The sole basis for Debtor's objection to Claim 6 is that Claim 6 was the subject of a prior discharge and lien avoidance order, and that, therefore, Creditor does not have any unsecured claim. To understand the legal argument made, a brief history of lien avoidance is necessary.¹

Prior to 1992, lien avoidance was available to debtors in both Chapter 7 and 13 proceedings, and for junior liens that were both wholly underwater and partially underwater. See e.g., Gaglia v. First Fed. Savs. & Loan Ass'n, 889 F.2d 1304 (3rd Cir. 1989) (Chapter 7 debtors could strip down partially underwater junior lien). In 1992, however, the Supreme Court decided Dewsnup v. Timm, 502 U.S. 410 (1992), which held that Chapter 7 debtors could not strip down a partially unsecured lien to the value of the collateral. In reaching that conclusion, the Supreme Court noted the definition of secured claim in 11 U.S.C. § 506(a)(1), which states as follows:

An allowed claim of a creditor secured by a lien on property in which the estate has an interest, or that is subject to setoff under section 553 of this title, is a secured claim to the extent of the value of such creditor's interest in the estate's interest in such property, or to the extent of the amount subject to setoff, as the case may be, and is an unsecured claim to the extent that the value of such creditor's interest or the amount so subject to setoff is less than the amount of such allowed claim. Such value shall be determined in light of the purpose of the valuation and of the proposed disposition or use of such property, and in conjunction with any hearing on such disposition or use or on a plan affecting such creditor's interest.

The Supreme Court also noted the language of 11 U.S.C. § 506(d), which states, in relevant part: "To the extent that a lien secures a claim against the debtor that is not an allowed secured claim, such lien is void." Prior to Dewsnup, courts have interpreted § 506(a)(1) and § 506(d), when read in conjunction, to establish a method by which debtors could void a lien to the extent such a lien was wholly or partially unsecured. The Supreme Court, however, rejected that reading, deferring to the "pre-Code rule that liens pass through bankruptcy unaffected." Id. at 778. In rejecting such a reading, the Supreme Court foreclosed the possibility of using § 506 as an independent mechanism to avoid wholly or partially underwater liens. Nevertheless, the Eleventh Circuit continued to allow Chapter 7 debtors to strip off wholly underwater liens, noting that the Supreme Court in Dewsnup had decided on the facts of a partially underwater lien. See, e.g., In re McNeal, 735 F.3d 1263 (11th Cir. 2012).

In 2015, however, the Supreme Court returned to the issue, and rejected the Eleventh Circuit's approach, holding that Chapter 7 debtors could not avoid wholly underwater liens through the operation of § 506. While it is not exactly clear how § 506 could be applied differently depending on whether the lien is wholly or partially unsecured, the Supreme Court concisely reasserted that "Dewsnup defined the term 'secured claim' in § 506(d) to mean a claim supported by a security interest in property, regardless of whether the value of that property would be sufficient to cover the claim. . . . Dewsnup's construction of 'secured claim' resolves the question presented here."

Nevertheless, Chapter 13 debtors have a different mechanism by which they can avoid liens which are partially or wholly underwater: 11 U.S.C. § 1322(b)(2), which states:

(b) Subject to subsections (a) and (c) of this section, the plan may –

(2) modify the rights of holders of secured claims, other than a claim secured only by a security interest in real property that is the debtor's principal residence, or of holders of unsecured claims, or leave unaffected the rights of holders of any class of claims

Prior to 1993, bankruptcy courts had allowed Chapter 13 debtors to use the above provision to avoid both wholly and partially underwater liens. In 1993, however, the Supreme Court decided Nobelman v. Am. Savs. Bank, 508 U.S. 324 (1993), which limited Chapter 13 debtors' ability to use § 1322(b)(2) to avoid liens to only those circumstances where the junior lien was wholly underwater. Id. at 332 ("In other words, to give effect to § 506(a)'s valuation and bifurcation of secured claims through a Chapter 13 plan in the manner petitions proposed would require a modification of the rights of the holder of the security interest. Section 1322(b)(2) prohibits such a modification where, as here, the lender's claim is secured only by a lien on the debtor's principal residence."). After Nobelman, Chapter 13 debtors were still permitted to use § 1322(b)(2) to avoid liens which were "secured" by their principal residence, if such lien was wholly underwater (and thus, pursuant to § 506(a)(1), not "secured"). See, e.g., In re Zimmer, 313 F.3d 1220, 1227 (9th Cir. 2002) ("In order to give effect to the definitions of secured and unsecured claims under § 506(a), we must conclude that the rights of a creditor holding only an unsecured claim may be modified under § 1322(b)(2)."); In re Tanner, 217 F.3d 1357, 1359-60 (11th Cir. 2000).

B. Lien Avoidance in Chapter 20 Cases

An additional wrinkle, however, is present when a debtor files a "Chapter 20" case.² A Chapter 20 case involves a debtor who received a discharge in a Chapter 7 case and subsequently (technically within four years) files a Chapter 13 case. In that circumstance:

The Chapter 7 discharge erases all dischargeable, unsecured debts. The discharge, however, only prevents creditors from collecting against the debtors personally. Any liens on secured property ride through the bankruptcy. The liens become non-recourse loans. When the debtor then files under Chapter 13 none of the unsecured debt is part of the Chapter 13 case because it has been discharged in the Chapter 7 case, but the remaining liens are claims in the Chapter 13.

In re Winitzky, 2009 WL 9139891 at *1 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2009) (citations omitted). There are at least two significant questions that arise when a Chapter 13 debtor attempts to avoid a wholly underwater junior lien after obtaining a Chapter 7 discharge: (1) whether avoidance of the junior lien is permissible and (2) how the holder of the junior lien should be treated during the pendency of the Chapter 13 plan. Furthermore, there is an additional important question here: how much weight should the Court give the language of the lien avoidance motion and the subsequent order granting the motion.

The two preliminary questions identified above are legally complex – although a brief description is adequate to reveal the issues. Under the Nobelman lien avoidance procedure, a debtor first seeks a valuation under § 506(a)(1). Pursuant to § 506(a)(1), the claim is secured "to the extent of the value of such creditor's interest in the estate's interest in such property," and is an "unsecured claim to the extent that the value of such creditor's interest or the amount so subject setoff is less than the amount of such allowed claim."

Here, because Creditor's entire claim is underwater (i.e., the value of the collateral is less than the amount of the senior lien), the application of § 506(a)(1) leads to a conclusion that the amount of Creditor's secured claim is zero. Pursuant to § 506(a)(1), the entirety of the claim is then deemed to be unsecured. The issue, however, is whether (a) § 506(a)(1) depends upon whether in personam liability exists on the claim in the first place, or (b) application of § 506(a) results in an unsecured claim regardless of whether in personam liability previously existed. If the language of § 506(a)(1) does not implicitly depend upon whether in personam liability existed, then the plain language of the statute provides that any part of the claim determined not to be secured is automatically unsecured. In effect, a Chapter 20 debtor would have a choice regarding wholly underwater junior liens: treat the claim as either (a) wholly secured (and the lien will pass through bankruptcy unaffected) or (b) wholly unsecured (and the claim must be treated under a plan as a general unsecured debt).

If § 506(a)(1) does implicitly contain an assumption that, for an unsecured claim to remain, in personam liability must have existed on the claim in the first place, a different problem arises. As noted above, section 1322(b)(2) allows Chapter 13 debtors to "modify the rights of holders of secured claims, other than a claim secured only by a secured interest in real property that is the debtor's principal residence, or of holders of unsecured claims." And Nobleman requires a two-step, sequential process for lien avoidance of wholly underwater junior liens by Chapter 13 debtors: (1) the application of § 506(a)(1), then (2) the operation of § 1322(b)(2). In order for § 1322(b)(2) to be applicable, however, and thus lien avoidance possible, the § 506(a)(1) valuation must reach one of two results: (1) a secured claim, other than a claim secured by real property that is the debtor's principal residence; or (2) an unsecured claim. Clearly, if Claim 6 is secured, it is only secured by Debtor's principal residence. Therefore, the only way § 1322(b)(2) can be applied is if the operation of § 506(a)(1) results in an unsecured claim; the result is logically unambiguous, and simply unavoidable. Finally, because the Ninth Circuit in In re Blendheim, 803 F.3d 477 (9th Cir. 2015) has held that lien stripping is available to Chapter 20 debtors, the Court is forced to conclude that § 1322(b)(2) can be applied, and, therefore, that an unsecured claim is created, solely for the purposes of the instant bankruptcy case, by the operation of § 506(a)(1). This process, and the conclusion that Creditor holds an unsecured claim, have been detailed comprehensively by the BAP in In re Boukatch, 533 B.R. 292 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2015), which outlined the appropriate legal approach and repeatedly referred to the creditor's claim as "unsecured." 533 B.R. 292, 300 ("Therefore, MidFirst holds only an "unsecured claim" for purposes of § 1322(b)(2); the claim is not subject to its antimodification protections.").

C. The Central District of California's Motion and Order

The Court's form motion and order, as well as case law, implicitly and explicitly recognize this dilemma for debtors. The lien avoidance motion filed by Debtor included, in the prayer for relief, the following request made by Debtor:

"Respondent's claim on the junior position lien shall be allowed as a nonpriority general unsecured claim in the amount per the filed Proof of Claim." [Dkt. No. 22 at 3(d)(3)]. And, as noted in the introduction section, the Court's order granting the motion contains the following: "Unless otherwise ordered, any allowed claim in excess of this Secured Claim Amount is to be treated as a nonpriority unsecured claim and is to be paid pro rata with all other nonpriority unsecured claims in Class 5A of the Plan." [Dkt. No. 34, pg. 5].³ Both the motion and order, submitted by the Debtor and now final, request and dictate, respectively that the Creditor's claim be treated as an unsecured claim.

D. Case Law on the Treatment of Avoided Lien in a Chapter 20 Case

The case law on this narrow issue (if lien stripping is allowed in a Chapter 20, how should the claim be treated during the plan) is not extensive. Multiple bankruptcy courts in California, however, have recognized the consequences noted above. The first opinion nationally to address the issue appears to have come from this district. See In re Akram, 239 B.R. 371, 377 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2001) ("However, neither Lam nor the cases from other Circuits addressed or allowed the result moved for here: that a Lam-stripped claim should be valued, for chapter 13 plan purposes, not only as a secured claim of zero, but also as a general unsecured claim of zero, where the debtor previously received a chapter 7 discharge. In fact, neither movant, nor this Court, found any reported case authorizing the result here moved for, or even ruling on this 'Chapter 20' twist to Lam motions."). The holding of that case was: "the 'Lam-stripping' of these secured claims in the chapter 13 case resulted in valuing the secured claims at zero secured, for chapter 13 plan purposes, and turned the full amount owed to each creditor (pursuant to that creditor's Note) into a general unsecured claim, for chapter 13 plan purposes." Id. at 378.

The reasoning of Akram does not appear to be universally accepted, but it has been cited approvingly by the BAP and is the majority position on the issue. See In re Eaton, 2006 WL 6810924 at *6 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2006); In re Gounder, 266 B.R. 879, 880 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 2001) ("Given that the lien survived the chapter 7 discharge, if a chapter 13 petition is later filed and the lien is stripped pursuant to Lam, the creditor must be allowed an unsecured claim despite the earlier chapter 7 discharge."); see also In re Renz, 476 B.R. 382, 392 (Bankr. E.D.N.Y. 2012). Even Okosis, the decision commonly referred to as detailing the "fourth option" which provided a rationale to validate lien stripping in Chapter 20 cases (see footnote 4), concluded that the claim must be treated as an unsecured claim in the plan. 451 B.R. 90, 96 (Bankr. D. Nev. 2011) ("Even though the chapter 13 debtor faces no personal liability on the debt, the debtor may use Section 506(a) to determine that the claim is not supported by the value of any collateral, avoid the lien through the chapter 13 plan, and thereby treat the debt as unsecured debt."). And, importantly, the BAP, in In re Boukatch, 533 B.R. 292 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2015), after extensively detailing the issues, repeatedly referred to the creditor's claim as "unsecured" for § 1322 purposes.

Ultimately, the relevant case law and this district's form motion and order recognize the logical necessity that only one of two things can be true: (1) lien stripping is unavailable in Chapter 20 cases; or (2) the wholly underwater junior lien becomes an unsecured claim upon lien avoidance. Legally, In re Blendheim, 803 F.3d 477 (9th Cir.

2015), made the former option legally impermissible in this Circuit; therefore, the latter option is unavoidable. Quite simply, the Chapter 20 debtor cannot have its cake and eat it too. Creditor's claim, originally secured by property of the estate, is converted to an unsecured claim against the estate after lien avoidance.

E. Policy Considerations

Not only do logical reasoning, case law, and this district's practice demand the result, but the equities concur. A Chapter 13 debtor can propose plans which pay creditors three different categories of dividends: (1) 0%; (2) more than 0%, but less than 100%; or (3) 100%. In either of the first two cases, treatment of the claim as an unsecured claim would not affect the amount the debtor pays into the plan. Only in the situation where the debtor is not paying the entirety of its disposable income into the plan does the issue affect the debtor. In other words, only in those cases where the Chapter 13 debtor has the ability to pay some or the entire resulting unsecured claim would the result impact the Chapter 13 plan. Furthermore, there is no mechanism under the bankruptcy code that would allow a debtor to avoid a lien and discharge the in personam liability without the obligation to make a good faith effort to make payment on the claim. For all the reasons outlined above, Debtor's efforts at finding a loophole to avoid the requirement are logically incompatible with the Code.

F. Miscellaneous Counter-Arguments

The Court is aware of several counter-arguments to the rationale adopted above that appear to rely either on a material misunderstanding of this Court's reasoning or of the applicable statutes or caselaw. Rather than attempt to incorporate these invalid arguments into the rationale outlined above, the Court will concisely summarize them here.

1) In re Free, 542 B.R. 492 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2015) is not relevant to the instant issue.

Debtor argues that:

Since the debt is not to be counted toward the debt limit for eligibility, likewise it should not be counted in the total debt administered and paid through Debtor's Chapter 13 case. Debtors that are administered by the Trustee in the Chapter 13 Plan count for the debt limit eligibility under § 109(e), the debt of Claimant should not fall within this category and should not be paid by the Trustee in Debtor's case.

[Dkt. No. 46, pgs. 2-3]. This argument ignores the fact that the cited statute, 11 U.S.C. § 109(e), explicitly provides for debt limit eligibility to be determined "on the date of the filing of the petition." Here, Debtor obviously had not filed a motion to avoid lien nor had the Court entered an order avoiding Creditor's lien on the date of the filing of the petition. Therefore, a subsequent order converting Creditor's claim to an unsecured claim for purposes of the plan would have no effect on a debt limit calculation which is to occur as of the petition date. The fact that the BAP concluded as such is completely irrelevant to the issues related to the claim objection; it is simply an acknowledgment of the unambiguous language of the statute.

2) This Court's opinion does not imply that the issue of whether a Chapter 20 debtor can avoid a wholly underwater lien is undecided in this circuit. The Court simply notes that, after a § 506 valuation, a creditor logically must have one of three types of claims: (1) a claim secured by property other than the debtor's principal residence; (2) a claim secured by property that is the debtor's principal residence; (3) an unsecured claim; or (4) no claim. The first category is clearly inapplicable here. As to the second fourth category, if Creditor were to hold a claim secured by property that is the debtor's principal residence, or hold no claim, after a § 506 valuation, then Debtor would not be able to use § 1322(b)(2), and, therefore, Debtor could not avoid Creditor's lien under the lien avoidance procedures established by the Supreme Court and Ninth Circuit. But Debtor can avoid Creditor's lien under binding precedence established by the Ninth Circuit. Therefore, the final option, that Creditor holds an unsecured claim after the § 506 valuation, is the only option which does not run afoul of binding legal precedence. A simple modus tollens which may elude those who only skim the decision.

3) While this district's local rules and forms do not carry the weight of binding law, a final order of this Court is binding in the case in which it is entered. When a party files a motion, requesting certain relief, then lodges an order, requesting that relief, and the Court enters that order, the terms of that order become binding in the case in which the order was entered. If that party subsequently wishes to be relieved from certain terms in that order, the appropriate mechanism is to file a motion requesting amendment or vacation of the offending order.

The Court does note that recent amendments to the lien avoidance forms do appear to provide some relief from this issue because the attachment to motion/order does include the phrase "[u]nless otherwise ordered." Still, the underlying motion in this case retains explicit language stating that Debtor's claim will be treated as an unsecured claim. If Debtor wishes to request otherwise, then Debtor should make that clear when filing the lien avoidance motion, instead of seeking two contradictory orders from this Court.

4) This decision carries no weight outside of the instant bankruptcy proceeding. This Court believes that the decision above is abundantly clear that Creditor's claim is to be treated as an unsecured claim under bankruptcy law, specifically § 1322. As can be ascertained from the discussion above, the Court is not creating any obligations outside of bankruptcy law, or any obligations which remain beyond the dismissal or discharge of Debtor's bankruptcy case.

Nor can this ruling have any binding effect in any other bankruptcy case other than the instant case. This decision implicitly contemplates an election by Debtor – either to treat Creditor's claim as secured (and the lien would pass through bankruptcy unaffected) or unsecured (and the lien would be avoided upon completion of the Chapter 13 plan) for purposes of the Chapter 13 plan. The Court is aware of no legal argument which would bind the Debtor to that selection in future bankruptcy cases. Therefore, it appears clear that the effect of this decision is limited to the instant bankruptcy case.

5) Finally, while this conclusion hardly merits restatement, a wholly underwater, consensual lien secured by a debtor's principal residence is avoided through a step two process: (1) bifurcation under § 506(a); and (2) avoidance under § 1322(b)(2). The Ninth Circuit in In re Zimmer, 313 F.3d 1220, 1223 (9th Cir. 2002) states that: "In general, Chapter 13 allows the modification of the rights of creditors, including the avoidance of liens against the debtor's property, but protects homestead liens from modification [quotation of statute]. 11 U.S.C. § 1322(b)(2)." See also id. at 1227. ("In order to give effect to the definitions of secured and unsecured claims under § 506(a), we must conclude that the rights of a creditor holding only an unsecured claim may be modified under § 1322(b)(2)."). While it is true that a Chapter 13 debtor may be able to convert a wholly underwater lien into an unsecured claim solely through operation of § 506(a), it is simple black letter law that the actual avoidance of the lien, i.e. the modification of rights, is only provided for by § 1322(b)(2).

IV. CONCLUSION

Based on the foregoing, the Court is inclined to OVERRULE the objection to Claim 6.

Chapter 13

(b) Except as provided in subsections (e)(2), (f), (g), (h) and (i) of this section, if such objection to a claim is made, the court, after notice and a hearing, shall determine the amount of such claim in lawful currency of the United States as of the date of the filing of the petition, and shall allow such claim in such amount, except to the extent that—

(1) such claim is unenforceable against the debtor and property of the debtor, under any agreement or applicable law for a reason other than because such claim is contingent or unmatured;

CAL. CODE CIV. P. § 337 (2016) provides a statute of limitations of four years for debts founded on written contracts, book accounts, accounts stated based upon account in writing, "balance of mutual, open and current account in writing," and rescission of written contract. Once the statute of limitations has passed, the claim is unenforceable. See e.g., Guaranty Trust Co. v. United States, 304 U.S. 126 (1938).

Claim 2 is based on debts created by a written contract. This appears to fit within the category established by CAL. CODE CIV. P. § 337. Therefore, the statute of limitations is four years. Creditor has provided a bill of sale for the debt dated back to June of 2001. There has been no evidence to contradict Debtor's sworn testimony as to the default on the debt in 2001, as well as Debtor's stated date of 2010 being the latest possible year for any payments or transactions on the debt between Debtor and Creditor. This is more than four years prior to the filing of the bankruptcy case, and, therefore, Claim 2 is unenforceable.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to GRANT the motion, DISALLOWING Claim 2 in its entirety.

APPEARANCES WAIVED. Movant to lodge order within seven days. If oral or written opposition is presented at the hearing, the hearing may be continued.

Claims 18 and 19 are based on debts created by a written contract. This appears to fit within the category established by CAL. CODE CIV. P. § 337. Therefore, the statute of limitations is four years. DISCUSSION

The provision concerning payment of attorney's fees through escrow was opposed by Trustee in their filings. Upon review of the audio recording from the hearing held on March 14, 2019, the Court does find that it weakly supports Counsel's position that this opposition may have been dropped.

However, the Court notes that Counsel's authority to retain the funds comes solely from the order as entered by the Court on March 25, 2019. Counsel appears to have consented to the removal of the provision concerning attorney's fees from the order, considering that they accepted Trustee's revisions striking the provision, and subsequently lodged the order as revised. In addition, while the order was titled "Order Granting Debtors' Motion for Authority to Sell Real Property," the motion for authority to sell the property itself was never actually ordered to be approved in its entirety within the order itself.

The end result of Counsel's own preparation of their order is that the Court ordered that Debtor had the authority to sell the Property pursuant to the following conditions: (1)- That the Trustee be paid their statutory fees based on the payment of the priority debt to the I.R.S. (2)- That the Debtor was to provide a copy of Final Closing Statement to Trustee immediately upon close of the escrow. (3)- That any excess proceeds from the sale of the Property that becomes due to the Debtor be turned over to the Trustee. The other provisions within the motion, including that concerning attorney's fees, were never included into the order, meaning that Counsel had no authority to keep their fees through escrow.

Even if the provision had been included in the order, the Court still notes to Counsel that the motion requested $2,250 in attorney's fees to be paid through escrow, yet Counsel received $6,393.08 from escrow, a discrepancy Counsel has not explained.

Tentative Ruling:

According to the court in In re Morales, 387 B.R. 36 (Bankr.C.D.Cal.2008)., the retail values, and not the private party values, are the appropriate starting points for property valuation because the text of 11 U.S.C. § 506(a)(2) refers to "the price a retail merchant would charge" and does not refer to the price a private party would charge.

Morales at 46.

Here, Debtor has provided a Kelly Blue Book report identifying the private party value of the Chrysler 200. Pursuant to the above discussion, the Court requires evidence of the Property's retail value, and adequate evidence to justify any deviations therefrom.

DISCUSSION

One of the benefits of filing a Chapter 13 bankruptcy is that under § 506(a) the debtor can bifurcate a secured, unavoidable debt, with one part representing the amount of the value of the collateral, and the deficiency being treated as an unsecured claim. See In re Penrod, 636 F.3d 1175, 1177 (9th Cir. 2011). In re Penrod concerned itself with an identical fact pattern to the one presented here, with the debtor there seeking to bifurcate the "negative equity" created by trading in a vehicle on which she stilled owed significant funds, just as Debtor here is seeking to do. Id. at 1160. However, there is still the question of valuation.

Presently the Ninth Circuit has not established a uniform method for valuations. See In re Ayres, 2010 WL 652825 at *5 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. 2010) (collecting cases detailing vehicle valuation and describing the state of the law in the Ninth Circuit). In In re Morales, however, which this Court has previously cited with approval, it was determined that value should be calculated "by adjusting the Kelley Blue Book or N.A.D.A. Guide retail value for a like vehicle by a reasonable amount in light of the evidence presented regarding the condition of the vehicle or any other relevant factors." In re Morales, 387 B.R. 36, 45 (Bankr.C.D.Cal.2008).

According to the court in In re Morales, the retail values, and not the private party values, are the appropriate starting points because the text of § 506(a)(2) refers to "the price a retail merchant would charge" and does not refer to the price a private party would charge. Morales at 46.

Here, Debtor has provided the Kelley Blue Book private party valuation for the Property. Normally, the Court would continue this matter, and request that Debtor return with the retail valuation of the vehicle as evidence. However, here the retailer set the Property's cash value at $13,599 and Debtor is seeking to establish a value of $14,983.68, nearly $1,400 higher than the retailer's own valuation of the Property. As such, the Court is inclined to find that Debtor has submitted sufficient evidence to support their valuation of the Property.

TENTATIVE RULING

5/23/2019

SERVICE: PROPER

OPPOSITION: NONE

The Court is inclined to GRANT Debtor's motion to value their 2014 Buick Verano at $14,983.68, with a resulting secured claim of $14,983.68 and a general unsecured claim of $5,183.32.

APPEARANCES WAIVED. Movant to lodge order within seven days. If oral or written opposition is presented at the hearing, the hearing may be continued.

#1.00 Notice of Trustee's Final Report and Applications for Compensation

EH__

Docket 137

Tentative Ruling:

Upon review of Trustee's services, the Court finds that the statutory maximum is a reasonable request in this matter. In addition, the Court finds that the Trustee has properly calculated his fees.

The Court has reviewed Trustee's accounting of his expenses and finds them reasonable.

The Court has reviewed Counsel for Trustee's application for compensation, as well as the agreed upon stipulation entered Counsel for Trustee and the United States Trustee and finds the reduced amount for their final fee application of $4,607 in fees (for a case total amount of $12,575.50) to be reasonable. Counsel for Trustee's expenses are also found reasonable.

The Court objects to Accountant for Trustee's final application for compensation and fees in the amount of $6,234 in fees. In particular, the Court finds that a request for $1,479.00 for preparing a fee application covering $3,448 in total services is unreasonable. The Court is inclined to reduce this amount by 50%, for a reduction of $739.50. The Court is thus inclined to grant Accountant's final application in the reduced amount of $5,494.50, for a case total of $19,416.

The Court has reviewed Account for Trustee's accounting of their expenses and finds them reasonable.

The Court, upon review of the remaining administrative requests, wholly objects to the $500 payment to Lissebeck Law for "other professional expenses", as neither Lissebeck, nor Trustee, has explained the request. The Court finds the remaining requests to be generally reasonable.

TENTATIVE RULING

Date: 5/29/2019
Opposition: None
Service: Proper

The applications for compensation of the Trustee, Counsel for the Trustee, and Trustee acting in the role of Accountant for the Estate, have been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 2016-1. Pursuant to the Trustee's Final Report and the applications of the associated professionals, the Court is inclined to APPROVE the following administrative expenses:

Trustee Fees: in the reduced amount of $ 14,028.79 ($ 6,028.79 remaining to be paid).
Trustee Expenses: $ 895.13 ($ 555.44 remaining to be paid).

Attorney Fees: $ 12,575.50 ($ 4,607 remaining to be paid).
Attorney Costs: $ 191.90 ($ 83.06 remaining to be paid).
Other Attorney Expenses: in the reduced amount of $ 0.

Accountant Fees: in the reduced amount of $ 19,416 ($ 5,940.50 remaining to be paid).
Accountant Costs: $ 266.72 ($ 47.56 remaining to be paid).

U.S. Bankruptcy Courts: $ 350.

Solomon, Ward, Seidenwurm & Smith, L.L.P.: $10,374.30 ($ 0 remaining to be paid).

APPEARANCES REQUIRED, or Movant (Trustee, Attorney for Trustee, or Accountant for Trustee) may not appear and be deemed to consent to their reduced fees.

#2.00 Motion To Stay Pending Appeal

EH__

Docket 176

Tentative Ruling:

The only unsecured creditors remaining of the estate are the Trustee and his professionals, and the funds received from selling the Property in question will be used to settle the administrative claims.

Debtor does not object to the motion for turnover in this motion, and the matter of whether Trustee had the legal right to force turnover of the Property to the estate is neither on appeal, nor it is in controversy. Rather, Debtor's argument is founded on the belief that their appeal of Counsel's fees will either negate, or reduce, the administrative to the point that Debtor could pay off the claims and stop the sale of the property.

Appeal in a bankruptcy case does not automatically remove jurisdiction from the Bankruptcy court, rather, the court has the discretion to choose whether to suspend or continue the other proceedings in the case or issue any other appropriate orders. Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 8007(e). The decision to stay proceedings is analyzed along similar grounds as an injunction, requiring the Court to analyze whether:

- 1) Whether movant will suffer an irreparable injury absent a stay;
- 2) Whether a non-moving party will suffer substantial injury if a stay is issued;
- 3) Whether the movant has demonstrated a substantial possibility of success on appeal;
- 4) Whether there are public interests that may be affected.

Temporary loss of income does not usually constitute irreparable harm. Sampson v. Murray, 415 U.S. 61, 90 (1974). Loss of real property is not irreparable harm if it is being used as rental property. See, e.g. Kinman v. Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., 2012 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 174197 at *5 fn. 2 (E.D. Cal. 2012). As admitted by Counsel for Debtor's declaration in their September 14, 2018 response to Trustee's motion for turnover, Property in question is being rented out by Debtor and is not his home, meaning that, absent special circumstances, its loss would not constitute irreparable harm. Debtor has not shown these circumstances.

The non-moving parties holding administrative claims against Debtor's estate will not suffer substantial injury if a stay is issued.

There are no public interests in question, barring the general desire for speedy resolution of judicial processes.

Movant has not shown a substantial possibility of success on appeal. First and foremost, Debtor never opposed Counsel's interim fee application, meaning that they have likely waived any arguments against the application on appeal. Secondly, to return to Counsel for Debtor's declaration in response to the motion for turnover, Debtor's position against the amount of the administrative fees appears to stem from Debtor's "misunderstanding of how bankruptcy works—although I have tried to explain it to him." In fact, a large amount of the fees incurred by Trustee in this case was caused by Debtor's failure to list his property in his petition, and opposition to even routine matters such as Trustee's motion to employ Counsel.

In addition, Counsel's fee application was an interim fee application, rendering Debtor's appeal an interlocutory appeal. Sec. Investor Prot. Corp. v. Bernard L. Madoff Inv. Secs. LLC (In re Madoff), 2010 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 81492 at *8 (S.D. N.Y. 2010). Thus, to show success on appeal Debtor must also show that the Bankruptcy Appellate Panel is likely to even hear the appeal. There are two key factors considered when determining whether to allow appeal of an interlocutory order:

- 1) Whether the issue involves a controlling question of law as to which there is substantial ground for difference of opinion;
- 2) Whether the immediate appeal from the order may materially advance the termination of the litigation. See 28 U.S.C. § 1292(b).

Despite the wording of Debtor's notice of appeal, the question on appeal is a purely factual one, whether or not Counsel's fees were excessive. As such, it does not concern a controlling question of law as to which there is substantial ground for difference of opinion, and it is unlikely that the Bankruptcy Appellate Court will grant leave to appeal.

To summarize, Debtor has shown neither irreparable harm, nor substantial possibility

Docket 5

Tentative Ruling:

Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 41 applies in adversarial proceedings, as incorporated by Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 7041. FRCP 41(a)(1)(a)(i) permits a plaintiff to voluntarily dismiss an action without Court order through notice of dismissal, as long as it is before the opposing party served an answer, or a motion for summary judgment.

The Defendants have filed a motion for dismissal in this case, on April 17. The question of whether to treat a motion to dismiss, which contains materials extraneous to the complaint, as a motion for summary judgment is within the discretion of the Court. Swedberg v. Marotzke, 339 F.3d 1139, 1146 (9th Cir. 2003). Treating the motion to dismiss as a motion for summary judgment in effect is a conversion of the motion by the Court, ideally by Court order, and occurs when the Court decides to consider the materials extraneous to what was in Plaintiff's complaint, when deciding how to rule on the motion to dismiss. Id. Dismissal of the case through notice of voluntary dismissal is a closure of the entire action, with the Court losing all jurisdiction over the matter besides issuing sanctions orders. Commercial Space Management Co. v. Boeing Co., 193 F.3d 1074, 1077 (9th Cir., 1999).

The position of Plaintiff is that this entire case has been closed by their notice of voluntary dismissal of the action on May 10, under FRCP 41(a)(1)(A)(i), as no answer or motion for summary judgment had been filed by Defendant.

Chapter 7

Defendants take the position that the notice for dismissal filed here required a Court order under FRCP 41(a)(2) because they had filed a counterclaim in the matter. This is incorrect, because FRCP 41(a)(2) says, except as provided for in rule 41(a)(1), an action may be dismissed at a plaintiff's request only by court order, on terms the court considers proper. It continues to say that, if a defendant has pleaded a counterclaim prior to plaintiff's motion to dismiss, the action may only be dismissed over defendant's objection if the counterclaim can remain pending for independent adjudication. In this case, the motion for contempt for violation of the discharge injunction can be pending for independent adjudication. However, even if this wasn't the case, if Plaintiff's motion falls under FRCP 41(a)(1), then it trumps any provisions under (a)(2).

Defendants attach extraneous materials to their motion to dismiss, and those materials are critical for making a determination on the motion to dismiss. The Court thus has the discretion to convert the motion to dismiss into a motion for summary judgment under Swedberg. See Swedberg, 339 F.3d at 1146. If the Court does so, then Plaintiff's notice of voluntary dismissal is no longer effective, as the motion to dismiss dated April 17 would be considered to be a motion for summary judgment filed prior to May 10, 2019 (the date of Creditor's notice of dismissal), and thereby canceling out Creditor's right to voluntarily dismiss the action under FRCP 41(a)(1)(A)(i).

The Court will not exercise its discretion to convert a motion to dismiss into a motion for summary judgment, because Defendants will still maintain their claim for violation of the discharge injunction via motion pending in the main case, set for hearing June 26, 2019. Thus, Plaintiff's voluntary dismissal under FRCP 41(a)(1)(A)(i) remains in effect.

As such, the Court, finding the action dismissed when Plaintiff filed its notice of voluntary dismissal on May 10, 2019, is inclined to hold that the motion to dismiss the complaint and the motion for violation of the discharge injunction are both denied as moot.

because FRCP 41(a)(2) says, except as provided for in rule 41(a)(1), an action may be dismissed at a plaintiff's request only by court order, on terms the court considers proper. Given the fact that this matter has been set for hearing on June 26, 2019 in the main bankruptcy case, the Court will not exercise its discretion to convert a motion to dismiss into a motion for summary judgment. In doing so, it will not force this adversarial case to remain open against the wishes of the Creditor who opened it.

As such, the Court finds that it lost any jurisdiction to hear matters in this case barring motions for sanction when Creditor filed their notice of voluntary dismissal on May 10, 2019. The motions to dismiss the complaint, as well as the motion for violation of the discharge injunction, filed in this adversarial process have thus both been rendered moot.

#15.00 Motion for Stay of Order Pending Appeal

EH__

Docket 53

Tentative Ruling:

BACKGROUND

Markus Boyd ("Debtor") filed his chapter 11 petition on January 26, 2018. He filed the adversarial proceeding on April 21, 2018. The adversarial proceeding concerns Debtor's objection to First Franklyn Mortgage's ("Creditor") second mortgage against Debtor's home at 5522 Deer Creek Lane, Rancho Cucamonga, CA 91737-2424 (the "Property"). Debtor's objection to the mortgage are based on novel legal arguments.

DISCUSSION

Appeal in a bankruptcy case does not automatically remove jurisdiction from the Bankruptcy court, rather, the court has the discretion to choose whether to suspend or continue the other proceedings in the case or issue any other appropriate orders. Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 8007(e). The decision to stay proceedings is analyzed along similar grounds as an injunction, requiring the Court to balance whether:

- 1) Whether movant will suffer an irreparable injury absent a stay;
- 2) Whether a non-moving party will suffer substantial injury if a stay is issued;
- 3) Whether the movant has demonstrated a substantial possibility of success on appeal;
- 4) Whether there are public interests that may be affected.

Debtor states that he will suffer irreparable harm if the Court does not impose a stay, as he will have to pay Creditor in full through a refinance and then expend estate assets to recover the money, if his appeal is successful. Loss of money is typically not irreparable harm. Complete Entertainment Resources, LLC v. Live Nation

Entertainment, Inc., 2016 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 86418 at *7 (C.D. Cal. 2016). As Debtor states himself, he can reclaim the money paid to Creditor if his appeal reaches a successful conclusion.

In addition, Debtor has not demonstrated a substantial possibility of success on appeal. As the Court's opinion granting Creditor's motion to dismiss made clear, Debtor seeks a finding with little legal basis that would radically transform the relationship between secured creditors and debtors during bankruptcy cases. Moreover, Debtor's argument that the lien against the property was transformed into a constructive trust is unconvincing and lacks support.

The Court does not find that a non-moving party would suffer substantial injury if a stay as issued, or that public interests may be affected, besides the general public interest in the speedy resolution of judicial matters.

Upon a balancing of the four factors detailed above, the Court finds that there is insufficient justification to order a stay of the Court's order dismissing Debtor's objection

#2.00 Motion of Trustee for order authorizing Trustee to abandon and destroy books and records of debtor

EH__

Docket 54

Tentative Ruling:

6/5/19

BACKGROUND

On July 27, 2017, Chad Priest Construction, Inc. ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition.

On April 22, 2019, Trustee filed a motion to abandon and destroy books and records. Eighteen days later, on May 10, 2019, the Court entered an order granting the motion [Dkt. No. 56]. The order contained a provision which stated that Trustee may destroy the books and records if Debtor did not pick them up within one week of the entry of the order.

On May 13, 2019, Douglas & Deanna Pearson (the "Pearsons"), plaintiffs in state court litigation in which the Debtor is a defendant, filed an opposition to the abandonment motion. The Pearsons state that they need the records for the state court litigation, that the records are not available from any other source, and that, while their attorney is listed on the proof service, they did not receive a copy of the motion prior to the order being entered. Later on May 13, 2019, Trustee set the matter for hearing.

Chapter 7

DISCUSSION

Because this Court entered an order on the motion to abandon, which is now a final order, the matter has been adjudicated, and the Court has not received any request to vacate that order. Additionally, it does not appear that the Pearsons would have any objection to the Trustee's abandonment of the books and records; instead, the Pearsons only want the books and records to not be destroyed. On the present evidentiary record and procedural posture, this request is not properly reviewable by this Court.

TENTATIVE RULING

Parties to apprise the Court of the status of the books and records and whether they have arrived at a mutually agreeable solution.

BACKGROUND

On August 10, 2018, Stephanie Graham ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On November 19, 2018, Debtor received a discharge. Seven unsecured claims, totaling $46,195.97, were filed in this case.

On February 26, 2019, the Court entered an order approving the application of Jack Pope as auctioneer. On May 17, 2019, Trustee filed a motion for authority to sell a 2006 Mercedes Benz CLS (the "Property") via auction. Trustee estimates that the Property will sell for $7,000 at auction.

DISCUSSION

11 U.S.C. § 363(b)(1) allows a trustee to sell property of the estate outside of the ordinary course, after notice and a hearing. A sale pursuant to § 363(b) requires a demonstration that the sale has a valid business justification. In re 240 North Brand Partners, Ltd., 200 B.R. 653, 659 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1996). "In approving any sale outside the ordinary course of business, the court must not only articulate a sufficient business reason for the sale, it must further find it is in the best interest of the estate, i.e. it is fair and reasonable, that it has been given adequate marketing, that it has been negotiated and proposed in good faith, that the purchaser is proceeding in good faith, and that it is an "arms-length" transaction." In re Wilde Horse Enters., Inc., 136 B.R. 830, 841 (Bankr. C.D. Cal.).

Here, given that there are claims filed in this case and that there is unexempt equity in the Property which can be realized for the benefit of creditors, a sufficient business reason for the sale has been articulated. Furthermore, because Trustee has opted to hold a public auction of the Property, it appears clear that the sale will occur in good faith and will be an "arms-length" transaction. The motion does, however, lack a description of the proposed marketing/advertisement of the auction.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to GRANT the motion in its entirety, including waiving the Rule 6004(h) stay, conditioned upon Trustee provided an adequate explanation of the marketing/advertising of the proposed auction, as well as greater detail regarding the Property (model #, mileage, condition, etc.).

BACKGROUND

On December 11, 2018, Gilberto & Grace Rodriguez ("Debtors") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On March 25, 2019, Debtors received a discharge. Twenty unsecured claims, totaling $19,451.15, were filed in this case.

On May 7, 2019, the Court entered an order approving the application of Jack Pope as auctioneer. On May 17, 2019, Trustee filed a motion for authority to sell a 2018 Polaris Razor XP Turbo (the "Property") via auction. Trustee estimates that the Property will sell for $12,000 at auction.

DISCUSSION

11 U.S.C. § 363(b)(1) allows a trustee to sell property of the estate outside of the ordinary course, after notice and a hearing. A sale pursuant to § 363(b) requires a demonstration that the sale has a valid business justification. In re 240 North Brand Partners, Ltd., 200 B.R. 653, 659 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1996). "In approving any sale outside the ordinary course of business, the court must not only articulate a sufficient business reason for the sale, it must further find it is in the best interest of the estate, i.e. it is fair and reasonable, that it has been given adequate marketing, that it has been negotiated and proposed in good faith, that the purchaser is proceeding in good faith, and that it is an "arms-length" transaction." In re Wilde Horse Enters., Inc., 136 B.R. 830, 841 (Bankr. C.D. Cal.).

Here, given that there are claims filed in this case and that there is unexempt equity in the Property which can be realized for the benefit of creditors, a sufficient business reason for the sale has been articulated. Furthermore, because Trustee has opted to hold a public auction of the Property, it appears clear that the sale will occur in good faith and will be an "arms-length" transaction. The motion does, however, lack a description of the proposed marketing/advertisement of the auction.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to GRANT the motion in its entirety, including waiving the Rule 6004(h) stay, conditioned upon Trustee provided an adequate explanation of the marketing/advertising of the proposed auction.

BACKGROUND

On January 14, 2019, Thomas Mount ("Defendant") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On March 14, 2019, Jonathan Baker & Baker Entertainment Group (collectively, "Plaintiffs") filed an adversary complaint against Defendant for non-dischargeability pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(A), (a)(4), and (a)(6), for denial of discharge pursuant to 1 U.S.C. § 727(a)(2)(A), (a)(4)(A)&(D), and (a)(5), and for unfair, unlawful and fraudulent business practices.

On April 23, 2019, upon the request of Plaintiffs, the Court entered Defendant's default. Two days later, while still in default, Defendant filed an answer. On May 7, 2019, Defendant filed a motion to set aside default. On May 16, 2019, Plaintiffs filed their opposition.

Chapter 7

FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 55(c), made applicable to bankruptcy proceedings by FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 7055, states: "[t]he court may set aside an entry of default for good cause, and it may set aside a final default judgment under Rule 60(b)." The Ninth Circuit has stated that: "To determine 'good cause,' [under FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 55(c)] a court must consider three factors: (1) whether the party seeking to set aside the default engaged in culpable conduct that led to the default; (2) whether it had no meritorious defense; or (3) whether reopening the default judgment would prejudice the other party." United States v. Signed Pers. Check No. 730 of Yubran S. Mesle, 615 F.3d 1085, 1091 (9th Cir. 2010) (quotation omitted).

Regarding the first factor, the culpability of the party seeking to set aside default, the Ninth Circuit has imposed a rather high threshold for the culpability which would justify this Court's refusal to set aside default. To wit:

A defendant's conduct is culpable if he has received actual or constructive notice of the filing of the action and intentionally failed to answer. As we have previously explained, in this context the term "intentionally" means that a movant cannot be treated as culpable simply for having made a conscious choice not to answer; rather, to treat a failure to answer as culpable, the movant must have acted with bad faith, such as an intention to take advantage of the opposing party, interfere with judicial decisionmaking, or otherwise manipulate the legal process. We have typically held that a defendant's conduct was culpable for purposes of the good cause factors where there is no explanation of the default inconsistent with a devious, deliberate, willful, or bad faith failure to respond. As we explained in TCI Group, our approach is consistent with Pioneer Inv. Servs. Co. v. Brunswick Assocs. Ltd., 507 U.S. 380, 388, 393-95 (1993), in light of which it is clear that simple carelessness is not sufficient to treat a negligent failure to reply as inexcusable, at least without a demonstration that other equitable factors, such as prejudice, weight heavily in favor of denial of the motion to set aside a default.

Id. at 1092-93 (quotations and citations omitted). The record before the Court is devoid of any evidence which would establish the culpability of Defendant under the test articulated above. While Plaintiffs argue that "Mr. Hewitt should know the consequences of his failure to answer and is presumed to be culpable," this argument must be rejected for two reasons. First, Mr. Hewitt is not the Defendant in this action.

Chapter 7

The presumption of knowledge has been applied by the Ninth Circuit when the defendant itself was a legally sophisticated party, and the Court rejects Plaintiffs attempt to extend this exception to any party that has hired an attorney. Second, assuming, arguendo, that Defendant was a legally sophisticated party, the Court is skeptical that the presumption of knowledge would automatically result in a finding of culpability, given the statement in Mesle that consciously choosing not to answer is insufficient for a finding of culpability. Finally, in the context of an adversary proceeding for non-dischargeability/objection to discharge, a delay in an answer would not normally constitute a manipulation of the legal process because the filing of the complaint precludes the entry of a discharge pursuant to FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 4004(c). In other words, the plaintiffs temporarily receive the relief requested in the complaint unless the defendants successfully defend the complaint. In such a situation, it is difficult to see how a delay by the defendants could constitute a manipulation of legal process, absent certain unique circumstances not raised here.

Regarding the second factor, whether the defendant has a meritorious defense, the Ninth Circuit has stated that:

A defendant seeking to vacate a default judgment must present specific facts that would constitute a defense. But the burden on a party seeking to vacate a default judgment is not extraordinarily heavy. All that is necessary to satisfy the meritorious defense requirement is to allege sufficient facts that, if true, would constitute a defense: the question whether the factual allegation is true is not to be determined by the court when it decides the motion to set aside the default. Rather, that question would be the subject of the later litigation.

Id. at 1094. While Defendant has not put forward detailed facts to establish a meritorious defense, the low standard quoted above, combined with the fact that the Ninth Circuit has repeatedly referred to judgment by default as an "extreme circumstance," forces this Court to conclude that the standard has been satisfied. Specifically, contrary to Plaintiffs' assertion that Defendant's motion does not allege a single fact, the final paragraph of page 8 of Defendant's motion does allege facts, albeit generally. For example, Defendant asserts that "he and the Plaintiffs fairly negotiated a contract for his services, and that the Defendant has the records and other supporting documentation to prove that the Defendant rendered services in accordance with their Agreement."

Chapter 7

Regarding the third factor, whether Plaintiff would suffer legal prejudice, Plaintiff has not clearly raised an argument alleging that it would suffer legal prejudice. "To be prejudicial, the setting aside of a judgment must result in greater harm than simply delaying resolution of the case." TCI Group Life Ins. Plan v. Knoebber, 244 F.3d 691, 701 (9th Cir. 2001). "The standard is whether his ability to pursue his claim will be hindered." Falk v. Allen, 739 F.2d 461, 463 (9th Cir. 1984); see also Thompson v. Am. Home Assurance Co., 95 F.3d 429, 433-34 (6th Cir. 1996) ("Second, for the setting aside of a default judgment to be considered prejudicial, it must result in more than delay. Rather, the delay must result in tangible harm such as loss of evidence, increased difficulties of discovery, or greater opportunity for fraud or collusion."). Plaintiffs' assertion that it "would be prejudiced by proceeding blindly into litigation with no idea whether Defendant has a meritorious defense or not" [Dkt No. 15, pg. 14] simply does not constitute legal prejudice. Defendant's short delay in filing an answer to the complaint did not decrease Plaintiffs' knowledge of the merits of Defendant's defense in any manner.

Regarding Plaintiffs' request that the setting aside of default be conditioned upon payment of reasonable attorney fees incurred as a result of the delay, the Court agrees that equitable concerns merit reimbursing Plaintiff for expenses which were proximately caused by Defendant's delay. The Court does not, however, find the $6,000 requested to be reasonable. The Court is inclined to award Plaintiffs $1,000, reflecting expenses (c)-(d) on pages 17-18 of docket number 15, while denying the remainder of the fees requested. The fees identified in (a)-(b) appear to be general litigation fees not clearly related to Defendant's default. And Plaintiffs chose to litigate the instant motion rather than stipulate to the setting aside of default. As a result, it was not Defendant's default that caused the remainder of the fees to be incurred; rather those fees were incurred as a result of Plaintiff's litigation strategy.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to GRANT the motion, setting aside the motion conditioned on the payment by Defendant to Plaintiffs of the amount of $1,000, representing

BACKGROUND

On March 28, 2014, Annie Estrada ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. On August 6, 2014, Debtor's Chapter 13 plan was confirmed. The Chapter 13 plan was subsequently modified twice.

On January 7, 2019, Trustee filed a motion to dismiss for delinquency, identifying a delinquency of approximately two months. After two continuances, the Court granted the motion to dismiss, allowing Debtor a ten-day period to convert to Chapter 7 in lieu of dismissal. On April 15, 2019, Debtor filed a notice to conversion to Chapter 7; that notice, however, was withdrawn approximately two hours later. On April 22, 2019, Debtor's case was dismissed.

On April 24, 2019, Debtor filed a motion to vacate dismissal, asserting that Debtor had obtained funds to cure the delinquency on April 15, 2019. The funds do not appear to have been received by Trustee until the day after dismissal, but Debtor's counsel states that he spoke with the Chapter 13 Trustee on April 15, 2019, and that Counsel was under the impression that the case was not going to be dismissed. On April 25, 2019, Trustee filed comments indicating approval, subject to proper notice being given and Debtor submitting copies of her 2018 tax returns.

On April 26, 2019, Debtor filed an amended motion to vacate dismissal.

DISCUSSION

The Court notes that Debtor has set this matter for hearing on shortened noticed without filing an application shortening time. Debtor's notice of hearing sets an opposition deadline of April 25, 2019, the day before the notice was filed. Therefore, notice is improper.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to CONTINUE the matter to May 30, 2019. Debtor to give notice of the continuance to all parties in interest.

BACKGROUND:

On January 5, 2017, Francisco Palacios ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. On March 1, 2017, Debtor's Chapter 13 plan was confirmed.

On March 21, 2017, Franchise Tax Board ("FTB") filed a proof of claim in the amount of $9,381.23 ("Claim 7"). Claim 7 identifies $7,709.32 as secured and $948.87 as entitled to priority. The case was dismissed on June 22, 2017; dismissal was vacated on July 10, 2017.

On July 26, 2017, Debtor filed a claim objection requesting that Claim 7 be decreased to $4,369.12. On September 28, 2017, the Court entered an order on the claim objection which provided, in part, that the claim was reduced to $4,748.13, but that all of the claim was entitled to priority [Dkt. No 126]. The order entered by the Court conflicts with Judge Jury's notes of the hearing, which state that she was allowing the claim in the amount of $5,225.69, and that the claim was to be treated as secured.

The day after the order was entered, FTB filed an amended claim (the "FAC"). The FAC identified a total claim of $10,483.82, a secured portion of $7,709.32, and a priority amount of $1,830.94. Then, on June 28, 2018, FTB filed a second amended claim (the "SAC"). The SAC identified a total claim of $27,064.82, a secured portion of $7,709.32, and a priority amount of $18,411.94.

On May 2, 2019, Debtor filed an objection to the SAC. Debtor's claim objection appears to assert that the claim of FTB should be reduced to the amount reflected in the order entered as docket number 126.

APPLICABLE LAW:

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 502(a), a proof of claim is deemed allowed unless a party in interest objects. Absent an objection, a proof of claim constitutes prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claim under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure ("FRBP") 3001(f). See Lundell v. Anchor Constr. Specialists, Inc., 223 F.3d 1035, 1039 (9th Cir. 2000). When a party files an objection to a proof of claim, that filing "creates a dispute which is a contested matter" within the meaning of FRBP 9014 and the Court must resolve the matter after notice and opportunity for hearing upon a motion for relief. Id.

ANALYSIS:

As the background section briefly illustrates, the procedural history of FTB's claim is somewhat complicated. Judge Jury appeared to have rendered an oral decision, then entered a written order inconsistent with that ruling. The next day FTB filed the FAC, which seemed to ignore those rulings; subsequently, the SAC was filed. The following table provides a breakdown of FTB's Claim:

Year	Claim 7	Oral Ruling	Written Order	The FAC	The SAC
2009	$2,199.87	$2,199.87	Unclear	$2,199.87	$2,199.87
2010	$2,169.25	$2,169.25	Unclear	$2,169.25	$2,169.25
2011	$2,024.86	$0	Unclear	$2,024.86	$2,024.86
2012	$1,315.34	$0	Unclear	$1,315.34	$1,315.34

2016	TBD		Unclear	TBD	$16,581

After listening to the hearing before Judge Jury on September 25, 2017, it appears that the discrepancy between the oral ruling and the written order is a result of a mathematical error made by Judge Jury at the hearing. Judge Jury indicated that she was disallowing Claim 7 in the amounts attributed to tax years 2011, 2012, 2013, but then appears to have miscalculated the number by $477.56. It appears either the Court or Debtor corrected the number prior to the entry of the written order, but it remains unclear why the allowed portion of FTB's claim was identified as entitled to priority, while the secured status of the claim was not addressed. While the record is imperfect, the Court is adequately able to ascertain that Judge Jury intended to disallow that portion of FTB's claim related to tax years 2011, 2012, and 2013. Because that portion of the SAC has previously been disallowed, it is unenforceable against the estate.

Additionally, the Court is inclined to disallow that portion of Claim 7 ($16,581) related to tax year 2016 in its entirety for two reasons. First, the declaration of Debtor asserts that he had no tax liability for tax year 2016. Second, notice and service being proper, the Court is inclined to deem FTB's failure to oppose to be consent to the relief requested. The Court considers this remedy to be especially appropriate given that FTB appears to have completely ignored this Court's previous order.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to GRANT the motion, reducing the claim of FTB to a total of

BACKGROUND

On September 11, 2017, Ryan & Jennifer McHugh ("Debtors") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. On November 9, 2017, Debtors' Chapter 13 plan was confirmed. The plan has subsequently been modified twice.

On April 7, 2019, Debtors filed a motion for turnover, requesting turnover from Wexler Wallace LLP of certain funds received from a confidential personal injury settlement.

DISCUSSION

The Court notes that service appears improper for several reasons. First, it does not appear that Wexler Wallace LLP has been served with the instant motion at all. Second, a motion for turnover is, at the least, a contested matter under FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 9014 and, therefore, the Rule 7004 service requirements apply. Finally, Rule

06/06/19

BACKGROUND

On May 8, 2018, Ruby Lee Frazier ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. On July 5, 2018, Debtor's Chapter 13 plan was confirmed.

On April 10, 2019, Trustee filed a motion to dismiss for failure to make plan payments. On April 30, 2019, Trustee filed a declaration of non-opposition to the motion to dismiss, and, on May 2, 2019, the Court dismissed the case.

On May 7, 2019, Debtor filed a motion to vacate dismissal arguing that the case was dismissed due to attorney mistake. Among other things, Debtor's counsel states that while Debtor's former bankruptcy counsel was in communication with Chapter 13 trustee staff regarding a stipulation to bring the plan current, neither a written opposition nor a motion to modify was filed. Debtor was in communication with their attorney of record at the time, had agreed to make an immediate payment with the balance due to be paid very shortly thereafter, and due to a communication issue with prior counsel, Debtor believed that a stipulation to stop the dismissal was pending.

On May 8, 2019, Trustee filed comments indicating conditional approval of the

Chapter 13

DISCUSSION

Debtor relies on FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 60(b)(1), incorporated into bankruptcy proceedings by FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 9024, which allows for relief from an order based on "mistake, inadvertence, surprise, or excusable neglect."

The legal basis for Debtor's assertion that the dismissal order should be vacated is that Debtor's former counsel was in communication with Trustee regarding stipulation to bring the plan current, but neither a written opposition nor a motion to modify was filed. It is well established that "an attorney's ignorance and carelessness does not provide grounds for Rule 60(b) relief." In re Mercado, 144 B.R. 879, 886 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1992) (citing Bershad v. McDonough, 469 F.2d 1333, 1337 (7th Cir. 1972)). And the mere assertion that counsel did not fulfill its duties, but that such carelessness was inadvertent, is clearly inadequate to support Rule 60(b) relief. See, e.g., In re ACME Motors, Inc., 125 B.R. 702, 703 (Bankr. D.R.I. 1991).

"Rule 60(b) relief is extraordinary." Id. Yet, in this court, a request for relief from a Chapter 13 dismissal order has become semi-ordinary. On occasion, the requests are legally sound. Here, however, the evidence provided simply indicates that Debtor's counsel did not take any steps to effectively oppose the Trustee's motion to dismiss.

The Seventh Circuit has stated that:

[T]he clients are principals, the attorney is an agent, and under the law of agency the principal is bound by his chosen agent's deeds. The rule is that all of the attorney's misconduct (except in the cases where the act is outside the scope of employment or in cases of excusable neglect) becomes the problem of the client. A lawyer who inexcusably neglects his client's obligations does

Bakery Mach. & Fabrication, Inc. v. Traditional Baking, Inc., 570 F.3d 845, 848 (7th Cir. 2009). "Although attorney carelessness can [in certain circumstances] constitute 'excusable neglect' under Rule 60(b)(1), attorney inattentiveness to litigation is not excusable, no matter what the resulting consequences the attorney's somnolent behavior may have on a litigant." Easley v. Kirmsee, 382 F.3d 693, 698 (7th Cir. 2004) (collecting cases).

Here, when the Chapter 13 trustee indicates conditional approval of the motion, when Debtor promptly moved to address the dismissal, including hiring new counsel to oversee the bankruptcy case, the Court is inclined to GRANT the motion conditioned on compliance with the Trustee's conditions.

ANALYSIS:

FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 3003(c)(3) provides for the creation of a claim bar deadline, and FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 3002(c) provides certain exceptions to the rule that claims must be timely filed. Creditor has not argued that any of these exceptions apply. The Court notes that recent amendments resulted in the creation of FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 3002(c)(6)(A). While case law on the recent amendment is sparse, it does not appear that the amendment is applicable to this situation. See 9 COLLIER'S ON BANKRUPTCY ¶ 3002.03[7] (16th ed. 2017) ("A creditor may not argue under Rule 3002(c)(6)(A) that

"[T]he Ninth Circuit has repeatedly held that the deadline to file a proof of claim in a Chapter 13 proceeding is 'rigid,' and the bankruptcy court lacks equitable power to extent this deadline after the fact." In re Barker, 839 F.3d 1189, 1197 (9th Cir. 2016). "By virtue of Rule 9006(b)(3), a bankruptcy court does not have discretion to enlarge the time periods fixed by Rule 3002(c) nor permit an untimely claim when none of Rule 3002(c)'s five exceptions is applicable." In re Hayes, 327 B.R. 453, 458 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2005) (footnote omitted); see also In re Edelman, 237 B.R. 146, 152 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1999). Here, none of Rule 3002(c)'s exceptions apply.

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 502(a), a proof of claim is deemed allowed until a party in interest objects. Debtor has objected to Creditor's proof of claim on the grounds that Claim 10 was filed after the claim bar deadline. The FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 3002(c) exceptions do not apply. Therefore, Claim 10 is deemed unenforceable.

The Court is inclined to GRANT the motion, DISALLOWING Claim 10.

BACKGROUND

On March 9, 2019, Jorge Manuel Azmitia and Yoshiko Azmitia ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. Among the assets of the estate is a 2011 Nissan Murano (the "Property"). CarMax Business Services, LLC ("Creditor") holds a security interest in the Property. On March 12, 2019, Creditor filed a proof of claim in the amount of $17,541.38, identifying $17,541.38 as secured by the Property.

On February 18, 2019, Debtor filed a motion to value the Property. Debtor asserts that the Property should be valued at $10,625.

DISCUSSION

One of the benefits of filing a Chapter 13 bankruptcy is that under § 506(a) the debtor can bifurcate a secured, unavoidable debt, with one part representing the amount of the value of the collateral, and the deficiency being treated as an unsecured claim. See can bifurcate a secured, unavoidable debt, with one part representing the amount of the value of the collateral, and the deficiency being treated as an unsecured claim. See In re Penrod, 636 F.3d 1175, 1177 (9th Cir. 2011).

Presently, the Ninth Circuit has not established a uniform method for valuations. See In re Ayres, 2010 WL 652825 at *5 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. 2010) (collecting cases detailing vehicle valuation and describing the state of the law in the Ninth Circuit). In In re Morales, however, which this Court has previously cited with approval, it was determined that value should be calculated "by adjusting the Kelley Blue Book or N.A.D.A. Guide retail value for a like vehicle by a reasonable amount in light of the evidence presented regarding the condition of the vehicle or any other relevant factors." In re Morales, 387 B.R. 36, 45 (Bankr.C.D.Cal.2008).

According to the court in In re Morales, the retail values are the appropriate starting points because the text of § 506(a)(2) refers to "the price a retail merchant would charge." Morales at 46.

Here, Debtor has provided a N.A.D.A report identifying the clean retail value of the 2013 Ford Escape, and the Court deems the non-opposition to be consent to the relief requested pursuant to Local Rule 9013-1(h).

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to GRANT the motion to the extent of valuing the Property at $11,025, with the remainder treated as general unsecured.

APPEARANCES REQUIRED.

Docket 38

Tentative Ruling:

4/30/2019

Service: Proper
Opposition: Yes.

On February 19, 2019, Anthony Yue Ming Liu ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 11 voluntary petition. On Schedule F, Debtor listed Andrzej Luczynski ("Movant") as the holder of an unsecured claim of $1,380,000 relating to a civil lawsuit.

On March 12, 2019, Movant filed a motion for relief from the automatic stay, seeking to continue pending state court litigation relating to claims for tortious exclusion of joint venturer, breach of fiduciary duty, breach of contract, and wrongful eviction. A state court hearing on Debtor's objections to the tentative decision and proposed judgment had been scheduled for February 20, 2019, but was ultimately postponed due to the instant bankruptcy filing. It appears from the contents of the motion that Movant is only requesting to have the state court enter judgment, thereby liquidating Movant's claim.

On April 2, 2019, Debtor filed his opposition. The crux of Debtor's opposition is that the relief from the automatic stay is unnecessary because Movant's claim has been effectively liquidated. Debtor notes that "[t]he only issue remaining is a determination of any costs and attorney's fees, which Debtor has attempted to review for reasonableness in hopes that the parties could avoid unnecessary litigation and expenses regarding the same." [Dkt. No. 49, pg. 4, lines 10-12]. On April 9, 2019, Movant filed a reply, effectively arguing that Debtor's opposition does not contain a legal basis upon which relief from stay could be denied.

When considering a motion for relief from the automatic stay to pursue a non-bankruptcy action, the Court considers the Curtis factors:

- (1) Whether the relief will result in a partial or complete resolution of the issues;
- (2) the lack of any connection with or interference with the bankruptcy case;
- (3) whether the foreign proceeding involves the debtor as fiduciary; (4) whether a specialized tribunal has been established to hear the particular cause of action and whether that tribunal has the expertise to hear such cases; (5) whether the debtor's insurance carrier has assumed full financial responsibility for defending the litigation; (6) whether the action essentially involves third parties, and the debtor functions only as a bailee or conduit for the good or proceeds in question; (7) whether the litigation in another forum would prejudice the interests of other creditors, the creditor's committee and other interested parties; (8) whether the judgment claim arising from the foreign action is subject to equitable subordination; (9) whether movant's success in the foreign proceeding would result in a judicial lien avoidable by the debtor under Section 522(f); (10) the interests of judicial economy and the expeditious and economical determination of litigation for the parties; (11) whether the foreign proceedings have progressed to the point where the parties are prepared for trial; and (12) the impact of the stay and the "balance of hurt."

In re Roger, 539 B.R. 837, 844-45 (C.D. Cal. 2015). In Roger, the Court further stated:

The Ninth Circuit has recognized that the Curtis factors are appropriate, nonexclusive, factors to consider in deciding whether to grant relief from the automatic stay to allow pending litigation to continue in another forum. While the Curtis factors are widely used to determine the existence of cause, not all of the factors are relevant in every case, nor is a court required to give each factor equal weight. According to the court in Curtis, the most important factor in determining whether to grant relief from the automatic stay to permit litigation against the debtor in another forum is the effect of such litigation on the administration of the estate. Even slight interference with the administration may be enough to preclude relief in the absence of a commensurate benefit. That said, some cases involving the automatic stay provision do not mention the Curtis factors at all.

Here, the Curtis factors weigh in favor of granting relief from the automatic stay. First, the relief requested would result in a complete resolution of the issues. Debtor's argument that relief from stay is not necessary to resolve the issue, because the issue could be resolved through the claim objection process in bankruptcy court, is not persuasive to the Court because it does not directly address the first Curtis factor and because, presumably, the state court is in a better position to assess the reasonableness of the fees and costs incurred in its own proceedings. Likewise, the second factor weighs in favor of the relief requested because the entry of a judgment in state court will not interfere with the administration of the bankruptcy estate. Debtor has not raised a plausible argument contending otherwise. A choice by Debtor to possibly incur attorney fees arguing the amount of Movant's fees and costs incurred in the state court proceeding does not constitute interference with the administration of the bankruptcy estate. Finally, the Court finds that the tenth through twelfth Curtis factors weigh in favor of granting relief from stay, because the state court proceeding progressed to the point where it was ready for trial, and the state court is in a better position to judge the reasonableness of the fees and costs incurred in its own proceeding.

The Court finds that the third through ninth Curtis factors are largely irrelevant in this situation and do not materially affect the Court's analysis. Additionally, the Court is not inclined to find that the instant bankruptcy was filed in bad faith. Movant's only argument made to support a bad faith finding is that the instant case was filed on the eve of the anticipated state court judgment. Noting that Debtor scheduled Movant's claim and does not appear to be attempting to undermine the state court proceeding, the Court cannot conclude that Debtor is acting on bad faith simply because he is attempting to satisfy Movant's claim through a Chapter 11 plan of reorganization.

The Court is inclined to GRANT request for relief pursuant to § 362(d)(1). GRANT waiver of Rule 4001(a) stay. GRANT request under ¶ 2. DENY request for relief under ¶ 7 for lack of cause shown.

As this case has been dismissed, there is no automatic stay, so the Court will DENY relief from the automatic stay pursuant to § 362(d)(1), DENY request under ¶ 2 to enforce remedies to repossess and sell the property, DENY request under ¶3 to potentially enter into workout, modification, forbearance, or other agreement with Debtor, and DENY relief from the § 1301(a) co-debtor stay. However, the Court will GRANT relief from Rule 4001 stay and GRANT relief under § 362(d)(4), meaning that the order, if properly recorded, will be binding in any other case under this title purporting to affect the property, filed not later than 2 years after the date of entry of the order by the Court. DENY request for adequate protection as MOOT.

and $988.60 in expenses. The Court denied this application without prejudice on November 30, 2018 due to lumping and Applicant's request for fees for work done before Debtor had filed their petition. Applicant subsequently moved the Court on December 14, 2018 to amend the October 10, 2017 employment order to retroactively move their date of initial employment to pre-petition. However, this meant that Applicant was stating that Debtor owed them legal fees for work done prior to petition, meaning that Applicant was a creditor of Debtor. On December 19, 2018, the U.S. Trustee ("UST") filed their opposition to Applicant's motion to amend the initial employment order.

In the UST's opposition, they argued that Applicant was ineligible for any compensation, as Applicant had a prepetition claim against Debtor, due to the unpaid prepetition legal fees owed, meaning that Applicant was an interested party in the matter and thus ineligible to serve as an officer of Debtor's estate under 11 U.S.C. § 327(a). In addition, UST also argued that Applicant's employment disclosures were inaccurate, as Applicant had sworn in its disclosures that they were not a creditor of the estate or owed any funds by the estate.

On April 30, 2018, Applicant voluntarily dismissed their motion to modify their employment order and filed their current application for compensation and reimbursement of fees and expenses. The U.S. Trustee has not filed an opposition to the current application and has not renewed their argument that Applicant was ineligible to receive any compensation in the matter. On May 21, 2019, the Court tentatively approved the application in the reduced amount of $75,940 in fees and $562.22 in expenses. However, the Court gave leave to applicant to file a supplement to their application, explaining why the reduced or struck fee requests should be reinstated. They did so on June 4, 2019.

1. Whether Applicant is entitled to compensation in the first place.

The Court has discretion under 11 U.S.C. § 328(c) to independently review, and potentially deny, allowance of compensation for any professional person if, at any time during the professional's employment under § 327, the professional was not a disinterested person, or held an interest adverse to the interest of the estate with the respect to the matter on which they were employed. The Court does agree with the UST that Applicant's $3,829.00 claim against Debtor for legal work performed pre-petition rendered Applicant into an interested person in the matter, with their interest being adverse to the interests of the estate. However, the Court, upon review of the work performed by Applicant, and taking into account the small amount of Applicant's pre-petition claim, the UST's decision not to renew their objection to Applicant's compensation, and Applicant's waiver of the pre-petition fees, finds that Applicant's adverse interest does not rise to the level where denial of compensation is warranted.

2. Whether the compensation request is reasonable.

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(1), the court may award reasonable compensation for actual, necessary services. The court has an independent duty to review the fee application in the absence of objections. See 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(2). The court "will not indulge in extensive labor and guesswork to justify a fee for an attorney who has not done so himself." In re Taylor, 66 B.R. 390 (Bankr. W.D. Pa. 1986).

11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(3) provides factors to be considered in determining the reasonableness of requested compensation. These factors include time spent, rates charged, necessity of the service, reasonableness of the service, expertise of attorney, and comparable market rates.

The Court first begins by noting that Applicant's services for Debtor appear to have been, overall, generally reasonable and necessary. Applicant's work resulted in Debtor's Chapter 11 reorganization plan being confirmed, as well as the striking or reduction of several major claims against Debtor. Applicant's rates were also reasonable, when compared to comparable market rates and the expertise of the attorneys involved. In addition, Debtor has declared their satisfaction with Applicant's services. However, there were several issues with the application as first stated, with some of them having been resolved by the Applicant's supplemental, and some of them remaining.

a. Deficiencies caused by a lack of a proper narrative statement.

The original application's narrative statement of the services rendered during this case, as required by LBR 2016-1(a)(D), was deficient. This resulted in a denial of $8,051 in fees for 27 time entries, totaling 18.4 hours, relating to Ferguson

Supplies, a major vendor for Applicant. However, the Court finds that Applicant has properly explained the source of those fees in their supplemental brief, by explaining why Ferguson was such a critical vendor to Debtor, the difficult nature of the work in bringing Ferguson back to performing on its day to day supplying of Debtor, and the successful resolution of the matter, resulting in Debtor being able to maintain its business. The Court is thereby inclined to now GRANT the $8,051 request in fees originally denied.

b. Excessive time expenditure.

In addition, the Court had found issue with the seemingly excessive time spent on some of the entries, as well as the use of attorneys to perform what appears to be clerical work in others. These entries included:

8/11/2017: $3,825 combined request for nine hours of work, four and a half hours for Frank Alverado and David Lazano each, concerning the amending of multiple schedules, the Debtor's statements of prior cases and financial affairs as well as their summary of assets and liabilities (ECF 48). The Court originally reduced this amount by 33%. However, the Court finds that Applicant's supplemental information has sufficiently explained why this took so long, given the need to review multiple new lawsuits that had to be listed, and the complexity of listing property that had been stolen. The Court is now inclined to GRANT the $3,825 in full.

8/17/2017, 8/18/2017, 8/21/2017, 8/22/2017: Four time entries requesting $1,596 for four hours of work concerning the preparation and filing of Applicant's motion to employ Applicant as a professional, as well as declaration in support thereof (ECF 58). In light of the relatively short and simple nature of the motion and declaration, the Court finds the time spent here excessive, and is inclined to reduce the fees requested by 50% to $798. Applicant has submitted to this reduction.

8/28/2017, 8/29/2017: Two times entries requesting $1,424 for 3.56 hours of work for brief 3-page motion for joint check agreement, simple declaration in support thereof, and notice of hearing (ECF 59-60). The Court originally reduced the fees here by 33% to $940. Upon review of Applicant's supplemental motion, explaining the difficulties in preparing the agreement, given the critical importance of Ferguson supplies to the Debtor and the imbalance in negotiating power between the two companies, the Court is now inclined to GRANT the request for $1,424 in full.

6/8/2018: $440 request for a 2-page draft order approving amended Disclosure Statement and Plan (ECF 139). The Court is inclined to reduce the fees here by 50% to $220 due to the excessive time spent. Applicant has submitted to this reduction.

6/11/2018: $880 request for attorney work preparing ballots and packages for mailing, as well as service of objection bar date (ECF 155). Upon review of the ballots, the work here appears to be of clerical nature, not that which would require the full services of an attorney. The Court is inclined to reduce the fees requested by 50% to $440. Applicant has submitted to this reduction.

6/29/2018: $360 request for preparing filing 2-page proof of service for ballots, order, plan and disclosure statement (ECF 149). In view of the work required, the Court finds the time excessive and is inclined to reduce this request by $260 to $100. Applicant has submitted to this reduction.

7/17/2018: $944 request for completing and filing the summary of completed ballots (ECF 155). In view of the excessive time spent on a simple matter, the Court is inclined to reduce this request by $744 to $200. Applicant has submitted to this reduction.

The Court is now inclined to reduce the fees requested by Applicant by $2,362 for excessive time spent.

c. Severely flawed or non-fully-performed services.

In a time entry dated 6/11/2018, Applicant requests $1,000 for a "supplemental to motion seeking approval of disclosure statement and plan with new dates" which appears to have never been filed with the Court. Instead, Applicant seems to have filed a wholly different motion for an order confirming the plan on July 17, 2018, which has been accounted for in different time entries. The Court is inclined to deny this request for fees. Applicant has submitted to this reduction.

Next, Applicant requests $1,600 for four-time entries dated 10/17/2018, 11/05/2018, 11/27/2018, related to the preparation and filing of their fee applications. In light of the severely flawed nature of Applicant's original fee application, the Court was inclined to deny this request. In the supplemental brief, Applicant requested a 50% reduction in the request, instead of a total denial, given that Applicant had not requested any fees for the subsequent fee application. The Court is still inclined to DENY this request in whole, given the serious problems in not only the original application, but also the first amended application.

The Court remains inclined to reduce the fees requested by Applicant by $2,600 for services that were either severely flawed, or do not appear to have been fully performed.

In total, the Court, in view of the materials submitted before it at this time, is inclined to reduce Applicant's fee request by $4,962 to $85,875.

d. Compensation for expenses

Finally, the Court originally took issue with Applicant's request for compensation of $1,128.12 in expenses, as they had only provided a detailed accounting for $562.22 in expenses. Upon explanation within Applicant's supplemental brief regarding the remaining expenses, and their provided table, the Court is inclined to GRANT the request for expenses of $1,128.12 in its entirety.

3. Conclusion

The Court is now inclined to GRANT Applicant's request for compensation and reimbursement for fees and expenses in the reduced amount of $85,875 in fees, and $1,128.12 in expenses.

Service: Proper
Opposition: Yes.

On February 19, 2019, Anthony Yue Ming Liu ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 11 voluntary petition. On Schedule F, Debtor listed Andrzej Luczynski ("Movant") as the holder of an unsecured claim of $1,380,000 relating to a civil lawsuit.

On March 12, 2019, Movant filed a motion for relief from the automatic stay, seeking to continue pending state court litigation relating to claims for tortious exclusion of joint venturer, breach of fiduciary duty, breach of contract, and wrongful eviction. A state court hearing on Debtor's objections to the tentative decision and proposed judgment had been scheduled for February 20, 2019, but was ultimately postponed due to the instant bankruptcy filing. It appears from the contents of the motion that Movant is only requesting to have the state court enter judgment, thereby liquidating Movant's claim.

On April 2, 2019, Debtor filed his opposition. The crux of Debtor's opposition is that the relief from the automatic stay is unnecessary because Movant's claim has been effectively liquidated. Debtor notes that "[t]he only issue remaining is a determination of any costs and attorney's fees, which Debtor has attempted to review for reasonableness in hopes that the parties could avoid unnecessary litigation and expenses regarding the same." [Dkt. No. 49, pg. 4, lines 10-12]. On April 9, 2019, Movant filed a reply, effectively arguing that Debtor's opposition does not contain a legal basis upon which relief from stay could be denied.

When considering a motion for relief from the automatic stay to pursue a non-bankruptcy action, the Court considers the Curtis factors:

- (1) Whether the relief will result in a partial or complete resolution of the issues;
- (2) the lack of any connection with or interference with the bankruptcy case;
- (3) whether the foreign proceeding involves the debtor as fiduciary; (4) whether a specialized tribunal has been established to hear the particular cause of action and whether that tribunal has the expertise to hear such cases; (5) whether the debtor's insurance carrier has assumed full financial responsibility for defending the litigation; (6) whether the action essentially involves third parties, and the debtor functions only as a bailee or conduit for the good or proceeds in question; (7) whether the litigation in another forum would prejudice the interests of other creditors, the creditor's committee and other interested parties; (8) whether the judgment claim arising from the foreign action is subject to equitable subordination; (9) whether movant's success in the foreign proceeding would result in a judicial lien avoidable by the debtor under Section 522(f); (10) the interests of judicial economy and the expeditious and economical determination of litigation for the parties; (11) whether the foreign proceedings have progressed to the point where the parties are prepared for trial; and (12) the impact of the stay and the "balance of hurt."

In re Roger, 539 B.R. 837, 844-45 (C.D. Cal. 2015). In Roger, the Court further stated:

The Ninth Circuit has recognized that the Curtis factors are appropriate, nonexclusive, factors to consider in deciding whether to grant relief from the automatic stay to allow pending litigation to continue in another forum. While the Curtis factors are widely used to determine the existence of cause, not all of the factors are relevant in every case, nor is a court required to give each factor equal weight. According to the court in Curtis, the most important factor in determining whether to grant relief from the automatic stay to permit litigation against the debtor in another forum is the effect of such litigation on the administration of the estate. Even slight interference with the administration may be enough to preclude relief in the absence of a commensurate benefit. That said, some cases involving the automatic stay provision do not mention the Curtis factors at all.

Here, the Curtis factors weigh in favor of granting relief from the automatic stay. First, the relief requested would result in a complete resolution of the issues. Debtor's argument that relief from stay is not necessary to resolve the issue, because the issue could be resolved through the claim objection process in bankruptcy court, is not persuasive to the Court because it does not directly address the first Curtis factor and because, presumably, the state court is in a better position to assess the reasonableness of the fees and costs incurred in its own proceedings. Likewise, the second factor weighs in favor of the relief requested because the entry of a judgment in state court will not interfere with the administration of the bankruptcy estate. Debtor has not raised a plausible argument contending otherwise. A choice by Debtor to possibly incur attorney fees arguing the amount of Movant's fees and costs incurred in the state court proceeding does not constitute interference with the administration of the bankruptcy estate. Finally, the Court finds that the tenth through twelfth Curtis factors weigh in favor of granting relief from stay, because the state court proceeding progressed to the point where it was ready for trial, and the state court is in a better position to judge the reasonableness of the fees and costs incurred in its own proceeding.

The Court finds that the third through ninth Curtis factors are largely irrelevant in this situation and do not materially affect the Court's analysis. Additionally, the Court is not inclined to find that the instant bankruptcy was filed in bad faith. Movant's only argument made to support a bad faith finding is that the instant case was filed on the eve of the anticipated state court judgment. Noting that Debtor scheduled Movant's claim and does not appear to be attempting to undermine the state court proceeding, the Court cannot conclude that Debtor is acting on bad faith simply because he is attempting to satisfy Movant's claim through a Chapter 11 plan of reorganization.

The Court is inclined to GRANT request for relief pursuant to § 362(d)(1). GRANT waiver of Rule 4001(a) stay. GRANT request under ¶ 2. DENY request for relief under ¶ 7 for lack of cause shown.

1. Background

On December 30, 2010, Brian & Delia Gudets ("Debtors") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On April 20, 2011, Debtors received a discharge. On October 6, 2011, the case was closed.

On November 27, 2017, UST filed a motion to reopen the case to potentially administer a settlement award arising from prepetition litigation. On January 4, 2018, Debtors amended Schedules B and C to schedule a personal injury claim in the amount of $50,000, and claim an exemption in the property of $50,000. The Court notes that this amendment may have been in violation of FED. R. BANKR. P. Rules 1009(a) and 9006(b)(1), however, the Trustee declined to object to the amended exemptions. On February 13, 2018, the IRS filed a proof of claim ("Claim 4") in the amount of $92,398.37, identifying $34,307.73 as secured and $57,990.64 as entitled to priority.

On April 9, 2018, Trustee filed a motion to approve compromise, which was approved by this Court on May 3, 2018. After receiving, $50,000 from the approved settlement, Trustee's general and special counsel filed applications for compensation.

Trustee filed the instant final report on December 11, 2018. The final report proposes to pay $41,488.74 to Trustee and his counsels for administrative expenses, and to pay the remaining $6,011.26 on account of Claim 4.

The Court held a hearing on the matter on January 16, 2019, and continued the matter for Trustee to file a supplemental brief. On March 5, 2019, Trustee filed a supplemental brief, and then amended the brief on March 20, 2019.

2. The Court's Previous Tentative Ruling

The Court's previous tentative included the following:

In essence, Trustee's proposed distribution pays the Chapter 7 administrative expenses first, the priority tax claim of the IRS second, and the Debtor's exemption third (although there are no funds available at this point). After reviewing the compromise motion, it appears that the Trustee's rationale is as follows. First, pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 522(c)(2)(B), exempt property of the Debtor is liable for Claim 4. Second, pursuant to § 724(b), payments made on behalf of IRS are only to be made after payment of the administrative expenses of the estate. Trustee appears to miss, however, § 522(k), which provides that exempt property cannot be used to pay administrative expenses, except under limited circumstances which are not applicable here. This provision would seem to preclude Trustee's attempt to jump ahead of Debtor's exemption in the order of distribution.

At first glance, the three cited provisions above would seem paradoxical. According to Trustee, 11 U.S.C. § 522(c)(2)(B) places Claim 4 above Debtor's exemption. According to Trustee, 11 U.S.C. § 724(b) appears clear that payment on behalf of Claim 4 is subordinated to payment of administrative expenses. And 11 U.S.C. § 522(k) appears clear that payment of administrative expenses is subordinated to payment of Debtor's exemption.

Chapter 7

The Court's resolution of this paradox is the following. 11 U.S.C. § 724(b) is only applicable to "[p]roperty in which the estate has an interest." Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 522(b)(1), the settlement proceeds at issue are subject to an exemption and therefore have been "exempt[ed] from property of the estate." See also Schwab v. Reilly, 560 U.S. 770, 775 (2010) ("If an interested party fails to object within the time allowed, a claimed exemption will exclude the subject property from the estate."). Therefore, the estate does not have an interest in the settlement proceeds and § 724(b) is inapplicable. Because § 724(b) is inapplicable, the remaining provisions place Claim 4 ahead of the exemption and the exemption ahead of the administrative expenses. As a result, Trustee's is precluded from jumping Claim 4 and Debtor's exemption in the order of distribution. Therefore, the proper distribution appears to be to pay the secured portion of Claim 4, and to return the balance to the Debtor on account of Debtor's exemption in the proceeds.

3. Applicable Statutes

11 U.S.C. § 724(b)(1)-(3) state the following:

(b) Property in which the estate has an interest and that is subject to a lien that is not avoidable under this title (other than to the extent that there is a properly perfected unavoidable tax lien arising in connection with an ad valorem tax on real or personal property of the estate) and that secures an allowed claim for a tax, or proceeds of such property, shall be distributed –

- (1) first, to any holder of an allowed claim secured by a lien on such property that is not avoidable under this title and that is senior to such tax lien
- (2) second, to any holder of a claim of a kind specified in section 507(a)(1)(C) or 507(a)(2) (except that such expenses under each such section, other than claims for wages, salaries, or commissions that arise after the date of the filing of the petition, shall be limited to expenses incurred under this chapter and shall not include expenses, incurred under chapter 11 of this title), 507(a)(1)(A), 507(a)(1)(B), 507(a)(3), 507(a)(4), 507(a)(5), 507(a)(6), or 507(a)(7) of this title, to the extent of the amount of such allowed tax claim that is secured by such tax lien;
- (3) third, to the holder of such tax lien, to any extent that such holder's allowed tax claim that is secured by such tax lien exceeds any amount distributed under paragraph (2) of this subsection.

11 U.S.C. § 522(c)(2)(B) states the following:

(c) Unless the case is dismissed, property exempted under this section is not liable during or after the case for any debt of the debtor that arose, or that is determined under section 502 of this title as if such debt had arisen, before the commencement of the case, except –

(2) a debt secured by a lien that is –

(B) a tax lien, notice of which is properly filed

11 U.S.C. § 522(k) states the following: "Property that the debtor exempts under this section is not liable for payment of any administrative expense except . . ." (exceptions inapplicable to instant situation).

4. Analysis

In support of its proposed distribution scheme, Trustee extensively cites three cases: (1) In re Fearing, 2008 WL 4690967 (C.D. Cal. 2008); (2) In re Laredo, 334 B.R. 401 (Bankr. N.D. Ill. 2005); and (3) In re Bolden, 327 B.R. 657 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2005).

The Court does not find In re Fearing to be helpful. The district court's affirmance was summary, and the bankruptcy court opinion was not published. Furthermore, to the extent In re Fearing engaged in any analysis, it appears to have simply adopted the rationale of the other two cases referenced above.

Additionally, the Court does not find In re Laredo to be particularly helpful. First, the Court notes that In re Laredo does not appear to make an effort to resolve the apparent conflict between the three statutes cited above; 11 U.S.C. § 522(k) is not cited anywhere in the decision. Second, the Court notes that the extensive excerpt quoted in Trustee's supplemental brief has been rejected by the majority of the courts that have quoted that section.

The Court does, however, find In re Bolden to contain helpful analysis. Specifically, the following statement from the bankruptcy court in In re Bolden has the potential to resolve the conflict between the three, ostensibly incompatible statutory provisions:

Chapter 7

"Generally, a debtor is not entitled to claim a homestead exemption on property that is subject to an IRS levy." In re Bolden, 327 B.R. 657, 663 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2005). In other words, if Debtors' exemption is not valid to the extent the underlying property is encumbered by an IRS lien, then the prohibition of § 522(k) does not apply to the extent of the IRS lien. See also GINSBERG & MARTIN ON BANKRUPTCY § 6.02[D][2] (5th ed. 2019) ("Section 522(c)(2)(B) gives special protection to taxes by providing that the debtor cannot claim an exemption in property subject to a properly filed tax lien."). Here, the Court concludes that Debtors are unable to claim an exemption in the settlement proceeds to the extent of the properly noticed tax lien. See, e.g., Owen v. Owen, 500 U.S. 305, 308-09 (1991); see also In re Hannon, 514 B.R. 69 (Bankr. D. Mass. 2014).

To the extent that there are proceeds available above and beyond the amount of the tax lien, however, Debtors' exemption is valid and those funds cannot be used to pay administrative costs due to the unambiguous prohibition included within § 522(k). See In re Selander, 592 B.R. 729, 735 (Bankr. W.D. Wash. 2018) ("In the absence of the IRS lien, the Trustee's request would amount to the naked use of exempt funds to pay costs of the sale and his fees – a result prohibited by § 522(k)."). Of particular note is the fact that all of the cases relied upon by Trustee pre-date Law v. Siegel, 571 U.S. 415, 422 (2014). Prior to Law v. Siegel, courts not infrequently used various equitable powers to essentially surcharge a debtor's exemption to pay administrative costs. See, e.g., 4 COLLIER'S ON BANKRUPTCY ¶ 522.12[7] (16th ed. 2014) ("Despite the protection provided for exemptions in section 522(k), a number of courts had held that a debtor's exempt property could be surcharged for administrative expenses in circumstances beyond those provided for in the statute."). Now, however, the Court is left with no discretion over the application of § 522(k) to the extent Debtors have an allowed exemption in equity in the proceeds. Trustee having failed to object to Debtors' claimed exemption, Debtors' exemption is valid to the extent that there is equity in the proceeds.

The Court notes that on March 19, 2019, the IRS amended Claim 4 to reduce its claim to $4,255.91. Therefore, Debtors' exemption applies to the remaining $45,744.09, and Trustee can use the framework of 11 U.S.C. §724(b) to distribute the remaining $4,255.91 for administrative costs.

Chapter 7

Trustee next argues that the state court counsel has an equitable attorney lien on the settlement proceeds. The Court rejects this argument for the following reason. Any attorney lien created in this case would have been created postpetition because the underlying state court litigation was not commenced until twenty-one months after the petition date. 11 U.S.C. § 541 (a)(1) provides that property of the estate includes all "legal or equitable interests of the debtor in property as of the commencement of the case." (emphasis added). Because the alleged attorney lien did not exist as of the commencement of the case, it would not have impaired Debtors' interest in the litigation claim (or its proceeds pursuant to § 541(a)(6)), and therefore, subject to other liens, Debtors' exemption is valid against the entirety of the proceeds. Because Debtors' exemption is valid in bankruptcy including as to any interest that state court counsel now has a lien against, those proceeds cannot be used to pay the administrative expenses.

The Court need not reach the issue of whether state court counsel has a valid, postpetition lien against the proceeds which may be enforceable pursuant to state law. For the reasons stated in the above paragraph, satisfaction of the postpetition lien, if valid, cannot occur through distribution in bankruptcy court.

The Court is inclined to APPROVE the following distribution: $45,744.09 to Debtors on account of their valid exemption, and the remaining $4,255.91 for administrative costs. Parties to file a supplement or stipulate as to the distribution of funds available for administrative costs.

BACKGROUND

On November 23, 2015, James Walker ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. Debtor previously have five Chapter 7 filings between November 2010 and July 2013, all of which were ultimately dismissed. The procedural background of this case is somewhat complex; the following is a list of the substantive orders entered in this case:

-May 26, 2016: Orders: (1) extending deadline to file a complaint objecting to discharge; (2) directing turnover of Debtor's books and records; and (3) approving the employment of Trustee's counsel.

-September 7, 2016: Judgment denying discharge

- October 2, 2018: Order granting motion for turnover of certain real property located at 13247 Mammoth St., Hesperia, CA 92344 (the "Property")
- January 24, 2019: OSC why Debtor should not be held in contempt for failure to comply with turnover motion
- March 28, 2019: Interim order awarding Trustee's counsel $36,387.69.

On June 5, 2019, Trustee filed a motion for an order: (1) approving the sale of real property of the estate; (2) approving overbid procedures; (3) approving payment of broker's commissions; (4) finding purchaser is a good faith purchaser; and (5) waiver of the Rule 6004(h) stay. Trustee proposes to sell the Property to Paul & Sharon Sepulveda (the "Purchasers") for $310,000. Because the only filed claims in this case have either been withdrawn, amended to $0, or disallowed by order of the Court, the proceeds of this sale would go to pay administrative expenses, with any remaining surplus payable to the Debtor.

DISCUSSION

I. Sale of Estate Property

11 U.S.C. § 363(b)(1) allows a trustee to sell property of the estate outside of the ordinary course, after notice and a hearing. A sale pursuant to § 363(b) requires a demonstration that the sale has a valid business justification. In re 240 North Brand Partners, Ltd., 200 B.R. 653, 659 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1996). "In approving any sale outside the ordinary course of business, the court must not only articulate a sufficient business reason for the sale, it must further find it is in the best interest of the estate, i.e. it is fair and reasonable, that it has been given adequate marketing, that it has been negotiated and proposed in good faith, that the purchaser is proceeding in good faith, and that it is an "arms-length" transaction." In re Wilde Horse Enters., Inc., 136 B.R. 830, 841 (Bankr. C.D. Cal.).

The motion contains some evidence of the Property's marketing. Given the fact that the sale appears to be a good faith, arms-length transaction, and the fact that it appears that the sale will result in a surplus estate, the Court concludes that Trustee has articulated an adequate business reason for the sale.

II. 14-Day Stay

FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 6004(h) states: "An order authorizing the use, sale, or lease of property other than cash collateral is stayed until the expiration of 14 days after entry of the order, unless the court orders otherwise." The Court deems the absence of objections to be consent to the relief requested, pursuant to Local Rule 9013-(1)(h), and, therefore, will waive the stay of Rule 6004(h).

III. Miscellaneous Provisions

The Court has reviewed the remainder of Trustee's miscellaneous requests. Regarding the overbidding procedures, the Court has reviewed the proposed overbidding procedures and finds such procedures to be reasonable.

Regarding the broker's compensation, the motion appears to be silent regarding the specific amount of the broker's compensation. The Court notes, however, that the declaration of Trustee caps the real estate broker's commission at 6%, a reasonable and customary amount.

Chapter 7

Regarding Trustee's request for a good faith determination pursuant to § 363(m), the Court notes that Trustee has not provided a declaration of the Purchasers. While Trustee's declaration does contain some evidence to support a good faith finding under § 363(m), the Court will also require a declaration of Purchasers.

Finally, the Court notes that while the prayer for relief states that Trustee requests an order "[a]uthorizing the distribution of proceeds from the propose sale as set forth herein," the motion does not appear to outline the distribution of proceeds. Assuming that the proceeds will be used to satisfy administrative expenses, then paid to Debtor, this omission does not appear problematic.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to GRANT the motion in its entirety conditioned on: (a) a clear identification of the amount of the broker's commission; (b) the submission of a declaration or other evidence by Purchasers to support a good faith finding under § 363(m); and (c) a proposed distribution of proceeds.

#9.00 Chapter 7 Trustees Motion for Order Authorizing Trustees Compromise and Settlement Pursuant to Rule 9019 of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure

EH__

Docket 29

Tentative Ruling:

6/26/19

BACKGROUND

On October 3, 2017, Eastern Legends CW ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On November 19, 2018, Trustee filed an adversary complaint against Via Cerro Partners, LP ("Defendant") for avoidance of preferential transfer/fraudulent conveyance, turnover of property of the estate, and recovery of avoided transfers (the "Adversary"). The Adversary is based on a payment of $50,526.56 from Debtor to Defendant less than six months prior to the petition date.

On April 19, 2019, Trustee filed a compromise motion seeking to settle the Adversary (the "Motion"). On May 21, 2019, the Court set the Motion for hearing, requiring service of a notice of hearing and the Motion on all parties by June 5, 2019. The Court notes that Trustee did not comply with this requirement – no new service of the Motion was filed, and the notice of hearing was not served until June 13, 2019. The notice of hearing also identifies an objection deadline of June 12, 2019 – before the notice was served.

On June 10, 2019, a creditor, JWLC Imports Inc., filed a limited opposition to the Motion, although the opposition does not appear to oppose the Motion on the merits.

Chapter 7

The background of the Motion is as follows. Unbeknownst to Trustee, Debtor entered into a lease with Defendant on May 15, 2017, and made a $50,526.56 payment to Defendant for 1.5 months rent. After learning of this lease, Trustee reached an agreement with Defendant, the material terms of which are as follows:

- 1) Defendant shall be entitled to an administrative rent claim of $25,000, representing two monthly payments of $12,500.
- 2) Trustee will have until May 30 to identify and collect any property of the estate located at the leased premises.
- 3) Trustee is to dismiss, with prejudice, the subject adversary proceeding.

DISCUSSION

FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 9019 provides that:

On motion by the trustee and after notice and a hearing, the court may approve a compromise or settlement. Notice shall be given to creditors, the United States trustee, the debtor, and indenture trustees as provided in Rule 2002 and to any other entity as the court may direct.

The Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals have previously outlined the factors to be considered in approving a compromise pursuant to Rule 9019: (1) the probability of success in the litigation; (2) the difficulties to be encountered in the matter of collection; (3) the complexity, expense, inconvenience and delay of litigation; and (4) the interest of creditors with deference to their reasonable views. See In re A&C Props., 784 F.2d 1377, 1381 (9th Cir. 1986). The listed factors assist the Court in determining "the fairness, reasonableness and adequacy of a proposed settlement

Chapter 7

Apart from the fact that Trustee has not complied with the notice and service requirements of this Court's order entered May 21, 2019, the Motion contains no meaningful evidence which would allow the Court to apply the A&C Properties factors. Furthermore, given the amount of time that has passed since the Motion was filed, the Court will require an update on relevant developments since the filing of the Motion.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to CONTINUE the matter for supplemental evidence and proper notice and service.

#11.00 Motion for extension of time to file a complaint objecting to discharge

EH__

Docket 36

Tentative Ruling:

6/26/19

BACKGROUND

On August 31, 2018, James Michael Gorman ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On February 1, 2019, the Court granted UST's motion to extend dismissal and discharge deadlines until February 28, 2019. On May 1, 2019, the Court granted UST's motion to extend dismissal and discharge deadlines until May 31, 2019. On May 23, 2019, the Court granted Trustee's motion for an order compelling Debtor to produce documents and appear for an examination.

On May 31, 2019, UST filed a third motion for extension of time to file a complaint objecting to discharge because Debtor has not yet fully complied with Trustee's requests for information.

DISCUSSION

FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 4004(a) states:

- (1) In a chapter 7 case, a complaint, or a motion under § 727(a)(8) or (9) of the Code, objecting to the debtor's discharge shall be filed no later than 60 days after the first date set for the meeting of creditors under § 341(a). In a chapter 11 case, the complaint shall be filed no later than the first date set for the hearing on confirmation. In a chapter 13 case, a motion objecting to the debtor's discharge under § 1328(f) shall be filed no later than 60 days after the first date set for the meeting of creditors under § 341(a). At least 28 days' notice of the time so fixed shall be given to the United States trustee and all creditors as provided in Rule 2002(f) and (k) and to the trustee and the trustee's attorney.

And FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 4004(b) states:

- (1) On motion of any party in interest, after notice and hearing, the court may for cause extend the time to object to discharge. Except as provided in subdivision (b)(2), the motion shall be filed before the time has expired.
- (2) A motion to extent the time to object to discharge may be filed after the time for objection has expired and before discharge is granted if (A) the objection is based on facts that, if learned after the discharge, would provide a basis for revocation under § 727(d) of the Code, and (B) the movant did not have knowledge of those facts in time to permit an objection. The motion shall be filed promptly after the movant discovers the facts on which the objection is based.

Here, Debtor's delay in providing the requested information constitutes sufficient cause to extend the deadline. See COLLIER ON BANKRUPTCY ¶ 4004.03[2] (16th ed. 2013) ("A debtor's delays in responding to discovery may be sufficient cause. Obviously, a delay in the meeting of creditors to a date close to or after the deadline may constitute such cause.") (citing In re McCormack, 244 B.R. 203 (Bankr. D. Conn. 2000)).

Moreover, Debtor's failure to oppose may be deemed consent to the relief requested pursuant to Local Rule 9013-1(h).

#12.00 Debtor's Motion to Avoid Lien with Portfolio Recovery Associates, LLC

EH ____

Docket 18

Tentative Ruling:

6/26/2019

On January 15, 2019, Adam Charles Welker and La Nina Marie Ann Welker ("Debtors") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. Among the assets listed on Schedules A/B was certain real property located at 290 Moroni Ave, Lake Elsinore, CA 92530 (the "Property"), which Debtor values at $258,000.00. On Schedule C, Debtor claimed an exemption in the Property in the amount of $100,000.00. On Schedule D, Debtor lists three liens against the property: (a) two mortgages, both held by Freedom Mortgage, totaling $191,297; and (b) a judgment lien totaling $3,517.31, held by Portfolio Recovery Associates.

On April 23, 2019, Debtors filed a motion to avoid the judicial lien of Portfolio Recovery Associates ("Creditors"). On May 22, 2019, the Court entered an order, setting the matter for hearing and requiring supplemental evidence regarding the amount of the senior mortgages, as well as evidence of their recordation. On May 31, 2019, Debtors filed their supplemental evidence.

The Court, having reviewed the motion and the supplemental evidence, and noting the lack of opposition, is inclined to GRANT the motion, avoiding the judicial lien of Portfolio Recovery Associates.

BACKGROUND

On September 11, 2017, Ryan & Jennifer McHugh ("Debtors") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. On November 9, 2017, Debtors' Chapter 13 plan was confirmed. The plan has subsequently been modified twice.

On April 7, 2019, Debtors filed a motion for turnover, requesting turnover from Wexler Wallace LLP of certain funds received from a confidential personal injury settlement.

DISCUSSION

The Court notes that service appears improper for several reasons. First, it does not appear that Wexler Wallace LLP has been served with the instant motion at all. Second, a motion for turnover is, at the least, a contested matter under FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 9014 and, therefore, the Rule 7004 service requirements apply. Finally, Rule

Chapter 13

#3.00 Motion For Sanctions/Disgorgement

CASE DISMISSED 3/14/19

EH__

Docket 35

Tentative Ruling:

BACKGROUND

Debtor Alfredo Adriano ("Debtor") filed his voluntary pro se Ch. 13 petition on December 27, 2018. His case was dismissed at the confirmation hearing on March 14, 2019, after he failed to appear at the § 341 creditors' meeting, and a 180 refiling bar was set. Alan Darvish ("Darvish") attempted to substitute as Debtor's attorney and reopen Debtor's case on May 7, 2019, which was denied. Christopher Langley motioned the Court to substitute as Debtor's attorney and vacate the 180-day bar against refiling on May 17, 2019, which was granted. The Court entered an order confirming the dismissal of Debtor's case, but vacating the 180-day refiling bar, on June 13, 2019.

The Chapter 13 Trustee Rod Danielson ("Trustee") filed this motion for disgorgement of fees received by Darvish on May 20, 2019. Trustee alleges, based on Debtor's declaration, that Debtor paid Darvish $900 on December 26, 2019, for representation in his bankruptcy matter. The documents in Debtor's case were prepared by Darvish, but filed pro se by Debtor to hide Darvish's involvement in the matter. Darvish also allegedly advised Debtor not to attend the § 341 creditor's meeting and confirmation hearing, which is what resulted in the dismissal of Debtor's case. Trustee seeks a total disgorgement of the $900 received by Darvish from Debtor.

DISCUSSION

Local Bankruptcy Rule 3015-1(u)(1) states that an attorney retained to represent a Debtor in a Chapter 13 case is responsible for representing the debtor in all matters arising in the case, besides adversary proceedings. LBR 1001-1(f) states that failure to follow the local bankruptcy rules may be grounds for sanctions pursuant to applicable law, including the inherent powers of the Court under 11 U.S.C. § 105. Darvish's receipt of $900 as a retainer to represent Debtor, and his utter failure to actually represent Debtor in his Chapter 13 case, is a clear violation of LBR 3015-1(u)(1), as well as his ethical duties as an attorney. In addition, Darvish has repeatedly engaged in this course of conduct, resulting in harm to a multitude of debtors who paid him for representation. In light of this, the Court finds that total disgorgement of the $900 that Darvish received from Debtor is justified under LBR 1001-1(f), and the Court's inherent power under 11 U.S.C. § 105(a) to issue any order necessary and appropriate to carrying out the provisions of the bankruptcy code.

#9.00 Debtor's Motion for Order Disallowing Claim # 2-1 filed by LVNV Funding, LLC

EH ____

Docket 25

Tentative Ruling:

6/27/2019 (NO OPPOSITION).

BACKGROUND:

On February 28, 2019, Jerome Williams ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. On June 13, 2019, Debtor's Chapter 13 plan was confirmed.

On March 12, 2019, LVNV Funding LLC ("Creditor") filed a claim ("Claim 2-1") for $2,101.26 for what appears to be credit card debt originally held by Credit One Bank. The Debt has a last payment date of February 13, 2018, and a charge off date of June 29, 2008.

Debtor filed this claim objection on May 24, 2019, seeking total disallowance.

APPLICABLE LAW:

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 502(a), a proof of claim is deemed allowed unless a party in interest objects. Absent an objection, a proof of claim constitutes prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claim under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure ("FRBP") 3001(f). See Lundell v. Anchor Constr. Specialists, Inc., 223 F.3d 1035, 1039 (9th Cir. 2000). When a party files an objection to a proof of claim, that filing "creates a dispute which is a contested matter" within the meaning of FRBP 9014 and the Court must resolve the matter after notice and opportunity for hearing upon a motion for relief. Id.

When a creditor has filed a proof of claim that complies with the rules (thereby giving rise to the presumption of validity), the burden shifts to the objecting party who must "present evidence to overcome the prima facie case." In re Medina, 205 B.R. 216, 222 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1996). To defeat the claim, the objecting party must provide sufficient evidence and "show facts tending to defeat the claim by probative force equal to that of the allegations of the proofs of claim themselves." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039 (quoting In re Holm, 931 F.2d 620, 623 (9th Cir. 1991)). "The objector must produce evidence, which, if believed, would refute at least one of the allegations that is essential to the claim's legal sufficiency." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1040 (quoting In re Allegheny Int'l, Inc., 954 F.2d 167, 173-74 (3d Cir. 1992)). If the objecting party produces sufficient evidence to negate one or more of the sworn facts in the proof of claim, the burden reverts back to the claimant to prove the validity of the claim by a preponderance of the evidence. See In re Consol. Pioneer Mort, 178 B.R. 222, 226 (9th Cir. BAP 1995), aff'd, 91 F.3d 151 (9th Cir. 1996) (quoting Allegheny Int'l, 954 F.2d at 173-74). The ultimate burden of persuasion remains at all times on the claimant. See Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039; see also Holm, 931 F.2d at 623.

ANALYSIS:

The Court will treat Creditor's failure to oppose to be consent to the relief requested pursuant to Local Rule 9013-(1)(h).

11 U.S.C. § 502(b)(1) (2005) states:

(b) Except as provided in subsections (e)(2), (f), (g), (h) and (i) of this section, if such objection to a claim is made, the court, after notice and a hearing, shall determine the amount of such claim in lawful currency of the United States as of the date of the filing of the petition, and shall allow such claim in such amount, except to the extent that—

(1) such claim is unenforceable against the debtor and property of the debtor, under any agreement or applicable law for a reason other than because such claim is contingent or unmatured;

CAL. CODE CIV. P. § 337 (2016) provides a statute of limitations of four years for debts founded on written contracts, book accounts, accounts stated based upon account in writing, "balance of mutual, open and current account in writing," and rescission of written contract. Once the statute of limitations has passed, the claim is unenforceable. See e.g., Guaranty Trust Co. v. United States, 304 U.S. 126 (1938).

Chapter 13

Claim 2-1 is based on debts created by a written contract. This appears to fit within the category established by CAL. CODE CIV. P. § 337. Therefore, the statute of limitations is four years. Creditor's proof of claim shows that the last transaction on the debt was on February 13, 2008, and the charge off date was June 29, 2008. This means that the statute of limitations on the debt ran in 2012. As such, claim 2-1 is barred by California statute and unenforceable. The Court is thus inclined to disallow it in its entirety.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to GRANT the motion, DISALLOWING Claim 2-1 in its entirety.

6/27/2019

NO OPPOSITION

BACKGROUND

Steven and Alejandra Pierce ("Debtors") filed their voluntary Ch. 13 petition on April 5, 2019. Creditor LBS Financial Credit Union ("Creditor") filed a claim on April 15, 2019, for $32,130.99, secured by Debtors' 2016 Jeep Grand Cherokee Limited Edition (the "Property"). Creditor claims a secured amount of $26,511 and an unsecured amount of $5,619.99.

Debtor filed this motion to value the Property on April 15, 2019. Debtors assert that the Property should be valued at $21,775.00 and have provided a NADAguides value report giving a rough trade-in valuation of the Property at $21,775.00. The valuation would create a secured portion of $21,775 and an unsecured portion of $10,335.99.

DISCUSSION

One of the benefits of filing a Chapter 13 bankruptcy is that under § 506(a) the debtor can bifurcate a secured, unavoidable debt, with one part representing the amount of the value of the collateral, and the deficiency being treated as an unsecured claim. See In re Penrod, 636 F.3d 1175, 1177 (9th Cir. 2011). In re Penrod concerned itself with an identical fact pattern to the one presented here, with the debtor there seeking to bifurcate the "negative equity" created by trading in a vehicle on which she stilled owed significant funds, just as Debtor here is seeking to do. Id. at 1160. However, there is still the question of valuation.

Presently the Ninth Circuit has not established a uniform method for valuations. See In re Ayres, 2010 WL 652825 at *5 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. 2010) (collecting cases detailing vehicle valuation and describing the state of the law in the Ninth Circuit). In In re Morales, however, which this Court has previously cited with approval, it was determined that value should be calculated "by adjusting the Kelley Blue Book or N.A.D.A. Guide retail value for a like vehicle by a reasonable amount in light of the evidence presented regarding the condition of the vehicle or any other relevant factors." In re Morales, 387 B.R. 36, 45 (Bankr.C.D.Cal.2008).

According to the court in In re Morales, the retail values, and not the private party values, are the appropriate starting points because the text of § 506(a)(2) refers to "the price a retail merchant would charge" and does not refer to the price a private party would charge. Morales at 46.

Here, Debtor is requesting the lowest possible trade-in valuation provided by NADAguides. The Court is disinclined to accept this valuation. As noted in the NADAguides report, the trade-in value for a vehicle is different, and lower, than the retail value, even for vehicles in the same condition. The clean retail value set by the NADAguides report is $26,900, which is more than the secured amount claimed by Creditor. As such, the Court finds that Debtor has failed to submit proper evidence to support their proposed valuation, or any valuation below the secured amount currently claimed by Creditor.

TENTATIVE RULING

6/27/2019

SERVICE: PROPER

OPPOSITION: NONE

The Court is inclined to DENY Debtor's motion to value their 2016 Jeep Grand Cherokee at $21,775.

Chapter 13

#38.00 Motion by United States Trustee to Dismiss Chapter 13 Case With A Re-filing Bar

EH__

Docket 11

Tentative Ruling:

NO OPPOSITION

BACKGROUND:

Tracy Franco ("Debtor") filed her voluntary Chapter 13 petition on April 23, 2019. Debtor's petition lacked most of the required documents, which were not filed by May 7, 2019 as required.

Debtor has had four prior cases since 2015, with two in 2015 and two in 2017. All but one of the cases were dismissed at the plan confirmation hearing, due to incomplete filings, failure to make plan payments, and for other reasons. One case from 2015 resulted in a confirmed plan, but was dismissed within three months for an almost immediate failure to make plan payments.

The U.S. Trustee filed their motion to dismiss this case for abuse, and request for imposition of a one-year refiling bar, on May 10, 2019.

ANALYSIS:

Debtor's failure to oppose this motion will be read as consent under Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(h).

Bankruptcy courts may dismiss Chapter 13 cases under § 1307(c) for bad faith or abuse. In re Wenegieme, 2018 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 19605 at *7-8 (S.D.N.Y. 2018). The continual failure of Debtor to properly prosecute her four prior cases, as well as the current one before the Court, is sufficient evidence of such. Even if bad faith was not found, the case would still be dismissed under § 1307(c)(9) for failure to file the required information under § 521(a). As such, the Court is inclined to dismiss Debtor's Chapter 13 case.

The Court has the power to impose a bar against refiling cases under the bankruptcy code under § 349(a) and its inherent authority under § 105 of the Bankruptcy Code. Id. at *10-11. This can be done for cause, such as to prevent a bad-faith serial filer from refiling, or when the court needs to curtail other abuses. Id. The Court is inclined to find such cause in this matter. Debtor will now likely have had five cases dismissed, with only a single Chapter 13 plan confirmed, due to her continual failure to perform the most basic requirements of a Chapter 13 petitioner. Even the one case which resulted in a confirmed plan only lasted for three months after confirmation due to Debtor's failure to make plan payments within a month of the plan's commencement. The Court finds that this is evidence of bad faith on her part, which warrants a one-year refiling bar to prevent further abuse of the bankruptcy system and waste of judicial resources.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to GRANT the U.S. Trustee's motion for dismissal of Debtor's Chapter 13 case with prejudice. GRANT request for a one-year bar against refiling by Debtor.

Debtors had a previous case dismissed for failure to file information on February 21, 2019. Pursuant to the operation of 11 U.S.C. § 362(c)(3)(A), the automatic stay in this case terminated on May 7, 2019. Debtors sought a continuance of the automatic stay, but the Court denied the motion on May 7, 2019. Therefore, there is no automatic stay in the instant case, and the Court is inclined to DENY the motion as moot.

Joint Debtor had a previous case dismissed for failure to file information on March 1, 2019. Therefore, pursuant to the operation of 11 U.S.C. § 362(c)(3)(A), the automatic stay in this case expired on June 23, 2019. Because the automatic stay expired on June 23, 2019, the Court is inclined to DENY all requests for relief that do not relate to an in rem request as MOOT.

The Court is inclined to GRANT relief from stay pursuant to § 362(d)(4) based on multiple bankruptcy filings affecting the property. While there is only one recent bankruptcy case affecting the property, that case was a pro se Chapter 13 filing the day before a scheduled foreclosure sale. The Court is inclined to GRANT relief from Rule 4001(a)(3) stay.

Docket 138

Tentative Ruling:

7/9/19

BACKGROUND

On January 9, 2018, Jose De Jesus Hernandez ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 11 voluntary petition. One of Debtor's assets is the real property located at 3095 Ocelot Cir. Corona, Ca 92882 (the "Property"), which has a second trust deed held by Wells Fargo.

Debtor entered into a stipulation with Wells Fargo ordering Debtor to either sell or refinance the Property by July 1, 2019, because the second deed of trust held by Wells Fargo has matured and is due. The stipulation was approved by Court order entered February 19, 2019.

Debtor has not been able to refinance the subject property, so to attempt to satisfy the terms of the stipulation and keep the rental income the Property provides, Debtor wants to pay the second trust deed on the Property using contributions from family and friends as well as property of the estate.

Chapter 11

DISCUSSION

After reviewing the motion, the Court has the following concerns:

I. Insufficient Evidence

- The Debtor has failed to provide evidence as to the valuation of the property—including as to any equity -- which would allow the Court to evaluate Debtor's sound business purpose argument.
- The evidence of Debtor's ability to pay his portion of the secured second trust deed is insufficient. In the motion, Debtor proposes to pay $58,000.00, but Exhibit D indicates that Debtor's checking account has $45,135.70. Debtor has not provided any evidence as to his ability to pay the remaining $12,864.30.
- The Debtor has failed to provide evidence of compliance with the prior order granting the stipulation between Debtor and Wells Fargo, as the motion contains no evidence of Debtor's efforts to sell the property.

II. Merits

- The Debtor's argument as to sound business purpose is overly simplistic. First, it does not address the absolute priority rule and has failed to address whether Debtor's motion constitutes a sub rosa plan that lacks the due process protections of the confirmation process. See, e.g., In re Cont'l Air Lines, Inc., 780 F.2d 1223, 1226 (5th Cir. 1986) ("Section 363 does not authorize a debtor and the bankruptcy court 'to short circuit the requirements of a reorganization plan by establishing the terms of the plan sub rosa in connection' with a proposed transaction."). Second, paying creditors outside of the Code's priority scheme is problematic. See, e.g., Czyzewski v. Jevic Holding Corp., 137 S. Ct. 973, 984 (2017) ("The priority system applicable to those distributions has long been considered fundamental to the Bankruptcy Code's operation. The importance of the priority system leads us to expect more than simple statutory silence if, and when, Congress were to intend a major departure. Put somewhat more directly, we would expect to see some affirmative indication of intent if Congress actually meant to make structured dismissals a backdoor means to achieve the exact kind of nonconsensual priority-violating final distributions that the Code prohibits in Chapter 7 liquidations and Chapter 11 plans.").
- The Debtor's motion appears to be an improper collateral attack on the stipulation/order between Debtor and Wells Fargo.

#2.00 Motion to Approve Compromise Under Rule 9019 by Chapter 7 Trustee and Secured Creditor Revere Financial Corporation; Moving Memorandum

EH__

Docket 521

Tentative Ruling:

7/10/19

PROCEDURAL BACKGROUND

On October 20, 2013, Douglas Jay Roger, MD, Inc., ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. In 2015, Trustee filed six adversary proceedings. Of the six, two are closed, one has been resolved but is still open, and three are still pending.

On April 6, 2016, Trustee filed motions to approve compromise ("Compromise Motions") in two of the adversary proceedings (the "Auctioned Adversaries"). After several continuances of the Compromise Motions, the defendants in the Auctioned Adversaries filed motions to enforce the settlement agreements on November 5, 2016 (the "Enforcement Motions"). On January 31, 2017, the day before the hearing on the Compromise Motions and Enforcement Motions, Trustee filed additional compromise motions (the "Second Compromise Motions") with Revere Financial Corporations ("Revere") which included the subject matter of the Compromise Motions as well as a variety of additional matters. Ultimately, after further continuances, the Court held auctions on the Auctioned Adversaries on August 2, 2017. At the auctions, Revere was the highest bidder for one of the Auctioned Adversaries and the adversary defendant was the highest bidder for the other Auctioned Adversary.

On January 24, 2018, Revere filed a new compromise motion (the "Third Compromise Motion"). On January 31, 2018, Bank of Southern California, N.A. filed a limited opposition to the Current Compromise Motion. On February 1, 2018, Debtor filed its opposition to the Current Compromise Motion. On February 6, 2018, American Express Company filed a joinder to Debtor's opposition. On February 13, 2018, the Court continued the hearing for six weeks to March 28, 2018.

At the hearing on March 28, 2019, the Court expressed its intention to hold an auction of the claims which were included in the Third Compromise Motion, and continued the matter for an additional six weeks. On April 18, 2019, Trustee filed a sale motion. This sale motion was objected to by Bank of Southern California, N.A., American Express Company, Douglas J Roger, MD ("Roger"), and Revere. On April 26, 2018, Roger requested an emergency hearing, arguing, essentially, that the procedures selected by Trustee were not in compliance with the Court's oral instructions at the hearing of March 28. Subsequently, the Court converted the hearing of May 9 into a status conference to resolve the new dispute. The hearing of May 9 was subsequently continued to June 11, and an amended sale motion was filed by Trustee on May 21. Objections were ultimately filed by Roger, Revere, and American Express Company.

On June 11, 2019, the Court held an auction, however, there were no successful overbids (i.e. overbids which cleared a certain minimum amount). After the unsuccessful auction, the Court took the Third Compromise Motion under submission. On July 26, 2018, Revere appealed the sale motion (the "Appeal"). After the Appeal, the Court withdrew the Third Compromise Motion from submission and, on August 22, 2018, informed the parties that the Appeal would have to be resolved before the Court ruled on the Third Compromise Motion.

On April 5, 2019, the district court reversed the Court's order approving the holding of an auction,¹ invalidating a sale order which resulted in no sale being consummated. The district court instructed this Court "to analyze whether the Second RFC Settlement is fair and equitable under the factors set forth in A&C Properties."

Chapter 7

Therefore, the Court will continue with the analysis it was undertaking a year ago.

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

The Third Compromise Motion creates four categories of assets: (1) cash held by Trustee and in which Revere claims a security interest ("Encumbered Cash"); (2) cash received from the Auctioned Adversaries ("Unencumbered Cash"); (3) tax refunds ("Uncertain Cash"); and (4) claims ("Uncertain Claims"). Pursuant to the terms of the compromise the bankruptcy estate is guaranteed, for distribution to administrative and unsecured claimants, $185,000 in Unencumbered cash, a $45,000 carve-out from Revere.

The settlement agreement also contemplates the creation of a liquidating trust with Revere acting as liquidating trustee. The rights to pursue Debtor's causes of action will be assigned to the liquidating trust, and Revere will have full discretion to determine which claims to pursue. Revere will cover the costs incurred by the liquidating trust. Any recovery obtained by the liquidating trust will be distributed as followed:

- (1) Payment of taxes
- (2) An $80,000 distribution to the bankruptcy estate
- (3) Reimbursement of expenses incurred by Revere
- (4) Payment of an "equalizing distribution" "so that the DJRI Estate has received 25% of all net proceeds and RFC has received 75% of all net proceeds; and
- (5) Distribution of 25% of all remaining proceedings to the bankruptcy estate.

In return, the settlement agreement provides that Trustee will agree to allow Revere a claim of $5,500,000.00, of which $4,000,000.00 will be treated as secured. Trustee also waives the right to challenge the validity or priority of Revere's security interest, and abandons any remaining interest in Revere's collateral.²

Chapter 7

Rule 9019(a) authorizes the bankruptcy court to approve a compromise or settlement on the trustee's motion and after notice and a hearing. The bankruptcy court must consider all "factors relevant to a full and fair assessment of the wisdom of the proposed compromise." Protective Comm. for Indep. Stockholders of TMT Trailer Ferry, Inc. v. Anderson, 390 U.S. 414, 424, 88 S. Ct. 1157, 20 L. Ed. 2d 1 (1968). In other words, the bankruptcy court must find that the settlement is "fair and equitable" in order to approve it. Martin v. Kane (In re A & C Props.), 784 F.2d 1377, 1381 (9th Cir. 1986).

In conducting this inquiry, the bankruptcy court must consider the following factors:

- (a) the probability of success in the litigation;
- (b) the difficulties, if any, to be encountered in the matter of collection;
- (c) the complexity of the litigation involved, and the expense, inconvenience and delay necessarily attending it; and
- (d) the paramount interest of the creditors and a proper deference to their reasonable views in the premises.

Id.

The bankruptcy court enjoys broad discretion in approving a compromise because it "is uniquely situated to consider the equities and reasonableness [of it]" United States v. Alaska Nat'l Bank (In re Walsh Construction, Inc.), 669 F.2d 1325, 1328 (9th Cir. 1982). As stated in A & C Props.:

The purpose of a compromise agreement is to allow the trustee and the creditors to avoid the expenses and burdens associated with litigating sharply contested and dubious claims. The law favors compromise and not litigation for its own sake, and as long as the bankruptcy court amply considered the various factors that determined the reasonableness of the compromise, the court's decision must be affirmed.

Id. (citations omitted).

On the other hand, even though the bankruptcy court has wide latitude in approving compromises, its discretion is not completely unfettered. See Woodson v. Fireman's Fund Ins. Co. (In re Woodson), 839 F.2d 610, 620 (9th Cir. 1988). The trustee bears the burden of proving to the bankruptcy court that the settlement is fair and equitable and should be approved. In re A&C Props., 784 F.2d at 1382.

The Court shall apply the A&C factors to the Third Compromise Motion.

A. The Probability of Success in the Underlying Litigation

The factor does not carry significant weight, but may weigh slightly in favor of approving the compromise. As noted in the compromise motion [Dkt. No 521., pgs. 25-26], Trustee would face arduous litigation if the claim objection were to be prosecuted. Nevertheless, the unusual complexity that the litigation would present is more appropriately considered under the third A&C factor. Given the complexity of the record, and the superficiality of the argument presented regarding the first factor in the compromise motion, the Court cannot conclude that this factor carries significant weight.

B. Difficulty of Collection

Trustee and Revere argue that this factor is irrelevant because Trustee is not attempting to collect from Revere. This argument appears to miss the principle behind the second A&C factor – whether, if successful, the Trustee would face obstacles in realizing value. Here, a reduction in the claim of Revere would, potentially, free up assets for distribution to administrative and unsecured claimants. The Court has not been presented with any clear evidence in the record to suggest that the subsequent liquidation of those assets would be unusually burdensome. Therefore, this factor weighs against settlement, although the Court only gives this factor minimal weight.

C. Complexity, Cost, Inconvenience and Delay of Litigation

For the reasons stated in the compromise motion [Dkt. No. 521], the declaration of Arturo Cisneros [Dkt. No 523], the declaration of Franklin Fraley [Dkt. No. 524], and the request for judicial notice [Dkt. No 525], prosecuting a claim objection against Revere would be extraordinarily costly and unusually complicated. Therefore, this factor weighs in favor of settlement.

Chapter 7

D. Interest of Creditors

For the reasons stated in the compromise motion [Dkt. No 521, pgs. 27-28], and noting the lack of any opposition, the Court finds that this factor weighs in favor of the settlement. Specifically, the Court notes that the bankruptcy estate appears to be administratively insolvent at present, and it does not appear plausible, given the current state of the administration of the case, that the estate will become administratively solvent in the near future. Also noting that this case has been pending nearly six years, the Court is forced to conclude that the potential benefits offered by Revere pursuant to the settlement agreement, are, from the perspective of creditors, preferable to the instant quagmire.

Therefore, for the reasons stated above and for the reasons stated in the compromise motion [Dkt. No 521], the Court is inclined to find that the settlement agreement satisfies the A&C Properties factors.

II. Miscellaneous

The settlement contract and the liquidating trust agreement, a combined sixty-three pages, contain a number of minor drafting errors and inconsistencies. The Court is inclined to GRANT the compromise motion, noting, however, that: (a) any ambiguities or inconsistencies would likely be resolved against the drafter (i.e. Revere); and (b) any subsequent interpretation of the contract terms would be subject to a reasonableness test, with the Court retaining jurisdiction to interpret any dispute in terms.

An example of the former is that the compromise motion repeatedly oscillates between identifying an $80,000 priority distribution and a $75,000 priority distribution. [Dkt. No. 521, pgs. 10-12]. An example of the latter is the Court's continued interpretation to review the reasonableness of the "trust expense," as outlined in ¶ 3.10 of the liquidating trust agreement.

Docket 52

Tentative Ruling:

ANALYSIS

1. The Trustee's request for compensation.

Upon review of the Trustee's services, the Court finds that the statutory maximum is a reasonable request in this matter. In addition, the Court finds that the Trustee has properly calculated his fees, and approves of Trustee's voluntary reduction of the fees to be paid by the estate from $5,750 to $4,750.

The Court has reviewed Trustee's accounting of his expenses and finds them reasonable.

2. The Attorney for Trustee's request for compensation

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(1), the court may award reasonable compensation for actual, necessary services. The court has an independent duty to review the fee application in the absence of objections. See 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(2). The court "will not indulge in extensive labor and guesswork to justify a fee for an attorney who has not done so himself." In re Taylor, 66 B.R. 390 (Bankr. W.D. Pa. 1986).

11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(3) provides factors to be considered in determining the reasonableness of requested compensation. These factors include time spent, rates charged, necessity of the service, reasonableness of the service, expertise of attorney, and comparable market rates.

Upon review of Counsel for Trustee's request for compensation, and taking into account Counsel's voluntary reduction from $58,370 requested for fees, to $33,000 to be paid by the estate, the Court is inclined to find the services provided and the request for compensation generally reasonable. When making this determination, the Court takes particular note of the drawn out and relatively complex nature of the litigation faced by Counsel related to the fraudulent transfer of the home, the need to litigate in multiple cases, as well as the successful result of the litigation.

Upon review of Counsel for Trustee's request for, and accounting of, their expenses, the Court finds the request for expenses generally reasonable.

3. Accountant for Trustee's request for compensation

Upon review of the Accountant for Trustee's services, and his request for compensation, the Court finds the services provided and compensation requested to be generally reasonable, especially in light of the Accountant for Trustee's voluntary reduction of the fees to be paid from $2,873.00 requested to $1,573 to be paid by the estate.

The Court has reviewed Trustee's accounting of his expenses and finds them reasonable.

#5.00 Motion for Turnover of Property of the Estate

EH__

Docket 19

Tentative Ruling:

MOTION FOR TURNOVER

7/10/2019

BACKGROUND

Nevin Riad ("Debtor") filed a voluntary petition for Ch. 7 bankruptcy on April 4, 2019. Based on Debtor's claimed exemptions and secured debts, there does not appear to be any equity in the property which can be liquidated for the benefit of the estate.

Debtor filed her tax returns on April 10, 2019. They indicate that Debtor is expecting a total refund of $7,383. These funds were not listed in Debtor's schedules. Trustee declares that Debtor testified at the § 341 meeting on May 6, 2019, that she had received the refunds post-petition. However, she was no longer in possession of the funds, as they had been spent on household necessities.

On May 7, 2019, Trustee emailed Debtor's counsel to demand turnover of the refunds and cash in the amount of $1,200, which had not been claimed as exempt on Debtor's schedules. Trustee then filed this motion for turnover of property in the amount of $7,383 on June 17, 2019.

Debtor opposes this motion, and declares that all the refunds were spent on household necessities. Debtor declares that her husband has been gravely ill for the past three months, and has been confined to either a hospital or rehabilitation facility due to a heart attack, organ failure, and internal bleeding, which has prevented him from working and drained the family of funds. She requests that the Court deny the motion to turnover the property, as it was all spent on necessities and no longer in possession of the Debtor. Debtor has provided a spreadsheet declaring how the funds were spent, which accounts for $6,940.12 in spending on necessities. Debtor obtained part-time employment on May 9, 2019.

DISCUSSION

11 U.S.C. § 541(a)(1) states that all legal and equitable interests of the Debtor in property as of the time of petition are property of the estate. § 542(a) requires the turnover of all property of the estate to the Trustee which is not claimed as exempt under § 522, or is of inconsequential value or benefit to the estate.

Debtor had a legal or equitable interest in her tax returns as of the time of her petition for Chapter 7 bankruptcy. This rendered them property of the estate. As such, Debtor is required to turnover those funds to the Trustee.

Docket 298

Tentative Ruling:

MOTION TO EXTEND DISCOVERY DEADLINE AND FOR LEAVE OF COURT TO SERVE ADDITIONAL DISCOVERY REQUESTS

BACKGROUND

Debtor Narinder Sangha ("Debtor") filed a voluntary petition for Chapter 7 bankruptcy on April 18, 2013. Plaintiff Charles Schrader ("Plaintiff") filed a complaint against Debtor on April 25, 2013, seeking for a determination of nondischargeability of debt due to "willful and malicious" injury under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(6). Plaintiff holds a claim against Debtor based on a $1.4 million state court default judgment against Debtor for defamation related to Plaintiff's attempt to seek employment with the City of San Diego's fire department.

The Court entered summary judgment on Plaintiff's behalf on July 8, 2014, finding that there was no issue of material fact that Debtor had "willfully and maliciously" injured Plaintiff on the grounds of issue preclusion. This was based on a finding that the state court had awarded punitive damages in its judgment against Debtor, and that punitive damages in relation to defamatory conduct required malice in fact under California law. The Bankruptcy Appellate Panel reversed the Court's granting of summary judgment on June 11, 2015, finding that intent to injure could not be inferred from a finding of malice in fact under California law, and that the state court's failure to give specific grounds for the punitive damages prevented the Court from automatically inferring that the punitive damages were granted due to Debtor's intent to injure the Plaintiff.

The 9th Circuit of Appeals affirmed the B.A.P. decision on February 24, 2017, and remanded the matter to the Court for a decision on whether the default judgment and the allegations in Plaintiff's second amended complaint precluded prelitigation of whether the injury caused by Debtor had been "willful and malicious" under § 523(a) (6).

On March 15, 2019, the Court entered partial summary judgment in favor of the Plaintiff, finding that the issue of whether Debtor had "maliciously" injured Plaintiff was precluded by the state court judgment, while also holding that Plaintiff was not entitled to summary judgment as to whether Debtor had "willfully" injured Plaintiff.

Debtor filed a motion to reopen discovery on May 3, 2019. The Court entered an order on May 24, 2019, denying the motion as moot, as no discovery deadline had ever been set in the case, and setting the last day for discovery to be completed to July 31, 2019.

Debtor filed a request for admissions, requests for production, and interrogatories on June 28, 2019, as well as an attached motion to serve those additional discovery requests, as well as a limited extension of the discovery cutoff dates. The Court approved Debtor's request to set the hearing on shortened notice on July 2, 2019.

Debtor seeks to serve 17 interrogatories, 12 requests for production, and 9 requests for admissions, with the stated scope being limited to: disclosure of all evidence that Plaintiff seeks to introduce at trial on remand of the action, and all copies of prior discovery requests and pleadings. Debtor's justification for both is that Debtor has had multiple counsel in the matter, due to the long length of the litigation, and that the discovery requests and responses were maintained by those attorneys. As such, Debtor claims that he does not have access to those materials. In addition, Debtor requests leave of the Court to file the additional interrogatories and requests for admissions because he has no reasonable way to ascertain how many had been previously filed. Debtor also requests an extension of the discovery deadline, based on the claim that there is no reasonable way to resolve objections to the discovery requests before the cutoff date of July 31, 2019.

Charles Schrader ("Plaintiff") filed his opposition to Debtor's motion on July 8, 2019. Plaintiff opposes the motion on the basis that Debtor has not provided a proper basis to seek leave of the limits imposed by FRCP 33(a)(1). In addition, Plaintiff notes that Debtor lives less than four miles away from his former counsel, and questions why Debtor has no access to the prior discovery requests and responses from said counsel. Plaintiff also disputes Debtor's declaration that he attempted to meet and confer with Plaintiff to stipulate as to any potential discovery disputes, and also declares that he had no notice or service of the additional discovery requests. Plaintiff notes that Debtor's motion makes no reference to any discovery requests to the City of San Jose. Finally, Plaintiff also declares that he was not served with any application for an order setting a hearing on shortened notice, and that he has received no notice of scheduled hearings on the motion.

DISCUSSION

Courts have broad discretion under FRCP 26(b) and FRCP 33(a)(1) to expand the number of interrogatories, requests for discovery, and requests for admissions permitted within a case. The Court has general discretion under 11 U.S.C. § 105 to set and modify deadlines to complete discovery.

The Court begins by noting that the Court has not been provided of proof by Debtor that they gave telephonic notice of the hearing to Plaintiff, as required by the Court in its order on July 2nd, 2019. There does not appear to have been any written notice of the hearing given either. This failure to give notice of the hearing is fatal to Debtor's motion.

As to the merits: the Court notes that the requests for production and request for admissions filed with the Court are both incomplete, as only pages 1 and 5 of both documents have been filed with the Court. This prevents the Court from assessing Debtor's claim that these requests are limited solely to the disclosure of all evidence that Plaintiff seeks to introduce at trial.

Second, Debtor has not declared anything as to his attempts to collect the prior discovery requests and responses from his prior attorneys, and why those attorneys had not provided him with the case documents when they were substituted out of the case. This is particularly harmful to Debtor's motion in light of Plaintiff's declaration that Debtor's former counsel is located nearby to Debtor.

Third, Debtor has also not explained why he waited to the last minute to file this motion. Debtor has been aware of the discovery cutoff date since May 24, 2019, and yet waited until June 28, the last day Debtor had to obtain leave of court to file the requests. To make things worse, Debtor has also not provided a date to which the cutoff should be extended.

This matter has already been before the Court for more than six years. Yet, Debtor now seeks to delay the final resolution of the matter even further without explaining why it is necessary. As such, the Court is disinclined to exercise its discretion to give leave of Court to Debtor to serve their additional discovery requests, or to extend the discovery cutoff date.

Docket 90

Tentative Ruling:

7/11/19

On November 20, 2017, Alfredo Arrieta & Mayte Hernandez-Arrieta (collectively "Debtors") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. On February 8, 2018, Debtors' Chapter 13 plan was confirmed.

On April 22, 2019, Debtors' attorney, Andy Warshaw ("Counsel"), filed an application seeking $3,640 in additional fees. Counsel's application seeks: (1) $700 for opposing two motions to dismiss; (2) $750 for the filing of a motion to modify plan; (3) $1,950 for opposing a relief from stay motion and subsequently negotiating with the secured creditor; (4) $150 for appearing at a relief from stay hearing; and (5) $90 for preparation of the fee application. Trustee does not appear to oppose (1), (2), or (5). Regarding the $150 appearance fee, the Court finds this fee to be reasonable given the unusual nature of the hearing which resulted in thirty minutes of oral argument.

Regarding (4), Trustee simply offers the generic argument that the fees appear excessive. Given the unusual nature of the relief from stay hearing (where there was significant confusion regarding the financial history of the debt and the payment history of the debtor), the Court finds the fees charged in (4) to be reasonable. Specifically, the time billed is predominantly related to untangling the financial history of the debt, and, after relief from stay was granted, negotiating

On November 16, 2018, John Saxton ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. On April 30, 2019, Debtor's Chapter 13 plan was confirmed.

Prior to confirmation, Debtor filed five motions: (a) two motions to value property (regarding the same property and creditor) [Dkt. Nos. 9, 20] (the "Valuation Motion"); and (b) three motions to avoid liens [Dkt. Nos. 12-14] (the "Lien Avoidance Motions"). Out of the five motions, only one, the second motion to value property was granted; the other four motions were denied. Debtor's attorney, Andy Warshaw ("Counsel") now seeks $1,250 for the Valuation Motion, and $2,250 for the Lien Avoidance Motions. The Chapter 13 Trustee raises no objection to the fees requested on account of the Valuation Motion. Therefore, the Court will approve $1,250 for fees related to the successful Valuation Motion.

Regarding the Lien Avoidance Motion, Trustee argues that Counsel should not be compensated because the motions did not benefit the estate. In a supplement filed June 24, 2019, Counsel primarily argues that the filing of the motions was authorized by Debtor, and that the motions could have been beneficial to the estate. In support of his argument, Counsel cites In re Mednet, 251 B.R. 103, 108 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2000), which states: "The statute does not require that the services result in a material benefit to the estate in order for the professional to be compensated; the applicant must demonstrate only that the services were 'reasonably likely' to benefit the estate at the time the services were rendered."

Here, the Court cannot conclude that the Lien Avoidance Motions were reasonably likely to benefit the estate at the time they were filed. The motions were ultimately denied as a matter of law. Specifically, as noted in the Court's orders [Dkt Nos. 37-38), the Court concluded that, as a matter of law, there was no lien because there was no basis under state law for the judgment to attach to Debtor's personal property. Given that there was no legal basis for the lien to attach, the motions to avoid liens could not have provided the bankruptcy estate any benefit.

Counsel briefly asserts, or implies, that the issue was not clear as a matter of law. Specifically, Counsel refers to an excerpt of the Court's tentative ruling which stated: "it is not clear from the Abstracts of Judgments what, if any, property the recorded judgments attach to." In the context of the paragraph in which the statement occurs, the statement means it is not clear what Debtor believes the judgment attached to; the tentative later finds, as a matter of law, that the judgment could not have attached to any property.

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(4), the Court cannot award compensation for services which were not reasonably likely to benefit the debtor or the estate and were not necessary to the administration of the case. Therefore, the Court is inclined to APPROVE the requested fees in the amount of $1,250 and DISAPPROVE the requested fees in the amount of $2,250.

APPEARANCES REQUIRED.

#9.00 Motion to Disallow Claims No. 9-1 re Riverside County Tax Collector

EH__

Docket 34

Tentative Ruling:

7/11/19

BACKGROUND:

On January 21, 2019, Xavier Luna ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. On March 21, 2019, the Riverside County Tax Collector filed a proof of claim for a secured claim in the amount of $4,181.55 ("Claim 9"). On May 2, 2019, Debtor's Chapter 13 plan was confirmed.

On June 6, 2019, Debtor filed an objection to Claim 9. Debtor argues that Claim 9 has been satisfied in full.

APPLICABLE LAW:

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 502(a), a proof of claim is deemed allowed unless a party in interest objects. Absent an objection, a proof of claim constitutes prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claim under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure ("FRBP") 3001(f). See *Lundell v. F.3d 1035, 1039 (9th Cir. 2000). When a party files an objection to a proof of claim, that filing "creates a dispute which is a contested matter" within the meaning of FRBP 9014 and the Court must resolve the matter after notice and opportunity for hearing upon a motion for relief. Id.

When a creditor has filed a proof of claim that complies with the rules (thereby giving rise to the presumption of validity), the burden shifts to the objecting party who must "present evidence to overcome the prima facie case." In re Medina, 205 B.R. 216, 222 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1996). To defeat the claim, the objecting party must provide sufficient evidence and "show facts tending to defeat the claim by probative force equal to that of the allegations of the proofs of claim themselves." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039 (quoting In re Holm, 931 F.2d 620, 623 (9th Cir. 1991)). "The objector must produce evidence, which, if believed, would refute at least one of the allegations that is essential to the claim's legal sufficiency." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1040 (quoting In re Allegheny Int'l, Inc., 954 F.2d 167, 173-74 (3d Cir. 1992)). If the objecting party produces sufficient evidence to negate one or more of the sworn facts in the proof of claim, the burden reverts back to the claimant to prove the validity of the claim by a preponderance of the evidence. See In re Consol. Pioneer Mort, 178 B.R. 222, 226 (9th Cir. BAP 1995), aff'd, 91 F.3d 151 (9th Cir. 1996) (quoting Allegheny Int'l, 954 F.2d at 173-74). The ultimate burden of persuasion remains at all times on the claimant. See Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039; see also Holm, 931 F.2d at 623.

ANALYSIS:

In support of the instant claim objection, Debtor has provided a print-out of the Riverside County Tax Collector's 2018 Annual Secured Property Tax Report, which indicates that the claim which serves as the basis for Claim 9 has been satisfied.

For that reason, and noting the lack of opposition, which the Court deems consent to

Docket 14

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling:

7/16/2019

Service is Improper
Opposition: None

The Court first notes that Creditor has failed to serve the motion on the Debtor, the senior lienholder, Foundation Conveyancing, LLC, or the judgment lienholder, GCFS. This is in violation of the service requirements for motions for relief from the automatic stay under LBR 4001-1(c)(1)(C). While the Court recognizes that Debtor has disclaimed any interest in the Property, which would also mean this motion does not constitute relief sought as to property of the estate, the final determination that the Property is not property of the estate has not yet been made by the Court. However, the Court does not find that the defects in service are fatal to Creditor's motion.

The Court is thus inclined to GRANT relief from the automatic stay pursuant to § 362(d)(1) and (2). GRANT request under ¶ 2 to enforce remedies to repossess and sell the property. DENY request for confirmation that that there is no stay in effect. GRANT relief from Rule 4001 stay. DENY request for a designated law enforcement officer to evict Debtor and any other occupant from the Property for a period of 180 days from the hearing on the motion. GRANT request for relief under § 364(d)(4) that the order be binding, if properly recorded, in any other case under the title purporting

The Court begins by noting that Debtor's failure to file the required case commencement documents in his prior Ch. 7 bankruptcy case prevents the Court from comparing the schedules of that petition to those of the current petition. This complicates the Court's ability to review whether the Debtor has undergone a substantial change in his financial or personal affairs.

This is not aided by the fact that Debtor's motion states that Debtor's son is currently contributing $350 per month for the use of Debtor's Prius, while Debtor's Schedule I provides for $1,350 in contributions from Debtor's son. This is not an inconsequential difference when Debtor's net monthly income is only $1,182.88, and the Ch. 13 plan provides for $1,158.00 monthly payments. If the Debtor is only receiving $350 from his son per month, then he does not have enough disposable income to fund a plan.

On February 19, 2019, Anthony Yue Ming Liu ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 11 voluntary petition. On Schedule F, Debtor listed Andrzej Luczynski ("Movant") as the holder of an unsecured claim of $1,380,000 relating to a civil lawsuit.

On March 12, 2019, Movant filed a motion for relief from the automatic stay, seeking to continue pending state court litigation relating to claims for tortious exclusion of joint venturer, breach of fiduciary duty, breach of contract, and wrongful eviction. A state court hearing on Debtor's objections to the tentative decision and proposed judgment had been scheduled for February 20, 2019, but was ultimately postponed due to the instant bankruptcy filing. It appears from the contents of the motion that Movant is only requesting to have the state court enter judgment, thereby liquidating Movant's claim.

On April 2, 2019, Debtor filed his opposition. The crux of Debtor's opposition is that the relief from the automatic stay is unnecessary because Movant's claim has been effectively liquidated. Debtor notes that "[t]he only issue remaining is a determination of any costs and attorney's fees, which Debtor has attempted to review for reasonableness in hopes that the parties could avoid unnecessary litigation and expenses regarding the same." [Dkt. No. 49, pg. 4, lines 10-12]. On April 9, 2019, Movant filed a reply, effectively arguing that Debtor's opposition does not contain a legal basis upon which relief from stay could be denied.

When considering a motion for relief from the automatic stay to pursue a non-bankruptcy action, the Court considers the Curtis factors:

- (1) Whether the relief will result in a partial or complete resolution of the issues;
- (2) the lack of any connection with or interference with the bankruptcy case;
- (3) whether the foreign proceeding involves the debtor as fiduciary; (4) whether a specialized tribunal has been established to hear the particular cause of action and whether that tribunal has the expertise to hear such cases; (5) whether the debtor's insurance carrier has assumed full financial responsibility for defending the litigation; (6) whether the action essentially involves third parties, and the debtor functions only as a bailee or conduit for the good or proceeds in question; (7) whether the litigation in another forum would prejudice the interests of other creditors, the creditor's committee and other interested parties; (8) whether the judgment claim arising from the foreign action is subject to equitable subordination; (9) whether movant's success in the foreign proceeding would result in a judicial lien avoidable by the debtor under Section 522(f); (10) the interests of judicial economy and the expeditious and economical determination of litigation for the parties; (11) whether the foreign proceedings have progressed to the point where the parties are prepared for trial; and (12) the impact of the stay and the "balance of hurt."

In re Roger, 539 B.R. 837, 844-45 (C.D. Cal. 2015). In Roger, the Court further stated:

The Ninth Circuit has recognized that the Curtis factors are appropriate, nonexclusive, factors to consider in deciding whether to grant relief from the automatic stay to allow pending litigation to continue in another forum. While the Curtis factors are widely used to determine the existence of cause, not all of the factors are relevant in every case, nor is a court required to give each factor equal weight. According to the court in Curtis, the most important factor in determining whether to grant relief from the automatic stay to permit litigation against the debtor in another forum is the effect of such litigation on the administration of the estate. Even slight interference with the administration may be enough to preclude relief in the absence of a commensurate benefit. That said, some cases involving the automatic stay provision do not mention the Curtis factors at all.

Here, the Curtis factors weigh in favor of granting relief from the automatic stay. First, the relief requested would result in a complete resolution of the issues. Debtor's argument that relief from stay is not necessary to resolve the issue, because the issue could be resolved through the claim objection process in bankruptcy court, is not persuasive to the Court because it does not directly address the first Curtis factor and because, presumably, the state court is in a better position to assess the reasonableness of the fees and costs incurred in its own proceedings. Likewise, the second factor weighs in favor of the relief requested because the entry of a judgment in state court will not interfere with the administration of the bankruptcy estate. Debtor has not raised a plausible argument contending otherwise. A choice by Debtor to possibly incur attorney fees arguing the amount of Movant's fees and costs incurred in the state court proceeding does not constitute interference with the administration of the bankruptcy estate. Finally, the Court finds that the tenth through twelfth Curtis factors weigh in favor of granting relief from stay, because the state court proceeding progressed to the point where it was ready for trial, and the state court is in a better position to judge the reasonableness of the fees and costs incurred in its own proceeding.

The Court finds that the third through ninth Curtis factors are largely irrelevant in this situation and do not materially affect the Court's analysis. Additionally, the Court is not inclined to find that the instant bankruptcy was filed in bad faith. Movant's only argument made to support a bad faith finding is that the instant case was filed on the eve of the anticipated state court judgment. Noting that Debtor scheduled Movant's claim and does not appear to be attempting to undermine the state court proceeding, the Court cannot conclude that Debtor is acting on bad faith simply because he is attempting to satisfy Movant's claim through a Chapter 11 plan of reorganization.

The Court is inclined to GRANT request for relief pursuant to § 362(d)(1). GRANT waiver of Rule 4001(a) stay. GRANT request under ¶ 2. DENY request for relief under ¶ 7 for lack of cause shown.

BACKGROUND

On September 15, 2017, Cleo Sonnenfeld ("Creditor") filed a Chapter 7 involuntary petition against Joshua Richardson ("Debtor"). On November 8, 2017, an order for relief was entered after Debtor stipulated to its entry. That same day, the Court entered an order approving a stipulation between Creditor, Debtor, and HLE Law Group ("HLE") which avoided a deed of trust recorded on June 20, 2017, in favor of HLE and against certain real property located at 13710 Oakley Dr., Moreno Valley, CA 92555 (the "Property").

On November 8, 2018, Trustee filed a motion to approve compromise; after two continuances, and the filing of a supplemental brief, the motion was granted pursuant to order entered January 3, 2019. The pertinent terms of the compromise are the following: (a) the Property is held in constructive trust for the benefit of Creditor, who holds a money judgment in the amount of $318,778.12; (b) Trustee is to sell the Property; (c) the funds otherwise payable on account of the avoided HLE lien constitute property of the estate; and (d) the bankruptcy estate shall receive 30% of all sale proceeds in excess of $303,000 until such amount reaches $25,000. On February 6, 2019, Creditor objected to Debtor's claimed homestead exemption; the objection was sustained on March 1, 2019.

On June 26, 2019, Trustee filed: (1) a motion for sale of the Property and related relief; and (2) a motion requiring Debtor to turn over the Property. Regarding the former, Trustee proposes to sell the Property to Hung Tien & Dau Nguyen for $356,000. Pursuant to the terms of the sale motion, the sale proceeds would be distributed as follows: (a) $28,480 for closing costs; (b) approximately $200,000 on account of the lien recorded in favor of the Samir & Mona Sanghani Living Trust 2014; (c) $50,000 for the bankruptcy estate; and (d) $77,520 to Creditor.

The Court has not received opposition to either motion.

DISCUSSION

A. Sale Motion

I. Sale of Estate Property

11 U.S.C. § 363(b)(1) allows a trustee to sell property of the estate outside of the ordinary course, after notice and a hearing. A sale pursuant to § 363(b) requires a demonstration that the sale has a valid business justification. In re 240 North Brand Partners, Ltd., 200 B.R. 653, 659 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1996). "In approving any sale outside the ordinary course of business, the court must not only articulate a sufficient business reason for the sale, it must further find it is in the best interest of the estate, i.e. it is fair and reasonable, that it has been given adequate marketing, that it has been negotiated and proposed in good faith, that the purchaser is proceeding in good faith, and that it is an "arms-length" transaction." In re Wilde Horse Enters., Inc., 136 B.R.

The declaration of Trustee's real estate agent contains evidence of the Property's substantial marketing, indicating that the Property was listed on many websites, that Trustee received fifty-five inquiries regarding the Property, and that three offers were ultimately received. Given the fact that the sale appears to be a good faith, arms-length transaction, and the fact that it appears that the sale will result in a meaningful distribution for creditors, the Court concludes that Trustee has articulated an adequate business reason for the sale.

II. Sale Free & Clear of Liens

11 U.S.C. § 363(f) (2010) states:

(f) The trustee may sell property under subsection (b) or (c) of this section free and clear of any interest in such property of an entity other than the estate, only if-

- (1) applicable nonbankruptcy law permits sale of such property free and clear of such interest;
- (2) such entity consents;
- (3) such interest is a lien and the price at which such property is to be sold is greater than the aggregate value of all liens on such property;
- (4) such interest is in bona fide dispute; or
- (5) such entity could be compelled, in a legal or equitable proceeding, to accept a money satisfaction of such interest.

Here, three parties hold or held an interest in the Property. Two of the parties, HLE and Creditor, have consented to the relief requested in the motion pursuant to a stipulation or compromise executed in the instant case. The third party, the Samir & Mona Sanghani Living Trust 2014, holds a lien which is less than the sale price and which will be satisfied in full from the sale proceeds. Therefore, § 363(f)(2) and (3) permit Trustee to sell the Property free and clear of liens.

III. 14-Day Stay

FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 6004(h) states: "An order authorizing the use, sale, or lease of property other than cash collateral is stayed until the expiration of 14 days after entry of the order, unless the court orders otherwise." The Court deems the absence of objections to be consent to the relief requested, pursuant to Local Rule 9013-(1)(h), and, therefore, will waive the stay of Rule 6004(h).

IV. Miscellaneous Provisions

The Court has reviewed the remainder of Trustee's miscellaneous requests. Regarding the overbidding procedures, the Court has reviewed the proposed overbidding procedures and finds said procedures to be reasonable.

Regarding the broker's compensation, the motion provides for a broker's commission of 6%, a customary amount which the Court deems reasonable.

Regarding Trustee's request for a good faith determination pursuant to § 363(m), the Court notes that Trustee has provided a declaration of the Purchasers, which, in combination with the other evidence submitted in support of the motion, is sufficient to warrant a good faith finding.

B. Turnover Motion

11 U.S.C. § 542(a) states:

Except as provided in subsection (c) or (d) of this section, an entity, other than a custodian, in possession, custody, or control, during the case, of property that the trustee may use, sell, or lease under section 363 of this title, or that the debtor may exempt under section 522 of this title, shall deliver to the trustee, and account for, such property or the value of such property, unless such property is of inconsequential value or benefit to the estate.

The standard for a turnover action is well established:

"To prevail in a turnover action under § 542, the party seeking turnover must establish (1) that the property is or was in the possession, custody or control of an entity during the pendency of the case, (2) that the property may be used by the trustee in accordance with § 363 or exempted by the debtor under § 522; and (3) that the property has more than inconsequential value or benefit to the estate."

In re Bailey, 380 B.R. 486, 490 (B.A.P. 6th Cir. 2008); see also In re Newman, 487 B.R. 193 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2013).

Here, Trustee's motion clearly satisfies the requirements for turnover. First, it is uncontroverted that Debtor occupied the Property during the pendency of the case

(and appears to have still occupied the Property at the time of the filing of the motion). Second, Trustee filed a motion to sell the Property prior to filing the instant turnover motion. Third, as established in the sale motion, the sale of the property will generate a material benefit to the estate ($50,000). For those reasons, and noting the lack of any opposition to the instant motion, the Court concludes that turnover is warranted.

Trustee also requests that the turnover order enable Trustee to deploy the United States Marshal to evict Debtor and any other occupant if they have not vacated by the entry of the order. In support of this request, Trustee notes that Debtor was informed on June 6, 2019, that Trustee would be selling the Property. Legally, Trustee relies on FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 70, incorporated into bankruptcy proceedings by FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 9014(c), which states, in pertinent part:

- (a) If a judgment requires a party to convey land, to deliver a deed or other document, or to perform any other specific act and the party fails to comply within the time specified, the court may order the act to be done – at the disobedient party’s expense – by another person appointed by the court. When done, the act has the same effect as if done by the party.
- (d) On application by a party who obtains a judgment or order for possession, the clerk must issue a writ of execution or assistance.

Here, Trustee has not provided a clear rationale or justification to explain the necessity of employing this unusual remedy simultaneously with the entry of the turnover order. Because this proceeding does not contain the same notice and service requirements as an adversary proceeding, in which FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 70 is automatically applicable, and noting the lack of any evidence that Debtor has been uncooperative with the process, the Court is not inclined to approve this additional request.

BACKGROUND

On September 15, 2017, Cleo Sonnenfeld ("Creditor") filed a Chapter 7 involuntary petition against Joshua Richardson ("Debtor"). On November 8, 2017, an order for relief was entered after Debtor stipulated to its entry. That same day, the Court entered an order approving a stipulation between Creditor, Debtor, and HLE Law Group ("HLE") which avoided a deed of trust recorded on June 20, 2017, in favor of HLE and against certain real property located at 13710 Oakley Dr., Moreno Valley, CA 92555 (the "Property").

On November 8, 2018, Trustee filed a motion to approve compromise; after two continuances, and the filing of a supplemental brief, the motion was granted pursuant to order entered January 3, 2019. The pertinent terms of the compromise are the following: (a) the Property is held in constructive trust for the benefit of Creditor, who holds a money judgment in the amount of $318,778.12; (b) Trustee is to sell the Property; (c) the funds otherwise payable on account of the avoided HLE lien constitute property of the estate; and (d) the bankruptcy estate shall receive 30% of all

On July 12, 2017, Beatrice Diaz ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. Among the scheduled assets was certain real property located at 619 Calle Cuesta, Watsonville, CA 95076 (the "Property").

On December 20, 2017, Trustee filed a complaint against Debtor's non-filing spouse, Jose Diaz ("Defendant"), seeking: (1) a declaration that the Property constituted community property; (2) turnover of the Property; and (3) authority to sell Defendant's interest in the Property. After Defendant failed to respond to the adversary complaint, Trustee moved for default. On May 22, 2018, the Court entered judgment adjudicating the Property to be community property and directing Defendant to turn over the property.

control over the Property. First, in the adversary proceeding, the Court granted Trustee's motion for a writ of possession as to Defendant. Second, in the main bankruptcy case, the Court granted Trustee's motion for turnover as to Debtor.

On July 10, 2019, Trustee filed a motion seeking to establish procedures for the sale of the Property. Part of the reason for the filing of the instant motion is that the Property is subject to the Measure J Affordable Housing Program, which imposes a ceiling of $363,798 on the Property's purchase price. Because the sale price of the Property is essentially fixed by a county voter initiative, the Trustee proposes a unique sale process which involves working with the county to post the listing, screen applicants, and then, ostensibly, randomly rank qualified bidders.

The Bankruptcy Code and Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure do not delineate a legal standard to assess sale procedures. This Court employs a reasonableness test. Here, because the purchase price of the Property is essentially fixed, the bankruptcy estate would appear to not have any interest in which qualified applicant is selected as the purchaser. Therefore, assuming that the Property is sold at an amount not materially different than the maximum purchase price, the Court concludes that the sale procedures outlined in the motion are not unreasonable, and the Court is inclined to GRANT the motion in its entirety.

BACKGROUND

On May 8, 2017, Malik & Zobia Asif ("Defendants") filed a Chapter 11 voluntary petition. On June 23, 2017, Defendants' case was converted to Chapter 7.

On September 15, 2017, Itria Ventures, LLC ("Plaintiff") filed a non-dischargeability complaint against Defendants pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(A). On October 19, 2017, Defendants filed their answer.

On April 10, 2018, the parties submitted a pre-trial stipulation. The pre-trial stipulation indicates that the operative legal provision is § 523(a)(2)(B). At the pre-trial conference, the Court indicated that the pre-trial stipulation conflicted with the complaint, and inquired of Plaintiff whether any steps would be taken to remedy this inconsistency.

On June 24, 2019, Plaintiff filed a motion to enforce admission of Defendants. The motion construes Defendants participation in the pre-trial stipulation as an admission, and requests that the Court determine that the pre-trial stipulation supersede the complaint.

DISCUSSION

The argument presented in the motion is a single paragraph long, and the legal citations presented are completely irrelevant to the issue before the Court. Therefore, the Court will review the relevant caselaw sua sponte.

The relevant caselaw is clear and extensive: a pre-trial order effectively supersedes the complaint and answer. See, e.g., Patterson v. Board of Trustees in Pratt Cmty. Coll., 950 F.2d 665, 668 (10th Cir. 1991) ("These cases and many others hold that the pretrial order 'measures the dimensions of the lawsuit, both in the trial court an on appeal."); *Moore v. Docket 17

Tentative Ruling:

7/17/19

I. BACKGROUND

On April 28, 2015, Home Security Stores, Inc. ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. Ralph Winn and Stacey Winn (collectively, the "Winns;" individually, "R. Winn" and "S. Winn") were shareholders, directors, and officers of Debtor. The Winns are trustees of the Winn Family Trust ("Winn Trust").

On October 29, 2018, Chapter 7 Trustee John Pringle ("Trustee") filed a complaint against Harry J. Histen, APC ("Defendant"), a California law firm of which Harry J. Histen ("Histen") is the primary attorney. Trustee's complaint includes four causes of action: avoidance of transfers pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 544(b) and CAL. CIV. CODE §§ 3439.04(a)(2) and 3439.05; avoidance of transfers pursuant to U.S.C. § 548(a)(1)(B); recovery of avoided transfers pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 550; and disallowance of claims pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 502. Defendant did not respond to UST's complaint. On December 19, 2018, the clerk entered default against Defendant. On June 21, 2019, Trustee filed a motion for default judgment.

Trustee's complaint arises out of Defendant's previous relationship as an attorney to the Winns, the Winn Trust, and Debtor. Trustee asserts that the Debtor's principals' and insiders' actions exacerbated and potentially caused Debtor's bankruptcy. In 2014, Defendant performed legal services for the Winns related to the sale of commercial real property titled in the name of the Winn Trust. According to the Trustee, Defendant advised the Winns to create a UCC-1 lien against Debtor. Trustee also asserts that before filing for bankruptcy, Debtor paid Defendant for the legal services performed for the Winns and the Winn Trust. Debtor paid Defendant $15,013.00 via three checks, which were deposited into Defendant's bank account, without receiving consideration. Trustee also claims that despite a court order and subpoena for recorded information, Defendant has failed to provide documentation proving he performed legal services for Debtor.

A. Entry of Default

FED. R. CIV. P. 55 states that "[w]hen a party against whom a judgment for affirmative relief is sought has failed to plead or otherwise defend as provided by these rules and that fact is made to appear by affidavit or otherwise, the clerk shall enter the party's default." Fed. R. Civ. P. 55(a). Local Rule 7055-1 provides additional requirements relating to a motion for entry of default judgment, and those requirements have been substantially satisfied here.

B. Motion for Default Judgment

1. Proper Service of Summons and Complaint

FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 7004(b)(1) states, in part:

[S]ervice may be made within the United States by first class mail postage prepaid as follows:

- (1) Upon an individual other than an infant or incompetent, by mailing a copy of the summons and complaint to the individual's dwelling house or usual place of abode or to the place where the individual regularly conducts a business or profession.

Here, it appears Trustee properly served Defendant and Histen. Defendant's address on the proof of service document matches Histen's office address on the State Bar of California website.

2. Merits of Plaintiff's claim

Upon default, the factual allegations of the complaint, except those relating to the amount of damages, will be taken as true. TeleVideo Systems, Inc. v. Heidenthal, 826 F.2d 915, 917 (9th Cir. 1987); see also Almog v. Golden Summit Investors Group, Ltd., 2012 WL 12867972 at *4 (C.D. Cal. 2012) ("When reviewing a motion for default judgment, the Court must accept the well-pleaded allegations of the complaint relating to liability as true.").

Here, the complaint includes four causes of action: (1) avoidance and recovery of fraudulent transfers pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 544(b), CAL. CIV. CODE §§ 3439.04(a) (2) and 3439.05; (2) avoidance and recovery of fraudulent transfers pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 548(a)(1)(B); (3) recovery of voidable transfers pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 550; and (4) disallowance of claims pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 502. points and authorities in support of Trustee’s motion for default judgment does not explicitly address any of these causes of action.

The Trustee’s first claim for relief is avoidance and recovery of fraudulent transfers pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §S 544(b) and CAL. CIV. CODE §§ 3439.04(a)(2) and 3439.05. Section 544(b) states that a trustee may avoid a transfer of an interest of the debtor that is voidable under applicable law. CAL CIV. CODE § 3439.04(a)(2) provides that a transfer is voidable if the debtor made the transfer without receiving a reasonably equivalent value in exchange for the transfer and the debtor either (a) was left with remaining assets that were unreasonably small in relation to a debtor’s business or transaction, or (b) should have reasonably believed debtor did not have the ability to pay debts when they became due. Trustee asserts that the legal services were performed for the Winns and the Winn Trust and consideration was not provided to the Debtor in exchange for the transfers. Trustee also claims that the transfers from Debtor to Defendant worsened Debtor’s financial situation and led to Debtor’s bankruptcy. Thus, Trustee sufficiently alleges that Debtor did not receive reasonably equivalent value in exchange for transfer and that Debtor was aware of mounting debt and its inability to pay debts.

CAL. CIV. CODE § 3439.05 provides that a transfer is voidable as to a creditor whose claim arose before the transfer if the debtor did not receive reasonably equivalent value and the debtor was or became insolvent as a result of the transfer. Trustee alleges that Defendant's legal services were rendered to the Winns and Winn Trust, that transfers were made from Debtor to Defendant for said services, and that Debtor did not receive consideration for the transfers. Trustee also asserts that the transfers potentially lead to Debtor's bankruptcy. Trustee's complaint sufficiently alleges that Defendant did not receive reasonably equivalent value and that Debtor became insolvent as a result of the transfer.

The Trustee's second claim for relief is avoidance and recovery of fraudulent transfers pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 548(a)(1)(B). Section 548(a)(1)(B) states that a trustee may avoid any transfer made by the debtor within two years before filing their bankruptcy petition if the debtor received less than a reasonably equivalent value in exchange for transfer and (i) was or became insolvent due to the transfer, (ii) was engaged in business and left with unreasonably small capital after the transfer, (iii) was left with debt that would be beyond the debtor's ability to pay, or (iv) made such transfer to or for the benefit of an insider under an employment contract and not through the ordinary course of business. Trustee claims that the transfers made from Debtor to Defendant were made within two years before Debtor filed for bankruptcy and that Debtor did not receive consideration for the transfers. Trustee also claims the transfers led to Debtor's financial demise and that the transfers were made for the benefit of the Winns and Winn Trust, not the Debtor. Trustee sufficiently asserts the transfers were made within two years of the petition, that Debtor did not receive equivalent value in exchange of transfer, that Debtor was insolvent due to the transfers, and the transfers were made for the benefit of insiders under an employment contract outside the ordinary course of business.

The Trustee's third claim for relief is recovery of voidable transfers pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 550. Section 550 provides that transfers avoided under 11 U.S.C. §§ 544 and 548 are recoverable from the initial transferee. Trustee claims that the transfers are avoidable under 11 U.S.C. §§ 544 and 548 and that Defendant was the initial transferee. Therefore, Trustee's complaint sufficiently alleges that the transfers are recoverable from the Defendant.

The Trustee's fourth and final claim for relief is disallowance of claims pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 502. Section 502(d) states that a court shall disallow any claim of an entity, unless that entity has paid the amount or turned over property for which transferee is liable under § 550. As Defendant has not filed a claim for an avoidable transfer, and as it appears the bar date has passed, denial of the forth claim as moot is warranted.

Section 502(j) states that a reconsidered claim may be allowed or disallowed depending on the case's equities. Possible reconsideration of claims does not affect validity of payment or transfer from the estate to a holder of an allowed claim. Defendant has not made a reconsidered claim; therefore, there is no claim to disallow. Trustee has failed to allege that Defendant cannot bring previously allowed claims against the estate because Defendant has not made any claims.

3. Amount of Damages

Here, Trustee is requesting recovery of the transfers or a money judgment of equal value with interest at the federal rate. Local Rule 55-2 states that if the amount claimed in a default judgment is unliquidated, the applicant may submit evidence of the amount of damages by declarations. In the motion, Trustee attached copies of the transfer via three checks from Debtor to Defendant. Check 1 is valued at $7,513.00, check 2 is valued at $5,000, and check 3 is valued at $2,500, all checks totaling to

Docket 133

Tentative Ruling:

7/30/19

BACKGROUND

On November 27, 2019, LC Stahl LLC ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 11 voluntary petition. The case was dismissed on December 6, 2018, for failure to file case commencement documents, but dismissal was vacated five days later. Debtor's only asset was certain real property located at 19275 Vista De Montanas, Murrieta, CA 92562 (the "Property"). Schedule A identified the Property as having a value of $2,633,000, and Schedule D identified Loan Funder LLC Series 1829 ("Creditor") as holding a secured claim in the amount of $1,070,000. Ultimately, Creditor filed a proof of claim for a secured claim in the amount of $1,320,665.61.

On February 5, 2019, Creditor filed a motion for relief from the automatic stay. After holding three hearings on the motion for relief from the automatic stay, the Court scheduled an evidentiary hearing, which was ultimately held on June 10, 2019. After taking testimony regarding the fair market value of the Property, the Court granted relief from stay to Creditor.

On June 28, 2019, after the motion for relief from the automatic stay was granted, UST filed a motion to dismiss the case. UST asserts that there is cause to dismiss the

On July 18, 2019, Debtor filed a response indicating that it conceded the first of UST's arguments – that Debtor no longer has the ability to reorganize.

DISCUSSION

11 U.S.C. § 1112(b)(1) states:

Except as provided in paragraph (2) and subsection (c), on request of a party in interest, and after notice and a hearing, the court shall convert a case under this chapter to a case under chapter 7 or dismiss a case under this chapter, whichever is in the best interests of creditors and the estate, for cause unless the court determines that the appointment under section 1104(a) of a trustee or an examiner is in the best interests of creditors and the estate.

Section 1112(b)(4) provides a non-exhaustive list of examples of cause. Included in the list is § 1112(b)(4)(A) which provides that "substantial or continuing loss to or diminution of the estate and the absence of a reasonable likelihood of rehabilitation" constitutes cause for dismissal. Because Debtor has conceded that it no longer has a reasonable likelihood of rehabilitation, the Court concludes that dismissal (or conversion) is appropriate under § 1112(b)(4)(A).

Furthermore, 11 U.S.C. § 1112(b) provides that the Court must consider whether dismissal or conversion is in the best interests of creditors and the estate. As noted by UST, it appears that "[t]he Debtor does not possess any assets for a Chapter 7 trustee to recover and liquidate." In this circumstance, therefore, the best interests of creditors appears to be for the case to be dismissed.

BACKGROUND

On July 12, 2017, Beatrice Diaz ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. Among the scheduled assets was certain real property located at 619 Calle Cuesta, Watsonville, CA 95076 (the "Property").

On December 20, 2017, Trustee filed a complaint against Debtor's non-filing spouse, Jose Diaz ("Defendant"), seeking: (1) a declaration that the Property constituted community property; (2) turnover of the Property; and (3) authority to sell Defendant's interest in the Property. After Defendant failed to respond to the adversary complaint, Trustee moved for default. On May 22, 2018, the Court entered judgment adjudicating the Property to be community property and directing Defendant to turn over the property.

Chapter 7

In January 2019, the Court entered two orders related to Trustee's efforts to gain control over the Property. First, in the adversary proceeding, the Court granted Trustee's motion for a writ of possession as to Defendant. Second, in the main bankruptcy case, the Court granted Trustee's motion for turnover as to Debtor.

On July 10, 2019, Trustee filed a motion seeking to establish procedures for the sale of the Property. Part of the reason for the filing of the instant motion is that the Property is subject to the Measure J Affordable Housing Program, which imposes a ceiling of $363,798 on the Property's purchase price. Because the sale price of the Property is essentially fixed by a county voter initiative, the Trustee proposes a unique sale process which involves working with the county to post the listing, screen applicants, and then, ostensibly, randomly rank qualified bidders.

The Bankruptcy Code and Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure do not delineate a legal standard to assess sale procedures. This Court employs a reasonableness test. Here, because the purchase price of the Property is essentially fixed, the bankruptcy estate would appear to not have any interest in which qualified applicant is selected as the purchaser. Therefore, assuming that the Property is sold at an amount not materially different than the maximum purchase price, the Court concludes that the sale procedures outlined in the motion are not unreasonable, and the Court is inclined to GRANT the motion in its entirety.

Docket 91

Tentative Ruling:

BACKGROUND

Debtor Desert Ice Castle ("Debtor") filed a voluntary Ch. 7 petition on April 13, 2018. Creditor Andrzej Luczynski ("Creditor") filed two claims against Debtor, one for $3,200,000 related to the breach of joint venture between the two, and one for anticipated judgment from state court litigation for $1,218,135.54. Creditor's associated company, Z&M Trading, Inc., also filed a claim against Debtor for attorney fees to be derived from the anticipated state court judgment.

On January 31, 2019, the Ch. 7 Trustee filed an adversary proceeding against Anthony Ming Liu ("Liu"), the principal of Debtor, for alleged pre-petition transfers from Debtor to Liu. Liu filed his own bankruptcy petition. On June 25, 2019, Trustee reached an allegedly global agreement with Liu, Z&M, Creditor, and Desert Ice Castle, which will apply in both this, and Liu's case. The claimed primary terms of the agreement is the payment of $60,000 from Liu to Trustee, combined with a dismissal of the adversarial proceeding with prejudice, and the withdrawal of Creditor's proofs of claim and Trustee's proof of claim in Liu's bankruptcy case.

However, the actual settlement agreement provided has no signature from Creditor, and the agreement terms do not state that Creditor will engage in a mutual release of claims between him and Debtor, as alleged by Trustee, or that Creditor will withdraw his proofs of claims.

On July 3, 2019, Trustee filed a motion to approve the compromise under Rule 9019.

DISCUSSION

FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 9019 provides that:

On motion by the trustee and after notice and a hearing, the court may approve a compromise or settlement. Notice shall be given to creditors, the United States trustee, the debtor, and indenture trustees as provided in Rule 2002 and to any other entity as the court may direct.

The Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals have previously outlined the factors to be considered in approving a compromise pursuant to Rule 9019: (1) the probability of success in the litigation; (2) the difficulties to be encountered in the matter of collection; (3) the complexity, expense, inconvenience and delay of litigation; and (4) the interest of creditors with deference to their reasonable views. See In re A&C Props., 784 F.2d 1377, 1381 (9th Cir. 1986). The listed factors assist the Court in determining "the fairness, reasonableness and adequacy of a proposed settlement agreement." Id.

Creditor's claims are the vast bulk of pre-petition claims against Debtor, and are also the root of the adversarial proceeding between Trustee and Debtor. In addition, Trustee also claims that the agreement settles the controversy between Creditor and Debtor. While Creditor is not a party to the settlement agreement, the Court notes that the agreement is expressly conditioned on the withdrawal of Creditor's proofs of claim. Otherwise, the Court finds that Trustee has sufficiently addressed the A&C Properties standard.

BACKGROUND

On August 15, 2018, Visiting Nurse Association of the Inland Counties ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 11 voluntary petition. On November 2, 2018, The H.N. and Frances C. Berger Foundation ("Berger Foundation") filed its motion to compel payment of administrative rent or immediate rejection of lease and related relief. On November 13, 2018, Debtor filed its opposition.

The subject of the motion is a lease dated August 15, 2008, for certain nonresidential real property located in Palm Desert, California. According to Berger Foundation, "[p]ursuant to the terms of lease, should the Debtor continue to occupy the premises after August 14, 2018, the lease obligation increases to approximately $91,216.50 per month," [Dkt. No. 194, pg. 2] a doubling of the contractual monthly rental obligation. Berger Foundation requests: (1) that Debtor be compelled to cure the default on the lease or surrender the premises; and (2) allowance of an administrative expense claim

Debtor's opposition argued that: (1) the lease cannot be assumed or rejected because the lease expired the day before the petition date; and (2) because the lease expired prepetition, the legal basis for the requested administrative expense claim is invalid.

On November 27, 2018, the Court held a hearing on the matter, and continue the hearing for three weeks for supplemental briefing. On December 18, 2018, the Court posted a tentative ruling prior to the continued hearing, indicating that it was inclined to hold that the lease terminated pre-petition, and, therefore, the lease was not an executory contract. The Court continued the matter again, allowing the parties the opportunity to further brief the matter, and to enable the parties to supplement the record to afford the Court the opportunity to assess Berger Foundation's request for administrative rent.

On January 18, 2019, Berger Foundation filed a supplement. On February 1, 2019, Debtor filed a response. Because Berger Foundation has not presented any new argument relating to 11 U.S.C. § 365, the Court is not inclined to modify its tentative, which is outlined in the first portion of the discussion section. Instead, the Court will address the parties' arguments relating to 11 U.S.C. § 503.

DISCUSSION

I. 11 U.S.C. § 365

The critical legal question at issue is whether the operative lease expired prepetition. Berger Foundation relies on 11 U.S.C. § 365(d)(3) as the basis for both its requests, and that provision states:

Chapter 11

The trustee shall timely perform all the obligations of the debtor, except those specified in section 365(b)(2), arising from and after the order for relief under any unexpired lease of nonresidential real property, until such lease is assumed or rejected, notwithstanding section 503(b)(1) of this title. The court may extend, for cause, the time for performance of any such obligation that arises within 60 days after the date of the order for relief, but the time for performance shall not be extended beyond such 60-day period. This subsection shall not be deemed to affect the trustee's obligations under the provisions of subsection (b) or (f) of the section. Acceptance of any such performance does not constitute waiver or relinquishment of the lessor's rights under such lease or under this title.

(emphasis added).

As a general rule, an expired lease is no longer executory, and, therefore, is no longer assumable, if the lease expired prepetition. See, e.g., In re Acorn Invs., 8 B.R. 506, 509-10 (Bankr. S.D. Cal. 1981). Therefore, the Court must determine whether the lease at issue expired prepetition. See Robinson v. Chicago Hous. Auth., 54 F.3d 316, 320 (7th Cir. 1995) ("the federal law allowing 'unexpired' leases to be assumed calls for a determination whether a lease has ended under state law."). Here, Debtor argues that the lease expired pre-petition, resulting in a holdover tenancy, in which no privity of contract exists, while Berger Foundation argues that the lease became a month to month tenancy and, therefore, was not expired. While the parties appear to be agree on the operative legal standard, the parties disagree regarding how that standard applies to the facts here

Both parties refer to CAL. CIV. CODE § 1945, which states:

If a lessee of real property remains in possession thereof after the expiration of the hiring, and the lessor accepts rent from him, the parties are presumed to have renewed the hiring on the same terms and for the same time, not exceeding one month when the rent is payable monthly, nor in any case one year.

As a preliminary matter, the Court notes that it appears the above legal provision should not actually be applicable to the instant situation. Specifically, CAL. CIV. CODE § 1940(a), (c) states the following:

- (a) Except as provided in subdivision (b), this chapter shall apply to all persons who hire dwelling units located within this state included tenants, boarders, lodgers, and others, however denominated.
- (c) "Dwelling unit" means a structure or the part of a structure that is used as a home, residence, or sleeping place by one person who maintains a household or by two or more persons who maintain a common household.

Here, the lease at issue was a commercial lease which would remove the lease from the purview of § 1945 based upon the plain language of § 1940. Nevertheless, the Court notes that there is ample caselaw, some of which is cited by the parties, in which California courts have applied § 1945 to commercial property. Although it is not clear to this Court why that section is inapplicable to the instant situation, the Court will defer to the state law courts on this issue of state law.

Ultimately, the argument of Berger Foundation boils down to the following:

In this case, after the expiration of the Lease terms (August 14, 2018), Debtor continued to occupy the Premises. Berger continued to accept the Debtor as a tenant and took no action to terminate the Debtor's leasehold interest in the Premises. To the contrary, as this Court's record reflects, from the outset, Berger has been focusing on receiving rent payments and, in fact, received post-petition payments of not less than $15,000 as of the date of this Reply. Clearly, pursuant to Civil Code § 1945 and applicable California authority, the Lease converted to a month-to-month tenancy after August 14, 2018.

[Dkt. No. 278, pg. 3]. Debtor's argument, on the other hand, appears to be that Berger Foundation's actions in this case simply do not reflect clear consent to Debtor's continued possession of the premises.

First, there appears to be a timing issue which has not been identified by the parties. The operative lease expired, by its own terms, on August 14, 2018. The instant bankruptcy was filed on August 15, 2018. Therefore, assuming, arguendo, that rent was paid and accepted in a matter which would trigger the statutory presumption in CAL. CIV. CODE § 1945, such event would have occurred after the petition date. City v. Hart, 175 Cal. App. 3d 92, 94 (Cal. Ct. App. 1985) ("The statute provides the landlord's consent to the holding over is implied if he accepts rent from the tenant after the expiration of the lease. This consent to the holding over must be established before the statutory presumption of the same terms becomes effective.") (emphasis added). Therefore, the lease at issue would have been, as of the petition date, expired and not assumable. Quite simply, on the record before the Court, it is implausible that Berger Foundation could have undertaken any action in the fraction of the day before the instant bankruptcy filing which would have indicated consent to the creation of a month-to-month tenancy.

Furthermore, outside of the bankruptcy law issues raised above, Berger Foundation's position does not seem to be compatible with state law. Quite simply, the presumptions outlined in CAL. CIV. CODE § 1945 are analogous to contractual principles in common law. By remaining in possession of the property, and tendering a rental payment, a holdover tenant is making an offer; by accepting such tender, the landlord manifests his assent to such offer. Berger Foundation seems to be positing that the payment of any rent whatsoever, even a single dollar, subsequently accepted by the landlord, results in the extension of the lease terms on the original contractual terms.

Berger Foundation's argument, however, is inconsistent with fundamental contractual principles, for, in the case of a minimal rental payment, it cannot be said that either party has made an offer, accepted by the other party, to renew the original lease terms. At best, the landlord's implied acquiescence may be construed as an offer, yet the tenant's tender of a minimal rental payment can only be interpreted as a counter-offer, since such a tender would be materially inconsistent with the terms of the offer. If the landlord accepts this reduced tender, the terms agreed upon must be construed as those set forth in the counter-offer, a principle codified in CAL. CIV. PRO. § 2076:

The person to whom a tender is made must, at the time, specify any objection he may have to the money, instrument, or property, or he must be deemed to have waived it; and if the objection be to the amount of money, the terms of the instrument, or the amount or kind of property, he must specify the amount, terms, or kind which he requires, or be precluded from objecting afterwards.

See also Taylor v. Taylor, 39 Cal. App. 2d 518, 521 (Cal. Ct. App. 1940) ("It is now settled by these cases that where the tenant tenders, and the landlord accepts, as full payment of the rent, a less monthly rental than that reserved in the lease, he cannot later recover the unpaid balance of the rent reserved.")

While the above principle, a principle of estoppel, is properly subject to the Court's consideration of equities, such consideration would simply not change the fact that a reduced monthly rental payment cannot be considered acquiescence to a renewal of the original contractual terms. In the absence of such mutual agreement to be bound to the original terms, there simply cannot be contractual privity.

Finally, the Court notes that the operation of CAL. CIV. CODE § 1945 is to create a rebuttable presumption that the lease has been extended. Assuming, arguendo, that the bankruptcy and contract law issues noted above were not present, it appears probable that such a presumption would be rebutted in the instant case. The Court is not aware of any action taken by Debtor that would support a conclusion that Debtor intended to renew the lease on the original terms, and Berger Foundation has made repeated statements which would be incompatible with the presumption in § 1945. For instance, in the instant motion Berger Foundation made the following statements, which are implicitly and explicitly more compatible with a holdover tenancy than a month-to-month tenancy:

United States Bankruptcy Court

Chapter 11

- "Since the filing of this case, the Debtor has continued, and continues, to occupy the Premises, yet has failed to pay the rental obligation due and owing." [Dkt. No 194, pg. 2 and 4]

- "Based on the fact that the Debtor remained as a holdover tenant, and pursuant to the terms of the Lease, the rental obligation increases to approximately $91,216.50 per month." [Dkt. No. 194, pg. 4 and 10] (emphasis added).

- "Here, the Debtor has made no payments while continuing to occupy the Premises." [Dkt. No. 194, pg. 6].

For the reasons outlined above, the Court concludes that the lease in question was expired as of the petition date because nothing in the record indicates that Berger Foundation provided consent to continued possession of the premises in the less than one-day period between the expiration of the lease and the instant bankruptcy filing. To the extent that Berger Foundation argues that postpetition acts retroactively revived the original lease terms, such retroactive revival would seem to be incompatible with City v. Hart, 175 Cal. App. 3d 92, 94 (Cal. Ct. App. 1985). Furthermore, because Debtor did not remotely act in accordance with the original lease terms, it cannot be said that Debtor actions constituted a renewal of those terms; if any lease was entered into postpetition, it must have been on substantially different terms, which would require notice and a hearing. Additionally, even if the statutory presumption of CAL. CIV. CODE § 1945 were applicable in the instant situation, the Court concludes that such presumption would likely be rebutted based on the fact that Debtor did not act in accordance with the original terms, and based on Berger Foundation's explicit characterization of Debtor as a holdover tenant.

II. 11 U.S.C. § 503

11 U.S.C. § 503(b)(1)(A) states:

(1)(A) the actual, necessary costs and expenses of preserving the estate including –

"An administrative rent claim under this standard is value 'under an objective worth standard that measures the fair and reasonable value of the lease.'" In re Pac.-Atl. Trading Co., 27 F.3d 401, 403 (9th Cir. 1994) (quoting In re Dant & Russell, Inc., 853 F.2d 700, 707 (9th Cir. 1988)). "The rent reserved in the lease is presumptive evidence of fair and reasonable value, but the presumption may be rebutted by demonstrating that the reasonable worth of the lease differs from the contract rate." In re Thompson, 788 F.2d 560, 563 (9th Cir. 1986). "Where the debtor or trustee only uses a portion of the lease property, however, he must pay an administrative expense only for that portion of the property." Id. at 562. The Court continued the previous hearing for the parties to provide evidence and argument regarding the objective value of the portion of the leased property utilized by Debtor.

Debtor first, very briefly, argues that the parties have implicitly agreed to a rental rate of $5,000 per month, and that that amount should be used in calculating Berger Foundation's administrative claim. Debtor appears to base this argument on the Court's tentative ruling for the hearing of December 18, 2018; specifically, Debtor refers to Taylor v. Taylor, 39 Cal. App. 2d 518, 521 (Cal. Ct. App. 1940). The Court rejects Debtor's approach. The relevant language in the Court's tentative ruling is used to illustrate that, in the context of a holdover tenancy, the original contractual terms do not necessarily control when the parties have acted in a manner which is materially inconsistent with those terms. Importantly, here, the $5,000 payment discussed by Debtor is not necessarily a "rental" payment, but is more accurately characterized as an "adequate protection" payment. Adequate protection payments may be in amounts substantially different than the actual amount due – for instant, an adequate protection payment may be interest only, or may attempt to estimate the depreciation of the estate, in order to protect the secured creditor's interest. Furthermore, it would not be equitable to apply the estoppel principle codified in CAL. CIV. PRO. § 2076 in the context of bankruptcy, where the lender does have the ability to reject the payment and, without constraint, exercise its traditional state law rights.

Debtor's primary argument is that the contract rate of the lease is an "inappropriate measure" of the objective worth of the lease because Debtor did not use the entirety of the leased premises. Specifically, Debtor argues that it only utilized 4,000 square feet of the leased premises. Berger Foundation, on the other hand, makes two arguments in response: (1) that the entirety of the premises were necessary for Debtor to maintain its CMS license; and (2) that Debtor actually utilized the majority of the premises. In support of its argument, Debtor has provided declarations attesting that Debtor only used 4,000 square feet, and that, after moving into a smaller space, Debtor did not lose any funding, or, presumably, its license. Berger Foundation has provided a declaration which includes the vague statement that Debtor "continued to utilize the majority of the Premises."

The record provided to the Court is, unfortunately, unclear and incapable of providing the necessary evidentiary framework for a precise mathematical calculation. First, there is conflicting evidence regarding whether Debtor used only 4,000 square feet. Second, and more importantly, the evidence seems to suggest, but is still unclear, that the Debtor required all the space to maintain its license (or at least thought it had to). Debtor's response states the following: "Although it is true the Debtor was concerned it might lose funding if it lost its physical address in Palm Desert by hastily vacating the Premises, a belief that the Debtor needed a physical address for funding does not trump the Ninth Circuit requirement that the Debtor actually use the entirety of the Premises. In fact, Berger does not cite to any authority for this proposition." [Dkt. No. 323, pg. 10, lines 6-10].

On the record before it, the Court concludes Debtor has failed to demonstrate it did not use the entirety of the premises. More specifically, the Court concludes that there are a variety of ways that a space can be "used," and that that term is not limited to physical occupancy by the tenant. While, again, the record before the Court is less than clear, it appears that Debtor represented that it had control over, and occupancy of, the entirety of the premises for purposes of its licensing and funding. As a result, it appears Debtor continued to "use" the leased premises for some purposes, even if such use did not necessarily amount to physical use of the entirety of the premises for normal business operations. Because Debtor has not established that the use of the full premises was not reasonably necessary to preserve the estate, the Court rejects Debtor's attempt to reduce the space used to 4,000 square foot. As a result, the Court concludes that Debtor has not rebutted the presumption that the contract rate represents the reasonable value of the leased premises used.

Tentative Ruling:

4/30/2019

Service: Proper
Opposition: Yes.

On February 19, 2019, Anthony Yue Ming Liu ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 11 voluntary petition. On Schedule F, Debtor listed Andrzej Luczynski ("Movant") as the holder of an unsecured claim of $1,380,000 relating to a civil lawsuit.

On March 12, 2019, Movant filed a motion for relief from the automatic stay, seeking to continue pending state court litigation relating to claims for tortious exclusion of joint venturer, breach of fiduciary duty, breach of contract, and wrongful eviction. A state court hearing on Debtor's objections to the tentative decision and proposed judgment had been scheduled for February 20, 2019, but was ultimately postponed due to the instant bankruptcy filing. It appears from the contents of the motion that Movant is only requesting to have the state court enter judgment, thereby liquidating Movant's claim.

On April 2, 2019, Debtor filed his opposition. The crux of Debtor's opposition is that the relief from the automatic stay is unnecessary because Movant's claim has been effectively liquidated. Debtor notes that "[t]he only issue remaining is a determination of any costs and attorney's fees, which Debtor has attempted to review for reasonableness in hopes that the parties could avoid unnecessary litigation and expenses regarding the same." [Dkt. No. 49, pg. 4, lines 10-12]. On April 9, 2019, Movant filed a reply, effectively arguing that Debtor's opposition does not contain a legal basis upon which relief from stay could be denied.

When considering a motion for relief from the automatic stay to pursue a non-bankruptcy action, the Court considers the Curtis factors:

- (1) Whether the relief will result in a partial or complete resolution of the issues;
- (2) the lack of any connection with or interference with the bankruptcy case;
- (3) whether the foreign proceeding involves the debtor as fiduciary; (4) whether a specialized tribunal has been established to hear the particular cause of action and whether that tribunal has the expertise to hear such cases; (5) whether the debtor's insurance carrier has assumed full financial responsibility for defending the litigation; (6) whether the action essentially involves third parties, and the debtor functions only as a bailee or conduit for the good or proceeds in question; (7) whether the litigation in another forum would prejudice the interests of other creditors, the creditor's committee and other interested parties; (8) whether the judgment claim arising from the foreign action is subject to equitable subordination; (9) whether movant's success in the foreign proceeding would result in a judicial lien avoidable by the debtor under Section 522(f); (10) the interests of judicial economy and the expeditious and economical determination of litigation for the parties; (11) whether the foreign proceedings have progressed to the point where the parties are prepared for trial; and (12) the impact of the stay and the "balance of hurt."

In re Roger, 539 B.R. 837, 844-45 (C.D. Cal. 2015). In Roger, the Court further stated:

The Ninth Circuit has recognized that the Curtis factors are appropriate, nonexclusive, factors to consider in deciding whether to grant relief from the automatic stay to allow pending litigation to continue in another forum. While the Curtis factors are widely used to determine the existence of cause, not all of the factors are relevant in every case, nor is a court required to give each factor equal weight. According to the court in Curtis, the most important factor in determining whether to grant relief from the automatic stay to permit litigation against the debtor in another forum is the effect of such litigation on the administration of the estate. Even slight interference with the administration may be enough to preclude relief in the absence of a commensurate benefit. That said, some cases involving the automatic stay provision do not mention the Curtis factors at all.

Here, the Curtis factors weigh in favor of granting relief from the automatic stay. First, the relief requested would result in a complete resolution of the issues. Debtor's argument that relief from stay is not necessary to resolve the issue, because the issue could be resolved through the claim objection process in bankruptcy court, is not persuasive to the Court because it does not directly address the first Curtis factor and because, presumably, the state court is in a better position to assess the reasonableness of the fees and costs incurred in its own proceedings. Likewise, the second factor weighs in favor of the relief requested because the entry of a judgment in state court will not interfere with the administration of the bankruptcy estate. Debtor has not raised a plausible argument contending otherwise. A choice by Debtor to possibly incur attorney fees arguing the amount of Movant's fees and costs incurred in the state court proceeding does not constitute interference with the administration of the bankruptcy estate. Finally, the Court finds that the tenth through twelfth Curtis factors weigh in favor of granting relief from stay, because the state court proceeding progressed to the point where it was ready for trial, and the state court is in a better position to judge the reasonableness of the fees and costs incurred in its own proceeding.

The Court finds that the third through ninth Curtis factors are largely irrelevant in this situation and do not materially affect the Court's analysis. Additionally, the Court is not inclined to find that the instant bankruptcy was filed in bad faith. Movant's only argument made to support a bad faith finding is that the instant case was filed on the eve of the anticipated state court judgment. Noting that Debtor scheduled Movant's claim and does not appear to be attempting to undermine the state court proceeding, the Court cannot conclude that Debtor is acting on bad faith simply because he is attempting to satisfy Movant's claim through a Chapter 11 plan of reorganization.

The Court is inclined to GRANT request for relief pursuant to § 362(d)(1). GRANT waiver of Rule 4001(a) stay. GRANT request under ¶ 2. DENY request for relief under ¶ 7 for lack of cause shown.

Docket 97

Tentative Ruling:

7/30/19

BACKGROUND

On February 19, 2019, Anthony Liu ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 11 voluntary petition. On June 17, 2019, the Court approved a stipulation between UST and Debtor which provided for waiver of discharge pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1141(d)(4).

The claims bar date for non-governmental claims was May 29, 2019. Seven claims were filed in the instant case. The four primary creditors of Debtor are: (1) Andrzej Luczynski ("Luczynski") ($2,790,321.07); (2) Trustee for the bankruptcy estate of Desert Ice Castle, LLC ("Trustee") ($1,863,672.10)¹; (3) Z&M Trading, Inc. ("Z&M") ($662,453.70); and (4) the Law Offices of Mark W. Edelstein APC ("Edelstein") ($63,620.96).

On July 9, 2019, Debtor filed three motions to approve compromise, reflecting settlements reached with all primary creditors, specifically (a) Luczynski and Z&M; (b) Trustee; and (c) Edelstein. Debtor has indicated that he will pay off, in full, the only two claims not subject to the settlement, which total $8,270.87.

Chapter 11

Also on July 9, 2019, Debtor filed a motion to dismiss the Chapter 11 case. Trustee has filed a condition non-opposition, asking that: (a) the settlement payment be made prior to the lodging of a dismissal order; and (b) Luczynski withdraw the proofs of claims filed in the bankruptcy case of Desert Ice Castle, LLC.

DISCUSSION

11 U.S.C. § 1112(b)(1) states:

Except as provided in paragraph (2) and subsection (c), on request of a party in interest, and after notice and a hearing, the court shall convert a case under this chapter to a case under chapter 7 or dismiss a case under this chapter, whichever is in the best interests of creditors and the estate, for cause unless the court determines that the appointment under section 1104(a) of a trustee or an examiner is in the best interests of creditors and the estate.

Section 1112(b)(4) provides a non-exhaustive list of examples of cause. While Debtor is a party in interest pursuant to § 1109(b), the examples of cause outlined in § 1112(b)(4) are addressing to a non-debtor party. When a Chapter 11 debtor satisfies all claims against the estate without the use of a plan, however, the creditors no longer have any interest in the bankruptcy case moving forward. Additionally, in this case, Debtor has waived discharge, so, likewise, the Debtor would appear to have no interest in the case moving forward. Therefore, the Court is inclined to GRANT the motion, DISMISSING the case on the conditions set forth in Debtor's motion and Trustee's conditional non-opposition, and subject to the issues raised in the Court's tentative ruling relating to the compromise motions.

- 1) Debtor to pay Lucynski and Z&M $3,156,621.53, with 7% interest, as follows:
(a) $250,000 within one week of the effective date of settlement; (b) $250,000 within sixty days of first payment; (c) $250,000 within sixty days of second payment; and (d) $58,000/month thereafter until satisfying the total amount. The payment obligations of Debtor are to be secured by a deed of trust against certain real property of Debtor.
- 2) Debtor to pay Trustee $60,000 within one week of the effective date of the settlement.
- 3) Debtor to pay Edelstein $45,000 within one week of the effective date of the settlement.

The settlement resolves all claims against Debtor, and contains a mutual release of all claims, and a dismissal of all pending actions. Debtor has indicated that he will pay off, in full, the only two claims not subject to the settlement, which total $8,270.87.

DISCUSSION

I. Legal Standard for Approving Compromise

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1107(a), Debtor has all the rights and duties of a trustee. Rule 9019(a) authorizes the bankruptcy court to approve a compromise or settlement on the trustee's motion and after notice and a hearing. The bankruptcy court must consider all "factors relevant to a full and fair assessment of the wisdom of the proposed compromise." Protective Comm. for Indep. Stockholders of TMT Trailer Ferry, Inc. v. Anderson, 390 U.S. 414, 424 (1968). In other words, the bankruptcy court must find that the settlement is "fair and equitable" in order to approve it. Martin v. Kane (In re A & C Props.), 784 F.2d 1377, 1381 (9th Cir. 1986).

In conducting this inquiry, the bankruptcy court must consider the following factors:

(a) the probability of success in the litigation; (b) the difficulties, if any, to be encountered in the matter of collection; (c) the complexity of the litigation involved, and the expense, inconvenience and delay necessarily attending it; and (d) the paramount interest of the creditors and a proper deference to their reasonable views in the premises.

Id.

The bankruptcy court enjoys broad discretion in approving a compromise because it "is uniquely situated to consider the equities and reasonableness [of it]" United States v. Alaska Nat'l Bank (In re Walsh Construction, Inc.), 669 F.2d 1325, 1328 (9th Cir. 1982). As stated in A & C Props.:

The purpose of a compromise agreement is to allow the trustee and the creditors to avoid the expenses and burdens associated with litigating sharply contested and dubious claims. The law favors compromise and not litigation for its own sake, and as long as the bankruptcy court amply considered the various factors that determined the reasonableness of the compromise, the court's decision must be affirmed.

Id. (citations omitted).

The factual situation here is rather unique because Debtor has reached settlements with all of the significant creditors in this bankruptcy case, while asserting that he will pay off the two small creditors in full. Therefore, all creditors: (a) will be paid off in full; or (b) have expressly consented to the treatment of their claim. As a result, the final A&C factor, the interests of creditors, which in this situation is the predominant concern when assessing the fairness and reasonableness of the settlement, strongly, probably conclusively weighs in favor of settlement. As noted by Debtor, the second A&C factor is inapplicable here because Debtor is not trying to collect from the other parties to the settlement. And the first and third factors would appear to also weigh in favor of settlement, given that Debtor was faced with a tentative ruling indicating that the Court was inclined to rule against him, and because the amount of the claims at issue would likely cause significant litigation.

There is one technical issue that remains, applicable to both the three compromise motions, as well as the concurrently scheduled motion to dismiss the Chapter 11 case.

Chapter 11

Debtor, by seeking a dismissal of the underlying bankruptcy cases and by settling with the three primary creditors, is, in effect, either proposing a sub rosa plan or seeking a structured dismissal (or both); such a proposal cannot violate the Code's priority scheme. See, e.g., In re Cont'l Air Lines, Inc., 780 F.2d 1223, 1226 (5th Cir. 1986) ("§ 363 does not authorize a debtor and the bankruptcy court 'to short circuit the requirements of a reorganization plan by establishing the terms of the plan sub rosa in connection' with a proposed transaction."); see also Czyzewski v. Jevic Holding Corp., 137 S. Ct. 973, 984 (2017) ("The priority system applicable to those distributions has long been considered fundamental to the Bankruptcy Code's operation. The importance of the priority system leads us to expect more than simple statutory silence if, and when, Congress were to intend a major departure. Put somewhat more directly, we would expect to see some affirmative indication of intent if Congress actually meant to make structured dismissals a backdoor means to achieve the exact kind of nonconsensual priority-violating final distributions that the Code prohibits in Chapter 7 liquidations and Chapter 11 plans.").

Debtor seems to have anticipated this issue, noting in all three compromise motions and the motion to dismiss, that he would pay off the two non-settling creditors who filed proofs of claims, and also identifying the various scheduled creditors who did not file proofs of claims. There are, however, two remaining issues that have not been resolved. First, FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 3003(b)(1) provides that, in Chapter 11 cases, a creditor whose claim is scheduled by Debtor, generally need not file a proof of claim, but may rely on the amount admitted by Debtor instead. Debtor's declaration in the motion to dismiss addresses this to some degree, but it is not sufficient to overcome the prohibitions against paying outside of the priority scheme. Second, the claims bar date for non-governmental claims is August 19, 2019, and, therefore, has not yet expired, potentially allowing for the filing of additional priority claims.

TENTATIVE RULING

Debtor to address the two issues raised in the preceding paragraph, and, specifically, whether and how remaining creditors should be paid.

Chapter 11

In conducting this inquiry, the bankruptcy court must consider the following factors:

(a) the probability of success in the litigation; (b) the difficulties, if any, to be encountered in the matter of collection; (c) the complexity of the litigation involved, and the expense, inconvenience and delay necessarily attending it; and (d) the paramount interest of the creditors and a proper deference to their reasonable views in the premises.

Id.

The bankruptcy court enjoys broad discretion in approving a compromise because it "is uniquely situated to consider the equities and reasonableness [of it]" United States v. Alaska Nat'l Bank (In re Walsh Construction, Inc.), 669 F.2d 1325, 1328 (9th Cir. 1982). As stated in A & C Props.:

The purpose of a compromise agreement is to allow the trustee and the creditors to avoid the expenses and burdens associated with litigating sharply contested and dubious claims. The law favors compromise and not litigation for its own sake, and as long as the bankruptcy court amply considered the various factors that determined the reasonableness of the compromise, the court's decision must be affirmed.

Id. (citations omitted).

The factual situation here is rather unique because Debtor has reached settlements with all of the significant creditors in this bankruptcy case, while asserting that he will pay off the two small creditors in full. Therefore, all creditors: (a) will be paid off in full; or (b) have expressly consented to the treatment of their claim. As a result, the final A&C factor, the interests of creditors, which in this situation is the predominant concern when assessing the fairness and reasonableness of the settlement, strongly, probably conclusively weighs in favor of settlement. As noted by Debtor, the second A&C factor is inapplicable here because Debtor is not trying to collect from the other parties to the settlement. And the first and third factors would appear to also weigh in favor of settlement, given that Debtor was faced with a tentative ruling indicating that the Court was inclined to rule against him, and because the amount of the claims at issue would likely cause significant litigation.

There is one technical issue that remains, applicable to both the three compromise motions, as well as the concurrently scheduled motion to dismiss the Chapter 11 case. Debtor, by seeking a dismissal of the underlying bankruptcy cases and by settling with the three primary creditors, is, in effect, either proposing a sub rosa plan or seeking a structured dismissal (or both); such a proposal cannot violate the Code's priority scheme. See, e.g., In re Cont'l Air Lines, Inc., 780 F.2d 1223, 1226 (5th Cir. 1986) ("§ 363 does not authorize a debtor and the bankruptcy court 'to short circuit the requirements of a reorganization plan by establishing the terms of the plan sub rosa in connection' with a proposed transaction."); see also Czyzewski v. Jevic Holding Corp., 137 S. Ct. 973, 984 (2017) ("The priority system applicable to those distributions has long been considered fundamental to the Bankruptcy Code's operation. The importance of the priority system leads us to expect more than simple statutory silence if, and when, Congress were to intend a major departure. Put somewhat more directly, we would expect to see some affirmative indication of intent if Congress actually meant to make structured dismissals a backdoor means to achieve the exact kind of nonconsensual priority-violating final distributions that the Code prohibits in Chapter 7 liquidations and Chapter 11 plans.").

Debtor seems to have anticipated this issue, noting in all three compromise motions and the motion to dismiss, that he would pay off the two non-settling creditors who filed proofs of claims, and also identifying the various scheduled creditors who did not file proofs of claims. There are, however, two remaining issues that have not been resolved. First, FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 3003(b)(1) provides that, in Chapter 11 cases, a creditor whose claim is scheduled by Debtor, generally need not file a proof of claim, but may rely on the amount admitted by Debtor instead. Debtor's declaration in the motion to dismiss addresses this to some degree, but it is not sufficient to overcome the prohibitions against paying outside of the priority scheme. Second, the claims bar date for non-governmental claims is August 19, 2019, and, therefore, has not yet expired, potentially allowing for the filing of additional priority claims.

TENTATIVE RULING

Debtor to address the two issues raised in the preceding paragraph, and, specifically, whether and how remaining creditors should be paid.

Docket 94

Tentative Ruling:

7/30/19

BACKGROUND

On February 19, 2019, Anthony Liu ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 11 voluntary petition. On June 17, 2019, the Court approved a stipulation between UST and Debtor which provided for waiver of discharge pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1141(d)(4).

The claims bar date for non-governmental claims was May 29, 2019. Seven claims were filed in the instant case. The four primary creditors of Debtor are: (1) Andrzej Luczynski ("Luczynski") ($2,790,321.07); (2) Trustee for the bankruptcy estate of Desert Ice Castle, LLC ("Trustee") ($1,863,672.10)¹; (3) Z&M Trading, Inc. ("Z&M") ($662,453.70); and (4) the Law Offices of Mark W. Edelstein APC ("Edelstein") ($63,620.96).

On July 9, 2019, Debtor filed three motions to approve compromise, reflecting settlements reached with (a) Luczynski and Z&M; (b) Trustee; and (c) Edelstein. The Court did not receive any timely opposition to the compromise motions.

Chapter 11

The pertinent facts of the three compromises are as follows:

- 1) Debtor to pay Lucynski and Z&M $3,156,621.53, with 7% interest, as follows: (a) $250,000 within one week of the effective date of settlement; (b) $250,000 within sixty days of first payment; (c) $250,000 within sixty days of second payment; and (d) $58,000/month thereafter until satisfying the total amount. The payment obligations of Debtor are to be secured by a deed of trust against certain real property of Debtor.
- 2) Debtor to pay Trustee $60,000 within one week of the effective date of the settlement.
- 3) Debtor to pay Edelstein $45,000 within one week of the effective date of the settlement.

The settlement resolves all claims against Debtor, and contains a mutual release of all claims, and a dismissal of all pending actions. Debtor has indicated that he will pay off, in full, the only two claims not subject to the settlement, which total $8,270.87.

DISCUSSION

I. Legal Standard for Approving Compromise

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1107(a), Debtor has all the rights and duties of a trustee. Rule 9019(a) authorizes the bankruptcy court to approve a compromise or settlement on the trustee's motion and after notice and a hearing. The bankruptcy court must consider all "factors relevant to a full and fair assessment of the wisdom of the proposed compromise." Protective Comm. for Indep. Stockholders of TMT Trailer Ferry, Inc. v. Anderson, 390 U.S. 414, 424 (1968). In other words, the bankruptcy court must find that the settlement is "fair and equitable" in order to approve it. Martin v. Kane (In re A & C Props.), 784 F.2d 1377, 1381 (9th Cir. 1986).

7/30/19

BACKGROUND

On April 12, 2019, Woodcrest Ace Hardware Inc., 9 Fingers, Inc., P&P Hardware, Inc. Riverside Ace Hardware, Inc., and Wildomar Ace Hardware, Inc. (collectively, "Debtors") all filed Chapter 11 voluntary petitions; their cases are jointly administered as of July 12, 2019. On April 23, 2019, Debtors filed motions to consolidate the cases. Debtors also filed an application shortening time, however, the Court denied the application, and the motions to consolidate were ultimately set for hearing on June 4, 2019. At the hearings of June 4, 2019, the Court denied the motions to consolidate without prejudice.

On July 9, 2019, Debtors filed a second motion for substantive consolidation. The primary grounds for substantive consolidation remain unchanged -- that Debtors are controlled by the same two individuals, Paul & Pamela Shanabarger (collectively, the "Shanabargers"), and that the Shanabargers "have admittedly historically failed to observe corporate formalities in the conduct of their business as between themselves, sharing and co-mingling funds extensively, routinely transferring funds between the entities as needed and without adhering to corporate formalities." Chapter 11

Debtors have now added an additional argument in support of substantive consolidation: UST's objection to the employment application of Debtors' counsel, Rosenstein & Associates ("Counsel"), on the grounds that each of the individual corporations may have conflicting and adverse interests. Additionally, California Bank & Trust filed a similar limited objection to the employment of Counsel. Debtors submit that, in the event the cases are not substantively consolidated, forcing each individual Debtor to obtain separate counsel would result in significantly increased administrative costs, severely burdening Debtors.

On July 16, 2019, the Court received a limited opposition from California Bank & Trust, and an opposition from National Cooperative Bank. On July 23, 2019, Debtors filed their reply.

DISCUSSION

The Ninth Circuit has recently reiterated that:

To determine whether substantive consolidation is appropriate, a bankruptcy court evaluates "(i) whether creditors dealt with the entities as a single economic unit and did not rely on their separate identity in extending credit; or (ii) whether the affairs of the debtors are so entangled that consolidation will benefit all creditors. The sole aim of this analysis is fairness to all creditors.

Matter of Transwest Resort Props., Inc., 881 F.3d 724, 732 (9th Cir. 2018) (quotations and citations omitted); see also In re Bonham, 229 F.3d 750, 771 (9th Cir. 2000) ("In either case, the bankruptcy court must in essence determine that the assets of all of the consolidated parties are substantially the same."). And the Ninth Circuit has previously stated that, when applying this test:

The presence of either factor is a sufficient basis to order substantive consolidation. The first factor, reliance on the separate credit of the entity, is based on the consideration that lenders structure their loans according to their expectations regarding the borrower and do not anticipate either having the assets of a more sound company available in the case of insolvency or having the creditors of a less sound debtor compete for the borrower's assets. Consolidation under the second factor, entanglement of the debtor's affairs, is justified only where the time and expense necessary even to attempt to unscramble them is so substantial as to threaten the realization of any net assets for all the creditors or where no accurate identification and allocation of assets is possible.

In re Bonham, 229 F.3d at 766. Furthermore, "substantive consolidation should be used sparingly and in keeping with its equitable nature." In re R&S St. Rose Lenders, LLC, 756 Fed. Appx. 731, 733 (9th Cir. 2019) (quotations omitted). "The party seeking to consolidate entities has the burden of establishing either allegation." In re Howland, 674 Fed. Appx. 482, 488 (6th Cir. 2017).

The fundamental problem with Debtors' renewed request for substantive consolidation is that it appears that the only new evidence presented by Debtors – that UST has objected to the employment application of Counsel on, primarily, the basis that the individual debtors may have adverse interests – is not relevant to the legal test to be applied by this Court. As the Third Circuit has previously stated: "Mere benefit to the administration of the case (for example, allowing a court to simplify a case by avoiding other issues or to make postpetition accounting more convenient) is hardly a harm calling substantive consolidation into play." In re Owens Corning, 419 F.3d 195, 211 (3rd Cir. 2005).

Here, Debtors do not appear to have raised material evidence to satisfy the first step of the Bonham test (that creditors relied on the entity as a single economic unit), instead focusing on the second factor, the entanglement of the financial affairs of Debtors. While there is some evidence to submit a finding that Debtor has satisfied the second factor, it does not appear that there is any new evidence to warrant a different ruling from the Court. Quite simply, as the Ninth Circuit stated in In re Bonham, the remedy sought should be used sparingly and only when affairs are so "excessively entangled" that "consolidation will benefit all creditors." 229 F.3d 750 at 766. Here, that showing has not been made.

The Court is inclined to DENY the motion.

On May 24, 2019, Debtors filed an application to employ bankruptcy counsel, seeking to employ Rosenstein & Associates ("Counsel") retroactive to April 24, 2019. On June 7, 2019, UST filed its objection, arguing that the "extensive inter-company transactions" of the Debtors "may create potential and/or actual conflicts that may preclude the Firm from providing joint representation. expenses incurred on behalf of each individual debtor. On July 23, 2019, Debtors filed a reply, agreeing to the conditions set forth in the limited opposition filed by California Bank & Trust, but not directly addressing the concerns raised by UST.

DISCUSSION

FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 2014(a) states:

An order approving the employment of attorneys, accountants, appraisers, auctioneers, agents, or other professionals pursuant to § 327, § 1103, or § 1114 of the Code shall be made only on application of the trustee or committee. The application shall be filed and, unless the case is a chapter 9 municipality case, a copy of the application shall be transmitted by the applicant to the United States trustee. The application shall state the specific facts showing the necessity for the employment, the name of the person to be employed, the reasons for the selection, the professional services to be rendered, any proposed arrangement for compensation, and, to the best of the applicant's knowledge, all of the person's connections with the debtor, creditors, any other party in interest, their respective attorneys and accountants, the United States trustee, or any person employed in the office of the United States trustee. The application shall be accompanied by a verified statement of the person to be employed setting forth the person's connections with the debtor, creditors, any other party in interest, their respective attorneys and accountants, the United States trustee, or any person employed in the office of the United States trustee.

Here, Counsel has adequately disclosed that he is seeking employment for each of the five different debtor corporations. While the objection of UST is cursory, it would appear that UST is requesting Counsel to make clear the extent of the inter-company transactions. The Court finds this to be a reasonable request, especially given that the future administration of the cases may be substantially affected by the magnitude of the transactions.

UST also requests that the Court "permit the parties to submit supplemental briefing on whether Counsel is disinterested or represents adverse interests under Section 327." [Dkt. No. 73, pg. 3]. As noted by California Bank & Trust, the Court applies a two-pronged test in reviewing employment under 11 U.S.C. § 327, reviewing: (1) disinterestedness; and (2) whether the applicant holds or represents an interest adverse to the estate. See In re Treasures, Inc., 2015 WL at 925957 at *15 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2015)., UST & California Bank & Trust suggest that the inter-company transactions may result in a situation where Counsel would represent interests adverse to a bankruptcy estate that Counsel simultaneously represents.

The Bankruptcy Appellate Panel has outlined the definition of "adverse interest":

The reported cases have defined what it means to hold an adverse interest as follows: (1) to possess or assert any economic interest that would tend to lessen the value of the bankruptcy estate or that would create either an actual or potential dispute in which the estate is a rival claimant; or (2) to possess a predisposition under circumstances that render such a bias against the estate.

To represent an adverse interest means to serve as an attorney for an entity holding such an adverse interest.

In re Tevis, 347 B.R. 679, 688 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2006) (citations omitted). The Court notes that the Bankruptcy Appellate Panel then quoted, and briefly discussed California Rules of Professional Conduct Rule 3-310, which is the rule governing of conflicts of interest. The Court notes that this rule allows conflicts to be waived by the informed written consent of client; it is not clear, however, that the Bankruptcy Appellate Panel applied this rule, or considered it relevant to the analysis under § 327. The Court does note, however, that accepting representation where even a potential conflict is present requires informed written consent under Professional Rule 3-310.

In the context of 11 U.S.C. § 327, where a proposed counsel clearly has a potential conflict, but may not have an actual conflict, or may reasonably be able to limit representation to avoid an actual conflict, there are two different approaches the Court could take. First, the Court could error on the side of caution and conclude that representation is simply improper. For example, the Court in In re Lee, 94 B.R. 172, 180 (Bankr C.D. Cal. 1988) stated the following:

Accordingly, this Court adopts a presumption for two or more related cases, that it is improper to appoint (1) a single trustee, (2) a single creditors' committee, or (3) the same counsel for the trustees, for the creditors' committee or for the debtors in possession under any of the following circumstances:

- (a) Where creditors of the debtors have dealt with such debtors as an economic unit (which may be reflected in guaranties and subordination agreements);
- (b) Where there is a substantial overlap of creditors;
- (c) Where the affairs of the respective debtors (as reflected in inter-debtor accounts, jointly owned assets, guarantees, subordination agreements, or shared officers, directors or owners) appear to be substantially entangled;
- (d) Where assets have been transferred from one debtor to another in transactions that are not at arms length;
- (e) Where piercing of the corporate veil of one of the debtors is necessary or advisable to protect the rights of creditors of another debtor.

Multiple Lee factors appear to be present here. On the other hand, the Court could conclude that a potential conflict of interest does not preclude employment so long as strictly tailored precautions are taken to avoid an actual conflict materializing. See, e.g., In re Stevens, 2015 WL 3476567 at *10 (Bankr. D. Mon. 2015) ("If the Stevens were creditors, they would have to show that an actual conflict of interest exists in order to disapprove Cotner's employment.") (emphasis added). "The Court understands that the term 'materially adverse' to the interest of the estate in § 101(14)(C) requires more than just a potential or theoretical adverse interest." Id.

BACKGROUND

On April 12, 2019, Woodcrest Ace Hardware Inc., 9 Fingers, Inc., P&P Hardware, Inc. Riverside Ace Hardware, Inc., and Wildomar Ace Hardware, Inc. (collectively, "Debtors") all filed Chapter 11 voluntary petitions; their cases are jointly administered as of July 12, 2019. On April 23, 2019, Debtors filed motions to consolidate the cases. Debtors also filed an application shortening time, however, the Court denied the application, and the motions to consolidate were ultimately set for hearing on June 4, 2019. At the hearings of June 4, 2019, the Court denied the motions to consolidate without prejudice.

On July 9, 2019, Debtors filed a second motion for substantive consolidation. The primary grounds for substantive consolidation remain unchanged -- that Debtors are controlled by the same two individuals, Paul & Pamela Shanabarger (collectively, the "Shanabargers"), and that the Shanabargers "have admittedly historically failed to observe corporate formalities in the conduct of their business as between themselves, sharing and co-mingling funds extensively, routinely transferring funds between the entities as needed and without adhering to corporate formalities." [Dkt. No 121, pg.

Chapter 11

Debtors have now added an additional argument in support of substantive consolidation: UST's objection to the employment application of Debtors' counsel, Rosenstein & Associates ("Counsel"), on the grounds that each of the individual corporations may have conflicting and adverse interests. Additionally, California Bank & Trust filed a similar limited objection to the employment of Counsel. Debtors submit that, in the event the cases are not substantively consolidated, forcing each individual Debtor to obtain separate counsel would result in significantly increased administrative costs, severely burdening Debtors.

On July 16, 2019, the Court received a limited opposition from California Bank & Trust, and an opposition from National Cooperative Bank. On July 23, 2019, Debtors filed their reply.

DISCUSSION

The Ninth Circuit has recently reiterated that:

To determine whether substantive consolidation is appropriate, a bankruptcy court evaluates "(i) whether creditors dealt with the entities as a single economic unit and did not rely on their separate identity in extending credit; or (ii) whether the affairs of the debtors are so entangled that consolidation will benefit all creditors. The sole aim of this analysis is fairness to all creditors.

Matter of Transwest Resort Props., Inc., 881 F.3d 724, 732 (9th Cir. 2018) (quotations and citations omitted); see also In re Bonham, 229 F.3d 750, 771 (9th Cir. 2000) ("In either case, the bankruptcy court must in essence determine that the assets of all of the consolidated parties are substantially the same."). And the Ninth Circuit has previously stated that, when applying this test:

The presence of either factor is a sufficient basis to order substantive consolidation. The first factor, reliance on the separate credit of the entity, is based on the consideration that lenders structure their loans according to their expectations regarding the borrower and do not anticipate either having the assets of a more sound company available in the case of insolvency or having the creditors of a less sound debtor compete for the borrower's assets. Consolidation under the second factor, entanglement of the debtor's affairs, is justified only where the time and expense necessary even to attempt to unscramble them is so substantial as to threaten the realization of any net assets for all the creditors or where no accurate identification and allocation of assets is possible.

In re Bonham, 229 F.3d at 766. Furthermore, "substantive consolidation should be used sparingly and in keeping with its equitable nature." In re R&S St. Rose Lenders, LLC, 756 Fed. Appx. 731, 733 (9th Cir. 2019) (quotations omitted). "The party seeking to consolidate entities has the burden of establishing either allegation." In re Howland, 674 Fed. Appx. 482, 488 (6th Cir. 2017).

The fundamental problem with Debtors' renewed request for substantive consolidation is that it appears that the only new evidence presented by Debtors – that UST has objected to the employment application of Counsel on, primarily, the basis that the individual debtors may have adverse interests – is not relevant to the legal test to be applied by this Court. As the Third Circuit has previously stated: "Mere benefit to the administration of the case (for example, allowing a court to simplify a case by avoiding other issues or to make postpetition accounting more convenient) is hardly a harm calling substantive consolidation into play." In re Owens Corning, 419 F.3d 195, 211 (3rd Cir. 2005).

Here, Debtors do not appear to have raised material evidence to satisfy the first step of the Bonham test (that creditors relied on the entity as a single economic unit), instead focusing on the second factor, the entanglement of the financial affairs of Debtors. While there is some evidence to submit a finding that Debtor has satisfied the second factor, it does not appear that there is any new evidence to warrant a different ruling

On May 24, 2019, Debtors filed an application to employ bankruptcy counsel, seeking to employ Rosenstein & Associates ("Counsel") retroactive to April 24, 2019. On June 7, 2019, UST filed its objection, arguing that the "extensive inter-company transactions" of the Debtors "may create potential and/or actual conflicts that may preclude the Firm from providing joint representation. [Dkt. No 95, pg. 2]. UST requests that: (a) Debtors amended their statement of financial affairs to disclose all inter-company transaction; (b) Counsel supplement its Rule 2014 disclosures; and (c) supplemental briefing be allowed regarding whether Counsel is "disinterested or represents adverse interests under Section 327 and whether Counsel complied with the disclosure requirements of Rule 2014." On June 10, 2019, California Bank & Trust filed a limited opposition, requesting that any employment order: (a) require Debtors to employ separate counsel with respect to any matter in which the individual Debtors have adverse interests; and (b) require Counsel to separately track the time and expenses incurred on behalf of each individual debtor. On July 23, 2019, Debtors filed a reply, agreeing to the conditions set forth in the limited opposition filed by California Bank & Trust, but not directly addressing the concerns raised by UST.

DISCUSSION

FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 2014(a) states:

An order approving the employment of attorneys, accountants, appraisers, auctioneers, agents, or other professionals pursuant to § 327, § 1103, or § 1114 of the Code shall be made only on application of the trustee or committee. The application shall be filed and, unless the case is a chapter 9 municipality case, a copy of the application shall be transmitted by the applicant to the United States trustee. The application shall state the specific facts showing the necessity for the employment, the name of the person to be employed, the reasons for the selection, the professional services to be rendered, any proposed arrangement for compensation, and, to the best of the applicant's knowledge, all of the person's connections with the debtor, creditors, any other party in interest, their respective attorneys and accountants, the United States trustee, or any person employed in the office of the United States trustee. The application shall be accompanied by a verified statement of the person to be employed setting forth the person's connections with the debtor, creditors, any other party in interest, their respective attorneys and accountants, the United States trustee, or any person employed in the office of the United States trustee.

Here, Counsel has adequately disclosed that he is seeking employment for each of the five different debtor corporations. While the objection of UST is cursory, it would appear that UST is requesting Counsel to make clear the extent of the inter-company transactions. The Court finds this to be a reasonable request, especially given that the future administration of the cases may be substantially affected by the magnitude of the transactions.

UST also requests that the Court "permit the parties to submit supplemental briefing on whether Counsel is disinterested or represents adverse interests under Section 327." [Dkt. No. 73, pg. 3]. As noted by California Bank & Trust, the Court applies a two-pronged test in reviewing employment under 11 U.S.C. § 327, reviewing: (1) disinterestedness; and (2) whether the applicant holds or represents an interest adverse to the estate. See In re Treasures, Inc., 2015 WL at 925957 at *15 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2015)., UST & California Bank & Trust suggest that the inter-company transactions may result in a situation where Counsel would represent interests adverse to a bankruptcy estate that Counsel simultaneously represents.

The Bankruptcy Appellate Panel has outlined the definition of "adverse interest":

The reported cases have defined what it means to hold an adverse interest as follows: (1) to possess or assert any economic interest that would tend to lessen the value of the bankruptcy estate or that would create either an actual or potential dispute in which the estate is a rival claimant; or (2) to possess a predisposition under circumstances that render such a bias against the estate.

To represent an adverse interest means to serve as an attorney for an entity holding such an adverse interest.

In re Tevis, 347 B.R. 679, 688 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2006) (citations omitted). The Court notes that the Bankruptcy Appellate Panel then quoted, and briefly discussed California Rules of Professional Conduct Rule 3-310, which is the rule governing of conflicts of interest. The Court notes that this rule allows conflicts to be waived by the informed written consent of client; it is not clear, however, that the Bankruptcy Appellate Panel applied this rule, or considered it relevant to the analysis under § 327. The Court does note, however, that accepting representation where even a potential conflict is present requires informed written consent under Professional Rule 3-310.

In the context of 11 U.S.C. § 327, where a proposed counsel clearly has a potential conflict, but may not have an actual conflict, or may reasonably be able to limit representation to avoid an actual conflict, there are two different approaches the Court could take. First, the Court could error on the side of caution and conclude that representation is simply improper. For example, the Court in In re Lee, 94 B.R. 172, 180 (Bankr C.D. Cal. 1988) stated the following:

Accordingly, this Court adopts a presumption for two or more related cases, that it is improper to appoint (1) a single trustee, (2) a single creditors' committee, or (3) the same counsel for the trustees, for the creditors' committee or for the debtors in possession under any of the following circumstances:

- (a) Where creditors of the debtors have dealt with such debtors as an economic unit (which may be reflected in guaranties and subordination agreements);
- (b) Where there is a substantial overlap of creditors;
- (c) Where the affairs of the respective debtors (as reflected in inter-debtor accounts, jointly owned assets, guarantees, subordination agreements, or shared officers, directors or owners) appear to be substantially entangled;
- (d) Where assets have been transferred from one debtor to another in transactions that are not at arms length;
- (e) Where piercing of the corporate veil of one of the debtors is necessary or advisable to protect the rights of creditors of another debtor.

Multiple Lee factors appear to be present here. On the other hand, the Court could conclude that a potential conflict of interest does not preclude employment so long as strictly tailored precautions are taken to avoid an actual conflict materializing. See, e.g., In re Stevens, 2015 WL 3476567 at *10 (Bankr. D. Mon. 2015) ("If the Stevens were creditors, they would have to show that an actual conflict of interest exists in order to disapprove Cotner's employment.") (emphasis added). "The Court understands that the term 'materially adverse' to the interest of the estate in § 101(14)(C) requires more than just a potential or theoretical adverse interest." Id.

could take. First, the Court could error on the side of caution and conclude that representation is simply improper. For example, the Court in In re Lee, 94 B.R. 172, 180 (Bankr C.D. Cal. 1988) stated the following:

Accordingly, this Court adopts a presumption for two or more related cases, that it is improper to appoint (1) a single trustee, (2) a single creditors' committee, or (3) the same counsel for the trustees, for the creditors' committee or for the debtors in possession under any of the following circumstances:

- (a) Where creditors of the debtors have dealt with such debtors as an economic unit (which may be reflected in guaranties and subordination agreements);
- (b) Where there is a substantial overlap of creditors;
- (c) Where the affairs of the respective debtors (as reflected in inter-debtor accounts, jointly owned assets, guarantees, subordination agreements, or shared officers, directors or owners) appear to be substantially entangled;
- (d) Where assets have been transferred from one debtor to another in transactions that are not at arms length;
- (e) Where piercing of the corporate veil of one of the debtors is necessary or advisable to protect the rights of creditors of another debtor.

Multiple Lee factors appear to be present here. On the other hand, the Court could conclude that a potential conflict of interest does not preclude employment so long as strictly tailored precautions are taken to avoid an actual conflict materializing. See, e.g., In re Stevens, 2015 WL 3476567 at *10 (Bankr. D. Mon. 2015) ("If the Stevens were creditors, they would have to show that an actual conflict of interest exists in order to disapprove Cotner's employment.") (emphasis added). "The Court understands that the term 'materially adverse' to the interest of the estate in § 101(14)(C) requires more than just a potential or theoretical adverse interest." Id.

BACKGROUND

On April 12, 2019, Woodcrest Ace Hardware Inc., 9 Fingers, Inc., P&P Hardware, Inc. Riverside Ace Hardware, Inc., and Wildomar Ace Hardware, Inc. (collectively, "Debtors") all filed Chapter 11 voluntary petitions; their cases are jointly administered as of July 12, 2019. On April 23, 2019, Debtors filed motions to consolidate the cases. Debtors also filed an application shortening time, however, the Court denied the application, and the motions to consolidate were ultimately set for hearing on June 4, 2019. At the hearings of June 4, 2019, the Court denied the motions to consolidate without prejudice.

On July 9, 2019, Debtors filed a second motion for substantive consolidation. The primary grounds for substantive consolidation remain unchanged -- that Debtors are controlled by the same two individuals, Paul & Pamela Shanabarger (collectively, the "Shanabargers"), and that the Shanabargers "have admittedly historically failed to observe corporate formalities in the conduct of their business as between themselves, sharing and co-mingling funds extensively, routinely transferring funds between the entities as needed and without adhering to corporate formalities." Chapter 11

Debtors have now added an additional argument in support of substantive consolidation: UST's objection to the employment application of Debtors' counsel, Rosenstein & Associates ("Counsel"), on the grounds that each of the individual corporations may have conflicting and adverse interests. Additionally, California Bank & Trust filed a similar limited objection to the employment of Counsel. Debtors submit that, in the event the cases are not substantively consolidated, forcing each individual Debtor to obtain separate counsel would result in significantly increased administrative costs, severely burdening Debtors.

On July 16, 2019, the Court received a limited opposition from California Bank & Trust, and an opposition from National Cooperative Bank. On July 23, 2019, Debtors filed their reply.

DISCUSSION

The Ninth Circuit has recently reiterated that:

To determine whether substantive consolidation is appropriate, a bankruptcy court evaluates "(i) whether creditors dealt with the entities as a single economic unit and did not rely on their separate identity in extending credit; or (ii) whether the affairs of the debtors are so entangled that consolidation will benefit all creditors. The sole aim of this analysis is fairness to all creditors.

Matter of Transwest Resort Props., Inc., 881 F.3d 724, 732 (9th Cir. 2018) (quotations and citations omitted); see also In re Bonham, 229 F.3d 750, 771 (9th Cir. 2000) ("In either case, the bankruptcy court must in essence determine that the assets of all of the consolidated parties are substantially the same."). And the Ninth Circuit has previously stated that, when applying this test:

The presence of either factor is a sufficient basis to order substantive consolidation. The first factor, reliance on the separate credit of the entity, is based on the consideration that lenders structure their loans according to their expectations regarding the borrower and do not anticipate either having the assets of a more sound company available in the case of insolvency or having the creditors of a less sound debtor compete for the borrower's assets. Consolidation under the second factor, entanglement of the debtor's affairs, is justified only where the time and expense necessary even to attempt to unscramble them is so substantial as to threaten the realization of any net assets for all the creditors or where no accurate identification and allocation of assets is possible.

In re Bonham, 229 F.3d at 766. Furthermore, "substantive consolidation should be used sparingly and in keeping with its equitable nature." In re R&S St. Rose Lenders, LLC, 756 Fed. Appx. 731, 733 (9th Cir. 2019) (quotations omitted). "The party seeking to consolidate entities has the burden of establishing either allegation." In re Howland, 674 Fed. Appx. 482, 488 (6th Cir. 2017).

The fundamental problem with Debtors' renewed request for substantive consolidation is that it appears that the only new evidence presented by Debtors – that UST has objected to the employment application of Counsel on, primarily, the basis that the individual debtors may have adverse interests – is not relevant to the legal test to be applied by this Court. As the Third Circuit has previously stated: "Mere benefit to the administration of the case (for example, allowing a court to simplify a case by avoiding other issues or to make postpetition accounting more convenient) is hardly a harm calling substantive consolidation into play." In re Owens Corning, 419 F.3d 195, 211 (3rd Cir. 2005).

Here, Debtors do not appear to have raised material evidence to satisfy the first step of the Bonham test (that creditors relied on the entity as a single economic unit), instead focusing on the second factor, the entanglement of the financial affairs of Debtors. While there is some evidence to submit a finding that Debtor has satisfied the second factor, it does not appear that there is any new evidence to warrant a different ruling

On May 24, 2019, Debtors filed an application to employ bankruptcy counsel, seeking to employ Rosenstein & Associates ("Counsel") retroactive to April 24, 2019. On June 7, 2019, UST filed its objection, arguing that the "extensive inter-company transactions" of the Debtors "may create potential and/or actual conflicts that may preclude the Firm from providing joint representation. expenses incurred on behalf of each individual debtor. On July 23, 2019, Debtors filed a reply, agreeing to the conditions set forth in the limited opposition filed by California Bank & Trust, but not directly addressing the concerns raised by UST.

DISCUSSION

FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 2014(a) states:

An order approving the employment of attorneys, accountants, appraisers, auctioneers, agents, or other professionals pursuant to § 327, § 1103, or § 1114 of the Code shall be made only on application of the trustee or committee. The application shall be filed and, unless the case is a chapter 9 municipality case, a copy of the application shall be transmitted by the applicant to the United States trustee. The application shall state the specific facts showing the necessity for the employment, the name of the person to be employed, the reasons for the selection, the professional services to be rendered, any proposed arrangement for compensation, and, to the best of the applicant's knowledge, all of the person's connections with the debtor, creditors, any other party in interest, their respective attorneys and accountants, the United States trustee, or any person employed in the office of the United States trustee. The application shall be accompanied by a verified statement of the person to be employed setting forth the person's connections with the debtor, creditors, any other party in interest, their respective attorneys and accountants, the United States trustee, or any person employed in the office of the United States trustee.

Here, Counsel has adequately disclosed that he is seeking employment for each of the five different debtor corporations. While the objection of UST is cursory, it would appear that UST is requesting Counsel to make clear the extent of the inter-company transactions. The Court finds this to be a reasonable request, especially given that the future administration of the cases may be substantially affected by the magnitude of the transactions.

UST also requests that the Court "permit the parties to submit supplemental briefing on whether Counsel is disinterested or represents adverse interests under Section 327." [Dkt. No. 73, pg. 3]. As noted by California Bank & Trust, the Court applies a two-pronged test in reviewing employment under 11 U.S.C. § 327, reviewing: (1) disinterestedness; and (2) whether the applicant holds or represents an interest adverse to the estate. See In re Treasures, Inc., 2015 WL at 925957 at *15 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2015)., UST & California Bank & Trust suggest that the inter-company transactions may result in a situation where Counsel would represent interests adverse to a bankruptcy estate that Counsel simultaneously represents.

The Bankruptcy Appellate Panel has outlined the definition of "adverse interest":

The reported cases have defined what it means to hold an adverse interest as follows: (1) to possess or assert any economic interest that would tend to lessen the value of the bankruptcy estate or that would create either an actual or potential dispute in which the estate is a rival claimant; or (2) to possess a predisposition under circumstances that render such a bias against the estate.

To represent an adverse interest means to serve as an attorney for an entity holding such an adverse interest.

In re Tevis, 347 B.R. 679, 688 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2006) (citations omitted). The Court notes that the Bankruptcy Appellate Panel then quoted, and briefly discussed California Rules of Professional Conduct Rule 3-310, which is the rule governing of conflicts of interest. The Court notes that this rule allows conflicts to be waived by the informed written consent of client; it is not clear, however, that the Bankruptcy Appellate Panel applied this rule, or considered it relevant to the analysis under § 327. The Court does note, however, that accepting representation where even a potential conflict is present requires informed written consent under Professional Rule 3-310.

In the context of 11 U.S.C. § 327, where a proposed counsel clearly has a potential conflict, but may not have an actual conflict, or may reasonably be able to limit representation to avoid an actual conflict, there are two different approaches the Court

An order approving the employment of attorneys, accountants, appraisers, auctioneers, agents, or other professionals pursuant to § 327, § 1103, or § 1114 of the Code shall be made only on application of the trustee or committee. The application shall be filed and, unless the case is a chapter 9 municipality case, a copy of the application shall be transmitted by the applicant to the United States trustee. The application shall state the specific facts showing the necessity for the employment, the name of the person to be employed, the reasons for the selection, the professional services to be rendered, any proposed arrangement for compensation, and, to the best of the applicant's knowledge, all of the person's connections with the debtor, creditors, any other party in interest, their respective attorneys and accountants, the United States trustee, or any person employed in the office of the United States trustee. The application shall be accompanied by a verified statement of the person to be employed setting forth the person's connections with the debtor, creditors, any other party in interest, their respective attorneys and accountants, the United States trustee, or any person employed in the office of the United States trustee.

Here, Counsel has adequately disclosed that he is seeking employment for each of the five different debtor corporations. While the objection of UST is cursory, it would appear that UST is requesting Counsel to make clear the extent of the inter-company transactions. The Court finds this to be a reasonable request, especially given that the future administration of the cases may be substantially affected by the magnitude of the transactions.

UST also requests that the Court "permit the parties to submit supplemental briefing on whether Counsel is disinterested or represents adverse interests under Section 327." [Dkt. No. 73, pg. 3]. As noted by California Bank & Trust, the Court applies a two-pronged test in reviewing employment under 11 U.S.C. § 327, reviewing: (1) disinterestedness; and (2) whether the applicant holds or represents an interest adverse to the estate. See In re Treasures, Inc., 2015 WL at 925957 at *15 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2015)., UST & California Bank & Trust suggest that the inter-company transactions may result in a situation where Counsel would represent interests adverse to a bankruptcy estate that Counsel simultaneously represents.

The Bankruptcy Appellate Panel has outlined the definition of "adverse interest":

The reported cases have defined what it means to hold an adverse interest as follows: (1) to possess or assert any economic interest that would tend to lessen the value of the bankruptcy estate or that would create either an actual or potential dispute in which the estate is a rival claimant; or (2) to possess a predisposition under circumstances that render such a bias against the estate.

To represent an adverse interest means to serve as an attorney for an entity holding such an adverse interest.

In re Tevis, 347 B.R. 679, 688 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2006) (citations omitted). The Court notes that the Bankruptcy Appellate Panel then quoted, and briefly discussed California Rules of Professional Conduct Rule 3-310, which is the rule governing of conflicts of interest. The Court notes that this rule allows conflicts to be waived by the informed written consent of client; it is not clear, however, that the Bankruptcy Appellate Panel applied this rule, or considered it relevant to the analysis under § 327. The Court does note, however, that accepting representation where even a potential conflict is present requires informed written consent under Professional Rule 3-310.

In the context of 11 U.S.C. § 327, where a proposed counsel clearly has a potential conflict, but may not have an actual conflict, or may reasonably be able to limit representation to avoid an actual conflict, there are two different approaches the Court could take. First, the Court could error on the side of caution and conclude that representation is simply improper. For example, the Court in In re Lee, 94 B.R. 172, 180 (Bankr C.D. Cal. 1988) stated the following:

Accordingly, this Court adopts a presumption for two or more related cases, that it is improper to appoint (1) a single trustee, (2) a single creditors' committee, or (3) the same counsel for the trustees, for the creditors' committee or for the debtors in possession under any of the following circumstances:

- (a) Where creditors of the debtors have dealt with such debtors as an economic unit (which may be reflected in guaranties and subordination agreements);
- (b) Where there is a substantial overlap of creditors;
- (c) Where the affairs of the respective debtors (as reflected in inter-debtor accounts, jointly owned assets, guarantees, subordination agreements, or shared officers, directors or owners) appear to be substantially entangled;
- (d) Where assets have been transferred from one debtor to another in transactions that are not at arms length;
- (e) Where piercing of the corporate veil of one of the debtors is necessary or advisable to protect the rights of creditors of another debtor.

Multiple Lee factors appear to be present here. On the other hand, the Court could conclude that a potential conflict of interest does not preclude employment so long as strictly tailored precautions are taken to avoid an actual conflict materializing. See, e.g., In re Stevens, 2015 WL 3476567 at *10 (Bankr. D. Mon. 2015) ("If the Stevens were creditors, they would have to show that an actual conflict of interest exists in order to disapprove Cotner's employment.") (emphasis added). "The Court understands that the term 'materially adverse' to the interest of the estate in § 101(14)(C) requires more than just a potential or theoretical adverse interest." Id.

Subject to further comments from the United States Trustee, and after the submission of evidence which provides a reasonable accurate description of the extent of the inter-company transactions, the Court is inclined to APPROVE employment on a limited basis as outlined in the limited opposition of California Bank & Trust.

From: 5/22/19

Docket 27

Tentative Ruling:

5/22/19

BACKGROUND

On January 15, 2013, Nereo Gomez ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On April 29, 2013, Debtor received a discharge; the case was closed two days later.

On January 3, 2018, upon motion by UST, the Court reopened the case. On January 12, 2018, Trustee filed a notice of assets.

On April 30, 2019, Trustee filed the instant motion for approval of compromise and sale of real property (the "Motion"). The Court has not received any opposition to the Motion.

The Motion relates to certain unencumbered vacant land in Fontana (the "Property").

Chapter 7

The Property is subject to state court litigation filed by Lawrence Schoelch (the "Buyer"). who owns adjoining land, and filed a state court complaint which included quiet title, trespass, slander/disparagement of title, and setoff or offset. Pursuant to the motion, Trustee seeks to sell the Property, free and clear, to Buyer, and Buyer will then dismiss the pending state court litigation with prejudice.

DISCUSSION

The Court notes three different issues with the Motion.

First, the Motion does not contain any detailed evidence which would enable the Court to assess the reasonableness of the underlying compromise and sale of the Property. The only evidence relating to the fair market value of the Property is Trustee's unsubstantiated assertion that "the Sales Price represents the fair market value for the Real Property considering the unique characteristics of the Real Property and the State Court Action that affects the marketability of the Real Property." [Dkt No. 27, pg 22, lines 18-21]. Regarding the compromise of the state court litigation, the Court has no meaningful evidence which would allow the Court to analyze the reasonableness of the compromise.

Second, while the Court is aware that the proposed sale is the result of a compromise with Buyer, the Court notes that there appears to have been minimal marketing or noticing of the sale. If the Motion had been primarily styled as a compromise motion, which included a sale, rather than a sale motion, which included a compromise, then it may have been appropriate to simply inquire whether there was a reasonable possibility of overbids. As a sale motion, however, the Motion falls materially short of the typical marketing and notice requirements.

Third, if the Court were to construe the motion as a compromise motion, the Motion fails to provide adequate notice. Specifically, the Motion utilizes the standard sale motion notice procedures, which include serving notice on all creditors, but only serving the actual motion on certain parties. An actual compromise motion, on the other hand, is required to be served on all parties.

Pursuant to the previous two paragraphs, the Motions, a hybrid compromise-sale motion, does not satisfy the marketing requirements necessary for a sale motion nor does it satisfy the notice requirements necessary for a compromise motion.

#1.00 Motion To Dismiss Third Amended Cross-Complaint

EH__

Docket 149

Tentative Ruling:

REAL ESTATE BROKER THERESA MANN'S MOTION TO DISMISS THIRD CROSS-COMPLAINT

BACKGROUND

On November 11, 2016, Plaintiffs Mark and Natasha Reynoso ("Plaintiffs") filed an adversarial proceeding against Douglas and Anne Goodman ("Defendants"). Plaintiffs sought to determine the dischargeability of their state court claim against Defendants for misrepresentation. The state court claim was based on the alleged misrepresentations by Defendants and Theresa Mann ("Mann"), Defendants' real estate agent, in regard to the sale of Defendants' home to Plaintiffs. This covered both the actual size of the home, as well as the repairs that needed to be performed on the home.

On June 6, 2017, Defendants filed their first cross-complaint against Mann and Jose Pastora. One May 14, 2019, Defendants filed their third, and most current cross-complaint against Mann and Pastora. Defendants, based on Plaintiffs' claims, allege that it was Mann who made the misrepresentations to Plaintiffs as to the size of the home, and the state of repair of the home, and that Mann held sole responsibility for Plaintiffs' alleged damages. Defendants claim three grounds for relief: (1)- equitable comparative indemnity and apportionment of fault across cross defendants; (2)- total equitable indemnity against all cross defendants; and (3)- negligent misrepresentation.

Defendants request the following relief: (1)- a finding of total and complete indemnity for any judgment rendered against Defendants by Plaintiff; (2)- for judgment in proportionate share from each Cross-Defendant; (3)- for Defendants costs and expenses incurred in the defense of Plaintiff's claim, as well as in bringing their cross-claim against Mann and Pastora, including reasonable attorneys' fees.

On June 7, 2019, counsel for Defendants emailed counsel for Mann to inform him that Defendants and Plaintiffs had settled Plaintiffs' claim. According to Defendants in their opposition to this motion to dismiss (addressed in greater detail below), the settlement was for $1,600 and involves the dismissal of Plaintiffs' claim. A motion to approve compromise, or a motion to dismiss, as not yet been resolved in the adversarial complaint. In addition, the Court entered an order on July 19, 2019, granting a stipulation between Defendants and Pastora to dismiss Pastora from the cross-complaint.

Mann filed a motion on June 13, 2019, to dismiss the cross-complaint against Mann without leave to amend. Mann bases her argument on two main grounds. The first is that the settlement of the case between Plaintiffs and Defendants has removed the legal basis for the grounds for a claim of indemnification. This is because the settlement had removed any possibility for Defendants to actually be found liable for the claim, and contractual or implied indemnification requires a finding of liability. Second, the Plaintiff's complaint for a finding of nondischargeability was not an appropriate claim to base a third-party complaint on. Third, and on a related note, the requested relief sought is outside of the jurisdiction of the Court as a monetary judgment.

Defendants filed their opposition to Mann's motion to dismiss the cross-complaint on July 18, 2019. Defendants base their opposition on the grounds that, even if the case had been settled between Defendants and Plaintiffs, Defendants had suffered $26,715.00 in damages from defending Plaintiffs' claim, encompassing $1,600 from the settlement, and around $25,115 in attorneys' fees and costs. They allege that the cross-claim had thus not been rendered moot by the settlement, as Defendants were seeking reimbursement from Mann for the damages she allegedly caused. Defendants also claim that the contract between Defendants and Mann included an attorneys' fees and costs provision, which would allow Defendants to seek the fees and costs incurred in pursuing their claim against Mann.

DISCUSSION

Under Civil Rule 12(b)(6), made applicable in adversary proceedings through Rule 7012, a bankruptcy court may dismiss a complaint if it fails to "state a claim upon which relief can be granted." In reviewing a Civil Rule 12(b)(6) motion, the trial court must accept as true all facts alleged in the complaint and draw all reasonable inferences in favor of the plaintiff. Navarro v. Block, 250 F.3d 729, 732 (9th Cir.

2001). However, the trial court need not accept as true conclusory allegations in a complaint or legal characterizations cast in the form of factual allegations. Bell Atl. Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 555–56, 127 S.Ct. 1955, 167 L.Ed.2d 929 (2007); Hartman v. Gilead Scis., Inc. (In re Gilead Scis. Sec. Litig.), 536 F.3d 1049, 1055 (9th Cir. 2008).

To avoid dismissal under Civil Rule 12(b)(6), a plaintiff must aver in the complaint "sufficient factual matter, accepted as true, to 'state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face.'" Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678, 129 S.Ct. 1937, 173 L.Ed.2d 868 (2009) (quoting Twombly, 550 U.S. at 570, 127 S.Ct. 1955). It is axiomatic that a claim cannot be plausible when it has no legal basis. A dismissal under Civil Rule 12(b)(6) may be based either on the lack of a cognizable legal theory or on the absence of sufficient facts alleged under a cognizable legal theory. Johnson v. Riverside Healthcare Sys., 534 F.3d 1116, 1121 (9th Cir.2008).

The Court will begin with Mann's arguments that Defendants' cross-complaint/third-party complaint against Mann lacks jurisdiction.

Defendants' primary claim against Mann rests on their request for a monetary judgment against Mann, and Plaintiffs also requested a monetary judgment in their complaint against Defendants. Mann argues that bankruptcy courts do not have the jurisdiction to enter monetary judgments in relation to complaints for nondischargeability. Circuit courts are split as to whether bankruptcy courts have the jurisdiction to enter monetary judgments as part of nondischargeability complaints. 4 COLLIER ON BANKRUPTCY ¶ 523.32 (Richard Levin and Henry Sommer eds., 16th ed.). However, the 9th Circuit is one of the circuits which has found that bankruptcy courts have this jurisdiction. See In re Kennedy, 108 F.3d 1015, 1018 (9th Cir. 1997). As such, the Court finds that it has the jurisdiction to hear a request for monetary judgment as part of an adversarial complaint based on a claim for nondischargeability.

Mann correctly argues that the matter before the Court isn't a cross-complaint, but rather is a third-party complaint, under the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. See F.R.C.P. 14(a)(1) (stating that actions that fall under the grounds of a third-party complaint, including a defendant's complaint against a third party who may be liable for all or part of a claim against the defendant). Mann uses this to argue that it is improper for a third-party complaint to seek a monetary judgment when the complaint is attached to an adversarial proceeding in a bankruptcy court based on a complaint for nondischargeability. Mann cites to several cases from the 2nd, 3rd, and 10th Circuits in which third party complaints seeking monetary judgments were dismissed as improper when they stemmed from adversarial proceedings based on complaints for a finding of nondischargeability. However, the Court restates that, unlike the 2nd, 3rd, and 10th Circuits, the 9th Circuit does permit monetary judgments in relation to complaints for nondischargeability. See In re Kennedy, 108 F.3d at 1018. As such, the Court finds that it has the jurisdiction to hear complaints for monetary judgment in relation to adversarial proceedings based on a complaint for nondischargeability, including third-party complaints for monetary judgments.

Next, the Court will consider Mann's argument that the settling of the case between Plaintiffs and Defendants have rendered Defendants claim for indemnification against Mann moot. Mann's primary argument is that indemnification is dependent on liability, and the settling of the case has removed any potential chance for Defendants to be found liable. However, California law permits a settling party to seek indemnification from a third party for an equitable portion of a settlement. C.f. Western Steamship Lines, Inc. v. San Pedro Peninsula Hospital, 8 Cal. 4th 100, 118-9 (Cal. 1994) (reversing a trial court judgment granting a 30% indemnification of a settlement amount, on the grounds that the defendant had not independently proven the portion of the damages that were directly caused by the hospital. In other words, the appellate court found that the defendant could seek indemnification of a settlement with the plaintiff if the defendant could establish the indemnitor's independent liability). As such, Defendants have stated a claim for which relief can be granted by requesting that Mann indemnify Defendants for either a part, or the total, of the settlement agreement between Defendants and Plaintiff.

Next, the Court will consider whether Defendants have stated a claim for which relief may be granted for the recovery of the attorneys' fees and costs incurred by Defendants in defending against Plaintiffs' claim. Under Cal. Code Civ. P. § 1021.6, a party who prevails on a claim for implied indemnity may be awarded the attorneys' fees incurred in defending the underlying complaint if the court finds that: (1) the indemnitee had been required to act in the protection of their interest by defending an action by a third person which stemmed from the tort of the indemnitor; (2) the indemnitor was properly notified of the demand to provide the defense and did not avail itself of the opportunity to do so; and (3) that the trier of fact determined that the indemnitee was without fault in the principal case which is the basis for the action in indemnity, or that the indemnitee had a final judgment entered in their favor granting a summary judgment, a nonsuit, or a directed verdict.

The claim for relief by Defendants against Mann for attorneys' fees stems from their claim for implied indemnity against Mann. However, while the facts they have stated may be sufficient to satisfy element (1), they are currently insufficient to satisfy the requirements of proper notification under element (2), and the settling of the claim between Defendants and Plaintiffs means that (3) is completely impossible, as a trier of fact will never determine whether Defendants were without fault, nor will there be a final judgment entered in Defendants' favor. As such, since Defendants cannot meet § 1021.6, it does not appear that they can state a claim for which relief can be granted against Mann in relation to the reimbursement of the attorneys' fees and expenses incurred defending against Plaintiffs' claim.

Finally, the Court will address Defendants' request for attorneys' fees and expenses related to the bringing of the third-party complaints against Mann. The Court finds that Defendants have stated a claim upon which relief may be granted.

As such, the Court finds that it has jurisdiction to hear the third-party complaint, and that the settlement between Plaintiffs and Defendants have not rendered the third-party complaint moot. The Court is thus inclined to deny Mann's motion to dismiss the third-party complaint in regard to the claim for indemnification for the $1,600 in settlement proceeds paid by Defendants to Plaintiffs. In addition, the Court is also inclined to deny the motion to dismiss in regard to Defendants' request for attorneys' fees in relation to the third-party claim brought against Mann. However, the Court is inclined to dismiss with prejudice Defendants' claim against Mann for the attorneys' fees and expenses incurred as a result of Plaintiffs' claim against Defendants.

Docket 48

Tentative Ruling:

8/1/2019

BACKGROUND

On May 21, 2008, Cesar Orozco ("Debtor") filed a voluntary Chapter 13 petition. On August 9, 2018, his Chapter 13 Plan was confirmed. On May 7, 2019, the Chapter 13 Trustee ("Trustee") filed a motion to dismiss Debtor's case for delinquency. On June 6, 2019, Trustee's motion to dismiss was granted. On June 28, 2019, Debtor filed a motion to vacate dismissal.

Debtor's case was dismissed due to a two-month delinquency in plan payments. Debtor's counsel alleges that Debtor fell behind because of a misunderstanding that the submission of a payment in January had made Debtor current on payments. Instead, Debtor was one month short, as a new payment had come due in late January. Debtor's counsel alleges that he attempted to reach Debtor prior to the hearing in June to address this problem, but was unable to do so due to Debtor having recently changed his cellphone number. Debtor now asserts that he has the funds to become current through the July plan payment.

Trustee filed a conditional acceptance of Debtor's motion to vacate dismissal on July 1, 2019. Trustee's conditions are that: 1- Debtor turns over $1,784 to become current on plan payments, and 2- that Debtor submits his 2018 state and federal tax returns and refunds to the Trustee.

Chapter 13

DISCUSSION

Debtor bases his argument for vacating dismissal on F.R.C.P. 60(b)(1) and (6), mistake and "any other reason justifying relief from the operation of the judgment," as well as the Court's inherent equitable powers under 11 U.S.C. § 105(a), and the error rule under F.R.C.P. 61 which permits the setting aside of a judgment if to not do so otherwise would be inconsistent with substantial justice.

The problem with Debtor's arguments is that: 1- the Court did not make an error under FRCP 61, the Debtor did, and 2- Debtor's counsel did not make an error under FRCP 60(b)(1). Debtor was serially delinquent on plan payments within a few months of the confirmation of his plan, and this was the core root of the dismissal, not neglect or mistake by his counsel or the Court.

However, in light of Trustee's conditional acceptance of Debtor's motion, the Court is inclined to find grounds to vacate its dismissal of Debtor's case under the "any other reason" language of F.R.C.P. 60(b)(6) and its inherent equitable powers under 11 U.S.C. § 105(a). If Debtor has the funds to become current on plan payments, and is prepared to turn over his tax returns and refund, then the Court finds that vacating dismissal would not cause an undue prejudicial impact to his creditors.

#9.00 Debtor's Motion to Disallow Claims No 2-1 filed by PYOD, LLC

EH ____

Docket 27

Tentative Ruling:

8/1/2019

NO OPPOSITION

BACKGROUND:

On April 12, 2019, Susana O Corona ("Debtors") filed her Chapter 13 petition for bankruptcy.

On June 18, 2019, PYOD ("Creditor") filed a claim ("Claim 2-1") for $3,816.39 in outstanding retail debt stemming from moneys owed to Levitz Furniture, with a last payment date of February 23, 1999. Debtor argues that that the claim is barred by the statute of limitations. Creditor has failed to oppose Debtor's objection, and the deadline for objection has passed.

APPLICABLE LAW:

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 502(a), a proof of claim is deemed allowed unless a party in interest objects. Absent an objection, a proof of claim constitutes prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claim under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure ("FRBP") 3001(f). See Lundell v. Anchor Constr. Specialists, Inc., 223 F.3d 1035, 1039 (9th Cir. 2000). When a party files an objection to a proof of claim, that filing "creates a dispute which is a contested matter" within the meaning of FRBP 9014 and the Court must resolve the matter after notice and opportunity for hearing upon a motion for relief. Id.

Chapter 13

When a creditor has filed a proof of claim that complies with the rules (thereby giving rise to the presumption of validity), the burden shifts to the objecting party who must "present evidence to overcome the prima facie case." In re Medina, 205 B.R. 216, 222 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1996). To defeat the claim, the objecting party must provide sufficient evidence and "show facts tending to defeat the claim by probative force equal to that of the allegations of the proofs of claim themselves." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039 (quoting In re Holm, 931 F.2d 620, 623 (9th Cir. 1991)). "The objector must produce evidence, which, if believed, would refute at least one of the allegations that is essential to the claim's legal sufficiency." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1040 (quoting In re Allegheny Int'l, Inc., 954 F.2d 167, 173-74 (3d Cir. 1992)). If the objecting party produces sufficient evidence to negate one or more of the sworn facts in the proof of claim, the burden reverts back to the claimant to prove the validity of the claim by a preponderance of the evidence. See In re Consol. Pioneer Mort, 178 B.R. 222, 226 (9th Cir. BAP 1995), aff'd, 91 F.3d 151 (9th Cir. 1996) (quoting Allegheny Int'l, 954 F.2d at 173-74). The ultimate burden of persuasion remains at all times on the claimant. See Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039; see also Holm, 931 F.2d at 623.

ANALYSIS:

11 U.S.C. § 502(b)(1) (2005) states:

(b) Except as provided in subsections (e)(2), (f), (g), (h) and (i) of this section, if such objection to a claim is made, the court, after notice and a hearing, shall determine the amount of such claim in lawful currency of the United States as of the date of the filing of the petition, and shall allow such claim in such amount, except to the extent that—

(1) such claim is unenforceable against the debtor and property of the debtor, under any agreement or applicable law for a reason other than because such claim is contingent or unmatured;

CAL. CODE CIV. P. § 337 (2016) provides a statute of limitations of four years for debts founded on written contracts, book accounts, accounts stated based upon account in writing, "balance of mutual, open and current account in writing," and rescission of written contract. Once the statute of limitations has passed, the claim is unenforceable.

Chapter 13

See e.g., Guaranty Trust Co. v. United States, 304 U.S. 126 (1938).

Claim 2-1 is based on retail debt stemming from the purchase of furniture. This appears to fit within the category established by CAL. CODE CIV. P. § 337. Therefore, the statute of limitations is four years. The proof of claim identifies a last transaction date of February 23, 1999. This is more than four years prior to the filing of the bankruptcy case, and, therefore, Claim 2-1 is unenforceable.

Furthermore, the Court deems failure to oppose to be consent to the relief requested pursuant to Local Rule 9013-(1)(h).

TENTATIVE RULING

8/1/2019

Service: Proper

Opposition: None

The Court is inclined to GRANT the motion, DISALLOWING Claim 2-1 in its entirety.

Docket 18

Tentative Ruling:

8/1/2019

BACKGROUND

On April 30, 2019, Jesus and Flora Hernandez Flores ("Debtors") filed a voluntary petition for Chapter 13 bankruptcy. On June 5, 2019, Debtors filed a motion to value their 2016 Toyota RAV4 (the "Property"). The Property is currently subject to a $22,732 lien held by Altura Credit Union ("Creditor"). The motion did not contain any evidence of the Property's value. On July 12, 2019, Debtors filed a supplemental to their motion, containing a Carmax appraisal of the Property, which establishes the amount for which Carmax would purchase the Property.

Creditor filed an opposition on July 30, 2019. In it, Creditor claims that Debtors' motion to value the property is in violation of 11 U.S.C. § 1325(a)(9), which does not permit the reduction of a secured claim stemming from a purchase money security interest incurred within a 910-day period prior to the petition date for the purchase of a motor vehicle acquired for a Debtors' personal use.

DISCUSSION

First, the Court begins by noting that Debtors' first motion did not contain any evidence to support their claimed valuation of the Property. Instead, Creditor only received 19 days' notice of such an integral part of Debtors' motion through the supplemental filed on July 12, 2019. While not fatal, the Court still finds this to be improper notice of the motion.

Chapter 13

As to the merits, one of the benefits of filing a Chapter 13 bankruptcy is that under § 506(a) the debtor can bifurcate a secured, unavoidable debt, with one part representing the amount of the value of the collateral, and the deficiency being treated as an unsecured claim. See In re Penrod, 636 F.3d 1175, 1177 (9th Cir. 2011).

However, a Chapter 13 plan cannot be confirmed with a § 506(a) claim bifurcation under § 1325(a)(5) if the claim being bifurcated is: (1)- a purchase money security interest, (2) incurred for the purchase of a motor vehicle, (3) acquired for the Debtors' personal use, (4) that was taken out 910 days prior to the Chapter 13 petition. Here, Creditor is the holder of a purchase money security interest for a vehicle acquired for the Debtors' personal use which was taken out 584 days prior to the petition date, as the retail installment contract was entered into by Debtors on September 23, 2017. As such, claim bifurcation is not available within this case for the Property. Even if it was, Debtors also failed to submit proper evidence of the Property's value.

Assuming, arguendo, that § 1325(a)(5) did not apply, the Ninth Circuit has not presently established a uniform method for valuations. See In re Ayres, 2010 WL 652825 at *5 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. 2010) (collecting cases detailing vehicle valuation and describing the state of the law in the Ninth Circuit). In In re Morales, however, which this Court has previously cited with approval, it was determined that value should be calculated "by adjusting the Kelley Blue Book or N.A.D.A. Guide retail value for a like vehicle by a reasonable amount in light of the evidence presented regarding the condition of the vehicle or any other relevant factors." In re Morales, 387 B.R. 36, 45 (Bankr.C.D.Cal.2008).

According to the court in In re Morales, the retail values, and not the private party values, are the appropriate starting points because the text of § 506(a)(2) refers to "the price a retail merchant would charge" and does not refer to the price a private party would charge. Morales at 46.

Here, Debtors have submitted a Carmax appraisal of the vehicle, which gave an appraisal offer of $12,500. This appears to completely miss the goal of valuation. Value under Morales is meant to establish what a retail merchant would charge when selling the Property, not what a retail merchant would purchase the Property for. Debtors have provided the purchase price, which will almost certainly be substantially lower than the sale price, cutting against the Creditor's interests.

Chapter 13

#56.00 Debtor's Motion for Order Determining Value of Collateral with Partnership
Federal Credit Union re: 2016 Buick Enclave Convenience

Also #57

EH ___

Docket 16

Tentative Ruling:

BACKGROUND

On May 20, 2019, Germaine Carr ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. Among the assets of the estate is a 2016 Buick Enclave (the "Property"). The Partnership Federal Credit Union ("Creditor") holds a security interest in the Property in the lien amount of $30,564.05.

Debtor filed this motion to value the Property on July 2, 2019. She seeks a value of $20,025, and has offered in support a NADAguides used car report clean retail valuation.

DISCUSSION

Debtor has properly submitted a Kelley Blue Book clean retail valuation for the vehicle. As such, the Court is inclined to find that Debtor has properly supported their claimed valuation of $20,025 under the requirements of In re Morales, 387 B.R. 36, 45 (Bankr.C.D.Cal.2008). However, it is unclear how the unsecured value of Creditor's claim would be $20,422, as requested by Debtor, since Debtor states that the current lien value is $30,564.05. This is backed by the account statement for the period ending April, 2019, which states that the account balance on the Property is $30,564.05.

TENTATIVE RULING

8/1/2019

SERVICE: PROPER

OPPOSITION: NONE

The Court is inclined to GRANT Debtor's motion to value their 2016 Buick Enclave at $20,025. Debtor is to explain to the Court what the resulting unsecured claim should be.

#93.00 CONT Motion for Order Approving Compromise of Controversy Between Chapter 7 Trustee, Debtor, Anthony Yue Ming Liu, Ice Castle, Inc. and Magic Ice, LLC Pursuant to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 9019

From: 7/31/19, 7/30/19

EH ____

Docket 91

Tentative Ruling:

BACKGROUND

Debtor Desert Ice Castle ("Debtor") filed a voluntary Ch. 7 petition on April 13, 2018. Creditor Andrzej Luczynski ("Creditor") filed two claims against Debtor, one for $3,200,000 related to the breach of joint venture between the two, and one for anticipated judgment from state court litigation for $1,218,135.54. Creditor's associated company, Z&M Trading, Inc., also filed a claim against Debtor for attorney fees to be derived from the anticipated state court judgment.

On January 31, 2019, the Ch. 7 Trustee filed an adversary proceeding against Anthony Ming Liu ("Liu"), the principal of Debtor, for alleged pre-petition transfers from Debtor to Liu. Liu filed his own bankruptcy petition. On June 25, 2019, Trustee reached an allegedly global agreement with Liu, Z&M, Creditor, and Desert Ice Castle, which will apply in both this, and Liu's case. The claimed primary terms of the agreement is the payment of $60,000 from Liu to Trustee, combined with a dismissal of the adversarial proceeding with prejudice, and the withdrawal of Creditor's proofs of claim and Trustee's proof of claim in Liu's bankruptcy case.

However, the actual settlement agreement provided has no signature from Creditor, and the agreement terms do not state that Creditor will engage in a mutual release of claims between him and Debtor, as alleged by Trustee, or that Creditor will withdraw his proofs of claims.

On July 3, 2019, Trustee filed a motion to approve the compromise under Rule 9019.

Chapter 7

On July 25, 2019, the matter was advanced to July 30, 2019, at 2:00 p.m.

DISCUSSION

FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 9019 provides that:

On motion by the trustee and after notice and a hearing, the court may approve a compromise or settlement. Notice shall be given to creditors, the United States trustee, the debtor, and indenture trustees as provided in Rule 2002 and to any other entity as the court may direct.

The Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals have previously outlined the factors to be considered in approving a compromise pursuant to Rule 9019: (1) the probability of success in the litigation; (2) the difficulties to be encountered in the matter of collection; (3) the complexity, expense, inconvenience and delay of litigation; and (4) the interest of creditors with deference to their reasonable views. See In re A&C Props., 784 F.2d 1377, 1381 (9th Cir. 1986). The listed factors assist the Court in determining "the fairness, reasonableness and adequacy of a proposed settlement agreement." Id.

Creditor's claims are the vast bulk of pre-petition claims against Debtor, and are also the root of the adversarial proceeding between Trustee and Debtor. In addition, Trustee also claims that the agreement settles the controversy between Creditor and Debtor. While Creditor is not a party to the settlement agreement, the Court notes that the agreement is expressly conditioned on the withdrawal of Creditor's proofs of claim. Otherwise, the Court finds that Trustee has sufficiently addressed the A&C Properties standard.

Docket 38

Tentative Ruling:

4/30/2019

Service: Proper
Opposition: Yes.

On February 19, 2019, Anthony Yue Ming Liu ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 11 voluntary petition. On Schedule F, Debtor listed Andrzej Luczynski ("Movant") as the holder of an unsecured claim of $1,380,000 relating to a civil lawsuit.

On March 12, 2019, Movant filed a motion for relief from the automatic stay, seeking to continue pending state court litigation relating to claims for tortious exclusion of joint venturer, breach of fiduciary duty, breach of contract, and wrongful eviction. A state court hearing on Debtor's objections to the tentative decision and proposed judgment had been scheduled for February 20, 2019, but was ultimately postponed due to the instant bankruptcy filing. It appears from the contents of the motion that Movant is only requesting to have the state court enter judgment, thereby liquidating Movant's claim.

On April 2, 2019, Debtor filed his opposition. The crux of Debtor's opposition is that the relief from the automatic stay is unnecessary because Movant's claim has been effectively liquidated. Debtor notes that "[t]he only issue remaining is a determination of any costs and attorney's fees, which Debtor has attempted to review for reasonableness in hopes that the parties could avoid unnecessary litigation and expenses regarding the same." [Dkt. No. 49, pg. 4, lines 10-12]. On April 9, 2019, Movant filed a reply, effectively arguing that Debtor's opposition does not contain a legal basis upon which relief from stay could be denied.

When considering a motion for relief from the automatic stay to pursue a non-bankruptcy action, the Court considers the Curtis factors:

- (1) Whether the relief will result in a partial or complete resolution of the issues;
- (2) the lack of any connection with or interference with the bankruptcy case;
- (3) whether the foreign proceeding involves the debtor as fiduciary; (4) whether a specialized tribunal has been established to hear the particular cause of action and whether that tribunal has the expertise to hear such cases; (5) whether the debtor's insurance carrier has assumed full financial responsibility for defending the litigation; (6) whether the action essentially involves third parties, and the debtor functions only as a bailee or conduit for the good or proceeds in question; (7) whether the litigation in another forum would prejudice the interests of other creditors, the creditor's committee and other interested parties; (8) whether the judgment claim arising from the foreign action is subject to equitable subordination; (9) whether movant's success in the foreign proceeding would result in a judicial lien avoidable by the debtor under Section 522(f); (10) the interests of judicial economy and the expeditious and economical determination of litigation for the parties; (11) whether the foreign proceedings have progressed to the point where the parties are prepared for trial; and (12) the impact of the stay and the "balance of hurt."

In re Roger, 539 B.R. 837, 844-45 (C.D. Cal. 2015). In Roger, the Court further stated:

The Ninth Circuit has recognized that the Curtis factors are appropriate, nonexclusive, factors to consider in deciding whether to grant relief from the automatic stay to allow pending litigation to continue in another forum. While the Curtis factors are widely used to determine the existence of cause, not all of the factors are relevant in every case, nor is a court required to give each factor equal weight. According to the court in Curtis, the most important factor in determining whether to grant relief from the automatic stay to permit litigation against the debtor in another forum is the effect of such litigation on the administration of the estate. Even slight interference with the administration may be enough to preclude relief in the absence of a commensurate benefit. That said, some cases involving the automatic stay provision do not mention the Curtis factors at all.

Here, the Curtis factors weigh in favor of granting relief from the automatic stay. First, the relief requested would result in a complete resolution of the issues. Debtor's argument that relief from stay is not necessary to resolve the issue, because the issue could be resolved through the claim objection process in bankruptcy court, is not persuasive to the Court because it does not directly address the first Curtis factor and because, presumably, the state court is in a better position to assess the reasonableness of the fees and costs incurred in its own proceedings. Likewise, the second factor weighs in favor of the relief requested because the entry of a judgment in state court will not interfere with the administration of the bankruptcy estate. Debtor has not raised a plausible argument contending otherwise. A choice by Debtor to possibly incur attorney fees arguing the amount of Movant's fees and costs incurred in the state court proceeding does not constitute interference with the administration of the bankruptcy estate. Finally, the Court finds that the tenth through twelfth Curtis factors weigh in favor of granting relief from stay, because the state court proceeding progressed to the point where it was ready for trial, and the state court is in a better position to judge the reasonableness of the fees and costs incurred in its own proceeding.

The Court finds that the third through ninth Curtis factors are largely irrelevant in this situation and do not materially affect the Court's analysis. Additionally, the Court is not inclined to find that the instant bankruptcy was filed in bad faith. Movant's only argument made to support a bad faith finding is that the instant case was filed on the eve of the anticipated state court judgment. Noting that Debtor scheduled Movant's claim and does not appear to be attempting to undermine the state court proceeding, the Court cannot conclude that Debtor is acting on bad faith simply because he is attempting to satisfy Movant's claim through a Chapter 11 plan of reorganization.

The Court is inclined to GRANT request for relief pursuant to § 362(d)(1). GRANT waiver of Rule 4001(a) stay. GRANT request under ¶ 2. DENY request for relief under ¶ 7 for lack of cause shown.

BACKGROUND

On February 19, 2019, Anthony Liu ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 11 voluntary petition. On June 17, 2019, the Court approved a stipulation between UST and Debtor which provided for waiver of discharge pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1141(d)(4).

The claims bar date for non-governmental claims was May 29, 2019. Seven claims were filed in the instant case. The four primary creditors of Debtor are: (1) Andrzej Luczynski ("Luczynski") ($2,790,321.07); (2) Trustee for the bankruptcy estate of Desert Ice Castle, LLC ("Trustee") ($1,863,672.10)¹; (3) Z&M Trading, Inc. ("Z&M") ($662,453.70); and (4) the Law Offices of Mark W. Edelstein APC ("Edelstein") ($63,620.96).

On July 9, 2019, Debtor filed three motions to approve compromise, reflecting settlements reached with all primary creditors, specifically (a) Luczynski and Z&M; (b) Trustee; and (c) Edelstein. Debtor has indicated that he will pay off, in full, the only two claims not subject to the settlement, which total $8,270.87.

Also on July 9, 2019, Debtor filed a motion to dismiss the Chapter 11 case. Trustee has filed a condition non-opposition, asking that: (a) the settlement payment be made prior to the lodging of a dismissal order; and (b) Luczynski withdraw the proofs of claims filed in the bankruptcy case of Desert Ice Castle, LLC.

DISCUSSION

11 U.S.C. § 1112(b)(1) states:

Except as provided in paragraph (2) and subsection (c), on request of a party in interest, and after notice and a hearing, the court shall convert a case under this chapter to a case under chapter 7 or dismiss a case under this chapter, whichever is in the best interests of creditors and the estate, for cause unless the court determines that the appointment under section 1104(a) of a trustee or an examiner is in the best interests of creditors and the estate.

Section 1112(b)(4) provides a non-exhaustive list of examples of cause. While Debtor is a party in interest pursuant to § 1109(b), the examples of cause outlined in § 1112(b)(4) are addressing to a non-debtor party. When a Chapter 11 debtor satisfies all claims against the estate without the use of a plan, however, the creditors no longer have any interest in the bankruptcy case moving forward. Additionally, in this case, Debtor has waived discharge, so, likewise, the Debtor would appear to have no interest in the case moving forward. Therefore, the Court is inclined to GRANT the motion, DISMISSING the case on the conditions set forth in Debtor's motion and Trustee's conditional non-opposition, and subject to the issues raised in the Court's tentative ruling relating to the compromise motions.

BACKGROUND

On February 19, 2019, Anthony Liu ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 11 voluntary petition. On June 17, 2019, the Court approved a stipulation between UST and Debtor which provided for waiver of discharge pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1141(d)(4).

The claims bar date for non-governmental claims was May 29, 2019. Seven claims were filed in the instant case. The four primary creditors of Debtor are: (1) Andrzej Luczynski ("Luczynski") ($2,790,321.07); (2) Trustee for the bankruptcy estate of Desert Ice Castle, LLC ("Trustee") ($1,863,672.10)¹; (3) Z&M Trading, Inc. The pertinent facts of the three compromises are as follows:

- 1) Debtor to pay Lucynski and Z&M $3,156,621.53, with 7% interest, as follows: (a) $250,000 within one week of the effective date of settlement; (b) $250,000 within sixty days of first payment; (c) $250,000 within sixty days of second payment; and (d) $58,000/month thereafter until satisfying the total amount. The payment obligations of Debtor are to be secured by a deed of trust against certain real property of Debtor.
- 2) Debtor to pay Trustee $60,000 within one week of the effective date of the settlement.
- 3) Debtor to pay Edelstein $45,000 within one week of the effective date of the settlement.

The settlement resolves all claims against Debtor, and contains a mutual release of all claims, and a dismissal of all pending actions. Debtor has indicated that he will pay off, in full, the only two claims not subject to the settlement, which total $8,270.87.

DISCUSSION

I. Legal Standard for Approving Compromise

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1107(a), Debtor has all the rights and duties of a trustee. Rule 9019(a) authorizes the bankruptcy court to approve a compromise or settlement on the trustee's motion and after notice and a hearing. The bankruptcy court must consider all "factors relevant to a full and fair assessment of the wisdom of the proposed compromise." Protective Comm. for Indep. Stockholders of TMT Trailer Ferry, Inc. v. Anderson, 390 U.S. 414, 424 (1968). In other words, the bankruptcy court must find that the settlement is "fair and equitable" in order to approve it. Martin v. Kane (In re A & C Props.), 784 F.2d 1377, 1381 (9th Cir. 1986).

Chapter 11

In conducting this inquiry, the bankruptcy court must consider the following factors:

(a) the probability of success in the litigation; (b) the difficulties, if any, to be encountered in the matter of collection; (c) the complexity of the litigation involved, and the expense, inconvenience and delay necessarily attending it; and (d) the paramount interest of the creditors and a proper deference to their reasonable views in the premises.

Id.

The bankruptcy court enjoys broad discretion in approving a compromise because it "is uniquely situated to consider the equities and reasonableness [of it]" United States v. Alaska Nat'l Bank (In re Walsh Construction, Inc.), 669 F.2d 1325, 1328 (9th Cir. 1982). As stated in A & C Props.:

The purpose of a compromise agreement is to allow the trustee and the creditors to avoid the expenses and burdens associated with litigating sharply contested and dubious claims. The law favors compromise and not litigation for its own sake, and as long as the bankruptcy court amply considered the various factors that determined the reasonableness of the compromise, the court's decision must be affirmed.

Id. (citations omitted).

The factual situation here is rather unique because Debtor has reached settlements with all of the significant creditors in this bankruptcy case, while asserting that he will pay off the two small creditors in full. Therefore, all creditors: (a) will be paid off in full; or (b) have expressly consented to the treatment of their claim. As a result, the final A&C factor, the interests of creditors, which in this situation is the predominant concern when assessing the fairness and reasonableness of the settlement, strongly, probably conclusively weighs in favor of settlement. As noted by Debtor, the second A&C factor is inapplicable here because Debtor is not trying to collect from the other parties to the settlement. And the first and third factors would appear to also weigh in favor of settlement, given that Debtor was faced with a tentative ruling indicating that the Court was inclined to rule against him, and because the amount of the claims at issue would likely cause significant litigation.

There is one technical issue that remains, applicable to both the three compromise motions, as well as the concurrently scheduled motion to dismiss the Chapter 11 case. Debtor, by seeking a dismissal of the underlying bankruptcy cases and by settling with the three primary creditors, is, in effect, either proposing a sub rosa plan or seeking a structured dismissal (or both); such a proposal cannot violate the Code's priority scheme. See, e.g., In re Cont'l Air Lines, Inc., 780 F.2d 1223, 1226 (5th Cir. 1986) ("§ 363 does not authorize a debtor and the bankruptcy court 'to short circuit the requirements of a reorganization plan by establishing the terms of the plan sub rosa in connection' with a proposed transaction."); see also Czyzewski v. Jevic Holding Corp., 137 S. Ct. 973, 984 (2017) ("The priority system applicable to those distributions has long been considered fundamental to the Bankruptcy Code's operation. The importance of the priority system leads us to expect more than simple statutory silence if, and when, Congress were to intend a major departure. Put somewhat more directly, we would expect to see some affirmative indication of intent if Congress actually meant to make structured dismissals a backdoor means to achieve the exact kind of nonconsensual priority-violating final distributions that the Code prohibits in Chapter 7 liquidations and Chapter 11 plans.").

Debtor seems to have anticipated this issue, noting in all three compromise motions and the motion to dismiss, that he would pay off the two non-settling creditors who filed proofs of claims, and also identifying the various scheduled creditors who did not file proofs of claims. There are, however, two remaining issues that have not been resolved. First, FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 3003(b)(1) provides that, in Chapter 11 cases, a creditor whose claim is scheduled by Debtor, generally need not file a proof of claim, but may rely on the amount admitted by Debtor instead. Debtor's declaration in the motion to dismiss addresses this to some degree, but it is not sufficient to overcome the prohibitions against paying outside of the priority scheme. Second, the claims bar date for non-governmental claims is August 19, 2019, and, therefore, has not yet expired, potentially allowing for the filing of additional priority claims.

TENTATIVE RULING

Debtor to address the two issues raised in the preceding paragraph, and, specifically, whether and how remaining creditors should be paid.

Jevic Holding Corp.*, 137 S. Ct. 973, 984 (2017) ("The priority system applicable to those distributions has long been considered fundamental to the Bankruptcy Code's operation. The importance of the priority system leads us to expect more than simple statutory silence if, and when, Congress were to intend a major departure. Put somewhat more directly, we would expect to see some affirmative indication of intent if Congress actually meant to make structured dismissals a backdoor means to achieve the exact kind of nonconsensual priority-violating final distributions that the Code prohibits in Chapter 7 liquidations and Chapter 11 plans.").

Debtor seems to have anticipated this issue, noting in all three compromise motions and the motion to dismiss, that he would pay off the two non-settling creditors who filed proofs of claims, and also identifying the various scheduled creditors who did not file proofs of claims. There are, however, two remaining issues that have not been resolved. First, FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 3003(b)(1) provides that, in Chapter 11 cases, a creditor whose claim is scheduled by Debtor, generally need not file a proof of claim, but may rely on the amount admitted by Debtor instead. Debtor's declaration in the motion to dismiss addresses this to some degree, but it is not sufficient to overcome the prohibitions against paying outside of the priority scheme. Second, the claims bar date for non-governmental claims is August 19, 2019, and, therefore, has not yet expired, potentially allowing for the filing of additional priority claims.

TENTATIVE RULING

Debtor to address the two issues raised in the preceding paragraph, and, specifically, whether and how remaining creditors should be paid.

Docket 183

Tentative Ruling:

Application: $35,050.00 in fees and $251.80 in expenses, as well as $54,450.00 in fees previously approved by the Court on November 27, 2018, but for which no order was lodged by Applicant, for a combined request of $89,500 in fees and $251.80, totaling $89,751.80 ($79,151.80 remaining to be paid).

Opposition: No.

Analysis: 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(3) (2005) provides factors to be considered in determining the reasonableness of requested compensation.

Background

On March 27, 2018, G Hurtado Construction, Inc. ("Debtor") filed its petition for chapter 11 relief. The bankruptcy was precipitated by a wage and hour lawsuit brought by two and possibly more former employees. On April 25, 2018, the Court approved the employment application of M. Jones & Associates, P.C. ("Applicant") to serve as counsel to Debtor. Debtor's initial disclosure statement required amendment following the Court's allowance of late-filed claims. The First Amended DS and Plan were filed in October 2018.

On October 22, 2018, the Applicant filed the first interim fee application seeking allowance of $54,450 in fees and $0 in expenses for the period of March 27, 2018, through and including October 22, 2018. Applicant also stated that it was in possession of $10,600 of funds from the Debtor in their trust account. No opposition was filed. On November 27, 2018, the Court granted the interim fee application in the amount of $43,560, based on an 80% allowance and a 20% holdback for final approval, on the condition that Applicant file a client declaration or explanation in regard to their application, as required by LBR 2016-1(a)(1)(J). However, Applicant never lodged an order as to their fee application, despite the Court granting their request.

On December 3, 2018, Debtor filed an adversarial complaint objecting to the claim of Juan Catano and Faustino Magana, and, in the alternative, requesting indemnification from Donahoo & Associates, P.C. On June 18, 2019, parties in the adversarial proceeding filed a stipulation requesting that the Court close the adversarial proceeding until the arbitration proceeding between the parties was resolved. On June 24, 2019, the Court entered an order continuing the status conference on the adversarial proceeding to January 15, 2020, with leave to parties to stipulate to advancing the conference if needed.

Debtor filed their second amended plan and disclosure statement on December 27, 2018. They filed a third amended plan and disclosure statement on March 7, 2019. The third amended plan was confirmed via order entered on April 5, 2019. The third amended plan provides a 102% dividend to the general unsecured creditors. The third amended plan was confirmed via order entered by the Court on April 5, 2019.

On July 22, 2019, Applicant filed their second, and final, application for compensation, seeking allowance of both $35,050.00 in fees and $251.80 in expenses for services performed from the period of October 23, 2018 through the confirmation of the plan at the hearing on March 26, 2019, as well as allowance of the $54,450 in fees and $0 in expenses which was originally approved by the Court on November 27, 2018, but for which no order was lodged. No opposition was filed against Applicant's second fee application. However, Applicant once again failed to file a client declaration or explanation in regard to their explanation, as required by LBR 2016-1(a)(1)(J).

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(1), the court may award reasonable compensation for actual, necessary services. The court has an independent duty to review the fee application in the absence of objections. See 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(2). The court "will not indulge in extensive labor and guesswork to justify a fee for an attorney who has not done so himself." In re Taylor, 66 B.R. 390 (Bankr. W.D. Pa. 1986).

11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(3) provides factors to be considered in determining the reasonableness of requested compensation. These factors include time spent, rates charged, necessity of the service, reasonableness of the service, expertise of attorney, and comparable market rates.

Upon review of Applicant's final fee application, the billing records, and the work performed, the Court is inclined to find that Applicant's requested compensation is generally reasonable. In particular, the Court takes note of the successful resolution of Applicant's Chapter 11 case, with a confirmed 100% plan of reorganization and the successful litigation of several contested claims. While there is a remaining adversarial proceeding open in the case, the Court notes that parties have requested that it close that proceeding until arbitration has concluded. As such, the Court is inclined to grant Applicant's combined request of $89,500 in fees.

Upon review of Counsel's request for $251.80 in expenses, the Court is inclined to find that Counsel has properly accounted for their expenses, and that the expenses themselves are reasonable. As such, the Court is inclined to grant Counsel's request for $251.80 in expenses. As the previous interim application requested $0 in expenses, the Court does not need to approve a combined request here regarding expenses.

However, Applicant has once again failed to comply with Local Rule 2016-1(a)(1) (J). It requires a separately filed declaration from the client, or in the alternative, if the client refuses to provide such declaration, Applicant's own declaration describing steps taken to obtain the client's declaration. Previously, Debtor filed such a declaration after the hearing on November 27, 2018. As such, the Court will repeat its prior decision from the first interim application, and condition the order authorizing payment of the approved combined fees and expenses on the filing of a declaration or explanation from the Debtor, as required by LBR

However, the entering of Applicant's lodged order for compensation will be conditioned on the filing of a declaration, or explanation as to why no declaration is forthcoming, as required by LBR 2016-1(a)(1)(J), as well as the lodgment of an order approving the first interim fee application.

Opposition: Yes (but resolved via stipulation).

Analysis: 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(3) (2005) provides factors to be considered in determining the reasonableness of requested compensation.

Background

Debtor L.A. Steel Services, Inc. ("Debtor") filed their voluntary Chapter 11 petition on July 12, 2018. Debtor's second amended Chapter 11 plan was confirmed on July 3, 2019, and Debtor received their order of discharge on July 12, 2019. The plan provides for a 100% treatment of the general unsecured creditors.

Debtor filed an application for an order authorizing the employment of special counsel for Debtor Worley Law, P.C. ("Worley") on July 25, 2018. The order was entered on August 14, 2018. Worley was employed to:

- 1- advise and assist the Debtor with respect to factual and legal issues that may arise in the case related to construction and contractors;
- 2- advise and assist the Debtor with communication with general contractors and owners regarding compliance with contract terms and applicable law, and to assist in the prosecution/negotiation of claims of the Debtor for additional compensation or change orders as applicable;

3- Advise and assist the Debtor related to claims which may be asserted by suppliers, vendors, and subcontractors, including claims of PSG and claims that Debtor may have against PSG; and

4- to perform any and all legal services incident and necessary herein as the Debtor may have required of the firm as special counsel.

Among the services Worley provided was consultation with Debtor on Debtor's claim objection to PSG's claim against Debtor, which included Worley assisting with the drafting regarding Debtor's claim objection.

Worley filed their final application for payment of fees and expenses on July 30, 2019. Worley requested $126,562.50 in fees and $493.00 in expenses, for a total of $127,055.50. Worley received a $25,000 retainer from Debtor. As part of Worley's employment order, Worley was allowed to receive 80% of their requested fees and 100% of their expenses through interim payments via monthly professional fee statements. Worley received $28,310 in fees and $105.90 in expenses through interim payments (including the remaining amounts from the retainer) and received no objections to any of the monthly fee statements. This leaves the current total request remaining to be paid at $98,639.60.

The U.S. Trustee ("U.S.T.") filed an opposition to Worley's fee application on August 5, 2019. U.S.T. raised objections as to $9,187.50 in requested fees from vaguely described entries, as well as $5,655 in entries where both Worley and Debtor's counseled participated in the same meetings, raising concerns of duplicative work.

Debtor filed a statement of support of Worley's fee application on August 9, 2019.

Worley filed a response to U.S.T. on August 12, 2019 giving their explanation for the vague entries and explaining their role at the meetings where they participated alongside Debtor's counsel.

Worley and U.S.T. entered into a stipulation filed on August 12, 2019. The parties agreed to a permanent reduction in the fees requested of $2,840.63, for a new total of $124,214.87 and a new current amount to be paid of $95,798.97.

Analysis

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(1), the court may award reasonable compensation for actual, necessary services. The court has an independent duty to review the fee application in the absence of objections. See 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(2). Upon review of Worley's final fee application, the work performed by Worley during this matter, the U.S.T.'s opposition, and Worley's reply, the Court is inclined to find that the stipulation entered into by Worley and U.S.T. reflect a reasonable final compensation for the work performed by Worley. As such, the Court is inclined to grant Worley's reduced request for fees, per the stipulation, in the amount of $123,721.87.

Upon review of Worley's request for $493 in expenses, the Court is inclined to find that Worley has properly accounted for their expenses, and that the expenses themselves are reasonable. As such, the Court is inclined to grant Worley's request for $493 in expenses.

#42.00 Motion For Final Decree and Order Closing Case

Also #40 - #43

EH__

Docket 353

Tentative Ruling:

BACKGROUND

LA Steel Services, Inc. ("Debtor") filed their voluntary Chapter 11 petition on July 12, 2018. Their Chapter 11 plan was confirmed by the Court on July 3, 2019. Debtor filed this motion for entry of final decree and closing of case on July 26, 2019. There are two remaining motions to be resolved in the case, both concerning the approval of the compensation for Debtor's counsels, Shulman, Hodges and Bastian and Worley Law, P.C. Both of those motions are to be heard on the same date as this motion, August 20, 2019, and the Court has noted its inclination to grant both.

DISCUSSION

The failure of any party to oppose Debtor's motion will be treated as consent under LBR 9013-1(f)(3).

The Court should enter a final decree closing a case when a Chapter 11 estate has been fully administered. 11 U.S.C. § 350. Full administration of a case requires there are no unresolved matters concerning the case that remain to be decided, such as motions, contested matters, or adversary proceedings. Greenfield Drive Storage Park v. California Para-Professional Servs. (In re Greenfield Storage Park), 207 B.R. 913, 918 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1997). The question then turns to whether the case has been substantially consummated, as defined under 11 U.S.C. § 1101(2). In re Wade, 991 F.2d 402, 406 fn. 2 (7th Cir. 1993). § 1101(2) defines "substantial consummation" as when:

- 1- All, or substantially all of the property to be transferred under the plan has been transferred;
- 2- The debtor, or the successor to the debtor, has assumed management of the debtor's business under the plan and/or all or substantially all of the property dealt with by the plan; and 3- The distribution under the plan has commenced.

Here, while there are two remaining matters to be resolved, both will be resolved on the same date as this motion, and neither are in controversy at this time. The Court thus finds that the matter has been fully administered. In addition, the Court finds that the case has been substantially consummated. There was no property that needed to be distributed under the plan, Debtor has assumed the management of their business and control of their assets, and distributions have begun under the plan and are being carried out under the schedule.

TENTATIVE RULING

BACKGROUND

On April 15, 2016, James & Amanda Blow ("Debtors") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. Debtors had previously filed a Chapter 7 case on September 4, 2008, receiving a discharge on January 9, 2009 (the "Previous Case"). On June 1, 2016, Debtors' Chapter 13 plan was confirmed. During 2017, Debtors modified the plan once, and also received authorization to enter into a loan modification.

On March 5, 2019, Debtors filed a second motion to modify plan, seeking to suspend three plan payments, while making up the suspended amount through an increase of $49 in the monthly plan payment. The Chapter 13 Trustee filed comments requesting that the matter be set for hearing, and that Debtors provide updated evidence of their current income. Debtors did not set the matter for hearing. On April 10, 2019, Trustee filed a motion to dismiss, which Debtors did not timely oppose. On April 30, 2019, however, Debtors filed a notice of conversion to Chapter 7.

On June 5, 2019, the Court sent a notice of non-entitled to discharge pursuant to 11

U.S.C. § 727(a) because the Previous Case was filed within eight years of the instant case. On June 25, 2019, Debtors filed a motion to vacate conversion, asserting that they were unaware they were ineligible for a Chapter 7 discharge, and that they would be able to complete a modified version of their Chapter 13 plan. On August 7, 2019, the Chapter 7 Trustee filed its opposition.

On July 16, 2019, the Chapter 7 Trustee filed an application to employ real estate broker. On July 31, 2019, Debtors filed their opposition, which primarily referred to the pending motion to vacate conversion.

DISCUSSION

Debtors' opposition to the Chapter 7 Trustee's application to employ real estate broker simply refers to the pending motion to vacate conversion, while also indicating that if the motion to vacate conversion is denied, Debtors will file a motion to dismiss or to re-convert.

As noted in this Court's tentative ruling on the motion to vacate conversion, Debtors are currently ineligible to be debtors in a Chapter 13 case pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 109(e), because they are not "individuals with regular income" as that term is defined in 11 U.S.C. § 101(30).

Because the Court's tentative ruling indicates that the Court is inclined to deny vacation of the conversion order, the only actual basis for Debtor's opposition to the application to employ, that Debtors having a pending motion which would terminate the Chapter 7 bankruptcy estate, appears to have been removed. The Court gives no weight to the opposition's speculation that Debtors may file a motion to dismiss the Chapter 7 case or a motion to convert to Chapter 13.

DISCUSSION

FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 60(b)(1),(6), incorporated into bankruptcy proceedings by FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 9024, provides as follows:

(b) On motion and just terms, the court may relieve a party or its legal representative from a final judgment, order, or proceeding for the following reasons:

- (1) mistake, inadvertence, surprise, or excusable neglect
- (6) any other reason that justifies relief

It is not clear whether Debtors whether Debtors are moving pursuant to FED. R.BANKR. P. Rule 60(b)(1) or (b)(6) (or both). Regarding Rule 60(b)(6), "[i]n order to obtain such relief from a judgment [] 'extraordinary circumstances' must exist." U.S. v. Sparks, 685 F.2d 1128,1130 (9th Cir. 1982) (quoting Ackerman v. U.S., 340 U.S. 193, 199 (1950)); see also Pioneer Inv. Servs. Co. v. Brunswick Assocs. Ltd. P'ship, 507 U.S. 380, 393 (1993). The Court agrees with the Chapter 7 Trustee that Debtors have failed to show the type of extraordinary circumstances which would justify relief under Rule 60(b)(6); other than a single citation to Rule 60(b)(6), the motion focuses on Rule 60(b)(1).

Courts disagree about whether, and in what circumstances, attorney error justifies relief under FED. R. CIV. P. 60(b)(1). Judge Easterbrook has held that attorney negligence is never an acceptable basis for relief under the rule. See U.S. v. 7108 West Grand Ave., Chicago, Ill., 15 F.3d 632, 633-35 (7th Cir. 1994) ("Yet why should the label 'gross' make a difference to the underlying principle: that the errors and misconduct of an agent redound to the detriment of the principal rather than of the adversary in litigation?"). The Ninth Circuit has disagreed, holding that in cases of "gross negligence" relief is warranted under FED. R. CIV. P. 60(b)(1). Cnty Dental Servs. v. Tani, 282 F.3d 1164, 1168 (9th Cir. 2002) ("While the above principles provide the general rule regarding the client-attorney relationship, several circuits have distinguished a client's accountability for his counsel's neglectful or negligent acts – too often a normal part of representation – and his responsibility for the more unusual circumstance of his attorney's extreme negligence or egregious conduct."). Furthermore, the Ninth Circuit has found ordinary carelessness to be grounds for relief when there exists an extraordinary or unusual extrinsic cause. See, e.g., Medina v. Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., 2016 WL 2944295 at *2 (C.D. Cal. 2016) (collecting cases). There is, however, much distance on the spectrum between gross negligence (when an attorney is no longer acting on behalf of a client) and ordinary "carelessness" in which relief under 60(b) will be granted.

Furthermore, courts often distinguish between a deliberate act with unintended consequences and an inadvertent attorney error. Parks v. Armour Pharms., 1995 WL 13232 at *1 (N.D. Cal. 1995) ("This case is distinguishable from that in Nemaizer v. Baker, 793 F.2d 58 (2nd Cir. 1986), wherein the dismissal with prejudice was based upon a stipulation with defense counsel and an apparent misunderstanding by plaintiff of the effect of the stipulation. Here, plaintiffs' counsel and his secretary unilaterally and inadvertently filed a dismissal containing unintended 'with prejudice' language. They did not fail to appreciate the effect of the dismissal with prejudice; they failed to realize what they inadvertently filed.").

The distinction noted in Parks is illustrative of the problem here. As Parks notes, a party should not be relieved from acts that were deliberately chosen solely because the party did not comprehend the consequences of the decision. Here, the conversion of Debtors' case to Chapter 7 was clearly an intentional act. As such, Debtors have failed to establish grounds to vacate conversion.

In addition, as noted by the Chapter 7 Trustee, the most recent schedules filed by Debtors identify disposable income of -$28. Therefore, Debtors are ineligible to be in a Chapter 13 case pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 109(e) and 11 U.S.C. § 101(30), and thus vacation of the conversion order would be inappropriate.

#13.00 Notice of Trustee's Final Report and Applications for Compensation

EH__

Docket 26

Tentative Ruling:

8/21/2019

No opposition has been filed.
Service was Improper

On July 2, 2019, the Chapter 7 Trustee filed its final report and notice of final report. The notice of final report, however, specified a hearing date of August 1, 2019 at 9:30 a.m., which is not an available hearing time. The next day, Trustee received a notice to filer identifying the error and stating that the matter would not be set for calendar.

The notice of final report was refiled on August 8, 2019. While the notice is signed August 2, 2019, service of the notice of hearing did not go out to parties in interest until August 10, 2019. Therefore, pursuant to the instructions on the notice of final report, the deadline to file an objection is August 24, 2019 – after the scheduled hearing. Therefore, notice and service being improper, the Court is inclined to CONTINUE the matter at least three weeks for Trustee to file an amended notice.

BACKGROUND

On April 25, 2008, Empire Land, LLC ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 11 voluntary petition. On December 8, 2008, Debtor's case was converted to Chapter 7.

Between March 26, 2010, and April 23, 2010, the Chapter 7 Trustee ("Plaintiff") filed 107 adversary proceedings, including this adversary proceeding, 6:10-1319, in which the primary defendant is Empire Partners, Inc. ("Defendant"). While the instant motion was filed in 6:10-1319, it is also related to two other adversary proceedings, 09-1235 and 10-1329.

During the years of litigation in the instant case, the parties have been embroiled in several discovery disputes and have obtained numerous extensions of discovery deadlines. The current discovery dispute began in June 2018, when Defendant served a subpoena duces tecum (the "Subpoena") on Timothy Sullivan ("Sullivan"), an expert witness of Plaintiff. Two weeks later, Plaintiff and Sullivan objected to the Subpoena.

On January 9, 2019, Defendant filed a motion to compel compliance with the Subpoena. After two continuances, the Court heard the matter on March 27, 2019, and, on May 9, 2019, entered an order granting the motion in part. Specifically, the Court granted the motion with respect to request for production number one and denied the motion with respect to requests for production numbers two through ten. Request for product number one states the following:

All DOCUMENTS that constitute communications with PLAINTIFF'S COUNSEL that relate to compensation for SULLIVAN'S study or testimony in this LITIGATION. This request includes all communications regarding compensation, as described in the 2010 Advisory Committee Notes, which states:

Under Rule 26(b)(4)(C)(i) attorney-expert communications regarding compensation for the expert's study or testimony may be the subject of discovery. In some cases, this discovery may go beyond the disclosure requirement in Rule 26(a)(2)(B)(vi). It is not limited to compensation for work forming the opinions to be expressed, but extends to all compensation for the study and testimony provided in relation to the action. Any communications about additional benefits to the expert, such as further work in the event of a successful result in the present case, would be included. This exception includes compensation for work done by a person or organization associated with the expert. The objective is to permit full inquiry into such potential sources of bias.

within thirty days of the entry of the order.

On May 30, 2019, Defendant received a response to the Subpoena. Defendant characterizes the response as follows:

In contemptuous defiance of the Order, on May 30, 2019, Mr. Sullivan allowed counsel for the Trustee to produce heavily redacted invoices, including those attached to the Declaration of Jeffrey Rosenfeld as Exhibit 1. The communications regarding compensation that were produced on behalf of Mr. Sullivan in redacted form prevented discovery and deposition on crucial information about the work that Mr. Sullivan and others at this firm performed in this matter. Based on the materials that were not redacted, it is obvious that most of the work was done by people other than Mr. Sullivan, since most of the hours identified were billed by others, including Ryan Early, Brent Koenig, JT Schwartz, Adam McAbee, Steve Carr, Ada Kaiser, Lisa Wells, Stiles McCauley, and Peter Dennehy.

[Dkt. No. 563, pg. 12, lines 19-28] (citations omitted). Plaintiff generally argues that the redactions were appropriate because the material redacted was not discoverable under FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 26(b)(4) and pursuant to attorney-client privilege and the work product doctrine.

LEGAL ANALYSIS

Local Rule 9020-1 outlines the two-step process that is initiated when a party in interest seeks a holding finding a party in contempt. First, pursuant to Local Rule 9020-1(b), a motion is filed requesting that the Court issue an order to show cause why a party should not be held in contempt. Pursuant to Local Rule 9020-1(b), the responding party has seven days to respond to the motion. Unsurprisingly, given the short notice window and given the protections afforded by the two-step process, an objection to the issuance of an order to show cause is relatively uncommon. When no objection is filed, the Court generally issues the order to show cause pursuant to Local Rule 9020-1(d).

Chapter 7

When an objection to the issuance of an order to show cause is filed, however, the local rules do not provide clear instructions as to the proper procedure to be employed. Given the totality of Local Rule 9020-1, which implies that the Court is to hold a hearing and weigh evidence during the second step of the process, the Court concludes that detailed factual findings are not appropriately issued during the first stage of the process, and that the factual assertions made by Defendant are entitled to deference at this initial stage. Therefore, while the parties have provided the Court with a number of exhibits, the Court concludes that the resolution of disputed facts is not appropriate at this stage.

Confining itself to the operative legal dispute, the Court turns to FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 26(b)(4)-(5), incorporated into bankruptcy proceedings by FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 7026, which state, in pertinent part:

(4) Trial Preparation: Experts.

(A) Deposition of an Expert Who May Testify. A party may depose any person who has been identified as an expert whose opinions may be presented at trial. If Rule 26(a)(2)(B) requires a report from the expert, the deposition may be conducted only after the report is provided.

(B) Trial-Preparation Protection for Draft Reports or Disclosures. Rule 26(b)(3)(A) and (B) protect drafts of any report or disclosure required under Rule 26(a)(2), regardless of the form in which the draft is recorded.

(C) Trial-Preparation Protection for Communications Between a Party's Attorney and Expert Witness. Rule 26(b)(3)(A) and (B) protect communications between the party's attorney and any witness required to provide a report under Rule 26(a)(2)(B), regardless of the form of the communications, except to the extent that the communications:

- (i) relate to compensation for the expert's student or testimony;
- (ii) identify facts or data that the party's attorney provided and that the expert considered in forming the opinions to be expressed; or
- (iii) identify assumptions that the party's attorney provided and that the expert relied on in forming the opinions to be expressed.

(5) Claiming Privilege or Protecting Trial-Preparation Materials.

(A) Information Withheld. When a party withholds information otherwise discoverable by claiming that the information is privileged or subject to protection as trial-preparataion material, the party must:

- (i) expressly make the claim; and
- (ii) describe the nature of the documents, communications, or tangible things not produced or disclosed – and do so in a manner that, without revealing information itself privileged or protected, will enable other parties to assess the claim.

Here, the basis for the Subpoena was FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 26(b)(4)(C)(i), and the Subpoena closely tracked the language of the provision, while quoting at length from the relevant advisory committee notes.

Defendant asks the Court to focus on the requirements set forth in FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 26(b)(5) for claiming privilege or protecting trial-preparation materials.¹ According to Defendant, because Sullivan did not follow the approach outlined in FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 26(b)(5)(A), Sullivan has waived privilege, and, as a result, could not have properly invoked an applicable privilege in support of the redactions made.

Plaintiff asks the Court to focus on the phrase "otherwise discoverable." According to Plaintiff, because the subject of the redactions was outside the scope of FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 26(b)(4)(C)(i), the subject of the redactions was not discoverable, and, therefore, the procedure outlined in FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 26(b)(5)(A) did not need to be followed.

Because FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 26(b)(4)(C)(i) is a 2010 amendment to the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, the parties appear to have only provided a single case addressing that subsection, and that case is of limited utility. Nevertheless, the Court believes that a resolution of the current legal dispute is apparent.

First, a brief review of the information outlined in the background section is illustrative. Second request for production number one in the Subpoena closely tracked the language of FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 26(b)(4)(C)(i). After Sullivan objected to the Subpoena, Defendant filed a motion to compel arguing that the scope of request for production number one was permissible under FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 26(b)(4)(C). Third, the Court entered an order compelling compliance with request for production number one – a natural result given that the request for production closely tracked, and did not exceed, the limits of discoverable information under FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 26(b)(4)(C). This case is not a case where a litigant served an overly broad subpoena, which targeted both properly discoverable and privileged information, forcing the other party to assert a privilege to restrict the scope of the subpoena. Instead, the subpoena issued by Defendant was, from the beginning, reasonable and properly tailored to limit the request to discoverable information. Because the subpoena did not seek privileged information, there was no need for Sullivan to respond by invoking privilege through the procedures of FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 26(b)(5)(A).

Instead, it appears that Defendant is now asking to increase the scope of the Subpoena, requesting new information that was not within its original scope. As noted by Defendant in its motion to compel:

RFP # 1 seeks discovery of all communications between plaintiff's counsel and the expert that relate to the expert's compensation. The request is based on the language adopted in 2010 as Fed. R. Civ. Proc. 26(b)(4)(C)(i), and incorporates the 2010 Advisory Committee Notes with respect to the type of discovery that is permitted with respect to communications regarding compensation.

[Dkt. No. 495, pg. 15, lines 11-17]. And, as noted earlier, because the Subpoena was properly and narrowly drafted from the beginning, the Court granted Defendant's motion to compel with respect to document production number one.

As noted by the court in Davita Healthcare Partners, Inc. v. United States, 128 Fed. Cl. 584: "As the 2010 Advisory Committee Note suggests, the focus of permitted discovery is on the amount of expert compensation, not on the tasks performed that led to compensation." Quite simply, in attempting to argue that Sullivan has waived privilege related to this supplemental information, Defendant ignores the fact that the scope of the Subpoena never targeted this supplemental information in the first place.

To the extent Plaintiff raises the argument, for the reasons detailed in Defendant's motion and reply, the Court disagrees with Plaintiff's contention that "[a] privilege log is only required where, in response to a discovery request, a party withholds information that is 'otherwise discoverable.'" [Dkt. No. 567, pg. 9, lines 17-18]. On the other hand, the Court agrees with Plaintiff's more limited argument that:

Since Request No. 1 sought "attorney-expert communications" that fall within the exception in Rule 26(b)(4)(C)(i), the Request necessarily did not require the production of detailed work descriptions in the invoice back-up documents that fall outside the exception. Accordingly, the Trustee and Mr. Sullivan did not need to assert attorney-client privilege or work product objections to Request No. 1 in order to protect the detailed work descriptions in those invoice back-up documents."

The Court notes that to the extent the redacted information actually constituted information within the scope of FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 26(b)(4)(C)(i), then the Court would consider the redactions to be violations of the Court's order compelling a response to request for production number one. While there are portions of Defendant's motion which do raise that contention, the pleadings presented to the Court seem primarily focused on whether redactions were improper because any applicable privilege was waived.

For the foregoing reasons, the Court is inclined to DENY the motion.

#20.00 CONT Creditor, CA Home Buyers 247, LLC Motion to Dismiss Case with a Bar to Refiling

From: 7/31/19

EH ____

Docket 11

Tentative Ruling:

8/21/2019

BACKGROUND

Debtor Howard Terrell ("Debtor") filed a voluntary Chapter 7 Petition on June 10, 2019. Creditor California Home Buyers ("Creditor") filed this motion to dismiss with a one-year refiling bar on July 8, 2019.

Debtor was previously in Chapter 13 bankruptcy until January of 2018. Creditor alleges that Debtor and Creditor entered into a partnership during that bankruptcy, where Creditor would pay Debtor's mortgage arrears, and also pay for 6 months of Debtor's mortgage payments, as well as for the cost of home renovations, in return for a 50% interest in Debtor's home at 944 Randall Ranch Rd., Corona, CA, 92881 (the "Property"). At the end of the renovations, the Property would be sold and the proceeds split.

Creditor argues that he was fraudulently induced into this agreement by Debtor, who has allegedly intentionally delayed the renovation of the Property, and who has also failed to make mortgage payments, requiring Creditor to continue paying the Property's mortgage to prevent foreclosure. Creditor also alleges that Debtor has failed to make the financial contributions required under the agreement to meet the extra needs of the renovation. This was all part of an alleged scheme to continue living at the Property for free.

Creditor filed suit in state court on May 24, 2019, for breach of contract and fraud, among other causes of relief. Debtor, as noted above, filed for Chapter 7 relief on June 10. Due to the reasons stated above, Creditor alleges that Debtor's Chapter 7 petition was in bad faith, and that it should be dismissed with a one-year refiling bar. In addition, Creditor also argues that Debtor is a serial filer who has abused the bankruptcy system, as Debtor filed for Chapter 7 bankruptcy in October of 2009, with a discharge in March of 2010, and he also filed for Chapter 13 bankruptcy in April of 2017, which was dismissed in January of 2018 with a 180-day refiling bar.

Debtor filed his opposition on July 17, 2019. Debtor alleges that the delays in the project were caused by Creditor, who has total control over the rehabilitation project and hasn't been consulting with Debtor as to the work done on the home. In addition, Debtor notes that his Chapter 13 case was voluntarily dismissed in 2018 under the explicit requirements of the partnership agreement between him and Creditor, which required Debtor to dismiss his case.

DISCUSSION

11 U.S.C. § 707(b)(3)(a) allows a court to dismiss a case for abuse if it finds the case to have been filed in bad faith. Under § 349(a), the dismissal of a case can be with prejudice "for cause," which can result in a bar against refiling for a time period set by the court. Bad faith, as cause for dismissal, is based on four factors and judged under the totality of the circumstances. See Leavitt v. Soto (In re Leavitt), 171 F.3d 1219, 1224 (9th Cir. 1999).

These factors are:

- 1- Whether the debtor misrepresented facts in his petition, or unfairly manipulated the Bankruptcy Code;
- 2- The debtor's history of filings and dismissals;
- 3- Whether the debtor only intended to defeat state court litigation;
- 4- Whether egregious behavior is present. See Id.

The Court will begin by noting that, contrary to Creditor's assertions, the Debtor's history of filings and dismissals is not prejudicial to the Debtor. The dismissal of Debtor's 2018 case was a voluntary dismissal, as explicitly required by their partnership agreement, and the 180-day bar against refiling was imposed as a product of this voluntary dismissal. Moreover, it does not appear Movant was a creditor in any prior bankruptcy.

Chapter 7

The question then turns to whether Debtor has misrepresented facts in his petition, unfairly manipulated the Bankruptcy Code, or has engaged in egregious behavior.

Creditor's primary arguments of misrepresentation, unfair manipulation of the Code, and egregious behavior are all premised on Creditor's allegations as contained within his state court claim against Debtor. The one in-case example of misrepresentation is that Debtor has scheduled Creditor's claim as "unknown" instead of Creditor's claimed damages of $498,471.59. Debtor claims he scheduled the claim as "unknown" because he didn't know the exact extent of Creditor's claim at the time, and this is backed by the fact that Creditor's state court claim did not request specific damages, only stating that Creditor had "at least $480,000" in damages midway through its factual allegations.

The Court is disinclined to find that the scheduling of Creditor's claim as "unknown" as a misrepresentation. In addition, the Court does not find that the allegations of Debtor's pre-petition actions are sufficient to warrant dismissal, let alone dismissal with a bar against refiling. Rather, Movant is free to seek relief from stay to continue the state court action and file an adversarial proceeding to determine the dischargeability of the debt in question, as well as its total amount.

BACKGROUND

On December 5, 2017, Robert & Shatara Thompson ("Defendants") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On March 19, 2018, Defendants received a discharge, and the case was subsequently closed.

On March 1, 2018, Beatriz Gutierrez ("Plaintiff") filed a non-dischargeability adversary complaint against Defendants. On April 2, 2018, Defendants filed a motion to dismiss, which was denied by the Court on May 3, 2018. On June 1, 2018, Defendants filed their answer.¹

On July 16, 2019, Plaintiff filed a motion in limine, generally seeking to preclude Defendants from introducing any undisclosed witnesses, witness testimony, and exhibits. The motion asserts that Defendants have: (1) "failed to provide any type of discovery, disclose any exhibits, and identify any witnesses"; (2) failed to cooperate in the preparation of a joint pre-trial stipulation; (3) failed to file a pre-trial stipulation. The motion also asserts that over a period of approximately fifteen months, Plaintiff repeatedly attempted to contact Defendants regarding discovery and required disclosures, but did not receive any meaningful response.

On August 6, 2019, Defendants filed an opposition to the motion in limine, and also filed a pre-trial statement. The Court notes that Defendant's opposition does not contain a declaration or any admissible evidence. On August 13, 2019, Plaintiff filed her reply.

DISCUSSION

FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 26 outlines the litigants' obligation to disclose certain information. FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 37(c)(1) states, in pertinent part:

If a party fails to provide information or identify a witness as required by Rule 26(a) or (e), the party is not allowed to use that information or witness to supply evidence on a motion, at a hearing, or at a trial, unless the failure was substantially justified or is harmless.

And the Ninth Circuit has recently stated:

The Federal Rules of Civil Procedure require parties to provide to other parties the name of each individual likely to have discoverable information – along with the subjects of that information – that the disclosing party may use to support its claims or defenses. And a party who has made a disclosure under Rule 26(a) must supplement or correct its disclosure in a timely manner if the party learns that in some material respect the disclosure is incomplete or incorrect, and if the addition or corrective information has not otherwise been made known to the other parties during the discovery process or in writing. A party that does not timely identify a witness under Rule 26 may not use that witness to supply evidence at a trial unless the failure was substantially justified or is harmless. Indeed, Rule 37(c)(1) is intended to put teeth into the mandatory disclosure requirements of Rule 26(a) and (e).

Ollier v. Sweetwater Union High School Dist., 768 F.3d 843, 861 (9th Cir. 2014). Factors that the Court may consider include: "(1) the prejudice or surprise to the party against whom the testimony is offered; (2) the ability of the party to cure the prejudice; (3) the extent to which introducing such testimony would disrupt the trial; and (4) the moving party's bad faith or willfulness." Woodworker's Supply, Inc. v. Principal Mut. Life Ins. Co., 170 F.3d 985, 993 (10th Cir. 1999).

Here, the evidence submitted in support of Plaintiff's motion establishes that Plaintiff took the initiative to seek discovery disclosures over a period of several months, and that Defendants did not provide the disclosures required by the FRCP. Defendants have offered no explanation to justify the non-disclosure, and the Court cannot conclude that the error is harmless. See, e.g., Davis v. Green, 2015 WL 3505665 at *3 (N.D. Ga. 2015) ("The Court also finds that the failure to disclose these witnesses is not harmless because Defendant Green did not having the opportunity to depose them and conduct proper discovery."); see also Ollier, 768 F.3d at 862-63 (outlining harm to adversarial system by non-compliance with disclosure requirements). And at this late stage of the proceeding – Defendants did not make any attempt to comply with the required disclosures or draft a pre-trial statement until more than a month after the pre-trial conference – further delay would severely disrupt the litigation schedule.

The Court also notes that while Defendants are currently pro se, Defendants have been represented by counsel during the majority of these adversary proceedings, including during the period when the discovery disclosures were due. Therefore, the current pro se status of Defendants has no bearing on their failure to comply with discovery disclosures.

Additionally, the Court notes that Plaintiff has alleged a failure to comply with Local Rule 7016 and FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 16 because Defendants failed to meaningfully participate or prepare for the pre-trial conference. Because Defendants were pro se at the time of the pre-trial conference, and noting that Defendants have since made some effort to fulfill their obligations under these rules, the Court finds Plaintiff's request for judgment or default to be entered against Defendants to not be appropriate. The Court does note, however, that the pre-trial conference was continued approximately sixty days for Defendants to seek new legal counsel or competent legal advice, and it does not appear that Defendants have taken advantage of the opportunity.

#31.00 Motion to Dismiss Zamucen & Curren's Amended Objection to Debtor's Discharge

Docket 41

Tentative Ruling:

8/21/2019

BACKGROUND

On February 7, 2018, Vance Johnson ("Defendant") filed a Chapter 11 voluntary petition. On July 3, 2018, Defendant's case was converted to Chapter 7.

On May 1, 2018, Zamucen & Curren, LLP ("Plaintiff") filed a complaint against Defendant for objection to discharge. On July 2, 2018, the Court denied Defendant's motion to dismiss the complaint for failure to state a claim. On July 16, 2018, Defendant filed his answer.

On October 18, 2018, Plaintiff filed a pleading of uncertain nature (the "Pleading"). On the docket, the Pleading is identified as the "Amended Complaint to Debtor's Discharge of His Debts in Bankruptcy, Including Debtor's Domestic Support Obligation." The actual title of the Pleading, however, is "Creditor, Zamucen & Curren's Amended Objection to Debtor's Discharge of His Debts in Bankruptcy, Including Debtor's Domestic Support Obligation." The Court notes that, to the extent the Pleading was intended to operate as an amended complaint, the Pleading was filed far after the deadlines set forth in FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 15(a)(1) for amendments as a matter of course, and was not done with leave of the Court or with consent of Defendant. The Pleading went unnoticed while the parties stipulation to the continuance of the status conference on five occasions.

On July 3, 2019, Defendant filed a request to dismiss the Pleading, but did not set the request for hearing. On July 10, 2019, Plaintiff filed an application shortening time, requesting that the Court not consider Defendant's motion at the July status conference; for a variety of technical and procedural issues, the Court denied the application.

On July 18, 2019, Defendant filed a second motion to dismiss the Pleading, this time setting the matter for hearing. On August 5, 2019, Plaintiff withdrew the Pleading.

DISCUSSION

Because Plaintiff did not file the Pleading within the time required by FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 15(a), and noting that Defendant did not consent to the late filing of an amended pleading, the Court presumes that the filing of the Pleading was of no effect, and that it was the burden of Plaintiff to seek leave of the Court to allow the Pleading.

Nevertheless, the Court notes that Plaintiff's withdrawal of the Pleading on August 5, 2019, renders the instant motion to strike the motion MOOT.

The Court is inclined to DENY the motion as MOOT.

PROCEDURAL BACKGROUND

On February 7, 2018, Vance Johnson ("Defendant") filed a Chapter 11 voluntary petition. On July 3, 2018, Defendant's case was converted to Chapter 7.

On May 7, 2018, Bankers Health Group, LLC ("Plaintiff") filed a non-dischargeability complaint against Defendant pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(B), (a)(4), and (a)(6). On June 7, 2018, Defendant filed his answer. After the initial status conference, the Court entered a scheduling order on July 17, 2018. Subsequently, the parties stipulated to a continuance of the status conference, and an extension of certain dates in the scheduling order, on three occasions.

On June 24, 2019, Plaintiff filed a motion for summary judgment, and amended the motion four days later. On July 31, 2019, Defendant filed his opposition. Plaintiff's motion for summary judgment is limited to § 523(a)(2)(B) and (a)(6).

Chapter 7

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

Defendant is or was the sole owner Temecula Valley Pain Medical Group, Inc. ("TVPMG"). On July 19, 2017, Johnson entered into a commercial loan on behalf of TVPMG for the amount of $500,000 (the "Loan"). The Loan documentation included a statement of intended purpose which stated that the Loan was to be used for "practice expansion."

By September 2017, however, TVPMG started transitioning into a collection funded business. Ultimately, only five of the eighty-four scheduled payments were made on the Loan.

Plaintiff argues that TVPMG was not a stable, valuable, and successful business at the time the Loan was entered into, that Defendant knew the business was declining and had abandoned efforts to expand the business, and that Defendant spent the entirety of the Loan proceeds during 2017 to cover expenses of a "dying" business. Defendant argues in response that the financial information presented at the time of the Loan's execution was accurate and/or immaterial.

LEGAL STANDARD

Summary judgment should be granted if the pleadings, depositions, answers to interrogatories, and admissions on file, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact and that the moving party is entitled to a judgment as a matter of law. See FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 56(a) (incorporated into bankruptcy proceedings by FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 7056).

The moving party has the burden of establishing the absence of a genuine issue of material fact. Celotex Corp. v. Catrett, 477 U.S. 317, 323 (1986). If the moving party shows the absence of a genuine issue of material fact, the nonmoving party must go beyond the pleadings and identify facts that show a genuine issue for trial. Id. at 324. The non-moving party "must do more than simply show that there is some metaphysical doubt as to the material fact..." Matsushita Electrical Industry Co. v. Zenith Radio Corp., 475 U.S. 574, 586-587 (1986). The court must conduct its analysis viewing the evidence in the light most favorable to the nonmoving party. Bell v. Cameron Meadows Land Co., 669 F.2d 1278, 1284 (9th Cir. 1982). All reasonable doubt as to the existence of a genuine issue of fact should be resolved against the moving party. Hector v. Wiens, 533 F.2d 429, 432 (9th Cir. 1976).

A fact is material if it "might affect the outcome of the suit under the governing law." Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc., 477 U.S. 242, 248 (1986); see also Fresno Motors, LLC v. Mercedes Benz USA, LLC, 771 F.3d 1119, 1125 (9th Cir. 2014). A dispute about a material fact is genuine "if the evidence is such that a reasonable jury could return a verdict for the nonmoving party." Id.

11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(B) and (a)(6) state the following:

- (a) A discharge under section 727, 1141, 1228(a), 1228(b), or 1328(b) of this title does not discharge an individual debtor from any debt –
 - (2) for money, property, services, or an extension, renewal, or refinancing of credit, to the extent obtained by –
 - (B) use of a statement in writing –
 - (i) that is materially false;
 - (ii) respecting the debtor's or an insider's financial condition;
 - (iii) on which the creditor to whom the debtor is liable for such money, property, services or credit reasonably relied; and
 - (iv) that the debtor caused to be made or published with intent to deceive
 - (6) for willful and malicious injury by the debtor to another entity or to the property of another entity

Regarding 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(B), the Ninth Circuit has summarized the elements of a non-dischargeability claim as follows:

- (1) a representation of fact by the debtor;
- (2) that was material;
- (3) that the debtor knew at the time to be false;
- (4) that the debtor made with the intention of deceiving the creditor;
- (5) upon which the creditor relief;
- (6) that the creditor's reliance was reasonable;
- (7) that damage proximately resulted from the representation.

Chapter 7

In re Candland, 90 F.3d 1466, 1469 (9th Cir. 1996)

Here, Defendant disputes that Plaintiff has satisfied the second, third, and fourth elements.

Regarding 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(6), the Ninth Circuit has stated the following:

Section 523(a)(6) of the Bankruptcy Code provides that an individual debtor may not discharge a debt for willful and malicious injury by the debtor to another entity or to the property of another entity. The malicious injury requirement is separate from the willful injury requirement. A "willful" injury is a deliberate or intentional injury, not merely a deliberate or intentional act that leads to injury. A "malicious" injury involves (1) a wrongful act, (2) done intentionally, (3) which necessarily causes injury, and (4) is done without just cause or excuse."

In re Barboza, 545 F.3d 702, 706 (9th Cir. 2008).

LEGAL ANALYSIS

A. 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(B)

As outlined in paragraphs 10-15 of Plaintiff's statement of uncontroverted facts, Plaintiff alleges two different categories of representations which it asserts satisfy the § 523(a)(2)(B) standard: (1) that TVPMG was a stable, successful business; and (2) that the Loan was to be used for "practice expansion." The difficulty in fitting these allegations to the elements of a § 523(a)(2)(B) claim is rendered apparent by the operative paragraph of Plaintiff's brief, paragraph 21, which states, in pertinent part:

Johnson submitted the Johnson PFS, CFI, and the Statement of Intended Purpose to BHG to induce BHG to make the Loan. The Johnson PFS, CFI, and the Statement of Intended Purpose represented Johnson's financial condition and, in particular, his overall ability to generate income. Furthermore, while the Debtor represented to BHG that TVPMG was going to use the Loan Proceeds for "practice expansion," TVPMG did the exact opposite and retracted to focus solely on collections. Contrarily, TVPMG already tried and failed to expand in 2016, reimbursements were down, it was receiving 70% less per patient, and had a grim financial future. TVPMG was not a sustainable business at the time Johnson applied for the Loan. There can be no doubt that Johnson's statements to BHG in the Johnson PFS, CFI, and the Statement of Intended Purpose was false. Johnson represented in such documents that TVPMG was a stable, valuable, and successful business, with a positive financial future, and the ability to timely repay BHG. Furthermore, Johnson said he was obtaining a commercial loan for TVPMG for practice expansion. Instead, TVPMG did the opposite, it did not expand or attempt to expand, but transitioned to a collection only business.

Glaringly absent in the above excerpt is the presence of a particular, factual piece of information regarding financial condition which Plaintiff contends was false at the time TVPMG or Defendant made the representation. The various adjectives used by Plaintiff in characterizing TVPMG are of Plaintiff's own creation – nowhere in the loan documentation does Defendant assert that TVPMG was a "stable, valuable, and successful" business. And even if such a representation were made, such vague and ambiguous adjectives do not constitute factual representations.

Indeed, the declaration of Daniel Johnston submitted in support of the motion is more precise in its description. Paragraph 6 of the declaration states the following: "[t]he information Johnson presented in the Johnson PFS, CFI, and Statement of Intended Purpose led BHG to believe that Johnson's and TVPMG's overall ability to generate income was sufficient to approve the Loan." The distinction revealed above is illuminating: it was Plaintiff's belief that appeared to be erroneous, not the factual information in the loan documents themselves. Nowhere in Plaintiff's statement of uncontroverted facts does Plaintiff allege, let alone establish, that the inaccuracy of its conclusions about TVPMG was proximately caused by inaccurate financial information presented by TVPMG or Johnson.

Turning to the statement of intended purpose, there are significant issues with relying on Johnson's statement that the specific business reason he applied for the loan is "Practice Expansion." First, this statement of intended primary purpose is just that – a statement of intended purpose. While a statement of intent may certainly be false, as noted by Defendant, establishing intent is an issue not commonly resolved at the summary judgment stage. While it is undisputed that TVPMG began significantly decreasing its operating in September 2017, Defendant has offered an explanation for the change – "after the funding of the Loan, the effort to recruit spine surgeons was unsuccessful." [Dkt. No. 34, ¶ 13]. Viewing the evidence in the light most favorable to the non-moving party, the Court cannot conclude that Johnson did not intend to attempt to expand TVPMG at the time of the execution of the Loan.

But there is a more fundamental problem with the use of the statement of intended purpose as the basis for Plaintiff's § 523(a)(2)(B) claim. The first two subsections of § 523(a)(2)(B) require that a written statement must be: (1) materially false; and (2) respecting the debtor's or an insider's financial condition. Clearly, the personal financial statement and the company financial statement are statements about financial conditions, but Plaintiff's has failed to allege with any particularity that those statements are "materially false." And while Plaintiff has alleged that the statement of intended purpose is materially false, it not clear that that statement is a statement regarding "financial condition." See generally Lamar, Archer & Cofrin, LLP v. Appling, 138 S. Ct. 1752, 1761 (2018) ("We also agree that a statement is 'respecting' a debtor's financial condition if it has a direct relation to or impact on the debtor's overall financial status.") (extensively discussing the meaning of statement about financial condition); see also In re Kosinski, 424 B.R. 599 (B.A.P. 1st Cir. 2010) (profit/loss projection not a statement about financial condition because it did not represent either historical or present financial information).

For the reasons noted above, the Court cannot conclude that Plaintiff's has met its burden on its § 523(a)(2)(B) at the summary judgment stage. Specifically, the Court notes that the only representation which Plaintiff has specifically alleged to be false, is the representation regarding the statement of the intended loan purpose. This basis is inadequate to support judgment on the § 523(a)(2)(B) at this stage, because it necessarily invokes the intent of Debtor at the time of the Loan execution, and, taking the evidence in the light most favorable to the non-moving party, Defendant has raised a genuine issue of material fact regarding his state of mind. Furthermore, Plaintiff has not provided legal support for the contention that the statement regarding intended purpose of loan constitutes a statement regarding financial condition.

B. 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(6)

As noted above, the Ninth Circuit has stated the following with regard to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(6):

Section 523(a)(6) of the Bankruptcy Code provides that an individual debtor may not discharge a debt for willful and malicious injury by the debtor to another entity or to the property of another entity. The malicious injury requirement is separate from the willful injury requirement. A "willful" injury is a deliberate or intentional injury, not merely a deliberate or intentional act that leads to injury. A "malicious" injury involves (1) a wrongful act, (2) done intentionally, (3) which necessarily causes injury, and (4) is done without just cause or excuse."

In re Barboza, 545 F.3d 702, 706 (9th Cir. 2008).

As noted by Defendant, in the Ninth Circuit, "an intentional breach of contract cannot give rise to non-dischargeability under § 523(a)(6) unless it is accompanied by conduct that constitutes a tort under state law." Lockerby v. Sierra, 535 F.3d 1038, 1040 (9th Cir. 2008). Earlier this month, the Bankruptcy Appellate Panel provided a helpful expansion of this principle:

There are at least two relevant ways a creditor may take a judgment consisting of damages for breach of contract and prove that it is nondischargeable under § 523(a)(6). The first would be to establish that the breach of contract also constituted a tort such as conversion that the debtor undertook willfully and maliciously within the meaning of § 523(a)(6). . . .

Alternatively, the creditor could prove a "tortious breach of contract." But to do so, the creditor would need to show not only tortious conduct, but also that the debtor's conduct violated "a fundamental public policy of the state."

In re Zeeb, 2019 WL 3778360 at *6 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2019) (citations and quotations omitted).

Plaintiff fails to argue that Defendant either committed tortious conduct under state law or that Debtor's conduct violated a fundamental public policy of the state. Furthermore, the only false representations which Plaintiff alleges that Defendant made with any particularity were regarding the statement of intended purpose of the loan. As more fully outlined above, the Court is hesitant to conclude that Defendant's failure to use the proceeds in accordance with a statement of intended purpose constitutes a tort or a breach of a fundamental public policy of California. Additionally, the Court has received conflicting evidence regarding the business intentions of Defendant at the time of entering into the Loan. When resolving this evidence in the light most favorable to the non-moving party, Defendant, the Court cannot conclude that Plaintiff has met its burden in demonstrating that Defendant had no intention of attempting to use the funds for expansion. And the Court has not been presented with any argument that later deviating from a statement of intended purpose would constitute tortious conduct under California law.

BACKGROUND

On May 21, 2008, Cesar Orozco ("Debtor") filed a voluntary Chapter 13 petition. On August 9, 2018, his Chapter 13 Plan was confirmed. On May 7, 2019, the Chapter 13 Trustee ("Trustee") filed a motion to dismiss Debtor's case for delinquency. On June 6, 2019, Trustee's motion to dismiss was granted. On June 28, 2019, Debtor filed a motion to vacate dismissal.

Debtor's case was dismissed due to a two-month delinquency in plan payments. Debtor's counsel alleges that Debtor fell behind because of a misunderstanding that the submission of a payment in January had made Debtor current on payments. Instead, Debtor was one month short, as a new payment had come due in late January. Debtor's counsel alleges that he attempted to reach Debtor prior to the hearing in June to address this problem, but was unable to do so due to Debtor having recently changed his cellphone number. Debtor now asserts that he has the funds to become current through the July plan payment.

Trustee filed a conditional acceptance of Debtor's motion to vacate dismissal on July 1, 2019. Trustee's conditions are that: 1- Debtor turns over $1,784 to become current on plan payments, and 2- that Debtor submits his 2018 state and federal tax returns

DISCUSSION

Debtor bases his argument for vacating dismissal on F.R.C.P. 60(b)(1) and (6), mistake and "any other reason justifying relief from the operation of the judgment," as well as the Court's inherent equitable powers under 11 U.S.C. § 105(a), and the error rule under F.R.C.P. 61 which permits the setting aside of a judgment if to not do so otherwise would be inconsistent with substantial justice.

The problem with Debtor's arguments is that: 1- the Court did not make an error under FRCP 61, the Debtor did, and 2- Debtor's counsel did not make an error under FRCP 60(b)(1). Debtor was serially delinquent on plan payments within a few months of the confirmation of his plan, and this was the core root of the dismissal, not neglect or mistake by his counsel or the Court.

However, in light of Trustee's conditional acceptance of Debtor's motion, the Court is inclined to find grounds to vacate its dismissal of Debtor's case under the "any other reason" language of F.R.C.P. 60(b)(6) and its inherent equitable powers under 11 U.S.C. § 105(a). If Debtor has the funds to become current on plan payments, and is prepared to turn over his tax returns and refund, then the Court finds that vacating dismissal would not cause an undue prejudicial impact to his creditors.

I note that the application was not served on all creditors. The application requests less than $1,000, however, and it is customary that we only review Trustee's comments on requests less than $1,000.

Tentative:

On October 26, 2018, Yolanda Williams ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. On January 11, 2019, Debtor's Chapter 13 plan was confirmed.

Debtor. On June 18, 2019, Debtor and Creditor stipulated to an adequate protection agreement, which was entered by the Court on the same day – one week prior to the scheduled hearing.

While the adequate protection agreement entered into by Debtor appears to be a routine adequate protection agreement, the fee application of Counsel seems to indicate that there was some dispute about Debtor's payment history or whether payments were applied properly. Because Debtor never filed an opposition to the motion for relief from the automatic stay, the Court does not have information regarding the details of that dispute.

Nevertheless, the Court does not consider the relatively de minimis time spent resolving the dispute, whatever its nature, to be unreasonable. In all, it appears Counsel made three phone calls related to Debtor's payment history, for which a total of .7 hours were billed. Nevertheless, the Court is inclined to disallow fees related to the preparation of an opposition to the motion to dismiss. This opposition was prepared eighteen days before it was due and was never filed with the Court. Additionally, it is unclear why the opposition was not filed with the Court because, from the filing records of Counsel, it does not appear a adequate protection stipulation was reached with Creditor until six days after the opposition deadline.

The Court is inclined to APPROVE fees in the amount of $840 and DISAPPROVE the remaining $120.

APPEARANCES REQUIRED. Applicant may decline to appear and will be deemed to submit to the tentative.

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 502(a), a proof of claim is deemed allowed unless a party in interest objects. Chapter 13

11 U.S.C. § 502(b)(1) (2005) states:

(b) Except as provided in subsections (e)(2), (f), (g), (h) and (i) of this section, if such objection to a claim is made, the court, after notice and a hearing, shall determine the amount of such claim in lawful currency of the United States as of the date of the filing of the petition, and shall allow such claim in such amount, except to the extent that—

(1) such claim is unenforceable against the debtor and property of the debtor, under any agreement or applicable law for a reason other than because such claim is contingent or unmatured;

CAL. CODE CIV. P. § 337 (2016) provides a statute of limitations of four years for debts founded on written contracts, book accounts, accounts stated based upon account in writing, "balance of mutual, open and current account in writing," and rescission of written contract. Once the statute of limitations has passed, the claim is unenforceable. See e.g., Guaranty Trust Co. v. United States, 304 U.S. 126 (1938).

Claim 3 is based on money loaned, and the supporting documentations suggests that Claim 3 fits within the category established by CAL. CODE CIV. P. § 337. Therefore, the statute of limitations is four years. The proof of claim identifies a last payment date of September 13, 2012. This is more than four years prior to the filing of the bankruptcy case, and, therefore, Claim 3 is unenforceable.

Claim 12 is based on a credit card debt. This appears to fit within the category established by CAL. CODE CIV. P. § 337. Therefore, the statute of limitations is four years. The proof of claim identifies a last payment date of March 2009. This is more than four years prior to the filing of the bankruptcy case, and, therefore, Claim 12 is unenforceable.

BACKGROUND:

On February 22, 2019, Michael Wright ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. On May 24, 2019, Debtor's Chapter 13 plan was confirmed.

On March 22, 2019, PYOD LLC ("PYOD") filed a proof of claim for an unsecured claim in the amount of $6,219.54 ("Claim 3"). On April 5, 2019, American Express National Bank ("American Express") filed a proof of claim for an unsecured claim in the amount of $10,274.43 ("Claim 12").

On July 15, 2019, Debtor objected to Claim 3 and Claim 12. Amended claim objections were filed on July 17, 2019. Debtor argues that both Claim 3 and Claim 12 are barred by the statute of limitations.

Anchor Constr. Specialists, Inc.*, 223 F.3d 1035, 1039 (9th Cir. 2000). When a party files an objection to a proof of claim, that filing "creates a dispute which is a contested matter" within the meaning of FRBP 9014 and the Court must resolve the matter after notice and opportunity for hearing upon a motion for relief. Id.

When a creditor has filed a proof of claim that complies with the rules (thereby giving rise to the presumption of validity), the burden shifts to the objecting party who must "present evidence to overcome the prima facie case." In re Medina, 205 B.R. 216, 222 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1996). To defeat the claim, the objecting party must provide sufficient evidence and "show facts tending to defeat the claim by probative force equal to that of the allegations of the proofs of claim themselves." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039 (quoting In re Holm, 931 F.2d 620, 623 (9th Cir. 1991)). "The objector must produce evidence, which, if believed, would refute at least one of the allegations that is essential to the claim's legal sufficiency." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1040 (quoting In re Allegheny Int'l, Inc., 954 F.2d 167, 173-74 (3d Cir. 1992)). If the objecting party produces sufficient evidence to negate one or more of the sworn facts in the proof of claim, the burden reverts back to the claimant to prove the validity of the claim by a preponderance of the evidence. See In re Consol. Pioneer Mort, 178 B.R. 222, 226 (9th Cir. BAP 1995), aff'd, 91 F.3d 151 (9th Cir. 1996) (quoting Allegheny Int'l, 954 F.2d at 173-74). The ultimate burden of persuasion remains at all times on the claimant. See Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039; see also Holm, 931 F.2d at 623.

BACKGROUND:

On April 15, 2019, Mark & Elizabeth Swartz ("Debtors") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. On June 21, 2019, The Bank of New York Mellon f/k/a The Bank of New York as successor Indenture trustee to JPMorgan Chase Bank, National Association for CWHEQ Revolving Home Equity Loan Trust, Series 2006-F ("Creditor") filed a proof of claim for a secured claim in the amount of $157,959.06 ("Claim 5").

On July, 2019, Debtors filed an objection to Claim 5. Debtors argue that the information filed in support of Claim 5 is inadequate pursuant to the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure, and that, as a result, Creditor has failed to meet its burden of proof.

BACKGROUND

On April 30, 2019, Jesus and Flora Hernandez Flores ("Debtors") filed a voluntary petition for Chapter 13 bankruptcy. On June 5, 2019, Debtors filed a motion to value their 2016 Toyota RAV4 (the "Property"). The Property is currently subject to a $22,732 lien held by Altura Credit Union ("Creditor"). The motion did not contain any evidence of the Property's value. On July 12, 2019, Debtors filed a supplemental to their motion, containing a Carmax appraisal of the Property, which establishes the amount for which Carmax would purchase the Property.

Creditor filed an opposition on July 30, 2019. In it, Creditor claims that Debtors' motion to value the property is in violation of 11 U.S.C. § 1325(a)(9), which does not permit the reduction of a secured claim stemming from a purchase money security interest incurred within a 910-day period prior to the petition date for the purchase of a motor vehicle acquired for a Debtors' personal use.

DISCUSSION

First, the Court begins by noting that Debtors' first motion did not contain any evidence to support their claimed valuation of the Property. Instead, Creditor only received 19 days' notice of such an integral part of Debtors' motion through the supplemental filed on July 12, 2019. While not fatal, the Court still finds this to be improper notice of the motion.

As to the merits, one of the benefits of filing a Chapter 13 bankruptcy is that under § 506(a) the debtor can bifurcate a secured, unavoidable debt, with one part representing the amount of the value of the collateral, and the deficiency being treated as an unsecured claim. See In re Penrod, 636 F.3d 1175, 1177 (9th Cir. 2011).

However, a Chapter 13 plan cannot be confirmed with a § 506(a) claim bifurcation under § 1325(a)(5) if the claim being bifurcated is: (1)- a purchase money security interest, (2) incurred for the purchase of a motor vehicle, (3) acquired for the Debtors' personal use, (4) that was taken out 910 days prior to the Chapter 13 petition. Here, Creditor is the holder of a purchase money security interest for a vehicle acquired for the Debtors' personal use which was taken out 584 days prior to the petition date, as the retail installment contract was entered into by Debtors on September 23, 2017. As such, claim bifurcation is not available within this case for the Property. Even if it was, Debtors also failed to submit proper evidence of the Property's value.

Assuming, arguendo, that § 1325(a)(5) did not apply, the Ninth Circuit has not presently established a uniform method for valuations. See In re Ayres, 2010 WL 652825 at *5 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. 2010) (collecting cases detailing vehicle valuation and describing the state of the law in the Ninth Circuit). In In re Morales, however, which this Court has previously cited with approval, it was determined that value should be calculated "by adjusting the Kelley Blue Book or N.A.D.A. Guide retail value for a like vehicle by a reasonable amount in light of the evidence presented regarding the condition of the vehicle or any other relevant factors." In re Morales, 387 B.R. 36, 45 (Bankr.C.D.Cal.2008).

According to the court in In re Morales, the retail values, and not the private party values, are the appropriate starting points because the text of § 506(a)(2) refers to "the price a retail merchant would charge" and does not refer to the price a private party would charge. Morales at 46.

Here, Debtors have submitted a Carmax appraisal of the vehicle, which gave an appraisal offer of $12,500. This appears to completely miss the goal of valuation. Value under Morales is meant to establish what a retail merchant would charge when selling the Property, not what a retail merchant would purchase the Property for. Debtors have provided the purchase price, which will almost certainly be substantially lower than the sale price, cutting against the Creditor's interests.

#45.00 Motion for Setting Property Value 2014 Mercedes E350

EH__

Docket 10

Tentative Ruling:

8/22/19

BACKGROUND

On January 13, 2019, Maisha Ghant-Elie ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. Among the assets of the estate is a 2014 Mercedes E350 (the "Property"). Pursuant to Schedule D, Navy Federal Credit Union ("Creditor") holds a security interest in the Property. On July 29, 2019, Creditor filed a proof of claim in the amount of $39,746.07, identifying $10,932 as secured by the Property ("Claim 5"). The Court notes, however, that while Creditor filled out the security information in the proof of claim form, Creditor also checked the box stating that the claim was wholly unsecured. As a result, the claim register in this case identifies Claim 5 as an unsecured claim.

On July 19, 2019, Debtor filed a motion to value the Property. Debtor asserts that the Property should be valued at $10,932.

DISCUSSION

One of the benefits of filing a Chapter 13 bankruptcy is that under § 506(a) the debtor can bifurcate a secured, unavoidable debt, with one part representing the amount of the value of the collateral, and the deficiency being treated as an unsecured claim. See In re Penrod, 636 F.3d 1175, 1177 (9th Cir. 2011).

Presently, the Ninth Circuit has not established a uniform method for valuations. See In re Ayres, 2010 WL 652825 at *5 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. 2010) (collecting cases detailing vehicle valuation and describing the state of the law in the Ninth Circuit). In In re Morales, however, which this Court has previously cited with approval, it was determined that value should be calculated "by adjusting the Kelley Blue Book or N.A.D.A. Guide retail value for a like vehicle by a reasonable amount in light of the evidence presented regarding the condition of the vehicle or any other relevant factors." In re Morales, 387 B.R. 36, 45 (Bankr.C.D.Cal.2008).

According to the court in In re Morales, the retail values, and not the private party values, are the appropriate starting points because the text of § 506(a)(2) refers to "the price a retail merchant would charge" and does not refer to the price a private party would charge. Morales at 46.

Here, Debtor has provided a Kelly Blue Book report identifying the private party value of the Property. Pursuant to the above discussion, the Court requires evidence of the Property's retail value, and adequate evidence to justify any deviations therefrom.

However, as Creditor and Debtor apparently agree that the value of the Property is $10,932, and because the Court deems Creditor's non-opposition to be consent to the relief requested, the Court is inclined to GRANT the motion, valuing the Property at $10,932, with a resulting general unsecured claim in the amount of $28,814.07

Tentative Ruling:

8/27/2019

Service is Proper
Opposition: Yes

Debtors had a previous bankruptcy case dismissed on November 15, 2018. Therefore, pursuant to the operation of 11 U.S.C. § 362(c)(3), the automatic stay in this CASE, absent order of the Court, was to expire on March 24, 2019. While Debtors did file a motion to continue the automatic stay, that motion, after a continuance, was ultimately denied by the Court. Therefore, the automatic stay expired on March 24, and the Court is inclined to DENY the motion as MOOT.

11 U.S.C. § 365(p)(1) provides for the automatic termination of the automatic stay with respect to a lease of personal property which is rejected or not timely assumed. Here, Debtors' Chapter 13 plan rejected the lease with Movant. Therefore, the automatic stay has already been terminated, and the Court is inclined to DENY the motion as MOOT.

Docket 20

Tentative Ruling:

8/27/2019

Service is Improper

Opposition: None

As a preliminary note, the Court notes that notice and service of the motion are improper. Local Rule 4001-1(c)(1)(A) requires service to be made on the "debtor and debtor's attorney (if any)" (emphasis added). Judge Houle's self-calendaring instructions require telephonic notice to be given to all parties entitled to receive notice. Here, Movant has not given Debtor telephonic notice of the hearing and, therefore, notice is improper. Furthermore, the Court notes that Movant does not appear to have served Debtor with the motion via overnight mail, and, therefore, it is unclear whether Debtor would have received the underlying motion at least five court days prior to the hearing.

On the merits, the Court notes that there are issues with several of the requests made by Movant. First, Movant requests relief from the § 1301(a) co-debtor stay, yet there has not been service on any co-debtor. Second, Movant requests confirmation that no stay is in effect, yet the relevant subsections identified in the motion, § 362(b)(22) and (23), do not appear applicable to this case. Third, Movant requests annulment of the automatic stay to validate the unlawful detainer judgment, yet Movant has not provided a declaration or any detailed evidence in support of its request. The Court notes that Movant was listed in the originally creditor mailing matrix, and it is unclear

Opposition: None.

Analysis: 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(3) (2005) provides factors to be considered in determining the reasonableness of requested compensation.

Background

Debtor Bausman and Company, Inc. ("Debtor") filed their voluntary Chapter 11 petition on January 30, 2017. On July 3, 2017, having been unable to reorganize, Debtor filed a motion to voluntarily convert their Chapter 11 case to one under Chapter 7. On September 27, 2017, the Court entered an order converting the case to one under Chapter 7, and appointing a Chapter 7 Trustee.

Debtor filed a motion to employ Procopio, Cory, Hargreaves & Savitch ("Counsel") as Chapter 11 bankruptcy counsel on February 14, 2017, and the Court approved the motion via order entered on May 9, 2017. Debtor was employed from January 31, 2017 through September 27, 2017, as counsel for Debtor.

Chapter 7

On June 30, 2017, Counsel filed their first interim application for compensation of fees and expenses for the period of January 31, 2017 through June 26, 2017. The Court approved the interim application via order entered on September 22, 2019, in the reduced amount of $96,565.70 in fees and $3,936.82 in expenses, with permission to draw upon the $17,750 received as a retainer for payment, but nothing else.

On December 1, 2017, the Court entered an order authorizing the employment of Best, Best, and Krieger as counsel for the Chapter 7 trustee.

On December 20, 2017, Counsel filed their second and final application for compensation of fees and expenses, for the period of June 27, 2017 through September 27, 2017. Per stipulation with the Chapter 7 Trustee, Counsel's fees and expenses were to be treated as a second interim application, and Counsel was to seek final allowance and payment of compensation at the conclusion of the case. However, Counsel was not to be required to refile the application for final compensation with the Court, rather, Counsel was to file a declaration requesting that the application from December 20, 2017 be treated as a final application. The stipulation concerning the treatment of the application was approved via order entered by the Court on January 4, 2019. On February 5, 2019, the Court approved Counsel's second interim application for compensation of fees and expenses in the reduced amount of $13,675.50 in fees and the full amount of $115.27 in expenses, for a reduced total amount of $13,789.77.

On June 28, 2019, the Chapter 7 Trustee filed their notice to professionals to file applications for compensation.

On July 17, 2019, Counsel filed their final application for compensation of fees and expenses for the period between January 31, 2017 and September 27, 2017. The application requests a combined $116,065.70 in final fees and $4,052.09 in final expenses, for a combined final total of $120,117.79. This includes the $10,045.55 reduction ordered by the Court in the first interim fee application. Of this amount, $102,367.79 remains to be paid, following the application of the $17,750 retainer towards payment, as originally approved by the Court in its order approving the first application for compensation.

Counsel is not seeking payment for their requested compensation at this time, rather they are seeking an administrative claim against the Chapter 7 estate in the amount of the approved compensation.

Analysis

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(1), the court may award reasonable compensation for actual, necessary services. The court has an independent duty to review the fee application in the absence of objections. See 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(2). The court "will not indulge in extensive labor and guesswork to justify a fee for an attorney who has not done so himself." In re Taylor, 66 B.R. 390 (Bankr. W.D. Pa. 1986).

11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(3) provides factors to be considered in determining the reasonableness of requested compensation. These factors include time spent, rates charged, necessity of the service, reasonableness of the service, expertise of attorney, and comparable market rates.

The Court begins by noting that it has already previously reviewed the fees and expenses requested within this final application when it reviewed the first and second interim fee applications filed by Counsel. The combined total from the two orders approving the interim fee applications in reduced amounts was $114,292.29, reflecting a combined $110,240.20 in fees and $4,052.09 in expenses. By contrast, here Debtor is requesting a combined total of $120,117.79, reflecting $116,065.70 in combined fees and $4,052.09 in combined expenses. The discrepancy between the two combined totals, that of the two ordered amounts and that of the final application, is because Counsel included in its request a $5,827.50 reduction in fees ordered by the Court when it approved the second application for compensation. In contrast, Counsel has excluded for its request the $10,045.55 reduction in fees ordered as part of the Court's approval of the first application for compensation.

The question becomes whether the Court is inclined to change its finding as to the fees requested for the services performed in the period of June 27, 2017, through September 27, 2017. The original reduction was incurred due to the Court's disinclination to grant fees incurred in Counsel's defense of its first fee application, for travel time to a hearing on Debtor's conversion motion which would not have been needed had Counsel properly followed the local bankruptcy rules, and for a sale motion which caused the delay in conversion of the case to one under Chapter 7 for two months, but was eventually never filed. Upon a second review of the fees requested, and the services performed, especially those for which the Court originally denied the fees requested, the Court is not inclined to change its original opinion. As such, it is inclined to maintain its $5,827.50 reduction in fees.

As for Counsel's request for reimbursement of $4,052.09 in expenses, the Court maintains its findings that Counsel properly accounted for its expenses in its original motions, and that those expenses were necessary and reasonable. As such, the Court is inclined to maintain its original granting of a combined $4,052.09 in expenses in its two orders on Counsel's interim fee applications.

The Court notes that Counsel is not requesting payment of their approved compensation at this time, barring final approval of the previous payment made to the firm in the amount of $17,750 from the pre-petition retainer, as approved by the Court in its September 22, 2017, order approving the first interim fee application. Instead, Counsel is requesting authorization to receive a Chapter 11 administrative expense claim. The Court is instead inclined to grant Counsel a Chapter 7 administrative expense claim, against Debtor's current Chapter 7 estate.

#2.00 Notice of Trustee's Final Report and Applications for Compensation

EH__

Docket 35

Tentative Ruling:

ANALYSIS

Upon review of the Trustee's services, the Court finds that the statutory maximum is a reasonable request in this matter. Trustee has requested $1,316.57 based on a disbursement of $5,665.68. This is both a correct calculation of the compensable funds disbursed, as well as the statutory maximum fees allowed. As such, the Court is inclined to grant Trustee's request for $1,316.57 in fees.

The Court has reviewed Trustee's accounting of his expenses in the amount of $208.05 and finds them reasonable.

#3.00 Motion For Order Compelling Turnover Of Real Property Pursuant To 11 U.S.C. § 542(a)

EH__

Docket 19

Tentative Ruling:

MOTION FOR TURNOVER

NO OPPOSITION

BACKGROUND

On June 8, 2019, Robert Young ("Debtor") filed his voluntary Ch. 7 petition. Within Debtor's schedules, Debtor disclosed his possession of a home at 734 Grassy Meadow Dr., San Jacinto, CA 92825 (the "Property"), with a scheduled stated value of $324,000. Debtor has claimed a $100,000 exemption in the property under Cal. Civ. Code § 704.730. The Property is burdened by scheduled debts totaling $206,681 representing the 1st Mortgage held by Darrington Mortgage in the amount of $180,000 and the 2nd Mortgage held by Novad Management Consulting LLC/HUD in the amount of $55,681.00. There is also a scheduled lien for solar panels in the amount of $40,000 which is held by Clean Energy Ygrene. None of those parties have yet filed claims in the case.

On August 1, 2019, the Chapter 7 Trustee ("Trustee") filed this motion for turnover of the Property, on the basis of their belief that there may be equity within the Property. Trustee did not file any additional evidence or explanation in support of their motion, besides a statement that they were informed and believed that there was net equity in the estate. In addition, Trustee also declared that Debtor and Debtor's counsel had been uncooperative in preparing the Property for a potential future sale.

Trustee filed his motion for turnover under § 542 with the stated intent of selling the Property under § 363(f). The benefit of the Property to the estate is thus the net equity which could be obtained through such a sale. However, the Trustee has not put forward any evidence of net equity in the property, besides a statement that they were informed and believed there was. This appears to be referring to Debtor's schedules.

Upon review of Debtor's schedules, it is unclear if net equity exists in the Property at this time. Debtor's Schedule A lists the value of the Property as $324,000, and his Schedule D lists the combined mortgages burdening the Property as $206,681. His Schedule D also lists a $40,000 lien for solar panels which likely further burden the Property. In addition, Debtor has also claimed a $100,000 exemption pursuant to Cal. Civ. Code § 704.730 in the equity in the Property in his Schedule C. This adds up to a total of $366,681 in potential encumbrances and claims on the equity of the Property, whose value is currently listed at $324,000.

TENTATIVE RULING

8/28/2019

SERVICE: PROPER

OPPOSITION: NONE.

While the Court understands the frustration of the Trustee as to Debtor's failure to cooperate with the potential marketing and sale of the Property, the Court is inclined to find that more evidence is needed at this time as to whether there is any net equity in the Property to warrant turnover.

APPEARANCES REQUIRED.

#9.00 Plaintiff's Motion for Protective Order Under F.R.C.P. Rule 26(c)

Also #10

EH__

Docket 313

Tentative Ruling:

BACKGROUND

Narinder Sangha ("Defendant") filed a voluntary petition for Chapter 7 bankruptcy on April 18, 2013. Plaintiff Charles Schrader ("Plaintiff") filed a complaint against Defendant on April 25, 2013, seeking for a determination of nondischargeability of debt due to "willful and malicious" injury under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(6). Plaintiff holds a claim against Defendant based on a $1.4 million state court default judgment against Defendant for defamation related to Plaintiff's attempt to seek employment with the City of San Jose's fire department.

The Court entered summary judgment on Plaintiff's behalf on July 8, 2014, finding that there was no issue of material fact that Defendant had "willfully and maliciously" injured Plaintiff on the grounds of issue preclusion. This was based on a finding that the state court had awarded punitive damages in its judgment against Defendant, and that punitive damages in relation to defamatory conduct required malice in fact under California law. The Bankruptcy Appellate Panel reversed the Court's granting of summary judgment on June 11, 2015, finding that intent to injure could not be inferred from a finding of malice in fact under California law, and that the state court's failure to give specific grounds for the punitive damages prevented the Court from automatically inferring that the punitive damages were granted due to Defendant's intent to injure the Plaintiff.

The 9th Circuit of Appeals affirmed the B.A.P. decision on February 24, 2017, and remanded the matter to the Court for a decision on whether the default judgment and the allegations in Plaintiff's second amended complaint precluded prelitigation of whether the injury caused by Defendant had been "willful and malicious" under § 523(a)(6).

Chapter 7

On March 15, 2019, the Court entered partial summary judgment in favor of the Plaintiff, finding that the issue of whether Defendant had "maliciously" injured Plaintiff was precluded by the state court judgment, while also holding that Plaintiff was not entitled to summary judgment as to whether Defendant had "willfully" injured Plaintiff.

On June 28, 2019, Defendant served a defective subpoena on the City of San Jose. On July 12, 2019, Defendant re-served the subpoena on the City of San Jose, with a compliance date of July 31, 2019.

On July 31, 2019, Plaintiff filed a motion for protective order under F.R.C.P. Rule 26(c) to quash the subpoena on the City of San Jose. Plaintiff argues that the subpoena is overly broad and protected by the deliberative process and official information privileges held by the City of San Jose.

Defendant filed his opposition to Plaintiff's motion on August 14, 2019. Defendant argues that Plaintiff does not have standing under Rule 26(c) to challenge the subpoena, or to raise the privileges held by the City of San Jose.

Plaintiff filed his reply on August 21, 2019, without response to the issues of standing.

DISCUSSION

F.R.C.P. R. 26 is incorporated into Bankruptcy adversarial proceedings through F.B.R.P. R. 7026. F.R.C.P. R. 26(c) permits a party or any person from whom discovery is sought to move for a protective order. Plaintiff seeks a protective order to quash a subpoena issued to the City of San Jose. The City of San Jose has not moved to oppose the subpoena themselves. As he is not the person from whom discovery is sought, Plaintiff lacks standing under F.R.C.P. R. 26(c) to move for a protective order. See R. Prasad Indus. V. Flat Irons Envtl. Solutions Corp. 2014 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 84193 at *24-25 (D. Ariz. 2014) (holding that only parties from whom discovery is sought can file a motion under F.R.C.P. 26(c) for a protective order). In addition, Plaintiff lacks standing to raise privileges on behalf of another party who has not chosen to raise them themselves.

MOTION IN LIMINE FOR RULING ON ADMISSIBILITY OF EVIDENCE

8/28/2019

BACKGROUND

Plaintiff Luevina Henry ("Plaintiff") filed her Chapter 13 petition on July 28, 2016. Plaintiff filed her adversarial proceeding to determine dischargeability of debt, for violation of the stay, and for violation of constitutional rights on August 25, 2017. Her complaint stems from Real Time Resolution's ("RTR") claim filed on September 26, 2016. It originally named 11 different parties, of which all but three have been dismissed: RTR, Bank of NY Mellon (the original lien holder, who used RTR as a loan servicing agent) ("Mellon"), and "Tavares" (allegedly Deputy Tavares of Riverside County). The dismissed parties were dismissed without leave to amend the complaint.

Plaintiff has twice attempted to disallow/object to the claim. The first motion was filed on January 9, 2017, and the second on July 7, 2017. Both motions were repeatedly continued until August 28, 2017, where they were placed off calendar by Judge Jury due to lack of evidence.

Chapter 13

Defendants Johnny Baker and Jim Husen (Plaintiff's ex-husband and his attorney) were ordered dismissed from the case on October 20, 2017. Defendant Sandy Garza was ordered dismissed on October 27, 2017. Plaintiff appealed the dismissal of Baker and Husen to the 9th Circuit B.A.P., which confusingly denied the appeal of the dismissal of Sandy Garza on February 21, 2018 as interlocutory.

An order to dismiss Plaintiff's underlying Chapter 13 case was entered on July 25, 2018. The final report and account was filed by Trustee on September 17, 2018.

On May 23, 2019, the adversarial complaint was set for a pre-trial hearing on August 28, 2019.

Plaintiff filed her pre-trial statement on August 7, 2019, as well as her list of exhibits. On August 21, 2019, RTR and Mellon filed their pre-trial statement with their own exhibits. They also filed this motion in limine for exclusion of evidence.

RTR and Mellon argue that Plaintiff has failed to submit admissible evidence as part of her pre-trial statement, with most of the facts submitted being allegedly editorial comments on transcribed hearings and final rulings. They appear to request two different things: in the introduction to their motion they request that the Court exclude the allegedly inadmissible evidence, but their conclusion requests that the Court set a pre-trial hearing date to determine the admissibility of the evidence submitted by Plaintiff.

DISCUSSION

The Court finds itself a bit confused with what relief is actually being requested here by RTR and Mellon. In their introduction to the motion RTR and Mellon state that they "hereby move for exclusion of purported evidence from Plaintiff," and the body of their memorandum is an argument as to why the evidence submitted by Plaintiff is allegedly inadmissible. However, their conclusion requests that the Court exercise its discretion and hold a preliminary hearing to determine whether Plaintiff has submitted any admissible evidence to support her allegations. Considering that Plaintiff filed a motion to purportedly exclude evidence, and then set it for a hearing, it would appear that Plaintiff is receiving such a hearing on its chosen hearing date of August 28, 2019. The Court is thus inclined to treat this motion as a motion in limine to exclude the evidence submitted by Plaintiff in their pre-trial statement.

The Court finds that the notice for this motion is clearly insufficient. RTR and Mellon filed their motion in limine on August 21, 2019, and chose a hearing date of August 28, 2019. LBR 9013-1(d)(2) states that motions must be filed and served not less than 21 days prior to the hearing on the motion, barring an application for an emergency or shortened notice hearing. RTR and Mellon have not made such an application. The Court is inclined to find that this deficiency in the notice of the motion is fatal.

Tentative Ruling:

8/28/2019

Service: Improper
Opposition: None

The Court is inclined to DENY, without prejudice, RTR and Mellon's in limine motion for exclusion of evidence. Movants may refile the motion on regular notice.

#10.00 CONT Application for Compensation for Michael Jones, Debtor's Attorney, Period: 10/23/2018 to 3/26/2019, Fee: $35050, Expenses: $251.80

From: 8/20/19

EH__

Docket 183

Tentative Ruling:

Application: $35,050.00 in fees and $251.80 in expenses, as well as $54,450.00 in fees previously approved by the Court on November 27, 2018, but for which no order was lodged by Applicant, for a combined request of $89,500 in fees and $251.80, totaling $89,751.80 ($79,151.80 remaining to be paid).

Opposition: No.

Analysis: 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(3) (2005) provides factors to be considered in determining the reasonableness of requested compensation.

Background

On March 27, 2018, G Hurtado Construction, Inc. ("Debtor") filed its petition for chapter 11 relief. The bankruptcy was precipitated by a wage and hour lawsuit brought by two and possibly more former employees. On April 25, 2018, the Court approved the employment application of M. Jones & Associates, P.C. ("Applicant") to serve as counsel to Debtor. Debtor's initial disclosure statement required amendment following the Court's allowance of late-filed claims. The First Amended DS and Plan were filed in October 2018.

On October 22, 2018, the Applicant filed the first interim fee application seeking allowance of $54,450 in fees and $0 in expenses for the period of March 27, 2018, through and including October 22, 2018. Applicant also stated that it was in possession of $10,600 of funds from the Debtor in their trust account. No opposition was filed. On November 27, 2018, the Court granted the interim fee application in the amount of $43,560, based on an 80% allowance and a 20% holdback for final approval, on the condition that Applicant file a client declaration or explanation in regard to their application, as required by LBR 2016-1(a)(1)(J). However, Applicant never lodged an order as to their fee application, despite the Court granting their request.

On December 3, 2018, Debtor filed an adversarial complaint objecting to the claim of Juan Catano and Faustino Magana, and, in the alternative, requesting indemnification from Donahoo & Associates, P.C. On June 18, 2019, parties in the adversarial proceeding filed a stipulation requesting that the Court close the adversarial proceeding until the arbitration proceeding between the parties was resolved. On June 24, 2019, the Court entered an order continuing the status conference on the adversarial proceeding to January 15, 2020, with leave to parties to stipulate to advancing the conference if needed.

Debtor filed their second amended plan and disclosure statement on December 27, 2018. They filed a third amended plan and disclosure statement on March 7, 2019. The third amended plan was confirmed via order entered on April 5, 2019. The third amended plan provides a 102% dividend to the general unsecured creditors. The third amended plan was confirmed via order entered by the Court on April 5, 2019.

On July 22, 2019, Applicant filed their second, and final, application for compensation, seeking allowance of both $35,050.00 in fees and $251.80 in expenses for services performed from the period of October 23, 2018 through the confirmation of the plan at the hearing on March 26, 2019, as well as allowance of the $54,450 in fees and $0 in expenses which was originally approved by the Court on November 27, 2018, but for which no order was lodged. No opposition was filed against Applicant's second fee application. However, Applicant once again failed to file a client declaration or explanation in regard to their explanation, as required by LBR 2016-1(a)(1)(J).

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(1), the court may award reasonable compensation for actual, necessary services. The court has an independent duty to review the fee application in the absence of objections. See 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(2). The court "will not indulge in extensive labor and guesswork to justify a fee for an attorney who has not done so himself." In re Taylor, 66 B.R. 390 (Bankr. W.D. Pa. 1986).

11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(3) provides factors to be considered in determining the reasonableness of requested compensation. These factors include time spent, rates charged, necessity of the service, reasonableness of the service, expertise of attorney, and comparable market rates.

Upon review of Applicant's final fee application, the billing records, and the work performed, the Court is inclined to find that Applicant's requested compensation is generally reasonable. In particular, the Court takes note of the successful resolution of Applicant's Chapter 11 case, with a confirmed 100% plan of reorganization and the successful litigation of several contested claims. While there is a remaining adversarial proceeding open in the case, the Court notes that parties have requested that it close that proceeding until arbitration has concluded. As such, the Court is inclined to grant Applicant's combined request of $89,500 in fees.

Upon review of Counsel's request for $251.80 in expenses, the Court is inclined to find that Counsel has properly accounted for their expenses, and that the expenses themselves are reasonable. As such, the Court is inclined to grant Counsel's request for $251.80 in expenses. As the previous interim application requested $0 in expenses, the Court does not need to approve a combined request here regarding expenses.

However, Applicant has once again failed to comply with Local Rule 2016-1(a)(1) (J). It requires a separately filed declaration from the client, or in the alternative, if the client refuses to provide such declaration, Applicant's own declaration describing steps taken to obtain the client's declaration. Previously, Debtor filed such a declaration after the hearing on November 27, 2018. As such, the Court will repeat its prior decision from the first interim application, and condition the order authorizing payment of the approved combined fees and expenses on the filing of a declaration or explanation from the Debtor, as required by LBR

However, the entering of Applicant's lodged order for compensation will be conditioned on the filing of a declaration, or explanation as to why no declaration is forthcoming, as required by LBR 2016-1(a)(1)(J), as well as the lodgment of an order approving the first interim fee application.

#1.00 Trustee's Motion to Dismiss Case and vacate discharge if previously entered as to Nancy Makowski

EH__

Docket 24

Tentative Ruling:

9/4/19

BACKGROUND

On December 21, 2018, John & Nancy Makowski (collectively "Debtors"; individually, "John" and "Nancy") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. A meeting of creditors was scheduled for January 22, 2019. At the first meeting of creditors, John appeared and was examined by Trustee. Nancy, however, did not appear, and the meeting of creditors was continued. Nancy also failed to appear at the second and third meeting of creditors.

On April 1, 2019, Debtors received a discharge. On April 10, 2019, Trustee filed a motion to vacate Nancy's discharge and dismiss her case. Trustee originally filed the motion on negative notice, however, the Court requested that the matter be set for hearing.

DISCUSSION

I. Dismissal

Courtroom 303 Calendar

Wednesday, September 4, 2019

Hearing Room 303

11:00 AM

CONT... John M Makowski and Nancy M Makowski

Chapter 7

It is not exactly clear what legal basis Trustee is relying upon to justify dismissal of Nancy's bankruptcy case. 11 U.S.C. § 707(a)(1) states:

- (a) The court may dismiss a case under this chapter only after notice and a hearing and only for cause, including –
 - (1) Unreasonable delay by the debtor that is prejudicial to creditors

Here, Debtor has repeatedly failed to appear at the meeting of creditors. This constitutes unreasonable delay that is prejudicial to creditors, thus warranting dismissal.

II. Vacation of Discharge

Here, where dismissal of the case is appropriate, logic dictates that a prerequisite to such dismissal is a vacation of the discharge. The standard approach when a trustee has not been able to determine whether an objection to discharge is warranted (by the applicable deadline) is for the Trustee to file a motion requesting an extension of that deadline pursuant to FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 4004(b).

Trustee did not file such an extension here. Therefore, instead of filing an objection to discharge, Trustee would need to revoke the discharge already entered.

A request to revoke a discharge requires an adversary proceeding pursuant to FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 7001(4). See In re Lokay, 269 B.R. 132, 138 (Bankr. W.D. Pa. 2001) ("To begin with, a proceeding to revoke a discharge must be brought as an adversary action."); In re Barr, 183 B.R. 531, 536 (Bankr. N.D. Ill. 1995) ("Discharge can be revoked only by way of an Adversary proceeding brought pursuant to FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 7001(4) and U.S.C. § 727(d)."); see also 10 COLLIER'S ON BANKRUPTCY ¶ 7001.01 (16th ed. 2018) ("Failure to commence an adversary proceeding when seeking the relief of the kind listed in Rule 7001 has resulted in denial of the motion or dismissal of the proceeding."). While, in certain circumstances, it may be appropriate to waive the requirement of an adversary proceeding, those cases fall into two categories – absence of prejudice to the affected parties or explicit or implicit waiver of the requirement. See id. Here, when Debtors have not responded to the motion, the waiver of a material service requirement would result in the denial of due process to Nancy.

Additionally, on the merits, Trustee's motion contains no legal analysis and does not cite any applicable legal provision which could provide a basis to revoke Nancy's discharge. See generally In re Rodwell, 280 B.R. 100, 102 (Bankr. D.N.J. 2002) ("It is well-established that a bankruptcy court may revoke a debtor's discharge only on the grounds specifically enumerated in Section 727(d). Since the trustee has not proven, nor even alleged, that the debtors' failure to cooperate falls within the scope of Section 727(d), this court must deny the trustee's motion for revocation of discharge.").

Finally, the Court notes that the docket in this case reflects two events that are explicitly or implicitly incompatible with Trustee's request. First, the Court notes that Trustee filed a notice of no assets on June 3, 2019. It is unclear how Trustee could have reached such a conclusion and fully administered the estate if it was believed that further information from Nancy was necessary. Additionally, the Court notes that the docket reflects that two meeting of creditors were held – it is unclear why there is no entry for the third meeting of creditors – and one event states "Non appearance by Ms. Makowski" while the other states "Appearance for Mrs. Makowski."

Because Trustee's request to dismiss Nancy's case would appear to be conditioned on the revocation of Nancy's discharge, the Court is inclined to DENY the motion in its entirety.

BACKGROUND

On August 12, 2019, Robert & Anneke Chertow (collectively, "Debtors"; individually, "Robert" and "Anneke") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition.

On the petition date, Debtors filed a motion to appoint Anneke as next friend to Robert. DISCUSSION

FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 1004.1 allows "a representative, including a general guardian, committee, conservator, or similar fiduciary," to file a voluntary petition on behalf of an incompetent person.

The rule further provides that:

[a]n infant or incompetent person who does not have a duly appointed representative may file a voluntary petition by next friend or guardian ad litem. The court shall appoint a guardian ad litem for an infant or incompetent person who is a debtor and is not otherwise represented or shall make any other order to protect the infant or incompetent debtor.

Rule 1004.1 is patterned after FED.R.CIV.P. Rule 17(c), which applies to adversary proceedings pursuant to FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 7017. That rule provides that an incompetent person may sue "by a next friend or by a guardian ad litem" if the incompetent person does not have a duly appointed representative, and provides that "[t]he court must appoint a guardian ad litem—or issue another appropriate order—to protect a minor or incompetent person who is unrepresented in an action."

Cases interpreting Rule 17(c) look to the law of the state in which the subject is domiciled and follow the state's incompetency laws." In re Burchell, 2014 WL 1304635, at *1 (Bankr. N.D. Ohio 2014)(internal citations omitted). This court shall thus look to the California Probate Code's § 811 which outlines the possible bases for a determination that a person is of unsound mind or lacks capacity to make a decision or do a certain act, including for example, incapacity to contract or to execute wills or trusts.

California law requires evidence of specific deficits and a link between the identified deficits and the acts that the allegedly incompetent person would otherwise have capacity to perform. The types of deficiencies are outlined in § 811 as follows:

- (1) Alertness and attention, including, but not limited to, the following:

- (A) Level of arousal or consciousness.
- (B) Orientation to time, place, person, and situation.
- (C) Ability to attend and concentrate.
- (2) Information processing, including, but not limited to, the following:
 - (A) Short- and long-term memory, including immediate recall.
 - (B) Ability to understand or communicate with others, either verbally or otherwise.
 - (C) Recognition of familiar objects and familiar persons.
 - (D) Ability to understand and appreciate quantities.
 - (E) Ability to reason using abstract concepts.
 - (F) Ability to plan, organize, and carry out actions in one's own rational self-interest.
 - (G) Ability to reason logically.
- (3) Thought processes. Deficits in these functions may be demonstrated by the presence of the following:
 - (A) Severely disorganized thinking.
 - (B) Hallucinations.
 - (C) Delusions.
 - (D) Uncontrollable, repetitive, or intrusive thoughts.
- (4) Ability to modulate mood and affect. Deficits in this ability may be demonstrated by the presence of a pervasive and persistent or recurrent state of euphoria, anger, anxiety, fear, panic, depression, hopelessness or despair, helplessness, apathy or indifference, that is inappropriate in degree to the individual's circumstances.

Here, while the evidence submitted by Debtors is not detailed and extensive, the Court concludes that the diagnosis of Alzheimer's dementia, the doctor's opinion that Robert cannot understand the proceedings, and the durable power of attorney which was executed approximately three months prior to the filing of the bankruptcy petition, taken together, support a finding that Robert is not competent to participate in these proceedings and that the appointment of a next friend is appropriate.

Furthermore, given that the Court finds that the appointment of Anneke as next friend is appropriate pursuant to FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 1004.1, the Court also concludes that it is appropriate to classify Robert as mentally impaired pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 109(h)(4), and that, as a result, it is appropriate to waive the prepetition and postpetition credit courses pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 109(h)(4) and 11 U.S.C. § 727(a)(11).

9/4/2019

BACKGROUND

On December 18, 2013, Nabeel Slaieh ("Defendant") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition.

On March 24, 2014, Jon Albrecht ("Plaintiff") filed a non-dischargeability complaint against Defendant pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(6). After dismissal of the first complaint, Plaintiff filed an amended complaint on September 23, 2014. On November 7, 2014, Defendant filed his answer.

On February 23, 2016, the Court dismissed the action for non-prosecution. On June 17, 2016, the Court vacated the order dismissing the case and sanctioned Plaintiff.

On October 25, 2016, the United States Trustee obtained a judgment denying Defendant a discharge in adversary proceeding 6:14-ap-01224-MH. Defendant subsequently appealed the judgment. On September 11, 2017, the Bankruptcy Appellate Panel dismissed the appeal.

On June 13, 2018, Plaintiff filed a motion for summary judgment. This motion was ultimately denied by the Court in a memorandum decision entered March 19, 2019. On July 30, 2019, Plaintiff filed a motion to dismiss this adversary proceeding. The last paragraph of page 3 of docket number 188 states the following:

Since the Final Judgment in the U.S. Trustee's Action denied Debtor/Defendant a discharge in his underlying bankruptcy, Case No. 6:13-bk-30133-MH, the claim in Plaintiff's FAC seeking denial of discharge of the particular debt at issue therein is now moot and should be dismissed without prejudice. Because the Defendant's discharge has already been denied, there is no need to further prosecute Plaintiff's FAC. And because of the lack of prejudice to Defendant, the dismissal should be without prejudice.

DISCUSSION

FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 41(a)(2), incorporated into bankruptcy proceedings by FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 7041, states, in pertinent part: "Except as provided in Rule 41(a)(1), an action may be dismissed at the plaintiff's request only by court order, on terms that the court considers proper." "In deciding whether to grant a voluntary dismissal, a trial court must consider whether the defendant will suffer legal prejudice as a result of the court's dismissal." In re Lowenschuss, 67 F.3d 1394, 1399 (9th Cir. 1995) (citing LeCompte v. Mr. Chip, Inc., 528 F.2d 601, 604 (5th Cir. 1976) ("We follow the traditional principle that dismissal should be allowed unless the defendant will suffer some plain prejudice other than the mere prospect of a second lawsuit.") (emphasis in original)).

Here, Defendant has not opposed the motion, and no evidence has been presented to the Court which would indicate that Defendant is or could possibly be prejudiced by the dismissal of this action. Furthermore, the Court notes that while Plaintiff has requested that the complaint be dismissed without prejudice, the statute of limitations under FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 4007(c) for adversary proceedings brought pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(6) would essentially render dismissal of this action with prejudice. As a result, it is unclear why Plaintiff has requested that the action be dismissed without prejudice.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to GRANT the motion, dismissing the action.

Docket 29

Tentative Ruling:

9/5/19

BACKGROUND:

On October 15, 2018, Marie Trejo ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. On January 11, 2019, Debtor's Chapter 13 plan was confirmed. The plan has been subsequently modified once.

On January 2, 2019, the Employment Development Department ("Creditor") filed a proof of claim for a secured claim in the amount of $5,678.68 ("Claim 10"). On July 30, 2019, Debtor filed an objection to Claim 10. Debtor asserts that she does not own any real property and that, therefore, Claim 10 is not secured.

APPLICABLE LAW:

ANALYSIS:

Here, Claim 10 is identified by Creditor as being secured, and the attachment provided by Creditor states that an abstract of judgment was filed with the Sacramento County Recorder on January 7, 2011. Pursuant to the claim objection and the schedules filed by Debtor, however, Debtor does not own any real property. Therefore, notwithstanding the recordation of an abstract of judgment, there is no property for the judgment to attach to, and the claim is unsecured.

ANALYSIS:

In support of their objection to Claim 10, Debtors have attached an acknowledgment of satisfaction of judgment which was filed on August 29, 2018. Chapter 13 interest objects. Absent an objection, a proof of claim constitutes prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claim under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure ("FRBP") 3001(f). See Lundell v. Anchor Constr. Specialists, Inc., 223 F.3d 1035, 1039 (9th Cir. 2000). When a party files an objection to a proof of claim, that filing "creates a dispute which is a contested matter" within the meaning of FRBP 9014 and the Court must resolve the matter after notice and opportunity for hearing upon a motion for relief. Id.

When a creditor has filed a proof of claim that complies with the rules (thereby giving rise to the presumption of validity), the burden shifts to the objecting party who must "present evidence to overcome the prima facie case." In re Medina, 205 B.R. 216, 222 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1996). To defeat the claim, the objecting party must provide sufficient evidence and "show facts tending to defeat the claim by probative force equal to that of the allegations of the proofs of claim themselves." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039 (quoting In re Holm, 931 F.2d 620, 623 (9th Cir. 1991)). "The objector must produce evidence, which, if believed, would refute at least one of the allegations that is essential to the claim's legal sufficiency." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1040 (quoting In re Allegheny Int'l, Inc., 954 F.2d 167, 173-74 (3d Cir. 1992)). If the objecting party produces sufficient evidence to negate one or more of the sworn facts in the proof of claim, the burden reverts back to the claimant to prove the validity of the claim by a preponderance of the evidence. See In re Consol. Pioneer Mort, 178 B.R. 222, 226 (9th Cir. BAP 1995), aff'd, 91 F.3d 151 (9th Cir. 1996) (quoting Allegheny Int'l, 954 F.2d at 173-74). The ultimate burden of persuasion remains at all times on the claimant. See Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039; see also Holm, 931 F.2d at 623.

ANALYSIS:

Here, the Court notes that Claim 9 was originally filed as a duplicate claim – the amount and the basis of the claim were identical to the amount and the basis for Claim 4. Subsequently, Creditor amended Claim 9 twice to reduce the amount of the claim. Because it appears that Creditor filed a duplicate claim, noting that Creditor has since attempted to withdraw Claim 4, and noting that Creditor did not oppose the instant motion, which the Court deems consent to the relief requested pursuant to Local Rule 9013-(1)(h), the Court is inclined to sustain the objection.

Finally, the Court notes that the originally claim objection, filed on August 6, 2019, included the wrong courtroom in the caption. While the courtroom was amended the next day, that amendment was untimely pursuant to FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 3007-(a)(1). The Court, however, concludes that in this circumstance, the failure to originally specify the correct courtroom did not deprive Creditor of adequate notice or service, and does not constitute a violation of FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 3007-(a)(1).

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to SUSTAIN the objection, DISALLOWING Claim 4 in its entirety.

APPEARANCES WAIVED. Movant to lodge order within seven days. If oral or written opposition is presented at the hearing, the hearing may be continued.

Docket 11

Tentative Ruling:

9/5/19

Service: Proper

Opposition: None

Based upon the Court's review of the motion, notice appearing proper, no opposition having been filed, and good cause appearing to rebut the presumption that the instant case was filed in bad faith pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(c)(3), the Court is inclined to GRANT the motion, CONTINUING the automatic stay as to all creditors. The Court is inclined to DENY all remaining requests for relief as MOOT.

#72.00 CONT Motion To Dismiss Third Amended Cross-Complaint

From: 8/1/19

EH__

Docket 149

Tentative Ruling:

REAL ESTATE BROKER THERESA MANN'S MOTION TO DISMISS THIRD CROSS-COMPLAINT

BACKGROUND

On November 11, 2016, Plaintiffs Mark and Natasha Reynoso ("Plaintiffs") filed an adversarial proceeding against Douglas and Anne Goodman ("Defendants"). Plaintiffs sought to determine the dischargeability of their state court claim against Defendants for misrepresentation. The state court claim was based on the alleged misrepresentations by Defendants and Theresa Mann ("Mann"), Defendants' real estate agent, in regard to the sale of Defendants' home to Plaintiffs. This covered both the actual size of the home, as well as the repairs that needed to be performed on the home.

On June 6, 2017, Defendants filed their first cross-complaint against Mann and Jose Pastora. One May 14, 2019, Defendants filed their third, and most current cross-complaint against Mann and Pastora. Defendants, based on Plaintiffs' claims, allege that it was Mann who made the misrepresentations to Plaintiffs as to the size of the home, and the state of repair of the home, and that Mann held sole responsibility for Plaintiffs' alleged damages. Defendants claim three grounds for relief: (1)- equitable comparative indemnity and apportionment of fault across cross defendants; (2)- total equitable indemnity against all cross defendants; and (3)- negligent misrepresentation.

Defendants request the following relief: (1)- a finding of total and complete indemnity for any judgment rendered against Defendants by Plaintiff; (2)- for judgment in proportionate share from each Cross-Defendant; (3)- for Defendants costs and expenses incurred in the defense of Plaintiff's claim, as well as in bringing their cross-claim against Mann and Pastora, including reasonable attorneys' fees.

On June 7, 2019, counsel for Defendants emailed counsel for Mann to inform him that Defendants and Plaintiffs had settled Plaintiffs' claim. According to Defendants in their opposition to this motion to dismiss (addressed in greater detail below), the settlement was for $1,600 and involves the dismissal of Plaintiffs' claim. A motion to approve compromise, or a motion to dismiss, as not yet been resolved in the adversarial complaint. In addition, the Court entered an order on July 19, 2019, granting a stipulation between Defendants and Pastora to dismiss Pastora from the cross-complaint.

Mann filed a motion on June 13, 2019, to dismiss the cross-complaint against Mann without leave to amend. Mann bases her argument on two main grounds. The first is that the settlement of the case between Plaintiffs and Defendants has removed the legal basis for the grounds for a claim of indemnification. This is because the settlement had removed any possibility for Defendants to actually be found liable for the claim, and contractual or implied indemnification requires a finding of liability. Second, the Plaintiff's complaint for a finding of nondischargeability was not an appropriate claim to base a third-party complaint on. Third, and on a related note, the requested relief sought is outside of the jurisdiction of the Court as a monetary judgment.

Defendants filed their opposition to Mann's motion to dismiss the cross-complaint on July 18, 2019. Defendants base their opposition on the grounds that, even if the case had been settled between Defendants and Plaintiffs, Defendants had suffered $26,715.00 in damages from defending Plaintiffs' claim, encompassing $1,600 from the settlement, and around $25,115 in attorneys' fees and costs. They allege that the cross-claim had thus not been rendered moot by the settlement, as Defendants were seeking reimbursement from Mann for the damages she allegedly caused. Defendants also claim that the contract between Defendants and Mann included an attorneys' fees and costs provision, which would allow Defendants to seek the fees and costs incurred in pursuing their claim against Mann.

DISCUSSION

Under Civil Rule 12(b)(6), made applicable in adversary proceedings through Rule 7012, a bankruptcy court may dismiss a complaint if it fails to "state a claim upon which relief can be granted." In reviewing a Civil Rule 12(b)(6) motion, the trial court must accept as true all facts alleged in the complaint and draw all reasonable inferences in favor of the plaintiff. Navarro v. Block, 250 F.3d 729, 732 (9th Cir. 2001). However, the trial court need not accept as true conclusory allegations in a complaint or legal characterizations cast in the form of factual allegations. Bell Atl. Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 555–56, 127 S.Ct. 1955, 167 L.Ed.2d 929 (2007); Hartman v. Gilead Scis., Inc. (In re Gilead Scis. Sec. Litig.), 536 F.3d 1049, 1055 (9th Cir. 2008).

To avoid dismissal under Civil Rule 12(b)(6), a plaintiff must aver in the complaint "sufficient factual matter, accepted as true, to 'state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face.'" Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678, 129 S.Ct. 1937, 173 L.Ed.2d 868 (2009) (quoting Twombly, 550 U.S. at 570, 127 S.Ct. 1955). It is axiomatic that a claim cannot be plausible when it has no legal basis. A dismissal under Civil Rule 12(b)(6) may be based either on the lack of a cognizable legal theory or on the absence of sufficient facts alleged under a cognizable legal theory. Johnson v. Riverside Healthcare Sys., 534 F.3d 1116, 1121 (9th Cir.2008).

The Court will begin with Mann's arguments that Defendants' cross-complaint/third-party complaint against Mann lacks jurisdiction.

Defendants' primary claim against Mann rests on their request for a monetary judgment against Mann, and Plaintiffs also requested a monetary judgment in their complaint against Defendants. Mann argues that bankruptcy courts do not have the jurisdiction to enter monetary judgments in relation to complaints for nondischargeability. Circuit courts are split as to whether bankruptcy courts have the jurisdiction to enter monetary judgments as part of nondischargeability complaints. 4 COLLIER ON BANKRUPTCY ¶ 523.32 (Richard Levin and Henry Sommer eds., 16th ed.). However, the 9th Circuit is one of the circuits which has found that bankruptcy courts have this jurisdiction. See In re Kennedy, 108 F.3d 1015, 1018 (9th Cir. 1997). As such, the Court finds that it has the jurisdiction to hear a request for monetary judgment as part of an adversarial complaint based on a claim for nondischargeability.

Mann correctly argues that the matter before the Court isn't a cross-complaint, but rather is a third-party complaint, under the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. See F.R.C.P. 14(a)(1) (stating that actions that fall under the grounds of a third-party complaint, including a defendant's complaint against a third party who may be liable for all or part of a claim against the defendant). Mann uses this to argue that it is improper for a third-party complaint to seek a monetary judgment when the complaint is attached to an adversarial proceeding in a bankruptcy court based on a complaint for nondischargeability. Mann cites to several cases from the 2nd, 3rd, and 10th Circuits in which third party complaints seeking monetary judgments were dismissed as improper when they stemmed from adversarial proceedings based on complaints for a finding of nondischargeability. However, the Court restates that, unlike the 2nd, 3rd, and 10th Circuits, the 9th Circuit does permit monetary judgments in relation to complaints for nondischargeability. See In re Kennedy, 108 F.3d at 1018. As such, the Court finds that it has the jurisdiction to hear complaints for monetary judgment in relation to adversarial proceedings based on a complaint for nondischargeability, including third-party complaints for monetary judgments.

Next, the Court will consider Mann's argument that the settling of the case between Plaintiffs and Defendants have rendered Defendants claim for indemnification against Mann moot. Mann's primary argument is that indemnification is dependent on liability, and the settling of the case has removed any potential chance for Defendants to be found liable. However, California law permits a settling party to seek indemnification from a third party for an equitable portion of a settlement. C.f. Western Steamship Lines, Inc. v. San Pedro Peninsula Hospital, 8 Cal. 4th 100, 118-9 (Cal. 1994) (reversing a trial court judgment granting a 30% indemnification of a settlement amount, on the grounds that the defendant had not independently proven the portion of the damages that were directly caused by the hospital. In other words, the appellate court found that the defendant could seek indemnification of a settlement with the plaintiff if the defendant could establish the indemnitor's independent liability). As such, Defendants have stated a claim for which relief can be granted by requesting that Mann indemnify Defendants for either a part, or the total, of the settlement agreement between Defendants and Plaintiff.

Next, the Court will consider whether Defendants have stated a claim for which relief may be granted for the recovery of the attorneys' fees and costs incurred by Defendants in defending against Plaintiffs' claim. Under Cal. Code Civ. P. § 1021.6, a party who prevails on a claim for implied indemnity may be awarded the attorneys' fees incurred in defending the underlying complaint if the court finds that: (1) the indemnitee had been required to act in the protection of their interest by defending an action by a third person which stemmed from the tort of the indemnitor; (2) the indemnitor was properly notified of the demand to provide the defense and did not avail itself of the opportunity to do so; and (3) that the trier of fact determined that the indemnitee was without fault in the principal case which is the basis for the action in indemnity, or that the indemnitee had a final judgment entered in their favor granting a summary judgment, a nonsuit, or a directed verdict.

The claim for relief by Defendants against Mann for attorneys' fees stems from their claim for implied indemnity against Mann. However, while the facts they have stated may be sufficient to satisfy element (1), they are currently insufficient to satisfy the requirements of proper notification under element (2), and the settling of the claim between Defendants and Plaintiffs means that (3) is completely impossible, as a trier of fact will never determine whether Defendants were without fault, nor will there be a final judgment entered in Defendants' favor. As such, since Defendants cannot meet § 1021.6, it does not appear that they can state a claim for which relief can be granted against Mann in relation to the reimbursement of the attorneys' fees and expenses incurred defending against Plaintiffs' claim.

Finally, the Court will address Defendants' request for attorneys' fees and expenses related to the bringing of the third-party complaints against Mann. The Court finds that Defendants have stated a claim upon which relief may be granted.

As such, the Court finds that it has jurisdiction to hear the third-party complaint, and that the settlement between Plaintiffs and Defendants have not rendered the third-party complaint moot. The Court is thus inclined to deny Mann's motion to dismiss the third-party complaint in regard to the claim for indemnification for the $1,600 in settlement proceeds paid by Defendants to Plaintiffs. In addition, the Court is also inclined to deny the motion to dismiss in regard to Defendants' request for attorneys' fees in relation to the third-party claim brought against Mann. However, the Court is inclined to dismiss with prejudice Defendants' claim against Mann for the attorneys' fees and expenses incurred as a result of Plaintiffs' claim against Defendants.

Before the Court is Movant's renewed motion for relief from stay. The Court notes that Movant filed an earlier motion which was denied by the Court on August 27, 2019. Despite instructions from the Court to lodge an order on the motion, no order was timely lodged. This hearing will be continued for that order denying the last motion to be lodged.

Prior to the hearing of August 27, 2019, the Court posted a tentative ruling noting that notice and service were improper, and also noting three substantive issues with the motion. The Court notes that in its renewed motion, Movant has corrected the notice and service issues noted by the Court. The substantive issues, however, remain materially unresolved by this renewed motion. The following three deficiencies were noted by the Court in its previous tentative ruling:

- (1) Movant requests relief from the § 1301(a) co-debtor stay, yet there has not been service on any co-debtor.
- (2) Second, Movant requests confirmation that no stay is in effect, yet the relevant subsections identified in the motion, § 362(b)(22) and (23), do not appear applicable to this case.

- (3) Third, Movant requests annulment of the automatic stay to validate the unlawful detainer judgment, yet Movant has not provided a declaration or any detailed evidence in support of its request. The Court notes that Movant was listed in the originally creditor mailing matrix, and it is unclear why Movant would not have been aware of the bankruptcy for twenty-seven days.

Regarding the first request, Movant appears to have taken no action to respond to the Court's concern. This renewed motion once again requests relief from the co-debtor stay but contains no service on any co-debtor.

Regarding the second request, the Court notes that Movant has removed the request for the Court to confirm that no stay is in effect, however, the body of the motion has not been altered and continues to contain legally inaccurate assertions.

Regarding the third request, while Movant has provided a declaration providing some detail to support annulment of the automatic stay, that declaration does not address the most important point previously raised by the Court – that Movant was listed in the creditor mailing matrix. Because Movant was listed in the creditor mailing matrix, the Court mailed Movant a notice of bankruptcy filing on July 19, 2019, twenty-four days before Movant states that it received notice. This discrepancy remains unaddressed.

At a continued hearing, once the order has been lodged denying the last motion, the Court is inclined to GRANT relief from stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1). DENY request for relief from § 1301(a) co-debtor stay. GRANT waiver of Rule 4001(a)(3) stay. DENY request for annulment of the automatic stay. GRANT request under ¶ 2.

Docket 11

Tentative Ruling:

9/10/2019

Service is Proper
Opposition: None

The Court having reviewed the motion, notice appearing proper and good cause appearing, the Court is inclined to find that the debtor has submitted sufficient evidence to rebut the presumption that the case was filed in bad faith pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 363(c)(3)(C). Therefore, the Court is inclined to GRANT the motion, CONTINUING the automatic stay as to Bank of New York Mellon c/o Carrington Mortgage Services, LLC.

BACKGROUND

On April 25, 2008, Empire Land, LLC ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 11 voluntary petition. On December 8, 2008, Debtor's case was converted to Chapter 7.

Between March 26, 2010, and April 23, 2010, the Chapter 7 Trustee ("Plaintiff") filed 107 adversary proceedings, including this adversary proceeding, 6:10-1319, in which the primary defendant is Empire Partners, Inc. ("Defendant"). While the instant motion was filed in 6:10-1319, it is also related to two other adversary proceedings, 09-1235 and 10-1329.

During the years of litigation in the instant case, the parties have been embroiled in several discovery disputes and have obtained numerous extensions of discovery deadlines. The current discovery dispute began in June 2018, when Defendant served a subpoena duces tecum (the "Subpoena") on Timothy Sullivan ("Sullivan"), an expert witness of Plaintiff. Two weeks later, Plaintiff and Sullivan objected to the Subpoena.

On January 9, 2019, Defendant filed a motion to compel compliance with the Subpoena. After two continuances, the Court heard the matter on March 27, 2019, and, on May 9, 2019, entered an order granting the motion in part. Specifically, the Court granted the motion with respect to request for production number one and denied the motion with respect to requests for production numbers two through ten. Request for product number one states the following:

All DOCUMENTS that constitute communications with PLAINTIFF'S COUNSEL that relate to compensation for SULLIVAN'S study or testimony in this LITIGATION. This request includes all communications regarding compensation, as described in the 2010 Advisory Committee Notes, which states:

Under Rule 26(b)(4)(C)(i) attorney-expert communications regarding compensation for the expert's study or testimony may be the subject of discovery. In some cases, this discovery may go beyond the disclosure requirement in Rule 26(a)(2)(B)(vi). It is not limited to compensation for work forming the opinions to be expressed, but extends to all compensation for the study and testimony provided in relation to the action. Any communications about additional benefits to the expert, such as further work in the event of a successful result in the present case, would be included. This exception includes compensation for work done by a person or organization associated with the expert. The objective is to permit full inquiry into such potential sources of bias.

[Dkt. No. 563, Ex. A]. The Court ordered that the relevant documents be produced within thirty days of the entry of the order.

On May 30, 2019, Defendant received a response to the Subpoena. Defendant characterizes the response as follows:

In contemptuous defiance of the Order, on May 30, 2019, Mr. Sullivan allowed counsel for the Trustee to produce heavily redacted invoices, including those attached to the Declaration of Jeffrey Rosenfeld as Exhibit 1. The communications regarding compensation that were produced on behalf of Mr. Sullivan in redacted form prevented discovery and deposition on crucial information about the work that Mr. Sullivan and others at this firm performed in this matter. Based on the materials that were not redacted, it is obvious that most of the work was done by people other than Mr. Sullivan, since most of the hours identified were billed by others, including Ryan Early, Brent Koenig, JT Schwartz, Adam McAbee, Steve Carr, Ada Kaiser, Lisa Wells, Stiles McCauley, and Peter Dennehy.

[Dkt. No. 563, pg. 12, lines 19-28] (citations omitted). Plaintiff generally argues that the redactions were appropriate because the material redacted was not discoverable under FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 26(b)(4) and pursuant to attorney-client privilege and the work product doctrine.

LEGAL ANALYSIS

Local Rule 9020-1 outlines the two-step process that is initiated when a party in interest seeks a holding finding a party in contempt. First, pursuant to Local Rule 9020-1(b), a motion is filed requesting that the Court issue an order to show cause why a party should not be held in contempt. Pursuant to Local Rule 9020-1(b), the responding party has seven days to respond to the motion. Unsurprisingly, given the short notice window and given the protections afforded by the two-step process, an objection to the issuance of an order to show cause is relatively uncommon. When no objection is filed, the Court generally issues the order to show cause pursuant to Local Rule 9020-1(d).

When an objection to the issuance of an order to show cause is filed, however, the local rules do not provide clear instructions as to the proper procedure to be employed. Given the totality of Local Rule 9020-1, which implies that the Court is to hold a hearing and weigh evidence during the second step of the process, the Court concludes that detailed factual findings are not appropriately issued during the first stage of the process, and that the factual assertions made by Defendant are entitled to deference at this initial stage. Therefore, while the parties have provided the Court with a number of exhibits, the Court concludes that the resolution of disputed facts is not appropriate at this stage.

Confining itself to the operative legal dispute, the Court turns to FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 26(b)(4)-(5), incorporated into bankruptcy proceedings by FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 7026, which state, in pertinent part:

(4) Trial Preparation: Experts.

(A) Deposition of an Expert Who May Testify. A party may depose any person who has been identified as an expert whose opinions may be presented at trial. If Rule 26(a)(2)(B) requires a report from the expert, the deposition may be conducted only after the report is provided.

(B) Trial-Preparation Protection for Draft Reports or Disclosures. Rule 26(b)(3)(A) and (B) protect drafts of any report or disclosure required under Rule 26(a)(2), regardless of the form in which the draft is recorded.

(C) Trial-Preparation Protection for Communications Between a Party's Attorney and Expert Witness. Rule 26(b)(3)(A) and (B) protect communications between the party's attorney and any witness required to provide a report under Rule 26(a)(2)(B), regardless of the form of the communications, except to the extent that the communications:

- (i) relate to compensation for the expert's student or testimony;
- (ii) identify facts or data that the party's attorney provided and that the expert considered in forming the opinions to be expressed; or
- (iii) identify assumptions that the party's attorney provided and that the expert relied on in forming the opinions to be expressed.

(5) Claiming Privilege or Protecting Trial-Preparation Materials.

(A) Information Withheld. When a party withholds information otherwise discoverable by claiming that the information is privileged or subject to protection as trial-preparataion material, the party must:

- (i) expressly make the claim; and
- (ii) describe the nature of the documents, communications, or tangible things not produced or disclosed – and do so in a manner that, without revealing information itself privileged or protected, will enable other parties to assess the claim.

Here, the basis for the Subpoena was FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 26(b)(4)(C)(i), and the Subpoena closely tracked the language of the provision, while quoting at length from the relevant advisory committee notes.

Defendant asks the Court to focus on the requirements set forth in FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 26(b)(5) for claiming privilege or protecting trial-preparation materials.¹ According to Defendant, because Sullivan did not follow the approach outlined in FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 26(b)(5)(A), Sullivan has waived privilege, and, as a result, could not have properly invoked an applicable privilege in support of the redactions made.

Plaintiff asks the Court to focus on the phrase "otherwise discoverable." According to Plaintiff, because the subject of the redactions was outside the scope of FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 26(b)(4)(C)(i), the subject of the redactions was not discoverable, and, therefore, the procedure outlined in FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 26(b)(5)(A) did not need to be followed.

Because FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 26(b)(4)(C)(i) is a 2010 amendment to the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, the parties appear to have only provided a single case addressing that subsection, and that case is of limited utility. Nevertheless, the Court believes that a resolution of the current legal dispute is apparent.

First, a brief review of the information outlined in the background section is illustrative. Second request for production number one in the Subpoena closely tracked the language of FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 26(b)(4)(C)(i). After Sullivan objected to the Subpoena, Defendant filed a motion to compel arguing that the scope of request for production number one was permissible under FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 26(b)(4)(C). Third, the Court entered an order compelling compliance with request for production number one – a natural result given that the request for production closely tracked, and did not exceed, the limits of discoverable information under FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 26(b)(4)(C). This case is not a case where a litigant served an overly broad subpoena, which targeted both properly discoverable and privileged information, forcing the other party to assert a privilege to restrict the scope of the subpoena. Instead, the subpoena issued by Defendant was, from the beginning, reasonable and properly tailored to limit the request to discoverable information. Because the subpoena did not seek privileged information, there was no need for Sullivan to respond by invoking privilege through the procedures of FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 26(b)(5)(A).

Instead, it appears that Defendant is now asking to increase the scope of the Subpoena, requesting new information that was not within its original scope. As noted by Defendant in its motion to compel:

RFP # 1 seeks discovery of all communications between plaintiff's counsel and the expert that relate to the expert's compensation. The request is based on the language adopted in 2010 as Fed. R. Civ. Proc. 26(b)(4)(C)(i), and incorporates the 2010 Advisory Committee Notes with respect to the type of discovery that is permitted with respect to communications regarding compensation.

[Dkt. No. 495, pg. 15, lines 11-17]. And, as noted earlier, because the Subpoena was properly and narrowly drafted from the beginning, the Court granted Defendant's motion to compel with respect to document production number one.

As noted by the court in Davita Healthcare Partners, Inc. v. United States, 128 Fed. Cl. 584: "As the 2010 Advisory Committee Note suggests, the focus of permitted discovery is on the amount of expert compensation, not on the tasks performed that led to compensation." Quite simply, in attempting to argue that Sullivan has waived privilege related to this supplemental information, Defendant ignores the fact that the scope of the Subpoena never targeted this supplemental information in the first place.

To the extent Plaintiff raises the argument, for the reasons detailed in Defendant's motion and reply, the Court disagrees with Plaintiff's contention that "[a] privilege log is only required where, in response to a discovery request, a party withholds information that is 'otherwise discoverable.'" [Dkt. No. 567, pg. 9, lines 17-18]. On the other hand, the Court agrees with Plaintiff's more limited argument that:

Since Request No. 1 sought "attorney-expert communications" that fall within the exception in Rule 26(b)(4)(C)(i), the Request necessarily did not require the production of detailed work descriptions in the invoice back-up documents that fall outside the exception. Accordingly, the Trustee and Mr. Sullivan did not need to assert attorney-client privilege or work product objections to Request No. 1 in order to protect the detailed work descriptions in those invoice back-up documents."

The Court notes that to the extent the redacted information actually constituted information within the scope of FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 26(b)(4)(C)(i), then the Court would consider the redactions to be violations of the Court's order compelling a response to request for production number one. While there are portions of Defendant's motion which do raise that contention, the pleadings presented to the Court seem primarily focused on whether redactions were improper because any applicable privilege was waived.

For the foregoing reasons, the Court is inclined to DENY the motion.

Before the Court is Movant's renewed motion for relief from stay. The Court notes that Movant filed an earlier motion which was denied by the Court on August 27, 2019. Despite instructions from the Court to lodge an order on the motion, no order was timely lodged. This hearing will be continued for that order denying the last motion to be lodged.

Prior to the hearing of August 27, 2019, the Court posted a tentative ruling noting that notice and service were improper, and also noting three substantive issues with the motion. The Court notes that in its renewed motion, Movant has corrected the notice and service issues noted by the Court. The substantive issues, however, remain materially unresolved by this renewed motion. The following three deficiencies were noted by the Court in its previous tentative ruling:

- (1) Movant requests relief from the § 1301(a) co-debtor stay, yet there has not been service on any co-debtor.

Chapter 13

- (2) Second, Movant requests confirmation that no stay is in effect, yet the relevant subsections identified in the motion, § 362(b)(22) and (23), do not appear applicable to this case.
- (3) Third, Movant requests annulment of the automatic stay to validate the unlawful detainer judgment, yet Movant has not provided a declaration or any detailed evidence in support of its request. The Court notes that Movant was listed in the originally creditor mailing matrix, and it is unclear why Movant would not have been aware of the bankruptcy for twenty-seven days.

Regarding the first request, Movant appears to have taken no action to respond to the Court's concern. This renewed motion once again requests relief from the co-debtor stay but contains no service on any co-debtor.

Regarding the second request, the Court notes that Movant has removed the request for the Court to confirm that no stay is in effect, however, the body of the motion has not been altered and continues to contain legally inaccurate assertions.

Regarding the third request, while Movant has provided a declaration providing some detail to support annulment of the automatic stay, that declaration does not address the most important point previously raised by the Court – that Movant was listed in the creditor mailing matrix. Because Movant was listed in the creditor mailing matrix, the Court mailed Movant a notice of bankruptcy filing on July 19, 2019, twenty-four days before Movant states that it received notice. This discrepancy remains unaddressed.

At a continued hearing, once the order has been lodged denying the last motion, the Court is inclined to GRANT relief from stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1). DENY request for relief from § 1301(a) co-debtor stay. GRANT waiver of Rule 4001(a)(3) stay. DENY request for annulment of the automatic stay. GRANT request under ¶ 2.

On May 31, 2012, Jenny Andrino ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On September 10, 2012, Debtor received a Chapter 7 discharge, and eight days later the case was closed.

On February 8, 2019, the case was reopened for Debtor to file motions to avoid judgment liens. No action was timely taken by Debtor, however, and the case was closed on April 10, 2019. On July 19, 2019, the case was reopened a second time for Debtor to file motions to avoid judgment liens. On July 22, 2019, Debtor amended certain schedules, including Schedule C. The Court notes that this amendment appears to be improper pursuant to FED. R. BANKR. P. Rules 1009(a) and 9006(b)(1). Nevertheless, 11 U.S.C. § 522(f)(1) refers to an exemption "to which the debtor would have been entitled," and does not seem to impose a requirement that the exemption be properly claimed.

Docket 144

Tentative Ruling:

9/18/19

BACKGROUND:

On September 8, 2015, Norman Musselman, Erwin Seifert, and Gouvis Engineering Consulting Group (individually, "Musselman," "Seifert," and "Gouvis"; collectively, "Petitioning Creditors") filed an involuntary petition against Manors San Bernardino Ave. LLC ("Debtor"). On November 13, 2015, the Court entered an order for relief.

On March 15, 2016, Musselman filed a proof of claim for a secured claim in the amount of $763,487.22 ("Claim 7"). Claim 7 was identified as secured by certain real property (the "Property") located in Fontana, California, which had an identified value of $3,750,000. On March 18, 2016, Seifert filed a proof of claim for a claim in the amount of $193,307.12 ("Claim 9"). Claim 9 included a secured claim in the amount of $125,239.94, and a priority claim in the amount of $12,475. Claim 9 was identified as being partially secured by the Property.

Chapter 7

On February 18, 2016, the senior lienholder on the Property, The Alpay Living Trust Dated 10/18/96 ("Creditor"), filed a motion for relief from the automatic stay, seeking to foreclose on the Property. This motion was opposed by both Petitioning Creditors and the Chapter 7 Trustee. On March 11, 2016, Trustee filed an application to employ real estate broker, and, on June 6, 2016, Trustee filed a complaint against Creditor to determining the validity, priority or extent of the Creditor's lien. On July 8, 2016, however, the Court granted Creditor relief from the automatic stay.

On May 18, 2017, Trustee filed a motion to approve compromise with Creditor. Pursuant to the terms of the compromise, Trustee received $40,000 from Creditor, in return for Trustee's dismissal of the pending adversary proceeding and Trustee's renunciation of an interest in the property. [Dkt. No. 81, Ex. 1, Paragraphs 10.1-10.4].

On August 19, 2019, Trustee filed objections to Claim 7 and Claim 9, arguing that the claims were no longer secured. The Court has not received any timely opposition to the objections.

APPLICABLE LAW:

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 502(a), a proof of claim is deemed allowed unless a party in interest objects. Absent an objection, a proof of claim constitutes prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claim under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure ("FRBP") 3001(f). See Lundell v. Anchor Constr. Specialists, Inc., 223 F.3d 1035, 1039 (9th Cir. 2000). When a party files an objection to a proof of claim, that filing "creates a dispute which is a contested matter" within the meaning of FRBP

9014 and the Court must resolve the matter after notice and opportunity for hearing upon a motion for relief. Id.

When a creditor has filed a proof of claim that complies with the rules (thereby giving rise to the presumption of validity), the burden shifts to the objecting party who must "present evidence to overcome the prima facie case." In re Medina, 205 B.R. 216, 222 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1996). To defeat the claim, the objecting party must provide sufficient evidence and "show facts tending to defeat the claim by probative force equal to that of the allegations of the proofs of claim themselves." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039 (quoting In re Holm, 931 F.2d 620, 623 (9th Cir. 1991)). "The objector must produce evidence, which, if believed, would refute at least one of the allegations that is essential to the claim's legal sufficiency." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1040 (quoting In re Allegheny Int'l, Inc., 954 F.2d 167, 173-74 (3d Cir. 1992)). If the objecting party produces sufficient evidence to negate one or more of the sworn facts in the proof of claim, the burden reverts back to the claimant to prove the validity of the claim by a preponderance of the evidence. See In re Consol. Pioneer Mort, 178 B.R. 222, 226 (9th Cir. BAP 1995), aff'd, 91 F.3d 151 (9th Cir. 1996) (quoting Allegheny Int'l, 954 F.2d at 173-74). The ultimate burden of persuasion remains at all times on the claimant. See Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039; see also Holm, 931 F.2d at 623.

ANALYSIS:

The Court notes that the instant claim objections are cursory and do not contain any legal analysis or argument. The Court further notes that these claim objections do not appear to be properly brought as claim objections, but, instead, are appropriately deemed to be motions to value under 11 U.S.C. § 506(a)(1). Section 506(a)(1) states:

An allowed claim of a creditor secured by a lien on property in which the estate has an interest, or that is subject to setoff under section 553 of this title, is a secured claim to the extent of the value of such creditor's interest in the estate's interest in such property, or to the extent of the amount subject to setoff, as the case may be, and is an unsecured claim to the extent that the value of such creditor's interest or the amount so subject to setoff is less than the amount of such allowed claim. Such value shall be determined in light of the purpose of the valuation and of the proposed disposition or use of such property, and in conjunction with any hearing on such disposition or use or on a plan affecting such creditor's interest.

(emphasis added). Here, pursuant to the terms of the settlement reached with creditor, which was approved by the Court on June 15, 2017, Trustee effectively abandoned any interest in the Property. Therefore, the estate no longer having any interest in the Property, the claims of Musselman and Seifert cannot be secured by the Property.

Additionally, notice being proper, the Court deems the failure to Musselman and Seifert to oppose to be consent to the relief requested pursuant to Local Rule 9013-1(h).

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to SUSTAIN the objections, allowing Claim 7 as an unsecured claim in the amount of $763,487.22, and allowing Claim 9 as a priority unsecured claim in the amount of $12,475 and a generally unsecured claim in the amount of $193,307.12

The ultimate burden of persuasion remains at all times on the claimant. See Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039; see also Holm, 931 F.2d at 623.

ANALYSIS:

The Court notes that the instant claim objections are cursory and do not contain any legal analysis or argument. The Court further notes that these claim objections do not appear to be properly brought as claim objections, but, instead, are appropriately deemed to be motions to value under 11 U.S.C. § 506(a)(1). Section 506(a)(1) states:

An allowed claim of a creditor secured by a lien on property in which the estate has an interest, or that is subject to setoff under section 553 of this title, is a secured claim to the extent of the value of such creditor's interest in the estate's interest in such property, or to the extent of the amount subject to setoff, as the case may be, and is an unsecured claim to the extent that the value of such creditor's interest or the amount so subject to setoff is less than the amount of such allowed claim. Such value shall be determined in light of the purpose of the valuation and of the proposed disposition or use of such property, and in conjunction with any hearing on such disposition or use or on a plan affecting such creditor's interest.

(emphasis added). Here, pursuant to the terms of the settlement reached with creditor, which was approved by the Court on June 15, 2017, Trustee effectively abandoned any interest in the Property. Therefore, the estate no longer having any interest in the Property, the claims of Musselman and Seifert cannot be secured by the Property.

Additionally, notice being proper, the Court deems the failure to Musselman and Seifert to oppose to be consent to the relief requested pursuant to Local Rule 9013-1(h).

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to SUSTAIN the objections, allowing Claim 7 as an unsecured claim in the amount of $763,487.22, and allowing Claim 9 as a priority unsecured claim in the amount of $12,475 and a generally unsecured claim in the amount of $193,307.12

EH ____

Docket 24

Tentative Ruling:

9/18/19

BACKGROUND

On June 24, 2017, Jaspar & Brenda Stevens ("Debtors") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On October 10, 2017, Debtors received a discharge, and the case was closed the next day.

On July 24, 2019, UST filed a motion to reopen the case so that Trustee could investigate a proposed settlement of a lawsuit; the case was reopened the same day. On August 16, 2019, Trustee filed a motion to approve compromise. The compromise relates to the settlement of the state court litigation initially commenced by Debtors against Ocwen Loan Servicing, LLC. The material terms of the compromise are that Trustee shall execute a request for dismissal of the state court litigation in return for $50,000.

On August 28, 2019, Debtors filed an opposition to the compromise motion. Debtors argue that the state court lawsuit was properly abandoned upon the conclusion of Debtors' bankruptcy case, and that, as a result, the claims are not property of the estate and cannot be compromised by Trustee. On September 10, 2019, Trustee filed a reply arguing that the state court litigation was not abandoned.

Chapter 7

The relevant material facts are not in dispute. Debtors concede that the litigation was not disclosed on their schedules. Trustee concedes that the litigation was disclosed on the statement of financial affairs. The parties dispute revolves around the interpretation of the word "scheduled" in 11 U.S.C. § 554(c).

DISCUSSION

11 U.S.C. § 554(c) states: "Unless the court orders otherwise, any property scheduled under section 521(a)(1) of this title not otherwise administered at the time of the closing of a case is abandoned to the debtor and administered for purposes of section 350 of this title." "Unless the court orders otherwise, property of the estate that is not abandoned under this section and that is not administered in the case remains property of the estate." 11 U.S.C. § 554(d). 11 U.S.C. § 521(a)(1) states

- (a) The debtor shall
 - (1) file
 - (A) a list of creditors; and
 - (B) unless the court orders otherwise –
 - (i) a schedule of assets and liabilities;
 - (ii) a schedule of current income and current expenditures
 - (iii) a statement of the debtor's financial affairs and, if section 342(b) applies, a certificate –
 - (I) of an attorney whose name is indicated on the petition as the attorney for the debtor, or a bankruptcy petition preparer signing the petition under section 110(b)(1), indicating that such attorney or the bankruptcy petition preparer delivered to the debtor the notice required by section 342(b); or

(II) if not attorney is no indicated, and no bankruptcy petition preparer signed the petition, of the debtor that such notice was received and read by the debtor;

(iv) copies of all payment advices or other evidence of payment received within 60 days before the date of the filing of the petition, by the debtor from any employer of the debtor;

(v) a statement of the amount of monthly net income, itemized to show how the amount is calculated; and

(vi) a statement disclosing any reasonably anticipated increase in income or expenditures over the 12-month period following the date of the filing of the petition

Debtors primarily rely upon In re Hill, 195 B.R. 147 (Bankr. D.N.M. 1996). Trustee implicitly concedes that In re Hill supports Debtors' position, but Trustee argues that "In re Hill relied on an erroneous statutory interpretation, went against policy and authority in relieving debtors of their obligations and consequences, and was essentially disposed of on other grounds that section 554(c), and should therefore not be followed by this Court." [Dkt. No. 30, pg. 7, lines 22-24]. In re Hill concluded that:

The language of § 521 itself supports a broader reading of "scheduled" in § 554(c), because the paragraph which follows paragraph § 521(1) makes a particular reference to "debtor's schedule of assets and liabilities." The use of this specific reference strongly suggests that the drafts of the Code will say "schedule of assets and liabilities" when that narrow requirement is intended, and that a reference to § 521(1) is a reference to § 521(1) as a whole.

Id. at 150; see also U.S. ex rel. Fortenberry v. Holloway Group, Inc., 515 B.R. 827 (W.D. Okla. 2014) ("In other words the Court finds that the 'scheduled' requirement in § 554(c) refers to all of the disclosures required in § 521(a)(1), including the debtor's statement of financial affairs.").

On the other hand, Trustee points to multiple cases from the Bankruptcy Appellate Panel which held that "[m]entioning an asset in the statement of financial affairs is not the same as scheduling it for purposes of abandonment under § 554(c)." In re Pretscher-Johnson, 2017 WL 2779977 at *5 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2017); In re Kayne, 453 B.R. 372 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2011) (same); see also In re Fossey, 119 B.R. 268 (D. Utah 1990) ("The case have held that the word 'scheduled' in § 554(c) refers to property listed in the debtor's Schedule of Assets and Liabilities."). While Debtor has provided a recent Bankruptcy Appellate Panel case which seems to backtrack from the Panel's earlier position to a degree, as noted by Trustee, the reasoning in In re Tadayon, 2019 WL 1923044 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2019) is less than clear, bordering on bizarre.

Noting that the majority of the caselaw on this issue favors the position of the Trustee, the Court is inclined to conclude that the listing of the pending lawsuit in the statement of financial affairs is inadequate to trigger a technical abandonment of that asset pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 554(c). While the Court acknowledges that the drafting of § 554(c) is somewhat ambiguous given that the statute could refer to § 521(a)(1)(B)(i), instead of § 521(a)(1) generally, the use of the word "scheduled" must be interpreted in relation to the preparation of "schedules." Divorcing the verb "scheduled" from the noun "schedules" does not appear to be a reasonable approach to statutory interpretation, especially considering that in other sections, the Code includes the phrase "neither listed nor scheduled under section 521(a)(1)." 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(3).

Turning to the compromise motion, FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 9019 provides that:

On motion by the trustee and after notice and a hearing, the court may approve a compromise or settlement. Notice shall be given to creditors, the United States trustee, the debtor, and indenture trustees as provided in Rule 2002 and to any other entity as the court may direct.

The Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals have previously outlined the factors to be considered in approving a compromise pursuant to Rule 9019: (1) the probability of success in the litigation; (2) the difficulties to be encountered in the matter of collection; (3) the complexity, expense, inconvenience and delay of litigation; and (4) the interest of creditors with deference to their reasonable views. See In re A&C Props., 784 F.2d 1377, 1381 (9th Cir. 1986). The listed factors assist the Court in determining "the fairness, reasonableness and adequacy of a proposed settlement agreement." Id.

Here, the evidence before the Court is insufficient to assess the "fairness, reasonableness and adequacy" of the compromise. Specifically, the Court notes that the compromise motion does not include any meaningful detail regarding the nature of the state court litigation to be compromise, nor does the motion contain any description of the amount of damages sought in state court. Because of this absence of information, the Court is wholly unable to assess the reasonableness of the $50,000 to be received by the bankruptcy estate.

BACKGROUND

On August 31, 2018, James Gorman ("Defendant") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. The meeting of creditors was originally scheduled for October 3, 2018.

On May 22, 2019, Trinidad Navarro, Insurance Commission of the State of Delaware, in his capacity as the Receiver of Ullico Casualty Company ("Plaintiff") filed a motion to extend the deadline to file a non-dischargeability complaint. On June 13, 2019, the Court granted the motion, extending the deadline for Plaintiff to file a non-dischargeability adversary complaint until July 15, 2019.

On July 11, 2019, Plaintiff filed a non-dischargeability adversary complaint (the "Complaint") against Defendant pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(4) and § 523(a)(6). On August 14, 2019, the clerk entered default against Defendant after he failed to respond to the Complaint. On August 28, 2019, Plaintiff filed the instant motion for default judgment. The Court notes that notice and service appear proper.

Chapter 7

The instant complaint relates to Defendant's conduct while serving as the sole owner, sole director, President, Secretary, and Treasurer of James Gorman Insurance, Inc ("JGI"). JGI entered into a surety bond producer agreement (the "Agreement") with Ullico Casualty Company ("Ullico"). Pursuant to the agreement, JGI was to collect premiums for surety bonds issued by Ullico, deposit the premiums into a premium trust account, and remit the premiums, minus commissions, within forty-five days after the end of the month in which the premiums were due. In connection with the Agreement, Defendant executed a personal guarantee in favor of Ullico,

On January 13, 2012, Ullico gave JGI its 150 days' notice of intent to terminate the Agreement. Subsequently, JGI refused to remit premiums or provide an accounting or details regarding the premium trust account, leading Ullico to terminate the Agreement for cause on May 21, 2012. According to the complaint, JGI refused to remit premiums in the amount of $870,190.79; Ullico also disputes commissions totaling $468,564.27.

On March 11, 2013, the Court of Chancery of the State of Delaware entered its Rehabilitation and Injunction Order concerning Ullico, placing Ullico in rehabilitation and appointing a receiver. On May 30, 2013, the Chancery Court entered its Liquidation and Injunction Order with Bar Date, beginning the liquidation of Ullico. Neither JGI nor Defendant subsequently filed a proof of claim in the proceedings in the Delaware Chancery Court.

On January 26, 2016, in Delaware Chancery Court, Plaintiff filed a petition to compel JGI to turnover certain premiums and to provide an accounting. After JGI failed to respond to the petition, more than two years later, on April 25, 2018, Plaintiff filed a motion for entry of default judgment in Delaware Chancery Court. The Delaware Chancery Court subsequently entered default judgment against JGI in the amount of $2,804,692.15

A. Entry of Default

FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 55 states that "[w]hen a party against whom a judgment for affirmative relief is sought has failed to plead or otherwise defend as provided by these rules and that fact is made to appear by affidavit or otherwise, the clerk shall enter the party's default." Fed. R. Civ. P. 55(a). Local Rule 7055-1 provides further requirements relating to a motion for entry of default judgment, and those requirements have been substantially satisfied here.

B. Motion for Default Judgment

1. Proper Service of Summons and Complaint

FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 7004(b)(1) states, in part:

[S]ervice may be made within the United States by first class mail postage prepaid as follows:

- (1) Upon an individual other than an infant or incompetent, by mailing a copy of the summons and complaint to the individual's dwelling house or usual place of abode or to the place where the individual regularly conducts a business or profession.

Here, it appears that the motion for default judgment has been properly served.

2. Merits of Plaintiff's claim

Upon default, the factual allegations of the complaint, except those relating to the amount of damages, will be taken as true. TeleVideo Systems, Inc. v. Heidenthal, 826 F.2d 915, 917 (9th Cir. 1987); see also Almog v. Golden Summit Investors Group, Ltd., 2012 WL 12867972 at *4 (C.D. Cal. 2012) ("When reviewing a motion for default judgment, the Court must accept the well-pleaded allegations of the complaint relating to liability as true.").

Here, the complaint includes four causes of action, three relating to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(4) and one relating to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(6).

Regarding 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(4), "[d]efalcation refers to a failure to produce funds entrusted to a fiduciary." In re Bullock, 670 F.3d 1160, 1164 (11th Cir. 2012). The Supreme Court has held that defalcation "requires knowledge of, or gross recklessness in respect to, the improper nature of the fiduciary behavior." GINSBERG & MARTIN ON BANKRUPTCY § 11.06 (5th ed. 2019). Second, the elements of an embezzlement claim are: "(1) property rightfully in the possession of a nonowner; (2) nonowner's appropriation of the property to a use other than which it was entrusted; and (3) circumstances indicating fraud." In re Littleton, 942 F.2d 551, 555 (9th Cir. 1991). And third "[e]mbezzlement differs from larceny only in that the original taking was lawful." In re Dobek, 278 B.R. 496, 509 (Bankr. N.D. Ill. 2012).

Regarding Plaintiff's claim for defalcation, it is not clear that Defendant, as opposed to JGI, was in a fiduciary relationship with Ullico. In 2015, the Ninth Circuit rejected an argument that the sole owners of a corporation--that was acknowledged to be acting in a fiduciary relationship to a second corporation -- could be themselves considered to be acting in a fiduciary capacity for the second corporation. Double Bogey, L.P. v. Enea, 794 F.3d 1047 (9th Cir. 2015). Therefore, it would appear that Plaintiff has not established the applicability of the non-dischargeability exception for defalcation in a fiduciary capacity.

Chapter 7

Regarding larceny, it does not appear that Plaintiff has provided any evidence to support a conclusion that JGI or Defendant engaged in a wrongful taking of Ullico's property. More specifically, it would appear that JGI was intended to receive the premiums pursuant to the terms of the Agreement.

Regarding embezzlement, however, the Court concludes that Plaintiff has adequately plead its case. Specifically, the Court notes that Plaintiff has alleged that the premiums at issue were: (1) rightfully in the possession of Debtor through his control of JGI; and (2) were appropriated for the personal use of Debtor. Additionally, the Court can reasonably infer an intent to defraud Ullico and Plaintiff from the circumstances described by Plaintiff, given the non-responsiveness of Debtor and JGI to Plaintiff's attempts over multiple years to get an accounting of the premiums.

Regarding 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(6), the Ninth Circuit has stated the following:

Section 523(a)(6) of the Bankruptcy Code provides that an individual debtor may not discharge a debt for willful and malicious injury by the debtor to another entity or to the property of another entity. The malicious injury requirement is separate from the willful injury requirement. A "willful" injury is a deliberate or intentional injury, not merely a deliberate or intentional act that leads to injury. A "malicious" injury involves (1) a wrongful act, (2) done intentionally, (3) which necessarily causes injury, and (4) is done without just cause or excuse."

In re Barboza, 545 F.3d 702, 706 (9th Cir. 2008).

Here, the Court concludes that Plaintiff has adequately plead the requirements of a § 523(a)(6) claim. Specifically, the Court notes that Plaintiff has plead a wrongful act, embezzlement, which was done intentionally, which would necessarily cause Ullico injury and for which Defendant has not offered any just cause or excuse. Additionally, the Court notes that Plaintiff has adequately alleged that Defendant intended to cause an injury to Ullico, or were substantially certain that he would cause an injury, through embezzlement of the premiums held in trust.

3. Amount of Damages

Here, Plaintiff's claim was liquidated prepetition and Plaintiff has provided adequate evidence regarding the amount of the claim.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to GRANT the motion with respect to the claims for embezzlement under § 523(a)(4) and willful and malicious injury under § 523(a)(6) and DENY the motion with respect to the claims for larceny and defalcation in a fiduciary capacity.

BACKGROUND

On April 15, 2019, Daniel Verwers ("Defendant") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On July 19, 2019, Daniel Blumhardt ("Plaintiff") filed a non-dischargeability adversary complaint against Defendant pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2). The Court notes that § 523(a)(2) is not itself a cause of action; the complaint, however, makes clear that it is relying upon § 523(a)(2)(A).

On August 21, 2019, Defendant filed a motion to dismiss the complaint pursuant to FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 12(b)(6), incorporated into bankruptcy proceedings by FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 7012. On September 4, 2019, Plaintiff filed his opposition.

Chapter 7

FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 12(b)(6), made applicable in adversary proceedings through FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 7012, a bankruptcy court may dismiss a complaint if it fails to "state a claim upon which relief can be granted." In reviewing a FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 12(b)(6) motion, the trial court must accept as true all facts alleged in the complaint and draw all reasonable inferences in favor of the plaintiff. Navarro v. Block, 250 F.3d 729, 732 (9th Cir. 2001). The trial court need not, however, accept as true conclusory allegations in a complaint or legal characterizations cast in the form of factual allegations. Bell Atl. Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 555–56, 127 S.Ct. 1955, 167 L.Ed.2d 929 (2007); Hartman v. Gilead Scis., Inc. (In re Gilead Scis. Sec. Litig.), 536 F.3d 1049, 1055 (9th Cir. 2008).

To avoid dismissal under FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 12(b)(6), a plaintiff must aver in the complaint "sufficient factual matter, accepted as true, to 'state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face.'" Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678, 129 S.Ct. 1937, 173 L.Ed.2d 868 (2009) (quoting Twombly, 550 U.S. at 570, 127 S.Ct. 1955). It is axiomatic that a claim cannot be plausible when it has no legal basis. A dismissal under FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 12(b)(6) may be based either on the lack of a cognizable legal theory or on the absence of sufficient facts alleged under a cognizable legal theory. Johnson v. Riverside Healthcare Sys., 534 F.3d 1116, 1121 (9th Cir.2008).

FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 9(b), incorporated into bankruptcy proceeding by FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 7009, "requires a pleader of fraud to detail with particularity the time, place, and manner of each act of fraud, plus the role of each defendant in each scheme." Lancaster Cmty. Hosp. v. Antelope Valley Hosp. Dist., 940 F.2d 397, 405 (9th Cir. 1991). A cause of action for fraud must be "specific enough to give defendants notice of the particular misconduct which is alleged to constitute the fraud charged so that they can defend against the charge and not just deny that they have done anything wrong." Neubronner v. Milken, 6 F.3d 666, 672 (9th Cir. 1993). "Intent is usually proven by circumstantial evidence or by inferences drawn from the debtor's conduct." In re Retz, 606 F.3d 1189, 1199 (9th Cir. 2010).

II. 11 U.S.C. § 523(A)(2)(A)

As a preliminary matter, Defendant asserts that: "Plaintiff has failed to specify under which section of 523(a)(2) he has chosen to bring his claim. Since the Complaint does not state a specific cause of action, it does not state a claim for which relief can be granted." [Dkt. No. 4, pg. 4]. While Defendant is correct that the complaint has not properly identified the relevant subsection of § 523(a)(2), the Court notes that the complaint references § 523(a)(2)(A) in the body of the complaint, and contains no reference to § 523(a)(2)(B). Therefore, the Court will construe the complaint as include a single claim that is brought under § 523(a)(2)(A).

11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(A) provides:

- (a) A discharge under section 727, 1141, 1228(a), 1228(b), or 1328(b) of this title does not discharge an individual debtor from any debt –
 - (2) for money, property, services, or an extension, renewal, or refinancing of creditor, to the extent obtained by –
 - (A) false pretenses, a false representation, or actual fraud, other than a statement relating to the debtor's or an insider's financial condition

The elements of a claim under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(A) are:

- (1) the debtor made . . . representations;
- (2) that at the time he knew they were false;
- (3) that he made them with the intention and purpose of deceiving the creditor;
- (4) that the creditor relied on such representations; [and]
- (5) that the creditor sustained the alleged loss and damage as the proximate result of the misrepresentations having been made.

In re Sabban, 600 F.3d 1219, 1222 (9th Cir. 2010).

Here, paragraph 18 of the complaint provides adequate detail sufficient to meet the Rule 9 heightened pleading requirement for two specific representations which were made on August 20, 2018, and January 29, 2019. Nevertheless, there are multiple fatal problems with the representations outlined in the complaint. First, the "representations" quoted by Plaintiff do not actually contain representations regarding the progress of the car. The first representation simply states that Defendant has not reached the final body prep stages. The second representations simply states that Defendant will send an update today. It is unclear what material in these excerpts Plaintiff contends is false. Second, both of these representations were made after Plaintiff made his final payment to Defendant. Therefore, it is not temporally possible that these representations could have proximately caused the damages alleged in the complaint.

Therefore, pursuant to the above, the complaint fails to adequately allege, at a minimum, the second and fifth elements of a § 523(a)(2)(A) pursuant to Sabban. The remainder of the portions of the complaint referenced in Plaintiff's opposition that contain alleged representations made by Defendant to Plaintiff (i.e. ¶¶ 12, 16, and 27) are materially deficient with respect to the details required to plead fraud with particularity pursuant to Lancaster Cmty. Hosp. v. Antelope Valley Hosp. Dist., 940 F.2d 397, 405 (9th Cir. 1991).

GRANT relief from Rule 4001(a)(3) stay. GRANT request under ¶ 2, and request under ¶ 10 upon recording of a copy of this order or giving appropriate notice of its entry in compliance with applicable nonbankruptcy law.

The BAP, in In re Fjeldsted, noted the absence of a clear standard for annulment of the automatic stay. 293 B.R. 12, 21 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2003) ("There is less appellate clarity, however, in enunciating a test for retroactive stay relief. Inconsistent standards have thus developed, which run the gamut from such relief being justified only in 'extreme circumstances' to giving the court 'wide latitude' to 'balance the equities' on a case-by-case basis."). The BAP's most recent announcement of the standard for annulment of the automatic stay stated the following:

Determining whether cause exists to annul the stay is a case-by-case inquiry based on a balance of the equities. In conducting this inquiry the bankruptcy court, among other factors, should consider whether the creditor knew of the bankruptcy when violating the stay and whether the debtor's conduct was unreasonable, inequitable or prejudicial to the creditor.

In Fjeldsted, we approved additional factors for consideration in assessing the equities. The twelve nonexclusive factors are: (1) number of filings; (2) whether, in a repeat filing case, the circumstances indicate an intention to delay and hinder creditors; (3) a weighing of the extent of prejudice to creditors or third parties if the stay relief is not made retroactive, including whether harm exists to a bona fide purchaser; (4) the debtor's overall good faith (totality of circumstances test); (5) whether creditors knew of stay but nonetheless took action, thus compounding the problem; (6) whether the debtor has complied, and is otherwise complying, with the Bankruptcy Code and Rules; (7) the relative ease of restoring parties to the status quo ante; (8) the costs of annulment to debtors and creditors; (9) how quickly creditors moved for annulment, or how quickly debtor moved to set aside the sale or violative conduct; (10) whether, after learning of the bankruptcy, creditors proceeded to take steps in continued violation of the stay, or whether they moved expeditiously to gain relief; (11) whether annulment of the stay will cause irreparable injury to the debtor; and (12) whether stay relief will promote judicial economy or other efficiencies. The Panel in Fjeldsted cautioned that the twelve factors are merely a framework for analysis and not a scorecard, and that in any given case, one factor may so outweigh the others as to be dispositive.

In re Estavan Capital LLC, 2015 WL 7758494 at *5 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2015) (citations and quotations omitted).

Fjeldsted cautioned that the enumerated factors are not a scorecard and the Fjeldsted standard clearly weigh in favor of annulling the stay here. Specifically, as is noted by Creditor, Debtors did not list the subject real property in their schedules, nor does it appear that Creditor ever received any notice of the bankruptcy filing. Furthermore, the Court notes that there were multiple other bankruptcy filings affecting the subject real property, as well as multiple unauthorized transfers of property, which appear to be part of a scheme to delay or defraud Movant. As a result, it is appropriate to annul the automatic stay to validate the foreclosure sale of the property, a sale which Debtors do not appear to have been aware of, or in any way involved in.

Additionally, the Court notes that Movant has served the instant motion on the original borrower, who has not filed any opposition, which the Court deems consent to the relief requested pursuant to Local Rule 9013-1(h).

Debtor had a prior case dismissed in the previous calendar year for failure to perform the terms of a plan confirmed by the court. Therefore, pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(c)(3)(C)(i)(II)(cc), the instant bankruptcy case is presumed to have been filed in bad faith. Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(c)(3)(C), the Court requires "clear and convincing" evidence to rebut the presumption of bad faith. Here, Debtor has provided no evidence regarding his new financial situation, only saying that his income from a new business is consistent. Because this evidence fails to meet the heightened standard imposed by § 362(c)(3)(C), the Court is inclined to DENY the motion.

Docket 162

Tentative Ruling:

10/1/19

BACKGROUND

On April 12, 2019, Woodcrest Ace Hardware, Inc. ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 11 voluntary petition. On May 2, 2019, the Court authorized use of cash collateral on an interim basis. On June 19, 2019, the Court extended authorization to use cash collateral. This authorization was extended a second time on September 12, 2019.

After denying a motion for substantive consolidation, the Court ordered, on July 12, 2019, that Debtor's case be jointly administered with the cases of 9 Fingers, Inc. (19-13130), P&P Hardware, Inc. (19-13131), Riverside Ace Hardware, Inc. (19-13132), and Wildomar Ace Hardware, Inc. (19-13133) (collectively, "Debtors"). The Court has authorized the employment of Brass Tax Ryder Professional Group, Inc. as accountants for Debtors, and Rosenstein & Associates as counsel for Debtors.

On September 10, 2019, Debtors filed a motion to approve cash management system. The Court has not received any opposition to the motion.

Chapter 11

In the motion, Debtors assert that Debtor is used as a "common paymaster" for the related debtors. More specifically,

Each of the respective Affiliated Debtors transfers sufficient funds to Woodcrest Ace's payroll account each payroll period to cover that particular debtors individual payroll obligations, including payroll taxes, workers compensation, health insurance, and any third party payroll servicing fees (e.g. Paychex Payroll services). Woodcrest Ace in turn then issues the payroll and related payments to the respective employees and third parties on behalf of each of the debtors from Woodcrest Ace's payroll account.

[Dkt. No. 162, pg. 6, lines 20-28].

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court having reviewed the motion, notice appearing proper, good cause appearing, and noting the absence of any opposition, which the Court deems consent to the relief requested pursuant to Local Rule 9013-1(h), the Court is inclined to GRANT the motion, authorizing Debtors to continue to use their cash management system.

Docket 31

Tentative Ruling:

10/02/19

BACKGROUND

On April 19, 2018, Golda Morris ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On Form 106A/B—Schedule A/B, Debtor stated she has a wrongful death claim for her husband valued at $50,000 and an exemption of that same sum in her Schedule C. U.S.C. §522(d)(11)(B).

On January 9, 2018, Debtor had filed a wrongful death suit, alleging that Debtor's husband died from adult abuse and neglect at the hands of Orange County, Inc dba Kindred Hospital, et al ("Kindred Hospital"). The other plaintiffs in the suit were the two children of Debtor's deceased husband. The Debtor was represented by Lanzone Morgan, LLP ("Lanzone Morgan") in the wrongful death suit.

John P. Pringle ("Trustee") was appointed Chapter 7 Trustee of the bankruptcy estate. On October 2, 2018, Trustee filed an application to employ Lanzone Morgan as special counsel to pursue the wrongful death suit:

"Compensation to be paid on a contingency fee equal to forty percent (40%) of any amount recovered...reimburse all cost and expenses incurred by [Lanzone Morgan] including by not limited to, process servers' fees...[Lanzone Morgan] shall send Trustee periodic statements for costs incurred."

On October 23, 2018, the Court approved the employment of Lanzone Morgan as

Chapter 7

The last day to file claims was on December 3, 2018. The claims properly filed amount to $11,193.63 and number two claims: Jefferson Capital Systems LLC, totaling $10,284.89, and Yaser A. Slayyeh M.D., Inc, totaling $908.74.

A settlement has been reached between the plaintiffs and the defendants of the wrongful death claim. Plaintiffs will receive $300,000.00 and release defendants from all liabilities and waive all rights under Cal. Civ. Code §1542. The Trustee then proceeded to file a Motion to Compromise on August 26, 2019.

Pursuant to learning of the settlement in the wrongful death claim, Medicare requested a payment of services provided to the Debtor's decease husband, totaling $4,956.75. Medicare is required to recover, pursuant to U.S.C. §1395y(b)(2), any overpayment if payment of a "settlement, judgment, award, or other payment has been or could be made."

The pertinent facts of the compromise as follows:

Settlement Amount	$300,000.00
Less: Lanzone Morgan's Fees (40%)	$120,000.00
Less: Lanzone Morgan's Costs	$14,991.19
Less: Medicare Demand for Payment	$4,956.75
Total Net Recovery	$160,052.06
Less: 50% to Decease Husband's Children	$80,26.03
Less: Debtor's Claimed Exemption	$50,000.00
Net to Estate	$30,026.03

The compromise, also, releases Lanzone Morgan from any further responsibilities of the wrongful death suit if the funds are distributed as set forth above.

Chapter 7

DISCUSSION

I. Legal Standard for Approving Compromise

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1107(a), Debtor has all the rights and duties of a trustee. Rule 9019(a) authorizes the bankruptcy court to approve a compromise or settlement on the trustee's motion and after notice and a hearing. The bankruptcy court must consider all "factors relevant to a full and fair assessment of the wisdom of the proposed compromise." Protective Comm. for Indep. Stockholders of TMT Trailer Ferry, Inc. v. Anderson, 390 U.S. 414, 424 (1968). In other words, the bankruptcy court must find that the settlement is "fair and equitable" in order to approve it. Martin v. Kane (In re A & C Props.), 784 F.2d 1377, 1381 (9th Cir. 1986).

In conducting this inquiry, the bankruptcy court must consider the following factors:

(a) the probability of success in the litigation; (b) the difficulties, if any, to be encountered in the matter of collection; (c) the complexity of the litigation involved, and the expense, inconvenience and delay necessarily attending it; and (d) the paramount interest of the creditors and a proper deference to their reasonable views in the premises.

Id.

The bankruptcy court enjoys broad discretion in approving a compromise because it "is uniquely situated to consider the equities and reasonableness [of it]" United States v. Alaska Nat'l Bank (In re Walsh Construction, Inc.), 669 F.2d 1325, 1328 (9th Cir. 1982). As stated in A & C Props.:

The purpose of a compromise agreement is to allow the trustee and the creditors to avoid the expenses and burdens associated with litigating sharply contested and dubious claims. The law favors compromise and not litigation for its own sake, and as long as the bankruptcy court amply considered the various factors that determined the reasonableness of the compromise, the court's decision must be affirmed.

Chapter 7

II. Requested Payment to Medicare

The Court is of the opinion that the request from Medicare payment is not a lien. "A lien is a charge imposed in some mode other than by a transfer in trust upon specific property by which it is made security for the performance of an act." Cal Civ. Code §2872.

The Trustee cites one case, In re Dickinson, in his effort to proclaim that payment request from Medicare is a lien. 24 B.R. 547 (Bankr. S.D. Cal. 1982). The Court recognizes that liens may be created by contract of the parties or by operation of law. However, the Trustee neither provided any evidence describing such a contract between the decease and Medicare nor did Medicare follow the procedures to create a lien.

In the alternative, the Trustee implies that it would be against public policy to require Medicare to perfect its claim on the proceeds of a settlement. When Congress required Medicare to reclaim medical care it paid for related to the recovery of a case, it did not stipulate that a lien was created in the proceeds recovered in the case. 42 U.S.C. §1395y(b)(2). Furthermore, Congress gave Medicare the right to bring a cause of action, collecting double damages against the defendant. 42 U.S.C. §1395y(b)(2)(B)(iii). Congress provided Medicare with all the rights it thought was necessary to recover such payments. If Medicare, with all the rights it was given, fails to perfect its claim, it is "out of the money" like any other unsecured creditor. It appears it would be against public policy to give a creditor substantial more rights than Congress envisioned. Nonetheless, as discussed below, the Court will allow payment to Medicare as part of the settlement.

III. Motion to Compromise

The evidence presented reflects that the compromise is in the best interest of the bankruptcy estate. It prevents Medicare and the estate to engage in costly litigation or negotiation. The compromise pays all the non-creditors involved, indirectly or directly, in the wrongful death suit. Furthermore, because the affected creditors are expected to receive substantial distribution, without the time, expense, and uncertainty inherent in continuing the wrongful death suit, the compromise motion appears to clearly be in the best interests of the estate. For these reasons, and for only these reasons stated in the motion, the Court finds that the A&C Properties factors have been satisfied, and the Court is inclined to APPROVE the compromise.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to GRANT the motion, APPROVING the compromise in its entirety subject to the concerns raised in the Order Setting Hearing on Compromise of Controversy.

Docket 22

Tentative Ruling:

10/02/19

BACKGROUND

On May 22, 2019, Herber Morales and Ana L. Morales (collectively, the "Debtors") filed for Chapter 7 voluntary petition. One of the properties listed on Debtors' Schedule A/B is a single-family home. As of the date of the motion, Debtors still owe $352,698.00 and would like to reaffirm the debt.

Debtors claim that they need additional time to prepare, execute, and file a reaffirmation agreement between themselves and Nationstar, the creditor whose debt is secured by the property. Debtors want an additional thirty days from the granting of this motion to extend the entry of discharge in order to file a reaffirmation agreement.

DISCUSSION

"A reaffirmation agreement and a motion for approval of the reaffirmation agreement under 11 U.S.C. §524 must be filed by the debtor or creditor within 60 days following the conclusion of the first meeting of creditors under 11 U.S.C. § 341(a), unless otherwise ordered by the court." LBR 4008-1. In this situation, the last day to file a reaffirmation agreement, unless otherwise ordered by the court, was on August 26, 2019. Furthermore, "the [C]ourt shall forthwith grant the discharge, except that the court shall not grant the discharge if...a motion to enlarge the time to file a reaffirmation agreement under Rule 4008(a) is pending. Fed. R. Bankr. P. 4004(c)(1) (J).

MOTION FOR TURNOVER

NO OPPOSITION

BACKGROUND

On June 8, 2019, Robert Young ("Debtor") filed his voluntary Ch. 7 petition. Within Debtor's schedules, Debtor disclosed his possession of a home at 734 Grassy Meadow Dr., San Jacinto, CA 92825 (the "Property"), with a scheduled stated value of $324,000. Debtor has claimed a $100,000 exemption in the property under Cal. Civ. Code § 704.730. The Property is burdened by scheduled debts totaling $206,681 representing the 1st Mortgage held by Darrington Mortgage in the amount of $180,000 and the 2nd Mortgage held by Novad Management Consulting LLC/HUD in the amount of $55,681.00. There is also a scheduled lien for solar panels in the amount of $40,000 which is held by Clean Energy Ygrene. None of those parties have yet filed claims in the case.

On August 1, 2019, the Chapter 7 Trustee ("Trustee") filed this motion for turnover of the Property, on the basis of their belief that there may be equity within the Property. Trustee did not file any additional evidence or explanation in support of their motion, besides a statement that they were informed and believed that there was net equity in the estate. In addition, Trustee also declared that Debtor and Debtor's counsel had been uncooperative in preparing the Property for a potential future sale.

Chapter 7

DISCUSSION

Trustee filed his motion for turnover under § 542 with the stated intent of selling the Property under § 363(f). The benefit of the Property to the estate is thus the net equity which could be obtained through such a sale. However, the Trustee has not put forward any evidence of net equity in the property, besides a statement that they were informed and believed there was. This appears to be referring to Debtor's schedules.

Upon review of Debtor's schedules, it is unclear if net equity exists in the Property at this time. Debtor's Schedule A lists the value of the Property as $324,000, and his Schedule D lists the combined mortgages burdening the Property as $206,681. His Schedule D also lists a $40,000 lien for solar panels which likely further burden the Property. In addition, Debtor has also claimed a $100,000 exemption pursuant to Cal. Civ. Code § 704.730 in the equity in the Property in his Schedule C. This adds up to a total of $366,681 in potential encumbrances and claims on the equity of the Property, whose value is currently listed at $324,000.

TENTATIVE RULING

8/28/2019

SERVICE: PROPER

OPPOSITION: NONE.

While the Court understands the frustration of the Trustee as to Debtor's failure to cooperate with the potential marketing and sale of the Property, the Court is inclined to find that more evidence is needed at this time as to whether there is any net equity in the Property to warrant turnover.

#2.00 Motion to Disallow Claims of Pinnacle Credit Services (Claim 3-1)

EH__

Docket 39

Tentative Ruling:

10/3/19

BACKGROUND:

On May 4, 2018, Mario Portillo ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. On August 9, 2018, Debtor's Chapter 13 plan was confirmed.

On June 28, 2018, Pinnacle Credit Services, LLC ("Creditor") filed a proof of claim for an unsecured claim in the amount of $2,067.51 ("Claim 3"). On August 22, 2019, Debtor filed an objection to Claim 3. Debtor argues that Claim 3 is barred by the statute of limitations. Creditor did not file any opposition.

APPLICABLE LAW:

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 502(a), a proof of claim is deemed allowed unless a party in interest objects. Absent an objection, a proof of claim constitutes prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claim under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure ("FRBP") 3001(f). See Lundell v. Anchor Constr. Specialists, Inc., 223 F.3d 1035, 1039 (9th Cir. 2000). When a party files an objection to a proof of claim, that filing "creates a dispute which is a contested matter" within the meaning of FRBP

"The objector must produce evidence, which, if believed, would refute at least one of the allegations that is essential to the claim's legal sufficiency." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1040 (quoting In re Allegheny Int'l, Inc., 954 F.2d 167, 173-74 (3d Cir. 1992)). If the objecting party produces sufficient evidence to negate one or more of the sworn facts in the proof of claim, the burden reverts back to the claimant to prove the validity of the claim by a preponderance of the evidence. See In re Consol. Pioneer Mort, 178 B.R. 222, 226 (9th Cir. BAP 1995), aff'd, 91 F.3d 151 (9th Cir. 1996) (quoting Allegheny Int'l, 954 F.2d at 173-74). The ultimate burden of persuasion remains at all times on the claimant. See Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039; see also Holm, 931 F.2d at 623.

ANALYSIS:

11 U.S.C. § 502(b)(1) (2005) states:

(b) Except as provided in subsections (e)(2), (f), (g), (h) and (i) of this section, if such objection to a claim is made, the court, after notice and a hearing, shall determine the amount of such claim in lawful currency of the United States as of the date of the filing of the petition, and shall allow such claim in such amount, except to the extent that—debtor, under any agreement or applicable law for a reason other than because such claim is contingent or unmatured;

CAL. CODE CIV. P. § 337 (2016) provides a statute of limitations of four years for debts founded on written contracts, book accounts, accounts stated based upon account in writing, "balance of mutual, open and current account in writing," and rescission of written contract. Once the statute of limitations has passed, the claim is unenforceable. See e.g., Guaranty Trust Co. v. United States, 304 U.S. 126 (1938).

Claim 3 appears to be based on an overdue phone bill. Therefore, it appears that Claim 4 fits within the category established by CAL. CODE CIV. P. § 337, and that the statute of limitations is four years. The proof of claim identifies a last payment date of October 16, 2010. This is more than four years prior to the filing of the bankruptcy case, and, therefore, Claim 3 is unenforceable.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to SUSTAIN the objection, DISALLOWING Claim 3 in its entirety..

APPEARANCES WAIVED. Movant to lodge order within seven days. If oral or written opposition is presented at the hearing, the hearing may be continued.

At the hearing of August 22, 2019, the Court noted that there appeared to be an error on the proof of service which resulted in Creditor's notice address being misstated. For that reason, the Court continued the matter for proper service.

ANALYSIS:

11 U.S.C. § 502(b)(1) (2005) states:

(b) Except as provided in subsections (e)(2), (f), (g), (h) and (i) of this section, if such objection to a claim is made, the court, after notice and a hearing, shall determine the amount of such claim in lawful currency of the United States as of the date of the filing of the petition, and shall allow such claim in such amount, except to the extent that—

(1) such claim is unenforceable against the debtor and property of the debtor, under any agreement or applicable law for a reason other than because such claim is contingent or unmatured;

FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 3001(c)(2) identifies certain required information that a claimant must attach to a proof of claim in order for the claim to be afforded prima facie validity. In particular, the Court notes that Rule 3001(c)(2)(A) and (C) provide requirements related to the itemization of non-principal amounts and escrow amounts, respectively.

The Court finds Debtors' assertion that the supporting information is inadequate to be well-founded. The mortgage proof of claim attachment includes the following information. Part 2 identifies a principal balance of $98,982.98, interest due of $55,486.25, and fees and costs of $3,489.83. Part 3 identifies a pre-petition arrears of $87,692.60, of which $84,202.77 was principal and $3,489.83 was the aforementioned costs. And Part 4 asserts that the month payment includes $607.39 for principal and interest and $549.90 for escrow.

The two figures which do not appear to be justified in the supporting documentation are the $55,486.25 in interest and the $549.90 monthly payment for escrow. The Court notes that the loan payment history spreadsheet provided by Creditor does not contain any itemization for interest or escrow, and, furthermore, the entire column relating to accrued interest balance and accrued escrow balance is zeroed out.

Because Creditor has failed to separate principal, interest, and escrow, as directed by FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 3001(c)(2), and, noting that Debtors have declared that there is no escrow account relating to the second mortgage, the Court is unable to determine the validity or amount of the prepetition default identified in column G of the loan payment history. The Court has also not been provided with any itemization or calculation of the interest amount, alleged to be $55,486.25.

As a result, the Court is inclined to reduce Claim 5 to $102,472.81, representing the principal balance and fees and costs due in part 2 of the loan payment history, with a prepetition arrearage amount of $0.

To defeat the claim, the objecting party must provide sufficient evidence and "show facts tending to defeat the claim by probative force equal to that of the allegations of the proofs of claim themselves." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039 (quoting In re Holm, 931 F.2d 620, 623 (9th Cir. 1991)). "The objector must produce evidence, which, if believed, would refute at least one of the allegations that is essential to the claim's legal sufficiency." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1040 (quoting In re Allegheny Int'l, Inc., 954 F.2d 167, 173-74 (3d Cir. 1992)). If the objecting party produces sufficient evidence to negate one or more of the sworn facts in the proof of claim, the burden reverts back to the claimant to prove the validity of the claim by a preponderance of the evidence. See In re Consol. Pioneer Mort, 178 B.R. 222, 226 (9th Cir. BAP 1995), aff'd, 91 F.3d 151 (9th Cir. 1996) (quoting Allegheny Int'l, 954 F.2d at 173-74). The ultimate burden of persuasion remains at all times on the claimant. See Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039; see also Holm, 931 F.2d at 623.

ANALYSIS:

11 U.S.C. § 502(b)(1) (2005) states:

(b) Except as provided in subsections (e)(2), (f), (g), (h) and (i) of this section, if such objection to a claim is made, the court, after notice and a hearing, shall determine the amount of such claim in lawful currency of the United States as of the date of the filing of the petition, and shall allow such claim in such amount, except to the extent that—

Chapter 13

(1) such claim is unenforceable against the debtor and property of the debtor, under any agreement or applicable law for a reason other than because such claim is contingent or unmatured;

CAL. CODE CIV. P. § 337 (2016) provides a statute of limitations of four years for debts founded on written contracts, book accounts, accounts stated based upon account in writing, "balance of mutual, open and current account in writing," and rescission of written contract. Once the statute of limitations has passed, the claim is unenforceable. See e.g., Guaranty Trust Co. v. United States, 304 U.S. 126 (1938).

Claim 4 is based on money loaned and Claim 4 includes, as an attachment, the written loan agreement. Therefore, Claim 4 fits within the category established by CAL. CODE CIV. P. § 337, and the statute of limitations is four years. The proof of claim identifies a last payment date of December 22, 2010. This is more than four years prior to the filing of the bankruptcy case, and, therefore, Claim 4 is unenforceable.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to SUSTAIN the objection, DISALLOWING Claim 4 in its entirety..

APPEARANCES WAIVED. Movant to lodge order within seven days. If oral or written opposition is presented at the hearing, the hearing may be continued.

#40.00 Motion by United States Trustee to Dismiss Chapter 13 Case with a Re-filing Bar

EH__

Docket 9

Tentative Ruling:

10/3/19

BACKGROUND

On August 2, 2019, Raymond Reeley ("Debtor") filed a skeletal Chapter 13 voluntary petition. Debtor had two bankruptcies filings in the previous year. The first, a Chapter 13 filed in August 2018, was dismissed for failure to file case commencement documents. The second, a Chapter 13 filed in May 2019, was dismissed for failure to file case commencement documents. The petition omits the filing from 2018.

The balance of Debtor's case commencement documents were due August 16, 2019. Debtor did not file the balance of the case commencement documents. On August 19, 2019, UST filed a motion to dismiss the case with a one-year bar to re-filing.

DISCUSSION

Regarding UST's request to dismiss the case, 11 U.S.C. § 1307(c) provides a non-exhaustive list of grounds for dismissal of a Chapter 13 case. Sections 1307(c)(1), (3), (4), and (9) all provide grounds to dismiss a Chapter 13 case when the debtor files a skeletal petition and fails to take any further action to prosecute the case. Section 1307(c) instructs the Court, however, to consider whether dismissal or conversion is in the best interests of creditors. Taking judicial notice of the schedules filed in Debtor's most recent case, 6:19-bk-14078-MH, it appears Debtor could have certain unexempt assets which could provide a distribution to creditors. UST has not addressed whether dismissal or conversion would be in the best interests of creditors.

Assuming that dismissal is in the best interests of creditors, the court notes that it empowered to impose a refiling bar under 11 U.S.C. § 349(a). As COLLIER notes, courts' analysis of this section is somewhat confused due to confounding "dismissal with prejudice" with "dismissal with injunction against future filings." COLLIER ON BANKRUPTCY ¶ 349.02[3]; compare In re Garcia, 479 B.R. 488 (Bankr. N.D. Ind. 2012) (denying motion for dismissal with prejudice, but imposing three-year refiling bar) with In re Craighead, 377 B.R. 648 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. 2007) (appearing to equate dismissal with prejudice with an injunction against refiling).

There is also a circuit split concerning whether an injunction on refiling for more than 180 days is allowed under the Bankruptcy Code. Compare In re Frieouf, 938 F.2d 1099 (10th Cir. 1991) (180 days is maximum allowed length of refiling injunction) with Casse v. Key Bank Nat. Ass'n, 198 F.3d 327 (2nd Cir. 1999) (injunction against filing for more than 180 days permissible). 11 U.S.C. § 349(a) reads:

Unless, the court, for cause, orders otherwise, the dismissal of a case under this title does not bar the discharge, in a later case under this title, of debts that were dischargeable in the case dismissed; nor does the dismissal of a case under this title prejudice the debtor with regard to the filing of a subsequent petition under this title, except as provided in section 109(g) of this title.

The disagreement revolves around whether the qualifier "Unless, the court, for cause, orders otherwise" modifies the content after the semi-colon. In re Leavitt noted this disagreement, but since the court was dealing with a dismissal with prejudice, rather than an injunction against refiling, it did not resolve the issue. 209 B.R. 935, 942 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1997). Within the Ninth Circuit, it appears the trend is to adopt the reasoning of the Second Circuit and allow injunctions for more than 180 days, and the Court agrees with that reading of the statute. See e.g. In re Velasques, 2012 WL

Here, the instant bankruptcy is Debtor's third filing in the previous twelve months in which Debtor filed an incomplete petition and failed to cure the deficiency. Furthermore, Debtor failed to disclose a previous filing in the voluntary petition, which is signed under penalty of perjury. For these reasons, the Court is inclined to find the requested one-year refiling bar to be appropriate in the circumstances presented.

Moreover, Debtor's failure to oppose is deemed consent to the relief requested pursuant to Local Rule 9013-1(h).

TENTATIVE RULING

UST to address whether dismissal or conversion is in the best interests of creditors.

APPEARANCES REQUIRED.

Docket 10

Tentative Ruling:

10/3/19

BACKGROUND

On August 5, 2019, Paul Kirkwood ("Debtor") filed a skeletal Chapter 13 voluntary petition. Debtor had three previous bankruptcies filings in since the beginning of 2018. The first, a Chapter 13 filed in March 2018, was dismissed at the confirmation hearing. The second, a Chapter 13 filed in July 2018, was dismissed for failure to make plan payments eight months into the case. The third, a Chapter 13 filed in March 2019, was dismissed at the confirmation hearing. All of these previous cases were filed with the assistance of counsel. The instant case, however, was filed pro se. The petition in the instant case stated that Debtor had not filed for bankruptcy within the previous eight years.

The balance of Debtor's case commencement documents were due August 19, 2019. Debtor did not file the balance of the case commencement documents. On August 21, 2019, UST filed a motion to dismiss the case with a one-year bar to re-filing.

Sections 1307(c)(1), (3), (4), and (9) all provide grounds to dismiss a Chapter 13 case when the debtor files a skeletal petition and fails to take any further action to prosecute the case. Section 1307(c) instructs the Court, however, to consider whether dismissal or conversion is in the best interests of creditors. Taking judicial notice of the schedules filed in Debtor's most recent case, 6:19-bk-12402-MH, it appears Debtor may have certain unexempt assets which could provide a distribution to creditors. UST has not addressed whether dismissal or conversion would be in the best interests of creditors.

Assuming that dismissal is in the best interests of creditors, the court notes that it empowered to impose a refiling bar under 11 U.S.C. § 349(a). As COLLIER notes, courts' analysis of this section is somewhat confused due to confounding "dismissal with prejudice" with "dismissal with injunction against future filings." COLLIER ON BANKRUPTCY ¶ 349.02[3]; compare In re Garcia, 479 B.R. 488 (Bankr. N.D. Ind. 2012) (denying motion for dismissal with prejudice, but imposing three-year refiling bar) with In re Craighead, 377 B.R. 648 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. 2007) (appearing to equate dismissal with prejudice with an injunction against refiling).

There is also a circuit split concerning whether an injunction on refiling for more than 180 days is allowed under the Bankruptcy Code. Compare In re Frieouf, 938 F.2d 1099 (10th Cir. 1991) (180 days is maximum allowed length of refiling injunction) with Casse v. Key Bank Nat. Ass'n, 198 F.3d 327 (2nd Cir. 1999) (injunction against filing for more than 180 days permissible). 11 U.S.C. § 349(a) reads:

Unless, the court, for cause, orders otherwise, the dismissal of a case under this title does not bar the discharge, in a later case under this title, of debts that were dischargeable in the case dismissed; nor does the dismissal of a case under this title prejudice the debtor with regard to the filing of a subsequent petition under this title, except as provided in section 109(g) of this title.

The disagreement revolves around whether the qualifier "Unless, the court, for cause, orders otherwise" modifies the content after the semi-colon. In re Leavitt noted this disagreement, but since the court was dealing with a dismissal with prejudice, rather than an injunction against refiling, it did not resolve the issue. 209 B.R. 935, 942 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1997). Within the Ninth Circuit, it appears the trend is to adopt the reasoning of the Second Circuit and allow injunctions for more than 180 days, and the Court agrees with that reading of the statute. See e.g. In re Velasques, 2012 WL 8255582 at *3 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 2012).

Here, the instant bankruptcy is Debtor's fourth filing in the previous eighteen months in which Debtor failed to successfully prosecute his case. Furthermore, Debtor failed to disclose his previous filings in the voluntary petition, which is signed under penalty of perjury. For these reasons, the Court is inclined to find the requested one-year refiling bar to be appropriate in the circumstances presented.

Moreover, Debtor's failure to oppose is deemed consent to the relief requested pursuant to Local Rule 9013-1(h).

TENTATIVE RULING

UST to address whether dismissal or conversion is in the best interests of creditors.

#41.10 CONT Notice of Motion and Motion in Individual Case for Order Imposing a Stay or Continuing the Automatic Stay as the Court Deems Appropriate Personal Property that includes a 2011 Toyota Tacoma

MOVANT: CHRISTOPHER LEE SUMNERS

From: 10/1/19

Docket 14

Tentative Ruling:

10/1/2019

Service: Proper
Opposition: None

Debtor had a prior case dismissed in the previous calendar year for failure to perform the terms of a plan confirmed by the court. Therefore, pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(c)(3)(C)(i)(II)(cc), the instant bankruptcy case is presumed to have been filed in bad faith. Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(c)(3)(C), the Court requires "clear and convincing" evidence to rebut the presumption of bad faith. Here, Debtor has provided no evidence regarding his new financial situation, only saying that his income from a new business is consistent. Because this evidence fails to meet the heightened standard imposed by § 362(c)(3)(C), the Court is inclined to DENY the motion.

#6.00 Motion for Order Authorizing Trustee to Operate Real Property Effective September 7, 2019

EH__

Docket 53

Tentative Ruling:

10/9/19

BACKGROUND

On December 17, 2018, Jimmie & Jovita Montezuma ("Debtors") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On Schedule A, Debtors listed certain real property located at 11488 Via Monte, Fontana, CA 92336 (the "Property"), and valued the Property at $360,000. Schedule D listed a lien on the Property in the amount of $354,000. Debtors lease the Property to Alex Fairchild and Angela Lugo (the "Tenants"). The Tenants currently pay $1,624 per month.

Trustee now believes that the Property is worth significantly more than the amount listed in the schedules, and that the Property could be sold to benefit the estate. Towards that end, Trustee has employed counsel and an accountant to assist the estate.

On September 18, 2019, Trustee filed a motion for an order authorizing Trustee to operate the Property effective September 7, 2019. The Court has not received any timely opposition to the motion.

Chapter 7

DISCUSSION

11 U.S.C. § 721 states: "The court may authorize the trustee to operate the business of the debtor for a limited period, if such operation is in the best interest of the estate and consistent with the orderly liquidation of the estate." Trustee asserts that "collecting the Tenants' rent and keeping the mortgage and related expenses current [] will preserve the value of the Property pending the Trustee's marketing and sale of the same."

The Court, having reviewed the motion, service appearing proper, good cause appearing, and noting the absence of any opposition to the relief requested, is inclined to GRANT the motion, authorizing Trustee to operate the Property effective September 7, 2019.

APPEARANCES WAIVED. Movant to lodge order within seven days. If oral or written opposition is presented at the hearing, the hearing may be continued.

Service is Improper
Opposition: None

Pursuant to the self-calendaring procedures of Judge Houle, debtors who wish to have a motion to continue or impose the automatic stay heard on shortening notice are required to serve secured creditors pursuant to FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 7004. Here, Debtor has not complied with this service requirement. Additionally, the Court notes that pages one and three of the motion, each of which prompt Debtor to identify the affected secured creditor(s), do not identify any secured creditors. Therefore, the Court is inclined to DENY the motion.

Docket 49

Tentative Ruling:

10/15/2019

Service is Proper
Opposition: None

The Court is inclined to CONTINUE the matter for Movant to provide a supplemental opposition or update of the status of arrears, and for Movant to file an opposition if desired. The Court notes that Movant's assertion that "[t]his is no less than the 6th [b] ankruptcy case which has been filed by the Debtor, all Chapter 13 cases filed in this [d]istrict and subsequently dismissed" is incorrect. Between August 26, 2011, and June 23, 2017, Debtor was in a successful Chapter 13 case and received a discharge. To the extent that the assignor of the deed of trust did not receive monthly payments directly from Debtor, that matter could have been addressed during the pendency of that case. Additionally, the Court notes that the arrearage figures provided in the motion are inherently contradictory. The motion asserts that Debtor has missed two monthly payments post-confirmation, resulting in a delinquency in the amount of $3,468.80. Section 12(h) of the real property declaration, however, indicates that, in the three months post-confirmation, Debtor has made one full payment and two partial payments, resulting in a deficiency of $1,479.28 (less than one monthly payment).

The Bankruptcy Appellate Panel, in In re Fjeldsted, noted the absence of a clear standard for annulment of the automatic stay. 293 B.R. 12, 21 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2003) ("There is less appellate clarity, however, in enunciating a test for retroactive stay relief. Inconsistent standards have thus developed, which run the gamut from such relief being justified only in 'extreme circumstances' to giving the court 'wide latitude' to 'balance the equities' on a case-by-case basis."). The BAP's recent announcement of the standard for annulment of the automatic stay stated the following:

Determining whether cause exists to annul the stay is a case-by-case inquiry based on a balance of the equities. In conducting this inquiry the bankruptcy court, among other factors, should consider whether the creditor knew of the bankruptcy when violating the stay and whether the debtor's conduct was unreasonable, inequitable or prejudicial to the creditor.

Chapter 13

In Fjeldsted, we approved additional factors for consideration in assessing the equities. The twelve nonexclusive factors are: (1) number of filings; (2) whether, in a repeat filing case, the circumstances indicate an intention to delay and hinder creditors; (3) a weighing of the extent of prejudice to creditors or third parties if the stay relief is not made retroactive, including whether harm exists to a bona fide purchaser; (4) the debtor's overall good faith (totality of circumstances test); (5) whether creditors knew of stay but nonetheless took action, thus compounding the problem; (6) whether the debtor has complied, and is otherwise complying, with the Bankruptcy Code and Rules; (7) the relative ease of restoring parties to the status quo ante; (8) the costs of annulment to debtors and creditors; (9) how quickly creditors moved for annulment, or how quickly debtor moved to set aside the sale or violative conduct; (10) whether, after learning of the bankruptcy, creditors proceeded to take steps in continued violation of the stay, or whether they moved expeditiously to gain relief; (11) whether annulment of the stay will cause irreparable injury to the debtor; and (12) whether stay relief will promote judicial economy or other efficiencies. The Panel in Fjeldsted cautioned that the twelve factors are merely a framework for analysis and not a scorecard, and that in any given case, one factor may so outweigh the others as to be dispositive.

In re Estavan Capital LLC, 2015 WL 7758494 at *5 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2015) (citations and quotations omitted).

Fjeldsted cautioned that the enumerated factors are not a scorecard, but the Fjeldsted standard clearly weigh in favor of annulling the stay here. Specifically, as is noted by Creditor, this is the fourth filing affecting the subject real property during 2019, and all four cases were summarily dismissed, indicating an intention to delay and hinder creditors. Additionally, the Court notes that Debtor filed a skeletal petition which was subsequently dismissed for failure to comply with the Bankruptcy Code, indicating that this filing was likely not in good faith. Furthermore, the fact that Debtor received a 5% interest in the subject real property through an unrecorded grant deed purportedly executed three days before the petition date indicates that the Debtor may not have a valid interest in the subject real property, and may not suffer any prejudice through an annulment of the automatic stay. Finally, the only creditor Debtor listed in the mailing matrix was "Community Hospital," implying that Movant did not have any notice of the bankruptcy filing prior to the foreclosure sale.

The Court is inclined to GRANT relief from stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1) to the extent of ANNULING the automatic stay. GRANT relief from Rule 4001(a)(3) stay. The Court is inclined to DENY all other requests as MOOT because this case was dismissed on July 23, 2019, fifty-two days before the instant motion was filed. While Movant cites In re Aheong, 276 B.R. 233 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2002) for the proposition that the Court retains jurisdiction over motions for relief from the automatic stay after dismissal, that case considered a motion to annul the automatic stay, and the Court is not of the position that it has jurisdiction to hear prospective requests filed after the case is dismissed.

BACKGROUND

On June 24, 2017, Jaspar & Brenda Stevens ("Debtors") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On October 10, 2017, Debtors received a discharge, and the case was closed the next day.

On July 24, 2019, UST filed a motion to reopen the case so that Trustee could investigate a proposed settlement of a lawsuit; the case was reopened the same day. On August 16, 2019, Trustee filed a motion to approve compromise. The compromise relates to the settlement of the state court litigation initially commenced by Debtors against Ocwen Loan Servicing, LLC. The material terms of the compromise are that Trustee shall execute a request for dismissal of the state court litigation in return for $50,000.

On August 28, 2019, Debtors filed an opposition to the compromise motion. Debtors argue that the state court lawsuit was properly abandoned upon the conclusion of Debtors' bankruptcy case, and that, as a result, the claims are not property of the estate and cannot be compromised by Trustee. On September 10, 2019, Trustee filed a reply arguing that the state court litigation was not abandoned.

The relevant material facts are not in dispute. Debtors concede that the litigation was not disclosed on their schedules. Trustee concedes that the litigation was disclosed on the statement of financial affairs. The parties dispute revolves around the interpretation of the word "scheduled" in 11 U.S.C. § 554(c).

DISCUSSION

11 U.S.C. § 554(c) states: "Unless the court orders otherwise, any property scheduled under section 521(a)(1) of this title not otherwise administered at the time of the closing of a case is abandoned to the debtor and administered for purposes of section 350 of this title." "Unless the court orders otherwise, property of the estate that is not abandoned under this section and that is not administered in the case remains property of the estate." 11 U.S.C. § 554(d). 11 U.S.C. § 521(a)(1) states

- (a) The debtor shall
 - (1) file
 - (A) a list of creditors; and
 - (B) unless the court orders otherwise –
 - (i) a schedule of assets and liabilities;
 - (ii) a schedule of current income and current expenditures

implicitly concedes that In re Hill supports Debtors' position, but Trustee argues that "In re Hill relied on an erroneous statutory interpretation, went against policy and authority in relieving debtors of their obligations and consequences, and was essentially disposed of on other grounds that section 554(c), and should therefore not be followed by this Court." [Dkt. No. 30, pg. 7, lines 22-24]. In re Hill concluded that:

The language of § 521 itself supports a broader reading of "scheduled" in § 554(c), because the paragraph which follows paragraph § 521(1) makes a particular reference to "debtor's schedule of assets and liabilities." The use of this specific reference strongly suggests that the drafts of the Code will say "schedule of assets and liabilities" when that narrow requirement is intended, and that a reference to § 521(1) is a reference to § 521(1) as a whole.

Id. at 150; see also U.S. ex rel. Fortenberry v. Holloway Group, Inc., 515 B.R. 827 (W.D. Okla. 2014) ("In other words the Court finds that the 'scheduled' requirement in § 554(c) refers to all of the disclosures required in § 521(a)(1), including the debtor's statement of financial affairs.").

On the other hand, Trustee points to multiple cases from the Bankruptcy Appellate Panel which held that "[m]entioning an asset in the statement of financial affairs is not the same as scheduling it for purposes of abandonment under § 554(c)." In re Pretscher-Johnson, 2017 WL 2779977 at *5 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2017); In re Kayne, 453 B.R. 372 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2011) (same); see also In re Fossey, 119 B.R. 268 (D. Utah 1990) ("The case have held that the word 'scheduled' in § 554(c) refers to property listed in the debtor's Schedule of Assets and Liabilities."). While Debtor has provided a recent Bankruptcy Appellate Panel case which seems to backtrack from the Panel's earlier position to a degree, as noted by Trustee, the reasoning in In re Tadayon, 2019 WL 1923044 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2019) is less than clear, bordering on bizarre.

Noting that the majority of the caselaw on this issue favors the position of the Trustee, the Court is inclined to conclude that the listing of the pending lawsuit in the statement of financial affairs is inadequate to trigger a technical abandonment of that asset pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 554(c). While the Court acknowledges that the drafting of § 554(c) is somewhat ambiguous given that the statute could refer to § 521(a)(1)(B)(i), instead of § 521(a)(1) generally, the use of the word "scheduled" must be interpreted in relation to the preparation of "schedules." Divorcing the verb "scheduled" from the noun "schedules" does not appear to be a reasonable approach to statutory interpretation, especially considering that in other sections, the Code includes the phrase "neither listed nor scheduled under section 521(a)(1)." 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(3).

Turning to the compromise motion, FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 9019 provides that:

On motion by the trustee and after notice and a hearing, the court may approve a compromise or settlement. Notice shall be given to creditors, the United States trustee, the debtor, and indenture trustees as provided in Rule 2002 and to any other entity as the court may direct.

The Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals have previously outlined the factors to be considered in approving a compromise pursuant to Rule 9019: (1) the probability of success in the litigation; (2) the difficulties to be encountered in the matter of collection; (3) the complexity, expense, inconvenience and delay of litigation; and (4) the interest of creditors with deference to their reasonable views. See In re A&C Props., 784 F.2d 1377, 1381 (9th Cir. 1986). The listed factors assist the Court in determining "the fairness, reasonableness and adequacy of a proposed settlement agreement." Id.

Here, the evidence before the Court is insufficient to assess the "fairness, reasonableness and adequacy" of the compromise. Specifically, the Court notes that the compromise motion does not include any meaningful detail regarding the nature of the state court litigation to be compromise, nor does the motion contain any description of the amount of damages sought in state court. Because of this absence of information, the Court is wholly unable to assess the reasonableness of the $50,000 to be received by the bankruptcy estate.

Docket 18

Tentative Ruling:

10/16/19

BACKGROUND

On May 28, 2019, Cesar Hernandez Vazquez and Mirna Gomez (collectively "Debtors"; individually, "Cesar" and "Mirna") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On September 6, 2019, the Trustee filed a motion to dismiss the case and vacate the discharge if previously entered only to the Co-Debtor, Mirna. Discharged was entered on September 9, 2019.

DISCUSSION

I. Dismissal

"Non-married co-residents may not file a joint petition pursuant to §302(a) ...Courts interpret [§302(a)'s definition of spouse] as applicable to only those couples that are legally married." In re Lucero, 408 B.R. 348, 350 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2009).

Courts addressing erroneous joint petition by non-spouses have given debtors the option of dismissing one party in the joint petition or facing dismissal of the entire case. Id.; In re Lam, 98 B.R. 965 (Bankr. W.D. Mo. 1988) (allowing a mother and daughter filing a joint petition thirty days to remove one party from the case or face dismissal.); In re Malone, 59 B.R. 2 (E.D. Mich. 1985)(allowing a same-sex, unmarried couple twenty days to dismiss one of the co-debtors or faced dismissal of the entire case.)

II. Vacation of Discharge

Here, where dismissal of the case is appropriate, logic dictates that a prerequisite to such dismissal is a vacation of the discharge. The standard approach when a trustee has not been able to determine whether an objection to discharge is warranted (by the applicable deadline) is for the Trustee to file a motion requesting an extension of that deadline pursuant to FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 4004(b).

Trustee did not file such an extension here. Therefore, instead of filing an objection to discharge, Trustee would need to revoke the discharge already entered. A request to revoke a discharge requires an adversary proceeding pursuant to FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 7001(4). See In re Lokay, 269 B.R. 132, 138 (Bankr. W.D. Pa. 2001) ("proceeding to revoke a discharge must be brought as an adversary action."); In re Barr, 183 B.R. 531, 536 (Bankr. N.D. Ill. 1995) ("discharge can be revoked only by way of an Adversary proceeding brought pursuant to FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 7001(4) and U.S.C. § 727(d)."); see also 10 COLLIER'S ON BANKRUPTCY ¶ 7001.01 (16th ed. 2018) ("failing to commence an adversary proceeding when seeking the relief of the kind listed in Rule 7001 has resulted in denial of the motion or dismissal of the proceeding."). While, in certain circumstances, it may be appropriate to waive the requirement of an adversary proceeding, those cases fall into two categories – absence of prejudice to the affected parties or explicit or implicit waiver of the requirement. See Id. Here, Movant has provided that the affected Debtor consented to dismissal, and no opposition has been filed.

Given the foregoing, the court will also vacate entry of discharge as to Mirna Gomez although it appears the discharge did not apply to her.

Docket 93

Tentative Ruling:

10/10/19

BACKGROUND

On July 12, 2017, Beatrice Diaz ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. Among the scheduled assets was certain real property located at 619 Calle Cuesta, Watsonville, CA 95076 (the "Property").

On December 20, 2017, Trustee filed a complaint against Debtor's non-filing spouse, Jose Diaz ("Defendant"), seeking: (1) a declaration that the Property constituted community property; (2) turnover of the Property; and (3) authority to sell Defendant's interest in the Property. After Defendant failed to respond to the adversary complaint, Trustee moved for default. On May 22, 2018, the Court entered judgment adjudicating the Property to be community property and directing Defendant to turn over the property.

In January 2019, the Court entered two orders related to Trustee's efforts to gain control over the Property. First, in the adversary proceeding, the Court granted Trustee's motion for a writ of possession as to Defendant. Second, in the main bankruptcy case, the Court granted Trustee's motion for turnover as to Debtor.

On July 10, 2019, Trustee filed a motion seeking to establish procedures for the sale of the Property. Part of the reason for the filing of the instant motion is that the Property is subject to the Measure J Affordable Housing Program, which imposes a ceiling of $363,798 on the Property's purchase price. Because the sale price of the Property is essentially fixed by a county voter initiative, the Trustee proposes a unique sale process which involves working with the county to post the listing, screen applicants, and then, ostensibly, randomly rank qualified bidders.

On July 30, 2019, the Court granted the motion for the Trustee to establish procedures for the sale of the property. In granting the motion, the Court authorize the Trustee to serve such proposed sale motion on not less than seven-day notice to all parties.

On October 9, 2019, the Trustee filed this motion to authorize the sale of the Property free and clear of liens, approve payment of the real estate broker's commission, and find the purchaser of good faith. The Trustee was able to find purchasers of the Property. The purchasers are Octavio Diaz Alvarez, Marta Diaz, and Josue Diaz (collectively, the "Purchasers").

There appears to be two issues that the Trustee needs to address:

1. How did Measure J process work? Did the County unilaterally pick the purchasers, or was the Trustee involved?

2. Based on how Measure J process worked, why should the broker be entitled to a commission?

#11.00 Motion to Disallow Claims re Moreno Valley Ranch Community Association

Docket 46

Tentative Ruling:

10/17/19

BACKGROUND:

On January 17, 2019, Lewis K. Chism and Latoya A. Chism (collectively, the "Debtors") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. On May 2, 2019, Debtors' Chapter 13 plan was confirmed.

On February 4, 2019, Moreno Valley Ranch Community Association ("Association") filed a proof of claim in the amount of $24,224.42 ("Claim 3"). The Association alleges all the amount is secured by the debtors' principal residence, 26818 Calle Luna, Moreno Valley, California 92555; and it is entitled to twelve percent (12.00%) interest rate on the claim. Debtor contends that the claim should be disallowed because (1) it is not legally supported and is lacking evidentiary support; (2) lacks proper notice; or in the alternative, (3) the claim should be secured in the amount of $17,879.31 with a ten percent (10.00%) interest rate and an unsecured claim of $6,345.11.

On the other hand, the Association claims that collateral estoppel prevents Debtors from relitigating this issue. On June 29, 2011, the Superior Court awarded the Association a judgment for foreclosure and money against the Debtors for the amounts owed from March 31, 2009 to April 1, 2011 ("Judgment I"). On February 15, 2017, the Superior Court awarded the Association, a second time, a judgment for foreclosure and money against the Debtors for the amounts owed from April 30, 2011 to December 13, 2016 ("Judgment II"). At both times, the Association argues that the Superior Court found that the lien met all the statutory requirement, the lien is valid, and is fully secured. In addition, the Association argues that twelve percent interest rate is the statutory amount that the association is entitled to.

APPLICABLE LAW:

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 502(a), a proof of claim is deemed allowed unless a party in interest objects. Absent an objection, a proof of claim constitutes prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claim under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure ("FRBP") 3001(f). See Lundell v. Anchor Constr. Specialists, Inc., 223 F.3d 1035, 1039 (9th Cir. 2000). When a party files an objection to a proof of claim, that filing "creates a dispute which is a contested matter" within the meaning of FRBP 9014, and the Court must resolve the matter after notice and opportunity for hearing upon a motion for relief. Id.

When a creditor has filed a proof of claim that complies with the rules (thereby giving rise to the presumption of validity), the burden shifts to the objecting party who must "present evidence to overcome the prima facie case." In re Medina, 205 B.R. 216, 222 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1996). To defeat the claim, the objecting party must provide sufficient evidence and "show facts tending to defeat the claim by probative force equal to that of the allegations of the proofs of claim themselves." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039 (quoting In re Holm, 931 F.2d 620, 623 (9th Cir. 1991)). "The objector must produce evidence, which, if believed, would refute at least one of the allegations that is essential to the claim's legal sufficiency." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1040 (quoting In re Allegheny Int'l, Inc., 954 F.2d 167, 173-74 (3d Cir. 1992)). If the objecting party produces sufficient evidence to negate one or more of the sworn facts in the proof of claim, the burden reverts back to the claimant to prove the validity of the claim by a preponderance of the evidence. See In re Consol. Pioneer Mort, 178 B.R. 222, 226 (9th Cir. BAP 1995), aff'd, 91 F.3d 151 (9th Cir. 1996) (quoting Allegheny Int'l, 954 F.2d at 173-74). The ultimate burden of persuasion remains at all times on the claimant. See Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039; see also Holm, 931 F.2d at 623.

"In determining the collateral estoppel of a state court judgment, federal courts must, as a matter of full faith and credit, apply the state's law of collateral estoppel." In Bugna, 33 F.3d 1054, 1057 (9th Cir. 1994). Under California law, collateral estoppel applies when (1) the issue is identical to that in the prior case; (2) the issue was actually litigated; (3) the issue was necessarily decided; (4) the decision was final and on the merits, and (5) the party sought to be bound by the prior proceeding was the same or privity with the party in the former proceeding. Lucido v. Superior Court, 51 Cal. 3d 335, 341 (Cal. 1990).

California Civil Procedure §685.010(a):

"Interest accrues at the rate of 10 percent annum on the principal amount of a money judgment remaining unsatisfied." (Italics added for emphasis)

California Civil Code §5650(b)(3):

"Interest on all sums imposed in accordance with this section [assessment debt and delinquency], including the delinquent assessments, reasonable fees and costs of collection, and reasonable attorney's fees, at an annual interest rate not to exceed 12 percent, commencing thirty days after the assessment becomes due, unless the declaration specifies the recovery of interest at a rate of a lesser amount, in which case the lesser rate of interest shall apply."

ANALYSIS:

Debtors, perplexingly, admit that there were two judgments awarded to the Association, but assert that the claims were truly never created. For the Superior Court to rule in favor of the Association, the court necessarily determined that the lien was valid. Furthermore, Debtors were the named defendants in Judgment I and Judgment II, the Superior Court made a final ruling on the merits in both cases, and the issue was necessarily decided. All elements of collateral estoppel have been satisfied by the Association.

The Court further adopts the Association's analysis regarding the applicable interest rate.

#13.00 Motion RE: Objection to Claim Number 4 by Claimant American Express National Bank

Also #14 & #15

EH__

Docket 53

Tentative Ruling:

10/17/19

BACKGROUND:

On March 4, 2019, Heather Ann Pessoa Bond ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. On June 13, 2019, Debtor's Chapter 13 plan was confirmed.

On April 22, 2019, American Express National Bank ("American Express") filed a proof of claim in the amount of $14,124.12 ("Claim 4-1"). On April 24, 2019, American Express filed another proof of claim in the amount of $33,018.23 ("Claim 5-1").

Debtor claims that Claim 4-1 and Claim 5-1 were for contractual obligations made in writing and are subject to the four-year statute of limitations proscribed by California Code of Civil Procedure §337. Debtor alleges that more than four years have passed since the Debtor made payments to either claims. (See Dkt. No 53, Ex. A, Pg 6; Dkt. No 55, Ex. A, Pg 5). Thus, both claims should be disallowed. American Express has not filed an opposition to Debtor's motions to disallow Claim 4-1 and 5-1.

APPLICABLE LAW:

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 502(a), a proof of claim is deemed allowed unless a party in interest objects. Absent an objection, a proof of claim constitutes prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claim under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy

Chapter 13

Procedure ("FRBP") 3001(f). See Lundell v. Anchor Constr. Specialists, Inc., 223 F.3d 1035, 1039 (9th Cir. 2000). When a party files an objection to a proof of claim, that filing "creates a dispute which is a contested matter" within the meaning of FRBP 9014, and the Court must resolve the matter after notice and opportunity for hearing upon a motion for relief. Id.

When a creditor has filed a proof of claim that complies with the rules (thereby giving rise to the presumption of validity), the burden shifts to the objecting party who must "present evidence to overcome the prima facie case." In re Medina, 205 B.R. 216, 222 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1996). To defeat the claim, the objecting party must provide sufficient evidence and "show facts tending to defeat the claim by probative force equal to that of the allegations of the proofs of claim themselves." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039 (quoting In re Holm, 931 F.2d 620, 623 (9th Cir. 1991)). "The objector must produce evidence, which, if believed, would refute at least one of the allegations that is essential to the claim's legal sufficiency." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1040 (quoting In re Allegheny Int'l, Inc., 954 F.2d 167, 173-74 (3d Cir. 1992)). If the objecting party produces sufficient evidence to negate one or more of the sworn facts in the proof of claim, the burden reverts back to the claimant to prove the validity of the claim by a preponderance of the evidence. See In re Consol. Pioneer Mort, 178 B.R. 222, 226 (9th Cir. BAP 1995), aff'd, 91 F.3d 151 (9th Cir. 1996) (quoting Allegheny Int'l, 954 F.2d at 173-74). The ultimate burden of persuasion remains at all times on the claimant. See Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039; see also Holm, 931 F.2d at 623.

California Civil Code §377:

"Within four years... (b) an action to recover...(3) a balance due upon a mutual, open and current account, the items of which are in writing...that...if an account stated is based upon an account of more than one item, the time shall begin to run from the date of the last item...(d) when the period in which an action must be commenced under this section has run, a person shall not bring suit or initiate an arbitration or other legal proceedings to collect the debt."

Chapter 13

Debtor acknowledges the fact that she failed to pay for transactions made on her account. The last payment made the account associated with Claim 4-1 was on October 2009, and the last payment made to the account associated with Claim 5-1 was on April 2008. (See Dkt. No 53, Ex. A, Pg 6; Dkt. No 55, Ex. A, Pg 5). Debtor's failure to make any payments to these accounts is construed as a breach of her contract. Professional Collection Consultants v. Lauron, 8 Cal. App 5th, 958, 966 (Cal. Dist. Ct. App. 2017).

The action to recover on an account accrues on the date of the last entry in the accounts. The last transaction entered into the account associated with Claim 4-1 was on June 2006. Likewise, the last transaction entered into the account associated with Claim 5-1 was on June 2006. Thus, the four-year statute of limitation has expired to initiate any legal proceedings to collect these debts.

The Court has noted that Debtor had a prior Chapter 13 (Case No. 18-12899) filing that was dismissed. Even when considering the toll affect of the prior Chapter 13, American Express is outside the four-year limitation.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to GRANT the motion, disallowing Claims 4-1 and 5-1 in their entirety.

APPERANCES WAIVED. Movant to lodge order within seven days. If oral or written opposition is presented at the hearing, the hearing may be continued.

#2.00 Motion to Vacate Order Dismissing Bankruptcy Case

EH ____

Docket 67

Tentative Ruling:

10/31/19

BACKGROUND

On January 13, 2019, Maisha Ghant-Elie ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. Debtor had previously had a Chapter 13 case dismissed on November 8, 2018, for failure to make plan payments. On January 31, 2019, the Court orally granted Debtor's motion to continue the automatic stay, although the Court notes that no order was ever lodged. The Court also notes that Debtor had a motion to value property granted at a hearing on March 28, 2019, and no order was ever lodged for that motion either.

Debtor's Chapter 13 plan was confirmed on April 30, 2019. On August 21, 2019, Trustee filed a motion to dismiss for failure to make plan payments. A hearing was set for September 19, 2019. At the time of the hearing, Debtor had cured the outstanding delinquency at the time that the motion to dismiss was filed, but was now behind on her September plan payment. Not being presented with an adequate explanation from Debtor's counsel, the Court dismissed the case on September 19, 2019.

On October 3, 2019, Debtor filed a motion to vacate dismissal. On October 7, 2019, Trustee filed comments indicating approval of the motion to vacate dismissed, conditioned upon: (1) Debtor making all payments which would have been due under the plan (2 payments); and (2) Debtor addressing the infeasibility of the plan. DISCUSSION

I. FRCP 60(B) – Excusable Neglect

FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 60(b)(1) states:

(b) Grounds for Relief from a Final Judgment, Order, or Proceeding. On motion and just terms, the court may relieve a party or its legal representative from a final judgment, order, or proceeding for the following reasons:

(1) mistake, inadvertence, surprise, or excusable neglect

Here, Debtors argue that the order of dismissal was a result of excusable neglect. When, as is the case here, it appears that neglect caused the dismissal, the Court must determine whether the neglect was excusable. Pioneer provides guidance on the standard for excusable:

With regard to determining whether a party's neglect of a deadline is excusable, we are in substantial agreement with the factors identified by the Court of Appeals. Because Congress has provided no other guideposts for determining what sorts of neglect will be considered "excusable," we conclude that the determination is at bottom an equitable one, taking account of all relevant circumstances surrounding the party's omission. These include, as the Court of Appeals found, the danger of prejudice to the debtor, the length of the delay and its potential impact on judicial proceedings, the reason for the delay, including whether it was within the reasonable control of the movant, and whether the movant acted in good faith.

Pioneer Inv. Servs. Co. v. Brunswick Assocs. Ltd. P'ship, 507 U.S. 380, 395 (1993).. In making this determination, the Court must consider the actions of Debtors and their counsel. See id. at 397. Excusable neglect "encompass[es] situations in which the failure to comply with a filing deadline is attributable to negligence." Id. at 394.

Regarding the first factor, prejudice, the Court notes that it has not received any opposition to the instant motion and, assuming compliance with the conditions stated in the Trustee's comments, it would not appear that any party would suffer legal prejudice from the dismissal being vacated.

Regarding the second factor, length of delay, Debtor waited for fourteen days before filing the instant motion to vacate dismissal. The court considers this delay to be relatively de minimis. Furthermore, the delay between when the September plan payment was due (September 13) and when the plan payment was made (October 1) is relatively insignificant.

Regarding the third factor, whether the delay was within the reasonable control of the movant, Debtor appears to have had the ability to timely make the September plan payment, but erroneously thought that the payment was due the next week.

Regarding the fourth factor, good faith, it appears that Debtor is acting in good faith. The evidence submitted to the Court demonstrates that Debtor took steps to promptly and fully cure all outstanding deficiencies associated with her case as soon as she realized that she had miscalendared the hearing date.

Because vacating dismissal would not cause significant prejudice or significant delay, and because it appears Debtor has acted in good faith, the Pioneer factors weigh in

Chapter 13

#38.00 Motion by United States Trustee to Dimiss Chapter 13 Case with a Re-filing Bar
EH__

Docket 9

Tentative Ruling:

10/31/19

BACKGROUND

On October 3, 2019, Martha Calleros ("Debtor") filed a skeletal Chapter 13 voluntary petition. Debtor has had bankruptcy cases previously dismissed in: (1) 1999; (2) 2016; (3) February 2017; (4) July 2017; (5) March 2019; and (6) July 2019. All five of the cases since 2016 were dismissed for failure to file information.

The balance of Debtor's case commencement documents were due September 19, 2019. Debtor did not file the balance of the case commencement documents. On September 23, 2019, UST filed a motion to dismiss the case with a one-year bar to refiling.

DISCUSSION

Regarding UST's request to dismiss the case, 11 U.S.C. § 1307(c) provides a non-exhaustive list of grounds for dismissal of a Chapter 13 case. Sections 1307(c)(1), (3), (4), and (9) all provide grounds to dismiss a Chapter 13 case when the debtor files a skeletal petition and fails to take any further action to prosecute the case. Section

Chapter 13

1307(c) instructs the Court, however, to consider whether dismissal or conversion is in the best interests of creditors. UST has not addressed whether dismissal or conversion would be in the best interests of creditors.

Assuming that dismissal is in the best interests of creditors, the court notes that it empowered to impose a refiling bar under 11 U.S.C. § 349(a). As COLLIER notes, courts' analysis of this section is somewhat confused due to confounding "dismissal with prejudice" with "dismissal with injunction against future filings." COLLIER ON BANKRUPTCY ¶ 349.02[3]; compare In re Garcia, 479 B.R. 488 (Bankr. N.D. Ind. 2012) (denying motion for dismissal with prejudice, but imposing three-year refiling bar) with In re Craighead, 377 B.R. 648 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. 2007) (appearing to equate dismissal with prejudice with an injunction against refiling).

There is also a circuit split concerning whether an injunction on refiling for more than 180 days is allowed under the Bankruptcy Code. Compare In re Frieouf, 938 F.2d 1099 (10th Cir. 1991) (180 days is maximum allowed length of refiling injunction) with Casse v. Key Bank Nat. Ass'n, 198 F.3d 327 (2nd Cir. 1999) (injunction against filing for more than 180 days permissible). 11 U.S.C. § 349(a) reads:

Unless, the court, for cause, orders otherwise, the dismissal of a case under this title does not bar the discharge, in a later case under this title, of debts that were dischargeable in the case dismissed; nor does the dismissal of a case under this title prejudice the debtor with regard to the filing of a subsequent petition under this title, except as provided in section 109(g) of this title.

The disagreement revolves around whether the qualifier "Unless, the court, for cause, orders otherwise" modifies the content after the semi-colon. In re Leavitt noted this disagreement, but since the court was dealing with a dismissal with prejudice, rather than an injunction against refiling, it did not resolve the issue. 209 B.R. 935, 942 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1997). Within the Ninth Circuit, it appears the trend is to adopt the reasoning of the Second Circuit and allow injunctions for more than 180 days, and the Court agrees with that reading of the statute. See e.g. In re Velasques, 2012 WL 8255582 at *3 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 2012).

Here, the instant bankruptcy is Debtor's sixth skeletal filing in the previous three years. Furthermore, Debtor failed to disclose any previous filings in the voluntary petition, which is signed under penalty of perjury. For these reasons, the Court is inclined to find the requested one-year refiling bar to be appropriate in the circumstances presented.

Moreover, Debtor's failure to oppose is deemed consent to the relief requested pursuant to Local Rule 9013-1(h).

Docket 46

Tentative Ruling:

10/31/2019

BACKGROUND

On May 10, 2017, Suzanne Berry ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. On July 7, 2017, Debtor's Chapter 13 plan was confirmed.

On May 31, 2018, Champion Mortgage Company ("Creditor") filed a motion for relief from the automatic stay. Debtor did not file any opposition to the motion for relief from stay. Nevertheless, the Court continued the hearing on the motion for relief from stay twice, and Creditor ultimately withdrew the motion.

On August 6, 2019, Creditor filed a second motion for relief from the automatic stay. Once again, Debtor did not file any opposition to the motion for relief from the automatic stay. The Court required appearances at the hearing of September 3, 2019, but no appearance was made for Debtor at the hearing. Creditor's motion for relief from stay was granted by order entered on September 9, 2019. On October 21, 2019, Debtor filed a request for voluntary dismissal of her Chapter 13 case. In the request for voluntary dismissal, Debtor specifically cited the relief from stay obtained by Creditor as the reason for the voluntary dismissal.

Chapter 13

On October 23, 2019, Debtor filed a motion to vacate the § 109(g) re-filing bar and an application shortening time. The Court approved the application, setting a hearing for October 31, 2019. On October 25, 2019, the Chapter 13 Trustee filed comments indicating that it took no position, while providing caselaw for Debtor to review. On October 28, 2019, Debtor filed a supplemental legal brief in support of its request.

DISCUSSION

11 U.S.C. § 109(g)(2)(2010) states:

(g) Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, no individual or family farmer may be a debtor under this title who has been a debtor in a case pending under this title at any time in the preceding 180 days if-

(2) the debtor requested and obtained the voluntary dismissal of the case following the filing of a request for relief from the automatic stay provided by section 362 of this title.

As noted by the Chapter 13 Trustee, a recent bankruptcy decision outlined the split in authority in interpreting 11 U.S.C. § 109(g). See In re Evansingston, 2019 WL 4410514 at *3 (Bankr. E.D. Ark. 2019). Specifically, In re Evansingston identified four new interpretations: (1) the mandatory approach; (2) the discretionary or equitable approach; (3) the pending motion approach; and (4) the causal connection approach. Id; see also Ned Waxman, Judicial Follies: Ignoring the Plain Meaning of Bankruptcy Code § 109(g)(2), 48 ARIZ. L. REV. 149 (2006). Here, it is clear that Debtor's voluntary dismissal of her cause was proximately caused by the relief from stay obtained by Creditor, so Debtor must persuade this Court to adopt either the second or the third approaches.

In support of the pending motion approach, Debtor cites two cases: (1) In re Jones, 99 B.R. 412 (Bankr. E.D. Ark. 1989); and (2) In re Richter, 2010 WL 4272915 (Bankr. N.D. Iowa 2010). The Court notes that these are the two cases referred to in In re Evansingston as following the pending motion approach. In re Jones contains no legal analysis whatsoever, simply concluding that "Section 109(g)(2) applies only if there is a contested matter pending at the time of the voluntary dismissal." 99 B.R. at 413. In support of this conclusion, the Court in In re Jones cited two cases. Neither of these cases contains legal analysis of any detail either, and one of the cases, Matter of Milton, 82 B.R. 637 (Bankr. S.D. Ga. 1988), deals with a situation where there was a tentative settlement of the motion for relief from stay. In fact, when presented with an argument citing In re Jones and the two cases it relied upon, one bankruptcy court recently stated the following:

The three cases cited by Debtor, which appear to be the only cases holding that there need be a "pending" motion for relief from stay are simply, in this Court's view, bad law. Nowhere in the three opinions is there set forth any discussion or rational basis for the holding that there must be a pending motion for relief at the time of the dismissal of the debtors first bankruptcy case. This view is erroneous because of both the language of the status and the purpose for which it was enacted. The language of § 109(g)(2) contains no reference whatsoever to a requirement that the motion be pending. It simply says "following the filing of a request for relief from the automatic stay." Such a restrictive reading of § 109(g)(2) would eviscerate the underlying policy rationale for the rule.

In re Gill, 584 B.R. 63, 70 (Bankr. W.D. Okla. 2018).

The second case cited by Debtor, In re Richter, does contain helpful legal analysis. Importantly, however, the analysis provided in In re Richter does not appear to support Debtor's position. Specifically, In re Richter stated the following:

In particular, this Court finds the reasoning of the "pending motion" (i.e. one not already resolved) analysis persuasive. In those cases, courts have applied an exception to dismissal under § 109(g)(2) when there has been a resolution of the motion for relief from stay before the voluntary dismissal of the earlier case occurred.

Chapter 13

The "pending motion" approach tailors the interpretation of § 109(g)(2) to address only the abuse prevention concerns Congress sought to address. The approach recognizes that when a motion for relief from stay is pending it is important that such a motion not be thwarted by debtors who voluntarily dismiss in order to frustrate a creditor, then turn around, and abusively refile. However, the approach also recognizes there is no purpose in barring the filing of a second case when a motion for relief is resolved or rendered moot, before the voluntary dismissal.

The Court also finds, as the Supreme did in Hamilton, that rejection of the mechanical interpretation of § 109(g)(2) is consistent with leading bankruptcy treatises. The Collier treatise specifically states:

The goal of section 109(g) is to curb abuses of the bankruptcy system . . . In light of its purpose, it should not be applicable if the debtor successfully defended against or resolved the motion for relief from the stay or paid in full the creditor who moved for relief . . . Certainly, the purpose of preventing abusive refilings is not served when the motion for relief and the dismissal are totally unrelated.

2010 WL 4272915 at *6-7 (Bankr. N.D. Iowa. 2010) (citations omitted). This analysis, and the corresponding caselaw, makes clear that the pending motion approach is designed to create an exception in cases where the motion for relief from stay was resolved because it was withdrawn, denied, or an agreement was reached between the parties. Neither In re Richter nor the cases it cited dealt with situations where a motion for relief from stay was granted, the Debtor voluntarily dismissed the case because relief from stay was granted, and subsequently wants to file an additional case specifically to delay or hinder the creditor who obtained relief from stay.

The analysis in In re Richter leads this Court to conclude that the "pending motion" approach is not really a separate approach, but simply, a subset of either the casual connection approach or the discretionary approach. The Court notes that this approach is not even mentioned in some discussions of the varying interpretations. For example, GINSBERG & MARTIN ON BANKRUPTCY § 3.02 [5th ed. 2019] states the following:

Courts are divided on the application of Section 109(g). There are three primary approaches. The majority approach is the "mandatory" approach. Under this approach, if a debtor requests and obtains a voluntary dismissal after a party moved for relief from stay, that person is not eligible for bankruptcy relief in the 180 days after dismissal, with no further inquiry needed. The "causal connection" approach requires a judicial determination of the causal relationship between the two subsections of 109(g). The "discretionary" approach endorses the mandatory approach but authorizes the court to exercise discretion when necessary to achieve justice.

Additionally, the Court finds the holistic, discretionary approach to be unpersuasive. The case primarily cited in support of the discretionary approach, In re Luna, 122 B.R. 575 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1991), contains the following as the entirety of its legal analysis:

We decline to follow the line of authority which requires mandatory application of section 109(g)(2). Mechanical application of section 109(g)(2) would reward Home Savings for acting in bad faith and punish Luna for acting in good faith. Accordingly, because legislative enactments should never be construed as establishing statutory schemes that are illogical, unjust, or capricious", we conclude that the bankruptcy court properly declined to apply section 109(g)(2) to Luna's second bankruptcy petition.

122 B.R. at 577. First, the Court notes that the factual situation presented in In re Luna is very unique and not analogous to this situation. Second, this Court believes that the approach in In re Luna is precluded by Law v. Siegel, 134 S. Ct. 1188 (2014).

Chapter 13

The Bankruptcy Appellate Panel's subsequent remarks in support of In re Luna make this more clear: "Section 109(g)(2) is not jurisdictional in nature and, therefore, the bankruptcy court has discretion to suspend the application of the statute and not dismiss a debtor's case under certain circumstances." In re Leafly, 479 B.R. 545 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2012). After Law v. Siegel, however, this Court does not believe it has authority to suspend a statute that does not provide for use of discretion.

As has been noted in this ruling, the majority approach to interpreting 11 U.S.C. § 109(g)(2) is to conclude that its application is mandatory. While some courts, even after Siegel, continue to follow the causal relationship approach, this Court need not choose between the two approaches because neither would result in a ruling favorable to Debtor. The other two approaches, the "pending motion" approach and the "discretionary" approach, are not supported by any recent caselaw and are unpersuasive.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to DENY the motion.

Docket 49

Tentative Ruling:

11/5/2019

Service is Proper
Opposition: Yes

11 U.S.C. § 365(p)(1) provides for termination of the automatic stay as a matter of law if a lease of personal property is not timely assumed. 11 U.S.C. § 365(d)(2) imposes a deadline of plan confirmation to assume a personal property lease in a Chapter 13 case. Here, Debtor's plan not having provided for assumption of the underlying lease, the automatic stay has terminated as a matter of law. The Court is inclined to DENY the motion as MOOT.

Debtor had three prior cases dismissed in the previous calendar year. Therefore, pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(c)(3)(C)(i)(I), the instant bankruptcy case is presumed to have been filed in bad faith. Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(c)(3)(C), the Court requires "clear and convincing" evidence to rebut the presumption of bad faith. Here, Debtor has not provided any meaningful evidence regarding a change in circumstance, only saying that he does not "anticipate having any issues in this present case." Because this evidence fails to meet the heightened standard imposed by § 362(c)(3)(C), the Court is inclined to DENY the motion.

Judge Houle's self-calendaring procedures require that motions to continue the automatic stay which are set on shortened notice must be served on secured creditors pursuant to FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 7004. Here, it does not appear that Green Ranch Community Association was served pursuant to Rule 7004. Additionally, the Court notes that while it appears the motion was served pursuant to Rule 7004 on the holder of the first deed of trust, that entity is not actually listed in the body of the motion. Instead, it appears that Debtor listed the loan servicer in the body of the motion, while not serving the loan servicer pursuant to Rule 7004. Docket 327

Tentative Ruling:

11/06/19

BACKGROUND:

On April 18, 2013, Narinder Sangha ("Debtor") filed for Chapter 7 voluntary petition (13-16964). On April 25, 2013, Charles Edward Schrader ("Plaintiff") filed an adversary case against the Debtor, seeking non-dischargeability of judgment debt.

Plaintiff had previously been awarded a default judgment of $1,396,633.40 in a Superior Court ("State Court Complaint") on June 2, 2011. Based on the State Court complaint was filed on October 13, 2009. Plaintiff alleged that Debtor had made defamatory statements—Debtor called Plaintiff physical and emotionally abusive, during and after their sexual relationship ended, in a statement made to San Jose Fire Department, which was conducting a background check on Plaintiff for employment—about him with malice and the intent to harm his good name and reputation. Because Debtor caused him willful and malicious injury, pursuant to §523(a)(6), Plaintiff argues that the judgment debt should not be allegedly discharged.

Debtor answered Plaintiff's complaint by denying he made any defamatory statements concerning plaintiff with malice, intent, or both to injure Plaintiff's reputation. Debtor claims that the State Court Complaint were not litigated because of the legal malfeasance of Debtor's former counsel, Christopher A. Leuterio, who was unaware of any deadlines, hearings, or responses required from the Debtor. If it were not for Debtor's former counsel, Debtor alleges the Superior Court in the State Court Complaint would have evidence of Plaintiff committing domestic violence against the Debtor, including emotional abuse and harassing e-mails, text message, and phone calls.

Prior to the filing of the adversary proceeding, Debtor was granted a restraining order ("RO") by the Superior Court after a finding of good cause on August 12, 2009, and it was to remain in effect until February 12, 2010. On May 28, 2010, Plaintiff appealed the RO, asserting that the lower court's refusal of his request to submit more documents violated his due process. The appellate court ruled against Plaintiff, finding that no due process violation occurred, and the appellate court affirmed the RO.

After the default judgment was given for the State Court Complaint, Debtor claims to have fired his previous counsel, filed suit against his prior counsel for legal malfeasance, hired a more competent counsel, and attempted to vacate the judgment on the State Court Complaint. However, the motion to vacate the judgment was denied.

Now, as part of the adversary proceeding, Debtor files this motion because he alleges that Plaintiff engaged in improper and bad-faith litigation conduct with third-party witnesses to prevent compliance with lawful subpoena. In 2019, Debtor served lawful subpoenas on the City of San Jose and Associated International, the entities that Plaintiff alleges Debtor made defamatory statements to. Debtor contends that after serving the lawful subpoenas to the City of San Jose and Associated International, Plaintiff threatened the City with a multi-million-dollar lawsuit if it complied with said subpoena. (Dkt. No. 327, Ex. 3, Pg. 18).

The Debtor alleges, due to this threat, the City of San Jose objected to the subpoena, and decided it will not release the documents asked for without an additional court order addressing Plaintiff's assertion of his right to privacy. Id. at 27.

Plaintiff responds by claiming that his assertion of his privacy rights to the city was perfectly legal: "[t]here is nothing unlawful about asserting one's privacy interests, and [Debtor] provides no legal authority for the proposition that doing so constitutes 'improper and bad faith litigation conduct' so egregious as to justify [FRCP] 37[,] terminating sanctions." (Dkt. No. 329, Pg. 3). In the alternative, Plaintiff states that if asserting one's privacy right is unlawful, then Plaintiff should pay for the cost of Debtor's motion to compel, not to terminate the case. Id. at 6.

In the motion for terminating sanctions, the Court must consider "(1) the public's interest in expeditious resolution of litigation; (2) the court's need to manage its docket; (3) the risk of prejudice to the party seeking sanctions; (4) the public policy favoring disposition of cases on their merits, and (5) the availability of less drastic sanctions. Wanderer v. Johnston, 910 F.2d 652, 656 (9th Cir. 1990).

In addressing the first two factors, Courts have noted that the public's interest in prompt resolution of litigation and the Court's need to manage its docket always favor dismissal. SEC v. Wu, 2016 U.S. Dist. Lexis 126695, *5 (N. D. Cal. 2016). Similar in this case, litigation between the two parties have been on-going since April 25, 2013. Countless motions, objections, and replies have been filed. The docket is at number 334. Much of the delay cannot be attributed to improper action by either party. Each party, for the most part, has followed the Courts orders and procedures.

The Court does not believe that there is a risk of prejudice to the party seeking sanctions, the third factor. The Debtor would suffer prejudice if the Plaintiff's action wrongfully impairs his ability to go to trial or threatens to interfere with the rightful decision of the case. Adrian Int'l Corp. v. Lewis & Co., 913 F.2d 1406 (9th Cir. 1990). The Plaintiff's action, to assert his privacy rights, did not prejudice the Debtor. The City of San Jose states that it would follow the subpoena if an additional court order, addressing Plaintiff's right to privacy, is provided. Debtor had ample time to file the motion to compel. Nor does Plaintiff's assertion of the right to privacy interfere with a rightful decision of the case. If a motion to compel is granted, City of San Jose will release the subpoenaed documents and the Court would make a decision based on multiple factors, including those documents.

The fourth factor clearly weighs against the sanction. Furthermore, the fifth factor need not be addressed because the factors weigh heavily in denying the motion. (United States use of Wiltec Guam, Inc. v. Kahaluu Constr. Co., 857 F.2d 600 (9th Cir. 1988) (stating, generally, a court must consider fewer alternative sanctions and discuss them before actually dismissing the case.)

Docket 24

Tentative Ruling:

9/18/19

BACKGROUND

On June 24, 2017, Jaspar & Brenda Stevens ("Debtors") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On October 10, 2017, Debtors received a discharge, and the case was closed the next day.

On July 24, 2019, UST filed a motion to reopen the case so that Trustee could investigate a proposed settlement of a lawsuit; the case was reopened the same day. On August 16, 2019, Trustee filed a motion to approve compromise. The compromise relates to the settlement of the state court litigation initially commenced by Debtors against Ocwen Loan Servicing, LLC. The material terms of the compromise are that Trustee shall execute a request for dismissal of the state court litigation in return for $50,000.

On August 28, 2019, Debtors filed an opposition to the compromise motion. Debtors argue that the state court lawsuit was properly abandoned upon the conclusion of Debtors' bankruptcy case, and that, as a result, the claims are not property of the estate and cannot be compromised by Trustee. On September 10, 2019, Trustee filed a reply arguing that the state court litigation was not abandoned.

The relevant material facts are not in dispute. Debtors concede that the litigation was not disclosed on their schedules. Trustee concedes that the litigation was disclosed on the statement of financial affairs. The parties dispute revolves around the interpretation of the word "scheduled" in 11 U.S.C. § 554(c).

DISCUSSION

11 U.S.C. § 554(c) states: "Unless the court orders otherwise, any property scheduled under section 521(a)(1) of this title not otherwise administered at the time of the closing of a case is abandoned to the debtor and administered for purposes of section 350 of this title." "Unless the court orders otherwise, property of the estate that is not abandoned under this section and that is not administered in the case remains property of the estate." 11 U.S.C. § 554(d). 11 U.S.C. § 521(a)(1) states

- (a) The debtor shall
 - (1) file
 - (A) a list of creditors; and
 - (B) unless the court orders otherwise –
 - (i) a schedule of assets and liabilities;
 - (ii) a schedule of current income and current expenditures
 - (iii) a statement of the debtor's financial affairs and, if section 342(b) applies, a certificate –

(vi) a statement disclosing any reasonably anticipated increase in income or expenditures over the 12-month period following the date of the filing of the petition

implicitly concedes that In re Hill supports Debtors' position, but Trustee argues that "In re Hill relied on an erroneous statutory interpretation, went against policy and authority in relieving debtors of their obligations and consequences, and was essentially disposed of on other grounds that section 554(c), and should therefore not be followed by this Court." [Dkt. No. 30, pg. 7, lines 22-24]. In re Hill concluded that:

The language of § 521 itself supports a broader reading of "scheduled" in § 554(c), because the paragraph which follows paragraph § 521(1) makes a particular reference to "debtor's schedule of assets and liabilities." The use of this specific reference strongly suggests that the drafts of the Code will say "schedule of assets and liabilities" when that narrow requirement is intended, and that a reference to § 521(1) is a reference to § 521(1) as a whole.

Id. at 150; see also U.S. ex rel. Fortenberry v. Holloway Group, Inc., 515 B.R. 827 (W.D. Okla. 2014) ("In other words the Court finds that the 'scheduled' requirement in § 554(c) refers to all of the disclosures required in § 521(a)(1), including the debtor's statement of financial affairs.").

On the other hand, Trustee points to multiple cases from the Bankruptcy Appellate Panel which held that "[m]entioning an asset in the statement of financial affairs is not the same as scheduling it for purposes of abandonment under § 554(c)." In re Pretscher-Johnson, 2017 WL 2779977 at *5 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2017); In re Kayne, 453 B.R. 372 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2011) (same); see also In re Fossey, 119 B.R. 268 (D. Utah 1990) ("The case have held that the word 'scheduled' in § 554(c) refers to property listed in the debtor's Schedule of Assets and Liabilities."). While Debtor has provided a recent Bankruptcy Appellate Panel case which seems to backtrack from the Panel's earlier position to a degree, as noted by Trustee, the reasoning in In re Tadayon, 2019 WL 1923044 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2019) is less than clear, bordering on bizarre.

Noting that the majority of the caselaw on this issue favors the position of the Trustee, the Court is inclined to conclude that the listing of the pending lawsuit in the statement of financial affairs is inadequate to trigger a technical abandonment of that asset pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 554(c). While the Court acknowledges that the drafting of § 554(c) is somewhat ambiguous given that the statute could refer to § 521(a)(1)(B)(i), instead of § 521(a)(1) generally, the use of the word "scheduled" must be interpreted in relation to the preparation of "schedules." Divorcing the verb "scheduled" from the noun "schedules" does not appear to be a reasonable approach to statutory interpretation, especially considering that in other sections, the Code includes the phrase "neither listed nor scheduled under section 521(a)(1)." 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(3).

Turning to the compromise motion, FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 9019 provides that:

On motion by the trustee and after notice and a hearing, the court may approve a compromise or settlement. Notice shall be given to creditors, the United States trustee, the debtor, and indenture trustees as provided in Rule 2002 and to any other entity as the court may direct.

The Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals have previously outlined the factors to be considered in approving a compromise pursuant to Rule 9019: (1) the probability of success in the litigation; (2) the difficulties to be encountered in the matter of collection; (3) the complexity, expense, inconvenience and delay of litigation; and (4) the interest of creditors with deference to their reasonable views. See In re A&C Props., 784 F.2d 1377, 1381 (9th Cir. 1986). The listed factors assist the Court in determining "the fairness, reasonableness and adequacy of a proposed settlement agreement." Id.

Here, the evidence before the Court is insufficient to assess the "fairness, reasonableness and adequacy" of the compromise. Specifically, the Court notes that the compromise motion does not include any meaningful detail regarding the nature of the state court litigation to be compromise, nor does the motion contain any description of the amount of damages sought in state court. Because of this absence of information, the Court is wholly unable to assess the reasonableness of the $50,000 to be received by the bankruptcy estate.

Docket 44

Tentative Ruling:

10/3/2019

BACKGROUND:

On April 15, 2019, Mark & Elizabeth Swartz ("Debtors") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. On June 21, 2019, The Bank of New York Mellon f/k/a The Bank of New York as successor Indenture trustee to JPMorgan Chase Bank, National Association for CWHEQ Revolving Home Equity Loan Trust, Series 2006-F ("Creditor") filed a proof of claim for a secured claim in the amount of $157,959.06 ("Claim 5").

On July 10, 2019, Debtors filed an objection to Claim 5. Debtors argued that the information filed in support of Claim 5 is inadequate pursuant to the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure, and that, as a result, Creditor has failed to meet its burden of proof. At the hearing of August 22, 2019, the Court noted that there appeared to be an error on the proof of service which resulted in Creditor's notice address being misstated. For that reason, the Court continued the matter for proper service.

Chapter 13

On August 30, 2019, Debtors filed a renewed objection to Claim 5. The Court notes that notice and service are now proper.

APPLICABLE LAW:

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 502(a), a proof of claim is deemed allowed unless a party in interest objects. Absent an objection, a proof of claim constitutes prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claim under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure ("FRBP") 3001(f). See Lundell v. Anchor Constr. Specialists, Inc., 223 F.3d 1035, 1039 (9th Cir. 2000). When a party files an objection to a proof of claim, that filing "creates a dispute which is a contested matter" within the meaning of FRBP 9014 and the Court must resolve the matter after notice and opportunity for hearing upon a motion for relief. Id.

When a creditor has filed a proof of claim that complies with the rules (thereby giving rise to the presumption of validity), the burden shifts to the objecting party who must "present evidence to overcome the prima facie case." In re Medina, 205 B.R. 216, 222 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1996). To defeat the claim, the objecting party must provide sufficient evidence and "show facts tending to defeat the claim by probative force equal to that of the allegations of the proofs of claim themselves." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039 (quoting In re Holm, 931 F.2d 620, 623 (9th Cir. 1991)). "The objector must produce evidence, which, if believed, would refute at least one of the allegations that is essential to the claim's legal sufficiency." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1040 (quoting In re Allegheny Int'l, Inc., 954 F.2d 167, 173-74 (3d Cir. 1992)). If the objecting party produces sufficient evidence to negate one or more of the sworn facts in the proof of claim, the burden reverts back to the claimant to prove the validity of the claim by a preponderance of the evidence. See In re Consol. Pioneer Mort, 178 B.R. 222, 226 (9th Cir. BAP 1995), aff'd, 91 F.3d 151 (9th Cir. 1996) (quoting Allegheny Int'l, 954 F.2d at 173-74). The ultimate burden of persuasion remains at all times on the claimant. See Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039; see also Holm, 931 F.2d at 623.

ANALYSIS:

11 U.S.C. § 502(b)(1) (2005) states:

(b) Except as provided in subsections (e)(2), (f), (g), (h) and (i) of this section, if such objection to a claim is made, the court, after notice and a hearing, shall determine the amount of such claim in lawful currency of the United States as of the date of the filing of the petition, and shall allow such claim in such amount, except to the extent that—

(1) such claim is unenforceable against the debtor and property of the debtor, under any agreement or applicable law for a reason other than because such claim is contingent or unmatured;

FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 3001(c)(2) identifies certain required information that a claimant must attach to a proof of claim in order for the claim to be afforded prima facie validity. In particular, the Court notes that Rule 3001(c)(2)(A) and (C) provide requirements related to the itemization of non-principal amounts and escrow amounts, respectively.

The Court finds Debtors' assertion that the supporting information is inadequate to be well-founded. The mortgage proof of claim attachment includes the following information. Part 2 identifies a principal balance of $98,982.98, interest due of $55,486.25, and fees and costs of $3,489.83. Part 3 identifies a pre-petition arrears of $87,692.60, of which $84,202.77 was principal and $3,489.83 was the aforementioned costs. And Part 4 asserts that the month payment includes $607.39 for principal and interest and $549.90 for escrow.

The two figures which do not appear to be justified in the supporting documentation are the $55,486.25 in interest and the $549.90 monthly payment for escrow. The Court notes that the loan payment history spreadsheet provided by Creditor does not contain any itemization for interest or escrow, and, furthermore, the entire column relating to accrued interest balance and accrued escrow balance is zeroed out.

Because Creditor has failed to separate principal, interest, and escrow, as directed by FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 3001(c)(2), and, noting that Debtors have declared that there is no escrow account relating to the second mortgage, the Court is unable to determine the validity or amount of the prepetition default identified in column G of the loan payment history. The Court has also not been provided with any itemization or calculation of the interest amount, alleged to be $55,486.25.

As a result, the Court is inclined to reduce Claim 5 to $102,472.81, representing the principal balance and fees and costs due in part 2 of the loan payment history, with a prepetition arrearage amount of $0.

From: 10/15/19

Docket 49

Tentative Ruling:

10/15/2019

Service is Proper
Opposition: None

The Court is inclined to CONTINUE the matter for Movant to provide a supplemental opposition or update of the status of arrears, and for Movant to file an opposition if desired. The Court notes that Movant's assertion that "[t]his is no less than the 6th [b] ankruptcy case which has been filed by the Debtor, all Chapter 13 cases filed in this [d] istrict and subsequently dismissed" is incorrect. Between August 26, 2011, and June 23, 2017, Debtor was in a successful Chapter 13 case and received a discharge. To the extent that the assignor of the deed of trust did not receive monthly payments directly from Debtor, that matter could have been addressed during the pendency of that case. Additionally, the Court notes that the arrearage figures provided in the motion are inherently contradictory. The motion asserts that Debtor has missed two monthly payments post-confirmation, resulting in a delinquency in the amount of $3,468.80. Section 12(h) of the real property declaration, however, indicates that, in the three months post-confirmation, Debtor has made one full payment and two partial payments, resulting in a deficiency of $1,479.28 (less than one monthly payment).

Debtor had previous bankruptcy case dismissed on March 1, 2019. Therefore, pursuant to the operation of 11 U.S.C §362(c)(3), the automatic stay in this case, absent order of the Court, was to expire on April 13, 2019. While, Debtors did file a motion to continue the automatic stay, that motion was ultimately denied by the Court. Therefore, the automatic stay expired on April 13, 2019, and the Court is inclined to DENY the motion as Moot.

Judge Houle's self-calendaring procedures require that motions to continue the automatic stay which are set on shortened notice must be served on secured creditors pursuant to FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 7004. Here, it does not appear that Green Ranch Community Association was served pursuant to Rule 7004. Additionally, the Court notes that while it appears the motion was served pursuant to Rule 7004 on the holder of the first deed of trust, that entity is not actually listed in the body of the motion. Instead, it appears that Debtor listed the loan servicer in the body of the motion, while not serving the loan servicer pursuant to Rule 7004. For these reasons, the Court is inclined to DENY the motion.

#13.00 Motion for Order Compelling Debtor to Vacate and Turnover Real Property

EH ____

Docket 40

Tentative Ruling:

11/13/19

BACKGROUND

On October 16, 2017, Christy Hammond ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. Among the assets of the estate is certain real property located at 5918 Ridgeway Dr., Chino Hills, CA 91709 (the "Property"). On January 29, 2018, Debtor obtained a discharge.

On April 23, 2018, the Chapter 7 Trustee filed a notice of assets, subsequently employing an attorney, and a real estate broker. Debtor opposed Trustee's request to hold a real estate broker, and the Court approved the application after a hearing held on March 27, 2019.

On October 16, 2019, Trustee filed (1) a motion for turnover of property (the "Motion"); and (2) an adversary complaint against Kenneth Hammond seeking turnover of property from Debtor's non-filing spouse. The Motion requests that the Court order the occupants to vacate the Property within twenty days, while outlining certain permitted actions in the event that the occupants do not timely vacate the Property.

Chapter 7

On October 30, 2019, Debtor filed her opposition to the Motion. Debtor's primary argument is that administration of the Property will not produce a consequential benefit to the estate. According to Trustee, the value of the Property is $600,000-$615,000, the Property is encumbered by security interests totaling $402,000, Debtor claimed a homestead exemption in the amount of $100,000, and costs of sale/repairs would total $63,000. These figures would produce nonexempt equity in the range of $35,000 to $50,000. In Debtor's opposition she asserts that Trustee understates the needed repairs by $52,960. Debtor also contends that Trustee overstates the fair market value of the Property by $50,000-$65,000. Finally, Debtor has increased her homestead exemption from $100,000 to $175,000 pursuant to an amended Schedule C filed October 30, 2019 [Dkt. No. 44]. Debtor also raises various procedural and equitable arguments in her opposition.

On November 6, 2019, Trustee filed a reply. Of particular note is that Trustee states that it will file an objection to Debtor's amended homestead exemption.

DISCUSSION

11 U.S.C. § 542(a) states:

Except as provided in subsection (c) or (d) of this section, an entity, other than a custodian, in possession, custody, or control, during the case, of property that the trustee may use, sell, or lease under section 363 of this title, or that the debtor may exempt under section 522 of this title, shall deliver to the trustee, and account for, such property or the value of such property, unless such property is of inconsequential value or benefit to the estate.

The standard for a turnover action is well established:

Chapter 7

"To prevail in a turnover action under § 542, the party seeking turnover must establish (1) that the property is or was in the possession, custody or control of an entity during the pendency of the case, (2) that the property may be used by the trustee in accordance with § 363 or exempted by the debtor under § 522; and (3) that the property has more than inconsequential value or benefit to the estate."

In re Bailey, 380 B.R. 486, 490 (B.A.P. 6th Cir. 2008); see also In re Newman, 487 B.R. 193 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2013). Here, the parties dispute the third prong of the turnover standard identified above.

The Court need not address the parties' dispute regarding the fair market value of the Property because Debtor's amended Schedule C, filed October 30, 2019, increased Debtor's homestead exemption by $75,000. Because Trustee's own calculation results in realizable equity in the range of $35,000 to $50,000, Debtor's increased claimed homestead exemption eliminates all realizable equity in the subject property. Pursuant to FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 1009(a), Debtor has a right to amend her schedules "as a matter of course" until the case is closed. And, pursuant to FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 4003(c), the party objecting to a claimed exemption has the burden of proof. Therefore, in the absence of a formal objection, the Court must assume that Debtor's amended homestead exemption is valid. If Debtor's amended homestead exemption is valid, then the Property does not have consequential value to the bankruptcy estate.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to CONTINUE the matter for Trustee to file an objection to Debtor's amended homestead exemption.

#14.00 Motion by United States Trustee to Dismiss Case with a Re-filing Bar

CASE DISMISSED 10/15/19

EH ____

Docket 12

Tentative Ruling:

11/13/19

BACKGROUND

On September 25, 2019, Octavio Garcia ("Debtor") filed a skeletal Chapter 7 voluntary petition. Debtor has had bankruptcy cases previously dismissed in: (1) 1997; (2) 2011; (3) March 2019; (4) April 2019; and (5) July 2019. The last four cases were dismissed for failure to file information.

The balance of Debtor's case commencement documents were due October 9, 2019. On October 8, 2019, Debtor filed a motion to extend the deadline to file case commencement documents, which was denied by the Court the following day. UST filed a motion to dismiss the case with a re-filing bar on October 11, 2019, requesting a refiling-bar of one year. On October 15, 2019, the Court dismissed the case for failure to file case commencement documents.

DISCUSSION

The court notes that it empowered to impose a refiling bar under 11 U.S.C. § 349(a).

Chapter 7

As COLLIER notes, courts' analysis of this section is somewhat confused due to confounding "dismissal with prejudice" with "dismissal with injunction against future filings." COLLIER ON BANKRUPTCY ¶ 349.02[3]; compare In re Garcia, 479 B.R. 488 (Bankr. N.D. Ind. 2012) (denying motion for dismissal with prejudice, but imposing three-year refiling bar) with In re Craighead, 377 B.R. 648 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. 2007) (appearing to equate dismissal with prejudice with an injunction against refiling).

There is also a circuit split concerning whether an injunction on refiling for more than 180 days is allowed under the Bankruptcy Code. Compare In re Frieouf, 938 F.2d 1099 (10th Cir. 1991) (180 days is maximum allowed length of refiling injunction) with Casse v. Key Bank Nat. Ass'n, 198 F.3d 327 (2nd Cir. 1999) (injunction against filing for more than 180 days permissible). 11 U.S.C. § 349(a) reads:

Unless, the court, for cause, orders otherwise, the dismissal of a case under this title does not bar the discharge, in a later case under this title, of debts that were dischargeable in the case dismissed; nor does the dismissal of a case under this title prejudice the debtor with regard to the filing of a subsequent petition under this title, except as provided in section 109(g) of this title.

The disagreement revolves around whether the qualifier "Unless, the court, for cause, orders otherwise" modifies the content after the semi-colon. In re Leavitt noted this disagreement, but since the court was dealing with a dismissal with prejudice, rather than an injunction against refiling, it did not resolve the issue. 209 B.R. 935, 942 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1997). Within the Ninth Circuit, it appears the trend is to adopt the reasoning of the Second Circuit and allow injunctions for more than 180 days, and the Court agrees with that reading of the statute. See e.g. In re Velasques, 2012 WL 8255582 at *3 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 2012).

Here, the instant bankruptcy is Debtor's fourth skeletal filing in the previous seven months. Furthermore, Debtor failed to disclose any previous filings in the voluntary petition, which is signed under penalty of perjury. For these reasons, the Court is inclined to find the requested one-year refiling bar to be appropriate in the circumstances presented.

Moreover, Debtor's failure to oppose is deemed consent to the relief requested pursuant to Local Rule 9013-1(h).

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to either GRANT the motion to the extent of imposing a one-year filing bar, and otherwise DENY the motion as MOOT because Debtor's case has already been dismissed, or construe the motion as a motion to amend the dismissal order and GRANT the motion.

Docket 184

Tentative Ruling:

11/13/19

BACKGROUND:

On August 1, 2013, Richard Cox ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. On September 26, 2013, Debtor's Chapter 13 plan was confirmed. Debtor's Chapter 13 was subsequently modified once. On June 30, 2016, Debtor's case was converted to Chapter 7. On January 6, 2017, Debtor received a Chapter 7 discharge.

On December 10, 2013, a proof of claim in the amount of $34,000 ("Claim 17") was filed by Debtor on behalf of Richard & Donna Cox ("Creditors"), who appear to be his parents. On October 7, 2019, the Chapter 7 Trustee filed an objection to Claim 17, arguing that the claim does not contain adequate supporting information. Trustee asserts that he propounded a request for additional information upon Creditors, but that, despite being given more than 100 days to respond, Creditors took no action.

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 502(a), a proof of claim is deemed allowed unless a party in interest objects. Absent an objection, a proof of claim constitutes prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claim under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure ("FRBP") 3001(f). See Lundell v. Anchor Constr. Specialists, Inc., 223 F.3d 1035, 1039 (9th Cir. 2000). When a party files an objection to a proof of claim, that filing "creates a dispute which is a contested matter" within the meaning of FRBP 9014 and the Court must resolve the matter after notice and opportunity for hearing upon a motion for relief. Id.

When a creditor has filed a proof of claim that complies with the rules (thereby giving rise to the presumption of validity), the burden shifts to the objecting party who must "present evidence to overcome the prima facie case." In re Medina, 205 B.R. 216, 222 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1996). To defeat the claim, the objecting party must provide sufficient evidence and "show facts tending to defeat the claim by probative force equal to that of the allegations of the proofs of claim themselves." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039 (quoting In re Holm, 931 F.2d 620, 623 (9th Cir. 1991)). "The objector must produce evidence, which, if believed, would refute at least one of the allegations that is essential to the claim's legal sufficiency." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1040 (quoting In re Allegheny Int'l, Inc., 954 F.2d 167, 173-74 (3d Cir. 1992)). If the objecting party produces sufficient evidence to negate one or more of the sworn facts in the proof of claim, the burden reverts back to the claimant to prove the validity of the claim by a preponderance of the evidence. See In re Consol. Pioneer Mort, 178 B.R. 222, 226 (9th Cir. BAP 1995), aff'd, 91 F.3d 151 (9th Cir. 1996) (quoting Allegheny Int'l, 954 F.2d at 173-74). The ultimate burden of persuasion remains at all times on the claimant. See Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039; see also Holm, 931 F.2d at 623.

ANALYSIS:

As a preliminary matter, the Court notes that 11 U.S.C. § 501(c) states that: "If a creditor does not timely file a proof of such creditor's claim, the debtor or the trustee may file a proof of such claim." As outlined in FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 3004, the debtor and the trustee have thirty days once the claim filing deadline has passed to file a proof of claim on behalf of a creditor. Here, the deadline to file proofs of claims was December 11, 2013, yet Debtor filed Claim 17 on December 10, 2013. Therefore, Debtor technically filed the proof of claim prematurely.

Turning to the merits of Claim 17, FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 3001(c)(1) states the following: "Except for a claim governed by paragraph (3) of this subdivision, when a claim, or an interest in property of the debtor securing the claim, is based on a writing, a copy of the writing shall be filed with the proof of claim." And FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 3001(f) implies that a proof of claim's prima facie validity depends upon the claim being "executed and filed in accordance with these rules." Therefore, Claim 17 in this case is not entitled to prima facie validity.

Furthermore, as noted by the BAP: "If the creditor does not provide information or is unable to support its claim, then that in itself may raise an evidentiary basis to object to the unsupported aspects of the claim, or even a basis for evidentiary sanctions, thereby coming within Section 502(b)'s grounds to disallow the claim." In re Heath, 331 B.R. 424, 437 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2005). Here, Claim 17 contains no supporting information whatsoever and, despite now being given more than four months to provide such information or amend or supplement Claim 17, Creditors have taken no action. For that reason, and noting that Claim 17 is not entitled to prima facie validity, the Court finds it appropriate to disallow the claim.

Finally, the Court deems Creditors' failure to oppose to be consent to the relief requested pursuant to Local Rule 9013-1(h).

Tentative Ruling:

11/13/19

BACKGROUND:

On August 1, 2013, Richard Cox ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. On September 26, 2013, Debtor's Chapter 13 plan was confirmed. Debtor's Chapter 13 was subsequently modified once. On June 30, 2016, Debtor's case was converted to Chapter 7. On January 6, 2017, Debtor received a Chapter 7 discharge.

On August 7, 2013, Discover Bank ("Discover") filed a proof of claim for an unsecured claim in the amount of $5,994.51 ("Claim 1"). On September 9, 2013, Hibu, Inc. ("Hibu") filed a proof of claim for an unsecured claim in the amount of $2,660 ("Claim 6"). And, on November 27, 2013, Citibank, N.A. ("Citibank") filed a proof of claim for an unsecured claim in the amount of $9,424 ("Claim 14"). On October 7, 2019, the Chapter 7 trustee filed an objection to Claim 1, Claim 6, and Claim 14, seeking to have the claim reduced by the amount paid by the Chapter 13 trustee during the pendency of the Chapter 13 case.

APPLICABLE LAW:

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 502(a), a proof of claim is deemed allowed unless a party in interest objects. Absent an objection, a proof of claim constitutes prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claim under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure ("FRBP") 3001(f). See Lundell v. Anchor Constr. Specialists, Inc., 223 F.3d 1035, 1039 (9th Cir. 2000). When a party files an objection to a proof of claim, that filing "creates a dispute which is a contested matter" within the meaning of FRBP 9014 and the Court must resolve the matter after notice and opportunity for hearing upon a motion for relief. Id.

When a creditor has filed a proof of claim that complies with the rules (thereby giving rise to the presumption of validity), the burden shifts to the objecting party who must "present evidence to overcome the prima facie case." In re Medina, 205 B.R. 216, 222 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1996). To defeat the claim, the objecting party must provide sufficient evidence and "show facts tending to defeat the claim by probative force equal to that of the allegations of the proofs of claim themselves." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039 (quoting In re Holm, 931 F.2d 620, 623 (9th Cir. 1991)). "The objector must produce evidence, which, if believed, would refute at least one of the allegations that is essential to the claim's legal sufficiency." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1040 (quoting In re Allegheny Int'l, Inc., 954 F.2d 167, 173-74 (3d Cir. 1992)). If the objecting party produces sufficient evidence to negate one or more of the sworn facts in the proof of claim, the burden reverts back to the claimant to prove the validity of the claim by a preponderance of the evidence. See In re Consol. Pioneer Mort, 178 B.R. 222, 226 (9th Cir. BAP 1995), aff'd, 91 F.3d 151 (9th Cir. 1996) (quoting Allegheny Int'l, 954 F.2d at 173-74). The ultimate burden of persuasion remains at all times on the claimant. See Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039; see also Holm, 931 F.2d at 623.

Chapter 7

As a preliminary matter, the Court notes that pursuant to FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 1019(3) "[a]ll claims actually filed by a creditor before conversion of the case are deemed filed in the chapter 7 case." Therefore, Claim 1, Claim 6, and Claim 14 are all considered claims against the Chapter 7 bankruptcy estate.

The Chapter 7 Trustee's form claim objection primarily relies upon the failure of Discover Bank, Hibu, and Citibank to respond to the requests to amend their claim after conversion of the case. While the Court acknowledges that there is caselaw which supports that argument, that argument does not logically relate to the specific request here (i.e. reduction of the claim to reflect payments made by the Chapter 13 Trustee). In other words, it is not the failure to provide supporting information that is at the crux of this claim objection, it is the fact that the claims have already been partially satisfied.

Clearly, if a case is converted to Chapter 7 after confirmation of a Chapter 13 plan, a Chapter 7 trustee may be presented with claims that are properly filed and valid under FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 1019 and 11 U.S.C. § 348, but which have been partially satisfied. While it does not appear that there is any statutory provision explicitly providing for a reduction of the claims, the Court concludes that § 502(b)(1) is sufficient and appropriately applied to this situation. Specifically, the amounts of Claim 1, Claim 6, and Claim 14 which were already paid by the Chapter 13 Trustee no longer represent claims which are enforceable against the debtor's or the debtor's property as a matter of law. Specifically, as is noted by the Chapter 7 Trustee and as reflected in docket number 120, the Chapter 13 Trustee disbursed $1,232.84 to Discover Bank, $547.07 to Hibu, and $1,938.15 to Citibank. Therefore, the Court is inclined to reduce Claim 1, Claim 6, and Claim 14 by those amounts.

Additionally, the Court deems Creditors' failure to oppose to be consent to the relief

Docket 15

Tentative Ruling:

11/13/19

BACKGROUND

On March 5, 2019, Hassan Mohamad Adib Yahya ("Defendant") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition.

On May 22, 2019, Schoolsfirst Federal Credit Union ("Plaintiff") filed a non-dischargeability complaint against Defendant pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(A). On July 22, 2019, the clerk of court entered default against Defendant.

On October 15, 2019, Plaintiff filed a motion for default judgment. The motion for default judgment indicates a hearing date of October 17, 2019, which was the date of the continued status conference. During the hearings on October 17, 2019, the Court orally granted the motion for default judgment. While neither FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 7055 nor Local Rule 7055 explicitly provides for service upon a defaulted party who never appeared in the action, out of an abundance of caution the Court set the matter for hearing so that notice and service would comply with the more generic requirements of Local Rule 9013-1(d). On October 23, 2019, the clerk of court mailed notice of the hearing to Defendant.

Chapter 13

DISCUSSION

A. Entry of Default

FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 55 states that "[w]hen a party against whom a judgment for affirmative relief is sought has failed to plead or otherwise defend as provided by these rules and that fact is made to appear by affidavit or otherwise, the clerk shall enter the party's default." Fed. R. Civ. P. 55(a). Local Rule 7055-1 provides further requirements relating to a motion for entry of default judgment, and those requirements have been substantially satisfied here.

B. Motion for Default Judgment

1. Proper Service of Summons and Complaint

FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 7004(b)(1) states, in part:

[S]ervice may be made within the United States by first class mail postage prepaid as follows:

- (1) Upon an individual other than an infant or incompetent, by mailing a copy of the summons and complaint to the individual's dwelling house or usual place of abode or to the place where the individual regularly conducts a business or profession.

Chapter 13

Here, it appears that the motion for default judgment has been properly served. Specifically, the complaint was mailed to Defendant at the address he listed on his bankruptcy petition.

2. Merits of Plaintiff's claim

Upon default, the factual allegations of the complaint, except those relating to the amount of damages, will be taken as true. TeleVideo Systems, Inc. v. Heidenthal, 826 F.2d 915, 917 (9th Cir. 1987); see also Almog v. Golden Summit Investors Group, Ltd., 2012 WL 12867972 at *4 (C.D. Cal. 2012) ("When reviewing a motion for default judgment, the Court must accept the well-pleaded allegations of the complaint relating to liability as true.").

Here, the complaint includes a single cause of action under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(A). Plaintiff relies upon the presumption of non-dischargeability outlined in § 523(a)(2)(C)(i)(I), which provides that "cash advances aggregating more than $950 that are extensions of consumer credit under an open end credit plan obtained by an individual debtor on or within 70 days before the order for relief under this title, are presumed to be nondischargeable."

Here, Plaintiff asserts that Defendant had a credit card account with Plaintiff that had a credit limit of $19,800. Plaintiff further asserts that Defendant spent $19,864.05 between February 14, 2019, and March 6, 2019. Plaintiff also asserts that expenses incurred on March 5, 2019, and March 6, 2019, which total $17,450, may have been incurred prepetition. Therefore, the debt at issue, to the extent incurred prepetition, is presumed nondischargeable under § 523(a)(2)(C)(i)(I).

The Court notes that there are two legal issues with Plaintiff's request for default judgment. First, the Court notes that the vast majority of the debt incurred by Defendant appears to have been incurred postpetition. While Plaintiff asserts that the $17,450 spent by Defendant on March 6, 2019, may have been incurred prepetition, there is no evidence establishing that that amount is a prepetition debt. To the contrary, the exhibit filed by Plaintiff seems to establish that that debt was actually incurred postpetition.

Regarding Plaintiff's request for the Court to issue a money judgment, the Court intends to deny such request for two reasons. First of all, Plaintiff has not clearly articulated a non-bankruptcy law basis for a money judgment. 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2) is not a basis to enter a money judgment; the plain language of the statute provides that it is a basis for finding a debt to be non-dischargeable. More importantly, however, it appears that the bulk of Plaintiff's claim may be a postpetition debt, and the Court is inclined to conclude that it does not even have jurisdiction to enter a money judgment against Defendant for a postpetition debt.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to GRANT the motion to the extent of holding Plaintiff's claim for prepetition charges to be nondischargeable under § 523(a)(2)(A), DENY the request without prejudice as to postpetition charges, and DENY the request to enter a money judgment.

11/13/19

BACKGROUND

On February 15, 2019, Mitchell Nelson ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On May 28, 2019, Debtor received a discharge.

On August 6, 2019, Trustee filed a complaint against Leonard Ward ("Defendant") for: (1) breach of contract; (2) breach of oral contract; (3) account stated; (4) breach of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing; (5) unjust enrichment; (6) turnover of property of the estate; and (7) disallowance of claims. On September 13, 2019, the clerk of court entered default against Defendant. On October 4, 2019, Trustee filed a motion for default judgment against Defendant.

The relevant factual background is as follows. In May 2016, Defendant approached Debtor about providing a small business loan for Defendant's "clean up and scrap metal hauling business," representing that Defendant could repay the loan from proceedings from a pending civil suit pertaining to wrongful incarceration. On October 3, 2016, Debtor loaned Defendant $65,000, to be repaid by December 1, 2016, with $10,000 in interest. After Defendant did not make any payment, the parties reached an oral agreement in January 2017 whereby Debtor would continue to loan Defendant money, and Defendant would repay the amount after resolving his civil suit. By September 2018, Debtor had loaned Defendant more than $2.7 million without Defendant having made any payment. While not detailed in the body of the motion for default judgment, Exhibit 3 to the motion contains a copy of an incident report logged by the Riverside County Sheriff's Department which appears to indicate that Defendant repeatedly threatened and assaulted Debtor, causing Debtor to continue loaning money.

On October 25, 2018, Debtor issued a written demand for Defendant to repay $2,707,000 within two weeks. Defendant did not make any payment. According to Trustee, on June 14, 2019, "the Trustee had a phone conversation with the Defendant where [he] acknowledged that he owed the money to the Debtor and was willing to sign a document reflecting the same." [Dkt. No. 17, pg. 4, lines 12-14].

DISCUSSION

A. Entry of Default

FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 55, incorporated into bankruptcy proceedings by FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 7055, states that "[w]hen a party against whom a judgment for affirmative relief is sought has failed to plead or otherwise defend as provided by these rules and that fact is made to appear by affidavit or otherwise, the clerk shall enter the party's default." Fed. R. Civ. P. 55(a). FED. R. CIV. P. Here, it appears that the motion for default judgment has been properly served. Specifically, the complaint was mailed to Defendant at 108 N. Lowell St., Lake Elsinore, CA 92563, an address which is identified as Defendant's residence in various exhibits attached to the motion.

2. Merits of Plaintiff's claim

Upon default, the factual allegations of the complaint, except those relating to the amount of damages, will be taken as true. *TeleVideo Systems, Inc. v. Cal. 2012) ("When reviewing a motion for default judgment, the Court must accept the well-pleaded allegations of the complaint relating to liability as true.").

Here, the complaint includes seven causes of action, although the motion for default judgment does not pursue the third through seventh causes of action. Instead, Trustee simply relies on the first two causes of action: (1) breach of contract; and (2) breach of oral contract.

The elements of a breach of contract claim under California law are: (1) the existence of a contract, (2) plaintiff's performance (or excuse for nonperformance) under the contract, (3) defendant's breach of the contract, and (4) damages resulting from defendant's breach." AMG & Assocs., LLC v. AmeriPride Servs., Inc., 2016 WL 9275402 at *4 (C.D. Cal. 2016) (citing Richman v. Hartley, 224 Cal. App. 4th 1182, 1186 (Cal. Ct. App. 2014)). Here, the Court concludes that Trustee has sufficiently established the elements of its first cause of action. Specifically, Trustee has established the first element by attaching a copy of a written note whereby Defendant promised to repay Debtor $75,000 by December 1, 2016 in consideration for the receipt of $65,000. Trustee has established the second element because the note, signed by Defendant, acknowledges receipt of $65,000 from Debtor. Trustee has established the third element by asserting that Defendant did not make the required contractual payment, which is further established by the supporting evidence, namely Exhibit 3. Finally, Trustee has established the fourth element, damages, because Defendant's failure to make the contractual payment naturally damaged Debtor.

As stated by Trustee, the elements of a breach of oral contract are the same as the elements for a breach of written contract. See, e.g., Mountain View Surgical Ctr. v. Cigna Health Corp., 2015 WL 519066 at *2 (C.D. Cal. 2015); Stockton Mortg., Inc. v. Tope, 233 Cal. App. 4th 437 (Cal. Ct. App. 2014). For the reasons recited in the previous paragraph, Trustee has established the second element of a claim for breach of oral contract through alleging and providing a list of payments from Debtor to Defendant totaling $2,707,700. These factual allegations, taken as true after the default of Defendant, establish the second element.

The first element, existence of an oral contract, is less clear. Trustee's motion for default judgment argues the following: "In or about January 2017, Defendant entered into an oral contract with Debtor whereby Debtor agreed to continue to loan money for Defendant's business expansion and Defendant continued to promise repayment of the loan as soon as his civil suit was resolved." [Dkt. No. 17, pg. 7, lines 21-23].

Without determining whether Trustee has sufficiently alleged the existence of an enforceable oral contract, the Court notes that the fatal flaw in Trustee's argument is that, according to the contractual terms identified by Trustee, Defendant has not actually breached the oral contract. Specifically, pursuant to the very informal oral contract outlined by Trustee, Defendant was not contractually committed to repaying any money until the civil suit was resolved. Trustee not having alleged that the civil suit was resolved, the Trustee cannot establish the third element of the second cause of action.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to GRANT the motion to the extent of awarding Trustee judgment on the first claim for relief. Trustee to address the next steps in light of this tentative ruling.

Docket 24

Tentative Ruling:

9/18/19

BACKGROUND

On June 24, 2017, Jaspar & Brenda Stevens ("Debtors") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On October 10, 2017, Debtors received a discharge, and the case was closed the next day.

On July 24, 2019, UST filed a motion to reopen the case so that Trustee could investigate a proposed settlement of a lawsuit; the case was reopened the same day. On August 16, 2019, Trustee filed a motion to approve compromise. The compromise relates to the settlement of the state court litigation initially commenced by Debtors against Ocwen Loan Servicing, LLC. The material terms of the compromise are that Trustee shall execute a request for dismissal of the state court litigation in return for $50,000.

On August 28, 2019, Debtors filed an opposition to the compromise motion. Debtors argue that the state court lawsuit was properly abandoned upon the conclusion of Debtors' bankruptcy case, and that, as a result, the claims are not property of the estate and cannot be compromised by Trustee. On September 10, 2019, Trustee filed a reply arguing that the state court litigation was not abandoned.

The relevant material facts are not in dispute. Debtors concede that the litigation was not disclosed on their schedules. Trustee concedes that the litigation was disclosed on the statement of financial affairs. The parties dispute revolves around the interpretation of the word "scheduled" in 11 U.S.C. § 554(c).

DISCUSSION

11 U.S.C. § 554(c) states: "Unless the court orders otherwise, any property scheduled under section 521(a)(1) of this title not otherwise administered at the time of the closing of a case is abandoned to the debtor and administered for purposes of section 350 of this title." "Unless the court orders otherwise, property of the estate that is not abandoned under this section and that is not administered in the case remains property of the estate." 11 U.S.C. § 554(d). 11 U.S.C. § 521(a)(1) states

- (a) The debtor shall
 - (1) file
 - (A) a list of creditors; and
 - (B) unless the court orders otherwise –
 - (i) a schedule of assets and liabilities;
 - (ii) a schedule of current income and current expenditures
 - (iii) a statement of the debtor's financial affairs and, if section 342(b) applies, a certificate –

(I) of an attorney whose name is indicated on the petition as the attorney for the debtor, or a bankruptcy petition preparer signing the petition under section 110(b)(1), indicating that such attorney or the bankruptcy petition preparer delivered to the debtor the notice required by section 342(b); or

(II) if not attorney is no indicated, and no bankruptcy petition preparer signed the petition, of the debtor that such notice was received and read by the debtor;

(iv) copies of all payment advices or other evidence of payment received within 60 days before the date of the filing of the petition, by the debtor from any employer of the debtor;

(v) a statement of the amount of monthly net income, itemized to show how the amount is calculated; and

(vi) a statement disclosing any reasonably anticipated increase in income or expenditures over the 12-month period following the date of the filing of the petition

Debtors primarily rely upon In re Hill, 195 B.R. 147 (Bankr. D.N.M. 1996). Trustee

implicitly concedes that In re Hill supports Debtors' position, but Trustee argues that "In re Hill relied on an erroneous statutory interpretation, went against policy and authority in relieving debtors of their obligations and consequences, and was essentially disposed of on other grounds that section 554(c), and should therefore not be followed by this Court." [Dkt. No. 30, pg. 7, lines 22-24]. In re Hill concluded that:

The language of § 521 itself supports a broader reading of "scheduled" in § 554(c), because the paragraph which follows paragraph § 521(1) makes a particular reference to "debtor's schedule of assets and liabilities." The use of this specific reference strongly suggests that the drafts of the Code will say "schedule of assets and liabilities" when that narrow requirement is intended, and that a reference to § 521(1) is a reference to § 521(1) as a whole.

Id. at 150; see also U.S. ex rel. Fortenberry v. Holloway Group, Inc., 515 B.R. 827 (W.D. Okla. 2014) ("In other words the Court finds that the 'scheduled' requirement in § 554(c) refers to all of the disclosures required in § 521(a)(1), including the debtor's statement of financial affairs.").

On the other hand, Trustee points to multiple cases from the Bankruptcy Appellate Panel which held that "[m]entioning an asset in the statement of financial affairs is not the same as scheduling it for purposes of abandonment under § 554(c)." In re Pretscher-Johnson, 2017 WL 2779977 at *5 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2017); In re Kayne, 453 B.R. 372 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2011) (same); see also In re Fossey, 119 B.R. 268 (D. Utah 1990) ("The case have held that the word 'scheduled' in § 554(c) refers to property listed in the debtor's Schedule of Assets and Liabilities."). While Debtor has provided a recent Bankruptcy Appellate Panel case which seems to backtrack from the Panel's earlier position to a degree, as noted by Trustee, the reasoning in In re Tadayon, 2019 WL 1923044 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2019) is less than clear, bordering on bizarre.

Noting that the majority of the caselaw on this issue favors the position of the Trustee, the Court is inclined to conclude that the listing of the pending lawsuit in the statement of financial affairs is inadequate to trigger a technical abandonment of that asset pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 554(c). While the Court acknowledges that the drafting of § 554(c) is somewhat ambiguous given that the statute could refer to § 521(a)(1)(B)(i), instead of § 521(a)(1) generally, the use of the word "scheduled" must be interpreted in relation to the preparation of "schedules." Divorcing the verb "scheduled" from the noun "schedules" does not appear to be a reasonable approach to statutory interpretation, especially considering that in other sections, the Code includes the phrase "neither listed nor scheduled under section 521(a)(1)." 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(3).

Turning to the compromise motion, FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 9019 provides that:

On motion by the trustee and after notice and a hearing, the court may approve a compromise or settlement. Notice shall be given to creditors, the United States trustee, the debtor, and indenture trustees as provided in Rule 2002 and to any other entity as the court may direct.

The Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals have previously outlined the factors to be considered in approving a compromise pursuant to Rule 9019: (1) the probability of success in the litigation; (2) the difficulties to be encountered in the matter of collection; (3) the complexity, expense, inconvenience and delay of litigation; and (4) the interest of creditors with deference to their reasonable views. See In re A&C Props., 784 F.2d 1377, 1381 (9th Cir. 1986). The listed factors assist the Court in determining "the fairness, reasonableness and adequacy of a proposed settlement agreement." Id.

Here, the evidence before the Court is insufficient to assess the "fairness, reasonableness and adequacy" of the compromise. Specifically, the Court notes that the compromise motion does not include any meaningful detail regarding the nature of the state court litigation to be compromise, nor does the motion contain any description of the amount of damages sought in state court. Because of this absence of information, the Court is wholly unable to assess the reasonableness of the $50,000 to be received by the bankruptcy estate.

Debtor had a previous Chapter 13 case dismissed on March 28, 2019. Pursuant to the operation of 11 U.S.C. § 362(c)(3)(A), the automatic stay, absent further order of the Court, was set to terminate on May 19, 2019. On May 7, 2019, Debtor filed a motion to continue the automatic stay and a corresponding application shortening time. The Court, however, denied the application shortening time and, therefore, the automatic stay expired pursuant to the operation of § 362(c)(3)(A) on May 19, 2019. On that basis, the Court will GRANT the motion, confirming that the automatic stay is longer in effect.

Docket 13

Tentative Ruling:

11/19/2019

Service is Improper
Opposition: None

First of all, the Court notes that Local Rule 9013-1(d) requires matters that are to be set for hearing to be served on twenty-one days' notice. Here, Movant served this motion twenty days prior to the scheduled hearing.

More importantly, 11 U.S.C. § 362(h)(1)(A) provides:

(h)(1) In a case in which the debtor is an individual, the stay provided by subsection (a) is terminated with respect to personal property of the estate or of the debtor securing in whole or in part a claim, or subject to an unexpired lease, and such personal property shall no longer be property of the estate if the debtor fails within the applicable time set by section 521(a)(2) –

(A) to file timely any statement of intention required under section 521(a)(2) with respect to such personal property or to indicate in such statement that the debtor will either surrender such personal property or retain it and, if retaining such personal property, either redeem such personal property pursuant to section 722, enter into an agreement of the kind specified in section 524(c)

(emphasis added). Here, Debtor failed to address the subject collateral in his statement of intention. Therefore, the automatic stay has terminated as a matter of law. The Court is inclined to DENY the motion as MOOT.

Docket 13

Tentative Ruling:

11/19/2019

Debtor had a bankruptcy case dismissed in the previous calendar year after failing to perform the terms of a plan confirmed by the Court. Therefore, pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(c)(3)(C)(i)(II)(cc), the instant bankruptcy case is presumed to have been filed in bad faith. Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(c)(3)(C), the Court requires "clear and convincing" evidence to rebut the presumption of bad faith. Here, Debtor has not provided clear evidence regarding a change in circumstance, only asserting that their income and expenses have "stabilized." More importantly, the secured creditor was not served pursuant to FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 7004(h) as required by the Court's procedures for hearings on motions to continue the automatic stay. For all these reasons, the Court is inclined to DENY the motion.

Judge Houle's self-calendaring procedures require that motions to continue the automatic stay that are set on shortened notice must be served on secured creditors pursuant to FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 7004. Here, it does not appear that either of the secured creditors, United Wholesale Mortgage and Fast Auto Loans, were served pursuant to Rule 7004, with the former being served at a PO Box. The Court also notes that the face page of the motion simple states that notice is being directed to "all interested parties" rather than identifying the specific secured creditors. Moreover, as to the merits, the evidence does not address the cost of "other forms of treatment" that Debtor will incur, and whether those costs are covered by insurance. Therefore, the Court is inclined to CONTINUE the hearing on the motion for proper service of an amended motion.

#1.00 Motion to Reopen Chapter 7 Case

EH__

Docket 49

Tentative Ruling:

MOTION TO REOPEN CASE TO AVOID LIEN

11/20/19

BACKGROUND

On January 26, 2011, Maximino Romero Torres and Rebecca Anne Torres (collectively "Debtors") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On May 19, 2011, Debtors' debts were discharged, and, on May 23, 2011, Debtors' Chapter 7 voluntary petition was closed.

Eight years later on February 15, 2019, Debtors filed a motion to reopen their Chapter 7 case (the "First Reopening Motion"). (Dkt. No. 25). The motion alleges that Debtors were unaware of Ford Motor Credit Company, LLC ("Ford") recording an abstract of judgment. (Dkt. No. 49, Ex. B). The balance due on the judgment was $10,441.08. Id. Debtors prayed for the court to reopen the case, so they can avoid the lien.

The Court, after reviewing the motion, granted the motion, opening the case for sixty days from entry of the order. Debtor then filed a motion to avoid the Ford lien ("First Avoidance Motion"). Debtors claim that the homestead exemption is impaired by the Ford's lien, which was a judicial lien.

The Court denied the First Avoidance Motion without prejudice, stating there was insufficient evidence in support of the exemption amount and the fair market value of the property. (Dkt. No. 30). The case remained opened, so Debtors filed a second motion to avoid the lien ("Second Avoidance Motion"). (Dkt. No. 32). The Court denied the Second Avoidance Motion as well for a myriad of reasons: (1) the Debtors put the incorrect amount of their homestead exemption, including that the appraisal amount of the property is markedly less than what Debtors allege to be the fair market value; (2) Debtors did not provide the current amount of the lien; (3) Debtors did not serve Ford, etc.

Again, the Debtors filed another motion to avoid the lien ("Third Avoidance Motion") addressing the Court's reasons for denying the Second Avoidance Motion. Like the prior motions, the Court found the Third Avoidance Motion incomplete and inaccuracies abound. By order entered on October 9, 2019, the Court denied the Third Avoidance Motion without prejudice. On the same day the Court denied the Third Avoidance Motion, the case was closed because sixty days had passed.

The Debtors now filed another motion to reopen the case (the "Second Motion to Reopen").

DISCUSSION

Of note, Debtors' motion fails to reference as of the prior history of attempting to avoid the lien.

11 U.S.C §350(b):

"A case may be reopened...to administer assets, to accord relief to the Debtor, or for other cause."

In this motion, the Debtors request to reopen the case to have a lien removed by a Ford Motor Credit Company ("Ford"). (Dkt. No. 49, Pg 3).

"[B]ankruptcy courts consider several factors in determining whether to reopen a case, including, but not limited to...the length of time that the case was closed." In re Easley-Brooks, 487 B.R. 400, 407 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y 2013). "The mere passage of time does weigh against reopening and requires a greater showing of cause to support reopening...It is essential to the creditors as it is desirable to the bankrupt that this element of certainty be destroyed only for the most compelling cases." In re Consol. Freight Corp., 554 B.R. 396, 402 (C. D. Ca. 2016).

"While the passage of time in itself does not constitute prejudice to the opposing party, a delay may be prejudicial when combined with other factors such as court costs and attorney's fee in state-court proceedings." Redmond v. Fifth Third Bank, 624 F.3d 793, 799 (7th Cir. 2010). In this situation, the Debtors did not become aware of the lien until the creditors filed an application for and renewal of Judgment in the Superior Court of California on November 9, 2018. (Dkt. No. 49, Pg 3). Ford presumably had to incur fees and costs to renew the judgment. Second, an eight-year delay is excessive, and the Debtors' repeated failures to avoid the lien when the case was previously opened weigh against allowing a subsequent reopening.

The debtors' reason—because they claim the case has not been fully administered—does not in these circumstances establish the greater showing of cause to support reopening. For these reasons, the Court is inclined to deny the motion.

TENTATIVE RULING

For the reasons stated above, including Debtors' repeated failure to avoid the lien, the prejudice to the creditor due to the passage of time, the Court is inclined to DENY the motion.

APPEARANCES REQUIRED.

#2.00 Motion Objecting To Debtor's Exemptions

EH__

Docket 62

Tentative Ruling:

11/20/19

BACKGROUND

On November 6, 2018, Joseph F. Mark ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. Debtor converted his petition to a Chapter 7 voluntary petition on March 21, 2019. Lynda T. Bui was subsequently appointed as the Chapter 7 Trustee ("Trustee").

Debtor filed exemptions under Cal. Civ. Code §703.140. (Dkt. No.1, Schedule C). On April 23, 2019, Debtor, in the initial meeting of the creditors, testified to the Trustee, that he was married and had moved out of his martial home. He later provided his martial license. Based on Cal. Civ. Code. §703.140(a)(2), the exemptions that the debtor claimed, if he is married and filing separately, can only be utilized if both spouses signed a waiver.

The Trustee, therefore, requested a waiver signed by the Debtor and the non-filing spouse. The Debtor informed the Trustee that his spouse would not sign the waiver. While the request for a waiver was pending, Debtor filed an amended Schedule A/B and C. (Dkt. No. 44). However, Debtor still maintained the exemptions provided by §703.140(b)(1) et seq.

The Trustee request that the Debtor amend his Schedule C to use exemptions under Cal. Civ. Code §704.100, non-bankruptcy state exemption, and turnover his 2018 tax refunds. This motion was filed on October 30, 2019, and the continued meeting of the creditors is set for November 4, 2019.

Chapter 7

DISCUSSION

Cal. Civ. Code §703.140(a) provides that debtor must use the California exemptions pursuant to Cal. Civ. Code §704.010 et seq., unless Debtor obtains a waiver from his non-filing spouse. Not having done so, and having only claimed federal exemptions under Cal. Civ. Code §703.140(b)(1) et seq., the objection is sustained.

Having sustain Trustee's objection to Debtor's claimed exemption in the 2018 Tax refunds, the request for turnover of those tax refunds is granted.

TENTATIVE RULING

For the reasons stated above, the Court is inclined to SUSTAIN the objection to the claimed exemptions and TURNOVER 2018 Federal and State tax returns.

Debtor had a bankruptcy case dismissed in the previous calendar year after failing to perform the terms of a plan confirmed by the Court. Therefore, pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(c)(3)(C)(i)(II)(cc), the instant bankruptcy case is presumed to have been filed in bad faith. Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(c)(3)(C), the Court requires "clear and convincing" evidence to rebut the presumption of bad faith. Here, Debtor has not provided clear evidence regarding a change in circumstance, only asserting that their income and expenses have "stabilized." More importantly, the secured creditor was not served pursuant to FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 7004(h) as required by the Court's procedures for hearings on motions to continue the automatic stay. For all these reasons, the Court is inclined to DENY the motion.

BACKGROUND

On June 29, 2016, John E. Tackett and Ellen O. Tackett (collectively "Debtors") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. As part of their petition, Debtors were appointed Steven M. Speier, their ("Trustee"). The Trustee filed an adversary proceeding against Conestoga Settlement Services, LLC, a Delaware Corporation, et al (collectively "Defendants"), including Michael Woods ("Woods") and Jeff Converse ("Converse"), roughly two years later, June 20, 2018.

Debtors' claim against Defendants arose from an allegedly unsuited investment. In 2012, Ellen O. Tackett ("Mrs. Tackett") inherited an interest in property located at 716 Bayonne Street, El Segundo, California (the "Property"), along with her sibling, Evelyn. Evelyn paid Mrs. Tackett, through a loan, $300,000 for her interest. $50,000 of the payment went to Debtors' debts, home repairs, and other miscellaneous expenses, leaving $250,000.

In April 2012, Debtors meet Converse in Las Vegas at a weekend-long Amway convention. Debtors were acquainted with Converse from prior Amway related interactions. A conversation developed amongst the parties. Converse brought-up an opportunity to invest in life settlements with John Tackett ("Mr. Tackett"). Converse and Mr. Tackett agreed to continue the conversation at a later date.

Later in the month, Converse met Debtors at a Panera Bread in Riverside, California. During the meeting, Converse stated he was a selling agent for Conestoga Settlement Services, LLC, ("Conestoga") and discussed Conestoga's life settlement investment opportunities:

"[I]n a life settlement contract, the beneficiary under a life insurance policy sells his or her interest to a third party, who in turns becomes the beneficiary who will receive the insurance benefit when the insured dies. The purchaser effectively wagers that the insured will die soon enough that the total of the cash paid to acquire the policy, plus the premiums that must be paid to keep the policy in force, will be less than the ultimate death benefit, yielding a positive return."
(Ellen O. Tackett Decl., ¶6; John E. Tackett Decl., ¶4.)

Converse stated several Amway Diamonds—Amway distributors who had achieved a certain level of success—were making life settlement investments. Converse then mentioned Woods, an Amway Diamond who resided in Texas, with whom Debtors were familiar with, was involved with Conestoga. Converse did qualify this investment opportunity by stating that it may not be suitable for Debtors and he would have to talk to his supervisors about their participation.

After two to five days later, Converse called the Debtors and informed them that they were qualified and approved by his "supervisors." Another meeting took place in late April or early May. At this meeting, Converse stated that his "supervisors" would prefer that Debtors invest $250,000 that Mrs. Tackett's received for her interest in the inherited Property. Debtors did not state how Converse was aware of such funds being available to them.

A third meeting was arranged. At this meeting, Debtors had questions about information presented to them in the prior meeting. Converse explained that the investment would be for the purchase of a percentage of each policy, and a portion of the fund would be held in a reserve account in case the insured outlived his or her life expectancy dates.

Converse stated that there was approximately five years of premium monies that would be held in an escrow amount on each policy. After the insured passed away, Converse told Debtors the money in the escrow account would be returned to them or reinvested into other policies.

Another meeting was arranged for Debtors to sign the contract ("Life Settlement Agreement") and purchase interest in the life policies. When Converse arrived, he told the Debtors that he was rushing because he had booked another meeting too close in time with that of Debtors. Without thoroughly reviewing the Life Settlement Agreement, Debtors signed parts of the contract that were tagged in advance by Converse or another party and deposited $30,000 to Converse.

The contract indicated that Debtors became fractional owners of eight policies with premium ranging from 75 to 85.5 months. Since Converse stated that life expectancies for the insured were less than 55 months, Debtors were at ease with this margin. A fifth meeting took place where Debtors deposited $220,000 with Converse.

In 2013, Mr. Tackett, employed as a probation officer, was injured in a ground defense training class. The injury, unfortunately serious, drastically reduced his ability to work. Mrs. Tackett, the sole caretaker of Mr. Tackett, was unable to substitute Mr. Tackett's income. This led to Debtors filing for bankruptcy.

On January 16, 2017, Conestoga sent Debtors a notice, informing them that money in the reserve account had been depleted. Pursuant to the Life Settlement Agreement, for Debtors to maintain their interest in their life policies, they would have to contribute their pro-rate share of the premiums due. On February 13, 2017, Trustee's counsel, being aware of this notice, notified Conestoga, through a letter, of the automatic stay and the consequences of violating it.

On February 20, 2017, Conestoga's counsel communicated he had received the notice and proposed to buy Debtors' interest. Unfortunately, the parties were unable to negotiate a settlement.

Since the initial notice given to Debtors about the premium call, eight of the nine policies, the insured had outlived his or her life expectancy. However, Debtors believe that the premium calls were premature. After reviewing the Life Settlement Agreement, Debtors, because Woods name appeared at the top of the coverage page under "Independent Contractor," believe Woods is the supervisor Converse alluded to. Trustee now files a motion asking for the court to grant a default judgment against Woods.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Trustee filed an adversary proceeding against Defendants on June 20, 2018, which was timely served. Defendants had until July 20, 2018 to file and serve a written response to the Trustee's complaint. Defendants filed a response, asking for the court to dismiss the case, on July 30, 2019.

Trustee then filed a request for the clerk to enter a default judgment due to the untimely response of the Defendants. The clerk obliged, entering a default judgment against Defendants on August 8, 2018. Conestoga Settlement Services, LLC; Conestoga International, LLC; and Conestoga Trust (collectively, "Conestoga Entities") disputed that the service was proper. On September 7, 2018, Trustee and Conestoga Entities agreed that the Trustee would set aside the default judgment if they accept service as proper. The stipulation agreement was granted, and Conestoga Entities had until September 28, 2018 to file their response.

Conestoga Entities filed an answer to the complaint on October 1, 2018 and asked for extending time to respond to the complaint. The motion was granted on October 12, 2018. Conestoga Entities did not file another answer. Roughly a year later, Trustee filed this motion, requesting a default judgment against Woods.

DISCUSSION

A. Entry of Default

FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 55 states that "[w]hen a party against whom a judgment for affirmative relief is sought has failed to plead or otherwise defend as provided by these rules and that fact is made to appear by affidavit or otherwise, the clerk shall enter the party's default." Fed. R. Civ. P. 55(a). Local Rule 7055-1 provides further requirements relating to a motion for entry of default judgment, and those requirements have been substantially satisfied here.

B. Motion for Default Judgment

I. Proper Service of Summons and Complaint

FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 7004(b)(1) states, in part:

[S]ervice may be made within the United States by first class mail postage prepaid as follows..

- (1) Upon an individual other than an infant or incompetent, by mailing a copy of the summons and complaint to the individual's dwelling house or usual place of abode or to the place where the individual regularly conducts a business or profession.

Here, it appears that the motion for default judgment has been properly served.

II. Complaint as True

Upon default, the factual allegations of the complaint, except those relating to the amount of damages, will be taken as true. TeleVideo Systems, Inc. v. Heidenthal, 826 F.2d 915, 917 (9th Cir. 1987); see also Almog v. Golden Summit Investors Group, Ltd., 2012 WL 12867972 at *4 (C.D. Cal. 2012) (stating that when reviewing a motion for default judgment, the Court must accept the well-pleaded allegations of the complaint relating to liability as true.).

Chapter 7

I. Subject Matter Jurisdiction

This Court has subject matter jurisdiction pursuant to U.S.C §157(b)(1)—Bankruptcy Judges may hear and determine all cases under title 11 and all core proceedings arising under title 11—and 28 U.S.C. §1334. Trustee has asserted a claim arising under title 11, a Chapter 7 voluntary petition, and the matter concerns the administration of an estate. U.S.C §157(b)(2)(A).

II. Venue

Venue is proper pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §1409(a):

"Except as otherwise provided in subsections (b) and (d), a proceeding arising under title 11 or arising in or related to a case under title 11 may be commenced in the district court in which such case is pending."

Debtors' lead bankruptcy case (16-15813) is currently pending in this Court.

III. Personal Jurisdiction

Personal Jurisdiction of an out-of-state defendant is appropriate if the relevant state's long arm-statue permits the assertion of jurisdiction without violating federal due process. Schwarzenegger v. Fred Martin Motor Co. 374, F.3d 797, 800 (9th Cir. 2004). Due process requires that non-residents have certain "minimum contacts" with the forum state. Int'l Shoe Co. v. Washington, 326. U.S. 310, 316 (1945).

Chapter 7

In California the Ninth Circuit has articulated a three-prong test:

- (1) the non-resident defendant must purposefully direct his activities or consummate some transaction in the forum or resident thereof, or perform some act by which it purposeful avails itself of the privilege of conducting activities in the forum, thereby invoking the benefits and protections of forum's laws;
- (2) the claim must be one which arises out of or relates to the defendant's forum-related activities; and
- (3) the exercise of jurisdiction must comport with the fair play and substantial justice. Lake v. Lake, 817 F.2d 1416, 1421 (9th Cir. 1987).

a. Purposeful Direction

To determine if the first prong is satisfied, because the Trustee alleges fraud, a purposeful direction analysis must be used. Schwarzenegger, 374 F.3d at 802 (stating that purposeful direction analysis is used in tort-related claims). A three part-test is utilized in the purposeful analysis—the Calder-effects test. Calder v. Jones, 465 U.S. 783 (1984). Under this test, the defendant allegedly must have (1) committed an intentional act, (2) expressly aimed at the forum state, and (3) causing harm that the defendant know is likely to be suffered in the forum state. Id.

Accepting all the allegations as true in the Trustee complaint, the Court finds that Woods, involved with Conestoga in some manner, with Converse, defrauded Californians into purchasing investments unsuitable for them.

b. Forum Related Activities

The second prong requires that the Trustee's claim shows that Debtors would not have been injured "but for" the defendant's forum-related conduct. Myers v. Bennet Law Offices, 238 F.3d 1068, 1075 (9th Cir. 2001). Trustee claims that Debtors would not have suffered injury but for Converse's conduct, who is believed to be an agent of Woods.

c. Reasonableness

The third prong requires that the court consider seven factors:

- (1) The extent of defendant's purposeful interjection;
- (2) the burden on defendant in defending in the forum;
- (3) the extent of conflict with the sovereignty of defendant's state;
- (4) the forum state's interest in adjudicating the suit;
- (5) the most efficient judicial resolution of the controversy;
- (6) the importance of the forum to the plaintiff's interest in convenient and effective relief; and
- (7) the existence of an alternative forum. Core-Vent Corp. v. Nobel Indust. AB, 11 F.3d 1482, 1487 (9th Cir. 1993).

In engaging in this analysis, no one factor is dispositive. Id. at 1488. With respect to the first factor, Trustee has shown that Woods had intentional and continuous contact with California. Woods was listed as an "Independent Contractor" on the Life Settlement Agreement's coverage page. (John E. Tackett Decl. ¶15). Woods was associated with Conestoga, which was selling securities in the State of California.

As to the second factor, there is nothing in the record or that the Court can see that indicating that it would be inconvenient for Woods to litigate this lawsuit in California.

Looking at the third factor, Trustee claims arise under federal law and California Law. Thus, there is no potential conflict with another state's law or regulation. Thus, this weighs in favor of the Trustee.

Trustee is headquartered in California, and Debtors are residence of California. Californian courts, including this Court, have a strong interest in protecting California citizens and domestic businesses from the wrongful acts of a non-resident defendant.

As to the fifth factor, most of the evidence and witnesses are based in Riverside, California. Converse met with Debtors multiple times at a Panera Bread in Riverside, where the contract was signed.

Turning to the sixth factor, while it may not be as convenient for the Trustee to litigate this matter outside of California, there is nothing in the record suggesting that convenient and effective relief is unavailable in a different forum. Thus, this factor is neutral.

Evaluating the seventh factor, the Court finds that this factor is neutral for the same reasons stated above. Thus, taking all the foregoing factors into consideration, the Court finds that personal jurisdiction over Woods in this action is appropriate.

D. Analysis of Judgment by Default

To obtain a default judgment, a two-step process is required: "(1) entry of party's default (normally by the clerk), and (2) entry of a default judgment[, which can be given by the Clerk if the sum is certain or by the Court in all other cases]". In re McGee, 359 B.R. 765 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2006). The Trustee has admitted that the sum in this claim is certain, so such an entry of default by the Clerk could be appropriate. However, this motion has provided additional support for the calculation of damages.

The complaint includes fraud, negligent misrepresentation, violation of securities qualification requirements, and misrepresentation in the sale of securities. The Trustee asks to be awarded interest and punitive damages as well as the full invested amount, $250,000. Before the Court can address the Trustee claims, it must determine if the pleadings support a finding of a principal-agent relationship between Woods and Converse since all the claims against Woods are based on the allegation that Converse is the agent of Woods

I. Agent

A principal-agent relationship can be created by one of two ways:

- (1) actual authority—"an agent acts with actual authority when, at the time of taking action that has legal consequences for the principal, the agent reasonable believes, in accordance with the principal's manifestations to the agent, that the principal wishes the agent so to act—or
- (2) apparent authority—"the power held by an agent...to affect a principal's legal relationship with third parties when a third party reasonably believes the actor has authority to act on behalf and that belief is traceable to the principal's manifestation. Restatement (Third) of Agency §§ 2.01 and 2.03.

Because there is no declaration provided by Converse, the pleading does not provide support for actual authority. Nor does the complaint allege sufficient facts to establish an agency relationship.

However, there may be evidence of apparent authority. "Apparent authority 'must be established by proof of something said or done by the principal on which [a third part] reasonably relied'; it 'cannot be established merely by showing that [the purported agent] claimed authority or purported to exercise it.'" Pascal v. Agentra, LLC, 2019 U.S. Dist. Lexis 179359, *10 (Cal. Dist. Ct. App. 2019) (quoting Nat'l Labor Relations Bd. v. Dist. Counsel of Iron Works, 124 F.3d 1094, 1099 (9th Cir. 1997)).

Examples of an establishment of apparent authority would be the "principal's direct statement to the third party, directions to the agent to tell something to the third person, or the granting of permission to the agent to perform acts and conduct negotiations under circumstances which create in him a reputation of authority in the area which the agent acts and negotiates." Id. No evidence of this kind was presented in the pleading. Thus, the Trustee does not plead sufficient facts to support an apparent authority that Woods is vicariously liable for the acts purportedly perpetrated by Converse.

Furthermore, evidence of ratification is also not present in the pleading. Ratification is "the affirmance of a prior act done by another, whereby the act is given effect as if done by an agent acting with actual authority." Kristensen v. Credit Payment Serv., 879 F.3d 1010, 1014 (9th Cir. 2018). A principal can be found liable when he or she ratifies an originally unauthorized tort. Id.

However, here the Debtors' declaration simply reflects that Woods' name appears on the cover page of the Life Settlement Agreement under "Independent Contractor Name." Nothing in the claim establishes such proof of a principal-agent relationship nor ratification of the agents authorized conduct.

TENTATIVE RULING

Thus, the Court is inclined to DENY the motion for default judgment.

#18.00 Motion for Order Determining Value of Collateral

Docket 20

Tentative Ruling:

11/21/19

BACKGROUND

On August 30, 2019, Michelle Rayner ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. Among the assets of the estate is a couch (the "Property"). Pursuant to Schedule D, Genesis Credit ("Creditor") holds a security interest in the Property..

On July 19, 2019, Debtor filed a motion to value the Property. Debtor asserts that the Property should be valued at $540.

DISCUSSION

One of the benefits of filing a Chapter 13 bankruptcy is that under § 506(a) the debtor can bifurcate a secured, unavoidable debt, with one part representing the amount of the value of the collateral, and the deficiency being treated as an unsecured claim. See In re Penrod, 636 F.3d 1175, 1177 (9th Cir. 2011).

Chapter 13

Presently, the Ninth Circuit has not established a uniform method for valuations. See In re Ayres, 2010 WL 652825 at *5 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. 2010) (collecting cases detailing vehicle valuation and describing the state of the law in the Ninth Circuit). In In re Morales, however, which this Court has previously cited with approval, it was determined that value should be calculated "by adjusting the Kelley Blue Book or N.A.D.A. Guide retail value for a like vehicle by a reasonable amount in light of the evidence presented regarding the condition of the vehicle or any other relevant factors." In re Morales, 387 B.R. 36, 45 (Bankr.C.D.Cal.2008).

According to the court in In re Morales, the retail values, and not the private party values, are the appropriate starting points because the text of § 506(a)(2) refers to "the price a retail merchant would charge" and does not refer to the price a private party would charge. Morales at 46.

Here, Debtor has provided a Splitwise report identifying value of the Property. The Splitwise report states the following: "This number is not based on market prices, but on depreciation, which we believe is a better basis for fairness. This number is NOT a professional estimate, and is intended primarily for roommates buying and selling shared furniture." Pursuant to the caselaw cited above, the Court requires evidence of the Property's retail value, and adequate evidence to justify any deviations therefrom. The Splitwise report, by its own description, does not meet that standard.

Tentative Ruling:

The Court is inclined to DENY the motion.

APPEARANCES REQUIRED.

EH __

Docket 16

Tentative Ruling:

11/21/19

BACKGROUND

On September 10, 2019, Maria & Armando Barrera ("Debtors") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. On September 30, 2019, Debtors' case was dismissed for failure to file case commencement documents.

On October 11, 2019, UST filed a motion for an order compelling attorney to file disclosure of compensation pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 329. On October 14, 2019, Debtor's attorney, Nathan Fransen ("Counsel"), filed the disclosure of compensation. Counsel also filed a declaration in response to UST's motion, stating that the failure to file the disclosure of compensation was an oversight.

Any attorney representing a debtor in a case under this title, or in connection with such a case, whether or not such attorney applies for compensation under this title, shall file with the court a statement of the compensation paid or agreed to be paid, if such payment or agreement was made after one year before the date of the filing of the petition, for services rendered or to be rendered in contemplation of or in connection with the case by such attorney, and the source of such compensation.

FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 2016(b) provides further details regarding the requirements imposed by § 329.

Here, Counsel has filed the required disclosure of compensation. The Court will retain jurisdiction over any matter relating to § 329 to allow UST to review the filed disclosure of compensation.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to DENY the motion as MOOT and retain jurisdiction over any matter related to § 329.

MOVANT: EUGENIO GIUSEPPE MANNELLA

From: 11/12/19

EH__

Docket 7

Tentative Ruling:

TENTATIVE RULING:

11/12/19

Service: Proper
Opposition: None

The Court has reviewed the motion. Notice was improper because Debtor fail to include Cottonwood Canyon Hills Community Association and served the listed creditors eighteen days before the hearing, violating the regular notice requirements pursuant to LBR 9013-1. Thus, the Court will CONTINUE the motion, so Debtor can properly serve all the creditors involved and give them ample time to respond to the motion.

APPEARANCES REQUIRED.

TENTATIVE RULING:

12/3/19

Service: Proper

The Court has reviewed the motion: notice acceptable and no opposition has been filed. Reviewing Debtor's prior dismissals, the Court notes that six out of the seven petitions filed by Debtor were dismissed because Debtor failed to submit required documents. In this case, Debtor is represented by counsel. Appearing that Debtor has provided sufficient evidence to rebut the statutory presumption of 11 U.S.C. § 362(c)(4)(D)(i) that the case was not filed in good faith, the Court is inclined to GRANT the motion, IMPOSING the stay as to all creditors.

CASE DISMISSED 11/22/19

EH__

Docket 12

Tentative Ruling:

TENTATIVE RULING:

12/3/19

Service: Proper
Opposition: None

Debtors claim that their last case was dismissed because they were unaware of when their payment was due. This justification seems questionable, especially when Debtors were represented by counsel. Debtors, because of their failing in their prior petition, state they are now aware of when their plan payments will be due.

Furthermore, the Court is unable to opine on Debtors' Chapter 13 plan, which purports to pay creditors in full, because the file is corrupt. Last, the declaration presented is made by Christopher Lee Summer, who is not a debtor in this case. Thus, it appears that Debtors failed to provide sufficient evidence to rebut the statutory presumption of 11 U.S.C. § 362(c)(3)(C)(i) that the case was not filed in good faith. The Court is inclined to DENY the motion.

Debtors have decided to also represent themselves in this proceeding. Furthermore, Debtors have not stated any method or manner that will ensure the court such mistakes will not continue to happen. #7.00 United States Trustee's Motion to Extend Dismissal and Discharge deadlines

EH__

Docket 17

Tentative Ruling:

12/4/2019

BACKGROUND

On August 9, 2019, Robert Dupper & Amber Duncan ("Debtors") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. The meeting of creditors was originally set for September 9, 2019. On November 8, 2019, UST filed a motion for an extension of the deadlines to file a motion to dismiss the complaint or file an objection to discharge. UST's motion asserts that:

On the day the discharge and dismissal deadlines expired, the auditors notified the U.S. Trustee that they had discovered a material misstatement – that the Debtors failed to disclose a money market account containing approximately $21,400.

The U.S. Trustee wishes to continue the discharge and dismissal deadlines so that he can engage in discovery and evaluate whether grounds exist to deny the Debtors' discharge or to dismiss the bankruptcy case.

DISCUSSION

FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 1017(e)(1) states:

Except as otherwise provided in § 704(b)(2), a motion to dismiss a case for abuse under § 707(b) or (c) may be filed only within 60 days after the first date set for the meeting of creditors under § 341(a), unless, on request filed before the time has expired, the court for cause extends the time for filing the motion to dismiss.

FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 4004(a) states:

In a chapter 7 case, a complaint, or a motion under § 727(a)(8) or (9) of the Code, objecting to the debtor's discharge shall be filed no later than 60 days after the first date set for the meeting of creditors under § 341(a). In a chapter 11 case, the complaint shall be filed no later than the first date set for the hearing on confirmation. In a chapter 13 case, a motion objecting to the debtor's discharge under § 1328(f) shall be filed no later than 60 days after the first date set for the meeting of creditors under § 341(a). At least 28 days' notice of the time so fixed shall be given to the United States trustee and all creditors as provided in Rule 2002(f) and (k) and to the trustee and the trustee's attorney.

(1) On motion of any party in interest, after notice and hearing, the court may for cause extend the time to object to discharge. Except as provided in subdivision (b)(2), the motion shall be filed before the time has expired.

(2) A motion to extent the time to object to discharge may be filed after the time for objection has expired and before discharge is granted if (A) the objection is based on facts that, if learned after the discharge, would provide a basis for revocation under § 727(d) of the Code, and (B) the movant did not have knowledge of those facts in time to permit an objection. The motion shall be filed promptly after the movant discovers the facts on which the objection is based.

Here, the Court notes that the stated grounds justifying an extension of the deadlines recited above, that Debtors made a material misstatement in their bankruptcy documents, appears to either be contradicted or superseded by the report of audit filed on November 22, 2019.

TENTATIVE RULING

#8.00 Motion to Extend Time Chapter 7 Trustee's Motion for Order Extending Time to File Actions Under 11 U.S.C. § 546(a)

EH__

Docket 94

Tentative Ruling:

12/4/19

BACKGROUND

On December 8, 2017, Mark Bastorous and Bernadette Shenouda ("Debtors") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. Debtors' statement of financial affairs lists thirty-seven business entities related to Debtors.

On November 1, 2019, Trustee filed a motion for an order extending the time to file actions under 11 U.S.C. § 546(a). Trustee asserts that the financial affairs, including certain transfers, are still under investigation. Trustee requests that the deadline to file avoidance actions be extended to March 6, 2020. On November 19, 2019, the Court entered an order setting the matter for hearing.

- (a) An action or proceeding under section 544, 545, 547, 548, or 553 of this title may not be commenced after the earlier of –
- (1) the later of –
 - (A) 2 years after the entry of the order for relief; or
 - (B) 1 year after the appointment or election of the first trustee under section 702, 1104, 1163, 1202, or 1302 of this title if such appointment or such election occurs before the expiration of the period specified in subparagraph (A); or
 - (2) the time the case is closed or dismissed.

Here, application of § 546(a) would result in a deadline to file avoidance actions of December 8, 2019 – two years from the date Debtors filed their petition.

Trustee asserts that "[w]hen an extension of time is sought before the § 546 time period expires, the request is governed by the 'for cause' analysis under Rule 9006(b) of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure." The Court disagrees that FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 9006(b) applies to the request under consideration. Rule 9006(b) applies to situations where "an act is required or allowed to be done at or within a specified period by these rules or by a notice given thereunder or by order of court." Here, the deadline to file avoidance actions is not imposed by the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure or by order of this Court, but, rather, by the Bankruptcy Code itself. Therefore, Rule 9006(b) does not apply to this request.

The majority of courts have held that because the deadline imposed by 11 U.S.C. § 546(a) is not jurisdictional in nature, it may be waived by a defendant, either through failure to raise the defense or through stipulation. See, e.g., In re Pugh, 158 F.3d 530, 533-34 (5th Cir. 1998) (Section 546(a) statute of limitations is subject to waiver).

Additionally, the section 546(a) deadline is subject to equitable tolling. See, e.g., In re Milby, 875 F.3d 1229 (9th Cir. 2017). As the Ninth Circuit stated in In re Milby:

Chapter 7

The doctrine of equitable tolling is read into every federal statute of limitation. Indeed, we have previously applied equitable tolling to § 546(a)(1). A litigant seeking equitable tolling bears the burden of establishing two elements: (1) that he has been pursuing his rights diligently, and (2) that some extraordinary circumstance stood in his way and prevented timely filing.

Id. at 1232 (quotations and citations omitted). The Ninth Circuit standard outlined in Milby supports this Court's conclusion that Rule 9006(b) is not applicable to the instant situation because if a simple for cause standard was applicable, then the more rigorous standard for equitable tolling would be superfluous.

Here, Trustee has not provided any legal analysis or evidence to support a holding that equitable tolling is appropriate in the instant situation.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to DENY the motion or CONTINUE the matter for Trustee to file a supplemental brief and additional evidence.

#9.00 Motion to Disallow Claim No 3-1 of Jessica Ramirez

EH__

Docket 25

Tentative Ruling:

12/4/19

BACKGROUND:

On October 30, 2017, Trending Up ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On February 9, 2018, Trustee filed a notice of assets, and the claims bar date was set for May 15, 2018, although the Court notes that the only creditor listed in the schedules was Wells Fargo Bank.

On June 21, 2018, Jessica Ramirez ("Creditor") filed a proof of claim for a priority claim in the amount of $5,520.97 ("Claim 3"). On October 25, 2019, Trustee filed an objection to Claim 3, arguing that the claim does not contain adequate supporting information. Alternatively, Trustee argues that Claim 3 should be subordinated to timely filed claims.

APPLICABLE LAW:

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 502(a), a proof of claim is deemed allowed unless a party in interest objects. Absent an objection, a proof of claim constitutes prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claim under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy

Procedure ("FRBP") 3001(f). See Lundell v. Anchor Constr. Specialists, Inc., 223 F.3d 1035, 1039 (9th Cir. 2000). When a party files an objection to a proof of claim, that filing "creates a dispute which is a contested matter" within the meaning of FRBP 9014 and the Court must resolve the matter after notice and opportunity for hearing upon a motion for relief. Id.

When a creditor has filed a proof of claim that complies with the rules (thereby giving rise to the presumption of validity), the burden shifts to the objecting party who must "present evidence to overcome the prima facie case." In re Medina, 205 B.R. 216, 222 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1996). To defeat the claim, the objecting party must provide sufficient evidence and "show facts tending to defeat the claim by probative force equal to that of the allegations of the proofs of claim themselves." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039 (quoting In re Holm, 931 F.2d 620, 623 (9th Cir. 1991)). "The objector must produce evidence, which, if believed, would refute at least one of the allegations that is essential to the claim's legal sufficiency." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1040 (quoting In re Allegheny Int'l, Inc., 954 F.2d 167, 173-74 (3d Cir. 1992)). If the objecting party produces sufficient evidence to negate one or more of the sworn facts in the proof of claim, the burden reverts back to the claimant to prove the validity of the claim by a preponderance of the evidence. See In re Consol. Pioneer Mort, 178 B.R. 222, 226 (9th Cir. BAP 1995), aff'd, 91 F.3d 151 (9th Cir. 1996) (quoting Allegheny Int'l, 954 F.2d at 173-74). The ultimate burden of persuasion remains at all times on the claimant. See Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039; see also Holm, 931 F.2d at 623.

ANALYSIS:

Addressing Trustee's alternative argument, the Court notes Trustee appears to miss 11 U.S.C. § 726(a)(1) which allows priority claims to avoid subordination as long as the priority claim is filed before: (1) 10 days after the trustee's final report is mailed to creditors; and (2) trustee commences final distribution. Therefore, if Trustee does not succeed in having the claim disallowed, it cannot be subordinated.

Chapter 7

Turning to the adequacy of Claim 3, FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 3001(c)(1) states the following: "Except for a claim governed by paragraph (3) of this subdivision, when a claim, or an interest in property of the debtor securing the claim, is based on a writing, a copy of the writing shall be filed with the proof of claim." And FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 3001(f) implies that a proof of claim's prima facie validity depends upon the claim being "executed and filed in accordance with these rules." Furthermore, as noted by the BAP: "If the creditor does not provide information or is unable to support its claim, then that in itself may raise an evidentiary basis to object to the unsupported aspects of the claim, or even a basis for evidentiary sanctions, thereby coming within Section 502(b)'s grounds to disallow the claim." In re Heath, 331 B.R. 424, 437 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2005).

Here, Claim 3 simply contains a single, handwritten page which itemizes amounts Creditor asserts she is owed for: (1) wages; (2) wages; (3) liquidated damages pursuant to Labor Code Section 1194.2; and (4) additional wages accrued pursuant to Labor Code Section 203. Creditor does not provide any evidence: (a) detailing the calculation of the amounts requested; or (b) justifying her entitlement to the amounts requested. For those reasons, and noting that Claim 3 is not entitled to prima facie validity, the Court finds it appropriate to disallow the claim.

Finally, the Court deems Creditors' failure to oppose to be consent to the relief requested pursuant to Local Rule 9013-1(h).

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to SUSTAIN the objection, DISALLOWING Claim 3 in its entirety.

Chapter 7

As a preliminary matter, the Court notes that 11 U.S.C. § 501(c) states that: "If a creditor does not timely file a proof of such creditor's claim, the debtor or the trustee may file a proof of such claim." As outlined in FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 3004, the debtor and the trustee have thirty days once the claim filing deadline has passed to file a proof of claim on behalf of a creditor. Here, the deadline to file proofs of claims was December 11, 2013, yet Debtor filed Claim 17 on December 10, 2013. Therefore, Debtor technically filed the proof of claim prematurely.

Turning to the merits of Claim 17, FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 3001(c)(1) states the following: "Except for a claim governed by paragraph (3) of this subdivision, when a claim, or an interest in property of the debtor securing the claim, is based on a writing, a copy of the writing shall be filed with the proof of claim." And FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 3001(f) implies that a proof of claim's prima facie validity depends upon the claim being "executed and filed in accordance with these rules." Therefore, Claim 17 in this case is not entitled to prima facie validity.

Furthermore, as noted by the BAP: "If the creditor does not provide information or is unable to support its claim, then that in itself may raise an evidentiary basis to object to the unsupported aspects of the claim, or even a basis for evidentiary sanctions, thereby coming within Section 502(b)'s grounds to disallow the claim." In re Heath, 331 B.R. 424, 437 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2005). Here, Claim 17 contains no supporting information whatsoever and, despite now being given more than four months to provide such information or amend or supplement Claim 17, Creditors have taken no action. For that reason, and noting that Claim 17 is not entitled to prima facie validity, the Court finds it appropriate to disallow the claim.

Finally, the Court deems Creditors' failure to oppose to be consent to the relief requested pursuant to Local Rule 9013-1(h).

Tentative Ruling:

12/4/19

BACKGROUND

On March 22, 2011, Rene Ferrer & Lucia Lopez ("Debtors") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On July 27, 2011, Debtors received a discharge, and the case was subsequently closed.

On August 11, 2017, Debtors filed a motion to reopen their case to ensure they "complied with all requirements of the bankruptcy code for reporting a potential asset." [Dkt. No. 15]. On June 8, 2018, the case was reopened.

On June 29, 2018, Debtors filed amended schedules, disclosing a litigation claim against American Medical Systems, Inc. (the "Litigation Claim"), and exempting the Litigation Claim. On July 25, 2018, Trustee filed an objection to Debtors' claimed exemption in the Litigation Claim. Because Debtors claimed exemptions under both CAL. CIV. P. Code § 703 and § 704, the Court sustained Trustee's objection. On August 28, 2019, Debtors amended Schedule C again.

Chapter 7

On September 27, 2018, Trustee filed a motion to reconsider the order reopening the case, arguing that it was improper to allow Debtors to amend their schedules in the order reopening the case because Debtors had not met the standard required by FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 9006(b)(1). The same day, Trustee filed an objection to Debtors' amended exemptions. After Debtors filed a late opposition to Trustee's motion to reconsider, the Court continued the motion to reconsider and the objection to Debtors' claimed exemptions. Ultimately, the Court granted Trustee's motion to reconsider the order reopening the case, while striking Debtors amended schedules. [Dkt. No. 67]. The Court's order, entered December 26, 2018, permitted Debtors to file a motion for leave to amend their schedules, but no such motion was ever filed.

On October 17, 2019, Trustee filed a motion to approve a compromise of the Litigation Claim for $60,000. On November 7, 2019, the Court set the matter for hearing, requiring Trustee to file a supplement regarding the estimated valuation of the Litigation Claim. On November 22, 2019, Trustee filed its supplement.

DISCUSSION

FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 9019 provides that:

On motion by the trustee and after notice and a hearing, the court may approve a compromise or settlement. Notice shall be given to creditors, the United States trustee, the debtor, and indenture trustees as provided in Rule 2002 and to any other entity as the court may direct.

The Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals have previously outlined the factors to be considered in approving a compromise pursuant to Rule 9019: (1) the probability of success in the litigation; (2) the difficulties to be encountered in the matter of collection; (3) the complexity, expense, inconvenience and delay of litigation; and (4) the interest of creditors with deference to their reasonable expectations. See In re A&C Props., 784 F.2d 1377, 1381 (9th Cir. 1986). The listed factors assist the Court in determining "the fairness, reasonableness and adequacy of a proposed settlement agreement." Id.

Regarding the first factor, Trustee asserts that probability of success in the litigation is uncertain. Trustee notes that "Debtors' cooperation in future litigation is not assured," presumably because Debtors do not currently have an exemption in the Litigation Claim.

Regarding the second factor, Trustee asserts that there may be difficulties in collection because American Medical Systems, Inc. may be facing financial difficulties.

Regarding the third factor, Trustee asserts that it is likely that the Litigation Claim "would require vigorous and costly litigation in order to prosecute the matter to final judgment likely with the need for new personal injury counsel with experience in multidistrict litigation at great expense to the estate and its creditors.

Regarding the fourth factor, Trustee asserts that the settlement of the Litigation Claim obtains maximum value for the bankruptcy estate. In support of this assertion, Trustee's supplemental declaration indicates that the proposed compromise is approximately equal to the average amount obtained by class action plaintiffs in a settlement with Johnson & Johnson that also dealt with pelvic mesh implants, and is higher than the average amount obtained in a class action settlement with American Medical Systems Canada, Inc.

Having reviewed Trustee's motion and the supplement declaration, the Court concludes that Trustee has satisfied the A&C Properties test. Specifically, the Court notes that Trustee has supplied detailed and compelling evidence that the settlement of the Litigation Claim is in an amount equal to or greater than the average settlement amount for similar claims. Additionally, the complex nature of the lawsuit, the uncertain financial situation of American Medical Systems, Inc., and the possible non-cooperation of Debtors all weigh in favor of approval of the proposed compromise.

BACKGROUND

On September 15, 2017, Cleo Sonnenfeld ("Creditor") filed a Chapter 7 involuntary petition against Joshua Richardson ("Debtor"). On November 8, 2017, an order for relief was entered after Debtor stipulated to its entry. That same day, the Court entered an order approving a stipulation between Creditor, Debtor, and HLE Law Group ("HLE") which avoided a deed of trust recorded on June 20, 2017, in favor of HLE and against certain real property located at 13710 Oakley Dr., Moreno Valley, CA 92555 (the "Property").

On November 8, 2018, Trustee filed a motion to approve compromise; after two continuances, and the filing of a supplemental brief, the motion was granted pursuant to order entered January 3, 2019. The pertinent terms of the compromise are the following: (a) the Property is held in constructive trust for the benefit of Creditor, who holds a money judgment in the amount of $318,778.12; (b) Trustee is to sell the Property; (c) the funds otherwise payable on account of the avoided HLE lien constitute property of the estate; (d) the bankruptcy estate shall receive 30% of all sale proceeds in excess of $303,000 until such amount reaches $25,000; (e) Creditor to file an objection to Debtor's homestead exemption; (f) avoidance actions are assigned to Creditor, with Creditor to receive 70% of any recovery and the bankruptcy estate to receive the remaining 30%. On February 6, 2019, Creditor objected to Debtor's claimed homestead exemption; the objection was sustained on March 1, 2019. On July 23, 2019, the Court entered an order directing turnover of the Property and, on July 29, 2019, the Court approved Trustee's proposed sale of the Property. On September 18, 2019, the Court approved a stipulation between Trustee and Creditor relating to disbursement of the sale proceeds.

On August 9, 2019, Creditor filed a complaint against Gabriela Nieto Diaz and Laguna Motors, Inc. (collectively "Defendants"; individually "Diaz" and "Laguna Motors") for (1) avoidance, recovery, and preservation of preferential transfer; (2) avoidance of intentional fraudulent transfer; (3) avoidance and recovery of fraudulent transfer; and (4) recovery and preservation of avoided intentional transfer, constructive fraudulent transfer, and preferential transfer. On October 18, 2019, default was entered against Defendants. On October 31, 2019, Creditor filed a motion for default judgment.

Creditor's complaint relates to a loan in the amount of $200,900 received in September 2016 (the "Funds"). Creditor asserts that, on September 22, 2016, $112,662.10 of the Funds were transferred to a bank account held by Diaz ("Transfer 1"), and that, on September 26, 2017, Diaz transferred $82,000 to Laguna Motors ("Transfer 2").

DISCUSSION

A. Entry of Default

FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 55 states that "[w]hen a party against whom a judgment for affirmative relief is sought has failed to plead or otherwise defend as provided by these rules and that fact is made to appear by affidavit or otherwise, the clerk shall enter the party's default." Fed. R. Civ. P. 55(a). Local Rule 7055-1 provides further requirements relating to a motion for entry of default judgment, and those

B. Motion for Default Judgment

1. Proper Service of Summons and Complaint

FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 7004(b)(1) states, in part:

[S]ervice may be made within the United States by first class mail postage prepaid as follows:

- (1) Upon an individual other than an infant or incompetent, by mailing a copy of the summons and complaint to the individual's dwelling house or usual place of abode or to the place where the individual regularly conducts a business or profession.

It is not exactly clear where Creditor obtained the service addresses used when serving the motion for default judgment. The Court notes that Creditor has utilized three different addresses for both Diaz and Laguna Motors, addressing the later notice to the attention of an officer or agent for service of process.

2. Merits of Plaintiff's claim

Upon default, the factual allegations of the complaint, except those relating to the amount of damages, will be taken as true. TeleVideo Systems, Inc. v. Heidenthal, 826

F.2d 915, 917 (9th Cir. 1987); see also Almog v. Golden Summit Investors Group, Ltd., 2012 WL 12867972 at *4 (C.D. Cal. 2012) ("When reviewing a motion for default judgment, the Court must accept the well-pleaded allegations of the complaint relating to liability as true.").

Here, the complaint includes four causes of action. A general problem with all four causes of action is that Creditor references $194,662.10 in transfers, which appears to be simply the sum of Transfer 1 and Transfer 2— Transfer 1 from Debtor to Diaz, and Transfer 2 from Diaz to Laguna Motors. Creditor's attempt to add Transfer 1 and Transfer 2 appears to be an error – Transfer 2 was from Diaz to Laguna Motors, presumably using Loan Proceeds already transferred from Debtor to Diaz. Creditor appears to have realized this error when filing the motion for default judgment.

Regarding the first cause of action, the complaint appears to gloss over material legal issues. First, Creditor "alleges that Preferential Transfers occurred within a year prior to Debtor's Bankruptcy Case." This is clearly not true – Transfer 2 was made postpetition, and, as a result, is not within the scope of § 547. Additionally, Creditor alleges that Defendants were insiders as defined by 11 U.S.C. § 101(31) due to their "sufficiently close relationship with Debtor," yet Creditor has not provided the Court with any factual allegations sufficient to support that conclusion.

Regarding avoidance of fraudulent transfer, the second and third claims for relief cite 11 U.S.C. §§ 544(b) & 548 and CAL. CIV. CODE §§ 3439.04 and 3439.05. Section 544(b) states that a trustee may avoid a transfer of an interest of the debtor that is voidable under applicable law. CAL. CODE CIV. P. § 3439.05 provides that a transfer is voidable as to a creditor whose claim arose before the transfer if the debtor did not receive reasonably equivalent value and the debtor was or became insolvent as a result of the transfer. Trustee's complaint sufficiently alleges that Debtor did not receive reasonably equivalent value for Transfer 1, that Debtor was insolvent as a result of Transfer 2, and that there is a creditor whose claim arose before the transfer.

Regarding the fourth claim for relief, recovery of the avoidable transfer, 11 U.S.C. § 550 provides that transfers avoided under §§ 544 and 548 are recoverable from the initial transferee or from "any immediate or mediate transferee of such initial transfer." Here, Creditor has adequately alleged that Diaz was the initial transferee of Transfer 1.

3. Amount of Damages

Here, Creditor's motion for default judgment has reduced the requested damages to $112,662.10, and Debtor has provided a copy of a wire transfer establishing this amount.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to GRANT the motion with respect to the Second through Fourth causes of action, as modified in the proposed judgment attached as Exhibit 6 to the motion (which reduces the amount requested to $112, 662.10), and DENY the motion with respect to the First Cause of Action.

From: 11/20/19

Docket 77

Tentative Ruling:

11/20/19

BACKGROUND

On June 29, 2016, John E. Tackett and Ellen O. Tackett (collectively "Debtors") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. As part of their petition, Debtors were appointed Steven M. Speier, their ("Trustee"). The Trustee filed an adversary proceeding against Conestoga Settlement Services, LLC, a Delaware Corporation, et al (collectively "Defendants"), including Michael Woods ("Woods") and Jeff Converse ("Converse"), roughly two years later, June 20, 2018.

Debtors' claim against Defendants arose from an allegedly unsuited investment. In 2012, Ellen O. Tackett ("Mrs. Tackett") inherited an interest in property located at 716 Bayonne Street, El Segundo, California (the "Property"), along with her sibling, Evelyn. Evelyn paid Mrs. Tackett, through a loan, $300,000 for her interest. $50,000 of the payment went to Debtors' debts, home repairs, and other miscellaneous expenses, leaving $250,000.

In April 2012, Debtors meet Converse in Las Vegas at a weekend-long Amway convention. Debtors were acquainted with Converse from prior Amway related interactions. A conversation developed amongst the parties. Converse brought-up an opportunity to invest in life settlements with John Tackett ("Mr. Tackett").

Converse and Mr. Tackett agreed to continue the conversation at a later date.

Later in the month, Converse met Debtors at a Panera Bread in Riverside, California. During the meeting, Converse stated he was a selling agent for Conestoga Settlement Services, LLC, ("Conestoga") and discussed Conestoga's life settlement investment opportunities:

"[I]n a life settlement contract, the beneficiary under a life insurance policy sells his or her interest to a third party, who in turns becomes the beneficiary who will receive the insurance benefit when the insured dies. The purchaser effectively wagers that the insured will die soon enough that the total of the cash paid to acquire the policy, plus the premiums that must be paid to keep the policy in force, will be less than the ultimate death benefit, yielding a positive return." (Ellen O. Tackett Decl., ¶6; John E. Tackett Decl., ¶4.)

Converse stated several Amway Diamonds—Amway distributors who had achieved a certain level of success—were making life settlement investments. Converse then mentioned Woods, an Amway Diamond who resided in Texas, with whom Debtors were familiar with, was involved with Conestoga. Converse did qualify this investment opportunity by stating that it may not be suitable for Debtors and he would have to talk to his supervisors about their participation.

After two to five days later, Converse called the Debtors and informed them that they were qualified and approved by his "supervisors." Another meeting took place in late April or early May. At this meeting, Converse stated that his "supervisors" would prefer that Debtors invest $250,000 that Mrs. Tackett's received for her interest in the inherited Property. Debtors did not state how Converse was aware of such funds being available to them.

A third meeting was arranged. At this meeting, Debtors had questions about information presented to them in the prior meeting. Converse explained that the investment would be for the purchase of a percentage of each policy, and a portion of the fund would be held in a reserve account in case the insured outlived his or her life expectancy dates.

Converse stated that there was approximately five years of premium monies that would be held in an escrow amount on each policy. After the insured passed away, Converse told Debtors the money in the escrow account would be returned to them or reinvested into other policies.

Another meeting was arranged for Debtors to sign the contract ("Life Settlement Agreement") and purchase interest in the life policies. When Converse arrived, he told the Debtors that he was rushing because he had booked another meeting too close in time with that of Debtors. Without thoroughly reviewing the Life Settlement Agreement, Debtors signed parts of the contract that were tagged in advance by Converse or another party and deposited $30,000 to Converse.

The contract indicated that Debtors became fractional owners of eight policies with premium ranging from 75 to 85.5 months. Since Converse stated that life expectancies for the insured were less than 55 months, Debtors were at ease with this margin. A fifth meeting took place where Debtors deposited $220,000 with Converse.

In 2013, Mr. Tackett, employed as a probation officer, was injured in a ground defense training class. The injury, unfortunately serious, drastically reduced his ability to work. Mrs. Tackett, the sole caretaker of Mr. Tackett, was unable to substitute Mr. Tackett's income. This led to Debtors filing for bankruptcy.

On January 16, 2017, Conestoga sent Debtors a notice, informing them that money in the reserve account had been depleted. Pursuant to the Life Settlement Agreement, for Debtors to maintain their interest in their life policies, they would have to contribute their pro-rate share of the premiums due. On February 13, 2017, Trustee's counsel, being aware of this notice, notified Conestoga, through a letter, of the automatic stay and the consequences of violating it.

On February 20, 2017, Conestoga's counsel communicated he had received the notice and proposed to buy Debtors' interest. Unfortunately, the parties were unable to negotiate a settlement.

Since the initial notice given to Debtors about the premium call, eight of the nine policies, the insured had outlived his or her life expectancy. However, Debtors believe that the premium calls were premature. After reviewing the Life Settlement Agreement, Debtors, because Woods name appeared at the top of the coverage page under "Independent Contractor," believe Woods is the supervisor Converse alluded to. Trustee now files a motion asking for the court to grant a default judgment against

Trustee filed an adversary proceeding against Defendants on June 20, 2018, which was timely served. Defendants had until July 20, 2018 to file and serve a written response to the Trustee's complaint. Defendants filed a response, asking for the court to dismiss the case, on July 30, 2019.

Trustee then filed a request for the clerk to enter a default judgment due to the untimely response of the Defendants. The clerk obliged, entering a default judgment against Defendants on August 8, 2018. Conestoga Settlement Services, LLC; Conestoga International, LLC; and Conestoga Trust (collectively, "Conestoga Entities") disputed that the service was proper. On September 7, 2018, Trustee and Conestoga Entities agreed that the Trustee would set aside the default judgment if they accept service as proper. The stipulation agreement was granted, and Conestoga Entities had until September 28, 2018 to file their response.

Conestoga Entities filed an answer to the complaint on October 1, 2018 and asked for extending time to respond to the complaint. The motion was granted on October 12, 2018. Conestoga Entities did not file another answer. Roughly a year later, Trustee filed this motion, requesting a default judgment against Woods.

B. Motion for Default Judgment

I. Proper Service of Summons and Complaint

FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 7004(b)(1) states, in part:

- (1) Upon an individual other than an infant or incompetent, by mailing a copy of the summons and complaint to the individual's dwelling house or usual place of abode or to the place where the individual regularly conducts a business or profession.

Here, it appears that the motion for default judgment has been properly served.

II. Complaint as True

Upon default, the factual allegations of the complaint, except those relating to the amount of damages, will be taken as true. *TeleVideo Systems, Inc. v. C. Jurisdiction

I. Subject Matter Jurisdiction

This Court has subject matter jurisdiction pursuant to U.S.C §157(b)(1)—Bankruptcy Judges may hear and determine all cases under title 11 and all core proceedings arising under title 11—and 28 U.S.C. §1334. Trustee has asserted a claim arising under title 11, a Chapter 7 voluntary petition, and the matter concerns the administration of an estate. U.S.C §157(b)(2)(A).

II. Venue

Venue is proper pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §1409(a):

"Except as otherwise provided in subsections (b) and (d), a proceeding arising under title 11 or arising in or related to a case under title 11 may be commenced in the district court in which such case is pending."

Debtors' lead bankruptcy case (16-15813) is currently pending in this Court.

III. Personal Jurisdiction

Personal Jurisdiction of an out-of-state defendant is appropriate if the relevant state's long arm-statue permits the assertion of jurisdiction without violating federal due process. Schwarzenegger v. Fred Martin Motor Co. 374, F.3d 797, 800 (9th Cir. 2004). Due process requires that non-residents have certain "minimum contacts" with the forum state. Int'l Shoe Co. v. Washington, 326 U.S. 310, 316 (1945).

In California the Ninth Circuit has articulated a three-prong test:

- (1) the non-resident defendant must purposefully direct his activities or consummate some transaction in the forum or resident thereof, or perform some act by which it purposeful avails itself of the privilege of conducting activities in the forum, thereby invoking the benefits and protections of forum's laws;
- (2) the claim must be one which arises out of or relates to the defendant's forum-related activities; and
- (3) the exercise of jurisdiction must comport with the fair play and substantial justice. Lake v. Lake, 817 F.2d 1416, 1421 (9th Cir. 1987).

a. Purposeful Direction

To determine if the first prong is satisfied, because the Trustee alleges fraud, a purposeful direction analysis must be used. Schwarzenegger, 374 F.3d at 802 (stating that purposeful direction analysis is used in tort-related claims). A three part-test is utilized in the purposeful analysis—the Calder-effects test. Calder v. Jones, 465 U.S. 783 (1984). Under this test, the defendant allegedly must have (1) committed an intentional act, (2) expressly aimed at the forum state, and (3) causing harm that the defendant know is likely to be suffered in the forum state. Id.

Accepting all the allegations as true in the Trustee complaint, the Court finds that Woods, involved with Conestoga in some manner, with Converse, defrauded Californians into purchasing investments unsuitable for them.

b. Forum Related Activities

The second prong requires that the Trustee's claim shows that Debtors would not have been injured "but for" the defendant's forum-related conduct. Myers v. Bennet Law Offices, 238 F.3d 1068, 1075 (9th Cir. 2001). Trustee claims that Debtors would not have suffered injury but for Converse's conduct, who is believed to be an agent of Woods.

c. Reasonableness

The third prong requires that the court consider seven factors:

- (1) The extent of defendant's purposeful interjection;
- (2) the burden on defendant in defending in the forum;
- (3) the extent of conflict with the sovereignty of defendant's state;
- (4) the forum state's interest in adjudicating the suit;
- (5) the most efficient judicial resolution of the controversy;
- (6) the importance of the forum to the plaintiff's interest in convenient and effective relief; and
- (7) the existence of an alternative forum. Core-Vent Corp. v. Nobel Indust. AB, 11 F.3d 1482, 1487 (9th Cir. 1993).

In engaging in this analysis, no one factor is dispositive. Id. at 1488. With respect to the first factor, Trustee has shown that Woods had intentional and continuous contact with California. Woods was listed as an "Independent Contractor" on the Life Settlement Agreement's coverage page. (John E. Tackett Decl. ¶15). Woods was associated with Conestoga, which was selling securities in the State of California.

Chapter 7

As to the second factor, there is nothing in the record or that the Court can see that indicating that it would be inconvenient for Woods to litigate this lawsuit in California.

Looking at the third factor, Trustee claims arise under federal law and California Law. Thus, there is no potential conflict with another state's law or regulation. Thus, this weighs in favor of the Trustee.

Trustee is headquartered in California, and Debtors are residence of California. Californian courts, including this Court, have a strong interest in protecting California citizens and domestic businesses from the wrongful acts of a non-resident defendant.

As to the fifth factor, most of the evidence and witnesses are based in Riverside, California. Converse met with Debtors multiple times at a Panera Bread in Riverside, where the contract was signed.

Turning to the sixth factor, while it may not be as convenient for the Trustee to litigate this matter outside of California, there is nothing in the record suggesting that convenient and effective relief is unavailable in a different forum. Thus, this factor is neutral.

Evaluating the seventh factor, the Court finds that this factor is neutral for the same reasons stated above. Thus, taking all the foregoing factors into consideration, the Court finds that personal jurisdiction over Woods in this action is appropriate.

D. Analysis of Judgment by Default

To obtain a default judgment, a two-step process is required: "(1) entry of party's default (normally by the clerk), and (2) entry of a default judgment[, which can be given by the Clerk if the sum is certain or by the Court in all other cases]". In re McGee, 359 B.R. 765 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2006). The Trustee has admitted that the sum in this claim is certain, so such an entry of default by the Clerk could be appropriate. However, this motion has provided additional support for the calculation of damages.

The complaint includes fraud, negligent misrepresentation, violation of securities qualification requirements, and misrepresentation in the sale of securities. The Trustee asks to be awarded interest and punitive damages as well as the full invested amount, $250,000. Before the Court can address the Trustee claims, it must determine if the pleadings support a finding of a principal-agent relationship between Woods and Converse since all the claims against Woods are based on the allegation that Converse is the agent of Woods

I. Agent

A principal-agent relationship can be created by one of two ways:

- (1) actual authority—"an agent acts with actual authority when, at the time of taking action that has legal consequences for the principal, the agent reasonable believes, in accordance with the principal's manifestations to the agent, that the principal wishes the agent so to act—or
- (2) apparent authority—"the power held by an agent...to affect a principal's legal relationship with third parties when a third party reasonably believes the actor has authority to act on behalf and that belief is traceable to the principal's manifestation. Restatement (Third) of Agency §§ 2.01 and 2.03.

Because there is no declaration provided by Converse, the pleading does not provide support for actual authority. Nor does the complaint allege sufficient facts to establish an agency relationship.

However, there may be evidence of apparent authority. "Apparent authority 'must be established by proof of something said or done by the principal on which [a third part] reasonably relied'; it 'cannot be established merely by showing that [the purported agent] claimed authority or purported to exercise it.'" Pascal v. Agentra, LLC, 2019 U.S. Dist. Lexis 179359, *10 (Cal. Dist. Ct. App. 2019) (quoting Nat'l Labor Relations Bd. v. Dist. Counsel of Iron Works, 124 F.3d 1094, 1099 (9th Cir. 1997)).

Examples of an establishment of apparent authority would be the "principal's direct statement to the third party, directions to the agent to tell something to the third person, or the granting of permission to the agent to perform acts and conduct negotiations under circumstances which create in him a reputation of authority in the area which the agent acts and negotiates." Id. No evidence of this kind was presented in the pleading. Thus, the Trustee does not plead sufficient facts to support an apparent authority that Woods is vicariously liable for the acts purportedly perpetrated by Converse.

Chapter 7

Furthermore, evidence of ratification is also not present in the pleading. Ratification is "the affirmance of a prior act done by another, whereby the act is given effect as if done by an agent acting with actual authority. Kristensen v. Credit Payment Serv., 879 F.3d 1010, 1014 (9th Cir. 2018). A principal can be found liable when he or she ratifies an originally unauthorized tort. Id.

However, here the Debtors' declaration simply reflects that Woods' name appears on the cover page of the Life Settlement Agreement under "Independent Contractor Name." Nothing in the claim establishes such proof of a principal-agent relationship nor ratification of the agents authorized conduct.

TENTATIVE RULING

Thus, the Court is inclined to DENY the motion for default judgment.

Docket 330

Tentative Ruling:

12/4/2019

BACKGROUND

On April 18, 2013, Narinder Sangha ("Defendant") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On April 25, 2013, Charles Schrader ("Plaintiff") filed an adversary complaint against Defendant for non-dischargeability pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a) (6).

On August 12, 2013, the Court entered its first scheduling order, directing the parties to complete mediation by October 16, 2013; that deadline was ultimately continued to October 29, 2013. On December 4, 2013, the Court entered a second scheduling order, directing the parties to complete mediation by January 31, 2014.

On August 7, 2014, the Court entered an order granting Plaintiff's motion for summary judgment, and a corresponding judgment. This judgment was appealed, ultimately being vacated and remanded by the Ninth Circuit on March 10, 2017. On April 19, 2017, Plaintiff filed a renewed motion for summary judgment which, after several continuances, was ultimately granted in part and denied in part on March 15, 2019 (the "Opinion").

Chapter 7

Since the Court issued the Opinion granting partial summary judgment to Plaintiff, the parties have engaged in several discovery disputes, with Defendant switching counsel on multiple occasions during the course of the case. On May 3, 2019, Defendant filed a motion to reopen discovery. As noted by the Court on the hearing of May 22, 2019, the Court had never actually set a discovery deadline, and, therefore, the Court denied the motion. Based upon the discussion with parties at the hearings of May 22, 2019, the Court entered a scheduling order on May 24, 2019. The scheduling order set a discovery deadline of July 31, 2019, and a deadline to file dispositive motions of August 23, 2019.

On July 10, 2019, the Court heard Defendant's (then pro se) motion to serve additional discovery requests. That motion was denied for the reasons stated on the record at the hearing of July 10, 2019.

On July 30, 2019, Defendant filed a motion to extend discovery cutoff and related dates. On September 3, 2019, the Court granted Defendant's motion to extend the discovery cutoff to the limited extent of clarifying that discovery need only be propounded, not completed, by July 31, 2019. On October 16, 2019, Defendant filed a motion for sanctions against Plaintiff, which the Court ultimately denied.

On October 28, 2019, Defendant filed a motion to reconsider the Opinion, arguing that: (1) the underlying 2011 state court judgment was void for failure to properly plead damages; (2) issue preclusion was inappropriate because certain affirmative defenses were neither actually litigated nor necessarily decided; and (3) public policy is not served by application of issue preclusion. On November 12, 2019, Plaintiff filed his opposition. On November 27, 2019, Defendant filed his reply. In the reply, Defendant concedes that Plaintiff's argument, that the 2011 state court judgment was not void, is correct, and thus withdrew that argument. Defendant also withdrew his third argument to the extent it "was based on the argument that Judgment was void."

As a preliminary matter, the Court addresses Plaintiff's argument that the instant motion was untimely for failure to comply with this Court's scheduling order. The Court's scheduling order entered May 24, 2019, states that the last day for pre-trial motions to be filed and served is August 23, 2019. Plaintiff, characterizing the instant motion as a pre-trial motion, argues that the motion is untimely pursuant to the Court's scheduling order. Defendant argues that the instant motion is not a pre-trial motion, and, as such, is not untimely pursuant to the Court's scheduling order.

The Court agrees with Defendant's definition of the term pre-trial motion. The instant motion, as a motion which seeks reconsideration of an already entered order or judgment, is more properly characterized as a post-trial (or post-hearing) motion. While the motion, if granted, would affect the scope of the future trial, its direct aim, modifying a previous Court order, is not within the scope of the Court's form scheduling order.

Turning to the legal arguments raised, FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 60(b)(1), incorporated into bankruptcy proceedings by FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 9024, states:

(b) Grounds for Relief from a Final Judgment, Order, or Proceeding. On motion and just terms, the court may relieve a party or its legal representative from a final judgment, order, or proceeding for the following reasons:

(1) mistake, inadvertence, surprise, or excusable neglect

As noted by Defendant, the Ninth Circuit has previously held that errors of law fit within the scope of FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 60(b)(1). See, e.g., Kingvision Pay-Per-View Ltd. v. Lake Alice Bar, 168 F.3d 347, 350 ("Because the words 'mistake' and 'inadvertence' are not so limited, they may include mistake and inadvertence by the judge."). The Ninth Circuit's conclusion, however, is not universally accepted across circuits. See, e.g., Silk v. Sandoval, 435 F.2d 1266 (1st Cir. 1971); Swam v. United States, 327 F.2d 431 (7th Cir. 1964) (both concluding that judicial legal error does not fit within the scope of Rule 60(b)(1)).

Chapter 7

The Sixth Circuit previously wrote the following in discussing the split of authority regarding whether judicial legal error falls within the scope of Rule 60(b)(1):

We need not choose between these conflicting views at this time. This is so because, regardless of whether we determine legal error comes within Rule 60(b)(1), the vast majority of courts that have concluded that legal error comes within the meaning of Rule 60(b)(1) have also determined that, in using the rule in this manner, the moving party must make his or her motion within the time limits for appeal. A motion under Rule 60(b) cannot be used to avoid the consequences of a party's decision to settle the litigation or to forego an appeal from an adverse ruling. Generally speaking a party who makes an informed choice as to a particular course of action will not be relieved of the consequences when it subsequently develops that the choice was unfortunate.

Steinhoff v. Harris, 698 F.2d 270, 275 (6th Cir. 1983) (quotations omitted) (citing Sampson v. Radio Corp. of Am., 434 F.2d 315 (2nd Cir. 1970); Hoffman v. Celebrezze, 405 F.2d 833 (8th Cir. 1969); Gila River Ranch, Inc. v. United States, 368 F.2d 354 (9th Cir. 1966); Schildhaus v. Moe, 335 F.2d 529 (2nd Cir. 1964); 7 MOORE, Federal Practice ¶ 60.22[2], [3] (2nd ed. 1948 & Supp. 1981); see also Hill v. McDermott, Inc., 827 F.2d 1040 (5th Cir. 1987).

As noted in the block quotation above, the Ninth Circuit previously stated, in Gila River Ranch, Inc. v. United States, 368 F.2d 354, 357 (9th Cir. 1966), that "under Rule 60(b)(1) the trial judge can, within a reasonable time not exceeding the time for appeal, hold a rehearing and change his decision." The Gila River Ranch decision has not been overturned. In 2005, the Ninth Circuit reaffirmed the validity of the Gila River Ranch holding:

Chapter 7

Rule 60(b) authorizes relief from judgments for "mistake, inadvertence, surprise, or excusable neglect." The "mistakes" of judges may be remedied under this provision, which also encompasses mistakes in the application of the law. A trial judge may, within a reasonable time, but not exceeding the time for appeal, hold a rehearing under Rule 60(b) and change the award.

...

To be timely, Phonometrics' Rule 60 motion must have been filed within the 30-day window following the entry of the judgment awarding attorneys' fees.

Phonometrics, Inc. v. Hospitality Franchise Sys., Inc., 2005 WL 663414 at *1 (9th Cir. 2005) (citations omitted) (emphasis in original).

Therefore, pursuant to the caselaw cited above, Defendant's Rule 60(b)(1) motion premised upon judicial legal error is untimely as having been filed more than seven months after the Opinion was entered.

Tentative Ruling:

The Court is inclined to DENY the motion.

Chapter 13

#6.00 Motion By United States Trustee to Dismiss Chapter 13 Case With A Re-filing Bar

EH__

Docket 8

Tentative Ruling:

12/5/19

BACKGROUND

On October 22, 2019 ("Petition Date"), Kervin Rayal Routt ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. Debtor's petition lacked numerous documents which were required by Local Bankr. Rule 1007 and 3015(b). The Clerk of Court lodged an order-to-comply and notice-of-intent-to-dismiss on October 22, 2019, giving Debtor fourteen days to submit said documents. (Dkt No. 1).

On November 5, 2019, the deadline to submit the required documents had passed, and Debtor had not submitted a single document that was asked for by the Clerk of Court. On November 8, 2019, the United State Trustee ("UST") requested the Court to dismiss the case with a re-filing bar of one year due to Debtor's bad-faith filing.

Prior to the filing of this Chapter 13 voluntary petition, Debtor had filed two other Chapter 13 voluntary petitions within this year, case numbers 19-13034 and 19-11106. One of the prior cases the Debtor represented himself pro se and the other prior case he was represented by Counsel. No matter who did the representation, both prior cases were dismissed because Debtor failed to file all case commencement documents.

UST alleges, under the totality of circumstances, the Debtor's conduct is sufficient to warrant a finding of bad faith: (1) debtor has filed multiple cases within a one-year period, (2) Debtor did not file all case commencement documents in this petition, and (3) Debtor failed to disclose his prior cases. (Dkt No. 8, Pg. 6).

Furthermore, UST states that the absence of other creditors together with Debtor's incomplete filing has hindered the ability of all creditors to enforce their rights.

Chapter 13

Id. at 7 Thus, UST states, the dismissal of this petition would enable creditors to pursue their non-bankruptcy remedies—this is the best interest of creditors and the estate. Id.

DISCUSSION

Regarding UST's request to dismiss the case, 11 U.S.C. § 1307(c) provides a non-exhaustive list of grounds for dismissal of a Chapter 13 case. Sections 1307(c)(1), (3), (4), and (9) all provide grounds to dismiss a Chapter 13 case when the debtor files a skeletal petition and fails to take any further action to prosecute the case. Section 1307(c) instructs the Court, however, to consider whether dismissal or conversion is in the best interests of creditors.

Taking judicial notice of the schedules filed in Debtor's most recent case, 6:19-bk-19284-MH, no determination could be made if Debtor has unexempt assets which could provide a distribution to creditors. Nonetheless, UST believes a dismissal, instead of conversion, would be the best interest of creditors and the estate.

Assuming that dismissal is in the best interests of creditors and the estate, the Court notes that it empowered to impose a re-filing bar under 11 U.S.C. § 349(a). As COLLIER notes, courts' analysis of this section is somewhat confused due to confounding "dismissal with prejudice" with "dismissal with injunction against future filings." COLLIER ON BANKRUPTCY ¶ 349.02[3]; compare In re Garcia, 479 B.R. 488 (Bankr. N.D. Ind. 2012) (denying motion for dismissal with prejudice but imposing three-year re-filing bar) with In re Craighead, 377 B.R. 648 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. 2007) (appearing to equate dismissal with prejudice with an injunction against re-filing).

There is also a circuit split concerning whether an injunction on re-filing for more than 180 days is allowed under the Bankruptcy Code. Compare In re Frieouf, 938 F.2d 1099 (10th Cir. 1991) (180 days is maximum allowed length of re-filing injunction) with Casse v. Key Bank Nat. Ass'n, 198 F.3d 327 (2nd Cir. 1999) (injunction against filing for more than 180 days permissible). 11 U.S.C. § 349(a) reads:

Unless, the court, for cause, orders otherwise, the dismissal of a case under this title does not bar the discharge, in a later case under this title, of debts that were dischargeable in the case dismissed; nor does the dismissal of a case under this title prejudice the debtor with regard to the filing of a subsequent petition under this title, except as provided in section 109(g) of this title.

The disagreement revolves around whether the qualifier "Unless, the court, for cause, orders otherwise" modifies the content after the semi-colon. In re Leavitt noted this disagreement, but since the court was dealing with a dismissal with prejudice, rather than an injunction against re-filing, it did not resolve the issue. 209 B.R. 935, 942 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1997). Within the Ninth Circuit, it appears the trend is to adopt the reasoning of the Second Circuit and allow injunctions for more than 180 days, and the Court agrees with that reading of the statute. See e.g. In re Velasques, 2012 WL 8255582 at *3 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 2012).

In this case, this petition is the Debtor's third filing in the previous twelve months in which Debtor filed an incomplete petition and failed to cure the deficiency. Furthermore, Debtor failed to disclose two previous filings in the voluntary petition, which is signed under penalty of perjury. For these reasons, the Court is inclined to find the requested one-year re-filing bar to be appropriate in the circumstances presented.

Moreover, Debtor's failure to oppose is deemed consent to the relief requested pursuant to Local Rule 9013-1(h).

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to GRANT the motion, finding the one-year re-filing bar to be appropriate in the circumstances presented.

#7.00 Motion for Setting Property Value

EH__

Docket 21

Tentative Ruling:

12/5/19

Background:

On October 16, 2019 ("Petition Date"), David Cornelius Watson ("Debtor") and Crystal Tamara Watson (Joint Debtor) filed a voluntary Chapter 13 petition. Debtors owned a 2014 Ford Flex (the "Vehicle") located at 14313 Pioneer Way, Victorville, CA 9294 ("Debtors' Residence"). On the Petition Date, Debtors valued the Vehicle at $15,014.00. Official Form 106A/B 2, ECF No. 1.

On November 7, 2019, Debtors filed a Motion to Value Collateral ("Motion"). Debtors allege, as of the Petition Date, a balance of $20,388.00 was owed to Flagship Credit Acceptance ("Flagship"). Debtors' Mot. for Order Determining Value of Collateral 4, ECF No. 21. Debtor now requests the Court to value the Vehicle at $14,575.00. Such value would require the Debtor to pay Flagship the secured amount $14,575.00, instead of $15,014.000, and leaving the remaining amount as unsecured, $5,813.00. Id.

Debtors provided a copy of a NADA report in support of Debtor's assertion that as of the Petition Date, or close to it, November 6, 2019, the value of the Vehicle was $14,575.00. Flagship has neither filed a proof of claim nor an objection to this motion.

Chapter 13

If the Debtor is an individual in a case under Chapter 7 or 13, such value with respect to personal property securing an allowed claim shall be determined based on the replacement value of such property as of the date of the filing of the petition without deduction for costs of sale or marketing. With respect to property acquired for personal, family, or household purposes, replacement value shall mean the price a retail merchant would charge for property of that kind considering the age and condition of the property at the time value is determined. [italicized for emphasis]"

In In re Morales, the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Central District of California determined that retail value should be calculated "by adjusting the Kelley Blue Book or N.A.D.A. Guide retail value for a like vehicle by a reasonable amount in light of the evidence presented regarding the condition of the vehicle or any other relevant factors." In re Morales, 387 B.R. 36, 45 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2008).

According to the court in Morales, the retail values, and not the private party values, are the appropriate starting points because the text of § 506(a)(2) refers to "the price a retail merchant would charge" and does not refer to the price a private party would charge. Morales, 387 B.R. at 46. The language of § 506(a)(2) provides further support for the use of retail values rather than private party values in the first sentence that states replacement value should be calculated "without deduction for costs of sale or marketing." § 506(a)(2); Morales, 387 B.R. at 46. Although "replacement value" is modified with respect to property acquired for personal use in the second sentence of § 506(a)(2), the rule regarding costs of sale or marketing is not modified and is therefore still applicable. § 506(a)(2); Morales, 387 B.R. at 46. Consequently, in contrast to private party values, "the retail value better approximates a price that includes the 'costs of sale and marketing,'" even if downward adjustments must be made to accommodate a less than excellent or optimal condition of a vehicle. Morales, 387 B.R. at 46.

Here, Debtors provided a NADA report in support of the assertion that the retail value of the Vehicle as of the Petition Date was $14,575.00. Accordingly, the Court finds that Debtors have provided sufficient proof that the retail value of the Vehicle as of the Petition Date was that amount.

B. Secured Claim is Secured up to the Value of the Collateral.

Section 506(a) establishes that the portion of a secured claim that exceeds the value of the property securing the claim is unsecured. 11 U.S.C. § 506(a). Based on the evidence presented, the Court finds that the value of the Vehicle is $14,575.00, and as such, the Flagship has a secured claim in the amount of $14,575.00 for purposes of plan confirmation.

Moreover, Flagship has not opposed the Motion, which may be deemed as consent to the Court granting the Motion, per LBR 9013-1(h).

Tentative:

The Court is inclined to GRANT the Motion and value the Vehicle at $14,575.00 for purposes of plan's confirmation only, a resulting unsecured claim of $5,813.00.

12/5/19

BACKGROUND:

On June 3, 2019 ("Petition Date"), Portia Wondaline Barmes ("Debtor") filed for voluntary Chapter 13 petition. As part of the required documents to file the petition, Debtor submitted Official Form 106 E/F, which included unsecured claims. Official Form 106 E/F 1-5, ECF No. 1. Debtor listed Riverside Community Hospital ("RCU") as one of the unsecured creditors she owes. Id. The amount of the claim listed was $80.00 ("Claim No. 1"). Id.

Debtor did not list any more claims for RCU. However, in the month of June 2019, RCU filed six proofs of claim. Debtor has filed this motion requesting that claims 5-1, 6-1, and 7-1 (collectively the "Disputed Claims") be disallowed.

In her declaration filed with this motion, Debtor alleges that the Disputed Claims were for services which may have been rendered to her daughter, Portia C. Barmes. Decl. of Portia W. Barmes 6, ECF No. 27. Debtor's daughter also submitted a declaration, claiming that the services were rendered to her and not her mother. Decl. of Portia C. Barmes 7, ECF No. 27. The Court notes that Debtor and her daughter have exactly the same forename and surname. Except for their middle names, Debtor's and her daughter's names would be indistinguishable. to provide additional verification. Decl. of Portia W. Barmes 6, ECF No. 27. RCU filed Form 410 correctly for the Disputed Claims. However, when question 6 of Part 2 is answered for Official Form 410, "Do you have any number you use to identify the Debtor," four digits are provided to identify the Debtor. These last four digits cannot be social security numbers because each of them is different from the other. Thus, each claim has a unique account number identifying the alleged owner of the debt. This would weaken Debtor's claim that the services were provided to her daughter.

APPLICABLE LAW:

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 502(a), a proof of claim is deemed allowed unless a party in interest objects. Absent an objection, a proof of claim constitutes prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claim under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure ("FRBP") 3001(f). See Lundell v. Anchor Constr. Specialists, Inc., 223 F.3d 1035, 1039 (9th Cir. 2000). When a party files an objection to a proof of claim, that filing "creates a dispute which is a contested matter" within the meaning of FRBP 9014, and the Court must resolve the matter after notice and opportunity for hearing upon a motion for relief. Id.

When a creditor has filed a proof of claim that complies with the rules (thereby giving rise to the presumption of validity), the burden shifts to the objecting party who must "present evidence to overcome the prima facie case." In re Medina, 205 B.R. 216, 222 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1996). To defeat the claim, the objecting party must provide sufficient evidence and "show facts tending to defeat the claim by probative force equal to that of the allegations of the proofs of claim themselves." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039 (quoting In re Holm, 931 F.2d 620, 623 (9th Cir. 1991)). "The objector must produce evidence, which, if believed, would refute at least one of the allegations that is essential to the claim's legal sufficiency." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1040 (quoting In re Allegheny Int'l, Inc., 954 F.2d 167, 173-74 (3d Cir. 1992)). If the objecting party produces sufficient evidence to negate one or more of the sworn facts in the proof of claim, the burden reverts back to the claimant to prove the validity of the claim by a preponderance of the evidence. TENTATIVE RULING:

Here, while the disputed claims are prima facie valid, the Movant has presented evidence that the disputed claims do not reflect obligations of the Debtor. RCU has failed to present any evidence to meet the shifting burden. In addition, having failed to oppose RCU is deemed to consent to the disallowance. LBR 9013-1(h). Therefore, the tentative is to SUSTAIN the objections.

If the objecting party produces sufficient evidence to negate one or more of the sworn facts in the proof of claim, the burden reverts back to the claimant to prove the validity of the claim by a preponderance of the evidence. See In re Consol. Pioneer Mort, 178 B.R. 222, 226 (9th Cir. BAP 1995), aff'd, 91 F.3d 151 (9th Cir. 1996) (quoting Allegheny Int'l, 954 F.2d at 173-74). The ultimate burden of persuasion remains at all times on the claimant. See Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039; see also Holm, 931 F.2d at 623.

Cal. Code Civ. Procedure §337

"Within four years...(b) An action to recover (1) upon a book account whether consisting of one or more entries; (2) upon an account stated based upon an account in writing, but the acknowledgement of the account need not be in writing; (3) a balance due upon a mutual, open and current account, the items of which are in writing; provided, however, that if an account state is based upon an account of one item, the time shall begin to run from the date of the item, and if an account stated is based upon an account of more than one item, the time shall begin to run from the date of the last item....(d) When the period in which an action must be commenced under this section has run, a person shall not bring suit or initiate an arbitration or other legal proceeding to collect the debt..."

TENTATIVE RULING:

Pursuant to Cal. Code Civ Procedures §337, Claim 10-1 is time-barred. December 21, 2012 was both the last payment date and the last transaction date. Thus, this is the date where the four-year limitation starts to run. Four years after December 21, 2012 is December 21, 2016, which is about two years and some months too late from the Petition Date.

Jefferson fails to object to this motion. Thus, the Court is inclined to GRANT this order, disallowing Claim 10-1 in its entirety.

APPEARANCES WAIVED. Movant to lodge order within seven days. If oral or written opposition is presented at the hearing, the hearing may be continued.

11 U.S.C. § 362(c)(3)(C)(i)(II)(cc) provides for a statutory presumption that a case was filed in bad faith when a debtor had a case dismissed in the previous year after failing to perform the terms of a plan confirmed by the court. Here, Debtor's previous case was dismissed for failure to make plan payments on October 31, 2019. Therefore, the instant case is presumed to have been filed in bad faith. Section 362(c)(3)(C) requires that Debtor submit "clear and convincing" evidence in order to rebut the presumption that the case was filed in bad faith. Here, the evidence submitted by Debtor indicates that she is now receiving family support. The evidence submitted by Debtor does not provide any detail regarding the source, amount, or duration of the family support now received. Therefore, Debtor has not provided any "clear and convincing" evidence establishing a change in financial circumstances between the dismissal of the previous case and the filing of the instant case.

Additionally, the Court notes that Judge Houle's self-calendarizing procedures require that motions to continue the automatic stay which

#3.00 Notice of Motion and Motion in Individual Case for Order Imposing a Stay or Continuing the Automatic Stay as the Court Deems Appropriate Real and personal property

MOVANT: GARY AND RACHELLE ELLISON

EH__

Docket 17

Tentative Ruling:

12/10/19

Service: Improper

Opposition: None

As a preliminary matter, the Court notes that Judge Houle's miscellaneous instructions state: "If a secured creditor has filed a motion for relief from the automatic stay in a prior case, Judge Houle also requires that counsel for the secured creditor be served with the motion to continue the automatic stay." Here, HSBC Bank, USA filed a motion for relief from the automatic stay in Debtors' previous case and was not served with the instant motion.

Turning to the merits, the Court notes that, as a preliminary matter, Debtors have improperly requested that the automatic stay be imposed under 11 U.S.C. § 362(c)(4), rather than continued under 11 U.S.C. § 362(c)(3). While Rachel Malbrough had a previous Chapter 13 case dismissed on July 3, 2019, and Debtors filed a subsequent Chapter 7 case, the Debtors' subsequent Chapter 7 case was not dismissed. Because § 362(c)(4) is only triggered if multiple cases were dismissed in the prior year, it does not apply in this situation.

Construing the motion as a motion to continue the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. § 362(c)(3), the Court notes that the case dismissed in the previous year was only filed by Rachel Malbrough. The Court notes that there is a split of authority regarding whether the automatic stay applies to a joint debtor who was a non-filing spouse in the previous case. While the Bankruptcy Appellate Panel acknowledges that it is the minority position on the issue, the Court agrees with Judge Saltzman's reasoning outlined in In re Reswick, 446 B.R. 362, 369-70 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2011), and is of the position that the automatic stay only terminates with regard to the spouse who filed the previously dismissed petition. Therefore, in this case, the automatic stay will not expire after thirty days with respect to Gary Ellison.

A second rather unique issue is present here because the affected creditor, HSBC Bank USA National Association ("Creditor"), filed a relief from stay motion that was withdrawn in Rachel Malbrough's previously dismissed Chapter 13 case, but also filed a relief from stay motion that was granted in the now-discharged Chapter 7 case. 11 U.S.C. § 362(c)(3)(C)(ii) provides for a rebuttable presumption of bad faith as to any creditor that commenced an action under subsection (d) in a previous case in which the individual was a debtor if, as of the date of dismissal of such case, that action was still pending or had been resolved by terminating, conditioning, or limited the stay as to actions of such creditor.

(emphasis added). This provision does not appear to be triggered in this case because Debtors' previous Chapter 7 case was not dismissed, and the relief from stay filed in the dismissed Chapter 13 case was withdrawn prior to being resolved. Therefore, not only have Debtors mischaracterized this motion as a motion to impose the automatic stay, Debtors have misidentified the statutory provision which triggers a presumption that the case was filed in bad faith.

Turning to 11 U.S.C. § 362(c)(3)(C)(i), the provision which provides for a general presumption of bad faith as to all creditors, the Court notes that the unique nature of the previous dismissal creates a question of whether this statutory presumption is triggered. While the instant motion states that the previous case was dismissed for failure to appear at a status conference, which may have proximately caused the dismissal, the Court notes that the status conference was set by the presiding judge due to Rachel Malbrough's postpetition default on direct payments to Creditor, which, in the order setting the status conference, the judge referred to as a default "under a material provision" of a "confirmed chapter 13 plan." [Dkt. No. 43, case 6:17-bk-18055-WJ]. Additionally, the order setting the status conference explicitly required that a brief or declaration be filed if Rachel Malbrough did not intend to convert her case to a Chapter 7 case, so the failure to file such brief would appear to fall within the scope of § 362(c)(3)(C)(i)(II)(aa), generating a presumption of bad faith as to all creditors.

Turning to whether Debtors have rebutted the statutory presumption of bad faith, In re Elliott-Cook, 357 B.R. 811 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. 2006) states the following, "the types of factors to be considered make it clear that two issues are very significant for purposes of determining good faith under § 362(c)(3): (1) why the previous plan failed, and (2) what has changed so that the present plan is likely to succeed." 357 B.R. at 815. Here, the previous plan failed because Rachel Malbrough fell behind on her postpetition payments to Creditor, the Court set a status conference regarding the default, and Rachel Malbrough did not take any steps to respond to the order. The Court does note though that the eventual withdrawal of the motion for relief from the automatic stay seems to imply that Rachel Malbrough may have cured the postpetition default.

Nevertheless, while the declaration of Rachel Malbrough, who filed her previous Chapter 13 case pro se, says she was unaware of Judge Johnson's order and had been traveling across the country to assist her father with his medical issues, there are two simpler reasons why the reasons for the failure of the previous plan are not likely to reoccur here: (1) Debtors are not pro se in the instant case; and (2) this Court does not set Chapter 13 status conferences. More specifically, the reasons for the dismissal of the previous case would not have generated a dismissal if Rachel Malbrough was not required to appear for a status conference. Therefore, applying the standard from In re Elliott-Cook, the Court deems Debtors to have adequately rebutted the statutory presumption that the instant case was filed in bad faith.

As a preliminary matter, the Court notes that Judge Houle's miscellaneous instructions state: "If a secured creditor has filed a motion for relief from the automatic stay in a prior case, Judge Houle also requires that counsel for the secured creditor be served with the motion to continue the automatic stay." Here, Lakeview Loan Servicing, LLC, filed a motion for relief from the automatic stay in Debtor's previous case and was not served with the instant motion.

Turning to the merits, while the Court finds the legal analysis provided by Debtor to be accurate and helpful, the Court does not consider the evidence submitted by Debtor to be sufficient to meet the "clear and convincing" standard delineated in 11 U.S.C. § 362(c)(3)(C).

As articulated in a case relied upon by Debtor, In re Elliott-Cook, 357 B.R. 811 (Bankr. N.D. Here, the motion asserts that Debtor's previous case failed due to medical issues. The motion, however, does not provide any evidence regarding the nature and severity of the medical issues, and, most importantly, whether those medical issues are likely to reoccur during the pendency of a Chapter 13 case. Therefore, the Court is inclined to DENY the motion.

While 11 U.S.C. § 365(d) allows the Chapter 7 Trustee to assume a lease within sixty days of the petition date, 11 U.S.C. § 362(h)(2) requires that the Trustee file a motion to prevent the automatic stay termination outlined in § 362(h)(1). #7.00 Motion for Relief from Stay

MOVANT: BERNARDO GAMBOA

EH__

Docket 17

Tentative Ruling:

12/10/2019

Service: Proper
Opposition: Yes.

On October 14, 2019, Isaac Santillan ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition.

On November 14, 2019, Bernardo Gamboa ("Movant") filed a motion for relief from the automatic stay, seeking to continue pending state court litigation relating to claims for: (1) fraud; (2) breach of fiduciary duty; (3) constructive fraud; (4) wrongful eviction – in tort; (5) escrow malfeasance; (6) deceit and fraud; (7) cancellation of instruments; (8) rescission; (9) money had and received; (10) conversion; (11) conspiracy; and (12) declaratory relief. The parties to the state court litigation have been engaged in extensive discovery and Movant's motion alleges that Debtor has been uncooperative during that process. Movant asserts that the filing of the instant bankruptcy case was merely a delay tactic by Debtor. Movant also asserts that Debtor listed few creditors in the case commencement documents, although the Court notes that Debtor did schedule a material amount of unsecured debt in Schedule F. More importantly, Movant asserts that the state court litigation includes non-debtor parties, from whom Movant primarily seeks recovery. Finally, Movant argues that the mandatory abstention rules in 28 U.S.C. § 1334 applies to this situation. The Court notes that trial in state court is currently scheduled for February 25, 2020.

On November 26, 2019, Debtor filed his opposition. Debtor's argument in opposition is not exactly clear, although Debtor certainly disputes whether Movant has met his burden and disputes the merits of the state court litigation and whether it was appropriate to include Debtor as a defendant in the litigation.

The Court notes that while Movant argues that 28 U.S.C. § 1334(c)(2) applies here, and Debtor does not raise an argument otherwise, a finding that mandatory abstention is appropriate does not automatically result in relief from stay. See, e.g., In re Conejo Enters., Inc., 96 F.3d 346, 352 (9th Cir. 1996) ("First, a finding that mandatory abstention applies to the underlying state action does not preclude denial of relief from § 362's automatic stay.").

When considering a motion for relief from the automatic stay to pursue a non-bankruptcy action, the Court considers the Curtis factors:

- (1) Whether the relief will result in a partial or complete resolution of the issues;
- (2) the lack of any connection with or interference with the bankruptcy case;
- (3) whether the foreign proceeding involves the debtor as fiduciary;
- (4) whether a specialized tribunal has been established to hear the particular cause of action and whether that tribunal has the expertise to hear such cases;
- (5) whether the debtor's insurance carrier has assumed full financial responsibility for defending the litigation;
- (6) whether the action essentially involves third parties, and the debtor functions only as a bailee or conduit for the good or proceeds in question;
- (7) whether the litigation in another forum would prejudice the interests of other creditors, the creditor's committee and other interested parties;
- (8) whether the judgment claim arising from the foreign action is subject to equitable subordination;
- (9) whether movant's success in the foreign proceeding would result in a judicial lien avoidable by the debtor under Section 522(f);
- (10) the interests of judicial economy and the expeditious and economical determination of litigation for the parties;
- (11) whether the foreign proceedings have progressed to the point where the parties are prepared for trial; and
- (12) the impact of the stay and the "balance of hurt."

In re Roger, 539 B.R. 837, 844-45 (C.D. Cal. 2015). In Roger, the Court further stated:

Chapter 13

The Ninth Circuit has recognized that the Curtis factors are appropriate, nonexclusive, factors to consider in deciding whether to grant relief from the automatic stay to allow pending litigation to continue in another forum. While the Curtis factors are widely used to determine the existence of cause, not all of the factors are relevant in every case, nor is a court required to give each factor equal weight. According to the court in Curtis, the most important factor in determining whether to grant relief from the automatic stay to permit litigation against the debtor in another forum is the effect of such litigation on the administration of the estate. Even slight interference with the administration may be enough to preclude relief in the absence of a commensurate benefit. That said, some cases involving the automatic stay provision do not mention the Curtis factors at all. Nevertheless, although the term "cause" is not defined in the Code, courts in the Ninth Circuit have granted relief from stay under § 362(d) (1) when necessary to permit pending litigation to be concluded in another forum if the non-bankruptcy suit involves multiple parties or is ready for trial.

Id. at 845 (quotations and citations omitted). As is typically the case, "[t]he record does not indicate that Curtis factors 3, 4, 5, 6, 8, or 9 are at issue in this case, nor do the parties argue to the contrary." Id.

It would appear that all of the remaining Curtis factors weigh in favor of granting relief from the automatic stay. First, the state court trial would result in a complete resolution of the issues, while holding an evidentiary hearing or another proceeding in bankruptcy court would only result in a partial resolution. Second, judicial economy and efficiency is best served by having the state court litigation occur in a single forum, while this Court does not have jurisdiction over the non-debtor defendants. Third, Movant has agreed that collection on any resulting judgment in the state court case would be stayed while Debtor is in bankruptcy, with Movant retaining the ability to file a proof of claim, thereby avoiding interference with the bankruptcy case or any prejudice to creditors. Fourth, because the state court litigation was filed approximately twenty months ago and is less than three months away from trial, the 11th Curtis factor weighs in favor of relief from stay. Finally, the Court is inclined to conclude that the balance of harm favors granting relief from stay because it simply is not equitable to bifurcate a state court lawsuit, composed of solely state court causes of action, that has several non-debtor defendants, and that has been pending for nearly twenty months. If Movant prevails on the fraud claim and timely files a complaint for non-dischargeability, application of collateral estoppel would be the most effective path to a non-dischargeability judgment, as opposed to a trial in bankruptcy court on fraud.

While Debtor argues that Movant has not met his burden of proof, the details of Debtor's argument are less than clear. This district's form relief from stay motion includes six different commonly applicable grounds for relief from stay, five of which Movant asserts are applicable here. Even excluding Movant's argument that the case was filed in bad faith, Movant has identified four different commonly applicable grounds, and Debtor has not really provided an argument in opposition, other than to dispute the merits of the state court litigation as to Debtor. But the state court litigation has been pending for twenty months; if Movant does not have a colorable claim, then Debtor had and still has ample opportunity to raise that issue in state court.

The Court is inclined to GRANT request for relief pursuant to § 362(d)(1). GRANT waiver of Rule 4001(a) stay. GRANT requests under ¶¶ 2 and 6. DENY request for relief under ¶ 7 because it is not clear what Movant is requesting in that section.

Docket 186

Tentative Ruling:

12/10/19

BACKGROUND:

On April 12, 2019, Woodcrest Ace Hardware, Inc. ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 11 voluntary petition. On May 2, 2019, the Court authorized use of cash collateral on an interim basis. On June 19, 2019, the Court extended authorization to use cash collateral. This authorization was extended a second time on September 12, 2019.

After denying a motion for substantive consolidation, the Court ordered, on July 12, 2019, that Debtor's case be jointly administered with the cases of 9 Fingers, Inc. (19-13130), P&P Hardware, Inc. (19-13131), Riverside Ace Hardware, Inc. (19-13132), and Wildomar Ace Hardware, Inc. (19-13133) (collectively, "Debtors"). The Court has authorized the employment of Brass Tax Ryder Professional Group, Inc. as accountants for Debtors, Rosenstein & Associates as counsel for Debtors, and has approved Debtors' cash management system.

On May 28, 2019, the Court issued its order setting a claims bar date of July 29, 2019.

Chapter 11

On October 31, 2019, Debtors filed an objection to any potential claim of Kabbage, Inc. ("Creditor"). The Court notes that the claims bar deadline has expired and Creditor has not filed a proof of claim.

APPLICABLE LAW:

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 502(a), a proof of claim is deemed allowed unless a party in interest objects. Absent an objection, a proof of claim constitutes prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claim under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure ("FRBP") 3001(f). See Lundell v. Anchor Constr. Specialists, Inc., 223 F.3d 1035, 1039 (9th Cir. 2000). When a party files an objection to a proof of claim, that filing "creates a dispute which is a contested matter" within the meaning of FRBP 9014 and the Court must resolve the matter after notice and opportunity for hearing upon a motion for relief. Id.

When a creditor has filed a proof of claim that complies with the rules (thereby giving rise to the presumption of validity), the burden shifts to the objecting party who must "present evidence to overcome the prima facie case." In re Medina, 205 B.R. 216, 222 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1996). To defeat the claim, the objecting party must provide sufficient evidence and "show facts tending to defeat the claim by probative force equal to that of the allegations of the proofs of claim themselves." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039 (quoting In re Holm, 931 F.2d 620, 623 (9th Cir. 1991)). "The objector must produce evidence, which, if believed, would refute at least one of the allegations that is essential to the claim's legal sufficiency." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1040 (quoting In re Allegheny Int'l, Inc., 954 F.2d 167, 173-74 (3d Cir. 1992)). If the objecting party produces sufficient evidence to negate one or more of the sworn facts in the proof of claim, the burden reverts back to the claimant to prove the validity of the claim by a preponderance of the evidence. See In re Consol. Pioneer Mort, 178 B.R. 222, 226 (9th Cir. BAP 1995), aff'd, 91 F.3d 151 (9th Cir. 1996) (quoting Allegheny Int'l, 954 F.2d at 173-74). The ultimate burden of persuasion remains at all times on the claimant. See Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039; see also Holm, 931 F.2d at 623.

ANALYSIS:

Debtors have filed a claim objection to a claim that has not been filed. Debtors have not provided any legal analysis or caselaw to indicate that their motion is permissible. Additionally, the Court notes that FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 7001(2) and (9) may require the relief requested to be brought by way of adversary proceeding, to the extent Debtors' motion seeks to have the Court determine the "validity, priority, or extent of a lien."

Nevertheless, Creditor's failure to file a proof of claim would appear to preclude this Court from considering Debtors' motion at this time.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to DENY the motion as premature.

Docket 206

Tentative Ruling:

12/10/19

BACKGROUND

On April 12, 2019, Woodcrest Ace Hardware, Inc. ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 11 voluntary petition. On May 2, 2019, the Court authorized use of cash collateral on an interim basis. On June 19, 2019, the Court extended authorization to use cash collateral. This authorization was extended a second time on September 12, 2019.

After denying a motion for substantive consolidation, the Court ordered, on July 12, 2019, that Debtor's case be jointly administered with the cases of 9 Fingers, Inc. (19-13130), P&P Hardware, Inc. (19-13131), Riverside Ace Hardware, Inc. (19-13132), and Wildomar Ace Hardware, Inc. (19-13133) (collectively, "Debtors"). The Court has authorized the employment of Brass Tax Ryder Professional Group, Inc. as accountants for Debtors, Rosenstein & Associates as counsel for Debtors, and has approved Debtors' cash management system. Debtors' case is a small business case as defined by 11 U.S.C. § 101(51C) and (51D).

On November 1, 2019, the Court issued a scheduling order which imposed a deadline of: (a) November 15, 2019 for Debtors to file their disclosure statement and Chapter 11 plan; (b) January 31, 2020 for Debtors' disclosure statement to be approved; and (3) April 17, 2020 for Debtors' Chapter 11 plan to be confirmed.

On November 15, 2019, Debtors filed their disclosure statement and Chapter 11 plan. On November 19, 2019, Debtors filed a motion for approval of their disclosure statement, which is set for hearing on January 7, 2020. Debtors also filed a motion to extend the deadline to have their Chapter 11 plan confirmed. Debtors request that the deadline to confirm their Chapter 11 plan be extended to April 17, 2020.

DISCUSSION

11 U.S.C. § 1129(e) provides:

In a small business case, the court shall confirm a plan that complies with the applicable provisions of this title and that is filed in accordance with section 1121(e) not later than 45 days after the plan is filed unless the time for confirmation is extended in accordance with section 1121(e)(3).

11 U.S.C. § 1121(e)(3) provides that requirements for extended the deadline set forth in 11 U.S.C. § 1129(e). Here, Debtors have satisfied the requirements set forth in § 1121(e)(3). Specifically, (1) Debtors have provided adequate notice of their motion to extend the § 1129(e) deadline; (2) the Court deems it more likely than not that Debtors will confirm their Chapter 11 plan within a reasonable period of time; (3) Debtors have identified a new proposed deadline, April 17, 2020; and (4) Debtors' motion is timely.

Additionally, the Court notes that its scheduling order entered on November 1, 2019, could be construed as extending the § 1129(e) deadline.

Pursuant to the Trustee's Final Report and the applications of the Accountant, the Court is inclined to APPROVE the following administrative expenses:

Trustee Fees: $3,250.00

Trustee Expenses: $172.90

Accountant Fees: $1,638.00

Accountant Costs: $273.80

With regards to Trustee's Counsel, its paralegal charge is $250 per hour instead of $150 that the Court believes is typical for paralegals in this area with similar experience doing similar work. Reducing the billable hour of the paralegal to $150 per hour, Trustee Counsel's fee would be reduced by $290 to $7,100.50.

Docket 6

Tentative Ruling:

12/11/19

BACKGROUND

On November 21, 2019 ("Petition Date"), Rajinder Adlakha filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition as an agent of Adlakha & Patel Enterprises Inc. ("Debtor").

Debtor's articles of incorporation were filed on May 2, 2008, stating that the purpose of the Debtor was to engage in any lawful act or activity for which a corporation may be organized under the General Corporation Law of California. Like this petition, Rajinder Adlakha signed the document as an agent of Debtor.

Within seven years of its creation, May 12, 2015, Debtor's agent filed a certification of dissolution for Debtor. In that certification, Rajinder Adlakha signed his name as a director of Debtor. He also made claims that the Debtor's known debts and liabilities have been actually paid and the Debtor never acquired any known assets.

In the few commencement documents that were filed, Rajinder Adlakha made some assertions as an agent of the Debtor:

1. after administrative expenses are paid, no funds will be available for distribution to unsecured creditors;
2. estimate assets of the Debtor is between zero dollars and fifty thousand dollars; and
3. estimated liabilities of the debtor are between $500,001 and $1 million dollars.

The assertions made in the certification of dissolution seem to contradict the assertions

However, a greater foible exists. Debtor petition was filed without counsel, violating LBR 9011-2(a). On November 25, 2019, the Court lodged this order to show cause. Debtor has not responded.

DISCUSSION

The Court issued the order to show cause under its inherent power.

11 U.S.C. § 105(a) states:

"The court may issue any order, process, or judgment that is necessary of appropriate to carry out the provisions of this title. No provision of this title providing for the raising of an issue by a party in interest shall be construed to preclude the court from, sua sponte, taking any action or making any determination necessary or appropriate to enforce or implement court orders or rules, or to prevent an abuse of process."

"It has been the law for the better part of two centuries, for example, that a corporation may appear in the federal courts only through licensed counsel. Rowland v. California Men's Colony, 506 U.S. 194, 202 (1993) (citing Osborn v. President of Bank of United States, 22 U.S. 738 (1984); see In re America W. Airlines, 40 F.3d 1058, 1059 (9th Cir. 1994) (stating that "corporations and other unincorporated associations must appear in court through an attorney.")

Local Bankr. Rules 9011-2(a):

"A Corporation, a partnership including a limited liability partnership, a limited liability company, or any other unincorporated association, or a trust may not file a petition or otherwise appear without counsel in any case or proceeding..."

In its quest to carry out the provisions of this title that are necessary, the Court lodged an order, asking Debtor why it should not be dismissed for failure to comply with LBR 9011-2(a). Having failed to respond, pursuant to LBR 9013-1(h), the Court has 11 U.S.C. § 362(c)(3)(C)(i)(II)(cc) provides for a statutory presumption that a case was filed in bad faith when a debtor had a case dismissed in the previous year after failing to perform the terms of a plan confirmed by the court. Here, Debtor's previous case was dismissed for failure to make plan payments on May 2, 2019. Therefore, the instant case is presumed to have been filed in bad faith. Section 362(c)(3)(C) requires that Debtor submit "clear and convincing" evidence in order to rebut the presumption that the case was filed in bad faith. Here, the evidence submitted by Debtor indicates that four months before her case was dismissed, she was injured at work. Thereafter, Debtor received disability within a month. Nevertheless, approximately three months later, Debtor's case was dismissed. Debtor has not provided any "clear and convincing" evidence establishing a change in financial circumstances between the dismissal of the previous case and the filing of the instant case. Therefore, the Court is inclined to DENY the motion.

Docket 8

Tentative Ruling:

TENTATIVE RULING:

12/17/19

Service: Proper
Opposition: None

The Court has reviewed the motion. The notice was proper, and no opposition has been filed. Debtor declares that his prior case was dismissed because he was injured at work and placed on light-duty. Debtor provided a statement of earning showing that he worked less than full-time in a two-week period; however, he declared he was injured for a longer period of time, about six months. Evidence here should establish the prior payment before injury, the reduced amount during injury, and the new amount of full pay, as well as evidence of injury.

The evidence provided by the Debtor does not rebut the presumption pursuant to 11 U.S.C § 362(c)(4) that the case was filed in good faith regarding Debtor being able to pay creditors in full. Thus, the Court is inclined to DENY the motion or continue for further evidence.

Docket 46

Tentative Ruling:

12/18/19

BACKGROUND:

On December 11, 2018, Gilberto & Grace Rodriguez ("Debtors") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On March 25, 2019, Debtors received their Chapter 7 discharge.

On February 12, 2019, Cavalry SPV I, LLC ("Cavalry I") filed a proof of claim for an unsecured claim in the amount of $4,148.30 ("Claim 10"). On the same day, Cavalry SPV II, LLC filed a proof of claim for an unsecured claim in the amount of $116.29 ("Claim 11"). On November 15, 2019, Trustee filed objections to Claim 10 and Claim 11, arguing that both claims were barred by the statute of limitations. The Court has not received opposition to either claim objection.

Chapter 7

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 502(a), a proof of claim is deemed allowed unless a party in interest objects. Absent an objection, a proof of claim constitutes prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claim under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure ("FRBP") 3001(f). See Lundell v. Anchor Constr. Specialists, Inc., 223 F.3d 1035, 1039 (9th Cir. 2000). When a party files an objection to a proof of claim, that filing "creates a dispute which is a contested matter" within the meaning of FRBP 9014 and the Court must resolve the matter after notice and opportunity for hearing upon a motion for relief. Id.

When a creditor has filed a proof of claim that complies with the rules (thereby giving rise to the presumption of validity), the burden shifts to the objecting party who must "present evidence to overcome the prima facie case." In re Medina, 205 B.R. 216, 222 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1996). To defeat the claim, the objecting party must provide sufficient evidence and "show facts tending to defeat the claim by probative force equal to that of the allegations of the proofs of claim themselves." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039 (quoting In re Holm, 931 F.2d 620, 623 (9th Cir. 1991)). "The objector must produce evidence, which, if believed, would refute at least one of the allegations that is essential to the claim's legal sufficiency." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1040 (quoting In re Allegheny Int'l, Inc., 954 F.2d 167, 173-74 (3d Cir. 1992)). If the objecting party produces sufficient evidence to negate one or more of the sworn facts in the proof of claim, the burden reverts back to the claimant to prove the validity of the claim by a preponderance of the evidence. See In re Consol. Pioneer Mort, 178 B.R. 222, 226 (9th Cir. BAP 1995), aff'd, 91 F.3d 151 (9th Cir. 1996) (quoting Allegheny Int'l, 954 F.2d at 173-74). The ultimate burden of persuasion remains at all times on the claimant. See Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039; see also Holm, 931 F.2d at 623.

11 U.S.C. § 502(b)(1) (2005) states:

(b) Except as provided in subsections (e)(2), (f), (g), (h) and (i) of this section, if such objection to a claim is made, the court, after notice and a hearing, shall determine the amount of such claim in lawful currency of the United States as of the date of the filing of the petition, and shall allow such claim in such amount, except to the extent that—

(1) such claim is unenforceable against the debtor and property of the debtor, under any agreement or applicable law for a reason other than because such claim is contingent or unmatured;

CAL. CODE CIV. P. § 337 (2016) provides a statute of limitations of four years for debts founded on written contracts, book accounts, accounts stated based upon account in writing, "balance of mutual, open and current account in writing," and rescission of written contract. Once the statute of limitations has passed, the claim is unenforceable. See e.g., Guaranty Trust Co. v. United States, 304 U.S. 126 (1938).

Claim 10 is based on an overdue phone bill. Therefore, it appears that Claim 10 fits within the category established by CAL. CODE CIV. P. § 337, and that the statute of limitations is four years. The proof of claim identifies a last payment date of December 9, 2009. This is more than four years prior to the filing of the bankruptcy case, and, therefore, Claim 10 is unenforceable.

Claim 11 is based on an overdue phone bill. Therefore, it appears that Claim 10 fits within the category established by CAL. CODE CIV. P. § 337, and that the statute of limitations is four years. The proof of claim identifies a last payment date of October 13, 2008. This is more than four years prior to the filing of the bankruptcy case, and, therefore, Claim 11 is unenforceable.

Docket 48

Tentative Ruling:

12/18/19

BACKGROUND:

On December 11, 2018, Gilberto & Grace Rodriguez ("Debtors") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On March 25, 2019, Debtors received their Chapter 7 discharge.

On February 12, 2019, Cavalry SPV I, LLC ("Cavalry I") filed a proof of claim for an unsecured claim in the amount of $4,148.30 ("Claim 10"). On the same day, Cavalry SPV II, LLC filed a proof of claim for an unsecured claim in the amount of $116.29 ("Claim 11"). On November 15, 2019, Trustee filed objections to Claim 10 and Claim 11, arguing that both claims were barred by the statute of limitations. The Court has not received opposition to either claim objection.

Chapter 7

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 502(a), a proof of claim is deemed allowed unless a party in interest objects. Absent an objection, a proof of claim constitutes prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claim under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure ("FRBP") 3001(f). See Lundell v. Anchor Constr. Specialists, Inc., 223 F.3d 1035, 1039 (9th Cir. 2000). When a party files an objection to a proof of claim, that filing "creates a dispute which is a contested matter" within the meaning of FRBP 9014 and the Court must resolve the matter after notice and opportunity for hearing upon a motion for relief. Id.

When a creditor has filed a proof of claim that complies with the rules (thereby giving rise to the presumption of validity), the burden shifts to the objecting party who must "present evidence to overcome the prima facie case." In re Medina, 205 B.R. 216, 222 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1996). To defeat the claim, the objecting party must provide sufficient evidence and "show facts tending to defeat the claim by probative force equal to that of the allegations of the proofs of claim themselves." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039 (quoting In re Holm, 931 F.2d 620, 623 (9th Cir. 1991)). "The objector must produce evidence, which, if believed, would refute at least one of the allegations that is essential to the claim's legal sufficiency." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1040 (quoting In re Allegheny Int'l, Inc., 954 F.2d 167, 173-74 (3d Cir. 1992)). If the objecting party produces sufficient evidence to negate one or more of the sworn facts in the proof of claim, the burden reverts back to the claimant to prove the validity of the claim by a preponderance of the evidence. See In re Consol. Pioneer Mort, 178 B.R. 222, 226 (9th Cir. BAP 1995), aff'd, 91 F.3d 151 (9th Cir. 1996) (quoting Allegheny Int'l, 954 F.2d at 173-74). The ultimate burden of persuasion remains at all times on the claimant. See Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039; see also Holm, 931 F.2d at 623.

11 U.S.C. § 502(b)(1) (2005) states:

(b) Except as provided in subsections (e)(2), (f), (g), (h) and (i) of this section, if such objection to a claim is made, the court, after notice and a hearing, shall determine the amount of such claim in lawful currency of the United States as of the date of the filing of the petition, and shall allow such claim in such amount, except to the extent that—

(1) such claim is unenforceable against the debtor and property of the debtor, under any agreement or applicable law for a reason other than because such claim is contingent or unmatured;

CAL. CODE CIV. P. § 337 (2016) provides a statute of limitations of four years for debts founded on written contracts, book accounts, accounts stated based upon account in writing, "balance of mutual, open and current account in writing," and rescission of written contract. Once the statute of limitations has passed, the claim is unenforceable. See e.g., Guaranty Trust Co. v. United States, 304 U.S. 126 (1938).

Claim 10 is based on an overdue phone bill. Therefore, it appears that Claim 10 fits within the category established by CAL. CODE CIV. P. § 337, and that the statute of limitations is four years. The proof of claim identifies a last payment date of December 9, 2009. This is more than four years prior to the filing of the bankruptcy case, and, therefore, Claim 10 is unenforceable.

Claim 11 is based on an overdue phone bill. Therefore, it appears that Claim 10 fits within the category established by CAL. CODE CIV. P. § 337, and that the statute of limitations is four years. The proof of claim identifies a last payment date of October 13, 2008. This is more than four years prior to the filing of the bankruptcy case, and, therefore, Claim 11 is unenforceable.

Docket 33

Tentative Ruling:

12/18/19

BACKGROUND

On September 14, 2018, Maria Marroquin filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. Schedule A did not list any real property. On November 15, 2018, Debtor amended her schedules, listing certain real property located at 1816 Montara Way, San Jacinto, CA 92583 (the "Property"). The amended schedules stated: "Property belongs to spouse as his sole and separate property. In an abundance of caution, if Trustee determines community interest exists, debtor claims exemption § 704.730(2)." [Dkt. No. 11]. On Schedule C, Debtor stated that the value of her interest in the Property was $0, and she claimed an exemption of $0 pursuant to § 704.730. On December 26, 2018, Debtor obtained her discharge.

On March 19, 2019, Trustee filed a notice of assets. On September 25, 2019, Trustee filed a complaint (the "Complaint") against Roderico Marroquin ("Defendant") for: (1) avoidance and recovery of constructively fraudulent transfers; (2) avoidance and recovery of intentional fraudulent transfers; (3) avoidance and recovery of property of the bankruptcy estate; and (4) temporary restraining order and preliminary injunction. The Complaint includes an assertion that Debtor gifted her joint tenancy interest in the Property to Roderico Marroquin on July 5, 2016. On November 8, 2019, Defendant filed an answer to the Complaint.

Chapter 7

On November 15, 2019, Trustee filed an objection to Debtor's homestead exemption. Trustee argues that either that (a) Debtor has no ownership interest in the Property; and (b) Debtor's interest in the Property would only arise if Trustee avoided the fraudulent transfer to Defendant.

DISCUSSION

There are multiple clear issues with the instant motion. First, the Court notes that the operative Schedule C identifies an exemption amount of $0. As a result, from a practical perspective, Debtor's claimed exemption does not actually exempt any dollar amount of interest in the Property. Additionally, the Court notes that the schedules appear to state that Debtor is only exempting the Property conditionally -- on the condition that Trustee determines a community property interest exists. Here, it does not appear that Trustee has determined that a community property interest exists, the condition precedent to claim the exemption has not occurred.

Nevertheless, the Court acknowledges that a successful objection to homestead exemption would be relevant to the extent that Debtor attempts to amend Schedule C in the future. Trustee's lone legal argument in support of the objection to the homestead exemption is that Debtor is precluded from claiming an exemption pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 522(g). The problem, however, is that Trustee has merely filed a complaint to recover the Property, but that action has not been completed and it appears that Defendant intends to defend himself.

Trustee's motion asserts the following:

For the purposes of § 522(g), the term 'recovers' is liberally construed. It does not require a trustee to initiate or complete a formal avoidance action under one of the enumerated code sections. Rather, a trustee may 'recover' property by merely using the threat of avoidance powers to induce a debtor or transferee to return the property to the estate.

(citation, emphasis, and quotation omitted).

The above quoted legal analysis is wholly inapplicable to the instant situation. The Court agrees that is logical to consider a trustee to have "recovered" property if the trustee induced the return of that property. Here, that has not happened. Trustee filed a complaint, Defendant filed an answer, the adversary action is pending, and the Property has not been returned. Quite simply, there has been no recovery of property and, therefore, reference to § 522(g) appears premature.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to DENY the motion as premature.

Docket 15

Tentative Ruling:

12/18/19

BACKGROUND

On September 26, 2019, Alicia Diaz ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On November 21, 2019, Debtor's case was dismissed for failure to file copies of pay stubs.

On November 26, 2019, Debtor filed a motion to vacate dismissal, stating that Debtor was a teacher who was not paid during the summer and, therefore, did not receive any wages in the sixty days prior to the petition being filed.

DISCUSSION

Debtor's caption page cites FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 9023 and 11 U.S.C. § 105. The Court notes that FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 9023 deals with new trials and, as such, is inapplicable here.

The proper legal provision for the subject motion is Local Rule 1017-2(c), which (emphasis added). Here, the Court has reviewed the motion, and Debtor has provided adequate evidence that she did not have a paycheck received in the sixty-days prior to the filing of the instant bankruptcy case

The Court is inclined to GRANT the motion, VACATING dismissal.

BACKGROUND

On August 8, 2018, Eva Gonzalez ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. Schedule A listed certain real property located at 1902 Penasco Grande, Perris, CA 92570 (the "Property"). Schedule A stated that Debtor owned the Property jointly with her ex-spouse. Schedule C claimed an exemption in the amount of $75,000. Schedule D listed a secured claim in the amount of $153,255.29. On November 19, 2018, Debtor received her discharge. Trustee subsequently employed bankruptcy counsel and a real estate broker.

On November 26, 2019, Trustee filed: (1) a motion for sale of the Property and related relief; and (2) a motion requiring Debtor to turn over the Property. Regarding the former, Trustee proposes to sell the Property to Nathalie Martin for $290,000. Pursuant to the terms of the sale motion, the sale proceeds would be distributed as follows: (a) $154,000 to Ocwen on account of a deed of trust; (b) $28,314.40 to First Technology Federal Credit Union on account of Claim 1; (c) $23,200 for costs of sale; (d) $28,085.60 to Debtor; (e) $30,452 to Debtor's ex-spouse; and (f) $25,948 for the

The distribution of the potential sale proceeds in this case is somewhat unique due to a marital settlement agreement entered into between Debtor and her ex-spouse on September 11, 2017. The waterfall outlined in Trustee's motion proposes that the deed of trust and costs of sale be deducted from the sale proceeds, leaving $112,800. Trustee then proposes to divide the resulting $112,800 so that $56,400 is attributable to Debtor's interest in the Property and $56,400 is attributable to the interest of Debtor's ex-spouse. Regarding the former, Trustee proposes to pay Claim 1, and return the remainder to Debtor on account of her homestead exemption. Regarding the latter, Trustee's proposes to keep $25,948 on account of the "Bankruptcy Estate's Claim against ex-spouse," while returning the remainder to the ex-spouse.

The marital settlement agreement, however, provides that "[t]he proceeds of the sale of the home shall be divided equally between the parties, minus any reimbursement owed to the other party." This provision appears to be in conflict with Trustee's proposed distribution. Trustee's distribution appears to assume that proceeds would be divided equally, with Debtor potentially holding a claim against her ex-spouse for reimbursements of certain pre-identified expenses. The quoted language of the marital settlement agreement, however, appears to provide for an automatic adjustment of the proceeds of the sale of the home to account for that reimbursement. When the Court applies that automatic adjustment to the sale proceeds here, the result is that $30,425 of the sale proceeds are attributable to the interest of Debtor's ex-spouse, and the remaining $82,348 of the sale proceeds are attributable to the interest of Debtor. Of the $82,348 in proceeds attributable to the interest of Debtor, $28,314.40 would be used to satisfy Claim 1, leaving $54,033.60 to satisfy Debtor's homestead exemption. Because Debtor has claimed a homestead exemption in the amount of $75,000, there would no remaining proceeds for the bankruptcy estate.

"Under the Code and California law, exemptions are to be construed broadly and liberally in favor of the debtor. Homestead exemptions, in particular, are to be construed liberally on behalf of the homesteader." In re Rolland, 317 B.R. 402, 413 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2004) (citation omitted). Because the marital settlement agreement provided for an automatic adjustment of the sale proceeds to account for certain required reimbursements, that adjustment presumably needs to occur prior to determining what amount of the proceeds are attributable to Debtor's interest and what amount is attributable to Debtor's ex-spouse's interest. Applying this adjustment prior to dividing up the proceeds between Debtor and Debtor's ex-spouse appears to leave the bankruptcy estate with no unexempt sale proceeds. Because the entirety of the sale proceeds would then be distributed to Debtor, Debtor's ex-spouse, and secured creditors, it is not clear that Trustee has satisfied the business judgment test. See, e.g., In re KVN Corp., Inc., 514 B.R. 1, 7 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2014) (quoting U.S. DOJ Exec. Office for U.S. Trs., Handbook for Chapter 7 Trustees at 4-16 (2012)) ("A trustee may sell assets only if the sale will result in a meaningful distribution to creditors.").

TENTATIVE RULING

Given the foregoing, the Court is inclined to CONTINUE the matter for Trustee to provide supplemental briefing on whether Debtor's claimed homestead exemption applies to the reimbursements required by the marital settlement agreement, or for express consent from Debtor to the proposed allocation.

BACKGROUND

On April 18, 2013, Narinder Sangha ("Defendant") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On April 25, 2013, Charles Schrader ("Plaintiff") filed an adversary complaint against Defendant for non-dischargeability pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a) (6).

On August 12, 2013, the Court entered its first scheduling order, directing the parties to complete mediation by October 16, 2013; that deadline was ultimately continued to October 29, 2013. On December 4, 2013, the Court entered a second scheduling order, directing the parties to complete mediation by January 31, 2014.

On August 7, 2014, the Court entered an order granting Plaintiff's motion for summary judgment, and a corresponding judgment. This judgment was appealed, ultimately being vacated and remanded by the Ninth Circuit on March 10, 2017. On April 19, 2017, Plaintiff filed a renewed motion for summary judgment which, after several continuances, was ultimately granted in part and denied in part on March 15, 2019 (the "Opinion").

Since the Court issued the Opinion granting partial summary judgment to Plaintiff, the parties have engaged in several discovery disputes, with Defendant switching counsel on multiple occasions during the course of the case. On May 3, 2019, Defendant filed a motion to reopen discovery. As noted by the Court on the hearing of May 22, 2019, the Court had never actually set a discovery deadline, and, therefore, the Court denied the motion. Based upon the discussion with parties at the hearings of May 22, 2019, the Court entered a scheduling order on May 24, 2019. The scheduling order set a discovery deadline of July 31, 2019, and a deadline to file dispositive motions of August 23, 2019.

On July 10, 2019, the Court heard Defendant's (then pro se) motion to serve additional discovery requests. That motion was denied for the reasons stated on the record at the hearing of July 10, 2019.

On July 30, 2019, Defendant filed a motion to extend discovery cutoff and related dates. On September 3, 2019, the Court granted Defendant's motion to extend the discovery cutoff to the limited extent of clarifying that discovery need only be propounded, not completed, by July 31, 2019. On October 16, 2019, Defendant filed a motion for sanctions against Plaintiff, which the Court ultimately denied.

On October 28, 2019, Defendant filed a motion to reconsider the Opinion, arguing that: (1) the underlying 2011 state court judgment was void for failure to properly plead damages; (2) issue preclusion was inappropriate because certain affirmative defenses were neither actually litigated nor necessarily decided; and (3) public policy is not served by application of issue preclusion. On November 12, 2019, Plaintiff filed his opposition. On November 27, 2019, Defendant filed his reply. In the reply, Defendant concedes that Plaintiff's argument, that the 2011 state court judgment was not void, is correct, and thus withdrew that argument. Defendant also withdrew his third argument to the extent it "was based on the argument that Judgment was void."

DISCUSSION

As a preliminary matter, the Court addresses Plaintiff's argument that the instant motion was untimely for failure to comply with this Court's scheduling order. The Court's scheduling order entered May 24, 2019, states that the last day for pre-trial motions to be filed and served is August 23, 2019. Plaintiff, characterizing the instant motion as a pre-trial motion, argues that the motion is untimely pursuant to the Court's scheduling order. Defendant argues that the instant motion is not a pre-trial motion, and, as such, is not untimely pursuant to the Court's scheduling order.

The Court agrees with Defendant's definition of the term pre-trial motion. The instant motion, as a motion which seeks reconsideration of an already entered order or judgment, is more properly characterized as a post-trial (or post-hearing) motion. While the motion, if granted, would affect the scope of the future trial, its direct aim, modifying a previous Court order, is not within the scope of the Court's form scheduling order.

Turning to the legal arguments raised, FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 60(b)(1), incorporated into bankruptcy proceedings by FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 9024, states:

(b) Grounds for Relief from a Final Judgment, Order, or Proceeding. On motion and just terms, the court may relieve a party or its legal representative from a final judgment, order, or proceeding for the following reasons:

(1) mistake, inadvertence, surprise, or excusable neglect

As noted by Defendant, the Ninth Circuit has previously held that errors of law fit within the scope of FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 60(b)(1). See, e.g., Kingvision Pay-Per-View Ltd. v. Lake Alice Bar, 168 F.3d 347, 350 ("Because the words 'mistake' and

'inadvertence' are not so limited, they may include mistake and inadvertence by the judge."). The Ninth Circuit's conclusion, however, is not universally accepted across circuits. See, e.g., Silk v. Sandoval, 435 F.2d 1266 (1st Cir. 1971); Swam v. United States, 327 F.2d 431 (7th Cir. 1964) (both concluding that judicial legal error does not fit within the scope of Rule 60(b)(1)).

The Sixth Circuit previously wrote the following in discussing the split of authority regarding whether judicial legal error falls within the scope of Rule 60(b)(1):

We need not choose between these conflicting views at this time. This is so because, regardless of whether we determine legal error comes within Rule 60(b)(1), the vast majority of courts that have concluded that legal error comes within the meaning of Rule 60(b)(1) have also determined that, in using the rule in this manner, the moving party must make his or her motion within the time limits for appeal. A motion under Rule 60(b) cannot be used to avoid the consequences of a party's decision to settle the litigation or to forego an appeal from an adverse ruling. Generally speaking a party who makes an informed choice as to a particular course of action will not be relieved of the consequences when it subsequently develops that the choice was unfortunate.

Steinhoff v. Harris, 698 F.2d 270, 275 (6th Cir. 1983) (quotations omitted) (citing Sampson v. Radio Corp. of Am., 434 F.2d 315 (2nd Cir. 1970); Hoffman v. Celebrezze, 405 F.2d 833 (8th Cir. 1969); Gila River Ranch, Inc. v. United States, 368 F.2d 354 (9th Cir. 1966); Schildhaus v. Moe, 335 F.2d 529 (2nd Cir. 1964); 7 MOORE, Federal Practice ¶ 60.22[2], [3] (2nd ed. 1948 & Supp. 1981); see also Hill v. McDermott, Inc., 827 F.2d 1040 (5th Cir. 1987).

As noted in the block quotation above, the Ninth Circuit previously stated, in Gila River Ranch, Inc. v. United States, 368 F.2d 354, 357 (9th Cir. 1966), that "under Rule 60(b)(1) the trial judge can, within a reasonable time not exceeding the time for appeal, hold a rehearing and change his decision." The Gila River Ranch decision has not been overturned. In 2005, the Ninth Circuit reaffirmed the validity of the Gila River Ranch holding:

Rule 60(b) authorizes relief from judgments for "mistake, inadvertence, surprise, or excusable neglect." The "mistakes" of judges may be remedied under this provision, which also encompasses mistakes in the application of the law. A trial judge may, within a reasonable time, but not exceeding the time for appeal, hold a rehearing under Rule 60(b) and change the award.

...

To be timely, Phonometrics' Rule 60 motion must have been filed within the 30-day window following the entry of the judgment awarding attorneys' fees.

Phonometrics, Inc. v. Hospitality Franchise Sys., Inc., 2005 WL 663414 at *1 (9th Cir. 2005) (citations omitted) (emphasis in original).

Therefore, pursuant to the caselaw cited above, Defendant's Rule 60(b)(1) motion premised upon judicial legal error is untimely as having been filed more than seven months after the Opinion was entered.

Tentative Ruling:

The Court is inclined to DENY the motion.

BACKGROUND

On October 16, 2017, Christy Hammond ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. Among the assets of the estate is certain real property located at 5918 Ridgegate Dr., Chino Hills, CA 91709 (the "Property"). On January 29, 2018, Debtor obtained a discharge.

On April 23, 2018, the Chapter 7 Trustee filed a notice of assets, subsequently employing an attorney, and a real estate broker. Debtor opposed Trustee's request to hold a real estate broker, and the Court approved the application after a hearing held on March 27, 2019.

On October 16, 2019, Trustee filed (1) a motion for turnover of property (the "Turnover Motion"); and (2) an adversary complaint against Kenneth Hammond seeking turnover of property from Debtor's non-filing spouse. On October 30, 2019, Debtor filed an opposition to the Turnover Motion, while also increasing her homestead exemption to $175,000.

Chapter 7

On November 20, 2019, Trustee filed an objection to Debtor's claimed homestead exemption. Trustee argues that Debtor has not established that she is entitled to claim the increased homestead exemption set forth in CAL. CODE CIV. P. § 704.730(a)(3)(B). On December 4, 2019, Debtor filed her opposition. Debtor argues that Trustee has the burden of proof in objecting to the claimed homestead exemption, and that Trustee has not met this burden. Alternatively, Debtor argues that she has adequately established her entitlement to the $175,000 homestead exemption. Specifically, Debtor argues that the increased homestead exemption is based on the alleged disability of her non-filing spouse, Kenneth Hammond, who served in the U.S. Navy. On December 11, 2019, Trustee filed a reply and a variety of evidentiary objections.

DISCUSSION

I. Burden of Proof

As a preliminary matter, the parties disagree on the burden of proof when a Trustee files an objection to a claimed exemption. FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 4003(c) states: "In any hearing under this rule, the objecting party has the burden of proving that the exemptions are not properly claimed." Trustee argues that the Supreme Court, however, held in the case of Raleigh v. Ill. Dep't of Revenue, 530 U.S. 15 (2000) that the burden of proof should be determined by reference to state law. In Raleigh, the Supreme Court was considering whether the burden of proof, in the context of a claim objection, is determined by reference to state law. Citing cases dating back to before World War 2, the Supreme Court stated that "we have long held the burden of proof to be a 'substantive' aspect of a claim. That is, the burden of proof is an essential element of the claim itself; one who asserts a claim is entitled to the burden of proof that normally comes with it." Id. at 20-21.

The Supreme Court also stated:

Chapter 7

Congress of course may do what it likes with entitlements in bankruptcy, but there is no sign that Congress meant to alter the burdens of production and persuasion on tax claims. The Code in several places, to be sure, establishes particular burdens of proof. But the Code makes no provision for altering the burden on a tax claim, and its silence says that no change was intended.

Id. at 21-22 (citation omitted). The above excerpt ended with footnote 2, which states:

The legislative history indicates that the burden of proof on the issue of establishing claims was left to the Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure. The Bankruptcy Rules are silent on the burden of proof for claims; while Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 3001(f) provides that a proof of claim (the name for the proper form for filing a claim against a debtor) is "prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claim," this rule does not address the burden of proof when a trustee disputes a claim. The Rules thus provide no additional guidance.

Id.

Thus, the Supreme Court made it clear that Congress was permitted to preempt state law burdens in the drafting of the Bankruptcy Code. Specifically, the Supreme Court cited 11 U.S.C. §§ 362(g), 363(o), 364(d)(2), 547(g), and 1129(d) as examples of instances where the Code specifically articulates a burden of proof. While under principles of preemption it is clear that Congress may delineate an applicable burden in the Bankruptcy Code, in the context of an objection to a homestead exemption, it is the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure, not the Bankruptcy Code itself, which articulates a burden of proof. As Trustee points out in its reply brief, 28 U.S.C. § 2072 provides that federal rules of procedure "shall not abridge, enlarge or modify any substantive right." Given that the Supreme Court has determined that a burden of proof is substantive, it would appear that a provision in the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure could not alter the applicable burden of proof absent a Code provision providing for such alteration.

After 2000, a number of Court have addressed the issue of whether Raleigh dictates that FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 4003(c) is invalid when a debtor exempts property under state law, and state law identifies its own burden for claiming that exemption. In California, CAL. CODE CIV. P. § 703.580(b) provides that the party claiming the exemption has the burden of proof. Therefore, in California, the applicable state law provision is in conflict with FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 4003(c).

The first case to contain an extended analysis of this conflict, post-Raleigh, appears to be In re Greenfield, 289 B.R. 146 (Bankr. S.D. Cal. 2003). In re Greenfield noted that "the propriety of Rule 4003(c) in a case such as this has been called into question." Id. at 148. Ultimately, In re Greenfield stated the following:

The court in Raleigh did indeed look to state law in placing the burden. However, Raleigh dealt with a situation – an objection to a proof of claim – for which neither the Bankruptcy Code nor the Bankruptcy Rules provide a burden of proof . . .

Contrarily, in the case of exemptions and objections thereto, the Rules do provide a specific and clear allocation of the burden – Rule 4003(c). Accordingly, the Raleigh case may not apply.

Id. at 149.

Then, in 2005, a concurring opinion at the Bankruptcy Appellate Panel, which like In re Greenfield did not actually reach a conclusion on the issue, appeared to lean the opposite direction:

Chapter 7

There is reason to doubt the validity of the allocation, in Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 4003(c), of the burden of proof to the party objecting to a claim of exemption, especially an exemption claimed under state law.

At least with respect to state-law exemptions, the better view, after the Supreme Court's decision in Raleigh v. Ill. Dep't of Revenue, 530 U.S. 15, 120 S.Ct. 195, 147 L.Ed.2d 13 (2000), may be that, if challenged, the debtor has the burden to establish entitlements to a claim of exemption under state law by the same standard that applies in the courts of that state. If so, then the objecting party does not properly bear the burden of proof.

The post-Raleigh view necessarily calls into question the validity of Rule 4003(c), which expressly allocates the burden of proof on claims of exemption: "the objecting party has the burden of proving that the exemptions are not properly claimed."

The basic problem is that Rule 4003(c) suffers from being a procedural rule that attempts to accomplish a substantive task, it being settled by Raleigh that a burden of proof in bankruptcy is substantive and generally is regarded as an essential element of a claim itself.

In re Davis, 323 B.R. 732, 741 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2005) (Judge Klein, concurring opinion).

The excerpts from In re Greenfield and In re Davis reveal the operative legal question – is FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 4003(c) invalid as a procedural rule which modifies substantive rights? Judge Klein, ten years after his concurrence in In re Davis, wrote a well-researched opinion in In re Tallerico supplementing his concurrence. Several courts, primarily in California, have agreed with his position. See, e.g., In re Diaz, 547 B.R. 329 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2016); In re Williams, 556 B.R. 456 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2016); In re Vaughn, 558 B.R. 897 (Bankr. D. Ala. 2016); In re Pashenee, 531 B.R. 834 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 2015). Other courts have concluded that FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 4003(c) is still valid despite Raleigh. See, e.g., In re Nicholson, 435 B.R. 622 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2010) (partially abrogated on other grounds); Matter of Hoffman, 605 B.R. 560 (Bankr. N.D. Ga. 2019); In re Weatherspoon, 605 B.R. 472 (Bankr. S.D. Ohio 2019). Many courts have offered extended analysis of the issue without arriving at a conclusion. See, e.g., In re Aubry, 558 B.R. 333 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2016) (Judge Kwan) (expressing skepticism that FRBP 4003(c) is invalid); In re Gilman, 544 B.R. 184 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2016) (Judge Kaufman) (stating that caselaw invalidating FRBP 4003(c) was "compelling," but acknowledging that "there is no binding authority that explicitly changes the burden allocation set forth in Carter or FRBP 4003(c)"); In re Thiem, 443 B.R. 832 (Bankr. D. Ariz. 2011) (noting dispute and presuming FRBP 4003(c) still valid for purposes of opinion). Most commonly, courts simply assume that FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 4003(c) is still valid, possibly unaware of a split in caselaw on the issue. See, e.g., In re Hanson, 903 F.3d 793 (8th Cir. 2018); In re Nuara, 607 B.R. 116 (Bankr. E.D.N.Y. 2019); In re Haworth, 604 B.R. 394 (Bankr. D. Idaho 2019). Every Circuit Court, including the Ninth Circuit, that has addressed the burden of proof when an objection to a claimed exemption is filed, has continued to refer to FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 4003(c) post-Raleigh. See, e.g., In re Lee, 889 F.3d 639 (9th Cir. 2018) ("Moreover, Rule 4003(c) provides that in any hearing under the rule, 'the objecting party has the burden of proving that the exemptions are not properly claimed.'"); In re Hanson, 903 F.3d 793 (8th Cir. 2018) ("It is the trustee's burden to demonstrate that a claimed exemption is improper."); In re Fehmel, 2010 WL 1287618 (5th Cir. 2010); In re Hodes, 402 F.3d 1005 (10th Cir. 2005) ("The objecting party bears the burden of proof on an objection to a claimed exemption.").

Judge Klein, in In re Tallerico, 532 B.R. 774 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 2015), after an extended historical discussion, concluded that "Rule 4003(c) offends the Bankruptcy Rules Enabling Act with respect to state-law exemptions and must give way to the state statute." This conclusion, that FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 4003(c) constitutes an impermissible modification of substantive rights, carries significant logical appeal given its simplicity and given the plain language of

The Court, however, cannot escape certain countervailing considerations. First, in Raleigh, the Supreme Court quickly turned to the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure to determine whether a burden of proof was articulated. 530 U.S. 15 at 22, n.2 ("The legislative history indicates that the burden of proof on the issue of establishing claims was left to the Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure. The Bankruptcy Rules are silent on the burden of proof for claims; while Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 3001(f) provides that a proof of claim (the name for the proper form for filing a claim against a debtor) is 'prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claim,' this rule does not address the burden of proof when a trustee disputes a claim. The Rules thus provide no additional guidance."). The Supreme Court, by writing "that the burden of proof on the issue of establishing claims was left to the Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure," acknowledges that Congress may delegate its authority to set the burden of proof. Indeed, delegation of Congressional authority when an "intelligible principle" is articulated has long been a feature of the American government. See, e.g., Mistretta v. U.S., 488 U.S. 361, 372 (1989) ("Applying this 'intelligible principle' test to congressional delegations, our jurisprudence has been driven by a practical understanding that in our increasingly complex society, replete with ever changing and more technical problems, Congress simply cannot do its job absent an ability to delegate power under broad general directives."). As Mistretta makes clear, the Supreme Court rarely interferes with the exercise of delegated legislative authority. Id. at 373 ("[W]e have upheld, again without deviation, Congress' ability to delegate power under broad standards.").

This observation finds support in a Bankruptcy Appellate Panel decision from 2010:

As the Supreme Court has recognized, bankruptcy exemptions are authorized and regulated by Congress in § 522 of the Bankruptcy Code. Although state law may control the 'nature and extent' of state law exemptions, subject to the limitations set forth in the Bankruptcy Code, the manner in which such exemptions are to be claimed, set apart, and awarded, is regulated and determined by the federal courts, as a matter of procedure in the court of bankruptcy administration, as to which they are not bound or limited by state decisions or statutes. Because Congress has regulated the allowance of exemptions in bankruptcy, the Code and Rules may alter burdens of proof relating to exemptions, even if those burdens are part of the "substantive" rights under state law. In implementing the provisions of § 522(l), Rule 4003(c) places the burden of proof on the objecting party.

In re Nicholson, 435 B.R. 622, 633 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2010) (partially abrogated on other grounds). In support of the above excerpt, In re Nicholson cited the Supreme Court's statement that "Congress of course may do what it likes with entitlements in bankruptcy," and the Advisory Committee Note to Rule 4003(c) which states that "This rule is derived from § 522(l) of the Code." Id.; see also 9 COLLIER'S ON BANKRUPTCY ¶ 4003.04 (16th ed. 2019) ("[T]he better-reasoned decisions recognize that the rule simply reflects the burden placed on an objector by section 522(l), a federal statute that overrides state law on this issue under the Supremacy Clause.").

While the Court does not conclude that the approach represented by In re Nicholson is the better-reasoned approach, for multiple reasons outlined below, the Court concludes that the presence of a legitimate argument that FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 4003(c) is still valid forces this Court to continue applying the rule.

First, the Supreme Court drafts the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure. Raleigh was decided in 2000, so the Supreme Court has had nineteen years, during which time there have been many rule changes, to modify or eliminate FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 4003(c). It has not done so. Additionally, the Supreme Court, in Raleigh, stated that the burden of proof has long been considered "substantive" --- citing pre-World War 2 cases in support of the proposition. Those cases long predate FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 4003(c), yet the Supreme Court drafted the rule despite the presence of those cases. Given these observations and the ambiguity regarding the continuing validity of FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 4003(c), this Court would be remiss to invalidate a binding rule of bankruptcy procedure on the basis that the Supreme Court violated its own caselaw. This is especially so when, to this Court's knowledge, every Court of Appeal that has cited the burden of proof for an objection to a homestead exemption has continued to refer to FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 4003(c) even after Raleigh.

Rather, this Court agrees with the analysis set forth in In re Weatherspoon, 605 B.R. 472, 482 (Bankr. S.D. Ohio 2019):

Although Raleigh was decided in the context of an objection to a proof of claim and did not involve Bankruptcy Rule 4003(c), some bankruptcy courts have questioned the continued viability of the rule in light of the Supreme Court's holding in that case. These cases are well-reasoned, and Ohio courts place the burden of proof on the party claiming the exemption. Thus, it could be argued that here the Debtor should shoulder the burden of proving the exemption was properly claimed. But even if decisions such as Tallerico are correctly decided, it is not for this Court to determine that Raleigh overruled Zingale by implication; instead, it must follow Zingale until the Supreme Court or the Sixth Circuit overrules it.

If trial courts disregard binding precedent and binding legal provisions on the basis that they have been implicitly overruled, especially when there are legitimate arguments to the contrary, judicial hierarchy and the entire doctrine of legal precedent would be undermined.

II. Merits

Here, as stated by Trustee, CAL. CODE CIV. P. § 704.730(a)(3)(B) provides a $175,000 homestead exemption for "[a] person physically or mentally disabled who as a result of that disability is unable to engage in substantial gainful employment." Regarding the preliminary requirement, whether her husband is disabled, Trustee states "Schedules I and J do not give any indication that Mr. Hammond was disabled as of the Petition Date. . . Debtor included unauthenticated documents and inadmissible hearsay testimony that Mr. Hammond is disabled currently, but no evidence that suggests he was disabled on October 17, 2017." [Dkt. No. 49, pgs. 4-5]. This line of argument is insufficient given that the Court has concluded it should assign Trustee the burden of proof.

Trustee's primarily focuses on the second requirement – whether Mr. Hammond's disability renders him unable to engage in substantial gainful employment. Citing In re Gilman, 544 B.R. 184, 199 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2016), Trustee argues the following:

The Gilman court disallowed the enhanced disability exemption because even though the debtor had established she was disabled, the court found she earned or had the capacity to earn at least $1,000 per month. Similarly, this Court can assess whether, on the Petition Date, Mr. Hammond had the ability to earn at least $1,170 per month. Schedule I reflects a gross income of $1,000 per month for Mr. Hammond, but the only evidence in support of this figure is Schedule I. It is very possible that he was or could have been earning at least $170 more per month. Also, there is reference in the hearsay testimony attached to the Turnover Opposition that Mr. Hammond is or was pursuing further education, which would presumably increase his earning capacity.

[Dkt. No. 49, pg. 6]. As pointed out in the opposition, this argument falls short of meeting Trustee's burden of proof.

Nevertheless, Trustee's argument raises a legitimate question regarding Debtor's eligibility to claim the enhanced homestead exemption under CAL. CODE CIV. P. § 704.730(a)(3)(B). Specifically, the Court notes that Mr. Hammond's income is close to the threshold used in In re Gilman to determine substantial gainful activity, and it appears Mr. Hammond may have been enrolled in educational courses that may have caused a temporary

Docket 40

Tentative Ruling:

11/13/19

BACKGROUND

On October 16, 2017, Christy Hammond ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. Among the assets of the estate is certain real property located at 5918 Ridgegate Dr., Chino Hills, CA 91709 (the "Property"). On January 29, 2018, Debtor obtained a discharge.

On April 23, 2018, the Chapter 7 Trustee filed a notice of assets, subsequently employing an attorney, and a real estate broker. Debtor opposed Trustee's request to hold a real estate broker, and the Court approved the application after a hearing held on March 27, 2019.

On October 16, 2019, Trustee filed (1) a motion for turnover of property (the "Motion"); and (2) an adversary complaint against Kenneth Hammond seeking turnover of property from Debtor's non-filing spouse. The Motion requests that the Court order the occupants to vacate the Property within twenty days, while outlining certain permitted actions in the event that the occupants do not timely vacate the Property.

On October 30, 2019, Debtor filed her opposition to the Motion. Debtor's primary argument is that administration of the Property will not produce a consequential benefit to the estate. According to Trustee, the value of the Property is $600,000-$615,000, the Property is encumbered by security interests totaling $402,000, Debtor claimed a homestead exemption in the amount of $100,000, and costs of sale/repairs would total $63,000. These figures would produce nonexempt equity in the range of $35,000 to $50,000. In Debtor's opposition she asserts that Trustee understates the needed repairs by $52,960. Debtor also contends that Trustee overstates the fair market value of the Property by $50,000-$65,000. Finally, Debtor has increased her homestead exemption from $100,000 to $175,000 pursuant to an amended Schedule C filed October 30, 2019 [Dkt. No. 44]. Debtor also raises various procedural and equitable arguments in her opposition.

On November 6, 2019, Trustee filed a reply. Of particular note is that Trustee states that it will file an objection to Debtor's amended homestead exemption.

DISCUSSION

11 U.S.C. § 542(a) states:

Except as provided in subsection (c) or (d) of this section, an entity, other than a custodian, in possession, custody, or control, during the case, of property that the trustee may use, sell, or lease under section 363 of this title, or that the debtor may exempt under section 522 of this title, shall deliver to the trustee, and account for, such property or the value of such property, unless such property is of inconsequential value or benefit to the estate.

Chapter 7

The standard for a turnover action is well established:

"To prevail in a turnover action under § 542, the party seeking turnover must establish (1) that the property is or was in the possession, custody or control of an entity during the pendency of the case, (2) that the property may be used by the trustee in accordance with § 363 or exempted by the debtor under § 522; and (3) that the property has more than inconsequential value or benefit to the estate."

In re Bailey, 380 B.R. 486, 490 (B.A.P. 6th Cir. 2008); see also In re Newman, 487 B.R. 193 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2013). Here, the parties dispute the third prong of the turnover standard identified above.

The Court need not address the parties' dispute regarding the fair market value of the Property because Debtor's amended Schedule C, filed October 30, 2019, increased Debtor's homestead exemption by $75,000. Because Trustee's own calculation results in realizable equity in the range of $35,000 to $50,000, Debtor's increased claimed homestead exemption eliminates all realizable equity in the subject property. Pursuant to FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 1009(a), Debtor has a right to amend her schedules "as a matter of course" until the case is closed. And, pursuant to FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 4003(c), the party objecting to a claimed exemption has the burden of proof. Therefore, in the absence of a formal objection, the Court must assume that Debtor's amended homestead exemption is valid. If Debtor's amended homestead exemption is valid, then the Property does not have consequential value to the bankruptcy estate.

Tentative Ruling:

12/18/19

BACKGROUND

On December 31, 2013, John & Livier Mata ("Debtors") filed a Chapter 7 voluntary petition. On April 14, 2014, Debtors received a discharge, and the following day their case was closed.

On April 18, 2018, Debtors filed a complaint against National Collegiate Student Loan Trust 2006-1, National Collegiate Student Loan Trust 2006-4, and National Collegiate Student Loan Trust 2007-1 (collectively, "Defendants") for determination of dischargeability. Specifically, Debtors seek a declaratory judgment that their loans were discharged. On May 18, 2018, Defendants filed their answer.

On January 9, 2019, Defendants filed a motion for summary judgment. On February 5, 2019, Debtors filed their opposition. On May 8, 2019, the Court orally granted Defendants' motion for summary judgment although no order or judgment has yet been entered.

Chapter 7

In conjunction with its filing of the motion for summary judgment, Defendants filed a motion to file confidential documents under seal. Specifically, Defendants requested that the Court seal two student loan guaranty agreements. These guaranty agreements were provided to Debtors subject to a stipulated protective order entered by the Court on December 28, 2019. After conducting an in-camera review of the agreements, the Court entered an order granting Defendants' motion to seal the documents on January 16, 2019. Subsequently, Debtors referred to the guaranty agreements when filing their opposition to the motion for summary judgment, and, on January 31, 2019, the Court granted Debtors' motion to file the documents under seal.

On November 15, 2019, the National Consumer Bankruptcy Rights Center ("NCBRC") filed a motion to intervene and a motion to unseal the guaranty agreements. On November 25, 2019, Debtors filed a memorandum of law in support of NCBRC's motions. On December 4, 2019, Defendants filed a non-opposition to NCBRC's motion to intervene in the case and an opposition to the motion to unseal documents.

Based upon the non-opposition of Defendants, and for the reasons set forth in NCBRC's motion [Dkt. No. 84], the Court is inclined to grant the motion to intervene.

As noted by the parties, 11 U.S.C. § 107 codifies and displaces the common law right of access to judicial proceeds. See, e.g., In re Roman Catholic Archbishop of Portland in Oregon, 661 F.3d 417 (9th Cir. 2011). In In re Roman Catholic Archbishop of Portland in Oregon, the Ninth Circuit stated the following:

We perceive such a divergence between § 107 and the common law. The statute speaks directly to, and diverges from, the common law right of judicial access. First, the common law rule distinguishes between dispositive and non-dispositive motions, while § 107 covers all papers filed in a bankruptcy case. Second, the common law rule gives courts the discretion to create exceptions to the general rule of disclosure to the public. By contrast, § 107 has only three exceptions: confidential business information, "scandalous or defamatory matter," and "means of identification." Third, the common law rule gives courts discretion to determine whether to protect or disclose documents, while § 107 eliminates a court's discretion by making it mandatory for a court to protect documents falling into one of the enumerated exceptions. Because § 107(b) imposes this mandatory requirement, it eliminates the balancing of public and private interests required by the common law rule if a document is scandalous or defamatory. Under § 107, the strength of the public's interest in a particular judicial record is irrelevant; if the exception pertains, the bankruptcy court must issue a protective order on a motion by the affected person or party.

Because § 107 speaks directly to and conflicts with significant aspects of the common law right of access, we join our sister circuits in holding that § 107 preempts the common law right of access in bankruptcy proceedings.

Id. at 430-31 (citations omitted). Therefore, in light of the above excerpt, the Court simply must determine whether Defendants have demonstrated that 11 U.S.C. § 107(b)(1) is applicable to the guaranty agreements. See, e.g., In re Borders Group, Inc., 462 B.R. 42, 46 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2011) ("[T]he moving party bears the burden of showing that the information is confidential."). "The burden of proof is heavy, requiring an extraordinary circumstance or compelling need." In re Motors Liquidation Co., 561 B.R. 36, 42 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2016) (quotation omitted). "Section 107(b) is not intended to save the debtor or creditors from embarrassment." In re Food Mgmt. Group, LLC, 359 B.R. 543, 554 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2007).

Within the Second Circuit, the Bankruptcy Courts for the Southern District of New York have had occasion to repeatedly consider the application of § 107(b)(1) to confidential commercial information. See, e.g., In re Borders Group, Inc., 462 B.R. 42, 47 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y.) ("For purposes of section 107(b), commercial information includes information which would cause an unfair advantage to competitors by providing them information as to the commercial operations of the debtor.") (quotations omitted); see also In re Barney's, Inc., 201 B.R. 703, 708-09 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y.) (the redacted information must be "so critical to the operations of the entity seeking the protective order that its disclosure will unfairly benefit the entity's competition"). These cases make it apparent that the sealed information in this case could potentially fall under the umbrella of confidential commercial information. See, e.g., In re Barney's, Inc., 201 B.R. 703 at 709 ("information might include, without limitation, pricing formulae, short and long term marketing strategies and the terms of the agreement with suppliers").

Nevertheless, as pointed out by NCBRC, Defendants' arguments appear to fall short of satisfying their "heavy" burden of proof. See, e.g., In re Motors Liquidation Co., 561 B.R. 36 at 43 ("Evidence – not just argument – is required to support the extraordinary remedy of sealing."). Defendants repeated assertions that "[p]ublic disclosure of this private commercial information could negatively impact Defendants' competitive standing in the student loan industry" do not appear to satisfy the evidentiary burden imposed on Defendants; if the Court were to accept this line of argument, it would effectively flip the burden of proof on to NCRBC/Debtors.

Additionally, the Court considers the importance of a thorough evidentiary record to be increased in this case due to the passage of time since the guaranty agreements were signed. See, e.g., Koch v. Greenberg, 2012 WL 1449186 at *4 (S.D.N.Y. 2012) (Materials "are all approximately 10 years old, and where commercially sensitive information is stale, this can undermine the party's (or non-party's) claim that disclosure will create a competitive disadvantage."). Noting that the documents at issue here are 15+ years old, the Court simply cannot consider Defendants' conclusory allegations as having satisfied the heavy burden of proof required in this situation to justify the extraordinary measure of sealing court records under § 107.

#3.00 Motion to set aside RE: Motion to Dismiss

EH__

Docket 53

Tentative Ruling:

12/19/19

BACKGROUND

On January 11, 2016, Elizabeth Olachea ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. On March 17, 2017, Debtor's Chapter 13 plan was confirmed, although amended confirmation orders were entered on March 22, 2017 and April 5, 2017.

On September 11, 2019, Trustee filed a motion to dismiss for failure to make plan payments. On October 1, 2019, Trustee filed a declaration stating that the delinquency had not been cured and no opposition had been filed. On October 4, 2019, the case was dismissed.

On November 20, 2019, Debtor filed a motion to vacate dismissal arguing that the case was dismissed after Trustee rejected a personal check sent to cure the outstanding arrears. This being the case, it appears that the proximate cause of the dismissal on October 4, 2019 was the failure of Debtor's attorney to promptly take action to address the situation, or to file an opposition. The motion contains no explanation as to why Debtor did not oppose the motion to dismiss.

Chapter 13

DISCUSSION

Debtor relies on FED. R. CIV. P. Rule 60(b)(1), incorporated into bankruptcy proceedings by FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 9024, which allows for relief from an order based on "mistake, inadvertence, surprise, or excusable neglect."

While Debtors' argue that the case was dismissed due to mistakenly using a personal check to cure arrears, the Court is also concerned that Debtors' counsel did not file an opposition to Trustee's motion to dismiss. It is well established that "an attorney's ignorance and carelessness does not provide grounds for Rule 60(b) relief." In re Mercado, 144 B.R. 879, 886 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1992) (citing Bershad v. McDonough, 469 F.2d 1333, 1337 (7th Cir. 1972)). And the mere assertion that counsel did not fulfill its duties, but that such carelessness was inadvertent, is clearly inadequate to support Rule 60(b) relief. See, e.g., In re ACME Motors, Inc., 125 B.R. 702, 703 (Bankr. D.R.I. 1991).

"Rule 60(b) relief is extraordinary." Id. Yet, in this court, a request for relief from a Chapter 13 dismissal order has become semi-ordinary. On occasion, the requests are legally sound. Here, however, the evidence provided simply indicates that Debtor's counsel did not attend the hearing for reasons that do not appear to be credible.

The Seventh Circuit has stated that:

[T]he clients are principals, the attorney is an agent, and under the law of agency the principal is bound by his chosen agent's deeds. The rule is that all of the attorney's misconduct (except in the cases where the act is outside the scope of employment or in cases of excusable neglect) becomes the problem of the client. A lawyer who inexcusably neglects his client's obligations does not present exceptional circumstances.

12/19/19

BACKGROUND

On June 27, 2014, Fabiola Adams ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. On August 15, 2014, Debtor's Chapter 13 plan was confirmed. Debtor's Chapter 13 plan was subsequently modified twice.

On October 21, 2019, Trustee filed a notice of intent to file final report, as well as a notice of final cure mortgage payment pursuant to FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 3002.1. On November 11, 2019, HSBC Bank USA, N.A. ("Creditor") filed a response to notice of final cure, stating that Debtor remained delinquent in the amount of $33,345.36. On November 13, 2019, Trustee filed a motion for an order denying discharge, asserting that Debtor should not receive a discharge due to her failure to complete the direct payments provided for in the Chapter 13 plan.

On November 15, 2019, Debtor filed a motion for authorization to enter into a loan modification. On December 4, 2019, Debtor filed an opposition to Trustee's motion, appearing to argue that the loan modification cured the existing default. On December 5, 2019, the Court entered an order authorizing Debtor to enter into a loan modification agreement.

Chapter 13

DISCUSSION

After reviewing the attachment to docket number 239, Debtor's motion for authority to enter into a loan modification agreement, the Court notes that it does not appear that the attached documents actually include any loan modification terms. As a result, the Court has not been presented with any evidence establishing that Debtor has, in fact, cured the delinquent direct payments to Creditor.

TENTATIVE RULING

If Debtor provides evidence sufficient to establish that Debtor has cured the delinquent direct payments to Creditor, then the Court is inclined to DENY the motion. Otherwise, the Court is inclined to CONTINUE the matter for Debtor to file supplemental evidence.

Tentative Ruling:

BACKGROUND:

On May 28, 2019, Raymond & Pamela Lauzon ("Debtors") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. On September 20, 2019, Debtors' Chapter 13 plan was confirmed.

On June 13, 2019, Ford Motor Credit Company LLC ("Creditor") filed a proof of claim ("Claim 7"). Claim 7 was amended on July 1, 2019, and is currently a secured claim in the amount of $3,525.06.

On November 12, 2019, Debtors filed an objection to Claim 7. Exhibit D to the claim objection is a certificate of title which evidences that Creditor released its lien on October 15, 2019.

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 502(a), a proof of claim is deemed allowed unless a party in interest objects. Absent an objection, a proof of claim constitutes prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claim under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure ("FRBP") 3001(f). See Lundell v. Anchor Constr. Specialists, Inc., 223 F.3d 1035, 1039 (9th Cir. 2000). When a party files an objection to a proof of claim, that filing "creates a dispute which is a contested matter" within the meaning of FRBP 9014 and the Court must resolve the matter after notice and opportunity for hearing upon a motion for relief. Id.

When a creditor has filed a proof of claim that complies with the rules (thereby giving rise to the presumption of validity), the burden shifts to the objecting party who must "present evidence to overcome the prima facie case." In re Medina, 205 B.R. 216, 222 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1996). To defeat the claim, the objecting party must provide sufficient evidence and "show facts tending to defeat the claim by probative force equal to that of the allegations of the proofs of claim themselves." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039 (quoting In re Holm, 931 F.2d 620, 623 (9th Cir. 1991)). "The objector must produce evidence, which, if believed, would refute at least one of the allegations that is essential to the claim's legal sufficiency." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1040 (quoting In re Allegheny Int'l, Inc., 954 F.2d 167, 173-74 (3d Cir. 1992)). If the objecting party produces sufficient evidence to negate one or more of the sworn facts in the proof of claim, the burden reverts back to the claimant to prove the validity of the claim by a preponderance of the evidence. *See In re Consol. 11 U.S.C. § 502(b)(1) (2005) states:

(b) Except as provided in subsections (e)(2), (f), (g), (h) and (i) of this section, if such objection to a claim is made, the court, after notice and a hearing, shall determine the amount of such claim in lawful currency of the United States as of the date of the filing of the petition, and shall allow such claim in such amount, except to the extent that—

(1) such claim is unenforceable against the debtor and property of the debtor, under any agreement or applicable law for a reason other than because such claim is contingent or unmatured;

Here, Exhibit D evidences that Creditor released its lien, and, as a result, no longer holds a secured claim. While Debtors have not provided any evidence establishing that Claim 7 was paid off, the Court concludes that the executed release of lien is sufficient to shift the burden of proof to Creditor. Creditor has not filed any opposition to the claim objection, which the Court also deems consent to the relief requested.

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to SUSTAIN the objection, DISALLOWING Claim 7.

#7.00 Motion for Setting Property Value

EH__

Docket 11

Tentative Ruling:

12/19/19

BACKGROUND

On November 19, 2019, Debra Towne ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. Among the assets of the estate is a 2013 Ford Escape (the "Property"). Pursuant to Claim 4, Bridgecrest Credit Company, LLC ("Creditor") holds a secured claim against the Property in the amount of $14,639.38

On November 21, 2019, Debtor filed a motion to value the Property. Debtor asserts that the Property should be valued at $6,050.

DISCUSSION

One of the benefits of filing a Chapter 13 bankruptcy is that under § 506(a) the debtor can bifurcate a secured, unavoidable debt, with one part representing the amount of the value of the collateral, and the deficiency being treated as an unsecured claim. See In re Penrod, 636 F.3d 1175, 1177 (9th Cir. 2011).

Chapter 13

Presently, the Ninth Circuit has not established a uniform method for valuations. See In re Ayres, 2010 WL 652825 at *5 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. 2010) (collecting cases detailing vehicle valuation and describing the state of the law in the Ninth Circuit). In In re Morales, however, which this Court has previously cited with approval, it was determined that value should be calculated "by adjusting the Kelley Blue Book or N.A.D.A. Guide retail value for a like vehicle by a reasonable amount in light of the evidence presented regarding the condition of the vehicle or any other relevant factors." In re Morales, 387 B.R. 36, 45 (Bankr.C.D.Cal.2008).

According to the court in In re Morales, the retail values, and not the private party values, are the appropriate starting points because the text of § 506(a)(2) refers to "the price a retail merchant would charge" and does not refer to the price a private party would charge. Morales at 46.

Here, Debtor has provided a N.A.D.A report identifying the clean retail value of the Property, and the Court deems the non-opposition to be consent to the relief requested pursuant to Local Rule 9013-1(h).

Tentative Ruling:

The Court is inclined to GRANT the motion, valuing the Property at $6,050, and bifurcating Claim 4 into a secured claim in the amount of $6,050 and an unsecured claim in the amount of $8,589.38.

12/19/19

BACKGROUND:

On February 25, 2019, Michael Williams ("Debtor") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. On June 13, 2019, Debtor's Chapter 13 plan was confirmed. Synchrony Bank ("Creditor") did not file an objection to the plan confirmation. The Chapter 13 plan provided for Debtor to surrender: (a) a 2017 Polaris Razor; and (b) a 2017 Suzuki RMZ 450 to Creditor (collectively, the "Vehicles").

Prior to confirmation, Creditor filed two proofs of claims. The first was filed in the amount of $5,819.81 ("Claim 10"). The second was filed in the amount of $27,461.98 ("Claim 11"). On November 5, 2019, and on October 31, 2019, respectively, Claim 10 and Claim 11 were amended to provide for a secured claim in the amount of valuation of the vehicle, and an unsecured claim for the deficiency.

On November 7, 2019, Debtor filed objections to Claim 10 and Claim 11. Debtor asserts that Creditor has refused to repossess the Vehicles, and that Claim 10 and Claim 11 should be reduced by the trade-in value of the Vehicles.

Chapter 13

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1325(a)(5), a Chapter 13 debtor has three options for treatment of a secured claim pursuant to a Chapter 13 plan. The third option is surrendering the collateral. Debtor's plan, with respect to the Vehicles, selected the third option. Section 1325(a)(5) is written in the disjunctive – therefore, Debtor is relieved from having to comply with either of the other options (i.e. making payments on the secured portion of Creditor's claims).

Claim 10 and Claim 11 identify a fair market value of the Vehicles which is higher than the trade-in value identified in Debtor's claim objection. Because Debtor only has to pay the deficiency on Claim 10 and Claim 11, and because a higher fair market value results in a lower deficiency, upon sustaining Debtor's claim objection, Debtor's unsecured liability to Creditor in bankruptcy will be more than the amount asserted in the filed proofs of claim.¹ Creditor has failed to oppose and is deemed to consent to the relief requested pursuant to Local Rule 9013-1(h).

Regarding Debtor's request that the Court order Creditor to repossess the Vehicles, Debtor has not raised any argument supporting the appropriateness of the requested relief. As is noted by a bankruptcy treatise:

Surrender in this context means simply the relinquishment of any rights in the collateral. Therefore, if the debtor no longer has possession of the collateral, actual delivery by the debtor to the creditor should not be required. There is also no requirement that the creditor consent to the surrender or actually accept possession of the collateral.

8 COLLIER'S ON BANKRUPTCY ¶ 1325.06[4] (16th ed. 2018). Here, confirmation of Debtor's Chapter 13 plan means that the Debtor (and the bankruptcy estate)

Docket 44

Tentative Ruling:

10/3/2019

BACKGROUND:

On April 15, 2019, Mark & Elizabeth Swartz ("Debtors") filed a Chapter 13 voluntary petition. On June 21, 2019, The Bank of New York Mellon f/k/a The Bank of New York as successor Indenture trustee to JPMorgan Chase Bank, National Association for CWHEQ Revolving Home Equity Loan Trust, Series 2006-F ("Creditor") filed a proof of claim for a secured claim in the amount of $157,959.06 ("Claim 5").

On July 10, 2019, Debtors filed an objection to Claim 5. Debtors argued that the information filed in support of Claim 5 is inadequate pursuant to the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure, and that, as a result, Creditor has failed to meet its burden of proof. At the hearing of August 22, 2019, the Court noted that there appeared to be an error on the proof of service which resulted in Creditor's notice address being misstated. For that reason, the Court continued the matter for proper service.

On August 30, 2019, Debtors filed a renewed objection to Claim 5. The Court notes that notice and service are now proper.

APPLICABLE LAW:

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 502(a), a proof of claim is deemed allowed unless a party in interest objects. Absent an objection, a proof of claim constitutes prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claim under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure ("FRBP") 3001(f). See Lundell v. Anchor Constr. Specialists, Inc., 223 F.3d 1035, 1039 (9th Cir. 2000). When a party files an objection to a proof of claim, that filing "creates a dispute which is a contested matter" within the meaning of FRBP 9014 and the Court must resolve the matter after notice and opportunity for hearing upon a motion for relief. Id.

When a creditor has filed a proof of claim that complies with the rules (thereby giving rise to the presumption of validity), the burden shifts to the objecting party who must "present evidence to overcome the prima facie case." In re Medina, 205 B.R. 216, 222 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1996). To defeat the claim, the objecting party must provide sufficient evidence and "show facts tending to defeat the claim by probative force equal to that of the allegations of the proofs of claim themselves." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039 (quoting In re Holm, 931 F.2d 620, 623 (9th Cir. 1991)). "The objector must produce evidence, which, if believed, would refute at least one of the allegations that is essential to the claim's legal sufficiency." Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1040 (quoting In re Allegheny Int'l, Inc., 954 F.2d 167, 173-74 (3d Cir. 1992)). If the objecting party produces sufficient evidence to negate one or more of the sworn facts in the proof of claim, the burden reverts back to the claimant to prove the validity of the claim by a preponderance of the evidence. See In re Consol. Pioneer Mort, 178 B.R. 222, 226 (9th Cir. BAP 1995), aff'd, 91 F.3d 151 (9th Cir. 1996) (quoting Allegheny Int'l, 954 F.2d at 173-74). ANALYSIS:

11 U.S.C. § 502(b)(1) (2005) states:

(b) Except as provided in subsections (e)(2), (f), (g), (h) and (i) of this section, if such objection to a claim is made, the court, after notice and a hearing, shall determine the amount of such claim in lawful currency of the United States as of the date of the filing of the petition, and shall allow such claim in such amount, except to the extent that—

(1) such claim is unenforceable against the debtor and property of the debtor, under any agreement or applicable law for a reason other than because such claim is contingent or unmatured;

FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 3001(c)(2) identifies certain required information that a claimant must attach to a proof of claim in order for the claim to be afforded prima facie validity. In particular, the Court notes that Rule 3001(c)(2)(A) and (C) provide requirements related to the itemization of non-principal amounts and escrow amounts, respectively.

The Court finds Debtors' assertion that the supporting information is inadequate to be well-founded. The mortgage proof of claim attachment includes the following information. Part 2 identifies a principal balance of $98,982.98, interest due of $55,486.25, and fees and costs of $3,489.83. Part 3 identifies a pre-petition arrears of $87,692.60, of which $84,202.77 was principal and $3,489.83 was the aforementioned costs. And Part 4 asserts that the month payment includes $607.39 for principal and interest and $549.90 for escrow.

The two figures which do not appear to be justified in the supporting documentation are the $55,486.25 in interest and the $549.90 monthly payment for escrow. The Court notes that the loan payment history spreadsheet provided by Creditor does not contain any itemization for interest or escrow, and, furthermore, the entire column relating to accrued interest balance and accrued escrow balance is zeroed out.

Because Creditor has failed to separate principal, interest, and escrow, as directed by FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 3001(c)(2), and, noting that Debtors have declared that there is no escrow account relating to the second mortgage, the Court is unable to determine the validity or amount of the prepetition default identified in column G of the loan payment history. The Court has also not been provided with any itemization or calculation of the interest amount, alleged to be $55,486.25.

As a result, the Court is inclined to reduce Claim 5 to $102,472.81, representing the principal balance and fees and costs due in part 2 of the loan payment history, with a prepetition arrearage amount of $0.

11 U.S.C. § 362(c)(3)(C)(i)(II)(cc) provides for a statutory presumption that a case was filed in bad faith when a debtor had a case dismissed in the previous year after failing to perform the terms of a plan confirmed by the court. Here, Debtors' previous case was dismissed for failure to make plan payments on January 24, 2019. Therefore, the instant case is presumed to have been filed in bad faith. Section 362(c)(3)(C) requires that Debtor submit "clear and convincing" evidence in order to rebut the presumption that the case was filed in bad faith. Here, the evidence submitted by Debtors indicates that the husband's income has increased. The evidence submitted by Debtors, however, does not provide any detail regarding the amount of the increase in income. Therefore, Debtors have not provided any "clear and convincing" evidence establishing a change in financial circumstances between the dismissal of the previous case and the filing of the instant case which would rebut the statutory presumption of bad faith.

Therefore, the Court is inclined to DENY the motion.

#19.00 Motion By United States Trustee To Dismiss Chapter 13 Case With A Re-filing Bar

EH__

Docket 17

Tentative Ruling:

12/19/19

BACKGROUND

On October 24, 2019, Jesus & Claudia Palomares ("Debtors") filed a skeletal Chapter 13 voluntary petition. Debtors have had bankruptcy cases previously dismissed in: (1) February 2012; (2) March 2014; (3) December 2014; (4) February 2015; (5) June 2019; and (6) October 2019. The last four cases were dismissed for failure to file information. Debtors received discharges in: (1) 1998 (Chapter 7 case); and (2) January 2016 (Chapter 7 case).

On October 29, 2019, Debtors filed the balance of their case commencement documents, as well as a motion to impose the automatic stay. The motion to impose the automatic stay was ultimately denied pursuant to an order entered December 4, 2019.

On November 15, 2019, UST filed a motion to dismiss the case with a re-filing bar, requesting a re-filing-bar of one year. The instant case was filed pro se, as were four of the six previously dismissed cases. Of the six previously dismissed cases, three were dismissed for failure to file documents, two were dismissed voluntarily, and one was dismissed for failure to make plan payments.

Chapter 13

DISCUSSION

Regarding UST's request to dismiss the case, 11 U.S.C. § 1307(c) provides a non-exhaustive list of grounds for dismissal of a Chapter 13 case. Noting that § 1307(c) is not exhausting, UST requests that the case be dismissed for bad faith. As noted by UST, the Ninth Circuit in In re Leavitt, 171 F.3d 1219 (9th Cir. 1999) outlined factors that the Court should consider when determining whether a case has been filed in bad faith:

- (1) whether the debtor misrepresented facts in his or her petition or plan, unfairly manipulated the Bankruptcy Code or otherwise filed the Chapter 13 petition or plan in an inequitable manner;
- (2) the debtor's history of filings and dismissals;
- (3) whether the debtor's only purpose in filing for chapter 13 protection is to defeat state court litigation; and
- (4) whether egregious behavior is present.

at 1224. The Court finds that factors (1), (3), and (4) are present in the instant case. Specifically, Debtor has had two previous cases dismissed in the past six months, and six cases dismissed in the past eight years. This is the fifth pro se filing in the past five years; all of the previous four filings were dismissed within two months of the petition date. Additionally, the Court notes that Debtors have omitted four of the seven previous filings from their disclosure of previous cases on the petition. Finally, as is noted by the Chapter 13 Trustee on his objection to confirmation [Dkt. No. 23], there are extensive, fatal deficiencies in the Debtors' prosecution of the instant case.

The court notes that it empowered to impose a refiling bar under 11 U.S.C. § 349(a). As COLLIER notes, courts' analysis of this section is somewhat confused due to confounding "dismissal with prejudice" with "dismissal with injunction against future filings." COLLIER ON BANKRUPTCY ¶ 349.02[3]; compare In re Garcia, 479 B.R. 488 (Bankr. N.D. Ind. 2012) (denying motion for dismissal with prejudice, but imposing three-year refiling bar) with In re Craighead, 377 B.R. 648 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. 2007) (appearing to equate dismissal with prejudice with an injunction against refiling).

Chapter 13

There is also a circuit split concerning whether an injunction on refiling for more than 180 days is allowed under the Bankruptcy Code. Compare In re Frieouf, 938 F.2d 1099 (10th Cir. 1991) (180 days is maximum allowed length of refiling injunction) with Casse v. Key Bank Nat. Ass'n, 198 F.3d 327 (2nd Cir. 1999) (injunction against filing for more than 180 days permissible). 11 U.S.C. § 349(a) reads:

Unless, the court, for cause, orders otherwise, the dismissal of a case under this title does not bar the discharge, in a later case under this title, of debts that were dischargeable in the case dismissed; nor does the dismissal of a case under this title prejudice the debtor with regard to the filing of a subsequent petition under this title, except as provided in section 109(g) of this title.

The disagreement revolves around whether the qualifier "Unless, the court, for cause, orders otherwise" modifies the content after the semi-colon. In re Leavitt noted this disagreement, but since the court was dealing with a dismissal with prejudice, rather than an injunction against refiling, it did not resolve the issue. 209 B.R. 935, 942 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1997). Within the Ninth Circuit, it appears the trend is to adopt the reasoning of the Second Circuit and allow injunctions for more than 180 days, and the Court agrees with that reading of the statute. See e.g. In re Velasques, 2012 WL 8255582 at *3 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 2012).

Here, the instant bankruptcy is Debtor's fourth skeletal filing in the previous seven months. Furthermore, Debtor failed to disclose any previous filings in the voluntary petition, which is signed under penalty of perjury. For these reasons, the Court is inclined to find the requested one-year refiling bar to be appropriate in the circumstances presented.

Moreover, Debtor's failure to oppose is deemed consent to the relief requested pursuant to Local Rule 9013-1(h).

TENTATIVE RULING

The Court is inclined to either GRANT the motion, dismissing the case with a one-

As is noted by Rosetta Canyon Community Association, the instant motions [Dkt. Nos. 21-24] all identify the first deed of trust as the subject lien in ¶ 2 of the motion. As a result, the motions contain contradictory requests for relief. Additionally, the Court notes that docket numbers 21 and 22 appear to be identical, when the Court presumes that docket number 21 actually intended to request avoidance of the second trust deed. Finally, it would appear that the earlier HOA liens may either no longer be valid due to the passage of time or because the recorded abstract of judgment superseded the previously recorded notices of delinquent assessments.

Apart from these issues noted above, the Court notes that Exhibit 1 adequately establishes that the first trust deed was approximately $492,350 as of the petition date, and Exhibits 10 and 11 adequately establish that the fair market value was approximately $390,000 as of the petition date. Therefore, aside from notice and due process errors, Debtors appear to have satisfied the § 506 requirements for bifurcating the wholly undersecured claims of the junior lienholders.

Based on the foregoing, the Court is inclined to DENY all motions without prejudice.

As is noted by Rosetta Canyon Community Association, the instant motions [Dkt. Nos. 21-24] all identify the first deed of trust as the subject lien in ¶ 2 of the motion. As a result, the motions contain contradictory requests for relief. Additionally, the Court notes that docket numbers 21 and 22 appear to be identical, when the Court presumes that docket number 21 actually intended to request avoidance of the second trust deed. Finally, it would appear that the earlier HOA liens may either no longer be valid due to the passage of time or because the recorded abstract of judgment superseded the previously recorded notices of delinquent assessments.

Apart from these issues noted above, the Court notes that Exhibit 1 adequately establishes that the first trust deed was approximately $492,350 as of the petition date, and Exhibits 10 and 11 adequately establish that the fair market value was approximately $390,000 as of the petition date. Therefore, aside from notice and due process errors, Debtors appear to have satisfied the § 506 requirements for bifurcating the wholly undersecured claims of the junior lienholders.

Based on the foregoing, the Court is inclined to DENY all motions without prejudice.

APPEARANCES REQUIRED.

Docket 9

Tentative Ruling:

12/10/2019

Service is Improper
Opposition: None

11 U.S.C. § 362(c)(3)(C)(i)(II)(cc) provides for a statutory presumption that a case was filed in bad faith when a debtor had a case dismissed in the previous year after failing to perform the terms of a plan confirmed by the court. Here, Debtor's previous case was dismissed for failure to make plan payments on October 31, 2019. Therefore, the instant case is presumed to have been filed in bad faith. Section 362(c)(3)(C) requires that Debtor submit "clear and convincing" evidence in order to rebut the presumption that the case was filed in bad faith. Here, the evidence submitted by Debtor indicates that she is now receiving family support. The evidence submitted by Debtor does not provide any detail regarding the source, amount, or duration of the family support now received. Therefore, Debtor has not provided any "clear and convincing" evidence establishing a change in financial circumstances between the dismissal of the previous case and the filing of the instant case.

Chapter 13

Additionally, the Court notes that Judge Houle's self-calendaring procedures require that motions to continue the automatic stay which are served on shortened time be served on secured creditors pursuant to FED. R. BANKR. P. Rule 7004. Here, Debtor has not complied with this service requirement.

Therefore, the Court is inclined to DENY the motion.

#79.00 CONT Notice of Motion and Motion in Individual Case for Order Imposing a Stay or Continuing the Automatic Stay as the Court Deems Appropriate 9215 Trovita Cir, Riverside, CA 92508

MOVANT: VICTOR MANUEL ROSALES

From: 12/17/19

EH ____

Docket 8

Tentative Ruling:

TENTATIVE RULING:

12/17/19

Service: Proper
Opposition: None

The Court has reviewed the motion. The notice was proper, and no opposition has been filed. Debtor declares that his prior case was dismissed because he was injured at work and placed on light-duty. Debtor provided a statement of earning showing that he worked less than full-time in a two-week period; however, he declared he was injured for a longer period of time, about six months. Evidence here should establish the prior payment before injury, the reduced amount during injury, and the new amount of full pay, as well as evidence of injury.

The evidence provided by the Debtor does not rebut the presumption pursuant to 11 U.S.C § 362(c)(4) that the case was filed in good faith regarding Debtor being able to pay creditors in full. Thus, the Court is inclined to DENY the motion or continue for further evidence.

APPEARANCES REQUIRED.
