no presumption that time must be disallowed just because multiple attorneys are involved.

(e) Clumping, and other bankruptcy-specific rules

In their opposition, Respondents argue that the requested fees should be disallowed because Wyndham's counsel has violated LBR 2016-1(a)(1)(E)(iii) by lumping multiple services together. See dkt. 37, p.3:18-19.

Chapter 7

As set forth above, LBR 2016-1 does not apply to sanction fee awards. In addition, it would be inappropriate to apply bankruptcy-specific rules retroactively to professionals who were billing their clients, not the estate. For example, time need not always be billed in tenths of an hour; records need not be exactly contemporaneous; and some clumping is to be expected. Nevertheless, it is only appropriate for Wyndham's counsel to bill for the matters on which sanctions have been awarded. So, when clumping occurs, this Court must award only the portion of the fees that appear to be attributable to the sanctioned matters.

(f) Wyndham's failure to stipulate to a dismissal of the TSR bankruptcy case

In their opposition, Respondents argue that "any sanctions for filing the TSR bankruptcy case[] should be cut off at the time that Respondents agreed to a dismissal on 11/17/19 ..." Dkt. 37, p.9:11-13. The tentative ruling is that this argument is not persuasive.

The Sanctions Motion explains that Wyndham notified Respondents in a demand letter that the TSR bankruptcy petition was improper and demanded dismissal of the TSR bankruptcy case. Dkt. 26, p.2:17-21. The Sanctions Motion states in relevant part

... after WVR had filed the Motion to Dismiss, Brownstein offered to stipulate to dismissal of the TSR bankruptcy case. ... Counsel to WVR promptly responded that WVR would agree to resolve the Motion to Dismiss by way of a stipulation which dismissed the TSR bankruptcy case and reimbursed WVR for its legal fees and costs in connection with preparation of the motion ... Brownstein never responded to that offer... [Dkt. 26, p.2-3, n.1]

Respondents' opposition to the Sanctions Motion does not dispute the above quoted language. See generally dkt. 30. The tentative ruling is that it is reasonable for Wyndham not to stipulate to dismissal of the Timeshare bankruptcy case if Wyndham was going to be responsible for attorney's fees that should not have been incurred.

(2) Application of the foregoing tentative rulings to the bills presented

Based on the above, the tentative ruling is that it is appropriate to sustain the Respondent's objections in part, and reduce Wyndham's counsel's requested fees by $3,305.25, broken down as follows:

(3) Conclusion

The tentative ruling is to award Wyndham/K&L Gates LLP $32,204.25 in fees and $0 in costs, payable jointly and severally by Mr. Brownstein and Mr. MacMillan (see dkt. 34, p.2:10-14) within 10 days of entry of an order granting the Sanctions Motion. The funds must be payable as instructed by K&L Gates LLP (e.g., whether the payee is Wyndham or K&L Gates LLP, and the delivery address for any check).

Defendants' Motion to Dismiss Trustee's Complaint (2:19-ap-01517-NB, the "MTD," adv. dkt. 11) and Trustee's Opposition (adv. dkt. 15)

The tentative ruling is to deny the MTD for the reasons set forth below.

(1) Legal standards

Rule 8(c) provides in relevant part:

(c) Affirmative Defenses

(1) In General. In responding to a pleading, a party must affirmatively state any avoidance or affirmative defense, including: ... statute of limitations ... [Rule 8(c)(1) (Fed. R. Civ. P., made applicable by Rule 7008, Fed. R. Bankr. P.)]

Rule 12 provides in relevant part:

(b) How to Present Defenses. Every defense to a claim for relief in any pleading must be asserted in the responsive pleading if one is required. But a party may assert the following defenses by motion:

(5) insufficient service of process;
(6) failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted [Rule 12(b)(4)-(6) (Fed. R. Civ. P., made applicable by Rule 7012, Fed. R. Bankr. P.)]

(2) Analysis

(a) Service against Erica Martin was effective

Defendants argue that the Trustee's complaint should be dismissed as to Erica Martin pursuant to Rule 12(b)(4)&(5) because she was not properly served. See adv. dkt. 11, p.2:16-17; p.11:9-12. In his opposition, the Trustee states that he will effect proper service on Erica Martin. Adv. dkt. 15, p.3:13-15.

At the hearing on 2/18/20 this Court heard oral argument on the MTD. Mr. Dumas stated that Mr. Brownstein accepted service on behalf of Erica Martin. Mr. Brownstein stated that while he had agreed to accept service on behalf of Erica Martin, he had not received the summons and complaint specifically directed to her, and thus had not filed a reply to the Trustee's opposition. In addition, Mr. Brownstein stated that he had had the flu, and requested that the hearing on the MTD be continued so that he could have time to file a reply to the Trustee's opposition.

This Court orally ruled that Mr. Dumas' argument was more persuasive on the issue of service, but continued the hearing to today because of Mr. Brownstein's illness, with a deadline of 3/10/20 for Mr. Brownstein to file a reply. No reply has been filed. Accordingly, this Court re-adopts its oral ruling that service was effective.

(b) Defendants have not established that, as a matter of law, the claims are time barred

Defendants argue that the Trustee's complaint should be dismissed pursuant to FRCP 12(b)(6) because the claims are time barred pursuant to 11 U.S.C. Section 546 and Cal. C.C.P. 336 & 337. Adv. dkt. 11, p.8:19-28. In his opposition, the Trustee explains persuasively that Section 546 is not relevant to the issues raised in the MTD, and that Cal. C.C.P. 336 and 337 do not apply to the Trustee's claims. Adv. dkt. 15, pp. 4:26-5:14. The Trustee acknowledges, however, that a different statute of limitations/repose applies: section 3439.09 of the California Civil Code regarding voidable transfers, and (if that somewhat recently enacted statute does not apply) section 338 of the California Code of Civil Procedure.

The statute of limitations is an affirmative defense under FRCP 8(c), and generally cannot be raised in a FRCP 12(b)(6) motion to dismiss. But "if the running of the statute is apparent on the face of the complaint, the defense may be raised by a motion to dismiss." Jablon v. Dean Witter & Co., 614 F.2d 677, 682 (9th Cir. 1980). On a motion to dismiss for failure to state a claim, this Court must accept all factual allegations as true, but "a complaint must contain sufficient factual matter, accepted as true, to state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face." Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678 (2009) (internal quotation marks omitted) (citing Bell Atlantic Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 570 (2007)).

The Trustee's complaint alleges that there are creditors of Attitude that "did not know and could not reasonable have known about the transfer or the role that Martin and Chaffin played in the transfer within one year of the bankruptcy filing" that served as the basis for the Trustee's complaint. Adv. dkt. 1 at PDF p.9, para. 23. Whether or not creditors knew or could have known about the conduct is a factual allegation. If taken as true, the statute of limitations for the asserted claims would be tolled under the Trustee's cited California Civil Code sections. Thus it is not clear from the face of the Trustee's complaint that the statute of limitations has run on the Trustee's claims, and the MTD has not established that as a matter of law the claims are time barred.

(3) Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the tentative ruling is to deny the MTD.

Proposed order: Trustee is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this Court's final ruling, subject to any changes ordered at the hearing. See LBR 9021-1(b) (1)(B).

(A) Preliminary issues

(1) Proof of service re another summons (adv. dkt. 16)

In response to the Defendants' argument in their Motion to Dismiss (adv. dkt. 11) that Erica Martin was not served with the Trustee's Complaint (adv. dkt. 1), the Trustee stated that Erica Martin would be served with a new summons. Adv. dkt. 15, p.3:13-15. Another summons was issued on 2/4/20 (adv. dkt. 16) and at the hearing on 2/18/20 the Trustee represented that this summons had been served; but as of the drafting of this tentative ruling, no written proof of service has been filed on the docket. The Trustee is directed to file a proof of service evidencing such service no later than 4/10/20.

(3) Status report

The new summons provides that the parties were required to file a joint status report no later than 14 days before this status conference (3/24/20). As of the drafting no status report has been filed. The parties are reminded of their obligation to file status reports.

(B) Standard issues

This Court has reviewed the filed documents and records in this adversary proceeding. The following are Judge Bason's standard requirements for status conferences, modified slightly to account for the fact that appearances are not required. (To the extent that the parties have already addressed these issues in their status report, they need not repeat their positions at the status conference.)

(1) Venue/jurisdiction/authority.

The parties are directed to address any outstanding matters of (a) venue, (b) jurisdiction, (c) this Bankruptcy Court's authority to enter final orders or judgment(s) in this proceeding and, if consent is required, whether the parties do consent, or have already expressly or impliedly consented. Failure to contest this tentative ruling will be construed as consent, to the extent any consent is required, or alternatively as a waiver or forfeiture. See generally Stern v. Marshall, 131 S.Ct. 2594, 2608 (2011) (if litigant "believed that the Bankruptcy Court lacked the authority to decide his claim...then he should have said so – and said so promptly."); *Wellness Int'l Network, Ltd. v. bk-22321-NB, dkt. 26), (see also dkt. 30, 31, 32, 36, 37, 39)

Award Wyndham/K&L Gates LLP $32,204.25 in fees and $0 in costs, payable jointly and severally by Mr. Brownstein and Mr. MacMillan (see dkt. 34, p.2:10-14) within 10 days of entry of an order granting the Sanctions Motion, for the reasons stated in the tentative ruling for calendar no. 5 (4/7/20 at 11:00 a.m.).

(b) Defendants' Motion to Dismiss Trustee's Complaint (Trustee-Adv-2, 2:19-ap-01517-NB, the "MTD," adv. dkt. 11) and Trustee's Opposition (adv. dkt. 15)

Deny the MTD for the reasons set forth in calendar no. 7 (4/7/20 at 11:00 a.m.).

(c) Order to Show Cause (the "OSC," MacCase, Case No. 2:16-bk-21559-NB, dkt. 428)

This Court issued the OSC; Florance did not respond. The docket and records of prior hearings reflect continuances to assess what documents Florance belatedly produced. The docket does not reflect any further activity.

The tentative ruling is to direct Wyndham, within seven days after this hearing date, to lodge a proposed order holding Florance in contempt, but not to take any further action at this time, and to reserve jurisdiction in the event that any party in interest seeks further relief on this matter (e.g., sanctions, or evidentiary presumptions based on any failure to produce discovery). Meanwhile, the tentative ruling is to take this matter off calendar.

(d) Status Conference: Trustee-Karen-Adv (Case No. 2:19-ap-01156-NB)

At the 2/18/20 hearing, this Court continued this status conference to ensure that the order approving the parties' settlement would be issued. While an order approving the settlement was issued in the AttitudeCase (2:19-bk-10552-NB, dkt. 142), no separate order was lodged providing for dismissal of the adversary proceeding.

The tentative ruling is to continue this status conference as set forth above in section "(2)" of this tentative ruling to ensure that a proposed dismissal order is lodged by the Trustee in the Trustee-Karen-Adv. If such an order is issued, the continued hearing on this status conference will come off calendar.

(A) Preliminary issues

(1) Proof of service of summons

A summons was issued on 12/26/19 (adv. dkt. 2), but as of the drafting of this tentative ruling, no proof of service evidencing service of the summons and complaint has been filed. Did the Trustee timely serve the summons and complaint? If so, Trustee is directed to file a proof of service evidencing such service no later than 4/10/20.

(2) Allegations in the complaint (adv. dkt. 1) re Section 727

The Adversary Proceeding Cover Sheet to the Trustee's complaint checks the box for objection/revocation of discharge pursuant to Section 727. Adv. dkt. 1, PDF p.1. But the body of the complaint does not address Section 727. The Trustee is reminded in future to avoid such discrepancies.

Chapter 7

The summons provides that the parties must file a joint status report no later than 14 days before the hearing (3/24/20). Adv. dkt. 2, p.2. As of the drafting of this tentative ruling, no status report has been filed. The parties are reminded of their obligation to file status reports.

(B) Standard issues

This Court has reviewed the filed documents and records in this adversary proceeding. The following are Judge Bason's standard requirements for status conferences, modified slightly to account for the fact that appearances are not required. (To the extent that the parties have already addressed these issues in their status report, they need not repeat their positions at the status conference.)

(1) Venue/jurisdiction/authority.

The parties are directed to address any outstanding matters of (a) venue, (b) jurisdiction, (c) this Bankruptcy Court's authority to enter final orders or judgment(s) in this proceeding and, if consent is required, whether the parties do consent, or have already expressly or impliedly consented. If the summons and complaint have been served then failure to contest this tentative ruling will be construed as consent, to the extent any consent is required, or alternatively as a waiver or forfeiture. See generally Stern v. Marshall, 131 S.Ct. 2594, 2608 (2011) (if litigant "believed that the Bankruptcy Court lacked the authority to decide his claim...then he should have said so – and said so promptly."); Wellness Int'l Network, Ltd. v. Sharif, 135 S.Ct. 1932 (2015) (consent must be knowing and voluntary but need not be express); In re Bellingham Ins. Agency, Inc., 702 F.3d 553 (9th Cir. 2012) (implied consent), aff'd on other grounds, 134 S. Ct. 2165 (2014); In re Pringle, 495 B.R. 447 (9th Cir. BAP 2013) (rebuttable presumption that failure to challenge authority to issue final order is intentional and indicates consent); In re Deitz, 760 F.3d 1028 (9th Cir. 2014) (authority to adjudicate nondischargeability encompasses authority to liquidate debt and enter final judgment). See generally In re AWTR Liquidation, Inc., 548 B.R. 300 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2016).

(1) Current issues

(a) Lack of prosecution of this case

Debtor's status report suggests that no budget motion is required, despite the fact that the posted Procedures of Judge Bason require one (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov under Judges). Debtor explains that "[n]o rents have been collected and we don't know if the tenant is going to pay" and "[e]xpenses are minimal and go to upkeep." Dkt.27, p.3, item B.2.

If the tenant is not paying rents, why do the Status Report and the docket not reflect efforts to evict the tenant and/or collect the rent? In addition, if there is a tenant, why does the Status Report state (dkt.27, p.7) that there are no leases? If there is no written lease, and the tenancy is month-to-month, that should have been explained, and it would seem to be all the more reason why the tenant promptly should either pay rents or be evicted. It has already been nearly a month since the petition date of 3/9/20, with no apparent action.

The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 4/10/20 for Debtor to file a declaration addressing the foregoing issues.

(b) Schedules I and J are deficient (dkt. 17)

Chapter 11

Debtor's Schedule I identifies $11,000 in monthly rental income from the Robin Drive property, but Debtor did not attach a separate statement showing gross receipts, ordinary and necessary business expenses, and the total monthly net income (as expressly required by line 8a) - e.g. mortgage payments, real property taxes, insurance, maintenance. Even if those things are not currently being collected/paid, the form directs Debtor to state whether there is any anticipated change in future, and the tentative ruling is to direct Debtor to set forth in detail her projections for all of these things.

Additionally, Debtor's Amended Schedule J is virtually blank. Debtor explains that all of Debtor's expenses are being paid by Medicare, but (a) Debtor does not identify any medicare income on Schedule I and (b) that still does not explain the failure to list whatever expenses are being paid on Debtor's behalf.

The tentative ruling is that Debtor is directed to file amended schedules I and J no later than 4/10/20.

(c) Schedule D (dkt.17, at PDF pp.21-22)

Debtor apparently assumes that she has a 100% chance of success in her nonbankruptcy litigation, because she asserts that there are no liens at all on her Robin Drive property. The tentative ruling is that this is flagrantly contrary to Debtor's obligation to list all claims, even if those claims are disputed (or contingent, or unliquidated). The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 4/10/20 for Debtor to file an amended Schedule D listing the disputed lien and its dollar amount.

(d) Proposed special counsel, and cost/benefit analysis

The tentative ruling is to set for hearing Debtor's application to employ special counsel, the objection thereto, and the amended application (see dkt. 26, 28, 29). The tentative hearing date is concurrent with the continued status conference (see part "(2)" below).

As this Court understands the pending nonbankruptcy litigation, several actions have been designated as "related" by the State Court(s), and there is a pending appeal that is set for oral argument later this month. The principal issue appears to be whether a mortgagee's deed of trust, that at least initially had an incorrect and/or missing property description, was sufficient to create (a) a lien as against Debtor and (b) inquiry or other effective notice as against third parties, when it is undisputed that the deed of trust was recorded in the real estate records, and when presumably it was included in the grantor/grantee index under Debtor's name. It appears that the trial court(s) have ruled against Debtor.

With this background, this Court reminds Debtor and her general bankruptcy counsel that, given Debtor's duties as a trustee for the benefit of creditors, she has an obligation to make a cost/benefit analysis regarding the litigation, and also has a duty to monitor proposed special counsel. This Court notes that proposed special counsel is not disinterested - she has a substantial prepetition claim - and although there is no requirement in 11 U.S.C. 327(e) of disinterestedness, there is still a requirement that proposed special counsel not "hold any interest adverse to the debtor or to the estate with respect to the matter on which such attorney is to be employed."

In addition, this Court takes judicial notice that, depending on the facts (which are unknown to this Court), sometimes debtors have nothing to lose by pursuing "long shot" litigation, but creditors have everything to lose. For example, a hypothetical debtor might have little or nothing to lose if they are already insolvent, because either the value of their property will go to pay the secured creditor(s), or it will go to pay unsecured creditors, so they have no net financial loss either way; but if the long shot litigation pays off they can keep their home. This Court emphasizes that this is only one scenario, and this case might be very different. But there is not enough information in the record at present for creditors to be able to make an informed decision whether or not Debtor has financial incentives to act in their best interests.

The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 4/10/20 for Debtor to file, and serve on all parties in interest including the United States Trustee via U.S. mail, a notice of the hearing on the employment application, which notice must include a copy of this tentative ruling, and must provide notice of a deadline of 4/21/20 for any response, and 4/28/20 for any reply. In addition, the tentative ruling is that, concurrent with the notice, Debtor must file and serve declaration(s) addressing the foregoing issues.

(e) Debtor's emergency motion for order confirming that stay applies to pre-petition state court litigation (dkt. 30, the "Stay Motion"), application for hearing on shortened time (dkt. 31) and order thereon (dkt. 32)

There is no tentative ruling. The parties should be prepared to address the issues raised in the tentative ruling for the Stay Motion (Calendar no. 1.1, 4/7/20 at 1:00 p.m.).

Chapter 11

#1.10 Hrg re: Debtor in Possession and Plaintiff's Emergency Motion for Order Confirming That All Matters are Stayed

Tentative Ruling:

Appearances required, but pursuant to Judge Bason's COVID19 Procedures, telephonic appearances are REQUIRED until further notice.

Please contact CourtCall at (888) 882-6878 to make arrangements for any telephonic appearance. There is no need to contact the Court for permission. Parties who are not represented by an attorney will be able to use CourtCall for free through 4/30/20. There is no tentative ruling but the parties should be prepared to address the following issues.

(1) Background

Debtor seeks a ruling by this Bankruptcy Court that the automatic stay of 11 U.S.C. 362(a) applies to "all matters" at issue in the State Courts. Dkt.30, p.8:16. Specifically, three related nonbankruptcy matters appear to be involved:

- (a) Jamali et al v. Select Portfolio Servicing, Inc. et al (L.A. Superior Ct. Case No. B290145) (the "First Action")
- (b) Jamali v. U.S. Bank et al and Cross-Action of U.S. Bank v. Jamali (L.A. Superior Ct. Case No. BC593550) (the "Second Action")
- (c) Espinal v. U.S. Bank – Jamali et al (L.A. Superior Ct. Case No. 19STCV29627) (the "Third Action") [See dkt.30, p.2:8-23 & 5:22-25]

(2) Service of order shortening time ("OST," dkt.32)

The OST (dkt.32, p.2) requires service on all parties in the State Court litigation referenced in the motion, as well as in the adversary proceeding in this Court (Jamali v. U.S. Bank [as trustee], Adv. No. 2:20-ap-01068-NB). Debtor's proof of service ("POS," dkt.34) does not sufficiently prove such service.

The POS shows service on U.S. Bank, but not to the attention of an officer, via certified mail, as required by Rule 7004(b)(3) and (h). The POS shows service on several attorneys, although without identifying whom they represent, and generally an attorney for a party to nonbankruptcy litigation cannot be presumed to be authorized to accept service for the same party in a bankruptcy case (see In re Villar, 317 B.R. 88 (9th Cir. BAP 2004)). In addition, the proof of service is far from clear about whether all parties have been served.

For example, has Debtor served David Duvall as trustee of the Robin Land Trust, or Narges Jamali Mazlaghani (see dkt.35, Ex.2, p.2:8-10)? It appears that bankruptcy counsel might have only just received the cross-complaint that names those parties on 4/4/20 (see dkt.35), so it seems likely they were not served.

The tentative ruling is that, if parties to the State Court litigation were not served, they have been deprived the opportunity to be heard on the motion, and therefore this Court should not decide the merits of the motion. Nevertheless, because it is difficult to know from the present record if service was sufficient, this tentative ruling goes on to address other issues.

Debtor alleges that paragraphs (2) through (4) of Section 362(a) apply. See dkt.30, p.7:15-16. For context, this tentative ruling quotes all of Section 362(a):

- (a) Except as provided in subsection (b) of this section, a petition filed under section 301, 302, or 303 of this title, or an application filed under section 5(a)(3) of the Securities Investor Protection Act of 1970, operates as a stay, applicable to all entities, of—

- before the commencement of the case under this title;
- (2) the enforcement, against the debtor or against property of the estate, of a judgment obtained before the commencement of the case under this title;
  - (3) any act to obtain possession of property of the estate or of property from the estate or to exercise control over property of the estate;
  - (4) any act to create, perfect, or enforce any lien against property of the estate;
  - (5) any act to create, perfect, or enforce against property of the debtor any lien to the extent that such lien secures a claim that arose before the commencement of the case under this title;
  - (6) any act to collect, assess, or recover a claim against the debtor that arose before the commencement of the case under this title;
  - (7) the setoff of any debt owing to the debtor that arose before the commencement of the case under this title against any claim against the debtor; and
  - (8) the commencement or continuation of a proceeding before the United States Tax Court concerning a tax liability of a debtor that is a corporation for a taxable period the bankruptcy court may determine or concerning the tax liability of a debtor who is an individual for a taxable period ending before the date of the order for relief under this title. [11 U.S.C. 362(a) (emphasis added)]

(4) Preliminary analysis

Debtor has not alleged any violation of paragraph "(1)" of section 362(a) - actions against Debtor. Presumably that is because two of the three related actions are by Debtor, and those could be disaggregated from the rest of the litigation and could proceed. See Parker v. Bain, 68 F.3d 1131, 1137 (9th Cir. 1995). Debtor seeks to stay all of the litigation.

Debtor cites Dean v. TransWorld Airlines, Inc., 72 F.3d 754 (9th Cir. 1995). That case also involved paragraph "(1)" of the statute, so arguably it is inapplicable. But Debtor apparently cites Dean for the more general proposition that, if any paragraph of section 362(a) applies to a given claim in the nonbankruptcy litigation, then all matters involving that claim are stayed, even if the stayed proceedings might result in rulings that would neither interfere with Debtor's breathing spell nor alter creditors' positions vis-a-vis each other. To that extent the tentative ruling is to agree with Debtor.

But this presumes that one of the paragraphs of section 362(a) applies to each claim in the nonbankruptcy actions. Debtor does not cite any authority that paragraphs "(2)", "(3)", or "(4)" of section 362(a) do apply.

Debtor apparently relies on the "plain meaning" of the statute. Accordingly, the tentative ruling is to focus on that plain meaning, subject to any authority that may be cited by other parties in interest.

(1) Current issues

(a) Motion of the U.S. Trustee ("UST") to dismiss (dkt. 65, "MTD"), debtor's opposition (dkt. 86), UST's reply (dkt. 168, 170), debtor's response (dkt. 179), debtor's status report (dkt. 180)

(i) the UST's MTD and related papers,
(ii) Debtor's lack of progress noted in the relief from stay orders (dkt. 173, 174),

(iii) Debtor's apparent history of mis-starts and poor management of this estate, including a long history of missed projections about how this case would progress, an abandoned attempt to retain a professional to rent out property as an Air-bnb, the belated and unsuccessful attempts to explore a sale or refinancing of the Bel Air property, and transfers of funds without adequate explanation (as referenced in this Court's prior tentative rulings for 10/29/19, 10/15/19, and 9/24/19, reproduced below).

Chapter 11

(b) Inadequate attempts to stop the running of default interest

An additional concern, which may bear on the MTD, is whether Debtor has made adequate attempts to stop the running of postpetition default interest payable to Patch of Land Lending, LLC ("Patch"). The tentative ruling is that she has not.

From the inception of this bankruptcy case this Court has raised concerns that default interest, late fees, and other charges are consuming any equity in the Bel Air property at a rapid rate. On 8/13/19 this Court issued an order conditionally continuing the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(c) (3) and setting a deadline of 11/12/19 for Debtor to "file a motion to refinance the Bel Air Road property, or file a realistic plan of reorganization, or otherwise file appropriate papers aimed at stopping the running of postpetition default interest owed to Patch [of Land Lending]." Dkt. 31, Ex.1, p.1, item "(ii)" (emphasis added). Debtor filed a motion challenging the validity of Patch's assertion that it is entitled to default interest and late fees under 11 U.S.C. 506(b) (the "Default Interest Motion," dkt. 123). That is insufficient, for two reasons.

First, it is not enough to file the Default Interest Motion without prosecuting it. The hearing on that motion has been continued several times (dkt. 129, 133, 141) with the current hearing set to be heard 5/5/20 at 1:00 p.m. (dkt. 164).

Second, the Default Interest Motion has the effect of gambling that Debtor will prevail in her attempt to establish that no default interest is owed - an uphill battle that might well fail - rather than stopping the running of whatever interest turns out to be owed. See, e.g., East West Bank v. Altadena Lincoln Crossing, LLC, 598 B.R. 633 (C.D. Cal. 2019) (allowing default interest). This distinction is further explained below.

As a preliminary matter, it is helpful to recognize the different periods in which default interest may accrue:

Three categories of interest exist in bankruptcy cases: (1) interest accrued prior to the filing of the bankruptcy petition (prepetition interest); (2) interest accrued after the filing of a petition but prior to the effective date of a reorganization plan (pendency interest); and (3) interest to accrue under the terms of a reorganization plan (plan interest). ...

Generally, the Code does not provide for pendency interest to creditors, because the filing of the petition usually stops interest from accruing. Section 506(b), however, provides an exception for oversecured creditors:

To the extent that an allowed secured claim is secured by property the value of which, after any recovery under subsection (c) of this section, is greater than the amount of such claim, there shall be allowed to the holder of such claim, interest on such claim, and any reasonable fees, costs, or charges provided for under the agreement or State statute under which such claim arose. [11 U.S.C. 506(b) (emphasis added).]

Thus, an oversecured creditor can recover pendency interest as part of its allowed claim, at least to the extent it is oversecured. Any accumulated pendency interest determined under § 506(b) is added to the allowed claim of an oversecured creditor and then paid pursuant to the terms of the confirmed plan with plan interest determined under § 1129(b)(2)(A)(i)(II). [In re Beltway One Dev. Group, LLC, 547 B.R. 819, 826 (9th Cir. BAP 2016) (emphasis added, citations omitted).]

There are only three ways that occur to this Court to stop the running of pendency default interest.

(i) A sale under section 363

Debtor could sell the Bel Air property under 11 U.S.C. 363. That is only a partial remedy because it does not stop the running of pendency default interest before the proceeds are distributed. GECC v. Future Media, 547 F.3d 956 (9th Cir. 2008). But at least from that point forward it would stop the ongoing accrual of pendency default interest.

Unfortunately, a section 363 sale appears to be precluded because Debtor reports that any sale of the Bel Air property would result in capital gains taxes estimated at roughly $1 million. Dkt.159, p.17:1-4. In other words, the cure might be worse than the disease.

(ii) Refinancing the debt

Debtor attempted to refinance Patch's debt, but not fully. Patch objected, and this Court denied Debtor's refinancing motion. Debtor has not presented any alternative refinancing proposal. So this alternative appears to be unavailable.

(iii) Plan confirmation

The last way known to this Court to stop the running of pendency default interest is to confirm a plan that restructures the debt to Patch and reduces the interest rate. As with the other alternatives, this is only a partial remedy because it does not stop the running of pendency interest before the effective date of the plan. But at least it stops the accrual of default interest going forward.

An added benefit of confirming a plan used to be available under some decisions in the Ninth Circuit: retroactively eliminating all pendency default interest. See Beltway One, 547 B.R. 819, 826-28 (discussing In re Entz-White Lumber & Supply, Inc., 850 F.2d 1338 (9th Cir. 1988), and subsequent lower court decisions). But more recent guidance from the Court of Appeals has been interpreted to mean that pendency interest is not eliminated unless the claim is left unimpaired - i.e., unless all defaults in un-matured long-term debt are cured, or matured debt is paid in full on the effective date. See Beltway One, 547 B.R. 819, 826-28 (interpreting Future Media, 547 F.3d 956).

This Court expresses no opinion on these issues except to note that they exist. The point is that, at the very least, it appears that confirmation of a plan would provide a partial remedy because it would stop the ongoing running of pendency default interest, and replace it with plan interest going forward.

(iv) Conclusion as to default interest

Why has Debtor not attempted to move forward with a plan of reorganization to address the default interest?

(c) Application to employ public adjuster Asset Recovery Association dba ClaimsXP (dkt. 167, "Application"); opposition of Wilmington Savings Fund Society ("Wilmington") (dkt. 181, 182); notice of hearing (dkt. 184); Debtor's reply (dkt. 192)

There is no tentative ruling. Debtor should be prepared to provide this Court with an update on the 4/1/20 AIG inspection (dkt. 192, Bordon decl., para. 7) and AIG's response, if any, to the adjusted insurance claim of $454,717.11 (id., para.6). Wilmington should be prepared to address under what conditions it would support employment of ClaimsXP (or any other adjuster).

If this Court is persuaded to grant the Application and authorize some form of employment of ClaimsXP retroactively to 1/7/20, employment will be

(d) Motion to allow Claim 29 filed by Shiv Raj Gupta and Saroj Gupta ("Claimants") (dkt. 150), debtor's opposition (dkt. 178), claimants' reply (dkt. 188)

The tentative ruling is to grant the motion on the terms set forth in Claimants' reply (dkt. 188): namely, that the late-filed claim is allowed as a general unsecured claim in the amount of $284,664.66 without prejudice to Debtor's right to object to any dollar amount that exceeds Debtor's admitted (scheduled) amount of $250,000.

(e) Motion to allow Claim 31 filed by Deanna D'Egidio ("Claimant") (dkt. 152), debtor's motion to extend opposition deadline (dkt. 186) and order thereon (dkt. 189), debtor's opposition (dkt. 187), claimant's reply (dkt. 193)

The tentative ruling is to grant the motion on the terms set forth in Debtor's opposition (dkt. 187) and Claimant's reply (dkt. 193): namely, that the late-filed claim is allowed as a general unsecured claim in the amount of $44,500.00.

Proposed orders: Movants are directed to lodge proposed orders on each of the foregoing motions via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby adopting it as this Court's final ruling, subject to any changes ordered at the hearing. (1) Current issues

(a) UST's motion to dismiss (dkt. 65), debtor's opposition (dkt. 86), no reply is on file

There is no tentative ruling. The parties should be prepared to address whether debtor has cured all outstanding compliance issues, and whether Debtor's second corrected opposition continues to have error(s) in calculating projected cash flow. That opposition lists net income before personal expenses for "Oct-19" and "Nov-19" as -5,850.00, but then after personal expenses of $1,751.00 for each month it lists "excess income" of $34,900.00. Tentative Ruling for 8/20/19:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor and by debtor herself.

(1) Current issues

(a) Airbnb

Debtor's budget motion (dkt. 37, Ex.A, p.2) reveals that, although the Sweetzer property is "listed to be sold," meanwhile "Debtor intends to rent [that property] as an Airbnb." The tentative ruling is that this is a transaction out of the ordinary course, which requires notice, an opportunity for a hearing, and approval by this Court. 11 U.S.C. 363(b). Has Debtor already acted on this intent, without such approval?

In addition, this Court is concerned about (i) whether Airbnb rental would be in compliance with any local permitting and zoning requirements and is otherwise permissible, (ii) whether that proposed use might expose the bankruptcy estate to liabilities, (iii) whether there is adequate insurance for that use of the property, and (iv) whether the proposed sale of the property is consistent with any agreement with Airbnb.

(b) Real estate agent.

The employment application (dkt. 26, p.4:1-4) states that Agent has agreed to disclose to Debtor [i.e., only to Debtor? how about disclosure to creditors, the US Trustee, and this Court?] any agency relationship Agent has with other parties ("Third Parties") that may be part of a real estate transaction for the sale of the Real

Revised Tentative Ruling for 2/18/20:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor and by the debtor(s) themselves.

(1) Current issues

(a) Employment application (dkt.21)

Debtor has filed Nat. Form B2030 (dkt. 23) and an amended SOFA (dkt. 24) disclosing that a retainer of $10,000 was paid by one James G. Lewis, who is described as one of Debtor's unsecured creditors. The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 2/25/20 for Debtor and Mr. Lewis each to file and serve on the Office of the United States Trustee their declarations addressing the ethical concerns involved whenever a retainer is paid by a third party. See In re 9469 Beverly Crest, LLC (Case No. 2:19-bk-20000-NB, dkt.44). The tentative ruling is to set the employment application for hearing concurrent with the continued status conference (see below).

As for other issues raised in the tentative ruling for 2/4/20 (reproduced below), the tentative ruling is to cap costs for photocopying and other expenses per the applicable guidelines (see dkt.21, at PDF p.20), to authorize late payment charges only from when fees and costs are authorized and directed to be paid by this Court (see id., at PDF p.21), and to include the other standard provisions set forth in the posted Procedures of Judge Bason (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov).

(b) Budget motion (as amended, dkt.34): This motion has been self-calendared for 3/3/20 at 1:00 p.m. There is no tentative ruling regarding that motion, but this Court notes (in anticipation of that hearing) that (i) Debtor lists a $750/mo. contribution from his son (dkt.34 at PDF p.9) but there is no contribution declaration on the docket; (ii) Debtor's MOR (dkt.35 at PDF p.7) states that going forward Debtor and his non-debtor wife will pay only their portion of the combined insurance premium for their vehicles and their children's vehicles, and that their children will be responsible for their own car loan payments and insurance, but there is no disclosure of how the insurance expense has been allocated; and (iii) Debtor's monthly income projected in the budget motion appears to be substantially lower than in prior years, based on a comparison with Debtor's Statement Of Financial Affairs ("SOFA") (dkt.24, line 4, at p.2), but there is no explanation why. (This Court also notes that the budget no longer includes $500/mo. of "support" payments "to mother-in-law and sister-in-law.")

(c) Substantial equity in properties alleged to have been fraudulently transferred. As directed in the tentative ruling for 2/4/20 (reproduced below), the tentative ruling is to direct Debtor to disclose at the status conference the percentage ownership interest that Debtor had in Sunset and Cambria in the years prior to the alleged fraudulent transfers of those properties, and direct all parties in interest who appear to address the status of the nonbankruptcy litigation.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 1/13/20.

(a) Bar date: 5/31/20 (dkt. 27; timely served, dkt. 28).

(b) Procedures order: dkt. 3 (timely served, dkt. 9)

(d) Continued status conference: 3/3/20 at 1:00 p.m. No written status report required.

Appearances required.

(1) Sale motion (dkt. 352)

Grant, subject to overbids at the hearing, and also subject to any Court-approved settlement (see dkt. 364) between Debtor and Bayview Loan Servicing, LLC ("Bayview"), for the reasons set forth below.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this Court's final ruling, subject to any changes ordered at the hearing. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

Analysis

(a) Broker's dual representation

Debtor's motion provides that Mr. Renteria represents both the proposed buyer and the seller, the Debtor, in this transaction. Dkt. 352, at PDF p.18:2-5. The tentative ruling is that, although Judge Bason normally disapproves dual agency, that restriction will not apply to the post-confirmation reorganized Debtor.

(b) Sale free and clear

Section 363(f) provides that

The trustee may sell property under subsection (b) or (c) of this section free and clear of any interest in such property of an entity other than the estate, only if—

- (1) applicable nonbankruptcy law permits sale of such property free and clear of such interest;
- (2) such entity consents;
- (3) such interest is a lien and the price at which such property is to be sold is greater than the aggregate value of all liens on such property;
- (4) such interest is in bona fide dispute; or
- (5) such entity could be compelled, in a legal or equitable proceeding, to accept a money satisfaction of such interest.

The tentative ruling is that the property may be sold free and clear of the following interests in the property:

(i) Allco Enterprises Inc. dba Allco Leasing's lien pursuant to section 363(f)(4), because its U.C.C.-2 continuation statement has expired (dkt. 352, at PDF pp. 21-22).

(ii) Bayview Loan Servicing, LLC's lien pursuant to section 363(f)(2) in view of the parties apparent settlement (dkt. 364). (Unless the settlement falls through, this Court intends to express no view on whether Bayview's interest is in bona fide dispute within the meaning of 11 U.S.C. 363(f)(4) (see dkt. 352, at PDF p.20).

(iii) Epps & Coulson, LLC's lien pursuant to section 363(f)(2) because it apparently has consented to the sale (dkt. 352, at PDF p. 20).

(iv) All other interests pursuant to section 363(f)(5), and the following analysis from the posted Procedures of Judge Bason (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov):

§ 363(f): Sales free and clear. Regarding § 363(f)(5), Judge Bason does not follow Clear Channel Outdoor, Inc. v. Knupfer (In re PW, LLC), 391 B.R. 25, 40 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2008). He has ruled that a sale free and clear is permissible under that statute whenever the interest at issue is subject to monetary valuation. See In re Trans World Airlines, Inc., 322 F.3d 283, 290-91 (3d Cir. 2003) ("TWA") (because employees' claims were "subject to monetary valuation," debtor's assets could be sold free and clear of successor liability for such claims under § 363(f)(5)). Alternatively, Judge Bason has ruled that "cramdown" is among the types of legal or equitable proceeding within the statute, or that Clear Channel is distinguishable in most cases under the rationale of In re Jolan, 403 B.R. 866 (Bankr. W.D. Wash. 2009), because holders of interests can be compelled in numerous other types of legal or equitable proceedings to accept a money satisfaction (which might be $-0- in the case of an interest that is entirely underwater). Those proceedings include a hypothetical foreclosure by one of the lienholders, or a receivership (which could be initiated at the behest of creditors or by the debtor itself). See Cal. Code Civ. Proc. ("CCP") § 564(b)(9) (power to appoint receiver to sell property); CCP § 568.5 (receiver empowered to sell property as provided in CCP §§701.510 et seq.); CCP § 701.630 (extinguishment of

(2) Status conference

The tentative ruling is to continue this post-confirmation status conference to 8/20/19 at 1:00 p.m., with no written status report required. This Court anticipates that it will issue a tentative ruling, shortly prior to that time, further continuing the status conference if there is no activity on the docket that appears to warrant a status conference at that time.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 3/26/19:

Continue to 5/21/19 at 1:00 p.m., with no status report required, in view of the latest status report (dkt. 346) and notice of sale (dkt. 347). Appearances are not required on 3/26/19.

This Court has reviewed the Debtor's latest filed documents, including its Monthly Operating Reports (dkt. 343, 345) and Status Report (dkt. 346). This Court is not aware of issues that would warrant a status conference at this time.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Analysis

(1) Service

As Debtor points out (dkt.94, pp.4:13-5:2), under Rule 4001 (Fed. R. Bankr. P.) a motion for relief from the automatic stay must be served on Debtor's list of 20 largest general unsecured creditors. Debtor asserts that the motion was not served in accordance with that rule; but the original motion was (dkt.9, at PDF pp.61-64) and Debtor cites no authority that the amendments to the motion were so substantial that they would require re-noticing. Any creditor who cared to follow the progress of the original motion would be able to do so, and file any papers or make any arguments they wish. The tentative ruling is that Debtor's argument that additional service is required is not persuasive.

(2) Evidentiary objections

The tentative ruling is to overrule Debtor's evidentiary objections (dkt.96), which are not well taken. For example, Debtor objects to Movant's valuation evidence on grounds of relevance. How can Debtor assert that the value of the subject property is irrelevant when it is clearly relevant under the statute (11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (2)) and when the Amended Motion asserts (dkt.93, p.3, para.4.a.(1)(A)&(B) & p.4, para.4.b.) that (i) the subject property's value is inadequate to protect Movant's interest and is declining, and (ii) Debtor lacks any equity in the property (and that the property is not necessary to an effective reorganization)?

(3) Valuation

Although valuation is relevant, the tentative ruling is that this Court cannot resolve the parties' valuation disputes without an evidentiary hearing (or other procedure, such as an agreement of the parties to be bound by the valuation determined by an independent appraiser selected by each of their appraisers). Normally this Court would set an evidentiary hearing (or other procedures) and establish associated deadlines and other procedures. But the tentative ruling is that all such procedures are unnecessary because Movant has shown other "cause" for relief from the automatic stay.

(4) Cause for relief from the automatic stay

Movant asserts that Debtor has shown bad faith, and that this is "cause" for relief from the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1). The tentative ruling is to agree.

This is Debtor's second bankruptcy case. The first case (Case No. 2:19-bk-21504-NB) was filed on 9/30/19 and dismissed on 11/5/19 for failure to file required documents. Before that case was dismissed, Tremblay filed a motion for relief from the automatic stay in which he pointed out that Debtor was ineligible for chapter 13 under 11 U.S.C. 109(e) and accused Debtor of intentionally misusing the bankruptcy system for purposes of delay. See Case No. 2:19-bk-21504-NB, dkt.10, p.5). Nevertheless, Debtor filed this case as another chapter 13 case on 11/20/19.

This Court recognizes that at the time each case was filed Debtor had no attorney of record. But Debtor owns multiple real properties and two businesses (one that recently ceased operating), and there is no showing that Debtor is unsophisticated.

Nor is there any showing that Debtor was unable to read and understand Tremblay's motion, or was unable to find an attorney to represent her, despite her substantial alleged assets and income. This Court takes judicial notice that other debtors with a range of assets, liabilities, income, expenses, and other characteristics regularly understand the chapter 13 debt limits and regularly retain bankruptcy attorneys, especially after having been accused of misusing the bankruptcy system.

In other words, Movant has established a prima facie showing that Debtor's two chapter 13 bankruptcy petitions were filed in bad faith. The burden is on Debtor to rebut that showing. Instead, the tentative ruling is that Debtor has done the opposite.

True, Debtor belatedly retained an attorney, and filed a motion to convert this case to chapter 11, which this Court granted effective just over two months ago, on 1/2/20. Subsequently, however, this Court has noted Debtor's lack of prosecution of this chapter 11 case. See Tentative Rulings for Status Conference (calendar no. 16, 3/3/20 at 1:00 p.m.).

Even now, over three months after the petition date (11/20/19), Debtor still has not proposed any sale of her properties, or other method to pay her creditors within a reasonable time. Debtor's filed papers suggest that she is entirely reliant on rental income, but that income is uncertain and the net amount apparently is very modest (if anything), after mortgages and other expenses (see Tentative Ruling for Status Conference, calendar no.16 on 3/3/20 at 1:00 p.m.). See also Jan. MOR (dkt.103) ($0 income reported).

Debtor proposes a chapter 11 plan (dkt.97) that appears unconfirmable on its face. As Movant points out, the plan proposes to modify Movant's claim (and another claim) both of which appear to be secured only by an interest in Debtor's principal residence, in contravention of 11 U.S.C. 1123(b)(5). See dkt.97, pp.3:1-4:10. Moreover, the plan proposes what appear to be interest-only payments with a balloon payment of the entire principal many months later. See dk.97, Ex.A & A-1, at PDF pp.8&10, Classes 2A & 2B. See also dk.119, p.3:1-8.

For all of these reasons, the tentative ruling is that Debtor has filed and has prosecuted (or failed to prosecute) her two bankruptcy cases in bad faith. The tentative ruling is that this is sufficient "cause" for relief from the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1). Specifically, the tentative ruling is to grant the following relief.

Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1).

To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Effective date of relief

Grant the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a)(3).

Co-debtor stay

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) has not been shown to have any basis for any different treatment from the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a), so the tentative ruling is to grant the identical relief regarding any co-debtor stay.

Appearances required. There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address (a) whether the alleged arrears have been brought current and/or (b) whether they will agree to the terms of an adequate protection order (see the debtor's response, dkt. 11). In addition the tentative ruling is that if this Court grants any relief to Movant, it will grant parallel relief to junior creditors, including creditor Celtic Bank Corporation (see dkt. 40) and alleged secured creditor Oxygen Funding, Inc., to exercise whatever remedies they may or may not have under applicable nonbankruptcy law.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." (1) Current issues

(a) Inadequate status report (dkt.169)

Debtor's status report simply repeats what is on the docket. It does not address any of the issues raised at prior status conferences and noted below. The tentative ruling is that no fees should be charged for preparation of the status report.

(b) Partially adequate Disclosures

This Court has reviewed Debtor's supplemental disclosures about her non-debtor husband's finances and related matters (dkt. 145, 146, 147, 148, 158, 159, 167) in response to this Court's order issued on 3/4/20 (dkt. 133). The tentative ruling is that the disclosures are partially adequate.

On the one hand, Debtor has provided a copy of the premarital agreement (dkt.146, Ex.1), which is very important, and has also filed amended bankruptcy schedules I, J and D, as well as a statement of postpetition income and expenses, and Monthly Operating Reports ("MORs"). On the other hand, these disclosures are incomplete, unclear, and internally inconsistent.

Liat Talasazan

(i) Incompleteness

The incompleteness includes that, as Debtor acknowledges, she has yet to provide an amended Statement of Financial Affairs ("SOFA") because her family is dealing with the loss of a close family member (dkt.146, p.3, para.7 & 9). It is unclear what else might be missing: creditors and this Court cannot know what they and this Court do not know. The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 4/21/20 to file the amended SOFA and any other documents that were required under this Court's prior order (dkt. 133).

(ii) Lack of clarity

The MORs are unclear:

(A) There are two business accounts (-8997 and -9003) but which account relates to which property/business?

(B) Why are there only two business accounts when Debtor apparently shares in the income from the Jefferson Plaza business and has four properties (535 N Fuller, 636 N Laurel, 622 E 35th, and 626 E 35th) at least two of which are rental properties?

(C) Why are there two personal checking accounts (-9011 and -6492)?

(D) Why is one account overdrawn (account -6492 shows a balance of -$437, dkt.165, at PDF p.14)?

(E) Debtor's January MOR vaguely lists many entries as "Household." From other information about some of these "Household" expenses, it is not clear that they are appropriate for a debtor in possession: for example, $350 for "Your Hair By Ellie" on 1/31/20 (dkt.165, p.12, last entry) and $390.92 for "Sephora" on 1/21/20 (dkt.165, p.11, 3d line from bottom). True, Debtor alleges that there is equity in various properties, but that is far from certain and she might well be insolvent. In addition, the MOR lists a lot of restaurant meals (dkt.165, pp.11-12), and again, it is not clear that this is appropriate budgeting for a debtor in possession. The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 4/21/20 for Debtor to file amended MORs that address these issues.

Debtor's alleged equity in her various properties is also far less clear than it should be. Although that information probably can be pieced together from various other documents, the tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 4/21/20 for Debtor to file a declaration with an attached spreadsheet showing, for each property or business, Debtor's estimate of value, the source of that estimate, the liens against each property (listed by lienholder, in order of seniority), the dollar amount of the claim secured by that lien (according to Debtor and, alternatively, according to the holder of the lien), and the sources of those data.

(iii) Internal inconsistency

One internal inconsistency is that the latest Bankruptcy Schedules I&J list $16,000 as Debtor's net income from rental properties/businesses (dkt.159, p.2, line 8a) but the attached statements for each property/business list $10,000 of net income (consisting of $10,000 from Jefferson Plaza, LLC, $0 from 622 E 36th St, and $0 from 626 E. 36th St.). Dkt. 159, pp.5-7. What is the source of the other $6,000?

This Court has considered the possibility that Debtor has mixed up gross and net income. But that does not work either because the gross income is $22,700 ($16,700 + $3,000 + $3,000 = $22,700). Dkt. 159, pp.5-7.

The latest declaration of postpetition income and expenses (dkt.158) has yet more numbers that are different, but no explanation and no attached disclosures of gross income, expenses, and calculation of net income.

The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 4/21/20 for Debtor to file (A) further amended Bankruptcy Schedules I and J and (B) a further amended statement of postpetition income and expenses, with a complete explanation of any differences between the former and the latter.

(iv) Conclusion as to Debtor's financial disclosure

How can creditors and this Court rely on Debtor to make accurate financial reporting of anything in this case if even basic information is missing, unclear, or incorrect? The tentative ruling is to give Debtor one more opportunity for complete, candid, and clear financial disclosures.

(c) No discernable progress since last hearing

At a hearing on 3/10/20, this Court noted that the docket does not reflect any motion to sell or refinance any property, or other evidence of adequate prosecution of this case, but took no action other than to caution Debtor to be cognizant of the warnings that this Court set forth on the record at the hearing on 3/3/10. The docket still does not reflect any activity. Why not?

(d) Motion for relief from stay (as amended, dkt. 93), debtor supplemental declaration (dkt.129), previously-filed papers (see tentative ruling for 3/3/20, reproduced at calendar no.13, 3/10/20 at 1:00 p.m.)

Chapter 11

The parties should be prepared to address whether they have agreed upon procedures for valuing the property and whether further briefing is necessary regarding any issues of debtor's alleged bad faith. See dkt.132, 138.

(e) Debtor's motion for order declaring judgment liens void as violations of the automatic stay and for compensatory sanctions (dkt. 122, the "Sanctions Motion"); National Commercial Recovery, Inc.'s ("NCR") opposition (dkt. 142), debtor's reply (dkt. 157)

Deny.

The tentative ruling is that Debtor is correct that the automatic stay in her prior bankruptcy case applied when the abstracts were recorded, so the recording was void. But NCR is also correct:

(i) that there is no evidence Debtor gave it notice of her bankruptcy filing, which would entitle it to seek to retroactively annul the stay (see In re Fjeldsted, 293 B.R. 12 (9th Cir. BAP 2003); and see also In re Williams, 323 B.R. 691, 697-702 (9th Cir. BAP 2005) (various issues involving annulment, and application of Fjeldsted), aff'd, 204 Fed.Appx. 582 (9th Cir. 2006), overruled on other issues, In re Perl, 811 F.3d 1120 (9th Cir. 2016) (scope of automatic stay)), and

(ii) that, although the better course may have been for NCR to file a motion seeking retroactive annulment, NCR was not taking any affirmative steps (it was not doing things held to violate the automatic stay, like terminating an executory contract - it was doing nothing, which preserved the status quo). That is less than what has been held, in an analogous situation involving preservation of the status quo, not to violate the automatic stay. See Citizens Bank of MD v. Stumpf, 116 S.Ct. 286 (1995). Therefore, the tentative ruling is that as a legal matter, NCR did not have any duty to record releases of its liens, and did not violate the automatic stay by declining to do so.

On the equities, to the extent equitable considerations are relevant, why should NCR have to pay to litigate these issues, instead of Debtor? If the lien were truly shown to be an obstacle to anything Debtor needs to accomplish, it is more equitable to place the burden on Debtor to seek affirmative relief than it would be to place the burden on NCR to seek confirmation from this Court that it has no duty to release its liens.

Moreover, the tentative ruling is that Debtor's premise is flawed.

Debtor asserts that "if NCR's lien were allowed to remain" that "would prevent refinancing" and "crater the case ...." (dkt. 157, p.2:25-26). How so?

Debtor has not established why she could not obtain financing that primes NCR's junior lien (if that lien is adequately protected) under 11 U.S.C. 364. Alternatively, Debtor has not explained why a chapter 11 plan could not leave NCR's lien in place and pay it over time. In fact, Debtor allegedly intends to pay all creditors (not just NCR) 100% of their claims over time, so it is not clear that Debtor has to do anything regarding NCR's lien at this point. Is this litigation a good use of the bankruptcy estate's assets?

action based on that lack of discernable progress, but to remind Debtor to be cognizant of the warnings that this Court set forth on the record at the last hearing.

(c) No corrected MOR

Debtor has not corrected the monthly operating report, which was not filed on the required form. See tentative ruling for 3/3/20 (reproduced below), item "(1)" "(b)". Why not?

(d) No statement reflecting apparent increase in income?

Despite two reminders, Debtor still has not filed a declaration of current/postpetition income and expenses. See Revised Tentative Rulings for 3/10/20 and 2/18/20 (reproduced below). Why not?

(e) Budget Motion (dkt. 85, 90), East West Bank's opposition (dkt. 94), Debtor's reply (dkt. 134), interim order (dkt.113)

Although this Court has concerns about whether Debtor's financial disclosures are accurate and complete (as set forth in various portions of this tentative ruling and prior tentative rulings), the proposed use of funds in the budget motion appears to be appropriate. Accordingly, the tentative ruling is to grant the motion on a final basis, subject to the following.

First, any approval is subject possible reconsideration once Debtor finally files her statement of postpetition income and expenses, and files the other documents directed by this Court (see dkt.133), or as other facts may come to light. Second, the budget must be adjusted to accommodate the request of East West Bank for Debtor to increase her proposed monthly mortgage payment to $5,643.86, which Debtor has agreed to do (dkt. 134). Third, any approval is subject to the parties' rights to seek further relief, including approval of any stipulation for adequate protection.

(f) Cash Collateral Motion (dkt. 86, 90)

Grant the motion on a final basis, on the same terms as stated in the order (dkt.114) granting the motion on an interim basis, and subject to the same caveats and conditions as set forth above regarding the budget motion.

disinterestedness (dkt. 82); Dec re non-opp (dkt. 98); order setting matter for hearing (dkt. 101)

The tentative ruling is to grant the application in part and deny it in part as follows.

Debtor seeks to employ the Firm pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 327, with compensation pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 330 at the following hourly rates for the Firm's attorneys: Giovanni Orantes: $695 and Luis A. Solorzano: $350 (dkt. 72, p.16). In determining the reasonableness of the proposed billing rates, 11 USC 330(a)(3)(B), (E) and (F) require this Court to consider, among other things, proposed counsel's hourly rates, any board certification or other demonstrated skill and experience in the bankruptcy field, and "the customary compensation charged by comparably skilled practitioners ...."

Based on a review of rates charged by other bankruptcy professionals practicing before this Court as well as this Court's familiarity with proposed counsel's skills and performance in pending and past cases before it, the tentative ruling is to approve the Firm's employment, subject to Judge Bason's standard employment terms (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov), but reduce the hourly rates that the Firm may charge to the following maximum dollar amounts, without in any way limiting the requirement that any rates charged and time spent still must be fully justified: Giovanni Orantes: $475/hour and Luis A. Solorzano: $250/hour.

In addition, the tentative ruling is that any waiver of conflicts of interest is ineffective as against the bankruptcy estate. (A "debtor in possession," acting as a trustee for the benefit of creditors, cannot waive conflicts on behalf of those creditors.)

(h) Motion for relief from stay (as amended, dkt. 93), debtor supplemental declaration (dkt.129), previously-filed papers (see tentative ruling for 3/3/20, reproduced at calendar no.13, 3/10/20 at 1:00 p.m.)

The tentative ruling is to continue this matter again, to be concurrent with the continued status conference (see below), so as to be able to assess (i) whether Debtor has adequately prosecuted this case, including selling or refinancing one or more properties (if that is realistic) or otherwise demonstrating progress that has been sorely lacking to date, and (ii) Debtor's papers regarding her non-debtor husband's finances, which are due 3/18/20. See Order (dkt.133).

Meanwhile, the parties should be prepared to address whether they

Grant, as set forth in the tentative ruling for calendar no. 15 (3/3/20 at 1:00 p.m.).

(b) Monthly operating report ("MOR") #1 (for Jan, 2020, dkt.103)

Debtor's MOR is not on the form that is familiar to this Court. Has the Office of the United States Trustee changed its form? Debtor reports $0 income for the month of January. Were rents paid prior to conversion to chapter 11 (i.e., prior to 1/2/20), and if so, how much rental income did Debtor receive for January, and when?

(c) Income and expenses

Debtor still has not filed a declaration of current/postpetition income and expenses. See Revised Tentative Ruling for 2/18/20 (reproduced below). Why not?

Debtor's Bankruptcy Schedules I and J provide very little information about Debtor's rental income. They list only gross rents per building instead of, e.g., a rent roll listing each tenant and their rental rate and information about whether those rents are reliable, such as a rental history. Nor does Debtor provide any breakdown of expenses, beyond what appears to be Debtor's rough estimate of $6,000 per month in mortgage payments, which appears to omit any payments to liens that Debtor is disputing. Nothing appears to be allocated for rental property maintenance, repairs, utilities, gardening, etc.

In addition, creditor Tremblay has questioned whether Debtor is omitting community property income of her non-debtor spouse, Mr. Behzad Beroukhai. See dkt.119, p.2:17-28. As Tremblay notes, Mr. Beroukhai allegedly pays all expenses related to certain real property, but Debtor has not disclosed and accounted for such past and ongoing funds. This Court also notes that Mr. Beroukhai is not listed as a codebtor on any debts. See Bankruptcy Schedule H (dkt.10 at PDF p.30, line 1). What is the true situation, and are Debtor's disclosures accurate?

The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 3/6/20 for Debtor to file and serve amended Schedules I and J, an amended SOFA, and any other documents that may be necessary or appropriate to provide much more comprehensive information about her income, expenses, assets, liabilities, and other aspects of her finances.

(1) Current issues

- (a) Budget Motion (dkt. 85, 90), East West Bank's opposition (dkt. 94)

The tentative ruling is to grant in part and deny in part the budget motion, on an interim basis, such that Debtor is authorized to make the expenditures in her proposed budget but must provide additional adequate protection payments to East West Bank to bring the total payment from $4,619.32 to $5,140.78, without prejudice to Debtor and East West Bank establishing an evidentiary basis for a lesser or greater dollar amount either (i) for adequate protection payments, (ii) for purposes of any chapter 11 plan, or (iii) for any other reason. The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 2/25/20 for East West Bank to file a declaration with a copy of advance notice to Debtor regarding the increased monthly mortgage payments, a deadline of 3/4/20 for any response by Debtor, and any reply by East West Bank permitted at the continued hearing, to be held contemporaneous with the continued status conference (see below).

Tentative Ruling for 1/28/20:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor and by the debtor(s) themselves.

(1) Current issues

(a) Lack of progress

Debtor has only very belatedly filed a status report (dkt.65) (one week after it was required by this Court's order, dkt. 50). Worse, long after this case was converted to chapter 11 (11/20/19) she has only now filed an application to employ counsel and a budget motion, and she admits (dkt. 65, p.2) that she has not filed her list of 20 largest unsecured creditors. In addition, she admits that she has not filed any cash collateral motion(s) (id., p.3), which apparently means that either she has been using cash without authority or she has been failing to use cash for ordinary and necessary expenses, both of which are bad.

What remedies should this Court impose on Debtor and/or her counsel for this pervasive failure to comply with her obligations under the Bankruptcy Code? What assurances can they provide this Court that similar problems will not happen in future?

(1) Debtor/Defendant's motion to set aside entry of default (adv. dkt. 19), Plaintiff's opposition (adv. dkt. 25), and Debtor/Defendant's reply (adv. dkt. 26)

Deny without prejudice for the reasons set forth below.

The 9th Circuit employs a three-part test to determine whether or not "good cause" exists to set aside entry of default under Rule 55(c) (Fed. R. Civ. P.), made applicable in adversary proceedings by Rule 7055 (Fed. R. Bankr. P.). The three factors are:

(1) whether [the party seeking to set aside the default] engaged in culpable conduct that led to the default; (2) whether [it] had [no] meritorious defense; or (3) whether reopening the default judgment would prejudice the other party. [United States v. Signed Pers. Check No. 730 of Yubran S. Mesle, 615 F.3d 1085, 1091 (9th Cir. 2010) (internal quotation and citation omitted).]

This standard is disjunctive, such that a finding that any one of the above factors is true is sufficient reason to refuse to set aside the default. Id.

(a) Whether Debtor engaged in culpable conduct that led to the default

Debtor provides three explanations for why she was not culpable - (1) her prior counsel withdrew on 8/6/19, shortly before her answer was due (on 8/14/19), and prior counsel never filed an answer, (2) a series of exigent personal matters, and (3) that she is not an attorney and is unfamiliar with the details and formalities of litigation deadlines. Adv. dkt. 19, p.4:11-14 and p.4:21-27.

Debtor did not file the instant motion (11/17/19) until almost three months after default was entered against her (8/20/19, adv. dkt. 9). See adv.

Chapter 7

dkt. 25, p.5:13-16. Debtor has not explained why the above three explanations excuse a three month delay in filing the motion. Was Debtor interviewing lawyers during that time? Debtor also does not provide any specific dates of her exigent personal matters that demonstrate there was a direct relationship between those events and Debtor's mental state at the time the answer was due. See adv. dkt. 25, p.6:10-12. For example, did Debtor visit a doctor or other professionals to address those exigent personal circumstances? While Debtor might not be an attorney familiar with litigation deadlines, immediately after default was entered she enlisted her state court attorney to assist in having the default set aside. Adv. dkt. 19, p.3:25-p.4:1. Was Debtor similarly aware of the answer deadline?

The tentative ruling is that Debtor has not provided sufficient support for her explanations of how she did not engage in culpable conduct, which is sufficient grounds for denying her motion.

(b) Whether Debtor has meritorious defenses to the causes of action in the adversary proceeding

Debtor's motion explains that Debtor has meritorious defenses to the causes of action in the underlying state court action. Adv. dkt. 19, p.6:13-7:8. Plaintiff's opposition explains that Debtor's motion does not address defenses to Plaintiff's objections to dischargeability, which are the matters at issue in this adversary proceeding. Adv. dkt. 25, p.6:23-25. Debtor's reply states that because the state court actions have not been finally adjudicated, there is no debt owed to Plaintiff by Debtor that the court can make a determination on regarding dischargeability. Adv. dkt. 26, p.4:7-10.

Debtor is incorrect as to Debtor not owing Plaintiff a debt. Plaintiff's complaint explains that Plaintiff's fees and costs award was affirmed on appeal and the abstract of judgment was recorded on 7/19/18. Adv. dkt. 1, p.11, paras. 33-34. Plaintiff's complaint further alleges that Debtor's action to allegedly prevent collection of the judgment is grounds for denying Debtor her discharge under 11 U.S.C. 727. Id. at p.12, para. 44. Debtor's motion does not provide any meritorious defenses to this cause of action. Moreover, in order to defeat Plaintiff's cause of action on this issue, Debtor would need to meet the burden of proof for a motion for reconsideration. It appears Debtor would have a very difficult time meeting this standard, especially in light of Debtor's admission that the lien which eats up all the equity in Debtor's property that might otherwise be used to pay the judgment is a sham. See dkt. 142, p.3:1-3; adv. dkt. 25, p.7:26-p.8:1.

The tentative ruling is that Debtor has not provided any meritorious defenses to that portion of the adversary proceeding, which is a sufficient ground to deny her motion as currently presented. The tentative ruling is that it is premature to address whether Debtor has meritorious defenses with respect to the remainder of the adversary proceeding, because that may be mooted by the issue- or claim-preclusive effect of the actions that are proceeding in nonbankruptcy court.

(c) Whether reopening the default judgment will prejudice

Plaintiff

Debtor argues that Plaintiff will not be prejudiced if this Court grants her requested relief because moving forward on the merits after "only a short delay" should not prejudice Plaintiff's ability to litigate her case. Adv. dkt. 19, p.7:10-22. Plaintiff says that she will be prejudiced because the history of Debtor's bankruptcy case evidences a pattern of fraudulent actions by Debtor to hinder Plaintiff's prosecution of the state court cases. Adv. dkt. 25, p.7:25-26.

While this Court agrees with Plaintiff that there appears to have been fraud re the $5 million recorded lien on Debtor's property, Plaintiff has not explained the basis for her assertion that now that Debtor is in bankruptcy the same sort of fraudulent behavior is likely to occur.

The tentative ruling is that granting Debtor's motion will not prejudice Plaintiff.

(d) Conclusion

The tentative ruling is that while granting Debtor's motion may not prejudice Plaintiff, Debtor has not provided sufficient support for her explanations of how she did not engage in culpable conduct, and she has not explained what her meritorious defenses to the causes of action in this adversary proceeding are, so this Court is denying Debtor's motion without prejudice.

Preliminary matters: continuance

Plaintiff's Status Report notes (a) that a Clerk's Default was entered in this case on 8/20/19 (adv. dkt. 9) and (b) that she will either seek relief from the automatic stay to proceed with defamation actions in nonbankruptcy court and/or seek a default judgment in this adversary proceeding. The tentative ruling is to continue this Status Conference as set forth below, at which time this Court can assess what progress has been made on those issues. Note: In addition, this Court will hold a Status Conference concurrent with any other hearing in this adversary proceeding (including any self-calendared hearings).

Standard matters

The following are Judge Bason's standard requirements for status conferences. (To the extent that the parties have already addressed these issues in their status report, they need not repeat their positions at the status conference.)

(1) Venue/jurisdiction/authority.

Plaintiff is directed to address any outstanding matters of (a) venue, (b) jurisdiction, (c) this Bankruptcy Court's authority to enter final orders or judgment(s) in this proceeding and, if consent is required, whether the parties do consent, or have already expressly or impliedly consented. See generally Stern v. Marshall, 131 S.Ct. 2594, 2608 (2011) (if litigant "believed that the Bankruptcy Court lacked the authority to decide his claim...then he should have said so – and said so promptly."); Wellness Int'l Network, Ltd. v. Sharif, 135 S.Ct. 1932 (2015) (consent must be knowing and voluntary but need not be express); In re Bellingham Ins. Agency, Inc., 702 F.3d 553 (9th Cir. 2012) (implied consent), aff'd on other grounds, 134 S. Ct. 2165 (2014); In re Pringle, 495 B.R. 447 (9th Cir. BAP 2013) (rebuttable presumption that failure to challenge authority to issue final order is intentional and indicates consent); In re Deitz, 760 F.3d 1028 (9th Cir. 2014) (authority to adjudicate nondischargeability encompasses authority to liquidate debt and enter final judgment). See generally In re AWTR Liquidation, Inc., 548 B.R. 300 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2016).

Reasons:

Service

Although this Court has discretion regarding who must be served with motions to approve proposed settlement (per Rule 2002(a)(3), Fed. R. Bankr. P.), the tentative ruling is that Debtor must be served, and this means serving both Debtor individually and Debtor's attorney ("double service"). See Rules 7004(b)(9)&(g) and 9014(a) (Fed. R. Bankr. P.). The proofs of service (dkt. 142, 143) do not reflect such double service.

The tentative ruling is that this Court has neither the authority nor the inclination to excuse non-compliance with these rules. It is true that this double service requirement is the exact opposite of typical non-bankruptcy practice, in which it is generally impermissible to serve a represented party personally; but there are good reasons for the double service rule in set forth below, with a final hearing on 10/29/19 at 1:00 p.m., and a deadline of 10/3/19 for the movant to file and serve a notice of the final hearing provided that service on all persons with a potential interest in Debtor's cash must be served in strict compliance with Rule 7004 (Fed.R.Bankr.P.) - see the posted Procedures of Judge Bason (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov).

Appearances required.

As to the cash that allegedly is collateral of Beverly Partners, LLC, continue this hearing pursuant to its stipulation with the debtor (dkt.31) and this Court's order thereon. As to all properties/sources of cash, Debtor must segregate cash so that there is no commingling.

Judge Bason's standard conditions for use of cash collateral and/or postpetition financing (by creditors holding prepetition claims)

(1) Written order

(a) Form. Use local form

F2081-1.1.ORDER.CASH.COLLATERAL or the equivalent. Attach a copy of this tentative ruling as an exhibit, thereby adopting it as the written ruling of this Court, subject to any changes ordered at the hearing. Do not repeat the terms set forth in the motion or any stipulation. Incorporate those terms by reference (including the docket number of the document), subject to any modification by this Court.

(b) Timing. Lodge the proposed order within 7 days after the hearing. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(2) Minimum adequate protection

In addition to the postpetition security interests that are automatically provided pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 552 (e.g., in traceable proceeds and profits), and subject to any more comprehensive protection that may be included in the motion or related papers, Debtor shall provide at least the following protection to any creditor with a security interest in the subject property (pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 361-364, as applicable):

(a) Insurance. For all collateral of a type that typically is insured (e.g., real property and improvements), Debtor is directed to maintain insurance in a dollar amount at least equal to Debtor's good faith estimate of the value of such creditor's interest in the collateral, and such insurance shall name such creditor as an additional insured. Debtor is directed to remain current on payments for such insurance.

(b) Taxes. Debtor is directed to remain current on payments on account of postpetition real estate taxes (to the extent that real estate is part of the collateral).

(c) Disclosures/access. Debtor is directed to provide, upon such creditor's reasonable request, periodic accountings of the foregoing insurance and tax obligations and payments, as well as postpetition proceeds, products, offspring, or profits from the collateral, including gross revenues and expenses and a calculation of net revenues, including any rents and any fees, charges, accounts, or other payments for the use or occupancy of rooms and other public facilities in lodging properties (as all of the foregoing terms are used in 11 U.S.C. 552). Debtor is directed to provide appropriate documentation of those accountings, and access for purposes of inspection or appraisal.

(3) Limitation on postpetition liens

In the event that the motion or related papers seek authority to grant postpetition liens to the creditor(s) with respect to prepetition debts any such liens shall be limited to the same validity, priority, and amount as prepetition liens. As used herein, the "validity, priority, and amount" or any similar phrase that may be used by the parties or this Court is deemed to include the following:

(a) Extent. Such liens shall be limited to the type of collateral in which the creditor held a security interest as of the petition date, unless this order expressly states that the liens granted by this order are intended to attach to different types of collateral from the prepetition collateral. For example, if prepetition liens extended to inventory and accounts receivable but not equipment then postpetition liens are likewise limited (unless otherwise expressly provided by order of this Court). In addition, postpetition liens shall not extend to the proceeds of any avoidance actions, any recoveries under 11 U.S.C. 506(c), or any "carveout" under 11 U.S.C. 552.

(b) Priority. Such liens shall be limited to the same priority as the security interest held by the creditor as of the petition date.

(c) Dollar amount. Such liens shall be limited to the dollar amount needed to protect the creditor against diminution in the value of the secured claims as of the petition date.

(d) Enforceability. Such liens shall be limited to the extent that the creditor's security interests were duly perfected and valid as of the petition date, and to the extent that they are unavoidable.

(e) Automatic postpetition perfection. Any automatic perfection of such liens shall be subject to any applicable limitations regarding the Court's authority, jurisdiction, or due process.

(4) Automatic disapproval of insufficiently disclosed provisions

Any provision of the type listed in FRBP 4001(c)(1)(B) or in local form F4001-2 (e.g., cross-collateralization) or any waiver of the "equities of the case" exception in 11 U.S.C. 552(b)(2) shall be deemed automatically disapproved and excepted from any order granting the motion, notwithstanding any other provision of such order, unless either: (a) such provision is specifically and prominently disclosed in the motion papers in a checklist (such as local form F4001-2), or alternatively (b) such provision is specifically identified in any proposed order granting the motion, using terminology of the type used in FRBP 4001(c)(1)(B) or local form F4001-2 (e.g., any "cross-collateralization" that is not specifically identified as such is deemed to be disapproved).

(5) Disputes

In the event of any disputes regarding the rulings in this order, the parties are directed to meet and confer and, if they cannot resolve their disputes consensually, contact Judge Bason's chambers to arrange a mutually convenient time for either a telephonic or in-person hearing to address such disputes.

Grant in part the motion of Beverly Partners, LLC ("Beverly") for relief from automatic stay (dkt. 47). Appearances required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this Court's final ruling, subject to any changes ordered at the hearing. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

Analysis

Based on the motion papers, Debtor's opposition papers (dkt. 50), and Beverly's reply (dkt. 53), the tentative ruling is to modify the automatic stay to set deadlines - further described below - for Debtor to take steps to market and sell the property at 10838-10842 Beverly Blvd., Whittier, CA 90601 (the "Property"). This Court recognizes that Debtor has characterized the Property as his retirement security, but the tentative ruling is that there is no other way to provide adequate protection of Beverly's interest in the Property.

Chapter 11

(1) Valuation

The tentative ruling is that Beverly's evidence is persuasive as to including a higher property tax assessment for valuation purposes (see Eggleston Reply Decl., dkt.53, p.3:1-13) and that, with this adjustment, Debtor's approach to valuation would yield a value of $850,000 (id., p.3:14-17). Beverly's appraisal, in contrast, asserts a value of $795,000. See dkt.47, at PDF pp.77-end, and dkt. 53, p.3:18-21.

The tentative ruling is that the other evidence provided by Debtor and Beverly (e.g., as to appropriate discount rates, and the use of allegedly comparable properties) does not weigh in one direction or the other clearly enough for this Court to decide between the two valuations without an evidentiary hearing (or, perhaps, further declarations). Compare Eggleston Decl. (dkt.79, pp.79 et seq.) and Eggleston Reply Decl. (dkt.53) with Collins Appraisal (dkt.50, Ex.A) and Collins Decl. (dkt.50, pp.13 et seq.). Therefore, the remainder of this tentative ruling considers both valuations.

Under section 362(d)(1) this Court must consider any lack of adequate protection (or other "cause" for relief). One form of adequate protection is a sufficient equity cushion.

The tentative ruling is that, unless an equity cushion is very large, an eroding equity cushion may place Beverly's interest in the Property at greater risk. Therefore, this Court must consider Beverly's equity cushion (if any), both as of the petition date (8/30/19) and currently.

In calculating that equity cushion the tentative ruling is that this Court must consider (i) the senior real estate tax lien (Claim No.2-3) of $22,417.08 as of the petition date, plus postpetition interest at 18% for the current calculation (id., p.2, line 9), plus (ii) Beverly's lien of approximately $721,702.10 as of the petition date, or approximately $741,879.34 as of 11/7/19 (dkt.47, pp.7 & 11), plus postpetition interest at 17% for the current calculation (id., Ex.H, at PDF p.141) (POC 5-1, line 9), plus (iii) any other charges that are allowable under 11 U.S.C. 506(b) (e.g., ongoing attorney fees), minus (iv) adequate protection payments (3 x $3,313.63 through Beverly's 12/3/19 Reply, dkt.dkt.53, p.2:15, plus two more payments for January and February, for a total of 5x$3,313.63 = $16,586.15).

Based on these numbers, the tentative ruling is that, even using Debtor's valuation method (adjusted as set forth above), the combination of a modest equity cushion (substantially below 20%) and the current (low) adequate protection payments (very substantially below the contractual default or non-default interest rates) are insufficient. They do not provide Beverly with protection of its interest that is truly "adequate" as required by section 362(d)(1).

Therefore this Court "shall" grant some form of relief from the automatic stay. 11 U.S.C. 362(d). That relief need not necessarily be termination of the automatic stay: it can take the form of modifying or conditioning the automatic stay. Id. The tentative ruling is that, because Beverly itself would have to take time to market and sell the Property (if it were to attempt to maximize value and not risk its own recovery), Beverly will be adequately protected by providing Debtor with time in which to do the same.

(3) Amount of time to market and sell the property

The tentative ruling is to set deadlines of (a) 2/28/20 for Debtor to file and serve an application to employ a real estate agent for the Property, (b) 4/24/20 for Debtor to file and serve a motion under 11 U.S.C. 363(b) and (f) to sell the Property, subject to overbids, (c) 5/19/20 for a hearing (and auction, if there are any overbidders), and (d) 6/23/20 to close the sale (either to the winning bidder or a backup bidder) and pay Beverly out of escrow. If Debtor fails to meet those deadlines, the tentative ruling is that Beverly would be authorized to file and serve a declaration of default and lodge a proposed order terminating the automatic stay.

Meanwhile, the tentative ruling is to monitor Debtor's progress by setting a continued hearing on this motion to the same time as the continued status conference (see calendar no. 23, 2/18/20 at 1:00 p.m.).

(4) 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(2)

The tentative ruling is that for purposes of section 362(d)(2)(A) (whether Debtor has any equity in the Property) this Court must take into account the IRS lien (Claim No.7-1) of $64,423.96 as of the petition date (id.

at PDF pp.2&4-10), plus postpetition interest of 5% for the current calculation. This Court notes that the IRS claim is secured by any property owned by Debtor, but there is no evidence that equity in any other property will decrease the amount of this claim.

The result would be that under Beverly's valuation Debtor would have no equity in the property, but under Debtor's valuation he would have some equity. Because the burden of proof is on Beverly on this issue (11 U.S.C. 362(g)(1)), the tentative ruling is that on the present record Beverly has not established an entitlement to relief under section 362(d)(2). All rights are reserved for Beverly to continue seeking to establish that element with additional evidence, and for Debtor to oppose any such evidence.

Chapter 11

(1) Current issues

(a) Beverly's motion for relief from automatic stay (dkt. 47); Debtor's opposition (dkt. 50); Beverly's reply (dkt. 53)

Beverly's proof of service does not show service on the list of creditors included in Debtor's "list filed under Rule 1007(d)" (as required by Rule 4001(a)(1), Fed. R. Bankr. P.). See dkt. 1. The tentative ruling is to continue this hearing to 12/17/19 at 1:00 p.m., with a deadline of 12/11/19 for Beverly to serve all required persons with notice of the continued hearing, and file a proof of service.

(b) Cash collateral motion (dkt.19)

No proposed order has been lodged - at the hearing on 10/1/19 this Court directed counsel to lodge a proposed order granting the motion on an interim basis and attaching (and adopting) a copy of this Court's tentative ruling for that date (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov). In addition, Debtor did not file and serve a notice of the final hearing by 10/3/19. In addition, any such service would have to be in compliance with the applicable rules for service, as stated in that adopted tentative ruling.

The current tentative ruling is (i) to direct counsel, again, to lodge a proposed order granting the motion on an interim basis through the conclusion of the final hearing, (ii) to set a final hearing for the same date and time as the continued status conference (see below), and (iii) to set a deadline of 12/11/19 for Debtor to file and serve notice of the final hearing in compliance with the applicable rules for service.

(c) Proof of service of bar date order (dkt.28)

Debtor's counsel has had trouble with service of this order and/or proving that it was served as required. See dkt. 35,36,37. Even the latest, second amended proof of service (dkt.37) is inadequate in that it fails to state who actually served the order and when they did so. Implicitly, the person who signed the proof of service, Paulina Buitron, is the person who actually deposited the envelopes in the U.S. mail, and that was done sometime between 9/30/19, when the order was supposed to have been served, and 10/3/19, when the proof of service was filed, but the declaration does not actually say so. In addition, at the hearing on 10/1/19 this Court directed Debtor's counsel to double-check that all creditors had in fact been served and, if not, to apply for an order setting a supplemental bar date as to any creditors who have not been served.

The tentative ruling is to excuse what appears to be untimely service of the bar date order by a few days, and set a deadline of 12/11/19 (i) for Debtor's counsel to file a third amended proof of service of the bar date order, using the local form (mandatory for all motions) (see Local Form F9013-3.1.PROOF.SERVICE), (ii) to lodge a proposed order excusing the untimely service of the bar date order, with a copy of this tentative ruling attached, and (iii) if necessary, apply for a supplemental bar date for any creditors who were not served with the bar date order, and lodge a proposed supplemental bar date order.

(d) Debtor's Monthly Operating Reports ("MORs")

Debtor appears to be having trouble complying with his obligations as a debtor in possession, including not paying prepetition debts. In addition, the October MOR (dkt.49) appears to show losses from most of Debtor's various businesses, and perilously low bank balances, even with the reduced dollar amount of the adequate protection payments to Beverly (less than the ongoing interest obligation). In addition, there is an internal inconsistency about postpetition adequate protection and/or lease payments: the October MOR (dkt.49, at PDF p.57 of 61) lists "0" postpetition payments not made (i.e., Debtor allegedly is postpetition current), but then the same table lists "Total Due" postpetition amounts of many thousands of dollars - which is it? Is Debtor postpetition current in payments to secured creditors and/or lessors, or not?

The tentative ruling is to direct Debtor (i) to confer with the Office of the United States Trustee and file whatever corrected MORs are necessary or appropriate, and (ii) to be prepared to address the foregoing issues at the continued status conference.

Tentative Ruling for 9/24/19:

Appearances required by counsel for Debtor(s) and by Debtor himself.

(1) Current issues

(a) Budget Motion

Debtor's status report incorrectly states that a budget motion is not required by the presiding judge's procedures. Dkt. 20, p.3. See posted Procedures of Judge Bason (available at cacb.uscourts.gov) (the "Bason Procedures") Section VII.G. In addition, a budget motion appears to be particularly important in this case because most of Debtor's income and expenses are effectively hidden and/or mis-reported.

Debtor's Bankruptcy Schedule I reports that he is an interior designer/hair stylist (dkt.22, at PDF p.27), his Statement Of Financial Affairs ("SOFA") lists various "dba" enterprises that might or might not reflect other business ventures, and Debtor apparently rents out some of his properties using Airbnb, but there is no breakdown of any of this. Contrary to the instructions on line 8a of Schedule I, debtor lists only a total net dollar amount for all businesses/properties combined - $22,598.00 per month - and fails to attach a statement for each business/property showing gross receipts, ordinary and necessary business expenses, and the calculation of net income. Also, in apparent contradiction of this alleged monthly net income, the SOFA (dkt. 22 at PDF p.31) lists gross income of $20,000 for the year to date (9 months), $7,875 for 2018, and $28,223 for 2017. (Perhaps Debtor listed monthly net income instead of yearly gross income - if so he must file a corrected SOFA.)

The tentative ruling is to direct Debtor to file an amended Schedule I and an amended SOFA, and to file and serve a budget motion and any other documents that are necessary or appropriate to correct the foregoing deficiencies, no later than 9/27/19.

(b) Bankruptcy Schedule G

Debtor lists no executory contracts or unexpired leases (dkt.22, at PDF p.24). What about Airbnb and/or other short-term or long-term rental arrangements? The tentative ruling is to direct Debtor to file an amended Schedule G no later than 9/27/19.

(c) Cash collateral

Even though this case was filed on 8/30/19, Debtor did not self-calendar his cash collateral motion for hearing until over a month later, on 10/1/19 at 1:00 p.m. Meanwhile, has Debtor (i) been using cash collateral without authorization (in violation of 11 U.S.C. 363(c)) or (ii) not been using cash collateral, and hence failing to pay ordinary and necessary business and personal expenses, in violation of Debtor's duties to pay postpetition debts as they come due and preserve and maximize the value of the bankruptcy estate. 11 U.S.C. 1107(a) and 1108, and 28 U.S.C. 959(b). The tentative ruling is that, although this is not yet sufficient cause for appointment of a chapter 11 trustee or other remedies, it may factor into consideration of any such remedies in future.

(d) Employment Application

The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 9/27/19 for Debtor to file and serve local form F 2014-1.STMT.DISINTERESTED.PROF in support of Debtor's application to employ Eric Bensamochan as his bankruptcy counsel (dkt. 18). See Bason Procedures Section VII.D.

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: TBD. Debtor must use the forms required by Judge Bason (DO NOT SERVE yet, except on the U.S. Trustee - this Court will set a deadline and procedures at a later time).

In addition, Debtor is directed to explain the budgets attached to the motion as Exhibits "1", "2", and "3." This Court does not understand those budgets.

Subject to resolution of the above referenced issues, and any opposition at the hearing, and further subject to Debtor's stipulation with the United States on behalf of the IRS (dkt.62), the tentative ruling is to grant the motion (docket no. 37) on an interim basis, subject to the conditions set forth below, with a final hearing on 4/7/20 at 2:00 p.m., and a deadline of 3/13/20 for the movant to file and serve a notice of the final hearing.

(2) Minimum adequate protection

In addition to the postpetition security interests that are automatically provided pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 552 (e.g., in traceable proceeds and profits), and subject to any more comprehensive protection that may be included in the motion or related papers, Debtor shall provide at least the following protection to any creditor with a security interest in the subject property (pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 361-364, as applicable):

(a) Insurance. For all collateral of a type that typically is insured (e.g., real property and improvements), Debtor is directed to maintain insurance in a dollar amount at least equal to Debtor's good faith estimate of the value of such creditor's interest in the collateral, and such insurance shall name such creditor as an additional insured. Debtor is directed to remain current on payments for such insurance.

(b) Taxes. Debtor is directed to remain current on payments on account of postpetition real estate taxes (to the extent that real estate is part of the collateral).

(c) Disclosures/access. Debtor is directed to provide, upon such creditor's reasonable request, periodic accountings of the foregoing insurance and tax obligations and payments, as well as postpetition proceeds, products, offspring, or profits from the collateral, including gross revenues and expenses and a calculation of net revenues, including any rents and any fees, charges, accounts, or other payments for the use or occupancy of rooms and other public facilities in lodging properties (as all of the foregoing terms are used in 11 U.S.C. 552). Debtor is directed to provide appropriate documentation of those accountings, and access for purposes of inspection or appraisal.

(3) Limitation on postpetition liens

In the event that the motion or related papers seek authority to grant postpetition liens to the creditor(s) with respect to prepetition debts any such liens shall be limited to the same validity, priority, and amount as prepetition liens. (a) Extent. Such liens shall be limited to the type of collateral in which the creditor held a security interest as of the petition date, unless this order expressly states that the liens granted by this order are intended to attach to different types of collateral from the prepetition collateral. For example, if prepetition liens extended to inventory and accounts receivable but not equipment then postpetition liens are likewise limited (unless otherwise expressly provided by order of this Court). In addition, postpetition liens shall not extend to the proceeds of any avoidance actions, any recoveries under 11 U.S.C. 506(c), or any "carveout" under 11 U.S.C. 552.

(b) Priority. Such liens shall be limited to the same priority as the security interest held by the creditor as of the petition date.

(c) Dollar amount. Such liens shall be limited to the dollar amount needed to protect the creditor against diminution in the value of the secured claims as of the petition date.

(d) Enforceability. Such liens shall be limited to the extent that the creditor's security interests were duly perfected and valid as of the petition date, and to the extent that they are unavoidable.

(e) Automatic postpetition perfection. Any automatic perfection of such liens shall be subject to any applicable limitations regarding the Court's authority, jurisdiction, or due process.

(4) Automatic disapproval of insufficiently disclosed provisions

Any provision of the type listed in FRBP 4001(c)(1)(B) or in local form F4001-2 (e.g., cross-collateralization) or any waiver of the "equities of the case" exception in 11 U.S.C. 552(b)(2) shall be deemed automatically disapproved and excepted from any order granting the motion, notwithstanding any other provision of such order, unless either: (a) such provision is specifically and prominently disclosed in the motion papers in a checklist (such as local form F4001-2), or alternatively (b) such provision is specifically identified in any proposed order granting the motion, using terminology of the type used in FRBP 4001(c)(1)(B) or local form F4001-2 (e.g., any "cross-collateralization" that is not specifically identified as such is deemed to be disapproved).

(1) Current issues

(a) Notice of continued hearings

At the 3/10/20 hearing, Debtor was directed to give notice of the continued hearings on the cash collateral motions and status conference no later than 3/13/20. Debtor's proof of service reflects that notice was not given until 3/20/20. See dkt. 70.

In addition, Debtor was directed to give notice to the co-obligor on certain loans, Debtor's mother, who reportedly is a debtor in her own chapter 13 case. Debtor was also directed to give notice to Debtor's mother's bankruptcy attorney and Chapter 13 Trustee. See Amended Bankr. Sch. D (dkt.27) (listing Debtor's mother as co-obligor). Debtor's proof of service does not appear to reflect any such service.

Debtor is directed to address at the hearing whether notice is sufficient. See Rule 4001(b)(1)(C) and (d)(1)(C)&(4) (Fed. R. Bankr. P.). If notice is sufficient, the tentative rulings on the merits are as set forth below. If not, the following tentative rulings will be for interim approval, with a continued hearing concurrent with the continued status conference (see below), and the Debtor to serve notice of the continued hearing no later than 4/8/20, any response due 4/15/20, and any reply orally at the hearing.

(b) Modifications of monthly adequate protection payments

The tentative ruling is to approve the proposed monthly adequate protection payments subject to modification by agreement between Debtor and the party asserting an interest in cash collateral. The tentative ruling is that such flexibility is warranted due to the COVID-19 situation, and the fact that it may be in all parties' interests to establish some flexibility regarding the monthly payments given the general economic uncertainty.

(c) Stipulation with IRS

All of the following tentative rulings are subject to the stipulation between Debtor and the United States of America, on behalf of its agency the Internal Revenue Service ("IRS"). Dkt.62. That includes adequate protection payments of $4,500.00/mo., subject to any modification by Debtor and the IRS. Id., p.3:7-17.

(d) Standard conditions

First, Judge Bason's policy is to incorporate his standard conditions into any order approving the use of cash collateral (see, e.g., dkt.80, at PDF pp.3-5). Such conditions must be incorporated by reference (rather than re-typed, so that parties in interest and this Court do not have to proofread any re-typed text).

Second, Judge Bason's policy is that any concessions by Debtor as to the validity, priority, or amount of any claim (e.g., dkt.81, p.4:3-20, p.5:12-17) shall be binding solely as against Debtor for a period of 90 days after notice of entry of the order approving Debtor's concessions (and other terms), and only thereafter will those concessions be binding on the bankruptcy estate, provided that if any party in interest files and serves an objection to the subject claim prior to that 90-day deadline then such objections shall be preserved.

The tentative ruling is to direct Debtor to serve notice of entry of the orders referenced below within 7 days after entry thereof.

Grant on a final basis, on the same terms previously ordered (dkt. 80).

(ii) 1929 Rochester property

Debtor's reply to the objection of U.S. Bank Trust National Association ("US Bank") offers some additional information regarding the "other" category for expenses listed in Debtor's proposed budget (dkt. 37, p.5, dkt.85, Ex.2). The parties are directed to address whether that is sufficient. See US Bank Obj. (dkt. 78), p.2:23-27. Subject to resolution of that issue, the tentative ruling is to authorize the use of US Bank's cash collateral from this property on a final basis, on the same terms previously ordered (dkt. 75), except that (x) the final order should correct the property address that is listed in the interim order (the 1929 Rochester not Brynhurst property), and (y) US Bank's adequate protection payments shall be $2,373.89/mo., subject to any modification by Debtor and US Bank. See Reply (dkt.85), p.1:26.

(iii) 1932 Rochester property (aka 1932 W. 37th Pl.)

Grant on a final basis, on the same terms previously ordered, as modified by the proposed stipulation between Debtor and HSBC Bank USA National Association (dkt. 76) including adequate protection payments of $6,567.14/mo., subject to any modification by Debtor and HSBC. Id., Ex.1, p.4:1-6.

(f) Debtor's second motion to use cash collateral (dkt. 38)

(i) Cimarron property

Grant on a final basis, on the same terms previously ordered, except as modified by the proposed stipulation between Debtor and The Bank Of New York Mellon ("BONY") (the "BONY Stipulation," dkt. 71), with the following limitations. This Court notes that the BONY Stipulation does not attach any evidence establishing that BONY has a security interest in Debtor's property. Judge Bason's policy is not to approve stipulations as to the validity, priority, or amount of a secured claim, even as against a debtor, without some evidence of due diligence being conducted (e.g., copies of recorded documents establishing BONY's security interest). The tentative ruling is that, before lodging any order granting the motion as to this property, Debtor must file a declaration authenticating such evidence. Subject to the foregoing, the tentative ruling is to approve the use of cash collateral pursuant to the stipulation with BONY, including the adequate protection payments of $4,585.85/mo., subject to any modification by Debtor and BONY. Appearances required by any counsel who wish to be heard, but pursuant to Judge Bason's COVID19 Procedures, telephonic appearances are REQUIRED until further notice.

(1) Current issues

(a) Objection to the Sale Motion

At the hearing on 3/24/20 this Court was persuaded to continue this matter to 4/7/20. The tentative ruling remains unchanged: to overrule the objection (dkt.104) filed by the Estate of Maynard Poynter, Patricia Poynter, Leah Poynter, Adam Poynter, Sean pointer and Melissa O'Donnel (collectively "Poynter"). The parties should be prepared to address the issues raised in that objection and in Debtor's reply papers (dkt.110-12).

(b) Service of the Order Continuing Case Status Conference And Hearing On Sale Motion (the "Scheduling Order," dkt. 115)

At the 3/24/20 hearing, this Court set a deadline of 3/25/20 for Debtor to serve, via overnight mail or personal delivery, the Scheduling Order on parties not previously served with the Sale Motion (dkt. 96) per Rule 7004 (Fed. R. Bankr. P.) who are directly affected by the Sale Motion, and to file a proof of service evidencing such service. Debtor timely served the Scheduling Order and a notice of the continued hearing and filed a proof of service. See dkt. 117, 118.

The docket does not reflect any oppositions or other responses to the relief requested by Debtor in the sale motion and accompanying papers. The tentative ruling is that any objections by any parties other than Poynter are waived, and alternatively forfeited.

(2) Deadlines/dates. The involuntary petition commencing this case was filed on 9/15/19, and an order for relief in this converted chapter 11 case was entered on 12/18/19 (see dkt.28, 29).

Chapter 11

No witnesses need appear (either by telephone or in person), because no evidentiary issues are presented at this time.

(b) Objection to the Sale Motion

The tentative ruling is to overrule the objection objection (dkt.104) filed by the Estate of Maynard Poynter, Patricia Poynter, Leah Poynter, Adam Poynter, Sean pointer and Melissa O'Donnel. The parties should be prepared to address the issues raised in that objection and in Debtor's reply papers (dkt.110-12).

(c) Service of the Sale Motion on certain other persons

Debtor's proof of service ("POS," dkt. 101) appears insufficient. The tentative ruling is that the hearing will have to be continued to provide notice to persons who have not received adequate notices.

For example, Debtor proposes to sell/assign to Mariculture a license issued by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers (the "Corps") (see dkt. 111, Ex.1(ii) (APA), Schedules 1.1 & 1.3, at PDF pp.35 & 41). But there are two problems with any attempted service on the Corps:

(i) No service on the Corps itself. The Corps is listed on the proof of service with its mailing address crossed out and the notation "1/2/20 Unable to Forward" (dkt. 101, p.5, middle of right column); and

(ii) No service on U.S. Attorney and Attorney General. The Corps appears to be an "agency of the United States" so a copy of the motion papers should have been "addressed to the civil process clerk at the office of the United States Attorney" for this district (whose address is available on this Court's website, www.cacb.uscourts.gov under "Government Units' Mailing Address," section 2.4(a)) and to the "Attorney General of the United States at Washington, District of Columbia" (same, section 2.4(b)). Rule 7004(b) (4)&(5) (emphasis added) (incorporated by Rule 9014(b)).

There appear to be similar problems with service on other entities. For example, although Debtor's sale materials (dkt. 100, at PDF p.16) identify a "National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) Aquaculture Permit dated February 28, 2017" as one of the assets to be sold, and Schedules 1.1 and 1.3 of the APA (dkt. 111 at PDF pp. 35 & 41) also reference "permits and consents and conditions" imposed by NOAA, the POS does not appear to include NOAA or its representative. Similar issues appear to apply regarding the California Coastal Commission, Titan Steel Structures, and other parties to various executory contracts. See dkt. 111, Ex. 1(ii) (APA), Schedule 1.3, at PDF p. 41, and see Rule 7004(b)(3) (service on organizations) and (b)(6) (service on States, or governmental organizations thereof).

The tentative ruling is that it is appropriate to shorten time under Rule 9006(c) because of the exigent circumstances of Debtor having no funds to continue operating beyond a very short period of time. See dkt. 47, p.7:25; dkt. 79; dkt. 60; dkt. 93; dkt.109. The evidence before this Court is that Debtor's assets will lose substantial value if not all value if Debtor is unable to pay for care of its mussels and other essential tasks. See dkt. 96, pp.22:13-24:18; dkt. 99.

Based on the foregoing, the tentative ruling is to set the following deadlines: March 25, 2020 for Debtor to serve via overnight mail or personal delivery any entities whose interests are directly affected by the Sale Motion and who have not already been served in compliance with Rule 7004 (or who have waived such service), and to file a proof of service; April 3, 2020 for those entities to file and serve any response; and April 6, 2020 at noon for any reply papers. A continued hearing is tentatively set for April 7, 2020 at 2:00 p.m.

(2) Deadlines/dates. The involuntary petition commencing this case was filed on 9/15/19, and an order for relief in this converted chapter 11 case was entered on 12/18/19 (see dkt.28, 29).

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this Court's final ruling, subject to any changes ordered at the hearing. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

The automatic stay does not apply

Grant the motion under 11 U.S.C. 362(c)(3) and (j): there is no automatic stay because (a) Debtor's prior case (# 2:19-bk-24157-NB) was dismissed (on 1/14/20) within one year before this case was filed (on 2/26/20), (b) that dismissal was not under 11 U.S.C. 707(b), and (c) no finding of good faith was timely sought and obtained.

Although Debtor filed a motion under 11 U.S.C. 362(c)(3) (dkt. 8), Debtor did not timely obtain a hearing prior to the expiration of the stay on 3/27/20. As a result, the automatic stay has terminated both as to Debtor in personam and as to property of Debtor. See In re Reswick, 446 B.R. 362 (9th Cir. BAP 2011); In re Hernandez, case no. 2:11-bk-53730-NB, docket # 40 (Memorandum Decision).

In the alternative and in addition, this court grants relief from the automatic stay as follows.

Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1).

To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Effective date of relief

Grant the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a) (3).

Co-debtor stay

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) has not been shown to have any basis for any different treatment from the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a), so the tentative ruling is to grant the identical relief regarding any co-debtor stay.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear telephonically without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Analysis

Debtor seeks an order continuing the automatic stay in this case under 11 U.S.C. 362(c)(3), but relief under that section is not necessary or appropriate because Debtor's prior bankruptcy case (Case No. 2:18-bk-17139-VZ) was dismissed on 12/27/18, which is more than 1-year prior to the 3/25/20 petition date in this case.

In other words, subject subject to any exceptions other than 11 U.S.C. 362(c)(3) (e.g., 11 U.S.C. 362(b) or any orders under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(4)), the tentative ruling is that the automatic stay is in effect to the full extent provided under 11 U.S.C. 362(a)(1)-(8).

Grant as provided below. Appearances are not required.

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1).

To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Effective date of relief

Deny the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a)(3) for lack of sufficient cause shown.

Co-debtor stay

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) has not been shown to have any basis for any different treatment from the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a), so the tentative ruling is to grant the identical relief regarding any co-debtor stay.

#2.00 Hrg re: Motion to Set Aside the Entry of Default

Analysis

(1) Applicable Standard

Civil Rule 55(c) (Fed. R. Civ. P.), made applicable to these proceedings by Bankruptcy Rule 7055 (Fed. R. Bankr. P.), provides: "The Court may set aside an entry of default for good cause." "The 'good cause' standard that governs vacating an entry of default under Rule 55(c) is the same standard that governs vacating a default judgment under Rule 60(b)." Franchise Holding II, LLC v. Huntington Restaurants Grp., Inc., 375 F.3d 922, 925 (9th Cir. 2004). The Court may deny a motion to vacate a default for any of the following reasons: "(1) the plaintiff would be prejudiced if the judgment is set aside, (2) defendant has no meritorious defense, or (3) the defendant's culpable conduct led to the default." Am. Ass'n of Naturopathic Physicians v. Hayhurst, 227 F.3d 1104, 1108 (9th Cir. 2000, as amended on denial of reh'g (Nov. 1, 2000)). Because "[t]his tripartite test is disjunctive" the Debtor/Plaintiff is required only to demonstrate that one of the factors applies in order for this Court to deny the motion to vacate default. Id. However, "judgment by default is a drastic step appropriate only in extreme circumstances; a case should, whenever possible, be decided on the merits." United States v. Signed Pers. Check No. 730 of Yubran S. Mesle, 615 F.3d 1085, 1098 (9th Cir. 2010).

(a) Debtor has not demonstrated that she would be prejudiced by vacatur of the default

To constitute prejudice, the harm that would result from setting aside the entry of default must be something more than delay or the costs associated with the litigation itself. TCI Group Life Insurance Plan v. Knoebber, 244 F.3d 691, 701 (9th Cir. 2001), overruled on other grounds by Egelhoff v. Egelhoff ex rel. Breiner, 532 U.S. 141 (2001). Merely "being forced to litigate on the merits" is not considered prejudice. Id. "The delay must result in tangible harm such as loss of evidence, increased difficulties of discovery, or greater opportunity for fraud or collusion." Id.

In this case, the Clerk of the Court entered default on 3/13/20 (adv. dkt. 9, 10) and Defendants timely moved to set aside default on 3/27/20 (adv. dkt. 11). Debtor argues that setting aside the defaults would prejudice her because she would be forced to incur attorneys' fees to litigate the dispute but, as set forth above, increased litigation costs is not a sufficient basis to deny the motion. Debtor also argues that setting aside default would prejudice her creditors because further delay in removing Defendants' liens will prevent her from refinancing the property and paying her creditors. But this argument puts the cart before the horse because there is no guarantee that Debtor will prevail on her claims and, even if she does, Debtor has not established why she would be unable to propose a plan that keeps Defendants' liens in place or obtain financing that primes Defendants' liens. Furthermore, if this were a sufficient basis to deny a request for relief from default, Bankruptcy Courts would almost never find it appropriate to set aside defaults. Therefore, the tentative ruling is that Debtor has not made a sufficient showing that she would be prejudiced by vacatur of the defaults.

This factor weighs in favor of setting aside the defaults.

(b) Defendants have a meritorious defense

A party has a meritorious defense if "there is some possibility that the outcome of the suit after a full trial will be contrary to the result achieved by the default." Hawaii Carpenters' Trust Funds v. Stone, 794 F.2d 513 (9th Cir.

United States Bankruptcy Court
Central District of California

Hearing Room 1545

1986). The burden of demonstrating a meritorious defense "on a party seeking to vacate a default judgment is not extraordinarily heavy." Knoebber, 244 F.3d at 700. "All that is necessary to satisfy the 'meritorious defense' requirement is to allege sufficient facts that, if true, would constitute a defense: 'the question whether the factual allegation [i]s true' is not to be determined by the court when it decides the motion to set aside the default. Rather, that question 'would be the subject of the later litigation.'" Mesle, 615 F.3d 16 1094.

Defendants have satisfied the meritorious defense requirement by showing that there is, at a minimum, "some possibility" that they will not be found liable on the claims asserted in the Complaint after a full trial. Defendants have attached a proposed answer to the motion which denies certain allegations of the Complaint and contains affirmative defenses (adv. dkt. 12, Ex.G). If Defendants prevail on the disputed factual allegations or have a successful defense, the outcome of the suit would be contrary to the result achieved by default.

While Debtor makes several arguments as to why Defendants purportedly would lose at trial, these are questions of fact that are not appropriately determined in the context of a motion to set aside entry of default.

Therefore, this factor is satisfied in Defendants' favor.

(c) Defendants' failure to timely respond to the Complaint was not culpable

A "defendant's conduct is culpable if he has received actual or constructive notice of the filing of the action and intentionally failed to answer . . . Neglectful failure to answer as to which the defendant offers a credible, good faith explanation negating any intention to take advantage of the opposing party, interfere with judicial decision-making, or otherwise manipulate the legal process is not 'intentional' under our default cases, and is therefore not necessarily . . . culpable." Knoebber, 244 F.3d 691, 697-98 (emphasis in original).

Defendants have offered a good faith explanation for their failure to timely respond to the Complaint and this Court is not persuaded to find that Defendants intentionally failed to answer to gain some kind of tactical advantage over Debtor in this proceeding. As Debtor's counsel should be well aware, sometimes filing deadlines are inadvertently missed and parties should not be penalized by their attorneys' excusable neglect. This factor

(A) Current issues

(1) Debtor/Plaintiff's ex parte motion for retroactive extension to file opposition to defendant's motion to set aside default (adv. dkt. 20), order setting hearing (adv. dkt. 22)

Subject to any opposition at the hearing, the tentative ruling is to grant the motion.

(2) Defendants' motion to set aside entry of default (adv. dkt. 12, the "Relief From Default Motion"), Debtor/plaintiff's opposition (adv. dkt. 19), Defendants' reply (adv. dkt. 25)

Grant, as set forth in the tentative ruling for calendar #2 (4/21/20 at 11:00 a.m.).

Chapter 11

(3) Debtor/Plaintiff's motion for entry of default judgment (adv. dkt. 14), order suspending briefing deadlines (adv. dkt. 17, "Default Judgment Motion")

If this Court is persuaded to adopt its tentative ruling for the Relief From Default Motion, the tentative ruling is to deny this motion as moot.

(4) Missing status report(s)

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, none of the parties have filed joint or unilateral status reports. The parties are cautioned that failure to file status reports in future may result in adverse consequences.

(5) Debtor's duties as a trustee for the benefit of creditors

The tentative ruling is that, as a debtor in possession in a Subchapter V case, Debtor still must exercise discretion in managing the bankruptcy estate as a trustee for the benefit of creditors. See 11 U.S.C. 1101(1), 1181(a) (making section 1107 inapplicable), 1187 (making many duties applicable). This Court has previously expressed concerns about Debtor's similar tactics against creditor National Commercial Recovery ("NCR"). See adv.dkt.25, pp.10:1-24 & 14:3-17.

In particular, the tentative ruling is that Debtor must make a cost/benefit assessment in connection with all litigation in this bankruptcy case. Debtor is directed to address how her tactics in this matter are consistent with her duties to creditors.

(a) Why is it cost-effective to pursue this litigation seeking to establish that Defendants lack a secured claim, when Debtor anticipates a 100% dividend to all creditors regardless whether they are secured or unsecured?

(b) Why has Debtor not pursued options that might stop the running of high rates of interest on this and other claims, such as expeditiously seeking confirmation of a plan, or selling or refinancing properties.

In other words, is this litigation a waste of resources and time that would be better spent on other matters?

Proposed orders: Defendants are directed to lodge proposed orders on each of the foregoing motions via LOU within seven days after the hearing date and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby adopting it as this Court's final ruling, subject to any changes ordered at the hearing. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(B) Standard requirements

The following are Judge Bason's standard requirements for status conferences. (To the extent that the parties have already addressed these issues in their status report, they need not repeat their positions at the status conference.)

(1) Venue/jurisdiction/authority

The parties are directed to address any outstanding matters of (a) venue, (b) jurisdiction, (c) this Bankruptcy Court's authority to enter final orders or judgment(s) in this proceeding and, if consent is required, whether the parties do consent, or have already expressly or impliedly consented. See generally Stern v. Marshall, 131 S.Ct. 2594, 2608 (2011) (if litigant "believed that the Bankruptcy Court lacked the authority to decide his claim...then he should have said so – and said so promptly."); Wellness Int'l Network, Ltd. v. Sharif, 135 S.Ct. 1932 (2015) (consent must be knowing and voluntary but need not be express); In re Bellingham Ins. Agency, Inc., 702 F.3d 553 (9th Cir. 2012) (implied consent), aff'd on other grounds, 134 S. Ct. 2165 (2014); In re Pringle, 495 B.R. 447 (9th Cir. BAP 2013) (rebuttable presumption that failure to challenge authority to issue final order is intentional and indicates consent); In re Deitz, 760 F.3d 1028 (9th Cir. 2014) (authority to adjudicate nondischargeability encompasses authority to liquidate debt and enter final judgment). See generally In re AWTR Liquidation, Inc., 548 B.R. 300 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2016).

(2) Mediation

Is there is any reason why this Court should not order the parties to mediation before one of the volunteer mediators (not a Bankruptcy Judge), and meanwhile set the deadlines set forth below? The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 5/8/20 for the parties to lodge a proposed mediation order (the parties are directed to use the time between now and that deadline to find a mutually agreeable mediator whose schedule can accommodate the needs of this matter; and if the parties cannot even agree on a mediator they may lodge separate orders and Judge Bason will chose among them, or issue his own order).

(1) Current issues

(a) Motion to Quash (dkt.97, 98) filed by Dos Cabezas Properties, LLC & Criscione-Meyer Entitlement, LLC's (collectively, "Cabezas"), Debtor's omnibus opposition (dkt. 104), Cabezas' omnibus reply (dkt. 113)

As a preliminary matter, the posted Procedures of Judge Bason (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov), do not permit parties to file written motions to compel or quash discovery, but instead direct parties to call chambers to arrange a telephonic conference, at which time Judge Bason may rule on oral motions and oppositions without the need for such papers (id., Section I.D). But the tentative ruling is to waive compliance with these procedures, with a caution to counsel that failure to review and familiarize themselves with the Procedures in future may result in adverse consequences.

Turning to the merits, the tentative ruling is as follows.

(i) Background

On 1/17/20, Debtor filed a motion for 2004 examination and production of documents seeking an order directing the production of documents and appearances at an oral examination by the persons most knowledgeable for Cabezas (dkt. 62, 63, 64, the "2004 Motion"). On 1/24/20, this Court entered an order granting the 2004 Motion (dkt. 69). Cabezas responded by filing separate, but virtually identical Motions to Quash (dkt. 97, 98), and the opposition and reply papers are omnibus. Accordingly, this Court's analysis is the same for both motions.

United States Bankruptcy Court

(ii) Jurisdiction

Cabezas argues that this Court does not have jurisdiction over their specific performance claim because the claim is not "related to" the bankruptcy proceeding and involves purely matters of state law (dkt. 97, 98, p.5:8-14). In support of this argument, Cabezas cites Vacation Village, Inc. v. Clark County, Nev., 497 F.3d 902, 911 (9th Cir. 2007), in which the Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit quotes Celotex Corp. v. Edwards, 514 U.S. 300, 307 n.5 (1995), a Supreme Court decision describing "related to" jurisdiction as "including" certain matters. (Emphasis added.) But Celotex does not define the limits of "related to" jurisdiction, and Celotex cited with approval the Third Circuit's seminal case of Pacor, Inc. v. Higgins, 743 F.2d 984 (1984), which states:

the test for determining whether a civil proceeding is related to bankruptcy is whether the outcome of the proceeding could conceivably have any effect on the estate being administered in bankruptcy. [citations omitted]. Thus, the proceeding need not necessarily be against the debtor or against the debtor's property. An action is related to bankruptcy if the outcome could alter the debtor's rights, liabilities, options, or freedom of action (either positively or negatively) and which in any way impacts upon the handling and administration of the bankrupt estate. [Celotex, 514 U.S. 300, 307 n.5 (emphasis in original)]

Although the Supreme Court did not expressly adopt the Pacor test for determining "related to" jurisdiction, the Ninth Circuit has adopted it (see In re Fietz, 852 F.2d 455, 457 (9th Cir. 1988) ("We therefore adopt the Pacor definition quoted above [and] . . . reject any limitation on this definition"). Cabezas has not cited any authority that the Ninth Circuit has abandoned the Pacor test. Therefore, the tentative ruling is that this Court has "related to" jurisdiction because the parties' dispute arises from an alleged breach of contract for the sale of the estate's principal asset.

CONT...

110 West Properties, LLC

Chapter 11

This Court's determination that it has "related to" jurisdiction is not undermined by this Court's recent tentative ruling (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov, Calendar no. 26, 3/31/20 at 11:00 a.m.) that mandatory abstention requires this Court to remand the State Court litigation in which Cabezas' claims arose. First, that tentative ruling includes a finding that this Bankruptcy Court has "related to" jurisdiction pursuant to 28 U.S.C. 157(c)(1). Second, whether this Court must abstain from hearing a claim is entirely different from whether this Court has any jurisdiction over the claim in the first instance.

(iii) Service of subpoenas

Cabezas asserts that Debtor's 2004 Motion was not effective because they have not been served with subpoenas (dkt. 97, 98, p.8:24-9:5). Debtor does not address this argument in its opposition, but the tentative ruling is that Cabezas is correct that they must be served with subpoenas (see Local Bankruptcy Rule 2004-1(b)(e) ("If the court approves a Rule 2004 examination of an entity other than the debtor, the attendance of the entity for examination and for the production of documents must be compelled by subpoena issued, and served pursuant to FRBP 9016 and F.R.Civ.P. 45"). But the tentative ruling is that this alone is not a sufficient basis to grant the motion, as opposed to continuing the motion to allow service.

(iv) Scope of discovery, and meeting and conferring

Cabezas argues that the 2004 Motion should be quashed because the requested production and scope of examination are vague and overly broad and because Debtor did not comply with applicable local rules requiring the parties to meet and confer. The tentative ruling is to overrule these objections. There is sufficient evidence of attempts to meet and confer, and the scope of discovery under Rule 2004 is well recognized as very broad.

(v) Local Bankruptcy Rule 2004-1(b)

Cabezas argues that the 2004 Motion should be quashed because Debtor failed to comply with Local Bankruptcy Rule ("LBR") 2004-1(b), which requires, in relevant part, that a motion "explain why the examination cannot proceed under FRBP 7030 or 9014," because there was a pending adversary proceeding in this Bankruptcy Court at the time the 2004 Motion was filed (dkt. 97, 98, p.7:7-18). But LBR 2004-1(b) is subject to this Court's discretion (see LBR 1001-1(d) ("The Local Bankruptcy Rules apply uniformly throughout the district, but are not intended to limit the discretion of the court. The Court may waive the application of any Local Bankruptcy Rule in any case or proceeding, or make additional orders as it deems appropriate, in the interest of justice").

In exercising its discretion, this Court considers two relevant circumstances. First, Rule 2004(a) (Fed. R. Bankr. P.) states that the court "may" order the examination of any entity, not "must," so such discovery is within this Court's discretion. (Emphasis added.) Second, Rule 45(d)(3)(A) (iv) (Fed. R. Civ. P.), provides that this Court "must quash or modify a subpoena that: . . . subjects a person to undue burden," so this Court must assess how much burden is "undue." (Emphasis added.)

The tentative ruling is that this Court is not persuaded to quash the 2004 Motion on this ground because, as Debtor highlights, the adversary proceeding referenced by Cabezas has been dismissed (see 2:20-ap-01008-NB, dkt. 11). This Court recognizes that there is a pending motion to vacate the dismissal order, but at most that warrants continuing the motion to quash, not granting it at this point.

(vi) Interference with State Court litigation

In a more persuasive argument, Cabezas asserts that permitting Debtor to conduct discovery in this Court is fundamentally unfair and inequitable because it would permit Debtor to circumvent state discovery rules (dkt. 97, 98, p.7:19-8-4). The tentative ruling is that it is appropriate to quash the 2004 Motion, both in the exercise of this Court's discretion under Rule 2004 and, alternatively, in assessing how much burden is "undue" under Rule 45.

The tentative ruling is that this Bankruptcy Court should defer to the State Court's management of this discovery, for two reasons. First, it appears appropriate that the same forum that will be deciding the merits of the parties' dispute should also determine the scope of discovery and resolve any discovery disputes.

Second, the same policies that underly the principle of not permitting discovery under Rule 2004 when there is a pending adversary proceeding or contested matter also apply when there is pending state court litigation. See, e.g., In re Washington Mut., Inc., 408 B.R. 45, 50 (Bankr. D. Del. 2009) ("In addition to restricting use of Rule 2004 examinations when proceedings are pending against the examinee in the bankruptcy court, courts have also recognized that Rule 2004 examinations may be in appropriate 'where the party requesting the Rule 2004 examination could benefit their pending litigation outside of the bankruptcy court against the proposed Rule 2004 examinee."') (internal citations omitted).

In this case, the tentative ruling is that permitting Debtor to proceed with discovery under Rule 2004 when there is a pending state court proceeding would be improper and impose an undue burden on Cabezas because Rule 2004 is broader in scope than the ordinary rules of discovery and does not afford Cabezas the same rights and protections. See 9 Collier on Bankruptcy ¶ 2004.01 (16th 2020); In re Dinubilo, 177 B.R. 932, 939-40 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 1993) ("in a Rule 2004 examination: the witness has no right to be represented by counsel . . . there is only a limited right to object to immaterial or improper questions; there is no general right to cross-examine witnesses; and no right to have issues defined beforehand").

(vii) Conclusion

For the reasons stated above, the tentative ruling is that protective orders are warranted because the discovery sought from Cabezas overlaps with the issues being litigated before the State Court and potentially gives Debtor an unfair advantage in that action. Unless and until Debtor shows otherwise, it appears appropriate to stay all discovery sought from Cabezas absent further order of this Court.

Proposed orders: Cabezas is directed to lodge two proposed orders - one on each of the foregoing motions - via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby adopting it as this Court's final ruling, subject to any changes ordered at the hearing. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(b) Monthly Operating Reports ("MORs")

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, Debtor has not filed its March MOR. The tentative ruling is that delays or failure to file MORs may be grounds for various adverse consequences, potentially including conversion or dismissal of this bankruptcy case. This Court can assess such issues at future status conferences, or upon a motion by the United States Trustee or other parties in interest.

Revised Tentative Ruling for 2/18/20:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor.

(1) Current issues

(a) Cash Collateral Motion (dkt. 73)

Grant in part and deny in part. See the tentative ruling for calendar no. 18.10 (2/18/20 at 1:00 p.m.).

(b) Explanation of business

Debtor's proposed budget (dkt.73, Ex.A) lists wildly fluctuating income, from highs of $45,028 in February 2020 and $37,114 in March 2020 to lows of $2,200 in May and June 2020. Why?

This Court recognizes that the same budget lists historical fluctuations for 2019. The net income ranges from a high of $38,366 in March 2019 to a low of $0 in July and August of 2019, and only $2,500 in June 2019 and $3,300 in May 2019. Again, however, there is no explanation. In addition, Debtor's Statement Of Financial Affairs (dkt.28, line 1) lists gross revenues of approximately $500,000 per year for 2017, 2018 and 2019. What accounts for (i) the wild fluctuations in net income and (ii) the lack of consistent profit despite substantial and seemingly stable gross annual revenues?

Tentative Ruling for 1/28/20:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor and by the debtor(s) themselves.

(1) Current issues

(a) Monthly operating reports ("MORs")

Debtor's MORs have been filed late, and they appear to show unauthorized adequate protection payments (see dkt.68, pp.15, 29) and unpaid US Trustee fees (id., p.30). Why?

(b) Cash collateral

Debtor's initial status report (dkt.27, at PDF pp.3-5) stated that there was no immediate need to obtain authorization for use of cash collateral because Debtor has no employees or operations. Debtor's latest status report (dkt.60, p.3:9-20) suggests that productive negotiations have taken place with the creditor holding an interest in cash collateral and that Debtor intends to self-calendar a motion approving the use of cash collateral for 2/4/20. What is the latest status of those matters?

Analysis

(1) Procedural issues

This matter was continued to this date to allow Movant time to address certain service issues identified in this Court's tentative ruling for 4/7/20 (see section 1, below). This Court has reviewed Movant's amended proof of service (dkt. 99) and unauthorized supplemental brief (dkt. 100). As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file. Therefore, the tentative ruling is to adopt the tentative ruling for 4/7/20 (see sections 2 & 3, below), supplemented as follows.

(2) Limited relief

Chapter 11

The tentative ruling is to modify and condition the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) such that the movant may proceed in the nonbankruptcy forum to final judgment (including any appeals) in accordance with applicable nonbankruptcy law, subject to the following limitations (Judge Bason's standard limitations).

(a) No enforcement against property of the bankruptcy estate

The stay remains in effect with respect to enforcement of any judgment against property of the debtor's bankruptcy estate - any such property shall be distributed when and how provided by the Bankruptcy Code. Nevertheless, the movant is permitted to enforce its final judgment by (i) collecting upon any available insurance in accordance with applicable nonbankruptcy law or (ii) proceeding against the debtor as to any property that is not property of this bankruptcy estate. See, e.g., 11 U.S.C. 362(b)(2)(B) & 541(b)(7) (collection of domestic support obligations from ERISA qualified retirement plans).

(b) Claim allowance, priority, and discharge issues

Any claims arising from the nonbankruptcy litigation are subject to this Bankruptcy Court's jurisdiction regarding claim allowance and priority, and the existence and scope of any bankruptcy discharge.

(c) No relief in other bankruptcy cases

To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

In limiting the nonbankruptcy litigation as set forth above, this Bankruptcy Court emphasizes that it does not seek in any way to impinge on the authority of the Nonbankruptcy Courts presiding over the nonbankruptcy action. Rather, this Bankruptcy Court takes seriously its obligations, as a subordinate unit of the District Court, to manage this bankruptcy case. Those obligations include taking into consideration the interests of creditors (who are not parties to the underlying nonbankruptcy litigation), and preserving the bankruptcy estate by placing limits on any relief from the automatic stay that Congress has mandated (11 U.S.C. 362(a) & (d)).

Service is required on the creditors included in the list filed pursuant to Rule 1007(d) (Fed. R. Bankr. P.), pursuant to Rules 4001(a)(1) and 9014(a).

Service is required not only (i) on Debtor's counsel but also (ii) on Debtor itself ("double service"), pursuant to Rules 7004(b)(9)&(g) and 9014(a)&(b). In addition, service on Debtor must be addressed to it at its address of record (listed on this Court's docket) and the address must include "Attn: Officer or Managing/General Agent" or the like. See Rule 7004(b)(3) (requiring service "to the attention of an officer, a managing or general agent, or to any other agent authorized by appointment or by law to receive service of process and, if the agent is one authorized by statute to receive service and the statute so requires, by also mailing a copy to the [debtor]").

The tentative ruling is that this Court has neither the authority nor the inclination to excuse non-compliance with these rules. It is true that this double service requirement is the exact opposite of typical non-bankruptcy practice, in which it is generally impermissible to serve a represented party personally; but there are good reasons for the double service rule in bankruptcy. It helps protect Debtor and the bankruptcy estate (i.e., all parties in interest) from matters "falling through the cracks" given the high volume and speed of matters in typical bankruptcy cases, and the frequent use of service via U.S. mail.

Based on the foregoing, the tentative ruling is to continue this hearing to 4/21/20 at 1:00 p.m., with corrected service and a filed proof of service required no later than 4/9/20. The tentative ruling is to shorten time (per Rule 9006) such that, if service is made on that date then the hearing can go forward on the stated date, and with any opposition papers due 4/16/20 and any reply due 4/20/20 at noon.

In the interests of efficiency and completeness, this Court now turns to the tentative ruling on the merits. The following tentative ruling is based solely on the motion papers, and is subject to change in the event of any opposition (after Movant has re-served the motion papers).

(2) "Cause" for relief

The motion papers state that Movant seeks a nondischargeable judgment based on alleged fraud. The tentative ruling is that this is not sufficient cause for relief. Although claims arising from fraud generally are nondischargeable for individual debtors under 11 U.S.C. 523, that section does not apply to non-individual debtors in chapter 11. See 11 U.S.C. 1141(d)(2).

That said, the tentative ruling is that there is still "cause" for relief from the automatic stay within the meaning of 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) for two alternative reasons that are apparent from the motion papers. (a) The nonbankruptcy litigation may resolve any disputes regarding the claims and counterclaims. In addition, (b) the nonbankruptcy litigation involves another named defendant, as well as "Doe" defendants.

(3) Relief notwithstanding future bankruptcy cases

Deny, without prejudice to any other types of relief granted herein (or previously granted), for the following reasons.

The motion requests requests "in rem" relief (i.e., relief applicable notwithstanding future bankruptcy cases (under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(4) - inapplicable in this case - and/or In re Vazquez, 580 B.R. 526 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2017)). The tentative ruling is to deny that request because there is no showing of multiple bankruptcy cases that were part of a scheme to hinder, delay, or defraud creditors, or other sufficient grounds for such relief.

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 4/21/20:

Appearances are not required. If you wish to dispute the tentative ruling you must notify opposing counsel of your intent to appear telephonically.

Pursuant to Judge Bason's COVID19 Procedures, ONLY TELEPHONIC APPEARANCES WILL BE PERMITTED until further notice. Please contact CourtCall at (888) 882-6878 to make arrangements for any telephonic appearance. There is no need to contact the Court for permission. Parties who are not represented by an attorney will be able to use CourtCall for free through 4/30/20. Attorneys will receive a 25% discount (for more information, see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.," "Telephonic Instructions").

(1) Current issues

(a) Motion of landlord MAC LCBNA, LLC ("Landlord") for immediate payment of post-petition rent and lease obligations as an administrative expense claim (dkt. 85), debtor's notice of sublease rejection (dkt. 89), stipulation for rejection of sublease (dkt. 90) and other thereon (dkt. 92), debtor's opposition (dkt. 95), Landlord's reply (dkt. 104)

The tentative ruling is to grant the motion in part, deny in part, as follows.

(i) Rejection of lease

The tentative ruling is to deny as moot Landlord's request for an order to show cause as to why the lease should not be deemed rejected, in view of the parties' stipulation for rejection of the lease and order thereon (dkt. 90, 92).

(ii) Landlord is entitled to an administrative claim for postpetition rent and charges (11 U.S.C. 365(d)(3))

Chapter 11

Landlord seeks an order directing debtor to immediately pay it all outstanding post-petition rent and charges in the amount of $124,722.12 pursuant to section 365(d)(3) or, alternatively, for allowance of an administrative expense claim under section 503(b)(1). Debtor apparently does not dispute that, mathematically, the amounts payable under the lease amount to that total; but Debtor does appear to assert defenses based on an alleged lack of water pressure at the premises, and/or setoff or recoupment.

First, the parties' factual disputes are not properly presented for decision at this time: they would require further briefing and/or an evidentiary hearing. Meanwhile this Court will address the legal issues.

Second, Debtor does not address Landlord's entitlement to payment under section 365(d)(3), but argues that Landlord has not carried its burden under section 503(b)(1). The tentative ruling is that Landlord is entitled to an order allowing it an administrative priority claim under section 365(d)(3) in the full contractual amount of $124,722.12, subject to any nonbankruptcy defenses and setoffs/recoupments. See In re LPM Corp., 300 F.3d 1134, 1138 (9th Cir. 2002) ("claims for post-petition rent arising under 365(d)(3) are entitled to administrative priority, even if those claims exceed the reasonable value of the debtor's actual use of the property"). This Court need not address whether Landlord would also be entitled to an administrative claim under section 503(b)(1).

(iii) Landlord is not entitled to immediate payment of amounts remaining unpaid at this time

The tentative ruling is that Landlord is not entitled to immediate payment of unpaid postpetition rents and other charges at this time. To be clear, the statute does direct any debtor to make immediate payment. But the statute does not specify the consequences for failing to do so.

Under applicable decisions interpreting the statute, the consequences may include that (x) such non-payment may be grounds for relief from the automatic stay, (y) such non-payment may be grounds for terminating the leasehold interest (which Landlord requested and which Debtor has acceded to and this Court has approved), and (z) such non-payment may give rise to an administrative priority claim. But, in view of the possibility that the estate may be administratively insolvent, the tentative ruling is that Landlord is not entitled to immediate payment of the rent that should have been paid before.

Landlord is not the only administrative claimant, all of whom should be paid, but if there is not enough money to pay all administrative claims then Landlord would be receiving a super-priority. In an analogous situation the Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit has held that unpaid rent under section 365(d)(3) is entitled to administrative priority, but not a superpriority over chapter 7 administrative expenses. In re LPM Corp., 300 F.3d at 1137-38. The Ninth Circuit did not specifically address whether such rent claims have a superpriority over chapter 11 administrative claims, but the Ninth Circuit's reasoning in LPM applies with equal force to chapter 11 administrative expenses.

In addition, among the cases cited by LPM with approval is the decision in In re Tel-Central Communications, Inc., 212 B.R. 342, 348 (Bankr. W.D. Missouri 1997), which held that "if a lessor of a Chapter 11 debtor has not been paid post-petition in accordance with the mandate in sections 356(d)(3) and 365(d)(10) prior to the conversion of the case to a Chapter 7 proceeding, the lessor has a Chapter 11 administrative expense claim that cannot be paid until it is determined whether the bankruptcy estate has sufficient funds to pay all of the Chapter 7 and Chapter 11 administrative expenses." (Citation omitted, emphasis added.) The tentative ruling is that the reasoning in T-Central is sound.

In sum, Landlord is not entitled to immediate payment at this time.

(iv) Landlord is not entitled to an administrative priority for its attorney fees, and the dollar amount will need to be determined in future

Landlord seeks allowance of $8,500 in attorneys' fees incurred in bringing this motion. Landlord seeks to include these fees within its administrative priority claim.

Debtor did not specifically object to the request for attorney fees. So the tentative ruling is that any arguments as to the allowability of attorneys fees as a matter of contract, or nonbankruptcy law, have been forfeited and waived, with two caveats.

First, like any default, this Court can exercise its discretion to require a "prove up" hearing or comparable procedures to support the dollar amount of attorney fees and costs. The tentative ruling is that, at an appropriate time to be determined at a future status conference, Landlord would need to file a declaration with daily timesheets. Then Debtor could object to whether Landlord's evidence in support of its fee request is sufficient (but, as is typical in prove up hearings, Debtor could not introduce its own evidence).

Second, Debtor has objected generally to the asserted administrative priority of Landlord's claim, and that includes attorney fees in this more general objection. The tentative ruling is that Landlord has not carried its burden to establish that its attorney fees are entitled to an administrative priority.

It is true that, in some circumstances, attorney fees may be accorded administrative priority under section 365(d)(3), as the Ninth Circuit observed in In re Cuckierman, those cases "involved lease agreements under which the delinquent lessee was obligated to pay the lessor's attorney's fees on demand as the fees were incurred." 265 F.3d 846, 852 (9th Cir. 2001) (citations omitted, emphasis added). In this case, the relevant fee provision provides:

The prevailing party shall be awarded all costs and expenses including, without limitation, reasonable attorneys' fees, arising from enforcement of the provisions of this Sublease. The remedies described in this section and the Lease are cumulative and in addition to and without waiver of all remedies allowed Sublandlord by this Sublease, case law, common law or hereafter in effect, and are not mutually exclusive. Subtenant agrees that the rights and remedies granted Sublandlord in this section are commercially reasonable. (dkt. 85, Ex.1, para. 11.5)

The tentative ruling is that this language does not entitle Landlord to immediate payment and, applying the same reasoning in Cuckierman, the tentative ruling is also that any obligation of Debtor to pay Landlord's attorneys' fees will have arisen after the lease was rejected and only if this Court adopts its ruling and determines Landlord is the prevailing party. 265 F.3d at 852. At any such point the attorney fee claim will be part of the rejection damages, which are treated as a prepetition claim. See 11 U.S.C. 502(g). See In re SNTL Corp., 571 F.3d 826 (9th Cir. 2009).

In sum, the tentative ruling is that attorney fees are part of Landlord's claim, but Landlord has not established that they are entitled to administrative priority, nor has Landlord provided sufficient evidence to support the precise dollar amount of fees to be awarded as part of its rejection claim. Those things can be determined in future, as discussed below.

(v) Dollar amount of administrative claim, and any nonbankruptcy defense/setoff/recoupment

Chapter 11

The tentative ruling is that it is premature at this time to set any evidentiary hearing as to rent and other charges, or any prove-up hearing or similar procedures as to attorney fees. It is unclear just how much or how little Debtor might have available to pay administrative priority creditors, and whether this case will have to be converted to chapter 7, in view of Debtor's postpetition lack of substantial revenues (see March MOR, dkt.105) and, more recently, the effects of the COVID-19 pandemic.

Therefore, the tentative ruling is to grant the interim relief set forth above and then take this motion off calendar, without prejudice to seeking at any future status conference to have the motion re-calendared and set for an evidentiary hearing, with associated deadlines.

Proposed order: Landlord is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby adopting it as this Court's final ruling, subject to any changes ordered at the hearing. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(b) Christopher Becker's motion for relief from the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362 (action in nonbankruptcy forum) (dkt. 76), Mr. Becker's unauthorized supplemental brief (dkt. 99), amended proof of service (dkt. 100), no opposition is on file

The tentative ruling is to grant in part, deny in part, as set forth in the tentative ruling for calendar no. 5 at 1:00 p.m.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 1/15/20.

(a) Bar date: 4/7/20 (dkt. 52, timely served, dkt. 59).

(b) Procedures order: dkt. 5 (timely served, dkt. 11, 18).

(c) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: The 5/15/20 deadline previously set at the last status conference is vacated based on Debtor's representation in its status report that it will pursue a sale of all or substantially all of its assets (dkt. 80).

(d) Continued status conference: 6/2/20 at 1:00 p.m. Brief status report due 5/19/20.

adopting it as this Court's final ruling, subject to any changes ordered at the hearing. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(c) Service of order setting principal status conference

This Court's order setting principal status conference and setting various procedures (the "Procedures Order," dkt. 5) required Debtor to serve that order on all parties in interest and file a proof of service at least 14 days before the principal status conference. Debtor's proof of service states that the Procedures Order was only served on the UST, secured creditors and the twenty largest unsecured creditors (dkt. 11).

The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 2/7/20 for Debtor to file and serve a Notice, with a copy of the Procedures Order attached as an exhibit, informing all parties in interest that "Debtor failed to serve the Procedures Order on all parties in interest as directed by the Bankruptcy Court, which may have prejudiced some parties. The Bankruptcy Court has directed Debtor to serve this Notice, with a copy of the Procedures Order, on all parties in interest, both to inform all parties of the procedures in the Procedures Order and so that any party who was prejudiced by the lack of earlier service has an opportunity to seek any appropriate relief."

In addition, Debtor is cautioned that failure to comply with this Court's orders may result in adverse consequences.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 1/15/20.

(a) Bar date: 4/7/20 (DO NOT SERVE notice yet - court will prepare an order after the status conference).

(b) Procedures order: dkt. 5 (see section "(1)(c)" above).

(c) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: file by 5/15/20 using the forms required by Judge Bason (DO NOT SERVE yet, except on the U.S. Trustee - this Court will set a deadline and procedures at a later time).

fr. 03/03/20, 03/31/20

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 4/21/20:

Appearances required, but pursuant to Judge Bason's COVID19 Procedures, telephonic appearances are REQUIRED until further notice.

Please contact CourtCall at (888) 882-6878 to make arrangements for any telephonic appearance. There is no need to contact the Court for permission. Parties who are not represented by an attorney will be able to use CourtCall for free through 4/30/20. Attorneys will receive a 25% discount (for more information, see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.," "Telephonic Instructions").

(1) Current issues

(a) Combined status conferences

Three cases are jointly administered: In re Anthony Chan (Case No. 2:20-bk-11409-NB); In re A Touch of Brass, Inc. (Case No. 2:20-bk-11555-NB) ("Brass"); and A.C. Yu Chan Holding, Inc. (Case No. 2:20-bk-11476-NB). This status conference addresses all three cases.

(b) Chan Budget motion (2:20-bk-11409-NB, dkt. 44)

There is no tentative ruling. This Court is not persuaded that it is appropriate to approve Debtor's proposed budget, which lists a negative net monthly income: ($2,684.80). Debtor should be prepared to address whether he anticipates either an increase in income or decrease in expenses in the near future.

(c) Monthly operating reports ("MORs") for Debtor Anthony Chan

Debtor Anthony Chan's Amended February MOR (Case No. 2:20-bk-11409-NB, dkt.53, p.4) lists the number of postpetition payments not made to Bank of America at $0 but lists a very large dollar amount in the column for

"Total Due" (presumably Debtor's estimate of the entire balance owed). This Court's understanding of the form is that Debtor should be listing the total postpetition payments that are due and unpaid, not the total balance. The United States Trustee ("UST") is requested to clarify this issue at the hearing, and state whether Debtor needs to file a further amended MOR.

In addition, the same MOR lists only a single entry for "food" ($983.15). The UST is requested to clarify whether food entries should be broken down into single items (each grocery bill, each meal at a restaurant, etc.).

In addition, although the MOR lists a single deposit and various expenses in an exactly equal total amount, the expenses are not reflected in the bank statement or any cash ledger or anywhere else. Is that because (i) Mr. Chan arranges for his employment compensation to equal his expenses exactly and (ii) the checks are either (x) drawn on the bank account of Mr. Chan's employer (his company and co-debtor A Touch of Brass, Inc.), or (y) the checks are drawn on his own bank account but have not yet cleared as of the end of the MOR's period, or (z) some other explanation?

The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 4/28/20 for Debtor to file and corrected MOR.

(d) Monthly operating reports ("MORs") for Debtor A Touch of Brass, Inc.

Debtor A Touch of Brass, Inc.'s Amended February MOR (Case No. 2:20-bk-11555-NB, dkt. 71, p.11) has a similar issue regarding postpetition payments. It removes the figures in the "Post-Petition payments not made (Number)" column, but there was no corresponding change to the "Total Due" column, so Debtor still reflects missed postpetition payments to "CNC Associates" and "Toyota Financial Services" in an amount totaling $26,018.86.

Debtor is directed to address whether a further amended MOR should address this issue. In any event, Debtor is directed to address (i) what Debtor's financial viability is, (ii) what is the nature of the missed postpetition payments, and (iii) how does its inability to pay these debts impact its ability to reorganize?

Additionally, Debtor did not attach copies of bank statements to this amended MOR. The tentative ruling is to waive that omission in this instance, since those documents are attached to the original February MOR (dkt. 68), but caution Debtor that future MORs should attach bank statements.

Debtor's proof of service does not reflect service on PHH Mortgage Corporation or Specialized Loan Servicing in a manner consistent with Rule 7004 (Fed. R. Bankr. P.). Why not?

(b) Deviations may not exceed 10%

Debtor checked the box requesting authority to deviate from the line item expenses in the proposed budget(s), but did not fill in the percentage of deviation requested. The tentative ruling is that debtor may not deviate from the line items listed in the motion by more than 10%.

(c) Property taxes and insurance

The motion is inconsistent about whether debtor pays monthly property taxes and insurance into an impound account (compare dkt. 12, p. 4, para. 5 with p. 5, para. 1). The tentative ruling is to direct debtor to file an amended motion stating the estimated dollar amount for these items by the date for service of notice of the continued hearing (stated at the start of this tentative ruling).

Judge Bason's standard conditions for use of cash collateral and/or postpetition financing (by creditors holding prepetition claims)

(1) Written order

(a) Form. Use local form

F2081-2.1.ORDER.CASH.COLLATERAL or the equivalent. Attach a copy of this tentative ruling as an exhibit, thereby adopting it as the written ruling of this Court, subject to any changes ordered at the hearing. Do not repeat the terms set forth in the motion or any stipulation. Incorporate those terms by reference (including the docket number of the document), subject to any modification by this Court.

(b) Timing. Lodge the proposed order within 7 days after the hearing. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(2) Minimum adequate protection

In addition to the postpetition security interests that are automatically provided pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 552 (e.g., in traceable proceeds and profits), and subject to any more comprehensive protection that may be included in the motion or related papers, Debtor shall provide at least the following protection to any creditor with a security interest in the subject property (pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 361-364, as applicable):

(a) Insurance. For all collateral of a type that typically is insured (e.g., real property and improvements), Debtor is directed to maintain insurance in a dollar amount at least equal to Debtor's good faith estimate of the value of such creditor's interest in the collateral, and such insurance shall name such creditor as an additional insured. Debtor is directed to remain current on payments for such insurance.

(b) Taxes. Debtor is directed to remain current on payments on account of postpetition real estate taxes (to the extent that real estate is part of the collateral).

(c) Disclosures/access. Debtor is directed to provide, upon such creditor's reasonable request, periodic accountings of the foregoing insurance and tax obligations and payments, as well as postpetition proceeds, products, offspring, or profits from the collateral, including gross revenues and expenses and a calculation of net revenues, including any rents and any fees, charges, accounts, or other payments for the use or occupancy of rooms and other public facilities in lodging properties (as all of the foregoing terms are used in 11 U.S.C. 552). Debtor is directed to provide appropriate documentation of those accountings, and access for purposes of inspection or appraisal.

(3) Grant of, and limitation on, postpetition liens

The tentative ruling is to grant postpetition liens to any creditors holding secured claims by granting replacement liens, but such liens shall be limited to the same validity, priority, and amount as prepetition liens. As used herein, the "validity, priority, and amount" or any similar phrase that may be used by the parties or this Court is deemed to include the following:

(a) Extent. Such liens shall be limited to the type of collateral in which the creditor held a security interest as of the petition date, unless this order expressly states that the liens granted by this order are intended to attach to different types of collateral from the prepetition collateral. For example, if prepetition liens extended to inventory and accounts receivable but not equipment then postpetition liens are likewise limited (unless otherwise expressly provided by order of this Court). In addition, postpetition liens shall not extend to the proceeds of any avoidance actions, any recoveries under 11 U.S.C. 506(c), or any "carveout" under 11 U.S.C. 552.

(b) Priority. Such liens shall be limited to the same priority as the security interest held by the creditor as of the petition date.

(c) Dollar amount. Such liens shall be limited to the dollar amount needed to protect the creditor against diminution in the value of the secured claims as of the petition date.

(d) Enforceability. Such liens shall be limited to the extent that the creditor's security interests were duly perfected and valid as of the petition date, and to the extent that they are unavoidable.

(e) Automatic postpetition perfection. Any automatic perfection of such liens shall be subject to any applicable limitations regarding the Court's authority, jurisdiction, or due process.

(4) Automatic disapproval of insufficiently disclosed provisions

Any provision of the type listed in FRBP 4001(c)(1)(B) or in local form F4001-2 (e.g., cross-collateralization) or any waiver of the "equities of the case" exception in 11 U.S.C. 552(b)(2) shall be deemed automatically disapproved and excepted from any order granting the motion, notwithstanding any other provision of such order, unless either: (a) such provision is specifically and prominently disclosed in the motion papers in a checklist (such as local form F4001-2), or alternatively (b) such provision is specifically identified in any proposed order granting the motion, using terminology of the type used in FRBP 4001(c)(1)(B) or local form F4001-2 (e.g., any "cross-collateralization" that is not specifically identified as such is deemed to be disapproved).

(5) Disputes

In the event of any disputes regarding the rulings in this order, the parties are directed to meet and confer and, if they cannot resolve their disputes consensually, contact Judge Bason's chambers to arrange a mutually convenient time for either a telephonic or in-person hearing to address such disputes.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear telephonically without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

(1) Current issues

Parada (dkt. 54). The tentative ruling is to grant the application and authorize employment, effective 2/26/20, subject to Judge Bason's standard employment provisions (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov).

(d) Budget motion (dkt. 41), Amended Schedule J (dkt. 28) no opposition is on file

Grant on a further interim basis, subject to Debtor addressing the following issues in an amended budget and/or declaration filed by 4/28/20, with a continued hearing concurrent with the continued status conference (see part "(2)" of this tentative ruling, below).

(i) HOA fees: Amended Schedule J, paragraph 4d reflects a $79 monthly payment for "Homeowner's association or condominium dues," but the proposed budget does not include this as a line-item expense. Why not?

(ii) Car payment: Debtor's budget proposes to stop making a $369 monthly car payment beginning April 2020, but does not explain why. Was March 2020 the final payment under a vehicle purchase agreement? Is Debtor surrendering this vehicle? If so, will Debtor be able to get to/from work? Should the budget be further amended to eliminate the need for car insurance? Why was this decrease not addressed in paragraph 24 on Schedule J which prompted Debtor to state whether she expected any decreases in her expenses within the year after the form was filed?

(e) Amended Schedule I (dkt. 28) remains deficient

This Court's 3/31/20 tentative ruling (see below) directed Debtor to file an amended Schedule I that attaches a separate statement showing gross receipts, ordinary and necessary business expenses, and the total monthly net income.

Debtor's Amended Schedule I still puts rental income in line 8h, rather than in line 8a, and Debtor has still not filed a separate statement as required by that form and this Court's prior ruling.

The tentative ruling is that Debtor is directed to file a further amended schedule I by 4/28/20 that cures both of these issues.

(f) Monthly operating reports ("MORs")

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, Debtor has not filed an MOR for March. Why not?

(a) Cash collateral motion (dkt. 12)

Grant the motion on an interim basis, subject to the service deadlines and also to Judge Bason's standard conditions for use of cash collateral set forth in the tentative ruling for calendar no. 2 (3/31/20 at 1:00 p.m.), with a continued hearing concurrent with the continued status conference (see part "(2)" of this tentative ruling, below).

(b) Utilities motion (dkt. 16), order setting hearing on shortened notice (dkt. 19, "OST"), notice of hearing (dkt. 21), proof of service (dkt. 22)

The first issue that this Court will address is whether to shorten time and why notice could not have been provided sooner.

The second issue that this Court will address is whether, if notice could have been provided sooner, counsel should not charge anything for the Application and related matters.

If this Court is persuaded to shorten time, then subject to any opposition at the hearing, the tentative ruling is to grant this motion on an interim basis, with a final hearing concurrent with the continued status conference (see part "(2)" below).

(c) Application to employ Anyama Law Firm (dkt. 11)

Ms. Anyama and Debtor state that Ms. Anyama's firm received an $8,233 pre-petition retainer payment, which was a gift from Debtor's family (dkt. 11, p.6, para. 3.a.1 & p. 8) (actually, Ms. Anyama's firm received $10,000 including the filing fee, id., Ex.2, p.2).

The contribution from family members raises certain ethical issues because a third party who funds a retainer for a debtor (a "Funder") may have a variety of motivations for providing the funding such as, for example, being the recipient of an avoidable preference, or otherwise having interests that are adverse to (or at least not fully aligned with) the bankruptcy estate or creditors. For these reasons, although payment of a retainer by a Funder is not outright prohibited, it is fraught with ethical concerns. At the hearing, proposed counsel should be prepared to address the following.

(i) Connections. What are all of the connections between the Funder, on the one hand, and Debtor, Debtor's proposed counsel, and any of the other types of persons listed in FRBP 2014, on the other hand -- e.g., have there been any economic or business or personal connections between the Funder and Debtor, beyond the fact of being a family member, or between the Funder and proposed counsel, or any creditor or other party in interest, or their respective attorneys or accountants? These questions may be answered, if appropriate, by referring to specific disclosures already on file, e.g., the bankruptcy schedules.

(ii) Terms. The Application and Debtor's declaration assert that the funds were to be treated as a gift, but there is no evidence to support that assertion (e.g., declaration(s) from the Funder).

(iii) Informed consent of Funder. Has the Funder been advised regarding actual and potential conflicts of interest, and that the sole attorney-client relationship and duty of loyalty is with Debtor, not the Funder? Who provided such advice: independent counsel, or Debtor's proposed counsel (and if the latter, was each Funder given the opportunity to obtain independent counsel)? Has the Funder given informed consent? Are these things in writing?

(iv) Informed consent of debtor. Has the debtor likewise been fully advised and given informed consent? Who provided such advice? Are these things in writing?

(v) Other considerations. Has proposed counsel demonstrated to the Court the absence of an actual or potential conflict, a lack of disinterestedness, or any other basis for disqualification? See In re Kelton Motors, Inc., 116 B.R. 208, 219 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1990); In re Park-Helena Corp., 63 F.3d 877 (9th Cir. 1995).

Ms. Anyama seeks authority to charge $150/hour for paralegal services, but the application is not supported by a resume or any other qualifications from her paralegal to justify that hourly rate.

The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 4/3/20 for Debtor to file supplemental declarations addressing the issues set forth above, and to continue this matter to be concurrent with the continued status conference (see part "(2)" below).

(d) Schedules I and J are deficient

Debtor's status report (dkt. 15, p. 5, para.1) states that she intends to assume a residential lease of her rental property, but Debtor's Schedule I (line 8a and passim) does not reflect any rental income or attach a separate statement showing gross receipts, ordinary and necessary business expenses, and the total monthly net income. Additionally, Debtor's Schedule

Chapter 11

J does not reflect the first and second mortgage payments for the rental property or any other expenses such as real property taxes, insurance, and maintenance.

The tentative ruling is that Debtor is directed to file amended schedules by 4/3/20.

(e) Budget motion

Debtor's status report (dkt. 15) states that she "will file a budget motion on or before" [presumably the status conference]. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no budget motion is on file. Judge Bason's posted procedures (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) Section VII.G provide that budget motions are mandatory in all chapter 11 cases. The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 4/3/20 to file and serve a budget motion with a hearing set on shortened time to be concurrent with the continued status conference (see part "(2)" below), oppositions due 4/14/20, and replies at the hearing.

(f) Service of order setting principal status conference

This Court's order setting principal status conference (dkt. 5, "Procedures Order") required Debtor to serve this order on all parties in interest by 2/29/20 and file a proof of service at least 14 days before the principal status conference. On 3/18/20 debtor's counsel belatedly filed a declaration (dkt. 18) stating that she served the order, but does not state when service occurred or why she could not file her declaration by the 3/17/20 filing deadline. Was the procedures order timely served? The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 4/3/20 for Debtor to file an amended proof of service.

(g) Monthly operating reports ("MORs")

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, Debtor's February MOR was overdue. When will the MOR be filed? The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 4/3/20 to do so.

(h) Should this case remain in chapter 11?

Debtor's status report (dkt. 15) states that she filed this case to address pre-petition arrears on a rental property. Debtor should be prepared to address why this case was filed as a chapter 11 case rather than a chapter 13 case.

(c) Debtor's Second Amended Plan (the "Plan," dkt. 562), Second Amended Disclosure Statement (the "Disclosure Statement," dkt. 563), first Supplement (the "1st Supplement," dkt. 578), Cathay Bank's Response to the Plan (the "Cathay Response," dkt. 581), Objections Of The City Of Monrovia ("City") to the Plan (dkt. 583), second Supplement (the "2d Supplement," dkt. 596), Debtor's reply (dkt. 598, 599, 601), City's response to 2d Supplement (dkt.602), City's response to Debtor's reply (dkt.603)

The tentative ruling is to accept City's latest reponses in view of the fact that the 2d Supplement was only recently filed. In addition, the tentative ruling is (x) to sustain City's objections in part and overrule them in part, and (y) continue this confirmation hearing to the same date as the continued status conference, for the reasons set forth below.

(i) The tentative ruling is that City has not established that Debtor is holding its alleged funds in trust

City argues that the Plan should not be confirmed because Debtor holds approximately $400,000 in trust for City (the "City Funds"), based on the parties' contractual agreement for advanced life support services, but the Plan treats those funds as part of the estate and City's claim as an unsecured claim. Dkt. 583, pp.2-5. Debtor's reply argues that the language from the parties' agreement is insufficient to create an express trust under California law (dkt. 598, p.1:9-14), that there was no meeting on minds or performance consistent with any such trust (id. at p.2:3-28), and that City is barred by waiver or laches. Id. at pp.4:17-7:8. The tentative ruling is not to reach those issues because the following issue is dispositive of this particular objection.

Debtor provides evidence that City's alleged funds were commingled with the funds that were collected for other localities and therefore, debtor argues, even if the parties' intent was to create a trust fund, City has not met its burden of establishing any actual trust fund, including any tracing of the funds at issue. Dkt.598, pp.3:3-4:14. City has not presented any contrary evidence, or any authority establishing that it can assert a trust absent segregated funds. The tentative ruling is that Debtor is correct.

In sum, the City has not established any actual trust fund that would let it come ahead of other creditors, and be paid 100% of what it is owed while other creditors, whose own situations are also empathetic, receive little or nothing. Therefore the tentative ruling is to overrule this objection to confirmation.

(ii) The tentative ruling is that more notice and possible re-balloting and/or amendment of proposed releases and other terms are required

City's objection argues that the Plan should not be confirmed because it has not been proposed in good faith as required by Section 1129(a)(3). Dkt. 583, p.5:20-23. City puts forth various arguments for why "Debtor's bad faith is evident," but one of those arguments essentially repeats the "trust fund" issue addressed above so it will not be separately addressed. For the same reasons, City argues that certain releases should not apply, either generally or as against City. See dkt. 583, p.5:14-15.

(A) The Plan is incomplete

City argues that as of the deadline for objecting to the Plan it was incomplete. Dkt. 583, p.5:24. That is accurate. Section 4.1 of the Plan provides for the establishment of a Creditor Trust to administer Debtor's assets, but the Plan does not include a copy of the Creditor Trust Agreement. See dkt. 562, p.18, para. 4.1; dkt. 562, p.24, Ex. 1; dkt. 583 p.6:2-9.

The tentative ruling is that, now that the 2d Supplement has been filed (on 4/14/20, dkt.596) and now that this Court can assess its provisions, those provisions require additional disclosure - a supplement to the Disclosure Statement. In addition, the tentative ruling is that the terms of the 2d Supplement require re-balloting, an opportunity to object, and/or withdrawal of those provisions.

(B) Leslie McNeal as trustee of the Creditor Trust

City argues that the Plan has been proposed in bad faith because it entrusts the Creditor Trust to Leslie McNeal, an insider of the Debtor who previously failed to fulfill fiduciary trust obligations. Dkt. 583, p.5:24-27; p.6:20-26. Debtor responds Leslie McNeal is Debtor's officer and principal with the most experience and knowledge about Debtor's billing and collections, and so it is necessary and appropriate that Leslie McNeal serve as trustee for the Creditor Trust. Dkt. 598, p.8:3-7.

The tentative ruling is that making Leslie McNeal trustee, with little or no opportunity for oversight or removal by creditor/beneficiaries, is not sufficiently justified. Accordingly, absent more control by creditor/beneficiaries, the tentative ruling is to sustain the objection. But the tentative ruling is to provide an opportunity for Debtor to amend the trust agreement to address this issue.

(C) Treatment of the Schaefer Trust

City argues that the Plan unfairly advantages the Schaefer Trust loans over other claims. Dkt. 583, pp.5:28-6:1; p.7:2-14. City argues that given that Debtor obtained the secured loans from the Schaefer Trust weeks before filing the bankruptcy petition, and now Debtor proposes to pay the Schaefer Trust ahead of City, this Court should at a minimum disregard acceptance of the Plan by the Schaefer Trust, or subordinate or recharacterize the secured claims to Class 4 unsecured creditors. Dkt. 583, p.7:2-22. Debtor's reply argues that the treatment of the Schaefer Trust is fair in light of the considerable funds loaned to Debtor, and the concessions the Schaefer Trust made to allow Debtor to propose a feasible plan. Dkt. 598, pp.6:10-p.7:23.

The tentative ruling is that City's objection is not persuasive on the issue of paying the Schaefer Trust ahead of City. As described above, as City has not established that Debtor was holding any of its funds in trust, and City has not established that is entitled to treatment other than as an unsecured creditor. Therefore it is reasonable, and in fact required by the Bankruptcy Code, that Debtor to propose to pay a secured claim ahead of City's unsecured claim.

But, to the extent that City is arguing that the broad releases provided to the Schaefer Trust are inappropriate, this Court requires more information as set forth below.

(D) Broad releases

As pointed out in City's objection, the Plan provides for broad releases. Dkt. 583, p.4:23. In its reply, Debtor argues that the releases provided to the Schaefer Trust were "an important factor and consideration for its agreement to subordinate its claims" and to "provide any funds necessary to ensure payment in full to administrative and priority claimants." Dkt. 598, p.7:17-22.

Section 8.2(a)(ii) of the Plan provides in relevant part

... all parties in interest in this Chapter 11 Case shall be deemed to have released all of the Released Claims against the following Entities: the Debtor, the Creditor Trust and the Professionals, and against each and every one of their present and former directors, officers, employees, professionals, agents, equity holders, shareholders, members, trustees, beneficiaries, representatives, attorneys, advisors, successors and assigns.

Section 1.65 of the Plan defines "Released Claims" as follows

Released Claims means, except as otherwise provided herein, all Claims, debts, demands, actions, causes of action, suits, accounts, covenants, contracts, agreements, promises, damages, claims and liabilities whatsoever, known or unknown, associated with the Debtor, the Estate, or the Chapter 11 Case, existing on the Confirmation Date or which thereafter could arise based on any act, fact, transaction, cause, matter, or thing that occurred prior to the Confirmation Date, with the exception of the following ... (iii) Claims arising from the fraud, willful misconduct, or gross negligence of any Person ... [Dkt. 562, p.8:15-23 (emphasis added)]

Section 8.2(a)(i) of the Plan largely mirrors the release language from Section 8.2(a)(ii) quoted above, but instead it is the Debtor and the Estate who are deemed to release all Released Claims with some exceptions. See dk. 562, p.25:25-28. While the releases provided in Section 8.2(a)(i) might be permissible, Section 8.2(a)(ii) appears to provide for third party releases which is not permissible under Ninth Circuit case law. See In re Lowenschuss, 67 F.3d 1394, 1401-02 (9th Cir. 1995) ("This court has repeatedly held, without exception, that [Section] 524(e) precludes bankruptcy courts from discharging the liabilities of non-debtors. ... In American Hardwoods, 885 F.2d at 625-26, we explicitly rejected the argument ... that the general equitable powers bestowed upon the bankruptcy court by 11 U.S.C. [Section] 105(a) permit the bankruptcy court to discharge the liabilities of non-debtors."); see also Deocampo v. Potts, 836 F.3d 1134, 1143 (9th Cir. 2016) (reiterating Lowenschuss principles).

In addition, even for those releases that would be permissible under Ninth Circuit law - e.g., releases by Debtor and the bankruptcy estate - the tentative ruling is that Debtor must support its proposed releases just as it would for any other settlement. In other words, Debtor must show that the usual factors support granting the releases. See In re A&C Prop's, 784 F.2d 1377, 1381 (9th Cir. 1986).

The tentative ruling is to sustain City's objection insofar as denying confirmation if the proposed releases are included. But the tentative ruling is to provide Debtor with an opportunity to craft more limited release language.

(iii) Conclusion

The tentative ruling is that for the reasons set forth above, Debtor's

(a) Motion of the U.S. Trustee ("UST") to dismiss (dkt. 65, "MTD"), debtor's opposition (dkt. 86), UST's reply (dkt. 168, 170), debtor's response (dkt. 179), debtor's status report (dkt. 180)

The tentative ruling is to appoint a chapter 11 trustee based on the long history of this case without progress and with many mis-steps by Debtor (as set forth in this tentative ruling and the extensive prior tentative rulings reproduced below). In addition, the UST should be prepared to address whether Debtor's March MOR (dkt. 208) sufficiently addresses the issues previously identified.

and a statement of disinterestedness. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, Debtor has not complied. Why not?

(c) Motion to approve settlement with Wilmington Savings Fund ("Wilmington")

At the last hearing, this Court orally shortened time for Debtor to file a motion to approve a settlement with Wilmington that would resolve the parties' default interest, late fees, and other charges dispute, but set a deadline of 4/14/20 for Debtor to file and serve the motion. On 4/13/20, Debtor filed an ex parte application requesting modification of the filing and service deadlines (dkt. 203), which this Court treated as an application for hearing on shortened time and granted the application (dkt. 204). As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no motion is on file.

There is no tentative ruling. The parties should be prepared to address whether this Court should appoint a chapter 11 trustee, convert this case, dismiss this case, or order other relief based on:

- (i) the UST's MTD and related papers,
- (ii) Debtor's lack of progress noted in the relief from stay orders (dkt. 173, 174),
- (iii) Debtor's apparent history of mis-starts and poor management of this estate, including a long history of missed projections about how this case would progress, an abandoned attempt to retain a professional to rent out property as an Air-bnb, the belated and unsuccessful attempts to explore a sale or refinancing of the Bel Air property, and transfers of funds without adequate explanation (as referenced in this Court's prior tentative rulings for 10/29/19, 10/15/19, and 9/24/19, reproduced below).

(b) Inadequate attempts to stop the running of default interest

An additional concern, which may bear on the MTD, is whether Debtor has made adequate attempts to stop the running of postpetition default interest payable to Patch of Land Lending, LLC ("Patch"). The tentative ruling is that she has not.

From the inception of this bankruptcy case this Court has raised concerns that default interest, late fees, and other charges are consuming any equity in the Bel Air property at a rapid rate. On 8/13/19 this Court issued an order conditionally continuing the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(c) (3) and setting a deadline of 11/12/19 for Debtor to "file a motion to refinance the Bel Air Road property, or file a realistic plan of reorganization, or otherwise file appropriate papers aimed at stopping the running of postpetition default interest owed to Patch [of Land Lending]." Dkt. 31, Ex.1, p.1, item "(ii)" (emphasis added). Debtor filed a motion challenging the validity of Patch's assertion that it is entitled to default interest and late fees under 11 U.S.C. 506(b) (the "Default Interest Motion," dkt. 123). That is insufficient, for two reasons.

First, it is not enough to file the Default Interest Motion without prosecuting it. The hearing on that motion has been continued several times (dkt. 129, 133, 141) with the current hearing set to be heard 5/5/20 at 1:00 p.m. (dkt. 164).

Second, the Default Interest Motion has the effect of gambling that Debtor will prevail in her attempt to establish that no default interest is owed - an uphill battle that might well fail - rather than stopping the running of whatever interest turns out to be owed. See, e.g., East West Bank v. Altadena Lincoln Crossing, LLC, 598 B.R. 633 (C.D. Cal. 2019) (allowing default interest). This distinction is further explained below.

As a preliminary matter, it is helpful to recognize the different periods in which default interest may accrue:

Three categories of interest exist in bankruptcy cases: (1) interest accrued prior to the filing of the bankruptcy petition (prepetition interest); (2) interest accrued after the filing of a petition but prior to the effective date of a reorganization plan (pendency interest); and (3) interest to accrue under the terms of a reorganization plan (plan interest). ...

Generally, the Code does not provide for pendency interest to creditors, because the filing of the petition usually stops interest from accruing. Section 506(b), however, provides an exception for oversecured creditors:

To the extent that an allowed secured claim is secured by property the value of which, after any recovery under subsection (c) of this section, is greater than the amount of such claim, there shall be allowed to the holder of such claim, interest on such claim, and any reasonable fees, costs, or charges provided for under the agreement or State statute under which such claim arose. [11 U.S.C. 506(b) (emphasis added).]

Thus, an oversecured creditor can recover pendency interest as part of its allowed claim, at least to the extent it is oversecured. Any accumulated pendency interest determined under § 506(b) is added to the allowed claim of an oversecured creditor and then paid pursuant to the terms of the confirmed plan with plan interest determined under § 1129(b)(2)(A)(i)(II). [In re Beltway One Dev. Group, LLC, 547 B.R. 819, 826 (9th Cir. BAP 2016) (emphasis added, citations omitted).]

There are only three ways that occur to this Court to stop the running of pendency default interest.

(i) A sale under section 363

Debtor could sell the Bel Air property under 11 U.S.C. 363. That is only a partial remedy because it does not stop the running of pendency default interest before the proceeds are distributed. GECC v. Future Media, 547 F.3d 956 (9th Cir. 2008). But at least from that point forward it would stop the ongoing accrual of pendency default interest.

Unfortunately, a section 363 sale appears to be precluded because Debtor reports that any sale of the Bel Air property would result in capital gains taxes estimated at roughly $1 million. Dkt.159, p.17:1-4. In other words, the cure might be worse than the disease.

(ii) Refinancing the debt

Debtor attempted to refinance Patch's debt, but not fully. Patch objected, and this Court denied Debtor's refinancing motion. Debtor has not presented any alternative refinancing proposal. So this alternative appears to be unavailable.

(iii) Plan confirmation

The last way known to this Court to stop the running of pendency default interest is to confirm a plan that restructures the debt to Patch and reduces the interest rate. As with the other alternatives, this is only a partial remedy because it does not stop the running of pendency interest before the effective date of the plan. But at least it stops the accrual of default interest going forward.

An added benefit of confirming a plan used to be available under some decisions in the Ninth Circuit: retroactively eliminating all pendency default interest. See Beltway One, 547 B.R. 819, 826-28 (discussing In re Entz-White Lumber & Supply, Inc., 850 F.2d 1338 (9th Cir. 1988), and subsequent lower court decisions). But more recent guidance from the Court of Appeals has been interpreted to mean that pendency interest is not eliminated unless the claim is left unimpaired - i.e., unless all defaults in un-matured long-term debt are cured, or matured debt is paid in full on the effective date. See Beltway One, 547 B.R. 819, 826-28 (interpreting Future Media, 547 F.3d

This Court expresses no opinion on these issues except to note that they exist. The point is that, at the very least, it appears that confirmation of a plan would provide a partial remedy because it would stop the ongoing running of pendency default interest, and replace it with plan interest going forward.

(iv) Conclusion as to default interest

Why has Debtor not attempted to move forward with a plan of reorganization to address the default interest?

(c) Application to employ public adjuster Asset Recovery Association dba ClaimsXP (dkt. 167, "Application"); opposition of Wilmington Savings Fund Society ("Wilmington") (dkt. 181, 182); notice of hearing (dkt. 184); Debtor's reply (dkt. 192)

There is no tentative ruling. Debtor should be prepared to provide this Court with an update on the 4/1/20 AIG inspection (dkt. 192, Bordon decl., para. 7) and AIG's response, if any, to the adjusted insurance claim of $454,717.11 (id., para.6). Wilmington should be prepared to address under what conditions it would support employment of ClaimsXP (or any other adjuster).

If this Court is persuaded to grant the Application and authorize some form of employment of ClaimsXP retroactively to 1/7/20, employment will be subject to Judge Bason's standard employment terms (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov). Additionally, any employment will be subject to the filing of a satisfactory statement of disinterestedness as required by the posted Procedures of Judge Bason (id.) by 4/10/20.

(d) Motion to allow Claim 29 filed by Shiv Raj Gupta and Saroj Gupta ("Claimants") (dkt. 150), debtor's opposition (dkt. 178), claimants' reply (dkt. 188)

The tentative ruling is to grant the motion on the terms set forth in Claimants' reply (dkt. 188): namely, that the late-filed claim is allowed as a general unsecured claim in the amount of $284,664.66 without prejudice to Debtor's right to object to any dollar amount that exceeds Debtor's admitted (scheduled) amount of $250,000.

(1) Current issues

(a) Motion of the U.S. Trustee ("UST") to dismiss (dkt. 65, "MTD"), debtor's opposition (dkt. 86), UST's reply (dkt. 168, 170), debtor's response (dkt. 179), debtor's status report (dkt. 180)

Continue to the same date and time as the continued status conference (see below), with a deadline of 4/6/20 at noon for Debtor to file amended bankruptcy schedules I & J, including all continuation sheets for line 8.a of schedule I.

At the continued status conference, the parties should be prepared to address whether this Court should appoint a chapter 11 trustee, convert this case, dismiss this case, or order other relief based on the UST's MTD and any argument at the hearing, based on the matters addressed in the MTD and supplement, Debtor's lack of progress noted in the relief from stay orders (dkt. 173, 174), Debtor's hiring of a claims adjuster on or about 1/7/20 (dkt. 167, p.3, para. 11) without authorization of this Court, and Debtor's apparent arrangement for the claims adjuster to hire counsel to represent the bankruptcy estate without authorization of this Court.

(b) Motion to allow Claim 29 filed by Shiv Raj Gupta and Saroj Gupta ("Claimants") (dkt. 150), debtor's opposition (dkt. 178), claimants' reply (dkt. 188)

(1) Current issues

(a) Motion of the U.S. Trustee ("UST") to dismiss (dkt. 65), debtor's opposition (dkt. 86), no reply is on file

There is no tentative ruling, but Debtor is directed to address the thousands of dollars of unauthorized payments to "Independent Contractor[s]" Ofir Engel and L. Napolitano, "McCarthy Construction," and cash withdrawals, as well as the other issues raised by the UST. Debtor is also directed to address what progress, if any, has been made on insurance claims, AirBnB arrangements, refinancing or selling the Bel Air and Sweetzer properties, and other aspects of this bankruptcy case.

(b) Application to employ Totaro & Shanahan (the "Firm") (dkt. 63) (the "Employment Application"), Statement of disinterestedness (dkt. 100), UST Objection (dkt. 90), the Firm's errata (dkt. 97)

Appearances required but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues

(a) UST's motion to dismiss (dkt. 65), debtor's opposition (dkt. 86), no reply is on file

There is no tentative ruling. The parties should be prepared to address whether debtor has cured all outstanding compliance issues, and whether Debtor's second corrected opposition continues to have error(s) in calculating projected cash flow. That opposition lists net income before personal expenses for "Oct-19" and "Nov-19" as -5,850.00, but then after personal expenses of $1,751.00 for each month it lists "excess income" of $34,900.00. Dkt.94, Ex.1, at PDF pp.8-9. If the spreadsheet is wrong about those numbers, can creditors and this Court rely on the rest of Debtor's projections?

issues will be addressed.

(a) Motion of Alliance for Relief From Automatic Stay (dkt. 40)

There is no tentative ruling. The parties should be prepared to advise this Court on whether they will agree to an adequate protection order and the proposed $50,000 loan from Complete Business Solutions Group ("Complete") (dkt.69, p.2:21-25). The parties also should be prepared to address whether shortened time or other special procedures are requested regarding any proposed lending. See 11 U.S.C. 364; Rules 4001(c) & 9006(c)(2) (Fed. R. Bankr. P.).

(b) Contemplated contract with Majestic Ventures LLC dba VacationHomes365.com ("Consultant") re marketing (Airbnb etc.)

Debtor is contemplating a contract with Consultant for marketing services. Dkt.69, Ex.2. As that contract points out (id., sec.7.2, p.44), Debtor is responsible for complying with legal obligations regarding short term rentals, and associated costs, including local taxes.

The parties should be prepared to address whether Consultant is a "professional" within the meaning of 11 U.S.C. 327; whether approval of the contract with Consultant is required under that section or section 363(b); and whether shortened time or other special procedures are requested regarding any proposed agreement with Consultant. See 11 U.S.C. 327, 363(b); Rules 2002(a)(2) & 9006(c)(2) (Fed. R. Bankr. P.).

(c) Termination of prior real estate agent

Debtor reports (dkt. 69, para.3) that the previously authorized real estate agent has agreed to cancel the listing. Is that in writing? Will Debtor need any order related to that cancellation/termination? What assurance is there that this prior agent will not seek some sort of compensation?

Chapter 11

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor and by debtor herself.

(1) Current issues

(a) Airbnb

Debtor's budget motion (dkt. 37, Ex.A, p.2) reveals that, although the Sweetzer property is "listed to be sold," meanwhile "Debtor intends to rent [that property] as an Airbnb." The tentative ruling is that this is a transaction out of the ordinary course, which requires notice, an opportunity for a hearing, and approval by this Court. 11 U.S.C. 363(b). Has Debtor already acted on this intent, without such approval?

In addition, this Court is concerned about (i) whether Airbnb rental would be in compliance with any local permitting and zoning requirements and is otherwise permissible, (ii) whether that proposed use might expose the bankruptcy estate to liabilities, (iii) whether there is adequate insurance for that use of the property, and (iv) whether the proposed sale of the property is consistent with any agreement with Airbnb.

(b) Real estate agent.

The employment application (dkt. 26, p.4:1-4) states that Agent has agreed to disclose to Debtor [i.e., only to Debtor? how about disclosure to creditors, the US Trustee, and this Court?] any agency relationship Agent has with other parties ("Third Parties") that may be part of a real estate transaction for the sale of the Real Property i.e., dual agency? that is prohibited by the posted Procedures of Judge Bason (available at [www.cacb.uscourts.gov)] as well as the amount of any compensation Agent receives from Agent's relationship with any Third Parties [i.e., splitting the commission with a cooperating agent from a different real estate agency? or something else?].

What does the quoted text mean? This Court's questions are set forth in the emphasized, bracketed text above.

(1) Current issues

Despite repeated inquiries from this Court, the docket does not appear to reflect adequate prosecution of this case. To the contrary, the docket and records of this Court appear to reflect considerable mismanagement, lack of disclosure, and other problems set forth below.

(a) Rental income, and disposition or use of various properties

At the hearing on 2/18/20 Debtor belatedly clarified that the second cash collateral motion (dkt.55) was meant to amend the first such motion, and that only one property currently is generating rents - the 69th Way property - although perhaps a second property generates some rents that are not anyone's cash collateral (as noted below). As for Debtor's properties other than 69th Way, Debtor apparently intends to sell the Shadow Ln. property (dkt.89), and it is unclear what Debtor intends to do with the 68th Way property, the Anderson St. property, and the 132d St. property, which appear to be generating minimal if any rental income. See, e.g., Status Report (dkt.69) (listing properties, but not addressing Debtor's intent regarding any of them).

The latest MOR (#4, for Feb. 2020) is unclear about which rental account relates to which property. But it appears that, apart from 69th Way, only one other property has an ending balance above $0, and that is minimal (this unspecified property is the other one that appears to generate some rent, that apparently is not anyone's cash collateral, although that is unclear). See dkt.85, p.18.

In addition, it appears that Debtor's actual rent rolls might differ from what has been disclosed to date. See dkt.86, p.5:11-15, and supporting decl.

With this background, this Court's primary concern is why the docket does not reflect steps to surrender, rent, sell, rehabilitate, or otherwise deal with Debtor's properties (other than Shadow Ln.)? This Court's secondary concern is to obtain much more complete and clear information and explanations regarding Debtor's various properties.

Debtor's lack of disclosure to date only encourages this Court to impose more comprehensive disclosure requirements, or possibly other remedies. If Debtor remains a debtor in possession (see part "(1)(e)" of this tentative ruling, below) the tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 4/7/20 for Debtor to file and serve on Aztec and the United States Trustee ("UST") a declaration specifying:

- (i) exactly what is the current condition of each property;
- (ii) how much each apartment or room in that property (a "Unit") has been rented for at all prepetition times back to 1/1/17;
- (iii) how much each Unit has been rented for at all postpetition times, and whether each Unit has been used or occupied by any relative or other affiliate of Debtor at any times postpetition;
- (iv) Debtor's projections for each Unit, including the timing and dollar amount of all future rents;
- (v) Debtor's proposed disposition of each property;
- (vi) all steps that Debtor has taken since the commencement of this case to accomplish that disposition; and
- (vii) the projected timeline for such disposition.

(b) Debtor's amended cash collateral motion (dkt. 55), opposition of Rehabbers Financial, Inc. dba Aztec Financial ("Aztec") (dkt. 70, 86 & 88), and Debtor's reply (dkt. 90)

Aztec values the property at $860,000 "as is" as of 2/23/20. Dkt. 88, p.2:2-3, dkt.91. Debtor requests time to obtain a competing appraisal. Dkt. 90, p.2:13. Why did Debtor not do this already?

If there is a satisfactory answer, and if Debtor remains a debtor in possession (see part "(1)(e)" of this tentative ruling, below), the tentative ruling is to grant the cash collateral motion on a further interim basis, on the same terms as this Court's previous interim order (dkt. 80), and to set a continued hearing for the same date and time as the continued status conference as set forth below with a deadline of 4/25/20 for Debtor's appraisal to be filed and served on Aztec.

At the continued hearing the parties should address how they propose to resolve their dispute regarding the value of the property - e.g., (i) with an evidentiary hearing; (ii) with a ruling of this Court based solely on the written record (to save costs, if all parties consent), (iii) through mediation, or (iv) through appointment of an appraiser (jointly selected by the parties/their appraisers) as this Court's own expert under FRE 706.

(c) February MOR (dkt. 85)

(i) Insurance

This MOR (dkt. 85, p.17) shows general liability insurance is due to expire/only paid through 1/25/20. Has that insurance been extended?

This is the same problem that occurred and has been pointed out before. Why is this problem continuing?

This Court fully understands that the insurance is month-to-month, according to Debtor's counsel. But that is no excuse. By the due date of each MOR is should be apparent whether the insurance has or has not been continued, so why do the MORs continue to suggest - apparently inaccurately - that the insurance has expired? Alternatively, if the insurance really has expired, what consequence should follow?

Even if Debtor is (barely) current on insurance, this Court questions whether there is a danger every month that the insurance will expire, if the insurance is only month-to-month. How is Aztec, the bankruptcy estate, or the public adequately protected?

Chapter 11

If Debtor remains a debtor in possession (see part "(1)(e)" of this tentative ruling, below), the tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 4/7/20 for Debtor to file, and serve on Aztec and the UST, a declaration fully addressing the foregoing insurance issues.

(ii) No blocked account

Aztec's supplemental opposition (dkt. 86, p.9:1-9) states that Debtor's MOR appears to reflect that there is no separate blocked account for Aztec's cash collateral, as was required by this Court's interim order (see dkt. 80, p.3). The rental DIP account ending in 2707 appears to be related to Aztec's property based on the $5,390.00 of receipts for February (dkt. 85, p.5), and Debtor's representation at the last hearing that the 69th Way property is the only property generating rents at this time. Debtor's reply states that he has complied with this Court's order "by setting aside one of debtor in possession accounts as an escrow account for the remaining portion of the rents." Dkt. 90, 4:1-2.

One problem, as noted above, is that it is not clear which account Debtor is referring to (the one ending in 2707?). Another problem is that the MOR appears to show rental income going into that account but does not appear to show payments of "real estate taxes," "utilities," and "essential repairs" out of that account (only insurance appears to have been paid out of that account). See dkt.85, p.6. It appears that utilities, for example, have been paid from the general account. See dkt.85, pp.1-3. This creates a falsely inflated balance in that account.

More importantly, Debtor appears to misunderstand the nature of a "blocked account." In common usage, and as used by this Court, it means an account from which funds cannot be released without either (i) consent of the other party asserting an interest in the account (Aztec) or (ii) an order of this Court. See, e.g., In re Estrada, 224 B.R. 132, 134 (Bankr. S.D. Cal. 1988) (referring to a "blocked account, requiring both the [chapter 7] trustee's and the Debtor's signature for any disbursements").

If Debtor remains a debtor in possession (see part "(1)(e)" of this tentative ruling, below) then, no later than 4/7/20, Debtor is directed to accomplish all of the following:

(A) coordinate with Aztec and Debtor's bank to determine the mechanics of how checks will be signed by both Debtor and Aztec so as to pay utilities etc. (or whether automatic payments will be set up);

(B) actually set up the blocked account and implement those procedures; and

(C) file and serve on Aztec and the UST a declaration confirming that the blocked account has been established and those procedures have been implemented.

(d) Belated application to employ special counsel (dkt. 57, filed 1/17/20), who has not been approved but has already filed an adversary proceeding (Lora v. Rehabbers Fin., Inc. dba Aztec Fin., et al., Adv. No. 2:20-ap-01067-NB)

The bankruptcy petition was filed on 11/11/19. Over two months later, on 1/17/20, Debtor belatedly filed an application to employ special counsel.

That proposed special counsel apparently represented Debtor in prepetition litigation in State Court (LA Superior Court, Case No. 19LBCV00600, for fraud, quiet title, etc.). Dkt.57, p.5. There is no meaningful description of that litigation in the application, nor does the application say anything about commencing a separate adversary proceeding in this bankruptcy case, as the (still unauthorized) special counsel has done on 3/20/20 (dkt.87).

As set forth in prior tentative rulings, reproduced below (for 2/18/20, item "(1)(c)," and 1/14/20, item "(1)(c)"), this Court is very concerned that Debtor is gambling any possible recovery for creditors on the possibility of prevailing in litigation against Aztec. That litigation should have been fully described in Debtor's initial status report and any later reports (dkt. 30, 69), and also should have been fully described in the (very belated) application to employ proposed special counsel (dkt.57). Instead, the nature of that litigation has only been incompletely and belatedly disclosed in those documents (see, e.g., dkt.30 at PDF p.3, and dkt.57, p.5), and orally at prior status conferences.

As near as this Court can tell, based on those sources and this Court's review of the Complaint (Adv. dkt. 1), Debtor's claims are as follows. Debtor apparently is attempting to reduce or eliminate the principal and/or interest, including default interest, on Aztec's secured claim collateralized by the 69th Way and Shadow Ln. properties. Although Debtor admits receiving the loan proceeds, and using some or all of the proceeds to purchase the Shadow Ln property, Debtor allegedly attempted to cancel both the purchase and the loan on or about 6/8/18. Id., para.16 & Ex.C at PDF pp.4 & 107-08. But then on or about 6/11/18 Debtor and his wife allegedly were pressured and intimidated into executing various documents that they did not understand that reauthorized the transaction, including cross-collateralization (id., para.17), and their signatures allegedly were forged on a closing statement listing various high transaction costs (id., para.18, 26). Debtor's Complaint appears to assert claims for fraud, usury, a determination that some or all of these transactions are void and unenforceable, and damages of an unspecified nature up to or in excess of $1 million. It is unclear how much this adversary proceeding duplicates or is different from the State Court litigation.

This Court expresses no view on the merits of these two actions (in State Court, and in the adversary proceeding in this Bankruptcy Court). The point is only that pursuing such litigation is all very well for this bankruptcy estate if Debtor prevails, but Debtor has a duty, as a debtor in possession acting as a trustee for the benefit of creditors (11 U.S.C. 1101(1), 1106, 1107), to consider a cost/benefit analysis of the litigation, and how to minimize the "down side" risk if Debtor does not prevail.

As this Court has noted previously, the default rate of interest (and even the non-default rate) are large enough that they may eat up any assets of this estate if they continue to accrue and are not disallowed. This Court previously has questioned why Debtor has not been pursuing avenues that might possibly stop the accrual of such interest.

Such avenues conceivably could include such tactics as:

(i) selling the 69th Way and/or Shadow Ln. properties free and clear of liens with Aztec's liens to attach to the proceeds of sale (11 U.S.C. 363(b)&(f));

(ii) selling those properties with the net proceeds being paid over to Aztec subject to claims to recover those proceeds;

(iii) pursuing confirmation of a chapter 11 plan that pays Aztec over time with a new (much reduced) interest rate; or

(iv) some other tactic.

To be clear, this Court expresses no view whether those things actually would work to stop the running of default interest - this Court is not pre-judging any legal or factual issues. The point is only that only last week, on 3/23/20, did Debtor finally appear to take some preliminary steps to possibly addressing this issue, by filing an application (dkt.89) to employ a real estate broker to sell the Shadow Ln. property. Now, with the possible effects of the COVID-19 pandemic on the real estate market, it appears that this is too little,

Meanwhile, Debtor does not appear to have taken any steps to obtain approval for the employment of special counsel, such as setting the matter for hearing or lodging a proposed order. It is also unclear what, if anything, is happening in the pending State Court litigation - is Debtor taking whatever steps are necessary to preserve whatever value that litigation has for the estate?

If Debtor remains a debtor in possession (see part "(1)(e)" of this tentative ruling, below), the tentative ruling is to set the employment application for hearing concurrent with the continued status conference (see part "(2)" of this tentative ruling, below) with a deadline of 4/7/20 for Debtor to serve all parties in interest with a notice of that hearing, with a deadline of 4/21/20 for any opposition, and 4/28/20 for any reply, and with a copy of this part "(1)(d)" of this tentative ruling for 3/31/20 attached to that notice, and with declaration(s) attached to that notice addressing the issues set forth above.

(e) Whether this case should be converted or dismissed, or whether a trustee should be appointed, or other relief

Based on the matters described above, and the history of this case as described in the prior tentative rulings reproduced below, this Court questions:

(i) whether Debtor is grossly mismanaging this bankruptcy estate (sub-paragraph "(B)" of 11 U.S.C. 1104(a)(1), 1112(b)(4)) by:

(A) not taking appropriate steps to surrender, rent, sell, rehabilitate, or otherwise deal with Debtor's properties;

(B) not adequately disclosing the past, present, and projected condition, rents, and proposed disposition of those properties;

(C) not maintaining and/or timely disclosing adequate insurance;

(D) not maintaining a blocked account for cash collateral as order by this Court;

(E) not seeking authorization for the employment of special counsel to prosecute litigation against secured creditor Aztec until over two months after the commencement of this case;

(F) not requesting adequate authorization for that proposed special counsel: the application seeks authorization for him to prosecute the State Court litigation against Aztec, but not any litigation in this motion as to two properties (68th Way and Shadow Ln) and authorization under the second motion as to a third property (69th Way). Is that accurate? If not, what is Debtor attempting to do?

(ii) Service issues

At the 1/14/20 hearing, this Court noted that the first cash collateral motion was not served in compliance with Rule 7004 (Fed. R. Bankr. P.), and Debtor was directed to reserve that motion no later than 1/16/20. Debtor served the second cash collateral motion instead, and did so on 1/17/20. Dkt. 56.

It appears that Debtor has still not complied with Rule 7004. First, Nationstar Mortgage, LLC dba Mr. Cooper was not served at the address listed on POC No. 4 for notices. Second, CitiMortgage, Inc. filed POC No. 5 alleging a security interest in the 68th Way property, and it was not served with either cash collateral motion.

(iii) Allegedly fraudulent liens

As noted in Debtor's status report, Debtor is (belatedly) seeking authorization for the postpetition employment of special counsel to pursue an action in state court for fraud and quiet title with respect to allegedly fraudulent liens encumbering the 69th Way and Shadow Lane properties. Dkt. 57 & 69, p.3:2-4. Debtor has stated an intention to sell the Shadow Lane property but not the 69th Way property. What cost/benefit analysis have Debtor and Debtor's bankruptcy counsel done regarding this litigation?

The holder of the alleged liens appears to be asserting 21% default interest (and a non-default rate of just under 10%) (see dkt.70, p.5:1-6). Of course, all rights are preserved to argue regarding interest rates, but Debtor appears to be gambling on winning the litigation and avoiding the liens and the default interest entirely. In other words, if Debtor is not 100% successful, there appears to be a substantial danger of wiping out any recovery for other creditors and Debtor. Why is Debtor not proposing a course of action that might stop the running of such high rates of interest?

For example, solely for purposes of this tentative ruling this Court presumes (without deciding) that selling the 69th Way property free and clear of the disputed liens, with such liens to attach the proceeds, might stop the running of such interest rates. Alternatively, Debtor might propose a chapter 11 plan that could include alternative treatments of this claim depending on whether the litigation were or were not successful, and restructuring any secured claims to have a lower interest rate. These are only hypotheticals:

again, all rights are preserved to argue whether any such possible solutions would or would not stop the running of these high interest rates, but the point is that Debtor is directed to address why the status report and the docket do not appear to reflect any exploration of methods to avoid what appear to be the large risks of staking everything on Debtor's litigation.

(iv) Rehabbers Financial, Inc. dba Aztec Financial ("Aztec")
opposition to second cash collateral motion (dkt. 70)

Aztec's opposition notes that Debtor's second cash collateral motion proposes to pay Aztec $2,000/month of the $5,465/month generated by the property, and allocates $1,058.20 to taxes, insurance, and maintenance, but Debtor does not explain what the remaining $2,379.80/month will be used for. Dkt. 70, p.4:24-27. Aztec also disputes Debtor's valuation of the property, and states that Debtor should at least be making the non-default, pre-maturity contractual payment of $4,535.67/month. Id. at p.5:17-28. While the second cash collateral motion states that Debtor's basis for the valuation of the property is Debtor's declaration, Debtor's declaration does not address the value of the property. Dkt. 55, p.11. Lastly, Aztec states that it has requested access to the property to arrange its own appraisal. Id. at p.5:21-23.

(v) Tentative ruling on both cash collateral motions

The tentative ruling is to order Debtor to segregate 100% of any rents and profits from each rental property (the 69th Way, Shadow Lane, and 68th Way properties), and hold all such funds - after payment of real estate taxes, insurance, utilities, and essential repairs - in separate blocked accounts until further order of this Court, so as to provide an interim form of adequate protection to Aztec and to other lienholders. In addition, the tentative ruling is to direct Debtor no later than 2/25/20 to serve all lienholders with notice of a continued hearing on the cash collateral motions, concurrent with the continued status conference set forth below. In addition, the tentative ruling is to direct Debtor no later than 2/25/20 to provide Aztec and all other lienholders with access to the properties for any inspection/appraisal they wish to conduct (or, alternatively, to schedule by 2/25/20 an inspection/appraisal after 2/25/20 at a time that is convenient for the lienholders).

(c) Prosecution of this case

As set forth above, Debtor's prosecution of this case appears to be inadequate. Cash collateral motions are known as "first day" motions; but Debtor's cash collateral motions have been filed belatedly, served incorrectly (despite this Court's prior direction), and presented in a confusing manner (it is ambiguous whether the second motion supersedes or is in addition to the first motion). Similarly troubling, Debtor's application to employ special counsel has been filed belatedly, and neither that application nor Debtor's status report adequately address the cost/benefit analysis about pursuing that litigation and selling the 69th Way property or otherwise addressing possible methods to stop the running of high interest rates that could wipe out any value in this bankruptcy estate. What assurances can Debtor and Debtor's counsel provide parties in interest and this Court that this case will be adequately prosecuted?

(b) Status report

At the hearing on 12/17/19 this Court orally directed Debtor's counsel to file a status report no later than 12/31/19. As of the drafting of this tentative ruling, no status report has been filed. Why not?

(c) Amended November Monthly Operating Report ("MOR," dkt. 43)

(i) State court suit

The MOR reflects a $5,000 payment to James A. Judge, Esq. related to a civil law suit. Dkt. 43, p.9. Debtor also states that "a civil law suite against Aztec Financial (Secured Creditor) is pending." Id. at p.30.

The docket does not reflect any application to employ Mr. Judge as special counsel. In addition, there is no disclosure whether this payment was on account of prepetition or postpetition fees/costs/other charges. Should this Court issue an order directing Mr. Judge to show cause why he should not disgorge that payment and/or why he, Debtor, and/or Debtor's bankruptcy counsel should not have a remedy imposed for expending assets of this bankruptcy estate in violation of the Bankruptcy Code?

(ii) Car insurance

The MOR reflects that Debtor's car insurance is due to expire on 12/31/19. Id. at p.26. Has Debtor obtained replacement insurance?

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor and by the debtor(s) themselves.

(1) Current issues

(a) Cash collateral motion (dkt.31-33)

Debtor has self-calendared this motion for 1/14/20 at 1:00 p.m. That is over a month after the petition date.

What is Debtor doing with the cash meanwhile? There may be no good answer: either Debtor is using the cash, in violation of 11 U.S.C. 363(c), or Debtor is not using the cash to pay essential expenses, in violation of Debtor's duties to manage the estate and pay utility bills and other ordinary and necessary expenses in a timely manner (see 11 U.S.C. 1107-08 and 28 U.S.C. 959(b)).

Why did Debtor not use the posted Procedures of Judge Bason (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) to have this matter heard on 14 days' notice, or alternatively apply for an order shortening time if the matter needed to be heard before that 14 day period?

(1) Terminology, and scope of discussion

One terminology issue has to do with Debtor's corporate structure. Debtor is a California nonprofit religious corporation. This Court understands that Debtor has no "equity interest holders" per se. But in discussing the scope of the automatic stay it is helpful to distinguish between persons who might be in a debtor-creditor relationship with Debtor (e.g., arising from LA Open Door's lease of Debtor's property) and persons who assert the sort of control typically exercised by equity interest holders. The following discussion sometimes refers to the latter as "equity."

Another issue of terminology is the distinction between Debtor as an entity and the factions that seek to control Debtor and its property. There appear to be essentially two factions in the present disputes: one led by Rev. Joo Mo Ko (the "Ko Faction") and another consisting of Rev. Jong Suk Choi aka Olaf Choi, the LA Open Door Presbyterian Church ("LA Open Door"), and The Western Presbytery of the Hapdong ("Hapdong") (collectively, the "Choi Faction"). This tentative ruling will attempt to distinguish among each of these two factions and Debtor itself.

On a related issue, the factions' governance dispute appears to include not just control of Debtor itself but also which church organization governs Debtor's structure. These disputes include whether Debtor and LA Open Door did or did not merge, and whether the local church (i.e., Debtor, either as a separate entity or merged with LA Open Door) is affiliated with/part of the LA Presbytery of the World Korean Presbyteryan Church ("World Church") or Hapdong or both. See *dk.*71, pp.3:13-4:4, 4:25-5:16, 6:13-9:24.

One more preliminary issue is that this tentative ruling covers two motions at once. Both motions deal with the applicability of, and relief from, the automatic stay of 11 U.S.C. 362(a). The Ko Faction seeks an order stating that the automatic stay applies to the State Court litigation (dk. 71, the "Stay Motion"). Conversely, the Choi Faction disputes that any stay applies but, to the extent this Court determines that the automatic stay does apply, requests that this Court grant them relief from the automatic stay to continue with that litigation (dk. 79, 80, 81, the "R/S Motion").

(2) Notice

It is unclear whether service has been accomplished in accordance with Rules 4001(a)(1) (Fed. R. Bankr. P.), or if there are sufficient grounds for ex parte relief under Rule 4001(a)(2). The parties are directed to address those issues. Presuming for purposes of discussion that those issues are adequately resolved, the tentative ruling on the other issues is as follows.

(3) The automatic stay does apply

This is a more thorny issue than first appears. And arguably it is not necessary to determine whether the automatic stay applies, because as set forth below the tentative ruling is that there is "cause" (11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1)) to grant relief from any stay that does exist.

But, as set forth later in this discussion, the tentative ruling is to modify but not terminate the automatic stay, so it makes a difference if there is or is not any automatic stay to begin with. The tentative ruling is that, although several aspects of the automatic stay do not apply, one does apply.

Section 362(a)(1) operates as a stay of "the commencement or continuation . . . of a judicial, administrative, or other action or proceeding against the debtor that was or could have been commenced before the commencement of the case under this title, or to recover a claim against the debtor that arose before the commencement of the case under this title." 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) (emphasis added). No stay exists under section 362(a)(1) because the subject litigation does not include any claims, counterclaims, or other legal actions against Debtor. See Parker v. Bain, 68 F.3d 1131 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Ko Faction asserts that section 362(a)(1) applies because the claims by Debtor (or, more precisely, by the Ko Faction purporting to act for Debtor) "have the same effect as if they had been brought by the Defendants instead" (i.e., by the Choi Faction) and therefore should be characterized as "effectively causes of action against the Debtor." Dkt.93, p.10:9-10 (emphasis added). There is no authority cited for that proposition. To the contrary, it is well established that the act of defending against claims brought in the name of a debtor is not stayed. See, e.g., In re Merrick, 175 B.R. 333, 338 (9th Cir. BAP 1994). The tentative ruling is that the automatic stay of section 362(a)(1) does not apply.

Section 362(a)(3) operates as a stay of "any act to obtain possession of property of the estate or of property from the estate or to exercise control over property of the estate." 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(3).

(i) Property "of" or "from" the estate

Although claims held by a debtor are property of the bankruptcy estate, claims about who controls a debtor are not "property of the estate." Any "possession" of property that Debtor owned as of the petition date stays with Debtor, regardless who controls Debtor. The Ko Faction's arguments to the contrary (e.g., dkt.93, pp.10:25-6:12) are not persuasive.

(ii) Acts to exercise "control" over property of the estate

the gravamen of the parties' disputes is who has control over Debtor's real property, alleged to be worth roughly $17 to $25 million or more (dkt.71, p.4:9; dkt.84, p.5:19-21). There are interrelated disputes about whether each faction is entitled to control Debtor or is merely a creditor or other type of interested party - e.g., whether LA Open Door is merely a lessee, which is or is not current on rent, or if LA Open Door merged with Debtor and the Choi Faction now controls Debtor.

The issues involve not merely theoretical or future control. The issues include who has current control over physical access to the real property for church services, who can examine books and records, who can use Debtor's name, who can speak for Debtor, who can make agreements for Debtor, who has signing authority over its bank accounts, etc.

In this situation the tentative ruling is that the stay does apply, because the disputes over governance are so intertwined with the control of Debtor's property that they constitute acts "to exercise control over property of the estate" within the meaning of 11 U.S.C. 362(a)(3) (emphasis added). See, e.g., dkt.71, p.16:20-26; Allentown Ambassadors, 361 B.R. 422, 435-40 & nn.34-40 (Bankr. E.D. Pa. 2007) (extensive review of cases, concluding that whether section 362(a)(3) applies depends on "(1) the nexus between the conduct at issue and the property interests of the bankruptcy estate, (2) the degree of impact on the bankruptcy estate, and (3) the competing legal interests of the non-debtor parties") (footnotes omitted).

As the Ko Faction explains:

The Complaint [in the State Court action that is the main subject of the motions regarding the automatic stay] thus alleges that the current state of affairs is that the Defendants are exerting control over the Property, to the exclusion of the Debtor. The Debtor seeks a declaration by the Court as to the respective rights of the parties. The relief sought in the Complaint is thus a zero sum game; if the Debtor fails to obtain this relief, Defendants will continue to exert control over the Property to the exclusion of the Debtor. If the Debtor prevails, the opposite result will occur. [Dkt.71, p.8:17-22 (emphasis added)]

The same exclusive control applies not just to Debtor's real property but also to every other type of property: Debtor's name, bank account, goodwill, etc.

The Choi Faction cites authority that, at least as a general proposition, governance disputes are not stayed by section 362(a)(3). Dkt.84, pp.18:26-20:10. But the tentative ruling is that the cited authorities are distinguishable.

The decision on which the Choi Faction principally relies is In re Am. Media Distribs., LLC, 216 B.R. 486 (Bankr. E.D. N.Y. 1998). But that decision notes that there was "little or no explanation as to why the automatic stay would apply" and the principal focus was only on the "distraction" that the dispute would cause. Id. at 489.

Another decision cited by the Choi Faction did not involve the automatic stay - it never even cites section 362. Rather, it involved whether to enjoin stockholders from exercising their regular voting rights to elect directors, which is not at issue in this case. See In re Johns-Manville Corp., 801 F.2d 60, 64-69 (2d Cir. 1986).

The last decision cited by the Choi Faction involved the voting of pledged shares, but there is no indication that such voting was anything beyond the conventional application of nonbankruptcy contract and voting rights. In re Marvel Ent. Group, 209 B.R. 832, 838-40 (D. Del. 1997). In fact, Marvel distinguishes contrary authorities as involving creditor/shareholders exercising extraordinary remedies, in contrast to "the conventional case of a shareholder seeking to invoke its corporate governance rights" and "matters of corporate governance in the orthodox sense." Id. at 839 (citations and internal quotation marks omitted, emphasis added).

Unlike Marvel, this case involves disputes by the Ko Faction and the Choi Faction that are anything but a "conventional" or "orthodox" exercise of equity holders' voting rights. Instead, both factions allegedly have a mix of roles that appear to include both "claims" (in the broad bankruptcy sense) and the exercise of "equity control," and both factions assert the right to control the disposition of Debtor's real property and other assets. It is difficult to see how the factions' acts to wrest control of Debtor and all its property from one another are not acts to "exercise control over property of the estate." 11 U.S.C. 362(a)(3).

This is illustrated by the fact that the Ko Faction has filed a motion to appoint a real estate agent to sell the real property. Similarly, the Choi Faction has filed a motion to dismiss this bankruptcy case, which would have the effect of terminating the automatic stay and other provisions of the Bankruptcy Code that protect the estate's real property and its rights to whatever rents are or are not being paid. See, e.g., 11 U.S.C. 362(a)(3)&(c)

(2)(B), and 549.

In other words, the papers filed in this Bankruptcy Court reflect that the factions' litigation in State Court is not just a conventional stockholder dispute but is a fight among parties whose roles as equity, or creditors, or something else is far from clear, and is a fight over "control" of Debtor's property as much as it is a fight over control of Debtor itself.

In these circumstances, the tentative ruling is that the automatic stay of section 362(a)(3) applies.

(c) Conclusion regarding application of the automatic stay

For the foregoing reasons the tentative ruling is that the automatic stay does apply. But, as set forth below, the tentative ruling is to modify the automatic stay to permit the parties to continue their State Court litigation.

Alternatively, even if the automatic stay were inapplicable to the State Court litigation, the stay still would apply in other respects. For example, the stay would prevent any party from enforcing any future judgment for money damages by collecting out of property of the bankruptcy estate. See 11 U.S.C. 362(a)(1), (3), (4), (6) and (7). Therefore, it is still important to determine how much relief to grant, even if the stay does not apply to the governance/control aspects of the State Court litigation.

(4) There is "cause" to grant relief from the automatic stay (if it applies)

(a) Legal standards

The Bankruptcy Court "shall grant relief from the stay" upon a showing of "cause." 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1). Such relief need not take the form of a complete termination of the automatic stay, but instead may include "modifying or conditioning such stay." Id.

"Cause" is determined on a case-by-case basis." In re Tucson Estates, Inc., 912 F.2d 1162, 1166 (9th Cir.1990). In determining whether "cause" exists to grant relief from the automatic stay to allow a movant to pursue litigation in a non-bankruptcy forum, courts in the Ninth Circuit have examined the factors set forth in In re Curtis, 40 B.R. 795, 799–800 (Bankr. D. Utah 1984). See In re Kronmeyer, 405 B.R. 915 (9th Cir. BAP 2009); In re Plumberex Specialty Prods., Inc., 311 B.R. 551, 559–60 (Bankr. C.D. Cal.2004).

Those factors are: (1) Whether the relief will result in a partial or complete resolution of the issues; (2) The lack of any connection with or interference with the bankruptcy case; (3) Whether the foreign proceeding involves the debtor as a fiduciary; (4) Whether a specialized tribunal has been established to hear the particular cause of action and whether that tribunal has the expertise to hear such cases; (5) Whether the debtor's insurance carrier has assumed full financial responsibility for defending the litigation; (6) Whether the action essentially involves third parties, and the debtor functions only as a bailee or conduit for the goods or proceeds in question; (7) Whether the litigation in another forum would prejudice the interests of other creditors, the creditors' committee and other interested parties; (8) Whether the judgment claim arising from the foreign action is subject to equitable subordination under Section 510(c); (9) Whether movant's success in the foreign proceeding would result in a judicial lien avoidable by the debtor under Section 522(f); (10) The interests of judicial economy and the expeditious and economical determination of litigation for the parties; (11) Whether the foreign proceedings have progressed to the point where the parties are prepared for trial; and (12) The impact of the stay on the parties and the "balance of hurt." Plumberex, 311 B.R. at 559. "[W]hile the Curtis factors are widely used to determine the existence of 'cause,' not all of the factors are relevant in every case, nor is a court required to give each factor equal weight." In re Landmark Fence Co., Inc., 2011 WL 6826253 at *4 (C.D. Cal. Dec. 9, 2011).

(b) Application of the legal standards

Based on the present record, the tentative ruling is that these factors weigh in favor of modifying the automatic stay to permit the parties to continue their State Court litigation.

As to the first Curtis factor (would relief result in partial or complete resolution of the issues), the tentative ruling is that granting relief would result in complete resolution of the issues. The State Court appears to have all the parties before it, and to be addressing the same governance/control issues that this Bankruptcy Court would have to address, so it can completely resolve these issues.

True, governance issues are also a critical threshold issue for bankruptcy purposes. As the State Court put it, "it's hard for me to believe that the Bankruptcy Court doesn't, as a threshold matter, decide who's in charge." Tr. 2/21/20, p.12:7-9 (dkt.71, Ex.10, at PDF p.139). But, as the State Court also observed, the issues are the same in both fora. See Tr. 2/21/20, p.14:11-13 (dkt.71, Ex.10, at PDF p.141) ("the threshold issue is I suspect the Bankruptcy Court does decide who's in charge just like I'm trying to do for this preliminary injunction") (emphasis added).

As to the second Curtis factor (connection with or interference with the bankruptcy case) and the seventh Curtis factor (prejudice to other creditors/interested parties) the tentative ruling is that, far from interfering with this bankruptcy case or causing prejudice, resolution of the issues that are already well underway in the State Court is essential to determine the bankruptcy issues: e.g., whether Debtor's bankruptcy petition was even authorized; who is authorized to determine the disposition of property of the bankruptcy estate; who has authority to decide what litigation to pursue on Debtor's behalf; etc.

As interesting as these issues would be for this Bankruptcy Court to delve into, the roughly 2000 pages of documents attached to the Choi Faction's motion papers (dkt. 79) show that this Bankruptcy Court would be reinventing the wheel. Starting over and re-litigating the issues would be prejudicial to all parties in interest, and it appears that resolving these issues in State Court is the most expeditious and efficient way to address these issues.

As to the fourth Curtis factor (whether a specialized tribunal has been established to hear the action) and the eleventh Curtis factor (whether the proceedings have progressed to the point where the parties are prepared for trial), the tentative ruling is that, (i) although the State Court is not specialized in the sense of limiting itself to corporate/religious governance/control issues, the same is true for this Bankruptcy Court, so this factor is neutral, and (ii) although the proceedings in State Court appear to be far from any trial, the roughly 2000 pages show that those proceedings are well underway.

As to the tenth Curtis factor (interest of judicial economy) the tentative ruling is that forcing the parties to start anew in this Court would result in a duplication of efforts and would be a waste of judicial resources.

As to the twelfth Curtis factor (the impact of the stay on the parties and the "balance of hurt"), the tentative ruling is that the bankruptcy petition has already delayed adjudication of the issues before the State Court, and caused considerable expense and disruption, and that these things fall more heavily on the Choi Faction than the Ko Faction. Among other things, the Choi Faction was not given adequate notice by the Ko Faction of the extraordinary "emergency" relief that the latter sought in this Bankruptcy Court, and it turns out that, so far as this Court can discern, there is no emergency.

To be clear, this Court is not saying that there is no legitimate need for bankruptcy protection. True, it is not apparent that Debtor is insolvent. But the automatic stay and 11 U.S.C. 549 may provide broader protection than what is available in other fora to protect against unauthorized transfers of property. For example, a typical injunction only applies to specified parties and specified property, and it does not necessarily render acts in violation of the injunction void ab initio. In contrast, the automatic stay applies even to unknown parties and unknown property and acts in violation of the stay are void ab initio. See, e.g., In re Schwartz, 954 F.2d 569, 571 (9th Cir. 1992).

But there is no reason known to this Court why the Ko Faction could not have gained the legitimate protections of the automatic stay and section 549 and then stipulated to relief from the automatic stay to conclude the State Court litigation. Instead, as noted above, the Ko Faction sought "emergency" relief with inadequate notice, in what appears to be an attempted end-run around the State Court proceedings.

For all of these reasons, the tentative ruling is that any continued stay of the State Court proceedings has greater cognizable impact on the Choi Faction than the Ko Faction, and that the "balance of hurt" also favors granting relief from the stay.

In addition to the precise factors outlined in Curtis, this Court is considering all the other facts and circumstances. In the interest of comity and to discourage forum shopping, the tentative ruling is that it is appropriate for the litigation to continue in the State Court. That is the initial forum that the Ko Faction selected, and it is the forum that the Choi Faction favors retaining.

For all of the foregoing reasons, the tentative ruling is that under the Curtis factors and analysis there is "cause" (11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1)) to grant relief from the automatic stay as set forth below. This Court considers below whether there is an alternative basis on which relief from the automatic stay must be granted.

(5) Mandatory abstention does not apply

An alternative ground for relief from the automatic stay would be if mandatory abstention applies. ("Relief" from the stay does not necessarily mean immediate termination of the stay - it might be appropriate to modify but not terminate the stay, or to leave it fully in place for some period of time, to give Debtor a "breathing spell" - but the point is that, if mandatory abstention were to apply, that would be an alternative basis for some form of relief from the automatic stay.)

Mandatory abstention is governed by statute:

Upon timely motion of a party in a proceeding based upon a State law claim or State law cause of action, related to a case under title 11 [i.e., the Bankruptcy Code] but not arising under title 11 or arising in a case under title 11, with respect to which an action could not have been commenced in a court of the United States absent jurisdiction under this section, the district court [and the bankruptcy court as a unit thereof] shall abstain from hearing such proceeding if an action is commenced, and can be timely adjudicated, in a State forum of appropriate jurisdiction. [28 U.S.C. 1334(c)(2) (emphasis added).]

The emphasized terms "related to," on the one hand, and "arising under" or "arising in," on the other hand, are terms of art. The Supreme Court has held that the latter are equivalent to the statutory term "core" under 28 U.S.C. 157(b)(1). Stern v. Marshall, 564 U.S. 462 (2011).

A non-exclusive list of matters defined as "core" proceedings is set forth in 28 U.S.C. 157(b)(2). The tentative ruling is that who has authority to file a bankruptcy petition, make decisions for a debtor in possession, and control its property is a "core" proceeding, as a matter of statutory construction (28 U.S.C. 157(b)(2)(A) & (O)). See e.g. In re Fisher Island Invs., Inc., 778 F.3d 1172 (11th Cir. 2015) (confirming bankruptcy court had statutory authority over ownership dispute under 28 U.S.C. 157(b)(2)(A), (O), because "ownership issue is a core matter that clearly 'arises under' or 'arises in a case under' chapter 11. Resolution of threshold ownership issue was critical to the administration of the Alleged Debtors' estates ....").

Turning to Constitutional limitations, a determination of who controls Debtor and its property is sufficiently central to the administration of the bankruptcy estate that it has been held to be what is sometimes called "Constitutionally core." See e.g., In re Fisher Island Invs. Inc., 778 F.3d at 1192 (affirming bankruptcy court's determination that it had constitutional authority over ownership dispute because "[t]he ownership issue does not simply have 'some bearing' on the bankruptcy proceedings ... the bankruptcy court could not undertake the bankruptcy proceedings without first determining who owned the Alleged Debtor, and thus who represented them ...."); In re First Korean Christian Church of San Jose, 567 B.R. 575, 578-578 (Bankr. N. D. Cal. 2017) (rejecting argument that bankruptcy court lacked jurisdiction to determine who controlled Debtor and noting that although bankruptcy court must defer to church hierarchy for resolution of religious issues, bankruptcy court could "apply 'neutral principals of law' such as corporate governance in settling disputes as to ownership of church property ...").

True, the governance of Debtor depends entirely on nonbankruptcy issues: (i) interpretation and application of nonbankruptcy law and (ii) interpretation and application of nonbankruptcy agreements and principles of the local church and any national or international church organizations. But it is difficult to conceive of anything more central to the administration of a bankruptcy case than determining who has authority to file the bankruptcy petition, or to hire professionals for the debtor in possession, or to sell a debtor's assets or otherwise manage the bankruptcy estate as a trustee for the benefit of creditors.

Therefore, the tentative ruling is that any determination of who controls Debtor comes within this Bankruptcy Court's "arising in" jurisdiction and is both statutorily and constitutionally core. In other words, the tentative ruling is that mandatory abstention does not apply, so this is not a ground on which this Court will grant relief from the automatic stay.

(6) Scope of relief

Under Section 362(d) this Court "shall" grant relief if the statutory criteria for such relief are established. But such relief need not take the form of "terminating" the stay. The statute states: "relief ... such as by terminating, annulling, modifying, or conditioning such stay ...." 11 U.S.C. 362(d) (emphasis added).

The tentative ruling is to modify and condition the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) such that the movant may proceed in the nonbankruptcy forum to final judgment (including any appeals) in accordance with applicable nonbankruptcy law, subject to the following limitations (Judge Bason's standard limitations).

(a) No enforcement against property of the bankruptcy estate

The stay remains in effect with respect to enforcement of any judgment against property of the debtor's bankruptcy estate - any such property shall be distributed when and how provided by the Bankruptcy Code. Nevertheless, the movant is permitted to enforce its final judgment by (i) collecting upon any available insurance in accordance with applicable nonbankruptcy law or (ii) proceeding against the debtor as to any property that is not property of this bankruptcy estate. See, e.g., 11 U.S.C. 362(b)(2)(B) & 541(b)(7) (collection of domestic support obligations from ERISA qualified retirement plans).

(b) Claim allowance, priority, and discharge issues

Any claims arising from the nonbankruptcy litigation are subject to this Bankruptcy Court's jurisdiction regarding claim allowance and priority, and the existence and scope of any bankruptcy discharge.

(c) No relief in other bankruptcy cases

To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

(d) Effective date of relief

(7) Comity with State Court

The State Court Judges stayed their proceedings pending this Bankruptcy Court's ruling on today's motions. This Bankruptcy Court appreciates the State Court's careful approach to the possible existence of the automatic stay, which turned out to be a complex issue as discussed above.

This Bankruptcy Court also seeks to preclude any undue delays or potential gamesmanship in future by parties who might seek to invoke the automatic stay when it does not apply (either because of this Bankruptcy Court's order(s) granting relief from the automatic stay, or because of the inherent limits of section 362(a)). To that end, this Bankruptcy Court offers the following.

First and foremost, this Bankruptcy Court is available to make rulings on the applicability of the automatic stay, and to grant any appropriate relief. The Local Bankruptcy Rules and this Court's posted procedures permit expedited relief, including speedy telephonic hearings if warranted. Even during this COVID-19 situation, this Bankruptcy Court's law clerks and the Clerk's Office staff are constantly monitoring voicemails, processing orders, setting up telephonic hearings, etc.

Second, recognizing that even speedy relief might not be speedy enough, this Bankruptcy Court reiterates that, contrary to the Choi Faction's arguments (dkt.71, pp.21:25-23:7), the State Court has concurrent jurisdiction. The State Court can interpret (a) the automatic stay (which is deemed to be an order of this Bankruptcy Court), and (b) any other order of this Court, such as an order modifying the stay. This is no different from the State Court interpreting the orders of any other court, as it does all the time.

In other words, the State Court need not halt its proceedings every time any litigant asserts that the automatic stay might apply. See 28 U.S.C. 1334(b) (federal District Courts, and the Bankruptcy Courts as a unit thereof, have "original but not exclusive jurisdiction of all civil proceedings arising under title 11, or arising in or related to cases under title 11") (emphasis added), In re Gruntz, 202 F.3d 1074, 1083-84 (9th Cir. 2000) (distinguishing State Court orders "modifying the automatic stay" from those "merely interpreting federal law").

Of course, it is up to the State Court, in the exercise of its judgment, to assess whether the risks of proceeding are outweighed by the benefits. See Gruntz, 202 F.3d 1074, 1087 (if State Court proceeds without order of Bankruptcy Court, the former "risks having its final judgment declared void"). Meanwhile, again, this Bankruptcy Court will make every effort to grant speedy rulings on any issue that might arise involving the automatic stay.

(8) Conclusion

Assuming for that sufficient notice notice has been provided under Rule 4001(a) for this Court to rule on the motions related to the automatic stay, the tentative ruling is as follows. The automatic stay applies under 11 U.S.C. 362(a)(3), but there is "cause" for relief from the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1). The tentative ruling is that such relief should take the form of modifying the automatic stay as set forth above.

As set forth in more detail above, the tentative ruling is that the parties can proceed with their State Court litigation to final judgments or orders. But the automatic stay remains in place to prevent collection of any monetary judgment out of the bankruptcy estate or disposition of estate property, absent further order of this Bankruptcy Court.

Reasons:

(1) No authority for Court to compel participation in "LMM" loan modification program

Debtor has not cited any authority that this Court has the power to compel creditors (if they timely object) to grant loan modifications or to participate in the LMM program. Nor is Judge Bason aware of any such authority in the present circumstances.

Generally the loan modification issue comes up in the context of a motion for relief from the automatic stay, and in that context this Court might have the authority, depending on the facts and circumstances, to rule that one form of adequate protection is to require monthly payments equal to what the LMM program would require, and to deny any request to terminate the automatic stay unless and until the creditor has participated in the LMM program and determined whether to approve or reject any loan modification. But that is not the present situation.

Conceivably there could be other circumstances in which a bankruptcy court might have some basis under an applicable statute or contract to compel a creditor to participate in the LMM program. But Judge Bason is not aware of any such authority.

(2) Insufficient grounds to compel acts that have not been shown to have any likelihood of success

Alternatively, even if this Court had any discretion to require participation in the LMM program, Debtor has not established that ordering such participation would be appropriate in this case. The loan servicer asserts that the current holder of the debt is not prepared to enter into any loan modification. Conceivably, if Debtor could force that creditor to participate in the LMM program and could make a sufficiently persuasive presentation of evidence and arguments, that creditor potentially could be persuaded to change its mind. But there is no evidence that this is remotely likely.

Instead the creditor objects that it has already obtained relief from the automatic stay, and Debtor has not articulated grounds to reimpose the stay to further delay any foreclosure efforts. So, if this Court were to order participation in the LMM program, it appears that would only cause added expense.

Tentative Ruling:

On 2/28/20, Mr. Munoz filed a fee application seeking approval of $1,100 in no-look fees as follows: (i) $350 for an opposition to Chapter 13 Trustee's motion to dismiss or convert case ("MTD Opposition") and (ii) $750 for an unopposed motion to modify plan ("MOMOD") (dkt. 54). On 3/24/20, this Court issued an order setting the matter for hearing on the grounds that Mr. Munoz has not established sufficient cause to charge a fee of $350.00 for the MTD Opposition because (a) there is no opposition on the docket, and (b) Mr. Munoz did not attach timesheets substantiating the fees, and because this Court has previously cautioned Mr. Munoz about seeking fees without appropriate documentation (see Case No. 2:15-bk-10060-NB, dkt. 25).

This Court has reviewed Mr. Munoz's declaration (dkt. 58), in which, among other things, Mr. Munoz acknowledges that he is aware of this Court's policies for fee applications and states that he no longer seeks fees for the opposition.

The tentative ruling is that this Court will approve fees in the reduced amount of $750.00 (for the MOMOD), with a caution to Mr. Munoz that sanctions may be warranted if this issue occurs again in future.

The tentative ruling is also that Mr. Munoz is directed to appear to discuss his billing practices. Mr. Munoz is not permitted to charge any fees

Current issues

(1) Notice of this continued hearing

At the 2/27/20 hearing, Debtor's Husband appeared and requested a continuance of the hearing. This Court was persuaded to do so, and directed Debtor's Husband to give notice of this continued hearing. As of the drafting of this tentative ruling, the docket does not reflect that such notice was given.

(2) Merits of the motion to approve settlement as amended (dkt.96, 103, 104), and order to show cause ("OSC") re dismissal or conversion

This Court's tentative ruling is the same as for the 2/27/20 hearing, reproduced below, except that given the additional time that has passed without addressing this Court's concerns there is an even stronger basis to issue the OSC. The tentative ruling is to include within the OSC whether any dismissal should be with a bar under 11 U.S.C. 109(g)(1).

Tentative Ruling for 2/27/20:

Appearances required. The tentative ruling is to deny the motion to approve the settlement, as amended (dkt.96, 103, 104), for the reasons stated in this Court's interim order (dkt.100). In addition, the tentative ruling is to issue, pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 105(a), an order to show cause why this case should not be converted to chapter 7 or dismissed, because:

(1) at the hearing on 1/23/20 this Court was persuaded to continue this matter with a deadline of 2/13/20 for Debtor to file supplemental papers addressing the issues raised in this Court's interim order (dkt.100) but no supplemental papers have been filed;

(2) Debtor has failed to abide by her duties as a chapter 13 debtor (11 U.S.C. 521) based on (a) her belated acknowledgment of her interest in the subject property and (b) her failure either (i) to attempt to obtain any recovery for her creditors based on that interest (let alone a fair recovery) or (ii) to offer a colorable explanation for failing to do so; and

(3) Debtor has failed adequately to address the issues raised by this Court (see dkt.100).

The foregoing facts appear to constitute grounds for conversion or dismissal under 11 U.S.C. 1307(c), including but not limited to paragraph (1) thereof.

(1) Background

On 9/16/19 creditor Ajax Mortgage Loan Trust 2019-A etc. ("Ajax") filed its proof of claim (Claim No. 17-1) that incorrectly stated that Debtor's mortgage has a fixed interest rate, when in fact the interest rate varies every month and, confusingly, the monthly payments vary every year. On 10/7/19, 11/18/19, and 12/16/19 Ajax filed notices of payment changes. On 3/12/20 Ajax filed an amended proof of claim (Claim No. 17-2).

On 1/21/20 Debtor filed a motion (dkt.62) objecting to Ajax's notices of payment change, and requesting that Debtors be entitled to continue paying $1,561.02/mo. instead of the increased payment of $1,685.91/mo. that was to commence 2/1/20 according to Ajax's second notice of payment change. On 3/12/20 Ajax filed its response (dkt.72), which admitted certain errors but (a) pointed out that Debtors were well aware that their loan had a variable interest rate based on the changes in their prior chapter 13 case, their own loan modification request, and the history of this case, and (b) argued that Debtors had not been prejudiced, but (c) stating that Ajax "has applied the first two payments at the lower P&I amount listed in the POC." Dkt.72, p.11:11-14. On 3/19/20 Debtors filed their reply arguing that Ajax still has not provided a transparent explanation of all of its calculations; that payments should remain at $1,561.02/mo. and that "Debtors should be entitled to a credit against future payments for any mortgage overpayment that they have paid in excess of said amount until such time as Ajax [or its servicer] completes a thorough and transparent principal and interest mortgage payment analysis." Dkt.74, p.5:22-26 (emphasis in original).

(2) Governing Rule

Under Rule 3002.1(b) (Fed. R. Bankr. P.), Ajax was required to provide "a notice of any change in the payment amount" no later than 21 days "before payment in the new amount is due"; Debtor was entitled to object to any such payment change; and, "[i]f no motion is filed by the day before the new amount is due, the charge goes into effect, unless the court orders otherwise." (Emphasis added.) Rule 3002.1(b)(2). Under Rule 3002.1(f),

- (f) Failure to Notify. If [Ajax] fails to provide any information as required by subdivision (b) [of Rule 3002.1], the court may, after notice and a hearing, take either or both of the following actions:
- (1) preclude [Ajax] from presenting the omitted information, in any form, as evidence in any contested matter or adversary proceeding in the case, unless the court determines that the failure was substantially justified or is harmless; or
  - (2) award other appropriate relief, including reasonable expenses and attorney's fees caused by the failure. [Rule 3002.1(f) (Fed. R. Bankr. P.) (emphasis added)]

Under 11 U.S.C. 102(3), "'includes' and 'including' are not limiting. Rule 9001 (Fed. R. Bankr. P.) applies section 102 to the Rules.

(3) Application of Rule 3002.1 to the facts

This Court has considerable discretion in fashioning appropriate relief based on Ajax's incorrect and confusing notices of payment change. This Court is also concerned that Ajax has not provided enough information and transparency, and on the other hand this Court is not persuaded on the present record that there has been any substantial prejudice to Debtors, although this Court recognizes that it can be difficult for any debtors in bankruptcy to catch up all at once on any shortfalls in mortgage payments, which is one reason why adequate protection orders typically provide several months to cure postpetition arrears. In addition, this Court is concerned that both parties' attorney fees may well exceed the dollar amounts in controversy.

Based on all of the foregoing, the tentative ruling is as follows:

Ajax, no later than 4/30/20, must file and serve declaration(s) establishing at each relevant time (i) the amount of the index interest rate on which the variable interest rate is based, (ii) its calculation of the variable interest rates, and the dollar amounts of principal and interest, (iii) the data on which all escrow amounts are based (e.g., copies of documents showing real estate tax amounts and insurance amounts), and (iv) calculations of escrow account balances and monthly payment amounts.

Debtor's response is due 5/14/20.

A continued hearing will be held on 5/28/20 at 8:30 a.m.

Meanwhile, the parties will be ordered to mandatory mediation. Their deadline to lodge proposed mediation order(s) is 4/10/20.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." Deny, because the tentative ruling for 2/23/20, which was not contested and therefore was adopted as this Court's actual ruling, set a deadline of 3/12/20 for Debtor to address the issues in the opposition (dkt. 32), including an explanation of how the amended motion (dkt. 29) alleges that the senior lender ("Bayview") is owed $662,095.02 as of 11/16/19, even though it is unclear from the mortgage statement (dkt. 29, Ex. 2) how Debtor arrived at that total.

Appearances are not required. If you wish to contest the tentative ruling you must arrange for a telephonic appearance. Pursuant to Judge Bason's COVID-19 Procedures, telephonic appearances are REQUIRED until further notice.

(2) Evidence of senior debt

Debtor's amended motion (dkt. 29) alleges that the senior lender ("Bayview") is owed $662,095.02 as of 11/16/19 but it is unclear from the mortgage statement (dkt. 29, Ex. 2) how Debtor arrived at that total.

(3) Appraisal; date of valuation

The junior lienholder has requested (dkt. 32) additional time to obtain an appraisal. Debtor is directed to provide reasonable access for that purpose. Note: Judge Bason's tentative ruling is to require valuations at or near the petition date. See In re Gutierrez, 503 B.R. 458 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2013).

At the continued hearing the parties should address how they propose to resolve their disputes - e.g., (i) with an evidentiary hearing; (ii) with a court ruling based solely on the written record (to save costs, if all parties consent), (iii) through mediation, or (iv) through appointment of an appraiser (jointly selected by the parties/their appraisers) as the court's own expert under FRE 706.

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) has not been shown to have any basis for any different treatment from the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a), so the tentative ruling is to grant the identical relief regarding any co-debtor stay.

The automatic stay does not apply

Grant the request for confirmation that the stay did not apply to Movant's actions to record the trustee's deed upon sale and confirming that Debtor had no interest in the property at the time of her petition both because (a) the foreclosure sale concluded prior to the filing of the bankruptcy case and (b) Movant's recordation of the deed within fifteen days of the sale had the effect of perfecting the deed as of 8 a.m. on 3/17/20, which is before the filing of the petition. 2000) (The recordation of a foreclosure sale deed within fifteen days of the sale does not violate the automatic stay and is not avoidable).

Grant the motion under 11 U.S.C. 362(c)(3) and (j): there is no automatic stay because (a) Debtor's prior case (#2:20-bk-11019-NB) was dismissed (on 3/11/20) within one year before this case was filed (on 3/17/20), (b) that dismissal was not under 11 U.S.C. 707(b), and (c) no finding of good faith was timely sought and obtained. The automatic stay has terminated both as to Debtor in personam and as to property of Debtor. See In re Reswick, 446 B.R. 362 (9th Cir. BAP 2011); In re Hernandez, case no. 2:11-bk-53730-NB, docket #40 (Memorandum Decision).

In the alternative and in addition, this court grants relief from the automatic stay as follows.

Termination

Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1), (d)(2) and (d)(4).

To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Retroactive relief

Grant the request for retroactive annulment of the stay. See In re Fjeldsted, 293 B.R. 12 (9th Cir. BAP 2003); and see also In re Williams, 323 B.R. 691, 697-702 (9th Cir. Relief notwithstanding future bankruptcy cases.

Grant the following relief pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(4) and the legal analysis in In re Vazquez, 580 B.R. 526 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2017), and/or In re Choong (case no. 2:14-bk-28378-NB, docket no. 31), as applicable:

bankruptcy case purporting to affect such property and filed within two years after the date of entry of this order, unless otherwise ordered by the court presiding over that bankruptcy case.

For the avoidance of doubt, any acts by the movant to obtain exclusive possession of such property shall not be stayed, including any eviction actions, through and including any lockout or other enforcement by the Sheriff or other authorized legal authority.

Note: Per Judge Bason's posted procedures (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) this Court's order will state that the Court "does not make" a finding that Debtor was involved in the "scheme" referenced in section 362(d)(4), unless there is sufficient evidence that Debtor was involved and Debtor is given clear notice that the movant seeks an express finding that Debtor was involved. The tentative ruling in this particular case is that there is sufficient evidence and notice.

Grant the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a) (3).

Co-debtor stay

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) has not been shown to have any basis for any different treatment from the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a), so the tentative ruling is to grant the identical relief regarding any co-debtor stay.

Attorney fees

Movant requests that its attorney fees be allowed. The tentative ruling is that this Court will not express any view regarding any attorney fee request because (a) in any nonjudicial foreclosure action, attorney fee issues typically are not decided by a court (and in a judicial foreclosure it is the State Court, not this Bankruptcy Court, that would determine attorney fee issues), (b) a motion for relief from the automatic stay is not the proper vehicle to adjudicate attorney fees in this Bankruptcy Court, and (c) this hearing does not involve any claim objection or other proceeding that might properly present that issue for this Court's determination.

Co-debtor stay

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) has not been shown to have any basis for any different treatment from the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a), so the tentative ruling is to grant the identical relief regarding any co-debtor stay.

Relief notwithstanding conversion

Grant the request that the order be binding and effective despite any conversion of this bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code.

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Dismiss this adversary proceeding, without leave to amend the Complaint. Appearances are not required. If you wish to dispute the tentative ruling you must notify other parties of your intent to appear telephonically.

Pursuant to Judge Bason's COVID19 Procedures, ONLY TELEPHONIC APPEARANCES WILL BE PERMITTED until further notice. Please contact CourtCall at (888) 882-6878 to make arrangements for any telephonic appearance. There is no need to contact the Court for permission. This Court has reviewed the filed documents and records in this adversary proceeding.

(A) Current issues

(1) Trinity Financial Services, LLC ("Trinity"): Motion To Dismiss Adversary Complaint (the "MTD," adv. dkt. 3)

The tentative ruling is to grant the MTD, without leave to amend, for the reasons set forth therein.

Alternatively, the tentative ruling is to dismiss the Complaint as against Trinity, without leave to amend, under preclusion/law of the case principles. As stated in this Court's order dismissing Debtor/Plaintiff's prior adversary proceeding as to Trinity without leave to amend (Adv. No. 2:19-ap-01182-NB, dkt. 10), Debtor would have to meet the standards for reconsideration (see Rules 9023, 9024 (Fed. R. Bankr. P.)) and follow the proper procedures for seeking reconsideration should she wish to seek relief from that order. As of the drafting of this tentative ruling, Debtor has not done so.

Proposed order: Trinity is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this Court's final ruling, subject to any changes ordered at the hearing. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(2) Defendant Special Default Services, Inc. ("Special"): Service issues First, there is no proof of service of the summons (adv. dkt. 2).

Second, although Debtor's complaint (adv. dkt. 1) appears to include a proof of service of that complaint, it is not on this Court's mandatory form (available at cacb.uscourts.gov). See adv. dkt. 1, pp. 7-8.

Third, the proof of service indicates that Debtor served the complaint herself, which is not permissible per the instructions on this Court's mandatory form. See id.

Fourth, Debtor did not serve the complaint on Special to the attention of an officer, a managing or general agent, or to any other agent authorized by appointment of law (Rule 7004(b)(3), Fed. R. Bankr. P.), at an address that appears to be reasonably calculated to reach the officer (e.g., corporate headquarters). Note: Judge Bason does not require that a specific individual be named -- "Attn: Officer or Managing/General Agent" is sufficient.

Fifth, Debtor/Plaintiff has not responded to Trinity's MTD, and it appears that all of the arguments in that MTD apply equally to Special. Debtor/Plaintiff has not articulated any reason why it would be appropriate to provide her with an opportunity to correct the service issues, noted above, when her claims appear on their face to be barred by statutes of limitation and other defenses set forth in Trinity's MTD.

Accordingly, the tentative ruling is to dismiss the Complaint, without leave to amend, as against Special. The tentative ruling is that, after the hearing, this Court will prepare the order.

(3) Debtor's address

The address listed for Debtor on the docket of the bankruptcy case does not match the address Debtor has listed in her Complaint. If Debtor's address has changed, she must file Local Form F 1002-1.3.CHANGE.ADDRESS.

(4) Joint status report

The summons (adv. dkt. 2) directs Debtor/Plaintiff and Defendants to file a joint status report no later than 14 days before this status conference (4/21/20). As of the drafting of this tentative ruling, no status report has been filed.

(B) Standard requirements

The following are Judge Bason's standard requirements for status conferences. (To the extent that the parties have already addressed these issues in their status report, they need not repeat their positions at the status conference.)

(1) Venue/jurisdiction/authority

The parties are directed to address any outstanding matters of (a) venue, (b) jurisdiction, (c) this Bankruptcy Court's authority to enter final orders or judgment(s) in this proceeding and, if consent is required, whether the parties do consent, or have already expressly or impliedly consented. See generally Stern v. Marshall, 131 S.Ct. 2594, 2608 (2011) (if litigant "believed that the Bankruptcy Court lacked the authority to decide his claim...then he should have said so – and said so promptly."); Wellness Int'l Network, Ltd. v. Sharif, 135 S.Ct. 1932 (2015) (consent must be knowing and voluntary but need not be express); In re Bellingham Ins. Agency, Inc., 702 F.3d 553 (9th Cir. 2012) (implied consent), aff'd on other grounds, 134 S. Ct. 2165 (2014); In re Pringle, 495 B.R. 447 (9th Cir. BAP 2013) (rebuttable presumption that failure to challenge authority to issue final order is intentional and indicates consent); In re Deitz, 760 F.3d 1028 (9th Cir. 2014) (authority to adjudicate nondischargeability encompasses authority to liquidate debt and enter final judgment). See generally In re AWTR Liquidation, Inc., 548 B.R. 300 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2016).

(2) Mediation [intentionally omitted]

(3) Deadlines

Docket 11

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 5/5/20:

Appearances required.

Pursuant to Judge Bason's COVID19 Procedures, ONLY TELEPHONIC APPEARANCES WILL BE PERMITTED until further notice. Please contact CourtCall at (888) 882-6878 to make arrangements for any telephonic appearance. There is no need to contact the Court for permission. Parties who are not represented by an attorney will be able to use CourtCall for free through 6/30/20. Attorneys will receive a 25% discount (for more information, see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.," "Telephonic Instructions").

On 3/31/20, this Court held a hearing on Debtor's motion to dismiss the complaint (adv. dkt. 3, the "MTD"). In advance of the hearing, this Court posted its tentative ruling (set forth below) indicating its intent to grant the MTD and dismiss the complaint. Plaintiffs did not appear at the hearing, individually or through counsel, so this Court adopted the tentative ruling as the final ruling. On 4/2/20, this Court issued an order granting the MTD and dismissing this proceeding (adv. dkt. 11).

On 4/3/20, Plaintiffs filed an objection to dismissal and request for hearing (adv. dkt. 12). As set forth therein, Plaintiffs' counsel states that he tried to appear telephonically to contest the tentative ruling, but was unable to because CourtCall muted his connection.

Accordingly, this hearing was set to allow Plaintiffs' counsel an opportunity to contest this Court's tentative ruling (copied below). There is no tentative ruling, but the parties should be prepared to address whether this Court should set aside the dismissal order.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you

If appearances are required, and you fail to appear telephonically without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 3/31/20 (relevant portions copied below):

This Court has reviewed the parties' joint status report (dkt. 9) and the other filed documents and records in this adversary proceeding.

(1) Current issues

(a) Debtor/defendant's motion to dismiss (adv. dkt. 3, "MTD"),
Plaintiffs' opposition (adv. dkt. 7), Debtor/defendant's reply (adv. dkt. 10)

Debtor/defendant seeks dismissal of this proceeding under Rule 12(b)(6) (Fed. R. Civ. P.) (made applicable by Rule 7012, Fed. R. Bankr. P.).

As to Plaintiffs' first claim for relief under 11 U.S.C. 523(a)(2)(A), the tentative ruling is to grant the motion and dismiss the claim with prejudice for the reasons stated in the MTD. The tentative ruling is also to deny leave to amend because amendment would be futile.

As to Plaintiffs' second claim for relief for fraud under CCCP 1572, the tentative ruling is to agree with the argument in the MTD that because the claim does not fall within one of the categories set forth in Rule 7001 (Fed. R. Bankr. P.) the complaint must be dismissed, without leave to amend, but also without prejudice to asserting the same or different claims through the normal claims process in bankruptcy matters (and with all rights of Debtor or other parties with standing to object to any such claim).

Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this Court's final ruling, subject to any changes ordered at the hearing. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

Key documents reviewed (in addition to motion papers): Supplemental proof of service (dkt. 145) and notice of continued hearing (dkt. 146), Debtor's opposition (dkt. 153), trustee's reply (dkt. 156)

Reasons:

(a) Service

This matter was originally self-calendared for hearing on 4/7/20, but this Court continued the matter to this date and directed Movant to cure the deficient service. This Court has reviewed the Trustee's supplemental proof of service (dkt. 145) and is satisfied that service has been properly effectuated.

(b) Legal Standard

Rule 9019(a) (Fed. R. Bankr. P.) provides that the bankruptcy court may approve a compromise or settlement. "In determining the fairness, reasonableness and adequacy of a proposed settlement agreement, the court must consider: (1) the probability of success in litigation; (2) the difficulties, if any, to be encountered in the matter of collection; (3) the complexity of the litigation involved, and the expense, inconvenience and delay necessarily attending it; (4) the paramount interest of the creditors and a proper deference to their reasonable views in the premises." Martin v. Kane (In re A&C Properties), 784 F.2d 1377, 1381 (9th Cir. 1986).

"Rather than an exhaustive investigation or a mini-trial on the merits, this court need only find that the settlement was negotiated in good faith and is reasonable, fair and equitable." In re Pac. Gas & Elec. Co., 304 B.R. 395, 417 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. 2004) (citing A&C Properties, 784 F.2d at 1381). In approving a settlement agreement, this court must "canvass the issues to see whether the settlement 'falls below the lowest point in the range of reasonableness.'" Id. (internal citations omitted). This court need not find that each of the A&C factors have been satisfied, provided that the factors as a whole favor approving the settlement. Id. A "court generally gives deference to a trustee's business judgment in deciding whether to settle a matter." Goodwin v. Mickey Thompson Entm't Group, Inc. (In re Mickey Thompson Entm't Group, Inc.), 292 B.R. 415, 420 (9th Cir. BAP 2003).

(c) The settlement is reasonable, fair and equitable

The tentative ruling is that the proposed settlement is reasonable, fair and equitable as follows.

As to the first A&C Factor (probable success), the tentative ruling is that this factor weighs in favor of approving the settlement because the trustee has adequately informed herself about the nature of the estate's pre-petition claims by reviewing relevant papers filed in the state court action and has concluded that there is little to no chance of succeeding on the merits (see dkt. 141, Dye Decl. para. 4). Although Debtor contends that the Trustee did not reach out to Debtor's counsel for insight about any pre-petition litigation strategy or valuation of the claims, Debtor has not established that the proposed settlement falls below the lowest point in the range of reasonableness.

As to the second A&C Factor (difficulty of collection) the tentative ruling is that this factor is neutral. There is no evidence in the record to conclude that the Trustee would experience any difficulty in collecting against the settling defendants at a later time.

As to the third A&C Factor (complexity of the litigation and circumstances attending it) the tentative ruling is that this factor weighs in favor of settlement because it results in the immediate infusion of $15,000 cash into the estate and avoids the unnecessary costs, delay, and uncertainty attendant with litigation.

As to the fourth A&C Factor (best interest of creditors) the tentative ruling is that this factor weighs in favor of approving the settlement because this Court gives deference to the Trustee's exercise of her business judgment in concluding that a settlement of $15,000 is likely the highest and best recovery the estate could achieve. Debtor's contention that the Trustee's decision to settle is self-serving and the fastest and simplest way to pay herself and her professionals is not persuasive (dkt. 153, p.3:1-2). In support of the settlement, the Trustee represents that "a significant portion of the $15,000 will be used to pay the claims of creditors, including tax claims, regardless of whether any additional funds are recovered in the case and my professionals and I will cut our fees to make this happen" (dkt. 141, Dye Decl.. para 5, lines 16-18).

Therefore the A&C Factors support approving the settlement.

Reasons:

Service

Although this Court has discretion regarding who must be served with motions to approve proposed settlement (per Rule 2002(a)(3), Fed. R. Bankr. P.), the tentative ruling is that Debtor must be served, and this means serving both Debtor individually and Debtor's attorney ("double service"). See Rules 7004(b)(9)&(g) and 9014(a) (Fed. R. Bankr. P.). The proofs of service (dkt. 142, 143) do not reflect such double service.

The tentative ruling is that this Court has neither the authority nor the inclination to excuse non-compliance with these rules. It is true that this double service requirement is the exact opposite of typical non-bankruptcy practice, in which it is generally impermissible to serve a represented party personally; but there are good reasons for the double service rule in bankruptcy. It helps protect Debtor and the bankruptcy estate (i.e., all parties in interest) from matters "falling through the cracks" given the high volume and speed of matters in typical bankruptcy cases, and the frequent use of service via U.S. mail.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." Reasons:

(1) Background

Debtor filed her Objection to Claim to Pensco Trust Company's ("Pensco") POC 5-1 on 3/29/20 (the "Claim Objection," dkt. 172). Pensco filed its opposition on 4/21/20 (dkt. 186), which included within it a Counter Motion To Compel Dispute To Arbitration. Debtor filed her reply on 4/28/20.

(2) Analysis

(i) Counter Motion To Compel Dispute To Arbitration is not properly before this Court and must be separately noticed and filed

As pointed out by Debtor in her reply (dkt. 186, p.4:22-25), the Counter Motion To Compel Dispute To Arbitration is not properly before this Court and will not be considered by this Court because any such motion should be separately noticed and filed.

(ii) Whether the parties' dispute should be sent to arbitration is a gating issue and this Court requires further briefing

The arbitration provision provides that "in the event of any legal dispute, all parties agree to submit to the final decision of Arbitration which decision may be entered in any court of competent jurisdiction." Dkt. 172, Ex. A, PDF p. 26, para. 6. But, although the term "Arbitration" is capitalized, there does not appear to be any definition of that term.

In the portion of its opposition that is properly before this Court, Pensco reserves its "claim that initial determination of the within dispute is subject to mandatory arbitration as agreed to by the parties in the loan documents." Dkt. 186, p.2:4-6 (emphasis added). In her reply, Debtor argues that the Court has jurisdiction over the Claim Objection because an objection to claim is a core proceeding per 28 U.S.C. Section 157(b)(2)(A), (B), and (O). Dkt. 191, p.4:26-28. Debtor also argues that the arbitration claim "is extremely vague and ambiguous, therefore unenforceable," explaining that "Arbitration" is not defined, Debtor's signature on the document that includes the arbitration provision is not dated, and that the rider to the promissory note which includes the arbitration provision is not listed as one of the loan documents in Ex. E to the opposition. Id. at pp.4:28-5:6. Lastly, Debtor cites In re Thorpe Insulation Co., 671 F.3d 1011, 1021 (9th Cir. 2012) for the proposition that resolution of a proof of claim involving a breach of contract subject to an arbitration clause is a core proceeding. Id. at p.5:7-10.

First, Debtor has not provided any citations to legal authority establishing that her referenced issues with the arbitration provision and the document in which its included render the arbitration provision unenforceable. For example, there are other portions of the loan documents that include Debtor's signature that are not dated. See dkt. 172, PDF pp. 22, 30, 35, 45. Is Debtor arguing that the failure to date her signature renders the loan documents unenforceable? As another example, when Debtor says that the arbitration provision is "extremely vague and ambiguous," is she arguing that the arbitration provision is unclear as to whether it applies to the current dispute, or that the actual terms of any arbitration are unclear?

Second, while Debtor is correct that resolution of a proof of claim is a core proceeding, that is not the end of the inquiry. In Thorpe, the United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit ("9th Circuit") held that

... even in a core proceeding, the McMahon standard must be met - that is, a bankruptcy court has discretion to decline to enforce an otherwise applicable arbitration provision only if arbitration would conflict with the underlying purposes of the

Bankruptcy Code. [Thorpe, 671 F.3d 1011, 1021 (emphasis added)]

Debtor has not provided this Court with any briefing addressing the above referenced standard.

Third, this Court has reviewed the POC 5-1 and has not been able to locate where "Arbitration" is defined. Pensco has not provided this Court with any documentation defining "Arbitration," or otherwise outlining the terms of the parties' potential arbitration. Does Pensco have any such documents in its possession?

(3) Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the tentative ruling is to continue the hearing on this matter to the date and time set forth at the start of this tentative ruling. Pensco is directed to file and serve a separate arbitration motion and supporting declaration(s) no later than 5/12/20. Debtor is directed to file and serve her opposition papers no later than 6/9/20. Pensco is directed to file its reply no later than 6/23/20.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear telephonically without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Reason:

After the 1/28/20 status conference, this Court issued its Order Directing The Parties To Mediation And Setting A Continued Status Conference (the "Scheduling Order," adv. dkt. 4). The Scheduling Order directed the parties to this adversary proceeding to lodge a proposed mediation order on the local form no later than 2/11/20.

On 2/18/20, this Court held a status conference in the related adversary proceeding of Yiping Zhu v. Shih Lin Hsu (2:19-ap-01511-NB, the "Zhu Adversary"). At that status conference, Debtor represented to this Court that the plaintiffs in the related adversary proceedings did not respond to his inquiries re selecting a mediator. After the status conference, this Court issued its Order Directing Parties To Lodge Mediation Order(s) And Continuing Status Conference (the "Zhu Scheduling Order," Zhu Adversary, adv. dkt. 4). The Zhu Scheduling Order was served on Debtor/Defendant, and Plaintiffs Diana Lee, Yiping Zhu, and Ching Chen Kok. The Zhu Scheduling Order reiterated that mediation of the three related adversary proceedings was mandatory, and failure to lodge the required mediation orders by 2/25/20 and attend mediation could "result in sanctions or other remedies." Zhu Adversary, adv. dkt. 4, p.2:12-13.

As of the drafting of this tentative ruling, no mediation orders have been lodged in any of the three related adversary proceedings. The tentative ruling is to dismiss this adversary proceeding for lack of prosecution.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." Preliminary issues

(1) Status report

The summons issued in this case (adv. dkt. 2) directed the parties to file a joint status report by 1/14/20. As of the drafting of this tentative ruling, no status report has been filed. Why not?

The following are Judge Bason's standard requirements for status conferences. (To the extent that the parties have already addressed these issues in their status report, they need not repeat their positions at the status conference.)

(1) Venue/jurisdiction/authority.

The parties are directed to address any outstanding matters of (a) venue, (b) jurisdiction, (c) this Bankruptcy Court's authority to enter final orders or judgment(s) in this proceeding and, if consent is required, whether the parties do consent, or have already expressly or impliedly consented. See generally Stern v. Marshall, 131 S.Ct. 2594, 2608 (2011) (if litigant "believed that the Bankruptcy Court lacked the authority to decide his claim...then he should have said so – and said so promptly."); Wellness Int'l Network, Ltd. v. Sharif, 135 S.Ct. 1932 (2015) (consent must be knowing and voluntary but need not be express); In re Bellingham Ins. Agency, Inc., 702 F.3d 553 (9th Cir. 2012) (implied consent), aff'd on other grounds, 134 S. Ct. 2165 (2014); In re Pringle, 495 B.R. 447 (9th Cir. BAP 2013) (rebuttable presumption that failure to challenge authority to issue final order is intentional and indicates consent); In re Deitz, 760 F.3d 1028 (9th Cir. 2014) (authority to adjudicate nondischargeability encompasses authority to liquidate debt and enter final judgment). See generally In re AWTR Liquidation, Inc., 548 B.R. 300 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2016).

(2) Mediation. Is there is any reason why this Court should not order the parties to mediation before one of the volunteer mediators (not a Bankruptcy Judge), and meanwhile set the deadlines set forth below? The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 2/11/20 for the parties to lodge a proposed mediation order (the parties are directed to use the time between now and that deadline to find a mutually agreeable mediator whose schedule can accommodate the needs of this matter; and if the parties cannot even agree on a mediator they may lodge separate orders and Judge Bason will chose among them, or issue his own order).

(3) Deadlines: This adversary proceeding has been pending since 11/27/19. Pursuant to LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B), plaintiff is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the status conference, attaching a copy of this tentative ruling or otherwise memorializing the following.

Reason:

On 2/18/20, this Court held a status conference in this adversary proceeding. At that status conference, Debtor represented to this Court that the plaintiffs in the related adversary proceedings did not respond to his inquiries re selecting mediator. After the status conference, this Court issued its Order Directing Parties To Lodge Mediation Order(s) And Continuing Status Conference (the "Zhu Scheduling Order," adv. dkt. 4). The Zhu Scheduling Order was served on Debtor/Defendant, and Plaintiffs Diana Lee, Yiping Zhu, and Ching Chen Kok. The Zhu Scheduling Order reiterated that mediation of the three related adversary proceedings was mandatory, and failure to lodge the required mediation orders by 2/25/20 and attend mediation could "result in sanctions or other remedies." Adv. dkt. 4, p.2:12-13.

As of the drafting of this tentative ruling, no mediation orders have been lodged in any of the three related adversary proceedings. The tentative ruling is to dismiss this adversary proceeding for lack of prosecution.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 2/18/20:

Appearances required.

(A) Preliminary issues

(1) Status report

This Court issued a summons which required the parties to file a joint status report at least 14 days before the hearing, or by 2/4/20. Adv. dkt. 2, p.2. As of the drafting of this tentative ruling, no status report has been filed. Why not?

(B) Standard issues

(1) Venue/jurisdiction/authority

The parties are directed to address any outstanding matters of (a) venue, (b) jurisdiction, (c) this Bankruptcy Court's authority to enter final orders or judgment(s) in this proceeding and, if consent is required, whether the parties do consent, or have already expressly or impliedly consented. See generally Stern v. Marshall, 131 S.Ct. 2594, 2608 (2011) (if litigant "believed that the Bankruptcy Court lacked the authority to decide his claim...then he should have said so – and said so promptly."); Wellness Int'l Network, Ltd. v. Sharif, 135 S.Ct. 1932 (2015) (consent must be knowing and voluntary but need not be express); In re Bellingham Ins. Agency, Inc., 702 F.3d 553 (9th Cir. 2012) (implied consent), aff'd on other grounds, 134 S. Ct. 2165 (2014); In re Pringle, 495 B.R. 447 (9th Cir. BAP 2013) (rebuttable presumption that failure to challenge authority to issue final order is intentional and indicates consent); In re Deitz, 760 F.3d 1028 (9th Cir. 2014) (authority to adjudicate nondischargeability encompasses authority to liquidate debt and enter final judgment). See generally In re AWTR Liquidation, Inc., 548 B.R. 300 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2016).

(2) Mediation

Is there is any reason why this Court should not order the parties to mediation before one of the volunteer mediators (not a Bankruptcy Judge), and meanwhile set the deadlines set forth below? The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 2/25/20 for the parties to lodge a proposed mediation order (the parties are directed to use the time between now and that deadline to

(1) Current issues

(a) Cash collateral & budget motions

Debtor's counsel confirms that there is a tenant in Debtor's rental property who is paying $11,000/month in rent (dkt. 39, p.1:22-2:3 & Ex.A) and that Debtor is now living with her son and contributing towards general household expenses (dkt. 47, p.2:9-15). Debtor should be prepared to address whether a cash collateral motion is necessary, in view of her receipt of rental income.

The tentative ruling is no later than 5/11/20 Debtor must file and serve (a) a cash collateral motion, if one is required, (b) a budget motion as required by the posted Procedures of Judge Bason (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov), and (c) an amended schedule G identifying the lease.

(b) Amended Bankruptcy Schedule I remains deficient (dkt. 60)

Debtor's Amended Bankruptcy Schedule I still lists rental income in line 8h, instead of line 8a, and Debtor has not complied with the 4/10/20 deadline

this Court previously set for Debtor to attach a separate statement showing gross receipts, ordinary and necessary business expenses, and the total monthly net income (as expressly required by line 8a) – e.g. mortgage payments, real property taxes, insurance, maintenance. This Court notes that Amended Bankruptcy Schedule J does include an attachment that lists certain property expenses, but this is not sufficient.

The tentative ruling is that Debtor is directed to file an amended Bankruptcy Schedule I no later than 5/11/20.

(c) March Monthly Operating Report ("MOR") (dkt. 55)

Debtor's March MOR does not appear to accurately reflect Debtor's monthly income and expenses for the period from 3/9/20 to 3/31/20 or otherwise explain why more information could not be provided. The tentative ruling is that Debtor is directed to file an amended March MOR no later than 5/11/20.

(d) Application to employ special litigation counsel (dkt. 25), UST's objection (dkt. 28), amended application (dkt. 29), notice of hearing (dkt. 40), declaration (dkt.47), no opposition to amended application is on file

This Bankruptcy Court continues to have serious doubts whether an objective cost/benefit analysis would justify hiring counsel at $795.00/hr. to pursue the claims described in the amended application and other papers. From what this Bankruptcy Court knows of the litigation, this Court is inclined to share some of the principal defendant's bewilderment:

USB is bewildered at Debtor's endgame here. ... [T]he Debtor is attempting to procure the Property without having to pay back the loan that she admits to receiving. It is not as if USB recorded a deed of trust on the Debtor's Property by mistake and the loan proceeds went to another property owner. ... It is sad to see that the Debtor has spent hundreds of thousands of dollars on [this litigation]. [Dkt.79, p.9:23-28, n.4]

Nevertheless, (i) it appears that unsecured creditors have nothing to lose: either the litigation will succeed and they will have some hope of recovery, or it will fail and they will not be any any worse situation - they will receive the same as if the litigation were not pursued: nothing (see dkt.47); (ii) despite notice to creditors (dkt.40) no objection to the amended application has been received; (iii) there may be aspects of the litigation that this

Bankruptcy Court does not understand; and (iv) perhaps Debtor is gaining some benefit by deferring any ultimate adverse judgment and/or the possibility of any ultimately favorable judgment or settlement. Therefore the tentative ruling is to grant the amended application, subject to the standard employment provisions in the posted Procedures of Judge Bason (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov), and further subject to a deadline of 5/11/12 for Debtor's general bankruptcy counsel to file a declaration confirming that counsel has delivered a copy of this tentative ruling to Debtor, so that she is fully informed of this Court's concerns.

(1) Current issues

(a) Lack of prosecution of this case

Debtor's status report suggests that no budget motion is required, despite the fact that the posted Procedures of Judge Bason require one (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov under Judges). Debtor explains that "[n]o rents have been collected and we don't know if the tenant is going to pay" and "[e]xpenses are minimal and go to upkeep." Dkt.27, p.3, item B.2.

If the tenant is not paying rents, why do the Status Report and the docket not reflect efforts to evict the tenant and/or collect the rent? In addition, if there is a tenant, why does the Status Report state (dkt.27, p.7) that there are no leases? If there is no written lease, and the tenancy is month-to-month, that should have been explained, and it would seem to be all the more reason why the tenant promptly should either pay rents or be evicted. It has already been nearly a month since the petition date of 3/9/20, with no apparent action.

The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 4/10/20 for Debtor to file a declaration addressing the foregoing issues.

(b) Schedules I and J are deficient (dkt. 17)

Debtor's Schedule I identifies $11,000 in monthly rental income from the Robin Drive property, but Debtor did not attach a separate statement showing gross receipts, ordinary and necessary business expenses, and the total monthly net income (as expressly required by line 8a) - e.g. mortgage payments, real property taxes, insurance, maintenance. Even if those things are not currently being collected/paid, the form directs Debtor to state whether there is any anticipated change in future, and the tentative ruling is to direct Debtor to set forth in detail her projections for all of these things.

Additionally, Debtor's Amended Schedule J is virtually blank. Debtor explains that all of Debtor's expenses are being paid by Medicare, but (a) Debtor does not identify any medicare income on Schedule I and (b) that still does not explain the failure to list whatever expenses are being paid on Debtor's behalf.

Chapter 11

The tentative ruling is that Debtor is directed to file amended schedules I and J no later than 4/10/20.

(c) Schedule D (dkt.17, at PDF pp.21-22)

Debtor apparently assumes that she has a 100% chance of success in her nonbankruptcy litigation, because she asserts that there are no liens at all on her Robin Drive property. The tentative ruling is that this is flagrantly contrary to Debtor's obligation to list all claims, even if those claims are disputed (or contingent, or unliquidated). The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 4/10/20 for Debtor to file an amended Schedule D listing the disputed lien and its dollar amount.

(d) Proposed special counsel, and cost/benefit analysis

The tentative ruling is to set for hearing Debtor's application to employ special counsel, the objection thereto, and the amended application (see dkt. 26, 28, 29). The tentative hearing date is concurrent with the continued status conference (see part "(2)" below).

As this Court understands the pending nonbankruptcy litigation, several actions have been designated as "related" by the State Court(s), and there is a pending appeal that is set for oral argument later this month. The principal issue appears to be whether a mortgagee's deed of trust, that at least initially had an incorrect and/or missing property description, was sufficient to create (a) a lien as against Debtor and (b) inquiry or other effective notice as against third parties, when it is undisputed that the deed of trust was recorded in the real estate records, and when presumably it was included in the grantor/grantee index under Debtor's name. It appears that the trial court(s) have ruled against Debtor.

With this background, this Court reminds Debtor and her general bankruptcy counsel that, given Debtor's duties as a trustee for the benefit of creditors, she has an obligation to make a cost/benefit analysis regarding the litigation, and also has a duty to monitor proposed special counsel. This Court notes that proposed special counsel is not disinterested - she has a substantial prepetition claim - and although there is no requirement in 11 U.S.C. 327(e) of disinterestedness, there is still a requirement that proposed special counsel not "hold any interest adverse to the debtor or to the estate with respect to the matter on which such attorney is to be employed."

In addition, this Court takes judicial notice that, depending on the facts

(which are unknown to this Court), sometimes debtors have nothing to lose by pursuing "long shot" litigation, but creditors have everything to lose. For example, a hypothetical debtor might have little or nothing to lose if they are already insolvent, because either the value of their property will go to pay the secured creditor(s), or it will go to pay unsecured creditors, so they have no net financial loss either way; but if the long shot litigation pays off they can keep their home. This Court emphasizes that this is only one scenario, and this case might be very different. But there is not enough information in the record at present for creditors to be able to make an informed decision whether or not Debtor has financial incentives to act in their best interests.

The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 4/10/20 for Debtor to file, and serve on all parties in interest including the United States Trustee via U.S. mail, a notice of the hearing on the employment application, which notice must include a copy of this tentative ruling, and must provide notice of a deadline of 4/21/20 for any response, and 4/28/20 for any reply. In addition, the tentative ruling is that, concurrent with the notice, Debtor must file and serve declaration(s) addressing the foregoing issues.

(e) Debtor's emergency motion for order confirming that stay applies to pre-petition state court litigation (dkt. 30, the "Stay Motion"), application for hearing on shortened time (dkt. 31) and order thereon (dkt. 32)

There is no tentative ruling. The parties should be prepared to address the issues raised in the tentative ruling for the Stay Motion (Calendar no. 1.1, 4/7/20 at 1:00 p.m.).

(1) Current issues

(a) Debtor's amended cash collateral motion (dkt. 55), opposition of Rehabbers Financial, Inc. dba Aztec Financial ("Aztec") (dkt. 70, 86 & 88), Debtor's reply (dkt. 90), and Debtor's supplemental declaration with appraisal (dkt. 129, 131)

Aztec values the 69th Way property at $860,000 "as is" as of 2/23/20. Dkt. 88, p.2:2-3, dkt. 91. Debtor values the property "as is" between $925,000 and $950,000 depending on which valuation approach is used. Dkt. 129, PDF p.47.

As set forth in this Court's Revised Tentative Ruling for 3/31/20, the parties should address how they propose to resolve their dispute regarding the value of the property - e.g., (i) with an evidentiary hearing; (ii) with a ruling of this Court based solely on the written record (to save costs, if all parties consent), (iii) through mediation, or (iv) through appointment of an appraiser (jointly selected by the parties/their appraisers) as this Court's own expert under FRE 706.

interim basis, on the same terms as this Court's previous interim order (dkt. 80), and to set a continued hearing for the same date and time as the continued status conference as set forth below.

Proposed order: Debtor is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(b) Order To Show Cause re dismissal etc. (the "OSC," dkt. 95), Debtor's response (dkt. 101), response of United States Trustee ("UST") (dkt. 112), and Debtor's supplemental declarations (dkt. 129, 131)

The parties are directed to address whether Debtor has adequately addressed the UST's and this Court's concerns.

(c) Debtor's Plan (dkt. 124), Disclosure Statement (dkt. 125), and request for preliminary hearing (dkt. 128)

Debtor's attempt to stop the running of default interest by proposing a Plan appears to be sensible. Debtor must correct the following issues before the Plan and related documents can be served.

(i) Stop serving creditors - until authorized

Debtor may have confused creditors by sending them the notice. In general, a debtor is not supposed to serve all parties in interest with any disclosure-statement-related documents (before a disclosure statement is approved). See 11 U.S.C. 1125(b) and Rules 2002(b) & 3017(a) (Fed. R. Bankr. P.). In addition, as set forth in the posted Procedures of Judge Bason (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) (the "Procedures"), the required procedure is for this Court to conduct a preliminary review at a status conference, conditionally approve the disclosure statement, and only then direct service on all parties in interest, as authorized by 11 U.S.C. 105(d)(2) (vi). In future, counsel is directed to follow the Procedures.

(ii) Class 1A

This class is listed as unimpaired, but the proposal is to pay this claim over time. The class should be listed as impaired.

(iii) Proposed treatment of LA County Tax (Class 2D)

Debtor's Plan proposes to pay Rehabers' and LA County Tax's claims re the Shadow Lane property by surrendering the property. Dkt. 125, pp.14 & 22. The tentative ruling is that this treatment is adequately disclosed.

(iv) Exhibit C: income/expenses

The tentative ruling is that Exhibits C through C4 are confusing, and need to be replaced. Exhibit C, lines 5a and 5b should refer to Exhibit "1" (dkt.125 at PDF p.23), and that Exhibit "1" should be revised so that instead of just listing "Personal Net Employment Income" (id., emphasis added), Debtor must reveal gross employment income and all deductions to arrive at the net income.

(v) Extra blank sheets

The Disclosure Statement, Exhibits E and F, include extra blank pages that appear unnecessary. See dkt. 125, pp. 15-17; pp. 19-20.

(vi) Combined hearing on Plan/Disclosure Statement

The tentative ruling is to direct Debtor, no later than 5/11/20 to correct the foregoing issues and lodge a proposed order, in the form provided on Judge Bason's portion of the Court's website (www.cacb.uscourts.gov), setting a combined hearing on final approval of the Disclosure Statement and confirmation of the Plan for the same date as the continued status conference (see below). The tentative ruling is that this shortened time is appropriate in view of the need to stop the running of default interest.

(1) Current issues

Despite repeated inquiries from this Court, the docket does not appear to reflect adequate prosecution of this case. To the contrary, the docket and records of this Court appear to reflect considerable mismanagement, lack of disclosure, and other problems set forth below.

(a) Rental income, and disposition or use of various properties

At the hearing on 2/18/20 Debtor belatedly clarified that the second cash collateral motion (dkt.55) was meant to amend the first such motion, and that only one property currently is generating rents - the 69th Way property - although perhaps a second property generates some rents that are not anyone's cash collateral (as noted below). As for Debtor's properties other than 69th Way, Debtor apparently intends to sell the Shadow Ln. property (dkt.89), and it is unclear what Debtor intends to do with the 68th Way property, the Anderson St. property, and the 132d St. property, which appear to be generating minimal if any rental income. See, e.g., Status Report (dkt.69) (listing properties, but not addressing Debtor's intent regarding any of them).

The latest MOR (#4, for Feb. 2020) is unclear about which rental account relates to which property. But it appears that, apart from 69th Way, only one other property has an ending balance above $0, and that is minimal (this unspecified property is the other one that appears to generate some rent, that apparently is not anyone's cash collateral, although that is unclear).

See dkt.85, p.18.

In addition, it appears that Debtor's actual rent rolls might differ from what has been disclosed to date. See dkt.86, p.5:11-15, and supporting decl.

With this background, this Court's primary concern is why the docket does not reflect steps to surrender, rent, sell, rehabilitate, or otherwise deal with Debtor's properties (other than Shadow Ln.)? This Court's secondary concern is to obtain much more complete and clear information and explanations regarding Debtor's various properties.

Debtor's lack of disclosure to date only encourages this Court to impose more comprehensive disclosure requirements, or possibly other remedies. If Debtor remains a debtor in possession (see part "(1)(e)" of this tentative ruling, below) the tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 4/7/20 for Debtor to file and serve on Aztec and the United States Trustee ("UST") a declaration specifying:

- (i) exactly what is the current condition of each property;
- (ii) how much each apartment or room in that property (a "Unit") has been rented for at all prepetition times back to 1/1/17;
- (iii) how much each Unit has been rented for at all postpetition times, and whether each Unit has been used or occupied by any relative or other affiliate of Debtor at any times postpetition;
- (iv) Debtor's projections for each Unit, including the timing and dollar amount of all future rents;
- (v) Debtor's proposed disposition of each property;
- (vi) all steps that Debtor has taken since the commencement of this case to accomplish that disposition; and
- (vii) the projected timeline for such disposition.

(b) Debtor's amended cash collateral motion (dkt. 55), opposition of Rehabbers Financial, Inc. dba Aztec Financial ("Aztec") (dkt. 70, 86 & 88), and Debtor's reply (dkt. 90)

Aztec values the property at $860,000 "as is" as of 2/23/20. Dkt. 88, p.2:2-3, dkt.91. Debtor requests time to obtain a competing appraisal. Dkt. 90, p.2:13. Why did Debtor not do this already?

If there is a satisfactory answer, and if Debtor remains a debtor in possession (see part "(1)(e)" of this tentative ruling, below), the tentative ruling is to grant the cash collateral motion on a further interim basis, on the same terms as this Court's previous interim order (dkt. 80), and to set a continued hearing for the same date and time as the continued status conference as set forth below with a deadline of 4/25/20 for Debtor's appraisal to be filed and served on Aztec.

At the continued hearing the parties should address how they propose to resolve their dispute regarding the value of the property - e.g., (i) with an evidentiary hearing; (ii) with a ruling of this Court based solely on the written record (to save costs, if all parties consent), (iii) through mediation, or (iv) through appointment of an appraiser (jointly selected by the parties/their appraisers) as this Court's own expert under FRE 706.

(c) February MOR (dkt. 85)

(i) Insurance

This MOR (dkt. 85, p.17) shows general liability insurance is due to expire/only paid through 1/25/20. Has that insurance been extended?

This is the same problem that occurred and has been pointed out before. Why is this problem continuing?

This Court fully understands that the insurance is month-to-month, according to Debtor's counsel. But that is no excuse. By the due date of each MOR is should be apparent whether the insurance has or has not been continued, so why do the MORs continue to suggest - apparently inaccurately - that the insurance has expired? Alternatively, if the insurance really has expired, what consequence should follow?

Even if Debtor is (barely) current on insurance, this Court questions whether there is a danger every month that the insurance will expire, if the insurance is only month-to-month. How is Aztec, the bankruptcy estate, or the public adequately protected?

If Debtor remains a debtor in possession (see part "(1)(e)" of this tentative ruling, below), the tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 4/7/20 for Debtor to file, and serve on Aztec and the UST, a declaration fully addressing the foregoing insurance issues.

(ii) No blocked account

Aztec's supplemental opposition (dkt. 86, p.9:1-9) states that Debtor's MOR appears to reflect that there is no separate blocked account for Aztec's cash collateral, as was required by this Court's interim order (see dkt. 80, p.3). The rental DIP account ending in 2707 appears to be related to Aztec's property based on the $5,390.00 of receipts for February (dkt. 85, p.5), and Debtor's representation at the last hearing that the 69th Way property is the only property generating rents at this time. Debtor's reply states that he has complied with this Court's order "by setting aside one of debtor in possession accounts as an escrow account for the remaining portion of the rents." Dkt. 90, 4:1-2.

One problem, as noted above, is that it is not clear which account Debtor is referring to (the one ending in 2707?). Another problem is that the MOR appears to show rental income going into that account but does not appear to show payments of "real estate taxes," "utilities," and "essential repairs" out of that account (only insurance appears to have been paid out of that account). See dkt.85, p.6. It appears that utilities, for example, have been paid from the general account. See dkt.85, pp.1-3. This creates a falsely inflated balance in that account.

More importantly, Debtor appears to misunderstand the nature of a "blocked account." In common usage, and as used by this Court, it means an account from which funds cannot be released without either (i) consent of the other party asserting an interest in the account (Aztec) or (ii) an order of this Court. See, e.g., In re Estrada, 224 B.R. 132, 134 (Bankr. S.D. Cal. 1988) (referring to a "blocked account, requiring both the [chapter 7] trustee's and the Debtor's signature for any disbursements").

If Debtor remains a debtor in possession (see part "(1)(e)" of this tentative ruling, below) then, no later than 4/7/20, Debtor is directed to accomplish all of the following:

(A) coordinate with Aztec and Debtor's bank to determine the mechanics of how checks will be signed by both Debtor and Aztec so as to pay utilities etc. (or whether automatic payments will be set up);

(B) actually set up the blocked account and implement those procedures; and

(C) file and serve on Aztec and the UST a declaration confirming that the blocked account has been established and those procedures have been implemented.

The bankruptcy petition was filed on 11/11/19. Over two months later, on 1/17/20, Debtor belatedly filed an application to employ special counsel.

Chapter 11

That proposed special counsel apparently represented Debtor in prepetition litigation in State Court (LA Superior Court, Case No. 19LBCV00600, for fraud, quiet title, etc.). Dkt.57, p.5. There is no meaningful description of that litigation in the application, nor does the application say anything about commencing a separate adversary proceeding in this bankruptcy case, as the (still unauthorized) special counsel has done on 3/20/20 (dkt.87).

As set forth in prior tentative rulings, reproduced below (for 2/18/20, item "(1)(c)," and 1/14/20, item "(1)(c)"), this Court is very concerned that Debtor is gambling any possible recovery for creditors on the possibility of prevailing in litigation against Aztec. That litigation should have been fully described in Debtor's initial status report and any later reports (dkt. 30, 69), and also should have been fully described in the (very belated) application to employ proposed special counsel (dkt.57). Instead, the nature of that litigation has only been incompletely and belatedly disclosed in those documents (see, e.g., dkt.30 at PDF p.3, and dkt.57, p.5), and orally at prior status conferences.

As near as this Court can tell, based on those sources and this Court's review of the Complaint (Adv. dkt. 1), Debtor's claims are as follows. Debtor apparently is attempting to reduce or eliminate the principal and/or interest, including default interest, on Aztec's secured claim collateralized by the 69th Way and Shadow Ln. properties. Although Debtor admits receiving the loan proceeds, and using some or all of the proceeds to purchase the Shadow Ln property, Debtor allegedly attempted to cancel both the purchase and the loan on or about 6/8/18. Id., para.16 & Ex.C at PDF pp.4 & 107-08. But then on or about 6/11/18 Debtor and his wife allegedly were pressured and intimidated into executing various documents that they did not understand that reauthorized the transaction, including cross-collateralization (id., para.17), and their signatures allegedly were forged on a closing statement listing various high transaction costs (id., para.18, 26). Debtor's Complaint appears to assert claims for fraud, usury, a determination that some or all of these transactions are void and unenforceable, and damages of an unspecified nature up to or in excess of $1 million. It is unclear how much this adversary proceeding duplicates or is different from the State Court litigation.

This Court expresses no view on the merits of these two actions (in State Court, and in the adversary proceeding in this Bankruptcy Court). The point is only that pursuing such litigation is all very well for this bankruptcy estate if Debtor prevails, but Debtor has a duty, as a debtor in possession acting as a trustee for the benefit of creditors (11 U.S.C. 1101(1), 1106, 1107), to consider a cost/benefit analysis of the litigation, and how to minimize the "down side" risk if Debtor does not prevail.

As this Court has noted previously, the default rate of interest (and even the non-default rate) are large enough that they may eat up any assets of this estate if they continue to accrue and are not disallowed. This Court previously has questioned why Debtor has not been pursuing avenues that might possibly stop the accrual of such interest.

Such avenues conceivably could include such tactics as:

- (i) selling the 69th Way and/or Shadow Ln. properties free and clear of liens with Aztec's liens to attach to the proceeds of sale (11 U.S.C. 363(b)&(f));
- (ii) selling those properties with the net proceeds being paid over to Aztec subject to claims to recover those proceeds;
- (iii) pursuing confirmation of a chapter 11 plan that pays Aztec over time with a new (much reduced) interest rate; or
- (iv) some other tactic.

To be clear, this Court expresses no view whether those things actually would work to stop the running of default interest - this Court is not pre-judging any legal or factual issues. The point is only that only last week, on 3/23/20, did Debtor finally appear to take some preliminary steps to possibly addressing this issue, by filing an application (dkt.89) to employ a real estate broker to sell the Shadow Ln. property. Now, with the possible effects of the COVID-19 pandemic on the real estate market, it appears that this is too little, too late.

Meanwhile, Debtor does not appear to have taken any steps to obtain approval for the employment of special counsel, such as setting the matter for hearing or lodging a proposed order. It is also unclear what, if anything, is happening in the pending State Court litigation - is Debtor taking whatever steps are necessary to preserve whatever value that litigation has for the estate?

If Debtor remains a debtor in possession (see part "(1)(e)" of this tentative ruling, below), the tentative ruling is to set the employment application for hearing concurrent with the continued status conference (see part "(2)" of this tentative ruling, below) with a deadline of 4/7/20 for Debtor to serve all parties in interest with a notice of that hearing, with a deadline of 4/21/20 for any opposition, and 4/28/20 for any reply, and with a copy of this part "(1)(d)" of this tentative ruling for 3/31/20 attached to that notice, and with declaration(s) attached to that notice addressing the issues set forth above.

(e) Whether this case should be converted or dismissed, or whether a trustee should be appointed, or other relief

Based on the matters described above, and the history of this case as described in the prior tentative rulings reproduced below, this Court questions:

(i) whether Debtor is grossly mismanaging this bankruptcy estate (sub-paragraph "(B)" of 11 U.S.C. 1104(a)(1), 1112(b)(4)) by:

(A) not taking appropriate steps to surrender, rent, sell, rehabilitate, or otherwise deal with Debtor's properties;

(B) not adequately disclosing the past, present, and projected condition, rents, and proposed disposition of those properties;

(C) not maintaining and/or timely disclosing adequate insurance;

(D) not maintaining a blocked account for cash collateral as order by this Court;

(E) not seeking authorization for the employment of special counsel to prosecute litigation against secured creditor Aztec until over two months after the commencement of this case;

(F) not requesting adequate authorization for that proposed special counsel: the application seeks authorization for him to prosecute the State Court litigation against Aztec, but not any litigation in this Bankruptcy Court with Aztec;

(G) failing to monitor and coordinate with such special counsel, as illustrated by (x) such proposed counsel's filing of an adversary proceeding against Aztec on behalf of this bankruptcy estate before such special counsel is authorized to represent this estate, and (y) the apparent lack of attention to the State Court litigation against Aztec; and

(H) perhaps most importantly, not taking any steps to stop the running of the high rates of Aztec's claimed interest, despite repeated questioning by this Court why no such steps have been taken, until the application to employ a real estate broker on 3/23/20, which appears to be too little, too late;

(ii) whether Debtor is failing to maintain appropriate insurance that poses a risk to the state or to the public (sub-paragraph "(C)" of section 1112(b)(4));

(iii) whether Debtor has engaged in the unauthorized use of cash collateral substantially harmful to Aztec, or has failed to comply with this Court's order regarding the use of cash collateral and establishment of a blocked account (id., sub-paragraphs "(D)" and "(E)");

(iv) whether Debtor is failing, without excuse, to satisfy timely the filing or reporting requirements established by the Bankruptcy Code and Rules or reasonably requested by the United States Trustee regarding the filing of MORs and maintenance of insurance (id., sub-paragraphs "(F)" & "(H)"); or

(v) whether there is other "cause" for conversion, dismissal, or appointment of a chapter 11 trustee (11 U.S.C. 1104(a), 1112(b)(1)), or any other remedy for the foregoing deficiencies.

Debtor is directed to address these issues at this status conference. See Procedures Order (dkt.8, 29) (notice and order that this Court may consider case-dispositive matters at any status conference).

If this Court is persuaded not to convert or dismiss this case or impose other remedies at this hearing, the tentative ruling is to issue an oral Order to Show Cause ("OSC") why this case should not be converted or dismissed, or why a trustee should not be appointed, or other remedies imposed, and set that OSC for hearing concurrent with the continued status conference (see part "(2)" of this tentative ruling, below) with a deadline of 4/7/20 for Debtor to serve all parties in interest with a notice of that hearing, with a deadline of 4/21/20 for any opposition, and 4/28/20 for any reply, and with a copy of this part "(1)(e)" of this tentative ruling for 3/31/20 attached to that notice, and with declaration(s) attached to that notice addressing the issues set forth above.

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor but telephonic appearances are encouraged if advance arrangements are made (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov, "Judges," "Bason, N.", "Instructions/Procedures").

(1) Current issues

(a) First cash collateral motion (dkt.31&32) and second cash collateral motion (dkt. 55&56)

(i) Applicable motion(s)?

At the 1/14/20 hearing, Debtor was directed to re-serve the first cash collateral motion no later than 1/16/20 (see also Tentative Ruling for 1/14/20, reproduced below). Instead, Debtor filed and served the second cash collateral motion, which differs materially from the first cash collateral motion.

It appears that Debtor still may be seeking authorization under the first motion as to two properties (68th Way and Shadow Ln) and authorization under the second motion as to a third property (69th Way). Is that accurate? If not, what is Debtor attempting to do?

(ii) Service issues

At the 1/14/20 hearing, this Court noted that the first cash collateral motion was not served in compliance with Rule 7004 (Fed. R. Bankr. P.), and Debtor was directed to reserve that motion no later than 1/16/20. Debtor served the second cash collateral motion instead, and did so on 1/17/20. Dkt. 56.

It appears that Debtor has still not complied with Rule 7004. First, Nationstar Mortgage, LLC dba Mr. Cooper was not served at the address listed on POC No. 4 for notices. Second, CitiMortgage, Inc. filed POC No. 5 alleging a security interest in the 68th Way property, and it was not served with either cash collateral motion.

(iii) Allegedly fraudulent liens

As noted in Debtor's status report, Debtor is (belatedly) seeking authorization for the postpetition employment of special counsel to pursue an action in state court for fraud and quiet title with respect to allegedly fraudulent liens encumbering the 69th Way and Shadow Lane properties. Dkt. 57 & 69, p.3:2-4. Debtor has stated an intention to sell the Shadow Lane property but not the 69th Way property. What cost/benefit analysis have Debtor and Debtor's bankruptcy counsel done regarding this litigation?

The holder of the alleged liens appears to be asserting 21% default interest (and a non-default rate of just under 10%) (see dkt.70, p.5:1-6). Of course, all rights are preserved to argue regarding interest rates, but Debtor appears to be gambling on winning the litigation and avoiding the liens and the default interest entirely. In other words, if Debtor is not 100% successful, there appears to be a substantial danger of wiping out any recovery for other creditors and Debtor. Why is Debtor not proposing a course of action that might stop the running of such high rates of interest?

For example, solely for purposes of this tentative ruling this Court presumes (without deciding) that selling the 69th Way property free and clear of the disputed liens, with such liens to attach the proceeds, might stop the running of such interest rates. Alternatively, Debtor might propose a chapter 11 plan that could include alternative treatments of this claim depending on whether the litigation were or were not successful, and restructuring any secured claims to have a lower interest rate. These are only hypotheticals: again, all rights are preserved to argue whether any such possible solutions would or would not stop the running of these high interest rates, but the point is that Debtor is directed to address why the status report and the docket do not appear to reflect any exploration of methods to avoid what appear to be the large risks of staking everything on Debtor's litigation.

opposition to second cash collateral motion (dkt. 70)

Aztec's opposition notes that Debtor's second cash collateral motion proposes to pay Aztec $2,000/month of the $5,465/month generated by the property, and allocates $1,058.20 to taxes, insurance, and maintenance, but Debtor does not explain what the remaining $2,379.80/month will be used for.

Dkt. 70, p.4:24-27. Aztec also disputes Debtor's valuation of the property, and states that Debtor should at least be making the non-default, pre-maturity contractual payment of $4,535.67/month. Id. at p.5:17-28. While the second cash collateral motion states that Debtor's basis for the valuation of the property is Debtor's declaration, Debtor's declaration does not address the value of the property. Dkt. 55, p.11. Lastly, Aztec states that it has requested access to the property to arrange its own appraisal. Id. at p.5:21-23.

(v) Tentative ruling on both cash collateral motions

The tentative ruling is to order Debtor to segregate 100% of any rents and profits from each rental property (the 69th Way, Shadow Lane, and 68th Way properties), and hold all such funds - after payment of real estate taxes, insurance, utilities, and essential repairs - in separate blocked accounts until further order of this Court, so as to provide an interim form of adequate protection to Aztec and to other lienholders. In addition, the tentative ruling is to direct Debtor no later than 2/25/20 to serve all lienholders with notice of a continued hearing on the cash collateral motions, concurrent with the continued status conference set forth below. In addition, the tentative ruling is to direct Debtor no later than 2/25/20 to provide Aztec and all other lienholders with access to the properties for any inspection/appraisal they wish to conduct (or, alternatively, to schedule by 2/25/20 an inspection/appraisal after 2/25/20 at a time that is convenient for the lienholders).

(b) January MOR (dkt. 73)

This MOR (dkt.73, p.17) shows general liability insurance due to expire/only paid through 1/25/20. Has that insurance been extended? Are the MORs up to date?

(c) Prosecution of this case

As set forth above, Debtor's prosecution of this case appears to be inadequate. Cash collateral motions are known as "first day" motions; but Debtor's cash collateral motions have been filed belatedly, served incorrectly (despite this Court's prior direction), and presented in a confusing manner (it is ambiguous whether the second motion supersedes or is in addition to the first motion). Similarly troubling, Debtor's application to employ special counsel has been filed belatedly, and neither that application nor Debtor's

Analysis

Based on the motion papers, Debtor's opposition papers (dkt. 50), and Beverly's reply (dkt. 53), the tentative ruling is to modify the automatic stay to set deadlines - further described below - for Debtor to take steps to market and sell the property at 10838-10842 Beverly Blvd., Whittier, CA 90601 (the "Property"). This Court recognizes that Debtor has characterized the Property as his retirement security, but the tentative ruling is that there is no other way to provide adequate protection of Beverly's interest in the Property.

(1) Valuation

The tentative ruling is that Beverly's evidence is persuasive as to including a higher property tax assessment for valuation purposes (see Eggleston Reply Decl., dkt.53, p.3:1-13) and that, with this adjustment, Debtor's approach to valuation would yield a value of $850,000 (id., p.3:14-17). Beverly's appraisal, in contrast, asserts a value of $795,000. See dkt.47, at PDF pp.77-end, and dkt. 53, p.3:18-21.

The tentative ruling is that the other evidence provided by Debtor and Beverly (e.g., as to appropriate discount rates, and the use of allegedly comparable properties) does not weigh in one direction or the other clearly enough for this Court to decide between the two valuations without an evidentiary hearing (or, perhaps, further declarations). Compare Eggleston Decl. (dkt.79, pp.79 et seq.) and Eggleston Reply Decl. (dkt.53) with Collins Appraisal (dkt.50, Ex.A) and Collins Decl. (dkt.50, pp.13 et seq.). Therefore, the remainder of this tentative ruling considers both valuations.

Under section 362(d)(1) this Court must consider any lack of adequate protection (or other "cause" for relief). One form of adequate protection is a sufficient equity cushion.

The tentative ruling is that, unless an equity cushion is very large, an eroding equity cushion may place Beverly's interest in the Property at greater risk. Therefore, this Court must consider Beverly's equity cushion (if any), both as of the petition date (8/30/19) and currently.

In calculating that equity cushion the tentative ruling is that this Court must consider (i) the senior real estate tax lien (Claim No.2-3) of $22,417.08 as of the petition date, plus postpetition interest at 18% for the current calculation (id., p.2, line 9), plus (ii) Beverly's lien of approximately $721,702.10 as of the petition date, or approximately $741,879.34 as of 11/7/19 (dkt.47, pp.7 & 11), plus postpetition interest at 17% for the current calculation (id., Ex.H, at PDF p.141) (POC 5-1, line 9), plus (iii) any other charges that are allowable under 11 U.S.C. 506(b) (e.g., ongoing attorney fees), minus (iv) adequate protection payments (3 x $3,313.63 through Beverly's 12/3/19 Reply, dkt.dkt.53, p.2:15, plus two more payments for January and February, for a total of 5x$3,313.63 = $16,586.15).

Based on these numbers, the tentative ruling is that, even using Debtor's valuation method (adjusted as set forth above), the combination of a modest equity cushion (substantially below 20%) and the current (low) adequate protection payments (very substantially below the contractual default or non-default interest rates) are insufficient. They do not provide Beverly with protection of its interest that is truly "adequate" as required by section 362(d)(1).

Therefore this Court "shall" grant some form of relief from the automatic stay. 11 U.S.C. 362(d). That relief need not necessarily be termination of the automatic stay: it can take the form of modifying or conditioning the automatic stay. Id. The tentative ruling is that, because Beverly itself would have to take time to market and sell the Property (if it were to attempt to maximize value and not risk its own recovery), Beverly will be adequately protected by providing Debtor with time in which to do the same.

(3) Amount of time to market and sell the property

The tentative ruling is to set deadlines of (a) 2/28/20 for Debtor to file and serve an application to employ a real estate agent for the Property, (b) 4/24/20 for Debtor to file and serve a motion under 11 U.S.C. 363(b) and (f) to sell the Property, subject to overbids, (c) 5/19/20 for a hearing (and auction, if there are any overbidders), and (d) 6/23/20 to close the sale (either to the winning bidder or a backup bidder) and pay Beverly out of escrow. If Debtor fails to meet those deadlines, the tentative ruling is that Beverly would be authorized to file and serve a declaration of default and lodge a proposed order terminating the automatic stay.

Meanwhile, the tentative ruling is to monitor Debtor's progress by setting a continued hearing on this motion to the same time as the continued status conference (see calendar no. 23, 2/18/20 at 1:00 p.m.).

(4) 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(2)

The tentative ruling is that for purposes of section 362(d)(2)(A) (whether Debtor has any equity in the Property) this Court must take into account the IRS lien (Claim No.7-1) of $64,423.96 as of the petition date (id. at PDF pp.2&4-10), plus postpetition interest of 5% for the current calculation. This Court notes that the IRS claim is secured by any property owned by Debtor, but there is no evidence that equity in any other property will decrease the amount of this claim.

The result would be that under Beverly's valuation Debtor would have no equity in the property, but under Debtor's valuation he would have some equity. Because the burden of proof is on Beverly on this issue (11 U.S.C. 362(g)(1)), the tentative ruling is that on the present record Beverly has not established an entitlement to relief under section 362(d)(2). All rights are reserved for Beverly to continue seeking to establish that element with additional evidence, and for Debtor to oppose any such evidence.

Tentative Ruling for 10/1/19:

Grant the motion (docket no. 19) on an interim basis, subject to the conditions set forth below, with a final hearing on 10/29/19 at 1:00 p.m., and a deadline of 10/3/19 for the movant to file and serve a notice of the final hearing provided that service on all persons with a potential interest in Debtor's cash must be served in strict compliance with Rule 7004 (Fed.R.Bankr.P.) - see the posted Procedures of Judge Bason (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov).
Appearances required.

As to the cash that allegedly is collateral of Beverly Partners, LLC, continue this hearing pursuant to its stipulation with the debtor (dkt.31) and this Court's order thereon. As to all properties/sources of cash, Debtor must segregate cash so that there is no commingling.

Judge Bason's standard conditions for use of cash collateral and/or postpetition financing (by creditors holding prepetition claims)

(1) Written order

(a) Form. Use local form

F2081-1.1.ORDER.CASH.COLLATERAL or the equivalent. Attach a copy of this tentative ruling as an exhibit, thereby adopting it as the written ruling of this Court, subject to any changes ordered at the hearing. Do not repeat the terms set forth in the motion or any stipulation. Incorporate those terms by reference (including the docket number of the document), subject to any modification by this Court.

(b) Timing. Lodge the proposed order within 7 days after the hearing. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(2) Minimum adequate protection

In addition to the postpetition security interests that are automatically provided pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 552 (e.g., in traceable proceeds and profits), and subject to any more comprehensive protection that may be included in the motion or related papers, Debtor shall provide at least the following protection to any creditor with a security interest in the subject property (pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 361-364, as applicable):

(a) Insurance. For all collateral of a type that typically is insured

(e.g., real property and improvements), Debtor is directed to maintain insurance in a dollar amount at least equal to Debtor's good faith estimate of the value of such creditor's interest in the collateral, and such insurance shall name such creditor as an additional insured. Debtor is directed to remain current on payments for such insurance.

(b) Taxes. Debtor is directed to remain current on payments on account of postpetition real estate taxes (to the extent that real estate is part of the collateral).

(c) Disclosures/access. Debtor is directed to provide, upon such creditor's reasonable request, periodic accountings of the foregoing insurance and tax obligations and payments, as well as postpetition proceeds, products, offspring, or profits from the collateral, including gross revenues and expenses and a calculation of net revenues, including any rents and any fees, charges, accounts, or other payments for the use or occupancy of rooms and other public facilities in lodging properties (as all of the foregoing terms are used in 11 U.S.C. 552). Debtor is directed to provide appropriate documentation of those accountings, and access for purposes of inspection or appraisal.

(3) Limitation on postpetition liens

In the event that the motion or related papers seek authority to grant postpetition liens to the creditor(s) with respect to prepetition debts any such liens shall be limited to the same validity, priority, and amount as prepetition liens. As used herein, the "validity, priority, and amount" or any similar phrase that may be used by the parties or this Court is deemed to include the following:

(a) Extent. Such liens shall be limited to the type of collateral in which the creditor held a security interest as of the petition date, unless this order expressly states that the liens granted by this order are intended to attach to different types of collateral from the prepetition collateral. For example, if prepetition liens extended to inventory and accounts receivable but not equipment then postpetition liens are likewise limited (unless otherwise expressly provided by order of this Court). In addition, postpetition liens shall not extend to the proceeds of any avoidance actions, any recoveries under 11 U.S.C. 506(c), or any "carveout" under 11 U.S.C. 552.

(b) Priority. Such liens shall be limited to the same priority as the security interest held by the creditor as of the petition date.

(c) Dollar amount. Such liens shall be limited to the dollar amount needed to protect the creditor against diminution in the value of the secured claims as of the petition date.

(d) Enforceability. Such liens shall be limited to the extent that the creditor's security interests were duly perfected and valid as of the petition date, and to the extent that they are unavoidable.

(e) Automatic postpetition perfection. Any automatic perfection of such liens shall be subject to any applicable limitations regarding the Court's authority, jurisdiction, or due process.

(4) Automatic disapproval of insufficiently disclosed provisions

Any provision of the type listed in FRBP 4001(c)(1)(B) or in local form F4001-2 (e.g., cross-collateralization) or any waiver of the "equities of the case" exception in 11 U.S.C. 552(b)(2) shall be deemed automatically disapproved and excepted from any order granting the motion, notwithstanding any other provision of such order, unless either: (a) such provision is specifically and prominently disclosed in the motion papers in a checklist (such as local form F4001-2), or alternatively (b) such provision is specifically identified in any proposed order granting the motion, using terminology of the type used in FRBP 4001(c)(1)(B) or local form F4001-2 (e.g., any "cross-collateralization" that is not specifically identified as such is deemed to be disapproved).

(5) Disputes

In the event of any disputes regarding the rulings in this order, the parties are directed to meet and confer and, if they cannot resolve their disputes consensually, contact Judge Bason's chambers to arrange a mutually convenient time for either a telephonic or in-person hearing to address such disputes.

Deny Debtor's ex parte application, for the reasons set forth in the opposition, and because this appears to be a self-created emergency. Debtor was required to file and serve a motion to sell the property no later than 4/24/20. Dkt. 94, PDF p. 7. (c) Deadline for filing a plan

11 U.S.C. 1189(b) provides

The debtor shall file a plan not later than 90 days after the order for relief under this chapter, except that the court may extend the period if the need for the extension is attributable to circumstances for which the debtor should not justly be held accountable.

As the order for relief in this case was entered on 8/30/19, Debtor's plan would have needed to be filed by 11/28/19. However, Debtor cannot "justly" be held accountable for his failure to file a plan by that date, as the above referenced code section did not become effective until 2/19/20.

The parties are directed to address what deadline this Court should set for Debtor to file a plan. The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 7/15/20, subject to adjustment depending on developments with the current pandemic situation.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 8/30/19. The petition was amended to elect Subchapter V on 4/6/20 (see dkt. 111).

(a) Bar date: 12/13/19 (see Order, dkt. 28, timely served, dkt. 89 & 90)

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: TBD. Debtor must use the forms required by Judge Bason (DO NOT SERVE yet, except on the U.S. Trustee - this Court will set a deadline and procedures at a later time).

(1) Current issues

(a) Beverly's motion for relief from automatic stay (dkt. 47); Debtor's opposition (dkt. 50); Beverly's reply (dkt. 53)

Continue to the same date and time as the continued status conference. Reasons: This Court's posted tentative ruling prior to the hearing scheduled for 12/10/19 (reproduced below) was not contested, and therefore it was adopted as this Court's ruling. The ruling was: "to continue this hearing to 12/17/19 at 1:00 p.m., with a deadline of 12/11/19 for Beverly to [i] serve all

(b) Cash collateral motion (dkt.13, 19, 26, 31, 32, 42, 43, 55, 61)
Grant on a final basis.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 8/30/19.

(a) Bar date: 12/13/19 (see Order, dkt.28, which might or might not have been served properly, see Order, dkt.63)

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: TBD. Debtor must use the forms required by Judge Bason (DO NOT SERVE yet, except on the U.S. Trustee - this Court will set a deadline and procedures at a later time).

(c) Continued status conference: 1/28/20 at 1:00 p.m. No written status report is required.

*Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 12/10/19:

Appearances are not required. on 12/10/19, but Debtor and Beverly Partners, LLC ("Beverly") are directed, well ahead of the continued hearing date set forth below, to take whatever steps are necessary or appropriate to address the issues set forth below (e.g., correcting service and/or proofs of service, lodging proposed order(s), filing corrected MORs, etc.).

(1) Current issues

(a) Beverly's motion for relief from automatic stay (dkt. 47); Debtor's opposition (dkt. 50); Beverly's reply (dkt. 53)

included in Debtor's "list filed under Rule 1007(d)" (as required by Rule 4001(a)(1), Fed. R. Bankr. P.). See dkt. 1. The tentative ruling is to continue this hearing to 12/17/19 at 1:00 p.m., with a deadline of 12/11/19 for Beverly to serve all required persons with notice of the continued hearing, and file a proof of service.

(b) Cash collateral motion (dkt.19)

No proposed order has been lodged - at the hearing on 10/1/19 this Court directed counsel to lodge a proposed order granting the motion on an interim basis and attaching (and adopting) a copy of this Court's tentative ruling for that date (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov). In addition, Debtor did not file and serve a notice of the final hearing by 10/3/19. In addition, any such service would have to be in compliance with the applicable rules for service, as stated in that adopted tentative ruling.

The current tentative ruling is (i) to direct counsel, again, to lodge a proposed order granting the motion on an interim basis through the conclusion of the final hearing, (ii) to set a final hearing for the same date and time as the continued status conference (see below), and (iii) to set a deadline of 12/11/19 for Debtor to file and serve notice of the final hearing in compliance with the applicable rules for service.

(c) Proof of service of bar date order (dkt.28)

Debtor's counsel has had trouble with service of this order and/or proving that it was served as required. See dkt. 35,36,37. Even the latest, second amended proof of service (dkt.37) is inadequate in that it fails to state who actually served the order and when they did so. Implicitly, the person who signed the proof of service, Paulina Buitron, is the person who actually deposited the envelopes in the U.S. mail, and that was done sometime between 9/30/19, when the order was supposed to have been served, and 10/3/19, when the proof of service was filed, but the declaration does not actually say so. In addition, at the hearing on 10/1/19 this Court directed Debtor's counsel to double-check that all creditors had in fact been served and, if not, to apply for an order setting a supplemental bar date as to any creditors who have not been served.

The tentative ruling is to excuse what appears to be untimely service of the bar date order by a few days, and set a deadline of 12/11/19 (i) for Debtor's counsel to file a third amended proof of service of the bar date order, using the local form (mandatory for all motions) (see Local Form F9013-3.1.PROOF.SERVICE), (ii) to lodge a proposed order excusing the untimely service of the bar date order, with a copy of this tentative ruling attached, and (iii) if necessary, apply for a supplemental bar date for any creditors who were not served with the bar date order, and lodge a proposed supplemental bar date order.

(d) Debtor's Monthly Operating Reports ("MORs")

Debtor appears to be having trouble complying with his obligations as a debtor in possession, including not paying prepetition debts. In addition, the October MOR (dkt.49) appears to show losses from most of Debtor's various businesses, and perilously low bank balances, even with the reduced dollar amount of the adequate protection payments to Beverly (less than the ongoing interest obligation). In addition, there is an internal inconsistency about postpetition adequate protection and/or lease payments: the October MOR (dkt.49, at PDF p.57 of 61) lists "0" postpetition payments not made (i.e., Debtor allegedly is postpetition current), but then the same table lists "Total Due" postpetition amounts of many thousands of dollars - which is it? Is Debtor postpetition current in payments to secured creditors and/or lessors, or not?

The tentative ruling is to direct Debtor (i) to confer with the Office of the United States Trustee and file whatever corrected MORs are necessary or appropriate, and (ii) to be prepared to address the foregoing issues at the continued status conference.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 8/30/19.

(a) Bar date: 12/13/19 (see Order, dkt.28; see above)

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: TBD. Debtor must use the forms required by Judge Bason (DO NOT SERVE yet, except on the U.S. Trustee - this Court will set a deadline and procedures at a later time).

(c) Continued status conference: 12/17/19 at 1:00 p.m. (short continuance because Beverly's motion for relief from the automatic stay should be addressed soon). No written status report is required.

*Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

Grant (subject to this Court's standard conditions, see calendar no.1, 10/1/19 at 1:00 p.m.), provided that Debtor must address why this motion was not self-calendared for hearing until over a month after the petition date, and whether, meanwhile, has Debtor (i) been using cash collateral without authorization (in violation of 11 U.S.C. 363(c)) or (ii) not been using cash collateral, and hence failing to pay ordinary and necessary business and personal expenses, in violation of Debtor's duties to pay postpetition debts as they come due and preserve and maximize the value of the bankruptcy estate. 11 U.S.C. 1107(a) and 1108, and 28 U.S.C. 959(b). The tentative ruling is that, although this is not yet sufficient cause for appointment of a chapter 11 trustee or other remedies, it may factor into consideration of any such remedies in future.

Tentative Ruling for 9/24/19:

Appearances required by counsel for Debtor(s) and by Debtor himself.

(1) Current issues

(a) Budget Motion

Debtor's status report incorrectly states that a budget motion is not required by the presiding judge's procedures. Dkt. 20, p.3. See posted Procedures of Judge Bason (available at cacb.uscourts.gov) (the "Bason Procedures") Section VII.G. In addition, a budget motion appears to be particularly important in this case because most of Debtor's income and expenses are effectively hidden and/or mis-reported.

Debtor's Bankruptcy Schedule I reports that he is an interior designer/hair stylist (dkt.22, at PDF p.27), his Statement Of Financial Affairs ("SOFA") lists various "dba" enterprises that might or might not reflect other business ventures, and Debtor apparently rents out some of his properties using Airbnb, but there is no breakdown of any of this. Contrary to the instructions on line 8a of Schedule I, debtor lists only a total net dollar amount for all businesses/properties combined - $22,598.00 per month - and fails to attach a statement for each business/property showing gross receipts, ordinary and necessary business expenses, and the calculation of net income. Also, in apparent contradiction of this alleged monthly net income, the SOFA (dkt. 22 at PDF p.31) lists gross income of $20,000 for the year to date (9 months), $7,875 for 2018, and $28,223 for 2017. (Perhaps Debtor listed monthly net income instead of yearly gross income - if so he must file a corrected SOFA.)

The tentative ruling is to direct Debtor to file an amended Schedule I and an amended SOFA, and to file and serve a budget motion and any other documents that are necessary or appropriate to correct the foregoing deficiencies, no later than 9/27/19.

(b) Bankruptcy Schedule G

Debtor lists no executory contracts or unexpired leases (dkt.22, at PDF p.24). What about Airbnb and/or other short-term or long-term rental arrangements? The tentative ruling is to direct Debtor to file an amended Schedule G no later than 9/27/19.

(c) Cash collateral

Even though this case was filed on 8/30/19, Debtor did not self-calendar his cash collateral motion for hearing until over a month later, on 10/1/19 at 1:00 p.m. Meanwhile, has Debtor (i) been using cash collateral without authorization (in violation of 11 U.S.C. 363(c)) or (ii) not been using cash collateral, and hence failing to pay ordinary and necessary business and personal expenses, in violation of Debtor's duties to pay postpetition debts as they come due and preserve and maximize the value of the bankruptcy estate. 11 U.S.C. 1107(a) and 1108, and 28 U.S.C. 959(b). The tentative ruling is that, although this is not yet sufficient cause for appointment of a chapter 11 trustee or other remedies, it may factor into consideration of any such remedies in future.

(d) Employment Application

The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 9/27/19 for Debtor to file and serve local form F 2014-1.STMT.DISINTERESTED.PROF in support of Debtor's application to employ Eric Bensamochan as his bankruptcy counsel (dkt. 18). See Bason Procedures Section VII.D.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 8/30/19.

(a) Bar date: 12/13/19 (DO NOT SERVE notice yet - court will prepare an order after the status conference).

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: TBD. Debtor must use the forms required by Judge Bason (DO NOT SERVE yet, except on the U.S. Trustee - this Court will set a deadline and procedures at a later time).

(1) Current issues

(a) Motion of the U.S. Trustee ("UST") to dismiss (dkt. 65, "MTD"), debtor's opposition (dkt. 86), UST's reply (dkt. 168, 170), debtor's response (dkt. 179), debtor's status report (dkt. 180), stipulation and order re pre-petition bank account (dkt. 212, 221)

At the hearing on 4/21/20, this Court's tentative ruling was to appoint a chapter 11 trustee. That tentative ruling was based on the long history of this case without progress and with many mis-steps by Debtor regarding the business of running the estate.

Briefly, Debtor has alternated between:

- (i) presenting the subject property as being almost ready to rent out as an Air-BnB (at the start of this case), or as being so extensively damaged that it cannot be used at all (in the many months thereafter);
- (ii) handling the claims-adjustment process herself (for a substantial time, without apparent progress), or belatedly hiring, without authorization, a claims adjuster (who would charge substantial fees, but whose fees would not be sufficient because the adjuster apparently contemplates hiring special counsel to represent the bankruptcy estate - all of which conceivably might be capable of being justified, but none of which has been supported despite this Court having granted continuances and set a deadline to provide supplemental information); and

(iii) proposing to refinance the subject property (but without fully paying off existing liens), or proposing to retain it, but without any apparent strategy for obtaining DIP financing, rehabilitating the property, and using it to generate income; or any other colorable business strategy for stemming the ongoing depletion of the bankruptcy estate.

In sum, if there is any viable business strategy, Debtor has given every indication of being unwilling to implement one. In addition, Debtor has used funds of the bankruptcy estate without authorization or adequate accounting, despite explanation by the United States Trustee ("UST") at the meeting of creditors (11 U.S.C. 341(a)) and the initial debtor interview ("IDI").

The foregoing issues are noted in the extensive prior tentative rulings reproduced below - see especially 10/29/19, 10/15/19, 9/24/19, and 8/20/19 - and in the filed papers of the UST and on the record at hearings. All of the foregoing appears to constitute "cause" for relief under 11 U.S.C. 1112(b), including but not limited to "(A) ... continuing loss to or diminution of the estate and the absence of a reasonable likelihood of rehabilitation, (B) gross mismanagement of the estate; ... [and] (H) failure timely to provide information ... reasonably requested by the United States trustee [regarding the filing of accurate MORs]." 11 U.S.C. 1112(b)(4). In addition, if this case were to be dismissed, the foregoing appears to constitute evidence of a willful failure to appear in proper prosecution of this case. 11 U.S.C. 109(g)(1).

Despite all of the foregoing, this Court was persuaded to continue the matter to this date. The purpose was to allow time for Debtor's proposed new counsel to substitute into the case - not because the current situation is in any way attributable to existing counsel, but instead because someone (either existing counsel or new counsel) needs to argue on Debtor's behalf, and if Debtor was in the process of switching counsel that could be awkward.

Since the last hearing this Court has issued an order (dkt. 221) approving a stipulation between Debtor and the United States Trustee permitting Debtor to continue using her trust account, subject to certain conditions. But the docket does not reflect any substitution of counsel, nor does the docket reflect any progress on all the other long-pending and critical issues noted above.

In addition, if Debtor could arrive at a viable business strategy, then she would have to propose a viable chapter 11 plan to implement that strategy and stop the running of high rates of interest (default and non-default). See Tentative Ruling for 4/7/20, part "(1)(b)" (reproduced below). The docket does not reflect any such plan, or any progress toward such a plan.

Based on the foregoing, the tentative ruling remains to appoint a chapter 11 trustee, to see if there is any viable way to reorganize this bankruptcy estate. If not, the tentative ruling is to dismiss this case with a 180 day bar under section 109(g)(1).

The UST should also be prepared to address whether there are any outstanding compliance issues.

(b) Application to employ public adjuster Asset Recovery Association dba ClaimsXP (dkt. 167, "Application"); opposition of Wilmington Savings Fund Society ("Wilmington") (dkt. 181, 182); notice of hearing (dkt. 184); Debtor's reply (dkt. 192), statement of disinterestedness (dkt. 217)

The tentative ruling is to deny this Application for lack of prosecution. At the 4/7/20 hearing, this Court ordered Debtor to file a declaration(s) with an update on the projected repair costs. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, Debtor still has not complied.

(c) Contemplated motion to approve settlement with Wilmington Savings Fund ("Wilmington")

At the 4/7/20 hearing, this Court orally shortened time for Debtor to file a contemplated motion to approve a settlement with Wilmington that would resolve the parties' default interest, late fees, and other charges dispute, but set a deadline of 4/14/20 for Debtor to file and serve the motion. On 4/13/20, Debtor filed an ex parte application requesting modification of the filing and service deadlines (dkt. 203), which this Court treated as an application for hearing on shortened time and granted the application (dkt. 204). As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no motion is on file. Accordingly, the tentative ruling is to deny the request to shorten time, and take this matter off-calendar, without prejudice to any similar request for relief in future (by a chapter 11 trustee, or anyone else).

(1) Current issues

(a) Motion of the U.S. Trustee ("UST") to dismiss (dkt. 65, "MTD"), debtor's opposition (dkt. 86), UST's reply (dkt. 168, 170), debtor's response (dkt. 179), debtor's status report (dkt. 180)

There is no tentative ruling. The parties should be prepared to address whether this Court should appoint a chapter 11 trustee, convert this case, dismiss this case, or order other relief based on:

- (i) the UST's MTD and related papers,
- (ii) Debtor's lack of progress noted in the relief from stay orders (dkt. 173, 174),
- (iii) Debtor's apparent history of mis-starts and poor management of this estate, including a long history of missed projections about how this case would progress, an abandoned attempt to retain a professional to rent out property as an Air-bnb, the belated and unsuccessful attempts to explore a sale or refinancing of the Bel Air property, and transfers of funds without adequate explanation (as referenced in this Court's prior tentative rulings for 10/29/19, 10/15/19, and 9/24/19, reproduced below).

(b) Inadequate attempts to stop the running of default interest

An additional concern, which may bear on the MTD, is whether Debtor has made adequate attempts to stop the running of postpetition default interest payable to Patch of Land Lending, LLC ("Patch"). The tentative ruling is that she has not.

From the inception of this bankruptcy case this Court has raised concerns that default interest, late fees, and other charges are consuming any equity in the Bel Air property at a rapid rate. On 8/13/19 this Court issued an order conditionally continuing the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(c) (3) and setting a deadline of 11/12/19 for Debtor to "file a motion to refinance the Bel Air Road property, or file a realistic plan of reorganization, or otherwise file appropriate papers aimed at stopping the running of postpetition default interest owed to Patch [of Land Lending]." Dkt. 31, Ex.1, p.1, item "(ii)" (emphasis added). Debtor filed a motion challenging the validity of Patch's assertion that it is entitled to default interest and late fees under 11 U.S.C. 506(b) (the "Default Interest Motion," dkt. 123). That is insufficient, for two reasons.

First, it is not enough to file the Default Interest Motion without prosecuting it. The hearing on that motion has been continued several times (dkt. 129, 133, 141) with the current hearing set to be heard 5/5/20 at 1:00 p.m. (dkt. 164).

Second, the Default Interest Motion has the effect of gambling that Debtor will prevail in her attempt to establish that no default interest is owed - an uphill battle that might well fail - rather than stopping the running of whatever interest turns out to be owed. See, e.g., East West Bank v. Altadena Lincoln Crossing, LLC, 598 B.R. 633 (C.D. Cal. 2019) (allowing default interest). This distinction is further explained below.

As a preliminary matter, it is helpful to recognize the different periods in which default interest may accrue:

Three categories of interest exist in bankruptcy cases: (1) interest accrued prior to the filing of the bankruptcy petition (prepetition interest); (2) interest accrued after the filing of a petition but prior to the effective date of a reorganization plan (pendency interest); and (3) interest to accrue under the terms of a reorganization plan (plan interest). ...

Generally, the Code does not provide for pendency interest to creditors, because the filing of the petition usually stops interest from accruing. Section 506(b), however, provides an exception for oversecured creditors:

To the extent that an allowed secured claim is secured by property the value of which, after any recovery under subsection (c) of this section, is greater than the amount of such claim, there shall be allowed to the holder of such claim, interest on such claim, and any reasonable fees, costs, or charges provided for under the agreement or State statute under which such claim arose. [11 U.S.C. 506(b) (emphasis added).]

Thus, an oversecured creditor can recover pendency interest as part of its allowed claim, at least to the extent it is oversecured. Any accumulated pendency interest determined under § 506(b) is added to the allowed claim of an oversecured creditor and then paid pursuant to the terms of the confirmed plan with plan interest determined under § 1129(b)(2)(A)(i)(II). [In re Beltway One Dev. Group, LLC, 547 B.R. 819, 826 (9th Cir. BAP 2016) (emphasis added, citations omitted).]

There are only three ways that occur to this Court to stop the running of pendency default interest.

(i) A sale under section 363

Debtor could sell the Bel Air property under 11 U.S.C. 363. That is only a partial remedy because it does not stop the running of pendency default interest before the proceeds are distributed. GECC v. Future Media, 547 F.3d 956 (9th Cir. 2008). But at least from that point forward it would stop the ongoing accrual of pendency default interest.

Unfortunately, a section 363 sale appears to be precluded because Debtor reports that any sale of the Bel Air property would result in capital gains taxes estimated at roughly $1 million. Dkt.159, p.17:1-4. In other words, the cure might be worse than the disease.

(ii) Refinancing the debt

Debtor attempted to refinance Patch's debt, but not fully. Patch objected, and this Court denied Debtor's refinancing motion. Debtor has not presented any alternative refinancing proposal. So this alternative appears to be unavailable.

(iii) Plan confirmation

The last way known to this Court to stop the running of pendency default interest is to confirm a plan that restructures the debt to Patch and reduces the interest rate. As with the other alternatives, this is only a partial remedy because it does not stop the running of pendency interest before the effective date of the plan. But at least it stops the accrual of default interest going forward.

An added benefit of confirming a plan used to be available under some decisions in the Ninth Circuit: retroactively eliminating all pendency default interest. See Beltway One, 547 B.R. 819, 826-28 (discussing In re Entz-White Lumber & Supply, Inc., 850 F.2d 1338 (9th Cir. 1988), and subsequent lower court decisions). But more recent guidance from the Court of Appeals has been interpreted to mean that pendency interest is not eliminated unless the claim is left unimpaired - i.e., unless all defaults in un-matured long-term debt are cured, or matured debt is paid in full on the effective date. See Beltway One, 547 B.R. 819, 826-28 (interpreting Future Media, 547 F.3d 956).

This Court expresses no opinion on these issues except to note that they exist. The point is that, at the very least, it appears that confirmation of a plan would provide a partial remedy because it would stop the ongoing running of pendency default interest, and replace it with plan interest going forward.

(iv) Conclusion as to default interest

Why has Debtor not attempted to move forward with a plan of reorganization to address the default interest?

(c) Application to employ public adjuster Asset Recovery Association dba ClaimsXP (dkt. 167, "Application"); opposition of Wilmington Savings Fund Society ("Wilmington") (dkt. 181, 182); notice of hearing (dkt. 184); Debtor's reply (dkt. 192)

There is no tentative ruling. Debtor should be prepared to provide this Court with an update on the 4/1/20 AIG inspection (dkt. 192, Bordon decl., para. 7) and AIG's response, if any, to the adjusted insurance claim of $454,717.11 (id., para.6). Wilmington should be prepared to address under what conditions it would support employment of ClaimsXP (or any other adjuster).

If this Court is persuaded to grant the Application and authorize some form of employment of ClaimsXP retroactively to 1/7/20, employment will be subject to Judge Bason's standard employment terms (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov). Additionally, any employment will be subject to the filing of a satisfactory statement of disinterestedness as required by the posted Procedures of Judge Bason (id.) by 4/10/20.

If appearances are required, and you fail to appear without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 12/10/19:

Appearances are not required on 12/10/19.

(1) Current issues

(a) Totaro & Shanahan's (the "Firm") 1st interim fee application (dkt. 111) (the "Fee Application"); UST's objection (dkt. 114); Patch of Land Lending, LLC's ("Patch") limited objection (dkt. 115); the Firm's reply (dkt. 121), Firm's supplemental declaration (dkt. 128)

In view of the Firm's supplemental declaration and the absence of any supplemental responses from the UST or Patch, the tentative ruling is to approve fees of $54,010 and expenses of $0.00 on an interim basis, for a total award of $54,010, but no payment may be made absent further order of this Court.

Proposed order: The Firm is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby adopting it as this Court's final ruling, subject to any changes ordered at the hearing. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(1) Current issues

(a) Motion of the U.S. Trustee ("UST") to dismiss (dkt. 65), debtor's opposition (dkt. 86), no reply is on file

There is no tentative ruling, but Debtor is directed to address the thousands of dollars of unauthorized payments to "Independent Contractor[s]" Ofir Engel and L. Napolitano, "McCarthy Construction," and cash withdrawals, as well as the other issues raised by the UST. Debtor is also directed to address what progress, if any, has been made on insurance claims, AirBnB arrangements, refinancing or selling the Bel Air and Sweetzer properties, and other aspects of this bankruptcy case.

(b) Application to employ Totaro & Shanahan (the "Firm") (dkt. 63) (the "Employment Application"), Statement of disinterestedness (dkt. 100), UST Objection (dkt. 90), the Firm's errata (dkt. 97)

(1) Current issues

(a) UST's motion to dismiss (dkt. 65), debtor's opposition (dkt. 86), no reply is on file

There is no tentative ruling. The parties should be prepared to address whether debtor has cured all outstanding compliance issues, and whether Debtor's second corrected opposition continues to have error(s) in calculating projected cash flow. That opposition lists net income before personal expenses for "Oct-19" and "Nov-19" as -5,850.00, but then after personal expenses of $1,751.00 for each month it lists "excess income" of $34,900.00. Dkt.94, Ex.1, at PDF pp.8-9. If the spreadsheet is wrong about those numbers, can creditors and this Court rely on the rest of Debtor's projections?

by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Tentative Ruling for 9/24/19:

Appearances required. The Court has reviewed the Debtor's status report (dkt. 69).

(1) Current issues

In addition to addressing the general status of this case, the following issues will be addressed.

(a) Motion of Alliance for Relief From Automatic Stay (dkt. 40)

There is no tentative ruling. The parties should be prepared to advise this Court on whether they will agree to an adequate protection order and the proposed $50,000 loan from Complete Business Solutions Group ("Complete") (dkt.69, p.2:21-25). The parties also should be prepared to address whether shortened time or other special procedures are requested regarding any proposed lending. See 11 U.S.C. 364; Rules 4001(c) & 9006(c)(2) (Fed. R. Bankr. P.).

(b) Contemplated contract with Majestic Ventures LLC dba VacationHomes365.com ("Consultant") re marketing (Airbnb etc.)

Debtor is contemplating a contract with Consultant for marketing services. Dkt.69, Ex.2. As that contract points out (id., sec.7.2, p.44), Debtor is responsible for complying with legal obligations regarding short term rentals, and associated costs, including local taxes.

The parties should be prepared to address whether Consultant is a "professional" within the meaning of 11 U.S.C. 327; whether approval of the contract with Consultant is required under that section or section 363(b); and whether shortened time or other special procedures are requested regarding any proposed agreement with Consultant. See 11 U.S.C. 327, 363(b); Rules 2002(a)(2) & 9006(c)(2) (Fed. R. Bankr. P.).

(c) Termination of prior real estate agent

Debtor reports (dkt. 69, para.3) that the previously authorized real estate agent has agreed to cancel the listing. Is that in writing? Will Debtor need any order related to that cancellation/termination? What assurance is there that this prior agent will not seek some sort of compensation?

Tentative Ruling for 8/20/19:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor and by debtor herself.

(1) Current issues

(a) Airbnb

Debtor's budget motion (dkt. 37, Ex.A, p.2) reveals that, although the Sweetzer property is "listed to be sold," meanwhile "Debtor intends to rent [that property] as an Airbnb." The tentative ruling is that this is a transaction out of the ordinary course, which requires notice, an opportunity for a hearing, and approval by this Court. 11 U.S.C. 363(b). Has Debtor already acted on this intent, without such approval?

In addition, this Court is concerned about (i) whether Airbnb rental would be in compliance with any local permitting and zoning requirements and is otherwise permissible, (ii) whether that proposed use might expose the bankruptcy estate to liabilities, (iii) whether there is adequate insurance for that use of the property, and (iv) whether the proposed sale of the property is consistent with any agreement with Airbnb.

(b) Real estate agent.

The employment application (dkt. 26, p.4:1-4) states that Agent has agreed to disclose to Debtor [i.e., only to Debtor? how about disclosure to creditors, the US Trustee, and this Court?] any agency relationship Agent has with other parties ("Third Parties") that may be part of a real estate transaction for the sale of the Real Property i.e., dual agency? that is prohibited by the posted Procedures of Judge Bason (available at [www.cacb.uscourts.gov)] as well as the amount of any compensation Agent receives from Agent's relationship with any Third Parties [i.e., splitting the commission with a cooperating agent from a different real estate agency? or something else?].

(1) Current issues

(b) Debtor's Motion to Strike (dkt. 605, 606)

The tentative ruling is to grant in part the Motion to Strike, in so far as it objects to the portions of the LA Fire response (dkt. 602, p.1:6-19, p.2:1-7, p.6:5-7) and City response (dkt. 603, pp.2:27-5:16) that do not address the Creditor Trust Agreement, for the reasons stated in the Motion to Strike and the following additional reason. The tentative ruling is that excusing non-compliance with this Court's deadlines would unduly prejudice Debtor's former employees who hold priority wage claims, and other creditors who are in need of distributions and who have already had to wait for the complex issues in this bankruptcy case to be litigated and resolved.

The tentative ruling is to deny in part the Motion to Strike as to arguments raised re the Creditor Trust Agreement, because Debtor filed the 2d Supplement (dkt. 596) that included the Creditor Trust Agreement one week prior to the confirmation hearing. Therefore LA Fire and City is would not be reasonable to expect that they would have raised any issues they had with the Creditor Trust Agreement sooner than they did.

(b) Debtor's Second Amended Plan (the "Plan," dkt. 562), Second Amended Disclosure Statement (the "Disclosure Statement," dkt. 563), first Supplement (the "1st Supplement," dkt. 578), Cathay Bank's Response to the Plan (the "Cathay Response," dkt. 581), Objections Of The City Of Monrovia ("City") to the Plan (dkt. 583), Debtor's second Supplement (the "2d Supplement," dkt. 596), Debtor's reply (dkt. 598, 599, 601), Los Angeles County Fire Department ("LA Fire") response to 2d Supplement (dkt.602), City's response to Debtor's reply (dkt.603), and Debtor's third Supplement (the "3rd Supplement," dkt. 609)

The tentative ruling is to (i) approve the Disclosure Statement (dkt. 563) on a final basis, (ii) confirm Debtor's Plan (dkt. 562) as modified by the 1st Supplement (dkt. 578) and the 3rd Supplement (dkt. 609) (including removal of Section 8.2(a)(ii) of the Plan, dkt. 562, p.26:3-8), and (iii) approve the amended Creditor Trust Agreement (dkt. 609, Ex. A), provided that any waiver of conflicts of interest in section V.B.2. of thereof (dkt.609, Ex.A, p.12) shall be subject to the following limitations. First, such waiver of conflicts shall not include any conflicts that are non-waivable under applicable nonbankruptcy law or ethical rules. Second, such waiver of conflicts is further limited to those potential or actual conflicts that typically arise in such liquidating trusts, including for example, the fact that potential conflicts might arise because, in assisting in the administration of the Trust, the professionals (A) are also assisting in recovery of funds from which to pay their own fees, and (B) typically are seeking recovery from individual creditors notwithstanding that the Trust is for the collective benefit of all creditors (see Recital "D", dkt.609, Ex.A, p.5). In addition, the tentative ruling is to set a post-confirmation status conference as set forth below.

The foregoing tentative ruling includes overruling the objections of the City and LA Fire, except to the extent of the modifications made by Debtor in response to those objections. Without limiting the immediately preceding sentence, the tentative ruling is to overrule LA Fire's objection that the Creditor Trust's indemnification and hold-harmless provisions cannot apply to governmental units or criminal liability (see dkt.602, pp.5:1-6:7) because

The tentative ruling is to accept City's latest responses in view of the fact that the 2d Supplement was only recently filed. In addition, the tentative ruling is (x) to sustain City's objections in part and overrule them in part, and

(y) continue this confirmation hearing to the same date as the continued status conference, for the reasons set forth below.

(i) The tentative ruling is that City has not established that Debtor is holding its alleged funds in trust

City argues that the Plan should not be confirmed because Debtor holds approximately $400,000 in trust for City (the "City Funds"), based on the parties' contractual agreement for advanced life support services, but the Plan treats those funds as part of the estate and City's claim as an unsecured claim. Dkt. 583, pp.2-5. Debtor's reply argues that the language from the parties' agreement is insufficient to create an express trust under California law (dkt. 598, p.1:9-14), that there was no meeting on minds or performance consistent with any such trust (id. at p.2:3-28), and that City is barred by waiver or laches. Id. at pp.4:17-7:8. The tentative ruling is not to reach those issues because the following issue is dispositive of this particular objection.

Debtor provides evidence that City's alleged funds were commingled with the funds that were collected for other localities and therefore, debtor argues, even if the parties' intent was to create a trust fund, City has not met its burden of establishing any actual trust fund, including any tracing of the funds at issue. Dkt.598, pp.3:3-4:14. City has not presented any contrary evidence, or any authority establishing that it can assert a trust absent segregated funds. The tentative ruling is that Debtor is correct.

In sum, the City has not established any actual trust fund that would let it come ahead of other creditors, and be paid 100% of what it is owed while other creditors, whose own situations are also empathetic, receive little or nothing. Therefore the tentative ruling is to overrule this objection to confirmation.

(ii) The tentative ruling is that more notice and possible re-balloting and/or amendment of proposed releases and other terms are required

City's objection argues that the Plan should not be confirmed because it has not been proposed in good faith as required by Section 1129(a)(3). Dkt. 583, p.5:20-23. City puts forth various arguments for why "Debtor's bad faith is evident," but one of those arguments essentially repeats the "trust fund" issue addressed above so it will not be separately addressed. For the same reasons, City argues that certain releases should not apply, either generally or as against City. See dkt. 583, p.5:14-15.

(A) The Plan is incomplete

City argues that as of the deadline for objecting to the Plan it was incomplete. Dkt. 583, p.5:24. That is accurate. Section 4.1 of the Plan provides for the establishment of a Creditor Trust to administer Debtor's assets, but the Plan does not include a copy of the Creditor Trust Agreement. See dkt. 562, p.18, para. 4.1; dkt. 562, p.24, Ex. 1; dkt. 583 p.6:2-9.

The tentative ruling is that, now that the 2d Supplement has been filed (on 4/14/20, dkt.596) and now that this Court can assess its provisions, those provisions require additional disclosure - a supplement to the Disclosure Statement. In addition, the tentative ruling is that the terms of the 2d Supplement require re-balloting, an opportunity to object, and/or withdrawal of those provisions.

(B) Leslie McNeal as trustee of the Creditor Trust

City argues that the Plan has been proposed in bad faith because it entrusts the Creditor Trust to Leslie McNeal, an insider of the Debtor who previously failed to fulfill fiduciary trust obligations. Dkt. 583, p.5:24-27; p.6:20-26. Debtor responds Leslie McNeal is Debtor's officer and principal with the most experience and knowledge about Debtor's billing and collections, and so it is necessary and appropriate that Leslie McNeal serve as trustee for the Creditor Trust. Dkt. 598, p.8:3-7.

The tentative ruling is that making Leslie McNeal trustee, with little or no opportunity for oversight or removal by creditor/beneficiaries, is not sufficiently justified. Accordingly, absent more control by creditor/beneficiaries, the tentative ruling is to sustain the objection. But the tentative ruling is to provide an opportunity for Debtor to amend the trust agreement to address this issue.

(C) Treatment of the Schaefer Trust

City argues that the Plan unfairly advantages the Schaefer Trust loans over other claims. Dkt. 583, pp.5:28-6:1; p.7:2-14. City argues that given that Debtor obtained the secured loans from the Schaefer Trust weeks before filing the bankruptcy petition, and now Debtor proposes to pay the Schaefer Trust ahead of City, this Court should at a minimum disregard acceptance of the Plan by the Schaefer Trust, or subordinate or recharacterize the secured claims to Class 4 unsecured creditors. Dkt. 583, p.7:2-22. Debtor's reply argues that the treatment of the Schaefer Trust is fair in light of the considerable funds loaned to Debtor, and the concessions the Schaefer Trust made to allow Debtor to propose a feasible plan. Dkt. 598, pp.6:10-p.7:23.

The tentative ruling is that City's objection is not persuasive on the issue of paying the Schaefer Trust ahead of City. As described above, as City has not established that Debtor was holding any of its funds in trust, and City has not established that is entitled to treatment other than as an unsecured creditor. Therefore it is reasonable, and in fact required by the Bankruptcy Code, that Debtor to propose to pay a secured claim ahead of City's unsecured claim.

But, to the extent that City is arguing that the broad releases provided to the Schaefer Trust are inappropriate, this Court requires more information as set forth below.

(D) Broad releases

As pointed out in City's objection, the Plan provides for broad releases. Dkt. 583, p.4:23. In its reply, Debtor argues that the releases provided to the Schaefer Trust were "an important factor and consideration for its agreement to subordinate its claims" and to "provide any funds necessary to ensure payment in full to administrative and priority claimants." Dkt. 598, p.7:17-22.

Section 8.2(a)(ii) of the Plan provides in relevant part

... all parties in interest in this Chapter 11 Case shall be deemed to have released all of the Released Claims against the following Entities: the Debtor, the Creditor Trust and the Professionals, and against each and every one of their present and former directors, officers, employees, professionals, agents, equity holders, shareholders, members, trustees, beneficiaries, representatives, attorneys, advisors, successors and assigns. [Dkt. 562, p.26:3-8 (emphasis added)]

Section 1.65 of the Plan defines "Released Claims" as follows

Released Claims means, except as otherwise provided herein, all Claims, debts, demands, actions, causes of action, suits, accounts, covenants, contracts, agreements, promises, damages, claims and liabilities whatsoever, known or unknown, associated with the Debtor, the Estate, or the Chapter 11 Case, existing on the Confirmation Date or which thereafter could arise based on any act, fact, transaction, cause, matter, or thing that occurred prior to the Confirmation Date, with the exception of the following ... (iii) Claims arising from the fraud, willful misconduct, or gross negligence of any Person ... [Dkt. 562, p.8:15-23 (emphasis added)]

Section 8.2(a)(i) of the Plan largely mirrors the release language from Section 8.2(a)(ii) quoted above, but instead it is the Debtor and the Estate who are deemed to release all Released Claims with some exceptions. See dkt. 562, p.25:25-28. While the releases provided in Section 8.2(a)(i) might be permissible, Section 8.2(a)(ii) appears to provide for third party releases which is not permissible under Ninth Circuit case law. See In re Lowenschuss, 67 F.3d 1394, 1401-02 (9th Cir. 1995) ("This court has repeatedly held, without exception, that [Section] 524(e) precludes bankruptcy courts from discharging the liabilities of non-debtors. ... In American Hardwoods, 885 F.2d at 625-26, we explicitly rejected the argument ... that the general equitable powers bestowed upon the bankruptcy court by 11 U.S.C. [Section] 105(a) permit the bankruptcy court to discharge the liabilities of non-debtors."); see also Deocampo v. Potts, 836 F.3d 1134, 1143 (9th Cir. 2016) (reiterating Lowenschuss principles).

In addition, even for those releases that would be permissible under Ninth Circuit law - e.g., releases by Debtor and the bankruptcy estate - the tentative ruling is that Debtor must support its proposed releases just as it would for any other settlement. In other words, Debtor must show that the usual factors support granting the releases. See In re A&C Prop's, 784 F.2d 1377, 1381 (9th Cir. 1986).

The tentative ruling is to sustain City's objection insofar as denying confirmation if the proposed releases are included. But the tentative ruling is to provide Debtor with an opportunity to craft more limited release language.

(iii) Conclusion

The tentative ruling is that for the reasons set forth above, Debtor's plan cannot be confirmed today, and this confirmation hearing should be continued to the same date and time as the continued status conference. The tentative ruling is that Debtor must file and serve on all creditors appropriate briefs and/or declarations including revised language of the Plan and trust documents by no later than two weeks prior to that hearing, with any response by City or any other party in interest due no later than one week prior to that hearing.

Analysis

AC Yu Chan Holding, LLC has filed an emergency motion seeking an order extending (i) the deadline to file a plan under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(3) and (ii) the exclusive periods to file a plan of reorganization and to obtain acceptance of the debtor's plan pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 1121 and 362(d)(3) (dkt. 84, the "Extension Motion"). The tentative ruling is that, subject to any opposition at the hearing, cause exists to grant the Extension Motion on the terms set forth below.

(a) Joint administration

Three bankruptcy cases are being jointly administered: (i) In re Anthony Chan (Case No. 2:20-bk-11409-NB) ("Chan") (the lead case); In re AC Yu Chan Holding, LLC (Case No. 2:20-bk-11476-NB) ("Holding"); and In re A Touch of Brass, Inc. (2:20-bk-115550-NB) ("Brass" and collectively, the "Debtors"). The Extension Motion relates to the Holding case.

Chapter 11

This Court issued an order provisionally shortening time (the "OST," dkt.82), setting this hearing on 5/6/20 because that is the date on which Le Elegant Bath, Inc. ("Elegant") has asserted that the 90-day period of 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(3) expires. See dkt.70, p.7:20. That date appears to be based on a mistake as to when Holding filed its bankruptcy petition; but this Court did not wish to pre-judge that issue, so this Court presumed for purposes of shortening time that the 90-day period might expire on 5/6/20, and that any extension would have to be "by order entered within that 90-day period" (11 U.S.C. 362(d)(3), emphasis added). Hence, a hearing on 5/6/20 was required.

(c) Notice

The OST required service on 5/4/20 via expedited means, so as to be received by 5/5/20 at noon. Dkt.82, p.2. It appears that notice has been provided within that deadline (see dkt.85, 86, 87), and although it is not clear whether all parties who have been served via electronic means have consented to such service, the tentative ruling is that there has been sufficient notice for purposes of the limited relief granted in this tentative ruling.

(d) Cause exists to extend the deadline for Holding to file a plan

In evaluating whether there is cause to extend the deadline for Holding to file a plan of reorganization and related exclusivity deadlines, this Court first considers how much exigency exists at this time and whether Holding really is up against a deadline to file a plan.

The tentative ruling is that such exigency does exist because this Court might determine that this is a single asset real estate case ("SARE") at a hearing on 5/12/20 and that section 362(d)(3)(A) applies, even if this Court were to find that section 362(d)(3)(B) does not apply in view of Elegant's judgment lien. Although Holding raises the possibility that Elegant's lien is avoidable as a preferential transfer under section 547, it is not clear on the present record that this necessarily is so. For example, it is not clear whether Holding was insolvent as of the relevant dates required to establish a claim under section 547.

Next, this Court considers whether Holding has established sufficient cause to grant the requested extensions and the tentative ruling is that sufficient cause exists as follows. Holding represents that cause exists to extend the relevant deadlines because it intends to propose a joint plan with Chan and Brass. This appears to be sufficient cause to extend these deadlines because (i) the jointly administered Debtors may be determined to be the alter egos of each other, (ii) they might move for substantive consolidation of their cases, or (iii) a joint plan might make the most sense even absent either of the other two situations just mentioned (this Court expresses no opinion on these issues, except to note that there are reasons why Holding's case might be complicated by a joint plan, and that complication is a ground for extension).

In addition, this Court is mindful that COVID 19 presents economic and financial uncertainties that may impede the jointly administered Debtors' ability to negotiated with their creditors and prepare plan(s). This is an alternative reason why additional time appears to be appropriate.

This Court balances those concerns with Congress' intent to set a relatively short deadline to protect secured creditor's interests, and the clear language of 362(d)(3) directing that this Court "shall" grant relief from stay if Holding does not timely comply with section 362(d)(3)(A) (or, if were to apply, section 362(d)(3)(B)). But this Court is also mindful that the "relief" required by section 362(d)(3) does not necessarily mean termination of the stay, and instead Congress has left it to this Court's discretion whether to terminate, annul, modify or condition the automatic stay. These considerations are relevant, in construing the statute as a whole, both to determining what is "cause" for additional time under section 362(d)(3) and in determining whether this Court should impose any conditions on any extension of time.

The tentative ruling is to grant Holding's request for an extension to file a plan and extend the deadline to 8/7/20, but as a condition of granting such extension, this Court will require Holding to make adequate protection payments to Elegant in the form of interest only payments, calculated by applying the formula set forth in Till v. SCS Credit Corp., 541 U.S. 465 (2004). The parties should be prepared to address the appropriate calculation of such adequate protection payments.

(e) Cause exists to provisionally grant extensions of the 1121 exclusivity deadlines

Turning to Holding's request for an extension of the section 1121 exclusivity deadlines, on this record it is not as clear whether the same exigency exists as those discussed above. Therefore, the tentative ruling is provisionally to extend the exclusivity periods, such that the exclusivity

Tentative Ruling:

Grant as set forth below. Appearances are not required. If you wish to dispute the tentative ruling you must notify other parties of your intent to appear telephonically.

Pursuant to Judge Bason's COVID19 Procedures, ONLY TELEPHONIC APPEARANCES WILL BE PERMITTED until further notice. Please contact CourtCall at (888) 882-6878 to make arrangements for any telephonic appearance. There is no need to contact the Court for permission. Parties who are not represented by an attorney will be able to use CourtCall for free through 6/30/20. Proposed order: Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

The automatic stay does not apply

Grant the motion under 11 U.S.C. 362(c)(3) and (j): there is no automatic stay because (a) Debtor's prior case (#2:19-bk-15542-NB) was dismissed (on 7/22/19) within one year before this case was filed (on 11/18/19), (b) that dismissal was not under 11 U.S.C. 707(b), and (c) no finding of good faith was timely sought and obtained. The automatic stay has terminated both as to Debtor in personam and as to property of Debtor. See In re Reswick, 446 B.R. 362 (9th Cir. BAP 2011); In re Hernandez, case no. 2:11-bk-53730-NB, docket #40 (Memorandum Decision).

Chapter 7

Termination

Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (d)(2).
To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Effective date of relief

Deny the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a) (3) for lack of sufficient cause shown.

Co-debtor stay

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) has not been shown to have any basis for any different treatment from the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a), so the tentative ruling is to grant the identical relief regarding any co-debtor stay.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear telephonically without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

Relief notwithstanding future bankruptcy cases

Current issues

(a) Current status

As of the last hearing on 4/7/20, plaintiff was unsure about proceeding with this litigation. What is the current status? (Normally that would be reflected in updated status reports, and normally this Court would inquire why the parties have not filed updated status reports, but given the uncertainty of the situation at the last status conference this Court presumes that the parties have not filed updated status reports because there is no change from the prior status reports.)

Standard requirements

The following are Judge Bason's standard requirements for status conferences. (To the extent that the parties have already addressed these issues in their status report, they need not repeat their positions at the status conference.)

This Court has reviewed the parties' joint status report (adv. dkt. 9) and the other filed documents and records in this adversary proceeding.

Current issues

(a) Status Report

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, Defendant FTB has not filed a joint or unilateral status report. Why not?

The following are Judge Bason's standard requirements for status conferences. (To the extent that the parties have already addressed these issues in their status report, they need not repeat their positions at the status conference.)

(1) Venue/jurisdiction/authority.

The parties are directed to address any outstanding matters of (a) venue, (b) jurisdiction, (c) this Bankruptcy Court's authority to enter final orders or judgment(s) in this proceeding and, if consent is required, whether the parties do consent, or have already expressly or impliedly consented. See generally Stern v. Marshall, 131 S.Ct. 2594, 2608 (2011) (if litigant "believed that the Bankruptcy Court lacked the authority to decide his claim...then he should have said so – and said so promptly."); Wellness Int'l Network, Ltd. v. Sharif, 135 S.Ct. 1932 (2015) (consent must be knowing and voluntary but need not be express); *In re Bellingham Ins. (A) Preliminary issues

(1) Proof of service re another summons (adv. dkt. 16)

In response to the Defendants' argument in their Motion to Dismiss (adv. dkt. 11) that Erica Martin was not served with the Trustee's Complaint (adv. dkt. 1), the Trustee stated that Erica Martin would be served with a new summons. Adv. dkt. 15, p.3:13-15. Another summons was issued on 2/4/20 (adv. dkt. 16) and at the hearing on 2/18/20 the Trustee represented that this summons had been served; but as of the drafting of this tentative ruling, no written proof of service has been filed on the docket. The Trustee is directed to file a proof of service evidencing such service no later than 4/10/20.

(2) Allegations in the complaint (adv. dkt. 1) re Section 727

The Adversary Proceeding Cover Sheet to the Trustee's complaint checks the box for objection/revocation of discharge pursuant to Section 727. Adv. dkt. 1, PDF p.1. But the body of the complaint does not address Section 727. The Trustee is reminded in future to avoid such discrepancies.

(3) Status report

The new summons provides that the parties were required to file a joint status report no later than 14 days before this status conference (3/24/20). As of the drafting no status report has been filed. The parties are reminded of their obligation to file status reports.

(B) Standard issues

This Court has reviewed the filed documents and records in this adversary proceeding. The following are Judge Bason's standard requirements for status conferences, modified slightly to account for the fact that appearances are not required. (To the extent that the parties have already addressed these issues in their status report, they need not repeat their positions at the status conference.)

(1) Venue/jurisdiction/authority.

The parties are directed to address any outstanding matters of (a) venue, (b) jurisdiction, (c) this Bankruptcy Court's authority to enter final orders or judgment(s) in this proceeding and, if consent is required, whether the parties do consent, or have already expressly or impliedly consented. Failure to contest this tentative ruling will be construed as consent, to the extent any consent is required, or alternatively as a waiver or forfeiture. See generally Stern v. Marshall, 131 S.Ct. 2594, 2608 (2011) (if litigant "believed that the Bankruptcy Court lacked the authority to decide his claim...then he should have said so – and said so promptly."); *Wellness Int'l Network, Ltd. v. (a) Status Conference Trustee-Aston-2

The Revised Tentative Ruling for 4/7/20 in this matter provided in relevant part:

A summons was issued on 12/26/19 (adv. dkt. 2), but as of the drafting of this tentative ruling, no proof of service evidencing service of the summons and complaint has been filed. Did the Trustee timely serve the summons and complaint? If so, Trustee is directed to file a proof of service evidencing such service no later than 4/10/20. [Revised Tentative Ruling for 4/7/20, Section (A)(1)].

As of the drafting of this tentative ruling, no proof of service has been filed. The Trustee is directed to address whether the summons and complaint was timely served.

(b) Timeshare Motion for Reconsideration (TimeshareCase, dkt. 45)

The parties should be prepared to address the issues raised by (i) the Motion for Reconsideration, and (ii) this Court's order setting the Motion for Reconsideration for hearing (dkt. 46).

(3) Current issues

(a) Wyndham's Motion For Sanctions (TimeshareCase, Case No. 2:19-bk-22321-NB, dkt. 26), (see also dkt. 30, 31, 32, 36, 37, 39)

Award Wyndham/K&L Gates LLP $32,204.25 in fees and $0 in costs, payable jointly and severally by Mr. Brownstein and Mr. MacMillan (see dkt. 34, p.2:10-14) within 10 days of entry of an order granting the Sanctions Motion, for the reasons stated in the tentative ruling for calendar no. 5 (4/7/20 at 11:00 a.m.).

(b) Defendants' Motion to Dismiss Trustee's Complaint (Trustee-Adv-2, 2:19-ap-01517-NB, the "MTD," adv. dkt. 11) and Trustee's Opposition (adv. dkt. 15)

(c) Order to Show Cause (the "OSC," MacCase, Case No. 2:16-bk-21559-NB, dkt. 428)

records of prior hearings reflect continuances to assess what documents Florance belatedly produced. The docket does not reflect any further activity.

The tentative ruling is to direct Wyndham, within seven days after this hearing date, to lodge a proposed order holding Florance in contempt, but not to take any further action at this time, and to reserve jurisdiction in the event that any party in interest seeks further relief on this matter (e.g., sanctions, or evidentiary presumptions based on any failure to produce discovery). Meanwhile, the tentative ruling is to take this matter off calendar.

(d) Status Conference: Trustee-Karen-Adv (Case No. 2:19-ap-01156-NB)

At the 2/18/20 hearing, this Court continued this status conference to ensure that the order approving the parties' settlement would be issued. While an order approving the settlement was issued in the AttitudeCase (2:19-bk-10552-NB, dkt. 142), no separate order was lodged providing for dismissal of the adversary proceeding.

The tentative ruling is to continue this status conference as set forth above in section "(2)" of this tentative ruling to ensure that a proposed dismissal order is lodged by the Trustee in the Trustee-Karen-Adv. If such an order is issued, the continued hearing on this status conference will come off calendar.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear telephonically without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.

(1) Current issues

(a) Debtor's motion to void lien (dkt. 62, 63, 65, 66, 77), U.S. Bank's opposition (dkt. 79), Debtor's reply (dkt. 87) and request for judicial notice (dkt. 88)

Deny the motion for each of the alternative the reasons stated by U.S. Bank in its opposition (dkt.79), except the due process argument.

In addition, and alternatively, Debtor's passing reference in the motion papers to possible grounds for avoidance (e.g., §§ 363, 506 or 522), without citation to applicable authority or analysis as to how those sections are satisfied by the facts of this case, is insufficient to carry Debtor's burden of proof. See e.g. Hamilton v. Youngblood, 2013 Bankr. LEXIS 1025, at *12 (9th Cir. BAP Feb. 21, 2013) ("a skeletal argument does not preserve a claim").

The tentative ruling is to deny Debtor's request for judicial notice (dkt.88) because additional evidence is not permitted in reply papers, and no exception has been argued or established. In addition, Debtor has not established that the evidentiary issues for which Debtor introduces the

(1) Current issues

(a) Cash collateral & budget motions

Debtor's counsel confirms that there is a tenant in Debtor's rental property who is paying $11,000/month in rent (dkt. 39, p.1:22-2:3 & Ex.A) and that Debtor is now living with her son and contributing towards general household expenses (dkt. 47, p.2:9-15). Debtor should be prepared to address whether a cash collateral motion is necessary, in view of her receipt of rental income.

The tentative ruling is no later than 5/11/20 Debtor must file and serve (a) a cash collateral motion, if one is required, (b) a budget motion as required by the posted Procedures of Judge Bason (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov), and (c) an amended schedule G identifying the lease.

(b) Amended Bankruptcy Schedule I remains deficient (dkt. 60)

Debtor's Amended Bankruptcy Schedule I still lists rental income in line 8h, instead of line 8a, and Debtor has not complied with the 4/10/20 deadline this Court previously set for Debtor to attach a separate statement showing gross receipts, ordinary and necessary business expenses, and the total monthly net income (as expressly required by line 8a) – e.g. mortgage payments, real property taxes, insurance, maintenance. This Court notes that Amended Bankruptcy Schedule J does include an attachment that lists certain property expenses, but this is not sufficient.

The tentative ruling is that Debtor is directed to file an amended Bankruptcy Schedule I no later than 5/11/20.

(c) March Monthly Operating Report ("MOR") (dkt. 55)

Debtor's March MOR does not appear to accurately reflect Debtor's monthly income and expenses for the period from 3/9/20 to 3/31/20 or otherwise explain why more information could not be provided. The tentative ruling is that Debtor is directed to file an amended March MOR no later than 5/11/20.

(d) Application to employ special litigation counsel (dkt. 25), UST's objection (dkt. 28), amended application (dkt. 29), notice of hearing (dkt. 40), declaration (dkt.47), no opposition to amended application is on file

This Bankruptcy Court continues to have serious doubts whether an objective cost/benefit analysis would justify hiring counsel at $795.00/hr. to pursue the claims described in the amended application and other papers. From what this Bankruptcy Court knows of the litigation, this Court is inclined to share some of the principal defendant's bewilderment:

USB is bewildered at Debtor's endgame here. ... [T]he Debtor is attempting to procure the Property without having to pay back the loan that she admits to receiving. It is not as if USB recorded a deed of trust on the Debtor's Property by mistake and the loan proceeds went to another property owner. ... It is sad to see that the Debtor has spent hundreds of thousands of dollars on [this litigation]. [Dkt.79, p.9:23-28, n.4]

Nevertheless, (i) it appears that unsecured creditors have nothing to lose: either the litigation will succeed and they will have some hope of recovery, or it will fail and they will not be any any worse situation - they will receive the same as if the litigation were not pursued: nothing (see dkt.47); (ii) despite notice to creditors (dkt.40) no objection to the amended application has been received; (iii) there may be aspects of the litigation that this Bankruptcy Court does not understand; and (iv) perhaps Debtor is gaining some benefit by deferring any ultimate adverse judgment and/or the possibility of any ultimately favorable judgment or settlement. Therefore the tentative ruling is to grant the amended application, subject to the standard employment provisions in the posted Procedures of Judge Bason (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov), and further subject to a deadline of 5/11/12 for Debtor's general bankruptcy counsel to file a declaration confirming that counsel has delivered a copy of this tentative ruling to Debtor, so that she is fully informed of this Court's concerns.

Proposed order: Applicant is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(1) Current issues

(a) Lack of prosecution of this case

Debtor's status report suggests that no budget motion is required, despite the fact that the posted Procedures of Judge Bason require one (see www.cacb.uscourts.gov under Judges). Debtor explains that "[n]o rents have been collected and we don't know if the tenant is going to pay" and "[e]xpenses are minimal and go to upkeep." Dkt.27, p.3, item B.2.

If the tenant is not paying rents, why do the Status Report and the docket not reflect efforts to evict the tenant and/or collect the rent? In addition, if there is a tenant, why does the Status Report state (dkt.27, p.7) that there are no leases? If there is no written lease, and the tenancy is month-to-month, that should have been explained, and it would seem to be all the more reason why the tenant promptly should either pay rents or be evicted. It has already been nearly a month since the petition date of 3/9/20, with no apparent action.

Chapter 11

The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 4/10/20 for Debtor to file a declaration addressing the foregoing issues.

(b) Schedules I and J are deficient (dkt. 17)

Debtor's Schedule I identifies $11,000 in monthly rental income from the Robin Drive property, but Debtor did not attach a separate statement showing gross receipts, ordinary and necessary business expenses, and the total monthly net income (as expressly required by line 8a) - e.g. mortgage payments, real property taxes, insurance, maintenance. Even if those things are not currently being collected/paid, the form directs Debtor to state whether there is any anticipated change in future, and the tentative ruling is to direct Debtor to set forth in detail her projections for all of these things.

Additionally, Debtor's Amended Schedule J is virtually blank. Debtor explains that all of Debtor's expenses are being paid by Medicare, but (a) Debtor does not identify any medicare income on Schedule I and (b) that still does not explain the failure to list whatever expenses are being paid on Debtor's behalf.

The tentative ruling is that Debtor is directed to file amended schedules I and J no later than 4/10/20.

(c) Schedule D (dkt.17, at PDF pp.21-22)

Debtor apparently assumes that she has a 100% chance of success in her nonbankruptcy litigation, because she asserts that there are no liens at all on her Robin Drive property. The tentative ruling is that this is flagrantly contrary to Debtor's obligation to list all claims, even if those claims are disputed (or contingent, or unliquidated). The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 4/10/20 for Debtor to file an amended Schedule D listing the disputed lien and its dollar amount.

(d) Proposed special counsel, and cost/benefit analysis

The tentative ruling is to set for hearing Debtor's application to employ special counsel, the objection thereto, and the amended application (see dkt. 26, 28, 29). The tentative hearing date is concurrent with the continued status conference (see part "(2)" below).

As this Court understands the pending nonbankruptcy litigation, several actions have been designated as "related" by the State Court(s), and there is a pending appeal that is set for oral argument later this month. The principal issue appears to be whether a mortgagee's deed of trust, that at least initially had an incorrect and/or missing property description, was sufficient to create (a) a lien as against Debtor and (b) inquiry or other effective notice as against third parties, when it is undisputed that the deed of trust was recorded in the real estate records, and when presumably it was included in the grantor/grantee index under Debtor's name. It appears that the trial court(s) have ruled against Debtor.

With this background, this Court reminds Debtor and her general bankruptcy counsel that, given Debtor's duties as a trustee for the benefit of creditors, she has an obligation to make a cost/benefit analysis regarding the litigation, and also has a duty to monitor proposed special counsel. This Court notes that proposed special counsel is not disinterested - she has a substantial prepetition claim - and although there is no requirement in 11 U.S.C. 327(e) of disinterestedness, there is still a requirement that proposed special counsel not "hold any interest adverse to the debtor or to the estate with respect to the matter on which such attorney is to be employed."

In addition, this Court takes judicial notice that, depending on the facts (which are unknown to this Court), sometimes debtors have nothing to lose by pursuing "long shot" litigation, but creditors have everything to lose. For example, a hypothetical debtor might have little or nothing to lose if they are already insolvent, because either the value of their property will go to pay the secured creditor(s), or it will go to pay unsecured creditors, so they have no net financial loss either way; but if the long shot litigation pays off they can keep their home. This Court emphasizes that this is only one scenario, and this case might be very different. But there is not enough information in the record at present for creditors to be able to make an informed decision whether or not Debtor has financial incentives to act in their best interests.

The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 4/10/20 for Debtor to file, and serve on all parties in interest including the United States Trustee via U.S. mail, a notice of the hearing on the employment application, which notice must include a copy of this tentative ruling, and must provide notice of a deadline of 4/21/20 for any response, and 4/28/20 for any reply. In addition, the tentative ruling is that, concurrent with the notice, Debtor must file and serve declaration(s) addressing the foregoing issues.

(e) Debtor's emergency motion for order confirming that stay applies to pre-petition state court litigation (dkt. 30, the "Stay Motion"), application for

Revised Tentative Ruling for 2/18/20:

Appearances required by counsel for the debtor and by the debtor(s) themselves.

(1) Current issues

(a) Employment application (dkt.21)

Debtor has filed Nat. Form B2030 (dkt. 23) and an amended SOFA (dkt. 24) disclosing that a retainer of $10,000 was paid by one James G. Lewis, who is described as one of Debtor's unsecured creditors. The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 2/25/20 for Debtor and Mr. Lewis each to file and serve on the Office of the United States Trustee their declarations addressing the ethical concerns involved whenever a retainer is paid by a third party. See In re 9469 Beverly Crest, LLC (Case No. 2:19-bk-20000-NB, dkt.44). The tentative ruling is to set the employment application for hearing concurrent with the continued status conference (see below).

As for other issues raised in the tentative ruling for 2/4/20 (reproduced below), the tentative ruling is to cap costs for photocopying and other expenses per the applicable guidelines (see dkt.21, at PDF p.20), to authorize late payment charges only from when fees and costs are authorized and directed to be paid by this Court (see id., at PDF p.21), and to include the other standard provisions set forth in the posted Procedures of Judge Bason (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov).

(b) Budget motion (as amended, dkt.34): This motion has been self-calendared for 3/3/20 at 1:00 p.m. There is no tentative ruling regarding that motion, but this Court notes (in anticipation of that hearing) that (i) Debtor lists a $750/mo. contribution from his son (dkt.34 at PDF p.9) but there is no contribution declaration on the docket; (ii) Debtor's MOR (dkt.35 at PDF p.7) states that going forward Debtor and his non-debtor wife will pay only their portion of the combined insurance premium for their vehicles and their children's vehicles, and that their children will be responsible for their own car loan payments and insurance, but there is no disclosure of how the insurance expense has been allocated; and (iii) Debtor's monthly income projected in the budget motion appears to be substantially lower than in prior years, based on a comparison with Debtor's Statement Of Financial Affairs ("SOFA") (dkt.24, line 4, at p.2), but there is no explanation why. (This Court also notes that the budget no longer includes $500/mo. of "support" payments "to mother-in-law and sister-in-law.")

(c) Substantial equity in properties alleged to have been fraudulently transferred. As directed in the tentative ruling for 2/4/20 (reproduced below), the tentative ruling is to direct Debtor to disclose at the status conference the percentage ownership interest that Debtor had in Sunset and Cambria in the years prior to the alleged fraudulent transfers of those properties, and direct all parties in interest who appear to address the status of the nonbankruptcy litigation.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 1/13/20.

(a) Bar date: 5/31/20 (dkt. 27; timely served, dkt. 28).

(b) Procedures order: dkt. 3 (timely served, dkt. 9)

(d) Continued status conference: 3/3/20 at 1:00 p.m. No written status report required.

*Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

(dkt. 95) and evidentiary objections (dkt. 96), reply (dkt.119).

Analysis

(1) Service

As Debtor points out (dkt.94, pp.4:13-5:2), under Rule 4001 (Fed. R. Bankr. P.) a motion for relief from the automatic stay must be served on Debtor's list of 20 largest general unsecured creditors. Debtor asserts that the motion was not served in accordance with that rule; but the original motion was (dkt.9, at PDF pp.61-64) and Debtor cites no authority that the amendments to the motion were so substantial that they would require re-noticing. Any creditor who cared to follow the progress of the original motion would be able to do so, and file any papers or make any arguments they wish. The tentative ruling is that Debtor's argument that additional service is required is not persuasive.

(2) Evidentiary objections

The tentative ruling is to overrule Debtor's evidentiary objections (dkt.96), which are not well taken. For example, Debtor objects to Movant's valuation evidence on grounds of relevance. How can Debtor assert that the value of the subject property is irrelevant when it is clearly relevant under the statute (11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (2)) and when the Amended Motion asserts (dkt.93, p.3, para.4.a.(1)(A)&(B) & p.4, para.4.b.) that (i) the subject property's value is inadequate to protect Movant's interest and is declining, and (ii) Debtor lacks any equity in the property (and that the property is not necessary to an effective reorganization)?

(3) Valuation

Although valuation is relevant, the tentative ruling is that this Court cannot resolve the parties' valuation disputes without an evidentiary hearing (or other procedure, such as an agreement of the parties to be bound by the valuation determined by an independent appraiser selected by each of their appraisers). Normally this Court would set an evidentiary hearing (or other procedures) and establish associated deadlines and other procedures. But the tentative ruling is that all such procedures are unnecessary because Movant has shown other "cause" for relief from the automatic stay.

Movant asserts that Debtor has shown bad faith, and that this is "cause" for relief from the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1). The tentative ruling is to agree.

This is Debtor's second bankruptcy case. The first case (Case No. 2:19-bk-21504-NB) was filed on 9/30/19 and dismissed on 11/5/19 for failure to file required documents. Before that case was dismissed, Tremblay filed a motion for relief from the automatic stay in which he pointed out that Debtor was ineligible for chapter 13 under 11 U.S.C. 109(e) and accused Debtor of intentionally misusing the bankruptcy system for purposes of delay. See Case No. 2:19-bk-21504-NB, dkt.10, p.5). Nevertheless, Debtor filed this case as another chapter 13 case on 11/20/19.

This Court recognizes that at the time each case was filed Debtor had no attorney of record. But Debtor owns multiple real properties and two businesses (one that recently ceased operating), and there is no showing that Debtor is unsophisticated.

Nor is there any showing that Debtor was unable to read and understand Tremblay's motion, or was unable to find an attorney to represent her, despite her substantial alleged assets and income. This Court takes judicial notice that other debtors with a range of assets, liabilities, income, expenses, and other characteristics regularly understand the chapter 13 debt limits and regularly retain bankruptcy attorneys, especially after having been accused of misusing the bankruptcy system.

In other words, Movant has established a prima facie showing that Debtor's two chapter 13 bankruptcy petitions were filed in bad faith. The burden is on Debtor to rebut that showing. Instead, the tentative ruling is that Debtor has done the opposite.

True, Debtor belatedly retained an attorney, and filed a motion to convert this case to chapter 11, which this Court granted effective just over two months ago, on 1/2/20. Subsequently, however, this Court has noted Debtor's lack of prosecution of this chapter 11 case. See Tentative Rulings for Status Conference (calendar no. 16, 3/3/20 at 1:00 p.m.).

Even now, over three months after the petition date (11/20/19), Debtor still has not proposed any sale of her properties, or other method to pay her creditors within a reasonable time. Debtor's filed papers suggest that she is entirely reliant on rental income, but that income is uncertain and the net amount apparently is very modest (if anything), after mortgages and other expenses (see Tentative Ruling for Status Conference, calendar no.16 on 3/3/20 at 1:00 p.m.). See also Jan. MOR (dkt.103) ($0 income reported).

Debtor proposes a chapter 11 plan (dkt.97) that appears unconfirmable on its face. As Movant points out, the plan proposes to modify Movant's claim (and another claim) both of which appear to be secured only by an interest in Debtor's principal residence, in contravention of 11 U.S.C. 1123(b)(5). See dkt.97, pp.3:1-4:10. Moreover, the plan proposes what appear to be interest-only payments with a balloon payment of the entire principal many months later. See dkt.97, Ex.A & A-1, at PDF pp.8&10, Classes 2A & 2B. See also dkt.119, p.3:1-8.

For all of these reasons, the tentative ruling is that Debtor has filed and has prosecuted (or failed to prosecute) her two bankruptcy cases in bad faith. The tentative ruling is that this is sufficient "cause" for relief from the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1). Specifically, the tentative ruling is to grant the following relief.

Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1).

To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Effective date of relief

Grant the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a) (3).

Co-debtor stay

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) has not been shown to have any basis for any different treatment from the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a), so the tentative ruling is to grant the identical relief regarding any co-debtor stay.

(1) Current issues

(a) Compliance and reporting issues

Can creditors or this Court rely on anything Debtor says?

(i) What is Debtor's business?

In the status report filed on 1/21/20 (the "Principal Status Report," dkt.65, p.2) Debtor asserted that her businesses were Hot Ginger, Inc. (although that apparently is not operating) and owning four rental properties. So it appeared that Debtor was a landlord.

There was no mention of any real estate development business. But Debtor's declaration of postpetition income at expenses (dkt.194, at PDF p.5), asserts that Debtor's business has been "turn-key" real estate development including prefabricated section 8/veterans' housing. Debtor declares that the Covid-19 pandemic has shut down that business, but the pandemic did not shut down any businesses until after January, so why was that business not mentioned anywhere in the Principal Status Report?

And now Debtor reveals that she has started a new business as a broker of Personal Protective Equipment ("PPE"). She has not provided any notice to creditors of this new business, nor has she obtained authorization from this Court for starting transactions out of the ordinary course of business (11 U.S.C. 363(b)). See dkt.188, p.3, and dkt.191, last page. Does Debtor have any necessary or appropriate licenses or insurance? What are the risks, expenses, and potential benefits? What happens if Debtor brokers $1m of PPE for a local hospital and then fails to deliver that PPE? Is there potential liability for the bankruptcy estate?

Debtor lists "self-employment" gross income of $5,000.00/mo. with no expenses (dkt.184 at PDF p.9). What is that "self-employment" business? Is it the PPE business? Or the real estate development business? Or some other (undisclosed) business?

(ii) What are the income and expenses of Debtor's non-rental business(es)?

Debtor reports no expenses associated with her "self-employment" business (whatever that is). Can that be so?

Perhaps the lack of any self-employment or income taxes can be explained based on Debtor's unsupported assumption that she will receive tax refunds of $193,000.00 (dkt.194 at PDF p.3). But are there really no other business expenses: no telephone, internet, computer, printer, supplies, office space, etc.?

Given Debtor's assertion that she made such huge miscalculations that she over-paid past years' taxes to the tune of $193,000.00, what confidence can creditors or this Court have that her projected revenues and (lack of) expenses are accurate? On tax issues specifically, how can anyone have confidence that Debtor is taking appropriate deductions and paying appropriate taxes for whatever businesses she currently operates?

(iii) In the rental business, what are Debtor's income and expenses?

Debtor's declaration of postpetition income and expenses (dkt.194, at PDF pp.7-8) lists $3,000.00/mo. of rental income for each of the "626" and "622" properties. But she reports actual income from the "626" property of $2,800.00/mo. (dkt.188 at PDF p.8), and $-0- for the "622" property (dkt.188 at PDF p.9).

As for expenses, Debtor lists $0 for maintenance, repairs, real estate taxes, insurance, utilities, any gardener, or anything else at the Jefferson Plaza property, other than the mortgages. See dkt.194, at PDF p.6. The same is true for the "626" and "622" properties, except for $37.50/mo. for maintenance. See dkt.194, at PDF pp.7-8. How is that remotely realistic?

It also appears that, even if there were no expenses other than the mortgages, some of the properties might operate at a net loss. For example, the "626" property (the one with $3,000.00/mo. of alleged income and $2,800.00 of actual income) apparently has a monthly mortgage expense of $5,625.00 (dkt.188 at PDF p.10). How does it make sense for the bankruptcy estate to retain properties that appear to be a drain on income?

Perhaps in recognition of the need for more revenue, Debtor reports that the Jefferson Plaza rents/revenue may increase (dkt.194, p.2). Is that realistic? This Court takes judicial notice of economic projections that, in the wake of the Covid-19 closures of many restaurants and other businesses, landlords might be facing a difficult time attracting and retaining enough tenants. Is it realistic for Debtor to plan to raise rents?

(iv) What else is going unreported, and is unauthorized?

Debtor lists $36,171.94 in receipts from "insurance" (dkt.188 at PDF p.9), with no explanation. Was there a fire or some other damage that was insured? Did that occur pre- or postpetition? Will the insurance cover all repair costs or only part?

Debtor reveals expenditures of $15,000.00 for construction (dkt.188, at PDF p.11). Is that construction within the ordinary course of Debtor's business (in which case why was that business not disclosed?) or was it out of the ordinary course (in which case why did Debtor fail to provide prior notice and seek authorization under section 363(b))?

Debtor has explained that some restaurant meals and other expenditures are being paid by her non-debtor husband. Both the expense and the husband's reimbursement should appear on the monthly operating reports, but if the reimbursements are disclosed they were not immediately apparent to this Court.

What else is going on that is not disclosed and/or not authorized?

(v) Conclusion regarding compliance and reporting

All of the foregoing deficiencies are on top of months of incomplete, inconsistent, and erroneous financial reporting, and unauthorized

(1) Current issues

(a) Inadequate status report (dkt.169)

Debtor's status report simply repeats what is on the docket. It does not address any of the issues raised at prior status conferences and noted below. The tentative ruling is that no fees should be charged for preparation of the status report.

(b) Partially adequate Disclosures

This Court has reviewed Debtor's supplemental disclosures about her non-debtor husband's finances and related matters (dkt. 145, 146, 147, 148, 158, 159, 167) in response to this Court's order issued on 3/4/20 (dkt. 133). The tentative ruling is that the disclosures are partially adequate.

On the one hand, Debtor has provided a copy of the premarital agreement (dkt.146, Ex.1), which is very important, and has also filed amended bankruptcy schedules I, J and D, as well as a statement of postpetition income and expenses, and Monthly Operating Reports ("MORs"). On the other hand, these disclosures are incomplete, unclear, and internally inconsistent.

(i) Incompleteness

The incompleteness includes that, as Debtor acknowledges, she has yet to provide an amended Statement of Financial Affairs ("SOFA") because her family is dealing with the loss of a close family member (dkt.146, p.3, para.7 & 9). It is unclear what else might be missing: creditors and this Court cannot know what they and this Court do not know. The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 4/21/20 to file the amended SOFA and any other documents that were required under this Court's prior order (dkt. 133).

(ii) Lack of clarity

The MORs are unclear:

(A) There are two business accounts (-8997 and -9003) but which account relates to which property/business?

Chapter 11

(B) Why are there only two business accounts when Debtor apparently shares in the income from the Jefferson Plaza business and has four properties (535 N Fuller, 636 N Laurel, 622 E 35th, and 626 E 35th) at least two of which are rental properties?

(C) Why are there two personal checking accounts (-9011 and -6492)?

(D) Why is one account overdrawn (account -6492 shows a balance of -$437, dkt.165, at PDF p.14)?

(E) Debtor's January MOR vaguely lists many entries as "Household." From other information about some of these "Household" expenses, it is not clear that they are appropriate for a debtor in possession: for example, $350 for "Your Hair By Ellie" on 1/31/20 (dkt.165, p.12, last entry) and $390.92 for "Sephora" on 1/21/20 (dkt.165, p.11, 3d line from bottom). True, Debtor alleges that there is equity in various properties, but that is far from certain and she might well be insolvent. In addition, the MOR lists a lot of restaurant meals (dkt.165, pp.11-12), and again, it is not clear that this is appropriate budgeting for a debtor in possession. The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 4/21/20 for Debtor to file amended MORs that address these issues.

Debtor's alleged equity in her various properties is also far less clear than it should be. Although that information probably can be pieced together from various other documents, the tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 4/21/20 for Debtor to file a declaration with an attached spreadsheet showing, for each property or business, Debtor's estimate of value, the source of that estimate, the liens against each property (listed by lienholder, in order of seniority), the dollar amount of the claim secured by that lien (according to Debtor and, alternatively, according to the holder of the lien), and the sources of those data.

(iii) Internal inconsistency

One internal inconsistency is that the latest Bankruptcy Schedules I&J list $16,000 as Debtor's net income from rental properties/businesses (dkt.159, p.2, line 8a) but the attached statements for each property/business list $10,000 of net income (consisting of $10,000 from Jefferson Plaza, LLC, $0 from 622 E 36th St, and $0 from 626 E. 36th St.). Dkt. 159, pp.5-7. What is the source of the other $6,000?

This Court has considered the possibility that Debtor has mixed up gross and net income. But that does not work either because the gross income is $22,700 ($16,700 + $3,000 + $3,000 = $22,700). Dkt. 159, pp.5-7.

The latest declaration of postpetition income and expenses (dkt.158) has yet more numbers that are different, but no explanation and no attached disclosures of gross income, expenses, and calculation of net income.

The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 4/21/20 for Debtor to file (A) further amended Bankruptcy Schedules I and J and (B) a further amended statement of postpetition income and expenses, with a complete explanation of any differences between the former and the latter.

(iv) Conclusion as to Debtor's financial disclosure

How can creditors and this Court rely on Debtor to make accurate financial reporting of anything in this case if even basic information is missing, unclear, or incorrect? The tentative ruling is to give Debtor one more opportunity for complete, candid, and clear financial disclosures.

(c) No discernable progress since last hearing

At a hearing on 3/10/20, this Court noted that the docket does not reflect any motion to sell or refinance any property, or other evidence of adequate prosecution of this case, but took no action other than to caution Debtor to be cognizant of the warnings that this Court set forth on the record at the hearing on 3/3/20. The docket still does not reflect any activity. Why not?

(d) Motion for relief from stay (as amended, dkt. 93), debtor supplemental declaration (dkt.129), previously-filed papers (see tentative ruling for 3/3/20, reproduced at calendar no.13, 3/10/20 at 1:00 p.m.)

The parties should be prepared to address whether they have agreed upon procedures for valuing the property and whether further briefing is necessary regarding any issues of debtor's alleged bad faith. See dkt.132, 138.

(e) Debtor's motion for order declaring judgment liens void as violations of the automatic stay and for compensatory sanctions (dkt. 122, the "Sanctions Motion"); National Commercial Recovery, Inc.'s ("NCR") opposition (dkt. 142), debtor's reply (dkt. 157)

Deny.

The tentative ruling is that Debtor is correct that the automatic stay in her prior bankruptcy case applied when the abstracts were recorded, so the recording was void. But NCR is also correct:

(i) that there is no evidence Debtor gave it notice of her bankruptcy filing, which would entitle it to seek to retroactively annul the stay (see In re Fjeldsted, 293 B.R. 12 (9th Cir. BAP 2003); and see also In re Williams, 323 B.R. 691, 697-702 (9th Cir. BAP 2005) (various issues involving annulment, and application of Fjeldsted), aff'd, 204 Fed.Appx. 582 (9th Cir. 2006), overruled on other issues, In re Perl, 811 F.3d 1120 (9th Cir. 2016) (scope of automatic stay)), and

(ii) that, although the better course may have been for NCR to file a motion seeking retroactive annulment, NCR was not taking any affirmative steps (it was not doing things held to violate the automatic stay, like terminating an executory contract - it was doing nothing, which preserved the status quo). That is less than what has been held, in an analogous situation involving preservation of the status quo, not to violate the automatic stay. See Citizens Bank of MD v. Stumpf, 116 S.Ct. 286 (1995). Therefore, the tentative ruling is that as a legal matter, NCR did not have any duty to record releases of its liens, and did not violate the automatic stay by declining to do so.

On the equities, to the extent equitable considerations are relevant, why should NCR have to pay to litigate these issues, instead of Debtor? If the lien were truly shown to be an obstacle to anything Debtor needs to accomplish, it is more equitable to place the burden on Debtor to seek affirmative relief than it would be to place the burden on NCR to seek confirmation from this Court that it has no duty to release its liens.

Moreover, the tentative ruling is that Debtor's premise is flawed. Debtor asserts that "if NCR's lien were allowed to remain" that "would prevent refinancing" and "crater the case ...." (dkt. 157, p.2:25-26). How so?

Debtor has not established why she could not obtain financing that primes NCR's junior lien (if that lien is adequately protected) under 11 U.S.C. 364. Alternatively, Debtor has not explained why a chapter 11 plan could not leave NCR's lien in place and pay it over time. In fact, Debtor allegedly intends to pay all creditors (not just NCR) 100% of their claims over time, so it is not clear that Debtor has to do anything regarding NCR's lien at this point. Is this litigation a good use of the bankruptcy estate's assets?

Revised Tentative Ruling for 3/10/20:

Appearances required.

(1) Current issues

(a) Debtor's amendment of bankruptcy petition to elect Subchapter V (dkt. 128)

On 3/2/20, Debtor amended her petition to elect Subchapter V. The parties should be prepared to discuss the effect of that amendment, including any appropriate dates and deadlines for such matters as the appointment of a Subchapter V trustee, the filing of an amended plan, and any other applicable procedures that this Court may need to set at this time.

(b) No discernable progress since last hearing

The docket does not reflect any motion to sell or refinance any property, or other evidence of adequate prosecution of this case. Given the short time since the last hearing, the tentative ruling is that this Court will not take any action based on that lack of discernable progress, but to remind Debtor to be cognizant of the warnings that this Court set forth on the record at the last hearing.

(c) No corrected MOR

Debtor has not corrected the monthly operating report, which was not filed on the required form. See tentative ruling for 3/3/20 (reproduced below), item "(1)" "(b)". Why not?

(d) No statement reflecting apparent increase in income?

Despite two reminders, Debtor still has not filed a declaration of current/postpetition income and expenses. See Revised Tentative Rulings for

3/10/20 and 2/18/20 (reproduced below). Why not?

(e) Budget Motion (dkt. 85, 90), East West Bank's opposition (dkt. 94), Debtor's reply (dkt. 134), interim order (dkt.113)

Although this Court has concerns about whether Debtor's financial disclosures are accurate and complete (as set forth in various portions of this tentative ruling and prior tentative rulings), the proposed use of funds in the budget motion appears to be appropriate. Accordingly, the tentative ruling is to grant the motion on a final basis, subject to the following.

First, any approval is subject possible reconsideration once Debtor finally files her statement of postpetition income and expenses, and files the other documents directed by this Court (see dkt.133), or as other facts may come to light. Second, the budget must be adjusted to accommodate the request of East West Bank for Debtor to increase her proposed monthly mortgage payment to $5,643.86, which Debtor has agreed to do (dkt. 134). Third, any approval is subject to the parties' rights to seek further relief, including approval of any stipulation for adequate protection.

(f) Cash Collateral Motion (dkt. 86, 90)

Grant the motion on a final basis, on the same terms as stated in the order (dkt.114) granting the motion on an interim basis, and subject to the same caveats and conditions as set forth above regarding the budget motion.

(g) Application to employ The Orantes Law Firm (the "Firm") (dkt. 72); statement of disinterestedness (dkt. 73); amended statement of disinterestedness (dkt. 82); Dec re non-opp (dkt. 98); order setting matter for hearing (dkt. 101)

The tentative ruling is to grant the application in part and deny it in part as follows.

Debtor seeks to employ the Firm pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 327, with compensation pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 330 at the following hourly rates for the Firm's attorneys: Giovanni Orantes: $695 and Luis A. Solorzano: $350 (dkt. 72, p.16). In determining the reasonableness of the proposed billing rates, 11 USC 330(a)(3)(B), (E) and (F) require this Court to consider, among other things, proposed counsel's hourly rates, any board certification or other demonstrated skill and experience in the bankruptcy field, and "the customary compensation charged by comparably skilled practitioners ...."

Based on a review of rates charged by other bankruptcy professionals practicing before this Court as well as this Court's familiarity with proposed counsel's skills and performance in pending and past cases before it, the tentative ruling is to approve the Firm's employment, subject to Judge Bason's standard employment terms (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov), but reduce the hourly rates that the Firm may charge to the following maximum dollar amounts, without in any way limiting the requirement that any rates charged and time spent still must be fully justified: Giovanni Orantes: $475/hour and Luis A. Solorzano: $250/hour.

In addition, the tentative ruling is that any waiver of conflicts of interest is ineffective as against the bankruptcy estate. (A "debtor in possession," acting as a trustee for the benefit of creditors, cannot waive conflicts on behalf of those creditors.)

(h) Motion for relief from stay (as amended, dkt. 93), debtor supplemental declaration (dkt.129), previously-filed papers (see tentative ruling for 3/3/20, reproduced at calendar no.13, 3/10/20 at 1:00 p.m.)

The tentative ruling is to continue this matter again, to be concurrent with the continued status conference (see below), so as to be able to assess (i) whether Debtor has adequately prosecuted this case, including selling or refinancing one or more properties (if that is realistic) or otherwise demonstrating progress that has been sorely lacking to date, and (ii) Debtor's papers regarding her non-debtor husband's finances, which are due 3/18/20. See Order (dkt.133).

Meanwhile, the parties should be prepared to address whether they have agreed upon procedures for valuing the property and whether further briefing is necessary regarding any issues of debtor's alleged bad faith. See dkt.132, 138.

Debtor's Bankruptcy Schedules I and J provide very little information about Debtor's rental income. They list only gross rents per building instead of, e.g., a rent roll listing each tenant and their rental rate and information about whether those rents are reliable, such as a rental history. Nor does Debtor provide any breakdown of expenses, beyond what appears to be Debtor's rough estimate of $6,000 per month in mortgage payments, which appears to omit any payments to liens that Debtor is disputing. Nothing appears to be allocated for rental property maintenance, repairs, utilities, gardening, etc.

In addition, creditor Tremblay has questioned whether Debtor is omitting community property income of her non-debtor spouse, Mr. Behzad Beroukhai. See dkt.119, p.2:17-28. As Tremblay notes, Mr. Beroukhai allegedly pays all expenses related to certain real property, but Debtor has not disclosed and accounted for such past and ongoing funds. This Court also notes that Mr. Beroukhai is not listed as a codebtor on any debts. See Bankruptcy Schedule H (dkt.10 at PDF p.30, line 1). What is the true situation, and are Debtor's disclosures accurate?

The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 3/6/20 for Debtor to file and serve amended Schedules I and J, an amended SOFA, and any other documents that may be necessary or appropriate to provide much more comprehensive information about her income, expenses, assets, liabilities, and other aspects of her finances.

(1) Current issues

(a) Budget Motion (dkt. 85, 90), East West Bank's opposition (dkt. 94)

The tentative ruling is to grant in part and deny in part the budget motion, on an interim basis, such that Debtor is authorized to make the expenditures in her proposed budget but must provide additional adequate protection payments to East West Bank to bring the total payment from $4,619.32 to $5,140.78, without prejudice to Debtor and East West Bank establishing an evidentiary basis for a lesser or greater dollar amount either (i) for adequate protection payments, (ii) for purposes of any chapter 11 plan, or (iii) for any other reason. The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 2/25/20 for East West Bank to file a declaration with a copy of advance notice to Debtor regarding the increased monthly mortgage payments, a deadline of 3/4/20 for any response by Debtor, and any reply by East West Bank permitted at the continued hearing, to be held contemporaneous with the continued status conference (see below).

Debtor states (dkt.85, Ex.1, at PDF p.7, 1st footnote) that she recently had an increase income. But, as of the preparation of this tentative ruling, Debtor has not filed a declaration of current/postpetition income and expenses. Why not?

(b) Cash Collateral Motion (dkt. 86, 90)

(1) Current issues

(a) Lack of progress

Debtor has only very belatedly filed a status report (dkt.65) (one week after it was required by this Court's order, dkt. 50). Worse, long after this case was converted to chapter 11 (11/20/19) she has only now filed an application to employ counsel and a budget motion, and she admits (dkt. 65, p.2) that she has not filed her list of 20 largest unsecured creditors. addition, she admits that she has not filed any cash collateral motion(s) (id., p.3), which apparently means that either she has been using cash without authority or she has been failing to use cash for ordinary and necessary expenses, both of which are bad.

What remedies should this Court impose on Debtor and/or her counsel for this pervasive failure to comply with her obligations under the Bankruptcy Code? What assurances can they provide this Court that similar problems will not happen in future?

(b) Notice of Lodgment (dkt.117) of proposed Order on Motion to Quash

Counsel for Dos Cabezas Properties, LLC and Criscio appear to have confused a notice of lodgment with actual lodgment. The notice states that a proposed order was lodged; but this Court's electronic Lodged Order Upload ("LOU") system does not reflect any lodged order. Counsel is directed to lodge the proposed order, and coordinate with this Court's Clerk's Office including any technical support staff as needed.

This Court has reviewed the parties' joint status report (dkt. 11) and the other filed documents and records in this adversary proceeding.

(1) Current issues

(a) Motion for remand (adv. dkt. 7, "Remand Motion") and supporting declaration (adv. dkt. 8), Plaintiff's opposition (adv. dkt. 10), Movants' reply (adv. dkt. 12)

Defendants Dos Cabezas Properties, LLC, Criscione-Meyer Entitlement, LLC, and Michael Criscione (collectively, the "Movants") seek an order remanding this proceeding and for an award of attorneys fees and costs imposed against plaintiff Tarzana Crossing, a Merchant Faire, LLC ("Plaintiff").

For the reasons set forth below, the tentative ruling is to grant the request to remand this removed action, but perhaps defer the remand until after mediation, and deny the request for attorney fees.

(i) Jurisdiction

The parties dispute whether this Court has subject matter jurisdiction to hear this proceeding. The tentative ruling is that this Court has "related to" jurisdiction pursuant to 28 U.S.C. 157(c)(1), because the parties' dispute arises from an alleged breach of contract for the sale of the estate's principal asset.

(ii) Mandatory abstention

The tentative ruling is that mandatory abstention applies as follows. Mandatory abstention under 28 U.S.C. 1334(c)(2) requires seven elements: (1) a timely motion; (2) a purely state law question; (3) a non-core proceeding under 28 U.S.C. 157(c)(1); (4) a lack of independent federal jurisdiction absent the petition under Title 11; (5) that an action is commenced in a state court; (6) the state court action may be timely adjudicated; (7) a state forum of appropriate jurisdiction exists. [In re Gen. Carriers Corp., 258 B.R. 181, 189 (9th Cir. BAP 2001) (internal quotation omitted).]

These elements are satisfied: (1) the motion was timely - the proceeding was removed on 1/22/20 and Movants filed the remand motion just 30 days later, on 2/21/20; (2) the complaint involves purely nonbankruptcy law questions (breach of fiduciary duty etc., adv. dkt. 7, p. 2:17-21) (Movants state that they amended their complaint on 8/30/19, but there is nothing in the record reflecting what was amended (id., p. 2:21), so this Court bases its ruling on the record presented); (3) the proceeding is noncore - the authorities cited by the removing party (dkt.10, pp.14:24-15:14) are distinguishable because they all involved alleged violations of fiduciary duties within the bankruptcy case itself, not prepetition and nonbankruptcy alleged violations; (4) no independent federal jurisdiction has been asserted; (5) the action was commenced prepetition, on 12/14/18, in Los Angeles Superior Court; (6) there is no evidence that the proceeding cannot be timely adjudicated in the State Court; and (7) neither party has contested in this Court the State Court's jurisdiction over the proceeding.

(iii) Discretionary abstention

Alternatively, and in addition, the tentative ruling is that discretionary abstention is appropriate.

Discretionary abstention under 28 U.S.C. 1334(c)(1) requires consideration of the following twelve factors:

(1) the effect of lack thereof on the efficient administration of the estate if a Court recommends abstention, (2) the extent to which state law issues predominate over bankruptcy issues, (3) the difficulty or unsettled nature of the applicable law, (4) the presence of a related proceeding commenced in state court or other nonbankruptcy court, (5) the jurisdictional basis, if any, other than 28 U.S.C. 1334, (6) the degree of relatedness or remoteness of the proceeding to the main bankruptcy case, (7) the substance rather than form of an asserted "core" proceeding, (8) the feasibility of severing state law claims from core bankruptcy matters to allow judgments to be entered in state court with enforcement left to the bankruptcy court, (9) the burden of the bankruptcy court's docket, (10) the likelihood that the commencement of the proceeding in bankruptcy court involves forum shopping by one of the parties, (11) the existence of a right to a jury trial, and (12) the presence in the proceeding of nondebtor parties.

Several of the Tucson factors weigh in favor of abstention. First, the Complaint involves purely state-law issues. Second, this Court would not have jurisdiction over the Complaint but for the Debtor's bankruptcy petition, because the claims arise under state law and there is no diversity between the parties. Third, the Complaint involves several non-debtor parties who have asserted a right to a jury trial. Fourth, permitting the Complaint to proceed in state court will contribute to the efficient administration of the bankruptcy case because the State Court is the best tribunal to adjudicate the parties' state law claims. Fifth, although the Complaint is related to the main bankruptcy case because it involves claims relating to the primary asset of the estate, deferring to the State Court to adjudicate the parties' claims will not unduly interfere with this Bankruptcy Court's determination of other matters in the bankruptcy case.

(iv) Movants' request for attorneys' fees is denied

The tentative ruling is to deny Movant's request for attorneys' fees because this Court is not persuaded that Plaintiff lacked an objectively reasonable basis for seeking removal of this action because the dispute is related to the primary asset of Debtor's bankruptcy estate.

Proposed order: Movants are directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this Court's final ruling, subject to any changes ordered at the hearing. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1) (B).

The following are Judge Bason's standard requirements for status conferences. (To the extent that the parties have already addressed these issues in their status report, they need not repeat their positions at the status conference.)

(2) Venue/jurisdiction/authority.

The parties are directed to address any outstanding matters of (a) venue, (b) jurisdiction, (c) this Bankruptcy Court's authority to enter final orders or judgment(s) in this proceeding and, if consent is required, whether the parties do consent, or have already expressly or impliedly consented. (1) Current issues

(a) Combined status conferences

(b) SARE Motion (dkt.70)

Le Elegant Bath, Inc. ("Elegant") has filed a motion to designate Holding a single asset real estate debtor (dkt. 70). See 11 U.S.C. 101(51B) and 362(d)(3). No opposition is on file.

The tentative ruling is to grant the motion insofar as designating Holding a "single asset real estate" debtor, because (i) it is undisputed that Holding's only asset is commercial real property located at 13832 Magnolia Avenue, Chino, CA 91710 (the "Property") (see 2:20-bk-11476-NB, dkt. 15,

Proposed orders: Elegant is directed to lodge a proposed order on the foregoing motion via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby adopting it as this Court's final ruling, subject to any changes ordered at the hearing. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(c) Debtor's motion to extend SARE deadline/exclusivity deadlines (dkt. 84, 85, 86, 87, the "Extension Motion"), OST (dkt. 82), Le Elegant Bath, Inc.'s opposition (dkt. 87)

This Court has granted the Extension Motion in part, by extending the deadline for Debtor to file a plan, and the related deadlines for exclusivity and solicitation of votes. See dkt.92. The hearing on the Extension Motion was continued to this date so that the parties could address any related issues, such as whether to require adequate protection payments. The tentative ruling is to take no further action on the Extension Motion, and take it off calendar, without prejudice to any party seeking to extend (or reduce) the applicable deadlines.

(d) Monthly operating reports ("MORs") for Brass

At the last status conference this Court set a 4/28/20 deadline for Brass to file amended MORs addressing the issues set forth in the 4/21/20 tentative ruling (see below). As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, Debtor has not complied. The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 5/15/20 for Brass to file (i) the amended MORs and (ii) a declaration addressing why they were not filed sooner.

(b) Chan Budget motion (2:20-bk-11409-NB, dkt. 44)

There is no tentative ruling. This Court is not persuaded that it is appropriate to approve Debtor's proposed budget, which lists a negative net monthly income: ($2,684.80). Debtor should be prepared to address whether he anticipates either an increase in income or decrease in expenses in the near future.

(c) Monthly operating reports ("MORs") for Debtor Anthony Chan
Debtor Anthony Chan's Amended February MOR (Case No. 2:20-bk-11409-NB, dkt.53, p.4) lists the number of postpetition payments not made to Bank of America at $0 but lists a very large dollar amount in the column for "Total Due" (presumably Debtor's estimate of the entire balance owed). This Court's understanding of the form is that Debtor should be listing the total postpetition payments that are due and unpaid, not the total balance. The United States Trustee ("UST") is requested to clarify this issue at the hearing, and state whether Debtor needs to file a further amended MOR.

In addition, the same MOR lists only a single entry for "food" ($983.15). The UST is requested to clarify whether food entries should be broken down into single items (each grocery bill, each meal at a restaurant, etc.).

In addition, although the MOR lists a single deposit and various expenses in an exactly equal total amount, the expenses are not reflected in the bank statement or any cash ledger or anywhere else. Is that because (i) Mr. Chan arranges for his employment compensation to equal his expenses exactly and (ii) the checks are either (x) drawn on the bank account of Mr. Chan's employer (his company and co-debtor A Touch of Brass, Inc.), or (y) the checks are drawn on his own bank account but have not yet cleared as of the end of the MOR's period, or (z) some other explanation?

The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 4/28/20 for Debtor to file and corrected MOR.

(d) Monthly operating reports ("MORs") for Debtor A Touch of Brass, Inc.

Debtor A Touch of Brass, Inc.'s Amended February MOR (Case No. 2:20-bk-11555-NB, dkt. 71, p.11) has a similar issue regarding postpetition payments. It removes the figures in the "Post-Petition payments not made (Number)" column, but there was no corresponding change to the "Total Due" column, so Debtor still reflects missed postpetition payments to "CNC Associates" and "Toyota Financial Services" in an amount totaling $26,018.86.

Debtor is directed to address whether a further amended MOR should address this issue. In any event, Debtor is directed to address (i) what Debtor's financial viability is, (ii) what is the nature of the missed postpetition payments, and (iii) how does its inability to pay these debts impact its ability to reorganize?

Additionally, Debtor did not attach copies of bank statements to this amended MOR. The tentative ruling is to waive that omission in this instance, since those documents are attached to the original February MOR (dkt. 68), but caution Debtor that future MORs should attach bank statements.

The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 4/28/20 for Debtor to file and corrected MOR.

(1) Current issues

(a) Objection to the Sale Motion

At the hearing on 3/24/20 this Court was persuaded to continue this matter to 4/7/20. The tentative ruling remains unchanged: to overrule the objection objection (dkt.104) filed by the Estate of Maynard Poynter, Patricia Poynter, Leah Poynter, Adam Poynter, Sean pointer and Melissa O'Donnell (collectively "Poynter"). The parties should be prepared to address the issues raised in that objection and in Debtor's reply papers (dkt.110-12).

(b) Service of the Order Continuing Case Status Conference And Hearing On Sale Motion (the "Scheduling Order," dkt. 115)

At the 3/24/20 hearing, this Court set a deadline of 3/25/20 for Debtor to serve, via overnight mail or personal delivery, the Scheduling Order on parties not previously served with the Sale Motion (dkt. 96) per Rule 7004 (Fed. R. Bankr. P.) who are directly affected by the Sale Motion, and to file a proof of service evidencing such service. Debtor timely served the

(1) Current issues

(a) No witnesses required

No witnesses need appear (either by telephone or in person), because no evidentiary issues are presented at this time.

(b) Objection to the Sale Motion

The tentative ruling is to overrule the objection objection (dkt.104) filed by the Estate of Maynard Poynter, Patricia Poynter, Leah Poynter, Adam Poynter, Sean pointer and Melissa O'Donnel. The parties should be prepared to address the issues raised in that objection and in Debtor's reply papers (dkt.110-12).

(c) Service of the Sale Motion on certain other persons

Debtor's proof of service ("POS," dkt. 101) appears insufficient. The tentative ruling is that the hearing will have to be continued to provide notice to persons who have not received adequate notices.

For example, Debtor proposes to sell/assign to Mariculture a license issued by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers (the "Corps") (see dkt. 111, Ex.1(ii) (APA), Schedules 1.1 & 1.3, at PDF pp.35 & 41). But there are two problems with any attempted service on the Corps:

(i) No service on the Corps itself. The Corps is listed on the proof of service with its mailing address crossed out and the notation "1/2/20 Unable to Forward" (dkt. 101, p.5, middle of right column); and

(ii) No service on U.S. Attorney and Attorney General. The Corps appears to be an "agency of the United States" so a copy of the motion papers should have been "addressed to the civil process clerk at the office of the United States Attorney" for this district (whose address is available on this Court's website, www.cacb.uscourts.gov under "Government Units' Mailing Address," section 2.4(a)) and to the "Attorney General of the United States at Washington, District of Columbia" (same, section 2.4(b)). Rule 7004(b) (4)&(5) (emphasis added) (incorporated by Rule 9014(b)).

There appear to be similar problems with service on other entities. For example, although Debtor's sale materials (dkt. 100, at PDF p.16) identify a "National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) Aquaculture Permit dated February 28, 2017" as one of the assets to be sold, and Schedules 1.1 and 1.3 of the APA (dkt. 111 at PDF pp. 35 & 41) also reference "permits and consents and conditions" imposed by NOAA, the POS does not appear to include NOAA or its representative. Similar issues appear to apply regarding the California Coastal Commission, Titan Steel Structures, and other parties to various executory contracts. See dkt. 111, Ex. 1(ii) (APA), Schedule 1.3, at PDF p. 41, and see Rule 7004(b)(3) (service on organizations) and (b)(6) (service on States, or governmental organizations thereof).

The tentative ruling is that it is appropriate to shorten time under Rule 9006(c) because of the exigent circumstances of Debtor having no funds to continue operating beyond a very short period of time. See dkt. 47, p.7:25; dkt. 79; dkt. 60; dkt. 93; dkt.109. The evidence before this Court is that Debtor's assets will lose substantial value if not all value if Debtor is unable to pay for care of its mussels and other essential tasks. See dkt. 96, pp.22:13-24:18; dkt. 99.

Based on the foregoing, the tentative ruling is to set the following deadlines: March 25, 2020 for Debtor to serve via overnight mail or personal delivery any entities whose interests are directly affected by the Sale Motion and who have not already been served in compliance with Rule 7004 (or who have waived such service), and to file a proof of service; April 3, 2020 for those entities to file and serve any response; and April 6, 2020 at noon for any reply papers. A continued hearing is tentatively set for April 7, 2020 at 2:00 p.m.

(2) Deadlines/dates. The involuntary petition commencing this case was filed on 9/15/19, and an order for relief in this converted chapter 11 case was entered on 12/18/19 (see dkt.28, 29).

The automatic stay does not apply

Grant the motion under 11 U.S.C. 362(c)(3) and (j): there is no automatic stay because (a) Debtor's prior case (#2:19-bk-20473-NB) was dismissed (on 9/4/19) within one year before this case was filed (on 10/25/19), (b) that dismissal was not under 11 U.S.C. 707(b), and (c) no finding of good faith was timely sought and obtained (see dkt. 67). re Hernandez, case no. 2:11-bk-53730-NB, docket #40 (Memorandum Decision).

In the alternative and in addition, this court grants relief from the automatic stay as follows.

Termination

Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (d)(4).

To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Relief notwithstanding future bankruptcy cases.

Grant the following relief pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(4) and the legal analysis in In re Vazquez, 580 B.R. 526 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2017), and/or In re Choong (case no. 2:14-bk-28378-NB, docket no. 31), as applicable:

If this order is duly recorded in compliance with applicable State laws governing notices of interests or liens in the property at issue, then no automatic stay shall apply to such property in any bankruptcy case purporting to affect such property and filed within two years after the date of entry of this order, unless otherwise ordered by the court presiding over that bankruptcy case.

For the avoidance of doubt, any acts by the movant to obtain exclusive possession of such property shall not be stayed, including any eviction actions, through and including any lockout or other enforcement by the Sheriff or other authorized legal authority.

Note: Per Judge Bason's posted procedures (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) this Court's order will state that the Court "does not make" a finding that Debtor was involved in the "scheme" referenced in section 362(d)(4), unless there is sufficient evidence that Debtor was involved and Debtor is given clear notice that the movant seeks an express finding that Debtor was involved. The tentative ruling in this particular case is that there is sufficient evidence and notice.

Grant the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a) (3).

Analysis

(1) Overview

Debtor has not met at least one of the deadlines established by this Court's order continuing the automatic stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(c)(3) (dkt. 31, the "Stay Order"). The tentative ruling is that this is prima facie "cause" for relief from the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1).

Alternatively, the tentative ruling is that Movant has established a prima facie showing of a lack of adequate protection. That is also cause for relief. 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1).

Altenatively, the tentative ruling is that Movant has established a prima facie showing that the subject property is not necessary to an effective reorganization (11 U.S.C. 362(d)(2)(B)). It is uncertain at this stage whether there is any equity in the subject property above all liens, and on that one issue Movant has the burden of proof, so the tentative ruling is not to rely on 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(2) in granting the relief set forth herein.

In addition, to the extent Debtor seeks reconsideration of the Stay Order, the tentative ruling is that she has not established sufficient legal or equitable grounds to do so.

Chapter 11

(2) Background

(a) The Stay Order

This is Debtor's second bankruptcy case. The first case (Case No. 2:19-bk-16825-NB) was filed on 6/11/19 and dismissed on 7/3/19 because Debtor was ineligible to be a chapter 13 debtor.

Shortly thereafter, on 7/17/19, Debtor filed this case. She moved to continue the automatic stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(c)(3) (dkt. 11). Movant's predecessor-in-interest, Patch of Land Lending, LLC ("Patch"), opposed that motion (dkt. 25).

After consideration of the filed documents and records of this Court, and oral arguments, this Court adopted its tentative ruling and entered an order granting the motion but, as a condition of continuation of the automatic stay, set a number of deadlines for Debtor to move this case forward and to ensure that the interests of Patch (among others) were not adversely affected - i.e., that they remained adequately protected (dkt. 31, the "Stay Order"). With respect to Patch's lien, this Court set deadlines as follows:

The tentative ruling is to grant [Debtor's] motion [to continue the automatic stay] in part and deny it in part by setting deadlines for Debtor to accomplish each of the items listed below. If Debtor fails timely to do so, objecting creditor Alliance Portfolio, Private Equity Finance, Inc. ("Alliance") (dkt. 21) and objecting creditor Patch of Land Lending, LLC ("Patch") (dkt. 25) would be authorized to file and serve motions for relief from the automatic stay on shortened time: a 14 day notice period, with any oppositions due 7 days prior to the hearing. The items that Debtor must accomplish are:

(ii) Bel Air refi/debt restructuring: by 9/24/19, file a motion to refinance the Bel Air Road property, or file a realistic plan of reorganization, or otherwise file appropriate papers aimed at stopping the running [of] postpetition default interest owed to Patch (and any other creditors whose interests are secured by that property and who might be able to charge default interest under 11 U.S.C. 506(b)) and

(iii) interest payments to Patch: if any such treatment of Patch has not been accomplished by 11/12/19, pay Patch on that date

all accrued postpetition interests, at the non-default interest rate, and thereafter maintain current in such payments . . . .
[Stay Order, dkt.31 (emphasis added)]

Debtor alleges that she has met the first deadline above by filing her motion to disallow Movant's default interest. For purposes of this tentative ruling, this Court expresses no view on that issue. But Debtor does not dispute that she has failed to meet the second deadline: she has not paid accrued and ongoing postpetition interest at the nondefault rate. See dkt. 147, Donatoni Decl., para. 13; dkt. 159, p. 9:28-10:2 (PDF pp. 12-13).

(b) Other developments

Two other developments, described below, may provide context. But they do nothing to amend the second deadline in the Stay Order, quoted above. So this Court ultimately concludes that these two other developments are not presently relevant, although both might be relevant in future.

First, on 9/26/19 Debtor filed a motion to obtain postpetition financing (the "Financing Motion," dkt. 75). But for the reasons set forth in this Court's tentative ruling and on the record, this Court denied that motion. Although the Finance Motion might be evidence of Debtor's efforts to move this case forward, and perhaps Debtor will seek approval of new financing at a later time, these things are different from showing compliance with the Stay Order.

As an aside, this Court directed Debtor to lodge a proposed order, but it appears Debtor has not done so. Accordingly, Debtor is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing and attach a copy of the tentative ruling, thereby adopting it as this Court's final ruling (subject to any changes ordered at the hearing).

Second, on 11/12/19, Debtor filed a motion challenging the validity of Movant's assertion that it is entitled to default interest and late fees (dkt. 123, the "Default Interest Motion"), but the hearing on that motion has been continued several times (dkt. 129, 133, 141) and the current hearing is set for 5/5/20 at 1:00 p.m. (dkt. 164). Even if Debtor were to prevail on the Default Interest Motion, that might or might not establish that Debtor has any equity in the subject property - that issue is disputed. For present purposes, the point is only that this Court cannot presume that Debtor will prevail, and therefore any analysis of Movant's claim, or of the equity in the subject property, cannot presume that Movant's claim for default interest will be disallowed.

(3) Grounds for relief under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1)&(2)

(a) Debtor's failure to meet one or more deadlines in the Stay Order is, by itself, "cause" for at least some form of relief from the automatics stay

The tentative ruling is that Movant has established "cause" for relief (11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1)) simply by showing that Debtor has missed one (or more) of the deadlines in the Stay Order. That order conditionally found that Debtor had met her burden to overcome the presumption that she has not filed this case in good faith, but only on the condition that she "must" meet the deadlines in that order - i.e., she had to demonstrate her good faith by adequate prosecution of this case. Now Debtor has the burden to show, by clear and convincing evidence, that she can overcome the presumption of a lack of good faith under 11 U.S.C. 362(c)(3) even though she has not met one or more deadlines in the Stay Order. See Stay Order (dkt.31, Ex.1, pp.3-5).

The tentative ruling is that Debtor has not met this burden on the present record. Debtor offers various excuses, but (as described below) they are unsupported by any substantial evidence or even a meaningful description of her prospects of making further progress and, meanwhile, protecting creditors' interests.

Therefore the tentative ruling is that it is appropriate to grant Movant the limited relief set forth at the start of this tentative ruling. That limited relief will permit Debtor some additional time to demonstrate (belatedly) her good faith.

(b) "Adequate protection," and necessity of the subject property to an "effective" reorganization

Alternatively - even if this Court were persuaded not to revisit the "good faith" issue under 11 U.S.C. 362(c)(3), as set forth above - the reasoning underlying the Stay Order still applies. One reason that this Court imposed the deadlines in the Stay Order was that those deadlines were part of the protection of Movant's interest that was required for "adequate protection" (11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1)). The burden is on Debtor to establish that Movant is protected by an equity cushion that is large enough to provide adequate protection despite missing the deadline to commence adequate protection payments. To date, Debtor has not done so. See Stay Order (dkt.31, Ex.1, part "(3)", entitled "Adequate protection of [Movant's] interests [in the subject property]").

Alternatively, the Stay Order set the deadlines therein as a method of measuring the progress that Debtor would need to show to establish that the subject property was necessary to an "effective" reorganization (11 U.S.C. 362(d)(2)(B)). See Stay Order (dkt.31, Ex.1, part "(2)(d)," entitled "Apparently sensible strategy [for attempting an effective reorganization]"). On this issue, too, Debtor has not followed through: at this later stage of the bankruptcy case (as described below), Debtor has not shown that she still could file a plan of reorganization that will have "a reasonable possibility of being confirmed within a reasonable time." United Sav. Assn. of Tex. v. Timbers of Inwood Forest Assoc's, Ltd., 484 U.S. 365, 375-76 (1988) (citation omitted).

In reaching this tentative ruling, this Court interprets 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(2) as requiring a stronger possibility of confirmation the longer the case is pending. But the tentative ruling is to reject any specific stages (such as deadlines keyed to the expiration of any exclusivity period) or any specific adjectives that attempt to capture all of the facts and circumstances that might be presented at each stage (such as progressing from a showing that a successful reorganization is "plausible" to being "probable" to being "assured"). Cf. dkt.147, pp.6:18-7:4 (citing In re Sun Valley Newspapers, 171 B.R. 71, 75 (9th Cir. BAP 1994)). This Court interprets Sun Valley as illustrating the type of analysis that bankruptcy courts typically apply in applying the "effective reorganization" standard of 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(2)(B), not as imposing any mandate that all bankruptcy courts must follow precisely such deadlines and adjectives. Alternatively, the tentative ruling is that this Court would reach the same result even if that were Sun Valley's holding (and even if this Bankruptcy Court were to hold that BAP decisions are binding, which has not been definitively established in the Ninth Circuit).

(4) Debtor's burden under the foregoing standards

Debtor faces an uphill battle. As this Court explained in the Stay Order, Debtor faces "numerous hurdles to a successful chapter 11 restructuring of her finances" (id., Ex.1, p.2), and her evidence of an ability to do so was "woefully inadequate" to show that she could feasibly reorganize at the time of that order, but at that "very early stage of this bankruptcy case" this Court afforded Debtor considerable leeway. Id., Ex.1, p.3. Now, at this later stage, Debtor has substantially less leeway, and she offers many excuses but no significant evidence of progress. It is possible that negotiations or litigation with Debtor's insurer will lead to something, but there is no evidence that they will.

Debtor's counter-arguments appear to rely on two possibilities. One possibility would be a valuation of the subject property that is sufficiently great to provide so large an equity cushion that no periodic payments to Movant are required (perhaps in conjunction with disallowing Movant's default interest and late charges). Another possibility would be some breakthrough with Debtor's insurer that would fund further repairs to the property in time to obtain a refinancing or establish cash flow to make periodic payments.

Although Debtor states that "[t]here are a few lenders very interested in [] refinancing the Property now that there is some solid progress being made on the insurance claim" (dkt. 159, p.15:2-3), Debtor has not attached evidence supporting these assertions. The declaration of Craig Bordon of ClaimsXP (the proposed claims adjuster) provides no details about the status of his efforts to obtain more insurance proceeds (dkt. 159, pp.23-24).

Finally, Debtor makes it clear that she cannot sell the Bel Air Property to capitalize on any equity. According to Debtor, the anticipated capital gains taxes could be around $1 million, which would seriously if not entirely deplete any equity in the property (id., p. 17:1-4).

The tentative ruling is that Debtor has not met her burdens under any of the foregoing analysis, but she will continue to have the opportunity to attempt to show these things, if she can do so in time. Meanwhile it is appropriate to grant relief from the automatic stay as set forth at the start of this tentative ruling.

(5) Valuation

The tentative ruling is that this Court cannot resolve the parties' valuation disputes without an evidentiary hearing, or possibly some other procedure, such as an agreement of the parties to be bound by the valuation determined by an independent appraiser selected by each of their appraisers. The parties are directed to address their preferred methods of valuation, and associated deadlines and other procedures, at the hearing.

(6) Treating Debtor's opposition as a request for reconsideration

Debtor's opposition could be construed as including a request for this Court to reconsider the deadlines in the Stay Order under Rule 9024 (Fed. R.

Bankr. P.). But the tentative ruling is that Debtor must file a separate motion if she seeks such relief, and in any event she has not established sufficient legal or factual grounds for reconsideration.

(7) Evidentiary objections

The tentative ruling is that Movant's evidentiary objections are well taken (dkt. 166), except that any untimeliness is insufficient to warrant striking the proffered evidence. But even considering all of Debtor's proffered evidence, the tentative ruling is that such evidence would not alter the outcome.

(8) Mr. Haycock's request for relief if Movant is granted relief (dkt. 157)

The tentative ruling is to grant Mr. Haycock's request that, if Movant is granted relief, it should be on the condition that parallel relief be granted to Mr. Haycock.

(9) Relief applicable notwithstanding any future bankruptcy cases ("in rem" relief)

The tentative ruling is that, although Debtor's failure to meet the deadlines in the Stay Order has reopened the question of Debtor's good faith, that is not quite enough to establish that the filing of the petition commencing this case was part of a "scheme" to delay, hinder, or defraud creditors (or any other grounds for in rem relief). Such relief requires a more showing of more egregious acts, or failures to act, than what is required to show "cause" for relief in this current bankruptcy case.

(10) Conclusion

This Court is empathetic to Debtor, and to other creditors whose interests might be prejudiced if Movant proceeds towards foreclosure. But in the nearly nine months that Debtor has been in bankruptcy (in her prior case and this one), she has failed to adequately use the tools available to her under the Bankruptcy Code to pay-off Movant's lien, restructure her finances, and/or establish that Movant is adequately protected, absent relief of the sort granted at the start of this tentative ruling.

(adv. dkt. 11) that Erica Martin was not served with the Trustee's Complaint (adv. dkt. 1), the Trustee stated that Erica Martin would be served with a new summons. Adv. dkt. 15, p.3:13-15. Another summons was issued on 2/4/20 (adv. dkt. 16) and at the hearing on 2/18/20 the Trustee represented that this summons had been served; but as of the drafting of this tentative ruling, no written proof of service has been filed on the docket. The Trustee is directed to file a proof of service evidencing such service no later than 4/10/20.

(2) Allegations in the complaint (adv. dkt. 1) re Section 727

The Adversary Proceeding Cover Sheet to the Trustee's complaint checks the box for objection/revocation of discharge pursuant to Section 727. Adv. dkt. 1, PDF p.1. But the body of the complaint does not address Section 727. The Trustee is reminded in future to avoid such discrepancies.

(3) Status report

The new summons provides that the parties were required to file a joint status report no later than 14 days before this status conference (3/24/20). As of the drafting no status report has been filed. The parties are reminded of their obligation to file status reports.

(B) Standard issues

This Court has reviewed the filed documents and records in this adversary proceeding. The following are Judge Bason's standard requirements for status conferences, modified slightly to account for the fact that appearances are not required. (To the extent that the parties have already addressed these issues in their status report, they need not repeat their positions at the status conference.)

(1) Venue/jurisdiction/authority.

The parties are directed to address any outstanding matters of (a) venue, (b) jurisdiction, (c) this Bankruptcy Court's authority to enter final orders or judgment(s) in this proceeding and, if consent is required, whether the parties do consent, or have already expressly or impliedly consented. Failure to contest this tentative ruling will be construed as consent, to the extent any consent is required, or alternatively as a waiver or forfeiture. See generally Stern v. Marshall, 131 S.Ct. 2594, 2608 (2011) (if litigant "believed that the Bankruptcy Court lacked the authority to decide his claim...then he should have said so – and said so promptly."); *Wellness Int'l Network, Ltd. v. Tentative Ruling for 3/3/20:

Continue as set forth below. Appearances are not required on 3/3/20.

(A) Preliminary Issues

(1) Proof of service of summons

A summons was issued on 12/26/19 (adv. dkt. 2), but as of the drafting of this tentative ruling, no proof of service evidencing service of the summons and complaint has been filed. Did the Trustee timely serve the summons and complaint?

(2) Status report

The summons (adv. dkt. 2) provides that a joint status report must be filed by the parties no later than 14 days prior to the status conference (2/18/20). As of the drafting of this tentative ruling, no status report has been filed.

The following are Judge Bason's standard requirements for status conferences. (To the extent that the parties have already addressed these issues in their status report, they need not repeat their positions at the status conference.)

(B) Standard Issues

(1) Venue/jurisdiction/authority.

The parties are directed to address any outstanding matters of (a) venue, (b) jurisdiction, (c) this Bankruptcy Court's authority to enter final orders or judgment(s) in this proceeding and, if consent is required, whether the parties do consent, or have already expressly or impliedly consented. further guidance.)

Chapter 11

(ii) Initial limited scope of employment

The tentative ruling is that employment cannot be authorized under subsection "(e)" of 11 U.S.C. 327, because that statutory provision applies by its terms only to a professional who "has represented" the debtor already (i.e., prepetition). But the tentative ruling is that employment may be limited in scope under subsection "(a)" of that section, and it is appropriate temporarily to authorize the firm's employment for its limited services on an emergency basis, without requiring it to commit to being "an involuntary DIP financier" of the Holdings case. Dkt.95, p.5:7. See In re Fondeller, 15 B.R. 890 (9th Cir. BAP 1981).

(iii) Funding by third party

The tentative ruling is to require supplemental declaration(s) addressing the following issues to be filed and served by 5/26/20, with any supplemental response by Elegant or the United States Trustee due 5/29/20 at noon. The following are the standard requirements of Judge Bason when funding for a debtor's counsel has been or will be provided by a third party.

Any contribution from a non-debtor third party raises certain ethical issues because a third party who funds a retainer for a debtor (a "Funder") may have a variety of motivations for providing the funding such as, for example, being the recipient of an avoidable preference, or otherwise having interests that are adverse to (or at least not fully aligned with) the bankruptcy estate or creditors. For these reasons, although payment of a retainer by a Funder is not outright prohibited, it is fraught with ethical concerns. Therefore, supplemental declaration(s) are needed to address the following.

(A) Connections. What are all of the connections between the Funder, on the one hand, and Debtor, Debtor's proposed counsel, and any of the other types of persons listed in FRBP 2014, on the other hand -- e.g., have there been any economic or business or personal connections between the Funder and Debtor, or between the Funder and proposed counsel, or any creditor or other party in interest, or their respective attorneys or accountants? These questions may be answered, if appropriate, by referring to specific disclosures already on file, e.g., the bankruptcy schedules.

(B) Terms. The Application does not clearly address whether the retainer was intended to be a gift or a loan.

(C) Informed consent of Funder. Has the Funder been advised regarding actual and potential conflicts of interest, and that the sole attorney-client relationship and duty of loyalty is with Debtor, not the Funder? Who provided such advice: independent counsel, or Debtor's proposed counsel (and if the latter, was each Funder given the opportunity to obtain independent counsel)? Has the Funder given informed consent? Are these things in writing?

(D) Informed consent of debtor. Has the debtor likewise been fully advised and given informed consent? Who provided such advice? Are these things in writing?

(E) Other considerations. Has proposed counsel demonstrated to the Court the absence of an actual or potential conflict, a lack of disinterestedness, or any other basis for disqualification? See In re Kelton Motors, Inc., 116 B.R. 208, 219 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1990); In re Park-Helena Corp., 63 F.3d 877 (9th Cir. 1995).

The tentative ruling is that, based on the known possibility of avoidable transfers or other concerns (see 89), it might be necessary to require additional disclosures regarding the source of funds, and arrangements between Mr. Chan's affiliates. Debtor is directed to address that in the supplemental declaration(s).

(iv) Evergreen retainer

The tentative ruling is to authorize the procedure suggested by the United States Trustee in its opposition papers: holding funds in the firm's trust account. See dkt.81, p.7:15-18.

(v) Authorization and commitment to serve as general bankruptcy counsel after initial limited scope of employment, subject to DIP Financing

The tentative ruling is to continue the employment application to be heard concurrent with the continued status conference (see below).

Trustee ("Tremblay") for relief from the automatic stay (dkt. 9), debtor's response (dkt. 11), Celtic Bank Corporation's limited objection (dkt. 18, 40), debtor's supplemental opposition and supporting declarations (dkt. 25, 26, 27, 29), stipulations to continue hearing and orders thereon (dkt. 62, 63, 83, 87), Tremblay's amended motion for relief from stay (dkt. 93), Debtor's opposition (dkt. 95) and evidentiary objections (dkt. 96), reply (dkt.119).

Analysis

(1) Service

As Debtor points out (dkt.94, pp.4:13-5:2), under Rule 4001 (Fed. R. Bankr. P.) a motion for relief from the automatic stay must be served on Debtor's list of 20 largest general unsecured creditors. Debtor asserts that the motion was not served in accordance with that rule; but the original motion was (dkt.9, at PDF pp.61-64) and Debtor cites no authority that the amendments to the motion were so substantial that they would require re-noticing. Any creditor who cared to follow the progress of the original motion would be able to do so, and file any papers or make any arguments they wish. The tentative ruling is that Debtor's argument that additional service is required is not persuasive.

(2) Evidentiary objections

The tentative ruling is to overrule Debtor's evidentiary objections (dkt.96), which are not well taken. For example, Debtor objects to Movant's valuation evidence on grounds of relevance. How can Debtor assert that the value of the subject property is irrelevant when it is clearly relevant under the statute (11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (2)) and when the Amended Motion asserts (dkt.93, p.3, para.4.a.(1)(A)&(B) & p.4, para.4.b.) that (i) the subject property's value is inadequate to protect Movant's interest and is declining, and (ii) Debtor lacks any equity in the property (and that the property is not necessary to an effective reorganization)?

(3) Valuation

Although valuation is relevant, the tentative ruling is that this Court cannot resolve the parties' valuation disputes without an evidentiary hearing (or other procedure, such as an agreement of the parties to be bound by the valuation determined by an independent appraiser selected by each of their appraisers). Normally this Court would set an evidentiary hearing (or other procedures) and establish associated deadlines and other procedures. But the tentative ruling is that all such procedures are unnecessary because Movant has shown other "cause" for relief from the automatic stay.

(4) Cause for relief from the automatic stay

Movant asserts that Debtor has shown bad faith, and that this is "cause" for relief from the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1). The tentative ruling is to agree.

This is Debtor's second bankruptcy case. The first case (Case No. 2:19-bk-21504-NB) was filed on 9/30/19 and dismissed on 11/5/19 for failure to file required documents. Before that case was dismissed, Tremblay filed a motion for relief from the automatic stay in which he pointed out that Debtor was ineligible for chapter 13 under 11 U.S.C. 109(e) and accused Debtor of intentionally misusing the bankruptcy system for purposes of delay. See Case No. 2:19-bk-21504-NB, dkt.10, p.5). Nevertheless, Debtor filed this case as another chapter 13 case on 11/20/19.

This Court recognizes that at the time each case was filed Debtor had no attorney of record. But Debtor owns multiple real properties and two businesses (one that recently ceased operating), and there is no showing that Debtor is unsophisticated.

Nor is there any showing that Debtor was unable to read and understand Tremblay's motion, or was unable to find an attorney to represent her, despite her substantial alleged assets and income. This Court takes judicial notice that other debtors with a range of assets, liabilities, income, expenses, and other characteristics regularly understand the chapter 13 debt limits and regularly retain bankruptcy attorneys, especially after having been accused of misusing the bankruptcy system.

In other words, Movant has established a prima facie showing that Debtor's two chapter 13 bankruptcy petitions were filed in bad faith. The burden is on Debtor to rebut that showing. Instead, the tentative ruling is that Debtor has done the opposite.

True, Debtor belatedly retained an attorney, and filed a motion to convert this case to chapter 11, which this Court granted effective just over two months ago, on 1/2/20. Subsequently, however, this Court has noted Debtor's lack of prosecution of this chapter 11 case. See Tentative Rulings for Status Conference (calendar no. 16, 3/3/20 at 1:00 p.m.).

Even now, over three months after the petition date (11/20/19), Debtor still has not proposed any sale of her properties, or other method to pay her creditors within a reasonable time. Debtor's filed papers suggest that she is entirely reliant on rental income, but that income is uncertain and the net amount apparently is very modest (if anything), after mortgages and other expenses (see Tentative Ruling for Status Conference, calendar no.16 on 3/3/20 at 1:00 p.m.). See also Jan. MOR (dkt.103) ($0 income reported).

Debtor proposes a chapter 11 plan (dkt.97) that appears unconfirmable on its face. As Movant points out, the plan proposes to modify Movant's claim (and another claim) both of which appear to be secured only by an interest in Debtor's principal residence, in contravention of 11 U.S.C. 1123(b)(5). See dkt.97, pp.3:1-4:10. Moreover, the plan proposes what appear to be interest-only payments with a balloon payment of the entire principal many months later. See dkt.97, Ex.A & A-1, at PDF pp.8&10, Classes 2A & 2B. See also dkt.119, p.3:1-8.

For all of these reasons, the tentative ruling is that Debtor has filed and has prosecuted (or failed to prosecute) her two bankruptcy cases in bad faith. The tentative ruling is that this is sufficient "cause" for relief from the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1). Specifically, the tentative ruling is to grant the following relief.

Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1).

To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Effective date of relief

Grant the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a)(3).

Co-debtor stay

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) has not been shown to have any basis for any different treatment from the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a), so the tentative ruling is to grant the identical relief regarding any co-debtor stay.

(1) Current issues

(a) Compliance and reporting issues

The tentative ruling is to issue an order to show cause ("OSC") why this Court should not (i) remove Debtor as a debtor in possession (11 U.S.C. 1185(a)) and expand the Subchapter V Trustee's duties (11 U.S.C. 1183(b) (2)&(5)), or alternatively (ii) convert or dismiss this case (11 U.S.C. 1112). The grounds for such OSC are set forth below, in the tentative rulings for this hearing and prior hearings.

Such grounds include evidence of gross mismanagement of the affairs of Debtor, incompetence, dishonesty, apparent failure to maintain appropriate insurance that poses a risk to the estate or to the public, apparently unauthorized use of cash collateral substantially harmful to one or more creditors, unexcused failure to satisfy timely the filing and reporting requirements established by the Bankruptcy Code and federal and local rules of this Court, failure to comply with the orders of this Court regarding disclosures and compliance with Debtor's obligations, failure timely to provide information reasonably requested by the United States Trustee, or other "cause" within the meaning of the cited statutory provisions. The tentative ruling is to set a hearing on the OSC concurrent with the continued status conference (see below), with a deadline of 5/20/20 for Debtor to serve the OSC on all parties in interest, and a deadline of 5/28/20 for Debtor and any other party in interest to file a response to the OSC.

After this hearing, this Court intends to issue a Memorialization of Tentative Rulings, as well as the OSC incorporating that memorialization by reference. The OSC will direct Debtor to serve those documents on all parties in interest.

(b) Debtor's motion for authority to conduct business out of the ordinary course (dkt. 204), oppositions due at the hearing

The tentative ruling is to deny this motion in full - including Debtor's "merchandizing" business(es), her "brokerage" business(es), her real estate development business(es), and any other businesses. But the tentative ruling is to do so without prejudice, and permit Debtor, for as long as she continues to be authorized to act as a debtor in possession, to file and serve future notices of proposed transactions under this motion, which she may self-calendar on 14 days' notice concurrent with any future status conference, with a deadline of 7 days prior to the hearing for any objection, and any reply permitted orally at the hearing. The grounds for this tentative ruling are as follows.

(i) Statutory requirements

Debtor is prohibited from engaging in any use, sale, or lease of property of the bankruptcy estate "other than in the ordinary course of business." 11 U.S.C. 363(b)(1). Even as to "ordinary course" transactions, Debtor may not use cash or cash equivalents in which any entity has an interest ("cash collateral") (e.g., rents that are subject to an assignment of rents) without either authorization from this Court (after notice and a hearing) or such entity's consent (which is typically conditioned on things that require authorization from this Court, such as replacement liens).

What is "ordinary course" typically is measured in two ways. In broad terms, the "vertical" test looks to whether the transactions at issue are consistent with creditors' expectations based on Debtor's past transactions, and the "horizontal" test looks to what typically is done by other persons engaged in the same line of business as the subject debtor. See generally In re Dant & Russell, Inc., 853 F.2d 700 (9th Cir. 1988).

In this case, Debtor has not provided any evidence regarding the vertical test - i.e., that historically she engaged in a pattern of transactions similar to any of the businesses she now seeks to do. To the contrary, as set forth in prior tentative rulings (reproduced below) she has represented that her businesses were limited to the defunct "Hot Ginger" clothing business and ownership of some rental properties. Nor has Debtor provided any evidence regarding the horizontal test.

Therefore Debtor was and is required to seek authorization from this Court under 11 U.S.C. 363(b), after notice and a hearing, to engage in any of the businesses she describes in her motion. In addition, Debtor is cautioned that other limitations may apply to any proposed transaction. See, e.g., 11 U.S.C. 363(c) (cash collateral), 11 U.S.C. 364 (extensions of credit), and 28 U.S.C. 959(b) (compliance with nonbankruptcy laws).

With this background, this Court turns to the matters addressed in Debtor's motion for authority to use, sell, or lease property of the bankruptcy estate out of the ordinary course of business.

(ii) Three more previously undisclosed matters

This Court repeatedly has warned Debtor about the need for full and accurate disclosures (see the tentative rulings reproduced below, passim). But only in this latest motion has Debtor revealed that previously she has engaged in "three merchandizing transactions ...." Dkt.204, p.5:22. Why did Debtor fail to seek prior authorization for these transactions, and why did she fail to reveal them until now?

(iii) What is the third merchandizing transaction?

Debtor describes only two merchandizing transactions. See dkt.204, pp.5:20-6:9. What is the third transaction?

(iv) Where is Debtor's evidence?

Where is Debtor's declaration in support of the allegations in her papers regarding these three (or two) transactions? Where is the evidence supporting her allegations about her alleged gross profits, expenses, etc.?

In addition, where is Debtor's declaration affirming that at long last she has scoured her records and consulted again with her bankruptcy counsel and now fully understands her disclosure obligations and requirement for prior authorization under section 363(b) (and other legal requirements)? Where is her declaration that despite her previous failures to disclose her real estate development business, her PPE brokerage business, and the additional two or three transactions that she now reveals, she has now finally disclosed everything that she is required to disclose?

(v) The first transaction (Lifethreads) is not sufficiently disclosed

As to the first of these most recently disclosed transactions (with Lifethreads LLC), Debtor's disclosures continue to be insufficient. She claims this transaction - the nature of which is not described - resulted in "a virtual zero net gain." Dkt.204, p.5:23 (emphasis added). What does this mean?

Is "virtual" zero a negative number? In other words, did Debtor lose money? How much?

Even if Debtor did not lose money, what was the risk that Debtor would lose money (in this unauthorized transaction)? More generally, what did Debtor buy and sell? Did she use cash collateral of one or more creditors to engage in this transaction? If she alleges that she did not, where did the funds for this transaction come from?

(vi) The second (C Health/Imperial) transaction is not sufficiently disclosed

As to the second of these most recent transactions (with C Health Co. LLC and Imperial Glove & Safety LLC) Debtor discloses that she paid "$50,000 for the merchandise in April and $30,000 in May plus [a $4,000?] commission for her broker counterpart" resulting in "a profit of over $6,000." Where is the evidence that this is an appropriate transaction from a cost/benefit standpoint?

In this C Health/Imperial transaction Debtor apparently spent approximately $84,000 to buy goods (PPE?). Again, where did this money come from, and is it cash collateral of one or more creditors?

What risks did the bankruptcy estate bear that Debtor might not have been able to resell the goods at a profit (as with the first transaction)? What other risks did the estate bear, such as the risk that the goods were defective? What steps did Debtor take to assure that the goods were not defective, or to obtain indemnities, or provide adequate disclaimers of warranties, or any other appropriate precautions?

What was Debtor's net profit (if any)? Debtor states that she made a modest gross profit of $6,000, after cost of goods and broker's commission. Again, there is no evidence of any of this. Nor is there any precise accounting. What is the net profit after deducting income taxes, insurance, and any any other costs and expenses that are properly allocable to this transaction?

(vii) Debtor's PPE brokerage business

Debtor appears to argue that there is no real risk to the bankruptcy estate in the brokerage transactions. First, once again, there is no evidence to support this assertion: all of Debtor's allegations are unsupported by any declaration or other evidence.

Second, Debtor conflates her lack of any written guarantees or warranties with a lack of risk of liability. They are not the same, as explained below.

Debtor asserts that she "makes no guaranty regarding any aspect of the PPE and requires the the purchaser inspect the PPE directly before the purchaser agrees to purchase it" and she makes "no warranties or commitments as they are not necessary under this business model." Dkt.204, p.4:3-17. But the alleged lack of guarantees, warranties, and commitments is not the same as insulation from possible liability for breach of contract or tort. To use a hypothetical analogy solely for purposes of illustration, if Debtor recklessly brokered the sale of toxic snake oil by a charlatan to a hospital, Debtor might be liable for the resulting deaths.

Debtor admits that "the broker transactions involve securing PPE inventory following strict Food and Drug Administration (FDA) guidelines" (dkt.204, p.4:16-18, emphasis added) but, despite the sensitive nature of these transactions, they "occur fast" with "no formal brokering contracts involved" (id., p.4:25-27). Is Debtor asking creditors and this Court to believe that, when she brokers PPE "to hospitals, state agencies, and municipalities" (id., p.4:17-18), she never makes assurances that she has a qualified supplier who is ready, willing, and able to deliver the PPE, and there is never a risk that some of her oral communications will be misconstrued as providing some sort of promise that could be the basis for a breach of contract claim, or tort liability?

The point is not that any transaction must be risk-free. Rather, the point is that Debtor has not acknowledged and disclosed whatever risks are involved, and what cost/benefit analysis is involved, in her proposed transactions.

(viii) Conclusion as to proposed transactions

Debtor is gambling with creditors' money, and there is no evidence that Debtor herself knows the odds. In any event, she has not disclosed any assessment of the risks and any cost/benefit analysis. Moreover, given that the Hot Ginger business has been closed (for some time), the tentative ruling is that reopening that business would be a transaction out of the ordinary course. Therefore, Debtor has not met her burden to justify engaging in any transactions in future beyond her rental of the four properties she disclosed earlier in this case.

(c) Motion for relief from stay (as amended, dkt. 93), debtor supplemental declaration (dkt.129), previously-filed papers (see tentative ruling for 3/3/20, reproduced at calendar no.9, 5/12/20 at 1:00 p.m.)

(d) Motion for postpetition DIP financing (dkt.198)

This motion is not on for hearing until 6/2/20. But, as part of this Status Conference, the tentative ruling is to direct Debtor no later than 5/20/20 to file Local Form 4001-2 (as required by the posted Procedures of Judge Bason, available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov). This Court recognizes that Debtor has included a list (dkt.198, pp.6-7) that might or might not be identical to the form; but parties in interest (and this Court should not have to do a line-by-line comparison).

In addition, the tentative ruling is to set the same deadline to file declaration(s) specifying exactly which liens Debtor proposes to prime (only Oxygen Funding's lien?) and an explanation of the source of funds for the estimated $63,664.02 "Due from Borrower" listed in the draft escrow statement (dkt.198, Ex.5, at PDF p.64). Is Debtor's husband going to pay this, out of his separate property?

2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 11/20/19, converted from chapter 13 to chapter 11 on 1/2/20, and designated by Debtor as a Subchapter V case on 3/2/20 (dkt.128).

(1) Current issues

(a) Compliance and reporting issues

Can creditors or this Court rely on anything Debtor says?

(i) What is Debtor's business?

In the status report filed on 1/21/20 (the "Principal Status Report," dkt.65, p.2) Debtor asserted that her businesses were Hot Ginger, Inc. (although that apparently is not operating) and owning four rental properties. So it appeared that Debtor was a landlord.

There was no mention of any real estate development business. But Debtor's declaration of postpetition income at expenses (dkt.194, at PDF p.5), asserts that Debtor's business has been "turn-key" real estate development including prefabricated section 8/veterans' housing. Debtor declares that the Covid-19 pandemic has shut down that business, but the pandemic did not shut down any businesses until after January, so why was that business not mentioned anywhere in the Principal Status Report?

And now Debtor reveals that she has started a new business as a broker of Personal Protective Equipment ("PPE"). She has not provided any notice to creditors of this new business, nor has she obtained authorization from this Court for starting transactions out of the ordinary course of business (11 U.S.C. 363(b)). See dkt.188, p.3, and dkt.191, last page. Does Debtor have any necessary or appropriate licenses or insurance? What are the risks, expenses, and potential benefits? What happens if Debtor brokers $1m of PPE for a local hospital and then fails to deliver that PPE? Is there potential liability for the bankruptcy estate?

Debtor lists "self-employment" gross income of $5,000.00/mo. with no expenses (dkt.184 at PDF p.9). What is that "self-employment" business? Is it the PPE business? Or the real estate development business? Or some other (undisclosed) business?

(ii) What are the income and expenses of Debtor's non-rental business(es)?

Debtor reports no expenses associated with her "self-employment" business (whatever that is). Can that be so?

Perhaps the lack of any self-employment or income taxes can be explained based on Debtor's unsupported assumption that she will receive tax refunds of $193,000.00 (dkt.194 at PDF p.3). But are there really no other business expenses: no telephone, internet, computer, printer, supplies, office space, etc.?

Given Debtor's assertion that she made such huge miscalculations that she over-paid past years' taxes to the tune of $193,000.00, what confidence can creditors or this Court have that her projected revenues and (lack of) expenses are accurate? On tax issues specifically, how can anyone have confidence that Debtor is taking appropriate deductions and paying appropriate taxes for whatever businesses she currently operates?

(iii) In the rental business, what are Debtor's income and expenses?

Debtor's declaration of postpetition income and expenses (dkt.194, at PDF pp.7-8) lists $3,000.00/mo. of rental income for each of the "626" and "622" properties. But she reports actual income from the "626" property of $2,800.00/mo. (dkt.188 at PDF p.8), and $-0- for the "622" property (dkt.188 at PDF p.9).

As for expenses, Debtor lists $0 for maintenance, repairs, real estate taxes, insurance, utilities, any gardener, or anything else at the Jefferson Plaza property, other than the mortgages. See dkt.194, at PDF p.6. The same is true for the "626" and "622" properties, except for $37.50/mo. for maintenance. See dkt.194, at PDF pp.7-8. How is that remotely realistic?

It also appears that, even if there were no expenses other than the mortgages, some of the properties might operate at a net loss. For example, the "626" property (the one with $3,000.00/mo. of alleged income and $2,800.00 of actual income) apparently has a monthly mortgage expense of $5,625.00 (dkt.188 at PDF p.10). How does it make sense for the bankruptcy estate to retain properties that appear to be a drain on income?

Perhaps in recognition of the need for more revenue, Debtor reports that the Jefferson Plaza rents/revenue may increase (dkt.194, p.2). Is that realistic? This Court takes judicial notice of economic projections that, in the wake of the Covid-19 closures of many restaurants and other businesses, landlords might be facing a difficult time attracting and retaining enough tenants. Is it realistic for Debtor to plan to raise rents?

(iv) What else is going unreported, and is unauthorized?

Debtor lists $36,171.94 in receipts from "insurance" (dkt.188 at PDF p.9), with no explanation. Was there a fire or some other damage that was insured? Did that occur pre- or postpetition? Will the insurance cover all repair costs or only part?

Debtor reveals expenditures of $15,000.00 for construction (dkt.188, at PDF p.11). Is that construction within the ordinary course of Debtor's business (in which case why was that business not disclosed?) or was it out of the ordinary course (in which case why did Debtor fail to provide prior notice and seek authorization under section 363(b))?

Debtor has explained that some restaurant meals and other expenditures are being paid by her non-debtor husband. Both the expense and the husband's reimbursement should appear on the monthly operating reports, but if the reimbursements are disclosed they were not immediately apparent to this Court.

What else is going on that is not disclosed and/or not authorized?

(v) Conclusion regarding compliance and reporting

All of the foregoing deficiencies are on top of months of incomplete, inconsistent, and erroneous financial reporting, and unauthorized

(1) Current issues

(a) Inadequate status report (dkt.169)

Debtor's status report simply repeats what is on the docket. It does not address any of the issues raised at prior status conferences and noted below. The tentative ruling is that no fees should be charged for preparation of the status report.

(b) Partially adequate Disclosures

This Court has reviewed Debtor's supplemental disclosures about her non-debtor husband's finances and related matters (dkt. 145, 146, 147, 148, 158, 159, 167) in response to this Court's order issued on 3/4/20 (dkt. 133). The tentative ruling is that the disclosures are partially adequate.

On the one hand, Debtor has provided a copy of the premarital agreement (dkt.146, Ex.1), which is very important, and has also filed amended bankruptcy schedules I, J and D, as well as a statement of postpetition income and expenses, and Monthly Operating Reports ("MORs"). On the other hand, these disclosures are incomplete, unclear, and internally inconsistent.

(i) Incompleteness

The incompleteness includes that, as Debtor acknowledges, she has yet to provide an amended Statement of Financial Affairs ("SOFA") because her family is dealing with the loss of a close family member (dkt.146, p.3, para.7 & 9). It is unclear what else might be missing: creditors and this Court cannot know what they and this Court do not know. The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 4/21/20 to file the amended SOFA and any other documents that were required under this Court's prior order (dkt. 133).

(ii) Lack of clarity

The MORs are unclear:

(A) There are two business accounts (-8997 and -9003) but which account relates to which property/business?

Chapter 11

(B) Why are there only two business accounts when Debtor apparently shares in the income from the Jefferson Plaza business and has four properties (535 N Fuller, 636 N Laurel, 622 E 35th, and 626 E 35th) at least two of which are rental properties?

(C) Why are there two personal checking accounts (-9011 and -6492)?

(D) Why is one account overdrawn (account -6492 shows a balance of -$437, dkt.165, at PDF p.14)?

(E) Debtor's January MOR vaguely lists many entries as "Household." From other information about some of these "Household" expenses, it is not clear that they are appropriate for a debtor in possession: for example, $350 for "Your Hair By Ellie" on 1/31/20 (dkt.165, p.12, last entry) and $390.92 for "Sephora" on 1/21/20 (dkt.165, p.11, 3d line from bottom). True, Debtor alleges that there is equity in various properties, but that is far from certain and she might well be insolvent. In addition, the MOR lists a lot of restaurant meals (dkt.165, pp.11-12), and again, it is not clear that this is appropriate budgeting for a debtor in possession. The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 4/21/20 for Debtor to file amended MORs that address these issues.

Debtor's alleged equity in her various properties is also far less clear than it should be. Although that information probably can be pieced together from various other documents, the tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 4/21/20 for Debtor to file a declaration with an attached spreadsheet showing, for each property or business, Debtor's estimate of value, the source of that estimate, the liens against each property (listed by lienholder, in order of seniority), the dollar amount of the claim secured by that lien (according to Debtor and, alternatively, according to the holder of the lien), and the sources of those data.

(iii) Internal inconsistency

One internal inconsistency is that the latest Bankruptcy Schedules I&J list $16,000 as Debtor's net income from rental properties/businesses (dkt.159, p.2, line 8a) but the attached statements for each property/business list $10,000 of net income (consisting of $10,000 from Jefferson Plaza, LLC, $0 from 622 E 36th St, and $0 from 626 E. 36th St.). Dkt. 159, pp.5-7. What is the source of the other $6,000?

This Court has considered the possibility that Debtor has mixed up gross and net income. But that does not work either because the gross income is $22,700 ($16,700 + $3,000 + $3,000 = $22,700). Dkt. 159, pp.5-7.

The latest declaration of postpetition income and expenses (dkt.158) has yet more numbers that are different, but no explanation and no attached disclosures of gross income, expenses, and calculation of net income.

The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 4/21/20 for Debtor to file (A) further amended Bankruptcy Schedules I and J and (B) a further amended statement of postpetition income and expenses, with a complete explanation of any differences between the former and the latter.

(iv) Conclusion as to Debtor's financial disclosure

How can creditors and this Court rely on Debtor to make accurate financial reporting of anything in this case if even basic information is missing, unclear, or incorrect? The tentative ruling is to give Debtor one more opportunity for complete, candid, and clear financial disclosures.

(c) No discernable progress since last hearing

At a hearing on 3/10/20, this Court noted that the docket does not reflect any motion to sell or refinance any property, or other evidence of adequate prosecution of this case, but took no action other than to caution Debtor to be cognizant of the warnings that this Court set forth on the record at the hearing on 3/3/20. The docket still does not reflect any activity. Why not?

(d) Motion for relief from stay (as amended, dkt. 93), debtor supplemental declaration (dkt.129), previously-filed papers (see tentative ruling for 3/3/20, reproduced at calendar no.13, 3/10/20 at 1:00 p.m.)

The parties should be prepared to address whether they have agreed upon procedures for valuing the property and whether further briefing is necessary regarding any issues of debtor's alleged bad faith. See dkt.132, 138.

(e) Debtor's motion for order declaring judgment liens void as violations of the automatic stay and for compensatory sanctions (dkt. 122, the "Sanctions Motion"); National Commercial Recovery, Inc.'s ("NCR") opposition (dkt. 142), debtor's reply (dkt. 157)

Deny.

The tentative ruling is that Debtor is correct that the automatic stay in her prior bankruptcy case applied when the abstracts were recorded, so the recording was void. But NCR is also correct:

(i) that there is no evidence Debtor gave it notice of her bankruptcy filing, which would entitle it to seek to retroactively annul the stay (see In re Fjeldsted, 293 B.R. 12 (9th Cir. BAP 2003); and see also In re Williams, 323 B.R. 691, 697-702 (9th Cir. BAP 2005) (various issues involving annulment, and application of Fjeldsted), aff'd, 204 Fed.Appx. 582 (9th Cir. 2006), overruled on other issues, In re Perl, 811 F.3d 1120 (9th Cir. 2016) (scope of automatic stay)), and

(ii) that, although the better course may have been for NCR to file a motion seeking retroactive annulment, NCR was not taking any affirmative steps (it was not doing things held to violate the automatic stay, like terminating an executory contract - it was doing nothing, which preserved the status quo). That is less than what has been held, in an analogous situation involving preservation of the status quo, not to violate the automatic stay. See Citizens Bank of MD v. Stumpf, 116 S.Ct. 286 (1995). Therefore, the tentative ruling is that as a legal matter, NCR did not have any duty to record releases of its liens, and did not violate the automatic stay by declining to do so.

On the equities, to the extent equitable considerations are relevant, why should NCR have to pay to litigate these issues, instead of Debtor? If the lien were truly shown to be an obstacle to anything Debtor needs to accomplish, it is more equitable to place the burden on Debtor to seek affirmative relief than it would be to place the burden on NCR to seek confirmation from this Court that it has no duty to release its liens.

Moreover, the tentative ruling is that Debtor's premise is flawed. Debtor asserts that "if NCR's lien were allowed to remain" that "would prevent refinancing" and "crater the case ...." (dkt. 157, p.2:25-26). How so?

Debtor has not established why she could not obtain financing that primes NCR's junior lien (if that lien is adequately protected) under 11 U.S.C. 364. Alternatively, Debtor has not explained why a chapter 11 plan could not leave NCR's lien in place and pay it over time. In fact, Debtor allegedly intends to pay all creditors (not just NCR) 100% of their claims over time, so it is not clear that Debtor has to do anything regarding NCR's lien at this point. Is this litigation a good use of the bankruptcy estate's assets?

Revised Tentative Ruling for 3/10/20:
Appearances required.

(1) Current issues

(a) Debtor's amendment of bankruptcy petition to elect Subchapter V (dkt. 128)

On 3/2/20, Debtor amended her petition to elect Subchapter V. The parties should be prepared to discuss the effect of that amendment, including any appropriate dates and deadlines for such matters as the appointment of a Subchapter V trustee, the filing of an amended plan, and any other applicable procedures that this Court may need to set at this time.

(b) No discernable progress since last hearing

The docket does not reflect any motion to sell or refinance any property, or other evidence of adequate prosecution of this case. Given the short time since the last hearing, the tentative ruling is that this Court will not take any action based on that lack of discernable progress, but to remind Debtor to be cognizant of the warnings that this Court set forth on the record at the last hearing.

(c) No corrected MOR

Debtor has not corrected the monthly operating report, which was not filed on the required form. See tentative ruling for 3/3/20 (reproduced below), item "(1)" "(b)". Why not?

(d) No statement reflecting apparent increase in income?

Despite two reminders, Debtor still has not filed a declaration of current/postpetition income and expenses. See Revised Tentative Rulings for

3/10/20 and 2/18/20 (reproduced below). Why not?

(e) Budget Motion (dkt. 85, 90), East West Bank's opposition (dkt. 94), Debtor's reply (dkt. 134), interim order (dkt.113)

Although this Court has concerns about whether Debtor's financial disclosures are accurate and complete (as set forth in various portions of this tentative ruling and prior tentative rulings), the proposed use of funds in the budget motion appears to be appropriate. Accordingly, the tentative ruling is to grant the motion on a final basis, subject to the following.

First, any approval is subject possible reconsideration once Debtor finally files her statement of postpetition income and expenses, and files the other documents directed by this Court (see dkt.133), or as other facts may come to light. Second, the budget must be adjusted to accommodate the request of East West Bank for Debtor to increase her proposed monthly mortgage payment to $5,643.86, which Debtor has agreed to do (dkt. 134). Third, any approval is subject to the parties' rights to seek further relief, including approval of any stipulation for adequate protection.

(f) Cash Collateral Motion (dkt. 86, 90)

Grant the motion on a final basis, on the same terms as stated in the order (dkt.114) granting the motion on an interim basis, and subject to the same caveats and conditions as set forth above regarding the budget motion.

(g) Application to employ The Orantes Law Firm (the "Firm") (dkt. 72); statement of disinterestedness (dkt. 73); amended statement of disinterestedness (dkt. 82); Dec re non-opp (dkt. 98); order setting matter for hearing (dkt. 101)

The tentative ruling is to grant the application in part and deny it in part as follows.

Debtor seeks to employ the Firm pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 327, with compensation pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 330 at the following hourly rates for the Firm's attorneys: Giovanni Orantes: $695 and Luis A. Solorzano: $350 (dkt. 72, p.16). In determining the reasonableness of the proposed billing rates, 11 USC 330(a)(3)(B), (E) and (F) require this Court to consider, among other things, proposed counsel's hourly rates, any board certification or other demonstrated skill and experience in the bankruptcy field, and "the customary compensation charged by comparably skilled practitioners ...."

Based on a review of rates charged by other bankruptcy professionals practicing before this Court as well as this Court's familiarity with proposed counsel's skills and performance in pending and past cases before it, the tentative ruling is to approve the Firm's employment, subject to Judge Bason's standard employment terms (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov), but reduce the hourly rates that the Firm may charge to the following maximum dollar amounts, without in any way limiting the requirement that any rates charged and time spent still must be fully justified: Giovanni Orantes: $475/hour and Luis A. Solorzano: $250/hour.

In addition, the tentative ruling is that any waiver of conflicts of interest is ineffective as against the bankruptcy estate. (A "debtor in possession," acting as a trustee for the benefit of creditors, cannot waive conflicts on behalf of those creditors.)

(h) Motion for relief from stay (as amended, dkt. 93), debtor supplemental declaration (dkt.129), previously-filed papers (see tentative ruling for 3/3/20, reproduced at calendar no.13, 3/10/20 at 1:00 p.m.)

The tentative ruling is to continue this matter again, to be concurrent with the continued status conference (see below), so as to be able to assess (i) whether Debtor has adequately prosecuted this case, including selling or refinancing one or more properties (if that is realistic) or otherwise demonstrating progress that has been sorely lacking to date, and (ii) Debtor's papers regarding her non-debtor husband's finances, which are due 3/18/20. See Order (dkt.133).

Meanwhile, the parties should be prepared to address whether they have agreed upon procedures for valuing the property and whether further briefing is necessary regarding any issues of debtor's alleged bad faith. See dkt.132, 138.

Debtor's Bankruptcy Schedules I and J provide very little information about Debtor's rental income. They list only gross rents per building instead of, e.g., a rent roll listing each tenant and their rental rate and information about whether those rents are reliable, such as a rental history. Nor does Debtor provide any breakdown of expenses, beyond what appears to be Debtor's rough estimate of $6,000 per month in mortgage payments, which appears to omit any payments to liens that Debtor is disputing. Nothing appears to be allocated for rental property maintenance, repairs, utilities, gardening, etc.

In addition, creditor Tremblay has questioned whether Debtor is omitting community property income of her non-debtor spouse, Mr. Behzad Beroukhai. See dkt.119, p.2:17-28. As Tremblay notes, Mr. Beroukhai allegedly pays all expenses related to certain real property, but Debtor has not disclosed and accounted for such past and ongoing funds. This Court also notes that Mr. Beroukhai is not listed as a codebtor on any debts. See Bankruptcy Schedule H (dkt.10 at PDF p.30, line 1). What is the true situation, and are Debtor's disclosures accurate?

The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 3/6/20 for Debtor to file and serve amended Schedules I and J, an amended SOFA, and any other documents that may be necessary or appropriate to provide much more comprehensive information about her income, expenses, assets, liabilities, and other aspects of her finances.

(1) Current issues

(a) Budget Motion (dkt. 85, 90), East West Bank's opposition (dkt. 94)

The tentative ruling is to grant in part and deny in part the budget motion, on an interim basis, such that Debtor is authorized to make the expenditures in her proposed budget but must provide additional adequate protection payments to East West Bank to bring the total payment from $4,619.32 to $5,140.78, without prejudice to Debtor and East West Bank establishing an evidentiary basis for a lesser or greater dollar amount either (i) for adequate protection payments, (ii) for purposes of any chapter 11 plan, or (iii) for any other reason. The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 2/25/20 for East West Bank to file a declaration with a copy of advance notice to Debtor regarding the increased monthly mortgage payments, a deadline of 3/4/20 for any response by Debtor, and any reply by East West Bank permitted at the continued hearing, to be held contemporaneous with the continued status conference (see below).

Debtor states (dkt.85, Ex.1, at PDF p.7, 1st footnote) that she recently had an increase income. But, as of the preparation of this tentative ruling, Debtor has not filed a declaration of current/postpetition income and expenses. Why not?

(b) Cash Collateral Motion (dkt. 86, 90)

(1) Current issues

(a) Lack of progress

Debtor has only very belatedly filed a status report (dkt.65) (one week after it was required by this Court's order, dkt. 50). Worse, long after this case was converted to chapter 11 (11/20/19) she has only now filed an application to employ counsel and a budget motion, and she admits (dkt. 65, p.2) that she has not filed her list of 20 largest unsecured creditors. addition, she admits that she has not filed any cash collateral motion(s) (id., p.3), which apparently means that either she has been using cash without authority or she has been failing to use cash for ordinary and necessary expenses, both of which are bad.

What remedies should this Court impose on Debtor and/or her counsel for this pervasive failure to comply with her obligations under the Bankruptcy Code? What assurances can they provide this Court that similar problems will not happen in future?

7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this Court's final ruling, subject to any changes ordered at the hearing. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

Analysis

Based on the motion papers, Debtor's opposition papers (dkt. 50), and Beverly's reply (dkt. 53), the tentative ruling is to modify the automatic stay to set deadlines - further described below - for Debtor to take steps to market and sell the property at 10838-10842 Beverly Blvd., Whittier, CA 90601 (the "Property"). This Court recognizes that Debtor has characterized the Property as his retirement security, but the tentative ruling is that there is no other way to provide adequate protection of Beverly's interest in the Property.

(1) Valuation

The tentative ruling is that Beverly's evidence is persuasive as to including a higher property tax assessment for valuation purposes (see Eggleston Reply Decl., dkt.53, p.3:1-13) and that, with this adjustment, Debtor's approach to valuation would yield a value of $850,000 (id., p.3:14-17). Beverly's appraisal, in contrast, asserts a value of $795,000. See dkt.47, at PDF pp.77-end, and dkt. 53, p.3:18-21.

The tentative ruling is that the other evidence provided by Debtor and Beverly (e.g., as to appropriate discount rates, and the use of allegedly comparable properties) does not weigh in one direction or the other clearly enough for this Court to decide between the two valuations without an evidentiary hearing (or, perhaps, further declarations). Compare Eggleston Decl. (dkt.79, pp.79 et seq.) and Eggleston Reply Decl. (dkt.53) with Collins Appraisal (dkt.50, Ex.A) and Collins Decl. (dkt.50, pp.13 et seq.). Therefore, the remainder of this tentative ruling considers both valuations.

Under section 362(d)(1) this Court must consider any lack of adequate protection (or other "cause" for relief). One form of adequate protection is a sufficient equity cushion.

The tentative ruling is that, unless an equity cushion is very large, an eroding equity cushion may place Beverly's interest in the Property at greater risk. Therefore, this Court must consider Beverly's equity cushion (if any), both as of the petition date (8/30/19) and currently.

In calculating that equity cushion the tentative ruling is that this Court must consider (i) the senior real estate tax lien (Claim No.2-3) of $22,417.08 as of the petition date, plus postpetition interest at 18% for the current calculation (id., p.2, line 9), plus (ii) Beverly's lien of approximately $721,702.10 as of the petition date, or approximately $741,879.34 as of 11/7/19 (dkt.47, pp.7 & 11), plus postpetition interest at 17% for the current calculation (id., Ex.H, at PDF p.141) (POC 5-1, line 9), plus (iii) any other charges that are allowable under 11 U.S.C. 506(b) (e.g., ongoing attorney fees), minus (iv) adequate protection payments (3 x $3,313.63 through Beverly's 12/3/19 Reply, dkt.dkt.53, p.2:15, plus two more payments for January and February, for a total of 5x$3,313.63 = $16,586.15).

Based on these numbers, the tentative ruling is that, even using Debtor's valuation method (adjusted as set forth above), the combination of a modest equity cushion (substantially below 20%) and the current (low) adequate protection payments (very substantially below the contractual default or non-default interest rates) are insufficient. They do not provide Beverly with protection of its interest that is truly "adequate" as required by section 362(d)(1).

Therefore this Court "shall" grant some form of relief from the automatic stay. 11 U.S.C. 362(d). That relief need not necessarily be termination of the automatic stay: it can take the form of modifying or conditioning the automatic stay. Id. The tentative ruling is that, because Beverly itself would have to take time to market and sell the Property (if it were to attempt to maximize value and not risk its own recovery), Beverly will be adequately protected by providing Debtor with time in which to do the same.

(3) Amount of time to market and sell the property

The tentative ruling is to set deadlines of (a) 2/28/20 for Debtor to file and serve an application to employ a real estate agent for the Property, (b) 4/24/20 for Debtor to file and serve a motion under 11 U.S.C. 363(b) and (f) to sell the Property, subject to overbids, (c) 5/19/20 for a hearing (and auction, if there are any overbidders), and (d) 6/23/20 to close the sale (either to the winning bidder or a backup bidder) and pay Beverly out of escrow. If Debtor fails to meet those deadlines, the tentative ruling is that Beverly would be authorized to file and serve a declaration of default and lodge a proposed order terminating the automatic stay.

Meanwhile, the tentative ruling is to monitor Debtor's progress by setting a continued hearing on this motion to the same time as the continued status conference (see calendar no. 23, 2/18/20 at 1:00 p.m.).

(4) 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(2)

The tentative ruling is that for purposes of section 362(d)(2)(A) (whether Debtor has any equity in the Property) this Court must take into account the IRS lien (Claim No.7-1) of $64,423.96 as of the petition date (id. at PDF pp.2&4-10), plus postpetition interest of 5% for the current calculation. This Court notes that the IRS claim is secured by any property owned by Debtor, but there is no evidence that equity in any other property will decrease the amount of this claim.

The result would be that under Beverly's valuation Debtor would have no equity in the property, but under Debtor's valuation he would have some equity. Because the burden of proof is on Beverly on this issue (11 U.S.C. 362(g)(1)), the tentative ruling is that on the present record Beverly has not established an entitlement to relief under section 362(d)(2). All rights are reserved for Beverly to continue seeking to establish that element with additional evidence, and for Debtor to oppose any such evidence.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." As to the cash that allegedly is collateral of Beverly Partners, LLC, continue this hearing pursuant to its stipulation with the debtor (dkt.31) and this Court's order thereon. As to all properties/sources of cash, Debtor must segregate cash so that there is no commingling.

Judge Bason's standard conditions for use of cash collateral and/or postpetition financing (by creditors holding prepetition claims)

(1) Written order

(a) Form. Use local form

F2081-1.1.ORDER.CASH.COLLATERAL or the equivalent. Attach a copy of this tentative ruling as an exhibit, thereby adopting it as the written ruling of this Court, subject to any changes ordered at the hearing. Do not repeat the terms set forth in the motion or any stipulation. Incorporate those terms by reference (including the docket number of the document), subject to any modification by this Court.

(b) Timing. Lodge the proposed order within 7 days after the hearing. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(2) Minimum adequate protection

In addition to the postpetition security interests that are automatically provided pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 552 (e.g., in traceable proceeds and profits), and subject to any more comprehensive protection that may be included in the motion or related papers, Debtor shall provide at least the following protection to any creditor with a security interest in the subject property (pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 361-364, as applicable):

(a) Insurance. For all collateral of a type that typically is insured (e.g., real property and improvements), Debtor is directed to maintain insurance in a dollar amount at least equal to Debtor's good faith estimate of the value of such creditor's interest in the collateral, and such insurance shall name such creditor as an additional insured. Debtor is directed to remain current on payments for such insurance.

(b) Taxes. Debtor is directed to remain current on payments on account of postpetition real estate taxes (to the extent that real estate is part of the collateral).

(c) Disclosures/access. Debtor is directed to provide, upon such creditor's reasonable request, periodic accountings of the foregoing insurance and tax obligations and payments, as well as postpetition proceeds, products, offspring, or profits from the collateral, including gross revenues and expenses and a calculation of net revenues, including any rents and any fees, charges, accounts, or other payments for the use or occupancy of rooms and other public facilities in lodging properties (as all of the foregoing terms are used in 11 U.S.C. 552). Debtor is directed to provide appropriate documentation of those accountings, and access for purposes of inspection or appraisal.

(3) Limitation on postpetition liens

In the event that the motion or related papers seek authority to grant postpetition liens to the creditor(s) with respect to prepetition debts any such liens shall be limited to the same validity, priority, and amount as prepetition liens. As used herein, the "validity, priority, and amount" or any similar phrase that may be used by the parties or this Court is deemed to include the following:

(a) Extent. Such liens shall be limited to the type of collateral in which the creditor held a security interest as of the petition date, unless this order expressly states that the liens granted by this order are intended to attach to different types of collateral from the prepetition collateral. For example, if prepetition liens extended to inventory and accounts receivable but not equipment then postpetition liens are likewise limited (unless otherwise expressly provided by order of this Court). In addition, postpetition liens shall not extend to the proceeds of any avoidance actions, any recoveries under 11 U.S.C. 506(c), or any "carveout" under 11 U.S.C. 552.

(b) Priority. Such liens shall be limited to the same priority as the security interest held by the creditor as of the petition date.

(c) Dollar amount. Such liens shall be limited to the dollar amount needed to protect the creditor against diminution in the value of the secured claims as of the petition date.

(d) Enforceability. Such liens shall be limited to the extent that the creditor's security interests were duly perfected and valid as of the petition date, and to the extent that they are unavoidable.

(e) Automatic postpetition perfection. Any automatic perfection of such liens shall be subject to any applicable limitations regarding the Court's authority, jurisdiction, or due process.

(4) Automatic disapproval of insufficiently disclosed provisions

Any provision of the type listed in FRBP 4001(c)(1)(B) or in local form F4001-2 (e.g., cross-collateralization) or any waiver of the "equities of the case" exception in 11 U.S.C. 552(b)(2) shall be deemed automatically disapproved and excepted from any order granting the motion, notwithstanding any other provision of such order, unless either: (a) such provision is specifically and prominently disclosed in the motion papers in a checklist (such as local form F4001-2), or alternatively (b) such provision is specifically identified in any proposed order granting the motion, using terminology of the type used in FRBP 4001(c)(1)(B) or local form F4001-2 (e.g., any "cross-collateralization" that is not specifically identified as such is deemed to be disapproved).

(5) Disputes

In the event of any disputes regarding the rulings in this order, the parties are directed to meet and confer and, if they cannot resolve their disputes consensually, contact Judge Bason's chambers to arrange a mutually convenient time for either a telephonic or in-person hearing to address such disputes.

The tentative ruling is to grant on a further interim basis, on the same terms as this Court's prior interim order (dkt. 113), with a continued hearing contemporaneous with the continued status conference (see below).

Proposed order: Debtor is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

(c) Deadline for filing a plan

11 U.S.C. 1189(b) provides

The debtor shall file a plan not later than 90 days after the order for relief under this chapter, except that the court may extend the period if the need for the extension is attributable to circumstances for which the debtor should not justly be held accountable.

As the order for relief in this case was entered on 8/30/19, Debtor's plan would have needed to be filed by 11/28/19. However, Debtor cannot "justly" be held accountable for his failure to file a plan by that date, as the above referenced code section did not become effective until 2/19/20.

The parties are directed to address what deadline this Court should set for Debtor to file a plan. The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 7/15/20, subject to adjustment depending on developments with the current pandemic situation.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 8/30/19. The petition was amended to elect Subchapter V on 4/6/20 (see dkt. 111).

(a) Bar date: 12/13/19 (see Order, dkt. 28, timely served, dkt. 89 & 90)

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: TBD. Debtor must use the forms required by Judge Bason (DO NOT SERVE yet, except on the U.S. Trustee - this Court will set a deadline and procedures at a later time).

(c) Continued status conference: 6/30/20 at 2:00 p.m. No written status report is required.

*Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

(1) Current issues

(a) Beverly's motion for relief from automatic stay (dkt. 47); Debtor's opposition (dkt. 50); Beverly's reply (dkt. 53); Orders (dkt. 94, 105); Debtor's ex parte application to modifying order re relief from stay (dkt. 126, the "Ex Parte Motion"), Beverly's opposition (dkt.129)

Deny Debtor's ex parte application, for the reasons set forth in the opposition, and because this appears to be a self-created emergency. Debtor was required to file and serve a motion to sell the property no later than 4/24/20. Dkt. 94, PDF p. 7. Debtor waited until three days before that deadline to file the Ex Parte Motion, on 4/21/20. See dkt. 124.

The parties should be prepared to address whether they will agree to any modified order granting adequate protection or other relief.

(b) Cash collateral motion (dkt.13, 19, 26, 31, 32, 42, 43, 55, 61, 75, 86, 101, 113)

(a) Beverly's motion for relief from automatic stay (dkt. 47); Debtor's opposition (dkt. 50); Beverly's reply (dkt. 53)

Continue to the same date and time as the continued status conference. Reasons: This Court's posted tentative ruling prior to the hearing scheduled for 12/10/19 (reproduced below) was not contested, and therefore it was adopted as this Court's ruling. The ruling was: "to continue this hearing to 12/17/19 at 1:00 p.m., with a deadline of 12/11/19 for Beverly to [i] serve all required persons with notice of the continued hearing, and [ii] file a proof of service." (1) Current issues

(a) Beverly's motion for relief from automatic stay (dkt. 47); Debtor's opposition (dkt. 50); Beverly's reply (dkt. 53)

Beverly's proof of service does not show service on the list of creditors included in Debtor's "list filed under Rule 1007(d)" (as required by Rule 4001(a)(1), Fed. R. Bankr. P.). See dkt. 1. proof of service.

(b) Cash collateral motion (dkt.19)

No proposed order has been lodged - at the hearing on 10/1/19 this Court directed counsel to lodge a proposed order granting the motion on an interim basis and attaching (and adopting) a copy of this Court's tentative ruling for that date (available at www.cacb.uscourts.gov). In addition, Debtor did not file and serve a notice of the final hearing by 10/3/19. In addition, any such service would have to be in compliance with the applicable rules for service, as stated in that adopted tentative ruling.

The current tentative ruling is (i) to direct counsel, again, to lodge a proposed order granting the motion on an interim basis through the conclusion of the final hearing, (ii) to set a final hearing for the same date and time as the continued status conference (see below), and (iii) to set a deadline of 12/11/19 for Debtor to file and serve notice of the final hearing in compliance with the applicable rules for service.

(c) Proof of service of bar date order (dkt.28)

Debtor's counsel has had trouble with service of this order and/or proving that it was served as required. See dkt. 35,36,37. Even the latest, second amended proof of service (dkt.37) is inadequate in that it fails to state who actually served the order and when they did so. Implicitly, the person who signed the proof of service, Paulina Buitron, is the person who actually deposited the envelopes in the U.S. mail, and that was done sometime between 9/30/19, when the order was supposed to have been served, and 10/3/19, when the proof of service was filed, but the declaration does not actually say so. In addition, at the hearing on 10/1/19 this Court directed Debtor's counsel to double-check that all creditors had in fact been served and, if not, to apply for an order setting a supplemental bar date as to any creditors who have not been served.

The tentative ruling is to excuse what appears to be untimely service of the bar date order by a few days, and set a deadline of 12/11/19 (i) for Debtor's counsel to file a third amended proof of service of the bar date order, using the local form (mandatory for all motions) (see Local Form F9013-3.1.PROOF.SERVICE), (ii) to lodge a proposed order excusing the untimely service of the bar date order, with a copy of this tentative ruling attached, and (iii) if necessary, apply for a supplemental bar date for any creditors who were not served with the bar date order, and lodge a proposed supplemental bar date order.

(d) Debtor's Monthly Operating Reports ("MORs")

Debtor appears to be having trouble complying with his obligations as a debtor in possession, including not paying prepetition debts. In addition, the October MOR (dkt.49) appears to show losses from most of Debtor's various businesses, and perilously low bank balances, even with the reduced dollar amount of the adequate protection payments to Beverly (less than the ongoing interest obligation). In addition, there is an internal inconsistency about postpetition adequate protection and/or lease payments: the October MOR (dkt.49, at PDF p.57 of 61) lists "0" postpetition payments not made (i.e., Debtor allegedly is postpetition current), but then the same table lists "Total Due" postpetition amounts of many thousands of dollars - which is it? Is Debtor postpetition current in payments to secured creditors and/or lessors, or not?

The tentative ruling is to direct Debtor (i) to confer with the Office of the United States Trustee and file whatever corrected MORs are necessary or appropriate, and (ii) to be prepared to address the foregoing issues at the continued status conference.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 8/30/19.

Tentative Ruling for 9/24/19:

Appearances required by counsel for Debtor(s) and by Debtor himself.

(1) Current issues

(a) Budget Motion

Debtor's status report incorrectly states that a budget motion is not required by the presiding judge's procedures. Dkt. 20, p.3. See posted Procedures of Judge Bason (available at cacb.uscourts.gov) (the "Bason Procedures") Section VII.G. In addition, a budget motion appears to be particularly important in this case because most of Debtor's income and expenses are effectively hidden and/or mis-reported.

Debtor's Bankruptcy Schedule I reports that he is an interior designer/hair stylist (dkt.22, at PDF p.27), his Statement Of Financial Affairs ("SOFA") lists various "dba" enterprises that might or might not reflect other business ventures, and Debtor apparently rents out some of his properties using Airbnb, but there is no breakdown of any of this. Contrary to the instructions on line 8a of Schedule I, debtor lists only a total net dollar amount for all businesses/properties combined - $22,598.00 per month - and fails to attach a statement for each business/property showing gross receipts, ordinary and necessary business expenses, and the calculation of net income. Also, in apparent contradiction of this alleged monthly net income, the SOFA (dkt. 22 at PDF p.31) lists gross income of $20,000 for the year to date (9 months), $7,875 for 2018, and $28,223 for 2017. (Perhaps Debtor listed monthly net income instead of yearly gross income - if so he must file a corrected SOFA.)

The tentative ruling is to direct Debtor to file an amended Schedule I and an amended SOFA, and to file and serve a budget motion and any other documents that are necessary or appropriate to correct the foregoing deficiencies, no later than 9/27/19.

(b) Bankruptcy Schedule G

Debtor lists no executory contracts or unexpired leases (dkt.22, at PDF p.24). What about Airbnb and/or other short-term or long-term rental arrangements? The tentative ruling is to direct Debtor to file an amended Schedule G no later than 9/27/19.

Chapter 11

(c) Cash collateral

Even though this case was filed on 8/30/19, Debtor did not self-calendar his cash collateral motion for hearing until over a month later, on 10/1/19 at 1:00 p.m. Meanwhile, has Debtor (i) been using cash collateral without authorization (in violation of 11 U.S.C. 363(c)) or (ii) not been using cash collateral, and hence failing to pay ordinary and necessary business and personal expenses, in violation of Debtor's duties to pay postpetition debts as they come due and preserve and maximize the value of the bankruptcy estate. 11 U.S.C. 1107(a) and 1108, and 28 U.S.C. 959(b). The tentative ruling is that, although this is not yet sufficient cause for appointment of a chapter 11 trustee or other remedies, it may factor into consideration of any such remedies in future.

(d) Employment Application

The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 9/27/19 for Debtor to file and serve local form F 2014-1.STMT.DISINTERESTED.PROF in support of Debtor's application to employ Eric Bensamochan as his bankruptcy counsel (dkt. 18). See Bason Procedures Section VII.D.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 8/30/19.

(a) Bar date: 12/13/19 (DO NOT SERVE notice yet - court will prepare an order after the status conference).

(b) Plan/Disclosure Statement*: TBD. Debtor must use the forms required by Judge Bason (DO NOT SERVE yet, except on the U.S. Trustee - this Court will set a deadline and procedures at a later time).

(c) Continued status conference: 10/1/19 at 1:00 p.m. No written status report is required.

*Warning: special procedures apply (see order setting initial status conference).

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." #4.00 Cont'd hrg re: Debtor's Motion to Avoid Lien Junior Lien on principal residence with Real Time Resolutions fr. 4/30/20

Docket 33

Tentative Ruling:

Appearances required.

Pursuant to Judge Bason's COVID19 Procedures, ONLY TELEPHONIC APPEARANCES WILL BE PERMITTED until further notice. Please contact CourtCall at (888) 882-6878 to make arrangements for any telephonic appearance. There is no need to contact the Court for permission. Parties who are not represented by an attorney will be able to use CourtCall for free through 6/30/20. Reason:

There is no tentative ruling but the parties should be prepared to address the following issues.

(1) Settlement negotiations

In the stipulation continuing the initial hearing on Debtor's motion, the parties stated that they were exploring resolving the motion without the need for a hearing. Dkt. 37, p.2:10-14. The parties should be prepared to address the status of those efforts.

(2) Value of the property

Debtor's motion relies on an appraisal as of 3/3/20 valuing the subject property at $390,000.00. See dkt. 33, p.3 & Ex. C. In its opposition, Real Time Resolutions, Inc.'s (as agent for the Bank of New York Mellon) ("Resolutions") argues that the motion should be denied because (i) Debtor's valuation of the property was not as of the petition date, (ii) the appraiser relied on a contractor's invoice from an unnamed contractor in reducing the value of his appraisal, and (iii) based on Resolutions' own appraisal the property is worth $455,000.00 as of the petition date. Dkt. 35, pp.2:26-3:24;

dkt. 36. Debtor's reply (dkt. 42) argues that Resolutions' appraisal underestimates the cost of repairs needed on property ($20,000 v. $131,925.00), and includes a declaration from a general contract to support Debtor's repair estimates (dkt. 43).

The tentative ruling is that Resolutions' first argument is not persuasive, at least without evidence that the difference in dates makes an actual difference in valuation. Judge Bason typically accepts valuations dated within 6 months before or after the petition date. Because the petition date is 12/7/19 and Debtor's appraisal is dated as of 3/3/20, the tentative ruling is that Debtor's appraisal is sufficiently close to the petition date.

As to the parties' other arguments, the parties should address how they propose to resolve their disputes re the value of the property and the cost of necessary repairs - e.g., (i) with an evidentiary hearing; (ii) with a court ruling based solely on the written record (to save costs, if all parties consent), (iii) through mediation, or (iv) through appointment of an appraiser (jointly selected by the parties/their appraisers) as the Court's own expert under FRE 706.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." Revised Tentative Ruling for 6/2/20:

Appearances required.

The tentative ruling is to permit Ms. Shanahan to appear on behalf of Debtor, and to grant a continuance to 8/4/20 at 10:00 a.m. to assess the situation at that point in view of the multiple developing situations: anticipated collections; reopening of the economy; and Debtor's health issues.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." Co-debtor stay

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) has not been shown to have any basis for any different treatment from the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a), so the tentative ruling is to grant the identical relief regarding any co-debtor stay.

Evidence

This Court notes that the declaration attached to the motion is incomplete and/or contains changes to the mandatory form (which are hereby treated as a request to amend the form per LBR 9009-1). This Court makes no determination whether such omissions/changes would withstand an evidentiary objection. Nevertheless, this Court has considered the key documents because (a) there are no evidentiary objections and/or (b) those documents appear to be admissible on other grounds. In future the movant's failure to complete the form properly may result in denial of the motion sua sponte.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." Co-debtor stay

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) has not been shown to have any basis for any different treatment from the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a), so the tentative ruling is to grant the identical relief regarding any co-debtor stay.

The stay of 11 U.S.C. 362(a) applies subject to the following modifications and conditions:

(1) Service and reconsideration. Any party in interest who was not timely served in accordance with FRBP 7004 (incorporated by FRBP 9014(b)) is hereby granted through 14 days after proper service to seek reconsideration, including retroactive relief (under FRBP 9023 and/or 9024). (3) Very limited ruling. This Court's tentative ruling to grant the foregoing relief is solely for purposes of this motion, and is not intended to have any binding effect with respect to any future assertions by any party in interest regarding the existence or lack of existence of good faith in any other context.

(1) Venue/jurisdiction/authority.

The parties are directed to address any outstanding matters of (a) venue, (b) jurisdiction, (c) this court's authority to enter final orders or judgment(s) in this proceeding and, if consent is required, whether the parties do consent, or have already expressly or impliedly consented. See generally Stern v. Marshall, 131 S.Ct. 2594, 2608 (2011) (if litigant "believed that the Bankruptcy Court lacked the authority to decide his claim...then he should have said so – and said so promptly."); Wellness Int'l Network, Ltd. v. Sharif, 135 S.Ct. 1932 (2015) (consent must be knowing and voluntary but need not be express); In re Bellingham Ins. Agency, Inc., 702 F.3d 553 (9th Cir. 2012) (implied consent), aff'd on other grounds, 134 S. Ct. 2165 (2014); In re Pringle, 495 B.R. 447 (9th Cir. BAP 2013) (rebuttable presumption that failure to challenge authority to issue final order is intentional and indicates consent); In re Deitz, 760 F.3d 1028 (9th Cir. 2014) (authority to adjudicate nondischargeability encompasses authority to liquidate debt and enter final judgment). See generally In re AWTR Liquidation, Inc., 548 B.R. 300 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2016).

(2) Mediation. Is there is any reason why this court should not order the parties to mediation before one of the volunteer mediators (not a Bankruptcy Judge), and meanwhile set the deadlines set forth below? The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 8/24/18 for the parties to lodge a proposed mediation order (the parties are directed to use the time between now and that deadline to find a mutually agreeable mediator whose schedule can accommodate the needs of this matter; and if the parties cannot even agree on a mediator they may lodge separate orders and Judge Bason will chose among them, or issue his own order).

(3) Deadlines: This adversary proceeding has been pending since 5/24/18. Pursuant to LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B), plaintiff is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the status conference, attaching a copy of this tentative ruling or otherwise memorializing the following.

(2) Mediation

Is there is any reason why this Court should not order the parties to mediation before one of the volunteer mediators (not a Bankruptcy Judge), and meanwhile set the deadlines set forth below? The tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 6/16/20 for the parties to lodge a proposed mediation order (the parties are directed to use the time between now and that deadline to find a mutually agreeable mediator whose schedule can accommodate the needs of this matter; and if the parties cannot even agree on a mediator they may lodge separate orders and Judge Bason will chose among them, or issue his own order).

(3) Deadlines

This adversary proceeding has been pending since 11/5/19. Pursuant to LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B), plaintiff is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the status conference, attaching a copy of this tentative ruling or otherwise memorializing the following.

Current issues

(a) No evidence that Defendant has been served

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, there is no proof of service demonstrating that Defendant has been served with the summons and complaint. Is there any reason why this proceeding should not be dismissed based on Plaintiff's apparent failure to prosecute this action?

(b) No status report

Plaintiff has not filed a unilateral status report. Why not? The tentative ruling is that this provides another basis for this Court to dismiss this proceeding.

The following are Judge Bason's standard requirements for status

Appearances required.

There is no need to contact the Court for permission. Parties who are not represented by an attorney will be able to use CourtCall for free through 6/30/20. (1) Current issues

(a) Order to show cause (dkt. 209, "OSC"), and responses (dkt.223-28)
Remove Debtor as a debtor in possession (11 U.S.C. 1185(a)) and expand the duties of the Subchapter V Trustee (the "Trustee") (11 U.S.C. 1183(b)(2)&(5)), for the reasons set forth in the OSC (dkt.209, incorporating dkt.208) and in the responses by the United States Trustee ("UST") and other non-debtor parties in interest (dkt.223-24 & 226-28). The tentative ruling is that, although Debtor's desire to save her family's homes and conduct her businesses is understandable, and although Debtor's reluctance to refinance or sell any properties at this time is also understandable, Debtor has lost the privilege of having primary control over the chapter 11 case based on her unauthorized merchandizing business(es) and, alternatively, the each of the other separate causes for such relief as set forth in the OSC and the non-debtor parties' responses, including but not limited to gross mismanagement and, alternatively, lack of compliance with her disclosure requirements.

Debtor is reminded that, even if she is no longer a debtor in possession, she will still have duties, including cooperation with the Trustee's attempts to facilitate a chapter 11 plan. See, e.g., 11 U.S.C. 1187, 1189. Any failure to comply with such duties may result in sanctions, conversion of the case to chapter 7, and/or other remedies.

Regarding the scope of the Trustee's powers and duties, the tentative ruling is to order that the Trustee shall have all of the powers and duties set forth in 11 U.S.C. 1183(b)(2) and (5). But, as to the Trustee's investigation, the tentative ruling is to authorize and direct the Trustee to conduct only such investigation as the Trustee deems appropriate under that statutory provision (incorporating by reference 11 U.S.C. 1106(a)(3)), bearing in mind the costs and benefits of any such investigation. In addition, the tentative ruling is to suspend any requirement that the Trustee must file any written statement of the investigation. Instead, the tentative ruling is that it is appropriate to adopt the more efficient and flexible alternative of relying on the Trustee's oral reports at future status conferences (unless and until otherwise ordered by this Court).

(b) Motion for postpetition DIP financing (dkt.198), Oxygen funding, Inc.'s ("Oxygen") opposition (dkt. 211), Debtor's reply & supplemental papers (dkt. 202, 203, 213, 214, 215, 216, 222)

The tentative ruling is to overrule Oxygen's objections, but to defer granting the motion and instead continue this matter to the same time as the continued status conference (see part "(2)" of this tentative ruling, below). The basis for such continuance is to give the Trustee and opportunity to conduct investigations and make a recommendation whether or not to authorize the refinancing requested in the motion (or if, instead, some other transaction would be preferable). The grounds for overruling Oxygen's objections are:

(i) there is no evidence that Oxygen made any fixture filing or otherwise perfected any alleged lien as against the Fuller Ave. property, and therefore any interest it may have in that property appears unperfected and avoidable (11 U.S.C. 544),

(ii) the proposed reduction in interest rate appears to generate a benefit to the bankruptcy estate that will (after a few months) more than offset the transaction costs, all of which may aid Debtor's husband's cash flow, which provides potentially greater flexibility in attempting to negotiate a plan (and, although Debtor's husband may not have any legal obligation to assist, he appears to have both personal and financial incentives to do so), and

(iii) neither Oxygen nor any other party in interest appears to be prejudiced in the long term by the proposed refinancing of the senior lien.

2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 11/20/19, converted from chapter 13 to chapter 11 on 1/2/20, and designated by Debtor as a Subchapter V case on 3/2/20 (dkt.128).

#8.00 Cont'd Status Conference re: Chapter 11 Case
fr. 1/23/20, 2/4/20, 03/31/20, 4/21/20

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Revised Tentative Ruling for 6/2/20:

Appearances required by counsel for the Debtor.

Pursuant to Judge Bason's COVID19 Procedures, ONLY TELEPHONIC APPEARANCES WILL BE PERMITTED until further notice. Please contact CourtCall at (888) 882-6878 to make arrangements for any telephonic appearance. There is no need to contact the Court for permission. Parties who are not represented by an attorney will be able to use CourtCall for free through 6/30/20. (1) Current issues

(a) Unauthorized DIP financing and/or business out of the ordinary course?

Debtor's March Monthly Operating Report ("MOR") (dkt. 105, Ex. B, PDF p. 6) states that it "borrowed $159,975 from the majority shareholder, Best Rich." What was the nature of this loan and on what terms? Was this out of the ordinary course of Debtor's business in violation of 11 U.S.C. 363(b)? Did Debtor obtain post-petition financing without seeking prior authorization from this Court under 11 U.S.C. 364? What assurances can Debtor provide to this Court and interested parties that Debtor is making full and accurate disclosures about its business operations when this information was buried in an MOR?

The tentative ruling is to issue an order to show cause ("OSC") why this bankruptcy case should not be converted or dismissed, or other appropriate relief should not be granted, based on the foregoing.

(2) Deadlines/dates. This case was filed on 1/15/20.

(a) Debtors' First Amended Disclosure Statement (the "Disclosure Statement," dkt. 68) and First Amended Chapter 11 Plan (the "Plan," dkt. 69), ballot summary (dkt. 79), Status Report (dkt.87)

As Debtors have noted, there are no filed objections on the docket. Debtors did stipulate with the California Department of Tax and Fee Administration (dkt.81) to continue this hearing, but Debtor reports (dkt.87) that the associated proof of claim has been withdrawn, so that no longer appears to be a potential obstacle to confirmation.

The tentative ruling is to approve the disclosure statement on a final basis; confirm the Plan; and set a post-confirmation status conference as set forth below.

Proposed orders: Debtor is directed to lodge two proposed orders via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date - one for the Disclosure Statement and one for the Plan. The latter should include a paragraph setting the post-confirmation status

(1) Current issues

(a) Combined status conferences

(b) Mediation

At a hearing on 3/3/20, this Court ordered the jointly administered Debtors and Elegant to participate in mediation. What is the status of those efforts?

(c) Chan Monthly Operating Report ("MOR") (dkt. 102)

Debtor Chan's April MOR reflects bi-weekly payroll income from AC Air Technology ("Air") (pdf p. 15), which he indicates he only started receiving post-petition. But Debtor Chan has not filed a declaration of current and post-petition income and expenses (on the Local Form).

In addition, it is unclear what funds previously have been or currently are being received from or disbursed to or by Debtor Chan's affiliates, including but not limited to his non-filing spouse and her family. See dk.107, pp.2:5-4:4. As pointed out by Le Elegant Bath, Inc. ("Elegant") (dk.107, p.2:4-15), absent a valid agreement regarding separate property, it appears that Debtor and his bankruptcy estate may have a community property interest in the non-debtor spouse's income. In addition, all three Debtors are reminded of the following provision from this Court's identical orders in all three bankruptcy cases:

4. Affiliates. For all reporting purposes – including Monthly Operating Reports (“MORs”), disclosure statements, etc. – Debtor must disclose all income, expenses, assets, and liabilities of (a) affiliated businesses and (b) any spouse. See §§ 101(2) & (9); Rule 2015.3; SBE v. Woo, 82 Cal. App.4th 481, 483-84 (2000). Prior authorization of this Court is required for Debtor to cause any affiliate to act out of the ordinary course of that affiliate’s business (§ 363(c)). Debtor may request at the principal status conference to be excused from these requirements. [Order (Chan dk.3), p.2:13-19.]

All three Debtors are reminded that failing to abide by the above-quoted order; failing to provide accurate reporting of revenues and expenses; and failing to obtain approval for the use of cash collateral (11 U.S.C. 363(c)) or for transactions out of the ordinary course (11 U.S.C. 363(b)) can be grounds for conversion or dismissal of this case or appointment of a chapter 11 trustee. See 11 U.S.C. 1104, 1112.

(d) Debtor Chan's amended budget motion (dk.44, amended by dk.94), opposition of Le Elegant Bath, Inc. ("Elegant") (dk. 107), Debtor Chan's reply (dk. 114)

The tentative ruling is to direct Debtor Chan no later than 6/9/20 to file amended MORs, amended Bankruptcy Schedules I and J, a statement of postpetition income and expenses (on the mandatory local form), and a further amended budget motion, all in compliance with the requirements summarized above. The tentative ruling is not to authorize any further responses to the amended budget motion at this time, but instead to hold a further interim hearing on the (amended) budget motion concurrent with the continued status conference (see part "(2)" of this tentative ruling below). At that time this Court can determine whether to set a briefing schedule, or other

Previously this Court set 6/30/20 at 1:00 p.m. as the continued date for hearings on (i) the continued interim use of cash collateral and (ii) a continued Status Conference. (2) Minimum adequate protection

In addition to the postpetition security interests that are automatically provided pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 552 (e.g., in traceable proceeds and profits), and subject to any more comprehensive protection that may be included in the motion or related papers, Debtor shall provide at least the following protection to any creditor with a security interest in the subject property (pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 361-364, as applicable):

(a) Insurance. For all collateral of a type that typically is insured (e.g., real property and improvements), Debtor is directed to maintain insurance in a dollar amount at least equal to Debtor's good faith estimate of the value of such creditor's interest in the collateral, and such insurance shall name such creditor as an additional insured. Debtor is directed to remain current on payments for such insurance.

(b) Taxes. Debtor is directed to remain current on payments on account of postpetition real estate taxes (to the extent that real estate is part of the collateral).

(c) Disclosures/access. Debtor is directed to provide, upon such creditor's reasonable request, periodic accountings of the foregoing insurance and tax obligations and payments, as well as postpetition proceeds, products, offspring, or profits from the collateral, including gross revenues and expenses and a calculation of net revenues, including any rents and any fees, charges, accounts, or other payments for the use or occupancy of rooms and other public facilities in lodging properties (as all of the foregoing terms are used in 11 U.S.C. 552). Debtor is directed to provide appropriate documentation of those accountings, and access for purposes of inspection or appraisal.

(3) Grant of, and limitation on, postpetition liens

The tentative ruling is to grant postpetition liens to any creditors holding secured claims by granting replacement liens, but such liens shall be limited to the same validity, priority, and amount as prepetition liens. As used herein, the "validity, priority, and amount" or any similar phrase that may be used by the parties or this Court is deemed to include the following:

(a) Extent. Such liens shall be limited to the type of collateral in which the creditor held a security interest as of the petition date, unless this order expressly states that the liens granted by this order are intended to attach to different types of collateral from the prepetition collateral. For example, if prepetition liens extended to inventory and accounts receivable but not equipment then postpetition liens are likewise limited (unless otherwise expressly provided by order of this Court). In addition, postpetition liens shall not extend to the proceeds of any avoidance actions, any recoveries under 11 U.S.C. 506(c), or any "carveout" under 11 U.S.C. 552.

(b) Priority. Such liens shall be limited to the same priority as the security interest held by the creditor as of the petition date.

(c) Dollar amount. Such liens shall be limited to the dollar amount needed to protect the creditor against diminution in the value of the secured claims as of the petition date.

(d) Enforceability. Such liens shall be limited to the extent that the creditor's security interests were duly perfected and valid as of the petition date, and to the extent that they are unavoidable.

(e) Automatic postpetition perfection. Any automatic perfection of such liens shall be subject to any applicable limitations regarding the Court's authority, jurisdiction, or due process.

(4) Automatic disapproval of insufficiently disclosed provisions

Any provision of the type listed in FRBP 4001(c)(1)(B) or in local form F4001-2 (e.g., cross-collateralization) or any waiver of the "equities of the case" exception in 11 U.S.C. 552(b)(2) shall be deemed automatically disapproved and excepted from any order granting the motion, notwithstanding any other provision of such order, unless either: (a) such provision is specifically and prominently disclosed in the motion papers in a checklist (such as local form F4001-2), or alternatively (b) such provision is specifically identified in any proposed order granting the motion, using terminology of the type used in FRBP 4001(c)(1)(B) or local form F4001-2 (e.g., any "cross-collateralization" that is not specifically identified as such is deemed to be disapproved).

(5) Disputes

In the event of any disputes regarding the rulings in this order, the parties are directed to meet and confer and, if they cannot resolve their disputes consensually, contact Judge Bason's chambers to arrange a mutually convenient time for either a telephonic or in-person hearing to address such disputes.

Docket 116

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling for 6/16/20:

Appearances required, but pursuant to Judge Bason's COVID19 Procedures, telephonic appearances are REQUIRED until further notice.

Please contact CourtCall at (888) 882-6878 to make arrangements. There is no need to contact the Court for permission. Parties who are not represented by an attorney will be able to use CourtCall for free through 4/30/20. At the hearing on 3/26/20 this Court declined to order adequate protection payments or set a deadline for a sale or refinance, in view of the alleged equity in the property and the COVID-19 situation. But (a) this Court cautioned Debtor about the need to move forward with a refinance, sale, or other resolution of the parties' issues, and (b) this Court directed Debtor to file a status report no later than 6/2/20.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no status report has been filed. Debtor is directed to address what sanction should be imposed for disregarding this Court's order to file a status report.

On the merits, the tentative ruling is to set a deadline of 9/15/20 to file and serve a motion for a sale or refinance to pay off movant, and self-calendar that motion for hearing no later than 10/22/20 at 8:30 a.m. calendared for hearing no later than 4/30/20 at 8:30 a.m. Meanwhile, the tentative ruling is to continue this hearing to 4/7/20 at 10:00 a.m.

Tentative Ruling for 1/28/20:

Appearances required. This matter was continued to this date to allow time for the parties to attempt to resolve this dispute. Based on this Court's review of the filed documents and records in this case, including Debtor's response (dkt.119) and Movant's reply (dkt.124) the tentative ruling is that Debtor has not rebutted Movant's evidence that Debtor is seriously in default, but that Debtor as the owner of the property is competent to provide an opinion as to its value, and Debtor has asserted a very substantial equity cushion, so the parties should be prepared to address whether Debtor can and will refinance the debt, or sell the property, or propose some other realistic strategy for addressing her missed payments.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." Termination

Terminate the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1).

To the extent, if any, that the motion seeks to terminate the automatic stay in other past or pending bankruptcy cases, such relief is denied on the present record. See In re Ervin (Case No. 14-bk-18204-NB, docket no. 311).

Effective date of relief

Deny the request to waive the 14-day stay provided by FRBP 4001(a) (3) for lack of sufficient cause shown.

Co-debtor stay

Any co-debtor stay (11 U.S.C. 1301(c)) has not been shown to have any basis for any different treatment from the stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a), so the tentative ruling is to grant the identical relief regarding any co-debtor stay.

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." Current issues

(1) Background

Finnian Osakpamwan Ebuehi and Elizabeth Olohirere Ebuehi ("Debtors") filed a voluntary chapter 11 case on 9/12/18. On 10/18/19, this Court entered an order converting the case to chapter 7 (dkt. 161).

Peter J. Mastan is the Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee"). As part of the Trustee's efforts to administer Debtors' estate, the Trustee sought authority to employ real estate brokers to assist the Trustee in marketing and selling the estate's real property, including Debtors' residence located at 619 W. Gladstone Street, Glendora, CA 91740 (the "Gladstone Property") (dkt. 219), which this Court approved by order entered 1/28/20 (dkt. 232).

(a) Trustee moves for order compelling Debtors to turn over the Gladstone Property

On 3/10/20, the Trustee filed a "Motion for (1) Order to Compel Turnover of Property of the Bankruptcy Estate and Establishing Procedures for Removal and Disposal of Any Remaining Personal Property, and (2) Writ of Assistance (dkt. 263, the "Turnover Motion"). That motion was self-calendared for hearing on 3/31/20 at 11:00 a.m.

Among other things, the Turnover Motion described a considerable period of alleged non-cooperating by Debtors, and sought an order compelling Debtors to personally vacate the Gladstone Property and remove all personal property within two business days of entry of any order on the motion (Id.). Debtors did not file an opposition to the Turnover Motion.

In advance of the hearing on the Turnover Motion, this Court posted a tentative ruling indicating its intent to grant the Turnover Motion in its entirety. Debtors did not appear (telephonically), either through counsel or individually, to contest the tentative ruling. This Court adopted the tentative ruling as the final ruling.

On 4/2/20, this Court entered its "Order Compelling Turnover of Property of the Bankruptcy Estate and Establishing Procedures for Removal and Disposal of any Remaining Personal Property; Writ of Assistance (dkt. 282, the "Turnover Order").

(b) Debtors seek reconsideration of Turnover Order

After the hearing on the Turnover Motion, on April 2, 2020, Debtors filed an opposition to the Turnover Motion (dkt. 279), but Debtors did not alert this Court to that filing or take any other action in connection with that filing. In addition, the opposition failed to attach any evidence in support of Debtors' arguments.

On 3/3/20, Debtors filed an "Emergency Motion for Stay of Order of April 2, 2020, for Turnover of Property" (dkt. 303, the "Reconsideration Motion"), pursuant to which Debtors sought a stay of the effectiveness of this Court's Turnover Order and other related relief. On 5/5/20, the Trustee filed an opposition and requested in that opposition that this Court issue an order to show cause re contempt (dkt. 304).

On 5/6/20, this Court issued its "Order Denying Motion for Reconsideration of Turnover Order" (dkt. 307), denying the Reconsideration Motion without prejudice. That order also denied without prejudice the Trustee's request for issuance of an OSC, because that request was required to be made via a separate motion.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, Debtors have not renewed their request for reconsideration of the Turnover Order.

(c) Trustee's motion for issuance of order to show cause ("OSC") re contempt, and issuance of the OSC

On 5/8/20, the Trustee filed his "Motion for Order to Show Cause re Civil Contempt and Sanctions against Debtors" (dkt. 310, the "Sanctions Motion"). On 5/15/20, Debtors filed an opposition (dkt. 315).

Chapter 7

On 5/19/20, this Court issued the requested OSC (dkt. 318). The OSC directs Debtors to appear telephonically at a hearing on 6/16/20 at 11:00 a.m. to show cause why this Court should not enter an order pursuant to Rules 7070 and 9020 (Fed. R. Bankr. P.) that holds them in civil contempt for violating the Turnover Order and imposes compensatory and coercive sanctions against them.

The OSC also directs Debtors to file a response by no later than 6/2/20 that, among other things, attaches "evidence of any efforts to lease alternative housing accommodation(s) and any efforts undertaken in preparation of moving, such as emails to prospective moving services or to prospective renters of storage space, etc." (dkt. 318, p.3:10-14). On 6/2/20, Debtors filed their response (dkt. 329).

Debtors advance two arguments. First, they repeat the arguments previously made in the Reconsideration Motion that their illnesses and the current "shelter-in-place" restrictions imposed by COVID-19 have prevented them from being able to arrange to move out and find suitable alternative accommodations. Second, Debtors dispute the Trustee's factual allegations that they have been uncooperative with the Trustee's broker's efforts to show the Gladstone Property to prospective buyers. Debtors' response also attaches e-mail correspondence dated 5/26/20, 5/27/20, 5/28/20, and 6/1/20 (dkt. 329, Exs. 2-5) in support of their contention that since the issuance of the Turnover Order, they have tried to comply with the Turnover Order in good faith.

On 6/9/20, the Trustee submitted his reply (dkt. 334).

(2) Debtors' request for an advance on their possible future proceeds from their homestead exemption

Included within Debtors' response to the OSC is their request for an order directing the Trustee to advance them funds on account their possible future proceeds from their homestead exemption. The tentative ruling is to deny Debtors' request for multiple alternative reasons.

First, Debtors have not filed and served a separate motion seeking such relief, so that request is not properly presented for consideration at this time. Second, Debtors have not cited any persuasive legal authority in support of compelling the Trustee to advance anticipated net proceeds on their homestead. Third, as the Trustee points out in his reply (dkt.334, p.7:7-16), Debtors have not provided evidence that they actually need an advance in order to move out. Fourth, as unfortunate as it might be for Debtors to have to move to a smaller or less attractive home, many debtors have to move out of their homes (some even have no choice but to be homeless) and this Bankruptcy Court is not aware that it has any authority to require creditors to loan debtors funds for housing. Fifth, even if this Bankruptcy Court had some legal and evidentiary basis to require an advance of prospective homestead proceeds, any such advance does not appear to be appropriate on the present record, based on the evidence of Debtors' ongoing obstruction of the Trustee's administration of the estate and depletion of available funds for creditors.

(3) Contempt and Sanctions

For the reasons set forth in the Trustee's motion (dkt. 310) and reply (dkt. 334), the tentative ruling is to hold Debtors in contempt of this Court and impose sanctions as set forth below.

(a) Legal standards

Bankruptcy courts have the authority to impose civil contempt sanctions under 11 U.S.C. 105(a). In re Dyer, 322 F.3d 1178, 1189-90 (9th Cir. 2003). "The standard for finding a party in civil contempt is well settled: The moving party has the burden of showing by clear and convincing evidence that the contemnors violated a specific and definite order of the court." Dyer, 322 F.3d at 1191. "The burden then shifts to the contemnors to demonstrate why they were unable to comply." F.T.C. v. Affordable Media, 179 F.3d 1228, 1239 (9th Cir. 1999). "A person fails to act as ordered by the court when he fails to take all the reasonable steps within his power to ensure compliance with the court's order." Rosales v. Wallace (In re Wallace), 490 B.R. 898, 905 (9th Cir. BAP 2013).

(b) Contempt

In support of the Sanctions Motion, the Trustee submitted a copy of the Turnover Order (dkt. 310, Ex. 2) which states, among other things, that:

[t]he Debtors . . . shall deliver possession of the Gladstone Property to the Trustee (by personally vacating the Gladstone Property, removing all of their personal property from the Gladstone Property, leaving the Gladstone Property in broom-clean condition, and delivering to the Trustee the keys to the Gladstone Property, security codes for all security systems, and any garage door and/or driveway gate remote controls that may exist) within two (2) business days after the entry of the Order on this Motion. [Id., p.2:17-24.]

The Trustee also attaches evidence establishing that Debtors have willfully failed to vacate the Gladstone Property by April 7, 2020 as required by the Turnover Order (Mastan Decl., ¶6).

Based on the foregoing, the tentative ruling is that the Turnover Order is definite and specific and the Trustee has met his prima facie burden of showing by clear and convincing evidence that Debtors have violated the Turnover Order by failing to vacate and deliver possession of the Gladstone Property to the Trustee by April 7, 2020. The tentative ruling is also that the burden shifted to Debtors to demonstrate why they were unable to comply with the Turnover Order and they have not established that they took all reasonable steps within their power to ensure compliance with that order.

In response to the Sanctions Motion and OSC, Debtors do not dispute that they are aware of the Turnover Order and have not moved out of the Gladstone Property (see dkt. 329, Elizabeth Ebuehi Decl., ¶ 15; Finnian Ebuehi Decl., ¶ 16). Instead, Debtors offer a number of excuses for their non-compliance, but their evidence does not substantiate their claims and contains too many gaps for this Court to find that they have adequately rebutted the Trustee's evidence that they are willfully flouting this Court's Turnover Order.

As set forth in the Trustee's reply (dkt.334, pp.3:2-4:5 and p.7:7-16) (i) Debtors' evidence shows only very belated attempts to pursue other housing; (ii) Debtors' evidence shows that they have pursued housing only of a type that they find suitable to the lifestyle they would like to maintain (as distinguished from cheaper housing, or moving in with their children, or exploration of any other alternatives); (iii) Debtors present no evidence of exploration of alternative means of obtaining even that more expensive housing, such as using the money that they are not spending (by living rent-free at the expense of the bankruptcy estate) to save for a large security deposit or prepaid rent; and (iv) Debtors have presented no evidence whatsoever of any attempts to arrange for the sale or storage or other disposition of their personal property in anticipation of actually moving out.

To the contrary, the evidence before this Court appears to show only minimal efforts to relocate – most of which occurred after the issuance of the OSC. This falls far short of the evidentiary showing Debtors are required to make to avoid a finding of contempt. See e.g. FTC v. Affordable Media, 179 F.3d at 1241 (finding inability to comply with a court order is a defense, but the burden is on the contemnor to show "categorically and in detail" how compliance is "impossible"); United States v. Asay, 614 F.2d 655, 660 (9th Cir. 1980) (It is not enough to show "substantial," "diligent," or "good faith" efforts to comply (as opposed to making all reasonable efforts to comply); Reno Air Racing Assn. Inc. v. McCord, 452 F.3d 1126, 1130 (9th Cir. 2006).

Additionally, Debtors' focus on whether they have cooperated with the Trustee's sale efforts is misplaced. Assuming solely for the sake of argument that Debtors had cooperated in every respect (contrary to the evidence presented), the Turnover Order directs Debtors to completely vacate the Gladstone Property, so any such cooperation is not enough. If Debtors had a sufficient basis to be excused from compliance with the Turnover Order, their recourse would have been to file an amended motion seeking reconsideration of the Turnover Order or other relief, but they have not done so.

Accordingly, on this record, this the tentative ruling is to find Debtors in contempt of this Court and impose sanctions as set forth below.

(c) Compensatory Sanctions

In view of this Court's tentative finding that Debtors have willfully failed to comply with the Turnover Order, the tentative ruling is to grant the Trustee's request for compensatory sanctions. Therefore, the tentative ruling is to conduct a hearing on 6/30/20 at 11:00 a.m. to determine the appropriate amount of compensatory sanctions.

If the foregoing tentative ruling is adopted, the Trustee is directed to submit a supplemental declaration setting forth all fees and expenses the estate has incurred as a result of Debtors' failure to comply with the Turnover Order by June 19, 2020. The deadline for Debtors to submit a response is June 23, 2020. The Trustee is directed to lodge a scheduling order within 1 day after this hearing.

(d) Coercive Sanctions

The tentative ruling is to impose coercive sanctions against Debtors, in the amount of $500 per day, for each calendar day that they continue to holdover in the Gladstone property. The tentative ruling is that, although Debtors were required by the Turnover Order to turn over possession on 4/7/20, the coercive sanctions cannot run from that date because such sanctions would be punitive, not coercive, and this Bankruptcy Court generally lacks the authority to impose punitive sanctions.

But once the Trustee filed and served the motion for contempt sanctions, on 5/8/20, Debtors were on notice that the Trustee sought coercive sanctions of $500 per day. See dkt. 310, p.10:17-22. Therefore the tentative ruling is that the sanctions should run from 5/8/20 and continue until Debtors have surrendered possession of the Gladstone Property and fully complied with the Turnover Order.

Given the evidence of Debtors' lack of any meaningful effort to comply with the Turnover Order, the tentative ruling is that this Court must find that imposition of coercive sanctions is the only way to ensure that the Trustee will be able to perform his duties and administer the Gladstone Property for the benefit of the estate.

(4) Debtors' alleged non-cooperation with sale process

The tentative ruling is that the Trustee has presented considerable evidence that Debtors have willfully flouted this Court's Turnover Order not just by failing to vacate the Gladstone property but also in another way: by impeding the Trustee's efforts to sell the Gladstone Property. But some of that evidence has been presented in the Trustee's reply papers (dkt.334).

This Court recognizes that on this issue both sides are presented with "a moving target." The Trustee is still attempting to sell the Gladstone Property, and especially while Debtors remain at that property their cooperation or lack of cooperation in the sale process is an ongoing issue.

Therefore, the tentative ruling is to set a deadline of June 19, 2020 for Debtors to file and serve their evidence in opposition to the evidence in the Trustee's reply (dkt.334), and a deadline of June 23, 2020 for the Trustee to file and serve any response to that evidence. The tentative ruling is that these issues will be considered at the continued hearing set forth above.

Proposed order: The Trustee is directed to lodge a proposed order via LOU within 7 days after the hearing date, and attach a copy of this tentative ruling, thereby incorporating it as this Court's final ruling, subject to any changes ordered at the hearing. See LBR 9021-1(b)(1)(B).

If appearances are not required at the start of this tentative ruling but you wish to dispute the tentative ruling, or for further explanation of "appearances required/are not required," please see Judge Bason's Procedures (posted at www.cacb.uscourts.gov) then search for "tentative rulings." If appearances are required, and you fail to appear telephonically without adequately resolving this matter by consent, then you may waive your right to be heard on matters that are appropriate for disposition at this hearing.
