Docket 23

Tentative Ruling:

1/3/18

BACKGROUND

On October 18, 2017, Alma Ramos ("Debtor") filed a skeletal Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On November 16, 2017, Santiago Properties, Inc. ("Landlord") filed a motion for relief from the automatic stay. On November 22, 2017, Debtor filed her opposition to Landlord's motion. On December 1, 2017, the Court entered an order granting the motion.

On December 7, 2017, Debtor filed a motion to set aside the order granting relief from the automatic stay. Subsequently, on December 14, 2017, Debtor's case was dismissed for failure to appear at either of the first two meetings of creditors.

Additionally, the motion is blank – Debtor does not provide any argument or evidence as required by Local Rule 9013-(1)(c)(3). Because of the absence of any argument or evidence, and, additionally, because of the improper service, the Court cannot grant Debtor's motion.

#3.00 Chapter 7 Trustees Motion for Order Revoking Abandonment of Real Property of the Estate

EH__

Docket 222

Tentative Ruling:

1/3/18

BACKGROUND

On September 30, 2013, Charles Biehl ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. Among the assets disclosed in the petition was certain real property located at 6 Dover Ct., Rancho Mirage, CA 92270 (the "Property"). Debtor valued the Property at $1,050,000, identified liens on the Property in the amount of $851,226, and claimed an exemption in the Property in the amount of $75,000. Trustee however, asserts that his Broker Price Opinion valued the Property at $875,000, and additionally asserts that a preliminary title report reveals secured debt affecting the Property in the total amount of $1,326,889.79.

On August 5, 2016, JP Morgan Chase Bank ("Creditor") filed a motion for relief from the automatic stay. Debtor filed his opposition on September 6, 2016. On January 12, 2017, Creditor and Debtor entered into a stipulation providing Creditor relief from the automatic stay effective February 25, 2017.

Shortly after Creditor filed its motion for relief from the automatic stay, Trustee filed a notice of proposed abandonment of the Property. No opposition was received by the Court, and, as a result, the Property was deemed abandoned pursuant to Local Rule

Chapter 7

Trustee states that he currently has an offer to purchase the Property, subject to all liens, by Marta Rudat, the stepmother of Nicole Rudat,¹ for $145,000. Trustee estimates that such a sale would net $64,100 in proceeds for the estate. Trustee requests revocation of his abandonment of the Property. On December 19, 2017, Debtor filed his opposition to the request. On December 27, 2017, Trustee filed a reply.

DISCUSSION

Trustee argues that revocation of the abandonment of the Property is appropriate under Fed. R. Civ. P. Rule 60(b)(1)-(2), (6), incorporated into bankruptcy proceedings by Fed. R. Bankr. P. Rule 9024. Debtor argues that: (1) revocation of an abandonment of property is inappropriate in general; (2) that Trustee is time-barred from relying on Fed. R. Civ. P. Rule 60(b)(1)-(2); and (3) that Fed. R. Civ. P. Rule 60(b)(6) is inappropriate in this circumstance.

As a preliminary matter, the Court notes that Debtor is clearly correct in his argument that Trustee is time-barred from relying on Fed. R. Civ. P. Rule 60(b)(1)-(2). Fed. R. Civ. P. Rule 60(c) provides that motions under Fed. R. Civ. P. Rule 60(b)(1)-(3) must be made within one year. Here, Trustee's motion was filed well more than one year after the abandonment of the Property. It would appear that Trustee concedes that point as Trustee's reply contains no further argument regarding Fed. R. Civ. P. Rule 60(b)(1)-(2).

11 U.S.C. § 554, Fed. R. Bankr. P. Rule 6007 and Local Rule 6007 govern abandonment of property. None of the provisions, however, mention revocation of the abandonment of property, and there is no clearly defined process to secure a revocation of abandonment of property.

Chapter 7

Trustee has acknowledged that "[g]enerally, abandonment of an asset is irrevocable" but asserts that "it may be revoked when appropriate circumstances exist." The Court agrees. While not cited by either party, the Ninth Circuit has previously stated that: "[r]evocation of abandonment is appropriate, however, where the trustee is given incomplete or false information of the asset by the debtor, thereby foregoing a proper investigation of the asset." Cusano v. Klein, 264 F.3d 936, 946 (9th Cir. 2001) (quotation omitted). The Ninth Circuit's position in Cusano would seem to foreclose the argument that revocation of abandonment of property can never be effectuated.

Nevertheless, it remains unclear when, and in what circumstances, revocation of an abandonment of property is appropriate. See generally Ginsberg & Martin on Bankruptcy § 5.06[B][2] (5th ed. 2017) (collecting cases). Trustee has identified three circumstances in which he believes revocation to be appropriate: (1) false or incomplete information provided by a debtor (as noted by Cusano, supra); (2) an unsecured asset; and (3) when abandonment occurs as a result of mistake or inadvertence and revocation will not cause undue prejudice.

Assuming, arguendo, that Trustee's position is correct, the Court does not believe that the any of the enumerated circumstances exist here. But see In re Am. Remanufacturers, Inc., 439 B.R. 633, 636 (Bankr. D. Del. 2010) (quoting Woods v. Kenan, 173 F.3d 770, 778 (10th Cir. 1999) (standard for revocation of express abandonment is higher than standard for revocation of technical abandonment). First, while Trustee has asserted that Debtor testified inconsistently regarding the Property, the simple fact is that Debtor appears to have originally overestimated the estate's interest in the Property on his schedules. As outlined in Trustee's motion, after further investigation the Trustee concluded that the Property was worth less, and that the liens on the property were substantially greater, than indicated by Debtor. Therefore, to the extent that Debtor did provide any false or incomplete information to Trustee, such information certainly did not impede a proper investigation of the asset. Additionally, it is undisputed that the Property was scheduled.

In the motion, Trustee seems to entirely rely on the fact that abandonment was a "mistake" and that it would be equitable to revoke abandonment. First of all, the Court notes that "mistake" as a grounds for relief is tied to Fed. R. Civ. P. Rule 60(b)(1) and, as noted earlier, the Trustee is time-barred from moving under Rule 60(b)(1). See In re Sas, 488 B.R. 178, 184 (Bankr. D. Nev. 2013); In re Johnson, 361 B.R. 903, 910 (Bankr. D. Mont. 2007) ("The Court will not consider whether the trustee abandoned the assets as a result of mistake or inadvertence that may allow the Court to consider the elements of Fed. R. Bankr. P. Rule 9024, incorporating Fed. R. Civ. P. Rule 60(b)(1), as the motion to reopen and the motion for turnover have clearly been filed more than one year after Debtors' case was closed on June [] 27, 2003.").

Additionally, the Court notes that Trustee's abandonment of the Property was not a result of mistake or inadvertence. See In re Bartels, 449 B.R. 355 (Bankr. W.D. Wis. 2011); Matter of Alt, 39 B.R. 902 (Bankr. W.D. Wis. 1984) (both discussing mistake and inadvertence in the context of abandonment of property). Trustee has provided no evidence that he mistakenly calculated the estate's interest in the Property or that any other error caused the abandonment of the Property. Instead, the "mistake" alleged by Trustee is that he was unaware that he would receive an offer to purchase the property that appears to be disproportional to the value of the interest being purchased. If Trustee was not time-barred from pursuing the desired relief under Fed. R. Civ. P. Rule 60(b)(1), the circumstances identified by Trustee would not constitute the "mistake or inadvertence" contemplated by the provision.

Finally, the Court notes that the argument offered by Trustee under Fed. R. Civ. P. Rule 60(b)(6) is unclear and less than convincing. In the original motion, Trustee seems to assert that the estate, the buyer, and the Debtor would all benefit from a revocation of the abandonment. After Debtor opposed the motion, Trustee's appears to have switched his position, although the details of Trustee's new argument are less than clear. Trustee states that: "[h]ad the Trustee known before that Rudat or the proposed Buyer (Rudat's stepmother) were interested in purchasing the Property subject to existing liens, the Trustee would not have abandoned it." While this is undoubtedly an accurate statement, these circumstances do not warrant relief under Rule 60(b)(6). To hold otherwise would be to create an exception that swallows the rule, opening up the possibility of abuse in a variety of situations.

At the time of the abandonment of the Property, the Trustee had conducted an investigation of the Property and determined that the property was of inconsequential value to the estate. There is no indication that the evidence relied upon by Trustee at that time was materially inaccurate, and it appears that the Trustee's determination was correct. When a trustee makes a determination that an asset of the estate is of inconsequential value and abandons that assets, but later attempts to revoke the abandonment of the asset to allows for its administration, it is logically necessary that one of two things must be true: (1) the trustee's original determination that the asset was of inconsequential value must have been erroneous; or (2) the proposed buyer must be offering consequential value for an interest of inconsequential value. In the former situation, the trustee may potentially use Fed. R. Civ. P. Rule 60(b)(1). Trustee's position that the latter situation is covered by Fed. R. Civ. P. Rule 60(b)(6) would seem to create a situation where the Trustee could secure revocation of abandonment of an asset in virtually all situations. But, as noted earlier and acknowledged by Trustee, abandonment of an asset is final except in limited circumstances. See generally Ginsberg & Martin on Bankruptcy § 5.06[B][2] (5th ed. 2017) ("A trustee's abandonment is final and irrevocable unless based on fraud."). Because the position advanced by Trustee would appear to create an exception that swallows the rule, and because Trustee has not pointed to any exceptional circumstances that would warrant relief under Rule 60(b)(6), the Court is inclined to DENY the motion.

BACKGROUND

On October 25, 2013, Douglas Jay Roger ("Debtor") filed his petition for chapter 7 relief. On September 22, 2014, Revere Financial Corporation ("Revere") and Jerry Wang ("Receiver") filed a complaint for determination of the dischargeability of debts pursuant to §§ 523(a)(2)(B), 523(a)(2)(A), 523(a)(4)(A), 523(a)(4) & 523(a)(6); and objecting to the Debtor's discharge pursuant to §§727(a)(3), 727(a)(4)(A), 727(a)(4)(B), 727(a)(5), & 727(a)(7) ("Complaint").

6. Chapter 7 Trustee's Opposition to Motion (Docket No. 34).

DISCUSSION

Civil Rule 12(b)(6) standards

Under Civil Rule 12(b)(6), made applicable in adversary proceedings through Rule 7012, a bankruptcy court may dismiss a complaint if it fails to "state a claim upon which relief can be granted." In reviewing a Civil Rule 12(b)(6) motion, the trial court must accept as true all facts alleged in the complaint and draw all reasonable inferences in favor of the plaintiff. Navarro v. Block, 250 F.3d 729, 732 (9th Cir. 2001). However, the trial court need not accept as true conclusory allegations in a complaint or legal characterizations cast in the form of factual allegations. Bell Atl. Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 555–56, 127 S.Ct. 1955, 167 L.Ed.2d 929 (2007); Hartman v. Gilead Scis., Inc. (In re Gilead Scis. Sec. Litig.), 536 F.3d 1049, 1055 (9th Cir. 2008).

To avoid dismissal under Civil Rule 12(b)(6), a plaintiff must aver in the complaint "sufficient factual matter, accepted as true, to 'state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face.'" Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678, 129 S.Ct. 1937, 173 L.Ed.2d 868 (2009) (quoting Twombly, 550 U.S. at 570, 127 S.Ct. 1955). It is axiomatic that a claim cannot be plausible when it has no legal basis. A dismissal under Civil Rule 12(b)(6) may be based either on the lack of a cognizable legal theory or on the absence of sufficient facts alleged under a cognizable legal theory. Johnson v. Riverside Healthcare Sys., 534 F.3d 1116, 1121 (9th Cir.2008).

The Debtor asserts primarily that (1) the Receiver has no "authority" to bring the action; and (2) to the extent that Revere's claim for damages includes fees and expenses incurred by the Receiver in its claim for damages, such claim is not proper because neither the Debtor nor Revere is obligated for the Receiver's fees and expenses. To the extent the Debtor prevails on this second argument, the Debtor also requests that the claim of Revere for fees and expenses incurred by the Receiver be stricken, and that Revere be required to set forth a more definite statement of its damages.

Chapter 7

Once a court appoints a receiver, "[i]t is the rule that: 'The functions and powers of a receiver are controlled by statute, by the order appointing him, and by orders subsequently made by the court. He has no powers beyond those so conferred.' Downtown Sunnyvale Residential LLC v. Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., No. H038572, 2015 WL 263727, at *9 (Cal. Ct. App. Jan. 20, 2015) (citing 42 Cal.Jur.2d, Receivers, § 73; and see authority there collected.)" (Morand v. Superior Court (1974) 38 Cal.App.3d 347, 351 (Morand).) "Where a receiver's powers and duties are not directly prescribed by statute, they are dependent upon the court's order of appointment." (Nulaid Farmers Assn. v. LaTorre (1967) 252 Cal.App.2d 788, 791.) A receiver's powers " 'may be expanded or contracted by subsequent court order.' " (Resolution Trust Corp. v. Bayside Developers (9th Cir.1994) 43 F.3d 1230, 1242 (Resolution Trust Corp.), citing to Cal-American Income Property Fund VII v. Brown Development Corp. (1982) 138 Cal.App.3d 268, 273 (Cal-American).)

The Debtor cites to Cal. C.C.P. § 568 (CCP 568) and to Morand regarding the powers of receivers for the proposition that the Receiver has no authority to bring the instant action. CCP 568 provides, in pertinent part, that

The receiver has, under the control of the Court, power to bring and defend actions in his own name, as receiver; to take and keep possession of the property, to receive rents, collect debts, to compound for and compromise the same, to make transfers, and generally to do such acts respecting the property as the Court may authorize.

The Debtor argues that because the order appointing the Receiver did not enumerate the authority to file lawsuits as a power authorized by the Court, that the Receiver is without such authority until such time as he receives authorization from the Superior Court to file this action. Although authorities are scant, the authorities cited by the Debtor and found by this Court support the conclusion that for the Receiver to institute an action, the order appointing the Receiver must at a minimum contain language generally, if not specifically, authorizing/directing the commencement of actions. See e.g. Harting v. Cebrian, 10 Cal. App. 2d 10, 51 P.2d 195 (1935).

receivership estate, including to "take possession, custody, and control" of various assets that comprise the "Receivership Estate" and to "[c]ollect all proceeds of the Receivership Estate, whether equity, income, payments, rents, revenue, sale, or otherwise." (Receiver Opp'n at 2). This language, however, is insufficient for the purpose of authorizing the Receiver to initiate legal actions. See e.g. Harting v. Cebrian, 10 Cal. App. 2d 10, 51 P.2d 195 (1935). In support of its position, the Receiver cites Title Ins. & Tr. Co. v. Grider, 152 Cal. 746, 94 P. 601 (1908). However, Grider dealt with two issues not present in the instant action – first, an attack on the underlying basis for the appointment of a receiver, and second, an assertion that the property at issue was not property that the Receiver was authorized to collect. Neither issue resolves the issue of whether the language of a receivership order authorizes the initiation of an action.

Based on the foregoing, the Court finds that the failure of the Receiver to allege that the receivership order provided him with the authority to initiate actions on behalf of the Receivership Estate is grounds for dismissal.

Although moot, assuming the Receiver did have authority to file the Complaint, as to the Receiver's claim for damages the Receiver has clarified that it does not seek its own fees, expenses, and costs. Instead, it seeks recovery of receivership assets. To the extent the Receiver's claim for damages is limited to recovery of assets of the receivership estate, such damages appear to fall squarely within the bounds of the Order Appointing Receiver. As such, the Receiver would need to amend the Complaint to clarify that its request for damages is limited to recovering assets of the receivership estate.

II. Revere is Not Liable to the Receiver for Fees and Costs and Thus Cannot Seek to Recover Such Fees and Costs as Damages

The Debtor argues that Revere has no basis to include fees and expenses of the Receiver. In response, Revere has cited to authorities indicating that in the event that the receivership estate is insufficient to pay the Receiver's fees and expenses, courts have, in some cases, found third parties liable to the receivers for the deficiency. The Debtor asserts that Atl. Tr. Co. v. Chapman, 208 U.S. 360, 374, 28 S. Ct. 406, 410, 52 L. Ed. 528 (1908), is dispositive of this issue.

Chapter 7

The Supreme Court, in Atlantic Trust, acknowledged that third parties may be held liable in certain circumstances but indicated that such cases were rare. The Supreme Court stated, in pertinent part:

It is true that cases are cited in which the party bringing a suit in which a receiver is appointed has been held liable for expenses incurred by the receiver in excess of the proceeds arising from the sale of the property. But in most, if not in all, of those cases, the circumstances were peculiar and were such as to make it right and equitable, in the opinion of the court, that that should be done.

Id. As the Debtor acknowledges, the Supreme Court did not hold that a third party could under no circumstances be liable for a receiver's fees and expenses. Instead, the Debtor asserts only that the specific cases cited by Revere in which a third party was held liable are not applicable to the facts alleged in the instant case. Here, the Debtor does not address the broad language of the Commercial Security Agreement (Complaint at Ex. 3 at 42) in which Revere has pointed to provisions of Debtor's loan documentation, which may provide Revere with a basis to recover for fees and expenses owed to the Receiver for his services. However, notwithstanding this point, the Complaint does not include allegations that the receivership estate will not have funds to fully compensate the Receiver such that Revere could claim any liability for his costs and fees. Nor does the Complaint set forth a claim based on the contractual language cited by Revere in its opposition. As such, the Court finds that the Complaint does not contain sufficient factual allegations to support a plausible claim for damages based on the Receiver's fees and costs.

TENTATIVE RULING

Based on the foregoing, the Court is inclined to GRANT the Motion as to dismissal of the Receiver, and as to striking Revere's claim for damages to the extent it includes fees and costs owed to the Receiver.

The Motion is DENIED as to its request for dismissal without leave to amend. There has been no showing by Debtor to justify dismissal with prejudice. The Receiver and Revere shall have 60 days from the date of entry of the order on the Motion to amend the Complaint.

#1.00 Motion for Setting Property Value

EH__

Docket 13

Tentative Ruling:

01/04/2018

Summary of the Motion:

Notice: Proper

Opposition: None

Collateral: 2011 Chevrolet Colorado

Secured Lien Asserted: $16,365.91 by Mechanics Bank (per POC)

Debtor's Assertion of FMV: $9,851 (Kelly Blue Book Value, Ex. D)

Standard:

Upon motion of a party in interest, the bankruptcy court may determine the value of a secured claim. Fed. R. Bankr. P. 3012. Pursuant to § 506(a), an allowed claim may be bifurcated into its secured and unsecured components according to the value of the collateral. 11 U.S.C. § 506; Shook v. CBIC (In re Shook), 278 B.R. 815, 822 (9th Cir. BAP 2002).

Debtors assert that the fair market value of the Property is $9,851 based on an internet appraisal obtained from Kelly Blue Book. Creditor, though properly served, has not provided either evidence to controvert or objections to the evidence of the Debtors. As such, the Court finds that Claim No. 1 shall be bifurcated. The Court has derived the amount of the secured and unsecured portions from the figures provided in the proof of claim of Mechanics Bank (Claim No. 1) which asserts a secured claim for $16,365.91. The Motion, in contrast, asserts that the claim amount is $16,322 (without explanation). As the Debtors have provided no evidence or objection to controvert the amount claimed in Claim No. 1, the Court will bifurcate Claim No. 1 into a secured claim in the amount of $9,851 and an unsecured claim in the amount of $6,514.91.

Second trust deed (to be avoided): $115,756.89 with 2005 Residential Trust 3-2 ("Creditor")

Fair market value: $270,000 (Appraisal)

TENTATIVE

Creditor by its opposition requests a continuance of at least 30 days to obtain a verified appraisal of the Property.

Debtor argues that because the Motion must be filed and heard prior to confirmation of the chapter 13 plan, a continuance of the Motion cannot be granted. However, the Debtor presumes that the plan will be confirmed on January 4, 2018. It is common practice to permit secured creditors an opportunity to obtain an appraisal prior to ruling on a motion to avoid junior lien. Debtor provides no authority for the proposition that such a continuance would be unjustified in circumstances such as these nor has the Debtor articulated any legal prejudice that would result from the continuance.

In sum, the Court finds no merit in the Debtor's reply. A continuance of the Motion

MOVANT: JPMORGAN CHASE BANK, NATIONAL ASSOCIATION

EH__

Docket 108

Tentative Ruling:

1/9/2018

Service is Proper
Opposition: Limited

The Court is inclined to GRANT relief from the automatic stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1). GRANT relief from the automatic stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(4) based on an unauthorized transfer of interest in the property on the petition date. Based on the evidence presented in the response, the Court does not, however, make a finding that Debtor was involved in a scheme to hinder, delay or defraud creditors. GRANT waiver of Rule 4001(a)(3) stay. DENY relief from § 1301(a) stay because it appears that the co-debtor stay is inapplicable. To the extent the co-debtor stay is applicable, no co-debtor has been served with the instant motion. GRANT requests under ¶¶ 2, 3, and 10. DENY requests under ¶¶ 8 and 11 for lack of cause shown.

APPEARANCES WAIVED. Movant to lodge order within seven days. If oral or written opposition is presented at the hearing, the hearing may be continued.

Chapter 7

No opposition has been filed.
Service was Proper.

The applications for compensation of the Trustee and Counsel for the Trustee, have been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 2016-1.

The only receipts in this case were generated through a settlement approved by the Court on June 13, 2017 [Dkt No. 49; settlement motion, Dkt. No. 46] Paragraph 11 of the settlement motion's statement of facts states the following:

The application also provided that payment of the Fees and Expenses shall be subject to the terms of the application and the approval of the Bankruptcy Court after the filing of either a combined motion for Bankruptcy Court approval of the settlement and the payments of the Fees and Expenses or a separate fee application in accordance with 11 U.S.C. §§ 328 and 330 and Local Bankruptcy Rules.

Paragraph 12 of the settlement motion states the following:

By an order entered on April 20, 2017, the Court granted the application but modified the terms of employment by providing that the payments of the Fees and Expenses shall be subject to the approval of the Bankruptcy Court after the filing of a separate fee application in accordance with 11 U.S.C. §§ 328 and 330 and Local Bankruptcy Rules.

As acknowledged by Trustee, this Court's order authorizing the employment of the Phillips Law Firm as special counsel explicitly required, through the Court's modification of Trustee's proposed order, the filing of a separate fee application if Trustee was to make any payments to the firm. Yet, such an application was not filed.

In the absence of the required fee application, the Court cannot approve the Trustee's proposed distribution to the extent that that proposed distribution includes payments to the Phillips Law Firm. The Trustee's final report, however, does not appear to contemplate payments to the Phillips Law Firm, but, rather, it appears that such payments have already been made in violation of this Court's order.

#9.00 Motion for extension of time to file a complaint objecting to discharge

EH __

Docket 138

Tentative Ruling:

01/10/2018

BACKGROUND

On May 8, 2017, Malik and Zobia Asif (collectively, the "Debtors") filed for chapter 11 relief. On June 23, 2017, based on representations and the record made by creditors at a Case Management Conference related to the status of the Debtors' Baja Fresh franchises, the Court converted the case to a case under chapter 7.

On November 24, 2017, the Office of the United States Trustee ("UST") filed a Motion for Extension of Time to File a Complaint Objecting to Discharge ("Motion"). In support of the Motion, the UST asserts that based on the Debtors' request for additional time to produce the documents necessary to the UST's evaluation of whether grounds exist to seek denial of discharge, a 60-day extension of the discharge and dismissal deadline is warranted.

Service of the Motion was proper and no opposition has been filed.

DISCUSSION

Pursuant to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure ("FRBP") 4004 and 1017, Trustee seeks to extend the deadline for Trustee and U.S. Trustee to file a complaint objecting to Debtor's discharge under 11 U.S.C. § 727 and the deadline to seek dismissal under § 707, for an additional 60 days to January 25, 2018.

Under FRBP 4004(a) and 1017(e), on a motion of any party in interest, the court may for cause extend the time to object to discharge or to seek dismissal. Fed. R. Bankr. P. 4004, 1017.

As a matter of practice what constitutes "cause" rests within the discretion of the bankruptcy court. See In re James, 187 B.R. 395, 397 (Bankr. N.D. Ga. 1995). Also, Courts are generally unified in the view that the term "for cause" should receive a liberal construction. Id. Notwithstanding that fact, however, a creditor must exhibit some minimum degree of due diligence prior to seeking such an extension, and the Court should not allow the motion to serve as license for a baseless "fishing expedition." Id.; See also In re Leary, 185 B.R. 405, 406 (Bankr. D. Mass. 1995). To establish cause movant must (1) show that he had, with reasonable diligence, attempted to investigate the facts and circumstances, and (2) offer a reasonable explanation of why that investigation could not be completed within the allotted time. See Bomarito, 448 B.R. at 251.

The UST has presented evidence that they sought financial records of the Debtors and their entities on November 8, 2017. The UST asserts that they are informed and believe that the Debtors require additional time to produce the documents. The UST has further indicated that after meeting and conferring with Debtors' counsel, the Debtors indicated that they were agreeable to the extension.

TENTATIVE RULING

Accordingly, based on the record provided by the UST and the failure of the Debtors to file opposition, the Court is inclined to GRANT the relief requested and provide the UST an extension for the filing of a complaint under § 727, and/or for the filing of a motion to dismiss under § 707, to January 25, 2018.

Docket 33

Tentative Ruling:

01/10/2018

BACKGROUND

On December 14, 2016, Mee Soon Kim ("Debtor") filed a petition for chapter 7 relief. Larry Simons is the duly appointed chapter 7 trustee ("Trustee"). Among the assets of the estate are certain real property assets located at 10076 Orchard Street ("Orchard Property") and 18562 Valley Blvd in Bloomington, CA (the "Valley Property") (collectively, the "Properties").

On December 19, 2017, the Trustee filed his Motion by Chapter 7 Trustee for Order: (1) Authorizing Sale of Real Property of the Estate Free and Clear of all Liens, Interests, Claims and Encumbrances to Attach to Proceeds; (2) Expunging Lis Pendens; (3) Approving Overbid Procedures; (4) Determining that Buyer is Entitled to 11 U.S.C. § 363(m) Protection; and (5) Waiving the 14 Day Stay Under Rule 6004 (the "Motion").

Service of the Motion was proper

DISCUSSION

Sale of Estate Property Pursuant to Section 363(b)

The trustee, after notice and a hearing, may sell property of the estate. 11 U.S.C. § 363(b)(1); see also Commodity Futures Trading Comm'n v. Weintraub, 471 U.S. 343, 352 (1985). The sale must be in the best interests of the estate and the price must be fair and reasonable. In re Canyon Partnership, 55 B.R. 520 (Bankr. S.D. Cal. 1985); see also In re Wilde Horse Enterprises, Inc., 136 B.R. 830, 841 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1991)(sale must have fair/reasonable price, accurate/reasonable notice to creditors and sale made in good faith). The trustee must articulate some "business justification" for selling estate property out of the "ordinary course of business" before the court may approve the transaction. In re Lionel Corp., 722 F.2d 1063, 1071 (2d Cir. 1983); In re Ernst Home Ctr., Inc., 209 B.R. 974, 979 (Bankr. W.D. Wash. 1997). Objections to sale that are based on inadequacy of price are often resolved the court ordering an auction, which may occur in open court. Simantrob v. Claims Prosecutor, LLC (In re Lahijani), 325 B.R. 282, 287 (9th Cir. BAP 2005) citing Fed. R. Bankr. P. 6004(f).¹

In support of the proposed sale to Chai Choi ("Buyer"), the Trustee sets forth the following figures and analysis:

Sale Price ...	$655,000
Tax encumbrances (estimated) ...	$46,268.52
Unpaid postpetition property insurance fees ...	$2,033.30
Estimated Broker's commission ...	$39,300
Net Equity for the Estate (minus closing costs):	$567,398.18

Based on these figures, the Trustee's estimate of net proceeds after cost of sale in excess of $550,000 appears reasonable. Thus, the Trustee's business justification for the sale warrants granting of the Motion.

a) Bidding Procedures

Generally, bidding procedures must be untainted by self-dealing, encourage bidding and be fair/reasonable/serve the best interests of the estate. See In re Crown

Corp., 679 F.2d 774 (9th Cir. 1982). The Trustee's proposed bidding procedures are reasonable and encourage bidding. Thus, the Trustee's procedures, as amended to provide for overbids in increments of $1,000, are approved.

b) Sale Made in Good Faith

The proposed sale has been brought in good faith and has been negotiated on an "arms- length" basis. The court, in Wilde Horse Enterprises, set forth the factors in considering whether a transaction is in good faith. The court stated:

‘Good faith’ encompasses fair value, and further speaks to the integrity of the transaction. Typical ‘bad faith’ or misconduct, would include collusion between the seller and buyer, or any attempt to take unfair advantage of other potential purchasers. . . . And, with respect to making such determinations, the court and creditors must be provided with sufficient information to allow them to take a position on the proposed sale.

Id. at 842 (citations omitted).

Here, the Trustee marketed the Properties via his Broker, Simans and Neiman, which marketed on the MLS, the Southland Regional Association of Realtors MLS, Redfin.com, Zillow.com, and Trulia.com. The Broker received 4 offers for the Properties and the Buyer's offer was the best and highest offer (and was $55,000 over the purchase price). The sale appears to be made in good faith.

c) Sale Free and Clear of non-Debtor Interests

A trustee may sell estate property "free and clear" of third party interests in the property, such as co-ownership interest, liens, claims and encumbrances. See 11 U.S.C. § 363(f). A sale free and clear of third party interests pursuant to section 363 is authorized only if one of the following conditions is met: (1) sale authorized by applicable nonbankruptcy law; (2) third party whose interest will be affected consents; (3) the affected interest is a lien and the sale price is greater than total value of all liens on the property; (4) the affected interest is a bona fide dispute; or (5) the third party whose interest will be affected could be compelled to accept a money satisfaction of the interest. 11 U.S.C. § 363(f)(1)-(5).

The Trustee proposes to sell the Property free and clear of the interest of Jabro who obtained a lis pendens prepetition based on state court litigation against the Debtor. The Trustee asserts that the state court litigation has now been dismissed and thus requests that this Court expunge the lis pendens, or alternatively, that the Court authorize the sale free and clear of the Jabro Lis Pendens. The Court is not persuaded that the Notice of Motion and Motion sufficiently provided notice to Jabro of the possibility that his Lis Pendens could be expunged if he failed to file opposition to the Motion. Thus, by reason of due process, the Court is disinclined to expunge the Jabro Lis Pendens, notwithstanding the dismissal of the underlying state court litigation. However, the Court finds that the Trustee has provided sufficient evidence to sell free and clear of the Jabro Lis Pendens under § 363(f)(4) because the evidence indicates that should Mr. Jabro attempt to assert a secured claim against the Properties, such claim would be the subject of a bona fide dispute based on the dismissal of his state court action. On this basis, the Court is inclined to grant the sale of the Properties free and clear of the Jabro Lis Pendens, with the Jabro Lis Pendens to attach to the proceeds to the same extent, validity and priority.

d) Purchaser in "Good Faith" Pursuant to Section 363(m)

Section 363(m) provides that "[t]he reversal or modification on appeal of an authorization under subsection (b) or (c) of this section of a sale or lease of property does not affect the validity of a sale or lease under such authorization to an entity that purchased or leased such property in good faith...." 11 U.S.C. § 363(m).

The Trustee has indicated in his declaration that the Buyer had a pre-existing agreement with Tae Kim (the prepetition transferee whose interests in the Properties have been avoided by the Trustee). However, the Trustee has also indicated that he had no relationship to the Buyer and that the Trustee did not propose a sale to the Buyer at the same price and instead had the Properties marketed at a higher price which the Buyer was willing to meet. However, the Court requires a declaration of the Buyer to qualify for § 363(m) protection.

TENTATIVE RULING

For the foregoing reasons, the Court is inclined to GRANT the Motion as follows:

1. Authorizing the sale of the Property under § 363(b) to the Buyer or to a successful overbidder at the hearing in accordance with the terms of the Purchase Agreement;
2. Approving the sale free and clear of all liens, claims, interests, and encumbrances and authorizing the Trustee to pay tax liens, costs of sale and other expenses directly from the sale proceeds, including escrow fees, real estate commissions, and TRG insurance fees as set forth in the Motion;
3. Providing that the Trustee is authorized to execute and deliver any documents necessary to effectuate the proposed sale;
4. Authorizing the sale on an AS-IS, WHERE-IS basis, without warranties or representations;
5. Finding that notice was proper and sufficient;
6. Approving the overbid procedures; and
7. Waiving the fourteen day stay under FRBP 6004(h).

Finally, the Court shall also provisionally GRANT the request for a § 363(m) finding on the condition that a declaration of the Buyer be submitted prior to lodgment of the order on the Motion.

TENTATIVE RULING

At the hearing on the Plaintiff's prior Motion for Default Judgment, the Court's tentative ruling provided, in pertinent part, as follows:

Plaintiff seeks default judgment be entered against Defendant Richard Earl Davis, Jr. (the "Debtor"). Service of the Motion AND of the Summons and Complaint were all effectuated on the Debtor at "2280 Market Street #220 in Riverside, CA". However, the Debtor's bankruptcy petition indicates his place of residence as "9325 Sunridge Drive in Riverside, CA 92508".

petition. Deadlines shall be reset accordingly.

An alias summons was issued and the Plaintiff filed a proof of service indicating that the Alias Summons was executed. The instant Motion for Default Judgment was then filed on December 7, 2017. Both Proofs of Service indicate that the Debtor was now served at "9324 Sunridge Drive in Riverside, CA" Again, in a situation where the Debtor/Defendant is nonresponsive, the Plaintiff's ongoing failure to serve the Debtor at the correct address creates a due process issue which prevents this case from moving forward.

Separately, although the Debtor has disclosed the debt owed to Plaintiff in the amount of $150,000 in his Schedule E/F pursuant to a State Court Judgment, the Court notes that the Plaintiff has failed to attach the underlying state court documents (e.g. the state court complaint and judgment) which are essential to final ruling on the Complaint. Additionally, the Plaintiff has not included points and authorities to indicate whether the motion is made under collateral estoppel principles.

The Court's tentative ruling is to DENY the Motion without prejudice. Movant to lodge an order denying the motion and requesting that the Court issue an alias summons for Movant to serve the summons and complaint at the Debtor's residence as indicated on the bankruptcy petition. Deadlines shall be reset accordingly.

Ongoing failure to correctly serve documents on the Debtor correctly may result in sanctions.

#19.00 Motion Of Plaintiffs For Order Granting Leave To Late File Amended Adversary Complaint

EH__

Docket 28

Tentative Ruling:

01/10/2018

BACKGROUND

On April 11, 2017, Issa & Amal Musharbash ("Debtors") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On July 17, 2017, Phillip & Violette Musharbash ("Plaintiffs") filed a non-dischargeability complaint against Debtors. On August 16, 2017, Debtors filed an answer. On September 20, 2017, an initial status conference was held.

On September 29, 2017, Plaintiffs filed a motion for leave to file an amended complaint (the "Amendment Motion"). The Court granted the Amendment Motion and provided the Plaintiffs with a deadline of November 2, 2017, to file their amended complaint. The Plaintiffs in their declaration indicate that they inadvertently believed they had already filed the amended complaint alongside their Amendment Motion.

DISCUSSION

Fed. R. Civ. P. Rule 15(a)(1)-(2) states:

(1) A party may amend its pleading once as a matter of course within:

(A) 21 days after serving it, or

(B) if the pleading is one to which a responsive pleading is required, 21 days after service of a responsive pleading or 21 days after service of a motion under Rule 12(b), (e), or (f) whichever is earlier

(2) In all other cases, a party may amend its pleading only with the opposing party's written consent or the court's leave. The court should freely give leave when justice so requires.

Here, Debtors' answer was filed on August 12, 2017, and, therefore, the standard of Fed. R. Civ. P. Rule 15(a)(2) applies.

As is noted by Plaintiffs, "leave to amend should be granted unless amendment would cause prejudice to the opposing party, is sought in bad faith, is futile, or creates undue delay." Johnson v. Mammoth Recreations, Inc., 975 F.2d 604, 607 (9th Cir. 1992).

Here, the Court previously determined that the Plaintiffs' request for amendment was justified. However, Plaintiffs failed to file their amended complaint by the Court ordered deadline of November 2, 2017. Now Plaintiff's request this Court's authority to permit their late filing of the amended complaint. Defendants, though properly served, have failed to file opposition and the Court does not perceive legal prejudice from permitting the late amendment, which amended complaint shall be filed by January 26, 2018. For these reasons, the Court is inclined to GRANT the request to permit the late-filing of the amended complaint with the condition that should Defendants appear at the hearing on 1/10/2018, they shall be reimbursed for costs of travel and lost wages, if any, for attendance at the hearings set for 1/10/2018.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to GRANT the motion as set forth herein.

#1.00 Motion RE: Objection to Claim Number 3 by Claimant New Penn Financial d/b/a Shellpoint Mortgage Servicing

EH__

Docket 109

Tentative Ruling:

1/11/18

Background:

On April 3, 2012, Linda Majors ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. On July 2, 2012, Debtor's Chapter 13 plan was confirmed. On October 12, 2017, Debtor received a discharge.

On July 6, 2012, Chase Records Center filed a proof of claim for a debt in the amount of $93,323.90, secured by Debtor's principal residence ("Claim 3"). Claim 3 included $13,601.58 in pre-petition arrears. Claim 3 has been transferred four times since the claim was filed, and is currently held by New Penn Financial, LLC ("Creditor").

On November 30, 2017, Trustee filed an objection to Claim 3. Trustee requests that Claim 3 be decreased by $13,485.26, and that Creditor return $8,149.13 to the estate.

The factual background for Trustee's request is the following. On November 2, 2015, Residential Credit Solutions, Inc. ("Residential"), the holder of Claim 3 at the time, filed a motion for court consent to enter into a loan modification agreement. On November 10, 2015, Trustee filed comments indicating conditional approval of the request. Among the conditions enumerated by Trustee was that Residential would amend Claim 3 within thirty days of a final loan modification. On December 21, 2015, Debtor, who was not the movant, filed a declaration of non-opposition for the motion for court consent to enter into a loan modification agreement. No order, however, was obtained.

Nevertheless, pursuant to Trustee's claim objection, it appears that the parties acted as if they had a properly consummated loan modification. Specifically, Trustee asserts that on October 12, 2017, Creditor acknowledged the loan modification and inquired whether any funds needed to be returned. Trustee appears to assert that the loan modification would have eliminated all but $116.32 (the pre-petition late charges) of the pre-petition arrears. Trustee states that the effective date of the loan modification was September 1, 2015, and that after that date payments continued to Creditor on the basis of Claim 3, which was never amended. Trustee asserts that overpayments in the amount of $8,149.13 resulted.

Applicable Law:

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 502(a), a proof of claim is deemed allowed unless a party in interest objects. Absent an objection, a proof of claim constitutes prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claim under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure ("FRBP") 3001(f). See Lundell v. Anchor Constr. Specialists, Inc., 223 F.3d 1035, 1039 (9th Cir. 2000). When a party files an objection to a proof of claim, that filing "creates a dispute which is a contested matter" within the meaning of FRBP 9014 and the Court must resolve the matter after notice and opportunity for hearing upon a motion for relief. Id.

rise to the presumption of validity), the burden shifts to the objecting party who must "present evidence to overcome the prima facie case." In re Medina, 205 B.R. 216, 222 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1996). To defeat the claim, the objecting party must provide sufficient evidence and "show facts tending to defeat the claim by probative force equal to that of the allegations of the proofs of claim themselves." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039 (quoting In re Holm, 931 F.2d 620, 623 (9th Cir. 1991)). "The objector must produce evidence, which, if believed, would refute at least one of the allegations that is essential to the claim's legal sufficiency." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1040 (quoting In re Allegheny Int'l, Inc., 954 F.2d 167, 173-74 (3d Cir. 1992)). If the objecting party produces sufficient evidence to negate one or more of the sworn facts in the proof of claim, the burden reverts back to the claimant to prove the validity of the claim by a preponderance of the evidence. See In re Consol. Pioneer Mort, 178 B.R. 222, 226 (9th Cir. BAP 1995), aff'd, 91 F.3d 151 (9th Cir. 1996) (quoting Allegheny Int'l, 954 F.2d at 173-74). The ultimate burden of persuasion remains at all times on the claimant. See Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039; see also Holm, 931 F.2d at 623.

Analysis:

Extensive case law supports the proposition that court authorization of a loan modification agreement is not a prerequisite to the agreement's enforceability, but, instead, such authorization simply provides additionally certainty and clarity to the contracting parties. See, e.g., In re Wofford, 449 B.R. 362, 364 (Bankr. W.D. Wis. 2011) ("At the same time, there does not appear to be any applicable law or rule that requires judicial approval of the terms of the loan modification itself."); see also Stewart v. Bank of Am., N.A., 201 WL 7475613 (N.D. Cal. 2016); Matter of Moore, 2015 WL 5553534 (Bankr. S.D. Ga. 2015); In re Smith, 409 B.R. 1 (Bankr. D.N.H. 2009). Here, therefore, the loan modification is not invalid solely on the basis that the parties did not obtain a court order approving the agreement. Trustee has provided adequate evidence that an enforceable loan modification agreement was entered into by Debtor and Creditor.

Chapter 13

Additionally, Trustee has provided adequate evidence that the loan modification resulted in a reduction of the pre-petition arrears from $13,601.58 to $116.32. Trustee's additional request, however, raises procedural concerns. As is acknowledged by Trustee in his e-mail correspondence with Debtor's attorney in Exhibit J, Trustee's request for turnover of funds by a non-debtor party typically requires an adversary proceeding pursuant to Fed. R. Bankr. P. Rule 7001(1). While the requirement of an adversary proceeding may be waived in certain circumstances, those circumstances are not present here. Specifically, Creditor is a large, national company and has not filed any opposition to the instant motion. Under these circumstances, the Court cannot deem the Creditor to have waived the due process protections it is entitled to under Rule 7001.

Tentative Ruling

The Court is inclined to SUSTAIN the objection to the extent it seeks a reduction of the pre-petition arrears of Claim 3 in the amount of $13,601.58. The Court is inclined to OVERRULE the objection to the extent it seeks relief which falls under the protections of Fed. R. Bankr. P. Rule 7001(1).

EH__

Docket 123

Tentative Ruling:

12/14/2017

BACKGROUND

On May 8, 2012, John and Nancy Elbers (collectively, "Debtors") filed their petition for chapter 13 relief. Amrane Cohen is the duly appointed chapter 13 trustee ("Trustee"). At the inception of the case, the Debtors were represented by Samuel Kelsall ("Kelsall"). On behalf of the Debtors, Kelsall filed the petition and took various actions in the case on behalf of the Debtors, including prosecution of a motion to avoid lien through an evidentiary hearing. The Trustee's records indicate that Kelsall incurred and received $12,000 in total for his bankruptcy services on behalf of the Debtors.

On November 14, 2017, the Debtors filed a Motion For Sanctions/Disgorgement of Attorneys' Fees re Samuel Kelsall (the "Motion"). The Motion asserts that:

1. Kelsall received $1,460 from Hyatt Legal Plans ("Hyatt") on behalf of the Debtors, and that check is dated August 17, 2012 (the "Hyatt Payment");
2. Kelsall received an additional $40 from Hyatt which Kelsall asserts was for a consultation;
3. Kelsall filed a Disclosure of Compensation of Attorney for Debtor on May 8, 2012;

Chapter 13

4. Kelsall did not file a supplement to his disclosed compensation at any time during the pendency of the case; and
5. At a hearing on August 17, 2012, on a Trustee's Motion to Dismiss, the Debtors represented to the Trustee that Kelsall had received an additional $1,500 from Hyatt which Kelsall had failed to disclose.

Based on the alleged nondisclosure by Kelsall of the Hyatt Payment, the Trustee seeks an order requiring him to disgorge $13,500 (or the total amount paid by the Debtors for the bankruptcy-related services). The requested disgorgement is sought under FRBP 2016(b) which requires disclosure of compensation and supplemental statements regarding amounts paid but not previously disclosed.

On December 5, 2017, Kelsall filed opposition to the Motion ("Opposition"). As regards the merits of the Motion, Kelsall asserts that the Trustee's evidence of the Hyatt Payment is deficient in that the records produced by Hyatt are not accompanied by a record or other documentation indicating which case the payment was made on (i.e. does not identify the Debtors or their case). Kelsall further argues that the numbers do not add up. In support, he asserts that the fee for a couples' bankruptcy filing would be a total of $1,500, not including the additional $40 for the consultation. Thus, the check for $1,460 plus the $40 consultation fee cannot have been for payment towards the Debtors' case because the actual amount owed by Hyatt on behalf of the Debtors would have been $1,500 plus $40.

In reply to Kelsall, the Trustee notes that Kelsall has indicated he cannot identify on whose behalf the Hyatt Payment was made. The Trustee argues that Kelsall's response further compounds the problems identified in the Motion because it demonstrates Kelsall's failure to properly account for funds received by his firm on behalf of his clients as required by the California Rules of Professional Conduct.

DISCUSSION

There is no legal dispute regarding the applicability of FRBP 2016. Instead, the instant matter is solely a factual dispute regarding whether or not Kelsall received the Hyatt Payment on behalf of the Debtors which would have triggered his duty to disclose compensation. Kelsall disputes that he received funds from Hyatt on behalf of the Debtors. Although Kelsall is correct that the check proffered by the Trustee does not identify the Debtors on the check, he does not provide evidence to indicate that the check was definitively received by his office on behalf of other clients. Moreover, the evidence indicates that the check was issued in 2012. Thus, several years have lapsed in the interim and the Trustee correctly points out that during that time it was Kelsall's duty to properly account for the Hyatt Payment. Finally, the letter from Hyatt dated April 26, 2017 provides evidence the funds were paid to Kelsall (and Kelsall has failed to object to this evidence). As such, Kelsall failed in his duty to disclose all compensation received.

TENTATIVE RULING

Based on the foregoing, the Court is inclined GRANT the Motion and order disgorgement.

From:12/14/17

Docket 118

Tentative Ruling:

12/14/2017

BACKGROUND

As a threshold matter, the Court incorporates and takes judicial notice of the pleadings filed in connection with Docket No. 123, the Trustee's Motion for Disgorgement, and of the factual allegations made therein as they may regard the instant matter.

On September 26, 2017, the Trustee filed his Notice of Intent to File Trustee's Final Report and Account (the "Notice"). On October 25, 2017, the Debtors filed their objection to the Notice ("Objection"). The Debtors' objection specifically argues that (1) Kelsall's fees received in the case exceeded reasonable and customary fees and should not have been awarded, (2) Debtors did not receive service by mail (purportedly of the Fee Applications) filed by Kelsall and therefore did not have an opportunity to object, and (3) that Kelsall failed to disclose the $1,500 received from Hyatt on behalf of the Debtors. Based on these allegations, the Debtors seek disgorgement.

DISCUSSION

As a threshold matter, the Debtors' Objection is not properly before the Court because the Debtors are seeking affirmative relief from Mr. Kelsall in an objection to the Trustee's Notice of Intent to File his Final Report. However, given that Mr. Kelsall filed a response and that the Debtors are in pro per, the Court will briefly address the arguments made.

The mailbox rule provides that the proper and timely mailing of a document raises a rebuttable presumption that the document has been received by the addressee in the usual time. It is a settled feature of the federal common law. Hagner v. United States, 285 U.S. 427, 430, 52 S.Ct. 417, 76 L.Ed. 861 (1932); Rosenthal v. Walker, 111 U.S. 185, 193, 4 S.Ct. 382, 28 L.Ed. 395 (1884); Lewis v. United States, 144 F.3d 1220, 1222 (9th Cir.1998).

Because the common law mailbox rule operates as a rebuttable presumption, the factfinder must determine whether Mr. Kelsall has presented sufficient evidence of mailing to invoke the presumption of receipt and, if so, whether the Debtors have presented sufficient evidence of non-receipt to rebut the presumption. Schikore v. BankAmerica Supplemental Ret. Plan, 269 F.3d 956, 963 (9th Cir. 2001).

Here, Mr. Kelsall has provided Ex. 10, the Application for Supplemental Fees, Ex. 12, the Notice of Hearing on Application for Payment of Interim or Final Fees, both with corresponding proofs of service. Both documents are signed under penalty of perjury and contain attached mailing lists which indicate that the Debtors were served at their residence. In contrast, the Debtors have provided no evidence to controvert the proofs of service. As such, the Court must find that the Debtors have failed to rebut Mr. Kelsall's evidence of mailing and therefore that the Debtors are presumed to have received Mr. Kelsall's applications for fees.

Next, having found that the Debtors received proper notice and service of Mr. Kelsall's fee applications, the Debtors cannot now object to Mr. Kelsall's fees. The time to object to the reasonableness of fees was when they received notice of the applications. As such, the Court need not address whether Mr. Kelsall's fees were reasonable.

Finally, the Debtors have raised the issue of Mr. Kelsall's nondisclosure of the $1,500 in payments from Hyatt. This matter is being concurrently addressed by the Trustee's Motion for Disgorgement. As such, there is no need to address the matter further on this Objection.

TENTATIVE RULING

Based on the foregoing, the Court is inclined to OVERRULE the Debtor's Objection as not properly brought before the Court, and as an alternate grounds, on the merits for the reasons stated herein.

#10.00 Motion to vacate dismissal

EH__

Docket 91

Tentative Ruling:

1/11/18

BACKGROUND

On November 21, 2013, Jose & Hiliana Castellanos ("Debtors") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On December 17, 2013, Debtors' case was converted to Chapter 13. On March 6, 2014, Debtors' Chapter 13 plan was confirmed.

On July 5, 2017, Trustee filed a motion to dismiss for failure to submit tax returns to the Trustee. No opposition was filed by Debtors and, after a continuance, the motion was granted and the case was dismissed on November 13, 2017.

On November 28, 2017, Debtors filed a motion to vacate dismissal. Debtors' primary explanation why the tax returns were not tendered is that: (1) a filing extension to October 15th; and (2) that Debtors made their final plan payment on November 3, 2017. On November 29, 2017, Trustee filed comments indicating conditional approval of the motion, assuming that the tax returns were sent to the Trustee and the motion was served properly.

CONT... Jose Castellanos and Hiliana Castellanos

Chapter 13

Fed. R. Bankr. P. Rule 9024, incorporating Fed. R. Civ. P. Rule 60(b)(1), provides for relief from an order for, among other things, "mistake, inadvertence, surprise, or excusable neglect." Debtors state that they asked their accountant to mail a copy of the tax returns to the Trustee, and that, at the time of the dismissal of their case, they had finished making plan payments.

Given the conditional approval of the Trustee and the evidence submitted by Debtor, the Court finds that the requested relief is proper assuming that the Trustee's conditions have been satisfied..

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to GRANT the motion conditioned on the Trustee's confirmation that he has received the applicable tax returns.

Debtors have provided evidence that regular payments were made between May 2016 and November 1, 2017 (with the exception of the August 2016 and December 2016 payments for which Debtors are seeking evidence). Exhibit 5, which is the Movant's summary of post-petition payments reflects numerous debits for 2016 payments which appears to corroborate Debtors' assertion that refunds were made due to a mix-up in payments being made by the Trustee's office.

Opposition: None

The Court is inclined to GRANT Movant's request for confirmation that the stay is no longer in effect as to actions taken against the real property located at 2731 Duffy St., San Bernardino, CA 92407. Specifically, on July 27, 2017, the Chapter 7 Trustee filed a notice of proposed abandonment of property of the estate (and no opposition was filed) and Debtor received a discharge on May 8, 2017. Therefore, pursuant to § 362 (c), the automatic stay is no longer applicable to the abandoned real property. Because the automatic stay is no longer in effect as to the abandoned real property, the remainder of Movant's requests are DENIED as moot.

MOVANT: WELLS FARGO BANK NA

Docket 37

Tentative Ruling:

1/23/2018

Service is Proper

Opposition: Yes

Debtor had a previous Chapter 7 filing dismissed for failure to file information on July 25, 2017. Because of the previous filing, the automatic stay in this case terminated thirty days after the petition date pursuant to § 362(c)(3)(A) absent court order. Debtor did not seek an order continuing the automatic stay and, therefore, the automatic stay terminated on August 26, 2017. Therefore, the Court is inclined to GRANT the request for relief under ¶ 3.

Movant has additionally requested annulment of the automatic stay, which would apply to the period between the petition date and the 30th day after the petition date (when the automatic stay terminated). Movant's attachment page, captioned "Facts Justifying Annulment Continuation Page," lacks the detail necessary to justify retroactive annulment of the automatic stay. Specifically, it is unclear when Movant learned of the bankruptcy petition, and it is unclear what, if any, actions were taken in violation of the automatic stay. Moreover, the Court notes that Debtor's creditor matrix lists multiple addresses for Movant. The docket also indicates that Movant's counsel was served with documents evidencing the bankruptcy filing two days after the petition date, at the latest. Therefore, this request is DENIED without prejudice.

Movant also requests in rem relief under ¶¶ 7 and 11. Movant's request under ¶ 7 is denied because it is unclear if the writ of possession was obtained in violation of the automatic stay and, therefore, void. Movant's request under ¶ 11 is denied for lack of cause shown.

#1.00 Motion By United States Trustee To Dismiss Case With A Filing Bar

EH__

Docket 8

Tentative Ruling:

01/24/2018

BACKGROUND

On December 12, 2017 ("Petition Date"), Maisha Mesa (the "Debtor") filed a petition for chapter 7 relief.

On December 29, 2017, the Office of the United States Trustee ("UST") filed a Motion to Dismiss Chapter 7 Case with a Re-Filing Bar (the "Motion"). No opposition has been filed.

DISCUSSION

Section 707(b)(3) was added to the Bankruptcy Code by the Bankruptcy Abuse Prevention and Consumer Protection Act of 2005 (BAPCPA). In re Siegenberg, 2007 WL 6371956 (2007). Since BAPCPA, the Ninth Circuit has not established a standard for determining a finding of "bad faith" in chapter 7 cases under § 707(b)(3)(A). Id. However, a few bankruptcy courts have addressed the issue. Siegenberg at *3-4. (citing In re Mitchell, 357 B.R. 142 (Bankr.C.D.Cal.2006)). The court in Mitchell, a chapter 7 case, used a nine-part test borrowing both from the Ninth Circuit's pre-BAPCPA "substantial abuse" test and from chapter 11 and 13 bad faith cases. Id. at 153–156 (citing: In re Price, 353 F.3d 1135, 1139–40 (9th Cir.2003)(using a six factor "totality of the circumstances test" to determine "substantial abuse" under pre-BAPCPA 707(b)); In re Leavitt, 171 F.3d 1219 (9th Cir.1999)(dismissing a chapter 13 for cause under §§ 349(a) and 1307(c), after a finding of bad faith employing a four part "totality of the circumstances" test)).

The court in Mitchell considered the following nine factors in determining whether "the debtor's intention in filing bankruptcy is inconsistent with the Chapter 7 goals of providing a 'fresh start' to debtors and maximizing return to creditors" and whether the case should thus be dismissed under § 707(b)(3)(A):

1. Whether the chapter 7 debtor has a likelihood of sufficient future income to fund a chapter 11, 12, or 13 plan which would pay a substantial portion of the unsecured claims;
2. Whether debtor's petition was filed as a consequence of illness, disability, unemployment, or other calamity;
3. Whether debtor obtained cash advances and consumer goods on credit exceeding his or her ability to repay;
4. Whether debtor's proposed family budget is excessive or extravagant;
5. Whether debtor's statement of income and expenses misrepresents debtor's financial condition;
6. Whether debtor made eve of bankruptcy purchases;
7. Whether debtor has a history of bankruptcy petition filings and dismissals;
8. Whether debtor has invoked the automatic stay for improper purposes, such as to delay or defeat state court litigation;
9. Whether egregious behavior is present.

Mitchell at 154–55. No single factor is considered dispositive, Id. at 155 (citing: In re Powers, 135 B.R. 980, 991–92 (Bankr.C.D.Cal.1991); In re Marshall, 298 B.R. 670, 681 (Bankr.C.D.Cal.2003)), and fraudulent intent is not required for a finding of bad faith. Id. (citing Leavitt, 171 F.3d at 1224).

Here, the UST asserts as grounds for dismissal that:

1. The Debtor filed an incomplete petition on the Petition Date;
2. The Debtor failed to file the remaining documents by the Court-ordered deadline;
3. This is the Debtor's third bankruptcy case filed since October 4, 2017 (Ex. 4);
4. The prior two cases were dismissed for failure to comply with the debtor's duties;
5. The Court further takes judicial notice of multiple additional prior cases indicated on the Court's docket as follows:
 - a. Case Number 17-18982, Chapter 13 filed in California Central Bankruptcy on 10/27/2017, Dismissed for Failure to File Information on 11/29/2017;

 - d. Case Number 03-20834, Chapter 13 filed in California Central Bankruptcy on 07/18/2003, Dismissed for Other Reason on 02/24/2004;
 - e. Case Number 04-14569, Chapter 13 filed in California Central Bankruptcy on 04/13/2004, Dismissed for Other Reason on 08/17/2004; and
 - f. Case Number 03-13994, Chapter 7 filed in California Central Bankruptcy on 03/17/2003, Standard Discharge on 07/01/2003.

The UST asserts that based on the dismissal of the Debtor's prior cases for failure to file documents, the failure of the Debtor to comply with the duties of a debtor in two recent prior cases, the history of dismissed filings, and the filing of the instant case seemingly for no other purpose than to frustrate creditors, dismissal with a bar is warranted.

Here, for the reasons set forth by the UST, based primarily on the history of filings, and the repeated conduct of the Debtor in failing to comply with Court-imposed deadlines, the Court finds that cause exists to dismiss the Debtor's case. Additionally, the Debtors apparent attempts to file bankruptcy for the sole purpose of forestalling creditors warrants a one-year bar under the Court's § 105 and § 349 authority as requested by the UST.

TENTATIVE RULING

Based on the foregoing, including the Debtor's failure to file opposition which this Court deems as consent to the granting of the Motion under LBR 9013-1(h), the Court is inclined to GRANT the Motion in its entirety.

#2.00 Motion for extension of time to file a complaint objecting to discharge for the U.S. Trustee

EH__

Docket 17

Tentative Ruling:

01/24/2018

BACKGROUND

On September 7, 2017, Rowena and Emerald Argonza (collectively, the "Debtors") filed for chapter 7 relief.

On December 11, 2017, the Office of the United States Trustee ("UST") filed a Motion for Extension of Time to File a Complaint Objecting to Discharge ("Motion"). In support of the Motion, the UST asserts that the Debtors' schedules indicate that they served as officers of a related chapter 11 case, Angeles of the Valley Hospice Care, LLC. The docket in the related chapter 11 case indicates that the Debtors were to receive $18,100 in insider compensation per month plus $1,000 in car allowances.

Service of the Motion was proper and no opposition has been filed.

DISCUSSION

Pursuant to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure ("FRBP") 4004 and 1017, Trustee seeks to extend the deadline for Trustee and U.S. Trustee to file a complaint objecting to Debtor's discharge under 11 U.S.C. § 727 and the deadline to seek dismissal under § 707, for an additional 60 days to January 25, 2018.

Under FRBP 4004(a) and 1017(e), on a motion of any party in interest, the court may for cause extend the time to object to discharge or to seek dismissal. Fed. R. Bankr. P. 4004, 1017.

As a matter of practice what constitutes "cause" rests within the discretion of the bankruptcy court. See In re James, 187 B.R. 395, 397 (Bankr. N.D. Ga. 1995).

Chapter 7

Also, Courts are generally unified in the view that the term "for cause" should receive a liberal construction. Id. Notwithstanding that fact, however, a creditor must exhibit some minimum degree of due diligence prior to seeking such an extension, and the Court should not allow the motion to serve as license for a baseless "fishing expedition." Id.; See also In re Leary, 185 B.R. 405, 406 (Bankr. D. Mass. 1995). To establish cause movant must (1) show that he had, with reasonable diligence, attempted to investigate the facts and circumstances, and (2) offer a reasonable explanation of why that investigation could not be completed within the allotted time. See Bomarito, 448 B.R. at 251.

The UST has presented evidence that they sought financial records of the related to their compensation in September 2017 and that the Debtors produced incomplete financial records in October 2017. The UST asserts that they Debtor's counsel indicated that they require additional time to produce the documents sought by the UST. Finally, Debtors' counsel indicated to the UST that the Debtors were agreeable to the extension of discharge and dismissal deadlines.

TENTATIVE RULING

Accordingly, based on the record provided by the UST and the failure of the Debtors to file opposition, the Court is inclined to GRANT the relief requested and provide the UST an extension for the filing of a complaint under § 727, and/or for the filing of a motion to dismiss under § 707, to February 12, 2018.

(Holding Date)

From: 9/27/17

EH__

Docket 29

Tentative Ruling:

9/27/17

BACKGROUND

On July 12, 2017, an involuntary Chapter 7 petition was filed against Integrated Wealth Management, Inc. ("Debtor"). After an extension of the applicable deadline, Debtor filed its answer on September 12, 2017.

Prior to the answer being filed, One El Paseo North, LLC ("Landlord") filed a motion for immediate payment of its gap rent claim pursuant to § 502(f). Landlord asserts that it holds a gap rent claim totaling $27,776.73, covering the time period between the filing of the involuntary petition, on July 12, 2017, and the time Debtor abandoned the premises, on August 18, 2017.

11 U.S.C. § 502(f) states:

(f) In an involuntary case, a claim arising in the ordinary course of the debtor's business or financial affairs after the commencement of the case but before the earlier of the appointment of the appointment of a trustee and the order for relief shall be determined as of the date such claim arises, and shall be allowed under subsection (a), (b), or (c) of this section or disallowed under subsection (d) or (e) of this section, the same as if such claim had arisen before the date of the filing of the petition.

While Landlord is correct that the Bankruptcy Code allows payment of ordinary course business claims that accrue during the gap period, it is unclear what the legal justification is for Landlord's request that the Court order the gap claim to be paid immediately. 11 U.S.C. § 507(a)(3) specifically affords debts incurred pursuant to § 502(f) third-priority status. If the estate is administratively insolvent, or does not have funds to pay all first, second, and third-priority claims, then Landlord would not receive full payment of its claim. Because Landlord may not receive full payment of its claim, it would be inappropriate to order immediate payment of its claim.

Debtor further objects to the issuance of an order allowing Landlord's claim, asserting that a motion to allow a claim for an unpaid § 502(f) claim is procedurally improper. The Court disagrees with Debtor's contention that a party cannot seek allowance of an administrative claim separate from filing a proof of claim. As an order for relief has not yet been entered, however, the relief requested is premature, since, among other things, a Chapter 7 trustee has not had the opportunity to vet the request. As an aside, the Court notes that Landlord has filed a proof of claim, but it did not request administrative priority.

#5.00 Motion for Turnover of Estate Property held by Debtors pursuant to 11 USC sect 542(A) and (E)

EH__

Docket 15

Tentative Ruling:

01/24/2018

BACKGROUND

On November 21, 2016 ("Petition Date"), Joyce Miller Black ("Debtor") filed her petition for chapter 7 relief. Larry Simons is the duly appointed chapter 7 trustee ("Trustee"). Among the assets of the bankruptcy estate is the right to refunds to which the Debtor was entitled in 2016. The Trustee sought copies of the Debtor's state and federal tax returns but only received a copy of the Debtor's Federal 2016 tax returns.

On December 18, 2017, the Trustee filed his Motion for Turnover of Property held by Debtor pursuant to 11 USC 542(a) and (e) (the "Motion"). The Motion was properly served on the Debtor and no opposition has been filed.

DISCUSSION

Under the Bankruptcy Code, "any entity, other than a custodian, in possession, custody or control of property that the trustee may use, sell, or lease under section 363 of this title ... shall deliver to the trustee, and account for, such property or the value of such property" Id. § 542(a). The Trustee seeks an order directing the Debtor to turn over to him 92% (or $1,832.64) of her 2016 tax refunds from her state and federal tax returns for 2016 (which the Trustee asserts cannot be exempted), and an order directing turnover by the

Debtor of a copy of her 2016 State of California tax return.

In support of the Motion, the Trustee has filed a declaration attesting to his requests to the Debtor's counsel for turnover of the funds and the state tax return. To date, the Debtor has not complied with the Trustee's informal requests. Pursuant to § 542 (a) and (e), in addition to the Debtor's failure to file opposition to the Trustee's Motion, which this Court deems as consent to the granting of the relief requested pursuant to LBR 9013-1(h), the Court finds that the Trustee has adequately demonstrated that the relief requested is warranted.

TENTATIVE RULING

Based on the foregoing, the Court is inclined to GRANT the Motion in its entirety. Trustee to appear and discuss setting of deadlines for turnover. The Trustee is authorized to appear telephonically.

#12.00 Motion To Approve Compromise Resolving All Pending Litigation

EH__

Docket 118

Tentative Ruling:

01/24/2018

BACKGROUND

On December 27, 2013 (the "Petition Date"), Master Design Inc (the "Debtor") filed its petition for chapter 7 relief. Steven Speier is the duly appointed chapter 7 trustee (the "Trustee").

On December 23, 2015, the Trustee filed his Complaint against Defendants Test-Rite Products Corp, Test-Rite International (U.S.) Co. LTD., Test-Rite International Co. LTD ("Test-Rite Taiwan"), Judy Lee, Chester Lee, and Christina Ma (collectively, the "Defendants"). The Trustee's initial Complaint included claims for recovery of Fraudulent Transfers (both for actual and constructive fraud), for conversion and unlawful payment of dividends, for breach of fiduciary duty, and finally, seeking declaratory relief as to alter ego (the "Complaint").

On April 27, 2016, the Court held hearings on the Defendants' first motions to dismiss the Complaint which were granted in part and denied in part, with leave given to the Trustee to amend his Complaint. On May 25, 2016, the Trustee filed his First Amended Complaint (the "FAC").

Subsequently, the Court heard and determined Defendants' motions to dismiss the FAC in August 2016. Answers were filed thereafter.

Chapter 7

On December 28, 2017, the Trustee filed a Motion To Approve Compromise Resolving All Pending Litigation (the "Motion"). Service is proper and the Motion is unopposed.

DISCUSSION

Rule 9019(a) authorizes the bankruptcy court to approve a compromise or settlement on the trustee's motion and after notice and a hearing. The bankruptcy court must consider all "factors relevant to a full and fair assessment of the wisdom of the proposed compromise." Protective Comm. for Indep. Stockholders of TMT Trailer Ferry, Inc. v. Anderson, 390 U.S. 414, 424, 88 S. Ct. 1157, 20 L. Ed. 2d 1 (1968). In other words, the bankruptcy court must find that the settlement is "fair and equitable" in order to approve it. Martin v. Kane (In re A & C Props.), 784 F.2d 1377, 1381 (9th Cir. 1986).

In conducting this inquiry, the bankruptcy court must consider the following factors:

(a) the probability of success in the litigation; (b) the difficulties, if any, to be encountered in the matter of collection; (c) the complexity of the litigation involved, and the expense, inconvenience and delay necessarily attending it; and (d) the paramount interest of the creditors and a proper deference to their reasonable views in the premises.

Id.

The bankruptcy court enjoys broad discretion in approving a compromise because it "is uniquely situated to consider the equities and reasonableness [of it] . . ." United States v. Alaska Nat'l Bank (In re Walsh Construction, Inc.), 669 F.2d 1325, 1328 (9th Cir. 1982). As stated in A & C Props.:

The purpose of a compromise agreement is to allow the trustee and the creditors to avoid the expenses and burdens associated with litigating sharply contested and dubious claims. The law favors compromise and not litigation for its own sake, and as long as the bankruptcy court amply considered the various factors that determined the reasonableness of the compromise, the court's decision must be affirmed.

Id. (citations omitted).

On the other hand, even though the bankruptcy court has wide latitude in approving compromises, its discretion is not completely unfettered. See Woodson v. Fireman's Fund Ins. Co. (In re Woodson), 839 F.2d 610, 620 (9th Cir. 1988). The trustee bears the burden of proving to the bankruptcy court that the settlement is fair and equitable and should be approved. In re A&C Props., 784 F.2d at 1382.

Here, the Trustee has provided an adequate basis for settlement. In particular, the Trustee has outlined the potential difficulties in collection and the expenses and problems associated with potential extrajudicial proceedings in Taiwan. These two factors alone weigh heavily in favor of granting the Motion. However, additionally, the Court is itself familiar with the complexity of the underlying factual and legal issues related to the transfer pricing scheme allegations brought by the Trustee and the hurdles presented by discovery issues in the case – in particular, the need to translate voluminous documents from Chinese to English for purposes of analysis and litigation. Based on the foregoing, the Court concludes that the Trustee's settlement for a payment of $735,000 to the estate is reasonable and in the best interests of creditors.

TENTATIVE RULING

Based on the foregoing, the Motion is GRANTED in its entirety.

BACKGROUND

On January 28, 2011, Brad & Deborah Stoddard ("Debtors") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. On May 24, 2011, Debtors' Chapter 13 plan was confirmed. The plan contained the following provision, section V.F.: "The debt of American Education Services will be discharged; the school has been stripped of accreditation and is on probation." On December 5, 2016, Debtors received a discharge, and, on January 13, 2017, the case was closed.

Chapter 13

On May 11, 2017, Debtors filed a motion for an order to show cause why creditor American Educational Services ("AES") should not be held in contempt court, and for damages and attorney's fees, for intentionally violating the discharge injunction. Because of inadequate service, the motion was originally denied without prejudice, and Debtors refiled the motion on June 1, 2017. AES filed its opposition on June 8, 2017. At a hearing on the matter on July 27, 2017, the Court continued the matter to October 2, 2017.

On July 31, 2017, the Court issued its Order to Show Cause why Matthew Resnik ("Resnik"), Brad Stoddard, and Deborah Stoddard should not be sanctioned for including a prohibited provision in a Chapter 13 plan (the "OSC"). Debtors filed their opposition on August 14, 2017. Resnik filed his opposition on August 17, 2017. AES filed its reply on August 24, 2017. Resnick filed supplemental responses on September 21 and 22, 2017.

DISCUSSION

I. Introduction

The OSC is issued in light of, and accordance with, the Supreme Court's decision in United Student Aid Funds, Inc. v. Espinosa, 559 U.S. 260 (2010). In Espinosa, the bankruptcy court had confirmed a Chapter 13 plan which purported to discharge student loan debt without complying with the applicable procedural requirements. After intercepting debtor's income tax refund to use towards payment of student loans, the creditor argued that the bankruptcy court's order confirming the debtor's Chapter 13 plan should be declared void. The Supreme Court held that, absent a jurisdictional or due process violation (which was not present) the bankruptcy court's legal error in confirming the Chapter 13 plan with a provision that impermissibly discharged student loan debt, did not render the order void. At the conclusion of its opinion, the Supreme Court opined:

Chapter 13

We acknowledge the potential for bad-faith litigation tactics. But expanding the availability of relief under Rule 60(b)(4) is not an appropriate prophylaxis. As we stated in Taylor v. Freeland & Kronz, 503 U.S. 638 (1992), "debtors and their attorneys face penalties under various provisions for engaging in improper conduct in bankruptcy proceedings." Id. at 644; see also FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 9011. The specter of such penalties should deter bad-faith attempts to discharge student loan debt without the undue hardship finding Congress required.

Espinosa, 559 U.S. at 278. Here, the Court is tasked with interpreting and implementing the guidance provided by the Supreme Court in Espinosa.

Debtors and Resnick have filed separate responses to the Court's OSC. Debtors have raised five arguments in their opposition: (1) that the Court already found that the plan was filed in good faith; (2) that the plan must be given res judicata effect; (3) that the Court is exceeding its discretionary sanctioning authority; (4) that the OSC is an illegal ex post facto law; and (5) that FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 9011 is inapplicable. Resnick offers the following categories of arguments in his opposition: (1) use of the Court's inherent sanctioning authority is inappropriate here; (2) Rule 9011 sanctions require a contempt finding; (3) Section 105 is inapplicable; and (4) the plan provision at issue is not prohibited. The Court will analyze the respondents' arguments separately.

II. Debtors' Opposition

A. The Court's Good Faith Finding

11 U.S.C. § 1325(a)(3) states:

Chapter 13

- (a) Except as provided in subsection (b), the court shall confirm a plan if –
- (3) the plan has been proposed in good faith and not by any means forbidden by law

Debtors argue that: "[i]t necessarily follows [from § 1325(a)(3)] that the Court has already made an express finding that the Plan was filed in good faith." This result does not necessarily follow from the language of the statute. The plain language of § 1325(a) operates to eliminate the discretion of the court if the court finds that the debtor has satisfied the nine subsections of § 1325(a); the provision does not state the consequences of a finding that some, but not all, of the § 1325(a) subsections have been satisfied. As is stated by the leading bankruptcy treatise:

The standards set forth in section 1325(a), however, are not requirements that must be met in every case before a plan can be confirmed. Unlike section 1322(a), section 1325(a) does not state that "the plan shall" comply with its listed criteria. Nor does it state, as does section 1129(a), that the court shall confirm the plan only if certain requirements are met. Instead it states only that if its criteria are met the court must confirm the plan. Therefore, the court has discretion to confirm a plan that does not comply with all of the standards of section 1325(a), particularly if no party objects.

8 COLLIER ON BANKRUPTCY ¶ 1325.01 (16th ed. 2016) (footnotes omitted).

Despite the plain language of the statute, the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals, without any independent analysis, and relying on an out of circuit bankruptcy court decision, has determined that the requirements of § 1325(a) are mandatory for Chapter 13 plan confirmation. See In Chinichian, 784 F.2d 1440, 1443-44 (9th Cir. 1986) ("For a court to confirm a plan, each of the requirements of section 1325 must be present and the debtor has the burden of proving that each element has been met.") (citing In re Elkind, 11 B.R. 473, 476 (Bankr. D. Colo. 1981)). While it remains unclear from where the mandatory characterization of § 1325(a) arose, a variety of courts have, in passing, assumed that the § 1325(a) standards are mandatory for plan confirmation. See, e.g., Assocs. Comm. Corp. v. Rash, 520 U.S. 953, 956 (1997) ("To qualify for confirmation under Chapter 13, the Rash's plan had to satisfy the requirements set forth in § 1325(a) of the Code."); Shaw v. Aurgroup Fin. Credit Union, 552 F.3d 447, 459 (6th Cir. 2009) ("Numerous district and bankruptcy courts outside the Fifth, Ninth, Tenth, and Eleventh Circuits, including courts within this circuit, have also held, suggested, or assumed that the provision in § 1325(a) are mandatory.") (collecting cases). But see In re Szostek, 886 F.2d 1405, 1411 (3rd Cir. 1989) ("On the other hand, if the conditions of § 1325 are not met, although the requirements of § 1322 are fulfilled, the court has the discretion to confirm the plan. If Congress had intended for § 1325(a) to be mandatory, it could have included that requirement with the requirements already listed in § 1322); see also Matter of Escobedo, 28 F.3d 34, 34 (7th Cir. 1994) ("We note, however, as did the court in Szostek, that while the provisions of § 1325(a)(5) may be discretionary[,] the requirements of § 1322(a)(2) are mandatory.). Indeed, even Espinosa appears to implicitly assume that the § 1325(a) requirements are mandatory. See 559 U.S. 260, 277 ("That is because § 1325(a) instructs a bankruptcy court to confirm a plan only if the court finds, inter alia, that the plan complies with the 'applicable provisions' of the Code.") (emphasis added). Therefore, it would appear that binding case law suggests that the § 1325(a) requirements, including good faith, are mandatory requirements for confirmation.

B. Res Judicata

While the Court accepts Debtors' argument that, by confirming their Chapter 13 plan, the Court implicitly found that the plan was filed in good faith, the Court rejects Debtors' argument that that finding is res judicata with regard to the Court. 11 U.S.C. § 1327(a) states: "The provisions of a confirmed plan bind the debtor and each creditor, whether or not the claim of such creditor is provided for by the plan, and whether or not such creditor has objected to, has accepted, or has rejected the plan." The Court is not a creditor and Debtors have advanced no argument as to how § 1327(a) would prevent the Court from revisiting its finding of good faith. In fact, the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals opinion that concluded the § 1325(a) requirements were mandatory stated the following: "Because section 1325(a)(3) of Title 11 requires the Chinichians to propose their plan in good faith, the bankruptcy court has jurisdiction to revoke a plan if the plan was not filed in good faith." In re Chinichian, 784 F.2d 1440, 1442 (9th Cir. 1986). The Ninth Circuit's further comments indicate that it believed such powers were expansive:

The Chinichians argue, however, that because section 1330 is a specific statute it should govern the more general section 105. The Mancari rationale that a specific statute cannot be nullified by a more general one is only applicable where a conflict exists.

Section 1330 provides a method of revoking a confirmation order "on request of a party in interest." While it does not specifically authorize such a revocation by the court sua sponte, it does not prohibit such action. Section 105 constitutes authority for the court to issue any order necessary to carry out the provisions of the Code. That reservoir of power in no manner conflicts with the authority to act upon the request of an interested party, but constitutes a supplemental method of revocation in the event of fraud. It would be absurd to hold that the bankruptcy court is powerless to correct a fraud unless first requested by an interested party, and that is not what section 1330 provides.

Section 105 sets out the power of the bankruptcy court to fashion orders as necessary pursuant to the purposes of the Bankruptcy Code.

Further, a bankruptcy court is a court of equity. As a court of equity, it may look through form to the substance of a transaction and devise new remedies where those at law are inadequate. Further, it can modify or vacate its order so long as no intervening right has become vested in reliance thereon. Thus, the bankruptcy court had equitable power to revoke its order partially confirming the Chinichians' plan once it recognized the Chinichians did not file their plan in good faith as required by section 1325(a)(3).

Chapter 13

Debtors' argument that § 1327 operates to prevent the Court from modifying its implicit good faith finding when confirming the plan lacks merit. The statute states that the terms of the provisions of a confirmed plan are binding on the debtor and creditors. The Court is not a creditor or a debtor nor is the Court's good faith finding a provision of a confirmed plan. Nor does res judicata prevent a court from revoking or amending its own order. Such a principle would eliminate the ability to revoke or modify a judgment altogether, rendering obsolete FED. R. CIV. P. Rules 59 & 60, in addition to many others legal provisions. Debtors' argument that the Court is bound by its own previous finding due to res judicata is not compelling.

C. The Court Lacks Authority to Issue Sanctions

Debtors' argument that the Court lacks authority to issue sanctions can be summarized in the following: (1) the Court is precluded from finding that the plan was proposed in bad faith due to res judicata; and (2) the Court must find that the plan was proposed in bad faith for sanctions to be warranted. Because the Court rejects (1), as outlined above, Debtors' argument must fail.

D. The OSC is an "Illegal Ex Post Facto Law"

In their fourth argument, Debtors argue that this OSC is an ex post facto law. As noted by Debtors, Art. 1 §§ 9 & 10 of the Constitution prohibit ex post facto laws. Article 1 of the Constitution deals with the legislative branch – the branch of the government that makes laws. The Judicial Branch does not make laws. Debtors' argument that a court order is an ex post facto law is therefore, necessarily, invalid.

E. Rule 9011 is Inapplicable

By presenting to the court (whether by signing, filing, submitting, or later advocating) a petition, pleading, written motion, or other paper, an attorney or unrepresented party is certifying that to the best of the person's knowledge, information, and belief, formed after an inquiry reasonable under the circumstances, --

(2) the claims, defenses, and other legal contentions therein are warranted by existing law or by a nonfrivolous argument for the extension, modification, or reversal of existing law or the establishment of new law

FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 9011(c)(1)(B) states: "[O]n its own initiative, the court may enter an order describing the specific conduct that appears to violate subdivision (b) and directing an attorney, law firm, or party to show cause why it has not violated subdivision (b) with respect thereto."

Debtors' nine subsection argument why FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 9011 is inapplicable is rather chaotic and disorganized. Regardless, the Court acknowledges that, as to Debtors, Rule 9011 sanctions are inapplicable due to the operation of Rule 9011(c)(2) (A). Therefore, the Court agrees that Rule 9011 cannot operate as the source of sanctions against Debtors.

III. Resnick's Opposition

A. Inherent Sanctioning Authority

The Supreme Court has stated: "it is firmly established that the power to punish for contempts is inherent in all courts." Chambers v. NASCO, Inc., 501 U.S. 32, 44 (1991) (quoting Ex parte Robinson, 19 Wall. 505, 510 (1874)); see also Fink v. Gomez, 239

F.3d 989, 992 (9th Cir. 2001) ("[T]he district court has the inherent authority to impose sanctions for bad faith, which includes a broad range of willful improper conduct."). The Ninth Circuit has stated: "Itel teaches that sanctions are justified when a party acts for an improper purpose – even if the act consists of making a truthful statement or a non-frivolous argument or objection. Fink, 239 F.3d at 922; see also In re Dyer, 322 F.3d 1178, 1196 (9th Cir. 2003) (discussing bad faith and willful misconduct).

Nevertheless, as Resnick states: "when there is bad-faith conduct in the course of litigation that could be adequately sanctioned under the Rules, the court ordinarily should rely on the Rules rather than the inherent power." Chambers, 501 U.S. at 50. Because the Court believes that the existing framework provides an adequate basis for sanctions in this type of situation, the Court need not rely on its inherent sanctioning authority.

B. Rule 9011

When imposing sanctions, sua sponte, under FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 9011, "sanctions 'will ordinarily be imposed only in situations that are akin to a contempt of court.'" United Nat'l Ins. Co. v. R&D Latex Corp., 242 F.3d 1102, 1116 (9th Cir. 2001) (citing Barber v. Miller, 146 F.3d 707, 711 (9th Cir. 1998); see also FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 11, Advisory Committee Notes ("Since show cause orders will ordinarily be issued only in situations that are akin to a contempt of court, the rule does not provide a 'safe harbor' to a litigant for withdrawing a claim, defense, etc., after a show cause has been issued on the court's own initiative.")). "[P]rior to imposing court-initiated sanctions, the district court is required to determine whether counsel's conduct is 'akin to contempt.'" Gonzalez v. Texaco Inc., 344 Fed. Appx. 304, 308 (9th Cir. 2009) (quoting R&D Latex Corp., 242 F.3d 1102, 1118)).

In this situation, the Court defers to Bankruptcy Judge TeSelle:

on May 2, 2000, it was clear to the Court that debtors' counsel included these plan provisions in the hope that they would trap an unwary student loan creditor. If a plan containing a student loan discharge provision is confirmed, debtors and their counsel argue that the student loan obligation is discharged under the theory of res judicata, improperly relying on a skewed interpretation of the opinion of the Tenth Circuit Court of Appeals in In re Andersen, 179 F.3d 1253 (10th Cir. 1999) to support their position. If an objection to confirmation is raised by either the Trustee or the student loan creditor, the offending language is simply removed from the plan, and debtors are no worse off for their attempt. The Court will not permit this type of gamesmanship on the part of debtors and their counsel to continue. Conduct such as this has no place in the practice of bankruptcy law, and will not be tolerated by this Court.

The citation of the opinion of the Tenth Circuit in Andersen, supra, as authority for the practice of intentionally inserting language in a chapter 13 plan that violates the Bankruptcy Code and Rules, and as authorizing counsel to stand by silently and thereby induce the Court to confirm a plan that contains a provision that counsel knows violates the Bankruptcy Code and Rules, is at once offensive and specious. Counsel appearing before this Court are officers of the Court and are ethically obligated to inform the Court if they are aware of the existence of a plan provision that renders the plan non-confirmable.

Rather than recognizing their obligations to the Court and to opposing counsel, counsel for debtors in these cases go so far as to suggest that they are compelled by Andersen to recommend that their clients include these unlawful plan provisions, implying that their failure to do so might be an act of professional negligence. The Court does not believe that a fair reading of the opinion of the Tenth Circuit in Andersen can reasonably lead one to conclude that the Tenth Circuit intended to encourage the practice of intentionally inserting unlawful plan provisions in the hope that confirmation of the plan will occur and the time for appeal will pass before such provisions are noticed so that debtors and their counsel can then claim res judicata. Such a skewed reading of Andersen fails to account for the ethical obligations owed by members of the bar to the Court and to each other.

This is particularly true given the volume of chapter 13 filings in this district, and the fact that the Court does not have the time to independently review every chapter 13 plan and confirmation order to determine whether an attempt to unlawfully discharge a student loan obligation is being made. Because the Court has apparently been unable to rely on the ethical conduct of some of the counsel representing chapter 13 debtors appearing before it, the Court, up to his point in time, has been forced to rely on a party in interest other than the debtor to point out those instances in which such student loan discharges have been attempted through plan provisions. Where the Court has become aware of such attempts, either through objections by the student loan creditor or through the inclusion of such a provision in the order confirming the chapter 13 plan, the Court has refused to confirm the plan containing such language, and has stricken language from confirmation orders attempting to effect a discharge of student loan indebtedness in this manner.

In light of the existing case law concerning the impropriety of the inclusion of such student loan discharge provisions in chapter 13 plans, and the unambiguous language of the Bankruptcy Code and Rules, the Court believes that the inclusion of such a provision in a chapter 13 plan and/or order confirming a chapter 13 plan is both unethical and sanctionable conduct pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9011. Bankruptcy Rule 9011(b) concerns representations made to the Court. It states that by presenting a paper to the Court, an attorney or unrepresented party certifies to the best of his or her knowledge, information and belief, formed after a reasonable inquiry under the circumstances, that the legal contentions therein are warranted by existing law or by a nonfrivolous argument for the extension, modification, or reversal of existing law or the establishment of new law. See FED. Chapter 13

The Court refuses to allow counsel for debtors to turn the inclusion of a student loan discharge provision in a chapter 13 plan into a "can't lose" proposition. The Court therefore concludes that Andersen provides no protection from the imposition of sanctions under Rule 9011(b) in cases in which a student loan discharge provision is included in a confirmed chapter 13 plan.

In re Hensley, 249 B.R. 318, 320-323 (Bankr. W.D. Okla. 2000).

C. Section 105

11 U.S.C. § 105(a) states:

- (a) The court may issue any order, process, or judgment that is necessary or appropriate to carry out the provisions of this title. No provision of this title providing for the raising of an issue by a party in interest shall be construed to preclude the court from, sua sponte, taking any action or making any determination necessary to enforce or implement court orders or rules, or to prevent an abuse of process.

Resnick offers a single argument in support of his position that § 105(a) is inapplicable: that the provision only applies to violations of a specific court order. Resnick cites In re Dyer in support of this statement. 322 F.3d 1178, 1196 (9th Cir. 2003) ("Civil contempt authority allows a court to remedy a violation of a specific order (including 'automatic' orders, such as the automatic stay or discharge injunction).").

Dyer does not explicitly state that § 105(a) is strictly limited to remedying violations of specific court orders, nor does it cite any authority from which it could be inferred that the Dyer court had such an opinion. Indeed § 105(a) explicitly mentions, in addition to court orders, rules and "abuse of process"; the latter might be invoked in the absence of a specific court order.

The Supreme Court, on two occasions after Dyer, has written an opinion which indicates that § 105 is not strictly limited to correcting violations of specific court orders. First, in Marrama v. Citizens Bank of Mass., the Supreme Court wrote:

On the contrary, the broad authority granted to bankruptcy judges to take any action that is necessary or appropriate to prevent an abuse of process described in § 105(a) of the Code, is surely adequate to authorize an immediate denial of a motion to convert filed under § 706 in lieu of a conversion order that merely postpones the allowance of equivalent relief and may provide a debtor with an opportunity to take action prejudicial to creditors.

549 U.S. 365, 375 (2007) (footnote omitted). The "abuse of process" referenced in Marrama was not a violation of a specific court order, but, rather, "an unmeritorious attempt to qualify as a debtor under Chapter 13." Id.

Second, in Law v. Siegel, the Supreme Court stated: "Section 105(a) confers authority to 'carry out' the provisions of the Code." This statement is natural, since the first sentence of § 105(a) states: "[t]he court may issue any order, process, or judgment that is necessary or appropriate to carry out the provisions of this title."

Here, the Court concludes that a specific and definite court order has not been violated. Nevertheless, the reconciliation of Dyer and Marrama helps illustrate the proper approach forward. The Ninth Circuit Court of Appeal's instructions that sanctions under § 105(a) are appropriate for violation of a specific and definite court order is derived from the non-bankruptcy standard for civil contempt. See F.T.C. v. Affordable Media, 179 F.3d 1228, 1239 (9th Cir. 1999) (quoting Stone v. City & Cnty. of S.F., 968 F.2d 850, 856 n.9 (9th Cir. 1992)) ("The moving party has the burden of showing by clear and convincing evidence that the contemnors violated a specific and definite order of the court. The burden then shifts to the contemnors to demonstrate why they were unable to comply."). Nevertheless, as illustrated by Marrama, the Court's authority under § 105(a) is not strictly limited to issuing sanctions for civil contempt. While a civil contempt finding under § 105(a) may not be appropriate in these circumstances, it does not follow that the Court lacks the ability to adequately and equitably resolve this situation.

The Court is inclined to CONTINUE the hearing for approximately thirty days to allow Debtors to file a supplemental brief addressing why they should not be sanctioned pursuant to the Court's inherent sanctioning authority. No further briefing from Resnick is requested.

BACKGROUND

On February 21, 2017, Ernie Macias ("Debtor") filed his petition for chapter 13 relief. The Debtor's case was filed by Alon Darvish ("Darvish"). On March 13, 2017, the Debtor's case was dismissed for failure to file information.

On March 24, 2017, the Office of the United States Trustee ("UST") filed a Motion to Disgorge Attorney's Fees ("Disgorgement Motion"). On June 13, 2017, the Court granted in part and denied in part the UST's Disgorgement Motion (the "Disgorgement Order"). The Disgorgement Order required Darvish to file his disclosure of compensation, and to disgorge fees received from the Debtor back to him.

On September 20, 2017, the UST filed its Motion For An Order To Show Cause Why Alon Darvish Should Not Be Held In Contempt Of Court Pursuant To 11 U.S.C. § 105 And Federal Rule Of Bankruptcy Procedure 9020 (the "Motion for OSC"). The Motion for OSC specifically asserted that Darvish had failed to comply with any part of the Disgorgement Order. The UST's Motion for OSC further asserted that Darvish had repeatedly failed to disclose compensation and had been sanctioned for such conduct under similar circumstances in at least 6 other cases. (Motion for OSC at 9).

Chapter 13

On October 20, 2017, the Court granted the Motion for OSC and ordered Darvish to show cause why he should not be held in contempt (the "OSC"). Darvish filed his response to the OSC on November 16, 2017 ("Response"). On November 21, 2017, the UST replied to the Response.

DISCUSSION

In his Response, Darvish indicated that his practice includes the filing of skeletal petitions for chapter 13 debtors for the purpose of stopping foreclosures. He indicated that when such skeletal petitions are filed, his software does not file the Disclosure of Compensation. Darvish asserts that he is a solo practitioner who is overwhelmed and understaffed and who is trying to rectify the issues in his practice. In Reply, the UST objects particularly to Darvish's failure to outline specific steps he intends to take to remedy the issues at his firm. The UST is also concerned that Darvish has essentially admitted that his practice includes the filing of abusive petitions intended solely to avoid foreclosures. The UST requests that the Court continue the matter for Darvish to set forth specific remedial actions as ordered. The UST also requests that the Court separately consider whether a separate order to show cause is justified based on Darvish's inherently abusive prevention practice.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court agrees with the UST that Darvish's explanation is insufficient. Darvish's Response indicates clearly the reason for the failure to file disclosure of compensation forms. Despite this fact, he does not explain the ongoing failure to file these forms, particularly where he has previously been sanctioned for failing to disclose his compensation. The ongoing failure to file required documents, despite having already been sanctioned, supports the UST's request for a specific plan of remediation. Absent such plan, Darvish may simply continue to rely on his thus far unreliable bankruptcy filing software.

Separately, the UST's concern regarding Darvish's practice of filing skeletal petitions is well-taken. In particular, if Darvish is advising his clients to file abusive petitions to

BACKGROUND:

On June 19, 2017, Gwendolyn Washington ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. Previously, on August 1, 2012, Debtor obtained a discharge in a Chapter 7 proceeding. On July 10, 2017, Debtor filed a motion to avoid lien with "Option One Mortgage Corp serviced by Real Time Resolutions Inc." This lien predated the petition date of Debtor's Chapter 7 case. On August 8, 2017, the Court entered an order granting the motion. Section 4b(4) of the form order states: "The claim of the junior lienholder is to be treated as an unsecured claim and is to be paid through the plan pro rata with all other unsecured claims." Section 4b(5) of the form order states:

Real Time Resolutions, Inc. ("Creditor") filed a secured claim in the amount of $307,049.79, including arrears in the amount of $177,235.84 ("Claim 5"). On December 15, 2017, Debtor filed an objection to Claim 5. The basis for Debtor's objection is that her personal liability on Claim 5 was discharged in a previous bankruptcy case, and the Court's order avoiding the lien of Creditor means that the claim is no longer secured.

APPLICABLE LAW:

I. Claim Objection

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 502(a), a proof of claim is deemed allowed unless a party in interest objects. Absent an objection, a proof of claim constitutes prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claim under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure ("FRBP") 3001(f). See Lundell v. Anchor Constr. Specialists, Inc., 223 F.3d 1035, 1039 (9th Cir. 2000). When a party files an objection to a proof of claim, that filing "creates a dispute which is a contested matter" within the meaning of FRBP 9014 and the Court must resolve the matter after notice and opportunity for hearing upon a motion for relief. Id.

When a creditor has filed a proof of claim that complies with the rules (thereby giving rise to the presumption of validity), the burden shifts to the objecting party who must "present evidence to overcome the prima facie case." In re Medina, 205 B.R. 216, 222 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1996). To defeat the claim, the objecting party must provide sufficient evidence and "show facts tending to defeat the claim by probative force equal to that of the allegations of the proofs of claim themselves." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039 (quoting In re Holm, 931 F.2d 620, 623 (9th Cir. 1991)). "The objector must produce evidence, which, if believed, would refute at least one of the allegations that is essential to the claim's legal sufficiency." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1040 (quoting In re Allegheny Int'l, Inc., 954 F.2d 167, 173-74 (3d Cir. 1992)). If the objecting party produces sufficient evidence to negate one or more of the sworn facts in the proof of claim, the burden reverts back to the claimant to prove the validity of the claim by a preponderance of the evidence. See In re Consol. Pioneer Mort, 178 B.R. 222, 226 (9th Cir. BAP 1995), aff'd, 91 F.3d 151 (9th Cir. 1996) (quoting Allegheny Int'l, 954 F.2d at 173-74). The ultimate burden of persuasion remains at all times on the claimant. See Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039; see also Holm, 931 F.2d at 623.

II. Summary of Analysis

The avoidance of a consensual lien in a Chapter 13 case is effectuated by a two-step process. First, the Court engages in a § 506(a) valuation, bifurcating the claim into secured and unsecured portions. Then the Court applies § 1322(b)(2). If the § 506(a) valuation results in a "secured claim[s], other than a claim secured only by a security interest in real property that is the debtor's principal residence" or an unsecured claim, then the plan may modify the rights of the creditor under § 1322(b)(2), avoiding the lien. This results because the Supreme Court has concluded that after a § 506(a) valuation, a wholly underwater junior lien is to be treated as an unsecured claim, and unsecured claims are subject to modification under § 1322(b)(2).

If the debtor's personal liability on the underlying debt has been discharged in a previous bankruptcy case, however, the issue is more complex. Because there is no in personam liability on the underlying debt, it could be argued that there is no unsecured claim after the § 506(a) valuation. If there is no unsecured claim, however, the debtor would be ineligible to use § 1322(b)(2) to avoid the lien. Therefore, lien avoidance is only statutorily permissible if § 506(a) is interpreted as "creating" an unsecured claim for the purposes of the Chapter 13 bankruptcy. As outlined below, this result is logically necessary, and case law, this district's mandatory forms, and policy considerations all weigh in favor of the result.

ANALYSIS:

The sole basis for Debtor's objection to Claim 5 is that Claim 5 was the subject of (1) a prior discharge and (2) a lien avoidance order. To understand the legal argument made, a brief history of lien avoidance is necessary.¹

Prior to 1992, lien avoidance was available to debtors in both Chapter 7 and 13 proceedings, and for junior liens that were both wholly underwater and partially underwater. See e.g., Gaglia v. First Fed. Savs. & Loan Ass'n, 889 F.2d 1304 (3rd Cir. 1989) (Chapter 7 debtors could strip down partially underwater junior lien). In 1992, however, the Supreme Court decided Dewsnup v. Timm, 502 U.S. 410 (1992), which held Chapter 7 debtors could not strip down a partially unsecured lien to the value of the collateral. In reaching conclusion, the Supreme Court noted the definition of secured claim in 11 U.S.C. § 506(a)(1), which states as follows:

An allowed claim of a creditor secured by a lien on property in which the estate has an interest, or that is subject to setoff under section 553 of this title, is a secured claim to the extent of the value of such creditor's interest in the estate's interest in such property, or to the extent of the amount subject to setoff, as the case may be, and is an unsecured claim to the extent that the value of such creditor's interest or the amount so subject to setoff is less than the amount of such allowed claim. Such value shall be determined in light of the purpose of the valuation and of the proposed disposition or use of such property, and in conjunction with any hearing on such disposition or use or on a plan affecting such creditor's interest.

The Supreme Court also noted the language of 11 U.S.C. § 506(d), which states, in relevant part: "To the extent that a lien secures a claim against the debtor that is not an allowed secured claim, such lien is void." Prior to Dewsnup, courts have interpreted § 506(a)(1) and § 506(d), when read in conjunction, to establish a method by which debtors could void a lien to the extent such a lien was wholly or partially unsecured. The Supreme Court, however, rejected that reading, deferring to the "pre-Code rule that liens pass through bankruptcy unaffected." Id. at 778. In rejecting such a reading, the Supreme Court foreclosed the possibility of using § 506 as an independent mechanism to avoid wholly or partially underwater liens. Nevertheless, the Eleventh Circuit continued to allow Chapter 7 debtors to strip off wholly underwater liens, noting that the Supreme Court in Dewsnup had decided on the facts of a partially underwater lien. See, e.g., In re McNeal, 735 F.3d 1263 (11th Cir. 2012).

In 2015, however, the Supreme Court returned to the issue, and rejected the Eleventh Circuit's approach, holding that Chapter 7 debtors could not avoid wholly underwater liens through the operation of § 506. While it is not exactly clear how § 506 could be applied differently depending on whether the lien is wholly or partially unsecured, the Supreme Court concisely reasserted that "Dewsnup defined the term 'secured claim' in § 506(d) to mean a claim supported by a security interest in property, regardless of whether the value of that property would be sufficient to cover the claim. . . . Dewsnup's construction of 'secured claim' resolves the question presented here."

Nevertheless, Chapter 13 debtors have a different mechanism by which they can avoid liens which are partially or wholly underwater: 11 U.S.C. § 1322(b)(2), which states:

(b) Subject to subsections (a) and (c) of this section, the plan may –

(2) modify the rights of holders of secured claims, other than a claim secured only by a security interest in real property that is the debtor's principal residence, or of holders of unsecured claims, or leave unaffected the rights of holders of any class of claims

Prior to 1993, bankruptcy courts had allowed Chapter 13 debtors to use the above provision to avoid both wholly and partially underwater liens. In 1993, however, the Supreme Court decided Nobelman v. Am. Savs. Bank, 508 U.S. 324 (1993), which limited Chapter 13 debtors ability to use § 1322(b)(2) to avoid liens to only those circumstances where the junior lien was wholly underwater. Id. at 332 ("In other words, to give effect to § 506(a)'s valuation and bifurcation of secured claims through a Chapter 13 plan in the manner petitions proposed would require a modification of the rights of the holder of the security interest. Section 1322 (b)(2) prohibits such a modification where, as here, the lender's claim is secured only by a lien on the debtor's principal residence."). After Nobelman, Chapter 13 debtors were still permitted to use § 1322(b)(2) to avoid liens which were "secured" by their principal residence, if such lien was wholly underwater (and thus, pursuant to § 506(a)(1), not "secured"). See, e.g., In re Tanner, 217 F.3d 1357, 1359-60 (11th Cir. 2000).

An additional wrinkle, however, is present when a debtor files a "Chapter 20" case.² A Chapter 20 case involves a debtor who received a discharge in a Chapter 7 case and subsequently (technically within four years) files a Chapter 13 case. In that circumstance:

The Chapter 7 discharge erases all dischargeable, unsecured debts. The discharge, however, only prevents creditors from collecting against the debtors personally. Any liens on secured property ride through the bankruptcy. The liens become non-recourse loans. When the debtor then files under Chapter 13 none of the unsecured debt is part of the Chapter 13 case because it has been discharged in the Chapter 7 case, but the remaining liens are claims in the Chapter 13.

In re Winitzky, 2009 WL 9139891 at *1 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2009) (citations omitted). There are at least two significant questions that arise when a Chapter 13 debtor attempts to avoid a wholly underwater junior lien after obtaining a Chapter 7 discharge: (1) whether avoidance of the junior lien is permissible and (2) how the holder of the junior lien should be treated during the pendency of the Chapter 13 plan.

Furthermore, there is an additional important question here: how much weight should the Court give the language of the lien avoidance motion and the subsequent order granting the motion.

The two preliminary questions identified above are legally complex – although a brief description is adequate to reveal the issues. Under the Nobelman lien avoidance procedure, a debtor first seeks a valuation under § 506(a)(1). Pursuant to § 506(a)(1), the claim is secured "to the extent of the value of such creditor's interest in the estate's interest in such property," and is an "unsecured claim to the extent that the value of such creditor's interest or the amount so subject setoff is less than the amount of such allowed claim."

Here, because the entire claim is underwater, the application of § 506(a)(1) leads to a conclusion that the amount of the secured claim is zero. Pursuant to § 506(a)(1), the remainder of the claim is unsecured. The issue, however, is whether § 506(a)(1) presupposes that in personam liability exists on the claim in the first place. If § 506(a)(1) does not implicitly contain such a presumption, then the plain language of the statute reads that any part of the claim determined not to be secured is automatically unsecured. In effect, a Chapter 20 debtor would have a choice regarding wholly underwater junior liens: treat the claim as either wholly secured or wholly unsecured.

If § 506(a)(1) does implicitly contain an assumption that, for an unsecured claim to remain, in personam liability must have existed on the claim in the first place, a different problem arises. As noted above, section 1322(b)(2) allows Chapter 13 debtors to "modify the rights of holders of secured claims, other than a claim secured only by a secured interest in real property that is the debtor's principal residence, or of holders of unsecured claims." And Nobelman requires a two-step, sequential process for lien avoidance of wholly underwater junior liens by Chapter 13 debtors: (1) the application of § 506(a)(1), then (2) the operation of § 1322(b)(2). In order for § 1322(b)(2) to be applicable, however, and thus lien avoidance possible, the § 506(a)(1) valuation must reach one of two results: (1) a secured claim, other than a claim secured by real property that is the debtor's principal residence; or (2) an unsecured claim. Clearly, if Claim 5 is secured, it is only secured by Debtor's principal residence. Therefore, the only way § 1322(b)(2) can be applied is if the operation of § 506(a)(1) results in an unsecured claim. The result is logically unambiguous, and simply unavoidable.

The Court's form motion and order, as well as case law, implicitly and explicitly recognize this dilemma for debtors. The lien avoidance motion filed by Debtor included the following request: "Respondent's claim on the junior position lien shall be allowed as a nonpriority general unsecured claim in the amount per the filed Proof of Claim." [Dkt. No. 21 at 3(d)(3)]. And, as noted in the introduction section, the Court's order granting the motion contains the following: "The claim of the junior lienholder is to be treated as an unsecured claim and is to be paid through the plan pro rata with all other unsecured claims." [Dkt. No. 30 at 4(b)(4)].³

The case law on this narrow issue (if lien stripping is allowed in a Chapter 20, how should the claim be treated during the plan) is not extensive. Multiple bankruptcy courts in California, however, have recognized the consequences noted above. The first opinion nationally to address the issue appears to have come from this district. See In re Akram, 239 B.R. 371, 377 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2001) ("However, neither Lam nor the cases from other Circuits addressed or allowed the result moved for here: that a Lam-stripped claim should be valued, for chapter 13 plan purposes, not only as a secured claim of zero, but also as a general unsecured claim of zero, where the debtor previously received a chapter 7 discharge. In fact, neither movant, nor this Court, found any reported case authorizing the result here moved for, or even ruling on this 'Chapter 20' twist to Lam motions."). The holding of that case was: "the 'Lam-stripping' of these secured claims in the chapter 13 case resulted in valuing the secured claims at zero secured, for chapter 13 plan purposes, and turned the full amount owed to each creditor (pursuant to that creditor's Note) into a general unsecured claim, for chapter 13 plan purposes." Id. at 378.

The reasoning of Akram does not appear to be universally accepted, however, it has been cited approvingly by the BAP and is the majority position on the issue. See In re Eaton, 2006 WL 6810924 at *6 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2006); In re Gounder, 266 B.R. 879, 880 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 2001) ("Given that the lien survived the chapter 7 discharge, if a chapter 13 petition is later filed and the lien is stripped pursuant to Lam, the creditor must be allowed an unsecured claim despite the earlier chapter 7 discharge."); see also In re Renz, 476 B.R. 382, 392 (Bankr. E.D.N.Y. 2012). Even Okosis, the decision commonly referred to as detailing the "fourth option" which provided a rationale to validate lien stripping in Chapter 20 cases (see footnote 4), concluded that the claim must be treated as an unsecured claim in the plan. 451 B.R. 90, 96 (Bankr. D. Nev. 2011) ("Even though the chapter 13 debtor faces no personal liability on the debt, the debtor may use Section 506(a) to determine that the claim is not supported by the value of any collateral, avoid the lien through the chapter 13 plan, and thereby treat the debt as unsecured debt.").

Ultimately, the case law and this district's form motion and order recognize the logical necessity that only one of two things can be true: (1) lien stripping is unavailable in Chapter 20 cases; or (2) the wholly underwater junior lien becomes an unsecured claim upon lien avoidance. Quite simply, the Chapter 20 debtor cannot have its cake and eat it too. Creditor's claim, originally secured by property of the estate, is converted to an unsecured claim against the estate after lien avoidance.

Not only do logical reasoning, case law, and this district's practice demand the result, but the equities concur. A Chapter 13 debtor can propose plans which pay creditors three different categories of dividends: (1) 0%; (2) more than 0%, but less than 100%; or (3) 100%. In either of the first two cases, treatment of the claim as an unsecured claim would not affect the amount the debtor pays into the plan. Only in the situation where the debtor is not paying the entirety of its disposable income into the plan does the situation affect the debtor. In other words, only in those cases where the Chapter 13 debtor has the ability to pay some or the entire resulting unsecured claim would the result impact the Chapter 13 plan.⁴ Furthermore, there is no (other) mechanism under the bankruptcy code that would allow a debtor to avoid a lien and discharge the in personam liability without the obligation to make a good faith effort to make payment on the claim. For all the reasons outlined above, Debtor's efforts at finding a loophole to avoid the requirement are logically incompatible with the Code.

Analysis: 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(3) (2005) provides factors to be considered in determining the reasonableness of requested compensation.

Counsel requests fees for the following:

- 1) Opposition to a motion for relief from stay (Nissan) in which the result was an adequate protection. For this category, Counsel billed $2,120 and voluntarily reduced the amount to $1,500.
- 2) Non-opposition to a motion for relief from stay (BMW). Counsel billed $640.
- 3) Filing the fee application. Counsel billed $75.

Trustee's objection is primarily that the billing rate of $400/hr was too high for the tasks, which could mostly be characterized as clerical or administration. Trustee proposes a $750 reduction for opposing the relief from stay and a $290 reduction for the non-opposition to the motion for relief from stay.

The Court agrees with Trustee that Counsel's billing entries appear unreasonable. Regarding the first relief from stay, Counsel billing primarily reflects relaying the comments of Nissan to Debtor or relying the comments of Debtor to Nissan, and Service is proper and no opposition has been filed.

The Debtors' prior case was dismissed for failure to provide Trustee with 2016 tax returns. In the current case, Debtors have already provided 2016 returns to the Trustee. Moreover, the prior case demonstrates that the Debtors remained current for over one year. On these facts, the Debtors' evidence of good faith is sufficient to warrant continuance of the automatic stay.

Docket 91

Tentative Ruling:

01/30/2018

BACKGROUND

On August 25, 2017 ("Petition Date"), Rick's Patio, Inc. ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 11 voluntary petition. In its chapter 11 petition, the Debtor designated itself as a small business debtor as defined in 11 U.S.C. § 101(51D).

The Debtor filed its Chapter 11 Plan ("Plan") and Disclosure Statement ("DS") on December 26, 2017.

On December 28, 2017, the Debtor filed its Motion for Extension of Time to have Plan of Reorganization Confirmed ("Motion"). Service was proper and no opposition has been filed.

days after the order for relief in a small business case. 11 U.S.C. § 1121(e)(2). Based on the Petition Date of the instant case, the statutory deadline for the Debtor's filing of a plan and disclosure statement in this case is June 21, 2018.

Separately, the court shall confirm a plan that complies with the applicable provisions of this title and that is filed in accordance with section 1121(e) not later than 45 days after the plan is filed unless the time for confirmation is extended in accordance with section 1121(e)(3). 11 U.S.C. § 1129(e).

Here, the Debtor filed its Chapter 11 Plan ("Plan") and Disclosure Statement ("DS") on December 26, 2017. Based on the filing date, the deadline to confirm the Debtor's plan and disclosure statement is February 9, 2018.

The Debtor now moves for an extension of the 45-day period to May 15, 2018. In order to allow for a two-step process which first allows a hearing on approval of the Debtor's disclosure statement prior to a final hearing on confirmation, the Debtor must seek this extension. Currently, the Debtor's Motion for approval of Chapter 11 disclosure statement is set for hearing on February 13, 2018.

TENTATIVE RULING

Based on the foregoing facts, and in order to permit the Debtor to obtain approval of its Plan and DS with adequate notice to creditors, the Court finds the requested extension is warranted.

BACKGROUND

On July 21, 2011, John & Carolyn Vega ("Debtors") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On November 2, 2011, Debtors received a discharge and five days later the case was closed.

On March 1, 2017, UST filed a motion to reopen the case to investigate and administer litigation settlement proceeds. On December 12, 2017, the Chapter 7 trustee filed two motions to approve compromise. The first motion, between the estate and the debtors and primarily relating to the amount of Debtors' exemption in the proceeds, was granted on January 5, 2018. The second motion was set for hearing and is under consideration now.

Pursuant to the instant compromise motion the Trustee requests: (1) approval of the

No opposition to the instant compromise motion has been filed.

DISCUSSION

FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 9019(a) states: "On motion by the trustee and after notice and a hearing, the court may approve a compromise or settlement. Notice shall be given to creditors, the United States trustee, the debtor, and indenture trustees as provided in Rule 2002 and to any other entity as the court may direct." The Court may grant approval if it determines that the compromise is "fair and equitable." See In re Berkeley Delaware Court, LLC, 834 F.3d 1036, 1039 (9th Cir. 2016). In determining whether the compromise is fair and equitable, the Court applies a four-factor test. See In re DiCostanzo, 399 Fed. Appx. 307, 308 (9th Cir. 2010). The test was originally outlined in In re A & C Props., and provides for consideration of

- (a) The probability of success in the litigation;
- (b) the difficulties, if any, to be encountered in the matter of collection;
- (c) the complexity of the litigation involved, and the expense, inconvenience and delay necessarily attending it;
- (d) the paramount interest of the creditors and a proper deference to their reasonable views in the premises.

784 F.2d 1377, 1381 (9th Cir. 1986) (quotation omitted). "The bankruptcy court has great latitude in approving compromise agreements." In re Woodson, 839 F.2d 610, 620 (9th Cir. 1988). Typically, "a compromise should be approved unless it falls below the lowest point in the range of reasonableness." In re Art & Architecture Books of the 21st Century, 2016 WL 1118742 at *25 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2016) (quotation omitted).

The proposed settlement here, however, presents a unique situation. The proposed settlement represents an "aggregate settlement" negotiated in the context of, presumably, state or federal district court litigation. The proposed settlement has not been disclosed to the Court on the basis that it contains a confidentiality provision. The Court will not approve settlement terms without the opportunity to review those terms. Furthermore, Trustee motions lacks detail in its description of the situation.

The nature, extent and value of Debtor's claim are completely unknown to this Court. The factual situation giving rise to Debtor's claim is unclear, and the Court lacks any ability to estimate the value of the claim. Furthermore, as a result of the absence of information, the Court lacks the information necessary to determine the reasonableness of the requested attorney's fees.

The Bankruptcy Code demonstrates a preference for public access to the proceedings. See 11 U.S.C. § 107 (2010). There are procedures by which certain documents, including settlements, can be classified as confidential. See, e.g., In re Oldco M Corp., 466 B.R. 234 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2012); In re Hemple, 295 B.R. 200 (Bankr. D. Vt. 2003). In order for the Court to apply the legal standards of 11 U.S.C. § 107, the Court must be given an opportunity to review the material and make a determination regarding whether the matter is entitled to confidentiality. The Court will not, however, approve a settlement and classify it as confidential without knowledge of the terms of the settlement.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to DENY the motion or CONTINUE the matter for supplemental evidence and analysis.

Docket 52

Tentative Ruling:

1/31/18

BACKGROUND

On January 30, 2017, Hiep Huu Phan ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. Schedule A listed certain real property located at 3073 Coventry St., Corona, CA 92879 (the "Property"). On May 4, 2017, the Court approved Trustee's application to employ Pagter & Misty Perry Isaacson as counsel. On June 26, 2017, the Court approved Trustee's application to employ Richard Halderman Jr. as realtor.

On November 10, 2017, Trustee filed a motion for sale of property of the estate under Section 363(b). On November 22, 2017, Debtor's non-filing spouse, Man Thi Nguyen ("Nguyen") filed her opposition. Prior to the hearing on December 6, 2017, the Court posted a tentative ruling indicating that it intended to deny the motion for failure to comply with §363(h). At the hearing, the Trustee withdrew the motion.

On January 9, 2018, the Trustee filed a new motion for sale of property of the estate. On January 16, 2018, Nguyen filed her opposition.

Chapter 7

DISCUSSION

The previous tentative ruling of this Court stated that in order for Trustee to sell the Property free of the non-filing spouse's joint tenancy interest, Trustee must demonstrate compliance with § 363(h). In the instant motion, Trustee has added a new sub-section indicating that while the Property is held by Debtor and Nguyen as joint tenants, Trustee believes the Property is really community property. In support of Trustee's characterization, Trustee states: "Notwithstanding the fact that the Property is held by Debtor and Nguyen as joint tenants, California law provides that the community property presumption applies to property acquired during a marriage unless it is (1) traceable to a separate property source; (2) acquired by gift or bequest; or (3) earned or accumulated while the spouses are living separate and apart."

The Court agrees with Trustee that if the community property presumption is applicable, then no evidence has been presented to the Court to rebut the presumption. Trustee, however, has not provided any evidence or information to support his assertion that the community property presumption is applicable. Specifically, the Court has no evidence regarding when the Property was acquired or when Debtor and Nguyen were married. In the absence of any evidence establishing that the community property presumption is applicable, the Court concludes that Trustee has still failed to comply with § 363(h).

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to DENY the motion or CONTINUE the matter for supplemental evidence and analysis.

#3.00 CONT Application Second Interim (6/27/17-9/27/17) and Final Application of Procopio, Cory, Hargreaves & Savitch LLP for Allowance and Payment of Compensation and Reimbursement of Expenses as General Dip Counsel

From: 1/10/18

EH__

Docket 146

Tentative Ruling:

1/31/18

Analysis:

As a preliminary matter, the Court notes that Local Rule 2016-(1)(a)(2)(A) imposes certain notice requirements when more than one professional is employed. Here, in addition to Applicant, the Court approved the employment application of Trustee's counsel, Best Best & Krieger, on December 1, 2017. Nevertheless, Applicant did not comply with the more stringent notice requirements applicable to interim fee applications when multiple professionals are employed.

Furthermore, the Court notes that the current status of this fee application is somewhat unclear. Applicant and Trustee filed a stipulation regarding the fee application on December 29, 2017, which was approved by the Court on January 4, 2018. The stipulation states the following:

- (1) The Application shall be treated as an interim application only at this time;
- (2) PCHS [Applicant] shall seek final allowance and payment of compensation and reimbursement of expenses at the conclusion of the case; and
- (3) PCHS [Applicant] shall not be required to re-file the Application with the Court to request final allowance and payment of compensation and reimbursement of expenses. At the conclusion of the case, PCHS shall file a declaration requesting that the Application be treated as a final application.

Pursuant to the above stipulation, it appears that the Court is only being asked to approve the instant application and allow fees on an interim basis, and the Applicant does not appear to be seeking payment until the conclusion of the case. In other words, the instant application is only seeking temporary approval of fees, with final approval and payment to occur at a later date.

In the Court's order approving the stipulation, the Court vacated the hearing, originally set for January 10, 2018. Four days later, however, the Court entered a second order continuing the hearing to January 31, 2018.

Regarding the merits, 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(3) (2005) provides factors to be considered in determining the reasonableness of requested compensation. Here, the Court is especially concerned with § 330(a)(3)(C): "whether the services were necessary to the administration of, or beneficial at the time at which the service was rendered."

The Court's first concern relates to the conversion motion. The Central District of California has a mandatory form motion to be used when converting cases from Chapter 11 to Chapter 7 (F 1017-1.1.Motion.Debtor.Convert). Debtor did not use the mandatory motion, however, instead electing to draft its own motion under an inappropriate legal provision, § 1112(b). As reflected in the Court's tentative ruling on September 19, 2017, the Court disregarded Debtor's choice to invoke an inappropriate legal provision, simply noting that under § 1112(a) Debtor was entitled to convert the case as of right. Furthermore, under Local Rule 1017-1(a)(3), there was no need to set the matter for hearing. Ultimately, Debtor could have quickly filled out the form mandatory form motion and set the matter on negative notice. The decision to ignore the procedure outlined in the Local Rules resulted in excessive billing. The Court is inclined to disallow the 3.3 hours (at $525/hr) that appear to be directly related to the filing and preparation of the conversion motion, resulting in a reduction of $1,732.50.

The Court's second concern relates to Applicant's first fee application hearing. Applicant is not entitled to bill for defending its fee application. There appear to be 1.7 hours (at $525/hr) billed for review and preparation of defense of Applicant's first fee application. The Court is inclined to disallow this time, resulting in a reduction of $892.50. Furthermore, the Court notes that the only substantive discussion which occurred at the September 19th hearing concerned Applicant's fee application. While the Court did hold a hearing on Applicant's conversion motion, such a hearing was unnecessary and would not have occurred had Applicant abided by the Local Rules. Therefore, the Court is inclined to disallow the 4.8 hours (at $525/hr) of travel time incurred by Applicant in connection with this hearing, resulting in a reduction of $2,520.

Finally, the Court is also concerned with the work that occurred after Applicant became aware that Debtor would convert to Chapter 7, but before such conversion occurred. Specifically, the Court notes that Applicant intentionally delayed conversion to Chapter 7 by approximately two months, apparently in an attempt to work out a sale of certain property prior to conversion. Such a sale, however, did not occur and Applicant never filed a sale motion. As a result, the Court will disallow the 1.3 hours (at $525/hr) billed for preparation of the sale motion, which appears to have been unnecessarily premature, resulting in a reduction of $682.50

The sum of the above reductions is $5,827.50. The Court is inclined to allow fees in the reduced amount of $13,672.50 and allow expenses in the full amount of $115.27.

Tentative:

The Court is inclined to allow fees in the reduced amount of $13,674.50, and disallow fees in excess of that amount without prejudice, and allow expenses in the full amount of $115.27.

#5.00 Stipulation By Merchants Acquisition Group, LLC and the Debtors to Extend Time for Filing Complaint to Determine Debt to Be Non-Dischargeable and to Extend Time for Filing Reaffirmation Agreements

EH__

Docket 24

Tentative Ruling:

1/31/18

BACKGROUND

On September 22, 2017, Oswaldo Canton & Alex Sanchez ("Debtors") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. The meeting of creditors was originally scheduled for October 26, 2017. On December 1, 2017, Daniel's Jewelers ("Creditor") filed a motion for 2004 examination, and the motion was granted on December 11, 2017.

On December 20, 2017, Debtors and Creditor filed a stipulation to extend time for filing complaint to determine debt to be non-dischargeable and to extend the time for filing reaffirmation agreements. The order lodged with the Court contained the following two rulings:

- (1) IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that the time for Merchants Acquisition Group LLC to file a complaint under any subsection of 11 U.S.C. § 523 and for entering into and filing reaffirmation agreement with the above-named Debtor(s), is extended to an including the date of 03/05/2018.
- (2) IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that any discharge of the Debtor(s) in this case shall not apply to this creditor until after the expiration of the above extension of time, and if said complaint is filed, until after a final order disposing of said complaint is entered.

On January 5, 2018, the stipulation was set for hearing.

DISCUSSION

Regarding the first component of the proposed order, the extension of the reaffirmation deadline and the deadline to file a non-dischargeability complaint, the Court finds the requests to be legally permissible and sufficient grounds established. Here, the deadline to file a reaffirmation agreement and a non-dischargeability complaint was December 26, 2017. FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 4008(a) allows the Court to extend the reaffirmation deadline in its discretion. FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 4007(c) allows the Court to extend the deadline to file a non-dischargeability complaint for cause. For the reasons set forth in the stipulations, and in light of the fact that Debtors have agreed to the extensions, the Court finds it appropriate to extend both deadlines to March 5, 2018.

The second component of the request, however, cannot be approved. It appears Creditor has requested that its claim be temporarily (and possibly indefinitely) classified as non-dischargeable. There does not appear to be any legal basis or precedent for such a request. A creditor bears the burden of establishing that its claim falls within the exceptions to discharge outlined in 11 U.S.C. § 523. And the Bankruptcy Code expressly disfavors and restricts a debtor's ability to waive the discharge of particular debts. For example, § 524(a) explicitly states that a discharge is effective "whether or not discharge of such debt is waived." Additionally, § 524(c), governing reaffirmation agreements, imposes strict requirements on when a debt can be exempted from discharge. If a creditor and debtor could simply stipulate that a discharge not apply to a particular debt, then the entire concept of reaffirmation agreement would be unnecessary. Therefore, this second component of the proposed order will not be approved.

Docket 36

Tentative Ruling:

1/31/18

BACKGROUND

On June 23, 2016, Revere Financial Corporation ("Plaintiff") filed a complaint against Don Burns ("Defendant"), and, on June 30, 2016, the complaint was amended. After Defendant failed to answer or otherwise respond to the complaint, the clerk entered default against Defendant on November 16, 2016.

On April 21, 2017, Plaintiff filed a motion for default judgment. On May 4, 2017, Defendant filed a motion to set aside default and an answer. On May 24, 2017, Plaintiff filed its opposition to the motion to set aside default. At a hearing on June 7, 2017, the Court instructed the parties that it would conditionally grant the motion to set aside default upon payment of reasonable costs, and requested further briefing regarding Plaintiff's costs incurred as a result of Defendant's delay. At a continued hearing on July 12, 2017, after the Court posted a tentative ruling reducing the fees requested by Plaintiff, the Court continued the motion to set aside default to allow further briefing from parties. On September 13, 2017, after further briefing, the Court entered an order setting aside default conditioned on payment by Defendant to Plaintiff in the amount of $4,593.75, to be paid within thirty days.

The instant motion to dismiss, in addition to a status conference, came up for hearing on November 8, 2017. At the time of the hearing, however, Defendant had failed to file a declaration establishing that he had paid the ordered fees and, as a result, Defendant remained in default. The day after the hearing, Defendant filed a declaration establishing payment of the $4,593.75 to Plaintiff. That same day, the Court sanctioned Defendant an additional $500 for failing to timely comply with the Court's order. The Court notes that it is unclear whether Defendant has complied with the sanctions order.

On June 30, 2017, while still in default, Defendant filed the instant motion to dismiss. On August 9, 2017, Plaintiff filed their opposition to the motion to dismiss. On August 16, 2017, Defendant filed a reply.

DISCUSSION

Defendant's motion to dismiss argues that the amended complaint does not contain sufficient facts to satisfy the pleading standard of FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 8, and the heightened pleading standard of FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 9(b). Defendant further argues that the fourth through tenth claims depend on liability in the first three claims, and should be dismissed if the first three claims are dismissed. Finally, Defendant argues that amending the complaint is futile.

FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 9(b) states: "In alleging fraud or mistake, a party must state with particularity the circumstances constituting fraud or mistake. Malice, intent, knowledge, and other conditions of a person's mind may be alleged generally." This heightened pleading standard is commonly interpreted as requiring the "who, what, where, when, and how." See, e.g., U.S. ex rel. Costner v. U.S., 317 F.3d 883, 888 (8th Cir. 2003).

Here, the amended complaint contains detailed allegations documenting the date and amount of each transfer Plaintiff wishes to avoid. Specifically, in ¶ 19 Plaintiff references the details of the "Patent Assignment" and the "Royalty Assignment," and in the exhibit to the complaint the Plaintiff references the date, payor, and amount of an additional nineteen transactions. Because Defendant has merely recited the applicable legal standard without applying it the complaint at issue, it is unclear in what respect Defendant believes the complaint to be deficient. Nevertheless, the Court concludes that the first amended complaint sufficiently apprises Defendant of the details of Plaintiff's complaint to satisfy the FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 8 pleading standard, and pleads fraud with sufficient particularity to satisfy the FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 9 pleading standard.

Because the Court has concluded that the first three claims for relief contain sufficient factual allegations, Defendant's contingent request for dismissal of claims four through ten is denied.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to DENY the motion.

Chapter 7

BACKGROUND

On June 23, 2016, Revere Financial Corporation ("Revere") filed a complaint against Don Burns ("Burns"), and, on June 30, 2016, the complaint was amended. After Burns failed to answer or otherwise respond to the complaint, the clerk entered default against Burns on November 16, 2016.

On April 21, 2017, Revere filed a motion for default judgment. On May 4, 2017, Burns filed a motion to set aside default and an answer. On May 24, 2017, Revere filed its opposition to the motion to set aside default. At a hearing on June 7, 2017, the Court instructed the parties that it would conditionally grant the motion to set aside default upon payment of reasonable costs, and requested further briefing regarding Revere's costs incurred as a result of Burns's delay. At a continued hearing on July 12, 2017, after the Court posted a tentative ruling reducing the fees requested by Revere, the Court continued the motion to set aside default to allow further briefing from parties. The fee dispute has not yet been resolve and no order has been entered related to the motion to set aside default.

On June 30, 2017, Burns filed a motion to dismiss. On August 9, 2017, Revere filed their opposition to the motion to dismiss.

DISCUSSION

Despite the fact that Burns is still in default, neither party has briefed the impact of that status on Burns's motion to dismiss. A legal scholar previous wrote that "the defaulting party loses his standing to contest the truth of all facts that are 'well-pleaded' in the non-defaulting party's complaint." Peter H. Bresnan & James P. Cornelio, Relief from Default Judgments Under Rule 60(b) – A Study of Federal Case Law, 49 FORDHAM L. REV. 956, 959-60 (1981) (collecting cases); see also Thomson v. Wooster, 114 U.S. 104, 112-14 (1885) ("From the authorities cited, and the express language of our own rules in equity, it seems clear that the defendants, after the entry of the decree pro confesso, and while it stood unrevoked, were absolutely barred and precluded from alleging anything in derogation of, or in opposition to, the said decree, and that they are equally barred, and precluded from questioning its correctness here on appeal, unless on the face of the bill it appears manifest that it was erroneous and improperly granted."). Burns's motion to dismiss raises a legal argument, however, not a factual argument.

Courts appear willing to simultaneously grant motions to set aside default and dismiss the case. See, e.g., Mineo Yoshida v. Daikokuya Co., Ltd., 2008 WL 11338257 (C.D. Cal. 2007). Other courts have been more specific with regard to the order in which the motion to set aside default and the motion to dismiss must be considered. See Everest Indem. Ins. Co. v. Demarco, 2013 WL 12136578 at *2 (C.D. Cal. 2013) ("Before the Court can consider their motion to dismiss, the default must be set aside pursuant to FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 55(c)"). Where, as is the case here, the Court has merely orally indicated that it will set aside default upon the occurrence of a condition which has not yet been defined, and may or may not come to pass, the Court considers it improper to rule on the motion to dismiss. Therefore, the Court will continue the matter for Burns to obtain a setting aside of the default.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to CONTINUE the matter for fee payment, if any, to be made, and an order to be entered setting aside the default.

APPEARANCES REQUIRED.

Tentative Ruling:

1/31/18

BACKGROUND

On October 15, 2015, Martha Loreno Soto Jimenez ("Debtor") and her (ex)husband acquired certain real property located at 1475 Capri Ln., San Jacinto, CA 92583 (the "Property"). On July 20, 2016, a divorce judgment provided that the Property was the separate property of Debtor. On June 22, 2017, Debtor and her (ex)husband transferred the Property to their sons via grant deed. The grant deed states: "This is a bonafide gift and the grantor received nothing in return.

On July 27, 2017, Debtor filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On September 8, 2017, Trustee filed a complaint for: (1) declaratory relief; (2) avoidance of voidable transfer; (3) recovery of avoided transfer; (4) sale of interest of co-owner in property of the estate; and (5) turnover of property against Armando Cebadas (Debtor's husband or ex-husband), Jose Alfredo Cebadas Soto (Debtor's son), Victor Armando Cebadas Soto (Debtor's son), and Debtor (collectively, "Defendants"). On October 17, 2017, the clerk entered default against Defendants. On January 10, 2018, Trustee filed a motion for default judgment.

Chapter 7

DISCUSSION

A. Entry of Default

FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 55 states that "[w]hen a party against whom a judgment for affirmative relief is sought has failed to plead or otherwise defend as provided by these rules and that fact is made to appear by affidavit or otherwise, the clerk shall enter the party's default." Fed. R. Civ. P. 55(a). Local Rule 7055-1 provides further requirements relating to a motion for entry of default judgment, and those requirements have been substantially satisfied here.

B. Motion for Default Judgment

1. Proper Service of Summons and Complaint

FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 7004(b)(1) states, in part:

[S]ervice may be made within the United States by first class mail postage prepaid as follows:

- (1) Upon an individual other than an infant or incompetent, by mailing a copy of the summons and complaint to the individual's dwelling house or usual place of abode or to the place where the individual regularly conducts a business or profession.

Here, Trustee served Defendants at the Property. It is unclear, however, whether the property is the "dwelling house or usual place of abode" for Debtor's (ex)husband and two children. The Court requires additional evidence to establish that the Defendants (other than Debtor) were served in accordance with the requirements of FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 7004(b)(1).

2. Merits of Plaintiff's claim

Assuming Trustee establishing that service was proper, the Court will address the merits of the motion. Upon default, the factual allegations of the complaint, except those relating to the amount of damages, will be taken as true. TeleVideo Systems, Inc. v. Heidenthal, 826 F.2d 915, 917 (9th Cir. 1987); see also Almog v. Golden Summit Investors Group, Ltd., 2012 WL 12867972 at *4 (C.D. Cal. 2012) ("When reviewing a motion for default judgment, the Court must accept the well-pleaded allegations of the complaint relating to liability as true.").

Here, the complaint includes nine causes of action: (1) declaratory relief; (2) five separate causes of action for avoidance of voidable transfer; (3) recovery of avoided transfer; (4) sale of interest of co-owner in property of the estate; and (5) turnover of property

Regarding the first cause of action, declaratory relief, the complaint requests a determination that the Property is the community property of Debtor and her ex-husband. Trustee alleges in the complaint that Debtor and Armando acquired their interest in the Property prior to the petition date, while they were married. While this appears true, Trustee has provided additional information in the motion for default judgment, namely a divorce judgment, which indicates that the property is actually the separate property of Debtor. This creates a dilemma because, upon default, the factual allegations of the complaint are to be taken as true. Furthermore, Trustee cannot ask for relief (i.e. a declaration that the Property is Debtor's separate property) which goes beyond the scope of the relief requested in the complaint. Therefore, the Court cannot grant Trustee's request for a determination that the Property is separate property. The Court also cannot grant Trustee's request for a determination that the Property is community property because Trustee has submitted evidence establishing that the Property is in fact not community property.

Regarding the second through sixth causes of action, avoidance of voidable transfer, Trustee has cited three Code provisions authorizing avoidance of the transfer of the Property to Debtor's sons: §544(b) (with reference to CAL. CIV. CODE § 3439.04(a) (1)&(2), §3439.05, and § 3439.07), § 548(a)(1)(A), and § 548(a)(1)(B). The first cause of action for avoidable transfer cites 11 U.S.C. §§ 544(b) and 550(a) and CAL. CODE CIV. P. §§ 3439.04(a)(1) and 3439.07. Section 544(b) states that a trustee may avoid a transfer of an interest of the debtor that is voidable under applicable law. CAL. CODE CIV. P. § 3439.04(a)(1) states that a debtor's transfer of an interest in property is voidable if the transfer was made "[w]ith actual intent to hinder, delay, or defraud" creditors. Trustee's complaint sufficiently alleges that the transfer was made with actual intent to hinder, delay, or defraud creditors. 11 U.S.C. § 548(a)(1)(A) is materially identical to CAL. CODE CIV. P. § 3439.04(a)(1) so Trustee has also satisfied the former.

CAL. CODE CIV. P. § 3439.04(a)(2) provides that a transfer is voidable if the debtor does not receive reasonable equivalent value and either (a) was engaged or about to engage in a transaction for which its remaining assets were unreasonable small or (b) or believed or reasonably should have believed it would incur debts beyond the debtor's ability to pay. While the grant deed indicates it was a bona fide gift, and thus no reasonably equivalent value was received, Trustee has not provided sufficient factual allegations to satisfy the latter component of the test. Specifically, there is no factual allegation which supports the contention that Debtor's assets were unreasonably small for future transactions or that Debtor was about to incur debts beyond the debtor's ability to pay. 11 U.S.C. § 548(a)(1)(B) is materially identical to CAL. CODE CIV. P. § 3439.04(a)(2) so the analysis is the same regarding the former.

CAL. CODE CIV. P. § 3439.05 provides that a transfer is voidable as to a creditor whose claim arose before the transfer if the debtor did not receive reasonably equivalent value and the debtor was or became insolvent as a result of the transfer. Trustee's complaint sufficiently alleges that Debtor did not receive reasonably equivalent value, that Debtor was insolvent as a result of the transfer and that there is a creditor whose claim arose before the transfer.

Regarding recovery of the avoidable transfer, 11 U.S.C. § 550 provides that transfers avoided under §§ 544 and 548 are recoverable from the initial transferee. Trustee's complaint sufficiently alleges that Debtor's two sons, named defendants, are the initial transferees, and, therefore Trustee has satisfied § 550.

Regarding Trustee's request to sell an interest of a co-owner of property under § 363(h), the Court is inclined to conclude that Trustee's complaint sufficiently establishes the four statutory requirements.

Finally, regarding Trustee's request for turnover, Section 542(a) provides for turnover of property of the estate that is of consequential value. Here, Trustee has sufficiently satisfied the requirements of § 542(a) by demonstrating that the Property is property of the estate and that the Property is not of inconsequential value.

#3.00 Motion for Turnover of Property of the Estate Pursuant to Bankruptcy code sect 521 (a)(4) and 542(a)

EH__

Docket 55

Tentative Ruling:

02/07/2018

BACKGROUND

On November 30, 2015 ("Petition Date"), Janice Elaine Cox ("Debtor") filed her petition for chapter 7 relief. Arturo Cisneros is the duly appointed chapter 7 trustee ("Trustee"). Among the assets of the Debtor's bankruptcy estate is certain real property located at 1059 Hugo Lane, Big Bear City, CA (the "Property"). The Property is not the Debtor's principal residence.

On January 12, 2018, the Trustee filed his motion seeking turnover of the Property ("Motion"). Specifically, the Trustee asserts that the Debtor may be receiving rental income from her sister ("Tenant") who is residing at the Property and who is unwilling to cooperate with the Trustee's efforts to market and sell the Property.

DISCUSSION

Under the Bankruptcy Code, a debtor has a duty to surrender property of the estate to the trustee. § 521(4). Furthermore, a trustee has the duty to "collect and reduce to money the property of the estate for which such trustee serves" § 704(1). Finally, "any entity, other than a custodian, in possession, custody or control of property that the trustee may use, sell, or lease under section 363 of this title ... shall deliver to the trustee, and account for, such property or the value of such property" Id. § 542(a).

The Trustee seeks an order directing the Debtor to turn over to him (1) the Property, (2) any rental payments received since the filing of the petition, and (3) a full accounting of rental payments received by the Debtor since the petition date.

In support of the Motion, the Trustee asserts that the Tenant has stated that she will not cooperate with the Trustee's efforts to sell the Property.

TENTATIVE RULING

Based on the evidence in the Trustee's declaration, and the failure of the Debtor to file any response or opposition to the Motion, the Court is inclined to GRANT the Trustee's request for an order (1) requiring turnover of the Property, (2) requiring that all rental payments received since the Petition Date be turned over, and (3) requiring an accounting of all rental payments received by the Debtor since the Petition Date. The Debtor shall have 30 days from the date of entry of the order to comply.

#4.00 Motion for Authority to Redeem Personal Property and Approval of Associated Financial and Attorney Fees

EH__

Docket 16

Tentative Ruling:

02/07/2018

BACKGROUND:

On November 28, 2017, Randall and Amber Hoover (collectively, the "Debtors") filed their petition for chapter 7 relief. Steven Speier is the duly appointed chapter 7 trustee ("Trustee"). Among the assets of the Debtors' estate is a 2010 Toyota Prius (the "Vehicle").

On December 11, 2017, the Debtors filed their motion to redeem a the Vehicle, which is secured by the lien of Gateway One Lending ("Gateway"). The Debtors assert that the value of the Vehicle is no more than $6,848. The Debtors believe the debt owed on the Vehicle is a dischargeable consumer debt and that the Vehicle has either been exempted or abandoned by the estate.

Service was proper and no opposition has been filed.

DISCUSSION:

The Debtors seek to redeem the Vehicle pursuant to FRBP 6008 and 11 U.S.C. § 722.

An individual Chapter 7 debtor may redeem tangible personal property intended primarily for personal, family or household use from a lien securing a dischargeable consumer debt, if either (1) the property is exempt under § 522 or (2) it has been abandoned under § 554. 11 U.S.C. § 722. Redemption is made by paying the lienholder the amount of its allowed claim secured by the lien. Id.

Though a chapter 7 debtor must take certain action to preserve the automatic stay when seeking to redeem personal property secured by a lien, see 11 U.S.C. §§ 362(h), 521(a)(2), & 521(a)(6), there is no deadline impacting a debtor's substantive right to redeem (even after a discharge has been entered). In re Rodgers, 273 B.R. 186, 191 (Bankr. C.D. Ill. 2002); In re Cassar, 139 B.R. 253, 254 (Bankr. D. Colo. 1992). Rather, redemption under § 722 requires that a debtor demonstrate only the following: (1) both the property subject to the lien and the underlying debt must be consumer-related; (2) the debt secured by the lien must be dischargeable in bankruptcy; (3) the property must either be exempted under § 522 or abandoned under § 554; and (4) the debtor must pay the lien holder the amount of the allowed secured claim. In re Jewell, 232 B.R. 904, 906 (Bankr. E.D. Tex. 1999). If the debtor fails to satisfy any of these requirements the motion shall be denied. Id.

In support of the Motion, the Debtors have provided no evidence to support the Motion. There is no declaration submitted by the Debtors attesting to the value of the Vehicle. Moreover, Schedule C appears to indicate that the Debtors did not exempt the Vehicle under §522 (however, given that the Trustee has issued a Report of No Distribution and that no opposition or response has been filed by Gateway, the Court is inclined to find that the Trustee's No Asset Report is sufficient to indicate abandonment under the circumstances of the instant case).

TENTATIVE RULING:

For the foregoing reasons, the tentative ruling is to CONTINUE the hearing on the Motion to February 28, 2018, at 11:00 a.m. for Debtors to provide evidence in support

Docket 166

Tentative Ruling:

2/8/18

BACKGROUND

On September 21, 2012, Jesse & Rocio Delgado ("Debtors") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. On December 11, 2012, Debtors' Chapter 13 plan was confirmed. The plan has been modified four times since confirmation.

On August 29, 2017, Trustee filed a motion to dismiss for material default. On the same day, Debtors amended their Schedule D. On September 13, 2017, Debtors filed opposition to the Trustee's motion to dismiss, stating that, pursuant to the terms of the confirmed plan, Debtors were to file a lien avoidance motion, avoiding a lien with Springleaf Financial, which would resolve Trustee's motion to dismiss. On September 13, 2017, Debtors also filed their lien avoidance motion.

Debtors' motion seeks to avoid a lien in amount of $3,807. The collateral for this lien is not completely clear. Debtors' declaration states that the security is "household goods and furnishings." Exhibit C of Debtors' motion, titled Personal Property Appraisal Form, seems to indicate that the lien is secured by two televisions, with an aggregate value of $2,500. Property Appraisal Form, and it appears that the extent of the collateral is the two televisions.

On October 19, 2017, the Court denied the motion for reasons reflected on the record and in its tentative ruling posted prior to the hearing. Debtors' counsel never lodged an order on the motion. Trustee withdrew his motion to dismiss.

On November 2, 2017, Debtors amended Schedules B & C. On November 22, 2017, Debtors amended Schedule D. On November 28, 2017, Debtors refiled their lien avoidance motion. While the secondary issues noted in the Court's tentative ruling were addressed through the amendment of Debtors' schedules, the main issue was not addressed. Instead, the flaw in the motion was explicitly retained in both the motion and the lodged proposed order. Furthermore, Debtors' counsel did not update the motion's declaration, and the declaration now contradicts the docket.

On December 12, 2017, Trustee filed a motion to dismiss the case for failure to complete the plan within its terms. On December 19, 2017, Debtors filed their opposition to the motion to dismiss.

DISCUSSION

As noted in this Court's previous tentative ruling, 11 U.S.C. § 522(f)(1)(B)(i) states:

(f)(1) Notwithstanding any waiver of exemptions but subject to paragraph (3), the debtor may avoid the fixing of a lien on an interest of the debtor in property to the extent such lien impairs an exemption to which the debtor would have been entitled under subsection (b) of this section, if such lien is –

And 11 U.S.C. § 522(f)(4)(A)(v) specifically states that the term "household goods," for purposes of § 522(f)(1)(B)(i), is limited to one television. Once again, Debtors' attempt to avoid the lien with respect to multiple televisions appears to be statutorily impermissible.

The Court intends to DENY the motion and issue an OSC why attorney Sundee Teeple should not be sanctioned for filing a frivolous motion.

BACKGROUND:

On August 29, 2017, Corinthia Williams ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. On October 23, 2017, Debtor's Chapter 13 plan was confirmed.

On December 6, 2017, LVNV Funding, LLC ("LVNV") filed an unsecured claim in the amount of $1,357.47 ("Claim 3"). The same day LVNV filed a second unsecured claim in the amount of $910.02 ("Claim 4"). Six days later LVNV filed a third unsecured claim in the amount of $467.21 ("Claim 5"). On January 5, 2018, Debtor filed claim objections to all three claims.

interest objects. Absent an objection, a proof of claim constitutes prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claim under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure ("FRBP") 3001(f). See Lundell v. Anchor Constr. Specialists, Inc., 223 F.3d 1035, 1039 (9th Cir. 2000). When a party files an objection to a proof of claim, that filing "creates a dispute which is a contested matter" within the meaning of FRBP 9014 and the Court must resolve the matter after notice and opportunity for hearing upon a motion for relief. Id.

When a creditor has filed a proof of claim that complies with the rules (thereby giving rise to the presumption of validity), the burden shifts to the objecting party who must "present evidence to overcome the prima facie case." In re Medina, 205 B.R. 216, 222 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1996). To defeat the claim, the objecting party must provide sufficient evidence and "show facts tending to defeat the claim by probative force equal to that of the allegations of the proofs of claim themselves." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039 (quoting In re Holm, 931 F.2d 620, 623 (9th Cir. 1991)). "The objector must produce evidence, which, if believed, would refute at least one of the allegations that is essential to the claim's legal sufficiency." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1040 (quoting In re Allegheny Int'l, Inc., 954 F.2d 167, 173-74 (3d Cir. 1992)). If the objecting party produces sufficient evidence to negate one or more of the sworn facts in the proof of claim, the burden reverts back to the claimant to prove the validity of the claim by a preponderance of the evidence. See In re Consol. Pioneer Mort, 178 B.R. 222, 226 (9th Cir. BAP 1995), aff'd, 91 F.3d 151 (9th Cir. 1996) (quoting Allegheny Int'l, 954 F.2d at 173-74). The ultimate burden of persuasion remains at all times on the claimant. See Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039; see also Holm, 931 F.2d at 623.

11 U.S.C. § 502(b)(1) (2005) states:

(b) Except as provided in subsections (e)(2), (f), (g), (h) and (i) of this section, if such objection to a claim is made, the court, after notice and a hearing, shall determine the amount of such claim in lawful currency of the United States as of the date of the filing of the petition, and shall allow such claim in such amount, except to the extent that—

(1) such claim is unenforceable against the debtor and property of the debtor, under any agreement or applicable law for a reason other than because such claim is contingent or unmatured;

CAL. CODE CIV. P. § 337 (2016) provides a statute of limitations of four years for debts founded on written contracts, book accounts, accounts stated based upon account in writing, "balance of mutual, open and current account in writing," and rescission of written contract. Once the statute of limitations has passed, the claim is unenforceable. See e.g., Guaranty Trust Co. v. United States, 304 U.S. 126 (1938).

2. Claim 3

Claim 3 is based on "credit card" debt. This appears to fit within the category established by CAL. CODE CIV. P. § 337. Therefore, the statute of limitations is four years. The proof of claim identifies a last transaction date of July 16, 2007. This is more than four years prior to the filing of the bankruptcy case, and, therefore, Claim 3 is unenforceable.

3. Claim 4

Claim 4 is based on "credit card" debt. This appears to fit within the category established by CAL. CODE CIV. P. § 337. Therefore, the statute of limitations is four years. The proof of claim identified a last transaction date of May 6, 2002. This is more than four years prior to the filing of the bankruptcy case, and, therefore, Claim 4 is unenforceable.

4. Claim 5

Claim 5 is based on "retail" debt. The claim's supporting documentation suggests that the claim fits within the category established by CAL. CODE CIV. P. § 337. Therefore, the statute of limitations is four years. The proof of claim identified a last transaction date of February 15, 2008. This is more than four years prior to the filing of the bankruptcy case, and, therefore, Claim 5 is unenforceable.

TENTATIVE RULING

For the foregoing reasons, the Objection is SUSTAINED and Claims 3, 4 and 5 are DISALLOWED.

APPEARANCES WAIVED. If written or oral opposition is presented at the hearing, the hearing may be continued. Movant to lodge order within seven days.

It is common practice to permit secured creditors an opportunity to obtain an appraisal prior to ruling on a motion to avoid junior lien. #23.00 Motion to Dismiss for Failure to Make Plan Payments

EH__

Docket 71

Tentative Ruling:

2/8/18

BACKGROUND

On December, 2014, William & Kathie Meineke ("Debtors") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. On February 9, 2015, Debtors' Chapter 13 plan was confirmed. The mandatory Chapter 13 form plan contains a provision (Section V.H) which states: "The Debtor will pay timely all postconfirmation tax liabilities directly to the appropriate taxing authorities as they become due."

Since confirmation the Trustee has filed five motions to dismiss, all of which were ultimately resolved. Additionally, the Chapter 13 plan has been modified twice. On January 10, 2018, the California Franchise Tax Board ("CFTB") filed a motion to dismiss or convert to Chapter 7 on the basis that Debtors had not paid their postconfirmation taxes. The Court notes that the motion was served on Debtors' attorney, but was not served on Debtors.

DISCUSSION

The Court will continue the matter for CFTB to serve the motion on Debtors.

Chapter 13

Regarding the merits, the Court notes that 11 U.S.C. § 1307(c)(6) provides for dismissal or conversion for cause, which is defined to include "material default by the debtor with respect to a term of a confirmed plan." Here, the Court notes that Debtors' confirmed plan provided that all postconfirmation tax liabilities were to be timely paid. CFTB has provided evidence that Debtors' have yet to satisfy their 2014, 2015 and 2016 tax liabilities which constitutes a material default satisfying § 1307(c)(6). Because Debtors do not appear to have meaningful unencumbered, unexempt assets, this Court would be inclined to dismiss the case rather than convert it to Chapter 7.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to CONTINUE the matter to March 8, 2017 at 12:30 p.m. for proper service of the motion on Debtors.

APPEARANCES REQUIRED.

#28.00 CONT Motion to Use Cash Collateral

Advanced From: 2/13/18

EH__

Docket 6

Tentative Ruling:

2/8/18

BACKGROUND

On January 26, 2018, Markus Boyd ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 11 voluntary petition. On January 30, 2018, Debtor filed various "first-day motions": (1) motion to set budget for interim use of estate property; (2) motion for continuation of utility service; (3) motion to employ counsel; and (4) motion to use cash collateral. Regarding the latter, an application shortening time was filed, and, on February 1, 2018, the Court set a hearing for February 8, 2018 at 1:00 p.m.

DISCUSSION

11 U.S.C. § 363(a) defines cash collateral as:

cash, negotiable instruments, documents of title, securities, deposit accounts, or other cash equivalents whenever acquired in which the estate and an entity other than the estate have an interest and includes the proceeds, products, offspring, rents, or profits of property and the fees, charges, accounts or other payments for the use or occupancy of rooms and other public facilities in hotels, motels, or other lodging properties subject to a security interest as provided in section 552(b) of this title, whether existing before or after the commencement of a case under this title.

11 U.S.C. § 363(b) provides for the use, sale, or lease of property of the estate outside of the ordinary course of business after notice and a hearing. Here, the cash collateral at issue appears to be $600 month in rental income generated by Debtor from renting his guest house to his father. Debtor also asserts that there is significant equity in the real property. Given the equity in the property, the small value of the cash collateral at issue, the lack of any opposition, and the fact that Debtor proposes to make regular monthly payments to two of the three secured creditors (Debtor disputes the validity of the third creditor's claim), the Court finds use of cash collateral on an interim basis to be warranted.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to GRANT the motion. Counsel to discuss requested length of use of cash collateral.

MOVANT: LEONEL VILLA & LUCILA PINEDA

EH__

Docket 8

Tentative Ruling:

02/13/2018

The prior case was dismissed on recommendation of the chapter 13 trustee because the Debtors failed to appear at the 341(a) meeting of creditors, failed to tender the November plan payment, and failed to account for the postpetition mortgage payment for November.

At the confirmation hearing on November 16, 2017, the Debtor's appearance counsel indicated that the Debtors had to travel to Mexico for a family emergency. The Debtor's declaration in support of the Motion reiterates this assertion. However, the attached booking confirmation indicates a return trip on Tuesday, November 7, 2017 (over a week prior to the 341(a) meeting of creditors held on November 16, 2017). This discrepancy is not explained by the Debtors. Nor did the Debtors address the failure to tender a November plan payment or to account for their November 2017 mortgage payment – which were two other bases for dismissal.

Background

On August 25, 2017, Rick's Patio, Inc. ("Debtor") filed its petition for chapter 11 relief. The Debtor is a California corporation, engaged in the business of selling new and used hot tubs (spas) and related supplies. The Debtor has designated itself as a small business under 11 U.S.C. § 101(51C).

On January 30, 2018, the Court granted the Debtor's request for an extension of time to have its plan of reorganization confirmed such that a hearing on the Debtor's disclosure statement could take place prior to the confirmation hearing. The Debtor's disclosure statement ("Disclosure Statement") and plan ("Plan") were filed on December 26, 2017.

Related Documents:

- Motion to Approve Disclosure Statement (Doc. #82);
- Disclosure Statement (Doc. #83); and
- Chapter 11 Plan (Doc. #89) (amended to include original signatures);

Standard

Before a disclosure statement may be approved after notice and a hearing, the court must find that the proposed disclosure statement contains "adequate information" to solicit acceptance or rejection of a proposed plan of reorganization.

11 U.S.C. § 1125(b).

"Adequate information" means information of a kind, and in sufficient detail, so far as is reasonably practicable in light of the nature and history of the debtor and the condition of the debtor's books and records, that would enable a hypothetical reasonable investor typical of the holders of claims against the estate to make a decision on the proposed plan of reorganization. 11 U.S.C. § 1125(a).

There is no set list of required elements to provide adequate information per se. A case may arise where previously enumerated factors are not sufficient to provide adequate information. Conversely, a case may arise where previously enumerated factors are not required to provide adequate information. In re Metrocraft Pub. Services, Inc., 39 B.R. 567 (Bankr. N.D.Ga. 1984). "Adequate information" is a flexible concept that permits the degree of disclosure to be tailored to the particular situation, but there is an irreducible minimum, particularly as to how the plan will be implemented. In re Michelson, 141 B.R. 715, 718-19 (Bankr. E.D.Cal. 1992).

Courts have developed lists of relevant factors for the determination of adequate disclosure. See, e.g., In re A.C. Williams Co., 25 B.R. 173, 176 (Bankr. N.D. Ohio 1982), In re Ferretti, 128 B.R. 16, 18-19 (Bankr. D.N.H. 1991), In re Malek, 10 C.B.C.2d 189, 35 B.R. 443, 443-44 (Bankr. E.D. Mich. 1983), In re Metrocraft, 39 B.R. 567, 568 (Bankr. This Court should determine what factors are relevant and required in light of the facts and circumstances surrounding each particular case. In re East Redley Corp., 16 B.R. 429 (Bankr. E.D.Pa. 1982).

lenders. However, without a summary explanation of how these lenders agreements provide for payments, an investor would have difficulty understanding how large the payments are in proportion to the sales receipts such that an investor can gauge the Debtor's profitability. Additionally, there is no indication of the intervals, and amount of payments that will be made to GUCs (only that they will be paid over a 72 month period, e.g. will they be paid quarterly or monthly?)

Other issues of note:

- It appears that the Debtor seeks to avoid the junior liens via the plan. However, avoidance of liens without a motion or adversary has resulted in litigation by junior secured creditors in other cases arguing that their lien has ridden through the bankruptcy. The Court will require, at a minimum, separate notice of avoidance.
- Also, if junior liens will be paid with unsecured claimants in Class 3, then why do the financial projections show ongoing payments to SBA and FAF Loans? (are those the WF and FH loans?)
- The description of risk factors is woefully inadequate. The Debtor provides no market analysis at all. Relatedly, the pre-bankruptcy events which prompted the filing are not adequately explained. The Debtor indicates that bankruptcy was prompted by entry into "several large financing agreements" with payments that could no longer be maintained. However, the Debtor does not explain what prompted it to borrow money. Were there market forces that weakened demand, for example, such that the Debtor borrowed money and what are the risks of a dip in demand in the future? Other risk factors might include explanation of the consistency of the demand for spa equipment overall, or explanation of whether the sale of spas is a particularly competitive market, etc.
- The Debtor should also provide a monthly cash flow analysis.

BACKGROUND

On January 28, 2011, Brad & Deborah Stoddard ("Debtors") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. On May 24, 2011, Debtors' Chapter 13 plan was confirmed. The plan contained the following provision, section V.F.: "The debt of American Education Services will be discharged; the school has been stripped of accreditation and is on probation." On December 5, 2016, Debtors received a discharge, and, on January 13, 2017, the case was closed.

Chapter 13

On May 11, 2017, Debtors filed a motion for an order to show cause why creditor American Educational Services ("AES") should not be held in contempt court, and for damages and attorney's fees, for intentionally violating the discharge injunction. Because of inadequate service, the motion was originally denied without prejudice, and Debtors refiled the motion on June 1, 2017. AES filed its opposition on June 8, 2017. At a hearing on the matter on July 27, 2017, the Court continued the matter to October 2, 2017.

On July 31, 2017, the Court issued its Order to Show Cause why Matthew Resnik ("Resnik"), Brad Stoddard, and Deborah Stoddard should not be sanctioned for including a prohibited provision in a Chapter 13 plan (the "OSC"). Debtors filed their opposition on August 14, 2017. Resnik filed his opposition on August 17, 2017. AES filed its reply on August 24, 2017. Resnick filed supplemental responses on September 21 and 22, 2017.

DISCUSSION

I. Introduction

The OSC is issued in light of, and accordance with, the Supreme Court's decision in United Student Aid Funds, Inc. v. Espinosa, 559 U.S. 260 (2010). In Espinosa, the bankruptcy court had confirmed a Chapter 13 plan which purported to discharge student loan debt without complying with the applicable procedural requirements. After intercepting debtor's income tax refund to use towards payment of student loans, the creditor argued that the bankruptcy court's order confirming the debtor's Chapter 13 plan should be declared void. The Supreme Court held that, absent a jurisdictional or due process violation (which was not present) the bankruptcy court's legal error in confirming the Chapter 13 plan with a provision that impermissibly discharged student loan debt, did not render the order void. At the conclusion of its opinion, the Supreme Court opined:

Chapter 13

We acknowledge the potential for bad-faith litigation tactics. But expanding the availability of relief under Rule 60(b)(4) is not an appropriate prophylaxis. As we stated in Taylor v. Freeland & Kronz, 503 U.S. 638 (1992), "debtors and their attorneys face penalties under various provisions for engaging in improper conduct in bankruptcy proceedings." Id. at 644; see also FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 9011. The specter of such penalties should deter bad-faith attempts to discharge student loan debt without the undue hardship finding Congress required.

Espinosa, 559 U.S. at 278. Here, the Court is tasked with interpreting and implementing the guidance provided by the Supreme Court in Espinosa.

Debtors and Resnick have filed separate responses to the Court's OSC. Debtors have raised five arguments in their opposition: (1) that the Court already found that the plan was filed in good faith; (2) that the plan must be given res judicata effect; (3) that the Court is exceeding its discretionary sanctioning authority; (4) that the OSC is an illegal ex post facto law; and (5) that FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 9011 is inapplicable. Resnick offers the following categories of arguments in his opposition: (1) use of the Court's inherent sanctioning authority is inappropriate here; (2) Rule 9011 sanctions require a contempt finding; (3) Section 105 is inapplicable; and (4) the plan provision at issue is not prohibited. The Court will analyze the respondents' arguments separately.

II. Debtors' Opposition

A. The Court's Good Faith Finding

11 U.S.C. § 1325(a)(3) states:

Chapter 13

- (a) Except as provided in subsection (b), the court shall confirm a plan if –
- (3) the plan has been proposed in good faith and not by any means forbidden by law

Debtors argue that: "[i]t necessarily follows [from § 1325(a)(3)] that the Court has already made an express finding that the Plan was filed in good faith." This result does not necessarily follow from the language of the statute. The plain language of § 1325(a) operates to eliminate the discretion of the court if the court finds that the debtor has satisfied the nine subsections of § 1325(a); the provision does not state the consequences of a finding that some, but not all, of the § 1325(a) subsections have been satisfied. As is stated by the leading bankruptcy treatise:

The standards set forth in section 1325(a), however, are not requirements that must be met in every case before a plan can be confirmed. Unlike section 1322(a), section 1325(a) does not state that "the plan shall" comply with its listed criteria. Nor does it state, as does section 1129(a), that the court shall confirm the plan only if certain requirements are met. Instead it states only that if its criteria are met the court must confirm the plan. Therefore, the court has discretion to confirm a plan that does not comply with all of the standards of section 1325(a), particularly if no party objects.

8 COLLIER ON BANKRUPTCY ¶ 1325.01 (16th ed. 2016) (footnotes omitted).

Despite the plain language of the statute, the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals, without any independent analysis, and relying on an out of circuit bankruptcy court decision, has determined that the requirements of § 1325(a) are mandatory for Chapter 13 plan confirmation. See In Chinichian, 784 F.2d 1440, 1443-44 (9th Cir. 1986) ("For a court to confirm a plan, each of the requirements of section 1325 must be present and the debtor has the burden of proving that each element has been met.") (citing In re Elkind, 11 B.R. 473, 476 (Bankr. D. Colo. 1981)). While it remains unclear from where the mandatory characterization of § 1325(a) arose, a variety of courts have, in passing, assumed that the § 1325(a) standards are mandatory for plan confirmation. See, e.g., Assocs. Comm. Corp. v. Rash, 520 U.S. 953, 956 (1997) ("To qualify for confirmation under Chapter 13, the Rash's plan had to satisfy the requirements set forth in § 1325(a) of the Code."); Shaw v. Aurgroup Fin. Credit Union, 552 F.3d 447, 459 (6th Cir. 2009) ("Numerous district and bankruptcy courts outside the Fifth, Ninth, Tenth, and Eleventh Circuits, including courts within this circuit, have also held, suggested, or assumed that the provision in § 1325(a) are mandatory.") (collecting cases). But see In re Szostek, 886 F.2d 1405, 1411 (3rd Cir. 1989) ("On the other hand, if the conditions of § 1325 are not met, although the requirements of § 1322 are fulfilled, the court has the discretion to confirm the plan. If Congress had intended for § 1325(a) to be mandatory, it could have included that requirement with the requirements already listed in § 1322); see also Matter of Escobedo, 28 F.3d 34, 34 (7th Cir. 1994) ("We note, however, as did the court in Szostek, that while the provisions of § 1325(a)(5) may be discretionary[,] the requirements of § 1322(a)(2) are mandatory.). Indeed, even Espinosa appears to implicitly assume that the § 1325(a) requirements are mandatory. See 559 U.S. 260, 277 ("That is because § 1325(a) instructs a bankruptcy court to confirm a plan only if the court finds, inter alia, that the plan complies with the 'applicable provisions' of the Code.") (emphasis added). Therefore, it would appear that binding case law suggests that the § 1325(a) requirements, including good faith, are mandatory requirements for confirmation.

B. Res Judicata

While the Court accepts Debtors' argument that, by confirming their Chapter 13 plan, the Court implicitly found that the plan was filed in good faith, the Court rejects Debtors' argument that that finding is res judicata with regard to the Court. 11 U.S.C. § 1327(a) states: "The provisions of a confirmed plan bind the debtor and each creditor, whether or not the claim of such creditor is provided for by the plan, and whether or not such creditor has objected to, has accepted, or has rejected the plan." The Court is not a creditor and Debtors have advanced no argument as to how § 1327(a) would prevent the Court from revisiting its finding of good faith. In fact, the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals opinion that concluded the § 1325(a) requirements were mandatory stated the following: "Because section 1325(a)(3) of Title 11 requires the Chinichians to propose their plan in good faith, the bankruptcy court has jurisdiction to revoke a plan if the plan was not filed in good faith." In re Chinichian, 784 F.2d 1440, 1442 (9th Cir. 1986). The Ninth Circuit's further comments indicate that it believed such powers were expansive:

The Chinichians argue, however, that because section 1330 is a specific statute it should govern the more general section 105. The Mancari rationale that a specific statute cannot be nullified by a more general one is only applicable where a conflict exists.

Section 1330 provides a method of revoking a confirmation order "on request of a party in interest." While it does not specifically authorize such a revocation by the court sua sponte, it does not prohibit such action. Section 105 constitutes authority for the court to issue any order necessary to carry out the provisions of the Code. That reservoir of power in no manner conflicts with the authority to act upon the request of an interested party, but constitutes a supplemental method of revocation in the event of fraud. It would be absurd to hold that the bankruptcy court is powerless to correct a fraud unless first requested by an interested party, and that is not what section 1330 provides.

Section 105 sets out the power of the bankruptcy court to fashion orders as necessary pursuant to the purposes of the Bankruptcy Code.

Further, a bankruptcy court is a court of equity. As a court of equity, it may look through form to the substance of a transaction and devise new remedies where those at law are inadequate. Further, it can modify or vacate its order so long as no intervening right has become vested in reliance thereon. Thus, the bankruptcy court had equitable power to revoke its order partially confirming the Chinichians' plan once it recognized the Chinichians did not file their plan in good faith as required by section 1325(a)(3).

Chapter 13

Debtors' argument that § 1327 operates to prevent the Court from modifying its implicit good faith finding when confirming the plan lacks merit. The statute states that the terms of the provisions of a confirmed plan are binding on the debtor and creditors. The Court is not a creditor or a debtor nor is the Court's good faith finding a provision of a confirmed plan. Nor does res judicata prevent a court from revoking or amending its own order. Such a principle would eliminate the ability to revoke or modify a judgment altogether, rendering obsolete FED. R. CIV. P. Rules 59 & 60, in addition to many others legal provisions. Debtors' argument that the Court is bound by its own previous finding due to res judicata is not compelling.

C. The Court Lacks Authority to Issue Sanctions

Debtors' argument that the Court lacks authority to issue sanctions can be summarized in the following: (1) the Court is precluded from finding that the plan was proposed in bad faith due to res judicata; and (2) the Court must find that the plan was proposed in bad faith for sanctions to be warranted. Because the Court rejects (1), as outlined above, Debtors' argument must fail.

D. The OSC is an "Illegal Ex Post Facto Law"

In their fourth argument, Debtors argue that this OSC is an ex post facto law. As noted by Debtors, Art. 1 §§ 9 & 10 of the Constitution prohibit ex post facto laws. Article 1 of the Constitution deals with the legislative branch – the branch of the government that makes laws. The Judicial Branch does not make laws. Debtors' argument that a court order is an ex post facto law is therefore, necessarily, invalid.

E. Rule 9011 is Inapplicable

FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 9011(b)(2) states:

(2) the claims, defenses, and other legal contentions therein are warranted by existing law or by a nonfrivolous argument for the extension, modification, or reversal of existing law or the establishment of new law

FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 9011(c)(1)(B) states: "[O]n its own initiative, the court may enter an order describing the specific conduct that appears to violate subdivision (b) and directing an attorney, law firm, or party to show cause why it has not violated subdivision (b) with respect thereto."

Debtors' nine subsection argument why FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 9011 is inapplicable is rather chaotic and disorganized. Regardless, the Court acknowledges that, as to Debtors, Rule 9011 sanctions are inapplicable due to the operation of Rule 9011(c)(2) (A). Therefore, the Court agrees that Rule 9011 cannot operate as the source of sanctions against Debtors.

III. Resnick's Opposition

A. Inherent Sanctioning Authority

The Supreme Court has stated: "it is firmly established that the power to punish for contempts is inherent in all courts." Chambers v. NASCO, Inc., 501 U.S. 32, 44 (1991) (quoting Ex parte Robinson, 19 Wall. 505, 510 (1874)); see also Fink v. Gomez, 239

F.3d 989, 992 (9th Cir. 2001) ("[T]he district court has the inherent authority to impose sanctions for bad faith, which includes a broad range of willful improper conduct."). The Ninth Circuit has stated: "Itel teaches that sanctions are justified when a party acts for an improper purpose – even if the act consists of making a truthful statement or a non-frivolous argument or objection. Fink, 239 F.3d at 922; see also In re Dyer, 322 F.3d 1178, 1196 (9th Cir. 2003) (discussing bad faith and willful misconduct).

Nevertheless, as Resnick states: "when there is bad-faith conduct in the course of litigation that could be adequately sanctioned under the Rules, the court ordinarily should rely on the Rules rather than the inherent power." Chambers, 501 U.S. at 50. Because the Court believes that the existing framework provides an adequate basis for sanctions in this type of situation, the Court need not rely on its inherent sanctioning authority.

B. Rule 9011

When imposing sanctions, sua sponte, under FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 9011, "sanctions 'will ordinarily be imposed only in situations that are akin to a contempt of court.'" *United Nat'l Ins. Co. v. Chapter 13 on May 2, 2000, it was clear to the Court that debtors' counsel included these plan provisions in the hope that they would trap an unwary student loan creditor. If a plan containing a student loan discharge provision is confirmed, debtors and their counsel argue that the student loan obligation is discharged under the theory of res judicata, improperly relying on a skewed interpretation of the opinion of the Tenth Circuit Court of Appeals in In re Andersen, 179 F.3d 1253 (10th Cir. 1999) to support their position. If an objection to confirmation is raised by either the Trustee or the student loan creditor, the offending language is simply removed from the plan, and debtors are no worse off for their attempt. The Court will not permit this type of gamesmanship on the part of debtors and their counsel to continue. Conduct such as this has no place in the practice of bankruptcy law, and will not be tolerated by this Court.

The citation of the opinion of the Tenth Circuit in Andersen, supra, as authority for the practice of intentionally inserting language in a chapter 13 plan that violates the Bankruptcy Code and Rules, and as authorizing counsel to stand by silently and thereby induce the Court to confirm a plan that contains a provision that counsel knows violates the Bankruptcy Code and Rules, is at once offensive and specious. Counsel appearing before this Court are officers of the Court and are ethically obligated to inform the Court if they are aware of the existence of a plan provision that renders the plan non-confirmable.

Rather than recognizing their obligations to the Court and to opposing counsel, counsel for debtors in these cases go so far as to suggest that they are compelled by Andersen to recommend that their clients include these unlawful plan provisions, implying that their failure to do so might be an act of professional negligence. The Court does not believe that a fair reading of the opinion of the Tenth Circuit in Andersen can reasonably lead one to conclude that the Tenth Circuit intended to encourage the practice of intentionally inserting unlawful plan provisions in the hope that confirmation of the plan will occur and the time for appeal will pass before such provisions are noticed so that debtors and their counsel can then claim res judicata. Such a skewed reading of Andersen fails to account for the ethical obligations owed by members of the bar to the Court and to each other.

Chapter 13

This is particularly true given the volume of chapter 13 filings in this district, and the fact that the Court does not have the time to independently review every chapter 13 plan and confirmation order to determine whether an attempt to unlawfully discharge a student loan obligation is being made. Because the Court has apparently been unable to rely on the ethical conduct of some of the counsel representing chapter 13 debtors appearing before it, the Court, up to his point in time, has been forced to rely on a party in interest other than the debtor to point out those instances in which such student loan discharges have been attempted through plan provisions. Where the Court has become aware of such attempts, either through objections by the student loan creditor or through the inclusion of such a provision in the order confirming the chapter 13 plan, the Court has refused to confirm the plan containing such language, and has stricken language from confirmation orders attempting to effect a discharge of student loan indebtedness in this manner.

In light of the existing case law concerning the impropriety of the inclusion of such student loan discharge provisions in chapter 13 plans, and the unambiguous language of the Bankruptcy Code and Rules, the Court believes that the inclusion of such a provision in a chapter 13 plan and/or order confirming a chapter 13 plan is both unethical and sanctionable conduct pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9011. Bankruptcy Rule 9011(b) concerns representations made to the Court. It states that by presenting a paper to the Court, an attorney or unrepresented party certifies to the best of his or her knowledge, information and belief, formed after a reasonable inquiry under the circumstances, that the legal contentions therein are warranted by existing law or by a nonfrivolous argument for the extension, modification, or reversal of existing law or the establishment of new law. See FED. Chapter 13

The Court refuses to allow counsel for debtors to turn the inclusion of a student loan discharge provision in a chapter 13 plan into a "can't lose" proposition. The Court therefore concludes that Andersen provides no protection from the imposition of sanctions under Rule 9011(b) in cases in which a student loan discharge provision is included in a confirmed chapter 13 plan.

In re Hensley, 249 B.R. 318, 320-323 (Bankr. W.D. Okla. 2000).

C. Section 105

11 U.S.C. § 105(a) states:

- (a) The court may issue any order, process, or judgment that is necessary or appropriate to carry out the provisions of this title. No provision of this title providing for the raising of an issue by a party in interest shall be construed to preclude the court from, sua sponte, taking any action or making any determination necessary to enforce or implement court orders or rules, or to prevent an abuse of process.

Resnick offers a single argument in support of his position that § 105(a) is inapplicable: that the provision only applies to violations of a specific court order. Resnick cites In re Dyer in support of this statement. 322 F.3d 1178, 1196 (9th Cir. 2003) ("Civil contempt authority allows a court to remedy a violation of a specific order (including 'automatic' orders, such as the automatic stay or discharge injunction).").

Chapter 13

Dyer does not explicitly state that § 105(a) is strictly limited to remedying violations of specific court orders, nor does it cite any authority from which it could be inferred that the Dyer court had such an opinion. Indeed § 105(a) explicitly mentions, in addition to court orders, rules and "abuse of process"; the latter might be invoked in the absence of a specific court order.

The Supreme Court, on two occasions after Dyer, has written an opinion which indicates that § 105 is not strictly limited to correcting violations of specific court orders. First, in Marrama v. Citizens Bank of Mass., the Supreme Court wrote:

On the contrary, the broad authority granted to bankruptcy judges to take any action that is necessary or appropriate to prevent an abuse of process described in § 105(a) of the Code, is surely adequate to authorize an immediate denial of a motion to convert filed under § 706 in lieu of a conversion order that merely postpones the allowance of equivalent relief and may provide a debtor with an opportunity to take action prejudicial to creditors.

549 U.S. 365, 375 (2007) (footnote omitted). The "abuse of process" referenced in Marrama was not a violation of a specific court order, but, rather, "an unmeritorious attempt to qualify as a debtor under Chapter 13." Id.

Second, in Law v. Siegel, the Supreme Court stated: "Section 105(a) confers authority to 'carry out' the provisions of the Code." This statement is natural, since the first sentence of § 105(a) states: "[t]he court may issue any order, process, or judgment that is necessary or appropriate to carry out the provisions of this title."

Here, the Court concludes that a specific and definite court order has not been violated. Nevertheless, the reconciliation of Dyer and Marrama helps illustrate the proper approach forward. The Ninth Circuit Court of Appeal's instructions that sanctions under § 105(a) are appropriate for violation of a specific and definite court order is derived from the non-bankruptcy standard for civil contempt. See F.T.C. v. Affordable Media, 179 F.3d 1228, 1239 (9th Cir. 1999) (quoting Stone v. City & Cnty. of S.F., 968 F.2d 850, 856 n.9 (9th Cir. 1992)) ("The moving party has the burden of showing by clear and convincing evidence that the contemnors violated a specific and definite order of the court. The burden then shifts to the contemnors to demonstrate why they were unable to comply."). Nevertheless, as illustrated by Marrama, the Court's authority under § 105(a) is not strictly limited to issuing sanctions for civil contempt. While a civil contempt finding under § 105(a) may not be appropriate in these circumstances, it does not follow that the Court lacks the ability to adequately and equitably resolve this situation.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to CONTINUE the hearing for approximately thirty days to allow Debtors to file a supplemental brief addressing why they should not be sanctioned pursuant to the Court's inherent sanctioning authority. No further briefing from Resnick is requested.

EH__

Docket 9

Tentative Ruling:

2/14/18

BACKGROUND

On December 21, 2017, LV Investments, LLC ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On January 8, 2018, the case was dismissed for failure to file case commencement documents.

On January 17, 2018, UST filed a motion for an order compelling attorney to file disclosure of compensation pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 329. On January 22, 2018, Debtor's attorney, Wayne Tucker, filed his disclosure of compensation for attorney.

DISCUSSION

11 U.S.C. § 329(a) states:

with such a case, whether or not such attorney applies for compensation under this title, shall file with the court a statement of the compensation paid or agreed to be paid, if such payment or agreement was made after one year before the date of the filing of the petition, for services rendered or to be rendered in contemplation of or in connection with the case by such attorney, and the source of such compensation.

FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 2016(b) provides further details regarding the requirements imposed by § 329. Here, Debtor's counsel has failed to file the required disclosure of compensation. The Court has authority to enter an order directing the disclosure of such compensation, and will routinely direct Debtor's counsel to file the required disclosure. See, e.g., In re Shuma, 124 B.R. 668, 677 (Bankr. W.D. Pa. 1991).

TENTATIVE RULING

It appears that Debtor's attorney filed the Statement of Attorney Compensation. Therefore, it appears that the matter is MOOT. Pending UST's review of the disclosure of compensation, the Court will retain jurisdiction over matters related to 11 U.S.C. § 329.

#6.00 Motion for extension of time to file a complaint objecting to discharge

EH__

Docket 82

Tentative Ruling:

2/14/18

BACKGROUND

On April 4, 2017, William & Shawna Mendez ("Debtors") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On July 12, 2017, the Court approved the stipulation of Trustee and Debtors to extend the deadline to file a complaint objecting to discharge until September 1, 2017. On August 23, 2017, Trustee filed a motion for extension of time to file a complaint objecting to discharge. On September 15, 2017, the Court granted Trustee's motion extending the deadline to object to Debtors' discharge until October 16, 2017. Afterwards, Trustee and Debtors entered into two stipulations further extending the deadline for Trustee or UST to file a complaint objecting to discharge. The second stipulation imposed a deadline of January 19, 2018. On January 19, 2018, UST filed a motion for a further extension on the basis that Debtors have not yet provided adequate financial records.

DISCUSSION

FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 4004(a) states:

- (1) In a chapter 7 case, a complaint, or a motion under § 727(a)(8) or (9) of the Code, objecting to the debtor's discharge shall be filed no later than 60 days after the first date set for the meeting of creditors under § 341(a). In a chapter 11 case, the complaint shall be filed no later than the first date set for the hearing on confirmation. In a chapter 13 case, a motion objecting to the debtor's discharge under § 1328(f) shall be filed no later than 60 days after the first date set for the meeting of creditors under § 341(a). At least 28 days' notice of the time so fixed shall be given to the United States trustee and all creditors as provided in Rule 2002(f) and (k) and to the trustee and the trustee's attorney.

And FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 4004(b) states:

- (1) On motion of any party in interest, after notice and hearing, the court may for cause extend the time to object to discharge. Except as provided in subdivision (b)(2), the motion shall be filed before the time has expired.
- (2) A motion to extent the time to object to discharge may be filed after the time for objection has expired and before discharge is granted if (A) the objection is based on facts that, if learned after the discharge, would provide a basis for revocation under § 727(d) of the Code, and (B) the movant did not have knowledge of those facts in time to permit an objection. The motion shall be filed promptly after the movant discovers the facts on which the objection is based.

Here, Debtor's delay in providing the requested information constitutes sufficient cause to extend the deadline. See COLLIER ON BANKRUPTCY ¶ 4004.03[2] (16th ed. 2013) ("A debtor's delays in responding to discovery may be sufficient cause. Obviously, a delay in the meeting of creditors to a date close to or after the deadline may constitute such cause.") (citing In re McCormack, 244 B.R. 203 (Bankr. D. Conn. 2000)).

#1.00 CONT Motion to Dismiss or Convert to Chapter 13

From: 1/11/18

EH__

Docket 93

Tentative Ruling:

02/15/2018

The Court finds that provision 3.d.3. of the "order confirming plan which provides that the plan is modified to comply with the requirements of the court's approved plan form" implicitly incorporates the provision of the form plan which requires debtors to remain current as to postpetition taxes. Thus, based on the failure to remain current postpetition, the Court is inclined to GRANT the Motion and dismiss the case. Additionally, the Debtors, though properly served, have failed to file opposition. As such they are deemed to consent to the granting of the Motion pursuant to LBR 9013-1(h).

#2.00 Motion to vacate dismissal

EH__

Docket 51

Tentative Ruling:

02/15/2018

BACKGROUND

On November 17, 2016, Robert and Emmyruth Orina (collectively, the "Debtors") filed their petition for chapter 13 relief. The Debtors' chapter 13 plan was confirmed on January 31, 2017. The case was dismissed on December 4, 2017, after the Debtors failed to file opposition or response to a Trustee's Motion to Dismiss for failure to make plan payments.

On January 11, 2018, the Debtors filed a Motion to Vacate Dismissal ("Motion"). The Motion indicates that the Debtors fell behind because of a reduction in work hours. The Debtors indicate they now have the funds to cure the delinquency of $4,905.79. However, the Trustee in his comments indicates that by the date of the hearing the delinquency of the Debtors will have increased to $12,246.79. Moreover, the Court notes that there was no effort by the Debtors to oppose the Motion and seek suspension of payments via a Motion to Modify prior to the dismissal when the alleged reduction in pay occurred.

TENTATIVE RULING

Based on the foregoing, the Court is inclined to DENY the Motion.

APPEARANCES REQUIRED.

#22.10 CONT Notice of Motion and Motion in Individual Case for Order Imposing a Stay or Continuing the Automatic Stay as the Court Deems Appropriate 14785 Alba Way Moreno Valley, CA 92553

MOVANT: LEONEL VILLA & LUCILA PINEDA

From: 2/13/18

EH__

Docket 8

Tentative Ruling:

02/13/2018

The prior case was dismissed on recommendation of the chapter 13 trustee because the Debtors failed to appear at the 341(a) meeting of creditors, failed to tender the November plan payment, and failed to account for the postpetition mortgage payment for November.

At the confirmation hearing on November 16, 2017, the Debtor's appearance counsel indicated that the Debtors had to travel to Mexico for a family emergency. The Debtor's declaration in support of the Motion reiterates this assertion. However, the attached booking confirmation indicates a return trip on Tuesday, November 7, 2017 (over a week prior to the 341(a) meeting of creditors held on November 16, 2017). This discrepancy is not explained by the Debtors. Nor did the Debtors address the failure to tender a November plan payment or to account for their November 2017 mortgage payment – which were two other bases for dismissal.

APPEARANCES REQUIRED.

2/22/18

BACKGROUND

On November 29, 2017, Lena Wade ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition and plan. On December 28, 2017, Debtor filed an amended plan. On January 11, 2018, Trustee filed an objection to confirmation. Among the grounds listed in Trustee's objection was that confirmation should contain a condition that prohibited Debtor from modifying the plan to pay less than 100% to unsecured creditors unless Debtor paid all disposable income into the plan. On January 25, 2018, Debtor filed her opposition to Trustee's objection. On February 5, 2018, Trustee filed a reply brief.

DISCUSSION

Trustee requests that this Court adopt the holding of In re McCarthy, 554 B.R. 388 (Bankr. W.D. Tex. 2016). The Court declines to do so for the reasons that follow.

Chapter 13

11 U.S.C. § 1325(a) enumerates plan confirmation requirements. If the confirmation requirements are satisfied then "[e]xcept as provided in subsection (b), the court shall confirm [the] plan." Id. 11 U.S.C. § 1325(b)(1) states:

(b)(1) If the trustee or the holder of an allowed unsecured claim objects to the confirmation of the plan, then the court may not approve the plan unless, as of the effective date of the plan ---

(A) the value of the property to be distributed under the plan on account of such claim is not less than the amount of such claim; or

(B) the plan provides that all of the debtor's projected disposable income to be received in the applicable commitment period beginning on the date that the first payment is due under the plan will be applied to make payments to unsecured creditors under the plan.

Subject to the discussion below, for the sake of analysis, the Court will assume § 1325(b)(1) is applicable here. Trustee argues in section II.D of its brief that once § 1325(b)(1) is invoked, confirmation is discretionary:

However, the language in § 1325(b) is permissive and, therefore, more discretionary – "the court MAY not confirm unless . . ." Therefore, debtor's argument that the court MUST confirm the plan because it meets the requirements of § 1325 is not supported by the language of the statute. In fact, the Chapter 13 Trustee would argue that it is the discretionary language of § 1325(b)(1) that allows the court, under its equitable powers, to order a conditional confirmation as the court did in McCarthy.

[Dkt. No. 24, pg. 10, lines 1-8] (parenthesis omitted) (italicization added for emphasis). Trustee's assertion that the language of § 1325(b) is permissive and discretionary, however, is statutorily incorrect. 11 U.S.C. § 102(4) states: "'may not' is prohibitive, and not permissive." As a result, the foundation of Trustee's position appears to rest on a misreading of the statute.

Instead, the Code provides for the following analysis at plan confirmation: (1) if the debtor has satisfied the § 1325(a) confirmation requirements and no objection is received, then the Court must confirm the plan; (2) if an objection is received and the debtor has not satisfied § 1325(b)(1), the Court cannot confirm the plan; and (3) if an objection is received and the debtor has satisfied § 1325(a)-(b)(1), then the Court must confirm the plan. See, e.g., 8 COLLIER'S ON BANKRUPTCY ¶ 1325.11[e] (16th ed. 2016) ("If an objection to confirmation is filed under section 1325(b)(1), the objection must be denied when 'the value of the property to be distributed under the plan on account of such claim is not less than the amount of such claim.' . . . [I]f the plan provides that the claims are to be paid in full, the trustee cannot demand that the debtors devote all of their projected disposable income each month to payment of claims in order to pay them more quickly.").

Even if § 1325(b)(1) provided for a discretionary determination by the Court, the nature of the objection filed by Trustee is inadequate to invoke the § 1325(b)(1) requirements. See, e.g., In re Torres, 193 B.R. 319, 322-23 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. 1996) ("in order for that subsection [§1325(b)(1)(B)] to become applicable to confirmation, an objection to confirmation must be made alleging that a debtor is not devoting all disposable income to the plan for a minimum period of three years."). As a result, even if § 1325(b)(1) provided for a discretionary determination, the standard would be irrelevant in this case.

Apart from the statutory interpretations problems with the Trustee's argument, the Court finds that policy and equitable considerations weigh against Trustee's position. The Court notes that the disposable income requirement is disjunctive: either the debtor must pledge all disposable income to the plan or the debtor must pay unsecured creditors in full. The Trustee does not dispute that Debtor has satisfied the disjunctive test.

Ultimately, the Trustee relies upon the Court's § 105 equitable powers in support of the request at issue. Rarely will it be the case, however, that the equities will in favor of creating a fixed rule binding for years regardless of changes in circumstances. The review of a proposed plan modification is generally a highly equitable endeavor that emphasizes the totality of the circumstances. Replacing that equitable analysis with a rigid rule not provided for by the Code is simply inequitable.

The Court does agree, however, that a plan term requiring Debtors in a 100% plan to have to account for excess disposable income, in the even they later file a motion to modify, is of benefit.

Chapter 13

11 U.S.C. § 1325(a) enumerates plan confirmation requirements. If the confirmation requirements are satisfied then "[e]xcept as provided in subsection (b), the court shall confirm [the] plan." Id. 11 U.S.C. § 1325(b)(1) states:

(b)(1) If the trustee or the holder of an allowed unsecured claim objects to the confirmation of the plan, then the court may not approve the plan unless, as of the effective date of the plan ---

(A) the value of the property to be distributed under the plan on account of such claim is not less than the amount of such claim; or

(B) the plan provides that all of the debtor's projected disposable income to be received in the applicable commitment period beginning on the date that the first payment is due under the plan will be applied to make payments to unsecured creditors under the plan.

Subject to the discussion below, for the sake of analysis, the Court will assume § 1325(b)(1) is applicable here. Trustee argues in section II.D of its brief that once § 1325(b)(1) is invoked, confirmation is discretionary:

However, the language in § 1325(b) is permissive and, therefore, more discretionary – "the court MAY not confirm unless . . ." Therefore, debtor's argument that the court MUST confirm the plan because it meets the requirements of § 1325 is not supported by the language of the statute. In fact, the Chapter 13 Trustee would argue that it is the discretionary language of § 1325(b)(1) that allows the court, under its equitable powers, to order a conditional confirmation as the court did in McCarthy.

[Dkt. No. 24, pg. 10, lines 1-8] (parenthesis omitted) (italicization added for emphasis). Trustee's assertion that the language of § 1325(b) is permissive and discretionary, however, is statutorily incorrect. 11 U.S.C. § 102(4) states: "'may not' is prohibitive, and not permissive." As a result, the foundation of Trustee's position appears to rest on a misreading of the statute.

Instead, the Code provides for the following analysis at plan confirmation: (1) if the debtor has satisfied the § 1325(a) confirmation requirements and no objection is received, then the Court must confirm the plan; (2) if an objection is received and the debtor has not satisfied § 1325(b)(1), the Court cannot confirm the plan; and (3) if an objection is received and the debtor has satisfied § 1325(a)-(b)(1), then the Court must confirm the plan. See, e.g., 8 COLLIER'S ON BANKRUPTCY ¶ 1325.11[e] (16th ed. 2016) ("If an objection to confirmation is filed under section 1325(b)(1), the objection must be denied when 'the value of the property to be distributed under the plan on account of such claim is not less than the amount of such claim.' . . . [I]f the plan provides that the claims are to be paid in full, the trustee cannot demand that the debtors devote all of their projected disposable income each month to payment of claims in order to pay them more quickly.").

Even if § 1325(b)(1) provided for a discretionary determination by the Court, the nature of the objection filed by Trustee is inadequate to invoke the § 1325(b)(1) requirements. See, e.g., In re Torres, 193 B.R. 319, 322-23 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. 1996) ("in order for that subsection [§1325(b)(1)(B)] to become applicable to confirmation, an objection to confirmation must be made alleging that a debtor is not devoting all disposable income to the plan for a minimum period of three years."). As a result, even if § 1325(b)(1) provided for a discretionary determination, the standard would be irrelevant in this case.

Apart from the statutory interpretations problems with the Trustee's argument, the Court finds that policy and equitable considerations weigh against Trustee's position. The Court notes that the disposable income requirement is disjunctive: either the debtor must pledge all disposable income to the plan or the debtor must pay unsecured creditors in full. The Trustee does not dispute that Debtor has satisfied the disjunctive test.

Ultimately, the Trustee relies upon the Court's § 105 equitable powers in support of the request at issue. Rarely will it be the case, however, that the equities will in favor of creating a fixed rule binding for years regardless of changes in circumstances. The review of a proposed plan modification is generally a highly equitable endeavor that emphasizes the totality of the circumstances. Replacing that equitable analysis with a rigid rule not provided for by the Code is simply inequitable.

The Court does agree, however, that a plan term requiring Debtors in a 100% plan to have to account for excess disposable income, in the even they later file a motion to modify, is of benefit.

Docket 53

Tentative Ruling:

02/22/2018

BACKGROUND:

On July 18, 2016, Conchita Ang ("Debtor") filed for chapter 13 relief. Rod Danielson is the duly appointed chapter 13 trustee ("Trustee").

On October 12, 2016, the Court granted the Motion of the United States Trustee to dismiss the Debtor's case with a re-filing bar, thereby dismissing the Debtor's case (the "Dismissal Order")

The Debtor subsequently appealed the dismissal of the case to the Bankruptcy Appellate Panel (the "BAP"). On August 10, 2017, the BAP affirmed the order of this Court dismissing the Debtor's case as a bad faith filing.

On February 1, 2018, the Debtor filed a Motion to Vacate the Dismissal Order (the "Motion"). On February 5, 2018, the Trustee filed comments recommending that the Court deny the Debtor's Motion.

APPLICABLE LAW: FRBP 9024, FRCP 60(b)

DISCUSSION:

Under FRBP 9024 (incorporating FRCP 60(b)), a court may relieve a party from judgment for the following reasons: (1) mistake, inadvertence, surprise, or excusable neglect; (2) newly discovered evidence; (3) fraud or other misconduct; (4) a void judgment; (5) a satisfied or discharged judgment; or (6) any other reason justifying relief from operation of judgment. FRBP 9024.

The Debtor does not specify under which subsection of Rule 60(b) she is moving. However, the allegations in the Motion appear to indicate that the Debtor believes fraud has occurred as to "alleged creditors" Wells Fargo Bank and Clear Recon Corp. Fraud falls within Rule 60(b)(3). Potentially, the Debtor is also alleging that relief is justified based on new evidence discovered during the appeal process which would fall under Rule 60(b)(2). (Motion at ¶5).

As a threshold matter, pursuant to Rule 60(c), a motion under Rule 60(b) that is brought for reasons (1), (2), or (3) cannot be brought more than a year after the entry of the order. FRCP 60(c). Here, more than one year has elapsed since the Dismissal Order was entered on October 12, 2016. Therefore, based on the allegations in the Motion, 60(b)(6) appears to be the only grounds upon which the Dismissal Order could be set aside.

The Ninth Circuit has held that Rule 60(b)(6) should be used sparingly as an equitable remedy to prevent manifest injustice and is to be utilized only where extraordinary circumstances prevented a party from taking timely action to prevent or correct an erroneous judgment. In re International Fibercom, Inc., 503 F.3d 933, 941 (9th Cir. 2007) (internal citations omitted). Accordingly, a party who moves for such relief "must demonstrate both injury and circumstances beyond his control that prevented him from proceeding with ... the action in a proper fashion. Id.

Here, the Debtor has failed to either (1) demonstrate manifest injustice, or (2) to demonstrate what extraordinary circumstances prevented her from bringing this Motion at an earlier juncture. Instead, the timing of the instant Motion appears more likely to reflect the Debtor's refusal to accept the ruling of the BAP which affirmed this Court's Dismissal Order. Further, as pointed out by the Trustee, the Debtor's Motion fails to address the numerous grounds for dismissal delineated in the Court's Dismissal Order, including the lack of disposable income to fund a chapter 13 plan and the Debtor's history of skeletal filings. Finally, the Debtor believes she should have an opportunity to object to proofs of claim filed in her dismissed case. However, there is no explanation or averment as to how a proof of claim filed in a dismissed case has caused or is causing injury to the Debtor.

In sum, while the Debtor believes she has meritorious grounds for alleging fraud against the "alleged creditors", the Motion fails to demonstrate that the bankruptcy court is the appropriate forum for the Debtor to litigate these disputes with the creditors given that the Debtor's case has been dismissed and that no evidence has been provided to warrant reinstating the bankruptcy case.

Separately, the Motion appears to seek the issuance of a temporary restraining order. However, LBR 7065 clearly states that a temporary restraining order or preliminary injunction may only be sought as a provision remedy in an adversary proceeding.

In addition to the foregoing, the Court also denies the Motion on the basis of improper service because the Debtor has failed to serve the Motion in accordance with FRBP 7004 as to the alleged creditors.

TENTATIVE RULING:

Based on the foregoing, the Motion is DENIED in its entirety.

APPEARANCES REQUIRED.

BACKGROUND

On February 13, 2017, Rio Rancho Super Mall LLC ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 11 voluntary petition. On June 13, 2017, Debtor filed its disclosure statement and Chapter 11 plan. The disclosure statement was amended once but has not been approved. On July 24, 2017, Debtor filed a motion to set property value. After an evidentiary hearing, the Court valued the real property, located at 25211 Sunnymead Blvd., Moreno Valley, CA at $13.5 million, a far higher valuation than Debtor's proposed $7 million.

On January 30, 2018, Debtor filed a motion to dismiss its Chapter 11 case. On February 12, 2018, UST filed a limited opposition, arguing that Debtor should be required to pay its UST quarterly fees and that a six month re-filing bar should be imposed.

11 U.S.C. § 1112(b)(1) states:

Except as provided in paragraph (2) and subsection (c), on request of a party I interest, and after notice and a hearing, the court shall convert a case under this chapter to a case under chapter 7 or dismiss a case under this chapter, whichever is in the best interests of creditors and the estate, for cause unless the court determines that the appointment under section 1104(a) of a trustee or an examiner is in the best interests of creditors and the estate.

11 U.S.C. § 1112(b)(4) provides a non-exclusive list of sixteen examples of cause – most of which are more appropriately considered when the moving party is an entity other than the debtor.

Here, Debtor’s Chapter 11 case has been pending for more than one year and Debtor has been unable to get its disclosure statement approved. Debtor now asserts that effectuation of a Chapter 11 plan is unrealistic and no creditors have filed a Chapter 11 plan or opposed this motion. Therefore, the Court finds there is cause to dismiss or convert the case under § 1112(b). Because Debtor does not have any meaningful unencumbered assets, the Court finds that dismissal is in the best interests of creditors.

UST requires that any dismissal order be conditioned on payment of the UST’s quarterly fees under 28 U.S.C. § 1930(a)(6). For the reasons set forth in In re Rose, 86 B.R. 439 (Bankr. E.D. Pa. 1988) the Court finds UST’s request to be appropriate.

UST also requests that the Court impose a six-month refiling bar. The Court finds such a bar to be inappropriate here because there are no indications of any bad faith on the part of Debtor. Indeed, Debtor’s inability to successfully confirm a plan in this case was largely driven by the adjudication following an evidentiary hearing on Debtor's motion to value real property. Furthermore, the Court notes that UST references § 349 in support of its request for a re-filing bar. Section 349 states, in relevant part: "nor does the dismissal of a case under this title prejudice the debtor with regard to the filing of a subsequent petition under this title, except as provided in section 109(g) of this title." Section 109(g), however, is only applicable to individuals or family farmers, and, as such, the legal authority for such a request is, at best, unclear.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to GRANT the motion and DISMISS the case conditioned on the payment of any outstanding UST fees. Debtor to file a declaration attesting to the fulfillment of this condition prior to lodging the dismissal order.

I. PROCEDURAL BACKGROUND

On August 25, 2017, Rick's Patio, Inc. ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 11 voluntary petition. On October 10, 2017, the Court entered an interim order approving use of cash collateral. On October 13, 2017, the Court entered an OSC why the case should not be dismissed and Debtor's counsel sanctioned for using cash collateral without a court order or the consent of the secured creditor. On October 18, 2017, the Court authorized the employment of Rosenstein and Associates as counsel for Debtor. On November 15, 2017, the Court sanctioned Robert Rosenstein in the amount of $500.

On December 26, 2017, Debtor filed its disclosure statement and Chapter 11 plan.¹ Two days later, Debtor filed a motion for an extension of time to have plan of reorganization confirmed. Debtor's request for an extension was granted on January 30, 2018, but Debtor never uploaded an order on the matter. The Court held a hearing on Debtor's disclosure statement on February 13, 2018, and continued the matter for two weeks. On February 20, 2018, the Court entered an order approving a stipulation between Debtor and First Home Bank regarding cash collateral. Later that day, Debtor filed an amended disclosure statement and Chapter 11 plan.

II. FACTUAL BACKGROUND

Debtor is a California corporation engaged in the business of selling spas and supplies. Debtor operates from a leased location in Corona, California. Debtor moved to its present location in 2014; the Corona location is much larger and more expensive than the previous location in Moreno Valley.

Debtor states that, around the time of its move to Corona, a recession in the economy and a delay in freeway construction combined to slow down sales. The decline in sales combined with increased rent caused Debtor to seek a loan from First Home Bank. When sales did not quickly stabilize, however, Debtor opted to take additional loans to cover the loan to First Home Bank and became stuck in a "escalating cycle of debts." [Dkt. No. 109, pg. 3, lines 13-14]. Debtor subsequently filed bankruptcy.

III. DEADLINES

11 U.S.C. § 1129(e) states:

In a small business case, the court shall confirm a plan that complies with the applicable provisions of this title and that is filed in accordance with section 1121(e) not later than 45 days after the plan is filed unless the time for confirmation is extended in accordance with section 1121(e)(3).

11 U.S.C. § 1121(e)(3) provides three requirements which must be satisfied for the § 1129(e) deadline to be extended. The third provision requires that "the order extending time is signed before the existing deadline has expired." Here, the existing deadline to confirm Debtor's Chapter 11 plan was February 11, 2018, and Debtor did not upload an order prior to that deadline. Therefore, Debtor is precluded from seeking an extension of the existing deadline.

Pursuant to § 1112(b)(4)(J), failure to confirm a plan within the time allowed by the applicable deadlines is cause for dismissal or conversion to Chapter 7. See, e.g., In re Roots Rents, Inc., 420 B.R. 28, 37 (Bankr. D. Idaho 2009) (failure to confirm plan or obtain extension warrants dismissal of case). Generally, an amended plan relates back to the filing of an earlier plan, and, as a result, a small business Chapter 11 debtor cannot circumvent the applicable deadlines by simply amending the plan and generating new deadlines. See, e.g., In re Star Ambulance Serv., LLC, 540 B.R. 251, 258-59 (Bankr. S.D. Tex. 2015) (deadline calculated from original filing; analyzing relation back standard). Therefore, on the request of a party in interest, the Court would be compelled to dismiss or convert Debtor's case.

IV. DISCLOSURE STATEMENT

In addition to the disclosure statement, the following exhibits are included, in addition to a declaration of Debtor's Vice President, Richard Colosimo: (1) historical sales spreadsheet (Exhibit 1); (2) internet articles (Exhibit 2); (3) cash flow projections (Exhibit 3); and (4) the amended Chapter 11 plan.

While the disclosure statement generally adheres to the standard small business disclosure statement form, as noted in section IV, infra, there are certain deficiencies related to the specific facts here.

The Chapter 11 Plan's proposed effective date is ninety days after the entry of the confirmation order. There are four classes of claims and two categories of unclassified claims:

- 1) Class 1: Wells Fargo Commercial Distribution Finance, LLC -- $551,794.95 claim, apparently secured by blanket lien on all of Debtor's assets. To be paid in full at $5k-$20k/week until the claim has been paid in full (approximately two years). Debtor states that this class is unimpaired.

- 2) Class 2: First Home Bank -- $257,858.19 claim, apparently secured by blanket lien on all of Debtor's assets. To be paid at $3,402/month for approximately seven years. Debtor states that this class is unimpaired.
- 3) Class 3: General Unsecured Creditors -- Debtor has divided the general unsecured claims into six subclasses with each subclass holding one claim. Nevertheless, the subclasses have the exact same treatment: payment in full within six years. None of the subclasses identify the amount of the claim or the payment. Debtor also includes a provision that states the general unsecured creditors will receive at least $15k/month.
- 4) Class 4: Equity Interests – will not be affected and class is unimpaired,
 - 1) Type 1: Rosenstein's fees ($30k) – paid in full on effective date
 - 2) Type 2: Accounting fees – estimated at $5,000, paid in full on effective date.
 - 3) Type 3: Priority tax claims – Debtor is subject to an audit by the California State Board of Equalization but disputes that it has any liability. If liability exists, claim will be paid in approximately equal monthly payments over four years.

V. LEGAL ANALYSIS

A. Adequate Information

A Chapter 11 disclosure statement is required to contain "adequate information" pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1125(b). Section 1125(f)(2) provides that: "the court may approve a disclosure statement submitted on standard forms approved by the court or adopted under section 2075 of title 28." The United States Courts have devised a disclosure statement template for small businesses, Form B25B, which Debtor generally adopted as to format.

As to the substance of a disclosure statement, 11 U.S.C. § 1125(a)(1) defines "adequate information" as:

information of a kind, and in sufficient detail as far as is reasonably practicable in light of the nature and history of the debtor and the condition of the debtor's books and records, including a discussion of the potential material Federal tax consequences of the plan to the debtor, any successor to the debtor, and a hypothetical investor typical of the holders of claims or interests in the case, that would enable such a hypothetical investor of the relevant class to make an informed judgment about the plan, but adequate information need not include such information about any other possible or proposed plan and in determining whether a disclosure statement provides adequate information, the court shall consider the complexity of the case, the benefit of additional information to creditors and other parties in interest, and the cost of providing additional information

The type of information required varies with the circumstances. See, e.g., In re Jeppson, 66 B.R. 269, 292 (Bankr. D. Utah 1986) (listing nineteen categories of information commonly required); see also In re Malek, 35 B.R. 443, 443-44 (Bankr. E.D. Mich. 1983) (listing minimum requirements).

While the amended disclosure statement is improved in the description of the financial status of Debtor and the claims against the estate, the disclosure statement is still incomplete in several respects, including the following:

-First, Debtor's description of the primary claims and their proposed treatment under the proposed plan is incomplete. Specifically, Debtor indicates that it will pay Class 1 $5,000-$20,000 per week with no explanation how the exact amount is to be calculated. Next, the description of the claims in Class 3, the general unsecured claims, is even vaguer. The plan provides that each of these claims will be paid in full with interest at the federal judgment over six years. Debtor does not identify, however, the amount of these claims, the monthly payment required, or an applicable interest rate. Debtor does provide claim amounts for the general unsecured claims in its liquidation analysis. It is unclear whether these amounts are reliable, however, given that Debtor lists an amount for "Class 3" (no sub class) when no such claim exists. Debtor has added a "payment provision section" which states that general unsecured claims are going to receive at least $15,000/month. It is unclear how this amount would be distributed within the class, however, and if only minimum payments were made every month, the claims would not be paid in full.

-Second, Debtor's description of the overall financial condition of the business lacks sufficient detail. The "risk factor" section of the disclosure statement is simply not helpful. Debtor has added two exhibits, historical sales and cash flow projections, which provide details regarding Debtor's business operations. Debtor's cash flow projection assumes an increase in sales and indicates that Debtor will easily be able to satisfy its plan obligations. Nevertheless, to this point, the projections do not appear to contain an expense for Class 3, and some months do not appear to allow for funds to pay Class 3. Debtor's historical figures do not include expenses and so the Court (or an investor) is unable to ascertain the reasonableness of the predicted expenses.

-Third, the credibility of Debtor's projections is at issue. Specifically, Debtor's projections do not seem to reconcile with the small business operating reports filed with the Court. For instance, Debtor's cash flow projection indicates income of approximately $168k and expenses of approximately $181k for January 2018. The small business operating report, however, indicates income of approximately $215k and expenses of approximately $217k. Debtor's historical figures do not include expenses so the Court is unable to engage in a comparison outside of January 2018. Regarding income, however, the Court notes that the figures provided for October to December 2017 are substantially different in the small business operating reports than in the historical sales attached to the disclosure statement. The Court also notes that in those three months, Debtor was operating at an approximately $10,000 loss/month, so it is unclear if the expense figures provided are reasonable, or, if they are, whether the plan is feasible.

Tentative Ruling:

02/28/2018

On May 16, 2016 ("Petition Date"), Jina Soo Choi ("Debtor") filed her petition for chapter 13 relief. On August 4, 2016, the case was converted to a case under chapter 7. On January 6, 2017, the Debtor moved the Court for an order dismissing her case. The case was dismissed on March 6, 2017.

On March 10, 2017, the Office of the United States Trustee ("UST") filed its Motion of United States Trustee For An Order Disgorging Fees, Assessing Damages, And Imposing Fines And Against Bankruptcy Petition Preparer Sandra Cooper ("Cooper") Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 110 ("First Motion"). The Motion was amended on March 29, 2017.

On September 6, 2017, the Court granted the First Motion and ordered Cooper to (1) disgorge $2,000, (2) to pay $2,000 in damages to the Debtor, (3) pay $21,000 in fines to the UST. (Docket No. 80)(the "Prior Order"). Additionally, the Prior Order required Cooper to file a declaration attesting to her compliance with the Order within 45 days of its entry. No declaration was ever filed.

On January 23, 2018, the UST filed its Motion to Fine and Enjoin Bankruptcy Petition Preparer Sandra Cooper ("Motion").

preparer services, whether directly or indirectly in any manner and fining Cooper an additional $500 for her failure to comply with the Court's Prior Order.

Section 110(j)(3) provides that "[t]he court, as part of its contempt power, may enjoin a bankruptcy petition preparer that has failed to comply with a previous order issued under this section. The injunction under this paragraph may be issued on the motion of the court, the trustee, or the United States trustee (or the bankruptcy administrator, if any)." 11 U.S.C. § 110(j)(3).

Here, the UST has provided multiple notices to Cooper her advising her of the Prior Order and of her duties in connection with that order. Notwithstanding such notice, Cooper has failed to file the required declaration, and has failed to respond or file opposition to the instant Motion. Based on the foregoing, the Court is inclined to GRANT the UST's request for an injunction.

Finally, as indicated by the UST, § 110(h)(5) authorizes an additional $500 fine for each failure to comply with a court order to turn over funds. Cooper's failure to comply with the Prior Order warrants the imposition of the additional $500 fine.

TENTATIVE RULING

Based on the foregoing, the tentative ruling is to GRANT the Motion in its entirety.

#5.00 Chapter 7 Trustee's Motion for Order Disallowing the Following Claim Pursuant to Rule 3001(c)(3) of Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure: Claim No. 2 First National Bank of Omaha

EH__

Docket 41

Tentative Ruling:

02/28/2018

BACKGROUND:

On March 9, 2017 ("Petition Date"), David and Carol Norwood (collectively, "Debtors") filed for chapter 7 relief. Karl Anderson is the duly appointed chapter 7 trustee ("Trustee"). On January 29, 2018, Trustee filed Objection to Claims # 2 of First National Bank of Omaha ("Claimant").

Service was proper and no opposition or response has been filed.

APPLICABLE LAW:

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 502(a), a proof of claim is deemed allowed unless a party in interest objects. Absent an objection, a proof of claim constitutes prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claim under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure ("FRBP") 3001(f). Lundell v. Anchor Constr. Specialists, Inc., 223 F.3d 1035, 1039 (9th Cir. 2000). When a party files an objection to a proof of claim, that filing "creates a dispute which is a contested matter" within the meaning of FRBP 9014 and the Court must resolve the matter after notice and opportunity for hearing upon a motion for relief. Id.

When a creditor has filed a proof of claim that complies with the rules (thereby giving rise to the presumption of validity), the burden shifts to the objecting party who must "present evidence to overcome the prima facie case." United States v. Offord Fin., Inc., (In re Medina), 205 B.R. 216,222 (9th Cir. BAP 1996). To defeat the claim, the objecting party must provide sufficient evidence and "show facts tending to defeat the claim by probative force equal to that of the allegations of the proofs of claim themselves." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039 (quoting In re Holm, 931 F.2d 620, 623 (9th Cir. 1991)). "The objector must produce evidence, which, if believed, would refute at least one of the allegations that is essential to the claim's legal sufficiency." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1040 (quoting In re Allegheny Int'l, Inc., 954 F.2d 167, 173-74 (3d Cir. 1992)). If the objecting party produces sufficient evidence to negate one or more of the sworn facts in the proof of claim, the burden reverts back to the claimant to prove the validity of the claim by a preponderance of the evidence. Ashford v. Consol. Pioneer Mort. (In re Consol. Pioneer Mort.), 178 B.R. 222, 226 (9th Cir. BAP 1995), aff'd, 91 F.3d 151 (9th Cir. 1996) (quoting Allegheny Int'l, 954 F.2d at 173-74). The ultimate burden of persuasion remains at all times on the claimant. Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039; Holm, 931 F.2d at 623.

ANALYSIS:

The Trustee objects that the Claim does not meet the requirements of FRBP 3001(c)(3). In support, the Trustee argues that he requested information necessary for Claimant to comply with FRBP 3001 and did not receive an adequate response. Specifically, the Trustee requested the information regarding the date of the last transaction, the date of the last payment on the account, and the date on which the account was charged to profit and loss. (Obj. at 8). The Objection does not otherwise contest the amount of the claim or assert any state law defense against the claim.

Trustee Objection fails to distinguish the Ninth Circuit BAP decision in In re Campbell which clarified the holding of In re Heath, that a claim objection that does not actually contest the debtor's liability or the amount of the debt is not enough to disallow a proof of claim, even if the proof of claim lacks the documentation required by Rule 3001(c). In re Campbell, 336 B.R. 430, 434 (9th Cir. BAP 2005)(citing In re Heath, 331 B.R. 424 (9th Cir. BAP 2005)). Campbell explained the following reasons supporting its holding:

that under Section 502 the grounds for objection to claims do not include a lack of compliance with Rule 3001(c); that the procedure for claims allowance or disallowance is designed to be speedy and inexpensive; that Section 502(a) deems claims allowed; that Debtors cannot overcome that presumption by filing objections that do not actually dispute the liability or amount of the claim; and that nothing in this statutory scheme violates due process or equitable principles.

Campbell at 434-435. See also In re Brunson, 486 B.R. 759, 770 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. 2013) (discussing amendment of FRBP 3001 to provide courts with the ability to sanction creditors for noncompliance with FRBP 3001, without, however providing for disallowance of claims).

The Court notes that parties seeking disallowance for failure of a creditor to comply with Rule 3001 could alternatively object as to the liability where the sworn schedules do not identify the name of the claimant or the amount of the claim.

TENTATIVE RULING

Here, notwithstanding the infirmities identified in the Objection, under the circumstances of the facts presented here, the Court is inclined to order as follows:

1. The Objection is SUSTAINED;
2. The Claimant shall have 45 days to file an amended claim;
3. Failure by Claimant to file an amended claim with supporting documentation in compliance with FRBP 3001 shall be deemed as the Claimant's consent to the disallowance of the Claim.

 VACATED  REASON: ORDER ENTERED 2/13/18

Tentative Ruling:

9/27/17

BACKGROUND

On July 12, 2017, an involuntary Chapter 7 petition was filed against Integrated Wealth Management, Inc. ("Debtor"). After an extension of the applicable deadline, Debtor filed its answer on September 12, 2017.

Prior to the answer being filed, One El Paseo North, LLC ("Landlord") filed a motion for immediate payment of its gap rent claim pursuant to § 502(f). Landlord asserts that it holds a gap rent claim totaling $27,776.73, covering the time period between the filing of the involuntary petition, on July 12, 2017, and the time Debtor abandoned the premises, on August 18, 2017.

11 U.S.C. § 502(f) states:

(f) In an involuntary case, a claim arising in the ordinary course of the debtor's business or financial affairs after the commencement of the case but before the earlier of the appointment of a trustee and the order for relief shall be determined as of the date such claim arises, and shall be allowed under subsection (a), (b), or (c) of this section or disallowed under subsection (d) or (e) of this section, the same as if such claim had arisen before the date of the filing of the petition.

While Landlord is correct that the Bankruptcy Code allows payment of ordinary course business claims that accrue during the gap period, it is unclear what the legal justification is for Landlord's request that the Court order the gap claim to be paid immediately. 11 U.S.C. § 507(a)(3) specifically affords debts incurred pursuant to § 502(f) third-priority status. If the estate is administratively insolvent, or does not have funds to pay all first, second, and third-priority claims, then Landlord would not receive full payment of its claim. Because Landlord may not receive full payment of its claim, it would be inappropriate to order immediate payment of its claim.

Debtor further objects to the issuance of an order allowing Landlord's claim, asserting that a motion to allow a claim for an unpaid § 502(f) claim is procedurally improper. The Court disagrees with Debtor's contention that a party cannot seek allowance of an administrative claim separate from filing a proof of claim. As an order for relief has not yet been entered, however, the relief requested is premature, since, among other things, a Chapter 7 trustee has not had the opportunity to vet the request. As an aside, the Court notes that Landlord has filed a proof of claim, but it did not request administrative priority.

Tentative Ruling:

Debtors have filed a supplemental declaration in support of the valuation of the Vehicle. The Court, finding the evidence sufficient for purposes of redemption under section 722, is inclined to GRANT the Motion.

APPEARANCES WAIVED. Movant to lodge an order within 7 days.

02/07/2018

BACKGROUND:

On November 28, 2017, Randall and Amber Hoover (collectively, the "Debtors") filed their petition for chapter 7 relief. Steven Speier is the duly appointed chapter 7 trustee ("Trustee"). Among the assets of the Debtors' estate is a 2010 Toyota Prius (the "Vehicle").

On December 11, 2017, the Debtors filed their motion to redeem a the Vehicle, which is secured by the lien of Gateway One Lending ("Gateway"). The Debtors assert that the value of the Vehicle is no more than $6,848. The Debtors believe the debt owed on the Vehicle is a dischargeable consumer debt and that the Vehicle has either been exempted or abandoned by the estate.

Service was proper and no opposition has been filed.

Chapter 7

DISCUSSION:

The Debtors seek to redeem the Vehicle pursuant to FRBP 6008 and 11 U.S.C. § 722.

Redemption in Chapter 7

An individual Chapter 7 debtor may redeem tangible personal property intended primarily for personal, family or household use from a lien securing a dischargeable consumer debt, if either (1) the property is exempt under § 522 or (2) it has been abandoned under § 554. 11 U.S.C. § 722. Redemption is made by paying the lienholder the amount of its allowed claim secured by the lien. Id.

Though a chapter 7 debtor must take certain action to preserve the automatic stay when seeking to redeem personal property secured by a lien, see 11 U.S.C. §§ 362(h), 521(a)(2), & 521(a)(6), there is no deadline impacting a debtor's substantive right to redeem (even after a discharge has been entered). In re Rodgers, 273 B.R. 186, 191 (Bankr. C.D. Ill. 2002); In re Cassar, 139 B.R. 253, 254 (Bankr. D. Colo. 1992). Rather, redemption under § 722 requires that a debtor demonstrate only the following: (1) both the property subject to the lien and the underlying debt must be consumer-related; (2) the debt secured by the lien must be dischargeable in bankruptcy; (3) the property must either be exempted under § 522 or abandoned under § 554; and (4) the debtor must pay the lien holder the amount of the allowed secured claim. In re Jewell, 232 B.R. 904, 906 (Bankr. E.D. Tex. 1999). If the debtor fails to satisfy any of these requirements the motion shall be denied. Id.

In support of the Motion, the Debtors have provided no evidence to support the Motion. There is no declaration submitted by the Debtors attesting to the value of the Vehicle. Moreover, Schedule C appears to indicate that the Debtors did not exempt the Vehicle under §522 (however, given that the Trustee has issued a Report of No Distribution and that no opposition or response has been filed by Gateway, the Court is inclined to find that the Trustee's No Asset Report is sufficient to indicate abandonment under the circumstances of the instant case).

For the foregoing reasons, the tentative ruling is to CONTINUE the hearing on the Motion to February 28, 2018, at 11:00 a.m. for Debtors to provide evidence in support of the Motion.

BACKGROUND

On May 5, 2014, Alex Soto ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. On September 7, 2017, Debtor's Chapter 13 plan was confirmed.

On October 25, 2017, Trustee filed a motion to dismiss for delinquency. On November 17, 2017, Debtor filed her opposition and a request for hearing. On December 14, 2017, after a hearing, the case was dismissed.

On January 23, 2018, Debtor filed a motion to vacate dismissal stating she now has enough funds to cure the delinquency.

DISCUSSION

Debtor relies on Fed. R. Civ. P. Rule 60(b)(1), incorporated into bankruptcy proceedings by Fed. R. Bankr. P. Rule 9024, which allows for relief from an order based on "mistake, inadvertence, surprise, or excusable neglect." Here, Debtor appears to assert that he attempted to cure the plan delinquency, as well as file a motion to the modify the plan, but miscommunication between Debtor and his attorney, combined with a delay in the posting of the plan payment, resulted in the case being dismissed. Because Debtor has provided an explanation which arguably fits within the standard of excusable neglect and because Debtor was more than three years into his plan, the Court is inclined to grant the motion conditioned on compliance with the conditions in Trustee's comments,

#4.00 Motion to Avoid Judicial Lien with Morgan Hill Homeowners Association

Also #5 - #8

EH__

Docket 49

Tentative Ruling:

3/1/18

Sean Coy ("Debtor") filed three motions to avoid liens held by Morgan Hill Homeowners Association ("HOA"). HOA filed opposition to all three motions, and Debtor filed a reply to each opposition.

One motion [Dkt. No. 49] sought the avoidance of an abstract of judgment (recorder's number 2009-0553451) pursuant to § 522(f). HOA states in its opposition that "[t]o the extent that the Abstract is the only lien which Debtor seeks to avoid, the Association does not object, but such avoidance would have no effect." In Debtor's reply, Debtor clarified that the motion sought to avoid the abstract of judgment. Therefore, because the abstract of judgment impairs an exemption of the Debtor, and HOA implicitly having consented to the relief requested, the Court is inclined to grant this motion.

A second motion [Dkt. No. 50] seeks the avoidance of a notice of levy (recorder's number 2017-0290203) pursuant to § 522(f). HOA states in its opposition that "[t]o the extent that the Notice of Levy is the only lien which Debtor seeks to avoid, the Association does not object, but such avoidance would have no effect." In Debtor's reply, Debtor clarified that the motion sought to avoid the notice of levy. Therefore, because the notice of levy impairs an exemption of the Debtor, and HOA implicitly having consented to the relief requested, the Court is inclined to grant this motion.

Finally, a third motion [amended as Dkt. No. 56] is less than clear. The motion identifies the subject lien as possessing recording number 2017-0290203, which is the recording number of the notice of levy identified above. HOA implicitly adopts the same position as was stated in the paragraph above. Additionally this motion having been brought pursuant to § 506(d) (instead of § 522(f)), the HOA argued that because its "secured" claim had not been disallowed, lien avoidance under § 506(d) was not permissible. The Court need not address this argument because this motion is redundant given the motion that is docket number 50. While Debtor's reply indicates that its intent was to avoid a different lien, the assessment lien, through the motion that is docket number 56, the motion identified the notice of levy as the lien to be avoided. Therefore, the Court is inclined to deny this motion as moot.

#6.00 Motion to Avoid Junior Lien with Deutsche Bank National Trust Company, Certificate Trustee on Behalf of Bosco Credit II Trust Series 2010-1

Also #4 - #8

EH__

Docket 46

Tentative Ruling:

3/1/18

On February 28, 2005, Debtor executed two notes and deeds of trust. One had an original amount of $500,000, and the current beneficiary is FMJM RWL III Trust 2015-1. The other had an original amount of $106,280, and the current beneficiary is Deutsche Bank National Trust Company ("Deutsche"). The security interest related to the latter is the subject of the lien avoidance motion here.

Deutsche asserts that Debtor and the first lienholder entered into a modification on June 1, 2013, and that such modification prejudiced the rights of Deutsche. Deutsche contends that the modification was without its permission, and that the senior lienholder relinquished its priority with respect to the modified terms. If Deutsche is correct, then Deutsche would not be wholly unsecured and Debtor's motion would be unsuccessful.

Subject to discussion from the parties, the Court is inclined to GRANT Deutsche's request for a continuance to allow Deutsche to file an adversary proceeding regarding the extent or priority of a lien.

#1.00 Notice of Motion and Motion in Individual Case for Order Imposing a Stay or Continuing the Automatic Stay as the Court Deems Appropriate ANY AND ALL PERSONAL AND REAL PROPERTY

MOVANT: DIANA J. EVERETT

EH__

Docket 8

Tentative Ruling:

03/06/2018

The Debtor indicates that the case was dismissed for two reasons: (1) the Debtor's disability income decreased, and (2) the Debtor's daughter was in a serious accident in November 2017 and the Debtor has been paying her medical and legal fees associated with the accident.

The Debtor's explanation for the dismissal of the prior case is sufficiently detailed. However, the Motion does not address whether there has been a change in the financial or personal affairs of the Debtor since January 2018 (when the case was dismissed) such that the Debtor is likely to be able to complete her plan going forward. In particular, there is no indication that the medical emergency which resulted in dismissal of the Debtor's prior case has ended. Additionally, the Debtor now indicates that she is supporting her unemployed domestic partner. The Debtor's disposable income has decreased from $4,197.72 in her prior case to $704.72 in the current case.

Separately, the Court notes that the Notice of Motion did not specify the identities of the Debtor's secured creditors as required by the Court's form motion. As such, notice for the secured creditors is improper.

For these reasons, the Court is inclined to DENY the Motion.

Docket 13

Tentative Ruling:

2/27/2018

The Court is inclined to DENY the motion. The Court finds that Debtors have not provided clear and convincing evidence sufficient to rebut the presumption arising under § 362(c)(3)(C) that this case was not filed in good faith. Specifically, the motion does not address the reasons the previous case was dismissed. Instead the motion and Debtor's declaration repeatedly recite that the Debtors are willing and able to make their plan payment without any specificity or detail being provided.

Docket 6

Tentative Ruling:

03/06/2018

The declaration in support of the Motion establishes clear and convincing evidence that the instant case was filed in good faith for purposes of continuance of the stay under § 362(c). Based on the evidence that the Debtor's prior case was adversely impacted by issues with his vehicle and on his assertion that he is now relying on company-provided vehicles, the Court's tentative ruling is to GRANT the Motion and continue the automatic stay as to all creditors (with the exception of Mission Financial Services which obtained relief from stay in the prior case).

Tentative Ruling:

03/06/2018

BACKGROUND

On January 18, 2018, Ohlone Tribe of Carmel First Settlers of Chino Valley, CA Inc. ("Debtor") filed its petition for chapter 11 relief. The Debtor's prior case was dismissed on January 9, 2018.

On February 2, 2018, Vanhoops Holdings, LP ("Vanhoops") filed a motion for relief from the automatic stay ("Motion") seeking authority to lift the stay as to certain property located at 15400 Highway 173 in Hesperia, CA (the "Property"). The Property is asserted to be commercial land and the Debtor asserts that the land is occupied by a small number of tenants, including the Debtor's principal. The Debtor filed its response to the Motion on February 20, 2018.

DISCUSSION

Vanhoops seeks an order lifting the stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §§ 362(d)(1), (d)(2), and (d)(4) alleging:

Chapter 11

1. A lack of adequate protection;
2. Bad faith filing;
3. By its terms, the note is due and payable in its entirety.

In support of the Motion, Vanhoops asserts that the loan matured on January 18, 2018, and that it holds a total claim of $3,201,486.50. The Motion further indicates based on an attached declaration of the Debtor's principal, David Vargas, that the Debtor transferred the Property to Mr. Vargas's wife, Danielle Maria Madrigal, without notice to Vanhoops and without its consent.

In response, the Debtor asserts that the Motion is premature as it was filed early in the case and that Vanhoops has not provided evidence of the fair market value of the Property, and that the current case has been filed in good faith.

Here, Vanhoops' Motion lacks evidence regarding whether the Debtor was making payments in accordance with the terms of the Note. Additionally, there is no evidence to support the lack of equity in the Property. However, despite the deficiencies in the Motion generally, the Court finds that the evidence that the Debtor conveyed the Property to Danielle Madrigal in direct contravention of the terms of the Note and without authorization from Vanhoops, coupled with the evidence that the Debtor filed its current and prior bankruptcies to forestall foreclosure by Vanhoops, as evidence that the instant bankruptcy filing has been made in bad faith and that the Debtor's case is really a two party dispute between the Debtor and Vanhoops.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to GRANT the Motion under §362(d)(1) and (d)(4) as a bad faith filing. The Court is further inclined to GRANT the order under ¶¶ 10(b) and 12 of the prayer for relief. The requests under ¶¶ 4 and 11 are DENIED for lack of cause shown, and the request under ¶ 13 is DENIED as moot.

BACKGROUND

On January 18, 2018, Ohlone Tribe of Carmel First Settlers of Chino Valley, CA Inc. ("Debtor") filed its petition for chapter 11 relief. The Debtor's prior case was dismissed on January 9, 2018.

On February 19, 2018, the Debtor filed its Application to Employ Odeha Warren as Counsel to Debtor ("Application"). On February 21, 2018, the Court set the Application for hearing. No oppositions have been filed. On March 5, 2018, the Office of the United States Trustee filed its Objection to the Application.

DISCUSSION

The UST correctly points out that the Application was not served in accordance with LBR 2014-1 (there was no proof of service at all). Additionally, when setting the hearing, the Court ordered that the Debtor give notice of the hearing. The Debtor did not comply with the Court's order. Finally, the UST has correctly pointed out that the Application does not include a Notice indicating to interested parties their deadline for opposition or response.

TENTATIVE RULING

Based on the foregoing, the Court need not reach the merits of the Application. The failure to comply with the most basic LBR 2014 requirements, including Applicant's responsibility to indicate her qualifications, warrants denial of the Application.

#6.00 Motion to Avoid Judicial Lien with Canterbury at Indian Hills HOA

EH__

Docket 13

Tentative Ruling:

3/7/2018

On October 20, 2017, Young Wang ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On January 29, 2018, Debtor received a discharge.

On February 8, 2017, Debtor filed a motion to avoid the judicial lien of Canterbury at Indian Hills HOA ("HOA"). On February 22, 2017, HOA filed its opposition, and, on February 27, 2018, Debtor filed a reply.

The crux of the dispute relates to the nature of the Debtor's property interest. Debtor appears to assert that she has a 50% equitable interest in the property. Debtor asserts that she purchased the property with her daughter because she could not qualify for a loan, and further asserts that she lives at the property and makes mortgage payments.

HOA makes two distinct arguments in its opposition. First, HOA argues that that the lien did not attach to any interest of the Debtor, and, therefore, Debtor cannot avoid the lien. Second, HOA argues that Debtor is not entitled to take an exemption in the property. Regarding this latter argument, the Court notes that a claimed exemption is "presumptively valid." see, e.g., In re Carter, 182 F.3d 1027, 1029 n.3 (9th Cir. 1999). If HOA wants to dispute the claimed exemption of Debtor, it needs to file an objection to the claimed exemption following the procedures of FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 4003, if the deadline to do so has not yet run.

Regarding the first argument, HOA is correct that in order to avoid a lien under § 522(f), the debtor must have had an interest in the property at the time that the lien attached. See Farrey v. Sanderfoot, 500 U.S. 291, 296 (1991) ("Therefore, unless the debtor had the property interest to which the lien attached at some point before the lien attached to that interest, he or she cannot avoid the fixing of the lien under the terms of § 522(f)(1)."). This does not appear to be the operative question, however, because it appears that any interest that Debtor possesses in the property predates the recordation of the lien. The question, instead, is, assuming Debtor has an equitable interest in the property, whether HOA's lien attaches to that interest.

California law now explicitly provides that judgment liens can attach to equitable interests. See CAL. CODE CIV. P. § 697.340. Nevertheless, Debtor was not the entity against which HOA obtained a judgment; the judgment is against Debtor's daughter. Debtor has not advanced any argument or authority as to why Debtor's interest in property is subject to the enforcement of a money judgment obtained against Debtor's daughter. If HOA had obtained a money judgment against Debtor, it is possible that the recordation of the abstract of judgment would operate to fix a lien on Debtor's equitable interest in real property. But HOA obtained a judgment against Debtor's daughter, which attaches only to interests of the daughter, and Debtor's interest does not appear to be subject to the money judgment. Therefore, HOA's lien never attached to Debtor's alleged equitable interest, and Debtor, as a result, cannot avoid the lien.

The Court is inclined to DENY the motion.

#7.00 Motion to Dismiss Case for Abuse and Dismiss Case with Re-Filing Bar

EH__

Docket 8

Tentative Ruling:

3/7/18

BACKGROUND

On January 17, 2018, Eduvina Leon ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. Debtor had previously filed two bankruptcies in the previous eighteen months, both of which were quickly dismissed. On February 1, 2018, UST filed a motion to dismiss case with a re-filing bar.

DISCUSSION

I. Dismissal

11 U.S.C. § 707(b)(1) permits the Court to dismiss a Chapter 7 case for abuse. 11 U.S.C. § 707(b)(3)(A) states:

(3) In considering under paragraph (1) whether the granting of relief would be an abuse of the provisions of this chapter in a case in which the presumption in paragraph (2)(A)(i) does not arise or is rebutted, the court shall consider –

Chapter 7

(A) whether the debtor filed the petition in bad faith

In determining whether a case should be dismissed under § 707(b)(3)(A), the Court considers the totality of the circumstances, but is ultimately instructed to consider whether "the debtor's intention in filing a bankruptcy petition is inconsistent with the Chapter 7 goals of providing a 'fresh start' to debtors and maximizing the return to creditors." In re Mitchell, 357 B.R. 142, 154-55 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2006) (listing factors to be considered in making that determination).

The majority of the Mitchell factors are inapplicable when, as here, a debtor files a skeletal petition that does not provide the Court with sufficient information to apply the Mitchell test. Only factor seven (history of bankruptcy filings) and, possibly, factor nine (egregious behavior) can be assessed when a debtor files a skeletal petition. Both those factors weigh in favor of dismissal when, as here, a debtor repeatedly files skeletal petitions during a short period of time, and does not disclose previous filings. While § 707(a)(1) and (3) provide for dismissal when a debtor fails to fulfill his duties under the Bankruptcy Code, when a debtor repeatedly filed bankruptcy and fails to evince any attempt to comply with the filing requirements, it can be inferred, absent any indication to the contrary, that the debtor's purpose in filing bankruptcy is not to take advantage of the fresh start. See, e.g., In re Craighead, 377 B.R. 648, 655 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. 2007) ("Courts generally hold that when a debtor repeatedly files bankruptcy petitions and then repeatedly fails to file schedules or to comply with other requirements, this pattern of behavior is evidence of bad faith and an attempt to abuse the system."). Dismissal under § 707(b)(3) is appropriate in those circumstances.

II. Re-Filing Bar

The court is empowered to impose a refiling bar under 11 U.S.C. § 349(a). As COLLIER notes, courts' analysis of this section is somewhat confused due to confounding "dismissal with prejudice" with "dismissal with injunction against future filings." COLLIER ON BANKRUPTCY ¶ 349.02[3]; compare In re Garcia, 479 B.R. 488 (Bankr. N.D. Ind. 2012) (denying motion for dismissal with prejudice, but imposing three-year refiling bar) with In re Craighead, 377 B.R. 648 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. 2007) (appearing to equate dismissal with prejudice with an injunction against refiling).

There is also a circuit split concerning whether an injunction on refiling for more than 180 days is allowed under the Bankruptcy Code. Compare In re Frieouf, 938 F.2d 1099 (10th Cir. 1991) (180 days is maximum allowed length of refiling injunction) with Casse v. Key Bank Nat. Ass'n, 198 F.3d 327 (2nd Cir. 1999) (injunction against filing for more than 180 days permissible). 11 U.S.C. § 349(a) reads:

Unless, the court, for cause, orders otherwise, the dismissal of a case under this title does not bar the discharge, in a later case under this title, of debts that were dischargeable in the case dismissed; nor does the dismissal of a case under this title prejudice the debtor with regard to the filing of a subsequent petition under this title, except as provided in section 109(g) of this title.

The disagreement revolves around whether the qualifier "Unless, the court, for cause, orders otherwise" modifies the content after the semi-colon. In re Leavitt noted this disagreement, but since the court was dealing with a dismissal with prejudice, rather than an injunction against refiling, it did not resolve the issue. 209 B.R. 935, 942 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1997). Within the Ninth Circuit, it appears the trend is to adopt the reasoning of the Second Circuit and allow injunctions for more than 180 days. See e.g. In re Velasques, 2012 WL 8255582 at *3 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 2012).

Here, Debtor has filed four skeletal bankruptcies in the previous two years and failed to disclose the previous filings. As noted above, the Court has determined that Debtor's behavior is sufficient to warrant dismissal for bad faith and the Court finds the requested one year refiling bar to be appropriate.

Moreover, Debtor's failure to oppose is deemed consent to the relief requested pursuant to Local Rule 9013-1(h).

Docket 68

Tentative Ruling:

3/7/2018

I. PROCEDURAL BACKGROUND

On February 26, 2016, Sam & Greeta Dason (Sam, individually, "Dason") (collectively, "Debtors") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On August 22, 2016, Juddy Olivares & Eric Panitz (individually, "Olivares" and "Panitz") (collectively, "Plaintiffs") filed a complaint against Dason to determine dischargeability of debt (11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(6)) and for attorney's fees. On September 20, 2016, the complaint was amended. On January 11, 2017, the Court dismissed Panitz from the complaint. On March 7, 2017, Olivares filed her second amended complaint.

On August 9, 2017, Dason filed an answer and a counter-claim¹ against Olivares. On October 2, 2017, Olivares filed her answer to the counter-claim. On January 19, 2018, Olivares filed the instant motion for summary judgment. On February 13, 2018, Dason filed his opposition to the motion for summary judgment. On February 21, 2018, Olivares filed her reply.

The Court notes that Dason has conceded that his counter-claim is moot in light of this Court's order annulling the automatic stay. As a result of this concession, it is the Court's intention to dismiss the counter-claim in the absence of any objection from Dason.

Chapter 7

II. FACTUAL BACKGROUND

Olivares began working as a dental assistant in 2010 for Colton Dental Group, the business name of Dason's dental corporation, Sam Daniel Dason, DDS ("Dason DDS"). Olivares states that she "was subjected to offensive sexual comments and inquiries, and other unwelcome, sexually-based, offensive conduct by Defendant." Furthermore, Olivares states that she "was subjected to repeated unwelcome sexual touching at the hands of Defendant," which is extensively detailed in the complaint and the motion for summary judgment. On January 17, 2013, Olivares left early and did not return to work. On February 26, 2016, the San Bernardino County Superior Court entered a judgment against Dason and Dason DDS in the amount of $1,724,996.34 (the "Judgment").² The judgment contained the following components:

- 1) $300,000 for past emotional distress – hostile work environment
- 2) $200,000 for past emotional distress – quid pro quo sexual harassment
- 3) $500,000 for future emotional distress
- 4) $100,000 for punitive damages³
- 5) $1,875 for future psychiatric care
- 6) $8,125 for future psychological care
- 7) $6,735.22 for past lost income
- 8) $608,261.12 for attorney's fees and costs

Olivares contends that the judgment is non-dischargeable pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(6). Olivares bases her motion for summary judgment both on issue preclusion and the record in this case. Dason argues that the record in this case cannot support summary judgment and that the state court judgment does not contain adequate findings to support issue preclusion.

III. DISCUSSION

Olivares requests that the Court apply issue preclusion and find that the Judgment is non-dischargeable under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(6). The Bankruptcy Code excepts from discharge any debt for "willful and malicious injury by the debtor to another entity or to the property of another entity." 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(6). The creditor bears the burden of proving each element of § 523(a)(6) by a preponderance of the evidence. See, e.g., Grogan v. Garner, 498 U.S. 279, 287 (1991).

To prevail on a claim under § 523(a)(6), a creditor must demonstrate three elements:

(1) willful conduct; (2) malice; and (3) causation. See In re Butcher, 200 B.R. 675, 680 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1996) (quoting In re Apte, 180 B.R. 223, 230 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1995)). A willful injury is a "deliberate or intentional injury, not merely a deliberate or intentional act that leads to injury." Kawaauhau v. Geiger, 523 U.S. 57, 61 (1998). "A malicious injury involves (1) a wrongful act, (2) done intentionally, (3) which necessarily causes injury, and (4) is done without just cause or excuse." In re Barboza, 545 F.3d 702, 706 (9th Cir. 2008) (quoting In re Jercich, 238 F.3d 1202, 1209 (9th Cir. 2001)).

Summary judgment should be granted if the pleadings, depositions, answers to interrogatories, and admissions on file, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact and that the moving party is entitled to a judgment as a matter of law. See FED. R. CIV. P. 56(c) (incorporated by FED. R. BANKR. P. 7056).

The moving party has the burden of establishing the absence of a genuine issue of material fact. See Celotex Corp. v. Catrett, 477 U.S. 317, 323 (1986). If the moving party shows the absence of a genuine issue of material fact, the nonmoving party must go beyond the pleadings and identify facts that show a genuine issue for trial. See id. at 324. The court must view the evidence in the light most favorable to the nonmoving party. See Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc., 477 U.S. 242, 255 (1986). All reasonable doubt as to the existence of a genuine issue of fact should be resolved against the moving party. See id.

If the moving party meets its initial burden, the non-moving party must set forth, by affidavit or as otherwise provided in Rule 56, specific facts showing that there is a genuine issue for trial. See id. The non-moving party, however, "must do more than simply show that there is some metaphysical doubt as to the material fact...." Matsushita Electrical Industry Co. v. Zenith Radio Corp., 475 U.S. 574, 586-587 (1986).

A fact is material if it "might affect the outcome of the suit under the governing law." Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc., 477 U.S. 242, 248 (1986). A dispute about a material fact is genuine "if the evidence is such that a reasonable jury could return a verdict for the nonmoving party." Id.

It is an unlawful employment practice, unless based upon a bona fide occupational qualification, or, except where based upon applicable security regulations established by the United States or the State of California:

(j)(1) For an employer, labor organization, employment agency, apprenticeship training program or any training program leading to employment, or any other person, because of race, religious creed, color, national origin, ancestry, physical disability, mental disability, medical condition, genetic information, marital status, sex, gender, gender identity, gender expression, age, sexual orientation, or military and veteran status, to harass an employee, an applicant, an unpaid intern or volunteer, or a person providing services pursuant to a contract. Harassment of an employee, an applicant, an unpaid intern or volunteer, or a person providing services pursuant to a contract by an employee, other than an agent or supervisor, shall be unlawful if the entity, or its agents or supervisors, knows or should have known of this conduct and fails to take immediate and appropriate corrective action. An employer may also be responsible for the acts of nonemployees, with respect to sexual harassment of employees, applicants, unpaid interns or volunteers, or persons providing services pursuant to a contract in the workplace, if the employer, or its agents or supervisors, knows or should have known of the conduct and fails to take immediate and appropriate corrective action. In reviewing cases involving the acts of nonemployees, the extent of the employer's control and any other legal responsibility that the employer may have with respect to the conduct of those nonemployees shall be considered. An entity shall take all reasonable steps to prevent harassment from occurring. Loss of tangible job benefits shall not be necessary in order to establish harassment.

Olivares reference EEOC guidelines which create two categories of sexual harassment: (1) quid pro quo and (2) hostile environment. Olivares also points to case law which acknowledges the two categories. See, e.g., Meritor Sav. Bank, FSB v. Vinson, 477 U.S. 57, 65 (1986); Beyda v. City of Los Angeles, 65 Cal. App. 4th 511, 516-517 (Cal. Ct. App. 1998) ("There are two recognized categories of sexual harassment claims. The first is quid pro quo harassment, where a term of employment or employment itself is conditioned upon submission to unwelcome sexual advances. The second, and the one at issue in this case, is hostile work environment, where the harassment is sufficiently pervasive so as to alter the conditions of employment and create an abusive work environment.") (citations and quotations omitted).

The delineation of two separate categories of sexual harassment is relevant and important here. First, the Court notes that the Judgement references Olivares's claim for "Hostile Work Environment and Quid Pro Quo Sexual Harssament," and the state court specifically identified separate damages for "past emotional distress hostile work environment" and "past emotional distress quid pro quo sexual harassment." [Dkt. No. 70 at pg. 8, lines 1-2]. Because these two categories of sexual harassment implicate different issues and require different findings to be made, issue preclusion may operate differently with respect to each issue.

B. Issue Preclusion on Plaintiff's Claim under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(6)

Issue preclusion applies in nondischargeability proceedings to bar the relitigation of factual issues that were determined in a prior state court action. See, e.g., Grogan v. Garner, 498 U.S. 279, 284-85, n.11 (1991). To determine the issue-preclusive effect of a California state court's judgment, California preclusion law must be applied. See 28 U.S.C. § 1738; Marrese v. Am. Acad. of Orthopaedic Surgeons, 470 U.S. 373, 380 (1985); Gayden v. Nourbakhsh (In re Nourbakhsh), 67 F.3d 798, 800 (9th Cir. 1995). Under California law, the party asserting issue preclusion has the burden of establishing the following "threshold" requirements:

- (1) the issue sought to be precluded must be identical to that decided in a former proceeding;
- (2) the issue must have been actually litigated in the former proceeding;
- (3) it must have been necessarily decided in the former proceeding;
- (4) the decision in the former proceeding must be final and on the merits; and,
- (5) the party against whom preclusion is sought must be the same as, or in privity with, the party to the former proceeding.

Harmon v. Kobrin (In re Harmon), 250 F.3d 1240, 1245 (9th Cir.2001).

Additionally, the application of issue preclusion requires a "mandatory 'additional' inquiry into whether imposition of issue preclusion would be fair and consistent with sound public policy." In re Khaligh, 338 B.R. 817, 824-25 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 2006). As stated by the California Supreme Court

We have repeatedly looked to the public policies underlying the doctrine before concluding that collateral estoppel should be applied in a particular setting.... Accordingly, the public policies underlying collateral estoppel—preservation of the integrity of the judicial system, promotion of judicial economy, and protection of litigants from harassment by vexatious litigation—strongly influence whether its application in a particular circumstance would be fair to the parties and constitutes sound judicial policy.

Lucido v. Super. Ct., 51 Cal. 3d 335, 342–43 (Cal. 1990) (internal citations omitted).

Here, the Court's focus is on the second and third elements of the Harmon test because there is no dispute that the Judgment is final and on the merits, and that the parties are the same. Specifically, the Court is concerned with whether "willfulness" was actually litigated and necessarily decided in state court.⁴

For a default judgment to be "actually litigated," the material factual issues must have been both raised in the pleadings and necessary to uphold the default judgment. Gottlieb v. Kest, 141 Cal. App. 4th 110, 149 (Cal. Ct. App. 2006). An express finding need not have occurred if the court in the prior proceeding necessarily decided the issue. Cantrell v. Cal-Micro, Inc. (In re Cantrell), 329 F.3d 1119, 1124 (9th Cir.2003).

Under California law, an issue is necessarily decided when (1) there are explicit findings of an issue made in a judgment or decision, or (2) or when the issue is a conclusion that must have been necessarily decided by the court. Samuels v. CMW Joint Venture (In re Samuels), 273 F. App'x 691, 693 (9th Cir. 2008).

Olivares argues that "[c]ourts analogize quid pro quo sexual harassment to 'extortion,' which is not only an intentional tort but is also a crime." [Dkt. No. 68, pg. 14, lines 24-26]. The Court finds the analogy to be apt. The injury sustained in a quid pro quo sexual harassment claim is a tangible, negative effect on employment terms. See, e.g., Henson v. City of Dundee, 682 F.2d 897, 909 (11th Cir. 1982). The quid pro quo conditioning of these employment terms is, necessarily, an intentional action of the employer. As noted in section III, "willfulness" requires an intentional injury, not merely an intentional act. In the case of quid pro quo sexual harassment, the distinction is illusory – intentionally and negatively conditioning an individual's employment terms with unwanted sexual advances is the equivalent of intentionally causing an injury. See, e.g., In re Roth, 2014 WL 684630 at *6 (Bankr. D. Colo. 2014) (applying issue preclusion to find quid pro quo sexual harassment to be willful, albeit in a non-default situation). Therefore, that part of the Judgment which deals with quid pro quo sexual harassment contains a finding of "willfulness."

The analysis regarding hostile workplace, however, is different. As noted by Olivares, the "hostile workplace" theory of sexual harassment generally requires unwanted sexual advances that have the "effect of unreasonably interfering with an individual's work performance." Meritor Sav. Bank, FSB v. Vinson, 477 U.S. 57, 65 (1986). In contrast to the quid pro quo liability, where the injury results from an employer's intentional reaction or retaliation, the injury under a hostile workplace theory is subjective and dependent upon the employee's perspective. An employer is certainly capable of unintentionally creating a hostile work environment.

The issue preclusion section of Olivares's motion for summary judgment focuses on the quid pro quo theory of sexual harassment. The Court agrees with Olivares's that "willfulness," as it is used in 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(6), is implicit within a judgment for quid pro quo sexual harassment. But it is not necessarily implicit in a judgment under the "hostile workplace" theory of sexual harassment – the hostile workplace could be created negligently or unintentionally, based on incorrect assumptions of the employer.

Dason has not advanced any argument why the application of collateral estoppel to the facts of this specific case would not be "fair and consistent with sound public policy." Dason's opposition concedes Dason was aware that a trial was scheduled and the date when the trial would occur. Yet, after three years of litigation, no appearance was made on behalf of Dason at the trial. Given the extensive litigation that occurred in state court and the fact that the non-appearance of Dason at trial was due to a conscious choice, and part of a deliberate litigation strategy, the Court concludes that application of issue preclusion would continue to preserve the integrity of the judicial system and promote judicial economy. Thus, partial application of issue preclusion would further the policy and interests underlying the doctrine. See, e.g., In re Baldwin, 249 F.3d 912, 919-920 (9th Cir. 2001) (describing policies underlining collateral estoppel).

Chapter 7

Olivares alternatively argues that the record in this case is sufficient to warrant summary judgment independent of the state court judgment. The Court disagrees. The record in this case essentially consists of: (1) Olivares's extensive and detailed description of the alleged sexual harassment; and (2) Dason's denial of the allegations. After the partial application of issue preclusion noted above, the only remaining factual issue is whether the "willfulness" requirement of § 523(a)(6) is satisfied as to that part of the Judgment which arises from a hostile workplace theory of sexual harassment. Here, the Court is simply presented with competing declarations from Dason and Olivares which assert, respectively, that Dason did not intend to create a hostile workplace environment and that it can be inferred that Dason had such an intention. Apart from those declarations, the record contains two pages of a deposition of Cesar Espinoza stating that Olivares complained that Dason grabbed her posterior at some point in time. Given the paucity of the existing record and the unambiguously contradictory declarations of Dason and Olivares, the Court concludes that summary judgment is inapplicable on this record.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to GRANT summary judgment as to the Judgment in so far as the Judgment relates to a quid pro quo theory of sexual harassment and DENY summary judgment in so far as the Judgment relates to a hostile workplace theory of sexual harassment for failure to satisfy the "willfulness" requirement of § 523(a)(6). The Court may order briefing regarding the apportionment of damages that are not specifically assigned to one category.

#1.00 Motion For Wavier of Financial Course Requirement of Deceased Co Debtor

EH__

Docket 112

Tentative Ruling:

03/08/2018

BACKGROUND

On June 22, 2012, James and Betty Bierly (collectively, "Debtors") filed their petition for chapter 13 relief. The Debtors have reached the end of their chapter 13 case. However, during the pendency of the case, James Bierly passed away.

On January 26, 2018, Debtor Wife Betty Bierly moved this Court for a waiver of the financial course requirement for her deceased husband ("Motion"). The Motion was properly served and no opposition has been filed.

DISCUSSION

Section 1328(g)(2) exempts certain debtors from the requirement that an instructional course concerning personal financial management be completed as a condition of receipt of a discharge. Section 1328(g)(2) applies specifically to debtors that are unable to complete the requirements because of "incapacity, disability, or active military duty in a military combat zone." 11 U.S.C. § 109(h)(4).

In In re Trembulak, 362 B.R. 205, 207 (Bankr. D.N.J. 2007), the Court analyzed the requirement that debtors complete a financial management course in the context of section 727 and the policies underlying receipt of a discharge. The Trembulak Court analyzed cases in which debtors had been excused from the [C]learly the Debtor herein cannot participate in an instructional course on personal financial management and obviously such a course will not aid the Debtor in avoiding future financial distress. It seems palpably obvious that if a financial management course would be meaningless for an 81 year old, hearing-impaired debtor, suffering from prostate cancer, then such a course would likewise offer even less benefit to a deceased debtor.

Id. The Court concurs with, and adopts the analysis of the Trembulak Court.

TENTATIVE RULING

Based on the foregoing, the Court is inclined to GRANT the Motion exempting James Bierly from the § 1328(g) financial management course requirement.

03/08/2018

BACKGROUND

VW objects to Debtor's plan because it proposes a 1.5% interest rate (which is the contract rate). VW asserts that under Till it should receive 7.25% (representing prime of 4.25 plus a 3% increase for the additional risk factor).

In Till v. SCS Credit Corp., the Supreme Court held that the formula approach, requiring adjustment of prime national interest rate based on risk of nonpayment, was the appropriate method for determining adequate rate of interest on a crammed down loan. 541 U.S. 465 (2004).

The approach begins by looking to the national prime rate. Id. at 478-479. The approach then requires a bankruptcy court to adjust the prime rate according to the bankrupt debtors' risk of nonpayment. Id. The appropriate size of that risk adjustment depends on such factors as (1) the circumstances of the estate, (2) the nature of the security, and (3) the duration and feasibility of the reorganization plan. Additionally, the court must hold a hearing at which the debtor and any creditors may present evidence about the appropriate risk adjustment. Finally, the Court indicated that creditors should bear the evidentiary burden as to risk.

Here, VW's claim on the Petition Date was $17,876.35 (per VW's proof of claim). The Plan proposes to cramdown VW's claim, paying VW in full only on the secured portion of its claim. Thus, under Till, VW as the holder of a crammed down loan is entitled to an adjusted interest rate.

Chapter 13

In Till, the Supreme Court indicated that a court choosing a cramdown interest rate need not consider the creditor's individual circumstances, such as its prebankruptcy dealings with the debtor or the alternative loans it could make if permitted to foreclose. Id. Rather, the court should aim to treat similarly situated creditors similarly, and to ensure that an objective economic analysis would suggest the debtor's interest payments will adequately compensate all such creditors for the time value of their money and the risk of default. Id. Thus, here, the Debtor is incorrect that simply because she has proposed a 100% plan and has a pre-bankruptcy contract rate of 1.5%, VW should simply accept that pre-bankruptcy rate. Such rate simply does not recognize the reality acknowledged by the Supreme Court that "on the one hand, the fact of the bankruptcy establishes that the debtor is overextended and thus poses a significant risk of default and on the other hand, the postbankruptcy obligor is no longer the individual debtor but the court-supervised estate, and the risk of default is thus somewhat reduced."

TENTATIVE RULING

Based on the foregoing, the Court finds that under Till, the interest rate can and should be adjusted to account for the different risk profile presented by the Debtor now as opposed to when the Debtor obtained the contract rate. At a minimum, VW's Objection should be SUSTAINED such that it should receive at least the 4.25% prime interest rate. Given the risk of default of a borrower in bankruptcy, the Court would be inclined to add an additional percentage point to the prime rate, for a total interest rate of 5.25% for VW.

2/22/18

BACKGROUND

2018, Trustee filed an objection to confirmation. Among the grounds listed in Trustee's objection was that confirmation should contain a condition that prohibited Debtor from modifying the plan to pay less than 100% to unsecured creditors unless Debtor paid all disposable income into the plan. On January 25, 2018, Debtor filed her opposition to Trustee's objection. On February 5, 2018, Trustee filed a reply brief.

DISCUSSION

Trustee requests that this Court adopt the holding of In re McCarthy, 554 B.R. 388 (Bankr. W.D. Tex. 2016). The Court declines to do so for the reasons that follow.

11 U.S.C. § 1325(a) enumerates plan confirmation requirements. If the confirmation requirements are satisfied then "[e]xcept as provided in subsection (b), the court shall confirm [the] plan." Id. 11 U.S.C. § 1325(b)(1) states:

(b)(1) If the trustee or the holder of an allowed unsecured claim objects to the confirmation of the plan, then the court may not approve the plan unless, as of the effective date of the plan ---

(A) the value of the property to be distributed under the plan on account of such claim is not less than the amount of such claim; or

(B) the plan provides that all of the debtor's projected disposable income to be received in the applicable commitment period beginning on the date that the first payment is due under the plan will be applied to make payments to unsecured creditors under the plan.

Subject to the discussion below, for the sake of analysis, the Court will assume § 1325(b)(1) is applicable here. Trustee argues in section II.D of its brief that once § 1325(b)(1) is invoked, confirmation is discretionary:

Chapter 13

However, the language in § 1325(b) is permissive and, therefore, more discretionary – "the court MAY not confirm unless . . ." Therefore, debtor's argument that the court MUST confirm the plan because it meets the requirements of § 1325 is not supported by the language of the statute. In fact, the Chapter 13 Trustee would argue that it is the discretionary language of § 1325(b)(1) that allows the court, under its equitable powers, to order a conditional confirmation as the court did in McCarthy.

[Dkt. No. 24, pg. 10, lines 1-8] (parenthesis omitted) (italicization added for emphasis). Trustee's assertion that the language of § 1325(b) is permissive and discretionary, however, is statutorily incorrect. 11 U.S.C. § 102(4) states: "'may not' is prohibitive, and not permissive." As a result, the foundation of Trustee's position appears to rest on a misreading of the statute.

Instead, the Code provides for the following analysis at plan confirmation: (1) if the debtor has satisfied the § 1325(a) confirmation requirements and no objection is received, then the Court must confirm the plan; (2) if an objection is received and the debtor has not satisfied § 1325(b)(1), the Court cannot confirm the plan; and (3) if an objection is received and the debtor has satisfied § 1325(a)-(b)(1), then the Court must confirm the plan. See, e.g., 8 COLLIER'S ON BANKRUPTCY ¶ 1325.11[e] (16th ed. 2016) ("If an objection to confirmation is filed under section 1325(b)(1), the objection must be denied when 'the value of the property to be distributed under the plan on account of such claim is not less than the amount of such claim.' . . . [I]f the plan provides that the claims are to be paid in full, the trustee cannot demand that the debtors devote all of their projected disposable income each month to payment of claims in order to pay them more quickly.").

Even if § 1325(b)(1) provided for a discretionary determination by the Court, the nature of the objection filed by Trustee is inadequate to invoke the § 1325(b)(1) requirements. See, e.g., In re Torres, 193 B.R. 319, 322-23 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. 1996) ("in order for that subsection [§1325(b)(1)(B)] to become applicable to confirmation, an objection to confirmation must be made alleging that a debtor is not devoting all disposable income to the plan for a minimum period of three years."). As a result, even if § 1325(b)(1) provided for a discretionary determination, the standard would be irrelevant in this case.

Hearing Room 303

Apart from the statutory interpretations problems with the Trustee's argument, the Court finds that policy and equitable considerations weigh against Trustee's position. The Court notes that the disposable income requirement is disjunctive: either the debtor must pledge all disposable income to the plan or the debtor must pay unsecured creditors in full. The Trustee does not dispute that Debtor has satisfied the disjunctive test.

Ultimately, the Trustee relies upon the Court's § 105 equitable powers in support of the request at issue. Rarely will it be the case, however, that the equities will in favor of creating a fixed rule binding for years regardless of changes in circumstances. The review of a proposed plan modification is generally a highly equitable endeavor that emphasizes the totality of the circumstances. Replacing that equitable analysis with a rigid rule not provided for by the Code is simply inequitable.

The Court does agree, however, that a plan term requiring Debtors in a 100% plan to have to account for excess disposable income, in the even they later file a motion to modify, is of benefit.

Therefore, debtor's argument that the court MUST confirm the plan because it meets the requirements of § 1325 is not supported by the language of the statute. In fact, the Chapter 13 Trustee would argue that it is the discretionary language of § 1325(b)(1) that allows the court, under its equitable powers, to order a conditional confirmation as the court did in McCarthy.

[Dkt. No. 24, pg. 10, lines 1-8] (parenthesis omitted) (italicization added for emphasis). Trustee's assertion that the language of § 1325(b) is permissive and discretionary, however, is statutorily incorrect. 11 U.S.C. § 102(4) states: "'may not' is prohibitive, and not permissive." As a result, the foundation of Trustee's position appears to rest on a misreading of the statute.

Instead, the Code provides for the following analysis at plan confirmation: (1) if the debtor has satisfied the § 1325(a) confirmation requirements and no objection is received, then the Court must confirm the plan; (2) if an objection is received and the debtor has not satisfied § 1325(b)(1), the Court cannot confirm the plan; and (3) if an objection is received and the debtor has satisfied § 1325(a)-(b)(1), then the Court must confirm the plan. See, e.g., 8 COLLIER'S ON BANKRUPTCY ¶ 1325.11[e] (16th ed. 2016) ("If an objection to confirmation is filed under section 1325(b)(1), the objection must be denied when 'the value of the property to be distributed under the plan on account of such claim is not less than the amount of such claim.' . . . [I]f the plan provides that the claims are to be paid in full, the trustee cannot demand that the debtors devote all of their projected disposable income each month to payment of claims in order to pay them more quickly.").

Even if § 1325(b)(1) provided for a discretionary determination by the Court, the nature of the objection filed by Trustee is inadequate to invoke the § 1325(b)(1) requirements. See, e.g., In re Torres, 193 B.R. 319, 322-23 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. 1996) ("in order for that subsection [§1325(b)(1)(B)] to become applicable to confirmation, an objection to confirmation must be made alleging that a debtor is not devoting all disposable income to the plan for a minimum period of three years."). As a result, even if § 1325(b)(1) provided for a discretionary determination, the standard would be irrelevant in this case.

Apart from the statutory interpretations problems with the Trustee's argument, the Court finds that policy and equitable considerations weigh against Trustee's position. The Court notes that the disposable income requirement is disjunctive: either the debtor must pledge all disposable income to the plan or the debtor must pay unsecured creditors in full. The Trustee does not dispute that Debtor has satisfied the disjunctive test.

Ultimately, the Trustee relies upon the Court's § 105 equitable powers in support of the request at issue. Rarely will it be the case, however, that the equities will in favor of creating a fixed rule binding for years regardless of changes in circumstances. The review of a proposed plan modification is generally a highly equitable endeavor that emphasizes the totality of the circumstances. Replacing that equitable analysis with a rigid rule not provided for by the Code is simply inequitable.

The Court does agree, however, that a plan term requiring Debtors in a 100% plan to have to account for excess disposable income, in the even they later file a motion to modify, is of benefit.

#22.00 Motion by United States Trustee to Dismiss Chapter 13 Case with a Re-filing Bar

Docket 10

Tentative Ruling:

03/08/2018

BACKGROUND

On January 19, 2018 ("Petition Date"), Caesar Rodriguez (the "Debtor") filed his petition for chapter 13 relief.

The docket reflects that the Debtor has filed numerous prior cases as follows:

1. Case Number 17-13967, Chapter 13 filed in California Central Bankruptcy on 05/11/2017, Dismissed for Failure to File Information on 05/30/2017;
2. Case Number 17-12050, Chapter 13 filed in California Central Bankruptcy on 03/16/2017, Dismissed for Failure to File Information on 04/03/2017;
3. Case Number 16-16171, Chapter 13 filed in California Central Bankruptcy on 07/11/2016, Dismissed for Failure to File Information on 07/29/2016;
4. Case Number 16-14241, Chapter 13 filed in California Central Bankruptcy on 05/11/2016, Dismissed for Failure to File Information on 05/31/2016;
5. Case Number 13-10260, Chapter 13 filed in California Central Bankruptcy on 01/07/2013, Dismissed for Other Reason on 02/21/2013; and
6. Case Number 10-29451, Chapter 7 filed in California Central Bankruptcy on 06/23/2010, Standard Discharge on 10/12/2010.

On February 5, 2018, the Office of the United States Trustee ("UST") filed a Motion to Dismiss Chapter 7 Case with a Re-Filing Bar (the "Motion"). No opposition has been filed.

DISCUSSION

As set forth by the Ninth Circuit in In re Leavitt, 171 F.3d 1219, 1224 (9th Cir. 1999), bad faith, as cause for the dismissal of a Chapter 13 petition with prejudice, involves the application of the "totality of the circumstances" test. In re Eisen, 14 F.3d 469, 470 (9th Cir.1994). The Ninth Circuit has instructed courts deciding whether to dismiss a Chapter 13 petition to consider the following factors:

Chapter 13

1. whether the debtor "misrepresented facts in his [petition or] plan, unfairly manipulated the Bankruptcy Code, or otherwise [filed] his Chapter 13 [petition or] plan in an inequitable manner," id. (citing In re Goeb, 675 F.2d 1386, 1391 (9th Cir.1982));
2. "the debtor's history of filings and dismissals," id. (citing In re Nash, 765 F.2d 1410, 1415 (9th Cir.1985));
3. whether "the debtor only intended to defeat state court litigation," id. (citing In re Chinichian, 784 F.2d 1440, 1445–46 (9th Cir.1986)); and
4. whether egregious behavior is present, In re Tomlin, 105 F.3d 933, 937 (4th Cir.1997); In re Bradley, 38 B.R. 425, 432 (Bankr.C.D.Cal.1984).

A finding of bad faith does not require fraudulent intent by the debtor.

[N]either malice nor actual fraud is required to find a lack of good faith. The bankruptcy judge is not required to have evidence of debtor ill will directed at creditors, or that debtor was affirmatively attempting to violate the law-maleficance is not a prerequisite to bad faith.

In re Powers, 135 B.R. 980, 994 (Bankr.C.D.Cal.1991) (relying on In re Waldron, 785 F.2d 936, 941 (11th Cir.1986)).

The UST asserts based on the Debtor's petition and history of cases that (1) the Debtor failed to disclose several of his prior cases; (2) that the Debtor's schedules lists only one creditor, Ditech, which may be an indication that the case was filed with the sole purpose of attempting to delay a foreclosure or unlawful detainer proceeding; (3) a second debtor named Roxane Arambula has filed three recent cases within a three month period and has listed the same address on her petition as the address of the Debtor; (4) the Debtor has had at least four cases dismissed for failure to file complete schedules.

Here, the record set forth by the UST demonstrates the Debtor's bad faith willingness to use inappropriate filings to forestall his creditors. This bad faith finding is further supplemented by evidence that the Debtor has worked in concert with Ms. Arambula to prevent hinder and delay their creditors. Based on the foregoing facts, including a record of noncompliance with the duties of a debtor, the UST has established that dismissal is warranted and that a two-year bar under the Court's § 105 and § 349 authority is appropriate.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court's tentative ruling is to GRANT the Motion in its entirety DISMISSING the Debtor's case and imposing a two-year re-filing bar.

On August 16, 2017, the Court entered its Order Imposing Sanctions ("Sanctions Order") as to Defendant/Cross-Defendants Continental Capital, LLC, Stephen Collias, and their Counsel, for failure to comply with the deadlines imposed by the Court in its May 16, 2017, Order to Show Cause ("OSC"). The Sanctions Order included: (1) a sanction payable to the Court of $500; and (2) attorney's fees for time spent attending the July 26, 2017, hearing and for time spent preparing declarations in support of the fee sanctions. The Court docketed receipt of the $500 sanctions due to the Court on August 28, 2017.

On August 16, 2017, the sanctioned parties filed their request that the Court reverse its Sanctions Order as to attorney fees, and their alternative opposition to the reasonableness of the fees sought by Bojorquez and Morschauser. The fees sought by each party is set forth below:

As a threshold matter, the sanctioned parties seek reversal of the fee sanctions award. However, there is no authority or analysis provided as to why the modification of the Court's sanctions award is appropriate under Rule 60. Separately, the Court is not satisfied that the explanation for why the error occurred would warrant setting aside of the sanctions award. Additionally, although the sanctioned parties argue that the "Status Conference" on the OSC would have occurred with or without the error, the Court disagrees that no time was wasted. In particular, the late filing of the responsive pleading by the sanctioned parties necessitated a further hearing for the other parties to reply in order to provide the Court and parties with all of the briefing to permit an informed discussion regarding the bounds of an evidentiary hearing.

Tentative Ruling:

03/06/2018

The Debtor indicates that the case was dismissed for two reasons: (1) the Debtor's disability income decreased, and (2) the Debtor's daughter was in a serious accident in November 2017 and the Debtor has been paying her medical and legal fees associated with the accident.

The Debtor's explanation for the dismissal of the prior case is sufficiently detailed. However, the Motion does not address whether there has been a change in the financial or personal affairs of the Debtor since January 2018 (when the case was dismissed) such that the Debtor is likely to be able to complete her plan going forward. In particular, there is no indication that the medical emergency which resulted in dismissal of the Debtor's prior case has ended. Additionally, the Debtor now indicates that she is supporting her unemployed domestic partner. The Debtor's disposable income has decreased from $4,197.72 in her prior case to $704.72 in the current case.

Separately, the Court notes that the Notice of Motion did not specify the identities of the Debtor's secured creditors as required by the Court's form motion. As such, notice for the secured creditors is improper.

#9.00 Notice of motion and motion for relief from automatic stay with supporting declarations ACTION IN NON-BANKRUPTCY FORUM RE: Domestic Support w/ PofS.) (Schroer, Manfred)

MOVANT: THEATLAS REAGOR, JR.

EH__

Docket 25

Tentative Ruling:

3/20/18

On July 19, 2017, Stacy Reagor ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. On September 7, 2017, Debtor's Chapter 13 plan was confirmed.

On January 23, 2018, Debtor's ex-husband, Theatlas Reagor ("Movant"), filed a motion for relief from the automatic stay. Movant selected an improper hearing date, however, and so the motion was not set for hearing, and a notice to filer was generated. On February 20, 2018, Movant filed an amended notice of hearing. Movant requests relief from the automatic stay to "obtain a State Court Order to enforce reimbursement of one-half of all amounts expended by Movant in regards to medical services for his minor children in accordance with Domestic Support Order dated December 29, 2010, and for modification of Child support." Movant also seeks annulment of the automatic stay.

First, the Court notes that 11 U.S.C. § 362(b)(2)(A)(ii) excepts from the automatic stay acts "for the establishment or modification of an order for domestic support obligations." Furthermore, 11 U.S.C. § 362(b)(2)(C) provides a mechanism to enforce a domestic support obligation which is automatically excepted from the scope of the automatic stay. The combined operation of these two provisions would seem to render the instant motion unnecessary, to the extent the motion seeks prospective relief from the automatic stay. The Court will construe this request as a request for a comfort order to make clear that the stay does not operate to stop enforcement of the support obligations.

Second, while the Court notes that it is unclear what action, if any violated the automatic stay, the Court finds that the application of the Fjeldsted factors warrants annulment of the automatic stay. Specifically, the Court notes that Movant has provided evidence it was not aware of the bankruptcy filing. Furthermore, the Court notes that Debtor was, probably inappropriately, omitted from Debtor's master mailing matrix in this case. Additionally, the evidence before the Court indicates that Debtor promptly halted his actions in state court upon learning of the bankruptcy filing. Finally, as noted in the paragraph above, it is not clear that the actions of Movant actually violate the automatic stay. For all those reasons, and because Debtor has not opposed the instant motion, which the Court deems to be consent to the relief requested pursuant to Local Rule 9013-(1)(h), the Court is inclined to annul the automatic stay.

The Court is inclined to CONFIRM that the automatic stay does not operate to stop enforcement of the support obligations and otherwise ANNUL the automatic stay.

BACKGROUND

On January 26, 2018, Markus Boyd ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 11 voluntary petition. On January 30, 2018, Debtor filed a motion to employ Nicholas Gebelt ("Counsel") as bankruptcy counsel, and Counsel filed a statement of disinterestedness.

On February 13, 2018, UST filed an objection to the employment application. UST's objection related to several fee provisions in Counsel's retainer agreement. Specifically, UST objected to the characterization of the pre-petition retainer as "earned-upon-receipt and nonrefundable," in addition to a few other provisions.

On February 26, 2018, Counsel filed an amended employment application to address the concerns raised by UST. After a review of the amended application, it appears to the Court that Counsel has removed all of the provisions objected to by UST.

11 U.S.C. § 327(a) states:

- (a) Except as otherwise provided in this section, the trustee, with the court's approval, may employ one or more attorneys, accountants, appraisers, auctioneers, or other professional persons, that do not hold or represent an interest adverse to the estate, and that are disinterested persons, to represent or assist the trustee in carrying out the trustee's duties under this title.

Pursuant to 1107(a), Debtor, as a debtor in possessions, has the rights in duties of a trustee. Debtor's counsel has submitted adequate evidence establishing his disinterestedness in this case. Subject to additional concerns of UST, the Court is inclined to approve the application.

BACKGROUND

On January 18, 2018, Ohlone Tribe of Carmel First Settlers of Chino Valley CA, Inc. ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 11 voluntary petition.

On February 2, 2018, Vanhoops Holdings LP ("Creditor") filed a motion for relief from the automatic stay. At a hearing on March 6, 2018, the Court substantially granted the Creditor's motion, and also made a finding that Debtor filed its petition in bad faith. Additionally, at the hearing on March 6, the Court authorized UST to set a hearing on a motion to dismiss on shortened time.

Chapter 11

Except as provided in paragraph (2) and subsection (c), on request of a party I interest, and after notice and a hearing, the court shall convert a case under this chapter to a case under chapter 7 or dismiss a case under this chapter, whichever is in the best interests of creditors and the estate, for cause unless the court determines that the appointment under section 1104(a) of a trustee or an examiner is in the best interests of creditors and the estate.

11 U.S.C. § 1112(b)(4) provides a non-exclusive list of sixteen examples of cause. 11 U.S.C. § 1112(b)(2) provides certain exceptions for dismissal or conversion for cause.

Here, UST asserts that cause exists pursuant to § 1112(b)(4)(A), which states that cause includes "substantial or continuing loss or diminution of the estate and the absence of a reasonable likelihood of rehabilitation." UST asserts that after Creditor obtained relief from stay to foreclosure on certain real property which constitutes the only material asset of Debtor, Debtor has no source of revenue and essentially no assets. The Court agrees that these circumstances constitute cause pursuant to § 1112(b). The Court further finds that neither of the exceptions identified in § 1112(b)(2) are applicable in this case. Finally, because Debtor does not have material unencumbered assets to distribute to any unsecured creditors, the Court concludes that conversion to Chapter 7 would be fruitless, and, therefore, dismissal is in the best interests of creditors.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to GRANT the motion and DISMISS the case.

BACKGROUND

On October 15, 2015, Martha Loreno Soto Jimenez ("Debtor") and her (ex)husband acquired certain real property located at 1475 Capri Ln., San Jacinto, CA 92583 (the "Property"). On July 20, 2016, a divorce judgment provided that the Property was the separate property of Debtor. On June 22, 2017, Debtor and her (ex)husband transferred the Property to their sons via grant deed. The grant deed states: "This is a bonafide gift and the grantor received nothing in return.

On July 27, 2017, Debtor filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On September 8, 2017, Trustee filed a complaint for: (1) declaratory relief; (2) avoidance of voidable transfer;

(3) recovery of avoided transfer; (4) sale of interest of co-owner in property of the estate; and (5) turnover of property against Armando Cebadas (Debtor's husband or ex-husband), Jose Alfredo Cebadas Soto (Debtor's son), Victor Armando Cebadas Soto (Debtor's son), and Debtor (collectively, "Defendants"). On October 17, 2017, the clerk entered default against Defendants. On January 10, 2018, Trustee filed a motion for default judgment.

DISCUSSION

A. Entry of Default

Fed. R. Civ. P. Rule 55 states that "[w]hen a party against whom a judgment for affirmative relief is sought has failed to plead or otherwise defend as provided by these rules and that fact is made to appear by affidavit or otherwise, the clerk shall enter the party's default." Fed. R. Civ. P. 55(a). Local Rule 7055-1 provides further requirements relating to a motion for entry of default judgment, and those requirements have been substantially satisfied here.

B. Motion for Default Judgment

1. Proper Service of Summons and Complaint

Fed. R. Bankr. P. Rule 7004(b)(1) states, in part:

[S]ervice may be made within the United States by first class mail postage prepaid as follows:

- (1) Upon an individual other than an infant or incompetent, by mailing a copy of the summons and complaint to the individual's dwelling house or usual place of abode or to the place where the individual regularly conducts a business or profession.

Here, Trustee served Defendants at the Property. It is unclear, however, whether the property is the "dwelling house or usual place of abode" for Debtor's (ex)husband and two children. The Court requires additional evidence to establish that the Defendants (other than Debtor) were served in accordance with the requirements of Fed. R. Bankr. P. Rule 7004(b)(1).

2. Merits of Plaintiff's claim

Assuming Trustee establishing that service was proper, the Court will address the merits of the motion. Upon default, the factual allegations of the complaint, except those relating to the amount of damages, will be taken as true. TeleVideo Systems, Inc. v. Heidenthal, 826 F.2d 915, 917 (9th Cir. 1987); see also Almog v. Golden Summit Investors Group, Ltd., 2012 WL 12867972 at *4 (C.D. Cal. 2012) ("When reviewing a motion for default judgment, the Court must accept the well-pleaded allegations of the complaint relating to liability as true.").

Here, the complaint includes nine causes of action: (1) declaratory relief; (2) five separate causes of action for avoidance of voidable transfer; (3) recovery of avoided transfer; (4) sale of interest of co-owner in property of the estate; and (5) turnover of property

Regarding the first cause of action, declaratory relief, the complaint requests a determination that the Property is the community property of Debtor and her ex-husband. Trustee alleges in the complaint that Debtor and Armando acquired their interest in the Property prior to the petition date, while they were married. While this appears true, Trustee has provided additional information in the motion for default judgment, namely a divorce judgment, which indicates that the property is actually the separate property of Debtor. This creates a dilemma because, upon default, the factual allegations of the complaint are to be taken as true. Furthermore, Trustee cannot ask for relief (i.e. a declaration that the Property is Debtor's separate property) which goes beyond the scope of the relief requested in the complaint. Therefore, the Court cannot grant Trustee's request for a determination that the Property is separate property. The Court also cannot grant Trustee's request for a determination that the Property is community property because Trustee has submitted evidence establishing that the Property is in fact not community property.

Regarding the second through sixth causes of action, avoidance of voidable transfer, Trustee has cited three Code provisions authorizing avoidance of the transfer of the Property to Debtor's sons: §544(b) (with reference to Cal. Civ. Code § 3439.04(a)(1) &(2), §3439.05, and § 3439.07), § 548(a)(1)(A), and § 548(a)(1)(B). The first cause of action for avoidable transfer cites 11 U.S.C. §§ 544(b) and 550(a) and Cal. Code Civ. P. §§ 3439.04(a)(1) and 3439.07. Section 544(b) states that a trustee may avoid a transfer of an interest of the debtor that is voidable under applicable law. Cal. Code Civ. P. § 3439.04(a)(1) states that a debtor's transfer of an interest in property is voidable if the transfer was made "[w]ith actual intent to hinder, delay, or defraud" creditors. Trustee's complaint sufficiently alleges that the transfer was made with actual intent to hinder, delay, or defraud creditors. 11 U.S.C. § 548(a)(1)(A) is materially identical to Cal. Code Civ. P. § 3439.04(a)(1) so Trustee has also satisfied the former.

Cal. Code Civ. P. § 3439.04(a)(2) provides that a transfer is voidable if the debtor does not receive reasonable equivalent value and either (a) was engaged or about to engage in a transaction for which its remaining assets were unreasonable small or (b) or believed or reasonably should have believed it would incur debts beyond the debtor's ability to pay. While the grant deed indicates it was a bona fide gift, and thus no reasonably equivalent value was received, Trustee has not provided sufficient factual allegations to satisfy the latter component of the test. Specifically, there is no factual allegation which supports the contention that Debtor's assets were unreasonably small for future transactions or that Debtor was about to incur debts beyond the debtor's ability to pay. 11 U.S.C. § 548(a)(1)(B) is materially identical to Cal. Code Civ. P. § 3439.04(a)(2) so the analysis is the same regarding the former.

Cal. Code Civ. P. § 3439.05 provides that a transfer is voidable as to a creditor whose claim arose before the transfer if the debtor did not receive reasonably equivalent value and the debtor was or became insolvent as a result of the transfer. Trustee's complaint sufficiently alleges that Debtor did not receive reasonably equivalent value, that Debtor was insolvent as a result of the transfer and that there is a creditor whose claim arose before the transfer.

Regarding recovery of the avoidable transfer, 11 U.S.C. § 550 provides that transfers avoided under §§ 544 and 548 are recoverable from the initial transferee. Trustee's complaint sufficiently alleges that Debtor's two sons, named defendants, are the initial transferees, and, therefore Trustee has satisfied § 550.

Regarding Trustee's request to sell an interest of a co-owner of property under § 363 (h), the Court is inclined to conclude that Trustee's complaint sufficiently establishes the four statutory requirements.

Finally, regarding Trustee's request for turnover, Section 542(a) provides for turnover of property of the estate that is of consequential value. Here, Trustee has sufficiently satisfied the requirements of § 542(a) by demonstrating that the Property is property of the estate and that the Property is not of inconsequential value.

3. Amount of Damages

Here, Trustee is not requesting any damages, and, therefore, no evidence is required establishing the amount of damages.

TENTATIVE RULING

Conditioned on Trustee establishing that service on Defendants was proper, the Court is inclined to issue judgment in favor of the Trustee on the second, fourth, fifth, seventh, eighth, and ninth claims for relief. The motion for default judgment is denied without prejudice as to the third and sixth claims for relief. The motion for default judgment is denied with prejudice as to the first claim for relief, although to the extent necessary Trustee is free to amend the complaint as to the first claim for relief.

Docket 50

Tentative Ruling:

3/22/18

BACKGROUND

On November 14, 2016, Deborah Hamernik ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. On January 17, 2017, Debtor's Chapter 13 plan was confirmed.

On January 3, 2018, Trustee filed a motion to dismiss for delinquency. On January 17, 2018, Debtor filed her opposition to the motion to dismiss for delinquency. After no appearance was made on behalf of Debtor at the motion to dismiss, the case was dismissed on January 25, 2018.

On February 14, 2018, Debtor filed a motion to vacate dismissal. On February 15, 2018, Trustee filed comments indicating conditional approval of the motion.

DISCUSSION

Debtor relies on FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 60(b)(1), incorporated into bankruptcy proceedings by FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 9024, which allows for relief from an order based on "mistake, inadvertence, surprise, or excusable neglect." Here, Debtor has not identified any "mistake, inadvertence, surprise, or excusable neglect" to warrant the application of FRCP Rule 60(b)(1).

The legal basis for Debtor's assertion that the dismissal order should be vacated is that Debtor's counsel inadvertently did not appear at the hearing due to an office error. It is well established, however, that "an attorney's ignorance and carelessness does not provide grounds for Rule 60(b) relief." In re Mercado, 144 B.R. 879, 886 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1992) (citing Bershad v. McDonough, 469 F.2d 1333, 1337 (7th Cir. 1972)). And the mere assertion that counsel did not fulfill its duties, but that such carelessness was inadvertent, is clearly inadequate to support Rule 60(b) relief. See, e.g., In re ACME Motors, Inc., 125 B.R. 702, 703 (Bankr. D.R.I. 1991).

"Rule 60(b) relief is extraordinary." Id. Yet, in this court, a request for relief from a Chapter 13 dismissal order has become ordinary. On occasion, the requests are legally sound; in fact, the Court has a legally proper Rule 60(b) request on its calendar for March 22, 2018.

Here, however, the underlying motion to dismiss was filed in early January. After counsel neglected to appear at the hearing, a motion was filed which essentially states that Debtor has cured some of the arrears, will cure more by the date of this hearing, and will, at a later date, cure the remainder. In essence, Debtor's current position is that, after her counsel did not appear at the original hearing, two months later she can almost cure the material default.

When a Chapter 13 trustee files a motion to dismiss, a debtor (or his or her counsel) has the opportunity to oppose the motion and select a hearing. The expectation is that an appropriate hearing date will be selected and the debtor will cure the material default, or at least make substantial, tangible progress towards curing the material default, by the date of the hearing. It is unacceptable for a debtor (or their counsel) to select a hearing date, not show up at the hearing, and then, about two months later, assert that they are almost ready to cure the material default.

Chapter 13

The Seventh Circuit has stated that:

[T]he clients are principals, the attorney is an agent, and under the law of agency the principal is bound by his chosen agent's deeds. The rule is that all of the attorney's misconduct (except in the cases where the act is outside the scope of employment or in cases of excusable neglect) becomes the problem of the client. A lawyer who inexcusably neglects his client's obligations does not present exceptional circumstances.

Bakery Mach. & Fabrication, Inc. v. Traditional Baking, Inc., 570 F.3d 845, 848 (7th Cir. 2009). "Although attorney carelessness can [in certain circumstances] constitute 'excusable neglect' under Rule 60(b)(1), attorney inattentiveness to litigation is not excusable, no matter what the resulting consequences the attorney's somnolent behavior may have on a litigant." Easley v. Kirmsee, 382 F.3d 693, 698 (7th Cir. 2004) (collecting cases).

#3.00 Motion to Vacate Order Dismissing Chapter 13 Case

EH__

Docket 150

Tentative Ruling:

3/22/18

BACKGROUND

On July 10, 2013, Francisco & Maria Medina ("Debtors") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. On August 30, 2013, Debtors' Chapter 13 plan was confirmed.

On January 10, 2018, Trustee filed a motion to dismiss for delinquency. On January 23, 2018, Debtors filed their opposition and a request for hearing. On February 8, 2018, after a hearing, the case was dismissed.

On February 22, 2018, Debtors filed a motion to vacate dismissal. The factual basis of Debtors' motion is that Debtors had sent in a payment to cure the arrears on February 1, 2018, but, one week later, the payment had not yet posted. On February 23, 2018, Trustee filed its comments indicating approval of the motion conditioned on the full cure of the outstanding delinquency.

Chapter 13

Debtors rely on FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 60(b)(1), incorporated into bankruptcy proceedings by FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 9024, which allows for relief from an order based on "mistake, inadvertence, surprise, or excusable neglect." Here, it appears that Debtors attempted to cure the outstanding delinquency by the date of the hearing and had, in fact, sent in a payment to cure the delinquency one week prior to the hearing. Because it appears that the dismissal of the case was due to the inadvertence of the Debtors, because Debtors have a meritorious defense and acted promptly to rectify the problem, and because no opposition has been filed to the instant motion, the Court is inclined to grant the motion and vacate dismissal of the case.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to GRANT the motion conditioned on compliance with the Trustee's comments.

Docket 38

Tentative Ruling:

3/22/2018

BACKGROUND:

On March 1, 2017, Jose Gonzalez ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. On April 12, 2017, Debtor's Chapter 13 plan was confirmed.

On April 12, 2017, Mechanics Bank FKA CRB Auto ("Creditor") filed a secured claim in the amount of $8,667.13 ("Claim 3"). On February 9, 2018, Debtor filed an objection to Claim 3.

According to Debtor, on August 29, 2017, ostensibly while purchasing a new car, Debtor made a payment of $12,430.81 to Moss Bros Honda for a pay-off of the debt underlying Claim 3. Debtor now requests that Claim 3 be disallowed, and that Creditor be ordered to pay any funds received which exceed the amount of the payment to Creditor provided for in the Chapter 13 plan.

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 502(a), a proof of claim is deemed allowed unless a party in interest objects. Absent an objection, a proof of claim constitutes prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claim under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure ("FRBP") 3001(f). See Lundell v. Anchor Constr. Specialists, Inc., 223 F.3d 1035, 1039 (9th Cir. 2000). When a party files an objection to a proof of claim, that filing "creates a dispute which is a contested matter" within the meaning of FRBP 9014 and the Court must resolve the matter after notice and opportunity for hearing upon a motion for relief. Id.

When a creditor has filed a proof of claim that complies with the rules (thereby giving rise to the presumption of validity), the burden shifts to the objecting party who must "present evidence to overcome the prima facie case." In re Medina, 205 B.R. 216, 222 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1996). To defeat the claim, the objecting party must provide sufficient evidence and "show facts tending to defeat the claim by probative force equal to that of the allegations of the proofs of claim themselves." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039 (quoting In re Holm, 931 F.2d 620, 623 (9th Cir. 1991)). "The objector must produce evidence, which, if believed, would refute at least one of the allegations that is essential to the claim's legal sufficiency." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1040 (quoting In re Allegheny Int'l, Inc., 954 F.2d 167, 173-74 (3d Cir. 1992)). If the objecting party produces sufficient evidence to negate one or more of the sworn facts in the proof of claim, the burden reverts back to the claimant to prove the validity of the claim by a preponderance of the evidence. See In re Consol. Pioneer Mort, 178 B.R. 222, 226 (9th Cir. BAP 1995), aff'd, 91 F.3d 151 (9th Cir. 1996) (quoting Allegheny Int'l, 954 F.2d at 173-74). recover money or property requires an adversary proceeding. See also FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 3007(b). While the requirement of an adversary proceeding may be waivable in certain circumstances, here Creditor has not responded to the claim objection and the objection was mailed to a PO Box. In such circumstances, the Court cannot deem Creditor to have waived the requirement of an adversary proceeding. Therefore, Debtor's request for an order directing Creditor to return funds will be denied.

Second, the Court notes that the recipient of Debtor's post-petition payment (Moss Bros. Honda) is not Creditor, but a third party whose relationship with Creditor is unclear from the record, and there is no evidence that Creditor received the alleged payoff.

Ultimately, if Debtor made a significant payment to a pre-petition creditor outside the Chapter 13 plan, the claim objection process is not the proper mechanism for redressing such an error.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to OVERRULE the objection.

#5.00 Motion RE: Objection to Claim Number 9 by Claimant Theatlas Reagor Jr.

EH__

Docket 27

Tentative Ruling:

3/22/2018

BACKGROUND:

On July 19, 2017, Stacy Reagor ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. On September 7, 2017, Debtor's Chapter 13 plan was confirmed.

On October 23, 2017, Debtor amended Schedule F to add a disputed debt of unknown amount owing to Theatlas Reagor ("Creditor") for child support overpayment and reimbursement for payment of medical services provided to the children of Debtor and Creditor. On January 21, 2018, Creditor filed a priority claim in the amount of $6,232.81 ("Claim 9").

On February 7, 2018, Debtor filed an objection to Claim 9. Debtor argues that Claim 9 was late filed and is insufficiently documented. On March 7, 2018, Creditor filed his opposition. Creditor asserts the claim was filed late because he was not timely informed of the pendency of the bankruptcy case. Creditor's response to Debtor's argument that the documentation is inadequate is less than clear. Creditor appears to assert that the medical documentation is confusing, and that he will amend the claim

The Court also notes that two days prior to this hearing, the Court held a hearing on Creditor's motion for relief from the automatic stay.

APPLICABLE LAW:

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 502(a), a proof of claim is deemed allowed unless a party in interest objects. Absent an objection, a proof of claim constitutes prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claim under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure ("FRBP") 3001(f). See Lundell v. Anchor Constr. Specialists, Inc., 223 F.3d 1035, 1039 (9th Cir. 2000). When a party files an objection to a proof of claim, that filing "creates a dispute which is a contested matter" within the meaning of FRBP 9014 and the Court must resolve the matter after notice and opportunity for hearing upon a motion for relief. Id.

When a creditor has filed a proof of claim that complies with the rules (thereby giving rise to the presumption of validity), the burden shifts to the objecting party who must "present evidence to overcome the prima facie case." In re Medina, 205 B.R. 216, 222 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1996). To defeat the claim, the objecting party must provide sufficient evidence and "show facts tending to defeat the claim by probative force equal to that of the allegations of the proofs of claim themselves." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039 (quoting In re Holm, 931 F.2d 620, 623 (9th Cir. 1991)). "The objector must produce evidence, which, if believed, would refute at least one of the allegations that is essential to the claim's legal sufficiency." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1040 (quoting In re Allegheny Int'l, Inc., 954 F.2d 167, 173-74 (3d Cir. 1992)). If the objecting party produces sufficient evidence to negate one or more of the sworn facts in the proof of claim, the burden reverts back to the claimant to prove the validity of the claim by a preponderance of the evidence. ANALYSIS:

Debtor argues that Creditor's claim must be disallowed because it is untimely. Here, the deadline for filing claims was November 29, 2017, and Creditor's claim was filed on January 21, 2018.

"[T]he Ninth Circuit has repeatedly held that the deadline to file a proof of claim in a Chapter 13 proceeding is 'rigid,' and the bankruptcy court lacks equitable power to extent this deadline after the fact." In re Barker, 839 F.3d 1189, 1197 (9th Cir. 2016). "By virtue of Rule 9006(b)(3), a bankruptcy court does not have discretion to enlarge the time periods fixed by Rule 3002(c) nor permit an untimely claim when none of Rule 3002(c)'s five exceptions is applicable." In re Hayes, 327 B.R. 453, 458 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2005) (footnote omitted); see also In re Edelman, 237 B.R. 146, 152 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1999). Here, none of Rule 3002(c)'s exceptions apply.

Tentative Ruling:

As a preliminary manner, the Court notes that this is Debtor's second motion to avoid the subject lien in the instant case. The previous motion was denied for a litany of notice, service, and technical issues.

Regarding the instant motion, the Court notes the fair market value of the property exceeds the amount of the first lien. Therefore, the second lien (if any, see below) is not wholly unsecured and Debtor cannot avoid the lien using § 506(d).

Nevertheless, the Court also notes that the evidence provided by Debtor indicates that the debt underlying the second lien was discharged and the mortgage lien was released by the lienholder several months ago. Counsel to explain why this motion was filed.

BACKGROUND

VW objects to Debtor's plan because it proposes a 1.5% interest rate (which is the contract rate). VW asserts that under Till it should receive 7.25% (representing prime of 4.25 plus a 3% increase for the additional risk factor).

In Till v. SCS Credit Corp., the Supreme Court held that the formula approach, requiring adjustment of prime national interest rate based on risk of nonpayment, was the appropriate method for determining adequate rate of interest on a crammed down loan. 541 U.S. 465 (2004).

The approach begins by looking to the national prime rate. Id. at 478-479. The approach then requires a bankruptcy court to adjust the prime rate according to the bankrupt debtors' risk of nonpayment. Id. The appropriate size of that risk adjustment depends on such factors as (1) the circumstances of the estate, (2) the nature of the security, and (3) the duration and feasibility of the reorganization plan. Additionally, the court must hold a hearing at which the debtor and any creditors may present evidence about the appropriate risk adjustment. Finally, the Court indicated that creditors should bear the evidentiary burden as to risk.

Here, VW's claim on the Petition Date was $17,876.35 (per VW's proof of claim). The Plan proposes to cramdown VW's claim, paying VW in full only on the secured portion of its claim. Thus, under Till, VW as the holder of a crammed down loan is entitled to an adjusted interest rate.

In Till, the Supreme Court indicated that a court choosing a cramdown interest rate need not consider the creditor's individual circumstances, such as its prebankruptcy dealings with the debtor or the alternative loans it could make if permitted to foreclose. Id. Rather, the court should aim to treat similarly situated creditors similarly, and to ensure that an objective economic analysis would suggest the debtor's interest payments will adequately compensate all such creditors for the time value of their money and the risk of default. Id. Thus, here, the Debtor is incorrect that simply because she has proposed a 100% plan and has a pre-bankruptcy contract rate of 1.5%, VW should simply accept that pre-bankruptcy rate. Such rate simply does not recognize the reality acknowledged by the Supreme Court that "on the one hand, the fact of the bankruptcy establishes that the debtor is overextended and thus poses a significant risk of default and on the other hand, the postbankruptcy obligor is no longer the individual debtor but the court-supervised estate, and the risk of default is thus somewhat reduced."

TENTATIVE RULING

Based on the foregoing, the Court finds that under Till, the interest rate can and should be adjusted to account for the different risk profile presented by the Debtor now as opposed to when the Debtor obtained the contract rate. At a minimum, VW's Objection should be SUSTAINED such that it should receive at least the 4.25% prime interest rate. Given the risk of default of a borrower in bankruptcy, the Court would be inclined to add an additional percentage point to the prime rate, for a total interest rate of 5.25% for VW.

BACKGROUND

Debtor from modifying the plan to pay less than 100% to unsecured creditors unless Debtor paid all disposable income into the plan. On January 25, 2018, Debtor filed her opposition to Trustee's objection. On February 5, 2018, Trustee filed a reply brief.

DISCUSSION

Trustee requests that this Court adopt the holding of In re McCarthy, 554 B.R. 388 (Bankr. W.D. Tex. 2016). The Court declines to do so for the reasons that follow.

11 U.S.C. § 1325(a) enumerates plan confirmation requirements. If the confirmation requirements are satisfied then "[e]xcept as provided in subsection (b), the court shall confirm [the] plan." Id. 11 U.S.C. § 1325(b)(1) states:

(b)(1) If the trustee or the holder of an allowed unsecured claim objects to the confirmation of the plan, then the court may not approve the plan unless, as of the effective date of the plan ---

(A) the value of the property to be distributed under the plan on account of such claim is not less than the amount of such claim; or

(B) the plan provides that all of the debtor's projected disposable income to be received in the applicable commitment period beginning on the date that the first payment is due under the plan will be applied to make payments to unsecured creditors under the plan.

Subject to the discussion below, for the sake of analysis, the Court will assume § 1325(b)(1) is applicable here. Trustee argues in section II.D of its brief that once § 1325(b)(1) is invoked, confirmation is discretionary:

However, the language in § 1325(b) is permissive and, therefore, more discretionary – "the court MAY not confirm unless . . ." Therefore, debtor's argument that the court MUST confirm the plan because it meets the requirements of § 1325 is not supported by the language of the statute. In fact, the Chapter 13 Trustee would argue that it is the discretionary language of § 1325(b)(1) that allows the court, under its equitable powers, to order a conditional confirmation as the court did in McCarthy.

[Dkt. No. 24, pg. 10, lines 1-8] (parenthesis omitted) (italicization added for emphasis). Trustee's assertion that the language of § 1325(b) is permissive and discretionary, however, is statutorily incorrect. 11 U.S.C. § 102(4) states: "'may not' is prohibitive, and not permissive." As a result, the foundation of Trustee's position appears to rest on a misreading of the statute.

Instead, the Code provides for the following analysis at plan confirmation: (1) if the debtor has satisfied the § 1325(a) confirmation requirements and no objection is received, then the Court must confirm the plan; (2) if an objection is received and the debtor has not satisfied § 1325(b)(1), the Court cannot confirm the plan; and (3) if an objection is received and the debtor has satisfied § 1325(a)-(b)(1), then the Court must confirm the plan. See, e.g., 8 COLLIER'S ON BANKRUPTCY ¶ 1325.11[e] (16th ed. 2016) ("If an objection to confirmation is filed under section 1325(b)(1), the objection must be denied when 'the value of the property to be distributed under the plan on account of such claim is not less than the amount of such claim.' . . . [I]f the plan provides that the claims are to be paid in full, the trustee cannot demand that the debtors devote all of their projected disposable income each month to payment of claims in order to pay them more quickly.").

Even if § 1325(b)(1) provided for a discretionary determination by the Court, the nature of the objection filed by Trustee is inadequate to invoke the § 1325(b)(1) requirements. See, e.g., In re Torres, 193 B.R. 319, 322-23 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. 1996) ("in order for that subsection [§1325(b)(1)(B)] to become applicable to confirmation, an objection to confirmation must be made alleging that a debtor is not devoting all disposable income to the plan for a minimum period of three years."). As a result, even if § 1325(b)(1) provided for a discretionary determination, the standard would be irrelevant in this case.

Apart from the statutory interpretations problems with the Trustee's argument, the Court finds that policy and equitable considerations weigh against Trustee's position. The Court notes that the disposable income requirement is disjunctive: either the debtor must pledge all disposable income to the plan or the debtor must pay unsecured creditors in full. The Trustee does not dispute that Debtor has satisfied the disjunctive test.

Ultimately, the Trustee relies upon the Court's § 105 equitable powers in support of the request at issue. Rarely will it be the case, however, that the equities will in favor of creating a fixed rule binding for years regardless of changes in circumstances. The review of a proposed plan modification is generally a highly equitable endeavor that emphasizes the totality of the circumstances. Replacing that equitable analysis with a rigid rule not provided for by the Code is simply inequitable.

The Court does agree, however, that a plan term requiring Debtors in a 100% plan to have to account for excess disposable income, in the even they later file a motion to modify, is of benefit.

The Court is inclined to DENY the motion. First, notice to the law firm that represented the secured creditor (the primary party at whom the motion is directed) does not include the handling lawyers' names. As such notice is problematic as it will be delayed getting into the proper hands. Second, the prior case was not dismissed because of an ordinary payment default, as the motion implies, but because of failure to turn over tax refunds. Third, Debtor does not need the stay to seek a loan modification. Last, any equity in the Debtor's residence will be recovered, on sale by the Trustee (not the Debtor) for the benefit of the estate, and the Trustee has not joined this request. Thus, Debtor has failed to rebut the presumption of lack of good faith as to U.S. Bank pursuant to § 362(c)(3)(C)(ii).

#39.00 Motion to Dismiss Case for Failure to Make Plan Payments

EH__

Docket 71

Tentative Ruling:

3/22/18

BACKGROUND

On September 30, 2014, Gustavo Brito ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. On November 20, 2014, Debtor's Chapter 13 plan was confirmed. The mandatory Chapter 13 form plan contains a provision (Section V.H) which states: "The Debtor will pay timely all postconfirmation tax liabilities directly to the appropriate taxing authorities as they become due."

Since confirmation the Trustee has filed three motions to dismiss, all of which were ultimately resolved. Additionally, the Chapter 13 plan has been modified once. On February 23, 2018, the California Department of Tax & Fee Administration ("CDTFA") filed a motion to dismiss or convert to Chapter 7 on the basis that Debtors had not paid their postconfirmation taxes. The Court notes that the motion was served on Debtors' attorney, but was not served on Debtors.

DISCUSSION

The Court will continue the matter for CDTFA to serve the motion on Debtors.

Chapter 13

Regarding the merits, the Court notes that 11 U.S.C. § 1307(c)(6) provides for dismissal or conversion for cause, which is defined to include "material default by the debtor with respect to a term of a confirmed plan." Here, the Court notes that Debtors' confirmed plan provided that all postconfirmation tax liabilities were to be timely paid. CDTFA has provided evidence that Debtor has accrued $19,888.54 in post-petition tax liabilities which constitutes a material default satisfying § 1307(c)(6). Because Debtors do not appear to have meaningful unencumbered, unexempt assets, this Court would be inclined to dismiss the case rather than convert it to Chapter 7.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to CONTINUE the matter to April 19, 2018 at 12:30 p.m. for proper service of the motion on Debtors.

APPEARANCES REQUIRED.

BACKGROUND

On December, 2014, William & Kathie Meineke ("Debtors") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. On February 9, 2015, Debtors' Chapter 13 plan was confirmed. The mandatory Chapter 13 form plan contains a provision (Section V.H) which states: "The Debtor will pay timely all postconfirmation tax liabilities directly to the appropriate taxing authorities as they become due."

Since confirmation the Trustee has filed five motions to dismiss, all of which were ultimately resolved. Additionally, the Chapter 13 plan has been modified twice. On January 10, 2018, the California Franchise Tax Board ("CFTB") filed a motion to dismiss or convert to Chapter 7 on the basis that Debtors had not paid their postconfirmation taxes. Here, the Court notes that Debtors' confirmed plan provided that all postconfirmation tax liabilities were to be timely paid. #2.00 Motion for Entry of Order Directing the Clerk of the Court to Enter the Debtor's Discharge Retroactively Dated to October 20, 2009

EH__

Docket 23

Tentative Ruling:

3/28/18

BACKGROUND

On July 17, 2009, Marcin & Laura Rozpedski ("Debtors") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On December 16, 2009, the case was closed without entry of discharge because Debtors did not file the required financial management court certificate.

On January 23, 2018, the case was reopened upon Debtors' motion. On February 22, 2018, Marcin Rozpedski ("Marcin") filed his certification about a financial management course, although the Court notes that no such certificate was filed for Laura Rozpedski. It would appear that Debtors have since separated.

On March 9, 2018, Debtors filed a motion for entry of order directing the Clerk of Court to enter the Debtor's discharge retroactively dated to October 20, 2009. Marcin asserts that he was not informed by his attorney of the requirements to complete a financial management course because his former attorney's office burned down.

As of the petition date, Debtor had an outstanding judgment owed to Ford Motor Credit Co. LLC ("Creditor"). Approximately six months before the petition date, Creditor recorded an abstract of judgment in Riverside County, although Marcin asserts he did not own any real property in Riverside County at that time. Later, in September 2013, Marcin acquired real property in Riverside County. In December 2017, Creditor applied for an application for renewal of judgment.

By the instant motion, Debtor requests: (1) the retroactive entry of Marcin's discharge; (2) a declaration by the Court that Creditor's renewal of judgment is void; and (3) a declaration that Creditor's abstract of judgment is void as to post-petition acquired property.

DISCUSSION

The Court will first summarily address Debtor's third request. The Court notes that pursuant to FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 7001(2), a proceeding to determine the validity, priority, or extent of a lien or other interest in property requires an adversary proceeding. While the requirement of an adversary proceeding may be waivable in certain circumstances, here Creditor has not responded to the instant motion. In such circumstances, the Court cannot deem Creditor to have waived the requirement of an adversary proceeding. Therefore, the Court will deny Debtor's request for an order declaring the judgment lien of Creditor to be void.

Marcin also requests that his discharge be entered retroactively pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 105. Marcin has not provided any case law supporting the Court's exercise of equitable powers in this fashion. The Court's own review of the case law identifies few cases where a Court has contemplated the retroactive entry of discharge. See, e.g., In re Recile, 496 F.2d 675, 680 (5th Cir. 1974) (nunc pro tunc discharge only appropriate when discharge not entered wholly because of clerical mistake); Matter of Pilar Cordova Antuna, 45 B.R. 271, 277 (Bankr. W.D. Mo. 1985) (same). Here, discharge was not entered in 2009 due to the error of Debtors, and, as a result, the standard is clearly not satisfied.

Chapter 7

Nevertheless, it is worth noting that the paucity of case law on the issue is likely a result of the fact that the date that discharge is entered would seem to be legally immaterial. Regardless of the entry date of the discharge, the discharge will operate to absolve a debtor from in personam liability on pre-petition debts. The situation becomes murkier, however, where a party has an abstract of judgment that has not attached to any real property (and the claim is therefore unsecured), the case is closed, real property is acquired by the judgment defendant (now the claim is secured), and then the case is reopened to seek entry of a discharge. In this narrow circumstance, it would appear that the date of the entry of discharge is potentially material. Nevertheless, in this circumstance, as noted above, Marcin has failed to establish grounds for the entry of discharge retroactive to more than eight years ago.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to GRANT the motion, only to the extent of issuing a discharge now (not retroactive) as to Marcin only.

#6.00 Order to Show Cause RE Civil Contempt and For an Order Holding Delia Moya in Civil Contempt

EH__

Docket 12

Tentative Ruling:

3/28/18

PROCEDURAL BACKGROUND

On August 31, 2016, Jay Goodman ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On December 12, 2016, Debtor received a Chapter 7 discharge, and the next day the case was closed.

On February 12, 2018, Debtor filed a motion for an order to show cause why Delia Moya ("Moya") should not be held in civil contempt. On February 27, 2018, the Court entered an order to show cause (the "OSC") and set a hearing on the matter. On March 14, 2018, Moya filed her response to the OSC, and, on March 21, 2018, Debtor filed a reply.

SUMMARY OF ARGUMENTS

Debtor argues that Moya has violated the discharge injunction. Debtor and Moya were formerly married. On April 22, 2015, during the court of their dissolution proceedings, it appears that the family law court entered an earnings assignment order whereby Moya would receive 50% of Debtor's social security benefits. On May 10, 2016, a modified earning assignment (the "EOA") order was filed. That same day Debtor and Moya entered into a marital settlement agreement (the "MSA"). The MSA contained a provision which stated, in relevant part, that: "Husband owes Wife certain monies with respect to spousal support arrears, court-ordered attorney fees, and court-ordered sanctions which, with interest, total approximately $69,000." The crux of Debtor's argument appears to be that at least part of the amount identified is dischargeable in bankruptcy. The crux of Moya's opposition is that the entire debt is nondischargeable either through the operation of 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(5) or 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(15).

DISCUSSION

After reviewing Debtor's motion, Moya's response, and Debtor's reply, the Court is left with the firm impression that Debtor was unaware of the operation of 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(15) when the instant motion was filed. 11 U.S.C. §523(a)(15) states:

- (a) A discharge under section 727, 1141, 1228(a), 1228(b), or 1328(b) of this title does not discharge an individual debtor from any debt –

(15) to a spouse, former spouse, or child of the debtor and not of the kind described in paragraph (5) that is incurred by the debtor in the course of a divorce or separation or in connection with a separation agreement, divorce decree or other order of a court of record, or a determination made in accordance with the State or territorial law by a governmental unit;

Chapter 7

While Debtor argues in his motion that part of the debt created by the MSA is not a domestic support obligation, §523(a)(15) eliminates the need to determine whether all components of the debt at issue are actually domestic support obligations. Until 2005, bankruptcy courts were required to apply a balancing test to determine whether a debt of the type listed in § 523(a)(15) was dischargeable; additionally, the debt was automatically discharged in the absence of an adversary proceeding. See generally COLLIER ON BANKRUPTCY ¶ 523.23 (16th ed. 2009) (briefly discussing history of § 523(a)(15)). As a result, Debtor's motion contains many references to now obsolete case law which applied the incorrect standard. Moya has pointed out this statutory change in her opposition, and Debtor has not advanced a new legal argument in his reply. It is clear that the entirety of the debt owed to Moya, Debtor's ex-spouse, as part of the Marital Settlement Agreement, constitutes a debt owed to a former spouse in connection with a separation agreement. Therefore, to the extent the debt is not non-dischargeable by operation of 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(5), it is certainly non-dischargeable by operation of 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(15).

To the extent that Debtor requests reformation or cancellation of the EAO or MSA, this request is beyond the Court's jurisdiction. A debtor cannot request relief pursuant to non-bankruptcy law in a closed case. See 28 U.S.C. § 157 (identifying four categories of bankruptcy court jurisdiction).

To the extent that Moya requests certain sanctions against Debtor for bringing the instant motion, the Court notes that Moya's opposition is not the appropriate mechanism for bringing such a request. See FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 9011(c)(1). The Court also notes that Local Rule 9020 specifies the procedure to be followed when a party requests an order to show cause. Local Rule 9020(b) provides that a responding party shall have seven days to file a written objection. Local Rule 9020(d)(1) provides that if a written objection is not filed, "the court may conclude that there is no objection to issuance of the order to show cause." Here, Moya was served with Debtor's motion for contempt. And the Court waited fifteen days between entering the order to show cause, during which period Moya did not file any written objection. While it may be fair to characterize Debtor's motion as not "warranted by existing law or by a nonfrivolous argument for the extension, modification, or reversal of existing law," the Court also notes that a timely response to the motion by Moya would have

PROCEDURAL BACKGROUND

On March 10, 2014, Craig Smedman & Veronica Wilkins (collectively, "Plaintiffs"; individually, "Smedman" and "Wilkins") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On August 12, 2014, Plaintiffs received a Chapter 7 discharge. On October 28, 2015, the State Board of Equalization filed a proof of claim in the amount of $155,734.68 ("Claim 13"), of which $127,905.25 was identified as a priority claim. On April 15, 2016, the case was closed.

On May 25, 2017, the case was reopened. On June 23, 2017, Plaintiffs filed a complaint against SBE. The complaint contains two causes of action: (1) declaratory relief; and (2) a request for an injunction.

Due to issues with the service of the complaint, SBE's answer was not filed until December 18, 2017. On January 23, 2018, SBE moved for summary judgment. On March 7, 2018, Plaintiffs filed their opposition to SBE's motion for summary judgment.

ARGUMENTS

Plaintiff's complaint is somewhat confusing. Paragraph 9 of the complaint states: "An actual and genuine controversy exists as to whether Plaintiff's/Debtors' position that any claim against them by the Defendant is time barred or discharged, in that Plaintiffs claim that any such claim by Defendant is in fact time barred and discharged, and Defendant disputes such contention." Paragraph 10 of the complaint states, in pertinent part: "Plaintiffs seek an adjudication that any claim by Defendant is time barred, discharged, and that the automatic stay and discharge stay prevents any alleged collection efforts. Plaintiffs seek a specific ruling by his Court that any such claim by Defendant is discharged and can never be enforced."

In its motion for summary judgment, the SBE argues that it is not the proper party in this lawsuit, but, rather the named defendant should have been the California Department of Taxes and Fees Administration ("CDTFA"). Furthermore, SBE argues that the complaint fails to allege a violation of the automatic stay or the discharge injunction. Regarding the automatic stay, SBE asserts that they did not take any actions while the automatic stay was in effect and, even if they had issued a notice of assessment while the automatic stay was operative, that notice is excepted from the automatic stay. Regarding the discharge injunction, SBE asserts that its claim is non-dischargeable.

In Plaintiffs' opposition, Plaintiffs argue that the SBE's decision to answer the complaint should estop SBE from arguing that it is not the property defendant, and, alternatively, that Plaintiff should be granted leave to amend the complaint. Furthermore, Plaintiffs identifies certain actions by SBE which it contends constitute a violation of the automatic stay. Plaintiffs also argue that: "Neither Defendant was a 'responsible person' to impose personal liability for sales taxes under Revenue and Taxation Code Section 6829."

Chapter 7

As a preliminary matter, Plaintiffs also characterize Claim 13 as being untimely, although it is not clear how the characterization relates to their causes of action. If a claim is filed late (or not at all), the holder of the claim simply waives their right to any disbursements made by the trustee. If such a claim is non-dischargeable, the claim would not be "time barred" by reason of its having been filed late (or not at all) in the bankruptcy case. In any event, the claim was not filed late. The Trustee's notice of assets [Dkt. No. 21] identifies a government claims bar date of January 15, 2016.

Plaintiffs and SBE appear to disagree about whether Claim 13 was discharged. 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(1)(A) states:

- (a) A discharge under section 727, 1141, 1228(a), 1228(b) or 1328(b) of this title does not discharge an individual debtor from any debt –
 - (1) for a tax or a custom duty –
 - (A) of the kind and for the periods specified in section 507(a)(3) or 507(a)(8) of this title, whether or not a claim for such tax was filed or allowed;

11 U.S.C. § 507(a)(8)(A)(i) states:

- (a) The following expenses and claims have priority in the following order:
 - (8) Eight, allowed unsecured claims of government units, only to the extent that such claims are for –
 - (A) a tax on or measured by income or gross receipts for a taxable year ending on or before the date of the filing of the petition –
 - (i) for which a return, if required, is last due, including extensions, after three years before the date of the filing of the petition;

Chapter 7

SBE argues that its tax claims falls within § 507(a)(8)(A)(i).¹ Presumably, Plaintiffs believe Claim 13 was not discharged, although that is not actually asserted in Plaintiffs' opposition.

SBE correctly points out that the Ninth Circuit has previously held that the type of tax assessed here (responsible person liability)² is a "tax" for purposes of § 523(a)(1) and is measured on "gross receipts" for purposes of § 507(a)(8). See In re Ilko, 651 F.3d 1049, 1050 (9th Cir. 2011). Plaintiffs have not presented any legal argument to the contrary.

Next the Court must evaluate whether the applicable tax returns were due "after three years before the date of the filing of the petition." 11 U.S.C. § 507(a)(8)(A)(i). As evidenced by SBE's proof of claim and the notice of determination attached to the instant motion, SBE originally asserted a priority claim for taxes due during the period October 1, 2010 to March 31, 2012.

CAL. REV. & TAX. CODE § 6452(a) provides that:

- (a) On or before the last day of the month following each quarterly period of three months, a return for the preceding quarterly period shall be filed with the board in the form as prescribed by the board, which may include, but not be limited to, electronic media. Returns shall be authenticated in a form or pursuant to methods as may be prescribed by the board.

Therefore, all of the priority part of Claim 13 fits within § 507(a)(8)(A)(i), with the exception of the tax due for the final quarter of 2010. SBE's declaration, however, asserts that SBE made a legal adjustment to the liability of Plaintiffs to discharge the tax due during the final quarter of 2010. SBE, however, has demonstrated that the remainder of the priority portion of Claim 13 was non-dischargeable. Plaintiffs have not advanced any legal argument to the contrary.

Plaintiffs' argument that they were not proper parties to be assessed "responsible person liability" under CAL. REV. & TAX. CODE § 6829 misses the operative issue. This argument does not go to whether the claim of SBE has been discharged, but, instead, goes to whether SBE has a claim at all. Regardless of whether the assertion of Plaintiffs is accurate, the claim as asserted by SBE fits within the non-dischargeability provision of § 507(a)(8)(A)(i). As a result, the claim cannot have been discharged, and there cannot have been a violation of the discharge injunction.

Because this Court has concluded that the claim of SBE is not "unenforceable, time-barred, and otherwise discharged," it is inappropriate to issue an injunction to prevent SBE from seeking its legal remedies.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to GRANT summary judgment in favor of SBE. As to the assessed liability for the final quarter of 2010, SBE to discuss including language in the judgment as to those taxes having been discharged.

Docket 53

Tentative Ruling:

03/29/2018

On February 22, 2018, the Court issued its tentative ruling and continued the hearing on the Debtor's Motion to permit the Debtor to file a response to the Court's tentative ruling.

The Debtor filed her response on March 15, 2018 (the "Response").

In her Response to the Court's Tentative Ruling of February 22, 2018 (the "TR"), the Debtor responds that she seeks to vacate dismissal in order to "correct the record". The Debtor's Response, however, does little more than assert an incomprehensible argument under Rule 60(b)(6) regarding the "Y2K Bug" and then goes on to again argue that fraud has occurred. The Response does not address the Rule 60(c) time limit on a Rule 60(b) motion based on fraud. Nor does the Response provide any evidence or argument to warrant vacating the dismissal under Rule 60(b) (6).

Finally, the Debtor's Response cites to alleged violations of federal criminal and/or civil laws by Wells Fargo and Clear Recon Corp. Here, even were the Court to conclude that the Debtor's allegations are true and that Wells Fargo and Clear Recon Corp made misrepresentations or committed fraud, the bankruptcy case was dismissed for reasons independent of any issues related to Wells Fargo and Clear Recon Corp.

Chapter 13

Thus, the alleged violations do not of themselves provide support for Debtor's Motion to Vacate Dismissal. If the Debtor believes Wells Fargo and Clear Recon Corp may have criminal or civil liability then she is free to pursue actions against these entities in federal district court.

Finally, on March 8, 2018, Wells Fargo and Clear Recon Corp filed their opposition to the Debtor's Motion. Their Opposition reiterates the points raised by the Court's TR that the Motion was not properly served and that relief is not warranted under Rule 9024. Given the service issues with the Motion, the Court has considered the opposition of Wells Fargo and Clear Recon Corp and is inclined to DENY the Motion for the reasons stated in today's tentative ruling, in the February 22, 2018 TR, in the Opposition of Wells Fargo and Clear Recon Corp, and in the Trustee's Comments.

02/22/2018

Background:

On July 18, 2016, Conchita Ang ("Debtor") filed for chapter 13 relief. Rod Danielson is the duly appointed chapter 13 trustee ("Trustee").

On October 12, 2016, the Court granted the Motion of the United States Trustee to dismiss the Debtor's case with a re-filing bar, thereby dismissing the Debtor's case (the "Dismissal Order")

The Debtor subsequently appealed the dismissal of the case to the Bankruptcy Appellate Panel (the "BAP"). On August 10, 2017, the BAP affirmed the order of this Court dismissing the Debtor's case as a bad faith filing.

On February 1, 2018, the Debtor filed a Motion to Vacate the Dismissal Order (the "Motion"). On February 5, 2018, the Trustee filed comments recommending that the Court deny the Debtor's Motion.

Chapter 13

Under FRBP 9024 (incorporating FRCP 60(b)), a court may relieve a party from judgment for the following reasons: (1) mistake, inadvertence, surprise, or excusable neglect; (2) newly discovered evidence; (3) fraud or other misconduct; (4) a void judgment; (5) a satisfied or discharged judgment; or (6) any other reason justifying relief from operation of judgment. FRBP 9024.

The Debtor does not specify under which subsection of Rule 60(b) she is moving. However, the allegations in the Motion appear to indicate that the Debtor believes fraud has occurred as to "alleged creditors" Wells Fargo Bank and Clear Recon Corp. Fraud falls within Rule 60(b)(3). Potentially, the Debtor is also alleging that relief is justified based on new evidence discovered during the appeal process which would fall under Rule 60(b)(2). (Motion at ¶5).

As a threshold matter, pursuant to Rule 60(c), a motion under Rule 60(b) that is brought for reasons (1), (2), or (3) cannot be brought more than a year after the entry of the order. FRCP 60(c). Here, more than one year has elapsed since the Dismissal Order was entered on October 12, 2016. Therefore, based on the allegations in the Motion, 60(b)(6) appears to be the only grounds upon which the Dismissal Order could be set aside.

The Ninth Circuit has held that Rule 60(b)(6) should be used sparingly as an equitable remedy to prevent manifest injustice and is to be utilized only where extraordinary circumstances prevented a party from taking timely action to prevent or correct an erroneous judgment. In re International Fibercom, Inc., 503 F.3d 933, 941 (9th Cir. 2007) (internal citations omitted). Accordingly, a party who moves for such relief "must demonstrate both injury and circumstances beyond his control that prevented him from proceeding with ... the action in a proper fashion. Id.

Here, the Debtor has failed to either (1) demonstrate manifest injustice, or (2) to demonstrate what extraordinary circumstances prevented her from bringing this Motion at an earlier junction. Instead, the timing of the instant Motion appears more likely to reflect the Debtor's refusal to accept the ruling of the BAP which affirmed this Court's Dismissal Order. Further, as pointed out by the Trustee, the Debtor's Motion fails to address the numerous grounds for dismissal delineated in the Court's Dismissal Order, including the lack of disposable income to fund a chapter 13 plan and the Debtor's history of skeletal filings. Finally, the Debtor believes she should have an opportunity to object to proofs of claim filed in her dismissed case. However, there is no explanation or averment as to how a proof of claim filed in a dismissed case has caused or is causing injury to the Debtor.

In sum, while the Debtor believes she has meritorious grounds for alleging fraud against the "alleged creditors", the Motion fails to demonstrate that the bankruptcy court is the appropriate forum for the Debtor to litigate these disputes with the creditors given that the Debtor's case has been dismissed and that no evidence has been provided to warrant reinstating the bankruptcy case.

Separately, the Motion appears to seek the issuance of a temporary restraining order. However, LBR 7065 clearly states that a temporary restraining order or preliminary injunction may only be sought as a provision remedy in an adversary proceeding.

In addition to the foregoing, the Court also denies the Motion on the basis of improper service because the Debtor has failed to serve the Motion in accordance with FRBP 7004 as to the alleged creditors.

Tentative Ruling:

Based on the foregoing, the Motion is DENIED in its entirety.

#2.00 Motion and Notice to remove Trustee Rod Danielson

Also #1

EH__

Docket 56

Tentative Ruling:

03/29/2018

BACKGROUND

The Debtor moves the Court for an order removing Rod Danielson as the trustee for her case stemming from an alleged "failure to perform his duties pursuant to ... Section 704(a)(5)" by an alleged failure to object to the allowance of an "improper claim", also for "malfeasance of office for gross negligence and willful misconduct."

DISCUSSION

Once appointed, only the bankruptcy court, after notice and hearing, can remove the trustee. 11 U.S.C. § 324; In re Reed, 178 B.R. 817 (Bankr. D. Ariz. 1995) (citing Bernard v. Coyne (In re Bernard), 31 F.3d 842, 844 (9th Cir.1994)). Section 324 of the Bankruptcy Code provides that a trustee may be removed "for cause." However, the requisite cause for removal of a trustee, as required by § 324, has not been defined in the Bankruptcy Code; rather it must be determined by the courts on a case by case basis. Id. (citing In re Lundborg, 110 B.R. 106, 108 (Bankr.D.Conn.1990); In re Haugen Construction Service, Inc., 104 B.R. 233, 240 (Bankr.D.N.D.1989)). The requisite cause has been defined as, " 'reasons for which the law and sound public policy recognize as sufficient [to] warrant ... removal' and reasons which 'relate to and affect the administration of the office [of the trustee] and [which] must be restricted [sic] to something of a substantial nature directly affecting the rights and interests of the public.' " Baker v. Seeber (In re Baker), 38 B.R. 705, 707 (D.Md.1983) (affirming and quoting Judge Evans, below). Most case law concerning the removal of a trustee involves intentional misconduct or negligence on the part of the trustee in the administration of the estate. Id. Such cause has been interpreted to include when the trustee is not disinterested, where the trustee fails to perform his or her duties or unreasonably delays in the performance of those duties. Lundborg, 110 B.R. at 108 (citations omitted). But, a trustee is not responsible, and therefore should not be removed, for mistakes in judgment where the judgment is both reasonable and discretionary. Reed (citing Mosser v. Darrow, 341 U.S. 267, 272, 71 S.Ct. 680, 682–83, 95 L.Ed. 927 (1951); Lundborg, 110 B.R. at 108).

A Chapter 7 trustee's duties encompass investigating, liquidating, handling and distributing assets of the Chapter 7 estate. See § 704. While a Chapter 13 trustee performs some of the same or similar investigative and fiduciary functions of a Chapter 7 trustee, the work of the Chapter 13 trustee is focused primarily on administration of the Chapter 13 debtor's plan, a very different job. See § 1302. In re Colburn, 231 B.R. 778, 783 (Bankr. D. Or. 1999).

The Debtor's case was dismissed for various reasons, including the lack of disposable income to fund a chapter 13 plan and the Debtor's history of skeletal filings (in addition to the fact that, as referenced by the Trustee, the Debtor was not eligible to be a chapter 13 debtor because she had exceeded the debt limits for chapter 13). Here, there was no plan to administer and the Debtor's case was improperly filed as a chapter 13. Moreover, as indicated by the Trustee, even assuming, arguendo, that the Trustee had any reason to object to the claim that the Debtor disputes, such claim had not been filed at the time of the creditor meeting and due to the dismissal of the case no purpose would have been served by the Trustee's objection to the claim post-dismissal.

The Debtor's request for removal of the Trustee is nothing more than a frivolous attack on the Trustee which serves no purpose. The Debtor has failed to identify any "cause" for removal under § 324. Specifically, the Debtor's motion is unsupported by any facts or evidence to support her allegations that the Trustee acted improperly in declining to object to the proof of claim of Wells Fargo/Clear Recon Corp. Instead, the declaration of the Debtor simply states in conclusory fashion that she believes the Trustee had a duty to "demand and examine the Proof of Claim" and to do so "timely". Instead, the Court finds that given the myriad issues with the Debtor's case, the Trustee's judgment that examination of the proof of claim was not

#3.00 Motion RE: Objection to Claim Number 6 by Claimant Internal Revenue Service

EH__

Docket 41

Tentative Ruling:

03/29/2018

Background:

On February 14, 2017 ("Petition Date"), Bruce and Ann Ruggles (collectively, "Debtors") filed for chapter 13 relief. Rod Danielson is the duly appointed trustee ("Trustee"). On March 2, 2018, the Debtors filed objection to Claim No. 6 (the "Objection") filed by the Internal Revenue Service ("IRS").

On March 15, 2018, IRS filed its opposition and response to the Objection ("Opposition").

Applicable Law:

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 502(a), a proof of claim is deemed allowed unless a party in interest objects. Absent an objection, a proof of claim constitutes prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claim under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure ("FRBP") 3001(f). Lundell v. Anchor Constr. Specialists, Inc., 223 F.3d 1035, 1039 (9th Cir. 2000). When a party files an objection to a proof of claim, that filing "creates a dispute which is a contested matter" within the meaning of FRBP 9014 and the Court must resolve the matter after notice and opportunity for hearing upon a motion for relief. Id.

When a creditor has filed a proof of claim that complies with the rules (thereby giving rise to the presumption of validity), the burden shifts to the objecting party who must "present evidence to overcome the prima facie case." United States v. Offord

Fin., Inc., (In re Medina), 205 B.R. 216,222 (9th Cir. BAP 1996). To defeat the claim, the objecting party must provide sufficient evidence and "show facts tending to defeat the claim by probative force equal to that of the allegations of the proofs of claim themselves." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039 (quoting In re Holm, 931 F.2d 620, 623 (9th Cir. 1991)). "The objector must produce evidence, which, if believed, would refute at least one of the allegations that is essential to the claim's legal sufficiency." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1040 (quoting In re Allegheny Int'l, Inc., 954 F.2d 167, 173-74 (3d Cir. 1992)). If the objecting party produces sufficient evidence to negate one or more of the sworn facts in the proof of claim, the burden reverts back to the claimant to prove the validity of the claim by a preponderance of the evidence. Ashford v. Consol. Pioneer Mort. (In re Consol. Pioneer Mort.), 178 B.R. 222, 226 (9th Cir. BAP 1995), aff'd, 91 F.3d 151 (9th Cir. 1996) (quoting Allegheny Int'l, 954 F.2d at 173-74). The ultimate burden of persuasion remains at all times on the claimant. Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039; Holm, 931 F.2d at 623.

Analysis:

The Debtors objection is that:

1. The unsecured priority claim of $7,999.80 was an estimated claim when filed; and
2. The Debtors filed their actual return on April 2, 2017, and the liability based on their return is a reduced amount of $1,498.
3. The Trustee has paid $1,098.68 on the IRS's claim, leaving an unpaid balance of $407.32.

On March 8, 2018, the IRS filed an amended proof of claim reducing the amount of its unsecured priority claim to $407.32.

Tentative Ruling

Based on the foregoing, the amendment to the IRS proof of claim resolves the dispute.

Debtors have provided evidence that regular payments were made between May 2016 and November 1, 2017 (with the exception of the August 2016 and December 2016 payments for which Debtors are seeking evidence). Exhibit 5, which is the Movant's summary of post-petition payments reflects numerous debits for 2016 payments which appears to corroborate Debtors' assertion that refunds were made due to a mix-up in payments being made by the Trustee's office.

MOVANT: US BANK NATIONAL ASSOCIATION

EH__

Docket 17

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling:

4/10/2018

Service is Proper
Opposition: None

The Court is inclined to GRANT relief from the automatic stay pursuant to § 362(d) (1) and (4) based on authorized transfers of a fractionalized interest in the property and multiple recent bankruptcy cases affecting the property. DENY request for relief from § 1301(a) stay as moot because there appears to be no co-debtor as that term is used in the statute. GRANT waiver of Rule 4001(a)(3) stay. GRANT requests under ¶¶ 2 and 10. DENY requests under ¶¶ 8 and 11 for lack of cause shown.

After considering the Fjeldsted factors, the Court is inclined to ANNUL the automatic stay retroactive to the petition date. The Court notes that the subject property was transferred to Debtor on the petition date and there were multiple previous bankruptcy filings affecting the property. Furthermore, the property and the debt were not scheduled by Debtor and it does not appear that Movant was notified of the bankruptcy filing. Finally, the Court notes there is no opposition from Debtor, which the Court deems to be consent to the relief requested pursuant to Local Rule 9013-(1) (h).

Docket 32

Tentative Ruling:

04/11/2018

BACKGROUND

On January 24, 2010, Scott and Karen Bosco (collectively, the "Debtors") filed their petition for chapter 7 relief. Robert Whitmore is the duly appointed chapter 7 trustee ("Trustee"). Among the assets of the Debtors' estate is an interest in a product liability claim (the "Claim") for alleged economic damages and physical injuries allegedly suffered by the Debtors as a result of a medical device implanted in Debtor, Karen Bosco.

The Trustee seeks to resolve the estate's dispute with the defendant on the Claim by way of settlement. On March 1, 2018, the Trustee filed his Motion to Approve Compromise under Rule 9019 (the "Motion"). Service was proper and no opposition has been filed.

The Claim is part of complex litigation pending in multiple courts, and part of a confidential, aggregate settlement reached in connection with the litigation. Pursuant to the settlement, the Debtors' estate would receive a gross settlement amount of $185,000. However, under the terms of the settlement agreement various payments must be deducted from the settlement prior to disbursement to the Trustee. Exhibit 1 details fees and expenses being deducted from the gross settlement amount. The net amount to the estate is $97,897.75. However this amount may be further reduced by the Debtors should they claim an exemption in the Claim proceeds.

DISCUSSION

APPROVAL OF COMPROMISE PURSUANT TO RULE 9019

Rule 9019(a) authorizes the bankruptcy court to approve a compromise or settlement on the trustee's motion and after notice and a hearing. The bankruptcy court must consider all "factors relevant to a full and fair assessment of the wisdom of the proposed compromise." Protective Comm. for Indep. Stockholders of TMT Trailer Ferry, Inc. v. Anderson, 390 U.S. 414, 424, 88 S. Ct. 1157, 20 L. Ed. 2d 1 (1968). In other words, the bankruptcy court must find that the settlement is "fair and equitable" in order to approve it. Martin v. Kane (In re A & C Props.), 784 F.2d 1377, 1381 (9th Cir. 1986).

In conducting this inquiry, the bankruptcy court must consider the following factors:

(a) the probability of success in the litigation; (b) the difficulties, if any, to be encountered in the matter of collection; (c) the complexity of the litigation involved, and the expense, inconvenience and delay necessarily attending it; and (d) the paramount interest of the creditors and a proper deference to their reasonable views in the premises.

Id.

The bankruptcy court enjoys broad discretion in approving a compromise because it "is uniquely situated to consider the equities and reasonableness [of it]" United States v. Alaska Nat'l Bank (In re Walsh Construction, Inc.), 669 F.2d 1325, 1328 (9th Cir. 1982). As stated in A & C Props.:

The purpose of a compromise agreement is to allow the trustee and the creditors to avoid the expenses and burdens associated with litigating sharply contested and dubious claims. The law favors compromise and not litigation for its own sake, and as long as the bankruptcy court amply considered the various factors that determined the reasonableness of the compromise, the court's decision must be affirmed.

Chapter 7

Id. (citations omitted).

On the other hand, even though the bankruptcy court has wide latitude in approving compromises, its discretion is not completely unfettered. See Woodson v. Fireman's Fund Ins. Co. (In re Woodson), 839 F.2d 610, 620 (9th Cir. 1988). The trustee bears the burden of proving to the bankruptcy court that the settlement is fair and equitable and should be approved. In re A&C Props., 784 F.2d at 1382.

Sufficiency of Evidence

In the instant case, the Trustee has not provided a copy of the settlement agreement. Moreover, in October 2017, this Court approved the employment of special counsel Alystock Witkin Kreis & Overholtz, PLLC; The Pulaski Law Firm, PLLC; Osborne & Associates; and Anapol Weiss as special counsel. Notwithstanding, the employment of special counsel to evaluate the merits of the case on behalf of the estate, the Motion fails to include a declaration of special counsel indicating to this Court why it should find that a confidential settlement agreement provides a greater benefit to the estate than litigation of the claims on behalf of the estate.

TENTATIVE RULING

Based on the foregoing, the Court is inclined to CONTINUE the hearing on the Motion to provide the Trustee with an opportunity to supplement the Motion with additional evidence to support the Court's ability to make a "full and fair assessment" that the proposed compromise is fair and reasonable.

Docket 142

Tentative Ruling:

04/11/2018

BACKGROUND:

On October 20, 2015 ("Petition Date"), Ann Lee Eid-Brooks and Darrell Edward Brooks, Jr. (collectively, "Debtors") filed for chapter 7 relief. Robert Whitmore is the duly appointed chapter 7 trustee ("Trustee"). On March 6, 2018, Trustee filed Objection to Claim # 22 (the "Objection") of Generator Services., Co. ("GSC"). The Objection calls into question the liability of the Debtors for Claim #22.

OBJECTION

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 502(a), a proof of claim is deemed allowed unless a party in interest objects. Absent an objection, a proof of claim constitutes prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claim under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure ("FRBP") 3001(f). Lundell v. Anchor Constr. Specialists, Inc., 223 F.3d 1035, 1039 (9th Cir. 2000). When a party files an objection to a proof of claim, that filing "creates a dispute which is a contested matter" within the meaning of FRBP 9014 and the Court must resolve the matter after notice and opportunity for hearing upon a motion for relief. Id.

When a creditor has filed a proof of claim that complies with the rules (thereby giving rise to the presumption of validity), the burden shifts to the objecting party who must "present evidence to overcome the prima facie case." United States v. Offord

Fin., Inc., (In re Medina), 205 B.R. 216,222 (9th Cir. BAP 1996). To defeat the claim, the objecting party must provide sufficient evidence and "show facts tending to defeat the claim by probative force equal to that of the allegations of the proofs of claim themselves." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039 (quoting In re Holm, 931 F.2d 620, 623 (9th Cir. 1991)). "The objector must produce evidence, which, if believed, would refute at least one of the allegations that is essential to the claim's legal sufficiency." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1040 (quoting In re Allegheny Int'l, Inc., 954 F.2d 167, 173-74 (3d Cir. 1992)). If the objecting party produces sufficient evidence to negate one or more of the sworn facts in the proof of claim, the burden reverts back to the claimant to prove the validity of the claim by a preponderance of the evidence. Ashford v. Consol. Pioneer Mort. (In re Consol. Pioneer Mort.), 178 B.R. 222, 226 (9th Cir. BAP 1995), aff'd, 91 F.3d 151 (9th Cir. 1996) (quoting Allegheny Int'l, 954 F.2d at 173-74). The ultimate burden of persuasion remains at all times on the claimant. Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039; Holm, 931 F.2d at 623.

The Trustee reviewed Claim #22 and has indicated that the supporting documentation names Stringer Industries, Inc., the Debtors' corporation as the party owing the debt. GSC has not responded to the Objection. Here, the Trustee's Objection sufficiently calls into question whether the Debtors are personally liable for the debt of GSC and GSC for its part has failed to meet its burden to demonstrate that the Debtors are liable.

TENTATIVE RULING

Based on the foregoing, including the lack of opposition or response from GSC, the Objection is SUSTAINED and Claim #22 is disallowed in its entirety.

The Trustee reviewed Claim #21 and believing that Powertrip's claim was for a debt owed by the Debtors' corporation, contacted Powertrip to seek documentation to support personal liability for the Debtors. Powertrip has not responded to the Trustee or otherwise filed formal response to the Objection. Here, the Trustee's Objection sufficiently calls into question whether the Debtors are personally liable for the debt of Powertrip and Powertrip for its part has failed to meet its burden to demonstrate that the Debtors are liable.

TENTATIVE RULING

Based on the foregoing, including the lack of opposition or response from Powertrip, the Objection is SUSTAINED and Claim #21 is disallowed in its entirety.

#10.00 Motion to Disallow Claims #7 by WAM Software Inc

Docket 140

Tentative Ruling:

04/11/2018

BACKGROUND:

On October 20, 2015 ("Petition Date"), Ann Lee Eid-Brooks and Darrell Edward Brooks, Jr. (collectively, "Debtors") filed for chapter 7 relief. Robert Whitmore is the duly appointed chapter 7 trustee ("Trustee"). On March 6, 2018, Trustee filed Objection to Claim # 7 (the "Objection") of WAM Software, Inc. ("WAM").

OBJECTION

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 502(a), a proof of claim is deemed allowed unless a party in interest objects. Absent an objection, a proof of claim constitutes prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claim under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure ("FRBP") 3001(f). Lundell v. Anchor Constr. Specialists, Inc., 223 F.3d 1035, 1039 (9th Cir. 2000). When a party files an objection to a proof of claim, that filing "creates a dispute which is a contested matter" within the meaning of FRBP 9014 and the Court must resolve the matter after notice and opportunity for hearing upon a motion for relief. Id.

When a creditor has filed a proof of claim that complies with the rules (thereby giving rise to the presumption of validity), the burden shifts to the objecting party who must "present evidence to overcome the prima facie case." United States v. Offord

The Trustee reviewed Claim #7 and believing that WAM's claim was for a debt owed by the Debtors' corporation, contacted WAM to seek documentation to support personal liability for the Debtors. WAM provided a response that included invoices made to the Debtors' corporation. Based on the documentation provided by WAM, WAM has failed to prove that validity of its claim in that it has not established personal liability of the Debtors.

Based on the foregoing, including the lack of opposition or response from WAM, the Objection is SUSTAINED and Claim #7 is disallowed in its entirety.

Section 522(f) provides, in pertinent part, that the debtor may avoid the fixing of a lien on an interest of the debtor in property to the extent that such lien impairs an exemption to which the debtor would have been entitled under subsection (b). Similarly, § 697.340 of the California Code of Civil Procedure provides that an abstract of judgment recorded against real property attaches only to the extent of the judgment debtor's interest in the property. In re Cady, 9th Cir.BAP (Cal.) 2001, 266 B.R. 172, affirmed 315 F.3d 1121. (emphasis added).

The Debtor seeks to avoid four judgment liens on his Property. All but one of the judgments which Debtor seeks to avoid names only "Richard Knowles" as the Defendant. One of the judgments (obtained by Discover Bank) indicates that judgment was entered against "Richard Knowles, et. al." Here, it is not clear from the documentation supporting the Motions, the extent of the Debtor's interest or whether and to what extent Richard Knowles has an interest in the Property. Assuming that the Property is owned, in part, by Richard Knowles, the Debtor cannot avoid the liens to the extent they have attached to the interest of his co-owner. Further, it appears that the only lien that may have attached to the Debtor's interest in the Property is the lien of Discover Bank.

Finally, the Court notes that the motions filed against Dodeka LLC and Arrow Fin Svcs LLC were not served in compliance with FRBP 7004 in that they were not addressed to an officer, and the motion filed against Discover Bank was not served in compliance with FRBP 7004 because the Debtor failed to serve the Discover Bank to the attention of an officer and also failed to serve Discover Bank via certified mail as required under 7004(h).

Docket 84

Tentative Ruling:

04/11/2018

BACKGROUND:

On March 6, 2017 ("Petition Date"), Armando Morales and Alicia Jimenez (collectively, "Debtors") filed for chapter 7 relief. Charles Daff is the duly appointed chapter 7 trustee ("Trustee"). On March 4, 2018, Trustee filed Objection to Claim # 11 (the "Objection") of LVNV Funding, LLC ("LVNV").

APPLICABLE LAW:

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 502(a), a proof of claim is deemed allowed unless a party in interest objects. Absent an objection, a proof of claim constitutes prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claim under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure ("FRBP") 3001(f). *Lundell v. claim, the objecting party must provide sufficient evidence and "show facts tending to defeat the claim by probative force equal to that of the allegations of the proofs of claim themselves." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039 (quoting In re Holm, 931 F.2d 620, 623 (9th Cir. 1991)). "The objector must produce evidence, which, if believed, would refute at least one of the allegations that is essential to the claim's legal sufficiency." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1040 (quoting In re Allegheny Int'l, Inc., 954 F.2d 167, 173-74 (3d Cir. 1992)). If the objecting party produces sufficient evidence to negate one or more of the sworn facts in the proof of claim, the burden reverts back to the claimant to prove the validity of the claim by a preponderance of the evidence. *Ashford v. The ultimate burden of persuasion remains at all times on the claimant. Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039; Holm, 931 F.2d at 623.

ANALYSIS:

Rebuttal of the Prima Facie Proof of Claim

In this case, the Trustee asserts that Claim #11 should be disallowed as time barred. Section 502(b)(1) provides that a claim is deemed allowed, unless such claim is unenforceable against the debtor and property of the debtor under applicable law. The statute of limitations applicable to common counts is four years if the action is founded upon a contract or other writing (e.g., "book account" (§ 3:398), "account stated" (§ 3:400), or money lent on a note), and the statute of limitations is generally four years from the date of the last item in the account. CCP § 337(1),(2); Armstrong Petroleum Corp. v. Tri-Valley Oil & Gas Co., 116 CA 4th 1375, 1396, FN. 9 (Cal. App. 2004).

Here, LVNV's documentation indicates that the last transaction between the Debtors and original creditor took place on October 22, 2008, and that the Claimant charged off the account on May 25, 2009. The Trustee has established that over four years have already lapsed since the last item in the account. Thus, the burden to show the validity of Claim # 11 must shift to LVNV. LVNV, however, though properly served, has failed to respond, which may be deemed as consent to the relief requested under LBR 9013-1(h). Thus, as the ultimate burden of persuasion remains on the

ANALYSIS:

Rebuttal of the Prima Facie Proof of Claim

In this case, the Trustee asserts that Claim #12 should be disallowed as time barred. Section 502(b)(1) provides that a claim is deemed allowed, unless such claim is unenforceable against the debtor and property of the debtor under applicable law. The statute of limitations applicable to common counts is four years if the action is founded upon a contract or other writing (e.g., "book account" (§ 3:398), "account stated" (§ 3:400), or money lent on a note), and the statute of limitations is generally four years from the date of the last item in the account. CCP § 337(1),(2); Armstrong Petroleum Corp. v. Tri-Valley Oil & Gas Co., 116 CA 4th 1375, 1396, FN. 9 (Cal. App. 2004).

Here, Cavalry's documentation indicates that the last transaction between the Debtors and original creditor took place on September 11, 2008, and that the debt was charged off on April 30, 2009. The Trustee has established that over four years have already lapsed since the last item in the account. Thus, the burden to show the validity of Claim # 12 must shift to Cavalry. Cavalry, however, though properly served, has failed to respond, which may be deemed as consent to the relief requested under LBR 9013-1(h). Thus, as the ultimate burden of persuasion remains on the claimant, the

Tentative Ruling:

04/11/2018

BACKGROUND

On November 2, 2016, Jaison Vally Surace ("Debtor") filed a petition for chapter 7 relief. John Pringle is the duly appointed chapter 7 trustee ("Trustee"). Among the assets of the estate is certain real property located at 2550 San Gabriel Way #308 in Corona, CA (the "Property").

On March 20, 2018, the Trustee filed his Motion for Order: (1) Authorizing Sale of Real Property; (2) Approving Overbid Procedure; (3) Approving Payment of Real Estate Brokers Commissions; and (4) Finding Purchaser is a Good Faith Purchaser (the "Motion").

Service of the Motion was proper and no opposition has been filed.

DISCUSSION

Sale of Estate Property Pursuant to Section 363(b)

The trustee, after notice and a hearing, may sell property of the estate. 11 U.S.C. § 363(b)(1); see also Commodity Futures Trading Comm'n v. Weintraub, 471 U.S. 343, 352 (1985). The sale must be in the best interests of the estate and the price must be

Cal. 1991)(sale must have fair/reasonable price, accurate/reasonable notice to creditors and sale made in good faith). The trustee must articulate some "business justification" for selling estate property out of the "ordinary course of business" before the court may approve the transaction. In re Lionel Corp., 722 F.2d 1063, 1071 (2d Cir. 1983); In re Ernst Home Ctr., Inc., 209 B.R. 974, 979 (Bankr. W.D. Wash. 1997). Objections to sale that are based on inadequacy of price are often resolved the court ordering an auction, which may occur in open court. Simantrob v. Claims Prosecutor, LLC (In re Lahijani), 325 B.R. 282, 287 (9th Cir. BAP 2005) citing Fed. R. Bankr. P. 6004(f).¹

In support of the proposed sale to Billy Mann ("Purchaser"), the Trustee sets forth the following figures and analysis:

Sale Price	$289,500
Closing Costs (8%, including 6% broker commission)	$23,160
Claim of Setareh Abbasi (settled by 9019 Order) ...	$155,000
Net Equity for the Estate:	$111,340

Based on these figures, the proposed sale to Purchaser appears reasonable and the Trustee's business justification for the sale warrants granting of the Motion.

bidding and be fair/reasonable/serve the best interests of the estate. See In re Crown Corp., 679 F.2d 774 (9th Cir. 1982). Here, the Trustee has proposed bidding procedures which require an initial overbid of $5,000 above the proposed purchase price of $289,500, with each additional bid in increments of $1,000, and a deposit as set forth in the Motion. The remaining overbidding procedures are outlined in the Motion. The Trustee's proposed bidding procedures are reasonable and encourage bidding and are therefore approved.

b) Sale Made in Good Faith

The proposed sale has been brought in good faith and has been negotiated on an "arms- length" basis. The court, in Wilde Horse Enterprises, set forth the factors in considering whether a transaction is in good faith. The court stated:

‘Good faith’ encompasses fair value, and further speaks to the integrity of the transaction. Typical ‘bad faith’ or misconduct, would include collusion between the seller and buyer, or any attempt to take unfair advantage of other potential purchasers. . . . And, with respect to making such determinations, the court and creditors must be provided with sufficient information to allow them to take a position on the proposed sale.

Id. at 842 (citations omitted).

Here, the Trustee marketed the Property via his Broker, Neiman Realty, which marketed on the MLS and conducted showings of the Property. The sale appears to be made in good faith.

c) Purchaser in "Good Faith" Pursuant to Section 363(m)

Section 363(m) provides that "[t]he reversal or modification on appeal of an authorization under subsection (b) or (c) of this section of a sale or lease of property does not affect the validity of a sale or lease under such authorization to an entity that purchased or leased such property in good faith...." 11 U.S.C. § 363(m).

The Trustee has provided declarations of himself, the Broker, and the Purchaser which all support the conclusion that the Purchaser has no relationship to the Debtor or to the professionals associated with the case. The evidence warrants a finding that the Purchaser has purchased in "good faith" under § 363(m) should he prevail in his bid for the Property at the hearing.

TENTATIVE RULING

For the foregoing reasons, the Court is inclined to GRANT the Motion as follows:

1. Granting the Motion;
2. Approving the sale of the Property to the Purchaser or successful overbidder;
3. Finding that the Purchaser, if successful, has purchased in "good faith" (however, should another party be successful in overbidding, the Court shall require a declaration or may be sworn-in to provide evidence of "good faith" at the hearing);
4. Providing that the Trustee is authorized and empowered to execute and deliver on behalf of the estate any and all documents as reasonably may be necessary to implement the terms of the proposed sale;
5. Providing that the notice given by the Trustee in connection with the sale and hearing thereon is adequate, sufficient, proper and complies with all applicable provisions of the Bankruptcy Code and Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure;
6. Approving the overbid procedures;
7. Authorizing the payment of any unpaid property taxes, the real estate broker's commissions, and related sale costs directly from escrow; and procedures which require an initial overbid of $5,000 above the proposed purchase price of $370,000, with each additional bid in increments of $1,000, and a deposit as set forth in the Motion. The remaining overbidding procedures are outlined in the Motion. The Trustee's proposed bidding procedures are reasonable and encourage bidding and are therefore approved.

b) Sale Made in Good Faith

The proposed sale has been brought in good faith and has been negotiated on an "arms- length" basis. The court, in Wilde Horse Enterprises, set forth the factors in considering whether a transaction is in good faith. The court stated:

‘Good faith’ encompasses fair value, and further speaks to the integrity of the transaction. Typical ‘bad faith’ or misconduct, would include collusion between the seller and buyer, or any attempt to take unfair advantage of other potential purchasers. . . . And, with respect to making such determinations, the court and creditors must be provided with sufficient information to allow them to take a position on the proposed sale.

Id. at 842 (citations omitted).

Here, the Trustee marketed the Property via his Broker, Neiman Realty, which marketed on the MLS and conducted showings of the Property. The sale appears to be made in good faith.

c) Purchaser in "Good Faith" Pursuant to Section 363(m)

Section 363(m) provides that "[t]he reversal or modification on appeal of an authorization under subsection (b) or (c) of this section of a sale or lease of property does not affect the validity of a sale or lease under such authorization to an entity that purchased or leased such property in good faith...." 11 U.S.C. § 363(m).

The Trustee has provided declarations of himself, the Broker, and the Purchasers which all support the conclusion that the Purchasers have no relationship to the Debtor or to the professionals associated with the case. The evidence warrants a finding that the Purchasers have purchased in "good faith" under § 363(m) should they prevail in their bid for the Property at the hearing.

TENTATIVE RULING

For the foregoing reasons, the Court is inclined to GRANT the Motion as follows:

1. Granting the Motion;
2. Approving the sale of the Property to the Purchasers or successful overbidder;
3. Finding that the Purchasers, if successful, have purchased in "good faith" (however, should another party be successful in overbidding, the Court shall require a declaration or may be sworn-in to provide evidence of "good faith" at the hearing);
4. Providing that the Trustee is authorized and empowered to execute and deliver on behalf of the estate any and all documents as reasonably may be necessary to implement the terms of the proposed sale;
5. Providing that the notice given by the Trustee in connection with the sale and hearing thereon is adequate, sufficient, proper and complies with all applicable provisions of the Bankruptcy Code and Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure;
6. Approving the overbid procedures;
7. Authorizing the payment of any unpaid property taxes, the real estate broker's commissions, and related sale costs directly from escrow; and
8. Waiving the 14-day stay prescribed by rule 6004(h) of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure.

#1.00 Motion to Disallow Claims re claim no. 12-1 by Quantum3 Group LLC as agent for Comenity Capital Bank

EH__

Docket 166

Tentative Ruling:

4/12/18

BACKGROUND:

On July 27, 2015, Michael Goodrich & Kimberly Carter ("Debtors") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. On September 23, 2015, Quantum3 Group LLC ("Creditor") filed a proof of claim for an unsecured claim in the amount of $7,569 ("Claim 12"). Claim 12 states that Creditor is acting as the agent of Comenity Capital Bank. On February 2, 2016, Debtors' Chapter 13 plan was confirmed.

On March 12, 2018, Debtors filed an objection to Claim 12. Debtors argue that Claim 12 does not contain evidence establishing that Creditor can enforce collection of the claim.

APPLICABLE LAW:

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 502(a), a proof of claim is deemed allowed unless a party in interest objects. Absent an objection, a proof of claim constitutes prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claim under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy

Procedure ("FRBP") 3001(f). See Lundell v. Anchor Constr. Specialists, Inc., 223 F.3d 1035, 1039 (9th Cir. 2000). When a party files an objection to a proof of claim, that filing "creates a dispute which is a contested matter" within the meaning of FRBP 9014 and the Court must resolve the matter after notice and opportunity for hearing upon a motion for relief. Id.

When a creditor has filed a proof of claim that complies with the rules (thereby giving rise to the presumption of validity), the burden shifts to the objecting party who must "present evidence to overcome the prima facie case." In re Medina, 205 B.R. 216, 222 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1996). To defeat the claim, the objecting party must provide sufficient evidence and "show facts tending to defeat the claim by probative force equal to that of the allegations of the proofs of claim themselves." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039 (quoting In re Holm, 931 F.2d 620, 623 (9th Cir. 1991)). "The objector must produce evidence, which, if believed, would refute at least one of the allegations that is essential to the claim's legal sufficiency." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1040 (quoting In re Allegheny Int'l, Inc., 954 F.2d 167, 173-74 (3d Cir. 1992)). If the objecting party produces sufficient evidence to negate one or more of the sworn facts in the proof of claim, the burden reverts back to the claimant to prove the validity of the claim by a preponderance of the evidence. See In re Consol. Pioneer Mort, 178 B.R. 222, 226 (9th Cir. BAP 1995), aff'd, 91 F.3d 151 (9th Cir. 1996) (quoting Allegheny Int'l, 954 F.2d at 173-74). The ultimate burden of persuasion remains at all times on the claimant. See Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039; see also Holm, 931 F.2d at 623.

ANALYSIS:

FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 3001(b) states: "A proof of claim shall be executed by the creditor or the creditor's authorized agent except as provided in Rules 3004 and 3005." Debtors' objection raises the issue of what an authorized agent is required to provide to establish that they meet the definition of an authorized agent.

The Court notes that in section 8 of the official proof of claim box, the filer has the option of checking a box identifying the filer as an authorized agent under penalty of perjury. Here, Creditor did check the appropriate box. Such an assertion, made under penalty of perjury, constitutes evidence that Creditor is, in fact, the authorized agent of the entity upon whose behalf the claim was filed, and is sufficient to satisfy FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 3001(b). See, e.g., In re Healey, 2017 WL 4863014 at *3 (Bankr. E.D. Tex. 2017) ("an authorized agent need not demonstrate the existence of a power of attorney in order to file a proof of claim"); see also 9 COLLIER'S ON BANKRUPTCY ¶ 3001.06 (16th ed. 2015) ("The form [Official Form 410, Item 8] previously required an authorized agent to attach documentation demonstrating a power of attorney, but the 2012 amendments deleted that requirement.."); FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 9010(c) ("The authority of any agent, attorney in fact, or proxy to represent a creditor for any purpose other than the execution and filing of a proof or claim or the acceptance or rejection of a plan shall be evidenced by a power of attorney conforming substantially to the appropriate Official Form.").

BACKGROUND:

On July 29, 2015, Cresencio & Maria Ramirez ("Debtors") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. On August 19, 2015, Greater California Financial Services ("Creditor") filed a proof of claim for a claim in the amount of $11,247.45 secured by certain real property in San Bernardino County ("Claim 2"). Claim 2 is supported by a recorded abstract of judgment with recorder's number 2011-0457234.

On April 14, 2016, Debtors filed a motion to avoid Creditor's lien. On May 25, 2016, the Court denied the motion without prejudice for inadequate service and supporting evidence. On June 29, 2016, Debtors filed a second motion to avoid Creditor's lien. The next day, the case was dismissed. On August 5, 2016, the dismissal order was vacated. On August 12, 2016, Debtors filed a third motion to avoid Creditor's lien, which was granted on September 9, 2016, avoiding the lien with recorder's number 2011-0457234.

BACKGROUND:

On February 9, 2017, Gary & Mercedes Pico ("Debtors") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. On March 1, 2017, Quantum3 Group LLC ("Creditor"), as agent for Credit Corp Solutions Inc., filed a proof of claim for an unsecured claim in the amount of $3,562.69 ("Claim 3"). On April 10, 2017, Debtors' Chapter 13 plan was confirmed.

On March 14, 2018, Debtors filed an objection to Claim 3. Due to a filing error, Debtors re-filed the objection five days later. Debtors argue that Claim 3 is insufficiently documented and that they are not liable for the debt underlying Claim 3.

APPLICABLE LAW:

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 502(a), a proof of claim is deemed allowed unless a party in interest objects. Absent an objection, a proof of claim constitutes prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claim under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy

When a party files an objection to a proof of claim, that filing "creates a dispute which is a contested matter" within the meaning of FRBP 9014 and the Court must resolve the matter after notice and opportunity for hearing upon a motion for relief. Id.

When a creditor has filed a proof of claim that complies with the rules (thereby giving rise to the presumption of validity), the burden shifts to the objecting party who must "present evidence to overcome the prima facie case." In re Medina, 205 B.R. 216, 222 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1996). To defeat the claim, the objecting party must provide sufficient evidence and "show facts tending to defeat the claim by probative force equal to that of the allegations of the proofs of claim themselves." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039 (quoting In re Holm, 931 F.2d 620, 623 (9th Cir. 1991)). If the objecting party produces sufficient evidence to negate one or more of the sworn facts in the proof of claim, the burden reverts back to the claimant to prove the validity of the claim by a preponderance of the evidence. *See In re Consol. FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 3001(c) outlines the supporting information required to be included with a proof of claim. FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 3001(c)(1) states:

claim, or an interest in property of the debtor securing the claim, is based on a writing, a copy of the writing shall be filed with the proof of claim. If the writing has been lost or destroyed, a statement of the circumstances of the loss or destruction shall be filed with the claim.

FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 3001(c)(3) provides that a copy of the writing need not be provided when the claim is based on an "open-end or revolving consumer credit agreement," so long as certain basic information is provided with the proof of claim. Here, Creditor has attached a statement of account information that appears to satisfy FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 3001(c)(3). Nevertheless, it does not appear that Claim 3 is of the type to which that subsection applies. Specifically, the Court notes that Claim 3 identifies the basis of the claim as "money loaned" rather than a credit card or some sort of credit agreement. Therefore, it appears that Claim 3 is subject to FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 3001(c)(1). Because Claim 3 does not contain a copy of the writing upon which the claim is based, the Court is inclined to disallow the claim.

Furthermore, the Court notes that Creditor has not opposed the claim objection, which the Court deems consent to the relief requested pursuant to Local Rule 9013-(1)(h).

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to SUSTAIN the objection and DISALLOW Claim 3.

11/30/17

BACKGROUND

On February 21, 2017, Ernie Macias ("Debtor") filed his petition for chapter 13 relief. The Debtor's case was filed by Alon Darvish ("Darvish"). On March 13, 2017, the Debtor's case was dismissed for failure to file information.

On March 24, 2017, the Office of the United States Trustee ("UST") filed a Motion to Disgorge Attorney's Fees ("Disgorgement Motion"). On June 13, 2017, the Court granted in part and denied in part the UST's Disgorgement Motion (the "Disgorgement Order"). The Disgorgement Order required Darvish to file his disclosure of compensation, and to disgorge fees received from the Debtor back to him.

On September 20, 2017, the UST filed its Motion For An Order To Show Cause Why Alon Darvish Should Not Be Held In Contempt Of Court Pursuant To 11 U.S.C. § 105 And Federal Rule Of Bankruptcy Procedure 9020 (the "Motion for OSC"). The Motion for OSC specifically asserted that Darvish had failed to comply with any part of the Disgorgement Order. The UST's Motion for OSC further asserted that Darvish had repeatedly failed to disclose compensation and had been sanctioned for such conduct under similar circumstances in at least 6 other cases. (Motion for OSC at 9).

Chapter 13

On October 20, 2017, the Court granted the Motion for OSC and ordered Darvish to show cause why he should not be held in contempt (the "OSC"). Darvish filed his response to the OSC on November 16, 2017 ("Response"). On November 21, 2017, the UST replied to the Response.

DISCUSSION

In his Response, Darvish indicated that his practice includes the filing of skeletal petitions for chapter 13 debtors for the purpose of stopping foreclosures. He indicated that when such skeletal petitions are filed, his software does not file the Disclosure of Compensation. Darvish asserts that he is a solo practitioner who is overwhelmed and understaffed and who is trying to rectify the issues in his practice. In Reply, the UST objects particularly to Darvish's failure to outline specific steps he intends to take to remedy the issues at his firm. The UST is also concerned that Darvish has essentially admitted that his practice includes the filing of abusive petitions intended solely to avoid foreclosures. The UST requests that the Court continue the matter for Darvish to set forth specific remedial actions as ordered. The UST also requests that the Court separately consider whether a separate order to show cause is justified based on Darvish's inherently abusive prevention practice.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court agrees with the UST that Darvish's explanation is insufficient. Darvish's Response indicates clearly the reason for the failure to file disclosure of compensation forms. Despite this fact, he does not explain the ongoing failure to file these forms, particularly where he has previously been sanctioned for failing to disclose his compensation. The ongoing failure to file required documents, despite having already been sanctioned, supports the UST's request for a specific plan of remediation. Absent such plan, Darvish may simply continue to rely on his thus far unreliable bankruptcy filing software.

Separately, the UST's concern regarding Darvish's practice of filing skeletal petitions is well-taken. In particular, if Darvish is advising his clients to file abusive petitions to

Standing

A party seeking relief from the stay "need only establish that it has a colorable claim to enforce a right against property of the estate." In re Pak, 2011 WL 7145763 (9th Cir.BAP (Cal.) 2011). A showing by a party that it is a person entitled to enforce the note at issue or that it holds some ownership or other interest in the note translates to a colorable claim. Id.

Here, Movant has provided a copy of the Note (Ex. 1), the original Deed of Trust (Ex. 2), and a series of recorded assignment deeds which sufficiently establish chain of title in the Movant (Ex. 3). Based on this evidence, the Court finds that Movant has made a colorable claim that it has the right to enforce its property rights against the subject Property. The Debtor's standing arguments are overruled.

Scope of proceedings

A motion for stay relief is a summary proceeding. In re Santa Clara County Fair Ass'n, Inc., 180 B.R. 564 (9th Cir.BAP (Cal.) 1995) (citing In re Computer Communications, Inc., 824 F.2d 725, 729 (9th Cir.1987)). In a summary proceeding, the court's discretion is broad. Courts may consider the factor of judicial economy when deciding lift stay issues. Id.

Chapter 13

The only triable issues in a Motion for Relief from Stay are (1) lack of adequate protection; (2) the debtor's equity in the property; and (3) the necessity of the property to an effective reorganization of the debtor, or (4) the existence of other cause for relief from the stay. In re Computer Communications, Inc., 824 F.2d 725, 729.

Here, the issues and defenses surrounding the validity of the underlying security and whether the Movant is empowered to pursue foreclosure actions under state law do not directly relate to the lifting of the stay, and accordingly they are not issues that are before the bankruptcy court. The irregularities raised by the Debtor are more properly considered by a state court in the determination of an unlawful detainer action.

Relief from Stay

The Movant has provided evidence that the Debtor's instant bankruptcy filing is part of a scheme to hinder/delay enforcement of its rights. Specifically, Exhibit 7 to the Motion is a Grant Deed which indicates that the Debtor attempted, without authorization of her lender, to grant a partial interest in the Property to Willie Anderson on or about December 18, 2017. Movant has further provided evidence that Willie Anderson filed bankruptcy in January 2018 and had his case dismissed on February 20, 2018. Finally, the Court's docket reflects that the Debtor's own case has been dismissed as of April 18, 2018, for failure to file information. In her opposition the Debtor fails to address, controvert or provide any meritorious objection to the evidence filed by Movant.

Based on the foregoing, the Court is inclined to GRANT the Motion pursuant to §§ 362(d)(1) and (d)(4). GRANT as to ¶¶ 2, 3, and 6. Additionally, the Court waives the 14-day stay. The request as to ¶10 is GRANTED with the modification that the order must be recorded in compliance with applicable nonbankruptcy law.

BACKGROUND

On December 1, 2017, Auto Strap Transport, LLC ("Debtor") filed its petition for chapter 11 relief. Among the assets of the Debtor's estate is certain leased equipment described as a 2016 Peterbilt 389 Tractor, Vin Number 1NPXL49X7GD301762 and the 2016 CX-11 Cottrell Trailer, Vin Number VIN5E0AJ144XGG737101 (the "Equipment"). The Equipment is was leased to the Debtor by CIT Finance LLC ("CIT") pursuant to an Equipment Finance Agreement (the "Agreement").

On March 8, 2018, CIT filed its Motion To Compel Assumption Or Rejection Of Defaulted Contract Regarding Personal Property ("Motion"). The Motion seeks (1) an Order requiring the Debtor to assume or reject the Agreement by April 10, 2018; (2) an Order requiring that Debtor provide adequate protection of Movant's interest in the Equipment, including, but not limited to maintenance of appropriate insurance coverage on the Equipment as required by the Agreement, (3) an order requiring that Debtor maintain payments to Movant under 11 U.S.C § 365(d)(5) until said Agreement is assumed or rejected; and (4) an Order terminating the automatic stay in the event the Agreement is rejected. If no responsive pleading is filed, the Movant requests that the Agreement be deemed rejected and that the automatic stay be vacated as to the Equipment.

Service was proper and no opposition has been filed.

DISCUSSION

Assumption or Rejection of Lease

In a case under chapter 11, a debtor in possession may assume an unexpired lease of personal property at any time prior to confirmation of a plan. Zions Credit Corp. v. Rebel Rents, Inc., Perris Valley Rentals, Inc. (In re Rebel Rents, Inc., Perris Valley Rentals, Inc.), 291 B.R. 520, 529 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2003) (citing 11 U.S.C. § 365(a) & (d)(2)). It is the policy of the Bankruptcy Code to provide the debtor with breathing space following the filing of the petition, continuing until the confirmation of a plan, in which to assume or reject an unexpired lease. See In re Enron Corp., 279 B.R. 695, 702 (Bankr.S.D.N.Y.2002). However, the court, on request of a party to a lease, may order the debtor in possession to determine within a specified period of time whether to assume or reject. 11 U.S.C. § 365(d)(2).

Here, the Debtor, though properly served with the Motion, has failed to file opposition or response. Additionally, CIT has provided evidence that Debtor is in default on payments due and owing to CIT under the terms of the Agreement (specifically "for the monthly rental payments coming due on December 1, 2017, respectively ... The aggregate monthly Lease payment, inclusive of taxes is $5,868.16."). (Lleras Decl. ¶4). Based on the evidence that the Debtor is not abiding by the terms of the Agreement and based also on the Debtor's failure to file any response to the Motion, the Court finds that an order compelling immediate rejection of the Agreement is warranted.

TENTATIVE RULING

Based on the foregoing, the Court is inclined to GRANT the Motion deeming the Agreement rejected as of the hearing date of April 24, 2018, based on the Debtor's failure to file opposition or response. Additionally, CIT's Motion sets forth sufficient cause for lifting of the automatic stay. The remaining requests for relief are DENIED

EH__

Docket 49

Tentative Ruling:

04/24/2018

BACKGROUND:

On January 26, 2018 ("Petition Date"), Markus Anthony Boyd ("Debtor") filed for chapter 11 relief. On March 19, 2018, Debtor filed Objection to Claims # 2 and 5 (the "Objection") of American Express FSB. Service was proper and no opposition has been filed.

APPLICABLE LAW:

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 502(a), a proof of claim is deemed allowed unless a party in interest objects. Absent an objection, a proof of claim constitutes prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claim under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure ("FRBP") 3001(f). Lundell v. Anchor Constr. Specialists, Inc., 223 F.3d 1035, 1039 (9th Cir. 2000). When a party files an objection to a proof of claim, that filing "creates a dispute which is a contested matter" within the meaning of FRBP 9014 and the Court must resolve the matter after notice and opportunity for hearing upon a motion for relief. Id.

When a creditor has filed a proof of claim that complies with the rules (thereby giving rise to the presumption of validity), the burden shifts to the objecting party who must "present evidence to overcome the prima facie case." United States v. Offord

Fin., Inc., (In re Medina), 205 B.R. 216,222 (9th Cir. BAP 1996). To defeat the claim, the objecting party must provide sufficient evidence and "show facts tending to defeat the claim by probative force equal to that of the allegations of the proofs of claim themselves." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039 (quoting In re Holm, 931 F.2d 620, 623 (9th Cir. 1991)). "The objector must produce evidence, which, if believed, would refute at least one of the allegations that is essential to the claim's legal sufficiency." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1040 (quoting In re Allegheny Int'l, Inc., 954 F.2d 167, 173-74 (3d Cir. 1992)). If the objecting party produces sufficient evidence to negate one or more of the sworn facts in the proof of claim, the burden reverts back to the claimant to prove the validity of the claim by a preponderance of the evidence. Ashford v. Consol. Pioneer Mort. (In re Consol. Pioneer Mort.), 178 B.R. 222, 226 (9th Cir. BAP 1995), aff'd, 91 F.3d 151 (9th Cir. 1996) (quoting Allegheny Int'l, 954 F.2d at 173-74). The ultimate burden of persuasion remains at all times on the claimant. Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039; Holm, 931 F.2d at 623.

ANALYSIS:

The Debtor objects to Claims No. 2 and 5 on the basis that the applicable state statute of limitations for collection of the debts in question has lapsed. The statute of limitations applicable to common counts is four years if the action is founded upon a contract or other writing (e.g., "book account" (§ 3:398), "account stated" (§ 3:400), or money lent on a note), and the statute of limitations is generally four years from the date of the last item in the account. CCP § 337(1),(2); Armstrong Petroleum Corp. v. Tri-Valley Oil & Gas Co., 116 CA 4th 1375, 1396, FN. 9 (Cal. App. 2004).

Debtor has provided evidence that Claim No. 2 was charged off in May 2008 and that the last transaction recorded by Claimant was in November 2007. Debtor has provided evidence that Claim No. 5 was charged off in August 2008 and that the last transaction recorded by Claimant was in December 2007. The Debtor has established that over four years have lapsed since the last item in the account. Thus, the burden to show the validity of Claims No. 2 and 5 must shift to Claimant. Claimant, however, though properly served, has failed to respond, which may be deemed as consent to the relief requested under LBR 9013-1(h). Thus, as the ultimate burden of persuasion remains on the Claimant, the Objection must be sustained.

#38.00 Motion RE: Objection to Claim Number 4,6 by Claimant American Express Centurion Bank

Docket 50

Tentative Ruling:

04/24/2018

BACKGROUND:

On January 26, 2018 ("Petition Date"), Markus Anthony Boyd ("Debtor") filed for chapter 11 relief. On March 19, 2018, Debtor filed Objection to Claims # 4 and 6 (the "Objection") of American Express Centurion Bank. Service was proper and no opposition has been filed.

APPLICABLE LAW:

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 502(a), a proof of claim is deemed allowed unless a party in interest objects. Absent an objection, a proof of claim constitutes prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claim under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure ("FRBP") 3001(f). Lundell v. Anchor Constr. Specialists, Inc., 223 F.3d 1035, 1039 (9th Cir. 2000). When a party files an objection to a proof of claim, that filing "creates a dispute which is a contested matter" within the meaning of FRBP 9014 and the Court must resolve the matter after notice and opportunity for hearing upon a motion for relief. Id.

When a creditor has filed a proof of claim that complies with the rules (thereby giving rise to the presumption of validity), the burden shifts to the objecting party who must "present evidence to overcome the prima facie case." United States v. Offord

ANALYSIS:

The Debtor objects to Claims No. 4 and 6 on the basis that the applicable state statute of limitations for collection of the debts in question has lapsed. The statute of limitations applicable to common counts is four years if the action is founded upon a contract or other writing (e.g., "book account" (§ 3:398), "account stated" (§ 3:400), or money lent on a note), and the statute of limitations is generally four years from the date of the last item in the account. CCP § 337(1),(2); Armstrong Petroleum Corp. v. Tri-Valley Oil & Gas Co., 116 CA 4th 1375, 1396, FN. 9 (Cal. App. 2004).

Debtor has provided evidence that Claim No. 4's last transaction date was in October 2007. Debtor has provided evidence that Claim No. 5's last payment date was in December 2007. The Debtor's analysis of the potential time tolled by the Debtor's intervening bankruptcy cases appears correct and thus Debtor has established that over four years have lapsed since the last item in the accounts. Thus, the burden to show the validity of Claims No. 4 and 6 must shift to Claimant. Claimant, however, though properly served, has failed to respond, which may be deemed as consent to the relief requested under LBR 9013-1(h). Thus, as the ultimate burden of persuasion remains on the Claimant, the Objection must be sustained.

#1.00 Motion for Order Extending Time to File Avoidance Actions Under 11 U.S.C. § 546

EH__

Docket 98

Tentative Ruling:

4/25/18

BACKGROUND

On April 28, 2015, Home Security Stores, Inc. ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On May 28, 2015, the Court authorized the employment of Goe & Forsythe, LLP as general counsel to Trustee. On July 2, 2015, the Court authorized the employment of Hahn Fife & Co. LLP as accountants for Trustee. On July 17, 2015, the Court authorized the employment of Credit Management Association as auctioneer for Trustee.

On April 20, 2016, the Court extended the deadline for Trustee to file avoidance actions by six months, to October 28, 2017. On April 28, 2017, the Trustee filed an avoidance action. On October 30, 2017, the Court extended the deadline for Trustee to file avoidance actions by an additional six months. On April 4, 2018, Trustee filed a third motion to extend the deadline to file avoidance actions, requesting an additional six months. On April 11, 2018, Ralph & Stacy Winn (the "Winns"), shareholders of Debtor, filed a limited opposition to Trustee's request. The Winns do not oppose an extension of the deadline to file avoidance actions, rather they appear to generally dispute the Trustee's characterization of their role in the proceedings.

Chapter 7

Trustee continues to maintain that Debtor and various associated individuals have been uncooperative with requests for information. The Court notes that on January 26, 2017, a 2004 examination was ordered of Harry Histen ("Histen"), a prior attorney for Debtor. Furthermore, on April 20, 2017, the Court granted Trustee's motion to compel Histen's turnover of recorded information. Trustee asserts that as part of Histen's production of electronic files, Trustee learned that, in April 2015, We Got'cha Covered made copies of Debtor's hard drive and recovered deleted files. Trustee asserts that "[n]otwithstanding multiuple [sic] demands to Debtor and its principals for such documents, these records were never produced." Trustee argues that he needs this information to assess whether any additional avoidance actions are appropriate.

DISCUSSION

11 U.S.C. § 546 requires that an avoidance action be brought within two years of the entry of the order for relief. That deadline, however, can be extended. See, e.g., In re United Ins. Mgmt., Inc., 14 F.3d 1380, 1384 (9th Cir. 1994). The current deadline in this case is April 30, 2018, which Trustee seeks to extend for six months to and including October 30, 2018.

FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 9006(b) states:

Except as provided in paragraphs (2) and (3) of this subdivision, when an act is required or allowed to be done at or within a specified period by these rules or by a notice given thereunder or by order of court, the court for cause shown may at any time in its discretion (1) with or without motion or notice order the period enlarged if the request therefor is made before the expiration of the period originally prescribed or as extended by a previous order or (2) on motion made after the expiration of the specified period permit the act to be done where the failure to act was the result of excusable neglect.

Chapter 7

The Court adopts a "for cause" standard when determining whether to utilize FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 9006(b) to extend a deadline. See In re Fundamental Long Term Care, Inc., 501 B.R. 784, 789 (Bankr. M.D. Fla. 2013). In this case, Trustee's motion indicates that Histen, We Got'cha Covered, and Debtor have not been fully cooperative with, and possibly obstructive of, Trustee's attempt to investigate Debtor's financial affairs. Trustee indicates that he does not yet have the information necessary to assess whether further avoidance actions are necessary, and it appears that such delay is through no fault of Trustee.

Moreover, the Court deems lack of opposition as consent to the relief requested pursuant to Local Rule 9013-(1)(h).

TENTATIVE RULING

For the foregoing reasons, the Court is inclined to GRANT the motion.

Docket 42

Tentative Ruling:

4/25/18

BACKGROUND

On April 12, 2016, Jose Hernandez ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On July 7, 2016, the Chapter 7 Trustee ("Plaintiff") filed a complaint against Carolina Navarro ("Defendant") seeking the avoidance and recovery of a fraudulent transfer. After default was entered against Defendant, on October 14, 2016, the parties stipulated to set aside default, and, that same day, Defendant filed her answer. On March 1, 2018, Plaintiff filed a motion for summary judgment. On April 4, 2018, Defendant filed her opposition.

Plaintiff alleges that on July 21, 2014, Debtor transferred certain real property located at 3510 Duffy St., San Bernardino, CA 92407 to Defendant for no consideration and that Debtor was insolvent at the time of the transfer or became insolvent as a result of the transfer. Defendant received a Chapter 7 discharge on January 26, 2018.

Chapter 7

I. Violation of Discharge Injunction

As a preliminary matter, Defendant argues that because she obtained her own discharge in January, the continuation of this proceeding violates her discharge injunction. Specifically, Defendant argues that her discharge extinguishes her personal liability and that Trustee's complaint seeks avoidance of the transfer and recovery of the property or its value. Defendant's opposition states:

Notwithstanding his heightened knowledge of the provisions of the Bankruptcy Code and bankruptcy jurisprudence, the Trustee has pursued the same claims and remedies against Defendant after her discharge was granted, relieving her of any personal liability on account of the Trustee's alleged claims and barring the Trustee from obtaining relief in this case. For example, the Trustee seeks judgment on his Fifth Claim, which as pled in the Complaint, alleges that "Plaintiff is entitled to recovery the Subject Property or its value from the Defendant Pursuant to § 550(a)."

[Dkt. No. 46, pg. 12-13].

Defendant's argument is misleading and lacks merit. Regardless of the relief requested in the complaint, which was filed before Defendant obtained a discharge, Plaintiff's motion for summary judgment has dropped the reference to "or its value" and only seeks recovery of the subject property. Nothing in the motion for summary judgment seeks to enforce a personal liability of the Defendant. Therefore, the Court rejects Defendant's argument.

II. Motion for Summary Judgment

Summary judgment should be granted if the pleadings, depositions, answers to interrogatories, and admissions on file, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact and that the moving party is entitled to a judgment as a matter of law. See FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 56(c) (incorporated by FED. R. BANKR. P. 7056).

The moving party has the burden of establishing the absence of a genuine issue of material fact. See Celotex Corp. v. Catrett, 477 U.S. 317, 323 (1986). If the moving party shows the absence of a genuine issue of material fact, the nonmoving party must go beyond the pleadings and identify facts that show a genuine issue for trial. See id. at 324; see also FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 56(e). The court must view the evidence in the light most favorable to the nonmoving party. See Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc., 477 U.S. 242, 255 (1986). All reasonable doubt as to the existence of a genuine issue of fact should be resolved against the moving party. See id.

If the moving party meets its initial burden, the non-moving party must set forth, by affidavit or as otherwise provided in Rule 56, specific facts showing that there is a genuine issue for trial. See id. The non-moving party, however, "must do more than simply show that there is some metaphysical doubt as to the material fact...." Matsushita Electrical Industry Co. v. Zenith Radio Corp., 475 U.S. 574, 586-587 (1986).

A fact is material if it "might affect the outcome of the suit under the governing law." Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc., 477 U.S. 242, 248 (1986). A dispute about a material fact is genuine "if the evidence is such that a reasonable jury could return a verdict for the nonmoving party." Id.

Plaintiff requests summary judgment on the second claim for relief (avoidance of constructively fraudulent transfer) and the fifth claim for relief (recovery of avoided transfer). 11 U.S.C. § 548(a)(1)(B) states, in pertinent part:

(a)(1) The trustee may avoid any transfer (including any transfer to or for the benefit of an insider under an employment contract) of an interest of the debtor in property, or any obligation (including any obligation to or for the benefit of an insider under an employment contract) incurred by the debtor, that was made or incurred on or within 2 years before the date of the filing of the petition, if the debtor voluntarily or involuntarily --

(B)(i) received less than a reasonably equivalent value in exchange for such transfer or obligation; and

(ii)(I) was insolvent on the date that such transfer was made or such obligation was incurred, or became insolvent as a result of such transfer or obligation

Defendant does not dispute that there was a transfer of an interest of property within 2 years before the petition date. Defendant does, however, dispute the satisfaction of the other two elements, arguing that Defendant received reasonably equivalent value and was not rendered insolvent by the subject transfer. See generally In re Fruehauf Trailer Corp., 444 F.3d 203, 210 (3rd Cir. 2006); In re Southern Textile Knitters, 65 Fed. Appx. 426, 436 (4th Cir. 2003) (outlining elements of § 548(a)(1)(B) action).

Regarding the requirement that reasonably equivalent value have been provided, Plaintiff asserts that the grant deed reflects that the transfer was a "bonafide gift and the grantor received nothing in return." In her opposition, Defendant argues that the language of the grant deed is inaccurate, and that she offered value in a variety of ways. Specifically, Defendant contends that she was a co-signer for the refinancing and "also provided consideration by contributing her wages to pay for household expenses and by providing domestic labor including cooking, cleaning, child-rearing, and running the parties' household." [Dkt. No. 46, pg. 17, lines 7-9]. With regard to the language on the grant deed, Defendant states that:

The Grant Deed was not prepared by Debtor or Defendant. Debtor and Defendant correctly advised the loan officer who handled the refinancing that Defendant was not paying cash to Debtor for her one-half interest. For this reason, Debtor and Defendant believe the loan officer or escrow agent who prepared the Grant Deed noted on the document that the Transfer was a gift.

In the reply, Plaintiff contends that "[a]fter first stating that it was a gift and nothing was received, the Debtor and Defendant should be estopped from now claiming it was not a gift and reasonably equivalent value was provided for the Subject Transfer." [Dkt. No. 51, pg. 4, lines 13-15].

The Court concludes that the parol evidence rule applies here to preclude the consideration of evidence which contradicts the plain and unambiguous language of the deed. See generally In re Khalil, 2014 WL 1725811 at *6-11 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2014) (collecting cases providing comprehensive analysis of the parol evidence rule in the context of grant deeds deed). As was noted in Khalil:

If there is no ambiguity on the face of the document, and no reference to information or terms in the recorded document or from the circumstances of the conveyance that would lead a bona fide purchaser to inquire as to the intent and meaning of the instrument, then the bona fide purchaser is entitled to rely on the written record and is not charged with or bound by unstated meanings or by secret or collateral agreements that add to or alter the written record.

Id. at *10. While the above quotation is in the context of ownership interests in real property, rather than the nature of consideration, or lack thereof, in connection with a grant deed, the same underlying principle is applicable: "third parties, including the trustee and the estate's creditors, must be able to rely on the terms of recorded deed." Id. at *11. See also id. at *10 ("As a general rule, when any ambiguity is not evident from the face of the instrument (i.e., a "latent" ambiguity), the deed must be construed solely from an analysis of the plain meaning of the document itself, and extrinsic evidence is not admissible."); Laux v. Freed, 53 Cal. 2d. 512, 523 (Cal. 1960) ("[I]f the language of a deed is plain, certain and unambiguous, neither parol evidence nor surrounding facts and circumstances will be considered to add to, detract from, or vary its terms.").

Regarding the insolvency requirement, Plaintiff first argues that given the absence of reasonably equivalent value, Debtor's insolvency as a result of the transfer should be assumed; Plaintiff cites United States v. Mazzeo, 245 B.R. 435, 441 (E.D.N.Y. 1999). The Court declines to make such a presumption. The case cited by Plaintiff, and the related case law, deals with fraudulent transfer provisions under New York state law. See, e.g., Kim v. Ji Sung Yoo, 2017 WL 4382078 (S.D.N.Y. 2017) (noting presumption and collecting cases). No such burden shifting framework, however, exists under the Bankruptcy Code. See 5 COLLIER'S ON BANKRUPTCY ¶ 548.11[2] (16th ed. 2017) ("Under state law and the UFTA (and presumably the UVTA), a well-recognized exception permits the court to infer a proscribed financial state once the plaintiff has shown a lack of fair consideration or a lack of reasonably equivalent value. This shift should not apply to cases brought under section 548.") (footnotes omitted); see also In re Galbreath, 286 B.R. 185, 197 (Bankr. S.D. Ga. 2002) ("The burden for proving constructive fraud falls on the trustee who must show by a preponderance of the evidence that all requirements set out in § 548(a)(1)(B) have been met.")

Plaintiff next argues that Debtor's insolvency can be established through a review of the schedules. Essentially, Plaintiff argues that the schedules indicate that Debtor was insolvent as of the petition date, and that the Court can work backwards to conclude that Debtor was insolvent on the date of the transfer. As one bankruptcy court has stated:

Since insolvency at a given point in time is often difficult to demonstrate by direct proof, courts permit the trustee to show that the debtor was insolvent at one point in time and then prove that the same condition existed at the time of the subject transfer. This method of proof has been labeled "retrojection," but it applies equally to situations in which the trustee starts at a point in time prior to the transfer. When the trustee chooses to use this method of proof it is essential that the trustee be able to show the absence of any substantial or radical changes in the assets or liabilities of the bankruptcy between the retrojection dates.

In re R. Purbeck & Assocs., Ltd., 27 B.R. 953, 955 (Bankr. D. Conn. 1983) (footnotes and quotation omitted). Plaintiff argues that the schedules reflect that Debtor had no meaningful unexempt assets as of the petition date while much of Debtor's unsecured debt was identified as having been incurred prior to the date of the transfer. Furthermore, Debtor's statement of financial affairs does not disclose any significant transfers of property between the date of the subject transfer and the petition date.

In Defendant's opposition, she appears to contend that Debtor's outstanding debt on the date of the subject transfer was $210,282 and that Debtor's assets were valued at approximately $224,000. The Court notes that these assertions do not demonstrate solvency – they demonstrate insolvency as that term is defined in the Code. 11 U.S.C. § 101(32)(A)(ii) exempts from the solvency requirement property which may be exempt under § 522. The assets listed in Debtor's schedules, and in Defendant's opposition, all appear to be assets capable of being exempted under § 522, thereby rendering Defendant statutorily insolvent. Even ignoring that fact, however, Defendant's opposition indicates that Debtor had $53,186 in equity in the property; transferring a 50% interest in the property would have rendered Debtor insolvent even before removing property which can be exempted. As a result, the Court concludes that Plaintiff has demonstrated there is no genuine dispute regarding Debtor's insolvency on the date of the subject transfer.

III. Recovery

Plaintiff also seeks recovery of the subject property pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 550. 11 U.S.C. § 550(a)(1) states:

- (a) Except as otherwise provided in this section, to the extent that a transfer is avoided under section 544, 545, 547, 548, 549, 553(b), or 724(a) of this title, the trustee may recover, for the benefit of the estate, the property transferred, or, if the court so orders, the value of such property, from –
 - (1) the initial transferee of such transfer or the entity for whose benefit such transfer was made

Defendant opposes the requested recovery, although the legal basis for the opposition is less than clear. Defendant argues that "annulment of the Transfer would have the effect of returning the Property to a single ownership since Debtor was the sole owner. Therefore, recovery of the Transfer is unnecessary and provides no benefit to the estate." [Dkt. No. 46, pg. 18, lines 15-17]. The Court's interpretation of the Plaintiff's request is that Plaintiff is requesting an order indicating that the Property has retained to single ownership (the bankruptcy estate). Therefore, it does not appear there is really any legal dispute here, semantical differences aside.

IV. Withdrawal of Admissions

In light of the foregoing, the Court is inclined to deny Defendant's motion to withdraw admissions as moot. The Court need not rely on admissions by default in resolving the instant motion for summary judgment.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to GRANT the motion for summary judgment, avoiding the transfer as constructively fraudulent and permitting Trustee's recovery of such transfer. Defendant's motion to withdraw admissions is DENIED as moot.

Tentative Ruling:

04/26/2018

BACKGROUND

On September 12, 2016, Douglas and Anne Goodman (collectively, "Debtors" or "Defendants") filed their petition for chapter 13 relief.

On November 11, 2016, Mark and Natasha Reynoso (collectively, "Plaintiffs") filed a complaint seeking determination of the dischargeability of a debt pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(A) (the "Complaint"). Specifically, Plaintiffs allege that in 2015, they purchased real property located at 1656 West Lisbon Street in Upland, CA (the "Property") from the Debtors, and that a sale was consummated on the misrepresentations of the Debtors' agent, Theresa Mann, that the Property was 3,231 square feet while Plaintiffs assert that the Property is actually 2,713 square feet (or a difference of 518 square feet). Plaintiffs also assert that they were led to believe that a water leak in the upstairs bathroom had been repaired. Plaintiffs allege that the Debtors knew or should have known that their agent was making false and misleading representations to Plaintiffs.

On February 3, 2017, the Court entered an order granting Defendants first motion to dismiss the Complaint, with leave to amend. An First Amended Complaint (the "FAC") was filed on April 19, 2017. The Court denied Defendants' second motion to dismiss at a hearing on , May 4, 2017. On June 5, 2017, the Defendants filed their Answer to the FAC ("Answer").

Chapter 13

On March 9, 2018, the Defendants moved to dismiss the FAC ("Motion"). The hearing was initially set for April 19, 2018, but was continued to April 26, 2018, on the Court's own motion, by order entered April 11, 2018. The deadline for opposition based on the initially scheduled hearing was April 5, 2018. At the time that the Court continued the hearing, Plaintiffs had not filed any opposition to the Motion and their deadline to oppose had lapsed. Subsequent to the Court continuing the hearing, the Plaintiffs late-filed their opposition on April 12, 2018 ("Opposition"), for the April 19, 2018, hearing. On April 20, 2018, the Defendants filed a reply primarily objecting to the timeliness of the Opposition ("Reply").

DISCUSSION

As a threshold matter, the Motion seeks relief pursuant to Rule 12(b)(6). However, given that the Defendants have filed an Answer to the FAC, the Court shall construe the Motion as a motion under Rule 12(c), a motion for judgment on the pleadings.

Civil Rule 12(c) standard

"After the pleadings are closed—but early enough not to delay trial—a party may move for judgment on the pleadings." Fed.R.Civ.P. 12(c). "Judgment on the pleadings is properly granted when, taking all allegations in the pleading as true, the moving party is entitled to judgment as a matter of law." Knappenberger v. City of Phx., 566 F.3d 936, 939 (9th Cir.2009) (quoting Merchants Home Delivery Serv., Inc. v. Frank B. Hall & Co., 50 F.3d 1486, 1488 (9th Cir.1995)).

On a Rule 12(c) motion, the court must accept as true all the material facts alleged in the complaint and must draw all reasonable inferences in favor of the non-moving party. Fleming v. Pickard, 581 F.3d 922, 925 (9th Cir.2009). In ruling on a Rule 12(c) motion, the court may not consider extrinsic evidence unless the motion is converted into a Rule 56 summary judgment. Hal Roach Studios, Inc. v. Richard Feiner & Co., Inc., 896 F.2d 1542, 1550 (9th Cir.1989) (citing Fed.R.Civ.P. 12(c); Bonilla v. Oakland Scavenger Co., 697 F.2d 1297, 1301 (9th Cir.1982)). However, a court may consider facts that are contained in materials of which the court may take judicial notice when considering a motion for judgment on the pleadings. Heliotrope Gen., Inc. v. Ford Motor Co., 189 F.3d 971, 981 n. 18 (9th Cir.1999) (quoting Barron v. Reich, 13 F.3d 1370, 1377 (9th Cir.1994)).

Chapter 13

The crux of Defendants' argument for dismissal of the FAC is that Plaintiffs have not set forth the basis for a money judgment under state law. Specifically, the Motion provides, in pertinent part, that Plaintiffs have requested a money judgment in their amended complaint, they do not appear to have provided any legal basis for their request—i.e. there is no state law basis to enter a money judgment. 11 U.S.C. §523(a)(2) is not a basis to enter a money judgment; the plain language of the statute provides that it is a basis for finding a debt to be nondischargeable. If the Plaintiffs want a money judgment, they need to provide a non-bankruptcy law basis for their request. They have not done so here.

Motion at ¶6.

The Ninth Circuit has held that a bankruptcy court may enter a monetary judgment on a disputed state law fraud claim in the course of determining that the debt is nondischargeable. Cowen v. Kennedy (In re Kennedy), 108 F.3d 1015 (9th Cir.1997). Shawn Deitz v. Wayne Ford, Patricia Ford (In re Wayne Ford, Patricia Ford), 469 B.R. 11, 21 (9th Cir. BAP 2012), aff'd, 760 F.3d 1038 (9th Cir. 2014). Here, although the Complaint is not explicit regarding the state law causes of action at issue, it appears implicit in the allegations that the Plaintiffs seek a monetary judgment as to a fraud or misrepresentation claim. Nonetheless, Plaintiffs should not have to guess at the state law basis of the debt for a money judgment.

TENTATIVE RULING

Based on the foregoing, the Court is inclined to GRANT the Motion dismissing the FAC with leave to amend, in order to provide the Plaintiffs with an opportunity to set forth the specific bases for monetary damages under state law such that the litigation can proceed.

BACKGROUND

On February 5, 2018 ("Petition Date"), Geth-Rang Jr. Takawo and Michelle Kiklang Bernardino (collectively, the "Debtors") filed for chapter 13 relief. Among the assets of the Debtors' estate is a 2013 Jeep Wrangler (the "Jeep") which is subject to the security interest of Santander Consumer USA Inc. ("Santander"). On February 21, 2018, Santander filed Proof of Claim No. 2 asserting a secured claim in the amount of $25,575 with an unsecured claim for $5,854.50, for a total claim of $31,429.50.

On March 15, 2018, the Debtors filed their Motion for Setting Property Value (the "Motion"). The Motion was properly served and no opposition or response has been filed.

DISCUSSION

Section 506(a) 'operates to bifurcate [an under] secured creditor's allowed claim into secured and unsecured interests based upon the bankruptcy court's valuation of the secured property. 11 U.S.C. § 506; In re 1441 Veteran Street Co., 144 F.3d 1288, 1291 (9th Cir.1998); Shook v. CBIC (In re Shook), 278 B.R. 815, 822 (9th Cir. BAP 2002).

Here, the Debtors have provided evidence asserting, based on the NADA Guide estimate of value, that the Jeep has a current fair market value of $19,425. Based on the Debtor's valuation, Santander's secured claim should be reduced to $19,425 with an unsecured claim in the amount of $12,004.50.

TENTATIVE RULING

Based on the foregoing, including Santander's failure to file opposition or response, which the Court deems as consent to the granting of the Motion, the Court is inclined to GRANT the Motion valuing the Jeep at $19,425 and bifurcating the claims of Santander as set forth above.

APPEARANCES WAIVED. Movant to lodge an order within 7 days.

The Debtor indicates that the case was dismissed for two reasons: (1) the Debtor's disability income decreased, and (2) the Debtor's daughter was in a serious accident in November 2017 and the Debtor has been paying her medical and legal fees associated with the accident.

The Debtor's explanation for the dismissal of the prior case is sufficiently detailed. However, the Motion does not address whether there has been a change in the financial or personal affairs of the Debtor since January 2018 (when the case was dismissed) such that the Debtor is likely to be able to complete her plan going forward. In particular, there is no indication that the medical emergency which resulted in dismissal of the Debtor's prior case has ended. Additionally, the Debtor now indicates that she is supporting her unemployed domestic partner. The Debtor's disposable income has decreased from $4,197.72 in her prior case to $704.72 in the current case.

Separately, the Court notes that the Notice of Motion did not specify the identities of the Debtor's secured creditors as required by the Court's form motion. As such, notice

On September 30, 2014, Gustavo Brito ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. On November 20, 2014, Debtor's Chapter 13 plan was confirmed. The mandatory Chapter 13 form plan contains a provision (Section V.H) which states: "The Debtor will pay timely all postconfirmation tax liabilities directly to the appropriate taxing authorities as they become due."

Since confirmation the Trustee has filed three motions to dismiss, all of which were ultimately resolved. Additionally, the Chapter 13 plan has been modified once. On February 23, 2018, the California Department of Tax & Fee Administration ("CDTFA") filed a motion to dismiss or convert to Chapter 7 on the basis that Debtors had not paid their postconfirmation taxes. The Court notes that the motion was served on Debtors' attorney, but was not served on Debtors.

DISCUSSION

The Court will continue the matter for CDTFA to serve the motion on Debtors.

Regarding the merits, the Court notes that 11 U.S.C. § 1307(c)(6) provides for dismissal or conversion for cause, which is defined to include "material default by the debtor with respect to a term of a confirmed plan." Here, the Court notes that Debtors' confirmed plan provided that all postconfirmation tax liabilities were to be timely paid. CDTFA has provided evidence that Debtor has accrued $19,888.54 in post-petition tax liabilities which constitutes a material default satisfying § 1307(c)(6). Because Debtors do not appear to have meaningful unencumbered, unexempt assets, this Court would be inclined to dismiss the case rather than convert it to Chapter 7.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to CONTINUE the matter to April 19, 2018 at 12:30 p.m. for

#7.00 Motion to Determine Character of Granowitz Funds as Separate Property of the Non-Debtor Spouse Under Pre-Petition State Court Order

EH__

Docket 46

Tentative Ruling:

5/1/18

BACKGROUND

On February 7, 2018, Vance Johnson ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 11 voluntary petition. On February 27, 2018, the Court authorized Debtor's employment of Goe & Forsythe, LLP as general bankruptcy counsel as well as the employment of a real estate broker. On March 27, 2018, the Court authorized the employment of Christopher Abernathy as special counsel. On April 16, 2018, the Court authorized Debtor's employment of a CPA.

On April 5, 2018, Joana Johnson ("Joana") filed a "motion to determine character of Granowitz funds as separate property of the non-debtor spouse under pre-petition state court order." Through the motion, Joana requests that the Court issue an order characterizing the Granowitz funds as her separate property (and not property of the bankruptcy estate) and require that the funds be turned over from Debtor's client trust fund to Joana's client trust fund. On April 17, 2018, Debtor filed his opposition.

Chapter 11

FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 7001 states, in pertinent part:

An adversary proceeding is governed by the rules of this Part VII. The following are adversary proceedings:

- (1) a proceeding to recover money or property, other than a proceeding to compel the debtor to deliver property to the trustee, or a proceeding under § 554(b) or § 725 of the Code, Rule 2017, or Rule 6002;
- (2) a proceeding to determine the validity, priority, or extent of a lien or other interest in property, but not a proceeding under Rule 3012 or Rule 4003(d); . . .
- (9) a proceeding to obtain a declaratory judgment relating to any of the foregoing

Debtor argues that Joana's request for a determination that the Granowitz funds are her separate property fits within the scope of Rule 7001(2). Debtor further argues that Joana's request that the funds be turned over fits within the scope of Rule 7001(1).

The Court agrees with Debtor. While the requirement of an adversary proceeding may be waivable in certain circumstances, here Debtor has opposed the requested relief and raised the procedural defect. See, e.g., In re Fadel, 492 B.R. 1, 10 n.5 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2013) (resolving a dispute regarding property interests in alleged community property, but noting that neither party had raised the requirement of an adversary proceeding imposed by Rule 7001(2)). Plainly, Joana's motion requests that the Court determine, or issue a declaratory "judgment" regarding, the extent of the parties' respective interest in the property at issue, the Granowitz funds. Therefore, the request requires an adversary proceeding pursuant to FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 7001.

Joana's reply asserts two separate grounds for why an adversary proceeding is not required here. First, Joana argues that Debtor has previously waived the requirement of an adversary proceeding. In so asserting, Joana states that "the Pre-Petition State Court Stipulation provides that the Granowitz Funds ‘shall be held or refunded pending further bankruptcy court approval.’ [Doc. p. 2, lns. 10-12]." This argument is unclear. The document referenced was not filed pre-petition (it was executed February 22, 2018) and the document provides for Granowitz (Joana’s counsel) to transfer the funds to the client trust account for Debtor’s counsel. This simply does not constitute a waiver of the right to an adversary proceeding if Joana seeks a subsequent re-transfer of the funds, and therefore the Court rejects this argument as lacking merit.

Joana also essentially argues that the requirement of an adversary proceeding can essentially be disregarded when ignoring such a requirement would be harmless; Joana cites a Bankruptcy Appellate Panel case in support of her assertion. In re Munoz, however, is identifying an appellate standard, i.e. failure to proceed by means of adversary proceeding does not require reversal if such failure is harmless error. 287 B.R. 546, 551 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2002). The case also states that "[i]t is error to circumvent the requirement of an adversary proceeding by using a ‘contested matter’ motion under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 9014." Id. The Court rejects Joana’s request, which essentially amounts to a request to use a deferential appellate standard of review at the trial court level.

The Court need not reach Joana’s request for turnover of the Granowitz funds, because such request is dependent on obtaining an order characterizing the funds as Joana’s separate property.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to DENY the motion without prejudice to filing an adversary proceeding.

Docket 13

Tentative Ruling:

05/02/2018

BACKGROUND

On November 22, 2017, Derick Jones ("Debtor") filed his first bankruptcy petition (the "First Case"). The First Case was dismissed on January 5, 2018, for failure to file information. On January 12, 2018, the Debtor filed his second bankruptcy petition (the "Second Case"). The chapter 7 trustee is Karl Anderson ("Trustee"). Among the assets of the Debtor's estate is an alleged tenancy interest in certain real property located at 3187 Pinehurst Drive in Corona, CA (the "Property").

On February 12, 2018, the Debtor filed his Complaint for Violation of the Automatic Stay ("Complaint") against U.S. Bank, NA (the "Bank"). In response, the Bank filed a motion to dismiss the Complaint on March 13, 2018. On March 28, 2018, the Debtor filed a First Amended Complaint alleging (1) violation of the automatic stay, (2) lack of standing for Bank to foreclose, and (3) unjust enrichment (the "FAC"). On April 5, 2018, the Bank filed its Motion to Dismiss the FAC (the "Motion"). Service of the Motion was proper and no opposition was filed.

On April 24, 2018, the Debtor filed a Notice of Non-Receipt of Motion to Dismiss the FAC ("Notice").

Chapter 7

DISCUSSION

Under Civil Rule 12(b)(6), made applicable in adversary proceedings through Rule 7012, a bankruptcy court may dismiss a complaint if it fails to "state a claim upon which relief can be granted." In reviewing a Civil Rule 12(b)(6) motion, the trial court must accept as true all facts alleged in the complaint and draw all reasonable inferences in favor of the plaintiff. Navarro v. Block, 250 F.3d 729, 732 (9th Cir. 2001). However, the trial court need not accept as true conclusory allegations in a complaint or legal characterizations cast in the form of factual allegations. Bell Atl. Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 555–56, 127 S.Ct. 1955, 167 L.Ed.2d 929 (2007); Hartman v. Gilead Scis., Inc. (In re Gilead Scis. Sec. Litig.), 536 F.3d 1049, 1055 (9th Cir. 2008).

To avoid dismissal under Civil Rule 12(b)(6), a plaintiff must aver in the complaint "sufficient factual matter, accepted as true, to 'state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face.'" Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678, 129 S.Ct. 1937, 173 L.Ed.2d 868 (2009) (quoting Twombly, 550 U.S. at 570, 127 S.Ct. 1955). It is axiomatic that a claim cannot be plausible when it has no legal basis. A dismissal under Civil Rule 12(b)(6) may be based either on the lack of a cognizable legal theory or on the absence of sufficient facts alleged under a cognizable legal theory. Johnson v. Riverside Healthcare Sys., 534 F.3d 1116, 1121 (9th Cir.2008).

The court may rely on judicially noticed facts to establish that an adversary complaint does not state a claim for relief. See Skilstaf, Inc. v. CVS Caremark Corp., 669 F.3d 1005, 1016 n. 9 (9th Cir.2012). And, it may consider the existence and content of documents referenced in the complaint when authenticity is uncontested and the plaintiff necessarily relied upon such documents in his complaint. See United States v. Ritchie, 342 F.3d 903, 908 (9th Cir.2003); Lee v. City of L.A., 250 F.3d 668, 688 (9th Cir.2001).

Request for Judicial Notice

As a threshold matter, the Court takes judicial notice of the documents filed in support of the Motion as Docket No. 14.

Service

Debtor filed his Notice asserting that he did not receive a copy of the Motion. The Debtor's Notice, however, is not signed under penalty of perjury. In contrast, the Bank has filed a proof of service signed under penalty of perjury which indicates that the Debtor was properly served on the Debtor at his address of record. Based on the Bank's proof of service, the Court concludes that service was proper and Debtor filed

Chapter 7

Violation of the Automatic Stay

On October 27, 2017, the Superior Court in the UD Action entered Judgment in favor of the Bank and against the Debtor ("Judgment"). (FAC, pg. 2, ln. 6-7, and ¶ 9). On February 7, 2018, during the pendency of the Debtor's Second Case, the Riverside County Sheriff effectuated a lock-out of the Debtor.

The Bank argues that the lock-out was not a violation of the automatic stay because under California law, the Debtor no longer had any equitable or legal interest in the Property. For this reason, Bank argues that the first claim for relief must be dismissed. The Bank argues, in pertinent part, that California law contains very specific provisions that address whether an individual holds any legal or equitable interest in a property that was sold via a non-judicial foreclosure. Under California law, once a non-judicial foreclosure sale has occurred, the individual debtor's rights in the foreclosed property are terminated. In re Onouli-Kona Land Co., (9th Cir. 1988) 846 F.2d. 1170. Specifically, the Courts have held that the completion of a foreclosure sale is effective upon the fall of auctioneer's hammer. Ballengee v. Sadlier (1986) 179 Cal.App.3d 1; See also Cal. Civ. Code § 2924 (h) which provides that once the bidding is open, each bid constitutes "an irrevocable offer." Acceptance of the bid signals "the completion of the sale," constitutes the final adjudication of the rights of the borrower/debtor (Nguyen v. Calhoun (2003) 105 Cal.App.4th 428, 440-441), and precludes the borrower/debtor from exercising any redemption or ownership rights in the foreclosed property (Ballengee v. Sadlier (1986) 179 Cal.App.3d 1, at p. 5; Jones v. Wagner (2001) 90 Cal.App.4th 466).

The Bank has also provided copies of the UD Minute Order awarding possession of the subject property and the Writ of Possession specifically entered in favor of Bank and against the Debtor, both were issued prior to the filing of the First Case. (RJN, Ex.'s 10 and 11).

In In re Perl, the Ninth Circuit determined that under California law, entry of judgment and a writ of possession following unlawful detainer proceedings extinguishes all other legal and equitable possessory interests in the real property at issue. Eden Place, LLC v. Sholem Perl (In re Perl), 811 F.3d 1120, 1128 (9th Cir.), cert. denied sub nom. Perl v. Eden Place, LLC, 137 S. Ct. 39, 196 L. Ed. 2d 27 (2016). Here, Judgment and a Writ of Possession were entered in favor of Bank prepetition. Thus, any legal or equitable rights that Debtor may have possessed were effectively extinguished prior to the filing of the First Case and as such, the FAC fails to allege facts to support a claim for violation of the automatic stay because the Debtor retained no interest in the Property to be protected by automatic stay. Thus, the First Claim for Relief must be dismissed. Relatedly, the Debtor's claims regarding standing and unjust enrichment constitute a collateral attack on the Unlawful Detainer Judgment of the State Court. This Court finds that permitting the Debtor's litigation to continue would constitute a violation of the Rooker-Feldman doctrine. The Rooker-Feldman doctrine is confined to cases brought by state-court losers complaining of injuries caused by state-court judgments rendered before the district court proceedings commenced and inviting district court review and rejection of those judgments. Exxon Mobil Corp. v. Saudi Basic Indus. Corp., 125 S. Ct. 1517, 1521–22 (2005). In this case, the Debtor is plainly dissatisfied with the Judgment of the State Court and now seeks to have this Court invalidate its Judgment.

TENTATIVE RULING

Based on the foregoing analysis, in addition to the Debtor's failure to file opposition to the Motion which this Court deems as consent to the granting of the Motion, and based also on the arguments of Bank, which are well-taken, the Court is inclined to GRANT the Motion and DISMISS the FAC in its entirety, with prejudice.

Docket 35

Tentative Ruling:

5/9/2018

The Court is inclined to DENY the motion without prejudice for insufficient evidence. Debtors' motion refers to two senior liens: a voluntary lien held by Chase, and a judgment lien held by Citibank. Regarding the former, Debtors have provided a copy of a mortgage statement from August 2017 (more than six years after the petition date) showing an amount owing of $222,318.21. Regarding the latter, Debtors' declaration references an exhibit (exhibit 7) which does not appear to have been included in the motion. Therefore, Debtors have not provided any evidence demonstrating the amount owing, as of the petition date, for either lien. As a result, it is not clear whether, as of the petition date, the second judgment lien of Citibank impaired an exemption of Debtors.

BACKGROUND

On November 30, 2015, Janice Cox ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On Schedule A, Debtor listed certain secondary real property located at 1059 Hugo Ln., Big Bear City, CA 92314 (the "Property"). On March 11, 2016, the Court approved Trustee's application to employ Malcolm Cisneros as general counsel. On March 21, 2016, the Court approved Trustee's application to employ Steven Speier as real estate broker.¹ On February 15, 2018, the Court approved Trustee's application to employ Sarah Polley ("Broker") as real estate agent. On February 21, 2018, the Court entered an order directing Debtor to turn over the Property.

On April 18, 2018, Trustee filed a motion for an order: (1) authorizing Trustee to sell the Property pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 363(b), free and clear of liens pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 363(f); (2) approving overbid procedures; (3) approving compensation of Trustee's broker; (4) authorizing distribution of sale proceeds; (5) determining that the proposed buyers are "good faith purchasers" under 11 U.S.C. § 363(m); and (6) waiving the 14 day state imposed by FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 6004(h). The proposed sale price is $234,000. Trustee proposes to pay $50,866.40 for delinquent property taxes, $19,783 for Debtor's exemption, $14,040 for Broker's commission, and $4,680 for other costs of sale. The remaining $145,630.60 will accrue to the bankruptcy estate.

DISCUSSION

I. Sale of Estate Property

11 U.S.C. § 363(b)(1) allows a trustee to sell property of the estate outside of the ordinary course, after notice and a hearing. A sale pursuant to § 363(b) requires a demonstration that the sale has a valid business justification. In re 240 North Brand Partners, Ltd., 200 B.R. 653, 659 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1996). "In approving any sale outside the ordinary course of business, the court must not only articulate a sufficient business reason for the sale, it must further find it is in the best interest of the estate, i.e. it is fair and reasonable, that it has been given adequate marketing, that it has been negotiated and proposed in good faith, that the purchaser is proceeding in good faith, and that it is an "arms-length" transaction." In re Wilde Horse Enters., Inc., 136 B.R. 830, 841 (Bankr. C.D. Cal.).

While it appears that Broker only marketed the property for six weeks, Broker's declaration has detailed significant efforts to market the property and the bid currently under review is close to the original listing price. Given the marketing of the property, the fact that the sale appears to be a good faith, arms-length transaction, and the fact that the estate would receive $145,630.60 for distribution to unsecured creditors, the Court concludes that Trustee has articulated an adequate business reason for the sale.

II. Sale Free & Clear of Liens

11 U.S.C. § 363(f) (2010) states:

(f) The trustee may sell property under subsection (b) or (c) of this section free and clear of any interest in such property of an entity other than the estate, only if-

- (1) applicable nonbankruptcy law permits sale of such property free and clear of such interest;
- (2) such entity consents;
- (3) such interest is a lien and the price at which such property is to be sold is greater than the aggregate value of all liens on such property;
- (4) such interest is in bona fide dispute; or
- (5) such entity could be compelled, in a legal or equitable proceeding, to accept a money satisfaction of such interest.

Trustee contends that § 363(f)(3) is applicable. First, Trustee contends that aggregate value of all encumbrances on the property is $69,649.40, which is exceeded by the purchase price of $234,000.

Because Trustee has established that § 363(f)(3) is applicable, and in the absence of any objection, Trustee has met its burden in securing a sale free and clear of liens.

III. 14-Day Stay

FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 6004(h) states: "An order authorizing the use, sale, or lease of property other than cash collateral is stayed until the expiration of 14 days after entry of the order, unless the court orders otherwise." The Court deems the absence of objections to be consent to the relief requested, pursuant to Local Rule 9013-(1)(h), and, therefore, will waive the stay of Rule 6004(h).

IV. Miscellaneous Provisions

The Court has reviewed the remainder of Trustee's miscellaneous requests. The Court has reviewed the proposed overbidding procedures and finds such procedures to be reasonable. The Court has reviewed the requested Broker compensation of 6% of the sale price (totaling $14,040) and finds such compensation to be reasonable. The Court has reviewed Trustee's proposed distribution of sale proceeds, and the Court finds that such distribution is reasonable and proper. Finally, the Court finds it appropriate to waive the Rule 6004(h) stay.

Finally, the Court has reviewed the declarations of the purchasers, Oscar and Ana Garcia (the "Garcias"), and finds the declarations sufficient for a determination that the Garcias are good faith purchasers pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 363 (m).

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to GRANT the motion in its entirety. Specifically, the Court is inclined to authorize the sale of the Property free and clear of liens, approve the overbid procedures, approve the Broker's compensation, authorize the distribution of sale proceeds, determine that the Garcias are good faith purchasers and waived the 14-day stay under Rule 6004(h).

I. PROCEDURAL BACKGROUND

On February 26, 2016, Sam & Greeta Dason (Sam, individually, "Dason") (collectively, "Debtors") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On August 22, 2016, Juddy Olivares & Eric Panitz (individually, "Olivares" and "Panitz") (collectively, "Plaintiffs") filed a complaint against Dason to determine dischargeability of debt (11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(6)) and for attorney's fees. On September 20, 2016, the complaint was amended. On January 11, 2017, the Court dismissed Panitz from the complaint. On March 7, 2017, Olivares filed her second amended complaint.

On August 9, 2017, Dason filed an answer and a counter-claim¹ against Olivares. On October 2, 2017, Olivares filed her answer to the counter-claim. On January 19, 2018, Olivares filed the instant motion for summary judgment. On February 13, 2018, Dason filed his opposition to the motion for summary judgment. On February 21, 2018, Olivares filed her reply.

The Court notes that Dason has conceded that his counter-claim is moot in light of this Court's order annulling the automatic stay. As a result of this concession, it is the Court's intention to dismiss the counter-claim in the absence of any objection from

II. FACTUAL BACKGROUND

Olivares began working as a dental assistant in 2010 for Colton Dental Group, the business name of Dason's dental corporation, Sam Daniel Dason, DDS ("Dason DDS"). Olivares states that she "was subjected to offensive sexual comments and inquiries, and other unwelcome, sexually-based, offensive conduct by Defendant." Furthermore, Olivares states that she "was subjected to repeated unwelcome sexual touching at the hands of Defendant," which is extensively detailed in the complaint and the motion for summary judgment. On January 17, 2013, Olivares left early and did not return to work. On February 26, 2016, the San Bernardino County Superior Court entered a judgment against Dason and Dason DDS in the amount of $1,724,996.34 (the "Judgment").² The judgment contained the following components:

- 1) $300,000 for past emotional distress – hostile work environment
- 2) $200,000 for past emotional distress – quid pro quo sexual harassment
- 3) $500,000 for future emotional distress
- 4) $100,000 for punitive damages³
- 5) $1,875 for future psychiatric care
- 6) $8,125 for future psychological care
- 7) $6,735.22 for past lost income
- 8) $608,261.12 for attorney's fees and costs

Olivares contends that the judgment is non-dischargeable pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(6). Olivares bases her motion for summary judgment both on issue preclusion and the record in this case. Dason argues that the record in this case cannot support summary judgment and that the state court judgment does not contain adequate findings to support issue preclusion.

III. DISCUSSION

Olivares requests that the Court apply issue preclusion and find that the Judgment is non-dischargeable under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(6). The Bankruptcy Code excepts from discharge any debt for "willful and malicious injury by the debtor to another entity or to the property of another entity." 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(6). The creditor bears the burden of proving each element of § 523(a)(6) by a preponderance of the evidence.

See, e.g., Grogan v. Garner, 498 U.S. 279, 287 (1991).

To prevail on a claim under § 523(a)(6), a creditor must demonstrate three elements: (1) willful conduct; (2) malice; and (3) causation. See In re Butcher, 200 B.R. 675, 680 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1996) (quoting In re Apte, 180 B.R. 223, 230 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1995)). A willful injury is a "deliberate or intentional injury, not merely a deliberate or intentional act that leads to injury." Kawaauhau v. Geiger, 523 U.S. 57, 61 (1998). "A malicious injury involves (1) a wrongful act, (2) done intentionally, (3) which necessarily causes injury, and (4) is done without just cause or excuse." In re Barboza, 545 F.3d 702, 706 (9th Cir. 2008) (quoting In re Jercich, 238 F.3d 1202, 1209 (9th Cir. 2001)).

Summary judgment should be granted if the pleadings, depositions, answers to interrogatories, and admissions on file, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact and that the moving party is entitled to a judgment as a matter of law. See FED. R. CIV. P. 56(c) (incorporated by FED. R. BANKR. P. 7056).

The moving party has the burden of establishing the absence of a genuine issue of material fact. See Celotex Corp. v. Catrett, 477 U.S. 317, 323 (1986). If the moving party shows the absence of a genuine issue of material fact, the nonmoving party must go beyond the pleadings and identify facts that show a genuine issue for trial. See id. at 324. The court must view the evidence in the light most favorable to the nonmoving party. See Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc., 477 U.S. 242, 255 (1986). All reasonable doubt as to the existence of a genuine issue of fact should be resolved against the moving party. See id.

If the moving party meets its initial burden, the non-moving party must set forth, by affidavit or as otherwise provided in Rule 56, specific facts showing that there is a genuine issue for trial. See id. The non-moving party, however, "must do more than simply show that there is some metaphysical doubt as to the material fact...." Matsushita Electrical Industry Co. v. Zenith Radio Corp., 475 U.S. 574, 586-587 (1986).

A fact is material if it "might affect the outcome of the suit under the governing law." Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc., 477 U.S. 242, 248 (1986). A dispute about a material fact is genuine "if the evidence is such that a reasonable jury could return a verdict for the nonmoving party." Id.

The legal provision under which the relevant portion of the Judgment was based is CAL. GOV. CODE § 12940(j)(1), which states:

It is an unlawful employment practice, unless based upon a bona fide occupational qualification, or, except where based upon applicable security regulations established by the United States or the State of California:

(j)(1) For an employer, labor organization, employment agency, apprenticeship training program or any training program leading to employment, or any other person, because of race, religious creed, color, national origin, ancestry, physical disability, mental disability, medical condition, genetic information, marital status, sex, gender, gender identity, gender expression, age, sexual orientation, or military and veteran status, to harass an employee, an applicant, an unpaid intern or volunteer, or a person providing services pursuant to a contract. Harassment of an employee, an applicant, an unpaid intern or volunteer, or a person providing services pursuant to a contract by an employee, other than an agent or supervisor, shall be unlawful if the entity, or its agents or supervisors, knows or should have known of this conduct and fails to take immediate and appropriate corrective action. An employer may also be responsible for the acts of nonemployees, with respect to sexual harassment of employees, applicants, unpaid interns or volunteers, or persons providing services pursuant to a contract in the workplace, if the employer, or its agents or supervisors, knows or should have known of the conduct and fails to take immediate and appropriate corrective action. In reviewing cases involving the acts of nonemployees, the extent of the employer's control and any other legal responsibility that the employer may have with respect to the conduct of those nonemployees shall be considered. An entity shall take all reasonable steps to prevent harassment from occurring. Loss of tangible job benefits shall not be necessary in order to establish harassment.

Olivares reference EEOC guidelines which create two categories of sexual harassment: (1) quid pro quo and (2) hostile environment. Olivares also points to case law which acknowledges the two categories. See, e.g., Meritor Sav. Bank, FSB v. Vinson, 477 U.S. 57, 65 (1986); Beyda v. City of Los Angeles, 65 Cal. App. 4th 511, 516-517 (Cal. Ct. App. 1998) ("There are two recognized categories of sexual harassment claims. The first is quid pro quo harassment, where a term of employment or employment itself is conditioned upon submission to unwelcome sexual advances. The second, and the one at issue in this case, is hostile work environment, where the harassment is sufficiently pervasive so as to alter the conditions of employment and create an abusive work environment.") Chapter 7

The delineation of two separate categories of sexual harassment is relevant and important here. First, the Court notes that the Judgment references Olivares's claim for "Hostile Work Environment and Quid Pro Quo Sexual Harassment," and the state court specifically identified separate damages for "past emotional distress hostile work environment" and "past emotional distress quid pro quo sexual harassment." [Dkt. No. 70 at pg. 8, lines 1-2]. Because these two categories of sexual harassment implicate different issues and require different findings to be made, issue preclusion may operate differently with respect to each issue.

B. Issue Preclusion on Plaintiff's Claim under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(6)

Issue preclusion applies in nondischargeability proceedings to bar the relitigation of factual issues that were determined in a prior state court action. See, e.g., Grogan v. Garner, 498 U.S. 279, 284-85, n.11 (1991). To determine the issue-preclusive effect of a California state court's judgment, California preclusion law must be applied. See 28 U.S.C. § 1738; Marrese v. Am. Acad. of Orthopaedic Surgeons, 470 U.S. 373, 380 (1985); Gayden v. Nourbakhsh (In re Nourbakhsh), 67 F.3d 798, 800 (9th Cir. 1995). Under California law, the party asserting issue preclusion has the burden of establishing the following "threshold" requirements:

- (1) the issue sought to be precluded must be identical to that decided in a former proceeding;
- (2) the issue must have been actually litigated in the former proceeding;
- (3) it must have been necessarily decided in the former proceeding;
- (4) the decision in the former proceeding must be final and on the merits; and,
- (5) the party against whom preclusion is sought must be the same as, or in privity with, the party to the former proceeding.

Harmon v. Kobrin (In re Harmon), 250 F.3d 1240, 1245 (9th Cir.2001).

Additionally, the application of issue preclusion requires a "mandatory 'additional' inquiry into whether imposition of issue preclusion would be fair and consistent with sound public policy." In re Khaligh, 338 B.R. 817, 824-25 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 2006). As stated by the California Supreme Court

We have repeatedly looked to the public policies underlying the doctrine before concluding that collateral estoppel should be applied in a particular setting.... Accordingly, the public policies underlying collateral estoppel—preservation of the integrity of the judicial system, promotion of judicial economy, and protection of litigants from harassment by vexatious litigation—strongly influence whether its application in a particular circumstance would be fair to the parties and constitutes sound judicial policy.

Lucido v. Super. Ct., 51 Cal. 3d 335, 342–43 (Cal. 1990) (internal citations omitted).

Here, the Court's focus is on the second and third elements of the Harmon test because there is no dispute that the Judgment is final and on the merits, and that the parties are the same. Specifically, the Court is concerned with whether "willfulness" was actually litigated and necessarily decided in state court.⁴

For a default judgment to be "actually litigated," the material factual issues must have been both raised in the pleadings and necessary to uphold the default judgment. Gottlieb v. Kest, 141 Cal. App. 4th 110, 149 (Cal. Ct. App. 2006). An express finding need not have occurred if the court in the prior proceeding necessarily decided the issue. Cantrell v. Cal-Micro, Inc. (In re Cantrell), 329 F.3d 1119, 1124 (9th Cir.2003).

Under California law, an issue is necessarily decided when (1) there are explicit findings of an issue made in a judgment or decision, or (2) or when the issue is a conclusion that must have been necessarily decided by the court. Samuels v. CMW Joint Venture (In re Samuels), 273 F. App'x 691, 693 (9th Cir. 2008).

Olivares argues that "[c]ourts analogize quid pro quo sexual harassment to 'extortion,' which is not only an intentional tort but is also a crime." [Dkt. No. 68, pg. 14, lines 24-26]. The Court finds the analogy to be apt. The injury sustained in a quid pro quo sexual harassment claim is a tangible, negative effect on employment terms. See, e.g., Henson v. City of Dundee, 682 F.2d 897, 909 (11th Cir. 1982). The quid pro quo conditioning of these employment terms is, necessarily, an intentional action of the employer. As noted in section III, "willfulness" requires an intentional injury, not merely an intentional act. In the case of quid pro quo sexual harassment, the distinction is illusory – intentionally and negatively conditioning an individual's employment terms with unwanted sexual advances is the equivalent of intentionally causing an injury. See, e.g., In re Roth, 2014 WL 684630 at *6 (Bankr. D. Colo. 2014)

(applying issue preclusion to find quid pro quo sexual harassment to be willful, albeit in a non-default situation). Therefore, that part of the Judgment which deals with quid pro quo sexual harassment contains a finding of "willfulness."

The analysis regarding hostile workplace, however, is different. As noted by Olivares, the "hostile workplace" theory of sexual harassment generally requires unwanted sexual advances that have the "effect of unreasonably interfering with an individual's work performance." Meritor Sav. Bank, FSB v. Vinson, 477 U.S. 57, 65 (1986). In contrast to the quid pro quo liability, where the injury results from an employer's intentional reaction or retaliation, the injury under a hostile workplace theory is subjective and dependent upon the employee's perspective. An employer is certainly capable of unintentionally creating a hostile work environment.

The issue preclusion section of Olivares's motion for summary judgment focuses on the quid pro quo theory of sexual harassment. The Court agrees with Olivares's that "willfulness," as it is used in 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(6), is implicit within a judgment for quid pro quo sexual harassment. But it is not necessarily implicit in a judgment under the "hostile workplace" theory of sexual harassment – the hostile workplace could be created negligently or unintentionally, based on incorrect assumptions of the employer.

Dason has not advanced any argument why the application of collateral estoppel to the facts of this specific case would not be "fair and consistent with sound public policy." Dason's opposition concedes Dason was aware that a trial was scheduled and the date when the trial would occur. Yet, after three years of litigation, no appearance was made on behalf of Dason at the trial. Given the extensive litigation that occurred in state court and the fact that the non-appearance of Dason at trial was due to a conscious choice, and part of a deliberate litigation strategy, the Court concludes that application of issue preclusion would continue to preserve the integrity of the judicial system and promote judicial economy. Thus, partial application of issue preclusion would further the policy and interests underlying the doctrine. See, e.g., In re Baldwin, 249 F.3d 912, 919-920 (9th Cir. 2001) (describing policies underlining collateral estoppel).

C. Absence of a Genuine Issue of Material Fact

Olivares alternatively argues that the record in this case is sufficient to warrant summary judgment independent of the state court judgment. The Court disagrees. The record in this case essentially consists of: (1) Olivares's extensive and detailed description of the alleged sexual harassment; and (2) Dason's denial of the allegations. After the partial application of issue preclusion noted above, the only remaining factual issue is whether the "willfulness" requirement of § 523(a)(6) is satisfied as to that part of the Judgment which arises from a hostile workplace theory of sexual harassment. Here, the Court is simply presented with competing declarations from Dason and Olivares which assert, respectively, that Dason did not intend to create a hostile workplace environment and that it can be inferred that Dason had such an intention. Apart from those declarations, the record contains two pages of a deposition of Cesar Espinoza stating that Olivares complained that Dason grabbed her posterior at some point in time. Given the paucity of the existing record and the unambiguously contradictory declarations of Dason and Olivares, the Court concludes that summary judgment is inapplicable on this record.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to GRANT summary judgment as to the Judgment in so far as the Judgment relates to a quid pro quo theory of sexual harassment and DENY summary judgment in so far as the Judgment relates to a hostile workplace theory of sexual harassment for failure to satisfy the "willfulness" requirement of § 523(a)(6). The Court may order briefing regarding the apportionment of damages that are not specifically assigned to one category.

5/9/18

BACKGROUND

On July 12, 2017, Beatrice Diaz ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On December 20, 2017, Trustee filed a complaint for: (1) declaratory relief; (2) turnover of property and (3) sale of interest of co-owner in property of the estate against Jose Diaz ("Defendant"), the non-filing spouse of Debtor. On January 24, 2018, the clerk entered default against Defendant. On April 17, 2018, Trustee filed a motion for default judgment.

According to Trustee, in 1994, Debtor and Defendant obtained title to certain real property located at 619 Calle Cuesta, Watsonville, CA 95076 (the "Property") as husband and wife as joint tenants. Trustee requests an order (1) determining that the Property is community, (2) ordering Defendant to turn over the property; and (3) allowing Trustee to sell the property free and clear of Defendant's interest.

A. Entry of Default

FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 55 states that "[w]hen a party against whom a judgment for affirmative relief is sought has failed to plead or otherwise defend as provided by these rules and that fact is made to appear by affidavit or otherwise, the clerk shall enter the party's default." Fed. R. Civ. P. 55(a). Local Rule 7055-1 provides further requirements relating to a motion for entry of default judgment, and those requirements have been substantially satisfied here.

B. Motion for Default Judgment

1. Proper Service of Summons and Complaint

FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 7004(b)(1) states, in part:

- (1) Upon an individual other than an infant or incompetent, by mailing a copy of the summons and complaint to the individual's dwelling house or usual place of abode or to the place where the individual regularly conducts a business or profession.

Here, it is not clear that service was proper. Trustee has only served Defendant at the Property, yet Debtor's Schedule H lists Defendant's address as 21 Del Brienza, Lake Elsinor, CA 92532, which is also the primary residence of Debtor. 2. Merits of Plaintiff's claim

Upon default, the factual allegations of the complaint, except those relating to the amount of damages, will be taken as true. TeleVideo Systems, Inc. v. Heidenthal, 826 F.2d 915, 917 (9th Cir. 1987); see also Almog v. Golden Summit Investors Group, Ltd., 2012 WL 12867972 at *4 (C.D. Cal. 2012) ("When reviewing a motion for default judgment, the Court must accept the well-pleaded allegations of the complaint relating to liability as true.").

Here, the complaint includes three causes of action: (1) declaratory relief; (2) turnover; and (3) authorization to sell the Property free and clear of Defendant's interests.

Regarding the first cause of action, declaratory relief, under California law there is a presumption that property acquired during marriage is community property. See, e.g., In re Valli, 58 Cal. 4th 1396, 1400 (Cal. 2014) ("Property that a spouse acquired during the marriage is community property unless it is (1) traceable to a separate property source, (2) acquired by gift or bequest, or (3) earned or accumulated while the spouses are living separate and apart.") (citations omitted) (collecting cases). Trustee has presented the an authenticated copy of the grant deed which specifies that Debtor and Defendant acquired the property as husband and wife, and there is no evidence to rebut the community property presumption. Therefore, Trustee has met his burden on the first cause of action.

Regarding the second cause of action, turnover of property, 11 U.S.C. § 541(a)(2) states:

- (a) The commencement of a case under section 301, 302, or 303 of this title creates an estate. Such estate is comprised of all the following property, wherever located and by whomever held:
- (2) All interests of the debtor and the debtor's spouse in community property as of the commencement of the case that is –
- (A) under the sole, equal, or joint management and control of the debtor; or
- (B) liable for an allowable claim against the debtor, or for both an allowable claim against the debtor and an allowable claim against the debtor's spouse to the extent that such interest is so liable.

In California, community property interests are liable for claims against both spouses. See, e.g., CAL. CODE CIV. P. § 695.020. Therefore, the Property is property of the estate subject to turnover under § 542.

Regarding the third cause of action, 11 U.S.C. § 363(h) states:

- (h) Notwithstanding subsection (f) of this section, the trustee may sell both the estate's interest, under subsection (b) or (c) of this section, and the interest of any co-owner in property in which the debtor had, at the time of the commencement of the case, an undivided interest as a tenant in common, joint tenant, or tenant by the entirety, only if --- interests of co-owners outweighs the detriment, if an, to such co-owners; and

- (4) such property is not used in the production, transmission, or distribution, for sale of electric energy or of natural or synthetic gas for heat, light, or power.

Here, because the property in question is community property, § 363(h) is inapplicable. See, e.g., 3 COLLIER'S ON BANKRUPTCY ¶ 363.08[3] (16th ed. 2013) ("Section 363(h) does not apply to property held as community property. Under section 541(a)(1), property of the estate includes all community property to the extent that community property is either under the control of the debtor or liable for claims against the debtor. As a result, the trustee need not satisfy the conditions in subsections 363(h)(1)-(4) to sell community property."). Therefore, this request is denied.

3. Amount of Damages

Here, Trustee is not requesting any damages, and, therefore, no evidence is required establishing the amount of damages.

TENTATIVE RULING

Trustee to explain why it has only served Defendant at the Property instead of serving Defendant at the location identified on Schedule H. If Trustee can establish that service is proper, The Court is inclined to GRANT the motion as to the first and second causes of action, and DENY, as moot, the motion with respect to the third cause of action.

BACKGROUND

On December 8, 2017, Mark Bastorous & Bernadette Shenouda filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition.

On March 9, 2018, Blaine & Susan Whitston (the "Whitsons"), Union Home Loan Profit Sharing Plan ("UHLPS"), Gurpaljit Deoll ("Deoll"), Benny Winefeld ("Winefeld") and RM Holdings, LLC ("RM") (collectively, "Plaintiffs") filed a complaint against Mark Bastorous ("Defendant") for non-dischargeability pursuant to § 523(a)(2) and (6). On April 9, 2018, Defendant filed a motion to dismiss for failure to state a claim pursuant to FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 12(b)(6). On April 25, 2018, Plaintiffs filed their opposition.

According to Plaintiffs, Defendant is the co-founder, and now majority owner, of a business entity called USA Investments Group, LLC ("USAIG"). Defendant was also involved in a business entity, MB Capital Group, LLC ("MB Capital"), founded by his business partner, Menasseh Bareh ("Bareh"). Defendant is now the sole owner of MB Capital. Defendant's real estate projects were generally run under the umbrella of Professionals Investment Group, LLC ("PIG"). Among these real estate interests was certain real property located at 0 Talcey Terrace, Riverside, CA 92506 (the "Property"), which, prior to January 2015, was owned by USAIG.

According to Plaintiffs, UHLPSP was approached by two brokers about a loan for MB Capital, which was seeking funds to purchase the Property. Ultimately, MB Capital obtained a loan in the amount of $1,100,000; the loan was serviced by UHLPSP, and the remainder of the Plaintiffs funded the majority of the loan transaction. Defendant allegedly acted as the real estate broker for the sale of the Property by USAIG to MB Capital. Plaintiffs received a first position mortgage on the Property.

According to Plaintiffs, the sale of the Property of the property was actually a "sham" by Defendant, who orchestrated of the sale of the Property from one of his business entities to another in order to obtain a loan, the funds from which were used to pay off other debt. After making payments for more than a year, MB Capital ultimately defaulted on the property, and, eventually, the Property was foreclosed upon, netting Plaintiffs only $774,000.

DISCUSSION

I. MOTION TO DISMISS STANDARD

In order to avoid dismissal pursuant to Civil Rule 12(b)(6), a complaint must allege sufficient factual matter, which if accepted as true, would "state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face." Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678 (2009) (quoting Bell Atlantic Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 570 (2007)). A claim is facially plausible when a court can draw a reasonable inference that the defendant is liable for misconduct. Id. The plaintiff must provide "more than labels and conclusions, and a formulaic recitation of the elements of a cause of action will not do." Id.

II. MONEY JUDGMENT IN NON-DISCHARGEABILITY PROCEEDINGS

The Ninth Circuit has held that a bankruptcy court may enter a monetary judgment on a disputed state law fraud claim in the course of determining that the debt is nondischargeable. Cowen v. Kennedy (In re Kennedy), 108 F.3d 1015 (9th Cir.1997). Shawn Deitz v. Wayne Ford, Patricia Ford (In re Wayne Ford, Patricia Ford), 469 B.R. 11, 21 (9th Cir. BAP 2012), aff'd, 760 F.3d 1038 (9th Cir. 2014). Nevertheless, in the complaint at issue here, Plaintiffs have set forth only two causes of action: (1) non-dischargeability pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(A); and (2) non-dischargeability pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 526(a). 11 U.S.C. § 523(a) alone is not a basis to enter a money judgment; the plain language of the statute provides that it is a basis for finding a debt to be non-dischargeable. If Plaintiffs seek a money judgment, they need to set forth a non-bankruptcy law cause of action supporting that request.¹ In order words, Plaintiffs need to establish that a debt exists under state law. Without that showing, it is impossible to determine the applicable legal analysis.

III. NON-DISCHARGEABILITY

As 11 U.S.C. § 523(a) makes clear, the first element in any non-dischargeability proceeding is that the debtor owe the plaintiff a debt. The complaint at issue here fails to plead adequate factual matter detailing the debt owing.

The Bankruptcy Code defines "debt" as "liability on a claim." 11 U.S.C. § 101(12). The Bankruptcy Code defines "claim" as "right to payment, whether or not such right is reduced to judgment, liquidate, unliquidated, fixed, contingent, matured, unmatured, disputed, undisputed, legal, equitable, secured, or unsecured." 11 U.S.C. § 101(5).

The only paragraph in the complaint which presumably alleges that Plaintiffs have a claim against Defendant is paragraph 57, which states: "Plaintiffs are entitled to a return of all the monies that they were compelled to provide in the form of the loan proceeds to Bastorous and Bastorous' alter egos, agents, dbas, through this fraudulent misrepresentations and concealment." This assertion is implausible on its face, as it appears to assert a debt in the amount of $671,000 based on an unexplained legal theory. According to the complaint, Plaintiffs lent Defendant approximately 61% of $1,100,000 (or approximately $671,000) and recouped 61% of $774,000 (or approximately $472,140). It would appear, based on the figures provided by Plaintiffs, that Plaintiffs lost $198,860 in their investment – which seems to be the source of the statement in paragraph 58, that "[a]s a direct and proximate result of Defendant's fraudulent acts, Plaintiffs have suffered damages in a total sum of not less than $198,000."

Yet, the assertion in paragraph 58 is not adequate to allege a debt – it is simply an allegation of damages, an always necessary element of a legal claim, but not, itself, a legal claim. While it may be possible to piece together fragments of the complaint to craft a coherent, cognizable claim, the nature and theory of such a claim are less than clear. The Court declines to engage in such artistry, especially given that because an independent cause of action is necessary to support the request for a money judgment, it appears likely the complaint will ultimately need to be amended to provide such detail regardless.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to GRANT the motion and DISMISS the complaint without prejudice to filing an amended complaint within 30 days of the entry of the order. Parties to address referral to mediation.

BACKGROUND

On December 13, 2017, Sean Coy ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. On February 2, 2018, Debtor filed a motion to avoid the lien of Deutsche Bank National Trust Company ("Deutsche"). On February 15, 2018, Deutsche filed its opposition to the motion to avoid lien. In its opposition, Deutsche argued that a portion of the originally senior lien¹, held by FMJM RWL III Trust 2015-1 ("FMJM") is actually subordinate to the originally junior lien² of Deutsche, due to the execution, after the recordation of Deutsche's lien, of a mortgage modification without the consent of Deutsche which Deutsche argues materially prejudices its junior lien. Deutsche argued that because of this subordination, its lien was not wholly unsecured, and therefore could not be avoided.

On February 27, 2018, Deutsche filed a complaint against FMJM seeking declaratory relief. On March 30, 2018, FMJM filed a motion to dismiss for failure to state a claim. On April 12, 2018, Deutsche filed its opposition. By stipulation of the parties, the instant hearing has been previously continued for two weeks.

DISCUSSION

I. MOTION TO DISMISS STANDARD

In order to avoid dismissal pursuant to Civil Rule 12(b)(6), a complaint must allege sufficient factual matter, which if accepted as true, would "state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face." Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678 (2009) (quoting Bell Atlantic Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 570 (2007)). A claim is facially plausible when a court can draw a reasonable inference that the defendant is liable for misconduct. Id. "While legal conclusions can provide the framework of a complaint, they must be supported by factual allegations." Id. at 464. The plaintiff must provide "more than labels and conclusions, and a formulaic recitation of the elements of a cause of action will not do." Id. at 678.

II. DECLARATORY JUDGMENT

FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 7001(2) & (9) state the following:

An adversary proceeding is governed by the rules of this Part VII. The following are adversary proceedings:

(2) a proceeding to determine the validity, priority, or extent of a lien or other interest in property, other than a proceeding under Rule 4003(d);

(9) a proceeding to obtain a declaratory judgment relating to any of the foregoing

Chapter 13

Here, Deutsche seeks a judgment declaring that its lien is entitled to higher priority than a portion of FMJM's lien.

The starting point for priority of liens under California law is "first in time, first in right." See generally CAL. CIV. CODE § 2897. Deutsche points to Gluskin v. Atlantic Sav. & Loan Ass'n, 32 Cal. App. 3d 307 (Cal. Ct. App. 1973) and Lennar Ne. Partners v. Buice, 49 Cal. App. 4th 1576 (Cal. Ct. App. 1996) as standing for the proposition that if a senior lienholder executed a modification which prejudices the junior lienholder, the senior lienholder may lose priority to the extent of the modification. See also MILLER & STARR CAL. REAL ESTATE § 10:102 (4th ed. 2017) ("If modifications in the senior lien have a material adverse effect on the junior lien either by increasing the risk of default or making protection of the junior lienor's position potentially more burdensome, then the senior lien may lose priority to the junior lien."). FMJM argues that the cases cited above contain unique factual situations not applicable here and that the California Court of Appeals has constrained the holding of Gluskin and Lennar to specific factual situations. See Friery v. Sutter Buttes Sav. Bank, 61 Cal. App. 4th 869 (Cal. Ct. App. 1998); see also MILLER & STARR CAL. REAL ESTATE § 10:102 (4th ed. 2017) ("The possible argument from these earlier cases, that all junior lienors, not solely subordinating sellers, should be able to gain priority over modifications to the senior lien made without their consent, has been rejected.").

Recently, citing all three of the above cases, the California Court of Appeals synthesized the existing case law with the following succinct statement:

Subsequent cases have made clear that a material modification of a senior lien, such as an increase in the principal or interest rate, does not result in loss of priority absent contractual subordination. Where a seller agrees to subordinate to construction loans, a material modification of those loans may result in their total loss of priority. However, in the case of a subordinating junior lender, only the modification of the senior lien loses priority.

Bank of New York Mellon v. Citibank, N.A., 8 Cal. App. 5th 935, 954 (Cal. Ct. App. 2017) (citations omitted).

FMJM implicitly, and to some degree explicitly, asserts that this case is closer to the situation in Friery than the situation in Lennar. This Court disagrees. Here, the notes now held by FMJM and Deutsche were executed simultaneously, as first and second mortgage, with the intention that the security interest evidenced by the second mortgage be subordinated to the security interest evidenced by the first mortgage. In Friery, however, there was originally only a single lien on the property – the original borrowers then sold the property to a third party, who encumbered the property with additional liens. That is not the situation here. Here, the two mortgages were executed simultaneously, similar to the situation in Lennar, and, as a result, the subordination principles outlined by Bank of New York Mellon, Lennar, and Gluskin are applicable.

In distinguishing Lennar from the instant situation, FMJM argues that, unlike the case in Lennar, here the modification did not materially prejudice the junior lienholder, Deutsche. The Court need not reach this argument at the motion to dismiss standard because such an argument is usually factual in nature. See MILLER & STARR CAL. REAL ESTATE § 10:102 (4th ed. 2017) ("Usually, whether a modification has a material adverse impact on a junior lienor is a question of act, but when reasonable minds cannot differ, the conclusion that the modification resulted in a material adverse effect can be decided as a matter of law."). While FMJM has provided arguments as to why the Deutsche is not prejudiced by the modification, the complaint of Deutsche alleges sufficient factual matter to plausibly allege that material prejudice could plausibly have occurred. FMJM's assertions on this point are not appropriate at the motion to dismiss stage.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to DENY the motion to dismiss.

BACKGROUND

On June 29, 2017, Cary and Amber Surface ("Debtors") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. On September 21, 2017, Debtors' Chapter 13 plan was confirmed.¹

On February 5, 2018, Trustee filed a motion to dismiss for plan delinquency. After Debtors filed an opposition, the original hearing, on March 22, 2018, was continued for one week for a full cure. The day before the continued hearing, Debtors filed a supplemental declaration stating that their payment had still not posted to the Trustee's website. On March 29, 2018, the Court continued the motion to dismiss for two more weeks, again for a full cure. Instead of curing, Debtors filed a motion to modify plan, and the Trustee filed comments indicating disapproval of the modification. On April 12, 2018, the case was dismissed.

On April 23, 2018, Debtors filed a motion to vacate dismissal, as well as an application shortening time. The Court set a hearing for May 10, 2018 at 11:00 a.m. On April 24, 2018, Trustee filed comments indicating his disapproval of Debtors' request that the dismissal order be vacated nunc pro tunc, and indicated approval of Debtors' request to vacate dismissal, conditioned on Debtors' full cure of the delinquency ($2,766) and the Debtors' submission of their 2017 tax returns and refunds to Trustee.

DISCUSSION

Regarding Debtor's request that the vacation of the dismissal order be nunc pro tunc, the Court agrees with the Trustee that such relief is not appropriate. Debtor's motion does not contain legal authorities that directly support the proposition that the reinstatement of a case can, or should, be ordered nunc pro tunc. It is also not clear why Debtor has made such a request, although Trustee appears to assume that Debtor wishes to have the automatic stay retroactively imposed.

The general rule is "that the reinstatement of a dismissed bankruptcy case does not retroactively reimpose the automatic stay." In re Lomagno, 320 B.R. 473, 479 (B.A.P. 1st Cir. 2005) (collecting cases); see also In re Nagel, 245 B.R. 657, 662 (D. Ariz. 1999) ("By 'undoing' the return to the status quo ante through the retroactive application of the stay, the bankruptcy court engaged in a kind of judicial time travel that cannot be reconciled with the law.")

As discussed in In re Lomagno, courts have recognized an exception when there is a violation of due process rights. See generally 320 B.R. at 480 ("Several courts have concluded that reinstatement of a dismissed bankruptcy case does not affect the validity of a creditor's actions taken during the period the case was dismissed, unless there was a violation of due process rights.") (emphasis in original). Here, there is no indication that the situation fits within the exception to the general rule.

Regarding Debtors' request that the dismissal order be vacated, Debtors have not provided any legal authority for their request. Debtors' motion contains two legal sections: (1) a section relating to nunc pro tunc relief; and (2) a section asserting that the request is timely under FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 60. Debtors have not, however, indicated which provision in FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 60 is applicable to the instant situation, and have not presented any factual or legal analysis.

Based upon the recommendation of Trustee, however, the Court will vacate the dismissal order if Debtors comply with the conditions specified in the Trustee's comments.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to GRANT the motion in accordance with the conditions and limitations outlined in the Trustee's comments.

MOVANT: WELLS FARGO BANK, N.A.

Docket 10

Tentative Ruling:

5/15/2018

Service is Proper
Opposition: Late

Pursuant to the operation of 11 U.S.C. § 362(c)(4)(A)(i), no automatic stay went into effect in the instant case, and, therefore, Movant's requests for relief to the automatic stay, to the extent that in rem relief is not requested, are DENIED as moot, although the order may make clear there is no stay in effect by virtue of § 362(c)(4)(A)(i).

Regarding Movant's request for in rem relief from the automatic stay, the Court is inclined to DENY the requests for lack of cause shown. The entire basis for Movant's request is that the instant case has been filed in bad faith due to two previous Chapter 13 filings in the five months preceding this petition. The docket reflects that each of the two previous cases were filed by the same attorney, Brian Nomi. The first case was dismissed for failure to file required information and the second case was dismissed at the confirmation hearing due to failure to appear at the meeting of creditors. At the time of the second dismissal, the Court imposed a 180-day re-filing bar.

Subsequent to the second dismissal, Debtor retained new counsel, Christopher Hewitt. Mr. Hewitt subsequently moved for relief from the second dismissal order in so far as the order contained a re-filing bar. The Court granted that request, and, on April 10, 2018, Debtor filed a third Chapter 13 case using the services of Mr. Hewitt.

Given the circumstances surrounding the previous two dismissals and the fact that Debtor has not sought to impose the automatic stay, the Court declines to infer that the instant bankruptcy filing evidences bad faith to support the requested in rem relief.

The Court is inclined to GRANT the motion, continuing the automatic stay as to Ocwen Loan Servicing LLC only. Pursuant to Local Rule 4001-1(c)(1)(C)(iv), service is required upon "the holder of a lien or encumbrance against the subject property that is known to the movant, scheduled by the debtor, or appears in the public record." Docket 56

5/15/18

BACKGROUND

On February 7, 2018, Vance Johnson ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 11 voluntary petition. On February 27, 2018, the Court approved Debtor's application to employ Goe & Forsythe, LLP ("Counsel") as bankruptcy counsel.

On May 1, 2018, Joana Johnson ("Joana"), Debtor's ex-wife, filed a proof of claim in the amount of $6,134,701.47 ("Claim 8"), of which $1,144,497.36 was identified as entitled to priority, and $309,233.74 was identified as secured by certain real property in Temecula, California. On May 7, 2018, Joana filed a complaint against Debtor to determine her interest in, and compel turnover of, certain funds held in Counsel's client trust account.

On April 24, 2018, Debtor filed the instant motion seeking Court approval of the payment of the mediation fee from the DIP account.

Chapter 11

The Court supports the parties pursuit of a solution through mediation, and, in the absence of any opposition, is inclined to GRANT the motion pursuant to the two issues below.

First, it not clear why the parties have not sought to defray costs by utilizing the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Central District of California's Mediation Program.

Second, the motion states that the parties "have preliminarily agreed to a $7,500 cap on the fee for the mediation, which Debtor and Joana have agreed to split evenly." Nevertheless, the motion also states that "Debtor requests authority to pay Debtor's portion of the mediation from Debtor's debtor-in-possession account up to the amount of $5,000." It is unclear whether the two quoted sections evidence an oversight on the part of the Debtor or Counsel or whether the discrepancy reflects an anticipation that the preliminary cap will be exceeded.

APPEARANCES REQUIRED.

Docket 49

Tentative Ruling:

05/16/2018

BACKGROUND

On April 27, 2013, Bertrand Tenke Kengni ("Debtor") filed a petition for chapter 7 relief. Helen Frazer is the duly appointed chapter 7 trustee ("Trustee"). Among the assets of the estate is an interest in real property located at 813 North Campus Ave (the "Property").

On April 18, 2018, the Trustee filed her Motion to Sell Property of the Estate Free and Clear of Liens (the "Motion").

Service of the Motion was proper as to the Debtor, Carisa Kengni and Fernando Pearson, as well as all creditors, and no opposition has been filed.

DISCUSSION

Sale of Estate Property Pursuant to Section 363(b)

The trustee, after notice and a hearing, may sell property of the estate. 11 U.S.C. § 363(b)(1); see also Commodity Futures Trading Comm'n v. Weintraub, 471 U.S. 343, 352 (1985). The sale must be in the best interests of the estate and the price must be fair and reasonable. In re Canyon Partnership, 55 B.R. 520 (Bankr. S.D. Cal. 1985); see also In re Wilde Horse Enterprises, Inc., 136 B.R. 830, 841 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1991)(sale must have fair/reasonable price, accurate/reasonable notice to creditors and sale made in good faith). The trustee must articulate some "business justification" for selling estate property out of the "ordinary course of business" before the court may approve the transaction. In re Lionel Corp., 722 F.2d 1063, 1071 (2d Cir. 1983); In re Ernst Home Ctr., Inc., 209 B.R. 974, 979 (Bankr. W.D. Wash. 1997). Objections to sale that are based on inadequacy of price are often resolved the court ordering an auction, which may occur in open court. Simantrob v. Claims Prosecutor, LLC (In re Lahijani), 325 B.R. 282, 287 (9th Cir. BAP 2005) citing Fed. R. Bankr. P. 6004(f).¹

In support of the proposed sale to Yuefu Yu and Yi Zhao (collectively, "Buyers"), the Trustee sets forth the following figures and analysis:

Sale Price	$365,000
Ditech	$189,000
Debtor's Claim of Exemption	$19,621.59
Closing Costs (8%, including 6% broker commission)	$29,378.41
Net Equity for the Estate:	$127,000

Based on these figures, the proposed sale to Purchaser appears reasonable and the Trustee's business justification for the sale warrants granting of the Motion.

a) Bidding Procedures

Generally, bidding procedures must be untainted by self-dealing, encourage bidding and be fair/reasonable/serve the best interests of the estate. See In re Crown Corp., 679 F.2d 774 (9th Cir. 1982). Here, the Trustee has proposed bidding procedures which require an initial overbid of $1,000 above the proposed purchase price of $365,000, with each additional bid in increments of $1,000, and a deposit of $7,500 provided to the Trustee 5 days prior to the sale. The Trustee's proposed bidding procedures are reasonable and encourage bidding and are therefore approved.

b) Sale Made in Good Faith

The proposed sale has been brought in good faith and has been negotiated on an "arms- length" basis. The court, in Wilde Horse Enterprises, set forth the factors in considering whether a transaction is in good faith. The court stated:

‘Good faith’ encompasses fair value, and further speaks to the integrity of the transaction. Typical ‘bad faith’ or misconduct, would include collusion between the seller and buyer, or any attempt to take unfair advantage of other potential purchasers. . . . And, with respect to making such determinations, the court and creditors must be provided with sufficient information to allow them to take a position on the proposed sale.

Id. at 842 (citations omitted).

Here, the Trustee marketed the Property via her Broker, Neiman Realty, which marketed the Property. The Buyers' all cash offer is the highest and best offer received by the Trustee since listing the Property in the winter of 2017. (Trustee Decl. ¶9). The sale appears to be made in good faith.

c) Sale Free and Clear of non-Debtor Interests

A trustee may sell estate property "free and clear" of third party interests in the property, such as co-ownership interest, liens, claims and encumbrances. See 11 U.S.C. § 363(f). A sale free and clear of third party interests pursuant to section 363 is authorized only if one of the following conditions is met: (1) sale authorized by applicable nonbankruptcy law; (2) third party whose interest will be affected consents; (3) the affected interest is a lien and the sale price is greater than total value of all liens on the property; (4) the affected interest is a bona fide dispute; or (5) the third party whose interest will be affected could be compelled to accept a money satisfaction of the interest. 11 U.S.C. § 363(f)(1)-(5).

Here, the Trustee seeks a sale free and clear of any interest of Carisa Kengni's nephew, Fernando Pearson Jr. ("Pearson"), to whom she attempted to transfer, post-petition, an interest in the Property. The Trustee's Declaration sufficiently details that there are bona fide disputes as to any interest that could be asserted by either Carisa Kengni or Pearson because the attempted transfers of interests in the Property postpetition likely constitute avoidable postpetition transfers. Based on the foregoing, the Court is inclined to grant the request to sell the Property free and clear of the non-Debtor interests of Carisa Kengni (already resolved via 9019) and of any interest held by Pearson.

TENTATIVE RULING

Based on the foregoing, the Court is inclined to GRANT the Motion as follows:

1. Approving the sale of the Property to the Buyers or successful overbidder;
2. Providing that the Trustee is authorized and empowered to execute and deliver on behalf of the estate any and all documents as reasonably may be necessary to implement the terms of the proposed sale;
3. Providing that the notice given by the Trustee in connection with the sale and hearing thereon is adequate, sufficient, proper and complies with all applicable provisions of the Bankruptcy Code and Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure;
4. Approving the overbid procedures;
5. Approving payment of the Ditech deed of trust and any unpaid property taxes from escrow;
6. Approving payment of a 6% Broker's commission at close without further order;
7. Authorizing the sale of the Property free and clear of any interest of Pearson;
8. Authorizing Trustee to pay Debtor his allowed exemption; and
9. Waiving the 14-day stay prescribed by rule 6004(h) of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure.

Finally, the Court does not make a good faith finding at this time because no

Tentative Ruling:

TENTATIVE RULING

The Office of the United States Trustee ("UST") moves this Court for an order to show cause why John Alarcon ("Alarcon"), bankruptcy petition preparer, should not be held in contempt of Court. Service of the Motion appears proper and no opposition has been filed.

In support, the UST has provided evidence that Alarcon previously committed violations of §110 while performing BPP services and was eventually enjoined from performing BPP services in February 2017 by Judge Clarkson for his failure to comply with prior orders (the "Injunction Order"). Despite that injunction and Alarcon's failure to seek to lift the injunction, the UST has provided evidence that Alarcon aided the Debtor in the instant case in the filing of her bankruptcy petition. The evidence sufficiently demonstrates Alarcon has been performing BPP services in violation of the Injunction Order.

Based on the foregoing, the Court is inclined to GRANT the Motion and issue an order to show cause why Alarcon should not be held in contempt.

05/16/2018

BACKGROUND

On December 8, 2017, Mark Bastorous and Bernadette Shenouda (collectively, "Debtors" or "Defendants") filed their petition for chapter 7 relief.

On March 12, 2018, Mona and Rafet Gerges and St. Mary Properties, LLC (collectively, Plaintiffs") filed their complaint for dischargeability determination under §§ 523(a)(2), (a)(4), and (a)(6) and for a finding of Alter Ego liability and an award of attorneys' fees and costs (the "Complaint"). The Complaint alleges generally that the Plaintiffs made loans in the original amount of $540,000 plus interest at 1.66% every six months (the "Advances") to Defendants' wholly owned entity, MRM Investment Group Inc. ("MRM") and by deposits with Defendants' wholly owned corporate entity Professional Investment Group, LLC ("PIG"), secured by real property located at 2311 S. 6th Avenue, Arcadia, CA 91006 (the "Arcadia Property"). Plaintiffs further allege as follows:

1. Plaintiffs interest in the Arcadia Property was secured by a Deed of Trust recorded May 4, 2015 (Compl. ¶10)
2. A Deed of Trust in favor of the Bleeker Family Trust was recorded on April 20, 2016, securing a note in the principal amount of $735,000 (Compl. ¶11);
3. A Trustee's Deed Upon Sale following a foreclosure sale was recorded on January 10, 2017 (Id.);
4. On March 5, 2017, the Bleeker Family Trust sold the Arcadia Property for $880,000 to recover indebtedness due of $869,428.05 (Id.);

6. Plaintiff in a senior priority position to the Bleeker Family Trust, was not paid any amount from the proceeds (Compl. ¶13);
7. Plaintiffs made Advances to Defendant because they knew them and trusted them (Compl. ¶14);
8. In or about November 15, 2015, after the last of the Advances was made to Defendants, Defendants admitted to Plaintiffs that the Advances were not secured by the Arcadia Property (Compl. ¶15);
9. Defendant further represented to Plaintiff that an attorney, Marian Bishay (SBN 195315), would form a new corporation for them, to be known as St. Mary Properties, LLC ("St.Mary"), and that St. Mary would enter into a new promissory note with Defendant, secured by a different property owned by Defendant (Compl. ¶16);

Defendant further represented to Plaintiff that they would enter into a Secured Promissory Note and Profit Participation Agreement ("Secured Note") in the original amount of $552,000, with a deed of trust recorded in a third position on an office building in Santa Ana, located at 1665 E 4th Street, Santa Ana, CA ("Office Property").

On November 15, 2015, Plaintiff executed a Deed of Trust and Assignment of Rents ("Deed of Trust"), in which it is stated it is to secure performance under a promissory note, dated as of June 28, 2015, by and between St. Mary Properties, LLC, on the one hand, and PIG, on the other hand (Compl. ¶18);
12. The Office Property was later foreclosed by a senior lender (Compl. ¶22);
13. The Articles of Organization for St Mary were not filed until August 6, 2016, or nine months after the Deed of Trust was executed (Compl. ¶21).

On April 14, 2018, Debtors filed their Motion to Dismiss the Complaint ("Motion"). The Plaintiffs opposed the Motion on May 2, 2018 ("Opposition") and Debtors filed their reply to the Opposition on May 9, 2018. Service is not at issue.

Rule 7012, a bankruptcy court may dismiss a complaint if it fails to "state a claim upon which relief can be granted." In reviewing a Civil Rule 12(b)(6) motion, the trial court must accept as true all facts alleged in the complaint and draw all reasonable inferences in favor of the plaintiff. Navarro v. Block, 250 F.3d 729, 732 (9th Cir. 2001). However, the trial court need not accept as true conclusory allegations in a complaint or legal characterizations cast in the form of factual allegations. Bell Atl. Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 555–56, 127 S.Ct. 1955, 167 L.Ed.2d 929 (2007); Hartman v. Gilead Scis., Inc. (In re Gilead Scis. Sec. Litig.), 536 F.3d 1049, 1055 (9th Cir. 2008).

To avoid dismissal under Civil Rule 12(b)(6), a plaintiff must aver in the complaint "sufficient factual matter, accepted as true, to 'state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face.'" Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678, 129 S.Ct. 1937, 173 L.Ed.2d 868 (2009) (quoting Twombly, 550 U.S. at 570, 127 S.Ct. 1955). It is axiomatic that a claim cannot be plausible when it has no legal basis. A dismissal under Civil Rule 12(b)(6) may be based either on the lack of a cognizable legal theory or on the absence of sufficient facts alleged under a cognizable legal theory. Johnson v. Riverside Healthcare Sys., 534 F.3d 1116, 1121 (9th Cir.2008).

Rule 9(b)

Allegations regarding fraud are subject to a heightened pleading standard. Civil Rule 9(b), made applicable to adversary proceedings by Rule 7009, requires that a plaintiff must state "with particularity the circumstances constituting fraud...." The Ninth Circuit has provided guidance for the "with particularity" requirement by stating that to comport with Civil Rule 9(b) the complaint must (1) specify the averred fraudulent representations; (2) aver the representations were false when made; (3) identify the speaker; (4) state when and where the statements were made; and (5) state the manner in which the representations were false and misleading. Lancaster Cmty. Hosp. v. Antelope Valley Hosp. Dist., 940 F.2d 397, 405 (9th Cir.1991).

Because fraud encompasses a wide variety of circumstances, the requirements of Civil Rule 9(b)—like Civil Rule 8(a)(2)—should provide all defendants with sufficient information to formulate a response. Therefore, the complaint cannot lump multiple defendants together but must "inform each defendant separately of the allegations surrounding [its] alleged participation in the fraud." Swartz v. KPMB LLP, 476 F.3d 756, 764–65 (9th Cir. 2007).

However, in Cooper v. Pickett, 137 F.3d 616, 627 (9th Cir.1997), the Ninth Circuit acknowledged that "[e]very transaction alleged to be fraudulent does not have to be detailed in the complaint." Instead, the Rule 9(b) requirement is satisfied where the Complaint sets forth an explanation as to why the transactions were false or misleading. See Cooper v. Pickett, 137 F.3d at 625; see also In re Dreier LLP, 453 B.R. 499, 508-09 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2011) ("Under appropriate circumstances, multiple transactions will be collapsed and treated as steps in a single transaction for analysis under the fraudulent conveyance laws.").

I. CLAIM I : FRAUD UNDER §523(a)(2)

The Defendants assert that the claim for fraud is insufficiently stated. The Court agrees.

In order to maintain a claim for actual fraud, the plaintiff must provide sufficient factual content from which a court can derive that:

- (1) the debtor made the representations;
- (2) that at the time he knew they were false;
- (3) that he made them with the intention and purpose of deceiving the creditor;
- (4) that the creditor relied on such representations, and
- (5) that the creditor sustained the alleged loss and damage as the proximate result of the representations having been made.

In re Taylor, 514 F.2d 1370, 1373 (9th Cir.1975)

Allegations regarding fraud are subject to a heightened pleading standard. Civil Rule 9(b), made applicable to adversary proceedings by Rule 7009, requires that a plaintiff must state "with particularity the circumstances constituting fraud..." The Ninth Circuit has provided guidance for the "with particularity" requirement by stating that to comport with Civil Rule 9(b) the complaint must (1) specify the averred fraudulent representations; (2) aver the representations were false when made; (3) identify the speaker; (4) state when and where the statements were made; and (5) state the manner in which the representations were false and misleading. *Lancaster Cmty. of Civil Rule 9(b)—like Civil Rule 8(a)(2)—should provide all defendants with sufficient information to formulate a response. Therefore, the complaint cannot lump multiple defendants together but must "inform each defendant separately of the allegations surrounding [its] alleged participation in the fraud." Swartz v. KPMB LLP, 476 F.3d 756, 764–65 (9th Cir. 2007).

In the Complaint, Plaintiffs imply misrepresentations were made but do not identify which Debtor made the misrepresentations, when and where the statements were made or the manner in which the statements were misleading. It is, for example, asserted in the Opposition that a Defendant (though it is not clear which one) represented that the Advances would be secured by the Arcadia Property. (Opp'n at 2). However, the Complaint does not actually state that a representation was made regarding the debt being secured. Instead, the Complaint states generically that the "Note, was to be secured by a deed of trust". The Complaint then goes on to state that the Note was recorded on May 4, 2015, and also provides an instrument number. (Compl. at ¶11). The Complaint later indicates that Defendant (again, it is not clear which Defendant) admitted that the Advances were not secured by the Arcadia Property. (Compl. at ¶15). The series of allegations is confusing as to what the Plaintiffs understood was happening and what misrepresentations were made by the Defendants, even in a general sense. Similarly, as to the Office Property, it is not clear what, if any misrepresentation occurred, and if a misrepresentation occurred, how such misrepresentation caused a loss to the Plaintiffs where a senior lender was the one to foreclose on the Office Property.

If, for example, the Plaintiffs had alleged that Defendant Bastouros stated he would record the Deed of Trust on behalf of the Plaintiffs and then failed to do so, which ultimately resulted in Plaintiffs losing their investment when the Property was foreclosed, that statement would constitute a misrepresentation. However, here, there is basically no misrepresentation alleged. Nor is it clear how the foreclosure by the senior lender as to the Office Property was caused by any fraud or misrepresentation of the Defendants.

The Court is inclined to GRANT the Motion as to the First Claim and dismiss with leave to amend.

FIDUCIARY CAPACITY, EMBEZZLEMENT OR LARCENY

Section 523(a)(4) provides in relevant part that a discharge under section 727 does not discharge an individual debtor from any debt for fraud or defalcation while acting in a fiduciary capacity, embezzlement, or larceny. 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(4).

First, whether a relationship is a "fiduciary" one within the meaning of section 523(a)(4) is a question of federal law. Ragsdale v. Haller, 780 F.2d 794, 795 (9th Cir.1986). The broad, general definition of "fiduciary" is inapplicable in the dischargeability context. Id. at 796. Instead, the fiduciary relationship must be one arising from an express or technical trust that was imposed before and without reference to the wrongdoing that caused the debt. Id. Here, there is no express trust or trust res as required for a finding of fraud or defalcation while acting in a fiduciary capacity. See id. In their Opposition, the Plaintiffs assert that the Defendants acted in an investment-advisory capacity for the Plaintiffs and then cite to a case indicating that a real estate broker is a fiduciary under § 523(a)(4). (Opp'n at 6). The Opposition's legal authority and argument do not cure the failure of the Complaint to allege that an investment-advisory relationship existed between the parties nor does the Opposition provide legal authority for the proposition that the relationship between the parties created a financial advisor relationship or that such relationship would constitute a fiduciary relationship under § 523(a)(4). The Court is inclined to GRANT the Motion as to the Second Claim and dismiss with leave to amend. Finally, the Court concurs that because larceny and embezzlement are neither alleged nor addressed in the Opposition, to the extent the Plaintiffs sought relief on these grounds, the Court is also inclined to GRANT as to these two grounds.

III. CLAIM III: WILLFUL AND MALICIOUS INJURY

Section 523(a)(6) provides in relevant part that a discharge under section 727 does not discharge an individual debtor from any debt for willful and malicious injury by the debtor to another entity or to the property of another entity. 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(6).

First, for an injury to be willful, the debtor must have a subjective motive to inflict injury or must believe that injury is substantially certain to occur as a result of his or her conduct. Petralia v. Jercich (In re Jercich), 238 F.3d 1202, 1208 (9th Cir. 2001). In other words, the debtor must have acted with "actual knowledge that harm to the creditor was substantially certain" to result. In re Su, 290 F.3d at 1146; Ditto v.

McCurdy, 510 F.3d 1070, 1078 n. 8 (9th Cir. 2007).

In addition to the willfulness requirement, a claim under § 523(a)(6) requires that the injury be caused with malice. See Su at 1146-47. A 'malicious' injury involves (1) a wrongful act, (2) done intentionally, (3) which necessarily causes injury, and (4) is done without just cause or excuse. Id. (internal citations omitted).

Here, as explained in SECTION I regarding the fraud claim, the Complaint has inadequately alleged actions or misrepresentations by the Defendants to establish a plausible claim that Defendants acted willfully and maliciously. The Complaint in its current form establishes little more than that Defendants induced Plaintiffs to loan them money in order to flip houses.

The Opposition indicates that the Defendants induced Plaintiff to record a reconveyance so that the Plaintiffs could induce another victim to loan money on the representations of sufficient equity in the Arcadia Property. Such allegations would be more supportive of Plaintiffs' claims. However, these facts were not alleged in the Complaint. The Complaint is vague as to why the reconveyance occurred. If the Defendant made a misrepresentation to Plaintiffs to induce them to reconvey the Deed of Trust on the Arcadia Property then Rule 9 compels Plaintiffs to set these allegations forth in the Complaint.

Based on the foregoing, the Court is inclined to GRANT the Motion as to the Third Claim for Relief.

IV. CLAIM IV and V: ALTER EGO AND ATTORNEY FEES AND COSTS

The sole argument by Defendants to support dismissal of the Fourth and Fifth Claims for relief is that they seek substantive relief which is not available in a nondischargeability action. The Ninth Circuit has held that a bankruptcy court may enter a monetary judgment on a disputed state law claim in the course of determining that the debt is nondischargeable. Cowen v. Kennedy (In re Kennedy), 108 F.3d 1015 (9th Cir.1997). Shawn Deitz v. Wayne Ford, Patricia Ford (In re Wayne Ford, Patricia Ford), 469 B.R. 11, 21 (9th Cir. BAP 2012), aff'd, 760 F.3d 1038 (9th Cir. 2014).

Based on the foregoing, the Defendants have failed to establish that substantive claims specifically related to dischargeability complaints cannot be

Docket 90

Tentative Ruling:

05/16/2018

BACKGROUND

On October 25, 2013, Douglas Jay Roger ("Debtor" or "Defendant") filed his petition for chapter 7 relief. On September 22, 2014, Revere Financial Corporation ("Revere") and Jerry Wang ("Receiver") (collectively, "Plaintiffs") filed a complaint for determination of the dischargeability of debts pursuant to §§ 523(a)(2)(B), 523(a)(2)(A), 523(a)(4)(A), 523(a)(4) & 523(a)(6); and objecting to the Debtor's discharge pursuant to §§727(a)(3), 727(a)(4)(A), 727(a)(4)(B), 727(a)(5), & 727(a)(7) ("Complaint" or "Dischargeability Action").

On October 6, 2014, the Debtor filed a Motion to Dismiss, to Strike, and for a More Definite Statement (the "MTD"). After numerous hearings on the merits of the Complaint, followed by numerous months of joint stipulations between the parties to continue the hearing for settlement discussions, an order granting in part and denying in part the MTD was entered on December 20, 2017. On February 20, 2018, the Plaintiffs filed their First Amended Complaint (the "FAC"). On March 14 and 21, the parties stipulated to a continuance and extension of time for Defendant to respond to the FAC. On April 24, 2018, the Defendant filed a Motion to Dismiss and/or Strike the FAC (the "Motion"). Plaintiffs filed Opposition to the Motion on May 2, 2018. On the same date, the Trustee for the Douglas J. Roger MD. Inc. ("DJRI") bankruptcy filed a joinder to the Plaintiffs' Opposition ("Opposition"). The Defendant filed his reply on May 10, 2018 ("Reply").

DISCUSSION

I. Dismissal pursuant to Rule 8

The Defendant asserts that dismissal is warranted because the First Amended Complaint violates Rule 8 in that Plaintiffs fail to provide a short and plain statement of the claims. Instead, Defendant argues that the FAC is "filled with subordinate clauses and contains extensive elaboration and superfluous details that make it non-compliant with the provisions of [Rule 8]." (Mot. at 7:12-16).

In response to Defendant's argument, Plaintiff correctly cites to Hearns v. San Bernardino Police Dep't, 530 F.3d 1124, 1131 (9th Cir. 2008). In Hearns, the Ninth Circuit extensively discusses cases in which dismissals under Rule 8 have been upheld:

- Not only was the first complaint at issue in that case lengthy; it set out its claims in two sentences, which comprised 30 lines, without specifying which of the 20 named defendants were liable for which claims ... We affirmed the district court's dismissal of the final amended complaint, which we described as 'argumentative, prolix, replete with redundancy, and largely irrelevant' (McHenry v. Renne, 84 F.3d 1172 (9th Cir.1996));
- In Nevijel v. North Coast Life Ins. Co., 651 F.2d 671, 671 (9th Cir.1981), we upheld a Rule 8(a) dismissal of a 48–page complaint that contained an additional 23 pages of addenda and exhibits. The complaint was characterized as " 'verbose, confusing and almost entirely conclusory.' " Id. at 674;
- In Schmidt v. Herrmann, 614 F.2d 1221, 1224 (9th Cir.1980), the complaint was 30 pages long. It was "impossible to designate the cause or causes of action attempted to be alleged in the complaint." 614 F.2d at 1223. The complaint was described as a "confusing statement of a non-existing cause of action" and as "confusing, distracting, ambiguous, and unintelligible";
- The Ninth Circuit further indicated that two older cases, Gillibeau v. City of Richmond, 417 F.2d 426, 431–32 (9th Cir.1969) and Agnew v. Moody, 330 F.2d 868, 870–71 (9th Cir.1964), narrowly permit dismissal under Rule 8(a)(2) where a complaint is "so verbose, confused and redundant that its true substance, if any, is well disguised"

Chapter 7

Here, the Court initially notes that Defendant fails to point to any specific portions of the FAC which support a finding that the allegations are so verbose, confused or redundant as to conceal the true substance of the Plaintiff's claims or that dismissal is otherwise warranted under Rule 8(a) or (d). Nor does the Court's review of the FAC raise any concerns that the Defendant could be confused about what claims are being alleged against him. Finally, the Defendant fails to distinguish Hearns or otherwise provide binding caselaw to support his Rule 8 arguments. The Court is inclined to DENY the request for dismissal under Rule 8 and declines to strike any portion of the FAC.

II. Dismissal for Failure to Prosecute, Rule 41(b)

Defendant seeks dismissal asserting that Plaintiffs have failed in their duty to diligently prosecute the action, and Debtor has been prejudiced by their delay. (Mot. at 5:15-17).

In response, Plaintiffs primarily point out that the Defendant expressly requested and/or agreed to several stipulations to continue the matters in the instant action. A review of the docket confirms that in most instances, Defendant has agreed affirmatively or tacitly to the continuances that he now asserts caused him prejudice. For example, in his declaration, Dr. Roger opines that the Court's tentative ruling granting in part and denying in part his first Motion to Dismiss was issued on November 5, 2014, but that the order was not entered until December 20, 2017. (Roger Decl. ¶¶ 7-10). Defendant, however, glaringly ignores that he signed numerous stipulations continuing the final hearing on the Motion to Dismiss during that period. In fact, the final order (which was one approved as to form and content by all of the parties) illustrates that the Defendant consented to review of the final order by the other parties and to their approval prior to lodgment of the order. In this context, the Roger Declaration reveals itself to be a self-serving and misleading statement of the history of this case. Now the Court shall turn to the merits of the argument.

A trial court is required to consider the following five factors in determining whether to dismiss an action for lack of prosecution: (1) the public's interest in expeditious resolutions of litigation, (2) the court's need to manage its docket, (3) the risk of prejudice to defendants, (4) the public policy favoring disposition of cases on their merits, and (5) the availability of less drastic sanctions. In re Osinga, 91 B.R. 893, 894 (9th BAP Cir. 1988).

1. The Public's Interest in Expeditious Resolutions of Litigation

In support of the Motion, Defendant cites heavily to Osinga for the proposition that the Plaintiffs' alleged 'unreasonable' delay in moving the case forward has prejudiced the Defendant and warrants dismissal. Defendant particularly underscores the fact that in a bankruptcy case, parties seeking to have their debts determined nondischargeable are required to "litigate their claims with reasonable promptitude." (Reply at 5)(citing Osinga at 895).

In Osinga, the BAP noted that "defendants/appellees had seen no action and had heard nothing from the plaintiffs/appellants regarding [the] matter for twenty-nine months." Defendant appears to argue that the Osinga Panel's decision rested heavily on the duty of the plaintiffs at all times to move the case forward. However, Osinga is distinguishable from the instant case because in Osinga, the discussion regarding the plaintiff's duty to move a case forward was in the context of a record demonstrating a complete absence of any actions taken by plaintiff for a period of twenty-nine months. Additionally, Thompson v. Housing Authority of the City of Los Angeles, 782 F.2d 829 (9th Cir.1986) (cited in Osinga to support the proposition that delay caused by defendants does not obviate the possibility that dismissal may still be appropriate), involved a case in which neither side was prepared for trial. Thus, in Thompson, the fact that the defendant was not prepared did not relieve plaintiff from his separate obligation to prepare for trial (especially where plaintiff and defendant had been granted numerous continuances to prepare). The instant case is readily distinguishable. This is a case where there have been numerous stipulations signed by all of the parties, including Defendant, consenting to continuances and extensions of time. Moreover, the FAC reflects that the Dischargeability Action involves complex factual and legal issues related to the numerous adversary actions filed in the Roger and DJRI bankruptcy cases and it is not unreasonable to believe as indicated in the signed stipulations of the parties, that settlement negotiations have been ongoing for a lengthy period of time. Here, the Court does not find that Plaintiffs caused an unreasonable delay or that they failed in their duty to diligently prosecute the case. Thus, this factor weighs against granting of the Motion.

2. The Court's need to Manage its Docket

The first two of the four policy considerations suggest that rule 41(b) is in large part a housekeeping measure related to the efficient administration of judicial business for the benefit of all litigants with cases pending. Nealey v. Transportacion Maritima Mexicana, S. A., 662 F.2d 1275, 1279 (9th Cir. 1980). As to this factor, the Court finds that permitting the action to move forward will not prejudice other litigants and as such this factor weighs against granting of the Motion.

3. Risk of Prejudice to Defendants

The plaintiff, of course, "has the ultimate burden of persuasion both as to the excuse for his own delay and as to lack of prejudice to the defendant." Nealey at 1280 (citing Larios v. Victory Carriers, Inc., 316 F.2d 63, 67 (2d Cir. 1963).

(W)hen such a plaintiff has presented evidence excusing his own delay, he should (not) be automatically barred unless he also presents anticipatory evidence to negate prejudice on the part of the defendant, an issue as to which the defendant, with his greater knowledge, ought to be required to come forward.

Id. As a threshold matter, the Court has already determined that the alleged delay has not been unreasonable and that given the consent of Defendant to numerous continuances, even if there was prejudice to Defendant, such prejudice was not caused by actions of the Plaintiffs.

As to legal prejudice, the Defendant has provided evidence that he is unable to locate one of the witnesses that would have testified on his behalf - Mr. Gamboa, the original loan underwriter for 1st Centennial Bank. However, the Court finds there has not been actual prejudice stemming from the actions of Plaintiffs. In Nealey, the Court evaluated in a detailed manner whether actions by the plaintiffs could or would prejudice the defendants. Such analysis requires more detailed information regarding when the Defendant allegedly lost contact with Mr. Gamboa and whether Defendant made diligent efforts to keep in contact with his witnesses when he agreed to the numerous continuances that caused the delay in prosecution of the Dischargeability Action. As the Ninth Circuit held in Nealey, "the irretrievable loss of evidence may of course be ... serious. Fairness dictates, however, that a plaintiff not be deprived of his cause of action if the missing evidence would have been lost even absent delay. Rather, the loss must in some way be causally related to the plaintiff's conduct." Nealey at 1281 (emphasis added). Here, the Court finds insufficient evidence that any specific conduct by Plaintiffs have caused actual prejudice with regard to Mr. Gamboa's absence. Additionally, the Defendant has not indicated whether and to what extent other employees or former employees of 1st Centennial Bank may be able to testify on behalf of the Defendant.

As to the remaining bases for prejudice alleged by Defendant, i.e., loss of income and reputation, the Court SUSTAINS the evidentiary objections of RFC. The Defendant's assertions that the Dischargeability Action have caused him damage are without foundation, are speculative and constitute little more than unsupported conjecture on the part of Defendant. As such the Court strikes the Defendant's statements as inadmissible. Alternatively, even assuming the Court were to credit the Defendant's statements, the Defendant has not shown that actions by Plaintiffs have had a direct causal relationship to his loss of income and reputation.

Based on the foregoing, the Court finds that Defendant has failed to demonstrate legal prejudice causally related to any actions by Plaintiffs. This factor weighs against granting the Motion.

4. Public Policy Favoring Disposition of Cases on their Merits

Defendant does not address this factor. However, the Court finds that this factor weighs in favor of a decision on the merits and against granting of the Motion.

5. Availability of Less Drastic Sanctions

Defendant also does not address this factor. However, in the event the Defendant had been able to demonstrate legal prejudice causally related to Plaintiffs actions, various evidentiary sanctions and/or punitive monetary sanctions could have been considered. Dismissal, however, is an extreme sanction and given the consent of Defendant to numerous continuances, is wholly unwarranted in this case. This factor weighs against granting of the Motion.

The Court, having evaluated all of the factors under Rule 41 finds that the weight of all factors favors denial of the Motion.

III. Statute of Limitations and the Receiver's Authority to File the Complaint

Finally, Defendant complains that Receiver's nunc pro tunc order authorizing the filing of a complaint in the bankruptcy court served to improperly circumvent the Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure because although he timely signed on to the timely Complaint that initiated this proceeding, he did not have authority from the State Court to file the action until well past the bankruptcy deadline for doing so. The Court agrees with Plaintiffs that the argument is inartfully couched within the Rule 41 argument.

"Nunc pro tunc signifies now for then, or in other words, a thing is done now, which shall have the same legal force and effect as if done at [the] time when it ought to have been done." United States v. Allen, 153 F.3d 1037, 1044 (9th Cir.1998) (quoting Black's Law Dictionary 964 (5th ed.1979)). The doctrine is considered part of the "inherent power of the court to make its records speak the truth." Id.

Defendant does not dispute that original Complaint was timely filed and that the Receiver signed on to that Complaint. Instead, Defendant argues that because the Defendant did not have authority to file the initial Complaint under state law, at the time of the filing, that his participation in this case going forward cannot be cured by the State Court's retroactive grant of authority. On this point, the Court agrees with the cases cited by Plaintiffs that the failure to obtain authority to sue is not a jurisdictional bar to filing. The In re Richards case cited by Defendant is unavailing on this point because it involves a bankruptcy local rule which the plaintiff had not complied with when the complaint was filed. 2 B.R. 219, 22 CBC 501 (BC MD NC 1980). In contrast, the Receiver's authority to sue in this case involves state law and a nunc pro tunc order issued by the State Court. The Defendant now asks this Court to invalidate that order. However, if the Defendant disagreed with the State Court's authority to issue nunc pro tunc relief, his recourse should have been to appeal or seek reconsideration of the State Court's order. The legal argument that the Receiver's action is untimely is not well-taken and the Defendant has not provided legal authority to support the proposition that this Court may now invalidate the State Court's Nunc Pro Tunc Order.

Finally, the Defendant's arguments regarding the Receiver's fees and expenses are incognizable. As such the Court need not reach this argument at this time. To the extent relief is requested as to the Defendant's liability for Receiver's fees and expenses, such relief is denied without prejudice.

TENTATIVE RULING

For the foregoing reasons, including for the reasons set forth by Plaintiffs' and Trustee's Opposition not here addressed, the Court is inclined to DENY the Motion in its entirety.

Tentative Ruling:

4/25/18

BACKGROUND

On April 12, 2016, Jose Hernandez ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On July 7, 2016, the Chapter 7 Trustee ("Plaintiff") filed a complaint against Carolina Navarro ("Defendant") seeking the avoidance and recovery of a fraudulent transfer. After default was entered against Defendant, on October 14, 2016, the parties stipulated to set aside default, and, that same day, Defendant filed her answer. On March 1, 2018, Plaintiff filed a motion for summary judgment. On April 4, 2018, Defendant filed her opposition.

Plaintiff alleges that on July 21, 2014, Debtor transferred certain real property located at 3510 Duffy St., San Bernardino, CA 92407 to Defendant for no consideration and that Debtor was insolvent at the time of the transfer or became insolvent as a result of the transfer. Defendant received a Chapter 7 discharge on January 26, 2018.

Chapter 7

DISCUSSION

I. Violation of Discharge Injunction

As a preliminary matter, Defendant argues that because she obtained her own discharge in January, the continuation of this proceeding violates her discharge injunction. Specifically, Defendant argues that her discharge extinguishes her personal liability and that Trustee's complaint seeks avoidance of the transfer and recovery of the property or its value. Defendant's opposition states:

Notwithstanding his heightened knowledge of the provisions of the Bankruptcy Code and bankruptcy jurisprudence, the Trustee has pursued the same claims and remedies against Defendant after her discharge was granted, relieving her of any personal liability on account of the Trustee's alleged claims and barring the Trustee from obtaining relief in this case. For example, the Trustee seeks judgment on his Fifth Claim, which as pled in the Complaint, alleges that "Plaintiff is entitled to recovery the Subject Property or its value from the Defendant Pursuant to § 550(a)."

[Dkt. No. 46, pg. 12-13].

Defendant's argument is misleading and lacks merit. Regardless of the relief requested in the complaint, which was filed before Defendant obtained a discharge, Plaintiff's motion for summary judgment has dropped the reference to "or its value" and only seeks recovery of the subject property. Nothing in the motion for summary judgment seeks to enforce a personal liability of the Defendant. Therefore, the Court rejects Defendant's argument.

II. Motion for Summary Judgment

Summary judgment should be granted if the pleadings, depositions, answers to interrogatories, and admissions on file, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact and that the moving party is entitled to a judgment as a matter of law. See FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 56(c) (incorporated by FED. R.

Chapter 7

The moving party has the burden of establishing the absence of a genuine issue of material fact. See Celotex Corp. v. Catrett, 477 U.S. 317, 323 (1986). If the moving party shows the absence of a genuine issue of material fact, the nonmoving party must go beyond the pleadings and identify facts that show a genuine issue for trial. See id. at 324; see also FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 56(e). The court must view the evidence in the light most favorable to the nonmoving party. See Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc., 477 U.S. 242, 255 (1986). All reasonable doubt as to the existence of a genuine issue of fact should be resolved against the moving party. See id.

If the moving party meets its initial burden, the non-moving party must set forth, by affidavit or as otherwise provided in Rule 56, specific facts showing that there is a genuine issue for trial. See id. The non-moving party, however, "must do more than simply show that there is some metaphysical doubt as to the material fact...." Matsushita Electrical Industry Co. v. Zenith Radio Corp., 475 U.S. 574, 586-587 (1986).

A fact is material if it "might affect the outcome of the suit under the governing law." Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc., 477 U.S. 242, 248 (1986). A dispute about a material fact is genuine "if the evidence is such that a reasonable jury could return a verdict for the nonmoving party." Id.

Plaintiff requests summary judgment on the second claim for relief (avoidance of constructively fraudulent transfer) and the fifth claim for relief (recovery of avoided transfer). 11 U.S.C. § 548(a)(1)(B) states, in pertinent part:

(a)(1) The trustee may avoid any transfer (including any transfer to or for the benefit of an insider under an employment contract) of an interest of the debtor in property, or any obligation (including any obligation to or for the benefit of an insider under an employment contract) incurred by the debtor, that was made or incurred on or within 2 years before the date of the filing of the petition, if the debtor voluntarily or involuntarily --

(B)(i) received less than a reasonably equivalent value in exchange for such transfer or obligation; and

(ii)(I) was insolvent on the date that such transfer was made or such obligation was incurred, or became insolvent as a result of such transfer or obligation

Chapter 7

Defendant does not dispute that there was a transfer of an interest of property within 2 years before the petition date. Defendant does, however, dispute the satisfaction of the other two elements, arguing that Defendant received reasonably equivalent value and was not rendered insolvent by the subject transfer. See generally In re Fruehauf Trailer Corp., 444 F.3d 203, 210 (3rd Cir. 2006); In re Southern Textile Knitters, 65 Fed. Appx. 426, 436 (4th Cir. 2003) (outlining elements of § 548(a)(1)(B) action).

Regarding the requirement that reasonably equivalent value have been provided, Plaintiff asserts that the grant deed reflects that the transfer was a "bonafide gift and the grantor received nothing in return." In her opposition, Defendant argues that the language of the grant deed is inaccurate, and that she offered value in a variety of ways. Specifically, Defendant contends that she was a co-signer for the refinancing and "also provided consideration by contributing her wages to pay for household expenses and by providing domestic labor including cooking, cleaning, child-rearing, and running the parties' household." [Dkt. No. 46, pg. 17, lines 7-9]. With regard to the language on the grant deed, Defendant states that:

The Grant Deed was not prepared by Debtor or Defendant. Debtor and Defendant correctly advised the loan officer who handled the refinancing that Defendant was not paying cash to Debtor for her one-half interest. For this reason, Debtor and Defendant believe the loan officer or escrow agent who prepared the Grant Deed noted on the document that the Transfer was a gift.

In the reply, Plaintiff contends that "[a]fter first stating that it was a gift and nothing was received, the Debtor and Defendant should be estopped from now claiming it was not a gift and reasonably equivalent value was provided for the Subject Transfer." [Dkt. No. 51, pg. 4, lines 13-15].

The Court concludes that the parol evidence rule applies here to preclude the consideration of evidence which contradicts the plain and unambiguous language of the deed. See generally In re Khalil, 2014 WL 1725811 at *6-11 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2014) (collecting cases providing comprehensive analysis of the parol evidence rule in the context of grant deeds deed). As was noted in Khalil:

If there is no ambiguity on the face of the document, and no reference to information or terms in the recorded document or from the circumstances of the conveyance that would lead a bona fide purchaser to inquire as to the intent and meaning of the instrument, then the bona fide purchaser is entitled to rely on the written record and is not charged with or bound by unstated meanings or by secret or collateral agreements that add to or alter the written record.

Id. at *10. While the above quotation is in the context of ownership interests in real property, rather than the nature of consideration, or lack thereof, in connection with a grant deed, the same underlying principle is applicable: "third parties, including the trustee and the estate's creditors, must be able to rely on the terms of recorded deed." Id. at *11. See also id. at *10 ("As a general rule, when any ambiguity is not evident from the face of the instrument (i.e., a "latent" ambiguity), the deed must be construed solely from an analysis of the plain meaning of the document itself, and extrinsic evidence is not admissible."); Laux v. Freed, 53 Cal. 2d. 512, 523 (Cal. 1960) ("[I]f the language of a deed is plain, certain and unambiguous, neither parol evidence nor surrounding facts and circumstances will be considered to add to, detract from, or vary its terms.").

Regarding the insolvency requirement, Plaintiff first argues that given the absence of reasonably equivalent value, Debtor's insolvency as a result of the transfer should be assumed; Plaintiff cites United States v. Mazzeo, 245 B.R. 435, 441 (E.D.N.Y. 1999). The Court declines to make such a presumption. The case cited by Plaintiff, and the related case law, deals with fraudulent transfer provisions under New York state law. See, e.g., Kim v. Ji Sung Yoo, 2017 WL 4382078 (S.D.N.Y. 2017) (noting presumption and collecting cases). No such burden shifting framework, however, exists under the Bankruptcy Code. See 5 COLLIER'S ON BANKRUPTCY ¶ 548.11[2] (16th ed. 2017) ("Under state law and the UFTA (and presumably the UVTA), a well-recognized exception permits the court to infer a proscribed financial state once the plaintiff has shown a lack of fair consideration or a lack of reasonably equivalent value. This shift should not apply to cases brought under section 548.") (footnotes omitted); see also In re Galbreath, 286 B.R. 185, 197 (Bankr. S.D. Ga. 2002) ("The burden for proving constructive fraud falls on the trustee who must show by a preponderance of the evidence that all requirements set out in § 548(a)(1)(B) have been met.")

Plaintiff next argues that Debtor's insolvency can be established through a review of the schedules. Essentially, Plaintiff argues that the schedules indicate that Debtor was insolvent as of the petition date, and that the Court can work backwards to conclude that Debtor was insolvent on the date of the transfer. As one bankruptcy court has stated:

Since insolvency at a given point in time is often difficult to demonstrate by direct proof, courts permit the trustee to show that the debtor was insolvent at one point in time and then prove that the same condition existed at the time of the subject transfer. This method of proof has been labeled "retrojection," but it applies equally to situations in which the trustee starts at a point in time prior to the transfer. When the trustee chooses to use this method of proof it is essential that the trustee be able to show the absence of any substantial or radical changes in the assets or liabilities of the bankruptcy between the retrojection dates.

In re R. Purbeck & Assocs., Ltd., 27 B.R. 953, 955 (Bankr. D. Conn. 1983) (footnotes and quotation omitted). Plaintiff argues that the schedules reflect that Debtor had no meaningful unexempt assets as of the petition date while much of Debtor's unsecured debt was identified as having been incurred prior to the date of the transfer. Furthermore, Debtor's statement of financial affairs does not disclose any significant transfers of property between the date of the subject transfer and the petition date.

In Defendant's opposition, she appears to contend that Debtor's outstanding debt on the date of the subject transfer was $210,282 and that Debtor's assets were valued at approximately $224,000. The Court notes that these assertions do not demonstrate solvency – they demonstrate insolvency as that term is defined in the Code. 11 U.S.C. § 101(32)(A)(ii) exempts from the solvency requirement property which may be exempt under § 522. The assets listed in Debtor's schedules, and in Defendant's opposition, all appear to be assets capable of being exempted under § 522, thereby rendering Defendant statutorily insolvent. Even ignoring that fact, however, Defendant's opposition indicates that Debtor had $53,186 in equity in the property; transferring a 50% interest in the property would have rendered Debtor insolvent even before removing property which can be exempted. As a result, the Court concludes that Plaintiff has demonstrated there is no genuine dispute regarding Debtor's insolvency on the date of the subject transfer.

III. Recovery

Plaintiff also seeks recovery of the subject property pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 550. 11 U.S.C. § 550(a)(1) states:

- (a) Except as otherwise provided in this section, to the extent that a transfer is avoided under section 544, 545, 547, 548, 549, 553(b), or 724(a) of this title,

- the trustee may recover, for the benefit of the estate, the property transferred, or, if the court so orders, the value of such property, from –
- (1) the initial transferee of such transfer or the entity for whose benefit such transfer was made

Defendant opposes the requested recovery, although the legal basis for the opposition is less than clear. Defendant argues that "annulment of the Transfer would have the effect of returning the Property to a single ownership since Debtor was the sole owner. Therefore, recovery of the Transfer is unnecessary and provides no benefit to the estate." [Dkt. No. 46, pg. 18, lines 15-17]. The Court's interpretation of the Plaintiff's request is that Plaintiff is requesting an order indicating that the Property has retained to single ownership (the bankruptcy estate). Therefore, it does not appear there is really any legal dispute here, semantical differences aside.

IV. Withdrawal of Admissions

In light of the foregoing, the Court is inclined to deny Defendant's motion to withdraw admissions as moot. The Court need not rely on admissions by default in resolving the instant motion for summary judgment.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to GRANT the motion for summary judgment, avoiding the transfer as constructively fraudulent and permitting Trustee's recovery of such transfer. Defendant's motion to withdraw admissions is DENIED as moot.

APPEARANCES REQUIRED.

Chapter 13

#29.00 Motion for Setting Property Value with Declaration of Ignacio Salvador Aguilar

EH__

Docket 15

Tentative Ruling:

05/24/2018

BACKGROUND

On March 27, 2018, Ignacio and Cynthia Aguilar (collectively, "Debtors") filed their petition for chapter 13 relief. Among the assets of the estate is a 2014 Nissan Sentra (the "Sentra"). On April 30, 2018, the Debtors filed their Motion to Value the Sentra ("Motion"). On May 8, 2018, Capital One Auto Finance ("Capital One") filed its opposition to the Motion ("Opposition"). No reply has been filed.

DISCUSSION

One of the benefits of filing a Chapter 13 bankruptcy is that under § 506(a) the debtor can bifurcate a secured, unavoidable debt, with one part representing the amount of the value of the collateral, and the deficiency being treated as an unsecured claim. See In re Penrod, 636 F.3d 1175, 1177 (9th Cir. 2011).

The Debtors assert that the Sentra's value, and thus its secured portion, should be determined to be $5,800, with an unsecured deficiency claim for $5,308. The Debtors' valuation is based on a KBB value trade-in report. The Debtors have also provided evidence of estimates obtained to repair damage and normal wear and tear on the Sentra. (Ex.'s 3 & 4). Capital One has responded that the value of the Sentra should be no less than $9,975. In support, Capital One has provided evidence that the NADA Guide provides $9,975 as the retail value for the Sentra. To the extent there is a dispute about the valuation, Capital One requests a continuance for an appraisal. The Court is inclined to grant a short continuance for Capital One to have an appraiser

Standing

As a threshold matter, Debtor asserts that Movant has no standing. A party seeking relief from the stay "need only establish that it has a colorable claim to enforce a right against property of the estate." In re Pak, 2011 WL 7145763 (9th Cir.BAP (Cal.) 2011). A showing by a party that it is a person entitled to enforce the note at issue or that it holds some ownership or other interest in the note translates to a colorable claim. Id. Here, the Movant has provided evidence of a Trustee's Deed Upon Sale in which it was conferred title to the Property at issue. For purposes of relief from stay, Movant has established it has a colorable claim sufficient to confer standing.

Relief from Stay

The Court takes judicial notice of its Order Granting Motion to Dismiss the Debtor's Adversary Proceeding (Docket No. 29) in related Case No. 6:18-ap-01038-MH ("AP Order"). In that AP Order, the Court determined that pursuant to In re Perl, the foreclosure and issuance of a writ of possession against the Debtor by the California Superior Court extinguished all legal and equitable possessory interests in the real property at issue, including any that may have been held by the Debtor. Eden Place, LLC v. Sholem Perl (In re Perl), 811 F.3d 1120, 1128 (9th Cir.), cert. denied sub nom. Perl v. Eden Place, LLC, 137 S. Ct. 39, 196 L. Ed. 2d 27 (2016).

MOVANT: TATIANA NOEMI ALEGRE aka RICK ALEGRE

EH__

Docket 21

Tentative Ruling:

05/29/2018

The Motion was not served on any creditors. As such the Motion must at the outset be denied for a failure to provide creditors with due process.

The Opposition argues that the Debtor has failed to demonstrate changed circumstances and that the Motion is untimely. As to the first argument, the Court concurs. The only "change in circumstances" indicated by the Debtor is that she has now hired counsel. However, there is no explanation of why counsel for the second and third case did not verify the petition was complete when the documents were filed.

As to the second grounds indicated by the Opposition, the Court does not read § 362(c) as requiring a motion to impose the stay to be heard within 30 days of the petition day, it must only be filed prior to the expiration of the 30-day period. Here, the Motion was timely.

The Reply does not cure the service issues and responds only by offering objecting creditor an APO.

Tentative Ruling:

BACKGROUND

On November 18, 2016, Javier & Carmen Lopez (collectively "Debtors"; individually, "Javier" and "Carmen") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On March 6, 2017, Amarillo College of Hairdressing ("Plaintiff") filed a non-dischargeability complaint against Javier pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(A), (a)(4), and (a)(6). On July 12, 2017, the clerk entered default against Javier.

On October 17, 2017, Plaintiff filed a motion for leave to file an amended complaint to include Carmen as a defendant. On November 7, 2017, Debtors filed their opposition. On November 13, 2017, the Court granted the motion, and, on December 11, 2017, Plaintiff amended its complaint to include Carmen as a defendant. On February 26, 2018, the clerk entered default against Carmen.

On April 5, 2018, Plaintiff filed a motion for default judgment. According to Plaintiff, Javier, while employed as the Dean of Education at Plaintiff's Palm Desert campus, received, through direct deposit, twice his agreed upon salary for a period of one year.

Chapter 13

Plaintiff asserts that the direct deposit authorization form contained a provision which granted Plaintiff the right to correct any erroneous overpayments of funds. After alerting Javier of the erroneous double payment, Javier refused to voluntarily reimburse Plaintiff for the overpayment. Plaintiff also asserts that Javier was aware of the erroneous double payment during the time when the double payments were made.

On January 2, 2014, Plaintiff filed a state court complaint against Javier for breach of contract, fraud, and conversion. On September 15, 2015, the state court granted Plaintiff's motion for summary judgment as to all causes of action, and entered judgment in the amount of $49,603.08.

DISCUSSION

A. Entry of Default

FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 55 states that "[w]hen a party against whom a judgment for affirmative relief is sought has failed to plead or otherwise defend as provided by these rules and that fact is made to appear by affidavit or otherwise, the clerk shall enter the party's default." Fed. R. Civ. P. 55(a). Local Rule 7055-1 provides further requirements relating to a motion for entry of default judgment, and those requirements have been substantially satisfied here.

B. Motion for Default Judgment

1. Proper Service of Summons and Complaint

- (1) Upon an individual other than an infant or incompetent, by mailing a copy of the summons and complaint to the individual's dwelling house or usual place of abode or to the place where the individual regularly conducts a business or profession.

Here, Plaintiff served Debtors at the address listed on their bankruptcy schedules and served Debtor's attorney via ECF. Therefore, service is proper.

2. Merits of Plaintiff's claim

Upon default, the factual allegations of the complaint, except those relating to the amount of damages, will be taken as true. TeleVideo Systems, Inc. v. Heidenthal, 826 F.2d 915, 917 (9th Cir. 1987); see also Almog v. Golden Summit Investors Group, Ltd., 2012 WL 12867972 at *4 (C.D. Cal. 2012) ("When reviewing a motion for default judgment, the Court must accept the well-pleaded allegations of the complaint relating to liability as true.").

Here, the complaint includes three causes of action, all related to non-dischargeability: (1) 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(A); (2) 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(4); and (3) 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(6). The above provisions read, in pertinent part:

- (a) A discharge under section 727, 1141, 1228(a), 1228(b), or 1328(b) of this title does not discharge an individual debtor from any debt –

- (A) false pretenses, a false representation, or actual fraud, other than a statement respecting the debtor's or an insider's financial condition;
- (4) for fraud or defalcation while acting in a fiduciary capacity, embezzlement, or larceny;
- (6) for willful and malicious injury by the debtor to another entity or to the property of another entity;

The Court notes that it is, at best, unclear whether any of the three provisions are applicable to the facts here. For example, in In re Sterling, the bankruptcy court analyzed whether an employee's retention of overtime pay at double the contractual rate satisfied the either 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(A) or 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(6). 479 B.R. 444 (Bankr. E.D. Mich. 2012). Respecting 11 U.S.C. 523(a)(2)(A), the court first noted that the provision can apply to "misleading omissions" or "a scheme to deprive or cheat another of property or a legal right." Id. at 449. The bankruptcy court noted, however, that omission or silence only establishes the requisite intent if the debtor had an affirmative duty to disclose. Id. (applying Michigan law and the silent fraud doctrine). After noting that the plaintiff had not identified any contractual duty to disclose, the bankruptcy court noted that: "[a] duty to disclose may also arise in equity," but ultimately concluded the following:

The present case does not present any circumstances that would give rise to such an equitable duty. To the contrary, Plaintiff was in a position of control and had at least equal if not superior knowledge, gained from repeated, but unavailing attempts to correct the problem. Plaintiff, as Defendant's employer, had access to the payroll information and, with the exercise of reasonable diligence, could have discovered the continuing overpayments at any time.

Id. at 450 (also questioning whether plaintiff's reliance on defendant's silence was justifiable because the information was in the control of plaintiff).

Here, neither the complaint nor the motion for default judgment include any allegation that Javier affirmatively misled Plaintiff, nor do they contain any basis upon which the Court could conclude that Javier had a contractual or an equitable duty to disclose the overpayments to Plaintiff. Therefore, the Court requires further briefing if Plaintiff wishes to establish that the debt is non-dischargeable pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(A).

11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(4) contains three different exceptions to dischargeability: (1) fraud or defalcation while acting in a fiduciary capacity; (2) larceny; and (3) embezzlement. Regarding fraud or defalcation while acting in a fiduciary capacity, the elements are: (1) the existence of an express trust; (2) the debt was caused by fraud or defalcation; and (3) the debtor acted as a fiduciary to the creditor at the time the debt was created. See, e.g., In re Niles, 106 F.3d 1456, 1459 (9th Cir. 1997). Clearly Plaintiff has not satisfied the standard for fraud or defalcation while acting in a fiduciary capacity because, among other things, Javier was not acting in a fiduciary capacity as to his salary and his salary was certainly not the corpus express trust. See, e.g., Matter of Cantrell, 88 F.3d 344, 347 (5th Cir. 1996) ("The court also correctly opined that, in the absence of an express trust and a recognizable corpus, 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(4) is inapplicable.").

Plaintiff also does not appear to have satisfied the standard for larceny or embezzlement. "Larceny is the fraudulent and wrongful taking and carrying away of the property of another with intent to convert the property to the taker's use without the consent of the owner." 4 COLLIER'S ON BANKRUPTCY ¶ 523.10[2] (16th ed. 2009). Here, it appears doubtful that Javier could be considered to have "taken" the excess salary payments which Plaintiff caused to be directly deposited in Javier's bank account. Embezzlement, on the other hand, contains three elements: "(1) property rightfully in the possession of a nonowner; (2) nonowner's appropriation of the property to a use other than which it was entrusted; and (3) circumstances indicating fraud." In re Littleton, 942 F.2d 551, 555 (9th Cir. 1991). While there may be a colorable argument that embezzlement has occurred in this case, such an argument has not been detailed in the complaint or the motion for default judgment. Therefore, the Court requires further briefing if Plaintiff wishes to establish that the debt is non-dischargeable pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(4).

Chapter 13

Regarding § 523(a)(6) the elements are: "(1) willful conduct, (2) malice, and (3) causation." See, e.g., In re Apte, 180 B.R. 223, 230 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1995). Here, Plaintiff's complaint simply recites the legal standard, notes that the state court awarded a judgment based, in part, on fraud, and Plaintiff's motion for default judgment contains the material state court pleadings as an attachment. The Court deems the allegations in the complaint to be insufficient to establish non-dischargeability under § 523(a)(6). See In re Sterling, 479 B.R. 444, 452-455 (Bankr. E.D. Mich. 2012) (detailing § 523(a)(6) analysis in context of retention of salary overpayment). Therefore, the Court requires further briefing if Plaintiff wishes to establish that the debt is non-dischargeable pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(6).

Finally, the Court notes that it appears Plaintiff has assumed that the use of issue preclusion is appropriate in this case, but has not briefed the issue.

Issue preclusion applies in nondischargeability proceedings to bar the relitigation of factual issues that were determined in a prior state court action. See, e.g., Grogan v. Garner, 498 U.S. 279, 284-85, n.11 (1991). To determine the issue-preclusive effect of a California state court's judgment, California preclusion law must be applied. See 28 U.S.C. § 1738; Marrese v. Am. Acad. of Orthopaedic Surgeons, 470 U.S. 373, 380 (1985); Gayden v. Nourbakhsh (In re Nourbakhsh), 67 F.3d 798, 800 (9th Cir. 1995). Under California law, the party asserting issue preclusion has the burden of establishing the following "threshold" requirements:

- (1) the issue sought to be precluded must be identical to that decided in a former proceeding;
- (2) the issue must have been actually litigated in the former proceeding;
- (3) it must have been necessarily decided in the former proceeding;
- (4) the decision in the former proceeding must be final and on the merits; and,
- (5) the party against whom preclusion is sought must be the same as, or in privity with, the party to the former proceeding.

Harmon v. Kobrin (In re Harmon), 250 F.3d 1240, 1245 (9th Cir.2001).

Additionally, the application of issue preclusion requires a "mandatory 'additional' inquiry into whether imposition of issue preclusion would be fair and consistent with sound public policy." In re Khaligh, 338 B.R. 817, 824–25 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 2006). As stated by the California Supreme Court

We have repeatedly looked to the public policies underlying the doctrine before concluding that collateral estoppel should be applied in a particular setting.... Accordingly, the public policies underlying collateral estoppel—preservation of the integrity of the judicial system, promotion of judicial economy, and protection of litigants from harassment by vexatious litigation—strongly influence whether its application in a particular circumstance would be fair to the parties and constitutes sound judicial policy.

Lucido v. Super. Ct., 51 Cal. 3d 335, 342–43 (Cal. 1990) (internal citations omitted). The Court requires further briefing on the appropriateness of issue preclusion in this case, including legal arguments explaining how the applicable state court causes of action (presumably fraud by concealment) translate to the non-dischargeability standards.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to CONTINUE the matter for further briefing.

Docket 27

Tentative Ruling:

5/30/18

BACKGROUND

On January 3, 2017, Richard Earl Davis Jr. ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On March 30, 2017, Angelo & Kandis Gumbs ("Plaintiffs") filed a non-dischargeability complaint against Debtor and his business entity.

On June 27, 2017, Plaintiffs filed a motion for default judgment, which was denied on October 4, 2017, for failure to serve the motion at the address Debtor listed on his bankruptcy petition.¹ On December 7, 2017, Plaintiffs filed a second motion for default judgment. At a hearing on January 10, 2018, Debtor appeared and opposed the request. After the Court continued the matter, Debtor filed his answer later that same day. On January 30, 2018, the Court entered a scheduling order.

On May 9, 2018, Plaintiffs filed a motion to strike the answer of Debtor and for entry of default. The basis for Plaintiffs' motion is that Debtor failed to attend the scheduled deposition and failed to respond to any of Plaintiffs' discovery requests.

DISCUSSION

FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 37(b)(2)(A), incorporated into bankruptcy proceedings by FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 7037, states:

- (A) If a party or a party's officer, director, or managing agent – or a witness designated under Rule 30(b)(6) or 31(a)(4) – fails to obey an order to provide or permit discovery, including an order under Rule 26(f), 35, or 37(a), the court where the action is pending may issue further just orders. They may include the following:
- (I) directing that the matter embraced in the order or other designated facts be taken as established for purposes of the action, as the prevailing party claims;
 - (II) prohibiting the disobedient party from supporting or opposing designated claims or defenses, or from introducing designated matters in evidence;
 - (III) striking pleadings in whole or in part;
 - (IV) staying further proceedings until the order is obeyed;
 - (V) dismissing the action or proceeding in whole or in part;
 - (VI) rendering a default judgment against the disobedient party;
 - (VII) treating as contempt of court the failure to obey any order except an order to submit to a physical or mental examination.

Furthermore, FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 37(d)(3) permits the Court to order the above listed sanctions in response to a party's failure to attend its own deposition, serve answers to interrogatories, or respond to a request for inspection.

Here, Plaintiffs have adequately established that Debtor failed to attend his own deposition and has otherwise failed to cooperate in discovery in this matter. The Court also notes that Debtor only filed a late answer approximately ten months after the commencement of this proceeding, and after being served with a motion for default judgment, which Debtor did not oppose in writing.

Based on Debtor's failure to cooperate in discovery, Debtor's failure to attend his own deposition, Debtor's late filing of his answer in the instant case, and Debtor's lack of opposition to the instant motion, the Court is inclined to strike Debtor's answer. Regarding Plaintiffs' request that the Court enter default against Debtor, the Court notes that the continued hearing for Plaintiffs' motion for default judgment is in one week, and the Court will take up the issue at that time.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to GRANT the motion to the extent of STRIKING Debtor's Answer.

BACKGROUND

On October 30, 2017, Sara Durham ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On January 8, 2018, SCE Federal Credit Union ("Plaintiff") filed a non-dischargeability complaint against Debtor pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(1), (a)(2)(A), and (a)(14). responding to such requests. As outlined in Plaintiff's motion, Debtor failed to respond to Plaintiff's request for document production within the time frame specified by FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 34(b)(2)(A).

According to Plaintiff, FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 37(a)(2) provides the grounds for its request for an order compelling disclosure of discovery. The sentence quoted by Plaintiff, however, appears to be that contained in FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 37(a)(3)(A), which states: "[i]f a party fails to make a disclosure required by Rule 26(a), any other party may move to compel disclosure and for appropriate sanctions." FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 26(a), however, deals with disclosures that are required independent from discovery. It would appear that the appropriate legal basis for Plaintiff's request to compel a discovery response is FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 37(a)(3)(B)(iv).

Given Debtor's failure to timely respond to or object to Plaintiff's request for document production, the Court is inclined to order Debtor to respond to such request within fourteen days of the entry of the order. Given that Debtor is pro se, however, given the absence of any previous delay in the proceedings, and given the fact that Plaintiff has failed to identify the appropriate legal basis for its request, the Court is not inclined to order monetary sanctions if Debtor responds to the request for document production within fourteen days.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to GRANT the motion and order Debtor to respond to Plaintiff's request for document production, and order sanctions in the amount of $1,013.50 payable only if Debtor fails to respond to the Plaintiff's request for document production within fourteen days of the entry of the order.

I. PROCEDURAL BACKGROUND

On February 26, 2016, Sam & Greeta Dason (Sam, individually, "Dason") (collectively, "Debtors") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On August 22, 2016, Juddy Olivares & Eric Panitz (individually, "Olivares" and "Panitz") (collectively, "Plaintiffs") filed a complaint against Dason to determine dischargeability of debt (11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(6)) and for attorney's fees. On September 20, 2016, the complaint was amended. On January 11, 2017, the Court dismissed Panitz from the complaint. On March 7, 2017, Olivares filed her second amended complaint.

On August 9, 2017, Dason filed an answer and a counter-claim¹ against Olivares. On October 2, 2017, Olivares filed her answer to the counter-claim. On January 19, 2018, Olivares filed the instant motion for summary judgment. On February 13, 2018, Dason filed his opposition to the motion for summary judgment. On February 21, 2018, Olivares filed her reply.

The Court notes that Dason has conceded that his counter-claim is moot in light of this Court's order annulling the automatic stay. As a result of this concession, it is the Court's intention to dismiss the counter-claim in the absence of any objection from

II. FACTUAL BACKGROUND

Olivares began working as a dental assistant in 2010 for Colton Dental Group, the business name of Dason's dental corporation, Sam Daniel Dason, DDS ("Dason DDS"). Olivares states that she "was subjected to offensive sexual comments and inquiries, and other unwelcome, sexually-based, offensive conduct by Defendant." Furthermore, Olivares states that she "was subjected to repeated unwelcome sexual touching at the hands of Defendant," which is extensively detailed in the complaint and the motion for summary judgment. On January 17, 2013, Olivares left early and did not return to work. On February 26, 2016, the San Bernardino County Superior Court entered a judgment against Dason and Dason DDS in the amount of $1,724,996.34 (the "Judgment").² The judgment contained the following components:

- 1) $300,000 for past emotional distress – hostile work environment
- 2) $200,000 for past emotional distress – quid pro quo sexual harassment
- 3) $500,000 for future emotional distress
- 4) $100,000 for punitive damages³
- 5) $1,875 for future psychiatric care
- 6) $8,125 for future psychological care
- 7) $6,735.22 for past lost income
- 8) $608,261.12 for attorney's fees and costs

Olivares contends that the judgment is non-dischargeable pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(6). Olivares bases her motion for summary judgment both on issue preclusion and the record in this case. Dason argues that the record in this case cannot support summary judgment and that the state court judgment does not contain adequate findings to support issue preclusion.

III. DISCUSSION

Olivares requests that the Court apply issue preclusion and find that the Judgment is non-dischargeable under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(6). The Bankruptcy Code excepts from discharge any debt for "willful and malicious injury by the debtor to another entity or to the property of another entity." 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(6). The creditor bears the burden of proving each element of § 523(a)(6) by a preponderance of the evidence.

See, e.g., Grogan v. Garner, 498 U.S. 279, 287 (1991).

To prevail on a claim under § 523(a)(6), a creditor must demonstrate three elements: (1) willful conduct; (2) malice; and (3) causation. See In re Butcher, 200 B.R. 675, 680 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1996) (quoting In re Apte, 180 B.R. 223, 230 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1995)). A willful injury is a "deliberate or intentional injury, not merely a deliberate or intentional act that leads to injury." Kawaauhau v. Geiger, 523 U.S. 57, 61 (1998). "A malicious injury involves (1) a wrongful act, (2) done intentionally, (3) which necessarily causes injury, and (4) is done without just cause or excuse." In re Barboza, 545 F.3d 702, 706 (9th Cir. 2008) (quoting In re Jercich, 238 F.3d 1202, 1209 (9th Cir. 2001)).

Summary judgment should be granted if the pleadings, depositions, answers to interrogatories, and admissions on file, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact and that the moving party is entitled to a judgment as a matter of law. See FED. R. CIV. P. 56(c) (incorporated by FED. R. BANKR. P. 7056).

The moving party has the burden of establishing the absence of a genuine issue of material fact. See Celotex Corp. v. Catrett, 477 U.S. 317, 323 (1986). If the moving party shows the absence of a genuine issue of material fact, the nonmoving party must go beyond the pleadings and identify facts that show a genuine issue for trial. See id. at 324. The court must view the evidence in the light most favorable to the nonmoving party. See Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc., 477 U.S. 242, 255 (1986). All reasonable doubt as to the existence of a genuine issue of fact should be resolved against the moving party. See id.

If the moving party meets its initial burden, the non-moving party must set forth, by affidavit or as otherwise provided in Rule 56, specific facts showing that there is a genuine issue for trial. See id. The non-moving party, however, "must do more than simply show that there is some metaphysical doubt as to the material fact...." Matsushita Electrical Industry Co. v. Zenith Radio Corp., 475 U.S. 574, 586-587 (1986).

A fact is material if it "might affect the outcome of the suit under the governing law." Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc., 477 U.S. 242, 248 (1986). A dispute about a material fact is genuine "if the evidence is such that a reasonable jury could return a verdict for the nonmoving party." Id.

The legal provision under which the relevant portion of the Judgment was based is CAL. GOV. CODE § 12940(j)(1), which states:

It is an unlawful employment practice, unless based upon a bona fide occupational qualification, or, except where based upon applicable security regulations established by the United States or the State of California:

(j)(1) For an employer, labor organization, employment agency, apprenticeship training program or any training program leading to employment, or any other person, because of race, religious creed, color, national origin, ancestry, physical disability, mental disability, medical condition, genetic information, marital status, sex, gender, gender identity, gender expression, age, sexual orientation, or military and veteran status, to harass an employee, an applicant, an unpaid intern or volunteer, or a person providing services pursuant to a contract. Harassment of an employee, an applicant, an unpaid intern or volunteer, or a person providing services pursuant to a contract by an employee, other than an agent or supervisor, shall be unlawful if the entity, or its agents or supervisors, knows or should have known of this conduct and fails to take immediate and appropriate corrective action. An employer may also be responsible for the acts of nonemployees, with respect to sexual harassment of employees, applicants, unpaid interns or volunteers, or persons providing services pursuant to a contract in the workplace, if the employer, or its agents or supervisors, knows or should have known of the conduct and fails to take immediate and appropriate corrective action. In reviewing cases involving the acts of nonemployees, the extent of the employer's control and any other legal responsibility that the employer may have with respect to the conduct of those nonemployees shall be considered. An entity shall take all reasonable steps to prevent harassment from occurring. Loss of tangible job benefits shall not be necessary in order to establish harassment.

Olivares reference EEOC guidelines which create two categories of sexual harassment: (1) quid pro quo and (2) hostile environment. Olivares also points to case law which acknowledges the two categories. See, e.g., Meritor Sav. Bank, FSB v. Vinson, 477 U.S. 57, 65 (1986); Beyda v. City of Los Angeles, 65 Cal. App. 4th 511, 516-517 (Cal. Ct. App. 1998) ("There are two recognized categories of sexual harassment claims. The first is quid pro quo harassment, where a term of employment or employment itself is conditioned upon submission to unwelcome sexual advances. The second, and the one at issue in this case, is hostile work environment, where the harassment is sufficiently pervasive so as to alter the conditions of employment and create an abusive work environment.") Chapter 7

The delineation of two separate categories of sexual harassment is relevant and important here. First, the Court notes that the Judgment references Olivares's claim for "Hostile Work Environment and Quid Pro Quo Sexual Harassment," and the state court specifically identified separate damages for "past emotional distress hostile work environment" and "past emotional distress quid pro quo sexual harassment." [Dkt. No. 70 at pg. 8, lines 1-2]. Because these two categories of sexual harassment implicate different issues and require different findings to be made, issue preclusion may operate differently with respect to each issue.

B. Issue Preclusion on Plaintiff's Claim under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(6)

Issue preclusion applies in nondischargeability proceedings to bar the relitigation of factual issues that were determined in a prior state court action. See, e.g., Grogan v. Garner, 498 U.S. 279, 284-85, n.11 (1991). To determine the issue-preclusive effect of a California state court's judgment, California preclusion law must be applied. See 28 U.S.C. § 1738; Marrese v. Am. Acad. of Orthopaedic Surgeons, 470 U.S. 373, 380 (1985); Gayden v. Nourbakhsh (In re Nourbakhsh), 67 F.3d 798, 800 (9th Cir. 1995). Under California law, the party asserting issue preclusion has the burden of establishing the following "threshold" requirements:

- (1) the issue sought to be precluded must be identical to that decided in a former proceeding;
- (2) the issue must have been actually litigated in the former proceeding;
- (3) it must have been necessarily decided in the former proceeding;
- (4) the decision in the former proceeding must be final and on the merits; and,
- (5) the party against whom preclusion is sought must be the same as, or in privity with, the party to the former proceeding.

Harmon v. Kobrin (In re Harmon), 250 F.3d 1240, 1245 (9th Cir.2001).

Additionally, the application of issue preclusion requires a "mandatory 'additional' inquiry into whether imposition of issue preclusion would be fair and consistent with sound public policy." In re Khaligh, 338 B.R. 817, 824-25 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 2006). As stated by the California Supreme Court

We have repeatedly looked to the public policies underlying the doctrine before concluding that collateral estoppel should be applied in a particular setting.... Accordingly, the public policies underlying collateral estoppel—preservation of the integrity of the judicial system, promotion of judicial economy, and protection of litigants from harassment by vexatious litigation—strongly influence whether its application in a particular circumstance would be fair to the parties and constitutes sound judicial policy.

Lucido v. Super. Ct., 51 Cal. 3d 335, 342–43 (Cal. 1990) (internal citations omitted).

Here, the Court's focus is on the second and third elements of the Harmon test because there is no dispute that the Judgment is final and on the merits, and that the parties are the same. Specifically, the Court is concerned with whether "willfulness" was actually litigated and necessarily decided in state court.⁴

For a default judgment to be "actually litigated," the material factual issues must have been both raised in the pleadings and necessary to uphold the default judgment. Gottlieb v. Kest, 141 Cal. App. 4th 110, 149 (Cal. Ct. App. 2006). An express finding need not have occurred if the court in the prior proceeding necessarily decided the issue. Cantrell v. Cal-Micro, Inc. (In re Cantrell), 329 F.3d 1119, 1124 (9th Cir.2003).

Under California law, an issue is necessarily decided when (1) there are explicit findings of an issue made in a judgment or decision, or (2) or when the issue is a conclusion that must have been necessarily decided by the court. Samuels v. CMW Joint Venture (In re Samuels), 273 F. App'x 691, 693 (9th Cir. 2008).

Olivares argues that "[c]ourts analogize quid pro quo sexual harassment to 'extortion,' which is not only an intentional tort but is also a crime." [Dkt. No. 68, pg. 14, lines 24-26]. The Court finds the analogy to be apt. The injury sustained in a quid pro quo sexual harassment claim is a tangible, negative effect on employment terms. See, e.g., Henson v. City of Dundee, 682 F.2d 897, 909 (11th Cir. 1982). The quid pro quo conditioning of these employment terms is, necessarily, an intentional action of the employer. As noted in section III, "willfulness" requires an intentional injury, not merely an intentional act. In the case of quid pro quo sexual harassment, the distinction is illusory – intentionally and negatively conditioning an individual's employment terms with unwanted sexual advances is the equivalent of intentionally causing an injury. See, e.g., In re Roth, 2014 WL 684630 at *6 (Bankr. D. Colo. 2014)

(applying issue preclusion to find quid pro quo sexual harassment to be willful, albeit in a non-default situation). Therefore, that part of the Judgment which deals with quid pro quo sexual harassment contains a finding of "willfulness."

The analysis regarding hostile workplace, however, is different. As noted by Olivares, the "hostile workplace" theory of sexual harassment generally requires unwanted sexual advances that have the "effect of unreasonably interfering with an individual's work performance." Meritor Sav. Bank, FSB v. Vinson, 477 U.S. 57, 65 (1986). In contrast to the quid pro quo liability, where the injury results from an employer's intentional reaction or retaliation, the injury under a hostile workplace theory is subjective and dependent upon the employee's perspective. An employer is certainly capable of unintentionally creating a hostile work environment.

The issue preclusion section of Olivares's motion for summary judgment focuses on the quid pro quo theory of sexual harassment. The Court agrees with Olivares's that "willfulness," as it is used in 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(6), is implicit within a judgment for quid pro quo sexual harassment. But it is not necessarily implicit in a judgment under the "hostile workplace" theory of sexual harassment – the hostile workplace could be created negligently or unintentionally, based on incorrect assumptions of the employer.

Dason has not advanced any argument why the application of collateral estoppel to the facts of this specific case would not be "fair and consistent with sound public policy." Dason's opposition concedes Dason was aware that a trial was scheduled and the date when the trial would occur. Yet, after three years of litigation, no appearance was made on behalf of Dason at the trial. Given the extensive litigation that occurred in state court and the fact that the non-appearance of Dason at trial was due to a conscious choice, and part of a deliberate litigation strategy, the Court concludes that application of issue preclusion would continue to preserve the integrity of the judicial system and promote judicial economy. Thus, partial application of issue preclusion would further the policy and interests underlying the doctrine. See, e.g., In re Baldwin, 249 F.3d 912, 919-920 (9th Cir. 2001) (describing policies underlining collateral estoppel).

C. Absence of a Genuine Issue of Material Fact

Olivares alternatively argues that the record in this case is sufficient to warrant summary judgment independent of the state court judgment. The Court disagrees. The record in this case essentially consists of: (1) Olivares's extensive and detailed description of the alleged sexual harassment; and (2) Dason's denial of the allegations. After the partial application of issue preclusion noted above, the only remaining factual issue is whether the "willfulness" requirement of § 523(a)(6) is satisfied as to that part of the Judgment which arises from a hostile workplace theory of sexual harassment. Here, the Court is simply presented with competing declarations from Dason and Olivares which assert, respectively, that Dason did not intend to create a hostile workplace environment and that it can be inferred that Dason had such an intention. Apart from those declarations, the record contains two pages of a deposition of Cesar Espinoza stating that Olivares complained that Dason grabbed her posterior at some point in time. Given the paucity of the existing record and the unambiguously contradictory declarations of Dason and Olivares, the Court concludes that summary judgment is inapplicable on this record.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to GRANT summary judgment as to the Judgment in so far as the Judgment relates to a quid pro quo theory of sexual harassment and DENY summary judgment in so far as the Judgment relates to a hostile workplace theory of sexual harassment for failure to satisfy the "willfulness" requirement of § 523(a)(6). The Court may order briefing regarding the apportionment of damages that are not specifically assigned to one category.

#1.00 Motion in Individual Case for Order Imposing a Stay or Continuing the Automatic Stay as the Court Deems Appropriate 1931 Hemmingway Pl, San Jacinto CA 92583

MOVANT: JOSE & LILIAN VELASCO

EH__

Docket 9

Tentative Ruling:

6/5/2018

The Court is inclined to DENY the motion. While Debtors have provided sufficient evidence to overcome the presumption of bad faith as to their most recent Chapter 13 case, Debtors have not provided clear and convincing evidence to overcome the presumption of bad faith as their second most recent Chapter 13 case, which was pending within the previous year. Furthermore, Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., the holder of the note secured by Debtors' real property during the second most recent Chapter 13 case, had a relief from stay motion pending at the time of the case's dismissal. The Court takes judicial notice of the contents of docket number 72 in case 6:12-bk-35097-MH, which appears to state that Debtors were 29 months behind on their mortgage payments on October 5, 2017. 11 U.S.C. § 362(c)(3)(C)(ii) provides for a presumption of bad faith as to a creditor if a motion from relief from stay is granted or pending at dismissal in a case during the previous year. Here, Debtors' unsupported statement that their income has increased is insufficient to overcome the presumption of bad faith as to the mortgagee of their real property.

MOVANT: RIVERSIDE COUNTY TAX COLLECTOR

From: 5/29/18

Docket 16

Tentative Ruling:

6/5/2018

Service is Proper
Opposition: Yes

The Court is inclined to DENY the motion. Movant's only asserted basis for relief from the automatic stay is the allegation that this present case was filed in bad faith. Movant identifies two reasons why this case was filed in bad faith: (1) Debtor listed few creditors in the case commencement documents; and (2) Debtor has filed multiple bankruptcies. Regarding the latter argument, Debtor has only onw previous filing, a successful Chapter 13 case. A single previous, successful Chapter 13 case does not suggest a bad faith filing; on the contrary, the Court considers it to be evidence against the assertion that this is a bad faith filing. Additionally, the fact that Debtor does not appear to have a significant amount of creditors does not, of itself, suggest that the instant case was filed in bad faith, especially when Debtor has complied with all statutory duties and has past experience of successfully maintaining a Chapter 13 case.

Docket 17

Tentative Ruling:

Opposition: Yes

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(c)(4), the automatic stay does not go into effect in a filed case if a debtor has two or more cases pending within the previous year. Here, Debtor had two Chapter 13 cases dismissed in the previous year for failure to file information. As a result, the automatic stay did not go into effect in the instant case.

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(j), Movant is entitled to request an order confirming that no automatic stay went into effect in the instant case. Therefore, the Court will GRANT the motion, confirming that no automatic stay went into effect in the instant case. The Court notes that the assertions contained in Debtor's opposition are entirely irrelevant to the request at issue.

The Court notes, however, that Debtor filed a motion to impose the automatic stay, which was continued until July 10, 2018. Movant should be aware that the comfort order to be issued by this Court does not preclude Debtor from later arguing that the automatic stay should or can be imposed in this case.

Based on the Debtor's evidence, the Court is inclined to DENY the Motion.

However, the Court notes that the Case Number indicated on the Cashier's Check indicates Case No. 18-10357-WJ, where that number should end in "MH."

#21.00 Motion for relief from automatic stay with supporting declarations ACTION IN NON-BANKRUPTCY FORUM RE: Revere Fin. Corp. v. Roger Docket Number INC 092 308 Riverside County Superior Court

MOVANT: JERRY WANG AS RECEIVER

EH__

Docket 468

Tentative Ruling:

6/5/2018

On October 24, 2013, Baleine, LP ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. Prior to the bankruptcy filing, on March 18, 2013, the state court had appointed Jerry Wang ("Wang") as receiver of the personal property assets of Debtor, as well as the personal property assets of Douglas Roger ("Roger") and Roger's medical corporation ("Roger Inc."). Wang now asserts that "nothing remains for [Wang] to do in terms of administering the receivership." [Dkt. No. 469, pg. 4, lines 8-9]. Wang has filed this instant motion for relief from the automatic stay in order to wind down the receivership. Both Trustee and Debtor have filed limited oppositions to the request. Trustee requests that to the extent Movant intends to seek to be paid an administrative expense claim in the Debtor's case based on any services performed in the state court action, any orders/judgments obtained from the state court concerning Movant's fees, expenses, and costs would not excuse Movant from compliance with 11 U.S.C. § 503, such that Movant's fees, expenses, and costs would still be subject to approval of the Bankruptcy Court.

[Dkt. No. 472, pg. 2, lines 9-13]. Wang's reply indicates that he accepts the condition requested by Trustee, and, therefore, the Court considers the limited objection of Trustee to be resolved.

Debtor's limited opposition, however, remains unresolved. Debtor's opposition states that Debtor only opposes relief from stay for Movant to have the State Court determine post-petition fees, costs and any applicable interest, if any, on its claim, as this Court is better situated to make this determination, both because it is intimately familiar with the post-petition actions taken by Movant in the related bankruptcy cases all before this Court, as well as the fact that application of bankruptcy law is needed to make these post-petition determinations and allocations between the related debtors.

[Dkt. No. 474, section 3b(11)].

The Court notes that the district court has previously weighed in on similar issues in Roger's bankruptcy. See In re Roger, 539 B.R. 837 (C.D. Cal. 2015); In re Roger, 2015 WL 7566647 (C.D. Cal. 2015) (pending appeal). While the Court disagrees with the blanket assertion offered by Wang that "[t]he District Court held that issues relating to the receivership are complex areas of state law that the State Court should decide," [Dkt. No. 469, pg. 5, lines 4-6], the Court agrees with Wang that the district court's rationale is relevant here. Specifically, Court respects the district court's conclusion that "the State Court, which presided over years of litigation involving numerous discovery disputes and the incurrence of $1,000,000 in attorneys' fees, is better suited to resolve the issues." 2015 WL 7566647 at *10.¹ This conclusion is specifically relevant because the primary basis of the unresolved objection of Debtor is that this Court is more familiar with the applicable law and facts. In accordance with the district court's opinion, the Court disagrees with Debtor's conclusion.

Debtor has also raised concerns regarding appropriately allocation expenses between the bankruptcy estates of Baleine, Roger, and Roger Inc. This concern, however, does not appear to be of high significance at this point in time, since those concerns could be litigated in the context of either a claim objection or an application for administrative fees. As conceded by Wang, "cause exists to grant relief from stay for a state court to first determine the total amount of a creditor's claim/debtor's liability. The effect of that determination on a bankruptcy estate is an issue of bankruptcy law for the bankruptcy court to decide on a later date." [Dkt. No. 477, pg. 2, lines 22-25].

In accordance with the rationale set forth in in the district court opinions of In re Roger, 539 B.R. 837 (C.D. Cal. 2015) and In re Roger, 2015 WL 7566647 (C.D. Cal. 2015) and the reasons set forth in Wang's moving papers, and noting that Wang has agreed to the condition requested by Trustee, and further noting that the argument of Debtor has either been rejected by the district court or can be determined by this Court at a later time and in a more appropriate setting, the Court is inclined to GRANT the motion, lifting the automatic stay for Wang to proceed to wind down the receivership in state court.

BACKGROUND

On December 1, 2017, Auto Strap Transport, LLC ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 11 voluntary petition. Among the assets of Debtor's Chapter 11 estate are 2 2015 Volvo trucks (VIN # 4V5RC9EHXFN186580 and #4V5RC9EH7FN186603) and 2 2015 Cottrell car hauler trailers (VIN # 5EOAA1447FG605301 and # 5EOAJ1446FG603801) (collectively, the "Collateral"). The Collateral is currently leased from Sterling National Bank ("SNB").

On May 14, 2018, SNB filed a motion to compel assumption or rejection of executory contract and for full lease payments prior to formal assumption or rejection; and for relief from stay in the event of rejection of contract. Debtor has not filed any opposition to SNB's request.

Chapter 11

In a case under chapter 11, a debtor in possession may assume an unexpired lease of personal property at any time prior to confirmation of a plan. Zions Credit Corp. v. Rebel Rents, Inc., Perris Valley Rentals, Inc. (In re Rebel Rents, Inc., Perris Valley Rentals, Inc.) 291 B.R. 520, 529 (Bankr. C.D. Cal 2003) (citing 11 U.S.C. § 365(a) and (d)(2)). It is the policy of the Bankruptcy Code to provide the debtor with breathing space following the filing of the petition, continuing until the confirmation of a plan, in which to assume or reject an unexpired lease. See In re Enron Corp., 279 B.R. 695, 702 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2002). The Court, however, on request of a party to a lease, may order the debtor in possession to determine within a specified period of time whether to assume or reject. 11 U.S.C. § 365(d)(2).

Here, the Debtor, though properly served with the motion, has failed to file opposition or response. Additionally, SNB has provided evidence that Debtor is in default on payments due and owing to SNB under the terms of the agreement. Based on the evidence that Debtor is not abiding by the terms of the agreement and based also on the Debtor's failure to file any response to the motion, the Court finds that an order compelling immediate rejection of the agreement is warranted.

TENTATIVE RULING

Based on the foregoing, the Court is inclined to GRANT the motion deeming the agreement rejected as of the hearing date of June 6, 2018, based on Debtor's failure to file opposition or response. Additionally, SNB's motion sets forth sufficient cause for lifting of the automatic stay. The remaining requests for relief are DENIED as moot. SNB may pursue its state law remedies to seek turnover of the Collateral.

06/06/2018

BACKGROUND

On April 30, 2018, Itria Ventures, LLC ("Plaintiff") filed a Motion To Compel Defendants' Responses To Discovery and For Attorney Fees ("Motion"). The Motion indicates that Debtors were served with interrogatories, requests for documents and admissions ("Discovery Requests") to which the Defendants neither responded, nor requested an extension of time to respond.

Plaintiff then properly contacted counsel for the Defendants to meet and confer regarding the Discovery Requests prior to filing the Motion.

By the Motion, Plaintiff seeks an order compelling Defendants to respond to the Discovery Requests and awarding attorney fees and costs jointly and severally to be paid by Defendants and their counsel to the Chekian Law Office for preparation of the Motion in an amount of $1,012.

In response to the Motion, the Defendants concede that they did not respond to the Plaintiff's Discovery Requests. The stated reason for the nonresponsiveness is due to communication issues arising from Defendants' counsel having health issues as well as unspecified issues related to Defendants' counsel's mother. Curiously, the declaration attesting to these issues is signed by the Defendant instead of Defendants' counsel (the party with personal knowledge of the problems).

Based on Defendants' concession that the nonresponsiveness to the Discovery Requests was their fault, the vagueness around the basis for the nonresponsiveness, and the failure to address the request for fees by Plaintiff, the Court is inclined to order as follows:

1. That Attorneys' fees be awarded to Plaintiff in the full amount of $1,012, jointly and severally to be paid by Defendants and/or Counsel for the Defendants;
2. That a deadline for responses to the Discovery Requests and/or objections thereto shall be set fourteen days from the date of entry of the order on this Motion; and

From: 1/10/18

Docket 19

Tentative Ruling:

06/06/2018

On May 9, 2018, Plaintiffs filed a Motion to Strike Answer and enter Default. On May 30, 2018, the Court at the hearing issued a tentative ruling which was adopted as the final ruling granting the Motion. Plaintiffs' counsel was directed to lodge an order. To date, Plaintiffs' counsel has not lodged an order. Thus, a ruling on the Motion for Default Judgment would be premature given that the Answer has yet to be formally stricken, and default entered.

Additionally, in the Court's January 10, 2018, tentative ruling, the Court required Plaintiffs to provide "the underlying state court documents (e.g. the state court complaint and judgment) which are essential to final ruling on the Complaint." Finally, the Court indicated that Counsel had not included points and authorities to indicate whether the motion was being made pursuant to collateral estoppel principles or alternatively, setting forth how the evidence provided satisfies the §523(a)(2) standard.

The Court is inclined to CONTINUE the hearing on the Motion for Default Judgment

TENTATIVE RULING

At the hearing on the Plaintiff's prior Motion for Default Judgment, the Court's tentative ruling provided, in pertinent part, as follows:

Plaintiff seeks default judgment be entered against Defendant Richard Earl Davis, Jr. (the "Debtor"). Service of the Motion AND of the Summons and Complaint were all effectuated on the Debtor at "2280 Market Street #220 in Riverside, CA". However, the Debtor's bankruptcy petition indicates his place of residence as "9325 Sunridge

Chapter 7

The Court's tentative ruling is to DENY the Motion without prejudice. Movant to lodge an order denying the motion and requesting that the Court issue an alias summons for Movant to serve the summons and complaint at the Debtor's residence as indicated on the bankruptcy petition. Deadlines shall be reset accordingly.

An alias summons was issued and the Plaintiff filed a proof of service indicating that the Alias Summons was executed. The instant Motion for Default Judgment was then filed on December 7, 2017. Both Proofs of Service indicate that the Debtor was now served at "9324 Sunridge Drive in Riverside, CA" Again, in a situation where the Debtor/Defendant is nonresponsive, the Plaintiff's ongoing failure to serve the Debtor at the correct address creates a due process issue which prevents this case from moving forward.

Separately, although the Debtor has disclosed the debt owed to Plaintiff in the amount of $150,000 in his Schedule E/F pursuant to a State Court Judgment, the Court notes that the Plaintiff has failed to attach the underlying state court documents (e.g. the state court complaint and judgment) which are essential to final ruling on the Complaint. Additionally, the Plaintiff has not included points and authorities to indicate whether the motion is made under collateral estoppel principles.

The Court's tentative ruling is to DENY the Motion without prejudice. Movant to lodge an order denying the motion and requesting that the Court issue an alias summons for Movant to serve the summons and complaint at the Debtor's residence as indicated on the bankruptcy petition. Also #13

Tentative Ruling:

06/06/2018

BACKGROUND

On April 30, 2018, Itria Ventures, LLC ("Plaintiff") filed a Motion To Compel Defendants' Responses To Discovery and For Attorney Fees ("Motion"). The Motion indicates that Debtors were served with interrogatories, requests for documents and admissions ("Discovery Requests") to which the Defendants neither responded, nor requested an extension of time to respond.

Plaintiff then properly contacted counsel for the Defendants to meet and confer regarding the Discovery Requests prior to filing the Motion.

By the Motion, Plaintiff seeks an order compelling Defendants to respond to the Discovery Requests and awarding attorney fees and costs jointly and severally to be paid by Defendants and their counsel to the Chekian Law Office for preparation of the Motion in an amount of $1,012.

In response to the Motion, the Defendants concede that they did not respond to the Plaintiff's Discovery Requests. The stated reason for the nonresponsiveness is due to communication issues arising from Defendants' counsel having health issues as well as unspecified issues related to Defendants' counsel's mother. Curiously, the declaration attesting to these issues is signed by the Defendant instead of Defendants' counsel (the party with personal knowledge of the problems).

Based on Defendants' concession that the nonresponsiveness to the Discovery Requests was their fault, the vagueness around the basis for the nonresponsiveness, and the failure to address the request for fees by Plaintiff, the Court is inclined to order as follows:

1. That Attorneys' fees be awarded to Plaintiff in the full amount of $1,012, jointly and severally to be paid by Defendants and/or Counsel for the Defendants;
2. That a deadline for responses to the Discovery Requests and/or objections thereto shall be set fourteen days from the date of entry of the order on this Motion; and
3. That failure to abide by the deadline may result in discovery sanctions, including but not limited to deeming the requests for admission as admitted.

#2.00 Motion To Substitute Attorney Suzette C. Douglas for Attorney Thomas Watkins

EH__

Docket 35

Tentative Ruling:

6/7/18

BACKGROUND

On 6/17/16, Brenda Fleming Bell ("Debtor") filed her petition for chapter 13 relief. The Debtor's case was filed with the assistance of counsel, Thomas Watkins ("Watkins").

The Debtor alleges that throughout the entire case Watkins has been unresponsive to her numerous phone calls and office visits. On 2/13/18, Debtor wrote Watkins a letter informing him that she no longer needed his services. Watkins did not reply.

On 2/16/18, Debtor signed a retainer agreement and substitution of attorney with Suzette C. Douglas. Watkins did not reply to Douglas's numerous calls, emails, and letters after this transaction.

On 5/2/18, the Debtor filed a motion to withdraw Watkins ("Motion"), and to allow the substitution of Suzette C. Douglas. No opposition has been filed, and the deadline to file an opposition has closed, pursuant to LBR 9013-1(f) (must be filed 14 days before hearing). The Debtor filed a declaration confirming these allegations.

DISCUSSION

Rule 3-700(C)(5) of the California Rules of Professional Conduct allows withdrawal of attorney is permitted if the client knowingly and freely assents to termination of the employment. The Motion complies with LBR 2091-1, requiring leave of court for a Debtor to be represented by new counsel, and Rule 3-700(A)(1) of the CRPC, holding that if permission of withdrawal is required by local rules, the motion must be granted for withdrawal to be valid.

The Motion provides evidence that Watkins did not satisfy his obligation or responsibility as counsel to the Debtor. LBR 3015-1 requires that Debtor's counsel "must be available to respond to questions throughout the term of the plan and provide other legal services as are necessary for the administration of the case before the bankruptcy court." The Debtor alleges that her counsel's unresponsiveness has violated this requirement, and almost resulted in her case being dismissed. The Debtor further provides evidence a clear breakdown in communication and the attorney/client relationship which warrants the Court's granting of this Motion.

TENTATIVE RULING

This Court is inclined to GRANT the Motion in its entirety permitting the proposed substitution and terminating Watkins' representation of the Debtor.

BACKGROUND

On November 27, 2017, Gloria Hayslet ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. On January 18, 2018, Debtor's Chapter 13 plan was confirmed.

On March 5, 2018, Trustee filed a motion to dismiss case for delinquency. On March 21, 2018, Debtor filed her opposition. After a continuance of the motion to dismiss, Debtor filed a motion to modify plan on April 19, 2018. On April 26, 2018, Trustee filed comments indicating conditional approval of the motion to modify plan, which included the suspension of one monthly payment. Later that day, the motion to dismiss was continued for two more weeks. No order was entered on the motion to modify plan, and, on May 10, 2018, the case was dismissed.

On May 16, 2018, Debtor filed a motion to vacate dismissal. The next day, Trustee filed amended comments indicating conditional approval of the motion to modify plan, which now included the suspension of two monthly payments. Trustee also filed comments on Debtor's motion to vacate dismissal, which express the Trustee's unqualified approval of the motion.

BACKGROUND

On April 12, 2018, an order was granted converting the Case from Chapter 7 to Chapter 13. On April 16, 2018, Heidi and Jeremy Mayes ("Debtors") filed their petition for chapter 13 relief. Among the estate's assets is a 2014 Ford F150 Pickup 4D ("the F150"). On May 2, 2018, Debtors filed their Motion to Value the F150 ("Motion"). No opposition has been filed.

DISCUSSION

A. Service

The notice was served on 5/02/2018, more than 21 days from the hearing date of 6/7/18. It was properly served to the trustee and the US trustee by electronic filing, properly served to Debtors (individuals), the agent for service of process and the CEO of Union Pacific CAE Federal Credit Union ("Creditor") by US Mail. However, here, the Debtor has failed to provide evidence that Union Pacific CAE Federal Credit Union is the correct creditor. At a minimum a copy of the underlying agreement or certificate of title should have been filed to verify that service was effectuated on the correct party.

B. Discussion

The Debtor asserts that the F150 should be valued at $13,109.00. Under § 506(a), the Debtor can bifurcate a secured, unavoidable debt, with one part representing the amount of the value of the collateral, and the deficiency being treated as an unsecured claim. See In re Penrod, 636 F.3d 1175, 1177 (9th Cir. 2011).

Here, the Debtor's valuation is based on a KBB typical listing valuation for a sale to a private party. The Debtor filed a declaration in support of her motion to value, in which she details how she purchased the vehicle, and used the KBB to value her vehicle. The KBB valuation is based on a private party range between $12,357 and $14,336. The Debtor has selected a value relatively in the middle of the range at $13,109. Absent opposition from the Creditor, the Court finds that the evidence of value is sufficient under the circumstances.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to CONTINUE the hearing on the Motion to June 28, 2018, at 11:00 a.m. for Debtor to supplement the Motion with a copy of the certificate of title or other evidence identifying the potentially impacted creditor.

Chapter 13

#6.00 Motion for Setting Property Value

EH__

Docket 12

Tentative Ruling:

6/7/18

BACKGROUND

On May 14, 2018, Glenda Faye Price ("Debtor") filed her petition for chapter 13 relief. Among the assets of the estate is a 2012 Ford Fusion (the "Fusion"). On May 16, 2018, the Debtor filed her Motion to Value the Fusion ("Motion"). No opposition has been filed.

DISCUSSION

A. Service

The notice was served on 5/16/18, which is over 21 days from the hearing date of 6/7/18. It was properly served to the trustee and the US trustee by electronic filing, properly served to the debtor (individual), the agent for service of process and the CEO of Drivetime ("Creditor") (corporation) by US Mail, and properly served to the court. Service of the motion is proper.

B. Motion to Value

Under § 506(a), the Debtor can bifurcate a secured, unavoidable debt, with one part representing the amount of the value of the collateral, and the deficiency being treated as an unsecured claim. See In re Penrod, 636 F.3d 1175, 1177 (9th Cir. 2011).

The motion asks this Court to determine the value of the Fusion at $6,600, and therefore determine the Creditor's secured claim as $6,600, and the remainder as unsecured. The Debtor's valuation is based on a KBB typical listing valuation ($5,601 - $7,995 after mileage adjustment) and KBB private party valuation (Within the range of $5,075-$6,688, or specifically $5,882). (Ex. 's 2 & 3). The Debtor filed a declaration in support of her motion to value, in which she details how she purchased the Fusion and used the KBB report to value her vehicle.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to GRANT the Motion. Under the circumstances, including the lack of opposition, the proposed valuation is reasonable. The Court determines the secured value of the Fusion to be $6,600 and the unsecured claim to be $10,058. Separately, the Court notes that after service and filing of the Motion, Bridgecrest Credit Company, LLC (successor-in-interest to Drivetime) filed a proof of claim asserting a secured claim consistent with the Debtor's valuation for $6,600. Thus, as a secondary basis for granting of the Motion, the proposed valuation appears undisputed.

Docket 15

Tentative Ruling:

05/24/2018

BACKGROUND

On March 27, 2018, Ignacio and Cynthia Aguilar (collectively, "Debtors") filed their petition for chapter 13 relief. Among the assets of the estate is a 2014 Nissan Sentra (the "Sentra"). On April 30, 2018, the Debtors filed their Motion to Value the Sentra ("Motion"). On May 8, 2018, Capital One Auto Finance ("Capital One") filed its opposition to the Motion ("Opposition"). No reply has been filed.

DISCUSSION

One of the benefits of filing a Chapter 13 bankruptcy is that under § 506(a) the debtor can bifurcate a secured, unavoidable debt, with one part representing the amount of the value of the collateral, and the deficiency being treated as an unsecured claim. See In re Penrod, 636 F.3d 1175, 1177 (9th Cir. 2011).

The Debtors assert that the Sentra's value, and thus its secured portion, should be determined to be $5,800, with an unsecured deficiency claim for $5,308. The Debtors' valuation is based on a KBB value trade-in report. The Debtors have also provided evidence of estimates obtained to repair damage and normal wear and tear on the Sentra. (Ex.'s 3 & 4). Capital One has responded that the value of the Sentra should be no less than $9,975. In support, Capital One has provided evidence that the NADA Guide provides $9,975 as the retail value for the Sentra. To the extent there is a dispute about the valuation, Capital One requests a continuance for an appraisal. The Court is inclined to grant a short continuance for Capital One to have an appraiser evaluate the Sentra's condition.

BACKGROUND

On November 6, 2014, Thomas Quinn ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. On January 8, 2015, Debtor's Chapter 13 plan was confirmed.

On April 18, 2018, Trustee filed a notice of final cure mortgage payment pursuant to FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 3002.1. On May 1, 2018, Bayview Loan Servicing, LLC filed its response stating that there are $93,258.08 in postpetition arrears and that Debtors have missed the last twenty-eight mortgage payments. On May 2, 2018, Trustee filed a motion to dismiss the case.

DISCUSSION

11 U.S.C. § 1307(c)(6) states:

(c) Except as provided in subsection (f) of this section, on request of a party in interest or the United States trustee and after notice and a hearing, the court may convert a case under this chapter to a case under chapter 7 of this title, or may dismiss a case under this chapter, whichever is in the best interests of creditors and the estate, for cause, including ---

(6) material default by the debtor with respect to a term of a confirmed plan

Trustee asserts that the confirmation order provided that Debtor was to make direct mortgage payments and Trustee argues that failure to make such payments constitutes a material default with respect to the terms of a confirmed plan. As demonstrated by the case law cited by Trustee, Trustee's argument is correct. See, e.g., In re Evans, 543 B.R. 213 (Bankr. E.D. Va. 2016) ("All courts that have examined the question of whether payments required to be made directly to creditors under a confirmed chapter 13 plan are 'payments under the plan,' as that term is used in § 1328(a), have answered the question in the affirmative.").

The Court also deems failure to oppose to be consent to the relief requested pursuant to Local Rule 9013-(1)(h).

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to GRANT the motion and DISMISS the case.

Docket 642

Tentative Ruling:

6/11/2018

BACKGROUND

On October 20, 2013, Douglas J. Roger, MD, Inc. ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On October 20, 2015, six different adversary proceedings were filed by Trustee in an attempt to recover money or property pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 547 and 548.

In April 2016, Trustee filed three different motions to approve compromise.¹ These compromise motions faced objections by Kajan Mather & Barish ("KMB") (KMB's objections were ultimately withdrawn) as well as Revere Financial Corporation ("Revere"). Revere's objection was primarily based on its assertion that it would provide a better offer for the compromised claims, and, therefore, further settlement discussions should be permitted. As a result of Revere's unresolved objection, the hearings on the motions to approve compromises were continued multiple times.

On November 5, 2016, Debtor filed motions to enforce the compromise for the compromise motions related to adversary proceedings 6:15-ap-1307 and 6:15-ap-1309. Later in November, the Court approved stipulations continuing the motions to enforce compromises, and the original compromise motions, to February 1, 2017. On January 18, 2017, Trustee and Revere filed oppositions to the motions to enforce compromises. Revere's opposition stated that Revere and Trustee had reached a settlement in principle, and that the pending settlement would provide more benefit to the estate than the pending compromises. Among the assertions made by Revere were the following:

- "Indeed, the Third, Fifth, and Ninth Circuits all concur that the settlement of a claim that the estate owns is a sale of property of the estate, which triggers a duty to consider better offers." [Dkt. No. 420, pg. 13, lines 3-5].
- "A bankruptcy court is obliged to consider . . . whether any property of the estate that would be disposed of in connection with the settlement might draw a higher price through a competitive process and be the proper subject of a section 363 sale." (quoting In re Mickey Thompson, 292 B.R. 415, 421-22 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2003)).

The night before the hearings on February 1, 2017, Revere and Trustee filed a voluminous "global" settlement. Ultimately, this global settlement was not properly before the Court at the hearings on February 1, 2017, but being generally aware of the contents of the filings, and because Revere and Trustee alleged that the global settlement would provide more benefit for the estate, the Court continued the original compromise motions (as well as the motions to enforce compromises) to allow for the proper consideration of overbids. The Court cautioned Revere, however, that it may be difficult to successfully win an overbid if the Court was unable to discern the value being offered for a specific asset.

After multiple continuances of the compromise motions, the Court held another hearing on the matter on June 28, 2017. At the hearing, the Court essentially reiterated its position from the hearing of February 1, 2017, stating that it believed an opportunity to overbid was warranted in this case, but that an overbid may not be successful it is infeasible to ascertain the value being offered for a specific asset. On July 26, 2017, Trustee filed a notice of motion for approval of bidding procedures. On August 2, 2017, the Court held an auction of the claims asserted in adversary proceedings 6:15-ap-1307 and 6:15-ap-1309, with Revere ultimately prevailing as the highest bidder on the former, and the adversary defendant ultimately prevailing as the highest bidder on the latter. As a result of sustained disputes between Revere and Debtor, the orders for the hearings of August 2, 2017, were not entered for several months.

On January 24, 2018, Revere filed a renewed global compromise motion, slightly adjusted to account for the results of the auction. Bank of Southern California, N.A. and American Express Company ("American Express") filed limited oppositions to the global compromise, while Debtor filed an opposition arguing that (1) any benefit Revere was offering was illusory; and (2) an auction should be held to allow parties to bid on any claims or interests being purchased by Revere. The Court instructed the parties that it intended to consider overbids on the global compromise.

On April 18, 2018, Trustee filed a motion for sale of property of the estate. While not completely clear, the motion appeared to contemplate that any potential overbidders must bid against the entire bid made by Revere in the global compromise. In light of the fact that potential overbidders would likely only be interested in a single asset or category of assets, and considering that Revere's global settlement contains many provisions which are only material to Revere, at a hearing on May 9, 2018, the Court instructed the parties that there needed to be some mechanism by which a claim could be severed out and purchased by a potential overbidder.

On May 21, 2018, Trustee filed a motion for order authorizing auction of litigation claims held by the estate (the "Motion"). According to the Motion, American Express offered $40,000 for the claims related to adversary proceeding 6:15-ap-1303, Dr. Freedman offered $14,000 for the claims related to the claims for which there is a pending compromise motion as noted in footnote 1, and Dr. Roger offered $10,000 for various claims. Pursuant to the Motion, Trustee seeks authority to auction those claims for which he has received a bid. Of particular note is that the Motion seeks to establish a "pre-determined reserve"; if the bids at the auction do not reach an undisclosed amount, Trustee asserts that he will not sell the claims.

Chapter 7

The Motion drew oppositions from Revere and Debtor (as well as American Express, which filed a late joinder to Debtor's opposition). Revere argues that the claims should not be auctioned at all. Debtor argues that Trustee's pre-set reserve is meaningfully chilling bidding. For the reasons set forth below, the Court concludes that Revere's opposition lacks merit and while taking note of the arguments made in Debtor's opposition, concludes that those arguments do not constitute a basis for not holding an auction.

DISCUSSION

I. REVERE'S OPPOSITION

As a preliminary note, the Court finds Revere's opposition to be somewhat disingenuous and possibly precluded by principles of judicial estoppel. As noted in the background section, Revere previously vigorously argued that compromise motions should be continued to allow Revere the opportunity to negotiate with Trustee and eventually present an overbid. Revere's contention that Mickey Thompson is inapplicable is misleading, at best. The section of Mickey Thompson quoted, from Revere's previous briefing, in the background section, and incorporated into this Court's previous tentative ruling, continues on to state that: "[t]he possibility that someone else may be willing to pay a higher price triggers the prospect of an auction that could yield an even higher price." In re Mickey Thompson, 292 B.R. 415, 422 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2003)).

While Revere's assertion that Mickey Thompson does not require this Court to hold an auction in this situation is technically true, the argument misses the point. As previously noted by this Court, Mickey Thompson, as a Bankruptcy Appellate Panel decision, does not require this Court to do anything, in any situation. The principles articulated in Mickey Thompson, however, which this Court finds to be well-reasoned, support the implementation of a competitive bidding environment when there is reason to believe that doing so will produce a benefit to the bankruptcy estate. As previously argued by Revere, "[w]hen confronted with a motion to approve a settlement under Rule 9019(a), a bankruptcy court is obliged to consider, as part of the 'fair and equitable' analysis, whether any property of the estate that would be disposed of in connection with the settlement might draw a higher price through a competitive process and be the proper subject of a section 363 sale." Id. at 421-22 (emphasis added). Clearly, if a higher overbid has been presented by the hearing, then the Court would know that an auction process would yield a better result, and it would be prudent to hold an auction. Yet, Mickey Thompson simply does not stand for the proposition that the Court can only hold an auction if it knows that such an auction will yield a higher return for the estate.

The remainder of Revere's opposition argues, in one form or another, that the global compromise provides more benefit to the estate than the auction. First of all, the Court simply cannot analyze Revere's arguments until the counterbids have been determined, which will occur through an auction. Therefore, Revere's arguments are premature, since the arguments amount to the contention that Revere should win an auction that has yet to be held.

II. DEBTOR'S OPPOSITION

Debtor's opposition primarily objects to the Motion because of disagreement with the pre-determined undisclosed reserve. To the extent that Debtor's opposition argues against the merits of Revere's global settlement, the Court finds these arguments to be irrelevant for the purposes of holding the contemplated auction.

The Court has not been presented with any applicable case law addressing the appropriateness of Trustee's undisclosed pre-set reserve. If any party wishes to brief this narrow issue on a short schedule, the Court may be inclined to allow additional briefing on the appropriateness of a undisclosed reserve.

The Court notes that it does not find the establishment of a minimum bid or a pre-set reserve (which are functionally the same) to be legally impermissible, setting aside the question of whether such amount is disclosed. See, e.g., In re Wilson Freight Co., 30 B.R. 971, 975 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 1983) (quoting 3 COLLIER BANKRUPTCY PRACTICE GUIDE ¶ 43.023) ("The trustee may want to fix an upset price or, in an auction sale, to offer the property with reserve, that is with the right to reject even the highest offer on the grounds of inadequacy. . . . The trustee must exercise great care in preparing the terms of the notice which should clearly set forth the relevant information."). Trustee is simply not required to sell the assets at issue here, and it necessarily follows that Trustee retains the right to decline to sell the assets if Trustee believes the offer is unacceptable. For example, if Trustee received a $1 offer on a claim believed to be worth $10,000, assuming Trustee has reserved the right to decline the highest offer, it would seem the only appropriate action would be to reject the $1 offer.

The above analysis does not consider whether the pre-set reserve has been disclosed or has remained undisclosed. The ramifications of the distinction are not completely clear because Debtor simply does not explain why the failure to disclose the amount of the pre-set reserve should result in a denial of the motion. ²

While it appears that Debtor is operating under a misinterpretation of the nature of the reserves (see footnote 2), the Court does have some concern that the reserve could result in a chilling of bidding. Notably, the Motion seems to indicate that Trustee is setting the reserves on the basis of what it believes the claims are worth to Revere, as evidenced by the global settlement agreement.³ The result of such process may functionally be that Revere is allowed to cast an unenforceable bid in secret, with Trustee retaining the right ultimate discretion over the results of the auction.

While it is true that the Motion creates a less than ideal situation which may not maximize value of the claims to be sold, it is also true that all auctions are less than perfect. A "pure" auction, netting maximum value, is a hypothetical economic concept which cannot be replicated in the confines of bankruptcy. Chapter 7 trustees are incentivized to efficiently liquidate assets to distribute to creditors. As such, a Chapter 7 trustee may sell real property for a certain amount because it is the best offer it has received after a reasonable amount of time, and after expending a reasonable amount of effort. The reasonableness of the procedures utilized in bankruptcy sales does not present a black and white analysis. Here, the effect of the inclusion of an undisclosed minimum bid is less than clear.

Ultimately, however, the purpose of the contemplated auction is to assist the Court and the parties in assessing the fair market value of the subject claims, and potentially selling those claims. The presence of an undisclosed reserve does not completely undermine those objectives. It is certainly possible that the bidding on a claim may be so low as to serve as compelling evidence that that claim has little to no fair market value. It is also possible that the bidding on a claim may be high enough to serve as material evidence that the bidding party is offering more value than Revere, regardless of whether such bid is accepted. Of course, it is possible that the Trustee is satisfied with the highest bid, and the claim is sold. If any of these situations were to occur, the auction would have served its purpose.

On the other hand, the highest bid may fall in that range where it is not clear whether the bidder has offered more or less value than that offered by Revere as part of the global settlement agreement. In such a case, while the auction would assist the Court in determining the fair market value of such claim, the lack of transparency in the process may decrease the weight assigned to such evidence. Ultimately, however, evidence of some weight is better than no evidence at all.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to GRANT the motion and hold an auction.

#3.00 Order to show cause why Christopher Hewitt should not be sanctioned for filing frivolous pleading against Delia Moya

From: 6/6/18

EH__

Docket 23

Tentative Ruling:

6/27/2018

BACKGROUND

On August 31, 2016, Jay Goodman ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On December 12, 2016, Debtor received a discharge.

On February 12, 2018, Debtor filed a motion for an order to show cause why Delia Moya ("Moya"), Debtor's ex-spouse, should not be held in civil contempt. The Court issued a corresponding order to show cause on February 27, 2018 (the "1st OSC"). On March 14, 2018, Moya filed a response to the 1st OSC. After issuing a tentative ruling, the Court, at a hearing on March 28, 2018, orally vacated the 1st OSC. On May 4, 2018, the Court issued an order vacating the 1st OSC and issuing an order to show cause why Debtor's attorney, Christopher Hewitt ("Hewitt") should not be sanctioned for filing a frivolous pleading (the "2nd OSC").

On May 21, 2018, the hearing on the 2nd OSC was continued for one week by stipulation of the parties. On May 23, 2018, Hewitt filed his opposition to the 2nd OSC. On May 30, 2018, Moya filed a reply, requesting $6,850 for responding to the 1st OSC and $2,000 for filing the reply in connection with the 2nd OSC.

Chapter 7

On May 31, 2018, Moya filed a motion for attorney fees (the "Motion"). Moya's Motion primarily requests that Debtor reimburse Moya for $8,350 in attorney's fees ($6,850 for responding to the 1st OSC and $1,500 for the Motion). The Motion was set for hearing on June 27, 2018.

TENTATIVE RULING

For the reasons set forth in the 2nd OSC and the reply, the Court believes that monetary sanctions are appropriate. Hewitt to address any ethical concerns arising from a possible conflict of interest presented by the instant situation.

#4.00 Motion for Order Excusing Co-Debtor Becky L. Colvin from Pre-Filing Counseling Based Upon Co-Debtor's Mental Incapacity and Physical Disability [11 USC §109(h)(4)]

EH__

Docket 5

Tentative Ruling:

6/13/18

BACKGROUND

On May 29, 2018, William & Becky Colvin (collectively "Debtors"; individually, "William" and "Becky") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. That same day, Debtors filed two motions: (1) a "motion for exemption from credit counseling due to mental incapacity and physical disability"; and (2) a "motion that William J. Colvin be appointed as "next friend" nunc pro tunc for co-debtor Becky L. Colvin." Both motions were set for hearing on June 13, 2018. The Court notes that, pursuant to the Local Rules, the form notice used by Debtors, and the contents of the motions, any party wishing to oppose the motions must file opposition at least fourteen days prior to the hearing. Debtors scheduled the instant hearings on shortened notice without Court permission, however, and, as a result, the opposition deadline was a day after the service deadline.

The factual background is the same for both requests. Debtors assert that Becky was kicked in the head by a horse and has spent the last twelve years in an at-home hospital bed with the exception of health care appointments. Debtors assert that Becky is unable to talk or effectively communicate.

Chapter 7

DISCUSSION

I. Waiver of Credit Counseling Requirement

11 U.S.C. § 109(h)(4), which identifies an exception to the prepetition credit counseling requirement, states:

The requirements of paragraph (1) shall not apply with respect to a debtor whom the court determines, after notice and hearing, is unable to complete those requirements because of incapacity, disability, or active military duty in a military combat zone. For the purposes of this paragraph, incapacity means that the debtor is impaired by reason of mental illness or mental deficiency so that he is incapable of realizing and making rational decisions with respect to his financial responsibilities; and "disability" means that the debtor is so physically impaired as to be unable, after reasonable effort, to participate in person, telephone, or Internet briefing required under paragraph (1).

The Court finds that William's declaration sets forth sufficient evidence to establish Becky's disability for purposes of § 109(h)(4). Due to the improper notice of the motion for a waiver of the credit counseling requirement, however, the Court is inclined to CONTINUE this motion for two weeks, at which time the Court intends to GRANT the motion if no opposition has been filed.

II. Next Friend

FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 1004.1 allows "a representative, including a general guardian, committee, conservator, or similar fiduciary," to file a voluntary petition on behalf of an incompetent person.

[a]n infant or incompetent person who does not have a duly appointed representative may file a voluntary petition by next friend or guardian ad litem. The court shall appoint a guardian ad litem for an infant or incompetent person who is a debtor and is not otherwise represented or shall make any other order to protect the infant or incompetent debtor.

Rule 1004.1 is patterned after FED.R.CIV.P. Rule 17(c), which applies to adversary proceedings pursuant to FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 7017. That rule provides that an incompetent person may sue "by a next friend or by a guardian ad litem" if the incompetent person does not have a duly appointed representative, and provides that "[t]he court must appoint a guardian ad litem—or issue another appropriate order—to protect a minor or incompetent person who is unrepresented in an action."

Cases interpreting Rule 17(c) look to the law of the state in which the subject is domiciled and follow the state's incompetency laws." In re Burchell, 2014 WL 1304635, at *1 (Bankr. N.D. Ohio 2014)(internal citations omitted). This court shall thus look to the California Probate Code's § 811 which outlines the possible bases for a determination that a person is of unsound mind or lacks capacity to make a decision or do a certain act, including for example, incapacity to contract or to execute wills or trusts.

In support of the Motion, the Debtors have attached the Declaration of William in which he details the extensive limitation that Becky experiences due to the injury suffered by a horse. Notwithstanding these diagnosis, § 811(d) provides that "the mere diagnosis of a mental or physical disorder shall not be sufficient in and of itself to support a determination that a person is of unsound mind or lacks the capacity to do a certain act." Instead, California law requires evidence of specific deficits and a link between the identified deficits and the acts that the allegedly incompetent person would otherwise have capacity to perform. The types of deficiencies are outlined in § 811 as follows:

- (1) Alertness and attention, including, but not limited to, the following:
 - (A) Level of arousal or consciousness.
 - (B) Orientation to time, place, person, and situation.
 - (C) Ability to attend and concentrate.
- (2) Information processing, including, but not limited to, the following:
 - (A) Short- and long-term memory, including immediate recall.
 - (B) Ability to understand or communicate with others, either verbally or otherwise.

Docket 17

Tentative Ruling:

6/5/18

The Court is inclined to DENY the motion for improper services. The Court's self-calendaring procedures require that motions to continue the automatic stay which are set on shortened notice be served on secured creditors pursuant to FRBP 7004. Here, it does not appear that Debtors have served the primary secured creditor, Dovenmuehle Mortgage, pursuant to FRBP 7004.

11/30/17

BACKGROUND

On February 21, 2017, Ernie Macias ("Debtor") filed his petition for chapter 13 relief. The Debtor's case was filed by Alon Darvish ("Darvish"). On March 13, 2017, the Debtor's case was dismissed for failure to file information.

On March 24, 2017, the Office of the United States Trustee ("UST") filed a Motion to Disgorge Attorney's Fees ("Disgorgement Motion"). On June 13, 2017, the Court granted in part and denied in part the UST's Disgorgement Motion (the "Disgorgement Order"). The Disgorgement Order required Darvish to file his disclosure of compensation, and to disgorge fees received from the Debtor back to him.

On September 20, 2017, the UST filed its Motion For An Order To Show Cause Why Alon Darvish Should Not Be Held In Contempt Of Court Pursuant To 11 U.S.C. § 105 And Federal Rule Of Bankruptcy Procedure 9020 (the "Motion for OSC"). The Motion for OSC specifically asserted that Darvish had failed to comply with any part of the Disgorgement Order. The UST's Motion for OSC further asserted that Darvish had repeatedly failed to disclose compensation and had been sanctioned for such conduct under similar circumstances in at least 6 other cases. (Motion for OSC at 9).

Chapter 13

On October 20, 2017, the Court granted the Motion for OSC and ordered Darvish to show cause why he should not be held in contempt (the "OSC"). Darvish filed his response to the OSC on November 16, 2017 ("Response"). On November 21, 2017, the UST replied to the Response.

DISCUSSION

In his Response, Darvish indicated that his practice includes the filing of skeletal petitions for chapter 13 debtors for the purpose of stopping foreclosures. He indicated that when such skeletal petitions are filed, his software does not file the Disclosure of Compensation. Darvish asserts that he is a solo practitioner who is overwhelmed and understaffed and who is trying to rectify the issues in his practice. In Reply, the UST objects particularly to Darvish's failure to outline specific steps he intends to take to remedy the issues at his firm. The UST is also concerned that Darvish has essentially admitted that his practice includes the filing of abusive petitions intended solely to avoid foreclosures. The UST requests that the Court continue the matter for Darvish to set forth specific remedial actions as ordered. The UST also requests that the Court separately consider whether a separate order to show cause is justified based on Darvish's inherently abusive prevention practice.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court agrees with the UST that Darvish's explanation is insufficient. Darvish's Response indicates clearly the reason for the failure to file disclosure of compensation forms. Despite this fact, he does not explain the ongoing failure to file these forms, particularly where he has previously been sanctioned for failing to disclose his compensation. The ongoing failure to file required documents, despite having already been sanctioned, supports the UST's request for a specific plan of remediation. Absent such plan, Darvish may simply continue to rely on his thus far unreliable bankruptcy filing software.

Separately, the UST's concern regarding Darvish's practice of filing skeletal petitions is well-taken. In particular, if Darvish is advising his clients to file abusive petitions to

#42.00 Motion to Dismiss Debtor due to Ineligibility

EH__

Docket 10

Tentative Ruling:

06/14/2018

On May 22, 2018 ("Petition Date"), Peter Najim ("Debtor") filed his petition for chapter 13 relief. Creditor Cardenas Three, LLC ("Cardenas") moves this Court for dismissal of the Debtor's case on the grounds of ineligibility ("Motion"). Specifically, Cardenas asserts that the Debtor did not receive his credit counseling certificate prior to the filing of the petition as required pursuant to §109(h)(1).

The Docket reflects that on May 23, 2018, the Debtor filed his Certificate of Counseling. The Certificate of Counseling specifically indicated that the Debtor received the counseling required under §109 on May 23, 2018, postpetition.

On June 11, 2018, the Debtor late-filed his opposition to the Cardenas Motion. The Debtor does not dispute the grounds for dismissal. His response is that he did in fact take the credit counseling class on the day the petition was filed. However, a certificate with the 5/23 date was issued in error. The Debtor's declaration is signed under penalty of perjury.

However, the new certificate indicates the Debtor completed his counseling session at 7:24 p.m on May 22, 2018, and the Court's docket reflects that the petition was filed at 6:03 p.m. on May 22. The plain language of the §109 appears to contemplate that the counseling session must have been completed on a "date" preceding the Petition Date. As such, even if the Debtor completed the counseling session on May 22, this would have been too late. However, even assuming, arguendo, that a counseling session taken and completed the day of the petition filing is acceptable, the Debtor completed his session after the petition had already been filed.

TENTATIVE RULING

Cardenas has correctly pointed out that the Debtor was ineligible to file his petition on May 22, 2018, and the Debtor has provided no authority indicating he fits into any exception for this deficiency. As such, the Court is inclined to GRANT the Motion and dismiss the case without a bar to refileing.

BACKGROUND

On December 13, 2017, Sean Coy ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. On February 2, 2018, Debtor filed a motion to avoid the lien of Deutsche Bank National Trust Company ("Deutsche"). On February 15, 2018, Deutsche filed its opposition to the motion to avoid lien. In its opposition, Deutsche argued that a portion of the originally senior lien¹, held by FMJM RWL III Trust 2015-1 ("FMJM") is actually subordinate to the originally junior lien² of Deutsche, due to the execution, after the recordation of Deutsche's lien, of a mortgage modification without the consent of Deutsche which Deutsche argues materially prejudices its junior lien. Deutsche argued that because of this subordination, its lien was not wholly unsecured, and therefore could not be avoided.

On February 27, 2018, Deutsche filed a complaint against FMJM seeking declaratory relief. On March 30, 2018, FMJM filed a motion to dismiss for failure to state a claim. On April 12, 2018, Deutsche filed its opposition. By stipulation of the parties, the instant hearing has been previously continued for two weeks.

DISCUSSION

I. MOTION TO DISMISS STANDARD

In order to avoid dismissal pursuant to Civil Rule 12(b)(6), a complaint must allege sufficient factual matter, which if accepted as true, would "state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face." Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678 (2009) (quoting Bell Atlantic Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 570 (2007)). A claim is facially plausible when a court can draw a reasonable inference that the defendant is liable for misconduct. Id. "While legal conclusions can provide the framework of a complaint, they must be supported by factual allegations." Id. at 464. The plaintiff must provide "more than labels and conclusions, and a formulaic recitation of the elements of a cause of action will not do." Id. at 678.

II. DECLARATORY JUDGMENT

FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 7001(2) & (9) state the following:

An adversary proceeding is governed by the rules of this Part VII. The following are adversary proceedings:

(2) a proceeding to determine the validity, priority, or extent of a lien or other interest in property, other than a proceeding under Rule 4003(d);

(9) a proceeding to obtain a declaratory judgment relating to any of the foregoing

Chapter 13

Here, Deutsche seeks a judgment declaring that its lien is entitled to higher priority than a portion of FMJM's lien.

The starting point for priority of liens under California law is "first in time, first in right." See generally CAL. CIV. CODE § 2897. Deutsche points to Gluskin v. Atlantic Sav. & Loan Ass'n, 32 Cal. App. 3d 307 (Cal. Ct. App. 1973) and Lennar Ne. Partners v. Buice, 49 Cal. App. 4th 1576 (Cal. Ct. App. 1996) as standing for the proposition that if a senior lienholder executed a modification which prejudices the junior lienholder, the senior lienholder may lose priority to the extent of the modification. See also MILLER & STARR CAL. REAL ESTATE § 10:102 (4th ed. 2017) ("If modifications in the senior lien have a material adverse effect on the junior lien either by increasing the risk of default or making protection of the junior lienor's position potentially more burdensome, then the senior lien may lose priority to the junior lien."). FMJM argues that the cases cited above contain unique factual situations not applicable here and that the California Court of Appeals has constrained the holding of Gluskin and Lennar to specific factual situations. See Friery v. Sutter Buttes Sav. Bank, 61 Cal. App. 4th 869 (Cal. Ct. App. 1998); see also MILLER & STARR CAL. REAL ESTATE § 10:102 (4th ed. 2017) ("The possible argument from these earlier cases, that all junior lienors, not solely subordinating sellers, should be able to gain priority over modifications to the senior lien made without their consent, has been rejected.").

Recently, citing all three of the above cases, the California Court of Appeals synthesized the existing case law with the following succinct statement:

Subsequent cases have made clear that a material modification of a senior lien, such as an increase in the principal or interest rate, does not result in loss of priority absent contractual subordination. Where a seller agrees to subordinate to construction loans, a material modification of those loans may result in their total loss of priority. However, in the case of a subordinating junior lender, only the modification of the senior lien loses priority.

Chapter 13

Bank of New York Mellon v. Citibank, N.A., 8 Cal. App. 5th 935, 954 (Cal. Ct. App. 2017) (citations omitted).

FMJM implicitly, and to some degree explicitly, asserts that this case is closer to the situation in Friery than the situation in Lennar. This Court disagrees. Here, the notes now held by FMJM and Deutsche were executed simultaneously, as first and second mortgage, with the intention that the security interest evidenced by the second mortgage be subordinated to the security interest evidenced by the first mortgage. In Friery, however, there was originally only a single lien on the property – the original borrowers then sold the property to a third party, who encumbered the property with additional liens. That is not the situation here. Here, the two mortgages were executed simultaneously, similar to the situation in Lennar, and, as a result, the subordination principles outlined by Bank of New York Mellon, Lennar, and Gluskin are applicable.

In distinguishing Lennar from the instant situation, FMJM argues that, unlike the case in Lennar, here the modification did not materially prejudice the junior lienholder, Deutsche. The Court need not reach this argument at the motion to dismiss standard because such an argument is usually factual in nature. See MILLER & STARR CAL. REAL ESTATE § 10:102 (4th ed. 2017) ("Usually, whether a modification has a material adverse impact on a junior lienor is a question of act, but when reasonable minds cannot differ, the conclusion that the modification resulted in a material adverse effect can be decided as a matter of law."). While FMJM has provided arguments as to why the Deutsche is not prejudiced by the modification, the complaint of Deutsche alleges sufficient factual matter to plausibly allege that material prejudice could plausibly have occurred. FMJM's assertions on this point are not appropriate at the motion to dismiss stage.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to DENY the motion to dismiss.

#1.00 CONT Motion in Individual Case for Order Imposing a Stay or Continuing the Automatic Stay as the Court Deems Appropriate 1931 Hemmingway Pl, San Jacinto CA 92583

MOVANT: JOSE & LILIAN VELASCO

From: 6/5/18

EH__

Docket 9

Tentative Ruling:

6/5/2018

The Court is inclined to DENY the motion. While Debtors have provided sufficient evidence to overcome the presumption of bad faith as to their most recent Chapter 13 case, Debtors have not provided clear and convincing evidence to overcome the presumption of bad faith as their second most recent Chapter 13 case, which was pending within the previous year. Furthermore, Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., the holder of the note secured by Debtors' real property during the second most recent Chapter 13 case, had a relief from stay motion pending at the time of the case's dismissal. The Court takes judicial notice of the contents of docket number 72 in case 6:12-bk-35097-MH, which appears to state that Debtors were 29 months behind on their mortgage payments on October 5, 2017. 11 U.S.C. § 362(c)(3)(C)(ii) provides for a presumption of bad faith as to a creditor if a motion from relief from stay is granted or pending at dismissal in a case during the previous year. Here, Debtors' unsupported statement that their income has increased is insufficient to overcome the presumption of bad faith as to the mortgagee of their real property.

Docket 14

Tentative Ruling:

6/26/2018

Service is Proper
Opposition: Yes

Debtor had a single case pending with the previous year. Therefore, pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(c)(3)(A), the automatic stay in this case expired on May 26, 2018, before the filing of the motion under consideration. Therefore, to the extent that the motion requests relief which is not in rem relief, the motion is DENIED as moot.

Movant also requests relief pursuant to § 362(d)(4)(B), noting that this is the second bankruptcy case filed by Debtor affecting the property. Debtor's opposition acknowledges that his financial situation is somewhat unstable due to health issues.

Chapter 13

Debtor asserts that the two bankruptcy filings are not in bad faith.

The Court declines to conclude that bad faith is present in the situation simply as a result of a single previous bankruptcy filing. Because of the operation of § 362(c), there is no automatic stay in the instant case, and, as such, Movant may proceed with their tax sale. In the absence of clearer facts which support a finding of bad faith, the Court concludes that the statutory provisions limiting the presence of the automatic stay for repeat filers are adequate to prevent abuse.

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(c)(4), the automatic stay does not go into effect in a filed case if a debtor has two or more cases pending within the previous year. Here, Debtor had two Chapter 13 cases dismissed in the previous year for failure to file information. As a result, the automatic stay did not go into effect in the instant case.

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(j), Movant is entitled to request an order confirming that no automatic stay went into effect in the instant case. Therefore, the Court will GRANT the motion, confirming that no automatic stay went into effect in the instant case. The Court notes that the assertions contained in Debtor's opposition are entirely irrelevant to the request at issue.

The Court notes, however, that Debtor filed a motion to impose the automatic stay, which was continued until July 10, 2018. Movant should be aware that the comfort order to be issued by this Court does not preclude Debtor from later arguing that the automatic stay should or can be imposed in this case.

Docket 4

Tentative Ruling:

6/26/18

BACKGROUND

On February 7, 2018, Vance Johnson ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 11 voluntary petition.

On May 1, 2018, Zamucen & Current LLP ("Plaintiff") filed a complaint against Debtor for non-dischargeability pursuant to § 523(a)(5) and (15). On May 31, 2018, Debtor filed a motion to dismiss for failure to state a claim pursuant to FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 12(b)(6). On June 12, 2018, Plaintiff filed its opposition.

Plaintiff served as a CAL. EVID. CODE § 730 expert during Debtor's dissolution proceedings, and evaluated Debtor and Joana Johnson's ("Joana") financial situation. According to Plaintiff:

[A]s a form of support, the Court ordered Vance Zachary Johnson to pay all of Zamucen & Curren, LLP's fees and costs, to be paid directly to Zamucen & Curren, LLP. These funds were to reimburse Defendant's spouse, Joana

Johnson, for fees, costs and other expenses incurred in this dissolution of marriage action due to Defendant's intransigence in that divorce case regarding discovery and on Ms. Johnson's Order to Show Cause for modification of spousal support and child support and for attorney fees and costs.

[Dkt. No. 1, pg. 2, 15-24].

Debtor argues that Plaintiff's characterization its fees and costs as in the nature of support is a legal conclusion not supported by the record, and, alternatively, that the debt does not constitute a domestic support obligation under § 523(a)(5), nor is it owed to Debtor's spouse, former spouse, or child pursuant to § 523(a)(15).

DISCUSSION

I. MOTION TO DISMISS STANDARD

In order to avoid dismissal pursuant to Civil Rule 12(b)(6), a complaint must allege sufficient factual matter, which if accepted as true, would "state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face." Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678 (2009) (quoting Bell Atlantic Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 570 (2007)). A claim is facially plausible when a court can draw a reasonable inference that the defendant is liable for misconduct. Id. The plaintiff must provide "more than labels and conclusions, and a formulaic recitation of the elements of a cause of action will not do." Id.

11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(5) and (15) state:

(a) A discharge under section 727, 1141, 1228(a), or 1328(b) of this title does not discharge an individual debtor from any debt –

(5) for domestic support obligation;

(15) to a spouse, former spouse, or child of the debtor and not of the kind described in paragraph (5) that is incurred by the debtor in the course of a divorce or separation or in connection with a separation agreement, divorce decree or other order of a court of record, or a determination made in accordance with State or territorial law by a governmental unit;

As a preliminary matter, the Court notes that the BAPCPA revisions to the operation of § 523(a)(15) render the determination of whether Plaintiff's claim is in the nature of support irrelevant in the instant case. See, e.g., 4 COLLIER'S ON BANKRUPTCY ¶ 523.23 (16th ed. 2009) ("Thus, in individual cases under chapters 7 and 11 and in cases under chapter 12, all of which base dischargeability on the subsections of section 523(a), the distinction between a domestic support obligation and other types of obligations arising out of a marital relationship is of no practical consequence in determining the dischargeability of the debt."). The operative question is whether Plaintiff, as a matter of law, has the ability to bring a non-dischargeability action despite not being the "spouse, former spouse, or child of the debtor."

Despite the fact that the plain language of the statute appears to impose a requirement that the underlying debt be owed to a "spouse, former spouse, or child of the debtor," there is extensive case law permitting third-party professionals (primarily attorneys) to whom a debtor was ordered to make payment to bring a non-dischargeability complaint under either § 523(a)(5) or § 523(a)(15). See, e.g., In re Williams, 703 F.2d 1055, 1056-57 (8th Cir. 1983); In re Catlow, 663 F.2d 960, 62-63 (9th Cir. 1981). As noted by the Ninth Circuit, pre-BAPCPA, in the context of § 523(a)(5):

Fees paid to third parties on behalf of a child or former spouse can be as much for . . . support as payments made directly to the former spouse or child. We hold in the instant case that the identity of the payee is less important than the nature of the debt. . . .

Every circuit to consider this precise issue has held likewise.

In re Chang, 163 F.3d 1138, 1141 (9th Cir. 1998).

Debtor has acknowledged this fact and attempted to distinguish between attorneys' fees and experts' fees by arguing that "[t]he benefit of the award of attorney's fees, even when paid directly to an attorney who was hired by a party in family law proceeding, is more easily traceable to an ex-spouse's reimbursement and benefit than a § 730 expert appointed directly by the court." [Dkt. No. 8, pg. 3, lines 21-24]. The Court is unconvinced that paying, on behalf of an ex-spouse, a sum of "X" dollars is more beneficial when the recipient is an attorney rather than an expert. In both circumstances, the ex-spouse has benefitted, and been reimbursed, in the amount of "X" dollars.

The Bankruptcy Appellate Panel recently summarized the case law extending standing to professionals involved in family proceedings, and concluded that:

One thing is clear from all of these cases. Even when the debt was not directly payable or owed to the spouse, former spouse or child of the debtor, the bounty of that debt had flowed to one of those family members explicitly covered by the statute, or the discharge of the debt would have adversely impacted the finances of one of those explicitly-covered family members.

Debtor executed a retainer agreement, contractually binding them to pay the fees and costs of Plaintiff. Either the state court's order that Debtor pay the entirety of the fees released Joana from contractual liability on the retainer agreement, in which case that award clearly flowed to the benefit of a spouse/former spouse, or Plaintiff is still entitled to collect fees directly from Joana (who may then have a right of contribution from Debtor), in which case the discharge of the debt would adversely impact the finances of a spouse/former spouse. In either case, this situation falls under the well-established case law standard which permits third party professionals to bring non-dischargeability proceedings under §§ 523(a)(5) and (15).

Tentative Ruling:

6/26/18

BACKGROUND

On February 7, 2018, Vance Johnson ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 11 voluntary petition. Debtor has not yet proposed a Chapter 11 plan.

On May 24, 2018, Debtor's ex-wife, Joana Johnson ("Joana"), filed a motion to dismiss for failure to pay post-petition domestic support obligations under 11 U.S.C. § 1112(b)(1) and (b)(4)(P) ("Dismissal Motion"). On June 5, 2018, Debtor filed a motion to convert case to Chapter 7 ("Conversion Motion"). On June 12, 2018, Debtor filed opposition to Joana's motion to dismiss, and Joana filed opposition to Debtor's motion to convert.

Chapter 11

DISCUSSION

The first determination the Court must make is whether the Dismissal Motion or Conversion Motion should be considered in a certain order. Clearly, if the Dismissal Motion is granted, the Conversion Motion becomes moot. Additionally, if the Conversion Motion is granted, the Dismissal Motion becomes moot because it is a motion to dismiss a Chapter 11 case and is based on a statutory provision (§ 1112(b)) applicable only to Chapter 11 cases.

11 U.S.C. § 1112(a) states:

- (a) The debtor may convert a case under this chapter to a case under chapter 7 of this title unless –
 - (1) the debtor is not a debtor in possession;
 - (2) the case was originally commenced as an involuntary case under this chapter; or
 - (3) the case was converted to a case under this chapter other than on the debtor's request.

Joana argues that: "When a motion to dismiss pursuant to § 1112(b) and motion to convert pursuant to § 1112(a) are pending, courts read subsections (a) and (b) together, requiring the court to engage in the two-step analysis required by § 1112(b), first determining whether cause exists to dismiss or convert and then determining whether dismissing or converting is in the best interest of creditors. [Dkt. No. 77, pg.4, 18-21]. The Court notes that the analysis suggested by Joana does not constitute reading subsections (a) and (b) together, but, rather, it constitutes ignoring § 1112(a) and simply applying § 1112(b).

Chapter 11

Joana primarily cites In re Adler, 329 B.R. 406, (Bankr. S.D. N.Y. 2005) in support of her argument. The bankruptcy court declined to allow the debtor to convert to Chapter 7 on the basis of bad faith, found cause to dismiss under § 1112(b), and, ultimately, dismissed the case.

The Court notes that bankruptcy courts have commonly referred to an "absolute" right of conversion when such right is not truly absolute. See generally 7 COLLIER ON BANKRUPTCY ¶ 1112.02 (16th ed. 2017) ("Section 1112(a) appears to give the debtor an absolute right to convert a chapter 11 case to a case under chapter 7, provided that none of three limited exceptions apply."); GINSBERG & MARTIN § 13.17 (5th ed. 2018) (absolute right if eligible and exceptions inapplicable). Post-Marrama, it is more accurate to say a Debtor has an absolute right to convert to Chapter 7 if the statutory exceptions are inapplicable and if the debtor is eligible to be a Chapter 7 debtor. Specifically, Marrama stated the following:

There are at least two possible reasons why Marrama may not qualify as such a debtor, one arising under § 109(e) of the Code, and the other turning on the construction of the word "cause" in § 1307(c). The former provision imposes a limit on the amount of indebtedness that an individual may have in order to qualify for Chapter 13 relief. More pertinently, the latter provision, § 1307(c), provides that a Chapter 13 proceeding may be either dismissed or converted to a Chapter 7 proceeding "for cause" and includes a nonexclusive list of 10 causes justifying that relief. . . . In practical effect, a ruling that an individual's Chapter 13 case should be dismissed or converted to Chapter 7 because of prepetition bad-faith conduct, including fraudulent acts committed in an earlier Chapter 7 proceeding, is tantamount to a ruling that the individual does not qualify as a debtor under Chapter 13. That individual, in other words, is not a member of the class of "honest but unfortunate debtor[s]" that the bankruptcy laws were enacted to protect. The text of § 706(d) therefore provides adequate authority of the denial of his motion to convert.

Marrama v. Citizens Bank of Mass., 549 U.S. 365, 373-74 (2007). While Marrama considered a Chapter 7 case, in which § 706(d) provides the applicable eligibility provision, § 1112(f) contains the same eligibility restriction in the context of a Chapter 11 case. 11 U.S.C. § 1112(f) ("Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, a case may not be converted to a case under another chapter of this title unless the debtor may be a debtor under such chapter."). Importantly, the Supreme Court in Marrama made clear that if there is cause for immediate re-conversion (or dismissal) of the converted case, then the debtor should not be considered to be eligible for that chapter. Marrama, 549 U.S. at 375 ("On the contrary, the broad authority granted to bankruptcy judges to take any action that is necessary or appropriate 'to prevent an abuse of process' described in § 105(a) of the Code, is surely adequate to authorize an immediate denial of a motion to convert filed under § 706 in lieu of a conversion order that merely postpones the allowance of equivalent relief and may provide a debtor with an opportunity to take action prejudicial to creditors.").

Therefore, as outlined above, the Court is authorized, but not required, to utilize § 105(a) and § 1112(f) to deny conversion if there is cause for dismissal (or reconversion) of the case under § 707. See generally, In re Kimrow, Inc., 534 B.R. 219, 225-26 (Bankr. M.D. Ga. 2015). Joana argues that Debtor's failure to pay postpetition domestic obligations constitutes bad faith. First of all, the Court notes that there previously was a circuit split concerning whether bad faith was grounds to dismiss a Chapter 7 petition. See In re Zick, 931 F.2d 1124 (6th Cir. 1991) and In re Tamecki, 229 F.3d 205 (3rd Cir. 2000) (bad faith constitutes grounds for dismissal). But see In re Huckfeldt, 39 F.3d 829 (8th Cir. 1994) and In re Padilla, 222 F.3d 1184 (9th Cir. 2000) (bad faith not separate grounds for dismissal). Eventually, Congress amended § 707(b)(3)(A) which instructs the Court to consider bad faith in certain circumstances. Those circumstances, however, are not presently before the Court in the form of a properly briefed motion to dismiss pursuant to § 707(b).

Furthermore, the Court declines to conclude that Joana has demonstrated "cause" for dismissal of a Chapter 7 petition pursuant to § 707(a). Joana has not pointed to any case law or legal rationale supporting the conclusion that failure to pay postpetition domestic support obligations is cause for dismissal of a Chapter 7 petition. While the reorganization chapters contain express provisions which provide for dismissal upon the failure to pay postpetition domestic support obligations, Chapter 7 does not contain such a provision. See 11 U.S.C. § 1112(b)(4)(P) and 11 U.S.C. § 1307(c)(11).

Finally, the Court is cognizant of the fact that Joana may wish to argue why there is cause for dismissal pursuant to § 707(a) or (b). Given that this issue was not raised in the pleadings before the Court, the Court will not consider such new arguments at this

Tentative Ruling:

Chapter 11

6/26/18

BACKGROUND

On February 7, 2018, Vance Johnson ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 11 voluntary petition. Debtor has not yet proposed a Chapter 11 plan.

On May 24, 2018, Debtor's ex-wife, Joana Johnson ("Joana"), filed a motion to dismiss for failure to pay post-petition domestic support obligations under 11 U.S.C. § 1112(b)(1) and (b)(4)(P) ("Dismissal Motion"). On June 5, 2018, Debtor filed a motion to convert case to Chapter 7 ("Conversion Motion"). On June 12, 2018, Debtor filed opposition to Joana's motion to dismiss, and Joana filed opposition to Debtor's motion to convert.

DISCUSSION

The first determination the Court must make is whether the Dismissal Motion or Conversion Motion should be considered in a certain order. Clearly, if the Dismissal Motion is granted, the Conversion Motion becomes moot. Additionally, if the Conversion Motion is granted, the Dismissal Motion becomes moot because it is a motion to dismiss a Chapter 11 case and is based on a statutory provision (§ 1112(b)) applicable only to Chapter 11 cases.

11 U.S.C. § 1112(a) states:

Chapter 11

- (a) The debtor may convert a case under this chapter to a case under chapter 7 of this title unless –
- (1) the debtor is not a debtor in possession;
 - (2) the case was originally commenced as an involuntary case under this chapter; or
 - (3) the case was converted to a case under this chapter other than on the debtor's request.

Joana argues that: "When a motion to dismiss pursuant to § 1112(b) and motion to convert pursuant to § 1112(a) are pending, courts read subsections (a) and (b) together, requiring the court to engage in the two-step analysis required by § 1112(b), first determining whether cause exists to dismiss or convert and then determining whether dismissing or converting is in the best interest of creditors. [Dkt. No. 77, pg.4, 18-21]. The Court notes that the analysis suggested by Joana does not constitute reading subsections (a) and (b) together, but, rather, it constitutes ignoring § 1112(a) and simply applying § 1112(b).

Joana primarily cites In re Adler, 329 B.R. 406, (Bankr. S.D. N.Y. 2005) in support of her argument. The bankruptcy court declined to allow the debtor to convert to Chapter 7 on the basis of bad faith, found cause to dismiss under § 1112(b), and, ultimately, dismissed the case.

The Court notes that bankruptcy courts have commonly referred to an "absolute" right of conversion when such right is not truly absolute. See generally 7 COLLIER ON BANKRUPTCY ¶ 1112.02 (16th ed. 2017) ("Section 1112(a) appears to give the debtor an absolute right to convert a chapter 11 case to a case under chapter 7, provided that none of three limited exceptions apply."); GINSBERG & MARTIN § 13.17 (5th ed. 2018) (absolute right if eligible and exceptions inapplicable). Post-Marrama, it is more accurate to say a Debtor has an absolute right to convert to Chapter 7 if the statutory exceptions are inapplicable and if the debtor is eligible to be a Chapter 7 debtor. Specifically, Marrama stated the following:

Chapter 11

There are at least two possible reasons why Marrama may not qualify as such a debtor, one arising under § 109(e) of the Code, and the other turning on the construction of the word "cause" in § 1307(c). The former provision imposes a limit on the amount of indebtedness that an individual may have in order to qualify for Chapter 13 relief. More pertinently, the latter provision, § 1307(c), provides that a Chapter 13 proceeding may be either dismissed or converted to a Chapter 7 proceeding "for cause" and includes a nonexclusive list of 10 causes justifying that relief. . . . In practical effect, a ruling that an individual's Chapter 13 case should be dismissed or converted to Chapter 7 because of prepetition bad-faith conduct, including fraudulent acts committed in an earlier Chapter 7 proceeding, is tantamount to a ruling that the individual does not qualify as a debtor under Chapter 13. That individual, in other words, is not a member of the class of "honest but unfortunate debtor[s]" that the bankruptcy laws were enacted to protect. The text of § 706(d) therefore provides adequate authority of the denial of his motion to convert.

Marrama v. Citizens Bank of Mass., 549 U.S. 365, 373-74 (2007). While Marrama considered a Chapter 7 case, in which § 706(d) provides the applicable eligibility provision, § 1112(f) contains the same eligibility restriction in the context of a Chapter 11 case. 11 U.S.C. § 1112(f) ("Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, a case may not be converted to a case under another chapter of this title unless the debtor may be a debtor under such chapter."). Importantly, the Supreme Court in Marrama made clear that if there is cause for immediate re-conversion (or dismissal) of the converted case, then the debtor should not be considered to be eligible for that chapter. Marrama, 549 U.S. at 375 ("On the contrary, the broad authority granted to bankruptcy judges to take any action that is necessary or appropriate 'to prevent an abuse of process' described in § 105(a) of the Code, is surely adequate to authorize an immediate denial of a motion to convert filed under § 706 in lieu of a conversion order that merely postpones the allowance of equivalent relief and may provide a debtor with an opportunity to take action prejudicial to creditors.").

Therefore, as outlined above, the Court is authorized, but not required, to utilize § 105(a) and § 1112(f) to deny conversion if there is cause for dismissal (or reconversion) of the case under § 707. See generally, In re Kimrow, Inc., 534 B.R. 219, 225-26 (Bankr. M.D. Ga. 2015). Joana argues that Debtor's failure to pay postpetition domestic obligations constitutes bad faith. First of all, the Court notes that there previously was a circuit split concerning whether bad faith was grounds to dismiss a Chapter 7 petition. See In re Zick, 931 F.2d 1124 (6th Cir. 1991) and In re Tamecki, 229 F.3d 205 (3rd Cir. 2000) (bad faith constitutes grounds for dismissal). But see In re Huckfeldt, 39 F.3d 829 (8th Cir. 1994) and In re Padilla, 222 F.3d 1184 (9th Cir. 2000) (bad faith not separate grounds for dismissal). Eventually, Congress amended § 707(b)(3)(A) which instructs the Court to consider bad faith in certain circumstances. Those circumstances, however, are not presently before the Court in the form of a properly briefed motion to dismiss pursuant to § 707(b).

Furthermore, the Court declines to conclude that Joana has demonstrated "cause" for dismissal of a Chapter 7 petition pursuant to § 707(a). Joana has not pointed to any case law or legal rationale supporting the conclusion that failure to pay postpetition domestic support obligations is cause for dismissal of a Chapter 7 petition. While the reorganization chapters contain express provisions which provide for dismissal upon the failure to pay postpetition domestic support obligations, Chapter 7 does not contain such a provision. See 11 U.S.C. § 1112(b)(4)(P) and 11 U.S.C. § 1307(c)(11).

Finally, the Court is cognizant of the fact that Joana may wish to argue why there is cause for dismissal pursuant to § 707(a) or (b). Given that this issue was not raised in the pleadings before the Court, the Court will not consider such new arguments at this time.

TENTATIVE RULING

Debtor, having filed a motion pursuant to § 1112(a), none of the statutory exceptions to conversion being applicable, and no party having demonstrated that Debtor is ineligible to be a debtor under Chapter 7 pursuant to § 1112(f) and § 707, the Court is inclined to CONVERT the case to Chapter 7.

Docket 228

Tentative Ruling:

I. BACKGROUND

Integrated Wealth Management, Inc. ("Debtor"), is a non-operating advisory and wealth management firm. The case was filed via involuntary petition on July 12, 2017. On January 10, 2018, the Court entered its order directing entry of the Order for Relief retroactive to January 4, 2018. On January 5, 2018, the case was converted to a case under chapter 11. St. Jude Heritage Medical Group is the Debtor's largest creditor, asserting a disputed general unsecured claim against the Debtor in the amount of 12.5 million. The Debtor estimates that Allowed General Unsecured Claims will receive an estimated 25.2% to 100% distribution.

On April 30, 2018, the Court approved the Debtor's Second Amended Disclosure Statement, finding that it provided adequate information. Since that date, the Debtor has filed a Motion to Approve Non-Material Modifications to the Second Amended Plan which this Court has approved. The Debtor now moves this Court for confirmation of its Third Amended Plan. Service of the Plan Documents was proper and no objection to confirmation has been filed.

II. DISCUSSION

The debtor carries the burden of proving that a Chapter 11 plan complies with the statutory requirements for confirmation under §§ 1129(a) & (b). In re Arnold and Baker Farms, 177 B.R. 648 (9th Cir. BAP (Ariz.) 1994). The debtor must show that the plan is confirmable by a preponderance of the evidence. See id. at 654; see also In re Monarch Beach Venture, Ltd., 166 B.R. 428 (C.D.Cal.1993).

1. Ballot Results:

The Debtors timely transmitted the Plan and Disclosure Statement to all known Persons who hold Claims and Interests that are impaired under the Plan and who are therefore entitled to vote on the Plan. The Debtors received (3) three timely ballots. The votes were tallied as follows:

- a. Class 1 Allowed Secured Claims: N/A - unimpaired
- b. Class 2 Allowed Priority Non-Tax Claims: N/A - unimpaired
- c. Class 3 Allowed General Unsecured Claims: 100% voted in favor of the plan and constituted 100% of claims filed.
- d. Class 4: Allowed Subordinated Claims – No ballots received.
- e. Class 5: Interest Holders: 100% voted in favor of the plan

A court can confirm a plan without resort to cram down if all impaired classes accept the plan. Here, all impaired classes have accepted the plan. Thus, cramdown is not required.

2. Confirmation Requirements under 11 U.S.C. §1129(a)

The Plan addresses the requirements of Bankruptcy Code 1129(a) as follows:

1. 11 U.S.C. § 1129(a)(1): The Plan complies with all of the applicable provisions of the Bankruptcy Code, including sections 1122 and 1123.
2. 11 U.S.C. § 1129(a)(2): The Debtor has complied with all of the Bankruptcy Code's applicable provisions.
3. 11 U.S.C. § 1129(a)(3): Good faith in proposing a plan of reorganization is assessed by the bankruptcy judge and viewed under the totality of the circumstances. In re Jorgensen, 66 B.R. 104, 108-109 (9th Cir. BAP 1986). Good faith requires that a plan will achieve a result consistent with the objectives and purposes of the Code. Jorgensen, 66 B.R. at 109. It also requires a fundamental fairness in dealing with one's creditors. Id. The bankruptcy judge is in the best position to assess the good faith of the parties. Id. Here, the terms of the plan, the conduct of the debtor and debtor's counsel in attempting to negotiate a loan modification and to negotiate with creditors throughout the Bankruptcy proceedings evidences that the plan is being proposed in good faith. See In re Madison Hotel Associates, 749 F.2d 410, 425 (7th Cir. 1984). Here, having received no objections to confirmation, the Court finds that the Third Amended Plan has been proposed in good faith pursuant to FRBP 3020(b)(2).
4. 11 U.S.C. § 1129(a)(4): The Plan provides that the reorganized Debtors may only pay Professional Fees upon application and approval by the Bankruptcy Court. (Section 3.1). This provision satisfies the Bankruptcy Code's requirement that payments for services or for costs and expenses in or in connection with a case, or in connection with a plan and incident to a case, must be approved by, or subject to the approval of, the Court as reasonable.

5. 11 U.S.C. § 1129(a)(5): The compensation and terms of retention of Mr. Issa as Plan Agent, including his specific duties, have been fully disclosed. This requirement is satisfied.

6. 11 U.S.C. § 1129(a)(6): does not apply to the instant case.

7. 11 U.S.C. § 1129(a)(7): Each Person who holds a Claim or Interest in a Class that is impaired under the Plan either: (a) has accepted the Plan; or (b) will receive or retain under the Plan property of a value, as of the Effective Date, that is not less than that Person would receive or retain if the Debtor were liquidated under chapter 7 of the Bankruptcy Code. The Debtor has demonstrated that all impaired interest holders have both accepted the plan, and will likely receive or retain under the Plan value that is not less than they would receive under a chapter 7 liquidation.

8. 11 U.S.C. § 1129(a)(8): Section 1129(a)(8) requires unanimity of all classes to consensually confirm a plan. That is, each impaired class must have affirmatively accepted the plan. The Ballot Tally above indicates that this requirement is satisfied because all impaired classes have affirmatively accepted the plan.

9. 11 U.S.C. § 1129(a)(9): Section 1129(a)(9)(A) requires that holders of administrative claims and gap claims be paid "cash equal to the allowed amount of such claim" on the "effective date of the plan," unless the holder of a particular claim agrees to different treatment. Here, Section 3.1 regarding Administrative Claims, Section 3.2 regarding Priority Tax Claims, and Section 5.2 regarding Allowed Priority Non-Tax Claims satisfy this requirement.

10. 11 U.S.C. § 1129(a)(10): This provision requires at least one class of claims that is impaired accept the plan. Class 3 has voted to accept the plan. Thus, this requirement is satisfied.

11. 11 U.S.C. § 1129(a)(11): Plan confirmation is not likely to be followed by either the liquidation or the further financial reorganization of the Reorganized Debtors or any successor to the Reorganized Debtors. The Issa Declaration at ¶¶ 28-32 provides sufficient evidence that the Debtor will have sufficient funds on the Effective Date to pay Administrative Claims, US Trustee Fees, Allowed Gap Claims, Allowed Priority Tax Claims, and Class 4 Non-Tax Claims. As the business is no longer operating, payment of Class 3 claims will depend on objections to claims, and any potential recovery from prosecution of causes of action. As such, the Court finds this requirement is satisfied.

12. 11 U.S.C. § 1129(a)(12): The treatment of Administrative Claims under the Plan satisfies the requirement of Bankruptcy Code section 1129(a)(12).

13. 11 U.S.C. § 1129(a)(13): does not apply to the instant case.

14. 11 U.S.C. § 1129(a)(14): does not apply to the instant case.

15. 11 U.S.C. § 1129(a)(15): does not apply to the instant case.

16. 11 U.S.C. § 1129(a)(16): does not apply to the instant case.

III. TENTATIVE RULING

As set forth above, the Debtor's Third Amended Plan complies with the requirements of section 1129. The Court is inclined to order confirmation.

Docket 299

Tentative Ruling:

6/26/18

BACKGROUND:

On December 1, 2017, Auto Strap Transport, LLC ("Debtor") filed a voluntary chapter 11 petition. At the Status Conference on January 9, 2018, the Court set a deadline of March 26, 2018 for the Debtor to file the Chapter 11 plan and disclosure statement. On March 8, 2018, the Court extended this deadline to June 30, 2018.

The appointment of Stephen Douglass, the Chief Restructuring Officer ("CRO"), has created significant progress towards stabilization, as the company has reduced employees, consolidated financial records, updated recordkeeping and downsizing truck fleet. Debtor is also exploring options for sale of assets to escape from Chapter 11. However, the Debtor is not yet in position to file a confirmable Chapter 11 plan by the June 30, 2018 deadline.

This motion ("Motion") asks the court to extend the deadline to August 31, 2018, alleging that the CRO will be able to solve cash flow and business stabilization issues by this date.

DISCUSSION:

11 U.S.C. § 1121(d)(1) allows for the court to reduce or increase the 120-day period for filing a plan or the 180-day period for a plan to be accepted if there is sufficient cause for an extension. Section 1121(2)(a) disallows the 120-day period to be extended after 18 months from the order of relief, while (2)(b) disallows the 180-day period to be extended after 20 months from the order of relief.

When determining if sufficient cause has been found for extending a Chapter

11 deadline, a Court weighs numerous factors:

- (1) the size of debtor
- (2) the needs of the creditors
- (3) good faith towards reorganization
- (4) existence of unresolved contingency
- (5) debtor's payment of bills
- (6) previous extensions
- (7) breakdowns in negotiations
- (8) debtor's failure to resolve reorganization matters
- (9) any gross mismanagement of the debtor

In re Hoffinger Industries, Inc., 292 B.R. 639 (8th Cir. BAP 2003).

"Good faith is lacking only when the debtor's actions are a clear abuse of the bankruptcy process." In re Arnold, 806 F.2d 937, 939 (9th Cir. 1986). There is no abuse of the bankruptcy process when debtors are using assets productively to repay creditors while the stay is in place. Id.

Here, the record reflects that Debtor has previously sought approval to extend the deadline once and is currently seeking a second extension of the deadline to allow the CRO to resolve cash flow issues and stabilize the Debtor's business. The extension is proper pursuant to the requirements under Section 1121(2). The other remaining factors do not adequately compel the court to deny the motion.

Further, failure to file an opposition may be deemed consent to the relief requested. LBR 9013-1(h).

TENTATIVE RULING

Based on the foregoing, the Court's tentative ruling is to GRANT the Motion to the extent that the deadline to file a disclosure statement and plan will be extended to August 31, 2018.

Application: $104,451.29

Analysis: Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(1), the court may award reasonable compensation for actual, necessary services. The court has an independent duty to review the fee application in the absence of objections. 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(2) (2005). The court "will not indulge in extensive labor and guesswork to justify a fee for an attorney who has not done so himself." In re Taylor, 66 B.R. 390 (Bankr. W.D. Pa. 1986).

11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(3) provides factors to be considered in determining the reasonableness of requested compensation. These factors include time spent, rates charged, necessity of the service, reasonableness of the service, expertise of attorney, and comparable market rates.

The Applicant's terms of billing hold that he will be compensated based on an hourly basis, subject to Court approval. The Applicant requests allowance and payment of $103,747.50, consisting of 420 hours of billed time. The Applicant requests an additional $703.79 for advanced costs, and therefore requests a total of $104,451.29.

Counsel requests fees for the following:

- 1) Meeting of Creditors – 2.6 hours - $400.00 ($154 per hour)
- 2) Case Administration – 119.8 hours - $26,155.00 ($218 per hour)
- 3) Relief from Stay/Adequate Protection – 80.3 hours - $25,060.00 ($312 per hour)
- 4) Employment/Fee Applications – 13.6 hours - $2,567.50 ($189 per hour)
- 5) Business Operations – 65.5 hours - $18,435.00 ($281 per hour)
- 6) Financing – 59.4 hours - $18,387.50 ($310 per hour)
- 7) Claims Administration & Objections – 10.6 hours - $1,655.00 ($156 per hour)
- 8) Plan and Disclosure Statements – 10.3 hours – $1,952.50 ($190 per hour)
- 9) Cash Collateral Motion – 57.9 hours - $9,135.00 ($158 per hour)

The Court notes that there are numerous entries that appear to be excessive under the circumstances, are vague, are unnecessary, or are simply implausible. The Court notes the following representative list of problematic entries:

1. Vague:

- a. Case Administration 12/11/17 (Ex. 1 at 3) - "Communication with debtor re case and other issues" (1 hour, $500.00)

This is vague as to what was actually communicated for an hour. "Case and other issues" could mean anything remotely related to the case. Further, an hour of communication for $500 seems excessive.

- b. Case Administration 12/12/17 (Ex. 1 at 4) - "Communication with debtor re insurance and other issues" (1 hour, $500.00)

Similar to the entry above, "insurance and other issues" is vague and applies to any subject marginally relevant to the case. Further, a conversation about insurance for an hour seems excessive, as does a $500 charge for an hour-long conversation.

- c. Business Operations 2/26/18 (Ex. 1 at 27) – "Review of multiple emails and versions of motion to appoint CRO; begin revisions to joint motion" (2.1 hours, $840.00)

It is unclear what the Applicant means when reviewing multiple emails and versions of a motion to appoint a CRO. Further, reviewing emails and versions of a motion for 2.1 hours is arguably excessive, as well as the $840 charge. This also appears to be lumping; the revisions to the motion and the review of emails are separate tasks.

- d. Claims Administration and Objections 12/18/18 (Ex. 1 at 31) – "Communications with Jaguar and Rich re Stip to offset of claims (1 hour, $500.00)

It is unclear what "communications" were made regarding the Stip to offset claims. More context would help to determine whether one hour at $500.00 is appropriate for "communications".

- e. Case Administration 12/28/17 (Ex. 1 at 5) - "Review and revise list of trucks and trailers provided by client" (1.4 hours, $560.00)

It is unclear what reviewing and revising a list of truck and trailers would entail, especially when the list is provided by the client. The charge of $560 for 1.4 hours of reviewing and revising appears excessive.

- f. Relief from Stay/Adequate Protection Proceedings 12/14/17 (Ex. 1 at 16) – "Further emails to and from client; telephone call with client re certain leases; review of Daimler stipulation; emails with opposing counsel re adequate protection" (2.6 hours, $1,040.00)

This appears to be lumping, and it is unclear what specific work was done here. Emails, a phone call, and a stipulation review for 2.6 hours seems excessive.

- g. Relief from Stay/Adequate Protection Proceedings 12/18/17 (Ex. 1 at 17) – "Multiple emails re adequate protection payments with multiple creditors and client" (0.9 hours, $360.00)

"Multiple emails" with "multiple creditors" about adequate protection payments is vague.

- h. Relief from Stay/Adequate Protection Proceedings 1/18/2018 (Ex. 1 at 18) – "Additional work on various APOs requested by creditors" (1 hour, $400.00)

"Additional work" is not specific on what exactly was performed here. Further, the Applicant does not list the various creditors or the work specifically done (such as reviewing, drafting, sending, communicating, etc.).

- i. Financing/Cash Collections 2/15/18 (Ex. 1 at 28) – "Further work on financing motion Phone calls with court, Nations, client and insurance agent" (6.6 hours, $2,640.00)

"Further work" is similarly not specific to what was actually done on the financing motion. Also, the time entries are lumped. The 6.6 hours and $2,640 charged for "further work" is excessive in this context.

- j. Financing/Cash Collections 2/22/18, 2/23/18 (Ex. 1 at 29) – "Review draft 'agreed order' re DIP financing; review motion and related docs re appointment of CRO. Telephone call with Todd and client re condition of DIP 02/22/2018 financing and appointment of CRO" (1.9 hours, $760.00) and "Discuss with Todd the status of DIP Financing and CRO motion negotiations. Counsel" (1.9 hours, $760.00) (total: 3.8 hours, $1,520.00)

This appears to be lumping as well as unclear. Reviewing the draft and the motions should be separate from making calls and reviewing emails. Further, the communication with Todd about the DIP financing appears repetitive and excessive.

2. Excessive:

- a. Case Administration 12/4/17, 12/5/17, 12/6/17 (Ex. 1 at 2) - "Additional revisions to balance of schedules" (3 hours, $525.00) and "review and revise schedules, including detailed email to client re info for tomorrow" (2.4 hours, $960.00) and "more revisions to balance of schedules (3 hours, $525.00) (total: 8.4 hours, $2010.00)

Over 8 hours and $2,010 to make revisions to the balance of schedules appears excessive.

- b. Relief from Stay/Adequate Protection Proceedings 1/29/18, 1/30/18, 2/1/18 (Ex. 1 at 19-20) – "Prepare AP stips for several secured creditors. Emails to creditors or counsel for review" (4.5 hours, $1,800.00) and "Emails to and from various creditors re AP stips; emails to & from client re vehicles retaining or surrendering; review of loan documents" (1.8 hours, $720.00) and "Emails and phone calls with multiple creditors re AP stips and payments" (0.9 hours, $360.00) (total: 7.2 hours, $2,880.00)

While there is lumping with the first entry, Applicant spent over 7 hours and almost $3,000 emailing and calling creditors.

- c. Business Operations 2/28/18 (Ex. 1 at 27) – "Further work and revisions on both motions and application for order shortening time" (6 hours, $2,400.00)

Spending 6 hours in one day on ambiguous "revisions" to a motion, and charging $2,400, appears excessive

- d. Business Operations 3/15/18, 3/16/18, 3/18/18 and 3/20/18 (Ex. 1 at 28) – "Begin review and revisions to January MOR" (3 hours, $1,200) and "Revisions to December and January MORs" (5.3 hours, $2,120.00) and "Finish revising December and January MORs" (1.6 hours, $640.00) and "Further review and revision to MORs" (0.7 hours, $280.00) (total: 10.6 hours, $4,240.00)

These four tasks seem to say the same thing: the MORs were reviewed and revised. Considering this, 10.6 hours for such a task and over $4,200 billed appears excessive.

- e. Financing/Cash Collections 2/10/18 2/15/18 2/19/19 (Ex. 1 at 28-29) – "Draft motion to incur financing for insurance premiums, including review of proposals, and last year's contract" (2.8 hours, $1,120.00) and "Further work on financial motion Phone calls with court, Nations, client & insurance agent" (4.3 hours, $1,720.00) and "Significant revisions to motion to incur debt including changing to add motion for authority to make case collateral expenditure for the down payment. Includes conference call with Mike and Richard re current terms. Email to Mike and Rich re details and declarations; revisions to budget with client approval; emails with Nations NY attorneys. Also include significant revisions to application for order shortening time" (6.6 hours, $2,640.00) (total: 13.7 hours, $5,440.00)

These entries suffer from significant lumping, as phone calls with the relevant parties and the Court are billed with drafting and revising the motion. 14 hours on the motion and almost $5,500 appears excessive.

- f. Financing/Cash Collections 2/26/18 and 2/27/18 (Ex. 1 at 29) – "Revisions to stipulation for DIP financing including conference call with Todd and Pat Collins, conference call with Todd And client; review of terms with Todd, development of counter-proposal, and detailed email to Pat Collins" (4.9 hours, $1960.00) and "Further revisions to stipulation, motion and proposed order for DIP financing.

Email to all parties for review" (2.9 hours, $1,160.00) (total: 7.8 hours, $3,120.00)

Lumping and 5 hours at almost $2,000 to revise a stipulation and make conference calls and send emails appears excessive. There were even more revisions and emails sent out after the first entry, which total up to $3,100 and almost 8 hours.

3. Lumping

- a. Cash Collateral Motion 12/11/17 (Ex. 1 at 34) – "Revisions to cash collateral docs, draft supplement to motion; multiple phone calls and email with client; multiple emails with nations' counsel; review POS list and addresses for accuracy" (5.3 hours, $2,120.00)

While this item is a good example of lumping, there were many lumping examples scattered throughout the records. Here, it is hard to tell how much time was dedicated to each task, and grouping higher paying uses of time with lower ones creates ambiguity.

- b. Financing Cash Collections 3/6/18 (Ex. 1 at 30) – "Prepare for and appear at hearings on DIP Financing and CRO including pre-hearing meetings with Nations' counsel and Stephen Douglass (5.4 hours, $2,160.00)

Lumping.

The total of all listed items is $31,270.00. The above entries do not constitute an exhaustive list of the problematic entries.
