Revised tentative ruling as of 7/6/20. Although the court agrees with movant's position that service of the motion is not required on the insurer since the issue of the scope of the debtor's discharge only directly affects the debtor and thus does not "offend fundamental notions of due process" as to the insurer, the court agrees with the debtor that an adversary proceeding is required here because movant seeks declaratory relief regarding the scope of the discharge which is covered by FRBP 7001(9). According to the Bankruptcy Appellate Panel of the Ninth Circuit in In re Munoz, 287 B.R. 546, 551 (9th Cir. BAP 2002), it was error to ignore the requirement of an adversary proceeding to grant declaratory relief regarding the scope of the discharge, though it was harmless error in that case where the record of the proceeding was developed to a sufficient degree that the record would not have been materially different, the error would not have affected the substantial rights of the parties and was not inconsistent with substantial justice. Cf. In re Jahr, BAP No. EW-11-1538-MkHJu, 2012 WL 3205417 (9th Cir. BAP 2012). It is arguable that the same result should be reached here since the court does not see how this case materially differs from Munoz, but the court feels that the proper procedure should be respected, and an adversary proceeding is required by FRBP 7001(9), though the matter would likely be decided on a motion for judgment on the pleadings since it appears that there are only legal issues to be resolved. In re Munoz, 287 B.R. at 554-555; In re Beeney, 142 B.R. 360, 362-363 (9th Cir. BAP 1992); see also, Blixseth v. Credit Suisse, 961 F.3d 1074, 1083-1084 (9th Cir. 2020) (observing "[a] bankruptcy discharge thus protects the debtor from efforts to collect the debtor's discharged debt indirectly and outside of the bankruptcy proceedings; it does not, however, absolve a non-debtor's liabilities for that same 'such' debt.")(construing 11 U.S.C. 524(a) and (e) as to an exculpation clause in a Chapter 11 reorganization plan releasing liabilities arising from the bankruptcy proceedings and not the discharged debt; italics in original).

Chapter 7

In light of this tentative ruling, the court need not rule upon the debtor's evidentiary objections to the declaration of John P. Rosenberg.

Deny the motion without prejudice because an adversary proceeding under FRBP 7001(9) is required. However, no notice in the adversary proceeding needs to be given to the insurer as argued by debtor.

Deny movant's request to grant her motion as a motion for stay relief without prejudice because: (1) the request is procedurally improper to raise a new argument or matter in a reply as indicated by LBR 9013-1(g); and (2) the motion does not give fair notice of the stay relief sought by movant to all the parties in interest, including the trustee, as required by FRBP 4001, LBR 4001-1 and 9013-1.

Appearances are required on 7/7/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

TO PARTIES WHO INTEND TO APPEAR AT THE HEARING ON THIS MATTER:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the court hearing before Judge Robert Kwan of the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Central District of California will be conducted telephonically. However, instead of having to physically appear in court, you must appear by telephone because the court is not conducting in person hearings on that date in light of the public health conditions from the COVID-19 pandemic. The courtroom will be locked; parties must appear by telephone and will not be permitted to appear in the courtroom.

In order to appear for the court hearing by telephone, you will need to arrange to make the telephone call through CourtCall, the contract telephone appearance service, which arranges telephone appearances before this court. CourtCall's telephone number is: (866) 582-6878. Through August 31, 2020, CourtCall is offering discounted rates to attorneys and FREE access for parties who do not have an attorney (pro se or self-represented parties). Tentative Ruling:

Off calendar. In light of the lack of any timely written opposition to the movant's stay relief motion, the court determines that oral argument on the motion is not necessary and dispenses with oral argument pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(j)(3). The court deems the lack of filing and service of a timely written opposition as consent to granting of the motion, rules on the motion on the papers, and grants relief from stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) to pursue non-bankruptcy remedies for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition. Docket 1

Courtroom Deputy:

[Adv. s/c set on 8/18/20 at 1:30 p.m.]

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 7/10/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 7/14/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

TO PARTIES WHO INTEND TO APPEAR AT THE HEARING ON THIS MATTER:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the court hearing before Judge Robert Kwan of the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Central District of California will be conducted telephonically. However, instead of having to physically appear in court, you must appear by telephone because the court is not conducting in person hearings on that date in light of the public health conditions from the COVID-19 pandemic. The courtroom will be locked; parties must appear by telephone and will not be permitted to appear in the courtroom.

In order to appear for the court hearing by telephone, you will need to arrange to make the telephone call through CourtCall, the contract telephone appearance service, which arranges telephone appearances before this court. CourtCall's telephone number is: (866) 582-6878. Through August 31, 2020, CourtCall is offering discounted rates to attorneys and FREE access for parties who do not have an attorney (pro se or self-represented parties). before the hearing, preferably a week before the hearing, and no later than the day before the hearing. After you made your telephone appearance reservation with CourtCall, on the day of the court hearing, you will need to call CourtCall at its telephone number at least 15 minutes before the scheduled hearing, and identify the United States Bankruptcy Court in Los Angeles as the court and Judge Robert Kwan as the judge, and the CourtCall operator will put you into the telephonic court hearing. Given the large demand for telephone court appearances, there may be some delay in connecting to the hearing. If you are having problems connecting to the hearing, please call and advise Judge Kwan's courtroom deputy at (213) 894-3385.

Prior tentative ruling as of 6/12/20. The court having reviewed the declaration of Attorney Bahram Madaen in response to the order to show cause, discharge the order to show cause as to him, but no tentative ruling on the merits as to Attorney Jason Shon. Appearances are required on 6/16/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is currently closed to the public by orders of the United States District Court for the Central District of California and this court and that this court will not be holding in person hearings by the date of this hearing. Counsel and self-represented parties must arrange their telephonic appearances through CourtCall, which is offering a discount on fees for attorneys and waiving all fees for self-represented parties. Information about arranging a telephonic appearance through CourtCall is posted on the court's website.

emergency in the State of California and the United States of America and the current national and local public health guidance to mitigate the spread of the disease through social distancing, on March 19, 2020, the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California issued an Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042, which among other things closes all courthouses of the Central District of California to the public, including the Roybal Federal Building, through May 1, 2020, and accordingly, the court on its own motion must and does vacate the evidentiary hearing for the contested matter of the motion of United States Trustee to dismiss this bankruptcy case with a one-year refiling bar scheduled for April 3, 2020 at 10:00 a.m. in Courtroom 1675, Roybal Federal Building, 255 East Temple Street, Los Angeles, California 90012 because in person appearances are not permitted in the courthouse on that date. No appearances are required on April 3, 2020 at 10:00 a.m. as the evidentiary hearing on that date is vacated. Based on the stipulation of the parties, the court has issued an order approving the stipulation and continued the evidentiary hearing to May 8, 2020 at 10:00 a.m.

Prior tentative ruling. Treat the motion of United States Trustee to dismiss with a one year refiling bar on grounds of debtor's bad faith as a contested matter under FRBP 9014 since assessment of debtor's good or bad faith is dependent on credibility determinations of debtor's testimony in his declaration and the supporting evidence of the United States Trustee, or alternatively, deny the motion to dismiss without prejudice, and allow United States Trustee an extension of 60 days from the date of the hearing to file a complaint to deny discharge under 11 U.S.C. 727 for cause shown under FRBP 4004(b) in that the United States Trustee has diligently pursued his investigation of possible actions against debtor before the deadline of 1/6/20 and timely filed the motion to extend as shown by his office's examination of debtor at the 11 U.S.C. 341(a) meetings of creditors on 6/4/19, 9/24/19 and 10/21/19 as well as extensive forensic examination of debtor's credit card transactions and elected to seek dismissal first rather than filing an adversary proceeding to deny discharge, which would have been moot if the dismissal had been granted, and that a short extension of time of 60 days for the preparation of a complaint to deny discharge would not prejudice debtor or Prior tentative ruling. Having reviewed the moving papers and being thoroughly familiar with the circumstances of this litigation, having conducted the trial, the court agrees with the trustee that he has shown that the proposed settlement is fair and equitable and within his reasonable business judgment. The court would grant the motion on the merits for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition, but for its present lack of jurisdiction over the matters to be settled which are currently on appeal before the Ninth Circuit. See In re Adams Apple, Inc., 829 F.2d 1484, 1489 (9th Cir. 1987). When a bankruptcy court lacks jurisdiction to determine a motion due to a pending appeal, the court may issue an indicative ruling declaring how it would rule upon remand, which would be the basis for a motion to the appellate court for a limited remand for the court to rule on the merits of the motion. FRBP 8008. Thus, the court would grant the motion to the extent that it will issue an indicative ruling that it would grant the motion upon a limited remand by the Ninth Circuit.

 VACATED  REASON: Dismissed per order entered on 7/10/20-mb.

Tentative Ruling:

Off calendar. In light of the lack of any timely written opposition to the plaintiffs' motion to dismiss in light of defendants' joinder in the motion, the court determines that oral argument on the motion is not necessary and dispenses with oral argument pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(j)(3). The court deems the lack of filing and service of a timely written opposition as consent to granting of the motion, rules on the motion on the papers, and grants the motion to dismiss for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition. No appearances are required on 7/14/20. Counsel for plaintiffs to submit a proposed order within 7 days of hearing.

#1.00 Hearing re: Motion for relief from stay
(Thomas Dahlen and Marvin Scheidt VS Debtor)

Docket 482

Tentative Ruling:

Off calendar. In light of the lack of any timely written opposition to the movant's stay relief motion, the court determines that oral argument on the motion is not necessary and dispenses with oral argument pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(j)(3). The court deems the lack of filing and service of a timely written opposition as consent to granting of the motion, rules on the motion on the papers, and grants relief from stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d) (1) to pursue non-bankruptcy remedies for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition. The 14-day waiting period under FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived. No appearances are required on 7/21/20. Movant to submit a proposed order within 7 days of hearing.

fr. 2/18/20, 4/14/20, 4/30/20

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 7/17/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 7/21/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

TO PARTIES WHO INTEND TO APPEAR AT THE HEARING ON THIS MATTER:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the court hearing before Judge Robert Kwan of the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Central District of California will be conducted telephonically. Instead of having to physically appear in court, you must appear by telephone because the court is not conducting in person hearings on that date in light of the public health conditions from the COVID-19 pandemic. The courtroom will be locked; parties must appear by telephone and will not be permitted to appear in the courtroom.

In order to appear for the court hearing by telephone, you will need to arrange to make the telephone call through CourtCall, the contract telephone appearance service, which arranges telephone appearances before this court. CourtCall's telephone number is: (866) 582-6878. Through August 31, 2020, CourtCall is offering discounted rates to attorneys and FREE access for parties who do not have an attorney (pro se or self-represented parties). You need make an advance reservation with CourtCall to appear by telephone before the hearing, preferably a week before the hearing, and no later than the day before the hearing. After you made your telephone appearance

Tentative Ruling:

Revised and updated tentative ruling as of 7/20/20. Off calendar. The court revises its tentative ruling in light of plaintiff's filing of his motion for default judgment on 7/17/20 and of the entry of default against defendant, and thus, since the motion fo default judgment is pending, there is no useful purpose to conduct the status conference, and therefore, the court on its own motion continues the status conference to 9/29/20 at 1:30 p.m. as requested by plaintiff in his status report filed on 7/13/20. No appearances are required on 7/21/20.

#10.00 Cont'd hearing re: Motion for default judgment against defendant Toll Global Forwarding (USA), Inc.
fr. 6/16/20

Docket 10

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 7/17/20. Off calendar. The court has reviewed the joint status report stating that the parties have signed their settlement agreement which is awaiting review by the court. The court on its own motion continues the status conference to 8/18/20 at 1:30 p.m. because settlement is pending. No appearances are required on 7/21/20. Counsel for plaintiff to notify counsel for defendant of the continuance.

Prior tentative ruling. Grant plaintiff's motion for default judgment for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition. Plaintiff to lodge a proposed order within 7 days of hearing.

Appearances are optional on 6/16/20, but if appearing, counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is currently closed to the public by orders of the United States District Court for the Central District of California and this court and that this court will not be holding in person hearings by the date of this hearing. fr. 6/16/20

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 7/17/20. Off calendar. The court has reviewed the joint status report stating that the parties have signed their settlement agreement which is awaiting review by the court. The court on its own motion continues the status conference to 8/18/20 at 1:30 p.m. because settlement is pending. No appearances are required on 7/21/20. Counsel for plaintiff to notify counsel for defendant of the continuance.

Prior tentative ruling. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status report. Since the tentative ruling on the pending motion for default judgment is to grant the motion, there is no further need to conduct a status conference as it would be rendered moot upon the granting of the motion for default judgment.

Appearances are optional on 6/16/20, but if appearing, counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Docket 54

Tentative Ruling:

Off calendar. In light of the lack of any timely written opposition to the plaintiff's motion for order extending deadlines for discovery from 6/30/20 to 10/31/20, the court determines that oral argument on the motion is not necessary and dispenses with oral argument pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(j)(3). The court deems the lack of filing and service of a timely written opposition as consent to granting of the motion, rules on the motion on the papers, and grants the motion for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition. Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 7/17/20. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status report stating that defendant has filed a notice of change of address indicating that he is now living in Georgia and that plaintiff will be filing an amended complaint. Prior tentative ruling. Regarding plaintiff's motion for default judgment, the court has the following concerns that need to be addressed. First, because the underlying debt has not been liquidated, the court will have to determine the underlying state law tort to support the claims of nondischargeability under 11 U.S.C. 523(a)(2)(A) and (4). In re Bailey, 197 F.3d 997, 1000 (9th Cir. 1999). While the complaint alleges fraud, it does not specify the standard for fraud under appropriate state law, and the motion for default judgment does not contain any points and authority to set out the appropriate standard. Because plaintiffs are Washington state residents, and defendant was apparently a California state resident, it is not clear which state law the court should apply to determine tort liability for fraud, i.e., Washington v. California. Plaintiffs will have to set forth the appropriate legal standard under state law for their underlying fraud claims. Lu v. Liu (In re Liu), 282 B.R. 904, 907-908 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2002)(bankruptcy court has discretion to require a plaintiff to prove up entitlement to default judgment). Second, the amount of damages in the amount of $972,262.03 that are requested in the motion through the declaration of plaintiff Garrett Bandy is not substantiated. There is no breakdown of how that amount is calculated, and there is no supporting documentation to show that plaintiffs parted with the funds to defendant or incurred expenses as a result of defendant's misconduct. The court will require plaintiffs to prove the amounts up with admissible evidence to establish a prima facie case for damages. In re Liu, supra. Third, the amount of damages claimed in the motion exceeds the amount alleged in the complaint of $700,000. As a matter of fundamental fairness and due process of law, the amount awarded on default cannot exceed the prayer in the complaint. Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 54(c) ("A default judgment must not differ in kind from, or exceed in amount, what is demanded in the pleadings."); Fehlhaver v. Fehlhaver, 681 F.2d 1015, 1024-1025 (5th Cir. 1982). Strictly speaking, the prayer in the complaint does not demand a specific amount of damages, but paragraph 36 says that plaintiffs have been damaged in an amount exceeding $700,000, but it would be fundamentally unfair to award more than what was specifically requested in the complaint. Plaintiffs can request leave to amend the complaint to seek a higher amount or be prepared to prove damages as alleged in the complaint of $700,000.

Appearances are required on 4/14/20, but counsel must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is closed to the public by order of the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California (Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042). #17.00 Cont'd status conference re: Complaint to determine dischargeability of debt
(11 U.S.C. §§523(a)(2)(A) and 523(a)(4)
fr. 11/12/19, 3/31/20, 4/14/20

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 7/17/20. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status report stating that defendant has filed a notice of change of address indicating that he is now living in Georgia and that plaintiff will be filing an amended complaint. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 7/21/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

TO PARTIES WHO INTEND TO APPEAR AT THE HEARING ON THIS MATTER:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the court hearing before Judge Robert Kwan of the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Central District of California will be conducted telephonically. Instead of having to physically appear in court, you must appear by telephone because the court is not conducting in person hearings on that date in light of the public health conditions from the COVID-19 pandemic. The courtroom will be locked; parties must appear by telephone and will not be permitted to appear in the courtroom.

In order to appear for the court hearing by telephone, you will need to arrange to make the telephone call through CourtCall, the contract telephone appearance service, which arranges telephone appearances before this court. CourtCall's telephone number is: (866) 582-6878. Through August 31, 2020, CourtCall is offering discounted rates to attorneys and FREE access for parties who do not have an attorney (pro se or self-represented parties). #18.00 Hearing re: Chapter 7 trustee's motion for an order: (1) Authorizing bidding procedures for the sale of estate property; (2) Approving the sale of real property under 11 U.S.C. § 363 free and clear of liens, claims, and encumbrances, subject to higher and better offers; and (3) Approving the form and manner of notice

Tentative Ruling:

Having reviewed the moving papers and noting the lack of written opposition, the court is inclined to grant the trustee's motion to approve bidding procedures for the sale of real property and to sell the property free and clear of liens, claims and encumbrances provided that the trustee provides evidence of proper service on the two of the three alleged lienholders listed in the motion based on the trustee's "analysis", Citibank West FSB and Green Tree Servicing, LLC. in order to make findings under 11 U.S.C. 363(f) (The third alleged lienholder, the County of Los Angeles, was served.). The so-called "analysis" is apparently only based on a preliminary title report of a third party title insurance company ordered by the trustee. The proof of service of the notice of motion does not list alleged lienholders Citibank West FSB and Green Tree Servicing, LLC. The FDIC BankFind webpage indicates that Citibank West FSB no longer exists and that the successor institution is Citibank, N.A. None of this is explained in the motion. Citibank is listed on the proof of service, but the San Antonio, TX address served is not the address for this entity on the FDIC BankFind webpage. Trustee has to demonstrate that the San Antonio address served for Citibank is proper. Based on the court's Google search of Green Tree Servicing, LLC, after a search on California Secretary of State Business Search webpage did not list that entity, Green Tree Servicing, LLC, is now known as Ditech Financial LLC. Also, the preliminary title report listed Ditech Financial LLC was assigned the second trust deed on 12/27/18. None of this is also explained in the motion. Ditech is listed on the proof of service, but the Pasadena, CA address served is not the address for this entity on the California Secretary of State Business Search webpage for Ditech Financial LLC. In order for the court to make proper findings of lienholders' consent based on absence of objection under 11 U.S.C. 363(f)(2), there must be evidence of proper service. Moreover, in order for the court to make proper findings that the sales price exceeds the aggregate amount of the liens encumbering the property, there must be proper evidence of value, but the only evidence in support of value of the liens is the trustee's "analysis" based on the hearsay evidence of the face amount of the liens in the third party preliminary title report. The lienholders did not file proofs of claim so that the court might have taken judicial notice of the amounts of the claims as evidence of value of the liens. The face amounts of the liens on the title report may or may not be current and accurate of the amount of the liens. It would help if the trustee or counsel had been in prior contact with the lienholders with respect to any lien payoff so that the court has evidence in the form of a declaration that the lienholders had knowledge of the motion and proposed sale. Obviously, the liens will have to be paid off in order to consummate the sale, but the evidence to show the aggregate amount of the liens is lacking in order to support a finding under 11 U.S.C. 363(f)(3). Otherwise, the court would approve the bidding procedures and payoff of costs of sales, including sales commissions, if the motion is granted. No tentative ruling on the good faith purchaser status of the proposed purchasers under 11 U.S.C. 363(m) because it has not been finally determined that they will be the actual purchasers because there may be an auction where overbids will be considered. In order for the court to grant the motion on 7/21/20, the trustee will have to satisfactorily address the court's concerns.

Appearances are required on 7/21/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

No updated tentative ruling in light of the settlement between debtor and creditor Acon regarding debtor's objection to Acon's secured claim, which will require a modification of the proposed reorganization plan either by a motion to approve compromise under FRBP 9019 or a plan supplement. Appearances are required on 5/27/20 by telephone in accordance with the procedures set forth in the tentative ruling of 5/11/20 below.

Updated and supplemental tentative ruling as of 5/12/20. The following updates and supplements the tentative ruling posted on 5/11/20: In light of debtor's second statement regarding exit financing in connection with its Chapter 11 plan, filed on 5/12/20, the hearing on plan confirmation should be continued for a short period of time in order for debtor to negotiate with the City of Los Angeles regarding the lien subordination cap in an amount that would allow plan confirmation and the exit financing with the replacement lender to go forward. The court will discuss with debtor and the parties the time needed for this purpose.

Updated tentative ruling as of 5/11/20. No tentative ruling on the merits.

Chapter 11

Appearances are required on 5/13/20, but counsel must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is closed to the public by order of the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California (Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042). Counsel and self-represented parties must arrange their telephonic appearances through CourtCall, which is offering a discount on fees for attorneys and waiving all fees for self-represented parties. Information about arranging a telephonic appearance through CourtCall is posted on the court's website.

Prior tentative ruling as of 4/13/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. Plan confirmation appears to be a contested matter under FRBP 9014 since there is a dispute over feasibility of the plan based on creditor Acon's objection and its related motion to dismiss as well as debtor's objection to Acon's amended claim. It seems that the court should set a schedule of pretrial proceedings for litigation of these related contested matters.

Appearances are required on 4/15/20, but counsel must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is closed to the public by order of the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California (Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042). Counsel and self-represented parties must arrange their telephonic appearances through CourtCall, which is offering a discount on fees for attorneys and waiving all fees for self-represented parties. #1.00 Hearing re: Motion for relief from stay
(ALLY Bank VS Debtor)

Docket 16

Tentative Ruling:

Off calendar. In light of the lack of any timely written opposition to the movant's stay relief motion, the court determines that oral argument on the motion is not necessary and dispenses with oral argument pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(j)(3). The court deems the lack of filing and service of a timely written opposition as consent to granting of the motion, rules on the motion on the papers, and grants relief from stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d) (1) to pursue non-bankruptcy remedies for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition. However, deny relief under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(2) because movant has not shown lack of equity under 11 U.S.C. 362(g)(1) as the moving papers indicate some equity in the collateral. The 14-day waiting period under FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived. No appearances are required on 8/4/20. Movant to submit a proposed order within 7 days of hearing.

#3.00 Hearing re: Motion for relief from stay
(21st Mortgage Corporation VS Debtor)

Docket 8

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 7/31/20. Deny motion for relief from stay without prejudice because the grounds asserted under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) were that debtor failed to sign an agreement to reaffirm the debt secured by the collateral and debtor signed the reaffirmation agreement, which movant filed with the court on 7/14/20. Deny request for attorneys' fees for lack of legal support since stay relief proceedings are limited in nature to determine the right to stay relief and not extraneous relief. In re Griffin, 719 F.3d 1126, 1128 (9th Cir. 2013) ("A proceeding to determine eligibility for relief from a stay only determines whether a creditor should be released from the stay in order to argue the merits in a separate proceeding.") (citation omitted); see also, Local Bankruptcy Rule 4001-1(c)(4) ("A motion for relief from the automatic stay must be filed separately from, and not combined in the same document with, any other request for relief, unless otherwise ordered by the court."). #5.00 Hearing re: Motion for relief from stay
(Honda Lease Trust VS Debtor)

Docket 10

Tentative Ruling:

Off calendar. In light of the lack of any timely written opposition to the movant's stay relief motion, the court determines that oral argument on the motion is not necessary and dispenses with oral argument pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(j)(3). The court deems the lack of filing and service of a timely written opposition as consent to granting of the motion, rules on the motion on the papers, and grants relief from stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d) (1) and (2) to pursue non-bankruptcy remedies for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition. The 14-day waiting period under FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived. No appearances are required on 8/4/20. Movant to submit a proposed order within 7 days of hearing.

#7.00 Hearing re: Motion for relief from stay
(Civic Ventures LLC VS Debtor)

Docket 9

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 8/3/20. The court updates its tentative ruling of 7/31/20 in light of debtor's opposition filed on 8/2/20 by newly retained counsel. The court realizes that counsel was newly retained, but is not sure that his proposed strategy first trying to negotiate adequate protection with the lender works because the property belongs to the Chapter 7 estate and debtor will need the cooperation and support of the trustee. Most likely, if there is value for creditors in a reorganization, debtor will need to move to convert to Chapter 11, which was counsel's fallback strategy. Appearances are required on 8/4/20 as indicated in the tentative ruling of 7/31/20.

Prior tentative ruling as of 7/31/20. Service of the moving papers is insufficient because as indicated on the proof of service, movant did not serve a judge's copy on the assigned judge as required by Local Bankruptcy Rule 5005-2(d), which rule the court will enforce. As to the merits, the court is inclined to deny relief under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(2) because movant has not met its burden of showing debtor's lack of equity since the moving papers indicate the existence of some equity, deny the requests for extraordinary relief in paragraphs 8, 10, 11 and 14 for lack of evidentiary and/or legal support, see In re Van Ness, 399 B.R. 897 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 2009) and otherwise, no tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 8/4/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Updated tentative ruling as of 6/12/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. The court will discuss proceeding with the trial remotely by videoconferencing in light of the current pandemic and has issued an order describing proposed remote trial procedures for the trial. Appearances are required on 6/16/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is currently closed to the public by orders of the United States District Court for the Central District of California and this court and that this court will not be holding in person hearings by the date of this hearing. #11.10 Hearing re: Motion for entry of default judgement against defendant Jan Yaftadonay Pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 55 as Incorporated by Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 7055 and Local bankruptcy Rule 7055-1

Tentative Ruling:

In the unilateral status report filed on 7/31/20, plaintiff stated that he would withdraw the motion for default judgment and will be filing and serving an amended complaint. Appearances are required on 8/4/20 to discuss scheduling of a further status conference based on plaintiff's time estimate when he will file and serve his amended complaint, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

TO PARTIES WHO INTEND TO APPEAR AT THE HEARING ON THIS MATTER:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the court hearing before Judge Robert Kwan of the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Central District of California will be conducted telephonically. However, instead of having to physically appear in court, you must appear by telephone because the court is not conducting in person hearings on that date in light of the public health conditions from the COVID-19 pandemic. The courtroom will be locked; parties must appear by telephone and will not be permitted to appear in the courtroom.

In order to appear for the court hearing by telephone, you will need to arrange to make the telephone call through CourtCall, the contract telephone appearance service, which arranges telephone appearances before this court. CourtCall's telephone number is: (866) 582-6878. Through August 31, 2020, CourtCall is offering discounted rates to attorneys and FREE access for parties who do not have an attorney (pro se or self-represented parties). You need make an advance reservation with CourtCall to appear by telephone before the hearing, preferably a week before the hearing, and no later than the day before the hearing. Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Revised and updated tentative ruling as of 8/3/20. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral statement for the status conference filed on 8/3/20. Apparently, the mediation has not yet been conducted. According to plaintiff in his statement, he believes that an in person mediation would be more successful than one by videoconference, but defendant is not willing to have an in person mediation in light of current pandemic conditions, suggesting that the parties be allowed to complete an in person mediation by February 2021, assuming the pandemic subsides. Since the statement was unilateral, the court will hear from both parties as to the status of the pending mediation and the scheduling of further proceedings, including whether plaintiff intends to further amend the complaint as stated in its motion to extend discovery deadlines filed on 6/30/20. Appearances are required on 8/4/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 4/27/20. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status report and defendant's joinder and grants joint request to continue scheduling dates as follows: (1) discovery cutoff date extended from 3/31/20 to 6/30/20; (2) status report filing due date extended from 4/21/20 to 7/28/20; (3) status conference continued from 4/28/20 at 1:30 p.m. to 8/4/20 at 1:30 p.m.; and (4) mediation completion deadline extended from 4/28/20 to 8/4/20. Plaintiff to lodge a proposed updated scheduling order within 7 days.

Appearances are optional on 4/28/20, but counsel and self-represented parties may and should appear by telephone, if appearing. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is closed to the public by order of the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California (Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042). Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 7/31/20. Off calendar. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status report stating that he is preparing to file a motion for default judgment, but the gathering of documents in support thereof is taking longer than anticipated in light of the current situation, though he is hopeful that the motion can be filed within 60 days. Based on these representations, the court on its own motion continues the status conference to 10/27/20 at 1:30 p.m. to allow time for plaintiff to finish his preparation of a motion for default judgment. No appearances are required on 8/4/20.

Prior tentative ruling as of 5/22/20. Appearances are required on 5/26/20 to discuss the status of plaintiff's motion for default judgment and when other further proceedings should be set, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is closed to the public by order of the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California (Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042). Counsel and self-represented parties must arrange their telephonic appearances through CourtCall, which is offering a discount on fees for attorneys and waiving all fees for self-represented parties. Information about arranging a telephonic appearance through CourtCall is posted on the court's website.

the status conference for about 60 days to 5/26/20 at 1:30 p.m. to allow time for plaintiff to prepare and file his motion for default judgment. No appearances are required on 3/31/20.

Prior tentative ruling. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status report. Set a discovery cutoff date of 2/28/20, and a post-discovery status conference on 3/31/20 at 1:30 p.m. with a joint status report due on 3/24/20. These dates will likely be moot if a motion for default judgment is filed and ruled upon in the meantime. Appearances are optional on 11/19/19, but counsel may appear by telephone. Plaintiff to submit a proposed scheduling order within 7 days of hearing.

Appearances are required on 6/3/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. the United States of America and the current national and local public health guidance to mitigate the spread of the disease through social distancing, on March 19, 2020, the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California issued an Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042, which among other things closes all courthouses of the Central District of California to the public, including the Roybal Federal Building, through May 1, 2020, and accordingly, the court cannot conduct an in person trial in the courtroom until at least May 1, 2020. Moreover, the County of Los Angeles and City of Los Angeles have issued public health orders prohibiting public and private gatherings in their jurisdictions until at least April 19, 2020, which are likely to be extended, which orders may apply to the trial. The court schedules the status conference on 4/7/20 to discuss with the parties how a trial in the matter may be conducted and when possibly it can be scheduled. Given the current surge of coronavirus cases in the court and in the state and the need for appropriate social distancing, it would probably be prudent not to schedule so soon. In this court's view, a trial will not be scheduled earlier than 6/1/20. A court committee is being appointed to consider the conduct of video evidentiary hearings, but whether this is technically feasible and legally proper has not yet determined for this court yet.

Appearances are required on 4/15/20, but counsel must appear by telephone. developing public health threat of coronavirus disease (COVID-19) declared a public health emergency in the State of California and the United States of America and the current national and local public health guidance to mitigate the spread of the disease through social distancing, on March 19, 2020, the United States District Court for the Central District of California issued General Order 20-042, which among other things closes all courthouses of the Central District of California to the public, including the Roybal Federal Building, through May 1, 2020, and accordingly, the court on its own motion must and does vacate the evidentiary hearing for the contested matter of Debtor's objection to Claim No. 4 of U.S. Bank National Association as Trustee for Velocity Commercial Capital Loan Trust 2014-1 in this bankruptcy case scheduled for April 22, 2020 at 9:00 a.m. in Courtroom 1675, Roybal Federal Building, 255 East Temple Street, Los Angeles, California 90012 because in person appearances are not permitted in the courthouse on that date. No appearances are required on April 22, 2020 at 9:00 a.m. as the evidentiary hearing on that date is vacated.

The court further on its own motion sets a status conference in this contested matter on April 15, 2020 at 11:00 a.m. in Courtroom 1675, Roybal Federal Building, 255 East Temple Street, Los Angeles, California 90012. The purpose of the status conference is to discuss rescheduling the evidentiary hearing on the claim objection. Because the Roybal Federal Building is closed to the public on April 15, 2020 by the aforementioned order of the United States District Court, the parties to this contested matter and their counsel must appear telephonically at the status conference in accordance with the court's telephone appearance procedures posted online on the court's website.

Prior tentative ruling as of 3/9/20. Off calendar. The court vacated the hearing on 3/11/20 after resetting the matter for trial on 4/22/20 at 9:00 a.m. No appearances are required on 3/11/20.

Creditor may be entitled to its claim for attorneys' fees under 11 U.S.C. 506(b) pursuant to contract based on its loan agreement secured by deed of trust, which were upheld as valid in the state court litigation. The four elements for a claim under 11 U.S.C. 506(b) are: (1) its claim is an allowed secured claim; (2) it is an oversecured creditor; (3) the fees it asserts are reasonable; and (4) the fees it asserts are provided for under an agreement under which such claim arose, or the fees are provided for under a state statute under which the creditor's claim arose. In re Astle, 364 B.R. 735, 741 (Bankr. D. Idaho 2007). The claim is an allowed secured claim based on the state court judgment, though the judgment is on appeal. The creditor is an oversecured creditor, which is not in dispute. The reasonableness of the fees it asserts is in material dispute. Creditor has only submitted redacted versions of its counsel's fee statements, which do not provide sufficient information for the court to review for reasonableness. Creditor must file unredacted versions, or submit unredacted versions in camera with a privilege log if creditor claims that the reacted matter is privileged. Debtor as the objecting party must carry its burden of explaining what in the fee statements are unreasonable or at least what would be reasonable under the circumstances. In re Koncicky, 2007 WL 7540997 (9th Cir. BAP 2007)(unpublished memorandum opinion) (citation omitted). Debtor has the responsibility to challenge the information and provide evidence controverting that produced by creditor. Id. Debtor has not met this burden. The fees that creditor asserts are provided by the loan agreement between it and its borrower providing for reasonable attorneys' fees if it incurs or pays to maintain, protect or enforce its rights under the loan agreement as secured by the deed of trust. Exhibits A and C to Favela Declaration. Case law in California allows such fees to be added to the balance under the promissory note secured by trust deed. Chacker v. JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A., 27 Cal.App.5th 351, 356-358 (2018). However, there is no separate award of attorneys' fees authorized by statute, such as California Civil Code 1717 because debtor is not a signatory to the contract in the loan agreement and creditor has not otherwise shown that it would have been liable for the fees of the opposing party if the opposing party had prevailed. Asphalt Professionals, Inc. v. Davis (In re Davis), 595 B.R. 818, 837 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2019), citing, Dell Merk, Inc. v. Franzia, 132 Cal.App.4th 443, 441 (2005). Thus, creditor will need to submit fully unredacted copies of its fee statements to the court, and debtor will need to explain what in the fee statements are unreasonable and/or produce evidence showing that the fees are unreasonable.

Docket 54

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 7/31/20. The court will discuss with counsel the status of the appraiser jointly selected by the parties and appointed by the court. The court intends to set a further status conference in order for the parties with sufficient time for the parties to review and consider the appraisal report and then to discuss scheduling an evidentiary hearing if the parties are unable to consensually resolve the matter. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 8/4/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

TO PARTIES WHO INTEND TO APPEAR AT THE HEARING ON THIS MATTER:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the court hearing before Judge Robert Kwan of the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Central District of California will be conducted telephonically. However, instead of having to physically appear in court, you must appear by telephone because the court is not conducting in person hearings on that date in light of the public health conditions from the COVID-19 pandemic. The courtroom will be locked; parties must appear by telephone and will not be permitted to appear in the courtroom.

In order to appear for the court hearing by telephone, you will need to arrange to make the telephone call through CourtCall, the contract telephone appearance service, which arranges telephone appearances before this court. CourtCall's telephone number is: (866) 582-6878. Through September 30, 2020, CourtCall is offering discounted rates to attorneys and FREE access for parties who do not have an attorney (pro se or self-represented parties). before the hearing, preferably a week before the hearing, and no later than the day before the hearing. After you made your telephone appearance reservation with CourtCall, on the day of the court hearing, you will need to call CourtCall at its telephone number at least 15 minutes before the scheduled hearing, and identify the United States Bankruptcy Court in Los Angeles as the court and Judge Robert Kwan as the judge, and the CourtCall operator will put you into the telephonic court hearing. Given the large demand for telephone court appearances, there may be some delay in connecting to the hearing. If you are having problems connecting to the hearing, please call and advise Judge Kwan's courtroom deputy at (213) 894-3385.

Prior tentative ruling. Treat the amended motion to avoid lien of Creditor Sequoia Concepts, Inc., as a contested matter under FRBP 9014 because there are disputed issues of material fact regarding valuation of the subject property and the liens attached thereto. The parties have filed evidence of conflicting valuation of the subject property at $740,000 based on the declaration of a real estate broker for Debtor and $945,000 based on a declaration of real estate broker for Creditor. The value of the property at $770,000 based on the trustee's "acceptance" of an offer to sell the property based on the trustee's declaration filed on 1/8/20 is not conclusive because there has been no sale of the property to deem that value as the fair market value of the property for purpose of Debtor's lien avoidance motion as no motion for sale has been filed by the trustee. There are also factual issues regarding the value of the unavoids liens on the property. The first lien of Encore is valued at $366,799.14 based on a notice of trustee's sale dated 8/6/19 attached as Exhibit 4 to the amended motion, which value does not appear to be in dispute. The second lien of Oxford Property, LLC is valued at $110,000 based on the stipulation between the trustee and Oxford fixing the value of the lien, though Debtor asserts the value in the motion to be $200,090, which was disputed by the trustee, leading to the settlement between trustee and Oxford. The court is of the view that the value of Oxford's lien is the $110,000 which was the agreed value between it and the trustee, though Debtor might disagree, which may raise a disputed issue of material fact. The value of the California Franchise Tax Board liens is $29,069.15, which is the value of its secured claim on its proof of claim filed in this case. However, Debtor asserts that the Franchise Tax Board liens should be valued at $12,144.89, $14,440.62 and $19,208.07, totaling $45,793.58, which may present a disputed issue of material fact. The value of the Internal Revenue Service liens is $180,817.59, which is the value of its secured claim on its proof of claim filed in this case. However, Debtor asserts that the IRS liens should be valued at $63,204.00, $116,383.14 and $22,351.77, totaling $201,938.91, which may present a disputed issue of material fact. In the court's view, the values of the taxing authorities' liens stated on the proofs of claim should be the values for purposes of the motion because the proofs of claim are what the claimants assert are their claims on the petition date and are prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claims pursuant to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 3001(f). There is no evidence that rebuts the prima facie correctness of the filed proofs of claim of the FTB and IRS. The court's computation of the unavowed liens of Encore ($366,799.14), Oxford ($110,000), FTB ($29,069.15) and IRS ($180,817.59), which total $686,685.88. Adding Debtor's claim of $175,000 as her homestead exemption yields a total of $861,168.88, which would indicate no available equity for Sequoia's lien to attach if the value of the property is $740,000, but available equity of $83,831.12 if the value of the property is $945,000 which is sufficient for Sequoia's lien valued at $21,840.46 to attach. The amount of available equity for Sequoia's lien would be increased if the court accords credence to Debtor's assertions in her declaration that she is an "innocent spouse" not responsible for her late husband's tax liabilities, so that presumably, she is not liable for his tax liabilities, and thus, the property is not subject to his tax liens, which would apparently mean that the tax lien amounts should not be considered in determining available equity for Sequoia's lien to attach. Debtor's assertions that she is not liable for the taxes may also raise a disputed issue of material fact in valuing the unavowed liens against the property (if the court disregards the tax liens, then under either valuation, there is sufficient equity for Sequoia's lien to attach). The conflicting valuation evidence raises disputed issues of material fact that generally requires an evidentiary hearing because the court has to make credibility determinations as to the valuation opinions. The parties could call their valuation witnesses as witnesses at a hearing, and they may want to take discovery as the broker for Creditor has not inspected the property, and the court can make a determination after hearing their testimony, or the parties could waive their right to an evidentiary hearing, and the court can decide valuation, and the motion, on the papers, or the parties could stipulate to what this court would call the Judge Zurzolo method of valuation that the court appoints an independent appraiser to value the property, and the parties split the cost of the fees for the court appointed expert pursuant to Federal Rule of Evidence 706. The court cannot decide the motion on the papers without an evidentiary hearing unless both parties consent to waive their right to an evidentiary hearing.

Appearances are required on 5/26/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is closed to the public by order of the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California (Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042). Counsel and self-represented parties must arrange their telephonic appearances through CourtCall, which is offering a discount on fees for attorneys and waiving all fees for self-represented parties. Information about arranging a telephonic appearance through CourtCall is posted on the court's website.

Docket 118

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 7/31/20. Since discovery as extended ended on 7/17/20, the court will set the matter for a pretrial conference. The court requests that counsel review and be thoroughly familiar with Local Bankruptcy Rule 7016-1 regarding preparation of a pretrial stipulation to be submitted for the pretrial conference. #28.00 Hearing re: Objection to proofs of claim of the Novak Law Firm, P.C., claim nos. 3-1 and 3-2

Docket 30

Tentative Ruling:

The trustee's objection to creditor's claim, 3-1 and 3-2, appears to be moot by the filing of amended claim, 3-3, by creditor, apparently to address the grounds for the objection. See In re International Horizons, Inc., 751 F.2d 1213, 1216 (11th Cir. 1985) ("In a bankruptcy case, amendment to a claim is freely allowed where the purpose is to cure a defect in the claim as originally filed, to describe the claim with greater particularity or to plead a new theory of recovery on the facts set forth in the original claim.") (citations omitted). To the extent that the trustee objects to creditor's amended claim, treat as a contested matter under FRBP 9014 since there are disputed issues of material fact, particularly, regarding the validity and amount of the claim which may be dependent on the outcome of a future motion of the trustee to approve compromise with an employment dispute involving the debtor (the amount of the reasonable contingency fee, if awarded on contingency, the allocation between prepetition and postpetition services, the impact of the lack of employment authorization for postpetition services, the reasonableness of the fees if lodestar fees are awardable).

#34.00 Cont'd hearing re: Plaintiff's motion for default judgment under LBR 7055-1
fr. 3/24/20, 4/28/20, 6/2/20

Docket 23

Tentative Ruling:

Further revised and updated tentative ruling as of 8/3/20. The court is inclined to grant the motion on the 11 U.S.C. 727(a)(5) claim for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition. As to the claims under 11 U.S.C. 523(a)(2) and 11 U.S.C. 523(a)(6) based on conduct covered by 11 U.S.C. 523(a)(2), it appears that plaintiff could substantiate claims based on statements respecting debtor's financial condition covered under 11 U.S.C. 523(a)(2)(B) and/or other fraud not respecting debtor's financial condition covered by 11 U.S.C. 523(a)(2)(A), i.e., the implicit promise to repay the debt from signing the loan agreement, but circumstances indicating no good faith intent to repay. Plaintiff in last supplemental points and authorities argues only 11 U.S.C. 523(a)(2)(A), though some of the grounds based on statements respecting financial condition may be 11 U.S.C. 523(a)(2)(B), which is pleaded in the complaint, but should be clarified at the hearing.. See Lamar, Archer & Cofrin, LLP v. Appling, 138 S.Ct. 1752 (2018). As to the claim under 11 U.S.C. 523(a)(4), the court suggested that the evidence relying upon deemed admissions to allegations of the amended complaint, paragraphs 32-36, and requests for admissions nos. 5, 9, 10, 20, 21 and 25 as contended in the supplemental points and authorities, ECF 34-3 at 9, filed on 5/1/20, did not substantiate the claim of embezzlement or conversion of alleged collateral. No tentative ruling as to this claim as plaintiff will need to identify the evidence that shows embezzlement or conversion of alleged collateral. As to the claim under 11 U.S.C. 523(a)(3), the motion did not seek default judgment on that claim, and if the court otherwise grants the motion, is plaintiff voluntarily dismissing that claim, or should the court set that claim for further proceedings, such as a further motion for default judgment or trial? The same is true if the court does not grant the motion as to the claim under 11 U.S.C. 523(a)(4). Appearances are required on 8/4/20, but counsel and

Revised and updated tentative ruling as of 5/28/20. The court makes several preliminary observations regarding the moving papers: (1) the motion relies upon defendant's failure to respond to requests for admissions, but the circumstances of service of the requests for admission and defendant's failure to respond are not adequately described in the supporting declaration and there does not appear to be a copy of a proof of service in the moving papers (the discovery requests were identified as Exhibit B, but were placed out of order in the papers before Exhibit A; there was no proof of service of these documents in the moving papers); (2) the motion contends for the claims under 11 U.S.C. 523(a)(2) that defendant made fraudulent misrepresentations on his loan application to plaintiff as shown by his statement of financial affairs, but the moving papers do not include copies of the loan application or the statement of financial affairs; (3) the motion contends for the claims under 11 U.S.C. 523(a)(4) that defendant embezzled or committed larceny of certain loan collateral pledged to plaintiff, but the moving papers do not sufficiently substantiate what specific loan collateral was embezzled or stolen; (4) the motion contends for the claim under 11 U.S.C. 727(a)(5) that defendant failed to explain the loss or deficiency of assets to meet his liabilities, but the moving papers do not sufficiently substantiate the circumstances of his failure to explain based on the supporting declaration that conclusorily states that there were discussions; (5) it appears that the circumstances indicate some type of fraud as shown by a credit bustout that may show a prima facie case for the claims under 11 U.S.C. 523(a)(2) and (6), that is, based on common law fraud under state law, but the moving papers need to show that the elements of fraud to establish an underlying state law tort claim, which is not discussed in

Prior tentative ruling. In light of the rapidly developing public health threat of coronavirus disease (COVID-19) and the current national and local public health guidance to mitigate the spread of the disease through social distancing, the court in an abundance of caution continues the hearing on Plaintiff's Motion for Default Judgment, Docket No. 23, in this adversary proceeding and the status conference scheduled for March 24, 2020 at 2:30 p.m. The court on its own motion continues the hearing on the motion and the status conference to April 28, 2020 at 2:30 p.m. The court may issue a further order regarding scheduling if the public health threat does not subside. No appearances are required on March 24, 2020 at 2:30 p.m. as the hearing on the motion and the status conference are continued to April 28, 2020 at 2:30 p.m. in Courtroom 1675, Roybal Federal Building, 255 East Temple Street, Los Angeles, California 90012.

#41.00 Hearing re: Plaintiff's motion for default judgment under LBR 7055-1

Docket 14

Tentative Ruling:

In this adversary proceeding, plaintiff has moved for default judgment under Local Bankruptcy Rule 7055-1, which motion is also governed by Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 7055, making Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 55(b)(2) applicable to this adversary proceeding. Civil Rule 55(b)(2) requires a plaintiff to apply to the court for a default judgment. In such cases, the entry of default against a defendant does not automatically entitle a plaintiff to judgment. Lu v. Liu (In re Liu), 282 B.R. 904, 907 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2002), citing Valley Oak Credit Union v. Villegas (In re Villegas), 132 B.R. 742, 746 (9th Cir. BAP 1991); see also, Zhong v. Yong Li (In re Yong Li), 2012 WL 5419068 (9th Cir. BAP 2012). The court has broad discretion under Rule 55(b)(2) to "conduct such hearings ... when, to enter or effectuate judgment, it needs to ...determine the amount of damages; establish the truth of any allegation by evidence; or investigate any other matter." Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 55(b)(2); see also, In re Liu, 282 B.R. at 907. Under this rule, the court may require a plaintiff to demonstrate a prima facie case by competent evidence in a prove-up trial to obtain a default judgment. In re Liu, 282 B.R. at 907., citing In re Villegas, 132 B.R. at 746; TeleVideo Systems Inc. v. Heidenthal, 826 F.2d 915, 917 (9th Cir.1987); General Electric Capital Corp. v. Bui (In re Bui), 188 B.R. 274, 276 (Bankr. N.D.Cal.1995). In such a hearing, the plaintiff must demonstrate each of the elements of a cause of action to support a prima facie case. Id., citing In re Bui, 188 B.R. at 276. The court has wide discretion under Civil Rule 55 to consider whether the evidence presented supports a claim and warrants judgment for the plaintiff. Id., citing Wells Fargo Bank v. Beltran (In re Beltran), 182 B.R. 820, 823–824 (9th Cir. BAP 1995); Villegas, 132 B.R. at 746 and *10A Charles Alan Wright, Arthur R. plaintiff prove up a prima facie case when a plaintiff creditor seeks default judgment against a defendant debtor who has failed to answer a § 523 non-dischargeability claim. In re Liu, 282 B.R. at 907-908, citing AT & T Universal Card Services Corp. v. Sziel (In re Sziel), 206 B.R. 490, 493 (Bankr.N.D.Ill.1997); In re Beltran, 182 B.R. at 823; In re Villegas, 132 B.R. at 746. This practice is motivated by the risk that a creditor may obtain a default judgment, regardless of the merits of the complaint, against an honest debtor who is in such a precarious financial condition that the debtor cannot afford to defend a non-dischargeability claim. Id. at 908, citing In re Sziel, 206 B.R. at 492.

In this adversary proceeding, plaintiff seeks a determination that the alleged debts owed by defendant to it are nondischargeable pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523. This statute, 11 U.S.C. § 523, contains provisions for excepting debts owed by a debtor to a creditor from discharge for various reasons. Plaintiff asserts specifically that the debts owed to it by defendant should be excepted from discharge pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2), (a)(4) and (a)(6). "[T]here are two distinct issues to consider in the dischargeability analysis: first, the establishment of the debt itself, . . . and, second, a determination as to the nature of that debt, an issue within the exclusive jurisdiction of the bankruptcy court and thus governed by Bankruptcy Rule 4007." Banks v. Gill Distribution Centers, Inc. (In re Banks), 263 F.3d 862, 868 (9th Cir. 2001) (citing Resolution Trust Corp. v. McKendry (In re McKendry), 40 F.3d 331, 337 (10th Cir. 1994)). See also March, Ahart and Shapiro, Rutter Group California Practice Guide: Bankruptcy, ¶ 22-1641 (online edition December 2019) ("[c]reditors seeking a nondischargeability determination must first establish an enforceable claim under state law (whether or not the claim has been filed in the bankruptcy proceeding)."). This is so because the statutory language of 11 U.S.C. § 523 does not provide for the creation of debts, but rather for determination of such existing debts as nondischargeable under certain conditions. Del Bino v. Bailey (In re Bailey), 197 F.3d 997, 1001 (9th Cir. 1999) (bankruptcy law governs whether a claim is nondischargeable pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523, state law determines whether the creditor has a claim against debtor, such as for the tort of conversion). Plaintiff has not established that defendant owes it a debt under state law as it has not liquidated the debt in its state court lawsuit against defendant and other parties. Plaintiff has not shown in its moving papers that it has alleged a prima facie case on a claim under state law that defendant owes a debt to it, presumably under California state law (i.e., fraud). Moreover, plaintiff has not shown in its moving papers that the elements of its claims under 11 U.S.C. 523(a)(2) and (6) are sufficiently alleged in its complaint and are satisfied here since none of the elements of these nondischargeability claims are discussed in the moving papers.

Looking at the complaint, the only factual allegations relating to defendant involve her alleged attempt to borrow money from plaintiff for her alleged business, Kassa Global, which attempt was unsuccessful. These allegations alone do not support a fraud claim since there are no damages from that alleged fraud. As alleged in the complaint, plaintiff seeks to hold defendant liable for damages from other frauds committed by other parties because she was allegedly a "co-conspirator," but the allegations of specific fact that she acted as a co-conspirator are limited. The evidence in support of such allegations consists of the Wolfson Declaration with copies of several bank documents of transfers and checks from the other loan borrowers to Kassa Global, purportedly defendant's business. However, there is no evidence that connects defendant with Kassa Global in the complaint or moving papers. For example, plaintiff did not attach to the complaint or moving papers the alleged loan application purportedly submitted by plaintiff for Kassa Global. There are only conclusory allegations "on information and belief" that defendant conspired with others to harm plaintiff through a business called Kassa Global without any factual substantiation. Moreover, plaintiff did not identify the specific transfers and checks in the bank documents showing transfers by other borrowers to Kassa Global, making it difficult for the court to ascertain that there were such transfers. As noted above, the complaint does not contain allegations that support a claim that defendant owes plaintiff a debt under state law. The court will require that plaintiff prove up with evidence that defendant is liable to it under state law as a co-conspirator for the liabilities that are owed by other perpetrators.

As indicated in its proposed default judgment, plaintiff moves for an award of $244,500 in monetary damages, which amount is alleged in the complaint, and an award of attorneys' fees of $144,831.50 and costs of conducted telephonically. However, instead of having to physically appear in court, you must appear by telephone because the court is not conducting in person hearings on that date in light of the public health conditions from the COVID-19 pandemic. The courtroom will be locked; parties must appear by telephone and will not be permitted to appear in the courtroom.

In order to appear for the court hearing by telephone, you will need to arrange to make the telephone call through CourtCall, the contract telephone appearance service, which arranges telephone appearances before this court. CourtCall's telephone number is: (866) 582-6878. Through September 30, 2020, CourtCall is offering discounted rates to attorneys and FREE access for parties who do not have an attorney (pro se or self-represented parties). You need make an advance reservation with CourtCall to appear by telephone before the hearing, preferably a week before the hearing, and no later than the day before the hearing. After you made your telephone appearance reservation with CourtCall, on the day of the court hearing, you will need to call CourtCall at its telephone number at least 15 minutes before the scheduled hearing, and identify the United States Bankruptcy Court in Los Angeles as the court and Judge Robert Kwan as the judge, and the CourtCall operator will put you into the telephonic court hearing. Given the large demand for telephone court appearances, there may be some delay in connecting to the hearing. If you are having problems connecting to the hearing, please call and advise Judge Kwan's courtroom deputy at (213) 894-3385.

Prior tentative ruling as of 6/8/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. The court will conduct the status conference in case that the United States Trustee or another party in interest has concerns regarding status. Appearances are required on 6/10/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is currently closed to the public by orders of the United States District Court for the Central District of California and this court and that this court will not be holding in person hearings by the date of this

#13.00 Hearing re: Motion for order approving disclosure statement

Docket 318

Tentative Ruling:

Since debtor acknowledges in his reply to the objections of creditors that he will need to make revisions to the disclosure statement to address the objections to these documents, the court will defer a ruling on the disclosure statement until these revisions are made. Debtor will need to resolve the disputes regarding the amount of the secured claims of the objecting creditors either informally as indicated by debtor with respect to Green Lawn or by claim objections under FRBP 3007 with respect to both creditors if he cannot reach an agreement. Contrary to debtor's statements in the disclosure statement, disputes over the amounts of the secured claims are not going to be resolved in hearings on the disclosure statement or plan, but through consensual resolution, a claim objection under FRBP 3007, a motion to value secured claim under FRBP 3012 or an adversary proceeding to determine validity and extent of lien under FRBP 7001. In re Dynamic Brokers, Inc., 293 B.R. 489 (9th Cir. BAP 2003); see also, FRBP 3012(b) (determination of amount of a secured claim may be made by motion, a claim objection or Chapter 12 or 13 plan, which rule does not include a Chapter 11 plan). As indicated in the reply, debtor will agree to revise the disclosure statement and plan to address some of the concerns raised by the objecting creditors, but not as to others. The court agrees with debtor in part that certain objections raised by the creditors are issues to be determined at plan confirmation, such as cramdown interest rate, feasibility, good faith and absolute priority test satisfaction. Appearances are required on 8/5/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

health threat of coronavirus disease (COVID-19) declared a public health emergency in the State of California and the United States of America and the current national and local public health guidance to mitigate the spread of the disease through social distancing, on March 19, 2020, the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California issued an Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042, which among other things closes all courthouses of the Central District of California to the public, including the Roybal Federal Building, through May 1, 2020, and accordingly, the court on its own motion must and does vacate the evidentiary hearing for the contested matter of the motion of United States Trustee to dismiss this bankruptcy case with a one-year refiling bar scheduled for April 3, 2020 at 10:00 a.m. in Courtroom 1675, Roybal Federal Building, 255 East Temple Street, Los Angeles, California 90012 because in person appearances are not permitted in the courthouse on that date. No appearances are required on April 3, 2020 at 10:00 a.m. as the evidentiary hearing on that date is vacated. Based on the stipulation of the parties, the court has issued an order approving the stipulation and continued the evidentiary hearing to May 8, 2020 at 10:00 a.m.

Prior tentative ruling. Treat the motion of United States Trustee to dismiss with a one year refiling bar on grounds of debtor's bad faith as a contested matter under FRBP 9014 since assessment of debtor's good or bad faith is dependent on credibility determinations of debtor's testimony in his declaration and the supporting evidence of the United States Trustee, or alternatively, deny the motion to dismiss without prejudice, and allow United States Trustee an extension of 60 days from the date of the hearing to file a complaint to deny discharge under 11 U.S.C. 727 for cause shown under FRBP 4004(b) in that the United States Trustee has diligently pursued his investigation of possible actions against debtor before the deadline of 1/6/20 and timely filed the motion to extend as shown by his office's examination of debtor at the 11 U.S.C. 341(a) meetings of creditors on 6/4/19, 9/24/19 and 10/21/19 as well as extensive forensic examination of debtor's credit card transactions and elected to seek dismissal first rather than filing an adversary proceeding to deny discharge, which would have been moot if the dismissal had been granted, and that a short extension of time of 60 days for the preparation of a complaint to deny discharge would not prejudice debtor or

(Rebecca Lim VS Debtor)

Docket 35

Tentative Ruling:

Grant creditor's motion for relief from the automatic stay for cause under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) to proceed with her litigation remedies against the debtor in a nonbankruptcy forum to liquidate her potential claim against the bankruptcy estate. Creditor may proceed to judgment but may not take action to enforce any judgment against property of the estate or against the debtor in violation of the stay or discharge injunction. The automatic stay remains in place as to the potential bad faith claim of debtor against her insurer as an asset of the bankruptcy estate which was never scheduled, which unscheduled asset is property of the estate not subject to the termination of the stay upon technical abandonment when the case was originally closed pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(c)(1). See March, Ahart and Shapiro, Rutter Group California Practice Guide: Bankruptcy, ¶¶ 6:440 - 6:442 (online edition, December 2019 update) (stating, "Estate property that is neither scheduled nor administered in the case, and that is not otherwise abandoned under [11 U.S.C.] § 554, remains property of the estate—even after the case is closed—unless the court orders otherwise."), citing, 11 U.S.C. § 554(d), Stein v. United Artists Corp., 691 F.2d 885, 891 (9th Cir. 1982) (debtor who fails to schedule claim as estate asset may not assert abandonment following case closure because trustee has had no opportunity to pursue the claim), In re Pace, 146 B.R. 562, 564-565 (9th Cir. BAP 1992) (unscheduled malpractice claim not abandoned when case closed) and In re JZ LLC (9th Cir. BAP 2007) 371 B.R. 412, 418 (9th Cir. BAP 2007) (unscheduled/unadministered estate property remains estate property "forever"). If creditor is successful in liquidating her claim against the debtor, the estate may have a potential bad faith claim against the insurer, which the trustee could possibly pursue on behalf of the estate's creditors, but the court does not determine whether such claim exists since creditor has not yet liquidated her claim against debtor, which might give rise to a bad faith claim and which is a matter for the nonbankruptcy forum, not this court, to adjudicate. This court only determines the limited issue of whether there is cause to grant stay relief. See In re Griffin, 719 F.3d 1126, 1128 (9th Cir. 2013). Debtor's argument in opposition to the stay relief motion that the insurer was willing to pay the policy limit is irrelevant to the issue of whether the stay relief should be granted and may be a defense to be asserted by the insurer in a possible future action by the trustee on behalf of the estate on a potential bad faith claim.

#5.00 Hearing re: Chapter 7 Trustee's Motion For Order: (1) Authorizing Sale of Artwork Free and Clear of all Liens, Claims and Interests; (2) Approving Proposed Overbid Procedures; (3) Determining that Buyer is a Good Faith Purchaser; And (4) Waiving the Fourteen (14) Day Stay Prescribed by Rule 6004(h) of The Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure

Tentative Ruling:

Grant trustee's motion for order authorizing sale of artwork free and clear of liens, claims and interests, approving proposed overbid procedures and waiving 14 day stay on enforcement of the order on the motion under FRBP 6004(h) for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition as the sale is within the reasonable business judgment of the trustee and that based on the trustee's investigation, there are no liens, claims and interests that the artwork is subject to, so that the artwork may be sold free and clear of liens, claims and interests pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 363(f) (2) and (3). No tentative ruling as to request for determination of buyer as good faith purchaser under 11 U.S.C. 363(m) since there may be overbidding and an auction to determine the final purchaser. Appearances are required on 8/11/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

TO PARTIES WHO INTEND TO APPEAR AT THE HEARING ON THIS MATTER:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the court hearing before Judge Robert Kwan of the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Central District of California will be conducted telephonically. However, instead of having to physically appear in court, you must appear by telephone because the court is not conducting in person hearings on that date in light of the public health conditions from the COVID-19 pandemic. The courtroom will be locked; parties must appear by telephone and will not be permitted to appear in the courtroom.

In order to appear for the court hearing by telephone, you will need to arrange

Through September 30, 2020, CourtCall is offering discounted rates to attorneys and FREE access for parties who do not have an attorney (pro se or self-represented parties). You need make an advance reservation with CourtCall to appear by telephone before the hearing, preferably a week before the hearing, and no later than the day before the hearing. After you made your telephone appearance reservation with CourtCall, on the day of the court hearing, you will need to call CourtCall at its telephone number at least 15 minutes before the scheduled hearing, and identify the United States Bankruptcy Court in Los Angeles as the court and Judge Robert Kwan as the judge, and the CourtCall operator will put you into the telephonic court hearing. Given the large demand for telephone court appearances, there may be some delay in connecting to the hearing. If you are having problems connecting to the hearing, please call and advise Judge Kwan's courtroom deputy at (213) 894-3385.

Prior tentative ruling as of 6/8/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. The court will conduct the status conference in case that the United States Trustee or another party in interest has concerns regarding status. Appearances are required on 6/10/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is currently closed to the public by orders of the United States District Court for the Central District of California and this court and that this court will not be holding in person hearings by the date of this hearing. Counsel and self-represented parties must arrange their telephonic appearances through CourtCall, which is offering a discount on fees for attorneys and waiving all fees for self-represented parties. Information about arranging a telephonic appearance through CourtCall is posted on the court's website.

Prior tentative ruling as of 3/20/20. In light of the rapidly developing public health threat of coronavirus disease (COVID-19) declared a public health emergency in the State of California and the United States of America and the current national and local public health guidance to mitigate the spread of the disease through social distancing, on March 19, 2020, the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California issued an Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042, which among other things closes all courthouses of the Central District of California to the public, including the Roybal Federal Building, through May 1, 2020, and accordingly, the court on its own motion must and does vacate the evidentiary hearing for the contested matter of the motion of United States Trustee to dismiss this bankruptcy case with a one-year refiling bar scheduled for April 3, 2020 at 10:00 a.m. in Courtroom 1675, Roybal Federal Building, 255 East Temple Street, Los Angeles, California 90012 because in person appearances are not permitted in the courthouse on that date. No appearances are required on April 3, 2020 at 10:00 a.m. as the evidentiary hearing on that date is vacated. Based on the stipulation of the parties, the court has issued an order approving the stipulation and continued the evidentiary hearing to May 8, 2020 at

Prior tentative ruling. Treat the motion of United States Trustee to dismiss with a one year refiling bar on grounds of debtor's bad faith as a contested matter under FRBP 9014 since assessment of debtor's good or bad faith is dependent on credibility determinations of debtor's testimony in his declaration and the supporting evidence of the United States Trustee, or alternatively, deny the motion to dismiss without prejudice, and allow United States Trustee an extension of 60 days from the date of the hearing to file a complaint to deny discharge under 11 U.S.C. 727 for cause shown under FRBP 4004(b) in that the United States Trustee has diligently pursued his investigation of possible actions against debtor before the deadline of 1/6/20 and timely filed the motion to extend as shown by his office's examination of debtor at the 11 U.S.C. 341(a) meetings of creditors on 6/4/19, 9/24/19 and 10/21/19 as well as extensive forensic examination of debtor's credit card transactions and elected to seek dismissal first rather than filing an adversary proceeding to deny discharge, which would have been moot if the dismissal had been granted, and that a short extension of time of 60 days for the preparation of a complaint to deny discharge would not prejudice debtor or unduly delay the administration of this case. In re Jahangiri, No. 18-31609-dwh7, 2018 WL 5255216 (Bankr. D. Or. 2018) (collecting cases). Appearances are required on 3/3/20, but counsel may appear by telephone.

#1.00 Hearing re: Motion for relief from stay
(Exeter Finance, LLC VS Debtor)

Docket 12

Tentative Ruling:

Off calendar. In light of the lack of any timely written opposition to the movant's stay relief motion, the court determines that oral argument on the motion is not necessary and dispenses with oral argument pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(j)(3). The court deems the lack of filing and service of a timely written opposition as consent to granting of the motion, rules on the motion on the papers, and grants relief from stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d) (1) and (2) to pursue non-bankruptcy remedies for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition. The 14-day waiting period under FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived. No appearances are required on 8/18/20. Movant to submit a proposed order within 7 days of hearing.

Chapter 7

#1.01 Hearing re: Motion for relief from stay
(U.S. Bank National Association VS Debtor)

Docket 9

Tentative Ruling:

The court notes that there were glaring proofreading errors in the moving papers: (1) on the case caption of the amended notice of hearing misidentifying the court division as the "Los Angeles Valley Division" as the correct name for this division is "Los Angeles Division," although the court also has a "San Fernando Valley Division", which is entirely different; (2) incorrectly listing one of the parties addressed in the amended notice as the "Chapter 13 Trustee" as this is a Chapter 7 bankruptcy case, and a Chapter 13 Trustee is not appointed in a Chapter 7 bankruptcy case. Counsel is admonished to proofread documents before filing with the court. Sloppy papers reflect poorly on counsel's reputation. See Morten Lund, Jagged Rocks of Wisdom: Professional Advice for the New Attorney (The Fine Print Press, Ltd.: Honolulu, HI 2007). According to this author, Rule Number 1 is Proofread: "There is a reason that this is rule number one. Proofreading is essential to the practice of law at every level, and it is particularly crucial to the junior associate. In academic contexts, a distinction is often made between 'substantive' and 'non-substantive' errors. One speaks of an error being 'only a typo'. Only 'substantive' errors matter. Forget all of that, and forget it right now." According to the author, proofreading is so important that it is also his Rule Number 2: Proofread Again. As he states, "I should make it absolutely clear--proofreading is very important. Take proofreading very seriously." Why, he says: "Some of the reasons for proofreading are not always apparent. Some things just do not seem important enough, and perhaps just are not important enough. But remember everything that you write will be read. Many times. By many people. Many many people. Many many judgmental people. For a long time. For a very long time."

As to the merits of the motion, in light of the lack of any timely written opposition to the movant's stay relief motion, the court is inclined to grant the motion pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (2) to pursue non-bankruptcy remedies for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition and waive the 14-day waiting period under FRBP 4001(a) (3).

However, the court will not grant the request for extraordinary relief in paragraph 7 to authorize law enforcement eviction for lack of legal authority. See In re Van Ness, 399 B.R. 897 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 2009). The scope of relief in a stay relief proceeding is narrow and limited, that is, the court only determines whether the creditor has a colorable claim to enforce a right outside the bankruptcy case to warrant relief from stay. See In re Griffin, 719 F.3d 1126, 1128 (9th Cir. 2013) ("A proceeding to determine eligibility for relief from a stay only determines whether a creditor should be released from the stay in order to argue the merits in a separate proceeding.") (citation omitted). The court lacks broad equitable authority to empower law enforcement to carry out an eviction, which is for the state court in an unlawful detainer proceeding to determine. In re Van Ness, supra.

The multiple bankruptcy case filings affecting the subject property appear to indicate an abuse of the bankruptcy system to warrant extraordinary relief, such as in paragraph 9 of the form motion providing for relief from stay for 180 days in any bankruptcy case commenced or against any debtor. The court inquires of counsel as to why movant did not request such relief in its motion since this appears to be an abusive situation.

#1.20 Cont'd hearing re: Motion for relief from stay
(Civic Ventures LLC VS Debtor)
fr. 8/4/20

Docket 9

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 8/14/20. The court is inclined to grant the motion under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) for cause because: (1) this is a Chapter 7 liquidation bankruptcy case, and the trustee has not indicated an interest in administering this asset since he has not opposed the motion; (2) debtor has not moved to convert the case to Chapter 11 and otherwise show that it has an alternative plan to satisfy the secured claim; (3) there is no evidence in support of debtor's opposition to the motion that it would negotiate an adequate protection order with movant or move to convert the case to Chapter 11 and sell or refinance the property. While movant has not shown the lack of debtor's equity in the subject property to warrant relief under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(2), it has shown cause for stay relief because it does not appear that the property will be administered by the trustee or that debtor will provide for payment of the secured claim in a Chapter 11 reorganization case.

Prior tentative ruling as of 8/3/20. The court updates its tentative ruling of 7/31/20 in light of debtor's opposition filed on 8/2/20 by newly retained counsel. The court realizes that counsel was newly retained, but is not sure that his proposed strategy first trying to negotiate adequate protection with the lender works because the property belongs to the Chapter 7 estate and debtor will need the cooperation and support of the trustee. Most likely, if there is value for creditors in a reorganization, debtor will need to move to convert to Chapter 11, which was counsel's fallback strategy. Appearances are required on 8/4/20 as indicated in the tentative ruling of 7/31/20.

Prior tentative ruling as of 7/31/20. Service of the moving papers is insufficient because as indicated on the proof of service, movant did not serve a judge's copy on the assigned judge as required by Local Bankruptcy Rule 5005-2(d), which rule the court will enforce. As to the merits, the court is inclined to deny relief under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(2) because movant has not met its burden of showing debtor's lack of equity since the moving papers indicate the existence of some equity, deny the requests for extraordinary relief in paragraphs 8, 10, 11 and 14 for lack of evidentiary and/or legal support, see the day before the hearing. After you made your telephone appearance reservation with CourtCall, on the day of the court hearing, you will need to call CourtCall at its telephone number at least 5 minutes before the scheduled hearing, and identify the United States Bankruptcy Court in Los Angeles as the court and Judge Robert Kwan as the judge, and the CourtCall operator will put you into the telephonic court hearing. Given the large demand for telephone court appearances, there may be some delay in connecting to the hearing. If you are having problems connecting to the hearing, please call and advise Judge Kwan's courtroom deputy at (213) 894-3385.

Prior tentative ruling as of 7/31/20. Regarding the pending motion for default judgment, the court could not grant the motion because it was unable to find the alleged preferential transfers of $23,334 on 11/30/17 and $4,023 on 12/12/17 to defendant on Exhibit 3 to the motion, which was the trustee's ledger, the evidence offered in support of the preferential transfer claim and the amount of damages. In the unilateral status report filed on 7/31/20, plaintiff stated that he is withdrawing the motion for default judgment and will be filing an amended complaint. Otherwise, no tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 8/4/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

TO PARTIES WHO INTEND TO APPEAR AT THE HEARING ON THIS MATTER:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the court hearing before Judge Robert Kwan of the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Central District of California will be conducted telephonically. However, instead of having to physically appear in court, you must appear by telephone because the court is not conducting in person hearings on that date in light of the public health conditions from the COVID-19 pandemic. The courtroom will be locked; parties must appear by telephone and will not be permitted to appear in the courtroom.

Updated tentative ruling as of 6/26/20. Off calendar. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status report, stating that he is filing a motion for default judgment, which he did on 6/16/20 pursuant to the court's notice of opportunity to object and request hearing procedure under LBR 9013-1(o), and requesting a 30 day continuance of the status conference so that the default judgment motion may be resolved. The court on its own motion continues the status conference to 8/4/20 at 1:30 p.m. No appearances are required on 6/30/20.

Docket 15

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 8/14/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. The court has reviewed the trustee's declaration, but it is not apparent to the court that he has personal knowledge of the insider relationship of defendant to debtor as required by Federal Rule of Evidence 602. Perhaps the declaration can be amended to lay out the basis of the trustee's personal knowledge of defendant's insider status because the statement in the declaration is too conclusory, lacking in foundation. Appearances are required on 8/18/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 8/14/20. Since settlement of this and related actions was reached at the mediation before Judge Bluebond on 1/30/20, the status conference has been continued twice in order to implement the settlement. Even though economic activity has been lessened due to the pandemic, counsel should explain why the necessary claim releases for this and the related actions cannot be obtained since the pandemic conditions in Vietnam and China have lessened somewhat so that both countries have reopened to a greater extent than here. Appearances are required on 8/18/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 5/15/20. Off calendar. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status conference requesting a 60-day continuance of the status conference in light of the conditional settlement between plaintiff and principals of debtor and related parties and allowing some time for the parties to remove the conditions for the global settlement which has been delayed to the pandemic. The court on its own motion continues the status conference to 8/18/20 at 1:30 p.m. No appearances are required on 5/19/20.

Adv#: 2:19-01476 Avery v. Chau

#6.00 Cont'd status conference re: Complaint for avoidance, recovery, and preservation of preferential, fraudulent, unauthorized postpetition transfers; and disallowance of claim fr. 1/7/20, 3/24/20, 5/19/20

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 8/14/20. Since settlement of this and related actions was reached at the mediation before Judge Bluebond on 1/30/20, the status conference has been continued twice in order to implement the settlement. Even though economic activity has been lessened due to the pandemic, counsel should explain why the necessary claim releases for this and the related actions cannot be obtained since the pandemic conditions in Vietnam and China have lessened somewhat so that both countries have reopened to a greater extent than here. Appearances are required on 8/18/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

TO PARTIES WHO INTEND TO APPEAR AT THE HEARING ON THIS MATTER:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the court hearing before Judge Robert Kwan of the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Central District of California will be conducted telephonically. However, instead of having to physically appear in court, you must appear by telephone because the court is not conducting in person hearings on that date in light of the public health conditions from the COVID-19 pandemic. The courtroom will be locked; parties must appear by telephone and will not be permitted to appear in the courtroom.

In order to appear for the court hearing by telephone, you will need to arrange to make the telephone call through CourtCall, the contract telephone appearance service, which arranges telephone appearances before this court. CourtCall's telephone number is: (866) 582-6878. Through September 30, 2020, CourtCall is offering discounted rates to attorneys and FREE access for parties who do not have an attorney (pro se or self-represented parties). You

After you made your telephone appearance reservation with CourtCall, on the day of the court hearing, you will need to call CourtCall at its telephone number at least 5 minutes before the scheduled hearing, and identify the United States Bankruptcy Court in Los Angeles as the court and Judge Robert Kwan as the judge, and the CourtCall operator will put you into the telephonic court hearing. Given the large demand for telephone court appearances, there may be some delay in connecting to the hearing. If you are having problems connecting to the hearing, please call and advise Judge Kwan's courtroom deputy at (213) 894-3385.

Prior tentative ruling as of 5/15/20. Off calendar. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status conference requesting a 60-day continuance of the status conference in light of the conditional settlement between plaintiff and principals of debtor and related parties and allowing some time for the parties to remove the conditions for the global settlement which has been delayed to the pandemic. The court on its own motion continues the status conference to 8/18/20 at 1:30 p.m. No appearances are required on 5/19/20.

Prior tentative ruling as of 3/18/20. Off calendar. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status conference requesting a 60-day continuance of the status conference in light of the conditional settlement between plaintiff and principals of debtor and related parties and allowing some time for the parties to remove the conditions for the settlement and to allow additional time for plaintiff to make further efforts to serve defendant, which may require compliance with the Hague Convention. The court on its own motion continues the status conference to 5/19/20 at 1:30 p.m. No appearances are required on 3/24/20.

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 8/14/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. Since the status conference was continued due to the failure of one counsel to appear and the court decided not to sanction the attorney for his nonappearance, the court expects that counsel has met and confer regarding rescheduling further proceedings in this matter to be discussed at the status conference on 8/18/20. Prior tentative ruling as of 6/12/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 6/16/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is currently closed to the public by orders of the United States District Court for the Central District of California and this court and that this court will not be holding in person hearings by the date of this hearing. Counsel and self-represented parties must arrange their telephonic appearances through CourtCall, which is offering a discount on fees for attorneys and waiving all fees for self-represented parties. Information about arranging a telephonic appearance through CourtCall is posted on the court's website.

Prior tentative ruling as of 3/20/20. Off calendar. In light of the rapidly developing public health threat of coronavirus disease (COVID-19) declared a public health emergency in the State of California and the United States of America and the current national and local public health guidance to mitigate the spread of the disease through social distancing, on March 19, 2020, the United States District Court for the Central District of California issued General Order 20-042, which among other things closes all courthouses of the Central District of California to the public, including the Roybal Federal Building, through May 1, 2020, and accordingly, the court on its own motion continues the status conference in this adversary proceeding scheduled for March 31, 2020 at 1:30 p.m. to May 5, 2020 at 1:30 p.m. The court may issue a further order regarding scheduling if the public health threat does not subside. No appearances are required on March 31, 2020 at 1:30 p.m. as the status conference is continued to May 5, 2020 at 1:30 p.m. in Courtroom 1675, Roybal Federal Building, 255 East Temple Street, Los Angeles, California 90012. Counsel for plaintiff is ordered to give notice to the other parties.

2/27/19 and based on that stipulation, set a new discovery cutoff date of 5/29/19 and a post-discovery status conference on 6/25/19 at 1:30 p.m. (status conferences are held on Tuesdays at 1:30 p.m.) with a joint status report due on 6/18/19. Order the matter to mediation, and the parties to file a selection of mediator and alternate mediator by 4/15/19 and complete mediation by 6/25/19. No appearances are required on 9/18/18. Plaintiffs to submit a proposed scheduling order within 7 days.

Prior tentative ruling as of 9/17/18. Set a discovery cutoff date of 2/28/19 and a post-discovery status conference on 3/26/19 at 1:30 p.m. with a joint status report due on 3/19/19. Order the matter to mediation, and the parties to file a selection of mediator and alternate mediator by 10/31/18 and complete mediation by 3/26/19. Appearances are required on 9/18/18, but counsel may appear by telephone. Plaintiffs to submit a proposed scheduling order within 7 days of the status conference.

Prior tentative ruling as of 7/30/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 7/31/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. The court has reviewed the unilateral status reports filed by the parties. The court continues the status conference to 7/31/18 at 2:30 p.m. to be conducted with the hearing on defendants' amended motion to dismiss. No appearances are required on 7/10/18.

Although the parties failed to file a timely joint status report as required by Local Bankruptcy Rule 7016-1 and the court's status conference order, the court will not require at this time for the parties to file an updated and amended joint status report in light of the pendency of defendants' motion to dismiss.

However, the court notes that plaintiff has a jury trial demand on the face of the complaint, which the court will strike because there is no right to a jury trial on debt dischargeability and discharge denial claims in the adversary proceeding. The court also notes that the parties' consent to this court's jurisdiction to enter a final judgment on these core claims is not needed.

- #11.00 Cont'd status conference re: Complaint for: (1) Avoidance of Preferential Transfers Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 547; (2) Recovery of Property Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 550; (3) Preservation of Avoided Transfers Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 551; (4) Disallowance of Claims Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 502(d); and (5) Turnover of Property of the Estate Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 542
fr. 3/31/20, 5/5/20, 6/30/20

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 8/14/20. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status report. The parties are to report on the status of the mediation previously ordered to be completed by 8/31/20 and the scheduling of the pretrial conference if the matter is not settled. Appearances are required on 8/18/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

TO PARTIES WHO INTEND TO APPEAR AT THE HEARING ON THIS MATTER:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the court hearing before Judge Robert Kwan of the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Central District of California will be conducted telephonically. However, instead of having to physically appear in court, you must appear by telephone because the court is not conducting in person hearings on that date in light of the public health conditions from the COVID-19 pandemic. The courtroom will be locked; parties must appear by telephone and will not be permitted to appear in the courtroom.

In order to appear for the court hearing by telephone, you will need to arrange to make the telephone call through CourtCall, the contract telephone appearance service, which arranges telephone appearances before this court. CourtCall's telephone number is: (866) 582-6878. Through September 30, 2020, CourtCall is offering discounted rates to attorneys and FREE access for parties who do not have an attorney (pro se or self-represented parties). You need make an advance reservation with CourtCall to appear by telephone before the hearing, preferably a week before the hearing, and no later than the day before the hearing. After you made your telephone appearance reservation with CourtCall, on the day of the court hearing, you will need to call CourtCall at its telephone number at least 5 minutes before the scheduled hearing, and identify the United States Bankruptcy Court in Los Angeles as the court and Judge Robert Kwan as the judge, and the CourtCall operator will put you into the telephonic court hearing. Given the large demand for telephone court appearances, there may be some delay in connecting to the hearing. If you are having problems connecting to the hearing, please call and advise Judge Kwan's courtroom deputy at (213) 894-3385.

Prior tentative ruling as of 6/26/20. The court has reviewed the joint status report. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 6/30/20 to discuss the status of the adversary proceeding, including the status of the pending mediation and when a pretrial conference and other further proceedings should be set, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, this court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter and that this court will not be holding in person hearings by the date of this hearing. Counsel and self-represented parties must arrange their telephonic appearances through CourtCall, which is offering a discount on fees for attorneys and waiving all fees for self-represented parties. Information about arranging a telephonic appearance through CourtCall is posted on the court's website.

Tentative Ruling:

Off calendar. The court has reviewed the joint status report filed on 8/12/20. In light of the pending stay of proceedings until 9/30/20 and that argument in the state court appeal has not been set, though the appeal has been fully briefed, the court determines that the parties and the court would be better served by conducting the status conference after the termination of the stay of proceedings on 9/30/20. Therefore, the court on its own motion continues the status conference to 10/6/20 at 1:30 p.m., at which time the parties can orally report on the status of the state court appeal and the other matters discussed in the joint status report filed on 8/12/20. The court waives the requirement of a written status report for the continued status conference on 10/6/20. No appearances are required on 8/18/20.

#19.00 Hearing re: Trustee's motion for order authorizing sale of note and deed of trust free and clear of liens and interests, subject to higher and better offers, and approving overbidding procedures

Docket 507

Tentative Ruling:

Trustee needs to clarify the proposed purchase price as the motion states that it is $60,000, but Exhibit A to the motion, which is the written agreement, states that the purchase price is $100,000. The court is inclined to grant trustee's motion for order authorizing sale of note and trust deed free and clear of liens, claims and interests, approving proposed overbid procedures and waiving 14 day stay on enforcement of the order on the motion under FRBP 6004(h) for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition as the sale is within the reasonable business judgment of the trustee and that based on the trustee's investigation, there are no liens, claims and interests that the note and trust deed may be sold free and clear of liens, claims and interests pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 363(f)(2) and (3). No tentative ruling as to request for determination of buyer as good faith purchaser under 11 U.S.C. 363(m) since there may be overbidding and an auction to determine the final purchaser. Appearances are required on 8/18/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Through September 30, 2020, CourtCall is offering discounted rates to attorneys and FREE access for parties who do not have an attorney (pro se or self-represented parties). You need make an advance reservation with CourtCall to appear by telephone before the hearing, preferably a week before the hearing, and no later than the day before the hearing. After you made your telephone appearance reservation with CourtCall, on the day of the court hearing, you will need to call CourtCall at its telephone number at least 5 minutes before the scheduled hearing, and identify the United States Bankruptcy Court in Los Angeles as the court and Judge Robert Kwan as the judge, and the CourtCall operator will put you into the telephonic court hearing. Given the large demand for telephone court appearances, there may be some delay in connecting to the hearing. If you are having problems connecting to the hearing, please call and advise Judge Kwan's courtroom deputy at (213) 894-3385.

Prior tentative ruling as of 6/8/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. The court will conduct the status conference in case that the United States Trustee or another party in interest has concerns regarding status. Appearances are required on 6/10/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is currently closed to the public by orders of the United States District Court for the Central District of California and this court and that this court will not be holding in person hearings by the date of this hearing. Counsel and self-represented parties must arrange their telephonic appearances through CourtCall, which is offering a discount on fees for attorneys and waiving all fees for self-represented parties. Information about arranging a telephonic appearance through CourtCall is posted on the court's website.

Tentative Ruling:

Off calendar. In light of the lack of any timely written opposition to the final fee application of tax preparer/accountant for debtor in possession, the court determines that oral argument on the final fee application is not necessary and dispenses with oral argument pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(j)(3). The court deems the lack of filing and service of a timely written opposition as consent to approval of the final fee application, rules on the final fee application on the papers, and approves the final fee application for the reasons stated in the final fee application and for lack of timely written opposition. No appearances are required on 8/19/20. Debtor or applicant must lodge a proposed order within 7 days of hearing.

Docket 111

Tentative Ruling:

Off calendar. In light of the lack of any timely written opposition to the motion of debtor in possession for entry of final decree and order closing the case, the court determines that oral argument on the motion is not necessary and dispenses with oral argument pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(j)(3). The court deems the lack of filing and service of a timely written opposition as consent to approval of the motion, rules on the motion on the papers, and approves the motion for the reasons stated in the motion and for lack of timely written opposition. #8.00 Status conference re: Post confirmation of plan
fr. 12/4/19, 3/4/20, 4/8/20

Docket 94

Tentative Ruling:

Off calendar. Because the court's tentative ruling on the motion of debtor in possession for entry of final decree and an order closing the case on calendar on 8/19/20 is to grant that motion for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition, there is no need for a postconfirmation status conference, which would become moot upon granting of the motion. Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Revised and updated tentative ruling as of 7/20/20. The court will call this matter first on the calendar because counsel for the IRS, Gavin Greene, has requested priority because he has another hearing at the same time, so the parties should be ready for the hearing when the calendar begins at 11:00 a.m.

The court has reviewed debtor's status report filed on 7/15/20. The court notes that the IRS lodged an order for conversion of the Forbco Sizzler case to Chapter 7 on 7/7/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 7/22/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 5/4/20. The court has reviewed debtors' status report. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 5/6/20 to discuss the status of debtors' efforts to sell their assets and their tax and plan compliance, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is closed to the public by order of the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California (Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042). Counsel and self-represented parties must arrange their telephonic appearances through CourtCall, which is offering a discount on fees for attorneys and waiving all fees for self-represented parties. Through August 31, 2020, CourtCall is offering discounted rates to attorneys and FREE access for parties who do not have an attorney (pro se or self-represented parties). You need make an advance reservation with CourtCall to appear by telephone before the hearing, preferably a week before the hearing, and no later than the day before the hearing. After you made your telephone appearance reservation with CourtCall, on the day of the court hearing, you will need to call CourtCall at its telephone number at least 15 minutes before the scheduled hearing, and identify the United States Bankruptcy Court in Los Angeles as the court and Judge Robert Kwan as the judge, and the CourtCall operator will put you into the telephonic court hearing. Given the large demand for telephone court appearances, there may be some delay in connecting to the hearing. If you are having problems connecting to the hearing, please call and advise Judge Kwan's courtroom deputy at (213) 894-3385.

#1.00 Cont'd hearing re: Motion for relief from stay
(First Financial Credit Union VS Debtor)
fr. 8/4/20

Docket 9

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 8/28/20. Off calendar. In light of the lack of any timely written opposition to the movant's stay relief motion, the court determines that oral argument on the motion is not necessary and dispenses with oral argument pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(j)(3). The court deems the lack of filing and service of a timely written opposition as consent to granting of the motion, rules on the motion on the papers, and grants relief from stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) and (2) to pursue non-bankruptcy remedies for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition. The 14-day waiting period under FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived. No appearances are required on 9/1/20. Movant to submit a proposed order within 7 days of hearing.

Prior tentative ruling as of 7/31/20. Service of the motion is insufficient because the proof of service does not show service on the debtor as required by Local Bankruptcy Rule 4001-1(c)(1)(C), which requires service of a stay relief motion on both debtor and debtor's counsel. Movant will need to serve on debtor an amended notice of motion at least 21 days before a renoticed hearing. Appearances are required on 8/4/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

TO PARTIES WHO INTEND TO APPEAR AT THE HEARING ON THIS MATTER:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the court hearing before Judge Robert Kwan of the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Central District of California will be conducted telephonically. However, instead of having to physically appear in court, you must appear by telephone because the court is not conducting in person hearings on that date in light of the public health conditions from the

#16.00 Hearing re: Motion for order (1) Approving Asset Purchase Agreement and Authorizing Sale of Debtor's Assets Free and Clear of Liens, Claim and Interests Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 363(b) and (f); (2) Assuming and Assigning Certain Executory Contracts and an Unexpired Lease; (3) Approving Buyer, Successful Bidder, and any Back-Up Bidder, as Good-Faith Purchasers Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 363(m); and (4) Authorizing Payment of Undisputed Liens and Other Ordinary Costs of Sale

Docket 52

Tentative Ruling:

Revised and updated tentative ruling as of 9/1/20 at 11:45 a.m. Deny reorganized debtor's motion to sell assets as to relief under 11 U.S.C. 363 for sale free and clear of liens, claims and interests for lack of jurisdiction; however, no tentative ruling as to whether the court should approve the sale otherwise under the Bankruptcy Code and Rules pursuant to the confirmed plan. 11 U.S.C. § 363 authorizes a trustee or debtor in possession to sell property of the estate free and clear. Section 363 only applies during the pendency of a chapter 11 case and before confirmation of a plan. In re Golf, LLC, 322 B.R. 874, 877 (Bankr. D. Neb. 2004) ("It appears to the undersigned that this court has no continuing jurisdiction with regard to the type of sale that is before the court, because Section 363(f) is not operational once the plan is confirmed."); In re Sterling WH Co., LLC, 475 B.R. 481, 487 (Bankr. E.D. Va. 2012) ("The provisions of §363 are available only to a trustee or debtor-in-possession, not a reorganized debtor."); In re Altmeyer, 2014 WL 4959146, at *2 (Bankr. S.D. Ill. Oct. 2, 2014) (citing In re Golf, LLC); see, e.g., In re Celebrity Home Entertainment, Inc., 210 F.3d 995, 998 (9th Cir. 2000) ("A bankruptcy estate usually ceases to exist after a reorganization plan is confirmed.") (citing 11 U.S.C. § 1141(b) and Hillis Motors, Inc. v. Hawaii Auto. Dealers' Ass'n, 997 F.2d 581, 587 (9th Cir.1993) (stating that confirmation terminates the existence of the bankruptcy estate unless the plan provides for the estate to continue)); see also, In re Consolidated Pioneer Mortgage Entities, 248 B.R. 368, 381-383 (9th Cir. BAP 2000). This case is a slight variation on the theme of cessation of the existence of the Chapter 11 estate upon plan confirmation. As the Ninth Circuit recognized in Hillis Motors, "[a] lthough it is normally the case that once a plan is confirmed the estate ceases to exist, it is not always so." 997 F.2d at 587 (citation and footnote omitted). "The reversion of property from the estate to the debtor upon confirmation contained in 11 U.S.C. § 1141(b) is explicitly subject to the provisions of the plan." Id. (citation omitted). In the Hillis Motors and Consolidated Pioneer Mortgage Entities cases, the Ninth Circuit and the Ninth Circuit BAP held that under the specific facts and the plans in those cases, the bankruptcy estate continued postconfirmation, so that the automatic stay remained in effect as to the property of the estate, and a postconfirmation estate existed for a Chapter 7 trustee to administer upon conversion from Chapter 11 to 7. Thus, it appears to the court whether Section 363 relief is available postconfirmation depends on the continuing existence of the bankruptcy estate, which is a plan specific and fact specific determination. Here, the facts of this case under the specific provisions of the confirmed plan are distinguishable from Hillis Motors and Consolidated Pioneer Mortgage Entities because (1) the plan provisions specifically provided for the revesting of assets in the reorganized debtor as well as the discharge under 11 U.S.C. 1141 upon the effective date, which occurred in this case, which in turn terminated the estate; (2) the plan provisions specifically provided for the discharge of debtor's preconfirmation debts under 11 U.S.C. 1141 upon the effective date, which occurred in this case, which in turn rendered the revested assets free and clear of liens, claims and interests of preexisting creditors; (3) under the plan, there is no general postconfirmation bankruptcy court supervision of the business affairs of the reorganized debtor; (4) under the plan, there is no bankruptcy court supervision of ordinary course or unobjected to out of ordinary course post-effective date dispositions of assets of the reorganized debtor; (5) there is only bankruptcy court supervision of out of ordinary course of business post-effective date dispositions of assets of the reorganized debtor objected to by post-effective date notice parties based on determinations in accordance with the Bankruptcy Code and Bankruptcy Rules; and (6) the plan did not specifically provide for postconfirmation Section 363 sales free and clear. However, it could be argued that Hillis Motors and Consolidated Pioneer Mortgage Entities are not distinguishable that there is a continuing bankruptcy estate in this case because the plan provides for bankruptcy court approval of objected to out of ordinary course asset dispositions and for the retention of bankruptcy court jurisdiction "in order to ensure the purposes and intent of this Plan are carried out", but it seems to this court on balance, that these attributes are outweighed by the other ones indicating the termination of the bankruptcy estate and jurisdiction to grant Section 363 relief.

Thus, the court lacks authority to allow a Section 363 sale, free and clear, because the confirmed plan revested the property of the bankruptcy estate in the reorganized debtor on 4/29/16, the effective date of the plan, pursuant to the second amended plan, section 11.6 (Case No. 2:12-bk-15625, Docket No. 559), and the plan confirmation order, paragraph 29 (Case No. 2:12-bk-15625, Docket No. 636) and the notice of plan effective date filed on 4/29/16 (Case No. 2:12-bk-15625-RK, Docket No. 1048). Based on the above authorities, the court would determine that it lacks jurisdiction to authorize relief under 11 U.S.C. 363. However, the plan provisions in sections 6.16 and 6.6.4 do provide for the court issuing an order allowing the sale of assets outside the ordinary course of business if there is an objection by "a post effective date notice party", as is the case here, that is, Sizzler Franchise USA, so the court has authority to issue an order for sale, but cannot grant Section 363 relief. The confirmed plan provides that the court should determine an objected to motion for approval of an out of ordinary course sale of assets of the reorganized debtor pursuant to the Bankruptcy Code and Bankruptcy Rules as provided in section 6.16 of the plan governing approval of disposition of assets. Any sale of assets may put debtor in breach of its contractual agreement with Sizzler Franchise USA as that creditor contends, which contention is disputed by debtor. The contractual dispute is probably a state law issue for the state court in a future contract action, but there does not seem to be anything in the lease agreement that prohibits assignment of the lease by debtor. The policy question for the court is how the court determines the objected to sale motion pursuant to the Bankruptcy Code and Bankruptcy Rules in light of the retention of jurisdiction of the court in paragraph 31 of the plan confirmation order "in order to ensure the purposes and intent of this Plan are carried out" (i.e., is an alleged breach of contract under state law dispositive of the court's determination of the objected to sale motion to be determined pursuant to the Bankruptcy Code and Bankruptcy Rules?).

Chapter 11

Regarding Sizzler Franchise USA's argument about lack of 21 days notice of hearing, it appears that it was not prejudiced by the service of the amended motion in that the original motion put it on notice of the substance of the relief sought by the motion and the amended motion was to include certain tables of contents and authorities. While Sizzler Franchise USA may have a valid technical objection, it was accorded due process in that it received service of the original motion minus tables 21 days before the hearing.

Docket 30

Tentative Ruling:

Revised and updated tentative ruling as of 8/31/20. Treat the motion of United States Trustee to dismiss this case on grounds of abuse pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 707(b)(1), (2) and/or (3)(B) as a contested matter under FRBP 9014 since assessment of the circumstances indicating abuse by debtors is dependent on credibility determinations of the testimony in the declarations of debtors' witnesses and supporting evidence offered by debtors and the supporting declaration and evidence of the United States Trustee, or alternatively, deny the motion to dismiss without prejudice, and allow United States Trustee an extension of 125 days to 1/5/21 to file a complaint to deny discharge under 11 U.S.C. 727 for cause shown under FRBP 4004(b) in that the United States trustee has diligently pursued his investigation of possible actions against debtor before the deadline of 9/1/20 and timely filed the motion to extend and elected to seek dismissal first rather than filing an adversary proceeding to deny discharge, which would have been moot if the dismissal had been granted, and that a short extension of time of 125 days for the United States Trustee to 1/5/21 to complete his investigation and prepare an adversary complaint to deny discharge would not prejudice debtor or unduly delay the administration of this case. In re Jahangiri, No. 18-31609-dwh7, 2018 WL 5255216 (Bankr. D. Or. 2018) (collecting cases). Parties should advise whether there are material issues of disputed fact to adjudicate this motion, which require an evidentiary hearing, and if so, whether the parties waive evidentiary hearing or whether the court should set one.

It appears to the court that there are disputed issues of material facts as follows: Regarding the specific adjustments in income and expenses disputed by the parties to determine whether the presumption of abuse exists under 11 U.S.C. 707(b)(2), the court agrees with the United States Trustee that the bonus income received by debtor wife during the 6 month lookback period must be included in the means test computation. Moreover, despite the declaration of Mark Lee, bonuses are not a one time deal as Mrs. Jang received a total of $2,204.01 in 2019 as reflected on her year end paystub of 12/31/19, and not just the $1,312.23 on her 8/31/19 paystub, which reflected year to date bonuses of $1,516.83 as of 8/31/19. Since Mrs. Jang received a total of $2,204.01 for 2019, and $1,516.83 as of 8/31/19, there is a difference of $687.18 in additional bonuses not accounted for and apparently paid between 8/31/19 and 12/31/19 during the 6 month lookback period. The other adjustments appear to raise substantiation issues as debtors do not provide substantiation for the health insurance deductions over $160 a month as shown on Mrs. Jang's paystubs (perhaps a slight adjustment needs to be made since the computation is made by the month and Mrs. Jang is paid every two weeks) and the involuntary deductions of $35. The childcare expenses are not substantiated because the invoices are not within the 6 month lookback period. The telephone expenses are not substantiated for the dependent parents since the bills are not within the 6 month lookback period, and debtors need to explain why the bills for the parents have a different address than theirs if the parents are living with them as dependents. See Julie Jang Declaration, paragraph 4 ("My husband and I support my parents who are living with us and whom we claim as dependents, as our tax return reflects."). There are also substantiation issues raised regarding the items identified by the United States Trustee in his totality of the circumstances analysis under 11 U.S.C. 707(b)(3)(B). Since debtors last amended their means test computation on 8/20/20 after the United States Trustee filed his motion on 8/4/20, he should have the opportunity to offer evidence and analysis specific to debtors' latest adjustments.

Appearances are required on 5/14/20 to discuss scheduling discovery proceedings and an evidentiary hearing on the Banksy artwork ownership dispute, counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is closed to the public by order of the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California (Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042). Counsel and self-represented parties must arrange their telephonic appearances through CourtCall, which is offering a discount on fees for attorneys and waiving all fees for self-represented parties. Information about arranging a telephonic appearance through CourtCall is posted on the court's website.

#1.00 REMOTE TRIAL RE: Objection to claim number 4 by claimant US Bank National Association as Trustee for Velocity Commercial Capital Loan Trust 2014-1 fr. 3/4/20, 4/15/20, 6/3/20

Docket 115

 VACATED  REASON: Trial re-set for 10/15/20 at 9:00 a.m. per order entered on 8/14/20-mb.

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 8/21/20. Off calendar. Trial was continued and reset for 10/15/20 at 9:00 a.m. per order entered on 8/14/20. No appearances are required on 9/3/20.

Prfior tentative ruling. Treat the motion objecting to claim as a contested matter under FRBP 9014 and set a schedule of pretrial proceedings, including discovery, since there are disputed issues of material fact. Parties should confer regarding an appropriate schedule if they can. Appearances are required on 5/8/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Creditor may be entitled to its claim for attorneys' fees under 11 U.S.C. 506(b) pursuant to contract based on its loan agreement secured by deed of trust, which were upheld as valid in the state court litigation. The four elements for a claim under 11 U.S.C. 506(b) are: (1) its claim is an allowed secured claim; (2) it is an oversecured creditor; (3) the fees it asserts are reasonable; and (4) the fees it asserts are provided for under an agreement under which such claim arose, or the fees are provided for under a state statute under which the creditor's claim arose. In re Astle, 364 B.R. 735, 741 (Bankr. D. Idaho 2007). The claim is an allowed secured claim based on the state court judgment, though the judgment is on appeal. The creditor is an oversecured creditor, which is not in dispute. The reasonableness of the fees it asserts is in material dispute. Creditor has only submitted redacted versions of its counsel's fee statements, which do not provide sufficient information for the court to review for reasonableness. Creditor must file unredacted versions, or submit unredacted versions in camera with a privilege log if creditor claims that the reacted matter is privileged. Debtor as the objecting party must carry its burden of explaining what in the fee statements are unreasonable or at least what would be reasonable under the circumstances. In re Koncicky, 2007 WL 7540997 (9th Cir. BAP 2007)(unpublished memorandum opinion) (citation omitted). Debtor has the responsibility to challenge the information and provide evidence controverting that produced by creditor. Id. Debtor has not met this burden. The fees that creditor asserts are provided by the loan agreement between it and its borrower providing for reasonable attorneys' fees if it incurs or pays to maintain, protect or enforce its rights under the loan agreement as secured by the deed of trust. Exhibits A and C to Favela Declaration. Case law in California allows such fees to be added to the balance under the promissory note secured by trust deed. Chacker v. JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A., 27 Cal.App.5th 351, 356-358 (2018). However, there is no separate award of attorneys' fees authorized by statute, such as California Civil Code 1717 because debtor is not a signatory to the contract in the loan agreement and creditor has not otherwise shown that it would have been liable for the fees of the opposing party if the opposing party had prevailed. Asphalt Professionals, Inc. v. Davis (In re Davis), 595 B.R. 818, 837 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2019), citing, Dell Merk, Inc. v. Franzia, 132 Cal.App.4th 443, 441 (2005). Thus, creditor will need to submit fully unredacted copies of its fee statements to the court, and debtor will need to explain what in the fee statements are unreasonable and/or produce evidence showing that the fees are unreasonable.

Prior tentative ruling as of 7/9/18. The court has reviewed the joint pretrial stipulation filed on 7/3/18. The joint pretrial stipulation will need revision because it does not contain all the statements required for a joint pretrial stipulation set forth in Local Bankruptcy Rule 7016-1(b)(2), the witness list is incomplete as stated in the joint pretrial stipulation and the exhibit list is incomplete because not all of the exhibits are specifically listed and no objections to the exhibits are stated unless the parties waive objections. Appearances are required on 7/10/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 6/19/18. Off calendar. Continued by stipulation and order to 7/10/18 at 2:00 p.m. No appearances are required on 6/19/18.

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 9/3/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. The court will discuss the appointment of a replacement appraiser to evaluate the subject property for the adjudication of the motion. Prior tentative ruling. Treat the amended motion to avoid lien of Creditor Sequoia Concepts, Inc., as a contested matter under FRBP 9014 because there are disputed issues of material fact regarding valuation of the subject property and the liens attached thereto. The parties have filed evidence of conflicting valuation of the subject property at $740,000 based on the declaration of a real estate broker for Debtor and $945,000 based on a declaration of real estate broker for Creditor. The value of the property at $770,000 based on the trustee's "acceptance" of an offer to sell the property based on the trustee's declaration filed on 1/8/20 is not conclusive because there has been no sale of the property to deem that value as the fair market value of the property for purpose of Debtor's lien avoidance motion as no motion for sale has been filed by the trustee. There are also factual issues regarding the value of the unavaoided liens on the property. The first lien of Encore is valued at $366,799.14 based on a notice of trustee's sale dated 8/6/19 attached as Exhibit 4 to the amended motion, which value does not appear to be in dispute. The second lien of Oxford Property, LLC is valued at $110,000 based on the stipulation between the trustee and Oxford fixing the value of the lien, though Debtor asserts the value in the motion to be $200,090, which was disputed by the trustee, leading to the settlement between trustee and Oxford. The court is of the view that the value of Oxford's lien is the $110,000 which was the agreed value between it and the trustee, though Debtor might disagree, which may raise a disputed issue of material fact. The value of the California Franchise Tax Board liens is

$29,069.15, which is the value of its secured claim on its proof of claim filed in this case. However, Debtor asserts that the Franchise Tax Board liens should be valued at $12,144.89, $14,440.62 and $19,208.07, totaling $45,793.58, which may present a disputed issue of material fact. The value of the Internal Revenue Service liens is $180,817.59, which is the value of its secured claim on its proof of claim filed in this case. However, Debtor asserts that the IRS liens should be valued at $63,204.00, $116,383.14 and $22,351.77, totaling $201,938.91, which may present a disputed issue of material fact. In the court's view, the values of the taxing authorities' liens stated on the proofs of claim should be the values for purposes of the motion because the proofs of claim are what the claimants assert are their claims on the petition date and are prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claims pursuant to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 3001(f). There is no evidence that rebuts the prima facie correctness of the filed proofs of claim of the FTB and IRS. The court's computation of the unavowed liens of Encore ($366,799.14), Oxford ($110,000), FTB ($29,069.15) and IRS ($180,817.59), which total $686,685.88. Adding Debtor's claim of $175,000 as her homestead exemption yields a total of $861,168.88, which would indicate no available equity for Sequoia's lien to attach if the value of the property is $740,000, but available equity of $83,831.12 if the value of the property is $945,000 which is sufficient for Sequoia's lien valued at $21,840.46 to attach. The amount of available equity for Sequoia's lien would be increased if the court accords credence to Debtor's assertions in her declaration that she is an "innocent spouse" not responsible for her late husband's tax liabilities, so that presumably, she is not liable for his tax liabilities, and thus, the property is not subject to his tax liens, which would apparently mean that the tax lien amounts should not be considered in determining available equity for Sequoia's lien to attach. Debtor's assertions that she is not liable for the taxes may also raise a disputed issue of material fact in valuing the unavowed liens against the property (if the court disregards the tax liens, then under either valuation, there is sufficient equity for Sequoia's lien to attach). The conflicting valuation evidence raises disputed issues of material fact that generally requires an evidentiary hearing because the court has to make credibility determinations as to the valuation opinions. The parties could call their valuation witnesses as witnesses at a hearing, and they may want to take discovery as the broker for Creditor has not inspected the property, and the court can make a determination after hearing their testimony, or the parties could waive their right to an evidentiary hearing, and the court can decide valuation, and the motion, on the papers, or the parties could stipulate to what this court would call the Judge Zurzolo method of valuation that the court appoints an independent appraiser to value the property, and the parties split the cost of the fees for the court appointed expert pursuant to Federal Rule of Evidence 706. The court cannot decide the motion on the papers without an evidentiary hearing unless both parties consent to waive their right to an evidentiary hearing.

Appearances are required on 5/26/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is closed to the public by order of the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California (Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042). Counsel and self-represented parties must arrange their telephonic appearances through CourtCall, which is offering a discount on fees for attorneys and waiving all fees for self-represented parties. Information about arranging a telephonic appearance through CourtCall is posted on the court's website.

#10.00 Hearing re: Motion to dismiss claims arising under 11 U.S.C. §727 and remaining 523 claims

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 9/3/20. Grant plaintiff's motion to dismiss the remaining claims in this adversary proceeding for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition, except deny the motion as to the claim under 11 U.S.C. 523(a)(2)(B) and (a)(6) since the court in granting the motion for default judgment determined that the evidence supported relief on those two claims and entered judgment on those claims, and thus, those two claims are not "remaining" claims to be dismissed. As to the claim under 11 U.S.C. 727, the court notes that the original complaint contained such a claim, but the amended complaint dropped that claim. While the docket shows that plaintiff served defendant with the amended complaint, defendant in his answer responded to the allegations of the original complaint, including on the 11 U.S.C. 727 claim, rather than the amended complaint without that claim. To avoid any doubt regarding the state of the pleadings, the court would grant the motion as to all "remaining" claims referred to in the motion, except as to the 11 U.S.C. 523(a)(2)(B) and (a)(6) claims on which judgment in plaintiff's favor has been entered. #12.00 Cont'd hearing re: Plaintiff's motion for default judgment under LBR 7055-1
fr. 8/4/20

Docket 14

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 9/3/20. Grant plaintiff's motion for default judgment for the reasons stated in the moving papers as supplemented and for lack of timely written opposition. The relief to be granted should be a judgment in the amount of $242,500.00 as prayed for in the complaint, plus costs of suit and prejudgment interest at 7% per annum from the date of the filing of the state court complaint, which debts are determined to be excepted from discharge pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 523(a)(2)(A) and (6). Where interest is awarded on tort and other noncontractual claims, as here, the rate is 7% per annum from the date the claim arose. Wagner, Fairbank and Epstein, Rutter Group California Practice Guide: Civil Trials and Evidence, ¶ 17:1130 (online edition, September 2019 update) (citing inter alia, California Constitution, Article 15, § 1 and Michelson v. Hamada, 29 Cal.App.4th 1566, 1585 (1994) (fraud claim)). Thus, the court does not award prejudgment interest at 10% rate as requested by plaintiff in the supplemental points and authorities. The date for commencement of prejudgment interest is at least the date of filing of the state court complaint on 2/15/18 based on the allegations of the complaint alleging when the fraud claims arose. No other relief is awarded. Appearances are required on 9/8/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

In order to appear for the court hearing by telephone, you will need to arrange to make the telephone call through CourtCall, the contract telephone appearance service, which arranges telephone appearances before this court. CourtCall's telephone number is: (866) 582-6878. Through September 30, 2020, CourtCall is offering discounted rates to attorneys and FREE access for parties who do not have an attorney (pro se or self-represented parties). You need make an advance reservation with CourtCall to appear by telephone before the hearing, preferably a week before the hearing, and no later than the day before the hearing. After you made your telephone appearance reservation with CourtCall, on the day of the court hearing, you will need to call CourtCall at its telephone number at least 5 minutes before the scheduled hearing, and identify the United States Bankruptcy Court in Los Angeles as the court and Judge Robert Kwan as the judge, and the CourtCall operator will put you into the telephonic court hearing. Given the large demand for telephone court appearances, there may be some delay in connecting to the hearing. If you are having problems connecting to the hearing, please call and advise Judge Kwan's courtroom deputy at (213) 894-3385.

Prior tentative ruling. In this adversary proceeding, plaintiff has moved for default judgment under Local Bankruptcy Rule 7055-1, which motion is also governed by Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 7055, making Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 55(b)(2) applicable to this adversary proceeding. Civil Rule 55(b)(2) requires a plaintiff to apply to the court for a default judgment. In such cases, the entry of default against a defendant does not automatically entitle a plaintiff to judgment. Lu v. Liu (In re Liu), 282 B.R. 904, 907 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2002), citing Valley Oak Credit Union v. Villegas (In re Villegas), 132 B.R. 742, 746 (9th Cir. BAP 1991); see also, Zhong v. Yong Li (In re Yong Li), 2012 WL 5419068 (9th Cir. BAP 2012). The court has broad discretion under Rule 55(b)(2) to "conduct such hearings ... when, to enter or effectuate judgment, it needs to ...determine the amount of damages; establish the truth of any allegation by evidence; or investigate any other matter." Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 55(b)(2); see also, In re Liu, 282 B.R. at 907. Under this rule, the court may require a plaintiff to demonstrate a prima facie case by competent evidence in a prove-up trial to obtain a default judgment. In re Liu, 282 B.R. at 907., citing In re Villegas, 132 B.R. at 746; TeleVideo Systems Inc. v. Heidenthal, 826 F.2d 915, 917 (9th Cir.1987); General Electric Capital Corp. v. Bui (In re Bui), 188 B.R. 274, 276 (Bankr. N.D.Cal.1995). In such a hearing, the plaintiff must demonstrate each of the elements of a cause of action to support a prima facie case. Id., citing In re Bui, 188 B.R. at 276. The court has wide discretion under Civil Rule 55 to consider whether the evidence presented supports a claim and warrants judgment for the plaintiff. Id., citing Wells Fargo Bank v. Beltran (In re Beltran), 182 B.R. 820, 823–824 (9th Cir. BAP 1995); Villegas, 132 B.R. at 746 and 10A Charles Alan Wright, Arthur R. Miller & Mary Kay Kane, Federal Practice and Procedure: Civil § 2685 (3d ed.1998).

Bankruptcy courts frequently exercise their discretion to require that a plaintiff prove up a prima facie case when a plaintiff creditor seeks default judgment against a defendant debtor who has failed to answer a § 523 non-dischargeability claim. In re Liu, 282 B.R. at 907-908, citing AT & T Universal Card Services Corp. v. Sziel (In re Sziel), 206 B.R. 490, 493 (Bankr.N.D.Ill.1997); In re Beltran, 182 B.R. at 823; In re Villegas, 132 B.R. at 746. This practice is motivated by the risk that a creditor may obtain a default judgment, regardless of the merits of the complaint, against an honest debtor who is in such a precarious financial condition that the debtor cannot afford to defend a non-dischargeability claim. Id. at 908, citing In re Sziel, 206 B.R. at 492.

In this adversary proceeding, plaintiff seeks a determination that the alleged debts owed by defendant to it are nondischargeable pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523. This statute, 11 U.S.C. § 523, contains provisions for excepting debts owed by a debtor to a creditor from discharge for various reasons. Plaintiff asserts specifically that the debts owed to it by defendant should be excepted from discharge pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2), (a)(4) and (a)(6). "[T]here are two distinct issues to consider in the dischargeability analysis: first, the establishment of the debt itself, . . . and, second, a determination as to the nature of that debt, an issue within the exclusive jurisdiction of the bankruptcy court and thus governed by Bankruptcy Rule 4007." Banks v. Gill Distribution Centers, Inc. (In re Banks), 263 F.3d 862, 868 (9th Cir. 2001)

(citing Resolution Trust Corp. v. McKendry (In re McKendry), 40 F.3d 331, 337 (10th Cir. 1994)). See also March, Ahart and Shapiro, Rutter Group California Practice Guide: Bankruptcy, ¶ 22-1641 (online edition December 2019) ("[c]reditors seeking a nondischargeability determination must first establish an enforceable claim under state law (whether or not the claim has been filed in the bankruptcy proceeding)."). This is so because the statutory language of 11 U.S.C. § 523 does not provide for the creation of debts, but rather for determination of such existing debts as nondischargeable under certain conditions. Del Bino v. Bailey (In re Bailey), 197 F.3d 997, 1001 (9th Cir. 1999) (bankruptcy law governs whether a claim is nondischargeable pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523, state law determines whether the creditor has a claim against debtor, such as for the tort of conversion). Plaintiff has not established that defendant owes it a debt under state law as it has not liquidated the debt in its state court lawsuit against defendant and other parties. Plaintiff has not shown in its moving papers that it has alleged a prima facie case on a claim under state law that defendant owes a debt to it, presumably under California state law (i.e., fraud). Moreover, plaintiff has not shown in its moving papers that the elements of its claims under 11 U.S.C. 523(a)(2) and (6) are sufficiently alleged in its complaint and are satisfied here since none of the elements of these nondischargeability claims are discussed in the moving papers.

Looking at the complaint, the only factual allegations relating to defendant involve her alleged attempt to borrow money from plaintiff for her alleged business, Kassa Global, which attempt was unsuccessful. These allegations alone do not support a fraud claim since there are no damages from that alleged fraud. As alleged in the complaint, plaintiff seeks to hold defendant liable for damages from other frauds committed by other parties because she was allegedly a "co-conspirator," but the allegations of specific fact that she acted as a co-conspirator are limited. The evidence in support of such allegations consists of the Wolfson Declaration with copies of several bank documents of transfers and checks from the other loan borrowers to Kassa Global, purportedly defendant's business. However, there is no evidence that connects defendant with Kassa Global in the complaint or moving papers. For example, plaintiff did not attach to the complaint or moving papers the alleged loan application purportedly submitted by plaintiff for Kassa Global. There are only conclusory allegations "on information and belief" that defendant conspired with others to harm plaintiff through a business called Kassa Global without any factual substantiation. Moreover, plaintiff did not identify the specific transfers and checks in the bank documents showing transfers by other borrowers to Kassa Global, making it difficult for the court to ascertain that there were such transfers. As noted above, the complaint does not contain allegations that support a claim that defendant owes plaintiff a debt under state law. The court will require that plaintiff prove up with evidence that defendant is liable to it under state law as a co-conspirator for the liabilities that are owed by other perpetrators.

As indicated in its proposed default judgment, plaintiff moves for an award of $244,500 in monetary damages, which amount is alleged in the complaint, and an award of attorneys' fees of $144,831.50 and costs of $12,268.86, which amounts are not alleged in the complaint. According to a well-known treatise on California civil procedure, relief not demanded in the complaint cannot be granted by default judgment even though that relief otherwise would have been proper. Edmon and Karnow, Rutter Group California Practice Guide: Civil Procedure Before Trial, ¶ 5-233 (online edition, June 2020 update), citing, California Code of Civil Procedure § 580(a) ("The relief granted to the plaintiff, if there is no answer, cannot exceed that demanded in the complaint, in the statement required by Section 425.11 [personal injury or death actions], or in the statement provided for by Section 425.115 [punitive damages actions]" and Airs Aromatics, LLC v. CBL Data Recovery Technologies, Inc., 23 Cal.App.5th 1013, 1018, 233 Cal.Rptr.3d 656, 659 (2018)—default judgment for sum in excess of that demanded in complaint is void. As a limit on type of relief: "It is fundamental to the concept of due process that a defendant be given notice of the existence of a lawsuit and notice of the specific relief which is sought in the complaint served upon him." Id., ¶ 5-234, citing and quoting, Marriage of Lippel, 51 Cal.3d 1160, 1166, 276 Cal.Rptr. 290, 292 (1990). In actions for money damages a default judgment is limited to the amount demanded in the complaint. Id. ¶ 5:237. Whether a similar rule applies in actions for other than money damages is presently unclear, although the California Supreme Court has noted that California Code of Civil Procedure § 580 "does not distinguish between the type and amount of relief sought." Id. citing, Becker v. S.P.V. Const. Co., Inc., 27 Cal.3d 489, 493, 165 Cal.Rptr. 825, 827 (1980). It does not appear that due process is met here since the amount of damages for attorneys' fees and costs exceed what is specifically alleged in the complaint. Another problem aside from no specific amount of fees and costs are alleged in the complaint, there is no statutory or contractual basis for an award of attorneys' fees cited in the moving papers to support such an award. Plaintiff must show that there is a legal basis for an award of fees.

#8.00 Cont'd hearing re: Motion for order approving disclosure statement
fr. 8/5/20

Docket 318

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 9/4/20. The court notes that debtor filed his amended disclosure statement and plan on 9/3/20. At the last hearing on the original disclosure statement, counsel for debtor stated that the disclosure statement would be amended to address the concerns of objecting creditors and to obtain their consent. The responding parties should indicate whether the amended disclosure statement may proceed with consent, or whether additional time is needed to respond to the amended disclosure statement or whether they object. Otherwise, no tentative ruling on the merits at this time. Appearances are required on 9/9/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

TO PARTIES WHO INTEND TO APPEAR AT THE HEARING ON THIS MATTER:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the court hearing before Judge Robert Kwan of the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Central District of California will be conducted telephonically. However, instead of having to physically appear in court, you must appear by telephone because the court is not conducting in person hearings on that date in light of the public health conditions from the COVID-19 pandemic. The courtroom will be locked; parties must appear by telephone and will not be permitted to appear in the courtroom.

In order to appear for the court hearing by telephone, you will need to arrange to make the telephone call through CourtCall, the contract telephone appearance service, which arranges telephone appearances before this court. CourtCall's telephone number is: (866) 582-6878. Prior tentative ruling. Since debtor acknowledges in his reply to the objections of creditors that he will need to make revisions to the disclosure statement to address the objections to these documents, the court will defer a ruling on the disclosure statement until these revisions are made. Debtor will need to resolve the disputes regarding the amount of the secured claims of the objecting creditors either informally as indicated by debtor with respect to Green Lawn or by claim objections under FRBP 3007 with respect to both creditors if he cannot reach an agreement. Contrary to debtor's statements in the disclosure statement, disputes over the amounts of the secured claims are not going to be resolved in hearings on the disclosure statement or plan, but through consensual resolution, a claim objection under FRBP 3007, a motion to value secured claim under FRBP 3012 or an adversary proceeding to determine validity and extent of lien under FRBP 7001. In re Dynamic Brokers, Inc., 293 B.R. 489 (9th Cir. BAP 2003); see also, FRBP 3012(b) (determination of amount of a secured claim may be made by motion, a claim objection or Chapter 12 or 13 plan, which rule does not include a Chapter 11 plan). As indicated in the reply, debtor will agree to revise the disclosure statement and plan to address some of the concerns raised by the objecting creditors, but not as to others. The court agrees with debtor in part that certain objections raised by the creditors are issues to be determined at plan confirmation, such as cramdown interest rate, feasibility, good faith and absolute priority test satisfaction. Appearances are required on 8/5/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

#10.00 Ex parte hearing re Motion in individual case for order Imposing a stay or continuing the automatic stay as the court deems appropriate

Docket 27

Tentative Ruling:

Revised and updated tentative ruling as of 9/8/2020 at 6:00 p.m. Deny debtor's motion to reimpose automatic stay. The statutory provision cited in the motion as the basis for relief, 11 U.S.C. 362(c)(4), to impose or continue the automatic stay is inapplicable since that statute applies to individual debtors who have had 2 or more bankruptcy cases pending within the previous year, but were dismissed. In any event, in this case involving a nonindividual debtor, the automatic stay was lifted by the court's order entered on 8/21/20, which became final on 9/4/20. Once the automatic stay has been lifted, it cannot be "reinstated." In re Canter, 299 F.3d 1150, 1155 n. 1 (9th Cir. 2002). Equivalent relief by request for an injunction pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 105(a) may be available, but only by adversary proceeding. In re Wallace, 2012 WL 202586 at *2 (Bankr. D. Idaho 2012) (to the extent that debtors sought reimposition of a stay that had been lifted, this would be injunctive relief, and "injunctive relief must be sought by an adversary proceeding, see Fed. R. Bankr.P. 7001(7), and the several requirements for injunctive relief under Fed. R. Civ. P. 65, incorporated by Fed. R. Bankr.P. 7065, must be satisfied."); In re Little, 2007 WL 9775631, 2007 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 117003 at *7-9 (W.D. Wash. 2007).

Similarly, Debtor's Motion to Convert, even if it was being heard on shortened time, does not impact the stay relief order nor reimpose the automatic stay. In re Winner, 2020 WL 3634259 at *2 (Robles, J.) (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2020); In re Ramirez, 188 B.R. 413, 415 (Klein, J., concurring) (9th Cir. BAP 1995) (noting that in order to "have a vacated stay 'reimposed,'" one must file an adversary proceeding seeking an injunction [FRBP 7065] or a motion for reconsideration under FRCP 59(e) or 60).

In light of the lack of any timely written opposition to the movant's stay relief motion, the court determines that oral argument on the motion is not necessary and dispenses with oral argument pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(j)(3). The court deems the lack of filing and service of a timely written opposition as consent to granting of the motion, rules on the motion on the papers, and grants relief from stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d) (1) and (2) to pursue non-bankruptcy remedies for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition. The 14-day waiting period under FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived. No appearances are required on 9/15/20. Movant to submit a proposed order within 7 days of hearing.

#5.00 Hearing re: Motion for relief from stay
(Eric Tu VS Debtor)

Docket 9

Tentative Ruling:

Corrected tentative ruling as of 9/14/20: Deny motion for relief from the automatic stay for the following reasons: (1) the proof of service on the original filed motion is blank, and thus, there is no evidence on the record that debtor was served with the motion (however, the court notes that there is a signed proof of service on the judge's copy, which is not of record on the docket - movant will have to file a corrected proof of service on the case docket); (2) there is inadequate cause for granting stay relief under 11 U.S.C. 362(d)(1) because none of the claims in the complaint for the state court lawsuit are nondischargeable and there is no need to liquidate the claims because the Chapter 7 trustee filed a no distribution report in this case - movant argues that there are nondischargeable claims under 11 U.S.C. 523(a)(2)(a) and 523(a)(19)(B), but 11 U.S.C. 523(a)(2)(A) does not apply because none of the claims are based on fraud and 11 U.S.C. 523(a)(19) does not apply because none of the claims allege securities law fraud (11 U.S.C. 523(a)(19)(B) is not a stand alone provision, but must be read with 11 U.S.C. 523(a)(19)(A) pertaining only to securities law fraud claims); (3) movant has not shown that there is a need for retroactive annulment of stay and that there is evidence to support findings for stay annulment as set forth in In re Gasprom, Inc., 500 B.R. 598, 607-608 (9th Cir. BAP 2013); and (4) there is no legal or evidentiary basis for the extraordinary relief requested that any stay relief is binding in any bankruptcy case commenced by the debtor for 180 days or in any future bankruptcy case, no matter who the debtor is, In re Van Ness, 399 B.R. 897 (Bankr. E.D Cal. 2009). Appearances are required on 9/15/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the court hearing before Judge Robert Kwan of the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Central District of California will be conducted telephonically. However, instead of having to physically appear in court, you must appear by telephone because the court is not conducting in person hearings on that date in light of the public health conditions from the COVID-19 pandemic. The courtroom will be locked; parties must appear by telephone and will not be permitted to appear in the courtroom.

In order to appear for the court hearing by telephone, you will need to arrange to make the telephone call through CourtCall, the contract telephone appearance service, which arranges telephone appearances before this court. CourtCall's telephone number is: (866) 582-6878. Through September 30, 2020, CourtCall is offering discounted rates to attorneys and FREE access for parties who do not have an attorney (pro se or self-represented parties). You need make an advance reservation with CourtCall to appear by telephone before the hearing, preferably a week before the hearing, and no later than the day before the hearing. After you made your telephone appearance reservation with CourtCall, on the day of the court hearing, you will need to call CourtCall at its telephone number at least 5 minutes before the scheduled hearing, and identify the United States Bankruptcy Court in Los Angeles as the court and Judge Robert Kwan as the judge, and the CourtCall operator will put you into the telephonic court hearing. Given the large demand for telephone court appearances, there may be some delay in connecting to the hearing. If you are having problems connecting to the hearing, please call and advise Judge Kwan's courtroom deputy at (213) 894-3385.

Prior tentative ruling as of 8/3/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. Parties are to report on the status of the mediation before Judge Donovan. The court has been informally advised that Judge Donovan is ready to proceed with a Zoom mediation and the parties will need to contact his courtroom deputy to set up the mediation appointment. Appearances are required on 8/4/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 5/22/20. The court will discuss with the parties the status of the mediation with Judge Donovan, who is apparently amenable to conducting mediation by videoconferencing or telephone, perhaps through Zoom which has been used by other judges successfully for mediation. Appearances are required on 5/26/20 by telephone in accordance with the procedures set forth in the tentative ruling of 5/8/20 below.

Prior tentative ruling as of 5/8/20. The court has reviewed the joint status report. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 5/12/20 to discuss the status of the adversary proceeding, including the status of the pending mediation, outstanding discovery, whether the trial can be conducted remotely by videoconferencing as opposed to in person and when a pretrial conference and other further proceedings should be set, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 3/9/20. Continued by stipulation and order to 5/12/20 at 1:30 p.m. No appearances are required on 3/10/20.

conference and coordination of trial with related adversary proceeding, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 9/16/19. Because the discovery cutoff date was extended to 12/31/19 and discovery is continuing to that date, the court was inclined to set a post-discovery status conference or a pretrial conference for after the discovery cutoff date. Appearances are required on 9/17/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 6/24/19. Appearances are required on 6/25/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 6/10/19. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 6/11/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. Set a discovery cutoff date of 8/30/19 and a post-discovery status conference on 9/17/19 at 1:30 p.m. A joint status report is due on 9/10/19. Appearances are required on 1/8/19, but counsel may appear by telephone. Plaintiff to submit a proposed scheduling order within 7 days of hearing.

Chapter 7

Adv#: 2:11-02825 Ball v. Huevo

#14.00 Status conference: Discuss and schedule further proceedings in this adversary proceeding on remand

Docket 296

Tentative Ruling:

Revised and updated tentative ruling as of 9/14/20. The court has reviewed the joint status report, filed on 9/3/20, stating that the Ninth Circuit has issued an order to show cause regarding its jurisdiction in light of the Bankruptcy Appellate Panel's remand of the case to this court, and the court has reviewed defendant's response to the OSC filed on 9/8/20. It appears to the court to avoid the inefficiencies from a piecemeal appeal pointed out by defendant in its response to the circuit to the OSC, the parties could stipulate or move that the court issue an indicative ruling for an amended judgment pursuant to the BAP's mandate and Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 62.1 and Local Bankruptcy Rule 1001-1(e), so that pursuant to Federal Rule of Appellate Procedure 12.1, they can move the circuit for a limited remand to enter an amended judgment if the court lacks jurisdiction to enter the amended judgment now due to the pending appeal. See Davis v. Yageo Corp., 481 F.3d 661, 685 (9th Cir. 2007). Appearances are required on 9/15/20 to discuss the status of the briefing on the Ninth Circuit's OSC and the jurisdiction of this court on remand in light of defendant's further appeal to the Ninth Circuit, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

TO PARTIES WHO INTEND TO APPEAR AT THE HEARING ON THIS MATTER:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the court hearing before Judge Robert Kwan of the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Central District of California will be conducted telephonically. However, instead of having to physically appear in court, you must appear by telephone because the court is not conducting in person hearings on that date in light of the public health conditions from the COVID-19 pandemic.  VACATED  REASON: Cont'd from 9/16/20 to 11/18/20 at 11:00 a.m. per stip & order entered on 9/15/20-mb.

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 9/15/20. Off calendar. Continued by stipulation and order to 11/18/20 at 11:00 a.m. No appearances are required on 9/15/20.

Prior tentative ruling as of 6/2/20. Off calendar. Continued by stipulation between debtor and secured creditor MTGLQ Investors, LP, and order to 7/22/20 at 11:00 a.m. to allow these parties some additional time to negotiate consensual plan treatment of the secured claim. Counsel for debtor must notify by email or phone counsel for secured creditors MTGLQ and U.S. Bank, Mr. Garan and Ms. Weifenbach, of the continuance.

Prior tentative ruling as of 5/28/20.

Deny approval of amended disclosure statement for failure to contain adequate information.

Regarding creditor MTGLQ Investors, LP's objection to debtor's disclosure statement, the court has the following comments. Regarding the sufficiency of debtor's organizational status, debtor should address creditor's contention that it is not in active organizational status as a Utah limited liability company. Regarding its objection to Option 1, the treatment there is only an option and apparently offered to incentivize that creditor with a higher interest rate and valuation of the secured claim. However, it is only an alternative as the default is Option 2, which is the proposed treatment of the claim, which does not eliminate the unsecured claim in violation of due process of law.

Regarding creditor's objection to Option 2, debtor argues that it may proceed under the "new value" exception to the absolute priority rule, and whether the proposed new value is sufficient to qualify for the exception is probably an issue for plan confirmation. See In re Ambanc La Mesa Ltd. Partnership, 115 F.3d 650, 654-655 (9th Cir. 1997). As to the proposed payout of unsecured claims over 90 calendar quarters, or 22.5 years, the issue is also probably a plan confirmation issue. If a creditor objects, it is highly unlikely that the court would overrule the objection because 22.5 years is unreasonably long for unsecured creditors to be paid. If there were no objection, the creditors could consent to such treatment by voting in favor of the plan. In the court's view, debtor has an uphill battle to demonstrate a payout longer than 5 years on unsecured claims is fair and equitable, especially since this case has been pending for almost four years, resulting in a wait of almost nine years for unsecured creditors to be paid in this case.

Regarding the value of the Cold Plains property, there is apparently a dispute regarding valuation of the property and creditor's secured claim. The parties should advise whether they agree to a value or if there will be a factual dispute over valuation of the property and the secured claim. If there is going to be a dispute over the value of the secured claim, the court will require debtor to file a motion to value the secured claim under FRBP 3012 or an adversary proceeding pursuant to FRBP 7001 rather than litigating value through plan confirmation proceedings.

Regarding the creditor's objection to the reduction of creditor's secured claim by the amount of the adequate protection payments, the creditor is correct in asserting that creditor should be given credit for the rental income on the property under 11 U.S.C. 552(b) and the holding of In re Ambanc La Mesa Ltd. Partnership, 115 F.3d at 654, though debtor is correct in asserting that the adequate protection payments reduce the amount of the secured claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 361(1) as creditor is undersecured and cannot claim postpetition interest as part of its secured claim. See also, United Savings Association of Texas v. Timbers of Inwood Forest Associates, Ltd., 484 U.S. 365, 372-374 (1988). If debtor does not give credit to creditor on calculating its secured claim for the postpetition rental income contrary to Ambanc La Mesa, such would be grounds for denial of confirmation as not treating the dissenting secured class fairly and equitably, and would make the plan patently unconfirmable to warrant disapproval of the disclosure statement on the merits. See In re Arnold, 471 B.R. 578, 586 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2012).

Regarding the adequacy of the financial information for the disclosure statement, the court agrees with creditor's objection that the financial information provided is skimpy and inadequate. The income and expense statement is deficient because there is no information of expenses and there is no historical information of income and expenses. Appending bank statements and monthly operating reports is not an adequate substitute for providing historical information of income and expenses and reasonable future projections of income and expenses, which should be presented on a spreadsheet form, at least, two years back and five years forward.

The court will grant limited amount of time to debtor to further amend the disclosure statement to address these concerns, or may soon issue an order to show cause re: dismissal, given the lack of apparent progress in confirming plan in this case.

Appearances are required on 6/3/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is currently closed to the public by orders of the United States District Court for the Central District of California and this court and that this court will not be holding in person hearings by the date of this hearing. Counsel and self-represented parties must arrange their telephonic appearances through CourtCall, which is offering a discount on fees for attorneys and waiving all fees for self-represented parties. (A)
fr. 4/7/20, 6/9/20, 6/30/20

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 9/16/20. In considering defendant's objections to the trial declarations of witnesses called by plaintiffs, a number of the statements made in the declarations are objectionable on grounds of lack of foundation and improper opinion, such as statements saying that defendant was "very confident" of her recommendations, or defendant "gave assurances," or defendant "basically talked me into it," or "we were promised" certain things, which do not provide a foundation for such statements as who said what to whom. The declarations are replete with such statement. Moreover, it is not clear that the declarants personally heard the statements purportedly made by defendant. Plaintiffs will have to address these concerns, or otherwise, the objections will be sustained. Defendant will have to explain her objections on grounds of "not of truth contents."

Chapter 11

#1.10 Cont'd hearing re: Motion for order approving disclosure statement
fr. 8/5/20, 9/9/20

Docket 318

Tentative Ruling:

Further revised and updated tentative ruling as of 9/22/20. The court notes that since the last hearing, debtor has reached tentative agreement with the two secured creditors which objected to his disclosure statement. Debtor and Rehabbers Financial filed a stipulation on 9/16/20 that the creditor would refrain from objecting to the first amended disclosure statement, if certain language was included in the amended disclosure statement, but reserving any right to object to plan confirmation. Debtor and Green Lawn filed a joint statement on 9/21/20 that they have reached a tentative agreement as to plan treatment of Green Lawn's secured claim, provided that such language for such treatment is included in the disclosure statement before the hearing on 9/23/20, but as of 9/21/20, the language has not yet been included in the disclosure statement.

Because the Dunsmuir property was debtor's residence as of the petition date, the rights of the holders of claims secured only by a security interest in that property are protected by the anti-modification provisions of 11 U.S.C. 1123(b)(5), namely, the secured claims of U.S. Bank and Coral Mortgage Holdings, see In re Abdelgadir, 455 B.R. 896 (9th Cir. BAP 2011), and the court cannot confirm a plan containing such modifications in violation of the Bankruptcy Code under 11 U.S.C. 1129(a). Accordingly, the proposed five modifications of the rights of those claims should be deleted, though debtor may properly cure or obtain waiver of defaults based on those rights in this case under 11 U.S.C. 1123(a)(5)(G).

Debtor must include in the disclosure statement, plan and/or plan confirmation order the mandatory language of LBR 3020-1(b) that property of the reorganized debtor or successor in interest vests in the Chapter 7 estate if the case is converted to Chapter 7.

Regarding the professional compensation enforcement provisions in Exhibit H, which are apparently additional contractual provisions subject to California law, the unilateral attorneys' fee recovery provision is subject to California Civil Code 1717, which makes it bilateral and awardable only to the prevailing party, and only reasonable attorneys' fees are awardable as recovery costs under California Code of Civil Procedure 1033.5(a)(10)(A), (B) and (C). Counsel must also explain the rationale for the proposed 10 percent interest rate on the judgment for professional compensation awarded on a final basis in this case since the award of fees will be a federal judgment and the federal postjudgment rate under 28 U.S.C. 1961 is less than 10 percent, i.e., the weekly average 1-year constant maturity (nominal) Treasury yield, as published by the Federal Reserve System.

The language regarding the treatment of Class 12 general unsecured claims (page 15 of the Plan and page 29 of the disclosure statement) needs to be clarified. The liquidation analysis on page 47 of the disclosure statement states that 100 percent of Class 12 claims will be paid, but the treatment stated on page 29 of the plan does not state that. Page 29 states that it depends on the outcome of the Class 7 claimholder election and the outcome of claim objections. The language should specify a minimum distribution with estimates based on certain outcomes relating to the Class 7 claimholder election and the outcome of claim objection litigation. Also, the treatment on page 20 does not specify when claims will be paid other than in "equal monthly installments" without stating the duration of payments, i.e., when they start and when they end, or over a specified number of months. The treatment refers to the Exhibit G, Plan Spreadsheet, but that does not show the duration of the plan payments since the financial and payment information is lumped into yearly totals for the last three years of the plan.

The language of Section II.D.6, Creditors Enjoined During Plan (page 20 of the Plan and pages 34-35 of the disclosure statement) is problematic. The reference to "interested parties" is vague and ambiguous, and should refer to "creditors, interest holders and other parties in interest" as in the court's form Chapter 11 plan, that is, creditors who are mainly affected by this provision should be specifically identified. This language should be revised.

The reference to Section 362(a) of the Bankruptcy Code should be more specific as in the court's form Chapter 11 plan that creditors, interest holders and other parties in interest may not take action to enforce preconfirmation obligations, or any obligations under the plan, so long as the debtor is not in material default of the plan. Creditors and other parties should not have to look up Section 362(a) to see what they can do. If debtor wants to refer to Section 362(a) as well, that is okay since the stay is in effect until the estate property reverts in the reorganized debtor upon entry of the final decree pursuant to the plan, but the plan should specify what are the restrained actions, and once the final decree is entered, the stay is no longer in effect as the discharge injunction would apply.

The language restraining creditors from "taking any actions . . . which may impede or interfere with the implementation or administration of this Plan" is vague and ambiguous as what a creditor may believe is vindicating its rights, debtor may consider to be impeding or interfering with the plan, and thus very debatable. This provision should be revised. The plan language should state that creditors cannot take action to enforce their preconfirmation obligations or plan obligations unless debtor is in material default as in the court's form Chapter 11 plan.

There is no authority for the provision that if creditors seek relief from this provision and relief is denied, debtor is entitled to his legal fees and costs which may not be set off against any claim. Such provision is inconsistent with the American Rule, and if there is a statute or rule that provides for fees and costs, it would be to a prevailing party. This provision should be stricken.

From the court's form Chapter 11 plan, F3018-1.CH11.PLAN:

D. Actions Restrained. Creditors, interest holders and other parties in interest may not take any action to enforce preconfirmation obligations, or any obligations due under this Plan, so long as Debtor is not in material default under this Plan (as defined below). If Debtor is in material default under this Plan, then any party in interest may: (1) take any action permitted under nonbankruptcy law either (a) to enforce the terms of this Plan as a contract of Debtor or (b) to pursue nonbankruptcy remedies including collection of the entire nondischarged dollar amount of any claim held by such person, or (2) if this case is still pending, move to dismiss this case or to convert this case to one under chapter 7, or seek other relief from the bankruptcy court. If this case is converted to chapter 7 at any time, then property will revert in the chapter 7 estate, and the automatic stay will be reimposed upon the reverted property only to the extent that relief from stay was not previously granted by the court during this case.

E. Material Default Defined. If Debtor (1) fails to make any payment required under this Plan, or (2) fails to perform any other obligation required under this Plan for more than 14 days after the time specified in this Plan, or (3) performs any act that is inconsistent with the terms of this Plan, then any affected creditor, interest holder, or other party in interest may file and serve upon Debtor and Debtor's attorney (if any) a written notice of default at their most recent address(es) listed in this case. Debtor is in material default under this Plan if Debtor fails within 21 days after service of that notice of default, plus an additional 3 days if served by mail, either to cure the default or obtain from the court an extension of time to cure the default or a determination that no material default occurred. Notwithstanding the other provisions of this paragraph, to the extent that Debtor has assumed an executory contract or unexpired lease, or to the extent that a creditor retains a lien under this Plan that was a consensual lien, the default provisions of that contract, lease, or lien documentation govern what constitutes a default for purposes of the rights and remedies thereunder, all subject to applicable nonbankruptcy law and any exceptions set forth in this Plan.

Otherwise, no tentative ruling on the merits. It would be helpful if the amended disclosure statement is approved, the parties should advise whether this will be a contested plan confirmation proceeding, such as regarding disputes over plan treatment of specific claims, plan feasibility, cramdown interest rates or property valuation. Appearances are required on 9/23/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Central District of California will be conducted telephonically. However, instead of having to physically appear in court, you must appear by telephone because the court is not conducting in person hearings on that date in light of the public health conditions from the COVID-19 pandemic. The courtroom will be locked; parties must appear by telephone and will not be permitted to appear in the courtroom.

In order to appear for the court hearing by telephone, you will need to arrange to make the telephone call through CourtCall, the contract telephone appearance service, which arranges telephone appearances before this court. CourtCall's telephone number is: (866) 582-6878. Through September 30, 2020, CourtCall is offering discounted rates to attorneys and FREE access for parties who do not have an attorney (pro se or self-represented parties). You need make an advance reservation with CourtCall to appear by telephone before the hearing, preferably a week before the hearing, and no later than the day before the hearing. After you made your telephone appearance reservation with CourtCall, on the day of the court hearing, you will need to call CourtCall at its telephone number at least 5 minutes before the scheduled hearing, and identify the United States Bankruptcy Court in Los Angeles as the court and Judge Robert Kwan as the judge, and the CourtCall operator will put you into the telephonic court hearing. Given the large demand for telephone court appearances, there may be some delay in connecting to the hearing. If you are having problems connecting to the hearing, please call and advise Judge Kwan's courtroom deputy at (213) 894-3385.

Prior tentative ruling as of 9/4/20. The court notes that debtor filed his amended disclosure statement and plan on 9/3/20. At the last hearing on the original disclosure statement, counsel for debtor stated that the disclosure statement would be amended to address the concerns of objecting creditors and to obtain their consent. The responding parties should indicate whether the amended disclosure statement may proceed with consent, or whether additional time is needed to respond to the amended disclosure statement or whether they object. Otherwise, no tentative ruling on the merits at this time. Appearances are required on 9/9/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. Since debtor acknowledges in his reply to the objections of creditors that he will need to make revisions to the disclosure statement to address the objections to these documents, the court will defer a ruling on the disclosure statement until these revisions are made. Debtor will need to resolve the disputes regarding the amount of the secured claims of the objecting creditors either informally as indicated by debtor with respect to Green Lawn or by claim objections under FRBP 3007 with respect to both creditors if he cannot reach an agreement. Contrary to debtor's statements in the disclosure statement, disputes over the amounts of the secured claims are not going to be resolved in hearings on the disclosure statement or plan, but through consensual resolution, a claim objection under FRBP 3007, a motion to value secured claim under FRBP 3012 or an adversary proceeding to determine validity and extent of lien under FRBP 7001. In re Dynamic Brokers, Inc., 293 B.R. 489 (9th Cir. BAP 2003); see also, FRBP 3012(b) (determination of amount of a secured claim may be made by motion, a claim objection or Chapter 12 or 13 plan, which rule does not include a Chapter 11 plan). As indicated in the reply, debtor will agree to revise the disclosure statement and plan to address some of the concerns raised by the objecting creditors, but not as to others. The court agrees with debtor in part that certain objections raised by the creditors are issues to be determined at plan confirmation, such as cramdown interest rate, feasibility, good faith and absolute priority test satisfaction. Appearances are required on 8/5/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Supplemental tentative ruling as of 9/17/20: In closing argument, counsel should advise the court as to which issues of fact and of law in the amended joint pretrial stipulation that you are still requesting the court to decide and which ones that you are no longer asking the court to decide. The parties should also address the applicability of California Business and Professions Code Section 7031(b) to the element of damages on plaintiffs' fraud claim under California law and 11 U.S.C. Section 523(a)(2)(A). See also, MW Erectors, Inc. v. Niederhauser Ornamental & Metal Works Co., Inc., 36 Cal.4th 412 (2005).

Updated tentative ruling as of 9/17/20:

Day 2 of the trial of the adversary proceeding will resume at 9:30 a.m. rather than 10:00 a.m. based on the agreement of the parties and approval of the court on 9/17/20.

Docket 15

Tentative Ruling:

Updated and corrected tentative ruling as of 9/25/20. Off calendar. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status report filed on 9/24/20 requesting a 60 day continuance to obtain supplemental evidence to support the pending motion for default judgment to address the court's concerns raised in prior tentative rulings. The court on its own motion continues the hearing on the motion for default judgment and the status conference to 12/1/20 at 1:30 p.m. No appearances are required on 9/29/20.

Prior tentative ruling as of 8/14/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. The court has reviewed the trustee's declaration, but it is not apparent to the court that he has personal knowledge of the insider relationship of defendant to debtor as required by Federal Rule of Evidence 602. Perhaps the declaration can be amended to lay out the basis of the trustee's personal knowledge of defendant's insider status because the statement in the declaration is too conclusory, lacking in foundation. Appearances are required on 8/18/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

#25.00 Hearing re: Motion for order compelling chapter 7 trustee to abandon bare legal title to property

Docket 12

Tentative Ruling:

Revised and updated tentative ruling as of 9/28/20. The court is inclined to grant debtor's motion to compel abandonment for the reasons stated in the motion. While the trustee filed a response and request for hearing on the motion on 8/11/20, he filed a report of no distribution on 8/26/20 stating that the estate has been fully administered and asking to be discharged of further duties as trustee in this case. In asking for a hearing on the motion in his initial response to the motion, the trustee requested the opportunity to file a more extensive response to the motion at least 14 days before the hearing date, but he did not file such a response. Thus, the trustee filed no evidence in opposition to the evidence presented by the debtor in the motion. The uncontroverted evidence in the motion supports the claim that debtor has only bare legal title in the joint tenancy property co-owned with her brother and demonstrates under 11 U.S.C. 554(b) that the property is burdensome to the estate or is of inconsequential value and benefit to the estate since the trustee has filed a no distribution report, and thus, does not intend to administer the property as an asset of the estate. However, the trustee has sent perhaps mixed signals since after the no distribution report, he filed on 9/9/20 an application for authorization to employ counsel to investigate the estate's interest in the property. Appearances are required on 9/29/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the court hearing before Judge Robert Kwan of the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Central District of California will be conducted telephonically. However, instead of having to physically appear in court, you must appear by telephone because the court is not conducting in person hearings on that date in light of the public health conditions from the COVID-19 pandemic. The courtroom will be locked; parties must appear by telephone and will not be permitted to appear in the courtroom.

In order to appear for the court hearing by telephone, you will need to arrange to make the telephone call through CourtCall, the contract telephone appearance service, which arranges telephone appearances before this court. CourtCall's telephone number is: (866) 582-6878. Through September 30, 2020, CourtCall is offering discounted rates to attorneys and FREE access for parties who do not have an attorney (pro se or self-represented parties). You need make an advance reservation with CourtCall to appear by telephone before the hearing, preferably a week before the hearing, and no later than the day before the hearing. After you made your telephone appearance reservation with CourtCall, on the day of the court hearing, you will need to call CourtCall at its telephone number at least 5 minutes before the scheduled hearing, and identify the United States Bankruptcy Court in Los Angeles as the court and Judge Robert Kwan as the judge, and the CourtCall operator will put you into the telephonic court hearing. demand for telephone court appearances, there may be Prior tentative ruling as of 7/20/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 7/22/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 6/22/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 6/24/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 5/22/20. No updated tentative ruling in light of the settlement between debtor and creditor Acon regarding debtor's objection to Acon's secured claim, which will require a modification of the proposed reorganization plan either by a motion to approve compromise under FRBP 9019 or a plan supplement. Appearances are required on 5/27/20 by telephone in accordance with the procedures set forth in the tentative ruling of 5/11/20 below.

Updated and supplemental tentative ruling as of 5/12/20. The following updates and supplements the tentative ruling posted on 5/11/20: In light of debtor's second statement regarding exit financing in connection with its Chapter 11 plan, filed on 5/12/20, the hearing on plan confirmation should be continued for a short period of time in order for debtor to negotiate with the City of Los Angeles regarding the lien subordination cap in an amount that would allow plan confirmation and the exit financing with the replacement lender to go forward. The court will discuss with debtor and the parties the time needed for this purpose.

Updated tentative ruling as of 5/11/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 5/13/20, but counsel must appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 4/13/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. Plan confirmation appears to be a contested matter under FRBP 9014 since there is a dispute over feasibility of the plan based on creditor Acon's objection and its related motion to dismiss as well as debtor's objection to Acon's amended claim. It seems that the court should set a schedule of pretrial proceedings for litigation of these related contested matters.

Appearances are required on 4/15/20, but counsel must appear by telephone.

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 9/25/20. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status report filed on 9/23/20 stating that the parties have reached a tentative settlement and requesting a 60-90 day continuance of the status conference to finalize their agreement. Since the status report is unilateral and there is no stipulation to continue the status conference, appearances are required on 9/30/20 to discuss scheduling of further proceedings, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 8/14/20. Since settlement of this and related actions was reached at the mediation before Judge Bluebond on 1/30/20, the status conference has been continued twice in order to implement the settlement. Even though economic activity has been lessened due to the pandemic, counsel should explain why the necessary claim releases for this and the related actions cannot be obtained since the pandemic conditions in Vietnam and China have lessened somewhat so that both countries have reopened to a greater extent than here. Appearances are required on 8/18/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 5/15/20. Off calendar. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status conference requesting a 60-day continuance of the status conference in light of the conditional settlement between plaintiff and principals of debtor and related parties and allowing some time for the parties to remove the conditions for the global settlement which has been delayed to the pandemic. The court on its own motion continues the status conference to 8/18/20 at 1:30 p.m. No appearances are required on 5/19/20.

#10.00 Cont'd status conference re: Complaint for avoidance, recovery, and preservation of fraudulent, unauthorized postpetition transfers; and disallowance of claim fr. 3/24/20, 5/19/20, 8/18/20

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 9/25/20. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status report filed on 9/23/20 stating that the parties have reached a tentative settlement and requesting a 60-90 day continuance of the status conference to finalize their agreement. Since the status report is unilateral and there is no stipulation to continue the status conference, appearances are required on 9/30/20 to discuss scheduling of further proceedings, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

TO PARTIES WHO INTEND TO APPEAR AT THE HEARING ON THIS MATTER:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the court hearing before Judge Robert Kwan of the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Central District of California will be conducted telephonically. However, instead of having to physically appear in court, you must appear by telephone because the court is not conducting in person hearings on that date in light of the public health conditions from the COVID-19 pandemic. The courtroom will be locked; parties must appear by telephone and will not be permitted to appear in the courtroom.

In order to appear for the court hearing by telephone, you will need to arrange to make the telephone call through CourtCall, the contract telephone appearance service, which arranges telephone appearances before this court. CourtCall's telephone number is: (866) 582-6878. Through September 30, 2020, CourtCall is offering discounted rates to attorneys and FREE access for parties who do not have an attorney (pro se or self-represented parties). the day before the hearing. After you made your telephone appearance reservation with CourtCall, on the day of the court hearing, you will need to call CourtCall at its telephone number at least 5 minutes before the scheduled hearing, and identify the United States Bankruptcy Court in Los Angeles as the court and Judge Robert Kwan as the judge, and the CourtCall operator will put you into the telephonic court hearing. Given the large demand for telephone court appearances, there may be some delay in connecting to the hearing. If you are having problems connecting to the hearing, please call and advise Judge Kwan's courtroom deputy at (213) 894-3385.

Prior tentative ruling as of 8/14/20. Since settlement of this and related actions was reached at the mediation before Judge Bluebond on 1/30/20, the status conference has been continued twice in order to implement the settlement. Even though economic activity has been lessened due to the pandemic, counsel should explain why the necessary claim releases for this and the related actions cannot be obtained since the pandemic conditions in Vietnam and China have lessened somewhat so that both countries have reopened to a greater extent than here. Appearances are required on 8/18/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 5/15/20. Off calendar. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status conference requesting a 60-day continuance of the status conference in light of the conditional settlement between plaintiff and principals of debtor and related parties and allowing some time for the parties to remove the conditions for the global settlement which has been delayed to the pandemic. The court on its own motion continues the status conference to 8/18/20 at 1:30 p.m. No appearances are required on 5/19/20.

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 9/25/20. The court will treat the objections to claims as contested matters under FRBP 9014 and will treat the hearing on 9/30/20 as a status conference. The parties should advise the court whether there are material issues of fact that require an evidentiary hearing. If so, the court will inquire with the parties as to an appropriate pretrial and trial schedule. If not, the court will discuss with the parties scheduling of a final hearing on the objections to hear arguments on the evidentiary objections asserted by the parties and on the merits of the objections. Updated tentative ruling as of 6/8/20. In response to the trustee's omnibus objections to claims, claimants through their attorney filed amended claims on 5/11/20 and 5/12/20. Pursuant to Rule 3001(f) of the Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure (FRBP), proofs of claim executed and filed in accordance with the FRBP shall constitute prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claims. In reply, the trustee supported by declarations of Linda Lee and Michael Weinberg has rebutted the prima facie correctness of the amended proofs of claim by showing that the documents attached to the amended proofs of claim were fabricated and are not genuine. Moreover, in the court's view, the documents to support amended claims lack evidentiary foundation as none of the documents attached in support of the amended claims are properly authenticated by someone with personal knowledge as required by Rules 602, 901 and 902 of the Federal Rules of Evidence, which tends to show that the objections to the claims have rebutted the prima facie correctness of the claims, and that the claimants bear the ultimate burden of proving the validity of their claims and should be prepared to show that they have met this burden at the hearing. and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is currently closed to the public by orders of the United States District Court for the Central District of California and this court and that this court will not be holding in person hearings by the date of this hearing. Counsel and self-represented parties must arrange their telephonic appearances through CourtCall, which is offering a discount on fees for attorneys and waiving all fees for self-represented parties. Information about arranging a telephonic appearance through CourtCall is posted on the court's website.

Prior tentative ruling. Continued by stipulation and order to 6/2/20 at 2:30 p.m. No appearances are required on 4/28/20.

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 9/25/20. The court will discuss with the parties how the trial will be conducted. At this time, the court is not conducting in person hearings because the federal courthouses in this judicial district remain closed to the public. The court can set a date for a trial to be conducted remotely or continue the proceedings for a further status conference on trial setting to see if in person hearings can be held, and the court will hear from the parties as to how to proceed at this time. Appearances are required on 9/30/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

TO PARTIES WHO INTEND TO APPEAR AT THE HEARING ON THIS MATTER:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the court hearing before Judge Robert Kwan of the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Central District of California will be conducted telephonically. However, instead of having to physically appear in court, you must appear by telephone because the court is not conducting in person hearings on that date in light of the public health conditions from the COVID-19 pandemic. The courtroom will be locked; parties must appear by telephone and will not be permitted to appear in the courtroom.

In order to appear for the court hearing by telephone, you will need to arrange to make the telephone call through CourtCall, the contract telephone appearance service, which arranges telephone appearances before this court. parties who do not have an attorney (pro se or self-represented parties). You need make an advance reservation with CourtCall to appear by telephone before the hearing, preferably a week before the hearing, and no later than the day before the hearing. After you made your telephone appearance reservation with CourtCall, on the day of the court hearing, you will need to call CourtCall at its telephone number at least 5 minutes before the scheduled hearing, and identify the United States Bankruptcy Court in Los Angeles as the court and Judge Robert Kwan as the judge, and the CourtCall operator will put you into the telephonic court hearing. Given the large demand for telephone court appearances, there may be some delay in connecting to the hearing. If you are having problems connecting to the hearing, please call and advise Judge Kwan's courtroom deputy at (213) 894-3385.

Prior tentative ruling as of 7/31/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. Defendants in their objection to a remote trial asserted that they timely demanded a jury trial on claims so jury triable, but the court has not been able to locate such demand. Defendants should identify such document indicating a timely jury trial demand and indicate which claims are jury triable. The court will discuss trial scheduling with the parties. Appearances are required on 8/4/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 6/12/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. The court will discuss proceeding with the trial remotely by videoconferencing in light of the current pandemic and has issued an order describing proposed remote trial procedures for the trial. Appearances are required on 6/16/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 9/28/20. Since the court is not conducting in person hearings at this time, the court will discuss proceeding with the trial scheduled for 10/15/20 remotely. The court has also by order scheduled a technical status conference to test audiovisual capacities of the parties for trial on 10/8/20 at 2:00 p.m., which the court would like to reschedule for 10/6/20 at 11:00 a.m. Appearances are required on 9/30/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 7/31/20. The court will further discuss with the parties scheduling of the trial. In light of the current surge of coronavirus cases in the area, as a precaution, the court is inclined to conduct the trial remotely by videoconferencing on Zoom and will set a technical pretrial conference to test the technical capabilities of the parties. Appearances are required on 8/4/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 5/28/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. The court will discuss proceeding with the evidentiary hearing remotely by videoconferencing in light of the current pandemic and has issued an order describing proposed remote trial procedures for the hearing. Appearances are required on 6/3/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 4/13/20. The court schedules the status conference on 4/7/20 to discuss with the parties how a trial in the matter may be conducted and when possibly it can be scheduled. Given the current surge of coronavirus cases in the court and in the state and the need for appropriate social distancing, it would probably be prudent not to schedule so soon. In this court's view, a trial will not be scheduled earlier than 6/1/20. A court committee is being appointed to consider the conduct of video evidentiary hearings, but whether this is technically feasible and legally proper has not yet determined for this court yet. Appearances are required on 4/15/20, but counsel must appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 3/20/20. Off calendar. In light of the rapidly developing public health threat of coronavirus disease (COVID-19) declared a public health emergency in the State of California and the United States of America and the current national and local public health guidance to mitigate the spread of the disease through social distancing, on March 19, 2020, the United States District Court for the Central District of California issued General Order 20-042, which among other things closes all courthouses of the Central District of California to the public, including the Roybal Federal Building, through May 1, 2020, and accordingly, the court on its own motion must and does vacate the evidentiary hearing for the contested matter of Debtor's objection to Claim No. 4 of U.S. Bank National Association as Trustee for Velocity Commercial Capital Loan Trust 2014-1 in this bankruptcy case scheduled for April 22, 2020 at 9:00 a.m. in Courtroom 1675, Roybal Federal Building, 255 East Temple Street, Los Angeles, California 90012 because in person appearances are not permitted in the courthouse on that date. No appearances are required on April 22, 2020 at 9:00 a.m. as the evidentiary hearing on that date is vacated.

The court further on its own motion sets a status conference in this contested matter on April 15, 2020 at 11:00 a.m. in Courtroom 1675, Roybal Federal Building, 255 East Temple Street, Los Angeles, California 90012. The purpose of the status conference is to discuss rescheduling the evidentiary hearing on the claim objection. Because the Roybal Federal Building is closed to the public on April 15, 2020 by the aforementioned order of the United States District Court, the parties to this contested matter and their counsel must appear telephonically at the status conference in accordance with the court's telephone appearance procedures posted online on the court's website.

Prior tentative ruling as of 3/9/20. Off calendar. The court vacated the hearing on 3/11/20 after resetting the matter for trial on 4/22/20 at 9:00 a.m. No appearances are required on 3/11/20.

Prior tentative ruling. Treat the motion objecting to claim as a contested matter under FRBP 9014 and set a schedule of pretrial proceedings, including discovery, since there are disputed issues of material fact. Creditor may be entitled to its claim for attorneys' fees under 11 U.S.C. 506(b) pursuant to contract based on its loan agreement secured by deed of trust, which were upheld as valid in the state court litigation. The four elements for a claim under 11 U.S.C. 506(b) are: (1) its claim is an allowed secured claim; (2) it is an oversecured creditor; (3) the fees it asserts are reasonable; and (4) the fees it asserts are provided for under an agreement under which such claim arose, or the fees are provided for under a state statute under which the creditor's claim arose. In re Astle, 364 B.R. 735, 741 (Bankr. D. Idaho 2007). The claim is an allowed secured claim based on the state court judgment, though the judgment is on appeal. The creditor is an oversecured creditor, which is not in dispute. The reasonableness of the fees it asserts is in material dispute. Creditor has only submitted redacted versions of its counsel's fee statements, which do not provide sufficient information for the court to review for reasonableness. Creditor must file unredacted versions, or submit unredacted versions in camera with a privilege log if creditor claims that the reacted matter is privileged. Debtor as the objecting party must carry its burden of explaining what in the fee statements are unreasonable or at least what would be reasonable under the circumstances. In re Koncicky, 2007 WL 7540997 (9th Cir. BAP 2007)(unpublished memorandum opinion) (citation omitted). Debtor has the responsibility to challenge the information and provide evidence controverting that produced by creditor. Id. Debtor has not met this burden. The fees that creditor asserts are provided by the loan agreement between it and its borrower providing for reasonable attorneys' fees if it incurs or pays to maintain, protect or enforce its rights under the loan agreement as secured by the deed of trust. Exhibits A and C to Favela Declaration. Case law in California allows such fees to be added to the balance under the promissory note secured by trust deed. Chacker v. JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A., 27 Cal.App.5th 351, 356-358 (2018). However, there is no separate award of attorneys' fees authorized by statute, such as California Civil Code 1717 because debtor is not a signatory to the contract in the loan agreement and creditor has not otherwise shown that it would have been liable for the fees of the opposing party if the opposing party had prevailed. Asphalt Professionals, Inc. v. Davis (In re Davis), 595 B.R. 818, 837 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2019), citing, Dell Merk, Inc. v. Franzia, 132 Cal.App.4th 443, 441 (2005). Thus, creditor will need to submit fully unredacted copies of its fee statements to the court, and debtor will need to explain what in the fee statements are unreasonable and/or produce evidence showing that the fees are unreasonable.

fr. 5/5/20, 6/30/20, 8/4/20

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Although the court has set a hearing on plaintiff's motion for default judgment for 10/13/20 at 2:00 p.m. by order entered on 9/28/20, plaintiff may address the concerns raised by the court in this order at the status conference on 10/6/20. Appearances are required on 10/6/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

TO PARTIES WHO INTEND TO APPEAR AT THE HEARING ON THIS MATTER:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the court hearing before Judge Robert Kwan of the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Central District of California will be conducted telephonically. However, instead of having to physically appear in court, you must appear by telephone because the court is not conducting in person hearings on that date in light of the public health conditions from the COVID-19 pandemic. The courtroom will be locked; parties must appear by telephone and will not be permitted to appear in the courtroom.

Off calendar. The court on its own motion continues the status conference to 10/27/20 at 2:30 p.m. to be conducted with hearings on defendant's motion to dismiss and for sanctions. The court notes that these motions were filed on 9/30/20, the day that the stay of proceedings lifted and that plaintiff filed an amended complaint on 10/1/20. The parties should file a joint status report on 10/20/20, a week before the continued status conference, in light of these developments as well as on the status of the pending appeal of the related state court action. No appearances are required on 10/6/20.

#11.00 Hearing re: Trustee's motion to sell right, title and interest of the debtor's estate in non-publicly traded stock pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 363(b)

Docket 23

Tentative Ruling:

Off calendar. In light of the lack of any timely written opposition to the trustee's motion to sell the estate's right, title and interest in nonpublicly traded stock pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 363(b), the court determines that oral argument on the motion is not necessary and dispenses with oral argument pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(j)(3). The court deems the lack of filing and service of a timely written opposition as consent to granting of the motion, rules on the motion on the papers, and grants the motion for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition. In granting the motion, the court finds that Lasen, Inc., is a good faith purchaser within the meaning of 11 U.S.C. 363(m) and waives the 14 day stay on enforcement of the order granting the motion pursuant to FRBP 6004(h). No appearances are required on 9/29/20. Trustee to lodge a proposed order within 7 days of hearing.

#13.00 Cont'd hearing re: Objection to proofs of claim of the Novak Law Firm, P.C., claim nos. 3-1 and 3-2
fr. 8/4/20

Docket 30

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 10/2/20. Off calendar. The court on its own motion continues the hearing on the objections to 10/27/20 at 2:30 p.m. because settlement of this dispute is pending. Pursuant to the parties' settlement agreement approved by the order granting trustee's motion to approve compromise of this dispute filed and entered on 9/22/20, the objections will be deemed withdrawn once the order approving the settlement becomes final, which would be on 10/7/20, the day after the 14 day appeal period ends, which is the day after the continued hearing on 10/6/20. The court continues the hearing in anticipation that the order approving the settlement agreement will become final and the objections deemed withdrawn without further action. No appearances are required on 10/6/20.

The trustee's objection to creditor's claim, 3-1 and 3-2, appears to be moot by the filing of amended claim, 3-3, by creditor, apparently to address the grounds for the objection. See In re International Horizons, Inc., 751 F.2d 1213, 1216 (11th Cir. 1985) ("In a bankruptcy case, amendment to a claim is freely allowed where the purpose is to cure a defect in the claim as originally filed, to describe the claim with greater particularity or to plead a new theory of recovery on the facts set forth in the original claim.") (citations omitted). To the extent that the trustee objects to creditor's amended claim, treat as a contested matter under FRBP 9014 since there are disputed issues of material fact, particularly, regarding the validity and amount of the claim which may be dependent on the outcome of a future motion of the trustee to approve compromise with an employment dispute involving the debtor (the amount of the reasonable contingency fee, if awarded on contingency, the allocation between prepetition and postpetition services, the impact of the lack

The court will conduct the status conference in case that the United States Trustee or another party in interest has concerns regarding status. Appearances are required on 6/10/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is currently closed to the public by orders of the United States District Court for the Central District of California and this court and that this court will not be holding in person hearings by the date of this hearing. Counsel and self-represented parties must arrange their telephonic appearances through CourtCall, which is offering a discount on fees for attorneys and waiving all fees for self-represented parties. Information about arranging a telephonic appearance through CourtCall is posted on the court's website.

#4.00 Cont'd hearing re: Disclosure statement
fr. 4/29/20, 5/20/20, 6/3/20

Docket 174

Tentative Ruling:

Revised and updated tentative ruling as of 10/6/20. The court has reviewed debtor's status report filed on 10/6/20, detailing the progress made in preparing an amended disclosure statement. Debtor stated that he filed a notice of claims bar date of 10/30/20, which the court notes was filed on 8/17/20, stating it was filed pursuant to LBR 9013-1(q) governing motions to set a bar date. Upon review of the case docket, the court did not see that debtor filed a motion for the court to set a bar date under LBR 9013-1(q). The court must actually set a bar date by order pursuant to FRBP 3003((c)(3), which is usually done on motion, which has not been filed. Also, the court can on its own initiative set a bar date by order as noted in LBR 3003-1(a), but the court does not recall doing so. Apparently, the claims bar date of 10/30/20 noticed by debtor without a court order may not be valid unless there is a remedial court order validating the date. Debtor should explain that if the court ordered the bar date of 10/30/20, how it was done because it does not appear on the docket that there was a motion or a court ruling sua sponte. If the court has not ordered the bar date of 10/30/20, debtor may request that the court do so at the status conference. Otherwise, no tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 10/7/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Revised and tentative ruling as of 10/6/20. Off calendar. Based on the joint stipulation of the parties to continue the fourth day of trial from October 9, 2020, the court will approve the stipulation and will continue the fourth day of trial to November 13, 2020. No appearances are required on October 9, 2020. An order will follow.

The Court hereby provides notice to the parties to this adversary proceeding that the Court will hold the fourth day of trial on Plaintiffs' Complaint for Non-Dischargeability of Debt under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(A) on November 13, 2020 at 10:30 a.m., which will be conducted via Zoom for Government. Participants will be connected to the courtroom using Zoom for Government but will not be physically present in the courtroom. Participants must connect to the Zoom for Government courtroom no later than 10:20 a.m. and check in with the law clerk/DECRO. If a trial participant is having problems connecting to the trial, please call and advise Judge Kwan's courtroom deputy at (213) 894-3385.

Tentative Ruling:

Grant trustee's motion to sell real property pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 363(b) for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition, including approving the residential purchase agreement, payment of costs of sale and all liens, claims and encumbrances against the property from the sales proceedings, the overbidding procedures, and turnover of the property from debtors. However, no tentative ruling as to finding the eventual purchaser as a good faith purchaser pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 363(m) and approval of an alternative purchaser since an auction to receive overbids and determine the highest and best bid has not been conducted.

The court notes that counsel for trustee failed to serve a judge's copy of the moving papers as required by LBR 5005-1(d), and given the length of the

Chapter 11

#2.00 Cont'd hearing re: Motion to convert cases to chapter 7
fr. 4/1/20, 9/1/20

Docket 26

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 10/13/20. This matter will be called first on the calendar as the court is granting the request of counsel for the IRS for priority because he has another matter at the same before another judge of this court.

The court has reviewed debtor's status report filed on 10/7/20. The court agrees with debtor's recommendation that the case be dismissed due to the "empty box scenario" as the court has previously stated, i.e., the estate property revested in the reorganized debtor upon the effective date pursuant to the confirmed plan and 11 U.S.C. 1141(b), and there was no provision in the plan or confirmation order for revesting the former estate property now vested in the reorganized debtor back into a Chapter 7 estate after conversion. Therefore, there is no property for a Chapter 7 trustee to administer on conversion, In re K&M Printing, Inc., 210 B.R. 583, 585-586 (Bankr. D. Ariz. 1997), and thus, it is not in the best interests of creditors to convert this case to Chapter 7 pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 1112(b). Appearances are required on 10/14/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

#7.00 Cont'd hearing re: Motion to pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 2090-1(a)(1) to withdraw as counsel
fr. 8/4/2, 9/29/20

Docket 694

Tentative Ruling:

Revised and updated tentative ruling as of 10/13/20. Regarding the request of Creditor 7175 WB, LLC, to close the hearing to the public on the motion of its counsel to withdraw pursuant to LBR 2090-1(a), the court will first hear oral argument on the request since it was only filed on 10/10/20 and there has not been an opportunity for response, but the tentative ruling is to grant the request as follows. 7175 WB contends that an open hearing will prejudice it by revealing confidential communications between it and its counsel in discussing the evidence filed under seal during argument. While 7175 WB's request apparently contravenes the command of FRBP 5001(b) that "[a]ll trials and hearings shall be conducted in open court" because it seeks that the hearing be closed to the public, including counsel for debtor, the request is justified in that in the interests of allowing frank and candid discussion of the issues raised by the motion to withdraw, 7175 WB and its counsel would most likely discuss in argument their confidential attorney client communications and litigation strategy protected under both the attorney client privilege and the attorney work product doctrine since the motion to withdraw relates to the attorney client relationship and confidential communications between counsel and client. Public policy in vindicating the necessity to preserve confidentiality of these matters protected by these privileges outweighs the public interest in an open hearing on a matter that does not directly affect parties in the bankruptcy case other than counsel and this particular client. See In re FiberMark, Inc., 330 B.R. 480, 497-503 (Bankr. D. Vt. 2005)(confidential attorney client and work product privileged matters may be shielded from public record disclosure as a matter of common law); see also, In re 50-Off Stores, Inc., 213 B.R. 646, 650-660 (Bankr. and work product privileged matters from disclosure on public record is authorized pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 107(b)). Accordingly, the court will grant the request of 7175 WB to close the hearing to the public.

On the merits of the pending motion of counsel to withdraw, the tentative ruling is as follows: Trial courts have discretion to decide whether an attorney may withdraw from representing a client. United States v. McKenna, 327 F.3d 830, 843 (9th Cir. 2003). In assessing whether an attorney may withdraw as counsel, courts look to the state's substantive ethics rules. In re Mortgage & Realty Trust, 195 B.R. 740, 747-748 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1996). The California Rules of Professional Conduct ("CRPC") provide the substantive ethics rules in California. Id. The local rules of this court adopt the California Rules of Professional Conduct as the ethics rules applying to attorneys practicing before the court through Local Bankruptcy Rule 2090-2(a) and Local Civil Rule 83.-3.1.2 of the United States District Court for the Central District of California. Local Bankruptcy Rule 2091-1(a)(1) requires leave of the court for "[a]n attorney who has appeared on behalf of an entity in any matter concerning the administration of the case... to withdraw as counsel...." A lawyer may withdraw from representing a client if "the client breaches a material term of an agreement with, or obligation, to [sic] the lawyer... and the lawyer has given the client a reasonable warning after the breach that the lawyer will withdraw unless the client fulfills the agreement or performs the obligation." CRPC 1.16(b)(5) (effective June 1, 2020). Under the CRPC, a lawyer "shall not terminate a representation until the lawyer has taken reasonable steps to avoid reasonably foreseeable prejudice to the rights of the client, such as giving the client sufficient notice to permit the client to retain other counsel...." CRPC 1.16(d). In this case, counsel asserts that the client, 7175 WB, has not paid the agreed $3,600 per month to be applied to the outstanding $47,020.47 account receivable balance, which is a breach of the agreement between counsel and the client, 7175 WB. 7175 WB concedes that it has only "partially" paid counsel, but asserts that it has not paid counsel the remainder because counsel "has not completed performance of agreed upon services." ECF 695 at 5. Counsel asserts that "[t]here are no services for which [counsel] has been paid and which have not been performed." ECF 698, at 2 ¶ 11. As counsel stated in his declaration, both adversary proceedings "have been fully and finally resolved and closed," and there "are no presently pending contested matters." ECF 694 at 5. 7175 WB disputes this point, stating that there are outstanding "contested matters," specifically, conclusion of uncompleted assignment documentation, suspension of plan payments by Debtor, giving rise to a plan default and other matters required to be concluded under the plan. Gelles Reply Declaration, ECF 699 at 5-6. In accord with CRPC 1.16(d), counsel has also offered to refer 7175 WB to locally based bankruptcy counsel and has "offered to assist any replacement counsel in connection with any matters that might immediately arise." ECF 694 at 5. 7175 WB contends that counsel "has not provided any referral to qualified and actually physically currently available locally-based bankruptcy counsel," but does not state why referrals must be "actually physically available" in order to be effective counsel. Counsel also states in his declaration that 7175 WB has never responded to his offers to find replacement counsel, and that prior to 7175 WB's Opposition, 7175 WB had never requested "actually physically currently available locally-based bankruptcy counsel." ECF 698, at 4 ¶ 16. Having reviewed the client fee agreement filed under seal, the court agrees with counsel that the evidence indicates that 7175 WB has materially breached the agreement in not making the agreed $3,600 monthly payments to be applied to the outstanding account receivable balance, and the evidence before the court indicates that counsel gave the client reasonable warning of counsel's intent to withdraw and has taken reasonable steps to avoid reasonably foreseeable prejudice to the client's rights, including sufficient notice to the client to permit it to retain new counsel. Accordingly, counsel's motion to withdraw should be granted because counsel has satisfied the requirements of CRPC 1.16(b)(5) and (d) for permissive withdrawal.

fr. 6/2/20, 6/9/20, 9/30/20

Docket 351

Tentative Ruling:

Revised and updated tentative ruling as of 10/13/20. The trustee's objections to the claims as amended of creditors Shaoxing Leilei Import & Export Co. ($223,394.01), Cong Ty Tnhh Anh Chau ($1,843,219.16), Shaoxing Tuchang Knitting Textile Co., Ltd. ($323,430.14)(note: amended claim refers to Shaoxing Leilei Import & Export Co. as claimant, which appears to be a scrivener's error, as supporting documentation refers to Shaoxing Tuchang Knitting Textile Co., Ltd.), Gia Phu Fashion Co. ($333,916.51), and Cong Ty May Trinh Vuong ($1,036,668.79) pursuant to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 3007 are contested matters pursuant to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 9014. See In re Garner, 246 B.R. 617, 623 (9th Cir. BAP 2000), citing inter alia, Advisory Committee Note to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 3007. The trustee, claimants and a creditor joining the trustee's objections have filed declarations and documentary evidence in support and in opposition to the objections. The trustee has filed evidentiary objections to the declarations and documentary evidence of the claimants with the expectations that the court will sustain his objections and determine that there are no genuine issues of material fact to preclude the court from determining that he is entitled to judgment as a matter of law that claimants have failed to meet their burden of proving the validity and amount of their claims. In order for the court to now rule in favor of the trustee and sustain his objections now, the court would have to determine that despite claimants' evidence, there are no genuine issues of material fact and that the trustee is entitled to judgment as a matter of law. In essence, this request is a motion for summary judgment under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 7056, which applies to contested matters like these under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 9014, but the trustee has not filed such a motion.

Chapter 7

Even if the court were to sustain the trustee's evidentiary objections, it would seem to the court in the interest of fairness to allow claimants to cure the evidentiary objections to their evidence as Rule 9014 provides that "reasonable notice and opportunity for hearing shall be afforded to the party against whom relief is sought." Rule 9014 also provides that "[t]estimony of witnesses with respect to disputed material factual issues shall be taken in the same manner as testimony in an adversary proceeding" and that "[t]he court shall provide procedures that enable parties to ascertain at a reasonable time before any scheduled hearing whether the hearing will be an evidentiary hearing at which witnesses may testify." The trustee apparently believes that there are no genuine issues of material fact, if that is the case, then it should be determined upon a proper motion for summary judgment under Rule 7056. It appears that there are unresolved material factual issues that may require an evidentiary hearing to resolve, requiring the issuance of factual findings pursuant to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 7052, and if so, then the court should set an appropriate schedule of pretrial and trial proceedings, especially considering the large dollar amounts of the objected to claims. The court is not sure that on this record, the trustee has shown that there are no genuine issues of material fact and that he is entitled to judgment as a matter of law on grounds that claimants have not their ultimate burden of proving the validity and amount of their claims. Moreover, the court is not so sure that the trustee is entitled to judgment as a matter of law that the claims should be barred under California law based on the statute of frauds and the statute of limitations on contractual breach claims as the claims are based on contracts involving parties of different contractual states, i.e., debtor as the buyer of goods is a California contract party, but the claimants as the seller of goods are foreign contract parties from China and Vietnam, and thus, it is unclear the choice of law governing the contracts between the parties. The trustee assumes that California law applies to the contracts because the buyer is a California party, but there is no evidence in the contracts themselves that California law governs these claims. It may be that the contracts may be governed by the law of China and/or Vietnam, where the claimants as the selling parties are located. Or the international sales contracts like these may be governed by international law, i.e., United Nations Convention on Contracts for the International Sale of Goods, S. Treaty Doc. No. 98-9 (1983), reprinted in 15 U.S.C.A. App. ("CISG"), cited in Shantou Real Lingerie Manufacturing Co., Ltd. v. Native Group International,

The parties have not addressed choice of law issues in their briefing, which have bearing on the arguments being made in the pleadings and raise unresolved legal and factual issues. Prior tentative ruling as of 9/25/20. The court will treat the objections to claims as contested matters under FRBP 9014 and will treat the hearing on 9/30/20 as a status conference. The parties should advise the court whether there are material issues of fact that require an evidentiary hearing. If so, the court will inquire with the parties as to an appropriate pretrial and trial schedule. If not, the court will discuss with the parties scheduling of a final hearing on the objections to hear arguments on the evidentiary objections asserted by the parties and on the merits of the objections. #1.00 Hearing re: Motion for relief from stay
(Mercedes-Benz Financial Services USA LLC VS Debtor)

Docket 19

Tentative Ruling:

Off calendar. In light of the lack of any timely written opposition to the movant's stay relief motion, the court determines that oral argument on the motion is not necessary and dispenses with oral argument pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(j)(3). The court deems the lack of filing and service of a timely written opposition as consent to granting of the motion, rules on the motion on the papers, and grants relief from stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d) (1) and (2) to pursue non-bankruptcy remedies for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition. The 14-day waiting period under FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived. No appearances are required on 10/20/20. Movant to submit a proposed order within 7 days of hearing.

fr. 6/3/20, 8/4/20, 10/8/20

Docket 115

Tentative Ruling:

Supplemental tentative ruling as of 10/20/20: Regarding debtor's motion to stay proceedings, the court views it as not just a motion for a stay of the proceedings regarding the contested matter of debtor's objection to creditor's claim, but a motion for this court to abstain on ruling on the claim objection so that the state appellate court can decide debtor's pending appeal of the final judgment of the state trial court sustaining creditor's demurrers to debtor's state law claims against it. Abstention is governed by 28 U.S.C. 1334(c)(1) and (2) which falls into two categories: (1) mandatory abstention; and (2) permissive abstention. Mandatory abstention under 28 U.S.C. 1334(c)(2) is not appropriate because the stay motion filed on 10/7/20 is not timely as the objection to claim was filed on 3/27/19, over a year and a half ago, and meanwhile, the parties and the court have been diligently preparing for trial, and there is no evidence that the state court appeal can be timely adjudicated as it has been pending for almost two years since it was filed on 11/7/18. Permissive abstention under 28 U.S.C. 1334(c)(1) is based on a consideration of various factors set forth in In re Tucson Estates, Inc., 912 F.2d 1162, 1166-1167 (9th Cir. 1990), and in this court's view, favoring denial of abstention since debtor initiated the subject litigation of objecting to creditor's claim, which is a core proceeding, though the substantive dispute involves a state law contractual claim, abstention affects the efficient administration of this case since debtor's reorganization plan has been confirmed and the contested matter of debtor's objection to creditor's claim is the only substantive matter left before this case may be fully administered and closed, a delay from abstention may not expeditiously resolve this contested matter as it is uncertain when the state appellate court will decide the appeal and the appeal may be denied with the issue of the amount of the claim is to be resolved, debtor delayed seeking stay and abstention relief until the eve of trial while the parties and the court have been diligently preparing for trial and there is no prejudice to debtor in proceeding to trial because it will have its day in court on its objection.

Updated tentative ruling as of 10/16/29. The court notes that debtor has filed a motion to stay the proceedings relating to this contested matter of Debtor's objection to the claim of U.S. Bank National Association, as trustee for Velocity Commercial Capital Loan Trust 2014-1, which is noticed for hearing on October 28, 2020 at 11:00 a.m., the day before the scheduled trial on October 29, 2020.

The Court hereby provides notice to the parties to this contested matter that the Court will hold the technical pretrial status conference for the trial on the Debtor's objection to the claim of U.S. Bank National Association, as trustee for Velocity Commercial Capital Loan Trust 2014-1 on October 20, 2020 at 11:00 a.m., which will be conducted via Zoom for Government. Participants will be connected to the courtroom using Zoom for Government but will not be physically present in the courtroom. Participants must connect to the Zoom for Government courtroom no later than 10:45 a.m. and check in with the law clerk/DECRO. Updated tentative ruling as of 7/31/20. The court will further discuss with the parties scheduling of the trial. In light of the current surge of coronavirus cases in the area, as a precaution, the court is inclined to conduct the trial remotely by videoconferencing on Zoom and will set a technical pretrial conference to test the technical capabilities of the parties. Appearances are required on 8/4/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

TO PARTIES WHO INTEND TO APPEAR AT THE HEARING ON THIS MATTER:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the court hearing before Judge Robert Kwan of the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Central District of California will be conducted telephonically. However, instead of having to physically appear in court, you must appear by telephone because the court is not conducting in person hearings on that date in light of the public health conditions from the COVID-19 pandemic. The courtroom will be locked; parties must appear by telephone and will not be permitted to appear in the courtroom.

In order to appear for the court hearing by telephone, you will need to arrange to make the telephone call through CourtCall, the contract telephone appearance service, which arranges telephone appearances before this court. CourtCall's telephone number is: (866) 582-6878. need make an advance reservation with CourtCall to appear by telephone before the hearing, preferably a week before the hearing, and no later than the day before the hearing. After you made your telephone appearance reservation with CourtCall, on the day of the court hearing, you will need to call CourtCall at its telephone number at least 15 minutes before the scheduled hearing, and identify the United States Bankruptcy Court in Los Angeles as the court and Judge Robert Kwan as the judge, and the CourtCall operator will put you into the telephonic court hearing. Given the large demand for telephone court appearances, there may be some delay in connecting to the hearing. If you are having problems connecting to the hearing, please call and advise Judge Kwan's courtroom deputy at (213) 894-3385.

Prior tentative ruling as of 5/28/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. The court will discuss proceeding with the evidentiary hearing remotely by videoconferencing in light of the current pandemic and has issued an order describing proposed remote trial procedures for the hearing. Appearances are required on 6/3/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is currently closed to the public by orders of the United States District Court for the Central District of California and this court and that this court will not be holding in person hearings by the date of this hearing. Counsel and self-represented parties must arrange their telephonic appearances through CourtCall, which is offering a discount on fees for attorneys and waiving all fees for self-represented parties. Information about arranging a telephonic appearance through CourtCall is posted on the court's website.

Prior tentative ruling as of 4/13/20. The court will call this matter first on the 11:00 a.m. calendar because this matter should not take much time to discuss as the other matters on calendar will be somewhat lengthy, and counsel should appear promptly at 11:00 a.m. to be heard, or otherwise, they might have to wait a long time for their matter to be heard, perhaps past noon.

In light of the rapidly developing public health threat of coronavirus disease (COVID-19) declared a public health emergency in the State of California and the United States of America and the current national and local public health guidance to mitigate the spread of the disease through social distancing, on March 19, 2020, the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California issued an Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042, which among other things closes all courthouses of the Central District of California to the public, including the Roybal Federal Building, through May 1, 2020, and accordingly, the court cannot conduct an in person trial in the courtroom until at least May 1, 2020. Moreover, the County of Los Angeles and City of Los Angeles have issued public health orders prohibiting public and private gatherings in their jurisdictions until at least April 19, 2020, which are likely to be extended, which orders may apply to the trial. The court schedules the status conference on 4/7/20 to discuss with the parties how a trial in the matter may be conducted and when possibly it can be scheduled. Given the current surge of coronavirus cases in the court and in the state and the need for appropriate social distancing, it would probably be prudent not to schedule so soon. In this court's view, a trial will not be scheduled earlier than 6/1/20. A court committee is being appointed to consider the conduct of video evidentiary hearings, but whether this is technically feasible and legally proper has not yet determined for this court yet.

Appearances are required on 4/15/20, but counsel must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is closed to the public by order of the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California (Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042). Counsel and self-represented parties must arrange their telephonic appearances through CourtCall, which is offering a discount on fees for attorneys and waiving all fees for self-represented parties. Prior tentative ruling as of 3/20/20. Off calendar. In light of the rapidly developing public health threat of coronavirus disease (COVID-19) declared a public health emergency in the State of California and the United States of America and the current national and local public health guidance to mitigate the spread of the disease through social distancing, on March 19, 2020, the United States District Court for the Central District of California issued General Order 20-042, which among other things closes all courthouses of the Central District of California to the public, including the Roybal Federal Building, through May 1, 2020, and accordingly, the court on its own motion must and does vacate the evidentiary hearing for the contested matter of Debtor's objection to Claim No. 4 of U.S. Bank National Association as Trustee for Velocity Commercial Capital Loan Trust 2014-1 in this bankruptcy case scheduled for April 22, 2020 at 9:00 a.m. in Courtroom 1675, Roybal Federal Building, 255 East Temple Street, Los Angeles, California 90012 because in person appearances are not permitted in the courthouse on that date. No appearances are required on April 22, 2020 at 9:00 a.m. as the evidentiary hearing on that date is vacated.

The court further on its own motion sets a status conference in this contested matter on April 15, 2020 at 11:00 a.m. in Courtroom 1675, Roybal Federal Building, 255 East Temple Street, Los Angeles, California 90012. The purpose of the status conference is to discuss rescheduling the evidentiary hearing on the claim objection. Because the Roybal Federal Building is closed to the public on April 15, 2020 by the aforementioned order of the United States District Court, the parties to this contested matter and their counsel must appear telephonically at the status conference in accordance with the court's telephone appearance procedures posted online on the court's website.

Prior tentative ruling as of 3/9/20. Off calendar. The court vacated the hearing on 3/11/20 after resetting the matter for trial on 4/22/20 at 9:00 a.m. No appearances are required on 3/11/20.

Creditor may be entitled to its claim for attorneys' fees under 11 U.S.C. 506(b) pursuant to contract based on its loan agreement secured by deed of trust, which were upheld as valid in the state court litigation. The four elements for a claim under 11 U.S.C. 506(b) are: (1) its claim is an allowed secured claim; (2) it is an oversecured creditor; (3) the fees it asserts are reasonable; and (4) the fees it asserts are provided for under an agreement under which such claim arose, or the fees are provided for under a state statute under which the creditor's claim arose. In re Astle, 364 B.R. 735, 741 (Bankr. D. Idaho 2007). The claim is an allowed secured claim based on the state court judgment, though the judgment is on appeal. The creditor is an oversecured creditor, which is not in dispute. The reasonableness of the fees it asserts is in material dispute. Creditor has only submitted redacted versions of its counsel's fee statements, which do not provide sufficient information for the court to review for reasonableness. Creditor must file unredacted versions, or submit unredacted versions in camera with a privilege log if creditor claims that the reacted matter is privileged. Debtor as the objecting party must carry its burden of explaining what in the fee statements are unreasonable or at least what would be reasonable under the circumstances. In re Koncicky, 2007 WL 7540997 (9th Cir. BAP 2007)(unpublished memorandum opinion) (citation omitted). Debtor has the responsibility to challenge the information and provide evidence controverting that produced by creditor. Id. Debtor has not met this burden. The fees that creditor asserts are provided by the loan agreement between it and its borrower providing for reasonable attorneys' fees if it incurs or pays to maintain, protect or enforce its rights under the loan agreement as secured by the deed of trust. Exhibits A and C to Favela Declaration. Case law in California allows such fees to be added to the balance under the promissory note secured by trust deed. Chacker v. JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A., 27 Cal.App.5th 351, 356-358 (2018). However, there is no separate award of attorneys' fees authorized by statute, such as California Civil Code 1717 because debtor is not a signatory to the contract in the loan agreement and creditor has not otherwise shown that it would have been liable for the fees of the opposing party if the opposing party had prevailed. Asphalt Professionals, Inc. v. Davis (In re Davis), 595 B.R. 818, 837 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2019), citing, Dell Merk, Inc. v. Franzia, 132 Cal.App.4th 443, 441 (2005). Thus, creditor will need to submit fully unredacted copies of its fee statements to the court, and debtor will need to explain what in the fee statements are unreasonable and/or produce evidence showing that the fees are unreasonable.

#3.00 Cont'd status conference: Discuss and schedule further proceedings in this adversary proceeding on remand fr. 9/15/20

Docket 296

Tentative Ruling:

Revised and updated tentative ruling as of 10/19/20. The court has reviewed the parties' joint status report stating that they disagree as to the date when prejudgment interest ends with respect to an amended judgment on remand. As to the date that prejudgment interest stops for an amended judgment on remand, the court believes that defendant's position is correct based on the unpublished opinion of the Ninth Circuit in Barnard v. Theobald, 649 Fed. Appx. 414, 416-417 (9th Cir. 2016), citing and quoting, Planned Parenthood of the Columbia/Willamette Inc. v. Am. Coal. of Life Activists, 518 F.3d 1013, 1018 (9th Cir.2008), stating that "[i]n Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Corp. v. Bonjorno, 494 U.S. 827, 110 S.Ct. 1570, 108 L.Ed.2d 842 (1990)] and § 1961 explain how to determine the accrual date of post-judgment interest in the first instance." As stated in Planned Parenthood of the Columbia/Willamette Inc. v. Am. Coal. of Life Activists, "Kaiser Aluminum stands for the proposition that 28 U.S.C. § 1961 requires that postjudgment interest be calculated from a judgment in which damages are sufficiently ascertained." Id., citing, Am. Tel. & Tel. Co. v. United Comput. Sys., Inc., 98 F.3d 1206, 1210 (9th Cir.1996). The Ninth Circuit also stated that "[f]urther, we must consider whether "equitable principles favor calculating the interest in a manner that more fully compensates the prevailing party." Barnard v. Theobald, 649 Fed. Appx. 416, citing and quoting, Am. Tel. & Tel. Co. v. United Comput. Sys., Inc., 98 F.3d at 1211. According to the Ninth Circuit, the court should consider two inquiries as to when prejudgment interest should end as between the date of entry of an original judgment or the date of entry of an amended judgment: "We are thus guided by two inquiries: (1) When were the damages sufficiently ascertained, and (2) Do equitable principles favor more fully compensating the prevailing party?" Id. Because the amount of the damages in this case were sufficiently ascertained in the original judgment, the original judgment stated that the damages were $478,598.67, which was a slight overstatement of the correct damages of $449,530.58 by 6.5% after the reduction of $29,068.42 by the Bankruptcy Appellate Panel due to a credit not properly given to defendant from a distribution from the related bankruptcy case. In the court's view, the damages were sufficiently ascertained by the original judgment. Awarding prejudgment interest to the date of the original judgment, in the court's view, sufficiently compensates plaintiff as his damages were sufficiently ascertained by the original judgment, which only slightly overstated his damages due to an inadvertent failure to inform the court of a relatively small distribution credit.

The court notes that defendant filed a notice that he had filed a motion for limited remand with the Ninth Circuit on 10/15/20, stating that it was an open issue as to the date prejudgment interest should be calculated through, but the issue may be resolved at the status conference on 10/20/20. The parties should indicate if they want the court to rule on the issue at the status conference on 10/20/20, or whether they want to submit further briefing since the parties have not yet submitted briefing on the issue.

Appearances are required on 10/20/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 9/14/20. The court has reviewed the joint status report, filed on 9/3/20, stating that the Ninth Circuit has issued an order to show cause regarding its jurisdiction in light of the Bankruptcy Appellate Panel's remand of the case to this court, and the court has reviewed defendant's response to the OSC filed on 9/8/20. It appears to the court to avoid the inefficiencies from a piecemeal appeal pointed out by defendant in its response to the circuit to the OSC, the parties could stipulate or move that the court issue an indicative ruling for an amended judgment pursuant to the BAP's mandate and Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 62.1 and Local Bankruptcy Rule 1001-1(e), so that pursuant to Federal Rule of Appellate Procedure 12.1, they can move the circuit for a limited remand to enter an amended judgment if the court lacks jurisdiction to enter the amended judgment now due to the pending appeal. See Davis v. Yageo Corp., 481 F.3d 661, 685 (9th Cir. 2007). Appearances are required on 9/15/20 to discuss the status of the briefing on the Ninth Circuit's OSC and the jurisdiction of this court on remand in light of defendant's further appeal to the Ninth Circuit, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

 VACATED  REASON: Cont'd from 10/20/20 to 12/15/20 at 1:30 p.m. per stip & order entered on 9/8/20-mb.

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 10/16/20. Off calendar. Continued by stipulation and order to 12/15/20 at 1:30 p.m. No appearances are required on 10/20/20.

Prior tentative ruling. Set a discovery cutoff date of 9/30/20 and a post-discovery status conference on 10/20/20 at 1:30 p.m. A joint status report is due on 10/13/20. Order the parties to mediation, and the parties are to file a request to select a mediator and an alternate mediator by 5/29/20 and complete mediation by 10/20/20. Plaintiff to submit a proposed scheduling order within 7 days of hearing.

Appearances are required on 4/7/20, but counsel must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is closed to the public by order of the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California (Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042). Counsel and self-represented parties must arrange their telephonic appearances through CourtCall, which is offering a discount on fees for attorneys and waiving all fees for self-represented parties. Docket 54

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 10/16/20. The court has reviewed the unilateral status report of counsel for debtor, stating that he is having difficulty communicating with his client and that he will be filing a motion to withdraw as counsel for debtor. The court is inclined to continue the hearing on the pending motion to avoid lien in light of the anticipated motion to withdraw, and will set a further status conference on this matter in about 60 days to ascertain if debtor will retain new counsel or represent herself on the pending motion. Appearances are required on 10/20/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

TO PARTIES WHO INTEND TO APPEAR AT THE HEARING ON THIS MATTER:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the court hearing before Judge Robert Kwan of the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Central District of California will be conducted telephonically. Given the large demand for telephone court appearances, there may be some delay in connecting to the hearing. If you are having problems connecting to the hearing, please call and advise Judge Kwan's courtroom deputy at (213) 894-3385.

Prior tentative ruling as of 9/3/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. The court will discuss the appointment of a replacement appraiser to evaluate the subject property for the adjudication of the motion. While the trustee has filed a notice of abandonment of the property, any abandonment does not apparently affect the pending lien avoidance motion, though the parties may be heard on this at the hearing. Appearances are required on 9/8/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 7/31/20. The court will discuss with counsel the status of the appraiser jointly selected by the parties and appointed by the court. The court intends to set a further status conference in order for the parties with sufficient time for the parties to review and consider the appraisal report and then to discuss scheduling an evidentiary hearing if the parties are unable to consensually resolve the matter. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 8/4/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. Treat the amended motion to avoid lien of Creditor Sequoia Concepts, Inc., as a contested matter under FRBP 9014 because there are disputed issues of material fact regarding valuation of the subject property and the liens attached thereto. The parties have filed evidence of conflicting valuation of the subject property at $740,000 based on the declaration of a real estate broker for Debtor and $945,000 based on a declaration of real estate broker for Creditor. The value of the property at $770,000 based on the trustee's "acceptance" of an offer to sell the property based on the trustee's declaration filed on 1/8/20 is not conclusive because there has been no sale of the property to deem that value as the fair market value of the property for purpose of Debtor's lien avoidance motion as no motion for sale has been filed by the trustee. There are also factual issues regarding the value of the unavoids liens on the property. The first lien of Encore is valued at $366,799.14 based on a notice of trustee's sale dated 8/6/19 attached as Exhibit 4 to the amended motion, which value does not appear to be in dispute. The second lien of Oxford Property, LLC is valued at $110,000 based on the stipulation between the trustee and Oxford fixing the value of the lien, though Debtor asserts the value in the motion to be $200,090, which was disputed by the trustee, leading to the settlement between trustee and Oxford. The court is of the view that the value of Oxford's lien is the $110,000 which was the agreed value between it and the trustee, though Debtor might disagree, which may raise a disputed issue of material fact. The value of the California Franchise Tax Board liens is $29,069.15, which is the value of its secured claim on its proof of claim filed in this case. However, Debtor asserts that the Franchise Tax Board liens should be valued at $12,144.89, $14,440.62 and $19,208.07, totaling $45,793.58, which may present a disputed issue of material fact. The value of the Internal Revenue Service liens is $180,817.59, which is the value of its secured claim on its proof of claim filed in this case. However, Debtor asserts that the IRS liens should be valued at $63,204.00, $116,383.14 and $22,351.77, totaling $201,938.91, which may present a disputed issue of material fact. In the court's view, the values of the taxing authorities' liens stated on the proofs of claim should be the values for purposes of the motion because the proofs of claim are what the claimants assert are their claims on the petition date and are prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claims pursuant to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 3001(f). There is no evidence that rebuts the prima facie correctness of the filed proofs of claim of the FTB and IRS. The court's computation of the unavoids liens of Encore ($366,799.14), Oxford ($110,000), FTB ($29,069.15) and IRS ($180,817.59), which total $686,685.88. Adding Debtor's claim of $175,000 as her homestead exemption yields a total of $861,168.88, which would indicate no available equity for Sequoia's lien to attach if the value of the property is $740,000, but available equity of $83,831.12 if the value of the property is $945,000 which is sufficient for Sequoia's lien valued at $21,840.46 to attach. The amount of available equity for Sequoia's lien would be increased if the court accords credence to Debtor's assertions in her declaration that she is an "innocent spouse" not responsible for her late husband's tax liabilities, so that presumably, she is not liable for his tax liabilities, and thus, the property is not subject to his tax liens, which would apparently mean that the tax lien amounts should not be considered in determining available equity for Sequoia's lien to attach. Debtor's assertions that she is not liable for the taxes may also raise a disputed issue of material fact in valuing the unavowed liens against the property (if the court disregards the tax liens, then under either valuation, there is sufficient equity for Sequoia's lien to attach). The conflicting valuation evidence raises disputed issues of material fact that generally requires an evidentiary hearing because the court has to make credibility determinations as to the valuation opinions. The parties could call their valuation witnesses as witnesses at a hearing, and they may want to take discovery as the broker for Creditor has not inspected the property, and the court can make a determination after hearing their testimony, or the parties could waive their right to an evidentiary hearing, and the court can decide valuation, and the motion, on the papers, or the parties could stipulate to what this court would call the Judge Zurzolo method of valuation that the court appoints an independent appraiser to value the property, and the parties split the cost of the fees for the court appointed expert pursuant to Federal Rule of Evidence 706. The court cannot decide the motion on the papers without an evidentiary hearing unless both parties consent to waive their right to an evidentiary hearing.

Appearances are required on 5/26/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Tentative Ruling:

Revised and updated tentative ruling as of 10/19/20. No tentative ruling on the merits in light of the objection of administrative expense creditor Law Offices of Michael Jay Berger. Debtor should discuss when he would be able to refinance his real property to pay administrative expense claimants since they all have to consent to the proposed treatment of their claims pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 1129(a)(9)A). The plan should incorporate the mandatory language of LBR 3020-1(b) referring to revesting of property of the reorganized debtor in a Chapter 7 estate if the case is converted to Chapter 7 for a postconfirmation default. The plan should correct typographical and spelling errors, such as plan date of "October 7, 2010," or the court being the "Los Angele Division" or the court address of "155 E. Temple St" in the case caption for the plan. Appearances are required on 10/21/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

TO PARTIES WHO INTEND TO APPEAR AT THE HEARING ON THIS MATTER:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the court hearing before Judge Robert Kwan of the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Central District of California will be conducted telephonically. However, instead of having to physically appear in court, you must appear by telephone because the court is not conducting in person hearings on that date in light of the public health conditions from the COVID-19 pandemic. The courtroom will be locked; parties must appear by telephone and will not be permitted to appear in the courtroom.

In order to appear for the court hearing by telephone, you will need to arrange to make the telephone call through CourtCall, the contract telephone appearance service, which arranges telephone appearances before this court.

#3.00 Cont'd status conference re: Post confirmation of plan
fr. 4/29/20, 6/3/20, 8/5/20

Docket 113

Tentative Ruling:

Revised and updated tentative ruling as of 10/20/20. The court has reviewed debtor's declaration filed on 10/20/20 as a follow-up to the post-confirmation status report, filed on 10/7/20, stating that he is current on plan obligations and that he needs more time to address issues with certain creditors before he will be able to file a motion for final decree, requesting a short continuance of the status conference. Having considered debtor's declaration and status report, the court on its own motion continues the status conference to 12/2/20 at 11:00 a.m., waives the requirement of a written status report for 12/2/20 and debtor may report on status orally at that time. No appearances are required on 10/21/20.

#1.00 Hearing re: Motion for relief from stay
(Ruben David Santillan VS Debtor)

Docket 10

Tentative Ruling:

Off calendar. In light of the lack of any timely written opposition to the movant's stay relief motion, the court determines that oral argument on the motion is not necessary and dispenses with oral argument pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(j)(3). The court deems the lack of filing and service of a timely written opposition as consent to granting of the motion, rules on the motion on the papers, and grants relief from stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d) (1) to pursue non-bankruptcy remedies for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition. The 14-day waiting period under FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived. No appearances are required on 10/27/20. Movant to submit a proposed order within 7 days of hearing.

fr. 5/20/20, 7/15/20, 9/23/20

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 10/22/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 10/27/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

TO PARTIES WHO INTEND TO APPEAR AT THE HEARING ON THIS MATTER:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the court hearing before Judge Robert Kwan of the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Central District of California will be conducted telephonically. However, instead of having to physically appear in court, you must appear by telephone because the court is not conducting in person hearings on that date in light of the public health conditions from the COVID-19 pandemic. The courtroom will be locked; parties must appear by telephone and will not be permitted to appear in the courtroom.

In order to appear for the court hearing by telephone, you will need to arrange to make the telephone call through CourtCall, the contract telephone appearance service, which arranges telephone appearances before this court. CourtCall's telephone number is: (866) 582-6878. Through March 31, 2021, CourtCall is offering discounted rates to attorneys and FREE access for parties who do not have an attorney (pro se or self-represented parties). You need make an advance reservation with CourtCall to appear by telephone before the hearing, preferably a week before the hearing, and no later than the day before the hearing. After you made your telephone appearance reservation with CourtCall, on the day of the court hearing, you will need to call CourtCall at its telephone number at least 5 minutes before the scheduled hearing, and identify the United States Bankruptcy Court in Los Angeles as the court and Judge Robert Kwan as the judge, and the CourtCall operator will put you into the telephonic court hearing. Given the large demand for telephone court appearances, there may be some delay in connecting to the hearing. If you are having problems connecting to the hearing, please call and advise Judge Kwan's courtroom deputy at (213) 894-3385.

Prior tentative ruling. No tentative ruling on the merits. Since the parties attended mediation, which did not result in settlement, the court will discuss setting a pretrial conference and a deadline for filing a joint pretrial stipulation. The court will also discuss how the trial will be conducted because the court is not conducting in person hearings at this time. The court may conduct the trial on Zoom depending on the parties' technical capabilities. Appearances are required on 9/23/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 10/22/20. Off calendar. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status report stating that he is preparing to file a motion for default judgment by 11/10/20. Based on this representation, the court on its own motion continues the status conference to 11/17/20 at 1:30 p.m. to allow additional time for plaintiff to finish his preparation of a motion for default judgment. No appearances are required on 10/27/20.

Prior tentative ruling as of 7/31/20. Off calendar. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status report stating that he is preparing to file a motion for default judgment, but the gathering of documents in support thereof is taking longer than anticipated in light of the current situation, though he is hopeful that the motion can be filed within 60 days. Based on these representations, the court on its own motion continues the status conference to 10/27/20 at 1:30 p.m. to allow time for plaintiff to finish his preparation of a motion for default judgment. No appearances are required on 8/4/20.

Prior tentative ruling as of 5/22/20. Appearances are required on 5/26/20 to discuss the status of plaintiff's motion for default judgment and when other further proceedings should be set, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 3/20/20. Off calendar. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status report filed on 3/16/20, stating that he will be filing a motion for default judgment shortly. The court on its own motion continues the status conference for about 60 days to 5/26/20 at 1:30 p.m. to allow time for plaintiff to prepare and file his motion for default judgment. No appearances are required on 3/31/20.

#22.00 Pretrial conference re: Complaint for nondischargeability of debt pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §§523(a)(2)(A) & (a)(6) and 11 U.S.C. §§727(a)(3)-(4), and declaratory relief fr. 5/5/20, 6/16/20, 8/18/20

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 10/22/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 10/27/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

TO PARTIES WHO INTEND TO APPEAR AT THE HEARING ON THIS MATTER:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the court hearing before Judge Robert Kwan of the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Central District of California will be conducted telephonically. However, instead of having to physically appear in court, you must appear by telephone because the court is not conducting in person hearings on that date in light of the public health conditions from the COVID-19 pandemic. The courtroom will be locked; parties must appear by telephone and will not be permitted to appear in the courtroom.

In order to appear for the court hearing by telephone, you will need to arrange to make the telephone call through CourtCall, the contract telephone appearance service, which arranges telephone appearances before this court. CourtCall's telephone number is: (866) 582-6878. Through March 31, 2021, CourtCall is offering discounted rates to attorneys and FREE access for parties who do not have an attorney (pro se or self-represented parties). You need make an advance reservation with CourtCall to appear by telephone before the hearing, preferably a week before the hearing, and no later than the day before the hearing. After you made your telephone appearance reservation with CourtCall, on the day of the court hearing, you will need to call CourtCall at its telephone number at least 5 minutes before the scheduled hearing, and identify the United States Bankruptcy Court in Los

Given the large demand for telephone court appearances, there may be some delay in connecting to the hearing. If you are having problems connecting to the hearing, please call and advise Judge Kwan's courtroom deputy at (213) 894-3385.

Updated tentative ruling as of 8/14/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. Since the status conference was continued due to the failure of one counsel to appear and the court decided not to sanction the attorney for his nonappearance, the court expects that counsel has met and confer regarding rescheduling further proceedings in this matter to be discussed at the status conference on 8/18/20. Appearances are required on 8/18/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 6/12/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 6/16/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is currently closed to the public by orders of the United States District Court for the Central District of California and this court and that this court will not be holding in person hearings by the date of this hearing. Counsel and self-represented parties must arrange their telephonic appearances through CourtCall, which is offering a discount on fees for attorneys and waiving all fees for self-represented parties. Information about arranging a telephonic appearance through CourtCall is posted on the court's website.

Updated tentative ruling as of 5/1/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 5/5/20 to discuss the status of the adversary proceeding, including the status of mediation and settlement negotiations and if not settled, when a pretrial conference should be set, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is closed to the public by order of the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California (Order of the Chief Judge No. 20-042). Prior tentative ruling as of 3/20/20. Off calendar. In light of the rapidly developing public health threat of coronavirus disease (COVID-19) declared a public health emergency in the State of California and the United States of America and the current national and local public health guidance to mitigate the spread of the disease through social distancing, on March 19, 2020, the United States District Court for the Central District of California issued General Order 20-042, which among other things closes all courthouses of the Central District of California to the public, including the Roybal Federal Building, through May 1, 2020, and accordingly, the court on its own motion continues the status conference in this adversary proceeding scheduled for March 31, 2020 at 1:30 p.m. to May 5, 2020 at 1:30 p.m. The court may issue a further order regarding scheduling if the public health threat does not subside. No appearances are required on March 31, 2020 at 1:30 p.m. as the status conference is continued to May 5, 2020 at 1:30 p.m. in Courtroom 1675, Roybal Federal Building, 255 East Temple Street, Los Angeles, California 90012. Counsel for plaintiff is ordered to give notice to the other parties.

Prior tentative ruling as of 10/21/19. Appearances are required on 10/22/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

tentative ruling as of 6/24/19. Schedule a pretrial conference for this adversary proceeding if the matter is not being settled. Appearances are required on 6/25/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 3/25/19. The court has reviewed the stipulation of the parties regarding continuance of scheduled dates and hearings filed on 2/27/19 and based on that stipulation, set a new discovery cutoff date of 5/29/19 and a post-discovery status conference on 6/25/19 at 1:30 p.m. (status conferences are held on Tuesdays at 1:30 p.m.) with a joint status report due on 6/18/19. Order the matter to mediation, and the parties to file a selection of mediator and alternate mediator by 4/15/19 and complete mediation by 6/25/19. No appearances are required on 9/18/18. Plaintiffs to submit a proposed scheduling order within 7 days.

Prior tentative ruling as of 9/17/18. Set a discovery cutoff date of 2/28/19 and a post-discovery status conference on 3/26/19 at 1:30 p.m. with a joint status report due on 3/19/19. Order the matter to mediation, and the parties to file a selection of mediator and alternate mediator by 10/31/18 and complete mediation by 3/26/19. Appearances are required on 9/18/18, but counsel may appear by telephone. Plaintiffs to submit a proposed scheduling order within 7 days of the status conference.

Prior tentative ruling as of 7/30/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 7/31/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. The court has reviewed the unilateral status reports filed by the parties. The court continues the status conference to 7/31/18 at 2:30 p.m. to be conducted with the hearing on defendants' amended motion to dismiss. No appearances are required on 7/10/18.

Although the parties failed to file a timely joint status report as required by Local Bankruptcy Rule 7016-1 and the court's status conference order, the court will not require at this time for the parties to file an updated and amended joint status report in light of the pendency of defendants' motion to dismiss.

However, the court notes that plaintiff has a jury trial demand on the face of the complaint, which the court will strike because there is no right to a jury trial on debt dischargeability and discharge denial claims in the adversary proceeding. The court also notes that the parties' consent to this court's jurisdiction to enter a final judgment on these core claims is not needed.

#24.00 Hearing re: Trustee's final report and account;
Application for fees and expenses
[Howard M. Ehrenberg, Chapter 7 Trustee]

Docket 36

Tentative Ruling:

Off calendar. In light of the lack of any timely written opposition to the trustee's final report and fee application, the court determines that oral argument on the final report and fee application is not necessary and dispenses with oral argument pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(j)(3). The court deems the lack of filing and service of a timely written opposition as consent to approval of the final report and fee application, rules on the final report and fee application on the papers, and approves the final report and fee application for the reasons stated in the final report and fee application and for lack of timely written opposition. No appearances are required on 10/27/20. Trustee to lodge a proposed order within 7 days of hearing.

#6.00 Cont'd hearing re: Motion for order approving disclosure statement
fr. 8/5/20, 9/9/20, 9/23/20

Docket 318

Tentative Ruling:

Revised and updated tentative ruling as of 10/26/20. No tentative ruling on the merits in light of conditional objection of creditor LoanCare, LLC, asserting that it is oversecured, but that plan understates the value of its lien and the collateral. According to this creditor, the parties have discussed a stipulation regarding treatment of its claim, but none has been executed yet. The court has reviewed the plan and disclosure statement and notes that they address the court's concerns raised as to the first amended plan and disclosure statement stated in the tentative ruling on 9/22/20 at the last hearing on the disclosure statement on 9/23/20. Further revised and updated tentative ruling as of 9/22/20. The court notes that since the last hearing, debtor has reached tentative agreement with the two secured creditors which objected to his disclosure statement. Debtor and Rehabbers Financial filed a stipulation on 9/16/20 that the creditor would refrain from objecting to the first amended disclosure statement, if certain language was included in the amended disclosure statement, but reserving any right to object to plan confirmation. Debtor and Green Lawn filed a joint statement on 9/21/20 that they have reached a tentative agreement as to plan treatment of Green Lawn's secured claim, provided that such language for such treatment is included in the disclosure statement before the hearing on 9/23/20, but as of 9/21/20, the language has not yet been included in the disclosure statement.

Because the Dunsmuir property was debtor's residence as of the petition date, the rights of the holders of claims secured only by a security interest in that property are protected by the anti-modification provisions of 11 U.S.C. 1123(b)(5), namely, the secured claims of U.S. Bank and Coral Mortgage Holdings, see In re Abdelgadir, 455 B.R. 896 (9th Cir. BAP 2011), and the court cannot confirm a plan containing such modifications in violation of the Bankruptcy Code under 11 U.S.C. 1129(a). Accordingly, the proposed five modifications of the rights of those claims should be deleted, though debtor may properly cure or obtain waiver of defaults based on those rights in this case under 11 U.S.C. 1123(a)(5)(G).

Debtor must include in the disclosure statement, plan and/or plan confirmation order the mandatory language of LBR 3020-1(b) that property of the reorganized debtor or successor in interest vests in the Chapter 7 estate if the case is converted to Chapter 7.

Regarding the professional compensation enforcement provisions in Exhibit H, which are apparently additional contractual provisions subject to California law, the unilateral attorneys' fee recovery provision is subject to California Civil Code 1717, which makes it bilateral and awardable only to the prevailing party, and only reasonable attorneys' fees are awardable as recovery costs under California Code of Civil Procedure 1033.5(a)(10)(A), (B) and (C). Counsel must also explain the rationale for the proposed 10 percent interest rate on the judgment for professional compensation awarded on a final basis in this case since the award of fees will be a federal judgment and the federal postjudgment rate under 28 U.S.C. 1961 is less than 10 percent, i.e., the weekly average 1-year constant maturity (nominal) Treasury yield, as published by the Federal Reserve System.

The language regarding the treatment of Class 12 general unsecured claims (page 15 of the Plan and page 29 of the disclosure statement) needs to be clarified. The liquidation analysis on page 47 of the disclosure statement states that 100 percent of Class 12 claims will be paid, but the treatment stated on page 29 of the plan does not state that. Page 29 states that it depends on the outcome of the Class 7 claimholder election and the outcome of claim objections. The language should specify a minimum distribution with estimates based on certain outcomes relating to the Class 7 claimholder election and the outcome of claim objection litigation. Also, the treatment on page 20 does not specify when claims will be paid other than in "equal monthly installments" without stating the duration of payments, i.e., when they start and when they end, or over a specified number of months. The treatment refers to the Exhibit G , Plan Spreadsheet, but that does not show the duration of the plan payments since the financial and payment information is lumped into yearly totals for the last three years of the plan.

The language of Section II.D.6, Creditors Enjoined During Plan (page 20 of the Plan and pages 34-35 of the disclosure statement) is problematic. The reference to "interested parties" is vague and ambiguous, and should refer to "creditors, interest holders and other parties in interest" as in the court's form Chapter 11 plan, that is, creditors who are mainly affected by this provision should be specifically identified. This language should be revised.

The reference to Section 362(a) of the Bankruptcy Code should be more specific as in the court's form Chapter 11 plan that creditors, interest holders and other parties in interest may not take action to enforce preconfirmation obligations, or any obligations under the plan, so long as the debtor is not in material default of the plan. Creditors and other parties should not have to look up Section 362(a) to see what they can do. If debtor wants to refer to Section 362(a) as well, that is okay since the stay is in effect until the estate property reverts in the reorganized debtor upon entry of the final decree pursuant to the plan, but the plan should specify what are the restrained actions, and once the final decree is entered, the stay is no longer in effect as the discharge injunction would apply.

The language restraining creditors from "taking any actions . . . which may impede or interfere with the implementation or administration of this Plan" is vague and ambiguous as what a creditor may believe is vindicating its rights, debtor may consider to be impeding or interfering with the plan, and thus very debatable. This provision should be revised. The plan language should state that creditors cannot take action to enforce their preconfirmation obligations or plan obligations unless debtor is in material default as in the court's form Chapter 11 plan.

There is no authority for the provision that if creditors seek relief from this provision and relief is denied, debtor is entitled to his legal fees and costs which may not be set off against any claim. Such provision is inconsistent with the American Rule, and if there is a statute or rule that provides for fees and costs, it would be to a prevailing party. This provision should be stricken.

From the court's form Chapter 11 plan, F3018-1.CH11.PLAN:

D. Actions Restrained. Creditors, interest holders and other parties in interest may not take any action to enforce preconfirmation obligations, or any obligations due under this Plan, so long as Debtor is not in material default under this Plan (as defined below). If Debtor is in material default under this Plan, then any party in interest may: (1) take any action permitted under nonbankruptcy law either (a) to enforce the terms of this Plan as a contract of Debtor or (b) to pursue nonbankruptcy remedies including collection of the entire nondischarged dollar amount of any claim held by such person, or (2) if this case is still pending, move to dismiss this case or to convert this case to one under chapter 7, or seek other relief from the bankruptcy court. If this case is converted to chapter 7 at any time, then property will revert in the chapter 7 estate, and the automatic stay will be reimposed upon the reverted property only to the extent that relief from stay was not previously granted by the court during this case.

E. Material Default Defined. If Debtor (1) fails to make any payment required under this Plan, or (2) fails to perform any other obligation required under this Plan for more than 14 days after the time specified in this Plan, or (3) performs any act that is inconsistent with the terms of this Plan, then any affected creditor, interest holder, or other party in interest may file and serve upon Debtor and Debtor's attorney (if any) a written notice of default at their most recent address(es) listed in this case. Debtor is in material default under this Plan if Debtor fails within 21 days after service of that notice of default, plus an additional 3 days if served by mail, either to cure the default or obtain from the court an extension of time to cure the default or a determination that no material default occurred. Notwithstanding the other provisions of this paragraph, to the extent that Debtor has assumed an executory contract or unexpired lease, or to the extent that a creditor retains a lien under this Plan that was a consensual lien, the default provisions of that contract, lease, or lien documentation govern what constitutes a default for purposes of the rights and remedies thereunder, all subject to applicable nonbankruptcy law and any exceptions set forth in this Plan.

Otherwise, no tentative ruling on the merits. It would be helpful if the amended disclosure statement is approved, the parties should advise whether this will be a contested plan confirmation proceeding, such as regarding disputes over plan treatment of specific claims, plan feasibility, cramdown interest rates or property valuation. Appearances are required on 9/23/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 9/4/20. The court notes that debtor filed his amended disclosure statement and plan on 9/3/20. At the last hearing on the original disclosure statement, counsel for debtor stated that the disclosure statement would be amended to address the concerns of objecting creditors and to obtain their consent. The responding parties should indicate whether the amended disclosure statement may proceed with consent, or whether additional time is needed to respond to the amended disclosure statement or whether they object. Otherwise, no tentative ruling on the merits at this time. Appearances are required on 9/9/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. Since debtor acknowledges in his reply to the objections of creditors that he will need to make revisions to the disclosure statement to address the objections to these documents, the court will defer a ruling on the disclosure statement until these revisions are made. Debtor will need to resolve the disputes regarding the amount of the secured claims of the objecting creditors either informally as indicated by debtor with respect to Green Lawn or by claim objections under FRBP 3007 with respect to both creditors if he cannot reach an agreement. Contrary to debtor's statements in the disclosure statement, disputes over the amounts of the secured claims are not going to be resolved in hearings on the disclosure statement or plan, but through consensual resolution, a claim objection under FRBP 3007, a motion to value secured claim under FRBP 3012 or an adversary proceeding to determine validity and extent of lien under FRBP 7001. In re Dynamic Brokers, Inc., 293 B.R. 489 (9th Cir. BAP 2003); see also, FRBP 3012(b) (determination of amount of a secured claim may be made by motion, a claim objection or Chapter 12 or 13 plan, which rule does not include a Chapter 11 plan). As indicated in the reply, debtor will agree to revise the disclosure statement and plan to address some of the concerns raised by the objecting creditors, but not as to others. The court agrees with debtor in part that certain objections raised by the creditors are issues to be determined at plan confirmation, such as cramdown interest rate, feasibility, good faith and absolute priority test satisfaction. Appearances are required on 8/5/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Chapter 11

#7.10 Cont'd status conference re: Post confirmation of plan
fr. 7/22/20, 9/30/20, 10/14/20

Docket 119

Tentative Ruling:

Revised and updated tentative ruling as of 10/27/20. The court has reviewed the status report filed by debtor reporting that it is now pursuing a loan refinancing transaction for its real property to pay creditors rather than a sale. Debtor has filed an application for a hearing of its motion to modify plan on shortened notice, but provided no authority for the court to hear the plan modification motion on less than 21 days notice required by FRBP 2002(a)(5). Otherwise, no tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 10/28/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

TO PARTIES WHO INTEND TO APPEAR AT THE HEARING ON THIS MATTER:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the court hearing before Judge Robert Kwan of the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Central District of California will be conducted telephonically. However, instead of having to physically appear in court, you must appear by telephone because the court is not conducting in person hearings on that date in light of the public health conditions from the COVID-19 pandemic. The courtroom will be locked; parties must appear by telephone and will not be permitted to appear in the courtroom.

In order to appear for the court hearing by telephone, you will need to arrange to make the telephone call through CourtCall, the contract telephone appearance service, which arranges telephone appearances before this court. CourtCall's telephone number is: (866) 582-6878. Through March 31, 2021, CourtCall is offering discounted rates to attorneys and FREE access for parties who do not have an attorney (pro se or self-represented parties). You need make an advance reservation with CourtCall to appear by telephone before the hearing, preferably a week before the hearing, and no later than the day before the hearing. Revised and updated tentative ruling as of 10/27/20. Off calendar. Continued by stipulation and order to 11/18/20 at 2:30 p.m. No appearances are required on 10/28/20.

Prior tentative ruling as of 10/26/20. The court is not inclined to rule on the motion to compel discovery at this time because the motion is not ripe for adjudication as compliance with LBR 7026-1(c) requiring a joint discovery dispute stipulation is lacking. Also, apparently, the parties have not had a discovery dispute conference pursuant to LBR 7026-1(c). Preliminarily, the same concerns regarding movant's FRBP 2004 examination of the plan agent and the reorganized debtor are probably applicable here either based on issue preclusion or the law of the case doctrine. Otherwise, no tentative ruling on the merits, and the court is inclined to continue or vacate the hearing so that the parties may comply with LBR 7026-1(c). Appearances are required on 10/28/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Docket 115

 VACATED  REASON: Trial vacated per order entered on 10/22/20-mb.

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 10/23/20. Off calendar. The trial scheduled for 10/29/20 at 9:00 a.m. has been vacated by order entered on 10/22/20 in light of the court's consideration of the motion of debtor to stay bankruptcy court proceedings pending state appellate court proceedings relating to the claim of creditor U.S. Bank, N.A., as trustee for Velocity Commercial Capital Trust 2014-1. No appearances are required on 10/29/20.

Prfior tentative ruling. Treat the motion objecting to claim as a contested matter under FRBP 9014 and set a schedule of pretrial proceedings, including discovery, since there are disputed issues of material fact. Parties should confer regarding an appropriate schedule if they can. Appearances are required on 5/8/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Creditor may be entitled to its claim for attorneys' fees under 11 U.S.C. 506(b) pursuant to contract based on its loan agreement secured by deed of trust, which were upheld as valid in the state court litigation. The four elements for a claim under 11 U.S.C. 506(b) are: (1) its claim is an allowed secured claim; (2) it is an oversecured creditor; (3) the fees it asserts are reasonable; and (4) the fees it asserts are provided for under an agreement under which such claim arose, or the fees are provided for under a state statute under which the creditor's claim arose. In re Astle, 364 B.R. 735, 741 (Bankr. D. Idaho 2007). The claim is an allowed secured claim based on the state court judgment, though the judgment is on appeal. The creditor is an oversecured creditor, which is not in dispute. The reasonableness of the fees it asserts is in material dispute. Creditor has only submitted redacted versions of its counsel's fee statements, which do not provide sufficient information for the court to review for reasonableness. Creditor must file unredacted versions, or submit unredacted versions in camera with a privilege log if creditor claims that the reacted matter is privileged. Debtor as the objecting party must carry its burden of explaining what in the fee statements are unreasonable or at least what would be reasonable under the circumstances. In re Koncicky, 2007 WL 7540997 (9th Cir. BAP 2007)(unpublished memorandum opinion) (citation omitted). Debtor has the responsibility to challenge the information and provide evidence controverting that produced by creditor. Id. Debtor has not met this burden. The fees that creditor asserts are provided by the loan agreement between it and its borrower providing for reasonable attorneys' fees if it incurs or pays to maintain, protect or enforce its rights under the loan agreement as secured by the deed of trust. Exhibits A and C to Favela Declaration. Case law in California allows such fees to be added to the balance under the promissory note secured by trust deed. Chacker v. JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A., 27 Cal.App.5th 351, 356-358 (2018). However, there is no separate award of attorneys' fees authorized by statute, such as California Civil Code 1717 because debtor is not a signatory to the contract in the loan agreement and creditor has not otherwise shown that it would have been liable for the fees of the opposing party if the opposing party had prevailed. Asphalt Professionals, Inc. v. Davis (In re Davis), 595 B.R. 818, 837 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2019), citing, Dell Merk, Inc. v. Franzia, 132 Cal.App.4th 443, 441 (2005). Thus, creditor will need to submit fully unredacted copies of its fee statements to the court, and debtor will need to explain what in the fee statements are unreasonable and/or produce evidence showing that the fees are unreasonable.

Docket 45

Tentative Ruling:

Service of the moving papers appears deficient as the proof of service indicates that creditor DirectTV listed on the creditor mailing matrix and one of the creditors filing a proof of claim was not served as required by FRBP 2002(a)(2) and 6004(a). Trustee will need to address the service deficiency. Otherwise, the court is inclined to grant trustee's motion for order authorizing sale of real property outside ordinary course of business pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 363(b), approving sales and overbid procedures and broker's commission, grant waiver of 14-day stay of enforcement of sale order pursuant to FRBP 6004(h) for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition, but no tentative ruling as to determining purchaser as entitled to good faith purchaser status under 11 U.S.C. 363(m) as an auction to consider overbids may be required. Tentative Ruling:

Revised and updated tentative ruling as of 11/4/20. At the continued hearing on 11/4/20, the court expects to call upon the United States Trustee for a report on his investigation. Revised and updated tentative ruling as of 10/27/20. The court has reviewed the status report filed by debtor reporting that it is now pursuing a loan refinancing transaction for its real property to pay creditors rather than a sale. Debtor has filed an application for a hearing of its motion to modify plan on shortened notice, but provided no authority for the court to hear the plan modification motion on less than 21 days notice required by FRBP 2002(a)(5). Otherwise, no tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 10/28/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 6/30/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, this court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter and that this court will not be holding in person hearings by the date of this hearing. Counsel and self-represented parties must arrange their telephonic appearances through CourtCall, which is offering a discount on fees for attorneys and waiving all fees for self-represented parties. Information about arranging a telephonic appearance through CourtCall is posted on the court's website.

Docket 23

Tentative Ruling:

Off calendar. In light of the lack of any timely written opposition to the trustee's motion for order authorizing sale of personal pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 363(b) and (f) and (f) and employment of Van Horn Auctions and Appraisal Group, LLC, as auctioneer, the court determines that oral argument on the motion is not necessary and dispenses with oral argument pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(j)(3). The court deems the lack of filing and service of a timely written opposition as consent to granting of the motion, rules on the motion on the papers, and grants the motion for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition. In granting the motion, the court waives the requirements for lodging periods imposed by the Local Bankruptcy Rules and other rules and the stay on enforcement of the order imposed by FRBP 60064(h) and any other applicable rules. No appearances are required on 11/10/20. Trustee to lodge a proposed order within 7 days of hearing.

Revised and updated tentative ruling as of 11/4/20. At the continued hearing on 11/4/20, the court expects to call upon the United States Trustee for a report on his investigation. After this report, the court may ask the parties to address the following questions: (1) as movant is requesting that the court set aside the order approving the Binafard compromise/sale motion pursuant to FRCP 60(b)(1) and (3), In re Ex-Cel Concrete Co., Inc., 178 B.R. 198 (9th Cir. BAP 1995) (bankruptcy court abused its discretion to deny FRCP 60(b) motion when no notice given to secured creditor of motion to sell free and clear as sale order was void for lack of due process), based on a finding that the trustee failed to serve it as a creditor with the Binafard compromise motion as required by FRBP 2002(a)(2) and/or (3), does the evidence in the record consisting of the original and amended proofs of service, the declarations of the legal assistant for trustee's counsel, Casas, and movant's former counsel, Sment, conflict, require credibility determinations that necessitate an evidentiary hearing for the court to make findings to resolve disputed issues of material fact, FRBP 9014(d) and (e); Tyner v. Nicholson (In re Nicholson), 435 B.R. 622, 635-636 (9th Cir. BAP 2010); (2) were the terms of the Binafard compromise/sale motion fair and equitable under FRBP 9019 and do the circumstances of the compromise for sale of the real property warrant the court's discretion to apply the sale procedures of 11 U.S.C. 363, including overbidding, In re Berkeley Delaware Court, LLC, 834 F.3d 1036, 1040 (9th Cir. 2016) (the bankruptcy court has discretion to apply 11 U.S.C. 363 procedures to a sale of claims pursuant to a settlement approved under FRBP 9019); In re Mickey Thompson Entertainment Group, Inc., 292 B.R. 415, 421-422 and n. 7 (9th Cir.  VACATED  REASON: Cont'd fr 11/17/20 to 12/15/20 at 1:30 p.m.
per stip and order entered on 10/30/20-mb.

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 11/13/20. Off calendar. Continued by stipulation and order to 12/15/20 at 1:30 p.m. No appearances are required on 11/17/20.

Revised and updated tentative ruling as of 8/3/20. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral statement for the status conference filed on 8/3/20. Apparently, the mediation has not yet been conducted. According to plaintiff in his statement, he believes that an in person mediation would be more successful than one by videoconference, but defendant is not willing to have an in person mediation in light of current pandemic conditions, suggesting that the parties be allowed to complete an in person mediation by February 2021, assuming the pandemic subsides. Since the statement was unilateral, the court will hear from both parties as to the status of the pending mediation and the scheduling of further proceedings, including whether plaintiff intends to further amend the complaint as stated in its motion to extend discovery deadlines filed on 6/30/20. Appearances are required on 8/4/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

TO PARTIES WHO INTEND TO APPEAR AT THE HEARING ON THIS MATTER:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the court hearing before Judge Robert Kwan of the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Central District of California will be conducted telephonically. However, instead of having to physically appear in court, you must appear by telephone because the court is not conducting in person hearings on that date in light of the public health conditions from the COVID-19 pandemic. The courtroom will be locked; parties must appear by telephone and will not be permitted to appear in the courtroom.

In order to appear for the court hearing by telephone, you will need to arrange to make the telephone call through CourtCall, the contract telephone appearance service, which arranges telephone appearances before this court. CourtCall's telephone number is: (866) 582-6878. Through September 30, 2020, CourtCall is offering discounted rates to attorneys and FREE access for parties who do not have an attorney (pro se or self-represented parties). After you made your telephone appearance reservation with CourtCall, on the day of the court hearing, you will need to call CourtCall at its telephone number at least 15 minutes before the scheduled hearing, and identify the United States Bankruptcy Court in Los Angeles as the court and Judge Robert Kwan as the judge, and the CourtCall operator will put you into the telephonic court hearing. Given the large demand for telephone court appearances, there may be some delay in connecting to the hearing. If you are having problems connecting to the hearing, please call and advise Judge Kwan's courtroom deputy at (213) 894-3385.

Prior tentative ruling as of 4/27/20. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral status report and defendant's joinder and grants joint request to continue scheduling dates as follows: (1) discovery cutoff date extended from 3/31/20 to 6/30/20; (2) status report filing due date extended from 4/21/20 to 7/28/20; (3) status conference continued from 4/28/20 at 1:30 p.m. to 8/4/20 at 1:30 p.m.; and (4) mediation completion deadline extended from 4/28/20 to 8/4/20. Plaintiff to lodge a proposed updated scheduling order within 7 days.

Appearances are optional on 4/28/20, but counsel and self-represented parties may and should appear by telephone, if appearing. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is closed to the public by order of the chief judge of the United States District Court for the Central District of California (Order of the Chief Revised tentative ruling as of 10/7/19. The court has reviewed modified joint status report. Set a discovery cutoff date of 3/31/20, and a post-discovery status conference on 4/28/20 at 1:30 p.m. with a joint status report due on 4/21/20. Defendant should address why the matter is not amenable to mediation. Appearances are required on 10/8/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 7/29/19. No tentative ruling in light of the pending motion to dismiss the second amended complaint. The court will hear argument on the motion to dismiss at the same time as the status conference on the 1:30 p.m. calendar. Appearances are required on 7/30/19 at 1:30 p.m., but counsel may appear by telephone.

Updated tentative ruling as of 8/14/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. Since the status conference was continued due to the failure of one counsel to appear and the court decided not to sanction the attorney for his nonappearance, the court expects that counsel has met and confer regarding rescheduling further proceedings in this matter to be discussed at the status conference on 8/18/20. Appearances are required on 8/18/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 5/1/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 5/5/20 to discuss the status of the adversary proceeding, including the status of mediation and settlement negotiations and if not settled, when a pretrial conference should be set, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 3/20/20. Off calendar. In light of the rapidly developing public health threat of coronavirus disease (COVID-19) declared a public health emergency in the State of California and the United States of America and the current national and local public health guidance to mitigate the spread of the disease through social distancing, on March 19, 2020, the United States District Court for the Central District of California issued General Order 20-042, which among other things closes all courthouses of the Central District of California to the public, including the Roybal Federal Building, through May 1, 2020, and accordingly, the court on its own motion continues the status conference in this adversary proceeding scheduled for March 31, 2020 at 1:30 p.m. to May 5, 2020 at 1:30 p.m. The court may issue a further order regarding scheduling if the public health threat does not subside. No appearances are required on March 31, 2020 at 1:30 p.m. as the status conference is continued to May 5, 2020 at 1:30 p.m. in Courtroom 1675, Roybal Federal Building, 255 East Temple Street, Los Angeles, California 90012. Counsel for plaintiff is ordered to give notice to the other parties.

Prior tentative ruling as of 10/21/19. Appearances are required on 10/22/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

tentative ruling as of 6/24/19. Schedule a pretrial conference for this adversary proceeding if the matter is not being settled. Appearances are required on 6/25/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 3/25/19. The court has reviewed the stipulation of the parties regarding continuance of scheduled dates and hearings filed on 2/27/19 and based on that stipulation, set a new discovery cutoff date of 5/29/19 and a post-discovery status conference on 6/25/19 at 1:30 p.m. (status conferences are held on Tuesdays at 1:30 p.m.) with a joint status report due on 6/18/19. Order the matter to mediation, and the parties to file a selection of mediator and alternate mediator by 4/15/19 and complete mediation by 6/25/19. No appearances are required on 9/18/18. Plaintiffs to submit a proposed scheduling order within 7 days.

Prior tentative ruling as of 9/17/18. Set a discovery cutoff date of 2/28/19 and a post-discovery status conference on 3/26/19 at 1:30 p.m. with a joint status report due on 3/19/19. Order the matter to mediation, and the parties to file a selection of mediator and alternate mediator by 10/31/18 and complete mediation by 3/26/19. Appearances are required on 9/18/18, but counsel may appear by telephone. Plaintiffs to submit a proposed scheduling order within 7 days of the status conference.

Prior tentative ruling as of 7/30/18. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 7/31/18, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. The court has reviewed the unilateral status reports filed by the parties. The court continues the status conference to 7/31/18 at 2:30 p.m. to be conducted with the hearing on defendants' amended motion to dismiss. No appearances are required on 7/10/18.

Chapter 7

Although the parties failed to file a timely joint status report as required by Local Bankruptcy Rule 7016-1 and the court's status conference order, the court will not require at this time for the parties to file an updated and amended joint status report in light of the pendency of defendants' motion to dismiss.

However, the court notes that plaintiff has a jury trial demand on the face of the complaint, which the court will strike because there is no right to a jury trial on debt dischargeability and discharge denial claims in the adversary proceeding. The court also notes that the parties' consent to this court's jurisdiction to enter a final judgment on these core claims is not needed.

#20.00 Hearing re: Trustee's final report and account;
Application for fees and expenses
[Carolyn A. Dye, Chapter 7 Trustee]

Docket 72

Tentative Ruling:

Off calendar. In light of the lack of any timely written opposition to the trustee's final report and fee application, the court determines that oral argument on the final report and fee application is not necessary and dispenses with oral argument pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(j)(3). The court deems the lack of filing and service of a timely written opposition as consent to approval of the final report and fee application, rules on the final report and fee application on the papers, and approves the final report and fee application for the reasons stated in the final report and fee application and for lack of timely written opposition. No appearances are required on 11/17/20. Trustee to lodge a proposed order within 7 days of hearing.

#1.00 Cont'd hearing re: Disclosure statement
fr. 6/3/20, 7/22/20, 9/16/20

Docket 164

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 11/16/20. Sustain objections of creditor U.S. Bank N.A. as trustee and deny approval of amended disclosure statement for the reasons stated in the objections. Debtor has not properly challenged the amount of the secured claim or lien of U.S. Bank valued in the proof of claim at $1.2 million, which is prima facie correct pursuant to FRBP 3001(f), through an objection to the secured claim in excess of the proposed value of $750,000 in the disclosure statement pursuant to FRBP 3007, a motion to value secured claim under FRBP 3012 or an adversary proceeding to determine validity, priority or extent of lien pursuant to FRBP 7001(2). The disclosure statement contains no admissible valuation evidence to support debtor's valuation of the collateral subject to U.S. Bank's lien at $750,000, and according to creditor, debtor has failed to cooperate with the creditor's attempts to conduct an independent appraisal of the property. Also, the plan is patently unconfirmable since the priority tax claims must be paid within 5 years of the petition date or order for relief on 4/27/22 pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 1129(a)(9)(C), which is about 15 months from now, and the plan proposes to pay such claims off in 28 months.

Chapter 11

Regarding creditor MTGLQ Investors, LP's objection to debtor's disclosure statement, the court has the following comments. Regarding the sufficiency of debtor's organizational status, debtor should address creditor's contention that it is not in active organizational status as a Utah limited liability company. Regarding its objection to Option 1, the treatment there is only an option and apparently offered to incentivize that creditor with a higher interest rate and valuation of the secured claim. However, it is only an alternative as the default is Option 2, which is the proposed treatment of the claim, which does not eliminate the unsecured claim in violation of due process of law.

Regarding creditor's objection to Option 2, debtor argues that it may proceed under the "new value" exception to the absolute priority rule, and whether the proposed new value is sufficient to qualify for the exception is probably an issue for plan confirmation. See In re Ambanc La Mesa Ltd. Partnership, 115 F.3d 650, 654-655 (9th Cir. 1997). As to the proposed payout of unsecured claims over 90 calendar quarters, or 22.5 years, the issue is also probably a plan confirmation issue. If a creditor objects, it is highly unlikely that the court would overrule the objection because 22.5 years is unreasonably long for unsecured creditors to be paid. If there were no objection, the creditors could consent to such treatment by voting in favor of the plan. In the court's view, debtor has an uphill battle to demonstrate a payout longer than 5 years on unsecured claims is fair and equitable, especially since this case has been pending for almost four years, resulting in a wait of almost nine years for unsecured creditors to be paid in this case.

Regarding the value of the Cold Plains property, there is apparently a dispute regarding valuation of the property and creditor's secured claim. The parties should advise whether they agree to a value or if there will be a factual dispute over valuation of the property and the secured claim. If there is going to be a dispute over the value of the secured claim, the court will require debtor to file a motion to value the secured claim under FRBP 3012 or an adversary proceeding pursuant to FRBP 7001 rather than litigating value through plan confirmation proceedings.

Regarding the creditor's objection to the reduction of creditor's secured claim by the amount of the adequate protection payments, the creditor is correct in asserting that creditor should be given credit for the rental income on the property under 11 U.S.C. 552(b) and the holding of In re Ambanc La Mesa Ltd. Partnership, 115 F.3d at 654, though debtor is correct in asserting that the adequate protection payments reduce the amount of the secured claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 361(1) as creditor is undersecured and cannot claim postpetition interest as part of its secured claim. See also, United Savings Association of Texas v. Timbers of Inwood Forest Associates, Ltd., 484 U.S. 365, 372-374 (1988). If debtor does not give credit to creditor on calculating its secured claim for the postpetition rental income contrary to Ambanc La Mesa, such would be grounds for denial of confirmation as not treating the dissenting secured class fairly and equitably, and would make the plan patently unconfirmable to warrant disapproval of the disclosure statement on the merits. See In re Arnold, 471 B.R. 578, 586 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2012).

Regarding the adequacy of the financial information for the disclosure statement, the court agrees with creditor's objection that the financial information provided is skimpy and inadequate. The income and expense statement is deficient because there is no information of expenses and there is no historical information of income and expenses. Appending bank statements and monthly operating reports is not an adequate substitute for providing historical information of income and expenses and reasonable future projections of income and expenses, which should be presented on a spreadsheet form, at least, two years back and five years forward.

The court will grant limited amount of time to debtor to further amend the disclosure statement to address these concerns, or may soon issue an order to show cause re: dismissal, given the lack of apparent progress in confirming plan in this case.

Appearances are required on 6/3/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is currently closed to the public by orders of the United States District Court for the Central District of California and this court and that this court will not be holding in person hearings by the date of this hearing. Chapter 11

#2.00 Cont'd status conference re: Management of chapter 11 case
fr. 6/3/20, 7/22/20, 9/16/20

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 11/17/20. The court has reviewed debtor's status report filed on 11/16/20, stating that it is committed to obtaining a consensual resolution of the dispute with the secured creditor U.S. Bank, N.A., as trustee, regarding plan treatment, and requesting a 60 day continuance of the status conference and disclosure statement hearing. The court will consider this request after hearing from the parties.

As stated in the original tentative ruling for the status conference on 11/18/20, due to the lack of progress in confirming a reorganization plan in this case, filed on 4/27/17, over 3.5 years ago, the court is considering issuing an order to show cause why this case should not be dismissed for substantial or continuing loss or diminution of the estate and the absence of a reasonable likelihood of rehabilitation pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 1112(b)(4)(A) or issuing an order setting a deadline for confirming the plan and dismissal of the case for failure to meet the deadline pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 1112(b)(4)(J) as the case has been pending for over 3.5 years without an approved disclosure statement or confirmed plan. Appearances are required on 11/18/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

TO PARTIES WHO INTEND TO APPEAR AT THE HEARING ON THIS MATTER:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the court hearing before Judge Robert Kwan of the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Central District of California will be conducted telephonically. However, instead of having to physically appear in court, you must appear by telephone because the court is not conducting in person hearings on that date in light of the public health conditions from the COVID-19 pandemic. Having reviewed the fourth amended disclosure statement and plan, the court has a number of changes to correct typographical and style errors and to clarify terms: (1) references to sections of the Bankruptcy Code, 11 U.S.C., should be to "11 U.S.C.", not just the section symbols; (2) references to the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure should be spelled out, not just "Bankruptcy Rules," which could also refer to the Local Bankruptcy Rules; (3) references to "C.C.P." should be spelled out, i.e., California Code of Civil Procedure; (4) references to debtor's real estate assets should not just be to a street address without reference to the city and should be to "real property at 325 W. Las Flores Ave., Arcadia, California," for example; (5) the amount owed to debtor's bankruptcy counsel, Fredman Lieberman Pearl LLP of "$500,0000 est." has an extra zero; (6) "Admin" in Non-Professional Admin Claim" should be spelled out as "Administrative"; (7) regarding Retention of Jurisdiction in Plan, Section V.H, delete last sentence of section, otherwise, the ability of the debtor or plan trustee to request reopening of the case may be unduly restricted; (8) regarding Discharge, Plan, Section VI.A, debtor needs to explain the legal authority for discharge of debtor upon the effective date if all creditors voting on the plan vote to accept the plan since such language does not appear to be compatible with 11 U.S.C. 1141(d)(5)(A) providing that the court may grant a discharge upon the completion of payments. Docket 763

 VACATED  REASON: Cont'd from 11/18/20 to 12/2/20 at 2:30 p.m. per stip & order entered on 11/16/20-mb.

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 11/16/20. Off calendar. Continued by stipulation and order to 12/2/20 at 2:30 p.m. No appearances are required on 11/18/20.

Prior tentative ruling as of 10/27/20. Off calendar. Continued by stipulation and order to 11/18/20 at 2:30 p.m. No appearances are required on 10/28/20.

Prior tentative ruling as of 10/26/20. The court is not inclined to rule on the motion to compel discovery at this time because the motion is not ripe for adjudication as compliance with LBR 7026-1(c) requiring a joint discovery dispute stipulation is lacking. Also, apparently, the parties have not had a discovery dispute conference pursuant to LBR 7026-1(c). Preliminarily, the same concerns regarding movant's FRBP 2004 examination of the plan agent and the reorganized debtor are probably applicable here either based on issue preclusion or the law of the case doctrine. Otherwise, no tentative ruling on the merits, and the court is inclined to continue or vacate the hearing so that the parties may comply with LBR 7026-1(c). Appearances are required on 10/28/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 11/9/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 11/10/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Revised and updated tentative ruling as of 11/4/20. At the continued hearing on 11/4/20, the court expects to call upon the United States Trustee for a report on his investigation. After this report, the court may ask the parties to address the following questions: (1) as movant is requesting that the court set aside the order approving the Binafard compromise/sale motion pursuant to FRCP 60(b)(1) and (3), In re Ex-Cel Concrete Co., Inc., 178 B.R. 198 (9th Cir. BAP 1995) (bankruptcy court abused its discretion to deny FRCP 60(b) motion when no notice given to secured creditor of motion to sell free and clear as sale order was void for lack of due process), based on a finding that the trustee failed to serve it as a creditor with the Binafard compromise motion as required by FRBP 2002(a)(2) and/or (3), does the evidence in the record consisting of the original and amended proofs of service, the declarations of the legal assistant for trustee's counsel, Casas, and movant's former counsel, Sment, conflict, require credibility determinations that necessitate an evidentiary hearing for the court to make findings to resolve disputed issues of material fact, FRBP 9014(d) and (e); Tyner v. Nicholson (In re Nicholson), 435 B.R. 622, 635-636 (9th Cir. BAP 2010); (2) were the terms of the Binafard compromise/sale motion fair and equitable under FRBP 9019 and do the circumstances of the compromise for sale of the real property warrant the court's discretion to apply the sale procedures of 11 U.S.C. 363, including overbidding, In re Berkeley Delaware Court, LLC, 834 F.3d 1036, 1040 (9th Cir. 2016) (the bankruptcy court has discretion to apply 11 U.S.C. 363 procedures to a sale of claims pursuant to a settlement approved under FRBP 9019); In re Mickey Thompson Entertainment Group, Inc., 292 B.R. 415, 421-422 and n. 7 (9th Cir. BAP 2003)(the bankruptcy court has discretion to impose formal sales procedures of 11 U.S.C. depending "upon the dynamics of the particular situation", and it was an abuse of discretion under the circumstances not to apply sales procedures where compromise was in effect just a sale); In re Douglas J. Roger, M.D., Inc., 393 F.Supp.3d 940 (C.D. Cal. 2019) (the bankruptcy court abused its discretion by overriding the trustee's business judgment seeking court approval for a compromise involving sale of claims before considering whether the compromise was fair and equitable under FRBP 9019 and whether overbidding under 11 U.S.C. 363 provided additional benefits to the estate); (3) is the evidence of contact between movant's representative, Linton, and trustee's counsel, Zamora, sufficient to put the trustee on notice of movant as a potential overbidder (i.e., the email correspondence of July 2, 2019 between Linton and Zamora, Exhibit D to the trustee's opposition to the reconsideration motion) to trigger the application of Local Bankruptcy Rule 6004-1(c) (1)(B) requiring a hearing on the Binafard compromise/sale motion pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(d) before a ruling on the motion.

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 11/27/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 12/1/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

TO PARTIES WHO INTEND TO APPEAR AT THE HEARING ON THIS MATTER:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the court hearing before Judge Robert Kwan of the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Central District of California will be conducted telephonically. However, instead of having to physically appear in court, you must appear by telephone because the court is not conducting in person hearings on that date in light of the public health conditions from the COVID-19 pandemic. The courtroom will be locked; parties must appear by telephone and will not be permitted to appear in the courtroom.

In order to appear for the court hearing by telephone, you will need to arrange to make the telephone call through CourtCall, the contract telephone appearance service, which arranges telephone appearances before this court. CourtCall's telephone number is: (866) 582-6878. Through March 31, 2021, CourtCall is offering discounted rates to attorneys and FREE access for parties who do not have an attorney (pro se or self-represented parties). You need make an advance reservation with CourtCall to appear by telephone before the hearing, preferably a week before the hearing, and no later than the day before the hearing. reservation with CourtCall, on the day of the court hearing, you will need to call CourtCall at its telephone number at least 5 minutes before the scheduled hearing, and identify the United States Bankruptcy Court in Los Angeles as the court and Judge Robert Kwan as the judge, and the CourtCall operator will put you into the telephonic court hearing. Given the large demand for telephone court appearances, there may be some delay in connecting to the hearing. If you are having problems connecting to the hearing, please call and advise Judge Kwan's courtroom deputy at (213) 894-3385.

Prior tentative ruling. No tentative ruling on the merits. Since the parties attended mediation, which did not result in settlement, the court will discuss setting a pretrial conference and a deadline for filing a joint pretrial stipulation. The court will also discuss how the trial will be conducted because the court is not conducting in person hearings at this time. The court may conduct the trial on Zoom depending on the parties' technical capabilities. Appearances are required on 9/23/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 10/22/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 10/27/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Prior updated and supplemental tentative ruling as of 5/4/20. After considering the supplemental briefing of the parties ordered by the court, the court provides the following as its supplemental tentative ruling to its tentative ruling of 5/1/20: The court will abstain from determining the underlying state law tort claims that plaintiff has against defendant pursuant to statutory permissive abstention under 28 U.S.C. 1334(c)(1) and nonstatutory abstention under Colorado River Water Conservation District v. United States, 424 U.S. 800 (1976). The factors that the court has considered for permissive abstention are set forth in In re Tucson Estates, Inc., 912 F.2d 1162, 1167 (9th Cir. 1990): 1) the effect or lack thereof on the efficient administration of the estate if a Court recommends abstention (favoring abstention for lack of effect on efficient administration of the estate), (2) the extent to which state law issues predominate over bankruptcy issues (favoring abstention since plaintiff's tort claims are governed by state law), (3) the difficulty or unsettled nature of the applicable law (neutral since the applicable law is not difficult or unsettled), (4) the presence of a related proceeding commenced in state court or other nonbankruptcy court (favoring abstention, there is pending state law court action stayed by this bankruptcy case), (5) the jurisdictional basis, if any, other than 28 U.S.C. § 1334 (favoring abstention since the only basis for jurisdiction is the court's related to jurisdiction), (6) the degree of relatedness or remoteness of the proceeding to the main bankruptcy case (favoring abstention since the dispute in the adversary proceeding is remote to the main bankruptcy case), (7) the substance rather than form of an asserted "core" proceeding (favoring abstention because the underlying tort claims are noncore proceedings), (8) the feasibility of severing state law claims from core bankruptcy matters to allow judgments to be entered in state court with enforcement left to the bankruptcy court (favoring abstention, severance of state law claims to be tried in state court from the dischargeability claim can be accomplished), (9) the burden of [the bankruptcy court's] docket (favoring abstention, trying the tort claim would be burdensome on the bankruptcy court or district court's docket pursuant to 28 U.S.C. 157(b)(5)), (10) the likelihood that the commencement of the proceeding in bankruptcy court involves forum shopping by one of the parties (this factor is neutral as the court makes no determination of forum shopping), (11) the existence of a right to a jury trial (favoring abstention since the parties have the right to jury trial on the tort claims), and (12) the presence in the proceeding of nondebtor parties (not favoring abstention since the only parties to the dispute are before the court). Based on the overwhelming presence of factors favoring abstention, the court exercises permissive abstention as to plaintiff's tort claims underlying her nondischargeability action.

The court also exercises nonstatutory Colorado River abstention as the factors for such abstention favor abstention because: (1) state law provides the rule of decision on the merits; (2) the state court proceeding is adequate to protect the parties' rights; and (3) the state court obtained and exercised jurisdiction first as the state court action was ready to go to trial before defendant filed his bankruptcy case, staying that action. In re Bellucci, 119 B.R. 763, 775-776 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 1990) (citations omitted). "Under the Colorado River doctrine, a federal trial court has discretion in 'exceptional circumstances' and despite the general obligation to exercise jurisdiction, to stay or dismiss an action for reasonable of wise judicial administration solely because of parallel litigation in state court." Id. At 775 (citations omitted). Thus, the court abstains from hearing plaintiff's state law tort claims and stays this action until the state court determines those claims, and afterwards, the court will then determine plaintiff's debt dischargeability claims in this adversary proceeding.

In so abstaining, the court will also grant stay relief sua sponte to allow the state court action to proceed to judgment, but not permitting enforcement of any judgment against the debtor or property of the estate unless further stay relief is obtained by order of the court or by operation of statute. In re Bellucci, 119 B.R. at 778-779; accord, In re Calkins, BAP No. AZ-17-1284-LBTa, 2019 WL 1594016 (9th Cir. BAP 2019), slip op. at *4.

Prior tentative ruling as of 5/1/20. The court has reviewed the supplemental briefing of the parties regarding the court's prior tentative ruling on abstention and stay relief. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 5/5/20 to discuss whether further proceedings should be set, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Revised tentative ruling as of 4/6/20. Having read the joint status report noting pending litigation in the state court to liquidate any alleged debt of defendant to plaintiff from alleged personal injuries based on tort, which is stayed by the underlying bankruptcy case, the court is inclined to abstain and grant stay relief to allow plaintiff's state court action to proceed to liquidate the debt, if any, either under mandatory or permissive abstention under 28 U.S.C. 1334(c)(1) or (2). See In re Tucson Estates, Inc., 912 F.2d 1162 (9th Cir. 1990). In this matter, plaintiff seeks a determination of debt dischargeability where the alleged debt based on personal injury torts has not been liquidated. Debt dischargeability cannot be determined until the liability for the debt has been determined and liquidated. The underlying tort liability is not pleaded in the adversary complaint, and it is unclear from the pleadings where the underlying tort liability should be tried and determined, i.e., whether in this adversary proceeding or in the state court proceeding, which is now stay by the bankruptcy case. One consideration is that any personal injury tort claims if not tried in state court must be tried in the district court in this district pursuant to 28 U.S.C. 157(b)(4), though perhaps the parties could consent to this court so trying these claims. If the court abstains, the court would stay the pending adversary proceeding for dischargeability of debt pending the outcome of the state court tort litigation. The court intends to issue an order to show cause why this court should not abstain from hearing the unpled but underlying personal injury tort claims, but otherwise, retaining the debt dischargeability claim to be determined after the alleged debt liability has been determined. The court would consider the factors for permissive abstention and stay relief in In re Tucson Estates, Inc., 912 F.2d at 1166-1167. In reviewing the status report, the court is of the view that the proposed pretrial and trial schedule is unrealistic, given the social turmoil from the current coronavirus pandemic and the need for extensive discovery proceedings relating to determination of the underlying alleged tort liability and the need for a trial of the personal injury tort claims in the district court if the court does not abstain. Appearances are required on 4/7/20, but counsel must appear by telephone.

#20.00 Status conference re: Complaint for determination of nondischargeability of debt pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §§523(a)(2)(A), 523(a)(4), and 523(a)(6)

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

The court notes that in the adversary complaint plaintiffs demanded a jury trial, but there is no jury trial right for the claims under 11 U.S.C. 523(a)(2), (4) and (6) in this adversary proceeding since the debt dischargeability claims are equitable in nature. In re Hashemi, 104 F.3d 1122, 1124-1125 and n. 1 (9th Cir. 1997). The court also notes that the underlying alleged debts have not been liquidated yet, though plaintiffs have a pending action in state court, asserting state law tort claims against defendant, which action is now stayed due to the automatic stay arising from this bankruptcy case. Although the determination of claims, whether the alleged debts of defendant are dischargeable, is equitable, the determination of the existence of the alleged debts may be legal in nature since the alleged debts would arise in tort under state law, and it is an open question on that issue, and there may be a right to a jury trial. Id. at 1125 and n. 1. The issue of whether a partial right to jury trial exists here would have to be briefed. If there is a right to jury trial in part in this case, this bankruptcy court can hold a civil jury trial with the consent of the parties, or the parties could waive jury trial if there is such a right. Alternatively, the court could permissively abstain under 28 U.S.C. 1334(c)(1) and grant stay relief to allow the state court to determine the alleged debts under state law with or without the assistance of a civil jury, and stay this adversary proceeding until the state court determines the underlying debts, and then determine debt dischargeability afterwards. See In re Oroojian, Adv. No. 2:20-ap-01020 RK, 2020 WL 2201939 (Bankr. C.D. Cal., May 5, 2020); see also, In re Eber, 687 F.3d 1123, 1128 and n. 5 (9th Cir. 2012) (bankruptcy court has exclusive jurisdiction over debt dischargeability claims under 11 U.S.C. 523(a)(2), (4) and (6), citing 11 U.S.C. 523(c)).

The court has reviewed the joint status report noting that plaintiff has noticed his motion for summary judgment for 12/1/20 and the parties have stipulated to extend the discovery date to 1/31/21, which the court has approved. In light of these developments, the court on its own motion continues the status conference to 12/1/20 at 2:30 p.m. to be conducted the same time as the hearing on plaintiff's motion for summary judgment. No appearances are required on 11/10/20.

Docket 85

Tentative Ruling:

Off calendar. In light of the lack of any timely written opposition to the fourth interim fee application of attorney for the trustee, the court determines that oral argument on the fee application is not necessary and dispenses with oral argument pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(j)(3). The court deems the lack of filing and service of a timely written opposition as consent to approval of the fee application, rules on the fee application on the papers, and approves the fee application for the reasons stated in the fee application and for lack of timely written opposition. No appearances are required on 12/01/20. Applicant or trustee to lodge a proposed order within 7 days of hearing.

#33.00 Hearing re: Plaintiff's motion for leave to file amended complaint to add cause of action for denial of discharge for failure to obey this court's order

Docket 51

Tentative Ruling:

The court will exercise its discretion to deny the co-plaintiff trustee's motion for leave to file an amended complaint to add a cause of action to deny debtor's discharge for failure to comply with the court's discovery order in this adversary proceeding pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 727(a)(6). As stated in March, Ahart and Shapiro, Rutter Group California Practice Guide: Bankruptcy, paragraph 22:1013 (online edition, December 2019 update): "In many cases, denial of discharge for failing to comply with a court order is seen as "overkill." A less drastic alternative is to hold the debtor in contempt [In re Weir (BC ED CA 1994) 173 BR 682, 691—denial of discharge was "disproportionate to the transgression" where debtor failed to comply with order requiring statement of intention to reaffirm a debt or to redeem or surrender collateral; see also In re Barman (BC ED MI 1999) 237 BR 342, 351—court must balance policy of liberally applying discharge to the honest debtor against policy of denying relief to debtors who intentionally engage in dishonest practices]. However, it is well within the bankruptcy court's discretion to find a particular violation of the court's order so serious as to require denial of discharge under § 727(a)(6)(A). [In re Devers (9th Cir. 1985) 759 F2d 751, 755; In re Weir, supra, 173 BR at 691]." In this instance, the amendment of the complaint for this purpose is overkill, and a less drastic alternative here is to consider the co-plaintiffs' motion for sanctions for defendant's failure to comply with the order.

Appearances are required on 12/1/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

#33.10 Cont'd hearing re: Motion for sanctions for defendant's failure to comply with court's October 7, 2020 discovery order fr. 11/17/20

Docket 40

Tentative Ruling:

Grant in part and deny in part plaintiffs' motion for sanctions for defendant's failure to comply with the court's October 7, 2020 discovery order compelling defendant's responses to requests for production of documents and interrogatories. Based on the evidence of defendant's noncompliance with the order in failing to respond to these discovery requests and pay the sanctions as previously ordered by the deadline of October 21, 2020, and defendant's lack of response to the sanctions motion, the court determines that plaintiffs have demonstrated "willfulness" or "bad faith" by defendant, which is "disobedient conduct not shown to be outside the control of the litigant." Henry v. Gill Industries, Inc., 983 F.2d 943, 948 (9th Cir. 1993); see also, Consumer Financial Protection Bureau v. Morgan Drexen, Inc., 101 F.Supp.3d 856, 868 (C.D.Cal. 2015). Plaintiffs request that the court sanction defendant by striking his answer in this adversary proceeding and entering his default, or in the alternative, holding him in contempt. Once the court finds that discovery violations are "due to willfulness, bad faith, or fault of the party," it weighs the following five factors in determining whether to impose a terminating sanction: (1) the public interest in expeditious resolution of litigation; (2) the court's need to manage its docket; (3) the prejudice to other parties from the discovery violations (which includes inquiry into materiality of the evidence withheld); (4) public policy favoring disposition of cases on the merits (not a controlling factor where other factors favor dismissal); and (5) whether less drastic sanctions are available and would provide effective deterrence for the particular violation; and specifically whether the court (a) considered lesser sanctions, (b) tried them, and (c) warned the recalcitrant party of the possibility of terminating sanctions. Hester v. Vision Airlines, Inc., 687 F.3d 1162, 1169-1170 (9th Cir. 2012). In weighing these factors, the court is not inclined to order terminating sanctions at this time since it had not previously imposed lesser sanctions, such as holding defendant in civil contempt to coerce his compliance and had not given prior warning that it would impose terminating sanctions. While the other factors of the public interest in expeditiously resolving this litigation and the possible prejudice to plaintiffs in not getting the requested discovery exist, they do not outweigh the factor of trying first lesser sanctions and giving defendant prior warning of possible terminating sanctions. Accordingly, the court will apply the lesser sanction of holding defendant in civil contempt for his willful failure to comply with the court's discovery order and award compensatory sanctions to plaintiffs against defendant of reasonable attorneys' fees for having to bring this sanctions motion to coerce defendant's compliance with the court's discovery order. The court will also order that defendant must comply with the discovery order within 30 days of entry of the order on this motion, or otherwise, the court will impose terminating sanctions for continued failure to comply with the discovery order, which would include striking defendant's answer and entering default against him.

A claim has facial plausibility when the plaintiff pleads factual content that allows the court to draw the reasonable inference that the defendant is liable for the misconduct alleged. instead of an intent to cause injury. Id. Therefore, the willful injury requirement "...is met when the debtor has a subjective motive to inflict injury or when the debtor believes that injury is substantially certain to result from his own conduct." Carillo v. Su (In re Su), 290 F.3d 1140, 1142 (9th Cir. 2002) (citation omitted).

A malicious injury is one that involves; "(1) a wrongful act, (2) done intentionally, (3) which necessarily causes injury, and (4) is done without just cause or excuse." Petralia v. Jercich (In re Jercich), 238 F.3d 1202, 1209 (9th Cir. 2001). In In re Jercich, the court found that the debtor's withholding of wages to his employee, despite his ability to pay the employee, and use of the wage money for his own personal benefit without any just cause or excuse for withholding the wages, was substantially certain to cause injury to the employee and therefore fulfilled the malicious prong of § 523(a)(6). Id. "Malice may be inferred based on the nature of the wrongful act", but to make such an inference, willfulness must be established first. In re Ormsby, 591 F.3d 1199 at 1207.

Here, drawing reasonable inferences and accepting all well-pleaded factual allegations as true, Plaintiff has stated a plausible claim for relief under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(6). Accepting the allegations in the complaint as true, even if the state court judgment does not act as a collateral estoppel as to nondischargeability of this debt, Plaintiff has pleaded facts allowing the court to draw a reasonable inference that Mr. Barnes may have knowingly entered into the personal guaranty of the Grove loan by Dove Street and acted in concert in a fraud scheme by creating fraudulent documents to represent to Dove Street that the property was transferred to Grove to induce Dove Street to make a loan to Grove secured by the property. Although a 523(a)(6) action will not lie on negligence or breach of contract, and requires an intentional tort under state law, such as fraud, Lockerby v. Sierra, 535 F.3d 1038, 1041 (9th Cir. 2008), here, even if Mr. Barnes has the default judgment set aside on remand, the state court action could return to the state court for discovery and trial setting procedures if this court abstains, having granted stay relief. Based on the allegations in the Second Amended Complaint, it seems plausible that Plaintiff may have a claim that Mr. Barnes engaged in malicious and willful tortious acts against Dove Street related to the alleged fraudulent scheme to induce it to make the loans, and his alleged debt to Plaintiff as Dove Street's successor-in-interest from these alleged acts could be nondischargeable. Specifically, Plaintiff alleges in the second amended complaint that "11. Debtor, in concert with others, created fraudulent documents for the purpose of representing to Dove that they had the legal authority to transfer the Property to Grove through the Grove Deed and that the Property was legally and equitably transferred to Grove through the Grove Deed to facilitate Grove's obtaining loans secured by the Property, and using the loan proceeds for their own benefit; . . . 14. Bradley, in connection with the Loan Modification Agreement, affirmed verbally and in writing that Fey had legal authority to put the Property up as collateral; 15. Bradley executed a Personal Guarantee with Dove, guaranteeing repayment of the Grove Loan as modified; 16. Debtor, in concert with others, breached the guarantee agreements by failing to make payment after Grove defaulted on the Grove Loan[.]" ECF 26 at 4. These factual allegations, taken as true, would demonstrate that Plaintiff has a plausible claim for relief under section 523(a) (6) that Mr. Barnes created fraudulent documents to represent to Dove that the property was transferred to Grove to induce Dove to lend to Grove and used the loan proceeds for their own benefit, that he affirmed verbally and in writing that "Fey" (i.e., Grove) had legal authority to put the property up as collateral for the Loan Modification Agreement and that he executed a personal guaranty with Dove guaranteeing the repayment of the modified Grove Loan. See Exhibit 3 to Defendant's Request for Judicial Notice. (Plaintiff should clarify that it meant Grove when it referred to Fey in paragraph 14 in the second amended complaint as the personal guaranty referred to the Grove modified loan.) As to issue preclusion, Mr. Barnes may be justified in arguing that even if the judgment is reinstated, the court cannot find the debt nondischargeable because here, the default judgment did not find that he intended to maliciously and willfully injure Dove Street. However, Plaintiff may prove as a factual matter through discovery that there was willfulness and malice.

#35.00 Cont'd hearing re: Motion for Rule 9011 sanctions against Chora Young LLP and attorneys Paul P. Young, Esq. and Joseph Chora, Esq.
fr.10/27/20

Docket 17

Tentative Ruling:

Revised and updated tentative ruling as of 11/30/20.

Deny defendants' motion for sanctions under FRBP 9011 because the complaint was deemed withdrawn when plaintiff filed its first amended complaint on 9/30/20 based on the deadline of 9/30/20 apparently agreed by the parties based on the court's stay ruling set forth in the notice of stay filed on 5/22/20, staying proceedings in this adversary proceeding from 5/19/20 to 9/30/20. The first amended complaint is an amendment as of right pursuant to FRBP 7015 and FRCP 15(a)(1)(B) and supersedes the original pleading (timely because filed within 21 days of defendants' FRCP 12(b) motion served on 10/1/20), effectively withdrawing the original complaint.

The 21-day safe harbor period for withdrawal of the allegedly sanctionable pleading, the complaint, commenced on 5/15/20 when defendants served but not filed their motion for sanctions on plaintiff, and only 4 days on the 21 day period had run when the court ordered the stay of proceedings, and the 21-day period was stayed until 9/30/20. Arguably, the 21-day period was tolled during the period of stay. See Upek, Inc. v. Authentec, Inc., No. C 10-00424 JF (PVT), 2010 WL 1980189 (N.D. Cal. May 17, 2010). If the 21 day safe harbor period was tolled, then the deadline for withdrawal based on the 17 days remaining in the period would have been 10/16/20 if tolling is applicable here. The amended complaint filed on 9/30/20, or 10/1/20, was thus timely.

If tolling is not applicable here, and the 21-days ran during the period of stay, the deadline for withdrawal would be 9/30/20 as the parties apparently agreed. Even so, the amendment of the complaint by the first amended complaint was timely filed on 9/30/20, although the complaint was filed by mistake in the main bankruptcy case rather than the adversary proceeding as evidenced by the counsel declaration filed in opposition to the sanctions motion, ECF 35, filed on 11/17/20, and the first amended complaint itself which had the adversary proceeding caption, Main Bankruptcy Case ECF 75. As indicated by the case docket, plaintiff refiled the first amended complaint in the adversary proceeding on 10/1/20 after being notified by the clerk's office that it was incorrectly filed in the main case. There is no prejudice to defendants deeming the first amended complaint as filed on 9/30/20 because it was filed with the court on 9/30/20 and served on the parties on that date by electronic means, and service would not have been misleading because the caption of the pleading was the adversary proceeding caption. As indicated in counsel declaration in support of plaintiff's opposition and defendants' reply, counsel understood that plaintiff would be amending the complaint by the deadline by their telephone conversations and email correspondence before 9/30/20.

Defendants filed their sanctions motion in the adversary proceeding on 9/30/20 at 9:58 a.m. before plaintiff filed the first amended complaint in the main case on 9/30/20 at 4:03 p.m. Plaintiff had until 11:59 p.m. on 9/30/20 to withdraw the complaint for purposes of this FRBP 9011 motion based on the deadline of 9/30/20 that the parties apparently have agreed to since the court is deemed always open for purposes of filing a pleading pursuant to FRBP 5001(a). Both parties were precluded from filing pleadings during the stay period until 9/30/20, and thus, the 21-day safe harbor period did not expire until at least 11:59 p.m. on 9/30/20, and arguably, defendants' FRBP 9011 sanctions motion was filed too early because the 21-day safe harbor period as extended by the stay had not expired when defendants filed the motion.

The court construes FRBP 9011 conservatively as the Ninth Circuit stated in Operating Engineers Pension Trust v. A-C Co., 859 F.2d 1336, 1345 (9th Cir. 1988) about its civil rule analogue in FRCP 11 that it is "an extraordinary remedy, one to be exercised with extreme caution." Plaintiff by its counsel informed defendants through counsel that it was amending the complaint and would do so by the FRBP 9011 deadline, and did so in spirit, if not in letter, and sanctions are not appropriate under these circumstances with an innocent mistake by counsel in uploading the first amended complaint for filing in the main bankruptcy case rather than the adversary proceeding within the main bankruptcy case should not prevent plaintiff from benefiting from its invocation of the FRBP 9011 safe harbor.

fr. 8/18/20, 10/6/20, 10/27/20

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 11/30/20 at 6:30 p.m. Since the parties filed their last joint status report on 10/15/20, there have developments that will affect the course of this adversary proceeding which the parties did not expect to occur before the status conference then scheduled for 10/27/20. First, as indicated by plaintiff on the case docket on 11/24/20, the state court appeal has been decided, which reversed the trial court's order setting aside the default judgment as to Mr. Barnes, the remaining defendant named in the second amended complaint. The appellate decision reinstates the default judgment against him liquidating the debt owed to plaintiff's predecessor-in-interest, Dove Street. Mr. Barnes could seek to move to set aside the default judgment on remand, which was determined to be voidable and not void. However, further stay relief would appear to be required since this court only granted limited stay relief for the state court appeal to proceed and did not grant stay relief for further proceedings in the state trial court. The court could permissively abstain under 28 U.S.C. 1334(c)(1) and grant stay relief to allow the state trial court to determine any further motion of Mr. Barnes to set aside the default judgment and stay this adversary proceeding until the state court determines the underlying debt, and then determine debt dischargeability afterwards. See In re Oroojian, Adv. No. 2:20-ap-01020 RK, 2020 WL 2201939 (Bankr. C.D. Cal., May 5, 2020); see also, In re Eber, 687 F.3d 1123, 1128 and n. 5 (9th Cir. 2012) (bankruptcy court has exclusive jurisdiction over debt dischargeability claims under 11 U.S.C. 523(a)(2), (4) and (6), citing 11 U.S.C. 523(c)). That is, at this time, the default judgment stands unless Mr. Barnes brings a further motion to set it aside. If he brings such a motion and prevails, then it would be up to plaintiff to consider litigating the merits of the claims of its predecessor-in-interest to prove up such claims. If he brings such a motion and does not prevail, then presumably, the default judgment would be final and entitled to res judicata as to liquidation of the debt owed by Mr. Barnes to plaintiff. However, whether the state court judgment has collateral estoppel effect as to debt dischargeability under 11 U.S.C. 523(a)(6) remains to be litigated in this court in this adversary proceeding.

Assuming that the court adopts its tentative ruling on defendant's motion to dismiss also on calendar on 12/1/20 and denies the motion, and the court does not abstain from determining the merits of the underlying alleged debts as discussed above, the court will set a discovery cutoff date of 5/31/20 and a postdiscovery status conference on 6/15/21 at 1:30 p.m. with a joint status report due on 6/8/21. No tentative ruling on whether this matter should be referred to mediation. Plaintiff to lodge a proposed scheduling order within 7 days of hearing.

Prior tentative ruling. The court on its own motion continues the status conference to 12/1/20 at 2:30 p.m. to be conducted with continued hearings on defendant's motion to dismiss and for sanctions as it appears that the parties contemplated that the status conference on the same day as the hearings on the motions which were continued would also be continued, although the status conference was not specifically referenced in the stipulation. No appearances are required on 10/27/20.

Revised and updated tentative ruling as of 10/6/20. The court has reviewed debtor's status report filed on 10/6/20, detailing the progress made in preparing an amended disclosure statement. Debtor stated that he filed a notice of claims bar date of 10/30/20, which the court notes was filed on 8/17/20, stating it was filed pursuant to LBR 9013-1(q) governing motions to set a bar date. Upon review of the case docket, the court did not see that debtor filed a motion for the court to set a bar date under LBR 9013-1(q). The court must actually set a bar date by order pursuant to FRBP 3003((c)(3), which is usually done on motion, which has not been filed. Also, the court can on its own initiative set a bar date by order as noted in LBR 3003-1(a), but the court does not recall doing so. Apparently, the claims bar date of 10/30/20 noticed by debtor without a court order may not be valid unless there is a remedial court order validating the date. Debtor should explain that if the court ordered the bar date of 10/30/20, how it was done because it does not appear on the docket that there was a motion or a court ruling sua sponte. If the court has not ordered the bar date of 10/30/20, debtor may request that the court do so at the status conference. Otherwise, no tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 10/7/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Docket 113

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 11/30/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 12/2/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

TO PARTIES WHO INTEND TO APPEAR AT THE HEARING ON THIS MATTER:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the court hearing before Judge Robert Kwan of the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Central District of California will be conducted telephonically. However, instead of having to physically appear in court, you must appear by telephone because the court is not conducting in person hearings on that date in light of the public health conditions from the COVID-19 pandemic. The courtroom will be locked; parties must appear by telephone and will not be permitted to appear in the courtroom.

In order to appear for the court hearing by telephone, you will need to arrange to make the telephone call through CourtCall, the contract telephone appearance service, which arranges telephone appearances before this court. CourtCall's telephone number is: (866) 582-6878. Through March 31, 2021, CourtCall is offering discounted rates to attorneys and FREE access for parties who do not have an attorney (pro se or self-represented parties). You need make an advance reservation with CourtCall to appear by telephone before the hearing, preferably a week before the hearing, and no later than the day before the hearing. After you made your telephone appearance reservation with CourtCall, on the day of the court hearing, you will need to call CourtCall at its telephone number at least 5 minutes before the scheduled hearing, and identify the United States Bankruptcy Court in Los Angeles as the court and Judge Robert Kwan as the judge, and the CourtCall operator will put you into the telephonic court hearing. Revised and updated tentative ruling as of 10/20/20. The court has reviewed debtor's declaration filed on 10/20/20 as a follow-up to the post-confirmation status report, filed on 10/7/20, stating that he is current on plan obligations and that he needs more time to address issues with certain creditors before he will be able to file a motion for final decree, requesting a short continuance of the status conference. Having considered debtor's declaration and status report, the court on its own motion continues the status conference to 12/2/20 at 11:00 a.m., waives the requirement of a written status report for 12/2/20 and debtor may report on status orally at that time. No appearances are required on 10/21/20.

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 11/30/20. Off calendar. Continued by stipulation and order to 2/16/21 at 1:30 p.m. No appearances are required on 12/2/20.

Prior tentative ruling as of 9/11/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. Since the mediation was completed without settlement, the court will discuss setting further proceedings with the parties. Appearances are required on 9/15/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 8/3/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. Parties are to report on the status of the mediation before Judge Donovan. The court has been informally advised that Judge Donovan is ready to proceed with a Zoom mediation and the parties will need to contact his courtroom deputy to set up the mediation appointment. Appearances are required on 8/4/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 5/22/20. The court will discuss with the parties the status of the mediation with Judge Donovan, who is apparently amenable to conducting mediation by videoconferencing or telephone, perhaps through Zoom which has been used by other judges successfully for mediation. Appearances are required on 5/26/20 by telephone in accordance with the procedures set forth in the tentative ruling of 5/8/20 below.

report. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 5/12/20 to discuss the status of the adversary proceeding, including the status of the pending mediation, outstanding discovery, whether the trial can be conducted remotely by videoconferencing as opposed to in person and when a pretrial conference and other further proceedings should be set, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 3/9/20. Continued by stipulation and order to 5/12/20 at 1:30 p.m. No appearances are required on 3/10/20.

Prior tentative ruling as of 1/13/20. The court has reviewed the joint status report. Appearances are required on 1/14/20 to discuss scheduling of pretrial conference and coordination of trial with related adversary proceeding, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 9/16/19. Because the discovery cutoff date was extended to 12/31/19 and discovery is continuing to that date, the court was inclined to set a post-discovery status conference or a pretrial conference for after the discovery cutoff date. Appearances are required on 9/17/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 6/24/19. Appearances are required on 6/25/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 6/10/19. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 6/11/19, but counsel may appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling. Set a discovery cutoff date of 8/30/19 and a post-discovery status conference on 9/17/19 at 1:30 p.m. A joint status report is due on 9/10/19. #17.00 Cont'd hearing re: Motion to compel discovery
fr. 10/29/20, 10/28/20, 11/18/20

Docket 763

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 11/30/20. Off calendar. The court on its own motion continues the hearing on the pending motion to 12/9/20 at 2:00 p.m. in light of the recent voluminous filing of the parties on 11/30/20, two days before the scheduled hearing, consisting of a 44 page discovery dispute stipulation and two packets of exhibits totaling over 600 pages. Given the short time before the hearing that these documents were filed, the court will need some reasonable time to review the documents for the hearing. No appearances are required on 12/2/20.

Prior tentative ruling as of 11/16/20. Off calendar. Continued by stipulation and order to 12/2/20 at 2:30 p.m. No appearances are required on 11/18/20.

Prior tentative ruling as of 10/27/20. Off calendar. Continued by stipulation and order to 11/18/20 at 2:30 p.m. No appearances are required on 10/28/20.

Prior tentative ruling as of 10/26/20. The court is not inclined to rule on the motion to compel discovery at this time because the motion is not ripe for adjudication as compliance with LBR 7026-1(c) requiring a joint discovery dispute stipulation is lacking. Also, apparently, the parties have not had a discovery dispute conference pursuant to LBR 7026-1(c). Preliminarily, the same concerns regarding movant's FRBP 2004 examination of the plan agent and the reorganized debtor are probably applicable here either based on issue preclusion or the law of the case doctrine. Otherwise, no tentative ruling on the merits, and the court is inclined to continue or vacate the hearing so that the parties may comply with LBR 7026-1(c). Appearances are required on 10/28/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

In light of the lack of any timely written opposition to the movant's stay relief motion, the court determines that oral argument on the motion is not necessary and dispenses with oral argument pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(j)(3). The court deems the lack of filing and service of a timely written opposition as consent to granting of the motion, rules on the motion on the papers, and grants relief from stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 362(d) (1) and (2) to pursue non-bankruptcy remedies for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition. The 14-day waiting period under FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived. No appearances are required on 12/8/20. Movant to submit a proposed order within 7 days of hearing.

- #7.00 Cont'd hearing re: Motion for entry of default judgement against defendant Simon Yaftadonay Pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 55 as incorporated by Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 7055 and Local bankruptcy Rule 7055-1 fr. 10/13/20

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 12/4/20. In support of the motion for default judgment, plaintiff filed the declaration of Marianna Falco, staff accountant at LEA Accountancy, trustee's accountants, on 11/18/20. In the court's view, plaintiff still has not made a prima facie showing of its preferential transfer claims by providing competent evidence of transfers to defendant. See Lu v. Liu (In re Liu), 282 B.R. 904, 907-908 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2002) (bankruptcy court has discretion to require plaintiff to make prima facie case for entry of default judgment). The Falco declaration is deficient because it describes the forensic accounting work of a former accountant no longer with the firm, Michael Krasnowski, and not her work, she does not have personal knowledge of the analysis because she did not do forensic accounting analysis and she cannot competently testify as to what he did because she has no personal knowledge of the analysis as required by Federal Rule of Evidence 602. If she did the work and confirmed Krasnowski's analysis, that would be a different story, but she just refers to what he did without any description of what she did to confirm that his work was correct. Moreover, she refers to the "Debtor's Ledger" as the basis for Krasnowski's analysis, but there is no proper authentication of the ledger as "Debtor's Ledger." There is no showing that she is the custodian of records of Debtor's records to authenticate the ledger as required by Federal Rules of Evidence 901 et seq. The "Debtor's Ledger" is secondary evidence of alleged transfers as it is not primary source evidence of transfers as would be shown by Debtor's bank account records, such as bank statements, cancelled checks and wire transfer receipts. She also refers to two transfers made to other parties, the FTB and U.S. Treasury, but there is no explanation of why such transfers are attributable to defendant. The court is inclined to deny the motion based on this record. Appearances are required on 12/8/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

TO PARTIES WHO INTEND TO APPEAR AT THE HEARING ON THIS MATTER:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the court hearing before Judge Robert Kwan of the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Central District of California will be conducted telephonically. However, instead of having to physically appear in court, you must appear by telephone because the court is not conducting in person hearings on that date in light of the public health conditions from the COVID-19 pandemic. The courtroom will be locked; parties must appear by telephone and will not be permitted to appear in the courtroom.

In order to appear for the court hearing by telephone, you will need to arrange to make the telephone call through CourtCall, the contract telephone appearance service, which arranges telephone appearances before this court. CourtCall's telephone number is: (866) 582-6878. Through March 31, 2021, CourtCall is offering discounted rates to attorneys and FREE access for parties who do not have an attorney (pro se or self-represented parties). You need make an advance reservation with CourtCall to appear by telephone before the hearing, preferably a week before the hearing, and no later than the day before the hearing. After you made your telephone appearance reservation with CourtCall, on the day of the court hearing, you will need to call CourtCall at its telephone number at least 5 minutes before the scheduled hearing, and identify the United States Bankruptcy Court in Los Angeles as the court and Judge Robert Kwan as the judge, and the CourtCall operator will put you into the telephonic court hearing. Given the large demand for telephone court appearances, there may be some delay in connecting to the hearing. If you are having problems connecting to the hearing, please call and advise Judge Kwan's courtroom deputy at (213) 894-3385.

Prior tentative ruling. The court on its own motion continues this hearing to 12/8/20 at 1:30 p.m. At the status conference in this matter on 10/6/20, counsel for plaintiff represented that plaintiff will be filing a supplemental declaration of plaintiff's accountant to further support the motion for default

In light of the lack of any timely written opposition to the final fee application of field representative for the Chapter 7 trustee, the court determines that oral argument on the final fee application is not necessary and dispenses with oral argument pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(j)(3). The court deems the lack of filing and service of a timely written opposition as consent to approval of the final fee application, rules on the final fee application on the papers, and approves the final fee application for the reasons stated in the final fee application and for lack of timely written opposition. No appearances are required on 12/8/20. Applicant or trustee to lodge a proposed order within 7 days of hearing.

#17.00 Hearing re: Objection to claim no. 1 filed by Data Leverage, LLC

Docket 97

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 12/7/20. Sustain the trustee's objection to the proof of claim of Data Leverage, LLC, as procedurally defective because creditor did not follow the proper procedure in filing a request for allowance and payment of an administrative expense claim under 11 U.S.C. 503. Trustee objects to the claim as not allowable as a prepetition claim under 11 U.S.C. 502, and claimant concedes that its claim is postpetition, not prepetition, and the court agrees that if claimant has a claim, it can be only allowed as a postpetition administrative expense claim under 11 U.S.C. 503. The court notes that the first page of the official proof of claim form instructs parties not to use the form to make a request for payment of an administrative expense and to make such a request according to 11 U.S.C. 503. However, sustaining the objection does not bar claimant from filing of a motion for allowance and payment of an administrative expense claim, which it now has done and which is not time-barred as no deadline has been set for requests for allowance of administrative expense claims.

#17.10 Hearing re: Motion to allow supplemental administrative expense claim of Data Leverage, LLC

Tentative Ruling:

Revised tentative ruling as of 12/7/20. The court will treat the motion of Data Leverage, LLC, to allow its supplemental administrative expense claim as a contested matter pursuant to FRBP 9014. Although it is an open question in the Ninth Circuit, the court is inclined to agree with movant that its claim is not precluded by the fact that this is a Chapter 7 bankruptcy case to claim actual, necessary costs of preserving the estate or actual, necessary expenses incurred by a creditor in making a substantial contribution to the estate pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 503(b)(1)(A) and/or (b)(3)(D) based on the word "including" in 11 U.S.C. 503(b) based on the weight of the case law. In re Mark Anthony Construction, Inc., 886 F.2d 1101, 1106-1107 (9th Cir. 1989), citing inter alia, 11 U.S.C. 102(3) ("includes" and "including" are not limiting"); Mediofactoring v. McDermott (In re McDermott), 802 F.3d 810, 816 (6th Cir. 2015); In re Maqsoudi, 566 B.R. 40, 44 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2017); In re Maust Transportation, Inc., 589 B.R. 887 (Bankr. W.D. Wash. 2018); but see, In re United Education and Software, BAP No. CC-05-1067 MaMeP, 2005 WL 696037 at *7 (9th Cir. BAP October 7, 2005)(holding that the five examples of 11 U.S.C. 503(b)(3) are limited). However, whether movant has substantiated its claim of actual, necessary costs of preserving the estate or actual, necessary expenses incurred by it in making a substantial contribution to the estate. In this regard, the court agrees with the trustee and most of his evidentiary objections to the Linton declaration in support of the motion that the evidentiary support of movant's claims lack foundation. The admissible evidence to substantiate the alleged liens, debt service payments and tax obligations which movant allegedly paid off is lacking authenticity and testimony based on personal knowledge as well as evidence that the payments were actually made (no corroborative evidence of payments being made, such as bank statements, cancelled checks, wire transfer receipts, etc.). The admissible evidence to substantiate the alleged legal fees incurred by movant to allegedly preserve the estate property is lacking authenticity and testimony based on personal knowledge as well as evidence that the services were rendered for the purposes to preserve estate property as movant alleges is lacking. Given the large dollar amounts that were allegedly spent (i.e., $293,694.87 on the proof of claim filed with the court attached as Exhibit D to movant's request for judicial notice) to preserve estate property or make a substantial contribution to the estate and the assertions in the moving papers indicate that movant may have a colorable claim under 11 U.S.C. 503(b)(1)(A) or (b)(3)(D), the court is inclined to give an opportunity to meet its burden of proving up its administrative expense claim under 11 U.S.C. 503 with admissible evidence, which may mean an evidentiary hearing. However, the trustee may have defenses on policy grounds that this is not the rare case where substantial contribution should be allowed if movant acted with knowledge of debtor's bankruptcy case or failed to conduct appropriate due diligence to learn of the bankruptcy case as alleged by trustee. The court expects to set a schedule of pretrial proceedings for movant to prove up its claim with admissible evidence.

Appearances are required on 12/8/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Docket 73

Tentative Ruling:

Revised tentative ruling as of 12/8/20 at 1:10 p.m. In considering whether the court should exercise its equitable discretion to grant relief from judgment under FRCP 60(b), the court determines that this situation falls under excusable neglect under FRCP 60(b)(1) in that movant failed to respond timely to the trustee's compromise/sale motion due to excusable neglect. In considering relief from judgment, the court should take account of all relevant circumstances surrounding the party's omission. See Pioneer Investment Services Co. v. Brunswick Associates, Ltd., 507 U.S. 380, 395 (1993). The court should consider factors including the danger of prejudice to the estate, the length of the delay and its potential impact on judicial proceedings, the reason for the delay, including whether it was within the reasonable control of the movant, and whether the movant acted in good faith. Id. Having conducted an evidentiary hearing regarding alleged service of the trustee's motion and the alleged lack of receipt by movant through counsel, the court finds that the factors support relief to allow movant to be heard on the merits of the trustee's compromise/sale motion with the Binafard party, who had a specific performance claim against debtor's mother to whom debtor had transferred the subject property. The court finds the testimony of movant's former counsel, Sment, and its representative, Linton, sincere and credible that they did not receive copies of the trustee's motion before mid-September when the court entered the order granting the trustee's motion, and thus, movant was not able to timely respond to the motion. Sment was the notice party for movant as reflected on its proof of claim filed in this case, and Linton was the client representative for movant which is interested in buying the subject property. There is no reason why movant by Linton would not have responded to the motion if she had known about the motion when it was being considered by the court in August and September. It is possible that Sment did not get the mailed motion because he did not go into his office which was the address for movant on the proof of claim in light of the pandemic or because his suite mate might have picked it up by mistake or the postal service failed to deliver it. It is more plausible is that it was not properly served. As indicated on the original proof of service of the trustee's motion, movant was not listed, which indicates lack of service. When movant notified trustee's counsel that it did not receive the motion and it was not on the service list for the motion, trustee's counsel filed a "corrected proof of service" not under declaration of penalty of perjury that the wrong service list was attached and that it was served along with the related compromise motion with the Kleemoff bankruptcy estate. The court heard the testimony of trustee's counsel, Zamora, and her legal assistant, Casas, who testified at the hearing that they discovered their mistake in attaching an incorrect service list, that the correct service list including movant was attached to the related Kleemoff estate compromise motion and that both motions were served in one envelope using mailing labels printed off the correct list. The court found the testimony of Zamora and Casas also to be sincere and credible, but the circumstances here indicates that they may have made an honest mistake in serving the trustee's compromise/sale motion with Binafard with the other motion in the same envelope, but using the wrong list to print out the mailing labels. The circumstances here support such a finding that: (1) movant was not on the original service of the trustee's compromise/sale motion with Binafard; (2) the trustee's two motions served together had two different service lists in their proofs of service, one of which was used to generate mailing labels for the service; and (3) Sment as movant's notice party did not receive it. The court does not see anything nefarious about service of the trustee's compromise/sale motion with Binafard and the preparation of a "corrected proof of service" seven weeks after service, and the circumstances indicate just an honest mistaken belief in proper service.

The factors of the reason for the delay, including whether it was within the reasonable control of the movant, and whether the movant acted in good faith, support a finding of excusable neglect because the reason for the delay was the lack of receipt of the motion in question in order to timely respond, which is not within the reasonable control of movant and indicates that it acted in good faith in seeking reconsideration. Considering the other factors of the danger of prejudice to the estate and the length of the delay and its potential impact on judicial proceedings, the court determines that there is no danger of prejudice to the estate to allow movant to be heard on the merits of the trustee's compromise/sale motion, but that the length of delay is also not a risk factor because movant acted relatively promptly in filing the motion in October, six weeks after the order approving the trustee's compromise/sale motion was entered because escrow from the approved sale is still pending. The counterparty, Binafard, is willing to wait awhile to consummate the compromise/sale, having waited four or five years to resolve its specific performance claim regarding the subject property. However, continued delay would potentially prejudice the estate because the property may be lost to the estate based on imminent foreclosure of liens held by debtor's homeowners' association which has a secured claim of $250,000 on the property, having been granted stay relief to proceed with foreclosure, but willing to wait a short period of time to be paid through the pending sale through the estate's compromise with Binafard. Based on these circumstances, relief from judgment under FRCP 60(b)(1) should be granted to the limited extent that movant's opposition to the trustee's compromise/sale motion with Binafard may be heard and considered on the merits.

Because the court determines that relief is appropriate under FRCP 60(b)(1), there is no need to address movant's claims under FRCP 60(b)(3) or (6), and in any event, there is no fraud or misconduct by the opposing party to warrant the application of FRCP 60(b)(3).

Movant seeks reconsideration of the court's order approving the trustee's motion to compromise a dispute with Binafard regarding his claim to the property and to allow the sale of the property to him without overbidding. Movant wishes to modify the court's order to allow it to overbid on the property to acquire it through a public sale. The trustee has argued that overbidding is not required to approve the compromise with Binafard because the sale is integral with the compromise. The court granted the trustee's motion for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition.

In order for the court to approve a compromise by the trustee with Binafard pursuant to FRBP 901, it must find that the trustee has met his burden of proving that the compromise is fair and equitable and should be approved. In re A & C Properties, 784 F.2d 1377, 1381 (9th Cir. 1986). The factors that the court must consider whether a compromise is fair and equitable are: (1) the probability of success in the litigation; (2) the difficulties, if any, to be encountered in the matter of collection; (3) the complexity of the litigation involved, and the expense; and (4) the paramount interest of creditors and a proper deference to their reasonable views in the premises. Id. These factors are known as the A & C factors.

With respect to the paramount interest of creditors in the case, the court notes that the creditors are: (1) Crown Towers Homeowners Association, filing a proof of claim for a secured claim of $214,115.06, which is now estimated to be currently $250,000 due to postpetition accruals; (2) Kleemoff bankruptcy estate with a secured claim of $20,000 and a general unsecured claim of $66,000 as determined by the court in an order approving a compromise between the estate and that creditor; (3) Los Angeles County Tax Collector, filing a proof of claim for a secured claim of $76,936.06 relating to property taxes on the subject property, which is probably higher due to postpetition accruals; and (4) Data Leverage, LLC, filing a proof of claim for secured and priority claims totaling $293,694.87, now characterized as an administrative expense claim, which is disputed by the trustee.

The court had granted the trustee's motion to approve compromise and sale of the property to Binafard since the motion indicated litigation risks to the estate based on Binafard's specific performance claim in state court regarding the property and the motion was not then opposed. As discussed above, Data Leverage has requested reconsideration under FRCP 60(b), which the court is inclined to grant in part to allow it to argue against the approval of the compromise and sale to Binafard without overbidding.

Based on the papers filed so far, the court believes that the trustee has made a prima facie showing of the A & C factors: (1) the probability of success in the litigation – the estate's asset is the subject property, the two condominium units, and the estate's title is based on the validity of debtor's default judgment in state court as res judicata and collateral estoppel against Binafard's specific performance claim in another lawsuit in state court, and while the trustee believes he would prevail against Binafard as to the property, Miller v. Dyer, 20 Cal.2d 526, 528-529 (1942), there are substantial risks that the default judgment is valid due to Binafard's arguments as stated in his papers filed in this case that the default judgment is not effective as to him because he was not named as a party in debtor's lawsuit, but was an indispensable party in debtor's lawsuit over the property as debtor was a defendant in Binafard's specific performance lawsuit filed before debtor's lawsuit, both having the same subject matter and the same transaction or occurrence, and debtor's default judgment may be void because he did not comply with the requirements of California Government Code 68634(g) 411.2 in timely making good payment of filing fees for his complaint on which he got default judgment after denial of his request for fee waiver, see Hu v. Silgan Containers Corp., 70 Cal.App.4th 1261 (1999) (interpreting similar provision under California Code of Civil Procedure 411.2); these issues present substantial litigation risks to the estate as if Binafard prevailed, the estate would not have ownership of the property; (2) the difficulties, if any, to be encountered in the matter of collection – the estate may not be able to sell the property if title is not clear based on Binafard's claim to the property; (3) the complexity of the litigation involved, and the expense – the litigation of title involving the validity of debtor's default judgment and the determination of Binafard's specific performance claim in state court, and the application of doctrines of res judicata and/or collateral estoppel would be complex and expensive, and time-consuming, and the estate would be at severe risk of loss of the property through foreclosure of the HOA liens of Crown Towers Homeowners Association, which has obtained relief from the automatic stay to foreclose on its liens, but has not done so if there would be a prompt sale to pay off its liens, or foreclosure of the property tax liens held by the county; and (4) the paramount interest of creditors and a proper deference to their reasonable views in the premises - the creditor body is generally in favor of the compromise, specifically, Crown Towers and the Kleemoff bankruptcy estate, and presumably, the county, since the compromise and sale to Binafard would pay off all these claims as well as other administrative claims of the estate, including the fees of trustee and his professionals, but Data Leverage opposes the compromise and sale to Binafard because it seeks to purchase the property for itself, though its claim would be paid off through the compromise and sale.

The trustee argues that the sale to Binafard may be approved as part of the compromise without overbidding because the sale is integral to the compromise. The court determines that the trustee has made a prima facie showing that the compromise with sale to Binafard does not require overbidding. Despite the argument of several parties that a compromise with a sale of assets always requires overbidding, that argument is not correct as the court has discretion to determine whether to apply the sales procedures of 11 U.S.C. 363 to a motion to approve compromise under FRBP 9019. In re Berkeley Delaware Court, LLC, 834 F.3d 1036, 1039-1041 (9th Cir. 2016); In re Mickey Thompson Entertainment Group, Inc., 292 B.R. 415, 422 and n. 7 (9th Cir. BAP 2003) ("Whether to impose formal sales procedures is ultimately a matter of discretion that depends upon the dynamics of the particular situation."); In re Douglas J. Roger, M.D., Inc., APC, 383 F.Supp.3d 940 (C.D. Cal. 2019). The litigation risks are so substantial here with respect to the estate having to litigate the Binafard specific performance claim in state court, which will involve great expense and delay as well as risk of loss. It seems to the court that Binafard has a substantial case to argue that the debtor's default judgment should not stand because Binafard should have been named as an indispensable party in debtor's lawsuit because debtor was aware of the Binafard suit having been sued as a party and the lawsuit involves the same subject matter as the title to the property. Moreover, having to litigate title to the property in the Binafard suit would involve delay of any sale or disposition of the property, which involves immediate risk to the estate because of the threatened foreclosure by the HOA which has been granted stay relief. Compromise with Binafard including the sale to him is the only way of eliminating such litigation risk to the estate and allows it to sell the property now. Allowing overbidding and a sale to another party without the compromise with Binafard (i.e., the modifications in the order approving compromise requested in movant's motion for reconsideration negate the compromise with Binafard in total) does not avoid the litigation of title to the property with Binafard, which is a risk to the estate as to whether it can sell the property without resolving the title issue. One of the arguments that movant makes against the compromise and sale is that the court should not engage in a de facto state court appeal in considering the dispute between debtor and Binafard, and the court rejects this argument because the court would not be engaging in any litigation of the appeal, but simply evaluating the risks posed by such litigation as A & C Properties directs.

Prior tentative ruling as of 11/9/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 11/10/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Revised and updated tentative ruling as of 11/4/20. At the continued hearing on 11/4/20, the court expects to call upon the United States Trustee for a report on his investigation. After this report, the court may ask the parties to address the following questions: (1) as movant is requesting that the court set aside the order approving the Binafard compromise/sale motion pursuant to FRCP 60(b)(1) and (3), In re Ex-Cel Concrete Co., Inc., 178 B.R. 198 (9th Cir. BAP 1995) (bankruptcy court abused its discretion to deny FRCP 60(b) motion when no notice given to secured creditor of motion to sell free and clear as sale order was void for lack of due process), based on a finding that the trustee failed to serve it as a creditor with the Binafard compromise motion as required by FRBP 2002(a)(2) and/or (3), does the evidence in the record consisting of the original and amended proofs of service, the declarations of the legal assistant for trustee's counsel, Casas, and movant's former counsel, Sment, conflict, require credibility determinations that necessitate an evidentiary hearing for the court to make findings to resolve disputed issues of material fact, FRBP 9014(d) and (e); Tyner v. Nicholson (In re Nicholson), 435 B.R. 622, 635-636 (9th Cir. BAP 2010); (2) were the terms of the Binafard compromise/sale motion fair and equitable under FRBP 9019 and do the circumstances of the compromise for sale of the real property warrant the court's discretion to apply the sale procedures of 11 U.S.C. 363, including overbidding, In re Berkeley Delaware Court, LLC, 834 F.3d 1036, 1040 (9th Cir. 2016) (the bankruptcy court has discretion to apply 11 U.S.C. 363 procedures to a sale of claims pursuant to a settlement approved under FRBP 9019); In re Mickey Thompson Entertainment Group, Inc., 292 B.R. 415, 421-422 and n. 7 (9th Cir. BAP 2003)(the bankruptcy court has discretion to impose formal sales procedures of 11 U.S.C. depending "upon the dynamics of the particular situation", and it was an abuse of discretion under the circumstances not to apply sales procedures where compromise was in effect just a sale); In re Douglas J. Roger, M.D., Inc., 393 F.Supp.3d 940 (C.D. Cal. 2019) (the bankruptcy court abused its discretion by overriding the trustee's business judgment seeking court approval for a compromise involving sale of claims before considering whether the compromise was fair and equitable

Since plan confirmation is contested, the court will defer making a final ruling on the application until a plan is confirmed as LBR 2016-1(c) (3)(A) provides that final fee applications in a Chapter 11 case are normally filed and set for hearing after plan confirmation. Chapter 11

#7.00 Hearing re: Confirmation of plan
fr. 8/5/20, 8/18/20, 10/21/20

Docket 257

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 12/7/20. The plan needs to resolve certain issues before it can be confirmed: (1) the objection of secured creditor Deutsche Bank to plan confirmation that the plan cannot modify its lien on debtor's principal residence under 11 U.S.C. 1123(b)(5), the plan does not provide for the full amount of the loan as of the confirmation date and the proposed treatment of paying the secured claim over 30 years with 2% interest does not meet the cramdown "fair and equitable" standards of 11 U.S.C. 1129(b)(2)(A)(i) - unless this dispute is consensually resolved, plan confirmation is a contested proceeding requiring an evidentiary hearing to determine whether the loan term can be stretched out and what the appropriate "cramdown" rate of interest is (i.e., formula v. blended rate, compare Till v. SCS Credit Corp, 541 U.S. 465, 478-479 (2004); In re Sunnyslope Housing Ltd. Partnership, 859 F.3d 637, 646 (9th Cir. 2017) with In re Boulders on the River, Inc., 164 B.R. 99, 106 (9th Cir. BAP 1994); In re North Valley Mall, LLC, 432 B.R. 825, 832 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2010)) - the court is not inclined to approve as "fair and equitable" the treatment of the secured claim for purposes of 11 U.S.C. 1129(b) with a stretch-out of an additional 13-14 years on a loan maturing in 16-17 years with 2% interest where the contract rate is a variable APR rate loan between 3 and 6.25%, because of the default risk to the creditor, In re Fowler, 903 F.2d 694, 697 (9th Cir. 1990), though the proof of claim lists the current variable rate to be 2%; evidence may have to be taken on the appropriate cramdown interest rate and the valuation of the property and lien, though the issue of loan modification for the subject property under 11 U.S.C. 1123(b)(5) is a legal issue, In re Wages, 508 B.R. 161, 165 (9th Cir. paying the total unobjected-to priority tax claims of IRS and Beverly Hills in the approximate amount of $93,000; (3) debtor needs to demonstrate feasibility by showing that he can pay off administrative expense claims pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 1129(a)(9)(A) since the amounts of these claims as reflected in the final fee applications have run higher than listed in the plan and disclosure statement. Debtor must show that the plan is feasible that he can pay the administrative expense claims and the priority tax claims as proposed in the plan or by the deadline for payment of priority tax claims in April 2023. According to debtor in his plan confirmation brief, since approval of the disclosure statement, he has obtained approval of a refinancing loan for the mobile home park which should demonstrate plan feasibility to pay off administrative expense claims, priority tax claims and other claims, but there is no evidence of this in the record. The plan or plan confirmation order must include the language in LBR 3020-1(b) concerning postconfirmation requirements, including revesting property of the reorganized debtor in a Chapter 7 bankruptcy estate if the case is converted to Chapter 7.

Appearances are required on 12/9/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

TO PARTIES WHO INTEND TO APPEAR AT THE HEARING ON THIS MATTER:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the court hearing before Judge Robert Kwan of the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Central District of California will be conducted telephonically. However, instead of having to physically appear in court, you must appear by telephone because the court is not conducting in person hearings on that date in light of the public health conditions from the COVID-19 pandemic. The courtroom will be locked; parties must appear by telephone and will not be permitted to appear in the courtroom.

In order to appear for the court hearing by telephone, you will need to arrange to make the telephone call through CourtCall, the contract telephone appearance service, which arranges telephone appearances before this court. CourtCall's telephone number is: (866) 582-6878. Through March 31, 2021, CourtCall is offering discounted rates to attorneys and FREE access for parties who do not have an attorney (pro se or self-represented parties). After you made your telephone appearance reservation with CourtCall, on the day of the court hearing, you will need to call CourtCall at its telephone number at least 5 minutes before the scheduled hearing, and identify the United States Bankruptcy Court in Los Angeles as the court and Judge Robert Kwan as the judge, and the CourtCall operator will put you into the telephonic court hearing. Given the large demand for telephone court appearances, there may be some delay in connecting to the hearing. If you are having problems connecting to the hearing, please call and advise Judge Kwan's courtroom deputy at (213) 894-3385.

Prior tentative ruling as of 10/19/20. No tentative ruling on the merits in light of the objection of administrative expense creditor Law Offices of Michael Jay Berger. Debtor should discuss when he would be able to refinance his real property to pay administrative expense claimants since they all have to consent to the proposed treatment of their claims pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 1129(a)(9)A). The plan should incorporate the mandatory language of LBR 3020-1(b) referring to revesting of property of the reorganized debtor in a Chapter 7 estate if the case is converted to Chapter 7 for a postconfirmation default. The plan should correct typographical and spelling errors, such as plan date of "October 7, 2010," or the court being the "Los Angele Division" or the court address of "155 E. Temple St" in the case caption for the plan. Appearances are required on 10/21/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

#8.10 Cont'd hearing re: Application for payment of final fees and/or expenses for Orantes Law Firm, P.C., Debtor's Attorney
fr. 12/9/20

Docket 425

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 12/7/20. The court is inclined to approve the final fee application of former general bankruptcy counsel for debtor in possession Orantes Law Firm, P.C., for the reasons stated in the fee application and for lack of timely written objection, but disallow fees in the amount of $367.50 for 0.7 hour of services on 5/21/20 for preparing motion to withdraw as counsel and related application to shorten notice since such services were not necessary and beneficial to the estate. Since plan confirmation is contested, the court will defer making a final ruling on the application until a plan is confirmed as LBR 2016-1(c) (3)(A) provides that final fee applications in a Chapter 11 case are normally filed and set for hearing after plan confirmation. Appearances are required on 12/9/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Updated tentative ruling as of 11/30/20. Off calendar. The court on its own motion continues the hearing on the pending motion to 12/9/20 at 2:00 p.m. in light of the recent voluminous filing of the parties on 11/30/20, two days before the scheduled hearing, consisting of a 44 page discovery dispute stipulation and two packets of exhibits totaling over 600 pages. Given the short time before the hearing that these documents were filed, the court will need some reasonable time to review the documents for the hearing. No appearances are required on 12/2/20.

Prior tentative ruling as of 11/16/20. Off calendar. Continued by stipulation and order to 12/2/20 at 2:30 p.m. No appearances are required on 11/18/20.

Prior tentative ruling as of 10/27/20. Off calendar. Continued by stipulation and order to 11/18/20 at 2:30 p.m. No appearances are required on 10/28/20.

Prior tentative ruling as of 10/26/20. The court is not inclined to rule on the motion to compel discovery at this time because the motion is not ripe for adjudication as compliance with LBR 7026-1(c) requiring a joint discovery dispute stipulation is lacking. Also, apparently, the parties have not had a discovery dispute conference pursuant to LBR 7026-1(c). Preliminarily, the same concerns regarding movant's FRBP 2004 examination of the plan agent and the reorganized debtor are probably applicable here either based on issue preclusion or the law of the case doctrine. Otherwise, no tentative ruling on the merits, and the court is inclined to continue or vacate the hearing so that the parties may comply with LBR 7026-1(c). Appearances are required on 10/28/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Docket 73

Tentative Ruling:

No updated tentative ruling for 12/9/20. Appearances are required on 12/9/20, but counsel and self-represented parties should appear by telephone per instructions stated in the tentative ruling posted on 12/8/20.

Revised tentative ruling as of 12/8/20 at 1:10 p.m. In considering whether the court should exercise its equitable discretion to grant relief from judgment under FRCP 60(b), the court determines that this situation falls under excusable neglect under FRCP 60(b)(1) in that movant failed to respond timely to the trustee's compromise/sale motion due to excusable neglect. In considering relief from judgment, the court should take account of all relevant circumstances surrounding the party's omission. See Pioneer Investment Services Co. v. Brunswick Associates, Ltd., 507 U.S. 380, 395 (1993). The court should consider factors including the danger of prejudice to the estate, the length of the delay and its potential impact on judicial proceedings, the reason for the delay, including whether it was within the reasonable control of the movant, and whether the movant acted in good faith. Id. Having conducted an evidentiary hearing regarding alleged service of the trustee's motion and the alleged lack of receipt by movant through counsel, the court finds that the factors support relief to allow movant to be heard on the merits of the trustee's compromise/sale motion with the Binafard party, who had a specific performance claim against debtor's mother to whom debtor had transferred the subject property. The court finds the testimony of movant's former counsel, Sment, and its representative, Linton, sincere and credible that they did not receive copies of the trustee's motion before mid-September when the court entered the order granting the trustee's motion, and thus, movant was not able to timely respond to the motion. Sment was the notice party for movant as reflected on its proof of claim filed in this case, and Linton was the client representative for movant which is interested in buying the subject property. There is no reason why movant by Linton would not have responded to the motion if she had known about the motion when it was being considered by the court in August and September. It is possible that Sment did not get the mailed motion because he did not go into his office which was the address for movant on the proof of claim in light of the pandemic or because his suite mate might have picked it up by mistake or the postal service failed to deliver it. It is more plausible is that it was not properly served. As indicated on the original proof of service of the trustee's motion, movant was not listed, which indicates lack of service. When movant notified trustee's counsel that it did not receive the motion and it was not on the service list for the motion, trustee's counsel filed a "corrected proof of service" not under declaration of penalty of perjury that the wrong service list was attached and that it was served along with the related compromise motion with the Kleemoff bankruptcy estate. The court heard the testimony of trustee's counsel, Zamora, and her legal assistant, Casas, who testified at the hearing that they discovered their mistake in attaching an incorrect service list, that the correct service list including movant was attached to the related Kleemoff estate compromise motion and that both motions were served in one envelope using mailing labels printed off the correct list. The court found the testimony of Zamora and Casas also to be sincere and credible, but the circumstances here indicates that they may have made an honest mistake in serving the trustee's compromise/sale motion with Binafard with the other motion in the same envelope, but using the wrong list to print out the mailing labels. The circumstances here support such a finding that: (1) movant was not on the original service of the trustee's compromise/sale motion with Binafard; (2) the trustee's two motions served together had two different service lists in their proofs of service, one of which was used to generate mailing labels for the service; and (3) Sment as movant's notice party did not receive it. The court does not see anything nefarious about service of the trustee's compromise/sale motion with Binafard and the preparation of a "corrected proof of service" seven weeks after service, and the circumstances indicate just an honest mistaken belief in proper service.

The factors of the reason for the delay, including whether it was within the reasonable control of the movant, and whether the movant acted in good faith, support a finding of excusable neglect because the reason for the delay was the lack of receipt of the motion in question in order to timely respond, which is not within the reasonable control of movant and indicates that it acted in good faith in seeking reconsideration. Considering the other factors of the danger of prejudice to the estate and the length of the delay and its potential impact on judicial proceedings, the court determines that there is no danger of prejudice to the estate to allow movant to be heard on the merits of the trustee's compromise/sale motion, but that the length of delay is also not a risk factor because movant acted relatively promptly in filing the motion in October, six weeks after the order approving the trustee's compromise/sale motion was entered because escrow from the approved sale is still pending. The counterparty, Binafard, is willing to wait awhile to consummate the compromise/sale, having waited four or five years to resolve its specific performance claim regarding the subject property. However, continued delay would potentially prejudice the estate because the property may be lost to the estate based on imminent foreclosure of liens held by debtor's homeowners' association which has a secured claim of $250,000 on the property, having been granted stay relief to proceed with foreclosure, but willing to wait a short period of time to be paid through the pending sale through the estate's compromise with Binafard. Based on these circumstances, relief from judgment under FRCP 60(b)(1) should be granted to the limited extent that movant's opposition to the trustee's compromise/sale motion with Binafard may be heard and considered on the merits.

Because the court determines that relief is appropriate under FRCP 60(b)(1), there is no need to address movant's claims under FRCP 60(b)(3) or (6), and in any event, there is no fraud or misconduct by the opposing party to warrant the application of FRCP 60(b)(3).

Movant seeks reconsideration of the court's order approving the trustee's motion to compromise a dispute with Binafard regarding his claim to the property and to allow the sale of the property to him without overbidding. Movant wishes to modify the court's order to allow it to overbid on the property to acquire it through a public sale. The trustee has argued that overbidding is not required to approve the compromise with Binafard because the sale is integral with the compromise. The court granted the trustee's motion for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition.

In order for the court to approve a compromise by the trustee with Binafard pursuant to FRBP 901, it must find that the trustee has met his burden of proving that the compromise is fair and equitable and should be approved. In re A & C Properties, 784 F.2d 1377, 1381 (9th Cir. 1986). The factors that the court must consider whether a compromise is fair and equitable are: (1) the probability of success in the litigation; (2) the difficulties, if any, to be encountered in the matter of collection; (3) the complexity of the litigation involved, and the expense; and (4) the paramount interest of creditors and a proper deference to their reasonable views in the premises. Id. These factors are known as the A & C factors.

With respect to the paramount interest of creditors in the case, the court notes that the creditors are: (1) Crown Towers Homeowners Association, filing a proof of claim for a secured claim of $214,115.06, which is now estimated to be currently $250,000 due to postpetition accruals; (2) Kleemoff bankruptcy estate with a secured claim of $20,000 and a general unsecured claim of $66,000 as determined by the court in an order approving a compromise between the estate and that creditor; (3) Los Angeles County Tax Collector, filing a proof of claim for a secured claim of $76,936.06 relating to property taxes on the subject property, which is probably higher due to postpetition accruals; and (4) Data Leverage, LLC, filing a proof of claim for secured and priority claims totaling $293,694.87, now characterized as an administrative expense claim, which is disputed by the trustee.

The court had granted the trustee's motion to approve compromise and sale of the property to Binafard since the motion indicated litigation risks to the estate based on Binafard's specific performance claim in state court regarding the property and the motion was not then opposed. As discussed above, Data Leverage has requested reconsideration under FRCP 60(b), which the court is inclined to grant in part to allow it to argue against the approval of the compromise and sale to Binafard without overbidding.

Based on the papers filed so far, the court believes that the trustee has made a prima facie showing of the A & C factors: (1) the probability of success in the litigation – the estate’s asset is the subject property, the two condominium units, and the estate’s title is based on the validity of debtor’s default judgment in state court as res judicata and collateral estoppel against Binafard’s specific performance claim in another lawsuit in state court, and while the trustee believes he would prevail against Binafard as to the property, Miller v. Dyer, 20 Cal.2d 526, 528-529 (1942), there are substantial risks that the default judgment is valid due to Binafard’s arguments as stated in his papers filed in this case that the default judgment is not effective as to him because he was not named as a party in debtor’s lawsuit, but was an indispensable party in debtor’s lawsuit over the property as debtor was a defendant in Binafard’s specific performance lawsuit filed before debtor’s lawsuit, both having the same subject matter and the same transaction or occurrence, and debtor’s default judgment may be void because he did not comply with the requirements of California Government Code 68634(g) 411.2 in timely making good payment of filing fees for his complaint on which he got default judgment after denial of his request for fee waiver, see Hu v. Silgan Containers Corp., 70 Cal.App.4th 1261 (1999) (interpreting similar provision under California Code of Civil Procedure 411.2); these issues present substantial litigation risks to the estate as if Binafard prevailed, the estate would not have ownership of the property; (2) the difficulties, if any, to be encountered in the matter of collection – the estate may not be able to sell the property if title is not clear based on Binafard’s claim to the property; (3) the complexity of the litigation involved, and the expense – the litigation of title involving the validity of debtor’s default judgment and the determination of Binafard’s specific performance claim in state court, and the application of doctrines of res judicata and/or collateral estoppel would be complex and expensive, and time-consuming, and the estate would be at severe risk of loss of the property through foreclosure of the HOA liens of Crown Towers Homeowners Association, which has obtained relief from the automatic stay to foreclose on its liens, but has not done so if there would be a prompt sale to pay off its liens, or foreclosure of the property tax liens held by the county; and (4) the paramount interest of creditors and a proper deference to their reasonable views in the premises - the creditor body is generally in favor of the compromise, specifically, Crown Towers and the Kleemoff bankruptcy estate, and presumably, the county, since the compromise and sale to Binafard would pay off all these claims as well as other administrative claims of the estate, including the fees of trustee and his professionals, but Data Leverage opposes the compromise and sale to Binafard because it seeks to purchase the property for itself, though its claim would be paid off through the compromise and sale.

The trustee argues that the sale to Binafard may be approved as part of the compromise without overbidding because the sale is integral to the compromise. The court determines that the trustee has made a prima facie showing that the compromise with sale to Binafard does not require overbidding. Despite the argument of several parties that a compromise with a sale of assets always requires overbidding, that argument is not correct as the court has discretion to determine whether to apply the sales procedures of 11 U.S.C. 363 to a motion to approve compromise under FRBP 9019. In re Berkeley Delaware Court, LLC, 834 F.3d 1036, 1039-1041 (9th Cir. 2016); In re Mickey Thompson Entertainment Group, Inc., 292 B.R. 415, 422 and n. 7 (9th Cir. BAP 2003) ("Whether to impose formal sales procedures is ultimately a matter of discretion that depends upon the dynamics of the particular situation."); In re Douglas J. Roger, M.D., Inc., APC, 383 F.Supp.3d 940 (C.D. Cal. 2019). The litigation risks are so substantial here with respect to the estate having to litigate the Binafard specific performance claim in state court, which will involve great expense and delay as well as risk of loss. It seems to the court that Binafard has a substantial case to argue that the debtor's default judgment should not stand because Binafard should have been named as an indispensable party in debtor's lawsuit because debtor was aware of the Binafard suit having been sued as a party and the lawsuit involves the same subject matter as the title to the property. Moreover, having to litigate title to the property in the Binafard suit would involve delay of any sale or disposition of the property, which involves immediate risk to the estate because of the threatened foreclosure by the HOA which has been granted stay relief. Compromise with Binafard including the sale to him is the only way of eliminating such litigation risk to the estate and allows it to sell the property now. Allowing overbidding and a sale to another party without the compromise with Binafard (i.e., the modifications in the order approving compromise requested in movant's motion for reconsideration negate the compromise with Binafard in total) does not avoid the litigation of title to the property with Binafard, which is a risk to the estate as to whether it can sell the property without resolving the title issue. One of the arguments that movant makes against the compromise and sale is that the court should not engage in a de facto state court appeal in considering the dispute between debtor and Binafard, and the court rejects this argument because the court would not be engaging in any litigation of the appeal, but simply evaluating the risks posed by such litigation as A & C Properties directs.

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 12/14/20. Off calendar. Continued by stipulation and order to 4/13/21 at 1:30 p.m. No appearances are required on 12/15/20.

Prior tentative ruling. The court has reviewed the joint status report and notes that the parties do not agree as to dates for a schedule of pretrial proceedings and whether the matter should be ordered to mediation. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 6/9/20 to discuss scheduling and possible referral to mediation, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone. Due to the public health emergency from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak declared in the State of California and the United States of America and to minimize the spread of the disease from in person social contact, the court is only conducting hearings with telephonic appearances for this matter as the courthouse is currently closed to the public by orders of the United States District Court for the Central District of California and this court and that this court will not be holding in person hearings by the date of this hearing. Counsel and self-represented parties must arrange their telephonic appearances through CourtCall, which is offering a discount on fees for attorneys and waiving all fees for self-represented parties. Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 12/14/20. Off calendar. Continued by stipulation and order to 1/19/21 at 1:30 p.m. No appearances are required on 12/15/20.

Revised and updated tentative ruling as of 8/3/20. The court has reviewed plaintiff's unilateral statement for the status conference filed on 8/3/20. Apparently, the mediation has not yet been conducted. According to plaintiff in his statement, he believes that an in person mediation would be more successful than one by videoconference, but defendant is not willing to have an in person mediation in light of current pandemic conditions, suggesting that the parties be allowed to complete an in person mediation by February 2021, assuming the pandemic subsides. Since the statement was unilateral, the court will hear from both parties as to the status of the pending mediation and the scheduling of further proceedings, including whether plaintiff intends to further amend the complaint as stated in its motion to extend discovery deadlines filed on 6/30/20. Appearances are required on 8/4/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Docket 51

Tentative Ruling:

Grant trustee's motion for orders approving short sale of real property of the estate free and clear of liens pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 363(b) and (f)(2), approving payment of real estate commissions, waiving 14-day stay on sale order and finding buyers to be good faith purchasers pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 363(m) for the reasons stated in the moving papers and for lack of timely written opposition. Trustee has met the requirements of 11 U.S.C. 363(f)(2) that the lienholders have consented through express consent by letters of agreement from two junior lienholders and implied consent by the lack of timely opposition by the senior lienholder and the judgment lien creditor despite service, but not 11 U.S.C. 363(f)(3) because the sales price is not greater than the aggregate value of all liens on the property. #1.20 Cont'd hearing re: Confirmation of plan
fr. 8/18/20, 10/21/20, 12/9/20

Tentative Ruling:

Supplemental tentative ruling as of 12/16/20. The court has reviewed the fifth amended plan and debtor's supplemental declaration filed on 12/14/20. The court has the following observations: (1) the objection of secured creditor Deutsche Bank is unresolved, and the proposed plan treatment of this creditor in the latest amended plan is opposed, and thus, plan confirmation is still a contested matter; (2) the income and expense schedules in the supplemental documents is unclear regarding the monthly payments on the first and second liens on the mobile home park are for the refinanced loans, taking out the existing loans; (3) the information is incomplete as to whether the refinancing loan satisfies the requirements of postpetition financing under 11 U.S.C. 364, that is, debtor did not provide information on the terms of refinancing loans as ordered; (4) while the amount of general unsecured claims is small, the amount of the priority tax claims, especially of the City of Beverly Hills, is large, and debtor needs to show that the plan is feasible to pay off the city's claims; (5) the plan language is inconsistent as to payoff of priority tax claims within 5 years of the order for relief since the payoff start date is 2/1/21 when the order for relief is the petition date of 4/3/18; (6) the plan does not contain the language in LBR 3020-1(b) regarding revesting of property of the reorganized debtor in a Chapter 7 estate if the case is converted later. Debtor and other witnesses may have to offer testimony during the hearing to provide evidence to address these issues. The court is holding off on entering orders on the final fee applications of estate professionals pending a ruling confirming the plan. Appearances are required on 12/16/20.

Updated tentative ruling as of 12/11/20. Debtor is to address the issues that were discussed at the hearing on 12/7/20 regarding plan treatment of secured creditor Deutsche Bank and evidence in support of plan feasibility as well as the other issues identified in the prior tentative ruling and as discussed at the prior hearing. counsel regarding feasibility, filed on 12/9/20, but because loans are being refinanced and one secured lender is being paid off, it would be helpful if debtor provided updated income and expense projections for 2021 since the amounts of the debt service on the real property loans are changing, and such information is not provided in the declaration. The counsel declaration does not account for payment of the priority tax claim of the City of Beverly Hills or the payments of the general unsecured claims of the IRS and American Express. Debtor should be available to testify in support of feasibility, and interested parties will be able to inquire regarding feasibility based on the newly filed counsel declaration. Appearances are required on 12/16/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Updated tentative ruling as of 12/7/20. The plan needs to resolve certain issues before it can be confirmed: (1) the objection of secured creditor Deutsche Bank to plan confirmation that the plan cannot modify its lien on debtor's principal residence under 11 U.S.C. 1123(b)(5), the plan does not provide for the full amount of the loan as of the confirmation date and the proposed treatment of paying the secured claim over 30 years with 2% interest does not meet the cramdown "fair and equitable" standards of 11 U.S.C. 1129(b)(2)(A)(i) - unless this dispute is consensually resolved, plan confirmation is a contested proceeding requiring an evidentiary hearing to determine whether the loan term can be stretched out and what the appropriate "cramdown" rate of interest is (i.e., formula v. blended rate, compare Till v. SCS Credit Corp, 541 U.S. 465, 478-479 (2004); In re Sunnyslope Housing Ltd. Partnership, 859 F.3d 637, 646 (9th Cir. 2017) with In re Boulders on the River, Inc., 164 B.R. 99, 106 (9th Cir. BAP 1994); In re North Valley Mall, LLC, 432 B.R. 825, 832 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2010)) - the court is not inclined to approve as "fair and equitable" the treatment of the secured claim for purposes of 11 U.S.C. 1129(b) with a stretch-out of an additional 13-14 years on a loan maturing in 16-17 years with 2% interest where the contract rate is a variable APR rate loan between 3 and 6.25%, because of the default risk to the creditor, In re Fowler, 903 F.2d 694, 697 (9th Cir. 1990), though the proof of claim lists the current variable rate to be 2%; evidence may have to be taken on the appropriate cramdown interest rate and the valuation of the property and lien, though the issue of loan modification for the subject property under 11 U.S.C. 1123(b)(5) is a legal issue, In re Wages, 508 B.R. 161, 165 (9th Cir. BAP 2014) with In re Scarborough, 461 F.3d 406, 410-413 (3rd Cir. 2006); (2) the plan does not comply with 11 U.S.C. 1129(a)(9)(C) requiring priority tax claims be paid in full with interest not later than 5 years from the date of the order for relief on 4/3/18, or by 4/3/23, rather than 1/1/26 as proposed in the plan, and debtor must demonstrate feasibility of paying the total unobjected-to priority tax claims of IRS and Beverly Hills in the approximate amount of $93,000; (3) debtor needs to demonstrate feasibility by showing that he can pay off administrative expense claims pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 1129(a)(9)(A) since the amounts of these claims as reflected in the final fee applications have run higher than listed in the plan and disclosure statement. Debtor must show that the plan is feasible that he can pay the administrative expense claims and the priority tax claims as proposed in the plan or by the deadline for payment of priority tax claims in April 2023. According to debtor in his plan confirmation brief, since approval of the disclosure statement, he has obtained approval of a refinancing loan for the mobile home park which should demonstrate plan feasibility to pay off administrative expense claims, priority tax claims and other claims, but there is no evidence of this in the record. The plan or plan confirmation order must include the language in LBR 3020-1(b) concerning postconfirmation requirements, including revesting property of the reorganized debtor in a Chapter 7 bankruptcy estate if the case is converted to Chapter 7.

Prior tentative ruling as of 10/19/20. No tentative ruling on the merits in light of the objection of administrative expense creditor Law Offices of Michael Jay Berger. Debtor should discuss when he would be able to refinance his real property to pay administrative expense claimants since they all have to consent to the proposed treatment of their claims pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 1129(a)(9)A). The plan should incorporate the mandatory language of LBR 3020-1(b) referring to revesting of property of the reorganized debtor in a Chapter 7 estate if the case is converted to Chapter 7 for a postconfirmation default. The plan should correct typographical and spelling errors, such as plan date of "October 7, 2010," or the court being the "Los Angele Division" or the court address of "155 E. Temple St" in the case caption for the plan. Appearances are required on 10/21/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

Prior tentative ruling as of 7/31/20. Since discovery as extended ended on 7/17/20, the court will set the matter for a pretrial conference. The court requests that counsel review and be thoroughly familiar with Local Bankruptcy Rule 7016-1 regarding preparation of a pretrial stipulation to be submitted for the pretrial conference. The court will discuss scheduling of the pretrial conference and will preliminarily discuss the conduct of the trial which may be remotely by videoconferencing in light of the Covid-19 pandemic. Appearances are required on 8/4/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

#1.00 Discovery dispute conference re: Motion for order disallowing proof of claim no. 7-1
filed by Ghazer Zehnaly
fr. 7/22/20, 10/21/20, 11/16/20

Docket 343

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 12/16/20. Given the escalating costs of litigation of this bankruptcy case without a reasonable prospect of rehabilitation and the resulting diminution of the remaining assets of the estate, the court is considering staying the proceedings of this contested matter and issuing an order to show cause why this bankruptcy case should not be converted to Chapter 7 or a trustee appointed pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 1112(b)(4)(A). Appearances are required on 12/17/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.

TO PARTIES WHO INTEND TO APPEAR AT THE HEARING ON THIS MATTER:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the court hearing before Judge Robert Kwan of the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Central District of California will be conducted telephonically. However, instead of having to physically appear in court, you must appear by telephone because the court is not conducting in person hearings on that date in light of the public health conditions from the COVID-19 pandemic. The courtroom will be locked; parties must appear by telephone and will not be permitted to appear in the courtroom.

In order to appear for the court hearing by telephone, you will need to arrange to make the telephone call through CourtCall, the contract telephone appearance service, which arranges telephone appearances before this court. CourtCall's telephone number is: (866) 582-6878. Through March 31, 2021, CourtCall is offering discounted rates to attorneys and FREE access for parties who do not have an attorney (pro se or self-represented parties). before the hearing, preferably a week before the hearing, and no later than the day before the hearing. After you made your telephone appearance reservation with CourtCall, on the day of the court hearing, you will need to call CourtCall at its telephone number at least 5 minutes before the scheduled hearing, and identify the United States Bankruptcy Court in Los Angeles as the court and Judge Robert Kwan as the judge, and the CourtCall operator will put you into the telephonic court hearing. Given the large demand for telephone court appearances, there may be some delay in connecting to the hearing. If you are having problems connecting to the hearing, please call and advise Judge Kwan's courtroom deputy at (213) 894-3385.

Updated tentative ruling as of 11/10/20. No tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 11/16/20, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear by telephone.
