The State Bar's refusal to lift Plaintiff's involuntary inactive enrollment was a violation of the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. § 362 and constituted discriminatory treatment under 11 U.S.C. § 525.

Plaintiff requests damages for her loss of livelihood from July 12, 2013 through July 16, 2014. Plaintiff also requests costs of suit, including attorneys' fees, interest and other relief as the Court deems appropriate.

On May 10, 2017, the State Bar filed an answer to the FAC (the "Answer") [doc. 125]. In the Answer, the State Bar denied all relevant allegations in the FAC and asserted six affirmative defenses: (A) failure to state a claim; (B) Plaintiff's damages were caused in whole or in part by Plaintiff's own actions; (C) Plaintiff's damages were caused in whole or in part by third parties; (D) failure to mitigate losses; (E) the State Bar was not the cause of any losses alleged by Plaintiff; and (F) the Court lacks subject matter jurisdiction.

On December 14, 2017, Plaintiff filed a motion to extend deadlines ("Plaintiff's Motion to Extend") [doc. 192]. On February 16, 2018, the Court entered an order granting Plaintiff's Motion to Extend (the "February 2018 Scheduling Order") [doc. 273]. Among other things, the February 2018 Scheduling Order set forth procedures for resolving discovery disputes in this adversary proceeding. Thereunder, when a party wishes to move to compel discovery, the moving party is required to transmit a letter via email to the opposing party, requesting documents. The opposing party is then required to send a letter within a two week period responding to the request (but not necessarily providing the requested documents). In the event of the opposing party's failure to respond, or inadequate response, the moving party is permitted to file a motion to compel attaching the discovery letter and response [doc. 273, pp. 2-3]. The Court adopted these procedures to excuse the parties from the meet and confer requirements under LBR 7026-1(c).

On December 7, 2017, the State Bar filed a motion to compel the continued deposition of Plaintiff (the "State Bar's First Motion to Compel") [doc. 181], asserting that Plaintiff refused to answer questions regarding her law practice. On December 15, 2017, Plaintiff filed a motion for a protective order requesting the Court prohibit the State Bar from questioning Plaintiff about her law practice (the "Motion for Deposition Order") [doc. 194].

On January 4, 2018, Plaintiff filed a motion for a protective order requesting the Court seal Plaintiff's medical records and tax returns [doc. 209]. On February 15, 2018, the Court entered a protective order limiting testimony and production of Plaintiff's medical records and tax returns (the "Plaintiff's Protective Order") [doc. 272].

On March 7, 2018 the State Bar filed a second motion to compel production of documents by Plaintiff (the "State Bar's Second Motion to Compel"). In evidence of compliance with the Plaintiff's Protective Order, the Declaration of Marc A. Shapp in support of the Motion [doc. 294] attached a discovery letter sent by email and U.S.

Mail on February 16, 2018 (the "Discovery Letter") [doc. 294, Exh. A], as well as a response letter from Plaintiff sent on March 2, 2018 (the "Response Letter") [doc. 294, Exh. B]. The State Bar seeks to compel production of documents in response to the following requests:

- 1) All documents referring to, relating to, or evidencing, any economic and non-economic harm suffered as a result of the Defendant, or any of its representatives, agents or employees' actions in this adversary proceeding" (document request number two);
- 2) All tax returns from 2009 through 2014, inclusive (encompassed within its document requests five and six);
- 3) All documents evidencing pension or retirement income, including but not limited to government-sponsored programs such as Social Security, as well as any other sources of private retirement income from January 1, 2009 through December 31, 2014 (encompassed within its document requests four and six);
- 4) All documents evidencing disability insurance income from January 1, 2012 through December 31, 2014 (encompassed within its document requests six and eleven);
- 5) All documents relating to Plaintiff's application for or the approval of disability insurance benefits Plaintiff received from January 1, 2012 through December 31, 2014 (encompassed within its document requests six and eleven).

On March 14, 2018, Plaintiff filed an opposition to the State Bar's Second Motion to Compel [doc. 308]. Therein, Plaintiff states that she will not produce her tax returns until the persons identified as "qualified persons" in the Plaintiff's Protective Order send her the non-disclosure agreements required in that order (the "NDAs"). Plaintiff asserts that she has no other documents in her possession responsive to the State Bar's requests.

Information within this scope of discovery need not be admissible in evidence to be discoverable.*

Pursuant to Rule 26(b)(2)(B),

On a motion to compel discovery or for a protective order, the party from whom discovery is sought must show that the information is not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. If that showing is made, the court may nonetheless order discovery from such sources if the requesting party shows good cause. Alternatively, the court may impose conditions on such discovery.

Pursuant to Rule 34, a party may serve on any other party a request within the scope of Rule 26(b) to "produce and permit the requesting party or its representative to inspect, copy, test, or sample" items in the "responding party's possession, custody, or control." In response, a party is obligated to produce all specified relevant and nonprivileged documents or other things that are in his or her possession, custody or control. If a party seeking a discovery is dissatisfied with the response, it may seek a court order requiring the responding party to provide an affidavit describing the efforts made to locate the documents. (4) Evasive or Incomplete Disclosure, Answer, or Response.
For purposes of this subdivision (a), an evasive or incomplete disclosure, answer, or response must be treated as a failure to disclose, answer, or respond.

Federal courts generally recognize a right of privacy that can be raised in response to discovery requests. Johnson by Johnson v. Thompson, 971 F.2d 1487, 1497 (10th Cir. 1992). However, unlike a privilege, the right of privacy is not an absolute bar to discovery. Courts balance the need for the information against the claimed privacy right under the following factors:

(1) the type of information requested, (2) the potential for harm in any subsequent non-consensual disclosure, (3) the adequacy of safeguards to prevent unauthorized disclosure, (4) the degree of need for access, and (5) whether there is an express statutory mandate, articulated public policy, or other recognizable public interest militating toward access.

See Seaton v. Mayberg, 610 F.3d 530, 539, 541, fn. 47 (9th Cir. 2010), citing Tucson Woman's Clinic v. Eden, 379 F.3d 531, 551 (9th Cir. 2004).

III. THE STATE BAR'S DOCUMENT REQUESTS

1) All documents referring to, relating to, or evidencing, any economic and non-economic harm suffered as a result of the Defendant, or any of its representatives, agents or employees' actions in this adversary proceeding" (relating to its document request number two)

The State Bar asserts that Plaintiff has previously withheld documents responsive to this request for want of a protective order. Now, it argues, that the Court has issued the Plaintiff's Protective Order, Plaintiff no longer has a stated basis for withholding such responsive documents. The Response Letter indicates that Plaintiff plans to respond to this request by producing her tax returns. The State Bar believes that Plaintiff has possession or control of more documents responsive to the request. Because the State Bar cannot determine the completeness of Plaintiff's production until it is made, it requests that the Court issue an order requiring Plaintiff to make such production within 10 days of entry of the order.

Plaintiff has stated that she will not produce documents responsive to this request until she receives the NDAs. This is in accordance with the text of the Plaintiff's Protective Order. Thereunder, "prior to receiving" any confidential documents, including tax returns, each person qualified to receive the confidential documents was required to "execute a nondisclosure agreement" a copy of which is required to be "immediately provided to Plaintiff" [doc. 272, p. 3]. As of the date the Opposition was filed, Plaintiff had not yet received the NDAs signed by the State Bar's attorneys in compliance with the Plaintiff's Protective Order.

Plaintiff has indicated that she is in possession of documents responsive to this request [doc. 29, Exh. D, pp. 11-12]. In response to a Rule 34 demand, a party must produce documents that are in their possession, custody or control. Once Plaintiff receives the signed NDAs she will no longer have a stated reason for withholding the documents. Consequently, the Court will grant the Motion as to this request, conditioned on Plaintiff's prior receipt of the NDAs.

- 2) All tax returns from 2009 through 2014, inclusive (relating to its document requests five and six)

Plaintiff's response to the discovery letter states that she will provide those tax returns that she "can locate." The State Bar argues that this is not sufficient as a matter of law. The State Bar requests that the Court enter an order requiring Plaintiff to produce tax returns for the years between 2009 and 2014 no more than 10 days from the entry of the order. To the extent that Plaintiff cannot locate tax returns for the relevant period, the State Bar requests that the Court require Plaintiff to obtain transcripts from the IRS and produce them to the State Bar within 30 days of the entry of the order.

Under Rule 34, Plaintiff must produce documents that are in her possession, custody or control. The rule does not condition the requirement to produce on the producing party's possession of the document, and the fact that a party does not have possession of the document does not absolve them of the requirement to produce it. Although Plaintiff may not be in possession of her tax returns, as the State Bar points out, the IRS provides a convenient means of obtaining tax return transcripts from prior years for free. Thus, Plaintiff is in "control" of her tax return transcripts, and must produce them. Accordingly, the Court will grant the Motion as to this request, conditioned on Plaintiff's prior receipt of the NDAs.

- 3) All documents evidencing pension or retirement income, including but not limited to government-sponsored programs such as Social Security, as well as any other sources of private retirement income from January 1, 2009 through December 31 2014 (relating to its document requests four and six)

a) Relevance

In the Response Letter, Plaintiff objects to this request as irrelevant. She argues that information about her retirement income is irrelevant because the issue is what she could have earned if her license was reinstated, and she has already established that she was indigent during the relevant period. The State Bar argues that the requested documents are relevant because they contain information about her finances during the time period for which her involuntary inactive enrollment overlapped with her bankruptcy case. This information will help determine the nature and extent of the injury Plaintiff suffered.

Plaintiff seeks relief in part in the form of payment for actual damages to compensate her for her loss of income and "loss of livelihood." In order to determine what Plaintiff's loss of income was, the parties must present information about Plaintiff's earnings during the relevant period. The Court will overrule Plaintiff's relevance objection.

b) Invasion of Privacy

Plaintiff asserts that this request violates her right to privacy under Article I of the California Constitution, the Plaintiff's Protective Order and federal law.

Pursuant to Federal Rule of Evidence ("FRE") 501, testimonial privileges in federal question cases are governed by federal common law. A federal question case is one that arises under federal law. 28 U.S.C. § 1331 (giving district courts original jurisdiction over all civil actions arising under federal law). The FAC alleges violation of the automatic stay and the discharge injunction under 11 U.S.C. §§ 362 and 524 and discriminatory treatment under § 525(a). Because these are federal bankruptcy law statutory provisions, the case presents federal questions under 28 U.S.C. § 1331. Consequently, Plaintiff's reliance on the California Constitution's privacy protections is misplaced.

Plaintiff cites to the Supreme Court of the United States' decision in Griswold v. Connecticut, 381 U.S. 479 (1965), in support of her argument regarding a fundamental federal right to privacy. Plaintiff is correct that federal courts have recognized a right to privacy in connection with discovery, and that "fishing" for evidence is not encouraged. However, the State Bar has articulated a specific need for the financial information it seeks, and outlined how that information is relevant to the damages calculation in this proceeding. In addition, Plaintiff does not articulate specific reasons she believes that disclosure of information regarding social security or retirement income would be harmful to her. Consequently, the Court will overrule Plaintiff's objection based on privacy.

c) Plaintiff's Control Over Relevant Documents

The State Bar also argues that Plaintiff has an affirmative obligation to obtain her financial records from third parties, even if she does not currently possess them. As with Plaintiff's tax returns, the State Bar requests that the Court compel Plaintiff to produce all of her financial statements for the requested period not later than 10 days after the entry of the order to compel, and, to the extent that she fails to locate the responsive documents, to obtain them from her bank or banks and produce them to the State Bar within 30 days of entry of the order.

As discussed above, Plaintiff has "control" of any documents which she can obtain upon request. To the extent that the State Bar seeks documents such as bank records regarding private retirement plans, Plaintiff can request those from her bank or banks and has the requisite "control" giving rise to a production obligation under Rule 34. In addition, as with her tax return transcripts and her bank records, Plaintiff has an obligation to obtain her records from the Social Security Administration (the "SSA"), which, as noted by the State Bar, is a service that the SSA provides for free. Consequently, Plaintiff must produce those documents related to this request that she can access, not only the ones currently in her possession. The Court will grant the Motion as to this request, conditioned on the Plaintiff first receiving the NDAs.

- 4) All documents evidencing disability insurance income from January 1, 2012 through December 31, 2014, and all documents relating to Plaintiff's application for or the approval of disability insurance benefits Plaintiff received (relating to its document requests six and eleven).

In the Response Letter, Plaintiff states that she was receiving food stamps, and then in 2013 she began receiving Social Security Disability payments, and stopped receiving food stamps. She states that she no longer has her application for social security benefits or any other records responsive to these requests. Plaintiff asserts that the information responsive to this request would be included on her tax returns.

The State Bar contends that Plaintiff's response is insufficient. The State Bar requires more information regarding the basis for Plaintiff's qualification for disability insurance, not just the amount she received, in order to craft its arguments regarding her loss of livelihood damages. In addition, the State Bar plans to make arguments based on the U.S. Social Security Administration's provision of disability insurance to Plaintiff, and it will need evidence to support those arguments.

As discussed above, Plaintiff has control of the information about her disability insurance available to her through the SSA, and therefore has an obligation to produce it. Consequently, the Court will grant the Motion as to these requests as well.

IV. CONCLUSION

The Court will grant the State Bar's Second Motion to Compel as to document request numbers two, four, five, six, and eleven, conditioned on the Plaintiff first receiving the NDAs.

The State Bar must submit the order within seven (7) days.

Tentative Ruling from 3/28/18

The Court will grant the Motion to Amend the February 15, 2018 Protective Order Limiting Testimony and Production of Plaintiff's Medical Records and Tax Returns (the "Motion") [doc. 299], filed by the State Bar of California (the "State Bar"), as set forth below.

I. SERVICE

The State Bar filed and served the Motion on March 7, 2018, only 21 days before the hearing, which is allowable under LBR 9013-1(d)(2). Marilyn S. Scheer ("Plaintiff") asserts that she was served on March 8, 2018, and therefore she objects to the untimely served motion. However, since Plaintiff had notice of the motion, and timely served a response, the one-day delay does not appear to have caused her harm.

II. BACKGROUND

On January 4, 2018, Plaintiff filed a motion for a protective order requesting the Court seal Plaintiff's medical records and tax returns [doc. 209]. On February 15, 2018, the Court entered a protective order limiting testimony and production of Plaintiff's medical records and tax returns (the "Plaintiff's Protective Order") [doc. 272].

On March 7, 2018, the State Bar filed the Motion [doc. 299]. The Motion requested that the Court amend the Plaintiff's Protective Order to include Vanessa Holton, the State Bar General Counsel, as a "qualified person" under the Order. On March 21, 2018, the State Bar filed a statement of its procedures for settlement claims (the "Settlement Procedures") [doc. 321]. Therein, the State Bar explained that its General Counsel may authorize the settlement of claims that do not implicate a material policy issue up to $25,000. In addition, the State Bar's General Counsel normally obtains settlement authority from the Board of Trustees in the event that the settlement amount in question exceeds $25,000.

On March 14, 2018, Plaintiff filed an opposition to the Motion (the "Opposition") [doc. 307]. Plaintiff also argues that the State Bar never mentioned Vanessa Holton in discussions regarding the Plaintiff's Protective Order or at any time earlier in this proceeding.

III. DISCUSSION

Pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure ("Rule") 26(b)(1)—

Unless otherwise limited by court order, the scope of discovery is as follows: Parties may obtain discovery regarding any nonprivileged matter that is relevant to any party's claim or defense and proportional to the needs of the case, considering the importance of the issues at stake in the action, the amount in controversy, the parties' relative access to relevant information, the parties' resources, the importance of the discovery in resolving the issues, and whether the burden or expense of the proposed discovery outweighs its likely benefit. district where the deposition will be taken. The motion must include a certification that the movant has in good faith conferred or attempted to confer with other affected parties in an effort to resolve the dispute without court action. The court may, for good cause, issue an order to protect a party or person from annoyance, embarrassment, oppression, or undue burden or expense....

"Rule 26(c) confers broad discretion on the trial court to decide when a protective order is appropriate and what degree of protection is required." Seattle Times Co. v. Rhinehart, 467 U.S. 20, 36, 104 S.Ct. 2199, 81 L.Ed.2d 17 (1984). The party seeking the protective order has the burden "to 'show good cause' by demonstrating harm or prejudice that will result from the discovery." Rivera v. NIBCO, Inc., 364 F.3d 1057, 1063 (9th Cir.2004). Furthermore, courts have "broad authority to fashion a protective order that serves the interests of the parties and the administration of justice." Sony Computer Entm't Am., Inc. v. NASA Elecs. Corp., 249 F.R.D. 378, 381 (S.D. Fla. 2008).

The Settlement Procedures indicate that as the State Bar's General Counsel, Ms. Holton has authority regarding any settlement discussions in this case. Accordingly, it appears appropriate that she have access to the pertinent discovery documents, so that she can make informed decisions regarding any settlement discussions. This Court has broad authority to fashion a protective order that serves the interests of the parties. Plaintiff has asserted that it is in her interest to settle this dispute. It therefore appears to be in Plaintiff's interest to allow Ms. Holton to be included in the Plaintiff's Protective Order as a qualified person.

IV. CONCLUSION

The Court will grant the Motion.

The State Bar must submit the order within seven (7) days.

I. BACKGROUND

On July 12, 2013, Marilyn S. Scheer ("Plaintiff") filed a voluntary chapter 7 petition. On November 1, 2013, Plaintiff filed a complaint against the State Bar of California (the "Defendant"), Luis J. Rodriguez, Joseph Dunn, Joanna Remke and Kenneth E. Bacon ("Defendants"), alleging violation of the automatic stay and the discharge injunction under 11 U.S.C. §§ 362 and 524 and discriminatory treatment under § 525 (a).

On November 28, 2016, Plaintiff filed the first amended complaint (the "FAC") [doc. 95]. This time, Plaintiff named only Defendant, Mr. Dunn and Mr. Bacon. The Court subsequently dismissed the claims against Mr. Dunn and Mr. Bacon [doc. 118]. In relevant part, the FAC alleges:

The State Bar's refusal to lift Plaintiff's involuntary inactive enrollment was a violation of the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. § 362 and constituted discriminatory treatment under 11 U.S.C. § 525.

Plaintiff requests damages for her loss of livelihood from July 12, 2013 through July 16, 2014. Plaintiff also requests costs of suit, including attorneys' fees, interest and other relief as the Court deems appropriate.

On May 10, 2017, the State Bar filed an answer to the FAC (the "Answer") [doc. 125]. In the Answer, the State Bar denied all relevant allegations in the FAC and asserted six affirmative defenses: (A) failure to state a claim; (B) Plaintiff's damages were caused in whole or in part by Plaintiff's own actions; (C) Plaintiff's damages were caused in whole or in part by third parties; (D) failure to mitigate losses; (E) the State Bar was not the cause of any losses alleged by Plaintiff; and (F) the Court lacks subject matter jurisdiction.

On December 14, 2017, Plaintiff filed a motion to extend deadlines ("Plaintiff's Motion to Extend") [doc. 192]. On February 16, 2018, the Court entered an order granting Plaintiff's Motion to Extend (the "February 2018 Scheduling Order") [doc. 273].

The February 2018 Scheduling Order also set forth procedures for resolving discovery disputes in this adversary proceeding. Thereunder, when a party wishes to move to compel discovery, the moving party is required to transmit a letter via email to the opposing party, requesting documents. The opposing party is then required to send a letter within a two week period responding to the request (but not necessarily providing the requested documents). In the event of the opposing party's failure to respond, or inadequate response, the moving party is permitted to file a motion to compel attaching the discovery letter and response [doc. 273, pp. 2-3]. The Court adopted these procedures to excuse the parties from the meet and confer requirements under LBR 7026-1(c).

On December 7, 2017, Defendant filed a motion to compel the continued deposition of Plaintiff (the "Defendant's First Motion to Compel") [doc. 181], asserting that Plaintiff refused to answer questions regarding her law practice. On December 15, 2017, Plaintiff filed a motion for a protective order requesting the Court prohibit the State Bar from questioning Plaintiff about her law practice (the "Motion for Deposition Order") [doc. 194].

On January 4, 2018, Plaintiff filed a motion for a protective order requesting the Court seal Plaintiff's medical records and tax returns [doc. 209]. On February 15, 2018, the Court entered a protective order limiting testimony and production of Plaintiff's medical records and tax returns (the "Plaintiff's Protective Order") [doc. 272].

On January 11, 2018, Defendant filed seven motions in limine (the "Defendant's Motions in Limine") [doc. 213], asking the Court to prevent Plaintiff from introducing evidence of damages at trial. On January 17, 2018, Defendant filed a protective order (the "Defendant's Motion for Global Protective Order") [doc. 225], requesting a global protective order to govern this adversary proceeding. On February 26, 2018, the Court entered orders denying Defendant's Motions in Limine [doc. 285] and Defendant's Motion for Global Protective Order [doc. 286].

On March 7, 2018 Defendant filed a second motion to compel production of documents by Plaintiff (the "Defendant's Second Motion to Compel"). On March 28, 2018, the Court continued the hearing on Defendant's Second Motion to Compel until May 2, 2018 at 2:30 p.m., matter #11.

On March 26, 2018, Defendant filed a third motion to compel the release of information held by the Social Security Administration regarding Plaintiff Marilyn S. Scheer (the "Defendant's Third Motion to Compel") [doc. 323]. In evidence of compliance with Plaintiff's Protective Order, the Declaration of Marc A. Shapp in support of the Motion [doc. 324] attached a discovery letter sent by email and U.S. Mail on February 23, 2018 (the "Discovery Letter") [doc. 324, Exh. B], as well as a response letter from Plaintiff sent on March 2, 2018 (the "Response Letter") [doc. 324, Exh. C].

On April 17, 2018, Plaintiff filed an opposition to Defendant's Third Motion to Compel [doc. 338]. Therein, Plaintiff states that the information Defendant seeks is irrelevant and overly broad. Plaintiff asserts that the discovery of information regarding her medical records and disability benefits should be limited to the year 2013 to 2014.

On April 11, 2018, Plaintiff filed Plaintiff's Second Motion for Protective Order. On April 18, 2018, Defendant filed an opposition to Plaintiff's Second Motion for Protective Order [doc. 339]. Therein, Defendant objects to Plaintiff's Second Motion for Protective Order because it will prevent Defendant from obtaining information highly relevant to Plaintiff's damages claim. Plaintiff informed Defendant that she applied for disability benefits in December 2012 and began receiving benefits in late 2013. Thus, the proposed timeframe would prohibit Defendant from accessing Plaintiff's disability application entirely.

II. DISCUSSION

Pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure ("Rule") 26(b)(1)—

Unless otherwise limited by court order, the scope of discovery is as follows: Parties may obtain discovery regarding any nonprivileged matter that is relevant to any party's claim or defense and proportional to the needs of the case, considering the importance of the issues at stake in the action, the amount in controversy, the parties' relative access to relevant information, the parties' resources, the importance of the discovery in resolving the issues, and whether the burden or expense of the proposed discovery outweighs its likely benefit. Information within this scope of discovery need not be admissible in evidence to be discoverable.

(emphasis added). Pursuant to Rule 26(b)(2)(C)(iii), "the court must limit the frequency or extent of discovery otherwise allowed by these rules or by local rule if it determines that...the proposed discovery is outside the scope permitted by Rule 26(b)(1)."

Pursuant to Rule 26(b)(2)(B),

On a motion to compel discovery or for a protective order, the party from whom discovery is sought must show that the information is not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. If that showing is made, the court may nonetheless order discovery from such sources if the requesting party shows good cause. Alternatively, the court may impose conditions on such discovery.

Pursuant to Rule 34, a party may serve on any other party a request within the scope of Rule 26(b) to "produce and permit the requesting party or its representative to inspect, copy, test, or sample" items in the "responding party's possession, custody, or control." In response, a party is obligated to produce all specified relevant and nonprivileged documents or other things that are in his or her possession, custody or control. If a party seeking a discovery is dissatisfied with the response, it may seek a court order requiring the responding party to provide an affidavit describing the efforts made to locate the documents. Request for Production of Documents and Things (FRCP 34), Rutter Group Prac. Guide Fed. Civ. Pro. Before Trial Ch. 11(IV)-C, citing Buchanan v. Consol. Stores Corp., 206 F.R.D. 123, 125 (D. Md. 2002).

The phrase "possession, custody, or control" is disjunctive and a party need not be in actual possession of a document to be produced. In re Bankers Trust Co., 61 F3d 465, 469 (6th Cir. 1995), also see Soto v. City of Concord, 162 F.R.D. 603, 619 (N.D. Cal. 1995). A legal right, authority, or practical ability to obtain documents on demand constitutes "control" for purposes of FRCP 34(a)(1). United States v. International Union of Petroleum & Industrial Workers AFL-CIO, 870 F2d 1450, 1452 (9th Cir. 1989), see In re Legato Systems, Inc. Secur. Litig., 204 FRD 167, 169 (N.D. Cal. 2001) (party entitled to obtain a transcript of his testimony before SEC was in "control" thereof and must obtain and produce it in response to Rule 34 request).

Pursuant to Rule 37—

(a) Motion for an Order Compelling Disclosure or Discovery

(1) In General. On notice to other parties and affected person, a party may move for an order compelling disclosure or discovery. The motion must include certification that the movant has in good faith conferred or attempted to confer with the person or party failing to make disclosure or discovery in an effort to obtain it without court action.

required by Rule 26(a), any other party may move to compel disclosure and for appropriate sanctions.

(B) To Compel a Discovery Response. A party seeking discovery may move for an order compelling an answer, designation, production, or inspection. This motion may be made if:

- iii. a party fails to answer an interrogatory submitted under Rule 33; or
- iv. a party fails to produce documents or fails to respond that inspection will be permitted—or fails to permit inspection—as requested under Rule 34.

(4) Evasive or Incomplete Disclosure, Answer, or Response.

For purposes of this subdivision (a), an evasive or incomplete disclosure, answer, or response must be treated as a failure to disclose, answer, or respond.

Federal courts generally recognize a right of privacy that can be raised in response to discovery requests. Johnson by Johnson v. Thompson, 971 F.2d 1487, 1497 (10th Cir. 1992). However, unlike a privilege, the right of privacy is not an absolute bar to discovery. Courts balance the need for the information against the claimed privacy right under the following factors:

- (1) the type of information requested, (2) the potential for harm in any subsequent non-consensual disclosure, (3) the adequacy of safeguards to prevent unauthorized disclosure, (4) the degree of need for access, and (5) whether there is an express statutory mandate, articulated public policy, or other recognizable public interest militating toward access.

applied for in December 2012 [doc. 294, Exh. B at p. 5]. Plaintiff states that she no longer has her application for social security benefits. Plaintiff asserts that discovery and disclosure of her medical records and information regarding disability benefits should be limited to the year 2013 to 2014. Plaintiff asserts that the information responsive to this request would be included on her tax returns, which she already provided to Defendant.

Defendant contends that Plaintiff's response is insufficient. Defendant requires more information regarding the basis for Plaintiff's qualification for disability insurance, not just the amount she received, in order to craft its arguments regarding her loss of livelihood damages. In addition, Defendant plans to make arguments based on the fact that the SSA provided the disability insurance, and will need evidence to support those arguments.

a) Relevance

Plaintiff objects to this request as irrelevant. She argues that information regarding the disability benefits she received from the SSA should be limited to the year 2013 to 2014 because the issue is what she could have earned if her license was reinstated. Defendant argues that the requested documents are relevant to Plaintiff's damages claim.

Plaintiff seeks relief in part in the form of payment for actual damages to compensate her for her loss of income and "loss of livelihood." In order to determine what Plaintiff's loss of income was, the parties must present information about Plaintiff's potential earnings during the relevant period. This information will help determine the nature and extent of the injury Plaintiff suffered. The Court will overrule Plaintiff's relevance objection.

b) Invasion of Privacy

Plaintiff asserts that this request violates her right to privacy under Article I of the California Constitution, Plaintiff's Protective Order and federal law.

Pursuant to Federal Rule of Evidence ("FRE") 501, testimonial privileges in federal question cases are governed by federal common law. A federal question case is one that arises under federal law. 28 U.S.C. § 1331 (giving district courts original jurisdiction over all civil actions arising under federal law). The FAC alleges violation of the automatic stay and the discharge injunction under 11 U.S.C. §§ 362 and 524 and discriminatory treatment under § 525(a). Because these are federal bankruptcy law statutory provisions, the case presents federal questions under 28 U.S.C. § 1331. Consequently, Plaintiff's reliance on the California Constitution's privacy protections is misplaced.

Plaintiff cites to the Supreme Court of the United States' decision in Griswold v. Connecticut, 381 U.S. 479 (1965), in support of her argument regarding a fundamental federal right to privacy. Plaintiff is correct that federal courts have recognized a right to privacy in connection with discovery, and that "fishing" for evidence is not encouraged. However, Defendant has articulated a specific need for the information it seeks, and outlined how it is relevant to the damages calculation in this proceeding. In addition, Plaintiff does not articulate specific reasons she believes that disclosure of this information would be harmful to her, or why Defendant's Proposed Protective Order, which is identical to the February 2018 Protective Order, will not sufficiently protect this information. Consequently, the Court will overrule Plaintiff's objection based on privacy.

c) Collateral Source Rule

Plaintiff argues that the collateral source rule prohibits the use of her disability payments at trial. Plaintiff cites to the Supreme Court of the United States' decision in Eichel v. New York Cent RR Co., 375 U.S. 253 (1965), in support of her argument regarding the exclusion of evidence of disability benefits.

"Under the collateral source rule, 'benefits received by the plaintiff from a source collateral to the defendant may not be used to reduce that defendant's liability for damages.'" McLean v. Runyon, 222 F.3d 1150, 1155–56 (9th Cir. 2000) (citing 1 dan B. Dobbs, Law Of Remedies § 3.8(1) at 372–73 (2d ed.1993)). "The primary justifications for the collateral source rule are that the defendant should not get a windfall for collateral benefits received by the plaintiff and that the defendant should not profit from benefits that the plaintiff has paid for himself." Id. at 1156.

Here, Defendant seeks evidence regarding Plaintiff's disability application and benefits in order to determine the nature and extent of the injury Plaintiff suffered. This information is relevant to Plaintiff's entitlement to damages and her claim of "loss of livelihood."

Even if the collateral source rule did bar introduction of evidence at trial of Plaintiff's disability benefits, and the justification she used for their receipt, pursuant to Rule 26 (b)(1), information sought during discovery need not be admissible in evidence to be discoverable.

Plaintiff has an obligation to obtain her records from the SSA. Defendant provided Plaintiff with a consent form that she needs to sign in order for Defendant to obtain the information from the SSA. Consequently, the Court will grant the Motion as to the request to order Plaintiff to sign a consent form.

However, the consent form Defendant provided to Plaintiff requests information dating back to January 1, 2011 [doc. 324, Exh. B]. Plaintiff states that she applied for disability benefits in December 2012. Defendant may request information from the SSA from January 2012 to August 2014. Defendant will need to provide a new consent form to Plaintiff with these dates.

IV. THE DEFENDANT'S PROPOSED PROTECTIVE ORDER

Both parties agree that a protective order is appropriate to govern the use and disclosure of information related to Plaintiff's disability benefits. Thus, it appears there is good cause to enter a protective order. Defendant's Proposed Protective Order is identical to the February 2018 Protective Order, except in respect to what information it governs. The Court will enter Defendant's Proposed Protective Order.

V. THE PLAINTIFF'S SECOND MOTION FOR PROTECTIVE ORDER

For the reasons stated above, the Court will deny Plaintiff's Second Motion for Protective Order.

I. BACKGROUND

A. Plaintiff's Chapter 7 Case

On June 30, 2017, Steven Mark Rosenberg ("Plaintiff") filed his voluntary chapter 7 petition. In his chapter 7 case, Plaintiff was represented by Charles Shamash. Plaintiff's bankruptcy case docket indicates that a $335 chapter 7 petition filing fee was paid [1:17-bk-11748-VK, doc. 1]. The bankruptcy case docket does not indicate that Plaintiff sought a waiver of the filing fee, or that Plaintiff requested to pay the filing fee in installments. On October 10, 2017, Plaintiff received his chapter 7 discharge [1:17-bk-11748-VK, doc. 21]. On March 15, 2018, Plaintiff's chapter 7 case was closed [1:17-bk-11748-VK, doc. 32].

B. The Adversary Complaint

On November 27, 2017, Debtor filed an adversary complaint ("Complaint") against Deutsche Bank National Trust Company ("Deutsche Bank"), Ocwen Loan Servicing, Inc. ("Ocwen"), Alliance Bancorp, Inc. ("Alliance"), Alliance Bancorp Estate Trustee Charles A. Stanziale, Jr., MERS Mortgage Electronic Registration Systems, Inc. ("MERS"), One West Bank ("One West"), and Does 1-25. The 27-page Complaint alleges causes of action for violation of 11 U.S.C. § 524(a), violation of Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 3001(c)(2)(B) and (C), fraudulent concealment, violation of 18 U.S.C. § 157 and declaratory relief, and demands a jury trial. In the Complaint, Plaintiff alleges that a deed of trust was forged and that subsequent assignments of that deed of trust are void.

On January 23, 2018, Plaintiff voluntarily dismissed the Complaint with respect to Defendants CIT Bank (f.k.a. One West Bank, erroneously sued as One West Bank) and Alliance [doc. 13]. That dismissal left Deutsche Bank, MERS and Ocwen ("Defendants") as the remaining defendants in this action.

C. Motion for Judgment on the Pleadings

On February 13, 2018, Ocwen and MERS filed a motion for judgement on the pleadings (the "Motion for Judgment on the Pleadings") [doc. 16]. On March 9, 2018, Deutsche Bank, the current beneficiary of the loan secured by the deed of trust at issue, filed a joinder in the Motion for Judgment on the Pleadings [doc. 24]. On March 21, 2018, Plaintiff filed an opposition to the Motion for Judgment on the Pleadings. On March 28, 2018, Defendants filed a reply [doc. 32].

On April 18, 2018, the Court held a hearing on the Motion for Judgment on the Pleadings. Prior to the hearing, the Court had issued a tentative ruling to grant the Motion for Judgment on the Pleadings, without leave to amend. Plaintiff appeared and asked the Court to consider his application for appointment of counsel (the "Application") [doc. 34] before entering a final ruling on the Motion for Judgment on the Pleadings. The Court continued the hearing on the Motion for Judgment on the Pleadings to May 2, 2018, to coincide with the hearing on the Application.

D. Plaintiff's Chapter 13 Case

On March 31, 2018, Plaintiff filed a voluntary chapter 13 petition, commencing case no. 1:18-bk-10546-MT. Plaintiff's chapter 13 bankruptcy docket indicates that he is represented by Michael Jay Berger, and that a $310 chapter 13 petition filing fee was paid [1:18-bk-10546-MT, doc. 1]. The chapter 13 bankruptcy docket does not indicate that Plaintiff requested to pay the filing fee in installments.

In his chapter 13 schedules I and J, Plaintiff indicates that his monthly income is $2,722.51 and his monthly expenses are $2,171.00, leaving $551.51 in net monthly income [1:18-bk-10546-MT, doc. 12, at p. 25.] In his chapter 13 plan, Plaintiff proposes to pay $550 per month in plan payments for the 60-month duration of the plan [1:18-bk-10546-MT, doc. 15, at p. 2].

On April 4, 2018, Plaintiff filed the Application, seeking appointment of counsel pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(1). In the Application, Plaintiff asks the Court to appoint counsel to assist him with his adversary proceeding. Plaintiff states that he is indigent and cannot afford to hire counsel. (Declaration of Steven Mark Rosenberg, ¶ 3.) Plaintiff's only income is from his pension, and he has no legal training or expertise. (Id., ¶¶ 4–5.) He has contacted at least six attorneys, but none would assist him with the pending case for a fee that he could afford. (Id., ¶¶ 6–7.) Plaintiff argues that the appointment of counsel would expedite the resolution of his case and give him a chance for a fair hearing. Plaintiff states his legal proceedings over the years have cost him "thousands of dollars." (Id., ¶ 14.)

On April 19, 2018, Deutsche Bank filed an amended opposition to the Application [doc. 37]. Deutsche Bank argues that 28 U.S.C. § 1915 does not apply to bankruptcy courts. Plaintiff has not applied for leave to proceed in forma pauperis in his recent chapter 13 case. Nor Plaintiff established a basis for appointment of counsel under 28 U.S.C. § 1915, which applies only to parties proceeding in forma pauperis. Furthermore, Plaintiff's claims for relief are time-barred and meritless. As such, Plaintiff cannot establish the likelihood of success required for the appointment of counsel in a civil case.

On April 26, 2018, Plaintiff filed an affidavit reply [doc. 39]. Plaintiff states that he receives "$2,765 as income" from his pension, which is insufficient to hire counsel. Plaintiff asks the Court to consider his age and health as factors supporting appointment of counsel. Plaintiff states that he spends money only on necessities and not on luxury items. Plaintiff argues that a party need not be absolutely destitute to obtain leave to proceed in forma pauperis under 28 U.S.C. § 1915.

II. DISCUSSION

28 U.S.C. § 1915 provides, in relevant part:

(a)(1) Subject to subsection (b), any court of the United States may authorize the commencement, prosecution or defense of any suit, action or proceeding, civil or criminal, or appeal therein, without prepayment of fees or security therefor, by a person who submits an affidavit that includes a statement of all assets such prisoner possesses that the person is unable to pay such fees or give security therefor.

Such affidavit shall state the nature of the action, defense or appeal and affiant's belief that the person is entitled to redress.

(2) A prisoner seeking to bring a civil action or appeal a judgment in a civil action or proceeding without prepayment of fees or security therefor, in addition to filing the affidavit filed under paragraph (1), shall submit a certified copy of the trust fund account statement (or institutional equivalent) for the prisoner for the 6-month period immediately preceding the filing of the complaint or notice of appeal, obtained from the appropriate official of each prison at which the prisoner is or was confined.

(b)(1) Notwithstanding subsection (a), if a prisoner brings a civil action or files an appeal in forma pauperis, the prisoner shall be required to pay the full amount of a filing fee. The court shall assess and, when funds exist, collect, as a partial payment of any court fees required by law, an initial partial filing fee of 20 percent of the greater of—

(A) the average monthly deposits to the prisoner's account; or

(B) the average monthly balance in the prisoner's account for the 6-month period immediately preceding the filing of the complaint or notice of appeal.

(2) After payment of the initial partial filing fee, the prisoner shall be required to make monthly payments of 20 percent of the preceding month's income credited to the prisoner's account. The agency having custody of the prisoner shall forward payments from the prisoner's account to the clerk of the court each time the amount in the account exceeds $10 until the filing fees are paid.

(3) In no event shall the filing fee collected exceed the amount of fees permitted by statute for the commencement of a civil action or an appeal of a civil action or criminal judgment.

(4) In no event shall a prisoner be prohibited from bringing a civil action or appealing a civil or criminal judgment for the reason that the prisoner has no assets and no means by which to pay the initial partial

(iii) seeks monetary relief against a defendant who is immune from such relief.

"[T]he appointment of counsel in a civil case is, as is the privilege of proceeding in forma pauperis, a matter within the discretion of the district court. It is a privilege and not a right." U.S. ex rel. Gardner v. Madden, 352 F.2d 792, 793 (9th Cir. 1965). A "court abuses its discretion if it fails to rule upon a motion for appointment of counsel before granting a motion of the defendant disposing of the case." Johnson v. U.S. Dep't of Treasury, 939 F.2d 820, 824 (9th Cir. 1991).

"A motion for appointment of counsel under 28 U.S.C. § 1915 is addressed to the sound discretion of the trial court and is granted only in exceptional circumstances." Franklin v. Murphy, 745 F.2d 1221, 1236 (9th Cir. 1984).

A finding of exceptional circumstances requires an evaluation of both "the likelihood of success on the merits [and] the ability of the petitioner to articulate his claims pro se in light of the complexity of the legal issues involved." Weygandt v. Look, 718 F.2d 952, 954 (9th Cir.1983) . . . . Neither of these factors is dispositive and both must be viewed together before reaching a decision on request of counsel under section 1915(d) [predecessor statute to section 1915(e)(1)].

Wilborn v. Escalderon, 789 F.2d 1328, 1331 (9th Cir. 1986).

A. Applicability of 28 U.S.C. § 1915 to the Pending Bankruptcy Adversary Proceeding

A review of the language of 28 U.S.C. § 1915 shows that the statute refers specifically to a "prisoner" requesting to proceed in forma pauperis in a "court of the United States[.]" Here, Plaintiff is not incarcerated. However, section 1915(e)(1) authorizes a court of the United States to request an attorney to represent "any person unable to afford counsel." (emphasis added).

In Perroton v. Gray (In re Gray), 958 F.2d 889 (9th Cir. 1992), the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals held that "because [a] bankruptcy court is not a 'court of the United States' under the definition of that phrase contained in [28 U.S.C.] § 451 and does not have the authority to waive fees under [28 U.S.C.] § 1915(a)," the Ninth Circuit Bankruptcy Appellate Panel appropriately dismissed the debtor's appeal for failure to pay the filing fee. Id. at 896.

Perroton concerned a debtor's failure to pay required filing fees for prosecuting an appeal with the Bankruptcy Appellate Panel, and the denial of his motion to proceed in forma pauperis. Here, Plaintiff does not appear to be seeking leave to proceed in forma pauperis. Rather, Plaintiff argues that his indigence and inability to obtain counsel warrant the appointment of counsel by the Court to represent him in the pending adversary proceeding.

B. Appointment of Counsel

As an initial matter, 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(1) provides that "[t]he court may request an attorney to represent any person unable to afford counsel[.]" "Section 1915 does not authorize the expenditure of federal funds to appoint counsel, and it does not authorize a court to order an unwilling lawyer to represent an indigent. The statute simply authorizes the court to request a lawyer to represent an indigent." In re Fitzgerald, 167 B.R. 689, 692 n.2 (Bankr. N.D. Ga. 1994) (emphasis in original). Accordingly, even if this Court were to make such a request, the Court cannot order an attorney to represent Plaintiff or authorize payment of such counsel from federal funds.

Plaintiff's allegations regarding his indigence are inconsistent with his filings in this Court. Plaintiff alleges that he has limited income of $2,765.00, presumably per month, from his pension. Plaintiff alleges that his expenses consist of necessities and not luxuries. Plaintiff alleges that he has contacted several attorneys to represent him in this case, but he cannot afford to pay the fees they charge. However, in his chapter 7 case, Plaintiff retained counsel and a filing fee of $335 was paid for filing his chapter 7 petition. Plaintiff did not request a waiver of the filing fee, or request to pay the filing fee in installments. In his chapter 13 case, Plaintiff also retained counsel and a filing fee of $310 was paid for filing his chapter 13 petition. Plaintiff did not request to pay the filing fee in installments. Plaintiff's income may be limited, but his income is regular and provides him with sufficient funds to pay $550 per month in chapter 13 plan payments.

Even assuming that this Court has the authority to appoint counsel pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(1), and that Plaintiff is indigent, it does not appear that there are exceptional circumstances here that warrant such relief. As for Plaintiff's ability to articulate his claims pro se, the legal issues involved in Plaintiff's adversary proceeding are not complex. At its heart, the Complaint involves allegations of fraudulent conduct by various lending institutions regarding a deed of trust and several assignments of that deed of trust. Plaintiff was able to articulate his claims in the 27-page Complaint, cite legal authority, and attach supporting exhibits to the Complaint. In the pending Application, Plaintiff was able to cite case authority regarding the appointment of counsel in civil cases.

As for Plaintiff's likelihood of success on the merits, the Court has issued a tentative ruling granting the Motion for Judgment on the Pleadings without leave to amend. Accordingly, it does not appear that there is a likelihood of success on the merits that would warrant the appointment of counsel in the pending adversary proceeding.

III. CONCLUSION

In light of the foregoing, the Court will deny the Application.

Tentative Ruling from 4/18/18

I. BACKGROUND

On June 30, 2017, Steven Mark Rosenberg ("Plaintiff") filed his voluntary chapter 7 petition. On October 10, 2017, Plaintiff received his chapter 7 discharge [1:17-bk-11748-VK, doc. 21]. On November 27, 2017, Debtor filed an adversary complaint ("Complaint") against Deutsche Bank National Trust Company ("Deutsche Bank"), Ocwen Loan Servicing, Inc. ("Ocwen"), Alliance Bancorp, Inc. ("Alliance"), Alliance Bancorp Estate Trustee Charles A. Stanziale, Jr., MERS Mortgage Electronic Registration Systems, Inc. ("MERS"), One West Bank ("One West"), and Does 1-25.

The Complaint alleges causes of action for violation of 11 U.S.C. § 524(a), violation of Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure ("FRBP") 3001(c)(2)(B) and (C), fraudulent concealment, violation of 18 U.S.C. § 157 and declaratory relief, and demands a jury trial. The Complaint bases these claims on the following facts:

Plaintiff is the sole beneficiary of the Isadore and Norma P. Rosenberg Trust, and a personal representative of the Estate of Isadore Rosenberg, who passed away in 2008. Complaint, ¶ 8.

On March 15, 2007 an alleged deed of trust (the "DOT") securing a $390,000 promissory note was recorded against real property owned by Isadore Rosenberg located at 15814 Septo Street, North Hills, CA 91343 (the "Property"). The DOT was recorded for the benefit of Ampro Mortgage, a division of United Financial Mortgage Corporation ("Ampro"), the predecessor to Alliance as the lender, and MERS as nominee for the lender. Isadore was feeble with macular degeneration at the time and could not have signed the documents. Complaint, ¶ 9.

On April 16, 2008, Ampro assigned the DOT to IndyMac Bank, FSB ("IndyMac") via MERS, but that assignment was not acknowledged until August 2008 [doc. 1, Exh. 1]. Ampro filed a chapter 7 bankruptcy petition and was dissolved on February 1, 2008. By the time of the purported assignment, Ampro had been dissolved.

Also on April 16, 2008, IndyMac transferred the DOT to Deutsche Bank as trustee for Alliance 2007-OA1, but was not acknowledged until December 29, 2009 [doc. 1, Exh 2]. A third "correction of assignment" was recorded on March 17, 2017. Complaint, ¶ 30.

The Pooling and Service Agreement regarding the DOT (the "PSA") provided that the depositor, master servicer, trustee or the securities administrator were not authorized to accept contributions to the real estate mortgage investment conduits after the closing date on May 30, 2007. The appropriate processing for the Property was never properly transferred to Alliance Bancorp 2007 OA-1 per the requirements of the PSA prospectus. Consequently, Defendants have never had proper title to the property. Complaint ¶ 16, 27-31, 36-38.

The DOT and accompanying documents (e.g., the grant deed and adjustable rate rider) bears a signature forged by Isadore Rosenberg's former caregiver, David Curtis Harder. The Complaint includes a Forensic Handwriting Expert Summary Report [doc. 1, Exh. 4].

On August 29, 2009, Plaintiff filed an action via the probate proceedings for Isadore Rosenberg's estate, seeking to determine title to the Property and asserting that the DOT was a forgery (the "Probate Action"). Complaint, ¶ 13-14. Plaintiff filed a request to voluntarily dismiss the Probate Action in January 2015, and the probate court granted the request with prejudice. Plaintiff appealed, and the appellate court reversed the order of dismissal, ordering the petition be dismissed without prejudice. The Probate Action was dismissed without prejudice on January 19, 2017. Complaint, ¶ 20.

Since 2008, One West and Deutsche Bank have initiated a number of wrongful foreclosure proceedings against Plaintiff. One West and Deutsche Bank do not have rights to foreclosure based on legitimate documentation, because Alliance never had a proper loan. Based on this, under the California Homeowner's Bill of Rights, Plaintiff seeks redress of material violations of the foreclosure process.

None of the entities listed as Defendants in this adversary proceeding filed a proof of claim in the main bankruptcy case. At the time the adversary complaint was filed, a nonjudicial foreclosure of the Property was scheduled for November 28, 2017.

On January 23, 2018, Plaintiff voluntarily dismissed the Complaint with respect to Defendants CIT Bank (f.k.a. One West Bank, erroneously sued as One West Bank) and Alliance Bancorp [doc. 13]. That dismissal left Deutsche Bank, MERS and Ocwen ("Defendants") as the only remaining parties to this action.

On February 13, 2018, Ocwen and MERS (together, "Movants") filed a motion for judgement on the pleadings (the "Motion") [doc. 16]. The Motion was accompanied by a request for judicial notice in support of the Motion (the "RJN") [doc. 17]. Movants argue that the allegations in the Complaint regarding forgery, fraud and rescission are time barred, and that the challenge to the foreclosure based on the alleged broken chain of title fails because Plaintiff has no standing. Movants also argue that the matter in the complaint is non-core and they will not consent to final judgment.

On March 9, 2018, Deutsche Bank, the current beneficiary of the loan secured by the DOT, filed a joinder in the Motion and the RJN (the "Joinder") [doc. 24]. Because the allegations against Deutsche Bank are identical to the allegations against Movants, Deutsche Bank joins in each and every argument and authority in the Motion. Deutsche Bank also states that it does not consent to the entry of final orders or judgments in this case because it is a non-core matter.

On March 21, 2018, Plaintiff filed an opposition to the Motion (the "Opposition"). The Opposition asserts, among other things that: (1) Plaintiff filed this adversary proceeding in 2017, as a continuation of litigation that was commenced in 2009; (2) that he has standing to challenge the assignments under California law; (3) that the Motion gives rise to estoppel, and Movants have impliedly admitted all the allegations in the Complaint are true; (4) the bankruptcy case has not been properly discharged because there was no proper 11 U.S.C. § 341(a) meeting; and (4) a Rule 12(c) motion is not appropriate because Plaintiff has initiated the discovery process by having an initial conference pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26.

On March 28, 2018, Defendants filed a reply to the Opposition (the "Reply") [doc. 32]. In the Reply, Movants request that the Motion be granted with prejudice (without leave to amend).

II. DISCUSSION

A. Jurisdiction

Movants argue that the claims asserted in the Complaint will have no effect on Plaintiff's discharge in this case, and there are no issues to be determined under bankruptcy law. However, Movants do not cite any authority to support the blanket statement that a bankruptcy court does not have jurisdiction to hear matters which do not affect the discharge in a case.

Movants also argue that even if Plaintiff prevailed, the estate would remain insolvent. However, Plaintiff's Schedule D [doc. 1, p. 20] reflects that Ocwen (as servicer for Deutsche Bank) is the only creditor with a claim secured by the Property. If that lien were entirely voided, the Trustee could sell the Property, and the nonexempt equity could leave the estate with funds to pay creditors.

Finally, Movants and Deutsche Bank assert that they do not consent to the entry of final orders or judgments by this Court. This does not deprive the Court of jurisdiction; the Court can issue findings of fact and conclusions of law regarding non-core matters for approval by the district court. In addition, some of the causes of action in the complaint are based on bankruptcy rules or statutes. The Court may enter final judgment regarding core matters without the parties' consent. 28 U.S.C. § 157(b) (1) ("Bankruptcy judges may hear and determine all cases under title 11 and all core proceedings arising under title 11, or arising in a case under title 11... and may enter appropriate orders and judgments....").

B. Standard for Judgment on the Pleadings

Federal Rule of Civil Procedure ("Rule") 12(c), applicable through FRBP 7012, provides that "[a]fter the pleadings are closed--but early enough not to delay trial--a party may move for judgment on the pleadings." In deciding a Rule 12(c) motion, the court applies the same standards applicable to a Rule 12(b)(6) motion. See Cafasso, U.S. ex rel. v. General Dynamics C4 Systems, Inc., 637 F.3d 1047, 1054, fn. 4 (9th Cir. 2011) ("Rule 12(c) is 'functionally identical' to Rule 12(b)(6)").

In resolving a Rule 12(c) motion, the court can consider (without converting the motion to a summary judgment): (a) the complaint and answer; (b) any documents attached to or mentioned in the pleadings; (c) documents not attached but "integral" to the claims; and (d) matters subject to judicial notice. L-7 Designs, Inc. v. Old Navy, LLC, 647 F.3d 419, 422 (2nd Cir. 2011); Massey v. Ojaniit, 759 F.3d 343, 347-348 (4th Cir. 2014).

However, under Rule 12(d), if, "on a motion under Rule 12(b)(6) or 12(c), matters outside the pleadings are presented to and not excluded by the court, the motion must be treated as one for summary judgment under Rule 56. All parties must be given a reasonable opportunity to present all the material that is pertinent to the motion."

"A judgment on the pleadings is properly granted when, taking all the allegations in the pleadings as true, the moving party is entitled to judgment as a matter of law." Nelson v. City of Irvine, 143 F.3d 1196, 1120 (9th Cir. 1998). Nonetheless, when they contradict matters subject to judicial notice, the court need not accept alleged facts as true. Sears, Roebuck & Co. v. Metropolitan Engraver, Ltd., 245 F.2d 67, 70 (9th Cir. 1956).

A motion to dismiss pursuant to Rule 12(b)(6):

will only be granted if the complaint fails to allege enough facts to state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face. A claim has facial plausibility when the plaintiff pleads factual content that allows the court to draw the reasonable inference that the defendant is liable for the misconduct alleged. The plausibility standard is not akin to a probability requirement, but it asks for more than a sheer possibility that a defendant has acted unlawfully.

We accept factual allegations in the complaint as true and construe the pleadings in the light most favorable to the non-moving party. Although factual allegations are taken as true, we do not assume the truth of legal conclusions merely because they are cast in the form of factual allegations. Therefore, conclusory allegations of law and unwarranted inferences are insufficient to defeat a motion to dismiss.

Fayer v. Vaughn, 649 F.3d 1061, 1064 (9th Cir. 2011) (internal quotation marks omitted)(citing, inter alia, Bell Atl. Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 547 (2007); Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678, (2009)). "[Rule] 8(a)(2) requires only 'a short and plain statement of the claim showing that the pleader is entitled to relief,' in order to 'give the defendant fair notice of what the . . . claim is and the grounds upon which it rests.'" Bell Atl. Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 555 (U.S. 2007)(citations omitted). "[F]acts must be alleged to sufficiently apprise the defendant of the complaint against him." Kubick v. Fed. Dep. Ins. Corp. (In re Kubick), 171 B.R. 658, 660 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1994).

C. Leave to Amend

Courts have the discretion to grant or deny leave to amend a complaint. Swanson v. U.S. Forest Serv., 87 F.3d 339, 343 (9th Cir. 1996). "In exercising this discretion, a court must be guided by the underlying purpose of Rule 15 to facilitate decision on the merits, rather than on the pleadings or technicalities." United States v. Webb, 655 F.2d 977, 979 (9th Cir. 1981). The factors courts commonly consider when determining whether to grant leave to amend are:

1. Bad faith;
2. Undue delay;
3. Prejudice to the opposing party; and
4. Futility of amendment.

Ditto v. McCurdy, 510 F.3d 1070, 1079 (9th Cir. 2007) (internal citations omitted). Dismissal without leave to amend is appropriate when the court is satisfied that the deficiencies in the complaint could not possibly be cured by amendment. Jackson v. Carey, 353 F.3d 750, 758 (9th Cir. 2003); Lopez v. Smith, 203 F.3d 1122, 1127 (9th Cir. 2000).

D. Timing of the Motion

Plaintiff asserts that the Motion was not timely brought because discovery has already opened. However, Rule 12(c) allows for a motion for judgment on the pleadings "after the pleadings are closed—but early enough not to delay trial." The opening of discovery has no effect on this timeframe. In addition, as Movants point out, the Court has not yet scheduled a motion cut-off deadline or a trial date. Consequently, the Motion was timely filed.

E. Statute of Limitations

Movants assert that any claims regarding forgery, cancellation or rescission are time barred under California law. Under California Code of Civil Procedure ("CCCP") § 337, "An action upon any contract, obligation or liability founded upon an instrument in writing" must be brought within four years. Under CCP § 338(d) an "action for relief on the ground of fraud or mistake" must be brought within three years.

"Equitable tolling applies to situations in which a party has several legal remedies, pursues one such remedy reasonably and in good faith, and then turns to the second remedy after the statute has expired on that remedy." Equitable Tolling of Statute of Limitations, California Practice Guide: Administrative Law Ch. 16-D. Equitable tolling can also be applied where the claimant "has actively pursued his judicial remedies by filing a defective pleading or where he has been induced or tricked by his adversary's misconduct into allowing the filing deadline to pass." Irwin v. Dep't of Veterans Affairs, 498 U.S. 89, 90 (1990).

Plaintiff filed the Probate Action on August 29, 2009. Plaintiff was aware of the fraud and forgery causes of action at that time. Plaintiff argues that this action is merely an extension of the Probate Action, which concluded after the limitations period ended, in 2017. There is no authority supporting this argument. This proceeding, a bankruptcy court adversary proceeding, is not a continuation of the state court proceeding. Consequently, based on California law, Plaintiff's claims of fraud or forgery are time-barred.

Plaintiff argues that, as a result of 11 U.S.C. § 524(a)(2), Defendants are barred from attempting to collect their debt secured by the Property. Pursuant to § 524(a)(2), a discharge in a bankruptcy case "operates as an injunction against the commencement or continuation of an action, the employment of process, or an act, to collect, recover or offset any such debt as a personal liability of the debtor, whether or not discharge of such debt is waived."

Plaintiff's allegations do not indicate that Defendants have taken any action which violates the discharge injunction in his bankruptcy case. Plaintiff asserts that Defendants are in the process of proceeding with a judicial foreclosure against the Property. Such an action is not in violation of the discharge injunction, which applies only to a debtor's personal liability. Discharge does not impair a creditor's right to proceed in rem against property by which its claim is secured. In re Blendheim, 803 F.3d 477, 493-494 (9th Cir. 2015).

G. FRBP 3001(c)(2)(B) and (C)

Plaintiff alleges that Defendants violated FRBP 3001(c)(2)(B) and (C) by failing to file a proof of claim and accompanying documents. Under 11 U.S.C. § 501(a), a creditor "may file a proof of claim." A "claim" is a right to payment without regard to whether the creditor has filed a proof of claim. 11 U.S.C. § 101(5). Secured creditors must generally file proofs of claim in order to receive payment from the bankruptcy estate; however, "a lien that secures a claim against the debtor is not void due only to the failure of any entity to file a proof of claim." FRBP 3002(a).

Unless affirmative action is taken to avoid a lien, a "bankruptcy discharge extinguishes only one mode of enforcing a claim—an in personam action;" liens and other secured interests survive the bankruptcy. Johnson v. Home State Bank, 501 U.S. 78, 79 (1991). In other words, a bankruptcy discharge has the effect of relieving a debtor's personal liability, but it does not extinguish debts secured by property.

Consequently, regardless of Plaintiff's discharge, Defendants may take action to satisfy their secured claim through the sale of the Property.

Furthermore, a failure to file a proof of claim does not give rise to a cause of action which Plaintiff may assert. As concerns Plaintiff, the only effect of a secured creditor's failure to file a proof of claim is that the secured creditor may not take part in distributions from the estate, if distributions to creditors from unencumbered, nonexempt property ever become available. Accordingly, Plaintiff has not stated a cause of action under FRBP 3001(c)(2), nor can Plaintiff amend the Complaint in any way that would state one.

H. Fraudulent Concealment

Fraudulent concealment of a cause of action effectively "tolls" that cause of action for the period for which it was fraudulently concealed. In order to assert that a cause of action was tolled under a fraudulent concealment theory, a plaintiff must show: (1) the substantive elements of fraud; and (2) an excuse for late discovery of the facts. Investors Equity Life Holding Co. v. Schmidt, 195 Cal. App. 4th 1519 (4th Dist. 2011). The elements of an action for fraud and deceit based on concealment are:

(1) the defendant must have concealed or suppressed a material fact, (2) the defendant must have been under a duty to disclose the fact to the plaintiff, (3) the defendant must have intentionally concealed or suppressed the fact with the intent to defraud the plaintiff, (4) the plaintiff must have been unaware of the fact and would not have acted as he did if he had known of the concealed or suppressed fact, and (5) as a result of the concealment or suppression of the fact, the plaintiff must have sustained damage."

Marketing West, Inc. v. Sanyo Fisher (USA) Corp., 6 Cal. App. 4th 603, 612-613 (1992).

Plaintiff asserts his fourth cause of action on the theory that Defendants have known that their chain of assignment was broken throughout the course of the state law proceeding and Plaintiff's bankruptcy proceeding, and they fraudulently concealed that information. The Court need not assess whether Plaintiff has properly alleged fraudulent concealment, or timely brought the allegation, if Plaintiff cannot demonstrate that he sustained damage as a result of the concealed fact. Plaintiff has not demonstrated that he has standing to recover based on an improper assignment.

In California, post-foreclosure wrongful foreclosure actions based on improper chain of title are appropriate. See Yvanova v. New Century Mortgage Corp., 62 Cal.4th 919 (2016); Glaski v. Bank of Am., Nat'l Ass'n, 218 Cal. App. 4th 1079 (2013). However, California Courts of Appeal have held that a homeowner lacks standing in a pre-foreclosure action to challenge a foreclosure sale. Saterbak v. JP Morgan Chase Bank, N.A., 245 Cal. App. 4th 808 (2016); Yhudai v. IMPAC Funding Corp., 1 Cal.App.5th 1252 (2016).

Furthermore, under Yvanova, Plaintiff lacks standing to argue the voidability of the assignment of the DOT. In that case, a plaintiff brought a post-foreclosure suit for wrongful foreclosure of her property. The plaintiff argued that the lender lacked an interest in her property giving it the right to foreclose because its interest was based on an assignment made after the closing date in the pooling and service agreement. The California Supreme Court reasoned:

California law does not give a party personal standing to assert rights or interests belonging solely to others... When an assignment is merely voidable, the power to ratify or avoid the transaction lies solely with the parties to the assignment; the transaction is not void unless and until one of the parties takes steps to make it so. A borrower who challenges a foreclosure on the ground that an assignment to the foreclosing party bore defects rendering it voidable could thus be said to assert an interest belonging solely to the parties to the assignment rather than to herself.

Yvanova, 62 Cal. 4th at 936. The California Supreme Court held that void assignments do confer standing on a borrower to bring a post-foreclosure action. Id. at 942-943.

Plaintiff has not asserted that any party to the PSA or the assignments have taken action to render the assignments void, and Plaintiff, who was not a party to the PSA, does not have the power to bring a suit to void it. Accordingly, Plaintiff has not yet suffered harm giving him standing to bring a suit based on the allegedly improper assignments of the DOT. Moreover, because Plaintiff's failure to state a claim is based on lack of standing, Plaintiff cannot amend the Complaint to state a claim for relief on the current facts.

In any event, Plaintiff would have a problem demonstrating damages based on the alleged improper chain of assignments. Regardless of the specific holder of the assignment, the Property is encumbered. The harm to Plaintiff is not a result of the allegedly improper assignment or the failure of any Defendant to reveal the nature of the assignments to him. Consequently, Plaintiff has not asserted a cause of action based on fraudulent concealment of the allegedly improper assignments of the DOT.

Pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 157:

a person who, having devised or intending to devise a scheme or artifice to defraud and for the purpose of executing or concealing such a scheme or artifice or attempting to do so—

- (1) files a petition under title 11, including a fraudulent involuntary petition under section 303 of such title;
- (2) files a document in a proceeding under title 11; or
- (3) makes a false or fraudulent representation, claim, or promise concerning or in relation to a proceeding under title 11, at any time before or after the filing of the petition, or in relation to a proceeding falsely asserted to be pending under such title, shall be fined under this title, imprisoned not more than 5 years, or both.

This statute deals with criminal bankruptcy fraud, and criminal matters are generally not within the jurisdiction of bankruptcy courts. See Matter of Hipp, Inc., 895 F.2d 1503, 1511 (5th Cir. 1990). In addition, as an initial matter, Plaintiff has not stated a cause of action under 18 U.S.C. § 157 because the statute does not create a private cause of action. See Lee v. United States Agency for Int'l Dev., 859 F.3d 74, 76 (D.C. Cir. 2017) (holding that no private right of action is necessarily created by a criminal statute which does not expressly create one).

Chapter 7

A bankruptcy court may refer a matter to the district court and a district attorney where the court believes that the statute has been violated and such referral is appropriate. See In re McDonald, 497 B.R. 489, 493 (Bankr. D.S.C. 2013). Here, however, it is not clear that Defendants have violated 18 U.S.C. § 157. Plaintiff has not made allegations regarding any specific filing made by any Defendant in the bankruptcy proceeding. The only filing by any Defendant in the main case is a request for special notice by Deutsche Bank. Plaintiff alleges that Defendants made misrepresentations to him and to the court in the Probate Action regarding the validity of their title, but such a representation is not punishable under § 157 (which creates criminal liability for fraudulent filings in a bankruptcy proceeding). Consequently, Plaintiff has not asserted a cause of action upon which relief can be granted under § 157, and would not be able to amend the Complaint to assert one.

J. Declaratory Relief

Declaratory relief is a procedural device for granting a remedy. It does not create any substantive rights or causes of action. Harris County Texas v. MERSCORP Inc., 791 F.3d 545, 552 (5th Cir. 2015). Courts inquire whether there is a "substantial controversy, between parties having adverse legal interests, of sufficient immediacy and reality to warrant the issuance of a declaratory judgment." Maryland Cas. Co. v. Pacific Coal & Oil Co., 312 U.S. 270, 273 (1941).

Plaintiff argues that declaratory relief is appropriate based on the actions of Defendants to foreclose on the Property. However, as discussed above, Plaintiff has not asserted any actual wrongdoing with respect to the foreclosure actions. In addition, based on his fraudulent concealment theory, Plaintiff cannot assert any harm pre-foreclosure. Therefore, Plaintiff does not have a "substantial controversy" with Defendants upon which declaratory relief can be granted, and he would not be able to amend the Complaint to assert one.

III. CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, the Court will grant the motion without leave to amend as to Movants and Deutsche Bank.

Movants must submit the order within seven (7) days.

(holding that bankruptcy court did not abuse its discretion in refusing to compensate chapter 7 trustee’s counsel for services rendered in connection with the sale of property of the estate and for preparing routine employment applications).

Local Bankruptcy Rule ("LBR") 2016-2(e)(2) provides a "nonexclusive list of services that the court deems ‘trustee services.’" This list includes, among other activities: conduct 11 U.S.C. § 341(a) examination; routine investigation regarding location and status of assets; turnover or inspection of documents; recruit and contract appraisers, brokers, and professionals; routine collection of accounts receivable; routine documentation of notice of abandonment; prepare motions to abandon or destroy books and records; routine claims review and objection; monitor litigation; answer routine creditor correspondence and phone calls; review and comment on professional fee applications; and additional routine work necessary for administration of the estate.

In Garcia, the BAP upheld the bankruptcy court’s refusal to approve fees for preparation of employment applications, observing that “absent a showing by applicant to the contrary, routine employment applications remain a trustee duty.” Garcia, 335 B.R. at 726. With respect to its holding, the BAP explained “a case trustee may only employ professionals for tasks that require special expertise beyond that expected of an ordinary trustee.” Id. at 727.

In accordance with Garcia and LBR 2016-2(f), the Court does not approve the fees billed for the services identified below. It appears that these fees are for services that are duplicative of those that could and should be performed by the chapter 7 trustee, as a trustee.

Tentative Ruling:

I. BACKGROUND

On October 11, 2017, Mehri Akhlaghpour ("Debtor") filed a voluntary chapter 11 petition. On February 1, 2018, the Court issued an order directing the appointment of a chapter 11 trustee [doc. 101]. On February 6, 2018, Nancy J. Zamora was appointed the chapter 11 trustee (the "Trustee") [doc. 107].

On her schedule A/B, Debtor listed an ownership interest in a number of real properties. Among them were properties located at 17315 Cagney Street, Granada Hills, California 91344 (the "Cagney Property") and 16320 Gledhill Street, North Hills, California 91343 (the "Gledhill Property") (the Cagney Property and the Gledhill Property together, the "Properties") [doc. 11, p. 6-7]. The Debtor did not list either of these properties as exempt in her schedule C [doc. 11, p. 16-18].

On February 7, 2018, the Trustee filed an application to employ Rodeo Realty, Inc (the "Broker") as a real estate broker [doc. 110]. On March 15, 2018, the Court entered its order approving the employment of the Broker [doc. 135].

On March 16, 2018, the Trustee filed a motion to sell Debtor's property located at 26943 Hillsborough Parkways, #27, Santa Clarita, California 91354 (the

On the same day, the Trustee filed a second motion to sell Debtor's property located at Woodley Place, Unit 28, North Hills, California 91343 (the "Woodley Property") [doc. 146]. On April 17, 2018, the Court granted the motions to sell the Hillsborough Property and the Woodley Property [docs. 192, 193].

On March 22, 2018, the Trustee filed a third motion to sell Debtor's property located a 5454 Zelzah Avenue, #302, Encino, California 91316 (the "Zelzah Property") [doc. 155]. On April 24, 2018, the Court granted the motion to sell the Zelzah Property [doc. 205].

On April 12, 2018, the Trustee filed a fourth motion to sell the Cagney Property free and clear of liens, subject to overbid, and to assume and assign the unexpired lease on the Cagney Property (the "Cagney Motion") [doc. 175]. Also on April 12, 2018, the Trustee filed a motion to sell the Gledhill Property free and clear of liens subject to overbid, and to assume and assign the unexpired lease on the Gledhill Property (the "Gledhill Motion") (the Cagney Motion and the Gledhill Motion together, the "Sale Motions") [doc. 178].

On April 18, 2018, creditor PNC Bank, National Association ("PNC Bank") filed a response to the Cagney Motion, consenting to the sale on the condition that PNC Bank's lien is paid in full pursuant to a payoff, or a paid off pursuant to a short sale agreement approved in writing by PNC Bank (the "Response") [doc. 196]. The Response requested that order approving the Cagney Motion include the below language:

The loan secured by a first lien on real property located at 17315 Cagney Street, Granada Hills, CA 91344 will be paid in full as of the date of the closing of the sale, and the sale will be conducted through an escrow and based on a non-expired contractual payoff statement received directly from Select Portfolio Servicing, Inc., servicing agent for PNC Bank, National Association.

On April 19, 2018, Debtor filed an opposition to the Cagney Motion (the "Cagney

Also on April 19, 2018, Debtor filed an opposition to the Gledhill Motion (the "Gledhill Opposition") (the Cagney Opposition and the Gledhill Opposition together, the "Oppositions") [doc. 200]. On April 25, 2018, the Trustee filed an omnibus reply to the Oppositions and the Response (the "Reply") [doc. 162].

II. DISCUSSION

A. General Sale Standard

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 363(b)(1), the "trustee, after notice and a hearing, may use, sell, or lease, other than in the ordinary course of business, property of the estate" subject to an exception that does not apply here. A trustee has broad authority to negotiate sales of estate property under 11 U.S.C. § 363(b)(1); see also In re Canyon Partnership, 55 B.R. 520, 524 (Bankr. S.D. Cal. 1985). In reviewing motions to sell property under § 363(b), a court must determine whether sound business reasons support the sale outside the ordinary course of business. In re Walter, 83 B.R. 14, 19 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1988).

B. Good Business Reason Justifying Sale

Debtor objects to the sales of the Properties on the grounds that the Sale Motions propose to sell substantially all of the estate assets and the sales are not supported by a good business justification. Debtor references In re Lionel Corp., 722 F.2d 1063 (2nd Cir. 1983). In Lionel, the Second Circuit Court of Appeals outlined six factors for determining whether a good business reason exists justifying a sale of substantially all of the assets of the debtor.

Lionel is distinguishable because the chapter 11 trustee in Lionel sought authority to sell substantially all of the estate's assets. Here, the Sale Motions do not contemplate the sale of all or substantially all of the estate's property, because the estate owns one other real property not subject to the Sale Motions. In addition, the estate owns a 100% interest in eight business entities and 32% interest in one business entity. [doc. 59, pp. 8-9]. Even accounting for the Trustee's additional sales of the Hillsborough, Woodley and Zelzah Properties, the Sale Motions will not result in the sale of substantially all of the estate property.

In addition, in Lionel the chapter 11 trustee did not give any business justification for the sale, other than the appeasement of the committee of largest creditors. Id. at 1071. Here, the Trustee has articulated a number of reasons for the sales, including that plan feasibility depends on the sales, that continued operation of the Properties as rental properties is not tenable, and that the prices are fair and reasonable based on the Trustee's marketing efforts.

Debtor also objects to the sale on the grounds that: (1) the sale is premature because the Properties are not a wasting asset; (2) there is no justifiable cause for selling the Properties because the real estate market in the Los Angeles area is improving; and (3) the sale price is inadequate.

Here, the Sale Motions are not premature. Debtor filed her chapter 11 petition nearly six months ago. Given that the marketing of the Properties generated multiple interested buyers, it appears that the sale prices reflect the market, and that the Properties have been marketed for enough time to generate competitive interest. Furthermore, as the Trustee points out in the Reply, the Properties do not generate net rental income. Debtor asserts that the Cagney Property has net rental surplus of $1,676.64 and the Gledhill Property has a net rental surplus $398.76. However, these totals do not include the second mortgage on the Cagney Property, the annual tax bills for the Properties, the monthly gardening and maintenance expenses and for repairs. When these expenses are added to the calculation, the Properties are actually operating at a net loss [doc. 206].

C. The Trustee's Business Judgment

As outlined by the Bankruptcy Appellate Panel of the Ninth Circuit (the "BAP"):

The court's obligation in § 363(b) sales is to assure that optimal value is realized by the estate under the circumstances. The requirement of a notice and hearing operates to provide both a means of objecting and a method for attracting interest by potential purchasers. Ordinarily, the position of the trustee is afforded deference, particularly where business judgment is entailed in the analysis or where there is no objection. Nevertheless, particularly in the face of opposition by creditors, the requirement of court approval means that the responsibility ultimately is the court's.

In re Lahijani, 325 B.R. 282, 288–89 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 2005).

The Trustee has been a chapter 7 trustee since 1998 and also has been a chapter 11 trustee in cases involving real estate. In those capacities, the Trustee has operated rental properties and sold over one hundred properties [doc. 175, Decl. of Nancy Zamora, ¶ 2]. Based on the Trustee's record of experience, she may properly be afforded business judgment deference.

D. Sufficient Marketing and Reasonableness of Price

Debtor argues that the Properties have not been sufficiently marketed, because the prices contemplated in the Sale Motions are below market value. Debtor attached no evidence to the Oppositions in support of this contention, other than a declaration by Debtor stating she believes the prices in the Sale Motions are below market value.

Debtor's belief is not persuasive evidence that the purchase prices are too low. The Broker has engaged in marketing efforts for the Properties, including listing the Properties on the multiple listing service and on various internet sites that offer listing services. The Broker also conducted showings and appointments at the Properties and received four offers on the Cagney Property and four offers on the Gledhill Property. As of the date of the Sale Motions, the Broker continued to market the Properties to generate overbids. These efforts and offers not only establish that the Properties have been thoroughly marketed, but also that the sale prices reflect the market values of the Properties.

E. Sub-Rosa Plan

Debtor argues that the sale of the Properties, along with the sale of the Hillsborough, Woodley and Zelzah Properties, constitutes an impermissible "sub-rosa" plan. Debtor further indicates that she believes that the Trustee must first establish that a plan is infeasible before liquidating assets.

In Lionel, the Second Circuit Court of Appeals considered a proposed pre-confirmation sale, noting that such a sale would be appropriate if there was an "articulated business justification" for it. Lionel, 722 F.2d at 1070.

Chapter 11

Furthermore, the proposed sale does not take the place of a plan. After paying the allowed claims of creditors secured by the Properties, the Trustee is not proposing to distribute net proceeds to other creditors at this time. See In re Air Beds, Inc. 92 B.R. 419 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1988). Consequently, the contemplated sales of the Properties do not constitute an impermissible "sub-rosa" plan.

F. Due Process Considerations

Debtor argues that the Sale Motions should not be approved because § 363 sales are an inappropriate violation of the due process rights of Debtor and creditors to the estate. However, Debtor and the estate's creditors have been served with notice of the sale, and have had an opportunity to object. Furthermore, the Trustee has demonstrated that the sales of the Properties will generate funds with which she can make distributions to creditors. Finally, pursuant to the overbid procedures built into the sale terms, Debtor and any other interested party has the opportunity to bid on the Properties. Consequently, Debtor has not demonstrated that any party in interest's due process rights have been violated.

III. CONCLUSION

The Court will grant the Motions.

The Trustee must submit the orders within seven (7) days.

Docket 95

Tentative Ruling:

Grant pursuant to the Court's rulings from March 13, 2018 and April 10, 2018.

On April 3, 2018, Jose P. Ginez and Corazon S. Ginez ("Respondents") filed an untimely opposition to the pending motion (the "Opposition") [doc. 116]. In the Opposition, Respondents stated that they received notice of the motion on March 27, 2018, not on January 23, 2018 as stated in the proof of service attached to the motion. Respondents also contended that on March 27, 2018, Respondents first learned that the debtors were in bankruptcy. Respondents requested additional time to obtain an attorney to represent them in this matter. No declaration signed under penalty of perjury was attached to the Opposition. Listed on the caption of the Opposition was Respondents' mailing address, "5526 Dunbar Drive, Oxnard, CA 93033." At the hearing on April 10, 2018, Ms. Ginez appeared and repeated the contention that Respondents had no notice of the debtors' bankruptcy case.

Ms. Ginez' contentions are not credible. On March 24, 2014, the debtors filed their chapter 13 petition [doc. 1]. In their schedule D, the debtors listed Respondents and their address, "5526 Dunbar Dr., Oxnard, CA 93033-9111." (Doc. 1, at p. 22.) The debtors listed Respondents and their address on the creditor mailing list. (Id., at p. 67.) Respondents also received notice of the debtors' chapter 13 plan on March 24, 2014. (Doc. 8, at p. 19.) On September 15, 2015, Ms. Ginez contacted the debtors' attorney asking how she could get paid through the bankruptcy. (Declaration of Kevin T. Simon ("Simon Decl."), ¶ 6.)

On June 2, 2014, the debtors filed a motion to avoid Respondents' junior lien on their residence ("First Lien Avoidance Motion") [doc. 15]. The proof of service attached to the First Lien Avoidance Motion indicated service on Respondents at their address,

"5526 Dunbar Dr., Oxnard, CA 93033-9111." (Doc. 15, at p. 39.)

On October 7, 2014, the debtors filed a second motion to avoid Respondents' junior lien ("Second Lien Avoidance Motion") [doc. 29]. The proof of service attached to the Second Lien Avoidance Motion indicated service on Respondents at their address, "5526 Dunbar Dr., Oxnard, CA 93033-9111." (Doc. 29, at p. 98.)

On September 24, 2015, the debtors filed a third motion to avoid Respondents' lien (the "Third Lien Avoidance Motion") [doc. 60]. The proof of service attached to the Third Lien Avoidance Motion indicated service on Respondents at their address, "5526 Dunbar Dr., Oxnard, CA 93033-9111." (Doc. 60, at p. 121.)

Because Respondents were served with notice of the debtors' bankruptcy on March 24, 2014 and several times thereafter, the Court will overrule Respondents' objection to the pending motion. The Court will grant the motion pursuant to its prior rulings listed below.

The debtors must submit the order within seven (7) days.

Ruling from 4/10/18

Pursuant to the Court's prior ruling, the debtors timely filed a supplemental declaration [doc. 112]. In light of the evidence submitted, the Court will grant in part and deny in part the motion. Jose P. Ginez and Corazon S. Ginez ("Respondents") must turn over funds in the amount of $8,065.55 to the debtors no later than 35 days after entry of the order. In addition, Respondents must pay the debtors' attorney fees in the amount of $6,320.84 no later than 35 days after entry of the order.

The debtors must submit the order within seven (7) days.

Ruling from 3/13/18

Grant in part and deny in part.

I. BACKGROUND

Wells Fargo Bank, N.A. ("Wells Fargo") is the beneficiary of the first deed of trust encumbering 23842 Erin Place, Canoga Park, California 91304 (the "Property"), recorded on September 2, 2005 (the "First Trust Deed"). Jose P. Ginez and Corazon S. Ginez (together, "Respondents") are the original borrowers under the corresponding note and the trustors under the First Trust Deed. (Doc. 60, Exh. D.)

Wells Fargo is the beneficiary of the second deed of trust encumbering the Property, recorded on March 28, 2006 (the "Second Trust Deed"). Respondents are the original borrowers under the corresponding note and the trustors under the Second Trust Deed. (Doc. 60, Exh. C.)

On December 31, 2009, Romulo Gramata Bernardino and Ladinila Aspiras Bernardino (the "Debtors") purchased the Property from Respondents, pursuant to an "All-Inclusive Deed of Trust and Assignment of Rents" (the "Third Trust Deed"). Respondents are the beneficiaries and the Debtors are the trustors of the Third Trust Deed. On January 6, 2010, the Third Trust Deed was recorded. (Doc. 60, Exh. F.)

On March 24, 2014, the Debtors filed a chapter 13 petition. On December 17, 2014, the Court confirmed the Debtor's chapter 13 plan (the "Plan") [doc. 35]. The Plan provides for direct payment by the Debtors to Wells Fargo for arrearages owing on the First and Second Trust Deeds. Respondents were served with notice of the hearing on confirmation of the Plan.

On September 21, 2015, Ms. Ginez contacted the Debtor's bankruptcy attorney stating that she was a creditor of the estate and inquired as to how she would get paid through the bankruptcy. (Declaration of Kevin T. Simon ("Simon Decl."), ¶ 6.) On September 24, 2015, the Debtors filed a motion to avoid the Third Trust Deed (the "Lam Motion") [doc. 60]. On November 13, 2015, the Court entered an order approving the Lam Motion (the "Lam Order") [doc. 69]. The Lam Order provided that "no payments are to be made on the secured claim of the junior lienholder," and that the "claim of the junior lienholder is to be treated as an unsecured claim and is to be paid through the plan pro rata with all other unsecured claims." (Doc. 69, at p. 2.)

Because the Debtors purchased the Property with the Third Trust Deed, Respondents' name and address are on all loan documentation and statements from the First Trust Deed and the Second Trust Deed. (Simon Decl., ¶ 8.) The Debtors fell behind on the payment for the First Trust Deed, but continued to remit funds to Wells Fargo. After the Debtors defaulted on the First Trust Deed, Wells Fargo returned the mortgage

On February 16, 2016, Wells Fargo issued a statement reflecting unapplied funds and a payment reversal of $7,065.55, as well as unapplied funds of $2,000.00. (Simon Decl., Exh. B.). On February 26, 2016, Wells Fargo mailed Respondents a letter with a check enclosed for $1,000.00 advising Respondents the funds were returned because it was an insufficient amount to reinstate the loan. (Simon Decl., Exh. D.). On March 1, 2016, Respondents cashed the $1,000.00 check from Wells Fargo. (Simon Decl., Exh. E.)

During the bankruptcy case, Respondents provided the Debtors with an "IOU" note reflecting payments received from returned checks from Wells Fargo in the amount of $8,065.55 and crediting the Third Trust Deed with the same amount. (Simon Decl., Exh. F.)

II. RELEVANT LAW

A. Property of the Estate

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 541(a)(1),

The commencement of a case under section 301, 302, or 303 of this title creates an estate. Such estate is comprised of all the following property, wherever located and by whomever held:

- (1) Except as provided in subsections (b) and (c)(2) of this section, all legal or equitable interests of the debtor in property as of the commencement of the case.

In addition, for chapter 13 debtors, pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1306(a):

Property of the estate includes, in addition to the property specified in section 541 of this title—

- (1) all property of the kind specified in such section that the debtor acquires after the commencement of the case but before the case is closed, dismissed, or converted to a case under chapter 7, 11, or 12

of this title, whichever occurs first; and

- (2) earnings from services performed by the debtor after the commencement of the case but before the case is closed, dismissed, or converted to a case under chapter 7, 11, or 12 of this title, whichever occurs first.

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 542—

- (a) Except as provided in subsection (c) or (d) of this section, an entity, other than a custodian, in possession, custody, or control, during the case, of property that the trustee may use, sell, or lease under section 363 of this title, or that the debtor may exempt under section 522 of this title, shall deliver to the trustee, and account for, such property or the value of such property, unless such property is of inconsequential value or benefit to the estate.

- (c) Except as provided in section 362(a)(7) of this title, an entity that has neither actual notice nor actual knowledge of the commencement of the case concerning the debtor may transfer property of the estate, or pay a debt owing to the debtor, in good faith and other than in the manner specified in subsection (d) of this section, to an entity other than the trustee, with the same effect as to the entity making such transfer or payment as if the case under this title concerning the debtor had not been commenced.

Chapter 13 debtors have standing to assert the turnover right on the estate's behalf. In re Lyle, 324 B.R. 128 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. 2005) (chapter 13 debtor); see also In re Alvarez, 432 B.R. 839 (Bankr. S.D. Cal. 2010). Property subject to a turnover action is limited to identifiable estate property and money due to the debtor without dispute. See In re Newman, 487 B.R. 193, 202 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 2013).

See In re Newman, 487 B.R. at 202 (ordering a debtor who received and spent a tax refund postpetition to pay the chapter 7 trustee prorated portion of refund attributable to income earned prepetition).*

C. Effect of Plan Confirmation

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1327(a), "[t]he provisions of a confirmed plan bind the debtor and each creditor, whether or not the claim of such creditor is provided for by the plan, and whether or not such creditor has objected to, has accepted, or has rejected the plan."

D. Violation of the Automatic Stay

11 U.S.C. § 362 provides in pertinent part:

(a) Except as provided in subsection (b) of this section, a petition filed under section 301, 302, or 303 of this title...operates as a stay, applicable to all entities, of—

- (1) The commencement or continuation, including the issuance or employment of process, of a judicial, administrative, or other action or proceeding against the debtor that was or could have been commenced before the commencement of the case under this title, or to recover a claim against the debtor that arose before the commencement of the case under this title.
- (2) the enforcement, against the debtor or against property of the estate, of a judgment obtained before the commencement of the case under this title;
- (3) any act to obtain possession of property of the estate or of property from the estate or to exercise control over property of the estate;

An affirmative duty is imposed on non-debtor parties to comply with the stay, and to remedy any violations, even if inadvertent, of the automatic stay. In re Dyer, 322 F.3d 1178, 1191–92.

11 U.S.C. § 362(k)(1) provides the following:

Except as provided in paragraph (2), an individual injured by any willful violation of a stay provided by this section shall recover actual damages, including costs and attorneys' fees, and, in appropriate circumstances, may recover punitive damages.

Thus, a prima facie case under section 362(k) requires a showing (1) by an individual debtor of (2) injury from (3) a willful (4) violation of the stay. In re Fernandez, 227 B.R. 174, 181 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1998).

Upon obtaining notice, the creditor did nothing to reverse the prohibited actions taken while the automatic stay was in effect. Id. The bankruptcy court found a violation of the automatic stay:

That being said, there is no dispute that Teran knew about the bankruptcy and the automatic stay when he received the letter from the Debtors' attorney about two weeks after the Judgment was entered. At that point, Teran had an affirmative duty to "unwind" what had happened in the small claims court, but he failed to take any remedial action. Teran contends that he did not respond to the letter because he did not know what to do. However, that does not change the fact that the failure to act was itself a violation of the automatic stay.

Under § 541(a)(1) and § 1306(a)(2), the funds at issue are identifiable bankruptcy estate property and subject to turnover. In addition, the amount of the funds received by Respondents is not of inconsequential value to the estate. Respondents possessed and controlled estate property that the Debtors may use, sell, or lease during the pendency of the bankruptcy case.

In addition, Respondents had actual knowledge of the Debtors' bankruptcy case. On September 21, 2015, Ms. Ginez contacted the Debtors' attorney to inquire "how she should go about getting paid through the bankruptcy." Respondents also received actual notice of the Debtors' bankruptcy case because they were served notice of the Plan confirmation hearing, the Lam Motion and the Lam Order. As such, the turnover requirements under § 542 apply to Respondents.

The Plan was confirmed on December 17, 2014 and provided that the Debtors would pay Wells Fargo through the Plan to cure arrearages on the First Trust Deed and Second Trust Deed. Pursuant to § 1327, the provisions of the confirmed Plan bind each creditor, including Respondents. As such, pursuant to the confirmed Plan, Respondents were not entitled to retain the monies paid by the Debtors to Wells Fargo pursuant to the Plan.

Furthermore, pursuant to the Lam Order, no monies were to be paid to Respondents after the Third Trust Deed was avoided. Respondents' claim was to be paid through the Plan pro rata with all other unsecured claims. Thus, Respondents were not entitled to any of the monies returned by Wells Fargo.

The Motion seeks turnover of funds totaling $10,065.55. However, the evidence attached to the Motion shows that Respondents cashed checks totaling $8,065.55. Although there is a bank statement showing $2,000 in unapplied funds, it is unclear whether Wells Fargo ever sent those funds to Respondents. Consequently, if Debtors seek turnover of this additional $2,000, the Debtors must submit evidence showing that Respondents obtained possession of the other $2,000.

B. Violation of the Automatic Stay

Here, Respondents violated the automatic stay by exercising control over property of the estate. It appears from the "IOU" note that Respondents were under the impression they could retain the money and credit it towards the debt owed to them.

United States Bankruptcy Court

Tuesday, May 08, 2018

Hearing Room 301

11:30 AM

CONT... Romulo Gramata Bernardino and Ladinila Aspiras

Chapter 13

However, by retaining the checks and subsequently cashing them, Respondents exercised control over estate property in violation of § 362(a)(3). See In re Lyle, 324 B.R. 128; In re Carlsen, 63 B.R. 706, 711 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1986) (finding that the IRS violated both the automatic stay and the turnover requirements when it failed to return a check to the County after learning of the debtor's bankruptcy).

The violation of the automatic stay was willful because Respondents had actual knowledge of the Debtors' bankruptcy case at the time they retained the funds. "[T]he failure to return property of the estate with knowledge of the bankruptcy is a violation of both the automatic stay and of the turnover requirements of the Bankruptcy Code." Abrams v. Sw. Leasing and Rental Inc. (In re Abrams), 127 B.R. 239, 241-43 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1991) (continuing retention by the creditor of repossessed vehicle after receiving notice of bankruptcy violated automatic stay); see also In re Treasures, Inc., Case No. SC-13-1304, 2015 WL 925957, at *21 (9th Cir. B.A.P. Mar. 3, 2015) (continuing retention of property of the bankruptcy estate violated the automatic stay). To preserve the "status quo" of the bankruptcy, Respondents would have had to return the funds to the Debtors or to Wells Fargo in order to relieve their violation. Respondents did not do so.

Accordingly, the Court will grant the Debtor's request for damages pursuant to § 362 (k)(1). The Debtors do not include a breakdown of damages incurred as a result of the willful violation of the stay. The Debtors must supplement the Motion with a statement of actual damages, fees, and costs incurred.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, it does not appear that Respondents' conduct warrants punitive damages. The Court will deny the Debtors' request for punitive damages.

IV. CONCLUSION

In light of the foregoing, the Court will grant in part and deny in part the Motion. No later than March 27, 2018, the Debtors must file a supplemental declaration with (i) evidence that Respondents possessed monies in excess of $8,065.55, and (ii) evidence regarding actual damages, fees, and costs incurred while litigating this matter.

The Debtors must submit the order within seven (7) days.

I. BACKGROUND

On September 8, 2014, Yianis Newton Heathington and Celestine Lejune Heathington ("Debtors") filed a voluntary chapter 13 petition. U.S. Bank National Association, serviced by Nationstar Mortgage LLC ("Nationstar"), is the beneficiary of the first deed of trust encumbering 17950 Delano Street, Encino, California 91316 (the "Property"). On October 29, 2014, Nationstar filed Proof of Claim 3-1 ("Claim 3-1") with $140,708.93 in prepetition arrearages.

On May 18, 2015, the Court confirmed Debtors' second amended chapter 13 plan (the "Plan") [doc. 52]. Pursuant to the terms of the Plan, the chapter 13 trustee (the "Trustee") was to make monthly distributions to Nationstar to cure the prepetition arrearages.

On or about October 12, 2016, Debtors obtained a loan modification with Nationstar (the "Loan Modification Agreement"). On February 2, 2017, Debtors filed a motion to approve the Loan Modification Agreement [doc. 61]. On March 2, 2017, the Court granted the motion to approve the Loan Modification Agreement [doc. 62]. Pursuant to the terms of the Loan Modification Agreement, Nationstar's prepetition arrears were reduced from $140,708.93 to $41,265.26 [doc. 82, Exh. 1]. On May 19, 2017, Nationstar amended Claim 3-1 reflecting this decrease in arrearages [doc. 82, Exh. 2].

Based on Debtors' account ledger, the Trustee overpaid Nationstar by $14,272.40. Debtors filed a motion for turnover of estate property (the "Motion") asking that the $14,272.40 overpayment be refunded to the Trustee for disbursement to other

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 541(a)(1),

The commencement of a case under section 301, 302, or 303 of this title creates an estate. Such estate is comprised of all the following property, wherever located and by whomever held:

- (1) Except as provided in subsections (b) and (c)(2) of this section, all legal or equitable interests of the debtor in property as of the commencement of the case.

In addition, for chapter 13 debtors, pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1306(a):

Property of the estate includes, in addition to the property specified in section 541 of this title—

- (1) all property of the kind specified in such section that the debtor acquires after the commencement of the case but before the case is closed, dismissed, or converted to a case under chapter 7, 11, or 12 of this title, whichever occurs first; and
- (2) earnings from services performed by the debtor after the commencement of the case but before the case is closed, dismissed, or converted to a case under chapter 7, 11, or 12 of this title, whichever occurs first.

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 542—

- (a) Except as provided in subsection (c) or (d) of this section, an entity, other than a custodian, in possession, custody, or control, during the case, of property that the trustee may use, sell, or lease under section 363 of this title, or that the debtor may exempt under

- (c) Except as provided in section 362(a)(7) of this title, an entity that has neither actual notice nor actual knowledge of the commencement of the case concerning the debtor may transfer property of the estate, or pay a debt owing to the debtor, in good faith and other than in the manner specified in subsection (d) of this section, to an entity other than the trustee, with the same effect as to the entity making such transfer or payment as if the case under this title concerning the debtor had not been commenced.

Chapter 13 debtors have standing to assert the turnover right on the estate's behalf. In re Lyle, 324 B.R. 128 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. 2005) (chapter 13 debtor); see also In re Alvarez, 432 B.R. 839 (Bankr. S.D. Cal. 2010). Property subject to a turnover action is limited to identifiable estate property and money due to the debtor without dispute. See In re Newman, 487 B.R. 193, 202 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 2013).

Turnover rights are effective against an entity that possesses or controls estate property at any point during pendency of the bankruptcy case. Shapiro v. Henson, 739 F.3d 1198, 1199 (9th Cir. 2014). An entity need not actually possess the property when the turnover action is filed, provided the entity possessed estate property at some time during the bankruptcy case. See In re Newman, 487 B.R. at 202 (ordering a debtor who received and spent a tax refund postpetition to pay the chapter 7 trustee prorated portion of refund attributable to income earned prepetition).

III. DISCUSSION

Under § 541(a)(1) and § 1306(a)(2), the funds at issue are identifiable bankruptcy estate property and subject to turnover. In addition, the amount of the funds received by Nationstar is not of inconsequential value to the estate. bankruptcy case because it was served notice of the Plan confirmation hearing. As such, the turnover requirements under § 542 apply to Nationstar.

The Plan was confirmed on May 18, 2015, and provided that Debtors would pay Nationstar through the Plan to cure arrearages on the Property. Pursuant to the provisions of the Loan Modification Agreement, the amount of arrearages was reduced from $140,708.93 to $41,265.26. As such, Nationstar was not entitled to retain the monies paid by the Trustee to Nationstar over and above $41,265.26. Consequently, the Court will grant the Motion.

IV. CONCLUSION

In light of the foregoing, the Court will grant the Motion.

Debtors must submit the order within seven (7) days.

#3.00 Motion for relief from stay [AN]

MARC AND DORIS WURZEL

Docket 34

Tentative Ruling:

Deny as moot.

I. BACKGROUND

On September 12, 2016, Ziv Kanon ("Debtor") filed a chapter 13 petition (the "First Case") [1:16-bk-12639-MB]. On July 7, 2017, the First Case was dismissed at the confirmation hearing because Debtor failed to make payments to the trustee. The court imposed a 180-day bar, which prohibited Debtor from filing any new bankruptcy petition within 180 days of the date of entry of the order [1:16-bk-12639-MB, doc. 68].

On February 21, 2018, at approximately 12:45 p.m., Debtor filed a chapter 13 petition (the "Second Case"). On March 6, 2018, Debtor filed a motion to impose or continue the automatic stay (the "Motion to Continue the Stay") [doc. 8]. On March 21, 2018, Debtor filed a motion to withdraw the Motion to Continue the Stay [doc. 21].

In his schedule A/B, Debtor stated that he operates a sole proprietorship repair and resale business specializing in heavy equipment such as forklifts called HD World Equipment [doc. 10, p. 16]. Debtor operated his business on premises owned by Mark and Doris Wurzel and the Wurzel Family Trust ("Wurzel"). Wurzel previously obtained an unlawful detainer judgment against Debtor, which was stayed multiple times pursuant to stipulations between Debtor and Wurzel [doc.43, Declaration of Ziv Kanon ("Kanon Decl."), ¶ 5].

Pursuant to a stipulation to continue the stay of the unlawful detainer judgment (the "October Stipulation") [doc. 34, Exh. 11], Debtor made payments to continue occupying the property through February 15, 2018. The October Stipulation stated that "anything left behind after moveout [sic] will belong to [Wurzel] and may be disposed of without notice." On October 5, 2017, the Superior Court of California, County of Los Angeles approved the October Stipulation and entered it as a judgment [doc. 34, Exh 11].

When the move-out date passed, Wurzel had Debtor evicted by the sheriff on February 21, 2018 at 8:30 a.m. [doc. 43, Kanon Decl., ¶ 7] (doc. 34, Exh. 12, which is the sheriff's report of eviction, states that the lockout occurred on February 20, 2018, Wurzel and Debtor state that the eviction actually occurred on February 21). Debtor alleges that his construction equipment (the "Equipment") was on Wurzel's property at the time of the lockout.

On April 18, 2018, Wurzel filed a motion for relief from the automatic stay to proceed with the action in the nonbankruptcy forum (the "Motion") [doc. 34].

II. DISCUSSION

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(c)(3)—

- (3) if a single or joint case is filed by or against a debtor who is an individual in a case under chapter 7, 11, or 13, and if a single or joint case of the debtor was pending within the preceding 1-year period but was dismissed, other than a case refiled under a chapter other than chapter 7 after dismissal under section 707(b)-
  - (A) the stay under subsection (a) with respect to any action taken with respect to a debt or property securing such debt or with respect to any lease shall terminate with respect to the debtor on the 30th day after the filing of the later case;
  - (B) on the motion of a party in interest for continuation of the automatic stay and upon notice and a hearing, the court may extend the stay in particular cases as to any or all creditors (subject to such conditions or limitations as the court may then impose) after notice and a hearing completed before the expiration of the 30-day period only if the party in interest demonstrates that the filing of the later case is in good faith as to the creditors to be stayed; and. . . .

11 U.S.C. § 362(c)(3).

On February 21, 2018, Debtor filed the Second Case, and the First Case was pending within the preceding one-year period but was dismissed. Thus, 11 U.S.C. § 362(c)(3) applies to Debtor. Pursuant to § 362(c)(3), the automatic stay terminated on March 22, 2018. Debtor filed the Motion to Continue the Stay, but subsequently withdrew it. Consequently, there is no automatic stay in place, and Wurzel is free to proceed with the unlawful detainer action against Debtor. See In re Reswick, 446 B.R. 362, 372 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2011) ("The history of section 362(c)(3)(A) indicates that Congress intended it to deter second filings. For this provision to have its intended effect, it must be interpreted as terminating the automatic stay in its entirety [as to the debtor, the debtor's property, and property of the estate].").

III. CONCLUSION

Because there is no automatic stay in Debtor's case, the Court will deny the motion is moot.

Wurzel must submit an order within seven (7) days.

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

On April 25, 2018, Duane J. Van Dyke ("Plaintiff") filed a unilateral status report (the "Status Report") [doc. 39]. In the Status Report, Plaintiff stated that on May 18, 2018, the probate court will hold a hearing to name a personal representative for the estate of the deceased defendant, Hermann Muennichow ("Defendant").

On May 2, 2018, chapter 7 trustee David Seror (the "Trustee") filed a response to the Status Report (the "Response") [doc. 40]. In the Response, the Trustee noted, among other things, that Plaintiff did not timely file a proof of claim in Defendant's bankruptcy case. On December 12, 2017, the Trustee filed a Notification of Asset Case, which included an order fixing a claims bar date of March 19, 2018 [doc. 44]. Plaintiff's counsel received notice of the order fixing a claims bar date via NEF. Because Plaintiff did not file a timely proof of claim, Plaintiff may not have standing to pursue the pending adversary proceeding seeking nondischargeability of debt.

The Court may continue this matter to allow the parties to file supplemental briefing as to the issues raised in the Response.

Tentative Ruling from 4/4/18

I. BACKGROUND

On March 16, 2017, Hermann Muennichow ("Debtor") filed a voluntary chapter 7 petition. Prior to the petition date, Duane J. Van Dyke ("Plaintiff") had initiated a state court action against Debtor and his nondebtor spouse seeking damages for fraud, breach of fiduciary duty, imposition of constructive trust and conversion. The state court action was stayed when Debtor filed the chapter 7 petition.

On June 12, 2017, Plaintiff initiated this adversary proceeding against Debtor. The complaint seeks nondischargeability of the debt owed to Plaintiff pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §§ 523(a)(2), (a)(4), (a)(6) and (a)(14) and objects to Debtor's receipt of a discharge pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §§ 727(c), (d) and (e) (the "Complaint") [doc. 1]. On August 22, 2017, Debtor filed an answer to the Complaint [doc. 13].

On November 16, 2017, the Court issued an order to appear and show cause why this adversary proceeding should not be dismissed for failure to prosecute (the "OSC for Failure to Prosecute") [doc. 22]. On November 17, 2017, Plaintiff filed a response to the OSC for Failure to Prosecute mentioning the "recent death of the debtor" (the "Response to the OSC") [doc. 24 p. 3, lines 2-3].

On December 14, 2017, the Court entered a scheduling order (the "Scheduling Order") [doc. 27]. On December 14, 2017, the Scheduling Order was served on the chapter 7 trustee, Plaintiff's counsel, Debtor's counsel and the United States Trustee through NEF [doc. 28]. On December 16, 2017, the Scheduling Order was served on Plaintiff and Debtor by first class mail [doc. 28]. In the Scheduling Order, the Court stated:

The Court being apprised of the death of the Debtor Hermann Muennichow and it appearing that the Plaintiff seeks to move forward with this adversary proceeding,

It is hereby ordered that the status conference is continued to February 14, 2018, at 1:30 p.m. in Courtroom 301 of the above-captioned Court; and,

It is further ordered that a status conference report be filed by January 31, 2018 to address, in addition to all other matters required in the report, the status of any motion to substitute a party in place of the deceased debtor pursuant to Federal Rules of Procedure Rule 25(a).

(emphasis added).

On February 1, 2018, Plaintiff filed a joint status report (the "Status Report") [doc. 29]. In the Status Report, Plaintiff stated: "Debtor recently died and a motion to substitute personal representative will need to be filed shortly. No will or trust has been located and no [p]robate has been commenced." [doc. 29, p. 2, ¶ 5]. Plaintiff also stated that he would not know when he would be ready for trial until a personal representative was appointed and he was waiting for probate to open [doc. 29, p. 2, ¶¶ 1-2].

On February 6, 2018, Stuart R. Simone, Debtor's counsel, filed a declaration regarding the termination of the attorney client relationship (the "Simone Declaration") [doc. 30]. In the Simone Declaration, Mr. Simone states that Debtor died on November 11, 2017. Attached is a copy of the death certificate [doc. 30, p. 2, ¶ 3 and Exh. A].

On February 15, 2018, the Court entered an order to show cause why the Court should not dismiss the adversary proceeding because of Debtor's death (the "OSC"). The OSC required Plaintiff to appear and explain how the Court could grant effective relief in this adversary proceeding [doc. 32]. The OSC set a response deadline of March 21, 2018.

On March 21, 2018, Plaintiff filed a response and declaration in reply to the Court's OSC (the "2018 Response") [doc. 35]. In the 2018 Response, Plaintiff requests that the Court abstain from hearing the adversary proceeding under 11 U.S.C. § 1334(c) (1). However, Plaintiff also asserts that a determination of Plaintiff's claims in this proceeding remains relevant because of a dispute regarding certain life insurance proceeds. Allegedly Plaintiff and Debtor's spouse, Helayne Muennichow ("Mrs. Muennichow"), each claim an interest in these policy proceeds. (EN1)

As of the date the Response was filed, probate had not opened, nor had there been an appointment of any personal representative by any court [doc. 35, p. 2, ¶ 6].

II. DISCUSSION

A. Federal Rule of Civil Procedure ("Rule") 25

"In an adversary proceeding, specific procedural steps are required if the deceased, including a chapter 7 debtor, is a party." In re Eads, 135 B.R. 380, 384 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 1991). The mechanics are set out in Rule 25, which applies in adversary proceedings pursuant to Fed. R. Bankr. P. 7025.

Pursuant to Rule 25(a)—

(1) Substitution if the Claim Is Not Extinguished. If a party dies and the claim is not extinguished, the court may order substitution of the proper party. A motion for substitution may be made by any party or by the decedent's successor or representative. If the motion is not made within 90 days after service of a statement noting the death, the action by or against the decedent must be dismissed.

(3) Service. A motion to substitute, together with a notice of hearing, must be served on the parties as provided in Rule 5 and on nonparties as provided in Rule 4. A statement noting death must be served in the same manner. Service may be made in any judicial district.

In Barlow v. Ground, the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals held that Rule 25 required two affirmative steps to trigger the running of the ninety-day period. 39 F.3d 231, 233 (9th Cir.1994). "First, a party must formally suggest the death of the party upon the record." Id. "Second, the suggesting party must serve other parties and nonparty successors or representatives of the deceased with a suggestion of death in the same manner as required for service of the motion to substitute." Id. "A non-party successors or representatives of the deceased party must be served the suggestion of death in the manner provided by Rule 4 for the service of a summons." Id.

As a preliminary matter, there are four documents in the record in which Debtor's death is acknowledged: (1) the Response to the OSC [doc. 24]; (2) the Status Report [doc. 29]; (3) the Simone Declaration [doc. 30]; and (4) the Scheduling Order [doc. 27]. Of these documents, only the Scheduling Order is sufficiently formal to trigger the running of the 90-day period. See In re Brand, 545 B.R. 37, 40 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2016) ("the notice of death must be sufficiently formal in order to trigger the running of the 90-day period") (emphasis in original); Acri v. Int'l Ass'n of Machinists and Aerospace Workers, 595 F.Supp. 326, 330 (N.D. Cal 1984) (the notice must be more than a mere mention of the death in a court proceeding or pleading).

In Barlow, the Court of Appeals held that where a nonparty representative is clearly known at the time notice of death is made, Rule 25 requires service upon that nonparty representative pursuant to Rule 4. 39 F.3d at 233. In the 2018 Response, Plaintiff states that Mrs. Muennichow, who is not a party to this proceeding, asserts an interest in Debtor's life insurance policy proceeds. Consequently, Mrs. Muennichow likely has an interest in contesting this nondischargeability action.

As a result, in order to trigger the beginning of the statutory period, it appears appropriate that any notice of death be served on Mrs. Muennichow. See Rende v. Kay, 415 F.2d 983, 986 (D.C. Cir. 1969) (statement of death must "identify the representative or successor of an estate who may be substituted as a party for the deceased before Rule 25(a)(1) may be invoked"). Because the Scheduling Order was not served on Mrs. Muennichow, it appears that it is not sufficient to trigger the running of the 90-day period in Rule 25.

B. Abstention

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 305(a), a bankruptcy court, after notice and a hearing, may dismiss a case "or may suspend all proceedings in a case under this title, at any time if... the interests of creditors and the debtor would be better served by such dismissal or suspension." Title 28, U.S.C. § 1334(c)(1) states that "nothing in this section prevents a district court in the interest of justice, or in the interest of comity with State courts or respect for State law, from abstaining from hearing a particular proceeding arising under title 11 or arising in or related to a case under title 11."

The Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals has articulated twelve factors for consideration when assessing the merits of abstention:

- (1) the effect or lack thereof on the efficient administration of the estate if a Court recommends abstention,
- (2) the extent to which state law issues predominate over bankruptcy issues,
- (3) the difficulty or unsettled nature of the applicable law,
- (4) the presence of a related proceeding commenced in state court or other nonbankruptcy court,
- (5) the jurisdictional basis, if any, other than 28 U.S.C. § 1334,
- (6) the degree of relatedness or remoteness of the proceeding to the main bankruptcy case,
- (7) the substance rather than form of an asserted "core" proceeding,
- (8) the feasibility of severing state law claims from core bankruptcy matters to allow judgments to be entered in state court with enforcement left to the bankruptcy court, (9) the burden of [the bankruptcy court's] docket, (10) the likelihood that the commencement of the proceeding in bankruptcy court involves forum shopping by one of the parties, (11) the existence of a right to a jury trial, and (12) the presence in the proceeding of nondebtor parties.

In re Tucson Estates, Inc., 912 F.2d 1162, 1167 (9th Cir. 1990). "No single factor is dispositive, and the decision does not turn on a counting of the number of factors on each side." In re Lazar, 200 B.R. 358, 373 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1996).

The overwhelming weight of the Tuscon factors is against abstention. The Complaint asserts causes of action under 11 U.S.C. §§ 523 and 727. This Court has exclusive jurisdiction over core bankruptcy matters, which include nondischargeability actions. Plaintiff has not asserted any state law causes of action and has no right to a jury trial. Moreover, Plaintiff maintains that there is a dispute with regard to entitlement to Debtor's life insurance policy proceeds and that a finding of nondischargeability remains relevant. Because this Court has exclusive jurisdiction to determine the claims asserted in the Complaint, abstention is not appropriate.

III. CONCLUSION

In light of the foregoing, Plaintiff should be prepared to inform the Court if and how he intends to continue prosecuting the Complaint.

ENDNOTES

1. On July 28, 2017, David Seror, the chapter 7 trustee appointed in Debtor's case, filed an adversary complaint against Debtor and Mrs. Muennichow seeking, among other things, to avoid fraudulent transfers under 11 U.S.C. § 548 and denial of discharge under 11 U.S.C. § 727 [1:17-ap-01069-VK]. In her answer, Mrs. Muennichow stated that she and Debtor have been legally separated at all times relevant to that adversary proceeding [doc. 7, ¶ 10]. In connection with that proceeding, the chapter 7 trustee has noted: "Debtor and Defendant Helayne were in the process of obtaining a divorce at the time of

#11.00 Motion to dismiss plaintiff's first amended complaint

Docket 26

Tentative Ruling:

For the reasons set forth below, the Court will grant the Motion to Dismiss Plaintiff's First Amended Complaint, With Prejudice (the "Motion") [doc. 26] in part and deny the Motion in part. The Court will grant the Motion, without leave to amend, as to Plaintiff's causes of action under §§ 523(a)(4) and (a)(19). The Court will deny the Motion as to Plaintiff's allegations regarding Defendants' allegedly false oaths concerning the value of their businesses under § 727(a)(4)(A), and will grant with leave to amend regarding Defendants' business income, as reflected in their Schedule I, as compared to the income disclosed in Defendants' monthly operating reports, filed with the Court.

I. BACKGROUND

The Court provided additional background in its ruling on March 7, 2018 [doc. 17]. Some facts are repeated here.

On August 21, 2017, Yegiya Kutyan and Haykush Helen Kutyan ("Defendants") filed a voluntary chapter 11 petition. On November 27, 2017, Pogo Araik Melkonian ("Plaintiff") filed a complaint against Defendants (the "Complaint"), seeking nondischargeability of the debt owed to him pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §§ 523(a)(2), (a)(4) and (a)(6) and for denial of discharge pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 727(a)(4)(A). Through the Complaint, Plaintiff made a number of allegations regarding Defendants' misconduct. The central thrust of these allegations is that Defendants were co-conspirators with George Pilavjian ("Pilavjian") and Sona Chukhyan ("Chukhyan") (Pilavjian and Chukhyan together, "Criminals") in a scheme to induce loans fraudulently from Plaintiff and others.

On January 3, 2018, Defendants filed a motion to dismiss the Complaint with prejudice (the "First Motion to Dismiss") [doc. 10]. On March 19, 2018, the Court entered an order granting in part and denying in part the First Motion to Dismiss ("Dismissal Order") [doc. 21]. Specifically, the Dismissal Order states:

- a. The Court will GRANT the Motion, without leave to amend, as to Plaintiff's causes of action under §§ 523(a)(2) and (a)(6);
- b. The Court will GRANT the Motion, with leave to amend, as to Plaintiff's cause of action for defalcation under § 523(a)(4);
- c. The Court will DENY the Motion as to Plaintiff's allegations regarding the valuation of Defendants' businesses under § 727(a)(4)(A); and
- d. The Court will GRANT the Motion, with leave to amend, regarding Defendants' allegedly false oaths concerning their Schedule J expenses, current business income, electronics and jewelry.

(emphasis in original) Id. at p. 2, lines 7-15.

The Dismissal Order provided that Plaintiff had 14 days to file and serve an amended complaint. It also provided that "[i]f Plaintiff requests to include a cause of action under § 523(a)(19) against Defendants, Plaintiff must also file and serve within 14 days following the entry of this order a brief on why this section is applicable, and whether this cause of action is being timely asserted. (emphasis in original) Id. at ¶ 4.

On April 2, 2018, Plaintiff timely filed and served a first amended complaint against Defendants (the "FAC"), seeking nondischargeability of the debt owed to him pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §§ 523(a)(4) and (a)(19) and for denial of discharge pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 727(a)(4)(A) [doc. 23]. On the same day, Plaintiff filed a brief regarding why § 523(a)(19) is applicable and whether this cause of action is being timely asserted (the "Brief") [doc. 24].

In the FAC, Plaintiff makes the same allegations regarding Defendants' misconduct as he did in the Complaint. The central thrust of these allegations is that Defendants were co-conspirators with Criminals in a scheme to induce investments fraudulently from Plaintiff and others. (In the Complaint, Plaintiff refers to the transactions as loans, while in the FAC, Plaintiff refers to the transactions as investments.) However, Plaintiff does assert new allegations and facts, as detailed below.

When Defendants made representations about their experience in the real

The purpose of the investment was to purchase real property, and Plaintiff was to be paid back through profits realized from the sale. Id. at pp. 14-15, ¶ 65. These transactions constituted the sale of a security pursuant to Federal and state law. Id.

Defendant Yegishe, in order to assure Plaintiff his investment was safe, took Plaintiff to a commercial property located on Ventura and Tampa, and represented that he owned the property. Id. at p. 3, ¶ 15. Defendant Yegishe further assured Plaintiff his money was safe by confirming on many occasions that he guaranteed return of Plaintiff's investment with the promised gain and that he had a real property with substantial equity to cover the investment. Id. at p. 4, ¶ 15.

In December 2008, Defendants through their broker/agent Hayg Terzian, delivered an executed deed of trust in the name of Plaintiff's son on property located in La Canada, California. Id. at p. 4, ¶ 19. Additionally, Defendants instructed their agents Varujan and Mary Pehlevanian to deliver Plaintiff a $25,000 check. Id. The check was issued by Mary Pehlevanian and the bank returned it for insufficient funds. Id.

Plaintiff further asserts that the September 2009 note executed by George Plavjian and the December 2009 note executed by George Plavjian on behalf of JBA were allegedly secured by a deed of trust held to Hughey Financial Inc., a California corporation, as trustee. Id. at p. 6, ¶ 24.

Before Defendants sold the security to Plaintiff, Plaintiff was a customer at Defendants' hair salon and Defendants only sought out Plaintiff in order for him to make financial investments into their real estate scheme. Id. at p. 8, ¶ 36. Defendants actively solicited investments from customers at the hair salon for their real estate development projects. Id. Defendants did not provide Plaintiff with detailed information about the investments, including the risks associated with the project or a prospectus on the investment. Id. at p. 8, ¶ 37.

their declaration of current and postpetition income and expenses filed in support of their chapter 11 plan of reorganization and disclosure statement. Id. at p. 11, ¶ 49. Defendants Schedule I states their combined monthly income is $8,508.46. Id. at pp. 11-12, ¶ 50. However, their MORs show an average monthly income of $4,777.97. Id. at p. 12, ¶ 51. Defendants do not seem to disclose the income from the cabinet business, the hair salon business or both. Id. at p. 12, ¶ 52.

On February 28, 2017, Debtors filed their chapter 11 plan of reorganization and disclosure statement in support thereof [docs. 45, 46]. Defendants' declaration of current and postpetition income and expense contains the same expenditures as stated above, which are not reflected in the MORs. Id. at p. 13, ¶ 54.

On April 18, 2018, Defendants filed a response to the Brief (the "Response") [doc. 25]. On the same day, Defendants filed a motion to dismiss the FAC (the "Motion") [doc. 26].

In the Motion, Defendants assert that: (A) Plaintiff's conclusory allegations fail to state a cause of action under § 523(a)(4); (B) the applicable statute of limitations conclusively bars the § 523(a)(4) cause of action; (C) Plaintiff cannot meet the requirements of § 523(a)(19); (D) Plaintiff's conclusory allegations fail to state a cause of action under § 727(a)(4)(A); (E) the Court should grant the Motion without leave to amend because the defects in the FAC cannot be cured with an amendment; and (F) the revisions in the FAC are not genuine and it a "sham pleading." Plaintiff opposed the Motion [doc. 29].

On May 2, 2018, Plaintiff filed a reply brief in support of the Brief (the "Reply Brief") [doc. 31]. On May 3, 2018, Defendants filed a motion to strike the Reply Brief (the "Objection") [doc. 32].

for failure to state a claim pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure ("FRCP") 12(b)(6).

Courts grant motions to dismiss under FRCP 12(b)(6) where the Complaint fails to state enough factual content to allow the court to "draw the reasonable inference that the defendant is liable for the misconduct alleged." Fayer v. Vaughn, 649 F.3d 1061, 1064 (9th Cir. 2011) (internal quotation marks omitted) (citing, inter alia, Bell Atl. Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 547 (2007); Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678, (2009)). In addition, courts do not "assume the truth of legal conclusions merely because they are cast in the form of factual allegations." Id. When ruling on a Rule 12(b)(6) motion, the court  cannot consider "new" facts alleged in a plaintiff's opposition papers. See Schneider v. California Dept. of Corrections, 151 F3d 1194, 1197 (9th Cir. 1998).

To survive a motion to dismiss, a complaint must contain sufficient factual matter, accepted as true, to state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face. A claim has facial plausibility when the plaintiff pleads factual content that allows the court to draw the reasonable inference that the defendant is liable for the misconduct alleged. The plausibility standard is not akin to a probability requirement, but it asks for more than a sheer possibility that a defendant has acted unlawfully. Where a complaint pleads facts that are merely consistent with a defendant's liability, it stops short of the line between possibility and plausibility of entitlement to relief.

Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 677-78 (2009) (internal quotations and citations omitted).

For instance, in Iqbal, the Supreme Court held that the plaintiff had not alleged a plausible claim against Attorney General John Ashcroft and FBI Director Robert Mueller where the plaintiff alleged only that these defendants "knew of, condoned, and willfully and maliciously agreed to subject" the plaintiff to confinement "as a matter of policy...." Id., at 680. These allegations "amount[ed] to nothing more than a formulaic recitation of the elements...." Id., at 681 (internal quotations omitted). See also Blantz v. California Dep't of Corr. & Rehab., Div. of Corr. Health Care Servs., 727 F.3d 917, 927 (9th Cir. 2013) ("[C]ommon sense requires us to reject the allegation that the Chief Medical Officer for the state-wide prison system, who sits on the Governing Body, was personally involved in the decision to terminate Blantz as an independent contractor nurse at Calipatria state prison or to give her a negative job reference.").

Pursuant to FRCP 9(b), "[i]n alleging fraud or mistake, a party must state with particularity the circumstances constituting fraud or mistake. Malice, intent, knowledge, and other conditions of a person's mind may be alleged generally." Allegations must be "specific enough to give defendants notice of the particular misconduct which is alleged to constitute the fraud charged..." Neubronner v. Milken, 6 F.3d 666, 671 (9th Cir. 1993). "[M]ere conclusory allegations of fraud are insufficient." Moore v. Kayport Package Exp., Inc., 885 F.2d 531, 540 (9th Cir. 1989).

Where a complaint is insufficient under FRCP 12(b)(6), a court has discretion to grant the plaintiff leave to amend. Under FRCP 15(a)(2) "the court should freely give leave [to amend] when justice so requires." However, dismissal without leave to amend is appropriate when the court is satisfied that the deficiencies in the complaint could not possibly be cured by amendment. Jackson v. Carey, 353 F.3d 750, 758 (9th Cir. 2003).

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(4), a bankruptcy discharge does not discharge an individual debtor from any debt "for fraud or defalcation while acting in a fiduciary capacity, embezzlement, or larceny." A debt is nondischargeable for fraud or defalcation while acting in a fiduciary capacity "where (1) an express trust existed, (2) the debt was caused by fraud or defalcation, and (3) the debtor acted as a fiduciary to the creditor at the time the debt was created." In re Niles, 106 F.3d 1456, 1459 (9th Cir. 1997).

Whether a relationship is a fiduciary one within the meaning of § 523(a)(4) is a question of federal law. Ragsdale v. Haller, 780 F.2d 794, 795 (9th Cir. 1986); see also In re Cantrell, 269 B.R. 413, 420 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2001) In the context of dischargeability, the fiduciary relationship must arise from an express or technical trust that was imposed before and without reference to the wrongdoing that caused the debt. Ragsdale, 780 F.2d at 796; see also In re Stern, 403 B.R. 58, 66 (Bankr. Cal. 2009) ("In order for the debt to be actionable for nondischargeability, the debtor must have been a trustee before the alleged wrong and without reference thereto; the debtor must have already been a trustee before the debt was created."); Cantrell, 269 B.R. at 420 ("Only relationships arising from express or technical trusts qualify as fiduciary relationships under § 523(a)(4)."). Under § 523(a)(4), the "scope of the term 'fiduciary capacity' is a question of federal law," but "the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals has considered state law to ascertain whether the requisite trust relationship exists." In re Honkanen, 446 B.R. 373, 379 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2011); Ragsdale, 780 F.2d at 796.

"A trust under California law may be formed by express agreement, by statute, or by case law." Cantrell, 269 B.R. at 420. An express trust under California law requires the following five elements: (1) present intent to create a trust; (2) a trustee; (3) trust property; (4) a proper legal purpose; and (5) a beneficiary. Honkanen, at 379 fn. 6 (citing Cal. Prob. Code §§ 15201–15205). A technical trust under California law is one "arising from the relation of attorney, executor, or guardian, and not to debts due by a bankrupt in the character of an agent, factor, commission merchant, and the like." Id., at fn. 7 (quoting Royal Indemnity Co. v. Sherman, 269 P.2d 123, 125 (Cal. Ct. App. 1954). Additionally, "[t]rusts arising as remedial devices to breaches of implied or express contracts—such as resulting or constructive trusts—are excluded, while statutory trusts that bear the hallmarks of an express trust are not." Id. (citing In re Pedrazzini, 644 F.2d 756, 759 (9th Cir. 1981)).

Under § 523(a)(4), debts related to "defalcation while acting in a fiduciary capacity," are nondischargeable. "Defalcation is defined as 'misappropriation of trust funds or money held in any fiduciary capacity.'" In re Lewis, 97 F.3d 1182, 1187 (9th Cir. 1996).

Defalcation "includes a culpable state of mind requirement akin to that which accompanies application of the other term in the same statutory phase." Bullock v. Bankchampaign, N.A., 133 S.Ct. 1754, 1757 (2013). This state of mind is one "involving knowledge of, or gross recklessness in respect to, the improper nature of the relevant fiduciary behavior." Id. "Thus, where the conduct at issue does not involve bad faith, moral turpitude, or other immoral conduct, the term requires an intentional wrong." Id., at 1759. Included as "intentional" is "not only conduct that the fiduciary knows is improper, but also reckless conduct of the kind that the criminal law often treats as the equivalent." Id. Thus, "[w]here actual knowledge of wrongdoing is lacking," the court should "consider conduct as equivalent if the fiduciary 'consciously disregards' (or is willfully blind to) 'a substantial and justifiable risk' that his conduct will turn out to violate a fiduciary duty." Id. "That risk 'must be of such a nature and degree that, considering the nature and purpose of the actor's conduct and the circumstances known to him, its disregard and the circumstances known to him, its disregard involves a gross deviation from the standard of conduct that a law-abiding person would observe in the actor's situation.'" Id. (emphasis in original).

Under the authorities above, Plaintiff did not allege a fiduciary relationship as defined under § 523(a)(4). As to defalcation, a preliminary requirement is the existence of an express trust. However, the FAC contains no facts alleging that such a trust ever existed. Plaintiff never alleges that there was intent to create a trust, a trustee, trust property or a proper legal purpose.

Further, § 523(a)(4) applies "only to a debt created by a person who was already a fiduciary when the debt was created." Davis v. Aetna Acceptance Co., 293 U.S. 328, 333, 55 S.Ct. 151, 79 L.Ed. 393 (1934) (internal quotation marks omitted). Plaintiff did not allege facts in the FAC showing that Defendants were fiduciaries before the debt to Plaintiff was created.

Consequently, Plaintiff failed to sufficiently state a claim under § 523(a)(4). Because Plaintiff failed to cure any of the deficiencies in the Complaint, the Court will grant the Motion with prejudice with respect to Plaintiff's § 523(a)(4) claim.

C. 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(19)

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(19), a bankruptcy discharge does not discharge an individual debtor from any debt that—

(A) is for—

(ii) common law fraud, deceit, or manipulation in connection with the purchase or sale of any security; and

(B) results, before, on, or after the date on which the petition was filed, from—

(i) any judgment, order, consent order, or decree entered in any Federal or State judicial or administrative proceeding;

(ii) any settlement agreement entered into by the debtor; or

(iii) any court or administrative order for any damages, fine, penalty, citation, restitutionary payment, disgorgement payment, attorney fee, cost, or other payment owed by the debtor.

(emphasis added).

"To establish that exception to discharge, the debt must (1) be 'for' a securities law violation or fraud in connection with a sale of a security, and (2) 'result from' some judicial or administrative proceeding or a settlement agreement. Tradex Glob. Master Fund SPC LTD v. Chui, 702 F. App'x 632, 633 (9th Cir. 2017). "Plaintiff must establish both parts by a preponderance of evidence." Michael Williams v. Rumio Sato (In re Rumio Sato), 512 B.R. 241, 251 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2014).

"A threshold question is whether § 523(a)(19)(B) requires that Plaintiff's claim be first memorialized in an order or settlement outside of this Court." Sato, 512 B.R. at 251-52. "There is a split in authority on this question." Id.

"The narrower view holds that § 523(a)(19)(B) requires the debt to be first memorialized in a settlement or order by a nonbankruptcy forum. The more expanded view holds that the bankruptcy court can determine the liability, damages, and dischargeability of the debt for securities violations and securities fraud and issue its own judgment to satisfy § 523(a)(19)(B)." Sato, 512 B.R. at 251-52 (internal citations omitted); see also One Longhorn Land I, L.P. v. Presley, 529 B.R. 755, 761 (C.D. Cal. 2015).

Plaintiff's claim is not memorialized in an order or settlement outside of this Court. Defendants urge the Court to interpret § 523(a)(19)(B) according to the narrower view. However, the Court declines to interpret § 523(a)(19)(B) at this time because, as discussed below, Plaintiff's theories of recovery under § 523(a)(19) are time-barred.

Under § 523(a)(19)(A), Plaintiff must show the debt was for a securities law violation or fraud in connection with a sale of a security. Plaintiff cites Sato in support of his position that he has a strong § 523(a)(19) claim. However, Sato is distinguishable because the court in Sato found there was fraud in connection with the sale of a security. The court did not determine whether there was a violation of a Federal or California securities law. In regards to § 523(a)(19)(A)(ii), this Court has already stated that to the extent Plaintiff presents any cause of action based on fraud, that cause of action is time-barred [doc. 17, p. 8]. Thus, Plaintiff must prove there was a violation of any of the Federal or California securities laws.

D. Statute of Limitations

A party seeking to have its debt declared nondischargeable must first establish that debt under the applicable state statute of limitations. In re DiBenedetto, 560 B.R. 531, 537 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2016). "However, the question of the dischargeability of the debt under the Bankruptcy Code is a distinct issue governed solely by the limitations periods established by bankruptcy law." In re Banks, 225 B.R. 738, 744-45 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1998), aff'd, 246 B.R. 452 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1999), aff'd sub nom. Banks v. Gill Distribution Centers, Inc., 263 F.3d 862 (9th Cir. 2001), and aff'd, 246 B.R. 452 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1999).

"[A] debt upon which the state statute of limitations . . . has run prior to the filing of the bankruptcy case has been "established" pre-petition if the creditor has taken a timely affirmative act which is necessary to the creditor's ability to collect the debt in a manner provided for by law." Banks, 225 B.R. at 745. "[T]here is no requirement that the allegations of a complaint filed in state court prior to a debtor filing a petition in bankruptcy correspond to the elements of the grounds contained in § 523(a) of the Bankruptcy Code." Id. "Otherwise, plaintiffs in state court would be required to anticipate the bankruptcy of every defendant and litigate every conceivable issue under § 523(a) in the event a defendant should subsequently file bankruptcy." Id.

Plaintiff correctly asserts that under FRBP 4007 and § 523(c), a complaint for nondischargeability of debt pursuant to a § 523(a)(19) claim may be filed at any time and is not subject to the sixty day statute of limitations following the § 341(a) meeting. Thus, the FAC is timely under FRBP 4007. See In re Pierce, 563 B.R. 698,

Plaintiff also correctly asserts in the Reply Brief that "after determining that the debt was successfully established pre-petition, the state statute of limitations becomes immaterial, as dischargeability issues are within the purview of the bankruptcy court's exclusive jurisdiction and issues relating thereto are to be decided within the confines of the bankruptcy court as provided by Congress." (emphasis added) Banks, 225 B.R. at 746. However, Plaintiff did not successfully establish the debt prepetition.

The timeliness of the FAC to determine nondischargeability under § 523(a)(19) must be measured against the limitations periods set forth in the state and federal securities statutes. In order for those limitations periods to become immaterial, Plaintiff would need to show that he took a timely affirmative act to establish his debt prepetition within the applicable statute of limitations. Plaintiff did not file the May 2014 state court action within the applicable statute of limitations for any Federal or California securities laws he cited. Thus, Plaintiff has failed to establish a right to judgment under any of these theories. See In re Chui, 538 B.R. 793, 810-11 (Bankr. N. D. Cal. 2015) (finding that the plaintiff's Rule 10b-5 and Cal. Corp. Code §§ 25401, 25501 and 25504 theories of recovery for a § 523(a)(19) claim were time-barred under the applicable statute of limitation, preventing the court from finding that the debtor violated anti-fraud provisions); Pierce, 563 B.R. at 707 (stating that under § 523(a)(19) "the establishment of the debt itself, is governed by the applicable non-bankruptcy statute of limitations—if suit is not brought within the limitations period, the debt cannot be established").

1. Federal Securities Laws

Plaintiff did not expressly assert in the FAC which code sections Defendants violated under Federal securities laws. However, Plaintiff asserts that Defendants violated Federal laws because the offer and sale were not exempt and Defendants did not provide a prospectus or any other oral or written disclosures to Plaintiff regarding the risks or any other aspect of Plaintiff's investment. Plaintiff seems to be asserting a claim based on a violation of § 12 of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, 15 U.S.C. § 77a et seq. In the Reply Brief, Plaintiff also cites to Rule 10b-5. As discussed below, Plaintiff is time-barred from bringing a § 523(a)(19) claim based on these code sections. See Toombs v. Leone, 777 F.2d 465, 468 (9th Cir. 1985) (granting a motion

In order to establish his debt prepetition under an alleged violation of § 77l(a)(1), Plaintiff needed to bring the state court action within one year after the violation, and in no event more than three years after the security was bona fide offered to the public. Plaintiff alleges that Defendants solicited investments from him from September 2008 to March 2009. Thus, Plaintiff needed to file the state court action between September 2009 and March 2010. Plaintiff further asserts that the alleged sale of the security was a public offering because Defendants solicited investments from other customers at Defendants' hair salon. That means Plaintiff had to file the state court action by March 2012 at the latest. Plaintiff brought the state court action in May 2014, which was well beyond the statute of limitations.

In order to establish his debt prepetition under an alleged violation of § 77l(a)(2), Plaintiff needed to bring the state court action within one year after the discovery of the untrue statement or the omission, or after such discovery should have been made by the exercise of reasonable diligence, and in no event more than three years after the sale. Plaintiff asserts that he did not discover the violation until October 2013 or March 2018. Under the discovery rule, the May 2014 state court action would be timely. However, the statute states "in no event more than three years after the sale." 15 U.S.C. § 77m. The last alleged sale of a security occurred in March 2009. Thus, Plaintiff needed to file the state court action by March 2012 at the latest. Plaintiff brought the state court action in May 2014, which was well beyond the statute of limitations.

the misrepresentation or omission; (5) economic loss; and (6) loss causation." Stoneridge Investment Partners, LLC v. Scientific–Atlanta, Inc., 552 U.S. 148, 157 (2008).

The applicable statute of limitations provides that a private right of action may be brought not later than the earlier of: two years after the discovery of the facts constituting the violation; or five years after such violation. (emphasis added) 28 U.S.C. § 1658(b). In Merck & Co. v. Reynolds, the Supreme Court held that "discovery" occurs when the plaintiff actually discovers the wrong, or when a reasonably diligent plaintiff would have discovered "the facts constituting the violation," including scienter, irrespective of whether the actual plaintiff undertook a reasonably diligent investigation. 559 U.S. 633, 634 (2010).

In order to establish his debt prepetition, Plaintiff needed to bring the state court action within the earlier of two years after the discovery of the facts constituting the violation or five years after such violation. Plaintiff asserts that he did not discover the facts constituting the violation until October 2013 or March 2018. Under the discovery rule, the May 2014 state court action would be timely. However, the statute states the earlier of discovery or five years after the violation. In this case the earlier of the two options is five years after the violation. The last alleged sale of a security occurred in March 2009. Thus, Plaintiff needed to file the state court action by March 2014. Plaintiff did not bring the state court action until May 2014. Thus, Plaintiff cannot show that he filed the May 2014 state court action within the applicable federal statute of limitations.

2. California Securities Laws

Plaintiff did not expressly assert in the FAC which code sections Defendants violated under California securities laws. However, Plaintiff asserts that Defendants violated California laws because the offer and sale were not exempt and Defendants did not provide a prospectus or any other oral or written disclosures to Plaintiff regarding the risks or any other aspect of Plaintiff's investment. In the Reply Brief, Plaintiff cites to California Corporations Code §§ 25110 and 25401. As discussed below, Plaintiff is time-barred from bringing a § 523(a)(19) claim based on these code sections.

"Section 25110, 25120 and 25130 make it unlawful to offer or sell any security without qualifying the security or transaction, unless it is exempt under Corporations Code sections 25100 et seq." Bowden v. Robinson, 67 Cal. App. 3d 705, 711 (Ct. App. 1977). "Corporations Code section 25503 imposes liability upon a person violating section 25110 (issuer transactions) and section 25130 (non-issuer transactions) providing in pertinent part that the violator shall be liable to any person acquiring from him the security sold in violation of such section, who may sue to recover the consideration he paid for such security with interest thereon at the legal rate, less the amount of any income received therefrom, upon the tender of such security, or for damages, if he no longer owns the security, or if the consideration given for the security is not capable of being returned." (internal quotations omitted) Id.

Pursuant to California Corporations Code § 25507—

(a) No action shall be maintained to enforce any liability created under Section 25503 (or Section 25504 or Section 25504.1 insofar as they relate to that section) unless brought before the expiration of two years after the violation upon which it is based or the expiration of one year after the discovery by the plaintiff of the facts constituting such violation, whichever shall first expire.

"This limitation is imposed to prevent purchasers from employing the remedies for violation of the qualification provisions to shift the risk of a bad investment to the seller." Bowden, 67 Cal. App. 3d at 712.

In order to establish his debt prepetition under an alleged violation of § 25110, Plaintiff needed to bring the state court action within two years after the violation or the one year after the discovery of the facts constituting such violation, whichever shall first expire. Plaintiff asserts that he did not discover the violation until October 2013 or March 2018. Under the discovery rule, the May 2014 state court action would be timely. However, the statute states the earlier of discovery or two years after the violation. The last alleged sale of a security occurred in March 2009. Thus, Plaintiff needed to file the state court action by March 2011. Plaintiff brought the state court action in May 2014, which was well beyond the statute of limitations.

b. California Corporations Code Sections 25401, 25501 and 25506

any person, in connection with the offer, sale, or purchase of a security, directly or indirectly to do any of the following:

- (a) Employ a device, scheme, or artifice to defraud;
- (b) Make an untrue statement of material fact or omit to state a material fact necessary to make the statements made, in light of the circumstances under which they were made, not misleading; or
- (c) Engage in an act, practice, or course of business that operates or would operate as a fraud or deceit upon another person."

Chui, 538 B.R. at 811-12. "Section 25501 provides that any person who violates section 25401 shall be liable to the person who purchases a security from him or sells a security to him, who may then sue either for rescission or for damages (if the plaintiff or the defendant, as the case may be, no longer owns the security), unless the defendant proves that the plaintiff knew the facts concerning the untruth or omission or that the defendant exercised reasonable care and did not know (or if he had exercised reasonable care would not have known) of the untruth or omission." Id.

Pursuant to California Corporations Code § 25506(b)—

For proceedings commencing on or after January 1, 2005, no action shall be maintained to enforce any liability created under Section 25500, 25501, or 25502 (or Section 25504 or Section 25504.1 insofar as they related to those sections) unless brought before the expiration of five years after the act or transaction constituting the violation or the expiration of two years after the discovery by the plaintiff of the facts constituting the violation, whichever shall first expire.

"As with the statute of limitation for Rule 10b–5, section 25506 begins to run when the plaintiff ‘discovers the facts constituting the violation or in the exercise of reasonable diligence should have discovered them.’" Chui, 538 B.R. at 812 (citing Kramas v. Security Gas & Oil Inc., 672 F.2d 766, 770–71 (9th Cir.1982)).

In order to establish his debt prepetition under an alleged violation of § 25401, Plaintiff needed to file the state court action within five years after the act or transaction constituting the violation or two years after the discovery of the facts constituting such violation, whichever shall first expire. Plaintiff asserts that he did not discover the violation until October 2013 or March 2018. Under the discovery rule, the May 2014 state court action would be timely. However, the statute states the earlier of discovery or five years after the violation. The last alleged sale of a security occurred in March 2009. Thus, Plaintiff needed to file the state court action by March 2014. Plaintiff did not bring the state court action until May 2014. Thus, Plaintiff cannot show that he filed the May 2014 state court action within the applicable statute of limitations.

Accordingly, the § 523(a)(19) cause of action is time-barred. Because Plaintiff cannot cure the deficiencies in the FAC, the Court will grant the Motion without leave to amend as to the § 523(a)(19) cause of action. [FN1]

Section 727(a)(4)(A) denies a discharge to a debtor who "knowingly and fraudulently" made a false oath or account in the course of the bankruptcy proceedings. In order to bring a successful § 727(a)(4)(A) claim for false oath, the plaintiff must show: (1) the debtor made a false oath in connection with the case; (2) the oath related to a material fact; (3) the oath was made knowingly; and (4) the oath was made fraudulently. In re Wills, 243 B.R. 58, 62 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1999). "[A] false oath may involve a false statement or omission in the debtor's schedules." In re Roberts, 331 B.R. 876, 882 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 2005), aff'd and remanded on other grounds, 241 F. App'x 420 (9th Cir. 2007).

"A fact is material if it bears a relationship to the debtor's business transactions or estate, or concerns the discovery of assets, business dealings, or the existence and disposition of the debtor's property." Retz v. Samson (In re Retz), 606 F.3d 1189, 1198 (9th Cir. 2010)(quoting Khalil, 379 B.R. at 173). "A debtor acts knowingly if he or she acts deliberately and consciously." Retz, 606 F.3d at 1198 (quoting In re Khalil, 379 B.R. at 173) (internal quotation omitted).

The fraud provision of § 727(a)(4) is similar to common law fraud, which the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals has described as follows:

The creditor must show that (1) the debtor made the representations; (2) that at the time he knew they were false; (3) that he made them with the intention and purpose of deceiving the creditors; (4) that the creditors relied on such representations; (5) that the creditors sustained loss and damage as the proximate result of the representations having been made.

In re Roberts, 331 B.R. 876, 884 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 2005), aff'd and remanded on other grounds, 241 F. App'x 420 (9th Cir. 2007).

Intent must usually be established by circumstantial evidence or inferences drawn from the debtor's course of conduct. Khalil v. Developers Sur. & Indem. Co. (In re Khalil), 379 B.R. 163, 174 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2007) (circumstances might include multiple omissions or failure to clear up omissions), aff'd, 578 F.3d 1167. "(T)he cumulative effect of false statements may, when taken together, evidence a reckless disregard for the truth sufficient to support a finding of fraudulent intent" under § 727(a)(4). Stamat v. Neary, 635 F3d 974, 982 (7th Cir. 2011).

Plaintiff alleges that Defendants knowingly and fraudulently failed to indicate that they are "small business debtors" as defined in 11 U.S.C. § 101(51D). Because Defendants were required to provide similar disclosures in their seven day package, Defendants derive no benefit from knowingly and fraudulently making a false oath about being small business debtors. Thus, the FAC does not provide enough factual content to draw the reasonable inference that Defendants knowingly and fraudulently made a false oath about their alleged status as small business debtors. Plaintiff has not presented sufficient factual allegations to base a § 727(a)(4)(A) claim on this alleged misstatement.

Plaintiff additionally alleges that Defendants have made false statements in their bankruptcy documents by stating a false monthly income for Custom Wood Creations, Inc. and Millennium Hair Salon. Plaintiff asserts that Defendants' Schedule I lists monthly average income for Cabinet Wood Creations, Inc. as $4,371.83, for Millennium Beauty Salon as $548.72 and for providing in-home support services as $3,587.91. These amounts total $8,508.46. Plaintiff contends that the business income is false because Defendants' monthly operating reports ("MORs") show average monthly income of $4,777.97.

On the one hand, Plaintiff argues that, based on the historic gross income stated in Defendants' Statement of Financial Affairs, Defendants knowingly and fraudulently undervalued their interests in businesses. On the other hand, Plaintiff argues that Defendants overstated their business income, because the MORs do not reflect the business income listed in Defendants' Schedule I. Given the FAC's contention that Defendants' undervalued their interests in businesses, it is not simultaneously plausible that Defendants would knowingly and fraudulently include inflated business income in their Schedule I. If Defendants are knowingly and fraudulently undervaluing their business interests, Defendants derive no benefit from putting forth allegedly exaggerated business income in their Schedule I.

The question before the Court is whether the FAC included sufficient facts, if taken as true, to support a cause of action under § 727(a)(4)(A). Under the Rule 12(b)(6) standard, the Court takes these allegations as true. Because Plaintiff has not provided sufficient factual allegations to state a plausible claim under § 727(a)(4)(A) that Defendants inflated their business income in Schedule I, the Court will grant the Motion with leave to amend as to the significance of the discrepancy, if any, between Defendants' business income, as stated in their Schedule I, and the income reported in Defendants' MORs.

III. CONCLUSION

The Court will grant the Motion in part and deny the Motion in part. The Court will grant the Motion, without leave to amend, as to Plaintiff's causes of action under §§ 523(a)(4) and (a)(19).

The Court will deny the Motion as to Plaintiff's allegations regarding Defendants' allegedly false oaths concerning the value of their business interests under § 727(a)(4)(A), and will grant with leave to amend regarding Defendants' business income reflected in their Schedule I, as compared to the income disclosed in their MORs.

In light of the Court's ruling, the Objection is moot. The Court will not strike the Reply Brief.

Defendants must submit the order within seven (7) days. Plaintiff may file and serve a second amended complaint no later than 14 days after the entry of the order.

Chapter 11

1. Even if Plaintiff's § 523(a)(19) claim was not time-barred, Plaintiff did not plead sufficient factual allegations in the FAC to show that the transaction between Plaintiff and Defendants constitutes an investment as defined under securities law. The exhibits attached to the FAC show that Plaintiff received promissory notes, which provided for Plaintiff's receipt of principal plus interest or another fixed sum. See also FAC, ¶¶ 21, 23-24 and 27-28. Plaintiff did not allege that he was to receive an interest in profits realized from real estate transactions; rather Plaintiff alleged that he was to be paid a fixed amount from profits realized from real estate transactions. Thus, Plaintiff did not plead sufficient factual allegations to base a § 523(a)(19) claim on these transactions. See People v. Black, 8 Cal. App. 5th 889, 899-900 (Ct. App. 2017), review denied (May 24, 2017) (finding a promissory note not a security within the meaning of the Silver Hills or Howey test because plaintiff was the only investor in the defendant's real estate development, and the agreement provided a repayment option that was not contingent on the success of the enterprise, i.e., principal plus interest).

Docket 113

Tentative Ruling:

The debtor must address the following:

Devonwood Property. Exhibit 1 to the Individual Debtor's Chapter 11 Plan of Reorganization (the "Plan") [doc. 112] is a stipulation with the secured creditor (the "Devonwood Stipulation") regarding plan treatment for the claim secured by the real property located at 478 Devonwood Road, Altadena, CA 91101. The Devonwood Stipulation is dated March 1, 2018. However, the Devonwood Stipulation is not signed by the secured creditor and is not filed on the docket. In addition, the Court has not entered an order approving the Devonwood Stipulation. Unless the Devonwood Stipulation is contingent upon confirmation of the Plan, no later than seven (7) days after this hearing, the debtor must file the properly executed Devonwood Stipulation and lodge a proposed order.

Lewis Property. Exhibit 2 to the Plan is a stipulation with the secured creditor (the "Lewis Stipulation") regarding plan treatment for the claim secured by the real property located at 2081 Lewis Avenue, Altadena, CA 91001 (the "Lewis Property"). Orders approving the Lewis Stipulation were lodged on September 15 and 19, 2017. However, the lodged orders did not properly attach the Lewis Stipulation, as indicated in the lodged order. No later than seven (7) days after this hearing, the debtor must lodge a corrected order on the Lewis Stipulation.

Cash Flow Projections. The debtor must update the cash flow projections (the "Projections") attached as Exhibit F to the Individual Debtor's Disclosure Statement in Support of Plan of Reorganization (the "DS") [doc. 113].

- The Projections are dated August 2017 through January 2018. The debtor must provide updated projections for the first six months after the effective date of the Plan.
- The Projections do not appear to include the quarterly payments to the Class 6

(b) creditors. The amended projections must include such payments.

Los Angeles County Tax Collector. Class 5(b) of the Plan consists of the property taxes owing to the Los Angeles County Tax Collector ("LACTC"). Does this class also include LACTC's secured claim in the amount of $326.02, as indicated in proof of claim 2-1?

Amended Schedules. The debtor attached an amended schedule A/B, an amended schedule E/F, and an amended schedule G to the DS. (DS, Exhs. B, C, E.) The debtor has not separately filed these amended schedules with the Court. No later than seven (7) days after this hearing, the debtor must file these amended schedules with the Court.

Postpetition Income Taxes. Neither the Declaration of Current/Postpetition Income and Expenses (DS, Exh. A) nor the Projections (DS, Exh. F) include the debtor's postpetition income taxes.

Family Member Contribution. The DS provides that the debtor's mother will provide $5,000 in new value contribution on the effective date of the Plan, and that she will pay $1,000 per month into the Plan. (DS, at p. 4.) The DS must include financial information about the ability of the debtor's mother to make such contributions. In connection with confirmation of the Plan, to demonstrate the feasibility of the Plan, the debtor also must file a declaration of his mother and supporting documentation demonstrating her willingness and financial ability to make such contributions.

The Court will not approve the DS until the stipulated orders discussed above have been entered and the amended schedules have been separately filed.

I. BACKGROUND

A. *The Note and Deeds of Trust

On August 12, 2008, La Jolla Bank, FSB made a loan to Glenroy E. Day, Jr. (the "Debtor") in the amount of $3,066,625 (the "Loan"). The Loan was evidenced by a promissory note (the "Note"). (Declaration of Jeanie Caldwell, ¶ 2, Exh. 1.) The Loan is secured by (i) a deed of trust encumbering the real property located at 32001 Pacific Coast Highway, Malibu, CA 90265 (the "PCH Property"), and (ii) a deed of trust (the "Zuma Deed of Trust") encumbering the real property located at 6463 Zuma Place, #165, Malibu, California 90265 (the "Zuma Property") (together, the "Deeds of Trust"). (Id., ¶ 3; Exh. 2.)

The Note and Deeds of Trust were subsequently transferred to OneWest Bank, FSB ("OneWest"), which later changed its name to OneWest Bank, N.A. On August 3, 2015, CIT Bank, the U.S. commercial bank subsidiary of CIT Group, Inc., merged into OneWest Bank, N.A., which was renamed CIT Bank, N.A. ("CIT").

B. *The First Chapter 11 Case

On June 6, 2011, the Debtor filed a voluntary chapter 11 petition, commencing case no. 1:11-bk-17021-VK (the "First Chapter 11 Case"). On July 26, 2011, OneWest filed a secured claim in the First Chapter 11 Case in the amount of $3,306,702.55 regarding the Note. (Declaration of Glenroy E. Day, Jr. ("Debtor Decl."), ¶ 5; Exh. 1.)

On May 2, 2012, OneWest filed a motion for relief from the automatic stay as to the PCH Property [1:11-bk-17021-VK, doc. 84]. On June 4, 2012, the Court entered an order granting relief from the automatic stay as to the PCH Property, pursuant to an adequate protection stipulation [1:11-bk-17021-VK, doc. 96]. Subsequently, on April 3, 2013, the PCH Property was sold at a trustee's sale. (Debtor Decl., ¶ 6; Exh. 2.) Following that sale, the Debtor allegedly believed that no deficiency remained owing to OneWest on the Note. The Debtor also states that he was unaware that the debt associated with the Note still was cross-collateralized against the Zuma Property. As a result, the Debtor states that he did not inform his present counsel that a third priority lien, held by OneWest (the "Lien"), encumbered the Zuma Property. (Id.)

C. The Second Chapter 11 Case

On December 2, 2013, the Debtor filed a voluntary chapter 11 petition, commencing the pending case (the "Second Chapter 11 Case"). The Debtor scheduled OneWest as holding a disputed claim in the amount of $0. According to the Debtor, he did so to provide OneWest notice of the Second Chapter 11 Case and the proposed treatment of its claim. The Debtor believed that no deficiency balance remained on the Note and that the Note was paid in full. (Id., ¶ 7.)

As of the filing of the Second Chapter 11 Case, the Debtor owed approximately $823,337.51 on the Note related to the first deed of trust on the Zuma Property, held by Union Bank, N.A., and $242,757.97 on the Note related to the second deed of trust on the Zuma Property, held by PNC Bank. (Id., ¶ 8.) In his schedules, the Debtor indicated that the value of the Zuma Property was $850,000. (Id., ¶ 8; doc. 1, at p. 20.)

On July 24, 2014, the Debtor filed his Individual Debtor's Second Amended Disclosure Statement in Support of Plan of Reorganization (the "Disclosure Statement") [doc. 129] and his Individual Debtor's Second Amended Chapter 11 Plan of Reorganization (the "Plan") [doc. 128]. The Disclosure Statement indicated that OneWest's claim would be treated as a general unsecured claim and paid $0. The total amount of unsecured claims was listed as $555,362.28. (Doc. 129, at p. 57.) The Plan did not contain any discussion regarding the Lien or the potential avoidance of the Lien. The Plan provided that holders of general unsecured claims would receive 5.25% of their allowed claims through the Plan. OneWest did not file a proof of claim in the Debtor's case and did not appear in the Debtor's case. On December 5, 2014, the Court entered an order confirming the Plan [doc. 208].

On February 12, 2015, the Debtor filed a Motion for Entry of Final Decree,

Discharge, and Order Closing Debtor's Chapter 11 Case (the "Closing Motion") [doc. 226]. In the Closing Motion, the Debtor stated that he had substantially consummated his Plan payments. On March 13, 2015, the Court entered an order for entry of a final decree and closing the Debtor's case on an interim basis [doc. 228]. The Debtor has not yet completed all Plan payments. (Debtor Decl., ¶ 14.)

D. Sale of the Zuma Property and Reopening of the Second Chapter 11 Case

In June 2017, the Debtor refinanced the Zuma Property. The title company asked the Debtor for information regarding the Zuma Deed of Trust, which still appeared to be on the Zuma Property. The Debtor contacted CIT and asked that the Lien be released from the Zuma Property. On June 7, 2017, CIT responded with a fax stating, "Attached is a copy of the Trustee Deed Upon Sale that is recorded. There no mention on the title that this lien is still outstanding." (Debtor Decl., ¶ 10; Exh. 3.) On October 17, 2017, CIT sent the Debtor a letter confirming that it was in the process of completing the release of the Lien as to the Zuma Property. (Id., ¶ 11; Exh. 4.) According to the Debtor:

The buyers of the [Zuma] Property (the "Buyers") were engaging in a section 1031 exchange and in reliance on the representation by CIT that the lien would be released without payment, (i) Buyers ceased looking for additional properties to identify under the exchange, (ii) the Buyers, who are senior citizens, would have incurred a substantial tax penalty if the sale did not close shortly after CIT's letter was issued, (iii) I vacated the Subject Property and became obligated on a lease agreement to rent a new property in the amount of $5,500/month, (iv) I incurred $3,750.00 in moving expenses, and (v) I placed an $11,000 deposit related to my new lease. In other words, the Lien Release Letter had the effect of requiring that the sale of the Subject Property close due to the financial obligations I incurred in entering into a new lease, moving out of the Subject Property, and the probable liability to the Buyers related to the 1031 exchange.

(Id., ¶ 12.) The Debtor also states that he incurred approximately $25,000 in repairs to prepare the Zuma Property for sale. (Id., ¶ 15.)

Chapter 11

When the Zuma Property was in escrow, CIT informed the Debtor that it was not going to release the Lien without payment of the net proceeds of the sale to CIT. In order to allow consummation of the sale, CIT and the Debtor entered into an agreement setting aside the amount of $175,003.65 (the "Proceeds") to be held in escrow pending a resolution of who was entitled to the Proceeds. (Id., ¶ 13.)

On January 30, 2018, the parties filed their Joint Motion to Reopen Closed Chapter 11 Case (the "Joint Motion") [Doc. 235]. On February 27, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the Joint Motion [Doc. 238].

On March 14, 2018, the Debtor filed a Motion for Order Determining Value of Collateral [11 U.S.C. § 506(a)] (the "Motion to Value") [doc. 243]. In the Motion to Value, the Debtor seeks an order valuing the Zuma Property at $850,000, based on the Debtor's knowledge of comparable sales. The Debtor alleges that the following liens encumber the Zuma Property:

Lienholders (in order of priority)	Original Lien Amount	Balance of Lien Amount as of 12/2/13
Union Bank, N.A.	$940,000	$823,337.51
PNC Bank	$252,250	$242,757.97
CIT Bank, N.A.	$3,066,250	$744,966.70

After valuation, the Debtor proposes to treat the liens as follows:

Lienholders (in order of priority)	Secured Portion of Claim	Unsecured Portion of Claim
Union Bank, N.A.	$823,337.51	$0.00
PNC Bank	$26,662.49	$216,095.48
CIT Bank, N.A.	$0.00	$744,966.70

On March 28, 2018, CIT filed an opposition to the Motion to Value [doc. 248]. On April 26, 2018, CIT filed a second opposition [doc. 252]. On May 3, 2018, the Debtor filed his reply [doc. 253].

II. DISCUSSION

A. Value of the Zuma Property

Chapter 11

As an initial matter, the Debtor argues that the Zuma Property should be valued at $850,000 as of December 2, 2013, based on his personal knowledge of comparable sales. (Motion to Value, at p. 6.) However, aside from the form declaration attached to the Motion to Value, the Debtor does not attach a supplemental declaration attesting to his knowledge of such comparable sales. Nor did the Debtor attach an authenticated appraisal of the Zuma Property. Unless and until the Debtor provides sufficient data supporting his opinion of the fair market value of the Zuma Property, the Court could not grant the Motion to Value (if otherwise appropriate).

B. Modification of the Plan

11 U.S.C. § 1127(e) provides:

If the debtor is an individual, the plan may be modified at any time after confirmation of the plan but before the completion of payments under the plan, whether or not the plan has been substantially consummated, upon request of the debtor, the trustee, the United States trustee, or the holder of an allowed unsecured claim, to—

- (1) increase or reduce the amount of payments on claims of a particular class provided for by the plan;
- (2) extend or reduce the time period for such payments; or
- (3) alter the amount of the distribution to a creditor whose claim is provided for by the plan to the extent necessary to take account of any payment of such claim made other than under the plan.

In the Motion to Value, the Debtor states that the purpose of the requested valuation is for treatment of CIT's claim in a plan pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1129. In its Opposition, CIT argues that because plan payments are complete and the Plan has been substantially consummated, the Debtor cannot modify the Plan and thus has no use for § 1129. However, the Debtor states that not all Plan payments have been completed. Therefore, the Debtor may still modify the Plan for the limited purposes identified in § 1127(e).

11 U.S.C. § 1141 provides:

Except as provided in subsections (d)(2) and (d)(3) of this section, the provisions of a confirmed plan bind the debtor, any entity issuing securities under the plan, any entity acquiring property under the plan, and any creditor, equity security holder, or general partner in the debtor, whether or not the claim or interest of such creditor, equity security holder, or general partner is impaired under the plan and whether or not such creditor, equity security holder, or general partner has accepted the plan.

"[A]ll creditors are bound by the provisions of the plan, regardless of whether the creditor filed a claim." In re W.F. Monroe Cigar Co., 166 B.R. 110, 112 (N.D. Ill. 1994). "Once a bankruptcy plan is confirmed, it is binding on all parties and all questions that could have been raised pertaining to the plan are entitled to res judicata effect." Trulis v. Barton, 107 F.3d 685, 691 (9th Cir. 1995); see also Heritage Hotel P'ship I v. Valley Bank of Nev. (In re Heritage Hotel P'ship I), 160 B.R. 374, 377 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1993), aff'd, 59 F.3d 175 (9th Cir. 1995).

Generally, four elements must be present in order to establish the defense of res judicata: (1) the parties were identical in the two actions; (2) the prior judgment was rendered by a court of competent jurisdiction; (3) there was a final judgment on the merits; and, (4) the same cause of action was involved in both cases.

In re Heritage Hotel P'ship I, 160 B.R. at 377. "Confirmation of a plan of reorganization constitutes a final judgment in bankruptcy proceedings." Id. at 377 (citing Stoll v. Gottlieb, 305 U.S. 165, 59 S.Ct. 134, 83 L.Ed. 104 (1938)). "[A] confirmed Plan comprises all matters pertaining to the debtor-creditor relationship that the debtor or any creditor might raise to advance their interests in the proceedings." In re California Litfunding, a Nevada Corp., 360 B.R. 310, 322 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2007) (citing In re Kelley, 199 B.R. 698, 702 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1996)).

Although the Debtor may modify the Plan for the limited purposes identified in § 1127(e), as CIT correctly notes, the confirmed Plan is res judicata as the Motion to Value and any lien avoidance matters. The Plan, proposed by the Debtor, was a judgment rendered by this Court, which is a court of competent jurisdiction. Confirmation of the Plan was a final judgment in the Debtor's bankruptcy proceeding. Finally, the Motion to Value and any contemplated lien avoidance are "matters pertaining to the debtor-creditor relationship" that could have been raised prior to plan confirmation, but were not.

In their papers, the parties discuss the chapter 13 case Chagolla v. JP Morgan Chase Bank, N.A. (In re Chagolla), 544 B.R. 676 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2016). To the extent that Chagolla is relevant to this chapter 11 proceeding, Chagolla is distinguishable from the pending case. In Chagolla, the confirmed chapter 13 plan provided that the debtors would pay zero percent to unsecured creditors, and that the debtors would file an adversary proceeding to avoid the junior lien of the secured creditor within 90 days of the commencement of the case. The debtors did not timely file an adversary proceeding. The debtors subsequently obtained a discharge and the case was closed. A year after the case was closed and six years after plan confirmation, the debtors filed a motion to reopen the case and a motion to avoid the junior lien. The secured creditor did not object to the motion to avoid lien. The bankruptcy court denied the debtors' motion to avoid the junior lien because, among other reasons, it was untimely.

The Bankruptcy Appellate Panel for the Ninth Circuit (the "BAP") reversed, holding that the motion to avoid lien was not untimely:

In order to bring a motion to avoid lien under § 506(a) after a debtor has received a discharge or the case is closed, at a minimum, the following must be satisfied: first, the confirmed plan must call for avoiding the wholly unsecured junior lien and treat any claim as unsecured; second, the chapter 13 trustee must treat the claim as unsecured pursuant to the plan; and third, the creditor must not be sufficiently prejudiced so that it would be inequitable to allow avoidance after entry of discharge or the closing of the case.

Id. at 681 (emphasis added). In Chagolla, the BAP found that the debtors had met the three criteria above, and held that the debtors' motion to avoid lien should have been granted.

Here, in the Disclosure Statement, the Debtor described OneWest's claim as a general unsecured claim having a value of $0. In doing so, the Debtor did not provide notice to OneWest that the Lien was going to be avoided. Moreover, the Plan did not specifically provide for the avoidance of the Lien. Because the Plan did not provide for the avoidance of the Lien, Chagolla is inapposite and does not permit the Debtor to avoid the Lien. [FN1] [FN2] [FN3]

As pertains to this dispute, chapter 11 cases differ from chapter 13 cases in an important respect: in a chapter 11 case, creditors (which hold claims in impaired classes) have the right to vote on whether to accept or reject the proposed plan. If a class rejects the plan, the plan may not be confirmed. Moreover, creditors can raise a variety of issues about whether the plan meets other standards for confirmation.

Here, the approved Disclosure Statement indicated that the total amount of allowed general unsecured claims was $555,362.28. (Doc. 129, at p. 57.) In accordance with the Plan, holders of unsecured claims would receive payments in the amount of 5.25% of their allowed claims. If the Plan had provided for avoidance of the Lien, the Debtor had timely obtained such avoidance, and the Plan was confirmed as-is, then OneWest's resulting deficiency claim would have been treated as a general unsecured claim to be paid, along with the other general unsecured creditors, at 5.25%. Moreover, OneWest may have voted to reject the Plan, as well as asserted other objections to confirmation. Because OneWest did not have notice in the Plan that the Lien was to be avoided, and OneWest has been deprived of payments on any deficiency claim that would arise from the avoidance of the Lien, res judicata bars the Debtor from avoiding the Lien at this time.

The Debtor argues that his delay in bringing the Motion to Value was the result of excusable neglect. However, the Debtor does not cite any authority providing that excusable neglect releases a debtor from the res judicata effect of a confirmed chapter 11 plan. In addition, the Debtor does not address any of the factors required to show excusable neglect, as set forth in Pioneer Inv. Servs. Co. v. Brunswick Assocs. Ltd. P'ship, 507 U.S. 380 (1993). Furthermore, it is not clear that the doctrine of excusable neglect applies where there is no court deadline at issue. See Holly's Inc. v. City of Kentwood (Matter of Holly's, Inc.), 172 B.R. 545, 564 n. 24 (Bankr. W.D. Mich. 1994), aff'd sub nom. In re Holly's, Inc., 178 B.R. 711 (W.D. Mich. 1995).

The Debtor also argues that OneWest should have filed a proof of claim to participate in the Plan. However, liens "on real property pass[] through bankruptcy unaffected."

Dewsnup v. Timm, 502 U.S. 410, 418 (1992). In order to retain its rights against the Zuma Property, OneWest did not need to file a proof of claim. Before plan confirmation, the Debtor did not seek to value the Zuma Property or to avoid the Lien. Accordingly, the Lien still encumbers the Zuma Property.

D. The Debtor's Reliance on CIT's Representations

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 105(a):

The court may issue any order, process, or judgment that is necessary or appropriate to carry out the provisions of this title. No provision of this title providing for the raising of an issue by a party in interest shall be construed to preclude the court from, sua sponte, taking any action or making any determination necessary or appropriate to enforce or implement court orders or rules, or to prevent an abuse of process.

In his reply, the Debtor first raises the argument that the Court should use its equitable powers under 11 U.S.C. § 105(a) to estop CIT from recovering the Proceeds. Aside from the belated nature of this request, the Debtor has not cited any authority that would allow a court to disregard the res judicata effect of a confirmed chapter 11 plan.

The Debtor argues that he relied to his detriment on CIT's communications regarding the release of its lien against the Zuma Property. The Debtor contends that he had arranged to sell the Zuma Property, and CIT reversed its position regarding the Lien while the Zuma Property was in escrow. The Debtor's contentions, regarding estoppel and any related impact on CIT's ability to enforce its lien, are not appropriate for disposition in connection with the pending Motion to Value or any contested matter. Fed. R. Bankr. P. 7001(2). To resolve these issues, the Debtor may file an adversary proceeding. If the Debtor does so, the Court will have to assess whether it has postconfirmation subject matter jurisdiction over the dispute. See Battle Ground Plaza, LLC v. Ray (In re Ray), 624 F.3d 1124 (9th Cir. 2010) (holding that bankruptcy court in chapter 11 case did not have subject matter jurisdiction over dispute regarding postconfirmation sale of estate property).

Chapter 11

III. CONCLUSION

In light of the foregoing, the Court will deny the Motion to Value.

CIT must submit the order within seven (7) days.

1. In support of the Motion to Value, the Debtor cites In re Irina Torgan, Case No. 1:12-bk-19119, in which this Court granted a chapter 13 debtor's lien avoidance motion almost four years after plan confirmation, over the secured creditor's objection. To the extent that Torgan is relevant to this chapter 11 case, Torgan is inapposite. In Torgan, the Court overruled the secured creditor's objection, which was based on laches. The secured creditor did not raise an objection based on res judicata.
2. The parties also discuss the chapter 13 case of In re Parminder Singh, Case No. 1:17-12988-VK. In Singh, the confirmed chapter 13 plan did not provide for the avoidance of the secured creditor's lien; rather, the confirmed chapter 13 plan provided that the debtor would make regular payments directly to the secured creditor, for the duration of the plan. Accordingly, avoiding the secured creditor's lien—and therefore relieving the debtor from having to make regular payments to the secured creditor—would have violated the terms of the confirmed plan. For that reason, among others, the Court did not grant the debtor's motion to avoid the lien.
3. The Debtor also relies on Burkhart v. Grigsby, 886 F.3d 434 (4th Cir. 2018), which holds that a wholly unsecured junior lien may be stripped regardless of whether a proof of claim has been filed. Id. at 440. However, Burkhart does not address the issue of whether a chapter 11 debtor may strip a junior lien, postconfirmation, where the confirmed chapter 11 plan did not expressly provide for the avoidance of such lien.

I. BACKGROUND

The real property at issue is located at 1525 Mall Road, Unit #1, Monroe, Michigan, 48612 (the "Property"). The mortgage at issue involves the JBC Staples, LLC (the "Debtor") and DG Staples, LLC as borrowers and Principal Life Insurance Company as lender (the "Mortgage"). On November 20, 2006, the Mortgage was recorded. (Mortgage, at p. 1.) The Mortgage contains the following provision regarding assignment of rents:

As additional security for the due and punctual performance and observance of the Indebtedness and obligations secured hereby, Borrower assigns to Lender, pursuant to MCLA 554.211, et seq., and MCLA 554.231, et seq., as amended, all the rents, profits and income under all leases or occupancy agreements or arrangements (including any extensions, amendments or renewals thereof), however evidenced or denominated, upon or affecting the Premises, whether such rents, profits and income are due or are to become due, including all such leases and occupancy agreements and arrangements in existence or coming into existence during the term of this Mortgage and any redemption period after foreclosure. This assignment shall be good and valid as against Borrower and those claiming by, under or through Borrower, from the date of this Mortgage and any redemption period after foreclosure. This assignment shall continue to be operative during the foreclosure or any other proceedings taken, to enforce this Mortgage. In the event of a foreclosure sale which results in a deficiency, this assignment shall stand as security during the redemption period for the payment of such deficiency. This assignment is given as collateral security only and does not obligate Lender to perform any of the covenants or undertakings required to be performed by Borrower in any leases or occupancy agreements or arrangements.

(Mortgage, § 17.1.) The Mortgage further provides:

(a) It is the intention of Lender and Borrower that the assignment effectuated hereby with respect to the Rents and other amounts due under the Leases shall be a direct, absolute and currently effective assignment and shall not constitute merely the granting of a lien, collateral assignment or a security interest or pledge for the purpose of securing the Indebtedness secured by this Mortgage and is effective whether or not a default occurs hereunder or under the Loan Documents. In the event that a court of competent jurisdiction determines that, notwithstanding such expressed intent of the parties, Lender's interest in the Rents or other amounts payable under the Leases constitutes a lien on or security interest in or pledge thereof, it is agreed and understood that the forwarding of a notice to Borrower after the occurrence of an Event of Default, advising Borrower of the revocation of Borrower's license to collect such Rents shall be sufficient action by Lender to (i) perfect such lien on or security interest in or pledge of the Rents, (ii) take possession thereof; and (iii) entitle Lender to immediate and direct payment of the Rents for application as provided in the Loan Documents, all without the necessity of any further action by Lender, including, without limitation, any action to obtain possession of the Land, Improvements or any other portion of the Premises. Notwithstanding the direct and absolute assignment of the Rents, there shall be no partial reduction of any portion of the Indebtedness secured by this Mortgage except with respect to Rents actually received by Lender and applied by Lender toward payment of such Indebtedness.

(b) Without limitation of the absolute nature of the assignment of the Rents, Borrower and Lender agree that (i) this Mortgage shall Section 552(b), (ii) the security interest created by this Mortgage extends to property of Borrower acquired before the commencement of a case in bankruptcy and to all amounts paid as Rents (including, without limitation, any Extraordinary Rental Payments), and (iii) such security interest shall extend to all Rents (including, without limitation, any Extraordinary Rental Payments) acquired by the estate after the commencement of any case in bankruptcy. Without limitation of the absolute nature of the assignment of the Rents, to the extent Borrower (or Borrower's bankruptcy estate) shall be deemed to hold any interest in the Rents (including, without limitation, any Extraordinary Rental Payments) after the commencement of a voluntary or involuntary bankruptcy case, Borrower hereby acknowledges and agrees that such Rents (including, without limitation, any Extraordinary Rental Payments) are and shall be deemed to be "cash collateral" under Section 363 of the Bankruptcy Code. Borrower may not use the cash collateral without the consent of Lender and/or an order of any bankruptcy court pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 363(c)(2), and Borrower hereby waives any right it may have to assert that such Rents (including, without limitation, any Extraordinary Rental Payments) do not constitute cash collateral. No consent by Lender to the use of cash collateral by Borrower shall be deemed to constitute Lender's approval, as the case may be, of the purpose for which such cash collateral was expended.

(Mortgage, § 17.7 (emphasis added).)

The Mortgage also contains the following choice-of-law provision: "This Mortgage shall be governed by, and construed in accordance with, the laws of the state where the Premises is located, without regard to its conflicts of law principles." (Mortgage, § 21.9.)

On August 20, 2008, an assignment of the Mortgage to Wells Fargo was recorded. (Doc. 27, Exh. 13.) On January 30, 2017, Wells Fargo sent a letter to the Debtor regarding the Debtor's default under the Mortgage, as of December 1, 2016. (Doc. 27, Exh. 14.) It does not appear that Wells Fargo recorded a notice of default and served it on the Debtor. On December 19, 2017, Wells Fargo filed a complaint against the Debtor and DG Staples, LLC for appointment of receiver in Michigan state court. (Doc. 27, Exh. 1.)

On January 12, 2018, Jack M. Cohen, principal of the "Debtor, met with Illyssa I. Fogel regarding the filing of the pending bankruptcy case. Mr. Cohen tendered to Ms. Fogel two checks from the Debtor's general account, in the total sum of $40,000. (Declaration of Jack M. Cohen ("Cohen Decl."), ¶ 4.) However, the checks were inadvertently dated "January 12, 2019." (Id., ¶ 5.) On January 18, 2018, when Ms. Fogel's bank would not accept the checks, Mr. Cohen wired $40,000 to Ms. Fogel's bank from the Debtor's bank account. (Id.)

On February 21, 2018, Ms. Fogel received an email from Janice Ely, transmitting a list of the documents recorded against the Property. (Doc. 59, Exh. D.) The attached list purports to show that no notice of default was recorded against the Property. At the prior hearing, the Debtor admitted that the rents from the Property (the "Rents") were its only source of income.

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 363(e):

Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, at any time, on request of an entity that has an interest in property used, sold, or leased, or proposed to be used, sold, or leased, by the trustee, the court, with or without a hearing, shall prohibit or condition such use, sale, or lease as is necessary to provide adequate protection of such interest. This subsection also applies to property that is subject to any unexpired lease of personal property (to the exclusion of such property being subject to an order to grant relief from the stay under section 362).

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 552(b)(2):

Except as provided in sections 363, 506(c), 522, 544, 545, 547, and 548 of this title, and notwithstanding section 546(b) of this title, if the debtor and an entity entered into a security agreement before the commencement of the case and if the security interest created by such security agreement extends to property of the debtor acquired before the commencement of the case and to amounts paid as rents of such property or the fees, charges, accounts, or other payments for the use or occupancy of rooms and other public facilities in hotels, motels, or other lodging properties, then such security interest extends to such rents and such fees, charges, accounts, or other payments acquired by the estate after the commencement of the case to the extent provided in such security agreement, except to any extent that the court, after notice and a hearing and based on the equities of the case, orders otherwise.

The debtor-in-possession or trustee "has the burden of proof on the issue of adequate protection." 11 U.S.C. § 363(p)(1). Wells Fargo has the burden of proof as to its interest in cash collateral.

As noted above, the Mortgage provides for an assignment of rents. (Mortgage, § 17.7.) On November 20, 2006, the Mortgage was recorded. On August 20, 2008, an assignment of the Mortgage to Wells Fargo was recorded. (Doc. 27, Exh. 13.)

Both parties agree that the Mortgage is governed by Michigan law. See In re Hathaway Ranch P'ship, 127 B.R. 859, 865 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1990). Under Michigan law,

[I]n connection with any mortgage on commercial or industrial property . . . to secure notes, bonds or other fixed obligations, it shall be lawful to assign the rents, or any portion thereof, under any oral or written leases upon the mortgaged property to the mortgagee, as security in addition to the property described in such mortgage. Such assignment of rents shall be binding upon such assignor only in the event of default in the terms and conditions of said mortgage, and shall operate against and be binding upon the occupiers of the premises from the date of filing by the mortgagee in the office of the register of deeds for the county in which the property is located of a notice of default in the terms and conditions of the mortgage and service of a copy of such notice upon the occupiers of the mortgaged premises.

Mich. Comp. Laws Ann. § 554.231 (emphasis added).

The Debtor argues that pursuant to § 17.1 of the Mortgage, the assignment of rents provision allows for the creation of a security interest upon default. According to the Debtor, such provision does not provide for an absolute assignment of rents, and the rents remain property of the bankruptcy estate. However, Wells Fargo contends that § 17.7(a) of the Mortgage controls. That provision states that the intention of the parties as to the assignment of rents was to create a "direct, absolute and currently effective assignment and shall not constitute merely the granting of a lien, collateral assignment or a security interest . . . and is effective whether or not a default occurs . . . ."

In In re Town Ctr. Flats, LLC, 855 F.3d 721, 723 (6th Cir. 2017), cert. denied sub nom. Town Ctr. Flats, LLC v. ECP Commercial II LLC, 138 S. Ct. 328 (2017), a single-asset real estate debtor obtained a loan that was secured by a mortgage and an assignment of rents to the creditor in the event of default.

In the agreement to assign rents, Town Center "irrevocably, absolutely and unconditionally [agreed to] transfer, sell, assign, pledge and convey to Assignee, its successors and assigns, all of the right, title and interest of [Town Center] in ... income of every nature of and from the Project, including, without limitation, minimum rents [and] additional rents...."

Id. at 723. The debtor defaulted on the mortgage. The secured lender sent the debtor a notice of default pursuant to the terms of the mortgage and assignment of rents. The secured lender recorded the notice of default and filed a complaint against the debtor and a motion for appointment of a receiver. Before the state court could hear that motion, the debtor filed a chapter 11 petition. The secured lender filed a motion to prohibit the debtor's use of cash collateral, which the bankruptcy court denied, finding that the rents at issue were property of the bankruptcy estate. The district court reversed, holding that Michigan law established a transfer of ownership in the assigned rents.

The Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals affirmed the district court, holding that assignments of rents under Michigan Compiled Laws § 554.231 provide for a transfer of ownership in the rents "once the agreement has been completed and recorded and a default has occurred[,]" or, in other words, "once the statutory steps for perfection have been completed." Id. at 725. Because the mortgage at issue used broad language to transfer rights in the rents, the Court of Appeals found that the debtor had assigned the rents to the maximum extent permitted by Michigan law. Id. In light of this absolute assignment of rents, the Court of Appeals found that the assigned rents were not properly included in the bankruptcy estate, because the debtor did not retain ownership of the rents after default.

Here, the Mortgage contains similarly broad language regarding the assignment of rents:

It is the intention of Lender and Borrower that the assignment effectuated hereby with respect to the Rents and other amounts due under the Leases shall be a direct, absolute and currently effective assignment and shall not constitute merely the granting of a lien, collateral assignment or a security interest or pledge for the purpose of securing the Indebtedness secured by this Mortgage and is effective whether or not a default occurs hereunder or under the Loan Documents.

(Mortgage, § 17.7(a).) Pursuant to the terms of the Mortgage, such "absolute" assignment is effective regardless of default. This language in the Mortgage appears to provide for a transfer of ownership in the Rents to Wells Fargo under Michigan law, such that the Debtor no longer retains any ownership interest in the Rents, before or after any notice of default.

Even assuming the absolute assignment provision in the Mortgage were not effective prior to default, both the Mortgage and Michigan law provide that such provision is binding upon default. The Mortgage states that "that the forwarding of a notice to Borrower after the occurrence of an Event of Default, advising Borrower of the revocation of Borrower's license to collect such Rents shall be sufficient action by Lender to (i) perfect such lien on or security interest in or pledge of the Rents[.]" (Mortgage, § 17.1(a).) As noted above, Michigan Compiled Laws § 554.231 provides that an assignment of rents is binding on the assignor in the event of default.

On December 1, 2016, the Debtor defaulted on the Mortgage. On January 30, 2017, Wells Fargo served the Debtor with a letter regarding Wells Fargo's rights to enforce the assignment of rents following the Debtor's default. (Doc. 27, at Exh. 14.) On December 19, 2017, Wells Fargo also filed an action in Michigan state court for the appointment of a receiver. Accordingly, under the terms of the Mortgage and Michigan law, Wells Fargo appears to have completed all the necessary steps for perfection of the assignment of rents. The Debtor admits that there was a prepetition default under the Mortgage. The Debtor argues that the assignment of rents was not perfected because Wells Fargo did not record the notice of default and serve the notice of default on the tenants of the Property. However, as Wells Fargo correctly notes, these steps are required if the assignment of rents is to be binding against the occupiers of the Property, not against the assignor. See Otis Elevator Co. v. Mid-Am. Realty Investors, 522 N.W.2d 732, 733 (Mich. Ct. App. 1994). Under the holding of Town Center, therefore, it appears that ownership in the rents was transferred to Wells Fargo prepetition, and thus the rents are not part of the Debtor's bankruptcy estate.

III. CONCLUSION

Chapter 11

Because the Rents do not appear to be property of the estate, the Court will deny the Debtor's continued use of cash collateral. The Court also will not authorize Ms. Fogel to use the retainer funds to pay her fees and costs. If Wells Fargo seeks to recover the retainer funds, Wells Fargo must file an adversary proceeding pursuant to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 7001(1).

I. BACKGROUND

On January 6, 2014, Oksana Grigorieva (the "Debtor") filed a chapter 13 petition. The Debtor's primary source of income disclosed on her amended schedules [doc. 46] is monthly child support award payments in the amount of $20,834.00. Of this amount, $834 per month in child support payments for the Debtor's second child expired in August 2015. (Doc. 46, at p. 10.)

On October 10, 2014, the Court confirmed the Debtor's chapter 13 plan [doc. 50]. The plan term is 60 months, or until approximately February 2019. Starting in February 2014, the Debtor was to make plan payments in the amount of $482 per month. Starting on November 5, 2014, the Debtor's plan payments increase to $1,235 per month. The Debtor's plan provides for the payment of 14% of allowed claims for general unsecured creditors. (Doc. 47, at p. 5.) The plan also provides that: "[t]he Debtor shall incur no debt greater than $500.00 without prior court approval unless the debt is incurred in the ordinary course of business pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §1304(b) or for medical emergencies." (Doc. 47, at p. 5 (emphasis added).)

Postconfirmation, on April 8, 2015, the Debtor retained White, Zuckerman, Warsawsky, Luna & Hunt ("Movant"), a forensic accounting firm, to obtain an increase in her monthly child support award. (Declaration of Lucie Mahserejian, doc. 68, ¶ 6.) Movant alleges that because of its services, the Debtor successfully obtained a considerable increase in her child support award; the Debtor disputes that she received such an increase.

In any event, in connection with Movant's postpetition services, the Debtor incurred a substantial bill in the amount of $230,887.24. A significant portion of that bill has been paid by the Debtor's child's father. However, there remains an unpaid postpetition balance of $108,887.24. (Id., ¶ 10k.)

When the Debtor retained Movant, Movant was aware that the Debtor was in a chapter 13 case, that the Debtor had confirmed her plan, and that the Debtor was making plan payments to creditors. (Declaration of Jackie Adams-Ings, ¶ 2.) On the other hand, Movant was unaware that the Debtor's plan contained a provision requiring the Debtor to obtain Court approval of any debt greater than $500. (Id., ¶ 6.)

At the time, Movant and the Debtor both believed that the Debtor would not owe Movant any fees for Movant's services, and that the family court would order the Debtor's child's father to pay such fees. (Id., ¶ 9.) However, the state court apportioned Movant's fees between the child's father and the Debtor, leaving Debtor owing a significant portion of Movant's postpetition accounting fees. (Id., ¶ 10.)

On December 14, 2017, Movant filed a motion for relief from the automatic stay in the Debtor's case (the "Motion") [doc. 68]. On January 10, 2018, the Debtor filed a timely opposition [doc. 74]. On January 17, 2018, Movant filed a timely reply [doc. 77].

On January 24, 2018, the Court held an initial hearing on the Motion. On January 30, 2018, the Court entered an order continuing the hearing on the Motion and requiring Movant and the Debtor to file supplemental briefs and evidence regarding:

- (1) in light of the provisions of the Debtor's confirmed chapter 13 plan and/or any other relevant provisions of the Bankruptcy Code, the impact on Movant's request for relief in the Motion of this Court's approval not having been sought nor obtained before the Debtor incurred post-petition

On April 18, 2018, Movant filed a supplemental brief in support of the Motion ("Movant's Brief") [doc. 92]. On the same day, the Debtor filed a supplemental brief in opposition to the Motion ("Debtor's Brief") [doc. 93]. On May 2, 2018, Movant filed a reply to Debtor's Brief [doc. 96]. On the same day, the Debtor filed a reply to Movant's Brief [doc. 97].

II. JUDICIAL STANDARD

11 U.S.C. § 362(a) provides, in relevant part:

Except as provided in subsection (b) of this section, a petition filed under section 301, 302, or 303 of this title, or an application filed under section 5(a)(3) of the Securities Investor Protection Act of 1970, operates as a stay, applicable to all entities, of—

- (1) the commencement or continuation, including the issuance or employment of process, of a judicial, administrative, or other action or proceeding against the debtor that was or could have been commenced before the commencement of the case under this title, or to recover a claim against the debtor that arose before the commencement of the case under this title;

- (3) any act to obtain possession of property of the estate or of property from the estate or to exercise control over property of the estate;

(4) any act to create, perfect, or enforce any lien against property of the estate . . .

Under 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1), a court may grant relief from the automatic stay "for cause."

III. DISCUSSION

A. The Automatic Stay and Movant's Postpetition Claim

The automatic stay bars the commencement or continuation of any proceeding against a debtor based on a claim that arose prepetition. 11 U.S.C. § 362(a)(1). Here, Movant's claim arose postpetition. Accordingly, the automatic stay does not prevent Movant from proceeding to obtain a judgment against the Debtor in a nonbankruptcy court.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, the automatic stay in the Debtor's case bars "any act to obtain possession of property of the estate or of property from the estate or to exercise control over property of the estate." 11 U.S.C. § 362(a)(3). The automatic stay also bars "any act to create, perfect, or enforce any lien against property of the estate." 11 U.S.C. § 362(a)(4). Consequently, because of the automatic stay, although Movant may proceed in state court against the Debtor to obtain a judgment, without relief from the stay, Movant may not enforce any judgment against property of the Debtor's estate.

In Movant's Brief, Movant states, "[Movant] will not attempt to execute against any property that Debtor has disclosed in her bankruptcy schedules[,]" and "[Movant] will not do anything to interfere with, or to disrupt, Debtor's bankruptcy case by garnishing or levying the child support payments or other property that Debtor relies on to make her plan payments." (Movant's Brief, at p. 7.)

Chapter 13

Movant argues it is not bound by the terms of the Debtor's plan because: (1) Movant was not a creditor when the Debtor filed the petition; (2) Movant was not a creditor at the time the Court confirmed the plan; and (3) Movant had no opportunity to object to the Debtor's plan.

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1327(a)—

The provisions of a confirmed plan bind the debtor and each creditor, whether or not the claim of such creditor is provided for by the plan, and whether or not such creditor has objected to, has accepted, or has rejected the plan.

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 101(10)—

The term "creditor" means—

(A) entity that has a claim against the debtor that arose at the time of or before the order for relief concerning the debtor;

(B) entity that has a claim against the estate of a kind specified in section 348(d), 502(f), 502(g), 502(h) or 502(i) of this title; or

(C) entity that has a community claim.

Movant does not appear to be a "creditor" pursuant to § 101(10). In re Roseboro, 77 B.R. 38, 40 (Bankr. W.D. N.C. 1987) (holding that postpetition claimants under § 1305(a)(2) are not "creditors"). Movant's claim did not arise until postpetition and postconfirmation. Movant's claim is not of a kind specified in §§ 348(d), 502(f), 502(h) or 502(i). Finally, Movant does not have a community claim.

Although Movant's claim arose postpetition, the Debtor cites 11 U.S.C. § 1305(c), and authorities construing that section, as requiring Movant to obtain approval for a postpetition transaction.

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1305:

(a) A proof of claim may be filed by any entity that holds a claim against the debtor—

(1) for taxes that become payable to a governmental unit while the case is pending; or

(2) that is a consumer debt, that arises after the date of the order for relief under this chapter, and that is for property or services necessary for the debtor's performance under the plan.

(b) Except as provided in subsection (c) of this section, a claim filed under subsection (a) of this section shall be allowed or disallowed under section 502 of this title, but shall be determined as of the date such claim arises, and shall be allowed under section 502(a), 502(b), or 502(c) of this title, or disallowed under section 502(d) or 502(e) of this title, the same as if such claim had arisen before the date of the filing of the petition.

(c) A claim filed under subsection (a)(2) of this section shall be disallowed if the holder of such claim knew or should have known that prior approval by the trustee of the debtor's incurring the obligation was practicable and was not obtained.

In In re Clayburn, 112 B.R. 434 (N.D. Ala. 1990), a chapter 13 debtor obtained automobile insurance postpetition. The insurance company then filed a postpetition claim for the monthly premium, which the debtor agreed would be paid by the chapter 13 trustee. The chapter 13 trustee objected to the insurance company's claim pursuant to § 1305(c). The bankruptcy court sustained the objection, holding that it was practicable for the insurance company and the debtor to obtain prior approval from the trustee before incurring such debt, but the parties did not do so.

Clayburn is distinguishable from the Debtor's case. Movant does not intend to file a proof of claim in the Debtor's case or to seek recovery from estate assets. Because Movant does not intend to file a proof of claim, the provisions of § 1305(c) do not apply to the debt owed to Movant. The Debtor's additional authorities—in which postpetition claims were disallowed pursuant to § 1305(c) because approval of the chapter 13 trustee was not obtained beforehand—are similarly inapposite. (Doc. 93, at pp. 5–6.)

Movant asserts that under § 1305(a), filing a proof of claim is voluntary. Movant is correct. A debtor "may not force a post-petition creditor to participate in the Chapter 13 case." In re Perkins, 304 B.R. 477, 483 (Bankr. N.D. Ala. 2004).

Moreover, if Movant does not file a proof of claim, Movant's debt is not dischargeable through the Debtor's chapter 13 plan. In re Goodman, 136 B.R. 167, 170 (Bankr. W.D. Tenn. 1992) ("[o]nly postpetition debts which are allowed after the consensual filing by the creditor of a proof of claim are subject to possible discharge in the chapter 13"); Roseboro, 77 B.R. at 40 ("A post-petition claim under Section 1305(a)(2) for which the holder of the claim does not file a proof of claim is not discharged in a Chapter 13 case."). However, as stated in In re Benson, 116 B.R. 606, 609 (Bankr. S.D. Ohio 1990), if a "potential creditor does not elect to participate in the plan, he may face up to a five year delay in enforcing any claim against the debtor's assets because the debtor's future earnings and property acquired postpetition by the debtor are part of his chapter 13 estate."

As noted above, Movant does not appear to be a creditor of the estate pursuant to § 101(10), and Movant does not intend to file a proof of claim in the Debtor's case. As such, it does not appear that the debt to Movant will be affected if the Debtor obtains a chapter 13 discharge.

Nevertheless, the automatic stay applies to "all entities." 11 U.S.C. § 362(a). Sections 362(a)(3) and (a)(4) prohibit any actions to enforce claims against property of the Debtor's estate. Thus, as noted above, as concerns the collection of any judgment rendered in its favor, Movant is subject to the automatic stay.

C. Movant's Knowledge of Debtor's Pending Bankruptcy Case

When the Debtor engaged Movant to provide forensic accounting services, in the hopes of increasing her monthly child support payments, Debtor should have sought Court approval to incur a potential debt to Movant, in accordance with the terms of her confirmed plan.

On the other hand, Movant knew that the Debtor was in bankruptcy, that her chapter 13 plan was confirmed and that the Debtor was making plan payments. Consequently, the equities do not weigh in favor of Movant obtaining relief from the automatic stay, in a manner which could disrupt the Debtor's completion of plan payments, and her receipt of a discharge.

D. Movant's Collection of Any Judgment Obtained

Movant states that if the Court grants the Motion, it will not do anything to interfere with or disrupt the Debtor's case by garnishing or levying the child support payments or other property that the Debtor relies on to make her plan payments. Further, Movant states it will not proceed against any property of the estate.

IV. CONCLUSION

As noted above, because the Debtor engaged Movant postpetition, the automatic stay does not bar Movant from proceeding in a nonbankruptcy forum against the Debtor, in order to obtain a judgment regarding any amount owed to Movant. However, the automatic stay bars enforcement of any judgment against property of the Debtor's estate.

Given Movant's awareness of the Debtor's pending chapter 13 case, when it was engaged by the Debtor, and the adverse impact Movant's attempted collection of a judgment may have on Debtor's successful completion of her plan, the Court finds that relief from stay is not warranted under § 362(d)(1). Consequently, although Movant may proceed under applicable nonbankruptcy law to obtain a final judgment in a nonbankruptcy forum (because such conduct is not precluded by the automatic stay), until the automatic stay ends in accordance with 11 U.S.C. § 362(c), the stay will preclude Movant's enforcement of any judgment against the Debtor.

Debtor must submit an order within seven (7) days.

#10.00 Motion for relief from stay [RP]

JERRY PIKOVER
VS
DEBTOR

Docket 14

Tentative Ruling:

Unless an appearance is made at the hearing on May 16, 2018, the hearing is continued to June 13, 2018 at 9:30 a.m.

Contrary to Judge Kaufman's self-calendaring procedure for motions that are set for hearing on shortened notice, the motion does not involve a post-petition transfer of real property to the debtor, or a pre-petition transfer to the debtor either within 90 days of the petition date, or a pre-petition transfer to the debtor involving a fractionalized interest in real property.

None of the transfer deeds attached to the motion appear to fall into the above categories. On April 1, 2018, the debtor filed his chapter 13 petition. Exhibit 3 is a quitclaim deed executed on May 11, 2015—more than 90 days before the petition date—purporting to transfer to the debtor an undivided interest in the property at issue. Exhibit 4 is a grant deed recorded on July 10, 2014 that does not involve a transfer of the property to the debtor. Exhibit 5 is a grant deed recorded on March 24, 2016 that does not involve a transfer of property to the debtor.

On or before May 23, 2018, movant must file and serve notice of: (1) the continued hearing on the motion and (2) the deadline to file any response no later than 14 days prior thereto.

Appearances on May 16, 2018 are excused.

DEBTOR

Docket 42

Tentative Ruling:

Grant relief from stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1).

Movant (and any successors or assigns) may proceed under applicable nonbankruptcy law to enforce its remedies to foreclose upon and obtain possession of the property.

The co-debtor stay of 11 U.S.C. § 1201(a) and § 1301(a) is terminated, modified or annulled as to the co-debtor, on the same terms and conditions as to the debtor.

The 14-day stay prescribed by FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived.

Movant must submit the order within seven (7) days.

Note: No response has been filed. Accordingly, no court appearance by movant is required. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the Court will determine whether further hearing is required and movant will be so notified.

Docket 17

Tentative Ruling:

Grant relief from stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §§ 362(d)(1) and (d)(4).

Movant (and any successors or assigns) may proceed under applicable nonbankruptcy law to enforce its remedies to foreclose upon and obtain possession of the property.

If recorded in compliance with applicable state laws governing notices of interests or liens in real property, the order is binding in any other case under this title purporting to affect the property filed not later than 2 years after the date of the entry of the order by the court, except that a debtor in a subsequent case under this title may move for relief from the order based upon changed circumstances or for good cause shown, after notice and hearing.

The co-debtor stay of 11 U.S.C. § 1201(a) and § 1301(a) is terminated, modified or annulled as to the co-debtor, on the same terms and conditions as to the debtor.

Any other request for relief is denied.

The 14-day stay prescribed by FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived.

Movant must submit the order within seven (7) days.

#13.00 Motion to reconsider adversary proceeding reschedule

Docket 16

Tentative Ruling:

The Court will deny defendant's request "to speed up the court proceedings."

I. Background

On September 12, 2017, defendant Robin DiMaggio ("Debtor") filed a voluntary chapter 7 petition. On November 29, 2017, Krasimir Dachev, Peace for You Peace for Me and Svilosa AD (collectively "Plaintiffs") filed a complaint against Debtor seeking nondischargeability of the debt owed to them pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §§ 523(a)(2), (a)(4) and (a)(6) and for denial of discharge pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §§ 727(c), (d) and (e) [doc. 1]. On January 12, 2018, Debtor filed an answer to the complaint [doc. 5].

The Court set the first status conference for February 7, 2018 [docs. 3, 7]. On January 24, 2018, Plaintiffs filed a joint status report (the "JSR") [doc. 12]. In the JSR, Debtor stated the following: "Defendant requests a trial at the end of August or September 2018" and "Defendant is planning on moving to France in or about October 2018" [doc. 12, p. 2]. Debtor further stated: "I would appreciate a trial by July as I need to move back to France for medical reasons and free medical ins." [doc. 12, p. 4].

Plaintiffs requested a trial after January 1, 2019 on the following grounds, "[s]ome evidence is located overseas; anticipated delays obtaining documents from certain third parties, including the recently deceased accountant." [doc. 12, p. 2].

On February 7, 2018, Debtor did not appear at the status conference. On February 14, 2018, the Court entered a scheduling order (the "Scheduling Order") [doc. 14]. The dates set forth in the Scheduling Order are as follows:

1. The deadline to complete discovery is August 31, 2018.
2. The deadline to file pretrial motions is September 14, 2018.

3. The deadline to complete and submit a pretrial stipulation in accordance with Local Bankruptcy Rule 7016-1 is October 3, 2018.
4. A pretrial conference is scheduled for October 17, 2018 at 1:30 p.m.

On March 7, 2018, Debtor filed a request for the Court to expedite the adversary proceeding schedule, alleging that he plans to return to France in August 2018 for at least 12 months, in order to obtain medical treatment (the "Motion") [doc. 16]. Debtor did not submit a signed declaration or any other evidence in support of the Motion.

On March 14, 2018, the Court entered an order setting the hearing on the Motion and scheduling dates for briefing (the "March Order") [doc. 17]. The March Order states, in relevant part:

ORDERED that no later than May 2, 2018, any response to the Reconsideration Motion must be filed and served on Defendant; and it is further ORDERED that no later than May 9, 2018, any reply in support of the Reconsideration Motion must be filed and served on Plaintiffs.

Plaintiffs timely filed an opposition to the Motion (the "Opposition") [doc. 20]. Debtor has not filed a reply.

II. Discussion

Motions for reconsideration are governed by Federal Rule of Civil Procedure ("Rule") 60(b), which provides that "[o]n motion and just terms, the court may relieve a party its legal representative from a final judgment, order, or proceeding for the following reasons: (1) mistake, inadvertence, surprise, or excusable neglect."

Because Congress has provided no other guideposts for determining what sorts of neglect will be considered "excusable," we conclude that the determination is at bottom an equitable one, taking account of all relevant circumstances surrounding the party's omission. These include . . . [1] the danger of prejudice to the [Plaintiffs], [2] the length of the delay and its potential impact on judicial proceedings, [3] the reason for the delay, including whether it was within the reasonable control of the movant, and [4] whether the movant acted in good faith.

Pioneer Inv. Servs. Co., 507 U.S. 380, 395 (1993). The Court finds that the factors weigh against revising the Scheduling Order, as discussed below.

A. Prejudice to Plaintiffs

If the Court grants the Motion to expedite the dates set forth in the Scheduling Order, it will prejudice Plaintiffs. Plaintiffs are unlikely to be able to complete discovery in time for trial to be completed in August 2018.

If the Court extend the deadlines until Debtor's alleged intended date to return from France (in September 2019), that also would prejudice Plaintiffs. As Plaintiffs state in the Opposition, witnesses may forget facts, die or become incapacitated or unavailable. In addition, it may become harder to enforce a judgment and to locate assets after substantial delay.

Debtor has submitted no evidence of his medical issues or of his need to travel to France in August 2018, rather than after trial. Further, Debtor has not submitted any new evidence in support of the Motion.

The Motion states that Debtor did not receive notification of the status conference. However, Debtor properly was served with notice of the date and time of the status conference [doc. 7]. Moreover, Debtor signed the JSR, which had the February 7, 2018 status conference hearing date in the caption. Consequently, it is evident that Debtor had notice of the status conference date. Debtor has not alleged mistake, inadvertence, surprise, or excusable neglect as defined in Rule 60(b). This factor weighs against the Court reconsidering the Scheduling Order.

B. Length of Delay and its Potential Impact

Debtor filed the Motion within a reasonable time after the Court entered the Scheduling Order. The delay in filing is not an issue here.

Chapter 7

However, in January 2018, Debtor was served with notice of the status conference, and he did not appear. In addition, prior to the status conference, the Court posted a tentative ruling setting forth the dates in the Scheduling Order.

If he had appeared at the status conference, Debtor could have explained his opposition to the dates and deadlines proposed in the Court's posted tentative ruling. Debtor chose not to attend the status conference. Debtor has neither provided an explanation in the Motion, that was not in the JSR, nor has Debtor submitted any evidence, as to why the Court should reconsider the Scheduling Order.

C. Reason for the Delay

As stated above, Debtor did not cause any significant delay in filing the Motion.

On the other hand, Debtor could have personally attended the status conference and presented his position regarding the timing of this proceeding; Debtor chose not to attend. Debtor has not explained what "mistake, surprise, inadvertence or excusable neglect" prevented him from appearing at the status conference. As a result, Debtor has failed to meet his burden on this factor.

D. Whether Movant Acted in Good Faith

Debtor's failure to attend the status conference and his filing of the Motion, without providing any evidence in support of his allegations, suggests that he is not acting in good faith. The "bad faith" factor weighs against granting the Motion.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons stated above, the Court will deny the Motion.

Plaintiffs must submit the order within seven (7) days.

Docket 366

Tentative Ruling:

Grant motion and allow four hours and 20 minutes for plaintiff's continued deposition, which must take place on or before May 21, 2018..

I. BACKGROUND

On October 10, 2017, Marilyn S. Scheer ("Plaintiff") and the State Bar of California ("Defendant") sat for their respective depositions at Defendant's Los Angeles office. Plaintiff was questioned for approximately 2.5 hours, during which Plaintiff refused to answer questions regarding her former business, on the grounds that such questions were irrelevant. (Declaration of Marc A. Shapp ("Shapp Decl."), ¶¶ 3-5.)

On November 22, 2017, Plaintiff filed a motion seeking, in part, to compel Defendant to produce a knowledgeable witness for continued deposition, on the grounds that Defendant's prior witness, Elizabeth Lew, was not adequately prepared, qualified, or knowledgeable [doc. 176]. On March 29, 2018, the Court entered an order requiring Defendant to produce its knowledgeable witness for deposition on May 1, 2018 [doc. 329].

On December 7, 2017, Defendant filed a motion to compel Plaintiff's continued deposition (the "First Motion to Compel") [docs. 181, 185]. On February 23, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the First Motion to Compel [doc. 282]. In its ruling, the Court found that questions pertaining to Plaintiff's law practice were relevant, and that Plaintiff's continued deposition was warranted. (Doc. 268, at p. 6.)

Both continued depositions were initially set for May 1, 2018. On April 19, 2018, Plaintiff requested the depositions be continued to May 8, 2018. The parties filed a stipulation to further continue the depositions [doc. 341], which the Court approved

On May 8, 2018, Plaintiff deposed Defendant's witness from approximately 9:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. (Shapp Decl., ¶ 7.) Plaintiff's deposition began afterwards, with the understanding that the court reporter was available only until 5:30 p.m. that day. (Id., ¶ 8.) At 5:30 p.m., Defendant asked Plaintiff for a continued deposition date. (Id., ¶ 9.) An argument ensued over how much time was left for Plaintiff's deposition. Plaintiff argued that the 2.5 hours from October 10, 2017 counted toward the seven-hour time limit for depositions. Defendant maintained that Plaintiff's refusal to answer questions entitled Defendant to the full seven hours. Defendant proposed setting aside a whole day to complete Plaintiff's deposition regardless of how much time was left, but Plaintiff refused to set a date until the Court decided how much deposition time was left. (Id.)

Plaintiff argues that Defendant should be limited to 3.5 hours of additional deposition, because 2.5 hours occurred on October 10, 2017, and one hour occurred on May [8], 2018. (Declaration of Marilyn S. Scheer, doc. 379, ¶ 7.) If Plaintiff's October 10, 2017 is deemed a failed deposition, Plaintiff argues that Defendant should not be allowed to use any portion of it in these or any other proceedings. (Id., ¶ 8.)

On May 10, 2018, Defendant filed a second motion to compel Plaintiff's continued deposition (the "Second Motion to Compel"). Defendant seeks an order compelling Plaintiff to complete her deposition no later than May 21, 2018. On May 31, 2018, the parties have a mediation scheduled before Chief Judge Bluebond. Defendant requests Plaintiff's continued deposition no later than May 21, 2018 so that it can submit a proper mediation brief by May 23, 2018 with sufficient factual information.

II. DISCUSSION

Federal Rule of Civil Procedure ("Rule") 30(d)(2) provides:

Unless otherwise stipulated or ordered by the court, a deposition is limited to 1 day of 7 hours. The court must allow additional time consistent with Rule 26(b)(1) and (2) if needed to fairly examine the deponent or if the deponent, another person, or any other circumstance impedes or delays the examination.

Chapter 7

In LaPlante v. Estano, 226 F.R.D. 439 (D. Conn. 2005), the court found that plaintiff and his attorney "were recalcitrant and uncooperative in their refusal to answer questions that seek information which is clearly relevant, not privileged, not overly broad, and not unduly burdensome." Id. at 440. The court also found that "the plaintiff's unilateral curtailment of the deposition and subsequent offer of telephonic follow-up to be unjustified." Id.

LaPlante holds that a continued deposition is warranted where a witness is uncooperative in answering questions that sought information that was clearly relevant, unprivileged, not overly broad, and not unduly burdensome. However, LaPlante did not address how to calculate additional continued deposition time in light of a "failed" deposition.

In Calderon v. Symeon, Case No. 3:06CV1130 AHN, 2007 WL 735773 (D. Conn. Feb. 2, 2007), the defendants took plaintiff's deposition, which lasted 4 hours and 51 minutes. The court agreed with defendants that they did not use up their full seven hours, so defendants had 2 hours and 9 minutes remaining. However, defendants sought an additional full day (7 hours), contending that plaintiff was "largely uncooperative, interruptive and non-responsive-providing excessive narrative and filibuster rather than concise, responsive answers." Id. at * 1. Defendants argued that the prior deposition was "unproductive" and a "waste of time."

The court in Calderon found that plaintiff was "recalcitrant and uncooperative in her refusal to answer questions that seek information that is clearly relevant, not privileged, not overly broad and not unduly burdensome." Id. at *2. However, the court also found that the deposition was not a complete "waste of time" and that some productive testimony was elicited. Id. Based on its review of the deposition transcript, the court ordered plaintiff to sit for a continued deposition of 5 additional hours. Id.

Here, in the Second Motion to Compel, Defendant seeks to characterize all the testimony from Plaintiff's October 10, 2017 deposition as nonresponsive, and asks that the 2.5 hours from that date not be counted against its seven-hour limit. Plaintiff argues that the full 2.5 hours of the October 10, 2017 deposition should count against the seven-hour limit.

From a review of the transcript of Plaintiff's October 10, 2017 deposition and the First Motion to Compel, it appears that the majority of Plaintiff's improper refusals to answer questions occurred after one hour and 40 minutes into the deposition. In the First Motion to Compel, Defendant did not contend that the remainder of the deposition was a "waste of time." Accordingly, the Court will deem one hour and 40 minutes of the October 10, 2017 deposition as counting against the seven-hour limit. When added to the one hour of deposition from May 8, 2018, it appears that Defendant is entitled to a continued deposition of Plaintiff of four hours and 20 minutes in length.

III. CONCLUSION

The Court will grant the Second Motion to Compel. Plaintiff must appear for a continued deposition of no more than four hours and 20 minutes in length. The parties must be prepared to discuss a time and date for the continued deposition, which must take place on or before May 21, 2018.

Movant must submit the order within seven (7) days.

Tentative Ruling:

In accordance with the appellate opinion of the United States Bankruptcy Appellate Panel of the Ninth Circuit, Defendant's testimony is being admitted to evaluate whether Defendant, in prosecuting the malpractice action against Plaintiff, had a subjective intent to harm Plaintiff or a subjective belief that harm to Plaintiff was substantially certain, i.e., what was Defendant's subjective opinion as to the merits of the malpractice litigation, and his explanations for why he held such an opinion.

When the points raised by Plaintiff's evidentiary objections go to the credibility of Defendant's admitted testimony, the Court will take those arguments into account, in that context.

Docket 187

Tentative Ruling:

Deny.

I. BACKGROUND

On February 13, 2015, Ernest Charles Barreca ("Defendant") filed a voluntary chapter 7 petition. On May 15, 2015, Gerson and Gertrude Fox (together, "Plaintiffs") filed an adversary proceeding against Defendant, seeking nondischargeability of debt pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §§ 523(a)(4) and (a)(6). Trial in this adversary proceeding is set for May 29-June 1, and June 4, 2018.

On February 5, 2018, the parties filed a joint pretrial stipulation (the "JPS") [doc. 145]. In the JPS, the parties identify Mr. Islam as a witness on the following issues of fact:

28. Instead of accounting to Telesis of the funds and applying them to pay Telesis and the County of Los Angeles, Defendant, as Chief Executive Officer of the Mika Realty Group, LLC, diverted these funds elsewhere.

[Plaintiffs'] Evidence: Testimony of Christopher Reeder and Mohammed Islam

...

[Plaintiffs'] Evidence: Testimony of Ernest Charles Barreca, Testimony of Mohammed Islam

[Defendant's] Evidence: . . . Testimony of Debtor. Testimony of Mohammed Islam.

(JPS, at p. 52.)

The parties also state that Mr. Islam will testify that:

A. On or about March 19, 2010, Defendant personally arranged a loan between Mika and Modern Parking, Inc. for $150,000.00. On March 24, 2010, Defendant, a CEO of the Mika Realty Group transferred $200,000 of the Settlement Funds to Reeder Lu, LLP's operating account as payment for legal services not exclusively provided for Star News. On or about June 10, 2010, Defendant, as Chief Officer of the Mika Realty Group transferred another $152,987.98 of the Settlement

Funds to Reeder Lu, LLP's operating account as payment for legal services not exclusively provided for Star News.

B. On or about December 30, 2010, after the sale of the improved commercial real estate at 7012 Euclid Avenue, Cleveland, Ohio 44103 (the "Cleveland Property") closed, Victory Lofts, LLC transferred to Modern Parking and/or Mohammed/Islam, and Modern Parking and/or Mohammed Islam received from the Victory Lofts, LLC, a total of $410,000.00 (the "Islam Transfer Funds") belonging solely to the Victory Lofts, by way of a wire transfer directly to an account belonging solely to Modern Parking and/or Islam.

C. The Islam Transfer Funds were never returned to Victory Lofts, LLC.

(JPS, at p. 183.) The parties estimate one hour for direct examination of Mr. Islam, and one hour for cross-examination. (Id.)

On April 9, 2018, Plaintiffs served a subpoena upon non-party witness Mohammed Islam to appear and testify at trial (the "Subpoena"). (Declaration of Mohammed Islam ("Islam Decl."), ¶ 5; Exh. 2.) Accompanying the Subpoena was a letter from Defendant's counsel stating:

You have been subpoenaed for a trial which could last a number of days. You must be present in Court when your name is called, but we do not want you to make any unnecessary trips to the courthouse, nor do we want you to wait more than absolutely necessary to testify. We will do our best to minimize the inconvenience by having you agree to appear on notice.

(Id., ¶ 6; Exh. 3.)

On April 30, 2018, Mr. Islam filed a Motion to Quash Subpoena to Appear at Trial (the "Motion") [doc. 187]. Mr. Islam is the president of Modern Parking. (Islam Decl., ¶ 1.) Modern Parking's involvement with Mika Realty and Michael Kamen stemmed from loans that Mr. Islam obtained from Mika Realty and from LLCs that were managed and operated by Mika Realty. (Id., ¶ 3.) Mr. Islam alleges that he paid these loans back, and that any discrepancies with the repayment were resolved during the bankruptcy cases of Star News and Victory Lofts. Mr. Islam further alleges that he received releases from the bankruptcy trustee confirming that the loans were paid in full. (Id., ¶ 4.)

Mr. Islam states that Ramadan begins on May 15, 2018 and ends on June 14, 2018. (Islam Decl., ¶ 8.) Because he is a devout Muslim, Mr. Islam intends to observe the following duties during Ramadan:

- (i) not eating or drinking during daylight hours; (ii) only eating two meals a day—one before sunrise and one after sunset; (iii) either visiting mosque or remembering Allah by reciting Ramadan Dua during all daylight hours; (iv) engaging in at least five daily prayers, including the Taraweeh prayer; and (v) spending the entire night praying for Allah.

(Id., ¶ 9.) Mr. Islam alleges that his adherence to his religious duties prevents him from appearing at trial to testify and will affect his ability to give competent testimony.

On May 15, 2018, Plaintiffs filed an opposition to the Motion and a request for judicial notice ("RJN") [docs. 224, 225]. The RJN attaches a Wikipedia article on Ramadan and a "Vox" website article on Ramadan.

II. DISCUSSION

Federal Rule of Civil Procedure ("FRCP") 45(a)(1)(A)(iii) allows a party to serve a subpoena commanding "each person to whom it is directed to . . . attend and testify[.]" Pursuant to FRCP 45(c):

A subpoena may command a person to attend a trial . . . only as follows:

(A) within 100 miles of where the person resides, is employed, or regularly transacts business in person; or

(B) within the state where the person resides, is employed, or regularly transacts business in person, if the person

- (i) is a party or a party's officer; or
- (ii) is commanded to attend a trial and would not incur substantial expense.

Pursuant to FRCP 45(d)(1), "[a] party or attorney responsible for issuing and serving a subpoena must take reasonable steps to avoid imposing undue burden or expense on a person subject to the subpoena."

Pursuant to FRCP 45(d)(3)(A)—

On timely motion, the court for the district where compliance is required must quash or modify a subpoena that:

- (i) fails to allow a reasonable time to comply;
- (ii) requires a person to comply beyond the geographical limits specified in Rule 45(c);
- (iii) requires disclosure of privileged or other protected matter, if no exception or waiver applies; or
- (iv) subjects a person to undue burden.

"The party who resists discovery has the burden to show that discovery should not be allowed, and has the burden of clarifying, explaining, and supporting its objections." Oakes v. Halvorsen Marine Ltd., 179 F.R.D. 281, 283 (C.D. Cal. 1998).

"Upon motion of the party opposing a subpoena, the court 'must quash or modify a subpoena that . . . subjects a person to undue burden. The party seeking to quash a subpoena has the 'burden of persuasion.'" Id. (quoting Travelers Indem. Co. v. Metropolitan Life Ins. Co., 228 F.R.D. 111, 113 (D. Conn. 2005)). "However, the party issuing the subpoena must demonstrate, in turn, that the information sought is relevant and material to the allegations and claims at issue in the proceedings." Rocky Mountain Medical Management, LLC, v. LHP Hospital Group, Inc., 2013 WL 6446704, at *2 (D. Idaho 2013). "In all controverted cases, it is up to the court to strike a balance among the degrees of relevance of the requested material, the severity of the burden on the subpoenaed person or entity, and the utility of the protective mechanisms provided by the Federal Rules." Id.

"The most obvious burden is borne by the nonparty witness, and we are instructed to be particularly sensitive to any prejudice to non-litigants drawn against their will into the disputes of others." Id. (citations omitted). "[C]oncern for the unwanted burden thrust upon non-parties is a factor entitled to special weight in evaluating the balance of competing needs' in a Rule 45 inquiry." Amini Innovation Corp. v. McFerran Home Furnishings, Inc., 300 F.R.D. 406, 409 (C.D. Cal. 2014) (quoting Cusumano v. Microsoft Corp., 162 F.3d 708, 717 (1st Cir. 1998)). "Restrictions on discovery may be broader where a non-party is the target of discovery to protect such third parties from unnecessary harassment, inconvenience, expense or disclosure of confidential information." In re Candor Diamond Corp., 26 B.R. 847, 849 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 1983).

A. Judicial Notice

As an initial matter, the Court will deny Plaintiffs' request for judicial notice. Pursuant to Federal Rule of Evidence ("FRE") 201(b):

The court may judicially notice a fact that is not subject to reasonable dispute because it:

- (1) is generally known within the trial court's territorial jurisdiction; or
- (2) can be accurately and readily determined from sources whose accuracy cannot reasonably be questioned.

In Steele v. McMahon, Case No. CIVS05-1874 DADP, 2007 WL 2758026 (E.D. Cal. Sept. 21, 2007), the plaintiff requested that the court take judicial notice of a Wikipedia article on tunnel vision. The defendant objected "on the grounds that [the Wikipedia article was] irrelevant, not the appropriate subject for judicial notice, hearsay, and not authenticated." Id. at *8, n.5. The court sustained the objection, stating that the Wikipedia article did not meet the requirements of FRE 201.

Here, Plaintiffs ask the Court to take judicial notice of a Wikipedia article on Ramadan, and a printout of an article on Ramadan from the "Vox" website. (RJN, Exhs. A & B.) Neither article appears to contain facts that are not subject to reasonable dispute because the facts are generally known within this Court's jurisdiction, or because such facts can be accurately and readily determined from sources whose accuracy cannot reasonably be questioned. In particular, the accuracy of Wikipedia articles is open to question, given that any user may edit Wikipedia articles at any given time. Similarly, the "Vox" article appears to present numerous "facts" about Ramadan without citation to any relevant religious texts or to other evidence of Muslim cultural practice. Accordingly, these documents do not meet the requirements of FRE 201.

Chapter 7

B. Relevance of Mr. Islam's Testimony

In opposing a motion to quash, "[t]he subpoenaing party must first show that its requests are relevant to its claims or defenses, within the meaning of Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26(b)(1)." In re Domestic Drywall Antitrust Litig., 300 F.R.D. 234, 239 (E.D. Pa. 2014).

Based on a review of the JPS, it appears that Mr. Islam's testimony is relevant to the transfers made by Defendant to Modern Parking and Mr. Islam. As a recipient of the transfers, Mr. Islam has personal knowledge of the circumstances surrounding the transfers.

C. Undue Burden on Mr. Islam

Next, the burden shifts to the subpoenaed nonparty who must show that [it] . . . is protected under Rule 45(d)(3)(A) or (B). . . . If the subpoenaed nonparty claims. . . [an] undue burden under Rule 45(d)(3) (A), it must show . . . a 'clearly defined and serious injury.'

Domestic Drywall, 300 F.R.D. at 239 (citation omitted).

Because the burden is on the party seeking to quash a subpoena, . . . that party cannot merely assert that compliance with the subpoena would be burdensome without setting forth the manner and extent of the burden and the probable negative consequences of insisting on compliance.

Kirschner v. Klemons, Case No. 99 CIV. 4828 (RCC), 2005 WL 1214330, at *2 (S.D.N.Y. May 19, 2005) (citation omitted).

In Choice, Inc. of TX v. Graham, Case No. CIV.A. 04-1581, 2005 WL 1431689 (E.D. La. May 31, 2005), defendant sought to quash a subpoena requiring his wife to appear for deposition, because she was ill and the deposition would be an undue burden on her. The court denied the motion to quash because defendant did not provide sufficient information about her illness to establish that she was not in a condition to testify.

Similarly, Mr. Islam does not provide sufficient information about the nature of the alleged undue burden of being required to testify during Ramadan. He alleges that being required to appear and testify at trial will interfere with his fasting and prayer duties. He further argues that he will be subject to "severe, irreparable undue burden if he is forced to appear during Ramadan." (Motion, at p. 5.) However, aside from these conclusory statements, Mr. Islam does not set forth the manner and extent of the burden, or any probable negative consequences of insisting on compliance. Plaintiffs have stated that they need only two hours of Mr. Islam's time. These two hours could be scheduled as to minimize any interference with Mr. Islam's religious duties, e.g., in light of his fasting regimen, requiring him to testify in the early morning rather than late afternoon. Accordingly, Mr. Islam has not shown that appearing and testifying at trial will cause him a "clearly defined and serious injury."

III. CONCLUSION

In light of the foregoing, the Court will deny the Motion.

Plaintiffs must submit the order within seven (7) days.

Tentative Ruling:

The Court will deny: (i) defendant's Motion in Limine No. 1 to Preclude Plaintiffs from Relitigating Legal and Factual Issues Previously Litigated and Dismissed Against Defendant ("Motion One") [doc. 179]; (ii) defendant's Motion in Limine No. 2 to Exclude Expert Testimony of Jack Garrett ("Motion Two") [doc. 210]; and (iii) defendant's Motion in Limine No. 3 to Preclude Any Reference to, Mention of, Introduction of, Evidence of or Eliciting Testimony Regarding State Court Default Judgment ("Motion Three") [doc. 219] (collectively, the "Motions").

I. BACKGROUND

On April 18, 2013, Gerson and Gertrude Fox ("Plaintiffs") filed a complaint in state court seeking damages against Defendant on several causes of action, including elder abuse, fraud, deceit, and conversion (the "State Court Action") [doc. 108, Exh. E]. On July 8, 2014, the court in the State Court Action entered a default judgment against Defendant in the amount of $7,958,622.62 [doc. 108, Exh. F].

On February 13, 2015, Ernest Charles Barreca ("Defendant") filed a voluntary chapter 7 petition. On May 15, 2015, Plaintiffs filed a complaint against Defendant, requesting nondischargeability of the debt owed to them pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §§ 523(a)(4) and (6) [doc. 1]. On July 27, 2015, Plaintiffs filed a first amended complaint, which added claims for relief under 11 U.S.C. §§ 523(a)(2)(A) and (a)(2)(B) (the "FAC") [doc. 12].

The FAC alleged that Mr. Fox agreed to go into business with Michael Kamen, who had a real estate business that acquired and sold commercial properties. These investments took the form of several single purpose entity limited liability companies or limited partnerships (the "SPEs"). In October 2006, Defendant became the Chief Executive Officer of Mika Realty Group and took responsibility for managing the SPEs. The FAC alleged that Defendant drove SPEs into default by failing to pay obligations and enabled his friends to buy the SPEs' promissory notes at a steep discount.

On August 5, 2016, Plaintiffs provided Defendant with their Federal Rule of Civil Procedure ("FRCP") 26 initial disclosures of witnesses and evidence. Plaintiffs never amended or supplemented their initial disclosures [doc. 159, Declaration of Jeff Katofsky, Esq., ¶ 2].

On April 27, 2017, the Court entered a scheduling order [doc. 79], setting the following deadlines: (A) April 26, 2017 as the discovery cutoff date; (B) May 5, 2017 as the last day to file pretrial motions; (C) May 24, 2017 as the date by which the parties must file a joint pretrial stipulation; and (D) June 7, 2017 as the pretrial conference.

On May 5, 2017, Defendant timely filed a motion for summary judgment (the "MSJ") [doc. 86]. On May 31, 2017, the parties filed an initial pretrial stipulation (the "IPS") [doc. 99]. On June 21, 2017, Plaintiffs filed an opposition to the MSJ [doc. 107]. On June 28, 2017, Defendant filed a reply to the opposition to the MSJ [doc. 117]. Defendant did not object to the use of any exhibits in the opposition to the MSJ pursuant to FRCP 26(a)(1) and 37(c). On July 12, 2017, the Court denied the MSJ [doc. 121].

On July 12, 2017, at a pretrial conference in this case, the Court adopted a pretrial briefing and witness testimony schedule. On December 20, 2017, at a pretrial conference, the Court set a pretrial schedule in this proceeding. During the hearing, the Court bifurcated this proceeding. The first phase will pertain to Plaintiffs' nondischargeability causes of action. The second phase will pertain to the issue of damages.

On January 5, 2018, the Court entered another scheduling order [doc. 143], this time setting the date by which the parties must file a joint pretrial stipulation as February 5, 2018, setting a pretrial conference for February 14, 2018 and trial for the week of May 29, 2018.

On February 5, 2018, the parties filed a joint pretrial stipulation (the "JPS") [doc.

145]. The parties attached their respective exhibit and witness lists to the JPS. On February 8, 2018, Defendant filed a motion to exclude Plaintiffs' evidence, outlining objections to each of Plaintiffs' JPS exhibits largely on the grounds of relevance, lack of foundation, and failure to provide FRCP 26 disclosures [doc. 155]. On February 15, 2018, Defendant filed a supplemental motion to exclude witnesses in the JPS which Plaintiffs did not previously disclose pursuant to FRCP 26 (the "Supplemental Motion") [doc. 159]. On April 26, 2018, the Court entered an order denying in part and granting in part Defendant's motion to exclude Plaintiffs' evidence [doc. 184].

On April 16, 2018, Defendant filed Motion One and a request for judicial notice in support of Motion One [doc. 180]. On May 15, 2018, Plaintiffs filed an opposition to Motion One ("Opposition One") [doc. 223].

On May 8, 2018, Defendant filed Motion Two [doc. 210]. On May 14, 2018, Defendant filed the Declaration of Jeff Katofsky, Esq. in support of Motion Two [doc. 218]. On May 15, 2018, Plaintiffs filed an opposition to Motion Two ("Opposition Two") [doc. 226].

On May 15, 2018, Defendant filed Motion Three [doc. 219] and the Declaration of Jeff Katofsky, Esq. in support of Motion Three [doc. 220]. On May 22, 2018, Plaintiffs filed an opposition to Motion Three ("Opposition Three") [doc. 233].

"A motion in limine is a request for the court's guidance concerning an evidentiary question. Judges have broad discretion when ruling on motions in limine." Id.

A motion in limine is a procedural mechanism to limit in advance testimony or evidence in a particular area. In the case of a jury trial, a court's ruling "at the outset" gives counsel advance notice of the scope of certain evidence so that admissibility is settled before attempted use of the evidence before the jury. Because the judge rules on this evidentiary motion, in the case of a bench trial, a threshold ruling is generally superfluous.

United States v. Heller, 551 F.3d 1108, 1111-12 (9th Cir. 2009). "A motion in limine is not the proper vehicle for seeking a dispositive ruling on a claim, particularly after the deadline for filing such motions has passed." Hana Fin., Inc. v. Hana Bank, 735 F.3d 1158, 1162 n. 4 (9th Cir. 2013) cert. granted, 134 S. Ct. 2842, 189 (2014) and aff'd, 135 S. Ct. 907 (2015); see also Schagene v. Mabus, 2015 WL 251197, at *1 (S.D. Cal. Jan. 20, 2015) ("[A] motion in limine should not be used to resolve factual disputes or weigh evidence.").

In light of their limited purpose, motions in limine should not be used to resolve whether certain claims should survive. Rather, parties should target their arguments to demonstrating why certain items or categories of evidence should (or should not) be introduced at trial, and direct the trial judge to specific evidence in the record that would favor or disfavor the introduction of those particular items or categories of evidence.

Strickholm v. Evangelical Lutheran Good Samaritan Soc., 2013 WL 788096, at *4 (D. Idaho Mar. 1, 2013).

To exclude evidence on a motion in limine the evidence must be inadmissible on all potential grounds. Unless evidence meets this high standard, evidentiary rulings should be deferred until trial so that questions of foundation, relevancy and potential prejudice may be resolved in proper context. This is because although rulings on motions in limine may save time, costs, effort and preparation, a court is almost always better situated during the actual trial to assess the value and utility of evidence.

Goodman, at 1047 (internal citations omitted). "[I]n limine rulings are not binding on the trial judge, and the judge may always change his mind during the course of a trial." Holler v. United States, 529 U.S. 753, 758 n. 3 (2000).

"Denial of a motion in limine does not necessarily mean that all evidence contemplated by the motion will be admitted to trial. Denial merely means that without the context of trial, the court is unable to determine whether the evidence in question should be excluded." *Ellsworth v. 2. Issue Preclusion

"A bankruptcy court may rely on the issue preclusive effect of an existing state court judgment .... In so doing, the bankruptcy court must apply the forum state's law of issue preclusion." In re Plyam, 530 B.R. 456, 462 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2015); see also 28 U.S.C. § 1738 (federal courts must give "full faith and credit" to state court judgments). The requirements for issue preclusion in California are:

- (1) the issue sought to be precluded from relitigation is identical to that decided in a former proceeding;
- (2) the issue was actually litigated in the former proceeding;
- (3) the issue was necessarily decided in the former proceeding;
- (4) the decision in the former proceeding is final and on the merits; and
- (5) the party against whom preclusion is sought was the same as, or in privity with, the party to the former proceeding.

In re Harmon, 250 F.3d 1240, 1245 (9th Cir. 2001) (citing Lucido v. Superior Court, 51 Cal. 3d 335, 341 (1990)). "California further places an additional limitation on issue preclusion: courts may give preclusive effect to a judgment 'only if application of preclusion furthers the public policies underlying the doctrine.'" Plyam, 530 B.R. at 462 (quoting Harmon, 250 F.3d at 1245).

The concept of privity for the purposes of ... collateral estoppel refers to a mutual or successive relationship to the same rights of property, or to such an identification in interest of one person with another as to represent the same legal rights and, more recently, to a relationship between the party to be estopped and the unsuccessful party in the prior litigation which is sufficiently close so as to justify application of the doctrine of collateral estoppel.

Pursuant to Federal Rule of Evidence ("FRE") 702—

A witness who is qualified as an expert by knowledge, skill, experience, training, or education may testify in the form of an opinion or otherwise if:

- (a) the expert's scientific, technical, or other specialized knowledge will help the trier of fact to understand the evidence or to determine a fact in issue;
- (b) the testimony is based on sufficient facts or data;
- (c) the testimony is the product of reliable principles and methods; and
- (d) the expert has reliably applied the principles and methods to the facts of the case.

contrary evidence, and attention to the burden of proof, not exclusion." Primiano v. Cook, 598 F.3d 558, 564 (9th Cir. 2010).

Pursuant to Rule 26(a)(2)—

- (A) In General. In addition to the disclosures required by Rule 26(a)(1), a party must disclose to the other parties the identity of any witness it may use at trial to present evidence under Federal Rule of Evidence 702, 703, or 705.
- (B) Witnesses Who Must Provide a Written Report. Unless otherwise stipulated or ordered by the court, this disclosure must be accompanied by a written report--prepared and signed by the witness--if the witness is one retained or specially employed to provide expert testimony in the case or one whose duties as the party's employee regularly involve giving expert testimony. The report must contain:
- (i) a complete statement of all opinions the witness will express and the basis and reasons for them;
  - (ii) the facts or data considered by the witness in forming them;
  - (iii) any exhibits that will be used to summarize or support them;
  - (iv) the witness's qualifications, including a list of all publications authored in the previous 10 years;
  - (v) a list of all other cases in which, during the previous 4 years, the witness testified as an expert at trial or by deposition; and
  - (vi) a statement of the compensation to be paid for the study and testimony in the case.

If a party fails to provide information or identify a witness as required by FRCP 26(a), the party is not allowed to use that information or witness to supply evidence on a motion, at a hearing, or at trial unless the failure was substantially justified or harmless. FRCP 37(c)(1). This "provides a strong inducement for disclosure of material that the disclosing party would expect to use as evidence." Adv. Comm. The Court has discretion to determine if a violation of FRCP 26(a) is "justified" or "harmless" based on several factors:

III. DISCUSSION

A. Motion One

In Motion One, Defendant argues that issue preclusion bars Plaintiffs from relitigating fraud issues that were previously litigated. On October 28, 2011, the SPEs filed a state court action against Defendant (the "First State Court Action"). The state court complaint alleged sixteen causes of action, including two causes of action for fraud: intentional misrepresentation and concealment [doc. 180, Exh. A]. On October 30, 2013, the SPEs dismissed Defendant with prejudice as to all causes of action asserted in the complaint (the "Dismissal Ruling") [doc. 180, Exh. B].

Here, the issue sought to be precluded from relitigation, fraud, is identical to that in the First State Court Action. "The "identical issue" requirement addresses whether "identical factual allegations" are at stake in the two proceedings, not whether the ultimate issues or dispositions are the same." Lucido v. Superior Court, 51 Cal. 3d 335, 342, 795 P.2d 1223, 1225 (1990). The state court complaint in the First State Court Action asserted identical factual allegations as the FAC in the instant adversary proceeding. Further, the decision in the former proceedings is final and on the merits. See Le Parc Community Ass'n v. Workers' Compensation Appeals Board, 110 Cal. App. 4th 1161, 1174 (2003).

However, it appears the issue was not actually litigated and necessarily decided in the former proceeding. Le Parc, 110 Cal. App. 4th at 1174; Rice v. Crow, 81 Cal. App. 4th 725, 736 (2000). "A settlement which avoids trial generally does not constitute actually litigating any issues and thus prevents application of collateral estoppel." Rice, 81 Cal. App. 4th at 736. In Opposition One, Plaintiffs assert that the First State Court Action was dismissed because Plaintiffs lacked standing. Defendant did not state in Motion One whether the issue of fraud was actually litigated. As such, it appears the issue was not actually litigated.

One line of cases holding that a consent or stipulated judgment may properly be given collateral estoppel effect. See California State Auto Assn. Inter-Ins. Bureau v. Superior Court, 50 Cal. 3d 658, 664 (1990). In California State Auto, the California Supreme Court found that "a stipulated judgment may properly be given collateral estoppel effect, at least when the parties manifest an intent to be collaterally bound by its terms." 50 Cal. 3d at 664. Here, there was no judgment, stipulated or otherwise. Further, although the Dismissal Ruling states that it was entered pursuant to the "dismissal agreement," neither party submitted evidence regarding this dismissal agreement to show whether the parties manifested intent to be collaterally bound by its terms.

Additionally, Defendant did not meet his burden to prove that Plaintiffs are in privity with the plaintiffs in the First State Court Action. As the court stated in Gottlieb v. Kest, 141 Cal. App. 4th 110, 150-51 (2006), Generally, "a corporation is a distinct legal entity, separate from its shareholders and officers. The rights and liabilities of corporations are distinct from the persons composing it." (Clean Air Transport Systems v. San Mateo County Transit Dist. (1988) 198 Cal.App.3d 576, 578, 243 Cal.Rptr. 799; accord, Robbins v. Blecher (1997) 52 Cal.App.4th 886, 892, 60 Cal.Rptr.2d 815.) According to the Restatement Second of Judgments (Restatement): "The concept that a corporation is a legal entity distinct from its management and stockholders implies that issues determined against a corporation are not conclusive against its directors, officers, and stockholders, and vice versa.

Ernest Charles Barreca

Chapter 7

Such a rule is appropriate with regard to a corporation whose ownership is widely held. In such a corporation, the directors and officers are charged with a fiduciary obligation to manage the corporation's affairs, including the conduct of litigation.... In a corporation whose management is a complex organization, moreover, many or all of the officers and directors often have such a remote connection with specific litigation that they cannot be said to have participated in it beyond assuming official responsibility on behalf of the corporation. To hold them bound by determinations in litigation to which the corporation is a party would in effect deny them their own day in court. The same is true of stockholders or members of such a corporation." (Rest.2d Judgments, § 59, com. e, p. 98.)

But the Restatement notes an exception for corporations that are closely held: "If the corporation is closely held, in that one or a few persons hold substantially the entire ownership in it, the judgment in an action ... against the corporation or the holder of ownership in it is conclusive upon the other of them as to issues determined therein as follows: [¶] ... The judgment in an action ... against the corporation is conclusive upon the holder of its ownership if he actively participated in the action on behalf of the corporation, unless his interests and those of the corporation are so different that he should have [an] opportunity to relitigate the issue." (Rest.2d Judgments, § 59(3)(a), p. 94, italics added; accord, **36 9A Fletcher Cyclopedic of the Law of Private Corporations (2000 rev.) § 4705, p. 484.)

As explained in the commentary to the Restatement: "When the corporation is closely held, ... [the] interests of the corporation's management and stockholders and the corporation itself generally fully coincide. By definition, the stockholders are few in number and either themselves constitute the management or have direct personal control over it. In many respects, the enterprise is a proprietorship or partnership conducted in corporate form. If the corporate form ... is adequately adhered to, the fact that interests of a closely held corporation and its proprietors are usually identical does not efface the separate legal identity of the corporation for such purposes as taxation, regulation, and the limitation of stockholders' liability to their investment in the corporation. For the purpose of affording opportunity for a day in court on issues contested in litigation, however, there is no good reason why a closely held corporation and its owners should be ordinarily regarded as legally distinct. On the contrary, it may be presumed that their interests coincide and that one opportunity to litigate issues that concern them in common should sufficiently protect both.

Ten limited liability companies and two limited partnerships constituted the SPEs in the First State Court Action. Defendant asserts that Plaintiffs are in privity with the SPEs. Defendant points to the IPS, page three, wherein Plaintiffs listed each of the SPEs to which they held an interest. All but one of the SPEs that were the plaintiffs in the First State Court Action are listed in the IPS.

However, Defendant has not shown that Plaintiffs actively participated in the First State Court Action on behalf of the SPEs. Plaintiffs contend in Opposition One that they were not active participants in the relevant SPEs or in the First State Court Action. They purportedly were barred from prosecuting the action on behalf of the SPEs because they lacked managerial authority over them. Although Defendant has shown that Plaintiffs had a financial interest in the SPEs, Defendant has not shown that Plaintiffs were actively involved in the First State Court litigation so as to presume that their interests coincide.

Even assuming issue preclusion applied, the Court should not apply issue preclusion in this case. ‘The purposes of the doctrine are said to be to promote judicial economy by minimizing repetitive litigation, to prevent inconsistent judgments which undermine the integrity of the judicial system, and to protect against vexatious litigation.’ Gottlieb, 141 Cal. App. 4th at 148 (internal quotations omitted). Here, the First State Court Action was not litigated because Plaintiffs did not have standing. As such, there is no risk of repetitive litigation. Further, the SPEs in the First State Court Action voluntarily dismissed Defendant. Consequently, there is no risk of inconsistent judgments. Finally, Plaintiffs are not vexatious litigants.

B. Motion Two

In Motion Two, Defendant seeks to exclude the expert testimony of Mr. Garrett. Defendant asserts that Mr. Garrett failed to disclose the methodology used in calculating Plaintiffs’ damages, and without a detailed report, Defendant is exposed to surprise and extreme prejudice if Plaintiffs are allowed to call Mr. Garrett to testify regarding his expert opinions of Plaintiffs’ financial loss.

Chapter 7

However, as Plaintiffs point out in Opposition Two, the Court bifurcated the trial into two trials. The instant trial is only on liability.

Furthermore, on March 23, 2018, the Court ruled that even though Mr. Garrett was not disclosed as a witness pursuant to Rule 26, it was harmless. Defendant has been aware that Plaintiffs intended to call Mr. Garrett as a witness because he was listed in the IPS. Thus, it does not appear that Plaintiffs are trying to hide the ball.

Additionally, the concern that the fact-finder will be misled by the expert testimony carries little weight in regards to a bench trial. See Volk v. United States, 57 F. Supp. 2d 888, 896 n.5 (N.D. Cal. 1995). To the extent that Mr. Garrett's testimony is admissible, the Court is competent to determine the proper weight it should be given.

C. Motion Three

In Motion Three, Defendant seek to prohibit Plaintiffs from mentioning, or introducing any evidence about, the state court's default judgment entered in favor of Plaintiffs for $7,999,022.12. On May 10, 2018, the Second Appellate District of California reversed the trial court's order denying Defendant's motion to set aside the default judgment and remanded the case for further proceedings. Because the state court judgment is not final, it does not have a preclusive effect on this Court's findings.

Despite the lack of preclusive effect of the default judgment, Defendant has not established that the default judgment is inadmissible on all potential grounds. Pursuant to Federal Rule of Evidence 201(b)(2), the Court may take judicial notice that a default judgment was entered in the State Court Action. See, e.g., Rosales-Martinez v. Palmer, 753 F.3d 890, 894 (9th Cir. 2014) ("It is well established that we may take judicial notice of judicial proceedings in other courts."). Although the default judgment currently lacks preclusive effect, the fact that a default judgment was entered may be relevant to the present proceedings. Moreover, it is not clear that simply mentioning the default judgment would be prejudicial to Defendant. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Court will not take judicial notice of any facts contained within the default judgment.

fr. 4/11/18; 6/7/18

Docket 6

Tentative Ruling:

Deny.

Contrary to the Court's prior ruling, the debtor has not filed a declaration supported by admissible evidence that renting the real property located at 6111 Greenbriar Drive, Fayetteville, PA 17222 will generate sufficient income to fund a chapter 13 plan. The debtor also has not filed a declaration as to whether she timely tendered her monthly chapter 13 plan payments in the amount of $280.50 to the chapter 13 trustee.

On May 14, 2018, the debtor filed a declaration regarding her April 2018 deed of trust payment to Mr. Cooper in the amount of $1,492 [doc. 28]. However, this amount is less than the monthly payment amount of $2,105, as stated in the debtor's Chapter 13 Calculation of Your Disposable Income [doc. 22], and it does not comply with the Interim Order on Motion for Order Imposing a Stay or Continuing the Automatic Stay [doc. 24]. Moreover, the debtor has not filed a declaration stating that she made her May 2018 deed of trust payment.

The Court will prepare the order.

Grant motion on an interim basis and continue hearing to June 6, 2018 at 9:30 a.m.

Under 11 U.S.C. § 362(c)(3), in order to extend the automatic stay in a case filed within one year of another case which was pending within the same year but was dismissed, the debtor must show that the present case was filed in good faith as to the creditors to be stayed. Under 11 U.S.C. 362(c)(3)(C)(i)(III), a case is presumptively filed not in good faith if there has not been a substantial change in the financial or personal affairs of the debtor since the dismissal of the next most previous case, or any other reason to conclude that the later case will be concluded with a chapter 7 discharge, or a confirmed chapter 11 or 13 plan that will be fully performed.

On January 18, 2018, the debtor filed a prior chapter 13 petition [case no. 1:18-bk-10095-VK]. In her prior schedules, the debtor disclosed monthly income in the amount of $5,289.50 and monthly expenses in the amount of $5,009.00, leaving net monthly income of $280.50. (Case no. 1:18-bk-10095-VK, doc. 15, at p. 27.) In her prior plan, the debtor's proposed plan payment was $280.50 for 6 months, then $377.73 per month for 54 months. (Case no. 1:18-bk-10095-VK, doc. 23, at p. 3.)

In her pending case, the debtor's Chapter 13 Calculation of Your Disposable Income (Official Form 122C-2) states that her disposable income is $0. (Doc. 22, at p. 7.) In her chapter 13 plan, the debtor proposes a monthly payment of $280.50 for 2 months, then $842.51 for 58 months. (Doc. 5, at p. 2.) In her declaration, the debtor alleges that she paid Cedar Green Services ("Cedar Green") to assist her with saving her real property. The debtor states that Cedar Green took her money without contacting her lender. The debtor hopes to rent out her real property to generate income to pay her secured lender.

Notwithstanding these assertions and the lack of an opposition to her motion, the debtor has not provided at this time clear and convincing evidence that her financial affairs have improved since her prior case, such that the pending chapter 13 case will result in a confirmed plan that will be fully performed. The debtor has provided no evidence that she has sufficient net monthly income to fund a chapter 13 plan. She has provided no evidence she will be able to generate sufficient income by renting her property.

In light of the foregoing, the Court will grant the motion on an interim basis up to the date of the continued hearing. No later than May 10, 2018, the debtor must file and serve notice of the continued hearing on all secured creditors. The debtor must (i) timely tender her postpetition deed of trust payments to Mr. Cooper in the amount of $2,105 (as stated in her Chapter 13 Calculation of Your Disposable Income (Official Form 122C-2)) as to the real property located at 6111 Greenbriar Drive, Fayetteville, PA 17222; (ii) timely tender her chapter 13 plan payments in the amount of $280.50 to the chapter 13 trustee; and (iii) file a declaration supported by admissible evidence that renting the property will generate sufficient income to fund a

DEBTOR

fr. 5/2/18(stip)

Docket 27

Tentative Ruling:

On April 11, 2018, Sam Nor (“Movant”) filed a motion for relief from the automatic stay in the debtor’s case to proceed with a state court action against the debtor and other defendants (the “Motion”) [doc. 27]. The hearing on the Motion was initially set for May 2, 2018.

On May 1, 2018, the parties filed a Stipulation for Continuance of Hearing on Motion for Relief of Stay (the “Stipulation”) [doc. 40]. In the Stipulation, the parties represented that they were negotiating options for settlement of their dispute. On May 1, 2018, the Court entered an order approving the Stipulation and continuing the hearing to June 6, 2018 [doc. 41].

On May 8, 2018, the debtor filed its Initial Status Report (the “Status Report”) [doc. 50]. In his Declaration filed with the Status Report, the debtor’s managing member states that he has reached a settlement with Movant regarding the underlying state court action. (See doc. 50, Exh. A.) Moreover, the debtor has a pending motion to dismiss this case [doc. 44].

Nancy Zamora, Chapter 7 Trustee

Brutzkus Gubner, Attorneys for Chapter 7 Trustee

Docket 223

Tentative Ruling:

On May 23, 2018, Nathan Rothman filed an objection to the pending applications for compensation by the chapter 7 trustee, her counsel, and her accountant (the "Objection") [doc. 227]. On May 24, 2018, the trustee and her professionals entered into a stipulation with Umpqua Bank (the "Stipulation") [doc. 228], to reduce fees by an aggregate of $16,000 and provide Umpqua Bank with at least a $50,000 distribution. Brutzkus Gubner agreed to reduce its fees by $10,000; SLBiggs agreed to reduce its fees by $3,000; and the trustee agreed to reduce her fees by $3,000. On May 29, 2018, the chapter 7 trustee filed a response to the Objection [doc. 230].

The Court will overrule the Objection. As the trustee notes, Mr. Rothman has not identified any specific fees that should be disallowed. Moreover, through the Stipulation, the trustee and her professionals have agreed to reduce their fees to provide a greater distribution to unsecured creditors, including Mr. Rothman.

Nancy Hoffmeier Zamora, chapter 7 trustee – approve fees of $62,503.32 and reimbursement of expenses of $4,014.37.

Brutzkus Gubner, counsel to chapter 7 trustee – approve fees of $171,103.00 and reimbursement of expenses of $4,340.71.

SLBiggs, A Division of SingerLewak ("SLBiggs"), accountant to chapter 7 trustee – approve fees of $25,140.00 and reimbursement of expenses of $207.79.

Docket 89

Tentative Ruling:

Law Offices of Michael Jay Berger (“Applicant”), counsel to the debtor – approve fees in the amount of $27,415.60 and reimbursement of expenses in the amount of $606.60, pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 331, for the period between September 13, 2017 through December 31, 2017, on a final basis. Applicant is authorized to receive the remaining balance of $14,965.59 in fees and $606.60 in expenses.

The Court will not approve $300.00 in fees for the reasons below.

11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(1)(A) provides that a court may award to a professional person employed under § 327 "reasonable compensation for actual, necessary services" rendered by the professional person. "In determining the amount of reasonable compensation to be awarded to the professional person, the court shall consider the nature, the extent and the value of such services, taking into account all relevant factors, including—(A) the time spent on such services; (B) the rates charged for such services; (C) whether the services were necessary to the administration of, or beneficial at the time at which the service was rendered toward the completion of, a case under this title; [and] (D) whether the services were performed within a reasonable amount of time commensurate with the complexity, importance, and nature of the problem, issue, or task addressed . . .". 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(3). Except in circumstances not relevant to this chapter 7 case, "the court shall not allow compensation for—(i) unnecessary duplication of services; or (ii) services that were not—(I) reasonably likely to benefit the debtor’s estate; or (II) necessary to the administration of the case." 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(4)(A).

11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(2) provides that the court may, on its own motion, award compensation that is less than the amount of the compensation that is requested.

Docket 238

Tentative Ruling:

Based on the Motion for Entry of Final Decree and Order Closing Case [doc. 340] and the Fifteenth Post-Confirmation Status Report ("Status Report") [doc. 342], the Court will continue the post-confirmation status conference to July 19, 2018 at 1:00 p.m. The prior status conference was continued to allow counsel to file a final fee application. The Status Report indicates that counsel would file the final fee application to be heard on June 21, 2018. However, as of June 2, 2018, counsel has not filed a final fee application. Accordingly, there is insufficient time for the fee application to be heard on 21-days' notice pursuant to LBR 9013-1(d).

Appearances on June 7, 2018 are excused.

I. BACKGROUND

On August 21, 2017, Yegiya Kutyan and Haykush Helen Kutyan ("Debtors") filed a voluntary chapter 11 petition. In their schedule A/B, Debtors listed real property located at 6703 Mammoth Avenue, Van Nuys, CA 91405 (the "Van Nuys Property"). Debtors valued the Van Nuys Property at $654,201.

In their schedule A/B, Debtors also listed interests in Custom Wood Creations, Inc. ("Custom Wood") and Millennium Beauty Salon ("Millennium"). With respect to Custom Wood, Debtors indicated that the business has assets worth $20,000 and liabilities amounting to $40,000. Debtors valued Custom Wood at $0. Debtors also indicated that Mr. Kutyan has a 50% interest in Custom Wood, Ms. Kutyan has a 25% interest and Debtors' daughter has a 25% interest. As to Millennium, Debtors indicated that the salon has assets worth $4,000 and liabilities totaling $2,500. Debtors valued Millennium at $750. Debtors also stated that they each have a 25% interest in Millennium, along with Ms. Kutyan's sister and brother-in-law, both of whom also hold a 25% interest each.

In total, Debtors listed $42,744.52 in personal property. In their schedule C, Debtors claimed a $100,000 exemption in the Van Nuys Property. Debtors otherwise claimed as exempt $9,694.52 of the $42,744.52 listed in personal property. Moreover, in their schedule D, Debtors listed a $11,616 secured claim in favor of Ford Motor Credit, secured by Debtors' 2014 Ford Transit Connect. Debtors also listed a secured claim in favor of JP Morgan Chase Bank, N.A. ("Chase") in the amount of $399,626.01. Debtors indicated that Chase's claim is contingent, unliquidated and disputed.

In their schedule E/F, Debtors listed a $600,000 claim in favor of Pogos Araik Melkonian. Debtors indicated that Mr. Melkonian's claim is contingent, unliquidated and disputed, and noted that the claim stems from a lawsuit currently pending in state court. Debtors did not list any other unsecured claims in their schedule E/F.

In their schedule I, Debtors indicated that they receive $1,250.86 and $2,337.05 per month, respectively, as compensation for their work as in-home care providers. Debtors also indicated that Mr. Kutyan receives $4,371.83 per month operating his business, and Ms. Kutyan receives $548.72 per month operating her business. In their schedule J, Debtors listed $4,712.57 in expenses, resulting in a monthly net income of $3,795.89.

In their Statement of Financial Affairs ("SOFA"), Debtors listed a total of $306,940.24 in income from January 2017 until the petition date. Specifically, Debtors noted that Mr. Kutyan made $181,731.52 in the first eight months of 2017 and Ms. Kutyan made $98,904.72 in the first eight months of 2017, with the remaining income derived from Debtors' caregiving services. Debtors also listed a total of $612,928.56 in income from 2016, with $392,456 generated from Mr. Kutyan's business and $177,177 generated from Ms. Kutyan's business.

On December 20, 2017, Mr. Melkonian filed claim no. 5-1, asserting an unsecured claim in the amount of $836,699.67. Mr. Melkonian attached a state court complaint to his proof of claim (the "State Court Complaint"). In the State Court Complaint, Mr. Melkonian asserted five causes of action: (A) fraud; (B) intentional misrepresentations; (C) negligent misrepresentations; (D) fraudulent promises; and (E) breach of promissory note.

Excluding the monthly operating report ("MOR") for August 2017, which reflected income and expenses for a small part of the month, Debtors' MORs from September 2017 through April 2018 (the most recent MOR on file) reflect the following income and expenses:

On November 27, 2017, Mr. Melkonian filed a complaint against Debtors (the "Complaint"), initiating adversary proceeding 1:17-ap-01098-VK. Through the Complaint (and a subsequent amended complaint), Mr. Melkonian requested nondischargeability of his claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2), (a)(4), (a)(6) and (a)(19) and objected to Debtors' discharge pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 727(a)(4). After two motions to dismiss, the Court dismissed all of Mr. Melkonian's claims under 11 U.S.C. § 523 on the basis that the claims are time barred [Adversary Docket, docs. 17, 35].

On February 28, 2018, Debtors filed a proposed chapter 11 plan (the "Plan") [doc. 46] and related disclosure statement (the "Disclosure Statement") [doc. 45]. In the Disclosure Statement, Debtors indicated that they anticipate $10,000 in available cash on the effective date of the Plan. Debtors also indicated that, based on their monthly income of $8,896.85 and monthly expenses of $5,537.48, they anticipate having $1,000 in disposable income available to creditors for the five year duration of the Plan. Specifically, in their attached Declaration of Current/Post-Petition Income and Expenses, Debtors indicated that they receive a combined $3,587.91 from their work providing in-home care services.

Debtors also indicated that Mr. Kutyan's business generates $5,158.46 per month, whereas Ms. Kutyan's business generates $150.48 per month. Debtors listed expenses totaling $5,537.48, including health insurance, car insurance and car installment payments. In their liquidation analysis, Debtors calculated that, based on $165,958.99 in liquid assets, a chapter 7 case would yield 3.25% recovery to unsecured creditors, as compared to the 6.98% recovery proposed by the Plan. The Plan and the Disclosure Statement also account for additional unsecured creditors who filed claims against the estate.

On May 2, 2018, Mr. Melkonian filed a motion to convert this case to one under chapter 7, or, alternatively, to appoint a chapter 11 trustee (the "Motion") [doc. 56]. On May 24, 2018, Debtors filed amended schedules A/B, I and J [doc. 61]. The amended schedules provided additional information about the assets of Custom Wood and Millennium, and Debtors attached balance sheets for both businesses. On the same day, Debtors filed an opposition to the Motion (the "Opposition") [doc. 62] as well as a declaration from a representative of Chase regarding the parties' negotiations involving the treatment of Chase's claim in the Plan (the "Chase Declaration") [doc. 63]. On May 30, 2018, Mr. Melkonian filed a reply to the Opposition (the "Reply") [doc. 65].

II. ANALYSIS

A. Standing

Debtors assert that Mr. Melkonian does not have standing on account of this Court's rulings on Debtors' motions to dismiss. Debtors are correct that the Court held that Mr. Melkonian's fraud claims are time barred under California law. However, the Court has not made any findings regarding Mr. Melkonian's breach of contract claim, and Debtors have not objected to Mr. Melkonian's claim.

The cases cited by Debtors do not compel a different result. In all of those cases, there existed some uncertainty as to the applicable statute of limitations, such that courts had to engage in a protracted analysis to determine the most applicable statute to the facts in those cases. For instance, in Barton v. New United Motor Mfg., Inc., 43 Cal.App.4th 1200, 1206 (Ct. App. 1996), the court had to determine which statute of limitations applied to a wrongful termination lawsuit because, at the time, none of California's statutes of limitation explicitly discussed the appropriate timing for wrongful termination actions. In Leeper v. Beltrami, 53 Cal.2d 195, 207 (1959), the court addressed which statute of limitations applied to a duress action where no statute explicitly covered time limitations on duress.

In Rawat v. Newton, 2010 WL 619291, at *5 (Ct. App. Feb. 23, 2010) (unpublished disposition), the court had already dismissed the plaintiffs' breach of contract action, such that the bulk of the remaining allegations involved fraud. In Hensler v. City of Glendale, 8 Cal.4th 1, 22-26 (1994), the court held that the general statutes of limitations found in California Code of Civil Procedure ("CCP") §§ 318 and 319, which apply to actions not otherwise covered by statute, did not apply where the timing of the action was covered explicitly by other statutes. In Day v. Greene, 59 Cal.2d 404, 411 (1963), the court held that the remedy sought by the plaintiff was for the imposition of a constructive trust based on actual fraud, and that the proper statute of limitations was thus the statute applicable to fraud actions.

None of these cases stand for the proposition that the statute of limitations applicable to fraud claims also applies to a breach of contract claim where a complaint alleges both fraud and breach of contract. Rather, these authorities merely provide analyses to guide litigants where the California legislature has not explicitly provided a statute of limitations regarding a specific cause of action. That is not the case here. CCP § 337 explicitly sets forth a four year time limitation for "[a]n action upon any contract, obligation or liability founded upon an instrument in writing...." Unlike the cases above, Mr. Melkonian's breach of contract cause of action does not present any ambiguity regarding the applicable statute of limitations. Moreover, the state court complaint attached to Mr. Melkonian's claim clearly separates Mr. Melkonian's fraud claims from his breach of contract claim. The allegations related to Mr. Melkonian's breach of contract claim against Mr. Kutyan are distinct from the allegations against all of the state court defendants involving fraud. Consequently, this also is not a case where Mr. Melkonian is asserting a fraud claim disguised as a breach of contract claim.

As a result, this Court's ruling regarding the time bar applicable to Mr. Melkonian's fraud claims does not apply to Mr. Melkonian's breach of contract claim. This Court has not adjudicated Mr. Melkonian's breach of contract claim, and Debtors have not otherwise objected to Mr. Melkonian's claim. As such, Mr. Melkonian, as a creditor asserting a claim against Debtors' estate, has standing to request conversion of Debtors' bankruptcy case.

B. Conversion to Chapter 7

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1112(b)—

(1) Except as provided in paragraph (2) and subsection (c), on request of a party in interest, and after notice and a hearing, the court shall convert a case under this chapter to a case under chapter 7 or dismiss a case under this chapter, whichever is in the best interests of creditors and the estate, for cause unless the court determines that the appointment under section 1104(a) of a trustee or an examiner is in the best interests of creditors and the estate.

(4) For purposes of this subsection, the term 'cause' includes...

(A) substantial or continuing loss to or diminution of the estate and the absence of a reasonable likelihood of rehabilitation;

(B) gross mismanagement of the estate;

(M) inability to effectuate substantial consummation of a confirmed plan....

Motions to dismiss or convert under 11 U.S.C. § 1112(b) require a two-step analysis. "First, it must be determined that there is 'cause' to act. Second, once a determination of 'cause' has been made, a choice must be made between conversion and dismissal based on the 'best interests of the creditors and the estate.'" In re Nelson, 343 B.R. 671, 675 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2006). The bankruptcy court has discretion to dismiss or convert a chapter 11 case pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §1112(b). See In re Consolidated

Pioneer Mortg. Entities, 264 F.3d 803, 806 (9th Cir. 2001) ("The decision to convert the [chapter 11] case to Chapter 7 is within the bankruptcy court's discretion."); and In re Silberkraus, 253 B.R. 890, 903 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2000) ("A bankruptcy court has broad discretion to convert or dismiss a chapter 11 petition for 'cause' under 11 U.S.C. § 1112(b).").

Mr. Melkonian has not provided a sound basis for conversation at this time. Mr. Melkonian bases his request for conversion on three grounds: (A) substantial or continuing loss or diminution of the estate and the absence of a reasonable likelihood of rehabilitation; (B) gross mismanagement of the estate; and (C) inability to effectuate substantial consummation of a confirmed plan.

As support for his argument that Debtors are causing substantial or continuing loss to the estate, Mr. Melkonian asserts that Debtors cannot propose a feasible chapter 11 plan based on Debtors' MORs. However, this argument is repetitive of Mr. Melkonian's contention that Debtors are unable to effectuate substantial consummation of a confirmed plan. Other than Mr. Melkonian's scrutiny of the accuracy of the MORs, Mr. Melkonian does not explain how Debtors are causing any loss or diminution of the estate. For example, there is no evidence that Debtors are inappropriately using or encumbering estate assets. Further, the MORs on which Mr. Melkonian relies do not reflect a steady decrease in monthly income. On the contrary, Debtors' monthly income appears to fluctuate from month to month. Thus, Mr. Melkonian has not demonstrated cause pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1112(b)(4)(A).

Mr. Melkonian also has not demonstrated that Debtors have grossly mismanaged the estate. Mr. Melkonian contends that Debtors are undervaluing their businesses and underreporting their income. However, Mr. Melkonian has not provided compelling or admissible evidence regarding the valuation of Debtors' businesses. Mr. Melkonian provides a blanket assertion that Ms. Kutyan cannot possibly make $150 per month from her business, and that she must therefore be concealing additional income from creditors. Mr. Melkonian also argues that a visit by Mr. Melkonian's counsel's paralegal demonstrates that Ms. Kutyan must be making additional income. Observing the amount of visitors walking into Ms. Kutyan's business over the span of two days does not establish how much Ms. Kutyan is receiving in income from Millennium. Although the MORs reflect that Debtors receive less per month than anticipated, Mr. Melkonian has not shown that this discrepancy is attributable to mismanagement as opposed to regular fluctuations with Debtors' businesses. Mr. Melkonian has not provided evidence contradicting Ms. Kutyan's stated income in Debtors' schedules or the Declaration of Current/Post-Petition Income and Expenses attached to the Disclosure Statement.

Moreover, Mr. Melkonian's assertion that Debtors' dispute with Chase constitutes bad faith is undermined by Debtors' negotiations with Chase aimed at resolving the treatment of Chase's claim through the Plan. See Chase Declaration, ¶¶ 4-5. To the extent Mr. Melkonian is arguing that Debtors are artificially bloating their expenses each month, Debtors' MORs are supported by bank statements evidencing each transaction.

Mr. Melkonian relies heavily on Debtors inaccurate MOR summary attached to the Disclosure Statement. Debtors' counsel has already provided that she mistakenly included numbers related to a different case in the MOR summary. This mistake by Debtors' counsel alone does not qualify as gross mismanagement of an estate. As such, Mr. Melkonian also has not shown cause under 11 U.S.C. § 1112(b)(4)(B).

Lastly, Mr. Melkonian asserts that Debtors are unable to effectuate substantial consummation of a confirmed plan. Mr. Melkonian asserts that Debtors' liquidation analysis is flawed because Debtors dispute Chase's claim but take the claim into account for purposes of the liquidation analysis. At this time, the parties appear to be negotiating treatment of Chase's claim, and a determination regarding whether and to what extent Chase's claim should be included in a liquidation analysis is premature. Assuming the parties agree that Chase has a sizeable lien against the Van Nuys Property, it is likely that unsecured creditors will receive more through a chapter 11 plan than a chapter 7 liquidation.

Mr. Melkonian is correct that Debtors' MORs reflect less in monthly income than the monthly income anticipated by the Plan. The Court has set a hearing on the adequacy of the Disclosure Statement for June 14, 2018. The arguments regarding feasibility of the Plan, and whether information in the Disclosure Statement is consistent with Debtors' MORs, are more appropriately addressed in connection with a plan confirmation hearing and/or the hearing on the adequacy of the Disclosure Statement.

Mr. Melkonian has filed an objection to the Disclosure Statement on many of the same grounds raised in the Motion. Given the information in their MORs, Debtors may have trouble demonstrating that the Plan is feasible. However, especially in light of the fact that Debtors still are negotiating the treatment of Chase's claim, that determination is premature. If Debtors are unable to confirm a feasible plan, Mr. Melkonian may argue for conversion in the future.

Based on the foregoing, Mr. Melkonian has not shown cause to convert this case to chapter 7. For the same reasons, there is no cause to appoint a chapter 11 trustee at this time.

Contrary to Local Bankruptcy Rule ("LBR") 2004-1(a), Schuller & Schuller ("creditor") did not meet and confer before it filed its Application for The 2004 Examination and the Production of Documents Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rules 2004 of Deborah Lois Adri (the "2004 Application") [doc. 68]. Creditor argues that its email dated March 13, 2018 constituted its "meet and confer" effort. (Doc. 75, attachment.) However, LBR 2004-1(a) requires that any preliminary meet and confer must be made in person or telephonically. Creditor's email is not sufficient to constitute a meet and confer under LBR 2004-1(a).

Notwithstanding creditor's insufficient meet and confer efforts, the debtor is willing to produce documents requested in the 2004 Application, subject to the Court's ruling on the debtor's Emergency Motion For Protective Order Of Application For The Rule 2004 Examination And The Production Of Documents Pursuant To Bankruptcy Rule 2004 Of Deborah Lois Adri (the "Motion") [doc. 76]. Creditor argues that the Motion should be denied because the debtor did not meet and confer before filing the Motion. Pursuant to LBR 7026-1(c)(2), an in person or telephonic meet and confer is required before the filing of any discovery-related motion. On May 10, 2018, the debtor emailed creditor's counsel requesting a meet and confer on the day the Motion was filed. However, creditor's counsel did not respond before the Motion was filed. (Doc. 79, ¶ 3.)

Pursuant to LBR 7026-1(c)(3), in connection with a discovery motion, the parties must file a written stipulation identifying any disputed discovery issues, with contentions and points and authorities of each party as to each issue. Although the debtor has filed a chart regarding her objections to creditor's document requests [doc 102, Exh. A], this document does not comply with the requirements of LBR 7026-1(c)

#65.00 Debtor's objection to claim by Arvest/Central Mortgage Company and notice of response deadline

Docket 77

Tentative Ruling:

On March 23, 2016, Central Mortgage Company ("CMC") filed proof of a secured claim in the amount of $348,491.44. CMC noted that the debtor owed $30,308.93 in prepetition arrears. On February 19, 2016, the debtor filed an amended chapter 13 plan (the "Plan") [doc. 21]. In the Plan, the debtor proposed paying CMC $542.76 per month for the duration of the Plan to cure the arrearage of $27,138.14. On March 17, 2016, the Court entered an order confirming the Plan [doc. 44].

On February 6, 2017, the debtor and CMC entered into a stipulation for adequate protection (the "Stipulation") [doc. 61]. Through the Stipulation, the debtor agreed to cure her postpetition default of $8,010.21. On February 7, 2017, the Court entered an order approving the Stipulation [doc. 63].

On March 13, 2018, the chapter 3 trustee filed the most recent account report [doc. 76], stating that the chapter 13 trustee has paid $14,962.13 to CMC in accordance with the Plan, with a balance of $15,346.80 left to be paid through the Plan.

On April 10, 2018, the debtor filed an objection to CMC's claim (the "Objection") [doc. 77]. In the Objection, the debtor states that CMC has not withdrawn its proof of claim despite the fact that the debtor is "current" on the loan. The debtor also states that she is paying monthly impound fees for taxes and insurance payments, but that CMC has not timely paid the debtor's insurance and tax payments. In its response, CMC acknowledges that the debtor is "postpetition current," but does not address the debtor's comments regarding the impound fees.

The debtor did not support the Objection with a declaration. Even if the debtor included a proper declaration, it is unclear to which portion of CMC's claim the debtor objects. To the extent the debtor asserts she is current on her postpetition mortgage payments to CMC, CMC acknowledges as much in its response. If the debtor is asserting that she has cured the prepetition arrearages owed to CMC, the chapter 13 trustee's accounting report reflects that there is a $15,346.80 balance before the arrearages are cured through the Plan.

In its response, CMC does not address the debtor's assertion that CMC has not timely paid the debtor's insurance and tax payments, thereby resulting in penalties assessed against the debtor. CMC should be prepared to address the impound fees and their application at the hearing on the Objection.

I. BACKGROUND

On October 27, 2005, Freddy Benjamin Castro ("Debtor") and Imelda E. Castro executed a promissory note (the "Note"), made payable to Right Away Mortgage, Inc. ("Right Away"), in the principal amount of $103,800. Declaration of Gina D'Elia (the "D'Elia Declaration") [doc. 54], ¶ 5, Exhibit 1. The Note was secured by a second position deed of trust (the "DOT") recorded against the real property located at 14206 Pierce Street, Pacoima, California 91331 (the "Pacoima Property"). Id., ¶ 5, Exhibit 2. The DOT indicated that Debtor and Ms. Castro held the Pacoima Property as joint tenants. Id. Subsequently, Right Away assigned the Note and DOT to Deutsche Bank National Trust Company ("Deutsche Bank").

On September 12, 2017, Debtor filed a chapter 13 petition. In his schedule A/B, Debtor listed the Pacoima Property and valued the Pacoima Property at $370,000. In his schedule D, Debtor listed a first priority deed of trust in favor of Wells Fargo Home Mortgage in the amount of $416,000. Debtor also listed the second priority DOT in favor of Deutsche Bank in the amount of $103,800.

Concurrently with his schedules, Debtor filed a proposed chapter 13 plan (the "Plan") [doc. 2]. In the Plan, Debtor indicated that he intended to avoid Deutsche Bank's lien. Plan, Section V.F. On October 26, 2016, Deutsche Bank filed an objection the Plan [doc. 13], asserting that Debtor could not avoid Deutsche Bank's lien pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1322(b)(2). Deutsche Bank also objected to Debtor's valuation of the Pacoima Property.

On November 2, 2016, Deutsche Bank filed claim no. 2-1, asserting a secured claim in the amount of $151,042.92. On December 12, 2016, Debtor filed a motion to avoid Deutsche Bank's lien pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 506(d) (the "Motion to Avoid Lien") [doc. 19], valuing the Pacoima Property at $360,000. Deutsche Bank opposed the Motion to Avoid Lien [doc. 22], again asserting that applicable law prohibited avoidance of Deutsche Bank's lien and disputing Debtor's valuation of the Pacoima Property. This time, Deutsche Bank also asserted that Debtor could not release his non-debtor spouse from liability.

On January 10, 2017, the Court held an initial hearing on the Motion to Avoid Lien. At that time, the Court continued the hearing on the Motion to Avoid Lien and set deadlines for Deutsche Bank to file a competing appraisal. At the initial hearing, Martin Weingarten appeared on behalf of Deutsche Bank. According to counsel for Deutsche Bank, Mr. Weingarten did not inform Deutsche Bank about the impending deadlines. Declaration of Nichole Glowin ("Glowin Declaration") [doc. 55], ¶ 11. Nevertheless, the appearance report reflected that the hearing was "[c]ontinued per tentative." Id., ¶ 11, Exhibit 10.

On March 13, 2017, Deutsche Bank and Debtor entered into a stipulation to further continue the hearing on the Motion to Avoid Lien (the "Stipulation to Continue") [doc. 26]. On March 14, 2017, the Court entered an order approving the Stipulation to Continue [doc. 29].

On April 4, 2018, the Court held a continued hearing on the Motion to Avoid Lien. Mr. Weingarten again appeared on behalf of Deutsche Bank. Prior to the continued hearing, Deutsche Bank did not timely file an appraisal, and did not otherwise request a continuance of the hearing. As a result, in light of Deutsche Bank's failure to file an appraisal timely, the Court adopted the Debtor's valuation.

On June 21, 2017, the Court entered an order granting the Motion to Avoid Lien (the "Order Avoiding Lien") [doc. 40]. On June 13, 2017, the Court held a confirmation hearing. Deutsche Bank appeared at the confirmation hearing. On June 29, 2017, the Court entered an order confirming the Plan (the "Confirmation Order") [doc. 42].

On March 28, 2018, Deutsche Bank filed a motion requesting relief from the Order to Avoid Lien and the Confirmation Order (the "Motion") [doc. 52], on the basis that

Mr. Weingarten did not inform Deutsche Bank about the deadline to file an appraisal and on the alternative basis that the Court made a mistake of law by avoiding a lien on a property in which Ms. Castro, a non-filing co-obligor on the Note and the DOT, also holds an interest. On May 27, 2018, Debtor filed an opposition to the Motion (the "Opposition") [doc. 59]. On June 7, 2018, Deutsche Bank filed an untimely reply to the Opposition (the "Reply") [doc. 60].

II. ANALYSIS

Pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure ("Rule") 60(b)—

On motion and just terms, the court may relieve a party or its legal representative from a final judgment, order, or proceeding for the following reasons:

- (1) mistake, inadvertence, surprise, or excusable neglect;
- ...
- (6) any other reason that justifies relief.

A. Rule 60(b)(1)

i. Excusable Neglect

Rule 60(b)(1) is not intended to remedy "mistakes [that] arose from attorney misconduct." Latshaw v. Trainer Wortham & Co., 452 F.3d 1097, 1100-01 (9th Cir. 2006). "Neither ignorance nor carelessness on the part of the litigant or his attorney provide grounds for relief under Rule 60(b)(1)." Engelson v. Burlington Northern R. Co., 972 F.2d 1038, 1043 (9th Cir. 1992); see also Casey v. Albertson's, Inc., 362 F.3d 1254, 1260 (9th Cir. 2004) ("As a general rule, parties are bound by the actions of their lawyers, and alleged attorney malpractice does not usually provide a basis to set aside a judgment pursuant to Rule 60(b)(1).").

Because Congress has provided no other guideposts for determining what sorts of neglect will be considered "excusable," we conclude that the determination is at bottom an equitable one, taking account of all relevant circumstances surrounding the party's omission. These include . . . [1] the danger of prejudice to the [opposing party], [2] the length of the delay and its potential impact on judicial proceedings, [3] the reason for the delay, including whether it was within the reasonable control of the movant, and [4] whether the movant acted in good faith.

Although Pioneer dealt with excusable neglect in the context of Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 9006(b), the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals in Briones v. Riviera Hotel & Casino, 116 F.3d 379, 382-83 (9th Cir. 1997), held that the Pioneer test also applies to determination of excusable neglect under Rule 60(b) ("We now hold that the equitable test set out in Pioneer applies to Rule 60(b) as well."). Significantly, although the trial court is granted discretion, the Court of Appeals has made clear that it is an abuse of that discretion to deny a Rule 60(b)(1) motion without considering (at a minimum) all four of the Pioneer factors. See Lemoge v. United States, 587 F.3d 1188, 1192 (9th Cir. 2009) (overturning denial of Rule 60(b)(1) motion because the trial court did not consider one of the four factors); Bateman v. U.S. Postal Service, 231 F.3d 1220, 1224 (9th Cir. 2000) (reversing trial court's denial of Rule 60(b)(1) motion for failure to mention and consider the test in Pioneer and Briones). In Lemoge, the Court of Appeals further noted that although "prejudice to the movant is not an explicit Pioneer-Briones factor," it may be a relevant factor as one of the "'relevant circumstances' that should be considered when evaluating excusable neglect." Lemoge, 578 F.3d 1195.

Here, Deutsche Bank asserts that its conduct should be excused because Mr. Weingarten, Deutsche Bank's appearance attorney, neglected to inform Deutsche Bank about the filing deadlines set by the Court. For the reasons set forth below, Deutsche Bank has not demonstrated excusable neglect warranting vacating of the Order to Avoid Lien or the Confirmation Order.

a. Prejudice to Other Parties

Debtor will suffer prejudice if the Court vacates the Order to Avoid Lien and/or the Confirmation Order. If the Court vacates either order, Debtor will have to address how Debtor intends to treat Deutsche Bank's secured claim and will likely have to propose a modified chapter 13 plan almost a year after the Court confirmed the Plan.

Chapter 13

Vacating the Order to Avoid Lien and/or the Confirmation Order also will result in prejudice to other creditors of the estate, who may receive distributions in amounts different than the disbursements contemplated by the Plan. In addition, almost two years after the petition date, Debtor will have to spend time and resources again litigating valuation of the Pacoima Property. As such, this factor weighs against vacating either order on account of excusable neglect.

b. Length of Delay and its Potential Impact on Judicial Proceedings

Rule 60(c)(1) requires that "a motion under Rule 60(b) must be made within a reasonable time . . . and no more than a year after the entry of judgment or order." "What constitutes 'reasonable time' depends upon the facts of each case, taking into consideration the interest in finality, the reason for delay, the practical ability of the litigant to learn earlier of the grounds relied upon, and prejudice to other parties." Lemoge, 587 F.3d at 1196.

Debtor asserts that the Motion is untimely because Deutsche Bank filed the Motion over one year after the Court issued a ruling on the Motion to Avoid Lien. However, Rule 60(b) governs relief from final judgments, orders or proceedings. Here, the Court entered the Order to Avoid Lien on June 21, 2017, and the Confirmation Order on June 29, 2017. Deutsche Bank filed the Motion on March 28, 2017, less than a year after the Court's entry of the orders at issue.

Although Deutsche Bank filed the Motion within the one year deadline provided by Rule 60(b), the Court must still assess whether Deutsche Bank filed the Motion within a "reasonable" time frame. Here, Deutsche Bank appeared at the confirmation hearing on June 13, 2017, at which time Deutsche Bank opposed confirmation of the Plan and raised Deutsche Bank's objection to the avoidance of its lien. The Court informed Deutsche Bank that it would confirm the Plan and avoid Deutsche Bank's lien. Rather than file a motion as soon as practical, Deutsche Bank waited eight months. Significantly, all of the information on which Deutsche Bank relies in the Motion was available to Deutsche Bank at the time the Court adjudicated both the Motion to Avoid Lien and confirmation of the Plan.

According to Deutsche Bank, it delayed filing the Motion because Deutsche Bank and Debtor continued to engage in settlement discussions. First, Deutsche Bank could have filed a motion for reconsideration while continuing to discuss settlement with Debtor. The option to attempt settlement with Debtor was not mutually exclusive from seeking relief from the Order to Avoid Lien or the Confirmation Order. Second, according to Deutsche Bank itself, Deutsche Bank had trouble communicating with Debtor's counsel for several months before Deutsche Bank decided to file the Motion. Despite several months of failing to reach an agreement with Debtor, Deutsche Bank continued to delay filing the Motion. Consequently, Deutsche Bank did not file the Motion within a reasonable time.

c. Reason for the Delay/Delay in Reasonable Control of the Movant

Again, Deutsche Bank attributes the delay in filing the Motion to Deutsche Bank's attempt to settle with Debtor after entry of the Order to Avoid Lien and the Confirmation Order. However, Deutsche Bank could have filed the Motion while continuing to discuss settlement with Debtor. In addition, Deutsche Bank did not learn of any new evidence or law that caused Deutsche Bank to delay filing the Motion for almost one year. Because Deutsche Bank had reasonable control of the delay at all times, this factor also weighs against granting the Motion.

There is no evidence on the record demonstrating that Deutsche Bank did not act in good faith. Nevertheless, Deutsche Bank attempts to exonerate itself from responsibility with respect to missing the deadline to file its competing appraisal. Although the appearance report did not include the deadlines provided by the Court in the Court's ruling, the appearance report explicitly referred to the tentative ruling. Glowin Declaration, ¶ 11, Exhibit 10. The Court's tentative rulings are available to the public on the Court's website. Thus, Deutsche Bank could have easily accessed the deadlines set by the Court.

Even if a lack of communication between Mr. Weingarten and Deutsche Bank led to Deutsche Bank's failure to file an appraisal by the required deadline, Deutsche Bank has not provided a reasonable excuse for its delay of almost one year in bringing this Motion. As noted above, vacating the Order to Avoid Lien and/or the Confirmation Order would be extremely prejudicial to Debtor and other creditors of the estate. At the time the Court entered both orders, Deutsche Bank had all of the information and law on which it relies. Debtor and the other creditors should not bear the brunt of Deutsche Bank's mistake and highly belated response to the Order to Avoid Lien and/or the Confirmation Order. Under these facts, excusable neglect does not warrant vacating the orders at issue.

ii. Mistake of Law

The alternative basis for relief under Rule 60(b)(1) set forth by Deutsche Bank is that avoidance of Deutsche Bank's lien and confirmation of the Plan was a mistake of law. Specifically, Deutsche Bank asserts that the Court did not have the ability to release the liability of Ms. Castro, as a non-debtor, or Ms. Castro's property through either the Order to Avoid Lien or the Confirmation Order.

A chapter 13 plan may "modify the rights of holders of secured claims, other than a claim secured only by a security interest in real property that is the debtor's principal residence[.] 11 U.S.C. § 1322(b)(2). Although § 1322(b)(2) prohibits stripping of liens secured only by a debtor's principal residence, Ninth Circuit authority allows a chapter 13 debtor to strip from a primary residence any junior liens that are wholly unsecured. In re Zimmer, 313 F.3d 1220, 1225 (9th Cir. 2002) ("Without a secured claim, a creditor's rights may be modified.").

Here, because Deutsche Bank has not shown excusable neglect for the reasons set forth above, the Court will not consider Deutsche Bank's competing appraisal. Using the Court's original valuation of $360,000, Deutsche Bank's lien would normally be subject to avoidance under Zimmer. The issue is whether the Court had the authority to strip Deutsche Bank's junior lien at all, despite Deutsche Bank's status as a wholly unsecured lienholder, if Debtor and Ms. Castro, a non-filing co-obligor, held the Pacoima Property as joint tenants.

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 524(e), "[e]xcept as provided in subsection (a)(3) of this section, discharge of a debt of the debtor does not affect the liability of any other entity on, or the property of any other entity for, such debt." In other words, the Court must decide if the Pacoima Property, or any part of it, constitutes "property of any other entity," such that this Court would not have authority to afford relief as to that portion of the Pacoima Property.

Here, the DOT notes that Debtor and Ms. Castro hold the property as joint tenants. D'Elia Declaration, ¶ 5, Exhibit 2. In a joint tenancy, joint tenants divide a property in equal shares, with a joint tenant's share considered his or her own separate property. Cal. Civ. Code § 683(a); see also In re Obedian, 546 B.R. 409, 412 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2016). Moreover, California Evidence Code § 662 creates a record title presumption whereby the nature of ownership set forth in title to the property controls and may be rebutted only by clear and convincing evidence. The analysis is different, however, if the joint tenants are married.

On the other hand, California Family Code § 760, provides that, "except as otherwise provided by statute, all property, real or personal, wherever situated, acquired by a married person during the marriage while domiciled in this state is community property." In 2014, the California Supreme Court issued a decision in In re Valli, 58 Cal.4th 1396 (2014), wherein the court addressed which statutory presumption prevailed in the context of a marital dissolution. In Valli, the husband had designated his wife as the "sole owner and beneficiary" on a life insurance policy, which was purchased with community property funds. Valli, 58 Cal.4th at 1400. Upon dissolution, the husband argued that the policy was community property despite the title of the policy being in the wife's name. Id. The California Supreme Court agreed, holding that the community property presumption trumps the record title presumption found in California Evidence Code § 662 in a dissolution proceeding. Id., at 1406.

After Valli, there was some ambiguity regarding whether the community property presumption serves to override the record title presumption in a context other than a marital dissolution. At least two bankruptcy courts found that the holding in Valli also applied in the bankruptcy context. Obedian, 546 B.R. 409; In re Collins, 2016 WL 4570413 (Bankr. S.D. Cal. Aug. 29, 2016). Recently, the Bankruptcy Appellate Panel of the Ninth Circuit (the "BAP") issued a decision laying the matter to rest. In re Brace, 566 B.R. 13 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2017).

In Brace, the debtor and his non-debtor spouse acquired a residence and additional real properties in California as "husband and wife as joint tenants." Id., at 16. The debtor and his spouse then placed the properties in an irrevocable trust, with the debtor's spouse designated as the beneficiary of the trust and the debtor acting as the sole trustee of the trust. Id. Subsequently, the debtor filed a chapter 7 petition. Id. The chapter 7 trustee then filed a fraudulent transfer action, requesting a declaration that the properties were property of the estate and seeking to avoid the transfer of the properties to the trust. Id. The bankruptcy court ruled in favor of the chapter 7 trustee, holding that the properties were property of the estate. Id.

The debtor and his non-filing spouse then asked the bankruptcy court to amend the judgment to provide that the properties were owned one half by the debtor and one half by his non-filing spouse, and that only the debtor's interests in the properties were property of the estate. Id., at 17. The bankruptcy court disagreed, holding that despite the record title showing that the debtor and his non-filing spouse took the properties as joint tenants, the properties were acquired with community assets and presumptively constituted community property. Id. After a lengthy and thorough analysis, the BAP affirmed the bankruptcy court's holding. Id., at 18-28.

The BAP first assessed the holdings of Valli and prior Ninth Circuit case law regarding the record title presumption. Id., at 18-21. In so doing, the BAP found, like Obedian and Collins, that the California Supreme Court's holding in Valli superseded the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals' prior decision in In re Summers, 332 F.3d 1240 (9th Cir. 2003), where the Court of Appeals had held that the community property presumption is rebutted when a married couple acquires property as joint tenants. Id., at 20-23.

Importantly, the BAP held that the community property presumption applies despite the fact that the debtor and his non-filing spouse were not parties to a dissolution proceeding and did not attempt to transmute the properties like the parties in Valli. Id., at 23-25. Given the facts and extensive policy in Brace, the BAP held that "[a]lthough there may be instances where the record title presumption could apply to marital property..., as a general rule, California's community property presumption applies in disputes in bankruptcy involving the characterization of marital property." Id., at 19. The BAP reached this holding: (A) despite the fact that the debtor and his non-filing spouse acquired the properties as joint tenants; (B) despite the fact that the debtor and his non-filing spouse were not parties to a dissolution proceeding; and (C) despite the fact that transmutation was not at issue in Brace, unlike in Valli.

In light of Brace, the community property presumption applies despite the fact that the title to the Pacoima Property may reflect that the parties hold the Pacoima Property as joint tenants. The record does not reflect any evidence that would serve to rebut the community property presumption. Under Brace, the mere mention of Debtor and Ms. Castro as joint tenants in the deed of trust is insufficient to rebut the presumption. In other words, the Court would need additional, strong evidence confirming that Debtor and Ms. Castro intended to take the Pacoima Property as joint tenants. Absent such evidence, the Pacoima Property is properly characterized as community property.

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 541(a)(2), the commencement of a bankruptcy case creates an estate comprised, in part, of "[a]ll interests of the debtor and the debtor's spouse in community property as of the commencement of the case that is... under the sole, equal, or joint management and control of the debtor; or... liable for an allowable claim against the debtor, or for both an allowable claim against the debtor and an allowable claim against the debtor's spouse, to the extent that such interest is so liable." 11 U.S.C. § 541(a)(2)(A), (B).

Because the presumption is that the Pacoima Property is community property, upon commencement of Debtor's case, the Pacoima Property became property of the estate in full. As a result, the provision of 11 U.S.C. § 524(e) setting forth that the property of another entity is not relieved of liability is not applicable here.

In fact, the BAP has explicitly found that community property is subject to lien stripping under 11 U.S.C. § 506 even if only one spouse has filed for bankruptcy protection. In re Maynard, 264 B.R. 209 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2001). In Maynard, the debtor filed a chapter 13 petition and subsequently filed a motion to avoid a lien pursuant to 11 U.S.C § 506(d). Id., at 211. The bankruptcy ruled in favor of the debtor and avoided the lienholder's lien. Id., at 213.

On appeal, the lienholder argued that the bankruptcy court erred in avoiding its lien because the debtor's non-debtor spouse also held an interest in the subject property. Id., at 214. The BAP disagreed. Id. The BAP found that, in accordance with 11 U.S.C. § 541(a)(2), the community property became property of the estate and, as a result, "the entire lien was subject to valuation and avoidance under § 506." Id.

Pursuant to Brace and Maynard, the Court had the authority to avoid Deutsche Bank's lien in full. Because Deutsche Bank has not demonstrated excusable neglect, supra, Debtor's appraisal stands as the only evidence of value of the Pacoima Property. That appraisal reflected the value of the Pacoima Property as $360,000. Using that valuation, Deutsche Bank's lien was entirely unsecured, and the Court appropriately avoided Deutsche Bank's lien in accordance with the authorities above. Consequently, Deutsche Bank has not shown that the Court made a mistake of law warranting reconsideration of either the Order to Avoid Lien or the Confirmation Order.

B. Rule 60(b)(6)

As with Rule 60(b)(1), a request under Rule 60(b)(6) "must be made within a reasonable time." Rule 60(c)(1). For the same reasons set forth above, Deutsche Bank did not file its request for relief within a reasonable time.

Rule 60(b)(6) is the "catch-all provision" of Rule 60(b) "that is read as being exclusive of the other grounds for relief listed in Rule 60." Cnty. Dental Servs. v. Tani, 282 F.3d 1164, 1168 n.8 (9th Cir. 2002). "In order to obtain such relief from a judgment, however, extraordinary circumstances must exist." In re Estrada, 568 B.R. 533, 541 (Bankr C.D. Cal. 2017) (citing U.S. v. Sparks, 685 F.2d 1128, 1130 (9th Cir. 1982)). "The burden is on the moving party to bring himself within the purviews of Rule 60(b)(6)." In re Hammer, 112 B.R. 341, 345 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1990).

First, Deutsche Bank does not provide a different basis for relief under the catch-all provision of Rule 60(b)(6). Deutsche Bank mostly relies on the same grounds as its request for relief under Rule 60(b)(1). Moreover, Deutsche Bank has not shown the type of "extraordinary circumstances" that merit relief under Rule 60(b)(6). As set forth above, the Court did not make a mistake of law that deprived Deutsche Bank of its rights. Rather, Deutsche Bank did not timely file an appraisal, and then waited nearly a year to file the Motion. Any injustice suffered by Deutsche Bank is a result of Deutsche Bank's own delay. There being no other facts showing the type of manifest injustice required for purposes of Rule 60(b)(6), the Court also will not vacate the Order to Avoid Lien or Confirmation Order under this subsection.

III. CONCLUSION

The Court will deny the Motion.

Debtor must submit an order within seven (7) days.

Here, the debtors have challenged the standing of Quantum3 Group LLC ("Quantum") to file the claims on behalf of MOMA Funding LLC ("MOMA"). Although Quantum filed amended proofs of claim on May 25, 2018, the amended proofs of claim do not attach sufficient documentation to show that Quantum is an authorized agent for MOMA.

Movant must submit the order within seven (7) days.

Note: No response has been filed. Accordingly, no court appearance by movant is required. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the Court will determine whether further hearing is required and movant will be so notified.

15425 SHERMAN WAY HOMEOWNERS ASSOCIATION
VS
DEBTOR

Docket 44

Tentative Ruling:

As an initial matter, the Court will not make a finding that the debtor filed this case in bad faith. On November 10, 2017, the debtor filed a motion to continue the automatic stay (the "Motion to Continue Stay") [doc. 13]. Notice of the Motion to Continue Stay was served on movant. Movant did not oppose the Motion to Continue Stay. On December 7, 2017, the Court entered an order granting the Motion to Continue Stay, on the grounds that the debtor's case was filed in good faith [doc. 19]. Such a finding is now the law of the case. "Under the [law of the case] doctrine, a court is generally precluded from reconsidering an issue previously decided by the same court, or a higher court in the identical case." Milgard Tempering, Inc. v. Selas Corp. of Am., 902 F.2d 703, 715 (9th Cir. 1990).

The debtor states that he will pay $2,185.12 to movant, to cure his post-petition deficiency owing to movant. Unless he does so, there is cause for relief from the automatic stay. In addition, the Court questions the debtor's ability to stay current on his chapter 13 plan payments and his post-petition deed of trust payments to Bank of America, N.A. ("Bank of America"), with respect to the debtor's residence located at 15425 Sherman Way #354, Van Nuys, CA 91406.

In his schedules, the debtor represents that he has monthly income of $5,200 and monthly expenses, as set forth in Schedule J of $3,661.59, allegedly leaving $1,538.41 in net monthly income. The debtor's expenses include payments of $1,171.59 per month to Bank of America and $305 per month to movant. (See doc. 1, pp. 33–37.) The debtor's confirmed chapter 13 plan provides for a monthly plan payment in the amount of $1,471.77 for month one, $0 for months two through four, and $1,550.61 for months five through 60. (See doc. 22 at p. 2.)

Despite the lack of plan payments to be made from months two through four, debtor has not remained current on his postpetition payments to Bank of America or to movant. On May 17, 2018, Bank of America filed a motion for relief from the automatic stay, alleging that the debtor had not made post-petition payments due for January 2018 forward. (See doc. 42, at p. 9.) On June 8, 2018, the debtor and Bank of America filed a stipulation for adequate protection (the "Stipulation") [doc. 53]. Pursuant to the Stipulation, the debtor agreed to cure his delinquency to Bank of America by making monthly payments of $593.43 from May 15, 2018 to June 15, 2018, in addition to making his regular monthly deed of trust payment of $1,204.79. (See id., at p. 2.)

Given the debtor's defaults on his postpetition obligations to Bank of America and to movant, it appears that the debtor cannot successfully complete his chapter 13 plan.

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

For the reasons set forth below, the Court will enter judgment under 11 U.S.C. § 523 (a)(2)(A) in favor of Darin Davis (“Defendant”).

I. BACKGROUND

A. *The Yolanda Project

Defendant was a developer of small real estate projects. (Declaration of Darin Davis (“Davis Decl.”) [doc. 189], ¶ 2.) [FN1]. From January 20, 1989 to January 31, 2015, Defendant held a personal California General Builder Contractor’s license. (Id., ¶ 3.) For many construction projects, Defendant would form a limited liability company (“LLC”) with other investors to coordinate the project. After the project was completed and sold, the LLC would distribute money to its members and Defendant would dissolve the LLC. Defendant testified that he used the LLCs for tax purposes and to insulate himself and other investors from liability.

In 1998, Defendant and Stephen Bock formed D&S Development, LLC (“D&S Development”) for the purpose of developing small real estate projects. (Id., ¶ 7.) In 2001, D&S Development constructed homes in Reseda on a project called the Yolanda Project. (Id., ¶ 8.) The Yolanda Project was the first time Defendant built more than four homes in a single project. (Id.) The Yolanda Project was owned by Yolanda, LLC, which in turn was owned by D&S Development.

B. *The Whitman Project

On August 30, 2002, Defendant and Mr. Bock also formed T.O. IX, LLC (“T.O.”).

Chapter 7

(Id., ¶ 2.) Defendant and Mr. Bock created T.O. to develop nine single family residences at Whitman Court, in Thousand Oaks, California (the “Whitman Project”). (Id.) T.O. did not have a California general contractor’s license. (Id., ¶ 3.)

As a member of T.O., Defendant was responsible for “vetting and hiring the sub-contractors, applying for and obtaining all necessary permits, and ensuring that the Whitman Project was being completed according to plans and that it complied with all permits.” (Id., ¶ 4.) Defendant made the final decision on construction matters and made sure his architect and engineer obtained the necessary site and building permits. A superintendent would visit the construction sites. Defendant did not visit the sites himself.

In 2003, Defendant and an architect obtained the initial site building permits for the Whitman Project from the City of Thousand Oaks, California (the “City”). (Davis Decl., ¶ 10.) Defendant testified that his personal contractor’s license number was associated with the Whitman Project permits.

Relying on advice from legal counsel, Defendant believed it was unnecessary for D&S Development or T.O. to have a contractor’s license, because Defendant and his partners were operating as “owner/builders.” (Id., ¶ 9.) Defendant also believed that D&S Development and T.O. were exempt because Defendant personally held a California general builder contractor’s license. (Id.)

Defendant further believed that neither D&S Development nor T.O. were allowed to hold a contractor license. Under then-operative California law, LLCs could not hold contractor licenses. [FN2] Plaintiff’s expert witness, Michael Poles, agreed with Defendant that the Contractors State License Board (“CSLB”) was not authorized to issue contractor licenses to LLCs during the relevant time periods.

T.O. did not perform any construction work itself. Instead, subcontractors were hired to perform work. MC Consulting was employed to solicit subcontractor bids. Typically, MC Consulting would solicit three bids in each category. Defendant and a project manager, Jeannie Church, would pick the best two bids and discuss them. Defendant had the final say as to which subcontractors were hired. Ms. Church prepared the subcontractor agreements and sent them out for signatures. It was Defendant’s normal course of business to check that all subcontractors were licensed and bonded before hiring them.

C. Plaintiff's Contract with Defendant

Asphalt Professionals, Inc. ("Plaintiff") is a general engineering contractor that builds roads, streets, and sidewalks. Plaintiff's president and chief executive officer, Jeffrey Ludlow, has worked for Plaintiff since 1992. Plaintiff's vice-president of operations, Matthew Ludlow, has worked for Plaintiff since approximately 2002. Matthew Ludlow had worked for Plaintiff during high school and had run his own construction company for 11 years before returning to work for Plaintiff.

Plaintiff and T.O. entered into an 11-page construction subcontract agreement dated June 2, 2004 (the "2004 Agreement"). (Trial Exh. 3.) On July 21, 2004, Jeffrey Ludlow signed the 2004 Agreement on behalf of Plaintiff. (Id.) On July 27, 2004, Defendant signed the 2004 Agreement on behalf of T.O. (Id.)

1. T.O. as Owner/Builder

On the first page and in the signature block of the 2004 Agreement, T.O. was listed as the "Owner/Builder" of the Whitman Project. The 2004 Agreement was defined as an agreement between "Contractor" and "Subcontractor." Plaintiff was the "Subcontractor" that agreed to perform asphalt and concrete street improvement services for the Whitman Project. The term "Contractor" was not defined. Defendant testified that T.O., as owner/builder, also acted as the "Contractor" under the 2004 Agreement. The 2004 Agreement disclosed a contractor's license number for Plaintiff. However, the 2004 Agreement did not list a contractor's license number for T.O. or for Defendant. The 2004 Agreement also contained interlineations on pages two, four, six, and ten. Jeffery Ludlow testified that he initialed each of these interlineations.

At the time T.O. and Plaintiff entered into the 2004 Agreement, Defendant never personally spoke to any employee of Plaintiff about whether T.O. was licensed or unlicensed. Matthew Ludlow testified that, before Plaintiff entered into the 2004 Agreement, he had worked on "hundreds of roadway projects." He also stated that Plaintiff's insurance policy did not allow Plaintiff to contract with unlicensed entities.

Matthew Ludlow also testified that Plaintiff had received the plans and specification for the Whitman Project from Ms. Church, in her capacity as an employee of D and S Homes, Inc. (“D&S Homes”). Haaland Group, Inc. (“Haaland”), the engineering firm hired for the Whitman Project, was responsible for site plans. According to Matthew Ludlow, nothing appeared to be unusual to him until Plaintiff received the 2004 Agreement, which stated that the parties to the agreement were Plaintiff and T.O. Jeffrey Ludlow, CEO and President of Plaintiff, testified that there was no contractor’s license number listed for T.O. in the 2004 Agreement, and that he then was aware that there should have been. Matthew Ludlow and another employee of Plaintiff contacted Ms. Church to ask who T.O. was and how it was related to the Whitman Project. According to Matthew Ludlow, Ms. Church stated that “this was how the 2004 Agreement was set up,” and provided Defendant’s contractor license as the operative license for the Whitman Project.

Both Matthew and Jeffrey Ludlow stated that Plaintiff regularly checked the license status of subcontractors it hired, but that they never checked “upstream” to determine whether a general contractor hiring Plaintiff had a valid license.

Mr. Poles testified that T.O. had a duty to disclose to Plaintiff that it was unlicensed, or at least the 2004 Agreement should have disclosed Defendant’s personal license in connection with the Whitman Project. Mr. Poles also argued that T.O. should not have presented itself as the “Owner/Builder” of the Whitman Project, because part of the Whitman Project involved improvements to a public roadway, and T.O. was not the owner of the public roadway. Mr. Poles further testified that no subcontractor would ask a general contractor about its license status, because doing so would cause the subcontractor to lose the bid.

2. *The As-Built Survey

The majority of the work on the Whitman Project progressed without incident. During the construction of the Whitman Project, Plaintiff was responsible for altering a median on a public roadway. Plaintiff constructed the first 150 feet of the median curb, but stopped work when it discovered that there was a five-inch difference between the curb elevation and the street elevation. If uncorrected, such a difference in elevation would have caused water to pool on the roadway surface after it rained. A City inspector visited the site and determined that the work on the median could not proceed without a new site plan. Plaintiff then learned that the incorrect site plan for the median curb had been based on an outdated, as-built survey.

Defendant testified that he did not know whether the as-built survey was current, and that it was up to Haaland to review the as-built survey. Defendant said that Dale Ortmann of Haaland had given Defendant the option of using an as-built survey or re-surveying the project. Defendant decided to use the as-built survey because it seemed accurate and it would save money. Defendant did not prepare the site plans, which were Haaland's responsibility. Haaland submitted the site plans to the City, which reviewed the site plans and issued the appropriate permits. Defendant did not see the site plans before they were reviewed by the City.

Defendant did not disclose to Plaintiff the age of the as-built survey for the Whitman Project. Had Defendant disclosed that the relevant plans relied upon an outdated as-built survey, Plaintiff allegedly would not have entered into the 2004 Agreement. At trial, Jeffrey Ludlow testified that site plans based on as-built surveys were not necessarily bad. However, if an as-built survey is not recent, problems may arise because of intervening construction or ground subsidence since the date of the as-built survey. Jeffrey Ludlow further testified that if site plans had been approved by an engineer and reviewed by a governing agency, it was not Plaintiff's custom to inquire about the age of the survey used for such site plans. He further stated that Defendant never personally gave Plaintiff the bidding plans or any documentation regarding the Whitman Project.

Mr. Poles opined that Defendant should have disclosed that the as-built survey was 33 years old or commissioned a new survey. According to Mr. Poles, it was Defendant's duty to know the age of the as-built survey and to discuss this with Haaland.

During construction on the Whitman Project, Plaintiff sent several invoices to "D&S Homes, Inc." (Trial Exhs. 17–24). Defendant, Mr. Bock, and the Leon Family Trust owned 84% of D&S Homes. (Trial Exh. 4.) D&S Homes, in turn, owned 60% of T.O. (Id.)

After the construction problems arose, Matthew Ludlow met with Defendant and his office manager regarding the as-built survey issue. Defendant told Mr. Ludlow that he wanted a street built, and that it was Plaintiff's job to get the street built. Defendant stated he would not pay Plaintiff for the additional work to the street based on the required revision of the inaccurate site plans. Plaintiff refused to do such work without payment. Between April and July 2005, Plaintiff sent D&S Homes several change orders, arising from work it had to perform as a result of the construction stoppage. (Trial Exhs. 52–55.)

On August 11, 2005, D&S Homes gave notice to Plaintiff that it had violated provisions of the 2004 Agreement. [FN3] In that letter, D&S Homes referred to the 2004 Agreement as “our contract,” and notified Plaintiff that it had “no option . . . but to terminate” the 2004 Agreement. (Id.) Defendant hired another subcontractor to complete the street work using the new plans. T.O. then sent Plaintiff a change order, back-charging Plaintiff in the amount of $79,185.36 for the cost to complete the street work with the new plans and new subcontractor. (Trial Exh. 39.)

D. Citations Against Defendant and His Entities

In April 2004, the CSLB responded to a complaint by a homeowner regarding a title issue on the Yolanda Project. (Davis Decl., ¶ 13.) [FN4] During the course of CSLB’s investigation, Defendant first learned that he had to attach his personal contractor’s license to the contracting entity when developing a project with more than four homes. (Id.) On September 8, 2004, Defendant formed Fairland Construction, Inc. (“Fairland”) to act as the management company for T.O. (Id., ¶ 15.) However, Defendant was not able to associate his contractor’s license to Fairland immediately. Fairland did not receive its license until May 19, 2005. (Id., ¶ 16.)

While Defendant was waiting for Fairland’s license, Defendant understood that the CSLB was aware of T.O.’s unlicensed status and that the CSLB was “okay with” T.O. proceeding with work on the Whitman Project in the meantime. Defendant testified that he called the CSLB every month to update them on the Whitman Project.

At that time, Defendant believed that he had remedied the licensing issue. (Davis Decl., ¶ 16.) On May 21, 2005, T.O. entered into a construction management agreement with Fairland. (Id.) Neither Defendant nor Mr. Bock informed the City that Fairland was acting as the construction manager on the Whitman Project, nor did Defendant believe it was necessary to inform the City. (Id., ¶ 17.)

In late 2004, another homeowner on the Yolanda Project complained to CSLB about D&S Development. (Davis Decl., ¶ 18.) As a result, on January 31, 2005, CSLB issued a citation to T.O., noting the need for a contractor’s license when constructing a project with more than four homes. The violation date was noted as July 31, 2001. (Id.; Trial Exh. 1, at p. 4.) On April 27, 2005, D&S Development signed a stipulation to resolve the citation. (Davis Decl., ¶ 19.) The stipulation required D&S Development to “disclose that [it] is not licensed by the [CSLB] by providing a Notice to Unlicensed Person to said purchaser.” (Id.)

On July 27, 2007, the CSLB issued a citation to T.O. c/o Defendant, for acting in the capacity of a contractor without a license as to the Whitman Project. On July 27, 2007, the CSLB issued another citation to T.O. c/o Mr. Bock for the same violation on the Whitman Project. For both these citations, the violation date was noted as July 21, 2004. (Trial Exh. 1, pp. 1–2.)

E. The State Court Action

T.O. did not pay Plaintiff for all the work it performed on the Whitman Project. On September 29, 2005, Plaintiff sued T.O., Defendant and others in state court (the “State Court Action”), alleging breach of contract and foreclosure on a mechanic’s lien. (Trial Exh. B.) Plaintiff later amended the complaint, joining additional defendants to the action and adding causes of action for fraud, conspiracy, and quantum meruit. (Id.)

In the operative complaint in the State Court Action (the “Fourth Amended Complaint”), Plaintiff’s breach of contract and fraud causes of action were based on the same facts. (Id.) One of Plaintiff’s fraud counts from the State Court Action is based on Defendant’s failure to pay Plaintiff the amount owed under the 2004 Agreement. (Id., pp. 12-14.) The other fraud count is based on Defendant’s alleged failure to disclose that T.O. was an unlicensed entity at the time the parties entered into the 2004 Agreement. (Id., pp. 14-15.) In the Fourth Amended Complaint, Plaintiff requested specific damages based on Defendant’s failure to pay Plaintiff under the 2004 Agreement. (Id., pp. 18-20.) With respect to the fraud counts, Plaintiff requested “general damages” and punitive damages.

The trial court trifurcated the State Court Action into three trial phases. The first phase involved Plaintiff’s causes of action for breach of contract, foreclosure on a mechanic’s lien and quantum meruit. (Trial Exh. 12.) In 2010, the trial court conducted a bench trial on the first phase. On October 29, 2010, the trial court entered an interlocutory judgment as to the first phase (the “Phase One Judgment”).

(Id.) After entry of the Phase One Judgment, Plaintiff filed a motion for an award of attorneys' fees. The trial court awarded Plaintiff $1.65 million in attorneys' fees (the "Fee Award"). (Defendant's Request for Judicial Notice ("RJN"), Exh. 3.)

T.O. appealed the Fee Award. (Trial Exh. G.) On appeal, T.O. argued that the trial court erred by awarding fees to Plaintiff without apportioning counsel's work on the contract cause of action from the work on the other issues in the State Court Action. (Id., at p. 3.) Plaintiff argued that apportionment was not appropriate because the trial court could reasonably find that the contract and fraud issues were "inextricably intertwined." (Id., at p. 4.) The Court of Appeal agreed with Plaintiff and upheld the Fee Award. (Id., at p. 12.)

F. The Alter Ego Trial

The second phase of the State Court Action involved Plaintiff's alter ego claims. On December 23, 2011, the state court issued a statement of decision after phase two of trial (the "Phase Two Decision"). (Trial Exh. H.) In relevant part, the Phase Two Decision reads:

Defendant [T.O.] failed to disclose to [Plaintiff] the entities that were actually involved in the construction contract;

Defendant [T.O.] failed to disclose to [Plaintiff] that it was not a licensed contractor and has never been a licensed contractor;

(Id., at p. 2.) The state court also made findings that T.O., D&S Homes, D&S Development, and other entities were alter egos of Defendant. As a result, the state court held that:

[t]he liability of the [Phase One Judgment] and the [Fee Award] and any other or future order or orders awarding damages, punitive damages, attorneys fees and/or costs to [Plaintiff] against [T.O.] in this case hereby is and will be extended to defendants [D&S Homes], [D&S Development], [Defendant, Mr. Bock and Mr. Leon] . . . jointly and severally, based upon the doctrine of alter ego; Development], [Defendant, Mr. Bock and Mr. Leon], hereby is jointly and severally liable with [T.O.] in this case.

(Id., at pp. 2–6. ) In the Phase Two Decision, the state court also made findings regarding certain entities. As to T.O., D&S Homes, and D&S Development, the state court found that each entity “used its business form as a subterfuge for an illegal transaction, to wit, contracting without a license.” (Id., at pp. 7–8.) As to Defendant, the state court found:

[Defendant] represented himself to be an experienced builder with a general contractor’s license. Once [D&S Development] was cited, fined, and censured by and stipulated with [CSLB] for contracting without a license, [Defendant] formed [Fairland], and in 2005 obtained a general contractor’s license. [Defendant] and [Mr.] Bock admit that Fairland was formed to satisfy the demands of the [CSLB] and in order to comply with the contractor license laws. [Defendant] admits that after Fairland was formed and licensed “nothing changed.” [Defendant] and [Mr.] Bock continued to build as “owner/builder,” notified no one of the formation or licensure of Fairland, and continued to contract with the personal contractor’s license of [Defendant].

(Id.) The state court entered a judgment conforming to the Phase Two Decision (the “Phase Two Judgment”). (Trial Exh. D.)

Defendant appealed the Phase Two Judgment. (Trial Exh. I.) The appellate court upheld the Phase Two Judgment, except as against two defendants not involved in this adversary proceeding. (Id., at p. 1.)

G. Defendant’s Satisfaction of Judgment

On June 26, 2013, Plaintiff filed an Acknowledgment of Satisfaction of Judgment (the “Satisfaction of Judgment”) in state court. (Trial Exhs. E, F.) Through the Satisfaction of Judgment and the stipulation attached thereto, Plaintiff acknowledged that the Phase One Judgment and any attorneys’ fees awarded to date had been paid in full. (Id.)

Chapter 7

On June 15, 2010, Defendant filed a voluntary chapter 7 petition. On January 12, 2011, Plaintiff filed a claim against the estate, asserting an unsecured claim in the amount of $3 million (the “Claim”). On September 17, 2014, Defendant filed an objection to the Claim (the “Objection to Claim”) [Bankruptcy Docket, doc. 89]. In the Objection to Claim, Defendant asserted that Plaintiff had been paid the total $1,869,048.05 owed to pursuant to the Phase One Judgment and the Phase Two Judgment. Defendant also noted that Plaintiff had not provided evidence regarding any remaining damages.

On October 2, 2014, Plaintiff filed an opposition to the Objection to Claim [Bankruptcy Docket, doc. 95], arguing that the state court had not yet tried Plaintiff’s fraud cause of action and that Plaintiff may obtain an additional award of damages after that trial. [FN5] On October 30, 2014, the Court held a hearing on the Objection to Claim. On November 20, 2014, the Court entered an order disallowing $1,869,048.05 of the Claim because that portion of the Claim had already been paid (the “Claim Order”) [Bankruptcy Docket, doc. 101].

As to the remaining $1,130,951.42, the Court found that this amount “is allowed . . . pending the outcome of [the fraud phase of the State Court Action], presently pending in the Superior Court of the State of California for the County of Ventura.” (emphasis added). The Court did not decide whether Plaintiff was entitled to the remaining $1,130,951.42. The Court refrained from deciding whether to disallow the remaining portion of Plaintiff’s claim until the State Court Action concluded.

I. The Adversary Proceeding

On August 16, 2010, Plaintiff filed a complaint against Defendant, objecting to Defendant’s discharge pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §§ 727(a)(2) and (a)(4) and requesting nondischargeability of any debt owed to it pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(A). The Court bifurcated this proceeding, such that the Court first heard Plaintiff’s claims under 11 U.S.C. § 727. On December 23, 2014, the Court entered judgment in favor of Defendant on Plaintiff’s claims under 11 U.S.C. § 727 [doc. 113].

The Court initially stayed this adversary proceeding to await conclusion of the State Court Action. On April 19, 2017, nearly seven years after Defendant filed his chapter 7 petition, Plaintiff and Defendant appeared for a status conference. The Court informed the parties that it would no longer delay prosecution of this adversary proceeding until the State Court Action was resolved. The Court subsequently set a pretrial conference and instructed the parties to file a joint pretrial stipulation. On August 31, 2017, the parties filed their joint pretrial stipulation [doc. 140].

On October 4, 2017, the parties appeared at a continued pretrial conference. At that time, the Court informed the parties that they could file motions for summary judgment before trial. On October 13, 2017, the Court entered an order instructing the parties to file and serve their motions for summary judgment no later than November 6, 2017 [doc. 156].

On November 6, 2017, Plaintiff timely filed its motion for summary judgment ("Plaintiff's MSJ") [doc. 165]. Through Plaintiff's MSJ, Plaintiff requested the Court enter summary judgment in its favor on Plaintiff's § 523(a)(2)(A) claim based on: (A) Defendant's failure to disclose that T.O. was unlicensed; (B) Defendant's failure to disclose that Defendant relied on an as-built survey; and (C) Defendant's alleged manipulation of the construction drawings to appear as though a recent survey had been performed. To prove its damages, Plaintiff referred to the Claim Order, asserting that the Claim Order established that Plaintiff was damaged in the amount of $1,130,951.42.

On the same day, Defendant timely filed its motion for summary judgment ("Defendant's MSJ") [doc. 162]. Through Defendant's MSJ, Defendant requested the Court enter summary judgment in its favor on the following bases: (A) a prior lawsuit precluded this Court's litigation of the issues in this adversary proceeding; and (B) all of Plaintiff's damages have been paid and Plaintiff cannot establish additional damages related to its fraud cause of action.

On February 28, 2018, the Court entered an order granting summary adjudication in favor of Plaintiff only on the following issue: that nondisclosure of T.O.'s status as an unlicensed entity would be material (the "MSJ Order") [doc. 208]. The Court otherwise denied both Plaintiff's MSJ and Defendant's MSJ. (Id.)

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(A), a bankruptcy discharge does not discharge an individual debtor from any debt “for money, property, services, or an extension, renewal, or refinancing of credit, to the extent obtained by—false pretenses, a false representation, or actual fraud, other than a statement respecting a debtor’s or an insider’s financial condition.”

To prevail on a § 523(a)(2)(A) claim, Plaintiff must prove by a preponderance of the evidence:

- (1) misrepresentation, fraudulent omission or deceptive conduct by the debtor;
- (2) knowledge of the falsity or deceptiveness of his statement or conduct;
- (3) an intent to deceive;
- (4) justifiable reliance by the creditor on the debtor’s statement or conduct; and
- (5) damage to the creditor proximately caused by its reliance on the debtor’s statement or conduct

A.      *False Representation, Fraudulent Omission, or Deceptive Conduct

“‘False representation’ refers to express misrepresentations, either oral or written.” Dancor Constr., Inc. v. Haskell (In re Haskell), 475 B.R. 911, 920 (Bankr. C.D. Ill. 2012), adhered to on reconsideration, Case No. 11-80231, 2012 WL 4754673 (Bankr. C.D. Ill. Oct. 4, 2012).

B. Knowledge of Falsity and Intent to Deceive

[A] misrepresentation is fraudulent if the maker (a) knows or believes that the matter is not as he represents it to be, (b) does not have the confidence in the accuracy of his representation that he states or implies, or (c) knows that he does not have the basis for his representation that he states or implies.

*Gertsch v. Johnson & Johnson, Fin. Corp. Because intent is difficult to prove through direct evidence, it “may be established by circumstantial evidence, or by inferences drawn from a course of conduct. Therefore, in determining whether the debtor had no intention to perform, a court may look to all the surrounding facts and circumstances.” In re Barrack, 217 B.R. 598, 607 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1998) (internal quotations omitted). C. *Justifiable Reliance

To satisfy the reliance requirement of § 523(a)(2)(A), a plaintiff must show “justifiable” reliance, not “reasonable reliance.” Field v. Mans, 516 U.S. 59, 74–75, 116 S.Ct. 437, 446 (1995). Justifiable reliance takes into account the “qualities and characteristics of the particular plaintiff, and the circumstances of the particular case, rather than of the application of a community standard of conduct to all cases.” Id., 516 U.S. at 71; 116 S.Ct. at 444. Thus, a plaintiff does not have a duty to investigate. Id., 516 U.S. at 70, 75 n.12; 116 S.Ct. at 444, 446 n.12. “If, however, obvious red flags are raised, [a party] is required to investigate further.” Haskell, 475 B.R. at 922; see also Apte, 180 B.R. at 229. “[A] person cannot rely upon a representation if ‘he knows that it is false or its falsity is obvious to him.’” *Eugene Parks Law Corp. III. DISCUSSION

Plaintiff has not shown by a preponderance of the evidence that Defendant made a false representation, made a fraudulent omission, or engaged in deceptive conduct.

1. *False Representation

As for the status of T.O.’s license, Plaintiff did not establish that Defendant made an oral or written representation to Plaintiff regarding T.O.’s license status before the parties entered into the 2004 Agreement. In the 2004 Agreement, Defendant did not list a contractor’s license for T.O., and T.O. was identified as an “Owner/Builder.” When Plaintiff asked Ms. Church about the 2004 Agreement, Ms. Church gave Plaintiff the personal contractor’s license number of Defendant as the license number associated with the Whitman Project. Plaintiff did not call Ms. Church as a trial witness or present any evidence that Ms. Church falsely represented to Defendant that the license number belonged to T.O.

As for the as-built survey, Plaintiff did not establish that Defendant made an oral or written representation to Plaintiff regarding the age of the as-built survey before the parties entered into the 2004 Agreement. Defendant testified that he did not know the age of the as-built survey before he elected to use it. Haaland, not Defendant, reviewed the survey and prepare the site plans. Defendant did not see the site plans before they were reviewed by the City. Plaintiff did not call Mr. Ortmann of Haaland as a witness or present any evidence that Defendant knew the age of the as-built survey. [FN6]

2. Fraudulent Omission

Plaintiff did not present sufficient evidence to establish that Defendant's omission regarding T.O.'s license status was fraudulent pursuant to § 523(a)(2)(A).

In Evans, the debtor and the plaintiff met at their country club and formed a friendship playing golf. Id. at 510. Eventually, the debtor approached the plaintiff about borrowing $110,000 to pay off a judgment lien. Id.

As security for part of the $110,000 loan, the debtor executed a second deed of trust on a vacant lot he owned in favor of the plaintiff. Id. at 511. The debtor represented that the value of the lot exceeded the $65,000 first deed of trust plus the $65,000 second deed of trust and that the lot was "buildable." Id. at 512. However, the debtor was aware that a permit to build on the lot could not be obtained due to the lack of an adequate easement. Id. at 515. For this reason, the debtor had originally purchased the vacant lot for a price materially less than that of other properties in the same development. Id. In addition, the debtor had applied multiple times for a permit to build on the lot, and each time his application had been denied. Id.

The debtor did not inform the plaintiff that the lot was not buildable in its present state, that his applications for a permit had been denied, or that anyone who decided to build on the lot would have to pursue costly proceedings or purchase additional property to build an easement. Id. The Evans court found that these facts were material, that "the debtor intentionally concealed these facts to mislead the plaintiff" and that the plaintiff "undoubtedly would have attached importance [to these facts] in deciding whether or not to make the loan." Id.

In Apte, one of the debtor's corporations leased an office building from Rosewood Associates ("Rosewood"), intending to sublet the space to doctors. 96 F.3d at 1321. After failing to secure any subtenants, the debtor fell behind in lease payments to Rosewood, and Rosewood initiated an unlawful detainer action. Id. Soon after Rosewood filed the unlawful detainer action, Dr. Romesh Japra approached the debtor about subleasing the office space. Id.

At the time of the lease transaction, Dr. Japra insisted that his sublease contain a priority provision that would allow him to remain in possession of the office space even if the debtor's master lease with Rosewood terminated. Id. After the parties signed the sublease, the debtor told Dr. Japra that Rosewood had approved the sublease, even though Rosewood had told the debtor that it would not approve the sublease until the priority provision was deleted. Id. In addition, the debtor told Dr. Japra that he was allowed to improve the property, even though Rosewood had told the debtor to put a stop to all construction. Id. The debtor never disclosed to Dr. Japra that Rosewood had filed an unlawful detainer action against the debtor or that Rosewood had previously terminated the master lease. Id.

The Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals found that the "myriad of nondisclosures" were material and had an effect on Dr. Japra's decision to enter into the sublease agreement. Id., at 1323.

Apte carried on the sublease negotiations without disclosing that he was $1.3 million in default on the master lease, that Rosewood had instituted an unlawful detainer action against him, that Rosewood had officially terminated the master lease, and that Rosewood would never accept a lease containing Japra's priority provision. After Japra entered into the sublease, Apte never disclosed that Rosewood had not approved it, or that Rosewood had discovered Japra's improvements and ordered the construction to stop.

Id. The debtor was Dr. Japra's sole source of information. The Court of Appeals found that the debtor had a duty to disclose such facts to Dr. Japra because Dr. Japra was ignorant of these facts and did not have an opportunity to discover them. Id. at 1324.

Unlike the debtors in Evans and Apte, Defendant did not knowingly conceal any material facts from Plaintiff before the parties entered into the 2004 Agreement. In Evans, the debtor concealed the material fact that the lot at issue was not buildable in its present state. In Apte, the debtor concealed numerous material facts from Dr. Japra. In both Evans and Apte, the respective debtors communicated directly to the deceived parties. Here, Defendant never communicated directly to Plaintiff regarding the status of T.O.'s license. In the MSJ Order, the Court held that T.O.'s license status was a material fact. Mr. Poles testified that T.O. had a duty to disclose to Plaintiff that it was unlicensed, or at least the 2004 Agreement should have disclosed Defendant's personal license in connection with the Whitman Project. However, both Defendant and Mr. Poles testified that at the time of the 2004 Agreement, under California law, an LLC could not hold a contractor's license.

In Evans, the debtor knew that the lot was not buildable in its present state, that his applications for a permit had been denied, or that anyone who decided to build on the lot would have to pursue costly proceedings or purchase additional property to build an easement. The 2004 Agreement did not disclose a license number for T.O. and listed T.O. as an "Owner/Builder." Unlike the debtor in Evans, Defendant believed that T.O. could lawfully operate as an owner/builder, and that Defendant could associate his contractor's license with the Whitman Project. In short, Defendant did not knowingly conceal material facts from Plaintiff before the parties entered into the 2004 Agreement.

As noted above, Defendant had a duty to disclose "when the other party is ignorant of material facts which he does not have an opportunity to discover." Apte, 96 F.3d at 1324. In Apte, the debtor was the sole source of information for Dr. Japra. Here, if Michael and Jeffrey Ludlow were unaware that an LLC could not hold a contractor's license, Plaintiff had an opportunity to discover T.O.'s license status independently. As Matthew Ludlow and Mr. Poles testified, Plaintiff could have verified with the CSLB whether T.O. was a licensed entity. Plaintiff did not do so.

Both Matthew and Jeffrey Ludlow testified that Plaintiff would not have entered into the 2004 Agreement had they known T.O. was unlicensed. The Court does not find their testimony to be credible. Jeffrey Ludlow stated that he was aware that there was no license for T.O. disclosed in the 2004 Agreement, and that a license should have been disclosed. Matthew Ludlow stated that Plaintiff regularly checked the license status of the subcontractors they hired, because their insurance required them to do so. However, Plaintiff never checked the license status of the general contractors who hired Plaintiff.

Plaintiff also did not present sufficient evidence to establish that Defendant's omission regarding the age of the as-built survey was fraudulent pursuant to § 523(a)

(2)(A). As noted above, Defendant had no knowledge of the age of the as-built survey, and it was Haaland's responsibility to draw up the site plans for the Whitman Project. Mr. Poles opined that Defendant should have known and disclosed the age of the as-built survey. However, the Court finds credible Defendant's testimony that he did not know, or understand the import of, the age of the survey.

Regarding the age of the as-built survey, Jeffrey Ludlow testified that site plans based on an as-built survey are not per se flawed. He also testified that it was not Plaintiff's custom to inquire about the age of the surveys used for site plans that were approved by an engineer and reviewed by a governing agency. Nonetheless, Plaintiff was never misled about the age of the as-built survey, and it appears that Plaintiff could have discussed that issue with Haaland, if Plaintiff had sought to do that.

3. Deceptive Conduct

Plaintiff also has not established that Defendant engaged in any deceptive conduct intended to create and foster a false impression. Defendant did not act in any way to give Plaintiff the impression that T.O. had a contractor's license. Based on the evidence at trial, Ms. Church was the only individual who gave Plaintiff a contractor's license number associated with the Whitman Project, which was Defendant's license number.

B. Knowledge of Falsity or Intent to Deceive

To meet its burden of proof as to this element of a claim under § 523(a)(2)(A), Plaintiff must demonstrate by a preponderance of the evidence that Defendant knew that his omissions were wrongful and that Defendant's omissions were motivated by an intent to deceive Plaintiff. Harmon, 250 F.3d at 1246 n.4.

Plaintiff has not met its burden of showing that Defendant knew that nondisclosure of T.O. license status was wrongful. Defendant testified that at the time, he never spoke to any employee of Plaintiff about T.O.'s license status. At the time of the 2004 Agreement, Defendant was relying on the advice of counsel, and he believed that it was unnecessary for T.O. to have a contractor's license because Defendant and his partners were operating as an "owner/builder." Defendant further believed that T.O. was exempt because Defendant personally held a contractor's license. In fact, as noted above, both Defendant and Mr. Poles testified that in 2004, an LLC such as

T.O. could not hold a contractor’s license. Thus, Defendant could not have lawfully included a contractor’s license for T.O. in the 2004 Agreement. Based on the evidence at trial, Defendant did not know that his nondisclosure of T.O.’s license status was wrongful.

In addition, Plaintiff has not met its burden of showing by a preponderance of the evidence that Defendant’s omission of T.O.’s unlicensed status was motivated by an intent to deceive Plaintiff. Harmon, 250 F.3d at 1246 n.4. Plaintiff relied on Mr. Poles to show that Defendant acted with an intent to deceive. However, Mr. Poles does not have personal knowledge of Defendant’s intent. At trial, Mr. Poles offered legal conclusions as to Defendant’s intent. The Court would not admit such testimony even if Mr. Poles qualified as a legal expert. See United States v. Diaz, 876 F.3d 1194, 1197 (9th Cir. 2017) (“Consistent with [Federal Rule of Evidence] 704(a), this court has repeatedly affirmed that an expert witness cannot give an opinion as to her legal conclusion, i.e., an opinion on an ultimate issue of law.”) (internal quotation omitted).

As with the nondisclosure of T.O.’s license status, Plaintiff has not met its burden of showing that Defendant knew that his nondisclosure of the age of the as-built survey was wrongful. Defendant testified that he did not know the age of the as-built survey, and that Mr. Ortmann at Haaland had given Defendant the option of using the as-built survey or commissioning a new survey. Defendant chose to use the as-built survey because it was the cheaper option. Defendant did not prepare the site plans, which were Haaland’s responsibility. Defendant also did not see the site plans before they were reviewed by the City.

Because Plaintiff has not demonstrated that Defendant had any knowledge of the age of the as-built survey, Plaintiff cannot demonstrate that Defendant’s omission was motivated by an intent to deceive. As noted above, Mr. Poles is not qualified to testify as to Defendant’s intent. In addition, none of the evidence presented at trial established that Defendant, prior to Plaintiff’s entry into the 2004 Agreement, had any reason to believe the as-built survey was unreliable.

C. Justifiable Reliance

As noted above, a plaintiff does not have a duty to investigate. Field, 516 U.S. at 70, 75 n.12; 116 S.Ct. at 444, 446 n.12. However, where a party ignores obvious “red flags” and fails to investigate further, there is no justifiable reliance. Haskell, 475 B.R. at 922.

In Winston-Salem City Employees’ Fed. Credit Union v. Casper (In re Casper), 466 B.R. 786 (Bankr. M.D.N.C. 2012), a credit union hired the debtor to assist with selling repossessed vehicles. After each vehicle was repossessed, the credit union would deliver the vehicle to the debtor, but retain the certificate of title. When the debtor sold each vehicle, the credit union would deliver to the debtor the certificate of title with the security interest released. Within two days after the certificate of title was delivered, the debtor would typically remit the sale proceeds to the credit union. On rare occasions, the debtor would take longer than the customary two days, but there were never any extended delays. However, starting in June 2009, the debtor did not remit the sale proceeds to the credit union for 10 vehicles. By October 2009, nearly six months later, the credit union began asking the debtor about the 10 missing payments. The debtor told the credit union he would pay. In November 2009, the credit union again confronted the debtor, and the debtor told the credit union he was having “issues.” Id. at 791–92.

After the debtor filed a chapter 7 petition, the credit union filed an adversary proceeding, seeking nondischargeability of the debt owed, in part, under § 523(a)(2) (A). The court denied relief under § 523(a)(2)(A), finding that the credit union’s reliance was not justifiable because it “disregarded critical warning signs.” Id. at 794. The court noted that the credit union’s reliance as to the first unpaid-for vehicle was justifiable, based on the occasional prior delay. However, after the second unpaid-for vehicle, the credit union “should have been put on notice that something had gone awry.” Id.

Continuing to assign the titles of vehicles to [the debtor’s company] with the expectation of receiving payment was not justifiable. A creditor must react in a timely fashion upon discovery of the falsity of a debtor’s representation if justifiable reliance is to be established. . . . The [credit union] here—a sophisticated actor that is in the business of loaning and collecting money—blindly ignored numerous red flags by continuing to do business with the [d]ebtor even after he repeatedly failed to remit monies to the [credit union] after the sale of a vehicle.

Id. at 795 (citation omitted).

Like the credit union's reliance in Casper, Plaintiff's reliance regarding T.O.'s license was not justifiable. Plaintiff ignored numerous red flags before entering into the 2004 Agreement, and Plaintiff's testimony regarding its reliance on the 2004 Agreement is not credible.

Both of Plaintiff's principals are sophisticated, experienced construction professionals who have worked on hundreds of constructions projects, all of which likely required agreements similar to the 2004 Agreement. The 2004 Agreement is an 11-page agreement and appears to be a standard form subcontract agreement. The 2004 Agreement was dated June, 2, 2004, and Jeffrey Ludlow signed the 2004 Agreement on July 21, 2004. Plaintiff took nearly 50 days to review the 2004 Agreement before signing it, and Jeffrey Ludlow made several interlineations to the 2004 Agreement. As noted above, on the first page and in the signature block of the 2004 Agreement, T.O. was listed as the "Owner/Builder" of the Whitman Project. The 2004 Agreement was defined as an agreement between "Contractor" and "Subcontractor." Plaintiff was the "Subcontractor" that agreed to perform asphalt and concrete street improvement services for the Whitman Project. The term "Contractor" was not defined. The 2004 Agreement clearly did not list a contractor's license number for T.O. or for Defendant.

Matthew Ludlow testified that after Plaintiff received the 2004 Agreement from Ms. Church, Plaintiff had questions about the identity of T.O. In response to Plaintiff's questions, Ms. Church stated that "this was how the 2004 Agreement was set up" and gave Plaintiff the personal contractor's license number of Defendant. Jeffrey Ludlow testified that there should have been a license number associated with T.O. stated in the 2004 Agreement.

Notwithstanding the evident red flags, Plaintiff did not insist that the license number be expressly incorporated into the 2004 Agreement, and did not ask Defendant to amend the 2004 Agreement to more clearly define T.O.'s role. Despite its initial concerns, Plaintiff entered into the 2004 Agreement and proceeded to work on the Whitman Project. As noted above, Plaintiff could have verified T.O.'s license status with the CSLB, but Plaintiff chose not to do that. Plaintiff's present allegation—that it would not have entered into the 2004 Agreement had it known T.O. was unlicensed—appears to be a belated attempt to transform a standard breach of contract action into a fraud action against Defendant.

Mr. Poles testified that subcontractors generally did not question the license status of their general contractors, because a subcontractor would risk losing their bid if they did so. This testimony is not credible. As both Mr. Poles and Matthew Ludlow admitted, anyone could inquire of the CSLB to verify the status of a contractor's license. A subcontractor could make such an inquiry without notifying the general contractor.

Plaintiff's reliance on the site plans based on the as-built survey appears to have been justifiable. Plaintiff's employees testified that their job was to perform construction work according to site plans, and that it was not their practice to question site plans that are stamped by the engineer and reviewed by the City. However, Plaintiff has not established that Defendant acted with any knowledge of falsity or intent to deceive Plaintiff as to the as-built survey.

IV. CONCLUSION

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(A), the Court will enter judgment in favor of Defendant.

Defendant must submit a proposed judgment within seven (7) days.

regarding the Yolanda Project, for acting in the capacity of a contractor without a license. (Trial Exh. 1, p. 3.) The citation stated that the date of the alleged violation was August 3, 2001. This citation appears to have arisen from the first complaint regarding the Yolanda Project.

5. On October 15, 2014, after all the briefing on the Objection to Claim, Plaintiff filed a separate claim for $2 million, based on the fraud action in state court. In his declaration, Jeffrey Ludlow states that the $2 million claim was meant to amend the original $3 million claim. (Declaration of Jeffrey Ludlow [doc. 179], ¶ 12.) The Court did not use this proof of claim in its calculation because the proof of claim was filed after the parties completed their briefing.
6. Mr. Poles also argued that T.O. should not have presented itself as the owner/builder of the Whitman Project, because part of the Whitman Project involved improvements to a public roadway, and T.O. was not the owner of the public roadway. However, this issue was not identified in the parties' joint pretrial stipulation. Moreover, Plaintiff's area of expertise is paving and roadway construction. If an owner/builder cannot develop a project involving improvements to a public roadway, it appears that Plaintiff would have been aware of such a bar against owner/builders soliciting bids for such developments.

Docket 24

Tentative Ruling:

Deny.

I. BACKGROUND

On March 31, 2017, Amie Suzanne Greenberg ("Defendant") filed a voluntary chapter 7 petition.

On June 26, 2017, Jeff Rubin ("Plaintiff") filed a complaint against Defendant (the "Complaint"), requesting nondischargeability of the debt owed to him pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(15). Through the Complaint, Plaintiff requests nondischargeability of $43,411.66, plus interest, awarded to Plaintiff by the family court in the parties' dissolution proceeding (the "Family Court Order"). Complaint, Exhibit 1. Plaintiff also requests $4,438.28 "for the children's medical, therapy and educational expenses." Id. In the Family Court Order, the family court ordered that Defendant pay Plaintiff $38,411.66 in attorneys' fees and costs incurred by Plaintiff as well as a sanction of $5,000. The Family Court Order also stated that Defendant was to reimburse Plaintiff for "one-half the costs of the minor children's therapy with Dr. Gold," but does not provide a specific amount.

On August 23, 2017, the Court held an initial status conference. The joint status report [doc. 6] the parties prepared in preparation for the initial status conference indicated that the parties had not complied with Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure ("FRBP") 7026. As such, on August 24, 2017, the Court entered an order [doc. 8] continuing the status conference and instructing the parties to comply with FRBP 7026 by, among other things, providing initial disclosures to one another.

On September 29, 2017, the parties filed a joint discovery plan (the "Discovery Plan") [doc. 13]. In the Discovery Plan, Plaintiff stated that he believed Defendant had the same documents in her possession that Plaintiff had, but that any initial disclosures would be made by October 2, 2017 in accordance with the Court's scheduling order.

On October 25, 2017, the Court held a continued status conference. At the continued status conference, the Court asked the parties about the status of their initial disclosures. Plaintiff stated that he and Defendant were the only individuals with discoverable information. In addition, the parties stated that they each had proof of payments made by Defendant. The Court instructed the parties to exchange all of those documents. Regarding a computation of damages, Plaintiff indicated at the status conference that he had previously provided a schedule of payments to Defendant.

On October 30, 2017, the Court entered a scheduling order (the "Scheduling Order") [doc. 14]. Through the Scheduling Order, the Court set the following dates and deadlines: (A) January 31, 2018 as the discovery cutoff date; (B) February 15, 2018 as the last day to file pretrial motions; (C) March 21, 2018 as the deadline by which the parties must file a pretrial stipulation; and (D) April 4, 2018 as the pretrial conference.

On April 12, 2018, Plaintiff filed a substitution of counsel, indicating that Plaintiff retained counsel to represent him in this action [doc. 37]. On February 12, 2018, Defendant filed a motion in limine (the "Motion") [doc. 24], asking the Court to prohibit Plaintiff from introducing evidence of damages based on Plaintiff's failure to timely provide initial disclosures in accordance with Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26(a). Plaintiff opposes the Motion [doc. 40].

II. ANALYSIS

Pursuant to Rule 26(a)(1)—

- (A) In General. Except as exempted by Rule 26(a)(1)(B) or as otherwise stipulated or ordered by the court, a party must, without awaiting a discovery request, provide to the other parties:

- (i) the name and, if known, the address and telephone number of each individual likely to have discoverable information – along with the subjects of that information – that the disclosing party may use to support its claims or defenses, unless the use would be solely for impeachment;
- (ii) a copy – or a description by category and location – of all documents, electronically stored information, and tangible things that the disclosing party has in its possession, custody, or control and may use to support its claims or defenses, unless the use would be solely for impeachment;
- (iii) a computation of each category of damages claimed by the disclosing party – who must also make available for inspection and copying as under Rule 34 the documents or other evidentiary material, unless privileged or protected from disclosure, on which each computation is based, including materials bearing on the nature and extent of injuries suffered; and
- (iv) for inspection and copying as under Rule 34, any insurance agreement under which an insurance business may be liable to satisfy all or part of a possible judgment in the action or to indemnify or reimburse for payments made to satisfy the judgment.

Under Rule 37(c)—

- (1) Failure to Disclose or Supplement. If a party fails to provide information or identify a witness as required by Rule 26(a) or (e), the party is not allowed to use that information or witness to supply evidence on a motion, at a hearing, or at a trial, unless the failure was substantially justified or is harmless. In addition to or instead of this sanction, the court, on motion and after giving an opportunity to be heard:
  - (A) may order payment of the reasonable expenses, including attorney's fees, caused by the failure;
  - (B) may inform the jury of the party's failure; and
  - (C) may impose other appropriate sanctions, including any of the orders listed in Rule 37(b)(2)(A)(i)-(vi).

The Court has discretion to determine if a violation of Rule 26(a) is "justified" or "harmless" based on several factors:

- (1) the surprise to the party against whom the evidence would be offered;
- (2) the ability of that party to cure the surprise;
- (3) the extent to which allowing the evidence would disrupt the trial;
- (4) the importance of the evidence; and
- (5) the nondisclosing party's explanation for its failure to disclose the evidence.

Dey, L.P. v. Ivax Pharmaceuticals, Inc., 233 F.R.D. 567, 571 (C.D. Cal. 2005) (citing Southern States Rack & Fixture, Inc. v. Sherwin-Williams Co., 318 F.3d 592 (4th Cir. 2003)). The party facing sanctions bears the burden of proving its failure to disclose the required information was substantially justified or harmless. R & R Sails, Inc. v. Insurance Co. of Penn., 673 F.3d 1240, 1246 (9th Cir. 2012).

Here, although Plaintiff admits to not having timely provided initial disclosures to Defendant, the failure to do so was harmless. First, Plaintiff informed Defendant at the initial status conference that he believed only Plaintiff and Defendant had discoverable information, and that Plaintiff would be relying on documents available to both parties, namely, the family court's findings and orders. As such, most of the initial disclosures Plaintiff would have provided are not a surprise to Defendant.

The main disclosure Defendant asserts is missing is a computation of damages outlining how Plaintiff reached the $4,438.28 amount for the parties' children's medical, therapy and educational expenses. However, Plaintiff has now cured the surprise by providing his initial responses to Defendant and by supplementing those responses one week later. In light of the fact that the Court has not yet set trial of this matter, the fact that Defendant belatedly received some of the Rule 26(a) disclosures will not disrupt any future trial.

Moreover, because the Court intends to extend the deadline by which the parties may file pretrial motions, Defendant will have an opportunity to file another motion disputing the damages claimed by Plaintiff now that she has received Plaintiff's initial disclosures. Whether the documentation provided by Plaintiff supports his claim of damages is not a complex issue that will unduly delay this matter or require an extensive amount of research or resources to adjudicate. Finally, Plaintiff has explained that he did not timely provide initial disclosures to Defendant because he was confused by the requirements of Rule 26(a) and believed Defendant already had all of the information she needed. At the time Plaintiff did not comply with Rule 26 (a), he was acting in pro per. Now that Plaintiff has retained counsel, Plaintiff appears to be curing his deficient disclosures.

Based on the above, Plaintiff has shown that all of the factors weigh in favor of deeming Plaintiff's belated production of initial disclosures "harmless." As a result, the Court will not impose sanctions under Rule 37(c).

III. CONCLUSION

The Court will deny the Motion.

Plaintiff must submit an order within seven (7) days.

Tentative Ruling:

The Court will grant summary adjudication as to the issue of partial satisfaction in the amount of $6,900. The Court will deny summary adjudication on all other issues.

I. BACKGROUND

A. *The Family Court Proceedings

Jeffrey Rubin ("Plaintiff") and Amie Greenberg ("Defendant") were married. On November 3, 2008, Plaintiff filed a petition for dissolution in Ventura County Superior Court, case no. D330558. Defendant concurrently filed a petition in Los Angeles County Superior Court, case no. KD074715 (the "Family Court"). On January 29, 2009, the parties stipulated to transfer the Ventura action to the Family Court. (Complaint, doc. 1, ¶ 8.)

On February 1, 2011, the Family Court entered the parties' divorce decree (the "Divorce Decree"). (Defendant's Separate Statement of Uncontroverted Facts and Conclusions of Law Pursuant to Local Rule 7056.1 ("Defendant's Statement"), doc. 23, ¶ 3; Defendant's Request for Judicial Notice ("RJN"), doc. 22, Exh. B.) The Divorce Decree provided that "[e]ach party shall pay one-half the cost of future therapy with Dr. Gold for the minor children." (RJN, Exh. B, ¶ 12.)

On July 8, 2011, five months after the Divorce Decree was entered, Defendant filed an ex parte request for an order to show cause, "requesting immediate orders modifying the previous child custody and visitation orders and granting to her legal and physical custody" of the parties' two children ("Defendant's OSC Request"). (Declaration of Amie Greenberg ("Defendant's Decl."), doc. 21, ¶ 22; RJN, Exh. A, at p. 7.) In Defendant's OSC Request, Defendant alleged that Plaintiff had abused their children.

(Defendant's Decl., ¶ 23; RJN, Exh. A, pp. 7–12.)

On September 4, 2012, the Family Court issued its Findings and Orders of the Court on the Submitted Matter of [Defendant's] Order to Show Cause Filed July 8, 2011; and Court's Order to Show Cause on its Own Motion Under Family Code Section 3027.1 (the "September 2012 Order"). (Complaint, ¶ 9; Defendant's Decl., ¶ 19; RJN, Exh. A.) The September 2012 Order ordered the following: (a) Defendant individually shall pay to Plaintiff attorneys' fees and costs, as sanction, in the amount of $38,411.66, pursuant to Family Code § 3027.1, for false reporting of child abuse; (b) Defendant shall pay Plaintiff attorneys' fees and costs as a sanction under Family Code § 271 the amount of $5,000; and (c) Defendant shall reimburse Plaintiff one-half the cost of the minor children's therapy with Dr. Gold, pursuant to the Divorce Decree. (Defendant's Decl., ¶¶ 20, 39–40; RJN, Exh. A, at p. 37.) The September 2012 Order set a subsequent hearing on why the foregoing sanctions should not be imposed on Defendant. (RJN, Exh. A, at p. 38.)

At the hearing on November 14, 2012, the Family Court stated, regarding the September 2012 Order:

[The Divorce Decree] doesn't say any other doctors. It says Dr. Gold. So that's a fixed liquid amount and then other therapists and other health care providers fall within child support and add ons to child support if not covered by that specific language in the judgment. That's what I did when I made that decision.

(Defendant's Decl., Exh. F, at p. 213.)

On December 21, 2012, the Family Court issued an order directing Defendant to pay Plaintiff "as for attorney's fees and costs as a sanction, the amount of $38,411.66 without interest, pursuant to Family Code Section 3027.1, due and payable in full within 30 days of November 14, 2012" (the "December 2012 Order"). (Defendant's Statement, ¶ 35; RJN, Exh. C, at p. 75 (emphasis in original).)

Chapter 7

On March 31, 2017, Defendant filed a voluntary chapter 7 petition, commencing case no. 1:17-bk-10825-VK. On July 3, 2017, Defendant received a chapter 7 discharge [case no. 1:17-bk-10825-VK, doc. 25]. On October 16, 2017, Defendant's chapter 7 case was closed [case no. 1:17-bk-10825-VK, doc. 44].

On June 26, 2017, Plaintiff filed the pending adversary proceeding in pro per, seeking a determination that the debts owed to him by Defendant are nondischargeable pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §§ 523(a)(15) (the "Complaint") [doc. 1]. In the Complaint, Plaintiff alleged that the September 2012 Order provided for "payment of sanctions in favor of Plaintiff the amount of $43,411.66 plus interest[,] and "payment of $4,438.28 for the children's medical, therapy and educational expenses." (Complaint, ¶ 10.) On July 21, 2017, Defendant filed an answer to the Complaint [doc. 5].

Plaintiff did not serve Defendant with his initial disclosures. On December 19, 2017, Defendant served discovery on Plaintiff. (Defendant's Decl., ¶ 4.) On January 23, 2018, Plaintiff served his discovery responses on Defendant. (Id., ¶ 5.) The following chart summarizes the relevant requests for admissions ("RFA") and Plaintiff's responses:

RFA	Plaintiff's Response
REQUEST NUMBER TWO: Admit that You have received payments from Amie Greenberg on the debt in the amount totaling $6,900. (Defendant's Decl., Exh. G, at p. 226.)	Admit. (Defendant's Decl., Exh. G, at p. 306.)
REQUEST NUMBER THIRTEEN: Admit that on November 14, 2012, the State Court in its order entered December 21, 2012 order ordered [sic] that Amie Greenberg individually shall pay to Jeffrey Rubin as for attorney's fees and costs as a sanction, the amount of $38,411.66, without interest. (Defendant's Decl., Exh. G, at p. 227.)	I can neither Admit nor Deny as statement is incomplete and does include the time period in which the payment was required to be paid in full. In addition, in response to Defendant's interrogatory no. 17, Plaintiff stated that he was entitled to interest on the sanctions awards because Defendant did not pay them within 30 days, as ordered by the Family Court. (Defendant's Decl., Exh. L, at p. 327.)

On February 12, 2018, Defendant filed a Motion for Summary Judgment Pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 56 (the "Motion") [doc. 19] and a supporting memorandum of points and authorities (the "Memorandum") [doc. 20]. Defendant also filed a supporting declaration [doc. 21] and the RJN [doc. 22].

On April 12, 2018, Plaintiff filed a substitution of attorney, indicating that he had obtained counsel [doc. 37]. On April 20, 2018, Plaintiff filed an opposition to the Motion (the "Opposition") [doc. 40] and a Statement of Genuine Issues in Support of Plaintiff's Opposition to Defendant's Motion for Summary Judgment [Adv. ("Plaintiff's Statement") [doc. 41]. Plaintiff does not dispute that the September 2012 Order provided, in part, that Defendant shall reimburse Plaintiff one-half the costs of the minor children's therapy with Dr. Gold. (Plaintiff's Statement, at p. 2.) However, Plaintiff disputes Defendant's contention that there are no triable issues of fact as to Plaintiff's claim for $4,438.28 for the children's medical, therapy, or educational expenses. Plaintiff also contends that he is entitled to post-judgment interest as a matter of California law. (Id., at p. 5.)

On May 2, 2018, Defendant filed her reply (the "Reply") [doc. 47]. In the Reply, Defendant asks the Court not to consider the Opposition because it was untimely served. Defendant alleges that she did not receive the Opposition until May 2, 2018, the day that the Reply was due. The Court continued the hearing on the Motion from May 16, 2018 to June 13, 2018.

II. THE MOTION

Defendant seeks summary judgment on Plaintiff's claim for relief under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(15). Defendant argues that the monies awarded as sanctions by the Family Court constitute a debt that was incurred post-dissolution, and thus not incurred "in connection with" the parties' dissolution proceedings. On these grounds, Defendant seeks a determination that the debt owed to Plaintiff is dischargeable.

III. LEGAL STANDARDS

A. General Motion for Summary Judgment Standard

Pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure ("Rule") 56, applicable to this adversary proceeding under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure ("FRBP") 7056, the Court shall grant summary judgment if the pleadings, depositions, answers to interrogatories, and admissions on file, together with the affidavits, if any, show there is no genuine issue as to any material fact and that the moving party is entitled to judgment as a matter of law. Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc., 477 U.S. 242, 247, 106 S.Ct. 2505, 2509-10, 91 L.Ed.2d 202 (1986); Rule 56; FRBP 7056. fact." 477 U.S. at 247–48 (emphasis in original).

As to materiality, the substantive law will identify which facts are material. Only disputes over facts that might affect the outcome of the suit under the governing law will properly preclude the entry of summary judgment. Factual disputes that are irrelevant or unnecessary will not be counted. . . . [S]ummary judgment will not lie if the dispute about a material fact is "genuine," that is, if the evidence is such that a reasonable jury could return a verdict for the nonmoving party. . . .

Id. at 248–50 (internal citations omitted). Additionally, issues of law are appropriate to be decided in a motion for summary judgment. See Camacho v. Du Sung Corp., 121 F.3d 1315, 1317 (9th Cir. 1997).

The initial burden is on the moving party to show that no genuine issues of material fact exist based on "the pleadings, depositions, answers to interrogatories, and admissions on file, together with affidavits, if any." Celotex Corp. v. Catrett, 477 U.S. 317, 323, 106 S.Ct. 2548, 2553, 91 L.Ed. 265 (1986). Once the moving party meets its initial burden, the nonmoving party bearing "the burden of proof at trial on a dispositive issue" must identify facts beyond what is contained in the pleadings that show genuine issues of fact remain. Id. at 324; see also Anderson, 477 U.S. at 256 ("Rule 56(e) itself provides that a party opposing a properly supported motion for summary judgment may not rest upon mere allegation or denials of his pleading, but must set forth specific facts showing that there is a genuine issue for trial.").

The nonmoving party meets this burden through the presentation of "evidentiary materials" listed in Rule 56, such as depositions, documents, electronically stored information, affidavits or declarations, stipulations, admissions, and interrogatory answers. Id. To establish a genuine issue, the non-moving party "must do more than simply show that there is some metaphysical doubt as to the material facts." Matsushita Elec. Indus. Co. v. Zenith Radio Corp., 475 U.S. 574, 586, 106 S.Ct. 1348, 1356, 89 L.Ed.2d 538 (1986); see also Anderson, 477 U.S. at 252 ("The mere existence of a scintilla of evidence in support of the [non-moving party's] position will be insufficient."). Rather, the nonmoving party must provide "evidence of such a caliber that 'a fair-minded jury could return a verdict for the [nonmoving party] on the evidence presented.'" U.S. v. Wilson, 881 F.2d 596, 601 (9th Cir. 1989) (quoting

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(15), a bankruptcy discharge does not discharge an individual debtor from any debt:

to a spouse, former spouse, or child of the debtor and not of the kind described in paragraph (5) that is incurred by the debtor in the course of a divorce or separation or in connection with a separation agreement, divorce decree or other order of a court of record, or a determination made in accordance with State or territorial law by a governmental unit[.]

A plaintiff seeking a determination of nondischargeability under § 523(a)(15) must establish three elements:

(1) that the debt in question is owed to a [spouse,] former spouse[, or child] of the debtor; (2) that the debt is not a support obligation within the meaning of § 523(a)(5); and (3) that the debt was incurred in the course of a divorce or separation or in connection with a separation agreement, divorce decree, or other order of a court of record.

[T]he trend in recent case law is to construe § 523(a)(15) expansively to cover a broader array of claims related to domestic relations within the discharge exception. See, e.g., In re Wise, 2012 WL 5399075, at *6 (Bankr. #### IV. DISCUSSION

Here, Plaintiff has opposed the Motion. After a review of the pleadings, the Court finds that there remain genuine issues of material fact as to (i) whether the September 2012 Order and the December 2012 Order were issued in connection to the parties' dissolution proceedings; (ii) whether Plaintiff is entitled to claim $4,438.28 for the children's medical, therapy, and educational expenses; and (iii) whether Plaintiff is entitled to post-judgment interest. However, the parties do not dispute that Defendant has already paid $6,900 to Plaintiff in partial satisfaction of her debt.

A. Untimely Opposition

In her Reply, Defendant asks the Court not to consider the Opposition because it was untimely served. Defendant alleges that she did not receive the Reply until May 2, 2018, the day the Reply was due. Aside from this allegation, Defendant has not alleged that she suffered any prejudice as a result of her delayed receipt of the Opposition. In fact, since the Court continued the hearing from May 16, 2018 to June 13, 2018, Defendant was afforded additional time to file a supplemental reply if she wished. Because it does not appear that Defendant was prejudiced, the Court will consider the Opposition in ruling on the Motion.

B. Request for Judicial Notice

As an initial matter, pursuant to Federal Rule of Evidence 201(b)(2), the Court will grant Defendant's unopposed request for judicial notice of documents attached to her RJN. The judicially noticeable documents are copies of court records. See, e.g., Rosales-Martinez v. Palmer, 753 F.3d 890, 894 (9th Cir. 2014) ("It is well established that we may take judicial notice of judicial proceedings in other courts."); Golden Gate v. Marincovich, 286 F. 105, 106 (9th Cir. 1923) ("Every court takes judicial notice of its own records in the same case.").

on Plaintiff's claim under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(15).

Chapter 7

1.      *Debt Owed to Defendant

Defendant concedes that Plaintiff has established the first element of a claim under § 523(a)(15). All the amounts at issue are owed by Defendant, a former spouse of Plaintiff, to Plaintiff.

2.      *Support Obligation Pursuant to § 523(a)(5).

To prevail on a claim for relief under § 523(a)(15), Plaintiff must show that the amounts at issue are not support obligations pursuant to § 523(a)(5). Section 523(a)(5) excepts from discharge any debt for a "domestic support obligation." Pursuant to § 101(14A):

(14A) The term "domestic support obligation" means a debt that accrues before, on, or after the date of the order for relief in a case under this title, including interest that accrues on that debt as provided under applicable nonbankruptcy law notwithstanding any other provision of this title, that is—

(A) owed to or recoverable by—

(i) a spouse, former spouse, or child of the debtor or such child's parent, legal guardian, or responsible relative; or

(ii) a governmental unit;

(B) in the nature of alimony, maintenance, or support (including assistance provided by a governmental unit) of such spouse, former spouse, or child of the debtor or such child's parent, without regard to whether such debt is expressly so designated;

(C) established or subject to establishment before, on, or after the date of the order for relief in a case under this title, by reason of applicable provisions of-

(i) a separation agreement, divorce decree, or property settlement agreement;

(ii) an order of a court of record; or

(iii) a determination made in accordance with applicable nonbankruptcy law by a governmental unit; and

(D) not assigned to a nongovernmental entity, unless that obligation is assigned voluntarily by the spouse, former spouse, child of the debtor, or such child's parent, legal guardian, or responsible relative for the purpose of collecting the debt.

Defendant argues that she is entitled to summary judgment because Plaintiff cannot establish this element of his claim. In RFA no. 40, Defendant asked, "Admit that the debt is not a domestic support obligation as defined in 11 U.S.C. § 101(14A)." (Defendant's Decl., Exh. G, at p. 232.) Plaintiff's response was, "Deny." (Defendant's Decl., Exh. G, at p. 307.) Defendant interprets this response as, "Plaintiff admits the sanction is a domestic support obligation as defined in 11 U.S.C. § 101(14A)." (Memorandum, at p. 8.) Because of this admission, Defendant argues, it has been conclusively established that the debt is a domestic support obligation excepted from discharge under § 523(a)(5). Therefore, Defendant contends that the debt cannot be excepted from discharge under § 523(a)(15).

However, there are several problems with Defendant's reasoning. First, RFA no. 40 is somewhat confusing, in that it asks Plaintiff to admit to a negative. At the time Plaintiff served his responses, he was in pro per and may not have clearly understood the RFA.

Second, Plaintiff's denial of RFA no. 40 is not equivalent to an affirmative admission that the sanctions are a domestic support obligation pursuant to § 101(41A).

[A party] cannot create an end-run around the jurisdictional requirements by forcing a denial of a negative and then claim the positive is admitted and conclusively determined. It is true that in formal logic, and even in everyday language, that what is may be inferred from a statement about what is not. Or, that denial is the opposite of affirmation. . . . In the context of a request for admission to a plaintiff from a defendant, however, the effect of a denial is not the same. On the one hand, when a party admits to a fact in response to a request for admission, that fact is conclusively established for purposes of the litigation. Fed.R.Civ.P. 36(b) ("A matter admitted under this rule is conclusively established unless the court, on motion, permits the admission to be withdrawn or amended."); see U.S. v. 2204 Barbara Lane, 960 F.2d 126, 129 (11th Cir.1992). On the other, the effect of a denial is not to admit the opposite of the proposition offered for admission, but rather is simply to establish that the matter is in dispute.

Harmon v. Wal-Mart Stores, Inc., Case No. 3:08-CV-309-MEF, 2009 WL 707403, at *4 (M.D. Ala. Mar. 16, 2009) (emphasis added).

Third, Plaintiff's response to RFA no. 40 contradicts his responses to other RFAs. In RFA no. 16, Defendant asked: "Admit that the debt in the amount of $5,000 awarded in the September 4, 2012 order is not a debt for alimony, maintenance or support." (Defendant's Decl., Exh. G, at p. 228.) Plaintiff responded, "Admit." (Defendant's Decl., Exh. G, at p. 306.) In RFA no. 17, Defendant asked: Admit that the debt in the amount of $38,411.66 awarded in the September 4, 2012 Order and in the December 12, 2012 Order is not a debt for alimony, maintenance or support." (Defendant's Decl., Exh. G, at p. 228.) Plaintiff responded, "Admit." (Defendant's Decl., Exh. G, at p. 306.)

Pursuant to Rule 36(b), "a matter admitted under this rule is conclusively established" unless otherwise ordered by the court. Thus, Plaintiff's responses to RFAs nos. 16 and 17 conclusively establish that the debts at issue are not debts for alimony, maintenance, or support as defined in § 101(41A), and therefore not excepted from discharge under § 523(a)(5). As noted above, Plaintiff's denial of RFA no. 40 lacks the same conclusive effect as an affirmative admission. Accordingly, the debts at issue could potentially still be excepted from discharge under § 523(a)(15).

3. Debts Incurred in Connection with Dissolution Proceedings

Defendant has not established that she is entitled to judgment as a matter of law as to the final element of the § 523(a)(15) discharge exception. The language of § 523(a)(15) is broad, excepting from discharge debts "incurred in the course of a divorce or separation or in connection with a separation agreement, divorce decree, or other order of a court of record."

California Family Code § 3027.1(a) provides:

If a court determines, based on the investigation described in Section 3027 or other evidence presented to it, that an accusation of child abuse or neglect made during a child custody proceeding is false and the person making the accusation knew it to be false at the time the accusation was made, the court may impose reasonable money sanctions, not to exceed all costs incurred by the party accused as a direct result of defending the accusation, and reasonable attorney's fees incurred in recovering the sanctions, against the person making the accusation.

The September 2012 Order and the December 2012 Order (together, the "Sanctions Orders") relied on Family Code § 3027.1 in determining that sanctions against Plaintiff were warranted. Defendant tries to portray the Sanctions Orders as imposing post-dissolution sanctions designed primarily to deter her future conduct, with no connection to the parties' dissolution proceedings. However, the Defendant's OSC Request was filed specifically to modify previous child custody and visitation orders. The Family Court issued the Sanctions Orders in response to Defendant's OSC Request, which was based on false allegations of child abuse. These facts appear to show that the sanctions were debts to Plaintiff incurred "in connection with" the Divorce Decree.

Defendant argues that "[a] debt constitutes a debt incurred in connection with a divorce decree or separation agreement when it has been specifically incorporated into such divorce decree or separation agreement." McFadden v. Putnam (In re Putnam), Case No. 10-19719-A-7, 2012 WL 8134423, at *19 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. Aug. 30, 2012). Defendant interprets Putnam's holding as requiring that all debts incurred in connection with a divorce decree must be specifically incorporated into the divorce decree to be nondischargeable under § 523(a)(15). However, this is not what Putnam holds. Instead, Putnam holds that when a debt is incorporated into a divorce decree, then it is necessarily incurred in connection with the divorce decree. Putnam does not hold that only when a debt is incorporated into a divorce decree is a debt incurred in connection with the divorce decree."

Defendant's interpretation of Putnam is too restrictive and is contrary to the weight of authority in favor of an expansive interpretation of § 523(a)(15). Courts have held that attorneys' fees and sanctions awards issued in connection with a dissolution proceeding are nondischargeable under § 523(a)(15). In Tritt v. Tritt (In re Tritt), Case No. 12-42446, 2014 WL 1347763 (Bankr. E.D. Tex. Apr. 4, 2014), the plaintiff and defendant obtained a divorce decree that contained provisions regarding custody of their two children. During the course of subsequent litigation involving child custody disputes, the defendant filed an "emergency motion to protect children and request for temporary restraining order." The family court denied defendant's motion and imposed sanctions on her, finding that the motion had been filed in bad faith. In a subsequent proceeding, the family court found the defendant in contempt of prior court orders, and imposed further penalties upon her, including reimbursement of certain health care expenses of the children and confinement in the county jail. The family court further awarded attorneys' fees to plaintiff in connection with the custody litigation.

The defendant never paid plaintiff any of the amounts awarded. Subsequently, the defendant filed a chapter 7 petition. The plaintiff filed an adversary proceeding against the defendant, seeking a determination that the debts owed by defendant were nondischargeable pursuant to § 523(a)(5) and/or § 523(a)(15). The plaintiff filed a motion for partial summary judgment on his claims for relief. The defendant filed a cross-motion for summary judgment, asserting that the post-divorce sanctions and fee awards were discharged in her chapter 7 case. The court granted the plaintiff's motion and denied the defendant's motion, holding that the attorneys' fees, sanctions, and contempt awards were subject to the § 523(a)(15) exception:

Sanctions awarded against a debtor for engaging in bad faith litigation tactics, such as in the Sanctions Order in this case, are not excluded from the scope of § 523(a)(15). . . . The same analysis applies to fee awards arising from contempt proceedings . . . particularly when, as in this instance, the fee award compensates the former spouse for the necessity of bringing action to compel compliance with the Family Court's standing order regarding the propriety of parental behavior toward the children.

Here, the facts are similar to those in Tritt. Like the defendant in Tritt, Defendant sought to modify the child custody provisions of the Divorce Decree. When the Family Court found Defendant's allegations of child abuse to be false, it imposed sanctions on Defendant pursuant to Family Code § 3027.1, in part to compensate Plaintiff for having to defend against Defendant's unfounded allegations.

Defendant next argues that a debt excepted from discharge under § 523(a)(15) must be incurred in the course of a divorce, and not after a divorce decree has been entered. Defendant relies on Tracy v. Tracy (In re Tracy), Case No. 06-40044-JDP, 2007 WL 420252 (Bankr. D. Idaho Feb. 2, 2007). However, Tracy does not support Defendant's position. In Tracy, the plaintiff and the defendant obtained a divorce decree in October 2003. After the divorce, the defendant rented their home from the plaintiff until March 2005. When the defendant vacated the residence, she took several items from the home and withdrew $3,179 from a joint account that had not been dealt with in the divorce proceedings. The plaintiff sued the defendant and obtained a money judgment against her. In the defendant's bankruptcy proceeding, the plaintiff and his current wife sought to except the money judgment from discharge under § 523(a)(15). The bankruptcy court held that the money judgment did not fall within the § 523(a)(15) exception:

[T]he parties' property dispute arose approximately a year and a half after the divorce decree was entered. Although the residence was awarded to Plaintiff in the divorce as his separate property, he thereafter rented it to Defendant. This created a new, landlord/tenant relationship between the parties. The subsequent lawsuit involved claims for damages Defendant allegedly caused to the residence as a tenant; claims that Defendant converted Plaintiff's personal property when she vacated the residence; and claims that she wrongfully withdrew funds from a joint bank account that the parties stipulated was not mentioned in the divorce decree. . . None of these claims gave rise to debts owed by Defendant to Plaintiff arising from their prior status as spouses.

Tracy, 2007 WL 420252, at *3 (emphasis added).

Tracy does not hold, as Defendant suggest, that all debts incurred post-dissolution are outside the § 523(a)(15) exception. In Tracy, the new landlord/tenant relationship between the plaintiff and the defendant was the basis for the post-divorce money judgment. The court found that such damages were unrelated to the divorce proceedings and did not arise from the parties' prior status as spouses. Here, even though the Sanctions Orders were entered several months after the Divorce Decree, the Sanctions Orders stem directly from Defendant's and Plaintiff's status as former spouses and their dispute over child custody.

In light of the foregoing, Defendant is not entitled to judgment as a matter of law on Plaintiff's claim for relief under § 523(a)(15).

D. The Children's Medical, Therapy, and Educational Expenses

In the Complaint, Plaintiff alleges that the September 2012 Order directed Defendant to pay "$4,438.28 for the children's medical, therapy and educational expenses[.]" (Complaint, ¶ 10.) The Divorce Decree provided that the each party was to "pay one-half the cost of future therapy with Dr. Gold for the minor children." (RJN, Exh. B, ¶ 12.) The September 2012 Order provided that Defendant was to reimburse Plaintiff for "one-half the costs of the minor children's therapy with Dr. Gold[.]" pursuant to the Divorce Decree. (RJN, Exh. A, at p. 37.)

Plaintiff does not dispute the language in the September 2012 Order, regarding Defendant's reimbursement of one-half the cost of the children's therapy with Dr. Gold. Plaintiff asserts that there are disputed facts as to his claim for $4,438.28 for the children's medical, therapy, and education expenses. Notwithstanding his assertion, his claimed $4,438.28 does not appear in the Divorce Decree, the September 2012 Order, or the December 2012 Order.

In his responses to Defendant's RFAs, Plaintiff states that "it was implied that the cost of therapy be equally shared regardless of the therapist." (Defendant's Decl., Exh. G, at p. 309.) At the November 14, 2012 hearing, the Family Court stated that "other therapists and other health care providers fall within child support and add ons to child support if not covered by that specific language in the judgment." (Defendant's Decl., Exh. F, at p. 213.) The Family Court's statement refers to other health care and therapy providers, but does not refer to educational expenses. Without further evidence, it is not clear whether this $4,438.28 debt alleged by Plaintiff was contemplated by the Divorce Decree, the September 2012 Order, or the December

Because there appear to be material facts in dispute as to the amount of, and Defendant's responsibility for, the children's medical, therapy, and educational expenses, the Court cannot grant summary judgment in favor of Defendant on this issue at this time.

E. Interest Owed to Plaintiff

Defendant argues that Plaintiff has not produced any evidence that he is entitled to interest. In his Complaint, Plaintiff alleges that the September 2012 Order provides for the payment of sanctions in the total amount of $43,411.66 plus interest. The September 2012 Order provides for sanctions in the amount of $38,411.66 pursuant to Family Code § 3027.1 and $5,000 pursuant to Family Code § 271. (RJN, Exh. A, at p. 37.) However, the September 2012 Order does not provide for interest. In addition, the December 2012 Order specifically provides that the sanctions under Family Code § 3027.1 in the amount of $38,411.66 were awarded without interest. (RJN, Exh. C, at p. 75.) The December 2012 Order does not mention the $5,000 in sanctions awarded pursuant to Family Code § 271.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, Plaintiff argues that he is entitled to interest on the sanctions awards under California law, because the sanctions were not paid in full within 30 days. California Code of Civil Procedure 685.010(a) provides that "[i]nterest accrues at the rate of 10 percent per annum on the principal amount of a money judgment remaining unsatisfied." Defendant does not dispute that the sanctions awards remain unsatisfied. Nor has Defendant met her burden of showing that Plaintiff is not entitled to any interest whatsoever. Accordingly, Defendant is not entitled to summary judgment on this issue.

F. Partial Satisfaction

Defendant has provided evidence that she has paid Plaintiff the sum of $6,900 in partial satisfaction of the sanctions awards. Plaintiff does not dispute this fact. Accordingly, the Court will enter summary adjudication on this issue.

#18.00 Plaintiff's motion for an order extending the deadline to file pretrial motions set forth in Court's October 30, 2017 scheduling order

fr. 5/16/18

Docket 38

Tentative Ruling:

Grant.

I. BACKGROUND

On March 31, 2017, Amie Suzanne Greenberg ("Defendant") filed a voluntary chapter 7 petition.

On June 26, 2017, Jeff Rubin ("Plaintiff") filed a complaint against Defendant (the "Complaint"), requesting nondischargeability of the debt owed to him pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(15). Through the Complaint, Plaintiff requests nondischargeability of $43,411.66, plus interest, awarded to Plaintiff by the family court in the parties' dissolution proceeding (the "Family Court Order"). Complaint, Exhibit 1. Plaintiff also requests $4,438.28 "for the children's medical, therapy and educational expenses." Id.

On August 23, 2017, the Court held an initial status conference. The joint status report [doc. 6] the parties prepared in preparation for the initial status conference indicated that the parties had not complied with Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure ("FRBP") 7026. As such, on August 24, 2017, the Court entered an order [doc. 8] continuing the status conference and instructing the parties to comply with FRBP 7026 by, among other things, providing initial disclosures to one another.

On October 25, 2017, the Court held a continued status conference. On October 30, 2017, the Court entered a scheduling order (the "Scheduling Order") [doc. 14]. Through the Scheduling Order, the Court set the following dates and deadlines: (A)

January 31, 2018 as the discovery cutoff date; (B) February 15, 2018 as the last day to file pretrial motions; (C) March 21, 2018 as the deadline by which the parties must file a pretrial stipulation; and (D) April 4, 2018 as the pretrial conference.

On April 12, 2018, Plaintiff filed a substitution of counsel, indicating that Plaintiff retained counsel to represent him in this action [doc. 37]. On April 20, 2018, Plaintiff filed a motion to extend the pretrial motion deadline found in the Scheduling Order (the "Motion") [doc. 38]. On May 1, 2018, Defendant filed an opposition to the Motion [doc. 45] and requested sanctions pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 105(a), Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 37(c) and Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 9011.

II. ANALYSIS

A. Modification of Scheduling Order

Pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure ("Rule") 16(b)(4), as incorporated into this proceeding by Fed. R. Bankr. P. 7016, "[a] schedule may be modified only for good cause and with the judge's consent." "The district court is given broad discretion in supervising the pretrial phase of litigation...." Johnson v. Mammoth Recreations, Inc., 975 F.2d 604, 607 (9th Cir. 1992).

Rather than use the "good cause" standard of Rule 16(b)(4), the parties argue whether there was excusable neglect, an issue the Court need not decide in connection with a request to modify one of the Court's own orders. Instead, the Court need only find "good cause" to extend the deadline by which the parties may file pretrial motions.

Here, there is good cause to extend the deadline. Allowing Plaintiff the opportunity to file a motion for summary judgment will expedite this matter, especially in light of the fact that the issues present here are mostly legal, not factual. As a result, all of the issues may be disposed through a motion for summary judgment, which will save time and resources for both parties. In addition, the Court has not set trial dates, such that the Court will not have to alter any dates or deadlines related to trial. Moreover, Plaintiff has now retained counsel, and the Court expects counsel to meet deadlines diligently going forward. The Court will closely scrutinize any future missed deadlines.

In addition, Defendant concedes that she has now received Plaintiff's initial disclosures. To the extent Plaintiff's disclosures provide an additional basis for Defendant to file another motion for summary judgment, the deadline will now be also extended for Defendant to have the opportunity to do so. It is in the best interest of both parties to attempt resolution through a motion for summary judgment, or at least a motion for partial summary adjudication, for the purpose of saving the time and money that would otherwise be spent preparing for trial. As such, the Court will grant the Motion.

B. Sanctions

The Court also will deny Defendant's request for sanctions under 11 U.S.C. § 105(a), Rule 37(c) and Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure ("FRBP") 9011. Defendant's arguments under Rule 37(c) are repetitive of her arguments in the separately filed motion in limine, and will be denied for the same reasons outlined in the ruling on that motion.

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 105(a), the Court "may issue any order, process, or judgment that is necessary or appropriate to carry out provisions of this title," and take "any action or mak[e] any determination necessary or appropriate to enforce or implement court orders or rules, or to prevent an abuse of process." "The standard for finding a party in civil contempt is well settled: The moving party has the burden of showing by clear and convincing evidence that the contemnors violated a specific and definite order of the court." In re Dyer, 322 F.3d 1178, 1190-91 (9th Cir. 2003).

Here, Defendant has not pointed to a "specific and definite" order of the Court. The October 30, 2017 scheduling order did not include a deadline by which the parties had to exchange initial disclosures. That deadline is governed by Rule 26(a), and the appropriate remedy is to seek sanctions under Rule 37(c), which Defendant already did in a separate motion. Regarding Defendant's assertions about the pretrial stipulation, it appears that Plaintiff timely filed a unilateral pretrial statement. If Plaintiff did not timely serve Defendant with his portion of a joint pretrial stipulation, the more appropriate remedy at this time is to continue the pretrial conference for the parties to file a joint pretrial stipulation, especially now that Plaintiff has retained counsel.

As for Defendant's requests for sanctions under FRBP 9011, any request for sanctions under FRBP 9011 must "be made separately from other motions or requests...." FRBP 9011(c)(1)(A). Even if Defendant had filed a separate motion, there is no basis for relief under FRBP 9011. In the Motion, Plaintiff mostly quotes the family court's orders in his statement of facts. The inclusion of these orders for the purpose of providing background is not sanctionable conduct under FRBP 9011. Moreover, Plaintiff did not call Defendant a vexatious litigant; Plaintiff stated that Defendant "did not change her vexatious ways." Although the language is strong, Plaintiff did not falsely represent to the Court that Defendant was deemed a vexatious litigant by any other court. There being no basis for sanctions under any of the authorities above, the Court will deny Defendant's request.

III. CONCLUSION

The Court will grant the Motion. The Court will extend the deadline for the parties to file pretrial motions to September 14, 2018.

Plaintiff must submit an order within seven (7) days.

Tentative ruling regarding Defendant's evidentiary objections to the identified paragraphs in the Declaration of Jeff Rubin set forth below:

paras. 4-5: sustain

Regarding Defendant's remaining objections, those objections do not involve "evidence," because Defendant is objecting to language in the Motion instead of to actual evidence, such as testimony in a declaration or exhibits attached thereto. Moreover, it is unclear to which language Defendant objects because Defendant did not quote the allegedly objectionable language. As such, the Court will overrule the remaining objections made by Defendant.

Chapter 11

#6.00 Disclosure statement hearing in support of plan of reorganization

Docket 45

Tentative Ruling:

According to the debtors, the debtors will be filing a stipulation with creditor JP Morgan Chase Bank, N.A. ("Chase") setting forth the parties' stipulated treatment of Chase's claim. Because the current chapter 11 plan and disclosure statement do not include this information, approval of the disclosure statement at this time is premature.

In addition, the current disclosure statement contains a summary of the debtors' monthly operating reports that contains incorrect numbers. Moreover, the disclosure statement states that the debtors anticipate a projected monthly disposable income of $1,000, based on a monthly income of $8,896.85 and monthly expenses of $5,537.48. These numbers actually yield a monthly disposable income of $3,359.37. The debtors have not explained this discrepancy.

The debtors should file an amended chapter 11 plan and disclosure statement incorporating the stipulation with Chase and correcting the errors outlined herein.

The Court will continue the hearing on the adequacy of the debtors' disclosure statement to 1:00 p.m. on September 13, 2018. No later than August 7, 2018, the debtors must file an amended chapter 11 plan and related disclosure statement, and must serve notice of the continued hearing on the adequacy of the amended disclosure statement.

Docket 288

Tentative Ruling:

Grant.

I. BACKGROUND

On April 28, 2017, Capri Coast Capital, Inc. filed a voluntary chapter 11 petition. On June 9, 2017, Hampton Heights, Inc. ("Hampton") filed a voluntary chapter 11 petition [1:17-bk-11545-VK]. On August 2, 2017, the Court entered an order granting the Debtor's motion for joint administration of its case with Ravello Ventures, Inc., Amalfi Assets, Inc., and Hampton (collectively, the "Debtors") [doc. 43].

On February 28, 2018, the Debtors filed a motion to approve the sale of substantially all of the Debtors' assets (the "Sale Motion") [doc. 221]. On April 5, 2018, the court entered an order granting the Sale Motion [doc. 257]. The Debtors received approximately $216,750 in proceeds from the closing of the sale.

Golden Spectrum Property, LLC ("Golden") was the landlord for the Palmdale location operated by Hampton. Hampton was current on its rent payments up through March 2018. Hampton was in possession of its location until April 5, 2018. Golden alleges that Hampton did not pay rent for April 1-5, 2018, in the amount of $1,953.33.

On May 24, 2018, Golden filed the pending Motion of Golden Spectrum Property, LLC, Landlord, Regarding the Massage Envy Palmdale Location (Hampton Heights, Inc.) for Allowance and Immediate Payment of Administrative Claim for Unpaid Post-Petition Rent (the "Motion") [doc. 288]. In the Motion, Golden argues that the unpaid rent in the amount of $1,953.33 is an actual and necessary expense of preserving the Hampton estate. As such, the unpaid rent should be deemed allowed as a post-petition administrative expense and paid immediately.

CONT... Capri Coast Capital, Inc.

Chapter 11

On May 31, 2018, the Debtors filed a limited opposition to the Motion [doc. 293]. The Debtors do not oppose Golden's request for a liquidated administrative claim in the amount of $1,953.33 against the Hampton estate. However, the Debtors argue that such claim should be paid pro-rata with other administrative claimants when such payments are made, and the claim should be against Hampton only.

II. DISCUSSION

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 503(b), "[a]fter notice and a hearing, there shall be allowed administrative expenses, other than claims allowed under section 502(f) of this title, including . . . the actual, necessary costs and expenses of preserving the estate . . .". Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 365(d)(3),

The trustee shall timely perform all the obligations of the debtor, except those specified in section 365(b)(2), arising from and after the order for relief under any unexpired lease of nonresidential real property, until such lease is assumed or rejected, notwithstanding section 503(b)(1) of this title. The court may extend, for cause, the time for performance of any such obligation that arises within 60 days after the date of the order for relief, but the time for performance shall not be extended beyond such 60-day period. This subsection shall not be deemed to affect the trustee's obligations under the provisions of subsection (b) or (f) of this section. Acceptance of any such performance does not constitute waiver or relinquishment of the lessor's rights under such lease or under this title.

The parties do not dispute that Golden's claim for unpaid rent in the amount of $1,953.33 should be deemed an allowed administrative expense against the Hampton estate. However, the parties disagree whether such claim should be paid immediately, or pro rata with other administrative claimants when such payments are made.

Some courts hold that the failure to pay postpetition rent entitles a lessor to immediate payment on its administrative claim, subject to disgorgement if there are insufficient funds to pay all administrative claimants in full. In In re Four Star Pizza, Inc., 135 B.R. 498 (Bankr. W.D. Pa. 1992), a debtor leased premises for operation of its pizza parlor. The debtor filed a chapter 11 petition. Three months later, the court entered an order granting the debtor's motion to reject the lease for the premises. Between the petition date and the rejection of the lease, the debtor occupied the premises without paying rent. The debtor's subsequently filed chapter 11 plan provided for the payment in full of all administrative claims on the effective date of the plan. Before the disclosure statement was approved, the landlord filed a motion to compel the payment of rent as an administrative expense, pursuant to § 365(d)(3). The court granted the motion holding that "[a] nonresidential lessor's administrative expense claim which arises under § 365(d)(3) shall be paid immediately, absent a showing of substantial doubt that there will be sufficient funds available to pay all administrative claimants in full." Id. at 500. However, the court further held that the rent payments were:

entitled to payment on a pro rata basis with all other allowed chapter 11 administrative claims. The order directing immediate payment of movant's claim will be subject to debtor's right to seek recovery of all or part of the payment in the unlikely event that all other chapter 11 administrative claimants are not paid in full.

Id. (citing In re Dieckhaus Stationers of King of Prussia, Inc., 73 B.R. 969, 973 (Bankr. E.D. Pa. 1987)).

Other courts hold that courts have discretion whether to order immediate payment. In In re Washington Bancorporation, 126 B.R. 130 (Bankr. D.D.C. 1991), the court determined that a landlord was entitled to an administrative expense on account of a debtor's unpaid post-petition rent. The landlord sought immediate payment of the administrative expense. The court held that immediate payment was required, unless the debtor could establish good cause for withholding payment. The court found that the debtor-in-possession had over $900,000 in cash on hand, and did not show good cause for a delay of payment. Id. at 131. Accordingly, the court granted the landlord's motion and ordered immediate payment of the unpaid rent at issue.

In light of the circumstances of this case, the Court will order the immediate payment of Golden's administrative expense claim. The Debtors appear to be holding approximately $216,750 in cash from the sale proceeds. Golden's claim is in the amount of $1,953.33. The Debtors have not shown "substantial doubt that there will be sufficient funds to pay all administrative claimants in full." Nor have the Debtors shown good cause for delaying the payment of this relatively small amount.

III. CONCLUSION

Chapter 11

In light of the foregoing, the Court will grant the Motion. Golden's administrative expense claim is entitled to payment on a pro rata basis with all other chapter 11 administrative claimants of the Hampton estate. The Debtors are ordered to pay the amount of $1,953.33 to Golden within seven (7) days following entry of the order. The amount paid to Golden is subject to disgorgement if there are insufficient funds to pay all administrative claimants in full.

If Joyfully Gifted, Inc. ("Movant") is responsible for the payment of payroll incurred after April 5, 2018 (the lockout date), why is it appropriate for the debtors to retain revenue earned after April 5, 2018 (net of the royalties paid on April 11, 2018 to the franchisor)?

After the lockout on April 5, 2018, it is not credible that equipment and inventory was taken from the debtors' premises in the amounts "estimated" by Ms. Lawrence. Movant similarly has not demonstrated its entitlement to the other alleged damages.

with ASD Specialty Healthcare, Inc. dba Oncology Supply

fr. 4/12/18(stip); 5/17/18; 6/7/18(stip)

Docket 99

Tentative Ruling:

Grant, subject to the conditions stated in the oppositions [docs. 107, 128] filed by ASD Specialty Healthcare, Inc. d/b/a Oncology Supply ("ASD").

On June 8, 2017, Shamel Sanani, M.D. and Farideh Sanani (the "Debtors") filed a chapter 11 petition. In their schedules, the Debtors listed an interest in the real property located at 3935 Prado del Maiz, Calabasas, California 91302 (the "Property"), with a value of $2,400,000. (Doc. 37, at p. 3.) The Debtors also claimed an exemption the Property in the amount of "100% of fair market value, up to any applicable statutory limit." (Id., at p. 14.)

On January 23, 2018, the Debtors filed the pending Motion to Avoid Lien Under 11 U.S.C. § 522(f) (the "Motion") [doc. 99]. In the Motion, the Debtors claimed a homestead exemption in the Property in the amount of $175,000. (Motion, at p. 2.) Through the Motion, the Debtors sought to avoid a judgment lien against the Property in favor of ASD, in the approximate amount of $1,746,277.96. In support, the Debtors attached an authenticated appraisal of the Property, valuing the Property at $2,300,000 as of June 8, 2017 (the "Petition Date").

On February 13, 2018, ASD filed an opposition [doc. 107]. ASD requested the opportunity to obtain its own appraisal. In addition, ASD argued that any avoidance of its lien should be subject to allowance by the Court of the secured claims with "alleged" priority over ASD's lien in amounts not less than as set forth in the Motion. Alternatively, ASD asked the Court to preserve ASD's right to further contest avoidance of its lien to the extent the debtors later seek to reduce or otherwise modify the "alleged" secured claims superior to ASD's lien on the residence. ASD has not disputed the priority of the senior liens identified by the Debtors, or the amount of the related secured debts.

The hearing on the Motion was continued per stipulation to allow ASD to obtain its appraisal of the Property. On May 31, 2018, ASD filed a supplemental opposition to the Motion [doc. 128]. In support of their supplemental opposition, ASD attached an authenticated appraisal valuing the Debtors' residence at $2,450,000, as of April 6, 2018.

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 522(a)(2), "value" for purposes of a motion to avoid a judicial lien under § 522(f), "means fair market value as of the date of the filing of the petition." Here, the Petition Date is June 8, 2017. Accordingly, pursuant to § 522(a)(2), the value of the Property should be determined as of June 8, 2017. The Debtors' appraisal values the Property at $2,300,000 as of June 8, 2017. ASD's appraisal values the Property at $2,450,000 as of April 6, 2018. ASD has not submitted any evidence as to the value of the Property as of the Petition Date. Pursuant to § 522(a)(2), and for purposes of the pending Motion, the Court finds that the value of the Property is $2,300,000 as of the Petition Date.

In light of the foregoing, the Court will grant the Motion subject to ASD's conditions, which the Debtors do not oppose. ASD's judgment lien is avoided in the amount of $1,139,860.37. $606,417.59 of ASD's judgment lien is not avoided. Such lien avoidance is subject to allowance by the Court of the secured claims with priority over ASD's lien in amounts not less than as set forth in the Motion. ASD will retain the right to further contest avoidance of its lien, to the extent the Debtors later seek to reduce or otherwise modify the secured claims senior to ASD's lien.

The Debtors must submit the order within seven (7) days.

IDFIX, Inc.
VS
DEBTOR

fr. 4/18/18

Docket 137

Tentative Ruling:

Deny relief from the automatic stay.

In order to provide additional time for the chapter 7 trustee (the "Trustee") to determine whether he would proceed with the state court litigation, and for the parties to explore mediation of their dispute, the Court continued the prior hearing on this matter. The parties were instructed to file a status report no later than June 6, 2018.

On June 6, 2018, movant filed a unilateral status report [doc. 142]. Movant states that on April 26, 2018, the state court sustained movant's demurrer and gave the Trustee 10 days to file an amended complaint. As of the date of the status report, movant states that the Trustee has not done so. Movant further states that the state court set a trial date for the debtor's affirmative claims for February 19, 2019.

The unilateral status report is not supported by declaration or other evidence. If the statements in the unilateral status report are correct, it appears that the Trustee does not intend to pursue the debtor's claims against Movant in state court.

Even if mandatory abstention applies to the parties' state court litigation, mandatory abstention alone does not necessarily establish "cause" for relief from the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1). In Benedor Corp. v. Conejo Enterprises, Inc. (In re Conejo Enterprises, Inc.), 96 F.3d 346 (9th Cir. 1996), a chapter 11 debtor removed a creditor's state court breach of contract action against the debtor to bankruptcy court. The creditor moved for abstention, remand, and relief from the automatic stay, which the bankruptcy court denied. The district court reversed the bankruptcy court, holding that because mandatory abstention applied, there was cause for relief from the automatic stay. With respect to cause for relief from the automatic stay, the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals reversed the decision of the district court:

"[A] finding that mandatory abstention applies to the underlying state action does not preclude denial of relief from § 362's automatic stay. . . . [Section] 362(b) provides explicit exceptions to § 362(a)'s automatic stay. Pending state actions that are determined to be non-core proceedings are not listed among the explicit exemptions. Therefore, it is clear that Congress did not intend to provide an exception to the automatic stay for non-core pending state actions which are subject to mandatory abstention. In fact, Congress has made it clear that it intended just the opposite by providing that a decision to abstain under § 1334(c)(2) "shall not be construed to limit the applicability of the stay provided for by [§ 362] . . . ." 28 U.S.C. § 1334(c)(2)[.]

Id. at 352. The Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals found that the bankruptcy court had reasonably considered the following grounds in denying relief from stay: whether the creditor would file a proof of claim in the debtor's case, or waive its right to payment from the bankruptcy estate, and that judicial economy would be promoted by limiting duplicative litigation. As the Court of Appeals noted:

[t]he filing of a proof of claim by [creditor] must also be considered in determining whether cause exists for lifting the automatic stay. In holding that the automatic stay must be lifted, the district court ignored the filing of the proof of claim, instead focusing on its finding that the state court action was not within the bankruptcy court's core jurisdiction. We hold that the district court erred in doing so.

The allowance and disallowance of claims against the estate is a core proceeding. 28 U.S.C. § 157(b)(2)(B). Once [creditor] filed its proof of claim, it subjected its claim to the core jurisdiction of the bankruptcy court. It was within the sound discretion of the bankruptcy court to deny relief from the automatic stay.

Here, on October 6, 2017, movant filed proof of claim 6-1 in the debtor's bankruptcy case. The filing of this proof of claim subjects movant's claim to the core jurisdiction of this Court, subject to payment under the Bankruptcy Code's distribution scheme along with other filed claims. Pursuant to Conejo Enterprises, this Court is within its sound discretion to deny movant's request for relief from the automatic stay, for the reason set forth in the Court's prior tentative ruling.

The Trustee must submit the order within seven (7) days.

Deny.

I. BACKGROUND

Kandy Kiss of California, Inc. (the "Debtor") is a California corporation that was in the business of design, product development, wholesale manufacture, and sale of apparel to large retailers. IDFIX, Inc. ("Movant") produced fabric and garments for the Debtor.

In 2015, the Debtor and Movant had a dispute over certain garments that Movant produced for the Debtor. The Debtor refused to pay for the alleged nonconforming garments, which cost a total of $2,462,097.88 [doc. 137, Exh. A]. On July 14, 2016, the Debtor filed in state court a complaint against Movant and three other defendants, alleging breach of contract, breach of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing, conversion, open book account, account stated, unjust enrichment, and fraudulent concealment (the "State Court Action") [doc. 137, Exh A]. On December 1, 2016, Movant filed a cross-complaint against the Debtor and three other cross-defendants, alleging breach of contract, breach of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing, conversion, open book account, account stated, unjust enrichment, and fraudulent concealment (the "Cross-Complaint") [doc. 137, Exh A].

On February 14, 2017, an involuntary petition was filed against the Debtor. The State Court Action was stayed pursuant to the automatic stay. On September 19, 2017, the order for relief was entered in the Debtor's case [doc. 63].

On March 15, 2018, Movant filed a motion for relief from the automatic stay to proceed with the Cross-Complaint against the Debtor in the State Court Action (the "Motion") [doc. 137]. In the Motion, Movant argues that the Court must abstain from hearing the State Court Action because mandatory abstention under 28 U.S.C. § 1334(c) constitutes cause for lifting the automatic stay. Movant also argues that relief from the automatic stay is proper using the multi-factor test from In re Sonmax Indus., Inc., 99 B.R. 591 (D. Vt. 1989), aff'd, 907 F.2d 1280 (2d Cir. 1990).

On April 4, 2018, the chapter 7 trustee ("Trustee") filed an opposition to the Motion (the "Opposition") [doc. 139]. On April 11, 2018, Movant filed a reply to the Opposition [doc. 140].

II. DISCUSSION

A. Mandatory Abstention

28 U.S.C § 1334(c)(2) provides:

Upon timely motion of a party in a proceeding based upon a State law claim or State law cause of action, related to a case under title 11 but not arising under title 11 or arising in a case under title 11, with respect to which an action could not have been commenced in a court of the United States absent jurisdiction under this section, the district court shall abstain from hearing such proceeding if an action is commenced, and can be timely adjudicated, in a State forum of appropriate jurisdiction.

Mandatory abstention under 28 U.S.C. § 1334(c)(2) requires that the following seven elements be met:

- (1) A timely motion;
- (2) a purely state law question;
- (3) a non-core proceeding § 157(c)(1);
- (4) a lack of independent federal jurisdiction absent the petition under Title 11;
- (5) that an action is commenced in a state court;
- (6) the state court action may be timely adjudicated;
- (7) a state forum of appropriate jurisdiction exists.

In re Gen. Carriers Corp., 258 B.R. 181, 189 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 2001).

For the Court to be required to abstain, all seven elements of mandatory abstention must be present. Here the Motion was timely filed and there is no independent basis for federal jurisdiction outside of Title 11 of the United States Code as the Cross-

Complaint alleges purely state law questions. Although the State Court Action may have an effect on future distribution to creditors, the Cross-Complaint does not otherwise raise any bankruptcy issues or impede the Trustee's administration of the case. Moreover, the State Court Action was commenced in state court and the state court has jurisdiction over the State Court Action.

However, it is unclear whether the state court can timely adjudicate the State Court Action. Compare In re Eastport Associates, 935 F.2d 1071, 1078-79 (9th Cir. 1991) (holding that the state court could not timely adjudicate the matter where parties would have to start litigation over in state court); and In re Smith, 389 B.R. 902, 921 n. 18 (Bankr. D. Nev. 2008) (noting that "there can be no timely adjudication" where the bankruptcy court can hear the matter before the state court); with Bowen Corp. v. Sec. Pac. Bank Idaho, F.S.B., 150 B.R. 777, 784 (Bankr. D. Idaho 1993) (finding the state court could adjudicate the matter much more quickly because a motion for summary judgment had already been filed and was pending before the action was removed to federal court). "[T]he party moving for abstention will bear the burden of demonstrating that a state court action can be timely adjudicated." In re First All. Mortgage Co., 269 B.R. 449, 455 (C.D. Cal. 2001). There is no trial set in the State Court Action and few resources have been expended in preparation for a trial in the State Court Action [doc. 140]. The parties would need to prosecute the State Court Action from start to finish because it was stayed in the early stages of litigation. Movant has not provided any evidence that the State Court Action can be timely adjudicated. On the other hand, if necessary, this Court could estimate Movant's claim sooner than the state court would be able to fully adjudicate the State Court Action and liquidate Movant's claim. Accordingly, it does not appear that all elements for mandatory abstention have been met.

B. Relief from the Automatic Stay

Section 362(d)(1) permits lifting of the automatic stay to continue pending litigation against a debtor in a nonbankruptcy forum. See Christensen v. Tucson Estates, Inc. (In re Tucson Estates, Inc.), 912 F.2d 1162, 1166 (9th Cir. 1990). In so determining, "the bankruptcy court should base its decision on the hardships imposed on the parties with an eye towards the overall goals of the Bankruptcy Code." In re C & S Grain Co., Inc., 47 F.3d 233, 238 (7th Cir. 1995) (emphasis added).

Factors that courts have used to determine whether to lift the automatic stay to allow litigation to proceed in a non-bankruptcy forum include:

- (1) Whether the relief will result in a partial or complete resolution of the issues.
- (2) The lack of any connection with or interference with the bankruptcy case.
- (3) Whether the foreign proceeding involves the debtor as a fiduciary.
- (4) Whether a specialized tribunal has been established to hear the particular cause of action and that tribunal has the expertise to hear such cases.
- (5) Whether the debtor's insurance carrier has assumed full financial responsibility for defending the litigation.
- (6) Whether the action essentially involves third parties, and the debtor functions only as a bailee or conduit for the goods or proceeds in question.
- (7) Whether litigation in another forum would prejudice the interests of other creditors, the creditors' committee and other interested parties.
- (8) Whether the judgment claim arising from the foreign action is subject to equitable subordination under Section 510(c).
- (9) Whether movant's success in the foreign proceeding would result in a judicial lien avoidable by the debtor under Section 522(f).
- (10) The interest of judicial economy and the expeditious and economical determination of litigation for the parties.
- (11) Whether the foreign proceedings have progressed to the point where the parties are prepared for trial.
- (12) The impact of the stay on the parties and the "balance of the hurt."

In re Curtis, 40 B.R. 795, 799–800 (Bankr. D. Utah 1984) (citations omitted); see also Sonnax, 907 F.2d at 1286 (listing factors). When applied to the pending Motion and case, the Sonnax factors do not appear to support relief from the automatic stay.

Whether the relief will result in a partial or complete resolution of the issues

This factor weighs against lifting the automatic stay. Allowing the State Court Action to proceed in state court would not allow immediate and complete resolution of the dispute between Movant and the Debtor. The state court can adjudicate the claims and cross-claims between the parties; however, Movant would still need to file a proof of claim in the Debtor's bankruptcy case in order to receive a distribution from the

The lack of any connection with or interference with the bankruptcy case

This factor weighs against lifting the automatic stay. Although the State Court Action may have an effect on future distribution to creditors, the Cross-Complaint does not otherwise deal with any bankruptcy issues. However, if the Trustee were required to litigate the State Court Action in a different forum, such litigation may impede the Trustee's administration of the case.

Whether the foreign proceeding involves the debtor as a fiduciary

The State Court Action does not involve the Debtor's conduct as a fiduciary.

Whether a specialized tribunal has been established to hear the particular cause of action and that tribunal has the expertise to hear such cases

The Trustee contends that Movant has not met its burden to show that extraordinary circumstances exist for deviating from the well-established bankruptcy claims resolution process. The Court agrees.

Whether the debtor's insurance carrier has assumed full financial responsibility for defending the litigation

It is unclear whether the Debtor's insurance carrier, if any, has paid for costs of defending the State Court Action.

Whether litigation in another forum would prejudice the interests of other creditors, the creditors' committee and other interested parties

Movant argues there is no prejudice because all creditors will get paid a pro-rata share. However, the cost of liquidating Movant's claim in the State Court Action, potentially without any reason for doing so, may decrease the amount of funds available for unsecured creditors. This factor weighs against lifting the automatic stay.

Whether the judgment claim arising from the foreign action is subject to equitable subordination under Section 510(c)

Chapter 7

At this time, it does not appear that any resulting judgment that Movant may obtain in the State Court Action would be subject to equitable subordination.

The interest of judicial economy and the expeditious and economical determination of litigation for the parties

This factor weighs in favor of lifting the automatic stay. The Debtor is one of four cross-defendants in the State Court Action. If the Court lifted the automatic stay, it would minimize potentially duplicative litigation in two different forums.

Whether the foreign proceedings have progressed to the point where the parties are prepared for trial

This factor weighs against lifting the automatic stay, because the State Court Action has not progressed to the point where the parties are prepared for trial. The State Court Action was stayed at the early stages of litigation. The parties have not expended significant resources in the State Court Action that would go to waste if the Court denies the Motion.

The impact of the stay on the parties and the "balance of the hurt."

Entry of judgment in the State Court Action would prejudice the Debtor. However, the Court can prohibit any enforcement of the judgment against the Debtor or the Debtor's estate during the pendency of its bankruptcy case. Still, lifting the stay does not appear warranted here because the State Court Action is at a very early stage, and allowing the parties to litigate the State Court Action may impede the administration of the Debtor's estate.

Movant contends that the Court lifting the automatic stay will ensure a level playing field because the Trustee is currently free to prosecute the State Court Action, but Movant is prevented from doing so by the automatic stay. However, the Trustee has not determined whether he will prosecute any of the Debtor's affirmative claims. Because the Trustee is not presently prosecuting the State Court Action, there is no need at this time for the Court to level the playing field. Accordingly, the "balance of the hurt" weighs against lifting the automatic stay.

III. CONCLUSION

In light of the foregoing, Movant has not shown that mandatory abstention under 28 U.S.C. § 1334(c)(2) applies to the State Court Action. In addition, the Sonnax factors weigh against lifting the automatic stay. Movant has not shown sufficient cause under 11 U.S.C § 362(d)(1) to warrant relief from the automatic stay to proceed with the nonbankruptcy action against the Debtor.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, Movant may proceed against the non-debtor defendants in the nonbankruptcy action. Movant also retains the right to file a proof of claim under 11 U.S.C. § 501 in the Debtor's bankruptcy case.

The Trustee must submit the order within seven (7) days.

Docket 16

Tentative Ruling:

Grant relief from the automatic stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §§ 362(d)(1) and (d)(2), and annulment of the automatic stay pursuant to § 362(d)(1).

Movant (and any successors or assigns) may proceed under applicable nonbankruptcy law to enforce its remedies to obtain possession of the property.

Grant movant's request to annul the automatic stay. "Many courts have focused on two factors in determining whether cause exists to grant [retroactive] relief from the stay: (1) whether the creditor was aware of the bankruptcy petition; and (2) whether the debtor engaged in unreasonable or inequitable conduct, or prejudice would result to the creditor." In re Nat'l Environmental Waste Corp., 129 F.3d 1052, 1055 (9th Cir. 1997). "[T]his court, similar to others, balances the equities in order to determine whether retroactive annulment is justified." Id.

Here, movant was unaware of the debtor's bankruptcy petition before May 21, 2018, and the debtor acted unreasonably in a way that has prejudiced movant. Regarding movant's awareness, movant submitted a declaration attesting to the following: (i) on May 9, 2018, movant served a notice to quit upon the debtor; (ii) on May 14, 2018, the debtor filed his chapter 7 petition; (iii) on May 17, 2018, the debtor was served with the unlawful detainer complaint; and (iv) on May 21, 2018, movant first received notice of the debtor's chapter 7 bankruptcy case.

With respect to the debtor's conduct in the pending case, in his petition the debtor listed his residence address as "5434 Zelzah Avenue #220, Encino, CA 91316" (the "Property"). The Property is the subject of the pending motion. Although the debtor listed movant in his schedules, the debtor has not opposed the pending motion. Based on the foregoing, it appears that the debtor's filing of his bankruptcy case was part of an effort to hinder movant's eviction proceedings. For these reasons, the Court finds that annulment of the automatic stay is warranted.

The 14-day stay prescribed by FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived.

Movant must submit the order within seven (7) days.

Docket 139

Tentative Ruling:

Grant relief from stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §§ 362(d)(1) and (d)(4). Grant annulment of the automatic stay pursuant to § 362(d)(1).

I. BACKGROUND

On February 1, 2011, Stanley and Carolyn Ching ("Movants"), Steven Nia (the "Debtor"), and Chongyi Liu executed an All-Inclusive Deed of Trust with Assignment of Rents ("Deed of Trust") as to the real property located at 24485 Park Granada, Calabasas, CA 91302 (the "Calabasas Property"). Movants are the beneficiaries under the Deed of Trust. The Debtor and Ms. Liu are the trustors under the Deed of Trust. (Real Property Declaration, doc. 139, Exh. A.)

On December 31, 2015, a deed transferring the Calabasas Property from the Debtor and Ms. Liu to Illusion Ventures, LLC was recorded in the Los Angeles County Recorder's Office [document no. 20151652832]. (Declaration of Alan Nahmias ("Nahmias Decl."), doc. 139, Exh. 5.)

On April 10, 2017, Illusion Ventures, LLC filed a voluntary chapter 7 petition, commencing case no. 1:17-10926-VK]. On April 25, 2017, Movants filed a motion for relief from stay in the Illusion Ventures, LLC case (the "Illusion Ventures RFS Motion") [1:17-10926-VK, doc. 10]. Movants argued that relief from stay was warranted (i) under 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1) on the grounds of bad faith; and (ii) under 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2) because there is no equity in the Calabasas Property and it is not necessary for an effective reorganization. In the Illusion Ventures RFS Motion, Movant alleged that the following additional judgment and tax liens encumber the

On May 24, 2017, the Court held a hearing on and granted the Illusion Ventures RFS Motion. The Court posted its ruling to the Illusion Ventures, LLC case docket [1:17-10926-VK, doc. 24]. On May 31, 2017, the Court entered an order granting the Illusion Ventures RFS Motion [1:17-10926-VK, doc. 26]. A trustee's sale was scheduled for June 5, 2017.

On June 4, 2017, the Debtor filed the pending bankruptcy case. Movants' counsel contacted the Debtor's counsel and stated his belief that the automatic stay did not apply to the Calabasas Property because the Debtor was not on title. (Declaration of Alan Nahmias, doc. 17, ¶ 3.) The Debtor's counsel contended that the automatic stay applied because the Debtor's name was on the loan documents and he held an equitable interest in the Calabasas Property. (Id.) Movants found authority supporting their position. Accordingly, on June 7, 2017, Movants proceeded with the trustee's sale. (Real Property Decl., doc. 139, Exh D.)

On June 14, 2017, the Debtor filed his schedules [doc. 10]. On his petition, the Debtor listed his residence as 17977 Medley Drive, Encino, CA 91316-4377 (the "Encino Property") and his mailing address as "23679 Calabasas Road #1020, Calabasas, CA 91302." (Doc. 1, at p. 2.)

as "24458 Park Granada"], indicating that he had an "equitable interest" in the Calabasas Property and that the Calabasas Property has a current value of $2,100,000. (Doc. 10, at p. 5.) The Debtor also claimed an exemption in the Calabasas Property in the amount of $10,000 under California Code of Civil Procedure ("C.C.P.") § 703.140(b)(5). (Id., at p. 10.) According to the Debtor, encumbering the Calabasas Property are the following secured claims, in the total amount of $1,892,000.00:

Creditor	Amount
Movants	$100,000
Union Bank (1 st deed of trust)	$1,592,000.00
Union Bank (2 nd deed of trust)	$200,000.00

(Id., at pp. 15-16.) The Debtor also lists the following secured claims purportedly encumbering only the Encino Property:

Creditor	Amount
Maxim	$182,073.00
Buchalter	$134,193.00
IRS	$95,408.00
FTB	$35,260.00
FTB	$14,620.00

On June 21, 2017, Movants filed their first motion for relief from the automatic stay as to the Calabasas Property in this case (the "First RFS Motion") [doc. 17]. In the First RFS Motion, Movants sought annulment of any automatic stay that was in effect at the time of the foreclosure sale, and relief from the current automatic stay to proceed with the eviction of the Debtor and any other occupants from the Calabasas Property. Movants also requested in rem relief.

On July 13, 2017, the Court denied the First RFS Motion, in light of the concurrent conversion of the Debtor's case to chapter 7 [doc. 56]. On July 28, 2017, the Court entered an order denying the First RFS Motion [doc. 62].

On October 12, 2017, following the conversion of this case to chapter 7, this case was dismissed after the Debtor failed to file required documents [doc. 69]. On October 12, 2017, on the heels of that dismissal, the Debtor filed another chapter 11 case, case no.

1:17-bk-12749-VK (the "Second Chapter 11 Case").

On October 26, 2017, the United States Trustee filed a motion to vacate the dismissal of this case [doc. 73]. The Debtor opposed that motion [doc. 76]. On November 14, 2017, the Court entered an order vacating the dismissal and reinstating this case [doc. 81].

On January 3, 2018, the Debtor attended his 341(a) meeting in this case. The Debtor testified that he did not reside at the Calabasas Property when he filed this case. (Doc. 139, Exh. 1, at p. 75.)

On February 7, 2018, David Gottlieb, chapter 7 trustee (the "Trustee") filed a Motion for Order: (A) Authorizing Sale of Assets of the Debtor's Bankruptcy Estate Free and Clear of Liens, Claims and Encumbrances; (B) Approving Overbid Procedure; and (C) Approving Compromise of Controversy (the "Sale Motion") [doc. 100]. Through the Sale Motion, the Trustee sought to sell to Movants: (i) the estate's interest in the Calabasas Property; (ii) the estate's interest in the Debtor's improper foreclosure claim against Movants; (iii) the estate's interest in the Debtor's motion for order to show cause re: contempt filed against the Movants on July 5, 2017; and (iv) the estate's interest in the litigation commenced by the Debtor's company against the Movants (collectively, the "Assets").

At the hearing on the Sale Motion on March 8, 2018, the Debtor was the successful overbidder, in the amount of $60,000. On March 26, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the Sale Motion and approving the sale of the Assets to the Debtor [doc. 132].

On February 12, 2018, U.S. Bank, N.A. ("U.S. Bank") filed a motion for relief from the automatic stay as to the Encino Property [doc. 106]. On March 19, 2018, the Court entered an order granting U.S. Bank's motion [doc. 128]. On May 7, 2018, U.S. Bank foreclosed on the Encino Property. (Nahmias Decl., ¶ 21.)

Chapter 7

Movants subsequently negotiated with the Debtor to resolve their various disputes, but they were unsuccessful. (Declaration of Alan Nahmias, doc. 139, ¶ 18.) On May 30, 2018, Movants filed the pending motion for relief from the automatic stay as to the Calabasas Property (the "Second RFS Motion") [doc. 139] and a request for judicial notice [doc. 142]. Movants also submitted an appraisal dated May 19, 2018, valuing the Calabasas Property at $1,750,000. (Doc. 139, Exh. E, at pp. 43–63.) Movants seek substantially the same relief sought in the First RFS Motion. Movants allege that the monthly deed of trust payment on the Calabasas Property is $8,019. The Debtor has not made 24 payments and has incurred arrearages in the total amount of $192,456. (Real Property Declaration, at p. 8.) In addition, Movants allege that they have advanced $76,000 for unpaid property taxes as to the Calabasas property. (Id., at p. 7.) Movants further allege that the Debtor's family has been residing at the Calabasas Property during this time. (Real Property Declaration, at p. 12.)

On June 7, 2018, the Debtor filed an untimely opposition [doc. 147]. The opposition is not supported by declaration or any other admissible evidence. On June 13, 2018, Movants filed their reply [doc. 148].

II. DISCUSSION

A. Request for Judicial Notice

As an initial matter, the Court grants Movants' request for judicial notice [doc. 142]. Pursuant to Federal Rule of Evidence 201(b)(2), a court may judicially notice a fact that is not subject to reasonable dispute because it "can be accurately and readily determined from sources whose accuracy cannot reasonably be questioned." Federal courts "may take judicial notice of its own records in other cases[.]" United States v. Wilson, 631 F.2d 118, 119 (9th Cir. 1980). A court may also take judicial notice of "facts which are a matter of public record." Tal v. Hogan, 453 F.3d 1244, 1265 (10th Cir. 2006). Accordingly, the Court will take judicial notice of facts that are matters of public record and/or constitute its own records in other cases.

B. Calabasas Property

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §541(a), property of the estate includes "all legal or equitable interests of the debtor in property as of the commencement of the case." (Emphasis added.) Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(g):

In any hearing under subsection (d) or (e) of this section concerning relief from the stay of any act under subsection (a) of this section—

- (1) the party requesting such relief has the burden of proof on the issue of the debtor's equity in property; and
- (2) the party opposing such relief has the burden of proof on all other issues.

Movants have met their burden of proof as regards the Debtor's equity in the Calabasas Property. Movants have provided evidence that the Debtor transferred the Calabasas Property to Illusion Ventures, LLC on December 31, 2015. (Nahmias Decl., Exh. 5.) Because of this transfer, the Debtor does not have any equity in the Calabasas Property. Even if the transfer had not occurred, Movants have established that the Calabasas Property is overencumbered.

The Debtor has not met his burden of proof as to his alleged equitable interest in the Calabasas Property. In opposing the First RFS Motion and the Second RFS Motion, the Debtor has not provided evidence supporting this equitable interest, such as evidence of deed of trust payments on the Calabasas Property.

In the Second RFS Motion, Movants again argue that the Calabasas Property was not subject to the automatic stay in this case. In support of their position, Movants cite In re Torrez, 132 B.R. 924 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 1991) and In re Trujillo, 215 B.R. 200 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1997), aff'd, 166 F.3d 1218 (9th Cir. 1998), as amended (Feb. 4, 1999).

However, it is unclear whether Torrez or Trujillo support Movant's position. Trujillo does not concern the application of the automatic stay; it concerns the avoidance of fraudulent transfers.

In Torrez, the bankruptcy court noted that the debtors still resided in the property at issue, even though such property was not property of the debtors' estate. If the lender sought to remove the debtors from the property through an unlawful detainer action, the lender would have to obtain relief from the automatic stay. Torrez, 132 B.R. at 941.

Chapter 7

Here, Movants allege that the Debtor's family has been residing in the Calabasas Property. At the petition date, the Debtor listed the Encino Property as his residence. However, the Court granted relief from stay as to the Encino Property on March 19, 2018 [doc. 128]. On May 7, 2018, U.S. Bank foreclosed on the Encino Property. Thus, the Debtor may currently reside at the Calabasas Property. Accordingly, even if the Calabasas Property is not property of the estate, Movants need relief from the automatic stay in order to evict the Debtor and his family from the Calabasas Property.

C. *Annulment of the Automatic Stay

Despite the Debtor's prepetition transfer of title to Illusion Ventures, LLC, the Debtor contends that that Movants' foreclosure of the Calabasas Property violated the automatic stay in this case, because of his alleged equitable interest in the property. However, "annulment [of the automatic stay,] . . . if granted, moots any issue as to whether the violating sale was void because, then, there would have been no actionable stay violation." Fjeldsted v. Lien (In re Fjeldsted), 293 B.R. 12, 21 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 2003). In light of the circumstances of the Debtor's case, annulment of any automatic stay is warranted.

"Many courts have focused on two factors in determining whether cause exists to grant [retroactive] relief from the stay: (1) whether the creditor was aware of the bankruptcy petition; and (2) whether the debtor engaged in unreasonable or inequitable conduct, or prejudice would result to the creditor." Nat'l Envtl. Waste Corp. v City of Riverside (In re Nat'l Envtl. Waste Corp.), 129 F.3d 1052, 1055 (9th Cir. 1997), cert. denied, 524 U.S. 952 (1998). "[T]his court, similar to others, balances the equities in order to determine whether retroactive annulment is justified." Id.

Additional factors courts consider when deciding whether to annul the stay include:

1. Number of filings;
2. Whether, in a repeat filing case, the circumstances indicate an intention to delay and hinder creditors;
3. A weighing of the extent of prejudice to creditors or third parties if the stay relief is not made retroactive, including whether harm exists to a bona fide purchaser;

4. The debtor's overall good faith (totality of circumstances test): cf. Fid. & Cas. Co. of N.Y. v. Warren (In re Warren), 89 B.R. 87, 93 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1988) (chapter 13 good faith);
5. Whether creditors knew of stay but nonetheless took action, thus compounding the problem;
6. Whether the debtor has complied, and is otherwise complying, with the Bankruptcy Code and Rules;
7. The relative ease of restoring parties to the status quo ante;
8. The costs of annulment to debtors and creditors;
9. How quickly creditors moved for annulment, or how quickly debtors moved to set aside the sale or violative conduct;
10. Whether, after learning of the bankruptcy, creditors proceeded to take steps in continued violation of the stay, or whether they moved expeditiously to gain relief;
11. Whether annulment of the stay will cause irreparable injury to the debtor;
12. Whether stay relief will promote judicial economy or other efficiencies.

Fjeldsted, 293 B.R. at 25.

A review of the Fjeldsted factors shows that annulment of the automatic stay is warranted. The Illusion Ventures, LLC case was a prior, related case also affecting the Calabasas Property. In the prior case, the Court granted relief from the automatic stay to the Movants, in part on the grounds that the Illusion Ventures, LLC case had been filed in bad faith. Here, the circumstances also indicate an intention to delay and hinder creditors. The Debtor has not made deed of trust payments or paid property taxes on the Calabasas Property for several years. In addition, the Debtor's failure to comply with his statutory obligations led to the dismissal of this chapter 7 case, prior to its reinstatement. Under the totality of the circumstances, it appears that the Debtor has not acted in good faith.

In addition, after the foreclosure sale on June 7, 2018, Movants moved quickly for annulment and acted expeditiously to gain relief. Movant filed the first RFS Motion on June 21, 2018.

Movants would be prejudiced because of the Debtor's continued failure to make deed of trust and property tax payments on the Calabasas Property. Lastly, when Movants proceeded with the foreclosure sale, they did so under the good faith belief that no stay existed as to the Calabasas Property, because the Debtor was not on title, having transferred the Calabasas Property, years prior, to Illusion Ventures, LLC. Accordingly, after balancing the equities, the Court will annul the automatic stay.

Section 362(d)(1) provides that a "court shall grant relief from stay . . . (1) for cause, including the lack of adequate protection of an interest in property of such party in interest[.]"

Here, the Trustee sold the estate's interest in the Calabasas Property to the Debtor. Accordingly, the Calabasas Property is no longer property of the estate. To the extent that the automatic stay might still apply to the Calabasas Property, cause exists to lift the automatic stay pursuant to § 362(d)(1). Movants' interest in the Calabasas Property is not adequately protected. As to the Calabasas Property, the Debtor has not made monthly deed of trust payments or paid property taxes for two years.

Section 362(d)(2) provides that a "court shall grant relief from the stay . . . (2) with respect to a stay of an act against property under subsection (a) of this section, if . . . (A) the debtor does not have an equity in such property; and (B) such property is not necessary to an effective reorganization[.]"

On March 26, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the Sale Motion, approving the sale of the estate's interest in the Calabasas Property to the Debtor, along with other assets, for the amount of $60,000 [doc. 132]. Thus, the Calabasas Property is presently not property of the estate. Consequently, it appears that Movants' request for relief under § 362(d)(2) is moot.

Finally, relief from the automatic stay is warranted under 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(4).
Section 362(d)(4) provides:

"On request of a party in interest and after notice and a hearing, the court shall grant relief from the stay provided under subsection (a) of this section, such as by terminating, annulling, modifying, or conditioning such stay—

(4) with respect to a stay of an act against real property under subsection (a), by a creditor whose claim is secured by an interest in such real property, if the court finds that the filing of the petition was part of a scheme to delay, hinder, or defraud creditors that involved either—

(A) transfer of all or part ownership of, or other interest in, such real property without the consent of the secured creditor or court approval; or

(B) multiple bankruptcy filings affecting such real property.

If recorded in compliance with applicable State laws governing notices of interests or liens in real property, an order entered under paragraph (4) shall be binding in any other case under this title purporting to affect such real property filed not later than 2 years after the date of the entry of such order by the court, except that a debtor in a subsequent case under this title may move for relief from such order based upon changed circumstances or for good cause shown, after notice and a hearing. Any Federal, State, or local governmental unit that accepts notices of interests or liens in real property shall accept any certified copy of an order described in this subsection for indexing and recording."

Multiple bankruptcy filings have affected the Calabasas Property. The Calabasas Property was an asset in the Illusion Ventures, LLC bankruptcy case, and the Debtor contends that it is subject to the automatic stay in this case as well.

Despite transferring the Calabasas Property to Illusion Ventures, LLC, the Debtor contends that he held an equitable interest in the Calabasas Property as of the petition date, and that Movants' foreclosure sale violated the automatic stay. However, the Debtor has yet to produce evidence of this equitable interest. Moreover, with respect to the Calabasas Property, the Debtor has not made deed of trust payments or paid property taxes for several years. Under the totality of the circumstances, the Debtor's case appears to be part of a scheme to delay, hinder, or defraud Movants that involved multiple bankruptcy filings affecting the Calabasas Property.

III. CONCLUSION

In light of the foregoing, the Court will grant relief from the automatic stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §§ 362(d)(1) and (d)(4). Pursuant to § 362(d)(1), the Court also will annul the automatic stay.

Movants (and any successors or assigns) may proceed under applicable nonbankruptcy law to enforce its remedies to foreclose upon and obtain possession of the Property.

The 14-day stay prescribed by FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived.

Any other request for relief is denied.

Movants must submit the order within seven (7) days.

#8.00 Motion for relief from stay [RP]

CARRINGTON MORTGAGE SERVICES LLC
VS
DEBTOR

Docket 33

Tentative Ruling:

On June 16, 2018, the debtors filed a response to the motion [doc. 36]. In the response, the debtors state that they are willing to enter into an adequate protection agreement. The debtors also state that they have received a sizeable inheritance that will cure the arrears.

The response indicates that a declaration from the debtor's attorney is attached. However, no declaration or other evidence is attached to the response. Moreover, if the debtors have received such an inheritance, one or both of the debtors should be the declarant(s), not their bankruptcy counsel.

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

On April 13, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the plaintiff relief from the automatic stay (the "Relief from Stay Order") [Bankruptcy Docket, doc. 183] to "proceed to final judgment" in state court and to "prosecute any appeal of an entered judgment...." Relief from Stay Order, ¶ 11. Given that the parties are continuing to litigate this matter in state court, the Court may stay this adversary proceeding, pending the conclusion of the state court litigation.

The parties should be prepared to discuss the status of the state court proceedings.

If the parties now have complied with Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 7026, the parties should be prepared to discuss the following:

Within seven (7) days after this status conference, the plaintiff must submit an Order Assigning Matter to Mediation Program and Appointing Mediator and Alternate Mediator using Form 702. During the status conference, the parties must inform the Court of their choice of Mediator and Alternate Mediator. The parties should contact their mediator candidates before the status conference to determine if their candidates can accommodate the deadlines set forth below.

Deadline to complete discovery: 8/15/18.

Deadline to complete one day of mediation: 8/31/18.

Deadline to file pretrial motions: 9/14/18.

Deadline to complete and submit pretrial stipulation in accordance with Local Bankruptcy Rule 7016-1: 10/17/18.

Pretrial: 1:30 p.m. on 10/31/18.

In accordance with Local Bankruptcy Rule 7016-1(a)(4), within seven (7) days after this status conference, the plaintiff must submit a Scheduling Order.

If any of these deadlines are not satisfied, the Court will consider imposing sanctions against the party at fault pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 7016-1(f) and (g).

I. BACKGROUND

A. The Texas Court Litigation

On April 17, 2017, Mohammad Hassibi ("Plaintiff") filed a first amended complaint against Shahram Homayoun ("Defendant"), among others, in Texas state court (the "Texas Court"). Declaration of Michael Payma ("Payma Declaration"), ¶¶ 5, 8, Exhibits B, D. In relevant part, the State Court Complaint alleged:

Beginning in early 2016, Defendants sought to borrow money from Plaintiff and promised to repay the borrowed funds by issuing postdated checks to Plaintiff in various intervals. However, as payments became due, the checks issued by Defendants were not honored by their banks either because Defendants did not have sufficient funds or because Defendants had placed a stop payment on the checks.

As of the date of the filing of the State Court Complaint, Defendants owe Plaintiff $178,954.87. Plaintiff has made numerous demands on Defendants, but despite acknowledging the debt, Defendants refuse to honor their obligations and repay the loans.

Defendants have committed fraud against Plaintiffs. At the time

Defendants induced Plaintiff to make the loans to Defendants and issued the worthless checks, Defendants knew they would not be able to repay the loans and that their checks would not be honored. Defendants' representations were material and false, and Defendants knew the representations were false. Defendants made the representations with the intent that Plaintiff would act on them, and Plaintiff relied on the representations. The representations caused Plaintiff injury. As such, Plaintiff seeks actual and exemplary damages against Defendants.

Id., ¶ 8, Exhibit D. Defendant does not dispute that he received notice of the state court action (the "State Court Action"). Declaration of Shahram Homayoun ("Homayoun Declaration"), ¶ 3 ("I did not respond to the Texas lawsuit as I could not afford to hire counsel in Texas or to travel to Texas to defend the matter.").

On July 7, 2017, Plaintiff filed a motion for interlocutory default judgment against Defendant (the "Motion for Interlocutory Judgment"). Id., ¶ 11, Exhibit F. Plaintiff did not provide evidence in connection with the Motion for Interlocutory Judgment. Rather, Plaintiff asked for an interlocutory judgment based on the pleadings alone. In addition, Plaintiff requested an interlocutory judgment of $178,954.87 in liquidated damages, and noted that Plaintiff "will prove up his unliquidated damages... at a later date." Id., Exhibit F, p. 3. Plaintiff did not specify whether his request for exemplary damages was based on fraud. On the same day, the Texas Court entered an interlocutory default judgment (the "Interlocutory Judgment") against Defendant. Id., ¶ 12, Exhibit G. In the Interlocutory Judgment, the Texas Court held:

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED, ADJUDGED AND DECREED by the Court that Plaintiff have judgment against [Defendant and co-defendant], jointly and severally, on Plaintiff's claims for Common Law Fraud and Breach of Contract in the amount of One Hundred Seventy Eight Thousand Dollars and 87 Cents ($178,954.87) as Plaintiff's actual damages.

The Court further makes a finding of fraud against [Defendant and co-defendant], and awards Plaintiff exemplary damages against [Defendant and co-defendant], jointly and severally.

The Court shall conduct a hearing on Plaintiff's claim for attorney fees and unliquidated/exemplary damages at a later date.

Id. On July 17, 2017, Plaintiff filed a motion for final default judgment (the "Motion for Default Judgment"). Id., ¶ 13, Exhibit H. Plaintiff did not provide evidence in support of the Motion for Default Judgment. Instead, Plaintiff asked for a hearing to determine the amount of exemplary damages and for entry of a final judgment. Id. In the Certificate of Service attached to the Motion for Default Judgment, Plaintiff indicated that he did not serve the Motion for Default Judgment on any parties. Id.

B. The Damages Hearing

On September 22, 2017, the Texas Court held a hearing on damages (the "Damages Hearing"). Id., ¶ 13, Exhibit C. It is unclear if Defendant received notice of the Damages Hearing. At the Damages Hearing, the Texas Court noted that "actual judgments have already been entered by the Court as to liability and also on the... liquidated damages' portion of the claim." Id., p. 23. The Texas Court further stated that "the only matter that was left to be determined, and the reason we're here is – because it requires testimony and evidence, is on the amount of the claims and the Court's ultimate determination of exemplary damages." Id.

At the Damages Hearing, Plaintiff testified that he provided Defendant with $178,954.87 to be paid back within 30 or 45 days. Id. According to Plaintiff, at the time Plaintiff loaned the money to Defendant, Defendant provided Plaintiff checks to be cashed at the time the loan matured. Id. Plaintiff further testified that, at the time he attempted to cash the checks, Defendant's accounts were closed, and that some of the accounts had been closed before Defendant wrote the checks. Id. Plaintiff provided that he believed Defendant's actions were intentional, and that Defendant intended to commit fraud against Plaintiff. Id. Plaintiff further testified that Defendant knew about the lawsuit against him, but refused to cooperate. Id. After hearing Plaintiff's testimony, the Texas Court found:

And I – and based upon the testimony he's given I think that the request of $150,000 in exemplary damages is really quite – almost generous on your part, and I have no problem at all in finding that that

Id., pp. 32-33. It is not clear from the transcript whether the Texas Court based its award of exemplary damages on fraud, malice or oppression.

On September 22, 2017, the Texas Court entered judgment against Defendant (the "State Court Judgment"). Id., ¶ 15, Exhibit A. In relevant part, the State Court judgment provided:

On July 17, 2017 the Court entered an Interlocutory Default Judgment against [Defendant and co-defendant] and awarded Plaintiff the sum of $178,954.87 in actual damages and made an affirmative finding of fraud against [Defendant and co-defendant]... jointly and severally. The court awarded exemplary damages against [Defendant and co-defendant] and ordered that an evidentiary hearing shall be held to determine the amount of exemplary damages, attorney fees and court costs.

On September 22, 2017, the court considered Plaintiff's Motion for Entry of Final default Judgment. After considering the Motion, the evidence and the argument of counsel, the court is of the opinion that a Final Judgment shall be entered.

IT IS THEREFORE, ORDERED, DECREED and ADJUDGED that Plaintiff... have judgment against Defendants, jointly and severally in the amount of $178,954.87 on Plaintiff's claims for common law fraud, and makes an affirmative finding of fraud against Defendants....

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED, DECREED and ADJUDGED that Plaintiff shall recover exemplary damages against Defendants..., jointly and severally in the amount of $150,000.00.

C. Defendant's Bankruptcy Filing

On October 12, 2017, Defendant and Maryam Azizi filed a voluntary chapter 7 petition. On December 20, 2017, Plaintiff filed a complaint against Defendant (the "Complaint"), requesting nondischargeability of the State Court Judgment pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(A). The Complaint is based entirely on the State Court Complaint and the State Court Judgment.

On January 22, 2018, Defendant received his chapter 7 discharge [doc. 14]. On January 30, 2018, Defendant's bankruptcy case was closed.

On April 9, 2018, Plaintiff filed a motion for summary judgment, asserting that the State Court Judgment precludes litigation of the Complaint and that this Court should enter judgment in favor of Plaintiff (the "Motion") [doc. 9]. On May 21, 2018, Defendant filed an opposition to the Motion (the "Opposition") [doc. 18], arguing that the State Court Judgment is not final and that the State Court Action was not "actually litigated" in Texas Court. Defendant also included a declaration, in which he states that, although Defendant personally guaranteed the checks, Channel Yek was the entity that issued the checks to Plaintiff. Homayoun Declaration, ¶ 3. Defendant further states that the checks from Channel Yek bounced because Channel Yek's business began to suffer, but that Defendant and Channel Yek intended to repay Plaintiff's loans at the time the loans were made. Id. On June 6, 2018, Plaintiff filed a reply to the Opposition [doc. 20].

II. ANALYSIS

A. General Motion for Summary Judgment Standard

Pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure ("Rule") 56, applicable to this adversary proceeding under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure ("FRBP") 7056, the Court shall grant summary judgment if the pleadings, depositions, answers to interrogatories, and admissions on file, together with the affidavits, if any, show there is no genuine issue as to any material fact and that the moving party is entitled to judgment as a matter of law. Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc., 477 U.S. 242, 247, 106 S.Ct. 2505, 2509-10, 91 L.Ed.2d 202 (1986); Rule 56; FRBP 7056. "By its very terms, this standard provides that the mere existence of some alleged factual dispute between the parties will not defeat an otherwise properly supported motion for summary judgment; the requirement is that there be no genuine issue of material fact." 477 U.S. at 247-48 (emphasis in original).

As to materiality, the substantive law will identify which facts are material. Only disputes over facts that might affect the outcome of the suit under the governing law will properly preclude the entry of summary judgment. Factual disputes that are irrelevant or unnecessary will not be counted. . . . [S]ummary judgment will not lie if the dispute about a material fact is "genuine," that is, if the evidence is such that a reasonable jury could return a verdict for the nonmoving party. . . .

Id. at 248-50 (internal citations omitted). Additionally, issues of law are appropriate to be decided in a motion for summary judgment. See Camacho v. Du Sung Corp., 121 F.3d 1315, 1317 (9th Cir. 1997).

The initial burden is on the moving party to show that no genuine issues of material fact exist based on "the pleadings, depositions, answers to interrogatories, and admissions on file, together with affidavits, if any." Celotex Corp. v. Catrett, 477 U.S. 317, 323, 106 S.Ct. 2548, 2553, 91 L.Ed. 265 (1986). Once the moving party meets its initial burden, the nonmoving party bearing "the burden of proof at trial on a dispositive issue" must identify facts beyond what is contained in the pleadings that show genuine issues of fact remain. Id., at 324; see also Anderson, 477 U.S. at 256 ("Rule 56(e) itself provides that a party opposing a properly supported motion for summary judgment may not rest upon mere allegation or denials of his pleading, but must set forth specific facts showing that there is a genuine issue for trial.").

The nonmoving party meets this burden through the presentation of "evidentiary materials" listed in Rule 56, such as depositions, documents, electronically stored information, affidavits or declarations, stipulations, admissions, and interrogatory answers. Id. To establish a genuine issue, the non-moving party "must do more than simply show that there is some metaphysical doubt as to the material facts." *Matsushita Electrical Industry Co. v. Rather, the nonmoving party must provide "evidence of such a caliber that 'a fair-minded jury could return a verdict for the [nonmoving party] on the evidence presented.'" U.S. v. Wilson, 881 F.2d 596, 601 (9th Cir. 1989) (quoting Anderson, 477 U.S. at 266).

Here, the parties do not dispute any of the pertinent facts. Rather, the Motion presents issues of law, namely, whether the State Court Judgment precludes relitigation of this matter. As to that point, Defendant presents two legal arguments: (A) first, the State Court Judgment was not a "final judgment" as of the petition date; and (B) second, that the matter was not "actually litigated" in state court.

B. Burden of Proof

The plaintiff's burden of proof in a nondischargeability action under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a) is "the ordinary preponderance-of-the-evidence standard." Grogan v. Garner, 498 U.S. 279, 291, 111 S.Ct. 654, 661, 112 L.Ed.2d 755 (1991). "Proof by the preponderance of the evidence means that it is sufficient to persuade the finder of fact that the proposition is more likely true than not." In re Arnold & Baker Farms, 177 B.R. 648, 654 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1994), aff'd sub nom. In re Arnold & Baker Farms, 85 F.3d 1415 (9th Cir. 1996) (citing In re Winship, 397 U.S. 358, 371, 90 S.Ct. 1068, 1076, 25 L.Ed.2d 368 (1970)).

In addition, "[t]he party asserting issue preclusion bears the burden of proof and has the burden of bringing forward an adequate state-court record." In re Clem, 583 B.R. 329, 342 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. 2017) (citing Matter of King, 103 F.3d 17, 19 (5th Cir. 1997)); see also Sysco Food Servs., Inc. v. Trapnell, 890 S.W.2d 796, 801-02 (Tex. 1994).

C. Final Judgment

"For both res judicata and collateral estoppel, a previous judgment must be final in order to have preclusive effect." In re Marshall, 271 B.R. 858, 863 (C.D. Cal. 2001) (applying Texas law). Chapter 7 respect to such claim.

Plaintiff cites § 108(b) as support for his proposition that the State Court Judgment became final before Plaintiff filed the Complaint. However, the relevant subsection of § 108 is actually § 108(c). In Parker v. Bain, 68 F.3d 1131 (9th Cir. 1995), the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals held that 11 U.S.C. § 362(a)(1) serves to stay a debtor from filing an appeal of a decision in an action against the debtor. Here, the State Court Action was an action against Defendant. Consequently, as of the petition date, the automatic stay barred continuation of the State Court Action, including the filing of an appeal. Parker, 68 F.3d at 1135-36.

Here, the stay expired on January 22, 2018, the date Defendant received his chapter 7 discharge. 11 U.S.C. § 362(c)(2)(C). As such, under 11 U.S.C. § 108(c), Defendant had until February 21, 2018 to appeal the State Court Judgment. See In re Hoffinger Industries, Inc., 329 F.3d 948, 952 (8th Cir. 2003); In re Ingeniero, 2007 WL 1453132 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. May 17, 2007); and In re Lee, 2008 WL 110391, at *2 (Bankr. S.D. Tex. Jan. 8, 2008). Defendant did not file a notice of appeal. As a result, the State Court Judgment became final on February 22, 2018, after Plaintiff filed the Complaint.

For purposes of issue preclusion, it does not matter that the State Court Judgment became final after Plaintiff filed the Complaint in this Court. Where there are parallel proceedings involving the same issue, the first judgment is given preclusive effect even if the complaint in the other action was filed first. Matter of Hansler, 988 F.2d 35, 38 (5th Cir. 1993) (holding that Texas state court judgment had preclusive effect over adversary proceeding because the Texas court entered judgment first despite the fact that the adversary complaint was filed before the Texas complaint). Similarly, here, the State Court Judgment became final before any judgment rendered by this Court. As such, to the extent the other elements of issue preclusion are satisfied, the State Court Judgment is a final judgment potentially entitled to preclusive effect.

D. Issue Preclusion

"A bankruptcy court may rely on the issue preclusive effect of an existing state court judgment .... In so doing, the bankruptcy court must apply the forum state's law of issue preclusion." In re Plyam, 530 B.R. 456, 462 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2015); see also 28

U.S.C. § 1738 (federal courts must give "full faith and credit" to state court judgments).

"Under Texas law, a party asserting collateral estoppel (or issue preclusion) must establish: '(1) the facts sought to be litigated in the second action were fully and fairly litigated in the first action; (2) the facts were essential to the judgment in the first action; and (3) the parties were cast as adversaries in the first action.'" In re Rollins, 534 B.R. 173, 178 (S.D. Cal. 2015) (citing Calabrian Corp. v. Alliance Specialty Chems., Inc., 418 S.W.3d 154, 158 (Tex. App. 2013)).

Here, the parties do not dispute that they were cast as adversaries in the State Court Action or that the facts alleged in the Complaint were essential to the State Court Judgment. In fact, the Complaint fully incorporates the State Court Complaint and the State Court Judgment, without adding additional facts or law. As such, the issue to be determined is whether the matter was "fully and fairly litigated" in the State Court Action.

i. No-Answer Default Judgments

Texas law recognizes different types of default judgments. Matter of Gober, 100 F.3d 1195, 1204 (5th Cir. 1996).

One common type is the simple default where the defendant fails to answer the plaintiff's complaint. In a no-answer default judgment, it is said that the non-answering party has admitted the facts properly pled and the justice of the opponent's claim.

Id. (internal citations and quotations omitted). "Courts generally hold that no-answer default judgments fail to meet the 'actually litigated' prong of the issue preclusion test." Id. (citing Matter of Shuler, 722 F.2d 1253, 1257 n.6 (5th Cir. 1984); In re Turner, 144 B.R. 47, 51-53 (Bankr. E.D. Tex. 1992); and In re Stowell, 113 B.R. 322, 329 (Bankr. W.D. Tex. 1990)).

In Shuler, the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals affirmed a bankruptcy court's decision not to apply issue preclusion to a no-answer default judgment where "the judgment... did not contain detailed facts sufficient as findings to meet the federal test of nondischargeability; it contained merely a conclusory statement that the plaintiff was entitled to judgment on a false-pretense cause of action." Shuler, 722 F.2d at 1257. The Court of Appeals concluded that "the bankruptcy court . . . properly refused to accord collateral estoppel effect to the conclusory false-pretense 'determination' in the state court judgment." Id. at 1258.

Courts have provided that other types of default judgment may provide preclusive effect. For instance, in Matter of Garner, 56 F.3d 677 (5th Cir. 1995), the default judgment at issue was a "post-answer default," meaning that the defendant had answered but had failed to appear for trial. Garner, 56 F.3d at 680. The Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals drew a distinction between a no-answer default, where the non-answering party is deemed to have admitted the facts properly pled, and a post-answer default, where a plaintiff "must offer evidence and prove his case as in a judgment upon a trial." Id. In Garner, although the defendant had answered the plaintiff's complaint, the defendant did not appear for trial, and the trial court conducted a trial in the defendant's absence. Id. "[B]ased on the testimony presented to the Court, the Court found and concluded that Plaintiff... was entitled to recover judgment against Defendants." Id. (internal quotations omitted). At the trial, the plaintiff "put on evidence sufficient to carry his burden of proof." Id. Although the judgment was technically a "default" judgment, under these facts, the Garner court held that the trial court judgment had preclusive effect. Id.

After Garner, the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals decided Matter of Pancake, 106 F.3d 1242 (5th Cir. 1997). In Pancake, the Court of Appeals distinguished between the type of post-answer default in Garner and a situation where a court strikes an answer, thereby "creating a situation similar to that where no answer is filed, i.e., a no-answer default judgment." Pancake, 106 F.3d at 1244. The Court of Appeals explained:

For purposes of collateral estoppel... the critical inquiry is not directed at the nature of the default judgment but, rather, one must focus on whether an issue was fully and fairly litigated. Thus, even though Pancake's answer was struck, if Reliance can produce record evidence demonstrating that the state court conducted a hearing in which Reliance was put to its evidentiary burden, collateral estoppel may be found to be appropriate.

After Pancake, some courts have given preclusive effect to default judgments. For example, in In re Harrison, 180 Fed.Appx. 485 (5th Cir. 2006), the defendant filed an answer that was stricken for discovery abuse. Subsequently, the defendant's counsel informed the court that the defendant was aware of the proceedings but did not intend to appear for trial. Harrison, 180 Fed.Appx. at 486. The court held trial without the defendant. Id. At trial, the plaintiff "put on its evidence:"

It offered the testimony of [the plaintiff's] CEO who provided personal accounts and documentary evidence regarding [the defendant's] breach of fiduciary duty, fraud and the intentional nature of [the defendant's] actions. After receiving the evidence, the state court entered a default judgment for actual and punitive damages....

Id. After the defendant filed for bankruptcy, the plaintiff argued that the default judgment should be nondischargeable. Id.

The bankruptcy court held that the facts before it were similar to the facts in Garner. Id., at 487. Specifically, the court found that "a default where the defendant's answer places the merits of the plaintiff's cause of action at issue, where judgment cannot be entered on the pleadings, and therefore, where a plaintiff in such a case must offer evidence to prove his case is more than just a garden variety default judgment." Id. (emphasis added). The bankruptcy court also found that the state court's record reflected that the plaintiff's testimony offered ample support for the judgment entered in state court. Id. The Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals agreed. Id.

The facts here are distinguishable from the facts in Garner and Harrison. Unlike the defendants in those cases, Defendant never filed an answer in the State Court Action and did not appear before the Texas Court. The Motion for Interlocutory Judgment and the Motion for Default Judgment did not provide evidence for the Texas Court to consider before entering judgment in favor of Plaintiff. Prior to the Damages Hearing, the Texas Court disposed of the issues of fraud and actual damages, based solely on the pleadings. Payma Declaration, ¶ 6, Exhibit C, p. 23 ("[We] are here to conduct a hearing on the amount of exemplary damages and attorney's fees.... The Court will note that actual judgments have already been entered by the Court as to liability and also on... the liquidated damages' portion of the claim.") (emphasis added).

Here, the State Court Judgment is comparable to the "garden variety" no-answer default judgment; Texas courts have expressed a strong aversion to applying issue preclusion to this type of default judgment. Harrison, 180 Fed.Appx. at 487. Plaintiff's testimony at the Damages Hearing was not directed at establishing fraud; to make that determination, the Texas Court had adopted Plaintiff's allegations in the pleadings. At the hearing, Plaintiff's testimony was evaluated to determine the amount of exemplary damages to be awarded to Plaintiff, as a penalty for the nonpayment of Plaintiff's loans. As such, Plaintiff was never "put to [his] evidentiary burden" regarding his claim for fraud. In light of these facts, the Court concludes that the Texas Court's findings regarding fraud and actual damages were not "fully and fairly litigated," as contemplated by Texas law.

ii. The Damages Hearing

As noted above, the Texas Court held the Damages Hearing to adjudicate the amount of exemplary damages to be awarded to Plaintiff. Under Texas law, "exemplary damages may be awarded only if the claimant proves by clear and convincing evidence that the harm with respect to which the claimant seeks recovery of exemplary damages results from: (1) fraud; (2) malice; or (3) gross negligence." Tex. Civ. Prac. & Rem. Code Ann. § 41.003(a) (emphasis added). The statute is written in the disjunctive, such that a finding of either fraud, malice or gross negligence may subject a defendant to liability for exemplary damages.

In In re Rollins, 534 B.R. 173 (Bankr. S.D. Cal. 2015), the parties entered into a joint venture agreement; the defendant was obligated to distribute videos and to pay a percentage of revenues to the plaintiff. After a dispute arose between the parties, the plaintiff filed a complaint against the defendant in Texas state court, alleging breach of contract, breach of fiduciary duty, fraud and malicious prosecution. Rollins, 534 B.R. at 175. The defendant, although properly served, did not respond. Id. The plaintiff moved for default judgment and submitted supporting affidavits. Id. Subsequently, the state court held a hearing, and the plaintiff presented evidence of damages. Id. After the hearing, the state court entered default judgment and awarded the plaintiff $322,708.47 in damages for fraud, $107,569.49 in actual damages and $215,138.98 in exemplary damages. Id. In the judgment, the state court stated that it considered "the pleadings, the papers on file in this case, and the evidence Plaintiff presented on liability and damages." Id.

The defendant later filed a bankruptcy case, and the plaintiff filed a complaint seeking nondischargeability of the state court judgment pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(A) and (a)(6). Id., at 175-76. Asserting that the state court default judgment established its claims under § 523(a)(2)(A) and (a)(6), the plaintiff moved for summary judgment. Id. The defendant argued that the state court default judgment did not meet the "actually litigated" prong of the issue preclusion test. Id., at 176. The bankruptcy court granted summary judgment, finding that the default judgment was entitled to preclusive effect. Id., at 176-77.

On appeal, the district court disagreed. Relying on Pancake and Gober, the district court took into account that no-answer default judgments are rarely give preclusive effect. Id., at 178-79. The district court also noted that punitive damages cannot be regarded as admitted by default. Id., at 179.

In order to recover exemplary or punitive damages, the claimant must rely on a statute "establishing a cause of action authorizing exemplary damages" or otherwise prove "by clear and convincing evidence that the harm with respect to which the claimant seeks recovery of exemplary damages results from: (1) fraud; (2) malice; or (3) gross negligence." Tex. Civ. Prac. & Rem. Code § 41.003(a). "Fraud" means "fraud other than constructive fraud." Id. § 41.001(6). "Malice" means "specific intent by the defendant to cause substantial injury or harm to the claimant." Id. § 41.001(7). To obtain exemplary damages for "gross negligence," the "[p]laintiffs must prove by clear and convincing evidence that 1) when viewed objectively from the defendant's standpoint at the time of the event, the act or omission involved an extreme degree of risk, considering the probability and magnitude of the potential harm to others and 2) the defendant had actual, subjective awareness of the risk involved, but nevertheless proceeded with conscious indifference to the rights, safety, or welfare of others." U-Haul Intern., Inc. v. Waldrip, 380 S.W.3d 118, 137 (Tex.2012). A plaintiff must meet this same burden before recovering exemplary or punitive damages in a default judgment. See In re Estate of Preston, 346 S.W.3d 137, 168 (Tex.App.2011). In a default judgment, the issue of a litigant's "mental state" may be considered "fully and fairly litigated for collateral estoppel purposes[,] where punitive or exemplary damages are awarded. Gober, 100 F.3d at 1204.

In this case, the record does not demonstrate that the elements of Appellees' common law fraud and malicious prosecution claims were actually litigated. In a no-answer default judgment, "the defendant is deemed to have admitted all of the plaintiff's allegations with respect to liability." In re Gober, 100 F.3d at 1204.

On the other hand, Appellees were required to present clear and convincing evidence of "fraud," "malice," or "gross negligence," as defined by Texas Civil Practice & Remedies Code section 41.001, in order to support the exemplary damages award. The Texas Judgment notes that the court considered "the pleadings, the papers on file in this case, and the evidence Plaintiff presented on liability and damages...." (Final Default Judgment, ECF No. 11-5 at 33).

Id. Despite the state court's hearing on damages, the Rollins court found:

The only factual findings contained in the Texas Judgment relate to service on Appellant and the amount of Appellees' damages. The Texas Judgment does not specify whether the Texas court's exemplary damages awards were based on findings of "fraud," "malice," or "gross negligence."

In support of their motion for summary judgment, Appellees submitted the affidavits that they filed in the Texas Action in support of their motion for default judgment. These affidavits contain conclusory allegations and do not demonstrate that any issue was actually litigated. See, e.g., ECF No. 11-5 at 25 ("Rollins made material false representations in order to induce Elephant Productions, through Lowman and myself, to enter into an agreement for the production of the video); id. ("The lawsuit was frivolous on the merits, but was also deliberately filed in a court in California that did not have jurisdiction.").

Based on the summary judgment record presented in the bankruptcy court, where Appellees were burdened to demonstrate that collateral estoppel applied, see Pardo, 40 F.3d at 1066, the record is not sufficient to conclude that Appellant's alleged "fraud" or "malice" was fully and fairly litigated. The Texas court may have awarded exemplary damages based on a finding of "fraud," "malice," or "gross negligence." Because it is possible that the Texas court did not base its exemplary damages award on findings of "fraud" or "malice," it cannot be concluded that Appellant's alleged "fraud" or "malice" was fully and fairly litigated based on the present record.

Id., at 179-80.

The facts here are similar to Rollins. As explained above, the Texas Court decided liability prior to the hearing on damages, without admitting proof and on the sole basis that Defendant did not respond to the State Court Complaint. As in Rollins, the Texas Court did hold an evidentiary hearing to decide the amount of exemplary damages to be awarded to Plaintiff. See Payma Declaration, ¶ 6, Exhibit C, p. 23. Plaintiff was "put to [his] evidentiary burden" only with respect to liquidation of exemplary damages. Pancake, 106 F.3d at 1245.

Although an award of exemplary damages under Texas law may be based on fraud, here, the Texas Court did not clarify its basis for the exemplary damages award at the Damages Hearing or in the State Court Judgment. Plaintiff also did not ask the Texas Court to award exemplary damages based on fraud; in his filings and during the Damages Hearing, Plaintiff made a general request for exemplary damages. At the end of the Damages Hearing, the Texas Court held that it was appropriate to award Plaintiff $150,000 in exemplary damages, as requested by Plaintiff. Payma Declaration, ¶ 6, Exhibit C, pp. 32-33.

The State Court Judgment does not clarify the basis of the Texas Court's award of exemplary damages. Because the Texas Court did not specify whether its award of exemplary damages was based on fraud, malice or gross negligence, the award of exemplary damages could have been based on malice or gross negligence (as opposed to fraud).

Given that: (A) Plaintiff did not prove up his claim for fraud or actual damages; (B) the sole issue at the Damages Hearing was Plaintiff's entitlement to exemplary damages in a particular amount; (C) the Texas Court did not indicate, either at the Damages Hearing or in the State Court Judgment, that it based the award of exemplary damages on fraud; and (D) Plaintiff bears the burden of proving that issue preclusion applies, it is not appropriate, based solely on the State Court Judgment, to enter judgment in favor of Plaintiff at this time.

In his Declaration [doc. 18], Defendant states that, at the time he borrowed funds from Plaintiff, he intended to repay Plaintiff, that Defendant did pay back some of the funds owed to Plaintiff, and that the checks at issue bounced because Channel Yek's business began to suffer. Homayoun Declaration, ¶ 3. Because the State Court Judgment does not preclude litigation of these facts, there are genuine issues of material fact that prevent this Court from granting the Motion.

E. The Rooker-Feldman Doctrine and Full Faith and Credit Clause

Plaintiff alternatively argues that, in accordance with the Rooker-Feldman doctrine, this Court lacks jurisdiction to alter the State Court Judgment. A holding that a judgment does not have preclusive effect is not synonymous with altering that judgment. To find otherwise would mean that every refusal to assign preclusive effect to a state court judgment would run afoul of the Rooker-Feldman doctrine. The Court is not determining whether the State Court Judgment is valid; rather, the Court is merely deciding whether the State Court Judgment disposes of the issues under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(A).

The Court's analysis also does not violate the full faith and credit clause. See, e.g. Matter of Shuler, 722 F.2d 1253, 1258 n.10 (5th Cir. 1984) ("Since the courts below properly assessed the collateral estoppel effect of the state court judgment in the present federal bankruptcy case, the full faith and credit principles of § 1738 have not been violated."). When assessing the application of issue preclusion, a court does not violate the full faith and credit clause by finding that a state court judgment does not

On December 14, 2009, Fred Horiat ("Defendant") filed a chapter 13 petition, which the Court later converted to a chapter 7 case (the "Prior Case") [Case No. 1:09-bk-26822-MT]. In his amended schedule F [1:09-bk-26822-MT, doc. 32], Defendant listed a $6,500.00 debt owed to David L. Ingram ("Plaintiff"), Defendant's former spouse's divorce attorney. On May 26, 2010, Defendant received a chapter 7 discharge [doc. 32].

On January 15, 2018, Defendant filed a voluntary chapter 7 petition. In his schedule E/F, Debtor listed a claim in favor of Plaintiff in the amount of $6,000. Defendant indicated the claim was based on attorneys' fees arising from a dissolution proceeding.

On April 19, 2018, Plaintiff filed a complaint against Defendant (the "Complaint"), requesting nondischargeability of a debt owed to him pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(5) and (a)(15). In relevant part, the Complaint alleges:

On November 7, 2008, Defendant's ex-wife, Kimberly Madish, commenced a dissolution proceeding (the "Dissolution Proceeding"). On October 20, 2009, the parties filed a Stipulation and Order on Order to Show Cause (the "Order"). In the Order, Defendant agreed to pay $6,000 to Ms. Madish as a contribution to her attorneys' fees. This obligation was for the benefit of Ms. Madish and constitutes a domestic support obligation under § 523(a)(5). Alternatively, the debt is a debt other than a domestic support obligation that is incurred in connection with a divorce decree, and is nondischargeable under § 523(a)(15).

Plaintiff attached the Order to the Complaint. In the Order, Ms. Madish acknowledged that she had received the spousal support arrears at issue in the Order to Show Cause. The Order also provided that Defendant would pay Ms. Madish $6,000 in attorneys' fees (the "Debt"), to be paid at the rate of $150 per month, beginning on August 1, 2009 and continuing until paid in full. Through the Order, Defendant is to remit payments directly to Plaintiff.

On April 24, 2018, Defendant filed a motion to dismiss the Complaint (the "Motion") [doc. 4]. Through the Motion, Defendant asserts that: (A) Plaintiff has not established that the Debt is in the nature of alimony, maintenance or support; (B) that Plaintiff does not have standing to bring an action under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(15); (C) that Defendant received a discharge of the Debt through the Prior Case; and (D) that an unspecified statute of limitations bars Plaintiff from bringing this action. Plaintiff has not timely filed a response to the Motion.

II. ANALYSIS

A. General Rule 12(b)(6) Standard

A motion to dismiss [pursuant to Rule 12(b)(6)] will only be granted if the complaint fails to allege enough facts to state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face. A claim has facial plausibility when the plaintiff pleads factual content that allows the court to draw the reasonable inference that the defendant is liable for the misconduct alleged. The plausibility standard is not akin to a probability requirement, but it asks for more than a sheer possibility that a defendant has acted unlawfully.

We accept factual allegations in the complaint as true and construe the pleadings in the light most favorable to the non-moving party. Although factual allegations are taken as true, we do not assume the truth of legal conclusions merely because they are cast in the form of factual allegations. Therefore, conclusory allegations of law and unwarranted inferences are insufficient to defeat a motion to dismiss.

In evaluating a Rule 12(b)(6) motion, review is "limited to the contents of the complaint." Clegg v. Cult Awareness Network, 18 F.3d 752, 754 (9th Cir. 1994). However, without converting the motion to one for summary judgment, exhibits attached to the complaint, as well as matters of public record, may be considered in determining whether dismissal is proper. See Parks School of Business, Inc. v. Symington, 51 F.3d 1480, 1484 (9th Cir. 1995); Mack v. South Bay Beer Distributors, Inc., 798 F.2d 1279, 1282 (9th Cir. 1986). Further, a court may consider evidence "on which the complaint necessarily relies if: (1) the complaint refers to the document; (2) the document is central to the plaintiff's claim; and (3) no party questions the authenticity of the copy attached to the [Rule] 12(b)(6) motion." Marder v. Lopez, 450 F.3d 445, 448 (9th Cir. 2006) (internal quotation marks omitted). "The court may treat such a document as part of the complaint, and thus may assume that its contents are true for purposes of a motion to dismiss under Rule 12(b)(6)." Id. (internal quotation marks omitted).

B. Sufficiency of Allegations Regarding 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(5)

Section 523(a)(5) excepts from discharge any debt for a "domestic support obligation." Pursuant to § 101(14A):

(14A) The term "domestic support obligation" means a debt that accrues before, on, or after the date of the order for relief in a case under this title, including interest that accrues on that debt as provided under applicable nonbankruptcy law notwithstanding any other provision of this title, that is—

(A) owed to or recoverable by—

(i) a spouse, former spouse, or child of the debtor or such child's parent, legal guardian, or responsible relative; or

(ii) a governmental unit;

(B) in the nature of alimony, maintenance, or support (including assistance provided by a governmental unit) of such spouse, former spouse, or child of the debtor or such child's parent, without regard to whether such debt is expressly so designated;

(C) established or subject to establishment before, on, or after the date of the order for relief in a case under this title, by reason of applicable provisions of-

(i) a separation agreement, divorce decree, or property settlement agreement;

(ii) an order of a court of record; or

(iii) a determination made in accordance with applicable nonbankruptcy law by a governmental unit; and

(D) not assigned to a nongovernmental entity, unless that obligation is assigned voluntarily by the spouse, former spouse, child of the debtor, or such child's parent, legal guardian, or responsible relative for the purpose of collecting the debt.

Here, three of the elements are met by the Order, and Defendant does not dispute that the following three elements are satisfied. First, the Order is "owed to or recoverable by" Defendant's "former spouse," because the Order states that Defendant "shall pay to Petitioner as and for a contribution to her attorney fees the sum of $6,000.00...." Order, ¶ 2 (emphasis added). The Order identifies Ms. Madish as the petitioner. The Debt also was "established before... the order for relief" in this case by the applicable provisions of "an order of a court of record...." 11 U.S.C. § 101(14A)(C). Further, the Debt is not assigned to any other entity. 11 U.S.C. § 101(14A)(D).

Defendant disputes the second element, i.e., that the Debt is "in the nature of alimony, maintenance, or support..." 11 U.S.C. § 101(14A)(B). "An award of attorney's fees in a marital dissolution proceeding may be in the nature of a domestic support obligation for the purposes of §§ 523(a)(5) and 101(14A)." In re Gately, 2016 WL 6777316, at *3 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. "Labels in a divorce decree do not control the question of whether a fee award constitutes a domestic support obligation. Instead, the bankruptcy court must look behind the state court's award and make a factual inquiry to determine whether the award is actually in the nature of support." Id. (internal quotations omitted).

"For purposes of determining whether an exception to discharge applies to an obligation under § 523(a)(5), a bankruptcy court is not bound by the characterization given to an obligation by a state court. In determining whether an obligation is intended for spousal support, the bankruptcy court must look beyond the language of the dissolution judgment to the intent of the parties and to the substance of the obligation." In re Diener, 483 B.R. 196, 203 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2012) (citing In re Shaver, 736 F.2d 1314, 1316; In re Combs, 101 B.R. 609, 615 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1989)).

"For the substance of an obligation, if its 'intended function is to provide a necessity of life, it is ordinarily held to be nondischargeable' as a form of support." In re Putnam, 2012 WL 8134423, at * 15 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. Aug. 30, 2012) (citing In re Combs, 101 B.R. 609, 615-16 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1989)). "Then, to ascertain the intent of the parties, the [Bankruptcy Appellate Panel of the Ninth Circuit] has identified several, non-exhaustive factors." Id. Those factors are:

1. The label given to the payments;
2. The context or location of the disputed provision in the decree;
3. The parties' negotiations and understanding of the provision;
4. Whether a lump sum or periodic monthly payments were provided for;
5. The relative earning power of the parties;
6. Whether the recipient spouse would be entitled to alimony under state law;
7. Whether interest accrues on the entire debt or only on the monthly payments past due;
8. Whether the debtor's obligation of payment terminates on the death or remarriage of the recipient, or on the death of the debtor.

Id. (citing Combs, 101 B.R. at 616). "Along with these factors, the court should generally 'consider the surrounding circumstances and all other relevant incidents bearing on the parties' intent.' Yet, in determining intent, the court must only considers 'intention of the parties at the time they entered into their [marital settlement agreement], and not the current circumstances of the parties.'" Id. (citing Combs, 101 B.R. at 615-16).

Here, the Complaint does not include any allegations regarding most of these factors. At most, by way of incorporation of the Order into the Complaint, the Court is able to glean that the state court did not explicitly assign a label to the Debt, and that the state court provided for periodic monthly payments. Order, ¶ 2. However, Plaintiff has not made any allegations regarding the parties' negotiations, their relative earning power, whether Ms. Madish would be entitled to alimony under state law, the parties' intent in entering into the stipulation that led to the Order or the intent of the state court in entering the Order.

In In re Taylor, 455 B.R. 799 (Bankr. D.N.M. 2011), aff'd, 478 B.R. 419 (B.A.P. 10th Cir. 2012), aff'd, 737 F.3d 670 (10th Cir. 2013), the bankruptcy court held that the plaintiff's conclusory allegations regarding whether the debt was in the nature of support were insufficient for purposes of Rule 12(b)(6):

The Complaint filed in this adversary proceeding fails to allege any facts from which a trier of fact could determine that the recovery of the overpayment from Defendant, plus the attorneys' fees awarded in connection with the Judgment, is in the nature of support for the Plaintiff as creditor-spouse. Plaintiff argues that because the average consumer spends a substantial percentage of his or her annual paycheck on food, housing, and transportation, it is "highly probable" that Plaintiff will be able to prove that he needed the funds to make the overpayment to maintain his daily necessities. See Plaintiff's Response to Debtor's Motion to Dismiss Complaint Under Fed.R.Civ.P. 12(b)(6) and Fed. R. Bank. P. 7012(b) ("Response"), pp. 4–5 (Docket No. 6). However, no such allegations are made in the Complaint, and generalities and national averages are insufficient to establish that the overpayment functions as support for Plaintiff. Absent any factual allegations regarding Plaintiff's financial condition and needs at the time the obligation arose, it is impossible to determine that the Judgment, including the award of attorneys' fees, is in the nature of support. Consequently, Plaintiff has failed to state a plausible cause of action under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(5).

Taylor, 455 B.R. at 807 (Bankr. D.N.M. 2011); see also In re Towne, 2009 WL 248429, at *2 (Bankr. D. Kan. Feb. 3, 2009) ("The Complaint contains no factual allegations regarding the parties' relative financial circumstances at the time of the divorce.").

Similarly, Plaintiff does not allege any facts which, if taken true, would establish a claim under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(5). Plaintiff only generally alleges that the Debt is in the nature of alimony, maintenance or support. Without additional allegations regarding why the Debt is in the nature of the support, Plaintiff's § 523(a)(5) claim cannot survive.

C. Sufficiency of Allegations Regarding 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(15)

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(15), a discharge does not discharge an individual debtor from any debt—to a spouse, former spouse, or child of the debtor and not of the kind described in paragraph (5) that is incurred by the debtor in the course of a divorce or separation or in connection with a separation agreement, divorce decree or other order of a court of record, or a determination made in accordance with State or territorial law by a governmental unit....

11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(15).

[T]he trend in recent case law is to construe § 523(a)(15) expansively to cover a broader array of claims related to domestic relations within the discharge exception. See, e.g., In re Wise, 2012 WL 5399075, at *6 (Bankr. E.D. Tex. Nov.5, 2012) (§ 523(a)(15) "rendered as non-dischargeable virtually all obligations arising between spouses as a result of a divorce decree."); Quarterman v. Quarterman (In re Quarterman), 2012 Bankr. LEXIS 4924, at *9–10 (Bankr. D. Ariz. October 17, 2012) ("The Section is not limited to simply divorce decree judgments alone but excepts any debt incurred by the debtor in the course of divorce or any debt in connection with a divorce decree.").

In re Adam, 2015 WL 1530086, at *5-6 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. Apr. 6, 2015), aff'd, 677 F. App'x 353 (9th Cir. 2017).

Here, Plaintiff pleads a claim under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(15) as an alternative to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(15). Defendant does not dispute that the Debt was "incurred by the debtor in the course of a divorce of separation or in connection with a separation agreement, divorce decree or other order of a court of record...." 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(15).

Rather, Defendant asserts that Plaintiff does not have standing under § 523(a)(15) because Plaintiff is not Defendant's "spouse, former spouse, or child." As to this point, Putnam provides a relevant analysis. 2012 WL 8134423, at *7-8. In Putnam, the bankruptcy court decided a related issue: whether the debtor's former spouse had standing to pursue nondischargeability under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(5) and (a)(15). Id., at *7. The bankruptcy court noted that "[t]o determine whether [the former spouse], in fact, has any rights to payment or to an equitable remedy that can be enforced against [the debtor], the court must turn to state law." Id. (citing In re Hassanally, 208 B.R. 46, 49 (B.A.P. 9th Cir.1997) ("Absent an overriding federal interest, the existence of a claim in bankruptcy is generally determined by state law.")).

As a result, the bankruptcy court referred to California law to determine whether the debtor's former spouse could pursue an award of attorneys' fees made payable directly to the attorney. Id., at *8. The court found:

Under California law, the state court may order that one spouse pay the other spouse's attorney's fees and debts, made payable to the other spouse, as a means of providing spousal support. See, e.g., Cal. Fam.Code §§ 272, 2023, 2030. The California Family Code also permits such obligations can be paid directly to the other spouse's attorney or creditors on behalf of the benefited spouse. For attorney's fees, section 272 provides, "Where the court orders one of the parties to pay attorney's fees and costs for the benefit of the other party, the fees and costs may, in the discretion of the court, be made payable in whole or in part to the attorney entitled thereto." Cal. Fam.Code § 272(a) (emphasis added).

Id., at *8. The court then referred to California Family Code § 272(b), which sets forth which parties may enforce an attorneys' fees provision in an order related to a dissolution proceeding. Id., at *9. Pursuant to California Family Code § 272(b), "the order providing for payment of the attorney's fees and costs may be enforced directly by the attorney in the attorney's own name or by the party in whose behalf the order was made." Cal. Fam. Code § 272(b) (emphasis added). As such, by operation of California Family Code § 272(b), Plaintiff may enforce the Order through this adversary proceeding.

Defendant's reliance on In re Dollaga, 260 B.R. 493 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2001), is misplaced. There, the Bankruptcy Appellate Panel of the Ninth Circuit had to assess whether one of the debtors' attorneys could assert a claim under § 523(a)(15) for fees incurred representing one of the debtors. Dollaga, 260 B.R. at 494.

[The plaintiff] has not alleged that the debtor's former spouse or children have any liability to her on the debt in question. This is no doubt due to the fact that [the plaintiff] represented the debtor, not the former spouse or children. We note that the Smith court was not confronted with this issue because as here, the creditor was the debtor's former counsel.

Id., at 497. Here, Plaintiff did not represent Defendant in the dissolution proceeding. Plaintiff represented Defendant's former spouse, and so the facts here are distinguishable from the facts in Dollaga. Moreover, the Order attached to the Complaint specifies that Defendant "shall pay to Petitioner as and for a contribution to her attorney fees the sum of $6,000.00...." Order, ¶ 2. As such, the Order explicitly awards the Debt to a "former spouse."

The final requirement of § 523(a)(15) is that the debt at issue is "not of the kind described in" 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(5). In the Complaint, Plaintiff alleges that "alternatively, [the debts] are debts other than domestic support obligations...." On the one hand, this is a conclusory allegation. On the other hand, at least one court found that, where a plaintiff was asserting a claim under § 523(a)(15) as an alternative theory, the following allegations were sufficient:

The Complaint alleges that the debt at issue representing overpayment of spousal support is a debt owing to a former spouse that was incurred in connection with a separation agreement, divorce decree, or other order of a court. See Complaint ¶ 12. Because the Complaint included a request for non-dischargeability under both 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(5) and § (a)(15), the Court will consider Plaintiff's claim under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(15) as an alternative request for relief that necessarily includes an allegation that the debt is not a domestic support obligation. Taking these allegations as true, the Complaint states a claim under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(15). The Complaint alleges that 1) Defendant is a former spouse; 2) the debt for reimbursement *808 of an overpayment of spousal support arose in connection with a divorce decree; and 3) the debt is not of a kind found in 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(5).

Further, BAPCPA's amendment of 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(15) eliminated from consideration the debtor's ability to pay and the hardship on the former creditor-spouse arising from a discharge of the debt. Thus, for purposes of evaluating the sufficiency of Plaintiff's Complaint, the Court cannot find, as a matter of law, that Plaintiff's Complaint fails to state a claim of non-dischargeability under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(15).

Taylor, 455 B.R. at 807–09.

Likewise, the Complaint, including the incorporated Order, includes sufficient allegations that the Debt is owed to a "former spouse," and that the Debt was incurred in the course of a divorce. Under Taylor, it appears sufficient that, for the final element, Plaintiff merely alleges that if the Court finds the Debt is not within the purview of § 523(a)(5), it is covered by § 523(a)(15). As such, Plaintiff has included sufficient allegations under § 523(a)(15).

D. Discharge

In the Motion, Defendant asserts that the Debt was discharged through the Prior Case. However, to the extent the Court eventually find that the Debt comes within the purview of either 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(5) or (a)(15), Plaintiff did not have to file a nondischargeability complaint to prevent the Debt from being discharged in the Prior Case.

Pursuant to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 4007(c)—

Except as otherwise provided in subdivision (d), a complaint to determine the dischargeability of a debt under § 523(c) shall be filed no later than 60 days after the first date set for the meeting of creditors under § 341(a). The court shall give all creditors no less than 30 days' notice of the time so fixed in the manner provided in Rule 2002. On motion of a party in interest, after hearing on notice, the court may for cause extend the time fixed under this subdivision. The motion shall be filed before the time has expired.

Fed. R. Bankr. P. 4007(c). In turn, 11 U.S.C. § 523(c)(1) provides—

Except as provided in subsection (a)(3)(B) of this section, the debtor shall be discharged from a debt of a kind specified in paragraph (2), (4), or (6) of subsection (a) of this section, unless, on request of the creditor to whom such debt is owed, and after notice and a hearing, the court determines such debt to be excepted from discharge under paragraph (2), (4), or (6), as the case may be, of subsection (a) of this section.

11 U.S.C.A. § 523(c). Section 523(c) does not include debts covered by 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(5) or (a)(15). As such, there is no time limit for creditors to file complaint under those subsection of 11 U.S.C. § 523. See, e.g. In re Chaudry, 569 B.R. 372, 374 (Bankr. D. E. California's Statute of Limitations

The final argument made by Defendant is that Plaintiff cannot collect the Debt because no payment has been made on account of the Debt in over four years. Defendant does not cite any authority for this proposition. Nevertheless, California Family Code § 291(a) provides that "[a] money judgment..., including a judgment for child, family, or spousal support, is enforceable until paid in full or otherwise satisfied." Cal. Fam. Code § 291(a) (emphasis added). As such, under California law, spousal support payments are not subject to any statute of limitation.

III. CONCLUSION

The Court will grant the Motion as to Plaintiff's claim under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(5). The Court will deny the Motion as to Plaintiff's claim under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(15).

Defendant must submit an order within seven (7) days. If Plaintiff intends to file an amended complaint, Plaintiff must file the amended complaint no later than 14 days after entry of the order on the Motion. If Plaintiff has not filed an amended complaint within 14 days after entry of the order on the Motion, Defendant must file an answer to the Complaint no later than 21 days after entry of the order on the Motion.

#1.00 Final Fee Application of Philip D Dapeer, Debtor's Attorney, for fees and expenses

Docket 423

Tentative Ruling:

Contrary to Local Bankruptcy Rule 2016-1(a)(1)(H), applicant has not attached a description of the professional education and experience of each of the individuals rendering services, including identification of the professional school attended, year of graduation, year admitted to practice, publications or other achievements, and explanation of any specialized background or expertise in bankruptcy-related matters. A statement that such information is attached to applicant's employment application does not suffice.

Philip D. Dapeer, A Law Corporation ("Applicant"), counsel to the reorganized debtors – approve fees in the amount of $190,760.00 and reimbursement of expenses in the amount of $13,452.43, pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 330. Applicant is authorized to draw down on the $40,000 post-petition retainer in partial satisfaction of the above fees. Applicant is also authorized to receive the balance of $150,760.00 in fees and $13,452.43 for reimbursement of expenses. The Court has not allowed fees in the amount of $102,000.00 for the reasons below.

11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(1)(A) provides that a court may award to a professional person employed under § 327 "reasonable compensation for actual, necessary services" rendered by the professional person. "In determining the amount of reasonable compensation to be awarded to the professional person, the court shall consider the nature, the extent and the value of such services, taking into account all relevant factors, including—(A) the time spent on such services; (B) the rates charged for such services; (C) whether the services were necessary to the administration of, or beneficial at the time at which the service was rendered toward the completion of, a case under this title; [and] (D) whether the services were performed within a reasonable amount of time commensurate with the complexity, importance, and nature of the problem, issue, or task addressed . . .". 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(3). Except in circumstances not relevant to this chapter 11 case, "the court shall not allow compensation for—(i) unnecessary duplication of services; or (ii) services that were not—(I) reasonably likely to benefit the debtor’s estate; or (II) necessary to the administration of the case." 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(4)(A).

11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(2) provides that the court may, on its own motion, award compensation that is less than the amount of the compensation that is requested.

The Court will not approve the following fee because it appears to have been miscategorized:

Date	Description	Time	Fee
8/1/2016	COURT CALL FEE.	0.60	$240.00

The Court will reduce the following fees by 50%, as they appear excessive in light of Applicant’s experience, and the relative complexity of the work performed compared to the time billed:

The Court also notes that Applicant requests approval of $6,840.00 in fees for services performed on the reorganized debtors' disclosure statement and plan between August 24, 2016 and October 21, 2016. These fees appear to be excessive in light of the quality of Applicant's work. For example, Applicant (i) did not properly serve the disclosure statement and plan on one occasion; and (ii) did not attach the correct stipulations to the plan or incorporate their terms into the plan on two occasions. These and other issues with the disclosure statement and plan necessitated a continued hearing. Based on the foregoing, the Court has reduced by 50% Applicant's fees for services performed on the debtor's disclosure statement and plan during this time period.

Chapter 11

#11.00 Creditor's motion to extend time in which to file complaint under §523 and/or to deny a discharge

Docket 93

Tentative Ruling:

Grant in part and deny in part.

I. BACKGROUND

On February 16, 2018, Deborah Lois Adri ("Debtor") filed a voluntary chapter 11 petition. In her original schedule E/F, Debtor listed a $331,651.00 debt owed to Schuller & Schuller ("Creditor") for attorney fees. Debtor indicated that the debt is disputed. (Doc. 1, at p. 34.) Debtor alleges that she terminated Creditor's representation on March 12, 2008, nearly 10 years before the petition date. Debtor did not pay any further fees to Creditor after the termination. Debtor disputed the amounts that Creditor billed to her credit card. (Declaration of Deborah Adri, ¶ 2.) In addition, Creditor never served Debtor with a lawsuit regarding the alleged debt. (Id., ¶ 3.)

On March 29, 2018, the first § 341(a) meeting of creditors took place. Prior to the meeting, Creditor made a demand for documents related to Debtor's interest in real property owned directly by Debtor or by any holding entity. On May 3, 2018, a continued § 341(a) meeting was held. Debtor's counsel did not produce the documents requested by Creditor, but instead produced a tax transcript. (Declaration of Shai Oved, ¶ 2.)

On May 4, 2018, Creditor's counsel filed an application for Rule 2004 examination of Debtor (the "2004 Application") [doc. 68]. On May 9, 2018, Debtor objected to the 2004 Application. In her objection, the Debtor agreed to produce certain documents, but disputed the scope and relevance of other document requests.

On May 11, 2018, Debtor filed a motion for a protective order (the "Protective Order Motion") [doc. 76]. On May 13, 2018, Creditor filed a response to the Protective Order Motion [doc. 84]. On June 14, 2018, the Court held a hearing on the Protective Order Motion. The Court continued the hearing on the Protective Order Motion to July 19, 2018, to allow the parties to file a stipulation pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 7026-1(c)(3), addressing the disputed document production categories.

On May 24, 2018, Creditor's counsel filed the pending Motion to Extend Time in Which to File a Complaint Under § 523 and/or to Deny a Discharge (the "Motion to Extend") [doc. 93]. On June 7, 2018, Debtor filed an opposition [doc. 103]. On June 14, 2018, Creditor filed a reply [doc. 108].

II. RELEVANT LAW

Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure ("FRBP") 4004 states, in pertinent part—

- (a) Time for Objecting to Discharge; Notice of Time Fixed. In a chapter 7 case, a complaint, or a motion under §727(a)(8) or (a)(9) of the Code, objecting to the debtor's discharge shall be filed no later than 60 days after the first date set for the meeting of creditors under §341(a). In a chapter 11 case, the complaint shall be filed no later than the first date set for the hearing on confirmation. In a chapter 13 case, a motion objecting to the debtor's discharge under §1328(f) shall be filed no later than 60 days after the first date set for the meeting of creditors under §341(a). At least 28 days' notice of the time so fixed shall be given to the United States trustee and all creditors as provided in Rule 2002(f) and (k) and to the trustee and the trustee's attorney.
- (b) Extension of Time.
  - (1) On motion of any party in interest, after notice and hearing, the court may for cause extend the time to object to discharge. Except as provided in subdivision (b)(2), the motion shall be filed before the time has expired.
  - (2) A motion to extend the time to object to discharge may be filed after the time for objection has expired and before discharge is granted if (A) the objection is based on facts that, if learned after the discharge, would provide a basis for revocation under § 727(d) of the Code, and (B) the movant did not have knowledge of those facts in time to permit an objection. The motion shall be filed promptly after the movant discovers the facts on which the objection is based.

Pursuant to FRBP 4007(c):

Except as otherwise provided in subdivision (d), a complaint to determine the dischargeability of a debt under § 523(c) shall be filed no later than 60 days after the first date set for the meeting of creditors under § 341(a). The court shall give all creditors no less than 30 days' notice of the time so fixed in the manner provided in Rule 2002. On motion of a party in interest, after hearing on notice, the court may for cause extend the time fixed under this subdivision. The motion shall be filed before the time has expired.

Generally, a party seeking to extend the time to object to discharge under FRBP 4004(b) and 4007(c) must show special circumstances justifying such extension. Matter of James, 187 B.R. 395, 397 (Bankr. N.D. Ga. 1995). "[C]ourts also will look to resultant burden upon the debtor in evaluating such a motion to extend time." Id. at 398. "Case law citing Rule 4007(c) indicates that the 'cause' for an extension must be compelling and a creditor must show why it was not able to comply with the deadline as originally set." In re Garner, 339 B.R. 610, 611 (Bankr. W.D. Tex. 2006). "[I]f a creditor fails to diligently pursue discovery prior to expiration of the deadline, there is no cause justifying an extension of time to object to discharge." In re Chatkhan, 455 B.R. 365, 370 (Bankr. E.D.N.Y. 2011).

III. DISCUSSION

Debtor argues that the Motion to Extend should be denied because merely stating that it has a claim for fraud does not entitle Creditor to an extension of time to object to discharge. In support of her position, Debtor cites Chatkhan. In Chatkhan, the creditor argued that cause existed for an extension of time to object to discharge, because his claims involve allegations of fraud. The court in Chatkhan held that such allegations:

are not cause to grant an extension of time to object to discharge or dischargeability. No argument has been advanced that any alleged fraud or material misrepresentation impeded [creditor] from pursuing his rights, requesting discovery, or filing a complaint to object to discharge or dischargeability.

Id. at 368.

Here, Creditor is not arguing that it is entitled to an extension of time simply because it intends to allege fraud in a nondischargeability complaint. Rather, Creditor seeks an extension of time because the Debtor has allegedly refused to answer Creditor's questions at her § 341(a) meetings, delayed producing documents to Creditor, and filed the Protective Order Motion.

Furthermore, in Chatkhan, the creditor argued that he had exercised diligence throughout the case. However, the creditor's only support for his position was that his counsel appeared at the § 341(a) meeting and questioned the debtor. Id. at 368. The court found that the creditor did not exercise diligence. The creditor had known about the debtor's case almost five months before the deadline to object to discharge. The creditor obtained counsel, who attended the § 341(a) meeting two months before the deadline. However, the creditor waited until 10 days before the deadline to file a proof of claim, and waited until the day of the deadline to file his extension motion. The creditor sought no discovery before the deadline. Id. at 369.

Here, Creditor appears to have been diligent in pursuing relevant information. Debtor filed her case on February 16, 2018. Before the initial § 341(a) meeting, Creditor requested documents from Debtor. Creditor appeared at the initial § 341(a) meeting on March 29, 2018, and at the continued § 341(a) meeting on May 3, 2018. On May 4, 2018, Creditor filed the 2004 Application.

Debtor has agreed to produce certain categories of documents in response to the 2004 Application. The Court has set a continued hearing on July 19, 2018 regarding the Protective Order Motion, to allow the parties additional time to resolve or properly to address their remaining disputes as to the scope of Creditor's proposed 2004 examination. In light of the circumstances, it appears that there is cause to grant an extension of time pursuant to FRBP 4004(b) regarding any claims under § 727.

However, there does not appear to be cause for an extension of time pursuant to FRBP 4007(c) for claims under 11 U.S.C. § 523. As Debtor alleges, Creditor's representation was terminated on March 12, 2008, nearly 10 years before the petition date.

Creditor has not addressed the issue of whether its putative claims under § 523 are time-barred. Nor has Creditor identified which of its document requests in the 2004 Application are relevant to any such claims. Consequently, the Court will deny Creditor's request for an extension of time to file a complaint as concerns § 523 claims.

IV. CONCLUSION

In light of the foregoing, the Court will grant in part and deny in part the Motion to Extend. Creditor's deadline to file a complaint under 11 U.S.C. § 727 is extended to August 20, 2018. The Court will deny Creditor's request for extension of time to file a complaint under 11 U.S.C. § 523.

#0.00 Status conference re: remand

from: 6/13/18

Docket 577

Tentative Ruling:

On June 20, 2018, Tammy R. Phillips and Tammy R. Phillips, a Prof. Law Corp. ("Creditors") filed a discovery plan (the "Discovery Plan") [doc. 599]. In the Discovery Plan, Creditors outline several claims and defenses they intend to litigate on remand, including whether the debtor "had a cognizable possessory interest" in the subject property and whether "[t]hat interest entered the bankruptcy estate." Discovery Plan, p. 2. However, the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals already determined that "California law rejects [Creditors'] argument that title to the property is necessary to claim a homestead exemption." Gilman, 887 F.3d 956, 965 (9th Cir. 2018); see also Tarlesson v. Broadway Foreclosure Investments, LLC, 184 Cal.App.4th 931, 937 (Ct. App. 2010) ("[J]udgment debtors who continuously reside in their dwellings retain a sufficient equitable interest in the property to claim a homestead exemption even when they have conveyed title to another."). In light of the Court of Appeals' decision, the only issues remaining for adjudication on remand are: (A) whether the debtor intended to reside at the subject property; and (B) whether any California equitable law could be used to deny the debtor's exemption. Id., at 966. As a result, the Court will entertain arguments only about these narrow issues. Any attempt by a party to relitigate issues that have already been decided by the Court of Appeals may subject that party to sanctions in accordance with Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 9011.

In addition, Creditors assert that the debtor is not entitled to assert the attorney-client privilege or the work product doctrine if Creditors choose to depose the debtor's former counsel, Shirlee Bliss. It appears Creditors are suggesting that the debtor has lost these privileges because Ms. Bliss is the debtor's former counsel. Discovery Plan, p. 5. However, the authorities on which Creditors rely do not stand for the proposition that parties lose the right to assert either privilege because an attorney no longer represents the party. Rather, the cases set forth a three part test to determine if an attorney, current or former, may be deposed:

1. No other means exists to obtain the information than to depose opposing counsel;
2. The information sought is relevant and nonprivileged; and
3. The information is crucial to preparation of the case.

Pamida, Inc. v. E.S. Originals, Inc., 281 F.3d 726, 729 (8th Cir. 2002) (citing Shelton v. American Motors Corp., 805 F.2d 1323, 1327 (8th Cir. 1986)). Moreover, Pamida did not suggest that the termination of an attorney's representation eliminates a party's right to assert a privilege; instead, the Pamida court found that the three-prong test above was satisfied and the litigation about which the opposing counsel sought information had concluded. Id., at 730-31. Here, the litigation about which Creditors seek to depose Ms. Bliss has not concluded. Additionally, it is unclear why Ms. Bliss would have information relevant to the debtor's intent to stay, or any other relevant information regarding the debtor's entitlement to a homestead exemption, which Creditors could not obtain elsewhere.

Creditors also argue that the crime-fraud exception bars the debtor from asserting the attorney-client privilege. Discovery Plan, p. 5. "To invoke the crime-fraud exception successfully, the [movant] 'has the burden of making a prima facie showing that the communications were in furtherance of an intended or present illegality... and that there is some relationship between the communications and the illegality.'" In re Grand Jury Proceedings, 87 F.3d 377, 380 (9th Cir. 1996) (quoting U.S. v. Laurins, 857 F.2d 529, 540 (9th Cir. 1988)). Creditors suggest that the debtor's omission of the escrow agreement from his bankruptcy schedules is a "crime" under 18 U.S.C. § 152. Under 18 U.S.C. § 152(2), "[a] person who... knowingly and fraudulently makes a false oath or account in or in relation to any case under title 11... shall be fined under this title, imprisoned not more than 5 years, or both."

Notwithstanding the fact that the debtor has never been accused, charged or convicted of "knowingly and fraudulently" making a false oath under 18 U.S.C. § 152(2), the debtor's omission of the escrow agreement does not call for the application of the crime-fraud exception. Among other things, the Court of Appeals already found that the fact that the subject property was in escrow does not prevent the debtor from claiming a homestead exemption under California law. Gilman, 887 F.3d at 965. As such, depending on the discovery Creditors intend to request from Ms. Bliss, it is unlikely that the crime-fraud exception will apply to nullify the debtor's assertion of the attorney-client privilege.

The Court will set a discovery cutoff deadline of September 14, 2018. Regarding a privilege log, after discovery has been propounded, if the parties cannot agree on a deadline for the debtor to submit a privilege log, or any other issues concerning a privilege log, the parties may submit briefing in support of their respective positions.

I. BACKGROUND

On October 11, 2017, Mehri Akhlaghpour ("Debtor") filed a voluntary chapter 11 petition. On February 1, 2018, the Court issued an order directing the appointment of a chapter 11 trustee [doc. 101]. On February 6, 2018, Nancy J. Zamora was appointed the chapter 11 trustee (the "Trustee") [doc. 107].

In her schedule A/B [doc. 59], Debtor listed an ownership interest in six real properties in the following locations: (A) 4450 Winnetka Avenue, Woodland Hills, CA 91364 (the "Winnetka Property"); (B) 17315 Cagney Street, Granada Hills, CA 91344 (the "Cagney Property"); (C) 5454 Zelzah Avenue, Apt. 302, Encino, CA 91316 (the "Zelzah Property"); (D) 26943 Hillsborough Parkway, Unit 27, Valencia, CA 91354 (the "Hillsborough Property"); (E) 16320 Gledhill Street, North Hills, CA 91343 (the "Gledhill Property"); and (F) 8338 Woodley Place, Unit 28, North Hills, CA 91343 (the "Woodley Property"). Debtor also listed a 100% interest in eight business entities and a 32 % interest in another business entity, as well as three claims against third parties.

On February 7, 2018, the Trustee filed an application to employ Rodeo Realty, Inc. (the "Broker") as a real estate broker [doc. 110]. On March 15, 2018, the Court entered an order approving the application to employ the Broker [doc. 135].

On March 16, 2018, the Trustee filed motions to sell the Hillsborough Property [doc. 145] and the Woodley Property [doc. 146]. On March 22, 2018, the Trustee filed a motion to sell the Zelzah Property [doc. 155]. On April 12, 2018, the Trustee filed motions to sell the Cagney Property [doc. 175] and the Gledhill Property [doc. 178].

On April 17, 2018, the Court entered orders approving the sales of the Hillsborough Property [doc. 192] and the Woodley Property [doc. 193]. On April 24, 2018, the Court entered an order approving the sale of the Zelzah Property [doc. 205]. On May 15, 2018, the Court entered orders approving the sales of the Gledhill Property [doc. 225] and the Cagney Property [doc. 226].

On May 17, 2018, the Trustee filed a motion to sell the Winnetka Property (the "Motion") [doc. 228] to Kamran Taleby (the "Purchaser") for $1,225,000.00. On the same day, Debtor filed a proposed chapter 11 plan [doc. 236] and related disclosure statement [doc. 237].

On May 24, 2018, Wilmington Savings Fund Society, FSB ("Wilmington") filed a conditional opposition to the Motion [doc. 242], stating that it does not oppose the sale as long as it is paid in full. On June 21, 2018, Debtor filed an opposition to the Motion (the "Opposition") [doc. 257], asserting that: (A) the Trustee does not have a good business reason to sell substantially all of the estate's assets; (B) the Trustee did not adequately market the Winnetka Property; (C) the sale will interfere with Debtor's proposed chapter 11 plan; (D) the Trustee did not consider at least one offer from a purchaser named Armen Ohanian; (E) the sale is an inappropriate sub rosa plan; (F) the sale interferes with Debtor's and others' due process rights.

On June 28, 2018, the Trustee filed a reply to the Opposition (the "Reply") [doc. 258], wherein the Trustee agreed to the terms set forth by Wilmington. As for the Opposition, the Trustee asserts, among other things, that the sale is not for substantially all of the estate's assets and, even if it were, the Trustee has provided several good business reasons to move forward with the sale. The Trustee also argues that the purchase price reflects the best offer for the Winnetka Property, and the Broker did attempt to contact Mr. Ohanian but did not receive a response from Mr. Ohanian regarding overbidding on the Winnetka Property.

II. ANALYSIS

A. General Sale Standard

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 363(b)(1), the "trustee, after notice and a hearing, may use, sell, or lease, other than in the ordinary course of business, property of the estate" subject to an exception that does not apply here. A trustee has broad authority to negotiate sales of estate property under 11 U.S.C. § 363(b)(1); see also In re Canyon Partnership, 55 B.R. 520, 524 (Bankr. S.D. Cal. 1985). In reviewing motions to sell property under § 363(b), a court must determine whether sound business reasons support the sale outside the ordinary course of business. In re Walter, 83 B.R. 14, 19 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1988).

B. Good Business Reason Justifying Sale

Debtor objects to the sales of the Winnetka Property on the grounds that the Motion proposes to sell substantially all of the estate's assets, and that the Trustee has not supported her decision with a good business justification. In support of her argument, Debtor references In re Lionel Corp., 722 F.2d 1063 (2nd Cir. 1983). In Lionel, the Second Circuit Court of Appeals outlined six factors for determining whether a good business reason exists justifying a sale of substantially all of the assets of the debtor:

[Courts should] look to such relevant factors as the proportionate value of the asset to the estate as a whole, the amount of elapsed time since the filing, the likelihood that a plan of reorganization will be proposed and confirmed in the near future, the effect of the proposed disposition on future plans of reorganization, the proceeds to be obtained from the disposition vis-a-vis any appraisals of the property, which of the alternatives of use, sale or lease the proposal envisions and, most importantly perhaps, whether the asset is increasing or decreasing in value. This list is not intended to be exclusive, but merely to provide guidance to the bankruptcy judge.

First, Lionel is distinguishable because the debtor in Lionel sought authority to sell substantially all of the estate's assets. In the Opposition, Debtor asserts that the

Chapter 11

Winnetka Property is equivalent to 37% of the estate's overall value. Debtor calculates this number by dividing the sale price of the Winnetka Property by the aggregate value of all of the estate's real properties. However, the six real properties are not the only assets of this estate. In her calculation, Debtor omits the estate's 100% interest in eight business entities and a 32% interest in another business entity. Debtor also omits her interest in three claims against third parties. As such, even accounting for the Trustee's prior sales of the other real properties, the subject sale will not result in the sale of substantially all of the estate's property.

Even if Lionel is applicable, however, the Trustee has provided a "good business reason" justifying the sale of the Winnetka Property. Specifically, the Trustee has articulated a number of reasons for the sale, including that: (1) the completion of the sale is a necessary step towards, and for the Trustee to determine the feasibility of, a chapter 11 liquidating plan; (2) the purchase price for the Winnetka Property is fair and reasonable because it constitutes the highest offer amount received by the Trustee thus far after extensive marketing efforts by the Broker; and (3) the purchase price will be further "market tested" by potential overbidding at the hearing on the Motion. In addition, Debtor filed her chapter 11 petition nearly nine months ago. As such the Motion is not premature.

Debtor asserts that the purchase price is too low based on two appraisals obtained by Debtor, which reflect a market value of $1,466,800 as of May 24, 2018 and $1,305,000 as of March 30, 2017. Notwithstanding the issues presented by the Trustee regarding the lack of adequate comparable properties in the appraisals, the appraisals set forth a value based on several assumed factors. In contrast, the $1,225,000 purchase price to which the Trustee and the Purchaser agreed reflects the result of actual marketing efforts. Debtor has not demonstrated that continued marketing of the Property or different methods of marketing the Winnetka Property would lead to a higher purchase price. Given that the marketing of the Winnetka Property has generated multiple interested buyers, it appears that the sale prices reflect the market, and that the Winnetka Property has been marketed for enough time to generate competitive interest. The sale also is subject to overbid; should there be any interested purchasers willing to pay over $1,255,000, they will have the opportunity to do so pursuant to the overbid procedures outlined in the Motion.

Moreover, approval of this sale will not have an effect on a proposed disposition on future plans of reorganization. First, the Trustee does not intend to immediately distribute the sale proceeds. Further, the Winnetka Property does not generate rents for Debtor to use to fund a plan, nor does Debtor's proposed plan depend on a future sale of the Winnetka Property. In addition, the Court will not approve Debtor's disclosure statement at this time (as set forth in the ruling on that matter), and the Court will not indefinitely stay administration of this estate until Debtor provides a disclosure statement containing adequate information. As noted in the ruling on the disclosure statement, Debtor's proposed chapter 11 plan depends in large part on purported settlement agreements with certain unsecured creditors, which Debtor mentions in the Opposition as well. The Court has no admissible evidence regarding the nature of these agreements, such as the source of the funds used to purportedly settle with creditors and whether the estate has been released of any and all liability. Without additional information, the Court cannot approve Debtor's disclosure statement, and cannot find that the "likelihood of confirmation is high." Opposition, p. 6.

C. The Trustee's Business Judgment

As outlined by the Bankruptcy Appellate Panel of the Ninth Circuit:

The court's obligation in § 363(b) sales is to assure that optimal value is realized by the estate under the circumstances. The requirement of a notice and hearing operates to provide both a means of objecting and a method for attracting interest by potential purchasers. Ordinarily, the position of the trustee is afforded deference, particularly where business judgment is entailed in the analysis or where there is no objection. Nevertheless, particularly in the face of opposition by creditors, the requirement of court approval means that the responsibility ultimately is the court's.

In re Lahijani, 325 B.R. 282, 288–89 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2005).

Debtor questions the Trustee's business judgment based on Debtor's assertion that the Trustee did not consider an offer by a potential buyer, Armen Ohanian. However, Debtor's assertion is belied by the evidence provided by the Trustee in the Reply, which demonstrates that the Broker contacted Mr. Ohanian on two separate occasions to inquire about an overbid but did not receive a response. Reply, Declaration of Behnaz Tavakoli, ¶¶ 7-8, Exhibit 1.

In addition, as noted previously by the Court, the Trustee has been a chapter 7 trustee since 1998 and also has been a chapter 11 trustee in cases involving real estate. In those capacities, the Trustee has operated rental properties and sold over one hundred properties. Declaration of Nancy J. Zamora [doc. 228], ¶ 2. Based on the Trustee's record of experience, she may properly be afforded business judgment deference.

D. Sub-Rosa Plan

Debtor also argues that the sale of the Winnetka Property constitutes an impermissible "sub-rosa" plan. However, the proposed sale does not take the place of a plan. After paying the allowed claims of creditors secured by the Winnetka Property, the Trustee is not proposing to distribute net proceeds to other creditors at this time. See In re Air Beds, Inc. 92 B.R. 419 (B.A.P 9th Cir. 1988).

In addition, Debtor does not argue that the sale runs afoul of the chapter 11 requirements for confirmation of a plan. Debtor only argues that Debtor may not receive a discharge if the Court confirms a liquidating plan. 11 U.S.C. § 1141(d)(3). However, not all liquidating plans remove the possibility of discharge for a debtor. Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1141(d)(3), a debtor does not receive a discharge if the plan provides for liquidation of all or substantially all of the property of the estate and "the debtor does not engage in business after consummation of the plan" and "the debtor would be denied a discharge under section 727(a) of this title if the case were a case under chapter 7 of this title." 11 U.S.C. § 1141(d)(3)(A)-(C). Debtor has not articulated why all of these elements would be met if the Trustee were to propose a liquidating plan. In any case, Debtor may raise this argument in opposition to a future plan proposed by the Trustee; an opposition on this basis is not sufficient justification to deny the Motion.

E. Due Process Considerations

Debtor also asserts that the Motion should be denied because § 363 sales are an inappropriate violation of the due process rights of Debtor and creditors to the estate. However, Debtor and the estate's creditors have been served with notice of the sale, and have had an opportunity to object. Furthermore, the Trustee has demonstrated that the sale of the Winnetka Property will generate funds with which she can make distributions to creditors. Finally, pursuant to the overbid procedures built into the sale terms, Debtor and any other interested party has the opportunity to bid on the Winnetka Property. Consequently, Debtor has not demonstrated that the sale will violate Debtor's or other parties' due process rights, and there is no binding authority that stands for Debtor's broad and general proposition that sales under 11 U.S.C. § 363 violate a debtor's or creditors' due process rights.

III. CONCLUSION

The Court will grant the Motion and approve the sale of the Winnetka Property.

The Trustee must submit an order within seven (7) days.

#10.00 Disclosure statement describing chapter 11 plan of reorganization

Docket 235

Tentative Ruling:

In her reply [doc. 259], the debtor has agreed to amend the disclosure statement to make the following changes: (A) clarify that the debtor intends to object to certain proofs of claim; (B) accurately set forth whether each class is impaired or unimpaired; (C) clarify that unsecured creditors will be paid quarterly; (D) further divide the classes of unsecured creditors; (E) include the correct interest rate of 5.99% with respect to treatment of Class 13; (F) reference the stipulated judgment with Emymac, Inc.; (G) incorporate information regarding the cash on hand in the estate; (H) include additional risk factors; (I) include a discussion of the absolute priority rule; and (J) clarify that certain holders of unsecured claims will not receive distribution through the plan because they were scheduled as contingent, unliquidated and/or disputed and did not timely file proofs of claim.

In addition, the debtor represents that she will amend the disclosure statement to describe the alleged settlement agreements with certain claimholders. The debtor also must clarify the source of the funding for each of the agreements and whether the estate remains liable to any party on account of the claims purportedly settled. The debtor should attach the written agreements to any amended disclosure statement.

To the extent that any settlement payments are to be made from estate assets, the debtor must obtain court approval of the settlement agreements, either prior to, or in connection with, plan confirmation.

The debtor indicates in the disclosure statement that her family may contribute to the plan if she is unable to make plan payments. However, the debtor has not submitted any declarations by family members in which the relevant family member agrees to make such payments and provides sufficient evidence of his or her ability to do so. Regarding the ability of a family member to make plan payment contributions, with the amended disclosure statement, the debtor must provide documentary evidence to demonstrate the ability of a family member to make plan payment contributions.

#13.00 Motion for order authorizing use of cash collateral

Docket 26

Tentative Ruling:

The debtor did not properly serve the motion on either Bank of America, N.A. ("BOA") or Real Time Resolutions, Inc. ("Real Time"). With respect to BOA, the debtor indicated that she served BOA at the Tryon Street address, but the address in the proof of service does not include the correct zip code for that address. The zip code of BOA's headquarters is "28202," not "28255." Moreover, the Tryon Street address is not the address for the agent for service of process. That address is listed on the California Secretary of State's website as "Vivian Imperial, 818 W. Seventh St., Ste 930, Los Angeles, CA 90017." The Tryon Street address is the address for BOA's headquarters, at which address the debtor should serve any notice "c/o" an officer or director of BOA.

As for Real Time, the debtor served Real Time's agent for service of process at Real Time's headquarters. Once again, the debtor must serve Real Time at its headquarters by addressing the mailing "c/o" an officer or director of BOA. The debtor did not serve Real Time's agent for service of process at the correct address, which, according to the California Secretary of State's website, is: "Vivian Imperial, 818 W. Seventh St., Ste 930, Los Angeles, CA 90017."

Moreover, the debtor did not file form F 4001-2.STMT.FINANCE, located on the Court's website, as required by Local Bankruptcy Rule 4001-2(a).

In addition to these issues, the debtor did not account for payments to Real Time in her monthly budget. Does the debtor use the income generated by the subject real property to make payments to Real Time? Moreover, the debtor did not include a deed of trust in favor of BOA. As such, it is unclear if BOA has an interest in the rents generated by the subject property.

In light of these issues, the Court will not grant this motion at this time. If the debtor files and serves an amended notice of motion and motion for an order authorizing the

#68.00 Motion re: objection to the response to notice of final cure payment filed by U.S. Bank Trust National Association

Docket 107

Tentative Ruling:

Overrule in part and sustain in part.

I. BACKGROUND

On August 9, 2012, Bibliana Lucia Boveri ("Debtor") filed a chapter 13 petition.

On December 26, 2012, Christiana Trust filed a proof of claim, asserting a secured claim against Debtor's residence. On January 25, 2013, Creditor filed a Notice of Payment Change, adjusting the escrow account payments to $283.32 per month and thereby increasing Debtor's total monthly payment to $2,314.96. Debtor did not object to the Notice of Payment Change.

On February 13, 2015, Christiana Trust filed a motion for relief from the automatic stay (the "Motion for Relief from Stay") [doc. 56]. Christiana Trust withdrew the Motion for Relief from Stay prior to the hearing on the Motion for Relief from Stay.

On August 16, 2015, Christiana Trust transferred the debt to U.S. Bank, National Association ("Creditor"). Subsequently, Creditor's counsel contacted Debtor's counsel regarding the Motion for Relief from Stay. Opposition, Ex. B. In relevant part, the parties discussed missing mortgage payments between January 2015 and June 2015. Id. In a November 7, 2017 email to Creditor, Debtor's counsel noted that Debtor's March 2015 through June 2015 mortgage payments had not been tendered. Id.

On April 18, 2018, the chapter 13 trustee filed a Notice of Final Cure Payment [doc. 100]. On May 9, 2018, Creditor filed a response to the Notice of Final Cure Payment (the "Response"), attaching a ledger and asserting that Debtor owes $33,987.06 in postpetition mortgage payments and $5,356.61 in fees, charges, expenses, escrow and costs. With respect to the $5,356.61 in fees, charges, expenses, escrow and costs, the attached ledger reflected that $5,236.61 of this amount was Debtor's escrow account balance and the remaining $120 was attributed to late charge penalties against Debtor.

On May 30, 2018, Debtor filed an objection to the Response (the "Objection") [doc. 107], arguing that Creditor did not credit Debtor for four mortgage payments between March 2015 and June 2015, that Debtor overpaid her mortgage by a total of $4,927.18, which Creditor did not apply and that Creditor did not properly notice or itemize the additional requested fees and charges of $5,356.61. On June 26, 2018, Creditor filed an opposition to the Objection (the "Opposition") [doc. 110], referring the Court to the emails wherein Debtor's counsel informed Creditor that Debtor had not tendered payments between March 2015 and June 2015. In the Opposition, Creditor also asserts that the Notice of Payment Change appropriately noticed Debtor regarding the escrow account adjustment, but agreed to remove the $120 late charge. On July 3, 2018, Debtor filed a reply to the Response (the "Reply") [doc. 111], arguing that Creditor should be estopped from collecting the escrow balance because Creditor did not enforce the increased monthly payments after the Notice of Payment Change and that Creditor inappropriately collected overpayments prior to the Notice of Payment Change.

II. ANALYSIS

Debtor disputes the Response for three reasons: (A) Debtor asserts that Creditor did not credit Debtor for four payments of $1,888.17 between March and June 2015; (B) that Debtor overpaid her mortgage by a total of $4,927.18, which Creditor did not apply; and (C) that Creditor did not provide sufficient notice of the $5,356.61 in postpetition mortgage expenses.

Regarding the $1,888.17 mortgage payments between March 2015 and June 2015, Debtor provided Debtor's bank statements from March through June 2015 [Exh 2]. Bank statements for each month indicate a withdrawal of $1,888.17. However, the statements do not indicate where the money was sent. Furthermore, in 2017 (after Debtor asserts she paid Creditor), Debtor's counsel stated in an email that "the mortgage payments [counsel] was holding for the months of March-June, 2015 were never tendered...[debtor] will have to make up for those four mortgage payments." There is no evidence that Debtor made these payments after these email exchanges.

Creditor's ledger, attached to the Response, reflects that Debtor satisfied her mortgage payments of $1,888.17 through November 2016. Debtor remains delinquent for the months between December 2016 and May 2018, a total of 18 months. As such, Creditor's accounting, which reflects a total of $33,987.06 in postpetition payments that are due, is accurate ( $18 * $1,888.17 = $33,987.06$ ).

Debtor next asserts that, between August 2012 and June 2014, Debtor overpaid her mortgage by a total of $4,927.18. However, on January 25, 2013, Creditor filed the Notice of Payment Change, to which Debtor did not object. The Notice of Payment Change reflects that the only change made by the increase is that Debtor would now make an additional $283.32 in monthly payments to be applied to Debtor's escrow balance. In the Notice of Payment Change, Creditor noted that Debtor's monthly principal and interest payments would not change. The ledger attached to the Response also shows that Creditor kept separate columns for payments applied to Debtor's principal and interest and payments applied to Debtor's escrow balance.

In the Reply, Debtor states that Creditor did not actively attempt to enforce the payment change throughout Debtor's bankruptcy case and, as a result, should be estopped from collecting any delinquent escrow payments. Debtor does not cite any authority for this proposition. Moreover, Debtor does not assert that she did not receive notice of the Notice of Payment Change when it was filed in 2013. Pursuant to FRBP 3002.1(b)—

- (1) The holder of the claim shall file and serve on the debtor, debtor's counsel, and the trustee a notice of any change in the payment amount, including any change that results from an interest-rate or escrow-account adjustment, no later than 21 days before a payment in the new amount is due. If the claim arises from a home-equity line of credit, this requirement may be modified by court order.
- (2) A party in interest who objects to the payment change may file a motion to determine whether the change is required to maintain payments in accordance with § 1322(b)(5) of the Code. If no motion is filed by the day before the new amount is due, the change goes into effect, unless the court orders otherwise.

Here, Debtor did not timely object to the Notice of Payment Change. As such, the payment change went into effect 21 days after Creditor filed the Notice of Payment Change. In addition, to the extent Debtor is arguing that Creditor is estopped from collecting the amount set forth in the Notice of Payment Change because of Creditor's representations in the Motion for Relief from Stay, this Court never ruled on the Motion for Relief from Stay because Creditor withdrew the Motion for Relief from Stay prior to the hearing. Debtor has not articulated why a matter never adjudicated by a court would serve to estop a party in the future.

Debtor also argues that any overpayments prior to the Notice of Payment Change, specifically for the months between September 2012 and February 2013, should be credited to Debtor's account. However, it appears these overpayments went into a suspense account, which, beginning in February 1, 2014, were applied to reduce Debtor's escrow account balance. In other words, it does not appear Creditor improperly adjusted Debtor's escrow payments prior to the Notice of Payment Change. Rather, Debtor overpaid her escrow and Creditor deposited the amounts to a suspense account, later applying the amounts to Debtor's escrow balance (one year after the Notice of Payment Change alerted Debtor to the escrow adjustment).

As to the $5,356.61 in fees, charges, escrow and costs, Debtor claims that Creditor failed to describe and itemize these charges. However, the ledger attached to the Response clearly shows that $5,236.61 of the charges is the escrow balance and the remaining $120 is from late charges. As discussed above, Creditor provided appropriate notice of the escrow-account adjustment in accordance with FRBP 3002.1(b), and Debtor did not object. Creditor agrees that it did not provide adequate notice of the $120 and will amend the Response to reduce the $5,356.61 to $5,236.61. Aside from removing the $120 charge, the remaining delinquencies, fees and costs outlined in the Response appear to be accurate.

III. CONCLUSION

The Court will sustain the Objection as to the $120 late charge fee. The Court will otherwise overrule the Objection.

Creditor must submit an order within seven (7) days.

Docket 29

Tentative Ruling:

Grant; sustain objection to claim 2-1 on the Court's claim register.

I. BACKGROUND

On April 19, 2018, Gabriel Medina (the "Debtor") filed a voluntary chapter 13 petition. The Debtor owns the real property located at 15143 Polk Street, Sylmar, CA 91342 (the "Property"). The Debtor's counsel alleges that as of September 2009, Bank of America was the beneficiary of the first deed of trust encumbering the Property, in the principal amount of $480,000. (Declaration of Anthony O. Egbase, ¶ 2.)

The Debtor denies involvement with the following deeds of trust recorded against the Property between 2009 and 2013:

- Deed of trust held by Lowy Mortimer J. Trust, recorded September 17, 2009;
- Deed of trust held by David Kopatz, recorded January 26, 2012;
- Deed of trust held by Wilshire Financial Partners, recorded January 26, 2012;
- Deed of trust held by JMJ Funding Group, recorded May 28, 2013; and
- Deed of trust held by MH Capital Ventures, Inc. ("Claimant"), recorded June 5, 2013.

The Debtor alleges that he does not have personal liability for any of the above deeds of trust. He further alleges that he did not have title to his Property at the time each of these deeds of trust were executed. (Declaration of Gabriel Medina, ¶¶ 2–6.)

On May 3, 2013, Edge Holdings Company LLC ("Edge") executed a deed of trust as to the Property as a borrower, with Strunzo Development Corporation as the beneficiary, in the principal amount of $165,000 (the "Edge Deed of Trust"). (Doc. 29, Exh. C.) The Edge Deed of Trust was signed by Herrera, as manager for Edge. On May 28, 2013, the Edge Deed of Trust was recorded.

On May 22, 2013, a Short Form Deed of Trust and Assignment of Rents was executed, with Edge as the borrower and Claimant as the beneficiary, in the principal amount of $47,907.34 ("Claimant's Deed of Trust"). Herrera signed Claimant's Deed of Trust on behalf of Edge. On June 5, 2013, Claimant's Deed of Trust was recorded.

On October 5, 2016, the state court entered judgement (the "Judgment") in favor of the Debtor and against numerous defendants, including Herrera and Edge. The state court ordered that any deeds executed or recorded by Herrera, Edge, and the other defendants in the action were voided and canceled. Furthermore, the state court ordered that Debtor was the owner in fee simple of the Property, free and clear of any interest, claim, or lien of any of the defendants in this action. The state court awarded Debtor approximately $497,982.07 in damages. (Doc. 29, Exh. A.)

On September 26, 2017, a notice of default as to the Property was issued (the "Notice of Default"). The Notice of Default indicates that it was sent to Edge, on account of its breach of a deed of trust encumbering the Property. The Notice of Default does not identify the Debtor. (Doc. 29, Exh. B.)

On May 4, 2018, Claimant filed Proof of Claim 2 in the amount of $47,907.34 (the "Claim"). The Claim was signed by Herrera. No documentation was attached to the proof of claim. Herrera appears to be an officer of and agent for service of process for Claimant. (Doc. 29, Exh. D.)

On May 7, 2018, Claimant filed a Notice of Postpetition Mortgage Fees, Expenses, and Charges as to the Claim (the "Postpetition Fee Notice"). In the Postpetition Fee Notice, Claimant asserts that the Debtor owes various fees to Claimant on account of the Claim. Claimant also asserts that the principal amount of the claim is $47,907.34. Attached to the Postpetition Fee Notice is Claimant's Deed of Trust.

On June 4, 2018, Debtor filed an Objection to Claim Filed by MH Capital Ventures, Inc., Claim No. 2 to Disallow Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 502(b)(1) [doc. 17]. On June 19, 2018, Debtor filed an amended objection (the "Objection") [doc. 29]. As of July 3, 2018, no opposition has been filed.

II. DISCUSSION

11 U.S.C. § 502(a) provides that a proof of claim is deemed allowed, unless a party in interest objects. Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure ("FRBP") 3001(f) provides that a proof of claim executed and filed in accordance with the rules constitutes prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claim. FRBP 3001(c)(1) provides that when a claim, or an interest in property of the debtor securing the claim, is based on a writing, a copy of the writing shall be filed with the proof of claim. See also Local Bankruptcy Rule 3007-1(c) ("an objection to claim must be supported by admissible evidence sufficient to overcome the evidentiary effect of a properly documented proof of claim").

"To defeat the claim, the objector must come forward with sufficient evidence and show facts tending to defeat the claim by probative force equal to that of the allegations of the proofs of claim themselves." Lundell v. Anchor Const. Specialists, Inc., 223 F.3d 1035, 1039 (9th Cir. 2000) (internal citation omitted). "If the objector produces sufficient evidence to negate one or more of the sworn facts in the proof of claim, the burden reverts to the claimant to prove the validity of the claim by a preponderance of the evidence. The ultimate burden of persuasion remains at all times upon the claimant." Id. (internal citations omitted); In re Laptops Etc. Corp., 164 B.R. 506, 522 (Bankr. D. Md. 1993) (burden shifts to claimant, who has ultimate burden of persuasion as to validity of its claim, only "upon objection to the claim coupled with the admission of probative evidence which tends to sufficiently rebut the prima facie validity of the claim"); see also In re Campbell, 336 B.R. 430, 436 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 2005) ("[o]bjections without substance are inadequate to disallow claims, even if those claims lack the documentation required by Rule 3001(c).").

The Debtor seeks disallowance of the Claim on the grounds that the Claimant lacks standing to bring the Claim, and that the Debtor has no liability on the Claim. It appears that the Debtor is correct. The Debtor is not the borrower on Claimant's Deed of Trust. Instead, Edge is the borrower on Claimant's Deed of Trust, with Herrera signing on behalf of Edge. As the Debtor notes, the Judgment quieted title in favor of

Chapter 13

#73.00 Trustee's objection to debtor's homestead exemption

Docket 30

Tentative Ruling:

In response to the chapter 13 trustee's objection, the debtor filed a declaration attaching a photocopy of his United States passport and a letter from the Social Security Administration, both of which indicate that the debtor's birthdate is October 2, 1952. This evidence appears sufficient to show that the Debtor was over the age of 65 as of February 20, 2018, the date the debtor filed his chapter 13 petition. Absent further objection to the debtor's claimed exemption pursuant to California Code of Civil Procedure § 704.730(a)(3), the Court will overrule the chapter 13 trustee's objection without prejudice.

The chapter 13 trustee must submit the order within seven (7) days.

Chapter 13

#74.00 Trustee's objection to debtor's exemption

Docket 22

Tentative Ruling:

In response to the chapter 13 trustee's objection, the debtor filed an opposition attaching evidence of a direct deposit into her bank account from the Social Security Administration, in the amount of $1,200. (Doc. 36, Exh. A.) This evidence appears sufficient to show that the funds at issue are Social Security benefits as defined in California Code of Civil Procedure ("C.C.P.") § 704.080. Absent further objection to the debtor's claimed exemption pursuant to C.C.P. § 704.080, the Court will overrule the chapter 13 trustee's objection without prejudice.

The Court notes that in her schedule I, the debtor indicates no Social Security income. (Doc. 10, at p. 25.) No later than August 10, 2018, the debtor must file an amended schedule I that accurately reflects her Social Security income, which appears to be $1,200 per month.

The chapter 13 trustee must submit the order within seven (7) days.

#75.00 Trustee's objection to debtor's homestead exemption

Docket 24

Tentative Ruling:

In response to the chapter 13 trustee's objection, the debtor filed an amended Schedule C to claim an exemption in the amount of $75,000 under California Code of Civil Procedure ("C.C.P.") § 704.730 in the real property located at 13321 Branford St., Pacoima, CA 91331. In addition, all of the debtor's remaining exemptions in the amended Schedule C are claimed pursuant to C.C.P. §§ 704.010 et seq. Absent further objections to the debtor's claimed exemptions in his amended Schedule C, the Court will overrule the chapter 13 trustee's objection without prejudice.

The chapter 13 trustee must submit the order within seven (7) days.

from: 6/6/18

Docket 38

Tentative Ruling:

I adopt the tentative ruling below.

Ruling from 6/6/2018

Grant relief from stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1).

Movant (and any successors or assigns) may proceed under applicable nonbankruptcy law to enforce its remedies to foreclose upon and obtain possession of the property.

The co-debtor stay of 11 U.S.C. § 1201(a) and § 1301(a) is terminated, modified or annulled as to the co-debtor, on the same terms and conditions as to the debtor.

The 14-day stay prescribed by FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived.

Movant must submit the order within seven (7) days.

Note: No response has been filed. Accordingly, no court appearance by movant is required. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the Court will determine whether further hearing is required and movant will be so notified.

GABOR SZABO AND TAMAS SZABO
VS
DEBTOR

Docket 44

Tentative Ruling:

Deny.

I. BACKGROUND

A. The First Case

On March 17, 2011, Mark Efrem Rosenberg (the "Debtor") filed a voluntary chapter 7 petition, commencing case no. 1:11-bk-13285-GM (the "First Case"). The Debtor did not schedule Gabor Szabo and Tamas Szabo (together, "Movants") or the Law Offices of Gabor Szabo (the "Law Office") as creditors in the First Case. On June 20, 2011, the Debtor received a chapter 7 discharge [doc. 13]. On June 27, 2011, the First Case was closed [doc. 15].

B. The Pending Case

On December 29, 2017, the Debtor filed a chapter 13 petition, commencing the pending case (the "Pending Case"). On December 31, 2017, the Court issued a Notice of Chapter 13 Bankruptcy Case (the "Pending Case Notice") [doc. 7]. The Pending Case Notice indicated that the deadline to file an adversary complaint objecting to discharge was April 23, 2018. The Pending Case Notice was not served on Movants.

On January 11, 2018, the Debtor filed an amended list of creditors [doc. 15], which included the Law Office. Movants do not dispute that they received timely notice of the Debtor's bankruptcy filing.

C. The Relief from Stay Motion

Chapter 13

On April 16, 2018, Movants filed a motion for relief from the automatic stay (the "RFS Motion") [doc. 37] to continue litigating against the Debtor, among others, in state court (the "State Court Action"). Movants attached the state court complaint (the "State Court Complaint") to the RFS Motion.

Through the State Court Complaint, Movants alleged that the Debtor and other individual and corporate defendants converted Movants' property and defrauded Movants. Movants requested damages, as well as return of their property. Movants also attached purchase and lease agreements, all of which bear the signature of Gabor Rosenberg, who is alleged to be the Debtor's father.

In the RFS Motion, Movants allege that the Debtor filed his bankruptcy case in bad faith to delay the trial in the State Court Action, which was scheduled for January 29, 2018. Movants also argue that the Debtor is a "nondispensable [sic] party" in the State Court Action.

Movants seek relief from the automatic stay on the following grounds: (i) Movants seek recovery primarily from third parties and agree that the stay will remain in effect as to the enforcement of any resulting judgment against the Debtor or bankruptcy estate, and reserve the right to file a proof of claim or adversary complaint in the Debtor's case; (ii) the causes of action in the State Court Complaint are nondischargeable in nature and can be most expeditiously resolved in the nonbankruptcy forum; and (iii) the causes of action in the State Court Complaint arise under nonbankruptcy law and can be most expeditiously resolved in the nonbankruptcy forum. In addition, Movants seek annulment of the automatic stay to validate acts they took without knowledge of the Debtor's bankruptcy filing.

On June 20, 2018, the Debtor filed an opposition to the RFS Motion (the "Opposition") [doc. 48]. In support of the Opposition, the Debtor alleges that he filed the Pending Case on December 29, 2017 to halt a foreclosure sale of his residence scheduled by the junior lienholder. (Declaration of Mark Rosenberg, ¶ 9.) On January 25, 2018, the Debtor filed a motion to avoid the junior lien [doc. 18]. On March 15, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the motion to avoid the junior lien [doc. 33].

D. The Law Office's Claim

On May 31, 2018, the Law Office filed a proof of claim in the amount of $600,000. The proof of claim appears to be based on the same debt alleged in the State Court Complaint. On June 8, 2018, the Debtor filed an objection to the Law Office's claim (the "Objection") [doc. 46]. On June 25, 2018, Movants filed a response to the Objection. On July 10, 2018, the Court sustained the Objection and disallowed the Law Office's claim, on the grounds that the Law Office had notice of the Pending Case, yet filed their claim after the claims bar date of March 9, 2018. (See doc. 53.)

II. DISCUSSION

Section 362(d)(1) permits lifting of the automatic stay to continue pending litigation against a debtor in a nonbankruptcy forum. See Christensen v. Tucson Estates, Inc. (In re Tucson Estates, Inc.), 912 F.2d 1162, 1166 (9th Cir. 1990). In so determining, "the bankruptcy court should base its decision on the hardships imposed on the parties with an eye towards the overall goals of the Bankruptcy Code." In re C & S Grain Co., Inc., 47 F.3d 233, 238 (7th Cir. 1995) (emphasis added).

A. Effect of Discharge in the First Case

In the Opposition, the Debtor notes that he did not list Movants in his schedules in the First Case. According to the Debtor, the chapter 7 discharge he obtained in the First Case discharged his unknown and unsecured debt, pursuant to the holding in In re Beezley, 994 F.2d 1433 (9th Cir. 1993). However, the Debtor is only partially correct. In Beezley, a debtor in a chapter 7, no-asset case filed a motion to reopen his case, so that he could amend his schedules to add an omitted debt. The bankruptcy court denied the debtor's motion to reopen. On appeal, Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals affirmed the bankruptcy court:

Based on the assumption that amendment was necessary to discharge the debt, [the debtor] sought to add an omitted debt to his schedules. [The debtor's], however, was a no asset, no bar date Chapter 7 case. After such a case has been closed, dischargeability is unaffected by scheduling; amendment of [the debtor's] schedules would thus have been a pointless exercise. . . . If the omitted debt is of a type covered by 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(3)(A), it has already been discharged pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 727. If the debt is of a type covered by 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(3)(B), it has not been discharged, and is non-dischargeable. In sum, reopening here in order to grant [the debtor's] request would not have "accord[ed] relief to" [the debtor]; thus, there was no abuse of discretion.

Beezley, 994 F.2d at 1434.

Here, in the State Court Complaint, Movants' claims include claims for fraud and conversion, which Movants allege are nondischargeable in nature. Movants' claim for fraud appears to be of a type covered by 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(A), and movant's claim for conversion appears to be of a type covered by 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(6). Pursuant to § 523(a)(3)(B), a chapter 7 discharge does not discharge an individual from a debt:

(3) neither listed nor scheduled under section 521(a)(1) of this title, with the name, if known to the debtor, of the creditor to whom such debt is owed, in time to permit—

(B) if such debt is of a kind specified in paragraph (2), (4), or (6) of this subsection, timely filing of a proof of claim and timely request for a determination of dischargeability of such debt under one of such paragraphs, unless such creditor had notice or actual knowledge of the case in time for such timely filing and request;

Movants were not listed as creditors in the First Case. If Movants never received notice of the First Case, then Movants' alleged claims under §§ 523(a)(2) and (a)(6) could potentially have been excepted from discharge in the First Case pursuant to § 523(a)(3)(B). Thus, the discharge injunction in the First Case may not bar Movants from pursuing their claims against the Debtor.

B. The Pending Case

Notwithstanding the foregoing, Movants are not entitled to relief from stay in the Pending Case to pursue the State Court Action. As noted above, on July 20, 2018, the Court disallowed the Law Office's untimely claim in the amount of $600,000, which was based on the State Court Complaint.

In addition, the deadline for Movants to file a nondischargeability complain in the Pending Case has passed. On December 29, 2017, the Debtor filed the Pending Case. On December 31, 2017, the Court issued the Pending Case Notice, which indicated that the deadline to file an adversary complaint objecting to discharge was April 23, 2018.

The limitation period to file a complaint is strictly construed. Section 523(c) as implemented by Rule 4007(c) places a heavy burden on the creditor to protect its rights. A debt . . . is automatically discharged unless the creditor either files a complaint to determine dischargeability or files a motion for extension of time within the 60 day statute of limitations.

Herndon v. De La Cruz (In re De La Cruz), 176 B.R. 19, 22 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1994).

In De La Cruz, two days after he filed his petition, the defendant mailed a letter to plaintiff's attorney informing him of his bankruptcy filing. Approximately six weeks after the nondischargeability complaint deadline, the plaintiff filed an nondischargeability complaint, which the bankruptcy court dismissed as untimely. On appeal, the plaintiff argued that he had not received written notice of the defendant's bankruptcy case, because mailings were sent to an incomplete address. The bankruptcy court had concluded that any defect in the address was harmless, because the notice had not been returned to sender.

"The Ninth Circuit [Court of Appeals] has held that notice is sufficient when the creditor has actual knowledge of the bankruptcy filing in time to file a complaint under § 523." Id. at 23. In De La Cruz, the Bankruptcy Appellate Panel for the Ninth Circuit ("BAP") held that the plaintiff had actual notice of defendant's bankruptcy case:

We conclude that [the plaintiff] had actual notice of the bankruptcy for almost 90 days before the bar date in order to file a complaint to determine dischargeability of debt. At a minimum, [the plaintiff's] attorney should have reviewed the bankruptcy court file, which is a public record. Had he done so, he would have had ample time to file a complaint.

Id.

Here, because the Debtor did not include Movants in the original list of creditors, Movants did not receive the Pending Case Notice. However, the Debtor filed an amended list of creditors on January 11, 2018. In the amended list, the Debtor included the Law Office as a creditor and listed two different addresses for the Law Office. As a result, the Law Office and Gabor Szabo received actual notice of the bankruptcy case on January 11, 2018, well before the nondischargeability complaint deadline of April 23, 2018. Gabor Szabo, who is an attorney, should have reviewed the bankruptcy court file to determine the deadline to file a complaint objecting to the Debtor's discharge.

Because Movants had actual notice of the Pending Case and the nondischargeability complaint deadline has passed, Movants' claims are discharged and they may no longer seek nondischargeability of their debt in the Pending Case. Any judgment obtained against the Debtor in state court would not be enforceable against the Debtor. Accordingly, relief from the automatic stay in the Pending Case does not appear warranted on these grounds.

C. *Bad Faith

In the RFS Motion, Movants allege that the timing of the Pending Case was intended to interfere with the Nonbankruptcy Action. Trial in the State Court Action was scheduled to begin on January 29, 2018, a month after the petition date. However, the Debtor alleges that the Pending Case was filed on December 29, 2017, to halt an impending foreclosure sale of his residence by the junior trust deed holder and to avoid the junior lien. Movants have not submitted evidence to rebut the Debtor's allegations as to why he filed the Pending Case. Based on this evidence, it does not appear that the Pending Case was filed in bad faith.

D. *Indispensable Party

Movants argue that the Debtor is an indispensable party in the State Court Action. However, Movants' argument is conclusory and they do not explain why they cannot proceed in the State Court Action against the other defendants. As the Debtor notes in the Opposition, the State Court Complaint seeks relief against the defendants under a theory of joint and several liability. Moreover, Movants may subpoena the Debtor in the State Court Action if they need him as a percipient witness.

III. CONCLUSION

In light of the foregoing, the Court will deny the RFS Motion. Movants have not shown sufficient cause under 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1) to warrant relief from the automatic stay to proceed with the nonbankruptcy action against the Debtor. Notwithstanding the foregoing, Movants may proceed against the non-debtor defendants in the nonbankruptcy action.

The Court will not annul the automatic stay. Movants have not identified any act that were taken in violation of the automatic stay without notice of the Pending Case.

The Debtor must submit an order within seven (7) days.

Deadline to complete discovery: 8/31/18.

Deadline to complete one day of mediation: 9/14/18.

Deadline to file pretrial motions: 10/1/18.

Deadline to complete and submit pretrial stipulation in accordance with Local Bankruptcy Rule 7016-1: 10/17/18.

Pretrial: 1:30 p.m. on 10/31/18.

In accordance with Local Bankruptcy Rule 7016-1(a)(4), within seven (7) days after this status conference, the plaintiffs must submit a Scheduling Order.

If any of these deadlines are not satisfied, the Court will consider imposing sanctions against the party at fault pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 7016-1(f) and (g).

                  1) temporary injunction
                  2) preliminary injunction restraining defendants from conducting foreclosure sale of debtor's property

Docket      1

Tentative Ruling:

Through the complaint, the plaintiff sought to obtain an injunction preventing foreclosure of the real property located at 17977 Medley Drive, Encino, California 91316 (the "Property"). Given that the Court denied the plaintiff's motion for an injunction to stay the foreclosure proceedings, and the fact that the Property has now been sold, why is this proceeding not moot? The plaintiff should be prepared to discuss this issue.

If the proceeding is not moot, the Court intends to continue this status conference to 1:30 p.m. on September 12, 2018, to be held with the hearings on the motions to dismiss.

The Court is not waiving appearances for the status conference set for 1:30 p.m. on July 18, 2018, and the parties must appear to discuss the issues set forth above.

The plaintiff did not timely serve the summons on the defendant. In his proof of service, the plaintiff indicates that he served the defendant with the summons and complaint on June 5, 2018. However, the summons expired on May 31, 2018.

The plaintiff must request an alias summons from the Court. The plaintiff can obtain an alias summons from the Court by sending a request letter to Courtroom Services, Attn: Patty Garcia, 21041 Burbank Blvd., Woodland Hills, CA 91367. The plaintiff must attach to this letter official Court Form F 7004-1, having completed the top caption and clearly indicating such summons is an alias summons by interlineating "Alias" where appropriate on the form.

This alias summons must be served upon the defendant within 7 days of its issuance by the Court, pursuant to Fed. R. Bankr. P. 7004(e) and Local Bankr. R. 7004-1(b). The plaintiff must attach to the alias summons a copy of the complaint and a copy of Judge Kaufman's Status Conference Instructions.

To demonstrate proper service of the alias summons and the complaint and instructions to be served with that summons, the plaintiff must file a signed proof of service indicating that the alias summons and the documents to be served with that summons were timely served on the defendant.

If the plaintiff can obtain an issued alias summons from the Court by August 17, 2018, the status conference will be continued to October 3, 2018 at 1:30 p.m.

I. BACKGROUND

On February 7, 2011, Kevan Harry Gilman ("Defendant") filed a voluntary chapter 7 petition. On May 13, 2011, Tammy R. Phillips and Tammy R. Phillips, a Prof. Law Corp. ("Plaintiffs") filed a complaint against Defendant, initiating this adversary proceeding. In the Complaint, Plaintiffs alleged claims under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(A), (a)(4) and (a)(6) and § 727(a)(2), (a)(4)(A) and (a)(4)(D). On November 9, 2013, Plaintiffs filed a supplemental complaint [doc. 283], adding additional claims under 11 U.S.C. § 727(a)(2), (a)(3), (a)(4)(A) and (a)(6). On April 22, 2015, Plaintiffs filed an amended supplemental complaint [doc. 415], adding a supplement to Plaintiffs' claim under 11 U.S.C. § 727(a)(2) and adding a claim for attorneys' fees under California Code of Civil Procedure § 685.040.

On April 6, 2016, the Court held a pretrial conference. At that time, the Court suggested trifurcating this proceeding such that Plaintiffs' claim under 11 U.S.C. § 727(a)(2)(B) would be tried first and, if unsuccessful, the Court would adjudicate Plaintiffs' remaining claims under 11 U.S.C. § 727. If those claims also were unsuccessful, the Court would then adjudicate Plaintiffs' claims under 11 U.S.C. § 523. The parties agreed to the trifurcation. As such, on April 7, 2016, the Court entered an order setting trial on Plaintiff's § 727(a)(2)(B) claim [doc. 588].

On June 28 and 29, 2016 and August 12, 2016, the Court held trial on Plaintiffs' claim under 11 U.S.C. § 727(a)(2)(B). On November 3, 2016, the Court issued a decision denying Defendant's discharge under 11 U.S.C. § 727(a)(2)(B) [doc. 668]. On November 23, 2016, the Court entered judgment in favor of Plaintiffs (the "Judgment") [doc. 671].

On December 7, 2016, Plaintiffs filed a motion for an award of attorneys' fees (the "Motion for Fees") [doc. 674]. On June 13, 2017, the Court entered an order granting in part and denying in part the Motion for Fees (the "Fee Order") [doc. 748]. On June 27, 2018, Plaintiffs filed a motion to reconsider the Fee Order (the "Motion for Reconsideration") [doc. 750]. On March 30, 2018, the Court entered an order denying the Motion for Reconsideration (the "Reconsideration Order") [doc. 758].

On April 13, 2018, Plaintiffs appealed the Fee Order and the Reconsideration Order [doc. 761]. On May 17, 2018, the Bankruptcy Appellate Panel of the Ninth Circuit (the "BAP") issued an order (the "BAP Order") instructing Plaintiffs to file a written response explaining how the Judgment is final given that there are additional claims left to be adjudicated [BAP Docket, 18-1101, doc. 4]. Specifically, the BAP expressed concern over Plaintiffs' remaining claims under 11 U.S.C. §§ 523 and 727. Alternatively, the BAP instructed Plaintiffs to obtain a determination under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure ("Rule") 54(b) from this Court [BAP Docket, 18-1101, doc. 4].

On June 6, 2018, Plaintiffs filed a motion requesting a determination the Judgment is a partial final judgment under Rule 54(b) [doc. 771]. Defendant has not opposed the Motion.

II. ANALYSIS

Pursuant to Rule 54(b)—

When an action presents more than one claim for relief--whether as a claim, counterclaim, crossclaim, or third-party claim--or when multiple parties are involved, the court may direct entry of a final judgment as to one or more, but fewer than all, claims or parties only if the court expressly determines that there is no just reason for delay. Otherwise, any order or other decision, however designated, that adjudicates fewer than all the claims or the rights and liabilities of fewer than all the parties does not end the action as to any of the claims or parties and may be revised at any time before the entry of a judgment adjudicating all the claims and all the parties' rights and liabilities.

"A district court must first determine that it has rendered a 'final judgment,' that is, a judgment that is 'an ultimate disposition of an individual claim entered in the course of a multiple claims action.'" Wood v. GCC Bend, LLC, 422 F.3d 873, 878 (9th Cir. 2005) (quoting Curtiss-Wright Corp. v. General Elec. Co., 446 U.S. 1, 7, 100 S.Ct. 1460, 1464, 64 L.Ed.2d 1 (1980)). "Then it must determine whether there is any just reason for delay." Id.; see also United States v. Gila Valley Irrigation Dist., 859 F.3d 789, 797 (9th Cir. 2017) ("[A]s Rule 54(b) makes plain, finality is achieved only if the court takes each of two steps—it must make an express determination that there is no just reason for delay and it also must make an express direction for the entry of judgment.") (internal quotation omitted).

"It is left to the sound judicial discretion of the district court to determine the 'appropriate time' when each final decision in a multiple claims action is ready for appeal. This discretion is to be exercised in the interest of sound judicial administration." Curtiss-Wright, 446 U.S. at 8. "Whether a final decision on a claim is ready for appeal is a different inquiry from the equities involved, for consideration of judicial administrative interests 'is necessary to assure that application of the Rule effectively 'preserves the historic federal policy against piecemeal appeals.'" Wood, 422 F.3d at 878 (quoting Curtiss-Wright, 446 U.S. at 8).

The Supreme Court indicated that it was proper for the district judge to consider such factors as whether the adjudicated claims were separable from the others and whether the nature of the claim was such that no appellate court would have to decide the same issues more than once. It suggested that while the absence of any of these factors would not necessarily mean that certification was improper, it would require the district court "to find a sufficiently important reason for nonetheless granting certification." Id. at 8 & n. 2, 100 S.Ct. 1460. The Court illustrated the point by observing that if the district court concluded that an appellate court might have to face the same issues on a later appeal, this downside might be offset by the upside of finding that appellate resolution of the certified claims might facilitate settlement of the remaining claims. Id. at 8 n. 2, 100 S.Ct. 1460.

Here, the Court denied Defendant's discharge pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 727(a)(2)(B). The Judgment constituted "an ultimate disposition of [that] individual claim." Wood, 422 F.3d at 878. Moreover, although Plaintiffs have other pending claims under both 11 U.S.C. §§ 523 and 727, the parties previously agreed to trifurcation of this adversary proceeding to save time and resources. If Plaintiffs successfully obtained a judgment denying Defendant's discharge, Plaintiffs would not pursue their remaining claims in this adversary proceeding. Thus, once appeals are finalized, Plaintiffs will not pursue their other claims because the denial of Defendant's discharge will have mooted Plaintiffs' other claims. In addition, the claim under 11 U.S.C. § 727(a)(2)(B) is easily severable from the other claims asserted by Plaintiffs as it is the only claim arising from Defendant's postpetition transfers of retirement funds. As such, should the Court grant the Motion, the § 727(a)(2)(B), the appellate court will not have to decide the same issue more than once.

Defendant has not appealed the Judgment. After entry of the Judgment, Plaintiffs filed and litigated the Motion for Fees, which requests fees incurred prosecuting this adversary proceeding from its inception to the date Plaintiffs filed the Motion for Fees. Plaintiffs disagree with the Court's reasoning behind the Fee Order and the Reconsideration Order, and seek appellate review of these orders.

Given that the parties have been litigating this action for over seven years, there is no just reason to further delay this action by waiting to dispose of the remaining claims. An appeal of the Fee Order and Reconsideration Order will not lead to piecemeal appeals because the parties do not intend to litigate the remaining claims in this adversary proceeding once Plaintiffs' appeals are finalized. Both parties will benefit from prompt review of the Fee Order and the Reconsideration Order. In addition, Defendant does not oppose the Motion. In light of these facts, the Court will direct the entry of a final judgment under Rule 54(b).

III. CONCLUSION

The Court will grant the Motion and direct the entry of a final judgment under Rule 54(b).

Docket 45

Tentative Ruling:

I. BACKGROUND

On March 16, 2017, Hermann Muennichow ("Defendant") filed a voluntary chapter 7 petition. On June 12, 2017, Duane J. Van Dyke ("Plaintiff") filed a complaint against Defendant (the "Complaint"), requesting nondischargeability of the debt owed to Plaintiff pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(A), (a)(4), (a)(6) and (a)(14) and requesting denial of Defendant's discharge under 11 U.S.C. § 727. On August 22, 2017, Defendant filed an answer to the Complaint [doc. 13].

On November 11, 2017, Defendant passed away [doc. 30, Exhibit A]. On November 16, 2017, the Court issued an order to appear and show cause why this adversary proceeding should not be dismissed for failure to prosecute (the "OSC for Failure to Prosecute") [doc. 22]. On November 17, 2017, Plaintiff filed a response to the OSC for Failure to Prosecute mentioning the recent "recent death of the debtor" (the "Response to the OSC") [doc. 24, p. 3, lines 2-3].

On December 14, 2017, the Court entered a scheduling order (the "Scheduling Order") [doc. 27]. On the same day, the Scheduling Order was served on the chapter 7 trustee, Plaintiff's counsel, Defendant's counsel and the United States Trustee through NEF [doc. 28]. On December 16, 2017, the Scheduling Order was served on Plaintiff and Defendant by first class mail [doc. 28]. In the Scheduling Order, the Court stated:

The Court being apprised of the death of the Debtor Hermann Muennichow and it appearing that the Plaintiff seeks to move forward with this adversary proceeding,

It is hereby ordered that the status conference is continued to February 14, 2018 at 1:30 p.m. in Courtroom 301 of the above-captioned Court;

It is further ordered that a status conference report be filed by January 31, 2018 to address, in addition to all other matters required in the report, the status of any motion to substitute a party in place of the deceased debtor pursuant to Federal Rules of Procedure Rule 25(a).

(emphasis added). On February 1, 2018, Stuart R. Simone, Defendant's counsel, filed a declaration regarding the termination of the attorney-client relationship (the "Simone Declaration") [doc. 30]. In the Simone Declaration, Mr. Simone states that Defendant died on November 11, 2017. Attached is a copy of the death certificate [doc. 30, ¶ 3, Ex. A].

On February 15, 2018, the Court entered an order to show cause why the Court should not dismiss this adversary proceeding because of Defendant's death (the "OSC"). The OSC required Plaintiff to appear and explain how the Court could grant effective relief in this adversary proceeding [doc. 32].

On March 21, 2018, Plaintiff filed a response and declaration in reply to the Court's OSC (the "March Response") [doc. 35]. In the March Response, Plaintiff requested that the Court abstain from hearing this adversary proceeding under 11 U.S.C. § 1334(c)(1). However, Plaintiff also asserted that a determination of Plaintiff's claims in this proceeding remains relevant because of a dispute regarding certain life insurance proceeds. Allegedly, Plaintiff and Defendant's spouse, Helayne Muennichow, each claim an interest in these policy proceeds.

On April 4, 2018, the Court held a hearing on the OSC. At that time, the Court ruled that "in order to trigger the beginning of the statutory period [governing the timing of filing a motion for substitution under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 25(a)], it appears appropriate that any notice of death be served on Mrs. Muennichow" (the "Deadline Ruling"). As such, the Court held that the 90-day period relevant to this Motion would not be triggered until Plaintiff served Ms. Muennichow with a notice of death.

On April 25, 2018, Plaintiff filed a unilateral status report (the "Status Report") [doc. 39]. In the Status Report, Plaintiff noted that:

Chapter 7

The Debtor died shortly after he filed a response to the complaint. Our efforts to find an individual to act as a personal representative to substitute in as defendant have not been successful. Accordingly, Plaintiff has initiated a Probate proceeding seeking to have a personal representative appointed by the Probate Court. A hearing is calendared for May 18, 2018 in Probate Court at which time, we expect the Court to name a personal representative.

Status Report, p. 2. Plaintiff served the Status Report on Ms. Muennichow and Ms. Muennichow's attorney.

On May 9, 2018, the Court held a continued hearing on the OSC and a continued status conference. At that time, the Court discharged the OSC. In connection with the continued status conference, the Court instructed the parties to file additional briefs regarding whether Plaintiff has standing to pursue this adversary proceeding if Plaintiff did not timely file a proof of claim in Defendant's bankruptcy case. The Court further continued the status conference to 1:30 p.m. on August 9, 2018, and instructed the parties to file a joint status report updating the Court on the status of the probate proceedings.

On May 21, 2018, the Court entered a scheduling order (the "Second Scheduling Order") [doc. 42] continuing the status conference and setting a deadline for the filing of a joint status report. On May 22, 2018, in accordance with the Court's instructions, Plaintiff served the Second Scheduling Order on Ms. Muennichow and Ms. Muennichow's attorney [doc. 43].

On June 5, 2018, Plaintiff filed a motion to substitute Ms. Muennichow in place of Defendant (the "Motion") [doc. 45]. Plaintiff served notice of the Motion on Ms. Muennichow and Ms. Muennichow's attorney, but did not file proof of service of the Motion itself. On July 3, 2018, Ms. Muennichow filed an opposition to the Motion (the "Opposition") [doc. 51]. In the Opposition, Ms. Muennichow asserts that: (A) she was not properly served under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure ("Rule") 25(a)(3); (B) the Motion is untimely under Rule 25(a)(1); and (C) Ms. Muennichow is not a proper party because she has not been appointed the representative of Defendant's estate. On July 11, 2018, Plaintiff filed a reply to the Opposition [doc. 52].

II. ANALYSIS

A. Service on Ms. Muennichow

Pursuant to Rule 25(a)(3)—

A motion to substitute, together with a notice of hearing, must be served on the parties as provided in Rule 5 and on nonparties as provided in Rule 4. A statement noting death must be served in the same manner. Service may be made in any judicial district.

Under Rule 4(e)—

Unless federal law provides otherwise, an individual—other than a minor, an incompetent person, or a person whose waiver has been filed—may be served in a judicial district of the United States by:

- (1) following state law for serving a summons in an action brought in courts of general jurisdiction in the state where the district court is located or where service is made; or
- (2) doing any of the following:
  - (A) delivering a copy of the summons and of the complaint to the individual personally;
  - (B) leaving a copy of each at the individual's dwelling or usual place of abode with someone of suitable age and discretion who resides there; or
  - (C) delivering a copy of each to an agent authorized by appointment or by law to receive service of process.

(emphasis added). Rule 4(e) is made applicable to this adversary proceeding by Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure ("FRBP") 7004(a)(1). Under FRBP 7004(b), "in addition to the methods of service authorized by Rule 4(e)-(j) F.R.Civ.P., service may be made within the United States by first class mail postage prepaid as follows....

[u]pon an individual... by mailing a copy of the summons and complaint to the individual's dwelling house or usual place of abode or to the place where the individual regularly conducts a business or profession." FRBP 7004(b)(1).

Here, although Plaintiff served Ms. Muennichow with the notice of the Motion in accordance with FRBP 7004(b)(1), Plaintiff has not filed a proof of service of the Motion itself. As a result, Plaintiff's service is deficient under Rule 25(a)(3), which requires service of the Motion itself. Once Plaintiff cures this defect in service, the Court may rule on the merits of the Motion. Based on the FRBPs, which apply to this adversary proceeding, Plaintiff may serve Ms. Muennichow in accordance with FRBP 7004(b)(1), which governs service of summons on any parties to adversary proceedings, substituted or not. FRBP 7004 does not make an exception for Rule 25, incorporated into this adversary proceeding by way of FRBP 7025.

B. Whether the Motion is Timely

Pursuant to Rule 25(a)(1)—

If a party dies and the claim is not extinguished, the court may order substitution of the proper party. A motion for substitution may be made by any party or by the decedent's successor or representative. If the motion is not made within 90 days after service of a statement noting the death, the action by or against the decedent must be dismissed.

The Court previously held that the 90-day period would not be triggered until Plaintiff served Ms. Muennichow with a notice of Defendant's death. See Rende v. Kay, 415 F.2d 983, 986 (D.C. Cir. 1969) (statement of death must "identify the representative or successor of an estate who may be substituted as a party for the deceased before Rule 25(a)(1) may be invoked"). Here, the only two documents that have been served on Ms. Muennichow are the Status Report and the Second Scheduling Order. As the Second Scheduling Order did not mention Defendant's death, it does not qualify as a notice of death.

In the Status Report, Plaintiff expressly noted that Defendant has passed away and that Plaintiff is seeking a representative of Defendant's estate to substitute into this action.

Unlike cases where notices of death have been deemed informal, the Status Report explicitly discussed Defendant's death and the need for substitution of a party in a document filed with the Court. See, e.g. Grandbouche v. Lovell, 913 F.2d 835, 836-37 (10th Cir. 1990) (aggregating cases where notice was informal because of improper service or obscure mention of death in documents that were not filed on the docket). Plaintiff served the Status Report, in accordance with FRBP 7004(b)(1), on both Ms. Muennichow and Ms. Muennichow's counsel.

The Status Report qualifies as a notice of death, and the 90-day period found in Rule 25(a) was triggered upon service on April 25, 2018. As such, the deadline to file and serve a motion for substitution of a party will not run until July 24, 2018. Although Plaintiff filed the Motion within the 90-day period, Plaintiff must properly serve the Motion on Ms. Muennichow prior to the July 24, 2018 expiration date.

III. CONCLUSION

The Court will continue the hearing on this Motion to August 15, 2018 at 2:30 p.m. for Plaintiff to provide proof of service of the Motion on Ms. Muennichow in accordance with FRBP 7004(b)(1). Plaintiff must file proof of service of the Motion and notice of the continued hearing date and time no later than July 20, 2018.

At the continued hearing, which will be held on the same day as the parties' continued status conference (the Court intends to reschedule the continued status conference from August 9, 2018 at 1:30 p.m. to August 15, 2018 at 2:30 p.m.), the Court will assess whether the probate court has designated a representative of Defendant's estate. If not, the Court may refrain from deciding whether Ms. Muennichow is a proper substitute party until the probate court appoints a representative of Defendant's probate estate.

#10.00 Motion of Golden Spectrum Property, LLC, landlord, regarding the Massage Envy Palmdale location (Hampton Heights, Inc.), for allowance and immediate payment of administrative claim for unpaid post-petition rent

fr. 6/14/18

Docket 288

Tentative Ruling:

As discussed in the tentative ruling posted for June 14, 2018, the Court will allow the unpaid postpetition rent owed to Golden Spectrum Property, LLC (the "Unpaid Rent") as an administrative expense. However, because, among other things, there are insufficient funds to pay all claimed administrative expenses in full, the Court will not mandate the immediate payment of the Unpaid Rent.

Tentative Ruling for June 14, 2018

I. BACKGROUND

On April 28, 2017, Capri Coast Capital, Inc. filed a voluntary chapter 11 petition. On June 9, 2017, Hampton Heights, Inc. ("Hampton") filed a voluntary chapter 11 petition [1:17-bk-11545-VK]. On August 2, 2017, the Court entered an order granting the Debtor's motion for joint administration of its case with Ravello Ventures, Inc., Amalfi Assets, Inc., and Hampton (collectively, the "Debtors") [doc. 43].

On February 28, 2018, the Debtors filed a motion to approve the sale of substantially all of the Debtors' assets (the "Sale Motion") [doc. 221]. On April 5, 2018, the court entered an order granting the Sale Motion [doc. 257]. The Debtors received approximately $216,750 in proceeds from the closing of the sale.

Golden Spectrum Property, LLC ("Golden") was the landlord for the Palmdale location operated by Hampton. Hampton was current on its rent payments up through March 2018. Hampton was in possession of its location until April 5, 2018. Golden alleges that Hampton did not pay rent for April 1-5, 2018, in the amount of $1,953.33.

On May 24, 2018, Golden filed the pending Motion of Golden Spectrum Property, LLC, Landlord, Regarding the Massage Envy Palmdale Location (Hampton Heights, Inc.) for Allowance and Immediate Payment of Administrative Claim for Unpaid Post-Petition Rent (the "Motion") [doc. 288]. In the Motion, Golden argues that the unpaid rent in the amount of $1,953.33 is an actual and necessary expense of preserving the Hampton estate. As such, the unpaid rent should be deemed allowed as a post-petition administrative expense and paid immediately.

On May 31, 2018, the Debtors filed a limited opposition to the Motion [doc. 293]. The Debtors do not oppose Golden's request for a liquidated administrative claim in the amount of $1,953.33 against the Hampton estate. However, the Debtors argue that such claim should be paid pro-rata with other administrative claimants when such payments are made, and the claim should be against Hampton only.

II. DISCUSSION

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 503(b), "[a]fter notice and a hearing, there shall be allowed administrative expenses, other than claims allowed under section 502(f) of this title, including . . . the actual, necessary costs and expenses of preserving the estate . . .". Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 365(d)(3),

The trustee shall timely perform all the obligations of the debtor, except those specified in section 365(b)(2), arising from and after the order for relief under any unexpired lease of nonresidential real property, until such lease is assumed or rejected, notwithstanding section 503(b)(1) of this title. The court may extend, for cause, the time for performance of any such obligation that arises within 60 days after the date of the order for relief, but the time for performance shall not be extended beyond such 60-day period. This subsection shall not be deemed to affect the trustee's obligations under the provisions of subsection (b) or (f) of this section. Acceptance of any such performance does not constitute waiver or relinquishment of the lessor's rights under such lease or under this title.

The parties do not dispute that Golden's claim for unpaid rent in the amount of $1,953.33 should be deemed an allowed administrative expense against the Hampton estate. However, the parties disagree whether such claim should be paid immediately, or pro rata with other administrative claimants when such payments are made.

Some courts hold that the failure to pay postpetition rent entitles a lessor to immediate payment on its administrative claim, subject to disgorgement if there are insufficient funds to pay all administrative claimants in full. In In re Four Star Pizza, Inc., 135 B.R. 498 (Bankr. W.D. Pa. 1992), a debtor leased premises for operation of its pizza parlor. The debtor filed a chapter 11 petition. Three months later, the court entered an order granting the debtor's motion to reject the lease for the premises. Between the petition date and the rejection of the lease, the debtor occupied the premises without paying rent. The debtor's subsequently filed chapter 11 plan provided for the payment in full of all administrative claims on the effective date of the plan. Before the disclosure statement was approved, the landlord filed a motion to compel the payment of rent as an administrative expense, pursuant to § 365(d)(3). The court granted the motion holding that "[a] nonresidential lessor's administrative expense claim which arises under § 365(d)(3) shall be paid immediately, absent a showing of substantial doubt that there will be sufficient funds available to pay all administrative claimants in full." Id. at 500. However, the court further held that the rent payments were:

entitled to payment on a pro rata basis with all other allowed chapter 11 administrative claims. The order directing immediate payment of movant's claim will be subject to debtor's right to seek recovery of all or part of the payment in the unlikely event that all other chapter 11 administrative claimants are not paid in full.

Id. (citing In re Dieckhaus Stationers of King of Prussia, Inc., 73 B.R. 969, 973 (Bankr. E.D. Pa. 1987)).

Other courts hold that courts have discretion whether to order immediate payment. In In re Washington Bancorporation, 126 B.R. 130 (Bankr. D.D.C. 1991), the court determined that a landlord was entitled to an administrative expense on account of a debtor's unpaid post-petition rent. The landlord sought immediate payment of the administrative expense. The court held that immediate payment was required, unless the debtor could establish good cause for withholding payment. The court found that the debtor-in-possession had over $900,000 in cash on hand, and did not show good cause for a delay of payment. Id. at 131. Accordingly, the court granted the landlord's motion and ordered immediate payment of the unpaid rent at issue.

In light of the circumstances of this case, the Court will order the immediate payment of Golden's administrative expense claim. The Debtors appear to be holding approximately $216,750 in cash from the sale proceeds. Golden's claim is in the amount of $1,953.33. The Debtors have not shown "substantial doubt that there will be sufficient funds to pay all administrative claimants in full." Nor have the Debtors shown good cause for delaying the payment of this relatively small amount.

III. CONCLUSION

In light of the foregoing, the Court will grant the Motion. Golden's administrative expense claim is entitled to payment on a pro rata basis with all other chapter 11 administrative claimants of the Hampton estate. The Debtors are ordered to pay the amount of $1,953.33 to Golden within seven (7) days following entry of the order. The amount paid to Golden is subject to disgorgement if there are insufficient funds to pay all administrative claimants in full.

The debtors have not included projections demonstrating that the debtors' proposed chapter 11 plan will be feasible. The debtors must amend the disclosure statement to include an attached spreadsheet outlining the debtors' monthly income and expense projections during the life of the proposed chapter 11 plan. The debtors should itemize each separate source of projected monthly income. In calculating their monthly expenses, the debtors should include both projected plan payments and other projected monthly expenses.

The debtors also must include a Declaration of Current/Postpetition Income and Expenses in their amended disclosure statement. The debtors should account for their postpetition income taxes in both their attached projections and the Declaration of Current/Postpetition Income and Expenses.

In addition, the debtors have not proposed treatment for the claims of Wells Fargo or the Franchise Tax Board. Moreover, the debtors have included the claim of the Internal Revenue Service (the "IRS") as a general unsecured claim. However, both the debtors' schedules and the IRS' proof of claim indicate that the IRS holds a priority claim. The debtors' proposed chapter 11 plan does not designate the IRS as a priority claimant. The debtors should amend their chapter 11 plan to address these issues.

The debtors must file an amended chapter 11 plan and related disclosure statement no later than August 20, 2018. If the debtors timely file an amended chapter 11 plan and related disclosure statement, the Court will set a hearing on the adequacy of the debtors' amended disclosure statement on October 4, 2018 at 1:00 p.m.

Docket 14

Tentative Ruling:

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §§ 105 and 1112(b)(1) and (4)(F) and (H), the Court will dismiss the debtor's case.

On January 18, 2018, the debtor filed a voluntary chapter 11 petition. On February 20, 2018, the debtor filed an emergency motion to use cash collateral (the "Cash Collateral Motion") [doc. 20]. On June 7, 2018, the Court entered an order denying the Cash Collateral Motion (the "Cash Collateral Order") [doc. 68], for the reasons stated in its ruling posted to the docket [doc. 67]. Through the Cash Collateral Order, the Court denied the debtor's request to use cash collateral because the rents generated by the debtor's real property were no longer property of the debtor's estate.

On July 10, 2018, Wells Fargo Bank, N.A. filed a motion to dismiss the debtor's case (the "Wells Fargo Motion to Dismiss") [doc. 75]. The hearing on the Wells Fargo Motion to Dismiss is set for August 2, 2018 at 2:00 p.m.

On July 11, 2018, the debtor filed a Chapter 11 Status Report (the "Status Report") [doc. 83]. In the Status Report, the debtor acknowledges that it cannot proceed with its case in light of the Cash Collateral Order. The debtor also acknowledges that it is not in compliance with United States Trustee requirements. Accordingly, there is cause to dismiss this case under 11 U.S.C. §§ 1112(b)(4)(F) and (H), because the debtor has failed to satisfy timely reporting requirements without providing any explanation, and has not timely provided information reasonably requested by the United States Trustee. The debtor consents to the dismissal of its case.

In light of the Cash Collateral Order and the assets and liabilities stated in the debtor's schedules, it appears that the conversion of this case to chapter 7 will not generate a return to unsecured creditors. Thus, rather than converting this case to one under chapter 7, the Court concludes that it is in the best interest of creditors and the estate

Grant.

I. BACKGROUND

On October 11, 2017, Mehri Akhlaghpour ("Debtor") filed a voluntary chapter 11 petition. On February 1, 2018, the Court issued an order directing the appointment of a chapter 11 trustee [doc. 101]. On February 6, 2018, Nancy J. Zamora was appointed the chapter 11 trustee (the "Trustee") [doc. 107].

In her schedule A/B [doc. 59], Debtor listed an ownership interest in six real properties in the following locations: (A) 4450 Winnetka Avenue, Woodland Hills, CA 91364 (the "Winnetka Property"); (B) 17315 Cagney Street, Granada Hills, CA 91344 (the "Cagney Property"); (C) 5454 Zelzah Avenue, Apt. 302, Encino, CA 91316 (the "Zelzah Property"); (D) 26943 Hillsborough Parkway, Unit 27, Valencia, CA 91354 (the "Hillsborough Property"); (E) 16320 Gledhill Street, North Hills, CA 91343 (the "Gledhill Property"); and (F) 8338 Woodley Place, Unit 28, North Hills, CA 91343 (the "Woodley Property"). Debtor also listed a 100% interest in eight business entities and a 32 % interest in another business entity, as well as three claims against third parties.

On February 7, 2018, the Trustee filed an application to employ Rodeo Realty, Inc.

(the "Broker") as a real estate broker [doc. 110]. On March 15, 2018, the Court entered an order approving the application to employ the Broker [doc. 135].

On March 16, 2018, the Trustee filed motions to sell the Hillsborough Property [doc. 145] and the Woodley Property [doc. 146]. On March 22, 2018, the Trustee filed a motion to sell the Zelzah Property [doc. 155]. On April 12, 2018, the Trustee filed motions to sell the Cagney Property [doc. 175] and the Gledhill Property [doc. 178].

On April 17, 2018, the Court entered orders approving the sales of the Hillsborough Property [doc. 192] and the Woodley Property [doc. 193]. On April 24, 2018, the Court entered an order approving the sale of the Zelzah Property [doc. 205]. On May 15, 2018, the Court entered orders approving the sales of the Gledhill Property [doc. 225] and the Cagney Property [doc. 226].

On May 17, 2018, the Trustee filed a motion to sell the Winnetka Property (the "Motion") [doc. 228] to Kamran Taleby (the "Purchaser") for $1,225,000.00. On the same day, Debtor filed a proposed chapter 11 plan [doc. 236] and related disclosure statement [doc. 237].

On May 24, 2018, Wilmington Savings Fund Society, FSB ("Wilmington") filed a conditional opposition to the Motion [doc. 242], stating that it does not oppose the sale as long as it is paid in full. On June 21, 2018, Debtor filed an opposition to the Motion (the "Opposition") [doc. 257], asserting that: (A) the Trustee does not have a good business reason to sell substantially all of the estate's assets; (B) the Trustee did not adequately market the Winnetka Property; (C) the sale will interfere with Debtor's proposed chapter 11 plan; (D) the Trustee did not consider at least one offer from a purchaser named Armen Ohanian; (E) the sale is an inappropriate sub rosa plan; (F) the sale interferes with Debtor's and others' due process rights.

On June 28, 2018, the Trustee filed a reply to the Opposition (the "Reply") [doc. 258], wherein the Trustee agreed to the terms set forth by Wilmington. As for the Opposition, the Trustee asserts, among other things, that the sale is not for substantially all of the estate's assets and, even if it were, the Trustee has provided several good business reasons to move forward with the sale. The Trustee also argues that the purchase price reflects the best offer for the Winnetka Property, and the Broker did attempt to contact Mr. Ohanian but did not receive a response from Mr.

Ohanian regarding overbidding on the Winnetka Property.

II. ANALYSIS

A. General Sale Standard

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 363(b)(1), the "trustee, after notice and a hearing, may use, sell, or lease, other than in the ordinary course of business, property of the estate" subject to an exception that does not apply here. A trustee has broad authority to negotiate sales of estate property under 11 U.S.C. § 363(b)(1); see also In re Canyon Partnership, 55 B.R. 520, 524 (Bankr. S.D. Cal. 1985). In reviewing motions to sell property under § 363(b), a court must determine whether sound business reasons support the sale outside the ordinary course of business. In re Walter, 83 B.R. 14, 19 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1988).

B. Good Business Reason Justifying Sale

Debtor objects to the sales of the Winnetka Property on the grounds that the Motion proposes to sell substantially all of the estate's assets, and that the Trustee has not supported her decision with a good business justification. In support of her argument, Debtor references In re Lionel Corp., 722 F.2d 1063 (2nd Cir. 1983). In Lionel, the Second Circuit Court of Appeals outlined six factors for determining whether a good business reason exists justifying a sale of substantially all of the assets of the debtor:

[Courts should] look to such relevant factors as the proportionate value of the asset to the estate as a whole, the amount of elapsed time since the filing, the likelihood that a plan of reorganization will be proposed and confirmed in the near future, the effect of the proposed disposition on future plans of reorganization, the proceeds to be obtained from the disposition vis-a-vis any appraisals of the property, which of the alternatives of use, sale or lease the proposal envisions and, most importantly perhaps, whether the asset is increasing or decreasing in value. This list is not intended to be exclusive, but merely to provide guidance to the bankruptcy judge.

First, Lionel is distinguishable because the debtor in Lionel sought authority to sell substantially all of the estate's assets. In the Opposition, Debtor asserts that the Winnetka Property is equivalent to 37% of the estate's overall value. Debtor calculates this number by dividing the sale price of the Winnetka Property by the aggregate value of all of the estate's real properties. However, the six real properties are not the only assets of this estate. In her calculation, Debtor omits the estate's 100% interest in eight business entities and a 32% interest in another business entity. Debtor also omits her interest in three claims against third parties. As such, even accounting for the Trustee's prior sales of the other real properties, the subject sale will not result in the sale of substantially all of the estate's property.

Even if Lionel is applicable, however, the Trustee has provided a "good business reason" justifying the sale of the Winnetka Property. Specifically, the Trustee has articulated a number of reasons for the sale, including that: (1) the completion of the sale is a necessary step towards, and for the Trustee to determine the feasibility of, a chapter 11 liquidating plan; (2) the purchase price for the Winnetka Property is fair and reasonable because it constitutes the highest offer amount received by the Trustee thus far after extensive marketing efforts by the Broker; and (3) the purchase price will be further "market tested" by potential overbidding at the hearing on the Motion. In addition, Debtor filed her chapter 11 petition nearly nine months ago. As such the Motion is not premature.

Debtor asserts that the purchase price is too low based on two appraisals obtained by Debtor, which reflect a market value of $1,466,800 as of May 24, 2018 and $1,305,000 as of March 30, 2017. Notwithstanding the issues presented by the Trustee regarding the lack of adequate comparable properties in the appraisals, the appraisals set forth a value based on several assumed factors. In contrast, the $1,225,000 purchase price to which the Trustee and the Purchaser agreed reflects the result of actual marketing efforts. Debtor has not demonstrated that continued marketing of the Property or different methods of marketing the Winnetka Property would lead to a higher purchase price. Given that the marketing of the Winnetka Property has generated multiple interested buyers, it appears that the sale prices reflect the market, and that the Winnetka Property has been marketed for enough time to generate competitive interest. The sale also is subject to overbid; should there be any interested purchasers willing to pay over $1,255,000, they will have the opportunity to do so pursuant to the overbid procedures outlined in the Motion.

Moreover, approval of this sale will not have an effect on a proposed disposition on future plans of reorganization. First, the Trustee does not intend to immediately distribute the sale proceeds. Further, the Winnetka Property does not generate rents for Debtor to use to fund a plan, nor does Debtor's proposed plan depend on a future sale of the Winnetka Property. In addition, the Court will not approve Debtor's disclosure statement at this time (as set forth in the ruling on that matter), and the Court will not indefinitely stay administration of this estate until Debtor provides a disclosure statement containing adequate information. As noted in the ruling on the disclosure statement, Debtor's proposed chapter 11 plan depends in large part on purported settlement agreements with certain unsecured creditors, which Debtor mentions in the Opposition as well. The Court has no admissible evidence regarding the nature of these agreements, such as the source of the funds used to purportedly settle with creditors and whether the estate has been released of any and all liability. Without additional information, the Court cannot approve Debtor's disclosure statement, and cannot find that the "likelihood of confirmation is high." Opposition, p. 6.

C. The Trustee's Business Judgment

As outlined by the Bankruptcy Appellate Panel of the Ninth Circuit:

The court's obligation in § 363(b) sales is to assure that optimal value is realized by the estate under the circumstances. The requirement of a notice and hearing operates to provide both a means of objecting and a method for attracting interest by potential purchasers. Ordinarily, the position of the trustee is afforded deference, particularly where business judgment is entailed in the analysis or where there is no objection. Nevertheless, particularly in the face of opposition by creditors, the requirement of court approval means that the responsibility ultimately is the court's.

In re Lahijani, 325 B.R. 282, 288–89 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2005).

Debtor questions the Trustee's business judgment based on Debtor's assertion that the Trustee did not consider an offer by a potential buyer, Armen Ohanian. However, Debtor's assertion is belied by the evidence provided by the Trustee in the Reply, which demonstrates that the Broker contacted Mr. Ohanian on two separate occasions to inquire about an overbid but did not receive a response. Reply, Declaration of Behnaz Tavakoli, ¶¶ 7-8, Exhibit 1.

In addition, as noted previously by the Court, the Trustee has been a chapter 7 trustee since 1998 and also has been a chapter 11 trustee in cases involving real estate. In those capacities, the Trustee has operated rental properties and sold over one hundred properties. Declaration of Nancy J. Zamora [doc. 228], ¶ 2. Based on the Trustee's record of experience, she may properly be afforded business judgment deference.

D. Sub-Rosa Plan

Debtor also argues that the sale of the Winnetka Property constitutes an impermissible "sub-rosa" plan. However, the proposed sale does not take the place of a plan. After paying the allowed claims of creditors secured by the Winnetka Property, the Trustee is not proposing to distribute net proceeds to other creditors at this time. See In re Air Beds, Inc. 92 B.R. 419 (B.A.P 9th Cir. 1988).

In addition, Debtor does not argue that the sale runs afoul of the chapter 11 requirements for confirmation of a plan. Debtor only argues that Debtor may not receive a discharge if the Court confirms a liquidating plan. 11 U.S.C. § 1141(d)(3). However, not all liquidating plans remove the possibility of discharge for a debtor. Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1141(d)(3), a debtor does not receive a discharge if the plan provides for liquidation of all or substantially all of the property of the estate and "the debtor does not engage in business after consummation of the plan" and "the debtor would be denied a discharge under section 727(a) of this title if the case were a case under chapter 7 of this title." 11 U.S.C. § 1141(d)(3)(A)-(C). Debtor has not articulated why all of these elements would be met if the Trustee were to propose a liquidating plan. In any case, Debtor may raise this argument in opposition to a future plan proposed by the Trustee; an opposition on this basis is not sufficient justification to deny the Motion.

E. Due Process Considerations

Debtor also asserts that the Motion should be denied because § 363 sales are an inappropriate violation of the due process rights of Debtor and creditors to the estate. However, Debtor and the estate's creditors have been served with notice of the sale, and have had an opportunity to object. Furthermore, the Trustee has demonstrated that the sale of the Winnetka Property will generate funds with which she can make distributions to creditors. Finally, pursuant to the overbid procedures built into the sale terms, Debtor and any other interested party has the opportunity to bid on the Winnetka Property. Consequently, Debtor has not demonstrated that the sale will violate Debtor's or other parties' due process rights, and there is no binding authority that stands for Debtor's broad and general proposition that sales under 11 U.S.C. § 363 violate a debtor's or creditors' due process rights.

III. CONCLUSION

The Court will grant the Motion and approve the sale of the Winnetka Property.

The Trustee must submit an order within seven (7) days.

#29.00 Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors of ColorFX, Inc.'s Motion objecting to claim No. 22-1

Docket 190

Tentative Ruling:

The Court will sustain the objection (the "Objection") [doc. 190] filed by the Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors (the "Committee") to claim 22-1 (the "Claim"), filed by Raymond Davidian ("Claimant").

Background

On March 31, 2017, ColorFX, Inc. (the "Debtor") filed a voluntary chapter 11 petition. On March 31, 2017, the Debtor filed its Expedited First Day Motion for (1) Interim and Final Orders Approving Stipulation to Use Cash Collateral and Setting Final Hearing; (2) Approving Sale Procedures; (3) Authorizing Payment of Prepetition Non-Insider Payroll and Honor Employment Procedures and Taxes; and (4) Limiting Notice (the "First Day Motions") [doc. 3]. In the First Day Motions, the Debtor proposed, among other things, to pay pre-petition payroll subject to priority under 11 U.S.C. § 507(a)(4), including $680 owing to Claimant. (Doc. 3, at p. 137.) In its schedules, the Debtor listed Claimant as holding a priority unsecured, contingent claim in the amount of $5,644.00. (Doc. 39, at p. 14.) On April 14, 2017, the Court entered orders granting the First Day Motions [docs. 26–30].

On May 31, 2017, the Court entered its Order Setting Bar Date for Filing Proofs of Claim [FRBP 3003(c)(3); LBR 3003-1] (the "Bar Date Order") [doc. 76]. The Bar Date Order set July 31, 2017 as the deadline for filing proofs of claim. On May 31, 2017, the Debtor filed and served the Notice of Bar Date for Filing Proofs of Claim in a Chapter 11 Case [LBR 3003-1] (the "Bar Date Notice") [doc. 73]. The Bar Date Notice stated the claims bar date of July 31, 2017. The proof of service attached to the Bar Date Notice indicates that Claimant was served with the Bar Date Notice. (Doc. 73, at p. 11.)

On August 1, 2017, Claimant filed a proof of claim in the amount of $7,500, asserting that this amount was secured and a priority claim under § 507(a)(4) (the "Claim").

(Doc. 190, Exh. 1.) Claimant asserts that his claim is secured by "Business Equipment and tools in custody of Debtor[.]" (Id., at p. 2.) Attached to the proof of claim are the following:

- A letter dated July 24, 2015, stating that Claimant's hourly wage is $21.25;
- A termination letter from the Debtor and informing Claimant that the amount owed to him was $662.37, for regular hours of work and post-petition accrued vacation hours for the period of June 19–20, 2017;
- A copy of the stub for the final check; and
- A copy of a pay stub for the Claimant from the Debtor, for the periods April 27–May 10, 2009, June 5–18, 2017, and June 19–20, 2017.

Claimant also alleges that he was promised but never paid for vacation hours, overtime, and special bonuses, and "act(s) of overt Fraud and Deception with regard to payment of money(ies)" owed to Claimant. (Id., at p. 5.)

Discussion

11 U.S.C. § 502(a) provides that a proof of claim is deemed allowed, unless a party in interest objects. Fed. R. Bankr. P. 3001(f) provides that a proof of claim executed and filed in accordance with the rules constitutes prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claim. See also Local Bankruptcy Rule 3007-1(c) ("an objection to claim must be supported by admissible evidence sufficient to overcome the evidentiary effect of a properly documented proof of claim").

"To defeat the claim, the objector must come forward with sufficient evidence and show facts tending to defeat the claim by probative force equal to that of the allegations of the proofs of claim themselves." Lundell v. Anchor Const. Specialists, Inc., 223 F.3d 1035, 1039 (9th Cir. 2000) (internal citation omitted). "If the objector produces sufficient evidence to negate one or more of the sworn facts in the proof of claim, the burden reverts to the claimant to prove the validity of the claim by a preponderance of the evidence. The ultimate burden of persuasion remains at all times upon the claimant." Id. (internal citations omitted); In re Laptops Etc. Corp.,

164 B.R. 506, 522 (Bankr. D. Md. 1993) (burden shifts to claimant, who has ultimate burden of persuasion as to validity of its claim, only "upon objection to the claim coupled with the admission of probative evidence which tends to sufficiently rebut the prima facie validity of the claim"); see also In re Campbell, 336 B.R. 430, 436 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 2005) ("[o]bjections without substance are inadequate to disallow claims, even if those claims lack the documentation required by Rule 3001(c).").

As an initial matter, Claimant was properly served with the Bar Date Notice. The Claim was filed after the claims bar date of July 31, 2017. Consequently, the Claim is subject to disallowance pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 502(b)(9).

In the Objection, the Committee contends that the evidence attached to the Claim does not support the amount of the Claim. Claimant's hourly rate of $21.25 does not divide evenly into $7,500. In addition, Claimant was paid his wages and accrued vacation time pursuant to the termination letter. The Committee further contends that Claimant has not provided evidence of the Claim's priority or secured status. As for priority wages pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 507(a)(4), such wages were already paid to Claimant pursuant to the First Day Motions.

In response to the Objection, Claimant has not met his burden of persuasion as to the validity of the Claim. Claimant has not provided evidence of any different promise by the Debtor other than that contained in the termination letter, or of any fraud or deception by the Debtor. Claimant also has not provided evidence of the priority or secured status of the Claim.

Conclusion

In light of the foregoing, the Court will disallow the Claim.

The Committee must submit the order within seven (7) days.

Tentative Ruling:

The Court intends to continue this matter to August 23, 2018 at 2:00 p.m.

On June 3, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the motion filed by Schuller & Schuller ("Creditor") to extend time to file a complaint under 11 U.S.C. § 523 and/or to deny a discharge (the "Order Extending Time") [doc. 120]. The Order Extending Time provided that Creditor's deadline to file such complaint is August 20, 2018.

On June 7, 2018, the Court previously continued this matter and instructed the parties to file a joint stipulation pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 7026-1(c)(3) as to the parties' dispute regarding:

- Creditor's Application for The 2004 Examination and the Production of Documents Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rules 2004 of Deborah Lois Adri [doc. 68]; and

Chapter 7

#34.00 Debtor's Motion to dismiss chapter 7

Docket 12

Tentative Ruling:

Deny.

I. BACKGROUND

On March 19, 2018, Charles Hung Ngo ("Debtor") filed a voluntary chapter 7 petition. David K. Gottlieb was appointed the chapter 7 trustee (the "Trustee").

In his schedule A/B, Debtor listed an interest in the real property located at 10329 Glade Avenue, Chatsworth, California 91311 (the "Property"). Debtor valued the Property at $420,000. In his schedule D, Debtor listed a deed of trust encumbering the Property in the amount of $330,000. In his schedule C, Debtor claimed a homestead exemption in the Property in the amount of $90,000, i.e., the remaining equity in the Property.

In his schedule A/B, Debtor also listed $5,600 in personal property, including an interest in $3,000 in funds held in an account with Bank of America (the "Funds"). Debtor claimed the Funds as exempt, and also claimed as exempt an additional $1,000 in personal property. In his schedule E/F, Debtor listed a total of $55,000 in unsecured claims.

On June 4, 2018, Debtor attended a continued § 341(a) meeting of creditors. Declaration of David K. Gottlieb ("Gottlieb Declaration") [doc. 18], ¶ 6. At that time, the Trustee asked Debtor to turn over the Funds to the estate. Id. The Trustee also asserts that Debtor has an interest in tax refunds from Debtor's 2016 tax filing in the amount of $4,134 (the "Tax Refund"), which Debtor did not list in his schedule A/B. Gottlieb Declaration, ¶ 4.

On June 22, 2018, Debtor filed a motion to dismiss this bankruptcy case (the "Motion") [doc. 12]. In the Motion, Debtor asserts that he mistakenly overvalued the Property in his schedules. Debtor also states that he is facing financial and medical hardship, and would like to negotiate with creditors outside of bankruptcy.

On June 28, 2018, the Trustee filed a motion for turnover (the "Turnover Motion") [doc. 18], requesting turnover of the Funds and the Tax Refund. On July 5, 2018, the Trustee filed an opposition to the Motion (the "Opposition") [doc. 21]. To the Opposition, the Trustee attached a declaration by an appraiser valuing the Property between $610,000 and $650,000. The Trustee asserts that his administration of this estate will result in full payment to all unsecured creditors. On July 9, 2018, the Trustee filed a Notice of Assets [doc. 22]. Debtor has not timely filed a reply to the Opposition.

II. ANALYSIS

Under 11 U.S.C. § 707—

(a) The court may dismiss a case under this chapter only after notice and a hearing and only for cause, including –

- (1) unreasonable delay by the debtor that is prejudicial to creditors;
- (2) nonpayment of any fees or charges required under chapter 123 of title 28; and
- (3) failure of the debtor in a voluntary case to file, within fifteen days or such additional time as the court may allow after the filing of the petition commencing such case, the information required by paragraph (1) of section 521, but only on a motion by the United States trustee.

This list is non-exclusive. See In re Motaharnia, 215 B.R. 63, 68 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1997). "[A] voluntary Chapter 7 debtor is entitled to dismissal of his case so long as such dismissal will cause no 'legal prejudice' to interested parties." In re Leach, 130 B.R. 855, 857 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1991) (citing In re International Airport Inn Partnership, 517 F.2d 510, 512 (9th Cir. 1975)); see also In re Bartee, 317 B.R. 362, 366 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2004). "Debtors bear the burden of proving that dismissal would not prejudice their creditors." Bartee, 317 B.R. at 366.

Here, Debtor provides two reasons why he is seeking dismissal of this case. First, Debtor states that he mistakenly overvalued the Property in his schedules. However, Debtor does not provide any evidence, such as an appraisal, demonstrating that the Property is worth less than Debtor initially believed. On the other hand, the Trustee has provided a declaration by an appraiser estimating the value of the Property at $610,000 to $650,000. This valuation would pay Debtor's creditors in full if the Trustee decides to sell the Property. Moreover, Debtor has yet to turn over the Tax Refund, which Debtor apparently did not list in his schedules. As such, there may be additional assets available for distribution. At the least, it is best to wait until the Trustee can market the Property to determine if there will be any equity in the Property available to pay creditors.

Debtor's second reason for requesting dismissal is that he is suffering financial and medical hardship, and prefers that his attorney negotiate with creditors outside of bankruptcy. However, as noted by the Trustee, such hardship would prevent Debtor from pursuing negotiations with his creditors, especially after losing the benefit of the automatic stay. Moreover, creditors will not benefit from a race to the courthouse after dismissal. At this time, with the possibility of being paid in full through this case, Debtor has not demonstrated that creditors will not be prejudiced if this case is dismissed.

III. CONCLUSION

The Court will deny the Motion.

The Trustee must submit an order within seven (7) days.

I. BACKGROUND

On March 19, 2018, Charles Hung Ngo ("Debtor") filed a voluntary chapter 7 petition. David K. Gottlieb was appointed the chapter 7 trustee (the "Trustee").

In his schedule A/B, Debtor listed an interest in a Bank of America checking account with $3,000 in funds (the "Funds"). Debtor also indicated that he is not owed any tax refunds. However, Debtor's 2016 federal tax return reflected a tax refund of $4,134 (the "Tax Refund"). Declaration of David K. Gottlieb (the "Gottlieb Declaration") [doc. 18], ¶ 4.

On June 4, 2018, at the continued § 341(a) meeting of creditors, the Trustee requested that Debtor turn over the Funds and the Tax Refunds to the estate. Gottlieb Declaration, ¶¶ 5-7. Debtor did not comply with the Trustee's request. Id.

On June 22, 2018, Debtor filed a motion to dismiss this bankruptcy case (the "Motion to Dismiss") [doc. 12]. On June 28, 2018, the Trustee filed a motion for turnover (the "Motion"), requesting turnover of the Funds and the Tax Refund [doc. 18]. On July 12, 2018, Debtor belatedly filed an opposition to the Motion (the "Opposition") [doc. 24]. In the Opposition, Debtor does not discuss the Funds or the Tax Refund. On the same day, the Trustee filed a reply to the Opposition [doc. 25].

title creates an estate. Such estate is comprised of all the following property, wherever located and by whomever held:

- (1) Except as provided in subsections (b) and (c)(2) of this section, all legal or equitable interests of the debtor in property as of the commencement of the case.

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 542—

- (a) Except as provided in subsection (c) or (d) of this section, an entity, other than a custodian, in possession, custody, or control, during the case, of property that the trustee may use, sell, or lease under section 363 of this title, or that the debtor may exempt under 522 of this title, shall deliver to the trustee, and account for, such property or the value of such property, unless such property is of inconsequential value or benefit to the estate.

Here, Debtor does not dispute that the Funds or the Tax Refund are property of the estate. In fact, Debtor does not discuss the Funds or the Tax Refund in the Opposition at all. In addition to these assets being property of the estate, the Trustee notes that he intends to use the Funds and the Tax Refund in accordance with § 363. As a result, the Funds and the Tax Refund are not of "inconsequential value or benefit to the estate." 11 U.S.C. § 542(a).

Because the Court will not be dismissing this bankruptcy case at this time, Debtor must turn over the Funds and the Tax Refund to the Trustee. To the extent Debtor would like to convert this case to one under chapter 13, Debtor may file a separate motion to convert the case.

III. CONCLUSION

The Court will grant the Motion. Debtor must turn over the Funds and the Tax Refund to the Trustee no later than 14 days from entry of the order granting this Motion.

The Trustee must submit an order within seven (7) days.

Here, the Interim Occupancy Agreement ("IOA") is between the debtor in possession's non-debtor spouse and the tenant. The debtor is not listed as a landlord. In order for the Court to grant the motion, the parties must amend the IOA to include the debtor in possession as a co-landlord.

Docket 7

Tentative Ruling:

Grant relief from stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §§ 362(d)(1) and (d)(2).

Movant (and any successors or assigns) may proceed under applicable nonbankruptcy law to enforce its remedies to repossess and sell the property.

The 14-day stay prescribed by FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived.

Movant must submit the order within seven (7) days.

Note: No response has been filed. Accordingly, no court appearance by movant is required. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the Court will determine whether further hearing is required and movant will be so notified.

#8.00 Motion in individual case for order imposing a stay or continuing the automatic stay as the court deems appropriate

Docket 6

Tentative Ruling:

Grant on an interim basis and continue the hearing to September 12, 2018 at 9:30 a.m.

Under 11 U.S.C. § 362(c)(3), in order to extend the automatic stay in a case filed within one year of another case which was pending within the same year but was dismissed, the debtor must show that the present case was filed in good faith as to the creditors to be stayed.

The Debtor's Prior Cases

Between 2000 and 2017, Richard Philip Dages (the "Debtor") filed the following cases:

Case No.	Chapter	Date Filed	Disposition
1:00-bk-17554-AG	7	8/18/2000	Dismissed on 9/8/2000 with 180-day bar for failure to file schedules, statements, and/or plan

1:14-bk-10331-AA	13	1/22/2014	Dismissed on 3/31/2014 for failure to make plan payments and/or appear at 341(a) meeting
1:15-bk-11761-VK	13	5/19/2015	Dismissed on 10/14/2015 arising from confirmation hearing
1:17-bk-13261-MT	13	12/6/2017	Dismissed on 3/29/2018 arising from confirmation hearing

On December 6, 2017, the Debtor filed his most recent case, 1:17-bk-13261-MT (the "Prior Case"), in pro per. In the Prior Case, the Debtor listed as his residence the real property located at 16815 Parthenia Street, Northridge, CA 91343 (the "Property"). (Doc. 1, at p. 2.) The Debtor listed the Property in his schedules with a value of $800,000. (Doc. 19, at p. 5.) Nationstar/Mr. Cooper ("Creditor") was listed as the holder of claim secured by the Property, in the amount of $1,173,249. (Id., at p. 16.) The Debtor also listed monthly income of $3,353 and monthly expenses of $2,207, leaving net monthly income of $1,146. (Id., at p. 30.) In his amended chapter 13 plan filed in the Prior Case, the Debtor's proposed plan payment was $212.50 per month. (Doc. 36, at p. 3.) On March 29, 2018, the Prior Case was dismissed because the Debtor exceeded the chapter 13 debt limits set forth in 11 U.S.C. § 109(e) [doc. 38]. (See also Declaration of Richard Philip Dagnes, doc. 6, ¶ 4.)

The Debtor's Pending Chapter 11 Case

On July 10, 2018, the Debtor filed a voluntary chapter 11 petition, commencing the pending case. In his petition, the Debtor lists his residence as 13350 Dyer Street, Sylmar, CA 91342. The Debtor lists the Property in his schedules as having a value of $810,000. (Doc. 1, at p. 16.) Creditor is listed as the holder of claim secured by the Property, in the amount of $1,400,000. (Id., at p. 24.) In his pending case, the Debtor's alleged monthly income is $11,740.33 and his alleged monthly expenses are $10,060, leaving net monthly income of $1,680.33.

On July 11, 2018, the Debtor filed the pending motion to continue the automatic stay in his case (the "Motion") [doc. 6]. Through the Motion, the Debtor seeks to continue the automatic stay as to the Property as to all creditors. In support of the Motion, the Debtor alleges that the Property is a rental property, and that he will be using the rents to fund a chapter 11 plan. The Debtor intends to file a motion to use cash collateral generated from the Property. (Declaration of Richard Philip Dages, doc. 6, ¶¶ 5-7.)

On July 18, 2018, Creditor filed a timely opposition (the "Opposition") [doc. 10]. No declaration was attached to the Opposition. Creditor argues that the Debtor filed the pending case in bad faith to delay a foreclosure sale. There has not been a substantial change in the Debtor's financial condition since the filing of the last case. The Debtor no longer lives in the property at issue, which is being rented out to circumvent 11 U.S.C. § 1123(b)(5). Creditor is the only secured creditor listed in the Debtor's schedules, and six unsecured creditors are listed. The Debtor's prior schedules are inconsistent with his current schedules, and the Debtor appears to have "squared away" his income to provide appropriate net income. The Debtor has filed a lawsuit against Creditor but has not scheduled the lawsuit. The Debtor's latest bankruptcy case was filed to delay foreclosure on a note that has been contractually due for 8 years. There would be no prejudice to the Debtor if the Motion is denied because there is no equity in the Property.

On July 25, 2018, the Debtor filed a timely reply [doc. 16]. The Debtor contends that he moved out of the Property because it is being remodeled. Only 50% of the Property is being rented because that is the part that is not under construction. The present case was filed in good faith because the Debtor has obtained chapter 11 counsel and intends to reorganize through a chapter 11 plan. The Debtor's prior case was dismissed because the Debtor exceeded the chapter 13 debt limit. The Debtor has amended his schedules to reflect the lawsuit against Creditor. According to the Debtor, the other issues raised by Creditor can be dealt with during the plan confirmation process.

In light of the foregoing, the Court will grant the Motion on an interim basis up to the date of the continued hearing, provided that no later than August 15, 2018, the Debtor (i) tenders his August 2018 deed of trust payment to Creditor in the amount of $4,200 (as stated in his current schedule J) as to the Property. No later than August 29, 2018, the Debtor must file a declaration to demonstrate that he made this payment. No later than August 8, 2018, the Debtor must also file and serve notice of the continued hearing on all creditors and provide written notice that any responses to the Motion must be filed no later than August 29, 2018.

#10.00 Order to show cause re: remand

from: 6/6/18

Docket 2

Tentative Ruling:

The Court will not remand this adversary proceeding. Bankruptcy courts have jurisdiction over proceedings that are "related to" a bankruptcy case. 28 U.S.C. § 1334(b); In re Pegasus Gold Corp., 394 F.3d 1189, 1193 (9th Cir. 2005). A proceeding is "related to" a bankruptcy case if:

[T]he outcome of the proceeding could conceivably have any effect on the estate being administered in bankruptcy. Thus, the proceeding need not necessarily be against the debtor or against the debtor's property. An action is related to bankruptcy if the outcome could alter the debtor's rights, liabilities, options, or freedom of action (either positively or negatively) and which in any way impacts upon the handling and administration of the bankrupt estate.

Pegasus Gold Corp., 394 F.3d at 1193 (quoting Pacor, Inc. v. Higgins, 743 F.2d 984, 994 (3d Cir. 1984) (emphasis omitted)).

Here, the Court has "related to" jurisdiction over both the complaint and the cross-complaint. In accordance with the Court's order confirming the debtor's chapter 13 plan [Bankruptcy Docket, doc. 29], the plaintiff's bankruptcy estate remains intact until the plaintiff receives a discharge or the bankruptcy case is dismissed or closed without discharge. As such, the litigation of either the complaint or the cross-complaint will impact the plaintiff's bankruptcy estate.

If the plaintiff successfully prosecutes this action, the plaintiff will recover money into the estate that may be used in the plaintiff's reorganization efforts. On the other hand, if the defendant successfully prosecutes his cross-complaint, the subject property will no longer be property of the estate, and the plaintiff likely will modify his chapter 13 plan. Because of the potential impact of both the complaint and the cross-complaint on the estate and on the chapter 13 plan, the Court has "related to" jurisdiction over this matter.

Contrary to the Court's Order to Show Cause re: Remand [doc. 2], the parties did not file a joint status report. Moreover, in the Notice of Removal, the plaintiff indicates that he intends to file an amended complaint. The parties should be prepared to discuss dates and deadlines moving forward, including a deadline for the plaintiff to file an amended complaint, a deadline for the parties to submit a joint status conference and a date for a continued status conference.

Docket 26

Tentative Ruling:

Forum Entertainment Group, Inc. ("Plaintiff") requests that the Court compel Robin DiMaggio ("Defendant") to furnish further responses to Plaintiff's request for production of documents, interrogatories and requests for admission.

To the extent set forth below, at this time, the Court will compel Defendant to furnish further responses to Plaintiff's request for production of documents and interrogatories.

Regarding Plaintiff's requests for admission, the Court will continue the hearing to 2:30 p.m. on September 5, 2018.

I. BACKGROUND

On September 12, 2017, Defendant filed a voluntary chapter 7 petition. On December 19, 2017, Plaintiff filed a complaint against Defendant (the "Complaint"), seeking denial of discharge under 11 U.S.C. § 727(a)(2), (a)(3), (a)(4) and (a)(5) and nondischargeability of the debt owed to it under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(A), (a)(4) and (a)(6). On January 26, 2018, Defendant filed an answer to the Complaint (the "Answer") [doc. 10].

On March 19, 2018, the Court entered a scheduling order setting May 31, 2018 as the discovery cutoff date [doc. 14]. On May 31, 2018, the parties filed a stipulation to extend the deadlines from the Court's scheduling order [doc. 16]. The Court entered an order approving the stipulation and setting July 16, 2018 as the new discovery cutoff date [doc. 24].

On March 28, 2018, Plaintiff served Defendant 67 requests for production of documents, 25 interrogatories and 112 requests for admission. Motion [doc. 26], Exhibits A-C. On May 4, 2018, Defendant sent his handwritten responses to Plaintiff. Motion, Exhibits D-F. In his responses, Defendant either referred Plaintiff to other people or stated that he did not understand the request. Id.

On May 31, 2018, Plaintiff emailed and mailed Defendant a meet and confer letter (the "Letter"), setting forth the responses which Plaintiff believed were insufficient. Motion, Exhibit G. On June 15, 2018, Defendant mailed back the Letter to Plaintiff and included handwritten responses under and beside the paragraphs. Motion, Exhibit H. Once again, Defendant referred Plaintiff to third parties or stated that he does not understand the request. Id.

On July 2, 2018, Plaintiff filed a motion to compel supplemental responses to Plaintiff's discovery requests (the "Motion") [doc. 26]. On July 9, 2018, Defendant filed a response to the Motion [doc. 31].

II. ANALYSIS

Pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure ("Rule") 26(b)(1), the scope of discovery is as follows:

Parties may obtain discovery regarding any nonprivileged matter that is relevant to any party's claim or defense and proportional to the needs of the case, considering the importance of the issues at stake in the action, the amount in controversy, the parties' relative access to relevant information, the parties' resources, the importance of the discovery in resolving the issues, and whether the burden or expense of the proposed discovery outweighs its likely benefit. Information within this scope of discovery need not be admissible in evidence to be discoverable.

As a preliminary matter, the Court will not require Defendant to provide typewritten responses. Plaintiff has not cited authority that stands for the proposition that parties are prohibited from providing handwritten responses to discovery. Although the Court will not compel Defendant to provide typewritten responses, the Court will compel Defendant to provide supplemental responses for the reasons stated below.

A. Requests for Production

Rule 34(a)(1)(A) states -

A party may serve on any other party a request within the scope of Rule 26(b): (1) to produce and permit the requesting party or its representative to inspect, copy, test, or sample the following items in the responding party's possession, custody, or control: (A) any designated documents or electronically stored information—including writings, drawings, graphs, charts, photographs, sound recordings, images, and other data or data compilations—stored in any medium from which information can be obtained either directly or, if necessary, after translation by the responding party into a reasonably useable form.

In his responses to Plaintiff's requests for production, Defendant instructs Plaintiff to obtain the documents from various other sources, namely, Defendant's accountant, Defendant's bank, the state court which presided over Defendant's divorce proceeding, Defendant's bankruptcy attorney or Steve Yu.

Even if Defendant does not currently have possession of the requested documents, Defendant has not explained why Defendant cannot get them from someone who does. Has Defendant requested copies of these documents from his accountant, his bank, his attorney and others?

Moreover, in his response to the Letter, Defendant states that he lost his storage unit and cannot access documents that are responsive to requests for production nos. 1-9, 11, 21 and 30-31. Does Defendant have a contract with the storage unit or any other evidence that shows that Defendant was storing these documents in a storage unit? Is Defendant unable to obtain the documents in any other way, such as by asking his accountant?

If Defendant, after making a good faith effort to obtain these documents, is unable to access the documents, Defendant must clearly explain the steps he took to obtain the documents and why he was unable to obtain the requested documents.

As to the requests for production nos. 33-46, 48-67, Defendant asserts that he does not understand the requests. Through these requests for production, Plaintiff is asking for any documents that support Defendant's denials and affirmative defenses in the Answer. Specifically, Plaintiff is requesting as follows:

i. Request for Production No. 33

In paragraph 9 of the Complaint, Plaintiff alleges that Mr. Yu introduced Plaintiff to Defendant, and that Defendant represented to Plaintiff that Defendant could secure musical performances by Will.I.Am and Pitbull for a concert. Plaintiff also alleges that Defendant included these representations on his website. In the Answer, Defendant states that he denies the allegations "in part."

Defendant must first explain which part of paragraph 9 Defendant denies. Next, in response to this request for production, Defendant must provide any documents he has, or can obtain on his request, that indicate why any of the allegations in paragraph 9 are wrong.

ii. Request for Production Nos. 34-35

In paragraphs 10 and 11 of the Complaint, Plaintiff alleges that, in May 2012, Defendant gave Plaintiff a budget sheet that showed he was able to obtain performances by Will.I.Am and Pitbull and get discounted rates for the concert. Plaintiff further alleges that, after Plaintiff received this budget sheet, Plaintiff agreed to hire Defendant's company to secure performances by various artists. Plaintiff also alleges that Defendant sent Plaintiff various emails and oral confirmations regarding these performances. In the Answer, Defendant states that he denies the allegations in paragraphs 10 and 11.

Defendant must provide any documents that show why Defendant believes that these allegations are wrong, such as emails, any written communications with Plaintiff, etc. If Defendant does not have in his possession, and cannot get on his request, any pertinent documents, or such documents do not exist, he may respond by stating "I do not have possession, custody or control over any such documents" or "there are no documents responsive to this request."

iii. Request for Production Nos. 36-37

In paragraphs 12 and 13 of the Complaint, Plaintiff alleges that, on May 5, 2012, Plaintiff gave Defendant $50,000 in cash to secure a performance by Will.I. Am and, on May 8, 2012, Plaintiff gave Defendant $50,000 to secure a performance by Pitbull. In the Answer, Defendant denies the allegations in paragraphs 12 and 13 "in part."

Defendant must first explain which part of paragraphs 12 and 13 Defendant denies. Next, in response to these requests for production, Defendant must provide any documents that show why any of the allegations in these paragraphs are wrong. If Defendant does not have in his possession, and cannot get on his request, any pertinent documents, or such documents do not exist, he may respond by stating "I do not have possession, custody or control over any such documents" or "there are no documents responsive to this request."

iv. Request for Production Nos. 38-39

In paragraphs 14 and 15 of the Complaint, Plaintiff alleges that Plaintiff asked Defendant about the status of the concert and that Defendant told Plaintiff he was waiting for confirmation from Will.I.Am and Pitbull. Plaintiff also alleges that Defendant asked for additional money to secure the performance of The Michael Jackson Band and that, on June 11, 2012, Plaintiff gave Defendant $18,000. In the Answer, Defendant denies the allegations in paragraph 14 and denies the allegations in paragraph 15 "in part."

Defendant must first explain which part of paragraph 15 Defendant denies. Next, in response to these requests for production, Defendant must provide any documents that show why any of the allegations in these paragraphs are wrong, such as emails, any written communications, etc. If Defendant does not have in his possession, and cannot get on his request, any pertinent documents, or such documents do not exist, he may respond by stating "I do not have possession, custody or control over any such documents" or "there are no documents responsive to this request."

v. Request for Production Nos. 40-41

In paragraphs 17 and 18 of the Complaint, Plaintiff alleges that, in July 2012, Defendant asked Plaintiff for additional money to secure sound engineers and to give Defendant's company an advance on its brokering fees for the concert. Plaintiff alleges that, in response to both requests, Plaintiff asked Defendant about whether Defendant had confirmation from Will.I.Am and Pitbull and that, both times, Defendant told Plaintiff that confirmations were on their way. Plaintiff alleges that Plaintiff gave Defendant $13,000 and $15,000 for the sound engineers and the brokering fee, respectively. In the Answer, Defendant denies the allegations in both paragraphs.

Defendant must provide any documents that show why Defendant believes any of the allegations in these paragraphs are wrong. If Defendant does not have in his possession, and cannot get on his request, any pertinent documents, or such documents do not exist, he may respond by stating "I do not have possession, custody or control over any such documents" or "there are no documents responsive to this request."

vi. Request for Production No. 42

In paragraph 19 of the Complaint, Plaintiff alleges that, between July 18, 2012 and July 29, 2012, Plaintiff tried to contact Defendant regarding whether Will.I.Am and Pitbull had confirmed that they would perform at the concert, and that Defendant did not respond to Plaintiff. Plaintiff also alleges that Defendant did not inform Plaintiff that he had not been able to secure the artists' performances and did not offer to return the $100,000 Plaintiff had paid to Defendant. In the Answer, Defendant denies these allegations.

Defendant must provide any documents that show why Defendant believes any of the allegations in these paragraphs are wrong, such as emails or any other written communications showing responses by Defendant during this period. If Defendant does not have in his possession, and cannot get on his request, any pertinent documents, or such documents do not exist, he may respond by stating "I do not have possession, custody or control over any such documents" or "there are no documents responsive to this request."

vii. Request for Production Nos. 43-44

In paragraphs 21 and 22 of the Complaint, Plaintiff alleges that Defendant admitted to Plaintiff that he was unable to hire Will.I.Am and Pitbull to perform and that Defendant had placed the $100,000 Plaintiff gave to Defendant in Defendant's own personal bank account, which was frozen because of Defendant's divorce. Plaintiff also alleges that Defendant told Plaintiff that the concert could go forward with The Michael Jackson Band and other artists, and that, as a result, Plaintiff deposited $123,890 with The Greek Theater. In the Answer, Defendant denies these allegations.

Defendant must provide any documents that show why Defendant believes any of the allegations in these paragraphs are wrong, such as emails or any other written communications, etc. If Defendant does not have in his possession, and cannot get on his request, any pertinent documents, or such documents do not exist, he may respond by stating "I do not have possession, custody or control over any such documents" or "there are no documents responsive to this request."

What does Defendant believe Plaintiff has done that would result in Plaintiff being unable to sue Defendant? Does Defendant have any documents that demonstrate that Plaintiff has done something to prevent Plaintiff from suing Defendant? If so, Defendant must provide those documents to Plaintiff. If Defendant does not have in his possession, and cannot get on his request, any pertinent documents, or such documents do not exist, he may respond by stating "I do not have possession, custody or control over any such documents" or "there are no documents responsive to this request."

xviii. Request for Production No. 59

Through the Fifth Affirmative Defense in the Answer, Defendant states that Plaintiff cannot sue Defendant because Plaintiff has breached an agreement with Defendant. Defendant also alleges that Plaintiff has engaged in "tortious conduct" and "unclean hands" and that "laches" bars Plaintiff from suing Defendant. Which agreement does Defendant believe Plaintiff breached? Regarding Defendant's allegation that Plaintiff committed "tortious conduct" and that Plaintiff has "unclean hands," what does Defendant believe Plaintiff did that was wrong? As to "laches," does Defendant believe Plaintiff waited too long to sue Defendant? If so, why?

If Defendant believes there is an agreement between the parties that Plaintiff breached, Defendant must provide any written agreement or any other documents that show that an agreement exists. If Defendant believes Plaintiff has done anything wrong towards Defendant, Defendant must provide any and all documents that would show what Plaintiff has done, such as any emails or other written communications. If Defendant does not have in his possession, and cannot get on his request, any pertinent documents, or such documents do not exist, he may respond by stating "I do not have possession, custody or control over any such documents" or "there are no documents responsive to this request."

Specifically, interrogatories nos. 1-18 ask Defendant to state the facts which explain why he is denying the allegations in certain paragraphs from the Complaint. Defendant must provide any such facts that he knows about.

As to interrogatory no. 20, Plaintiff is asking Defendant if Defendant knows any other person who would know anything about the allegations in the Complaint. If Defendant knows any such persons, Defendant must provide each and all of their names in response to interrogatory no. 20.

(iii) other circumstances make an award of expenses unjust.

Pursuant to Rule 37(b), in pertinent part—

(2) Sanctions Sought in the District Where the Action Is Pending.

(A) For Not Obeying a Discovery Order. If a party or a party's officer, director, or managing agent--or a witness designated under Rule 30(b)(6) or 31(a)(4)--fails to obey an order to provide or permit discovery, including an order under Rule 26(f), 35, or 37(a), the court where the action is pending may issue further just orders. They may include the following:

- (i) directing that the matters embraced in the order or other designated facts be taken as established for purposes of the action, as the prevailing party claims;
- (ii) prohibiting the disobedient party from supporting or opposing designated claims or defenses, or from introducing designated matters in evidence;
- (iii) striking pleadings in whole or in part;
- (iv) staying further proceedings until the order is obeyed;
- (v) dismissing the action or proceeding in whole or in part;
- (vi) rendering a default judgment against the disobedient party; or
- (vii) treating as contempt of court the failure to obey any order except an order to submit to a physical or mental examination.

(emphasis added).

Because Defendant is a pro se party and may not have understood the discovery requests, the Court will not award sanctions at this time. However, if Defendant does not provide responses in accordance with the Court's instructions above, the Court may prevent Defendant from asserting some or all of his affirmative defenses, as set forth in his Answer. The Court also may strike the Answer. If Defendant's Answer is stricken, this adversary proceeding will continue as if Defendant never filed a response to the Complaint, and Plaintiff will be able to file a motion for default judgment.

Chapter 7

If Plaintiff can prove the allegations in the Complaint through the motion for default judgment, the Court may enter judgment against Defendant and determine that, despite the bankruptcy, Defendant remains liable to Plaintiff or Defendant remains liable for the entirety of his debts. To prevent these kind of sanctions, Defendant must respond to Plaintiff's discovery requests to the best of his ability pursuant to the Court's ruling above.

III. CONCLUSION

The Court will compel Defendant to provide supplemental responses in accordance with the ruling above no later than 21 days after entry of the order on this Motion.

Plaintiff must submit an order within seven (7) days.

#13.00 Motion to dismiss plaintiffs second amended complaint,

Docket 43

Tentative Ruling:

Grant in part and deny in part.

I. BACKGROUND

On August 21, 2017, Yegiya Kutyan and Haykush Helen Kutyan ("Defendants") filed a voluntary chapter 11 petition. On November 27, 2017, Pogos Araik Melkonian ("Plaintiff") filed a complaint against Defendants (the "Complaint"), seeking nondischargeability of the debt owed to him pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2), (a)(4) and (a)(6) and for denial of discharge pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 727(a)(4)(A). On January 3, 2018, Defendants filed a motion to dismiss the Complaint (the "First Motion to Dismiss") [doc. 10].

On March 7, 2018, the Court held a hearing on the First Motion to Dismiss. At that time, the Court issued a ruling [doc. 17] granting the First Motion to Dismiss, without leave to amend, as to Plaintiff's claims under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2) and (a)(6). The Court granted the First Motion to Dismiss, with leave to amend, as to Plaintiff's claim of defalcation under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(4). With respect to Plaintiff's claim under 11 U.S.C. § 727(a)(4), the Court denied the First Motion to Dismiss as to Plaintiff's allegations regarding the valuation of Defendants' businesses, but granted the First Motion to Dismiss, with leave to amend, regarding Plaintiff's allegations about Defendants' allegedly false oaths concerning their schedule J expenses, current business income, electronics and jewelry. On March 19, 2018, the Court entered an order granting in part and denying in part the First Motion to Dismiss [doc. 21].

On April 2, 2018, Plaintiff filed a first amended complaint (the "FAC") [doc. 23], seeking nondischargeability of the debt owed to him under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(4) and, for the first time, under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(19). Plaintiff also requested denial of Defendants' discharge under 11 U.S.C. § 727(a)(4)(A). On April 18, 2018, Defendants filed a motion to dismiss the FAC (the "Second Motion to Dismiss") [doc. 26].

On May 9, 2018, the Court held a hearing on the Second Motion to Dismiss. At that time, the Court issued a ruling (the "Ruling") [doc. 35] granting the Second Motion to Dismiss, without leave to amend, as to Plaintiff's claims under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(4) and (a)(19). With respect to Plaintiff's claim under 11 U.S.C. § 727(a)(4), the Court denied the Second Motion to Dismiss as to the allegations regarding Defendants' allegedly false oaths concerning the value of their businesses, and granted the Second Motion to Dismiss, with leave to amend, as to Plaintiff's allegations regarding Defendants' stated business income in their schedule I as compared to the income stated in their monthly operating reports. In relevant part, the Court stated:

On the one hand, Plaintiff argues that, based on the historic gross income stated in Defendants' Statement of Financial Affairs, Defendants knowingly and fraudulently undervalued their interests in businesses. On the other hand, Plaintiff argues that Defendants overstated their business income, because the [monthly operating reports] do not reflect the business income listed in Defendants' Schedule I. Given the FAC's contention that Defendants undervalued their interests in businesses, it is not simultaneously plausible that Defendants would knowingly and fraudulently include inflated business income in their Schedule I. If Defendants are knowingly and fraudulently undervaluing their business interests, Defendants derive no benefit from putting forth allegedly exaggerated business income in their Schedule I.

Ruling, pp. 18-19 (emphasis in Ruling). On June 21, 2018, the Court entered an order granting in part and denying in part the Second Motion to Dismiss [doc. 45].

On May 23, 2018, Plaintiff filed a second amended complaint (the "SAC") [doc. 42], requesting denial of Defendants' discharge under 11 U.S.C. § 727(a)(4)(A). In relevant part, Plaintiff alleges in the SAC:

Defendants listed an interest in two businesses from which they derive their income in their schedule B: Custom Wood Creations, Inc. ("Custom Wood") and Millennium Beauty Salon ("Millennium"). Defendants indicate that Custom has a value of $0 and Millennium has a value of $750. Defendants have purposefully understated the value of Custom and Millennium. Their Statement of Financial Affairs indicates that the businesses generate significant revenue.

Defendants also have not disclosed anything about the assets of these entities, such as information about the business equipment and outstanding accounts receivable. Defendants only disclose the questionable ownership interests in these businesses. In addition, in their schedule I, Defendants state that their average monthly income from Custom Wood is $4,371.83 and that their average monthly income from Millennium is $548.72. Defendants have purposefully understated their income from both businesses. Defendants also have failed to attach required statements showing gross receipts, ordinary and necessary business expenses and totally monthly net income for both business entities.

Defendants' monthly operating reports ("MORs") reveal significant inconsistencies with Defendants' schedules and Defendants' Declaration of Current and Postpetition Income and Expenses, filed in support of Defendants' proposed chapter 11 plan of reorganization. Defendants' MORs reflect a significantly lower income for Defendants. The average income reflected by Defendants' MORs is actually $6,086.11 per month, and only $4,701.22 without accounting for a tax refund Defendants received in March 2018. Removing the $3,587.91 received from Defendants' In-Home Supportive Services income, the MORs reflect an average of $1,114.31 in business income. As a result, the Court should deny Defendants their discharge under 11 U.S.C. § 727(a)(4)(A). Plaintiff also requests general and compensatory damages in the amount of $600,000 and punitive damages against Defendants.

On June 6, 2018, Defendants filed a motion to dismiss the SAC (the "Motion") [doc. 43]. On July 18, 2018, Plaintiff filed an opposition to the Motion (the "Opposition")

II. ANALYSIS

A. Federal Rule of Civil Procedure ("Rule") 12(b)(6)

A motion to dismiss [pursuant to Rule 12(b)(6)] will only be granted if the complaint fails to allege enough facts to state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face. A claim has facial plausibility when the plaintiff pleads factual content that allows the court to draw the reasonable inference that the defendant is liable for the misconduct alleged. The plausibility standard is not akin to a probability requirement, but it asks for more than a sheer possibility that a defendant has acted unlawfully.

We accept factual allegations in the complaint as true and construe the pleadings in the light most favorable to the non-moving party. Although factual allegations are taken as true, we do not assume the truth of legal conclusions merely because they are cast in the form of factual allegations. Therefore, conclusory allegations of law and unwarranted inferences are insufficient to defeat a motion to dismiss.

In evaluating a Rule 12(b)(6) motion, review is "limited to the contents of the complaint." Clegg v. Cult Awareness Network, 18 F.3d 752, 754 (9th Cir. 1994). However, without converting the motion to one for summary judgment, exhibits attached to the complaint, as well as matters of public record, may be considered in determining whether dismissal is proper. See Parks School of Business, Inc. v. Symington, 51 F.3d 1480, 1484 (9th Cir. 1995); Mack v. South Bay Beer Distributors, Inc., 798 F.2d 1279, 1282 (9th Cir. 1986). Further, a court may consider evidence "on which the complaint necessarily relies if: (1) the complaint refers to the document; (2) the document is central to the plaintiff's claim; and (3) no party questions the

Pursuant to Rule 9(b), "[i]n alleging fraud or mistake, a party must state with particularity the circumstances constituting fraud or mistake. Malice, intent, knowledge, and other conditions of a person's mind may be alleged generally." Allegations must be "specific enough to give defendants notice of the particular misconduct which is alleged to constitute the fraud charged..." *Neubronner v. Dismissal without leave to amend is appropriate when the court is satisfied that the deficiencies in the complaint could not possibly be cured by amendment. Jackson v. Carey, 353 F.3d 750, 758 (9th Cir. 2003); Lopez v. Smith, 203 F.3d 1122, 1127 (9th Cir. 2000).

Section 727(a)(4)(A) denies a discharge to a debtor who "knowingly and fraudulently" made a false oath or account in the course of the bankruptcy proceedings. In order to bring a successful § 727(a)(4)(A) claim for false oath, the plaintiff must show: (1) the debtor made a false oath in connection with the case; (2) the oath related to a material fact; (3) the oath was made knowingly; and (4) the oath was made fraudulently. In re Wills, 243 B.R. 58, 62 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1999). "[A] false oath may involve a false statement or omission in the debtor's schedules." In re Roberts, 331 B.R. 876, 882 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2005), aff'd and remanded on other grounds, 241 F. (quoting Khalil, 379 B.R. at 173) (internal quotation omitted).

The fraud provision of § 727(a)(4) is similar to common law fraud, which the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals has described as follows:

The creditor must show that (1) the debtor made the representations; (2) that at the time he knew they were false; (3) that he made them with the intention and purpose of deceiving the creditors; (4) that the creditors relied on such representations; (5) that the creditors sustained loss and damage as the proximate result of the representations having been made.

Roberts, 331 B.R. at 884.

Intent must usually be established by circumstantial evidence or inferences drawn from the debtor's course of conduct. Khalil, 379 B.R. at 174 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2007) (circumstances might include multiple omissions or failure to clear up omissions). "[T]he cumulative effect of false statements may, when taken together, evidence a reckless disregard for the truth sufficient to support a finding of fraudulent intent" under § 727(a)(4). Stamat v. Neary, 635 F3d 974, 982 (7th Cir. 2011).

First, the Court already determined in the Ruling that Plaintiff's allegations regarding Defendants' valuation of their businesses may proceed. In light of the Court's prior ruling, the Court will not grant the Motion as concerns Plaintiff's allegations regarding the scheduled value of Defendants' businesses.

As concerns Plaintiff's allegations regarding the discrepancy between Defendants' schedules and their MORs, the SAC, like the FAC, is internally inconsistent. Plaintiff first alleges that Defendants have undervalued their businesses, SAC, ¶ 17, and understated their income from Custom Wood and Millennium in their schedule I. SAC, ¶ 22. Plaintiff then alleges that Defendants have overstated their income in their schedule I based on a review of Defendants' MORs. SAC, ¶¶ 25-31. Once again, it is not simultaneously plausible that Defendants would knowingly and fraudulently inflate their income in schedule I while undervaluing their businesses.

In addition to these allegations being inconsistent, the SAC does not establish the significance of these allegations, i.e., why the difference in income between the MORs and schedule I amounts to fraudulent conduct. As with the FAC, Plaintiff has not alleged how Defendants benefit from exaggerating their business income in their schedule I. As such, the Court will grant the Motion, with prejudice, as to the allegations regarding Defendants' scheduled income as compared to their MORs.

Finally, Plaintiff requests compensatory and punitive damages in the SAC despite the fact that the Court has now dismissed all of Plaintiff's claims under 11 U.S.C. § 523. Because the sole remaining claim is under 11 U.S.C. § 727(a)(4)(A), and the Court will not be adjudicating the claims on which Plaintiff's damages are based, Plaintiff's claim for compensatory and punitive damages will be stricken.

III. CONCLUSION

The Court will dismiss, without leave to amend, the allegations regarding the differences between Defendants' scheduled income and Defendants' MORs. The Court will deny the Motion as concerns the allegations regarding the valuation of Custom Wood and Millennium in Defendants' schedule A/B. The Court also will strike Plaintiff's request for compensatory and punitive damages.

Defendants must submit an order within seven (7) days. No later than 14 days after entry of the order on the Motion, Defendants must file an answer to the SAC.

Docket 72

Tentative Ruling:

For the reasons and to determine the issue stated below, the Court will set an evidentiary hearing on this matter.

I. BACKGROUND

A. The State Court Action

On June 9, 2006, Kyung Chul Kim initiated a state court action against Alice Sungjin Cheong ("Judgment Debtor") and other parties (collectively, "Defendants"), alleging claims of fraud and negligent misrepresentation arising from a real estate transaction (the "State Court Action"). (Declaration of Mi Hee Kim, Request for Judicial Notice ("RJN"), Exh. 3, ¶ 2.)

On August 10, 2010, Judgment Debtor entered into a settlement agreement (the "Settlement") with Mr. Kim, settling all claims from the State Court Action. (Id., ¶ 3.) On August 24, 2010, Judgment Debtor entered into a stipulation for entry of judgment (the "Stipulated Judgment"). (Id., ¶ 4.) Under the terms of the Stipulated Judgment, Defendants agreed to make payments over the course of 18 months in satisfaction of Mr. Kim's $1,885,000 judgment against Defendants. (RJN, Exh. 3 to Exh. 3, ¶ 2.) Mr. Kim agreed "not to foreclose or take other legal action to collect on [the] judgment for a period of eighteen (18) months from July 30, 2010, as long as Defendants complied with the terms" of the Settlement. (RJN, Exh. 3, ¶ 3.)

On November 12, 2010, Judgment Debtor did not comply with the terms of the Settlement and the Stipulated Judgment. (Id., ¶ 5.) On November 15, 2010, the state court entered a judgment pursuant to the Stipulated Judgment (the "State Court Judgment"). (Id.) On June 22, 2011, Mr. Kim assigned the State Court Judgment to Mi Hee Kim. (Id., ¶ 6.)

B. The First Case and First Adversary Proceeding

On November 6, 2014, Judgment Debtor filed her first chapter 7 petition, commencing case no. 2:14-bk-30889-RN (the "First Case"). Judgment Debtor's residence address stated in her First Case petition was 274 S. La Fayette Park Place, # 222, Los Angeles, CA 90057 (the "Los Angeles Address"). On November 9, 2015, the First Case was closed without discharge because Judgment Debtor did not file a certificate of financial management course [2:14-bk-30889-RN, doc. 14].

On February 6, 2015, Mr. Kim and Mi Hee Kim ("Judgment Creditors") filed an adversary proceeding against the Debtor, commencing case no. 2:15-ap-01080-RN (the "First Adversary Proceeding"). On October 21, 2015, the First Adversary Proceeding was dismissed [2:15-ap-01080-RN, doc. 15].

C. The Second Case and Second Adversary Proceeding

On January 20, 2016, Judgment Debtor filed a second voluntary chapter 7 petition, commencing case no. 1:16-bk-10166-VK (the "Second Case"). Judgment Debtor's residence address stated in her Second Case petition is 20458 Napa St., Winnetka, CA 91306 (the "Winnetka Address"). In the Second Case, Judgment Debtor has not filed a notice of change of address. In her schedules, Judgment Debtor lists "Kim v. Chou c/c Ronald P. Slates" as a creditor holding an unsecured claim in the amount of $3,000,000.

On April 25, 2016, the Judgment Debtor received a chapter 7 discharge in the Second Case (the "Order of Discharge") [1:16-bk-10166-VK, doc. 21]. The Order of Discharge provides, in relevant part:

Most debts are discharged

Most debts are covered by the discharge, but not all. Generally, a discharge removes the debtors' personal liability for debts owed before the debtors' bankruptcy case was filed.

- debts that the bankruptcy court has decided or will decide are not discharged in this bankruptcy case[.]

(1:16-bk-10166-VK, doc. 21, at pp. 1–2 (emphasis in original).)

On April 15, 2016, prior to entry of discharge, Judgment Creditors filed a complaint against Judgment Debtor (the "Complaint"), commencing the pending adversary proceeding (the "Second Adversary Proceeding"). In the Complaint, Judgment Creditors seek a determination that the debt owed to them by Judgment Debtor is nondischargeable pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(A). In the Second Adversary Proceeding, Judgment Debtor has not filed a notice of change of address.

On June 13, 2016, Judgment Creditors filed an initial request for entry of default [doc. 4]. On June 14, 2016, because Judgment Debtor's address on the proof of service did not match the Court records, the Court issued a notice that default was not entered [doc. 6]. On June 16, 2016, Judgment Creditors served an alias summons and the Complaint on Judgment Debtor [doc. 12].

1. The First Motion for Default Judgment

On July, 26, 2016, Judgment Creditor again filed a request for entry of default [doc. 16]. On July 27, 2016, the Court entered default against Judgment Debtor (the "First Entry of Default") [doc. 18]. On September 20, 2016, Judgment Creditors filed their first motion for default judgment (the "First Motion for Default Judgment") [doc. 23].

On November 9, 2016, the Court held a hearing on the First Motion for Default Judgment. In the Court's ruling [doc. 28], the Court held that the Complaint and the First Motion for Default Judgment did not sufficiently demonstrate that Judgment Debtor was culpably involved in the alleged fraudulent scheme detailed in the Complaint. On January 5, 2017, the Court entered an order denying the First Motion for Default Judgment [doc. 33].

On December 8, 2016, Judgment Creditors filed a first amended complaint (the "FAC") [doc. 30]. On January 23, 2017, the Court issued another summons (the "FAC Summons") [doc. 40].

2. *The Second Motion for Default Judgment and Motion to Vacate

On February 23, 2017, Judgment Creditors requested entry of default against Judgment Debtor [doc. 42]. On February 24, 2017, the Clerk of Court entered default against Judgment Debtor (the "Second Entry of Default") [doc. 43].

On April 26, 2017, Judgment Creditors filed another motion for default judgment (the "Second Motion for Default Judgment") [doc. 46]. In the Second Motion for Default Judgment, Judgment Creditors alleged that they had filed the FAC because of recently discovered evidence that Mr. Kim had paid $680,000 to Judgment Debtor as a result of the alleged fraud.

The Court granted the Second Motion for Default Judgment. On June 14, 2017, Judgment Creditors filed a notice of lodgment of the default judgment (the "June 2017 Notice of Lodgment") [doc. 52]. On June 22, 2017, the Court entered default judgment against Judgment Debtor (the "Default Judgment") [doc. 53]. The corresponding Certificate of Notice indicates that Judgment Debtor was served with the Default Judgment at the Los Angeles Address [doc. 54].

On July 10, 2017, the adversary proceeding was closed [doc. 55]. On February 3, 2018, Judgment Creditors filed a motion to reopen the adversary proceeding (the "Motion to Reopen") [doc. 56]. On March 19, 2018, Judgment Creditors filed a motion to amend the Default Judgment (the "Motion to Amend") [doc. 63]. The Motion to Amend requested the entry of an amended judgment to correct a typographical error.

On April 27, 2018, Judgment Creditors filed a notice of lodgment re: the proposed amended judgment (the "April 2018 Notice of Lodgment") [doc. 66]. On May 14, 2018, the Court entered an amended default judgment against the Judgment Debtor (the "Amended Default Judgment") [doc. 67]. The corresponding Certificate of Notice indicates that Judgment Debtor was not served with the Amended Default Judgment at any address [doc. 71].

On May 25, 2018, Judgment Debtor filed a motion to vacate the Amended Default Judgment (the "Motion to Vacate") [doc. 72]. In support of the Motion to Vacate, Judgment Debtor represents:

Upon receiving the Order of Discharge, it was my honest belief and understanding that Plaintiff[s'] indebtedness of $3,000,000, which was also the subject of the Adversarial Case, was included in the Order of Discharge, and that I was no longer required to respond to Plaintiffs' Adversary Case. For this reason, I no longer took any steps to file an Answer or Response on [sic] the Adversary Case in order to protect my rights.

(Declaration of Alice Sungjin Cheong, doc. 72, ¶ 11.)

On July 3, 2018, Judgment Creditors filed an opposition to the Motion to Vacate [doc. 87]. On July 10, 2018, Judgment Debtor filed a reply [doc. 92].

II. DISCUSSION

Th[e] discretion [to deny a Rule 60(b) motion] is limited by three considerations. First, since Rule 60(b) is remedial in nature, it must be liberally applied. . . . Second, default judgments are generally disfavored and cases should be decided on their merits. . . . Third, where defendant seeks timely relief from the judgment and has a meritorious defense, doubt, if any, should be resolved in favor of the motion to set aside the judgment. . . .

A district court has the discretion to deny a Rule 60(b)(1) motion, however, if (1) the defendant's culpable conduct led to the default, (2) the defendant has no meritorious defense, or (3) the plaintiff would be prejudiced if the judgment is set aside. . . .

Meadows v. Dominican Republic, 817 F.2d 517, 521 (9th Cir. 1987) (citations omitted). "If a default judgment is entered as the result of a defendant's culpable conduct, however, we need not consider whether a meritorious defense was shown, or whether the plaintiff would suffer prejudice if the judgment were set aside." Id. "A defendant's conduct is culpable if he has received actual or constructive notice of the filing of the action and failed to answer." Id.

In Meadows, the defendants were properly served with the complaint and intentionally chose not to respond. The plaintiffs sought and obtained a default judgment against the defendants. The district court denied defendants' motion to set aside the default judgment. On appeal, the defendants argued that their decision not to respond to the complaint was excusable neglect. The Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals affirmed the district court, holding that defendants' default was "intentional, culpable, and inexcusable under Rule 60(b)(1)." Id. at 522. Because this neglect was inexcusable, the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals that it did not need to determine whether defendants had a meritorious defense or whether plaintiff would suffer prejudice. Id.

Here, in the Second Case, Judgment Debtor listed her residence address as the Winnetka Address. Judgment Debtor has not filed a notice of change of address in the Second Case or in the Second Adversary Proceeding. On June 16, 2016, Judgment Debtor was properly served with the Complaint and alias summons at the Winnetka

Address. "Mailing a notice by first class mail to a party's last known address is sufficient to satisfy due process." DeVore v. Marshack (In re DeVore), 223 B.R. 193, 196 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1998); see also Villareal v. Laughlin (In re Villarreal), 304 B.R. 882, 886 (8th Cir. B.A.P. 2004) ("Where notice is sent to the address listed by the Debtor in his petition, due process is satisfied.").

Judgment Debtor represents that she intentionally did not participate in the Second Adversary Proceeding, based on her belief that the Order of Discharge discharged her liability for the State Court Judgment. In light of the specific language set forth in the Order of Discharge, and the many pleadings filed in the Second Adversary Proceeding that were mailed to the Judgment Debtor, the Court questions whether the Judgment Debtor's conduct was culpable. In order to make that determination, the Court is of the view that an evidentiary hearing is required to assess Debtor's explanation for her alleged belief and for the timing of the filing of the Motion to Vacate.

III. CONCLUSION

In light of the foregoing, the Court will set an evidentiary hearing on the issue of whether Judgment Debtor's conduct was "culpable," as that standard has been articulated by the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals. Currently available dates for such a hearing include August 30, 2018 or September 7, 2018.

Docket 80

Tentative Ruling:

On January 20, 2016, Alice Sungjin Cheong ("Judgment Debtor") filed a voluntary chapter 7 petition. On April 15, 2016, Mi Hee Kim and Kyung Chul Kim ("Judgment Creditors") filed an adversary proceeding against Judgment Debtor.

On June 22, 2017, default judgment was entered against Judgment Debtor [doc. 53]. On May 14, 2018, an amended default judgment was entered against Judgment Debtor [doc. 67].

On May 25, 2018, Judgment Debtor filed an amended motion to vacate the amended default judgment (the "Motion to Vacate") [doc. 72]. The hearing on the Motion to Vacate is set for July 18, 2018 at 2:30 p.m.

On June 1, 2018, Judgment Creditors filed an Application for Order for Appearance and Examination: Enforcement of Judgment (the "Application") [doc. 75]. On June 5, 2018, the Court granted the Application and entered an order directing Judgment Debtor to appear for a judgment debtor examination (the "ORAP"). According to the proof of service filed by Judgment Creditors, on June 8, 2018, at approximately 5:36 p.m., Judgment Debtor was served with the ORAP at 20458 Napa Street, Winnetka, CA 91306 (the "Winnetka Address") [doc. 78]. Judgment Debtor was required to appear on June 20, 2018 at 2:30 p.m.

On June 20, 2018, Judgment Debtor did not appear for examination. On June 21, 2018, the Court issued the OSC [doc. 80]. The OSC was served on Judgment Debtor at the Winnetka Address. [FN1]

Chapter 7

On July 5, 2018, Judgment Debtor filed her declaration in response to the OSC. (Declaration of Alice Sungjin Cheong, doc. 91.) Judgment Debtor represents that she did not appear for examination because she was never served with the ORAP. Instead, the process server mistakenly served an individual named Christine Valdez, who resides at the Winnetka Address. (Id., ¶ 3.) Judgment Debtor also filed a declaration from Ms. Valdez. (Declaration of Christine Valdez, doc. 91.) Ms. Valdez represents that the process server served the ORAP on her, despite Ms. Valdez denying that she was Judgment Debtor.

In light of the foregoing, it appears that Judgment Debtor was not served with the ORAP. Accordingly, the Court will discharge the OSC. If Judgment Debtor does not currently reside at the Winnetka Address, Judgment Debtor must file a notice of change of address with the Court no later than 7 days after this hearing.

FOOTNOTE

1. The OSC was also served on Judgment Debtor at 274 S. La Fayette Park Pl # 222, Los Angeles, CA 90057 (the "Los Angeles Address"). On June 28, 2018, the Clerk of Court received a "return to sender" notice for the copy of the OSC mailed to the Los Angeles Address.

Docket 11

Tentative Ruling:

Grant on an interim basis, until the next hearing. The Court intends to continue this hearing to September 5, 2018 at 9:30 a.m.

Under 11 U.S.C. § 362(c)(4), in order to impose the automatic stay in a case filed within one year of two or more cases of the debtor that were pending but were dismissed, the debtor must show that the pending case was filed in good faith as to the creditors to be stayed.

The First Case. On August 31, 2017, Jose Luis Gonzalez (the “Debtor”) filed a chapter 13 petition, commencing case no. 1:17-bk-12312-MT (the “First Case”). In the First Case, the Debtor was represented by counsel. On August 31, 2017, the Court issued a Notice of Dismissal of Case if Required Documents Are Not Filed or Signed (“Dismissal Notice”) [1:17-bk-12312-MT, doc. 3]. The Dismissal Notice provided that the First Case would be dismissed if the Debtor did not comply within 72 hours. On September 6, 2017, the Court entered an order dismissing the First Case [1:17-bk-12312-MT, doc. 10].

The Second Case. On January 3, 2018, the Debtor filed a chapter 13 petition, commencing case no. 1:18-bk-10017-VK (the “Second Case”). In the Second Case, the Debtor was represented by counsel. On January 4, 2018, the Court entered an Order to Comply with Bankruptcy Rule 1007 and 3015(B) and Notice of Intent to Dismiss Case (the “Order to Comply”) [1:18-bk-10017-VK, doc. 7]. The Order to Comply directed the Debtor to file his chapter 13 plan no later than 14 days after the petition date. No chapter 13 plan was filed. On January 22, 2018, the Court entered an order dismissing the Second Case [1:18-bk-10017-VK, doc. 12].

The Third Case. On January 29, 2018, the Debtor filed a chapter 13 petition, commencing case no. 1:18-bk-10251-MT (the “Third Case”). In the Third Case, the Debtor was represented by counsel. On March 28, 2018, the Court entered an order dismissing the Third Case, for failure to appear at the 341(a) meeting and/or to make pre-confirmation plan payments [1:18-bk-10251-MT, doc. 29].

The Pending Case. On July 31, 2018, the Debtor filed a chapter 13 petition, commencing case no. 1:18-bk-11936-VK (the "Pending Case"). On August 1, 2018, the Debtor filed an Emergency Motion to Enforce the Automatic Stay (the "Motion") [doc. 11]. Through the Motion, the Debtor seeks to impose the automatic stay in his case as to all secured creditors, with respect to his single family residence located at 22051 Sagebrook Drive, Chatsworth, CA 91311 (the "Property").

The Debtor states that on August 2, 2017, he submitted a loan modification application to Bank of America. Bank of America subsequently informed the Debtor that the loan modification process had been transferred to Carrington Mortgage Services, LLC ("Carrington"). Then the Debtor was informed that he had to re-start the loan modification process, directly with Carrington. On December 12, 2017, the Debtor submitted a loan modification application to Carrington. The Debtor alleges that Carrington improperly denied his loan modification application.

The Debtor represents that the attorneys who assisted him with his prior bankruptcy cases are responsible for the dismissal of those cases, because of their inadequate assistance. The Debtor further represents that he can confirm a 100% payment plan and has adequate income to cover the ongoing mortgage payments plus payment of arrears over 5 years.

In light of the foregoing, the Court will grant the Motion on an interim basis and impose the automatic stay on all secured creditors up to the date of the continued hearing. No later than August 8, 2018, the Debtor must also file and serve notice of the continued hearing, and serve the Motion, on all secured creditors. The notice of continued hearing must state that the deadline to file an opposition to the Motion is August 22, 2018. The deadline to file a reply is August 29, 2018. If the Debtor does not appear at the continued hearing on September 5, 2018, the Court may deny the Motion and lift the automatic stay.

Docket 26

Tentative Ruling:

July 5, 2018 Ruling

The debtor did not properly serve the motion on either Bank of America, N.A. ("BOA") or Real Time Resolutions, Inc. ("Real Time"). With respect to BOA, the debtor indicated that she served BOA at the Tryon Street address, but the address in the proof of service does not include the correct zip code for that address. The zip code of BOA's headquarters is "28202," not "28255." Moreover, the Tryon Street address is not the address for the agent for service of process. That address is listed on the California Secretary of State's website as "Vivian Imperial, 818 W. Seventh St., Ste 930, Los Angeles, CA 90017." The Tryon Street address is the address for BOA's headquarters, at which address the debtor should serve any notice "c/o" an officer or director of BOA.

As for Real Time, the debtor served Real Time's agent for service of process at Real Time's headquarters. Once again, the debtor must serve Real Time at its headquarters by addressing the mailing "c/o" an officer or director of BOA. The debtor did not serve Real Time's agent for service of process at the correct address, which, according to the California Secretary of State's website, is: "Vivian Imperial, 818 W. Seventh St., Ste 930, Los Angeles, CA 90017."

Moreover, the debtor did not file form F 4001-2.STMT.FINANCE, located on the Court's website, as required by Local Bankruptcy Rule 4001-2(a).

In addition to these issues, the debtor did not account for payments to Real Time in her monthly budget. Does the debtor use the income generated by the subject real property to make payments to Real Time? Moreover, the debtor did not include a deed of trust in favor of BOA. As such, it is unclear if BOA has an interest in the

Docket 39

Tentative Ruling:

The Court will sustain the chapter 13 trustee's objection to confirmation of the debtor's amended chapter 13 plan [doc. 39].

I. BACKGROUND

On November 27, 2017, Shalva Shalom Krihali (the "Debtor") filed a chapter 7 petition. On March 15, 2018, the Debtor's case was converted from chapter 7 to chapter 13 [doc. 22].

On March 22, 2018, the Debtor filed a chapter 13 plan [doc. 27]. On March 22, 2018, the Debtor filed a Statement of Current Monthly Income, Form 122C-1 (the "Statement") [doc. 26]. In the Statement, the Debtor listed his plan commitment period as three years and a deduction of $5,192.50 in business expenses. The Debtor listed his net business income as $5,207.50. The Debtor used his net business income amount to calculate his current monthly income.

On June 6, 2018, the chapter 13 trustee (the "Trustee") filed an objection to the plan (the "Objection") [doc. 36]. On July 3, 2018, the Debtor filed a first amended chapter 13 plan and a reply to the Objection (the "Debtor's Reply") [doc. 39]. On July 9, 2018, the Trustee filed an objection to the Debtor's first amended chapter 13 plan [doc. 43].

On July 10, 2018, the Court held a hearing on plan confirmation. The Court continued the hearing to allow the Trustee to submit a brief to address the Debtor's arguments that he should be allowed to deduct business expenses from gross business receipts to determine his current monthly income and applicable plan commitment period.

On July 24, 2018, the Trustee filed a brief in response to the Debtor's Reply [doc. 44].

Chapter 13

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1322(d)(2):

If the current monthly income of the debtor and the debtor's spouse combined, when multiplied by 12, is less than—

(A) in the case of a debtor in a household of 1 person, the median family income of the applicable State for 1 earner;

(B) in the case of a debtor in a household of 2, 3, or 4 individuals, the highest median family income of the applicable State for a family of the same number or fewer individuals; or

(C) in the case of a debtor in a household exceeding 4 individuals, the highest median family income of the applicable State for a family of 4 or fewer individuals, plus $525 per month for each individual in excess of 4, the plan may not provide for payments over a period that is longer than 3 years, unless the court, for cause, approves a longer period, but the court may not approve a period that is longer than 5 years.

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 101(10A):

The term "current monthly income"—

(A) means the average monthly income from all sources that the debtor receives (or in a joint case the debtor and the debtor's spouse receive) without regard to whether such income is taxable income, derived during the 6-month period ending on—

(i) the last day of the calendar month immediately preceding the date of the commencement of the case if the debtor files the schedule of current income required by section 521(a)(1)(B)(ii); or

(ii) the date on which current income is determined by the court for purposes of this title if the debtor does not file the schedule of

(Emphasis added.)

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1325(b)(1):

If the trustee or the holder of an allowed unsecured claim objects to the confirmation of the plan, then the court may not approve the plan unless, as of the effective date of the plan—

(A) the value of the property to be distributed under the plan on account of such claim is not less than the amount of such claim; or

(B) the plan provides that all of the debtor's projected disposable income to be received in the applicable commitment period beginning on the date that the first payment is due under the plan will be applied to make payments to unsecured creditors under the plan.

(Emphasis added.)

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1325(b)(2):

For purposes of this subsection, the term "disposable income" means current monthly income received by the debtor (other than child support payments, foster care payments, or disability payments for a dependent child made in accordance with applicable nonbankruptcy

(ii) for charitable contributions (that meet the definition of "charitable contribution" under section 548(d)(3)) to a qualified religious or charitable entity or organization (as defined in section 548(d)(4)) in an amount not to exceed 15 percent of gross income of the debtor for the year in which the contributions are made; and

(B) if the debtor is engaged in business, for the payment of expenditures necessary for the continuation, preservation, and operation of such business.

(Emphasis added.)

The Trustee bases the Objection on Drummond v. Wiegand (In re Wiegand), 386 B.R. 238 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 2008). In Wiegand, the debtors followed the instructions on Form 22C and deducted business expenses from their self-employment income to determine their current monthly income. The debtors' resulting current monthly income entitled them to a three-year applicable plan commitment period. The chapter 13 trustee objected that such deduction was improper, and the bankruptcy court overruled the objection. On appeal, the Bankruptcy Appellate Panel for the Ninth Circuit ("BAP") reversed the bankruptcy court.

The BAP noted the conflict between Form 22C and § 1325(b)(2)(B). Form 22C instructs debtors to deduct business expenses from gross receipts to arrive at current monthly income. Section 1325(b)(2)(B) provides that business expenses are to be deducted from current monthly income to arrive at disposable income. Notwithstanding this conflict, "when an Official Bankruptcy Form conflicts with the Code, the Code always wins." Wiegand, 386 B.R. at 241 (citing In re Arnold, 376 B.R. 652, 653 (Bankr. M.D. Tenn. 2007)).

In Wiegand, the BAP assessed § 1325(b)(2) as being plain and unambiguous:

This section provides that disposable income means current monthly income received by the debtor less amounts reasonably necessary for support and maintenance of the debtor and the debtor's dependents. § 1325(b)(2)(A). For a debtor engaged in business, current monthly income can be further reduced by the payment of expenditures necessary for the continuation, preservation, and operation of the business. § 1325(b)(2)(B). We can conclude from the statutory language that the specificity of §1325(b)(2)(B) controls—business deductions are to be taken from a debtor's current monthly income to arrive at the debtor's disposable income.

Id. at 242. Relying on principles of statutory construction, the BAP held that § 1325(b)(2) should be construed to avoid surplusage: "If business expenses are deducted from gross receipts to determine a chapter 13 debtor's current monthly income [as per Form 22C], then there would be no need for § 1325(b)(2)(B), which provides for the same deductions." Id.

The BAP further explained:

We also observe that our plain meaning interpretation is not absurd because the Code is replete with rules and requirements that impact sole proprietors differently than wage earners. For example, an individual chapter 13 debtor in business may be expected to have more debt associated with his or her operation than someone who works for wages. That the "profit" from the business does not exceed what another makes in salary does not relieve the sole proprietor from the debt limits for eligibility for chapter 13 relief. It may be that Congress simply did not want those persons generating significant revenues through a business to have access to three-year chapter 13 plans.

Id. at 243.

Both parties agree that the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals has not ruled on whether Bankruptcy Appellate Panel decisions are binding throughout the Ninth Circuit. The Debtor argues that this Court should depart from the holding of Wiegand. Like its predecessor, Form 22C, the current Form 122C-1 requires a self-employed debtor to deduct business expenses from gross operating revenue to determine current monthly income. The Debtor argues he should be allowed to rely on Form 122C-1 and not on § 1325(b)(2)(B) to determine his current monthly income, for purposes of the applicable plan commitment period pursuant to § 1322(d)(2).

In support of his position, the Debtor cites In re Romero, Case No. 12-20793-BKC-AJC, 2013 WL 241742 (Bankr. S.D. Fla. Jan. 22, 2013); In re Roman, Case No. 11-01415 BR, 2011 WL 5593143 (Bankr. D.P.R. Nov. 16, 2011); and In re Ramsey, Case No. 10-55255 (Bankr. E.D. Mich. Oct. 4, 2011).

In In re Roman, a self-employed chapter 13 debtor deducted his business expenses from his gross receipts, resulting in net business income that qualified the debtor the shorter three-year plan commitment period. The chapter 13 trustee objected. The bankruptcy court overruled the trustee's objection, noting that all chapter 13 debtors are required to complete a Form 22C. That form allows a debtor to deduct business expenses from gross business receipts, and uses net business income to calculate a debtor's current monthly income. The court acknowledged Wiegand's holding, but saw "no sufficient reason to depart from the mechanical test established in Sections 101(10A) and 1325(b) or from Form [22C]." In re Roman, 2011 WL 5593143, at *4. The court noted:

Among other things, the additional income of a business (as of a non-debtor spouse) is completely irrelevant for the reckoning of Debtor's plan, if that income is not made available to cover household expenses so that the debtor has more money available to make the plan payment. . . .

Also, the use of gross receipts for self-employed debtors would lead to distinctions in the calculation of current monthly income based on the business form under which the debtor has chosen to operate, resulting in prejudicial treatment to business proprietors. . . . Business owners need to invest in business related expenses, such as raw materials and equipment, prior to generating any income. As a result, the net revenue (gross revenue minus expenses) becomes the real income.

In In re Romero, the bankruptcy court applied the reasoning of Roman to similar facts. The Romero court also acknowledged Wiegand, yet held that the "Trustee's calculation would artificially inflate the Debtor's income by including, as part of the Debtor's income, the business revenue that would be consumed by business expenses, consequently forcing a longer commitment period under 11 U.S.C. § 1325(b)(4)." In re Romero, 2013 WL 241742, at *3.

In Ramsey, the debtor was an attorney who was the sole owner of her law office, which was a professional limited liability company ("PLLC"). The debtor deducted her business expenses pursuant to Form 22C to determine her current monthly income, and the chapter 13 trustee objected. The bankruptcy court acknowledged Wiegand's holding, yet overruled the trustee's objection. The court noted that the law firm was a PLLC and a separate corporate entity, and the chapter 13 trustee had not shown otherwise. The debtor received the net income of the law firm, after business expenses were paid. Thus, the debtor's use of Form 22C to calculate her current monthly income was appropriate.

Ramsey is distinguishable from the pending case. The Debtor does not assert that his business is a separate corporate entity. Instead, the Debtor states that he operates a business, and that he should be allowed to deduct business expenses from gross receipts to determine current monthly income, pursuant to Form 122C-1.

The Debtor is incorrect in stating that the Wiegand court did not adequately consider Form 22C's requirements in making its ruling. In fact, the BAP noted the conflict between Form 22C and § 1325(b)(2)(B), and held that § 1325(b)(2)(B) controls. Although the Roman and Romero courts disagreed with Wiegand's reasoning, the weight of authority supports the Trustee's position. As the Trustee notes, numerous other courts have followed Wiegand's statutory interpretation of § 1325(b)(2)(B) and Wiegand's resolution of the conflict in favor of the Code. See, e.g., In re Kuwik, 511 B.R. 696 (Bankr. N.D. Ga. 2014); In re Hoffman, 511 B.R. 128 (Bankr. D. Minn. 2014); In re Harkins, 491 B.R. 518 (Bankr. S.D. Ohio 2013); In re Sharp, 394 B.R. 207 (Bankr. C.D. Ill. 2008); In re Arnold, 376 B.R. 652 (Bankr. M.D. Tenn. 2007).

Irrespective of whether this Court is bound by decisions of the BAP, the Court's view

On June 28, 2018, the chapter 13 trustee (the "Trustee") filed comments [doc. 59] requesting additional information from the debtor, such as information about the debtor's spouse's income, copies of the debtor's tax returns since 2014 and current proof of income. The debtor has not filed a response to the Trustee's comments.

In addition, the debtor has not specified if he is paying alimony and car installment payments for the benefit of his spouse in accordance with a court order. Did a court order the debtor to pay these amounts to his spouse? The debtor must provide this information before the Court rules on the debtor's request for a hardship discharge.

Chapter 13

#74.00 Debtor's objection to claim by Arvest/Central Mortgage Company and notice of response deadline

fr. 6/12/18

Docket 77

Tentative Ruling:

The Court will overrule the debtor's objection to the claim filed by Central Mortgage Company ("CMC").

At the prior hearing on this matter, the debtor asserted that she had made payments to CMC outside of the plan payments the debtor made to the chapter 13 trustee. The Court continued the hearing and instructed the debtor to file a declaration supported by admissible evidence of the debtor's proof of postpetition payments to CMC no later than July 10, 2018. To date, the debtor has not filed proof of any such payments.

The Court also instructed CMC to file a declaration supported by admissible evidence regarding CMC's payment of the debtor's property insurance and tax payments. On July 24, 2018, CMC timely filed a declaration regarding CMC's property insurance and tax payments. The debtor has not responded to this declaration. In light of the fact that the debtor did not file proof of having made additional payments to CMC and given CMC's declaration regarding CMC's property insurance and tax payments, the Court will overrule the debtor's objection to CMC's claim.

CMC must submit an order within seven (7) days.

6/12/2018 Tentative:

On March 23, 2016, Central Mortgage Company ("CMC") filed proof of a secured claim in the amount of $348,491.44. CMC noted that the debtor owed $30,308.93 in prepetition arrears. On February 19, 2016, the debtor filed an amended chapter 13 plan (the "Plan") [doc. 21]. In the Plan, the debtor proposed paying CMC $542.76 per month for the duration of the Plan to cure the arrearage of $27,138.14. On March 17,

Chapter 13

2016, the Court entered an order confirming the Plan [doc. 44].

On February 6, 2017, the debtor and CMC entered into a stipulation for adequate protection (the "Stipulation") [doc. 61]. Through the Stipulation, the debtor agreed to cure her postpetition default of $8,010.21. On February 7, 2017, the Court entered an order approving the Stipulation [doc. 63].

On March 13, 2018, the chapter 3 trustee filed the most recent account report [doc. 76], stating that the chapter 13 trustee has paid $14,962.13 to CMC in accordance with the Plan, with a balance of $15,346.80 left to be paid through the Plan.

On April 10, 2018, the debtor filed an objection to CMC's claim (the "Objection") [doc. 77]. In the Objection, the debtor states that CMC has not withdrawn its proof of claim despite the fact that the debtor is "current" on the loan. The debtor also states that she is paying monthly impound fees for taxes and insurance payments, but that CMC has not timely paid the debtor's insurance and tax payments. In its response, CMC acknowledges that the debtor is "postpetition current," but does not address the debtor's comments regarding the impound fees.

The debtor did not support the Objection with a declaration. Even if the debtor included a proper declaration, it is unclear to which portion of CMC's claim the debtor objects. To the extent the debtor asserts she is current on her postpetition mortgage payments to CMC, CMC acknowledges as much in its response. If the debtor is asserting that she has cured the prepetition arrearages owed to CMC, the chapter 13 trustee's accounting report reflects that there is a $15,346.80 balance before the arrearages are cured through the Plan.

In its response, CMC does not address the debtor's assertion that CMC has not timely paid the debtor's insurance and tax payments, thereby resulting in penalties assessed against the debtor. CMC should be prepared to address the impound fees and their application at the hearing on the Objection.

Docket 5

Tentative Ruling:

Grant relief from the automatic stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1).

Movant states that it seeks recovery only from applicable insurance and waives any deficiency or claim against the debtor or property of the debtor's bankruptcy estate.

Movant may proceed under applicable nonbankruptcy law to enforce its remedies to proceed to final judgment in the nonbankruptcy forum, provided that the stay remains in effect with respect to enforcement of any judgment against the Debtor and property of the Debtor's bankruptcy estate.

Deny request for annulment. Movant has not identified what acts, if any, were taken without knowledge of the automatic stay in the debtor's case.

The 14-day stay prescribed by FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived.

Any other request for relief is denied.

Movant must submit the order within seven (7) days.

Docket 56

Tentative Ruling:

Grant relief from stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1).

Movant (and any successors or assigns) may proceed under applicable nonbankruptcy law to enforce its remedies to foreclose upon and obtain possession of the property.

Upon entry of the order, for purposes of Cal. Civ. Code § 2923.5, the Debtor is a borrower as defined in Cal. Civ. Code § 2920.5(c)(2)(C).

The 14-day stay prescribed by FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived.

Movant must submit the order within seven (7) days.

Note: No response has been filed. Accordingly, no court appearance by movant is required. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the Court will determine whether further hearing is required and movant will be so notified.

I. BACKGROUND

On March 16, 2017, Hermann Muennichow ("Defendant") filed a voluntary chapter 7 petition. On June 12, 2017, Duane J. Van Dyke ("Plaintiff") filed a complaint against Defendant (the "Complaint"), requesting nondischargeability of the debt owed to Plaintiff pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(A), (a)(4), (a)(6) and (a)(14) and requesting denial of Defendant's discharge under 11 U.S.C. § 727. On August 22, 2017, Defendant filed an answer to the Complaint [doc. 13].

On November 11, 2017, Defendant passed away [doc. 30, Exhibit A]. On June 5, 2018, Plaintiff filed a motion to substitute Helayne Muennichow as defendant (the "Original Motion to Substitute") [doc. 45]. Ms. Muennichow opposed the Motion [doc. 51]. On July 18, 2018, the Court held a hearing on the Original Motion to Substitute. At that time, the Court decided that the Court would continue the hearing until the probate court appointed a representative of Defendant's estate.

On July 13, 2018, the probate court held a hearing on the appointment of a representative of Defendant's estate. Declaration of Kelly Warren ("Warren Declaration"), ¶ 7, Exhibit 1. In a minute order issued by the probate court (the "Minute Order"), the probate court appointed Mr. Van Dyke as the personal representative of Defendant's estate. Id. On July 20, 2018, Plaintiff filed a motion to substitute Mr. Van Dyke as defendant (the "Motion") [doc. 55]. A timely response to the Motion has not been filed.

Pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 25(a)(1)—

If a party dies and the claim is not extinguished, the court may order substitution of the proper party. A motion for substitution may be made by any party or by the decedent's successor or representative. If the motion is not made within 90 days after service of a statement noting the death, the action by or against the decedent must be dismissed.

Pursuant to Cal. Civ. Proc. Code § 377.41—

On motion, the court shall allow a pending action or proceeding against the decedent that does not abate to be continued against the decedent's personal representative or, to the extent provided by statute, against the decedent's successor in interest, except that the court may not permit an action or proceeding to be continued against the personal representative unless proof of compliance with Part 4 (commencing with Section 9000) of Division 7 of the Probate Code governing creditor claims is first made.

This includes removal and/or appointment of a personal representative of the decedent's estate because this clearly would interfere with administration of the estate.").

Here, the probate court appointed Mr. Van Dyke as the representative of Defendant's estate. Given that the personal representative of an estate is the proper party in interest to substitute into an action in place of a decedent, Cal. Civ. Proc. Code § 377.41, the Court will grant the Motion and substitute Mr. Van Dyke as the defendant in this adversary proceeding.

III. CONCLUSION

The Court will grant the Motion.

Plaintiff must submit an order within seven (7) days.

I. BACKGROUND

On March 26, 2018, Jaime R. Lara ("Debtor") filed a voluntary chapter 7 petition. Diane C. Weil was appointed the chapter 7 trustee (the "Trustee").

In his schedule A/B [doc. 19], Debtor listed an interest in an account (the "Escrow Account") with Greater LA Escrow, Inc. ("Greater LA") and indicated that the Escrow Account contained $190,000. In a separate section, Debtor also listed an interest in "[r]esidue from the sale of the community property family residence" in the amount of $190,000. In his schedule E/F, Debtor listed an unsecured claim in favor of Benjamin C. Lara ("Plaintiff") in the amount of $144,300. Debtor noted that the claim arose from contract work and services.

On May 10, 2018, Plaintiff filed a complaint (the "Complaint") against Debtor, Diane E. Lara, Greater LA and the Jaime Romero Lara and Diane Elise Lara Joint Living Trust (the "Trust" and, collectively, "Defendants") in state court (the "State Court Action"). Notice of Removal, Exhibit 1. In the Complaint, Plaintiff alleges, in relevant part:

Debtor is Plaintiff's father. Debtor previously resided at the real property located at 742 Andover Drive, Burbank, California 91504 (the "Property").

On August 1, 2006, Plaintiff entered into a personal services contract with Debtor for the construction repair and modification of the Property (the "Agreement"). The Agreement provided that: (A) Plaintiff would pay for half of the mortgage and utilities as his investment; and (B) that, in the event of the sale of the Property, Plaintiff will be reimbursed for his investment. Debtor and Ms. Lara also agreed to fully repay Plaintiff for his services in the event of a sale of the Property and executed a will and testament including these provisions. The will was then placed into the Trust.

On May 5, 2017, Ms. Lara initiated legal separation proceedings against Debtor. On July 6, 2017, Debtor and Ms. Lara sold the Property. Greater LA is currently holding the sale proceeds in the Escrow Account. On March 26, 2018, after filing this bankruptcy case, Debtor made a written demand on Greater LA for disbursement of his share of the funds in the Escrow Account. Greater LA has refused to disburse the funds to Debtor in violation of 11 U.S.C. § 362. On the same day, Plaintiff made a written demand on Debtor and Ms. Lara for payment of his costs, expenses and investment in the Property in the amount of $317,100.

In light of the above, Plaintiff requests a temporary and permanent injunction and declaratory relief against Defendants. Plaintiff also asserts the following causes of action: (A) breach of contract; (B) breach of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing; (C) fraud; (D) equitable estoppel; and (E) defamation (against Ms. Lara alone, stemming from Ms. Lara's allegations that Plaintiff conspired with Debtor to deprive Ms. Lara of community property).

Notice of Removal, Exhibit 1. On May 18, 2018, Debtor filed amended schedules [doc. 19]. In his amended schedule A/B, Debtor indicated that he has an interest in deposits of money, but did not specify any accounts in which he had an interest. In other words, in his amended schedule A/B, Debtor omitted the information about the Escrow Account. In the amended schedule A/B, Debtor added his interest in the Jaime Romeo Lara and Diana Elise Joint Living Trust (the "Trust"). Debtor stated that the Trust is worth $400,000. In his amended schedule E/F, Debtor listed a $317,100 claim in favor of Plaintiff and noted that the claim arose from contract work and mortgage payments.

On June 7, 2018, the Trustee removed the State Court Action to this Court. On the same day, the Court issued an Order to Show Cause re: Remand (the "OSC") [doc. 3].

On June 14, 2018, the Trustee filed a motion to dismiss the Complaint (the "Motion") [doc. 5], on the basis that the State Court Action is void as a violation of the automatic stay because: (A) it is an action against Debtor and (B) Plaintiff seeks dominion over property of the estate through the State Court Action. The Trustee also asserts that Plaintiff did not serve the Trustee. On June 20, 2018, Greater LA filed a joinder to the Motion [doc. 10]. On July 3, 2018, the Trustee filed a response to the OSC (the "Response") [doc. 13], asserting that this Court has jurisdiction over the State Court Action and that the Court should refrain from remanding the State Court Action because the State Court Action is a violation of the automatic stay.

On the same day, the Trustee and Plaintiff filed a joint status report (the "Status Report") [doc. 14]. In the Status Report, the Trustee requests that this status conference be continued until the Court resolves the Motion to Dismiss. Plaintiff notes that, on June 29, 2018, he filed a request for dismissal of Debtor as a defendant in the State Court Action with the state court and, as a result, the Court does not have jurisdiction over this matter. The Trustee notes that Plaintiff's request for dismissal is a nullity because it was filed in state court after the Trustee removed the State Court Action to this Court. To date, Plaintiff has not filed a response to the Motion.

II. ANALYSIS

A. Federal Rule of Civil Procedure ("Rule") 12(b)(6)

A motion to dismiss [pursuant to Rule 12(b)(6)] will only be granted if the complaint fails to allege enough facts to state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face. A claim has facial plausibility when the plaintiff pleads factual content that allows the court to draw the reasonable inference that the defendant is liable for the misconduct alleged. The plausibility standard is not akin to a probability requirement, but it asks for more than a sheer possibility that a defendant has acted unlawfully.

We accept factual allegations in the complaint as true and construe the pleadings in the light most favorable to the non-moving party. Although factual allegations are taken as true, we do not assume the truth of legal conclusions merely because they are cast in the form of factual allegations. Therefore, conclusory allegations of law and unwarranted inferences are insufficient to defeat a motion to dismiss.

In evaluating a Rule 12(b)(6) motion, review is "limited to the contents of the complaint." Clegg v. Cult Awareness Network, 18 F.3d 752, 754 (9th Cir. 1994). However, without converting the motion to one for summary judgment, exhibits attached to the complaint, as well as matters of public record, may be considered in determining whether dismissal is proper. See Parks School of Business, Inc. v. Symington, 51 F.3d 1480, 1484 (9th Cir. 1995); Mack v. South Bay Beer Distributors, Inc., 798 F.2d 1279, 1282 (9th Cir. 1986). Further, a court may consider evidence "on which the complaint necessarily relies if: (1) the complaint refers to the document; (2) the document is central to the plaintiff's claim; and (3) no party questions the authenticity of the copy attached to the [Rule] 12(b)(6) motion." Marder v. Lopez, 450 F.3d 445, 448 (9th Cir. 2006) (internal quotation marks omitted). "The court may treat such a document as part of the complaint, and thus may assume that its contents are true for purposes of a motion to dismiss under Rule 12(b)(6)." Id. (internal quotation marks omitted).

Dismissal without leave to amend is appropriate when the court is satisfied that the deficiencies in the complaint could not possibly be cured by amendment. Jackson v. Carey, 353 F.3d 750, 758 (9th Cir. 2003); Lopez v. Smith, 203 F.3d 1122, 1127 (9th Cir. 2000).

Chapter 7

Action, to the extent it concerns claims against Debtor or property of the estate, is void. Apart from the defamation claim, these claims were asserted in violation of the automatic stay. As noted above, void acts cannot be cured or ratified. Oakhurst Lodge, 582 B.R. at 798.

Because Plaintiff asserts the defamation claim against Ms. Lara alone, and a judgment of defamation against Ms. Lara would not necessarily implicate property of the estate, the automatic stay does not protect Ms. Lara or her separate property from litigation and potential judgment. Consequently, the Court will dismiss all claims asserted in the Complaint except for the defamation claim against Ms. Lara.

C. Rules 12(b)(4) and 12(b)(5)

Alternatively, the Complaint also may be dismissed for insufficient service of process. Pursuant to Rules 12(b)(4) and (b)(5), "a party may assert the following defenses by motion... insufficient process [and] insufficient service of process...."

"An action must be prosecuted in the name of the real party in interest." Rule 17(a)(1). Rule 17 "allows a federal court to entertain a suit at the instance of any party to whom the relevant substantive law grants a cause of action." U-Haul Intern., Inc. v. Jartran, Inc., 793 F.2d 1034, 1038 (9th Cir. 1986). In a chapter 7 case, the chapter 7 trustee is the proper party to enforce the rights of an estate and to defend the estate. 11 U.S.C. § 323(a) ("The trustee in a case is the representative of the estate."). "The trustee in a case under this title has capacity to sue and be sued." 11 U.S.C. § 323(b) (emphasis added). As a result, in a chapter 7 case, the chapter 7 trustee is the property party in interest to defend the estate.

Here, Plaintiff served Debtor instead of the Trustee. As the Trustee is the proper party in interest, the Court would normally dismiss the Complaint until Plaintiff properly served the Trustee in accordance with the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. However, because all of the claims against Debtor and the estate are dismissed as a violation of the automatic stay, this issue is moot.

III. CONCLUSION

The Court will dismiss all of the claims except the claim of defamation against Ms.

to bankruptcy court

fr. 7/18/18

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

The Court will remand the defamation claim to state court.

I. BACKGROUND

On March 26, 2018, Jaime R. Lara ("Debtor") filed a voluntary chapter 7 petition. Diane C. Weil was appointed the chapter 7 trustee (the "Trustee").

In his schedule A/B [doc. 19], Debtor listed an interest in an account (the "Escrow Account") with Greater LA Escrow, Inc. ("Greater LA") and indicated that the Escrow Account contained $190,000. In a separate section, Debtor also listed an interest in "[r]esidue from the sale of the community property family residence" in the amount of $190,000. In his schedule E/F, Debtor listed an unsecured claim in favor of Benjamin C. Lara ("Plaintiff") in the amount of $144,300. Debtor noted that the claim arose from contract work and services.

On May 10, 2018, Plaintiff filed a complaint (the "Complaint") against Debtor, Diane E. Lara, Greater LA and the Jaime Romero Lara and Diane Elise Lara Joint Living Trust (the "Trust" and, collectively, "Defendants") in state court (the "State Court Action"). Notice of Removal, Exhibit 1. In the Complaint, Plaintiff alleges, in relevant part:

Debtor is Plaintiff's father. Debtor previously resided at the real property located at 742 Andover Drive, Burbank, California 91504 (the "Property").

On August 1, 2006, Plaintiff entered into a personal services contract with Debtor for the construction repair and modification of the Property (the "Agreement"). The Agreement provided that: (A) Plaintiff would pay for half of the mortgage and utilities as his investment; and (B) that, in the event of the sale of the Property, Plaintiff will be reimbursed for his investment. Debtor and Ms. Lara also agreed to fully repay Plaintiff for his services in the event of a sale of the Property and executed a will and testament including these provisions. The will was then placed into the Trust.

On May 5, 2017, Ms. Lara initiated legal separation proceedings against Debtor. On July 6, 2017, Debtor and Ms. Lara sold the Property. Greater LA is currently holding the sale proceeds in the Escrow Account. On March 26, 2018, after filing this bankruptcy case, Debtor made a written demand on Greater LA for disbursement of his share of the funds in the Escrow Account. Greater LA has refused to disburse the funds to Debtor in violation of 11 U.S.C. § 362. On the same day, Plaintiff made a written demand on Debtor and Ms. Lara for payment of his costs, expenses and investment in the Property in the amount of $317,100.

In light of the above, Plaintiff requests a temporary and permanent injunction and declaratory relief against Defendants. Plaintiff also asserts the following causes of action: (A) breach of contract; (B) breach of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing; (C) fraud; (D) equitable estoppel; and (E) defamation (against Ms. Lara alone, stemming from Ms. Lara's allegations that Plaintiff conspired with Debtor to deprive Ms. Lara of community property).

Notice of Removal, Exhibit 1. On May 18, 2018, Debtor filed amended schedules [doc. 19]. In his amended schedule A/B, Debtor indicated that he has an interest in deposits of money, but did not specify any accounts in which he had an interest. In other words, in his amended schedule A/B, Debtor omitted the information about the Escrow Account. In the amended schedule A/B, Debtor added his interest in the Jaime Romeo Lara and Diana Elise Joint Living Trust (the "Trust"). Debtor stated that the Trust is worth $400,000. In his amended schedule E/F, Debtor listed a $317,100 claim in favor of Plaintiff and noted that the claim arose from contract work and mortgage payments.

On June 7, 2018, the Trustee removed the State Court Action to this Court. On the same day, the Court issued an Order to Show Cause re: Remand (the "OSC") [doc. 3].

On June 14, 2018, the Trustee filed a motion to dismiss this adversary proceeding (the "Motion to Dismiss") [doc. 5], on the basis that the State Court Action is void as a violation of the automatic stay because: (A) it is an action against Debtor and (B) Plaintiff seeks dominion over property of the estate through the State Court Action. On July 3, 2018, the Trustee filed a response to the OSC (the "Response") [doc. 13], asserting that this Court has jurisdiction over the State Court Action and that the Court should refrain from remanding the State Court Action because the State Court Action is a violation of the automatic stay.

On the same day, the Trustee and Plaintiff filed a joint status report (the "Status Report") [doc. 14]. The remaining Defendants did not contribute to the Status Report. In the Status Report, the Trustee requests that this status conference be continued until the Court resolves the Motion to Dismiss. Plaintiff notes that, on June 29, 2018, he filed a request for dismissal of Debtor as a defendant in the State Court Action with the state court and, as a result, the Court does not have jurisdiction over this matter. The Trustee notes that Plaintiff's request for dismissal is a nullity because it was filed in state court after the Trustee removed the State Court Action to this Court.

II. ANALYSIS

A. Subject Matter Jurisdiction

Removal of state court actions to federal district court is governed by 28 U.S.C. §§ 1441 – 1455. Removal and remand of actions related to bankruptcy cases is governed by § 1452.

- (a) A party may remove any claim or cause of action in a civil action . . . to the district court for the district where such civil action is pending, if such district court has jurisdiction of such claim or cause of action under section 1334 of this title.
- (b) The court to which such claim or cause of action is removed may remand such claim or cause of action on any equitable ground. . . .

28 U.S.C. § 1452.

The Court strictly construes the removal statutes against removal jurisdiction, and jurisdiction must be rejected if there is any doubt as to the right of removal. See Gaus v. Miles, Inc., 980 F.2d 564, 566 (9th Cir.1992). The party seeking removal bears the burden of establishing federal jurisdiction. Id.

Moreover, under the well-pleaded complaint rule, "[t]he presence or absence of federal-question jurisdiction is governed by the 'well-pleaded complaint rule,' which provides that federal jurisdiction exists only when a federal question is presented on the face of the plaintiff's properly pleaded complaint." Caterpillar Inc. v. Williams, 482 U.S. 386, 392, 107 S.Ct. 2425, 96 L.Ed.2d 318 (1987).

Parties cannot consent to subject matter jurisdiction. Clapp v. Commissioner, 875 F.2d 1396, 1398 (9th Cir. 1989) ("Subject matter jurisdiction cannot be conferred upon the court by consent or waiver."); and In re Marshall, 264 B.R. 609, 619 (C.D. Cal. 2001) ("[I]n so far as the issue is the actual subject matter jurisdiction of the federal courts, rather than just the bankruptcy court's power to enter a final judgment, such jurisdiction cannot be conferred by consent.").

As set forth in § 1452, removal to a bankruptcy court requires that the court have jurisdiction of such claim or cause of action under 28 U.S.C. § 1334. 28 U.S.C. § 1334(b), with regard to bankruptcy cases and proceedings, provides that:

Except as provided by subsection (e)(2) and notwithstanding any Act of Congress that confers exclusive jurisdiction on a court or courts other than the district courts, the district courts shall have original but not exclusive jurisdiction of all civil proceedings arising under title 11, or arising in or related to cases under title 11.

1. Arising Under Jurisdiction

"A matter arises under the Bankruptcy Code if its existence depends on a substantive provision of bankruptcy law, that is, if it involves a cause of action created or determined by a statutory provision of the Bankruptcy Code." In re Ray, 624 F.3d

2.     Arising In Jurisdiction

"A proceeding 'arises in' a case under the Bankruptcy Code if it is an administrative matter unique to the bankruptcy process that has no independent existence outside of bankruptcy and could not be brought in another forum, but whose cause of action is not expressly rooted in the Bankruptcy Code." Id.

Matters that "arise under or in Title 11 are deemed to be 'core' proceedings . . . ." In re Harris Pine Mills, 44 F.3d 1431, 1435 (9th Cir. 1995). Title 28, United States Code, section 157(b)(2) sets out a non-exclusive list of core proceedings, including "matters concerning the administration of the estate," "allowance or disallowance of claims," "objections to discharges," "motions to terminate, annul, or modify the automatic stay," and "confirmation of plans." Bankruptcy courts have the authority to hear and enter final judgments in "all core proceedings arising under title 11, or arising in a case under title 11 . . . ." 28 U.S.C. § 157\(b\)\(1\); Stern v. Marshall, 564 U.S. 462, 475-76, 131 S.Ct. 2594, 2604, 180 L.Ed.2d 475 (2011).

3.     Related to Jurisdiction

Bankruptcy courts also have jurisdiction over proceedings that are "related to" a bankruptcy case. 28 U.S.C. § 1334(b); In re Pegasus Gold Corp., 394 F.3d 1189, 1193 (9th Cir. 2005). A proceeding is "related to" a bankruptcy case if:

[T]he outcome of the proceeding could conceivably have any effect on the estate being administered in bankruptcy. Thus, the proceeding need not necessarily be against the debtor or against the debtor's property. An action is related to bankruptcy if the outcome could alter the debtor's rights, liabilities, options, or freedom of action (either positively or negatively) and which in any way impacts upon the handling and administration of the bankrupt estate.

A bankruptcy court's "related to" jurisdiction "cannot be limitless." Celotex Corp. v. Edwards, 514 U.S. 300, 308, 115 S.Ct. 1493, 1499, 131 L.Ed. 2d 403 (1995). "[R] 'are so tangential to the title 11 case or the result of which would have so little impact on the administration of the title 11 case... Put another way, litigation that would not have an impact upon the administration of the bankruptcy case, or on property of the estate, or on the distribution to creditors, cannot find a home in the district court based on the court's bankruptcy jurisdiction.'" In re Wisdom, 2015 WL 2128830, at *10 (Bankr. D. Idaho May 5, 2015) (quoting 1 Collier on Bankruptcy, ¶ 3.01[3][e][v] (Alan N. Resnick & Henry J. Sommer eds., 16th ed. 2014)).

Here, with the exception of Plaintiff's claim of defamation against Ms. Lara, the Court has jurisdiction over the State Court Action. The remaining claims all involve Plaintiff's attempt to recover the funds in the Escrow Account, which Debtor and the Trustee assert are property of Debtor's bankruptcy estate. Although Plaintiff asserts in the Status Report that he has dismissed Debtor from the action, first, as noted by the Trustee, the request for dismissal is a nullity because it was filed with the state court after the State Court Action was removed to this Court. Second, even if Plaintiff dismissed Debtor, Plaintiff still seeks to recover property of the estate through the State Court Action. As such, dismissing Debtor does not extinguish this Court's jurisdiction over this matter.

On the other hand, the defamation claim against Ms. Lara is a claim against a nondebtor party that does not involve recovery of property of the estate. Although the defamation claim arises from Ms. Lara's alleged accusations of collusion between Plaintiff and Debtor, the claim is asserted solely against Ms. Lara and, should a court enter a judgment in favor of Plaintiff, Plaintiff may pursue Ms. Lara and her separate property for recovery. Plaintiff's success or failure on the defamation claim will not have an effect on Debtor's bankruptcy case; the estate does not stand to gain or lose anything from Plaintiff's prosecution of that claim against Ms. Lara. As discussed below, even if the Court has subject matter jurisdiction over the defamation claim, the Court will remand that claim to state court.

"Bankruptcy courts have broad discretion to remand cases over which they otherwise have jurisdiction on any equitable ground." In re Enron Corp., 296 B.R. 505, 508 (C.D. Cal. 2003). 28 U.S.C. § 1452(b) provides, in pertinent part: "The court to which such claim or cause of action is removed may remand such claim or cause of action on any equitable ground." "[E]ven where federal jurisdiction attaches in actions 'related to' bankruptcy proceedings, Congress has explicitly provided for courts to find that those matters are more properly adjudicated in state court." Parke v. Cardsystem Solutions, Inc., 2006 WL 2917604 (N.D. Cal. October 11, 2006) (quoting Williams v. Shell Oil Co., 169 B.R. 684, 690 (S.D. Cal. 1994)).

Courts generally consider up to fourteen factors in deciding whether to remand a case to state court. Enron, 296 B.R. at 508. Factors courts should consider in deciding whether to remand are:

- (1) the effect or lack thereof on the efficient administration of the estate if the Court recommends [remand or] abstention;
- (2) extent to which state law issues predominate over bankruptcy issues;
- (3) difficult or unsettled nature of applicable law;
- (4) presence of related proceeding commenced in state court or other nonbankruptcy proceeding;
- (5) jurisdictional basis, if any, other than [section] 1334;
- (6) degree of relatedness or remoteness of proceeding to main bankruptcy case;
- (7) the substance rather than the form of an asserted core proceeding;
- (8) the feasibility of severing state law claims from core bankruptcy matters to allow judgments to be entered in state court with enforcement left to the bankruptcy court;
- (9) the burden on the bankruptcy court's docket;
- (10) the likelihood that the commencement of the proceeding in bankruptcy court involves forum shopping by one of the parties;
- (11) the existence of a right to a jury trial;
- (12) the presence in the proceeding of nondebtor parties;
- (13) comity; and
- (14) the possibility of prejudice to other parties in the action.

In light of the Court's ruling on the Motion to Dismiss, most of Plaintiff's claims are dismissed as a violation of the automatic stay. The one remaining claim is the defamation claim against Ms. Lara. The defamation claim will not have any effect on the efficient administration of the estate and is, at best, remotely related to the main bankruptcy case. In addition, the claim is based entirely on state law and there is no jurisdictional basis, if any, other than 28 U.S.C. § 1334. Moreover, the defamation claim involves two nondebtor parties, and comity favors remand of this matter to state court. Consequently, even if the Court has jurisdiction over the defamation claim, the Court will remand the defamation claim.

III. CONCLUSION

The Court will remand the defamation claim to state court.

Tentative Ruling:

Grant in part and deny in part.

On September 12, 2016, Menar Construction Co. (the "Debtor") filed a voluntary chapter 7 petition. David Seror was appointed the chapter 7 trustee (the "Trustee").

On January 12, 2017, Toraaj Soroor ("Creditor") filed claim 1-1 in the amount of $11,045, based on an award to Creditor from the Contractor's State Licensing Board (the "CSLB") arising from a construction negligence complaint.

On July 26, 2017, the Trustee filed an application to employ Menchaca & Company LLP ("Menchaca") as accountant (the "Menchaca Employment Application") [doc. 29]. On August 28, 2017, the Court entered an order approving the Menchaca Application [doc. 33].

On January 18, 2018, the Trustee filed a motion to approve a compromise of controversy with Behrooz Sarange, the Debtor's former principal (the "Compromise Motion") [doc. 45]. Under the terms of the proposed compromise, Mr. Sarange would pay $6,000 to the estate. In the Compromise Motion, the Trustee stated that the CSLB had released a bond that the Debtor had previously posted, resulting in $11,045 gain to the estate. The Trustee further represented that Mr. Sarange's payment and the funds released by the CSLB would be sufficient to pay all claims in full. On February 8, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the Compromise Motion [doc. 48].

On March 6, 2018, the Franchise Tax Board (the "FTB") filed claim 2-1 in the amount of $823.54 as a priority claim. On March 6, 2018, the FTB filed claim 3-1 in the amount of $1,629.28 as an administrative claim. On March 29, 2018, the FTB filed amended claim 3-2 in the amount of $2,099.29 as an administrative claim.

On March 19, 2018, Menchaca filed its fee application (the "Menchaca Fee Application") [doc. 52]. On May 30, 2018, the Trustee filed his final report and application for compensation (the "Trustee's Final Report") [doc. 54].

On July 19, 2018, the Court held a hearing on the Trustee's Final Report and the Menchaca Fee Application. Counsel for Creditor appeared and objected to the payment of professional fees as proposed in the Trustee's Final Report, on the grounds that the Trustee had stated in the Compromise Motion that all claims would be paid in full. The Court continued the hearing to August 16, 2018. Creditor was instructed to file a written objection by August 2, 2018. The Trustee was instructed to file a response by August 9, 2018.

On July 31, 2018, Creditor's counsel filed her declaration in objection [doc. 59]. Creditor's counsel states that on October 27, 2017, Creditor attended a hearing before the Trustee. Creditor and Trustee agreed that Creditor would accept $9,000 in satisfaction of his claim, provided that:

- The Debtor's counsel would file a compromise motion within 30 to 60 days;
- The Debtor would submit $6,000 to the Trustee to assure there would be sufficient funds to cover "everything";
- If a compromise motion was not timely filed, the full amount of $11,045 would become due and payable forthwith.

The Debtor's counsel did not timely file the compromise motion. On January 12, 2018, the parties communicated with the Trustee. The Trustee represented that Creditor would be paid the full amount of $11,045; however, the Final Report states that Creditor will be receiving approximately $8,500.

On August 7, 2018, the Trustee filed his response [doc. 60]. The Trustee does not dispute Creditor's narrative of events. The Trustee notes that, after the Compromise Motion was filed, the FTB filed additional claims against the Debtor's estate. The Trustee determined that the FTB claims had to be paid prior to any distribution to Creditor.

11 U.S.C. § 326(a) sets forth the maximum compensation for chapter 7 trustees in a given case. Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(2), "[t]he court may, on its own motion or on the motion of the United States Trustee, the United States Trustee for the District or Region, the trustee for the estate, or any other party in interest, award compensation that is less than the amount of compensation that is requested."

Here, the Trustee collected the Debtor's bond from the CSLB and compromised a claim with the Debtor's principal. This case was not complex and only one nonpriority unsecured claim—Creditor's—was filed. In the Compromise Motion, the Trustee represented to the Court that the claims bar date had passed, and that in light of the funds to be paid by Mr. Sarange, all claims would be paid in full. Although the FTB filed its claims after the Court granted the Compromise Motion, the Trustee's accountant, Menchaca, could have more accurately assessed the estate's potential tax liability.

In light of the circumstances of this case, the Court will award fees and expenses as follows:

David Seror, Trustee – approve fees of $2,000.00 and reimbursement of expenses of $85.39. The Court has not approved $454.50 in fees for the reasons stated above.

Menchaca, accountant to the Trustee – approve fees of $3,205.50 and reimbursement of expenses of $94.34.

The Trustee must submit the order within seven (7) days of the hearing.

Docket 136

Tentative Ruling:

Continue hearing to September 6, 2018 at 10:30 a.m.

Contrary to Local Bankruptcy Rule ("LBR") 2016-1(a)(1)(A)(iii), in the fee application, applicant has not disclosed the amount of money on hand in the estate and the estimated amount of other accrued expenses of administration. Contrary to LBR 2016-1(a)(1)(J), the applicant has not filed a declaration from the debtor indicating that the debtor has reviewed the fee application and has no objection to it.

No later than August 30, 2018, the debtor must file a declaration discussing and demonstrating her ability to pay the approved fees and expenses, and indicating her review of and consent to the fees requested in the application.

Appearances on August 16, 2018 are excused.

#4.00 Confirmation hearing re First Amended Chapter 11 Plan

fr. 5/3/18(stip); 6/7/18(stip), 7/19/18(stip)

Docket 114

Tentative Ruling:

Because of the Court's concerns regarding the feasibility of the debtor's proposed chapter 11 plan and whether that plan pays the entire claim of the objecting creditor, in order for the parties to address those issues with supplemental evidence, the Court will continue this hearing.

Feasibility

"The debtor carries the burden of proving that a Chapter 11 plan complies with the statutory requirements for confirmation under §§ 1129(a) & (b)." In re Arnold & Baker Farms, 177 B.R. 648, 654 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1994), aff'd, 85 F.3d 1415 (9th Cir. 1996). Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1123(a)(5), a chapter 11 plan must provide adequate means for the plan's implementation. Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1129(a)(11), a court can confirm a plan only if "[c]onfirmation of the plan is not likely to be followed by the liquidation, or the need for further financial reorganization, of the debtor or any successor to the debtor under the plan, unless such liquidation or reorganization is proposed in the plan."

The debtor states that he will fund his First Amended Chapter 11 Plan of Reorganization (the "Plan") from his regular employment income, his consulting income, distributions/dividends from Master Strategic Group, Inc., his spouse's regular and consulting income, funds in the DIP account, and contributions from his brother. (Brief, doc. 162, at p. 21.) The debtor's average monthly income, as stated in his last six monthly operating reports, is $15,079.17. The debtor's brother is projected to contribute $14,700 per month. (Declaration of Dr. Paul A. Nassif, doc. 162, at p. 40.) The debtor's average monthly income, plus his brother's projected contribution, totals $29,779.17. This amount is less than the $33,211 projected monthly income stated in the cash flow projections attached to the First Amended Disclosure Statement. (Doc. 113, Exh. B.) This amount is also less than the $33,101 in projected monthly expenses. (Id.)

In addition, pursuant to the Stipulation By Christopher Sabin Nassif and 2005 Residential Trust 3-1 By Wilmington Savings Fund Society, FSB, d/b/a Christiana Trust As Trustee [doc. 144] and corresponding order [doc. 146], the debtor proposes to pay $1,000 per month to class 4 general unsecured creditors. This $1,000 monthly payment is greater than the $150 monthly payment stated in the cash flow projections. Thus, the debtor's monthly expenses are $850 more than stated in his projections.

Because of these discrepancies, it does not appear that the debtor will have sufficient income to fund the Plan.

Bank of New York Mellon's Objection

Class 1 of the Plan consists of the impaired secured claim of Bank of New York Mellon/Nationstar ("BNYM"), the first priority lienholder against the debtor's residence. According to its filed proof of claim, BNYM holds a secured claim in the amount of $3,251,939.39, including prepetition arrears of $631,191. In his July 2018 monthly operating report, the debtor indicates that he has not made 13 postpetition payments to BNYM.

In the Plan, the debtor states his intent to file an adversary proceeding against BNYM, on the grounds that the debtor's loan modification never posted to his account upon its transfer from Bank of America to Nationstar. Under the Plan, the debtor will make contractual monthly mortgage payments of $10,686, plus $7,515 per month for 84 months to cure the prepetition arrearages.

On April 13, 2018, BNYM filed an objection to the Plan [doc. 133]. BNYM objects on the following grounds:

- The Plan improperly seeks to modify the right of a claim secured only by the debtor's principal residence, in violation of 11 U.S.C. § 1123(b)(5);
- If the debtor seeks to cure a default under § 1124, the cure must be completed by the Effective Date of the Plan;
- The debtor's calculation of contractual arrears does not address any post-petition arrears;
- The cure term of 84 months amounts to a de facto modification of BNYM's claim, and is neither fair nor equitable; and

- BNYM's treatment is unfair discrimination in violation of § 1123(a)(4).

The Court will overrule BNYM's objection as to § 1123(a)(4). Section 1123(a)(4) provides that a plan shall "provide the same treatment for each claim or interest of a particular class, unless the holder of a particular claim or interest agrees to a less favorable treatment of such particular claim or interest[.]. BNYM holds the only claim in class 1. As such, the Plan does not discriminate against BNYM's claim in favor of other class 1 claims.

The Court will overrule BNYM's objection as to § 1123(b)(5). Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1123(b)(5), a chapter 11 plan may "modify the rights of holders of secured claims, other than a claim secured only by a security interest in real property that is the debtor's principal residence[.]" BNYM argues that the debtor's treatment of its claim violates § 1123(b)(5). However, "cure" and "modification" are not the same. See In re Lennington, 288 B.R. 802, 805 (Bankr. C.D. Ill. 2003). Here, the debtor is not proposing to modify the terms of BNYM's mortgage. The debtor proposes to pay postpetition, contractual monthly payments pursuant to the terms of the mortgage. In addition, the debtor proposes to "cure" any arrearages by paying an additional monthly amount to BNYM over an 84-month term. As the Lennington court held, "individual Chapter 11 debtors are permitted to cure a prepetition residential mortgage arrearage in installment payments, through the Chapter 11 plan, while remaining current on their postpetition payments." Lennington, 288 B.R. at 806. As for the 84-month cure term, BNYM has not provided any authority holding that such a cure term is per se unreasonable.

The Court will sustain BNYM's objection as to the amount of postpetition arrearages owed. BNYM is correct that the debtor has not addressed any postpetition arrearages in the Plan.

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1124, a class is impaired under a plan unless the plan:

- (1) leaves unaltered the legal, equitable, and contractual rights to which such claim or interest entitles the holder of such claim or interest; or
- (2) notwithstanding any contractual provision or applicable law that entitles the holder of such claim or interest to demand or receive accelerated payment of such claim or interest after the occurrence of a default—

(A) cures any such default that occurred before or after the commencement of the case under this title, other than a default of a kind specified in section 365(b)(2) of this title or of a kind that section 365(b)(2) expressly does not require to be cured;

(B) reinstates the maturity of such claim or interest as such maturity existed before such default;

(C) compensates the holder of such claim or interest for any damages incurred as a result of any reasonable reliance by such holder on such contractual provision or such applicable law;

(D) if such claim or such interest arises from any failure to perform a nonmonetary obligation, other than a default arising from failure to operate a nonresidential real property lease subject to section 365(b)(1)(A), compensates the holder of such claim or such interest (other than the debtor or an insider) for any actual pecuniary loss incurred by such holder as a result of such failure; and

(E) does not otherwise alter the legal, equitable, or contractual rights to which such claim or interest entitles the holder of such claim or interest.

"[A]ny alteration of a creditor's rights, no matter how minor, constitutes 'impairment.'" In re Windsor on the River Assocs., Ltd., 7 F.3d 127, 130 (8th Cir. 1993). Enhancing a creditor's rights constitutes "impairment." In re L & J Anaheim Assocs., 995 F.2d 940, 943 (9th Cir. 1993). Under § 1124(2), an individual debtor may reinstate a residential mortgage and "cure" a prepetition arrearage in installment payments under a reorganization plan. "Where a Chapter 11 plan provides for the cure of a default, reinstatement of the original terms of the loan, compensation for damages, and does not otherwise alter the rights of the mortgagee, the claim of the mortgagee is unimpaired[.]" Lennington, 288 B.R. at 804. Such cure amount is determined by nonbankruptcy law. 11 U.S.C. § 1123(d).

BNYM argues that any cure under § 1124 must be completed by the effective date of a chapter 11 plan. BNYM is partially correct. The cases cited by BNYM hold that a cure under § 1124 must be completed by the effective date of the plan if the class is to be deemed "unimpaired" under the plan. In In re Tri-Growth Ctr. City, Ltd., 136 B.R. 848, 852 (Bankr. S.D. Cal. 1992), the court held "that the cure required by § 1124 must be completed by the effective date of the plan if the default rate of interest is annulled." In other words, if the full cure amount is not paid on the effective date, the claim remains impaired and is entitled to be paid any default rate of interest under the terms of the loan. In In re Schatz, 426 B.R. 24, 28 (Bankr. D.N.H. 2009), the court held that a debtor could "'cure' and 'reinstate' [a creditor's] loans under § 1123(d) over the life of the plan, but [creditor] is entitled to the default interest rate on its claim for the prepetition arrearage and is entitled to prepetition attorneys' fees, expenses, and costs related to the loans." The court in In re Jones, 32 B.R. 951, 960 (Bankr. D. Utah 1983), held that "[c]ure and compensation required by Section 1124(2) must be completed by the effective date of the plan if impairment is to be avoided."

Here, the Plan does not seek to treat BNYM's claim as unimpaired. In fact, the Plan explicitly states that class 1 is impaired and that it voted against the Plan. Accordingly, under the terms of the Plan, it does not appear that the arrearages must be paid in full on the effective date of the Plan. However, pursuant to the authority cited by BNYM, it appears that the debtor's treatment of the class 1 prepetition arrearages does not sufficiently account for any default interest rate, prepetition attorneys' fees, expenses, or costs related to BNYM's loan.

I. BACKGROUND

On April 28, 2017, Capri Coast Capital, Inc. ("Capri") filed a voluntary chapter 11 petition. On August 2, 2017, the Court entered an order granting the Debtor's motion for joint administration of its case with the cases of Ravello Ventures, Inc., Amalfi Assets, Inc., and Hampton Heights, Inc. (collectively, the "Debtors") [doc. 43]. John Kochakji ("Creditor") was not listed as a creditor in the schedules filed in each of the Debtors' cases.

On September 21, 2017, the Court entered an order setting the bar date for filing proofs of claim in the Debtors' cases (the "Bar Date Order") [doc. 108]. The Bar Date Order set December 1, 2017 as the deadline for filing proofs of claim.

On October 2, 2017, the Debtors filed and served the Notice of Bar Date for Filing Proofs of Claim in a Chapter 11 Case [LBR 3003-1] (the "Bar Date Notice") [doc. 118]. The attached proof of service does not indicate that Creditor was served with the Bar Date Notice.

On February 23, 2018, Creditor filed an action in state court against Capri and other defendants, asserting causes of action including breach of contract, failure to pay wages, retaliation, and wrongful termination (the "State Court Action"). (Doc. 335, Exh. 1.) Before filing the State Court Action, on November 30, 2016, Creditor had filed a claim with the California Labor Commission. (Doc. 335, Exh. 3, at p. 4.) On November 22, 2017, Creditor's state court counsel had sent a letter to Capri, Optimum Employer Solutions, LLC ("Optimum"), Erika Rice (the Debtors' principal), and Mary Guidry regarding recovery of civil penalties for violations of the California Labor Code. (Doc. 335, Exh. 3, at p. 9.)

On February 28, 2018, the Debtors filed a motion to approve the sale of substantially all of the Debtors' assets (the "Sale Motion") [doc. 221]. On April 5, 2018, the court entered an order granting the Sale Motion [doc. 257].

On July 14, 2018, Creditor filed a Motion to Allow Late-Filed Claim (the "Claim Allowance Motion") [doc. 335]. Creditor states that he was not listed as a creditor in the Debtors' schedules and never received the Bar Date Notice. Creditor filed the State Court Action without knowledge of the Debtors' bankruptcy filings. Creditor did not learn of the Debtors' bankruptcy filings until June 2018. Creditor argues that because he did not have notice of the bankruptcy filings or the claims bar date, due process requires that the Court allow Creditor's late-filed claim.

On July 31, 2018, the Debtors filed an opposition to the Claim Allowance Motion [doc. 351].

II. DISCUSSION

Pursuant to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure ("FRBP") 3003(b)(1):

The schedule of liabilities filed pursuant to §521(l) of the Code shall constitute prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claims of creditors, unless they are scheduled as disputed, contingent, or unliquidated. It shall not be necessary for a creditor or equity security holder to file a proof of claim or interest except as provided in subdivision (c)(2) of this rule.

FRBP 3003(c)(2) provides:

Any creditor or equity security holder whose claim or interest is not scheduled or scheduled as disputed, contingent, or unliquidated shall file a proof of claim or interest within the time prescribed by subdivision (c)(3) of this rule; any creditor who fails to do so shall not be treated as a creditor with respect to such claim for the purposes of voting and distribution.

Pursuant to FRBP 9006(b)(1):

Except as provided in paragraphs (2) and (3) of this subdivision, when an act is required or allowed to be done at or within a specified period by these rules or by a notice given thereunder or by order of court, the court for cause shown may at any time in its discretion (1) with or without motion or notice order the period enlarged if the request therefor is made before the expiration of the period originally prescribed or as extended by a previous order or (2) on motion made after the expiration of the specified period permit the act to be done where the failure to act was the result of excusable neglect.

In Pioneer Inv. Servs. Co. v. Brunswick Assocs. Ltd. P'ship, 507 U.S. 380, 389 (1993), the Supreme Court noted:

The "excusable neglect" standard of Rule 9006(b)(1) governs late filings of proofs of claim in Chapter 11 cases but not in Chapter 7 cases. The rules' differentiation between Chapter 7 and Chapter 11 filings corresponds with the differing policies of the two chapters. Whereas the aim of a Chapter 7 liquidation is the prompt closure and distribution of the debtor's estate, Chapter 11 provides for reorganization with the aim of rehabilitating the debtor and avoiding forfeitures by creditors. . . . In overseeing this latter process, the bankruptcy courts are necessarily entrusted with broad equitable powers to balance the interests of the affected parties, guided by the overriding goal of ensuring the success of the reorganization.

Id. at 389 (citations omitted). Whether neglect is excusable is an equitable determination, and considers the following factors: (1) the danger of prejudice to the debtor; (2) the length of the delay and its impact on judicial proceedings; (3) reasons for the delay, including whether the delay was within movant's reasonable control; and (4) whether the movant acted in good faith. See id. at 385.

A. Prejudice to the Debtors

Granting the Claim Allowance Motion will prejudice Debtors, who have sold substantially all their assets and are no longer a going concern. As a result, the Debtors have limited resources to defend against Creditor's claim. This factor favors denying the Claim Allowance Motion.

B. Length of Delay and Its Impact on Judicial Proceedings

On November 30, 2016, Creditor filed his claim with the California Labor Commission. On April 27, 2017, Capri filed its chapter 11 petition. On October 2, 2017, the Debtors served the Bar Date Notice, which indicated a claims bar date of December 1, 2017.

On November 22, 2017, Creditor's state court counsel mailed a letter to Capri, Optimum, Ms. Rice, and Ms. Guidry regarding recovery of civil penalties for violations of the California Labor Code. On February 23, 2018, Creditor filed the State Court Action. On July 14, 2018, Creditor filed the Claim Allowance Motion, asserting that he learned about the Debtors' bankruptcy in June 2018.

Debtors note that 20 months have elapsed since Creditor initially filed his claim with the California Labor Commission. However, Creditor appears to have acted promptly upon learning of the Debtors' bankruptcy cases. Creditor learned about the cases in June 2018, and filed the Claim Allowance Motion on July 14, 2018. In any event, the Debtors have not argued that the Creditor's delay—20 months or otherwise—has had a negative impact on judicial proceedings before this Court. As such, this factor favors granting the Claim Allowance Motion.

C. Reason for the Delay/Delay in Reasonable Control of the Movant

"Insufficient notice of the bar date may be sufficient cause to extend the bar date. . . . Due process and the Bankruptcy Rules entitle the creditor to adequate and reasonable notice of bar dates." In re First Magnus Fin. Corp., 415 B.R. 416, 422 (Bankr. D. Ariz. 2009) (citations omitted).

The debtor lists the creditors, so it is the debtor's knowledge of a creditor, not the creditor's knowledge of his claim, which controls whether the debtor has a duty to list that creditor. . . . The bankruptcy court must give formal notice of the first meeting of creditors to all creditors. Fed.R.Bankr.P. 3002. The notice must also advise of the method and deadline for filing a proof of claim. Fed.R.Bankr.P. 2002.

Levin v. Maya Const. (In re Maya Const. Co.), 78 F.3d 1395, 1398–99 (9th Cir. 1996). In Maya, the debtor did not list a certain creditor or give him any of the requisite formal notices. The Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals noted that "[t]his is significant because if a contingent creditor such as [the omitted creditor] fails to file a proof of claim within the prescribed time limit, his claims are discharged by confirmation of a reorganization plan." Id. at 1399.

In addition,

A debtor must list a creditor whose identity and claim he knows. . . . The burden is on the debtor to cause formal notice to be given; the creditor who is not given notice, even if he has actual knowledge of reorganization proceedings, does not have a duty to investigate and inject himself into the proceedings."

Id. (citation omitted).

Creditor states that he never received notice of the Debtors' bankruptcy filings. Creditor was not scheduled as a creditor in the Debtors' cases, and Creditor was not served with the Bar Date Notice. The Debtors do not dispute that Creditor never received notice of the bankruptcy filings. It appears that the reason for Creditor's delay was not in his control, because he was never served with notice of the bankruptcy filings or the claims bar date. As a result, Creditor has not been afforded due process as to Debtors' bankruptcy cases. This factor favors granting the Claim Allowance Motion.

D. Whether Movant Acted in Good Faith

In their opposition, Debtors state, "It is difficult to imagine a good faith reason for a year and a half delay in taking any action in the Debtors' bankruptcy cases." (Doc. 351, at p. 3 (emphasis in original).) Here, one need not "imagine" a good faith reason, because a good faith reason exists—as noted above, Creditor was never served with any bankruptcy notices, including the Bar Date Notice. Absent any evidence to the contrary, it appears that Creditor has acted in good faith, and took action soon after he learned of the bankruptcy filings. This factor favors granting the Claim Avoidance Motion.

III. CONCLUSION

In light of the foregoing, the Court will grant the Claim Allowance Motion.

Creditor must submit the order within seven (7) days.

I. BACKGROUND

A. *The Calabasas Property

On February 1, 2011, Stanley and Carolyn Ching (the "Chings"), Steven Nia (the "Debtor"), and Chongyi Liu executed an All-Inclusive Deed of Trust with Assignment of Rents (the "Deed of Trust") as to the real property located at 24485 Park Granada, Calabasas, CA 91302 (the "Calabasas Property"). The Chings are the beneficiaries under the Deed of Trust. The Debtor and Ms. Liu are the trustors under the Deed of Trust. (Real Property Declaration, doc. 139, Exh. A.).

On December 31, 2015, a deed transferring the Calabasas Property from the Debtor and Ms. Liu to Illusion Ventures, LLC was recorded in the Los Angeles County Recorder's Office [document no. 20151652832]. (Declaration of Alan Nahmias ("Nahmias Decl."), doc. 139, Exh. 5.)

B. *The Illusion Ventures, LLC Case

On April 10, 2017, Illusion Ventures, LLC filed a voluntary chapter 7 petition, commencing case no. 1:17-10926-VK. On April 25, 2017, the Chings filed a motion for relief from stay in the Illusion Ventures, LLC case (the "Illusion Ventures RFS Motion") [1:17-10926-VK, doc. 10]. The Chings argued that relief from stay was warranted (i) under 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1) on the grounds of bad faith; and (ii) under 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2) because there is no equity in the Calabasas Property and it is not necessary for an effective reorganization. In the Illusion Ventures RFS Motion, Movant alleged that the following additional judgment and tax liens encumber the Calabasas Property, in the total amount of $461,555.79:

Creditor	Amount	Recordation No.
Maxim Integrated Products, Inc. ("Maxim")	$182,073.62	20111427327
Buchalter Nemer, APC ("Buchalter")	$134,193.85	20131678228
Internal Revenue Service ("IRS")	$95,408.11	20140481862
Franchise Tax Board ("FTB")	$35,260.21	20140769464

(Illusion Ventures RFS Motion, at p. 9.)

On May 24, 2017, the Court held a hearing on and granted the Illusion Ventures RFS Motion. The Court posted its ruling to the Illusion Ventures, LLC case docket [1:17-10926-VK, doc. 24]. On May 31, 2017, the Court entered an order granting the Illusion Ventures RFS Motion [1:17-10926-VK, doc. 26]. A trustee's sale was scheduled for June 5, 2017.

C. The Debtor's Pending Case

On June 4, 2017, the Debtor filed the pending bankruptcy case. The Chings' counsel contacted the Debtor's counsel and stated his belief that the automatic stay did not apply to the Calabasas Property because the Debtor was not on title. (Declaration of Alan Nahmias, doc. 17, ¶ 3.) The Debtor's counsel contended that the automatic stay applied because the Debtor's name was on the loan documents and he held an equitable interest in the Calabasas Property. (Id.) The Chings found authority supporting their position. Accordingly, on June 7, 2017, the Chings proceeded with the trustee's sale. (Real Property Decl., doc. 139, Exh D.)

On June 14, 2017, the Debtor filed his schedules [doc. 10]. On his petition, the Debtor listed his residence as 17977 Medley Drive, Encino, CA 91316-4377 (the "Encino Property") and his mailing address as "23679 Calabasas Road #1020, Calabasas, CA 91302." (Doc. 1, at p. 2.)

In his Schedule A/B, the Debtor listed the Calabasas Property [erroneously identified as "24458 Park Granada"], indicating that he had an "equitable interest" in the Calabasas Property and that the Calabasas Property has a current value of $2,100,000. (Doc. 10, at p. 5.) The Debtor also claimed an exemption in the Calabasas Property in the amount of $10,000 under California Code of Civil Procedure ("C.C.P.") § 703.140(b)(5). (Id., at p. 10.) According to the Debtor, encumbering the Calabasas Property are the following secured claims, in the total amount of $1,892,000.00:

Creditor	Amount
The Chings	$100,000
Union Bank (1 st deed of trust)	$1,592,000.00
Union Bank (2 nd deed of trust)	$200,000.00

(Id., at pp. 15-16.) The Debtor also lists the following secured claims purportedly encumbering only the Encino Property:

Creditor	Amount
Maxim	$182,073.00
Buchalter	$134,193.00
IRS	$95,408.00
FTB	$35,260.00
FTB	$14,620.00

D. The First RFS Motion

On June 21, 2017, the Chings filed their first motion for relief from the automatic stay as to the Calabasas Property in this case (the "First RFS Motion") [doc. 17]. In the First RFS Motion, the Chings sought annulment of any automatic stay that was in effect at the time of the foreclosure sale, and relief from the current automatic stay to proceed with the eviction of the Debtor and any other occupants from the Calabasas Property. The Chings also requested in rem relief. On July 28, 2017, the Court entered an order denying the First RFS Motion, in light of the concurrent conversion of the Debtor's case to chapter 7 [doc. 62].

E. Conversion, Dismissal and Reinstatement, Amended Schedules, and Relief from Stay as to the Encino Property

(the "Conversion Order") [doc. 56]. The Conversion Order stated that the Debtor must comply with Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure ("FRBP") 1019.

On October 12, 2017, following the conversion of this case to chapter 7, this case was dismissed after the Debtor failed to file required documents [doc. 69]. On October 12, 2017, on the heels of that dismissal, the Debtor filed another chapter 11 case, case no. 1:17-bk-12749-VK (the "Second Chapter 11 Case").

On October 26, 2017, the United States Trustee filed a motion to vacate the dismissal of this case [doc. 73]. The Debtor opposed that motion [doc. 76]. On November 14, 2017, the Court entered an order vacating the dismissal and reinstating this case [doc. 81].

On January 3, 2018, the Debtor attended his 341(a) meeting in this case. The Debtor testified that he did not reside at the Calabasas Property when he filed this case. (Doc. 139, Exh. 1, at p. 75.)

On February 7, 2018, David Gottlieb, chapter 7 trustee (the "Trustee") filed a Motion for Order: (A) Authorizing Sale of Assets of the Debtor's Bankruptcy Estate Free and Clear of Liens, Claims and Encumbrances; (B) Approving Overbid Procedure; and (C) Approving Compromise of Controversy (the "Sale Motion") [doc. 100]. Through the Sale Motion, the Trustee sought to sell to the Chings: (i) the estate's interest in the Calabasas Property; (ii) the estate's interest in the Debtor's improper foreclosure claim against the Chings; (iii) the estate's interest in the Debtor's motion for order to show cause re: contempt filed against the the Chings on July 5, 2017; and (iv) the estate's interest in the litigation commenced by the Debtor's company against the Chings (collectively, the "Assets").

At the hearing on the Sale Motion on March 8, 2018, the Debtor was the successful overbidder, in the amount of $60,000. On March 26, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the Sale Motion and approving the sale of the Assets to the Debtor [doc. 132].

On February 12, 2018, U.S. Bank, N.A. ("U.S. Bank") filed a motion for relief from the automatic stay as to the Encino Property [doc. 106]. On March 19, 2018, the Court entered an order granting U.S. Bank's motion [doc. 128]. On May 7, 2018,

U.S. Bank foreclosed on the Encino Property. (Nahmias Decl., doc. 139, ¶ 21.)

On March 2, 2018, the Debtor filed an amended petition and schedules [doc. 113]. In the amended petition, the Debtor listed his residence address as the Calabasas Property. The Debtor also listed the value of the Calabasas Property as $2.1 million and again asserted an equitable interest in the Calabasas Property. (Doc. 113, at p. 12.) The Debtor asserted a homestead exemption in the Calabasas Property in the amount of $100,000, pursuant to California Code of Civil Procedure § 704.730. (Id., at p. 18.)

F. The Second RFS Motion

The Chings subsequently negotiated with the Debtor to resolve their various disputes, but they were unsuccessful. (Nahmias Decl., doc. 139, ¶ 18.) On May 30, 2018, the Chings filed a second motion for relief from the automatic stay as to the Calabasas Property (the "Second RFS Motion") [doc. 139] and a request for judicial notice [doc. 142]. The Chings also submitted an appraisal dated May 19, 2018, valuing the Calabasas Property at $1,750,000. (Doc. 139, Exh. E, at pp. 43–63.) The Chings sought substantially the same relief sought in the First RFS Motion. The Chings alleged that the monthly deed of trust payment on the Calabasas Property is $8,019; the Debtor had not made 24 payments and had incurred arrearages in the total amount of $192,456. (Real Property Declaration, at p. 8.) In addition, the Chings alleged that they had advanced $76,000 for unpaid property taxes as to the Calabasas Property. (Id., at p. 7.) The Chings further alleged that the Debtor's family has been residing at the Calabasas Property during this time. (Real Property Declaration, at p. 12.)

On June 7, 2018, the Debtor filed an untimely opposition [doc. 147]. The opposition was not supported by declaration or any other admissible evidence. The opposition stated:

1. The Movants allege a plethora of claims, dredging up every claim possible whether relevant or otherwise. The Court's task on this Motion is simple—whether cause exists to lift the stay.
2. The Court should not grant the Motion in that the Movants are adequately protected by not only equity but by the Debtor's family's maintenance and insuring of the property.

3. The Court should not be influenced by the many allegations of bad faith especially when unaccompanied by competent evidence. Innuendo is not a substitute for evidence. The hearing on the motion is a summary proceeding which requires limited findings.
4. The parties will continue this litigation either in the Order to Show Cause or in state court litigation. This Court should not make findings which may impair elsewhere the Debtor's legal rights.
5. If the Court is inclined to grant the Motion, the Court should limit its basis to the issue of adequate protection.

(Doc. 147, at pp. 1–2.)

On June 20, 2018, the Court held a hearing on Second RFS Motion. The Debtor's counsel appeared by telephone and requested that any relief granted be narrow based lack of equity. Counsel also reminded the Court that he had filed a motion to withdraw as counsel. Counsel read a statement by the Debtor into the record, as follows:

- The Debtor requests a continuance of the hearing;
- The Debtor intends to retain new counsel;
- The Debtor believes that another attorney would file an opposition with better arguments;
- If the motion is granted, the Court should not affect the Debtor's rights in his bankruptcy case and on appeal; and
- The Second RFS Motion should be "combined" with the Debtor's order to show cause, seeking to hold Movants liable for violating the automatic stay; a continuance of the hearing on the Second RFS Motion would preserve his rights.

Chapter 7

The Court granted the Second RFS Motion and posted its ruling to case docket (the "RFS Ruling") [doc. 155]. On June 28, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the Second RFS Motion (the "RFS Order") [doc. 158]. The RFS Ruling provided, in relevant part:

Movants have met their burden of proof as regards the Debtor's equity in the Calabasas Property. Movants have provided evidence that the Debtor transferred the Calabasas Property to Illusion Ventures, LLC on December 31, 2015. (Nahmias Decl., Exh. 5.) Because of this transfer, the Debtor does not have any equity in the Calabasas Property. Even if the transfer had not occurred, Movants have established that the Calabasas Property is overencumbered.

The Debtor has not met his burden of proof as to his alleged equitable interest in the Calabasas Property. In opposing the First RFS Motion and the Second RFS Motion, the Debtor has not provided evidence supporting this equitable interest, such as evidence of deed of trust payments on the Calabasas Property.

A review of the Fjeldsted factors shows that annulment of the automatic stay is warranted. The Illusion Ventures, LLC case was a prior, related case also affecting the Calabasas Property. In the prior case, the Court granted relief from the automatic stay to [] Movants, in part on the grounds that the Illusion Ventures, LLC case had been filed in bad faith. Here, the circumstances also indicate an intention to delay and hinder creditors. The Debtor has not made deed of trust payments or paid property taxes on the Calabasas Property for several years. In addition, the Debtor's failure to comply with his statutory obligations led to the dismissal of this chapter 7 case, prior to its reinstatement. Under the totality of the circumstances, it appears that the Debtor has not acted in good faith.

the Debtor. Accordingly, the Calabasas Property is no longer property of the estate. To the extent that the automatic stay might still apply to the Calabasas Property, cause exists to lift the automatic stay pursuant to § 362(d)(1). Movants' interest in the Calabasas Property is not adequately protected. As to the Calabasas Property, the Debtor has not made monthly deed of trust payments or paid property taxes for two years.

...

On March 26, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the Sale Motion, approving the sale of the estate's interest in the Calabasas Property to the Debtor, along with other assets, for the amount of $60,000 [doc. 132]. Thus, the Calabasas Property is presently not property of the estate. Consequently, it appears that Movants' request for relief under § 362(d)(2) is moot.

Multiple bankruptcy filings have affected the Calabasas Property. The Calabasas Property was an asset in the Illusion Ventures, LLC bankruptcy case, and the Debtor contends that it is subject to the automatic stay in this case as well.

Despite transferring the Calabasas Property to Illusion Ventures, LLC, the Debtor contends that he held an equitable interest in the Calabasas Property as of the petition date, and that Movants' foreclosure sale violated the automatic stay. However, the Debtor has yet to produce evidence of this equitable interest. Moreover, with respect to the Calabasas Property, the Debtor has not made deed of trust payments or paid property taxes for several years. Under the totality of the circumstances, the Debtor's case appears to be part of a scheme to delay, hinder, or defraud Movants that involved multiple bankruptcy filings affecting the Calabasas Property.

G. *The Motion to Withdraw

On June 13, 2018, the Debtor's counsel filed a Motion to Withdraw as Counsel for Debtor (the "Motion to Withdraw") [doc. 149]. On July 6, 2018, the Debtor's counsel filed a notice of withdrawal of the Motion to Withdraw [doc. 160].

H. *The Motion to Reconsider

On July 12, 2018, the Debtor filed a Motion for New Trial and for Reconsideration of Order Granting Motion for Relief from Automatic Stay (Real Property) (the "Motion to Reconsider") [doc. 161]. On August 8, 2018, the Chings filed a timely opposition [doc. 173]. On August 15, 2018, the Debtor filed a timely reply [doc. 179].

II. DISCUSSION

A. *Request for Judicial Notice

As an initial matter, pursuant to Federal Rule of Evidence 201(b)(2), the Court will grant the Chings' unopposed request for judicial notice of documents attached to the Request for Judicial Notice [doc. 177]. The judicially noticeable documents are copies of court records. See, e.g., Rosales-Martinez v. Palmer, 753 F.3d 890, 894 (9th Cir. 2014) ("It is well established that we may take judicial notice of judicial proceedings in other courts."); Golden Gate v. Marincovich, 286 F. 105, 106 (9th Cir. 1923) ("Every court takes judicial notice of its own records in the same case.").

B. *Rule 59

A motion for reconsideration filed within fourteen days of the entry of judgment is treated as a motion to alter or amend judgment under FRBP 9023, incorporating Federal Rule of Civil Procedure ("Rule") 59(e). Am. Ironworks & Erectors, Inc. v. N. Am. Const. Corp., 248 F.3d 892, 898–99 (9th Cir. 2001). Rule 59(e) allows for reconsideration if the court "(1) is presented with newly discovered evidence, (2) committed clear error or the initial decision was manifestly unjust, or (3) if there is an intervening change in controlling law. There may also be other, highly unusual circumstances warranting reconsideration." Sch. Dist. No. 1J, Multnomah Cnty., Or.

v. ACandS, Inc., 5 F.3d 1255, 1263 (9th Cir. 1993) (internal citation omitted).

When supplementing a Rule 59(e) motion with additional evidence, "the movant must show either that the evidence is newly discovered[, or] if the evidence was available at the time of the decision being challenged, that counsel made a diligent yet unsuccessful effort to discover the evidence." Devon Energy Prod. Co., L.P. v. Mosaic Potash Carlsbad, Inc., 693 F.3d 1195, 1213 (10th Cir. 2012) (citation and quotation omitted). A court's commission of manifest error of law or fact justifies the grant of a Rule 59(e) motion. See Turner v. Burlington N. Santa Fe R. Co., 338 F.3d 1058, 1063 (9th Cir. 2003). "The court should not grant a Rule 59(e) if the movant only wants to present new arguments or supporting facts that could have been offered initially." In re Sun Healthcare Grp., Inc., 214 F.R.D. 671, 674 (D.N.M. 2003).

Here, the Debtor filed his Motion to Reconsider within fourteen days after the entry of the RFS Order. Accordingly, the Court will treat the Motion to Reconsider as a motion to alter or amend judgment under FRBP 9023 and Rule 59(e).

C. Failure to Raise Arguments/Evidence in Opposition to the Second RFS Motion

Pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule ("LBR") 9013(f)(2), "[a] Response must be a complete written statement of all reasons in opposition thereto or in support, declarations and copies of all evidence on which the responding party intends to rely, and any responding memorandum of points and authorities."

Pursuant to LBR 9013-1(f)(3):

In a Response to a motion filed in a contested matter pursuant to FRBP 9014, the responding party must raise in that Response any objection or challenge to the bankruptcy court's authority to enter a final order on the underlying motion. The responding party must cite relevant authority and provide evidence in support of its position. The failure of the responding party to raise its objection or challenge in a Response will be deemed consent to the bankruptcy court's authority to enter a final order on the underlying motion.

In opposition to the Second RFS Motion, the Debtor filed a two-page pleading. This pleading did not cite any authority and did not attach a declaration or any other evidence in opposition to the Second RFS Motion. Accordingly, because the Debtor did not properly raise his objection or challenge in his opposition, such failure was deemed consent to the Court's authority to enter a final order on the Second RFS Motion, pursuant to LBR 9013-1(f)(3).

At the hearing on the Second RFS Motion, counsel for the Debtor requested a continuance, in part because counsel had filed the Motion to Withdraw and the Debtor sought additional time to obtain new counsel. However, after the hearing, counsel withdrew the Motion to Withdraw on July 6, 2018. On July 12, 2018, the Motion to Reconsider followed.

In support of the Motion to Reconsider, the Debtor's counsel attests that he was out of state on business travel during much of the seven-day period to oppose the RFS Motion, and the opposition was due when counsel was preparing witnesses for and conducting a trial. The Debtor attests that he was traveling overseas when his opposition to the Second RFS Motion was due. Such travel made it difficult to communicate with his counsel during this time. Because of these communication difficulties, the Debtor could not file a timely opposition.

However, at the hearing on the Second RFS Motion, neither the Debtor nor his counsel stated that travel or other obligations prevented the timely filing of an adequate opposition. Instead, the Debtor acknowledged that the Motion to Withdraw was pending and informed the Court that he would be seeking new counsel.

As noted above, a Rule 59(e) motion should not be granted if the movant seeks only to present new arguments or supporting facts that could have been offered initially. Sun Healthcare, 214 F.R.D. at 674. Nearly all of the arguments and facts addressed in the Motion to Reconsider could have been—and should have been—initially offered in opposition to the Second RFS Motion. In effect, the Debtor is using the Motion to Reconsider to remedy his prior failure to file an adequate opposition to the Second RFS Motion. As such, the Motion to Reconsider is not appropriate under Rule 59(e).

reconsideration of the RFS Order. In the Motion to Reconsider, the Debtor argues that the Court made errors of fact in granting relief under §§ 362(d)(1) and (d)(2).

1. The Debtor's Equitable Interest in the Calabasas Property

In the RFS Ruling, the Court determined that the Debtor did not have equity in the Calabasas Property because, prepetition, he had transferred his interest in the Calabasas Property to Illusion Ventures prepetition. The Court also acknowledged the Debtor's assertion that he held an equitable interest in the Calabasas Property. Contrary to the Court's determination, the Debtor argues that the holder of an equitable interest in real property can enjoy equity in that real property. According to the Debtor, the Court erred because it did not apply a test to determine whether the Debtor had such an equitable interest.

In In re Cocke, 371 B.R. 554 (Bankr. M.D. Fla. 2007), the debtors listed an interest in real property that was held in a revocable trust. The debtors were listed in the trust documents as beneficiaries of the trust, along with other individuals. The bankruptcy court sustained the chapter 7 trustee's objection to the debtors' homestead exemption in the real property, on the grounds that based on the express language of the trust, the debtors did not own any beneficial or equitable interest in the real property. The district court reversed and remanded, instructing the bankruptcy court to determine (i) whether the debtors had a legal or equitable interest which gave them the legal right to use and possess the real property as a residence; (ii) whether the debtors had the intention of making the real property their homestead; and (iii) whether the Debtors actually maintain the real property as their principal residence.. On remand, the bankruptcy court determined that because the trust was revocable, the debtors had a sufficient equitable interest in the real property to claim a homestead exemption.

Cocke is distinguishable from the pending case. In Cocke, the "test" to whether an equitable interest exists was tailored to the facts of that case. The bankruptcy court was instructed to determine the extent of the debtors' interest in the real property, their intent in making the real property their homestead, and whether the debtors maintained the real property as their principal residence. Here, the Debtor states, without supporting evidence, that he and his family have a right to use and to possess the Calabasas Property by agreement with Illusion Ventures. (Declaration of Steven Nia ("Nia Decl."), doc. 161-1, ¶ 10.) The Debtor also admits that he resided at the Encino Property on the petition date, but he subsequently amended his schedules to indicate that he now resides at the Calabasas Property. Based on his alleged residence at the Calabasas Property, the Debtor asserted a homestead exemption in the Calabasas Property in the amount of $100,000, pursuant to California Code of Civil Procedure § 704.730. (Doc. 113, at p. 18.)

It is not clear that the Debtor is entitled to claim this homestead exemption. "Pursuant to California law, the factors a court should consider in determining residency for homestead purposes are physical occupancy of the property and the intention with which the property is occupied." Kelley v. Locke (In re Kelley), 300 B.R. 11, 21 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 2003). In Kelley, the Bankruptcy Appellate Panel for the Ninth Circuit found that a debtor was not entitled to claim a homestead exemption in a real property because (i) he did not reside in the real property on the petition date; and (ii) he had no intent of making the real property his residence. Here, the Debtor admits that he resided at the Encino Property on the petition date. Based on his amended schedules, the Debtor appears to have an intent of residing in the Calabasas Property.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Debtor has not provided evidence of any agreement with Illusion Ventures allowing him the use and possession of the Calabasas Property. Apart from his statement that he has paid the Chings $486,000 over the years, the Debtor has not provided any evidence of such payments that might give rise to an equitable interest. (Nia Decl., ¶ 6.)

Accordingly, the Court's prior ruling was not based on an error of fact, but on the Debtor's lack of evidence for such equitable interest. In his Motion to Reconsider, the Debtor still has not presented sufficient evidence of such equitable interest. Even if such evidence existed, the Debtor cannot argue that such evidence, if any, was unavailable before the hearing on the Second RFS Motion.

2. *Equity in the Calabasas Property

In addition, the Debtor argues that the Court erred when it determined there was no equity in the Calabasas Property. In support of the Motion to Reconsider, the Debtor attaches a recent appraisal valuing the Calabasas Property at $2.2 million. (Doc. 161, Exh. D.)

However, in the RFS Ruling, the Court did not make a finding as to equity in the Calabasas Property. In granting relief under § 362(d)(1), the Court noted that the Trustee sold the estate's interest in the Calabasas Property to the Debtor, and therefore the Calabasas Property was no longer property of the estate. To the extent that the automatic stay still applies, the Chings' interest in the Calabasas Property was not adequately protected, because the Debtor had not made monthly deed of trust payments or paid property taxes for two years. As for relief under § 362(d)(2), such relief was moot in light of the Sale Motion, and because the Calabasas Property no longer appeared to be property of the estate.

Accordingly, because the Court did not address the lack of equity in the RFS Ruling, it does not appear that the Court erred with respect to the equity in the Calabasas Property.

E. Alleged Errors of Fact in Granting Relief Under § 362(d)(4)

In the Motion to Reconsider, the Debtor also argues that the Court made errors of fact in granting relief under § 362(d)(4).

1. Multiple Filings Affecting the Calabasas Property

The Debtor admits that multiple filings have affected the Calabasas Property. In the Motion to Reconsider, the Debtor argues that each of the filings had a different "purpose." The Illusion Ventures case and the pending case were allegedly filed to resolve problems concerning the Calabasas Property. In the Second Chapter 11 Case, the Debtor listed the Calabasas Property in his schedules, but he filed the Second Chapter 11 Case to halt foreclosure on the Encino Property, not the Calabasas Property. The record reflects that the Illusion Ventures case and the pending case were both filed to halt trustee's sales scheduled for the Calabasas Property.

Based on this record, it appears that there were multiple bankruptcy filings affecting the Calabasas Property. In the RFS Ruling, the Court found that these multiple filings were part of a scheme to delay, hinder, or defraud the Chings. Because of the filings, the Chings have been delayed and hindered from exercising their rights as to the Calabasas Property. Accordingly, there was no error regarding the nature of these prior filings.

2. Equitable Interest in the Calabasas Property

Chapter 7

As noted above, the Debtor did not provide evidence of his equitable interest in the Calabasas Property in opposition to the Second RFS Motion. Aside from remarks in his latest declaration regarding amounts paid to the Chings over the years and his state court actions against the Chings, the Debtor still has not provided sufficient evidence of any equitable interest.

3. *The Debtor's Failure to Comply with Statutory Duties

The Debtor disputes the Court's finding that he failed to comply with statutory duties. The Debtor contends that he cured any minor deficiencies in his case commencement documents by the applicable deadlines. However, the Debtor's failure to comply with statutory duties arose from the Conversion Order, which directed the Debtor to comply with FRBP 1019. FRBP 1019 provides for deadlines to file certain documents upon conversion of a reorganization case to a chapter 7 case. Because the Debtor did not file such documents, the pending case was dismissed. Accordingly, the Court did not err when citing the Debtor's failure to comply with statutory duties as grounds for relief under § 362(d)(4).

4. *The Court's Alleged Reliance on Matters Outside the Record

The Debtor also alleges that the Court "went beyond the record to consider some selected documents in this case and in other cases" to support its ruling under § 362(d)(4). However, the Debtor does not identify what documents were "beyond the record" or what documents the Court inappropriately considered in its RFS Ruling. Accordingly, the Court cannot determine whether it erred in the evidence it considered.

F. *Alleged Errors in Granting Annulment of the Automatic Stay

The Debtor argues that in issuing the RFS Ruling, the Court exceeded the scope of a motion for relief from stay, which is a summary proceeding that requires a court to "make only the minimum rulings necessary." (Doc. 161, at p. 12.) However, in the Central District of California, the mandatory relief from stay motion forms allow movants to select "annulment" as a form of relief. Courts in this district routinely grant annulment if the facts of the case support annulment of the automatic stay. The Debtor provides no authority that the Court improperly exceeded its authority to grant annulment.

The Debtor is correct that the Court did not grant relief from the automatic stay in the Illusion Ventures case on the grounds of bad faith. The Debtor is also correct that the Court's statement in the RFS Ruling—that the Debtor had not paid his obligations on the Calabasas Property "for several years"—is not consistent with statements elsewhere in the RFS Ruling that the Debtor had not made at least 24 deed of trust or property tax payments as to the Calabasas Property.

Notwithstanding the above, such errors appear to be harmless. It is true that the Court did not find that the Illusion Ventures case was filed in bad faith. However, the lack of a bad faith finding in the Illusion Ventures case does not preclude a finding of bad faith in the pending case under the totality of circumstances, that would support annulment of the automatic stay.

Similarly, the Court notes that the inadvertent use of the word "several" does not alter the result of the RFS Ruling. Whether 24 months or several years, the fact remains that the Debtor did not pay his obligations on the Calabasas Property for at least 24 months. Here, the Court found that such delinquent payments were sufficient grounds for relief from, and annulment of, the automatic stay in the Debtor's case as to the Calabasas Property.

G. Contradiction re: Amounts the Chings Are Owed

Finally, the Debtor argues that the Second RFS Motion contained inconsistencies in the amount of the Chings' asserted debt. The Chings stated that they are owed $190,000 in payments, plus $72,000 for property tax advances, for an approximate total of $262,000. (Doc. 141, at p. 5.) In Mr. Ching's declaration, he states that the Chings are owed $619,028. (Doc. 139, at p. 7.)

However, the Chings note that the $192,000 stated in its memorandum of points and authorities was not intended to represent the full amount owed, which is $619,028. Accordingly, there does not appear to be any contradiction regarding the amount owed to the Chings.

Tentative Ruling:

This case was dismissed on August 6, 2018. Grant relief from stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(4).

Movant (and any successors or assigns) may proceed under applicable nonbankruptcy law to enforce its remedies to foreclose upon and obtain possession of the property.

If recorded in compliance with applicable state laws governing notices of interests or liens in real property, the order is binding in any other case under this title purporting to affect the property filed not later than 2 years after the date of the entry of the order by the court, except that a debtor in a subsequent case under this title may move for relief from the order based upon changed circumstances or for good cause shown, after notice and hearing.

The 14-day stay prescribed by FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived.

Movant must submit the order within seven (7) days.

Note: No response has been filed. Accordingly, no court appearance by movant is required. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the Court will determine whether further hearing is required and movant will be so notified.

Docket 1

Judge:

- NONE LISTED -

Tentative Ruling:

Contrary to Local Bankruptcy Rule ("LBR") 7016-1(c), it appears the plaintiff did not send the defendant a proposed joint pretrial stipulation "not later than 4:00 p.m. on the 7th day prior to the last day for filing... the proposed pretrial stipulation." Here, the deadline to file a joint pretrial stipulation was August 13, 2018. As such, pursuant to LBR 7016-1(c), the plaintiff had an obligation to ensure that the defendant received a proposed joint pretrial stipulation not later than 4:00 p.m. on August 6, 2018. The emails between the plaintiff and the defendant [doc. 37] indicate that the plaintiff did not send the proposed joint pretrial stipulation to the defendant until August 13, 2018. As a result, the defendant has not had a meaningful opportunity to review the proposed joint pretrial stipulation (the "JPS") [doc. 36].

In the JPS, the parties indicate that they do not dispute any of the pertinent facts (under Section I of the JPS). Does the defendant dispute any of the facts in paragraphs 1-70 of Section I? The defendant should review these facts and indicate whether he agrees or disagrees with the facts. To the extent the defendant disagrees, or has additional facts that are not included in this section, the defendant should write down his version of facts under Section II of the JPS.

Moreover, under Section III of the JPS, the parties indicate that the Court will adjudicate the defendant's liability under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(B). However, the plaintiff did not include a claim under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(B) in the complaint. The plaintiff included only a claim under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(A). Consequently, the Court will strike 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(B) as an issue of law for trial.

Further, the defendant has not provided an exhibit list. Does the defendant intend to offer any exhibits at trial? If so, the defendant must provide a list of the exhibits he intends to use at trial and describe each exhibit in detail.

The parties also indicate that discovery is not complete and that the parties anticipate settlement discussions. Aside from the issues discussed in the plaintiff's motion to compel, do the parties anticipate additional discovery? If the parties envision engaging in settlement discussions, are the parties willing to attend mediation?

The Court will continue this pretrial conference to 2:30 p.m. on September 5, 2018, to be held with the continued hearing on the plaintiff's motion to compel. No later than August 29, 2018, the parties must file a revised joint pretrial stipulation conforming to the instructions above. Prior to that date, the defendant must review the current JPS [doc. 36] and propose any changes to the plaintiff by August 27, 2018.

Appearances are not excused, and the parties must appear in person, or by phone, on August 22, 2018.

Grant.

I. BACKGROUND

On August 1, 2016, Mahshid Loghmani and Mohsen Loghmani ("Defendants") filed a voluntary chapter 7 petition.

On November 1, 2016, Tessie Cleveland Community Services Corp. ("Plaintiff") filed a complaint against Defendants, initiating this adversary proceeding. On October 27, 2017, Plaintiff filed the first amended complaint (the "FAC"), requesting a denial of Defendants' discharge under 11 U.S.C. § 727(a)(2), (a)(3), (a)(4) and (a)(5) and nondischargeability of the debt owed to it under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(A), (a)(6) and (a)(10).

On November 17, 2017, Plaintiff filed a motion for summary judgment (the "MSJ") [doc. 33]. On February 22, 2018, the Court entered a ruling on the MSJ [doc. 47], holding that the Court will enter judgment on Plaintiff's claims under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(A) and (a)(10) as to Mr. Loghmani, but will not enter judgment on Plaintiff's remaining claims under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(A) or on Plaintiff's claim under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(6). On April 16, 2018, the Court entered a judgment against Mr. Loghmani under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(A) and (a)(10) [doc. 52].

On May 23, 2018, the parties filed a joint pretrial stipulation (the "JPS") [doc. 57]. In the JPS, the parties agreed that the Court would only adjudicate Plaintiff's claims under 11 U.S.C. § 727(a)(2), (a)(3) and (a)(4)(A) at trial. Specifically, the parties agreed that the following issues would be tried: (A) whether Defendants, with intent to hinder, delay or defraud a creditor or an officer of the estate, transferred, removed, destroyed, mutilated or concealed property of the debtor within one year before the petition date or property of the estate after the petition date; (B) whether Defendants concealed, destroyed, mutilated, falsified, or failed to keep or preserve any recorded information from which Defendants' financial condition or business transactions might be ascertained; and (C) whether Defendants knowingly and fraudulently, in or in connection with their bankruptcy case, made a false oath or account.

On July 20, 2018, Defendants filed their witness list and their exhibit list ("Defendants' Exhibit List") [doc. 64]. On August 6, 2018, the Court entered an order approving the JPS [doc. 71].

On July 23, 2018, Plaintiff filed a motion in limine (the "Motion") [doc. 65] to exclude exhibits 105 through 109 (the "Subject Exhibits"). Exhibit 105 relates to the death of Moses Chadwick, who co-founded Plaintiff and served as its first Executive Director. The remaining exhibits relate to misconduct allegations against James J. Little, who represented Plaintiff in state court, and an online memorial for Mr. Little. Plaintiff objects to the Subject Exhibits on the basis that the Subject Exhibits are irrelevant. Defendants have not timely filed a response to the Motion.

II. ANALYSIS

Pursuant to Federal Rule of Evidence 401--

Evidence is relevant if—

- (a) it has any tendency to make a fact more or less probable than it would be without the evidence; and
- (b) the fact is of consequence in determining the action.

Pursuant to Federal Rule of Evidence 402, "[i]rrelevant evidence is not admissible." See also Boyd v. City & Cty. of San Francisco, 576 F.3d 938, 943 (9th Cir. 2009) ("Only relevant evidence... is admissible in federal court.").

Chapter 7

Here, the Subject Exhibits bear no relevance to Plaintiff's claims under 11 U.S.C. § 727, which involve allegations about Defendants' conduct with respect to their assets and records and alleged false oaths made by Defendants. It is unclear how the deaths of Mr. Chadwick and Mr. Little or the allegations of misconduct against Mr. Little have any relevance to whether Defendants violated any of the subsections of 11 U.S.C. § 727. Moreover, Defendants did not file a response to the Motion articulating any reason why the Subject Exhibits either tend to make a fact more or less probable or are of any consequence in determining this action. As a result, the Court will exclude the Subject Exhibits from being introduced at trial.

III. CONCLUSION

The Court will grant the Motion and exclude the Subject Exhibits from being introduced at trial.

Plaintiff must submit an order within seven (7) days.

Note: No response has been filed. Accordingly, no court appearance by movant is required. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the Court will determine whether further hearing is required and movant will be so notified.

I. BACKGROUND

A. Prepetition Events

On January 27, 2016, the Marc W. Wurzel and Doris A. Wurzel Trust (the "Trust") entered into a commercial lease agreement with Amir Yarkoni dba HD World Equipment ("HD World") to lease the real property located at 8083 San Fernando Road, Sun Valley, CA 91352 (the "Sun Valley Property"). Declaration of Marc Wurzel ("Wurzel Declaration"), ¶ 2, Exhibit 2. An individual named Amir Yarkoni completed the rental application to secure the lease (the "Rental Application") on behalf of HD World. Wurzel Declaration, ¶ 3, Exhibit 1. In the Rental Application, Mr. Yarkoni indicated that an individual named Paz Z. Kanon ("Paz") held a 25% ownership interest in HD World. Id.

On October 11, 2016, the Trust sent Mr. Yarkoni, HD World and Paz a Three-Day Notice to Pay Rent or Quit. Wurzel Declaration, ¶ 4, Exhibit 4. On October 27, 2016, the Trust filed an unlawful detainer complaint against Mr. Yarkoni and HD World. Wurzel Declaration, ¶ 5, Exhibit 5. On November 18, 2016, the Trust filed an unlawful detainer action against Ziv Kanon ("Debtor"), Mr. Yarkoni, Paz and HD World. Wurzel Declaration, ¶ 5, Exhibit 6.

On March 15, 2017, Marc W. Wurzel, on the one hand, and Debtor, Paz (who is listed as an "aka" of Debtor) and Dorit Kanon, on the other hand, executed the Unlawful Detainer Stipulation and Judgment (the "March Stipulation and Judgment"). Wurzel Declaration, ¶ 6, Exhibit 7. In the March Stipulation and Judgment, the parties agreed to enter judgment against the defendants, including Debtor, in the amount of $36,882. Id. In relevant part, the March Stipulation and Judgment provided that Mr. Wurzel was awarded possession of the Sun Valley Property and that the defendants, including Debtor, forfeited their rights under the commercial lease agreement. Id. The parties also agreed to the following in the March Stipulation and Judgment:

Any items left on premises have zero value + may be disposed of by landlord. No actions will be taken that delay lockout.

Lockout will be stayed, pending the following...payments. [The defendants] to pay in certified funds $5,100 on or before 3/24/17, by 12:00 noon- will stay lockout [until] 4/15/17. Another $5,100 by 3/31/17 by noon will stay lockout [until] 5/15/17. There will be no further stays and these payments in no way re-instate tenancy are done solely in consideration of providing tenants time to relocate. Payments made to Wurzel Family Trust.

Id. Subsequently, the parties agreed to a second stay of the lockout through August 15, 2017 (the "May UD Stipulation"). Wurzel Declaration, ¶ 8, Exhibit 10. In relevant part, the May UD Stipulation provided that, aside from making the payments outlined above, Debtor and Ms. Kanon (collectively, the "Kanons") would "[r]emove all inventory, machinery, personal property and trash from the premises, regardless of ownership, by August 10, 2017." Id. The May UD Stipulation also included the following language:

This stay is being agreed to by plaintiff as an accommodation to defendants and without prejudice to plaintiff's position. Defendants agree to and will not file any documents that would delay or hamper the enforcement of this unlawful detainer judgment, including but not

Id. The May UD Stipulation was signed by Debtor "aka Paz Kanon" and Ms. Kanon.

On October 5, 2017, the parties entered into a third unlawful detainer stipulation (the "October UD Stipulation"). Wurzel Declaration, ¶ 10, Exhibit 11. In the October UD Stipulation, the parties agreed that the prior March Stipulation and Judgment "stands as previously entered," but that Mr. Wurzel would agree to a further stay of the lockout until February 15, 2018. Id. The parties also agreed that "Defendant(s) rights under [the] lease or rental agreement are forfeited" and that "Plaintiff is awarded possession of the [Sun Valley Property]." Id. Moreover, the October UD Stipulation provided:

Anything left behind after moveout will belong to Plaintiff and may be disposed of without notice. No actions will be taken to delay the lockout. Any judgment not already obtained on this case will remain unaffected.

This does not reinstate the tenancy.

Id. The Kanons apparently did not move out by February 15, 2018. As such, on February 21, 2018, at 8:30 a.m., the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department evicted the Kanons from the Sun Valley Property. Wurzel Declaration, ¶ 11, Exhibit 12.

B. Debtor's Bankruptcy Case and the Adversary Proceeding

On February 21, 2018, at 12:42 p.m., Debtor filed a chapter 13 petition. On March 20, 2018, Debtor filed a motion for turnover in the bankruptcy case (the "Motion for Turnover") [Bankruptcy Docket, doc. 20], asking that Mr. Wurzel, Ms. Wurzel and the Trust (collectively, the "Wurzels") turn over equipment left on the Sun Valley Property (the "Equipment") to the estate. Debtor attached the March Stipulation and Judgment as well as the October UD Stipulation to the Motion for Turnover.

The Wurzels opposed the Motion for Turnover [Bankruptcy Docket, doc. 29]. On April 10, 2018, the Court held a hearing on the Motion for Turnover. At that time, the Court issued a ruling (the "Turnover Ruling") [Bankruptcy Docket, doc. 30], finding that the Motion for Turnover was procedurally improper because, pursuant to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 7001(1), Debtor should have requested turnover through an adversary proceeding. The Court also held that, even if the request was procedurally proper, requests for turnover are inappropriate where there is a dispute over the ownership of the subject property. The Court found that "[h]ere, the parties dispute the ownership of the Equipment at the time Debtor filed the petition, and it is not evident that Debtor currently has an interest in the Equipment." Turnover Ruling, p. 3. On April 24, 2018, the Court entered an order denying the Motion for Turnover [Bankruptcy Docket, doc. 38].

On April 18, 2018, the Wurzels filed a motion for relief from the automatic stay (the "RFS Motion") [Bankruptcy Docket, doc. 34]. On May 9, 2018, the Court held a hearing on the RFS Motion. At that time, the Court issued a ruling (the "RFS Ruling") [doc. 49] denying the RFS Motion as moot because, under 11 U.S.C. § 362(c)(3), the automatic stay terminated on March 22, 2018. The Court held that the Wurzels were "free to proceed with the unlawful detainer action against Debtor." RFS Ruling, p. 3. On June 15, 2018, the Court entered an order denying the RFS Motion as moot and reaffirming that the automatic stay was previously terminated [doc. 54].

On May 4, 2018, Debtor filed a complaint against the Wurzels (the "Complaint"). In the Complaint, Debtor alleges that, at the time of the lockout, Debtor had "over 200 units of machinery, equipment, tools, parts, supplies, personal supplies and business records" at the Sun Valley Property and that the Wurzels have refused to allow Debtor to access the Equipment to the detriment of Debtor and Debtor's creditors. Complaint, ¶¶ 14-15. In light of these allegations, Debtor requests turnover of the Equipment to the estate.

In May 2018, four non-debtor parties initiated complaints in state court asserting an interest in the Equipment. Wurzel Declaration, ¶ 13, Exhibit 18. On May 18, 2018, Paz Kanon filed a complaint against the Wurzels; on May 22, 2018, Ms. Kanon filed a complaint against the Wurzels; on May 25, 2018, Harry Babadjanian filed a complaint against the Wurzels; and, on the same day, Richard Lee Welsh filed a complaint against the Wurzels. Id.

On June 4, 2018, the Wurzels filed a motion to dismiss the Complaint (the "Motion") [doc. 5], requesting that the Complaint be dismissed for failure to state a claim or, in the alternative, that the Court abstain from this proceeding or, in the alternative, that the Court stay this proceeding until the state court resolves all of the issues surrounding the Equipment. On August 8, 2018, Debtor filed an opposition to the Motion (the "Opposition") [doc. 12]. In the Opposition, Debtor asserts that the language in the March Stipulation and Judgment does not confer possession of the Equipment onto the Wurzels and that Debtor's claim for turnover automatically brings the issue of ownership of the Equipment within the purview of this Court, citing In re Kincaid, 917 F.2d 1162, 1165 (9th Cir. 1990). Debtor also opposes abstention or a stay of this proceeding. On August 15, 2018, the Wurzels filed a reply to the Opposition [doc. 14].

II. ANALYSIS

A. Federal Rule of Civil Procedure ("Rule") 12(b)(6)

A motion to dismiss [pursuant to Rule 12(b)(6)] will only be granted if the complaint fails to allege enough facts to state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face. A claim has facial plausibility when the plaintiff pleads factual content that allows the court to draw the reasonable inference that the defendant is liable for the misconduct alleged. The plausibility standard is not akin to a probability requirement, but it asks for more than a sheer possibility that a defendant has acted unlawfully.

We accept factual allegations in the complaint as true and construe the pleadings in the light most favorable to the non-moving party. Although factual allegations are taken as true, we do not assume the truth of legal conclusions merely because they are cast in the form of factual allegations. Therefore, conclusory allegations of law and unwarranted inferences are insufficient to defeat a motion to dismiss.

In evaluating a Rule 12(b)(6) motion, review is "limited to the contents of the complaint." Clegg v. Cult Awareness Network, 18 F.3d 752, 754 (9th Cir. 1994). However, without converting the motion to one for summary judgment, exhibits attached to the complaint, as well as matters of public record, may be considered in determining whether dismissal is proper. See Parks School of Business, Inc. v. Symington, 51 F.3d 1480, 1484 (9th Cir. 1995); Mack v. South Bay Beer Distributors, Inc., 798 F.2d 1279, 1282 (9th Cir. 1986). "A court may [also] consider certain materials—documents attached to the complaint, documents incorporated by reference in the complaint, or matters of judicial notice—without converting the motion to dismiss into a motion for summary judgment." United States v. Ritchie, 342 F.3d 903, 908 (9th Cir. 2003). State court pleadings, orders and judgments are subject to judicial notice under Federal Rule of Evidence 201. See McVey v. Visa USA, Inc., 442 F.3d 742, 746 n.6 (9th Cir. 2006) ("We may take judicial notice of court filings and other matters of public record.").

Dismissal without leave to amend is appropriate when the court is satisfied that the deficiencies in the complaint could not possibly be cured by amendment. Jackson v. Carey, 353 F.3d 750, 758 (9th Cir. 2003); Lopez v. Smith, 203 F.3d 1122, 1127 (9th Cir. 2000).

section, all legal or equitable interests of the debtor in property as of the commencement of the case.

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 542—

- (a) Except as provided in subsection (c) or (d) of this section, an entity, other than a custodian, in possession, custody, or control, during the case, of property that the trustee may use, sell, or lease under section 363 of this title, or that the debtor may exempt under 522 of this title, shall deliver to the trustee, and account for, such property or the value of such property, unless such property is of inconsequential value or benefit to the estate.

"A turnover proceeding is 'not intended as a remedy to determine the disputed rights of parties to property; rather it is intended as the remedy to obtain what is acknowledged to be property of the bankruptcy estate.'" In re Century City Doctors Hosp., LLC, 466 B.R. 1, 19 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2012) (quoting Lauria v. Titan Sec. Ltd., 243 B.R. 705, 708 (Bankr. N.D. Ill. 2000)). The Bankruptcy Appellate Panel of the Ninth Circuit (the "BAP") has addressed the tactic of using turnover motions to litigate non-core proceedings:

Despite [movant's] attempts to frame the issues herein as core, we find that the claims are noncore. It is undisputed that the underlying action is a breach of contract action. The adversary proceeding filed by [movant] entitled "Complaint for turnover of property, accounting, breach of contract, conversion, and breach of fiduciary duty," includes claims for relief for only one potential core issue—turnover of property pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 542(b). However, turnover proceedings involve return of undisputed funds. Here, the amounts, if any...are in dispute and this dispute rests on breach of contract issues. In fact, [movant] made a prepetition demand for arbitration of the dispute, described at that time as breach of contract and accounting causes of action. Breach of contract actions are noncore claims.

Here, Debtor has not established a claim for relief under Rule 12(b)(6). In the Complaint, Debtor provides conclusory allegations regarding ownership of the Equipment. The Complaint does not include any allegations regarding the nature of Debtor's interest, if any, in the Equipment. For instance, Debtor alleges that "as of the Petition Date... [Debtor] had a legal and/or equitable interest in the [Equipment]...." Complaint, ¶ 18. However, Debtor does not include any allegations specifying the nature and extent of any "legal and/or equitable" interest. As a result, the Complaint is insufficient on its face.

Even if the Court treated the allegations in the Complaint as sufficient, the allegations are belied by the March Stipulation and Judgment, the May UD Stipulation and the October UD Stipulation, as well as by the four complaints filed in state court by non-debtor parties (assuming Paz Kanon is a nondebtor party). Generally, for purposes of a motion to dismiss under Rule 12(b)(6), the Court considers the four corners of a complaint. Certainly, Debtor has taken great pains to exclude any mention of the state court filings in the Complaint. However, the Court is free to take judicial notice of state court filings. Federal Rule of Evidence 201(b).

The March Stipulation and Judgment explicitly terminated any interest Debtor had in the commercial lease. Significantly, the parties agreed to and the state court approved the following language in the March Stipulation and Judgment: "Any items left on premises have zero value + may be disposed of by landlord." Wurzel Declaration, ¶ 6, Exhibit 7. In the May UD Stipulation, Debtor agreed to "[r]emove all inventory, machinery, personal property and trash from the premises, regardless of ownership, by August 10, 2017." Wurzel Declaration, ¶ 8, Exhibit 10. In the October UD Stipulation, which reaffirmed that the March Stipulation and Judgment remained in effect, Debtor agreed that "[a]nything left behind after moveout will belong to [the Wurzels] and may be disposed of without notice." Wurzel Declaration, ¶ 10, Exhibit 11. These documents, which are public record and subject to judicial notice, contradict the conclusory allegation in the Complaint that Debtor had an interest in the Equipment as of the petition date.

As noted above and previously explained by the Court in the Turnover Ruling, a turnover proceeding is not intended to adjudicate the property rights of parties. Rather, a turnover proceeding is intended to bring into the estate property which is already established as property of the estate. Debtor's reliance on Kincaid, 917 F.2d at 1165, is misplaced. There, in response to a motion for turnover by the chapter 7 trustee, a plan administrator holding life insurance contributions refused to turn over the funds on the basis that any interest the debtor had in the subject funds had not matured and that any interest the estate had in the funds constituted an action to collect a future debt. Kincaid, 917 F.2d at 1164-65. The Court of Appeals held that the administrator mischaracterized the action because the plan documents established that the debtor had a present, vested interest in the subject funds. Id., at 1165. As noted by the Court of Appeals:

The Plan contains no provision by which Kincaid's interest could ever be distributed to other employees or revert to the employer. The administrator itself has no personal title to Kincaid's interest in the Plan. Instead, the money is merely being held in trust by the administrator on Kincaid's behalf. Thus, the trustee's action to obtain that interest is quite simply a proceeding to force the administrator to turn over something that belongs to the debtor.

Id. Here, Debtor does not have an established interest in the Equipment. On the contrary, in addition to the Wurzels' claim of an interest in the Equipment by operation of the state court stipulations and judgment, there are several nondebtor parties asserting an interest in the Equipment. Wurzel Declaration, ¶ 13, Exhibit 18. There is an active dispute as to ownership of the Equipment and, as a result, Debtor is not entitled to turnover of the Equipment.

Notably, Debtor is not asking this Court to determine ownership of the Equipment. As it stands, the Complaint presumes that Debtor owns the Equipment and requests only turnover. Debtor has not asserted other claims that would require an adjudication of the parties' respective interests, if any, in the Equipment. As such, the Court's dismissal of the Complaint will not have any effect on the parties' state court litigation regarding ownership of the Equipment. The Court having confirmed in the RFS Ruling that the automatic stay has terminated, the parties are free to prosecute the issue of ownership in state court. Given the allegations in the Complaint, that issue is not before the Court in this adversary proceeding. The only issue being turnover, and the Complaint having failed to sufficiently plead a claim for turnover, the Court will dismiss the Complaint. In the future, should the state court find that Debtor has an interest in all or part of the Equipment, Debtor may request turnover.

C. Abstention or a Stay

Because the Court will dismiss the Complaint, the Wurzels' request for abstention is moot. Even if the Court did not dismiss the Complaint and elected to, for example, stay the adversary proceeding, abstention is not warranted here. As mentioned above, the issues to be decided by the state court are different from Debtor's turnover claim. The state court will adjudicate the various ownership claims asserted by the Wurzels, the Kanons and other third parties. The issue before this Court is different. This Court is not deciding which party has which interest in the Equipment; rather, once there are established interests in the Equipment, this Court may adjudicate whether the Equipment should be turned over to the estate.

Once again, the Complaint presumes ownership of the Equipment and seeks only turnover of the same. The issues regarding interpretation of the state court stipulations and judgment and any other claims the Kanons and the Wurzels may have as to the Equipment and as against each other are not before this Court. This Court also is not presented with the issues raised by the multiple third parties who have filed state court complaints asserting an interest in the Equipment. Those issues are properly before the state court and should be adjudicated by the state court. Because those issues are not before this Court, this Court would not need to "abstain" from this proceeding even if the Court was not dismissing the Complaint. In any case, at this time, the issue of abstention is moot because the Court is dismissing the Complaint. Finally, because the Court will dismiss the Complaint, the Wurzels' request to stay the adversary proceeding is moot.

III. CONCLUSION

The Court will dismiss the Complaint. Debtor may renew his request for turnover if Debtor obtains a final judgment holding that Debtor had an interest in the Equipment as of the petition date.

The Wurzels must submit an order within seven (7) days.

Judge:

For the reasons set forth below, the Court will enter judgment under 11 U.S.C. §§ 523(a)(2)(A), (a)(2)(B), (a)(4), and (a)(6) in favor of Ernest Charles Barreca ("Defendant").

I. BACKGROUND

A. Gerson Fox's Active Involvement

Gerson Fox is a real estate investor who funded investments proposed by Michael Kamen, his longtime business associate. [FN1] These investments took the form of several single purpose entity limited liability companies or limited partnerships (collectively, the "SPEs"). At least some of the SPEs had ownership interests in commercial real properties. Gerson Fox would fund the SPEs by providing funds from his personal accounts. Mr. Kamen's property management company, Mika Realty Group, LLC ("Mika"), oversaw the real properties owned by the SPEs.

According to Jack Garrett, an accountant hired by Gerson Fox, Gerson Fox regularly funded 100% of the purchase escrows for his real estate investments, either directly to the escrow for deposit, or by sending the funds to Mika or Foxmen Investments, LLC ("Foxmen"). Gerson and/or Gertrude Fox regularly funded a 50% interest in each SPE. Notes were not created for these "loans", and Gerson Fox's assistant did not keep track of the advances. In addition, on a monthly basis, cash calls were made to Gerson Fox for deficit cash in various SPEs.

According to the testimony of Defendant, Mr. Kamen, and Chris Reeder, a lawyer who represented the SPEs, Gerson Fox was actively involved with the SPEs. He had his own office at Mika, and various members of Mika's staff personally assisted him. Gerson Fox would attend virtually every meeting in Mika's office, as well as meetings with Mr. Reeder concerning the SPEs' financial issues. Mr. Reeder recalled that Gerson Fox was an elderly man, but no one had concerns about Gerson Fox's mental awareness during the relevant time period.

B. Defendant's Role with Mika

In approximately 1996, Defendant was employed by Imperial Capital Bank ("ICB"). While employed at ICB, Defendant met Mr. Kamen and Gerson Fox, in connection with their request to restructure a loan. ICB granted Mr. Kamen's and Gerson Fox's request to extend and amend the loan terms, to accommodate the completion of extensive tenant improvements. Over the next ten years, the three men established a business and personal relationship.

In the summer of 2006, Defendant was employed by AGO Investments, a real estate investment group owned by Kevin Golshan and Sam Aghasi. During that summer, Mr. Kamen told Defendant he wanted to hire someone to replace an officer at Mika. Mr. Kamen and Defendant discussed some of the candidates for the Mika position, and Mr. Kamen asked Defendant if he had any interest in the position.

In the summer of 2006, Mr. Kamen and Gerson Fox offered, and Defendant accepted, the position of chief operating officer of Mika. As compensation, Defendant was to receive $150,000 per year and between five to ten percent of each project in which Defendant was involved. Defendant was to report to both Mr. Kamen and Gerson Fox. As COO of Mika, Defendant's responsibilities included the day-to-day operation of all aspects of Mika, including overseeing the property management, ongoing development activities, property maintenance, financing obligations, and reviewing and presenting potential acquisition opportunities to Mr. Kamen, who would then decide whether to bring the opportunities to Gerson Fox.

On October 1, 2006, Defendant began working at Mika. At some point between October 2006 and March 2011, Defendant became the chief executive officer of Mika.

Defendant did not recall any change in his job duties for Mika after he became CEO.

Defendant stated that he reported to both Gerson Fox and Mr. Kamen equally. Either Gerson Fox or Mr. Kamen could give instructions to or authorize Defendant to perform a task. Routinely, Defendant would include Gerson Fox and Mr. Kamen on emails regarding important happenings with Mika and related real estate holdings.

Mr. Kamen testified that Defendant was “responsible” for the SPEs’ bank accounts. However, Mr. Kamen did not recall whether Defendant made any unapproved payments from the SPE bank accounts, or recall any specific payments that Defendant made. Mr. Kamen stated that during the time Defendant worked for Mika, the following individuals had signatory authority for Mika: Defendant, Mr. Kamen, William Sleeper, and Helen Chan.

For more than twenty years, William Sleeper had worked with Mr. Kamen. Mr. Sleeper was responsible for preparing financial statements; following and recording capital contributions and loans between Mr. Kamen, Gerson Fox, and the various entities; preparing reports identifying cash needs; placing insurance on the portfolio; and generally overseeing the accounting for the company.

Helen Chan was the controller for Mika and managed the day-to-day financial operations for the company. Ms. Chan oversaw payroll and some aspects of human resources, the accounts payable and receivables for the company, payment of all loans, and had direct oversight of the accounts receivable and payable staff.

C. Gerson Fox Directs Defendant and Others to Make Transfers Between the SPEs

According to Defendant, during the recent economic downturn, Cal National Bank and First National Bank of Nevada ("FNB Nevada") were seized, causing the cancellation of commitments with in-place construction loans for the SPEs’ various projects.

In 2008 through 2011, Chris Reeder of the law firm Reeder Lu handled the litigation on various matters affecting the SPEs and the personal guaranties of Mr. Kamen and Gerson Fox. At trial, Mr. Reeder testified that as of 2009, it became clear to him that the SPEs were grossly undercapitalized. Mr. Kamen and Gerson Fox had acquired numerous properties, with the goal of improving them and refinancing them at a higher value. After the recession occurred, the SPEs' gross undercapitalization resulted in numerous defaults.

For most of 2010, nearly weekly meetings took place at Mr. Reeder's office, which Mr. Kamen, Gerson Fox, and Defendant regularly attended. Defendant states that Gerson Fox was informed of every problem. All of such problems centered around the lack of capital.

As Defendant and Mr. Reeder recall, in these meetings, the "solution" to the capital problems was to commingle funds and have Defendant or others at Mika move money around from SPE to SPE in order to pay bills. Defendant was granted authority from Gerson Fox or Mr. Kamen to make specific transfers. Defendant also had general authority from Mr. Kamen and Gerson Fox to make such transfers when necessary. Others at Mika also had the ability to make such transfers. At trial, Defendant denied ever signing Gerson Fox's name to any documents.

Mr. Reeder opposed the transfers between SPEs. Gerson Fox and Mr. Kamen overruled Mr. Reeder and ordered such transfers anyway. All such transfers were booked and accounted for in the records as inter-company loans.

At trial, Mr. Kamen acknowledged that funds had been transferred from one SPE to another to pay bills. He further stated that he and Gerson Fox had approved such transfers, because Gerson Fox wanted all bills to be paid and he did not want anything to go negative. Mr. Kamen also testified that Defendant had authority from Gerson Fox to make such transfers between the SPEs.

D. Transition from Mika to Merrill

Toward the end of 2010, Defendant spoke to Mr. Kamen and Gerson Fox about transferring Mika's duties for the management of the SPEs' properties. After they agreed, Defendant approached David Frank, CEO of The Merrill Group of Companies ("Merrill"). In November 2010, Mika began the process of transferring all of its information to Merrill in order to have the management agreements commence on January 1, 2011.

For each property, Merrill executed a separate property management agreement ("PMA"). Between January 1, 2011 and March 15, 2011, Defendant asked Merrill to perform all of its duties under each PMA, except for signing vendor and mortgage checks for Broadway/Workman LLC; Star News Building, LLC and Star News Building, LP, and La Vergne Food Lion Partners, LLC (collectively, the "Default Properties"). Merrill did not have signatory access to the SPEs' bank accounts. During this time, Merrill could deposit rental income into the bank accounts for each of the Default Properties. Merrill prepared checks for Defendant's signature on behalf of the Default Properties, and Mr. Frank would leave checks for Defendant to sign.

On March 2, 2011, Mr. Frank met with Gerson and Ted Fox and informed them that, after Merrill would deposit rental income collected from the Default Properties, funds would be transferred from the Default Properties' bank accounts. As a result, there were insufficient funds available to meet the Default Properties' monthly operating expenses, including mortgage payments.

On March 11, 2011, Gerson Fox terminated Defendant's employment, and Ted Fox replaced Defendant. At trial, Mr. Reeder testified that at least one additional inter-SPE transfer was made after Defendant was terminated, with Ted Fox involved in the transaction.

E. Modern Parking, Inc.

Modern Parking, Inc. ("Modern Parking") is a company that provided parking-related services for certain properties managed by Mika. Mohammed J. Islam is the owner of Modern Parking. At trial, Mr. Islam testified that Mika and Modern Parking "borrowed" money back and forth during their business relationship. Mr. Islam stated that he dealt with Mr. Kamen on all financial transactions.

Mr. Islam stated that he signed a promissory note in 2010 for a $150,000 loan from Mika. However, Mr. Islam did not recognize the check evidencing payment of $150,000 to Modern Parking from the law firm Reeder Lu's attorney-client trust account. Nor did Mr. Islam recall who arranged the loan, or the purpose of the loan. Mr. Islam stated that he repaid the $150,000 loan. When questioned about a $400,000 loan from Mika to Modern Parking in late 2010, Mr. Islam could not recall this specific transaction.

Mr. Islam stated that Modern Parking was sued by the chapter 7 trustee in the Star

F. Specific SPEs and Transactions

1. Broadway/Workman, LLC

Broadway/Workman, LLC (“Broadway”) owned a CVS drugstore-anchored retail property, located at 2625 N. Broadway, Los Angeles, CA 90031. Gerson Fox invested $680,778.77 in Broadway. According to Defendant, as the economy worsened, cash flow from the Broadway property was used to cover other Kamen/Fox expenses, as directed by Mr. Kamen and Gerson Fox.

According to Mr. Frank, Broadway defaulted on the loan encumbering its real property by, among other things, failing to pay the monthly installments of principal, interest and tax and insurance escrows that became due in January, February and March of 2011, plus late charges, default interest, attorney’s fees, advances, costs and expenses. Broadway’s bank statements for January-March 2011 reflect that, after Merrill deposited rental income into Broadway’s account, transfers were made to Mika or Foxmen that depleted Broadway’s account. According to Mr. Frank, by March 2011, Broadway had defaulted on its January and February 2011 monthly payments to Wells Fargo.

2. Covina Palms Center, LLC

Covina Palms Center, LLC (“Covina Palms”), formed in 2007, owned a multi-tenant retail center located at 2211-2249 East Garvey Avenue North, West Covina, California. According to Mr. Garrett, Gerson Fox and the Michael J. Kamen Trust each held a 50% member interest in Covina Palms. Gerson Fox’s total investment in Covina Palms was $2,122,848.37.

According to Defendant, financing for Covina Palms was provided by FNB Nevada. After FNB Nevada was seized by the FDIC, FH Partners acquired FNB Nevada’s loan to Covina Palms. Eventually, the note was sold to a third party who was brought to FH Partners by Kevin Golshan. At the time, Mr. Golshan had an interest in Covina Palms; Mr. Golshan bought his interest from Gerson Fox, after Gerson Fox instructed Defendant to raise capital for Gerson Fox by selling an interest in that entity. Mr. Golshan paid $500,000 for an interest in Covina Palms. The transaction was completed through Commerce Escrow, which then wired $500,000.00 directly to Gerson Fox's personal Wells Fargo account. Gerson Fox later denied knowledge of the transfer and what the funds were for. Gerson Fox and Mr. Golshan ended up in litigation over this issue.

According to Mr. Garrett, in 2009 and 2010, numerous transfers and withdrawals were made from Covina Palms' bank account. The transactions included transfers to other Mika entities, law firms, and Defendant, and payments for Mr. Kamen's personal expenses. At trial, Mr. Garrett stated that he had not seen copies of any cancelled checks that effectuated these transfers.

Mr. Kamen testified to paying personal expenses from the Covina Palms account. He further testified that he repaid all amounts to Covina Palms, except for a small amount. Mr. Kamen did not tell or obtain approval from Gerson Fox before paying his personal expenses from the Covina Palms account. Mr. Kamen did not remember if he instructed anyone to make the transfers from the Covina Palms account to pay his personal expenses.

3. *Star News Building, LLC and Star News Building, LP

Star News Building, LLC, and later Star News Building, LP (together, "Star News") owned a building located 525 E. Colorado Blvd, Pasadena, California, which was the original home to the Pasadena Star-News newspaper. Gerson Fox's investment in Star News Building, LLC was $2,871,501 and his investment in Star News Building, LP was $677,268.23. Glabmans Furniture ("Glabmans") was the main first floor tenant of the Star News building.

In 2008, Mika refinanced the existing loan for Star News with an approximately $10 million loan from Business Partners Credit Union ("Business Partners"). Shortly after the Business Partners loan closed, Glabmans defaulted on its long-term lease.

Additional vacancies occurred in the Star News building, and it became difficult to service the debt for the property. During this period, a potential tenant, the Culinary Institute of America (the "Culinary Institute"), was interested in leasing the entire building. With Mr. Kamen's direct involvement, Mika was able to negotiate a lease for the building, requiring tens of millions in tenant improvements, which the Culinary Institute provided in return for certain lease concessions. These concessions limited the upfront capital Mr. Kamen and Gerson Fox would be required to invest.

With the limited cash flow from the building, Star News consistently required cash from Mr. Kamen and Gerson Fox. Defendant recalls Business Partners was quite aggressive in the pursuit of the Star News property, hoping for a default. During this time, Star News retained Mr. Reeder to litigate the termination of the Glabmans lease. Eventually, the matter went to trial and Star News obtained a $900,000.00-plus judgment.

After the Culinary Institute entered into its lease, the Culinary Institute completed its build-out, which added value to the property. Money was needed for leasing expenses and the building. Defendant and Mika staff constantly made Mr. Kamen and Gerson Fox aware of the financial situation.

Defendant states that in October 2010, it was critical that a payment be made on the Star News loan from Business Partners. Defendant could not reach Gerson Fox, so Defendant wired approximately $110,000 of his personal funds to make that payment. If that payment had not been made, a notice of default would have been filed. Defendant's loan was never repaid. Towards the end of 2010, Gerson Fox agreed to lend Star News additional money, which was used to pay property taxes, tenant improvement expenses, and to pay the balance of the leasing commission for the Culinary Institute lease. Gerson Fox recorded a second mortgage on the Star News property evidencing this loan.

4. *La Vergne Food Lion Partners, LLC

La Vergne Food Lion Partners, LLC ("La Vergne"), formed in 2007, owned a property located at 5185-5195 Murfreesboro Road, La Vergne, Tennessee. The property, a 47,050 square foot shopping center, was anchored by a Food Lion grocery store.

Gerson Fox received consistent cash flow disbursements from the La Vergne property. Defendant does not recall when the loan was placed into default or the ultimate disposition of the property. According to Mr. Frank, La Vergne defaulted on its loan by, among other things, failing to pay the monthly installments of principal, interest and tax and insurance escrows that became due in January, February and March of 2011, plus late charges, default interest, attorney's fees, advances, costs and expenses.

La Vergne's bank statements for January-March 2011 reflect that, after Merrill deposited rental income into La Vergne's account, transfers from La Vergne's account were made to Mika or Foxmen. According to Mr. Frank, such transfers left La Vergne unable to pay its February 2011 mortgage.

5. York Square, LLC

York Square, LLC ("York Square") owned a historic mixed use property containing thirteen loft units and a Union Bank branch. FNB Nevada provided project financing to York Square; FH Partners subsequently acquired FNB Nevada's loan to York Square. According to Defendant, he "begged" Gerson Fox to purchase the York Square loan for approximately 50% of the outstanding loan balance. Plaintiffs assured Defendant they would buy the loan. When they did not do so, Cowboy and Cowboy ("Cowboy") acquired the note.

Defendant further contends that Peter Mehrrian, the principal of Cowboy, approached Defendant and suggested that York Square provide a deed in lieu of foreclosure. Allegedly, an agreement was reached that Cowboy would pay Gerson Fox and Mr. Kamen $250,000 for cooperation and the deed in lieu. Gerson Fox and Mr. Kamen never received this payment. As the foreclosure date approached, Defendant went to Gerson Fox and Mr. Kamen and advised them to put York Square into bankruptcy.

According to Defendant, Mr. Kamen and Gerson Fox signed a letter granting Defendant authority over York Square. Because Defendant was not able to obtain funds from Mr. Kamen or Gerson Fox to pay legal fees for the bankruptcy case, Defendant personally borrowed the $50,000 retainer fee that was paid to York Square's bankruptcy counsel. On February 9, 2011, York Square filed a chapter 11 petition, initiating case no. 2:11-bk-15554-BB. Defendant later borrowed an additional $50,000 for operating costs to fund York Square's property through the bankruptcy.

According to Mr. Garrett, Gerson Fox invested $1,214,171.82 in York Square, and lost his entire investment. According to Defendant, the York Square bankruptcy allowed Gerson Fox to obtain full ownership of the asset, while Cowboy was forced to carry the mortgage for an extended term. Mr. Kamen also testified that the bankruptcy case of York Square benefitted Gerson Fox. Defendant's advances for York Square were never repaid.

6. 22 Colt Lane Investors, LLC

According to Defendant, 22 Colt Lane Investors, LLC ("22 Colt Lane") was an SPE formed to hold title to Defendant's residence. The operating agreement for 22 Colt Lane lists Mr. Kamen and Gerson Fox as members. Defendant testified that he paid the $4,100 monthly mortgage payments directly to the lender. Gerson Fox guaranteed the debt to the lender.

G. State Court Litigation

On October 28, 2011, many of the SPEs sued Defendant and others in the Superior Court of California, alleging numerous causes of action, including fraud, conversion, breach of fiduciary duty, and aiding and abetting breach of fiduciary duty (the "October 2011 Case"). On October 30, 2013, the Superior Court dismissed the October 2011 Case against Defendant, with prejudice.

On April 18, 2013, Gerson Fox and Gertrude Fox (together, "Plaintiffs") sued Defendant and his spouse in Superior Court, asserting fifteen causes of action (the "April 2013 Case"). On July 8, 2014, the state court entered default judgment against Plaintiffs and in favor of Plaintiffs in the April 2013 Case (the "Default Judgment"). On August 26, 2014, Defendant filed a motion to vacate the Default Judgment (the "Motion to Vacate"), which the Superior Court denied on the grounds that it lacked jurisdiction to hear the Motion to Vacate. On May 10, 2018, the California Court of Appeal reversed the Superior Court and remanded the proceeding, directing the Superior Court to rule on the merits of the Motion to Vacate.

H. Michael Kamen's Bankruptcy Case

On March 19, 2018, Mr. Kamen filed a voluntary chapter 11 petition, commencing case no. 2:12-bk-19793-BB (the "Kamen Bankruptcy Case"). During the Kamen Bankruptcy Case, the Official Committee of Creditors Holding Unsecured Claims hired Adrian Stern, CPA, and his firm Clumeck Stern, to conduct forensic accounting analysis to determine capitalization, member loans, distributions, and intercompany transfers of the SPEs owned in part by Mr. Kamen and Gerson Fox. Plaintiffs were uncooperative with Mr. Stern's investigation. Plaintiffs produced only a single CD of documents with no valuable information and refused to meet with or be interviewed by Mr. Stern.

Mr. Stern reviewed over 100,000 pages of documents and interviewed many witnesses over a several-month period. After a forensic reconstruction of the books of Broadway (2006-2011), Star News (2006-2011), York Square (2006-2011), La Vergne (2007-2011), Covina Palms (2007-2011), and other SPEs, Mr. Stern found no damages to any of the SPEs or their members, including Gerson Fox. Mr. Stern determined that money from the SPEs had been commingled with the knowledge and authority of Mr. Kamen, Gerson Fox, and Defendant's predecessor at Mika, and that no money was unaccounted for or missing in any of the SPEs. Mr. Stern also determined that Defendant had not taken any money for his own benefit from any of the SPEs. Mr. Stern also noted that Defendant made substantial personal loans to the SPEs that were never repaid. According to Mr. Stern, such loans benefitted the SPEs, Mr. Kamen, and Gerson Fox.

I. Defendant's Bankruptcy Case

On February 13, 2015, Defendant filed a voluntary chapter 7 petition, commencing case no. 1:15-bk-10466-VK. On February 23, 2015, Defendant filed his schedules [1:15-bk-10466-VK, doc. 10]. In his Schedule F, Defendant listed an unsecured nonpriority claim for $7,958,612.00 owed to Gerson Fox, which Defendant indicated stemmed from a lawsuit. Defendant listed the debt as having been incurred on December 9, 2014.

J. The Adversary Proceeding

On May 15, 2015, Plaintiffs filed a complaint against Defendant, requesting nondischargeability of the debt owed to them under 11 U.S.C. §§ 523(a)(4) and (a)(6), commencing the pending adversary proceeding. On July 27, 2015, Plaintiffs filed a first amended complaint (the "FAC") [doc. 12], which is the operative complaint, and added claims under 11 U.S.C. §§ 523(a)(2)(A) and (a)(2)(B).

On January 17, 2017, Defendant filed a motion to compel Plaintiffs' appearance at their depositions ("Motion to Compel") [doc. 60]. On March 10, 2017, the Court entered an order regarding the Motion to Compel, mandating Plaintiffs' appearance at depositions and awarding Defendant sanctions in the amount of $2,500 [doc. 68]. On April 20, 2017, after Plaintiffs did not comply with this order, the Court entered another order, barring Plaintiffs from testifying at trial or providing any testimony in connection with pretrial motions [doc. 77].

On February 5, 2018, the parties filed their joint pretrial stipulation [doc. 145]. On May 29-June 1, and June 4, the Court held trial in this matter. For the reasons set forth below, Plaintiffs did not meet their burden of demonstrating that any debt owed to them is nondischargeable under 11 U.S.C. §§ 523(a)(2)(A), (a)(2)(B), (a)(4), or (a)(6).

II. LEGAL STANDARD

A. Burden of Proof

The plaintiff's burden of proof in a nondischargeability action under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a) is "the ordinary preponderance-of-the-evidence standard." Grogan v. Garner, 498 U.S. 279, 291 (1991). "Proof by the preponderance of the evidence means that it is sufficient to persuade the finder of fact that the proposition is more likely true than not." In re Arnold & Baker Farms, 177 B.R. 648, 654 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1994), aff'd sub nom. In re Arnold & Baker Farms, 85 F.3d 1415 (9th Cir. 1996) (citing In re Winship, 397 U.S. 358, 371, 90 S.Ct. 1068, 1076, 25 L.Ed.2d 368 (1970)).

B. 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(A)

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(A), a bankruptcy discharge does not discharge an individual debtor from any debt "for money, property, services, or an extension, renewal, or refinancing of credit, to the extent obtained by—false pretenses, a false representation, or actual fraud, other than a statement respecting a debtor's or an insider's financial condition."

To prevail on a § 523(a)(2)(A) claim, Plaintiffs must prove by a preponderance of the evidence:

- (1) misrepresentation, fraudulent omission or deceptive conduct by the debtor;

1. False Representation, Fraudulent Omission, or Deceptive Conduct

“‘False representation’ refers to express misrepresentations, either oral or written.” Dancor Constr., Inc. v. Haskell (In re Haskell), 475 B.R. 911, 920 (Bankr. C.D. Ill. 2012), adhered to on reconsideration, Case No. 11-80231, 2012 WL 4754673 (Bankr. C.D. Ill. Oct. 4, 2012).

“[S]ilence, or the concealment of a material fact, can be the basis of a false impression which creates a misrepresentation actionable under § 523(a)(2)(A).” In re Evans, 181 B.R. 508, 514 (Bankr. S.D. Cal. 1995). “Under common law, a false representation can be established by an omission when there is a duty to disclose.” In re Eashai, 87 F.3d 1082, 1082 (9th Cir. 1996). “[A] party to a business transaction has a duty to disclose when the other party is ignorant of material facts which he does not have an opportunity to discover.” Apte v. Japra (In re Apte), 96 F.3d 1319, 1324 (9th Cir. 1996). “[T]he plaintiff must establish that the debtor concealed facts and that the facts concealed were material. Concealed facts are material if ‘a reasonable man would attach importance to the alleged omission in determining his course of action.’” Evans, 181 B.R. at 515 (quoting Titan Group, Inc. v. Faggen, 513 F.2d 234, 239 (2d Cir. 1975)).

“[A] false pretense refers to an implied misrepresentation of ‘conduct intended to create and foster a false impression.’” Shannon v. Russell (In re Russell), 203 B.R. 303, 312 (Bankr. S.D. Cal. 1996).

2. Knowledge of Falsity and Intent to Deceive

[A] misrepresentation is fraudulent if the maker (a) knows or believes that the matter is not as he represents it to be, (b) does not have the confidence in the accuracy of his representation that he states or implies, or (c) knows that he does not have the basis for his representation that he states or implies.

Gertsch v. Johnson & Johnson, Fin. Corp. (In re Gertsch), 237 B.R. 160, 168 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1999). “[Section] 523(a)(2)(A) requires that the debtor actually intend to defraud the creditor and that the debt arise as a result of the fraud.” Tsurukawa v. Nikon Precision, Inc. (In re Tsurukawa), 258 B.R. 192, 198 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2001).

Because intent is difficult to prove through direct evidence, it “may be established by circumstantial evidence, or by inferences drawn from a course of conduct. Therefore, in determining whether the debtor had no intention to perform, a court may look to all the surrounding facts and circumstances.” In re Barrack, 217 B.R. 598, 607 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1998) (internal quotations omitted). A court may infer intent to deceive from a false representation. In re Rubin, 875 F.2d 755, 759 (9th Cir. 1989); see also Eashai, 87 F.3d at 1087 (“a court may infer the existence of the debtor’s intent not to pay if the facts and circumstances of a particular case present a picture of deceptive conduct by the debtor”); and Gertsch, 237 B.R. at 167–68 (“intent to deceive can be inferred from the totality of the circumstances, including reckless disregard for the truth”).

C. 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(B)

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(B), a discharge under section 727 of this title does not discharge an individual debtor from any debt for money, property, services, or an extension, renewal, or refinancing of credit, to the extent obtained by—

“The Ninth Circuit has reworded these requirements as follows: (1) a representation of fact by the debtor, (2) that was material, (3) that the debtor knew at the time to be false, (4) that the debtor made with the intention of deceiving the creditor, (5) upon which the creditor relied, (6) that the creditor’s reliance was reasonable, and (7) that damage proximately resulted from the representation.” In re Cacciatori, 465 B.R. 545, 551 (Bankr. D. 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(4)

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(4), a bankruptcy discharge does not discharge an individual debtor from any debt "for fraud or defalcation while acting in a fiduciary capacity, embezzlement, or larceny."

1. Defalcation

A debt is nondischargeable for fraud or defalcation while acting in a fiduciary capacity "where (1) an express trust existed, (2) the debt was caused by fraud or defalcation, and (3) the debtor acted as a fiduciary to the creditor at the time the debt was created." In re Niles, 106 F.3d 1456, 1459 (9th Cir. 1997).

a. Existence of Trust/Fiduciary Relationship

Whether a relationship is a fiduciary one within the meaning of § 523(a)(4) is a question of federal law. *Ragsdale v. "A trust under California law may be formed by express agreement, by statute, or by case law." Cantrell, 269 B.R. at 420. An express trust under California law requires the following five elements: (1) present intent to create a trust; (2) a trustee; (3) trust property; (4) a proper legal purpose; and (5) a beneficiary. Honkanen, at 379 n.6 (citing Cal. Prob. Code §§ 15201–15205). A technical trust under California law is one "arising from the relation of attorney, executor, or guardian, and not to debts due by a bankrupt in the character of an agent, factor, commission merchant, and the like." Id. at n.7 (quoting Royal Indem. Co. v. Sherman, 269 P.2d 123, 125 (1954)). Additionally, "[t]rusts arising as remedial devices to breaches of implied or express contracts—such as resulting or constructive trusts—are excluded, while statutory trusts that bear the hallmarks of an express trust are not." Id. (citing In re Pedrazzini, 644 F.2d 756, 759 (9th Cir. 1981)).

b. Fraud/Defalcation

Under § 523(a)(4), fraud refers to actual fraud. Honkanen, 446 B.R. at 382 (citing In re Roussos, 251 B.R. 86, 91 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 2000)). This involves the "conscious misrepresentation, or concealment, or non-disclosure of a material fact which induces the innocent party to enter into a contract." Id. at 383. The elements of actual fraud include the following:

- (1) defendant made a misrepresentation, concealment, or non-disclosure of a material fact;
- (2) defendant had knowledge that what he was saying was false;
- (3) defendant intended to induce plaintiff's reliance;
- (4) plaintiff justifiably relied; and
- (5) plaintiff suffered damage as a result.

Id. Under § 523(a)(4), debts related to "defalcation while acting in a fiduciary capacity," are nondischargeable. "Defalcation is defined as 'misappropriation of trust funds or money held in any fiduciary capacity.'" In re Lewis, 97 F.3d 1182, 1187 (9th

2. Embezzlement

"Federal law and not state law controls the definition of embezzlement for purposes of section 523(a)(4)." In re Wada, 210 B.R. 572, 576 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1997).

"Embezzlement is defined as 'the fraudulent appropriation of property by a person to whom such property has been [e]ntrusted or into whose hands it has lawfully come.'" Id. (quoting Moore v. United States, 160 U.S. 268, 269, 16 S.Ct. 294, 295, 40 L.Ed. 422 (1895)).

"Embezzlement" within the meaning of § 523(a)(4) requires three elements: (1) property rightfully in the possession of the non-owner debtor, (2) the non-owner's misappropriation of the property to a use other than that for which it was entrusted, and (3) circumstances indicating fraud. In re Littleton, 942 F.2d 551, 555 (9th Cir. 1991). For purposes of embezzlement, a fiduciary relationship is not required. Id. at 555.

11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(6) states that a discharge under 11 U.S.C. § 727 does not discharge an individual debtor from any debt "for willful and malicious injury by the debtor to another entity or to the property of another entity."

Demonstrating willfulness requires a showing that defendant intended to cause the injury, not merely the acts leading to the injury. Kawaauhau v. Geiger, 523 U.S. 57, 61–62, 118 S.Ct. 974, 977 (1998). Debts "arising from recklessly or negligently inflicted injuries do not fall within the compass of § 523(a)(6)." Id., 523 U.S. at 64. It suffices, however, if the debtor knew that harm to the creditor was "substantially certain." In re Su, 290 F.3d 1140, 1145-46 (9th Cir. 2002); In re Jercich, 238 F.3d 1202, 1208 (9th Cir. 2001) ("[T]he willful injury requirement of § 523(a)(6) is met when it is shown either that the debtor had a subjective motive to inflict the injury or that the debtor believed that injury was substantially certain to occur as a result of his conduct.") (emphasis in Jercich).

Under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(6), the injury must also be the result of maliciousness. Su, 290 F.3d at 1146. Maliciousness requires (1) a wrongful act; (2) done intentionally;

F. Aiding and Abetting Breach of Fiduciary Duty

Liability may . . . be imposed on one who aids and abets the commission of an intentional tort if the person (a) knows the other's conduct constitutes a breach of duty and gives substantial assistance or encouragement to the other to so act or (b) gives substantial assistance to the other in accomplishing a tortious result and the person's own conduct, separately considered, constitutes a breach of duty to the third person. . . . Unlike a conspirator, an aider and abettor need not be capable of the target tort. . . . To plead aiding and abetting by a defendant, the plaintiff must allege that the defendant had actual knowledge of the "specific primary wrong" being committed, and gave substantial assistance to the wrongful conduct.

Goonewardene v. ADP, LLC, 5 Cal. App. 5th 154, 188 (Cal. Ct. App. 2016), as modified on denial of reh'g (Nov. 29, 2016) (internal quotations and citations omitted).

To prove a claim for aiding and abetting a tortious act, a plaintiff must show that the alleged aider and abettor made "a conscious decision to participate in tortious activity for the purpose of assisting another in performing a wrongful act." Am. Master Lease LLC v. Idanta Partners, Ltd., 225 Cal. App. 4th 1451, 1477 (2014), as modified (May 27, 2014) (citing Berg & Berg Enterprises, LLC v. Sherwood Partners, Inc., 131 Cal. III. DISCUSSION

A. 11 U.S.C. §§ 523(a)(2)(A) and (a)(2)(B)

Plaintiffs have not met their burden of proof under 11 U.S.C. §§ 523(a)(2)(A) or (a)(2)(B). Plaintiffs did not introduce admissible evidence as to any element of their § 523(a)(2)(A) claim. misrepresentation; that Defendant intended to deceive; that Plaintiffs justifiably relied on any misrepresentation that the Defendant made; or that Plaintiffs suffered damage proximately caused by their reliance on a statement Defendant made.

Moreover, Plaintiffs did not introduce admissible evidence as to any element of their § 523(a)(2)(B) claim. Plaintiffs did not introduce evidence that Defendant made any written misrepresentation; that such written representation was material; that Defendant had knowledge of the falsity of the written misrepresentation; that Defendant intended to deceive; that the Plaintiffs justifiably relied on any written misrepresentation that the Defendant made; or that Plaintiffs suffered damage proximately caused by their reliance on a written representation that Defendant made.

The FAC contains numerous allegations regarding Defendant's conduct as COO, and later CEO, of Mika between 2006 and 2011. Such allegations include the unauthorized transfers of funds between SPEs, unauthorized use of SPE funds to pay personal expenses, and the forging of documents.

At trial, Plaintiffs did not establish that Defendant made any misrepresentation to Plaintiffs. Gerson Fox was an especially active participant in the business affairs of Mika and the SPEs. As Defendant testified, Gerson Fox was involved in numerous meetings at Mika, and Defendant would copy him on nearly every important Mika and SPE-related email. As for the transfers of funds between SPEs, the evidence shows that Mr. Kamen and Gerson Fox authorized such transfers in a effort to save the SPEs. Mr. Reeder had advised against such transfers, but he was overruled by Mr. Kamen and Gerson Fox. Mr. Kamen and Gerson Fox explicitly authorized Defendant to make such transfers, and Defendant complied. Because Gerson Fox had knowledge of, and had authorized, such transfers, Plaintiffs have not demonstrated that Defendant made any misrepresentation or had any intent to deceive Gerson Fox with respect to these inter-SPE transfers.

Plaintiffs also allege that Defendant made numerous unauthorized transfers from Covina Palms' bank account without Gerson Fox's approval. At trial, Mr. Kamen testified that he freely used the Covina Palms bank account to pay personal expenses, but later paid back all but a small amount. Mr. Kamen did not seek approval from Gerson Fox before doing so. Mr. Kamen also did not recall whether he authorized any other individual to make such personal expense payments from the Covina Palms account on his behalf. Plaintiffs did not present evidence that Defendant made such transfers on Mr. Kamen's behalf. Although there is evidence of $14,200 transferred from the Covina Palms account to Defendant between October 1 and November 5, 2010, Plaintiffs did not present any evidence that such transfers were made by Defendant, or that such transfers were not authorized.

Plaintiffs further allege that Defendant was involved in a scheme to help Kevin Golshan evade capital gains taxes by secretly selling an interest in Covina Palms. However, based on the evidence before the Court, Gerson Fox directed Defendant to raise capital by selling an interest in Covina Palms. None of the evidence Plaintiffs presented at trial established any misrepresentation by Defendant with respect to this transaction, or to any other transaction involving Covina Palms or the property it owned.

Furthermore, Plaintiffs did not establish that Defendant forged any documents with respect to Covina Palms or any other SPE. Plaintiffs did not present any evidence or expert testimony regarding any such alleged forged documents. As for 22 Colt Lane, that SPE appeared to be created with the full knowledge of Mr. Kamen and Gerson Fox, who were the only members of the SPE and whose signatures appear on the operating agreement. Defendant denied creating any guaranty relating to 22 Colt Lane, and testified that Gerson Fox signed such guarantee on his own behalf.

Even if Plaintiffs could establish that Defendant made any misrepresentation, Plaintiffs cannot establish that Defendant had intent to deceive Plaintiffs. The evidence shows that Defendant's transfers between SPEs were authorized by Mr. Kamen and Gerson Fox. Defendant also testified that he placed York Square into bankruptcy to save the entity, and he personally borrowed the funds to do so.

relationship under California law. However, "[t]he broad definition of fiduciary under nonbankruptcy law—a relationship involving trust, confidence, and good faith—is inapplicable in the dischargeability context." In re Honkanen, 446 B.R. 373, 378 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 2011). The fiduciary relationship required by § 523(a)(4) is much narrower. Whether a relationship is a fiduciary one within the meaning of § 523(a)(4) is a question of federal law. Ragsdale, 780 F.2d at 795. Such fiduciary relationship must arise from an express or technical trust that was imposed before and without reference to the wrongdoing that caused the debt. Id. at 796. Although federal law governs whether a relationship is a fiduciary one under § 523(a)(4), courts also consider state law to determine whether the requisite trust relationship exists. Honkanen, 446 B.R. at 379.

Plaintiffs argue that a corporate officer can be held individually liable for a breach of fiduciary duty by the corporation. In support of their position, Plaintiffs cite several cases: Capitol Indem. Corp. v. Interstate Agency, Inc. (In re Interstate Agency, Inc.), 760 F.2d 121 (6th Cir. 1985); Woodworking Enters., Inc. v. Baird (In re Baird), 114 B.R. 198 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1990); KGB Int'l, Inc. v. Watford (In re Watford), 374 B.R. 184 (Bankr. M.D.N.C. 2007); Fowler & Peth, Inc. v. Regan (In re Regan), 311 B.R. 271 (Bankr. D. Colo. 2004), rev'd and remanded, 326 B.R. 175 (D. Koszuth (Matter of Koszuth)*, 43 B.R. 104 (Bankr. M.D. Fla. 1984). [FN2]

All of Plaintiffs' cases are distinguishable. The courts in the following cases found the existence of a fiduciary relationship, based on an express trust pursuant to state or federal law

Case	Type of Trust
Interstate Agency	Express, statutory trust under Michigan law
Baird	Express, statutory trust under Arizona law
Watford	Express, statutory trust under the federal Perishable Agricultural Commodities Act, 7 U.S.C. § 499a et seq.

Chapter 7

In Koszuth, the defendant was the officer of an entity that serviced certain insurance policies written by plaintiff, an insurance provider. The servicing entity and plaintiff had entered into an agreement, under which all monies collected by the servicing entity were to be held in a fiduciary trust account and in a fiduciary capacity. The defendant signed the agreement as the president of the servicing entity. Subsequently, the servicing entity violated the agreement by not remitting all funds to plaintiff, and instead used such monies to cover its own operating expenses. The defendant filed a chapter 7 petition. Plaintiff filed an adversary proceeding, seeking a nondischargeability determination under § 523(a)(4) against the defendant individually. The defendant filed a motion for judgment on the pleadings, or in the alternative, summary judgment, arguing in part that he never had a personal fiduciary duty to plaintiff. The bankruptcy court denied defendant's motion, holding that "a fiduciary relation may exist between the corporate officers and the creditors in the presence of a contractual agreement establishing a trust relationship with the corporation." Koszuth, 43 B.R. at 108.

Here, Plaintiffs have produced no evidence that Defendant's employment with Mika gave rise to an express or technical trust under California or federal law. Plaintiffs have not identified any express trust agreement entered into by Defendant, or any statute that establishes a fiduciary relationship between Plaintiffs and Defendant. Nor have Plaintiffs presented evidence that any of the SPE agreements contained provisions that establish a fiduciary relationship between the SPEs and Plaintiffs, similar to the agreement in Koszuth.

b. Fraud/Defalcation

Even assuming the existence of a fiduciary relationship between Plaintiffs and Defendant, Plaintiffs' fraud allegations similarly do not suffice to state a claim for relief under § 523(a)(4) for fraud. As noted above, Plaintiffs have not established that Defendant made any specific misrepresentation to Plaintiffs regarding his actions as COO and CEO of Mika.

Moreover, to state a claim for defalcation under § 523(a)(4), a plaintiff must prove the misappropriation of funds or money held in trust by a fiduciary. Because Plaintiffs have not established that Defendant is a fiduciary for purposes of § 523(a)(4), Plaintiffs cannot establish that Defendant engaged in defalcation.

2. *Embezzlement

Plaintiffs have not met their burden of proof under § 523(a)(4) as to whether Defendant committed embezzlement. Plaintiffs have not established that their property was rightfully in the possession of Defendant. Under the property management agreements between Mika and each of the SPEs, Mika had full authorization to withdraw funds from the SPEs' bank accounts at Mika's sole discretion. Defendant also had the authority to withdraw such funds. However, such funds were deposited into the SPEs' respective bank accounts and were in the possession of the SPEs. Plaintiffs have not established that they entrusted funds directly to Defendant's possession.

Even if such funds were in Defendant's possession, Plaintiffs have not established that Defendant misappropriated Plaintiffs' property to a use other than that for which it was entrusted. Plaintiffs also have not identified that Defendant specifically made any of the alleged improper transfers. As noted above, many individuals, including Mr. Kamen, could have made transfers between the SPEs. At trial, Defendant, Mr. Kamen, and Mr. Reeder all testified that Mr. Kamen and Gerson Fox directed Defendant to transfer funds between SPEs, in an attempt to save the various properties at issue. Because Defendant made such transfers at the behest of Mr. Kamen and Gerson Fox, such transfers do not constitute misappropriation of Plaintiffs' property under § 523(a)(4).

Plaintiffs have not met their burden of proof under § 523(a)(6). In the FAC, Plaintiffs allege that Defendant's debt is nondischargeable pursuant to § 523(a)(6). Plaintiffs introduced no evidence at trial that Defendant acted either willfully and/or maliciously. Plaintiffs also have not identified that Defendant specifically made any of the alleged improper transfers. Nor have Plaintiffs introduced any evidence that Defendant inflicted any injury.

As noted above, Plaintiffs have not established that Defendant acted with any intent to injure Plaintiffs or their property while acting in his capacity as COO and CEO of Mika. Defendant was directed by Mr. Kamen and Gerson Fox to make inter-SPE transfers to help save the SPEs. As for Covina Palms, the evidence shows that Gerson Fox instructed Defendant to sell an interest in Covina Palms to raise money. Defendant testified that his actions with respect to York Square, including placing York Square into bankruptcy, were intended to save the company, not to defraud Gerson Fox.

D. Aiding and Abetting Breach of Fiduciary Duty

In their trial brief, Plaintiffs ask that if the Court finds that Defendant owed no fiduciary duty directly to Plaintiffs, the Court should find Defendant liable for aiding and abetting Mika's breach of fiduciary duty. However, Plaintiffs did not plead this claim for relief in the FAC or address it in the joint pretrial stipulation.

In any event, Mika is not a party to the present action. Plaintiffs did not establish that Mika owed any fiduciary duty directly to Plaintiffs, or that Mika breached any fiduciary duty. Thus, Plaintiffs have not established that Defendant aided or abetted any breach of fiduciary duty.

IV. CONCLUSION

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §§ 523(a)(2)(A), (a)(2)(B), (a)(4), and (a)(6), the Court will enter judgment in favor of Defendant.

Defendant must submit a proposed judgment within seven (7) days.

In Bullock, the Supreme Court held that the term "defalcation," as used in 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(4), includes a culpable state of mind involving knowledge of, or gross recklessness with respect to, the improper nature of acts that violate fiduciary duties. Id. at 273–74.

Tentative Ruling:

The Court will enter an order for relief.

I. BACKGROUND

A. The Alleged Debtor

On May 22, 2018, Tim Lambirth, Kristy Jones and Timothy Lambirth APC (the "APC") and, together with Mr. Lambirth and Ms. Jones, "Petitioning Creditors") filed an involuntary chapter 7 petition against Marcin Lambirth, LLP (the "Alleged Debtor"). According to Petitioning Creditors, the APC and John B. Marcin were partners of the Alleged Debtor until 2014, when the APC gave notice to Mr. Marcin that it was withdrawing as a partner of the Alleged Debtor. Status Report [doc. 7], ¶¶ 3-4. On October 18, 2017, the Alleged Debtor was placed on involuntary termination for failing to maintain at least two partners. Parrott Objection [doc. 8], Exhibit D.

Petitioning Creditors contend that, after the APC's withdrawal, Mr. Marcin continued to operate the Alleged Debtor as "Marcin Lambirth LLP," but eventually operated the practice under the name "Marcin LLP." Status Report, ¶ 4. According to Mr. Marcin's profile on the California State Bar's website, of which this Court will take judicial notice, on July 3, 2018, Mr. Marcin's license to practice law in California was suspended.

B. Service of the Summons and Involuntary Petition

According to Petitioning Creditors, the Alleged Debtor was located at 16830 Ventura Boulevard, Suite 320, Encino, California 91436 (the "Encino Address") from May 2008 until October 2014 and at 5567 Reseda Boulevard, Suite 320, Tarzana, California 91356 (the "Tarzana Address") from October 2014 until an unknown date. Status Report, ¶ 2. Certificates of Registration filed with the State Bar of California on behalf of the Alleged Debtor also reflect that the Alleged Debtor was located at the Encino Address from 2011 until 2014 and at the Tarzana Address from 2015 until at least 2016. Miller Objection [doc. 9], Exhibit 125. In addition, Mr. Marcin's profile on the California State Bar website indicates that the Alleged Debtor's address is the Tarzana Address. A February 2017 filing of a Notice of Lien by Marcin LLP reflects that Mr. Marcin operated his law firm at the Tarzana Address. Status Report, Exhibit 1.

On May 24, 2018, Petitioning Creditors served the summons and the involuntary petition on the Alleged Debtor by mailing via United States mail, first class and postage prepaid, a copy of the summons, notice of involuntary bankruptcy case and the involuntary petition to the Encino Address and the Tarzana Address. Declaration of Marvin Ramos ("Ramos Declaration") [doc. 6], p. 2. Using the same method, Petitioning Creditors also served Mr. Marcin, as the agent for service of process, at the Tarzana Address, the Encino Address and a third address, at 10868 Crebs Avenue, Porter Ranch, California 91326. Ramos Declaration, p. 2.

Despite serving the Alleged Debtor and Mr. Marcin at multiple addresses, the Alleged Debtor has not timely responded to the involuntary petition or otherwise appeared. In the Status Report, Petitioning Creditors noted that the mailings to the Alleged Debtor and Mr. Marcin were returned as undeliverable. Status Report, ¶ 9. According to Petitioning Creditors, Mr. Lambirth recently hired a private investigator to locate Mr. Marcin, but the private investigator was unsuccessful. Reply [doc. 10], p. 7.

C. Potential Asset of the Alleged Debtor

According to Petitioning Creditors, prior to the APC's withdrawal from the Alleged Debtor, the Alleged Debtor represented the plaintiff in an action entitled Oswaldo Ureta, et al, Plaintiffs v. County of Los Angeles, et al, Defendants, Los Angeles Superior Court Case No. BC501051 (the "Ureta Action"). Status Report, ¶ 5. Petitioning Creditors contend that trial in the Ureta Action is set for early next year and, depending on the outcome, the Alleged Debtor could receive a significant payment for legal fees and costs earned during its representation of the plaintiffs. Id. Petitioning Creditors note that, upon entry of an order for relief, the chapter 7 trustee may collect these fees and costs on behalf of the estate for distribution to creditors.

D. Creditors of the Alleged Debtor

Aside from the three Petitioning Creditors, there are at least five other creditors of the Alleged Debtor. On August 2, 2018, creditors Nancy Lee Ann Parrott, individually and as the successor trustee of the Parrott Family Trust Dated February 28, 2011, and Juanita Cohodas (together, the "Parrott Creditors") filed an objection to the entry of an order for relief (the "Parrott Objection") [doc. 8]. In the Parrott Objection, the Parrott Creditors state that they are plaintiffs in an action against the Alleged Debtor based on legal malpractice, breach of fiduciary duty and elder abuse.

On the same day, creditors Lisa Miller and Debbie Vaughn (together, the "Miller Creditors") filed an objection to the entry of an order for relief (the "Miller Objection") [doc. 9]. The Miller Creditors also are plaintiffs in an action against the Alleged Debtor, among others.

As for Petitioning Creditors, Petitioning Creditors indicate in the involuntary petition that: (A) Mr. Lambirth has a claim of $102,000 against the Alleged Debtor arising from the use of Mr. Lambirth's name; (B) Ms. Jones has a claim of $1,827 against the Alleged Debtor arising from unpaid employee compensation; and (C) the APC has a claim of $250,000 against the Alleged Debtor arising from the APC's interest in a lawsuit.

E. The Pleadings

In the Parrott Objection, the Parrott Creditors: (A) object to the service of the summons and involuntary petition, and request service by publication; (B) assert that the Alleged Debtor is not qualified to be a debtor in bankruptcy because the Alleged Debtor is dissolved; (C) argue that the claim asserted by Mr. Lambirth is actually a claim in favor of the APC; and (D) request abstention or dismissal under 11 U.S.C. § 305(a).

In the Miller Objection, the Miller Creditors: (A) assert that the Court does not have personal jurisdiction over the Alleged Debtor; (B) argue that the APC's claims are contingent; (C) and request dismissal on the basis that the involuntary petition was

On August 9, 2018, Petitioning Creditors filed an omnibus reply to the Parrott Objection and the Miller Objection (the "Reply") [doc. 10]. In the Reply, Petitioning Creditors assert that service was proper under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure ("FRBP") 1010(a) and 7004(b)(3). Petitioning Creditors also assert that the Parrott Creditors and the Miller Creditors do not have standing to oppose entry of an order for relief.

II. ANALYSIS

A. Standing

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 303(d), "[t]he debtor, or a general partner in a partnership debtor that did not join in the petition, may file an answer to a petition under this section." Under FRBP 1011(a), "[t]he debtor named in an involuntary petition may contest the petition. In the case of a petition against a partnership under Rule 1004, a nonpetitioning general partner, or a person who is alleged to be a general partner but denies the allegation, may contest the petition." Moreover, under FRBP 1011(e), "[n]o other pleadings shall be permitted, except that the court may order a reply to an answer and prescribe the time for filing and service." (emphasis added).

Multiple cases have held that, in light of 11 U.S.C. § 303(d), only the alleged debtor has standing to object to entry of an order for relief. See, e.g. In re MarketXT Holdings Corp., 347 B.R. 156, 160 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2006) (holding that creditors lack standing to object to entry of an order for relief even where creditors' objection is based on bankruptcy court lacking subject matter jurisdiction over case); In re Houston Reg'l Sports Network, L.P., 505 B.R. 468, 476 (Bankr. S.D. Tex. 2014) ("Although the [creditors] seek to contest the involuntary petition filed against the Network, only the alleged debtor or its general partner may contest an involuntary petition. Accordingly, creditors lack standing to contest an involuntary petition."); and In re Zenga, 562 B.R. 341, 348 n.2 (B.A.P. 6th Cir. 2017) (aggregating cases).

Creditors' lack of standing extends to challenges to the qualifications of petitioning creditors. In re Zais Inv. Grade Ltd. VII, 455 B.R. 839, 946 Bankr. D.N. J. 2011) ("Only the alleged debtor may contest an involuntary petition, including challenging the qualifications of the petitioning creditors. Here, [the debtor] failed to contest the petition and the order for relief was entered by default. Movants may not question the petitioning creditors' qualifications.").

Although there are no in-circuit cases exactly on point, the Bankruptcy Appellate Panel of the Ninth Circuit (the "BAP") has cited approvingly to cases holding that creditors do not have standing under 11 U.S.C. § 303(d):

Such considerations make it unlikely that Congress intended the reading of Section 303(i) suggested by Non-Petitioning Creditors. See In re New Era Co., 115 B.R. 41, 44–45 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 1990) (reason why § 303(d) does not give creditors standing to contest involuntary petition is that permitting creditors to contest petitions would enable them to "protect a preference or gain some unfair advantage at the expense of other creditors"), aff'd, 125 B.R. 725 (S.D.N.Y. 1991); Highlander, Inc. v. Rothman, 459 F.2d 554, 556 (9th Cir. 1972) (same, under predecessor statute to § 303(d), quoting legislative history).

In re Mike Hammer Prods., Inc., 294 B.R. 752, 754–55 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2003); see also In re Valdez, 1999 WL 33495189, at *2 (Bankr. D. Or. Mar. 29, 1999), aff'd, 250 B.R. 386 (D. Or. 1999) (noting that § 303(d) "suggests that creditors have no standing to answer or controvert a petition under Code § 303" in the context of deciding whether to dismiss a case after entry of an order for relief).

As noted by the Court in New Era, to which the BAP cited in Mike Hammer, the policy reason for prohibiting creditors from opposing entry of an order for relief "is because a creditor may have an incentive to protect a preference or to gain some unfair advantage at the expense of other creditors, contrary to the policy of requiring an equitable distribution of the debtor's assets among all creditors." New Era, 115 B.R. at 46 (citing, inter alia, Highlander, 459 F.2d at 556); see also In re QDN, LLC, 363 F.App'x 873, 876 (3d Cir. 2010) ("Congress chose to preclude creditors from opposing involuntary petitions because such opposition invariably was to protect a preference or to gain some unfair advantage at the expense of other creditors....").

Under 11 U.S.C. § 303(h), if the Alleged Debtor does not timely object, "the court shall order relief against the debtor in an involuntary case under the chapter under which the petition was filed." (emphasis added); see also In re HealthTrio, Inc., 653 F.3d 1154, 1157 (10th Cir. 2011) ("If the involuntary 'petition is not timely controverted,' the court must issue an order for relief....") (emphasis added).

Based on the foregoing, the Parrott Creditors and the Miller Creditors do not have standing to oppose entry of an order for relief in this case. As specified by Zais Investment, 455 B.R. at 946, this includes a lack of standing to dispute Mr. Lambirth's or the APC's qualifications as Petitioning Creditors. Even if this issue were properly before the Court, neither the Parrott Creditors nor the Miller Creditors has provided evidence showing that Petitioning Creditors do not have qualifying claims under 11 U.S.C. § 303. The Parrott Creditors suggest that Mr. Lambirth's claim is held by the APC, not Mr. Lambirth. The Parrott Creditors rely on a partnership agreement between Mr. Marcin and the APC (the "Partnership Agreement") attached to a letter sent by Mr. Lambirth to Lee Ackerman. Parrott Objection, Declaration of Lee B. Ackerman (the "Ackerman Declaration"), ¶ 5, Exhibit B.

Notwithstanding the fact that Mr. Ackerman has not explained how he has sufficient personal knowledge to authenticate the Partnership Agreement, the Partnership Agreement does not establish that Mr. Lambirth does not have an individual claim. The relevant provision of the Partnership Agreement states that: "Lambirth will be entitled to a gross payment of $3,000.00 a month for the use of his name, and all case referrals to the partnership, and for his management and advice and other contributions (payable to [the APC])...." Partnership Agreement, ¶ 4. In the Partnership Agreement, "Lambirth" is defined as "Timothy A. Lambirth." Partnership Agreement, ¶ 3.a. Although the Partnership Agreement indicates that the $3,000.00 monthly payments are payable to the APC, the Partnership Agreement provides that Mr. Lambirth, the individual, is the party "entitled to" the payments. As such, even if the Court were to consider the Partnership Agreement, the Partnership Agreement does not demonstrate that Mr. Lambirth is not entitled to an individual claim against the estate.

As for the Miller Creditors, the Miller Creditors refer to language in the Status Report wherein Petitioning Creditors noted that the Alleged Debtor could receive a significant payment of legal fees and costs from a pending lawsuit. The Miller Creditors argue that, in light of this language, the claim asserted by the APC is contingent and, as a result, the APC does not qualify as a petitioning creditor under 11 U.S.C. § 303(b)(1). However, the language in the Status Report refers to a claim held by the estate, not by the APC. In the involuntary petition, the APC indicated that its claim against the estate is based on an interest in a lawsuit; the APC did not specify which lawsuit, and the Miller Creditors have not adequately demonstrated that the APC's claim against the estate is contingent. Consequently, even if the objecting creditors had standing, which they do not, there is no evidence that Petitioning Creditors do not qualify as petitioning creditors under 11 U.S.C. § 303(b).

B. Service

Although the Parrott Creditors and the Miller Creditors do not have standing to dispute service, Petitioning Creditors properly served the Alleged Debtor by mailing a copy of the summons and the involuntary petition at its registered address, as well as the addresses for the Alleged Debtor's agent for service of process. This method of service complies with FRBP 1010(a) and 7004(b)(3).

The Parrott Creditors assert that service was deficient because “[n]o effort was made to try to physically locate Mr. Marcin.” Parrott Objection, p. 4. However, the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure do not require any such effort, and the Parrott Creditors have not cited authority requiring attempts to personally locate a principal of an alleged debtor. Parties are, however, required to “make diligent efforts to locate a defendant.” In re Moreno, 2012 WL 5614089, at *4 (Bankr. D.N.M. Nov. 15, 2014). At this time, Petitioning Creditors have attempted service on the Alleged Debtor at three different addresses. In addition, Petitioning Creditors note in the Reply that they hired a private investigator to attempt to locate Mr. Marcin, but their efforts were unsuccessful. Thus, Petitioning Creditors have diligently attempted to serve the Alleged Debtor.

The Miller Creditors contend that this Court does not have personal jurisdiction over the Alleged Debtor. First, the allegations in support of the Miller Creditors' argument that this Court cannot exercise jurisdiction over the Alleged Debtor are not supported by admissible evidence; the Miller Creditors did not support the Miller Objection with a declaration. On the other hand, the involuntary petition states, under penalty of perjury, that “[o]ver the last 180 days before the filing of this bankruptcy, the debtor had a domicile, principal place of business, or principal assets in this district longer than in any other district.” Involuntary Petition, p. 2.

Next, the Miller Creditors suggest that this Court does not have personal jurisdiction because Petitioning Creditors’ service of the summons and the involuntary petition did not provide sufficient notice of this case to the Alleged Debtor. The Miller Creditors rely on Mullane v. Central Hanover Bank & Trust Co., 339 U.S. 306, 315, 70 S.Ct. 652, 657-58, 94 L.Ed. 865 (1950). In Mullane, the Supreme Court of the United States held that “[t]he reasonableness and hence the constitutional validity of any chosen method [of service] may be defended on the ground that it is in itself reasonable certain to inform those affected, or, where conditions do not reasonably permit such notice, that the form chosen is not substantially less likely to bring home notice than other of the feasible and customary substitutes.” Mullane, 339 U.S. at 315. “The standard for what amounts to constitutionally adequate notice, however, is fairly low; it’s ‘notice reasonably calculated, under all the circumstances, to apprise interested parties of the pendency of the action and afford them an opportunity to present their objection.’” Espinosa v. United Student Aid Funds, Inc., 553 F.3d 1193, 1202 (9th Cir. 2008), aff’d, 559 U.S. 260, 130 S.Ct. 1367, 176 L.Ed.2d 158 (2010) (citing Mullane, 339 U.S. at 314).

Pursuant to FRBP 7004(f)—

If the exercise of jurisdiction is consistent with the Constitution and laws of the United States, serving a summons or filing a waiver of service in accordance with this rule or the subdivisions of Rule 4 F.R.Civ.P. made applicable by these rules is effective to establish personal jurisdiction over the person of any defendant with respect to a case under the Code or a civil proceeding arising under the Code, or arising in or related to a case under the Code.

Under FRBP 7004(f), this Court has personal jurisdiction if three elements are met:

(1) service of process has been made in accordance with [FRBP] 7004 or Civil Rule 4; (2) the court has subject matter jurisdiction under section 1334 of the Code; and (3) exercise of jurisdiction is consistent with the Constitution and laws of the United States.

Here, Petitioning Creditors served the Alleged Debtor at multiple known addresses of the Alleged Debtor and agents for service of process on behalf of the Alleged Debtor in accordance with FRBP 7004(b)(3). As such, the first element is met. Second, neither the Miller Creditors nor the Parrott Creditors contend that this Court does not have subject matter jurisdiction over this involuntary petition. Finally, to the extent the Miller Creditors' argument under Mullane suggests that this Court's exercise of jurisdiction would be inconsistent with the Constitution or the laws of the United States, Petitioning Creditors' service of the summons and the involuntary petition complies with the mandates of Mullane; the Miller Creditors have not shown how Petitioning Creditors' form of notice is less likely to provide notice to the Alleged Debtor as compared to other forms of notice.

The objecting creditors suggest service by publication as an alternative method of service. However, the objecting creditors have not articulated why service by publication would effectively provide notice to a dissolved entity or to Mr. Marcin, an individual who a private investigator could not locate and whose location is unknown. Petitioning Creditors properly served the Alleged Debtor and Mr. Marcin at their last known addresses. The objecting creditors have not set forth an alternative form of service that is reasonably more likely to provide notice to the Alleged Debtor.

C. Dissolved Entities

In the Parrott Objection, the Parrott Creditors suggest that the Alleged Debtor may not be qualified to be the subject of an involuntary petition because the limited liability partnership was terminated. The Parrott Creditors cite State Bar Rule 3.179(A), which states—

The State Bar must terminate certification of a limited liability partnership if there is only one partner in the limited liability partnership or it is notified that the limited liability partnership has been suspended by the California Secretary of State. Termination is effective immediately.

Chapter 7

The "termination" in the State Bar Rule refers to termination of the certification of a limited liability partnership. Although the Alleged Debtor may have been dissolved, neither the Bankruptcy Code nor California state law prohibits a dissolved limited liability partnership from winding up its affairs through bankruptcy.

Courts look to state law to determine if an entity may properly be the subject of an involuntary petition. See In re ABZ Ins. Services, Inc., 245 B.R. 255, 257 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. 2000); In re Int'l Zinc Coatings & Chem. Corp., 355 B.R. 76, 83 (Bankr. N.D. Ill. 2006); and In re Quad City Minority Broadcasters, Inc., 252 B.R. 773, 774 (Bankr. S.D. Iowa 2000). If state law provides for the continuation of a corporation to exist after dissolution, such as for the purpose of winding up, the entity is eligible for bankruptcy protection. Id.

Pursuant to Cal. Corp. Code § 16802(a), "a partnership continues after dissolution only for the purpose of winding up its business. The partnership is terminated when the winding up of its business is completed." The California statutes related to limited liability partnerships do not provide an alternative process for winding up and termination. See Cal. Corp. Code §§ 16951 et al. Under Cal. Corp. Code § 2010—

- (a) A corporation which is dissolved nevertheless continues to exist for the purpose of winding up its affairs, prosecuting and defending actions by or against it and enabling it to collect and discharge obligations, dispose of and convey its property and collect and divide its assets, but not for the purpose of continuing business except so far as necessary for the winding up thereof.
- (b) No action or proceeding to which a corporation is a party abates by the dissolution of the corporation or by reason of proceedings for winding up and dissolution thereof.
- (c) Any assets inadvertently or otherwise omitted from the winding up continue in the dissolved corporation for the benefit of the persons entitled thereto upon dissolution of the corporation and on realization shall be distributed accordingly.

Chapter 7

Thus, both the partnership and corporate statutes in California envision a winding up process for a dissolved entity.

Here, the Bankruptcy Code treats the Alleged Debtor as a corporation. "Courts look to state law to determine whether a LLP-debtor is a 'partnership' for purposes of the Code." In re Dewey & LeBoeuf LLP, 518 B.R. 766, 776 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2014). "The Court must examine the potential liability to which the partners of the LLP are exposed under applicable state law to determine whether that state's version of a LLP constitutes a 'partnership' or 'corporation' under the Code." Id., at 776-77. In Dewey & LeBoeuf, the court analyzed a New York state statute which outlined the liability of partners of a limited liability partnership. Id., at 777. That New York state statute reads:

no partner [of a registered LLP] ... is liable or accountable, directly or indirectly (including by way of indemnification, contribution or otherwise), for any debts, obligations or liabilities of, or chargeable to, the registered limited liability partnership or each other, whether arising in tort, contract or otherwise, which are incurred, created or assumed by such partnership while such partnership is a registered limited liability partnership, solely by reason of being such a partner or acting (or omitting to act) in such capacity or rendering professional services or otherwise participating (as an employee, consultant, contractor or otherwise) in the conduct of the other business or activities of the registered limited liability partnership....

N.Y. P'ship Law § 26(b). In looking at this statute, the Dewey & LeBoeuf court held that the limited liability partnership in that case should be treated as a corporation for purposes of the Bankruptcy Code. Id., at 777-78. This is because the Bankruptcy Code defines a "corporation" as including a "partnership association organized under a law that makes only the capital subscribed responsible for the debts of such association." 11 U.S.C. § 101(9)(A)(ii).

California law on limited liability partnerships is nearly identical to the New York statute. In California, pursuant to Cal. Corp. Code § 16306(c)—

Notwithstanding any other section of this chapter, and subject to subdivisions (d), (e), (f), and (h), a partner in a registered limited liability partnership is not liable or accountable, directly or indirectly, including by way of indemnification, contribution, assessment, or otherwise, for debts, obligations, or liabilities of or chargeable to the partnership or another partner in the partnership, whether arising in tort, contract, or otherwise, that are incurred, created, or assumed by the partnership while the partnership is a registered limited liability partnership, by reason of being a partner or acting in the conduct of the business or activities of the partnership.

See also In re Beltway Law Grp., LLP, 514 B.R. 341, 342-45 (Bankr. D.D.C. 2014) (same analysis under District of Columbia law); and In re Rambo Imaging, L.L.P., 2008 WL 2778846, at *6-7 (Bankr. W.D. Tex. Jul. 15, 2008) (same analysis under Texas law).

As such, the Alleged Debtor is treated as a corporation for purposes of the Bankruptcy Code. Because California law permits corporations to wind up their affairs after dissolution, the Alleged Debtor is eligible for bankruptcy relief.

D. Abstention

The objecting creditors note that they have standing to request dismissal or abstention under 11 U.S.C. § 305(a). Although creditors may request dismissal or abstention, they may do so after entry of an order for relief. See MarketXT Holdings, 347 B.R. at 160 n.4 ("There are, of course, grounds on which parties in interest may seek dismissal... after an order for relief has been entered, including motions to dismiss or abstain....") (emphasis added). In any case, even if the Parrott Creditors and the Miller Creditors presently have standing to request dismissal or abstention under 11 U.S.C. § 305(a), the parties have not demonstrated that dismissal or abstention better serves the interests of creditors and the Alleged Debtor.

"[N]otwithstanding a bankruptcy court's jurisdiction over an involuntary case pursuant to § 303, § 305(a) provides that the bankruptcy court may dismiss an involuntary case, or suspend all proceeding in that case, and thereby decline to exercise jurisdiction." In re Macke Int'l Trade, Inc., 370 B.R. 236, 246 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2007). The factors a court should consider are:

- (1) the economy and efficiency of administration;
- (2) whether another forum is available to protect the interests of both parties or there is already a pending proceeding in state court;
- (3) whether federal proceedings are necessary to reach a just and equitable solution;
- (4) whether there is an alternative means of achieving an equitable distribution of assets;
- (5) whether the debtor and the creditors are able to work out a less expensive out-of-court arrangement which better serves all interests in the case;
- (6) whether a non-federal insolvency has proceeded so far in those proceedings that it would be costly and time consuming to start afresh with the federal bankruptcy process; and
- (7) the purpose for which bankruptcy jurisdiction has been sought.

In re Marciano, 459 B.R. 27, 46–47 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2011), aff'd, 708 F.3d 1123 (9th Cir. 2013).

Chapter 7

Here, the factors weigh in favor of denying dismissal or abstention under § 305(a). First, a bankruptcy case will result in more economical and efficient administration. As it stands, the Parrott Creditors and the Miller Creditors will have to pursue piecemeal litigation and collection in state court while exposing the Alleged Debtor's assets, if any, to other creditors. In bankruptcy, the automatic stay will continue to prohibit any action taken against the Alleged Debtor or its property while the chapter 7 trustee investigates the Alleged Debtor's assets and liabilities. A bankruptcy case will prevent a race to the courthouse that will favor some creditors over others. Moreover, bankruptcy will allow the chapter 7 trustee to pool all of the Alleged Debtor's assets before equitably distributing the assets to creditors in order of priorities. The Parrott Creditors and the Miller Creditors have not articulated an alternative means of achieving such an equitable distribution.

In addition, the Alleged Debtor and its creditors will not be able to work out less expensive out-of-court arrangements because the parties have not been able to locate the Alleged Debtor's principal. Upon entry of an order for relief, the chapter 7 trustee will be able to represent the estate and potentially negotiate claims with creditors. As it stands, even if the Parrott Creditors and the Miller Creditors obtain judgments against the Alleged Debtor, it will be very difficult for these parties to collect on their judgments. A chapter 7 bankruptcy case provides these creditors an opportunity to receive a distribution without the expense of pursuing the Alleged Debtor in state court. Further, there does not appear to be a non-federal insolvency proceeding pending in another forum.

Finally, there does not appear to be an improper purpose for the filing of the involuntary petition. The Miller Creditors suggest that the petition was "likely" not filed in good faith. However, the reasons articulated by the Miller Creditors do not demonstrate a lack of good faith. The Miller Creditors contend that the disputes raised by Petitioning Creditors are state law claims. However, the factor courts consider is not whether claims held by creditors are state law claims (many claims against the estate inevitably will be based on state law), but whether the bankruptcy case is essentially a two-party dispute that may be promptly adjudicated in state court. The presence of both the Parrott Creditors and the Miller Creditors as creditors with claims against the estate, as well as the claims asserted by Petitioning Creditors, demonstrates that this case is not merely a two-party dispute. In fact, the Miller Creditors themselves acknowledge that "unsecured creditors abound." Miller Objection, p. 8.

In addition, the Miller Creditors note that the Alleged Debtor may not have any cash flow, may not currently be operating and may only have one asset. Even if this is true, which has not been established by evidence, the Alleged Debtor need not have cash flow or ongoing business to be a debtor in a chapter 7 case, which will result in liquidation of the Alleged Debtor's assets as opposed to a reorganization using the Alleged Debtor's income. Moreover, even if the Alleged Debtor has a single asset, even one asset may have significant value and result in distribution to creditors. Because entry of an order for relief will lead to appointment of a chapter 7 trustee, there will be an independent party investigating these matters.

The Parrott Creditors also do not meet their burden of demonstrating that abstention or dismissal is appropriate. The Parrott Creditors note that Petitioning Creditors will not be able to provide the chapter 7 trustee with information regarding the assets and liabilities of the Alleged Debtor. The Parrott Creditors do not cite any authority standing for the proposition that Petitioning Creditors have a duty to provide such information. The Parrott Creditors also state that Mr. Lambirth is the only party who will benefit from this bankruptcy case, but do not specify why any of the Petitioning Creditors would benefit more than other creditors. Once again, an independent chapter 7 trustee will be tasked with overseeing the estate to ensure that, should there be any assets to distribute, such distribution will be equitable and in accordance with the Bankruptcy Code.

It is in the best interest of all parties to enter an order for relief so that the chapter 7 trustee may fully investigate the Alleged Debtor's assets and liabilities. The investigation may lead to a more accurate financial picture of the Alleged Debtor, which will provide the Court and creditors a better idea regarding whether the case should be dismissed, converted or completed as a chapter 7 case. In addition, nothing will prevent the Parrott Creditors, the Miller Creditors or any other creditor of the estate to move for dismissal after entry of an order for relief.

III. CONCLUSION

The Court will enter an order for relief.

The Court will prepare the order.

fr. 6/7/18; 7/19/18

Docket 76

Tentative Ruling:

Deny as moot.

On February 16, 2018, Deborah Lois Adri (the "Debtor") filed a voluntary chapter 11 case. In her schedules, the Debtor listed Schuller & Schuller ("Schuller") as an unsecured creditor holding a disputed claim in the amount of $331,651.

On May 4, 2018, Schuller filed an Application for The 2004 Examination and the Production of Documents Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rules 2004 of Deborah Lois Adri (the "2004 Application") [doc. 68]. On May 9, 2018, the Debtor filed an objection to the 2004 Application [doc. 72]. On May 11, 2018, the Debtor filed an Emergency Motion for Protective Order of Application for the Rule 2004 Examination and the Production of Documents Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 2004 of Deborah Lois Adri (the "Motion for Protective Order") [doc. 76].

On June 7, 2018, the Court held a hearing on the Motion for Protective Order. The Court instructed the parties to file a stipulation re: discovery issues pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 7026-1(c)(3) (the "Stipulation") no later than June 28, 2018. The Court continued the hearing on the Motion for Protective Order to July 19, 2018. On June 28, 2018, the parties timely filed the Stipulation [doc. 115].

On July 13, 2018, Schuller filed proof of claim no. 9 (the "Claim"). On July 17, 2018, the Debtor filed an objection to the Claim (the "Objection") [doc. 123]. On July 19, 2018, in light of the Claim and Objection, the Court further continued the hearing on the Motion for Protective Order to August 23, 2018.

In light of the Court's disallowance of the Claim (see matter no. 7 on today's

The Debtor must submit within seven (7) days: (i) an order denying the 2004 Application; and (ii) an order denying as moot the Motion for Protective Order.

#7.00 Objection to claim Number 9 by claimant Schuller & Schuller.

Docket 130

Tentative Ruling:

The Court will sustain the debtor's objection to claim no. 9.

I. Background

In December 2006, Deborah Lois Adri ("Debtor") retained Schuller & Schuller ("Schuller") to represent her in a state court case (the "State Court Case"). On May 6, 2008, Schuller's representation of Debtor in the State Court Case was terminated by a substitution of attorney that was filed with the state court [doc. 123, Exh. 2]. On May 12, 2008, Schuller mailed a letter to Debtor demanding that she pay its alleged outstanding invoice (the "May 12 Letter") [doc. 123, Exh. 3]. On June 23, 2008, Debtor made a claim to her credit card company disputing charges billed by Schuller [doc. 123, Exh. 4].

Schuller alleges that it continued to send monthly billing statements to Debtor each month from May 31, 2008 through January 31, 2018 [doc. 143, Exh. D; Declaration of Henri R. Schuller ("Schuller Decl."), doc. 143, ¶ 9; Declaration of Denise Denney-Garrett ("Denney-Garrett Decl."), doc. 143]. Further, each month Schuller added interest to the original obligation pursuant to the terms of the contract between the parties, which is reflected in the monthly billing statements [doc. 143, Exhs. A & D].

On February 16, 2018, Debtor filed a voluntary chapter 11 petition. In her original schedule E/F, Debtor listed a $331,651.00 debt owed to Schuller for attorney fees. Debtor indicated that the debt is disputed. (Doc. 1, at p. 34.)

On March 29, 2018, the first § 341(a) meeting of creditors took place. Prior to the meeting, Schuller made a demand for documents related to Debtor's interest in real property owned directly by Debtor or by any holding entity. On May 3, 2018, a continued § 341(a) meeting was held. Debtor's counsel did not produce the documents requested by Schuller, but instead produced a tax transcript. (Declaration

On May 4, 2018, Schuller's counsel filed an application for Rule 2004 examination of Debtor (the "2004 Application") [doc. 68]. On May 9, 2018, Debtor objected to the 2004 Application. In her objection, the Debtor agreed to produce certain documents, but disputed the scope and relevance of other document requests.

On May 11, 2018, Debtor filed a motion for a protective order (the "Protective Order Motion") [doc. 76]. On May 13, 2018, Schuller filed a response to the Protective Order Motion [doc. 84]. On June 14, 2018, the Court held a hearing on the Protective Order Motion. The Court continued the hearing on the Protective Order Motion to July 19, 2018, to allow the parties to file a stipulation pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 7026-1(c)(3), addressing the disputed document production categories.

On June 3, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the motion filed by Schuller to extend time to file a complaint under 11 U.S.C. § 523 and/or to deny a discharge (the "Order Extending Time") [doc. 120]. The Order Extending Time provided that Schuller's deadline to file such complaint is August 20, 2018.

On July 13, 2018, Schuller filed proof of claim no. 9 (the "Claim") for services performed, fees/costs advanced and finance charges [Claim 9, p. 2]. On July 17, 2018, the Debtor filed an objection to the Claim (the "Objection") [doc. 123] on the basis that the statute of limitations bars the Claim.

On July 19, 2018, the Court continued the hearing on the Protective Order Motion to August 23, 2018, to coincide with the hearing on the Objection.

On August 8, 2018, Schuller filed a response to the Objection (the "Response") [doc. 145]. In the Response, Schuller argues that the statute of limitations has not run on the Claim. Schuller alleges that the Claim is not based on the original contract between the parties, but rather on subsequent events that created an account stated. Schuller contends that each monthly statement adding interest on the original obligation is a "new account, so the statute of limitations has been tolled" [doc. 145, p. 6, lines 10-11].

On August 16, 2018, Debtor filed a reply to the Response (the "Reply") [doc. 147]. In the Reply, Debtor argues that the gravamen of the Claim is breach of contract, which is barred by the statute of limitations. Debtor further contends that even if the Claim is based on an account stated or book account, the account closed in 2008, and therefore, the Claim is barred by the statute of limitations.

II. Discussion

A. Claim Objection

11 U.S.C. § 502(a) provides that a proof of claim is deemed allowed, unless a party in interest objects. Fed. R. Bankr. P. 3001(f) provides that a proof of claim executed and filed in accordance with the rules constitutes prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claim. See also Local Bankruptcy Rule 3007-1(c) ("an objection to claim must be supported by admissible evidence sufficient to overcome the evidentiary effect of a properly documented proof of claim").

"To defeat the claim, the objector must come forward with sufficient evidence and show facts tending to defeat the claim by probative force equal to that of the allegations of the proofs of claim themselves." Lundell v. Anchor Const. Specialists, Inc., 223 F.3d 1035, 1039 (9th Cir. 2000) (internal citation omitted). "If the objector produces sufficient evidence to negate one or more of the sworn facts in the proof of claim, the burden reverts to the claimant to prove the validity of the claim by a preponderance of the evidence. The ultimate burden of persuasion remains at all times upon the claimant." Id. (internal citations omitted); In re Laptops Etc. Corp., 164 B.R. 506, 522 (Bankr. D. Md. 1993) (burden shifts to claimant, who has ultimate burden of persuasion as to validity of its claim, only "upon objection to the claim coupled with the admission of probative evidence which tends to sufficiently rebut the prima facie validity of the claim"); see also In re Campbell, 336 B.R. 430, 436 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 2005) ("[o]bjections without substance are inadequate to disallow claims, even if those claims lack the documentation required by Rule 3001(c).").

Pursuant to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure ("FRBP") 3003(b)(1), which applies to chapter 11 cases:

The schedule of liabilities filed pursuant to § 521(l) of the Code shall constitute prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claims of creditors, unless they are scheduled as disputed, contingent, or unliquidated. It shall not be necessary for a creditor or equity security holder to file a proof of claim or interest except as provided in subdivision (c)(2) of this rule.

Pursuant to FRBP 3003(c)(2):

Any creditor or equity security holder whose claim or interest is not scheduled or scheduled as disputed, contingent, or unliquidated shall file a proof of claim or interest within the time prescribed by subdivision (c)(3) of this rule; any creditor who fails to do so shall not be treated as a creditor with respect to such claim for the purposes of voting and distribution.

B. Statute of Limitations

"Under § 502(b)(1), a claim must be disallowed if the claim is unenforceable under applicable nonbankruptcy law." In re Paterno, No. BAP SC-14-1189-KUJUK, 2015 WL 735919, at *3 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. Feb. 20, 2015) "The grounds for disallowance that may be asserted in support of a § 502(b)(1) claim objection include those defenses that would be available to the debtor under state law." Id.

Debtor's principal argument is that the Claim is time barred by California Code of Civil Procedure ("CCP") § 337. CCP § 337(1) provides a statute of limitations of four years for claims based upon a contract. CCP § 337(2) provides a statute of limitations of four years for:

An action to recover (1) upon a book account whether consisting of one or more entries; (2) upon an account stated based upon an account in writing, but the acknowledgement of the account stated need not be in writing; (3) a balance due upon a mutual, open and current account, the items of which are in writing; provided, however, that where an account stated is based upon an account of one item, the time shall begin to run from the date of said item, and where an account stated is based upon an account of more than one item, the time shall begin to run from the date of the last item.

"The statute of limitations that applies to an action is governed by the gravamen of the complaint, not the cause of action pled." Profl Collection Consultants v. Lauron, 8 Cal. App. 5th 958, 967–68 (Ct. App. 2017), reh'g denied (Mar. 13, 2017), review denied (Apr. 26, 2017). "It is the substance of the action, rather than the form of the pleading or the labels employed, that governs." Id.

1. Breach of Contract

"A cause of action for damages for breach of contract is comprised of the following elements: (1) the contract, (2) plaintiff's performance or excuse for nonperformance, (3) defendant's breach, and (4) the resulting damages to plaintiff." Profl Collection Consultants v. Lauron, 8 Cal. App. 5th at 967–68. Further, a cause of action that is barred by the statute of limitations "cannot be resurrected by the device of pleading common counts, such as open book account and account stated, in lieu of the [] contract where . . . the common counts and the cause of action based on a [] contract are factually identical in all material respects." Filmservice Labs., Inc. v. Harvey Bernhard Enterprises, Inc., 208 Cal. App. 3d 1297, 1308 (Ct. App. 1989). "Thus, a complaint asserting common counts does not supersede the underlying contract." Profl Collection Consultants v. Lauron, 8 Cal. App. 5th at 967–68.

In this case, the evidence establishes that Debtor and Schuller had an agreement that contractually obligated Debtor to pay the attorney's fees [doc. 143, Exh. A]. Schuller admits that its claim is based on recovery of its costs and fees pursuant to the attorney-client agreement it entered into with Debtor [Schuller Decl., ¶¶5-9]. Schuller further admits that it has been charging interest pursuant to the terms of the agreement [Denney-Garrett Decl., ¶ 6]. As such, the basis for the Claim is that Debtor failed to pay the attorney's fees when they came due. Thus, the gravamen of Schuller's claim is breach of contract. The mere fact that Schuller alleges that the Claim is based on an account stated does not mean that the gravamen of the Claim is not breach of contract. Schuller cannot resurrect a breach of contract action by alleging that the Claim is based on an account stated when the Claim is factually identical in all material respects to a breach of contract action.

Because the Claim is based on a breach of contract cause of action, the claim is time barred by the four-year statute of limitations. Debtor was in breach of contract when she failed to pay the attorney's fees requested in the May 12 Letter in 2008. Ten years have lapsed since Debtor's breach, which is well beyond the four-year statute of limitations. Thus, the Claim is unenforceable and must be disallowed.

2. Account Stated and Book Account

"Actions to recover on an account stated or a book account accrue on the date of the last item or entry in the account." Prof'l Collection Consultants, 8 Cal. App. 5th at 966. The date of the last item is the date of "the last payment or charge." In re Orozco, No. 2:13-BK-15745-NB, 2017 WL 3126797, at *1 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. July 21, 2017).

a. Book Account

"A 'book account' is 'a detailed statement which constitutes the principal record of one or more transactions between a debtor and a creditor arising out of a contract or some fiduciary relation, and shows the debits and credits in connection therewith, and against whom and in favor of whom entries are made, is entered in the regular course of business as conducted by such creditor or fiduciary, and is kept in a reasonably permanent form and manner and is (1) in a bound book, or (2) on a sheet or sheets fastened in a book or to backing but detachable therefrom, or (3) on a card or cards of a permanent character, or is kept in any other reasonably permanent form and manner.'" Prof'l Collection Consultants, 8 Cal. App. 5th at 969 (citing CCP § 337a). "Examples of statements held to be book accounts include a law firm's billing statements reflecting work performed on an hourly basis (In re Roberts Farms, Inc. (9th Cir.1992) 980 F.2d 1248, 1252, applying California law) and a ledger sheet recording amounts due for hay deliveries (Costerisan v. DeLong (1967) 251 Cal.App.2d 768, 769–771, 59 Cal.Rptr. 803)." Id.

A book account is "open" where a balance remains due on the account. Id. at 969. "A book account does not remain open indefinitely so that any payment towards the debt necessarily becomes an "entry" for purposes of the applicable limitations period." R.N.C. Inc. v. Tsegeletos, 231 Cal. App. 3d 967, 972 (Ct. App. 1991). "Instead, a book account like any open account becomes closed once the account creditor ceases to extend credit and there will be no further activity on the account other than the payments by a creditor towards the settled debt." Id. "[T]he 'open' or 'closed' nature of a book account turns not on the account balance per se, but on the parties' expectations of possible future transactions between them [on that account]." Id. "[T]he relevant date is the date the debt becomes settled; i.e., the date the relationship between the parties has come to an end other than for purposes of paying amounts due or past due." Id. at 975.

In this case, the Claim is based on Schuller's billing statements reflecting work performed on an hourly basis [doc. 123, Exh. 1]. As such, the Claim can be construed as based on a book account. See In re Roberts Farms, Inc., 980 F.2d at 1252. However, Debtor has provided sufficient evidence to show that the account was closed in 2008. Schuller did not intend to provide any further services to Debtor as evidenced by the May 12 Letter and substitution of attorney filed with the state court [doc. 123, Exhs. 2 & 3]. At that point, the only activity expected on the account was payments by the Debtor. Debtor and Schuller's relationship came to an end in 2008 other than for purposes of paying amounts due or past due. Debtor has not made any payments since 2008 and Schuller has not performed any additional services for Debtor. As such, the statute of limitations expired in 2012.

Schuller cites Doyle v. McPherson, 36 Cal. App. 2d 81, 84 (1939), for the proposition that an interest charge is an "item" on an account so as to fall within the parameters of the "last item" accrual of the four-year statute of limitations. However, in Doyle the court stated that the last item on the open book account related to a small credit. The court went on to state that the next previous item was a charge for interest. Doyle, 36 Cal. App. 2d at 84. The court did not state that interest charges alone could keep a book account open. Thus, the Claim is unenforceable and must be disallowed.

b. Account Stated

"An account stated is 'an agreement, based on prior transactions between the parties, that the items of an account are true and that the balance struck is due and owing.'" Prof'l Collection Consultants, 8 Cal. App. 5th at 969 (citing Maggio, Inc. v. Neal, 196 Cal.App.3d 745, 752 (1987)). "[A]n element essential to render the account stated is that it receive the assent of both parties, but the assent of the party sought to be charged may be implied from his conduct." Id. (citing Hansen v. Fresno Jersey Farm Dairy Co., 220 Cal. 402, 408 (1934)).

"For example, '[w]hen a statement is rendered to a debtor and no reply is made in a reasonable time, the law implies an agreement that the account is correct as rendered.'" Prof'l Collection Consultants, 8 Cal. App. 5th at 969 (citing Maggio, supra, at p. 753). "As to what is a reasonable time which should elapse from the time of the service of the account on the debtor in order to create an account stated, in the absence of a positive declaration of acquiescence, is one of law for the court." Lacy Mfg. Co. v. Gold Crown Mining Co., 52 Cal. App. 2d 568, 577 (1942). "It has been held that a delay of six months in repudiating the agreement is as a matter of law unreasonable and that, because of it, acquiescence will be presumed and that an account stated is thereby created." Id.

In this case, Debtor disputed the charges by Schuller with her credit card company within six months of when the amounts became due. Schuller admits knowing of the dispute [Schuller decl., ¶ 11]. As such, Debtor did dispute the charges on the account within a reasonable amount of time and Schuller was aware of the dispute. Thus, contrary to Schuller's contention, an account stated was not created by Debtor's lack of objection.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons discussed above, the Court will sustain Debtor's objection to the Claim.

Debtor must submit a proposed order within seven (7) days.

#1.00 Emergency motion to enforce the automatic stay

fr. 8/1/18

Docket 11

Tentative Ruling:

The Court will grant the motion on an interim basis, through October 3, 2018, and continue the hearing to 9:30 a.m. on October 3, 2018.

This is the debtor's fourth chapter 13 case. The debtor's schedule I indicates that he and his spouse make a combined income of $15,000.00 per month. However, the debtor's statement of financial affairs does not support this assertion. The debtor's chapter 13 plan is based on an income of $15,000.00 per month. On or before September 26, 2018, the debtor must file a declaration signed under penalty of perjury demonstrating that he has made his August and September 2018 chapter 13 plan payments and his August and September 2018 deed of trust payments regarding his residence.

Is the debtor interested in participating in the Court's loan modification program?

8/1/18 Tentative Ruling

Grant on an interim basis, until the next hearing. The Court intends to continue this hearing to September 5, 2018 at 9:30 a.m.

Under 11 U.S.C. § 362(c)(4), in order to impose the automatic stay in a case filed within one year of two or more cases of the debtor that were pending but were dismissed, the debtor must show that the pending case was filed in good faith as to the creditors to be stayed.

The First Case. On August 31, 2017, Jose Luis Gonzalez (the "Debtor") filed a chapter 13 petition, commencing case no. 1:17-bk-12312-MT (the "First Case"). In the First Case, the Debtor was represented by counsel. On August 31, 2017, the Court issued a Notice of Dismissal of Case if Required Documents Are Not Filed or Signed (“Dismissal Notice”) [1:17-bk-12312-MT, doc. 3]. The Dismissal Notice provided that the First Case would be dismissed if the Debtor did not comply within 72 hours. On September 6, 2017, the Court entered an order dismissing the First Case [1:17-bk-12312-MT, doc. 10].

The Second Case. On January 3, 2018, the Debtor filed a chapter 13 petition, commencing case no. 1:18-bk-10017-VK (the “Second Case”). In the Second Case, the Debtor was represented by counsel. On January 4, 2018, the Court entered an Order to Comply with Bankruptcy Rule 1007 and 3015(B) and Notice of Intent to Dismiss Case (the “Order to Comply”) [1:18-bk-10017-VK, doc. 7]. The Order to Comply directed the Debtor to file his chapter 13 plan no later than 14 days after the petition date. No chapter 13 plan was filed. On January 22, 2018, the Court entered an order dismissing the Second Case [1:18-bk-10017-VK, doc. 12].

The Third Case. On January 29, 2018, the Debtor filed a chapter 13 petition, commencing case no. 1:18-bk-10251-MT (the “Third Case”). In the Third Case, the Debtor was represented by counsel. On March 28, 2018, the Court entered an order dismissing the Third Case, for failure to appear at the 341(a) meeting and/or to make pre-confirmation plan payments [1:18-bk-10251-MT, doc. 29].

The Pending Case. On July 31, 2018, the Debtor filed a chapter 13 petition, commencing case no. 1:18-bk-11936-VK (the “Pending Case”). On August 1, 2018, the Debtor filed an Emergency Motion to Enforce the Automatic Stay (the “Motion”) [doc. 11]. Through the Motion, the Debtor seeks to impose the automatic stay in his case as to all secured creditors, with respect to his single family residence located at 22051 Sagebrook Drive, Chatsworth, CA 91311 (the “Property”).

The Debtor states that on August 2, 2017, he submitted a loan modification application to Bank of America. Bank of America subsequently informed the Debtor that the loan modification process had been transferred to Carrington Mortgage Services, LLC (“Carrington”). Then the Debtor was informed that he had to re-start the loan modification process, directly with Carrington. On December 12, 2017, the Debtor submitted a loan modification application to Carrington. The Debtor alleges that Carrington improperly denied his loan modification application.

The Debtor represents that the attorneys who assisted him with his prior bankruptcy cases are responsible for the dismissal of those cases, because of their inadequate assistance. The Debtor further represents that he can confirm a 100% payment plan and has adequate income to cover the ongoing mortgage payments plus payment of arrears over 5 years.

In light of the foregoing, the Court will grant the Motion on an interim basis and impose the automatic stay on all secured creditors up to the date of the continued hearing. No later than August 8, 2018, the Debtor must also file and serve notice of the continued hearing, and serve the Motion, on all secured creditors. The notice of continued hearing must state that the deadline to file an opposition to the Motion is August 22, 2018. The deadline to file a reply is August 29, 2018. If the Debtor does not appear at the continued hearing on September 5, 2018, the Court may deny the Motion and lift the automatic stay.

Docket 101

Tentative Ruling:

At the prior hearing held on August 22, 2018, the debtor appeared and stated she was ready, willing and able to cure the post-petition arrearages. The Court continued the hearing to September 5, 2018 at 9:30 a.m. and instructed the debtor to get in touch with counsel for the movant and, if the parties could not resolve the matter, to appear at the hearing with the cure amount.

If the debtor does not appear at the continued hearing with the required cure payment, the Court may grant the motion, as set forth in its prior tentative ruling.

Tentative Ruling from 8/22/18

Grant relief from stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §§ 362(d)(1) and (d)(2).

Movant (and any successors or assigns) may proceed under applicable nonbankruptcy law to enforce its remedies to repossess and sell the property.

The 14-day stay prescribed by FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived.

Movant must submit the order within seven (7) days.

Note: No response has been filed. Accordingly, no court appearance by movant is required. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the Court will determine whether further hearing is required and movant will be so notified.

Chapter 13

#12.00 Motion for relief from stay [RP]

WELLS FARGO BANK, N.A.
VS
DEBTOR

Docket 38

Tentative Ruling:

Grant relief from stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1).

Movant (and any successors or assigns) may proceed under applicable nonbankruptcy law to enforce its remedies to foreclose upon and obtain possession of the property.

The co-debtor stay of 11 U.S.C. § 1201(a) and § 1301(a) is terminated, modified or annulled as to the co-debtor, on the same terms and conditions as to the debtor.

Upon entry of the order, for purposes of Cal. Civ. Code § 2923.5, the Debtor is a borrower as defined in Cal. Civ. Code § 2920.5(c)(2)(C).

The 14-day stay prescribed by FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived.

Movant must submit the order within seven (7) days.

Note: No opposition has been filed. Accordingly, no court appearance by movant is required. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the Court will determine whether further hearing is required and movant will be so notified.

Chapter 11

#8.00 Motion to restrict use of cash collateral and for adequate protection.

from: 8/2/18

Docket 33

Tentative Ruling:

For the reasons stated below, the Court will deny the motion.

I. BACKGROUND

On May 4, 2018, Robert Edward Zuckerman (the "Debtor") filed a voluntary chapter 11 petition. In his schedules, the Debtor listed a secured claim held by Richard Abel ("Creditor") in the amount of $83,368.28. (Doc. 25, at p. 31.) Creditor's claim is listed as "disputed." (Id.) The Debtor also listed monthly income of $15,000 and monthly expenses of $13,862.56. (Doc. 25, at p. 61.)

Prepetition, the Debtor was a defendant in several legal proceedings related to his business ventures, among other reasons. One such proceeding was a state court action titled Liebling, et al. v. Goodrich, et al., Sonoma County Superior Court case no. SCV-245738 (the "State Court Action"). In connection with the State Court Action, on March 20, 2017, Creditor obtained a final judgment in the amount of $83,368.28 (the "Judgment"). (Declaration of Robert Edward Zuckerman, ¶ 5.)

On June 29, 2017, Creditor filed a Notice of Judgment Lien with the California Secretary of State. (Doc. 33, Exh. A.) On January 24, 2018, the state court issued an Order (1) Granting Motion for Assignment Order; (2) Granting Motion for Restraining Order; (3) Granting Order to Seize (the "Assignment Order"). (Doc. 33, Exh. B.) The Assignment Order provides, in relevant part:

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that pursuant to Code of Civil Procedure section 708.510, the interests of judgment debtors Cruickshank, Skarpas and Zuckerman, whether standing in the names of Cruickshank, Skarpas, and Zuckerman or from or through any business entity or person in which Cruickshank, Skarpias, and Zuckerman are affiliated, as well as generated through the use of any license issued by a governmental agency including, but not limited to, California Bureau of Real Estate License No. 00833651, and their rights to receive payment of money due or to become due, including, without limitation, accounts receivable, general intangibles, instruments, securities, accounts, deposit accounts, rents, royalties, fees, dividends, fees, salaries, commissions, residual income, distributions, and all other rights to money, are assigned to judgment creditor Richard Abel to the extent necessary to satisfy the judgment amounts herein in full, including accrued interest using the legal rate of 10% per annum[.]

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that pursuant to Code of Civil Procedure section 708.520 the judgment debtors Cruickshank, Skarpias, and Zuckerman, and any servant, agent, employee, entity, attorney, or any person(s) acting in concert with or participating with the judgment debtors, are hereby restrained from encumbering, disposing, or transferring any and all rights to payment of judgment debtors thereunder.

(Doc. 33, Exh. B, at p. 5.)

On July 3, 2018, Creditor filed a Motion to Restrict Use of Cash Collateral and for Adequate Protection (the "Motion") [doc. 33]. No declaration was attached in support of the Motion. Creditor states that he holds a judgment lien on the following items identified in the Debtor's schedules:

- (1) the Debtor's interest in Continental Communities, LLC [doc. 25, at p. 8];
- (2) the Debtor's interest in Valley Circle Estate Realty [doc. 25, at p. 8];
- (3) the Debtor's interest in the Zuckerman Building Company [doc. 25, at p. 8];

- (10) office furniture and equipment [doc. 25, at p. 10]; and
- (11) twenty cases of wine [doc. 25, at p. 11].

Through the Motion, Creditor seeks to restrict the Debtor's use of cash collateral pursuant to the Judgment and the Assignment Order. On July 19, 2018, the Debtor filed an opposition (the "Opposition") [doc. 38].

II. RELEVANT STATE LAW

California Code of Civil Procedure ("C.C.P.") § 697.510(a) provides, "[a] judgment lien on personal property described in Section 697.530 is created by filing a notice of judgment lien in the office of the Secretary of State pursuant to this article."

Pursuant to C.C.P. § 697.530:

(a) A judgment lien on personal property is a lien on all interests in the following personal property that are subject to enforcement of the money judgment against the judgment debtor pursuant to Article 1 (commencing with Section 695.010) of Chapter 1 at the time when the lien is created if the personal property is, at that time, any of the following:

(2) Tangible chattel paper, as defined in paragraph (79) of subdivision (a) of Section 9102 of the Commercial Code, and the judgment debtor is located in this state.

(3) Equipment, located within this state.

(4) Farm products, located within this state.

(5) Inventory, located within this state.

(6) Negotiable documents of title, located within this state.

(b) If any interest in personal property on which a judgment lien could be created under subdivision (a) is acquired after the judgment lien was created, the judgment lien attaches to the interest at the time it is acquired.

(c) To the extent provided by Section 697.620, a judgment lien on personal property continues on the proceeds received upon the sale, collection, or other disposition of the property subject to the judgment lien.

section 552(b) of this title, whether existing before or after the commencement of a case under this title.

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 363(c)(2):

The trustee may not use, sell, or lease cash collateral under paragraph (1) of this subsection unless—

- (A) each entity that has an interest in such cash collateral consents; or
- (B) the court, after notice and a hearing, authorizes such use, sale, or lease in accordance with the provisions of this section.

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 363(c)(4), "the trustee shall segregate and account for any cash collateral in the trustee's possession, custody, or control."

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 363(e):

Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, at any time, on request of an entity that has an interest in property used, sold, or leased, or proposed to be used, sold, or leased, by the trustee, the court, with or without a hearing, shall prohibit or condition such use, sale, or lease as is necessary to provide adequate protection of such interest. This subsection also applies to property that is subject to any unexpired lease of personal property (to the exclusion of such property being subject to an order to grant relief from the stay under section 362).

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 363(p):

In any hearing under this section-

- (1) the trustee has the burden of proof on the issue of adequate protection; and
- (2) the entity asserting an interest in property has the burden of proof on the issue of the validity, priority, or extent of such interest.

IV. DISCUSSION

Chapter 11

Through the Motion, Creditor asserts an interest in the Debtor's (i) six business entities; (ii) real estate license; (iii) general contractor's license; (iv) claim for malpractice against his former counsel; (v) office furniture and equipment; and (vi) twenty cases of wine. Pursuant to § 363(p), Creditor has the burden of proof on the validity, priority, or extent of such interest.

A. Judgment Lien on Personal Property

In light of the Judgment and the Notice of Judgment Lien, Creditor appears to hold a judgment lien on the Debtor's personal property, provided that such personal property falls within the categories enumerated in C.C.P. § 697.530(a). On March 20, 2017, a Judgment was entered in the State Court Action, in favor of Creditor and against the Debtor. On June 29, 2017, Creditor filed a Notice of Judgment Lien with the California Secretary of State. Pursuant to C.C.P. § 697.510(a), a judgment lien on the Debtor's personal property was created when Creditor filed the Notice of Judgment Lien. Pursuant to C.C.P. § 697.530(a), Creditor's judgment lien attached to the Debtor's accounts receivable, tangible chattel paper, equipment, farm products, inventory, and negotiable documents of title. Accordingly, Creditor's judgment lien appears to attach to the Debtor's office furniture and equipment identified in his schedules.

However, none of the Debtor's remaining personal property items identified by Creditor appear to fall within the ambit of C.C.P. § 697.530(a). Creditor has not established that his judgment lien attaches to the Debtor's interest in the six business entities. Pursuant to C.C.P. § 695.060, the Debtor's real estate or general contractor licenses are not subject to enforcement of the Judgment. Creditor has not established which category of personal property enumerated in C.C.P. § 697.530(a) applies to the Debtor's claim for malpractice or to the twenty cases of wine.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Debtor concedes that Creditor may hold a judgment lien that attaches to the Debtor's personal property not identified by Creditor, or to any after-acquired personal property, that falls within the enumerated categories of § 697.530(a).

B. The Assignment Order

Chapter 11

Creditor argues that pursuant to C.C.P. § 708.510, the Assignment Order transferred to Creditor the Debtor's interest in the six business entities, the Debtor's real estate and general contractor's licenses, and the Debtor's claim for malpractice. C.C.P. § 708.510 provides that a court may order a judgment debtor to assign to a judgment creditor "a right to payment due or to become due." However, the statute does not contemplate transferring to a judgment creditor a judgment debtor's interests in business entities, professional licenses, or litigation claims. Thus, the Debtor appears correct that the Assignment Order assigns only the Debtor's right to receive money due or to become due, including money owed to the Debtor arising from his business entities, and money owed to the Debtor from the use of his business licenses. See, e.g., Chooljian Bros. Packing Co. v. Tilson, Case No. 1:08CV42AWIDLB, 2009 WL 111909, at *2 (E.D. Cal. Jan. 15, 2009) (denying motion for assignment order pursuant to C.C.P. § 708.510, in part because plaintiff sought assignment of title to certain trademarks owned by defendants).

In Specialty Labs., Inc. v. Advanced Biomedical, Inc. (In re Advanced Biomedical, Inc.), 547 B.R. 337 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2016), aff'd, Case No. AP 14-01275-MW, 2016 WL 7188651 (9th Cir. B.A.P. Dec. 2, 2016), a judgment creditor obtained an assignment order, which provided for the assignment of rights to payment of money due or to become due, pursuant to C.C.P. § 708.510. Shortly after the assignment order was entered, the judgment debtor filed a chapter 11 petition. The judgment debtor listed certain accounts receivables in its schedules. The judgment creditor filed an adversary proceeding, seeking a declaratory judgment that it held title to the accounts receivables. The bankruptcy court held that the assignment order was effective upon entry, and the judgment debtor ceased to own the accounts receivable at issue at the time the assignment order became effective. As a result, the judgment creditor held title to the accounts receivable, and the accounts receivables were not property of the judgment debtor's bankruptcy estate.

Here, the Debtor asserts that as of the petition date, he did not own any right to payment of monies due or to become due as of the petition date. The Debtor did not list any such right to payment in his schedules.

In light of Advanced Biomedical, the Debtor appears correct that the Assignment Order did not create a lien or security interest in any of the Debtor's postpetition assets. The Assignment Order become effective upon entry, or on January 24, 2018. In accordance with California law and the holding of Advanced Biomedical, upon entry of the Assignment Order, the right to payment assigned by the Assignment Order became Creditor's property prepetition on January 24, 2018. As such, any right to payment of monies due or to become due, arising from the Debtor's business entities or the Debtor's use of his licenses, does not appear to be property of the Debtor's bankruptcy estate. Because such right to payment is not property of the Debtor's bankruptcy estate, such right to payment is not cash collateral and not subject to the provisions of 11 U.S.C. § 363. Accordingly, Creditor may exercise the right to payment assigned by the Assignment Order without obtaining this Court's authorization.

C. Cash Collateral

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 363(a), "cash collateral" includes "cash, negotiable instruments, documents of title, securities, deposit accounts, or other cash equivalents whenever acquired in which the estate and an entity other than the estate have an interest and includes the proceeds, products, offspring, rents, or profits of property[.]"

The Debtor concedes that based on the Notice of Judgment Lien, Creditor may have an interest in cash collateral as defined in 11 U.S.C. § 363(a). However, the Debtor states that he did not possess any accounts receivable, chattel paper, or negotiable instruments as of the petition date, and the Debtor still does not possess these types of cash collateral. In addition, the Debtor asserts that he has not used, sold, or leased any accounts receivable, chattel paper, or negotiable instruments in which Creditor had an interest as of the filing of the Opposition. Furthermore, the Debtor asserts that he has not used, sold, or leased any right to payment since the petition date.

The Debtor states that his income has fallen short of his projected $15,000 per month, and that he has only earned $2,500 since the petition date. The Debtor also states that he has not expended any funds since the petition date, with his monthly expenses being paid by the Debtor's son.

The Debtor has not identified the source of the $2,500 he has earned since the petition date. If the Debtor obtained such monies from his business interests or from the use of his licenses, then such monies may be subject to the Assignment Order. If such monies are subject to the Assignment Order, then Creditor would own the rights to those monies. As noted above, such monies would not be property of the Debtor's estate and not subject to 11 U.S.C. § 363.

V. CONCLUSION

In light of the foregoing, the Court will deny the Motion. Creditor has not met his burden of establishing the validity, priority, or extent of his interest in any of the Debtor's assets that could constitute cash collateral pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 363. To the extent that the Debtor has received after January 24, 2018 any monies from his business entities or from the use of his licenses, the Assignment Order provides that the right to payment of such monies is the Creditor's property, and therefore not property of the Debtor's bankruptcy estate.

The Debtor must submit the order within seven (7) days.

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling from June 20, 2018

Deny relief from the automatic stay.

In order to provide additional time for the chapter 7 trustee (the "Trustee") to determine whether he would proceed with the state court litigation, and for the parties to explore mediation of their dispute, the Court continued the prior hearing on this matter. The parties were instructed to file a status report no later than June 6, 2018.

On June 6, 2018, movant filed a unilateral status report [doc. 142]. Movant states that on April 26, 2018, the state court sustained movant's demurrer and gave the Trustee 10 days to file an amended complaint. As of the date of the status report, movant states that the Trustee has not done so. Movant further states that the state court set a trial date for the debtor's affirmative claims for February 19, 2019.

The unilateral status report is not supported by declaration or other evidence. If the statements in the unilateral status report are correct, it appears that the Trustee does not intend to pursue the debtor's claims against Movant in state court.

Even if mandatory abstention applies to the parties' state court litigation, mandatory abstention alone does not necessarily establish "cause" for relief from the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1). In Benedor Corp. v. Conejo Enterprises, Inc. (In re Conejo Enterprises, Inc.), 96 F.3d 346 (9th Cir. 1996), a chapter 11 debtor removed a creditor's state court breach of contract action against the debtor to bankruptcy court. The creditor moved for abstention, remand, and relief from the automatic stay, which the bankruptcy court denied. The district court reversed the bankruptcy court, holding that because mandatory abstention applied, there was cause for relief from the automatic stay. With respect to cause for relief from the automatic stay, the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals reversed the decision of the district court:

"[A] finding that mandatory abstention applies to the underlying state action does not preclude denial of relief from § 362's automatic stay. . . . [Section] 362(b) provides explicit exceptions to § 362(a)'s automatic stay. Pending state actions that are determined to be non-core proceedings are not listed among the explicit exemptions. Therefore, it is clear that Congress did not intend to provide an exception to the automatic stay for non-core pending state actions which are subject to mandatory abstention. In fact, Congress has made it clear that it intended just the opposite by providing that a decision to abstain under § 1334(c)(2) "shall not be construed to limit the applicability of the stay provided for by [§ 362] . . . ." 28 U.S.C. § 1334(c)(2)[.]

Id. at 352. The Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals found that the bankruptcy court had reasonably considered the following grounds in denying relief from stay: whether the creditor would file a proof of claim in the debtor's case, or waive its right to payment from the bankruptcy estate, and that judicial economy would be promoted by limiting duplicative litigation. As the Court of Appeals noted:

[t]he filing of a proof of claim by [creditor] must also be considered in determining whether cause exists for lifting the automatic stay. In holding that the automatic stay must be lifted, the district court ignored the filing of the proof of claim, instead focusing on its finding that the state court action was not within the bankruptcy court's core jurisdiction. We hold that the district court erred in doing so.

The allowance and disallowance of claims against the estate is a core proceeding. 28 U.S.C. § 157(b)(2)(B). Once [creditor] filed its proof of claim, it subjected its claim to the core jurisdiction of the bankruptcy court. It was within the sound discretion of the bankruptcy court to deny relief from the automatic stay.

Here, on October 6, 2017, movant filed proof of claim 6-1 in the debtor's bankruptcy case. The filing of this proof of claim subjects movant's claim to the core jurisdiction of this Court, subject to payment under the Bankruptcy Code's distribution scheme along with other filed claims. Pursuant to Conejo Enterprises, this Court is within its sound discretion to deny movant's request for relief from the automatic stay, for the reason set forth in the Court's prior tentative ruling.

Deny.

I. BACKGROUND

Kandy Kiss of California, Inc. (the "Debtor") is a California corporation that was in the business of design, product development, wholesale manufacture, and sale of apparel to large retailers. IDFIX, Inc. ("Movant") produced fabric and garments for the Debtor.

In 2015, the Debtor and Movant had a dispute over certain garments that Movant produced for the Debtor. The Debtor refused to pay for the alleged nonconforming garments, which cost a total of $2,462,097.88 [doc. 137, Exh. A]. On July 14, 2016, the Debtor filed in state court a complaint against Movant and three other defendants, alleging breach of contract, breach of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing, conversion, open book account, account stated, unjust enrichment, and fraudulent concealment (the "State Court Action") [doc. 137, Exh A]. On December 1, 2016, Movant filed a cross-complaint against the Debtor and three other cross-defendants, alleging breach of contract, breach of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing, conversion, open book account, account stated, unjust enrichment, and fraudulent concealment (the "Cross-Complaint") [doc. 137, Exh A].

On February 14, 2017, an involuntary petition was filed against the Debtor. The State Court Action was stayed pursuant to the automatic stay. On September 19, 2017, the order for relief was entered in the Debtor's case [doc. 63].

On March 15, 2018, Movant filed a motion for relief from the automatic stay to proceed with the Cross-Complaint against the Debtor in the State Court Action (the "Motion") [doc. 137]. In the Motion, Movant argues that the Court must abstain from hearing the State Court Action because mandatory abstention under 28 U.S.C. § 1334(c) constitutes cause for lifting the automatic stay. Movant also argues that relief from the automatic stay is proper using the multi-factor test from In re Sonmax Indus., Inc., 99 B.R. 591 (D. Vt. 1989), aff'd, 907 F.2d 1280 (2d Cir. 1990).

On April 4, 2018, the chapter 7 trustee ("Trustee") filed an opposition to the Motion (the "Opposition") [doc. 139]. On April 11, 2018, Movant filed a reply to the Opposition [doc. 140].

II. DISCUSSION

A. Mandatory Abstention

28 U.S.C § 1334(c)(2) provides:

Upon timely motion of a party in a proceeding based upon a State law claim or State law cause of action, related to a case under title 11 but not arising under title 11 or arising in a case under title 11, with respect to which an action could not have been commenced in a court of the United States absent jurisdiction under this section, the district court shall abstain from hearing such proceeding if an action is commenced, and can be timely adjudicated, in a State forum of appropriate jurisdiction.

Mandatory abstention under 28 U.S.C. § 1334(c)(2) requires that the following seven elements be met:

(1) A timely motion; (2) a purely state law question; (3) a non-core proceeding § 157(c)(1); (4) a lack of independent federal jurisdiction absent the petition under Title 11; (5) that an action is commenced in a state court; (6) the state court action may be timely adjudicated; (7) a state forum of appropriate jurisdiction exists.

In re Gen. Carriers Corp., 258 B.R. 181, 189 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 2001).

must be present. Here the Motion was timely filed and there is no independent basis for federal jurisdiction outside of Title 11 of the United States Code as the Cross-Complaint alleges purely state law questions. Although the State Court Action may have an effect on future distribution to creditors, the Cross-Complaint does not otherwise raise any bankruptcy issues or impede the Trustee's administration of the case. Moreover, the State Court Action was commenced in state court and the state court has jurisdiction over the State Court Action.

However, it is unclear whether the state court can timely adjudicate the State Court Action. Compare In re Eastport Associates, 935 F.2d 1071, 1078-79 (9th Cir. 1991) (holding that the state court could not timely adjudicate the matter where parties would have to start litigation over in state court); and In re Smith, 389 B.R. 902, 921 n. 18 (Bankr. D. Nev. 2008) (noting that "there can be no timely adjudication" where the bankruptcy court can hear the matter before the state court); with Bowen Corp. v. Sec. Pac. Bank Idaho, F.S.B., 150 B.R. 777, 784 (Bankr. D. Idaho 1993) (finding the state court could adjudicate the matter much more quickly because a motion for summary judgment had already been filed and was pending before the action was removed to federal court). "[T]he party moving for abstention will bear the burden of demonstrating that a state court action can be timely adjudicated." In re First All. Mortgage Co., 269 B.R. 449, 455 (C.D. Cal. 2001). There is no trial set in the State Court Action and few resources have been expended in preparation for a trial in the State Court Action [doc. 140]. The parties would need to prosecute the State Court Action from start to finish because it was stayed in the early stages of litigation. Movant has not provided any evidence that the State Court Action can be timely adjudicated. On the other hand, if necessary, this Court could estimate Movant's claim sooner than the state court would be able to fully adjudicate the State Court Action and liquidate Movant's claim. Accordingly, it does not appear that all elements for mandatory abstention have been met.

B. Relief from the Automatic Stay

Section 362(d)(1) permits lifting of the automatic stay to continue pending litigation against a debtor in a nonbankruptcy forum. See Christensen v. Tucson Estates, Inc. (In re Tucson Estates, Inc.), 912 F.2d 1162, 1166 (9th Cir. 1990). In so determining, "the bankruptcy court should base its decision on the hardships imposed on the parties with an eye towards the overall goals of the Bankruptcy Code." In re C & S Grain

Co., Inc., 47 F.3d 233, 238 (7th Cir. 1995) (emphasis added).

Factors that courts have used to determine whether to lift the automatic stay to allow litigation to proceed in a non-bankruptcy forum include:

- (1) Whether the relief will result in a partial or complete resolution of the issues.
- (2) The lack of any connection with or interference with the bankruptcy case.
- (3) Whether the foreign proceeding involves the debtor as a fiduciary.
- (4) Whether a specialized tribunal has been established to hear the particular cause of action and that tribunal has the expertise to hear such cases.
- (5) Whether the debtor's insurance carrier has assumed full financial responsibility for defending the litigation.
- (6) Whether the action essentially involves third parties, and the debtor functions only as a bailee or conduit for the goods or proceeds in question.
- (7) Whether litigation in another forum would prejudice the interests of other creditors, the creditors' committee and other interested parties.
- (8) Whether the judgment claim arising from the foreign action is subject to equitable subordination under Section 510(c).
- (9) Whether movant's success in the foreign proceeding would result in a judicial lien avoidable by the debtor under Section 522(f).

Whether the relief will result in a partial or complete resolution of the issues

This factor weighs against lifting the automatic stay. Allowing the State Court Action to proceed in state court would not allow immediate and complete resolution of the dispute between Movant and the Debtor. The state court can adjudicate the claims and cross-claims between the parties; however, Movant would still need to file a proof of claim in the Debtor's bankruptcy case in order to receive a distribution from the Trustee.

The lack of any connection with or interference with the bankruptcy case

This factor weighs against lifting the automatic stay. Although the State Court Action may have an effect on future distribution to creditors, the Cross-Complaint does not otherwise deal with any bankruptcy issues. However, if the Trustee were required to litigate the State Court Action in a different forum, such litigation may impede the Trustee's administration of the case.

Whether the foreign proceeding involves the debtor as a fiduciary

The State Court Action does not involve the Debtor's conduct as a fiduciary.

Whether a specialized tribunal has been established to hear the particular cause of action and that tribunal has the expertise to hear such cases

The Trustee contends that Movant has not met its burden to show that extraordinary circumstances exist for deviating from the well-established bankruptcy claims resolution process. The Court agrees.

Whether the debtor's insurance carrier has assumed full financial responsibility for defending the litigation

It is unclear whether the Debtor's insurance carrier, if any, has paid for costs of defending the State Court Action.

Whether litigation in another forum would prejudice the interests of other creditors, the creditors' committee and other interested parties

Movant argues there is no prejudice because all creditors will get paid a pro-rata share. However, the cost of liquidating Movant's claim in the State Court Action, potentially without any reason for doing so, may decrease the amount of funds available for unsecured creditors. This factor weighs against lifting the automatic

Chapter 7

Whether the judgment claim arising from the foreign action is subject to equitable subordination under Section 510(c)

At this time, it does not appear that any resulting judgment that Movant may obtain in the State Court Action would be subject to equitable subordination.

The interest of judicial economy and the expeditious and economical determination of litigation for the parties

This factor weighs in favor of lifting the automatic stay. The Debtor is one of four cross-defendants in the State Court Action. If the Court lifted the automatic stay, it would minimize potentially duplicative litigation in two different forums.

Whether the foreign proceedings have progressed to the point where the parties are prepared for trial

This factor weighs against lifting the automatic stay, because the State Court Action has not progressed to the point where the parties are prepared for trial. The State Court Action was stayed at the early stages of litigation. The parties have not expended significant resources in the State Court Action that would go to waste if the Court denies the Motion.

The impact of the stay on the parties and the "balance of the hurt."

Entry of judgment in the State Court Action would prejudice the Debtor. However, the Court can prohibit any enforcement of the judgment against the Debtor or the Debtor's estate during the pendency of its bankruptcy case. Still, lifting the stay does not appear warranted here because the State Court Action is at a very early stage, and allowing the parties to litigate the State Court Action may impede the administration of the Debtor's estate.

Movant contends that the Court lifting the automatic stay will ensure a level playing field because the Trustee is currently free to prosecute the State Court Action, but Movant is prevented from doing so by the automatic stay. However, the Trustee has not determined whether he will prosecute any of the Debtor's affirmative claims. Because the Trustee is not presently prosecuting the State Court Action, there is no need at this time for the Court to level the playing field. Accordingly, the "balance of the hurt" weighs against lifting the automatic stay.

III. CONCLUSION

In light of the foregoing, Movant has not shown that mandatory abstention under 28 U.S.C. § 1334(c)(2) applies to the State Court Action. In addition, the Sonnax factors weigh against lifting the automatic stay. Movant has not shown sufficient cause under 11 U.S.C § 362(d)(1) to warrant relief from the automatic stay to proceed with the nonbankruptcy action against the Debtor.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, Movant may proceed against the non-debtor defendants in the nonbankruptcy action. Movant also retains the right to file a proof of claim under 11 U.S.C. § 501 in the Debtor's bankruptcy case.

The Trustee must submit the order within seven (7) days.

On December 6, 2017, the Debtor filed his most recent case, 1:17-bk-13261-MT (the "Prior Case"), in pro per. In the Prior Case, the Debtor listed as his residence the real property located at 16815 Parthenia Street, Northridge, CA 91343 (the "Property"). (Doc. 1, at p. 2.) The Debtor listed the Property in his schedules with a value of $800,000. (Doc. 19, at p. 5.) Nationstar/Mr. Cooper ("Creditor") was listed as the holder of claim secured by the Property, in the amount of $1,173,249. (Id., at p. 16.) The Debtor also listed monthly income of $3,353 and monthly expenses of $2,207, leaving net monthly income of $1,146. (Id., at p. 30.) In his amended chapter 13 plan filed in the Prior Case, the Debtor's proposed plan payment was $212.50 per month. (Doc. 36, at p. 3.) On March 29, 2018, the Prior Case was dismissed because the Debtor exceeded the chapter 13 debt limits set forth in 11 U.S.C. § 109(e) [doc. 38]. (See also Declaration of Richard Philip Dagnes, doc. 6, ¶ 4.)

The Debtor's Pending Chapter 11 Case

On July 10, 2018, the Debtor filed a voluntary chapter 11 petition, commencing the pending case. In his petition, the Debtor lists his residence as 13350 Dyer Street, Sylmar, CA 91342. The Debtor lists the Property in his schedules as having a value of $810,000. (Doc. 1, at p. 16.) Creditor is listed as the holder of claim secured by the Property, in the amount of $1,400,000. (Id., at p. 24.) In his pending case, the Debtor's alleged monthly income is $11,740.33 and his alleged monthly expenses are $10,060, leaving net monthly income of $1,680.33.

On July 11, 2018, the Debtor filed the pending motion to continue the automatic stay in his case (the "Motion") [doc. 6]. Through the Motion, the Debtor seeks to continue the automatic stay as to the Property as to all creditors. In support of the Motion, the Debtor alleges that the Property is a rental property, and that he will be using the rents to fund a chapter 11 plan. The Debtor intends to file a motion to use cash collateral generated from the Property. (Declaration of Richard Philip Dages, doc. 6, ¶¶ 5-7.)

On July 18, 2018, Creditor filed a timely opposition (the "Opposition") [doc. 10]. No declaration was attached to the Opposition. Creditor argues that the Debtor filed the pending case in bad faith to delay a foreclosure sale. There has not been a substantial change in the Debtor's financial condition since the filing of the last case. The Debtor no longer lives in the property at issue, which is being rented out to circumvent 11 U.S.C. § 1123(b)(5). Creditor is the only secured creditor listed in the Debtor's schedules, and six unsecured creditors are listed. The Debtor's prior schedules are inconsistent with his current schedules, and the Debtor appears to have "squared away" his income to provide appropriate net income. The Debtor has filed a lawsuit against Creditor but has not scheduled the lawsuit. The Debtor's latest bankruptcy case was filed to delay foreclosure on a note that has been contractually due for 8 years. There would be no prejudice to the Debtor if the Motion is denied because there is no equity in the Property.

On July 25, 2018, the Debtor filed a timely reply [doc. 16]. The Debtor contends that he moved out of the Property because it is being remodeled. Only 50% of the Property is being rented because that is the part that is not under construction. The present case was filed in good faith because the Debtor has obtained chapter 11 counsel and intends to reorganize through a chapter 11 plan. The Debtor's prior case was dismissed because the Debtor exceeded the chapter 13 debt limit. The Debtor has amended his schedules to reflect the lawsuit against Creditor. According to the Debtor, the other issues raised by Creditor can be dealt with during the plan confirmation process.

In light of the foregoing, the Court will grant the Motion on an interim basis up to the date of the continued hearing, provided that no later than August 15, 2018, the Debtor (i) tenders his August 2018 deed of trust payment to Creditor in the amount of $4,200 (as stated in his current schedule J) as to the Property. No later than August 29, 2018, the Debtor must file a declaration to demonstrate that he made this payment. No later than August 8, 2018, the Debtor must also file and serve notice of the continued hearing on all creditors and provide written notice that any responses to the Deny, for the reasons discussed below.

I. BACKGROUND

On January 13, 2016, Alexander Eshaghian ("Debtor") filed a voluntary chapter 13 petition. On June 24, 2016, Debtor's chapter 13 plan was confirmed [doc. 40]. Debtor is the owner of a medical office that has several employees. One of those employees was Michele Bidinger ("Movant").

On December 18, 2017, Movant filed a complaint with the Department of Fair Employment and Housing (the "DFEH") against Debtor for claims that allegedly arose postpetition [Declaration of Gary Kurtz ("Kurtz Decl.", doc. 78)]. Movant was unaware of Debtor's bankruptcy petition at the time she filed the claim with the DFEH [Kurtz Decl.].

On August 8, 2018, Movant filed a Motion for Relief From the Automatic Stay Under 11 U.S.C. § 362 (Action in Non-Bankruptcy Forum) (the "Motion") [doc. 78]. On August 29, 2018, Debtor filed an opposition to the Motion [doc. 84].

II. JUDICIAL STANDARD

11 U.S.C. § 362(a) provides, in relevant part:

Except as provided in subsection (b) of this section, a petition filed under section 301, 302, or 303 of this title, or an application filed under section 5(a)(3) of the Securities Investor Protection Act of 1970, operates as a stay, applicable to all entities, of—

(1) the commencement or continuation, including the issuance or employment of process, of a judicial, administrative, or other action or proceeding against the debtor that was or could have been commenced before the commencement of the case under this title, or to recover a claim against the debtor that arose before the commencement of the case under this title;

(3) any act to obtain possession of property of the estate or of property from the estate or to exercise control over property of the estate;

(4) any act to create, perfect, or enforce any lien against property of the estate . . .

(Emphasis added.)

Under 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1), a court may grant relief from the automatic stay "for cause."

III. DISCUSSION

The automatic stay bars the commencement or continuation of any proceeding against a debtor based on a claim that arose prepetition. 11 U.S.C. § 362(a)(1). Here, Movant alleges that all claims arose postpetition. Accordingly, the automatic stay does not prevent Movant from proceeding to liquidate her claim against Debtor in the DFEH.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, the automatic stay in Debtor's case bars "any act to obtain possession of property of the estate or of property from the estate or to exercise control over property of the estate." 11 U.S.C. § 362(a)(3). The automatic stay also bars "any act to create, perfect, or enforce any lien against property of the estate." 11 U.S.C. § 362(a)(4). Although Movant may proceed in DFEH against Debtor to liquidate her postpetition claim, the automatic stay prevents Movant from enforcing any judgment obtained in state court against property of Debtor's estate.

IV. CONCLUSION

Chapter 13

As noted above, the automatic stay does not bar Movant from proceeding against Debtor in the DFEH on account of her postpetition claim. However, the automatic stay bars enforcement of any judgment obtained in state court against property of Debtor's estate.

Accordingly, Movant may proceed under applicable nonbankruptcy law to enforce her remedies to proceed to final judgment in state court, provided that the stay remains in effect with respect to enforcement of any judgment against Debtor or property of Debtor's bankruptcy estate.

Deny request for annulment as moot. For the reasons discussed above, the automatic stay did not apply to the filing of DFEH complaint.

The 14-day stay prescribed by FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived.

Any other request for relief is denied.

Movant must submit an order within seven (7) days.

Tentative Ruling:

Grant relief from stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1) and (d)(2).

Movant (and any successors or assigns) may proceed under applicable nonbankruptcy law to enforce its remedies to repossess and sell the property.

The co-debtor stay of 11 U.S.C. § 1201(a) and § 1301(a) is terminated, modified or annulled as to the co-debtor, on the same terms and conditions as to the debtor.

The 14-day stay prescribed by FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived.

Movant must submit the order within seven (7) days.

Note: No response has been filed. Accordingly, no court appearance by movant is required. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the Court will determine whether further hearing is required and movant will be so notified.

Tentative Ruling:

The plaintiff states in his status report [doc. 23] that default has been entered against the defendant. This is inaccurate; the docket reflects that the Clerk of Court entered a notice that default has not been entered [doc. 22]. Given that the defendant has timely filed a motion to strike and/or a motion to dismiss [doc. 19], the Court will not entertain a motion for default judgment at this time.

The hearing on the defendant's motion to dismiss has been set for October 31, 2018 at 2:30 p.m. As such, the Court will continue this status conference to be held at the same time and date. The parties indicate in their unilateral status reports [docs. 20, 23] that they have not met and conferred in accordance with Local Bankruptcy Rule 7026-1. If the litigation will proceed - following the Court's ruling on the motion to dismiss - the parties must meet and confer in accordance with LBR 7026-1.

I. BACKGROUND

On June 2, 2004, Asphalt Professionals, Inc. ("Plaintiff"), as the subcontractor, and T.O. IX, LLC ("T.O."), as the contractor, entered into a subcontract agreement (the "Agreement"). Declaration of Alan W. Forsley ("Forsley Declaration"), ¶ 3, Exhibit 1. In relevant part, the Agreement provides:

ATTORNEYS' FEES: In the event that Contractor prevails in any reference proceeding or court action arising out of this Agreement or the enforcement or breach thereof, or in any action brought against Subcontractor by third parties in which Contractor is joined as a party or interpleads, whether the same proceeds to judgment or not, Subcontractor agrees to pay to Contractor reasonable attorneys' fees. In the event that Subcontractor prevails in any reference proceeding or court action arising out of this Agreement or the enforcement or breach thereof, or in any action brought against Contractor by third parties in which Subcontractor is joined as a party or interpleads, whether the same proceeds to judgment or not, Contractor agrees to pay to Subcontractor reasonable attorneys' fees. The parties' covenants set forth in this Paragraph 23 shall survive and be enforceable following termination of this Agreement.

Agreement, ¶ 23.

On September 29, 2005, after T.O. did not pay Plaintiff for all of Plaintiff's work on a project, Plaintiff sued T.O., Darin Davis ("Defendant") and others in state court (the "State Court Action"). See Court's Decision [doc. 219], p. 7. In the State Court Action, Plaintiff asserted breach of contract, foreclosure on a mechanic's lien, fraud, conspiracy and quantum meruit. Id.

The trial court trifurcated the State Court Action into three trial phases, with the first phase involving Plaintiff's causes of action for breach of contract, foreclosure on a mechanic's lien and quantum meruit. Id. On October 29, 2010, after a bench trial, the state court entered an interlocutory judgment as to the first phase (the "Phase One Judgment"). Id. After entry of the Phase One Judgment, Plaintiff filed a motion for an award of attorneys' fees, and the trial court awarded Plaintiff $1.65 million in attorneys' fees. Id., p. 8. An appellate court subsequently upheld the trial court's award of fees. Id.

The second phase of the State Court Action involved Plaintiff's alter ego claims. Id. On December 23, 2011, the state court issued a statement of decision after phase two of trial (the "Phase Two Decision"). Id. In the Phase Two Decision, the state court found that T.O., among other entities, was an alter ego of Defendant. Id. As a result, the state court held that the liability of the Phase One Judgment and the award of attorneys' fees, as well as any other or future orders awarding damages, punitive damages, attorneys' fees and/or costs to Plaintiff against T.O. would be extended to Defendant, among others. Id. An appellate court also upheld the Phase Two Decision. Id., p. 9.

On June 26, 2013, Plaintiff filed an Acknowledgment of Satisfaction of Judgment (the "Satisfaction of Judgment") in state court. Id. Through the Satisfaction of Judgment and the stipulation attached thereto, Plaintiff acknowledged that the Phase One Judgment and any attorneys' fees awarded to date had been paid in full. Id.

On June 15, 2010, Defendant filed a voluntary chapter 7 petition. On August 16, 2010, Plaintiff filed a complaint against Defendant (the "Complaint"), objecting to Defendant's discharge pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 727(a)(2) and (a)(4) and requesting nondischargeability of any debt owed to it pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(A). In the Complaint, Plaintiff alleged:

Defendant falsely represented that he intended to act as a licensed general contractor for a proposed building project in Thousand Oaks.

Defendant also falsely represented that he and various unlicensed entities he owned or controlled were "owner/builders" of the proposed building project, rather than licensed general contractors. From 2003 until 2005, Defendant and the unlicensed entities proceed to construct the subject real property. Defendant knew that, under California law, only a properly licensed general contractor could construct, or contract with other to construct, the subject real property.

In 2004, Defendant and entities he owned and controlled knowingly entered into the Agreement with Plaintiff for labor, materials and services without disclosing that Defendant and the entities he owned and controlled were unlicensed contractors and without disclosing that the construction engineering, surveying, plans and drawings provided to Plaintiff were based on an inaccurate and incomplete 40-year-old "as built" survey. Because of the incomplete and inaccurate information provided to Plaintiff, Plaintiff was unable to construct a portion of the curbs, gutters and public roadways at the subject real property.

Rather than disclose the truth about the survey, Defendant (a) intentionally terminated the Agreement; (b) refused to pay Plaintiff for past due labor, materials and services provided to date; (c) refused to pay Plaintiff the agreed upon amount in the Agreement; (d) engaged the services of other sub-contractors to remove and replace the portion of the curbs, gutters and public roadways that Plaintiff could not construct; and (e) back-charged Plaintiff for an amount in excess of the cost Defendant incurred to construct the improvements.

Had Defendant disclosed that the subject real property was constructed in violation of California law or that the plans provided to Plaintiff were inaccurate or incomplete, Plaintiff would not have entered into the Agreement. Through Defendant's express and implied representations, Defendant was able to deceive Plaintiff into entering into the Agreement with T.O. As a result, Plaintiff requests a nondischargeable judgment against Defendant in the amount of $1 million plus interest accrued on said amount to the date of payment, plus the costs of this proceeding and attorney's fees incurred by Complaint, pp. 2-11. Aside from these allegations, the Complaint also included allegations that Defendant did not accurately complete his bankruptcy schedules and statements and that, as a result, Defendant should be denied a discharge pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 727(a)(2) and (a)(4). Complaint, pp. 7-10. On September 17, 2010, Defendant filed an answer to the Complaint (the "Answer") [doc. 3]. In the Answer, Defendant asserted the following affirmative defenses: (a) Failure to State a Claim; (b) Statutes of Limitations; (c) that Plaintiff's own negligent acts or omissions led to any damage suffered by Plaintiff; (d) that third parties caused any damage to Plaintiff; (e) Waiver; (f) Estoppel; (g) Consent; and (h) Laches.

The Court bifurcated this proceeding, such that the Court first heard Plaintiff's claims under 11 U.S.C. § 727. On December 23, 2014, the Court entered judgment in favor of Defendant on Plaintiff's claims under 11 U.S.C. § 727 [doc. 113]. The Court initially stayed the 11 U.S.C. § 523 portion of this adversary proceeding to await conclusion of the State Court Action. On April 19, 2017, nearly seven years after Defendant filed his chapter 7 petition, Plaintiff and Defendant appeared for a status conference. At that time, the Court informed the parties that it would no longer delay prosecution of this adversary proceeding until the State Court Action was resolved.

On August 31, 2017, the parties filed a joint pretrial stipulation (the "JPS") [doc. 140]. In the JPS, the parties agreed that the Court would try the following issues of law:

- (a) Whether or not, by reason of the false and misleading express and implied representations of Defendant and by reason of Plaintiff's reliance upon the truthfulness of the same, the obligation owed to Plaintiff is nondischargeable pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(A).
- (b) Whether or not, as a result of the intentionally false and misleading representations of Defendant, Plaintiff's Claim in the amount of $1,130,951.42 is allowed and nondischargeable.
- (c) Whether Defendant had a legal duty to disclose to Plaintiff that T.O. was not a California licensed general contractor.

- (d) Whether Defendant had a legal duty to disclose to Plaintiff that entities in control of the subject project were not licensed general contractors.
- (e) Whether Defendant had a legal duty to disclose to Plaintiff the age of any plans given to Plaintiff.
- (f) Whether Defendant had a legal duty to disclose whether any plans given to Plaintiff were inaccurate.
- (g) Whether Plaintiff is bound by the allegations in the Complaint and may not introduce evidence contrary to the allegations therein.
- (h) Whether Plaintiff has standing to assert the causes of action in the Complaint/adversary proceeding.
- (i) Whether any alleged statement or omission made by Defendant to Plaintiff is a material fact.

JPS, pp. 16-17.

On November 6, 2017, Plaintiff filed a motion for summary judgment ("Plaintiff's MSJ") [doc. 165]. On the same day, Defendant filed a motion for summary judgment ("Defendant's MSJ") [doc. 162]. On February 28, 2018, the Court entered an order granting summary adjudication in favor of Plaintiff only on the following issue: that nondisclosure of T.O.'s status as an unlicensed entity would be material (the "MSJ Order") [doc. 208]. The Court otherwise denied both Plaintiff's MSJ and Defendant's MSJ.

On February 6, 2018, the Court entered an order approving the JPS (the "Pretrial Order") [doc. 203]. In the Pretrial Order, the Court noted that "[i]n addition to determining, based on 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(A), the nondischargeability of any debt owed by [Defendant] to [Plaintiff], this Court also will determine the amount of any nondischargeable debt payable to [Plaintiff], i.e., any damages arising from fraud." Pretrial Order, p. 2 (emphasis in Pretrial Order).

On April 23 and 24, 2018, the Court held trial on Plaintiff's claim under 11 U.S.C. §

523(a)(2)(A). At trial, the Court made several findings regarding the Agreement, including findings regarding how T.O. was characterized in the Agreement, how certain terms were defined, which contractor's license number was included in the Agreement, the nature of oral communications between the parties regarding licensure at the time the parties entered into the Agreement and the review of the as-built survey provided with the Agreement. Court's Decision, pp. 3-5. Plaintiff testified at trial that it would not have entered into the Agreement had Plaintiff known about T.O.'s license status or the age of the as-built survey. Id., p. 17.

On June 13, 2018, the Court issued a decision after trial (the "Court's Decision") [doc. 219]. In the Court's Decision, the Court held that Plaintiff did not establish that Defendant made oral or written representations to Plaintiff regarding T.O.'s license status or the age of the as-built survey before the parties entered into the Agreement. Court's Decision, p. 14. The Court also held that any omission by Defendant regarding the license status of T.O. or the age of the as-built survey was not fraudulent. Id.

On June 29, 2018, Defendant filed a motion requesting attorneys' fees and costs pursuant to Cal. Civ. Code § 1717 and/or Cal. Code of Civ. Proc. ("CCP") §§ 1021 and 1032 (the "Motion") [doc. 228]. On August 28, 2018, Plaintiff filed an opposition to the Motion (the "Opposition") [doc. 238]. In the Opposition, Plaintiff requests sanctions against Defendant pursuant to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure ("FRBP") 9011. On September 5, 2018, Defendant filed a reply to the Opposition [doc. 239].

II. ANALYSIS

In federal courts, there is generally no right to attorney's fees unless authorized by contract or by statute. See Alyeska Pipeline Serv. Co. v. Wilderness Soc'y, 421 U.S. 240, 257, 95 S.Ct. 1612, 1621, 44 L.Ed.2d 141 (1975) ("Other recent cases have also reaffirmed the general rule that, absent statute or enforceable contract, litigants pay their own attorneys' fees."). In Cohen v. de la Cruz, 523 U.S. 213, 218–20, 118 S.Ct. 1212, 1216–17, 140 L.Ed.2d 341 (1998), the Supreme Court of the United States interpreted the discharge exceptions under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(A), (a)(4), (a)(6), and (a)(9) to encompass all liability arising on account of a debtor's fraudulent conduct, including attorneys' fees and costs to which the creditors were entitled under state law. As such, "the determinative question for awarding attorney's fees is whether the creditor would be able to recover the fee outside of bankruptcy under state or federal law." In re Hung Tan Pham, 250 B.R. 93, 99 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2000). Here, Defendant cites Cal. Civ. Code § 1717 and CCP §§ 1021 and 1032 as the operative state statutes.

A. Cal. Civ. Code § 1717(a)

Pursuant to Cal. Civ. Code § 1717(a)—

In any action on a contract, where the contract specifically provides that attorney's fees and costs, which are incurred to enforce that contract, shall be awarded either to one of the parties or to the prevailing party, then the party who is determined to be the party prevailing on the contract, whether he or she is the party specified in the contract or not, shall be entitled to reasonable attorney's fees in addition to other costs.

"Civil Code § 1717 makes an otherwise unilateral contractual obligation to pay attorney's fees into a reciprocal one in an action on the contract but Civil Code § 1717 is not applicable in a tort action." In re Bic Pho, 2016 WL 1620375, at *3 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. Apr. 20, 2016); see also Santisas v. Goodin, 17 Cal.4th 599, 615 (1998) (finding that § 1717 applies only to fees incurred to litigate contract claims); and In re Deuel, 482 B.R. 323, 328 (Bankr. S.D. Cal. 2012) (same).

To obtain fees pursuant to Cal. Civ. Code § 1717(a), "[t]hree conditions must be met..." In re Penrod, 802 F.3d 1084, 1087 (9th Cir. 2015).

First, the action in which the fees are incurred must be an action "on a contract," a phrase that is liberally construed. Second, the contract must contain a provision stating that attorney's fees incurred to enforce the contract shall be awarded either to one of the parties or to the prevailing party. And third, the party seeking fees must be the party who "prevail[ed] on the contract," meaning (with exceptions not relevant here) "the party who recovered a greater relief in the action on the contract." Cal. Civ.Code § 1717(b)(1).

Id., at 1087-88 (internal citation omitted). "Under California law, an action is 'on a contract' when a party seeks to enforce, or avoid enforcement of, the provisions of the contract." Id., at 1088.

Although past interpretations of the phrase "action on a contract" have been murky, two recent decisions by the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals shed some light on which disputes fall within the purview of Cal. Civ. Code § 1717(a). In Penrod, prepetition, the debtor and a lender entered into an installment sale contract when the debtor purchased a vehicle. Penrod, 802 F.3d at 1086. The contract granted the lender a security interest in the vehicle. Id. The debtor then filed a chapter 13 petition and, in her proposed chapter 13 plan, bifurcated the lender's claim into a secured claim in the amount of $16,000 and an unsecured claim in the amount of $10,000. Id. The lender objected to the proposed chapter 13 plan, arguing that its entire claim should be treated as secured in accordance with the "hanging paragraph" below 11 U.S.C. § 1325(a)(9), which prohibits bifurcation of claims that are secured by a "purchase money security interest" in a vehicle. Id. Eventually, the bankruptcy court decided that the lender was entitled to a $19,000 secured claim and a $7,000 unsecured claim. Id., at 1087. After an appeal by the lender, the Bankruptcy Appellate Panel of the Ninth Circuit (the "BAP") affirmed the bankruptcy court's ruling. Id.

The debtor then filed a motion to recover attorneys' fees she incurred opposing the lender's objection to confirmation of her chapter 13 plan. Id. The debtor relied on a provision in the installment sale contract which read, "You will pay our reasonable costs to collect what you owe, including attorney fees, court costs, collection agency fees, and fees paid for other reasonable collection efforts." Id. Pursuant to this language, the debtor argued she was entitled to attorneys' fees under Cal. Civ. Code § 1717(a). Id. The bankruptcy court disagreed, holding that the action was not an action "on a contract" because the action at issue in Penrod turned on a question of federal bankruptcy law. Id. The district court affirmed the bankruptcy court. Id. The Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals disagreed, explaining that:

[The lender] sought to enforce the provisions of its contract with [the debtor] when it objected to confirmation of her proposed Chapter 13 plan. The plan treated [the lender's] claim as only partially secured, but [the lender] insisted that it was entitled to have its claim treated as fully secured. The only possible source of that asserted right was the contract—in particular, the provision in which [the debtor] granted a security interest in her Taurus to secure "payment of all you owe on this contract." (Had the contract not granted [the lender] a security interest in the car, [the lender] could not have asserted a secured claim for any amount. See 11 U.S.C. § 506(a).) The security interest conveyed by the contract covered not just the funds [the debtor] borrowed to pay for the Taurus, but also the funds she borrowed to refinance the negative equity in the Explorer. The sole issue in the hanging-paragraph litigation was whether this provision of the contract should be enforced according to its terms, or whether its enforceability was limited by bankruptcy law to exclude the negative-equity portion of the loan. See In re Penrod, 611 F.3d at 1159–61 & n. 2. By prevailing in that litigation, [the debtor] obtained a ruling that precluded [the lender] from fully enforcing the terms of the contract.

Id., at 1088. On this analysis, the Court of Appeals believed the objection to the debtor's confirmation of her chapter 13 plan qualified as an "action on a contract" for purposes of Cal. Civ. Code § 1717(a). Id.

The Court of Appeals believed the bankruptcy court's and district court's interpretation of Cal. Civ. Code § 1717(a) was too narrow. Id. Those courts had concluded that Cal. Civ. Code § 1717(a) "applies only if the party defeats enforcement under non-bankruptcy law" and, because the debtor had prevailed under bankruptcy law, Cal. Civ. Code § 1717(a) did not apply. Id. The Court of Appeals held that California law did not prescribe any such limitation to Cal. Civ. Code § 1717(a). Id., at 1089.

After Penrod, the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals issued a decision further clarifying the boundaries of Cal. Civ. Code § 1717(a). Bos v. Bd. of Trustees, 818 F.3d 486 (9th Cir. 2016). In Bos, the debtor was an employer obligated to make payments to certain employee pension funds administered by the Board of Trustees in accordance with trust agreements. Id., at 488. The debtor failed to make the requirement payments and, as a result, signed a promissory note agreeing to make monthly contributions to the funds and personally guaranteeing the payments. Id. The debtor was unable to make these payments. Id. As such, after the Board of Trustees sued the debtor, an arbitrator ruled the debtor had violated the agreements and a California Superior Court confirmed the arbitration award in a judgment. Id.

Around this time, the debtor filed a chapter 7 petition. Id. Subsequently, the Board of Trustees filed an adversary proceeding requesting nondischargeability of the judgment pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(4). Id. The bankruptcy court held that the judgment was nondischargeable under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(4) because the debtor was a fiduciary under the Employee Retirement Income Security Act ("ERISA"). Id., at 489. The district court affirmed. Id. On appeal, the Court of Appeals reversed, holding that the debtor was not a fiduciary under ERISA and that 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(4) did not apply to the debtor. Id. The debtor then moved to recover attorneys' fees pursuant to Cal. Civ. Code § 1717 and, alternatively, under ERISA. Id.

The Court of Appeals first referenced several prior decisions by the BAP and California courts:

The California Supreme Court has explained that "section 1717 applies only to actions that contain at least one contract claim," and that "[i]f an action asserts both contract and tort or other noncontract claims, section 1717 applies only to attorney fees incurred to litigate the contract claims." Santisas, 17 Cal.4th at 615, 71 Cal.Rptr.2d 830, 951 P.2d 399. Consistent with Santisas, we have previously held that a nondischargeability action is "on a contract" within section 1717 if "the bankruptcy court needed to determine the enforceability of the ... agreement to determine dischargeability." In re Baroff, 105 F.3d 439, 442 (9th Cir.1997).

The Bankruptcy Appellate Panel of the Ninth Circuit has held that Santisas and relevant Ninth Circuit cases establish not just a rule of inclusion, but also a rule of exclusion: that "if the bankruptcy court did not need to determine whether the contract was enforceable, then the dischargeability claim is not an action on the contract within the meaning of [California Civil Code] § 1717." In re Davison, 289 B.R. 716, 723 (9th Cir. BAP 2003) (emphasis added).

Id. The court then explicitly adopted the BAP's interpretation of Cal. Civ. Code § 1717, noting that the construction "accords with the common sense meaning of the phrase ‘on a contract’ and finds ample support in our precedents." Id., at 490. The Bos court then cited three prior decisions by the Court of Appeals that supported the BAP’s interpretation above. Id.

First, the Court of Appeals cited In re Johnson, 756 F.2d 738 (9th Cir. 1985), for the proposition that an action is not an action "on a contract" if "the action neither litigated the validity of the contract nor required the bankruptcy court to consider ‘the state law governing contractual relationships.’" Bos, 818 F.3d at 490 (citing Johnson, 756 F.2d at 740). "More broadly, [the Court of Appeals] instructed that when federal and not state law governs the substantive issues involved in the adversary proceeding, [the court] may not award attorney’s fees pursuant to a state statute." Id. (citing Johnson, 756 F.2d at 741).

Next, the court cited In re Fulwiler, 624 F.2d 908 (9th Cir. 1980), where the Court of Appeals had held that a nondischargeability action in bankruptcy was not "on a contract" under an Oregon fee-shifting statute identical to Cal. Civ. Code § 1717. "The reason, we later explained, was that ‘the bankruptcy court did not adjudicate the validity of the note in determining whether the debt was dischargeable,’ and so the note was merely ‘collateral to the non-dischargeability proceeding.’" Bos, 818 F.3d at 490 (citing In re Baroff, 105 F.3d 439, 442 (9th Cir. 1997) (citing Fulwiler, 524 F.2d at 909-10)).

Finally, the Court of Appeals referenced In re Hashemi, 104 F.3d 1122 (9th Cir. 1996), where the court relied on Baroff and held that "a creditor’s ‘dischargeability claim [was] not an action on the contract,’ within the meaning of the contract itself, because ‘the bankruptcy court did not need to determine the enforceability of the ... agreement to determine dischargeability.’" Bos, 818 F.3d at 490 (quoting Hashemi, 104 F.3d at 1126).

Based on these authorities, the Bos court explained:

In light of our precedents, we are persuaded that the action underlying Bos's fee request—the nondischargeability proceeding that began in bankruptcy court—was not an action "on a contract" within the meaning of section 1717. As the parties agree, "[t]here was no ‘breach of contract’ claim in the Trust Funds' adversary complaint." The nondischargeability proceeding arose entirely under the federal Bankruptcy Code, and in no way required the bankruptcy court to determine whether or to what extent the Trust Agreements or the Note were enforceable against Bos, or whether Bos had violated their terms. Those questions had been answered in arbitration, and confirmed by a State Court; indeed, in the nondischargeability action Bos conceded that such contracts were valid and that he had breached them. The litigation from that point forward asked only whether federal bankruptcy law forbade Bos from discharging the debts everyone agreed he owed to the Funds. Such litigation is collateral to a contract rather than "on a contract," and as a consequence Bos may not use section 1717 to recover the fees he incurred in pursuing it.

Id. The Bos court also found that Penrod did not change the analysis and distinguished Penrod on the basis that, in Penrod, the central question presented to the court was whether the court should enforce a provision in the parties' agreement or whether the debtor could avoid enforcement in accordance with the Bankruptcy Code. Id., at 490-91. In Bos, the nondischargeability issue did not present any issues regarding the validity or enforceability of the subject agreement. Id., at 491.

After Bos, a bankruptcy court within the Ninth Circuit addressed the issue of whether a nondischargeability action under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(A) may be considered an action "on a contract" for purposes of Cal. Civ. Code § 1717. In re Zarate, 567 B.R. 176 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. 2017). In Zarate, creditors initiated an adversary proceeding against the debtors alleging that the debtors "'misrepresented facts, concealed and failed to disclose' material facts in order to induce plaintiffs to enter into the" subject agreement. Id., at 181. The creditors requested damages in the amount of $1.34 million plus prejudgment interest, contractual attorneys' fees and costs. Id. Subsequently, the court entered a stipulated judgment through which the debtors agreed to a nondischargeable judgment in the amount of $831,018.31. Id. The creditors then filed a motion for an award of attorneys' fees based on the parties' contract, which included a provision that stated: "In event suit is brought or an attorney is retained by any party to this Agreement to enforce the terms of this Agreement or to collect any moneys due hereunder, the prevailing party shall be entitled to recover reimbursement for reasonable attorneys' fees, court costs, costs of investigation and other related expenses incurred in connection therewith." Id., at

The Zarate court first noted that "under established California law, a tort claim does not 'enforce' a contract." Id., at 184 (citing Stout v. Turney, 22 Cal.3d 718, 730 (1978); and Santisas v. Goodin, 17 Cal.4th 599, 615 (1998)). Next, the court found that "the dischargeability of a debt under § 523(a)(2)(A) resolves a tort claim." Id. (citing In re Candland, 90 F.3d 1466, 1470 (9th Cir. 1996)). The court did not find persuasive the plaintiffs' arguments that the nondischargeability action could be interpreted as one "on the contract." Id. The court held that, unlike cases like Penrod, the court did not have to assess the enforceability of the subject agreement in Zarate:

Here, whether the APA or the 2009 Agreement were enforceable was never a question and the interpretation of these agreements was never an issue. Based on the above, this was not an action on a contract. The APA and the 2009 Agreement provided the context out of which this dispute arose, but this was not an action on a contract. Civil Code § 1717 does not provide a basis to award attorney's fees.

Id., at 185. See also In re Fulwiler, 624 F.2d 908 (9th Cir. 1980) (holding that the action was not "on the contract" where the bankruptcy court "did not adjudicate the validity of the note in determining whether the debt was dischargeable" and instead determined "that the debtors obtained the loan evidenced by the note through fraud"); cf. In re Arciniega, 2016 WL 455428 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. Feb. 3, 2016) (where the debtor used the subject agreement to support her defense and the bankruptcy court had to interpret a disputed phrase in the agreement in connection with an action under § 523(a)(2)(A) and (a)(6), the action was "on a contract"); and In re Baroff, 105 F.3d 439, 442 (9th Cir. 1997) (finding an action was "on a contract" where "the bankruptcy court needed to determine the enforceability of the settlement agreement to determine dischargeability").

Here, as in Bos, the contract issues were previously decided by the state court, as set forth in the Phase One Judgment. This Court was presented with one issue: whether Defendant committed fraud in connection with the execution of the Agreement. To adjudicate this issue, the Court did not need to assess the validity or enforceability of any provision in the Agreement. Neither Plaintiff nor Defendant disputed any provision in the Agreement during the course of this adversary proceeding; the Complaint focused on representations and omissions allegedly made by Defendant in connection with entering into the Agreement but did not dispute the validity of the Agreement. The Answer also did not raise any affirmative defenses that called into question any provision in the Agreement. As such, this case is more similar to Bos, Zarate and Fulwiler, and is easily distinguishable from the contract enforcement issues presented to the Arciniega and Baroff courts.

Although, unlike Bos, where the state court had liquidated all damages prior to the dischargeability action, Plaintiff did request this Court to liquidate the fraud damages on top of determining dischargeability of the debt, liquidation of damages did not prevent the Zarate court from holding that the action was a tort action, not one "on a contract." In fact, that Plaintiff requested monetary damages as opposed to, for example, rescission of the Agreement strengthens the Court's finding that this action was not an action "on a contract." In Hardisty v. Moore, 2015 WL 6671557 (S.D. Cal. Nov. 2, 2015), the court noted that, under California law, "[f]raud (in the form of intentional misrepresentation) may provide a basis for a remedy in either a tort action or in a contract action." Hardisty, 2015 WL 6671557 at *3 (quoting Star Pac. Invs., Inc. v. Oro Hills Ranch, Inc., 121 Cal.App.3d 447, 461 (Ct. App. 1981)). The court continued:

When a plaintiff contracts in reliance upon the fraud of a defendant, the plaintiff "may elect either the contract remedy, consisting of restitution based on rescission or the tort remedy, by affirming the contract and seeking damages." Id. Thus, "where the plaintiff's claim ... seeks rescission based on fraud, the courts have concluded such claim does sound in contract and permits the award of fees," Super 7 Motel Assocs., 16 Cal.App.4th at 549, 20 Cal.Rptr.2d 193, but where a plaintiff seeks money damages for the fraud, courts have concluded such a claim does not sound in contract and no fee award is permitted, In re Baroff, 105 F.3d 439, 443 (9th Cir.1997). "An action to avoid or rescind an agreement because of fraudulent inducement ... is an action on a contract within the meaning of section 1717." In re Baroff, 105 F.3d at 443 (citing Star Pac. Invs., Inc., 121 Cal.App.3d at 461, 176 Cal.Rptr. 546); see also In re Penrod, — F.3d —, 2015 WL 5730425, at *3 (an action is "on a contract" when a party seeks to "avoid enforcement" of the provisions of the contract); Exxess

Electronixx v. Heger Realty Corp., 64 Cal.App.4th 698, 710–11, 75 Cal.Rptr.2d 376 (1998) (an action "that seeks to establish the parties' rights under a contract is an action sounding in contract").

Id. Here, Plaintiff never requested rescission of the Agreement based on fraud. Rather, at all times, Plaintiff requested monetary damages. Given that this Court did not adjudicate any enforcement or validity issues related to the Agreement, and because Plaintiff requested tort damages, this action is not an action "on the contract" for purposes of Cal. Civ. Code § 1717.

B. CCP §§ 1021 and 1032

Although Defendant is not entitled to attorneys' fees pursuant to Cal. Civ. Code § 1717, Defendant is entitled to attorneys' fees through CCP § 1021 based on the language in the Agreement. Pursuant to CCP § 1021—

Except as attorney's fees are specifically provided for by statute, the measure and mode of compensation of attorneys and counselors at law is left to the agreement, express or implied, of the parties; but parties to actions or proceedings are entitled to their costs, as hereinafter provided.

Pursuant to CCP § 1032(b)—

Except as otherwise expressly provided by statute, a prevailing party is entitled as a matter of right to recover costs in any action or proceeding.

Under CCP § 1033.5(a), the following items are allowable as costs pursuant to § 1032:

(10) Attorney's fees, when authorized by any of the following:

(A) Contract.

(B) Statute.

(C) Law.

CCP "§ 1032(b) entitles a 'prevailing party' to 'recover costs' as a matter of right 'in any action or proceeding.' Costs may include attorney's fees when authorized by contract, even when the action is not 'on a contract.'" In re Mac-Go Corp., 541 B.R. 706, 715 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. 2015) (citing CCP § 1033.5(a)(10)).

i. The Language of the Agreement

Here, the relevant provision in the Agreement states: "In the event that Contractor prevails in any reference proceeding or court action arising out of this Agreement or the enforcement or breach thereof...whether the same proceeds to judgment or not, Subcontractor agrees to pay to Contractor reasonable attorneys' fees." Agreement, ¶ 23 (emphasis added). If this language encompasses tort actions as well as contract actions, then Defendant, as the prevailing party (discussed below), is entitled to collect reasonable attorneys' fees from Plaintiff.

Several California courts have held that the phrase "arising out of" is broad enough to encompass both tort and contract actions. In Xuereb v. Marcus & Millichap, Inc., 3 Cal.App.4th 1338, 1341 (Ct. App. 1992), the plaintiffs filed suit against the defendants, alleging negligence, products liability, fraud and misrepresentation and breach of contract. Xuereb, 3 Cal.App.4th at 1341. The allegations in the complaint involved a real estate purchase agreement through which the defendants, a real estate broker and real estate agent, sold real estate to the plaintiffs. Id., at 1340. In relevant part, the plaintiffs alleged that the defendants omitted information or made misstatements prior to the execution of the purchase agreement. Id., at 1343. The purchase agreement included the following attorneys' fees provision: "Attorneys' Fees: If this Agreement gives rise to a lawsuit or other legal proceeding between any of the parties hereto, including Agent, the prevailing party shall be entitled to recover actual court costs and reasonable attorneys' fees in addition to any other relief to which such party may be entitled." Id.

Eventually, the action went to trial on the theories of negligence, breach of fiduciary duty, concealment and misrepresentation, but not on breach of contract. Id., at 1341.

Chapter 7

The jury returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiffs, who then moved for an award of attorneys' fees pursuant to the purchase agreement. Id. The trial court denied the plaintiffs' motion, holding that the plaintiffs were not entitled to attorneys' fees under Cal. Civ. Code § 1717. Id. The plaintiffs appealed. Id.

On appeal, the California appellate court first noted that Cal. Civ. Code § 1717 did not govern the issue of attorneys' fees because the action was not an action "on a contract" as required by Cal. Civ. Code § 1717. Id., at 1342. Instead, the court found that the relevant statute was CCP § 1021, which allows for an award of attorneys' fees in tort actions if the language in the parties' agreement is broad enough to provide for such an award. Id. In assessing the language of the attorneys' fees provision in the purchase agreement, the court was faced with facts significantly analogous to the facts before the Court:

The critical question, under the language of the parties' attorney fees agreement, is whether respondents' lawsuit arose from the Purchase Agreement. Appellants argue that the phrase "[i]f this Agreement gives rise to a lawsuit or other legal proceeding" (our italics) must be interpreted in a transactional sense; that is, in the sense that the litigation has arisen from the entirety of the circumstances of the real estate transaction of which the Purchase Agreement was the defining statement. Respondents, on the other hand, contend that their dispute with appellants cannot be said to have arisen from the Purchase Agreement, because the alleged actions, omissions, or misstatements with which that dispute was concerned, all occurred prior to the execution of the Purchase Agreement. In short, respondents focus on the chronology of the events in relation to the actual execution of the Purchase Agreement, while appellants more broadly address the entire transaction, of which the Purchase Agreement was the written memorandum.

Id. The court held that the action could properly be regarded "as having arisen from" the purchase agreement even under the defendants' narrower interpretation of the language, because the purchase agreement provided for certain inspections after the signing of the agreement, which inspections were allegedly deficient and partly formed the basis of the plaintiffs' lawsuit against the defendants. Id., at 1343-44.

However, the court held that the plaintiffs' broader interpretation of the language was accurate:

In any case, we must apply the rule that words in a contract are to be understood in their usual sense. (Civ. Code, § 1644.) In our opinion, appellants' interpretation more fairly reflects the ordinary and usual sense of the phrase "gives rise to," which the parties agreed to in the Purchase Agreement. In ordinary popular speech, as well as in legal opinions, it is common to use the phrase "arises from" or "arises out of" in a far more general, transactional sense than is suggested by phrases such as "derives from" or "proximately caused by."

Id., at 1344. The Xuereb court also believed this interpretation was strengthened by the circumstances under which the parties entered into the purchase agreement:

Appellants' interpretation is also buttressed by the interpretational principle that a contract must be understood with reference to the circumstances under which it was made and the matter to which it relates. (Civ. Code, § 1647.) The circumstances of the Purchase Agreement and the matter to which it related was a large real property transaction, in which the buyer and the seller made certain reciprocal agreements with respect to the inspection of the premises and a variety of contingencies which were supposed to take place prior to the close of escrow. It was out of these contingencies, or the alleged failure thereof, that the lawsuit arose. The attorney fees provision specifically included the "Agent" among the parties with respect to which disputes could arise that would trigger a right to attorney fees. In light of all these circumstances, we conclude that the phrase "gives rise to" must be interpreted expansively, to encompass acts and omissions occurring in connection with the Purchase Agreement and the entire transaction of which it was the written memorandum.

Several courts post-Xuereb have afforded the same broad interpretation to attorneys' fees provisions if the contract includes language that states attorneys' fees are awarded when an agreement "gives rise to" an action or an action "arises out of" an agreement. For instance, in Lerner v. Ward, 13 Cal.App.4th 155 (Ct. App. 1993), the plaintiffs sued the defendants for falsely representing that the real property they purchased from the defendants could be subdivided. Lerner, 13 Cal.App.4th at 157. The purchase agreement included an attorneys' fees provision awarding attorneys' fees to the prevailing party on any action "arising out of the agreement." Id., at 160. Although the complaint initially included causes of action for breach of contract and reformation, the court held trial only on the plaintiffs' fraud cause of action. Id. The jury returned a verdict in favor of the defendants, who then moved for an award of attorneys' fees. Id. The trial court denied the motion, holding that the fees were not recoverable in a tort action under Cal. Civ. Code § 1717. Id., at 158. The defendants appealed the ruling. Id.

The appellate court agreed that the defendants were not entitled to attorneys' fees under Cal. Civ. Code § 1717 because the fraud action was not "on a contract." Id., at 159. However, the court found that the defendants were entitled to fees pursuant to CCP § 1021. Citing the reasoning in Xuereb, the court held:

In the instant case, the clause in the contract concerning attorney fees was similar to the clause in the Xuereb case. The clause was not limited merely to an action on the contract, but to any action or proceeding arising out of the agreement. This included any action for fraud arising out of that agreement.

It is true when the Lerner voluntarily dismissed their contract cause of action before trial and proceeded only on a tort theory, they gave up the opportunity to obtain attorney fees pursuant to Civil Code section 1717. They still, however, had the opportunity to obtain attorney fees pursuant to Code of Civil Procedure section 1021. This is because the tort cause of action arose out of the written agreement. The Lerner alleged and tried to prove that the Wards, through their fraudulent representations, induced the Lerner to enter into an agreement to purchase the property.

Notably, the California Supreme Court cited approvingly to Xuereb and Lerner in another action involving a real estate purchase agreement containing the following attorneys' fees provision: "In the event legal action is instituted by the Broker(s), or any party to this agreement, or arising out of the execution of this agreement or the sale, or to collect commissions, the prevailing party shall be entitled to receive from the other party a reasonable attorney fee to be determined by the court in which such action is brought." Santisas v. Goodin, 17 Cal.4th 599, 603 (1998) (emphasis added). The issues in Santisas were different, centering mainly on a "prevailing party" analysis, but the California Supreme Court, referencing Xuereb and Lerner, did note that the language in the agreement was broad enough to cover both contract and tort actions:

On its face, the provision embraces all claims, both tort and breach of contract, in plaintiffs' complaint, because all are claims "arising out of the execution of th[e] agreement or the sale." (See Lerner v. Ward (1993) 13 Cal.App.4th 155, 160–161, 16 Cal.Rptr.2d 486.) Plaintiffs do not argue otherwise. If a contractual attorney fee provision is phrased broadly enough, as this one is, it may support an award of attorney fees to the prevailing party in an action alleging both contract and tort claims: "[P]arties may validly agree that the prevailing party will be awarded attorney fees incurred in any litigation between themselves, whether such litigation sounds in tort or in contract." (Xuereb v. Marcus & Millichap, Inc. (1992) 3 Cal.App.4th 1338, 1341, 5 Cal.Rptr.2d 154.)

Id., at 405. See also Zarate, 567 B.R. at 183 (holding that provisions that limit collection of fees to actions to "enforce" or "interpret" an agreement do not give rise to tort actions, but "provisions with broader language – suits arising from or with respect to the subject matter or enforcement of a contract – have been held to extend to fees incurred in litigating tort claims") (emphasis added); Maynard v. BTI Grp., Inc., 216 Cal.App.4th 984, 993 (Ct. App. 2013) ("Like provisions referring to any claim 'in connection with' a particular agreement, or to any action 'arising out of' an agreement, an attorney fee provision awarding fees based on the outcome of 'any dispute' encompasses all claims, whether in contract, tort or otherwise.") (emphasis added); and Childers v. Edwards, 48 Cal.App.4th 1544 (1996) (holding that attorneys' fees provision stating that "any legal action, proceeding or arbitration arising out of this agreement" would provide the prevailing party to reasonable attorneys' fees encompasses tort actions) (emphasis added).

Here, like in Lerner, this Court adjudicated Plaintiff's fraud claim under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(A). Because the Court only tried a tort claim, Defendant is not entitled to attorneys' fees under Cal. Civ. Code § 1717, as explained above. However, as in Xuereb and Lerner, the language in the Agreement is broad enough to encompass this action. The parties' Agreement explicitly provides for attorneys' fees in "any reference proceeding or court action arising out of this Agreement." Agreement, ¶ 23 (emphasis added). The "arising out of" language in the Agreement mirrors the language in the attorneys' fees provision in Lerner and is the exact same phrase held by several courts to be broad enough to encompass tort actions.

The crux of Plaintiff's claim under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(A) was that Defendant made material misrepresentations and omissions on which Plaintiff relied prior to execution of the Agreement. A necessary element of Plaintiff's fraud theory was that Plaintiff would not have entered into the Agreement had Plaintiff been aware of certain facts prior to execution of the Agreement. Both Xuereb and Lerner held that the fraudulent inducement allegations at issue in their cases arose out of the subject agreements. The same is true here; the entirety of Plaintiff's tort action against Defendant rested on the premise that Plaintiff would not have entered into the Agreement had Defendant disclosed certain facts, such as T.O.'s license status and the age of the as-built survey. Plaintiff asserted that Defendant had a duty to disclose these facts in connection with a subcontract agreement.

The Xuereb court's interpretation of the phrase "arising out of" did not depend on the additional circumstances surrounding the execution of the purchase agreement, but the court believed the circumstances "buttressed" the interpretation. Xuereb, 3 Cal.App.4th at 1344. Multiple courts following Xuereb did not engage in any such analysis, instead simply holding that the phrase "arising out of" is broad enough to encompass tort actions involving the subject agreement. See Maynard, 216 Cal.App.4th at 993; Childers, 48 Cal.App.4th at 1548. As in Xuereb, the circumstances here serve to strengthen the Court's interpretation of the attorneys' fees provision in the Agreement.

In Xuereb, the court found that both parties "made certain reciprocal agreements" with respect to the real property transaction to which the purchase agreement related. Id. The court stated that the tort action arose out of these contingencies. Id. As in Xuereb, the circumstances surrounding the Agreement also indicate that Plaintiff's fraud claim under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(A) "arose out of" the Agreement. Here, both Plaintiff and Defendant made similar reciprocal agreements in the Agreement regarding the contracting work to be done on the subject property. Plaintiff's fraud claim was based on its contention that Defendant was obligated to disclose the license status of T.O and the age of the surveys on which Plaintiff relied. The Agreement explicitly includes a provision regarding licensing of contractors, Agreement, ¶ 21, as well as a provision providing for Plaintiff's review of "contract documents," which, according to Exhibit A to the Agreement, includes the plans. Agreement, ¶ 3.

It is unclear if Defendant is requesting attorneys' fees related to litigation of Plaintiff's claim under 11 U.S.C. § 727. In the Motion, Defendant appears to except fees and costs incurred during the 11 U.S.C. § 727 trial from his request. Motion, p. 6. However, Defendant includes attorneys' fees incurred litigating Plaintiff's claim under 11 U.S.C. § 727 in his attached itemization of attorneys' fees. To the extent Defendant is requesting attorneys' fees incurred defending the denial of discharge claims, Plaintiff's claims under § 727 were based on the omission of assets from Defendant's bankruptcy schedules and statements. These allegations were entirely unrelated to the Agreement, and Plaintiff could have brought the claims under 11 U.S.C. § 727 notwithstanding the Agreement. In other words, the denial of discharge claims did not "arise out of" the Agreement, and Defendant is not entitled to attorneys' fees incurred defending the § 727 claims. However, for the reasons set forth above, Defendant is entitled to attorneys' fees incurred defending Plaintiff's claim under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(A).

ii. Prevailing Party

Plaintiff also argues that Defendant cannot be a prevailing party because Plaintiff prevailed in state court. Pursuant to CCP § 1032(a)(4)— defendant. When any party recovers other than monetary relief and in situations other than as specified, the "prevailing party" shall be as determined by the court, and under those circumstances, the court, in its discretion, may allow costs or not and, if allowed may apportion costs between the parties on the same or adverse sides pursuant to rules adopted under Section 1034.

"Where a party falls squarely within one of these four definitions, a trial court has little discretion in determining the prevailing party, particularly when there is a party with a 'net monetary recovery.'" Mac-Go Corp., 541 B.R. at 715 (citing Goodman v. Lozano, 47 Cal.4th 1327 (2010)). Otherwise, the statute "leaves the determination of the prevailing party to the trial court's discretion." Heimlich v. Shivji, 12 Cal.App.5th 152, 160 (Ct. App. 2017).

"[S]ection 1032(a)(4) defines the party with a 'net monetary recovery' as the 'prevailing party.' The word 'recover' means 'to gain by legal process' or 'to obtain a final legal judgment in one's favor.'" deSaulles v. Cmty. Hosp. of Monterey Peninsula, 62 Cal.4th 1140, 1153 (2016) (citing Goodman v. Lozano, 47 Cal.4th 1327, 1334 (2010)).

Plaintiff asserts that Defendant cannot be the prevailing party because Plaintiff was the prevailing party on the breach of contract action in state court. However, Plaintiff has cited no authority providing that where one party prevails in one action and recovers attorneys' fees based on the parties' contract, the other party is barred from recovering attorneys' fees based on the contract in all future actions. Plaintiff did prevail on its breach of contract action in state court, and the state court awarded Plaintiff attorneys' fees as a result. This Court cannot relitigate the breach of contract action or question the state court's award of attorneys' fees to Plaintiff, nor does this Court attempt any such attack on the state court's judgments and findings.

This nondischargeability action is separate and distinct from the state court action. The state court has not made any findings related to fraud or nondischargeability, such that none of the state court's determinations bind this Court in this proceeding. In this action, Defendant is the prevailing party because Defendant "falls squarely" within one of the "prevailing party" definitions under CCP § 1032(a)(4): Defendant is "a defendant as against those plaintiffs who do not recover any relief against that defendant." Where a party fits a definition provided by CCP § 1032(a)(4), the Court "has little discretion" in deeming that party the prevailing party. Mac-Go Corp., 541 B.R. at 715.

Even if Defendant did not neatly fall into one of the categories under CCP § 1032(a)(4), the Court is given discretion to determine the prevailing party and allow costs as the Court sees fit. CCP § 1032(a)(4); Heimlich, 12 Cal.App.5th at 160. To the extent Plaintiff views the state court action and this action as one action, where Plaintiff prevailed on the breach of contract claims and Defendant on the fraud and nondischargeability claims, the Court would still award Defendant his attorneys' fees and costs incurred defending the § 523(a)(2)(A) claim. Plaintiff already obtained a significant attorneys' fees award of $1.65 million after prevailing on its breach of contract claims. Now that Defendant has prevailed on the nondischargeability claim, and in light of the fact that courts are permitted to "apportion costs between the parties," Defendant is entitled to his share of attorneys' fees under the Agreement. Consequently, Defendant being the prevailing party as to Plaintiff's claim under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(A), Defendant is entitled to an award of reasonable attorneys' fees and costs.

C. Reasonableness of Fees

Movants bear the burden of proving that the fees sought are reasonable. Center for Biological Diversity v. Cty. of San Bernardino, 188 Cal.App.4th 603, 615 (Ct. App. 2010); In re Atwood, 293 B.R. 227, 233 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2003). Both California state courts and the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals customarily assess the reasonableness of attorneys' fees utilizing the "lodestar" approach where the number of hours reasonably expended is multiplied by a reasonable hourly rate. Ketchum v. Moses, 24 Cal.4th 1122, 1131 (2001); In re Eliapo, 468 F.3d 592, 598 (9th Cir. 2006).

"A district court should exclude from the lodestar amount hours that are not reasonably expended because they are 'excessive, redundant, or otherwise unnecessary.'" Van Gerwen v. Guarantee Mut. Life Co., 214 F.3d 1041, 1045 (9th Cir. 2000) (quoting Hensley v. Eckerhart, 461 U.S. 424, 434, 103 S.Ct. 1933, 1939-40, 76 L.Ed.2d 40 (1983)). representation and the results obtained." PSM Holding, 2015 WL 11652518 at *4.

Although Defendant is a prevailing party entitled to attorneys' fees and costs, those fees and costs must be reasonable. In the Forsley Declaration, Defendant's attorney testifies that Defendant incurred attorneys' fees and costs totaling $53,547.25 "[u]p to the first trial" pertaining to Plaintiff's claims under 11 U.S.C. § 727. Forsley Declaration, ¶ 30. As noted above, Defendant is not entitled to the attorneys' fees and costs incurred defending the denial of discharge claims. As such, the Court will deny this portion of the request.

Mr. Forsley states that Defendant incurred $95,904.42 in fees and $1,062.22 in costs to defend from Plaintiff's claim under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(A). Forsley Declaration, ¶ 34. Mr. Forsley also anticipates incurring $3,400 to file a reply to the Opposition and to appear at the hearing on the Motion. Forsley Declaration, ¶ 35. Mr. Forsley's rate is $425 per hour, which is reasonable for an attorney in Los Angeles with Mr. Forsley's experience. Id.

The itemized fee statements attached by Mr. Forsley include entries related to defending both the § 727 and § 523 claims. Even if the Court were to deduct the $53,547.25 incurred up to December 2014 (when the Court entered judgment on the § 727 claim), subsequent entries include Defendant's work defending the appeal of the § 727 judgment. Moreover, Defendant includes a substantial amount of redacted entries, which render impossible a determination of reasonableness. Defendant should supplement the Motion with a declaration attaching an itemized statement of fees and costs that includes only fees and costs incurred defending the § 523(a)(2)(A) action. The supplemental attachment also should modify the redactions to allow the Court to assess whether the task performed was necessary and if the time spent on the task was reasonable.

D. Plaintiff's Request for Sanctions

In the Opposition, Plaintiff requests sanctions under FRBP 9011 on the basis that Defendant filed the Motion without a proper basis and for an improper purpose, and because Defendant is aware Plaintiff has appealed the Court's Decision. Chapter 7 separately from other motions), the facts here do not warrant an award of sanctions. First, Plaintiff has not sought a stay of the Court's Decision pending appeal. Thus, the appeal does not prevent Defendant from moving for an award of attorneys' fees. Moreover, because the Court is granting Defendant's request for attorneys' fees in part, the Motion was not filed without sufficient grounds or for an improper purpose. Consequently, Plaintiff's request for sanctions is denied.

III. CONCLUSION

The Court will grant the Motion in part and award Defendant reasonable attorneys' fees and costs incurred litigating Plaintiff's claim under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(A). No later than September 26, 2018, Defendant must file and serve a supplemental declaration attaching only the itemized attorneys' fees and costs incurred litigating the 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(A) claim. Defendant also must include enough information under each entry for the Court to ascertain whether the incurred fees and costs were reasonable. No later than October 3, 2018, Plaintiff may file a response to the supplemental declaration only as to the reasonableness of the attorneys' fees and costs. Defendant may reply to any response by Plaintiff no later than October 10, 2017.

The Court will continue this hearing to 2:30 p.m. on October 17, 2018.

Docket 138

Tentative Ruling:

Confirm Individual Debtor's Second Amended Chapter 11 Plan of Reorganization [doc. 138]. No later than February 7, 2019, the debtor must file a status report explaining what progress has been made toward consummation of the confirmed plan of reorganization. The initial report must be served on the United States trustee and the 20 largest unsecured creditors. The status report must comply with the provisions of Local Bankruptcy Rule 3020-1(b) AND BE SUPPORTED BY EVIDENCE. A postconfirmation status conference will be held on February 21, 2019 at 1:00 p.m.

The debtor must submit the confirmation order within seven (7) days.

Note: No response has been filed. Accordingly, no court appearance by the debtor is required. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the Court will determine whether further hearing is required and the debtor will be so notified.

Chapter 11

#3.00 Disclosure statement hearing in support of plan of reorganization
fr. 6/14/18

Docket 45

Tentative Ruling:

In the untimely opposition filed by Pogos Araik Melkonian [doc. 83], Mr. Melkonian disputes the valuation of the debtors' residence. However, Mr. Melkonian has not provided admissible evidence contradicting the debtors' valuation. In addition, Mr. Melkonian's assertion that the debtors' projected monthly income is inconsistent with the debtors' monthly operating reports is inaccurate; the debtors' most recent monthly operating reports reflect monthly income and expenses that are comparable to the estimated projected income and expenses included in the amended disclosure statement [doc. 78].

However, the debtors have not yet filed the alleged stipulation with JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A. ("Chase"). The Court cannot assess whether the disclosure statement contains adequate information until the debtors file the stipulation with Chase on the docket. The Court will continue this hearing to 1:00 p.m. on October 18, 2018. No later than October 4, 2018, the debtors must file the stipulation with Chase on the docket and lodge a proposed order approving the stipulation. If the Court approves the stipulation with Chase, no later than October 11, 2018, the debtors must file an amended disclosure statement and attach the stipulation and order to the amended disclosure statement.

Prior to the continued hearing, the Court will assess whether, in light of the stipulated treatment of Chase's claim, the debtors have provided an accurate liquidation analysis and intend to contribute their disposable income to their chapter 11 plan. Although Mr. Melkonian's opposition was untimely, the Court will not strike the opposition. At this time, the Court has addressed and disposed of two of Mr. Melkonian's arguments herein. The Court will consider the remainder of Mr. Melkonian's concerns after reviewing the stipulation with Chase.

#85.00 Order to Show Cause Who Debtor's counsel Should Not Be Sanctioned For Failure To Appear At Hearing On Trustee's Motion To Dismiss

Docket 67

Tentative Ruling:

On April 24, 2018, the chapter 13 trustee (the "Trustee") filed a motion to dismiss Max Shinn Hernandez, IV's (the "Debtor") case for failure to make plan payments ("Motion to Dismiss") [doc. 64].

On August 7, 2018, the Court held a hearing on the Motion to Dismiss. The Debtor's counsel did not appear. On August 16, 2018 the Court issued an Order to Show Cause Why Debtor's Counsel Should Not be Sanctioned for Failure to Appear at Hearing on Trustee's Motion to Dismiss (the "OSC") [doc. 67], on the grounds that the Debtor's counsel failed to appear at the hearing on the Trustee's motion to dismiss as required by Local Bankruptcy Rule 3015-1(u)(1). The Debtor's counsel was ordered to explain his failure to appear and file and serve on the Debtor a written response to the OSC no later than September 4, 2018.

On September 4, 2018, the Debtor's counsel filed his response ("Response") [doc. 69], but did not serve his Response on the Debtor as required by the OSC. In his Response, the Debtor's counsel stated that he failed to appear at the hearing because he did not calendar the Motion to Dismiss hearing (Response, ¶ 2.) The Debtor's counsel represents that he mistakenly thought that the Debtor would cure the default before the hearing, but the Debtor did not (Id. at ¶ 4).

If the Debtor's counsel or an appearance attorney appears at the continued Motion to Dismiss hearing on September 18, 2018 at 11:00 a.m., then the Court may discharge the OSC. However, if the chapter 13 trustee does not withdraw the Motion to Dismiss, and no appearance for the Debtor is made at the continued Motion to Dismiss hearing, the Court will impose sanctions on the Debtor's counsel.

In addition, the debtor has not specified if he is paying alimony and car installment payments for the benefit of his spouse in accordance with a court order. I. BACKGROUND

On October 27, 2005, Freddy Benjamin Castro ("Debtor") and Imelda E. Castro executed a promissory note (the "Note"), made payable to Right Away Mortgage, Inc. ("Right Away"), in the principal amount of $103,800. Declaration of Gina D'Elia (the "D'Elia Declaration") [doc. 54], ¶ 5, Exhibit 1. The Note was secured by a second position deed of trust (the "DOT") recorded against the real property located at 14206 Pierce Street, Pacoima, California 91331 (the "Pacoima Property"). Id., ¶ 5, Exhibit 2. The DOT indicated that Debtor and Ms. Castro held the Pacoima Property as joint tenants. Id. Subsequently, Right Away assigned the Note and DOT to Deutsche Bank National Trust Company ("Deutsche Bank").

On September 12, 2017, Debtor filed a chapter 13 petition. In his schedule A/B, Debtor listed the Pacoima Property and valued the Pacoima Property at $370,000. In his schedule D, Debtor listed a first priority deed of trust in favor of Wells Fargo Home Mortgage in the amount of $416,000. Debtor also listed the second priority DOT in favor of Deutsche Bank in the amount of $103,800.

Concurrently with his schedules, Debtor filed a proposed chapter 13 plan (the "Plan") [doc. 2]. In the Plan, Debtor indicated that he intended to avoid Deutsche Bank's lien. Plan, Section V.F. On October 26, 2016, Deutsche Bank filed an objection the Plan [doc. 13], asserting that Debtor could not avoid Deutsche Bank's lien pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1322(b)(2). Deutsche Bank also objected to Debtor's valuation of the Pacoima Property.

On November 2, 2016, Deutsche Bank filed claim no. 2-1, asserting a secured claim in the amount of $151,042.92. On December 12, 2016, Debtor filed a motion to avoid Deutsche Bank's lien pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 506(d) (the "Motion to Avoid Lien") [doc. 19], valuing the Pacoima Property at $360,000. Deutsche Bank opposed the Motion to Avoid Lien [doc. 22], again asserting that applicable law prohibited avoidance of Deutsche Bank's lien and disputing Debtor's valuation of the Pacoima Property. This time, Deutsche Bank also asserted that Debtor could not release his non-debtor spouse from liability.

On January 10, 2017, the Court held an initial hearing on the Motion to Avoid Lien. At that time, the Court continued the hearing on the Motion to Avoid Lien and set deadlines for Deutsche Bank to file a competing appraisal. At the initial hearing, Martin Weingarten appeared on behalf of Deutsche Bank. According to counsel for Deutsche Bank, Mr. Weingarten did not inform Deutsche Bank about the impending deadlines. Declaration of Nichole Glowin ("Glowin Declaration") [doc. 55], ¶ 11. Nevertheless, the appearance report reflected that the hearing was "[c]ontinued per tentative." Id., ¶ 11, Exhibit 10.

On March 13, 2017, Deutsche Bank and Debtor entered into a stipulation to further continue the hearing on the Motion to Avoid Lien (the "Stipulation to Continue") [doc. 26]. On March 14, 2017, the Court entered an order approving the Stipulation to Continue [doc. 29].

On April 4, 2018, the Court held a continued hearing on the Motion to Avoid Lien. Mr. Weingarten again appeared on behalf of Deutsche Bank. Prior to the continued hearing, Deutsche Bank did not timely file an appraisal, and did not otherwise request a continuance of the hearing. As a result, in light of Deutsche Bank's failure to file an appraisal timely, the Court adopted the Debtor's valuation.

On June 21, 2017, the Court entered an order granting the Motion to Avoid Lien (the "Order Avoiding Lien") [doc. 40]. On June 13, 2017, the Court held a confirmation hearing. Deutsche Bank appeared at the confirmation hearing. On June 29, 2017, the Court entered an order confirming the Plan (the "Confirmation Order") [doc. 42].

On March 28, 2018, Deutsche Bank filed a motion requesting relief from the Order to Avoid Lien and the Confirmation Order (the "Motion") [doc. 52], on the basis that Mr. Weingarten did not inform Deutsche Bank about the deadline to file an appraisal and on the alternative basis that the Court made a mistake of law by avoiding a lien on a property in which Ms. Castro, a non-filing co-obligor on the Note and the DOT, also holds an interest. On May 27, 2018, Debtor filed an opposition to the Motion (the "Opposition") [doc. 59]. On June 7, 2018, Deutsche Bank filed an untimely reply to the Opposition (the "Reply") [doc. 60].

II. ANALYSIS

Pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure ("Rule") 60(b)—

On motion and just terms, the court may relieve a party or its legal representative from a final judgment, order, or proceeding for the following reasons:

- (1) mistake, inadvertence, surprise, or excusable neglect;
- ...
- (6) any other reason that justifies relief.

A. Rule 60(b)(1)

i. Excusable Neglect

Rule 60(b)(1) is not intended to remedy "mistakes [that] arose from attorney misconduct." Latshaw v. Trainer Wortham & Co., 452 F.3d 1097, 1100-01 (9th Cir. 2006). "Neither ignorance nor carelessness on the part of the litigant or his attorney provide grounds for relief under Rule 60(b)(1)." Engelson v. Burlington Northern R. Co., 972 F.2d 1038, 1043 (9th Cir. 1992); see also Casey v. Albertson's, Inc., 362

F.3d 1254, 1260 (9th Cir. 2004) ("As a general rule, parties are bound by the actions of their lawyers, and alleged attorney malpractice does not usually provide a basis to set aside a judgment pursuant to Rule 60(b)(1).").

Because Congress has provided no other guideposts for determining what sorts of neglect will be considered "excusable," we conclude that the determination is at bottom an equitable one, taking account of all relevant circumstances surrounding the party's omission. These include . . . [1] the danger of prejudice to the [opposing party], [2] the length of the delay and its potential impact on judicial proceedings, [3] the reason for the delay, including whether it was within the reasonable control of the movant, and [4] whether the movant acted in good faith.

Although Pioneer dealt with excusable neglect in the context of Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 9006(b), the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals in Briones v. Riviera Hotel & Casino, 116 F.3d 379, 382-83 (9th Cir. 1997), held that the Pioneer test also applies to determination of excusable neglect under Rule 60(b) ("We now hold that the equitable test set out in Pioneer applies to Rule 60(b) as well."). Significantly, although the trial court is granted discretion, the Court of Appeals has made clear that it is an abuse of that discretion to deny a Rule 60(b)(1) motion without considering (at a minimum) all four of the Pioneer factors. See Lemoge v. United States, 587 F.3d 1188, 1192 (9th Cir. 2009) (overturning denial of Rule 60(b)(1) motion because the trial court did not consider one of the four factors); Bateman v. U.S. Postal Service, 231 F.3d 1220, 1224 (9th Cir. 2000) (reversing trial court's denial of Rule 60(b)(1) motion for failure to mention and consider the test in Pioneer and Briones). In Lemoge, the Court of Appeals further noted that although "prejudice to the movant is not an explicit Pioneer-Briones factor," it may be a relevant factor as one of the "'relevant circumstances' that should be considered when evaluating excusable neglect." Lemoge, 578 F.3d 1195.

Here, Deutsche Bank asserts that its conduct should be excused because Mr. Weingarten, Deutsche Bank's appearance attorney, neglected to inform Deutsche Bank about the filing deadlines set by the Court. For the reasons set forth below, Deutsche Bank has not demonstrated excusable neglect warranting vacating of the Order to Avoid Lien or the Confirmation Order.

a. Prejudice to Other Parties

Debtor will suffer prejudice if the Court vacates the Order to Avoid Lien and/or the Confirmation Order. If the Court vacates either order, Debtor will have to address how Debtor intends to treat Deutsche Bank's secured claim and will likely have to propose a modified chapter 13 plan almost a year after the Court confirmed the Plan. Vacating the Order to Avoid Lien and/or the Confirmation Order also will result in prejudice to other creditors of the estate, who may receive distributions in amounts different than the disbursements contemplated by the Plan. In addition, almost two years after the petition date, Debtor will have to spend time and resources again litigating valuation of the Pacoima Property. As such, this factor weighs against vacating either order on account of excusable neglect.

b. Length of Delay and its Potential Impact on Judicial Proceedings

Rule 60(c)(1) requires that "a motion under Rule 60(b) must be made within a reasonable time . . . and no more than a year after the entry of judgment or order." "What constitutes 'reasonable time' depends upon the facts of each case, taking into consideration the interest in finality, the reason for delay, the practical ability of the litigant to learn earlier of the grounds relied upon, and prejudice to other parties." Lemoge, 587 F.3d at 1196.

Debtor asserts that the Motion is untimely because Deutsche Bank filed the Motion over one year after the Court issued a ruling on the Motion to Avoid Lien. However, Rule 60(b) governs relief from final judgments, orders or proceedings. Here, the Court entered the Order to Avoid Lien on June 21, 2017, and the Confirmation Order on June 29, 2017. Deutsche Bank filed the Motion on March 28, 2017, less than a year after the Court's entry of the orders at issue.

Although Deutsche Bank filed the Motion within the one year deadline provided by Rule 60(b), the Court must still assess whether Deutsche Bank filed the Motion within a "reasonable" time frame. Here, Deutsche Bank appeared at the confirmation hearing on June 13, 2017, at which time Deutsche Bank opposed confirmation of the Plan and raised Deutsche Bank's objection to the avoidance of its lien. The Court informed Deutsche Bank that it would confirm the Plan and avoid Deutsche Bank's lien. Rather than file a motion as soon as practical, Deutsche Bank waited eight months. Significantly, all of the information on which Deutsche Bank relies in the Motion was available to Deutsche Bank at the time the Court adjudicated both the Motion to Avoid Lien and confirmation of the Plan.

According to Deutsche Bank, it delayed filing the Motion because Deutsche Bank and Debtor continued to engage in settlement discussions. First, Deutsche Bank could have filed a motion for reconsideration while continuing to discuss settlement with Debtor. The option to attempt settlement with Debtor was not mutually exclusive from seeking relief from the Order to Avoid Lien or the Confirmation Order. Second, according to Deutsche Bank itself, Deutsche Bank had trouble communicating with Debtor's counsel for several months before Deutsche Bank decided to file the Motion. Despite several months of failing to reach an agreement with Debtor, Deutsche Bank continued to delay filing the Motion. Consequently, Deutsche Bank did not file the Motion within a reasonable time.

c. Reason for the Delay/Delay in Reasonable Control of the Movant

Again, Deutsche Bank attributes the delay in filing the Motion to Deutsche Bank's attempt to settle with Debtor after entry of the Order to Avoid Lien and the Confirmation Order. However, Deutsche Bank could have filed the Motion while continuing to discuss settlement with Debtor. In addition, Deutsche Bank did not learn of any new evidence or law that caused Deutsche Bank to delay filing the Motion for almost one year. Because Deutsche Bank had reasonable control of the delay at all times, this factor also weighs against granting the Motion.

d. Whether Movant Acted in Good Faith

There is no evidence on the record demonstrating that Deutsche Bank did not act in good faith. Nevertheless, Deutsche Bank attempts to exonerate itself from responsibility with respect to missing the deadline to file its competing appraisal. Although the appearance report did not include the deadlines provided by the Court in the Court's ruling, the appearance report explicitly referred to the tentative ruling. Glowin Declaration, ¶ 11, Exhibit 10. The Court's tentative rulings are available to the public on the Court's website. Thus, Deutsche Bank could have easily accessed the deadlines set by the Court.

Chapter 13

Even if a lack of communication between Mr. Weingarten and Deutsche Bank led to Deutsche Bank's failure to file an appraisal by the required deadline, Deutsche Bank has not provided a reasonable excuse for its delay of almost one year in bringing this Motion. As noted above, vacating the Order to Avoid Lien and/or the Confirmation Order would be extremely prejudicial to Debtor and other creditors of the estate. At the time the Court entered both orders, Deutsche Bank had all of the information and law on which it relies. Debtor and the other creditors should not bear the brunt of Deutsche Bank's mistake and highly belated response to the Order to Avoid Lien and/or the Confirmation Order. Under these facts, excusable neglect does not warrant vacating the orders at issue.

ii. Mistake of Law

The alternative basis for relief under Rule 60(b)(1) set forth by Deutsche Bank is that avoidance of Deutsche Bank's lien and confirmation of the Plan was a mistake of law. Specifically, Deutsche Bank asserts that the Court did not have the ability to release the liability of Ms. Castro, as a non-debtor, or Ms. Castro's property through either the Order to Avoid Lien or the Confirmation Order.

A chapter 13 plan may "modify the rights of holders of secured claims, other than a claim secured only by a security interest in real property that is the debtor's principal residence[.] 11 U.S.C. § 1322(b)(2). Although § 1322(b)(2) prohibits stripping of liens secured only by a debtor's principal residence, Ninth Circuit authority allows a chapter 13 debtor to strip from a primary residence any junior liens that are wholly unsecured. In re Zimmer, 313 F.3d 1220, 1225 (9th Cir. 2002) ("Without a secured claim, a creditor's rights may be modified.").

Here, because Deutsche Bank has not shown excusable neglect for the reasons set forth above, the Court will not consider Deutsche Bank's competing appraisal. Using the Court's original valuation of $360,000, Deutsche Bank's lien would normally be subject to avoidance under Zimmer. The issue is whether the Court had the authority to strip Deutsche Bank's junior lien at all, despite Deutsche Bank's status as a wholly unsecured lienholder, if Debtor and Ms. Castro, a non-filing co-obligor, held the Pacoima Property as joint tenants.

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 524(e), "[e]xcept as provided in subsection (a)(3) of this section, discharge of a debt of the debtor does not affect the liability of any other entity on, or the property of any other entity for, such debt." In other words, the Court must decide if the Pacoima Property, or any part of it, constitutes "property of any other entity," such that this Court would not have authority to afford relief as to that portion of the Pacoima Property.

Here, the DOT notes that Debtor and Ms. Castro hold the property as joint tenants. D'Elia Declaration, ¶ 5, Exhibit 2. In a joint tenancy, joint tenants divide a property in equal shares, with a joint tenant's share considered his or her own separate property. Cal. Civ. Code § 683(a); see also In re Obedian, 546 B.R. 409, 412 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2016). Moreover, California Evidence Code § 662 creates a record title presumption whereby the nature of ownership set forth in title to the property controls and may be rebutted only by clear and convincing evidence. The analysis is different, however, if the joint tenants are married.

On the other hand, California Family Code § 760, provides that, "except as otherwise provided by statute, all property, real or personal, wherever situated, acquired by a married person during the marriage while domiciled in this state is community property." In 2014, the California Supreme Court issued a decision in In re Valli, 58 Cal.4th 1396 (2014), wherein the court addressed which statutory presumption prevailed in the context of a marital dissolution. In Valli, the husband had designated his wife as the "sole owner and beneficiary" on a life insurance policy, which was purchased with community property funds. Valli, 58 Cal.4th at 1400. Upon dissolution, the husband argued that the policy was community property despite the title of the policy being in the wife's name. Id. The California Supreme Court agreed, holding that the community property presumption trumps the record title presumption found in California Evidence Code § 662 in a dissolution proceeding. Id., at 1406.

After Valli, there was some ambiguity regarding whether the community property presumption serves to override the record title presumption in a context other than a marital dissolution. At least two bankruptcy courts found that the holding in Valli also applied in the bankruptcy context. Obedian, 546 B.R. 409; In re Collins, 2016 WL 4570413 (Bankr. S.D. Cal. Aug. 29, 2016). Recently, the Bankruptcy Appellate Panel of the Ninth Circuit (the "BAP") issued a decision laying the matter to rest. In re

Brace, 566 B.R. 13 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2017).

In Brace, the debtor and his non-debtor spouse acquired a residence and additional real properties in California as "husband and wife as joint tenants." Id., at 16. The debtor and his spouse then placed the properties in an irrevocable trust, with the debtor's spouse designated as the beneficiary of the trust and the debtor acting as the sole trustee of the trust. Id. Subsequently, the debtor filed a chapter 7 petition. Id. The chapter 7 trustee then filed a fraudulent transfer action, requesting a declaration that the properties were property of the estate and seeking to avoid the transfer of the properties to the trust. Id. The bankruptcy court ruled in favor of the chapter 7 trustee, holding that the properties were property of the estate. Id.

The debtor and his non-filing spouse then asked the bankruptcy court to amend the judgment to provide that the properties were owned one half by the debtor and one half by his non-filing spouse, and that only the debtor's interests in the properties were property of the estate. Id., at 17. The bankruptcy court disagreed, holding that despite the record title showing that the debtor and his non-filing spouse took the properties as joint tenants, the properties were acquired with community assets and presumptively constituted community property. Id. After a lengthy and thorough analysis, the BAP affirmed the bankruptcy court's holding. Id., at 18-28.

The BAP first assessed the holdings of Valli and prior Ninth Circuit case law regarding the record title presumption. Id., at 18-21. In so doing, the BAP found, like Obedian and Collins, that the California Supreme Court's holding in Valli superseded the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals' prior decision in In re Summers, 332 F.3d 1240 (9th Cir. 2003), where the Court of Appeals had held that the community property presumption is rebutted when a married couple acquires property as joint tenants. Id., at 20-23.

Importantly, the BAP held that the community property presumption applies despite the fact that the debtor and his non-filing spouse were not parties to a dissolution proceeding and did not attempt to transmute the properties like the parties in Valli. Id., at 23-25. Given the facts and extensive policy in Brace, the BAP held that "[a]lthough there may be instances where the record title presumption could apply to marital property..., as a general rule, California's community property presumption applies in disputes in bankruptcy involving the characterization of marital property."

Id., at 19. The BAP reached this holding: (A) despite the fact that the debtor and his non-filing spouse acquired the properties as joint tenants; (B) despite the fact that the debtor and his non-filing spouse were not parties to a dissolution proceeding; and (C) despite the fact that transmutation was not at issue in Brace, unlike in Valli.

In light of Brace, the community property presumption applies despite the fact that the title to the Pacoima Property may reflect that the parties hold the Pacoima Property as joint tenants. The record does not reflect any evidence that would serve to rebut the community property presumption. Under Brace, the mere mention of Debtor and Ms. Castro as joint tenants in the deed of trust is insufficient to rebut the presumption. In other words, the Court would need additional, strong evidence confirming that Debtor and Ms. Castro intended to take the Pacoima Property as joint tenants. Absent such evidence, the Pacoima Property is properly characterized as community property.

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 541(a)(2), the commencement of a bankruptcy case creates an estate comprised, in part, of "[a]ll interests of the debtor and the debtor's spouse in community property as of the commencement of the case that is... under the sole, equal, or joint management and control of the debtor; or... liable for an allowable claim against the debtor, or for both an allowable claim against the debtor and an allowable claim against the debtor's spouse, to the extent that such interest is so liable." 11 U.S.C. § 541(a)(2)(A), (B).

Because the presumption is that the Pacoima Property is community property, upon commencement of Debtor's case, the Pacoima Property became property of the estate in full. As a result, the provision of 11 U.S.C. § 524(e) setting forth that the property of another entity is not relieved of liability is not applicable here.

In fact, the BAP has explicitly found that community property is subject to lien stripping under 11 U.S.C. § 506 even if only one spouse has filed for bankruptcy protection. In re Maynard, 264 B.R. 209 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2001). In Maynard, the debtor filed a chapter 13 petition and subsequently filed a motion to avoid a lien pursuant to 11 U.S.C § 506(d). Id., at 211. The bankruptcy ruled in favor of the debtor and avoided the lienholder's lien. Id., at 213.

On appeal, the lienholder argued that the bankruptcy court erred in avoiding its lien because the debtor's non-debtor spouse also held an interest in the subject property.

Id., at 214. The BAP disagreed. Id. The BAP found that, in accordance with 11 U.S.C. § 541(a)(2), the community property became property of the estate and, as a result, "the entire lien was subject to valuation and avoidance under § 506." Id.

Pursuant to Brace and Maynard, the Court had the authority to avoid Deutsche Bank's lien in full. Because Deutsche Bank has not demonstrated excusable neglect, supra, Debtor's appraisal stands as the only evidence of value of the Pacoima Property. That appraisal reflected the value of the Pacoima Property as $360,000. Using that valuation, Deutsche Bank's lien was entirely unsecured, and the Court appropriately avoided Deutsche Bank's lien in accordance with the authorities above.

Consequently, Deutsche Bank has not shown that the Court made a mistake of law warranting reconsideration of either the Order to Avoid Lien or the Confirmation Order.

B. Rule 60(b)(6)

As with Rule 60(b)(1), a request under Rule 60(b)(6) "must be made within a reasonable time." Rule 60(c)(1). For the same reasons set forth above, Deutsche Bank did not file its request for relief within a reasonable time.

Rule 60(b)(6) is the "catch-all provision" of Rule 60(b) "that is read as being exclusive of the other grounds for relief listed in Rule 60." Cnty. Dental Servs. v. Tani, 282 F.3d 1164, 1168 n.8 (9th Cir. 2002). "In order to obtain such relief from a judgment, however, extraordinary circumstances must exist." In re Estrada, 568 B.R. 533, 541 (Bankr C.D. Cal. 2017) (citing U.S. v. Sparks, 685 F.2d 1128, 1130 (9th Cir. 1982)). "The burden is on the moving party to bring himself within the purviews of Rule 60(b)(6)." In re Hammer, 112 B.R. 341, 345 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1990).

First, Deutsche Bank does not provide a different basis for relief under the catch-all provision of Rule 60(b)(6). Deutsche Bank mostly relies on the same grounds as its request for relief under Rule 60(b)(1). Moreover, Deutsche Bank has not shown the type of "extraordinary circumstances" that merit relief under Rule 60(b)(6). As set forth above, the Court did not make a mistake of law that deprived Deutsche Bank of its rights. Rather, Deutsche Bank did not timely file an appraisal, and then waited nearly a year to file the Motion. Any injustice suffered by Deutsche Bank is a result of Deutsche Bank's own delay. There being no other facts showing the type of

Tentative Ruling:

Levene, Neale, Bender, Yoo & Brill, L.L.P. ("Levene Neale") general counsel to David K. Gottlieb, chapter 7 trustee – approve fees of $99,522.40 and reimbursement of expenses of $7,986.17, pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 331, on an interim basis. The Court has not awarded $4,489.60 in fees for the reasons stated below.

11 U.S.C. § 328(b) provides that an attorney may not receive compensation for the performance of any trustee's duties that are generally performed by a trustee without the assistance of an attorney. In re Garcia, 335 B.R. 717, 725 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 2005) (holding that bankruptcy court did not abuse its discretion in refusing to compensate chapter 7 trustee's counsel for services rendered in connection with the sale of property of the estate and for preparing routine employment applications).

11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(1)(A) provides that a court may award to a professional person employed under § 327 "reasonable compensation for actual, necessary services" rendered by the professional person. "In determining the amount of reasonable compensation to be awarded to the professional person, the court shall consider the nature, the extent and the value of such services, taking into account all relevant factors, including—(A) the time spent on such services; (B) the rates charged for such services; (C) whether the services were necessary to the administration of, or beneficial at the time at which the service was rendered toward the completion of, a case under this title; [and] (D) whether the services were performed within a reasonable amount of time commensurate with the complexity, importance, and nature of the problem, issue, or task addressed . . .". 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(3). Except in circumstances not relevant to this chapter 7 case, "the court shall not allow compensation for—(i) unnecessary duplication of services; or (ii) services that were not—(I) reasonably likely to benefit the debtor's estate; or (II) necessary to the administration of the case." 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(4)(A).

11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(2) provides that the court may, on its own motion, award compensation that is less than the amount of the compensation that is requested.

In Garcia, the Ninth Circuit Bankruptcy Appellate Panel (the "BAP") upheld the bankruptcy court's refusal to approve fees for the following services performed by the trustee's counsel with respect to the debtors' real property: "negotiating with the debtors' attorney regarding the sale of the equity to the debtors; [and] reviewing the title report." Garcia, 335 B.R. at 726.

With respect to its holding, the BAP explained that "a case trustee may only employ professionals for tasks that require special expertise beyond that expected of an ordinary trustee. Routine negotiations regarding the sale of real property are properly within the trustee's province. . . . Employment of counsel to assist in the sale did not give counsel a free rein to step into the trustee's shoes and undertake efforts statutorily assigned to the trustee." Id. at 727.

Local Bankruptcy Rule ("LBR") 2016-2(e)(2) provides a "nonexclusive list of services that the court deems 'trustee services.'" This list includes, among other activities: conduct 11 U.S.C. § 341(a) examination; routine investigation regarding location and status of assets; turnover or inspection of documents; recruit and contract appraisers, brokers, and professionals; routine collection of accounts receivable; routine documentation of notice of abandonment; prepare motions to abandon or destroy books and records; routine claims review and objection; monitor litigation; answer routine creditor correspondence and phone calls; review and comment on professional fee applications; and additional routine work necessary for administration of the estate.

In Garcia, the BAP upheld the bankruptcy court's refusal to approve fees for preparation of employment applications, observing that "absent a showing by applicant to the contrary, routine employment applications remain a trustee duty." Garcia, 335 B.R. at 726. With respect to its holding, the BAP explained "a case trustee may only employ professionals for tasks that require special expertise beyond that expected of an ordinary trustee." Id. at 727.

In accordance with Garcia and LBR 2016-2(f), the Court does not approve the fees billed for the services identified below. It appears that these fees are for services that are duplicative of those that could and should be performed by the chapter 7 trustee, Berkeley Research Group, LLC ("BRG"), accountant to chapter 7 trustee – approve fees of $14,279.00 and reimbursement of expenses of $2,517.18, pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 331, on an interim basis. The Court has not awarded $108.50 in fees for the reasons stated below.

11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(1)(A) provides that a court may award to a professional person employed under § 327 "reasonable compensation for actual, necessary services" rendered by the professional person. "In determining the amount of reasonable compensation to be awarded to the professional person, the court shall consider the nature, the extent and the value of such services, taking into account all relevant factors, including—(A) the time spent on such services; (B) the rates charged for such services; (C) whether the services were necessary to the administration of, or beneficial at the time at which the service was rendered toward the completion of, a case under this title; [and] (D) whether the services were performed within a reasonable amount of time commensurate with the complexity, importance, and nature of the problem, issue, or task addressed . . .". 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(3). Except in circumstances not relevant to this chapter 7 case, "the court shall not allow compensation for—(i) unnecessary duplication of services; or (ii) services that were not—(I) reasonably likely to benefit the debtor's estate; or (II) necessary to the administration of the case." 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(4)(A).

11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(2) provides that the court may, on its own motion, award compensation that is less than the amount of the compensation that is requested.

Secretarial/clerical work is noncompensable under 11 U.S.C. § 330. See In re Schneider, 2008 WL 4447092, *11 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. Sept. 26, 2008) (court disallowed billing for services including: monitoring and reviewing the docket;

They are not in the nature of professional services and must be absorbed by the applicant's firm as an overhead expense. Fees for services that are purely clerical, ministerial, or administrative should be disallowed.").

Accordingly, the Court will disallow the following fees:

Category	Date	Timekeeper	Rate	Time	Fee	Description
Fee Application and Bill Preparation	11/30/16	Rowen Dizon	$155.00	0.40	$62.00	Processed court filing
Fee Application and Bill Preparation	12/6/16	Rowen Dizon	$155.00	0.30	$46.50	Processed mailing of court documents

The trustee must submit the order within seven (7) days.

Note: No response has been filed. Accordingly, no court appearance by BRG is required. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the Court will determine whether further hearing is required and BRG will be so notified.

Chapter 7

#7.00 Application for payment of interim fees and/or expenses for Levene, Neale, Bender, Yoo & Brill LLP, Attorney for David K Gottlieb, Chapter 7 Trustee

Docket 187

Tentative Ruling:

Levene, Neale, Bender, Yoo & Brill, L.L.P. (“Levene Neale”) general counsel to David K. Gottlieb, chapter 7 trustee – approve fees of $73,777.75 and reimbursement of expenses of $1,528.88, pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 331, on an interim basis. The Court has not awarded $11,361.25 in fees for the reasons stated below.

11 U.S.C. § 328(b) provides that an attorney may not receive compensation for the performance of any trustee’s duties that are generally performed by a trustee without the assistance of an attorney. In re Garcia, 335 B.R. 717, 725 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 2005) (holding that bankruptcy court did not abuse its discretion in refusing to compensate chapter 7 trustee’s counsel for services rendered in connection with the sale of property of the estate and for preparing routine employment applications).

11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(1)(A) provides that a court may award to a professional person employed under § 327 "reasonable compensation for actual, necessary services" rendered by the professional person. "In determining the amount of reasonable compensation to be awarded to the professional person, the court shall consider the nature, the extent and the value of such services, taking into account all relevant factors, including—(A) the time spent on such services; (B) the rates charged for such services; (C) whether the services were necessary to the administration of, or beneficial at the time at which the service was rendered toward the completion of, a case under this title; [and] (D) whether the services were performed within a reasonable amount of time commensurate with the complexity, importance, and nature of the problem, issue, or task addressed . . .". 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(3). administration of the case." 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(4)(A).

11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(2) provides that the court may, on its own motion, award compensation that is less than the amount of the compensation that is requested.

Local Bankruptcy Rule ("LBR") 2016-2(e)(2) provides a "nonexclusive list of services that the court deems 'trustee services.'" This list includes, among other activities: conduct 11 U.S.C. § 341(a) examination; routine investigation regarding location and status of assets; turnover or inspection of documents; recruit and contract appraisers, brokers, and professionals; routine collection of accounts receivable; routine documentation of notice of abandonment; prepare motions to abandon or destroy books and records; routine claims review and objection; monitor litigation; answer routine creditor correspondence and phone calls; review and comment on professional fee applications; and additional routine work necessary for administration of the estate.

In accordance with Garcia and LBR 2016-2(f), the Court does not approve the fees billed for the services identified below. It appears that these fees are for services that are duplicative of those that could and should be performed by the chapter 7 trustee, as a trustee.

Category	Date	Timekeeper	Rate	Time	Fee	Description
Claims Admin and Objections	5/18/17	MYK	$575.00	0.10	$57.50	Analysis of POC filed by Franchise Tax Board

The Court will reduce the following fees by 50% because it appears that these fees are for services that are duplicative of those that could and should be performed by the chapter 7 trustee, as a trustee.
