Chapter 7

#4.00 Cont'd hearing re: Motion for order authorizing substantive consolidation of the debtors' estates
fr. 12/3/19, 12/10/19

Docket 42

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 1/6/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 1/7/20, but counsel and self-represented parties may appear by telephone in accordance with the court's telephone appearance procedures.

Prior tentative ruling as of 12/9/19. Based on the court's order for reargument of the motion, the court will hear further argument from the parties on the standing of the objecting party and the implications of substantive consolidation in these cases. Appearances are required on 12/10/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. Overrule opposition of Robert Whitney Latimer, II, to trustee's motion for substantive consolidation on grounds that he lacks standing to object as despite his contention that he is a creditor, he has not filed any claim, nor is he listed as a creditor in either bankruptcy case on the petitions and schedules of debtors. Matter of Fondiller, 707 F.2d 441, 443 (9th Cir. 1983). His status as a defendant in an adversary proceeding is not enough to confer standing to object. Id.

Grant motion of trustee for substantive consolidation for the reasons stated in the moving and reply papers, specifically, on grounds that a majority of the debts in both cases are community debts for which debtors are jointly liable, indicating that debtors were treated as a single economic unit and did not rely upon their separate identity in extending credit and that their affairs were so entangled during their marriage that consolidation would benefit all creditors. In re Bonham, 229 F.3d 750, 766 (9th Cir. 2000).

Appearances are required on 12/3/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. The court has reviewed the joint status report. #7.00 Hearing re: Confirmation of plan
fr. 9/4/19, 10/10/19, 11/21/19

Docket 144

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 1/6/20. See tentative ruling on matter number 5.

Prior tentative ruling as of 11/18/19. Approve disclosure statement describing second amended Chapter 11 plan proposed by debtors as containing adequate information for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition, but on condition that disclosure statement and proposed plan be modified that: (1) disclosure statement and proposed plan provide for full payment of priority tax claims of IRS and County of Los Angeles within 5 years of the order for relief (i.e., petition date on 1/21/19) as required by 11 U.S.C. 1129(a)(9)(C) and (D), which require a payoff within 48 months (not 60 months); and (2) a deadline for objection to claims in the disclosure statement and proposed plan should be inserted. It does not appear that adjustments in payments of the priority tax claims would jeopardize feasibility since the tax claims are relatively small. The proposed schedule for plan confirmation proceeding is reasonable. Appearances are required on 11/21/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 7/1/19. Appearances are required on 7/3/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

#1.00 EVIDENTIARY HEARING RE: Motion for turnover of personal property of the estate to Swing House Rehearsal and Recording, Inc.

Docket 672

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 1/6/20. No tentative ruling will be issued for the evidentiary hearing. Appearances are required on 1/10/20.

Prior tentative ruling. No tentative ruling on the merits as there are factual disputes regarding ownership of the iPhone and the adoption of the company employee handbook, which have bearing on whether former officer's communications on the iPhone and MacBook were privileged. There are conflicts in the testimony of Jaurigui and Winsen and supporting documents as to when the iPhone was purchased (i.e., when and what model), who the buyer was, the officer or the company, and whether the company employee handbook was adopted by the company. These factual disputes will need to be resolved before the court can apply the appropriate law of privilege. Appearances are required on 11/20/19, but counsel may appear by telephone. The parties should be prepared to discuss how the court should resolve these evidentiary conflicts.

#5.00 Cont'd hearing re: Motion for relief from stay
(MMRC, LLC VS Debtor)
fr. 8/13/19, 11/12/19, 11/14/19

Docket 127

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 1/13/20. The court has granted debtor's motion to approve the settlement between him and movant resolving the dispute between them regarding adequate protection, automatic stay and plan treatment terms. It thus appears that movant's stay relief motion is moot by virtue of the parties' settlement, though the settlement does not refer to the pending stay relief motion. Appearances are optional on 1/14/20, but counsel may appear by telephone. If no appearance is made, the court will assume that the stay relief motion is moot and will deny it as moot without prejudice. If this is incorrect, the parties should appear and inform the court as to how to proceed with the motion.

Prior tentative ruling as of 11/12/19. In their stipulation to continue the hearing on 11/12/19 to 11/14/19, the parties indicated that they have reached a settlement which is being currently documented. The parties should advise the court when they will be able to document their settlement and how the court should proceed on the pending motion in light of the settlement. Appearances are required on 11/14/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 11/8/19. Off calendar. Continued by stipulation and order to 11/14/19 at 11:30 a.m. No appearances are required on 11/12/19.

Prior tentative ruling as of 11/7/19. The court is inclined to deny the stay relief motion for now because debtor is the indirect beneficial owner of real property as the 100% shareholder of the entity that holds title to the property and that he is seeking to have the entity dissolved and/or have the property transferred by the entity to him. Thus, it appears to the court that the estate has an indirect beneficial interest in the property which is property of the estate under the particular circumstances of this case. Debtor is taking steps to realize potential value in the property he indirectly owns to pay off the existing lien to movant and to pay other creditors, and it seems plausible that he could fix and flip the property for a profit to pay creditors. Debtor argues that his burden "is merely show that SOME Plan is not 'patently unconfirmable.'" Further Opposition, ECF 184 at 4; see also, Movant's Supplemental Brief, ECF 172 at 3, citing In re Sun Valley Newspapers, Inc., 171 B.R. 71, 75 (9th Cir. BAP 1994)(cited for the proposition that debtor must make a showing that a proposed or contemplated plan is not patently unconfirmable and has a realistic chance of being confirmed). The court would not put it that way, but rather as the Ninth Circuit stated in In re Bonner Mall Partnership, 2 F.3d 899, 902 n. 4 (9th Cir. 1993), "[a] debtor must, however, produce some evidence that its plan could be confirmed by a reasonable bankruptcy judge." Debtor's declaration in opposition indicates some evidence that a fix and flip for the property could be part of a confirmable plan. The court agrees with debtor that movant's claim could be modified despite it being a matured loan and an appropriate cramdown rate of interest can be proposed in a plan and that adequate protection is not necessary where the creditor is undersecured based on the "as is" valuation of the property. The court notes that debtor in his further opposition to reply, ECF 193, stated that he was going to refinance the loan to pay off movant in full, but provided no specific details, and that previously debtor stated that he was obtaining construction financing in his original opposition, ECF 141. The court was contemplating denying the motion without prejudice and allow 3 months for debtor to formulate a course of action for fixing and flipping the property or for obtaining a refinancing loan. The issue of the effectiveness of the transfer of the property to debtor from the entity or the dissolution of the entity is material as to whether or not there can be a refinancing loan or a construction loan. Given that 3 months from now will be the one year anniversary of the case, that should be enough time to know whether there will be a viable project for the property or not, that is, whether a plan could be confirmed by a reasonable bankruptcy judge as to the property. Appearances are required on 11/12/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. Sustain debtor's objection to appraisal report of movant's appraiser, Eric Burroughs, for the reasons stated in the objection and for lack of compliance with 28 U.S.C. 1746(2) and Local Bankruptcy Rule 5005-4 and Court Manual Section 3.4(b) because signature is not under declaration of penalty of perjury and does not conform to requirements of handwritten signature of the non-CM/ECF user witness. Because the appraisal report is not admissible, deny motion for stay relief without prejudice for lack of competent, admissible evidence of valuation to meet movant's burden of proving the lack of equity under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (2) and (g) (1). In the reply, movant raises a new argument that the subject property is not property of the estate, which is in violation of Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(g)(4) that "[n]ew arguments or matters raised for the first time in reply documents will not be considered." Movant may reassert this new argument in a new motion since denial of the motion will be without prejudice. Appearances are required on 8/13/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

(Rehabbers Financial, Inc. dba Aztec Financial VS Debtor)
fr. 9/10/19, 10/15/19, 11/19/19

Docket 161

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 1/13/20. The court has reviewed debtor's unilateral status report. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 1/14/20, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 11/18/19. Based on this record, it appears that valuation of the subject property is not in dispute since the "as is" values appear to be comparable and there is no equity at this time, though debtor contends that the property as developed (i.e., "as completed") would be worth much more and would provide value to the estate if he develops the property. While the lack of equity is shown under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(2), the remaining issue is whether that the property is necessary for debtor's reorganization, or there is some evidence that his plan of reorganization could be confirmed by a reasonable bankruptcy judge. In re Bonner Mall Partnership, 2 F.3d 899, 902 n. 4 (9th Cir. 1993). Debtor as the party opposing stay relief has the burden on this issue under 11 U.S.C. 362(g)(2), and debtor's unrebutted evidentiary showing in his and the Martinez and Wiltchik declarations that he could develop the property to generate value for the estate could be part of a plan of reorganization that could be confirmed by a reasonable bankruptcy judge. At this point, there is no evidence that the property is declining in value or that an equity cushion is eroding to warrant adequate protection under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1). The court is inclined to deny the stay relief motion without prejudice, and allow debtor for the time being a reasonable time to propose a plan which includes development of this property, although the court notes that this case is almost a year old and debtor will need to propose a plan within a reasonable time. Appearances are required on 11/19/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Chapter 11

#5.00 Cont'd hearing re: Motion to convert chapter 11 case to chapter 7
fr. 12/4/19

Docket 167

Tentative Ruling:

Revised tentative ruling as of 1/14/20. In light of debtor's death, the court considers Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 1016 on the death or incompetency of a bankruptcy debtor, stating inter alia, that "[i]f a reorganization . . . case is pending under chapter 11 . . . , the case may be dismissed; or if further administration is possible and in the best interests of the parties, the case may proceed and be concluded in the same manner, so far as possible, as through the death or incompetency had not occurred. See Order Continuing Post-Confirmation Status Conference, filed and entered on October 21, 2019 (Docket No. 163); see also, 9 Levin and Sommer, Collier on Bankruptcy, paragraph 1016.03 at 1016-4 - 1016-5 (16th ed. 2019). However, Rule 1016 does not prescribe the mechanics for bringing before the court the question of what to do following the death of the debtor in a Chapter 11 case. In re Eads, 135 B.R. 380, 383 and n. 2 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 1991). In an adversary proceeding, Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 7025, which incorporates Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 25 by reference, regarding a motion for substitution applies, but in a bankruptcy case in general, Rule 7025 does not expressly apply, but where there is no applicable Local Bankruptcy Rule, which does not cover this situation, pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 1001-1(e)(1) and (2), the court may look to parallel or analogous rules in the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy or Civil Procedure or proceed in any lawful manner not inconsistent with the Local Bankruptcy Rules or the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure. Thus, the court could apply Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 25(a) and/or Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure to the extent this would not be inconsistent with Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 1016 because the confirmed plan is now in default and there is no cure after the death of the debtor. In light of the death of debtor, the court must apply Rule 1016, but the case law is mixed as to whether or not the court could order a conversion of the case after the death of the debtor in a reorganization case under Chapter 11 or 13 of the Bankruptcy Code. Compare In re Roberts, 570 B.R. 532 (Bankr. N.D. Miss. 2017) (Chapter 13 case may be converted after death of debtors and is inconsistent with Rule 1016 stating that a case may be dismissed or further administration (i.e., not conversion) may be allowed) with In re Spiser, 232 B.R. 669 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. 1999)(Chapter 13 case may not be converted after death of debtors because this is inconsistent with Rule 1016). Pursuant to Rule 1016, the case may be dismissed or further administration allowed, but if the case is converted to Chapter 7, it is unclear that the case can be administered because it appears that the only asset of value in the bankruptcy and probate estates is the residence that debtor co-owned with his spouse through a revocable living trust, which became an asset of the probate estate pursuant to California Probate Code Section 19001 on debtor's death. Debtor's confirmed reorganization plan provided that all property of the bankruptcy estate vested in the reorganized debtor upon the effective date of the plan. Plan, Docket No. 78, filed on May 1, 2018. The confirmation order provided that if the case is converted to Chapter 7, the property of the reorganized debtor or successor to the estate under the plan that has not been distributed is to be vested in the Chapter 7 bankruptcy estate. Confirmation Order, filed and entered on August 2, 2018 (Docket No. 96). When debtor died, the assets that he owned as the reorganized debtor became part of the probate estate, and the federal courts lack jurisdiction over disposition of property in the custody of the state probate court. Theoretically, perhaps, the court could grant the conversion motion and under the terms of the plan and confirmation order, the property of the bankruptcy estate would revert in the Chapter 7 bankruptcy estate, but this court as a federal court would lack jurisdiction to order any turnover from the state probate court under the probate jurisdiction exception. Marshall v. Marshall, 547 U.S. 310, 311-312 (2006). The court is inclined to dismiss the Chapter 11 bankruptcy case pursuant to Rule 1016 because dismissal is expressly provided for under that rule unless further administration is possible and in the best interest of the parties as the case cannot proceed and be concluded in the same manner as far as possible as through the death had not occurred. This is no longer possible because the confirmed plan was dependent on debtor's income earned during the plan term. The only future administration possible is distribution of debtor's assets, including the residence, which is in the custody of the state probate court. The best interest of creditors, such as movant, is served in their filing claims Treat creditor David Tilem's motion to convert case under 11 U.S.C. 1112(b)(1) as a contested matter under FRBP 9014 in light of the opposition of proposed representative of debtor's probate estate, David Kudrave. However, the probate petition is pending with a hearing to have taken place on the petition on 11/26/19. In determining a motion to convert or dismiss a Chapter 11 bankruptcy case under 11 U.S.C. 1112(b)(1), the court is to engage in a two-step analysis, first, to determine whether cause exists to dismiss or convert, and second, to determine whether dismissal, conversion or appointment of a trustee or examiner is in the best interests of the creditors and the estate, and to identify whether there are unusual circumstances that establish that dismissal or conversion is not in the best interests of creditors and the estate. In re Sullivan, 522 B.R. 604, 612 (9th Cir. BAP 2014). As to step one, showing cause, it appears that cause is shown based on debtor's failure to file post-confirmation status reports as set forth in the order confirming the Chapter 11 plan and on a material default in not escrowing funds to pay creditor's professional fees as provided in the confirmed plan. 11 U.S.C. 1112(b)(4)(E) and 1112(b)(4)(N). Whether or not there are other plan defaults such as making of plan and mortgage payments and payment of United States Trustee fees is disputed by the proposed probate representative. The proposed probate representative does not dispute the defaults, but states that such defaults will be cured when he is substituted in the case for debtor upon a motion to be filed once he receives letters testamentary from the state court supervising the probate case. As to step two, determining whether dismissal, conversion or appointment of a trustee is in the best interests of creditors and the estate and identifying whether unusual circumstances exist not to dismiss or convert the case, the court must consider the best interests of all creditors, and not just the interests of the one creditor, movant. In re Owens, 552 F.3d 958, 960-961 (9th Cir. 2009). As an option, dismissal is not addressed in the moving papers, and if the property of reorganized debtor is subject to probate court jurisdiction, the distribution of such property may be subject to the probate exception to federal jurisdiction under Marshall v. Marshall, 547 U.S. 293 (2006). The creditors and the estate may be better off litigating themselves in state court if the probate exception applies. However, as indicated in the opposition, the major asset of the estate, debtor's residence, "devolved" to debtor's beneficiaries, apparently outside probate, through a trust since the proposed probate representative is also the trustee of debtor's family trust. However, the record is unclear what the status of title of debtor's residence is now, though creditor suggests that there may have been fraudulent transfers. If the property was transferred outside of probate, then the probate exception to federal jurisdiction may not apply. The court is inclined to determine that assuming that either dismissal or conversion is appropriate, there may be unusual circumstances not to warrant dismissal or conversion at this time on grounds that there was reasonable justification for the defaults based on the illness and death of debtor and the defaults will be cured within a reasonable period of time. The proposed probate representative has attested that there are no defaults in the mortgage payments on the residence and the plan payments, which have been made by debtor or by him, and defaults in filing status reports will be cured, and is seeking letters testamentary in order to act on behalf of debtor's probate estate to substitute for debtor to proceed with the confirmed plan and cure any plan defaults within a reasonable time pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 1112(b)(2)(B). Thus, the court would determine based on the death of debtor, the suggestion of death on the record, and the proposed probate representative's representations that he is seeking probate court authority to substitute in the case for debtor within the 90 days from the suggestion of death on the record pursuant to FRCP 25(a)(1) and cure the plan default in order to proceed with the confirmed plan constitutes compelling circumstances to depart from the time limits of 11 U.S.C. 1112(b)(3), and thus, the court would continue the hearing on the motion to convert until after the 90 day deadline for substitution of debtor under FRCP 25(a) has passed. The creditors as a whole may be better off if the proposed probate representative is substituted in and cures the defaults on the plan, and these circumstances are compelling to deviate from the deadlines of 11 U.S.C. 1112(b)(3) to ascertain whether cure by the proposed probate representative within a reasonable period of time is viable. The court contemplates that only a relatively short continuance of the hearing on the motion to convert would be needed to ascertain this (roughly 60 days since the 90 day deadline expires on or about 1/7/20). Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 1/13/20. The court has reviewed debtor's status report. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 1/15/20, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 8/26/19. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 8/28/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 7/29/19. Deny confirmation of plan because contrary to debtor's assertion that impaired Class 3 claims (general unsecured claims) voted to "accept" the plan, such assertion is not true because while the numerosity test was met for Class 3 claims in that 83.3% of the number of claims voted to accept the plan which met the more than one-half in number requirement of 11 U.S.C. 1126(c), the dollar amount test was not met in that there was only 57.82% of the dollar amount of Class 3 claims voted to accept the plan while more than two-thirds (66.7%) of the dollar amount is required to accept the plan under 11 U.S.C. 1126(c), thus, there is no impaired class of claims accepting the plan here to allow confirmation under 11 U.S.C. 1129(a)(10). Revised tentative ruling as of 3/11/19. The court is inclined to set a further status conference to allow time for Cathay Bank to provide input on discovery and trial setting, but 60 days rather than 3 to 6 months, and because the case is not yet at issue. The court has considered the requests of various parties for severance of claims for trial, but while the court agrees with plaintiff, it may be early, but given the unwieldy nature of this litigation, some severance of claims probably makes sense. Plaintiff's concerns about efficiency of litigation might be handled by some consolidation of discovery and other pretrial proceedings. Appearances are required on 3/13/19, but counsel

No appearances are required on 11/15/19.

Prior tentative ruling as of 6/24/19. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 6/26/19.

Prior tentative ruling. Treat the motion objecting to claim as a contested matter under FRBP 9014 and set a schedule of pretrial proceedings, including discovery, since there are disputed issues of material fact. Parties should confer regarding an appropriate schedule if they can. Appearances are required on 5/8/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Creditor may be entitled to its claim for attorneys' fees under 11 U.S.C. 506(b) pursuant to contract based on its loan agreement secured by deed of trust, which were upheld as valid in the state court litigation. The four elements for a claim under 11 U.S.C. 506(b) are: (1) its claim is an allowed secured claim;

(2) it is an oversecured creditor; (3) the fees it asserts are reasonable; and (4) the fees it asserts are provided for under an agreement under which such claim arose, or the fees are provided for under a state statute under which the creditor's claim arose. In re Astle, 364 B.R. 735, 741 (Bankr. D. Idaho 2007). The claim is an allowed secured claim based on the state court judgment, though the judgment is on appeal. The creditor is an oversecured creditor, which is not in dispute. The reasonableness of the fees it asserts is in material dispute. Creditor has only submitted redacted versions of its counsel's fee statements, which do not provide sufficient information for the court to review for reasonableness. Creditor must file unredacted versions, or submit unredacted versions in camera with a privilege log if creditor claims that the reacted matter is privileged. Debtor as the objecting party must carry its burden of explaining what in the fee statements are unreasonable or at least what would be reasonable under the circumstances. In re Koncicky, 2007 WL 7540997 (9th Cir. BAP 2007)(unpublished memorandum opinion) (citation omitted). Debtor has the responsibility to challenge the information and provide evidence controverting that produced by creditor. Id. Debtor has not met this burden. The fees that creditor asserts are provided by the loan agreement between it and its borrower providing for reasonable attorneys' fees if it incurs or pays to maintain, protect or enforce its rights under the loan agreement as secured by the deed of trust. Exhibits A and C to Favela Declaration. Case law in California allows such fees to be added to the balance under the promissory note secured by trust deed. Chacker v. JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A., 27 Cal.App.5th 351, 356-358 (2018). However, there is no separate award of attorneys' fees authorized by statute, such as California Civil Code 1717 because debtor is not a signatory to the contract in the loan agreement and creditor has not otherwise shown that it would have been liable for the fees of the opposing party if the opposing party had prevailed. Asphalt Professionals, Inc. v. Davis (In re Davis), 595 B.R. 818, 837 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2019), citing, Dell Merk, Inc. v. Franzia, 132 Cal.App.4th 443, 441 (2005). Thus, creditor will need to submit fully unredacted copies of its fee statements to the court, and debtor will need to explain what in the fee statements are unreasonable and/or produce evidence showing that the fees are unreasonable.

Docket 7

Tentative Ruling:

Grant movant relief from stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (2) to pursue non-bankruptcy remedies for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition. Deny request for extraordinary relief in paragraph 4 because movant has not offered evidence or otherwise shown that the circumstances of this specific case and the balance of the equities warrant retroactive stay annulment based on the factors set forth in In re Gasprom, Inc., 500 B.R. 598, 607 (9th Cir. #2.00 Cont'd hearing re: Motion for relief from stay
(YCCS, LLC VS Debtor)
fr. 11/12/19, 11/14/19, 12/10/19

Docket 108

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 1/27/20. No tentative ruling in light of debtor's motion for approval of postpetition financing set for hearing on shortened notice on 1/28/20 at 11:00 a.m.

Prior tentative ruling as of 12/10/19. Movant filed declarations on 12/4/19 attesting that its loan was not paid through the refinancing escrow and the loan has matured. Debtor filed a declaration of his loan broker on 12/6/19 discussing the refinancing loan that did not go through and further efforts to obtain a refinancing loan for the subject property. As noted in a prior tentative ruling, past the maturity date, the limited case law on point favors movant's position that cause is shown for stay relief because the failure to pay off the loan by the maturity date is an incurable default which cannot be cured by any Chapter 11 plan because any plan that does not pay off the loan by the maturity date is an impermissible modification of movant's lien rights contrary to 11 U.S.C. 1123(b)(5). In re Crump, 529 B.R. 106 (Bankr. D. S.C. 2015); In re Sampson, 2018 WL 4786404 (Bankr. M.D. Fla. 2018); In re Clay, 204 B.R. 786 (Bankr. N.D. Ala. 1996); see also, Worthington v. General Motors Corp. (In re Claremont Acquisition Corp.), 113 F.3d 1029 (9th Cir. 1997). These cases note that the statutory exception in Chapter 13 cases to extend a due date of a maturing loan on the debtor's principal residence does not apply to Chapter 11 cases, indicating that Congress did not mean to provide for such exception for Chapter 11 plans. While there may be grounds to grant stay relief since debtor cannot propose any plan to modify the rights of the movant as a holder of a claim secured only by a security interest in real property that is debtor's principal residence, if debtor can propose a nonplan takeout strategy to be consummated within a reasonable period of time to realize the value of equity in the property for the benefit of the estate (such as obtaining refinancing loan approval by a different lender within a reasonable period of time, say, 60-90 days), the court would deny the motion without prejudice so that debtor could obtain loan approval from a different lender within a reasonable period of time. While the loan has matured, it appears that the parties contemplated that debtor may not pay the loan on the maturity date and the parties' loan agreement as reflected in the promissory note (Exhibit 2 to Motion) provides that the existing lender can be compensated for any actual damages from debtor's failure to pay the loan at maturity based on the liquidated damages provisions in the loan agreement. Payment of the loan and secured claim during the pendency of this Chapter 11 case would not per se run afoul of 11 U.S.C. 1123(b)(5).

Appearances are required on 12/10/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 11/11/19. Appearances are required on 11/14/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 11/8/19. Off calendar. Continued by stipulation and order to 11/14/19 at 11:30 a.m. No appearances are required on 11/12/19.

Prior tentative ruling as of 11/7/19. Having read the supplemental briefs filed by the parties, at this time, the court is inclined to agree with debtor that the motion is premature because he still has time to cure and pay off movant's lien to secure the loan on debtor's principal residence before it matures on 12/1/19 and would deny the motion without prejudice or continue with movant's consent the hearing to after the maturity date because debtor seeks to recover the equity in the property for the estate. (The court notes that debtor filed a motion for approval of postpetition financing to approve a new loan to take out the existing loans on the property on 11/7/19, which has been set for hearing on shortened notice on 11/14/19 at 11:30 a.m.) However, past the maturity date, the limited case law on point favors movant's position that cause is shown for stay relief because the failure to pay off the loan by the maturity date is an incurable default which cannot be cured by any Chapter 11 plan because any plan that does not pay off the loan by the maturity date is an impermissible modification of movant's lien rights contrary to 11 U.S.C. 1123(b)(5). These cases note that the statutory exception in Chapter 13 cases to extend a due date of a maturing loan on the debtor's principal residence does not apply to Chapter 11 cases, indicating that Congress did not mean to provide for such exception for Chapter 11 plans. Appearances are required on 11/12/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. Deny stay relief motion for failure of creditor to meet its burden of proving lack of equity of debtor in collateral under 11 U.S.C. 362(g) (1). Creditor's moving papers on their face show that debtor has equity in the subject property and thus fail to demonstrate lack of equity under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(2). Moreover, creditor's moving papers lack admissible evidence to demonstrate lack of equity to demonstrate lack of adequate protection under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) because its valuation evidence is not supported by a declaration under penalty of perjury by a qualified valuation expert witness who has conducted a proper valuation analysis based on scientifically accepted valuation principles (i.e., sales comparables analysis) and only consists of hearsay opinions of unknown persons based on unknown analysis. Furthermore, creditor's moving papers on their face fail to demonstrate lack of adequate protection since they indicate a 28% equity cushion to adequately protect its lien interest in the subject property. In re Mellor, 734 F.2d 1396 (9th Cir. 1984). Finally, deny requests for extraordinary relief in paragraphs 8, 10 and 11 for lack of evidentiary and/or legal support. In re Van Ness, 399 B.R. 897 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 2009). Appearances are required on 7/30/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

fr. 8/13/19, 10/1/19, 10/22/19

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 1/27/20. The court has reviewed the parties' unilateral status reports. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 1/28/20, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 10/21/19. No tentative ruling on the merits. The court is of the view that there is no right to jury trial on plaintiff's debt dischargeability claims since such claims did not exist at common law, so no Seventh Amendment right to jury trial, and intends to order plaintiff to brief its claimed right to jury trial. Appearances are required on 10/22/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. The court has reviewed the joint status report, indicating that defendant has filed a motion to dismiss the amended complaint noticed for hearing on 10/22/19 at 2:30 p.m. The court on its own motion continues the status conference to 10/22/19 at 2:30 p.m. to be conducted with the hearing on the motion to dismiss the amended complaint since that matter will have an impact on the status of the adversary proceeding. No appearances are required on 10/1/19.

#14.00 Cont'd status conference re: Complaint to determine dischargeability of debtor
[11 U.S.C. §523(a)(6)]
fr. 9/3/19, 11/5/19

Docket 1

 VACATED  REASON: Cont'd from 1/28/20 to 4/14/20 at 1:30 p.m. per hearing held on 1/14/20-mb.

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 1/27/20. Off calendar. Continued to 4/14/20 at 1:30 p.m. by oral ruling at hearing on 1/14/20. No appearances are required on 1/28/20.

Prior tentative ruling as of 11/4/19. The court will conduct the status conference at 2:00 p.m. with the hearing on the motion to dismiss the amended complaint which will be advanced from the 2:30 p.m. calendar to 2:00 p.m. No tentative ruling on the merits as to the status conference. Appearances are required on 11/5/19 at 2:00 p.m., but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 8/30/19. Appearances are required on 9/3/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

The court notes some proofreading deficiencies in the caption of the joint status report: (1) there is a fictitious bar number for Attorney Horowitz since California bar numbers are not yet in the 900,000s; (2) the name of plaintiff's law firm is spelled wrong. On page 2, item B.2, plaintiff refers to taking third party discovery by "spuboena." On page 3, item E.1, there is a reference to informal settlement discussions before and after the "Bankruptcy cse" was filed. Pleadings filed with the court should be proofread carefully before submission. While these deficiencies are not material, they indicate a lack of care in preparing court documents and do not reflect well on the drafter.

#17.00 Pretrial conference re: Complaint for the avoidance and recovery of fraudulent transfers
fr. 4/16/19, 6/25/19, 9/17/19

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 1/27/20. Off calendar. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status report, stating that this is a default situation and requesting a continuance of the status conference to mid-March for him to decide whether to move for default judgment against defendants which are a dissolved corporation and a suspended corporation. The court on its own motion continues the status conference to 3/10/20 at 2:00 p.m. No appearances are required on 1/28/20.

Prior tentative ruling as of 9/16/19. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status report. Set a discovery cutoff date of 12/31/19 and a pretrial conference for 1/28/20 at 2:00 p.m. Appearances are required on 9/17/19 to discuss scheduling of further proceedings, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 6/24/19. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status report. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 6/25/19 to discuss scheduling of further proceedings, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Corrected tentative ruling as of 4/15/19. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status report, stating that plaintiff intends to file a motion for default judgment and requesting a continuance of the status conference to late June or early July 2019. The court on its own motion continues the status conference to 6/25/19 at 1:30 p.m., and an updated status report is optional for this status conference, but if one is filed, it would be appreciated if it is filed at least one week before. No appearances are required on 4/16/19.

Revised tentative ruling as of 1/29/19. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status report. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 1/29/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 11/5/18. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status report, stating that plaintiff intends to file a motion for default judgment and requesting a continuance of the status conference to late January 2019. The court on its own motion continues the status conference to 1/29/19 at 1:30 p.m. Counsel for trustee to give notice if required because any defendant has appeared. No appearances are required on 11/6/18.

Prior tentative ruling. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status report. Because default has been entered against defendant and plaintiff has represented that it intends to file a motion for default judgment shortly, the court on its own motion continues the status conference for about 60 days to 11/6/18 at 1:30 p.m. so plaintiff can file its motion for default judgment. No appearances are required on 9/18/18.

Prior tentative ruling. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status report. Because defendants have not responded to the complaint and plaintiff intends to request entry of their default, the court is inclined to continue the status conference for about 60 days so plaintiff can file a request for entry of default. Appearances are required on 6/19/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

#1.00 Cont'd hearing re: Motion for relief from stay
(YCCS, LLC VS Debtor)
fr. 11/14/19, 12/10/19, 1/28/20

Docket 108

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 1/29/20. Appearances are required on 1/31/20, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 1/27/20. No tentative ruling in light of debtor's motion for approval of postpetition financing set for hearing on shortened notice on 1/28/20 at 11:00 a.m.

Prior tentative ruling as of 12/10/19. Movant filed declarations on 12/4/19 attesting that its loan was not paid through the refinancing escrow and the loan has matured. Debtor filed a declaration of his loan broker on 12/6/19 discussing the refinancing loan that did not go through and further efforts to obtain a refinancing loan for the subject property. As noted in a prior tentative ruling, past the maturity date, the limited case law on point favors movant's position that cause is shown for stay relief because the failure to pay off the loan by the maturity date is an incurable default which cannot be cured by any Chapter 11 plan because any plan that does not pay off the loan by the maturity date is an impermissible modification of movant's lien rights contrary to 11 U.S.C. 1123(b)(5). In re Crump, 529 B.R. 106 (Bankr. D. S.C. 2015); In re Sampson, 2018 WL 4786404 (Bankr. M.D. Fla. 2018); In re Clay, 204 B.R. 786 (Bankr. N.D. Ala. 1996); see also, Worthington v. General Motors Corp. (In re Claremont Acquisition Corp.), 113 F.3d 1029 (9th Cir. 1997). These cases note that the statutory exception in Chapter 13 cases to extend a due date of a maturing loan on the debtor's principal residence does not apply to Chapter 11 cases, indicating that Congress did not mean to provide for such exception for Chapter 11 plans. While there may be grounds to grant stay relief since debtor cannot propose any plan to modify the rights of the movant as a holder of a claim secured only by a security interest in real property that is debtor's principal residence, if debtor can propose a nonplan takeout strategy to be consummated within a reasonable period of time to realize the value of equity in the property for the benefit of the estate (such as obtaining refinancing loan approval by a different lender within a reasonable period of time, say, 60-90 days), the court would deny the motion without prejudice so that debtor could obtain loan approval from a different lender within a reasonable period of time. While the loan has matured, it appears that the parties contemplated that debtor may not pay the loan on the maturity date and the parties' loan agreement as reflected in the promissory note (Exhibit 2 to Motion) provides that the existing lender can be compensated for any actual damages from debtor's failure to pay the loan at maturity based on the liquidated damages provisions in the loan agreement. Payment of the loan and secured claim during the pendency of this Chapter 11 case would not per se run afoul of 11 U.S.C. 1123(b)(5).

Prior tentative ruling as of 11/11/19. Appearances are required on 11/14/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 11/8/19. Off calendar. Continued by stipulation and order to 11/14/19 at 11:30 a.m. No appearances are required on 11/12/19.

Prior tentative ruling as of 11/7/19. Having read the supplemental briefs filed by the parties, at this time, the court is inclined to agree with debtor that the motion is premature because he still has time to cure and pay off movant's lien to secure the loan on debtor's principal residence before it matures on 12/1/19 and would deny the motion without prejudice or continue with movant's consent the hearing to after the maturity date because debtor seeks to recover the equity in the property for the estate. (The court notes that debtor filed a motion for approval of postpetition financing to approve a new loan to take out the existing loans on the property on 11/7/19, which has been set for hearing on shortened notice on 11/14/19 at 11:30 a.m.) However, past the maturity date, the limited case law on point favors movant's position that cause is shown for stay relief because the failure to pay off the loan by the maturity date is an incurable default which cannot be cured by any Chapter

Prior tentative ruling. Deny stay relief motion for failure of creditor to meet its burden of proving lack of equity of debtor in collateral under 11 U.S.C. 362(g) (1). Creditor's moving papers on their face show that debtor has equity in the subject property and thus fail to demonstrate lack of equity under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(2). Moreover, creditor's moving papers lack admissible evidence to demonstrate lack of equity to demonstrate lack of adequate protection under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) because its valuation evidence is not supported by a declaration under penalty of perjury by a qualified valuation expert witness who has conducted a proper valuation analysis based on scientifically accepted valuation principles (i.e., sales comparables analysis) and only consists of hearsay opinions of unknown persons based on unknown analysis. Furthermore, creditor's moving papers on their face fail to demonstrate lack of adequate protection since they indicate a 28% equity cushion to adequately protect its lien interest in the subject property. In re Mellor, 734 F.2d 1396 (9th Cir. 1984). Finally, deny requests for extraordinary relief in paragraphs 8, 10 and 11 for lack of evidentiary and/or legal support. In re Van Ness, 399 B.R. 897 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 2009). Appearances are required on 7/30/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Docket 14

Tentative Ruling:

Grant movant relief from stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (2) to pursue non-bankruptcy remedies for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition. The 14-day waiting period under FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived.

Movant must lodge a proposed order within 7 days. All registered CM/ECF users must lodge an order using the court's mandatory form order on LOU.

Movant may submit on the tentative ruling without an appearance at the hearing in accordance with Judge Kwan's tentative ruling procedures posted online on the court's website and available in hard copy in the courtroom. Chapter 7

#2.00 Hearing re: Motion for relief from stay
(The Bank of New York Mellon VS Debtor)

Docket 30

Tentative Ruling:

Revised tentative ruling as of 2/3/20. As to the stay against an act against property of the estate, grant motion for stay relief under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) for cause because there is no bankruptcy purpose of having the stay remain in place as to the subject property since the Chapter 7 trustee has filed a no distribution report, meaning that there are no assets to be administered by her in this Chapter 7 case, probably because there is a minimal equity cushion of $600 (or 0.17%) in the subject property based on the valuation of the amended schedules for the property of $375,000 minus the amount of the movant's lien of $347,181.10 and estimated costs of sale of 8% of $27,120.00. (This equity cushion figure does not factor in the judgment liens asserted to be $61,389.43 according to movant's figures or $58,136.09 according to debtor's figures.) Even debtor's asserted equity cushion of $20,746.66 (or 5.97%) is well below the recognized equity cushion of 20% deemed to be adequate protection under Ninth Circuit case law. In re Mellor, 734 F.2d 1396, 1401 (9th Cir. 1984). The $600 equity cushion probably has been eroded if debtor has failed to make a mortgage payment since the filing of the motion, which is likely based on the payment history of no payments for the 55 months before the motion was filed, and thus, debtor on this record has failed to meet his burden of showing under 11 U.S.C. 362(g)(2) that movant's lien is adequately protected under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1). As to the stay against any act other than an act against property of the estate, including against the debtor, the motion is moot under 11 U.S.C. 362(c)(2)(C) because the stay expired when debtor was granted his discharge on 1/13/20. Debtor now lacks standing to object to stay relief because the stay expires as to him and all other acts not against property of the estate, and as to property of the estate, because this is no distribution case (and thus no surplus estate), he lacks standing to object to stay relief.

#3.00 Cont'd hearing re: Motion for relief from stay
(ESA Management LLC VS Debtor)
fr. 1/7/20

Docket 15

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 2/3/20. No tentative ruling in light of debtor's response in opposition to the motion and proposed settlement stipulation. Debtor's discharge entered on 1/27/20 may terminate the stay as to the debtor, but does not terminate the stay as to property of the estate. 11 U.S.C. 362(c)(1) and (2). Appearances are required on 2/4/20, but counsel and self-represented parties may appear by telephone in accordance with the court's telephone appearance procedures posted online on the court's website.

Prior tentative ruling. Grant movant relief from stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) to pursue non-bankruptcy remedies for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition. Deny request for extraordinary relief in paragraphs 7 and 8 for lack of legal and/or evidentiary support. In re Van Ness, 399 B.R. 897 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 2009).

Movant must lodge a proposed order within 7 days. All registered CM/ECF users must lodge an order using the court's mandatory form order on LOU.

Movant may submit on the tentative ruling without an appearance at the hearing in accordance with Judge Kwan's tentative ruling procedures posted online on the court's website and available in hard copy in the courtroom. If movant does not appear, the court will assume that movant submits on the tentative ruling, which the court will adopt unless another party appears, which may result in setting a continued hearing.

Prior tentative ruling. Treat as a contested matter under FRBP 9014. It is unclear whether the parties agree there are or are not disputed issues of material fact. If the parties agree that there are no disputed issue of material fact, then this contested matter may be tried on stipulated facts or determined upon cross-motions for summary judgment. The parties are apparently requesting that the court make factual findings and conclusions of law on the objections to claims, and there should be proposed findings and conclusions of law from the parties for the court to consider so that there is a record for any appellate court reviewing a final order in this contested matter. If there are disputed issues of material fact, the case should be prepared for trial, or the court should permissively abstain and grant stay relief so that the lawsuit to liquidate the claims may proceed in state court. #1.10 Cont'd hearing re: Motion for relief from stay
(YCCS, LLC VS Debtor)
fr. 12/10/19, 1/28/20, 1/31/20

Docket 108

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 2/3/20. Appearances are required on 2/5/20, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 1/29/20. Appearances are required on 1/31/20, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 1/27/20. No tentative ruling in light of debtor's motion for approval of postpetition financing set for hearing on shortened notice on 1/28/20 at 11:00 a.m.

Prior tentative ruling as of 12/10/19. Movant filed declarations on 12/4/19 attesting that its loan was not paid through the refinancing escrow and the loan has matured. Debtor filed a declaration of his loan broker on 12/6/19 discussing the refinancing loan that did not go through and further efforts to obtain a refinancing loan for the subject property. As noted in a prior tentative ruling, past the maturity date, the limited case law on point favors movant's position that cause is shown for stay relief because the failure to pay off the loan by the maturity date is an incurable default which cannot be cured by any Chapter 11 plan because any plan that does not pay off the loan by the maturity date is an impermissible modification of movant's lien rights contrary to 11 U.S.C. 1123(b)(5). In re Crump, 529 B.R. 106 (Bankr. D. S.C. 2015); In re Sampson, 2018 WL 4786404 (Bankr. M.D. Fla. 2018); In re Clay, 204 B.R. 786 (Bankr. N.D. Ala. 1996); see also, Worthington v. General Motors Corp. (In re Claremont Acquisition Corp.), 113 F.3d 1029 (9th Cir. 1997). These cases note that the statutory exception in Chapter 13 cases to extend a due date of a maturing loan on the debtor's principal residence does not apply to Chapter 11 cases, indicating that Congress did not mean to provide for such exception for Chapter 11 plans. relief since debtor cannot propose any plan to modify the rights of the movant as a holder of a claim secured only by a security interest in real property that is debtor's principal residence, if debtor can propose a nonplan takeout strategy to be consummated within a reasonable period of time to realize the value of equity in the property for the benefit of the estate (such as obtaining refinancing loan approval by a different lender within a reasonable period of time, say, 60-90 days), the court would deny the motion without prejudice so that debtor could obtain loan approval from a different lender within a reasonable period of time. While the loan has matured, it appears that the parties contemplated that debtor may not pay the loan on the maturity date and the parties' loan agreement as reflected in the promissory note (Exhibit 2 to Motion) provides that the existing lender can be compensated for any actual damages from debtor's failure to pay the loan at maturity based on the liquidated damages provisions in the loan agreement. Payment of the loan and secured claim during the pendency of this Chapter 11 case would not per se run afoul of 11 U.S.C. 1123(b)(5).

Prior tentative ruling as of 11/8/19. Off calendar. Continued by stipulation and order to 11/14/19 at 11:30 a.m. No appearances are required on 11/12/19.

Prior tentative ruling as of 11/7/19. Having read the supplemental briefs filed by the parties, at this time, the court is inclined to agree with debtor that the motion is premature because he still has time to cure and pay off movant's lien to secure the loan on debtor's principal residence before it matures on 12/1/19 and would deny the motion without prejudice or continue with movant's consent the hearing to after the maturity date because debtor seeks to recover the equity in the property for the estate. (The court notes that debtor filed a motion for approval of postpetition financing to approve a new loan to take out the existing loans on the property on 11/7/19, which has been set for hearing on shortened notice on 11/14/19 at 11:30 a.m.) However, past the maturity date, the limited case law on point favors movant's position that cause is shown for stay relief because the failure to pay off the loan by the maturity date is an incurable default which cannot be cured by any Chapter 11 plan because any plan that does not pay off the loan by the maturity date is an impermissible modification of movant's lien rights contrary to 11 U.S.C. 1123(b)(5). In re Crump, 529 B.R. 106 (Bankr. D. S.C. 2015); In re Sampson, 2018 WL 4786404 (Bankr. M.D. Fla. 2018); In re Clay, 204 B.R. 786 (Bankr. N.D. Ala. 1996); see also, Worthington v. General Motors Corp. (In re Claremont Acquisition Corp.), 113 F.3d 1029 (9th Cir. 1997). These cases note that the statutory exception in Chapter 13 cases to extend a due date of a maturing loan on the debtor's principal residence does not apply to Chapter 11 cases, indicating that Congress did not mean to provide for such exception for Chapter 11 plans. Appearances are required on 11/12/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. Deny stay relief motion for failure of creditor to meet its burden of proving lack of equity of debtor in collateral under 11 U.S.C. 362(g) (1). Creditor's moving papers on their face show that debtor has equity in the subject property and thus fail to demonstrate lack of equity under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(2). Moreover, creditor's moving papers lack admissible evidence to demonstrate lack of equity to demonstrate lack of adequate protection under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) because its valuation evidence is not supported by a declaration under penalty of perjury by a qualified valuation expert witness who has conducted a proper valuation analysis based on scientifically accepted valuation principles (i.e., sales comparables analysis) and only consists of hearsay opinions of unknown persons based on unknown analysis. Furthermore, creditor's moving papers on their face fail to demonstrate lack of adequate protection since they indicate a 28% equity cushion to adequately protect its lien interest in the subject property. In re Mellor, 734 F.2d 1396 (9th Cir. 1984). Finally, deny requests for extraordinary relief in paragraphs 8, 10 and 11 for lack of evidentiary and/or legal support. In re Van Ness, 399 B.R. 897 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 2009). Appearances are required on 7/30/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Tentative Ruling:

No tentative ruling in light of objections to the interim fee application by debtor and creditor James Regan. The court is inclined to defer a ruling on the interim fee application until fee applications of estate professionals are considered on a final basis pursuant to LBR 2016-1(c)(3) and because the estate lacks funds to pay the interim fee application at this time. It seems to the court that it is a better use of litigation resources to litigate the fee application of applicant on a final fee when the case is ready for disposition through the plan confirmation process. Prior tentative ruling as of 1/13/20. The court has reviewed debtor's unilateral status report. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 1/14/20, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 11/18/19. Based on this record, it appears that valuation of the subject property is not in dispute since the "as is" values appear to be comparable and there is no equity at this time, though debtor contends that the property as developed (i.e., "as completed") would be worth much more and would provide value to the estate if he develops the property. While the lack of equity is shown under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(2), the remaining issue is whether that the property is necessary for debtor's reorganization, or there is some evidence that his plan of reorganization could be confirmed by a reasonable bankruptcy judge. In re Bonner Mall Partnership, 2 F.3d 899, 902 n. 4 (9th Cir. 1993). Debtor as the party opposing stay relief has the burden on this issue under 11 U.S.C. 362(g)(2), and debtor's un rebutted evidentiary showing in his and the Martinez and Wiltchik declarations that he could develop the property to generate value for the estate could be part of a plan of reorganization that could be confirmed by a reasonable bankruptcy judge. At this point, there is no evidence that the property is declining in value or that an equity cushion is eroding to warrant adequate protection under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1). The court is inclined to deny the stay relief motion without prejudice, and allow debtor for the time being a reasonable time to propose a plan which includes development of this property, although the

#2.00 Hearing re: Motion for relief from stay
(Bank of The West VS Debtor)

Docket 8

Tentative Ruling:

Having reviewed the moving, opposing and reply papers, the court is inclined to grant the motion for the reasons stated in the moving papers pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1). As argued in the reply, the stay terminated pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(h) because Debtor failed to list the vehicle in his statement of intention filed in his bankruptcy petition or otherwise within the time required by 11 U.S.C. 521(a)(2), stating that he would retain it, redeem it pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 722, and/or enter into a reaffirmation agreement applicable to the debt on it pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 524(c), and such failure constitutes cause under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1). The motion is granted under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(2) because there is no equity in the subject property and the property is not needed for the effective reorganization of the debtor since this is a Chapter 7 liquidation case. Movant relies upon data from the National Automobile Dealers Association guide, which is permissible under Federal Rule of Evidence 803(17) under the hearsay exception for market quotations, tabulations, lists, directories, or other published compilations generally used and relied upon by the public or by persons in particular occupations, here, the automobile sales industry, In re Bouzek, 311 B.R. 239, 243 (Bankr. E.D. Wis. 2004); In re McElroy, 339 B.R. 185, 186-188 (Bankr. C.D. Ill. 2006); 2 Russell, Bankruptcy Evidence Manual, Section 803:30 (2019-2020 edition), but there is no competent evidence of valuation from debtor in opposing the motion. The valuation opinion in declaration of debtor's counsel is inadmissible because it is based on hearsay, the lack of personal knowledge and lack of qualification to render a valuation opinion. There is no showing that debtor's counsel is qualified to render a valuation opinion, that she has personal knowledge of valuation of the property and that her opinion is based on the hearsay opinion of a third party, Carmax. Debtor states that he will file a motion to redeem the property, but no such motion has been filed, nor has he stated when such motion will be filed. Overrule debtor's objection based on insufficient notice since the proof of service shows that debtor and his

fr. 11/5/19, 12/3/19, 12/10/19

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 2/17/20. The court has reviewed the joint status report filed on 2/11/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 2/18/20, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 12/9/19. Off calendar. The court is preparing a written order on the motion to dismiss and will continue the status conference to another date. No appearances are required on 12/10/19.

Prior tentative ruling as of 12/2/19. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 12/3/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. The court has reviewed the joint status report, noting that pending motions of defendants to dismiss certain claims and motion of third parties to substitute or intervene were noticed for hearing on 11/12/19 at 2:30 p.m. and suggesting that the status conference be continued to that date or some date after. The court takes judicial notice that it had ordered that the hearing on the motion to dismiss as amended in light of the amended complaint was continued to 12/3/19 at 2:30 p.m. Accordingly, the court on its own motion continues the status conference to 12/3/19 at 2:30 p.m. to be conducted with the hearing on the motion to dismiss claims of the amended complaint now set for 12/3/19 at 2:30 p.m. because the ruling on the motion may have an impact on the status of the matter. Prior tentative ruling as of 1/27/20. No tentative ruling in light of debtor's motion for approval of postpetition financing set for hearing on shortened notice on 1/28/20 at 11:00 a.m.

Prior tentative ruling as of 12/10/19. Movant filed declarations on 12/4/19 attesting that its loan was not paid through the refinancing escrow and the loan has matured. Debtor filed a declaration of his loan broker on 12/6/19 discussing the refinancing loan that did not go through and further efforts to obtain a refinancing loan for the subject property. As noted in a prior tentative ruling, past the maturity date, the limited case law on point favors movant's position that cause is shown for stay relief because the failure to pay off the loan by the maturity date is an incurable default which cannot be cured by any Chapter 11 plan because any plan that does not pay off the loan by the maturity date is an impermissible modification of movant's lien rights contrary to 11 U.S.C. 1123(b)(5). In re Crump, 529 B.R. 106 (Bankr. D. S.C. 2015); In re Sampson, 2018 WL 4786404 (Bankr. M.D. Fla. 2018); In re Clay, 204 B.R. 786 (Bankr. N.D. Ala. 1996); see also, Worthington v. date of a maturing loan on the debtor's principal residence does not apply to Chapter 11 cases, indicating that Congress did not mean to provide for such exception for Chapter 11 plans. While there may be grounds to grant stay relief since debtor cannot propose any plan to modify the rights of the movant as a holder of a claim secured only by a security interest in real property that is debtor's principal residence, if debtor can propose a nonplan takeout strategy to be consummated within a reasonable period of time to realize the value of equity in the property for the benefit of the estate (such as obtaining refinancing loan approval by a different lender within a reasonable period of time, say, 60-90 days), the court would deny the motion without prejudice so that debtor could obtain loan approval from a different lender within a reasonable period of time. While the loan has matured, it appears that the parties contemplated that debtor may not pay the loan on the maturity date and the parties' loan agreement as reflected in the promissory note (Exhibit 2 to Motion) provides that the existing lender can be compensated for any actual damages from debtor's failure to pay the loan at maturity based on the liquidated damages provisions in the loan agreement. Payment of the loan and secured claim during the pendency of this Chapter 11 case would not per se run afoul of 11 U.S.C. 1123(b)(5).

Appearances are required on 12/10/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 11/11/19. Appearances are required on 11/14/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 11/8/19. Off calendar. Continued by stipulation and order to 11/14/19 at 11:30 a.m. No appearances are required on 11/12/19.

Prior tentative ruling as of 11/7/19. Having read the supplemental briefs filed by the parties, at this time, the court is inclined to agree with debtor that the motion is premature because he still has time to cure and pay off movant's lien to secure the loan on debtor's principal residence before it matures on 12/1/19 and would deny the motion without prejudice or continue with movant's consent the hearing to after the maturity date because debtor seeks to recover the equity in the property for the estate. (The court notes that debtor filed a motion for approval of postpetition financing to approve a new loan to take out the existing loans on the property on 11/7/19, which has been set for hearing on shortened notice on 11/14/19 at 11:30 a.m.) However, past the maturity date, the limited case law on point favors movant's position that cause is shown for stay relief because the failure to pay off the loan by the maturity date is an incurable default which cannot be cured by any Chapter 11 plan because any plan that does not pay off the loan by the maturity date is an impermissible modification of movant's lien rights contrary to 11 U.S.C. 1123(b)(5). General Motors Corp. (In re Claremont Acquisition Corp.), 113 F.3d 1029 (9th Cir. 1997). These cases note that the statutory exception in Chapter 13 cases to extend a due date of a maturing loan on the debtor's principal residence does not apply to Chapter 11 cases, indicating that Congress did not mean to provide for such exception for Chapter 11 plans. Appearances are required on 11/12/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. Deny stay relief motion for failure of creditor to meet its burden of proving lack of equity of debtor in collateral under 11 U.S.C. 362(g) (1). Creditor's moving papers on their face show that debtor has equity in the subject property and thus fail to demonstrate lack of equity under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(2). Moreover, creditor's moving papers lack admissible evidence to demonstrate lack of equity to demonstrate lack of adequate protection under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) because its valuation evidence is not supported by a declaration under penalty of perjury by a qualified valuation expert witness who has conducted a proper valuation analysis based on scientifically accepted valuation principles (i.e., sales comparables analysis) and only consists of hearsay opinions of unknown persons based on unknown analysis. Furthermore, creditor's moving papers on their face fail to demonstrate lack of adequate protection since they indicate a 28% equity cushion to adequately protect its lien interest in the subject property. In re Mellor, 734 F.2d 1396 (9th Cir. 1984). Finally, deny requests for extraordinary relief in paragraphs 8, 10 and 11 for lack of evidentiary and/or legal support. generally requires at least 60 days notice to creditors of a claims bar date. The estimated administrative expenses in this case stated in the status report for $250,000 to $350,000 seem high, especially since debtors' budget motion and income and expense statements showing net income of about $1,700 per month do not show that debtors have the ability to afford such expenses. There should be some explanation why the large amount of professional fee expenses estimated in the status report are needed in this case, and how debtors will be able to pay for these expenses (i.e., are they selling their real property to raise funds to pay for these fees). Appearances are required on 4/11/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

#19.10 Cont'd hearing re: Motion for entry of discharge pursuant to bankruptcy code §1141 fr. 2/5/20

Docket 151

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 2/18/20. Grant debtor's motion for entry of discharge for the reasons stated in the moving papers in light of its amendment of schedules. Appearances are required on 2/19/20, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Revised tentative ruling as of 2/4/20. Debtor has not shown substantial consummation as defined in the confirmed plan as payment of all allowed claims for entry of discharge under the plan. There is no showing of payment of the claims of Elin Khatchatourian and Erik Hovesejian c/o Tony Forberg, Esq., in the amounts of $36,500 scheduled on Schedule E/F of the petition and not scheduled as contingent, unliquidated or disputed, which claims are deemed filed and allowed as indicated in the notice of claims bar date, ECF 76. Although the disclosure statement refers to such claims are possibly being disallowed, there has been no disallowance of such claims on claim objections. Appearances are required on 2/5/20, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Appearances are required on 3/6/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 2/25/19. In the papers filed by debtor and creditor Cindy Magleby in response to the court's order to show cause re: dismissal or conversion, although these parties did not agree on whether the case should be dismissed, they both indicated a willingness to have the family law court adjudicate the merits of Mrs. Magleby's claims as well as other family law issues with possible availability for trial in June 2019. There is also a possibility of further settlement efforts in the family law court as indicated by counsel for Mrs. Magleby as reflected in the transcript of hearing before that court in December 2019. The court encourages the parties to pursue their settlement discussions with the family law court and is amenable to having the family law court adjudicate the merits of Mrs. Magleby's claims if this is supported by the parties and the availability of that court to try these matters expeditiously. In that regard, the court would consider a proposed stipulated order clarifying stay relief to allow the family law court to try the claims and issues agreed upon by the parties, including the claims being objected to in this contested matter. Appearances are required on 2/27/19.

Updated tentative ruling as of 8/7/18. The parties filed unilateral pretrial statements rather than a joint pretrial statement. Before the court imposes monetary sanctions of $250 against the culpable party/ies for failing to file a joint pretrial statement as required by LBR 7016-1, the court will afford the parties an opportunity to complete and file a joint pretrial statement as required and intends to continue the pretrial conference for this purpose. Chapter 11

Prior tentative ruling. Treat as contested matter under FRBP 9014 because the declarations of the witnesses in support of the moving and opposing papers raise material issues of fact to be resolved in an evidentiary hearing. Treat the hearing on 12/13/17 as a status conference to set a pretrial and trial schedule. The court will not take testimony from witnesses on a law and motion hearing calendar on 12/13/17, and the parties may not call their witnesses to testify on 12/13/17. If any party believes that there are no genuine issues of material fact and the party is entitled to judgment as a matter of law, that party may seek summary judgment upon a proper motion brought pursuant to FRBP 7056 and 9014 and LBR 7056-1. If claimant believes that the court should permissively abstain from hearing this contested matter, then she should bring a proper motion for abstention rather than raising the request in her opposition to the objection. See In re Tucson Estates, Inc., 912 F.2d 1162, 1166-1167 (9th Cir. 1990). However, it seems to the court that it could properly hear the objection to claim as a core proceeding under 28 U.S.C. 157(b)(2)(B) and not abstain under In re Conejo Enterprises, Inc., 96 F.3d 346 (9th Cir. 1996). Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 2/18/20. No tentative ruling on the merits.
Appearances are required on 2/19/20, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 2/3/20. Appearances are required on 2/5/20, but

Prior tentative ruling as of 1/29/20. Appearances are required on 1/31/20, but

Prior tentative ruling as of 1/27/20. No tentative ruling in light of debtor's motion for approval of postpetition financing set for hearing on shortened notice on 1/28/20 at 11:00 a.m.

Prior tentative ruling as of 12/10/19. Movant filed declarations on 12/4/19 attesting that its loan was not paid through the refinancing escrow and the loan has matured. Debtor filed a declaration of his loan broker on 12/6/19 discussing the refinancing loan that did not go through and further efforts to obtain a refinancing loan for the subject property. As noted in a prior tentative ruling, past the maturity date, the limited case law on point favors movant's position that cause is shown for stay relief because the failure to pay off the loan by the maturity date is an incurable default which cannot be cured by any Chapter 11 plan because any plan that does not pay off the loan by the maturity date is an impermissible modification of movant's lien rights contrary

786 (Bankr. N.D. Ala. 1996); see also, Worthington v. General Motors Corp. (In re Claremont Acquisition Corp.), 113 F.3d 1029 (9th Cir. 1997). These cases note that the statutory exception in Chapter 13 cases to extend a due date of a maturing loan on the debtor's principal residence does not apply to Chapter 11 cases, indicating that Congress did not mean to provide for such exception for Chapter 11 plans. While there may be grounds to grant stay relief since debtor cannot propose any plan to modify the rights of the movant as a holder of a claim secured only by a security interest in real property that is debtor's principal residence, if debtor can propose a nonplan takeout strategy to be consummated within a reasonable period of time to realize the value of equity in the property for the benefit of the estate (such as obtaining refinancing loan approval by a different lender within a reasonable period of time, say, 60-90 days), the court would deny the motion without prejudice so that debtor could obtain loan approval from a different lender within a reasonable period of time. While the loan has matured, it appears that the parties contemplated that debtor may not pay the loan on the maturity date and the parties' loan agreement as reflected in the promissory note (Exhibit 2 to Motion) provides that the existing lender can be compensated for any actual damages from debtor's failure to pay the loan at maturity based on the liquidated damages provisions in the loan agreement. Payment of the loan and secured claim during the pendency of this Chapter 11 case would not per se run afoul of 11 U.S.C. 1123(b)(5).

Prior tentative ruling as of 11/7/19. 12/1/19 and would deny the motion without prejudice or continue with movant's consent the hearing to after the maturity date because debtor seeks to recover the equity in the property for the estate. (The court notes that debtor filed a motion for approval of postpetition financing to approve a new loan to take out the existing loans on the property on 11/7/19, which has been set for hearing on shortened notice on 11/14/19 at 11:30 a.m.) However, past the maturity date, the limited case law on point favors movant's position that cause is shown for stay relief because the failure to pay off the loan by the maturity date is an incurable default which cannot be cured by any Chapter 11 plan because any plan that does not pay off the loan by the maturity date is an impermissible modification of movant's lien rights contrary to 11 U.S.C. 1123(b)(5). Prior tentative ruling. Deny stay relief motion for failure of creditor to meet its burden of proving lack of equity of debtor in collateral under 11 U.S.C. 362(g) (1). Creditor's moving papers on their face show that debtor has equity in the subject property and thus fail to demonstrate lack of equity under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(2). Moreover, creditor's moving papers lack admissible evidence to demonstrate lack of equity to demonstrate lack of adequate protection under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) because its valuation evidence is not supported by a declaration under penalty of perjury by a qualified valuation expert witness who has conducted a proper valuation analysis based on scientifically accepted valuation principles (i.e., sales comparables analysis) and only consists of hearsay opinions of unknown persons based on unknown analysis. Furthermore, creditor's moving papers on their face fail to demonstrate lack of adequate protection since they indicate a 28% equity cushion to adequately protect its lien interest in the subject property. In re Mellor, 734 F.2d 1396 (9th Cir. 1984). Finally, deny requests for extraordinary relief in paragraphs 8, 10 and 11 for lack of evidentiary and/or legal support.

Chapter 11

Prior tentative ruling. Treat the motion objecting to claim as a contested matter under FRBP 9014 and set a schedule of pretrial proceedings, including discovery, since there are disputed issues of material fact. Parties should confer regarding an appropriate schedule if they can. Appearances are required on 5/8/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Creditor may be entitled to its claim for attorneys' fees under 11 U.S.C. 506(b) pursuant to contract based on its loan agreement secured by deed of trust, which were upheld as valid in the state court litigation. The four elements for a claim under 11 U.S.C. 506(b) are: (1) its claim is an allowed secured claim; (2) it is an oversecured creditor; (3) the fees it asserts are reasonable; and (4) the fees it asserts are provided for under an agreement under which such claim arose, or the fees are provided for under a state statute under which the creditor's claim arose. In re Astle, 364 B.R. 735, 741 (Bankr. D. Idaho 2007). The claim is an allowed secured claim based on the state court judgment, though the judgment is on appeal. The creditor is an oversecured creditor, which is not in dispute. The reasonableness of the fees it asserts is in material dispute. Creditor has only submitted redacted versions of its counsel's fee statements, which do not provide sufficient information for the court to review for reasonableness. Creditor must file unredacted versions, or submit unredacted versions in camera with a privilege log if creditor claims that the redacted matter is privileged. Debtor as the objecting party must carry its burden of explaining what in the fee statements are unreasonable or at least what would be reasonable under the circumstances. In re Koncicky, 2007 WL 7540997 (9th Cir. BAP 2007)(unpublished memorandum opinion) (citation omitted). Debtor has the responsibility to challenge the information and provide evidence controverting that produced by creditor. Id. Debtor has not met this burden. The fees that creditor asserts are provided by the loan agreement between it and its borrower providing for reasonable attorneys' fees if it incurs or pays to maintain, protect or enforce its rights under the loan agreement as secured by the deed of trust. Exhibits A and C to Favela Declaration. Case law in California allows such fees to be added to the balance under the promissory note secured by trust deed. Chacker v. JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A., 27 Cal.App.5th 351, 356-358 (2018). However, there is no separate award of attorneys' fees authorized by statute, such as California Civil Code 1717 because debtor is not a signatory to the contract in the loan agreement and creditor has not otherwise shown that it would have been liable for the fees of the opposing party if the opposing party had prevailed. Asphalt Professionals, Inc. v. Thus, creditor will need to submit fully unredacted copies of its fee statements to the court, and debtor will need to explain what in the fee statements are unreasonable and/or produce evidence showing that the fees are unreasonable.

Docket 7

Tentative Ruling:

Grant movant's stay relief motion under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (4) for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of opposition by debtor on these grounds (i.e., no payments on the secured loan have been made for 69 months, transfer of the property was made by original borrower to debtor without consent of lender, filing of case was to hinder or delay lender). Deny request for stay relief under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(2) because moving papers do not contain admissible evidence showing lack of equity for movant to meet its burden on lack of equity under 11 U.S.C. 362(g)(1) since evidence of value in trustee's sale guarantee lacks proper evidentiary foundation (i.e., inadmissible hearsay, lack of personal knowledge, lack of authentication). Chapter 7

#12.10 Order to show cause why sanctions should not be imposed against plaintiff's attorney for failure to appear at the February 15, 2020 status conference

Docket 132

Tentative Ruling:

The court has considered the declaration of counsel for plaintiff in response to the order to show cause. Grant court's sua sponte motion for sanctions because the court has listened to the audio file of the prior hearing on the motion on 12/17/19 setting the status conference for 2/18/20, and not only did the court not say that it would take the status conference off calendar at the 12/17 hearing if the court issued its ruling on the partial summary judgment motion, the court had ordered counsel to submit a proposed scheduling order setting the 2/18/20 status conference, which counsel failed to do. The court orders sanctions against counsel for his failure not only to appear at the status conference on 2/18/20, but his failure to submit a proposed scheduling order, and that counsel must pay a remedial sanction to defendant to reimburse her for her CourtCall expenses for having to attend the status conference on 2/28/20, which she had appeared, and counsel had failed to appear without excuse. Appearances are required on 3/3/20, but counsel and self-represented parties may appear by telephone in accordance with the court's telephone appearance procedures posted online on the court's website.

Docket 38

Tentative Ruling:

Treat the motion of United States Trustee to dismiss with a one year refiling bar on grounds of debtor's bad faith as a contested matter under FRBP 9014 since assessment of debtor's good or bad faith is dependent on credibility determinations of debtor's testimony in his declaration and the supporting evidence of the United States Trustee, or alternatively, deny the motion to dismiss without prejudice, and allow United States Trustee an extension of 60 days from the date of the hearing to file a complaint to deny discharge under 11 U.S.C. 727 for cause shown under FRBP 4004(b) in that the United States Trustee has diligently pursued his investigation of possible actions against debtor before the deadline of 1/6/20 and timely filed the motion to extend as shown by his office's examination of debtor at the 11 U.S.C. 341(a) meetings of creditors on 6/4/19, 9/24/19 and 10/21/19 as well as extensive forensic examination of debtor's credit card transactions and elected to seek dismissal first rather than filing an adversary proceeding to deny discharge, which would have been moot if the dismissal had been granted, and that a short extension of time of 60 days for the preparation of a complaint to deny discharge would not prejudice debtor or unduly delay the administration of this case. In re Jahangiri, No. 18-31609-dwh7, 2018 WL 5255216 (Bankr. Prior tentative ruling. Treat as a contested matter under FRBP 9014 and set schedule of pretrial and trial proceedings. Parties should advise the court on their pretrial and trial needs. The court also notes that claimant failed to provide a judge's copy of the opposition which have separately tabbed exhibits as required by Local Bankruptcy 5005-2(d) and will have to provide such copy.

Debtor's evidentiary objection to exhibits in support of the opposition appears to have merit, and while the court might sustain the objection, the court will afford an opportunity to claimant to support declarations to authenticate the exhibits as well as to provide the declaration of claimant under penalty of perjury to support the factual assertions in the opposition. The court is not satisfied that the declaration of counsel in support of the opposition is sufficient due to lack of foundation of the factual representations made therein. The court may continue the hearing for claimant to remedy these procedural deficiencies, or just set a litigation schedule. The court is not inclined to sustain the objection of debtor at this time without giving claimant an opportunity to cure the procedural deficiencies of the opposition in light of the amount of controversy and the facial validity of the arguments in the opposition supported by the exhibits (i.e., there appears to be a bona fide dispute about whether debtor was entitled to retain claimant's $500,000 deposit if there were omissions of material fact regarding marketable title to the subject real property as alleged in the opposition. Appearances are required on 9/16/15.

#9.00 Hearing re: Confirmation of plan
fr. 11/6/19, 12/4/19

Docket 88

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 3/3/20. Although the plan is admittedly unconfirmable for lack of an accepting impaired class of creditors pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 1129(a)(10), the court is inclined to grant debtor's request to continue the hearing on plan confirmation to allow some reasonable time to allow debtor to negotiate a settlement with the major dissenting creditor to change its vote to make the nonaccepting class an accepting class. Appearances are required on 3/4/20, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Debtor did not give the required 42 days notice of hearing on his motion for approval of the disclosure statement pursuant to LBR 3017-1(a), and the motion will have to be renoticed to comply with the rule. #1.00 Cont'd hearing re: Motion for relief from stay
(WVJP 2017-1, LP VS Debtors)

Docket 20

Tentative Ruling:

Deny creditor's stay relief motion for the reasons stated in the opposition. Although the parties cite to the so-called "Curtis" factors, In re Curtis, 40 B.R. 795, 799-801 (Bankr. D. Utah 1984) and some courts find them helpful, this court generally does not give much credence to them. See In re Tucson Estates, Inc., 912 F.2d 1162, 1166-1170 (9th Cir. 1990). The moving papers do not make a prima facie showing for stay relief based on mandatory or permissive abstention because the relevant factors for either are not discussed. Id. Moreover, given the procedural posture of the state court proceedings, there was no judgment to base any claim of issue or claim preclusion against debtors, and if creditor prevailed on its appeal of the adverse order setting aside default judgment, there was no judgment specifically entered against her and there was no basis to assert issue or claim preclusion against Mrs. Barnes since she is not named in the seventh fraud or conspiracy to defraud claim to base a claim of issue or claim preclusion in the nondischargeability action, and any nondischargeability claim against her would have to be alleged and proved up without reliance on issue or claim preclusion. As to Mr. Barnes, creditor has not shown how the set aside default judgment if reinstated would support a claim of nondischargeability of debt based on issue or claim preclusion since there was no any finding of fraudulent misrepresentation by him and how the other elements of a claim under 11 U.S.C. 523(a)(2) or (6) could be established by the findings in the set aside judgment. As to both Mr. and Mrs. Barnes, there is no legal basis to except the debt from discharge applying issue or claim preclusion based on alter ego or vicarious liability. See In re Huh, 506 B.R. 257, 263-272 (9th Cir. BAP 2014). Therefore, there is an inadequate showing on these papers that stay relief would result in a complete resolution of the dispute over nondischargeability of debt and that would serve judicial economy as argued by creditor. Appearances are required on 3/10/20, but counsel may appear by telephone.

#2.00 Hearing re: Motion for relief from stay
(Santander Consumer USA Inc. VS Debtor)

Docket 10

Tentative Ruling:

Grant movant relief from stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (2) to pursue non-bankruptcy remedies for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition. The 14-day waiting period under FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived.

Movant must lodge a proposed order within 7 days. All registered CM/ECF users must lodge an order using the court's mandatory form order on LOU.

Movant may submit on the tentative ruling without an appearance at the hearing in accordance with Judge Kwan's tentative ruling procedures posted online on the court's website and available in hard copy in the courtroom. If movant does not appear, the court will assume that movant submits on the tentative ruling, which the court will adopt unless another party appears, which may result in setting a continued hearing.

(Rehabbers Financial, Inc. dba Aztec Financial VS Debtor)
fr. 11/19/19, 1/14/20, 2/10/20

Docket 161

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 3/9/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 3/10/20, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 2/10/20. Off calendar. Continued by stipulation and order to 3/10/20 at 11:00 a.m. (not 10:30 a.m. as proposed in the stipulation). No appearances are required on 2/11/20.

Prior tentative ruling as of 1/13/20. The court has reviewed debtor's unilateral status report. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 1/14/20, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 11/18/19. Based on this record, it appears that valuation of the subject property is not in dispute since the "as is" values appear to be comparable and there is no equity at this time, though debtor contends that the property as developed (i.e., "as completed") would be worth much more and would provide value to the estate if he develops the property. While the lack of equity is shown under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(2), the remaining issue is whether that the property is necessary for debtor's reorganization, or there is some evidence that his plan of reorganization could be confirmed by a reasonable bankruptcy judge. In re Bonner Mall Partnership, 2 F.3d 899, 902 n. 4 (9th Cir. 1993). Debtor as the party opposing stay relief has the burden on this issue under 11 U.S.C. 362(g)(2), and debtor's un rebutted evidentiary showing in his and the Martinez and Wiltchik declarations that he could develop the property to generate value for the estate could be part of a plan of reorganization that could be confirmed by a reasonable bankruptcy judge. At this point, there is no evidence that the property is declining in value or that an equity cushion is eroding to warrant adequate protection under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1). The court is inclined to deny the stay relief motion without prejudice, and allow debtor for the time being a reasonable time to propose a plan which includes development of this property, although the court notes that this case is almost a year old and debtor will need to propose a plan within a reasonable time. Appearances are required on 11/19/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 10/11/19. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 10/15/19 to discuss scheduling of further proceedings, including an evidentiary hearing. Appearances are required on 10/15/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. The court was inclined to allow a short continuance of the hearing to allow debtor to obtain a valuation opinion in response to the valuation opinion submitted on behalf of movant. Debtor to provide a reasonable estimate when the appraisal can be obtained, so that the court can set an evidentiary hearing on valuation and cause for stay relief, including lack of adequate protection. Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 3/9/20. Off calendar. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status report, requesting that the status conference be continued to 5/5/20 at 1:30 p.m. in light of plaintiff's pending renewed motion for summary judgment in the adversary proceeding against debtor, which it says may render default judgment in this matter unnecessary. The court on its own motion continues the status conference to 5/5/20 at 1:30 p.m. No appearances are required on 3/10/20, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 1/27/20. Off calendar. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status report, stating that this is a default situation and requesting a continuance of the status conference to mid-March for him to decide whether to move for default judgment against defendants which are a dissolved corporation and a suspended corporation. The court on its own motion continues the status conference to 3/10/20 at 2:00 p.m. No appearances are required on 1/28/20.

Prior tentative ruling as of 9/16/19. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status report. Corrected tentative ruling as of 4/15/19. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status report, stating that plaintiff intends to file a motion for default judgment and requesting a continuance of the status conference to late June or early July 2019. The court on its own motion continues the status conference to 6/25/19 at 1:30 p.m., and an updated status report is optional for this status conference, but if one is filed, it would be appreciated if it is filed at least one week before. No appearances are required on 4/16/19.

Revised tentative ruling as of 1/29/19. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status report. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 1/29/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 11/5/18. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status report, stating that plaintiff intends to file a motion for default judgment and requesting a continuance of the status conference to late January 2019. The court on its own motion continues the status conference to 1/29/19 at 1:30 p.m. Counsel for trustee to give notice if required because any defendant has appeared. No appearances are required on 11/6/18.

Prior tentative ruling. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status report. Because default has been entered against defendant and plaintiff has represented that it intends to file a motion for default judgment shortly, the court on its own motion continues the status conference for about 60 days to 11/6/18 at 1:30 p.m. so plaintiff can file its motion for default judgment. No appearances are required on 9/18/18.

Prior tentative ruling. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status report. Because defendants have not responded to the complaint and plaintiff intends to request entry of their default, the court is inclined to continue the status conference for about 60 days so plaintiff can file a request for entry of default. Appearances are required on 6/19/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Docket 278

Tentative Ruling:

Notice of the interim fee application did not comply with LBR 2016-1(a)(2)(B) requiring not less than 21 days notice of an interim fee application before hearing since the notice was served on 2/21/20, only 18 days before hearing. Appearances are optional on 3/10/20, but counsel may appear by telephone. Applicant can just file and serve a re-notice of hearing on the application with the required 21 days notice before the hearing.

Adv#: 2:19-01481 Krasnoff Ch 7 Trustee v. Alliance United Insurance Company

#15.00 Cont'd hearing re: Chapter 7 trustee's motion to remand the adversary proceeding under 28 U.S.C. §1452(b), and Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 9027 fr. 2/4/20, 3/3/20

Docket 16

Tentative Ruling:

Revised tentative ruling as of 3/9/20. Grant plaintiff's motion to remand adversary proceeding to state court based on equitable remand under 28 U.S.C. 1452(b). Although the court agrees with the opposition of Alliance United Insurance Company that mandatory or permissive abstention is technically improper based on settled Ninth Circuit case law under Security Farms v. International Brotherhood of Teamsters, 124 F.3d 999 (9th Cir. 1997), equitable remand is appropriate as argued by plaintiff based on factors that the court may consider as set forth in In re Enron Corp., 296 B.R. 505, 508 (C.D. Cal. 2003) and In re Cytodyn of New Mexico, Inc., 374 B.R. 733, 738 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2007), cited in In re Copelin, 2014 WL 2810190 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2014). The factors that the court considers dispositive that favor remand include that the extent that state law issues predominate over bankruptcy issues in the removed action since the issues are state insurance law issues; the substance rather than form of an asserted "core" proceeding as the removed action is not a "core" proceeding; the presence of the related proceeding commenced in state court (though now removed); the lack of a jurisdictional basis other than the related to jurisdiction of the court under 28 U.S.C. 1334; the degree of remoteness of the removed action to the main bankruptcy case; and the lack of effect on the efficient administration of the estate if the court recommends remand. Appearances are required on 3/10/20, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. Continued by stipulation and order to 3/10/20 at 2:30 p.m. No appearances are required on 3/3/20.

Chapter 7

#17.00 Cont'd hearing re: Cross-motion to dismiss involuntary bankruptcy case
fr. 3/3/20

Docket 53

Tentative Ruling:

Revised tentative ruling as of 3/9/20. Deny "cross"-motion of Movant Alliance United Insurance Company to dismiss bankruptcy case for lack of standing for reasons stated in the trustee's opposition. Movant must have standing to bring motion to dismiss Chapter 7 bankruptcy case under 11 U.S.C. 707(a), In re Sherman, 491 F.3d 948, 957-958 (9th Cir. 2007). Despite movant's "structural" objection, it must show that it has Article III constitutional standing to challenge the bankruptcy case, that is, whether it alleges an injury fairly traceable to the wrongful conduct, and that it has prudential standing as a person aggrieved by the bankruptcy court's order, see In re P.R.T.C., Inc., 177 F.3d 774, 777 (9th Cir. 1999); In re Chiu, 266 B.R. 743, 748-750 (9th Cir. BAP 2001), and it has not so shown that it is a creditor or other party in interest that meets the constitutional and prudential standing requirements. Movant's only demonstrable interest affected by the pendency of the bankruptcy case is as a party defendant in the trustee's action against it, now the removed state court action, which does not make it an aggrieved person by the pending of the bankruptcy case. Matter of Fondiller, 707 F.2d 441, 442-443 (9th Cir. 1983). The court also agrees with the trustee that cause is not shown under 11 U.S.C. 707(a) for dismissal since dismissal would be prejudicial to Creditor Wood, the largest creditor, and the estate, that the contingency fee of special litigation counsel is not cause for dismissal (i.e., since there is only one contingency fee of 40%) and dismissal would be prejudicial to the administrative claimants. Whether the concerns of the courts in In re Murray, 543 B.R. 494 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2016), aff'd, 900 F.3d 53 (2nd Cir. 2018) are applicable here are debatable, and in any event, as out of circuit authority, Murray is not controlling here. Murray is distinguishable at least because the party seeking dismissal was a party in interest with standing unlike here. It does not seem to the court an improper bankruptcy purpose for the major creditor of the estate who was grievously injured by the debtor to bring the involuntary bankruptcy petition against debtor to pursue rights that debtor may have against the insurance company for an alleged bad faith failure to timely accept a settlement offer adversary proceeding where the debtor has refused to pursue or assign those rights to the aggrieved creditor to constitute cause for dismissal under 11 U.S.C. 707(a) since the involuntary bankruptcy case was brought to protect an asset of debtor's estate which would be otherwise lost. See In re Manhattan Industries, Inc., 224 B.R. 195, 200 (Bankr. M.D. Fla. 1997)("The central policy behind involuntary petitions was to protect the threatened depletion of assets or to prevent the unequal treatment of similarly situated creditors."), cited and quoted in In re Marciano, 446 B.R. 407, 419 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2010). Whether movant as the insurer acted in bad faith with respect to debtor remains to be determined as such claim is being vigorously defended by movant. Creditor may be entitled to its claim for attorneys' fees under 11 U.S.C. 506(b) pursuant to contract based on its loan agreement secured by deed of trust, which were upheld as valid in the state court litigation. The four elements for a claim under 11 U.S.C. 506(b) are: (1) its claim is an allowed secured claim; (2) it is an oversecured creditor; (3) the fees it asserts are reasonable; and (4) the fees it asserts are provided for under an agreement under which such claim arose, or the fees are provided for under a state statute under which the creditor's claim arose. In re Astle, 364 B.R. 735, 741 (Bankr. D. Idaho 2007). The claim is an allowed secured claim based on the state court judgment, though the judgment is on appeal. The creditor is an oversecured creditor, which is not in dispute. The reasonableness of the fees it asserts is in material dispute. Creditor has only submitted redacted versions of its counsel's fee statements, which do not provide sufficient information for the court to review for reasonableness. Creditor must file unredacted versions, or submit unredacted versions in camera with a privilege log if creditor claims that the reacted matter is privileged. Debtor as the objecting party must carry its burden of explaining what in the fee statements are unreasonable or at least what would be reasonable under the circumstances. In re Koncicky, 2007 WL 7540997 (9th Cir. BAP 2007)(unpublished memorandum opinion) (citation omitted). Debtor has the responsibility to challenge the information and provide evidence controverting that produced by creditor. Id. Debtor has not met this burden. The fees that creditor asserts are provided by the loan agreement between it and its borrower providing for reasonable attorneys' fees if it incurs or pays to maintain, protect or enforce its rights under the loan agreement as secured by the deed of trust. Exhibits A and C to Favela Declaration. Case law in California allows such fees to be added to the balance under the promissory note secured by trust deed. Chacker v. JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A., 27 Cal.App.5th 351, 356-358 (2018). However, there is no separate award of attorneys' fees authorized by statute, such as California Civil Code 1717 because debtor is not a signatory to the contract in the loan agreement and creditor has not otherwise shown that it would have been liable for the fees of the opposing party if the opposing party had prevailed. Asphalt Professionals, Inc. v. Davis (In re Davis), 595 B.R. 818, 837 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2019), citing, Dell Merk, Inc. v. Franzia, 132 Cal.App.4th 443, 441 (2005). Thus, creditor will need to submit fully unredacted copies of its fee statements to the court, and debtor will need to

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 3/9/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 3/11/20, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 1/14/20. In light of debtor's death, the court considers Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 1016 on the death or incompetency of a bankruptcy debtor, stating inter alia, that "[i]f a reorganization . . . case is pending under chapter 11 . . . , the case may be dismissed; or if further administration is possible and in the best interests of the parties, the case may proceed and be concluded in the same manner, so far as possible, as through the death or incompetency had not occurred. See Order Continuing Post-Confirmation Status Conference, filed and entered on October 21, 2019 (Docket No. 163); see also, 9 Levin and Sommer, Collier on Bankruptcy, paragraph 1016.03 at 1016-4 - 1016-5 (16th ed. 2019). However, Rule 1016 does not prescribe the mechanics for bringing before the court the question of what to do following the death of the debtor in a Chapter 11 case. In re Eads, 135 B.R. 380, 383 and n. 2 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 1991). In an adversary proceeding, Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 7025, which incorporates Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 25 by reference, regarding a motion for substitution applies, but in a bankruptcy case in general, Rule 7025 does not expressly apply, but where there is no applicable Local Bankruptcy Rule, which does not cover this situation, pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 1001-1(e)(1) and (2), the court may look to parallel or analogous rules in the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy or Civil Procedure or proceed in any lawful manner not inconsistent with the Local Bankruptcy Rules or the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure. Thus, the court could apply Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 25(a) and/or Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure to the extent this would not be inconsistent with Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 1016 because the confirmed plan is now in default and there is no cure after the death of the debtor. In light of the death of debtor, the court must apply Rule 1016, but the case law is mixed as to whether or not the court could order a conversion of the case after the death of the debtor in a reorganization case under Chapter 11 or 13 of the Bankruptcy Code. Compare In re Roberts, 570 B.R. 532 (Bankr. N.D. Miss. 2017) (Chapter 13 case may be converted after death of debtors and is inconsistent with Rule 1016 stating that a case may be dismissed or further administration (i.e., not conversion) may be allowed) with In re Spiser, 232 B.R. 669 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. 1999)(Chapter 13 case may not be converted after death of debtors because this is inconsistent with Rule 1016). Pursuant to Rule 1016, the case may be dismissed or further administration allowed, but if the case is converted to Chapter 7, it is unclear that the case can be administered because it appears that the only asset of value in the bankruptcy and probate estates is the residence that debtor co-owned with his spouse through a revocable living trust, which became an asset of the probate estate pursuant to California Probate Code Section 19001 on debtor's death. Debtor's confirmed reorganization plan provided that all property of the bankruptcy estate vested in the reorganized debtor upon the effective date of the plan. Plan, Docket No. 78, filed on May 1, 2018. The confirmation order provided that if the case is converted to Chapter 7, the property of the reorganized debtor or successor to the estate under the plan that has not been distributed is to be vested in the Chapter 7 bankruptcy estate. Confirmation Order, filed and entered on August 2, 2018 (Docket No. 96). When debtor died, the assets that he owned as the reorganized debtor became part of the probate estate, and the federal courts lack jurisdiction over disposition of property in the custody of the state probate court. Theoretically, perhaps, the court could grant the conversion motion and under the terms of the plan and confirmation order, the property of the bankruptcy estate would revert in the Chapter 7 bankruptcy estate, but this court as a federal court would lack jurisdiction to order any turnover from the state probate court under the probate jurisdiction exception. Marshall v. Marshall, 547 U.S. 310, 311-312 (2006). The court is inclined to dismiss the Chapter 11 bankruptcy case pursuant to Rule 1016 because dismissal is expressly provided for under that rule unless further administration is possible and in the best interest of the parties as the case cannot proceed and be concluded in the same manner as far as possible as through the death had not occurred. This is no longer possible because the confirmed plan was dependent on debtor's income earned during the plan term. The only future administration possible is distribution of debtor's assets, including the residence, which is in the custody of the state probate court. The best interest of creditors, such as movant, is served in their filing claims in the state probate court and receiving distributions from the probate assets in the state probate proceeding. Appearances are required on 1/15/20, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 12/2/19. Treat creditor David Tilem's motion to convert case under 11 U.S.C. 1112(b)(1) as a contested matter under FRBP 9014 in light of the opposition of proposed representative of debtor's probate estate, David Kudrave. However, the probate petition is pending with a hearing to have taken place on the petition on 11/26/19. In determining a motion to convert or dismiss a Chapter 11 bankruptcy case under 11 U.S.C. 1112(b)(1), the court is to engage in a two-step analysis, first, to determine whether cause exists to dismiss or convert, and second, to determine whether dismissal, conversion or appointment of a trustee or examiner is in the best interests of the creditors and the estate, and to identify whether there are unusual circumstances that establish that dismissal or conversion is not in the best interests of creditors and the estate. In re Sullivan, 522 B.R. 604, 612 (9th Cir. BAP 2014). As to step one, showing cause, it appears that cause is shown based on debtor's failure to file post-confirmation status reports as set forth in the order confirming the Chapter 11 plan and on a material default in not escrowing funds to pay creditor's professional fees as provided in the confirmed plan. 11 U.S.C. 1112(b)(4)(E) and 1112(b)(4)(N). Whether or not there are other plan defaults such as making of plan and mortgage payments and payment of United States Trustee fees is disputed by the proposed probate representative. The proposed probate representative does not dispute the defaults, but states that such defaults will be cured when he is substituted in the case for debtor upon a motion to be filed once he receives letters testamentary from the state court supervising the probate case. As to step two, determining whether dismissal, conversion or appointment of a trustee is in the best interests of creditors and the estate and identifying whether unusual circumstances exist not to dismiss or convert the case, the court must consider the best interests of all creditors, and not just the interests of the one creditor, movant. In re Owens, 552 F.3d 958, 960-961 (9th Cir. 2009). As an option, dismissal is not addressed in the moving papers, and if the property of reorganized debtor is subject to probate court jurisdiction, the distribution of such property may be subject to the probate exception to federal jurisdiction under Marshall v. Marshall, 547 U.S. 293 (2006). The creditors and the estate may be better off litigating themselves in state court if the probate exception applies. However, as indicated in the opposition, the major asset of the estate, debtor's residence, "devolved" to debtor's beneficiaries, apparently outside probate, through a trust since the proposed probate representative is also the trustee of debtor's family trust. However, the record is unclear what the status of title of debtor's residence is now, though creditor suggests that there may have been fraudulent transfers. If the property was transferred outside of probate, then the probate exception to federal jurisdiction may not apply. The court is inclined to determine that assuming that either dismissal or conversion is appropriate, there may be unusual circumstances not to warrant dismissal or conversion at this time on grounds that there was reasonable justification for the defaults based on the illness and death of debtor and the defaults will be cured within a reasonable period of time. The proposed probate representative has attested that there are no defaults in the mortgage payments on the residence and the plan payments, which have been made by debtor or by him, and defaults in filing status reports will be cured, and is seeking letters testamentary in order to act on behalf of debtor's probate estate to substitute for debtor to proceed with the confirmed plan and cure any plan defaults within a reasonable time pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 1112(b)(2)(B). Thus, the court would determine based on the death of debtor, the suggestion of death on the record, and the proposed probate representative's representations that he is seeking probate court authority to substitute in the case for debtor within the 90 days from the suggestion of death on the record pursuant to FRCP 25(a)(1) and cure the plan default in order to proceed with the confirmed plan constitutes compelling circumstances to depart from the time limits of 11 U.S.C. 1112(b)(3), and thus, the court would continue the hearing on the motion to convert until after the 90 day deadline for substitution of debtor under FRCP 25(a) has passed. The creditors as a whole may be better off if the proposed probate representative is substituted in and cures the defaults on the plan, and these circumstances are compelling to deviate from the deadlines of 11 U.S.C. 1112(b)(3) to ascertain whether cure by the proposed probate representative within a reasonable period of time is viable. The court contemplates that only a relatively short continuance of the hearing on the motion to convert would be needed to ascertain this (roughly 60 days since the 90 day deadline expires on or about 1/7/20). The court notes that both creditor and proposed probate representative have indicated an intention to file a motion to substitute within the 90 day time limit of FRCP 25(a)(1). Appearances are required on 12/4/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Docket 1

 VACATED  REASON: Cont'd to 5/19/20 at 1:30 p.m.-mb.

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 3/18/20. Off calendar. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status conference requesting a 60-day continuance of the status conference in light of the conditional settlement between plaintiff and principals of debtor and related parties and allowing some time for the parties to remove the conditions for the settlement and to allow additional time for plaintiff to make further efforts to serve defendant, which may require compliance with the Hague Convention. The court on its own motion continues the status conference to 5/19/20 at 1:30 p.m. No appearances are required on 3/24/20.

Prior tentative ruling. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status conference requesting a 60-day continuance of the status conference after the mediation between plaintiff and principals of debtor and related parties and allowing plaintiff to make further efforts to serve defendant, which may require compliance with the Hague Convention. would be a more efficient use of litigation resources as that seems to be a straightforward issue. Deciding this issue is a threshold issue for Second Generation's fraudulent transfer claims, and the parties would not have to litigate these claims if the assets were plaintiff's separate property. Prior tentative ruling as of 11/5/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 11/6/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 8/20/18. The court intends to advance the related matters on the court's 2:30 p.m. calendar to be heard with the status conference. Prior tentative ruling as of 2/10/14. No tentative ruling. Plan confirmation may be a contested matter under FRBP 9014 requiring an evidentiary hearing. Objecting parties United States Trustee and Deutsche Bank to show excuse for late filing of objections to plan. Debtor to address feasibility of plan, cramdown plan treatment of Deutsch Bank pursuant to its 11 U.S.C. 1111(b) election (i.e., proposed 23-year payout of secured claim may not be proper) and how Stonger vote and objection should be addressed (i.e., what authority exists to disregard Stonger vote or recognize inconsistent ballots, if they are indeed inconsistent rather than unintentionally mistaken.)). Appearances are required on 2/12/14.

Prior tentative ruling as of 12/2/13. At the last hearing on the disclosure statement, debtor indicated that she would submit financial projections as requested by the United States Trustee. Appearances are required on 12/4/13, but counsel may appear by telephone.

No tentative ruling as of 10/28/13. Appearances are required on 10/30/13. Debtor to address objections of United States Trustee and secured creditor Deutsche Bank. Although a confirmation matter, the court is not inclined to confirm a plan with a 36 year payout on the secured claim since no apparent justification is provided for the protracted payment and such appears to be discriminatory and unduly shifting the risk of lack of plan feasibility to that creditor. Appearances are required on 10/30/13.

Chapter 11

Prior tentative ruling as of 5/28/19. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 5/29/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 4/16/19. Although the amended disclosure statement is an improvement over the last version, the information is not completely adequate because debtor's listing of business expenses is inadequate and does not state what they are. Debtor should break down what they specifically are, and debtor should provide a historical breakdown of such specific expenses over the last 12 months. The court notes that the expenses are not evenly spread out during the last 12 months, but apparently are large in a few months and small in other months. Since the plan payments are so small, the court believes that it needs to give debtor's expenses close scrutiny, so that meaningful information is given to creditors for voting. Appearances are required on 4/17/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. The matter of debtor's motion to value secured claim or lien as to Lending 1st Mortgage, LLC is not yet resolved and needs to be resolved before the case may proceed to plan confirmation. It appears that even though the motion is resolved as to Specialized Loan Servicing by stipulation and order, the motion is not resolved as to the other lien creditor and that the motion should be renoticed for hearing.

Debtor will have to provide additional information for the disclosure statement relating to: (1) his business expenses for which a detailed statement is required for Schedule I/J, and which was not provided either with the schedule or in Exhibit F; (2) his payments on the first deed of trust, for which there is no detailed breakdown of principal, interest, taxes, and other expenses; (3) and debtor should also provide financial projections for the entire 60-month duration of the plan.

The court will also require that debtor provide a narrative statement about his employment history and future employment prospects and his income producing activities, such as the investment real property and its income prospects, such as rental increases or decreases.

Updated tentative ruling as of 3/20/20. The court has reviewed debtor's status report filed on 3/19/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 3/25/20, but counsel must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is closed to the public by order of the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California (Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042). Counsel and self-represented parties must arrange their telephonic appearances through CourtCall, which is offering a discount on fees for attorneys and waiving all fees for self-represented parties. Information about arranging a telephonic appearance through CourtCall is posted on the court's website.

Prior tentative ruling as of 3/18/20. #1.00 Cont'd hearing re: Motion for relief from stay
(JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A. VS Debtor)
fr. 3/3/20

Docket 10

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 3/26/20. Off calendar. In light of the lack of any timely written opposition to the movant's stay relief motion, the court determines that oral argument on the motion is not necessary and dispenses with oral argument pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(j)(3), the court deems the lack of filing and service of a timely written opposition as consent to granting of the motion, rules on the motion on the papers, and grants relief from stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) to pursue non-bankruptcy remedies for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition. The court withdraws its standing objection in light of the debtor's discharge being entered on 3/2/20, meaning the stay is terminated as to the debtor under 11 U.S.C. 362(c)(2)(C) and the Chapter 7 trustee filed a no distribution report meaning that no assets, including the subject collateral, will be administered in this case, and there is no bankruptcy purpose in maintaining the stay as to the subject collateral. The 14-day waiting period under FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived.

Movant must lodge a proposed order within 7 days of the hearing date. All registered CM/ECF users must lodge an order using the court's mandatory form order on LOU.

No appearances are required on 3/31/20.

No updated tentative ruling as of 3/20/20 in light of the court's pending request for movant to submit admissible evidence of standing.

Prior tentative ruling. Movant's evidence of standing is not properly authenticated by a declaration under penalty of perjury by someone competent to testify, and thus, the evidence of standing is inadmissible

(Ivory Holdings, LLC VS Debtor)

Docket 12

Tentative Ruling:

Off calendar. In light of the lack of any timely written opposition to the movant's stay relief motion, the court determines that oral argument on the motion is not necessary and dispenses with oral argument pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(j)(3), the court deems the lack of filing and service of a timely written opposition as consent to granting of the motion, rules on the motion on the papers, and grants relief from stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (2) to pursue non-bankruptcy remedies for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition. Grant request for extraordinary relief in paragraph 11 requesting 180 day period of effectiveness of stay relief in any bankruptcy case relating to debtor for the reasons stated in the moving papers. Deny requests for extraordinary relief in paragraphs 3 and 10 for lack of legal and/or evidentiary support. In re Van Ness, 399 B.R. 897 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 2009). The 14-day waiting period under FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived.

Prior tentative ruling as of 3/25/19. The court has reviewed the stipulation of the parties regarding continuance of scheduled dates and hearings filed on 2/27/19 and based on that stipulation, set a new discovery cutoff date of 5/29/19 and a post-discovery status conference on 6/25/19 at 1:30 p.m. (status conferences are held on Tuesdays at 1:30 p.m.) with a joint status report due on 6/18/19. Order the matter to mediation, and the parties to file a selection of mediator and alternate mediator by 4/15/19 and complete mediation by 6/25/19. No appearances are required on 9/18/18. Plaintiffs to submit a proposed scheduling order within 7 days.

Prior tentative ruling as of 9/17/18. Set a discovery cutoff date of 2/28/19 and a post-discovery status conference on 3/26/19 at 1:30 p.m. with a joint status report due on 3/19/19. Order the matter to mediation, and the parties to file a selection of mediator and alternate mediator by 10/31/18 and complete mediation by 3/26/19. Appearances are required on 9/18/18, but counsel may appear by telephone. Plaintiffs to submit a proposed scheduling order within 7 days of the status conference.

Prior tentative ruling as of 7/30/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 7/31/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. The court has reviewed the unilateral status reports filed by the parties. The court continues the status conference to 7/31/18 at 2:30 p.m. to be conducted with the hearing on defendants' amended motion to dismiss. No appearances are required on 7/10/18.

Although the parties failed to file a timely joint status report as required by Local Bankruptcy Rule 7016-1 and the court's status conference order, the court will not require at this time for the parties to file an updated and amended joint status report in light of the pendency of defendants' motion to dismiss.

However, the court notes that plaintiff has a jury trial demand on the face of the complaint, which the court will strike because there is no right to a jury trial on debt dischargeability and discharge denial claims in the adversary proceeding. The court also notes that the parties' consent to this court's jurisdiction to enter a final judgment on these core claims is not needed.

#1.00 Cont'd status conference re: Post confirmation of plan
fr. RN, 6/26/19, 10/23/19, 1/29/20

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 3/23/20. Off calendar. In light of the rapidly developing public health threat of coronavirus disease (COVID-19) and the current national and local public health guidance to mitigate the spread of the disease through social distancing, the court in an abundance of caution continues the status conference in this bankruptcy case scheduled for April 1, 2020 at 11:00 a.m. The court on its own motion continues the status conference to May 13, 2020 at 11:00 a.m. The court may issue a further order regarding scheduling if the public health threat does not subside. No appearances are required on April 1, 2020 at 11:00 a.m. as the status conference is continued to May 13, 2020 at 11:00 a.m. in Courtroom 1675, Roybal Federal Building, 255 East Temple Street, Los Angeles, California 90012.

Updated tentative ruling as of 3/20/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 4/1/20, but counsel must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is closed to the public by order of the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California (Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042). Counsel and self-represented parties must arrange their telephonic appearances through CourtCall, which is offering a discount on fees for attorneys and waiving all fees for self-represented parties. Chapter 11

#2.00 Hearing re: Motion to convert cases to chapter 7

Docket 29

Tentative Ruling:

Revised tentative ruling as of 3/23/20. The court is inclined to grant the motion to convert for the reasons stated in the moving papers. First, cause is shown under 11 U.S.C. 1112(b)(4)(I) and (N) based on the undisputed evidence of debtor's failure to pay postconfirmation taxes and to make timely plan payments. Conversion to Chapter 7 rather than dismissal or appointment of a Chapter 11 trustee appears to be in the best interest of creditors and the estate to realize whatever value is left in the estate and to investigate and consider the postconfirmation actions of debtor and its finances. While there may be evidence of unusual circumstances here from the COVID-19 public health emergency, debtor has not met its burden under 11 U.S.C. 1112(b)(2)(B) of showing a reasonable justification for its failures to pay postconfirmation taxes and to make timely plan payments and that such failures can be cured in a reasonable period of time. The only reason that the court would not grant the motion to convert is a showing by debtor of a specific and definite plan to realize some value to the estate if it is allowed to continue to operate, but given that it has been 7 years since confirmation and there have been various unsuccessful attempts to market the remaining stores, debtor will need to make a strong showing of an alternative path to realizing value for the creditors and the estate.

Appearances are required on 4/1/20, but counsel must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is closed to the public by order of the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California (Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042). #5.00 Hearing re: Debtor's application for authority to employ The Orantes Law Firm, P.C. as general insolvency counsel as of January 22, 2020

Tentative Ruling:

Revised tentative ruling as of 3/23/20. Approve in part and deny in part application to employ the Orantes Law Firm P.C. as general insolvency counsel for debtor in possession. Employment of proposed counsel is a reasonable exercise of debtor's business judgment. Although creditor Law Offices of Michael Jay Berger ("Berger") lacks standing to object to use of cash collateral since it is not the secured creditor whose cash collateral is being used, debtor may not use cash collateral without consent of the affected secured creditor (here, Greenbrier LLC) or authorization of the court upon motion pursuant to FRBP 4001(b). The application does not meet the requirements of FRBP 4001(b) for debtor to use the secured creditor's cash collateral. Debtor may use unencumbered funds for a postpetition retainer since 11 U.S.C. 328(a) generally recognizes the use of retainers for employed professionals (though any compensation drawn down from the retainer is subject to the court's review and approval under 11 U.S.C. 330, and an earned on receipt retainer is not permitted), but must obtain consent of the secured creditor or authorization of the court to use cash collateral for such a purpose, which was not authorized by the prior cash collateral order. To the extent that cash collateral is being used for the postpetition retainer, such use is denied without prejudice to debtor's obtaining consent to such use by stipulation or obtaining authorization from the court upon motion. Berger's objection to the postpetition retainer based on In re Knudsen Corp., 84 B.R. 668 (9th Cir. BAP 1988) lacks merit since that case is not applicable since it dealt specifically with periodic fee payments of an estate professional drawn down from a retainer before formal court approval, and not with the allowance of a postpetition retainer in general.

In light of the rapidly developing public health threat of coronavirus disease (COVID-19) declared a public health emergency in the State of California and the United States of America and the current national and local public health guidance to mitigate the spread of the disease through social distancing, on March 19, 2020, the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California issued an Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042, which among other things closes all courthouses of the Central District of California to the public, including the Roybal Federal Building, through May 1, 2020, and accordingly, the court on its own motion must and does vacate the evidentiary hearing for the contested matter of the motion of United States Trustee to dismiss this bankruptcy case with a one-year refiling bar scheduled for April 3, 2020 at 10:00 a.m. in Courtroom 1675, Roybal Federal Building, 255 East Temple Street, Los Angeles, California 90012 because in person appearances are not permitted in the courthouse on that date. Prior tentative ruling. Treat the motion of United States Trustee to dismiss with a one year refiling bar on grounds of debtor's bad faith as a contested matter under FRBP 9014 since assessment of debtor's good or bad faith is dependent on credibility determinations of debtor's testimony in his declaration and the supporting evidence of the United States Trustee, or alternatively, deny the motion to dismiss without prejudice, and allow United States Trustee an extension of 60 days from the date of the hearing to file a complaint to deny discharge under 11 U.S.C. 727 for cause shown under FRBP 4004(b) in that the United States Trustee has diligently pursued his investigation of possible actions against debtor before the deadline of 1/6/20 and timely filed the motion to extend as shown by his office's examination of debtor at the 11 U.S.C. 341(a) meetings of creditors on 6/4/19, 9/24/19 and 10/21/19 as well as extensive forensic examination of debtor's credit card transactions and elected to seek dismissal first rather than filing an adversary proceeding to deny discharge, which would have been moot if the dismissal had been granted, and that a short extension of time of 60 days for the preparation of a complaint to deny discharge would not prejudice debtor or unduly delay the administration of this case. In re Jahangiri, No. 18-31609-dwh7, 2018 WL 5255216 (Bankr. Chapter 7

#3.00 Hearing re: Motion for relief from stay
(WVBAGD, LLC VS Debtors)

Docket 26

Tentative Ruling:

Grant in part as to prospective relief from the automatic stay, and Deny in part without prejudice, or continue to allow creditor to make a proper showing for retroactive relief from stay under the applicable legal standard.

Creditor is seeking relief from stay in a prepetition action, specifically, a cross-action initiated by Debtor against Creditor in state court. Creditor seeks to retroactively validate its postpetition actions in the state court proceeding, which involved a prepetition motion to compel discovery and request for discovery sanctions and fees against Debtor. Subsequent to the state court litigation proceedings compelling discovery and awarding sanctions against Debtor, the Chapter 7 trustee abandoned the asset of Debtor's cross-action against Creditor, and the parties now acknowledge that the stay no longer applies to the state court litigation. The court is inclined to grant the motion in part, only as to prospective relief because the automatic stay no longer applies to the claim abandoned by the Chapter 7 trustee, as acknowledged by both parties.

The court first observes that the stay does not generally apply to a party defending itself in a prepetition lawsuit brought by a debtor. In re Merrick, 175 B.R. 333, 336-337 (9th Cir. BAP 1994). However, a party seeking affirmative relief against a debtor is subject to the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a) (1) and (2) as a commencement or continuance of a proceeding against the debtor or enforcement of an order or judgment against the debtor, and only defensive actions for a party to defend itself against a debtor's action are not subject to the stay. See In re Muhlig, 494 B.R. 755, 765-767 (Bankr. S.D. Fla. 2013) (seeking summary judgment postpetition on a debtor's claim as an estate asset was affirmative and not defensive action against estate property, and thus subject to the automatic stay).

Chapter 7

Discovery proceedings against a debtor are subject to the automatic stay because it is commencing or continuing a proceeding against the debtor under 11 U.S.C. 362(a), Scherer v. Carroll, 150 B.R. 549, 552 (D. Vt. 1993); accord, Matter of United Imports Corp., 200 B.R. 234, 237 (Bankr. D. Neb. 1996). It is arguable that these cases are distinguishable because they did not involve debtor-initiated litigation as indicated by In re Way, 229 B.R. 11, 13-14 (9th Cir. BAP 1998) (citing In re Merrick, 175 B.R. 333 (9th Cir. BAP 1994)) and In re Miller, 262 B.R. 499, 507 and n.11 (9th Cir. BAP 2001)(noting that the stay of litigation does not apply to claims against nondebtor parties or claims initiated by a debtor). On the other hand, a party seeking affirmative relief postpetition against a debtor based on alleged prepetition misconduct is within the literal terms of the stay because it is commencement or continuance of an action to enforce a prepetition claim against the debtor. In re Merrick, 173 B.R. at 335 n.2, 338 (creditor awarded costs against debtor in state court action postpetition did not violate the stay because he did not proceed with the postpetition hearing, brought no counterclaim, and took no affirmative act to prosecute his interest postpetition).

In the Ninth Circuit, there is a narrow exception to the applicability of the automatic stay of discovery proceedings against a debtor for civil contempt proceedings, In re Dingley, 852 F.3d 1143 (9th Cir. 2017), and sanctions proceedings, In re Berg, 230 F.3d 1165, 1166 (9th Cir. 2000), to enforce a discovery order under the government regulatory exemption of 11 U.S.C. 362(b)(4) and effectuate the public policy of courts enforcing their own powers and deterring litigation misconduct. See United Artists Corp. v. United Artist Studios, LLC, et al., No. CV-19-828-MWF (MAAx), 2019 WL 3293650 (C.D. Cal. Dec. 18, 2019) (the district court on review of a magistrate judge's discovery order, holding that the government regulatory exception does not apply to the enforcement of a discovery order so that a party can continue its litigation efforts, and "the exception applies only to enforce sanctions or contempt proceedings to uphold the dignity of the court") (emphasis added).

In Porter v. Nabors Drilling USA, L.P., the Ninth Circuit recognized that the governmental regulatory exception generally applies to "actions by courts to impose sanctions in order to enforce their own rules or police the members of their bar[.]” 854 F.3d at 1062-1064 (citing Dingley and In re Berg). The Ninth Circuit in Nabors distinguished judicial enforcement of an award on appellant’s PAGA claim and judicially imposed sanctions, stating, “That a court might ultimately decide the fate of [appellant’s] PAGA action does not mean that the court decision is an action to enforce its own power. Although a litigant may initially request the imposition of sanctions, ultimately the sanctions proceedings are conducted by a governmental unit, the court, to advance its own interest in enforcing its authority.” 854 F.3d at 1063 (citation omitted).

In In re Berg, the Ninth Circuit held that an award of attorneys’ fees imposed as a sanction pursuant to Rule 38 of the Federal Rules of Appellate Procedure for prosecuting a frivolous appeal was not subject to the automatic stay because the governmental regulatory exception applied even absent civil contempt proceedings. 230 F.3d at 1167-1168. Accordingly, in Dingley, the Ninth Circuit extended its holding in Berg to discovery disputes involving civil contempt proceedings.

In United Artists Corp. v. United Artist Studios, LLC, et al., the district court for the Central District of California discussed Dingley and determined that because debtor was not subject to a civil contempt proceeding, the governmental regulatory exception should not apply. No. CV-19-828-MWF (MAAx), 2019 WL 3293650 at *7. United Artists Corp. is distinguishable, however, from Berg, Dingley, Merrick, and In re Way, because in each of those cases, a party requested a sanction and/or fees and costs prepetition.

Here, because creditor continued its pursuit of its prepetition motion requesting an order compelling discovery, sanctioning Debtor, and granting fees and costs in its motion to compel discovery, which is not a contempt proceeding, Dingley does not apply. Berg, however, is instructive. In Berg, when creditor’s counsel discovered debtor’s bankruptcy petition was pending, “they determined that they needed to obtain relief from the automatic stay before proceeding to judgment and liquidating the claim for fees and costs.” 230 F.3d at 1167. Thereafter, “the [creditor] contended that the award of sanctions was not subject to the automatic stay . . . but instead fell under the government regulatory power exemption in 11 U.S.C. § 362(b)(4)." Id.

Like the circumstances in Berg, here, the stay was implicated as soon as Debtor filed his petition, and Creditor proceeded on its motion to compel discovery at its peril. Cf. In re Merrick, 173 B.R. at 338 (Jones, J., dissenting) ("at the moment the bankruptcy petition was filed, any further action on a pending motion for pre-petition costs constituted a violation of the stay. See 11 U.S.C. § 362(a)(1)."). Creditor's filing of the motion to compel discovery and request for sanctions and fees was prepetition and did not implicate the automatic stay, but its postpetition acts before the state court did implicate the stay. Unlike the creditor in Berg that requested relief from stay pursuant to the governmental regulatory exception, 11 U.S.C. § 362(b)(4), postpetition, before proceeding to judgment and liquidating the sanction request for fees, here, Creditor proceeded to judgment on the motion to compel and liquidated the claim for fees postpetition without any authorization or comfort from this court. Here, Creditor sought affirmative relief on a prepetition claim against the debtor, and that conduct was the continuance of an action under 11 U.S.C. 362(a)(1).

However, the court may consider granting stay relief for cause under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) retroactively to validate the actions taken by the creditor in moving to compel discovery and for an award of sanctions against the debtor and by the state court in granting such relief. However, creditor needs to make a proper showing for retroactive stay relief and has not yet done so. In re Gasprom, Inc., 500 B.R. 598, 607-608 (9th Cir. BAP 2013) (setting forth factors which may be considered in determining retroactive stay relief). The papers do not address the applicable legal standard as set forth in Gasprom for the court to make findings to support retroactive relief from stay. There may be grounds for retroactive relief if creditor and the state court did not have notice of debtor's bankruptcy case and automatic stay, and debtor actively opposed the discovery enforcement motion on the merits without advising the state court of the bankruptcy and the stay. Other factors might be considered, including whether the filing of the bankruptcy case was in good faith based on the circumstances of the filing after a fractional interest in the certain real property was transferred to debtor to provide standing in the state court action, and Debtor filed the bankruptcy case immediately after Creditor filed its motion to compel and request for sanctions and fees. However, once the bankruptcy case was filed, the control of debtor's prepetition lawsuit was in the trustee as an estate asset, and debtor's litigation should have been subject to the trustee's supervision and control, which militates against retroactive stay relief. The record is unclear about how to apply the retroactive stay relief factors in Gasprom.

#11.00 Status conference re: Complaint to determine dischargeability of debt pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §523 (a)(6); demand for jury trial

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Revised tentative ruling as of 4/6/20. Having read the joint status report noting pending litigation in the state court to liquidate any alleged debt of defendant to plaintiff from alleged personal injuries based on tort, which is stayed by the underlying bankruptcy case, the court is inclined to abstain and grant stay relief to allow plaintiff's state court action to proceed to liquidate the debt, if any, either under mandatory or permissive abstention under 28 U.S.C. 1334(c)(1) or (2). See In re Tucson Estates, Inc., 912 F.2d 1162 (9th Cir. 1990). In this matter, plaintiff seeks a determination of debt dischargeability where the alleged debt based on personal injury torts has not been liquidated. Debt dischargeability cannot be determined until the liability for the debt has been determined and liquidated. The underlying tort liability is not pleaded in the adversary complaint, and it is unclear from the pleadings where the underlying tort liability should be tried and determined, i.e., whether in this adversary proceeding or in the state court proceeding, which is now stay by the bankruptcy case. One consideration is that any personal injury tort claims if not tried in state court must be tried in the district court in this district pursuant to 28 U.S.C. 157(b)(4), though perhaps the parties could consent to this court so trying these claims. If the court abstains, the court would stay the pending adversary proceeding for dischargeability of debt pending the outcome of the state court tort litigation. The court intends to issue an order to show cause why this court should not abstain from hearing the unpled but underlying personal injury tort claims, but otherwise, retaining the debt dischargeability claim to be determined after the alleged debt liability has been determined. The court would consider the factors for permissive abstention and stay relief in In re Tucson Estates, Inc., 912 F.2d at 1166-1167. In reviewing the status report, the court is of the view that the proposed pretrial and trial schedule is unrealistic, given the social turmoil from the current coronavirus pandemic and the need for extensive discovery

#12.00 Status conference re: Complaint for non-dischargeability of debtor under §523(a)(2)(A) fr. 11/19/19, 12/3/19, 3/12/20

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Revised tentative ruling as of 4/6/20. In light of the rapidly developing public health threat of coronavirus disease (COVID-19) declared a public health emergency in the State of California and the United States of America and the current national and local public health guidance to mitigate the spread of the disease through social distancing, on March 19, 2020, the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California issued an Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042, which among other things closes all courthouses of the Central District of California to the public, including the Roybal Federal Building, through May 1, 2020, and accordingly, the court cannot conduct an in person trial in the courtroom until at least May 1, 2020. Moreover, the County of Los Angeles and City of Los Angeles have issued public health orders prohibiting public and private gatherings in their jurisdictions until at least April 19, 2020, which are likely to be extended, which orders may apply to the trial. The court schedules the status conference on 4/7/20 to discuss with the parties how a trial in the matter may be conducted and when possibly it can be scheduled. Given the current surge of coronavirus cases in the court and in the state and the need for appropriate social distancing, it would probably be prudent not to schedule so soon. In this court's view, a trial will not be scheduled earlier than 6/1/20. A court committee is being appointed to consider the conduct of video evidentiary hearings, but whether this is technically feasible and legally proper has not yet determined for this court yet.

Appearances are required on 4/7/20, but counsel must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19)

Prior tentative ruling as of 3/10/20. In light of the emerging public health threat of coronavirus disease (COVID-19) in the United States and the world, the court in an abundance of caution postpones the trial in this adversary proceeding scheduled for 3/12/20 and 3/13/20. The court sets a status conference in this matter for 4/7/20 at 2:00 p.m. to reschedule the trial so that the court and the parties can assess the emerging and rapidly developing situation regarding the coronavirus and determine that the trial can safely proceed. No appearances are required on 3/12/20 and 3/13/20 as the trial will not proceed on those days, and counsel should so advise the parties and the witnesses.

The court expects that the parties will meet and confer to resolve their differences and submit a joint pretrial stipulation, not unilateral pretrial statements, by 11/26/19 (the parties should be able at least to agree to disagree so that there is one joint pretrial stipulation), and the court will impose sanctions of $250 each on the culpable parties for failure to submit a

#15.00 Cont'd hearing re: Application for payment of interim fees and/or expenses for Law Offices of David A Tilem, debtor's attorney fr. 3/10/20

Docket 278

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 4/2/20. Off calendar. In light of the lack of a timely written objection to the interim fee application of attorney for debtor-in-possession, the court determines that oral argument on the interim fee application is not necessary and dispenses with oral argument pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(j)(3), the court deems the lack of filing and service of a timely written objection as consent to the approval of the fee application pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(h), rules on the interim fee application on the papers, and approves the interim fee application of attorney for debtor-in-possession for reasons stated in the fee application and for lack of timely written objection. #16.00 Hearing re: Motion of trustee for order approving settlement with debtor, Jocelyn Edillor, and Opehlia Edillor; and opposition of United States trustee to motion of trustee for order approving settlement with debtor, Jocelyn Edillor, and Ophelia Edillor

Docket 57

Tentative Ruling:

In light of the rapidly developing public health threat of coronavirus disease (COVID-19) declared a public health emergency in the State of California and the United States of America and the current national and local public health guidance to mitigate the spread of the disease through social distancing, on March 19, 2020, the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California issued an Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042, which among other things closes all courthouses of the Central District of California to the public, including the Roybal Federal Building, through May 1, 2020, and accordingly, the court cannot conduct an in person hearing on the contested matter of the trustee's motion to approve compromise with the debtor, Jocelyn Edillor and Ophelia Edillor, which the court considers appropriate and necessary in light of the contentions raised in the pleadings. Therefore, the court on its own motion continues the hearing to a date on which it believes that the courthouse will be open so that the court can hear the arguments of the parties in person, May 13, 2020 at 1:30 p.m. in Courtroom 1675, Roybal Federal Building, 255 East Temple Street, Los Angeles, California 90012. No appearances are required on April 7, 2020 at 2:30 p.m. as the hearing on that date is vacated.

In light of the lack of any timely written opposition to the debtor's motion for order approving amendment to escrow instructions for consummating settlement with Banc of California, the court determines that oral argument on the motion is not necessary and dispenses with oral argument pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(j)(3), the court deems the lack of filing and service of a timely written opposition as consent to granting of the motion, rules on the motion on the papers, and grants the motion for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition.

fr. 8/28/19, 10/16/19, 12/11/19

Docket 255

Tentative Ruling:

Revised tentative ruling as of 4/5/20. The court has reviewed debtor's post-confirmation status report. The court will conduct the status conference in case that the United States Trustee or another party in interest has concerns regarding status, including the making of plan payments. Appearances are required on 4/8/20, but counsel must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is closed to the public by order of the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California (Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042). Counsel and self-represented parties must arrange their telephonic appearances through CourtCall, which is offering a discount on fees for attorneys and waiving all fees for self-represented parties. Information about arranging a telephonic appearance through CourtCall is posted on the court's website.

Deny approval of debtor's disclosure statement as not containing adequate information for the reasons stated in the objections of creditors because the disclosure statement does not provide sufficient information regarding feasibility or address the issue of modification of the secured creditor's claims and rights. The disclosure statement does not show how the payment of the arrearages on the effective date is feasible based on debtor's available cash on hand stated in the disclosure statement. Debtor must provide a detailed statement of income and expenses for each property as directed by the income and expense statements attached to the disclosure statement, which she has not done, and she should provide historical data and projections for these properties. Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 4/2/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 4/8/20, but counsel must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is closed to the public by order of the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California (Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042). Counsel and self-represented parties must arrange their telephonic appearances through CourtCall, which is offering a discount on fees for attorneys and waiving all fees for self-represented parties. Information about arranging a telephonic appearance through CourtCall is posted on the court's website.

Prior tentative ruling as of 3/18/20. Off calendar. In light of the rapidly developing public health threat of coronavirus disease (COVID-19) and the current national and local public health guidance to mitigate the spread of the disease through social distancing, the court in an abundance of caution continues the hearing on the Motion of the U.S. Trustee under 11 U.S.C. § 1112(b)(1) to Convert, Dismiss or Appoint a Chapter 11 Trustee, Docket No. 153, and the status conference in this bankruptcy case scheduled for March 25, 2020 at 11:00 a.m. The court on its own motion continues the hearing on the motion and the case status conference to April 8, 2020 at 11:30 a.m. The court may issue a further order regarding scheduling if the public health threat does not subside. No appearances are required on March 25, 2020 at 11:00 a.m. as the hearing on the motion and status conference are continued to April 8, 2020 at 11:30 a.m. in Courtroom 1675, Roybal Federal Building, 255

fr. 1/29/20, 2/4/20, 3/17/20

Docket 689

Tentative Ruling:

Revised and updated tentative ruling as of 4/7/20. Off calendar. Based on the informal inquiry of the court to counsel, the court on its own motion continues the status conference to 5/6/20 at 1:30 p.m. after counsel for the 400 South La Brea defendants informally advised the court that the parties desire a 30 day continuance of the status conference and will be submitting a stipulation for such a continuance and to address other matters regarding this litigation and proposed order there. No appearances are required on 4/8/20.

Prior tentative ruling as of 3/16/20. In light of the emerging public health crisis from coronavirus disease (COVID-19) in the United States and the world, the court in an abundance of caution continues the status conference in this adversary proceeding scheduled for 3/17/20 at 1:30 p.m. to 4/8/20 at 1:30 p.m. Hopefully, with the continuance to 4/8/20, the court and the parties can assess the emerging and rapidly developing public health crisis regarding the coronavirus outbreak and determine that hearings in the matter may safely proceed. No appearances are required on 3/17/20.

Prior tentative ruling as of 2/3/20. Appearances are required on 2/4/20 for counsel and parties who want to be heard on the matter, but counsel and self-represented parties may appear by telephone in accordance with the court's telephone appearance procedures posted online on the court's website.

Tentative Ruling:

Off calendar. In light of the lack of any timely written opposition to the movant's stay relief motion, the court determines that oral argument on the motion is not necessary and dispenses with oral argument pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(j)(3), the court deems the lack of filing and service of a timely written opposition as consent to granting of the motion, rules on the motion on the papers, and grants relief from stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (2) to pursue non-bankruptcy remedies for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition. The 14-day waiting period under FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived.

Updated tentative ruling as of 4/10/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 4/14/20 to discuss status of settlement efforts and setting of further proceedings, but counsel must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is closed to the public by order of the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California (Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042). Counsel and self-represented parties must arrange their telephonic appearances through CourtCall, which is offering a discount on fees for attorneys and waiving all fees for self-represented parties. The court notes some proofreading deficiencies in the caption of the joint status report: (1) there is a fictitious bar number for Attorney Horowitz since California bar numbers are not yet in the 900,000s; (2) the name of plaintiff's law firm is spelled wrong. On page 2, item B.2, plaintiff refers to taking third party discovery by "spuboena." On page 3, item E.1, there is a reference to informal settlement discussions before and after the "Bankruptcy cse" was filed. Pleadings filed with the court should be proofread carefully before submission. While these deficiencies are not material, they indicate a lack of care in preparing court documents and do not reflect well on the drafter.

#16.00 Hearing re: Plaintiff Gemcap Lending I, LLC's motion for order remanding action to State Court

Docket 15

Tentative Ruling:

Revised tentative ruling as of 4/13/20. Grant plaintiff's motion for order remanding action to state court. Deny as moot defendants' motion to dismiss adversary proceeding.

Plaintiff seeks an order remanding this removed action to state court. Pursuant to section 5.1 and 5.2 of a court-approved settlement agreement dated September 12, 2019 between plaintiff, debtor, the creditors' committee, and creditor Great Rock, plaintiff holds a perfected security interest in the debtor's insurance policy issued by Darwin Select Insurance Company, Policy No. 0309-9815 as well as the recoveries therefrom. Main Bankruptcy Case, ECF 355 at 68-69. Plaintiff also has sole and absolute discretion to litigate claims against insureds covered under the debtor's insurance policy. Id. at 68. Plaintiff filed a complaint in state court on January 2, 2020, asserting state law claims including negligent misrepresentation, gross negligence, and unfair business practices arising under the California Business and Professions Code. Plaintiff mailed the summons and complaint to the defendants on January 28, 2020. On March 9, 2020, certain defendants in the insurance action filed a notice of removal to the bankruptcy court, initiating this adversary proceeding. ECF 1. Plaintiff asserts that there is a lack of federal subject matter jurisdiction over the removed litigation, defendants' notice of removal contravenes the settlement agreement and is untimely, and equitable grounds exist in support of remanding the case back to state court pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1452(b).

The court determines that equitable grounds exist in support of remanding the case back to state court pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1452(b). The claims in this adversary proceeding are non-core and presents purely state law issues to be resolved between non-debtor parties. Further, the disposition of any proceeds from the litigation has already been determined in the court-approved settlement agreement. Here, the bankruptcy estate in this case has been substantially administered. The estate's interest in the prosecution of the state law claims alleged in the insurance action is minimal. Further, litigating these state law claims will take substantial time and resources.

"Claims related to bankruptcy cases may be removed to federal court under 28 U.S.C. § 1452." Federal Home Loan Bank of Chicago v. Banc of America Securities LLC, 448 B.R. 517, 523 (C.D. Cal. 2011). However, there is a "[s]trong presumption against removal [which] means the removing party bears the burden of establishing federal jurisdiction and that removal was proper." Id. (citing Gaus v. Miles, Inc., 980 F.2d 564, 566 (9th Cir. 1992)). This bankruptcy court has jurisdiction in general over claims or causes of action under 11 U.S.C. § 1334 pursuant to a referral from the district court under 28 U.S.C. § 157.

"Bankruptcy courts have jurisdiction over all civil proceedings arising under title 11 [of the United States Code, the Bankruptcy Code], or arising in or related to cases under title 11." In re Enron Corp., 296 B.R. 505, 508 (C.D. Cal. 2003).

"With respect to 28 U.S.C. § 1334(b), the statutory grant of 'related to' jurisdiction is quite broad." Federal Home Loan Bank of Chicago v. Banc of America Securities LLC, 448 B.R. at 523. "Courts in the Ninth Circuit generally apply the 'conceivable effect' test to determine whether an action is related to bankruptcy." Id. (citing In re Fietz, 852 F.2d 455, 457 (9th Cir. 1988) (adopting the "conceivable effect" test as set forth by the Third Circuit in Pacor, Inc. v. Higgins, 743 F.2d 784, 994 (3rd Cir. 1984))). Under that test, a court has related to jurisdiction if the outcome of the proceeding could conceivably have any effect on the estate being administered in bankruptcy. Id. (citation and quotations omitted).

Given the broad definition of "related to" jurisdiction under the conceivable effect test, the court determines that bankruptcy court jurisdiction likely exists because any proceeds from the Insurance Action may affect the bankruptcy estate's ability to distribute proceeds to unsecured creditors and administrative claimants.

Even if this court has "related to" bankruptcy jurisdiction, the court may "choose to equitably remand the case to state court." Federal Home Loan Bank of Chicago v. Banc of America Securities LLC, 448 B.R. 517, 527 (C.D. Cal. 2011).

Chapter 11

28 U.S.C. § 1452(b) provides that the court may remand a removed cause of action "on any equitable ground." 28 U.S.C. § 1452(b). This expansive prerogative "is an unusually broad grant of authority. It subsumes and reaches beyond all of the reasons for remand under nonbankruptcy removal statutes." In re McCarthy, 230 B.R. 414, 417 (9th Cir. BAP 1999). "Because the 'any equitable ground' standard is not statutorily defined, case law has imported factors governing discretionary abstention to assist with the remand decision." Id. (citing In re Roman Catholic Bishop of San Diego, 374 B.R. 756, 761 (Bankr. S.D. Cal. 2007)). The court does not consider mandatory or permissive abstention because the state court action has been removed to this court and there is no proceeding to abstain in favor of based on the Ninth Circuit's decision in Security Farms v. International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Warehousemen & Helpers, 124 F.3d 999 (9th Cir. 1997). The appropriate remedy to consider is equitable remand under 28 U.S.C. §1452(b), which employs substantially similar methods of analysis.

"Ninth Circuit courts consider up to fourteen factors in determining whether to remand a 'related to' case on equitable grounds," which factors include: "(1) the effect or lack thereof on the efficient administration of the estate if the Court recommends [remand or] abstention; (2) extent to which state law issues predominate over bankruptcy issues; (3) difficult or unsettled nature of applicable law; (4) presence of related proceeding commenced in state court or other non-bankruptcy proceeding; (5) jurisdictional basis, if any, other than § 1334; (6) degree of relatedness or remoteness of proceeding to main bankruptcy case; (7) the substance rather than the form of an asserted core proceeding; (8) the feasibility of severing state law claims from core bankruptcy matters to allow judgments to be entered in state court with enforcement left to the bankruptcy court; (9) the burden on the bankruptcy court's docket; (10) the likelihood that the commencement of the proceeding in bankruptcy court involves forum shopping by one of the parties; (11) the existence of a right to a jury trial; (12) the presence in the proceeding of non-debtor parties; (13) comity; and (14) the possibility of possibility of prejudice to other parties in the action." Federal Home Loan Bank of Chicago v. Banc of America Securities LLC, 448 B.R. at 525 (citation omitted). "Because [28 U.S.C. §] 1452(b) affords 'an unusually broad grant of authority,' any one of the relevant factors may provide a sufficient basis for equitable remand." Id. at 525, (citation omitted). Nevertheless, "[w]hile these factors assist a court's remand decision, they do not control it." In re Roman Catholic Bishop of San Diego, 374 B.R. at 762.

In considering these factors applicable to the circumstances of this case, the court determines as follows:

Factor (1), the effect or lack thereof on the efficient administration of the estate if the Court recommends [remand or] abstention, favors remand because the bankruptcy estate is substantially administered and the estate's interest in the insurance action under the settlement is limited.

Factor (2), extent to which state law issues predominate over bankruptcy law issues, favors remand because California state law predominates and there are no bankruptcy law issues.

Factor (3), difficult or unsettled nature of applicable law, is neutral in that the California state law claims at issue do not seem to be difficult or unsettled, but are more appropriately decided by a California state court.

Factor (4), presence of related proceeding commenced in state court or other non-bankruptcy proceeding, favors remand since this proceeding had been commenced in state court.

Factor (5), jurisdictional basis, if any, other than § 1334, favors remand since the basis of any jurisdiction is only "related to" jurisdiction.

Factor (6), degree of relatedness or remoteness of proceeding to main bankruptcy case, favors remand because the proceeding is remote because it involves a dispute between nondebtor parties.

Factor (7), the substance rather than the form of an asserted core proceeding, favors remand because the claims arise under California law, and this is not a core proceeding.

Factor (8), the feasibility of severing state law claims from core bankruptcy matters to allow judgments to be entered in state court with enforcement left to the bankruptcy court, favors remand because there are no core bankruptcy matters in this dispute.

Chapter 11

Factor (9), the burden on the bankruptcy court's docket, favors remand because the main bankruptcy case is winding down and the claims involve a dispute between nondebtor parties arising under nonbankruptcy California law.

Factor (10), the likelihood that the commencement of the proceeding in bankruptcy court involves forum shopping by one of the parties, is neutral.

Factor (11), the existence of a right to a jury trial, is neutral because plaintiff has not demanded a jury trial and it is unclear whether defendants will demand a jury trial as the pleadings are not at issue.

Factor (12), the presence in the proceeding of non-debtor parties, favors remand because this action only involves nondebtor parties and the bankruptcy estate is substantially administered.

Factor (13), comity, favors remand because the claims in the removed action arise under California law, this is not a core proceeding and comity favors plaintiff's choice of forum.

Factor (14), the possibility of prejudice to other parties in the action is neutral because there is no discernible prejudice to other parties.

The court's review indicates that the majority of factors favor remand, especially the more influential factors of whether the removed action involves core claims.

Because the removed insurance action only involves state law claims between non-debtor parties, the burden would be greater on this court to hear these claims rather than the state court. Moreover, the bankruptcy estate is substantially administered and the estate's interest in the insurance action is limited.

Accordingly, since the court should exercise its discretion to grant the motion and remand on equitable grounds, the court need not resolve plaintiff's objection to removal based on timeliness grounds. (If the court had to reach the timeliness issue, the court agrees with defendants that based on their more correct reading of Murphy Bros., Inc. v. Michetti Pipe Stringing, Inc., 526 U.S. 344 (1999), the 30-day period for removal under 28 U.S.C. 1446(b)(1) begins upon proper

#17.00 Hearing re: Plaintiff's motion for default judgment under LBR 7055-1

Docket 16

Tentative Ruling:

Regarding plaintiff's motion for default judgment, the court has the following concerns that need to be addressed. First, because the underlying debt has not been liquidated, the court will have to determine the underlying state law tort to support the claims of nondischargeability under 11 U.S.C. 523(a)(2)(A) and (4). In re Bailey, 197 F.3d 997, 1000 (9th Cir. 1999). While the complaint alleges fraud, it does not specify the standard for fraud under appropriate state law, and the motion for default judgment does not contain any points and authority to set out the appropriate standard. Because plaintiffs are Washington state residents, and defendant was apparently a California state resident, it is not clear which state law the court should apply to determine tort liability for fraud, i.e., Washington v. California. Plaintiffs will have to set forth the appropriate legal standard under state law for their underlying fraud claims. Lu v. Liu (In re Liu), 282 B.R. 904, 907-908 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2002)(bankruptcy court has discretion to require a plaintiff to prove up entitlement to default judgment). Second, the amount of damages in the amount of $972,262.03 that are requested in the motion through the declaration of plaintiff Garrett Bandy is not substantiated. There is no breakdown of how that amount is calculated, and there is no supporting documentation to show that plaintiffs parted with the funds to defendant or incurred expenses as a result of defendant's misconduct. The court will require plaintiffs to prove the amounts up with admissible evidence to establish a prima facie case for damages. In re Liu, supra. Third, the amount of damages claimed in the motion exceeds the amount alleged in the complaint of $700,000. As a matter of fundamental fairness and due process of law, the amount awarded on default cannot exceed the prayer in the complaint. Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 54(c) ("A default judgment must not differ in kind from, or exceed in amount, what is demanded in the pleadings."); Fehlhaber v. Fehlhaber, 681 F.2d 1015, 1024-1025 (5th Cir. 1982). Strictly speaking, the prayer in the complaint does not demand a specific amount of damages, but paragraph 36 says that plaintiffs have been damaged in an amount exceeding $700,000, but it would be fundamentally unfair to award more than what was specifically requested in the complaint. Plaintiffs can request leave to amend the complaint to seek a higher amount or be prepared to prove damages as alleged in the complaint of $700,000.

Updated tentative ruling as of 4/10/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 4/14/20, but counsel must appear by telephone. Prior tentative ruling as of 3/20/20. Off calendar. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status report filed on 3/16/20, stating that he has filed a motion for default judgment set for hearing on 4/14/20 at 2:30 p.m. The court on its own motion continues the status conference to be conducted with the hearing on plaintiff's motion for default judgment on 4/14/20 at 2:30 p.m. No appearances are required on 3/31/20.

Prior tentative ruling. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status report. Set a discovery cutoff date of 2/28/20, and a post-discovery status conference on 3/31/20 at 1:30 p.m. with a joint status report due on 3/24/20. These dates will likely be moot if a motion for default judgment is filed and ruled upon in the meantime. Appearances are optional on 11/6/19, but counsel may appear by telephone. Chapter 11

#2.00 Hearing re: Motion for order (1) approving settlement between debtor and creditor Cindy Magleby pursuant to FRBP 9019 and (2) authorizing payments provided for therein

Docket 777

Tentative Ruling:

Because the court anticipates that this will be a lengthy hearing, given the arguments of the parties, the court will call this matter at 11:30 a.m., not at 11:00 a.m., as other matters on the 11:00 a.m. will also require substantial hearing time, but probably not as much as this matter. Counsel should call in at 11:30 a.m. for this matter.

The court has reviewed debtor's motion to approve compromise with creditor Cindy Magleby, and with several caveats, the court could find that the settlement is in good faith and fair and reasonable. The proposed settlement resolves the claims of debtor and Mrs. Magleby with each other, which arise of their pending marital dissolution proceedings pending in state court. In considering the fairness, reasonableness and adequacy of the settlement under In re A & C Properties, 784 F.2d 1377, 1381 (9th Cir. 1986), the court looks at the probability of success in the litigation, the difficulties, if any, to be encountered in the matter of collection, the complexity of the litigation involved, and the expense, inconvenience and delay necessarily attending it, and the paramount interest of the creditors, and a proper deference to their reasonable views in the premises. The litigation between these parties involve disputes over spousal support, division of community property assets, payment of Mrs. Magleby's professionals, objections to her claims and the adversary proceedings between them, and the litigation involves very fact-intensive determinations under California family law relating to debtor's compensation relating to her claims of past and ongoing spousal and child support, Mrs. Magleby's use of estate assets, namely, the family residence, division of community property, and claims for compensation for use of community property by the other party. This litigation, if not settled, will be likely time-consuming and expensive to conduct as further evidentiary hearings would be required, which would be a substantial drain on estate assets. Given the factually intensive nature of this litigation, there would be considerable expense, delay and inconvenience to the estate in litigating these disputes. Moreover, there is considerable risk that Mrs. Magleby would prevail on some or all of her claims against the estate and defenses to its claims, reducing the availability of assets for distribution to creditors as many of her claims would be entitled to priority as domestic support obligations under 11 U.S.C. 507(a)(1). The settlement fixes and reduces the amount of her claims and those of her professionals against the estate. Even if the estate prevailed on its claims against her, there is collection risk as it appears that she has minimal income and assets from which to pay the estate's claims. Thus, it appears that the settlement could be approved under FRBP 9019, but for the following caveats.

The caveats that the court has are as follows:

1. In providing for a release and discharge of claims for attorneys' fees, the settlement improperly impairs the unobjected to claim of creditor Freid & Goldsman APC as argued by that creditor in its objection. That creditor has filed a proof of claim to which debtor had withdrawn his objection without prejudice. Pursuant to FRBP 3001(f) and 3002(a), the objected to proof of claim is prima facie evidence of the validity and the amount of the claim and is deemed allowed and entitled to a distribution in the case. See also, 11 U.S.C. 501. Based on the deemed allowed proof of claim, Freid & Goldsman has standing to object as a creditor in this case under 11 U.S.C. 1109(b). Nevertheless, it appears that debtor is probably right that Freid & Goldsman should not be treated as a creditor based on its proof of claim because the claim is for fees that it earned as Mrs. Magleby's former family law counsel and that debtor is not a contractual party liable for payment of its fees and because while debtor may have been ordered to pay fees of her attorneys, the firm does not have a direct right to payment of fees from him or the estate, but its right is derivative of her right since she was the party to whom fees were awarded. Meadows v. Superior Court, 59 Cal.2d 610, 615-617 (1963). However, debtor through the settlement cannot impair the rights of Freid & Goldsman as the holder of a deemed allowed claim by subjecting the claim to release and discharge under the settlement unless he objects to the claim and prevails. See In re CS Mining, LLC, 574 B.R. 259, 282 (Bankr. D. Utah 2017) (a proposed settlement cannot be approved under FRBP 9019 which infringes on the rights of a party with rights to a determination of a claims objection under 11 U.S.C. 502). (In contrast, objecting party G&B, LLB, Mrs. Magleby's former bankruptcy counsel. does not have standing to object to the settlement since it is not a creditor of debtor, having no contractual or other compensatory relationship with him).

2. Paragraph 17 of the Deal Memo pertaining to "Waivers, etc." lacks clarity as to the releases and discharge of liability. It appears that the intent is that debtor, his heirs and assigns and representatives release and discharge Mrs. Magleby of any liability that she may have to him and his attorneys, representatives and heirs and assigns and that she, her heirs and assigns and representatives release and discharge him of any liability that he may have to her and her attorneys, representatives and heirs and assigns. It should be clarified that the releases and discharges of liability in paragraph 17 do not absolve either debtor or Mrs. Magleby of their liability to their own attorneys, including Freid & Goldsman, APLC, and Greenberg & Bass, LLP (now G&B, LLP). There is some language in paragraph 12 regarding attorneys' fees that each party is responsible for his or her own attorneys' fees, but except as set forth in the Deal Memo. It seems to the court that it should be clarified that the releases and discharges are with respect to the other party's liability, not the contracting party's.

3. The settlement provides for substantial and immediate distributions of estate assets to certain parties, including Mrs. Magleby, outside a confirmed plan. In Chapter 11, distributions to creditors and interest holders should be made only after a plan is confirmed by the court as the amounts and timing of the distributions of estate assets are controlled by the terms of the confirmed plan. BAP 1988) (reversing bankruptcy court order authorizing preconfirmation distribution of sale proceeds to pay prepetition taxes); see also, Czyzeswki v. Jevic Holding Corp., 137 S.Ct. 973 (2017) (a bankruptcy court may not approve a structured dismissal of a Chapter 11 case that provides for distributions that do not follow the Bankruptcy Code's ordinary priority rules without the affected creditors' consent). While the proposed settlement resolves a, if not the, remaining major dispute in this case, the settlement does not provide information on how the remaining outstanding claims will be treated and paid in this case, and that underscores the need to have a plan confirmation process here so that all claims can be resolved. Specifically, debtor needs to address how the court may properly approve the settlement providing for immediate distributions of estate assets without a confirmed plan.

4. In sum, it seems to the court that debtor will need to object to the claim of Freid & Goldsman and prevail, and then be in a position to implement the settlement though a confirmed plan or some type of structured dismissal providing for consensual treatment of the remaining unpaid creditors.

The court will call this matter first on the 11:00 a.m. calendar because this matter should not take much time to discuss as the other matters on calendar will be somewhat lengthy, and counsel should appear promptly at 11:00 a.m. to be heard, or otherwise, they might have to wait a long time for their matter to be heard, perhaps past noon.

In light of the rapidly developing public health threat of coronavirus disease (COVID-19) declared a public health emergency in the State of California and the United States of America and the current national and local public health guidance to mitigate the spread of the disease through social distancing, on March 19, 2020, the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California issued an Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042, which among other things closes all courthouses of the Central District of California to the public, including the Roybal Federal Building, through May 1, 2020, and accordingly, the court cannot conduct an in person trial in the courtroom until at least May 1, 2020. Moreover, the County of Los Angeles and City of Los Angeles have issued public health orders prohibiting public and private gatherings in their jurisdictions until at least April 19, 2020, which are likely to be extended, which orders may apply to the trial. The court schedules the status conference on 4/7/20 to discuss with the parties how a trial in the matter may be conducted and when possibly it can be scheduled. Given the current surge of coronavirus cases in the court and in the state and the need for appropriate social distancing, it would probably be prudent not to schedule so soon. In this court's view, a trial will not be scheduled earlier than 6/1/20. A court committee is being appointed to consider the conduct of video evidentiary hearings, but whether this is technically feasible and legally proper has not yet determined for this court yet.

Appearances are required on 4/15/20, but counsel must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is closed to the public by order of the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California (Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042). Counsel and self-represented parties must arrange their telephonic appearances through CourtCall, which is offering a discount on fees for attorneys and waiving all fees for self-represented parties. Information about arranging a telephonic appearance through CourtCall is posted on the court's website.

Prior tentative ruling as of 3/20/20. Off calendar. In light of the rapidly developing public health threat of coronavirus disease (COVID-19) declared a public health emergency in the State of California and the United States of America and the current national and local public health guidance to mitigate the spread of the disease through social distancing, on March 19, 2020, the United States District Court for the Central District of California issued General Order 20-042, which among other things closes all courthouses of the Central District of California to the public, including the Roybal Federal Building, through May 1, 2020, and accordingly, the court on its own motion must and does vacate the evidentiary hearing for the contested matter of Debtor's objection to Claim No. 4 of U.S. Bank National Association as Trustee for Velocity Commercial Capital Loan Trust 2014-1 in this bankruptcy case scheduled for April 22, 2020 at 9:00 a.m. in Courtroom 1675, Roybal Federal Building, 255 East Temple Street, Los Angeles, California 90012 because in person appearances are not permitted in the courthouse on that date. No appearances are required on April 22, 2020 at 9:00 a.m. as the evidentiary hearing on that date is vacated.

Building, 255 East Temple Street, Los Angeles, California 90012. The purpose of the status conference is to discuss rescheduling the evidentiary hearing on the claim objection. Because the Roybal Federal Building is closed to the public on April 15, 2020 by the aforementioned order of the United States District Court, the parties to this contested matter and their counsel must appear telephonically at the status conference in accordance with the court's telephone appearance procedures posted online on the court's website.

Prior tentative ruling as of 3/9/20. Off calendar. The court vacated the hearing on 3/11/20 after resetting the matter for trial on 4/22/20 at 9:00 a.m. No appearances are required on 3/11/20.

Prior tentative ruling as of 1/16/20. Off calendar. Continued by stipulation and order to 2/28/20 at 10:00 a.m. No appearances are required on 1/17/20.

Prior tentative ruling as of 11/13/19. Off calendar. Evidentiary hearing on 11/15/19 vacated by order entered on 11/13/19, and telephonic status conference is set for 11/26/19 at 1:30 p.m. to reschedule evidentiary hearing if the parties are unable to stipulate to a continued hearing date and time. No appearances are required on 11/15/19.

Revised tentative ruling as of 10/2/19. Off calendar. Continued by stipulation and order to 11/15/19 at 9:00 a.m. No appearances are required on 10/4/19.

Prior tentative ruling as of 7/29/19. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 7/31/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 6/24/19. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 6/26/19.

Prior tentative ruling. Treat the motion objecting to claim as a contested matter under FRBP 9014 and set a schedule of pretrial proceedings, including discovery, since there are disputed issues of material fact. Parties should confer regarding an appropriate schedule if they can. Appearances are required on 5/8/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Chapter 11

Creditor may be entitled to its claim for attorneys' fees under 11 U.S.C. 506(b) pursuant to contract based on its loan agreement secured by deed of trust, which were upheld as valid in the state court litigation. The four elements for a claim under 11 U.S.C. 506(b) are: (1) its claim is an allowed secured claim; (2) it is an oversecured creditor; (3) the fees it asserts are reasonable; and (4) the fees it asserts are provided for under an agreement under which such claim arose, or the fees are provided for under a state statute under which the creditor's claim arose. In re Astle, 364 B.R. 735, 741 (Bankr. D. Idaho 2007). The claim is an allowed secured claim based on the state court judgment, though the judgment is on appeal. The creditor is an oversecured creditor, which is not in dispute. The reasonableness of the fees it asserts is in material dispute. Creditor has only submitted redacted versions of its counsel's fee statements, which do not provide sufficient information for the court to review for reasonableness. Creditor must file unredacted versions, or submit unredacted versions in camera with a privilege log if creditor claims that the reacted matter is privileged. Debtor as the objecting party must carry its burden of explaining what in the fee statements are unreasonable or at least what would be reasonable under the circumstances. In re Koncicky, 2007 WL 7540997 (9th Cir. BAP 2007)(unpublished memorandum opinion) (citation omitted). Debtor has the responsibility to challenge the information and provide evidence controverting that produced by creditor. Id. Debtor has not met this burden. The fees that creditor asserts are provided by the loan agreement between it and its borrower providing for reasonable attorneys' fees if it incurs or pays to maintain, protect or enforce its rights under the loan agreement as secured by the deed of trust. Exhibits A and C to Favela Declaration. Case law in California allows such fees to be added to the balance under the promissory note secured by trust deed. Chacker v. JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A., 27 Cal.App.5th 351, 356-358 (2018). However, there is no separate award of attorneys' fees authorized by statute, such as California Civil Code 1717 because debtor is not a signatory to the contract in the loan agreement and creditor has not otherwise shown that it would have been liable for the fees of the opposing party if the opposing party had prevailed. Asphalt Professionals, Inc. v. Davis (In re Davis), 595 B.R. 818, 837 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2019), citing, Dell Merk, Inc. v. Franzia, 132 Cal.App.4th 443, 441 (2005). Thus, creditor will need to submit fully unredacted copies of its fee statements to the court, and debtor will need to explain what in the fee statements are unreasonable and/or produce evidence showing that the fees are unreasonable.

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 4/10/20. Off calendar. Continued by stipulation and order to 4/29/20 at 11:00 a.m. No appearances are required on 4/15/20.

Prior tentative ruling as of 3/20/20. Off calendar. In light of the rapidly developing public health threat of coronavirus disease (COVID-19) declared a public health emergency in the State of California and the United States of America and the current national and local public health guidance to mitigate the spread of the disease through social distancing, on March 19, 2020, the United States District Court for the Central District of California issued General Order 20-042, which among other things closes all courthouses of the Central District of California to the public, including the Roybal Federal Building, through May 1, 2020, and accordingly, the court on its own motion must and does vacate the evidentiary hearing for the contested matter of the motion of the Riverside County Treasurer-Tax Collector for relief from the automatic stay in this bankruptcy case scheduled for May 1, 2020 at 10:00 a.m. in Courtroom 1675, Roybal Federal Building, 255 East Temple Street, Los Angeles, California 90012 because in person appearances are not permitted in the courthouse on that date. of the status conference is to discuss rescheduling the evidentiary hearing on the motion. Because the Roybal Federal Building is closed to the public on April 15, 2020 by the aforementioned order of the United States District Court, the parties to this contested matter and their counsel must appear telephonically at the status conference in accordance with the court's telephone appearance procedures posted online on the court's website. The court has scheduled the status conference to be conducted with other matters scheduled for hearing in this bankruptcy case on April 15, 2020 at 11:00 a.m.

Prior tentative ruling as of 8/16/19. Off calendar. Continued by stipulation and order to 11/14/19 at 10:00 a.m. No appearances are required on 9/19/19.

Prior tentative ruling. Treat as a contested matter under FRBP 9014 since there are disputed issues of material fact regarding debtor's good faith in filing this case and whether the filing of debtor's petition was part of a scheme to hinder, delay or defraud creditors. The court will conduct the hearing as a status conference, and the parties should be prepared to discuss scheduling of an evidentiary hearing. Appearances are required on 5/22/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Updated tentative ruling as of 4/13/20. Off calendar. The court on its own motion continues the hearing on this matter to 4/29/20 at 11:00 a.m. to be heard with the hearing on debtor's disclosure statement. No appearances are required on 4/15/20.

Prior tentative ruling. Applicant has not shown that the requirement of LBR 2016-1(a)(1)(J) is satisfied that either (1) there is a separately filed declaration from the client indicating that the client has reviewed the application and has no objection to it; or (2) if the client refuses to provide such a declaration, the applicant has filed a declaration describing the steps that were taken to obtain the client's declaration and the client's response thereto. If debtor wants applicant to render services to the estate, debtor should state a position whether the requested interim fees may be approved and paid. Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 4/13/20. Off calendar. The court on its own motion continues the hearing on this matter to 4/29/20 at 11:00 a.m. to be heard with the hearing on debtor's disclosure statement. No appearances are required on 4/15/20.

Prior tentative ruling. No tentative ruling on the merits in light of objections to the interim fee application by debtor and creditor James Regan. The court is inclined to defer a ruling on the interim fee application until fee applications of estate professionals are considered on a final basis pursuant to LBR 2016-1(c)(3) and because the estate lacks funds to pay the interim fee application at this time. It seems to the court that it is a better use of litigation resources to litigate the fee application of applicant on a final fee when the case is ready for disposition through the plan confirmation process. Chapter 7

#1.00 Cont'd hearing re: Motion for relief from stay
(WVBAGD, LLC VS Debtors)
fr. 4/7/20

Docket 26

Tentative Ruling:

Revised tentative ruling as of 4/17/20. Off calendar. Motion resolved by stipulation and order. No appearances are required on 4/21/20.

Prior tentative ruling.

Grant in part as to prospective relief from the automatic stay, and Deny in part without prejudice, or continue to allow creditor to make a proper showing for retroactive relief from stay under the applicable legal standard.

Creditor is seeking relief from stay in a prepetition action, specifically, a cross-action initiated by Debtor against Creditor in state court. Creditor seeks to retroactively validate its postpetition actions in the state court proceeding, which involved a prepetition motion to compel discovery and request for discovery sanctions and fees against Debtor. Subsequent to the state court litigation proceedings compelling discovery and awarding sanctions against Debtor, the Chapter 7 trustee abandoned the asset of Debtor's cross-action against Creditor, and the parties now acknowledge that the stay no longer applies to the state court litigation. The court is inclined to grant the motion in part, only as to prospective relief because the automatic stay no longer applies to the claim abandoned by the Chapter 7 trustee, as acknowledged by both parties.

The court first observes that the stay does not generally apply to a party defending itself in a prepetition lawsuit brought by a debtor. In re Merrick, 175 B.R. 333, 336-337 (9th Cir. BAP 1994). However, a party seeking affirmative relief against a debtor is subject to the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. 362(a) (1) and (2) as a commencement or continuance of a proceeding against the debtor or enforcement of an order or judgment against the debtor, and only defensive actions for a party to defend itself against a debtor's action are not subject to the stay. See In re Muhlig, 494 B.R. 755, 765-767 (Bankr. S.D. Fla. 2013) (seeking summary judgment postpetition on a debtor's claim as an estate asset was affirmative and not defensive action against estate property, and thus subject to the automatic stay).

Discovery proceedings against a debtor are subject to the automatic stay because it is commencing or continuing a proceeding against the debtor under 11 U.S.C. 362(a), Scherer v. Carroll, 150 B.R. 549, 552 (D. Vt. 1993); accord, Matter of United Imports Corp., 200 B.R. 234, 237 (Bankr. D. Neb. 1996). It is arguable that these cases are distinguishable because they did not involve debtor-initiated litigation as indicated by In re Way, 229 B.R. 11, 13-14 (9th Cir. BAP 1998) (citing In re Merrick, 175 B.R. 333 (9th Cir. BAP 1994)) and In re Miller, 262 B.R. 499, 507 and n.11 (9th Cir. BAP 2001)(noting that the stay of litigation does not apply to claims against nondebtor parties or claims initiated by a debtor). On the other hand, a party seeking affirmative relief postpetition against a debtor based on alleged prepetition misconduct is within the literal terms of the stay because it is commencement or continuance of an action to enforce a prepetition claim against the debtor. In re Merrick, 173 B.R. at 335 n.2, 338 (creditor awarded costs against debtor in state court action postpetition did not violate the stay because he did not proceed with the postpetition hearing, brought no counterclaim, and took no affirmative act to prosecute his interest postpetition).

In the Ninth Circuit, there is a narrow exception to the applicability of the automatic stay of discovery proceedings against a debtor for civil contempt proceedings, In re Dingley, 852 F.3d 1143 (9th Cir. 2017), and sanctions proceedings, In re Berg, 230 F.3d 1165, 1166 (9th Cir. 2000), to enforce a discovery order under the government regulatory exemption of 11 U.S.C. 362(b)(4) and effectuate the public policy of courts enforcing their own powers and deterring litigation misconduct. See United Artists Corp. v. United Artist Studios, LLC, et al., No. CV-19-828-MWF (MAAx), 2019 WL 3293650 (C.D. Cal. Dec. 18, 2019) (the district court on review of a magistrate judge's discovery order, holding that the government regulatory exception does not apply to the enforcement of a discovery order so that a party can continue its litigation efforts, and "the exception applies only to enforce sanctions or contempt proceedings to uphold the dignity of the court") (emphasis added).

In Porter v. Nabors Drilling USA, L.P., the Ninth Circuit recognized that the governmental regulatory exception generally applies to "actions by courts to impose sanctions in order to enforce their own rules or police the members of their bar[.]" 854 F.3d at 1062-1064 (citing Dingley and In re Berg). The Ninth Circuit in Nabors distinguished judicial enforcement of an award on appellant's PAGA claim and judicially imposed sanctions, stating, "That a court might ultimately decide the fate of [appellant's] PAGA action does not mean that the court decision is an action to enforce its own power. Although a litigant may initially request the imposition of sanctions, ultimately the sanctions proceedings are conducted by a governmental unit, the court, to advance its own interest in enforcing its authority." 854 F.3d at 1063 (citation omitted).

In In re Berg, the Ninth Circuit held that an award of attorneys' fees imposed as a sanction pursuant to Rule 38 of the Federal Rules of Appellate Procedure for prosecuting a frivolous appeal was not subject to the automatic stay because the governmental regulatory exception applied even absent civil contempt proceedings. 230 F.3d at 1167-1168. Accordingly, in Dingley, the Ninth Circuit extended its holding in Berg to discovery disputes involving civil contempt proceedings.

In United Artists Corp. v. United Artist Studios, LLC, et al., the district court for the Central District of California discussed Dingley and determined that because debtor was not subject to a civil contempt proceeding, the governmental regulatory exception should not apply. No. CV-19-828-MWF (MAAx), 2019 WL 3293650 at *7. United Artists Corp. is distinguishable, however, from Berg, Dingley, Merrick, and In re Way, because in each of those cases, a party requested a sanction and/or fees and costs prepetition.

Here, because creditor continued its pursuit of its prepetition motion requesting an order compelling discovery, sanctioning Debtor, and granting fees and costs in its motion to compel discovery, which is not a contempt proceeding, Dingley does not apply. Berg, however, is instructive. In Berg, when creditor's counsel discovered debtor's bankruptcy petition was pending, "they determined that they needed to obtain relief from the automatic stay before proceeding to judgment and liquidating the claim for fees and costs." 230 F.3d at 1167. Thereafter, "the [creditor] contended that the award of sanctions was not subject to the automatic stay . . . but instead fell under the government regulatory power exemption in 11 U.S.C. § 362(b)(4)." Id.

Like the circumstances in Berg, here, the stay was implicated as soon as Debtor filed his petition, and Creditor proceeded on its motion to compel discovery at its peril. Cf. In re Merrick, 173 B.R. at 338 (Jones, J., dissenting) ("at the moment the bankruptcy petition was filed, any further action on a pending motion for pre-petition costs constituted a violation of the stay. See 11 U.S.C. § 362(a)(1)."). Creditor's filing of the motion to compel discovery and request for sanctions and fees was prepetition and did not implicate the automatic stay, but its postpetition acts before the state court did implicate the stay. Unlike the creditor in Berg that requested relief from stay pursuant to the governmental regulatory exception, 11 U.S.C. § 362(b)(4), postpetition, before proceeding to judgment and liquidating the sanction request for fees, here, Creditor proceeded to judgment on the motion to compel and liquidated the claim for fees postpetition without any authorization or comfort from this court. Here, Creditor sought affirmative relief on a prepetition claim against the debtor, and that conduct was the continuance of an action under 11 U.S.C. 362(a)(1).

However, the court may consider granting stay relief for cause under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) retroactively to validate the actions taken by the creditor in moving to compel discovery and for an award of sanctions against the debtor and by the state court in granting such relief. However, creditor needs to make a proper showing for retroactive stay relief and has not yet done so. In re Gasprom, Inc., 500 B.R. 598, 607-608 (9th Cir. BAP 2013) (setting forth factors which may be considered in determining retroactive stay relief). The papers do not address the applicable legal standard as set forth in Gasprom for the court to make findings to support retroactive relief from stay. There may be grounds for retroactive relief if creditor and the state court did not have notice of debtor's bankruptcy case and automatic stay, and debtor actively opposed the discovery enforcement motion on the merits without advising the state court of the bankruptcy and the stay. Other factors might be considered, including whether the filing of the bankruptcy case was in good faith based on the circumstances of the filing after a fractional interest in the certain real property was transferred to debtor to provide standing in the state court action, and Debtor filed the bankruptcy case immediately after Creditor filed its motion to compel and request for sanctions and fees. However, once the bankruptcy case was filed, the control of debtor's prepetition lawsuit was in the trustee as an estate asset, and debtor's litigation should have been subject to the trustee's supervision and control, which militates against retroactive stay relief. The record is unclear about how to apply the retroactive stay relief factors in Gasprom.

Appearances are required on 4/7/20, but counsel must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is closed to the public by order of the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California (Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042). Counsel and self-represented parties must arrange their telephonic appearances through CourtCall, which is offering a discount on fees for attorneys and waiving all fees for self-represented parties. Information about arranging a telephonic appearance through CourtCall is posted on the court's website.

#1.00 TRIAL RE: Objection to claim number 4 by claimant US Bank National Association as Trustee for Velocity Commercial Capital Loan Trust 2014-1 fr. 1/17/20, 2/28/20, 3/4/20

Docket 115

 VACATED  REASON: Trial vacated and set status conference for 4/15/20 at 11:00 a.m. per order entered on 3/20/20-mb

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 3/20/20. Off calendar. In light of the rapidly developing public health threat of coronavirus disease (COVID-19) declared a public health emergency in the State of California and the United States of America and the current national and local public health guidance to mitigate the spread of the disease through social distancing, on March 19, 2020, the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California issued an Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042, which among other things closes all courthouses of the Central District of California to the public, including the Roybal Federal Building, through May 1, 2020, and accordingly, the court on its own motion must and does vacate the evidentiary hearing for the contested matter of Debtor's objection to Claim No. 4 of U.S. Bank National Association as Trustee for Velocity Commercial Capital Loan Trust 2014-1 in this bankruptcy case scheduled for April 22, 2020 at 9:00 a.m. in Courtroom 1675, Roybal Federal Building, 255 East Temple Street, Los Angeles, California 90012 because in person appearances are not permitted in the courthouse on that date. No appearances are required on April 22, 2020 at 9:00 a.m. as the evidentiary hearing on that date is vacated.

The court further on its own motion sets a status conference in this contested matter on April 15, 2020 at 11:00 a.m. in Courtroom 1675, Roybal Federal Building, 255 East Temple Street, Los Angeles, California 90012. The purpose of the status conference is to discuss rescheduling the evidentiary hearing on the claim objection. Because the Roybal Federal Building is closed to the public on April 15, 2020 by the aforementioned order of the United States District Court, the parties to this contested matter and their counsel must appear telephonically at the status conference in accordance with the court's telephone appearance procedures posted online on the court's website.

Prior tentative ruling as of 3/9/20. Off calendar. The court vacated the hearing on 3/11/20 after resetting the matter for trial on 4/22/20 at 9:00 a.m. No appearances are required on 3/11/20.

Prior tentative ruling as of 1/16/20. Off calendar. Continued by stipulation and order to 2/28/20 at 10:00 a.m. No appearances are required on 1/17/20.

Prior tentative ruling as of 11/13/19. Off calendar. Evidentiary hearing on 11/15/19 vacated by order entered on 11/13/19, and telephonic status conference is set for 11/26/19 at 1:30 p.m. to reschedule evidentiary hearing if the parties are unable to stipulate to a continued hearing date and time. No appearances are required on 11/15/19.

Revised tentative ruling as of 10/2/19. Off calendar. Continued by stipulation and order to 11/15/19 at 9:00 a.m. No appearances are required on 10/4/19.

Prior tentative ruling as of 7/29/19. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 7/31/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 6/24/19. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 6/26/19.

Prior tentative ruling. Treat the motion objecting to claim as a contested matter under FRBP 9014 and set a schedule of pretrial proceedings, including discovery, since there are disputed issues of material fact. Parties should confer regarding an appropriate schedule if they can. Appearances are required on 5/8/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Creditor may be entitled to its claim for attorneys' fees under 11 U.S.C. 506(b) pursuant to contract based on its loan agreement secured by deed of trust, which were upheld as valid in the state court litigation. The four elements for a claim under 11 U.S.C. 506(b) are: (1) its claim is an allowed secured claim; (2) it is an oversecured creditor; (3) the fees it asserts are reasonable; and (4) the fees it asserts are provided for under an agreement under which such claim arose, or the fees are provided for under a state statute under which the creditor's claim arose. In re Astle, 364 B.R. 735, 741 (Bankr. D. Idaho 2007). The claim is an allowed secured claim based on the state court judgment, though the judgment is on appeal. The creditor is an oversecured creditor, which is not in dispute. The reasonableness of the fees it asserts is in material dispute. Creditor has only submitted redacted versions of its counsel's fee statements, which do not provide sufficient information for the court to review for reasonableness. Creditor must file unredacted versions, or submit unredacted versions in camera with a privilege log if creditor claims that the reacted matter is privileged. Debtor as the objecting party must carry its burden of explaining what in the fee statements are unreasonable or at least what would be reasonable under the circumstances. In re Koncicky, 2007 WL 7540997 (9th Cir. BAP 2007)(unpublished memorandum opinion) (citation omitted). Debtor has the responsibility to challenge the information and provide evidence controverting that produced by creditor. Id. Debtor has not met this burden. The fees that creditor asserts are provided by the loan agreement between it and its borrower providing for reasonable attorneys' fees if it incurs or pays to maintain, protect or enforce its rights under the loan agreement as secured by the deed of trust. Exhibits A and C to Favela Declaration. Case law in California allows such fees to be added to the balance under the promissory note secured by trust deed. Chacker v. JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A., 27 Cal.App.5th 351, 356-358 (2018). However, there is no separate award of attorneys' fees authorized by statute, such as California Civil Code 1717 because debtor is not a signatory to the contract in the loan agreement and creditor has not otherwise shown that it would have been liable for the fees of the opposing party if the opposing party had prevailed. Asphalt Professionals, Inc. v. Davis (In re Davis), 595 B.R. 818, 837 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2019), citing, Dell Merk, Inc. v. Franzia, 132 Cal.App.4th 443, 441 (2005). Thus, creditor will need to submit fully unredacted copies of its fee statements to the court, and debtor will need to explain what in the fee statements are unreasonable and/or produce evidence showing that the fees are unreasonable.

Chapter 11

Prior tentative ruling as of 11/5/18. The court has reviewed the joint status report. The court tends to agree with plaintiff and defendant Trinh that a determination of whether the estate has an interest in the subject property first would be a more efficient use of litigation resources as that seems to be a straightforward issue. Deciding this issue is a threshold issue for Second Generation's fraudulent transfer claims, and the parties would not have to litigate these claims if the assets were plaintiff's separate property. Appearances are required on 11/6/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 11/5/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 11/6/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 8/20/18. The court intends to advance the related matters on the court's 2:30 p.m. calendar to be heard with the status conference. However, the status conference will be conducted at the end of the 1:30 p.m. for matters in other cases to be called first. Appearances are required on 8/21/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Tentative Ruling:

Updated and revised tentative ruling as of 4/27/20. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status report and defendant's joinder and grants joint request to continue scheduling dates as follows: (1) discovery cutoff date extended from 3/31/20 to 6/30/20; (2) status report filing due date extended from 4/21/20 to 7/28/20; (3) status conference continued from 4/28/20 at 1:30 p.m. to 8/4/20 at 1:30 p.m.; and (4) mediation completion deadline extended from 4/28/20 to 8/4/20. Plaintiff to lodge a proposed updated scheduling order within 7 days.

Appearances are optional on 4/28/20, but counsel and self-represented parties may and should appear by telephone, if appearing. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is closed to the public by order of the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California (Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042). Counsel and self-represented parties must arrange their telephonic appearances through CourtCall, which is offering a discount on fees for attorneys and waiving all fees for self-represented parties. Information about arranging a telephonic appearance through CourtCall is posted on the court's website.

Revised tentative ruling as of 10/7/19. The court has reviewed modified joint status report. Set a discovery cutoff date of 3/31/20, and a post-discovery status conference on 4/28/20 at 1:30 p.m. with a joint status report due on 4/21/20. Defendant should address why the matter is not amenable to

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 4/24/20. In light of the rapidly developing public health threat of coronavirus disease (COVID-19) declared a public health emergency in the State of California and the United States of America and the current national and local public health guidance to mitigate the spread of the disease through social distancing, on March 19, 2020, the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California issued an Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042, which among other things closes all courthouses of the Central District of California to the public, including the Roybal Federal Building, which closure has been extended through June 1, 2020 by announcement on April 13, 2020, and accordingly, the court cannot conduct an in person trial in the courtroom until at least June 1, 2020.

Moreover, the County of Los Angeles and City of Los Angeles have issued public health orders prohibiting public and private gatherings in their jurisdictions until at least May 15, 2020, which are likely to be extended, which orders may apply to the trial. The court scheduled the status conference on 4/28/20 to discuss with the parties how a trial in the matter may be conducted and when possibly it can be scheduled. Given the current surge of coronavirus cases in the court and in the state and the need for appropriate social distancing, it would probably be prudent not to schedule so soon. In this court's view, a trial will not be scheduled earlier than 6/1/20. A court committee is being appointed to consider the conduct of video evidentiary hearings, but whether this is technically feasible and legally proper has not

Prior tentative ruling as of 12/9/19. The court agrees with plaintiff that alleged facts #25-32 and alleged issue of law #72 in defendants' proposed pretrial stipulation are precluded by the ruling on the motion for partial summary adjudication and that the boxed facts in plaintiff's revised draft pretrial stipulation were established by the ruling on the motion for partial summary adjudication. No tentative ruling on alleged issues of law #70-71 in defendants' proposed pretrial stipulation, which appear to be included in plaintiff's revised draft pretrial stipulation as alleged disputed facts #34-35. While the parties listed their exhibits, they did not list their objections to each other's exhibits as required by Local Bankruptcy Rule 7016-1. Does this mean that there are no objections to any of the exhibits being offered? Appearances are required on 12/9/19 to discuss the proposed pretrial stipulations and scheduling of trial, but counsel and self-represented parties may appear by telephone in accordance with the court's telephone appearance procedures posted online on the court's website.

Docket 713

Tentative Ruling:

Updated and revised tentative ruling as of 4/27/20 at 5:45 p.m. Off calendar. The court on its own motion continues the hearing on the Plan Agent's application for issuance of writ of execution and appointment as substitute custodian for U.S. Marshal in furtherance of writ and notice of levy and for order approving sale of artworks free and clear of any claim of lien or interest from April 28, 2020 at 2:30 p.m. to May 6, 2020 at 1:30 p.m., which is the date and time of the next status conference in this adversary proceeding. The purpose of the continuance is to provide time for the Plan Agent to file and serve a written reply to the opposition of Defendants 400 South La Brea, et al., to the application and to address the tentative ruling on the matter posted by the court on April 24, 2020 and for the court to review and research the points and authorities asserted in the opposition. Accordingly, the hearing on the Plan Agent's application for issuance of writ of execution and appointment as substitute custodian for U.S. Marshall in furtherance of writ and notice of levy and for order approving sale of artworks free and clear of any claim of lien or interest is hereby continued from April 28, 2020 at 2:30 p.m. to May 6, 2020 at 1:30 p.m. in Courtroom 1675, Roybal Federal Building, 255 East Temple Street, Los Angeles, California 90012, and the Plan Agent's reply must be filed and served no later than Friday May 1, 2020. No appearances are required on 4/28/20. substitute custodian for U.S. Marshal in furtherance of execution of writ and notice of levy for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition.

Deny motion in part for order approving sale of artworks free and clear of any claim of lien or interest for lack of legal authority. Plaintiff will be relying upon postjudgment collection remedies under California law pursuant to FRBP 7069 and FRCP 69, and plaintiff has not shown that California law authorizes the court to declare that the personal property to be sold at execution sales may be sold free and clear of liens and interests. Pursuant to California Code of Civil Procedure 701.630, any liens subordinate to the lien under which the property is sold and any state tax lien on the property are extinguished. An execution levy reaches only the judgment debtor's interest in the property—i.e., a third party's superior lien or interest is not affected by an execution sale. In other words, a purchaser at an execution sale acquires all right, title and interest of the judgment debtor subject to superior liens. California Code of Civil Procedure 701.040; see also, Ahart, Rutter Group California Practice Guide: Enforcing Judgments and Debts, paragraphs 6:713 and 6:714 (online edition, June 2019 update), citing Comments to California Code of Civil Procedure 700.060, 701.040 and 720.150 and Marriage of Finnell, 182 Cal.App.3d 52, 56 (1986).

fr. 3/24/20

Docket 1358

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 4/24/20. Because the court anticipates that this will be a lengthy hearing in the Adelman case on the trustee's final report and fee application and the fee applications of the estate professionals, given the voluminous papers and the remaining opposition of the Arrache creditors, the court will call the various Adelman case matters at 3:00 p.m., not at 2:30 p.m., as other matters on the 2:30 p.m. calendar may also require substantial hearing time, but probably not as much as these matters. Counsel should call in at 3:00 p.m. for the Adelman case matters.

Approve the final report and fee application of the Chapter 7 trustee for the reasons stated in the final report, except no tentative ruling on the merits with respect to the treatment in the final report of the fee applications of the Chapter 11 professionals then employed at the request of the debtor then in possession.

Appearances are required on 4/28/20, but trustee, counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Prior tentative ruling. In light of the rapidly developing public health threat of coronavirus disease (COVID-19) and the current national and local public health guidance to mitigate the spread of the disease through social distancing, the court in an abundance of caution continues all hearings on the Trustee's Final Report, Docket No. 1358, and Applications for Fees and Expenses, Docket Nos. 1338, 1339, 1340, 1341, 1342, 1343, 1344, 1345, 1346, in this bankruptcy case scheduled for March 24, 2020 at 2:30 p.m. The court on its own motion continues these hearings to April 28, 2020 at 2:30 p.m. The court may issue a further order regarding scheduling if the public health threat does not subside. No appearances are required on March 24, 2020 at 2:30 p.m. as the hearings are continued to April 28, 2020 at 2:30 p.m. in Courtroom 1675, Roybal Federal Building, 255 East Temple Street, Los Angeles, California 90012.

#24.00 Cont'd hearing re: Application for fees and expenses
[Klein & Wilson, Prior Chapter Attorney for Trustee/DIP]
fr. 3/24/20

Docket 1338

Tentative Ruling:

Updated supplemental tentative ruling as of 4/28/20 at 1:00 p.m.

The court has reviewed the fee applications of the Chapter 7 and 11 estate professionals, including final and interim applications, pending before the court for approval on a final basis, and the joint stipulation between Chapter 11 administrative professional claimants, the United States of America (Internal Revenue Service), California Franchise Tax Board (apparently agreeing in principle subject to final agency authorization as provided in paragraphs 4 and 9 of the stipulation) and certain general unsecured creditors (i.e., Navigators Specialty Insurance Company and Ronald and Nancy Arrache, having the largest single general unsecured claims in this case), filed on April 27, 2020. The stipulation resolves the disputes that these parties may have had regarding the fee applications of the Chapter 11 administrative professional claimants.

Subject to one modification discussed below, the court determines that the joint stipulation should be approved as it is fair and reasonable in resolving these disputes under the circumstances of this case and as well addresses the court's concerns regarding these fee applications pursuant to its duty to independently review the fee applications under the reasonableness standards of 11 U.S.C. § 330. In re Busy Beaver Building Centers, Inc., 19 F.3d 833, 840-845 (3rd Cir. 1994)(observing that it is generally held that bankruptcy courts have an independent duty to review fee applications even absent objections, stating: "[d]isagreeable as the chore [of reviewing fee applications] may be, the bankruptcy court must protect the estate, lest

BAP 1997)(citing Busy Beavers with approval that "[t]he bankruptcy court has a duty to review fee applications notwithstanding the absence of objections by the trustee, debtor, or creditors"). Having reviewed the fee applications and the other papers and pleadings in this case, including the prior objections of the United States Trustee, the Chapter 7 Trustee, Navigators Specialty Insurance Company, the Arraches and other parties, and noting that the court in approving fee applications of certain professionals on an interim basis and did not resolve objections to these fee applications on a final basis in its December 12, 2017 order after the hearing on November 28, 2017 (based on colloquy between the court and counsel for Navigators, Mr. Friedman), the court had concerns about some of the fees requested to be approved on a final basis whether the fees were sufficiently demonstrated to be for services that were reasonable, necessary and beneficial to the estate pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §330. In re Mednet, 251 B.R. 103, 106-109 (9th Cir. BAP 2000). Based on the court's review of the fee applications, the court noted numerous redacted billing entries for which the court would generally disallow fees because the reasonableness of the fees could not be ascertained, numerous vague billing entries which had not sufficiently described the tasks performed in order to determine the reasonableness of the fees incurred, and billing entries for fees based on unnecessary work, excessive time for the tasks performed, or duplicative work from overstaffing and billing entries for nonattorney administrative tasks overcharging at attorney hourly rates as well as concerns over the sufficiency of the showing that the services were necessary and beneficial to the estate as raised in prior objections. The proposed reductions in the joint stipulation represents a rough approximation of potential fee reductions through a more thorough fee analysis process which the court would have performed in order to determine the reasonableness of the fees (which would have included requests for filing of unredacted billing entries or filing a privilege log with submission of

However, considering the totality of the circumstances of the case, the joint stipulation addresses the court's concerns, and the court is satisfied that based on the settlement of these disputes by the parties to the stipulation, which and who are the major stakeholders in the case, is fair and reasonable and should be approved subject to the following modification of paragraph 9 of the stipulation regarding the effect of the stipulation if the California Franchise Tax Board fails to execute the stipulation, the proposed 25% reallocated proceeds from the Chapter 11 administrative professionals will not be reallocated, but the court will conduct further review of the proposed distributions under the Chapter 7 trustee's amended final report and the proposed distributions to the professionals will be subject to further order of the court. Otherwise, the court will approve the fee applications of the Chapter 7 trustee and professionals and the Chapter 11 professionals for the reasons stated in the applications, the joint stipulation of the parties and the lack of any other outstanding objection, and set further hearings on the applications pending the expiration of the 15 day period of the California Franchise Tax Board to decide to give final authorization to the joint stipulation.

Updated tentative ruling as of 4/24/20. Because the court anticipates that this will be a lengthy hearing in the Adelman case on the trustee's final report and fee application and the fee applications of the estate professionals, given the voluminous papers and the remaining opposition of the Arrache creditors, the court will call the various Adelman case matters at 3:00 p.m., not at 2:30 p.m., as other matters on the 2:30 p.m. calendar may also require substantial hearing time, but probably not as much as these matters. Counsel and self-represented parties should call in at 3:00 p.m. for the Adelman case matters.

Because the pending fee application is voluminous, the large amount of fees requested by applicant and other applicants, minimal, if any, distributions on unsecured claims, the remaining opposition to the application by the Arrache creditors, who had joined the now withdrawn omnibus opposition of creditor Navigators Specialty Insurance Company, but have not withdrawn their opposition, and the fact that the currently assigned judge is not generally familiar with the services for which fees are requested as such services were rendered before he was involved in the case and the court requires the applicant and the objecting parties to appear and address the standards that guide the court's independent review and determination of the fee application pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 330 as discussed herein. It would help that the parties cite to specific pages of their papers in addressing these standards, so the court can make appropriate determinations that the standards have or have not been met. Applicant has the burden to demonstrate the fees it claims under 11 U.S.C. § 330 are reasonable. In re Basham, 208 B.R. 926, 931-932 (9th Cir. BAP 1997), citing, Hensley v. Eckerhart, 461 U.S. 424, 437 (1983) ("[F]ee applicant bears the burden of establishing entitlement to an award and documenting the appropriate hours expended and hourly rates.").

In order to approve claimed compensation of a professional on the pending fee application, it is necessary for the court to determine whether such services were reasonable, actual, and necessary pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(1)(A) and to consider whether the services rendered were "reasonably likely to benefit the debtor's estate" pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(4)(A). In re Mednet, 251 B.R. 103, 107-109 (9th Cir. BAP 2000). A bankruptcy court also must examine the circumstances and the manner in which services are performed and the results achieved in order to arrive at a determination of a reasonable fee allowance. Id. at 108. Such examination, in general, should include the following questions: First, were the services authorized? Id. at 108. Second, were the services necessary or beneficial to the administration of the estate at the time they were rendered? Id. Third, are the services adequately documented? Fourth, are the fees requested reasonable, taking into consideration the factors set forth in 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(3)? Id., citing Unsecured Creditors' Committee v. Puget Sound Plywood, Inc., 924 F.2d 955, 957-58 (9th Cir.1991). Finally, in making this determination, the court must take into consideration whether the professional exercised reasonable billing judgment. Id. (footnote omitted). Tentative Ruling:

Updated supplemental tentative ruling as of 4/28/20 at 1:00 p.m.

The court has reviewed the fee applications of the Chapter 7 and 11 estate professionals, including final and interim applications, pending before the court for approval on a final basis, and the joint stipulation between Chapter 11 administrative professional claimants, the United States of America (Internal Revenue Service), California Franchise Tax Board (apparently agreeing in principle subject to final agency authorization as provided in paragraphs 4 and 9 of the stipulation) and certain general unsecured creditors (i.e., Navigators Specialty Insurance Company and Ronald and Nancy Arrache, having the largest single general unsecured claims in this case), filed on April 27, 2020. The stipulation resolves the disputes that these parties may have had regarding the fee applications of the Chapter 11 administrative professional claimants.

Subject to one modification discussed below, the court determines that the joint stipulation should be approved as it is fair and reasonable in resolving these disputes under the circumstances of this case and as well addresses the court's concerns regarding these fee applications pursuant to its duty to independently review the fee applications under the reasonableness standards of 11 U.S.C. § 330. BAP 1997)(citing Busy Beavers with approval that "[t]he bankruptcy court has a duty to review fee applications notwithstanding the absence of objections by the trustee, debtor, or creditors"). Having reviewed the fee applications and the other papers and pleadings in this case, including the prior objections of the United States Trustee, the Chapter 7 Trustee, Navigators Specialty Insurance Company, the Arraches and other parties, and noting that the court in approving fee applications of certain professionals on an interim basis and did not resolve objections to these fee applications on a final basis in its December 12, 2017 order after the hearing on November 28, 2017 (based on colloquy between the court and counsel for Navigators, Mr. Friedman), the court had concerns about some of the fees requested to be approved on a final basis whether the fees were sufficiently demonstrated to be for services that were reasonable, necessary and beneficial to the estate pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §330. In re Mednet, 251 B.R. 103, 106-109 (9th Cir. BAP 2000). Based on the court's review of the fee applications, the court noted numerous redacted billing entries for which the court would generally disallow fees because the reasonableness of the fees could not be ascertained, numerous vague billing entries which had not sufficiently described the tasks performed in order to determine the reasonableness of the fees incurred, and billing entries for fees based on unnecessary work, excessive time for the tasks performed, or duplicative work from overstaffing and billing entries for nonattorney administrative tasks overcharging at attorney hourly rates as well as concerns over the sufficiency of the showing that the services were necessary and beneficial to the estate as raised in prior objections. However, considering the totality of the circumstances of the case, the joint stipulation addresses the court's concerns, and the court is satisfied that based on the settlement of these disputes by the parties to the stipulation, which and who are the major stakeholders in the case, is fair and reasonable and should be approved subject to the following modification of paragraph 9 of the stipulation regarding the effect of the stipulation if the California Franchise Tax Board fails to execute the stipulation, the proposed 25% reallocated proceeds from the Chapter 11 administrative professionals will not be reallocated, but the court will conduct further review of the proposed distributions under the Chapter 7 trustee's amended final report and the proposed distributions to the professionals will be subject to further order of the court. Otherwise, the court will approve the fee applications of the Chapter 7 trustee and professionals and the Chapter 11 professionals for the reasons stated in the applications, the joint stipulation of the parties and the lack of any other outstanding objection, and set further hearings on the applications pending the expiration of the 15 day period of the California Franchise Tax Board to decide to give final authorization to the joint stipulation.

Updated tentative ruling as of 4/24/20. Because the court anticipates that this will be a lengthy hearing in the Adelman case on the trustee's final report and fee application and the fee applications of the estate professionals, given the voluminous papers and the remaining opposition of the Arrache creditors, the court will call the various Adelman case matters at 3:00 p.m., not at 2:30 p.m., as other matters on the 2:30 p.m. calendar may also require substantial hearing time, but probably not as much as these matters. Counsel and self-represented parties should call in at 3:00 p.m. for the Adelman case matters.

Because the pending fee application is voluminous, the large amount of fees requested by applicant and other applicants, minimal, if any, distributions on unsecured claims, the remaining opposition to the application by the Arrache creditors, who had joined the now withdrawn omnibus opposition of creditor Navigators Specialty Insurance Company, but have not withdrawn their opposition, and the fact that the currently assigned judge is not generally familiar with the services for which fees are requested as such services were rendered before he was involved in the case and the court requires the applicant and the objecting parties to appear and address the standards that guide the court's independent review and determination of the fee application pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 330 as discussed herein. It would help that the parties cite to specific pages of their papers in addressing these standards, so the court can make appropriate determinations that the standards have or have not been met. Applicant has the burden to demonstrate the fees it claims under 11 U.S.C. § 330 are reasonable. In re Basham, 208 B.R. 926, 931-932 (9th Cir. BAP 1997), citing, Hensley v. In order to approve claimed compensation of a professional on the pending fee application, it is necessary for the court to determine whether such services were reasonable, actual, and necessary pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(1)(A) and to consider whether the services rendered were "reasonably likely to benefit the debtor's estate" pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(4)(A). In re Mednet, 251 B.R. 103, 107-109 (9th Cir. BAP 2000). A bankruptcy court also must examine the circumstances and the manner in which services are performed and the results achieved in order to arrive at a determination of a reasonable fee allowance. Id. at 108. Such examination, in general, should include the following questions: First, were the services authorized? Id. at 108. Second, were the services necessary or beneficial to the administration of the estate at the time they were rendered? Id. Third, are the services adequately documented? Fourth, are the fees requested reasonable, taking into consideration the factors set forth in 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(3)? Id., citing Unsecured Creditors' Committee v. Puget Sound Plywood, Inc., 924 F.2d 955, 957-58 (9th Cir.1991). Finally, in making this determination, the court must take into consideration whether the professional exercised reasonable billing judgment. Id. (footnote omitted). Having reviewed the fee applications and the other papers and pleadings in this case, including the prior objections of the United States Trustee, the Chapter 7 Trustee, Navigators Specialty Insurance Company, the Arraches and other parties, and noting that the court in approving fee applications of certain professionals on an interim basis and did not resolve objections to these fee applications on a final basis in its December 12, 2017 order after the hearing on November 28, 2017 (based on colloquy between the court and counsel for Navigators, Mr. Friedman), the court had concerns about some of the fees requested to be approved on a final basis whether the fees were sufficiently demonstrated to be for services that were reasonable, necessary and beneficial to the estate pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §330. In re Mednet, 251 B.R. 103, 106-109 (9th Cir. BAP 2000). Based on the court's review of the fee applications, the court noted numerous redacted billing entries for which the court would generally disallow fees because the reasonableness of the fees could not be ascertained, numerous vague billing entries which had not sufficiently described the tasks performed in order to determine the reasonableness of the fees incurred, and billing entries for fees based on unnecessary work, excessive time for the tasks performed, or duplicative work from overstaffing and billing entries for nonattorney administrative tasks overcharging at attorney hourly rates as well as concerns over the sufficiency of the showing that the services were necessary and beneficial to the estate as raised in prior objections. The proposed reductions in the joint stipulation represents a rough approximation of potential fee reductions through a more thorough fee analysis process which the court would have performed in order to determine the reasonableness of the fees (which would have included requests for filing of unredacted billing entries or filing a privilege log with submission of

Updated tentative ruling as of 4/24/20. Because the court anticipates that this will be a lengthy hearing in the Adelman case on the trustee's final report and fee application and the fee applications of the estate professionals, given the voluminous papers and the remaining opposition of the Arrache creditors, the court will call the various Adelman case matters at 3:00 p.m., not at 2:30 p.m., as other matters on the 2:30 p.m. calendar may also require substantial hearing time, but probably not as much as these matters. Counsel and self-represented parties should call in at 3:00 p.m. for the Adelman case matters.

Because the pending fee application is voluminous, the large amount of fees requested by applicant and other applicants, minimal, if any, distributions on unsecured claims, the remaining opposition to the application by the Arrache creditors, who had joined the now withdrawn omnibus opposition of creditor Navigators Specialty Insurance Company, but have not withdrawn their opposition, and the fact that the currently assigned judge is not generally familiar with the services for which fees are requested as such services were rendered before he was involved in the case and the court requires the applicant and the objecting parties to appear and address the standards that guide the court's independent review and determination of the fee application pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 330 as discussed herein. It would help that the parties cite to specific pages of their papers in addressing these standards, so the court can make appropriate determinations that the standards have or have not been met. Applicant has the burden to demonstrate the fees it claims under 11 U.S.C. § 330 are reasonable. In re Basham, 208 B.R. 926, 931-932 (9th Cir. BAP 1997), citing, Hensley v. Eckerhart, 461 U.S. 424, 437 (1983) ("[F]ee applicant bears the burden of establishing entitlement to an award and documenting the appropriate hours expended and hourly rates.").

In order to approve claimed compensation of a professional on the pending fee application, it is necessary for the court to determine whether such services were reasonable, actual, and necessary pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(1)(A) and to consider whether the services rendered were "reasonably likely to benefit the debtor's estate" pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(4)(A). In re Mednet, 251 B.R. 103, 107-109 (9th Cir. BAP 2000). A bankruptcy court also must examine the circumstances and the manner in which services are performed and the results achieved in order to arrive at a determination of a reasonable fee allowance. Id. at 108. Such examination, in general, should include the following questions: First, were the services authorized? Id. at 108. Second, were the services necessary or beneficial to the administration of the estate at the time they were rendered? Id. Third, are the services adequately documented? Fourth, are the fees requested reasonable, taking into consideration the factors set forth in 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(3)? Id., citing Unsecured Creditors' Committee v. Puget Sound Plywood, Inc., 924 F.2d 955, 957-58 (9th Cir.1991). Finally, in making this determination, the court must take into consideration whether the professional exercised reasonable billing judgment. Id. (footnote omitted). Tentative Ruling:

Updated supplemental tentative ruling as of 4/28/20 at 1:00 p.m.

The court has reviewed the fee applications of the Chapter 7 and 11 estate professionals, including final and interim applications, pending before the court for approval on a final basis, and the joint stipulation between Chapter 11 administrative professional claimants, the United States of America (Internal Revenue Service), California Franchise Tax Board (apparently agreeing in principle subject to final agency authorization as provided in paragraphs 4 and 9 of the stipulation) and certain general unsecured creditors (i.e., Navigators Specialty Insurance Company and Ronald and Nancy Arrache, having the largest single general unsecured claims in this case), filed on April 27, 2020. The stipulation resolves the disputes that these parties may have had regarding the fee applications of the Chapter 11 administrative professional claimants.

Subject to one modification discussed below, the court determines that the joint stipulation should be approved as it is fair and reasonable in resolving these disputes under the circumstances of this case and as well addresses the court's concerns regarding these fee applications pursuant to its duty to independently review the fee applications under the reasonableness standards of 11 U.S.C. § 330. In re Busy Beaver Building Centers, Inc., 19 F.3d 833, 840-845 (3rd Cir. 1994)(observing that it is generally held that bankruptcy courts have an independent duty to review fee applications even absent objections, stating: "[d]isagreeable as the chore [of reviewing fee applications] may be, the bankruptcy court must protect the estate, lest

Updated tentative ruling as of 4/24/20. Because the pending fee application is voluminous, the large amount of fees requested by applicant and other applicants, minimal, if any, distributions on unsecured claims, the remaining opposition to the application by the Arrache creditors, who had joined the now withdrawn omnibus opposition of creditor Navigators Specialty Insurance Company, but have not withdrawn their opposition, and the fact that the currently assigned judge is not generally familiar with the services for which fees are requested as such services were rendered before he was involved in the case and the court requires the applicant and the objecting parties to appear and address the standards that guide the court's independent review and determination of the fee application pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 330 as discussed herein. It would help that the parties cite to specific pages of their papers in addressing these standards, so the court can make appropriate determinations that the standards have or have not been met. Applicant has the burden to demonstrate the fees it claims under 11 U.S.C. § 330 are reasonable. In re Basham, 208 B.R. 926, 931-932 (9th Cir. BAP 1997), citing, Hensley v. Eckerhart, 461 U.S. 424, 437 (1983) ("[F]ee applicant bears the burden of establishing entitlement to an award and documenting the appropriate hours expended and hourly rates.").

In order to approve claimed compensation of a professional on the pending fee application, it is necessary for the court to determine whether such services were reasonable, actual, and necessary pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(1)(A) and to consider whether the services rendered were "reasonably likely to benefit the debtor's estate" pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(4)(A). In re Mednet, 251 B.R. 103, 107-109 (9th Cir. BAP 2000). A bankruptcy court also must examine the circumstances and the manner in which services are performed and the results achieved in order to arrive at a determination of a reasonable fee allowance. Id. at 108. Such examination, in general, should include the following questions: First, were the services authorized? Id. at 108. Second, were the services necessary or beneficial to the administration of the estate at the time they were rendered? Id. Third, are the services adequately documented? Fourth, are the fees requested reasonable, taking into consideration the factors set forth in 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(3)? Id., citing Unsecured Creditors' Committee v. Puget Sound Plywood, Inc., 924 F.2d 955, 957-58 (9th Cir.1991). Finally, in making this determination, the court must take into consideration whether the professional exercised reasonable billing judgment. Id. (footnote omitted). #29.00 Cont'd hearing re: Application for fees and expenses
[Morrison & Foerster LLP, Prior Chapter Attorney for Trustee/DIP]
fr. 3/24/20

Docket 1340

Tentative Ruling:

Updated supplemental tentative ruling as of 4/28/20 at 1:00 p.m.

The court has reviewed the fee applications of the Chapter 7 and 11 estate professionals, including final and interim applications, pending before the court for approval on a final basis, and the joint stipulation between Chapter 11 administrative professional claimants, the United States of America (Internal Revenue Service), California Franchise Tax Board (apparently agreeing in principle subject to final agency authorization as provided in paragraphs 4 and 9 of the stipulation) and certain general unsecured creditors (i.e., Navigators Specialty Insurance Company and Ronald and Nancy Arrache, having the largest single general unsecured claims in this case), filed on April 27, 2020. The stipulation resolves the disputes that these parties may have had regarding the fee applications of the Chapter 11 administrative professional claimants.

Subject to one modification discussed below, the court determines that the joint stipulation should be approved as it is fair and reasonable in resolving these disputes under the circumstances of this case and as well addresses the court's concerns regarding these fee applications pursuant to its duty to independently review the fee applications under the reasonableness standards of 11 U.S.C. § 330. In re Busy Beaver Building Centers, Inc., 19 F.3d 833, 840-845 (3rd Cir. 1994)(observing that it is generally held that bankruptcy courts have an independent duty to review fee applications even absent objections, stating: "[d]isagreeable as the chore [of reviewing fee applications] may be, the bankruptcy court must protect the estate, lest

BAP 1997)(citing Busy Beavers with approval that "[t]he bankruptcy court has a duty to review fee applications notwithstanding the absence of objections by the trustee, debtor, or creditors"). Having reviewed the fee applications and the other papers and pleadings in this case, including the prior objections of the United States Trustee, the Chapter 7 Trustee, Navigators Specialty Insurance Company, the Arraches and other parties, and noting that the court in approving fee applications of certain professionals on an interim basis and did not resolve objections to these fee applications on a final basis in its December 12, 2017 order after the hearing on November 28, 2017 (based on colloquy between the court and counsel for Navigators, Mr. Friedman), the court had concerns about some of the fees requested to be approved on a final basis whether the fees were sufficiently demonstrated to be for services that were reasonable, necessary and beneficial to the estate pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §330. In re Mednet, 251 B.R. 103, 106-109 (9th Cir. BAP 2000). Based on the court's review of the fee applications, the court noted numerous redacted billing entries for which the court would generally disallow fees because the reasonableness of the fees could not be ascertained, numerous vague billing entries which had not sufficiently described the tasks performed in order to determine the reasonableness of the fees incurred, and billing entries for fees based on unnecessary work, excessive time for the tasks performed, or duplicative work from overstaffing and billing entries for nonattorney administrative tasks overcharging at attorney hourly rates as well as concerns over the sufficiency of the showing that the services were necessary and beneficial to the estate as raised in prior objections. The proposed reductions in the joint stipulation represents a rough approximation of potential fee reductions through a more thorough fee analysis process which the court would have performed in order to determine the reasonableness of the fees (which would have included requests for filing of unredacted billing entries or filing a privilege log with submission of

However, considering the totality of the circumstances of the case, the joint stipulation addresses the court's concerns, and the court is satisfied that based on the settlement of these disputes by the parties to the stipulation, which and who are the major stakeholders in the case, is fair and reasonable and should be approved subject to the following modification of paragraph 9 of the stipulation regarding the effect of the stipulation if the California Franchise Tax Board fails to execute the stipulation, the proposed 25% reallocated proceeds from the Chapter 11 administrative professionals will not be reallocated, but the court will conduct further review of the proposed distributions under the Chapter 7 trustee's amended final report and the proposed distributions to the professionals will be subject to further order of the court. Otherwise, the court will approve the fee applications of the Chapter 7 trustee and professionals and the Chapter 11 professionals for the reasons stated in the applications, the joint stipulation of the parties and the lack of any other outstanding objection, and set further hearings on the applications pending the expiration of the 15 day period of the California Franchise Tax Board to decide to give final authorization to the joint stipulation.

Updated tentative ruling as of 4/24/20. Because the court anticipates that this will be a lengthy hearing in the Adelman case on the trustee's final report and fee application and the fee applications of the estate professionals, given the voluminous papers and the remaining opposition of the Arrache creditors, the court will call the various Adelman case matters at 3:00 p.m., not at 2:30 p.m., as other matters on the 2:30 p.m. calendar may also require substantial hearing time, but probably not as much as these matters. Counsel and self-represented parties should call in at 3:00 p.m. for the Adelman case matters.

Docket 1341

Tentative Ruling:

Updated supplemental tentative ruling as of 4/28/20 at 1:00 p.m.

The court has reviewed the fee applications of the Chapter 7 and 11 estate professionals, including final and interim applications, pending before the court for approval on a final basis, and the joint stipulation between Chapter 11 administrative professional claimants, the United States of America (Internal Revenue Service), California Franchise Tax Board (apparently agreeing in principle subject to final agency authorization as provided in paragraphs 4 and 9 of the stipulation) and certain general unsecured creditors (i.e., Navigators Specialty Insurance Company and Ronald and Nancy Arrache, having the largest single general unsecured claims in this case), filed on April 27, 2020. Because the pending fee application is voluminous, the large amount of fees requested by applicant and other applicants, minimal, if any, distributions on unsecured claims, the remaining opposition to the application by the Arrache creditors, who had joined the now withdrawn omnibus opposition of creditor Navigators Specialty Insurance Company, but have not withdrawn their opposition, and the fact that the currently assigned judge is not generally familiar with the services for which fees are requested as such services were rendered before he was involved in the case and the court requires the applicant and the objecting parties to appear and address the standards that guide the court's independent review and determination of the fee application pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 330 as discussed herein. It would help that the parties cite to specific pages of their papers in addressing these standards, so the court can make appropriate determinations that the standards have or have not been met. Applicant has the burden to demonstrate the fees it claims under 11 U.S.C. § 330 are reasonable. In re Basham, 208 B.R. 926, 931-932 (9th Cir. BAP 1997), citing, Hensley v. Eckerhart, 461 U.S. 424, 437 (1983) ("[F]ee applicant bears the burden of establishing entitlement to an award and documenting the appropriate hours expended and hourly rates.").

In order to approve claimed compensation of a professional on the pending fee application, it is necessary for the court to determine whether such services were reasonable, actual, and necessary pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(1)(A) and to consider whether the services rendered were "reasonably likely to benefit the debtor's estate" pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(4)(A). In re Mednet, 251 B.R. 103, 107-109 (9th Cir. BAP 2000). A bankruptcy court also must examine the circumstances and the manner in which services are performed and the results achieved in order to arrive at a determination of a reasonable fee allowance. Id. at 108. Such examination, in general, should include the following questions: First, were the services authorized? Id. at 108. Second, were the services necessary or beneficial to the administration of the estate at the time they were rendered? Id. Third, are the services adequately documented? Fourth, are the fees requested reasonable, taking into consideration the factors set forth in 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(3)? Id., citing Unsecured Creditors' Committee v. Puget Sound Plywood, Inc., 924 F.2d 955, 957-58 (9th Cir.1991). Finally, in making this determination, the court must take into consideration whether the professional exercised reasonable billing judgment. Id. (footnote omitted). Updated tentative ruling as of 4/24/20. Because the court anticipates that this will be a lengthy hearing in the Adelman case on the trustee's final report and fee application and the fee applications of the estate professionals, given the voluminous papers and the remaining opposition of the Arrache creditors, the court will call the various Adelman case matters at 3:00 p.m., not at 2:30 p.m., as other matters on the 2:30 p.m. calendar may also require substantial hearing time, but probably not as much as these matters. Counsel should call in at 3:00 p.m. for the Adelman case matters.

Approve the final fee application of the accountant for the Chapter 7 trustee for the reasons stated in the fee application and for lack of timely written objection.

#33.00 Cont'd hearing re: Application for fees and expenses
[Samuel Biggs, Prior Chapter Accountant for Trustee/DIP]
fr. 3/24/20

Docket 1339

Tentative Ruling:

Updated supplemental tentative ruling as of 4/28/20 at 1:00 p.m.

The court has reviewed the fee applications of the Chapter 7 and 11 estate professionals, including final and interim applications, pending before the court for approval on a final basis, and the joint stipulation between Chapter 11 administrative professional claimants, the United States of America (Internal Revenue Service), California Franchise Tax Board (apparently agreeing in principle subject to final agency authorization as provided in paragraphs 4 and 9 of the stipulation) and certain general unsecured creditors (i.e., Navigators Specialty Insurance Company and Ronald and Nancy Arrache, having the largest single general unsecured claims in this case), filed on April 27, 2020. The stipulation resolves the disputes that these parties may have had regarding the fee applications of the Chapter 11 administrative professional claimants.

Subject to one modification discussed below, the court determines that the joint stipulation should be approved as it is fair and reasonable in resolving these disputes under the circumstances of this case and as well addresses the court's concerns regarding these fee applications pursuant to its duty to independently review the fee applications under the reasonableness standards of 11 U.S.C. § 330. In re Busy Beaver Building Centers, Inc., 19 F.3d 833, 840-845 (3rd Cir. 1994)(observing that it is generally held that bankruptcy courts have an independent duty to review fee applications even absent objections, stating: "[d]isagreeable as the chore [of reviewing fee applications] may be, the bankruptcy court must protect the estate, lest

BAP 1997)(citing Busy Beavers with approval that "[t]he bankruptcy court has a duty to review fee applications notwithstanding the absence of objections by the trustee, debtor, or creditors"). Having reviewed the fee applications and the other papers and pleadings in this case, including the prior objections of the United States Trustee, the Chapter 7 Trustee, Navigators Specialty Insurance Company, the Arraches and other parties, and noting that the court in approving fee applications of certain professionals on an interim basis and did not resolve objections to these fee applications on a final basis in its December 12, 2017 order after the hearing on November 28, 2017 (based on colloquy between the court and counsel for Navigators, Mr. Friedman), the court had concerns about some of the fees requested to be approved on a final basis whether the fees were sufficiently demonstrated to be for services that were reasonable, necessary and beneficial to the estate pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §330. In re Mednet, 251 B.R. 103, 106-109 (9th Cir. BAP 2000). Based on the court's review of the fee applications, the court noted numerous redacted billing entries for which the court would generally disallow fees because the reasonableness of the fees could not be ascertained, numerous vague billing entries which had not sufficiently described the tasks performed in order to determine the reasonableness of the fees incurred, and billing entries for fees based on unnecessary work, excessive time for the tasks performed, or duplicative work from overstaffing and billing entries for nonattorney administrative tasks overcharging at attorney hourly rates as well as concerns over the sufficiency of the showing that the services were necessary and beneficial to the estate as raised in prior objections. The proposed reductions in the joint stipulation represents a rough approximation of potential fee reductions through a more thorough fee analysis process which the court would have performed in order to determine the reasonableness of the fees (which would have included requests for filing of unredacted billing entries or filing a privilege log with submission of unredacted billing entries for in camera review , submission of copies of the pleadings in the state court litigation matters that the certain Chapter 11 professionals were seeking fees for, examination of the professionals regarding the fees requested and services performed at a further evidentiary hearing and further opportunities for the professionals to explain the necessity, reasonableness and benefit of their services). However, considering the totality of the circumstances of the case, the joint stipulation addresses the court's concerns, and the court is satisfied that based on the settlement of these disputes by the parties to the stipulation, which and who are the major stakeholders in the case, is fair and reasonable and should be approved subject to the following modification of paragraph 9 of the stipulation regarding the effect of the stipulation if the California Franchise Tax Board fails to execute the stipulation, the proposed 25% reallocated proceeds from the Chapter 11 administrative professionals will not be reallocated, but the court will conduct further review of the proposed distributions under the Chapter 7 trustee's amended final report and the proposed distributions to the professionals will be subject to further order of the court. Otherwise, the court will approve the fee applications of the Chapter 7 trustee and professionals and the Chapter 11 professionals for the reasons stated in the applications, the joint stipulation of the parties and the lack of any other outstanding objection, and set further hearings on the applications pending the expiration of the 15 day period of the California Franchise Tax Board to decide to give final authorization to the joint stipulation.

Updated tentative ruling as of 4/24/20. Because the court anticipates that this will be a lengthy hearing in the Adelman case on the trustee's final report and fee application and the fee applications of the estate professionals, given the voluminous papers and the remaining opposition of the Arrache creditors, the court will call the various Adelman case matters at 3:00 p.m., not at 2:30 p.m., as other matters on the 2:30 p.m. calendar may also require substantial hearing time, but probably not as much as these matters. Counsel and self-represented parties should call in at 3:00 p.m. for the Adelman case matters.

Counsel and self-represented parties must arrange their telephonic appearances through CourtCall, which is offering a discount on fees for attorneys and waiving all fees for self-represented parties. fr. 3/24/20

Docket 21

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 4/24/20. Treat trustee's objection to debtors' exemptions as to the 2014 Honda Pilot as a tool of the trade and 2013 Toyota Corolla as an exempt motor vehicle and demand for turnover of nonexempt property as a contested matter under FRBP 9014 because there are disputed material issues of fact relating to whether the Honda Pilot is a tool of the trade of debtor husband and the valuation of the motor vehicles claimed as exempt. Overrule debtors' opposition that trustee's objection is untimely because the meeting of creditors under 11 U.S.C. 341(a) was continued with specific adjournment date and the objection was timely under FRBP 4003(b) within 30 days of the conclusion of the last scheduled meeting of creditors. In re Bernard, 40 F.3d 1028, 1031 (9th Cir. 1994). In re Smith, 235 F.3d 472 (9th Cir. 2000) is inapplicable because there was no open-ended adjournment of the meeting of creditors in this case. The objecting party has the burden of proving that the exemption is not properly claimed. FRBP 4003(c). If the objecting party can produce evidence sufficient to rebut the presumption of validity, the burden of production shifts to the debtor to provide unequivocal evidence to demonstrate that the exemption is proper. In re Diaz, 547 B.R. 329, 336 (9th Cir. BAP 2016). The burden of proof is substantive, not procedural; therefore, the burden of proof should be borne by the same party who would bear the burden outside the bankruptcy (i.e, debtors). Raleigh v. Illinois Department of Revenue, 530 U.S. 15, 20-21 (2000). See also In re Pashenee, 531 B.R. 834, 837 (Bankr.E.D.Cal. 2015). State law applies in an objection to an exemption because CA mandates the use of state exemptions. In re Diaz, 547 B.R. at 337. Under California law, the exemption claimant has the burden of proof. 703.580(b). Here, the trustee has sufficiently rebutted the presumption of validity based on evidence of debtor husband's other employment and lack of commercial vehicle insurance coverage for the Honda Pilot, therefore debtors have the burden of proof for the claimed exemptions. Whether the Honda Pilot is a tool of the trade is a factual issue under California Code of Civil Procedure 704.060(a)(1). See In re Garcia, 451 B.R. 909, 917 (C.D. Cal. 2011). To determine whether a vehicle is a tool of the trade, the proper inquiry is whether or not the vehicle is used by and is necessary to a debtor for his work, trade or occupation. Id. at 918 (citations omitted). Whether the vehicle is used in a debtor's trade is a question of fact. Id. (citation omitted). Even if the Honda Pilot is an exempt tool of the trade, the exemption amount is limited to $4,850 under California Code of Civil Procedure 704.060(d) and may be disallowed since the Toyota Corolla is being claimed as an exempt motor vehicle which could be reasonably used as debtor's tool of the trade pursuant to California Code of Civil Procedure 704.060(c). The current limit for a motor vehicle exemption as adjusted for cost of living under California Code of Civil Procedure 704.010(a) is $3,325, and to the extent that the Toyota Corolla exceeds that amount, such value is nonexempt. The CarMax valuations provided by debtors for the Honda Pilot and Toyota Corolla are not competent and credible evidence of valuation since such valuations lack evidentiary foundation under FRE 602, 702, 801-802 and 901. Grant trustee's unopposed request for turnover of nonexempt bank account funds. Set for an evidentiary hearing to resolve factual disputes.

#43.00 Hearing re: Motion to avoid lien under 11 U.S.C. §522(f) (real property) with Sequoia Concepts, Inc. dba Sequoia Financial Services

Docket 41

Tentative Ruling:

Updated and revised tentative ruling as of 4/27/20. Off calendar. The court on its own motion vacates the hearing on Debtor Susie Wong's motion to avoid the lien of Sequoia Concepts, Inc., set for hearing before the court on April 28, 2020 at 2:30 p.m. because Debtor filed an amended motion which supersedes the original motion set for hearing. Although Debtor did not notice the amended motion for hearing, the court sets the amended motion for hearing before the court on May 26, 2020 at 1:30 p.m. because the original motion was a contested matter under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 9014 and the amended motion is likely to be a contested matter under Rule 9014. Any opposition to the amended motion must be filed and served no later than May 12, 2020, and any reply thereto must be filed and served no later than May 19, 2020. The hearing on Debtor's amended motion to avoid the lien of Sequoia Concepts, Inc., is set for hearing before the court on May 26, 2020 at 1:30 p.m. in Courtroom 1675, Roybal Federal Building, 255 East Temple Street, Los Angeles, California 90012. However, counsel and the parties must appear by telephone on May 26, 2020 in accordance with the court's telephone appearance procedures posted online on the court's website because the federal courthouses in this judicial district, including the Roybal Federal Building, are closed to the public for in person hearings until June 1, 2020 by order of the United States District Court for the Central District of California. No appearances are required on April 28, 2020. A written order will be issued adopting these rulings on April 28, 2020, but was not issued earlier to technical problems with the court's order processing system.

Prior tentative ruling as of 4/24/20 (now superseded): Treat as a contested matter under FRBP 9014 because there is material factual dispute over valuation. property, and debtor's valuation opinion is based on the pending sale of the property by the Chapter 7 Trustee, which is not substantiated by authenticated copies of the broker's listing, the offer at $770,000 and the escrow papers. There is insufficient evidence of the tax liens, such as recorded copies of notices of tax lien and account information from the taxing authorities showing the amounts due as of the petition date. The submitted evidence in the preliminary title report for valuation of the tax liens is inadmissible hearsay and lacks authentication and is not based on personal knowledge under FRE 602, 801-803, and 901. Creditor's valuation is based on the valuation opinion of its attorney, who has not been shown to be qualified to give an expert opinion. The valuation testimony on both sides is not competent in the court's view. While the court could now set an evidentiary hearing which would be expensive, in the court's view, it is more cost effective to defer a ruling on the motion until the property is sold by the trustee and have the senior undisputed liens paid off, and have the remaining funds that may be attributable to the creditor's lien held by the trustee pending further order of the court. There does not seem to be any point incurring litigation expenses for this dispute now if we do not know if there will be any sales proceeds to apply to this disputed lien anyway. If debtor can substantiate valuation at $770,000 and unavoided liens with an aggregate value of $724,531.43 senior to creditor's lien, it would appear based on such a showing (though yet to be made with admissible evidence) that there would be no equity for creditor's lien to attach considering the claimed homestead exemption of $175,000.

Debtor to address objections of United States Trustee and secured creditor Deutsche Bank. Although a confirmation matter, the court is not inclined to confirm a plan with a 36 year payout on the secured claim since no apparent justification is provided for the protracted payment and such appears to be discriminatory and unduly shifting the risk of lack of plan feasibility to that creditor. Appearances are required on 10/30/13.

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 4/27/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 4/29/20 to discuss status of this case, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is closed to the public by order of the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California (Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042). Counsel and self-represented parties must arrange their telephonic appearances through CourtCall, which is offering a discount on fees for attorneys and waiving all fees for self-represented parties. Information about arranging a telephonic appearance through CourtCall is posted on the court's website.

Prior tentative ruling as of 3/4/19. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 3/6/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 2/25/19. In the papers filed by debtor and creditor Cindy Magleby in response to the court's order to show cause re: dismissal or conversion, although these parties did not agree on whether the case should be dismissed, they both indicated a willingness to have the family law court adjudicate the merits of Mrs. Magleby's claims as well as other family law issues with possible availability for trial in June 2019. There is also a possibility of further settlement efforts in the family law court as indicated by counsel for Mrs. Magleby as reflected in the transcript of hearing before that court in December 2019. The court encourages the parties to pursue their settlement discussions with the family law court and is amenable to having the family law court adjudicate the merits of Mrs. Magleby's claims if this is supported by the parties and the availability of that court to try these matters expeditiously. In that regard, the court would consider a proposed stipulated order clarifying stay relief to allow the family law court to try the claims and issues agreed upon by the parties, including the claims being objected to in this contested matter. Appearances are required on 2/27/19.

creditor Cindy Magleby in light of the pending motion to withdraw of her current bankruptcy counsel, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 12/10/18. Off calendar. The court on its own motion continues the hearing in light of the pending motion of counsel for creditor Cindy Magleby to withdraw and of the need for the assigned judge to recover from recently scheduled but urgent dental surgery scheduled for 12/13/18. The hearing will be continued to 12/19/18 at 11:00 a.m. as a status conference to discuss the impact of the pending motion of counsel for creditor to withdraw and for rescheduling. No appearances are required on 12/13/18.

Revised and updated tentative ruling as of 11/13/18. Off calendar. Continued on the court's own motion by separate order to 11/29/18 at 1:30 p.m. No appearances are required on 11/14/18.

Updated tentative ruling as of 8/7/18. The parties filed unilateral pretrial statements rather than a joint pretrial statement. Before the court imposes monetary sanctions of $250 against the culpable party/ies for failing to file a joint pretrial statement as required by LBR 7016-1, the court will afford the parties an opportunity to complete and file a joint pretrial statement as required and intends to continue the pretrial conference for this purpose. Appearances are required on 8/8/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Updated tentative ruling as of 5/7/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 5/8/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 5/1/18. The court has reviewed the unilateral pretrial statements of the parties, which are incomplete and inadequate and will not be approved. court abstains, this itself will not postpone plan confirmation proceedings because the parties may request the court to estimate the claims for voting on plan confirmation. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 3/7/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 2/5/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 2/7/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. Treat as contested matter under FRBP 9014 because the declarations of the witnesses in support of the moving and opposing papers raise material issues of fact to be resolved in an evidentiary hearing. Treat the hearing on 12/13/17 as a status conference to set a pretrial and trial schedule. The court will not take testimony from witnesses on a law and motion hearing calendar on 12/13/17, and the parties may not call their witnesses to testify on 12/13/17. If any party believes that there are no genuine issues of material fact and the party is entitled to judgment as a matter of law, that party may seek summary judgment upon a proper motion brought pursuant to FRBP 7056 and 9014 and LBR 7056-1. If claimant believes that the court should permissively abstain from hearing this contested matter, then she should bring a proper motion for abstention rather than raising the request in her opposition to the objection. See In re Tucson Estates, Inc., 912 F.2d 1162, 1166-1167 (9th Cir. 1990). However, it seems to the court that it could properly hear the objection to claim as a core proceeding under 28 U.S.C. 157(b)(2)(B) and not abstain under In re Conejo Enterprises, Inc., 96 F.3d 346 (9th Cir. 1996). Appearances are required on 12/13/17 to discuss scheduling of further proceedings, but counsel may appear by telephone.

statements rather than a joint pretrial statement. Before the court imposes monetary sanctions of $250 against the culpable party/ies for failing to file a joint pretrial statement as required by LBR 7016-1, the court will afford the parties an opportunity to complete and file a joint pretrial statement as required and intends to continue the pretrial conference for this purpose. Prior tentative ruling as of 5/7/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 5/8/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 5/1/18. The court has reviewed defendant's unilateral pretrial statement, which is incomplete and inadequate and will not be approved. #17.00 Hearing re: Motion in individual Chapter 11 case for order authorizing use of cash collateral [11 U.S.C. § 363]

Docket 269

Tentative Ruling:

Grant debtor's motion for authorization to use cash collateral for the reasons stated in the moving papers on the following conditions: (1) given the uncertainty regarding debtor's income, use is authorized for 6 months through 10/31/20 to see updated income and expense data to evaluate budget and adequate protection of secured creditors; (2) no impairment of rights of administrative expense claimants Law Offices of Michael Jay Berger and Jennifer Min Liu by this motion since it is improper to impair their rights under this motion dealing with cash collateral of other parties. The use of cash collateral is proper here given the lack of opposition by the secured creditors whose cash collateral is being used and the evidence that such cash collateral is protected by a sufficient equity cushion for such creditors' liens.

Appearances are required on 4/29/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is closed to the public by order of the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California (Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042). Counsel and self-represented parties must arrange their telephonic appearances through CourtCall, which is offering a discount on fees for attorneys and waiving all fees for self-represented parties. #18.00 Cont'd status conference re: Motion for relief from stay
(County of Riverside VS Debtor)
fr. 11/14/19, 2/7/20, 4/15/20

Docket 20

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 4/27/20. In light of the rapidly developing public health threat of coronavirus disease (COVID-19) declared a public health emergency in the State of California and the United States of America and the current national and local public health guidance to mitigate the spread of the disease through social distancing, on March 19, 2020, the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California issued an Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042, which among other things closes all courthouses of the Central District of California to the public, including the Roybal Federal Building, which closure has been extended through June 1, 2020 by announcement on April 13, 2020, and accordingly, the court cannot conduct an in person trial in the courtroom until at least June 1, 2020.

Moreover, the County of Los Angeles and City of Los Angeles have issued public health orders prohibiting public and private gatherings in their jurisdictions until at least May 15, 2020, which are likely to be extended, which orders may apply to the trial. The court scheduled the status conference on 4/29/20 to discuss with the parties how a trial in the matter may be conducted and when possibly it can be scheduled. Given the current surge of coronavirus cases in the court and in the state and the need for appropriate social distancing, it would probably be prudent not to schedule so soon. In this court's view, a trial will not be scheduled earlier than 6/1/20. A court committee is being appointed to consider the conduct of video evidentiary hearings, but whether this is technically feasible and legally proper has not yet determined for this court yet.

Appearances are required on 4/29/20, but counsel and self-represented

Prior tentative ruling as of 3/20/20. Off calendar. In light of the rapidly developing public health threat of coronavirus disease (COVID-19) declared a public health emergency in the State of California and the United States of America and the current national and local public health guidance to mitigate the spread of the disease through social distancing, on March 19, 2020, the United States District Court for the Central District of California issued General Order 20-042, which among other things closes all courthouses of the Central District of California to the public, including the Roybal Federal Building, through May 1, 2020, and accordingly, the court on its own motion must and does vacate the evidentiary hearing for the contested matter of the motion of the Riverside County Treasurer-Tax Collector for relief from the automatic stay in this bankruptcy case scheduled for May 1, 2020 at 10:00 a.m. in Courtroom 1675, Roybal Federal Building, 255 East Temple Street, Los Angeles, California 90012 because in person appearances are not permitted in the courthouse on that date. No appearances are required on May 1, 2020 at 10:00 a.m. as the evidentiary hearing on that date is vacated.

The court further on its own motion sets a status conference in this contested matter on April 15, 2020 at 11:00 a.m. in Courtroom 1675, Roybal Federal Building, 255 East Temple Street, Los Angeles, California 90012. Treat as a contested matter under FRBP 9014 since there are disputed issues of material fact regarding debtor's good faith in filing this case and whether the filing of debtor's petition was part of a scheme to hinder, delay or defraud creditors. Docket 218

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 4/27/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 4/29/20 to discuss the status of this matter, including whether debtor will be filing a formal objection to the application, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is closed to the public by order of the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California (Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042). Counsel and self-represented parties must arrange their telephonic appearances through CourtCall, which is offering a discount on fees for attorneys and waiving all fees for self-represented parties. Information about arranging a telephonic appearance through CourtCall is posted on the court's website.

Prior tentative ruling as of 4/13/20. Off calendar. The court on its own motion continues the hearing on this matter to 4/29/20 at 11:00 a.m. to be heard with the hearing on debtor's disclosure statement. No appearances are required on 4/15/20.

Prior tentative ruling. Applicant has not shown that the requirement of LBR 2016-1(a)(1)(J) is satisfied that either (1) there is a separately filed declaration from the client indicating that the client has reviewed the application and has no objection to it; or (2) if the client refuses to provide such a declaration, the applicant has filed a declaration describing the steps that were taken to obtain the client's declaration and the client's response thereto. Prior tentative ruling as of 4/16/19. Although the amended disclosure statement is an improvement over the last version, the information is not completely adequate because debtor's listing of business expenses is inadequate and does not state what they are. Debtor should break down what they specifically are, and debtor should provide a historical breakdown of such specific expenses over the last 12 months. The court notes that the expenses are not evenly spread out during the last 12 months, but apparently are large in a few months and small in other months. Since the plan payments are so small, the court believes that it needs to give debtor's expenses close scrutiny, so that meaningful information is given to creditors for voting. Appearances are required on 4/17/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. The matter of debtor's motion to value secured claim or lien as to Lending 1st Mortgage, LLC is not yet resolved and needs to be resolved before the case may proceed to plan confirmation. It appears that even though the motion is resolved as to Specialized Loan Servicing by

#26.00 Cont'd hearing re: Second and final fee application of SulmeyerKupetz, a professional corporation general bankruptcy counsel for debtors fr. 3/2520

Docket 308

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 4/27/20. It appears that debtors do not object to the fees requested in the applicant's second and final fee application in stating in their response to the application: "The Debtors do not object to the general relief prayed for in the Fee Application and do not hereby do so." However, debtors indicate that there are issues regarding their ability to make payments of the fees pursuant to the plan and request that the court direct them and applicant to attend mediation to resolve these issues. As to the supplemental fees requested in applicant's reply on 4/22/20, it is improper for applicant to request newly requested fees in a reply which violates LBR 9013-1(g) providing that "New arguments or matters raised for the first time in reply documents will not be considered." This is unfair and burdensome for the court and debtors to review and respond to such supplemental fees raised for the first time in the reply. If applicant seeks payment of the supplemental fees requested in the reply, the court will have to continue the hearing on the application to consider the supplemental fees. The court is of the view that mediation is a good idea to resolve the payment issues as a matter of practicality at this time before getting into a determination of plan compliance interpreting the plan as to payment of fees based on the sufficiency of debtors' funds on hand.

Appearances are required on 4/29/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Prior tentative ruling. In light of the rapidly developing public health threat of coronavirus disease (COVID-19) and the current national and local public health guidance to mitigate the spread of the disease through social distancing, the court in an abundance of caution continues all hearings on the Applications for Fees and Expenses, Docket Numbers 308 and 309, in this bankruptcy case scheduled for March 25, 2020 at 11:00 a.m. The court on its own motion continues these hearings to April 29, 2020 at 11:30 a.m. The court may issue a further order regarding scheduling if the public health threat does not subside. No appearances are required on March 25, 2020 at 11:00 a.m. as the hearings are continued to April 29, 2020 at 11:30 a.m. in Courtroom 1675, Roybal Federal Building, 255 East Temple Street, Los Angeles, California 90012.

#1.00 Cont'd hearing re: Motion to expunge lis pendens
fr. 3/31/20, 4/14/20

Docket 63

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 4/27/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. The court does not intend to issue a tentative ruling for this matter since it feels that it would benefit hearing the argument of the parties without posting a tentative ruling. Appearances are required on 4/29/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is closed to the public by order of the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California (Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042). Counsel and self-represented parties must arrange their telephonic appearances through CourtCall, which is offering a discount on fees for attorneys and waiving all fees for self-represented parties. Information about arranging a telephonic appearance through CourtCall is posted on the court's website.

Revised tentative ruling as of 4/10/20. Off calendar. The court on its own motion continues the hearing on this matter to 4/30/20 at 11:00 a.m. by prior order. No appearances are required on 4/14/20.

Prior tentative ruling as of 12/2/19. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 12/3/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. The court has reviewed the joint status report, noting that pending motions of defendants to dismiss certain claims and motion of third parties to substitute or intervene were noticed for hearing on 11/12/19 at 2:30 p.m. and suggesting that the status conference be continued to that date or some date after. The court takes judicial notice that it had ordered that the hearing on the motion to dismiss as amended in light of the amended complaint was continued to 12/3/19 at 2:30 p.m. Accordingly, the court on its own motion continues the status conference to 12/3/19 at 2:30 p.m. to be conducted with the hearing on the motion to dismiss claims of the amended complaint now set for 12/3/19 at 2:30 p.m. because the ruling on the motion may have an impact on the status of the matter. Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 3/20/20. Off calendar. In light of the rapidly developing public health threat of coronavirus disease (COVID-19) declared a public health emergency in the State of California and the United States of America and the current national and local public health guidance to mitigate the spread of the disease through social distancing, on March 19, 2020, the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California issued an Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042, which among other things closes all courthouses of the Central District of California to the public, including the Roybal Federal Building, through May 1, 2020, and accordingly, the court on its own motion must and does vacate the evidentiary hearing for the contested matter of the motion of the Riverside County Treasurer-Tax Collector for relief from the automatic stay in this bankruptcy case scheduled for May 1, 2020 at 10:00 a.m. in Courtroom 1675, Roybal Federal Building, 255 East Temple Street, Los Angeles, California 90012 because in person appearances are not permitted in the courthouse on that date. Chapter 11

The court further on its own motion sets a status conference in this contested matter on April 15, 2020 at 11:00 a.m. in Courtroom 1675, Roybal Federal Building, 255 East Temple Street, Los Angeles, California 90012. The purpose of the status conference is to discuss rescheduling the evidentiary hearing on the motion. Because the Roybal Federal Building is closed to the public on April 15, 2020 by the aforementioned order of the United States District Court, the parties to this contested matter and their counsel must appear telephonically at the status conference in accordance with the court's telephone appearance procedures posted online on the court's website. The court has scheduled the status conference to be conducted with other matters scheduled for hearing in this bankruptcy case on April 15, 2020 at 11:00 a.m.

Prior tentative ruling as of 8/16/19. Off calendar. Continued by stipulation and order to 11/14/19 at 10:00 a.m. No appearances are required on 9/19/19.

Prior tentative ruling. Treat as a contested matter under FRBP 9014 since there are disputed issues of material fact regarding debtor's good faith in filing this case and whether the filing of debtor's petition was part of a scheme to hinder, delay or defraud creditors. The court will conduct the hearing as a status conference, and the parties should be prepared to discuss scheduling of an evidentiary hearing. Appearances are required on 5/22/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

General Motors Corp. (In re Claremont Acquisition Corp.), 113 F.3d 1029 (9th Cir. 1997). These cases note that the statutory exception in Chapter 13 cases to extend a due date of a maturing loan on the debtor's principal residence does not apply to Chapter 11 cases, indicating that Congress did not mean to provide for such exception for Chapter 11 plans. While there may be grounds to grant stay relief since debtor cannot propose any plan to modify the rights of the movant as a holder of a claim secured only by a security interest in real property that is debtor's principal residence, if debtor can propose a nonplan takeout strategy to be consummated within a reasonable period of time to realize the value of equity in the property for the benefit of the estate (such as obtaining refinancing loan approval by a different lender within a reasonable period of time, say, 60-90 days), the court would deny the motion without prejudice so that debtor could obtain loan approval from a different lender within a reasonable period of time. While the loan has matured, it appears that the parties contemplated that debtor may not pay the loan on the maturity date and the parties' loan agreement as reflected in the promissory note (Exhibit 2 to Motion) provides that the existing lender can be compensated for any actual damages from debtor's failure to pay the loan at maturity based on the liquidated damages provisions in the loan agreement. Payment of the loan and secured claim during the pendency of this Chapter 11 case would not per se run afoul of 11 U.S.C. 1123(b)(5).

and order to 11/14/19 at 11:30 a.m. No appearances are required on 11/12/19.

Prior tentative ruling as of 11/7/19. Having read the supplemental briefs filed by the parties, at this time, the court is inclined to agree with debtor that the motion is premature because he still has time to cure and pay off movant's lien to secure the loan on debtor's principal residence before it matures on 12/1/19 and would deny the motion without prejudice or continue with movant's consent the hearing to after the maturity date because debtor seeks to recover the equity in the property for the estate. (The court notes that debtor filed a motion for approval of postpetition financing to approve a new loan to take out the existing loans on the property on 11/7/19, which has been set for hearing on shortened notice on 11/14/19 at 11:30 a.m.) However, past the maturity date, the limited case law on point favors movant's position that cause is shown for stay relief because the failure to pay off the loan by the maturity date is an incurable default which cannot be cured by any Chapter 11 plan because any plan that does not pay off the loan by the maturity date is an impermissible modification of movant's lien rights contrary to 11 U.S.C. 1123(b)(5). In re Crump, 529 B.R. 106 (Bankr. D. S.C. 2015); In re Sampson, 2018 WL 4786404 (Bankr. M.D. Fla. 2018); In re Clay, 204 B.R. 786 (Bankr. N.D. Ala. 1996); see also, Worthington v. These cases note that the statutory exception in Chapter 13 cases to extend a due date of a maturing loan on the debtor's principal residence does not apply to Chapter 11 cases, indicating that Congress did not mean to provide for such exception for Chapter 11 plans. Appearances are required on 11/12/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. Deny stay relief motion for failure of creditor to meet its burden of proving lack of equity of debtor in collateral under 11 U.S.C. 362(g) (1). Creditor's moving papers on their face show that debtor has equity in the subject property and thus fail to demonstrate lack of equity under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(2). Moreover, creditor's moving papers lack admissible evidence to demonstrate lack of equity to demonstrate lack of adequate protection under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) because its valuation evidence is not supported by a declaration under penalty of perjury by a qualified valuation expert witness who has conducted a proper valuation analysis based on scientifically accepted valuation principles (i.e., sales comparables analysis) and only consists of hearsay opinions of unknown persons based on unknown analysis. Furthermore, creditor's moving papers on their face fail to demonstrate lack of adequate protection since they indicate a 28% equity cushion to adequately protect its lien interest in the subject property. In re Mellor, 734 F.2d 1396 (9th Cir. 1984). Finally, deny requests for extraordinary relief in paragraphs 8, 10 and 11 for lack of evidentiary and/or legal support. Prior tentative ruling as of 3/20/20. Off calendar. In light of the rapidly developing public health threat of coronavirus disease (COVID-19) declared a public health emergency in the State of California and the United States of America and the current national and local public health guidance to mitigate the spread of the disease through social distancing, on March 19, 2020, the United States District Court for the Central District of California issued General Order 20-042, which among other things closes all courthouses of the Central District of California to the public, including the Roybal Federal Building, through May 1, 2020, and accordingly, the court on its own motion continues the status conference in this adversary proceeding scheduled for March 31, 2020 at 1:30 p.m. to May 5, 2020 at 1:30 p.m. The court may issue a further order regarding scheduling if the public health threat does not subside. fr. 9/17/19, 1/28/20, 3/10/20

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 5/1/20. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status report. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 5/5/20 to discuss the status of the adversary proceeding, including when plaintiff will file a motion for default judgment and setting of further proceedings, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is closed to the public by order of the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California (Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042). Counsel and self-represented parties must arrange their telephonic appearances through CourtCall, which is offering a discount on fees for attorneys and waiving all fees for self-represented parties. Information about arranging a telephonic appearance through CourtCall is posted on the court's website.

Prior tentative ruling as of 3/9/20. Off calendar. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status report, requesting that the status conference be continued to 5/5/20 at 1:30 p.m. in light of plaintiff's pending renewed motion for summary judgment in the adversary proceeding against debtor, which it says may render default judgment in this matter unnecessary. The court on its own motion continues the status conference to 5/5/20 at 1:30 p.m. No appearances are required on 3/10/20, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 9/16/19. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status report. Set a discovery cutoff date of 12/31/19 and a pretrial conference for 1/28/20 at 2:00 p.m. Appearances are required on 9/17/19 to discuss scheduling of further proceedings, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 6/24/19. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status report. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 6/25/19 to discuss scheduling of further proceedings, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Corrected tentative ruling as of 4/15/19. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status report, stating that plaintiff intends to file a motion for default judgment and requesting a continuance of the status conference to late June or early July 2019. The court on its own motion continues the status conference to 6/25/19 at 1:30 p.m., and an updated status report is optional for this status conference, but if one is filed, it would be appreciated if it is filed at least one week before. No appearances are required on 4/16/19.

Revised tentative ruling as of 1/29/19. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status report. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 1/29/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 11/5/18. Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 5/1/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 5/5/20 to discuss the status of the adversary proceeding, including the status of mediation and settlement negotiations and if not settled, when a pretrial conference should be set, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is closed to the public by order of the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California (Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042). Counsel and self-represented parties must arrange their telephonic appearances through CourtCall, which is offering a discount on fees for attorneys and waiving all fees for self-represented parties. Information about arranging a telephonic appearance through CourtCall is posted on the court's website.

Prior tentative ruling as of 3/20/20. Off calendar. In light of the rapidly developing public health threat of coronavirus disease (COVID-19) declared a public health emergency in the State of California and the United States of America and the current national and local public health guidance to mitigate the spread of the disease through social distancing, on March 19, 2020, the United States District Court for the Central District of California issued General Order 20-042, which among other things closes all courthouses of the Central District of California to the public, including the Roybal Federal Building, through May 1, 2020, and accordingly, the court on its own motion continues the status conference in this adversary proceeding scheduled for March 31, 2020 at 1:30 p.m. to May 5, 2020 at 1:30 p.m. The court may issue a further order regarding scheduling if the public health threat does not subside. No appearances are required on March 31, 2020 at 1:30 p.m. as the status conference is continued to May 5, 2020 at 1:30 p.m. in Courtroom 1675, Roybal Federal Building, 255 East Temple Street, Los Angeles, California 90012. Counsel for plaintiff is ordered to give notice to the other parties.

Prior tentative ruling as of 10/21/19. Appearances are required on 10/22/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

tentative ruling as of 6/24/19. Schedule a pretrial conference for this adversary proceeding if the matter is not being settled. Appearances are required on 6/25/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 3/25/19. The court has reviewed the stipulation of the parties regarding continuance of scheduled dates and hearings filed on 2/27/19 and based on that stipulation, set a new discovery cutoff date of 5/29/19 and a post-discovery status conference on 6/25/19 at 1:30 p.m. (status conferences are held on Tuesdays at 1:30 p.m.) with a joint status report due on 6/18/19. Order the matter to mediation, and the parties to file a selection of mediator and alternate mediator by 4/15/19 and complete mediation by 6/25/19. No appearances are required on 9/18/18. Plaintiffs to submit a proposed scheduling order within 7 days.

Prior tentative ruling as of 9/17/18. Set a discovery cutoff date of 2/28/19 and a post-discovery status conference on 3/26/19 at 1:30 p.m. with a joint status report due on 3/19/19. Order the matter to mediation, and the parties to file a selection of mediator and alternate mediator by 10/31/18 and complete mediation by 3/26/19. Chapter 7

Prior tentative ruling as of 7/30/18. No tentative ruling on the merits.
Appearances are required on 7/31/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. The court has reviewed the unilateral status reports filed by the parties. The court continues the status conference to 7/31/18 at 2:30 p.m. to be conducted with the hearing on defendants' amended motion to dismiss. No appearances are required on 7/10/18.

Although the parties failed to file a timely joint status report as required by Local Bankruptcy Rule 7016-1 and the court's status conference order, the court will not require at this time for the parties to file an updated and amended joint status report in light of the pendency of defendants' motion to dismiss.

However, the court notes that plaintiff has a jury trial demand on the face of the complaint, which the court will strike because there is no right to a jury trial on debt dischargeability and discharge denial claims in the adversary proceeding. The court also notes that the parties' consent to this court's jurisdiction to enter a final judgment on these core claims is not needed.

#27.00 Cont'd status conference re: Complaint to determine dischargeability of debt pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §523 (a)(6); demand for jury trial fr. 4/7/20

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Updated and supplemental tentative ruling as of 5/4/20. After considering the supplemental briefing of the parties ordered by the court, the court provides the following as its supplemental tentative ruling to its tentative ruling of 5/1/20: The court will abstain from determining the underlying state law tort claims that plaintiff has against defendant pursuant to statutory permissive abstention under 28 U.S.C. 1334(c)(1) and nonstatutory abstention under Colorado River Water Conservation District v. United States, 424 U.S. 800 (1976). The factors that the court has considered for permissive abstention are set forth in In re Tucson Estates, Inc., 912 F.2d 1162, 1167 (9th Cir. 1990): 1) the effect or lack thereof on the efficient administration of the estate if a Court recommends abstention (favoring abstention for lack of effect on efficient administration of the estate), (2) the extent to which state law issues predominate over bankruptcy issues (favoring abstention since plaintiff's tort claims are governed by state law), (3) the difficulty or unsettled nature of the applicable law (neutral since the applicable law is not difficult or unsettled), (4) the presence of a related proceeding commenced in state court or other nonbankruptcy court (favoring abstention, there is pending state law court action stayed by this bankruptcy case), (5) the jurisdictional basis, if any, other than 28 U.S.C. § 1334 (favoring abstention since the only basis for jurisdiction is the court's related to jurisdiction), (6) the degree of relatedness or remoteness of the proceeding to the main bankruptcy case (favoring abstention since the dispute in the adversary proceeding is remote to the main bankruptcy case), (7) the substance rather than form of an asserted "core" proceeding (favoring abstention because the underlying tort claims are noncore proceedings), (8) the feasibility of severing state law claims from core bankruptcy matters to allow judgments to be entered in state court with enforcement left to the bankruptcy court (favoring abstention, severance of state law claims to be tried in state court from the dischargeability claim can be accomplished), (9) the burden of [the bankruptcy court's] docket (favoring abstention, trying the tort claim would be burdensome on the bankruptcy court or district court's docket pursuant to 28 U.S.C. 157(b)(5)), (10) the likelihood that the commencement of the proceeding in bankruptcy court involves forum shopping by one of the parties (this factor is neutral as the court makes no determination of forum shopping), (11) the existence of a right to a jury trial (favoring abstention since the parties have the right to jury trial on the tort claims), and (12) the presence in the proceeding of nondebtor parties (not favoring abstention since the only parties to the dispute are before the court). Based on the overwhelming presence of factors favoring abstention, the court exercises permissive abstention as to plaintiff's tort claims underlying her nondischargeability action.

The court also exercises nonstatutory Colorado River abstention as the factors for such abstention favor abstention because: (1) state law provides the rule of decision on the merits; (2) the state court proceeding is adequate to protect the parties' rights; and (3) the state court obtained and exercised jurisdiction first as the state court action was ready to go to trial before defendant filed his bankruptcy case, staying that action. In re Bellucci, 119 B.R. 763, 775-776 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 1990) (citations omitted). "Under the Colorado River doctrine, a federal trial court has discretion in 'exceptional circumstances' and despite the general obligation to exercise jurisdiction, to stay or dismiss an action for reasonable of wise judicial administration solely because of parallel litigation in state court." Id. At 775 (citations omitted). Thus, the court abstains from hearing plaintiff's state law tort claims and stays this action until the state court determines those claims, and afterwards, the court will then determine plaintiff's debt dischargeability claims in this adversary proceeding.

In so abstaining, the court will also grant stay relief sua sponte to allow the state court action to proceed to judgment, but not permitting enforcement of any judgment against the debtor or property of the estate unless further stay relief is obtained by order of the court or by operation of statute. In re Belluci, 119 B.R. at 778-779; accord, In re Calkins, BAP No. AZ-17-1284-LBTa, 2019

WL 1594016 (9th Cir. BAP 2019), slip op. at *4.

Prior tentative ruling as of 5/1/20. The court has reviewed the supplemental briefing of the parties regarding the court's prior tentative ruling on abstention and stay relief. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 5/5/20 to discuss whether further proceedings should be set, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is closed to the public by order of the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California (Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042). Counsel and self-represented parties must arrange their telephonic appearances through CourtCall, which is offering a discount on fees for attorneys and waiving all fees for self-represented parties. Information about arranging a telephonic appearance through CourtCall is posted on the court's website.

Revised tentative ruling as of 4/6/20. Having read the joint status report noting pending litigation in the state court to liquidate any alleged debt of defendant to plaintiff from alleged personal injuries based on tort, which is stayed by the underlying bankruptcy case, the court is inclined to abstain and grant stay relief to allow plaintiff's state court action to proceed to liquidate the debt, if any, either under mandatory or permissive abstention under 28 U.S.C. 1334(c)(1) or (2). See In re Tucson Estates, Inc., 912 F.2d 1162 (9th Cir. 1990). In this matter, plaintiff seeks a determination of debt dischargeability where the alleged debt based on personal injury torts has not been liquidated. Debt dischargeability cannot be determined until the liability for the debt has been determined and liquidated. The underlying tort liability is not pleaded in the adversary complaint, and it is unclear from the pleadings where the underlying tort liability should be tried and determined, i.e., whether in this adversary proceeding or in the state court proceeding, which is now stay by the bankruptcy case. One consideration is that any personal injury tort claims if not tried in state court must be tried in the district court in this district pursuant to 28 U.S.C. 157(b)(4), though perhaps the parties could consent to this court so trying these claims. If the court abstains, the court would stay the pending adversary proceeding for dischargeability of debt pending the outcome of the state court tort litigation. The court intends to issue an order to show cause why this court should not abstain from hearing the unpled but underlying personal injury tort claims, but otherwise, retaining the debt dischargeability claim to be determined after the alleged debt liability has been determined. The court would consider the factors for permissive abstention and stay relief in In re Tucson Estates, Inc., 912 F.2d at 1166-1167. In reviewing the status report, the court is of the view that the proposed pretrial and trial schedule is unrealistic, given the social turmoil from the current coronavirus pandemic and the need for extensive discovery proceedings relating to determination of the underlying alleged tort liability and the need for a trial of the personal injury tort claims in the district court if the court does not abstain.

Appearances are required on 4/7/20, but counsel must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is closed to the public by order of the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California (Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042). Tentative Ruling:

The court notes that plaintiff has not filed a status report as required by the court's order scheduling initial status conference. Appearances are required on 5/5/20 to address why monetary sanctions of $100 should not be imposed against counsel for plaintiff for failure to file a unilateral status report, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is closed to the public by order of the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California (Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042). Counsel and self-represented parties must arrange their telephonic appearances through CourtCall, which is offering a discount on fees for attorneys and waiving all fees for self-represented parties. Information about arranging a telephonic appearance through CourtCall is posted on the court's website.

Prior tentative ruling as of 3/20/20. Off calendar. In light of the rapidly developing public health threat of coronavirus disease (COVID-19) declared a public health emergency in the State of California and the United States of America and the current national and local public health guidance to mitigate the spread of the disease through social distancing, on March 19, 2020, the United States District Court for the Central District of California issued General Order 20-042, which among other things closes all courthouses of the Central District of California to the public, incl

Corrected tentative ruling as of 4/15/19. The court has reviewed the joint status report, stating that the parties expect to engage in settlement negotiations after defendant submits a comprehensive declaration regarding his financial condition with a personal financial statement setting forth all of his assets, liabilities, income and expenses and that the parties are requesting a continuance of the status conference for 60 days. The court on its own motion continues the status conference to 6/25/19 at 1:30 p.m., and an updated status report is optional for this status conference, but if one is filed, it would be appreciated if it is filed at least one week before. Plaintiff is ordered to submit a proposed scheduling order consistent with this tentative ruling on or before 4/19/19. No appearances are required on 4/16/19.

Revised tentative ruling as of 1/29/19. The court has reviewed the joint status report. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 1/29/19 to discuss whether the parties have had their early meeting of counsel and whether the matter should be referred to mediation, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 11/5/18. The court has reviewed the joint status report. Set a discovery cutoff date of 3/31/19, and as requested by plaintiff, a further status conference to 1/29/19 at 1:30 p.m. Appearances are required on 11/6/18 to discuss scheduling and defendant's request for mediation, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 9/17/18. Off calendar. The court has reviewed the joint status report requesting a continuance of the status conference to 11/6/18 at 1:30 p.m., which request the court grants and continues the status conference to that date and time for the reasons stated in the status report. No appearances are required on 9/18/18.

Prior tentative ruling. The court has reviewed the joint status report. Because the parties have not had their LBR 7026-1 conference, the court is inclined to continue the status conference for about 60 days so that the parties can conduct the conference and make initial discovery disclosures. Appearances are required on 6/19/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Updated tentative ruling as of 11/26/18. Although not cited in their papers, the parties should be prepared to discuss the factors setting forth the standard in this circuit for permissive abstention in In re Tucson Estates, Inc., 912 F.2d 1162, 1166-1167 (9th Cir. 1990). See also, In re Szanto, 2016 WL 3256989 (9th Cir. BAP 2016); In re Roger, 2015 WL 7566647 (C.D. Cal. 2015). It seems to the court that the court should permissively abstain and stay the proceedings long enough to allow the state courts to determine on the merits creditor's claims pending in the state court actions which raise substantively noncore, state law claims, for the reasons stated in the court's rulings on creditor's remand motions. It would be helpful for the parties to report on the status of the proceedings in the state court actions because the papers are not informative about that. Appearances are required on 11/28/18.

Updated tentative ruling as of 5/4/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 5/6/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is closed to the public by order of the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California (Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042). Counsel and self-represented parties must arrange their telephonic appearances through CourtCall, which is offering a discount on fees for attorneys and waiving all fees for self-represented parties. Information about arranging a telephonic appearance through CourtCall is posted on the court's website.

Prior tentative ruling. The court has reviewed debtor's status report. The proposed claims bar date of 5/15/18 will not be approved since this court generally requires at least 60 days notice to creditors of a claims bar date. The estimated administrative expenses in this case stated in the status report for $250,000 to $350,000 seem high, especially since debtors' budget motion and income and expense statements showing net income of about $1,700 per month do not show that debtors have the ability to afford such expenses. There should be some explanation why the large amount of professional fee expenses estimated in the status report are needed in this case, and how debtors will be able to pay for these expenses (i.e., are they selling their real property to raise funds to pay for these fees). Appearances are required on 4/11/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Debtor's evidentiary objection to exhibits in support of the opposition appears to have merit, and while the court might sustain the objection, the court will afford an opportunity to claimant to support declarations to authenticate the exhibits as well as to provide the declaration of claimant under penalty of perjury to support the factual assertions in the opposition. Docket 713

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 5/4/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 5/6/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is closed to the public by order of the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California (Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042). Counsel and self-represented parties must arrange their telephonic appearances through CourtCall, which is offering a discount on fees for attorneys and waiving all fees for self-represented parties. Information about arranging a telephonic appearance through CourtCall is posted on the court's website.

Prior tentative ruling as of 4/27/20 at 5:45 p.m. Off calendar. The court on its own motion continues the hearing on the Plan Agent's application for issuance of writ of execution and appointment as substitute custodian for U.S. Marshal in furtherance of writ and notice of levy and for order approving sale of artworks free and clear of any claim of lien or interest from April 28, 2020 at 2:30 p.m. to May 6, 2020 at 1:30 p.m., which is the date and time of the next status conference in this adversary proceeding. The purpose of the continuance is to provide time for the Plan Agent to file and serve a written reply to the opposition of Defendants 400 South La Brea, et al., to the application and to address the tentative ruling on the matter posted by the court on April 24, 2020 and for the court to review and research the points and authorities asserted in the opposition. Accordingly, the hearing on the Plan Agent's application for issuance of writ of execution and appointment as substitute custodian for U.S. Marshall in furtherance of writ and notice of levy and for order approving sale of artworks free and clear of any claim of lien or interest is hereby continued from April 28, 2020 at 2:30 p.m. to May 6, 2020 at 1:30 p.m. in Courtroom 1675, Roybal Federal Building, 255 East Temple Street, Los Angeles, California 90012, and the Plan Agent's reply must be filed and served no later than Friday May 1, 2020. No appearances are required on 4/28/20. A written order will be issued adopting these rulings on April 28, 2020, but was not issued earlier to technical problems with the court's order processing system.

Prior tentative ruling as of 4/24/20. Grant motion of plaintiff for issuance of order approving issuance of writ of execution and appointment of plaintiff as substitute custodian for U.S. Marshal in furtherance of execution of writ and notice of levy for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition.

Deny motion in part for order approving sale of artworks free and clear of any claim of lien or interest for lack of legal authority. Plaintiff will be relying upon postjudgment collection remedies under California law pursuant to FRBP 7069 and FRCP 69, and plaintiff has not shown that California law authorizes the court to declare that the personal property to be sold at execution sales may be sold free and clear of liens and interests. Pursuant to California Code of Civil Procedure 701.630, any liens subordinate to the lien under which the property is sold and any state tax lien on the property are extinguished. An execution levy reaches only the judgment debtor's interest in the property—i.e., a third party's superior lien or interest is not affected by an execution sale. In other words, a purchaser at an execution sale acquires all right, title and interest of the judgment debtor subject to superior liens. California Code of Civil Procedure 701.040; see also, Ahart, Rutter Group California Practice Guide: Enforcing Judgments and Debts, paragraphs 6:713 and 6:714 (online edition, June 2019 update), citing Comments to California Code of Civil Procedure 700.060, 701.040 and 720.150 and Marriage of Finnell, 182 Cal.App.3d 52, 56 (1986).

Appearances are required on 4/28/20, but counsel and self-represented parties

[Cont'd from 5/8/20 to 6/25/20 at 10:00 a.m. per stip & order entered on 4/10/20]

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 4/10/20. Off calendar. Continued by stipulation and order to 6/25/20 at 10:00 a.m. No appearances are required on 5/8/20.

Prior tentative ruling as of 3/20/20. In light of the rapidly developing public health threat of coronavirus disease (COVID-19) declared a public health emergency in the State of California and the United States of America and the current national and local public health guidance to mitigate the spread of the disease through social distancing, on March 19, 2020, the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California issued an Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042, which among other things closes all courthouses of the Central District of California to the public, including the Roybal Federal Building, through May 1, 2020, and accordingly, the court on its own motion must and does vacate the evidentiary hearing for the contested matter of the motion of United States Trustee to dismiss this bankruptcy case with a one-year refiling bar scheduled for April 3, 2020 at 10:00 a.m. in Courtroom 1675, Roybal Federal Building, 255 East Temple Street, Los Angeles, California 90012 because in person appearances are not permitted in the courthouse on that date. vacated. Based on the stipulation of the parties, the court has issued an order approving the stipulation and continued the evidentiary hearing to May 8, 2020 at 10:00 a.m.

Prior tentative ruling. Treat the motion of United States Trustee to dismiss with a one year refiling bar on grounds of debtor's bad faith as a contested matter under FRBP 9014 since assessment of debtor's good or bad faith is dependent on credibility determinations of debtor's testimony in his declaration and the supporting evidence of the United States Trustee, or alternatively, deny the motion to dismiss without prejudice, and allow United States Trustee an extension of 60 days from the date of the hearing to file a complaint to deny discharge under 11 U.S.C. 727 for cause shown under FRBP 4004(b) in that the United States Trustee has diligently pursued his investigation of possible actions against debtor before the deadline of 1/6/20 and timely filed the motion to extend as shown by his office's examination of debtor at the 11 U.S.C. 341(a) meetings of creditors on 6/4/19, 9/24/19 and 10/21/19 as well as extensive forensic examination of debtor's credit card transactions and elected to seek dismissal first rather than filing an adversary proceeding to deny discharge, which would have been moot if the dismissal had been granted, and that a short extension of time of 60 days for the preparation of a complaint to deny discharge would not prejudice debtor or unduly delay the administration of this case. In re Jahangiri, No. 18-31609-dwh7, 2018 WL 5255216 (Bankr. #5.00 Hearing re: Motion for relief from stay
(TD Auto Finance LLC VS Debtor)

Docket 12

Tentative Ruling:

Off calendar. In light of the lack of any timely written opposition to the movant's stay relief motion, the court determines that oral argument on the motion is not necessary and dispenses with oral argument pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(j)(3), the court deems the lack of filing and service of a timely written opposition as consent to granting of the motion, rules on the motion on the papers, and grants relief from stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d) (1) and (2) to pursue non-bankruptcy remedies for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition. The 14-day waiting period under FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived.

Movant must lodge a proposed order within 7 days of the hearing date. All registered CM/ECF users must lodge an order using the court's mandatory form order on LOU.

No appearances are required on 5/12/20.

Updated tentative ruling as of 5/8/20. The court has reviewed the joint status report. No tentative ruling on the merits. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is closed to the public by order of the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California (Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042). Docket 123

Tentative Ruling:

Updated and supplemental tentative ruling as of 5/12/20. The following updates and supplements the tentative ruling posted on 5/11/20: Deny motion to dismiss on grounds under 11 U.S.C. 1112(b)(4)(A) or (B) for the reasons stated in debtor's written opposition because the record does not demonstrate substantial or continuing loss to the estate and the absence of a reasonable likelihood of rehabilitation or gross mismanagement of the estate as debtor has acted in good faith in diligently negotiating a plan of reorganization with its creditors, including movant, to pay claims through refinancing the existing loan on its principal asset, its real estate, to resolve claim disputes through negotiating plan treatment or contested litigation and to reorganize its business by adopting a new business plan.

Docket 125

Tentative Ruling:

Updated and supplemental tentative ruling as of 5/12/20. The following updates and supplements the tentative ruling posted on 5/11/20: Authorize extension of use of cash collateral for a limited period of time in order for debtor to continue its good faith efforts to propose and confirm a plan of reorganization as the parties which have an interest in cash collateral are adequately protected by a sufficient equity cushion in debtor's real property. Chapter 11

#5.00 Hearing re: Motion for order disallowing amended claim no. 3

Docket 161

Tentative Ruling:

Updated and supplemental tentative ruling as of 5/12/20. The following updates and supplements the tentative ruling posted on 5/11/20: Treat as a contested matter under FRBP 9014. Having considered the moving, opposing and reply papers, the court intends to treat the hearing on 5/13/20 as a status conference and set a discovery schedule and evidentiary hearing pursuant to LBR 3007-1(b)(5) as suggested by movant in its reply to claimant's opposition to the motion. The reason for this in the court's view is to provide the parties an opportunity to remedy deficiencies in their papers and fully present their positions. Claimant's papers are deficient because it has failed to substantiate the reasonableness of the claimed fees in the amended proof of claim by filing billing statements to support its fee requests. 1910 Partners v. Apartment Owners of Canterbury Place (In re 1910 Partners), BAP No. HI-16-1181 BTaL, 2017 WL 6273314 (9th Cir. BAP 2017). Movant raised a new argument in its reply in support of its motion to disallow claimant's amended proof of claim that the contractual claim for attorneys' fees was merged into the final judgment that claimant obtained against movant, and claimant should have the opportunity to respond to that new argument.

Updated tentative ruling as of 5/11/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 5/13/20, but counsel must appear by telephone. fr. 2/19/20, 4/15/20

Docket 119

Tentative Ruling:

Updated and supplemental tentative ruling as of 5/12/20. The following updates and supplements the tentative ruling posted on 5/11/20: In light of debtor's second statement regarding exit financing in connection with its Chapter 11 plan, filed on 5/12/20, the hearing on plan confirmation should be continued for a short period of time in order for debtor to negotiate with the City of Los Angeles regarding the lien subordination cap in an amount that would allow plan confirmation and the exit financing with the replacement lender to go forward. The court will discuss with debtor and the parties the time needed for this purpose.

#8.00 Cont'd hearing re: Motion of trustee for order approving settlement with debtor, Jocelyn Edillor, and Opehlia Edillor; and opposition of United States trustee to motion of trustee for order approving settlement with debtor, Jocelyn Edillor, and Ophelia Edillor fr. 4/7/20

Tentative Ruling:

Updated and supplemental tentative ruling as of 5/12/20. The following updates and supplements the tentative ruling posted on 5/11/20: The court agrees with the Chapter 7 trustee that debtor has no standing to object to the settlement since the order of the court only potentially affects the size of the estate and does not directly affect him (regardless of the side deal that he has with his sisters, the nondebtor settling parties, to repay them). In re Spirtos, BAP Nos. CC-04-1621 MoBK and CC-05-1118 MoBK, 2006 WL 6811021 (9th Cir. BAP 2002), slip op. at *7-10, citing Matter of Fondiller, 707 F.2d 441, 442 (9th Cir. 1983). However, it is unclear that debtor is filing the declaration is an objection to the settlement in his own right which he lacks standing to do. Since the settlement is contingent on the court's approval, it seems to the court that parties to the settlement could seek to withdraw from the settlement if they no longer wanted to go through with it.

The court will overrule the objections of the Chapter 7 trustee to debtor's declarations on grounds of FRE 401, 402 and 408 because the statements in the declaration are relevant to whether the settlement was negotiated in good faith, fair, equitable and reasonable within the meaning of In re A & C Properties, 784 F.2d 1377, 1380-1381 (9th Cir. 1986) and are not offered for an improper purpose within the meaning of FRE 408 as most of the statements were not made of settlement communications and those that were are not offered for the improper purpose of proving or disproving a disputed claim.

The Chapter 7 trustee as the party proposing a settlement has the burden of persuading the bankruptcy court that it is fair and equitable and should be approved. A & C Properties, 784 F.2d at 1381 (citation omitted). Ultimately, though, the bankruptcy court's role in approving any settlement under Rule 9019 is limited. "The law favors compromise and not litigation for its own sake, and as long as the bankruptcy court amply considered the various factors that determined the reasonableness of the compromise, the court's decision must be affirmed." Id. (citations omitted). Rather than an exhaustive investigation or a mini-trial on the merits, the bankruptcy court need only find that the settlement was negotiated in good faith and is reasonable, fair and equitable. Id. "It has been held that the [bankruptcy] court's proper role is 'to canvas the issues and see whether the settlement falls below the lowest point in the range of reasonableness.'" In re Pacific Gas & Electric Co., 304 B.R. 395, 417 (Bankr.N.D.Cal.2004) (citations omitted).

First, considering whether the settlement was negotiated in good faith, it appears that the Chapter 7 trustee has shown that the settlement was negotiated in good faith because the parties negotiated were represented by counsel and the negotiations were at arms length and the settlement resolves a potential litigation dispute based on a claim of fraudulent transfer that the estate may have.

Regarding the relevant factors stated in A & C Properties whether a settlement is fair, equitable and reasonable, are: (a) The probability of success in the litigation (in the court's view, based on this record, the estate does not have good probability of success because the statute of limitations for fraudulent transfer claims under California law is 4 years, which may be extended by a year from delayed discovery based on reasonable inability to discover actual fraud up to an absolute of 7 years under California Civil Code, Section 3439.09(a), (b) and (c), which is likely 4 years here and time-barred because the alleged fraudulent transfer was publicly recorded, any statute of limitations defense that the alleged fraudulent transferees have are waivable, while no payment was made for the allegedly fraudulent transfer, there is some indication of consideration because the transfer relieved debtor of the obligation to contribute to payment of the existing loan indebtedness on the property, there does not appear that a creditor in existence at the time of the alleged fraudulent transfer in 2011 since the creditors' claims filed in this case do not appear to go back as far as 2011 to provide standing for a constructive fraudulent transfer claim under California Civil Code Section 3439.05 and there are few indicia of actual fraud under California Civil Code Section 3439.04(a) and (b) on this record, so the settlement appears to be a very favorable one for the estate, given these substantial hazards of litigation);

(b) the difficulties, if any, to be encountered in the matter of collection (no difficulties in collection are presented here because the settling parties have tendered the settlement payment to the Chapter 7 trustee);

(c) the complexity of the litigation involved, and the expense, inconvenience and delay necessarily attending it (the litigation does not seem to be complex, but the settlement would avoid the expense, inconvenience and delay of the estate having to prove its fraudulent transfer claim);

(d) the paramount interest of the creditors and a proper deference to their reasonable views in the premises (it appears to be in the interest of creditors, including the Chapter 7 trustee and his professionals, holding the largest claims in this case, to approve the settlement since it would pay 100 percent of allowed administrative expense claims, and probably most of the general unsecured claims).

A & C Properties, 784 F.2d at 1381 (citations omitted).

The court is inclined to approve the settlement based on the A & C Properties, given its limited role in reviewing a settlement under FRBP 9019.

The concerns raised by the United States Trustee go to whether the settlement is in good faith and fair, equitable and reasonable and are legitimately raised, though the court in its limited role in applying the A & C Properties factors determines that the settlement should be approved and gives much reliance on the public policy favoring settlement of litigation, on the fact that the parties were represented by counsel and negotiated the settlement at arms length and agreed to settle a potential litigation dispute, that is, the parties perceive there is value to them to settle potential litigation and avoid litigation costs despite the apparent weaknesses of the estate's potential litigation claim.

Updated tentative ruling as of 5/11/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. The court does not intend to issue a tentative ruling for this matter since it feels

Prior tentative ruling. In light of the rapidly developing public health threat of coronavirus disease (COVID-19) declared a public health emergency in the State of California and the United States of America and the current national and local public health guidance to mitigate the spread of the disease through social distancing, on March 19, 2020, the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California issued an Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042, which among other things closes all courthouses of the Central District of California to the public, including the Roybal Federal Building, through May 1, 2020, and accordingly, the court cannot conduct an in person hearing on the contested matter of the trustee's motion to approve compromise with the debtor, Jocelyn Edillor and Ophelia Edillor, which the court considers appropriate and necessary in light of the contentions raised in the pleadings. Therefore, the court on its own motion continues the hearing to a date on which it believes that the courthouse will be open so that the court can hear the arguments of the parties in person, May 13, 2020 at 1:30 p.m. in Courtroom 1675, Roybal Federal Building, 255 East Temple Street, Los Angeles, California 90012. No appearances are required on 4/28/20. A written order will be issued adopting these rulings on April 28, 2020, but was not issued earlier to technical problems with the court's order processing system.

Prior tentative ruling as of 4/24/20. Grant motion of plaintiff for issuance of order approving issuance of writ of execution and appointment of plaintiff as substitute custodian for U.S. Marshal in furtherance of execution of writ and notice of levy for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition.

Deny motion in part for order approving sale of artworks free and clear of any claim of lien or interest for lack of legal authority. Plaintiff will be relying upon postjudgment collection remedies under California law pursuant to FRBP

7069 and FRCP 69, and plaintiff has not shown that California law authorizes the court to declare that the personal property to be sold at execution sales may be sold free and clear of liens and interests. Pursuant to California Code of Civil Procedure 701.630, any liens subordinate to the lien under which the property is sold and any state tax lien on the property are extinguished. An execution levy reaches only the judgment debtor's interest in the property—i.e., a third party's superior lien or interest is not affected by an execution sale. In other words, a purchaser at an execution sale acquires all right, title and interest of the judgment debtor subject to superior liens. California Code of Civil Procedure 701.040; see also, Ahart, Rutter Group California Practice Guide: Enforcing Judgments and Debts, paragraphs 6:713 and 6:714 (online edition, June 2019 update), citing Comments to California Code of Civil Procedure 700.060, 701.040 and 720.150 and Marriage of Finnell, 182 Cal.App.3d 52, 56 (1986).

Appearances are required on 4/28/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is closed to the public by order of the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California (Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042). Counsel and self-represented parties must arrange their telephonic appearances through CourtCall, which is offering a discount on fees for attorneys and waiving all fees for self-represented parties. Information about arranging a telephonic appearance through CourtCall is posted on the court's website.

Tentative Ruling:

Off calendar. In light of the lack of any timely written opposition to the movant's stay relief motion, the court determines that oral argument on the motion is not necessary and dispenses with oral argument pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(j)(3), the court deems the lack of filing and service of a timely written opposition as consent to granting of the motion, rules on the motion on the papers, and grants relief from stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d) (1) and (2) to pursue non-bankruptcy remedies for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition. The 14-day waiting period under FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived.

#17.00 Hearing re: Trustee's motion to authorize sales of estate's right, title and interest in (1) litigation claims, and (2) intellectual property

Docket 64

Tentative Ruling:

Grant motion of the Chapter 7 trustee to sell certain litigation rights and intellectual property rights of the bankruptcy estate pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 363(b), approve overbidding procedures for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition. However, no tentative ruling as to the determination of the successful purchaser and the confirmed purchaser and backup bidder as good faith purchasers within the meaning of 11 U.S.C. 363(m), subject to the conduct of an auction if there is a qualified overbidder. Appearances are required on 5/19/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is closed to the public by order of the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California (Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042) and the Bankruptcy Court's General Order 20-02 of 3/19/20 as amended on 4/1/20 and 4/14/20. Counsel and self-represented parties must arrange their telephonic appearances through CourtCall, which is offering a discount on fees for attorneys and waiving all fees for self-represented parties. Chapter 7

#18.00 Hearing re: Motion to compel abandonment or, in the alternative, motion to dismiss

Docket 29

Tentative Ruling:

Having considered the moving, opposing and reply papers, the court determines that the motion to compel abandonment or dismiss is a contested matter under FRBP 9014 and that the court should set a schedule of pretrial and trial proceedings, including discovery. Although the City of Long Beach filed a proof of claim for its secured claim, the amount was only for the face amount of the loan and did not incorporate the equity share obligation. Discovery should be taken to confirm the city's claim amount because it is not likely that it would waive its right to amend its claim for the full amount under the equity share agreement with debtor and the co-owner, and thus, debtor might well be able to show that the property is either burdensome to the estate or of inconsequential value and benefit to the estate under 11 U.S.C. 554(b) because the obligation to pay the equity share to the city would eliminate any equity value available to pay creditors. If the property is the major asset of the estate and debtor is right that there is no value in the equity to pay creditors, then as well it might not be prejudicial to creditors to grant debtor's motion to voluntarily dismiss this case under 11 U.S.C. 707 if this means that the case is otherwise a "no asset" case. See In re Bartee, 317 B.R. 362, 366 (9th Cir. BAP 2004).

Appearances are required on 5/19/20 to discuss scheduling of pretrial proceedings, including discovery and whether the matter should be referred to mediation, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

#12.00 Cont'd hearing re: Second and final fee application of SulmeyerKupetz, a professional corporation general bankruptcy counsel for debtors
fr. 3/25/20, 4/29/20

Docket 308

Tentative Ruling:

Updated and supplemented tentative ruling as of 5/19/20. The court has reviewed debtors' response to applicant's motion to strike their sur-opposition as supplemented, filed on 5/18/20, reporting that debtors and applicant have reached a settlement of their dispute regarding applicant's fee application and payment thereon. Parties should confirm the existence of a settlement, if there is one, how it will be documented, or otherwise be prepared to discuss how to proceed.

Prior tentative ruling as of 5/15/20. According to debtors in their sur-opposition filed on 5/6/20, they acknowledge that applicant's fees and costs may be awarded in the aggregate total of $461,792.91, but request that applicant's request for immediate payment be denied and requiring applicant to agree to alternate treatment under the plan or the matter referred to mediation. In response, applicant asserts that its allowed fees and costs total $554,747.84, of which $365,002.37 remains due and owing after payment of $107,245.47 during the case and a voluntary reduction of $87,500.00, and requests that the allowed fees and costs be ordered paid in full immediately. In the court's view, it should only determine whether the application for fees and costs should be approved and in what amount. As to how and when the allowed fees and costs are to be paid is governed by the confirmed plan, and plan treatment of this claim is not before the court on this application, though this issue may be a proper subject of discussion during the status conference because debtors may not be able to pay the claim in accordance with the terms of the plan, which may be a plan default. The court denies applicant's motion to strike debtors' sur-opposition because the arguments contained therein relate to the application, though the court does not accept such arguments for purposes of determining the application.

Prior tentative ruling as of 4/27/20. It appears that debtors do not object to the fees requested in the applicant's second and final fee application in stating in their response to the application: "The Debtors do not object to the general relief prayed for in the Fee Application and do not hereby do so." However, debtors indicate that there are issues regarding their ability to make payments of the fees pursuant to the plan and request that the court direct them and applicant to attend mediation to resolve these issues. As to the supplemental fees requested in applicant's reply on 4/22/20, it is improper for applicant to request newly requested fees in a reply which violates LBR 9013-1(g) providing that "New arguments or matters raised for the first time in reply documents will not be considered." This is unfair and burdensome for the court and debtors to review and respond to such supplemental fees raised for the first time in the reply. If applicant seeks payment of the supplemental fees requested in the reply, the court will have to continue the hearing on the application to consider the supplemental fees. The court is of the view that mediation is a good idea to resolve the payment issues as a matter of practicality at this time before getting into a determination of plan compliance interpreting the plan as to payment of fees based on the sufficiency of debtors' funds on hand.

Appearances are required on 4/29/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from

fr. 5/6/20

Docket 262

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 5/15/20. The court has reviewed debtors' status report filed on 4/29/20 wherein they stated that due to the COVID-19 crisis, they may require additional time to comply with their payment obligations under the terms of the plan and that they do not have sufficient funds on hand to pay its claims owed to its former general bankruptcy counsel SulmeyerKupetz, and special litigation counsel Stapke Law. Debtors also reported on the pending settlement of the adversary proceeding against Bank of America Corp., and SulmeyerKupetz has expressed concerns about how the settlement funds are going to be used after receipt. These circumstances may indicate a plan default, and debtors should be prepared to discuss how they intend to resolve any plan default. Appearances are required on 5/20/20, but counsel must appear by telephone. #3.00 Hearing re: Amended motion to avoid lien under 11 U.S.C. §522(f) (real property) with Sequoia Concepts, Inc. dba Sequoia Financial Services

Docket 54

Tentative Ruling:

Treat the amended motion to avoid lien of Creditor Sequoia Concepts, Inc., as a contested matter under FRBP 9014 because there are disputed issues of material fact regarding valuation of the subject property and the liens attached thereto. The parties have filed evidence of conflicting valuation of the subject property at $740,000 based on the declaration of a real estate broker for Debtor and $945,000 based on a declaration of real estate broker for Creditor. The value of the property at $770,000 based on the trustee's "acceptance" of an offer to sell the property based on the trustee's declaration filed on 1/8/20 is not conclusive because there has been no sale of the property to deem that value as the fair market value of the property for purpose of Debtor's lien avoidance motion as no motion for sale has been filed by the trustee. There are also factual issues regarding the value of the unavoids liens on the property. The first lien of Encore is valued at $366,799.14 based on a notice of trustee's sale dated 8/6/19 attached as Exhibit 4 to the amended motion, which value does not appear to be in dispute. The second lien of Oxford Property, LLC is valued at $110,000 based on the stipulation between the trustee and Oxford fixing the value of the lien, though Debtor asserts the value in the motion to be $200,090, which was disputed by the trustee, leading to the settlement between trustee and Oxford. The court is of the view that the value of Oxford's lien is the $110,000 which was the agreed value between it and the trustee, though Debtor might disagree, which may raise a disputed issue of material fact. The value of the California Franchise Tax Board liens is $29,069.15, which is the value of its secured claim on its proof of claim filed in this case. However, Debtor asserts that the Franchise Tax Board liens should be valued at $12,144.89, $14,440.62 and $19,208.07, totaling $45,793.58, which may present a disputed issue of material fact. The value of the Internal Revenue Service liens is $180,817.59, which is the value of its secured claim on its proof of claim filed in this case. However, Debtor asserts that the IRS liens should be valued at $63,204.00, $116,383.14 and $22,351.77, totaling $201,938.91, which may present a disputed issue of material fact. In the court's view, the values of the taxing authorities' liens stated on the proofs of claim should be the values for purposes of the motion because the proofs of claim are what the claimants assert are their claims on the petition date and are prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claims pursuant to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 3001(f). There is no evidence that rebuts the prima facie correctness of the filed proofs of claim of the FTB and IRS. The court's computation of the unavowed liens of Encore ($366,799.14), Oxford ($110,000), FTB ($29,069.15) and IRS ($180,817.59), which total $686,685.88. Adding Debtor's claim of $175,000 as her homestead exemption yields a total of $861,168.88, which would indicate no available equity for Sequoia's lien to attach if the value of the property is $740,000, but available equity of $83,831.12 if the value of the property is $945,000 which is sufficient for Sequoia's lien valued at $21,840.46 to attach. The amount of available equity for Sequoia's lien would be increased if the court accords credence to Debtor's assertions in her declaration that she is an "innocent spouse" not responsible for her late husband's tax liabilities, so that presumably, she is not liable for his tax liabilities, and thus, the property is not subject to his tax liens, which would apparently mean that the tax lien amounts should not be considered in determining available equity for Sequoia's lien to attach. Debtor's assertions that she is not liable for the taxes may also raise a disputed issue of material fact in valuing the unavowed liens against the property (if the court disregards the tax liens, then under either valuation, there is sufficient equity for Sequoia's lien to attach). The conflicting valuation evidence raises disputed issues of material fact that generally requires an evidentiary hearing because the court has to make credibility determinations as to the valuation opinions. The parties could call their valuation witnesses as witnesses at a hearing, and they may want to take discovery as the broker for Creditor has not inspected the property, and the court can make a determination after hearing their testimony, or the parties could waive their right to an evidentiary hearing, and the court can decide valuation, and the motion, on the papers, or the parties could stipulate to what this court would call the Judge Zurzolo method of valuation that the Prior tentative ruling as of 9/16/19. Because the discovery cutoff date was extended to 12/31/19 and discovery is continuing to that date, the court was inclined to set a post-discovery status conference or a pretrial conference for after the discovery cutoff date. Appearances are required on 9/17/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 5/22/20. The court will discuss with the parties the status of the mediation with Judge Donovan, who is apparently amenable to conducting mediation by videoconferencing or telephone, perhaps through Zoom which has been used by other judges successfully for mediation. Appearances are required on 5/26/20 by telephone in accordance with the procedures set forth in the tentative ruling of 5/8/20 below.

Prior tentative ruling as of 5/8/20. The court has reviewed the joint status report. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 5/12/20 to discuss the status of the adversary proceeding, including the status of the pending mediation, outstanding discovery, whether the trial can be conducted remotely by videoconferencing as opposed to in person and when a pretrial conference and other further proceedings should be set, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is closed to the public by order of the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California (Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042). fr. 2/19/20, 4/15/20, 5/13/20

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 5/22/20. No updated tentative ruling in light of the settlement between debtor and creditor Acon regarding debtor's objection to Acon's secured claim. Appearances are required on 5/27/20 by telephone in accordance with the procedures set forth in the tentative ruling of 5/11/20 below.

Prior supplemental tentative ruling as of 5/12/20. The following updates and supplements the tentative ruling posted on 5/11/20: Deny motion to dismiss on grounds under 11 U.S.C. 1112(b)(4)(A) or (B) for the reasons stated in debtor's written opposition because the record does not demonstrate substantial or continuing loss to the estate and the absence of a reasonable likelihood of rehabilitation or gross mismanagement of the estate as debtor has acted in good faith in diligently negotiating a plan of reorganization with its creditors, including movant, to pay claims through refinancing the existing loan on its principal asset, its real estate, to resolve claim disputes through negotiating plan treatment or contested litigation and to reorganize its business by adopting a new business plan.

Updated tentative ruling as of 5/11/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 5/13/20, but counsel must appear by telephone. Docket 125

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 5/22/20. No updated tentative ruling in light of the pending plan confirmation hearing in this case. Appearances are required on 5/27/20 by telephone in accordance with the procedures set forth in the tentative ruling of 5/11/20 below.

Prior supplemental tentative ruling as of 5/12/20. The following updates and supplements the tentative ruling posted on 5/11/20: Authorize extension of use of cash collateral for a limited period of time in order for debtor to continue its good faith efforts to propose and confirm a plan of reorganization as the parties which have an interest in cash collateral are adequately protected by a sufficient equity cushion in debtor's real property. The court will discuss with debtor and the parties the time needed to litigate pending matters so that the hearing on plan confirmation can proceed.

#4.00 Cont'd hearing re: Confirmation of plan
fr. 2/19/20, 4/15/20, 5/13/20

Docket 119

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 5/22/20. No updated tentative ruling in light of the settlement between debtor and creditor Acon regarding debtor's objection to Acon's secured claim, which will require a modification of the proposed reorganization plan either by a motion to approve compromise under FRBP 9019 or a plan supplement. Appearances are required on 5/27/20 by telephone in accordance with the procedures set forth in the tentative ruling of 5/11/20 below.

Updated and supplemental tentative ruling as of 5/12/20. The following updates and supplements the tentative ruling posted on 5/11/20: In light of debtor's second statement regarding exit financing in connection with its Chapter 11 plan, filed on 5/12/20, the hearing on plan confirmation should be continued for a short period of time in order for debtor to negotiate with the City of Los Angeles regarding the lien subordination cap in an amount that would allow plan confirmation and the exit financing with the replacement lender to go forward. The court will discuss with debtor and the parties the time needed for this purpose.

Updated tentative ruling as of 5/11/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 5/13/20, but counsel must appear by telephone. Chapter 11

Information about arranging a telephonic appearance through CourtCall is posted on the court's website.

Prior tentative ruling as of 4/13/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. Plan confirmation appears to be a contested matter under FRBP 9014 since there is a dispute over feasibility of the plan based on creditor Acon's objection and its related motion to dismiss as well as debtor's objection to Acon's amended claim. It seems that the court should set a schedule of pretrial proceedings for litigation of these related contested matters.

Appearances are required on 4/15/20, but counsel must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is closed to the public by order of the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California (Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042). #9.00 Cont'd hearing re: Plaintiff's motion for default judgment under LBR 7055-1
fr. 3/24/20, 4/28/20

Docket 23

Tentative Ruling:

Revised and updated tentative ruling as of 5/28/20. The court makes several preliminary observations regarding the moving papers: (1) the motion relies upon defendant's failure to respond to requests for admissions, but the circumstances of service of the requests for admission and defendant's failure to respond are not adequately described in the supporting declaration and there does not appear to be a copy of a proof of service in the moving papers (the discovery requests were identified as Exhibit B, but were placed out of order in the papers before Exhibit A; there was no proof of service of these documents in the moving papers); (2) the motion contends for the claims under 11 U.S.C. 523(a)(2) that defendant made fraudulent misrepresentations on his loan application to plaintiff as shown by his statement of financial affairs, but the moving papers do not include copies of the loan application or the statement of financial affairs; (3) the motion contends for the claims under 11 U.S.C. 523(a)(4) that defendant embezzled or committed larceny of certain loan collateral pledged to plaintiff, but the moving papers do not sufficiently substantiate what specific loan collateral was embezzled or stolen; (4) the motion contends for the claim under 11 U.S.C. 727(a)(5) that defendant failed to explain the loss or deficiency of assets to meet his liabilities, but the moving papers do not sufficiently substantiate the circumstances of his failure to explain based on the supporting declaration that conclusorily states that there were discussions; (5) it appears that the circumstances indicate some type of fraud as shown by a credit bustout that may show a prima facie case for the claims under 11 U.S.C. 523(a)(2) and (6), that is, based on common law fraud under state law, but the moving papers need to show that the elements of fraud to establish an underlying state law tort claim, which is not discussed in the moving papers; (6) if plaintiff is able to establish a claim under 11 U.S.C. 523, does plaintiff intend to also proceed with its claim under 11 U.S.C. 727(a)

(5), which appears to be insufficient on this record. Appearances are required on 6/2/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is currently closed to the public by orders of the United States District Court for the Central District of California and this court and that this court will not be holding in person hearings by the date of this hearing. Counsel and self-represented parties must arrange their telephonic appearances through CourtCall, which is offering a discount on fees for attorneys and waiving all fees for self-represented parties. Information about arranging a telephonic appearance through CourtCall is posted on the court's website.

Prior tentative ruling. In light of the rapidly developing public health threat of coronavirus disease (COVID-19) and the current national and local public health guidance to mitigate the spread of the disease through social distancing, the court in an abundance of caution continues the hearing on Plaintiff's Motion for Default Judgment, Docket No. 23, in this adversary proceeding and the status conference scheduled for March 24, 2020 at 2:30 p.m. The court on its own motion continues the hearing on the motion and the status conference to April 28, 2020 at 2:30 p.m. The court may issue a further order regarding scheduling if the public health threat does not subside. Updated tentative ruling as of 5/28/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 6/3/20, but counsel must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is currently closed to the public by orders of the United States District Court for the Central District of California and this court and that this court will not be holding in person hearings by the date of this hearing. Counsel and self-represented parties must arrange their telephonic appearances through CourtCall, which is offering a discount on fees for attorneys and waiving all fees for self-represented parties. Information about arranging a telephonic appearance through CourtCall is posted on the court's website.

Prior tentative ruling. The court on its own motion continues the hearing on the disclosure statement to be conducted with hearings on related matters in this case on 6/3/20 at 11:00 a.m. No appearances are required on 5/20/20.

#10.00 Hearing re: Disclosure statement

Docket 164

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 6/2/20. Off calendar. Continued by stipulation between debtor and secured creditor MTGLQ Investors, LP, and order to 7/22/20 at 11:00 a.m. to allow these parties some additional time to negotiate consensual plan treatment of the secured claim. Counsel for debtor must notify by email or phone counsel for secured creditors MTGLQ and U.S. Bank, Mr. Garan and Ms. Weifenbach, of the continuance.

Prior tentative ruling as of 5/28/20.

Deny approval of amended disclosure statement for failure to contain adequate information.

Regarding creditor MTGLQ Investors, LP's objection to debtor's disclosure statement, the court has the following comments. Regarding the sufficiency of debtor's organizational status, debtor should address creditor's contention that it is not in active organizational status as a Utah limited liability company. Regarding its objection to Option 1, the treatment there is only an option and apparently offered to incentivize that creditor with a higher interest rate and valuation of the secured claim. However, it is only an alternative as the default is Option 2, which is the proposed treatment of the claim, which does not eliminate the unsecured claim in violation of due process of law.

Regarding creditor's objection to Option 2, debtor argues that it may proceed under the "new value" exception to the absolute priority rule, and whether the proposed new value is sufficient to qualify for the exception is probably an issue for plan confirmation. See In re Ambanc La Mesa Ltd. Partnership, 115 F.3d 650, 654-655 (9th Cir. 1997). As to the proposed payout of unsecured claims over 90 calendar quarters, or 22.5 years, the issue is also probably a plan confirmation issue. If a creditor objects, it is highly unlikely that the court would overrule the objection because 22.5 years is unreasonably long for unsecured creditors to be paid. If there were no objection, the creditors could consent to such treatment by voting in favor of the plan. In the court's view, debtor has an uphill battle to demonstrate a payout longer than 5 years on unsecured claims is fair and equitable, especially since this case has been pending for almost four years, resulting in a wait of almost nine years for unsecured creditors to be paid in this case.

Regarding the value of the Cold Plains property, there is apparently a dispute regarding valuation of the property and creditor's secured claim. The parties should advise whether they agree to a value or if there will be a factual dispute over valuation of the property and the secured claim. If there is going to be a dispute over the value of the secured claim, the court will require debtor to file a motion to value the secured claim under FRBP 3012 or an adversary proceeding pursuant to FRBP 7001 rather than litigating value through plan confirmation proceedings.

Regarding the creditor's objection to the reduction of creditor's secured claim by the amount of the adequate protection payments, the creditor is correct in asserting that creditor should be given credit for the rental income on the property under 11 U.S.C. 552(b) and the holding of In re Ambanc La Mesa Ltd. Partnership, 115 F.3d at 654, though debtor is correct in asserting that the adequate protection payments reduce the amount of the secured claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 361(1) as creditor is undersecured and cannot claim postpetition interest as part of its secured claim. See also, United Savings Association of Texas v. Timbers of Inwood Forest Associates, Ltd., 484 U.S. 365, 372-374 (1988). If debtor does not give credit to creditor on calculating its secured claim for the postpetition rental income contrary to Ambanc La Mesa, such would be grounds for denial of confirmation as not treating the dissenting secured class fairly and equitably, and would make the plan patently unconfirmable to warrant disapproval of the disclosure statement on the merits. See In re Arnold, 471 B.R. 578, 586 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2012).

Regarding the adequacy of the financial information for the disclosure statement, the court agrees with creditor's objection that the financial information provided is skimpy and inadequate. The income and expense statement is deficient because there is no information of expenses and there is no historical information of income and expenses. Appending bank statements and monthly operating reports is not an adequate substitute for providing historical information of income and expenses and reasonable future projections of income and expenses, which should be presented on a spreadsheet form, at least, two years back and five years forward.

The court will grant limited amount of time to debtor to further amend the disclosure statement to address these concerns, or may soon issue an order to show cause re: dismissal, given the lack of apparent progress in confirming plan in this case.

Appearances are required on 6/3/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Khang and debtor JC fits, Inc.

Docket 157

Tentative Ruling:

Having reviewed the counsel declaration in response to the order to show cause, the court is inclined to discharge the order to show cause. In his declaration, counsel indicated that debtor is requesting dismissal of the case pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 105(b) due to its inability to reorganize and not conversion because the nominal assets it now has are overencumbered by liens of its secured creditors indicating little value for creditors in liquidating of its assets. The court will inquire of the appearing parties whether there is any objection to dismissal of the case as opposed to conversion to Chapter 7 or appointment of a Chapter 11 trustee. Appearances are required on 6/3/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is currently closed to the public by orders of the United States District Court for the Central District of California and this court and that this court will not be holding in person hearings by the date of this hearing. Counsel and self-represented parties must arrange their telephonic appearances through CourtCall, which is offering a discount on fees for attorneys and waiving all fees for self-represented parties. Information about arranging a telephonic appearance through CourtCall is posted on the court's website.

Prior tentative ruling as of 4/27/20. The court has reviewed debtor's status report. No tentative ruling on the merits. Prior tentative ruling as of 3/18/20. Off calendar. In light of the rapidly developing public health threat of coronavirus disease (COVID-19) and the current national and local public health guidance to mitigate the spread of the disease through social distancing, the court in an abundance of caution continues the status conference in this bankruptcy case scheduled for March 25, 2020 at 11:00 a.m. The court on its own motion continues the status conference to April 29, 2020 at 11:00 a.m. The court may issue a further order regarding scheduling if the public health threat does not subside. #25.00 Cont'd hearing re: Motion for entry of an order authorizing sale of substantially all of the debtor's real estate related assets free and clear of all liens, claims, encumbrances and interests and granting related relief
fr. 10/22/19, 1/15/20, 3/25/20

Docket 248

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 5/28/20. Grant debtor's motion to sell property of the estate as to the Stockton property for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written objection as the sale of this property is accordance with the global settlement previously approved by order of the court of 9/19/19 as the sale appears to have the consent of the affected lienholder, Great Rock as it has given notice of the motion and has not objected, and therefore, the sale may be free and clear of liens, encumbrances and interests pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 363(f)(2). The requirements of a public sale are inapplicable here because the sale realizes the only value to the estate pursuant to the global settlement, that is, the $250,000 carveout from the net sales proceeds from the sale of the Stockton property to pay creditors of the estate other than secured creditors Great Rock and GemCap. Debtor should prepared to make an offer of proof to support any finding that the purchaser is a good faith purchaser for purposes of 11 U.S.C. 363(m). Absent any objection, the court will waive the stay on the order under FRBP 6004(h). Appearances are required on 6/3/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Docket 115

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 5/28/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. The court will discuss proceeding with the evidentiary hearing remotely by videoconferencing in light of the current pandemic and has issued an order describing proposed remote trial procedures for the hearing. Appearances are required on 6/3/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is currently closed to the public by orders of the United States District Court for the Central District of California and this court and that this court will not be holding in person hearings by the date of this hearing. guidance to mitigate the spread of the disease through social distancing, on March 19, 2020, the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California issued an Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042, which among other things closes all courthouses of the Central District of California to the public, including the Roybal Federal Building, through May 1, 2020, and accordingly, the court cannot conduct an in person trial in the courtroom until at least May 1, 2020. Moreover, the County of Los Angeles and City of Los Angeles have issued public health orders prohibiting public and private gatherings in their jurisdictions until at least April 19, 2020, which are likely to be extended, which orders may apply to the trial. The court schedules the status conference on 4/7/20 to discuss with the parties how a trial in the matter may be conducted and when possibly it can be scheduled. Given the current surge of coronavirus cases in the court and in the state and the need for appropriate social distancing, it would probably be prudent not to schedule so soon. In this court's view, a trial will not be scheduled earlier than 6/1/20. A court committee is being appointed to consider the conduct of video evidentiary hearings, but whether this is technically feasible and legally proper has not yet determined for this court yet.

Appearances are required on 4/15/20, but counsel must appear by telephone. public health emergency in the State of California and the United States of America and the current national and local public health guidance to mitigate the spread of the disease through social distancing, on March 19, 2020, the United States District Court for the Central District of California issued General Order 20-042, which among other things closes all courthouses of the Central District of California to the public, including the Roybal Federal Building, through May 1, 2020, and accordingly, the court on its own motion must and does vacate the evidentiary hearing for the contested matter of Debtor's objection to Claim No. 4 of U.S. Bank National Association as Trustee for Velocity Commercial Capital Loan Trust 2014-1 in this bankruptcy case scheduled for April 22, 2020 at 9:00 a.m. in Courtroom 1675, Roybal Federal Building, 255 East Temple Street, Los Angeles, California 90012 because in person appearances are not permitted in the courthouse on that date. No appearances are required on April 22, 2020 at 9:00 a.m. as the evidentiary hearing on that date is vacated.

The court further on its own motion sets a status conference in this contested matter on April 15, 2020 at 11:00 a.m. in Courtroom 1675, Roybal Federal Building, 255 East Temple Street, Los Angeles, California 90012. The purpose of the status conference is to discuss rescheduling the evidentiary hearing on the claim objection. Because the Roybal Federal Building is closed to the public on April 15, 2020 by the aforementioned order of the United States District Court, the parties to this contested matter and their counsel must appear telephonically at the status conference in accordance with the court's telephone appearance procedures posted online on the court's website.

Prior tentative ruling as of 3/9/20. Off calendar. The court vacated the hearing on 3/11/20 after resetting the matter for trial on 4/22/20 at 9:00 a.m. No appearances are required on 3/11/20.

Prior tentative ruling as of 6/24/19. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 6/26/19.

Prior tentative ruling. Treat the motion objecting to claim as a contested matter under FRBP 9014 and set a schedule of pretrial proceedings, including discovery, since there are disputed issues of material fact. Parties should confer regarding an appropriate schedule if they can. Appearances are required on 5/8/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Creditor may be entitled to its claim for attorneys' fees under 11 U.S.C. 506(b) pursuant to contract based on its loan agreement secured by deed of trust, which were upheld as valid in the state court litigation. The four elements for a claim under 11 U.S.C. 506(b) are: (1) its claim is an allowed secured claim; (2) it is an oversecured creditor; (3) the fees it asserts are reasonable; and (4) the fees it asserts are provided for under an agreement under which such claim arose, or the fees are provided for under a state statute under which the creditor's claim arose. In re Astle, 364 B.R. 735, 741 (Bankr. D. Idaho 2007). The claim is an allowed secured claim based on the state court judgment, though the judgment is on appeal. The creditor is an oversecured creditor, which is not in dispute. The reasonableness of the fees it asserts is in material dispute. Creditor has only submitted redacted versions of its counsel's fee statements, which do not provide sufficient information for the court to review for reasonableness. Creditor must file unredacted versions, or submit unredacted versions in camera with a privilege log if creditor claims that the redacted matter is privileged. Debtor as the objecting party must carry its burden of explaining what in the fee statements are unreasonable or at least what would be reasonable under the circumstances. In re Koncicky, 2007 WL 7540997 (9th Cir. BAP 2007)(unpublished memorandum opinion) (citation omitted). Debtor has the responsibility to challenge the information and provide evidence controverting that produced by creditor. Id. Debtor has not met this burden. The fees that creditor asserts are provided by the loan agreement between it and its borrower providing for reasonable attorneys' fees if it incurs or pays to maintain, protect or enforce its rights under the loan agreement as secured by the deed of trust. Exhibits A and C to Favela Declaration. Case law in California allows such fees to be added to the balance under the promissory note secured by trust deed. Chacker v. JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A., 27 Cal.App.5th 351, 356-358 (2018). However, there is no separate award of attorneys' fees authorized by statute, such as California Civil Code 1717 because debtor is not a signatory to the contract in the loan agreement and creditor has not otherwise shown that it would have been liable for the fees of the opposing party if the opposing party had prevailed. Asphalt Professionals, Inc. v. Davis (In re Davis), 595 B.R. 818, 837 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2019), citing, Dell Merk, Inc. v. Franzia, 132 Cal.App.4th 443, 441 (2005). Thus, creditor will need to submit fully unredacted copies of its fee statements to the court, and debtor will need to explain what in the fee statements are unreasonable and/or produce evidence showing that the fees are unreasonable.

judge's copy of the opposition which have separately tabbed exhibits as required by Local Bankruptcy 5005-2(d) and will have to provide such copy.

Debtor's evidentiary objection to exhibits in support of the opposition appears to have merit, and while the court might sustain the objection, the court will afford an opportunity to claimant to support declarations to authenticate the exhibits as well as to provide the declaration of claimant under penalty of perjury to support the factual assertions in the opposition. The court is not satisfied that the declaration of counsel in support of the opposition is sufficient due to lack of foundation of the factual representations made therein. The court may continue the hearing for claimant to remedy these procedural deficiencies, or just set a litigation schedule. The court is not inclined to sustain the objection of debtor at this time without giving claimant an opportunity to cure the procedural deficiencies of the opposition in light of the amount of controversy and the facial validity of the arguments in the opposition supported by the exhibits (i.e., there appears to be a bona fide dispute about whether debtor was entitled to retain claimant's $500,000 deposit if there were omissions of material fact regarding marketable title to the subject real property as alleged in the opposition. Appearances are required on 9/16/15.

#1.00 Hearing re: Motion for relief from stay
(Elin Khachatourian VS Debtor)

Docket 184

Tentative Ruling:

Off calendar. In light of the lack of any timely written opposition to the movant's stay relief motion, the court determines that oral argument on the motion is not necessary and dispenses with oral argument pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(j)(3), the court deems the lack of filing and service of a timely written opposition as consent to granting of the motion, rules on the motion on the papers, and grants relief from stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d) (1) to proceed under applicable law to enforce its remedies to proceed to final judgment, provided that the stay remains in effect with respect to enforcement of any judgment against the debtor or property of the debtor's bankruptcy estate, for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition. The 14-day waiting period under FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived. No appearances are required on 6/9/20. Movant to submit a proposed order within 7 days of hearing.

fr. 12/3/19, 3/12/20, 4/7/20

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 6/8/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. The court will discuss proceeding with the evidentiary hearing remotely by videoconferencing in light of the current pandemic and has issued an order describing proposed remote trial procedures for the hearing. Appearances are required on 6/9/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is currently closed to the public by orders of the United States District Court for the Central District of California and this court and that this court will not be holding in person hearings by the date of this hearing. Revised tentative ruling as of 4/6/20. In light of the rapidly developing public health threat of coronavirus disease (COVID-19) declared a public health emergency in the State of California and the United States of America and the current national and local public health guidance to mitigate the spread of the disease through social distancing, on March 19, 2020, the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California issued an Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042, which among other things closes all courthouses of the Central District of California to the public, including the Roybal Federal Building, through May 1, 2020, and accordingly, the court cannot conduct an in person trial in the courtroom until at least May 1, 2020. Moreover, the County of Los Angeles and City of Los Angeles have issued public health orders prohibiting public and private gatherings in their jurisdictions until at least April 19, 2020, which are likely to be extended, which orders may apply to the trial. The court schedules the status conference on 4/7/20 to discuss with the parties how a trial in the matter may be conducted and when possibly it can be scheduled. Given the current surge of coronavirus cases in the court and in the state and the need for appropriate social distancing, it would probably be prudent not to schedule so soon. In this court's view, a trial will not be scheduled earlier than 6/1/20. A court committee is being appointed to consider the conduct of video evidentiary hearings, but whether this is technically feasible and legally proper has not yet determined for this court yet.

Appearances are required on 4/7/20, but counsel must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is closed to the public by order of the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California (Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042). Information about arranging a telephonic appearance through CourtCall is posted on the court's website.

Prior tentative ruling as of 3/10/20. In light of the emerging public health threat of coronavirus disease (COVID-19) in the United States and the world, the court in an abundance of caution postpones the trial in this adversary proceeding scheduled for 3/12/20 and 3/13/20. The court sets a status conference in this matter for 4/7/20 at 2:00 p.m. to reschedule the trial so that the court and the parties can assess the emerging and rapidly developing situation regarding the coronavirus and determine that the trial can safely proceed. No appearances are required on 3/12/20 and 3/13/20 as the trial will not proceed on those days, and counsel should so advise the parties and the witnesses.

Prior tentative ruling as of 12/2/19. The joint pretrial stipulation is missing stipulated fact no. 15, which is blank, and the joint exhibit list and any objections to the exhibits referred to in the joint pretrial stipulation, but the exhibit list and objections are not attached. Appearances are required on 12/4/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 11/18/19. Off calendar. The court has reviewed the counsel declarations regarding preparation of the joint pretrial stipulation. The court on its own motion continues the pretrial conference to 12/3/19 at 11:00 a.m. and extends the time for the parties to file a joint pretrial stipulation to 11/26/19. The court expects that the parties will meet and confer to resolve their differences and submit a joint pretrial stipulation, not unilateral pretrial statements, by 11/26/19 (the parties should be able at least to agree to disagree so that there is one joint pretrial stipulation), and the court will impose sanctions of $250 each on the culpable parties for failure to submit a joint pretrial stipulation as provided in LBR 7016-1. No appearances are required on 11/19/19.

Prior tentative ruling as of 11/8/19. Off calendar. Continued by stipulation and order to 11/19/19 at 2:00 p.m. No appearances are required on 11/12/19.

Prior tentative ruling as of 8/12/19. Appearances are required on 8/13/19, and parties to address the status of mediation, their failure to conduct a meeting of counsel pursuant to LBR 7026-1, the status of discovery and scheduling of further proceedings.

Prior tentative ruling as of 3/11/19. The court has reviewed the joint status report. Set a discovery cutoff date of 7/1/19 and a post-discovery status conference on 7/30/19 at 1:30 p.m. with a joint status report due on 7/23/19. fr. 4/28/20, 6/2/20

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 6/8/20. In response to the trustee's omnibus objections to claims, claimants through their attorney filed amended claims on 5/11/20 and 5/12/20. Pursuant to Rule 3001(f) of the Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure (FRBP), proofs of claim executed and filed in accordance with the FRBP shall constitute prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claims. In reply, the trustee supported by declarations of Linda Lee and Michael Weinberg has rebutted the prima facie correctness of the amended proofs of claim by showing that the documents attached to the amended proofs of claim were fabricated and are not genuine. Moreover, in the court's view, the documents to support amended claims lack evidentiary foundation as none of the documents attached in support of the amended claims are properly authenticated by someone with personal knowledge as required by Rules 602, 901 and 902 of the Federal Rules of Evidence, which tends to show that the objections to the claims have rebutted the prima facie correctness of the claims, and that the claimants bear the ultimate burden of proving the validity of their claims and should be prepared to show that they have met this burden at the hearing. Chapter 11

#4.00 Cont'd status conference re: Post confirmation of chapter 11 plan
fr. 2/5/20, 2/19/20, 3/4/20

Docket 82

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 6/8/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. The court will conduct the status conference in case that the United States Trustee or another party in interest has concerns regarding status. Appearances are required on 6/10/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is currently closed to the public by orders of the United States District Court for the Central District of California and this court and that this court will not be holding in person hearings by the date of this hearing. Counsel and self-represented parties must arrange their telephonic appearances through CourtCall, which is offering a discount on fees for attorneys and waiving all fees for self-represented parties. Information about arranging a telephonic appearance through CourtCall is posted on the court's website.

#6.00 Cont'd hearing re: Trustee's: (i) objection to debtors' exemption as to vehicle [2014 Honda Pilot], and (ii) demand for turnover of non-exempt properties of the bankruptcy estate [2013 Toyota Corolla & 6 bank accounts]
fr. 3/24/20, 4/28/20

Docket 21

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 6/8/20. As stated in the tentative ruling for the prior hearing on the trustee's motion, the court will treat the motion as a contested matter and intends to set it for an evidentiary hearing to resolve disputed issues of material fact. The court notes that debtors have filed a motion to convert the case to Chapter 13, which may be opposed and set for hearing as well. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 6/10/20 to discuss scheduling of further proceedings, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is currently closed to the public by orders of the United States District Court for the Central District of California and this court and that this court will not be holding in person hearings by the date of this hearing. Information about arranging a telephonic appearance through CourtCall is posted on the court's website.

Prior tentative ruling as of 4/24/20. Treat trustee's objection to debtors' exemptions as to the 2014 Honda Pilot as a tool of the trade and 2013 Toyota Corolla as an exempt motor vehicle and demand for turnover of nonexempt property as a contested matter under FRBP 9014 because there are disputed material issues of fact relating to whether the Honda Pilot is a tool of the trade of debtor husband and the valuation of the motor vehicles claimed as exempt.

Overrule debtors' opposition that trustee's objection is untimely because the meeting of creditors under 11 U.S.C. 341(a) was continued with specific adjournment date and the objection was timely under FRBP 4003(b) within 30 days of the conclusion of the last scheduled meeting of creditors. In re Bernard, 40 F.3d 1028, 1031 (9th Cir. 1994). In re Smith, 235 F.3d 472 (9th Cir. 2000) is inapplicable because there was no open-ended adjournment of the meeting of creditors in this case. The objecting party has the burden of proving that the exemption is not properly claimed. FRBP 4003(c). If the objecting party can produce evidence sufficient to rebut the presumption of validity, the burden of production shifts to the debtor to provide unequivocal evidence to demonstrate that the exemption is proper. In re Diaz, 547 B.R. 329, 336 (9th Cir. BAP 2016). The burden of proof is substantive, not procedural; therefore, the burden of proof should be borne by the same party who would bear the burden outside the bankruptcy (i.e, debtors). Raleigh v. Illinois Department of Revenue, 530 U.S. 15, 20-21 (2000). See also In re Pashenee, 531 B.R. 834, 837 (Bankr.E.D.Cal. 2015). State law applies in an objection to an exemption because CA mandates the use of state exemptions. In re Diaz, 547 B.R. at 337. Under California law, the exemption claimant has the burden of proof. California Code of Civil Procedure 703.580(b). Here, the trustee has sufficiently rebutted the presumption of validity based on evidence of debtor husband's other employment and lack of commercial vehicle insurance coverage for the Honda Pilot, therefore debtors have the burden of proof for the claimed exemptions. Whether the Honda Pilot is a tool of the trade is a factual issue under California Code of Civil Procedure 704.060(a) (1). See In re Garcia, 451 B.R. 909, 917 (C.D. Cal. 2011). To determine whether a vehicle is a tool of the trade, the proper inquiry is whether or not the vehicle is used by and is necessary to a debtor for his work, trade or occupation. Id. at 918 (citations omitted). Whether the vehicle is used in a debtor's trade is a question of fact. Id. (citation omitted). Even if the Honda Pilot is an exempt tool of the trade, the exemption amount is limited to $4,850 under California Code of Civil Procedure 704.060(d) and may be disallowed since the Toyota Corolla is being claimed as an exempt motor vehicle which could be reasonably used as debtor's tool of the trade pursuant to California Code of Civil Procedure 704.060(c). The current limit for a motor vehicle exemption as adjusted for cost of living under California Code of Civil Procedure 704.010(a) is $3,325, and to the extent that the Toyota Corolla exceeds that amount, such value is nonexempt. The CarMax valuations provided by debtors for the Honda Pilot and Toyota Corolla are not competent and credible evidence of valuation since such valuations lack evidentiary foundation under FRE 602, 702, 801-802 and 901. Grant trustee's unopposed request for turnover of nonexempt bank account funds. Set for an evidentiary hearing to resolve factual disputes.

Appearances are required on 4/28/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Prior tentative ruling. In light of the rapidly developing public health threat of coronavirus disease (COVID-19) and the current national and local public health guidance to mitigate the spread of the disease through social distancing, the court in an abundance of caution continues the hearing on the contested matter of the Chapter 7 Trustee's: (i) Objection to Debtors' Exemption as to Vehicle [2014 Honda Pilot], and (ii) Demand for Turnover of Non-exempt Properties of the Bankruptcy Estate [2013 Toyota Corolla & 6 Bank Accounts], Docket No. 21, in this bankruptcy case scheduled for March 24, 2020 at 2:30 p.m. The court continues the hearing on this contested matter to April 28, 2020 at 2:30 p.m. The court may issue a further order regarding scheduling if the public health threat does not subside. No appearances are required on March 24, 2020 at 2:30 p.m. as the hearing is continued to April 28, 2020 at 2:30 p.m. in Courtroom 1675, Roybal Federal Building, 255 East Temple Street, Los Angeles, California 90012.

Prior tentative ruling as of 7/30/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 7/31/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. The court has reviewed the unilateral status reports filed by the parties. The court continues the status conference to 7/31/18 at 2:30 p.m. to be conducted with the hearing on defendants' amended motion to dismiss. No appearances are required on 7/10/18.

Although the parties failed to file a timely joint status report as required by Local Bankruptcy Rule 7016-1 and the court's status conference order, the court will not require at this time for the parties to file an updated and amended joint status report in light of the pendency of defendants' motion to dismiss.

However, the court notes that plaintiff has a jury trial demand on the face of the complaint, which the court will strike because there is no right to a jury trial on debt dischargeability and discharge denial claims in the adversary proceeding. The court also notes that the parties' consent to this court's jurisdiction to enter a final judgment on these core claims is not needed.

#7.00 Hearing re: Motion to dismiss adversary proceeding with prejudice

Docket 30

Tentative Ruling:

Off calendar. In light of the lack of a timely written opposition to the defendant's motion to dismiss the adversary proceeding with prejudice, the court determines that oral argument on the motion is not necessary and dispenses with oral argument pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(j)(3), the court deems the lack of filing and service of a timely written opposition as consent to the granting of the motion pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 6/12/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. The court and the parties will discuss setting a schedule of pretrial proceedings, including a discovery cutoff date, a post-discovery status conference date or a pretrial conference date. Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 6/12/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. The court will discuss proceeding with the trial remotely by videoconferencing in light of the current pandemic and has issued an order describing proposed remote trial procedures for the trial. Appearances are required on 6/16/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is currently closed to the public by orders of the United States District Court for the Central District of California and this court and that this court will not be holding in person hearings by the date of this hearing. Prior tentative ruling as of 4/24/20. In light of the rapidly developing public health threat of coronavirus disease (COVID-19) declared a public health emergency in the State of California and the United States of America and the current national and local public health guidance to mitigate the spread of the disease through social distancing, on March 19, 2020, the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California issued an Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042, which among other things closes all courthouses of the Central District of California to the public, including the Roybal Federal Building, which closure has been extended through June 1, 2020 by announcement on April 13, 2020, and accordingly, the court cannot conduct an in person trial in the courtroom until at least June 1, 2020. Moreover, the County of Los Angeles and City of Los Angeles have issued public health orders prohibiting public and private gatherings in their jurisdictions until at least May 15, 2020, which are likely to be extended, which orders may apply to the trial. The court scheduled the status conference on 4/28/20 to discuss with the parties how a trial in the matter may be conducted and when possibly it can be scheduled. Given the current surge of coronavirus cases in the court and in the state and the need for appropriate social distancing, it would probably be prudent not to schedule so soon. In this court's view, a trial will not be scheduled earlier than 6/1/20. A court committee is being appointed to consider the conduct of video evidentiary hearings, but whether this is technically feasible and legally proper has not yet determined for this court yet.

settlement agreement between the liquidating trustee and Lowell Sharron and Beyond Basics, LLC

Docket 427

Tentative Ruling:

Having reviewed the moving papers and being thoroughly familiar with the circumstances of this litigation, having conducted the trial, the court agrees with the trustee that he has shown that the proposed settlement is fair and equitable and within his reasonable business judgment. The court would grant the motion on the merits for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition, but for its present lack of jurisdiction over the matters to be settled which are currently on appeal before the Ninth Circuit. See In re Adams Apple, Inc., 829 F.2d 1484, 1489 (9th Cir. 1987). When a bankruptcy court lacks jurisdiction to determine a motion due to a pending appeal, the court may issue an indicative ruling declaring how it would rule upon remand, which would be the basis for a motion to the appellate court for a limited remand for the court to rule on the merits of the motion. FRBP 8008. Thus, the court would grant the motion to the extent that it will issue an indicative ruling that it would grant the motion upon a limited remand by the Ninth Circuit.

fr. 6/2/20

Docket 106

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 6/19/20.

Grant motion to approve stipulation to modify automatic stay to allow claimants to liquidate claims against the bankruptcy estate in pending district court lawsuit.

Although the parties have cited to and discussed the factors for granting stay relief for cause under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) in In re Curtis, 40 B.R. 795, 805 (Bankr. D. Utah 1984), which factors have been cited with approval in an unpublished decision of the Ninth Circuit Bankruptcy Appellate Panel in In re Advanced Medical Spa Inc., BAP No. EC-16-1087-KuMaJu, 2016 WL 6958130 (9th Cir. BAP 2016), the court finds more instructive the factors and holding in the Ninth Circuit's opinion in In re Tucson Estates, Inc., 912 F.2d 1162, 1166-1167 (9th Cir. 1990). The court believes that Tucson Estates is more on point because in essence this is a situation where the court is being asked to abstain and grant stay relief for another tribunal to adjudicate and liquidate a claim against the estate. In this case, claimants seek to proceed with their lawsuit against the debtor and other parties based on state law claims. This lawsuit is pending in the district court, but stayed by the automatic stay arising in this bankruptcy case.

Cause is shown under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) because claimants have a colorable argument to assert a claim in a nonbankruptcy forum, though the court does not rule on the merits on any such claim as that determination is left for the other forum. See In re Griffin, 719 F.3d 1126, 1128 (9th Cir. 2013). As the court has said at prior hearings in this case, the court lacks jurisdiction to try and liquidate the personal injury and wrongful death claims asserted by claimants because 28 U.S.C. 157(b)(5) provides that the district court must try such claims. stay relief is shown to effectuate this jurisdictional command.

In Tucson Estates, the Ninth Circuit has set forth factors to consider whether this court should abstain and lift stay for litigation in a nonbankruptcy forum, which the court now analyzes. The factors include: (1) the effect or lack thereof on the efficient administration of the estate if a Court recommends abstention (this factor favors abstention/stay relief because the claims have to be tried and liquidated by the district court as this court lacks the authority to do so), (2) the extent to which state law issues predominate over bankruptcy issues (this factor favors abstention/stay relief because the claims solely involve state law issues), (3) the difficulty or unsettled nature of the applicable law (this factor is neutral because it does not appear that applicable law governing the claims are difficult or unsettled) (4) the presence of a related proceeding commenced in state court or other nonbankruptcy court (this factor favors abstention/stay relief because a related proceeding commenced in a nonbankruptcy court exists, i.e., the district court), (5) the jurisdictional basis, if any, other than 28 U.S.C. § 1334 (this factor favors abstention/stay relief because the court's jurisdiction regarding the lawsuit would only be "related to" jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. 1334), (6) the degree of relatedness or remoteness of the proceeding to the main bankruptcy case (this factor favors abstention/stay relief because the determination of the claims is remote to the main bankruptcy case), (7) the substance rather than form of an asserted "core" proceeding (this factor favors abstention/stay relief because the claims are all noncore proceedings), (8) the feasibility of severing state law claims from core bankruptcy matters to allow judgments to be entered in state court with enforcement left to the bankruptcy court (this factor favors abstention/stay relief because severance is not possible because the court lacks jurisdiction to try and liquidate the claims), (9) the burden of [the bankruptcy court's] docket (this factor favors abstention/stay relief because the litigation of the claims will involve significant litigation resources requiring expert scientific testimony due to complex factual nature of the claims), (10) the likelihood that the commencement of the proceeding in bankruptcy court involves forum shopping by one of the parties (this factor favors abstention/stay relief because it appears that the nonbankruptcy litigation was proceeding to trial before the debtor's insiders put it into bankruptcy), (11) the existence of a right to a jury trial (this factor favors abstention/stay relief because the parties have a right to jury trial on the claims), and (12) the presence in the proceeding of nondebtor parties (this factor favors abstention/stay relief because there are other defendants in the district court lawsuit). In re Tucson Estates, Inc., 912 F.2d at 1166-1167.

It is perhaps encouraging that the objecting party, Barry Bordbar, states that defendants in the related adversary proceeding have a "renewed willingness" to settle the claims. The court would consider a referral of the adversary proceeding to the court's voluntary mediation program, though not in lieu of a ruling granting the motion to approve the stipulation for stay relief.

Appearances are required on 6/23/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is currently closed to the public by orders of the United States District Court for the Central District of California and this court and that this court will not be holding in person hearings by the date of this hearing. Counsel and self-represented parties must arrange their telephonic appearances through CourtCall, which is offering a discount on fees for attorneys and waiving all fees for self-represented parties. Information about arranging a telephonic appearance through CourtCall is posted on the court's website.

Prior tentative ruling. The court having granted the ex parte motion for continuance, the hearing on the stipulation is continued to 6/23/20 at 11:00 a.m. No appearances are required on 6/2/20.

social distancing, on March 19, 2020, the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California issued an Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042, which among other things closes all courthouses of the Central District of California to the public, including the Roybal Federal Building, through May 1, 2020, and accordingly, the court on its own motion must and does vacate the evidentiary hearing for the contested matter of the motion of United States Trustee to dismiss this bankruptcy case with a one-year refiling bar scheduled for April 3, 2020 at 10:00 a.m. in Courtroom 1675, Roybal Federal Building, 255 East Temple Street, Los Angeles, California 90012 because in person appearances are not permitted in the courthouse on that date. No appearances are required on April 3, 2020 at 10:00 a.m. as the evidentiary hearing on that date is vacated. Based on the stipulation of the parties, the court has issued an order approving the stipulation and continued the evidentiary hearing to May 8, 2020 at 10:00 a.m.

Prior tentative ruling. Treat the motion of United States Trustee to dismiss with a one year refiling bar on grounds of debtor's bad faith as a contested matter under FRBP 9014 since assessment of debtor's good or bad faith is dependent on credibility determinations of debtor's testimony in his declaration and the supporting evidence of the United States Trustee, or alternatively, deny the motion to dismiss without prejudice, and allow United States Trustee an extension of 60 days from the date of the hearing to file a complaint to deny discharge under 11 U.S.C. 727 for cause shown under FRBP 4004(b) in that the United States Trustee has diligently pursued his investigation of possible actions against debtor before the deadline of 1/6/20 and timely filed the motion to extend as shown by his office's examination of debtor at the 11 U.S.C. 341(a) meetings of creditors on 6/4/19, 9/24/19 and 10/21/19 as well as extensive forensic examination of debtor's credit card transactions and elected to seek dismissal first rather than filing an adversary proceeding to deny discharge, which would have been moot if the dismissal had been granted, and that a short extension of time of 60 days for the preparation of a complaint to deny discharge would not prejudice debtor or unduly delay the administration of this case. In re Jahangiri, No. 18-31609-dwh7, 2018 WL 5255216 (Bankr. Adv#: 2:15-01679 THE OFFICIAL COMMITTEE OF UNSECURED CREDITORS OF T v.

#1.00 Hearing re: Motion To Establish Protocols To Safely, Fairly And Efficiently Conduct Depositions As A Result Of Covid-19

Docket 735

Tentative Ruling:

While movant properly noticed the motion for hearing on the court's 11:00 a.m. calendar, in the interests of judicial economy and convenience to the court and the parties, the court will conduct the hearing on this motion on its 1:30 p.m. calendar with the status conference in this adversary proceeding. Appearances are required at 1:30 p.m., not at 11:00 a.m., and the parties should appear telephonically.

The court has reviewed the moving and opposing papers and acknowledges that both sides have raised valid concerns, but none of the authorities cited by them are conclusive. The court does not rule out either in person or remote depositions at this time. The information provided by the 400 South La Brea defendants indicates that in person depositions could now be undertaken (i.e., the material from First Legal Depositions). Depositions could also be conducted remotely by telephone or videoconference as generally recognized by Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 30(b)(4). The parties should be prepared to discuss their proposed schedules for taking specific depositions, and the court and the parties can discuss an appropriate schedule based on the parties' preferences and conditions rather than in the abstract. The following is a discussion of remote depositions in a treatise which fairly and accurately reflects the current state of the law and practice regarding remote depositions, which may be helpful to the parties in their considerations of remote depositions.

other remote electronic means. 111 This can happen either by stipulation of the parties or if the court so orders. Oftentimes the request to take the deposition by remote means is made by the party that is noticing the deposition in order to avoid travel cost to where the witness is located. But the request can also be made by the party to be deposed in order to avoid travel cost to the place where the deposition has been noticed. The provisions of Rule 30(b)(4) do not indicate what showing must be made for the court to order that a deposition be taken by remote means. As a general matter, courts seem to require some showing of good cause. 112 They consider the reasons given for wanting to proceed by remote means and balance the advantages and disadvantages of doing so. Courts may place the burden of showing good cause on different persons depending on the context in which the matter is presented to the court. In cases where the party noticing the deposition seeks permission to take it by remote means, directly invoking Rule 30(b)(4), some courts have indicated that if the moving party has a legitimate reason for conducting the deposition by remote means, then the opposing party bears the burden of showing good cause why the deposition should not be conducted in that manner. 113 In contrast, in cases where it is the witness who seeks to be deposed by remote means to avoid traveling to the location designated in the deposition notice, and raises the question in the context of a Rule 26(c) motion for protective order, the court may view the method of deposition (not just the location) as being part of the Rule 26(c) motion and require the moving party to show good cause for the protection requested. 114 In the end, the question of who bears the burden probably does not much matter. The strong sense of the case law is that requests for leave to take a deposition via remote transmission should be and are freely granted when doing so makes sense and will not cause any real prejudice. In years past, parties often objected to telephonic depositions on the grounds that they could not observe the demeanor of the witness or see whether the witness was being coached by counsel. Also, parties sometimes opposed telephonic depositions if there were a large number of documents to be shown to the witness on the grounds that it would be too hard to keep track of the exhibits. While the courts took those factors into account, they did not view them as constituting automatic grounds for denying leave to take a telephonic deposition. 115 Today, when lawyers express concern about not being able to see the witness (or others in the room) judges often respond by pointing out that the deposition can be conducted by videoconference. 116 previously voiced about telephonic depositions); Securities and Exchange Commission v. Aly, 320 F.R.D. 116, 119, 97 Fed. R. Serv. 3d 413 (S.D. Kan. 2012) ("Taking the depositions via videoconferencing addresses Defendant's objection that the deponent's nonverbal responses and demeanor cannot be observed."). Of course, someone might then raise the concern that a video feed focused only on the witness might fail to capture misconduct appearing offscreen, such as a lawyer standing behind the camera and quickly jotting down hints to the witness onto a handheld whiteboard. Perhaps that might call for a secondary video feed showing what was happening in the rest of the room. Or perhaps judges can (and should) rely on the integrity and ethics of lawyers and reject these types of arguments unless there is a clear reason to think there is a significant risk that this type of misbehavior will occur.

Prior tentative ruling. No tentative ruling on the merits in light of objections to the interim fee application by debtor and creditor James Regan. The court is inclined to defer a ruling on the interim fee application until fee applications of estate professionals are considered on a final basis pursuant to LBR 2016-1(c)(3) and because the estate lacks funds to pay the interim fee application at this time. It seems to the court that it is a better use of litigation resources to litigate the fee application of applicant on a final fee when the case is ready for disposition through the plan confirmation process. Prior tentative ruling as of 4/13/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. Plan confirmation appears to be a contested matter under FRBP 9014 since there is a dispute over feasibility of the plan based on creditor Acon's objection and its related motion to dismiss as well as debtor's objection to Acon's amended claim. It seems that the court should set a schedule of pretrial proceedings for litigation of these related contested matters.

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 6/22/20. Off calendar. As stated in the prior order on the motion, the status conference was set to report on the status of the payment of the Bank of America litigation settlement which could be used to pay the fees awarded to applicant. Based on the joint status report of counsel for debtor and former counsel for debtor, the money from the Bank of America settlement was paid over to applicant, and the parties agreed that the status conference may be taken off calendar. No appearances are required on 6/24/20.

Appearances are required on 6/24/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. be documented, or otherwise be prepared to discuss how to proceed.

Prior tentative ruling as of 5/15/20. According to debtors in their sur-opposition filed on 5/6/20, they acknowledge that applicant's fees and costs may be awarded in the aggregate total of $461,792.91, but request that applicant's request for immediate payment be denied and requiring applicant to agree to alternate treatment under the plan or the matter referred to mediation. In response, applicant asserts that its allowed fees and costs total $554,747.84, of which $365,002.37 remains due and owing after payment of $107,245.47 during the case and a voluntary reduction of $87,500.00, and requests that the allowed fees and costs be ordered paid in full immediately. In the court's view, it should only determine whether the application for fees and costs should be approved and in what amount. As to how and when the allowed fees and costs are to be paid is governed by the confirmed plan, and plan treatment of this claim is not before the court on this application, though this issue may be a proper subject of discussion during the status conference because debtors may not be able to pay the claim in accordance with the terms of the plan, which may be a plan default. The court denies applicant's motion to strike debtors' sur-opposition because the arguments contained therein relate to the application, though the court does not accept such arguments for purposes of determining the application.

Appearances are required on 5/20/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Chapter 11

Prior tentative ruling as of 4/27/20. It appears that debtors do not object to the fees requested in the applicant's second and final fee application in stating in their response to the application: "The Debtors do not object to the general relief prayed for in the Fee Application and do not hereby do so." However, debtors indicate that there are issues regarding their ability to make payments of the fees pursuant to the plan and request that the court direct them and applicant to attend mediation to resolve these issues. As to the supplemental fees requested in applicant's reply on 4/22/20, it is improper for applicant to request newly requested fees in a reply which violates LBR 9013-1(g) providing that "New arguments or matters raised for the first time in reply documents will not be considered." This is unfair and burdensome for the court and debtors to review and respond to such supplemental fees raised for the first time in the reply. If applicant seeks payment of the supplemental fees requested in the reply, the court will have to continue the hearing on the application to consider the supplemental fees. The court is of the view that mediation is a good idea to resolve the payment issues as a matter of practicality at this time before getting into a determination of plan compliance interpreting the plan as to payment of fees based on the sufficiency of debtors' funds on hand.

Appearances are required on 4/29/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Revised and updated tentative ruling as of 4/7/20. Off calendar. Based on the informal inquiry of the court to counsel, the court on its own motion continues the status conference to 5/6/20 at 1:30 p.m. after counsel for the 400 South La Brea defendants informally advised the court that the parties desire a 30 day continuance of the status conference and will be submitting a stipulation for such a continuance and to address other matters regarding this litigation and proposed order there. No appearances are required on 4/8/20.

Prior tentative ruling as of 3/16/20. In light of the emerging public health crisis from coronavirus disease (COVID-19) in the United States and the world, the court in an abundance of caution continues the status conference in this adversary proceeding scheduled for 3/17/20 at 1:30 p.m. to 4/8/20 at 1:30 p.m. Hopefully, with the continuance to 4/8/20, the court and the parties can assess the emerging and rapidly developing public health crisis regarding the coronavirus outbreak and determine that hearings in the matter may safely proceed. [Telephonic Pretrial Conf. set on 6/23/20 at 2:00 p.m. per order entered on 6/10/20]

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 6/11/20. Off calendar. By prior order, the court has vacated the trial on 6/25/20 and set the matter for a telephonic pretrial conference on 6/23/20 at 2:00 p.m. No appearances are required on 6/25/20.

Prior tentative ruling as of 3/20/20. In light of the rapidly developing public health threat of coronavirus disease (COVID-19) declared a public health emergency in the State of California and the United States of America and the current national and local public health guidance to mitigate the spread of the disease through social distancing, on March 19, 2020, the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California issued an Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042, which among other things closes all courthouses of the Central District of California to the public, including the Roybal Federal Building, through May 1, 2020, and accordingly, the court on its own motion must and does vacate the evidentiary hearing for the contested matter of the motion of United States Trustee to dismiss this bankruptcy case with a one-year refiling bar scheduled for April 3, 2020 at 10:00 a.m. in Courtroom 1675, Roybal Federal Building, 255 East Temple Street, Los Angeles, California 90012 because in person appearances are not permitted in the courthouse on that date. No appearances are required on April 3, 2020 at 10:00 a.m. as the evidentiary hearing on that date is vacated. Based on the stipulation of the parties, the court has issued an order approving the stipulation and continued the evidentiary hearing to May 8, 2020 at 10:00 a.m.

Prior tentative ruling. Treat the motion of United States Trustee to dismiss with a one year refiling bar on grounds of debtor's bad faith as a contested matter under FRBP 9014 since assessment of debtor's good or bad faith is dependent on credibility determinations of debtor's testimony in his declaration and the supporting evidence of the United States Trustee, or alternatively, deny the motion to dismiss without prejudice, and allow United States Trustee an extension of 60 days from the date of the hearing to file a complaint to deny discharge under 11 U.S.C. 727 for cause shown under FRBP 4004(b) in that the United States Trustee has diligently pursued his investigation of possible actions against debtor before the deadline of 1/6/20 and timely filed the motion to extend as shown by his office's examination of debtor at the 11 U.S.C. 341(a) meetings of creditors on 6/4/19, 9/24/19 and 10/21/19 as well as extensive forensic examination of debtor's credit card transactions and elected to seek dismissal first rather than filing an adversary proceeding to deny discharge, which would have been moot if the dismissal had been granted, and that a short extension of time of 60 days for the preparation of a complaint to deny discharge would not prejudice debtor or unduly delay the administration of this case. In re Jahangiri, No. 18-31609-dwh7, 2018 WL 5255216 (Bankr. (AmeriCredit Financial Services, Inc. dba GM Financial VS Debtor)

Docket 12

Tentative Ruling:

Off calendar. In light of the lack of any timely written opposition to the movant's stay relief motion, the court determines that oral argument on the motion is not necessary and dispenses with oral argument pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(j)(3). The court deems the lack of filing and service of a timely written opposition as consent to granting of the motion, rules on the motion on the papers, and grants relief from stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (2) to pursue non-bankruptcy remedies for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition. The 14-day waiting period under FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived. No appearances are required on 6/30/20. Movant to submit a proposed order within 7 days of hearing.

#16.00 Cont'd status conference re: Complaint and demand for jury trial
fr. 1/28/20, 3/31/20, 5/5/20

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

The court will inquire whether the parties have fully complied with the meet and confer requirement of LBR 7026-1. Set a discovery cutoff date of 12/31/20 and a post-discovery status conference on 1/12/21 at 1:30 p.m. The court does not set the matter for a pretrial conference at this time in light of the current uncertainty from the COVID-19 pandemic and its effect on when the court will be conducting in person trials. At the postdiscovery status conference, the court will discuss with counsel the possibility of conducting the trial remotely by videoconference technology. The court will also discuss the possibility of referral to the court's voluntary mediation program. Appearances are required on 6/30/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, this court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter and that this court will not be holding in person hearings by the date of this hearing. Counsel and self-represented parties must arrange their telephonic appearances through CourtCall, which is offering a discount on fees for attorneys and waiving all fees for self-represented parties. Information about arranging a telephonic appearance through CourtCall is posted on the court's website.

#30.00 Hearing re: Third interim application for award of compensation and reimbursement of expenses of Danning, Gill, Israel & Krasnoff, LLP, as general counsel to Chapter 7 Trustee

Docket 62

Off calendar. In light of the lack of a timely written objection to the interim fee application of general bankruptcy counsel for trustee, the court determines that oral argument on the interim fee application is not necessary and dispenses with oral argument pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(j)(3). The court deems the lack of filing and service of a timely written objection as consent to the approval of the interim fee application pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(h), rules on the interim fee application on the papers, and approves the interim fee application of attorney for trustee for reasons stated in the interim fee application and for lack of timely written objection.
