have a full and fair opportunity to present their various cases. Perhaps it would be helpful to consider trying certain claims based on commonality of witnesses and facts, such as the particular type of investment vehicle involved. Defendant indicated an interest in mediation, but plaintiffs indicated no interest in mediation, and the court would like to hear from plaintiffs why mediation would not be helpful in resolving their claims, given that collectibility of defendant is probably an issue.

Prior tentative ruling. The court has reviewed the joint status report. Set a discovery cutoff date of 9/1/17 and a further postdiscovery status conference for 9/26/17 at 1:30 p.m. with a joint status report due on 9/19/17. Order the matter to mediation, the parties are to file a request for selection of mediator and alternate mediator by 5/19/17 and complete mediation by 9/26/17. Appearances are required on 4/18/17, but counsel may appear by telephone. Plaintiff to submit a proposed scheduling order within 7 days of hearing.

Grant trustee's motion for turnover of the subject property for the reasons stated in the moving papers since the subject property is property of the bankruptcy estate under the trustee's supervision pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 541(a) and 704(a). Debtor's arguments lack merit. To the extent that debtor seeks stay pending appeal of the state court judgment, it is not properly raised in the opposition, and it is not properly raised in this court since the appeal is pending in the state court system. #1.00 EVIDENTIARY HEARING RE: Confirmation of plan
fr. 4/18/18, 5/2/18

Docket 94

Courtroom Deputy:

[U.S. Trustee's motion to dismiss/convert set on 7/18/18 at 11:30 a.m.]

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 7/9/18. Based on the plan vote, the plan is not confirmable if there are impaired classes of claims and not one impaired class has accepted the plan pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 1129(a)(10). Debtor apparently argues that the plan may be confirmed because there are no impaired classes, that is, the objecting creditor, Umbrella, which voted against the plan, and whose vote shows that the general unsecured class rejected the plan, is unimpaired. There is a material factual dispute to be resolved at the hearing as to whether Umbrella's prepetition claim is unimpaired in order to disregard its vote to show that there are no impaired classes of claims. The court notes that Umbrella may have a postpetition administrative claim that will require payment, and debtor will need to show that the plan is feasible to pay the claims under the plan and administrative expense claims, including Umbrella's. Debtor will have to prove up lack of impairment of Umbrella's prepetition claim and plan feasibility. Otherwise, no tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 7/11/18.

Prior tentative ruling as of 5/1/18. The court has reviewed debtor's amended disclosure statement. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 5/2/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 4/16/18. Deny approval of disclosure statement. The amended disclosure statement is difficult to follow and confusing. The court thinks it can be boiled down to the following chart. Appearances are required on 4/18/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 1/22/18. The amended disclosure statement is deficient and needs to be revised. First and foremost, no plan was attached to the disclosure statement, including Exhibits A and B, as well as the recently approved stipulation and order between debtor and secured creditor Christiana Trust. If debtor meant to attach the Plan last filed on 9/1/16, it should be updated to be accompany the amended disclosure statement. The court agrees with the objections of creditor Umbrella Investment Group that the amended disclosure statement lacks adequate information, including basic information about payment of general unsecured claims, how, what amounts and when. The last filed plan on 9/1/16 stated that general unsecured claims will be paid 100% and that debtor has rental income of $8,300, but no information is provided as to how, when and what means to implement the plan, so creditors can evaluate feasibility. Financial projections of income and expense for the duration of the plan term are missing and should have been provided. Perhaps debtor's use of the form disclosure statement should be jettisoned, and debtor should use a narrative disclosure statement in plain English to describe what he proposes to the creditors in his plan. Appearances are required on 1/24/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 12/4/17. Pending before the court is debtor's amendment to disclosure statement filed on 9/1/16, which has been noticed for hearing on 12/5/17. This amendment amends the original disclosure statement filed on 11/17/15. The original disclosure statement of 11/17/15 looks like a disclosure statement whereas the amendment filed on 9/1/16 does not. The amendment looks like an add-on amendment and does not contain sufficient information to constitute a disclosure statement that the court could approve and allow to be sent out to creditors. Debtor will have to draft an updated disclosure statement that is self-contained in order for the plan to be considered by the court and creditors, and thus, the court will deny approval of the 9/1/16 amendment as debtor's disclosure statement. Appearances are required on 12/5/17 to discuss how long it will take debtor to revise his disclosure statement, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 11/13/17. No tentative ruling on the merits. The court has reviewed debtor's notice that tax returns have been prepared and filed, and the court expects to discuss debtor's plans for filing an amended disclosure statement. Appearances are required on 11/15/17, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 8/14/17. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 8/16/17, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. No tentative ruling on the merits. Debtor to address objections of United States Trustee and creditors to draft disclosure statement regarding adequacy of information. The source of funding of plan is unclear. No historical financial data or projections are provided, which should be provided for each property as well as the debtor's business and living expenses. Since it appears that this is probably a cramdown plan situation due to the dispute over appropriate interest rates on secured claims, Debtor should be prepared to discuss how he will prove the appropriate cramdown rates of interest (i.e., is debtor submitting expert witness opinion testimony on interest rates?) . Prior tentative ruling. Deny approval of proposed disclosure statement for lack of adequate information. The disclosure statement does not contain the information normally expected, such as the matters identified in In re Metrocraft Pub. Servs. Inc., 30 B.R. 567, 568 (Bankr. N.D. Ga. 1984) discussed in the moving papers. The disclosure statement does not give meaningful information to creditors about how the plan works; it is just a collection of spreadsheets with little explanation. There is no explanation of how payments are going to be made under the plan, monthly, quarterly, annually, etc. There is a computation of net income on Exhibit C, but that does not translate into how plan payments are going to be made to creditors. The financial history spreadsheet, Exhibit D, is sparse and uninformative as to both the income and expenses of debtor, and just provides summary figures from the MORs.

The liquidation analysis, Exhibit G, is incomplete, and may not necessarily reflect the correct net equity of debtor since the asset values and encumbrances differ for each piece of collateral, and simply aggregating them does not necessarily mean that there is total negative net equity of the estate as computed (i.e., there is no explanation of the liens, whether they are only as to specific collateral or blanket liens). Debtor says there is no need to consider Chapter 7 administrative costs since there is negative net equity in debtor's assets in the aggregate, but these should be computed.

The court should also deny approval of the disclosure statement because the debtor's proposed new value plan on its face gives the exclusive new value opportunity to its sole shareholder, Ji K. Lim, and is not sufficiently market tested within the meaning of Bank of America National Trust and Savings Association v. 203 North LaSalle Street Partnership ("LaSalle"), 526 U.S. 434 (1999); see also, In re NNN Parkway 400 26, LLC, 505 B.R. 277, 281-283 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2014)(Albert, J.); see also, In re Arnold, 471 B.R. 578, 586 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2012)(approval of disclosure statement should be denied if plan is nonconfirmable on its face). As Judge Albert observed in NNN Parkway 400 26, LLC, "LaSalle requires that the quantum of new value be market tested; otherwise the parties and the court cannot know whether the amount of new value is most available. And if more (or better) could be gotten elsewhere, then the equity is effectively keeping a form or property or interest in the debtor despite not paying the dissenting creditors in full, by exercising its exclusive 'option' to direct/determine the source of the new value. But LaSalle is frustratingly vague as to what exactly a debtor must do to 'market test' the interest; the Supreme Court expressly left the question open while naming some alternatives, such as the right to bid for the same interest or the right to file a competing plan." In re NNN Parkway 400 26, LLC, 505 B.R. at 281, citing LaSalle, 526 U.S. at 458; see also, LaSalle, 526 U.S. at 455 ("It is doomed, we can say without necessarily exhausting its flaws, by its provision for vesting equity in the reorganized business in the Debtor's partners without extending an opportunity to anyone else either to compete for that equity or to propose a competing reorganization plan."). "[D]ebtors bear the burden of showing that the new money offered is the most and best reasonably obtainable after some 'market testing' . . . This probably requires, at a minimum, demonstration of a systematic effort designed to 'market test' the deal." In re NNN Parkway 400 26, LLC, 505 B.R. at 283. There is no demonstration of any systematic effort designed to "market test" the deal shown in debtor's papers as far as this court can see.

The court also agrees with the objections of the committee and creditor Bank of Hope regarding the inadequacy of information regarding the new value contribution, the payment to unsecured creditors, the identification of postconfirmation directors and officers, treatment of creditor claims and impairment of secured claims.

Debtor uses the court form Chapter 11 plan and disclosure statement which are designed in part for individual Chapter 11 cases and simple Chapter 11 cases, and debtor does not use the official court attachments for these forms, but provides its own custom form attachments deviating from the court form attachments, and provide much less information than required by the court form attachments. In this case, debtor's use of these court forms is really uninformative, and debtor should use more traditional, narrative form plan documents to cover the Metrocraft factors.

Chapter 11

#6.00 Status conference re: Confirmation of plan
fr. 3/21/18, 4/25/18

Docket 62

Courtroom Deputy:

- NONE LISTED -

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 7/9/18. No tentative ruling on the merits.
Appearances are required on 7/11/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 4/23/18. No tentative ruling on the merits.
Appearances are required on 4/25/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. The disclosure statement does not contain adequate information. Regarding treatment of secured claims, the text in the plan refers to Article II, but no Article II is attached. Exhibit C to the plan refers to certain notes for each claim, but these notes do not adequately spell out the treatment of the primary secured claim to Wells Fargo Bank, the senior secured lender for the loan on debtor's residence. The disclosure statement should have a more detailed description of how this claim will be treated under the plan. The plan itself is not much better. It is hard to tell what is being proposed for treatment of the claim. The disclosure statement and plan will have to be revised for sake of clarity. If this is a cramdown situation, it does not appear that a 40 year payout is fair and equitable for this creditor, and debtor should probably consider taking out this creditor when the loan matures under the existing terms. Appearances are required on 3/21/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

#12.00 Cont'd status conference re: Management of chapter 11 case
fr. 4/11/18

Docket 1

Courtroom Deputy:

- NONE LISTED -

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 7/9/18. No tentative ruling on the merits.
Appearances are required on 7/11/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. The court has reviewed debtor's status report. The proposed claims bar date of 5/15/18 will not be approved since this court generally requires at least 60 days notice to creditors of a claims bar date. The estimated administrative expenses in this case stated in the status report for $250,000 to $350,000 seem high, especially since debtors' budget motion and income and expense statements showing net income of about $1,700 per month do not show that debtors have the ability to afford such expenses. There should be some explanation why the large amount of professional fee expenses estimated in the status report are needed in this case, and how debtors will be able to pay for these expenses (i.e., are they selling their real property to raise funds to pay for these fees). Appearances are required on 4/11/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

#1.00 EVIDENTIARY HEARING RE: Plaintiff's motion for default judgment under LBR 7055-1 fr. 2/13/18, 4/3/18

Docket 19

 VACATED  REASON: Cont'd from 7/12/18 to 8/21/18 at 11:00 a.m per order entered on 7/6/18-mb.

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 7/9/18. Off calendar. Continued on the court's own motion to 8/21/18 at 11:00 a.m. No appearances are required on 7/12/18.

Prior tentative ruling as of 4/2/18. After reviewing the supplemental papers, the court believes that they are not sufficient to demonstrate the transfer of the subject property was fraudulent, and the court will set a hearing for plaintiff to offer evidence to prove up the fraudulent transfer, such as eyewitness testimony that defendant is continuing to operate his business and otherwise exercise dominion and control over the transferred property to deem it to be his. The court is considering ordering plaintiff to serve defendant with a subpoena to appear at the prove up hearing. Appearances are required on 4/3/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. The court on its own motion is continuing the hearing and status conference to 4/3/18 at 1:30 p.m. for plaintiff to file supplemental briefing to demonstrate that the elements of a claim for fraudulent transfer either under state and/or federal law has been met setting forth the factual basis for the court to grant the motion for default judgment on its claims under 11 U.S.C. 523(a)(2)(A) and (a)(6). Plaintiff must file its supplemental brief citing the elements of a fraudulent transfer claim under state and/or federal law and any supplemental evidence showing that all of the elements of a fraudulent transfer claim has been met by 3/13/18. Grant movant relief from stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (2) to pursue non-bankruptcy remedies for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition. Deny request for extraordinary relief in paragraph 9 and 11 for lack of legal and/evidentiary support. In re Van Ness, 399 B.R. 897 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 2009). If movant wants to brief extraordinary relief request, the court will continue the hearing so movant can file a brief showing entitlement to such relief. The 14-day waiting period under FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived.

Movant must lodge a proposed order within 7 days. All registered CM/ECF users must lodge an order using the court's mandatory form order on LOU.

Movant may submit on the tentative ruling without an appearance at the hearing in accordance with Judge Kwan's tentative ruling procedures posted online on the court's website and available in hard copy in the courtroom. If movant does not appear, the court will assume that movant submits on the tentative ruling, which the court will adopt unless another party appears, which may result in setting a continued hearing.

Docket 6

Grant in part and deny in part defendant Curtis's motion to dismiss for lack of personal jurisdiction because service on defendant was improper and did not meet the requirements of FRBP 7004(b)(3). The proof of service of the summons and complaint does not show proper mail service on defendant Curtis because the proof of service of the summons and complaint does not show that she was served at her residential or regular business address, and the post office box address does not count because it has an incomplete zip code and is thus inaccurate. Deny request to dismiss for lack of personal jurisdiction because the remedy for defective service of process is to quash service and grant leave to effect proper service. Docket 13

Tentative Ruling:

Grant in part and deny in part defendants' motion to set aside default, to dismiss for lack of personal jurisdiction and requesting sanctions. Grant request to set aside default because service on defendants was improper and did not meet the requirements of FRBP 7004(b)(1) and (3). Default was improvidently entered against defendant Ammec Inc. because the proof of service of the summons and complaint does not show proper mail service to it at its mailing address on the California Secretary of State reporting forms to the attention of an officer, managing or general agent under FRBP 7004(b)(3) and as to defendant Curtis because the proof of service of the summons and complaint does not show that she was served at her residential or regular business address, and the post office box address does not count because it has an incomplete zip code and is thus inaccurate. Deny request to dismiss for lack of personal jurisdiction because the remedy for defective service of process is to quash service and grant leave to effect proper service. Deny request for sanctions because defendants did not comply with the prefiling requirements of FRBP 9011(c)(1)(A) by providing an opportunity to plaintiff to withdraw the challenged pleading within 21 days of service of the motion for sanctions. This was not done, and defendant Curtis did not meet this requirement by serving the motion on plaintiff and not giving plaintiff 21 days to withdraw the challenged pleading before filing the motion. Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 7/16/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 7/18/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 6/18/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 6/19/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. The court agrees with defendants that actions to set aside fraudulent transfers of assets of a bankruptcy debtor belongs to the bankruptcy estate and may be the basis for a motion to dismiss because actions to collect upon assets of the estate are subject to the automatic stay and relief from stay has not been obtained by the plaintiffs. In re MortgageAmerica Corp., 714 F.2d 1266, 1275 (5th Cir. 1983); In re Curry & Sorenson, Inc., 57 B.R. 824, 827-828 (9th Cir. BAP 1986); but see, In re Colonial Realty Co., 980 F.2d 125, 130-132 (2nd Cir. 1992). As noted by plaintiffs, there is a division in circuit authority as to whether property of the bankruptcy estate includes property subject to a fraudulent transfer avoidance action is part of the bankruptcy estate before the avoidance action. See Peter Spero, Fraudulent Transfers, Prebankruptcy Planning and Exemptions, Section 3.3 (Westlaw online Sept. 2017 update), citing, In re MortgageAmerica Corp., supra; In re Colonial Realty Co., supra; Rajala v. Garner, 709 F.3d 1031 (10th Cir. 2013); In re Allen, 768 F.3d 274 (3rd Cir. 2014). There is no definitive case authority in the Ninth Circuit, though the Bankruptcy Appellate Panel of the Ninth Circuit has stated that a fraudulent transfer avoidance action to recover property fraudulently transferred by a bankruptcy debtor is an asset of the debtor's bankruptcy estate. In re Curry & Sorenson, Inc., supra. The court will follow the BAP rule in Curry & Sorenson, Inc., as the current law of the Ninth Circuit.

Having said this, however, before the court rules on defendants' motions to dismiss, the court notes that plaintiffs could obtain authority of this court to allow them as parties other than the trustee or debtor-in-possession to pursue litigation on behalf of the estate (as opposed for themselves only). In re Curry & Sorenson, Inc., supra; In re Spauding Composites Co., 207 B.R. 899, 903 (9th Cir. BAP 1997). If plaintiffs are seeking to enforce their own interests as creditors, the court would thus grant the motions to dismiss, but if plaintiffs are seeking authorization from the court to pursue the litigation on behalf of the estate and its creditors, they should file and serve an appropriate motion, and the court would consider it subject to hearing from other interested parties.

Deny request for an order to show cause and/or sanctions for violation of stay since the stay is not intended to protect non debtor parties. 11 U.S.C. 362(a); see also, Ingersoll-Rand Financial Corp. v. Miller Mining Co., 817 F.2d 1424, 1427 (9th Cir. 1987). Moreover, it would be difficult to show civil contempt here that plaintiffs willfully violated a specific and definite order of the court by clear and convincing evidence, see, e.g., In re Dyer, 322 F.3d 1178. 1190-1191 (9th Cir. 2003), in bringing the fraudulent transfer action against defendants, given the uncertainty of the law as indicated by the lack of definitive case authority in the Ninth Circuit and otherwise divided circuit authority on the question of whether a fraudulently transferred property before avoidance is property of a debtor's bankruptcy estate circuit.

Appearances are required on 3/20/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Chapter 11

#14.00 Hearing re: Motion for relief from stay
(Wedgewood Intermediary Fund I, LLC VS Debtor)

Docket 15

Tentative Ruling:

Grant movant relief from stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (2) to pursue non-bankruptcy remedies for the reasons stated in the moving papers. Debtor needs to show why the court should not disregard his untimely opposition to the motion and consider his failure to timely oppose the motion as consent to granting of the motion under LBR 9013-1(h). Debtor's opposition due on 7/17/18 was filed on 7/25/18, over a week late. Assuming the court considers Debtor's late opposition on the merits, the court disagrees with Debtor's arguments in his opposition that the foreclosure of the deed of trust of movant's predecessor-in-interest, East West Bank, with knowledge of the automatic stay of another debtor to whom Debtor had transferred a fractional interest in the subject property somehow invalidates the foreclosure. Although the foreclosure occurred postpetition in the case of the other debtor, East West Bank obtained an order for retroactive annulment of stay in that case, and such order is a final, nonappealable order. Debtor apparently is seeking to vacate that stay annulment order in the now dismissed bankruptcy case of the other debtor, which does not seem likely to happen given Debtor's lack of standing to seek relief in that case.

Deny relief from stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(4) since movant is the purchaser of the subject property at a foreclosure sale and not a secured creditor within the meaning of 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(4). In re Ellis, 523 B.R. 673 (9th Cir. BAP 2014).

Deny movant's requests for extraordinary relief in paragraphs 4, 8, 10 and 11 for lack of legal and/or evidentiary support. In re Van Ness, 399 B.R. 897 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 2009); see also, In re Johnson, 346 B.R. 190 (9th Cir. BAP 2006); but see, In re 4th Street Investors, Inc., 474 B.R. 709 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2012). The court disagrees with the request to confirm that there is no stay in effect since there is no showing that the stay did not arise or otherwise is terminated in this case, though it appears due to the prepetition foreclosure sale, the subject property is not property of the bankruptcy estate.

Deny the request for waiver of the 14-day waiting period under FRBP 4001(a) (3) in light of Debtor's opposition to the motion and possible taking of an appeal of the stay relief order.

Tentative Ruling:

Appearances are required on 5/8/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 5/1/18. The court has reviewed the unilateral pretrial statements of the parties, which are incomplete and inadequate and will not be approved. The "statements" should be a joint pretrial stipulation, Revised tentative ruling as of 3/6/18. The court notes that claimant has a schedule. The court will not take testimony from witnesses on a law and motion hearing calendar on 12/13/17, and the parties may not call their witnesses to testify on 12/13/17. If any party believes that there are no genuine issues of material fact and the party is entitled to judgment as a matter of law, that party may seek summary judgment upon a proper motion brought pursuant to FRBP 7056 and 9014 and LBR 7056-1. If claimant believes that the court should permissively abstain from hearing this contested matter, then she should bring a proper motion for abstention rather than raising the request in her opposition to the objection. See In re Tucson Estates, Inc., 912 F.2d 1162, 1166-1167 (9th Cir. 1990). However, it seems to the court that it could properly hear the objection to claim as a core proceeding under 28 U.S.C. 157(b)(2)(B) and not abstain under In re Conejo Enterprises, Inc., 96 F.3d 346 (9th Cir. 1996). Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 7/30/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 7/31/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. The court has reviewed the unilateral status reports filed by the parties. The court continues the status conference to 7/31/18 at 2:30 p.m. to be conducted with the hearing on defendants' amended motion to dismiss. No appearances are required on 7/10/18.

Although the parties failed to file a timely joint status report as required by Local Bankruptcy Rule 7016-1 and the court's status conference order, the court will not require at this time for the parties to file an updated and amended joint status report in light of the pendency of defendants' motion to dismiss.

However, the court notes that plaintiff has a jury trial demand on the face of the complaint, which the court will strike because there is no right to a jury trial on debt dischargeability and discharge denial claims in the adversary proceeding. The court also notes that the parties' consent to this court's jurisdiction to enter a final judgment on these core claims is not needed.

Prior tentative ruling as of 5/5/17. The court has reviewed debtor's status report. The court notes that the chart is missing the operative date for the amounts required to be paid, though the text of the report states that the date is the date of the report. Debtor needs to clarify the date for the amounts required to be paid. Otherwise, no tentative ruling on the merits. Debtor should also report on the rental situation, i.e., is the Burbank property rented out, and how much are her children paying on the Hacienda Heights property each. Prior tentative ruling as of 3/17/14. The court has reviewed the United States Trustee (UST)'s report on discovery efforts and results and debtor's objection to the UST's request for further continuance. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 3/19/14.

Prior tentative ruling as of 2/10/14. No tentative ruling. Plan confirmation may be a contested matter under FRBP 9014 requiring an evidentiary hearing. Objecting parties United States Trustee and Deutsche Bank to show excuse for late filing of objections to plan. Debtor to address feasibility of plan, cramdown plan treatment of Deutsch Bank pursuant to its 11 U.S.C. 1111(b) election (i.e., proposed 23-year payout of secured claim may not be proper) and how Stonger vote and objection should be addressed (i.e., what authority exists to disregard Stonger vote or recognize inconsistent ballots, if they are indeed inconsistent rather than unintentionally mistaken.)). Appearances are required on 2/12/14.

Prior tentative ruling as of 12/2/13. At the last hearing on the disclosure statement, debtor indicated that she would submit financial projections as requested by the United States Trustee. Appearances are required on 12/4/13, but counsel may appear by telephone.

No tentative ruling as of 10/28/13. Appearances are required on 10/30/13. Debtor to address objections of United States Trustee and secured creditor Deutsche Bank. Although a confirmation matter, the court is not inclined to confirm a plan with a 36 year payout on the secured claim since no apparent justification is provided for the protracted payment and such appears to be discriminatory and unduly shifting the risk of lack of plan feasibility to that creditor. Appearances are required on 10/30/13.

Updated tentative ruling as of 7/30/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 8/1/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. Deny approval of disclosure statement because: (1) plan is patently unconfirmable because it modifies loan secured by lien on debtor's principal residence in violation of 11 U.S.C. 1125(b) (plan modifies contractual interest rate on first and second secured home loans) and it does not propose a cure of outstanding arrearages on home mortgages in accordance with 11 U.S.C. 1124(2)(10 year payment of arrearages is discriminatory compared with 5 year payment of general unsecured claims); (2) disclosure statement lacks adequate information regarding plan feasibility since no financial history or financial projections are provided. Prior tentative ruling. Treat as contested matter under FRBP 9014 because the declarations of the witnesses in support of the moving and opposing papers raise material issues of fact to be resolved in an evidentiary hearing. Treat the hearing on 12/13/17 as a status conference to set a pretrial and trial schedule. The court will not take testimony from witnesses on a law and motion hearing calendar on 12/13/17, and the parties may not call their witnesses to testify on 12/13/17. If any party believes that there are no genuine issues of material fact and the party is entitled to judgment as a matter of law, that party may seek summary judgment upon a proper motion

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 7/31/18. Off calendar. Continued by stipulation and order to 8/8/18 at 11:00 a.m. No appearances are required on 8/1/18.

Prior tentative ruling as of 5/7/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 5/8/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 5/1/18. The court has reviewed the unilateral pretrial statements of the parties, which are incomplete and inadequate and will not be approved. The "statements" should be a joint pretrial stipulation, and they lack the exhibit lists of the parties and objections to exhibits thereto. Appearances are required on 5/2/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 3/19/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 3/21/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Revised tentative ruling as of 3/6/18. The court notes that claimant has a pending motion for abstention on her claims set for hearing on 3/21/18. papers raise material issues of fact to be resolved in an evidentiary hearing. Treat the hearing on 12/13/17 as a status conference to set a pretrial and trial schedule. The court will not take testimony from witnesses on a law and motion hearing calendar on 12/13/17, and the parties may not call their witnesses to testify on 12/13/17. If any party believes that there are no genuine issues of material fact and the party is entitled to judgment as a matter of law, that party may seek summary judgment upon a proper motion brought pursuant to FRBP 7056 and 9014 and LBR 7056-1. If claimant believes that the court should permissively abstain from hearing this contested matter, then she should bring a proper motion for abstention rather than raising the request in her opposition to the objection. See In re Tucson Estates, Inc., 912 F.2d 1162, 1166-1167 (9th Cir. 1990). However, it seems to the court that it could properly hear the objection to claim as a core proceeding under 28 U.S.C. 157(b)(2)(B) and not abstain under In re Conejo Enterprises, Inc., 96 F.3d 346 (9th Cir. 1996). Prior tentative ruling as of 3/19/18. Appearances are required on 3/21/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Revised tentative ruling as of 3/6/18. The court has reviewed debtor's status update and request to continue the status conference. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 3/7/18 to discuss scheduling and the the impact of treatment on creditor Cindy Magleby's claims for plan voting and abstention among other things, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 2/5/18. The court notes that debtor filed a second amended disclosure statement on 1/30/18, 8 days before the further hearing on 2/7/18. Creditor Banc of California filed a response on 1/31/18 objecting to debtor's noticing approval of the amended disclosure statement for the hearing on 2/7/18, citing the court's oral ruling that creditors should be given 3 weeks notice of hearing on an amended disclosure statement. Prior tentative ruling as of 11/28/17. The court has reviewed debtor's status report. Appearances are required on 11/29/17 to discuss scheduling of further proceedings, including filing date for debtor's second amended disclosure statement, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 5/22/17. Appearances are required on 5/24/17, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. Debtor in his status report filed on 2/22/17 indicated that he and his counsel are working on revising and amending the original disclosure statement to include a revised and updated liquidation analysis and taking into account resolutions of claims of creditors, including First Republic Bank (however, the court notes that it disapproved without prejudice the stipulation resolving claim of First Republic Bank in light of objection of creditor Cindy Magelby since it appears that debtor will need to bring a FRBP 9019 motion). Appearances are required on 3/1/17 regarding scheduling of further proceedings for an amended and revised disclosure statement, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 7/31/18. Off calendar. Trial date was vacated at hearing on 6/5/18. No appearances are required on 8/3/18.

Prior tentative ruling as of 2/5/18. Plaintiff lodged "[Proposed] Stipulated Pretrial Conference Order," which the court has rejected as deficient under LBR 7016-1 because of lack of signature of defendant's counsel, numerous typographical errors and failure to address all claims of second amended complaint. The document to be submitted first is a "Joint Pretrial Stipulation", and later an order approving that document if it is in proper form. Both parties have independent duties to participate in the preparation and filing of the pretrial conference documents under LBR 7016-1. Plaintiff filed "joint" witness list twice, but no "joint" exhibit list, but these documents have no indication that they are "joint" since no signature of defendant's counsel is provided. These documents do not excuse either party since there is no indication from defendant that defendant has met the requirements of submitting joint pretrial documents with plaintiff under LBR 7016-1. The parties should be prepared to discuss how the court should proceed with all non-dismissed claims alleged in plaintiff's second amended complaint. The court has orally indicated that the claims under 11 U.S.C. 727 should be tried first and that the claims under 11 U.S.C. 523 should be deferred until the state court appellate litigation has been completed on related claims (or the court should permissively abstain in favor of the state courts on the related claims). Tentative Ruling:

Grant movant relief from stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (4) to pursue non-bankruptcy remedies and for in rem relief for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition. Deny request for stay relief under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(2) because the evidence of lack of equity in the broker's price opinion lacks foundation (i.e., the opinion of broker/agent is not under declaration of penalty of perjury). Deny request for extraordinary relief in paragraph 3 because Debtor is not a contract party to the loan agreement. Deny request for extraordinary relief in paragraph 14 for lack of legal authority and/or evidentiary support. In re Van Ness, 399 B.R. 897 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 2009). The 14-day waiting period under FRBP 4001(a) (3) is waived.

The court does not make a finding of bad faith as to debtor. See In re Dorsey, 476 B.R. 261 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2012).

Movant must lodge a proposed order within 7 days. All registered CM/ECF users must lodge an order using the court's mandatory form order on LOU. Movant may submit on the tentative ruling without an appearance at the hearing, in accordance with Judge Kwan's tentative ruling procedures posted online on the court's website and in hard copy available in the courtroom.

#10.00 Hearing re: Emma Borges' motion for order pursuant to Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure 2004 and 9016; for an examination of debtors person most knowledgeable; and for production of documents

Docket 143

Tentative Ruling:

Grant movant's motion for FRBP 2004 examination of debtor for the reasons stated in the moving papers. Overrule debtor's objections to the motion because the parties had a prefiling conference on 6/15/18 with no follow-up by debtor's counsel within one week as agreed, the examination cannot proceed under FRBP 7030 or 9014 since the alleged contested matter of movant's stay relief is no longer a contested matter since the court granted the stay relief motion, the argument of lack of service on debtor lacks merit as unreasonably formalistic since debtor as a limited liability company must be represented by counsel and its counsel was served and was actively negotiating with movant regarding the motion, the objection based on the attorney client privilege can be raised on a document by document and question by question basis at the examination, or submission of a privilege log at the examination, and the objection to request for production number 5 can be raised either by a motion for a protective order which has not been filed or interposed at the examination, subject to a motion to compel, and cause is shown for movant to examine debtor about possible bad faith insurance claims of Debtor and possible attorney malpractice claims of Debtor. Prior tentative ruling as of 7/2/18. Appearances are required on 7/3/18.

Prior tentative ruling. Since it appears that the state court litigation for which movant seeks stay relief based on mandatory abstention has been removed by debtors to this court, the court is inclined to deny the motion without prejudice because there is no pending litigation in state court for this court to abstain for. See In re Roman Catholic Bishop of San Diego, 374 B.R. 756, 760 (Bankr. S.D. Cal. 2007), citing inter alia, Security Farms v. International Brotherhood of Teamsters, 124 F.3d 999, 1009-1010 (9th Cir. 1997). Movant will need to bring a motion for equitable remand under 28 U.S.C. 1452(b) in conjunction with a renewed stay relief motion for the state court litigation to proceed. Appearances are required on 6/5/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

#22.00 Cont'd hearing re: Motion to remand [State Court Lawsuit]
fr. 7/3/18

Docket 8

 VACATED  REASON: Granted per order entered on 7/13/18-mb.

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 8/6/18. Off calendar. The hearing is moot because the motion for remand was granted by order entered on 7/13/18. No appearances are required on 8/7/18.

Prior tentative ruling as of 7/2/18 at 5:30 p.m. Having reviewed the moving and opposing papers, the court is of the view that the ruling will depend on the analysis of the various equitable remand factors set forth in In re Cedar Funding, Inc., 419 B.R. 807, 820-821 and n. 18 (9th Cir. BAP 2009), citing, In re Enron Corp., 296 B.R. 505, 508 n. 2 (C.D. Cal. 2003) and the ruling may well turn on the impact of movant's filing of a proof of claim in this bankruptcy case as discussed in In re Conejo Enterprises, Inc., 96 F.3d 346, 353-354 (9th Cir. 1996). (In this regard, the court notes that the reliance of respondents on the superseded opinion in In re Conejo Enterprises, Inc., 71 F.3d 1460, 1467 (9th Cir. 1995) for the proposition that "by filing a proof of claim a creditor forsakes its right to adjudicate before a jury any issue that bears directly on the allowance of that claim" is misplaced because the earlier opinion was superseded and the language of the earlier opinion was not incorporated into the superseding opinion and is thus inoperative.) Counsel should be prepared to discuss the equitable remand factors and the impact of filing of a proof of claim by movant on the analysis of these factors. Appearances are required on 7/3/18.

Docket 11

Tentative Ruling:

Service of notice of motion is insufficient since not all creditors were served with notice of motion as required by FRBP 2002(a)(4), 9013 and 9014 since the motion is brought under 11 U.S.C. 707(a)(1) for cause, namely, unreasonable delay prejudicial to creditors, rather than 11 U.S.C. 707(a)(3) for failure to file information required under 11 U.S.C. 521(a)(1). Movant to serve amended notice of motion on all creditors with a new hearing date, or alternatively, deny motion without prejudice, but grant motion to extend deadline to file either a motion to dismiss for abuse under 11 U.S.C. 707(b)(3) or an adversary proceeding under 11 U.S.C. 727. #8.00 Hearing re: Debtor's motion to authorize listing for sale and establish procedures for selling estate real property located at 1447 10th Street, Manhattan Beach, CA 90266

Docket 496

Tentative Ruling:

While the court is inclined to grant the motion to authorize the listing of the property for sale, the court agrees with creditor Cindy Magleby that there should be an overbid procedure to sufficiently expose the property to the marketplace. The court is not persuaded by the arguments of Debtor or the broker to warrant dispensing with the overbidding. The court also agrees with the creditor's argument based on the express language of 11 U.S.C. 363(i) that the sale is subject to her "right of first refusal". Regarding the proposed conditions of sale requested by Debtor and the creditor, these matters will need to be thoroughly discussed and worked out before the court will authorize a listing and a sales process, given that Mrs. Magleby is a nondebtor, co-owner of the property, and that there may be outstanding family law court orders that may have an impact on the sales process (though these are not specifically identified in her papers). Appearances are required on 8/8/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Docket 390

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 8/7/18. The parties filed unilateral pretrial statements rather than a joint pretrial statement. Before the court imposes monetary sanctions of $250 against the culpable party/ies for failing to file a joint pretrial statement as required by LBR 7016-1, the court will afford the parties an opportunity to complete and file a joint pretrial statement as required and intends to continue the pretrial conference for this purpose. Appearances are required on 8/8/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Updated tentative ruling as of 5/7/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 5/8/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 5/1/18. The court has reviewed the unilateral pretrial statements of the parties, which are incomplete and inadequate and will not be approved. The "statements" should be a joint pretrial stipulation, and they lack the exhibit lists of the parties and objections to exhibits thereto. Appearances are required on 5/2/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 3/19/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 3/21/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Revised tentative ruling as of 3/6/18. The court notes that claimant has a pending motion for abstention on her claims set for hearing on 3/21/18. If the court abstains, this itself will not postpone plan confirmation proceedings because the parties may request the court to estimate the claims for voting on plan confirmation. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 3/7/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 2/5/18. No tentative ruling on the merits.
Appearances are required on 2/7/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. Treat as contested matter under FRBP 9014 because the declarations of the witnesses in support of the moving and opposing papers raise material issues of fact to be resolved in an evidentiary hearing. Treat the hearing on 12/13/17 as a status conference to set a pretrial and trial schedule. The court will not take testimony from witnesses on a law and motion hearing calendar on 12/13/17, and the parties may not call their witnesses to testify on 12/13/17. If any party believes that there are no genuine issues of material fact and the party is entitled to judgment as a matter of law, that party may seek summary judgment upon a proper motion brought pursuant to FRBP 7056 and 9014 and LBR 7056-1. If claimant believes that the court should permissively abstain from hearing this contested matter, then she should bring a proper motion for abstention rather than raising the request in her opposition to the objection. See In re Tucson Estates, Inc., 912 F.2d 1162, 1166-1167 (9th Cir. 1990). However, it seems to the court that it could properly hear the objection to claim as a core proceeding under 28 U.S.C. 157(b)(2)(B) and not abstain under In re Conejo Enterprises, Inc., 96 F.3d 346 (9th Cir. 1996). Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 8/7/18. Because the parties filed their joint pretrial statement late, the joint pretrial statement is voluminous and the parties in the related contested matter of Debtor's objection to the claim of Cindy Magleby, claimants' client, filed unilateral pretrial statements rather than a joint pretrial statement as required, the court intends to continue the pretrial conference for this matter to be coordinated with the pretrial conference for the contested matter of Debtor's objection to the claim of Cindy Magleby and to allow additional time for review of the joint pretrial statement. No updated tentative ruling as of 8/7/18. Appearances are required on 8/8/18.

Prior tentative ruling as of 1/29/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 1/30/18.

Updated tentative ruling as of 1/12/18. Plaintiff moves to compel discovery to defendant with respect to: (1) his request for admissions, (2) his interrogatories and (3) his requests for production of documents. As to the request for admissions, the motion is unnecessary because if the requests for admissions are properly served, the requested matters for admission are deemed admitted if not timely denied. As to the interrogatories, the motion should be denied because the interrogatories are invalid because plaintiff did not sign them. On the copy of the interrogatories attached to the motion, there is no signature of plaintiff on his interrogatories as required by Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 9011(a). Plaintiff will need to sign them before he can move to compel defendant to respond to them. As to the request for production of documents, the motion does not comply with Local Bankruptcy Rule 9026-1(c) because plaintiff has not submitted a discovery dispute stipulation to be completed by both parties as to their positions on the discovery dispute. Plaintiff appears to have met the requirement of a meet and confer request to defendant's counsel, to which there was apparently no response, but plaintiff still needs to submit the joint discovery dispute stipulation required by Local Bankruptcy Rule 7026-1(c). The court wants the parties to conduct a meet and confer meeting regarding the interrogatories and the request for production of documents once plaintiff signs the interrogatories. Appearances are required on 1/16/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

 VACATED  REASON: Four day trial vacated per hearing held on 6/5/18-mb.

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 7/31/18. Off calendar. Trial date was vacated at hearing on 6/5/18. No appearances are required on 8/9/18.

Prior tentative ruling as of 2/5/18. Plaintiff lodged "[Proposed] Stipulated Pretrial Conference Order," which the court has rejected as deficient under LBR 7016-1 because of lack of signature of defendant's counsel, numerous typographical errors and failure to address all claims of second amended complaint. The document to be submitted first is a "Joint Pretrial Stipulation", and later an order approving that document if it is in proper form. Both parties have independent duties to participate in the preparation and filing of the pretrial conference documents under LBR 7016-1. Plaintiff filed "joint" witness list twice, but no "joint" exhibit list, but these documents have no indication that they are "joint" since no signature of defendant's counsel is provided. These documents do not excuse either party since there is no indication from defendant that defendant has met the requirements of submitting joint pretrial documents with plaintiff under LBR 7016-1. The parties should be prepared to discuss how the court should proceed with all non-dismissed claims alleged in plaintiff's second amended complaint. The court has orally indicated that the claims under 11 U.S.C. 727 should be tried first and that the claims under 11 U.S.C. 523 should be deferred until the state court appellate litigation has been completed on related claims (or the court should permissively abstain in favor of the state courts on the related claims). #14.00 EVIDENTIARY HEARING RE: Plaintiff's motion for default judgment under LBR 7055-1
fr. 2/13/18, 4/3/18, 7/12/18

Docket 19

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 8/20/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 8/21/18.

Prior tentative ruling as of 4/2/18. After reviewing the supplemental papers, the court believes that they are not sufficient to demonstrate the transfer of the subject property was fraudulent, and the court will set a hearing for plaintiff to offer evidence to prove up the fraudulent transfer, such as eyewitness testimony that defendant is continuing to operate his business and otherwise exercise dominion and control over the transferred property to deem it to be his. The court is considering ordering plaintiff to serve defendant with a subpoena to appear at the prove up hearing. Appearances are required on 4/3/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. The court on its own motion is continuing the hearing and status conference to 4/3/18 at 1:30 p.m. for plaintiff to file supplemental briefing to demonstrate that the elements of a claim for fraudulent transfer either under state and/or federal law has been met setting forth the factual basis for the court to grant the motion for default judgment on its claims under 11 U.S.C. 523(a)(2)(A) and (a)(6). Plaintiff must file its supplemental brief citing the elements of a fraudulent transfer claim under state and/or federal law and any supplemental evidence showing that all of the elements of a fraudulent transfer claim has been met by 3/13/18. Docket 1209 per stip & order entered on 8/20/18-mb.

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 8/20/18. At the first hearing on the motion on 6/26/18, the parties indicated that they did not have an interest in litigating this contested matter to an evidentiary hearing and were going to attempt to negotiate a consensual resolution with the filing of a stipulation by the hearing on 8/21/18. No stipulation has been filed, which perhaps indicates a lack of consensus. At this point, the court is inclined to deny the motion without prejudice on grounds the motion is premature as argued by objecting party, Morrison and Foerster, because the trustee has not concluded his administration of the case and this would be consistent with Judge Saltzman's prior 2016 order denying preconversion fee applications without prejudice (Docket Number 568). In reaching this conclusion, the court has considered case law regarding whether to allow immediate payment of administrative expense claims ahead of distribution after the Chapter 7 trustee's final report, In re Tandem Group., Inc., 61 B.R. 738, 742 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1986) (postponing determination of preconversion administrative expense claim until Chapter 7 trustee informs the court that sufficient funds exist in the estate to pay Chapter 7 administrative expenses and preconversion Chapter 11 administrative expenses); In re Cardinal Industries, Inc., 109 B.R. 738, 742 (Bankr. S.D. Ohio 1989) (considering the status of the case, the likelihood that all administrative expense claims will be paid in full, and the ability of the claimant to repay any amount which later turns out to be in excess of payments to other administrative expense claimants in determining whether an immediate payment of administrative expense claims should be made). Other objecting parties argue that they are similarly situated to movant and are entitled to payment of administrative expense claims as well, and it seems it would be burdensome to the parties and the estate to litigate all of these claims now before the trustee's administration of the case is not completed and the trustee does not know at this time whether there are sufficient funds to pay Chapter 7 administrative expenses and preconversion administrative expense claims.

Prior tentative ruling. Treat as a contested matter under FRBP 9014 because there are material issues of fact for trial regarding whether movant has made a substantial contribution, which is disputed by other parties. The parties should meet and confer regarding their pretrial needs and a proposed pretrial and trial schedule. Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 8/20/18. Off calendar. Continued by stipulation and order to 10/2/18 at 1:30 p.m. No appearances are required on 8/21/18.

Prior tentative ruling as of 7/9/18. The court has reviewed the joint status report and notes that the parties have not had their LBR 7026-1 conference. The court is inclined to continue the status conference until the parties have completed their LBR 7026-1 conference and suggests that they conduct the business of LBR 7026-1 conference before the status conference to obviate the need for a continuance. Appearances are required on 7/10/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 9/11/17. Appearances are required on 9/12/17, but counsel may appear by telephone.

#21.00 Cont'd status conference re: Complaint objecting to dischargeability of debt and to determine debt to be nondischargeable under 11 U.S.C. §523(a)(2)(A) fr. 6/5/18

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 8/20/18. Off calendar. The court has reviewed the joint status report of the parties, which stated that the parties have not conducted their conference under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 7026 and Local Bankruptcy Rule 7026-1. The court continues the status conference on its own motion to 9/11/18 at 1:30 p.m. and order that the parties have their Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 7026 and Local Bankruptcy Rule 7026-1 conference before the continued status conference on 9/11/18. The parties need not file an updated status report for the continued status conference. No appearances are required on 8/21/18.

Prior tentative ruling. Since default has been entered against defendant, defendant will have to file a motion to set aside default unless plaintiff is willing to stipulate to set aside the default and allow defendant's answer to be considered filed. The parties should be prepared to address the issue of whether the default should be set aside. The court is not inclined to set a litigation schedule until the issue of the setting aside the default is resolved. Appearances are required on 6/5/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Docket 143

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 8/20/18. Appearances are required on 8/21/18 to discuss scheduling of FRBP 2004 examination, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. Grant movant's motion for FRBP 2004 examination of debtor for the reasons stated in the moving papers. Overrule debtor's objections to the motion because the parties had a prefiling conference on 6/15/18 with no follow-up by debtor's counsel within one week as agreed, the examination cannot proceed under FRBP 7030 or 9014 since the alleged contested matter of movant's stay relief is no longer a contested matter since the court granted the stay relief motion, the argument of lack of service on debtor lacks merit as unreasonably formalistic since debtor as a limited liability company must be represented by counsel and its counsel was served and was actively negotiating with movant regarding the motion, the objection based on the attorney client privilege can be raised on a document by document and question by question basis at the examination, or submission of a privilege log at the examination, and the objection to request for production number 5 can be raised either by a motion for a protective order which has not been filed or interposed at the examination, subject to a motion to compel, and cause is shown for movant to examine debtor about possible bad faith insurance claims of Debtor and possible attorney malpractice claims of Debtor. The court will continue the hearing for 6 weeks, 2 weeks for applicant to submit an unreacted version of the fee application and 4 weeks for the court to review, considering there are over 50 pages of billing entries. #37.00 Hearing re: Motion for order disqualifying counsel

Tentative Ruling:

Deny motion to disqualify counsel for debtor for the reasons stated in the opposition of debtor. Movant lacks standing to disqualification of counsel where she had no attorney-client relationship. Kasza v. Browner, 133 F.3d 1159, 1171 (9th Cir. 1998); Sherman v. CLP Resources, Inc., 2015 WL 13542762 (C.D. Cal. 2015); Great Lakes Construction, Inc. v. Burman, 186 Cal.App.4th 1347, 1358 (2010). The court agrees with debtor that standing is not shown under the so-called minority view set forth in Colyer v. Smith, 50 F.Supp.2d 966 (C.D. Cal. 1999) were applicable, assuming arguendo that it is the law in California, which is doubtful since no California state court case has adopted it, because the alleged injury to the nonclient movant that is not concrete and particularized, but only conjectural or hypothetical at this time because there is no injury unless movant obtains a state court judgment in excess of the $25,000 insurance policy limits, convinces a Chapter 7 trustee that debtor had a bad faith claim against the insurer, which has not been abandoned to the debtor, and movant alleges and proves a bad faith claim on behalf of debtor. #41.00 Hearing re: Motion by Second Generation, Inc., for an order: (1) permitting Second Generation to intervene in the pending adversary proceeding; and (2) granting Second Generation Standing to pursue estate claims in connection with the adversary proceeding

Docket 123

Tentative Ruling:

Sustain movant's evidentiary objections to the declaration of Veronica S. Darling on all grounds.

Grant movant's request to intervene under 11 U.S.C. 1109(b) and Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 24(a) because movant as creditor had an unconditional statutory right under 11 U.S.C. 1109(b) to intervene as a party in interest in this adversary proceeding. In re Caldor Corp., 303 F.3d 161 (2nd Cir. 2002); Matter of Marin Motor Oil, Inc., 689 F.2d 445 (3rd Cir. 1982); contra, Fuel Oil Supply and Terminaling v. Gulf Oil Corp., 762 F.2d 1283 (5th Cir. 1985); In re Megan-Racine Associates, 176 B.R. 687 (Bankr. N.D.N.Y. 1994). Although there is a circuit split of authority on the issue, the Ninth Circuit has not ruled on this issue. The broad construction of 11 U.S.C. 1109(b) in the Second and Third Circuit decisions is more persuasive than the narrow construction in the Fifth Circuit decision since there is no statutory language excluding adversary proceedings from the meaning of (bankruptcy) case in 11 U.S.C. 1109(b) and adversary proceedings are considered part of a bankruptcy case. Megan-Racine Associates is not good law since its holding is inconsistent with the holding of its circuit in Caldor.

Alternatively, movant has shown that intervention should be granted under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 24(a)(2) in that its intervention motion is timely because the motion is made in the early stages of the adversary proceeding, as a creditor, movant has a significant protectable interest relating to the property or transaction which is the subject of the adversary proceeding since it has a claim to distributions from the bankruptcy estate which may be affected by the rulings on the property interests at issue in the adversary proceeding, the disposition of the adversary proceeding as a practical matter may impair or impede the movant's ability to protect its interest because the scope of property of the bankruptcy estate may be limited by the rulings in the adversary proceeding and the existing parties may not adequately represent the movant's interest since the parties are married to each other and may have incentive to limit or restrict the availability of property to payment of debtor's creditors like movant. See Prete v. Bradbury, 438 F.3d 949 (9th Cir. 2006).

Movant's request for derivative standing should be granted because movant has colorable claims which would benefit the estate if successful because its claim may reduce any diminishment of property of the estate in the adversary proceeding, debtor in possession's inaction in defending the adversary proceeding by acquiescing in plaintiff's claims in the adversary proceeding does not appear to be justified in light of her fiduciary duties in this Chapter 11 bankruptcy case since she is married to plaintiff and would stand to benefit from limiting or restricting assets jointly available to her and her spouse to her creditors and it appears to be futile for movant as creditor of debtor to make a demand on her to take action to vigorously defend the adversary proceeding to define property as belonging to her spouse solely which she may have beneficial enjoyment as a family member without being made available to pay her creditors. #3.00 CONT'D EVIDENTIARY HEARING RE: Motion for relief from stay
(U.S. Bank Trust N.A. VS Debtor)
fr. 1/4/18, 3/21/18, 4/25/18, 6/27/18

Docket 79

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 8/20/18. No tentative ruling on the merits.
Appearances are required on 8/22/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 6/25/18. No tentative ruling on the merits.

Prior tentative ruling as of 3/19/18. No tentative ruling on the merits.
Appearances are required on 3/21/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 1/3/18. On movant's claim under 11 U.S.C. 362(d) (2), it has met its burden of proof under 11 U.S.C. 362(g)(1) to demonstrate lack of equity in the subject property based on the stipulated value for the property. Debtor as the party opposing relief has the burden on the remaining issue of demonstrating under 11 U.S.C. 362(g)(2) and (d)(2) that the property is necessary to its effective reorganization, i.e., a confirmed reorganization plan is in reasonable prospect. Specifically, debtor must produce some evidence that its plan could be confirmed by a reasonable bankruptcy judge. In re Bonner Mall Partnership, 2 F.3d 899, 902 n. 4 (9th Cir. 1993). Debtor's projected income based on its principal's consulting income of $12,500 per month is not supported by any credible evidence for this projection. The demonstrated history in this case does not support the projection, and there is no credible explanation of how the income can be generated at that level to demonstrate plan feasibility under 11 U.S.C. 1129(a)(11). Debtor has not shown that it is likely to have at least one impaired class of claims to accept its plan under 11 U.S.C. 1129(a)(10) since there is no credible evidence indicating any creditor support for the plan (debtor's conclusory assertions are not evidence). Based on what has been submitted in the papers, the court is inclined to find that debtor has not met its burden of proof on the second prong of 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(2) that the property is necessary for its effective reorganization, i.e., that its plan could be confirmed by a reasonable bankruptcy judge and that the stay relief motion should be granted. Appearances are required on 1/4/18.

Prior tentative ruling as of 11/6/17. Appearances are required on 11/7/17, but counsel may appear by telephone.

No updated tentative ruling as of 10/24/17. Appearances are required on 10/24/17, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. Treat as a contested matter under FRBP 9014 and set schedule of pretrial and trial proceedings. Appearances are required on 9/26/17 to discuss the parties' respective pretrial needs, but counsel may appear by telephone.

#6.00 Hearing re: Application of debtor and debtor in possession to employ Terzian Law Group, a professional corporation as bankruptcy counsel

Docket 121

Tentative Ruling:

Having considered the moving and opposing papers, the court is inclined to approve the employment application, provided that the record is clear that applicant adheres to the conditions set forth in In re Lotus Properties LP, 200 B.R. 388, 393 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1996), citing In re Kelton, 109 B.R. 641 (Bankr. D. Vt. 1989), setting forth the so-called "analytical" approach: (1) the arrangement must be fully disclosed to the debtor/client and the third party payor/insider; (2) the debtor must expressly consent to the arrangement; (3) the third party payor/insider must retain independent legal counsel and must understand that the attorney's duty of undivided loyalty is owed exclusively to the debtor/client; (4) the factual and legal relationship between the third party payor/insider, the debtor, the respective attorneys and their contractual arrangement concerning the fees must be fully disclosed to the court at the outset of the debtor's bankruptcy representation; and (5) the debtor's attorney/applicant must demonstrate and represent to the court's satisfaction the absence of facts which would otherwise create nondisinterestedness, actual conflict or impermissible potential for a conflict of interest. The court does not follow the so-called "restrictive" approach in In re Hathaway Ranchy Partnership, 116 B.R. 208 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1990), setting forth a per se disqualification of counsel for debtor whose fees and costs are paid by a principal or insider because California law is not so restrictive as set forth in California Rule of Professional Responsibility 3-310(F)(3) recognizing an exception to the general rule that a lawyer may not accept compensation for representing a client other than the client unless the lawyer obtains the client's informed written consent and it appears that it is not unusual for an insider to pay for fees to employ counsel or other professionals in a debtor's bankruptcy case and that most courts permit the practice based on the criteria set forth in In re Lotus Properties LP. 1 March, Ahart and Shapiro, Rutter Group California Practice Guide: Bankruptcy, paragraph 4:284 at 4-26

(2017), citing In re Lotus Properties, LP, supra, In re EZ Links Golf, LLC, 317 B.R. 858 (Bankr. D. D. Colo. 2009). The court believes that the application will need to be supplemented that makes all the disclosures required by Rule 2014 and In re Lotus Properties LP are made and that the conditions of Lotus Properties are met, including the requirement of independent counsel for the third party payor, Mr. Trinh, to demonstrate his understanding that applicant's duty of loyalty is only to debtor. Neither the employment application nor the attached retainer agreement discloses the agreement of the insider to pay the legal fees for applicant's services set forth in applicant's reply to the court, and none of these documents set forth the client/debtor's informed consent to this insider payment agreement and the express understanding of the third party payor/insider, Mr. Trinh, that applicant has an undivided duty of loyalty to the client/debtor. It is not enough that these disclosures are found in applicant's reply. In re Park-Helena Corp., 63 F.3d 877 (9th Cir. 1995)(failure of counsel to disclose source of retainer from insider was violation of Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 2016 and grounds for disallowance of compensation); Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(g) (4)(new arguments or matters should not be raised for the first time in a reply). #11.00 Cont'd hearing re: Motion for relief from stay
(US Bank National Association VS Debtor)
fr. 6/5/18, 6/19/18

Docket 30

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 8/20/18. The court has reviewed the supplemental pleading filed by movant with the state court's order in debtor's quiet title action, sustaining the demurrers, but with leave to amend. The court is inclined to continue the hearing on the stay relief motion with consent of movant or deny the motion without prejudice, pending the state court's sua sponte motion to dismiss the quiet title action set for hearing on 10/3/18 at 9:30 a.m. The hearing on the stay relief motion will be continued to after the state court hearing on the motion to dismiss with movant's consent or denied without prejudice. Alternatively, the court can set an evidentiary hearing on this contested matter regarding movant's stay relief claims. Appearances are required on 8/22/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. Treat as a contested matter under FRBP 9014 because there are disputed material issues of fact regarding whether cause is shown for lack of adequate protection and lack of good faith since movant has not met its burden of proof regarding debtor has insufficient equity in the subject property under 11 U.S.C. 362(g)(1) because its valuation evidence regarding equity is inadmissible and the circumstances indicating that debtor was the victim of fraudulent conduct and is pursuing legal action to vindicate its rights to reorganize and pay creditors. Although the court may not be able to take judicial notice of the declaration of the appraiser filed in the state court case, the court will accord sufficient time for debtor to obtain and filed a declaration regarding valuation in this case, and likewise, for movant as well. The court will also afford the parties an opportunity to present evidence on good faith, which will necessarily entail debtor's prospects for successfully reorganizing and obtaining plan confirmation in this case. See In re Bonner Mall Partnership, 2 F.3d 899, 902 n. 4 (9th Cir. 1993). The case of In re Walter,

Chapter 11

#13.00 Hearing re: Motion for order approving sale of real property pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §363

Docket 52

Tentative Ruling:

Revised tentative ruling as of 8/20/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Although debtor represents that 11 U.S.C. 363(f) is met through consent of all of the affected lienholders under 11 U.S.C. 363(f)(2), no proof of consent has been submitted. The court will not imply consent here based on lack of written response, given that the hearing on the motion is on shortened notice and the sizable reduction of $250,000 of one lienholder without corroborative evidence of consent being offered by debtor (the sale as proposed would be a $250,000 stripoff of this junior lien). Debtor will have to offer written consent of the affected lienholders for the court to find that consent is met under 11 U.S.C. 363(f)(2) as represented in the moving papers, and the court would continue the hearing for debtor to obtain proof of consent if needed. As to the request of the United States Trustee to examine the prospective buyers and the real estate agents, it would expedite the hearing if these parties were present for examination at the hearing. No tentative ruling as to the prospective buyers' breakup fee since they already put money into the purchase with debtor's apparent encouragement without court authorization or notice to creditors. While the prospective buyers may have been acting in good faith negotiating their purchase with debtor, debtor was apparently bypassing the procedural protections of the Bankruptcy Code in negotiating the sale and seeking dismissal to consummate the sales transaction, which is problematic. Appearances are required on 8/22/18.

Prior tentative ruling. No tentative ruling will be issued on the motion heard on shortened notice. Debtor must address opposition of United States Trustee that the sale is not a good faith, arms length transaction. Appearances are required on 8/22/18.

Chapter 11

Prior tentative ruling as of 2/5/18. The court notes that debtor filed a second amended disclosure statement on 1/30/18, 8 days before the further hearing on 2/7/18. Creditor Banc of California filed a response on 1/31/18 objecting to debtor's noticing approval of the amended disclosure statement for the hearing on 2/7/18, citing the court's oral ruling that creditors should be given 3 weeks notice of hearing on an amended disclosure statement. Appearances are required on 2/7/18 to discuss scheduling of further proceedings, including adequate time for creditors to respond to debtor's second amended disclosure statement and a scheduling of a further hearing on debtor's second amended disclosure statement to allow for review and comment by creditors and interested parties, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 11/28/17. The court has reviewed debtor's status report. Appearances are required on 11/29/17 to discuss scheduling of further proceedings, including filing date for debtor's second amended disclosure statement, but counsel may appear by telephone.

No updated tentative ruling as of 9/25/17. Appearances are required on 9/27/17, but counsel may appear by telephone.

No updated tentative ruling as of 7/24/17. Appearances are required on 7/26/17, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 5/22/17. Appearances are required on 5/24/17, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. Debtor in his status report filed on 2/22/17 indicated that he and his counsel are working on revising and amending the original disclosure statement to include a revised and updated liquidation analysis and taking into account resolutions of claims of creditors, including First Republic Bank (however, the court notes that it disapproved without prejudice the stipulation resolving claim of First Republic Bank in light of objection of creditor Cindy Magelby since it appears that debtor will need to bring a FRBP 9019 motion). Appearances are required on 3/1/17 regarding scheduling of further proceedings for an amended and revised disclosure statement, but counsel may appear by telephone.

#4.00 Cont'd hearing re: Debtor's motion to authorize listing for sale and establish procedures for selling estate real property located at 1447 10th Street, Manhattan Beach, CA 90266 fr. 8/8/18

Docket 496

Courtroom Deputy:

- NONE LISTED -

Tentative Ruling:

While the court is inclined to grant the motion to authorize the listing of the property for sale, the court agrees with creditor Cindy Magleby that there should be an overbid procedure to sufficiently expose the property to the marketplace. The court is not persuaded by the arguments of Debtor or the broker to warrant dispensing with the overbidding. The court also agrees with the creditor's argument based on the express language of 11 U.S.C. 363(i) that the sale is subject to her "right of first refusal". Regarding the proposed conditions of sale requested by Debtor and the creditor, these matters will need to be thoroughly discussed and worked out before the court will authorize a listing and a sales process, given that Mrs. Magleby is a nondebtor, co-owner of the property, and that there may be outstanding family law court orders that may have an impact on the sales process (though these are not specifically identified in her papers). Docket 17

Tentative Ruling:

Because the bankruptcy case was dismissed on 8/23/18, the relief sought under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (2) is moot. 11 U.S.C. 362(c)(1) and (2). Grant movant relief from stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) to pursue non-bankruptcy remedies and for in rem relief for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition. If request for relief from stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(2) is not moot, deny for lack of admissible evidence regarding valuation of debtor's equity in subject real property because Redfin valuation has not been demonstrated to be based on scientifically accepted methodology of valuation (i.e., expert witness testimony by a qualified expert witness conducting a sales comparable analysis). The 14-day waiting period under FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived.

The court does not make a finding of bad faith as to debtor. See In re Dorsey, 476 B.R. 261 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2012).

Movant must lodge a proposed order within 7 days. All registered CM/ECF users must lodge an order using the court's mandatory form order on LOU. #8.10 Hearing re: Application to employ The Law Offices of Brian H. Cole as Special Franchise Law Counsel

Docket 116

Tentative Ruling:

Off calendar. The court on its own motion continues the hearing on the application to employ special litigation counsel to the date and time of the hearing on creditor's motion to dismiss the bankruptcy case on 9/19/18 at 2:30 p.m. as a status conference on the application. Most likely, creditor's motion to dismiss is a contested matter under FRBP 9014 and may require an evidentiary hearing which the court will set at the hearing on 9/18/18, and the hearing on the employment application will trail the hearing on the motion to dismiss since granting of the motion to dismiss will moot out the application. No appearances are required on 8/29/18. Debtor to notify applicant of the continuance.

Docket 372

 VACATED  REASON: Cont'd from 8/29/18 to 11/7/18 at 1:30 p.m. per stip & order entered on 8/16/18-mb.

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 8/27/18. Off calendar. Continued by stipulation and order to 11/7/18 at 1:30 p.m. No appearances are required on 8/29/18.

Prior tentative ruling as of 3/19/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 3/21/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 3/5/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 3/7/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 2/5/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 2/7/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. Treat as contested matter under FRBP 9014 because the declarations of the witnesses in support of the moving and opposing papers raise material issues of fact to be resolved in an evidentiary hearing. Treat the hearing on 12/13/17 as a status conference to set a pretrial and trial schedule. The court will not take testimony from witnesses on a law and motion hearing calendar on 12/13/17, and the parties may not call their witnesses to testify on 12/13/17. If any party believes that there are no genuine issues of material fact and the party is entitled to judgment as a matter of law, that party may seek summary judgment upon a proper motion brought pursuant to FRBP 7056 and 9014 and LBR 7056-1. Appearances are required on 12/13/17 to discuss scheduling of further proceedings, but counsel may appear by telephone.

#11.00 Cont'd hearing re: Motion to reopen discovery in regards to the homestead matter; motion to extend time to respond to the opposition of the chapter 7 trustee filed (docket 241)
fr. 3/27/18

Docket 263

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 8/27/18. No tentative ruling on the merits will be issued. Appearances are required on 8/29/18.

Prior tentative ruling. For the convenience of the parties, the court will hear this matter on its 11:00 a.m. calendar, so the parties need not come to court twice on 3/27/18.

Overrule trustee's evidentiary objections to debtor's moving papers because the objected to statements are argument. Deny debtor's motion to reopen discovery on, and extend time to respond to trustee's objection to, his homestead exemption because the matter of the objection has been fully tried, the evidence was closed, reconsideration was only granted to allow further argument based on a possible change in the case law, and debtor's motion presents no new facts relevant to the claimed homestead exemption that warrant reopening of discovery. On their face, the alleged facts asserted by debtor do not state a claim for relief against trustee for misconduct or fraud (i.e., whether there was allegedly any problem with the buyer's FHA loan to purchase the real property asset of the bankruptcy estate is only an issue between the FHA and the buyer and does not invalidate the sale). The court has already extended time for debtor to respond to trustee's papers, and a further extension is not justified. Appearances are required on 3/27/18, but counsel and self-represented parties may appear by telephone in accordance with the court's telephone appearance procedures posted online on the court's website.

Chapter 11

#13.00 Cont'd hearing re: Motion for order approving sale of real property pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §363 fr. 8/22/18

Docket 52

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 8/27/18. No updated tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 8/29/18.

Revised tentative ruling as of 8/20/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Although debtor represents that 11 U.S.C. 363(f) is met through consent of all of the affected lienholders under 11 U.S.C. 363(f)(2), no proof of consent has been submitted. The court will not imply consent here based on lack of written response, given that the hearing on the motion is on shortened notice and the sizable reduction of $250,000 of one lienholder without corroborative evidence of consent being offered by debtor (the sale as proposed would be a $250,000 stripoff of this junior lien). Debtor will have to offer written consent of the affected lienholders for the court to find that consent is met under 11 U.S.C. 363(f)(2) as represented in the moving papers, and the court would continue the hearing for debtor to obtain proof of consent if needed. As to the request of the United States Trustee to examine the prospective buyers and the real estate agents, it would expedite the hearing if these parties were present for examination at the hearing. No tentative ruling as to the prospective buyers' breakup fee since they already put money into the purchase with debtor's apparent encouragement without court authorization or notice to creditors. While the prospective buyers may have been acting in good faith negotiating their purchase with debtor, debtor was apparently bypassing the procedural protections of the Bankruptcy Code in negotiating the sale and seeking dismissal to consummate the sales transaction, which is problematic. Appearances are required on 8/22/18.

Prior tentative ruling. No tentative ruling will be issued on the motion heard on shortened notice. Debtor must address opposition of United States Trustee that the sale is not a good faith, arms length transaction. Appearances are required on 8/22/18.

Deny request for extraordinary relief in paragraph 4 for lack of evidentiary and/or legal support. In re Van Ness, 399 B.R. 897 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 2009). Because stay relief is granted under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1), it is not necessary for the court to rule on the request for such relief under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(2). Tentative Ruling:

Because the bankruptcy case was dismissed on 8/23/18, the relief sought under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(2) is moot. 11 U.S.C. 362(c)(1) and (2). If request for relief from stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(2) is not moot, deny for lack of admissible evidence regarding valuation of debtor's equity in subject real property because the trustee's sale guarantee has not been demonstrated to be based on scientifically accepted methodology of valuation (i.e., expert witness testimony by a qualified expert witness conducting a sales comparable analysis). #6.00 Cont'd hearing re: Motion for order authorizing abandonment
fr. 5/29/18

Docket 81

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 8/31/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. It appears that the opposing parties may seek a continuance of the status conference based on their ongoing litigation in the various adversary proceedings against the debtor, which is now in mediation. Appearances are required on 9/4/18 to discuss the status of the matter, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. Treat as a contested matter under FRBP 9014 since there are disputed issues of material fact regarding the reasonableness of the trustee's exercise of business judgment to abandon all assets of the estate to the debtor. The court will conduct the hearing as a status conference, and the parties should be prepared to discuss scheduling of pretrial and trial proceedings, including what evidence or discovery they will need for trial. As a suggestion in response to the trustee's reply to the opposition of the two objecting creditors, the court would consider a continuance of the hearing to allow the objecting creditors and their counsel to meet and confer with the trustee to hear in detail why the trustee believes that the assets should be abandoned. Appearances are required on 5/29/18, but counsel and self-represented parties may appear by telephone in accordance with the court's telephone appearance procedures posted online on the court's website.

of the parties seems to be a discovery cutoff date of March 2018, i.e., March 31, 2018, a pretrial conference in April 2018, and a trial date in June 2018. The parties should be prepared to discuss how the case should be tried, given there are 6 sets of plaintiffs, and the length of trial, so that all parties have a full and fair opportunity to present their various cases. Perhaps it would be helpful to consider trying certain claims based on commonality of witnesses and facts, such as the particular type of investment vehicle involved. Defendant indicated an interest in mediation, but plaintiffs indicated no interest in mediation, and the court would like to hear from plaintiffs why mediation would not be helpful in resolving their claims, given that collectibility of defendant is probably an issue.

Prior tentative ruling. The court has reviewed the joint status report. Set a discovery cutoff date of 9/1/17 and a further postdiscovery status conference for 9/26/17 at 1:30 p.m. with a joint status report due on 9/19/17. Order the matter to mediation, the parties are to file a request for selection of mediator and alternate mediator by 5/19/17 and complete mediation by 9/26/17. Appearances are required on 4/18/17, but counsel may appear by telephone. Plaintiff to submit a proposed scheduling order within 7 days of hearing.

Docket 61

Tentative Ruling:

Deny motion of Neutral Ground under FRCP 60(b) to vacate in rem stay relief order under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(4) because movant was accorded due process under the safety valve provision of 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(4) in its own Chapter 11 bankruptcy case when it brought a motion for reimposition of the stay in its own case before the foreclosure sale was final, which motion was denied by the court by Judge Russell and the order of denial was not appealed from. That order is now final and not subject to collateral attack. See In re Greenstein, 576 B.R. 139 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2017). Movant was also accorded due process when it filed a motion to vacate the stay relief order in this court before the foreclosure sale was final, which was denied on procedural grounds for lack of sufficient cause, and movant did not file an amended motion for relief before the foreclosure sale closed, which makes the matter moot because the foreclosure sale is now completed. #18.00 Hearing re: Motion to compel production of documents and/or privilege log

Docket 16

Tentative Ruling:

Deny defendants' motion to compel production of documents and/or privilege log for the reasons stated by plaintiff in its opposition. The motion is untimely, and it is a violation of the pretrial scheduling order to file the motion well after the discovery cutoff date. The motion could have been filed and heard way before the cutoff date. Award sanctions against defendants in favor of plaintiff of $1,625 representing 5 hours of attorney time at counsel's billing rate of $325 per hour as reasonable attorneys' fees for preparing the opposition to the untimely motion pursuant to FRCP 37(a)(5)(B). Defendants' untimely motion is not substantially justified because it should have been filed to be heard before the discovery cutoff date. However, the court does not award fees for the work before the discovery cutoff date because arguably the need for the work could have been substantially justified by a proper motion to compel if timely filed. Appearances are required on 9/4/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Docket 19

Tentative Ruling:

Deny defendants' motion to extend discovery deadline for lack of good cause under FRBP 7016 and FRCP 16(b)(4) for the reasons stated in plaintiff's opposition, that is, defendants were not reasonably diligent in following up on their discovery requests to complete their discovery by the discovery cutoff date set forth in the pretrial scheduling order. #20.00 Hearing re: United States Trustee's motion seeking disgorgement of compensation from debtor's counsel pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 329

Docket 39

Tentative Ruling:

Treat as contested matter under FRBP 9014 because there are disputed issues of material fact regarding whether the case was dismissed due to debtor's failure to cooperate with counsel as counsel argues. Appearances are required on 9/4/18 to discuss how these factual issues are to be resolved, that is, whether an evidentiary hearing is required. Probably one is required because it appears that there may be issues of credibility regarding prospective testimony of counsel and debtor. Scheduling of pretrial and trial proceedings will need to be discussed at the hearing on 9/4/18.

LASC Case Number SC129282

Docket 34

Tentative Ruling:

The courts in the Ninth Circuit have identified various factors relevant to determining whether the automatic stay should be lifted to allow a creditor to continue pending litigation in a non-bankruptcy forum pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1). In re Plumberex Specialty Products, Inc., 311 B.R. 551, 557-561 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2004), citing inter alia, In re Curtis, 40 B.R. 795, 799-800 (Bankr. D. Utah 1984). As stated by the court in Plumberex, these factors are closely related to those that a bankruptcy court must consider in deciding to exercise permissive abstention under 28 U.S.C. §1334(c)(1). 311 B.R. at 558 and n. 13, citing inter alia, In re Tucson Estates, Inc., 912 F.2d 1162, 1167 (9th Cir. 1990). The twelve permissive abstention/stay relief factors set forth by the Ninth Circuit in Tucson Estates which this court normally considers are:

1. The effect or lack thereof on the efficient administration of the estate if a court recommends remand. This factor does not favor stay relief. Debtor's lease is one of the primary assets of its estate, and the leased premises are Debtor's principal place of business where most of its assets are located. Debtor intends to file a motion to assume the lease under 11 U.S.C. §365, which will have a major impact on Debtor's prospects for reorganization in this case, and in order for the court to determine the lease assumption motion, the court will have to make the determinations of the not yet judicially determined issues of state law of the validity of the lease termination by Landlord and any claim of relief from lease forfeiture by Debtor, which are intertwined with the lease assumption motion issues. In re

This bankruptcy court has authority to decide the state law issues of validity of lease termination and lease forfeiture relief. Id., citing, In re Windmill Farms, Inc., 841 F.2d 1467, 1468-1474 (9th Cir. 1988); see also, Matter of Escondido West Travelodge, 52 B.R. 376, 382 (S.D. Cal. 1985). Debtor's breach of lease action for which stay relief is sought concerns the estate's leasehold interest, and Debtor's ability to assume the lease and continue its business operations would be affected by the outcome of that action.

- 2. The extent to which state law issues predominate over bankruptcy issues. This factor favors stay relief because the removed breach of lease action of Debtor was initially filed in state court and is based on a state law claim, though Debtor plans to litigate bankruptcy claims under to 11 U.S.C. §§ 365, 541, 547 and 548 related to the lease.
- 3. The difficulty or unsettled nature of the applicable law. This factor is neutral because Debtor's breach of lease action does not involve law which is difficult or unsettled in nature.
- 4. The presence of a related proceeding commenced in state court or other non-bankruptcy court. This factor favors stay relief because Debtor's breach of lease was filed in state court, though the court notes Debtor's argument that there are no longer proceedings in state court due to the removal. Security Farms v. International Brotherhood of Teamsters, etc., 124 F.3d 999, 1010 (9th Cir. 1997).
- 5. The jurisdictional basis, if any, other than 28 U.S.C. § 1334. This factor favors stay relief because Debtor's breach of lease claims are noncore. The Ninth Circuit observed that if a proceeding does not invoke a substantive right created by federal bankruptcy law and if it could exist outside of bankruptcy, it is noncore. In re Eastport Associates, 935 F.2d 1071, 1076 (9th Cir. 1991). See also, Schultze v. Chandler, 765 F.3d 945, 950-951 (9th Cir. 2014)(state law claim against estate professional arising in case under Bankruptcy Code was core proceeding)). exercises only its "related to" jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. §1334 to determine Debtor's motion to assume the lease pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 365 and its claims pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §§ 541, 547 and 548.

6. The degree of relatedness or remoteness of the proceeding to the main bankruptcy case. This factor does not favor stay relief because if Debtor's claims are related to its intended motion to assume the lease, without which it will not be able to reorganize.

7. The substance rather than form of an asserted "core" proceeding. This factor favors stay relief. Debtor's breach of lease action as stated above is noncore. However, as also noted above, the outcome of this action which is related to the lease may have substantial impact on the outcome of Debtor's efforts to reorganize in this Chapter 11 bankruptcy case.

8. The feasibility of severing state law claims from core bankruptcy matters to allow judgments to be entered in state court with enforcement left to the bankruptcy court. This factor does not favor stay relief because Debtor's breach of lease action and the bankruptcy law matter of lease assumption appear to be interrelated.

9. The burden on the bankruptcy court's docket. This factor is neutral.

10. The likelihood that the commencement of the proceeding in bankruptcy court involves forum shopping by one of the parties. This factor favors stay relief because arguably, Debtor is engaging in forum shopping because that it removed the breach of lease action to this court after a trial in Landlord's related unlawful detainer action was set in state court.

11. The existence of a right to a jury trial. This factor favors stay relief. Landlord probably has a right to a jury trial on Debtor's breach of lease action against it, though Landlord can exercise any rights to a jury trial in that action pursuant to Fed. R. Bankr. P. 9015 and Fed. R. Civ. P. 38(b).

12. The presence in the proceeding of nondebtor parties. This factor does not favor stay relief since Debtor and Landlord are the only parties involved in the removed action.

In weighing the various stay relief factors, the court is inclined to deny the remand motions under the circumstances of this case because the resolution of Debtor's breach of lease claims may substantially impact Debtor's ability to effectively reorganize because it is related to its bankruptcy claims of lease assumption and transfer avoidance can and should be litigated in a single forum to effectuate the purposes of the Bankruptcy Code which include "[c]entralization of disputes concerning a debtor's legal obligations" and "protecting creditors and reorganizing debtors from piecemeal litigation." In re Thorpe Insulation Co., 671 F.3d 1011, 1022-1023 (9th Cir. 2012).

action or on Debtor's intended lease assumption motion.

12. The presence in the proceeding of nondebtor parties. This factor does not favor stay relief since Debtor and Landlord are the only parties involved in these actions.

In weighing the various stay relief factors, the court is inclined to deny the remand motions under the circumstances of this case because the resolution of the unlawful detainer action will substantially impact Debtor's ability to effectively reorganize and that litigation of the removed action and related bankruptcy claims of lease assumption and transfer avoidance can and should be litigated in a single forum to effectuate the purposes of the Bankruptcy Code which include "[c]entralization of disputes concerning a debtor's legal obligations" and "protecting creditors and reorganizing debtors from piecemeal litigation." In re Thorpe Insulation Co., 671 F.3d at 1022-1023.

#10.00 Hearing re: Motion to remand adversary proceeding

Docket 15

Tentative Ruling:

28 U.S.C. § 1452(b) provides that "[t]he court to which such claim or cause of action is removed may remand such claim or cause of action on any equitable ground." 28 U.S.C. § 1452(b). This standard is "an unusually broad grant of authority" which allows for remand for reasons beyond those typical of non-bankruptcy removal statutes. In re McCarthy, 230 B.R. 414, 417 (9th Cir. BAP 1999). Bankruptcy courts may consider up to fourteen factors in deciding whether to remand an action to the non-bankruptcy forum pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1452(b). In re Cedar Funding, Inc., 419 B.R. 807, 820-821 and n.18 (9th Cir. BAP 2009), citing In re Enron Corp., 296 B.R. 505, 508 n.2 (C.D. Cal. 2003); In re Cytodyn of New Mexico, Inc., 374 B.R. 733, 738 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2007). The fourteen equitable remand factors are:

1. The effect or lack thereof on the efficient administration of the estate if a court recommends remand. This factor does not favor remand. Debtor's lease is one of the primary assets of its estate, and the leased premises are Debtor's principal place of business where most of its assets are located. Debtor intends to file a motion to assume the lease under 11 U.S.C. §365, which will have a major impact on Debtor's prospects for reorganization in this case, and in order for the court to determine the lease assumption motion, the court will have to make the determinations of the not yet judicially determined issues of state law of the validity of the lease termination by Landlord and any claim of relief from lease forfeiture by Debtor, which are intertwined with the lease assumption motion issues. In re Art and Architecture Books of the 21st Century, No. 2:13-bk-14135-RK Chapter 11 (Bankr. C.D. Cal., statement of decision filed on April 15, 2013), citing, In re Turbowind, Inc., 42 B.R. 579, 583 (Bankr. S.D. Cal. 1984). This bankruptcy court has authority to decide the state law issues of validity of lease termination and lease forfeiture relief. Id., citing, In re Windmill Farms,

Inc., 841 F.2d 1467, 1468-1474 (9th Cir. 1988); see also, Matter of Escondido West Travelodge, 52 B.R. 376, 382 (S.D. Cal. 1985). The removed Landlord's unlawful detainer action and Debtor's breach of lease action concern the estate's leasehold interest, and Debtor's ability to assume the lease and continue its business operations will be dependent on the outcome of these actions.

2. The extent to which state law issues predominate over bankruptcy issues. This factor favors remand because the removed unlawful detainer and breach of lease actions were initially filed in state court and are based on state law claims, though Debtor plans to litigate bankruptcy claims under to 11 U.S.C. §§ 365, 541, 547 and 548 related to these state law claims.

3. The difficulty or unsettled nature of the applicable law. This factor is neutral because the removed actions do not involve law which is difficult or unsettled in nature.

4. The presence of a related proceeding commenced in state court or other non-bankruptcy court. This factor favors remand because both removed actions were filed in state court and a trial date was set in the unlawful detainer action, though the court notes Debtor's argument that there are no longer proceedings in state court due to the removal. Security Farms v. International Brotherhood of Teamsters, etc., 124 F.3d 999, 1010 (9th Cir. 1997).

5. The jurisdictional basis, if any, other than 28 U.S.C. § 1334. This factor favors remand because the removed actions are noncore. The Ninth Circuit observed that if a proceeding does not invoke a substantive right created by federal bankruptcy law and if it could exist outside of bankruptcy, it is noncore. In re Eastport Associates, 935 F.2d 1071, 1076 (9th Cir. 1991). (Landlord has not filed a proof of claim which would be a core proceeding relating to the same substantive claim. In re Thorpe Insulation Co., 671 F.3d 1011, 1021 (9th Cir. 2012). See also, Schultze v. Chandler, 765 F.3d 945, 950-951 (9th Cir. 2014)(state law claim against estate professional arising in case under Bankruptcy Code was core proceeding)). Both removed actions could exist outside of bankruptcy, and are thus noncore, and thus, the court exercises only its "related to" jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. §1334 to determine Debtor's motion to assume the lease pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 365 and its claims pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §§ 541, 547 and 548.

6. The degree of relatedness or remoteness of the proceeding to the main bankruptcy case. This factor does not favor remand because if Debtor is not able to assume the lease, Debtor will not be able to reorganize.

7. The substance rather than form of an asserted "core" proceeding. This factor favors remand. While arguably state law contract claims fall within the catch-all provisions of 28 U.S.C. § 157(b)(2)(O) to be considered "non-core" related proceedings under 11 U.S.C. § 157(c), In re Castlerock Properties, 781 F.2d 159, 162 (9th Cir. 1986), the removed actions as stated above are noncore. However, as also noted above, the outcome of the removed actions which are related to the lease will have substantial impact on the outcome of Debtor's efforts to reorganize in this Chapter 11 bankruptcy case.

8. The feasibility of severing state law claims from core bankruptcy matters to allow judgments to be entered in state court with enforcement left to the bankruptcy court. This factor does not favor remand because the state law claims and the bankruptcy law matter of lease assumption are interrelated.

9. The burden on the bankruptcy court's docket. This factor is neutral.

10. The likelihood that the commencement of the proceeding in bankruptcy court involves forum shopping by one of the parties. This factor favors remand because arguably, Debtor is engaging in forum shopping because that it removed the actions from state court to this court after a trial was set in state court in Landlord's unlawful detainer action.

11. The existence of a right to a jury trial. This factor is mixed, but on the whole does not favor remand. Landlord does not have a right to jury trial on its unlawful detainer action or on Debtor's intended lease assumption motion. Landlord probably has a right to a jury trial on Debtor's breach of lease action against it, but Landlord can exercise any rights to a jury trial in that action pursuant to Fed. R. Bankr. P. 9015 and Fed. R. Civ. P. 38(b).

12. The presence in the proceeding of nondebtor parties. This factor does not favor remand since Debtor and Landlord are the only parties involved in these actions.

13. Comity. This factor favors remand. Allowing state courts to adjudicate state law claims, as the Ninth Circuit Bankruptcy Appellate Panel has indicated that "[n]eedless decisions of state law by federal courts should be avoided as a matter of comity . . . in order to procure for the litigants 'a surer-footed reading of applicable law.'" In re Casamont Investors, Ltd., 196 B.R. 517, 524 (9th Cir. BAP 1996), citing United Mine Workers v. Gibbs, 383 U.S. 715, 726 (1966).

14. The possibility of prejudice to other parties in the action. This factor does not favor remand. There will be no prejudice to other parties because the issues relating to the lease in both actions can be litigated in the bankruptcy court.

In weighing the various equitable remand factors, the court is inclined to deny the remand motions under the circumstances of this case because the resolution of the claims will substantially impact Debtor's ability to effectively reorganize and that litigation of the removed actions and related bankruptcy claims of lease assumption and transfer avoidance can and should be litigated in a single forum to effectuate the purposes of the Bankruptcy Code which include "[c]entralization of disputes concerning a debtor's legal obligations" and "protecting creditors and reorganizing debtors from piecemeal litigation." In re Thorpe Insulation Co., 671 F.3d at 1022-1023.

should be stayed pending the resolution of plaintiff's claims in state court. Appearances are required on 1/31/17, but counsel and plaintiff representing himself may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 10/3/16. Since plaintiff is pursuing liquidation of his substantive claims in state court litigation and the court would stay the proceedings in this court until the state court litigation is completed, the court would deny the motion without prejudice. Appearances are required on 10/4/16, but counsel and self-represented parties may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 10/3/16. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 10/4/16, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 9/12/16. The court has reviewed the state court's order for dismissal without prejudice of the malpractice action in that court. It appears that the court should refer the case to the United States District Court because of the claim for personal injury damages must be determined by that court, which claim is intertwined with the dischargeability action. Alternatively, the court could abstain, allow plaintiff to refile the malpractice action in state court and not refer the case to the District Court. Appearances are required on 9/13/16, but the parties may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 8/22/16. No tentative ruling on the merits. The parties should address the court's request for clarification of dismissal order for the state court malpractice case and possible referral of case to the United States District Court because of the claim for personal injury damages. Appearances are required on 8/23/16, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Appearances are required on 1/31/17, but counsel and plaintiff representing himself may appear by telephone.

Appearances are required on 10/4/16, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 9/12/16. The court has reviewed the state court's order for dismissal without prejudice of the malpractice action in that court. It appears that the court should refer the case to the United States District Court because of the claim for personal injury damages must be determined by that court, which claim is intertwined with the dischargeability action.

Alternatively, the court could abstain, allow plaintiff to refile the malpractice action in state court and not refer the case to the District Court. Appearances are required on 9/13/16, but the parties may appear by telephone.

#28.00 Hearing re: Motion for redemption of 2013 Nissan Versa under 11 U.S.C. 722

Docket 9

Tentative Ruling:

Deny debtor's motion to redeem personal property without prejudice because of procedural defects in motion: (1) the property to be redeemed is not listed on Schedules A/B, which lists a 2011 Nissan Versa with 91,000 miles whereas the motion for redemption lists a 2013 Nissan Versa with 81,000 miles (either the car to be redeemed is not listed on the schedules or the schedules are wrong and must be amended - movant needs to explain why the mileage is now less on the subsequently filed motion than on the schedules); (2) the property to be redeemed is not listed on Schedule C as exempt property, 11 U.S.C. 522 and 722, nor is the property shown to be abandoned, 11 U.S.C. 522 and 554; (3) the replacement value opinion of $2,284 purportedly based on Edmunds.com, apparently unauthenticated hearsay, is not supported by competent admissible evidence of valuation - Craig Stone, the "redemption specialist", has not been shown to be a qualified valuation expert witness, whose valuation is based on scientifically validated valuation principles, and the same is true for debtor as the owner of the property, FRE 701, 702, 801 and 901. Chapter 11

#2.00 Hearing re: Motion for approval of compromise of controversy regarding claims for relief that are property of the estate

Docket 232

Tentative Ruling:

Deny without prejudice for lack of sufficient notice since not all creditors on the case mailing matrix were served as required by FRBP 9019, 2002 and 9013, including AEC Logistics Corp., BMW Financial Services NA, LLC, Flacco Truck Repair, Internal Revenue Service, Los Angeles County Treasurer and Tax Collector, Nissan and Wells Fargo Financial Leasing Inc., and some creditors were served, but not at all addresses indicated on the mailing matrix. Debtor needs to serve creditors at all of the addresses indicated on the mailing matrix, absent an adequate evidentiary showing that its service list is completely accurate.

The court agrees with debtor that the creditors opposing the motion have not addressed the factors in In re A & C Properties, 784 F.2d 1377, 1381 (9th Cir. 1986), that is, the probability of success in the litigation, the difficulties, if any, to be encouraged in the matter of collection, the complexity of the litigation involved, and the expense, inconvenience and delay necessarily attending it and the paramount interest of the creditors and a proper deference to their reasonable views. The objecting creditors merely argue that without discovery, it is premature and not reasonable to evaluate the settlement at this time, and the settlement presents negligible and/or insignificant benefit to the creditors as a whole. These arguments do not address the arguments raised by the motion that the settlement is fair and equitable, given the hazards and cost of the litigation and that the settlement provides value to the estate, which has not been shown to be greater otherwise if the case is not settled, that is, the objecting creditors have not shown that there would be any greater benefit to the estate and creditors through litigation. Saying the settlement is of negligible and/or insignificant benefit does not show that there is a better alternative.

Appearances are required on 9/12/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Docket 305

Tentative Ruling:

Grant movant relief from stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) to pursue non-bankruptcy remedies for the reasons stated in the moving papers, which is not opposed by debtor as stated in its limited opposition, except as to any finding of bad faith, the request for stay annulment and the request for waiver of the 14-day waiting period under FRBP 4001(a)(3). The court is inclined not to find that debtor engaged in bad faith based on this record. No tentative ruling on request for stay annulment as movant has not shown that the legal standards of National Environmental Waste Corp. v. City of Riverside (In re National Environmental Waste Corp.), 129 F.3d 1052 (9th Cir. 1997) and In re Gasprom, Inc., 500 B.R. 598 (9th Cir. BAP 2013) have been met. Deny request of debtor to condition granting stay relief to movant by allowing a blanket order for stay relief for other parties because no legal authority is cited for such broad relief. #13.00 Cont'd status conference re: Complaint for the avoidance and recovery of fraudulent transfers
fr. 6/19/18

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status report. Because default has been entered against defendant and plaintiff has represented that it intends to file a motion for default judgment shortly, the court on its own motion continues the status conference for about 60 days to 11/6/18 at 1:30 p.m. so plaintiff can file its motion for default judgment. No appearances are required on 9/18/18.

Prior tentative ruling. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status report. Because defendants have not responded to the complaint and plaintiff intends to request entry of their default, the court is inclined to continue the status conference for about 60 days so plaintiff can file a request for entry of default. Appearances are required on 6/19/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

#14.00 Cont'd status conference re: Complaint for the avoidance and recovery of fraudulent transfers
fr. 6/19/18

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 9/17/18. The court has reviewed the joint status reports indicating that the parties do not agree on a pretrial schedule and on whether the matter should be ordered to mediation. Appearances are required on 9/18/18 to discuss scheduling and mediation, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. The court has reviewed the joint status reports. Because the parties have not had their LBR 7026-1 conference, the court is inclined to continue the status conference for about 60 days so that the parties can conduct the conference and make initial discovery disclosures. Appearances are required on 6/19/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

#16.00 Cont'd status conference re: Complaint for the avoidance and recovery of fraudulent transfers
fr. 6/19/18

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 9/17/18. Off calendar. The court has reviewed the joint status report representing that the parties have been engaged in informal discovery and settlement discussions and requesting a continuance of the status conference to 11/6/18 at 1:30 p.m. so the parties can continue these discussions. The court on its own motion continues the status conference to 11/6/18 at 1:30 p.m. An updated joint status report is due on 10/30/18. No appearances are required on 9/18/18.

Prior tentative ruling. The court has reviewed the joint status report of some parties and the unilateral status report of defendant VC Sales and Services, LLC. Because the parties have not had their LBR 7026-1 conference and the adversary proceeding is not yet at issue since certain defendants have not answered the complaint and one defendant, VC Sales and Services, LLC, has not timely responded to the complaint (however, this defendant contends that service was not proper), the court is inclined to continue the status conference until after the extended response date of 7/16/18 so that the responses to the complaint can be filed by defendants who have extensions of time to respond to the complaint and that plaintiff can request entry of default against the defendant which has not timely responded to the complaint, or that defendant's motion to set aside default can be heard. Appearances are required on 6/19/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 9/17/18. Set a discovery cutoff date of 2/28/19 and a post-discovery status conference on 3/26/19 at 1:30 p.m. with a joint status report due on 3/19/19. Order the matter to mediation, and the parties to file a selection of mediator and alternate mediator by 10/31/18 and complete mediation by 3/26/19. Appearances are required on 9/18/18, but counsel may appear by telephone. Plaintiffs to submit a proposed scheduling order within 7 days of the status conference.

Prior tentative ruling as of 7/30/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 7/31/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. The court has reviewed the unilateral status reports filed by the parties. The court continues the status conference to 7/31/18 at 2:30 p.m. to be conducted with the hearing on defendants' amended motion to dismiss. No appearances are required on 7/10/18.

Although the parties failed to file a timely joint status report as required by Local Bankruptcy Rule 7016-1 and the court's status conference order, the court will not require at this time for the parties to file an updated and amended joint status report in light of the pendency of defendants' motion to dismiss.

However, the court notes that plaintiff has a jury trial demand on the face of the complaint, which the court will strike because there is no right to a jury trial on debt dischargeability and discharge denial claims in the adversary proceeding. The court also notes that the parties' consent to this court's jurisdiction to enter a final judgment on these core claims is not needed.

Chapter 7

#29.00 Hearing re: Motion for entry of an order resolving debtor's alleged claims against property of the estate

Docket 1275

Tentative Ruling:

The court deems debtor's failure to timely oppose the motion as consent to granting the motion pursuant to LBR 9013-1(h) and grants the motion in its entirety since there is no evidence to show that the sale of the car, an asset of the estate, is attributable to debtor's postpetition, preconversion income. Appearances are optional on 9/18/18, but counsel may appear by telephone. Trustee to submit a proposed order within 7 days of hearing.

#30.00 Hearing re: Motion to substitute successors in interest as plaintiffs, due to death of original plaintiff

Docket 138

Tentative Ruling:

Grant motion to substitute proper party plaintiffs pursuant to FRBP 7025 and FRCP 25(a)(1). Movants Thomas Patton and Audrey Patton seek to substitute in as the proper plaintiff under FRCP 25(a)(1) which states, "If a party dies and the claim is not extinguished, the court may order substitution of the proper party. A motion for substitution maybe made by any party or by the decedent's successor or representative. If the motion is not made within 90 days after service of a statement noting the death, the action by or against the decedent must be dismissed." Defendant argues that the because plaintiff died on May 1, 2018 and the Motion to Substitute was filed on August 17, 2018, movants do not meet the 90-day requirement of Rule 25(a)(1). "[T]he rule requires two affirmative steps in order to trigger the running of the 90 day period. First, a party must formally suggest the death of the party upon the record.... Second, the suggesting party must serve other parties and nonparty successors or representatives of the deceased with a suggestion of death in the same manner as required for service of the motion to substitute." Barlow v. Ground, 39 F. 3d 231, 233 (9th Cir. 1994) (internal citations omitted). "The running of the ninety-day limitations period under Rule 25(a) (1) is not triggered unless a formal suggestion of death is made on the record, regardless of whether the parties have knowledge of a party's death." Grandbouche v. Lovell, 913 F.2d 835, 836 (10th Cir.1990). "Mere reference to a party's death in court proceedings or pleadings is not sufficient to trigger the limitations period for filing a motion for substitution." Id. at 836-837. In this case, there is no evidence that (1) a party formally suggested the death of plaintiff upon the record or (2) parties were served with the suggestion of death to trigger the 90-day deadline. The motion is thus timely, and movants have demonstrated that under state law they are entitled to substitute as plaintiff's successors. Appearances are required on 9/18/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

#37.00 Hearing re: Debtor's motion to convert from chapter 7 to 13

Docket 11

Treat as a contested matter under FRBP 9014 because it appears that there are disputed issues of material fact regarding debtor's good faith in requesting conversion of the case to Chapter 13 and debtor's income eligibility for Chapter 13 based on her amended schedules asserting a family contribution from her brother. See In re Deutsch, 529 B.R. 308 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2015). The court has questions about trustee's estimate of $55,000 in anticipated Chapter 7 administrative expenses which seem awfully high in this case still in its early stages. (US Bank National Association VS Debtor)
fr. 6/5/18, 6/19/18, 8/22/18

Docket 30

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 9/17/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 9/19/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 8/20/18. The court has reviewed the supplemental pleading filed by movant with the state court's order in debtor's quiet title action, sustaining the demurrers, but with leave to amend. The court is inclined to continue the hearing on the stay relief motion with consent of movant or deny the motion without prejudice, pending the state court's sua sponte motion to dismiss the quiet title action set for hearing on 10/3/18 at 9:30 a.m. The hearing on the stay relief motion will be continued to after the state court hearing on the motion to dismiss with movant's consent or denied without prejudice. Alternatively, the court can set an evidentiary hearing on this contested matter regarding movant's stay relief claims. Appearances are required on 8/22/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. Treat as a contested matter under FRBP 9014 because there are disputed material issues of fact regarding whether cause is shown for lack of adequate protection and lack of good faith since movant has not met its burden of proof regarding debtor has insufficient equity in the subject property under 11 U.S.C. 362(g)(1) because its valuation evidence regarding equity is inadmissible and the circumstances indicating that debtor was the victim of fraudulent conduct and is pursuing legal action to vindicate its rights to reorganize and pay creditors. Although the court may not be able to take judicial notice of the declaration of the appraiser filed in the state court case, the court will accord sufficient time for debtor to obtain and file a declaration regarding valuation in this case, and likewise, for movant as well. The court will also afford the parties an opportunity to present evidence on good faith, which will necessarily entail debtor's prospects for successfully reorganizing and obtaining plan confirmation in this case. See In re Bonner Mall Partnership, 2 F.3d 899, 902 n. 4 (9th Cir. 1993). The case of In re Walter, 108 B.R. 244 (Bankr. C.D. Most likely, creditor's motion to dismiss is a contested matter under FRBP 9014 and may require an evidentiary hearing which the court will set at the hearing on 9/18/18, and the hearing on the employment application will trail the hearing on the motion to dismiss since granting of the motion to dismiss will moot out the application. Docket 8

Tentative Ruling:

Prior tentative ruling as of 7/16/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 7/18/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 6/18/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 6/19/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. The court agrees with defendants that actions to set aside fraudulent transfers of assets of a bankruptcy debtor belongs to the bankruptcy estate and may be the basis for a motion to dismiss because actions to collect upon assets of the estate are subject to the automatic stay and relief from stay has not been obtained by the plaintiffs. In re MortgageAmerica Corp., 714 F.2d 1266, 1275 (5th Cir. 1983); In re Curry & Sorenson, Inc., 57 B.R. 824, 827-828 (9th Cir. BAP 1986); but see, In re Colonial Realty Co., 980 F.2d 125, 130-132 (2nd Cir. 1992). As noted by plaintiffs, there is a division in circuit authority as to whether property of the bankruptcy estate includes property subject to a fraudulent transfer avoidance action is part of the bankruptcy estate before the avoidance action. See Peter Spero, Fraudulent Transfers, Prebankruptcy Planning and Exemptions, Section 3.3 (Westlaw online Sept. 2017 update), citing, In re MortgageAmerica Corp., supra; In re Colonial Realty Co., supra; Rajala v.

Chapter 11

Garner, 709 F.3d 1031 (10th Cir. 2013); In re Allen, 768 F.3d 274 (3rd Cir. 2014). There is no definitive case authority in the Ninth Circuit, though the Bankruptcy Appellate Panel of the Ninth Circuit has stated that a fraudulent transfer avoidance action to recover property fraudulently transferred by a bankruptcy debtor is an asset of the debtor's bankruptcy estate. In re Curry & Sorenson, Inc., supra. The court will follow the BAP rule in Curry & Sorenson, Inc., as the current law of the Ninth Circuit.

Having said this, however, before the court rules on defendants' motions to dismiss, the court notes that plaintiffs could obtain authority of this court to allow them as parties other than the trustee or debtor-in-possession to pursue litigation on behalf of the estate (as opposed for themselves only). In re Curry & Sorenson, Inc., supra; In re Spauding Composites Co., 207 B.R. 899, 903 (9th Cir. BAP 1997). If plaintiffs are seeking to enforce their own interests as creditors, the court would thus grant the motions to dismiss, but if plaintiffs are seeking authorization from the court to pursue the litigation on behalf of the estate and its creditors, they should file and serve an appropriate motion, and the court would consider it subject to hearing from other interested parties.

Deny request for an order to show cause and/or sanctions for violation of stay since the stay is not intended to protect non debtor parties. 11 U.S.C. 362(a); see also, Ingersoll-Rand Financial Corp. v. Miller Mining Co., 817 F.2d 1424, 1427 (9th Cir. 1987). Moreover, it would be difficult to show civil contempt here that plaintiffs willfully violated a specific and definite order of the court by clear and convincing evidence, see, e.g., In re Dyer, 322 F.3d 1178. 1190-1191 (9th Cir. 2003), in bringing the fraudulent transfer action against defendants, given the uncertainty of the law as indicated by the lack of definitive case authority in the Ninth Circuit and otherwise divided circuit authority on the question of whether a fraudulently transferred property before avoidance is property of a debtor's bankruptcy estate circuit.

Appearances are required on 3/20/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

#1.00 Hearing re: Motion for relief from stay
(HSBC Bank USA, NA VS Debtor)

Docket 518

Tentative Ruling:

Grant movant relief from stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (4) to pursue non-bankruptcy remedies and for in rem relief, including stay annulment, for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition. Deny request for extraordinary relief in paragraphs 4, 10 and 14 for lack of legal authority and/or evidentiary support. In re Van Ness, 399 B.R. 897 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 2009). The 14-day waiting period under FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived.

The court does not make a finding of bad faith as to debtor. See In re Dorsey, 476 B.R. 261 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2012).

#2.00 Cont'd hearing re: Motion for relief from stay
(US Bank National Association VS Debtors)
fr. 7/31/18

Docket 26

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 10/1/18. Deny motion for stay relief without prejudice based on prior tentative ruling. The moving papers show that there is a 20% equity cushion, and trustee is administering the case as an asset case. The statements in movant's counsel's declaration regarding the trustee's intentions in the case are uncorroborated. If trustee abandons the property or the case is fully administered, movant can refile the motion. Appearances are required on 10/2/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. Deny motion for relief from stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(d) (1). Although debtors lack standing to object to stay relief since the stay is terminated as to them from their discharge, the trustee has issued a notice of assets and possible creditor dividend in this case, which may include the 20% equity cushion in the subject property, which adequately protects movant's lien interest. In re Mellor, 734 F.2d 1396 (9th Cir. 1984). Appearances are required on 7/31/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Docket 1209

 VACATED  REASON: Cont'd from 10/2/18 to 11/27/18 at 2:30 p.m. per stip & order entered on 9/27/18-mb.

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 10/1/18. Off calendar. Continued by stipulation and order to 11/27/18 at 2:30 p.m. No appearances are required on 10/2/18.

Prior tentative ruling as of 8/20/18. At the first hearing on the motion on 6/26/18, the parties indicated that they did not have an interest in litigating this contested matter to an evidentiary hearing and were going to attempt to negotiate a consensual resolution with the filing of a stipulation by the hearing on 8/21/18. No stipulation has been filed, which perhaps indicates a lack of consensus. At this point, the court is inclined to deny the motion without prejudice on grounds the motion is premature as argued by objecting party, Morrison and Foerster, because the trustee has not concluded his administration of the case and this would be consistent with Judge Saltzman's prior 2016 order denying preconversion fee applications without prejudice (Docket Number 568). In reaching this conclusion, the court has considered case law regarding whether to allow immediate payment of administrative expense claims ahead of distribution after the Chapter 7 trustee's final report, In re Tandem Group., Inc., 61 B.R. 738, 742 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1986) (postponing determination of preconversion administrative expense claim until Chapter 7 trustee informs the court that sufficient funds exist in the estate to pay Chapter 7 administrative expenses and preconversion Chapter 11 administrative expenses); In re Cardinal Industries, Inc., 109 B.R. 738, 742 (Bankr. S.D. Ohio 1989) (considering the status of the case, the likelihood that all administrative expense claims will be paid in full, and the ability of the claimant to repay any amount which later turns out to be in excess of payments to other administrative expense claimants in determining whether an immediate payment of administrative expense claims should be made). Other objecting parties argue that they are similarly situated to movant and are entitled to payment of administrative expense claims as well, and it seems it would be burdensome to the parties and the estate to litigate all of these claims now before the trustee's administration of the case is not completed and the trustee does not know at this time whether there are sufficient funds to pay Chapter 7 administrative expenses and preconversion administrative expense claims.

Prior tentative ruling. Treat as a contested matter under FRBP 9014 because there are material issues of fact for trial regarding whether movant has made a substantial contribution, which is disputed by other parties. The parties should meet and confer regarding their pretrial needs and a proposed pretrial and trial schedule. Prior tentative ruling as of 6/25/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 6/26/18.

Prior tentative ruling as of 4/9/18. The court has reviewed the joint pretrial stipulation, and after its review, the court is of the opinion that the matter is not ready for trial. The parties have indicated that expert discovery has not been completed. Plaintiffs have stated that they will call expert witnesses at trial, and defendant reserved his right to do so. The court believes that the parties should disclose the identity of their expert witnesses and be required for such expert witnesses to produce their expert reports, and a deposition schedule be set. As to evidentiary objections to exhibits, the parties have each stated that they reserve all objections to some exhibits, which is not permitted by the court's rules and procedures, and the court will disregard the reservation of rights to object, which means that the parties asserting an objection must state specific grounds for an objection or the objections based on reservations of rights will be overruled, and such exhibits will be received into evidence. The court will allow parties some time to interpose objections based on specific grounds as to those exhibits. As to presentation of deposition testimony, plaintiffs state that they will object to the use of deposition testimony of plaintiffs, but do not state a reason. It appears to the court that the parties should mark and countermark deposition transcripts in accordance with the court's local rules and the parties can interpose objections to admission of deposition testimony at that time. pretrial stipulation, defendant stated that the trial should be bifurcated to first determine the existence of a debt and then determine whether such debt is dischargeable, but plaintiffs stated no position as to bifurcation. The court is not inclined to bifurcate the trial since there is no apparent benefit to the court or the parties by doing so, but plaintiffs will need to state their position on the issue. The parties should be prepared to discuss scheduling of expert discovery, submission of an amended joint pretrial stipulation and dates for a further pretrial conference. No updated tentative ruling as of 10/16/17. Appearances are required on 10/17/17, but counsel may appear by telephone.

No updated tentative ruling as of 8/7/17. The court has reviewed plaintiffs' status report stating that they intend to proceed with prosecution of the adversary complaint. According to the status report, plaintiffs seek specified damages of $32,018.06 for rent and settlement costs, plus an unspecified amount of damages for attorneys' fees they have incurred. Plaintiffs should be prepared to disclose: (1) the amount of attorneys' fees that they incurred and are seeking an award and (2) the substantive legal basis for an award of attorneys' fees because none was alleged in the complaint or specified in the purchase and sale agreement for the subject property (preliminarily, the court is of the view that the attorneys' fees clause in the lease agreement would not apply since the alleged fraud was with the purchase and sale agreement). Appearances are required on 8/8/17 to discuss scheduling of further proceedings, including pretrial conference and trial, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 6/26/17. The court has reviewed the joint pretrial stipulation. No tentative ruling on the merits. The court will discuss the issues raised in the joint pretrial stipulation regarding the effect of the approval of the settlement between trustee and the Franowicz/Gallagher parties. Appearances are required on 6/27/17.

#17.00 Cont'd hearing re: Second interim application of Buchalter, a professional corporation for allowance and payment of professional fees and reimbursement of expenses a special litigation counsel for Howard Ehrenberg, chapter 7 trustee fr. 8/21/18

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 10/1/18. There are a number of block billed entries by applicant. Block billing lumps together multiple tasks, making it impossible to evaluate their reasonableness. Role Models America, Inc. v. Brownlee, 353 F.3d 962, 971 (D.C. Cir. 2004). The court has authority to reduce hours that are billed in block format. Welch v. Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., 480 F.3d 942, 948 (9th Cir. 2007). If applicant wishes to be compensated for the services which have been block billed, it will need to "unblock" the block billed entries and list out the time for each task performed. The blocked billed entries are: Exhibit 3, page 24: 11/6/17, 1.3 hours; Exhibit 3, page 25: 11/9/18, 2.8 hours, 11/13/17, 1.2 hours, 11/14/17, 1.4 hours; Exhibit 3, page 38, 3/29/18, 2.6 hours; Exhibit 3, page 41, 4/6/18, 2.2 hours, 4/8/18, 2.7 hours, 4/8/18, 2.8 hours, 4/9/18, 5.6 hours; Exhibit 3, page 42, 4/11/18, 3.8 hours, 4/18/18, 4.8 hours, 4/20/18, 2.8 hours; Exhibit 3, page 43, 4/24/18, 6.2 hours, 4/25/18, 3.9 hours, Exhibit 3, page 44, 4/26/18, 7.4 hours. Appearances are required on 10/2/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. The court has attempted to review the interim fee application, but cannot complete its review because a number of the billing entries have been redacted on grounds of privilege. The court will not rule upon the fee application unless and until applicant submits an unredacted version of the fee application, which it may do so in camera. The court will continue the hearing for 6 weeks, 2 weeks for applicant to submit an unreacted version of the fee application and 4 weeks for the court to review, considering there are over 50 pages of billing entries. Applicant must submit the unredacted version of the billing entries by 9/4/18, and the hearing is continued on the court's own motion to 10/2/18 at 2:30 p.m. No appearances are required on 8/20/18.

Sustain creditor's objections to paragraphs 13, 25, 26, 27, 37 and 38 of the Ng Tien Nguyen declaration, but overrule its objections to paragraphs 10, 11, 15, 16, 17, 18, 20, 21, 22, 24 and 35 of the declaration.

Sustain creditor's objections to paragraphs 11, 12, 15, 16 and 17 of the Yau declaration.

Grant debtor's motion for relief from judgment for the reasons stated in the moving papers that excusable neglect is shown under FRBP 9024 and FRCP 60(b)(1) to warrant relief in that while there may be some danger of prejudice to the nonmovant, the prejudice is minimal in light of nonmovant creditor being able to prove its involuntary petition on the merits and the short delay attendant to that, the length of movant's delay and potential impact on judicial proceedings is minimal in light of movant's filing and service of its answer to the involuntary petition on the day that nonmovant creditor filed its request for an order for relief on default and the court entered its order for relief and of nonmovant creditor's being able to prove its case for relief, the reason for delay was due to movant's lack of resources domestically to retain counsel for which it had already discussed representation and who had contacted nonmovant creditor's counsel about retention, and movant acted in good faith in trying to retain counsel promptly in light of its alleged lack of notice and lack of funds domestically to serve and file its answer on time and that its papers indicates colorable defenses to the involuntary petition. Docket 12

Tentative Ruling:

Treat as a contested matter under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 9014 and set an evidentiary hearing on the motion to avoid lien since there are disputed issues of material fact for trial, i.e., valuation of the subject property. Creditor is an entity and must be represented by counsel as required by Local Bankruptcy Rule 9011-2. The court will not allow creditor's insider to represent the entity and will strike creditor's response and enter default if creditor does not promptly retain counsel to represent it. Moreover, creditor's valuation opinion must be under a declaration under penalty of perjury by a qualified expert witness who sets forth his valuation analysis in accordance with scientifically validated appraisal methodology, such as a sales comparable analysis. #14.00 Cont'd hearing re: Motion for approval of compromise of controversy regarding claims for relief that are property of the estate fr. 9/12/18

Docket 232

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 10/1/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 10/3/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. Deny without prejudice for lack of sufficient notice since not all creditors on the case mailing matrix were served as required by FRBP 9019, 2002 and 9013, including AEC Logistics Corp., BMW Financial Services NA, LLC, Flacco Truck Repair, Internal Revenue Service, Los Angeles County Treasurer and Tax Collector, Nissan and Wells Fargo Financial Leasing Inc., and some creditors were served, but not at all addresses indicated on the mailing matrix. Debtor needs to serve creditors at all of the addresses indicated on the mailing matrix, absent an adequate evidentiary showing that its service list is completely accurate.

The court agrees with debtor that the creditors opposing the motion have not addressed the factors in In re A & C Properties, 784 F.2d 1377, 1381 (9th Cir. 1986), that is, the probability of success in the litigation, the difficulties, if any, to be encouraged in the matter of collection, the complexity of the litigation involved, and the expense, inconvenience and delay necessarily attending it and the paramount interest of the creditors and a proper deference to their reasonable views. The objecting creditors merely argue that without discovery, it is premature and not reasonable to evaluate the settlement at this time, and the settlement presents negligible and/or insignificant benefit to the creditors as a whole. These arguments do not address the arguments raised by the motion that the settlement is fair and equitable, given the hazards and cost of the litigation and that the settlement provides value to the estate, which has not been shown to be greater otherwise if the case is not settled, that is, the objecting creditors have not shown that there would be any greater benefit to the estate and creditors through litigation. Prior tentative ruling. The court agrees with defendants that actions to set aside fraudulent transfers of assets of a bankruptcy debtor belongs to the bankruptcy estate and may be the basis for a motion to dismiss because actions to collect upon assets of the estate are subject to the automatic stay and relief from stay has not been obtained by the plaintiffs. In re MortgageAmerica Corp., 714 F.2d 1266, 1275 (5th Cir. 1983); In re Curry & Sorenson, Inc., 57 B.R. 824, 827-828 (9th Cir. BAP 1986); but see, In re Colonial Realty Co., 980 F.2d 125, 130-132 (2nd Cir. 1992). As noted by plaintiffs, there is a division in circuit authority as to whether property of the bankruptcy estate includes property subject to a fraudulent transfer avoidance action is part of the bankruptcy estate before the avoidance action. Peter Spero, Fraudulent Transfers, Prebankruptcy Planning and Exemptions, Section 3.3 (Westlaw online Sept. 2017 update), citing, In re MortgageAmerica Corp., supra; In re Colonial Realty Co., supra; Rajala v. Garner, 709 F.3d 1031 (10th Cir. 2013); In re Allen, 768 F.3d 274 (3rd Cir. 2014). There is no definitive case authority in the Ninth Circuit, though the Bankruptcy Appellate Panel of the Ninth Circuit has stated that a fraudulent transfer avoidance action to recover property fraudulently transferred by a bankruptcy debtor is an asset of the debtor's bankruptcy estate. In re Curry & Sorenson, Inc., supra. The court will follow the BAP rule in Curry & Sorenson, Inc., as the current law of the Ninth Circuit.

Having said this, however, before the court rules on defendants' motions to dismiss, the court notes that plaintiffs could obtain authority of this court to allow them as parties other than the trustee or debtor-in-possession to pursue litigation on behalf of the estate (as opposed for themselves only). In re Curry & Sorenson, Inc., supra; In re Spauding Composites Co., 207 B.R. 899, 903 (9th Cir. BAP 1997). If plaintiffs are seeking to enforce their own interests as creditors, the court would thus grant the motions to dismiss, but if plaintiffs are seeking authorization from the court to pursue the litigation on behalf of the estate and its creditors, they should file and serve an appropriate motion, and the court would consider it subject to hearing from other interested parties.

Deny request for an order to show cause and/or sanctions for violation of stay since the stay is not intended to protect non debtor parties. 11 U.S.C. 362(a); see also, Ingersoll-Rand Financial Corp. v. Miller Mining Co., 817 F.2d 1424, 1427 (9th Cir. 1987). Moreover, it would be difficult to show civil contempt here that plaintiffs willfully violated a specific and definite order of the court by clear and convincing evidence, see, e.g., In re Dyer, 322 F.3d 1178. 1190-1191 (9th Cir. 2003), in bringing the fraudulent transfer action against defendants, given the uncertainty of the law as indicated by the lack of definitive case authority in the Ninth Circuit and otherwise divided circuit authority on the question of whether a fraudulently transferred property before avoidance is property of a debtor's bankruptcy estate circuit.

Docket 35

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 10/1/18. No tentative ruling on the merits.
Appearances are required on 10/3/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling.

The courts in the Ninth Circuit have identified various factors relevant to determining whether the automatic stay should be lifted to allow a creditor to continue pending litigation in a non-bankruptcy forum pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1). In re Plumberex Specialty Products, Inc., 311 B.R. 551, 557-561 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2004), citing inter alia, In re Curtis, 40 B.R. 795, 799-800 (Bankr. D. Utah 1984). As stated by the court in Plumberex, these factors are closely related to those that a bankruptcy court must consider in deciding to exercise permissive abstention under 28 U.S.C. §1334(c)(1). 311 B.R. at 558 and n. 13, citing inter alia, In re Tucson Estates, Inc., 912 F.2d 1162, 1167 (9th Cir. 1990). The twelve permissive abstention/stay relief factors set forth by the Ninth Circuit in Tucson Estates which this court normally considers are:

1. The effect or lack thereof on the efficient administration of the estate if a court recommends remand. This factor does not favor stay relief. Debtor's lease is one of the primary assets of its estate, and the leased premises are Debtor's principal place of business where most of its assets are located. Debtor intends to file a motion to assume the lease under 11 U.S.C. §365, which will have a major impact on Debtor's prospects for reorganization in this case, and in order for the court to determine the lease assumption motion, the court will have to make the determinations of the not yet judicially determined issues of state law of the validity of the lease termination by Landlord and any claim of relief from lease forfeiture by Debtor, which are intertwined with the lease assumption motion issues. In re Art and Architecture Books of the 21st Century, No. 2:13-bk-14135-RK Chapter 11 (Bankr. C.D. Cal., statement of decision filed on April 15, 2013), citing, In re Turbowind, Inc., 42 B.R. 579, 583 (Bankr. S.D. Cal. 1984). This bankruptcy court has authority to decide the state law issues of validity of lease termination and lease forfeiture relief. Id., citing, In re Windmill Farms, Inc., 841 F.2d 1467, 1468-1474 (9th Cir. 1988); see also, Matter of Escondido West Travelodge, 52 B.R. 376, 382 (S.D. Cal. 1985). The Landlord's unlawful detainer action for which stay relief is sought concerns the estate's leasehold interest, and Debtor's ability to assume the lease and continue its business operations would be affected by the outcome of that action.

2. The extent to which state law issues predominate over bankruptcy issues. This factor favors stay relief because the removed unlawful detainer action of Landlord was initially filed in state court and is based on a state law claim, though Debtor plans to litigate bankruptcy claims under to 11 U.S.C. §§ 365, 541, 547 and 548 related to Landlord's state law claim.

3. The difficulty or unsettled nature of the applicable law. This factor is neutral because the Landlord's unlawful detainer action does not involve law which is difficult or unsettled in nature.

4. The presence of a related proceeding commenced in state court or other non-bankruptcy court. This factor favors stay relief because Landlord's unlawful detainer action was filed in state court and a trial date was set in that action, though the court notes Debtor's argument that there are no longer proceedings in state court due to the removal. Security Farms v. International Brotherhood of Teamsters, etc., 124 F.3d 999, 1010 (9th Cir. 1997).

5. The jurisdictional basis, if any, other than 28 U.S.C. § 1334. This factor favors stay relief because Landlord's unlawful detainer is noncore. The Ninth Circuit observed that if a proceeding does not invoke a substantive right created by federal bankruptcy law and if it could exist outside of bankruptcy, it is noncore. In re Eastport Associates, 935 F.2d 1071, 1076 (9th Cir. 1991). (Landlord has not filed a proof of claim which would be a core proceeding relating to the same substantive claim. In re Thorpe Insulation Co., 671 F.3d 1011, 1021 (9th Cir. 2012). See also, Schultze v. Chandler, 765 F.3d 945, 950-951 (9th Cir. 2014)(state law claim against estate professional arising in case under Bankruptcy Code was core proceeding)). Landlord's unlawful detainer action could exist outside of bankruptcy, and are thus noncore, and thus, the court exercises only its "related to" jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. § 1334 to determine Debtor's motion to assume the lease pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 365 and its claims pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §§ 541, 547 and 548.

6. The degree of relatedness or remoteness of the proceeding to the main bankruptcy case. This factor does not favor stay relief because if Debtor is not able to assume the lease, Debtor will not be able to reorganize.

7. The substance rather than form of an asserted "core" proceeding. This factor favors stay relief. Landlord's unlawful detainer action as stated above is noncore. However, as also noted above, the outcome of the unlawful detainer action which is related to the lease will have substantial impact on the outcome of Debtor's efforts to reorganize in this Chapter 11 bankruptcy case.

8. The feasibility of severing state law claims from core bankruptcy matters to allow judgments to be entered in state court with enforcement left to the bankruptcy court. This factor does not favor stay relief because the unlawful detainer action and the bankruptcy law matter of lease assumption are interrelated.

9. The burden on the bankruptcy court's docket. This factor is neutral.

10. The likelihood that the commencement of the proceeding in bankruptcy court involves forum shopping by one of the parties. This factor favors stay relief because arguably, Debtor is engaging in forum shopping because that it removed the unlawful detainer action to this court after a trial was set in state court in that action.

11. The existence of a right to a jury trial. This factor does not favor stay relief. Landlord does not have a right to jury trial on its unlawful detainer action or on Debtor's intended lease assumption motion.

12. The presence in the proceeding of nondebtor parties. This factor does not favor stay relief since Debtor and Landlord are the only parties involved in these actions.

In weighing the various stay relief factors, the court is inclined to deny the remand motions under the circumstances of this case because the resolution of the unlawful detainer action will substantially impact Debtor's ability to effectively reorganize and that litigation of the removed action and related bankruptcy claims of lease assumption and transfer avoidance can and should be litigated in a single forum to effectuate the purposes of the Bankruptcy Code which include "[c]entralization of disputes concerning a debtor's legal obligations" and "protecting creditors and reorganizing debtors from piecemeal litigation." In re Thorpe Insulation Co., 671 F.3d at 1022-1023.

Docket 34

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 10/1/18. No tentative ruling on the merits.
Appearances are required on 10/3/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling.

The courts in the Ninth Circuit have identified various factors relevant to determining whether the automatic stay should be lifted to allow a creditor to continue pending litigation in a non-bankruptcy forum pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1). In re Plumberex Specialty Products, Inc., 311 B.R. 551, 557-561 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2004), citing inter alia, In re Curtis, 40 B.R. 795, 799-800 (Bankr. D. Utah 1984). As stated by the court in Plumberex, these factors are closely related to those that a bankruptcy court must consider in deciding to exercise permissive abstention under 28 U.S.C. §1334(c)(1). 311 B.R. at 558 and n. 13, citing inter alia, In re Tucson Estates, Inc., 912 F.2d 1162, 1167 (9th Cir. 1990). The twelve permissive abstention/stay relief factors set forth by the Ninth Circuit in Tucson Estates which this court normally considers are:

1. The effect or lack thereof on the efficient administration of the estate if a court recommends remand. This factor does not favor stay relief. Debtor's lease is one of the primary assets of its estate, and the leased premises are Debtor's principal place of business where most of its assets are located. Debtor intends to file a motion to assume the lease under 11 U.S.C. §365, which will have a major impact on Debtor's prospects for reorganization in this case, and in order for the court to determine the lease assumption motion, the court will have to make the determinations of the not yet judicially determined issues of state law of the validity of the lease termination by Landlord and any claim of relief from lease forfeiture by Debtor, which are intertwined with the lease assumption motion issues. In re Art and Architecture Books of the 21st Century, No. 2:13-bk-14135-RK Chapter 11 (Bankr. C.D. Cal., statement of decision filed on April 15, 2013), citing, In re Turbowind, Inc., 42 B.R. 579, 583 (Bankr. S.D. Cal. 1984). This bankruptcy court has authority to decide the state law issues of validity of lease termination and lease forfeiture relief. Id., citing, In re Windmill Farms, Inc., 841 F.2d 1467, 1468-1474 (9th Cir. 1988); see also, Matter of Escondido West Travelodge, 52 B.R. 376, 382 (S.D. Cal. 1985). Debtor's breach of lease action for which stay relief is sought concerns the estate's leasehold interest, and Debtor's ability to assume the lease and continue its business operations would be affected by the outcome of that action.

- 2. The extent to which state law issues predominate over bankruptcy issues. This factor favors stay relief because the removed breach of lease action of Debtor was initially filed in state court and is based on a state law claim, though Debtor plans to litigate bankruptcy claims under to 11 U.S.C. §§ 365, 541, 547 and 548 related to the lease.
- 3. The difficulty or unsettled nature of the applicable law. This factor is neutral because Debtor's breach of lease action does not involve law which is difficult or unsettled in nature.
- 4. The presence of a related proceeding commenced in state court or other non-bankruptcy court. This factor favors stay relief because Debtor's breach of lease was filed in state court, though the court notes Debtor's argument that there are no longer proceedings in state court due to the removal. Security Farms v. International Brotherhood of Teamsters, etc., 124 F.3d 999, 1010 (9th Cir. 1997).
- 5. The jurisdictional basis, if any, other than 28 U.S.C. § 1334. This factor favors stay relief because Debtor's breach of lease claims are noncore. The Ninth Circuit observed that if a proceeding does not invoke a substantive right created by federal bankruptcy law and if it could exist outside of bankruptcy, it is noncore. In re Eastport Associates, 935 F.2d 1071, 1076 (9th Debtor's breach of lease action could exist outside of bankruptcy, and are thus noncore, and thus, the court exercises only its "related to" jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. §1334 to determine Debtor's motion to assume the lease pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 365 and its claims pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §§ 541, 547 and 548.

6. The degree of relatedness or remoteness of the proceeding to the main bankruptcy case. This factor does not favor stay relief because if Debtor's claims are related to its intended motion to assume the lease, without which it will not be able to reorganize.

7. The substance rather than form of an asserted "core" proceeding. This factor favors stay relief. Debtor's breach of lease action as stated above is noncore. However, as also noted above, the outcome of this action which is related to the lease may have substantial impact on the outcome of Debtor's efforts to reorganize in this Chapter 11 bankruptcy case.

8. The feasibility of severing state law claims from core bankruptcy matters to allow judgments to be entered in state court with enforcement left to the bankruptcy court. This factor does not favor stay relief because Debtor's breach of lease action and the bankruptcy law matter of lease assumption appear to be interrelated.

9. The burden on the bankruptcy court's docket. This factor is neutral.

10. The likelihood that the commencement of the proceeding in bankruptcy court involves forum shopping by one of the parties. This factor favors stay relief because arguably, Debtor is engaging in forum shopping because that it removed the breach of lease action to this court after a trial in Landlord's related unlawful detainer action was set in state court.

11. The existence of a right to a jury trial. This factor favors stay relief. Landlord probably has a right to a jury trial on Debtor's breach of lease action

12. The presence in the proceeding of nondebtor parties. This factor does not favor stay relief since Debtor and Landlord are the only parties involved in the removed action.

In weighing the various stay relief factors, the court is inclined to deny the remand motions under the circumstances of this case because the resolution of Debtor's breach of lease claims may substantially impact Debtor's ability to effectively reorganize because it is related to its bankruptcy claims of lease assumption and transfer avoidance can and should be litigated in a single forum to effectuate the purposes of the Bankruptcy Code which include "[c]entralization of disputes concerning a debtor's legal obligations" and "protecting creditors and reorganizing debtors from piecemeal litigation." In re Thorpe Insulation Co., 671 F.3d 1011, 1022-1023 (9th Cir. 2012).

#20.00 Hearing re: Motion of debtor to assume lease

Docket 67

Tentative Ruling:

Revised tentative ruling as of 10/1/18 at 6:00 p.m.:

Treat motion to assume lease as a contested matter under FRBP 9014 because there are disputed issues of material fact that may require an evidentiary hearing to resolve (including debtor's status as tenant in fact as opposed to being listed on the lease, whether landlord validly invoked the recapture provisions of the lease, whether debtor has the ability to perform the lease if assumed) and treat hearing as a status conference to schedule further pretrial and trial proceedings. See In re Gentile Family Industries, 2014 WL 4091001 (9th Cir. BAP 2014)(acknowledging but not deciding whether the Ninth Circuit's decision in In re G.I. Industries, Inc., 204 F.3d 1276 (9th Cir. 2000), citing, In re Orion Pictures Corp., 4 F.3d 1095 (2nd Cir. 1993), should be broadly or narrowly construed; see also, In re Miller, 2016 WL 1316763 (Bankr. D. Mont. 2016)(narrowly construing G.I. Industries to rejection of an executory contract or lease). The court is inclined to agree with Debtor that the applicable rule is the two-step analysis for determining whether a lease may be assumed under 11 U.S.C. 365 set forth in In re Waterkist Corp. 775 F.2d 1089 (9th Cir. 1985) and In re Windmill Farms, Inc., 841 F.2d 1467 (9th Cir. 1988). Landlord argues that G.I. Industries, following Orion Pictures, having a circumscribed view of the analysis of a motion to assume or reject a contract applies here, but that would mean that G.I. Industries impliedly overruled the two-part rule in Waterkist Corp. Landlord argues that G.I. Industries governs because it is a later pronouncement by the circuit, but that may not be right because it generally takes an en banc panel decision to overrule the case precedent of a prior circuit panel and arguably, the two-part rule involves a narrow, specific issue of lease assumption rather than general issue of assumption or rejection of executory contracts, and thus, the specific takes precedence over the general. The court hesitates to reach a conclusion on whether Waterkist was overruled by G.I. Industries in some fashion since this has not been adequately briefed by the parties and the court's research is preliminary and incomplete. However, the state of the case law in the circuit may be in flux as shown by the BAP's unpublished decision in Gentile Family Industries referring both to G.I. Industries and Windmill Farms, but not to the two-rule rule specifically. Since the motion for the assumption of the lease is important to the parties, and perhaps decisive of debtor's reorganization prospects, it makes sense to decide the motion in a contested matter to resolve factual issues. The court understands Landlord prefers deciding the contract dispute issues in state court as indicated in its stay relief and remand motions, but it seems that the court has jurisdiction to decide such issues in a contested matter or adversary proceeding related to lease assumption. The court's approach in In re Belasco Unlimited Corp., No. 2:14-bk-26546-BR Chapter 11 (Bankr. C.D. Cal., findings of fact and conclusions of law after evidentiary hearing on motion to assume lease, filed and entered on April 8, 2015) is illustrative and is consistent with the holding in Gentile Family Industries.

Objection #14 (44:22-26): Sustain - improper opinion.
Objection #15 (46:21-47:2): Sustain - improper opinion.
Objection #16 (48:14-18): Sustain as to sentence, "As set forth above, the Debtor's financial problems were precipitated, in-part, by the Landlord's demand and actions to prematurely and improperly terminate the Lease." - improper opinion. Sustain as to sentences, "However, Debtor is operating profitably. Attached as 'Exhibit 14 hereto is the Debtor's projection of income and expenses through September 30, 2023. These projections show that the Debtor can satisfy its future obligations under the Lease." - lack of foundation.

The court comments that Mr. Nathan's improper opinions are disguised arguments which are not relevant and best left to counsel in briefing and that Debtor will need to provide a factual foundation for Mr. Nathan's testimony about the preparation of the Debtor's financial projections (i.e., describing who made the projections, what data was relied upon for the projections and what reasonable assumptions were made for such projections).

Prior tentative ruling.

28 U.S.C. § 1452(b) provides that "[t]he court to which such claim or cause of action is removed may remand such claim or cause of action on any equitable ground." 28 U.S.C. § 1452(b). This standard is "an unusually broad grant of authority" which allows for remand for reasons beyond those typical of non-bankruptcy removal statutes. In re McCarthy, 230 B.R. 414, 417 (9th Cir. BAP 1999). Bankruptcy courts may consider up to fourteen factors in deciding whether to remand an action to the non-bankruptcy forum pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1452(b). In re Cedar Funding, Inc., 419 B.R. 807, 820-821 and n.18 (9th Cir. BAP 2009), citing In re Enron Corp., 296 B.R. 505, 508 n.2 (C.D. Cal. 2003); In re Cytodyn of New Mexico, Inc., 374 B.R. 733, 738 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2007). The fourteen equitable remand factors are:

1. The effect or lack thereof on the efficient administration of the estate if a court recommends remand. This factor does not favor remand. Debtor's lease is one of the primary assets of its estate, and the leased premises are Debtor's principal place of business where most of its assets are located. Debtor intends to file a motion to assume the lease under 11 U.S.C. §365, which will have a major impact on Debtor's prospects for reorganization in this case, and in order for the court to determine the lease assumption motion, the court will have to make the determinations of the not yet judicially determined issues of state law of the validity of the lease termination by Landlord and any claim of relief from lease forfeiture by Debtor, which are intertwined with the lease assumption motion issues. In re

Art and Architecture Books of the 21st Century, No. 2:13-bk-14135-RK Chapter 11 (Bankr. C.D. This bankruptcy court has authority to decide the state law issues of validity of lease termination and lease forfeiture relief. Id., citing, In re Windmill Farms, Inc., 841 F.2d 1467, 1468-1474 (9th Cir. 1988); see also, Matter of Escondido West Travelodge, 52 B.R. 376, 382 (S.D. The removed Landlord's unlawful detainer action and Debtor's breach of lease action concern the estate's leasehold interest, and Debtor's ability to assume the lease and continue its business operations will be dependent on the outcome of these actions.

2. The extent to which state law issues predominate over bankruptcy issues. This factor favors remand because the removed unlawful detainer and breach of lease actions were initially filed in state court and are based on state law claims, though Debtor plans to litigate bankruptcy claims under to 11 U.S.C. §§ 365, 541, 547 and 548 related to these state law claims.

3. The difficulty or unsettled nature of the applicable law. This factor is neutral because the removed actions do not involve law which is difficult or unsettled in nature.

4. The presence of a related proceeding commenced in state court or other non-bankruptcy court. This factor favors remand because both removed actions were filed in state court and a trial date was set in the unlawful detainer action, though the court notes Debtor's argument that there are no longer proceedings in state court due to the removal. Security Farms v. International Brotherhood of Teamsters, etc., 124 F.3d 999, 1010 (9th Cir. 1997).

5. The jurisdictional basis, if any, other than 28 U.S.C. § 1334. This factor favors remand because the removed actions are noncore. Both removed actions could exist outside of bankruptcy, and are thus noncore, and thus, the court exercises only its "related to" jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. §1334 to determine Debtor's motion to assume the lease pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 365 and its claims pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §§ 541, 547 and 548.

6. The degree of relatedness or remoteness of the proceeding to the main bankruptcy case. This factor does not favor remand because if Debtor is not able to assume the lease, Debtor will not be able to reorganize.

7. The substance rather than form of an asserted "core" proceeding. This factor favors remand. While arguably state law contract claims fall within the catch-all provisions of 28 U.S.C. § 157(b)(2)(O) to be considered "non-core" related proceedings under 11 U.S.C. § 157(c), In re Castlerock Properties, 781 F.2d 159, 162 (9th Cir. 1986), the removed actions as stated above are noncore. However, as also noted above, the outcome of the removed actions which are related to the lease will have substantial impact on the outcome of Debtor's efforts to reorganize in this Chapter 11 bankruptcy case.

8. The feasibility of severing state law claims from core bankruptcy matters to allow judgments to be entered in state court with enforcement left to the bankruptcy court. This factor does not favor remand because the state law claims and the bankruptcy law matter of lease assumption are interrelated.

9. The burden on the bankruptcy court's docket. This factor is neutral.

10. The likelihood that the commencement of the proceeding in bankruptcy court involves forum shopping by one of the parties. This factor favors remand because arguably, Debtor is engaging in forum shopping because that it removed the actions from state court to this court after a trial was set in state court in Landlord's unlawful detainer action.

11. The existence of a right to a jury trial. This factor is mixed, but on the whole does not favor remand. Landlord does not have a right to jury trial on its unlawful detainer action or on Debtor's intended lease assumption motion. Landlord probably has a right to a jury trial on Debtor's breach of lease action against it, but Landlord can exercise any rights to a jury trial in that action pursuant to Fed. R. Bankr. P. 9015 and Fed. R. Civ. P. 38(b).

12. The presence in the proceeding of nondebtor parties. This factor does not favor remand since Debtor and Landlord are the only parties involved in these actions.

13. Comity. This factor favors remand. Allowing state courts to adjudicate state law claims, as the Ninth Circuit Bankruptcy Appellate Panel has indicated that "[n]eedless decisions of state law by federal courts should be avoided as a matter of comity . . . in order to procure for the litigants 'a surer-footed reading of applicable law.'" In re Casamont Investors, Ltd., 196 B.R. 517, 524 (9th Cir. BAP 1996), citing United Mine Workers v. Gibbs, 383 U.S. 715, 726 (1966).

14. The possibility of prejudice to other parties in the action. This factor does not favor remand. There will be no prejudice to other parties because the issues relating to the lease in both actions can be litigated in the bankruptcy court.

In weighing the various equitable remand factors, the court is inclined to deny the remand motions under the circumstances of this case because the resolution of the claims will substantially impact Debtor's ability to effectively reorganize and that litigation of the removed actions and related bankruptcy claims of lease assumption and transfer avoidance can and should be litigated in a single forum to effectuate the purposes of the Bankruptcy Code which include "[c]entralization of disputes concerning a debtor's legal obligations" and "protecting creditors and reorganizing debtors from piecemeal litigation." In re Thorpe Insulation Co., 671 F.3d at 1022-1023.

#24.00 Cont'd hearing re: Motion to remand adversary proceeding
fr. 9/11/18

Docket 12

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 10/1/18. No tentative ruling on the merits.
Appearances are required on 10/3/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling.

28 U.S.C. § 1452(b) provides that "[t]he court to which such claim or cause of action is removed may remand such claim or cause of action on any equitable ground." 28 U.S.C. § 1452(b). This standard is "an unusually broad grant of authority" which allows for remand for reasons beyond those typical of non-bankruptcy removal statutes. In re McCarthy, 230 B.R. 414, 417 (9th Cir. BAP 1999). Bankruptcy courts may consider up to fourteen factors in deciding whether to remand an action to the non-bankruptcy forum pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1452(b). In re Cedar Funding, Inc., 419 B.R. 807, 820-821 and n.18 (9th Cir. BAP 2009), citing In re Enron Corp., 296 B.R. 505, 508 n.2 (C.D. Cal. 2003); In re Cytodyn of New Mexico, Inc., 374 B.R. 733, 738 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2007). The fourteen equitable remand factors are:

1. The effect or lack thereof on the efficient administration of the estate if a court recommends remand. This factor does not favor remand. Debtor's lease is one of the primary assets of its estate, and the leased premises are Debtor's principal place of business where most of its assets are located. Debtor intends to file a motion to assume the lease under 11 U.S.C. §365, which will have a major impact on Debtor's prospects for reorganization in this case, and in order for the court to determine the lease assumption motion, the court will have to make the determinations of the not yet judicially determined issues of state law of the validity of the lease termination by Landlord and any claim of relief from lease forfeiture by Debtor, which are intertwined with the lease assumption motion issues. In re

Art and Architecture Books of the 21st Century, No. 2:13-bk-14135-RK Chapter 11 (Bankr. C.D. Cal., statement of decision filed on April 15, 2013), citing, In re Turbowind, Inc., 42 B.R. 579, 583 (Bankr. S.D. Cal. 1984). This bankruptcy court has authority to decide the state law issues of validity of lease termination and lease forfeiture relief. Id., citing, In re Windmill Farms, Inc., 841 F.2d 1467, 1468-1474 (9th Cir. 1988); see also, Matter of Escondido West Travelodge, 52 B.R. 376, 382 (S.D. Cal. 1985). The removed Landlord's unlawful detainer action and Debtor's breach of lease action concern the estate's leasehold interest, and Debtor's ability to assume the lease and continue its business operations will be dependent on the outcome of these actions.

2. The extent to which state law issues predominate over bankruptcy issues. This factor favors remand because the removed unlawful detainer and breach of lease actions were initially filed in state court and are based on state law claims, though Debtor plans to litigate bankruptcy claims under to 11 U.S.C. §§ 365, 541, 547 and 548 related to these state law claims.

3. The difficulty or unsettled nature of the applicable law. This factor is neutral because the removed actions do not involve law which is difficult or unsettled in nature.

4. The presence of a related proceeding commenced in state court or other non-bankruptcy court. This factor favors remand because both removed actions were filed in state court and a trial date was set in the unlawful detainer action, though the court notes Debtor's argument that there are no longer proceedings in state court due to the removal. Security Farms v. International Brotherhood of Teamsters, etc., 124 F.3d 999, 1010 (9th Cir. 1997).

5. The jurisdictional basis, if any, other than 28 U.S.C. § 1334. This factor favors remand because the removed actions are noncore. The Ninth Circuit observed that if a proceeding does not invoke a substantive right created by federal bankruptcy law and if it could exist outside of bankruptcy, it is noncore. In re Eastport Associates, 935 F.2d 1071, 1076 (9th Cir. 1991). (Landlord has not filed a proof of claim which would be a core proceeding relating to the same substantive claim. In re Thorpe Insulation Co., 671 F.3d 1011, 1021 (9th Cir. 2012). See also, Schultze v. Chandler, 765 F.3d 945, 950-951 (9th Cir. 2014)(state law claim against estate professional arising in case under Bankruptcy Code was core proceeding)). Both removed actions could exist outside of bankruptcy, and are thus noncore, and thus, the court exercises only its "related to" jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. §1334 to determine Debtor's motion to assume the lease pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 365 and its claims pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §§ 541, 547 and 548.

6. The degree of relatedness or remoteness of the proceeding to the main bankruptcy case. This factor does not favor remand because if Debtor is not able to assume the lease, Debtor will not be able to reorganize.

7. The substance rather than form of an asserted "core" proceeding. This factor favors remand. While arguably state law contract claims fall within the catch-all provisions of 28 U.S.C. § 157(b)(2)(O) to be considered "non-core" related proceedings under 11 U.S.C. § 157(c), In re Castlerock Properties, 781 F.2d 159, 162 (9th Cir. 1986), the removed actions as stated above are noncore. However, as also noted above, the outcome of the removed actions which are related to the lease will have substantial impact on the outcome of Debtor's efforts to reorganize in this Chapter 11 bankruptcy case.

8. The feasibility of severing state law claims from core bankruptcy matters to allow judgments to be entered in state court with enforcement left to the bankruptcy court. This factor does not favor remand because the state law claims and the bankruptcy law matter of lease assumption are interrelated.

9. The burden on the bankruptcy court's docket. This factor is neutral.

10. The likelihood that the commencement of the proceeding in bankruptcy court involves forum shopping by one of the parties. This factor favors remand because arguably, Debtor is engaging in forum shopping because that it removed the actions from state court to this court after a trial was set in state court in Landlord's unlawful detainer action.

Chapter 11

11. The existence of a right to a jury trial. This factor is mixed, but on the whole does not favor remand. Landlord does not have a right to jury trial on its unlawful detainer action or on Debtor's intended lease assumption motion. Landlord probably has a right to a jury trial on Debtor's breach of lease action against it, but Landlord can exercise any rights to a jury trial in that action pursuant to Fed. R. Bankr. P. 9015 and Fed. R. Civ. P. 38(b).

12. The presence in the proceeding of nondebtor parties. This factor does not favor remand since Debtor and Landlord are the only parties involved in these actions.

13. Comity. This factor favors remand. Allowing state courts to adjudicate state law claims, as the Ninth Circuit Bankruptcy Appellate Panel has indicated that "[n]eedless decisions of state law by federal courts should be avoided as a matter of comity . . . in order to procure for the litigants 'a surer-footed reading of applicable law.'" In re Casamont Investors, Ltd., 196 B.R. 517, 524 (9th Cir. BAP 1996), citing United Mine Workers v. Gibbs, 383 U.S. 715, 726 (1966).

14. The possibility of prejudice to other parties in the action. This factor does not favor remand. There will be no prejudice to other parties because the issues relating to the lease in both actions can be litigated in the bankruptcy court.

In weighing the various equitable remand factors, the court is inclined to deny the remand motions under the circumstances of this case because the resolution of the claims will substantially impact Debtor's ability to effectively reorganize and that litigation of the removed actions and related bankruptcy claims of lease assumption and transfer avoidance can and should be litigated in a single forum to effectuate the purposes of the Bankruptcy Code which include "[c]entralization of disputes concerning a debtor's legal obligations" and "protecting creditors and reorganizing debtors from piecemeal litigation." In re Thorpe Insulation Co., 671 F.3d at 1022-1023.

Updated tentative ruling as of 1/12/18. Plaintiff moves to compel discovery to defendant with respect to: (1) his request for admissions, (2) his interrogatories and (3) his requests for production of documents. As to the request for admissions, the motion is unnecessary because if the requests for admissions are properly served, the requested matters for admission are deemed admitted if not timely denied. As to the interrogatories, the motion should be denied because the interrogatories are invalid because plaintiff did not sign them. On the copy of the interrogatories attached to the motion, there is no signature of plaintiff on his interrogatories as required by Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 9011(a). Plaintiff will need to sign them before he can move to compel defendant to respond to them. As to the request for production of documents, the motion does not comply with Local Bankruptcy Rule 9026-1(c) because plaintiff has not submitted a discovery dispute stipulation to be completed by both parties as to their positions on the discovery dispute. Plaintiff appears to have met the requirement of a meet and confer request to defendant's counsel, to which there was apparently no response, but plaintiff still needs to submit the joint discovery dispute stipulation required by Local Bankruptcy Rule 7026-1(c). Prior tentative ruling. No tentative ruling on the merits. The court notes procedural problems with the adversary proceeding: (1) first, plaintiff has not served counsel for debtors as required by Rule 7004(g) of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure; (2) plaintiff is seeking the same relief as in the prior adversary proceeding, which was dismissed, and there may be a bar against such relitigation by claim or issue preclusion. #8.10 Status conference re: Motion of debtor to assume lease
fr. 10/3/18

Docket 67

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 10/5/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 10/9/18 to discuss the status of the matter before trial, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Revised tentative ruling as of 10/1/18 at 6:00 p.m.:

Treat motion to assume lease as a contested matter under FRBP 9014 because there are disputed issues of material fact that may require an evidentiary hearing to resolve (including debtor's status as tenant in fact as opposed to being listed on the lease, whether landlord validly invoked the recapture provisions of the lease, whether debtor has the ability to perform the lease if assumed) and treat hearing as a status conference to schedule further pretrial and trial proceedings. See In re Gentile Family Industries, 2014 WL 4091001 (9th Cir. BAP 2014)(acknowledging but not deciding whether the Ninth Circuit's decision in In re G.I. Industries, Inc., 204 F.3d 1276 (9th Cir. 2000), citing, In re Orion Pictures Corp., 4 F.3d 1095 (2nd Cir. 1993), should be broadly or narrowly construed; see also, In re Miller, 2016 WL 1316763 (Bankr. D. Mont. 2016)(narrowly construing G.I. Industries to rejection of an executory contract or lease). The court is inclined to agree with Debtor that the applicable rule is the two-step analysis for determining whether a lease may be assumed under 11 U.S.C. 365 set forth in In re Waterkist Corp. 775 F.2d 1089 (9th Cir. 1985) and In re Windmill Farms, Inc., 841 F.2d 1467 (9th Cir. 1988). Landlord argues that G.I. Industries, following Orion Pictures, having a circumscribed view of the analysis of a motion to assume or reject a contract applies here, but that would mean that G.I. Industries impliedly overruled the two-part rule in Waterkist Corp. Landlord argues that G.I. Industries governs because it is a later pronouncement by the circuit, but that may not be right because it generally takes an en banc panel decision to overrule the case precedent of a prior circuit panel and arguably, the two-part rule involves a narrow, specific issue of lease assumption rather than general issue of assumption or rejection of executory contracts, and thus, the specific takes precedence over the general. The court hesitates to reach a conclusion on whether Waterkist was overruled by G.I. Industries in some fashion since this has not been adequately briefed by the parties and the court's research is preliminary and incomplete. However, the state of the case law in the circuit may be in flux as shown by the BAP's unpublished decision in Gentile Family Industries referring both to G.I. Industries and Windmill Farms, but not to the two-rule rule specifically. Since the motion for the assumption of the lease is important to the parties, and perhaps decisive of debtor's reorganization prospects, it makes sense to decide the motion in a contested matter to resolve factual issues. The court understands Landlord prefers deciding the contract dispute issues in state court as indicated in its stay relief and remand motions, but it seems that the court has jurisdiction to decide such issues in a contested matter or adversary proceeding related to lease assumption. The court's approach in In re Belasco Unlimited Corp., No. 2:14-bk-26546-BR Chapter 11 (Bankr. C.D. Cal., findings of fact and conclusions of law after evidentiary hearing on motion to assume lease, filed and entered on April 8, 2015) is illustrative and is consistent with the holding in Gentile Family Industries.

Objection #16 (48:14-18): Sustain as to sentence, "As set forth above, the Debtor's financial problems were precipitated, in-part, by the Landlord's demand and actions to prematurely and improperly terminate the Lease." - improper opinion. Sustain as to sentences, "However, Debtor is operating profitably. Attached as 'Exhibit 14 hereto is the Debtor's projection of income and expenses through September 30, 2023. These projections show that the Debtor can satisfy its future obligations under the Lease." - lack of foundation.

The court comments that Mr. Nathan's improper opinions are disguised arguments which are not relevant and best left to counsel in briefing and that Debtor will need to provide a factual foundation for Mr. Nathan's testimony about the preparation of the Debtor's financial projections (i.e., describing who made the projections, what data was relied upon for the projections and what reasonable assumptions were made for such projections).

Appearances are required on 10/3/18 to discuss scheduling of further proceedings, but counsel may appear by telephone.

#14.00 Hearing re: Motion to dismiss first amended complaint of Behrouz Shadsirat for lack of standing and failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted

Docket 22

Tentative Ruling:

The court is inclined to grant the motion to dismiss in part and deny it in part.

The court intends to grant the motion to dismiss as to relief sought against Mesachi since none of the allegations in the first amended complaint relate to her and this is the second complaint which names her as a defendant, so dismissal should be with prejudice because plaintiff had the opportunity to correct such defect.

The court intends to grant the motion to dismiss as to relief sought which is derivative of NCI since plaintiff lacks standing to assert the rights of NCI, and apparently, only the state court receiver of NCI has standing to do that. Dismissal should be with prejudice because plaintiff had the opportunity to correct such defect.

The court intends to grant the motion to dismiss as to relief sought for breach of a fiduciary duty under 11 U.S.C. 523(a)(4) because plaintiff has not sufficiently pleaded facts to show that Zargar stood in a fiduciary relationship to plaintiff. Dismissal should be with prejudice because plaintiff had the opportunity to correct such defect.

The court intends to deny the motion to dismiss as to relief sought by plaintiff under 11 U.S.C. 523(a)(2)(A) and (6) because he has standing to assert claims as being fraudulently induced by Zargar's alleged misrepresentations to make capital contributions to NCI, which resulted in personal losses to him. However, the allegations are not specific enough as to the details of the alleged representations and plaintiff's alleged capital contributions, and the court intends to grant the motion at least to require plaintiff to amend and make a more definite statement regarding these matters to allege plausible claims under these statutes.

The court has taken in consideration that plaintiff has two pending lawsuits in state court to determine the validity of the debts asserted as nondischargeable in this adversary proceeding, including one lawsuit which has been pending for 6 years and was ready for trial before it was removed and remanded. The court is inclined to allow plaintiff to amend the complaint to make a more definite statement and then stay the proceeding to allow the state court in the two pending lawsuits to render judgments on the validity of the asserted debts.

#1.00 Hearing re: Motion under 11 U.S.C. §1112(b)(1) to convert, dismiss or appoint a chapter 11 trustee with an order directing payment of quarterly fees and for judgment thereon

Docket 152

Tentative Ruling:

The motion of United States Trustee to dismiss or convert is based on somewhat technical violations of the bankruptcy rules and United States Trustee guidelines which have been remedied or can readily be remedied, such as lack of sufficient proof of insurance coverage, late filing of monthly operating reports and incomplete payment of quarterly fees. The court is inclined to continue the hearing on the motion to allow short but reasonable period of time to allow debtor to take corrective action to remedy these readily remediable technical violations.

The required corrective action to address the concerns raised in the motion as attested to by the bankruptcy analyst must include:

1. Proof of insurance coverage, which appears to have been provided now.
2. Prompt payment of any United States Trustee quarterly fees currently due.
3. Complete disclosure of all receipts and disbursements by debtor postpetition on her monthly operating reports, which require amendment of her filed reports. Disclosures must include identification of all receipts of family support payments and all disbursements of any and all funds by her postpetition. Debtor in her opposition to the motion indicates that she would file amended reports, but has not yet done so, which calls to mind the adage that actions speak louder than words.
4. Appropriate use of debtor's DIP bank accounts, including using her general DIP account for most disbursements, and discontinuance of use of the DIP payroll and tax accounts because there does not appear to be a justifiable reason to have these separate DIP accounts apart from the general DIP account.
5. Discontinuance of debtor's use of a community property joint bank account with the nondebtor spouse.
6. Timely filing of future monthly operating reports. The court is of the view that the previous reports have not been late for long periods of time, but debtor's persistent tardiness in filing her reports indicates a dilatory attitude which goes to show that she lacks sufficient motivation to prosecute this case, which may by itself warrant granting relief requested by the United States Trustee.

#2.00 Hearing re: Motion for extension of exclusivity periods to file a disclosure statement and plan, and seek acceptances of plan of reorganization

Docket 158

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative rulings on debtor's objections to the declaration of Robert S. Marticello:

Objections ##1-4 - Overrule. The context for these statements in the declaration show that declarant is making the declaration in this case as counsel for a creditor in response to the instant motion to extend plan exclusivity. Having said this, counsel/declarant is admonished to proofread his submissions to the court before filing. See Morten Lund, Jagged Rocks of Wisdom: Professional Advice for the New Attorney (The Fine Print Press, Inc., 2007) at 1-9 ("Rule Number 1: Proofread. . . .Rule Number 2: Proofread Again")

Objection #5 - Overrule.

Objection #6 - Sustain - lack of personal knowledge, lack of foundation

Objection #7 - Overrule

Objection #8 - Sustain - improper opinion

Grant motion in part, deny in part, and extend plan exclusivity by additional 120 days. The court agrees with the observation of the Bankruptcy Appellate Panel in In re Henry Mayo Newhall Memorial Hospital, 282 B.R. 444, 453 (9th Cir. BAP) as pointed out by Creditor Second Generation, Inc., that "a transcendent consideration is whether adjustment of exclusivity will facilitate moving the case forward towards a fair and equitable resolution."

Considering the various standard factors considered by the courts in cases such as Henry Mayo Newhall Memorial Hospital and In re Dow Corning Corp., 208 B.R. 661, 664-665 (Bankr. E.D. Mich. 1997), the court is of the view that extension of exclusivity for a short period of time will facilitate moving the case forward towards a fair and equitable resolution. Although debtor's reasons are somewhat underwhelming, especially its recital of what it has done in this case, the court believes on the totality of circumstances of the case at this present stage partial relief is warranted. This is only the second request for extension after a first extension of only four months. Although this case does not involve a complex operating business such as a hospital in Henry Mayo or a manufacturing concern in Dow Corning, there is some complexity here because the uncertain status of debtor's interest in the residence and her personal property interests, including the Ben Lynn Trust worth $1.4 million and amounts owed her by other parties totalling over $1 million. Resolution of the adversary proceeding over what her interest in the real property will have a large impact on the reorganization. Debtor has been involved in discovery and other litigation proceeding with one of her major creditors, Second Generation, Inc. Debtor appears to be paying her bills as they become due, except for a small amount of late paid United States Trustee quarterly fees. It does not appear that debtor is seeking the extension of exclusivity to pressure creditors. Debtor has an unresolved contingency in litigation of an appeal of an adverse judgment in favor of creditor Second Generation, Inc., which she is prosecuting. Debtor has shown that there is some evidence that time for her to negotiate a plan of reorganization and prepare adequate information and that there is some evidence of good faith progress towards reorganization for the reasons stated in her moving and reply papers, but the motion shows weakness because she does not discuss her specific efforts to negotiate a plan of reorganization with her creditors, including Second Generation (whose counsel stated in his declaration that debtor has not made no effort to negotiate with that creditor, his client), and to collect the amounts owed her by other which she stated was about $1 million. Moreover, the motion shows weakness in debtor failing to discuss in her papers as to how her other personal property assets, including her interest in the Ben Lynn Trust listed in her schedules with a value of $1.4 million, can be utilized in a plan of reorganization. The value of these assets are the majority of debtor's assets, even if it is later determined that the residence is community property, which would mean a one-half interest worth $1.8 million would be part of the estate. These circumstances only warrant another 120 days extension of exclusivity and not to the statutory maximum of 18 months after the petition date as requested in the motion. the court is of the view that debtor should have another limited period of time to exclusively propose a plan, which incorporates her efforts to realize value of her personal property assets and to negotiate terms with her creditors, which

Prior tentative ruling as of 8/20/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 8/21/18.

Prior tentative ruling as of 4/2/18. After reviewing the supplemental papers, the court believes that they are not sufficient to demonstrate the transfer of the subject property was fraudulent, and the court will set a hearing for plaintiff to offer evidence to prove up the fraudulent transfer, such as eyewitness testimony that defendant is continuing to operate his business and otherwise exercise dominion and control over the transferred property to deem it to be his. The court is considering ordering plaintiff to serve defendant with a subpoena to appear at the prove up hearing. Appearances are required on 4/3/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. The court on its own motion is continuing the hearing and status conference to 4/3/18 at 1:30 p.m. for plaintiff to file supplemental briefing to demonstrate that the elements of a claim for fraudulent transfer either under state and/or federal law has been met setting forth the factual basis for the court to grant the motion for default judgment on its claims under 11 U.S.C. 523(a)(2)(A) and (a)(6). #14.00 Hearing re: Motion to dismiss and/or strike adversary complaint pursuant to Fed. Rule Civ. Pro 12(F)

Docket 40

Tentative Ruling:

Grant in part and deny in part defendants' motion to strike as follows: (1) grant motion to strike paragraph 15 and State Bar Decision Exhibit since there is no possible relation of the allegations in paragraph 15 and the exhibit to the claim pleaded and the allegations may cause prejudice to defendant Curtis as impertinent matter, putting her in an unfavorable light, Carolina Casualty Insurance Co. v. Oahu Air Conditioning Service, Inc., 994 F.Supp.2d 1082 (E.D. Cal. 2014); (2) grant motion to strike the so-called "reservation of rights" allegations because such allegations are redundant of rights already preserved in the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure, Solis v. Couturier, 2009 WL 2022343 (E.D. Cal. 2009); (3) deny motion to strike punitive damages allegations since a motion to strike under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(f) is not a proper way for defendants to seek dismissal of a claim based on their dispute with plaintiff's factual allegations, asserting that it was really plaintiff which allegedly pilfered lumber, Whittlestone, Inc. v. Handi-Craft Co., 618 F.3d 970,973-975 (9th Cir. 2010). #15.00 Hearing re: Motion to dismiss adversary complaint pursuant to Fed. Rule Civ. Pro 12(b)(6)

Docket 38

Tentative Ruling:

Deny defendants' motion to dismiss for failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted as follows: (1) deny motion to dismiss as to claim under 11 U.S.C. 502(b) because debtor may object to the validity of defendant's secured claim based on her alleged mechanic's lien under 11 U.S.C. 502 and 506(a) and (d); (2) deny motion to dismiss as to remaining claims since they are sufficiently pleaded, plausible claims (the court agrees with the opposition that the litigation privilege of California Civil Code Section 47 is inapplicable since the lien was not uttered in the context of litigation and a cognizable claim is alleged that no moneys were owed on account of the asserted obligation). #16.00 Hearing re: DBC Corp., Donald Bruce & Company and Gary Bruce Solutions's motion for extension of time to objecting to discharge/dischargeability

Docket 13

Tentative Ruling:

Deny creditors' motion to extend time to file discharge/debt dischargeability actions under FRBP 4004 and 4007. Creditors' moving and reply papers are not supported by evidence, such as declarations under penalty of perjury, as required by Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(c)(3) and (i), and creditors' reply was filed late after the deadline of 7 days before the hearing and will not be considered pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(g) without good cause shown to excuse the late filing. Debtor's opposition to the motion was filed on 9/21/18, more than 21 days before the noticed hearing on 10/16/18, and creditors had until 10/9/18, 7 days before the hearing to file and serve their reply, which was 18 days after service of the opposition and notice of hearing, including electronic and mail service. While creditors' motion to extend time was timely filed, both Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure 4004 and 4007 require a showing of cause, and creditors' moving papers fail to demonstrate adequate cause. Creditors' statement of cause in their moving papers, "Movants will need additional time to review Debtor's case to investigate the veracity and completeness of the Debtor's Petition, Schedules, Statement of Financial Affairs, and testimony given at the Meeting of Creditors" is vague and nonspecific. There are no details of what action that creditors have done to investigate possible claims of discharge denial and debt dischargeability and why such investigation could not be completed on time. Debtor's petition, schedules and statement of financial affairs were filed on 6/21/18, and creditors had 77 days to investigate Debtor's documents and financial affairs before the filing deadline of 9/7/18. Creditors completely fail to explain why this time was insufficient for them to review Debtor's petition documents, complete their investigation and file timely discharge denial and debt dischargeability claims, such as any complexity involved in this case or their investigation. The evidence in Debtor's declaration that creditors and their counsel failed to attend the meeting of creditors is un rebutted since there is no contrary evidence because creditors have not supported their motion with admissible evidence, and the evidence in the record shows that creditors' need to have attended the meeting of creditors before they could file their claims is unsubstantiated. Chapter 11

#1.00 Cont'd hearing re: Motion to dismiss chapter 11 bankruptcy
fr. 9/19/18

Docket 118

Tentative Ruling:

Revised tentative ruling as of 10/17/18. The court retracts its tentative ruling of 10/16/18 because it has authorized debtors to respond orally to the supplemental brief of creditors by time of continued hearing, and to file a written response. Appearances are required on 10/17/18, but the prior tentative ruling on 10/15/18 remains the same.

Updated tentative ruling as of 10/16/18. Debtors filed a surreply brief and request for judicial notice of new matters on 10/15/18, which are not authorized under the court's local rules and for which debtors did not request leave of court to file, and the court will disregard these papers for purposes of the hearing on 10/17/18. Creditors need not respond to debtors' surreply or request for judicial notice at the hearing on 10/17/18, though the court might consider them as debtors' trial brief for the trial that will be set on this contested matter. Otherwise, the court's tentative ruling posted on 10/10/18 will apply.

Prior tentative ruling as of 10/15/18. The court will treat the hearing as a status conference because there are material factual disputes raised by the motion which is a contested matter under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 9014 relating to debtors' good faith in filing this case which require an evidentiary hearing to resolve. The court will schedule an evidentiary hearing at the status conference, and the court requests that counsel appear telephonically rather than appear in person to minimize litigation costs.

Regarding the contentions of debtors, the court is of the view that the motion is not untimely and there is no bar of laches because it seems that at any time in this case, parties in interest can move for dismissal, particularly, preconfirmation, that the motion is not a litigation tactic by creditors to gain advantage in the state court, and that debtors can reorganize and confirm a plan is not an undisputed fact and remains to be seen.

Regarding the contentions of creditors, the court is of the view that debtors could propose a confirmable plan through a combination of income and asset sales, particularly as creditors acknowledge that debtors have property equity of over $1.1 million to fund a plan, that denial of confirmation of the currently proposed plan does not necessarily mean that debtors could not later propose an amended plan that is confirmable, that creditors' opposition to a plan does not necessarily mean that a plan absolutely be confirmed under the cramdown standards of 11 U.S.C. 1129(b), provided that debtors find a way to meet the requirements of the absolute priority rule or qualify for an exemption to the rule, and that whether this is a two-party dispute is a disputed issue of material fact relating to good faith of debtors in filing this case.

If creditors are pressing their motion, the court will ask them for dates for an evidentiary hearing on the disputed material issues of fact, or these issues can be litigated in connection with plan confirmation relating to the disclosure statement and proposed plan now pending.

Appearances are required on 10/17/18, but counsel may and should appear by telephone.

fr. 8/29/18, 9/19/18

Docket 116

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 10/15/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. The court is inclined to trail the hearing on the application to employ until the court rules on creditor's motion to dismiss. Appearances are required on 10/17/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 9/17/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 9/19/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. The court on its own motion continues the hearing on the application to employ special litigation counsel to the date and time of the hearing on creditor's motion to dismiss the bankruptcy case on 9/19/18 at 2:30 p.m. as a status conference on the application. Most likely, creditor's motion to dismiss is a contested matter under FRBP 9014 and may require an evidentiary hearing which the court will set at the hearing on 9/18/18, and the hearing on the employment application will trail the hearing on the motion to dismiss since granting of the motion to dismiss will moot out the application. No appearances are required on 8/29/18. Debtor to notify applicant of the continuance.

THE OFFICIAL COMMITTEE OF UNSECURED CREDITORS OF T v.

#5.00 Cont'd hearing re: Motion for protective order to stay discovery, or in the alternative motion to allow counsel to withdrawal as counsel for Ace Gallery New York corporation fr. 10/3/18

Docket 409

Tentative Ruling:

Deny defendants' motion to protective order to stay discovery for insufficient showing under Keating v. United States, 45 F.3d 322 (9th Cir. 1995) that a stay of proceedings is justified. While defendant Christmas might properly invoke a Fifth Amendment self-incrimination privilege in these civil proceedings, the basis for staying these civil proceedings is significantly diminished because he has not been charged with any crime, that is, there is no pending indictment against him and it is not even clear whether there is any pending criminal investigation against him. General Electric Co. v. Liang, 2014 WL 1089264 (C.D. Cal. 2014). A stay of proceedings will be prejudicial to plan agent and the other parties in litigating these proceedings because the matter is being actively litigated, and delay might well make it difficult to litigate due to lapse of witness memories and unavailability of documentary evidence over time and will slow down and impede the efforts of the plan agent to seek recoveries in litigation to pay creditors under the confirmed reorganization plan. While defendant Christmas may be burdened to invoke the Fifth Amendment privilege in these civil proceedings to avoid testifying or disclosing information which may be used against him in a criminal prosecution, it is permissible to conduct civil proceedings at the same time as a related criminal proceeding in which he may have to invoke the privilege, and indeed, it may be permissible for a trier of fact to draw adverse inferences from the invocation of the Fifth Amendment privilege. Id. Any of Christmas' Fifth Amendment concerns can be addressed during discovery through appropriate objections on a question by question basis and through motions in limine why the trier of fact should not be made aware that he invoked the privilege or should not draw an adverse inference that he has invoked the privilege. Id. The factor of convenience of the court and judicial efficiency weighs against a stay here because the court has an interest in clearing its docket, particularly here where there is no pending indictment and no way to predict when a criminal investigation will end. The court is unaware of any nonparties whose interests would be affected by the court's decision on granting a stay or not. The factor of interest of the public is neutral because while there is a public interest in ensuring that the criminal process is not undermined by civil proceedings, there is a public interest in speedy resolution of a plaintiff's civil claim. Id. On balance, given the lack of a criminal indictment or any information concerning the status or scope of a criminal investigation, the various Keating factors weigh against granting a stay of proceedings here.

Deny alternative motion of counsel for defendants Ace Museum and Ace Gallery New York to withdraw. Since the court is not granting plan agent's request to appoint counsel as the agent for these defendants to respond to discovery, there is no risk of engaging in making disclosures that might incriminate their other client, defendant Christmas, whom they represent in a personal capacity.

#6.00 Hearing re: Plaintiff's motion: (1) to compel defendants Ace Museum Corporation and Ace Gallery New York Corporation to respond to written discovery; and (2) to compel Douglas Christmas to authorize release of Ace Gallery New York Corporation Federal Tax Returns

Tentative Ruling:

Grant motion to compel discovery in part and deny in part. Order defendant Christmas to execute IRS Forms 4506 to release tax returns of defendants Ace Museum and Ace Gallery New York within 10 days since that request is not opposed by defendants and he may be ordered to sign a consent directive to release tax returns. Order defendants Ace Museum and Ace Gallery New York to produce documents in response to plan agent's document production requests within 30 days since defendants do not oppose production of non-privileged documents, but defendants must produce a privilege log if they withhold documents from production to plan agent based on privilege. Order each of defendants Ace Museum and Ace Gallery New York to take action, including appointing an agent, if they can, to fully respond to plan agent's written interrogatories and requests for admission within 30 days, or provide statements under penalty of perjury that it cannot answer because of the Fifth Amendment privilege asserted by the only knowledgeable person or persons and there is no person who can serve as an agent who could gather and obtain from books, records, other officers or employees, or other sources, the information necessary to answer the interrogatories and requests for admission and sign them on behalf of each defendant without risking self-incrimination. City of Chicago v. Reliable Truck Parts Co., Inc., 1992 WL 109049 (N.D. Ill. 1992), objections overruled, 1992 WL 142630 (N.D. Ill. 1992), on remand from, 768 F.Supp. 642 (N.D. Ill. 1991). While counsel for defendants in his declaration described efforts to find a person to serve as an agent for defendants in lieu of defendant Christmas who claims his Fifth Amendment privilege against self-incrimination to respond to the plan agent's discovery, including former accountant Gary Mendelson, former bookkeeper Shirley Holst and defendant Christmas's wife, Jennifer Kellen, the declaration is inadequate because there is no evidence of a statement under penalty of perjury from each defendant that as to each written interrogatory and each request for admission, it cannot answer because of the Fifth Amendment privilege assert by the only knowledgeable person or person and that despite diligent efforts, an appropriate agent who could gather and obtain from books, records, other officers or employees, or other sources, the information necessary to answer the interrogatories and requests for admission and sign them on behalf of each defendant cannot be found. The court declines to grant the plan agent's request to order the appointment of agents for defendants Ace Museum and Ace Gallery New York because it does not appear that any of the suggested persons can be compelled to serve, that is, Mendelson and Holst are former employees, Kellen as Christmas's wife probably has the marital privilege and counsel for defendants have not been shown to have authority to act as agents to respond to discovery aside from their ethical concerns about restrictions on attorneys giving testimony in cases representing clients, California Rule of Professional Conduct 5-720, see also, 2 O'Connell and Stevenson, Rutter Group Practice Guide: Federal Civil Procedure Before Trial, paragraph 11:1170 (2018). While it may be proper for counsel to serve as an agent for purposes of responding to discovery, the plan agent cites no authority showing that the court can compel counsel to so act. The court reserves ruling on whether or not defendants' responses to plan agent's discovery requests are adequate until after defendants have had an opportunity to comply with the court's rulings compelling further responses as set forth in this tentative ruling, and thus, determines that it is premature to rule on the plan agent's request for terminating sanctions at this time.

#10.00 Cont'd status conference re: Management of chapter 11 case
fr. 4/11/18, 7/11/18

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 10/15/18. The court has reviewed debtors' status report. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 10/17/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 7/9/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 7/11/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. The court has reviewed debtor's status report. The proposed claims bar date of 5/15/18 will not be approved since this court generally requires at least 60 days notice to creditors of a claims bar date. The estimated administrative expenses in this case stated in the status report for $250,000 to $350,000 seem high, especially since debtors' budget motion and income and expense statements showing net income of about $1,700 per month do not show that debtors have the ability to afford such expenses. There should be some explanation why the large amount of professional fee expenses estimated in the status report are needed in this case, and how debtors will be able to pay for these expenses (i.e., are they selling their real property to raise funds to pay for these fees). Appearances are required on 4/11/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

fr. 10/10/18

Docket 152

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 10/15/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 10/17/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. The motion of United States Trustee to dismiss or convert is based on somewhat technical violations of the bankruptcy rules and United States Trustee guidelines which have been remedied or can readily be remedied, such as lack of sufficient proof of insurance coverage, late filing of monthly operating reports and incomplete payment of quarterly fees. The court is inclined to continue the hearing on the motion to allow short but reasonable period of time to allow debtor to take corrective action to remedy these readily remediable technical violations.

The required corrective action to address the concerns raised in the motion as attested to by the bankruptcy analyst must include:

1. Proof of insurance coverage, which appears to have been provided now.
2. Prompt payment of any United States Trustee quarterly fees currently due.
3. Complete disclosure of all receipts and disbursements by debtor postpetition on her monthly operating reports, which require amendment of her filed reports. Disclosures must include identification of all receipts of family support payments and all disbursements of any and all funds by her postpetition. Debtor in her opposition to the motion indicates that she would file amended reports, but has not yet done so, which calls to mind the adage that actions speak louder than words.
4. Appropriate use of debtor's DIP bank accounts, including using her general DIP account for most disbursements, and discontinuance of use of the DIP payroll and tax accounts because there does not appear to be a justifiable reason to have these separate DIP accounts apart from the general DIP account.

5. Discontinuance of debtor's use of a community property joint bank account with the nondebtor spouse.

6. Timely filing of future monthly operating reports. The court is of the view that the previous reports have not been late for long periods of time, but debtor's persistent tardiness in filing her reports indicates a dilatory attitude which goes to show that she lacks sufficient motivation to prosecute this case, which may by itself warrant granting relief requested by the United States Trustee.

#23.00 Hearing re: Motion for order setting aside default judgment denying debtor's discharge
FRCP Rule 60

Docket 42

Tentative Ruling:

Deny defendant's motion to set aside default judgment for the reasons stated in the opposing papers. As shown in the opposing papers, plaintiff will be prejudiced by further delay in administration of the estate if he has to litigate the adversary proceeding where there is no defense to the claim asserted in the complaint, namely, defendant willfully removed and concealed property of the estate, namely postpetition rents on the estate's real property, especially in the light of the court's turnover order in December 2017, defendant lacks a meritorious defense to the claim in the complaint since he failed to turnover the postpetition rents as he was required to do under the Bankruptcy Code and the court's turnover order and defendant's culpable conduct led to his default that he failed to timely respond to the complaint after the last extension to respond expired. Falk v. Allen, 739 F.2d 461, 463 (9th Cir. 1984). Appearances are required on 10/23/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Docket 260

Tentative Ruling:

Grant trustee's motion objecting to claim of John C. Frick for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition in that the claim is for postpetition professional services to debtor then in possession by a professional whose employment was not authorized by the court pursuant to the Bankruptcy Code. The court notes that while claimant filed a notice of withdrawal on 10/19/18 after the objection was filed, claimant filed a notice of lodgment of civil judgment and notice of lien, which appears to be an amended secured claim.

Docket 38

Tentative Ruling:

Revised tentative ruling as of 10/22/18. Grant in part and deny in part defendants' motion to dismiss plaintiff's first amended complaint as follows:

Deny motion to dismiss the first claim for relief as to the allegation that none of the defendants has a lien on the property pursuant to the original deed of trust or otherwise, but grant motion to dismiss with prejudice the first claim for relief as to the other allegations since plaintiff fails to state a plausible claim as to these allegations.

Deny motion to dismiss the second claim for relief because plaintiff states a plausible claim for relief.

Grant motion to dismiss the third claim for relief with prejudice because plaintiff fails to state a plausible claim. The allegations contain the same deficiencies as the original complaint that the alleged acts were not directed to plaintiff or have not occurred, but may be future acts.

Order defendant to serve and file an answer to the undismissed claims of the first amended complaint within 14 days.

#32.00 Cont'd hearing re: Motion for redemption of 2013 Nissan Versa under 11 U.S.C. 722 fr. 9/11/18

Docket 9

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 10/22/18. Treat motion to redeem property as a contested matter under FRBP 9014 because there are disputed issues of material fact regarding valuation of the subject property between debtor's valuation of $2,484 and lender's Kelley Blue Book valuation of $7,217. The court will treat the hearing on 10/23/18 as a status and trial setting conference and will set the matter for trial, which should be brief, 1 or 2 hours. The parties are to advise the court whether they will call witnesses for trial. Presumably, debtor will call herself as a witness, and the lender may have a live witness or may submit on the Kelley Blue Book valuation under FRE 803(17) (if so, debtor should advise whether she objects to lender's KBB valuation). Appearances are required on 10/23/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. Deny debtor's motion to redeem personal property without prejudice because of procedural defects in motion: (1) the property to be redeemed is not listed on Schedules A/B, which lists a 2011 Nissan Versa with 91,000 miles whereas the motion for redemption lists a 2013 Nissan Versa with 81,000 miles (either the car to be redeemed is not listed on the schedules or the schedules are wrong and must be amended - movant needs to explain why the mileage is now less on the subsequently filed motion than on the schedules); (2) the property to be redeemed is not listed on Schedule C as exempt property, 11 U.S.C. 522 and 722, nor is the property shown to be abandoned, 11 U.S.C. 522 and 554; (3) the replacement value opinion of $2,284 purportedly based on Edmunds.com, apparently unauthenticated hearsay, is not supported by competent admissible evidence of valuation - Craig Stone, the "redemption specialist", has not been shown to be a qualified valuation expert witness, whose valuation is based on scientifically validated valuation principles, and the same is true for debtor as the owner of

#17.00 Cont'd status conference re: Motion of debtor to assume lease
fr. 10/3/18, 10/9/18

Docket 67

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 10/22/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 10/24/18 to discuss the status of the matter before trial, but counsel may and should appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 10/5/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 10/9/18 to discuss the status of the matter before trial, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Revised tentative ruling as of 10/1/18 at 6:00 p.m.:

Treat motion to assume lease as a contested matter under FRBP 9014 because there are disputed issues of material fact that may require an evidentiary hearing to resolve (including debtor's status as tenant in fact as opposed to being listed on the lease, whether landlord validly invoked the recapture provisions of the lease, whether debtor has the ability to perform the lease if assumed) and treat hearing as a status conference to schedule further pretrial and trial proceedings. See In re Gentile Family Industries, 2014 WL 4091001 (9th Cir. BAP 2014)(acknowledging but not deciding whether the Ninth Circuit's decision in In re G.I. Industries, Inc., 204 F.3d 1276 (9th Cir. 2000), citing In re Orion Pictures Corp., 4 F.3d 1095 (2nd Cir. 1993), should be broadly or narrowly construed; see also, In re Miller, 2016 WL 1316763 (Bankr. D. Mont. 2016)(narrowly construing G.I. Industries to rejection of an executory contract or lease). The court is inclined to agree with Debtor that the applicable rule is the two-step analysis for determining whether a lease may be assumed under 11 U.S.C. 365 set forth in In re Waterkist Corp. 775 F.2d 1089 (9th Cir. 1985) and In re Windmill Farms, Inc., 841 F.2d 1467 (9th Cir. 1988). Landlord argues that G.I. Industries, following Orion Pictures, having a circumscribed view of the analysis of a motion to assume or reject a contract applies here, but that would mean that G.I. Industries impliedly overruled the two-part rule in Waterkist Corp. Landlord argues that G.I. Industries governs because it is a later pronouncement by the circuit, but that may not be right because it generally takes an en banc panel decision to overrule the case precedent of a prior circuit panel and arguably, the two-part rule involves a narrow, specific issue of lease assumption rather than general issue of assumption or rejection of executory contracts, and thus, the specific takes precedence over the general. The court hesitates to reach a conclusion on whether Waterkist was overruled by G.I. Industries in some fashion since this has not been adequately briefed by the parties and the court's research is preliminary and incomplete. However, the state of the case law in the circuit may be in flux as shown by the BAP's unpublished decision in Gentile Family Industries referring both to G.I. Industries and Windmill Farms, but not to the two-rule rule specifically. Since the motion for the assumption of the lease is important to the parties, and perhaps decisive of debtor's reorganization prospects, it makes sense to decide the motion in a contested matter to resolve factual issues. The court understands Landlord prefers deciding the contract dispute issues in state court as indicated in its stay relief and remand motions, but it seems that the court has jurisdiction to decide such issues in a contested matter or adversary proceeding related to lease assumption. The court's approach in In re Belasco Unlimited Corp., No. 2:14-bk-26546-BR Chapter 11 (Bankr. C.D. Cal., findings of fact and conclusions of law after evidentiary hearing on motion to assume lease, filed and entered on April 8, 2015) is illustrative and is consistent with the holding in Gentile Family Industries.

Objection #16 (48:14-18): Sustain as to sentence, "As set forth above, the Debtor's financial problems were precipitated, in-part, by the Landlord's demand and actions to prematurely and improperly terminate the Lease." - improper opinion. Sustain as to sentences, "However, Debtor is operating profitably. Attached as 'Exhibit 14 hereto is the Debtor's projection of income and expenses through September 30, 2023. These projections show that the Debtor can satisfy its future obligations under the Lease." - lack of foundation.

The court comments that Mr. Nathan's improper opinions are disguised arguments which are not relevant and best left to counsel in briefing and that Debtor will need to provide a factual foundation for Mr. Nathan's testimony about the preparation of the Debtor's financial projections (i.e., describing who made the projections, what data was relied upon for the projections and what reasonable assumptions were made for such projections).

Appearances are required on 10/3/18 to discuss scheduling of further proceedings, but counsel may appear by telephone.

D. Mont. 2016)(narrowly construing G.I. Industries to rejection of an executory contract or lease). The court is inclined to agree with Debtor that the applicable rule is the two-step analysis for determining whether a lease may be assumed under 11 U.S.C. 365 set forth in In re Waterkist Corp. 775 F.2d 1089 (9th Cir. 1985) and In re Windmill Farms, Inc., 841 F.2d 1467 (9th Cir. 1988). Landlord argues that G.I. Industries, following Orion Pictures, having a circumscribed view of the analysis of a motion to assume or reject a contract applies here, but that would mean that G.I. Industries impliedly overruled the two-part rule in Waterkist Corp. Landlord argues that G.I. Industries governs because it is a later pronouncement by the circuit, but that may not be right because it generally takes an en banc panel decision to overrule the case precedent of a prior circuit panel and arguably, the two-part rule involves a narrow, specific issue of lease assumption rather than general issue of assumption or rejection of executory contracts, and thus, the specific takes precedence over the general. The court hesitates to reach a conclusion on whether Waterkist was overruled by G.I. Industries in some fashion since this has not been adequately briefed by the parties and the court's research is preliminary and incomplete. However, the state of the case law in the circuit may be in flux as shown by the BAP's unpublished decision in Gentile Family Industries referring both to G.I. Industries and Windmill Farms, but not to the two-rule rule specifically. Since the motion for the assumption of the lease is important to the parties, and perhaps decisive of debtor's reorganization prospects, it makes sense to decide the motion in a contested matter to resolve factual issues. The court understands Landlord prefers deciding the contract dispute issues in state court as indicated in its stay relief and remand motions, but it seems that the court has jurisdiction to decide such issues in a contested matter or adversary proceeding related to lease assumption. The court's approach in In re Belasco Unlimited Corp., No. 2:14-bk-26546-BR Chapter 11 (Bankr. C.D. Cal., findings of fact and conclusions of law after evidentiary hearing on motion to assume lease, filed and entered on April 8, 2015) is illustrative and is consistent with the holding in Gentile Family Industries.

Objection #12 (44:13-16): Sustain - improper opinion.

Objection #13 (44:17-21): Sustain - improper opinion.

Objection #14 (44:22-26): Sustain - improper opinion.

Objection #15 (46:21-47:2): Sustain - improper opinion.

Objection #16 (48:14-18): Sustain as to sentence, "As set forth above, the Debtor's financial problems were precipitated, in-part, by the Landlord's demand and actions to prematurely and improperly terminate the Lease." - improper opinion. Sustain as to sentences, "However, Debtor is operating profitably. Attached as 'Exhibit 14 hereto is the Debtor's projection of income and expenses through September 30, 2023. These projections show that the Debtor can satisfy its future obligations under the Lease." - lack of foundation.

The court comments that Mr. Nathan's improper opinions are disguised arguments which are not relevant and best left to counsel in briefing and that Debtor will need to provide a factual foundation for Mr. Nathan's testimony about the preparation of the Debtor's financial projections (i.e., describing who made the projections, what data was relied upon for the projections and what reasonable assumptions were made for such projections).

The courts in the Ninth Circuit have identified various factors relevant to determining whether the automatic stay should be lifted to allow a creditor to continue pending litigation in a non-bankruptcy forum pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1). In re Plumberex Specialty Products, Inc., 311 B.R. 551, 557-561 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2004), citing inter alia, In re Curtis, 40 B.R. 795, 799-800 (Bankr. D. Utah 1984). As stated by the court in Plumberex, these factors are closely related to those that a bankruptcy court must consider in deciding to exercise permissive abstention under 28 U.S.C. §1334(c)(1). 311 B.R. at 558 and n. 13, citing inter alia, In re Tucson Estates, Inc., 912 F.2d 1162, 1167 (9th Cir. 1990). The twelve permissive abstention/stay relief factors set forth by the Ninth Circuit in Tucson Estates which this court normally considers are:

1. The effect or lack thereof on the efficient administration of the estate if a court recommends remand. This factor does not favor stay relief. Debtor's lease is one of the primary assets of its estate, and the leased premises are Debtor's principal place of business where most of its assets are located. Debtor intends to file a motion to assume the lease under 11 U.S.C. §365, which will have a major impact on Debtor's prospects for reorganization in this case, and in order for the court to determine the lease assumption motion, the court will have to make the determinations of the not yet judicially determined issues of state law of the validity of the lease termination by Landlord and any claim of relief from lease forfeiture by Debtor, which are intertwined with the lease assumption motion issues. In re Art and Architecture Books of the 21st Century, No. 2:13-bk-14135-RK Chapter 11 (Bankr. C.D. Cal., statement of decision filed on April 15, 2013), citing, In re Turbowind, Inc., 42 B.R. 579, 583 (Bankr. S.D. Cal. 1984). This bankruptcy court has authority to decide the state law issues of validity of lease termination and lease forfeiture relief. Id., citing, In re Windmill Farms, Inc., 841 F.2d 1467, 1468-1474 (9th Cir. 1988); see also, Matter of Escondido West Travelodge, 52 B.R. 376, 382 (S.D. Cal. 1985). The Landlord's unlawful detainer action for which stay relief is sought concerns the estate's leasehold interest, and Debtor's ability to assume the lease and continue its business operations would be affected by the outcome of that action.

2. The extent to which state law issues predominate over bankruptcy issues. This factor favors stay relief because the removed unlawful detainer action of Landlord was initially filed in state court and is based on a state law claim, though Debtor plans to litigate bankruptcy claims under to 11 U.S.C. §§ 365, 541, 547 and 548 related to Landlord's state law claim.

3. The difficulty or unsettled nature of the applicable law. This factor is neutral because the Landlord's unlawful detainer action does not involve law which is difficult or unsettled in nature.

4. The presence of a related proceeding commenced in state court or other non-bankruptcy court. This factor favors stay relief because Landlord's unlawful detainer action was filed in state court and a trial date was set in that action, though the court notes Debtor's argument that there are no longer proceedings in state court due to the removal. Security Farms v. International Brotherhood of Teamsters, etc., 124 F.3d 999, 1010 (9th Cir.

Chapter 11

5. The jurisdictional basis, if any, other than 28 U.S.C. § 1334. This factor favors stay relief because Landlord's unlawful detainer is noncore. The Ninth Circuit observed that if a proceeding does not invoke a substantive right created by federal bankruptcy law and if it could exist outside of bankruptcy, it is noncore. In re Eastport Associates, 935 F.2d 1071, 1076 (9th Cir. 1991). (Landlord has not filed a proof of claim which would be a core proceeding relating to the same substantive claim. In re Thorpe Insulation Co., 671 F.3d 1011, 1021 (9th Cir. 2012). See also, Schultze v. Chandler, 765 F.3d 945, 950-951 (9th Cir. 2014)(state law claim against estate professional arising in case under Bankruptcy Code was core proceeding)). Landlord's unlawful detainer action could exist outside of bankruptcy, and are thus noncore, and thus, the court exercises only its "related to" jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. § 1334 to determine Debtor's motion to assume the lease pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 365 and its claims pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §§ 541, 547 and 548.

6. The degree of relatedness or remoteness of the proceeding to the main bankruptcy case. This factor does not favor stay relief because if Debtor is not able to assume the lease, Debtor will not be able to reorganize.

7. The substance rather than form of an asserted "core" proceeding. This factor favors stay relief. Landlord's unlawful detainer action as stated above is noncore. However, as also noted above, the outcome of the unlawful detainer action which is related to the lease will have substantial impact on the outcome of Debtor's efforts to reorganize in this Chapter 11 bankruptcy case.

8. The feasibility of severing state law claims from core bankruptcy matters to allow judgments to be entered in state court with enforcement left to the bankruptcy court. This factor does not favor stay relief because the unlawful detainer action and the bankruptcy law matter of lease assumption are interrelated.

9. The burden on the bankruptcy court's docket. This factor is neutral.

10. The likelihood that the commencement of the proceeding in bankruptcy court involves forum shopping by one of the parties. This factor favors stay relief because arguably, Debtor is engaging in forum shopping because that it removed the unlawful detainer action to this court after a trial was set in state court in that action.

11. The existence of a right to a jury trial. This factor does not favor stay relief. Landlord does not have a right to jury trial on its unlawful detainer action or on Debtor's intended lease assumption motion.

12. The presence in the proceeding of nondebtor parties. This factor does not favor stay relief since Debtor and Landlord are the only parties involved in these actions.

In weighing the various stay relief factors, the court is inclined to deny the remand motions under the circumstances of this case because the resolution of the unlawful detainer action will substantially impact Debtor's ability to effectively reorganize and that litigation of the removed action and related bankruptcy claims of lease assumption and transfer avoidance can and should be litigated in a single forum to effectuate the purposes of the Bankruptcy Code which include "[c]entralization of disputes concerning a debtor's legal obligations" and "protecting creditors and reorganizing debtors from piecemeal litigation." In re Thorpe Insulation Co., 671 F.3d at 1022-1023.

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 10/22/18. No tentative ruling will be issued for the evidentiary hearing. Appearances are required on 10/26/18 if the hearing is not concluded on 10/25/18.

Revised tentative ruling as of 10/1/18 at 6:00 p.m.:

Treat motion to assume lease as a contested matter under FRBP 9014 because there are disputed issues of material fact that may require an evidentiary hearing to resolve (including debtor's status as tenant in fact as opposed to being listed on the lease, whether landlord validly invoked the recapture provisions of the lease, whether debtor has the ability to perform the lease if assumed) and treat hearing as a status conference to schedule further pretrial and trial proceedings. See In re Gentile Family Industries, 2014 WL 4091001 (9th Cir. BAP 2014)(acknowledging but not deciding whether the Ninth Circuit's decision in *In re G.I. decision to overrule the case precedent of a prior circuit panel and arguably, the two-part rule involves a narrow, specific issue of lease assumption rather than general issue of assumption or rejection of executory contracts, and thus, the specific takes precedence over the general. The court hesitates to reach a conclusion on whether Waterkist was overruled by G.I. Industries in some fashion since this has not been adequately briefed by the parties and the court's research is preliminary and incomplete. However, the state of the case law in the circuit may be in flux as shown by the BAP's unpublished decision in Gentile Family Industries referring both to G.I. Industries and Windmill Farms, but not to the two-rule rule specifically. Since the motion for the assumption of the lease is important to the parties, and perhaps decisive of debtor's reorganization prospects, it makes sense to decide the motion in a contested matter to resolve factual issues. The court understands Landlord prefers deciding the contract dispute issues in state court as indicated in its stay relief and remand motions, but it seems that the court has jurisdiction to decide such issues in a contested matter or adversary proceeding related to lease assumption. The court's approach in In re Belasco Unlimited Corp., No. 2:14-bk-26546-BR Chapter 11 (Bankr. C.D. Cal., findings of fact and conclusions of law after evidentiary hearing on motion to assume lease, filed and entered on April 8, 2015) is illustrative and is consistent with the holding in Gentile Family Industries.

Objection #11 (43:21-23): Sustain as to phrase "and gave express consent for the Debtor to possess and operate at the Premises under the Lease" - improper opinion, otherwise overrule.

Objection #12 (44:13-16): Sustain - improper opinion.

Objection #13 (44:17-21): Sustain - improper opinion.

Objection #14 (44:22-26): Sustain - improper opinion.

Objection #15 (46:21-47:2): Sustain - improper opinion.

Objection #16 (48:14-18): Sustain as to sentence, "As set forth above, the Debtor's financial problems were precipitated, in-part, by the Landlord's demand and actions to prematurely and improperly terminate the Lease." - improper opinion. Sustain as to sentences, "However, Debtor is operating profitably. Attached as 'Exhibit 14 hereto is the Debtor's projection of income and expenses through September 30, 2023. These projections show that the Debtor can satisfy its future obligations under the Lease." - lack of foundation.

The court comments that Mr. Nathan's improper opinions are disguised arguments which are not relevant and best left to counsel in briefing and that Debtor will need to provide a factual foundation for Mr. Nathan's testimony about the preparation of the Debtor's financial projections (i.e., describing who made the projections, what data was relied upon for the projections and what reasonable assumptions were made for such projections).

The courts in the Ninth Circuit have identified various factors relevant to determining whether the automatic stay should be lifted to allow a creditor to continue pending litigation in a non-bankruptcy forum pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1). In re Plumberex Specialty Products, Inc., 311 B.R. 551, 557-561 (Bankr. As stated by the court in Plumberex, these factors are closely related to those that a bankruptcy court must consider in deciding to exercise permissive abstention under 28 U.S.C. §1334(c)(1). 311 B.R. at 558 and n. 13, citing inter alia, In re Tucson Estates, Inc., 912 F.2d 1162, 1167 (9th Cir. 1990). The twelve permissive abstention/stay relief factors set forth by the Ninth Circuit in Tucson Estates which this court normally considers are:

1. The effect or lack thereof on the efficient administration of the estate if a court recommends remand. This factor does not favor stay relief. Debtor's lease is one of the primary assets of its estate, and the leased premises are Debtor's principal place of business where most of its assets are located. Debtor intends to file a motion to assume the lease under 11 U.S.C. §365, which will have a major impact on Debtor's prospects for reorganization in this case, and in order for the court to determine the lease assumption motion, the court will have to make the determinations of the not yet judicially determined issues of state law of the validity of the lease termination by Landlord and any claim of relief from lease forfeiture by Debtor, which are intertwined with the lease assumption motion issues. In re Art and Architecture Books of the 21st Century, No. 2:13-bk-14135-RK Chapter 11 (Bankr. C.D. Cal., statement of decision filed on April 15, 2013), citing, In re Turbowind, Inc., 42 B.R. 579, 583 (Bankr. S.D. Cal. 1984). This bankruptcy court has authority to decide the state law issues of validity of lease termination and lease forfeiture relief. Id., citing, In re Windmill Farms, Inc., 841 F.2d 1467, 1468-1474 (9th Cir. 1988); see also, Matter of Escondido West Travelodge, 52 B.R. 376, 382 (S.D. Cal. 1985). The Landlord's unlawful detainer action for which stay relief is sought concerns the estate's leasehold interest, and Debtor's ability to assume the lease and continue its business operations would be affected by the outcome of that action.

2. The extent to which state law issues predominate over bankruptcy issues. This factor favors stay relief because the removed unlawful detainer action of Landlord was initially filed in state court and is based on a state law claim, though Debtor plans to litigate bankruptcy claims under to 11 U.S.C. §§ 365, 541, 547 and 548 related to Landlord's state law claim.

3. The difficulty or unsettled nature of the applicable law. This factor is neutral because the Landlord's unlawful detainer action does not involve law which is difficult or unsettled in nature.

4. The presence of a related proceeding commenced in state court or other non-bankruptcy court. This factor favors stay relief because Landlord's unlawful detainer action was filed in state court and a trial date was set in that action, though the court notes Debtor's argument that there are no longer proceedings in state court due to the removal. Security Farms v. International Brotherhood of Teamsters, etc., 124 F.3d 999, 1010 (9th Cir.

5. The jurisdictional basis, if any, other than 28 U.S.C. § 1334. This factor favors stay relief because Landlord's unlawful detainer is noncore. The Ninth Circuit observed that if a proceeding does not invoke a substantive right created by federal bankruptcy law and if it could exist outside of bankruptcy, it is noncore. In re Eastport Associates, 935 F.2d 1071, 1076 (9th Cir. 1991). (Landlord has not filed a proof of claim which would be a core proceeding relating to the same substantive claim. In re Thorpe Insulation Co., 671 F.3d 1011, 1021 (9th Cir. 2012). See also, Schultze v. Chandler, 765 F.3d 945, 950-951 (9th Cir. 2014)(state law claim against estate professional arising in case under Bankruptcy Code was core proceeding)). Landlord's unlawful detainer action could exist outside of bankruptcy, and are thus noncore, and thus, the court exercises only its "related to" jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. § 1334 to determine Debtor's motion to assume the lease pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 365 and its claims pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §§ 541, 547 and 548.

6. The degree of relatedness or remoteness of the proceeding to the main bankruptcy case. This factor does not favor stay relief because if Debtor is not able to assume the lease, Debtor will not be able to reorganize.

7. The substance rather than form of an asserted "core" proceeding. This factor favors stay relief. Landlord's unlawful detainer action as stated above is noncore. However, as also noted above, the outcome of the unlawful detainer action which is related to the lease will have substantial impact on the outcome of Debtor's efforts to reorganize in this Chapter 11 bankruptcy case.

8. The feasibility of severing state law claims from core bankruptcy matters to allow judgments to be entered in state court with enforcement left to the bankruptcy court. This factor does not favor stay relief because the unlawful detainer action and the bankruptcy law matter of lease assumption are interrelated.

9. The burden on the bankruptcy court's docket. This factor is neutral.

10. The likelihood that the commencement of the proceeding in bankruptcy court involves forum shopping by one of the parties. This factor favors stay relief because arguably, Debtor is engaging in forum shopping because that it removed the unlawful detainer action to this court after a trial was set in state court in that action.

11. The existence of a right to a jury trial. This factor does not favor stay relief. Landlord does not have a right to jury trial on its unlawful detainer action or on Debtor's intended lease assumption motion.

12. The presence in the proceeding of nondebtor parties. This factor does not favor stay relief since Debtor and Landlord are the only parties involved in these actions.

In weighing the various stay relief factors, the court is inclined to deny the remand motions under the circumstances of this case because the resolution of the unlawful detainer action will substantially impact Debtor's ability to effectively reorganize and that litigation of the removed action and related bankruptcy claims of lease assumption and transfer avoidance can and should be litigated in a single forum to effectuate the purposes of the Bankruptcy Code which include "[c]entralization of disputes concerning a debtor's legal obligations" and "protecting creditors and reorganizing debtors from piecemeal litigation." In re Thorpe Insulation Co., 671 F.3d at 1022-1023.

#1.00 TRIAL RE: Motion for relief from stay
(US Bank National Association VS Debtor)
fr. 6/19/18, 8/22/18, 9/19/18

Docket 30

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 10/29/18. Although the court has not received evidence for the hearing on the creditor's stay relief motion, the court has reviewed the papers submitted by the parties, including the trial declarations of the witnesses called by the parties. Tentatively, the court is of the opinion that the stay relief motion should be denied because there is a sufficient equity cushion over 20% based on valuation of movant's appraiser at $1.1 million (or $1.4 million of debtor's appraiser) and movant's secured claim of roughly $800,000, so that movant is adequately protected. In re Mellor, 734 F.2d 1396 (9th Cir. 1984). The court does not see this as a bad faith case and does not believe that In re Walter, 108 B.R. 244 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1989) controls or is persuasive under the facts of this case. Debtor was victimized by its manager who defrauded debtor and converted debtor's assets of rent income and equity from the subject real property as determined by the state court, and debtor now wants to realize value from the remaining equity to pay creditors and itself, which does not indicate bad faith. The fact that debtor could not post appellate bond from the adverse decision of the state court on its claim against movant is not dispositive. However, having said this, debtor must pay off the movant's lien because movant has a secured claim despite debtor's characterization of movant not being its creditor, which characterization is besides the point as shown by the state court's dismissal of debtor's case against movant with prejudice. It appears that debtor will be able to produce some evidence that its plan could be confirmed by a reasonable bankruptcy judge to warrant denial of stay relief. In re Bonner Mall Partnership, 2 F.3d 899, 902 n. 4 (9th Cir. 1993). However, this would be for debtor to sell the real property to realize value to pay creditors, given the valuation opinions of the parties' appraisers, but not through the income of debtor from renting the subject property or from capital infusions from its insider, for which there is insufficient substantiation (debtor's evidence of outside resources to fund a plan is not credible). Thus, the court would be inclined to deny stay relief in order for debtor to promptly market and sell the property through a plan or in a sale under 11 U.S.C. 363. Appearances are required on 10/31/18.

Prior tentative ruling as of 9/17/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 9/19/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 8/20/18. The court has reviewed the supplemental pleading filed by movant with the state court's order in debtor's quiet title action, sustaining the demurrers, but with leave to amend. The court is inclined to continue the hearing on the stay relief motion with consent of movant or deny the motion without prejudice, pending the state court's sua sponte motion to dismiss the quiet title action set for hearing on 10/3/18 at 9:30 a.m. The hearing on the stay relief motion will be continued to after the state court hearing on the motion to dismiss with movant's consent or denied without prejudice. Alternatively, the court can set an evidentiary hearing on this contested matter regarding movant's stay relief claims. Appearances are required on 8/22/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. Treat as a contested matter under FRBP 9014 because there are disputed material issues of fact regarding whether cause is shown for lack of adequate protection and lack of good faith since movant has not met its burden of proof regarding debtor has insufficient equity in the subject property under 11 U.S.C. 362(g)(1) because its valuation evidence regarding equity is inadmissible and the circumstances indicating that debtor was the victim of fraudulent conduct and is pursuing legal action to vindicate its rights to reorganize and pay creditors. Although the court may not be able to take judicial notice of the declaration of the appraiser filed in the state court case, the court will accord sufficient time for debtor to obtain and filed a declaration regarding valuation in this case, and likewise, for movant as well. The court will also afford the parties an opportunity to present evidence on good faith, which will necessarily entail debtor's prospects for successfully reorganizing and obtaining plan confirmation in this case. See In re Bonner Mall Partnership, 2 F.3d 899, 902 n. 4 (9th Cir. 1993). The case of In re Walter, 108 B.R. 244 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1989) does not necessarily dictate a finding of

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 10/29/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 10/31/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 9/17/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 9/19/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

No updated tentative ruling as of 8/20/18. Appearances are required on 8/22/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. The court has reviewed debtor's status report. The claims bar date should be at least 60 days from the date of notice of bar date to creditors, so 6/1/18 is not appropriate. Otherwise, no tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 4/25/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

fr. 8/21/18, 10/2/18

Docket 200

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 11/5/18. Approve the second interim fee application of special litigation counsel for trustee for the reasons stated in the fee application and for lack of timely written objection. The court notes that the notice of hearing on the application stated that copies of the fee application can be reviewed at the Bankruptcy Court in Woodland Hills. In the future, applicant should indicate that the further applications can be reviewed at the Bankruptcy Court in Los Angeles since this is a Los Angeles Division bankruptcy case. Appearances are optional on 11/6/18, but counsel may appear by telephone. Applicant to submit a proposed order within 7 days of hearing.

Prior tentative ruling as of 10/1/18. There are a number of block billed entries by applicant. Block billing lumps together multiple tasks, making it impossible to evaluate their reasonableness. Role Models America, Inc. v. Brownlee, 353 F.3d 962, 971 (D.C. Cir. 2004). The court has authority to reduce hours that are billed in block format. Welch v. Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., 480 F.3d 942, 948 (9th Cir. 2007). If applicant wishes to be compensated for the services which have been block billed, it will need to "unblock" the block billed entries and list out the time for each task performed. The blocked billed entries are: Exhibit 3, page 24: 11/6/17, 1.3 hours; Exhibit 3, page 25: 11/9/18, 2.8 hours, 11/13/17, 1.2 hours, 11/14/17, 1.4 hours; Exhibit 3, page 38, 3/29/18, 2.6 hours; Exhibit 3, page 41, 4/6/18, 2.2 hours, 4/8/18, 2.7 hours, 4/8/18, 2.8 hours, 4/9/18, 5.6 hours; Exhibit 3, page 42, 4/11/18, 3.8 hours, 4/18/18, 4.8 hours, 4/20/18, 2.8 hours; Exhibit 3, page 43, 4/24/18, 6.2 hours, 4/25/18, 3.9 hours, Exhibit 3, page 44, 4/26/18, 7.4 hours. Chapter 7

Prior tentative ruling. The court has attempted to review the interim fee application, but cannot complete its review because a number of the billing entries have been redacted on grounds of privilege. The court will not rule upon the fee application unless and until applicant submits an unredacted version of the fee application, which it may do so in camera. The court will continue the hearing for 6 weeks, 2 weeks for applicant to submit an unreacted version of the fee application and 4 weeks for the court to review, considering there are over 50 pages of billing entries. Applicant must submit the unredacted version of the billing entries by 9/4/18, and the hearing is continued on the court's own motion to 10/2/18 at 2:30 p.m. No appearances are required on 8/20/18.

#9.00 Cont'd status conference re: Complaint for the avoidance and recovery of fraudulent transfers
fr. 6/19/18, 9/18/18

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 11/5/18. The court has reviewed the joint status report, stating that the parties are settling and requesting a continuance of the status conference to late January 2019. The court on its own motion continues the status conference to 1/29/19 at 1:30 p.m. Counsel for plaintiff to give notice. No appearances are required on 11/6/18.

Prior tentative ruling. The court has reviewed the joint status report. Because the parties have not had their LBR 7026-1 conference and the adversary proceeding is not yet at issue since defendants have not answered the complaint, the court is inclined to continue the status conference until after the extended response date of 7/16/18 so that the responses to the complaint can be filed. fr. 6/19/18, 9/18/18

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 11/5/18. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status report, stating that plaintiff intends to file a motion for default judgment and requesting a continuance of the status conference to late January 2019. The court on its own motion continues the status conference to 1/29/19 at 1:30 p.m. Counsel for trustee to give notice if required because any defendant has appeared. No appearances are required on 11/6/18.

Prior tentative ruling. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status report. Because default has been entered against defendant and plaintiff has represented that it intends to file a motion for default judgment shortly, the court on its own motion continues the status conference for about 60 days to 11/6/18 at 1:30 p.m. so plaintiff can file its motion for default judgment. No appearances are required on 9/18/18.

Prior tentative ruling. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status report. Updated tentative ruling as of 11/5/18. The court has reviewed the joint status report, stating that the parties are settling and requesting a continuance of the status conference to late January 2019. The court on its own motion continues the status conference to 1/29/19 at 1:30 p.m. Counsel for plaintiff to give notice. No appearances are required on 11/6/18.

Prior tentative ruling as of 9/17/18. Off calendar. The court has reviewed the joint status report representing that the parties have been engaged in informal discovery and settlement discussions and requesting a continuance of the status conference to 11/6/18 at 1:30 p.m. so the parties can continue these discussions. The court on its own motion continues the status conference to 11/6/18 at 1:30 p.m. An updated joint status report is due on 10/30/18. No appearances are required on 9/18/18.

Prior tentative ruling. The court has reviewed the joint status report of some parties and the unilateral status report of defendant VC Sales and Services, LLC. Because the parties have not had their LBR 7026-1 conference and the adversary proceeding is not yet at issue since certain defendants have not answered the complaint and one defendant, VC Sales and Services, LLC, has not timely responded to the complaint (however, this defendant contends that service was not proper), the court is inclined to continue the status conference until after the extended response date of 7/16/18 so that the responses to the complaint can be filed by defendants who have extensions of time to respond to the complaint and that plaintiff can request entry of default against the defendant which has not timely responded to the complaint, or that defendant's motion to set aside default can be heard. #17.00 Cont'd status conference re: Adversary complaint for declaratory relief
fr. 8/21/18

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Updated and revised tentative ruling as of 11/6/18. Off calendar. Continued by stipulation and order to 3/5/19 at 1:30 p.m. No appearances are required on 11/6/18.

Prior tentative ruling as of 11/5/18. The court has reviewed the joint status report. The court tends to agree with plaintiff and defendant Trinh that a determination of whether the estate has an interest in the subject property first would be a more efficient use of litigation resources as that seems to be a straightforward issue. Deciding this issue is a threshold issue for Second Generation's fraudulent transfer claims, and the parties would not have to litigate these claims if the assets were plaintiff's separate property. Appearances are required on 11/6/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Updated tentative ruling as of 11/5/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 11/6/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

No tentative ruling as of 8/20/18. The court intends to advance the related matters on the court's 2:30 p.m. calendar to be heard with the status conference. However, the status conference will be conducted at the end of the 1:30 p.m. for matters in other cases to be called first. Appearances are required on 8/21/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Chapter 7

#20.00 Cont'd hearing re: Second interim application for fees and reimbursement of costs of Dumas & Kim, APC., counsel for trustee fr. 10/2/18

Docket 481

Tentative Ruling:

Revised tentative ruling as of 11/6/18. Deny without prejudice. The court is not inclined to approve applicant's large fee request of $387,101.57 in this Chapter 7 bankruptcy case while there is no indication when and how the case will be closed and distributions will be made to general creditors, that there is no indication that there will be any meaningful dividend to general creditors, the firm has already received a large interim fee payment of $450,000 already in this case and it appears that the lion's share of the assets of the estate is going to pay the firm's fees. See In re Scoggins, 517 B.R. 206, 221 and n. 13 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 2014)("One may ask what is the harm in a disproportionate trustee or professional fee if nobody objects? The harm is the loss of public confidence in the integrity of the bankruptcy system if it comes to be regarded as managed primarily for the benefit of those who operate it."), citing and quoting R.R. Palmer, A History of the Modern World at 44 (Knopf 1963)("The [14th Century] Church faced the danger that besets every successful institution--a form of government, an army or navy, a business corporation, a labor union, a university, to choose modern examples--the danger of believing that the institution exists for the benefit of those who conduct its affairs."). The impression here is with this application, only the professionals are benefiting from the estate with no prospect of creditor distributions in sight. Farfan the buyer for debtor's property, motion for leave of court to file negligent complaint against debtor's former attorney Anerio Altman

Docket 353

Tentative Ruling:

Deny debtor's motion for leave to file claims in civil court against certain parties because there is no authority showing that leave of court is required since the court has not issued a prefiling order restricting debtor from filing lawsuits under the standards of Ringgold-Lockhart v. County of Los Angeles, 761 F.3d 1057 (9th Cir. 2014). The court does not pass on the merits of any claim that debtor may have against these parties, but as noted in Ringgold-Lockhart, the court has authority to impose sanctions for frivolous or baseless claims under authorities such as Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 11. Deny requests of trustee and creditors for such a prefiling order restricting debtor from filing lawsuits since they need to bring a motion for such affirmative relief meeting the standards of Ringgold-Lockhart. Appearances are required on 11/6/18, but counsel and self-represented parties may appear by telephone in accordance with the court's telephone appearance procedures posted online on the court's website.

Chapter 11

#11.00 Hearing re: Motion to approve compromise under Rule 9019 (Debtor's Settlement w/Banc of California, N.A.), in addition to motion for authority to obtain credit under Section 364(b), Rule 4001(c) or (d) (under Section 364(c))

Docket 554

Tentative Ruling:

The motion is deficient because: (1) not all creditors were served as required by FRBP 2002(a)(2), 4001(c)(1)(C), 9013, 9014 and 9109, and the unserved creditors from the creditor mailing matrix are: Trope and Trope LLP, LEA Accountancy LLP, Absolute Resolutions Investments, LLC and Leonard L. Gumport; (2) the mandatory court form, F 4001-2.STMT.FINANCE, was not filed as required by LBR 4001-2(a). The court is inclined to continue the hearing so debtor can correct these deficiencies. Appearances are required on 11/7/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. Deny approval of disclosure statement because: (1) plan is patently unconfirmable because it modifies loan secured by lien on debtor's principal residence in violation of 11 U.S.C. 1125(b) (plan modifies contractual interest rate on first and second secured home loans) and it does not propose a cure of outstanding arrearages on home mortgages in accordance with 11 U.S.C. 1124(2)(10 year payment of arrearages is discriminatory compared with 5 year payment of general unsecured claims); (2) disclosure statement lacks adequate information regarding plan feasibility since no financial history or financial projections are provided. Prior tentative ruling as of 1/3/18. On movant's claim under 11 U.S.C. 362(d) (2), it has met its burden of proof under 11 U.S.C. 362(g)(1) to demonstrate lack of equity in the subject property based on the stipulated value for the property. Debtor as the party opposing relief has the burden on the remaining issue of demonstrating under 11 U.S.C. 362(g)(2) and (d)(2) that the property is necessary to its effective reorganization, i.e., a confirmed reorganization plan is in reasonable prospect. Specifically, debtor must produce some evidence that its plan could be confirmed by a reasonable bankruptcy judge. In re Bonner Mall Partnership, 2 F.3d 899, 902 n. 4 (9th Cir. 1993). Debtor's projected income based on its principal's consulting income of $12,500 per month is not supported by any credible evidence for this projection. The demonstrated history in this case does not support the projection, and there is no credible explanation of how the income can be generated at that level to demonstrate plan feasibility under 11 U.S.C. 1129(a)(11). Debtor has not shown that it is likely to have at least one impaired class of claims to accept its plan under 11 U.S.C. 1129(a)(10) since there is no credible evidence indicating any creditor support for the plan (debtor's conclusory assertions are not evidence). Based on what has been submitted in the papers, the court is inclined to find that debtor has not met its burden of proof on the second prong of 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(2) that the property is necessary for its effective reorganization, i.e., that its plan could be confirmed by a reasonable bankruptcy judge and that the stay relief motion should be granted. Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 11/6/18. Because Secured Claim Classes 2A, 2B and 2C have not accepted the plan by voting in favor of the plan, debtor must meet the requirements of plan cramdown under 11 U.S.C. 1129(b). Since debtor has not submitted evidence showing that the nonaccepting secured claim classes are being treated fairly and equitably under 11 U.S.C. 1129(b)(2)(A)(i.e., declarations showing that treatment of these classes is fair and equitable), set evidentiary hearing for debtor to show that plan treats these creditors fairly and equitably. Chapter 11

#17.00 Cont'd hearing re: Motion to dismiss chapter 11 bankruptcy
fr. 9/19/18, 10/17/18

Docket 118

Tentative Ruling:

Revised tentative ruling as of 10/17/18. The court retracts its tentative ruling of 10/16/18 because it has authorized debtors to respond orally to the supplemental brief of creditors by time of continued hearing, and to file a written response. Appearances are required on 10/17/18, but the prior tentative ruling on 10/15/18 remains the same.

Updated tentative ruling as of 10/16/18. Debtors filed a surreply brief and request for judicial notice of new matters on 10/15/18, which are not authorized under the court's local rules and for which debtors did not request leave of court to file, and the court will disregard these papers for purposes of the hearing on 10/17/18. Creditors need not respond to debtors' surreply or request for judicial notice at the hearing on 10/17/18, though the court might consider them as debtors' trial brief for the trial that will be set on this contested matter. Otherwise, the court's tentative ruling posted on 10/10/18 will apply.

Prior tentative ruling as of 10/15/18. The court will treat the hearing as a status conference because there are material factual disputes raised by the motion which is a contested matter under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 9014 relating to debtors' good faith in filing this case which require an evidentiary hearing to resolve. The court will schedule an evidentiary hearing at the status conference, and the court requests that counsel appear telephonically rather than appear in person to minimize litigation costs.

Regarding the contentions of debtors, the court is of the view that the motion is not untimely and there is no bar of laches because it seems that at any time in this case, parties in interest can move for dismissal, particularly, preconfirmation, that the motion is not a litigation tactic by creditors to gain advantage in the state court, and that debtors can reorganize and confirm a plan is not an undisputed fact and remains to be seen.

Regarding the contentions of creditors, the court is of the view that debtors could propose a confirmable plan through a combination of income and asset sales, particularly as creditors acknowledge that debtors have property equity of over $1.1 million to fund a plan, that denial of confirmation of the currently proposed plan does not necessarily mean that debtors could not later propose an amended plan that is confirmable, that creditors' opposition to a plan does not necessarily mean that a plan absolutely be confirmed under the cramdown standards of 11 U.S.C. 1129(b), provided that debtors find a way to meet the requirements of the absolute priority rule or qualify for an exemption to the rule, and that whether this is a two-party dispute is a disputed issue of material fact relating to good faith of debtors in filing this case.

If creditors are pressing their motion, the court will ask them for dates for an evidentiary hearing on the disputed material issues of fact, or these issues can be litigated in connection with plan confirmation relating to the disclosure statement and proposed plan now pending.

Appearances are required on 10/17/18, but counsel may and should appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 9/17/18. Appearances are required on 9/19/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. The court on its own motion continues the hearing on the application to employ special litigation counsel to the date and time of the hearing on creditor's motion to dismiss the bankruptcy case on 9/19/18 at 2:30 p.m. as a status conference on the application. Most likely, creditor's motion to dismiss is a contested matter under FRBP 9014 and may require an evidentiary hearing which the court will set at the hearing on 9/18/18, and the hearing on the employment application will trail the hearing on the motion to dismiss since granting of the motion to dismiss will moot out the application. Chapter 11

#22.00 Cont'd hearing re: Motion under 11 U.S.C. §1112(b)(1) to convert, dismiss or appoint a chapter 11 trustee with an order directing payment of quarterly fees and for judgment thereon
fr. 10/10/18, 10/17/18

Docket 152

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 11/6/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 11/7/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 10/15/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 10/17/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. The motion of United States Trustee to dismiss or convert is based on somewhat technical violations of the bankruptcy rules and United States Trustee guidelines which have been remedied or can readily be remedied, such as lack of sufficient proof of insurance coverage, late filing of monthly operating reports and incomplete payment of quarterly fees. The court is inclined to continue the hearing on the motion to allow short but reasonable period of time to allow debtor to take corrective action to remedy these readily remediable technical violations.

The required corrective action to address the concerns raised in the motion as attested to by the bankruptcy analyst must include:

1. Proof of insurance coverage, which appears to have been provided now.
2. Prompt payment of any United States Trustee quarterly fees currently due.
3. Complete disclosure of all receipts and disbursements by debtor postpetition on her monthly operating reports, which require amendment of her filed reports. Disclosures must include identification of all receipts of family support payments and all disbursements of any and all funds by her postpetition. Debtor in her opposition to the motion indicates that she would file amended reports, but has not yet done so, which calls to mind the adage that actions speak louder than words.

4. Appropriate use of debtor's DIP bank accounts, including using her general DIP account for most disbursements, and discontinuance of use of the DIP payroll and tax accounts because there does not appear to be a justifiable reason to have these separate DIP accounts apart from the general DIP account.

5. Discontinuance of debtor's use of a community property joint bank account with the nondebtor spouse.

6. Timely filing of future monthly operating reports. The court is of the view that the previous reports have not been late for long periods of time, but debtor's persistent tardiness in filing her reports indicates a dilatory attitude which goes to show that she lacks sufficient motivation to prosecute this case, which may by itself warrant granting relief requested by the United States Trustee.

No tentative ruling as of 10/5/18. Appearances are required on 10/10/18.

Docket 372

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 11/6/18. Off calendar. Continued by stipulation and order to 12/5/18 at 11:00 a.m. No appearances are required on 11/7/18.

Updated tentative ruling as of 3/19/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 3/21/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 2/5/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 2/7/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. Treat as contested matter under FRBP 9014 because the declarations of the witnesses in support of the moving and opposing papers raise material issues of fact to be resolved in an evidentiary hearing. Treat the hearing on 12/13/17 as a status conference to set a pretrial and trial schedule. The court will not take testimony from witnesses on a law and motion hearing calendar on 12/13/17, and the parties may not call their witnesses to testify on 12/13/17. If any party believes that there are no genuine issues of material fact and the party is entitled to judgment as a matter of law, that party may seek summary judgment upon a proper motion brought pursuant to FRBP 7056 and 9014 and LBR 7056-1. Appearances are required on 12/13/17 to discuss scheduling of further proceedings, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. Deny without prejudice for lack of sufficient notice since not all creditors on the case mailing matrix were served as required by FRBP 9019, 2002 and 9013, including AEC Logistics Corp., BMW Financial Services NA, LLC, Flacco Truck Repair, Internal Revenue Service, Los Angeles County Treasurer and Tax Collector, Nissan and Wells Fargo Financial Leasing Inc., and some creditors were served, but not at all addresses indicated on the mailing matrix. Debtor needs to serve creditors at all of the addresses indicated on the mailing matrix, absent an adequate evidentiary showing that its service list is completely accurate.

The court agrees with debtor that the creditors opposing the motion have not addressed the factors in In re A & C Properties, 784 F.2d 1377, 1381 (9th Cir. 1986), that is, the probability of success in the litigation, the difficulties, if any, to be encouraged in the matter of collection, the complexity of the litigation involved, and the expense, inconvenience and delay necessarily attending it and the paramount interest of the creditors and a proper deference to their reasonable views. The objecting creditors merely argue that without discovery, it is premature and not reasonable to evaluate the settlement at this time, and the settlement presents negligible and/or insignificant benefit to the creditors as a whole. These arguments do not address the arguments raised by the motion that the settlement is fair and equitable, given the hazards and cost of the litigation and that the settlement provides value to the Prior tentative ruling. The court agrees with defendants that actions to set aside fraudulent transfers of assets of a bankruptcy debtor belongs to the bankruptcy estate and may be the basis for a motion to dismiss because actions to collect upon assets of the estate are subject to the automatic stay and relief from stay has not been obtained by the plaintiffs. In re MortgageAmerica Corp., 714 F.2d 1266, 1275 (5th Cir. 1983); In re Curry & Sorenson, Inc., 57 B.R. 824, 827-828 (9th Cir. plaintiffs, there is a division in circuit authority as to whether property of the bankruptcy estate includes property subject to a fraudulent transfer avoidance action is part of the bankruptcy estate before the avoidance action. See Peter Spero, Fraudulent Transfers, Prebankruptcy Planning and Exemptions, Section 3.3 (Westlaw online Sept. 2017 update), citing, In re MortgageAmerica Corp., supra; In re Colonial Realty Co., supra; Rajala v. Garner, 709 F.3d 1031 (10th Cir. 2013); In re Allen, 768 F.3d 274 (3rd Cir. 2014). There is no definitive case authority in the Ninth Circuit, though the Bankruptcy Appellate Panel of the Ninth Circuit has stated that a fraudulent transfer avoidance action to recover property fraudulently transferred by a bankruptcy debtor is an asset of the debtor's bankruptcy estate. In re Curry & Sorenson, Inc., supra. The court will follow the BAP rule in Curry & Sorenson, Inc., as the current law of the Ninth Circuit.

Having said this, however, before the court rules on defendants' motions to dismiss, the court notes that plaintiffs could obtain authority of this court to allow them as parties other than the trustee or debtor-in-possession to pursue litigation on behalf of the estate (as opposed for themselves only). In re Curry & Sorenson, Inc., supra; In re Spauding Composites Co., 207 B.R. 899, 903 (9th Cir. BAP 1997). If plaintiffs are seeking to enforce their own interests as creditors, the court would thus grant the motions to dismiss, but if plaintiffs are seeking authorization from the court to pursue the litigation on behalf of the estate and its creditors, they should file and serve an appropriate motion, and the court would consider it subject to hearing from other interested parties.

Deny request for an order to show cause and/or sanctions for violation of stay since the stay is not intended to protect non debtor parties. 11 U.S.C. 362(a); see also, Ingersoll-Rand Financial Corp. v. Miller Mining Co., 817 F.2d 1424, 1427 (9th Cir. 1987). Moreover, it would be difficult to show civil contempt here that plaintiffs willfully violated a specific and definite order of the court by clear and convincing evidence, see, e.g., In re Dyer, 322 F.3d 1178. 1190-1191 (9th Cir. 2003), in bringing the fraudulent transfer action against defendants, given the uncertainty of the law as indicated by the lack of definitive case authority in the Ninth Circuit and otherwise divided circuit authority on the question of whether a fraudulently transferred property before avoidance is property of a debtor's bankruptcy estate circuit.

#12.00 EVIDENTIARY HEARING RE: Debtor's motion to convert from chapter 7 to 13
fr. 9/18/18

Docket 11

 VACATED  REASON: Cont'd from 11/8/18 to 12/13/18 at 1:30 p.m. per stip & order entered on 10/31/18-mb.

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 11/7/18. No tentative ruling will be issued for the evidentiary hearing. Appearances are required on 11/8/18.

Prior tentative ruling. Treat as a contested matter under FRBP 9014 because it appears that there are disputed issues of material fact regarding debtor's good faith in requesting conversion of the case to Chapter 13 and debtor's income eligibility for Chapter 13 based on her amended schedules asserting a family contribution from her brother. See In re Deutsch, 529 B.R. 308 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2015). The court has questions about trustee's estimate of $55,000 in anticipated Chapter 7 administrative expenses which seem awfully high in this case still in its early stages. Appearances are required on 9/18/18 to discuss scheduling of an evidentiary hearing to resolve disputed issues of material fact on the motion, but counsel may appear by telephone.

#1.00 Hearing re: Motion for relief from stay
(Bayview Loan Servicing, LLC VS Debtor)

Docket 535

Tentative Ruling:

Grant movant relief from stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (4), including stay annulment, to pursue non-bankruptcy remedies and for in rem relief for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition. Deny request for relief under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(2) for lack of evidentiary support by failing to offer admissible evidence of valuation to meet burden of proving debtor's lack of equity in the subject property under 11 U.S.C. 362(g)(1) (i.e., no showing that Zillows.com valuation opinion is made by qualified expert witness in valuation using scientifically validated valuation methods). The 14-day waiting period under FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived.

The court does make a finding of bad faith as to debtor. See In re Dorsey, 476 B.R. 261 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2012).

Movant must lodge a proposed order within 7 days. All registered CM/ECF users must lodge an order using the court's mandatory form order on LOU. Movant may submit on the tentative ruling without an appearance at the hearing, in accordance with Judge Kwan's tentative ruling procedures posted online on the court's website and in hard copy available in the courtroom.

#2.00 Hearing re: Motion for relief from stay
(Admire Capital Lending LLC VS Debtor)

Docket 533

Tentative Ruling:

The court has reviewed the moving and opposing papers and is of the view that the motion should be denied or withdrawn because that the relief sought should be requested in the Bricks Hospitality Group, LLC involuntary bankruptcy case before Judge Robles and that it appears to the court that the amended petition in this case adding Bricks as a dba is bogus. It does not appear to the court to be a good idea for trustee to administer the asset in this case for the same reason. Appearances are required on 11/13/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

#3.00 Hearing re: Motion for relief from stay
(Bank of Ameirican N.A. VS Debtor)

Docket 12

Tentative Ruling:

The court does not see the factual and/or legal bases for movant's requests for extraordinary relief in paragraphs 8, 10 and 11 of the prayer for relief in the motion, and the court will require movant to file a supplemental brief to show that there are reasonable bases in fact and law for requesting such relief. See In re Van Ness, 399 B.R. 897 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 2009). Just checking off boxes on the court form motion is not a demonstration of an adequate factual or legal basis for requesting such relief. In order for the court to grant such relief, the court will need to determine that there are factual and legal bases for such relief, which are not evident in the motion. The supplemental brief will be due on 11/20/18, one week before a continued hearing on 11/27/18 at 10:30 a.m. Otherwise, no tentative ruling. Docket 7

Tentative Ruling:

The court does not see the factual and/or legal bases for movant's requests for extraordinary relief in paragraphs 4, 8, 9, 10 and 11 of the prayer for relief in the motion, and the court will require movant to file a supplemental brief to show that there are reasonable bases in fact and law for requesting such relief. See In re Van Ness, 399 B.R. 897 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 2009).

Movant does not provide the legal and/or factual support for the request for extraordinary relief in paragraph 4 requesting confirmation that there is no stay in effect. See, e.g., 11 U.S.C. 362(c).

Movant does not provide the legal and/or factual support for the request for extraordinary relief in paragraph 8 requesting confirmation that the court can order eviction of occupants of the subject property. There is persuasive contrary authority not addressed in the moving papers. In re Van Ness, 399 B.R. at 907.

Movant does not provide the legal and/or factual support for the request for extraordinary relief in paragraph 9 requesting in rem stay relief under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(4). There is persuasive, if not controlling, contrary authority not addressed in the moving papers indicating that a purchaser at a foreclosure sale like movant lacks standing to seek in rem relief under 11 U.S.C. 362(d) (4). In re Ellis, 523 B.R. 673, 678-680 (9th Cir. Movant does not provide the legal and/or factual support for the request for extraordinary relief in paragraph 10 requesting declaratory relief that any stay relief order is binding and effective in any bankruptcy case commenced by or against any debtor who claims an interest in the property for 180 days. Chapter 7

Movant does not provide the legal and/or factual support for the request for extraordinary relief in paragraph 10 requesting declaratory relief that any stay relief order is binding and effective in any bankruptcy case commenced by or against any debtor who claims an interest in the property for 180 days. There is contrary authority not addressed in the moving papers. In re Van Ness, 399 B.R. at 904-907.

Movant does not provide the legal and/or factual support for the request for extraordinary relief in paragraph 11 requesting any stay relief order is binding and effective in any future bankruptcy case, no matter who the debtor is. There is persuasive contrary authority not addressed in the moving papers. In re Van Ness, 399 B.R. at 905-907.

Movant does not provide the legal and/or factual support for the request for stay annulment because it has failed to show that the legal standards of National Environmental Waste Corp. v. City of Riverside (In re National Environmental Waste Corp.), 129 F.3d 1052 (9th Cir. 1997) and In re Gasprom, Inc., 500 B.R. 598 (9th Cir. BAP 2013) have been met.

Movant alleges that the bankruptcy petition was filed in bad faith, but there is no indication that this is the situation here because there is no showing of any bad faith in the petition, but only that there was a postpetition transfer to debtor by the borrower, which is not an act by the debtor. Debtor in his opposition apparently disputes that the bankruptcy petition was filed in bad faith, and it appears on this record that he is right since the indications that this is a "hijacked" bankruptcy case, that is, a third party is using debtor's bankruptcy case for a bad purpose, specifically, using the automatic stay in debtor's bankruptcy case to thwart foreclosure by movant. The court is thus inclined not to make a finding of bad faith as to debtors. See In re Dorsey, 476 B.R. 261 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2012).

In order for the court to grant extraordinary relief requested by movant, the court will need to determine that there are factual and legal bases for such relief, which are not evident in the motion. Prior tentative ruling as of 7/9/18. The court has reviewed the joint pretrial stipulation filed on 7/3/18. The joint pretrial stipulation will need revision because it does not contain all the statements required for a joint pretrial stipulation set forth in Local Bankruptcy Rule 7016-1(b)(2), the witness list is incomplete as stated in the joint pretrial stipulation and the exhibit list is incomplete because not all of the exhibits are specifically listed and no objections to the exhibits are stated unless the parties waive objections. Prior tentative ruling as of 11/13/17. The court has reviewed the joint status report. Appearances are required on 11/14/17 to discuss the possibility of joint mediation, scheduling of further proceedings, including pretrial conference and trial, but counsel may appear by telephone. The consensus of the parties seems to be a discovery cutoff date of March 2018, i.e., March 31, 2018, a pretrial conference in April 2018, and a trial date in June 2018. The parties should be prepared to discuss how the case should be tried, given there are 6 sets of plaintiffs, and the length of trial, so that all parties have a full and fair opportunity to present their various cases. Perhaps it would be helpful to consider trying certain claims based on commonality of witnesses and facts, such as the particular type of investment vehicle involved. Defendant indicated an interest in mediation, but plaintiffs indicated no interest in mediation, and the court would like to hear from plaintiffs why mediation would not be helpful in resolving their claims, given that collectibility of defendant is probably an issue.

Prior tentative ruling. The court has reviewed the joint status report. Set a discovery cutoff date of 9/1/17 and a further postdiscovery status conference for 9/26/17 at 1:30 p.m. with a joint status report due on 9/19/17. Order the matter to mediation, the parties are to file a request for selection of mediator and alternate mediator by 5/19/17 and complete mediation by 9/26/17. Appearances are required on 4/18/17, but counsel may appear by telephone. Plaintiff to submit a proposed scheduling order within 7 days of hearing.

#23.00 Hearing re: Application for payment of final fees and/or expenses for DLA Piper LLP (US), debtor's attorney (11 U.S.C. §330)

Docket 571

Tentative Ruling:

Approve final fee application of DLA Piper LLP (US), successor by merger to Liner LLP, special counsel to debtor in possession for reasons stated in the fee application. The only objection to the application by creditor 7175 WB, LLC, is not well-taken because the supporting client declaration is provided by the declaration of Jonathan Mover filed on 11/6/18 stating as president of debtor that he is authorized to state that debtor has no objection to the fee application and the application is supported by evidence in the usual way through counsel declarations and billing statements with specific billing entries in both the interim and final fee applications. 7175 WB, LLC, has not otherwise shown that the fees requested are unreasonable. The court notes that the bulk of applicant's fees was requested in the interim fee application which was approved without any objection by any party, including 7175 WB, LLC. Appearances are required on 11/13/18 in light of 7175 WB, LLC's objection, but applicant and counsel may appear by telephone.

Chapter 11

#24.00 Hearing re: Application for payment of interim fees and/or expenses for Liner Law Group LLP, special counsel (11 U.S.C. §331)

Docket 574

Tentative Ruling:

Since the court has entered the plan confirmation order in this case, the court declines to review the interim fee application of Liner Law Group LLP, special litigation counsel for debtor in possession, because the court can now review final fee applications of estate professionals and it is an inefficient use of the litigation and court resources to review and consider fee applications on an interim basis when they can be considered on a final basis, especially in light of objections of parties in interest to some of the fee applications of estate professionals. Applicant should resubmit and renote the fee application as a final fee application. Appearances are required on 11/13/18, but applicant and counsel may appear by telephone.

Since the court has entered the plan confirmation order in this case, the court declines to review the interim fee application of accountant for debtor in possession because the court can now review final fee applications of estate professionals and it is an inefficient use of the litigation and court resources to review and consider fee applications on an interim basis when they can be considered on a final basis, especially in light of objections of parties in interest to some of the fee applications of estate professionals. Docket 583

Tentative Ruling:

Since the court has entered the plan confirmation order in this case, the court declines to review the second interim fee application of general bankruptcy counsel for debtor in possession because the court can now review final fee applications of estate professionals and it is an inefficient use of the litigation and court resources to review and consider fee applications on an interim basis when they can be considered on a final basis, especially in light of objections of parties in interest to some of the fee applications of estate professionals. The court determines that cause is shown for dismissal because debtor has resolved most of the disputes with creditors and there is no further need to reorganize and that dismissal is in the best interests of creditors and the estate because most of the disputes between debtor and creditors have been resolved and the remaining disputes can be more effectively resolved outside of bankruptcy. Chapter 11

#5.00 Hearing re: Motion for order authorizing and approving adequacy of debtor's disclosure statement describing debtor's chapter 11 plan

Docket 108

Tentative Ruling:

Since debtor seeks bifurcation of the claim of Pacific City Bank into secured and unsecured portions, debtor will need to bring a motion to value the secured claim under FRBP 3012 and 11 U.S.C. 506(a) and not through the plan. Further, the disclosure statement should be modified to treat the secured claims as separate classes (e.g., Class 1A and Class 1B) since the treatment of the secured creditors is different

The proposed plan should be modified as follows:

1. The Effective Date of the plan is not stated since the plan lacks an "Effective Date" provision, and such provision needs to be added.
2. The duration of the plan is not stated and needs to be stated, particularly regarding treatment of general unsecured claims.
3. The language of LBR 3020-1(b) regarding vesting of property in the Chapter 7 estate if the case is converted needs to be added to the plan.
4. Section V of the plan, " Means for Implementing the Plan," should be modified: (1) subsection "The Reorganized Debtor" should be deleted because it is redundant of treatment of general unsecured creditors; (2) subsection "Corporate Actions" should be deleted because it is either superfluous or too broad in requesting declaratory relief, or be specific in what the court is supposedly ratifying; (3) subsection "Funding of the Plan" is descriptive and belongs in the disclosure statement, not directive for the plan.
5. The reference to "Holdco board" on page 9 of the plan needs to be explained or deleted.
6. References in the plan in the disclosure statement should be to "Disclosure Statement" and not by initials, "DS."

The proposed disclosure statement should be modified as follows:

1. The financial projections in Exhibits E and F to the disclosure statement are inadequate. Exhibit E should have monthly projections for the 60 month duration of the plan, including projections of income and expense fluctuations, and actual amounts should be stated, not in "K's". Exhibit F should have historical data for the last 12 months at least with the same categories on Exhibit E, not stripped down categories from the monthly operating reports.

2. References in the disclosure statement in the disclosure statement should be to "Disclosure Statement" and not by initials, "DS".

3. The references in the disclosure statement on pages 4, 11 and 13 to "(West Supp. 2006)" or (West 2004 & Supp. 2006) should be deleted since the Bankruptcy Code as of this year should apply.

4. The statement on page 5 on the disclosure statement that "There are no unimpaired classes in this case" is incorrect and should be deleted or modified.

5. The word "it's" should be "its" on pages 5, 9 and 12 of the disclosure statement.

6. The reference to 5 years on page 6 should also be stated the alternative of 60 months.

7. The effective date of the plan should be stated on page 7 of the disclosure statement, either a specific date or a formula to set a date.

8. The plan treatment of the secured creditors should be described on page 8 of the disclosure statement.

9. The reference to "Impaired First payment date" on page 9, line 24 is unclear and needs to be made clear what the meaning is.

#7.00 Hearing re: Unsecured creditor, Emma Borges' motion for order re: convert the debtor's chapter 11 case to a chapter 7 case re: §1112 of the Bankruptcy Code

Docket 180

Tentative Ruling:

Overrule evidentiary objections of debtor to Polis declaration. The court is inclined to order debtor to file a written outline of how this case will reorganize with an estimated timetable by 11/21/18 and set a further and separate hearing on the motion on 11/28/18 at 10:00 a.m. to discuss the status of debtor's reorganization efforts. Debtor's opposition really did not show much in the way of the presence of a reasonable likelihood of reorganization to persuade the court to deny the motion at the hearing on 11/14/18, which is somewhat disconcerting, given the age of this case, now approaching its one year anniversary on 11/30/18. The court thinks debtor must make some showing of a reasonable likelihood of a confirmable plan within a reasonable period of time, or otherwise it might be convinced to grant the motion. Appearances are required on 11/14/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Docket 390

 VACATED  REASON: Cont'd from 11/14/18 to 11/29/18 at 1:30 p.m. per order entered on 11/13/18-mb.

Tentative Ruling:

Revised and updated tentative ruling as of 11/13/18. Off calendar. Continued on the court's own motion by separate order to 11/29/18 at 1:30 p.m. No appearances are required on 11/14/18.

Updated tentative ruling as of 8/7/18. The parties filed unilateral pretrial statements rather than a joint pretrial statement. Before the court imposes monetary sanctions of $250 against the culpable party/ies for failing to file a joint pretrial statement as required by LBR 7016-1, the court will afford the parties an opportunity to complete and file a joint pretrial statement as required and intends to continue the pretrial conference for this purpose. Appearances are required on 8/8/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Updated tentative ruling as of 5/7/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 5/8/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 5/1/18. The court has reviewed the unilateral pretrial statements of the parties, which are incomplete and inadequate and will not be approved. The "statements" should be a joint pretrial stipulation, and they lack the exhibit lists of the parties and objections to exhibits thereto. Appearances are required on 5/2/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 3/19/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 3/21/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Revised tentative ruling as of 3/6/18. The court notes that claimant has a pending motion for abstention on her claims set for hearing on 3/21/18. If the court abstains, this itself will not postpone plan confirmation proceedings because the parties may request the court to estimate the claims for voting on plan confirmation. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 3/7/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 2/5/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 2/7/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. Treat as contested matter under FRBP 9014 because the declarations of the witnesses in support of the moving and opposing papers raise material issues of fact to be resolved in an evidentiary hearing. Treat the hearing on 12/13/17 as a status conference to set a pretrial and trial schedule. The court will not take testimony from witnesses on a law and motion hearing calendar on 12/13/17, and the parties may not call their witnesses to testify on 12/13/17. If any party believes that there are no genuine issues of material fact and the party is entitled to judgment as a matter of law, that party may seek summary judgment upon a proper motion brought pursuant to FRBP 7056 and 9014 and LBR 7056-1. If claimant believes that the court should permissively abstain from hearing this contested matter, then she should bring a proper motion for abstention rather than raising the request in her opposition to the objection. See In re Tucson Estates, Inc., 912 F.2d 1162, 1166-1167 (9th Cir. 1990). However, it seems to the court that it could properly hear the objection to claim as a core proceeding under 28 U.S.C. 157(b)(2)(B) and not abstain under In re Conejo Enterprises, Inc., 96 F.3d 346 (9th Cir. 1996). Appearances are required on 12/13/17 to discuss scheduling of further proceedings, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Updated tentative ruling as of 8/7/18. Because the parties filed their joint pretrial statement late, the joint pretrial statement is voluminous and the parties in the related contested matter of Debtor's objection to the claim of Cindy Magleby, claimants' client, filed unilateral pretrial statements rather than a joint pretrial statement as required, the court intends to continue the pretrial conference for this matter to be coordinated with the pretrial conference for the contested matter of Debtor's objection to the claim of Cindy Magleby and to allow additional time for review of the joint pretrial statement. Prior tentative ruling as of 2/5/18. The court notes that debtor filed a second amended disclosure statement on 1/30/18, 8 days before the further hearing on 2/7/18. Creditor Banc of California filed a response on 1/31/18 objecting to debtor's noticing approval of the amended disclosure statement for the hearing on 2/7/18, citing the court's oral ruling that creditors should be given 3 weeks notice of hearing on an amended disclosure statement. Appearances are required on 2/7/18 to discuss scheduling of further proceedings, including adequate time for creditors to respond to debtor's second amended disclosure statement and a scheduling of a further hearing on debtor's second amended disclosure statement to allow for review and comment by creditors and interested parties, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 11/28/17. The court has reviewed debtor's status report. Appearances are required on 11/29/17 to discuss scheduling of further proceedings, including filing date for debtor's second amended disclosure statement, but counsel may appear by telephone.

No updated tentative ruling as of 9/25/17. Appearances are required on 9/27/17, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 5/22/17. Appearances are required on 5/24/17, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. Debtor in his status report filed on 2/22/17 indicated that he and his counsel are working on revising and amending the original disclosure statement to include a revised and updated liquidation analysis and taking into account resolutions of claims of creditors, including First Republic Bank (however, the court notes that it disapproved without prejudice the stipulation resolving claim of First Republic Bank in light of objection of creditor Cindy Magelby since it appears that debtor will need to bring a FRBP 9019 motion). Appearances are required on 3/1/17 regarding scheduling of further proceedings for an amended and revised disclosure statement, but counsel may appear by telephone.

#4.00 Hearing re: Motion for relief from stay
(Rama NPL 1, LLC VS Debtor)

Docket 36

Tentative Ruling:

Grant movant relief from stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (4), including stay annulment, to pursue non-bankruptcy remedies and for in rem relief for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition. Deny request for relief under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(2) for lack of evidentiary support of proving debtor's lack of equity in the subject property under 11 U.S.C. 362(g)(1) since the moving papers show positive equity (also no proof that debtor is not otherwise on title). Deny request for extraordinary relief in paragraph 3 because debtor was not the borrower in the loan documents. Deny extraordinary relief in paragraph 8 for lack of evidentiary and/or legal support. In re Van Ness, 399 B.R. 897 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 2009). The 14-day waiting period under FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived.

The court does not make a finding of bad faith as to debtor. See In re Dorsey, 476 B.R. 261 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2012).

Movant must lodge a proposed order within 7 days. All registered CM/ECF users must lodge an order using the court's mandatory form order on LOU. Docket 13

Tentative Ruling:

The court does not see the factual and/or legal bases for movant's requests for extraordinary relief in paragraphs 8, 10 and 11 of the prayer for relief in the motion, and the court will require movant to file a supplemental brief to show that there are reasonable bases in fact and law for requesting such relief. See In re Van Ness, 399 B.R. 897 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 2009). Just checking off boxes on the court form motion is not a demonstration of an adequate factual or legal basis for requesting such relief. In order for the court to grant such relief, the court will need to determine that there are factual and legal bases for such relief, which are not evident in the motion. The supplemental brief will be due on 12/4/18, one week before a continued hearing on 12/11/18 at 10:30 a.m. Otherwise, no tentative ruling. Movant does not provide the legal and/or factual support for the request for extraordinary relief in paragraph 4 requesting confirmation that there is no stay in effect. See, e.g., 11 U.S.C. 362(c).

Movant does not provide the legal and/or factual support for the request for extraordinary relief in paragraph 8 requesting confirmation that the court can order eviction of occupants of the subject property. There is persuasive contrary authority not addressed in the moving papers. In re Van Ness, 399 B.R. at 907.

Movant does not provide the legal and/or factual support for the request for extraordinary relief in paragraph 9 requesting in rem stay relief under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(4). There is persuasive, if not controlling, contrary authority not addressed in the moving papers indicating that a purchaser at a foreclosure sale like movant lacks standing to seek in rem relief under 11 U.S.C. 362(d) (4). In re Ellis, 523 B.R. 673, 678-680 (9th Cir. BAP 2014).

Movant does not provide the legal and/or factual support for the request for extraordinary relief in paragraph 10 requesting declaratory relief that any stay relief order is binding and effective in any bankruptcy case commenced by or against any debtor who claims an interest in the property for 180 days. There is contrary authority not addressed in the moving papers. In re Van Ness, 399 B.R. at 904-907.

Chapter 7

In re Van Ness, 399 B.R. at 905-907.

Movant does not provide the legal and/or factual support for the request for stay annulment because it has failed to show that the legal standards of National Environmental Waste Corp. v. City of Riverside (In re National Environmental Waste Corp.), 129 F.3d 1052 (9th Cir. 1997) and In re Gasprom, Inc., 500 B.R. 598 (9th Cir. BAP 2013) have been met.

Movant alleges that the bankruptcy petition was filed in bad faith, but there is no indication that this is the situation here because there is no showing of any bad faith in the petition, but only that there was a postpetition transfer to debtor by the borrower, which is not an act by the debtor. Debtor in his opposition apparently disputes that the bankruptcy petition was filed in bad faith, and it appears on this record that he is right since the indications that this is a "hijacked" bankruptcy case, that is, a third party is using debtor's bankruptcy case for a bad purpose, specifically, using the automatic stay in debtor's bankruptcy case to thwart foreclosure by movant. The court is thus inclined not to make a finding of bad faith as to debtors. See In re Dorsey, 476 B.R. 261 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2012).

In order for the court to grant extraordinary relief requested by movant, the court will need to determine that there are factual and legal bases for such relief, which are not evident in the motion. The supplemental brief will be due on 11/20/18, one week before a continued hearing on 11/27/18 at 10:30 a.m. Otherwise, no tentative ruling on the merits.

#38.00 Cont'd hearing re: Motion of Navigators Specialty Insurance Company for allowance and payment of administrative expense claim
fr. 6/26/18, 8/20/18, 10/2/18

Docket 1209

 VACATED  REASON: Resolved per stip & order entered on 10/23/18-mb.

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 11/26/18. Off calendar. Motion resolved by stipulation and order. No appearances are required on 11/27/18.

Prior tentative ruling as of 8/20/18. At the first hearing on the motion on 6/26/18, the parties indicated that they did not have an interest in litigating this contested matter to an evidentiary hearing and were going to attempt to negotiate a consensual resolution with the filing of a stipulation by the hearing on 8/21/18. No stipulation has been filed, which perhaps indicates a lack of consensus. At this point, the court is inclined to deny the motion without prejudice on grounds the motion is premature as argued by objecting party, Morrison and Foerster, because the trustee has not concluded his administration of the case and this would be consistent with Judge Saltzman's prior 2016 order denying preconversion fee applications without prejudice (Docket Number 568). In reaching this conclusion, the court has considered case law regarding whether to allow immediate payment of administrative expense claims ahead of distribution after the Chapter 7 trustee's final report, In re Tandem Group., Inc., 61 B.R. 738, 742 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1986) (postponing determination of preconversion administrative expense claim until Chapter 7 trustee informs the court that sufficient funds exist in the estate to pay Chapter 7 administrative expenses and preconversion Chapter 11 administrative expenses); In re Cardinal Industries, Inc., 109 B.R. 738, 742 (Bankr. S.D. Ohio 1989) (considering the status of the case, the likelihood that all administrative expense claims will be paid in full, and the ability of the claimant to repay any amount which later turns out to be in excess of payments to other administrative expense claimants in determining whether an immediate payment of administrative expense claims should be made). Other objecting parties argue that they are similarly situated to movant and are entitled to payment of administrative expense claims as well, and it seems it would be burdensome to the parties and the estate to litigate all of these claims now before the trustee's administration of the case is not completed and the trustee does not know at this time whether there are sufficient funds to pay Chapter 7 administrative expenses and preconversion administrative expense claims.

Prior tentative ruling. Treat as a contested matter under FRBP 9014 because there are material issues of fact for trial regarding whether movant has made a substantial contribution, which is disputed by other parties. The parties should meet and confer regarding their pretrial needs and a proposed pretrial and trial schedule. Appearances are required on 6/26/18 to discuss scheduling of pretrial and trial proceedings, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 10/22/18. Off calendar. The court on its own motion continues the status conference to 11/27/18 at 2:30 p.m. to be conducted with the continued hearing on plaintiff's motion for default judgment and defendant's motion to set aside default. No appearances are required on 10/23/18.

Prior tentative ruling. Given the severity of the circumstances of turnover in the circumstances of this case, if plaintiff seeks judgment against defendants (meaning eviction of defendants from their residence which they had conveyed to plaintiff for it to perform certain services to save their home from foreclosure in exchange for rent payments and shared equity arrangements, which defendants allegedly defaulted), the court will order that plaintiff serve any dispositive motion on defendants by personal delivery. Appearances are required on 8/28/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

#1.10 Cont'd hearing re: Motion for relief from stay
(Admire Capital Lending LLC VS Debtor)
fr. 11/13/18

Docket 533

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 11/26/18. In light of trustee's notice of withdrawal of opposition to the motion, grant movant relief from stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (4) to pursue non-bankruptcy remedies and for in rem relief, including stay annulment to the date of movant's loan of 9/1/17, for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of outstanding timely written opposition. Deny requests for extraordinary relief in paragraphs 4, 10, 11 and 14 for lack of legal and/or evidentiary support. In re Van Ness, 399 B.R. 897 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 2009). The 14-day waiting period under FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived.

The court does not make a finding of bad faith as to debtor. See In re Dorsey, 476 B.R. 261 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2012).

Movant must lodge a proposed order within 7 days. All registered CM/ECF users must lodge an order using the court's mandatory form order on LOU. Movant may submit on the tentative ruling without an appearance at the hearing, in accordance with Judge Kwan's tentative ruling procedures posted online on the court's website and in hard copy available in the courtroom.

Appearances are optional on 11/28/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. The court has reviewed the moving and opposing papers and is of the view that the motion should be denied or withdrawn because that the relief sought should be requested in the Bricks Hospitality Group, LLC involuntary bankruptcy case before Judge Robles and that it appears to the court that the amended petition in this case adding Bricks as a dba is bogus.

Prior tentative ruling. Because the only votes on the plan were received after the deadline set by the court's balloting deadline of 3/22/17 in the court's order filed and entered on 2/15/17, none of the votes may be counted under the order and FRBP 3017(c) and 3018(a). Because none of the votes cast were timely in order to be counted under the court's deadline order, debtor has not shown that there is at least one impaired class of claims accepting the plan as required for confirmation under 11 U.S.C. 1129(a)(10), so the plan may not be confirmed. Thus, the court is inclined to deny confirmation, but the court would consider a request by debtor to seek relief by motion under FRBP 9006(b)(1) to enlarge the time to cast votes as to the late cast votes based on a sufficient showing of "excusable neglect". See In re Paul, 101 B.R. 228 (Bankr. S.D. Cal. 1989). Appearances are required on 5/3/17.

#14.00 Status conference re: Post confirmation of plan
fr. 3/21/18, 4/25/18, 7/11/18

Docket 62

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 11/26/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 11/28/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 7/9/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 7/11/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 4/23/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 4/25/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. The disclosure statement does not contain adequate information. Regarding treatment of secured claims, the text in the plan refers to Article II, but no Article II is attached. Exhibit C to the plan refers to certain notes for each claim, but these notes do not adequately spell out the treatment of the primary secured claim to Wells Fargo Bank, the senior secured lender for the loan on debtor's residence. The disclosure statement should have a more detailed description of how this claim will be treated under the plan. The plan itself is not much better. It is hard to tell what is being proposed for treatment of the claim. The disclosure statement and plan will have to be revised for sake of clarity. If this is a cramdown situation, it does not appear that a 40 year payout is fair and equitable for this creditor, and debtor should probably consider taking out this creditor when the loan matures under the existing terms. Appearances are required on 3/21/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Tentative Ruling:

The application needs to be more detailed in describing the services to be performed by special litigation counsel. Debtor needs to explain the justification for the representation in the criminal cases against him. Debtor also needs to explain the justification for having counsel based in Santa Monica to bring unlawful detainer actions at $350/hour when it would make more economic sense to have local unlawful detainer counsel resident in Riverside County handle UD matters to be filed in Riverside County for the Beaumont property. fr. 10/24/18, 11/7/18, 11/14/18

Docket 103

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 11/26/18. Although not cited in their papers, the parties should be prepared to discuss the factors setting forth the standard in this circuit for permissive abstention in In re Tucson Estates, Inc., 912 F.2d 1162, 1166-1167 (9th Cir. 1990). See also, In re Szanto, 2016 WL 3256989 (9th Cir. BAP 2016); In re Roger, 2015 WL 7566647 (C.D. Cal. 2015). It seems to the court that the court should permissively abstain and stay the proceedings long enough to allow the state courts to determine on the merits creditor's claims pending in the state court actions which raise substantively noncore, state law claims, for the reasons stated in the court's rulings on creditor's remand motions. It would be helpful for the parties to report on the status of the proceedings in the state court actions because the papers are not informative about that. Appearances are required on 11/28/18.

#1.00 EVIDENTIARY HEARING RE: Motion for order authorizing abandonment
fr. 5/29/18, 9/4/18

Docket 81

 VACATED  REASON: Per order entered on 11/20/18-mb.

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 11/26/18. Off calendar. Since the outstanding objections to the motion have been withdrawn, the court granted trustee's now uncontested motion for abandonment based on the moving papers and the supplemental papers filed in support of the motion and vacated the hearing on 11/29/18 by written order. No appearances are required on 11/29/18.

Prior tentative ruling as of 8/31/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. It appears that the opposing parties may seek a continuance of the status conference based on their ongoing litigation in the various adversary proceedings against the debtor, which is now in mediation. Appearances are required on 9/4/18 to discuss the status of the matter, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. Treat as a contested matter under FRBP 9014 since there are disputed issues of material fact regarding the reasonableness of the trustee's exercise of business judgment to abandon all assets of the estate to the debtor. The court will conduct the hearing as a status conference, and the parties should be prepared to discuss scheduling of pretrial and trial proceedings, including what evidence or discovery they will need for trial. As a suggestion in response to the trustee's reply to the opposition of the two objecting creditors, the court would consider a continuance of the hearing to allow the objecting creditors and their counsel to meet and confer with the trustee to hear in detail why the trustee believes that the assets should be abandoned. Appearances are required on 5/29/18, but counsel and self-represented parties may appear by telephone in accordance with the court's telephone appearance procedures posted online on the court's website.

Docket 390

 VACATED  REASON: Cont'd from 11/29/18 to 12/13/18 at 9:00 a.m. per order entered on 11/21/18-mb.

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 11/26/18. Off calendar. Continued to 12/13/18 at 9:00 a.m. by order entered on 11/21/18. No appearances are required on 11/29/18.

Revised and updated tentative ruling as of 11/13/18. Off calendar. Continued on the court's own motion by separate order to 11/29/18 at 1:30 p.m. No appearances are required on 11/14/18.

Updated tentative ruling as of 8/7/18. The parties filed unilateral pretrial statements rather than a joint pretrial statement. Before the court imposes monetary sanctions of $250 against the culpable party/ies for failing to file a joint pretrial statement as required by LBR 7016-1, the court will afford the parties an opportunity to complete and file a joint pretrial statement as required and intends to continue the pretrial conference for this purpose. Appearances are required on 8/8/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Updated tentative ruling as of 5/7/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 5/8/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 5/1/18. The court has reviewed the unilateral pretrial statements of the parties, which are incomplete and inadequate and will not be approved. The "statements" should be a joint pretrial stipulation, and they lack the exhibit lists of the parties and objections to exhibits thereto. Appearances are required on 5/2/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 3/19/18. No tentative ruling on the merits.

Chapter 11

Appearances are required on 3/21/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Revised tentative ruling as of 3/6/18. The court notes that claimant has a pending motion for abstention on her claims set for hearing on 3/21/18. If the court abstains, this itself will not postpone plan confirmation proceedings because the parties may request the court to estimate the claims for voting on plan confirmation. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 3/7/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 2/5/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 2/7/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. Treat as contested matter under FRBP 9014 because the declarations of the witnesses in support of the moving and opposing papers raise material issues of fact to be resolved in an evidentiary hearing. Treat the hearing on 12/13/17 as a status conference to set a pretrial and trial schedule. The court will not take testimony from witnesses on a law and motion hearing calendar on 12/13/17, and the parties may not call their witnesses to testify on 12/13/17. If any party believes that there are no genuine issues of material fact and the party is entitled to judgment as a matter of law, that party may seek summary judgment upon a proper motion brought pursuant to FRBP 7056 and 9014 and LBR 7056-1. If claimant believes that the court should permissively abstain from hearing this contested matter, then she should bring a proper motion for abstention rather than raising the request in her opposition to the objection. See In re Tucson Estates, Inc., 912 F.2d 1162, 1166-1167 (9th Cir. 1990). However, it seems to the court that it could properly hear the objection to claim as a core proceeding under 28 U.S.C. 157(b)(2)(B) and not abstain under In re Conejo Enterprises, Inc., 96 F.3d 346 (9th Cir. 1996). Appearances are required on 12/13/17 to discuss scheduling of further proceedings, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 11/26/18. Off calendar. Taken off calendar on the court's own motion by separate order pending resolution of joint pretrial stipulation regarding contested matter of debtor's objection to claims of creditor Cindy Magleby. No appearances are required on 11/29/18.

Updated tentative ruling as of 8/7/18. Because the parties filed their joint pretrial statement late, the joint pretrial statement is voluminous and the parties in the related contested matter of Debtor's objection to the claim of Cindy Magleby, claimants' client, filed unilateral pretrial statements rather than a joint pretrial statement as required, the court intends to continue the pretrial conference for this matter to be coordinated with the pretrial conference for the contested matter of Debtor's objection to the claim of Cindy Magleby and to allow additional time for review of the joint pretrial statement. Creditor Banc of California filed a response on 1/31/18 objecting to debtor's noticing approval of the amended disclosure statement for the hearing on 2/7/18, citing the court's oral ruling that creditors should be given 3 weeks notice of hearing on an amended disclosure statement. #5.00 Hearing re: Motion objecting to debtor's claimed personal property exemptions

Tentative Ruling:

Revised tentative ruling as of 12/4/18. The court withdraws the tentative ruling as to whether the motion was late-filed because the docket shows that trustee filed the motion on time on 11/13/18, but had to refile the motion on 11/14/18 due to an incorrect docketing code when originally filed. Thus, the motion was timely filed. In reconsidering the motion, the court will grant the motion for the reasons stated in the moving papers. Debtor has not sufficiently described the particular assets claimed as exempt in order for the trustee to investigate the exemptions either on his Schedule C to his bankruptcy petition or in his opposing papers. 11 U.S.C. 522(l); FRBP 4003(a). "The property must be set forth in sufficient detail to permit the bankruptcy trustee to investigate the exemptions." 2 March, Ahart and Shapiro, California Practice Guide: Bankruptcy, paragraph 7:210 at 7-27 - 7-28 (2017), citing Payne v. Wood, 775 F.2d 202, 207 (7th Cir. 1985). The trustee has shown that there is no such property that could be claimed as exempt that meets the description of paid earnings or retirement accounts that qualify for the claimed exemptions under California Code of Civil Procedure Sections 704.070 and 704.115 in light of debtor's final account filed at the time of conversion of the case to Chapter 7, and debtor has not sufficiently identified in his Schedule C or his opposition, or otherwise shown that there is property that could so qualify. Moreover, the court agrees with trustee that 11 U.S.C. 522(n) is not a proper statutory basis for an exemption as claimed by debtor. Thus, debtor has met his burden of proving his entitlement to the claimed exemptions under California law for his claimed California exemptions. In re Diaz, 547 B.R. 329, 337 (9th Cir. BAP 2016), citing California Code of Civil Procedure Sections 703.580(b) and 704.780(a). Appearances are required on 12/4/18.

Revised and updated tentative ruling as of 12/3/18 at 4:30 p.m. With respect to the opposition to trustee's motion filed by debtor's spouse, Kristen Whitney, purported on debtor's behalf, the court notes that debtor as a self-represented party must appear on his own behalf pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 9011-2, and Ms. Whitney, who is not an attorney at law admitted to practice before the federal courts in the Central District of California, may not represent him. To the extent that Ms. Whitney asserts that debtor is incompetent to represent himself, she cannot do it for him, and she has not been appointed by the court to serve as a guardian ad litem for him in accordance with Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 1004.1.

Deny trustee's motion objecting to debtor's claimed exemptions in part with prejudice and in part without prejudice because trustee's motion is untimely, not being filed within 30 days of the conclusion of the 11 U.S.C. 341(a) meeting of creditors on 10/12/14 (ECF 1295) as required by Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 4003(b)(1). The last day of the 30 day period after the conclusion of the creditors' meeting fell on a Sunday, 11/11/18, which meant that trustee had until the next day not a Saturday, Sunday or a legal holiday under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 9006(a) to file the motion objecting to exemptions, which would have been 11/13/18, a Tuesday, since 11/12/18, a Monday which was observed as a legal holiday for Veterans' Day. Trustee's motion was filed on 11/14/18, a day late, and thus, the property claimed as exempt remains exempt, if it exists (although counsel's signatures on the motion and counsel declaration are dated 11/13/18, the case docket reflects that the motion was filed on 11/14/18 at "11:22:37," or at 11:22 a.m.). See Preblich v. Battley, 181 F.3d 1048, 1052 (9th Cir. 1999)("Unless a 'party in interest' files a 'timely' objection to the debtor's claim of exemption, the property claimed as exempt on such list is deemed exempt and any argument that the property is not exempt is waived."), citing inter alia, 11 U.S.C. 522(l) and Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 4003(b). The motion is denied with prejudice as to the claimed exempt property to the extent it exists. However, it is unclear whether such exempt property exists or the property that the trustee is holding in the estate is such exempt property because the property listed on debtor's final report and account, ECF 761, filed on 2/13/17, does not include property that could be claimed as exempt. Trustee is seeking declaratory relief that the real estate assets that he is holding is not exempt, but fails to describe such assets in his moving papers or provide any evidence showing what these real estate assets are. Thus, the court denies the motion because there is insufficient information or evidence to tell whether the property is subject to the exemption, but the denial is without

Courtroom Deputy:

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 12/3/18. Off calendar. In recognition of President Trump's announcement of a National Day of Mourning for former President George H.W. Bush on Wednesday December 5, 2018, the court is continuing the hearings on Judge Kwan's hearing calendar that day in observance of the National Day of Mourning for former President Bush. The hearing on this matter is continued on the court's own motion to 12/12/18 at 11:00 a.m. No appearances are required on 12/5/18.

Prior tentative ruling. The motion is deficient because: (1) not all creditors were served as required by FRBP 2002(a)(2), 4001(c)(1)(C), 9013, 9014 and 9109, and the unserved creditors from the creditor mailing matrix are: Trope and Trope LLP, LEA Accountancy LLP, Absolute Resolutions Investments, LLC and Leonard L. Gumpert; (2) the mandatory court form, F 4001-2.STMT.FINANCE, was not filed as required by LBR 4001-2(a). The court is inclined to continue the hearing so debtor can correct these deficiencies. #19.00 Cont'd hearing re: Unsecured creditor, Emma Borges' motion for order re: convert the debtor's chapter 11 case to a chapter 7 case re: §1112 of the Bankruptcy Code fr. 11/14/18

Courtroom Deputy:

[Ch 11 s/c set on 12/11/18 at 11:00 a.m.]

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 12/3/18. Off calendar. In recognition of President Trump's announcement of a National Day of Mourning for former President George H.W. Bush on Wednesday December 5, 2018, the court is continuing the hearings on Judge Kwan's hearing calendar that day in observance of the National Day of Mourning for former President Bush. The hearing on this matter is continued on the court's own motion to 12/19/18 at 1:30 p.m. No appearances are required on 12/5/18.

Prior tentative ruling. Overrule evidentiary objections of debtor to Polis declaration. The court is inclined to order debtor to file a written outline of how this case will reorganize with an estimated timetable by 11/21/18 and set a further and separate hearing on the motion on 11/28/18 at 10:00 a.m. to discuss the status of debtor's reorganization efforts. Debtor's opposition really did not show much in the way of the presence of a reasonable likelihood of reorganization to persuade the court to deny the motion at the hearing on 11/14/18, which is somewhat disconcerting, given the age of this case, now approaching its one year anniversary on 11/30/18. The court thinks debtor must make some showing of a reasonable likelihood of a confirmable plan within a reasonable period of time, or otherwise it might be convinced to grant the motion. Appearances are required on 11/14/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

#2.00 Hearing re: Motion for relief from stay
(Terry Solomon VS Debtor)

Docket 28

Tentative Ruling:

Deny movant's requests for extraordinary relief in paragraphs 7 and 9 for lack of legal authority and/or evidentiary support. In re Van Ness, 399 B.R. 897 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 2009).

Deny movant's request for relief under 11 U.S.C. 362(b)(22) that there is no stay since movant has not met the conditions of these provisions with evidence of a valid judgment for possession under 11 U.S.C. 362(b)(22) (movant's judgment was obtained in violation of the automatic stay after the bankruptcy case was filed).

Deny movant's request for relief under 11 U.S.C. 362(b)(23) that there is no stay since movant has not met the conditions of these provisions with evidence of debtor's endangerment of the subject property or illegal use of controlled substances on such property under 11 U.S.C. 362(b)(23).

Deny debtor's request for damages based on alleged violation of stay without prejudice because movant will need to bring his own motion for contempt under Local Bankruptcy Rule 9020-1 for the court to consider the stay violation as a contempt proceeding.

Grant movant's request for stay relief under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (2) for cause to allow movant to pursue its nonbankruptcy legal remedies, such as prosecuting his unlawful detainer action in state court because debtor has no interest in the subject real property, thus, the property is not needed for the reorganization of debtor since this is a liquidation case, and there is no bankruptcy purpose to keep the stay in place because there is no value in debtor's residential tenancy for the Chapter 7 trustee to administered for the creditors. However, the unlawful detainer judgment obtained by movant in violation of stay is void. The unlawful detainer case will have to be redone,

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 12/10/18. Set a discovery cutoff date of 4/30/19 and a pretrial conference for 6/11/19 at 2:00 p.m. with the filing of the joint pretrial stipulation due on 6/4/19. Plaintiff to submit a proposed scheduling order within 7 days of hearing.

Prior tentative ruling. The court has reviewed the joint status report, but notes that the status report is incomplete because page 3 of the form status report is missing. Set a discovery cutoff date of 11/30/18 and a further postdiscovery status conference for 12/11/18 at 1:30 p.m. with a joint status report due on 12/4/18. Appearances are required on 1/16/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Chapter 7

#7.00 Hearing re: First interim application for award of compensation and reimbursement of expenses of Danning, Gill, Diamond & Kollitz, LLP as former general counsel to predecessor chapter 7 trustee and successor chapter 7 trustee

Docket 136

Tentative Ruling:

As of 12/7/18, applicant had not met the requirement under LBR 2016-1(a)(1) (J) of separately filed client declaration that the client has reviewed the application and no objection to it, that is, applicant will need to submit the declaration of the current client representative, the current trustee, not just the declaration of the prior client representative, the former trustee. However, on 12/7/18, the current trustee submitted a declaration on the application, but she objects to all of the claimed allowance rephotographic expenses or photocopy charges. It is unclear whether or not she objects to the claimed fees because she "elected" not to question any time because the case is insolvent and none of the professionals will receive more than 25 to 30% of the fees. The court will consider the application as a contested matter and will expect that the current trustee to do her duty as a fiduciary of the estate and review the fees themselves and decide to interpose objections or not, or otherwise, the court will deem her objections waived. Because the current trustee did not file her declaration on the application until 12/7/18, two business days before the hearing, the court did not review the application on the merits because it did not have her declaration as the client until then, and given the voluminous nature of the application, the court has not reviewed the 500-page application consisting of mainly fee and cost entries. The court is disinclined to rule on the application the court has adequate information on what is the status of administration of the estate, when a final report and account will be filed, how much the estate is administratively insolvent, how much will be needed to fully administer the estate and what impact any interim fee award would have on the assets of the estate. Either the court can treat the application as a contested matter which will be litigated now, or the court will reserve ruling on the application until the trustee is ready to file a final report and account and the application can be heard on a final basis. Appearances are required on 12/11/18, but counsel, trustee and applicant may appear by telephone.

#8.00 Hearing re: Application for payment of final fees and/or expenses for Snell & Wilmer L.L.P., trustee's attorney

Docket 138

Tentative Ruling:

Because the trustee has not given notice of intent to file a final report and account in this case, the court will treat the fee application on an interim basis only pursuant to LBR 2016-1. As for the interim fee application of Danning Gill, former general bankruptcy court for predecessor and current trustees, the court is disinclined to rule on the application the court has adequate information on what is the status of administration of the estate, when a final report and account will be filed, how much the estate is administratively insolvent, how much will be needed to fully administer the estate and what impact any interim fee award would have on the assets of the estate. Without such information, the court may reserve ruling on the application until the trustee is ready to file a final report and account and the application can be heard on a final basis.

Docket 284

Tentative Ruling:

Overrule objection of Erik Cooper to trustee's motion based on alleged service deficiencies because the evidence is undisputed based on service declarations of counsel and its office staff that service was proper, that the original copy of the moving papers served on 10/31/18 was legible and that the letter sized copy of the moving papers was served by priority mail on Cooper on 11/7/18, 34 days before the noticed hearing (exceeding the minimum notice of 21 days before the hearing).

Overrule objections of Erik Cooper and John Frick in their joint objection to trustee's motion because the opposition was not timely filed and served 14 days before hearing as required by Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(f) and may be deemed to consent to granting of relief adverse to them under Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(h), the parties do not have standing to object as they stated in their opposition to the trustee's motion to disallow their judgment liens that they are not asserting a lien or a claim against the estate and are not thus creditors of the estate and their objections otherwise lack merit.

Grant trustee's motion for order approving settlement agreement and approving sale of assets and overbid procedures for the reasons stated in the moving papers, except disapprove requirement of a minimum overbid of $75,000 as unreasonable, but approve minimum overbid requirement of $55,000 ($5,000 over the proposed sales price). The moving papers demonstrate that the motion should be approved pursuant to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 9019 the settlement was negotiated in good faith by the trustee and the setting parties in an arms length negotiation, the trustee has a reasonable belief that the proposed settlement negotiable under the facts based on the information relating to the execution of the will by the decedent bequeathing certain real property to the settling party rather than

Tentative Ruling:

Deny trustee's motion to disallow notices of judgment lien without prejudice because it is a proceeding to determine the validity, priority or extent of a lien or other interest in property and related declaratory relief, which must be by adversary proceeding pursuant to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 7001(2) and (9).

Deny trustee's request for sanctions for automatic stay violations under 11 U.S.C. 362(k) because a Chapter 7 trustee lacks standing to seek such relief because he is not an "individual" for purposes of 11 U.S.C. 362(k). In re Pace, 67 F.3d 187, 192-193 (9th Cir. 1995)(applying predecessor statute, 11 U.S.C. 362(h)).

Deny all requests for relief in the joint objection of Erik Cooper and John Frick without prejudice because such requests for relief are not properly raised in their objection, but must be by motion as required by Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 9013 because they are requests for an order, and as such, must comply with the procedural requirements of Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1 governing motions before this court. The joint objection of Cooper and Frick is not a motion which complies with Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1.

Deny trustee's requests to strike pleadings and levying sanctions against Erik Cooper and John Frick without prejudice because such requests for relief are not properly raised in their objection, but must be by motion as required by Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 9013 because they are requests for an order, and as such, must comply with the procedural requirements of Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1 governing motions before this court. Prior tentative ruling. Given the severity of the circumstances of turnover in the circumstances of this case, if plaintiff seeks judgment against defendants (meaning eviction of defendants from their residence which they had conveyed to plaintiff for it to perform certain services to save their home from foreclosure in exchange for rent payments and shared equity arrangements, which defendants allegedly defaulted), the court will order that plaintiff serve any dispositive motion on defendants by personal delivery. Docket 390

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 12/10/18. Off calendar. The court on its own motion continues the hearing in light of the pending motion of counsel for creditor Cindy Magleby to withdraw and of the need for the assigned judge to recover from recently scheduled but urgent dental surgery scheduled for 12/13/18. The hearing will be continued to 12/19/18 at 11:00 a.m. as a status conference to discuss the impact of the pending motion of counsel for creditor to withdraw and for rescheduling. No appearances are required on 12/13/18.

Revised and updated tentative ruling as of 11/13/18. Off calendar. Continued on the court's own motion by separate order to 11/29/18 at 1:30 p.m. No appearances are required on 11/14/18.

Updated tentative ruling as of 8/7/18. The parties filed unilateral pretrial statements rather than a joint pretrial statement. Before the court imposes monetary sanctions of $250 against the culpable party/ies for failing to file a joint pretrial statement as required by LBR 7016-1, the court will afford the parties an opportunity to complete and file a joint pretrial statement as required and intends to continue the pretrial conference for this purpose. Appearances are required on 8/8/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Updated tentative ruling as of 5/7/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 5/8/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 5/1/18. The court has reviewed the unilateral pretrial statements of the parties, which are incomplete and inadequate and will not be approved. The "statements" should be a joint pretrial stipulation, and they lack the exhibit lists of the parties and objections to exhibits thereto.

Prior tentative ruling as of 3/19/18. No tentative ruling on the merits.
Appearances are required on 3/21/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Revised tentative ruling as of 3/6/18. The court notes that claimant has a pending motion for abstention on her claims set for hearing on 3/21/18. If the court abstains, this itself will not postpone plan confirmation proceedings because the parties may request the court to estimate the claims for voting on plan confirmation. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 3/7/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 2/5/18. No tentative ruling on the merits.
Appearances are required on 2/7/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. Treat as contested matter under FRBP 9014 because the declarations of the witnesses in support of the moving and opposing papers raise material issues of fact to be resolved in an evidentiary hearing. Treat the hearing on 12/13/17 as a status conference to set a pretrial and trial schedule. The court will not take testimony from witnesses on a law and motion hearing calendar on 12/13/17, and the parties may not call their witnesses to testify on 12/13/17. If any party believes that there are no genuine issues of material fact and the party is entitled to judgment as a matter of law, that party may seek summary judgment upon a proper motion brought pursuant to FRBP 7056 and 9014 and LBR 7056-1. If claimant believes that the court should permissively abstain from hearing this contested matter, then she should bring a proper motion for abstention rather than raising the request in her opposition to the objection. See In re Tucson Estates, Inc., 912 F.2d 1162, 1166-1167 (9th Cir. 1990). However, it seems to the court that it could properly hear the objection to claim as a core proceeding under 28 U.S.C. 157(b)(2)(B) and not abstain under In re Conejo Enterprises, Inc., 96 F.3d 346 (9th Cir. 1996). Appearances are required on 12/13/17 to discuss scheduling of further proceedings, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Docket 11

 VACATED  REASON: Cont'd from 12/13/18 to 1/18/19 at 9:00 a.m. p.m. per stip & order entered on 12/04/18-mb.

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 12/10/18. Off calendar. Continued by stipulation and order to 1/18/19 at 9:00 a.m. No appearances are required on 12/13/18.

Prior tentative ruling as of 11/5/18. No tentative ruling will be issued for the evidentiary hearing. Appearances are required on 11/8/18.

Prior tentative ruling. Treat as a contested matter under FRBP 9014 because it appears that there are disputed issues of material fact regarding debtor's good faith in requesting conversion of the case to Chapter 13 and debtor's income eligibility for Chapter 13 based on her amended schedules asserting a family contribution from her brother. See In re Deutsch, 529 B.R. 308 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2015). The court has questions about trustee's estimate of $55,000 in anticipated Chapter 7 administrative expenses which seem awfully high in this case still in its early stages. Appearances are required on 9/18/18 to discuss scheduling of an evidentiary hearing to resolve disputed issues of material fact on the motion, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. Deny without prejudice for lack of sufficient notice since not all creditors on the case mailing matrix were served as required by FRBP 9019, 2002 and 9013, including AEC Logistics Corp., BMW Financial Services NA, LLC, Flacco Truck Repair, Internal Revenue Service, Los Angeles County Treasurer and Tax Collector, Nissan and Wells Fargo Financial Leasing Inc., and some creditors were served, but not at all addresses indicated on the mailing matrix. Debtor needs to serve creditors at all of the addresses indicated on the mailing matrix, absent an adequate evidentiary showing that its service list is completely accurate.

The court agrees with debtor that the creditors opposing the motion have not addressed the factors in In re A & C Properties, 784 F.2d 1377, 1381 (9th Cir. 1986), that is, the probability of success in the litigation, the difficulties, if any, to be encouraged in the matter of collection, the complexity of the litigation involved, and the expense, inconvenience and delay necessarily attending it and the paramount interest of the creditors and a proper deference to their reasonable views. The objecting creditors merely argue that without discovery, it is premature and not reasonable to evaluate the settlement at this time, and the settlement presents negligible and/or insignificant benefit to the creditors as a whole. These arguments do not address the arguments raised by the motion that the settlement is fair and equitable, given the hazards and cost of the litigation and that the settlement provides value to the estate, which has not been shown to be greater otherwise if the case is not settled, that is, the objecting creditors have not shown that there would be any greater benefit to the estate and creditors through litigation. Saying the settlement is of negligible and/or insignificant benefit does not show that there is a better alternative.

Prior tentative ruling. The court agrees with defendants that actions to set aside fraudulent transfers of assets of a bankruptcy debtor belongs to the bankruptcy estate and may be the basis for a motion to dismiss because actions to collect upon assets of the estate are subject to the automatic stay and relief from stay has not been obtained by the plaintiffs. In re MortgageAmerica Corp., 714 F.2d 1266, 1275 (5th Cir. 1983); In re Curry & Sorenson, Inc., 57 B.R. 824, 827-828 (9th Cir. BAP 1986); but see, In re Colonial Realty Co., 980 F.2d 125, 130-132 (2nd Cir. 1992). As noted by plaintiffs, there is a division in circuit authority as to whether property of the bankruptcy estate includes property subject to a fraudulent transfer avoidance action is part of the bankruptcy estate before the avoidance action. See Peter Spero, Fraudulent Transfers, Prebankruptcy Planning and Exemptions, Section 3.3 (Westlaw online Sept. 2017 update), citing, In re MortgageAmerica Corp., supra; In re Colonial Realty Co., supra; Rajala v. Garner, 709 F.3d 1031 (10th Cir. 2013); In re Allen, 768 F.3d 274 (3rd Cir. 2014). There is no definitive case authority in the Ninth Circuit, though the Bankruptcy Appellate Panel of the Ninth Circuit has stated that a fraudulent transfer avoidance action to recover property fraudulently transferred by a bankruptcy debtor is an asset of the debtor's bankruptcy estate. In re Curry & Sorenson, Inc., supra. The court will follow the BAP rule in Curry & Sorenson, Inc., as the current law of the Ninth Circuit.

Having said this, however, before the court rules on defendants' motions to dismiss, the court notes that plaintiffs could obtain authority of this court to allow them as parties other than the trustee or debtor-in-possession to pursue litigation on behalf of the estate (as opposed for themselves only). In re Curry & Sorenson, Inc., supra; In re Spauding Composites Co., 207 B.R. 899, 903 (9th Cir. BAP 1997). If plaintiffs are seeking to enforce their own interests as creditors, the court would thus grant the motions to dismiss, but if plaintiffs are seeking authorization from the court to pursue the litigation on behalf of the estate and its creditors, they should file and serve an appropriate motion, and the court would consider it subject to hearing from other interested parties.

Deny request for an order to show cause and/or sanctions for violation of stay since the stay is not intended to protect non debtor parties. 11 U.S.C. 362(a); see also, Ingersoll-Rand Financial Corp. v. Miller Mining Co., 817 F.2d 1424, 1427 (9th Cir. 1987). Moreover, it would be difficult to show civil contempt here that plaintiffs willfully violated a specific and definite order of the court by clear and convincing evidence, see, e.g., In re Dyer, 322 F.3d 1178, 1190-1191 (9th Cir. 2003), in bringing the fraudulent transfer action against defendants, given the uncertainty of the law as indicated by the lack of definitive case authority in the Ninth Circuit and otherwise divided circuit authority on the question of whether a fraudulently transferred property before avoidance is property of a debtor's bankruptcy estate circuit.

(SIX P.I.D. Inc. VS Debtor)

ACTION IN NON-BANKRUPTCY FORUM RE: 3217 Acalanes Avenue,

Docket 348

Tentative Ruling:

The court does not see the factual and/or legal bases for movant's requests for extraordinary relief in paragraphs 7 and 8 of the prayer for relief in the motion, and the court will require movant to file a supplemental brief to show that there are reasonable bases in fact and law for requesting such relief. See In re Van Ness, 399 B.R. 897 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 2009).

Movant does not provide the legal and/or factual support for the request for extraordinary relief in paragraph 7 requesting any stay relief order is binding and effective in any future bankruptcy case, no matter who the debtor is. There is persuasive contrary authority not addressed in the moving papers. In re Van Ness, 399 B.R. at 905-907.

Movant does not provide the legal and/or factual support for the request for extraordinary relief in paragraph 8 requesting retroactive relief as to all bankruptcy cases filed affecting the property retroactive to 6/20/16, which raises procedural due process issues for the court purporting to act in other bankruptcy cases.

Movant does not provide the legal and/or factual support for the request for retroactive stay annulment because it has failed to show that the legal standards of National Environmental Waste Corp. v. City of Riverside (In re National Environmental Waste Corp.), 129 F.3d 1052 (9th Cir. 1997) and In re Gasprom, Inc., 500 B.R. 598 (9th Cir. BAP 2013) have been met.

Chapter 11

Movant does not provide the legal and/or factual support for the request for extraordinary relief in paragraph 8 requesting in rem stay relief under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(4). There is persuasive, if not controlling, contrary authority not addressed in the moving papers indicating that a purchaser at a foreclosure sale like movant lacks standing to seek in rem relief under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(4). In re Ellis, 523 B.R. 673, 678-680 (9th Cir. BAP 2014).

In order for the court to grant extraordinary relief requested by movant, the court will need to determine that there are factual and legal bases for such relief, which are not evident in the motion. The supplemental brief will be due on 1/8/19, one week before a continued hearing on 1/15/19 at 11:00 a.m.

The court would consider granting in rem relief under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and 11 U.S.C. 105(a) on a prospective basis only, but movant may be able to show entitlement to retroactive stay annulment relief as discussed above. The court does not make a finding that the petition was filed in bad faith for lack of sufficient evidence or that the claims are nondischargeable because stay relief proceedings are summary in nature and do not go to the merits of the claims. Otherwise, no tentative ruling on the merits.

Appearances are required on 12/18/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

In re Ellis, 523 B.R. 673, 678-680 (9th Cir. BAP 2014).

Movant does not provide the legal and/or factual support for the request for stay relief under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(2) to show debtor's lack of equity and that the property is not needed for the effective reorganization of debtor since there is no evidence of title, or precisely, debtor's lack of title, or valuation evidence of debtor's lack of equity since movant has the burden of showing lack of equity under 11 U.S.C. 362(g)(1).

In order for the court to grant extraordinary relief requested by movant, the court will need to determine that there are factual and legal bases for such relief, which are not evident in the motion. The supplemental brief will be due on 1/8/19, one week before a continued hearing on 1/15/19 at 11:00 a.m.

The court would consider granting in rem relief under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and 11 U.S.C. 105(a) on a prospective basis only, but movant may be able to show entitlement to retroactive stay annulment relief as discussed above. The court does not make a finding that the petition was filed in bad faith for lack of sufficient evidence or that the claims are nondischargeable because stay relief proceedings are summary in nature and do not go to the merits of the claims. Otherwise, no tentative ruling on the merits.

Appearances are required on 12/18/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

#2.00 Cont'd hearing re: Second interim application for fees and reimbursement of costs of Dumas & Kim, APC., counsel for trustee fr. 10/2/18, 11/6/18

Docket 481

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 12/17/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 12/19/18.

Revised tentative ruling as of 11/6/18. Deny without prejudice. The court is not inclined to approve applicant's large fee request of $387,101.57 in this Chapter 7 bankruptcy case while there is no indication when and how the case will be closed and distributions will be made to general creditors, that there is no indication that there will be any meaningful dividend to general creditors, the firm has already received a large interim fee payment of $450,000 already in this case and it appears that the lion's share of the assets of the estate is going to pay the firm's fees. See In re Scoggins, 517 B.R. 206, 221 and n. 13 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 2014)("One may ask what is the harm in a disproportionate trustee or professional fee if nobody objects? The harm is the loss of public confidence in the integrity of the bankruptcy system if it comes to be regarded as managed primarily for the benefit of those who operate it."), citing and quoting R.R. Palmer, A History of the Modern World at 44 (Knopf 1963)("The [14th Century] Church faced the danger that besets every successful institution--a form of government, an army or navy, a business corporation, a labor union, a university, to choose modern examples--the danger of believing that the institution exists for the benefit of those who conduct its affairs."). The impression here is with this application, only the professionals are benefiting from the estate with no prospect of creditor distributions in sight. #8.10 Cont'd pretrial conference re: Debtor's motion to disallow claims of Cindy S. Magleby (claim numbers 13, 7, and 12) fr. 11/14/18, 11/29/18, 12/13/18

Docket 390

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 12/18/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 12/19/18 to discuss status of representation of creditor Cindy Magleby in light of the pending motion to withdraw of her current bankruptcy counsel, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 12/10/18. Off calendar. The court on its own motion continues the hearing in light of the pending motion of counsel for creditor Cindy Magleby to withdraw and of the need for the assigned judge to recover from recently scheduled but urgent dental surgery scheduled for 12/13/18. The hearing will be continued to 12/19/18 at 11:00 a.m. as a status conference to discuss the impact of the pending motion of counsel for creditor to withdraw and for rescheduling. No appearances are required on 12/13/18.

Revised and updated tentative ruling as of 11/13/18. Off calendar. Continued on the court's own motion by separate order to 11/29/18 at 1:30 p.m. No appearances are required on 11/14/18.

Updated tentative ruling as of 8/7/18. The parties filed unilateral pretrial statements rather than a joint pretrial statement. Before the court imposes monetary sanctions of $250 against the culpable party/ies for failing to file a joint pretrial statement as required by LBR 7016-1, the court will afford the parties an opportunity to complete and file a joint pretrial statement as required and intends to continue the pretrial conference for this purpose. Appearances are required on 8/8/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Updated tentative ruling as of 5/7/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 5/8/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Chapter 11

Prior tentative ruling as of 5/1/18. The court has reviewed the unilateral pretrial statements of the parties, which are incomplete and inadequate and will not be approved. The "statements" should be a joint pretrial stipulation, and they lack the exhibit lists of the parties and objections to exhibits thereto. Appearances are required on 5/2/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 3/19/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 3/21/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Revised tentative ruling as of 3/6/18. The court notes that claimant has a pending motion for abstention on her claims set for hearing on 3/21/18. If the court abstains, this itself will not postpone plan confirmation proceedings because the parties may request the court to estimate the claims for voting on plan confirmation. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 3/7/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 2/5/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 2/7/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. Treat as contested matter under FRBP 9014 because the declarations of the witnesses in support of the moving and opposing papers raise material issues of fact to be resolved in an evidentiary hearing. Treat the hearing on 12/13/17 as a status conference to set a pretrial and trial schedule. The court will not take testimony from witnesses on a law and motion hearing calendar on 12/13/17, and the parties may not call their witnesses to testify on 12/13/17. If any party believes that there are no genuine issues of material fact and the party is entitled to judgment as a matter of law, that party may seek summary judgment upon a proper motion brought pursuant to FRBP 7056 and 9014 and LBR 7056-1. If claimant believes that the court should permissively abstain from hearing this contested matter, then she should bring a proper motion for abstention rather than raising the request in her opposition to the objection. See In re Tucson Estates, Inc., 912 F.2d 1162, 1166-1167 (9th Cir. 1990). However, it seems to the court that it could properly hear the objection to claim as a core proceeding under 28 U.S.C. 157(b)(2)(B) and not abstain under In re Conejo Enterprises, Inc., 96 F.3d 346 (9th Cir. 1996). projected income based on its principal's consulting income of $12,500 per month is not supported by any credible evidence for this projection. The demonstrated history in this case does not support the projection, and there is no credible explanation of how the income can be generated at that level to demonstrate plan feasibility under 11 U.S.C. 1129(a)(11). Debtor has not shown that it is likely to have at least one impaired class of claims to accept its plan under 11 U.S.C. 1129(a)(10) since there is no credible evidence indicating any creditor support for the plan (debtor's conclusory assertions are not evidence). Based on what has been submitted in the papers, the court is inclined to find that debtor has not met its burden of proof on the second prong of 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(2) that the property is necessary for its effective reorganization, i.e., that its plan could be confirmed by a reasonable bankruptcy judge and that the stay relief motion should be granted. #18.00 Cont'd hearing re: Unsecured creditor, Emma Borges' motion for order re: convert the debtor's chapter 11 case to a chapter 7 case re: §1112 of the Bankruptcy Code fr. 11/14/18, 12/5/18

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 12/17/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 12/19/18.

Prior tentative ruling as of 12/17/18. No tentative ruling will be issued for the evidentiary hearing on creditor's motion to convert case to Chapter 7. Appearances are required on 12/19/18.

Prior tentative ruling as of 12/3/18. Off calendar. In recognition of President Trump's announcement of a National Day of Mourning for former President George H.W. Bush on Wednesday December 5, 2018, the court is continuing the hearings on Judge Kwan's hearing calendar that day in observance of the National Day of Mourning for former President Bush. The hearing on this matter is continued on the court's own motion to 12/19/18 at 1:30 p.m. No appearances are required on 12/5/18.

Prior tentative ruling. Overrule evidentiary objections of debtor to Polis declaration. The court is inclined to order debtor to file a written outline of how this case will reorganize with an estimated timetable by 11/21/18 and set a further and separate hearing on the motion on 11/28/18 at 10:00 a.m. to discuss the status of debtor's reorganization efforts. Debtor's opposition really did not show much in the way of the presence of a reasonable likelihood of reorganization to persuade the court to deny the motion at the hearing on 11/14/18, which is somewhat disconcerting, given the age of this case, now approaching its one year anniversary on 11/30/18. The court thinks debtor must make some showing of a reasonable likelihood of a confirmable plan within a reasonable period of time, or otherwise it might be convinced to grant the motion. Appearances are required on 11/14/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.
