#1.00 HearingRE: [36] Notice of motion and motion for relief from the automatic stay with supporting declarations PERSONAL PROPERTY RE: 2018 Volvo / S90 T5 Momentum and Proof of Service.

Docket 36

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2) to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to repossess or otherwise obtain possession and dispose of its collateral pursuant to applicable law, and to use the proceeds from its disposition to satisfy its claim. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. The Court finds that there is no equity in the subject vehicle and that the vehicle is not necessary for an effective reorganization since this is a chapter 7 case.

This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. The 14-day stay prescribed by FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived. All other relief is denied.

Movant shall upload an appropriate order via the Court's Lodged Order Upload system within 7 days of the hearing.

#3.00 HearingRE: [10] Notice of motion and motion for relief from the automatic stay with supporting declarations REAL PROPERTY RE: 33707 Hubbard Road, Acton, CA 93510 . , its successors and/or assigns (Glowin, Nichole)

Docket 10

Tentative Ruling:

1/2/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2) to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to foreclose upon and obtain possession of the property in accordance with applicable law. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. Since a chapter 7 case does not contemplate reorganization, the sole issue before the Court when stay relief is sought under 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2) is whether the Debtor has equity in the property. See, e.g., Martens v. Countrywide Home Loans (In re Martens), 331 B.R. 395, 398 (8th Cir. BAP 2005); Ramco Indus. v. Preuss (In re Preuss), 15 B.R. 896, 897 (9th Cir. BAP 1981).

The subject property has a value of $305,000 and is encumbered by a perfected deed of trust or mortgage in favor of the Movant. The liens against the property and the expected costs of sale total $453,914.47. The Court finds there is no equity and there is no evidence that the trustee can administer the subject real property for the benefit of creditors.

Section 727 In The Event The Tax Refund Is Not Turned Over; Declaration Of Howard M. Ehrenberg In Support Thereof (Ehrenberg (TR), Howard)

Docket 33

Tentative Ruling:

1/7/2019

The Trustee's request for an order compelling the Debtor to turnover the Tax Refund is GRANTED. The Trustee's request that the Court revoke the Debtor's discharge if the Debtor fails to turnover the Tax Refund, upon submission of a declaration from the Trustee attesting to the Debtor's non-compliance, is DENIED because Bankruptcy Rule 7001(4) requires the Trustee to seek revocation of a discharge by way of an adversary proceeding.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Chapter 7 Trustee's Motion for (1) Turnover of Property (2017 Tax Refund) of the Estate, and (2) Revocation of Discharge of Debtor Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §727 (In the Event the Tax Refund is Not Turned Over) [Doc. No. 33] (the "Motion")
 - a) Notice of Motion [Doc. No. 34]

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Oscar Nahun Franco (the "Debtor") commenced a voluntary Chapter 7 petition on February 21, 2018. The Debtor received a discharge on June 4, 2018.

The Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee") moves for an order compelling the Debtor to turnover to the estate a federal income tax refund in the amount of $8,540 (the "Tax Refund"). The Trustee further requests that if the Tax Refund is not turned over to the Trustee within ten days following the entry of an order approving the Motion, the Court enter an order revoking the Debtor's discharge, pursuant to §727(d)(2), upon the Trustee's submission of a declaration attesting to the Debtor's non-compliance.

No Opposition to the Motion is on file.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Section 542 provides: "[A]n entity, other than a custodian, in possession, custody, or control, during the case, of property that the trustee may use, sell or lease under section 363 of this title . . . , shall deliver to the trustee, and account for, such property or the value of such property, unless such property is of inconsequential value or benefit to the estate." The "property" referred to in §542 "is generally understood to mean 'property of the estate,' as defined in section 541." Collier on Bankruptcy ¶ 542.02[2] (16th rev'd ed.).

The Bankruptcy Code requires the Debtor to cooperate with the Trustee "as necessary to enable the trustee to perform the trustee's duties under this title . . ." § 521(a)(3). Among other duties, the Trustee has the obligation to "collect and reduce to money the property of the estate." §704(a)(1) and (a)(4).

Property of the estate includes, among other things, "any interest in property that the estate acquires after the commencement of the case." §541(a)(7).

Here, the Debtor received the Tax Refund post-petition. The Tax Refund is therefore property of the estate pursuant to §541(a)(7). Pursuant to §542, the Debtor is required to turnover the Tax Refund to the Trustee. The Court ORDERS the Debtor to turnover the Tax Refund to the Trustee within ten days of entry of the order granting this Motion.

The Trustee requests that if the Debtor fails to timely turnover the Tax Refund, the Court enter an order revoking the Debtor's discharge pursuant to §727(d)(2), upon the Trustee's submission of a declaration attesting to the Debtor's non-compliance. Section 727(d)(2) provides for revocation of a discharge if the Debtor "knowingly and fraudulently" fails to deliver property of the estate to the Trustee.

Bankruptcy Rule 7001(4) requires the Trustee to seek revocation of the Debtor's discharge by way of an adversary proceeding. The Trustee's request for revocation of the Debtor's discharge upon submission of a declaration is denied as procedurally improper.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the Debtor shall turnover to the Trustee the Tax Refund within ten days of entry of the order granting this Motion. The Trustee shall submit a conforming order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing.

#5.00 HearingRE: [186] Motion For Final Decree and Order Closing Case. Notice Of Motion And Motion In Chapter 11 Case For The Entry Of: A Final Decree And Order Closing Case; Proof Of Service;

Docket 186

Tentative Ruling:

1/7/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Motion is GRANTED in its entirety.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Notice of Motion and Motion in Chapter 11 Case for the Entry of A Final Decree and Order Closing Case [Doc. No. 186] (the "Motion")
- 2) Reorganized Debtor's Chapter 11 Post-Confirmation Status Report [Doc. No. 118]

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On May 29, 2018, the Court entered an Order Confirming Debtor's Second Amended Chapter 11 Plan of Reorganization [Doc. No. 169] (the "Confirmation Order"). The Plan provided for entry of a discharge upon the date of confirmation. The Plan requires the Debtor to make monthly payments to general unsecured creditors over a five-year period. The Debtor states that it is current on all plan payments. The Debtor moves for entry of a final decree and an order closing the case. No Opposition to the Motion is on file.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Entry of a final decree is appropriate. Pursuant to §350(a) and Bankruptcy Rule 3022, the Court shall enter a final decree closing a chapter 11 case after the estate is fully administered. In determining whether an estate is fully administered, a court should consider:

- (1) whether the order confirming the plan has become final;
- (2) whether deposits required by the plan have been distributed;
- (3) whether the property proposed by the plan to be transferred has been transferred;

- (4) whether the debtor or the successor of the debtor under the plan has assumed the business of the management of the property dealt with by the plan;
- (5) whether payments under the plan have commenced; and
- (6) whether all motions, contested matters, and adversary proceedings have been finally resolved.

In re Ground Systems, Inc., 213 B.R. 1016, 1019 (9th Cir. BAP 1997), quoting Fed. R. Bankr. P. 3022 advisory committee's notes (1991).

Here, the Confirmation Order is final; the Debtor has commenced making payments under the Plan; the Debtor has commenced management of its business consistent with the terms of the Plan; and there are no outstanding adversary proceedings or contested matters that require that the case remain open. Although not all plan payments have been completed, entry of a final decree and an order closing the case is appropriate under the circumstances.

Having reviewed the Post-Confirmation Status Report submitted in connection with the Status Conference set for January 15, 2019, the Court finds that the Debtor is performing under the Plan. The January 15 Status Conference is VACATED.

The Debtor shall submit a proposed final decree and order closing the case, which shall incorporate this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing. The Court will prepare and enter an order vacating the January 15 Status Conference.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Jessica Vogel or Daniel Koontz at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Debtor and debtor-in-possession, Fu Kong, Inc. (the "Debtor"), filed this voluntary chapter 11 case on June 26, 2018 (the "Petition Date"). The Debtor is an importer, wholesaler and designer of women's apparel under the brands "Lu Lu" and "Shu Shu." The Debtor has 29 years of experience in the industry and has created designs and sold women's apparel under various labels to high end retailers such as Nordstrom, Saks, Lord & Taylor, Dillard's, Macy's and Stein Mart. Lillian Yu-Li Hsu ("Mrs. Hsu") is the Debtor's president, sole shareholder and sole director. George Hsu ("Mr. Hsu," and together with Mrs. Hsu, the "Hsus") was, until his termination on August 1, 2018, the Debtor's secretary.

The Debtor's bankruptcy filing was precipitated by the Debtor's cash flow problems due to a slowdown in business in recent months, the cancellations of orders resulting from a production issues in China that caused a delayed shipment of inventory, and Mr. Hsu's health issues.

On June 1, 2018, secured lender, Cathay Bank (hereinafter, "Cathay"), filed a lawsuit against the Debtor in Los Angeles Superior Court, Case No. KC07032 (the "State Court Action"), for failing to make payments on a business loan. Cathay sought possession of the Debtor's assets, appointment of a receiver, and foreclosure of a commercial warehouse and the Hsus' principal residence which the Hsus pledged as collateral for the loan. That action was stayed by the Debtor's bankruptcy filing.

Shortly after the Petition Date, the Debtor filed a motion to use Cathay's cash collateral [Doc. No. 11] (the "Cash Collateral Motion"). At an initial hearing on July 13, 2018, the Court granted the Cash Collateral Motion on an interim basis, over Cathay's objection, and set a continued hearing for August 9, 2018 [Doc. Nos. 20 and 21]. The matter was later continued to August 16, 2018. At the hearing on August 16, 2018, the Court authorized the Debtor's continued use of cash collateral through October 16, 2018, provided that the Debtor make monthly adequate protection payments to Cathay in the amount of $6,780.32 in accordance with the dates and terms of the underlying loan agreement [Doc. Nos. 61 and 67]. The Court also set a deadline of December 19, 2018, for the Debtor to obtain approval of a disclosure statement in support of a chapter 11 plan. Id. The parties have twice stipulated to the Debtor's continued use of cash collateral [Doc. Nos. 71, 72, 87 and 91]. The Debtor is currently authorized to use Cathay's cash collateral through January 8, 2019.

On July 23, 2018, Cathay filed a motion to appoint a chapter 11 trustee or, in the alternative, to appoint an examiner [Doc. No. 32]. The matter was fully briefed. At a hearing on August 21, 2018, the Court denied Cathay's motion after finding that Cathay had failed to establish sufficient "cause" within the meaning of § 1104(c) [Doc. Nos. 63 and 65].

On October 23, 2018, the Debtor filed a Motion to: (1) Extend Exclusivity Periods for Debtor to File a Chapter 11 Plan and Obtain Acceptance Thereof; and to (2) Vacate the December 19 Deadline to Obtain Approval of a Disclosure Statement [Doc. No. 75] (the "Exclusivity Motion"). Cathay opposed the Exclusivity Motion [Doc. No. 78]. The Debtor originally self-calendared a hearing on the Exclusivity Motion for December 5, 2018 [Doc. No. 80]. However, the parties stipulated to continue the hearing to January 8, 2019, to be heard concurrently with the hearing on the Debtor's continued use of cash collateral and Cathay's Motion (defined below).

Chapter 11

Cathay seeks an order dismissing this case with a 180-day refile bar pursuant to § 1112(b). In the alternative, Cathay requests an order converting this case to a case under chapter 7. Cathay argues that "cause" exists within the meaning of § 1112(b) as follows:

- The Debtor's financial statements reveal that the Debtor has no realistic chance of successfully reorganizing its affairs. The Debtor's monthly operating reports (the "MORs") for the months of July, August and September 2018 reflect net losses.
- The Debtor has violated this Court's cash collateral order by failing to make the required $6,780.32 adequate protection payment to Cathay by October 18, 2018, due to alleged "cash flow" problems.
- The Debtor's ability to reorganize its affairs is premised upon its ability to generate sufficient proceeds from the sale of two parcels of real property – the Hsus' principal residence and commercial warehouse – to pay Cathay's loan in full. However, the alleged value of those properties is significantly lower than the Debtor estimates and there are a number of obstacles preventing those sales from moving forward.

The Debtor timely opposed the Cathay Motion. In response to Cathay's arguments, the Debtor responds as follows:

- The Cathay Motion is procedurally deficient because Cathay did not serve the motion on all creditors as required by Rules 9013 and 2002(a)(4) of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure.
- The Debtor acknowledges that its operated at a loss from June – September 2018 for a number of reasons, but states that its October 2018 MOR reflects positive net profits and anticipates future profits will improve. Debtor is taking steps to improve sales by (i) hiring a new commission-based sales person to focus on selling inventory; (ii) expanding its sales channels to higher trafficked websites; and (iii) obtaining raw materials from countries not affected by recent tariffs. Debtor also anticipates increased sales revenue from a major client. Therefore, the Debtor contends that Cathay has not established that there will be a continuing loss or diminution to the estate.
- The Debtor also rejects Cathay's assertions that it has not made any progress towards rehabilitation or that it has no reasonable prospect of reorganizing. The Debtor states that since the Petition Date, it has (i) renegotiated its commercial lease to reduce monthly rental expense; (ii) identified a purported reasonable basis to eliminate its obligation to pay property tax; (iii) vacated and rejected its lease of commercial showroom space; (iv) laid off three employees; (v) attempted to negotiate with Cathay regarding the sale of the Hsus' warehouse and personal residence to reduce or pay off Cathay's loan, including presenting Cathay with short sale proposals to avoid foreclosure; and (vi) undertaken the efforts described above to improve future profitability.

- The Debtor states that if income remains insufficient to propose a reorganization plan by March 31, 2019, the Debtor will propose a liquidation plan or pursue § 363 sales.
- The Debtor concedes that it did not comply with this Court's cash collateral order but states that its noncompliance was not willful and or repeated. Rather, Debtor states that it simply did not have the funds to make the payment and that it reached out to the Bank in good faith to explain its situation. The Debtor states that it cured the noncompliance by tendering both the October and November payments to Cathay on November 21, 2018.
- The Debtor contends that even if "cause" has been established, the Court may refuse to dismiss or convert the case in light of the unusual circumstances present in this case. Specifically, the Debtor argues that Cathay's loan will likely be paid off or substantially reduced by the sale, foreclosure, or short sale of the Hsus' warehouse and residence. Once that occurs, the Debtor will be in a better position to propose a plan of reorganization that will benefit creditors.
- The Debtor concedes that the Hsus have proposed low short sale prices for the warehouse ($1,500,000) and residence ($699,000) but contends that the list prices do not reflect the actual values that the properties will likely sell for in this market. In fact, the Hsus received a purchase offer of approximately $2,200,000 for the warehouse.
- If the Court finds that "cause" exists to dismiss or convert this case, the Debtor requests that the Court order the case dismissed. The Debtor states that dismissal would be in the best interest of creditors because all of its assets and revenue are fully encumbered and there will be no assets for a chapter 7 trustee to administer for the benefit of creditors.

- Finally, the Debtor argues that Cathay has not established any bad faith warranting dismissal with a 180-day refiling bar.

On December 28, 2018, Cathay filed a Reply and supplemental declaration of Margaret Waye (the "Waye Decl.") responding to the Opposition to Cathay Motion as follows:

- Cathay incorporates by reference the arguments set forth in its Cathay Reply to UST Motion [Doc. No. 99].
- On December 26, 2018, Cathay conducted non-judicial foreclosure sales of the Hsus' commercial warehouse and residence. Cathay was the highest bidder and purchased the properties by credit bid for $564,523.60 and $517,495.20, respectively. Waye Decl., ¶ 2.
- After crediting the proceeds of the trustee's sales, the Debtor still owes Cathay $710,564.26. Waye Decl., ¶ 3. [Note 1]

UST Motion

The Office of the United States Trustee (the "UST") seeks an order converting this case to a case under chapter 7 pursuant to § 1112(b)(4)(A) based upon an apparent substantial or continuing loss to or diminution of the estate and the absence of a reasonable likelihood of rehabilitation. In support, the UST attached the Debtor's MORs as well as spreadsheets that it created utilizing the figures from the Debtor's MORs which it states depict the Debtor's post-petition cash flow and profitability. Declaration of Gary Baddin (the "Baddin Decl."), Exs. 1-7. Based upon its review and analysis of the Debtor's MORs and as set forth in the spreadsheets, the UST identified the following issues:

- The October 2018 MOR shows a cumulative post-petition net operating loss of ($90,337.68).

Chapter 11

- Debtor's debtor-in-possession bank account only shows $4,627.89 of cash after five months in bankruptcy.
- If it weren't for reported cash receipts unrelated to sales, the Debtor's cash position would have been negative.
- The Debtor has been unable to timely make payroll.
- The Debtor has accounts payable in the amount of $180,599.92.
- The Debtor has been unable or unwilling to liquidate its inventory during the pendency of this case.
- The Debtor has suffered losses in four out of the five months it has been in bankruptcy.

Baddin Decl., ¶¶ 3-6.

The UST also notes that the MORs contain a number of mathematical errors and reveal improper or undocumented transactions. Baddin Decl., ¶¶ 4a, 4b. For example, Mr. Baddin states:

[D]uring the month of July, Debtor transferred the amount of $8,780.32, in two payments from the Payroll account to the DIP General account. Normally, funds should be transferred from the General to the Payroll account. These transactions were undocumented, and the reason for such transfers is presently unclear.

Further, the payroll ledger for the month of August inexplicably shows only the monthly bank charge in the amount of $14.00 when the bank statements for the month clearly shows the total of $7,335.60 in 'subtractions.'

...

Finally, I found that Debtor made an undocumented loan repayment in the amount of $2,3000 on 9-27-18.

Baddin Decl., ¶ 4b.

The UST asserts that the following issues demonstrate that the Debtor is diminishing in value and that its bleak financial condition makes it unlikely that the Debtor could confirm a plan of reorganization. The UST therefore requests that this case be converted to a case under chapter 7. The UST contends that conversion, rather than dismissal, is in the best interest of creditors because the Debtor's October MOR reflects $1,412,869.50 in inventory that a trustee should be afforded an opportunity to investigate and try to liquidate for the benefit of creditors.

On December 4, 2018, Cathay filed a joinder with the UST Motion [Doc. No. 93].

The Debtor timely opposed the UST Motion. In response to the UST's arguments, the Debtor makes largely the same arguments as set forth above in opposition to the Cathay Motion. In addition to the arguments set forth above, the Debtor adds the following new arguments:

- It is unclear whether the UST Motion is procedurally deficient because the UST's proof of service does not indicate that all creditors were served.
- The Debtor's future business prospects are not grim because Debtor: (i) secured purchase orders for fabrics for January and February 2019 which will generate $298,200 in income; (ii) secured purchase orders for finished garments for Spring 2019 which will generate $40,780.30 in income; (iii) anticipates securing purchase orders for finished garments from customers Soft Surroundings and Ameri Mark, for $46,000 and $5,200; and (iv) will be meeting with TJ Maxx and Seventh Avenue to discuss potential business relationships.

- With respect to the prospect of paying off Cathay's loan through the sale of properties, the Debtor states that although Cathay has rejected its short sale proposals, it can agree to sales at prices commensurate with market value or proceed with foreclosure proceedings at higher sales prices. Debtor concedes that George Hsu filed a chapter 13 bankruptcy case on November 13, 2018 (Case No. 2:18-bk-23314-WB), but expects the case will soon be dismissed which will allow Cathay to proceed with its foreclosure proceedings.

The Debtor also responds to the alleged mathematical errors and improper or undocumented transfers highlighted in the Baddin Declaration by stating that the issues were the result of accounting errors, a mistaken deposit by a bank teller into the wrong DIP account, or delayed cashing of outstanding checks. Declaration of Lillian Hsu ("Hsu Decl."), ¶¶ 15- 21. Mrs. Hsu also acknowledges that employee wages were not timely paid but states that the Debtor is now current on all post-petition employee wages. Hsu Decl., ¶ 18. Finally, Mrs. Hsu states that the $2,300 loan repayment was made in error because the Debtor did not know it would be an issue, but states that the Debtor will not do it again. Hsu Decl., ¶ 19.

The UST submitted the following arguments in Reply to the Debtor's Opposition. First, the UST states that although the Debtor may have made diligent efforts to reorganize, there is no dispute that cause exists under § 1112(b)(4)(A). The UST contends that despite not timely making post-petition rent payments or post-petition payroll, the Debtor's ending balance for its DIP account is only $959.82. Accordingly, the UST contends that the Debtor is presently administratively insolvent with no ability to pay all of its legal fees incurred to date. Second, the UST notes that even though the Debtor was unable to timely make rent and payroll payments, it did pay $3,894.90 in October 2018 for "miscellaneous operating expenses," which includes a $545 lease payment for Mrs. Hsu's car and another $190.38 for car expenses. The UST asserts that these "miscellaneous expenses" total $14,286.83 throughout the pendency of this case. Third, the UST argues that the evidence submitted in support of Debtor's Opposition does not demonstrate a reasonable likelihood of rehabilitation, because the Debtor relies on pure conjectures about the business that may come in. Finally, the UST reiterates that, based upon the Debtor's valuation of its assets, conversion is in the best interest of creditors.

On December 12, 2018, Cathay submitted a reply in support of the UST Motion [Doc. No. 99]. Cathay contends that despite the evidence provided in support of the Debtor's Opposition, the Debtor has not demonstrated a reasonable prospect of reorganizing. Cathay argues that Debtor's assertion that it operated at a profit in October is illusory because the Debtor's post-petition liabilities outweigh any purported net gross profit. Cathay also argues that Debtor's asserted net profit figure is dependent upon the accuracy of the Debtor's accounting and there are a number of discrepancies between Debtor's September and October MORs that cast their reliability into doubt. Further, even if the Debtor's figures are accurate, Cathay contends that the $1,837.95 October profit is insufficient to refund a plan or satisfy post-petition liabilities.

Cathay also argues that the Debtor's claims of progress towards reorganizing its affairs are illusory. For example, Cathay notes that although Debtor purports to have renegotiated its commercial lease, the Debtor was essentially negotiating with itself because the Hsus own the warehouse and the MORs do not reflect that the Debtor has even been paying rent. Similarly, Cathay asserts that although the Debtor contends that the Hsus will sell the warehouse and residence and pay Cathay in full, such sales would not come close to paying off its claim. Cathay also asserts that the Debtor's claim anticipated increase in sales in 2019 is not supported by evidence to establish that the business prospects will come to fruition.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

A. Notice of the Motions is Adequate

Chapter 11

The Debtor contends that the Cathay Motion was not properly served on all creditors as required by Rule 2002(a)(4) of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure ("FRBP") and that the proof of service attached in support of the UST does not indicate that it was served on all creditors as required by FRBP 2002(a)(4).

Based upon this Court's review of the initial proofs of service filed in support of the Cathay and UST Motions, it appears the Debtor is correct that not all creditors were served with the motions. However, on December 9 and 15, 2018, the bankruptcy noticing center issued notice of the UST Motion [Doc. No. 97] and notice of the continued January 8, 2019, hearing on the UST Motion [Doc. No. 102]. Accordingly, the Court finds that all creditors received timely notice of the possibility of this case being converted or dismissed.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no other opposition or response is on file. Therefore, pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(h), any party who failed to timely file and serve an opposition is deemed to consent to the granting or denial of the motions.

B. Cause Exists Under § 1112(b) to Convert This Case

Under § 1112(b), the Court shall dismiss or convert a case to one under chapter 7 upon a showing of "cause." Section 1112(b)(4) provides a nonexclusive list of factors that constitute "cause," including, in relevant part: "(A) substantial or continuing loss to or diminution of the estate and the absence of a reasonable likelihood of rehabilitation;" "(B) gross mismanagement of the estate;" "(E) failure to comply with an order of the court;" and "(J) failure to file a disclosure statement, or to file or confirm a plan, within the time fixed by this title or by order of the court." 11 U.S.C. § 1112(b)(4).

The Court finds that the UST and Cathay have established sufficient "case" to dismiss or convert the Debtor's case under 11 U.S.C. § 1112(b)(4)(A). Based upon the Court's review of the pleadings and evidence in the record, the Court finds as follows. First, the Debtor does not dispute that following the Petition Date, it experienced substantial losses resulting from various issues with the sale of its inventory. Although the Debtor contends that as of October 2018 it was operating at a net profit, as the UST and Cathay highlight, the Debtor's MOR's appear to contain a number of errors that render those reports unreliable. Moreover, the Debtor concedes that during this period it failed to timely pay post-petition payroll obligations and missed two Court ordered adequate protection payments owing to Cathay Bank.

Second, although the Debtor contends that it has taken several steps to increase its profitability, the Debtor has not presented sufficient evidence to overcome the UST and Cathay's evidence and persuade this Court that it has a reasonable likelihood of rehabilitating its business within a reasonable period of time. The Court finds that the Hsu Declaration filed in support of the Debtor's oppositions to the UST and Cathay Motions is imprecise and largely unhelpful. For example, Mrs. Hsu states that the Debtor has secured a number of new purchase orders that will generate new income in 2019 but fails to explain whether the anticipated income is revenue or net income, so the Court cannot determine whether these new orders will enable the Debtor to generate a profit. Furthermore, Mrs. Hsu does not attach any evidence for this Court to determine whether the purchase orders are from new clients that will actually improve the Debtor's financial condition, or existing clients that will only maintain the Debtor's financial condition.

Additionally, Mrs. Hsu states that the Debtor recently hired a new sales person to focus on selling inventory but does not provide any details regarding the qualifications of the sales person or a declaration of past performance. Mrs. Hsu also states that the Debtor will be expanding its sales channels through a website that has consistent traffic and an established e-commerce business but fails to identify which website she is referring to, what type of customers it attracts, or any evidence of anticipated sales revenues.

The Court also notes that the Debtor's past projections for future business operations do not appear to have materialized. For example, in its motion for authority to use cash collateral filed on July 26, 2018, the Debtor stated "[b]eginning September or October 2018, Debtor projects it will begin generating up to $100,000 to $200,000 in monthly gross revenue at a 15% or 20% profit margin through selling custom fabrics. In August 2018, Debtor will be attending an apparel trade show in Las Vegas to showcase its new inventory of trendy clothing and samples of its custom fabrics." See Doc. No. 40, p. 5: 16-21. The Debtor makes no mention of these past projections in its current pleadings, so the Court is left to conclude that the Debtor's efforts were unsuccessful without any explanation as to why that occurred.

Finally, the Debtor's oppositions rely heavily on the assumption that any sale of the Hsus' warehouse and residence would generate sufficient net sales to pay off or largely satisfy Cathay's loans, but as evidenced by Cathay's Reply, those assumptions did not materialize, and Cathay still holds an approximate $710,000 claim against the Debtor's estate. Accordingly, even if the Debtor were able to increase its profitability in the next few months, the Debtor has not adequately demonstrated an ability to generate sufficient profit needed to propose a viable plan of reorganization that would garner Cathay's support. Furthermore, the Debtor was aware of Cathay's efforts to foreclose upon the warehouse in which it operates its business but failed to address what impact foreclosure would have upon the Debtor's ability to continue to operate.

All of the foregoing reasons lead this Court to conclude that the Debtor does not have a reasonable likelihood of reorganizing its affairs and that permitting the Debtor an additional three months to improve its operations will likely only result in higher administrative expenses to the estate.

Having determined that cause exists, the Court must next determine whether dismissal or conversion serves the best interests of creditors or the estate. See In re Products Int'l Co., 395 B.R. 101, 107 (Bankr. D. Ariz. 2008) (citing In re Nelson, 343 B.R. 671 (9th Cir. 2006)). "[W]hen deciding between dismissal and conversion under 11 U.S.C. § 1112(b), the court must consider the interests of all of the creditors." Shulkin Hutton, Inc. v. Treiger (In re Owens), 552 F.3d 958, 961 (9th Cir. 2009) (emphasis in original) (quoting Rollex Corp. v. Associated Materials, Inc. (In re Superior Siding & Window, Inc.), 14 F.3d 240, 243 (4th Cir. 1994)).

The Court finds that conversion to chapter 7 would be in the best interest of creditors. The Debtor contends that it has inventory worth approximately $1,400,000. In light of the recent foreclosures that reduced Cathay's claim to approximately $710,000, it appears there may be unencumbered assets that a trustee could administer for the benefit of creditors.

Note 1: On December 31, 2018, the Debtor file its reply in support of its continued use of cash collateral [Doc. No. 109] asserting that Cathay's pay-off statement in somewhat misleading because Cathay fails to disclose that it held the first-priority senior liens on both properties. Accordingly, the Debtor contends that Cathay received approximately $2,400,000 as a result of its December 26, 2018, foreclosure sales. However, this argument appears to be irrelevant because the Debtor does not assert that this additional benefit reduced the amount the Debtor owes Cathay. The Court declines to make any findings as to what the Debtor's principals owe Cathay in connection with the first-priority senior liens in view of the foreclosures.

#10.00 HearingRE: [45] Motion Trustees Notice Of Motion And Motion For Order Approving Carve-Out Agreement with proof of service (D'Alba, Michael)

Docket 45

Tentative Ruling:

1/7/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Motion is GRANTED.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Trustee's Notice of Motion and Motion for Order Approving Carve-Out Agreement [Doc. No. 45] (the "Motion")
 - a) Notice of Hearing on Motion for Order Approving Carve-Out Agreement Filed by Chapter 7 Trustee [Doc. No. 46]

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Fatemeh Mahdavi (the "Debtor") commenced a voluntary Chapter 7 petition on May 22, 2018. Among the assets of the estate are properties located at 1398 Davies Drive, Beverly Hills, CA (the "Davies Property") and 2160 Century Park East, #812, Los Angeles, CA (the "Condominium"). The Davies Property is encumbered by an Abstract of Judgment in favor of Davoud Gharehbaghi and Iliad Ashraf Por (the "Gharehbaghi Lien") in the amount of $1,289,722.22. The Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee") moves for approval of a Carve-Out Agreement between the Trustee and Gharehbaghi. The Carve-Out Agreement provides, among other things, that the Trustee will sell the Davies Property and that Gharehbaghi will subordinate his lien to certain administrative expenses involving the Davies Property plus 10% to 15% for the bankruptcy estate, depending on the extent of the proceeds generated. Gharehbaghi's lien as to the Condominium will be avoided and preserved for the benefit of the bankruptcy estate.

The Trustee projects that sale of the Davies Property will generate net equity, subject to the Carve-Out, of $1,217,044. The Trustee's projections for the equity generated from the sale of the Condominium depend upon the outcome of the adversary proceeding De Arruda v. Carolyn A. Dye, Chapter 7 Trustee for the Bankruptcy Estate of Fatemeh Mahdavi (Adv. No. 2:18-ap-01266-ER) (the "Adversary Proceeding"). In the Adversary Proceeding, James De Arruda asserts a 50% interest in the Condominium; the Trustee disputes De Arruda's allegations and asserts that the estate holds a 100% interest in the Condominium. The Trustee projects equity for the estate from the sale of the Condominium of $24,526 if the Trustee prevails, and equity of $12,273 in the event that De Arruda prevails.

No Opposition to the Motion is on file.

II. Findings and Conclusions

"Despite the general rule prohibiting the sale of fully encumbered property, chapter 7 trustees may seek to justify the sale through a negotiated carve-out agreement with the secured creditor." In re KVN Corp., Inc., 514 B.R. 1, 6 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2014). A carve-out agreement is appropriate if (1) the Trustee has fulfilled his or her basic duties, if (2) there is a prospect of a meaningful distribution to unsecured creditors, and if (3) the terms of the carve-out agreement have been fully disclosed. Id. at 8.

The Court finds the Carve-Out Agreement proposed here to be appropriate. First, the Trustee has fulfilled her basic duties by examining the liens against the Davies Property and by consulting a real estate broker as to the Property's valuation. Second, under the Carve-Out Agreement, there is a prospect of a meaningful distribution to unsecured creditors. The estate will receive 10% of the first $1 million in net sales proceeds and 15% of any net proceeds in excess of $1 million. Finally, the Trustee has fully disclosed the terms of the Carve-Out Agreement.

Based upon the foregoing, the Motion is GRANTED. The Trustee shall submit a conforming order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Involuntary Petition Against a Non-Individual [Doc. No. 1]
- 2) Summons and Notice of Status Conference in an Involuntary Bankruptcy Case [Doc. No. 3]
 - a) Certificate of Service [Doc. No. 5]

The Petitioning Creditors have failed to file a proof of service establishing that the Summons, Notice of Status Conference, and Involuntary Petition were served upon the Alleged Debtor. The Summons issued to the Petitioning Creditors clearly informs the Petitioning Creditors of the obligation to serve the Summons, Notice of Status Conference, and Involuntary Petition upon the Alleged Debtor. The Summons further advises the Petitioning Creditors that failure to properly effectuate service may result in dismissal of the involuntary petition.

Local Bankruptcy Rule 1010-1 provides in relevant part: "The court may dismiss an involuntary petition without further notice and hearing if the petitioner fails to ... (c) serve the summons and petition within the time allowed by FRBP 7004; (d) file a proof of service of the summons and petition with the court; or (e) appear at the status conference set by the court."

Based upon the foregoing, the involuntary petition is DISMISSED. The Court will enter an appropriate order.

Maria G. Gallarza-Dominguez (the "Debtor") commenced a voluntary Chapter 11 petition on June 26, 2018. Doc. No. 1. Trust Company, as Trustee for American Home Mortgage Assets Trust 2007-3, Mortgage-Backed Pass-Through Certificates Series 2007-3 (“Deutsche Bank”). Deutsche Bank asserts a secured claim against the Property in the amount of $1,195,778.35. See Proof of Claim 5-1 (“Claim 5”).

The Debtor seeks an order valuing the Property at $600,000, in order to bifurcate Deutsche Bank’s claim for plan treatment purposes (the “Valuation Motion”). In support of the claimed valuation, the Debtor submits an Appraisal Report prepared by Perez & Associates (the “Debtor’s Appraisal”). Attached to the Debtor Appraisal is a Construction Bid Summary prepared by EC Precise Designs (the “Construction Summary”). According to the Construction Summary, the Property requires repairs in the amount of $179,550. The estimated cost of the most significant repairs are as follows:

- 1) In bathroom #1, remove and replace drywall; remove and replace existing tile on shower walls; install new solid maple vanity; install new frameless shower enclosure--$15,400
- 2) In bathroom #2, remove and replace existing tile on shower; install new toilet and new solid maple vanity; install new frameless shower enclosure--$16,700
- 3) Replace existing kitchen cabinets with new solid maple cabinets containing self-closing hardware; repair existing tile flooring in kitchen--$18,100
- 4) Replace roof--$29,700
- 5) Repair existing stucco--$21,500
- 6) Rebuild existing patio--$12,700
- 7) Install new air conditioning unit--$13,500

An initial hearing on the Valuation Motion was held on November 6, 2018. That hearing was continued to provide Deutsche Bank additional time to further investigate the Property’s value and obtain a full interior appraisal, if necessary. Deutsche Bank has submitted additional evidence, consisting of an appraisal based upon a complete visual inspection of the Property’s interior and exterior, prepared by Certified Residential Real Estate Appraiser Andrew Grunewald (the “Bank’s Appraisal”). The Bank’s Appraisal values the Property at $700,000.

Like the Debtor’s Appraisal, the Bank’s Appraisal contains a list of recommended repairs to the Property. The repairs recommended by the Bank’s Appraisal have an estimated cost of $30,500, and consist of the following:

- 4) Discloration in bathroom--$3,000
- 5) Termite infestation--$3,000

The $700,000 valuation contained in the Bank's Appraisal assumes that none of the repairs are made. If the recommended repairs are made, the Bank's Appraisal estimates that the Property would be worth $730,000.

Debtor contests the validity of the Bank's Appraisal. According to the Debtor, the Bank's Appraisal overstates the Property's value because it does not take into account the necessary repairs.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Section 506(a)(1) provides in relevant part:

An allowed claim of a creditor secured by a lien on property in which the estate has an interest ... is a secured claim to the extent of the value of such creditor's interest in the estate's interest in such property ... and is an unsecured claim to the extent that the value of such creditor's interest ... is less than the amount of such allowed claim. Such value shall be determined in light of the purpose of the valuation and of the proposed disposition or use of such property, and in conjunction with any hearing on such disposition or use or on a plan affecting such creditor's interest.

Debtor asserts that the Property is worth $600,000; Deutsche Bank maintains that the Property is worth $700,000. The disagreement can be largely explained by the parties' differing estimates as to the extent of necessary repairs. Debtor asserts that the Property requires $179,550 in repairs, while Deutsche Bank estimates the required repairs at only $30,500.

The Bank's Appraisal contains color photographs of the dining room, kitchen, laundry room, family room, master bedroom, master bathroom, two other bedrooms, and one other bathroom. The Bank's Appraisal also includes four color photographs showing various types of damage, including (1) damage to the drywall located next to the garage door entry, (2) termite damage to the Property's exterior, (3) peeling paint on the Property's exterior, and (4) cracks in the rear patio. Based upon its review of these photographs, the Court finds that the Bank's Appraisal's repair estimate of $30,500 to be far more realistic than the Debtor's inflated repair estimate of $179,550.

The Property is located in Downey, CA and is 68 years old. Per the Debtor's Appraisal, it is located in a neighborhood contain "structures of average quality," in "average to good condition," exhibiting "average maintenance." The pictures contained in the Bank's Appraisal show that the cabinets and fixtures in the bathrooms and kitchen are in decent condition, yet the Debtor's Construction Summary contemplates the installation of two new solid maple vanities in the bathrooms, two frameless shower enclosures, and high-end self-closing cabinets in the kitchen. In other words, many of the repairs contemplated by the Construction Summary would upgrade the Property's interior to a level far in excess of that demanded by the market. As a result, the Debtor's excessive repair estimate implies that the Property is in worse condition than it actually is.

Further, contrary to the Debtor's contention, Deutsche Bank has not failed to account for necessary repairs in its appraisal. The Bank's Appraisal fully accounts for the fact that the Property requires certain repairs, such as painting, termite remediation, and roof remediation. However, unlike the Debtor's Appraisal, the Bank's Appraisal includes only those repairs that would be essential were the Property to be marketed, and does not inflate the cost of such repairs. For example, the Bank's Appraisal realistically estimates that the Property's roof could be repaired for $2,500, whereas the Construction Summary attached to the Debtor's Appraisal asserts that the roof must be completely replaced at a cost of $29,700.

Because the Debtor's Appraisal contains such inflated repair estimates, it undervalues the Property. The Court finds that for plan treatment purposes, the Property has a value of $700,000, as set forth in the Bank's Appraisal.

The Debtor shall submit an order incorporating this tentative ruling by reference within seven days of the hearing.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. #1.00 HearingRE: [11] Notice of motion and motion for relief from the automatic stay with supporting declarations PERSONAL PROPERTY RE: 2016 Lexus CT200H .

Docket 11

Tentative Ruling:

1/11/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2) to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to repossess or otherwise obtain possession and dispose of its collateral pursuant to applicable law, and to use the proceeds from its disposition to satisfy its claim. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. The Court finds that there is no equity in the subject vehicle and that the vehicle is not necessary for an effective reorganization since this is a chapter 7 case.

This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. All other relief is denied.

Movant shall upload an appropriate order via the Court's Lodged Order Upload system within 7 days of the hearing.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend

#3.00 HearingRE: [6] Notice of motion and motion for relief from the automatic stay with supporting declarations UNLAWFUL DETAINER RE: 536 S 2nd Street, Ste I & J, Covina, CA . (Long, Helen)

Docket 6

Tentative Ruling:

1/11/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The automatic stay does not apply to any action taken by Movant to evict the Debtor from the Property. Movant obtained an unlawful detainer judgment against the Debtor on November 5, 2018, and obtained a writ of possession for the Property on November 13, 2018. Debtor filed a voluntary Chapter 7 petition on December 7, 2018. "[U]nder California law, entry of judgment and a writ of possession following unlawful detainer proceedings extinguishes all other legal and equitable possessory interests in the real property at issue." In re Perl, 811 F.3d 1120, 1127–28 (9th Cir. 2016). Because the Debtor's interest in the Property was extinguished pre-petition, the Property is not property of the estate and the automatic stay does not apply. The unlawful detainer judgment divested the Debtor "of all legal and equitable possessory rights that would otherwise be protected by the automatic stay." Id. at 1130.

Movant may enforce its remedies to obtain possession of the property in accordance with applicable state law, but may not pursue a deficiency claim against the debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501.

In this dischargeability action, Plaintiffs allege that Defendant committed willful and malicious injury by secretly videotaping Plaintiffs changing and using the restroom. The Court has stayed this action pending resolution of the underlying state court action in which Plaintiffs seek to establish the indebtedness which is alleged to be non-dischargeable (the "State Court Action").

Based upon its review of the most recent Status Report and the Declaration of Eric V. Traut Showing Actions Undertaken to Prosecute the State Court Action, the Court notes that the proceedings in the State Court Action are at an early stage.

A continued Status Conference shall be held on June 11, 2019, at 10:00 a.m. The parties shall submit a Joint Status Report by no later than fourteen days prior to the hearing. The Joint Status Report shall describe in detail the status of the State Court Action.

#7.00 Status Hearing RE: [1] Adversary case 2:18-ap-01303. Complaint by Brad D. Krasnoff, Chapter 7 Trustee against Complete Business Solutions Group, Inc., ML Factors Funding LLC, Last Chance Funding, Inc., TVT Capital LLC, Finishline Capital, Inc., Karish Kapital LLC, Yellowstone Capital West. (Charge To Estate). Trustee's Complaint for Interpleader Nature of Suit: (02 (Other (e.g. other actions that would have been brought in state court if unrelated to bankruptcy))) (Singh, Sonia)

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

1/14/2019

The Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee") shall appear to respond to the Court's concerns, set forth below.

The Trustee has collected and is holding receivables in the amount of $23,117.15 in a segregated account (the "Segregated Funds"). The Segregated Funds are encumbered by security interests asserted by Defendants FinishLine Capital, Inc., ML Factors Funding, LLC, Last Chance Funding, Inc., TVT Capital, LLC, Complete Business Solutions Group, Inc., Karish Kapital LLC, and Yellowstone Capital West, LLC. The Trustee is unable to determine which Defendant is entitled to the Segregated Funds. The Trustee is willing to deliver the Segregated Funds to whichever Defendant is entitled to receive them.

Pursuant to Cal. Code Civ. Proc. § 386, the Trustee seeks the following relief:

- 1) An order directing the Clerk of the Court to hold the Segregated Funds pending determination of the rights of the Defendants;
- 2) An order requiring Defendants to litigate their respective rights and claims in and to the Segregated Funds;
- 3) An order discharging the Trustee from any and all liability on account of the claims of each of the Defendants in and to the Segregated Funds; and
- 4) An award of costs and reasonable attorneys' fees, to be determined by the Court and paid out of the Segregated Funds.

CONT... Golden Diamond International Inc.

Chapter 7

Each Defendant was required to respond to the Complaint by no later than October 17, 2018. None of the Defendants have responded to the Complaint. In his Unilateral Status Report, the Trustee states that he intends to file a motion to deposit the Segregated Funds to the Court's registry.

Cal. Code Civ. Proc. § 386 provides:

Any person, firm, corporation, association or other entity against whom double or multiple claims are made, or may be made, by two or more persons which are such that they may give rise to double or multiple liability, may bring an action against the claimants to compel them to interplead and litigate their several claims.

In Dial 800 v. Fesbinder, 118 Cal. App. 4th 32, 42–43, 12 Cal. Rptr. 3d 711, 718 (2004), as modified (May 5, 2004), the California Court of Appeal explained the purpose and structure of interpleader actions brought under Cal. Code Civ. Proc. § 386:

In an interpleader action, the court initially determines the right of the plaintiff to interplead the funds; if that right is sustained, an interlocutory decree is entered which requires the defendants to interplead and litigate their claims to the funds. Upon an admission of liability and deposit of monies with the court, the plaintiff then may be discharged from liability and dismissed from the interpleader action. The effect of such an order is to preserve the fund, discharge the stakeholder from further liability, and to keep the fund in the court's custody until the rights of the potential claimants of the monies can be adjudicated. Thus, the interpleader proceeding is traditionally viewed as two lawsuits in one. The first dispute is between the stakeholder and the claimants to determine the right to interplead the funds. The second dispute to be resolved is who is to receive the interpleaded funds.

Dial 800, 118 Cal. App. 4th at 42–43 (internal citations omitted).

To satisfy his right to interplead the funds, the Trustee must "show that the defendants make conflicting claims" to the funds, and that the Trustee "cannot safely determine which claim is valid" Placer Foreclosure, Inc. v. Aflalo, 23 Cal. App. 5th 1109, 1113, 233 Cal. Rptr. 3d 694, 697 (Ct. App. 2018).

The Trustee shall appear at the hearing to address the following issues. First, the Court requires a further explanation regarding why the Trustee "cannot safely determine" which of the claims asserted by the Defendants is valid. Placer Foreclosure, 23 Cal. App. 5th at 1113. The Complaint alleges that each Defendant has recorded UCC financing statements against the Debtor's assets with the California Secretary of State. It is unclear to the Court why the Trustee cannot determine which Defendant is entitled to the funds by examining the priority of the security interests asserted by the Defendants.

Second, the Court requires further information regarding the Trustee's plans to resolve this action given the failure of any of the Defendants to respond to the Complaint. Seven entities have asserted security interests against the Segregated Funds, which amount to only $23,117.15. In the event the Court determines that the Trustee is entitled to be paid reasonable attorneys' fees from the Segregated Funds, the amount available to the Defendants will be even less. Given the small amount at issue, it would not be surprising if one or more of the Defendants continued to decline to respond to the litigation. If the Defendants refuse to participate in the litigation, how can the Court determine which Defendant is entitled to the funds?

Tentative Ruling:

1/14/2019

The Court has modified the Joint Proposed Pre-trial Stipulation and Order (the "Pretrial Order") submitted by the parties. Certain information contained in the Pretrial Order—such as the history of the underlying State Court Action—is not relevant to this proceeding.

Based upon its review of the Pretrial Order, the Court finds that one day is sufficient to try the matters at issue in this action. Trial shall take place on Monday, January 28, 2019, commencing at 9:00 a.m. The parties shall deliver the materials set forth in the Order Re: Courtroom Procedures [Doc. No. 4] to Judge Robles' chambers by no later than Friday, January 18, 2019.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Jessica Vogel or Daniel Koontz at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. If you wish to make a telephonic appearance, contact Court Call at 888-882-6878, no later than one hour before the hearing.

4) Quiet Title by Peter W Lianides on behalf of James De Arruda against Carolyn A Dye (TR), Ali Reza Mahdavi, Fatemeh V. Mahdavi

Docket 14

Tentative Ruling:

1/14/2019

On January 5, 2018, Plaintiff filed an action in the Los Angeles Superior Court (the "State Court") seeking a judgment confirming Plaintiff's title to and interest in property located at 2160 Century Park East, #812, Los Angeles, CA 90067 (the "Condo"). On May 22, 2018, Debtor/Defendant Fatemeh V. Mahdavi, who asserts an interest in the Condo, filed a voluntary Chapter 7 petition. The State Court Action also named as defendants the Debtor's spouse, Ali Rez Mahdavi, and Daria Asya Selivanova.

On August 20, 2018, Plaintiff removed the State Court Action to the Bankruptcy Court. Plaintiff asserted that removal was appropriate because the action seeks a determination as to whether the Condo is property of the estate. On October 4, 2018, Plaintiff dismissed its claims against Selivanova. Adv. Doc. No. 12.

The Court conducted an initial Status Conference on October 16, 2018, at which it ordered Plaintiff to file an Amended Complaint naming the Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee") as a defendant. Adv. Doc. No. 16. The Court further authorized the Trustee to file an Answer and Counterclaim to the Amended Complaint. Id.

Plaintiff filed an Amended Complaint as ordered by the Court on October 30, 2018. Adv. Doc. No. 14. In the Amended Complaint, Plaintiff seeks a declaration that he holds a 50% interest in the Condo. The Trustee filed an Answer and Counterclaim on December 20, 2018. Adv. Doc. No. 26. The Trustee disputes Plaintiff's claim to a 50% interest in the Condo, and seeks a declaration that the Condo is property of the estate in its entirety.

Dr. Davoud Gharehbaghi and Iliad Ashraf Por (collectively, "Gharehbaghi") recorded an Abstract of Judgment (the "Gharehbaghi Abstract of Judgment") against the Condo on November 2, 2017. On January 9, 2019, the Court granted the Trustee's motion to approve a Stipulation for: (1) Carve-out of Judgment Lien on 1398 Davies Drive, Beverly Hills, CA; and (2) Avoidance and Preservation of Judgment Lien on 2160 Century Park East #812, Los Angeles, California [Bankr. Doc. No. 45, Ex. 6] (the "Carve-Out Agreement"). The Carve-Out Agreement provides that the Gharehbaghi Abstract of Judgment against the Condo shall be deemed avoided and preserved for the benefit of the bankruptcy estate. Carve-Out Agreement at ¶I.

Having reviewed the Joint Status Report filed by the parties, the Court HEREBY ORDERS as follows:

- 1) In the interests of judicial efficiency, the Amended Complaint and the Counterclaim shall be tried concurrently. The litigation deadlines previously ordered with respect to the Counterclaim shall govern the litigation of both the Amended Complaint and Counterclaim, as follows:
 - a) A continued Status Conference shall be held on 4/16/2019 at 10:00 a.m. A Joint Status Report shall be submitted by no later than fourteen days prior to the hearing.
 - b) The last day to amend pleadings and/or join other parties is 5/16/2019.
 - c) The last day to disclose expert witnesses and expert witness reports is 8/27/2019.
 - d) The last day to disclose rebuttal expert witnesses and rebuttal expert witness reports is 9/26/2019.
 - e) The last date to complete discovery relating to expert witnesses (e.g., depositions of expert witnesses), including hearings on motions related to expert discovery, is 10/15/2019. (For contemplated hearings on motions related to expert discovery, it is counsel's responsibility to check the Judge's self-calendaring dates, posted on the Court's website. If the expert discovery cutoff date falls on a date when the court is closed or that is not available for self-calendaring, the deadline for hearings on expert discovery motions is the next closest date which is available for self-calendaring.)
 - f) The last day for dispositive motions to be heard is 10/22/2019. (If the motion cutoff date is not available for self-calendaring, the deadline for dispositive motions to be heard is the next closest date which is available for self-calendaring.)
 - g) The last day to complete discovery (except as to experts), including hearings on discovery motions, is 10/26/2019. (If the non-expert discovery

- h) A Pretrial Conference is set for 11/12/2019 at 11:00 a.m. By no later than fourteen days prior to the Pretrial Conference, the parties must submit a Joint Pretrial Stipulation via the Court's Lodged Order Upload (LOU) system. Submission via LOU allows the Court to edit the Joint Pretrial Stipulation, if necessary. Parties should consult the Court Manual, section 4, for information about LOU.
- i) In addition to the procedures set forth in Local Bankruptcy Rule 7016-1(b), the following procedures govern the conduct of the Pretrial Conference and the preparation of the Pretrial Stipulation:
 - i) By no later than thirty days prior to the Pretrial Conference, the parties must exchange copies of all exhibits which each party intends to introduce into evidence (other than exhibits to be used solely for impeachment or rebuttal).
 - ii) When preparing the Pretrial Stipulation, all parties shall stipulate to the admissibility of exhibits whenever possible. In the event any party cannot stipulate to the admissibility of an exhibit, that party must file a Motion in Limine which clearly identifies each exhibit alleged to be inadmissible and/or prejudicial. The moving party must set the Motion in Limine for hearing at the same time as the Pretrial Conference; notice and service of the Motion shall be governed by LBR 9013-1. The Motion in Limine must contain a statement of the specific prejudice that will be suffered by the moving party if the Motion is not granted. The Motion must be supported by a memorandum of points and authorities containing citations to the applicable Federal Rules of Evidence, relevant caselaw, and other legal authority. Blanket or boilerplate evidentiary objections not accompanied by detailed supporting argument are prohibited, will be summarily overruled, and may subject the moving party to sanctions.
 - iii) The failure of a party to file a Motion in Limine complying with the requirements of ¶(1)(h)(ii) shall be deemed a waiver of any objections to the admissibility of an exhibit.
 - iv) Motions in Limine seeking to exclude testimony to be offered by any witness shall comply with the requirements set forth in ¶(1)(h)(ii).

The Court has previously found that resolution of the Chapter 11 case of Crystal Waterfalls, LLC ("Crystal") may resolve this action. See Order Continuing Pretrial Conference Pending Confirmation of Crystal Waterfalls, LLC's Chapter 11 Plan [Doc. No. 26]. On June 8, 2018, the Court entered an Order Approving Motion for Structured Dismissal of Chapter 11 Case [Bankr. Doc. No. 478] (the "Approval Order") in Crystal's bankruptcy case. The Approval Order provides that the structured dismissal of Crystal's Chapter 11 case will occur through a two-step process. First, Crystal is required to make payments to various creditors, obtain orders disallowing certain claims, and satisfy various other conditions. Upon satisfaction of the conditions, Crystal's case will be dismissed.

At a Status Conference conducted on September 11, 2018, the Court noted that Crystal had not yet completed all the actions contemplated by the Approval Order. In its order setting a continued Status Conference for December 11, 2018, the Court stated:

Because the ninety-day continuance of the Status Conference provides Crystal more than sufficient time to complete the remaining actions contemplated by the Approval Order, the Court expects that all such remaining actions will have been completed by the date of the continued Status Conference.

See Order Setting Continued Status Conference for December 11, 2018, at 10:00 a.m. [Doc. No. 40] at ¶3.

At the December 11 Status Conference, the Court was advised that Crystal had completed most of the actions contemplated by the Approval Order. The most significant action Crystal had not yet completed was the filing of a 2017 tax return. Crystal represented that the tax return was "being prepared for filing by Grobsteem Teeple, who expects it to be filed within the next 7–10 business days. A copy will be provided to counsel for the Plan Administrator as soon as it is filed." Doc. No. 42 at ¶E.1.b. Based upon Crystal's representation, the Court set this continued Status Conference.

The Plan Administrator and Crystal agree that dismissal of this action is appropriate once Crystal's tax return has been filed. Defendants Golden Bay LLC and Lucy Gao did not participate in preparation of the Status Report.

Crystal is ORDERED to file the 2017 tax return by no later than January 29, 2019. The Court will not extend this deadline absent exceptionally compelling circumstances. Crystal has been provided more than sufficient time to complete the tasks set forth in the Approval Order, including the filing of the tax return.

Once the Plan Administrator has verified that the tax return has been filed in a form acceptable to the Plan Administrator, the Court will dismiss this action. Any objection to dismissal by Defendants Golden Bay LLC and/or Lucy Gao shall be filed by no later than January 29, 2019. See Civil Rule 41(a)(2) (providing that where a defendant has responded to the complaint, an "action may be dismissed at the plaintiff's request only by court order, on terms that the court considers proper"). In the event that Golden Bay LLC and/or Ms. Gao object to dismissal, the Court will determine whether a hearing on such objection is required, and will notify the parties accordingly.

A continued Status Conference shall be held on February 20, 2019, at 10:00 a.m. A Joint Status Report shall be submitted by no later than fourteen days prior to the hearing.

The Court will prepare and enter an appropriate order.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Jessica Vogel or Daniel Koontz at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please

#14.00 Status Hearing
RE: [1] Postconfirmation Status Conference

fr. 10-17-18

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

1/14/2019

On June 18, 2018, the Court entered an order confirming the First Amended Chapter 11 Plan of Liquidation Dated January 31, 2018 (the "Plan"). The Plan appointed Bradley D. Sharp as the Plan Administrator responsible for liquidating the assets of the estate. (The Plan provided that all assets of the estate remained vested in the estate. See Plan at Art. 3.)

The Plan Administrator has made two distributions to holders of allowed secured claims, in the approximate aggregate amount of $4.4 million. A third distribution to claimants will be made on or before February 28, 2019. The Plan Administrator has continued to pursue collection of the estate's most significant remaining asset, a judgment in the amount of approximately $74 million against Lucy Gao and Benjamin Kirk.

Having reviewed the Second Post-Confirmation Status Report, the Court finds that the Plan Administrator is making sufficient progress toward effectuating the Plan. A continued Status Conference shall take place on June 11, 2019, at 10:00 a.m. The Plan Administrator shall submit a Status Report by no later than fourteen days prior to the hearing.

The Court will prepare and enter an order setting the continued Status Conference.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Jessica Vogel or Daniel Koontz at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. Tentative Ruling:

1/14/2019

Having reviewed the Unilateral Status Reports submitted by the Plaintiff and Defendant, the Court HEREBY ORDERS as follows:

- 1) Pursuant to the parties' request, the matter shall be referred to the Mediation Panel. The parties shall meet and confer and select a Mediator from this District's Mediation Panel. Plaintiff will lodge a completed "Request for Assignment to Mediation Program; [Proposed] Order Thereon" (See Amended General Order 95-01 available on the Court's website) within 15 days from the date of this hearing, and deliver a hard copy directly to chambers c/o the judge's law clerk Daniel Koontz.
- 2) By no later than March 12, 2019, the parties shall have completed one day of mediation.
- 3) To provide the parties sufficient time to attend mediation, the litigation deadlines previously ordered are continued as follows:
 - a) A continued Status Conference shall be held on 4/16/2019 at 10:00 a.m. A Joint Status Report shall be submitted by no later than fourteen days prior to the hearing.
 - b) The last day to amend pleadings and/or join other parties is 5/16/2019.

- e) The last date to complete discovery relating to expert witnesses (e.g., depositions of expert witnesses), including hearings on motions related to expert discovery, is 10/15/2019. (For contemplated hearings on motions related to expert discovery, it is counsel's responsibility to check the Judge's self-calendaring dates, posted on the Court's website. If the expert discovery cutoff date falls on a date when the court is closed or that is not available for self-calendaring, the deadline for hearings on expert discovery motions is the next closest date which is available for self-calendaring.)
- f) The last day for dispositive motions to be heard is 10/22/2019. (If the motion cutoff date is not available for self-calendaring, the deadline for dispositive motions to be heard is the next closest date which is available for self-calendaring.)
- g) The last day to complete discovery (except as to experts), including hearings on discovery motions, is 10/26/2019. (If the non-expert discovery cutoff date is not available for self-calendaring, the deadline for non-expert discovery motions to be heard is the next closest date which is available for self-calendaring.)
- h) A Pretrial Conference is set for 11/12/2019 at 11:00 a.m. By no later than fourteen days prior to the Pretrial Conference, the parties must submit a Joint Pretrial Stipulation via the Court's Lodged Order Upload (LOU) system. Submission via LOU allows the Court to edit the Joint Pretrial Stipulation, if necessary. Parties should consult the Court Manual, section 4, for information about LOU.
- i) In addition to the procedures set forth in Local Bankruptcy Rule 7016-1(b), the following procedures govern the conduct of the Pretrial Conference and the preparation of the Pretrial Stipulation:
 - i) By no later than thirty days prior to the Pretrial Conference, the parties must exchange copies of all exhibits which each party intends to introduce into evidence (other than exhibits to be used solely for impeachment or rebuttal).
 - ii) When preparing the Pretrial Stipulation, all parties shall stipulate to the admissibility of exhibits whenever possible. In the event any party cannot stipulate to the admissibility of an exhibit, that party must file a Motion in Limine which clearly identifies each exhibit alleged to be inadmissible and/or prejudicial. The moving party must set the Motion in Limine for hearing at the same time as the Pretrial Conference; notice and service of the Motion shall be governed by LBR 9013-1. The Motion in Limine must contain a statement of the specific prejudice that will be suffered by the moving party if the Motion is not granted. The Motion must be supported by a memorandum of points and authorities containing citations to the applicable Federal Rules of Evidence, relevant caselaw, and other legal authority. Blanket or boilerplate evidentiary objections not accompanied by detailed supporting argument are prohibited, will be summarily overruled, and may subject the moving party to sanctions.

- iii) The failure of a party to file a Motion in Limine complying with the requirements of ¶(3)(h)(ii) shall be deemed a waiver of any objections to the admissibility of an exhibit.
- iv) Motions in Limine seeking to exclude testimony to be offered by any witness shall comply with the requirements set forth in ¶(3)(h)(ii).

The Court will enter a Scheduling Order. Plaintiff shall submit the order assigning the matter to mediation.

and Defendant cannot reach a stipulation to set aside Defendant's default, Defendant shall file a motion to set aside its default by no later than January 29, 2019. Although the Court cannot rule upon a motion that is not before it, the Court notes that where, as here, a motion to set aside the default is filed shortly after the default has been entered, the default is typically set aside. To defeat a motion to set aside such a default, the Plaintiff is required to show prejudice, and merely being required to litigate the merits of a claim does not qualify as prejudice. *TCI Grp. Tentative Ruling:

The Court ordered the Plaintiff to file a Motion for Default Judgment (the "Motion") by no later than December 14, 2018. Doc. No. 33. The Plaintiff filed the Motion as ordered by the Court. Doc. No. 35. The Motion was filed on a negative-notice basis pursuant to the procedure set forth in Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(o). The deadline to object to the Motion has expired and no objections have been filed. Accordingly, the Court finds it appropriate to rule upon the Motion in connection with this Status Conference.

The Complaint was served upon the Defendant at the following address:

Baxter Healthcare Corporation

The address at which the Plaintiff served the Complaint is not the address for Defendant's Agent for Service of Process; it is the address of the company's corporate headquarters. Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 7004, a domestic corporation may be served by mailing a copy of the Summons and Complaint to the attention of an officer or a managing or general agent. Although the Summons and Complaint were sent to the address at which the Defendant's president conducts business, the mailing was not addressed to the attention of the president or any other corporate officer. The mailing instead was to the attention of CT Corporation System, the Defendant's Agent for Service of Process, which conducts business at a different address.

The Plaintiff is not required to re-serve the Summons and Complaint. However, to ensure that Defendant has received proper notice, the Plaintiff shall re-serve the Motion upon the following addresses:

fr: 8-22-18; 11-13-18

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

1/14/2019

The Court ordered the Plaintiff to file a Motion for Default Judgment (the "Motion") by no later than December 14, 2018. Doc. No. 26. The Plaintiff filed the Motion as ordered by the Court. Doc. No. 29. The Motion was filed on a negative-notice basis pursuant to the procedure set forth in Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(o). The deadline to object to the Motion has expired and no objections have been filed. Accordingly, the Court finds it appropriate to rule upon the Motion in connection with this Status Conference.

The Summons and Complaint and the Motion were properly served upon the Defendant at the address set forth in filings with the California Secretary of State. By this action, the Plaintiff seeks to avoid transfers made to the Defendant during the 90-day period prior to the date of the filing of the petition (the "Petition Date"). Defendant has not responded to the Complaint or to the Motion.

Once default has been entered, the well-pleaded factual allegations of the complaint are taken as true. Cripps v. Life Ins. Co. of North America, 980 F.2d 1261, 1267 (9th Cir.1992).

Section 547(b) permits the Trustee to avoid "any transfer of an interest of the debtor in property" if the transfer was:

- 1) to or for the benefit of a creditor;

- 2) for or on account of an antecedent debt owed by the debtor before such transfer was made;
- 3) made while the debtor was insolvent;
- 4) made—
 - a) on or within 90 days before the date of the filing of the petition; or
 - b) between ninety days and one year before the date of the filing of the petition, if such creditor at the time of such transfer was an insider; and
- 5) that enables such creditor to receive more than such creditor would receive if—
 - a) the case were a case under chapter 7 of this title;
 - b) the transfer had not been made; and
 - c) such creditor received payment of such debt to the extent provided by the provisions of this title.

For purposes of §547(b), a "transfer" means:

- a) the creation of a lien;
- b) the retention of title as a security interest;
- c) the foreclosure of a debtor's equity of redemption; or
- d) each mode, direct or indirect, absolute or conditional, voluntary or involuntary, of disposing of or parting with—
 - i) property; or
 - ii) an interest in property.

It is the Plaintiff's burden to establish all the elements of §547(b) by a preponderance of the evidence. §547(g); Hall-Mark Electronics Corp. v. Sims (In re Lee), 179 B.R. 149, 155 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1995) aff'd, 108 F.3d 239 (9th Cir. 1997). Section 547(c) sets forth certain defenses to transfer liability. The Defendant has the burden of establishing that the §547(c) defenses apply, again under the preponderance of the evidence standard. §547(g).

The Plaintiff has alleged facts sufficient to establish that the Defendant received transfers avoidable under §547(b). The declaration attached to the Motion support the Plaintiff's entitlement to the damages requested against the Defendant.

The Court will enter default judgment, as requested by the Plaintiff, against the Defendant. The Plaintiff shall submit a conforming judgment within seven days of the hearing.

Tentative Ruling:

1/14/2019

On November 9, 2018, the Court entered an order providing in relevant part:

The Court will maintain the litigation deadlines previously set in order to encourage settlement; provided, however, that Defendant's deadline to respond to the Complaint shall be in accordance with the informal extension of time granted by the Plaintiff. In the event the action has not settled by the time of the continued Status Conference, the Court will determine whether it is necessary to extend the litigation deadlines.

Defendant has not responded to the Complaint as a result of the extension of time to respond granted by the Plaintiff. The parties represent that they are moving towards settlement.

Based upon the foregoing, the Court HEREBY ORDERS as follows:

- 1) In view of the representation that the action is moving towards settlement, the Court will not at this time order the parties to attend formal mediation.
- 2) The litigation deadlines previously set by the Court are VACATED.
- 3) To provide the parties an opportunity to reach a settlement, a continued Status Conference shall be held on April 16, 2019, at 10:00 a.m. A Joint Status Report shall be filed by no later than fourteen days by the hearing.

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

1/14/2019

On November 9, 2018, the Court entered an order providing in relevant part:

The Court will maintain the litigation deadlines previously set in order to encourage settlement; provided, however, that Defendant's deadline to respond to the Complaint shall be in accordance with the informal extension of time granted by the Plaintiff. In the event the action has not settled by the time of the continued Status Conference, the Court will determine whether it is necessary to extend the litigation deadlines.

Defendant has not responded to the Complaint as a result of the extension of time to respond granted by the Plaintiff. The parties represent that they are moving towards settlement.

Based upon the foregoing, the Court HEREBY ORDERS as follows:

- 1) In view of the representation that the action is moving towards settlement, the Court will not at this time order the parties to attend formal mediation.
- 2) The litigation deadlines previously set by the Court are VACATED.
- 3) To provide the parties an opportunity to reach a settlement, a continued Status Conference shall be held on April 16, 2019, at 10:00 a.m. A Joint Appearances required. In the Amended Joint Status Report [Doc. No. 27] (the "Status Report"), Defendant states that it "has sent Plaintiff considerable information on its defenses and Plaintiff has not responded with any counter information or a good-faith counter proposal." Status Report at ¶5. Defendant states that it will file a motion for summary judgment asserting defenses under §547.

The Court understands that Plaintiff is prosecuting approximately thirty preference actions; nonetheless, Plaintiff's failure to meaningfully engage with the Defendant regarding a potential settlement is of concern. A negotiated resolution of this action will reduce costs and is in the best interests of all parties.

On September 13, 2018, the Court entered an order assigning this matter to formal mediation. Doc. No. 22. The parties should be prepared to discuss the status of mediation—has a mediation date been schedule? Have the parties made contact with the mediator?

Docket 0

 VACATED  REASON: PER ORDER ENTERED 1-9-19

Tentative Ruling:

9/17/2018

For the reasons set forth below, a continued Post-Confirmation Status Conference shall take place on January 15, 2019, at 10:00 a.m.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Reorganized Debtor's Chapter 11 Post-Confirmation Status Report [Doc. No. 179]

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On May 29, 2018, the Court entered an Order Confirming Debtor's Second Amended Chapter 11 Plan of Reorganization [Doc. No. 169] (the "Confirmation Order"). This is a Post-Confirmation Status Conference. Debtor states that it is current on all payments required under the Plan. Pursuant to the Plan, payments will be completed by approximately May 1, 2023. Debtor states that its counsel intends to shortly file a final fee application and a motion for a final decree.

II. Findings and Conclusions

A continued Post-Confirmation Status Conference shall be held January 15, 2019, at 10:00 a.m. A Post-Confirmation Status Report must be submitted by no later than fourteen days prior to the hearing. Debtor shall file and serve a final fee application and a motion for a final decree such that those motions are heard prior to the date of the continued Status Conference. If favorable orders on the motions for a final fee application and final decree are entered, the continued Status Conference will go off calendar.

#106.00 Pre-Trial Conference RE: [1] Adversary case 2:18-ap-01088. Complaint by LOANME, INC. against Christina Marie Uzeta. false pretenses, false representation, actual fraud)) (Tran, Kelly Ann)

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

1/14/2019: No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling below.

The Complaint alleges that Defendant made various false representations to Plaintiff to obtain a loan. The alleged misrepresentations were made verbally in a telephone conversation. The parties have stipulated that in applying for the loan, Defendant verbally identified her employer and told Plaintiff that her annual income was $60,000. The parties dispute whether Defendant verbally represented that she would use a portion of her tax refund to pay down the loan. Plaintiff seeks a judgment that the indebtedness arising in connection with the loan is non-dischargeable pursuant to §523(a)(2)(A).

Section 523(a)(2)(A) excepts from discharge "money property, services, or an extension, renewal, or refinancing of credit, to the extent obtained by false pretenses, a false representation, or actual fraud, other than a statement respecting the debtor's or an insider's financial condition" (emphasis added). To except from discharge indebtedness obtained by a false statement respecting a debtor's financial condition, creditors must satisfy the stricter criteria of §523(a)(2)(B). The Supreme Court has explained the structure of §523(a)(2) as follows:

The text of § 523(a)(2) plainly heightens the bar to discharge when the fraud at issue was effectuated via a "statement respecting the debtor's financial condition." The heightened requirements, moreover, are not a shield for dishonest debtors. Rather, they reflect Congress' effort to balance the potential misuse of such statements by both debtors and creditors. As the Court has explained previously:

Chapter 7

"The House Report on the [Bankruptcy Reform Act of 1978] suggests that Congress wanted to moderate the burden on individuals who submitted false financial statements, not because lies about financial * 1764 condition are less blameworthy than others, but because the relative equities might be affected by practices of consumer finance companies, which sometimes have encouraged such falsity by their borrowers for the very purpose of insulating their own claims from discharge." Field v. Mans, 516 U.S. 59, 76–77, 116 S.Ct. 437, 133 L.Ed.2d 351 (1995).

Specifically, as detailed in Field, the House Report noted that consumer finance companies frequently collected information from loan applicants in ways designed to permit the companies to later use those statements as the basis for an exception to discharge. Commonly, a loan officer would instruct a loan applicant " 'to list only a few or only the most important of his debts' " on a form with too little space to supply a complete list of debts, even though the phrase, " 'I have no other debts,' " would be printed at the bottom of the form or the applicant would be " 'instructed to write the phrase in his own handwriting.' " Id., at 77, n. 13, 116 S.Ct. 437. If the debtor later filed for bankruptcy, the creditor would contend that the debtor had made misrepresentations in his loan application and the creditor would threaten litigation over excepting the debt from discharge. That threat was "often enough to induce the debtor to settle for a reduced sum," even where the merits of the nondischargeability claim were weak. H.R. Rep. No. 95–595, p. 131 (1977).

The Supreme Court has held that "a statement is 'respecting' a debtor's financial condition if it has a direct relation to or impact on the debtor's overall financial status." Lamar, 138 S.Ct. at 1761. Such statements can include statements pertaining to a single asset, because a "single asset has a direct relation to and impact on aggregate financial condition, so a statement about a single asset bears on a debtor's overall financial condition and can help indicate whether a debtor is solvent or insolvent, able to repay a given debt or not." Id.

Plaintiff's position is that Defendant obtained the loan by verbally making false statements regarding her income and her intent to pay down a portion of the loan using her tax refund. In the Court's view, the verbal statements made by Defendant qualify as statements respecting Defendant's financial condition, within the meaning of §523(a)(2)(A). Defendant's statement that she earned $60,000 per year clearly qualifies as a statement respecting her financial condition. Defendant's representation regarding her intent to use her tax refund to pay down the loan likewise qualifies as a statement respecting her financial condition. A tax refund is an asset, and the Supreme Court has recently held that statements regarding a single asset qualify as a statement respecting a debtor's financial condition. In Lamar, the court held that the Defendant's statement that he was expecting a tax refund of approximately $100,000, which would have been sufficient to pay his creditor's outstanding legal fees, was a statement respecting his financial condition. Lamar, 138 S.Ct. at 1757. Here, Defendant's alleged statement regarding her intent to use her tax refund to pay down the loan is strikingly similar to the statement at issue in Lamar.

Indebtedness obtained through use of a false statement respect a debtor's financial condition is dischargeable only under §523(a)(2)(B). The Complaint contains no claim under §523(a)(2)(B). By separate order, the Court will require Plaintiff to show cause why the Court should not dismiss this action, for failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted, pursuant to Civil Rule 12(b)(6). The hearing on the Court's Order to Show Cause shall take place on February 20, 2019, at 10:00 a.m. Plaintiff shall file a written response to the Order to Show Cause by no later than January 30, 2019. Defendant's opposition to Plaintiff's response is due by February 6, 2019. Plaintiff's reply to Defendant's opposition is due by February 13, 2019.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Jessica Vogel or Daniel Koontz at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. Docket 11

Tentative Ruling:

1/14/2019

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed

1. Notice of Motion and Motion of the United States Trustee for Extension of Deadline Date for Filing a Motion to Dismiss Under 11 U.S.C. § 707(b)(3) and a Complaint Objecting to the Debtor's Discharge Under 11 U.S.C. § 727 by the United States Trustee Only [Doc. No. 11] (the "Extension Motion")
2. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Michael Davis Lawyer (the "Debtor") filed this chapter 7 case on August 30, 2018 (the "Petition Date"). The first date set for the Debtor's § 341(a) Meeting of Creditors was October 4, 2018. Accordingly, the deadline to file a § 727 complaint and § 707(b)(3) motion was sixty days later, on December 3, 2018.

On November 29, 2018, prior to the expiration of the foregoing deadline, the United States Trustee (the "UST") filed a timely motion seeking to extend the deadline for sixty days, to and including February 4, 2019. The UST states that it is currently investigating whether the Debtor's case warrants dismissal under § 707(b)(3) and/or a complaint under § 727. The UST further states that, based upon its review of the Debtor's petition, schedules, § 341(a) testimony and documentation the Debtor has produced, the UST has certain questions regarding the Debtor's ownership of entities and the relating value of any such ownership. The UST states that it has not been able to complete its investigation and examination of the Debtor due to the Debtor's delayed production of requested documents and the Debtor's failure to

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Extensions of time to object to discharge are governed by Rule 4004(b) which provides, in relevant part:

(b) Extension of Time.

(1) On motion of any party in interest, after notice and hearing, the court may for cause extend the time to object to discharge. Except as provided in subdivision (b)(2), the motion shall be filed before the time has expired.

Fed. R. Bankr. P. 4004(b)(1).

Similarly, extensions of time to file a motion to dismiss a case for abuse under § 707(b) are governed by Rule 1017(e)(1), which provides, in relevant part:

. . . a motion to dismiss a case for abuse under § 707(b) or (c) may be filed only within 60 days after the first date set for the meeting of creditors under § 341(a), unless, on request filed before the time has expired, the court for cause extends the time for filing the motion to dismiss.

Fed. R. Bankr. P. 1017(e)(1).

The Court finds that the Extension Motion was timely filed before the expiration of the sixty-day deadline on December 3, 2018. Based upon the representations in the Extension Motion and the Declaration of Alvin Mar, the Court finds that the UST has established adequate cause to grant the UST a sixty-day extension, to and including February 4, 2019 to file a complaint under § 727 or a motion under § 707(b) expired.

For the reasons set forth above, the Motion is GRANTED.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Debtor and debtor-in-possession, Hakop Jack Aivazian (the "Debtor"), filed this voluntary chapter 11 case on October 16, 2018 (the "Petition Date"). The Debtor is the self-employed owner of Flamingo Sand & Gravel ("FSG"), which the Debtor operates out of his residence located at 1257 N. Oxford Avenue, Pasadena, California 91104 (the "Oxford Property"). The Debtor's combined net monthly income from FSG operations and his non-filing spouse, Anoush Aivazian's ("Mrs. Aivazian") employment is $10,009.

In addition to the Oxford Property, the Debtor owns two parcels of real property: (i) 1728-1730-1734 E. Woodbury Avenue, Pasadena, CA 91104 (the "Woodbury Property"); and (ii) 1434 N. Sierra Bonita Avenue, Pasadena, CA 91104 (the "Sierra Property," and together with the Oxford Property and Woodbury Property, the "Properties"). The Debtor and Mrs. Aivazian hold title to the Properties as joint tenants. The Debtor and Mrs. Aivazian lease out the Woodbury and Sierra Properties.

The Debtor is in default of his mortgage obligations with secured lenders on all three Properties. The Debtor sought bankruptcy protection to delay non-judicial foreclosure proceedings. The Debtor estimates there is approximately $1,270,000 in equity in the Properties and is in the process of trying to refinance the Properties to pay off all of his secured lenders.

Aivazian filed a voluntary chapter 7 case, Case No. 2:18-bk-14420-BR. On August 2, 2018, the Bankruptcy Court entered an order dismissing the case for failure to appear at the 341(a) Meeting of Creditors [Doc No. 34].

On August 15, 2018, with Mr. Fasen's assistance, Mrs. Aivazian filed a voluntary chapter 13 case, Case No. 2:18-bk-19429-NB. On September 6, 2018, Mrs. Aivazian filed a Motion to Continue the Automatic Stay pursuant to § 362(c)(3) based on her prior bankruptcy filing [Doc. No. 18]. At the self-calendared hearing on October 2, 2018, the Bankruptcy Court denied the motion as untimely and ordered the case dismissed [Doc. No. 23].

Application to Employ Mr. Fasen as Debtor's Bankruptcy Counsel

On November 23, 2018, the Debtor filed an application for order authorizing employment of Mr. Fasen as Debtor's general bankruptcy counsel [Doc. No. 18] (the "Original Employment Application"). The Office of the United States Trustee (the "UST") filed a timely objection and request for hearing asserting, among other things, that (i) the Original Employment Application contained incorrect and misleading information about Mr. Fasen's pre-petition claim against the Debtor's estate and unauthorized post-petition payments on account of such claim; and (ii) Mr. Fasen failed to demonstrate that he has the requisite chapter 11 experience to competently represent a chapter 11 debtor [Doc. No. 18] (the "Original Objection to Employment Application").

On December 11, 2018, the Debtor filed an Amended Employment Application [Doc. No. 19] and Application for Compensation under § 328 [Doc. No. 20]. On December 20, 2018, the UST again timely objected, requested a hearing and reiterated the arguments stated in its Original Objection to Employment Application [Doc. No. 24] (the "Objection to Amended Employment Application"). The UST acknowledges that the Amended Employment Application attempted to cure the lack of disclosure of pre-and post-petition compensation but argues that failure to make required disclosures in an employment application warrants denial of employment and disgorgement of fees. Id.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, the Debtor has not scheduled a hearing on the Amended Employment Application.

The UST's Motion Under § 1112(b) to Convert, Dismiss or Appoint a Chapter 11 Trustee

On December 18, 2018, the UST filed a motion to convert, dismiss or appoint a chapter 11 Trustee under § 1112(b), based upon the following:

- i. To date, no Disclosure Statement or Plan of Reorganization has been filed;
- ii. Debtor has not filed:
 - a. Sufficient evidence of the opening and maintenance of three debtor-in-possession bank accounts (general, payroll and tax) including: (1) a copy of the "debtor-in-possession" check for each account;
 - b. Sufficient evidence of current insurance coverage including the declaration page from State Farm Insurance regarding coverage for Debtor's 2018 Mercedes C300 motor vehicle.
 - c. Monthly Operating Reports ("MORs") for the Months of October 2018 and November 2018; and
- iii. Quarterly fees for the period ending 12/31/18 continue to accrue.

Declaration of Gary Baddin ("Baddin Decl.").

Mr. Baddin states that he sent an e-mail to the Debtor's counsel on November 29, 2018 to inquire about the status of the missing proof of insurance and received no response prior to filing the UST Motion. Mr. Baddin also attached a copy of a check from Debtor's debtor-in-possession bank account as Exhibit 2 and highlights that the bank account information does not list the Debtor's bankruptcy case name (i.e. In re Hakop Jack Aivazian), but instead identifies "Estate of Flamingo Sand & Gravel," which does not comply with the UST requirements. The UST also points out that this is the third bankruptcy case filed this year between Mrs. Aivazian and the Debtor.

For the foregoing reasons, the UST recommends that the case be converted to a case under chapter 7 so that a chapter 7 trustee can administer the Properties for the benefit of creditors.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, the Debtor has not filed a response or opposition to the UST's Motion. However, the Debtor has filed a November MOR, Plan and Disclosure Statement [Doc. Nos. 26, 27 & 28].

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Under § 1112(b), the Court shall dismiss or convert a case to one under chapter 7 upon a showing of "cause." 11 U.S.C. § 1112(b). Section 1112(b)(4) provides a nonexclusive list of factors that constitute "cause," including in relevant part: "(B) gross mismanagement of the estate; (C) failure to maintain appropriate insurance that poses a risk to the estate or to the public;" "(D) unauthorized use of cash collateral substantially harmful to 1 or more creditors;" "(F) unexcused failure to satisfy timely any filing or reporting requirement established by this title or by any rule applicable to a case under this chapter;" "(H) failure to timely provide information or attend meetings reasonably required by the United States Trustee;" and "(J) failure to file a disclosure statement, or to file or confirm a plan, within the time fixed by this title or by order of the court." "The enumerated causes are not exhaustive, and 'the court will be able to consider other factors as they arise, and to use its equitable powers to reach an appropriate result in individual cases.'" In re Consolidated Pioneer Mortgage Entities, 248 B.R. 368, 375 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2000) (quoting H.R. No. 95-595, 95th Cong., 1st Sess. 405-06 (1977), aff'd, 264 F.3d 803 (9th Cir. 2001).

The Court finds more than sufficient "cause" exists within the meaning of § 1112(b) to convert, dismiss or appoint a chapter 11 trustee as follows. First, as the UST points out, the Debtor has failed, without explanation, to timely comply with a number of its filing and reporting requirements. The Debtor still has not filed an October MOR, the Debtor's untimely-filed November MOR is deficient and missing information, and there is no evidence in the record demonstrating that Debtor has presented valid proof of insurance for his motor vehicle. The UST's evidence also demonstrates that the Debtor's debtor-in-possession bank account does not comply with the UST guidelines and that Debtor's counsel has failed to cooperate with the UST's requests for information. Additionally, the Debtor failed to file an opposition or response to the UST's Motion. Although the Debtor attempted to address some of the UST's concerns by filing a Disclosure Statement and Plan, the Debtor failed to self-calendar a hearing on the adequacy of the Disclosure Statement.

The Court also independently notes that the Debtor states that it leases two of the Properties out to tenants but has not sought authority to use cash collateral. Therefore, the Debtor may be using cash collateral without this Court's or the secured creditor's authorization or consent.

Furthermore, the Debtor has not yet obtained an order authorizing the employment of Mr. Fasen and has failed to comply with Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(o)(1)(4) by not obtaining a hearing on its Amended Employment Application within 14 days of receiving the UST's Objection to Amended Employment Application. Based upon this Court's review of the UST's objections, the deficiencies discussed herein, and the Court's review of the dockets in Mrs. Aivazian's dismissed bankruptcy cases, the Court agrees that Mr. Fasen appears to lack the requisite competence to effectively represent the Debtor in bankruptcy.

The Court is sympathetic to the Debtor's efforts to avoid foreclosure and preserve his equity in the Properties but given that this is the Debtor and Mrs. Aivazian's third bankruptcy filing within a year, the Court does not take Debtor's derogation of his duties lightly.

Having determined that cause exists, the Court must next determine whether conversion, dismissal or appointment of a chapter 11 trustee serves the best interests of creditors or the estate. See In re Products Int'l Co., 395 B.R. 101, 107 (Bankr. D. Ariz. 2008) (citing In re Nelson, 343 B.R. 671 (9th Cir. 2006)). "[W]hen deciding between dismissal and conversion under 11 U.S.C. § 1112(b), the court must consider the interests of all of the creditors." Shulkin Hutton, Inc. v. Treiger (In re Owens), 552 F.3d 958, 961 (9th Cir. 2009) (emphasis in original) (quoting Rollex Corp. v. Associated Materials, Inc. (In re Superior Siding & Window, Inc.), 14 F.3d 240, 243 (4th Cir. 1994)).

The Court finds that conversion to chapter 7 would be in the best interest of all creditors. It appears that there is equity in the Properties that a trustee could administer for the benefit of creditors.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the Motion is GRANTED and the case is CONVERTED to a case under chapter 7.

#2.00 HearingRE: [51] Motion to Avoid Lien Property Lien with BLAS SANCHEZ , in addition to Motion For Sanctions for Violation of the Discharge Injunction

Docket 51

Tentative Ruling:

1/15/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Motion is GRANTED IN-PART AND DENIED IN-PART.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed

1. Notice of Motion and Motion to Avoid Lien Recorded in Violation of the Order of the Bankruptcy Court and to Request Sanctions for Violating the Court Order [Doc. No. 51] (the "Motion")
2. Opposition of Blas Sanchez to Debtor's Motion to Avoid Lien Recorded [Doc. No. 53] (the "Opposition")
3. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no reply is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Taylor I. Heo (the "Debtor") filed this voluntary chapter 7 case on July 25, 2015. The Debtor received a discharge of her debts on November 2, 2015 [Doc. No. 13] (the "Discharge Order") and the case was subsequently closed [Doc. No. 14]. On March 17, 2016, the Debtor moved to reopen this case to file lien avoidance motions [Doc. No. 16]. On March 24, 2016, the Court reopened Debtor's case [Doc. No. 19].

On April 12, 2016, the Debtor filed a motion to avoid a judicial lien (the "Lien Avoidance Motion") held by Blas Sanchez and Oneyda Banegas ("Creditors") [Doc. No. 23]. The lien encumbered property located at 1100 S. Hope Street, Apt. 1607, Los Angeles, CA 90015 (the "Property"). On April 25, 2016, Creditors filed an Opposition to the Lien Avoidance Motion [Doc. No. 25]. On May 13, 2016, the Court denied the Lien Avoidance Motion without prejudice because the Debtor failed to timely schedule a hearing on the motion as required by Local Bankruptcy Rule ("LBR") 9013-1(o)(4). Debtor subsequently scheduled a hearing on the Lien Avoidance Motion [Doc. No. 33].

Chapter 7

As set forth in more detail in the Court's tentative ruling, which the Court adopted as its final ruling [Doc. No. 37] (the "Ruling"), at the hearing on June 22, 2016, the Court granted the Lien Avoidance Motion in-part and avoided $175,813.91 of Creditors' $197,371.69 lien, thereby preserving Creditors' lien in the amount of $21,557.78. The Court entered its order on the Lien Avoidance Motion on July 7, 2016 [Doc. No. 43] (the "Partial Lien Avoidance Order") and closed the Debtor's case on August 3, 2016.

Debtors Motion to Avoid Lien and Request For Sanctions

On November 9, 2018, the Debtor moved to reopen this case, which the Court granted by order entered November 13, 2018 [Doc. Nos. 46 & 49]. On December 10, 2018, the Debtor filed her Motion to Avoid Lien Recorded in Violation of the Bankruptcy Court and to Request Sanctions for Violating the Court Order [Doc. No. 51] (the "Motion"). The Debtor states that after the Debtor served the Partial Lien Avoidance Order on the Creditors, Mr. Sanchez re-recorded the same abstract of judgment (in the amount of $154,682.00) (the "Abstract of Judgment") with the Los Angeles County Recorder's office in violation of the Partial Lien Avoidance Order. Motion, Ex. A. Accordingly, the Debtor seeks an order avoiding the Abstract of Judgment and imposing $2,360 in sanctions pursuant to § 105(a) against Mr. Sanchez for violating the discharge injunction, which represents the attorneys' fees and cost the Debtor has had to incur to bring this motion.

On December 31, 2018, Mr. Sanchez filed a timely Opposition to the Motion [Doc. No. 53] (the "Opposition"). Mr. Sanchez states that pre-petition, on March 25, 2014, he hired Joshua P. Friedman to collect on the judgment he had previously obtained against the Debtor. Mr. Friedman filed an amended judgment adding his name as the attorney of record. Opposition, Ex. B. After advising Mr. Friedman about the Debtor's bankruptcy filing, Mr. Friedman advised Mr. Sanchez that he would not be handling any bankruptcy proceedings and Mr. Sanchez was therefore forced to substitute himself in pro-per. Accordingly, on June 30, 2016, Mr. Sanchez recorded a substitution of attorney and was issued an amended abstract of judgment on July 1, 2016. Opposition, Ex. C.

Mr. Sanchez denies that he willfully violated the Partial Lien Avoidance Order and submits that he was simply removing his prior counsel and placing himself on the judgment. Accordingly, Mr. Sanchez requests that the Court deny the Debtor's request to impose sanctions against him. Mr. Sanchez also requests authority to record an amended abstract of judgment in the amount of $71,761.98 (attached as Ex. D), which he calculates as follows:

Creditor Blas Sanchez's lien was partially granted lien was $204,943.02 as of March 31, 2016. $175,813.91 was avoided leaving $29,129.11. A 10% interest per annum, the judgment accrued daily interest of $42.3786. There were 1006 days between March 31, 2016 and December 31, 2018. During this period, interest of $42,632.87 accrued for a total of $71,761.98.

Opposition, p. 2, ¶¶ 8-9.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, the Debtor has not filed a reply.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

A. The Abstract of Judgment is Void

Mr. Sanchez does not dispute that on or about July 1, 2016, he recorded the Abstract of Judgment in the amount of $154,682. Opposition, ¶ 4 & Ex. C. Although Mr. Sanchez asserts that he did not willfully violate this Court's Partial Lien Avoidance Order, he offers no explanation for why the amended Abstract of Judgment does not take into account that his lien was partially avoided and reduced to $21,557.78. Accordingly, the Court finds that the Abstract of Judgment is void. Mr. Sanchez is directed to take all necessary steps to release his lien to the extent it exceeds $21,557.78.

Mr. Sanchez's request to record an amended abstract of judgment in the amount of $71,761.98 is DENIED. As set forth in this Court's Ruling [Doc. No. 37], as of the Petition Date, Mr. Sanchez's lien was $197,371.69 and this Court determined that $175,813.91 of that amount impaired the Debtor's homestead exemption and was therefore avoided. [Note 1] The Court's ruling left Mr. Sanchez with a secured lien of $21,557.78 (i.e. $197,371.69 - $175,813.91 = $21,557.78) and an unsecured claim of $175,813.91 that, by virtue of the Discharge Order, was discharged.

Furthermore, Mr. Sanchez's partially avoided lien is permanently fixed at $21,557.78 and Mr. Sanchez is not entitled to any post-avoidance interest. See Rosen v. Chiu (In re Chiu), 2017 Bankr. LEXIS 821 at *8-9 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. Mar. 27, 2017)

Mr. Sanchez is cautioned that if he records an amended abstract of judgment in any amount exceeding $21,557.78, at the request of the Debtor by motion this Court will impose sanctions based upon a willful violation of the discharge injunction.

B. The Debtor Has Not Established By Clear And Convincing Evidence That Sanctions Are Justified

i. Standard for Violation of Discharge Injunction

Section 524 of the Bankruptcy Code provides:

(a) A discharge in a case under this title—

(1) voids any judgment at any time obtained, to the extent that such judgment is a determination of the personal liability of the debtor with respect to any debt discharged under [§ 727], whether or not discharge of such debt is waived;

(2) operates as an injunction against the commencement or continuation of an action, the employment of process, or an act, to collect, recover or offset any such debt as a personal liability of the debtor, whether or not discharge of such debt is waived

Civil sanctions must be either compensatory or designed to coerce compliance. Id. (internal citation omitted). For a discharge violation, 'compensatory civil contempt allows an aggrieved debtor to obtain compensatory damages, attorney's fees, and the offending creditor's compliance with the discharge injunction.' Walls, 276 F.3d at 507.

After the debtor meets his/her burden, the burden then shifts to the creditor to demonstrate why it was unable to comply with the discharge injunction. See id. (citation omitted).

533 B.R. at 791-92.

ii. Analysis

In support of the Motion, the Debtor states that at some point after this Court entered the Lien Avoidance Order on July 7, 2016, the order was served on the Creditors. Heo Declaration, ¶ 7. The Debtor also attached a copy of a recorded abstract of judgment issued on July 1, 2016 and Mr. Sanchez admits that he intentionally recorded the Abstract of Judgment. Opposition, ¶ 4. Therefore, the Court finds that the second prong is satisfied – that Mr. Sanchez intended the actions which violated the discharge injunction.

However, the Debtor has not presented any evidence to prove that Mr. Sanchez knew the discharge injunction was applicable to his claim. Based upon this Court's independent review of the Debtor's schedules and master mailing list of creditors, it

Doc. No. 1.

As a result, there is no evidence to show that Mr. Sanchez personally received the Discharge Order or that PRA Recovery or Mr. Friedman ever informed Mr. Sanchez of the discharge injunction. The fact that Mr. Sanchez received notice of the Lien Avoidance Motion in time to file an opposition, despite the Debtor only serving the motion on Mr. Friedman, makes it more likely that Mr. Friedman also informed Mr. Sanchez of the Debtor's discharge. However, this does not amount to clear and convincing evidence that Mr. Sanchez knew of the discharge injunction.

Moreover, the Debtor does not point to anything in the pleadings filed in connection with the Lien Avoidance Motion that would have put Mr. Sanchez on notice of her discharge or made him aware of the implications of lien avoidance prior to Mr. Sanchez's recording of the Abstract of Judgment. Instead, Mr. Sanchez's statement that he "denies that he willfully violated the order he simply was removing his prior counsel and placing himself on the judgment" suggests that he was not aware of the discharge injunction or that the discharge injunction was applicable to his partially avoided claim.

Therefore, the Court finds that the Debtor has not carried her burden under ZiLOG's high burden of proof with respect to the first prong. Accordingly, the Debtor's request for an order imposing sanctions against Mr. Sanchez is DENIED.

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

1/15/2019

The involuntary petition is DISMISSED for the reasons set forth below.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Involuntary Petition Against a Non-Individual [Doc. No. 1]
- 2) Summons and Notice of Status Conference in an Involuntary Bankruptcy Case [Doc. No. 3]

The Petitioning Creditors have failed to file a proof of service establishing that the Summons, Notice of Status Conference, and Involuntary Petition were served upon the Alleged Debtor. The Summons issued to the Petitioning Creditors clearly informs the Petitioning Creditors of the obligation to serve the Summons, Notice of Status Conference, and Involuntary Petition upon the Alleged Debtor. The Summons further advises the Petitioning Creditors that failure to properly effectuate service may result in dismissal of the involuntary petition.

Local Bankruptcy Rule 1010-1 provides in relevant part: "The court may dismiss an involuntary petition without further notice and hearing if the petitioner fails to ... (c) serve the summons and petition within the time allowed by FRBP 7004; (d) file a proof of service of the summons and petition with the court; or (e) appear at the status conference set by the court."

Based upon the foregoing, the involuntary petition is DISMISSED.

#4.00 Hearing
RE: [35] Motion for approval of chapter 11 disclosure statement

fr. 12-4-18

Docket 35

Tentative Ruling:

1/15/2019

No appearances required. Following a December 4, 2018, hearing on the adequacy of the Debtor's Disclosure Statement [Doc. No. 35], the Court set this status conference to allow time for the Debtor to determine the extent and validity of Direct Capital Corporation's ("DCC") claim. On December 10, 2018, this Court entered an order approving a stipulation between the Debtor and DCC regarding its claim [Doc. No. 50].

The Court has reviewed the Response to Debtor's Proposed Disclosure Statement and Supplemental Declaration of Eric Alan Mitnick filed by Benito Barbosa [Doc. Nos. 58, 59]. In addition to the issues this Court raised in its tentative ruling [Doc. No. 44], Mr. Barbosa contends that the Disclosure Statement lacks adequate information about the following: (i) the Debtor's transfer of his ownership interest in the Verdun Property to his wife; (ii) how the Debtor's monthly income draws are determined, information concerning the Debtor's wife's income, and financial information about the Debtor's podiatry practice; (iii) financial information about Stephens Associated Services; (iv) the Debtor's alleged inheritance of $44,000 in 2017 and how such funds were spent; and (v) the Debtor's alleged transfer of funds into an IRA account. In reply, the Debtor [Doc. No. 60] requests an opportunity to file an amended disclosure statement and states that he will attempt to address all of these issues as well as the issues raised by the Court if permitted to do so.

Based upon the foregoing, the hearing is CONTINUED to March 13, 2019 at 10:00 a.m. The Debtor is directed to file an amended disclosure statement by no later than February 15, 2019. The deadline to oppose the amended disclosure statement is February 27, 2019. The deadline to file a reply to any opposition(s) is March 6, 2019.

1. Individual Debtor's Disclosure Statement in Support of Plan of Reorganization [Doc. No. 35] (the "Disclosure Statement")
2. Individual Debtor's Chapter 11 Plan of Reorganization [Doc. No. 36] (the "Plan")
3. Notice of Hearing on Adequacy and Approval of Debtor's Disclosure Statement Describing Individual Chapter 11 Plan [Doc. No. 37]
4. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Debtor and Debtor-in-possession, Dwight Stephens (the "Debtor") filed a voluntary individual chapter 11 petition on March 21, 2018. Debtor presently seeks approval of his Disclosure Statement [Doc. No. 35]. The following provisions are the material provisions of Debtor's Plan [Doc. No. 36]:

i. The Plan is a reorganizing plan. The Debtor proposes to fund the Plan with (a) pre- and post-confirmation employment and social security income; and (b) a one-time, $50,000, contribution from Debtor's non-filing spouse that will come from a reverse mortgage associated with real property located at 5337 S. Verdun Avenue, Los Angeles, CA (the "Verdun Property"). Debtor states that the Verdun Property is the separate property of his non-filing spouse because the funds used to acquire the Verdun Property were the separate property of his non-filing spouse. Debtor states that he has never been on title for the Verdun Property, but is a co-obligor on the note/mortgage.

ii. Debtor proposes a March 2019 effective date.

iii. Debtor anticipates having approximately $54,000 in cash on hand to pay $52,345 in anticipated effective date payments.

iv. Debtor proposes to repay priority tax claims in full with 5% interest over 24 months.

v. Class 2(a) consists of the unimpaired secured claim of Mr. Cooper, which holds a first-priority lien on the Property. Debtor and his non-filing spouse are currently making $1,041 monthly mortgage payments, but Debtor anticipates this payment will be reduced to $500/month after obtaining a reverse mortgage.

vi. Class 6(a) consists of general unsecured claims of $100 or less and any allowed general unsecured claim larger than $100, but whose holder agrees to reduce its claim to $100. Debtor proposes to pay each member of this class 100% of their claim on the effective date.

vii. Class 6(b) consists of the following remaining general unsecured claims:

(a) Benito Barbosa. Mr. Barbosa filed Proof of Claim 4-1 asserting an unsecured claim of $2,139,530.42 resulting from a pre-petition judgment. Debtor proposes to treat Mr. Barbosa's claim as an allowed general unsecured claim in that amount.

(b) Direct Capital Corporation ("DCC"). DCC filed Proof of Claim 2-1 (the "DCC Claim") asserting a priority claim in the amount of $97,111.83 pursuant to a recorded abstract of judgment. Debtor proposes to treat DCC's claim as wholly unsecured on the basis that Debtor has no estate property to which the abstract could attach.

(c) Spectrum Business ("SB"). SB has not filed a proof of claim. Debtor proposes to pay SB as an allowed general unsecured claimant in the amount of $615.

(d) University of Illinois ("UI"). UI has not filed a proof of claim. Debtor proposes to pay UI as an allowed general unsecured claimant in the amount of $350.

Debtor proposes to pay $93,250, or 4%, in pro-rata distributions to Class 6(b) over a five year period with no interest as follows: $50,000 (month 1); $500/mo (months 2-24); $900/mo (months 25-60). Debtor's liquidation analysis states that this distribution exceeds the 0% distribution general unsecured creditors would receive if the case were converted to a case under chapter 7.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Section 1125 requires a disclosure statement to contain “information of a kind, and in sufficient detail, as far as is reasonably practicable in light of the nature and history of the debtor and the condition of the debtor’s books and records . . . that would enable. . . a hypothetical investor of the relevant class to make an informed judgment about the plan.” In determining whether a disclosure statement provides adequate information, “the court shall consider the complexity of the case, the benefit of additional information to creditors and other parties in interest, and the cost of providing additional information.” 11 U.S.C. § 1125(a).

Courts interpreting § 1125(a) have explained that the “primary purpose of a disclosure statement is to give the creditors the information they need to decide whether to accept the plan.” In re Monnier Bros., 755 F.2d 1336, 1342 (8th Cir. 1985). “According to the legislative history, the parameters of what constitutes adequate information are intended to be flexible.” In re Diversified Investors Fund XVII, 91 B.R. 559, 560 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1988). “Adequate information will be determined by the facts and circumstances of each case.” Oneida Motor Freight, Inc. v. United Jersey Bank, 848 F.2d 414, 417 (3d Cir. 1988), accord. In re Ariz. Fast Foods, Inc., 299 B.R. 589 (Bankr. D. Ariz. 2003).

Relevant factors for evaluating the adequacy of a disclosure statement may include: (1) the events which led to the filing of a bankruptcy petition; (2) a description of the available assets and their value; (3) the anticipated future of the company; (4) the source of information stated in the disclosure statement; (5) a disclaimer; (6) the present condition of the debtor while in Chapter 11; (7) the scheduled claims; (8) the estimated return to creditors under a Chapter 7 liquidation; (9) the accounting method utilized to produce financial information and the name of the accountants responsible for such information; (10) the future management of the debtor; (11) the Chapter 11 plan or a summary thereof; (12) the estimated administrative expenses, including attorneys' and accountants' fees; (13) the collectability of accounts receivable; (14) financial information, data, valuations or projections relevant to the creditors' decision to accept or reject the Chapter 11 plan; (15) information relevant to the risks posed to creditors under the plan; (16) the actual or projected realizable value from recovery of preferential or otherwise voidable transfers; (17) litigation likely to arise in a nonbankruptcy context; (18) tax attributes of the debtor; and (19) the relationship of the debtor with affiliates.

In re Metrocraft Pub. Services, Inc., 39 B.R. 567, 568 (Bankr. Ga. 1984). However, “[d]isclosure of all factors is not necessary in every case.” Id.

Here, there are a number of issues that require this Court to continue the hearing on approval of the adequacy of the Disclosure Statement. First, the Debtor states that the Verdun Property is not property of the estate because Debtor’s non-filing spouse used separate property funds to acquire the Verdun Property. However, the Debtor also states that he is a co-obligor on the mortgage, so it is conceivable that Debtor has a community property interest in the Verdun Property if his non-filing spouse and he have been using community property income to service the mortgage and make repairs.

If this is the case, then the Debtor’s liquidation analysis, which values the Debtor’s interest in the Verdun Property as $0.00 is incorrect and needs to be amended. If this is not the case, then the Disclosure Statement, Plan, and Debtor’s Schedules do not adequately explain how Mr. Cooper is a secured creditor of the Debtor’s estate or why the Debtor’s Plan proposes to treat Mr. Cooper as such. Any amended disclosure statement must clearly show why Debtor’s interest in the Verdun Property is $0.00.

Second, the Debtor states that the DCC Claim is not entitled to treatment as a secured creditor because the Debtor does not have any secured claim upon which DCC’s claim could attach. [Note 1] Accordingly, Debtor proposes to treat the DCC Claim as a general unsecured Class 6(b) claim. However, pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 502(a), “[a] claim or interest ... is deemed allowed, unless a part in interest ... objects.” Based upon a review of the docket, it appears that the Debtor has not filed an objection to the DCC Claim or otherwise indicated an intention to do so. Therefore, DCC currently holds a secured claim and, absent Debtor moving to reclassify the claim through a properly noticed claim objection motion, the Disclosure Statement and Plan need to be amended to reflect this.

Due to the sizeable amount of the DCC Claim, it appears appropriate to continue the hearing on consideration of the Disclosure Statement until after the extent and validity of the DCC Claim has been resolved. Therefore, the following dates and deadlines shall apply:

1. The Disclosure Statement Hearing is CONTINUED to January 16, 2019 at 10:00 a.m. No further briefing will be permitted. At the continued hearing, the Court will conduct a status conference to set a deadline for the Debtor to file an amended Disclosure Statement and Plan and to determine whether a further hearing is necessary.

2. The deadline for the Debtor to file an objection to the DCC Claim is December 14, 2018. If the Debtor elects to object to the DCC Claim, the Court will conduct a hearing on Debtor's Claim Objection on January 16, 2019 at 10:00 a.m. Opposition and reply deadlines will be in accordance with applicable local rules.

The Debtor is directed to lodge a scheduling order consistent with this ruling within seven days of the hearing.

 - a) Notice of Plan Administrator's Motion to Abandon Real Property [Doc. No. 866]
- 2) No Opposition to the Motion is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Liberty Asset Management Corporation ("Liberty") commenced a voluntary Chapter 11 petition on March 21, 2016 (the "Petition Date"). On June 18, 2018, the Court entered an order confirming the First Amended Chapter 11 Plan of Liquidation Dated January 31, 2018 (the "Plan"). The Plan appointed Bradley D. Sharp as the Plan Administrator responsible for liquidating the assets of the estate. (The Plan provided that all assets of the estate remained vested in the estate. See Plan at Art. 3.)

The Plan Administrator moves to abandon the estate's interest in vacant real property located in the City of Azusa, California, designated as APN 8610-022-022 (the "Azusa Property"). The estate holds title to the Azusa Property pursuant to a stipulation entered in March 2018 between Liberty and Lucy Gao. The Plan Administrator has employed Bill Friedman and Thomas Bleumel of Coldwell Banker, who have marketed the Azusa Property for approximately six months. The Azusa Property was initially listed at a sales price of $75,000. The price was reduced to $49,000 and then to $34,900. Based on conversations with the realtors, the Plan Administrator believes that further price reductions will not achieve a sale as a result of fundamental problems with the property. In particular, the parcel lacks any available utilities; its size, shape, and location make it undesirable for most buyers; and the City of Azusa will not permit development on the

Chapter 11

The Plan Administrator seeks to abandon the Property back to Lucy Gao to avoid the accrual of property taxes, costs of insurance, and other potential liabilities. No opposition to the Motion is on file.

II. Findings and Conclusion

The Plan provides, in relevant part, that "the Plan Administrator, on behalf of the Estate, may abandon any Asset that the Plan Administrator believes, in good faith, has no meaningful value to the Estate." Plan at Art. VII.B. The Plan lists the Azusa Property as a "Real Estate Asset."

Section 554(a) provides that "[a]fter notice and a hearing, the trustee may abandon any property of the estate that is burdensome to the estate or that is of inconsequential value and benefit to the estate." In determining whether abandonment is appropriate, courts defer to the estate representative's business judgment. See, e.g., In re Moore, 110 B.R. 924, 927 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1990) ("[W]hen called upon to review contested applications for abandonment, a court must focus its examination upon the reasons underlying the trustee's determination and affirm a decision which reflects a business judgment made in good faith, upon a reasonable basis and within the scope of his authority under the Code").

Here, the Plan Administrator has diligently marketed the Azusa Property but no buyers have emerged. The evidence submitted by the Plan Administrator establishes that further price reductions are unlikely to yield a buyer, because the Azusa Property cannot be developed, lacks utilities, and has an undesirable size, shape, and location. The Property's dismal sale prospects, combined with the tax and insurance liabilities that will be accrued if the estate maintains possession, make abandonment appropriate.

Section 554 does not specify to whom abandonment is made. The leading treatise, Collier on Bankruptcy, holds that property may be abandoned "to any part with a possessory interest in it." 5 Collier on Bankruptcy ¶ 554.02[3] (Richard Levin & Henry J. Sommers eds., 16th ed.). This conclusion is echoed in cases addressing the issue. See, e.g., Dewsnup v. Timm (In re Dewsnup), 908 F.2d 588, 590 (10th Cir. 1990), aff'd sub nom. Dewsnup v. Timm, 502 U.S. 410, 112 S. Ct. 773, 116 L. Ed. 2d 903 (1992) ("Following abandonment, 'whoever had the possessory right to the property at the filing of bankruptcy again reacquires that right'") (internal citation omitted); Eliezer Miller v. Generale Bank Nederland, N.V. (In re Interpictures Inc.), 217 F.3d 74, 76 (2d Cir. 2000) ("Several courts, citing the legislative history to Section 554(b), have held that property should be abandoned only to a holder of a possessory interest in it.... The rationale for this rule is that once the debtor's property is abandoned in bankruptcy, the property should be treated as though no bankruptcy proceedings had occurred and therefore revert to the party that held a pre-petition interest in it.").

The Court approves the Plan Administrator's request that the Azusa Property be abandoned to Lucy Gao. Prior to the Petition Date, Golden Field Investment LLC ("Golden Field") held title to the Azusa Property. Ms. Gao dissolved Golden Field in December 2016 and transferred the Azusa Property to Lowridge Place LLC ("Lowridge Place"). Gao subsequently dissolved Lowridge Place and transferred the Azusa Property to Liberty.

Because Golden Field and Lowridge Place have been dissolved, the Azusa Property cannot be abandoned to them. Ms. Gao was a former member or manager of the limited liability companies that previously held a possessory interest in the Azusa Property. The Court finds that in this capacity, Ms. Gao held a possessory interest in the Azusa Property, and that accordingly abandonment of the Azusa Property to Ms. Gao is warranted.

Based upon the foregoing, the Motion is GRANTED in its entirety. The Plan Administrator shall submit a conforming order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On August 31, 2018 (the "Petition Date"), Verity Health Systems of California ("VHS") and certain of its subsidiaries (collectively, the "Debtors") filed voluntary petitions for relief under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. On August 31, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the Debtors' motion for joint administration of the Debtors' Chapter 11 cases. Doc. No. 17.

Individual Debtors are parties to multiple real-property, non-residential leases necessary for the operation of the Debtors' business, including office and operational space. opposition to the Motion is on file.

Chapter 11

II. Findings and Conclusions

Section 365(d)(4) provides:

- (A) Subject to subparagraph (B), an unexpired lease of nonresidential real property under which the debtor is the lessee shall be deemed rejected, and the trustee shall immediately surrender that nonresidential real property to the lessor, if the trustee does not assume or reject the unexpired lease by the earlier of—
 - (i) the date that is 120 days after the date of the order for relief; or
 - (ii) the date of the entry of an order confirming a plan.
- (B)
 - (i) The court may extend the period determined under subparagraph (A), prior to the expiration of the 120-day period, for 90 days on the motion of the trustee or lessor for cause.
 - (ii) If the court grants an extension under clause (i), the court may grant a subsequent extension only upon prior written consent of the lessor in each instance.

The Court finds that the Debtors have shown cause to extend the Assumption/Rejection Deadline. "[T]he legislative purpose behind §365(d)(4) was to protect lessors from extended periods where the premises remained vacant and no rental payments made." Willamette Water Front Ltd. v. Victoria Station, Inc. (In re Victoria Station Inc.), 88 B.R. 231, 237 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1988), aff'd, 875 F.2d 1380 (9th Cir. 1989). Here, the Debtors are current on all postpetition lease obligations, and represent that they will remain current on such obligations. The Court finds that in view of the importance of the leased space to the Debtors' business operations, a 90-day extension of the Assumption/Rejection Deadline is appropriate. The Assumption and Rejection Deadline is extended to and including March 29, 2019. This extension is without prejudice to the rights of the Debtors to seek further extensions with the consent of the affected lessors as contemplated by §365(d)(4)(B)(ii).

The Debtors shall submit a conforming order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Jessica Vogel or Daniel Koontz at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first

Docket 17

Tentative Ruling:

1/15/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Motion for Default Judgment is GRANTED.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Notice of Motion and Motion for Default Judgment Against Defendants Victor Marquez and David Marquez [Doc. No. 17] (the "Motion")
- 2) No opposition to the Motion is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Guillermo Alvarado (the "Debtor") commenced a voluntary Chapter 7 petition on June 15, 2016 (the "Petition Date"). On October 18, 2018, the Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee") commenced this action to avoid a postpetition transfer of property located at 16923 Royal Pines Lane, Canyon Country, CA 91387 (the "Property") from the Debtor to Victor Marquez and David Marquez (collectively, the "Defendants"). Doc. No. 1. On November 27, 2018, the Clerk of the Court entered Defendants' default. Doc. Nos. 13–14. The Trustee now seeks entry of default judgment against the Defendants. No opposition to the Motion is on file.

A hearing on the Debtor's motion to compel the Trustee to abandon the Property to the Debtor is set for January 23, 2019, at 10:00 a.m.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Once default has been entered, the well-pleaded factual allegations of the complaint are taken as true. Cripps v. Life Ins. Co. of North America, 980 F.2d 1261, 1267 (9th Cir. 1992).

The following facts have been established by the well-pleaded allegations of the Complaint. Debtor commenced a voluntary Chapter 7 petition on June 15, 2016. The Property was among the assets of the estate. On September 13, 2017—subsequent to the Petition Date—Debtor executed a Grant Deed transferring the Property to Defendants for no consideration (the “Marquez Deed”). Motion at Ex. 4. The Marquez Deed was recorded on December 22, 2017. Id.

Section 549(a) allows the Trustee to “avoid a transfer of property of the estate that occurs after the commencement of the case; and ... that is not authorized under this title or by the court.” The execution and recordation of the Marquez Deed was not authorized by the Court and is not authorized under any provision of Title 11. Consequently, pursuant to § 549(a) the Trustee is entitled to a judgment avoiding the transfer that was effected by the Marquez Deed.

With respect to any avoided transfer, § 550 provides that “the trustee may recover, for the benefit of the estate, the property transferred, or ... the value of such property” Section 551 provides that any avoided transfer “is preserved for the benefit of the estate” Pursuant to § 550, the Trustee is entitled to a judgment for the recovery of the Property, or its value, from the Defendants. Pursuant to § 551, the Trustee is entitled to a judgment that the Marquez Deed shall be preserved for the benefit of the estate.

Based upon the foregoing, the Motion is GRANTED in its entirety. Within seven days of the hearing, the Trustee shall submit (1) a proposed order granting the Motion, which shall incorporate this tentative ruling by reference, and (2) a proposed judgment. (For purposes of the separate document rule, set forth in Civil Rule 58(a), both an order and a judgment must be submitted.)

No appearance is required if submitting on the court’s tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Jessica Vogel or Daniel Koontz at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. Tentative Ruling:

1/15/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Stipulation is DISAPPROVED.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed

1. Stipulation Resolving Proof of Claim [Doc. No. 29] (the "Stipulation")
2. Trustee's Opposition to 'Stipulation Resolving Proof of Claim' Filed as Document # 29 in the Bankruptcy Case and Request for Hearing on Same [Doc. No. 31] (the "Opposition")

4. Proof of Claim No. 2, filed by Deutsche Bank National Trust Company, as Certificate Trustee on Behalf of Bosco Credit II Trust Series 2010-1 (the "Deutsche Claim")
5. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no reply is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Felix Anibal Diaz and Cecilia Giron Diaz (the "Debtors") filed this voluntary chapter 7 case on July 6, 2018 (the "Petition Date"). On August 28, 2018, Deutsche Bank National Trust Company, as Certificate Trustee on Behalf of Bosco Credit II Trust Series 2010-1 filed Proof of Claim No. 2 (the "Deutsche Claim") asserting an unsecured claim of $179,084.07 for "Money Loaned" in connection with real property located at 16470 Tulip Court, Fontana, CA 92335 (the "Property").

On December 20, 2018, the Debtors and Deutsche (the "Parties") filed a Stipulation Resolving Proof of Claim [Doc. No. 29] (the "Stipulation"). As set forth in the Stipulation, the Debtors agreed to pay $30,000 to Deutsche in full satisfaction of the Deutsche Claim and in exchange for Deutsche's agreement to dismiss an action pending in state court that Deutsche initiated against the Debtors pre-petition (CIVDS17017).

On December 27, 2018, the Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee") filed his Trustee's Opposition to 'Stipulation Resolving Proof of Claim' Filed as Document # 29 in the Bankruptcy Case and Request for Hearing on Same [Doc. No. 32] (the "Opposition). The Trustee states that the Deutsche Claim is based upon a pre-petition foreclosure of the Property and that the original note the Debtors signed was only for an $80,000 loan at 10.5% annual interest (the "Note). The Trustee objects to the Stipulation on the grounds that it:

- (1) is only signed by the Parties' respective counsel and not by the Parties themselves,
- (2) through the Stipulation Deutsche seeks partial payment of the Note in violation of the automatic stay, and
- (3) to the extent the Stipulation can be viewed as a reaffirmation agreement, it
 - (a) does not contain the information required by § 524(k) and Fed. R. Bankr. P. 4008(b),
 - (b) is untimely under Fed. R. Bankr. P. 4008(a),
 - (c) violates LBR 4008-1, and
 - (d) does not comply with the certifications required by § 524(c).

The Trustee states that he attempted to contact Deutsche's counsel to discuss the Stipulation but did not receive a response prior to filing the Opposition. Therefore, the Trustee requests that the Stipulation be disapproved or, in the alternative, requests a hearing on the matter.

On December 28, 2018, the Court issued its Order Setting Hearing on Approval of Stipulation Resolving Proof of Claim [Doc. No. 32] (the "Order Setting Hearing"), pursuant to which the Court scheduled a hearing for January 16, 2019 at 10:00 a.m. to address the arguments raised by the Trustee in the Opposition. The Court also directed the Debtor and Deutsche to file a reply by no later than January 9, 2019.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, neither the Debtor nor Deutsche have filed a reply.

Therefore, the Stipulation is DISAPPROVED for failure to comply with this Court's Order Setting Hearing and for lack of prosecution.

- Tenth Post-Confirmation Status Report ("Status Report") [Doc. No. 508]

This is a post-confirmation status conference. On March 9, 2018, Vikaran Ghei and Michael Zaitzeff (the "Liquidating Trustees") filed their "Ninth Post-Confirmation Status Report" (the "9th Status Report") [Doc. No. 499]. In that status report, the Liquidating Trustees informed this Court that on November 20, 2017, the Ninth Circuit denied their appeal involving their claim to a $22,000,000 refund of federal income taxes from the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, in its capacity as receiver for the Debtor's bank subsidiary [Id. 3:10]. Based on that denial, the Liquidating Trustees stated that they would "shortly wind up the Bankruptcy Case"

On August 30, 2018, the Liquidating Trustees filed their "Tenth Post-Confirmation Status Report" (the "10th Status Report") [Doc. No. 508]. Based on this Court's review, the 10th Status Report appears to be virtually identical to the 9th Status Report. The 10th Status Report provides no further detail on the Liquidating Trustee's efforts to wind up this bankruptcy case since the filing of the 9th Status Report nearly six months ago.

Based on the foregoing, counsel for the Liquidating Trustees is directed to appear to provide this Court with an update on any efforts being undertaken to wind up this bankruptcy

Tentative Ruling:

1/17/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2) to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to repossess or otherwise obtain possession and dispose of its collateral pursuant to applicable law, and to use the proceeds from its disposition to satisfy its claim. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. The Court finds that there is no equity in the subject vehicle and that the vehicle is not necessary for an effective reorganization since this is a chapter 7 case.

This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. All other relief is denied.

- 4) Notice of Withdrawal of Notice of Trustee's Intention to Abandon Real Property of the Estate [Doc. No. 670]

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

U.S. Bank National Association, not in its individual capacity but solely as Trustee for the RMAC Trust, Series 2016-CTT ("U.S. Bank") moves for relief from the automatic stay with respect to property located at 3800 Wailea Alanui Drive, #B101, Kihei, Hawaii 96753 (the "Property"). Claire Levine (the "Debtor") and unsecured creditor Peter Rudinkas (collectively, the "Objectors") oppose the Motion.

Chapter 7

A. Background

Debtor commenced a voluntary Chapter 11 petition on April 10, 2012. Doc. No. 1. The case was converted to Chapter 7 on July 30, 2012. Doc. No. 78. Prior to conversion, the Hon. Sandra R. Klein presided over the case. Upon conversion to Chapter 7 the case was reassigned to the undersigned Judge.

On October 31, 2012, the Court denied Capital One, N.A.'s motion for stay-relief with respect to the Property as to the bankruptcy estate, without prejudice. Doc. No. 129. On February 6, 2014, the Court denied Capital One's renewed motion for stay-relief. Doc. Nos. 270 and 272.

On January 11, 2019, the Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee") filed a notice stating that he intended to abandon the Property. Doc. No. 669 (the "Notice of Abandonment"). On January 14, 2019, the Trustee withdrew the Notice of Abandonment. Doc. No. 670.

B. Summary of Papers Filed in Connection with the Motion

U.S. Bank seeks stay-relief pursuant to §§ 362(d)(1) and (d)(2). Based upon a broker's price opinion, U.S. Bank asserts that the Property's value is $6.1 million. U.S. Bank states that it is owed $8,356,015.15.

The Objectors contend that U.S. Bank has failed to show that it has standing to enforce the security interest, for the following reasons:

- 1) The lender designated on the Note attached to the Motion is Americorp Funding. The Motion includes no evidence indicating that the Note was assigned to U.S. Bank.
- 2) In two prior stay-relief motions, a different party, Capital One, represented that it was the assignee of the Note from Americorp Funding. The Motion omits any evidence showing transfer of the Note between Americorp Funding and Capital One. This is an additional defect in the Note's chain of title.

The Objectors also challenge U.S. Bank's assertion that it is owed in excess of $8 million. Debtor testifies that she has not received monthly payment statements from U.S. Bank, notwithstanding U.S. Bank's representation that it has sent such statements. According to Objectors, Debtor's non-receipt of monthly statements casts doubt upon U.S. Bank's representations as to the amount of the indebtedness.

U.S. Bank has not filed a Reply to the Opposition. The Trustee has not objected to the Motion.

Chapter 7

II. Findings and Conclusions

Civil Rule 17(a)(1) provides: "An action must be prosecuted in the name of the real party in interest." "The modern function of the rule ... is simply to protect the defendant against a subsequent action by the party actually entitled to recover, and to insure generally that the judgment will have its proper effect as res judicata." U-Haul Int'l, Inc. v. Jartran, Inc., 793 F.2d 1034, 1039 (9th Cir. 1986). "Real party in interest doctrine ... ensures that the party bringing the action owns or has rights that can be vindicated by proving the elements of the claim for relief asserted." Veal v. Am. Home Mortgage Servicing, Inc. (In re Veal), 450 B.R. 897, 908 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2011). Because stay-relief proceedings "are primarily procedural" and do not finally determine a creditor's claim or security, "a party seeking stay relief need only establish that it has a colorable claim to enforce a right against property of the estate." Veal, 450 B.R. at 914–15.

Here, U.S. Bank has failed to establish that it is the real party in interest entitled to enforce the Note or Deed of Trust. The lender designated on the Note is Americorp Funding, a Partnership ("Americorp"). The Deed of Trust likewise provides that Americorp is the secured lender. U.S. Bank has not supplied any documentation establishing that it acquired the Note or Deed of Trust from Americorp.

In support of the Motion, U.S. Bank submits a declaration from Michael P. Ruiz, an employee of Rushmore Loan Management Services, LLC ("RLMS"). According to Mr. Ruiz's declaration, RLMS has the contractual right to service the Note on behalf of U.S. Bank. Ruiz Decl. at ¶2. Mr. Ruiz testifies that RLMS' records reflect that U.S. Bank holds possession of the Note. Id. at ¶6. The records alluded to by Mr. Ruiz are not included as exhibits to his declaration.

Notwithstanding Mr. Ruiz's testimony that U.S. Bank holds possession of the Note, the Court finds that U.S. Bank is required to supply additional evidence to establish its standing. In two prior stay-relief motions, a different entity, Capital One, asserted that it was entitled to enforce the Note. The stay-relief motion filed by Capital One on December 2, 2013 [Doc. No. 248] included documentation evidencing assignment of the Note from Americorp to Mortgage Electronic Registration Systems, Inc. ("MERS"), followed by assignment of the Note from MERS to Capital One. U.S. Bank has not supplied documentation showing that it acquired the right to enforce the Note from Capital One. Given that Capital One has asserted rights in the Note before this Court on two prior occasions, U.S. Bank must supply documentation to establish that it holds a colorable claim against the Property.

To provide U.S. Bank an opportunity to supply documentation establishing that it is the real party in interest, the Court will hold a continued hearing on the Motion on February 19, 2019. U.S. Bank shall submit additional evidence supporting its entitlement to enforce the Note and Deed of Trust by no later than February 5, 2019. Any opposition to such additional evidence is due by February 12, 2019. U.S. Bank's reply to such opposition is due by February 15, 2019.

The Court finds it important to emphasize that although U.S. Bank has not at this stage carried its evidentiary burden, the heightened evidentiary standards advocated by the Objectors are not appropriate in the context of a lift-stay motion. "Hearings on relief from the automatic stay are ... handled in a summary fashion," Johnson v. Righetti (In re Johnson), 756 F.2d 738, 740 (9th Cir. 1985), and U.S. Bank is required only to show that it has a "colorable claim" against the Property, Veal, 450 B.R. at 914-15. The Objectors' request that the Court conduct an evidentiary hearing at which U.S. Bank is required to produce original copies of the Note and Deed of Trust for inspection is DENIED as unnecessary.

The Court will prepare and enter an order setting the continued hearing.

#7.00 HearingRE: [10] Notice of motion and motion for relief from the automatic stay with supporting declarations PERSONAL PROPERTY RE: 2016 HONDA CIVIC, VIN: 2HGF C4B0 0GH3 07889 .

Docket 10

Tentative Ruling:

1/17/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2) to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to repossess or otherwise obtain possession and dispose of its collateral pursuant to applicable law, and to use the proceeds from its disposition to satisfy its claim. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. The Court finds that there is no equity in the subject vehicle and that the vehicle is not necessary for an effective reorganization since this is a chapter 7 case.

This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. All other relief is denied.

Movant shall upload an appropriate order via the Court's Lodged Order Upload system within 7 days of the hearing.

RE: [22] Motion for Relief from Stay Notice of Motion For Relief From Automatic Stay and Memorandum of Points and Authorities In Support of Brentwood Gateway LLC's Motion for Relief From Automatic Stay.

Docket 22

 VACATED  REASON: WITHDRAWAL OF MOTION FILED 1-17-19

Tentative Ruling:

1/17/2019

For the reasons set forth herein, the Motion is DENIED without prejudice.

First, pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule ("LBR") 4001-1(b)(1), "[a]n entity seeking relief from the automatic stay ... must file a motion using the court-mandated F 4001-1 series of form motions. The failure to use the mandatory forms may result in the denial of the motion or the imposition of sanctions."

Movant failed to comply with LBR 4001-1(b)(1) by failing to use the court-mandated form.

Second, on October 16, 2018, this Court issued a Notice of Joint Administration of Cases and Requirements for Filing Documents [Doc. No. 10] (the "Notice"). Pursuant to the Notice, Movant was required to (1) use the joint-administration caption; (2) indicate, by checking appropriate boxes, the debtor or debtors affected by the filed document; and (3) file the motion in the lead case, which in this case is In re F.A.S.S.T., LLC, Case No. 2:18-bk-21828-ER. [Note 1]

Movant did not comply with any of the foregoing requirements.

Third, Movant's proof of service does not reflect that the Motion was served on the Debtor as required by LBR 4001-1(c)(1)(C)(i), or on the 20 largest creditors as required by Rules 4001(a)(1) and 1007(d) of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure ("FRBP"). The Court notes that Movant's failure to serve the Debtor appears to be harmless in light of the Debtor's submission of a timely opposition [Doc. No. 25]. Nevertheless, Movant is cautioned that failure to comply with LBR's, the F.R.Civ.P. or the FRBP, or with any order of the court may be grounds for the imposition of sanctions, including, but not limited to, this Court striking pleadings or denying future requests for relief. See LBR 1002-1(f).

Movant may refile an amended motion that cures the deficiencies outlined above and complies with applicable local and federal rules.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Daniel Koontz or Jessica Vogel at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. If you wish to make a telephonic appearance, contact Court Call at 888-882-6878, no later than one hour before the hearing.

Note 1: The Court also takes note that Debtor's counsel failed to comply with these requirements as well [See Doc. No. 25]. Additionally, Debtor filed its opposition in the Los Angeles Training Center LLC case [2:18-bk-21723-ER], but incorrectly used the caption and case number of F.A.S.S.T., LLC. Debtor's counsel is cautioned that failure to comply with the Notice in the future may result in this Court striking the non-compliant pleadings.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

A. Procedural Background

Guillermo Alvarado (the "Debtor") commenced a voluntary Chapter 7 petition on June 15, 2016. Doc. No. 1. On August 8, 2018, the Debtor filed a motion seeking to compel the Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee") to abandon the Debtor's principal residence, located at 16923 Royal Pines Lane, Canyon Country, CA 91387 (the “Property”). Doc. No. 106 (the “First Abandonment Motion”). On September 6, 2018, the Court denied the First Abandonment Motion, without prejudice, based upon the Debtor’s failure to properly set the motion for hearing. Doc. No. 117 (the “Denial Order”). Shortly after issuance of the Denial Order, the Debtor filed a Notice of Hearing on Motion of Debtors for Order Compelling Chapter 7 Trustee to Abandon Debtor’s Principal Residence [Doc. No. 118] (the “Purported Notice”), but did not re-file the First Abandonment Motion. On September 10, 2018, the Court issued an order striking the Purported Notice from the record. Doc. No. 121 (the “Order Striking Purported Notice”). The Court found that the filing of the Purported Notice was procedurally improper for the following reasons:

Pursuant to the Denial Order, the Motion has been denied without prejudice.

As a result, the Debtor is required to file a new motion, and pay the required filing fee, if he wishes to obtain a hearing upon the relief requested. A Motion that has been denied cannot be resuscitated by the filing of a document such as the Purported Notice.

Order Striking Purported Notice at ¶1.

On December 18, 2018, the Debtor filed a second motion seeking to compel the Trustee to abandon the Property. Doc. No. 128 (the “Second Abandonment Motion”). The Trustee objects to the Second Abandonment Motion.

B. The Trustee’s Related Avoidance Action

On October 18, 2018, the Trustee commenced an action to avoid the post-petition transfer of the Property from the Debtor to Victor Marquez and David Marquez. On January 17, 2019, the Court entered default judgment and avoided the transfer. Adv. Doc. No. 23 (the “Marquez Judgment”). Among other things, the Court ordered that the Grant Deed transferring the Property from the Debtor to Victor and David Marquez (the “Marquez Grant Deed”) “is automatically preserved for the benefit of the estate pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 551 ahead of the Debtor’s claimed homestead exemption.” Marquez Judgment at 2.

C. Summary of Papers Filed in Connection with the Second Abandonment Motion

By the Second Abandonment Motion, the Debtor seeks an order compelling the Trustee to abandon the Property. The Trustee opposes the Motion. The Debtor and the Trustee dispute whether there is any equity in the Property to be administered for the benefit of creditors.

Chapter 7

The gravamen of the dispute is whether the Property is encumbered by a Deed of Trust in favor of Victor Marquez (the “Marquez Deed of Trust”). The Marquez Deed of Trust is different from the Marquez Grant Deed avoided by the Trustee. According to the Debtor, the Marquez Deed of Trust was recorded on October 22, 2015, for the purpose of securing a $250,000 loan that Victor Marquez made to the Debtor on October 15, 2015. A copy of the Marquez Deed of Trust is attached as an exhibit to the Second Abandonment Motion. Doc. No. 128 at Ex. 4.

The Trustee disputes the existence of the Marquez Deed of Trust. The Trustee points to a title report, prepared by Priority Title, which did not identify the Marquez Deed of Trust as an encumbrance against the Property.

II. Findings and Conclusions

As a preliminary matter, the Court first addresses a procedural irregularity regarding the manner in which the Second Abandonment Motion has been briefed. The Trustee’s Opposition to the Motion contained no argument with respect to the existence of the Marquez Deed of Trust. The Trustee’s contention that the Marquez Deed of Trust does not encumber the Property was first raised two days subsequent to the filing of the Debtors’ Reply, in a document captioned Declaration of Trustee’s Counsel in Support of Trustee’s Opposition to Debtor’s Second Motion to Compel Abandonment of Real Property [Doc. No. 134] (the “Declaration”). Because the Declaration was not filed concurrently with the Trustee’s Opposition and raises new arguments in response to the Reply, the Court construes the Declaration as an unauthorized Sur-Reply.

The Debtor has not had an opportunity to respond to the Trustee’s challenge to the existence of the Marquez Deed of Trust. For this reason, the Court does not consider the Trustee’s arguments regarding the validity of the Marquez Deed of Trust. However, as more fully explained below, the Court is prepared to find that regardless of the validity of the Marquez Deed of Trust, denial of the Second Abandonment Motion is appropriate because there is equity in the Property that the Trustee can administer for the benefit of creditors. Because this finding is based upon a ground not raised by the Trustee, the Court will hold a continued hearing on the Second Abandonment Motion to provide the Debtor an opportunity respond.

Assuming without deciding that the Marquez Deed of Trust was recorded against the Property on October 22, 2015, the Court is prepared to find that as a result of subsequent events, the Marquez Deed of Trust no longer encumbers the Property. The reason is that on September 13, 2017, the Debtor transferred the Property to Victor and David Marquez by way of the Marquez Grant Deed. Under the doctrine of merger, whenever the same person holds a greater and lesser estate in the same parcel of real property, the lesser estate merges into the greater and is extinguished. Kolodge v. Boyd, 88 Cal. App. 4th 349 (2001). Subsequent to the transfer effectuated by the Marquez Grant Deed, Victor Marquez obtained a fee simple interest in the Property (with David Marquez holding an interest as a joint tenant). Victor Marquez's lesser interest (the security interest established by the Marquez Deed of Trust) merged with his greater interest (the fee simple interest resulting from the Marquez Grant Deed), and the lesser interest ceased to exist. Consequently, when the Trustee subsequently avoided the transfer effectuated by the Marquez Grant Deed, the Property was no longer encumbered by the Marquez Deed of Trust, which had been extinguished under the doctrine of merger.

The Debtor asserts that the Property is worth $930,000; the Trustee contends that the Property is worth in excess of $989,000. The Property is encumbered by a Deed of Trust in favor of Wells Fargo in the approximate amount of $676,000. Even under the Debtor's lower valuation, the Property has equity that the Trustee can administer for the benefit of creditors if it is not encumbered by the Marquez Deed of Trust.

A continued hearing on the Second Abandonment Motion shall be held on February 13, 2019, at 10:00 a.m. The Debtor and the Trustee shall submit briefs responding to the preliminary findings of the Court set forth herein by no later than February 6, 2019. The briefs shall also address whether the Marquez Deed of Trust encumbers the Property if the Court determines that it was not extinguished under the doctrine of merger. That is, was the Marquez Deed of Trust validly recorded on October 15, 2015, and do the records of the Los Angeles County Recorder continue to reflect the Marquez Deed of Trust as an encumbrance against the Property? (It is possible that a title report, such as that obtained by the Trustee, may not detect all encumbrances.) Absent further order of the Court, no further briefing on the Second Abandonment Motion will be accepted.

The Court will prepare and enter an order setting the continued hearing.

2. Amended Notice of Objection to Claim [Doc. No. 69]
3. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Laura and Michael Banuelos (the "Debtors") filed this voluntary chapter 7 case on July 18, 2016 (the "Petition Date"). The deadline to file timely proofs of claim was April 17, 2017.

On February 8, 2017, Joseph Yeh ("Claimant") filed Proof of Claim Number 9-1 ("Claim 9") asserting a priority unsecured claim of $1,148.64 pursuant to § 507(a)(4) for "services performed." In support of Claim 9, Claimant attached copies of a handwritten note that states "Joseph, please hold onto both checks until we have the long. Leo will let you know. Thank you, Laura," and two checks from Newtech Resources, Inc. ("Newtech") to Mr. Yeh, totaling $1,148.64. One of the checks, dated January 1, 2016 (Check No. 1051), is for the sum of $765.76 and the memo line states "12/19/15 - 1/1/16" ("Check One"). The other check, dated January 18, 2016 (Check No. 1052), is difficult to read, but appears to be for the sum of $382.88 and the memo line states "1-2 – 1/16" ("Check Two," and together with Check One, the "Checks").

The chapter 7 trustee, Peter Mastan (the "Trustee"), acting through counsel objects to Claim 9 on the basis that the claim is improperly classified as a priority wage claim under § 507(a). First, the Trustee asserts that Mr. Yeh has not provided evidence to show that his debt arises from wages, as is required by § 507(a)(4), because the Checks do not explicitly state that they were for the payment of Mr. Yeh's wages and Mr. Yeh has not shown that the debt is personally owed by the Debtors, rather than Newtech.

Second, the Trustee states that in order to qualify as a priority claim under § 507(a)(4), the services must have been performed within six months prior to the Petition Date, but notes that the Checks were not written during the requisite priority period and do not indicate that they were for services performed within the priority period. Therefore, the Trustee argues that even if the Checks were for the payment of wages, Mr. Yeh has not demonstrated that he is entitled to a priority claim under § 507(a)(4).

The Trustee states that he reached out to Mr. Yeh on at least three occasions to request that Mr. Yeh amend or withdraw his proof of claim for the reasons stated above but has not received any response. Accordingly, the Trustee requests that the Court enter an order sustaining the Claim Objection and reclassifying Claim 9 as a general unsecured claim.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

A proof of claim executed and filed in accordance with the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure constitutes prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claim. Fed. R. Bankr. P. 3001(f). "The filing of an objection to a proof of claim 'creates a dispute which is a contested matter' within the meaning of Bankruptcy Rule 9014 and must be resolved after notice and opportunity for hearing upon a motion for relief." Lundell v. Anchor Const. Specialists, Inc., 223 F.3d 1035, 1039 (9th Cir. 2000) (citing Adv. Comm. Notes to Fed. R. Bankr. P. 9014). Upon objection, the proof of claim provides "some evidence as to its validity and amount" and carries over a "mere formal objection." Id. The objector must produce sufficient evidence "tending to defeat the claim by probative force equal to that of the allegations in the proofs of claim themselves." Id. (quoting Wright v. Holm (In re Holm), 931 F.2d 620, 623 (9th Cir.1991)). The claim itself can be used as evidence to rebut the prima facie validity where the objector's contention is that the claim is facially defective and insufficient as a matter of law. See In re Circle J Dairy, Inc., 112 B.R. 297, 299–301 (Bankr. W.D. Ark. 1989). The claimant must "prove the validity of the claim by a preponderance of the evidence. The ultimate burden of persuasion remains at all times upon the claimant." Id.

The Court finds that Claim 9 was filed in accordance with Bankruptcy Rule 3001 and is therefore entitled to a prima facie presumption of validity. However, the Trustee has satisfied his burden of overcoming that presumption by filing an objection asserting that the evidence does not support a finding that the alleged debt qualifies as a priority claim under § 507(a)(4).

Section 507(a)(4) designates "wages, salaries, or commissions, including vacation, severance, and sick leave pay" that are earned by an individual "within 180 days before the date of the filing of the petition" as a fourth-priority claim.

As the Trustee highlights, Mr. Yeh has not responded with evidence establishing that his debt arises from wages, salaries or commissions. Additionally, by this Court's calculation, 180-days prior to the Petition Date is January 20, 2016. However, the Checks purport to be payment for services performed during "12/19/15 – 1/1/16" and "1-2[-16] – 1/16[16]." Therefore, the dates listed on the memo lines on the Checks indicate that the services were performed earlier than January 20, 2016, and do not qualify for priority treatment under § 507(a)(4).

Additionally, pursuant to LBR 9013-1(h), LBR 3007-1(b)(3)(B), and LBR 3007-1(b)(6), the Court treats Claimant's failure to file a response to the Claim Objection as consent to granting the relief the Trustee seeks.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the Claim Objection is SUSTAINED and Claim 9

#3.00 Hearing
RE: [31] Motion For partial Summary Judgment

Docket 31

Tentative Ruling:

1/22/2019

The Motion is GRANTED for the reasons set forth below.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Notice of Motion and Motion for Partial Summary Judgment [Doc. No. 31] (the "Motion")
- 2) Limited Opposition to Motion for Partial Summary Judgment [Doc. No. 36]
- 3) Reply in Support of Partial Motion for Summary Judgment [Doc. No. 39]

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Plaintiff has obtained final judgment in the State Court (the "State Court Judgment") against Defendant, awarding Plaintiff damages of $225,000 for sexual battery (Cal. Civ. Code § 1798.5), gender violence (Cal. Civ. Code § 52.4), and violation of the Ralph Civil Rights Act (Cal. Civ. Code § 57.7). The portion of the State Court Judgment awarding Plaintiff attorneys' fees in the amount of approximately $2.5 million is not yet final. However, the State Court Judgment's award of costs in the amount of $84,090.34 is final.

Plaintiff seeks partial summary adjudication with respect to her claim that the portion of the State Court Judgment that is final is excepted from Defendant's discharge, pursuant to § 523(a)(6). Plaintiff asserts that Defendant is precluded from contesting the dischargeability of the indebtedness established by the State Court Judgment.

Defendant does not contest the non-dischargeability of the aspects of the State Court Judgment that are final (the award of damages of $225,000 and costs of $84,090.34). However, Defendant reserves all rights regarding the dischargeability of any award of attorneys' fees.

Chapter 7

Plaintiff asserts that in the event the award of attorneys' fees becomes final, such fees will also be non-dischargeable. Plaintiff requests that if and when the award of attorneys' fees becomes final, she be permitted to commence collection efforts.

II. Findings and Conclusions

A. The Court Does Not Rule on the Dischargeability of the Award of Attorneys' Fees

It is not proper for the Court to decide, at this time, whether any attorneys' fees that may be awarded to Plaintiff are non-dischargeable. First, the Motion sought partial summary adjudication only with respect to the aspects of the State Court Judgment that are now final (the award of damages and costs). To rule upon the dischargeability of the attorneys' fees would go beyond the scope of the relief requested in the Motion and would violate Defendant's due process rights.

Second, the pending appeal of the award of attorneys' fees means that under California law, the fee aspect of the State Court Judgment is not final for issue preclusion purposes. See Franklin & Franklin v. 7-Eleven Owners for Fair Franchising, 85 Cal. App. 4th 1168, 1174, 102 Cal. Rptr. 2d 770, 774 (2000) ("Unlike the federal rule and that of several states, in California the rule is that the finality required to invoke the preclusive bar of res judicata is not achieved until an appeal from the trial court judgment has been exhausted or the time to appeal has expired."). Because issue preclusion applies only in the context of a final judgment, it would be premature for the Court to find that Defendant is precluded from contesting the dischargeability of the fee aspect of the State Court Judgment.

B. Defendant is Precluded from Contesting the Dischargeability of the Aspects of the State Court Judgment that are Final Summary judgment is appropriate "if the movant shows that there is no genuine dispute as to any material facts and the movant is entitled to judgment as a matter of law." Civil Rule 56 (made applicable to these proceedings by Bankruptcy Rule 7056). The moving party has the burden of establishing the absence of a genuine issue of material fact and that it is entitled to judgment as a matter of law. Celotex Corp. v. Catrett, 477 U.S. 317, 323 (1986). "[S]ummary judgment will not lie if the dispute about a material fact is 'genuine,' that is, if the evidence is such that a reasonable jury could return a verdict for the nonmoving party." Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc., 477 U.S. 242, 248 (1986). "A fact is 'material' only if it might affect the outcome of the case[.]" Fresno Motors, LLC v. Mercedes Benz USA, LLC, 771 F.3d 1119, 1125 (9th Cir. 2014). If the moving party shows the absence of a genuine issue of material fact, the nonmoving party must "go beyond the pleadings and by her own affidavits, or by the 'depositions, answers to interrogatories, and admissions on file,' designate 'specific facts showing that there is a genuine issue for trial.'" Celotex, 477 U.S. at 324 (quoting Fed. R. Civ. P. 56(e)). The court is "required to view all facts and draw all reasonable inferences in favor of the nonmoving party" when reviewing the Motion. Brosseau v. Haugen, 543 U.S. 194, 195 n.2 (2004).

To determine the preclusive effect of an existing state court judgment, the "bankruptcy court must apply the forum state's law of issue preclusion." Plyam v. Precision Development, LLC (In re Plyam), 530 B.R. 452, 462 (9th Cir. BAP 2015). California preclusion law requires that:

- 1) The issue sought to be precluded from relitigation is identical to that decided in a former proceeding;
- 2) The issue was actually litigated in the former proceeding;
- 3) The issue was necessarily decided in the former proceeding;
- 4) The decision in the former proceeding is final and on the merits; and
- 5) The party against whom preclusion is sought was the same as, or in privity with, the party to the former proceeding.

Lucido v. Super. Ct., 795 P.2d 1223, 1225 (Cal. 1990).

Even if all five elements are satisfied, preclusion is appropriate "only if application of preclusion furthers the public policies underlying the doctrine." Harmon v. Kobrin (In re Harmon), 250 F.3d 1240, 1245 (9th Cir. 2001) (citing Lucido v. Super. Ct., 795 P.2d at 1225). In California, the public policies supporting preclusion are "preservation of the integrity of the judicial system, promotion of judicial economy, and protection of litigants from harassment by vexatious litigation." Lucido, 795 P.2d at 1227.

1. The Five Elements Supporting Issue Preclusion Are Satisfied

Element 1: The Issues Are Identical

"Section 523(a)(6) excepts from discharge debts arising from a debtor's 'willful and malicious' injury to another person or to the property of another. The 'willful' and 'malicious' requirements are conjunctive and subject to separate analysis." Plyam v. Precision Development, LLC (In re Plyam), 530 B.R. 456, 463 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 2015) (internal citations omitted).

An injury is "willful" when "a debtor harbors 'either subjective intent to harm, or a subjective belief that harm is substantially certain.’ The injury must be deliberate or intentional, ‘not merely a deliberate or intentional act that leads to injury.’” Id. at 463 (internal citations omitted). When determining intent, there is a presumption that the debtor knows the natural consequences of his actions. Ormsby v. First Am. Title Co. of Nevada (In re Ormsby), 591 F.3d 1199, 1206 (9th Cir. 2010). An injury is "malicious" if it "involves ‘(1) a wrongful act, (2) done intentionally, (3) which necessarily causes injury, and (4) is done without just cause or excuse.’” Carrillo v. Su (In re Su), 290 F.3d 1140, 1146–47 (9th Cir. 2002) (internal citations omitted). "Within the plain meaning of this definition, it is the wrongful act that must be committed intentionally rather than the injury itself." Jett v. Sicroff (In re Sicroff), 401 F.3d 1101, 1106 (9th Cir. 2005).

Here, the State Court Judgment in favor of Plaintiff finds that Defendant committed sexual battery, committed gender violence, and violated the Ralph Civil Rights Act (the "Ralph Act"). The State Court provided the jury the following instructions regarding Plaintiff’s sexual battery cause of action:

[Plaintiff] Ms. Campos claims that [Defendant] Dr. Kennedy committed a sexual battery. To establish this claim, Ms. Campos must prove the following:

- 1) That Dr. Kennedy intended to cause a harmful or offensive contact with Ms. Campos’s vagina, buttocks or breast, and a sexually offensive contact with Ms. Campos resulted, either directly or indirectly; and
- 2) That Ms. Campos did not consent to the touching; and
- 3) That Ms. Campos was harmed or offended by Dr. Kennedy’s conduct.

"Offensive contact" means contact that offends a reasonable sense of personal dignity.

The State Court provided the jury the following instructions regarding Plaintiff’s gender violence cause of action:

[Plaintiff] Ms. Campos claims that [Defendant] Dr. Kennedy committed an act of gender violence against her. Gender violence is a form of sex discrimination.

To establish this claim, Ms. Campos must prove either of the following:

- (1) That Dr. Kennedy committed a battery against Ms. Campos in part based on the gender of Ms. Campos.

Chapter 7

(2) That Dr. Kennedy's conduct on April 10, 2013, constituted a physical intrusion or physical invasion of a sexual nature under coercive conditions.

The State Court provided the jury the following instructions regarding Plaintiff's cause of action under the Ralph Act:

[Plaintiff] Ms. Campos claims that [Defendant] Dr. Kennedy committed an act of violence against her because of her sex. To establish this claim, Ms. Campos must prove all of the following:

- 1) That Dr. Kennedy committed a violent act against Ms. Campos;
- 2) That a substantial motivating reason for Dr. Kennedy's conduct was Ms. Campos's sex;
- 3) That Ms. Campos was harmed; and
- 4) That Dr. Kennedy's conduct was a substantial factor in causing Ms. Campos's harm.

As a result of the jury's findings that Defendant committed sexual battery, committed gender violence, and violated the Ralph Act, Defendant is precluded from contesting that he committed "willful and malicious" injury within the meaning of § 523(a)(6). The jury's findings establish that Defendant subjected Plaintiff to unwanted sexual contact; that Defendant did so deliberately; and that Plaintiff's gender was a substantial factor motivating Defendant's act of violence. This is precisely the type of "willful and malicious" injury that § 523(a)(6) was enacted to address.

Elements 2–3: The Issues Were Actually Litigated and Necessarily Decided

There is no dispute that the State Court Judgment was entered after a jury trial during which Defendant had the opportunity to defend himself. The Court finds that the issues were actually litigated and necessarily decided.

Element 4: The State Court Judgment is Final and on the Merits

There is no dispute that the portion of the State Court Judgment awarding costs and damages is final. Only the aspect of the judgment pertaining to attorneys' fees is subject to appeal. This element is satisfied.

Element 5: The Party Against Whom Preclusion is Sought is the Same as the Party to the State Court Proceeding

Chapter 7

There is no dispute that Dr. Kennedy, the Defendant in the State Court Action, is the same person who is the Defendant in this action.

2. Public Policy Supports Preclusion

Having found that all five elements supporting issue preclusion have been established, the Court must also find that public policy supports applying California preclusion law. Such a finding is appropriate here. Applying preclusion law preserves the integrity of the judicial system by giving full effect to judgments that have been obtained after both parties were afforded full opportunity to litigate the matter. Preclusion promotes judicial economy by obviating the need for a duplicative and unnecessary trial. The avoidance of an unnecessary trial promotes the public policy against vexatious litigation.

C. Plaintiff is Entitled to Final Judgment with Respect to the Non-Dischargeability of the State Court Judgment's Award of Damages and Costs

Pursuant to Civil Rule 52(b), the Court finds that there is no just reason to delay entry of final judgment with respect to the non-dischargeability of the State Court Judgment's award of damages and costs.

D. Future Proceedings

Adjudication of the dischargeability of the fee portion of the State Court Judgment will occur once that aspect of the judgment becomes final. A Status Conference shall take place on May 14, 2019, at 10:00 a.m. By no later than fourteen days prior to the hearing, the parties shall submit a Joint Status Report, which shall discuss the status of Defendant's appeal of the award of attorneys' fees.

III. Conclusion

Based upon the foregoing, the Motion is GRANTED. Within seven days of the hearing, Plaintiff shall submit a (1) proposed order granting the Motion and (2) a proposed judgment. (Pursuant to the separate document rule, set forth in Civil Rule 58, both a proposed order and a proposed judgment are required.)

"Defendant," and together with the Plaintiffs, the "Parties") on their claim under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(4) (the "Motion"), this Court issued a tentative ruling detailing the procedural history of this case and providing a summary of relevant pleadings [Doc. No. 41] (the "October 2, 2018 Ruling").

As set forth in more detail in the October 2, 2018 Ruling, the Court continued the matter for further briefing on the issues of: (1) whether an express or statutory trust existed; and (2) whether Defendant was acting in a fiduciary capacity within the narrow meaning of § 523(a)(4).

On November 5, 2018, this Court entered an Order (1) Requiring Plaintiff to Show Cause Why This Action Should Not be Dismissed for Failure to Prosecute and (2) Vacating November 6, 2018 Continued Hearing on Plaintiffs' Motion for Summary Judgment [Doc. No. 44] (the "OSC") after finding that Plaintiffs had failed to timely file supplemental briefing by the date set forth in the October 2, 2018 Ruling. On November 28, 2018, Plaintiffs and Defendant submitted declarations responding to the Court's OSC [Doc. No. 48 and 49]. Based upon this Court's review of those pleadings, the Court entered an Order Continuing Hearing on Order to Show Cause From December 12, 2018, at 10:00 A.M. to January 23, 2019 at 10:00 A.M. [Doc. No. 50].

On January 2, 2019, Plaintiffs filed a timely supplemental brief [Doc. No. 52] (the "Supplemental Brief"). Plaintiffs make two additional arguments in support of their contention that an express trust existed within the meaning of § 523(a)(4). Plaintiffs argue for the first time that Delaware, rather than California, law applies in determining whether the requisite trust relationship existed and whether there was a fiduciary relationship between Plaintiffs and the Defendant within the meaning of § 523(a)(4). In support of this argument, Plaintiffs cite Matter of Reading Co., 711 F.2d 509, 517 (3d. Cir. 1983), but do not include any further analysis or authority on this point.

Next, applying California law, Plaintiffs contend that an "Agreement" dated May 5, 2009 between the Parties created an express trust because it described the nature, extent and restrictions of Plaintiffs' investment [Supplemental Brief, Ex. 1] (the "Agreement"). Therefore, Plaintiffs conclude that by the terms of the Agreement, the Defendant had a fiduciary duty to protect the investment funds of Friendgiftr and use them only as described in the Agreement. Plaintiffs state that the LASC has already found that Defendant used the investment monies for expenses that were not authorized by the Agreement. Accordingly, Plaintiffs submit that they are entitled to summary adjudication on their § 523(a)(4) claim.

In the alternative, Plaintiffs request leave to amend their Complaint pursuant to Rule 15 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure to include a claim for embezzlement under § 523(a)(4). Plaintiffs state that their original attorney drafted the Complaint but, apparently believing Plaintiffs did not have a viable claim for embezzlement, did not include that claim in the Complaint. However, with the advice of new counsel, Plaintiffs now believe that the LASC's findings support a claim for embezzlement against the Defendant.

On January 8, 2019, Defendant filed a timely supplemental opposition [Doc. No. 53] (the "Supplemental Opposition"). Among other things, Defendant raises a number of issues with respect to the authenticity and validity of the Agreement (¶¶ 5, 6), the amount of damages Plaintiffs seek (¶ 7), contends that California law applies based on Defendant's assertion that Friendgift was a California corporation during his entire tenure (¶¶ 8-10), opposes Plaintiffs' request for leave to amend and denies Plaintiffs' assertion that he would be liable under a theory of embezzlement (¶12). Defendant also raises a number of arguments unrelated to the issues presently before this Court which the Court will not summarize.

On January 16, 2019, Plaintiffs filed a timely supplemental reply [Doc. No. 54] (the "Supplemental Reply"). Plaintiffs respond to Defendant's contention that Friendgift is a California corporation by attaching a Certificate of Merger reflecting a merger between the California corporation and the Delaware corporation on November 23, 2010. Supplemental Reply, Ex. 2. Plaintiffs reiterate their contention that because Friendgift is currently a Delaware corporation, the Court should look to Delaware corporate law in determining whether the Agreement created an express trust. Plaintiffs contend that Defendant's Supplemental Opposition does not deny that Defendant owed certain fiduciary duties or that the Agreement created an express trust. Therefore, Plaintiffs request that the Court grant their motion and enter judgment in their favor.

Chapter 7

A. The OSC is Discharged

In view of Plaintiffs' timely submission of the Supplemental Briefing described above, the Court's Order to Show Cause [Doc. No. 44] is discharged.

B. Plaintiffs Have Not Established That An Express or Technical Trust Existed or That Defendant Was Acting in a Fiduciary Capacity Under Applicable Law

The Court's October 2, 2018 Ruling contains a summary of applicable law with respect to a motion for summary judgment and application of collateral estoppel and, accordingly, will not be repeated here.

Section 523(a)(4) excepts from discharge a debt "for fraud or defalcation while acting in a fiduciary capacity." 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(4). To prevail on a nondischargeability claim under § 523(a)(4) the plaintiff must prove: "1) an express trust existed, 2) the debt was caused by fraud or defalcation, and 3) the debtor acted as a fiduciary to the creditor at the time the debt was created." Mele v. Mele (In re Mele), 501 B.R. 357, 363 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2013) (quoting Otto v. Niles, 106 F.3d 1456, 1459 (9th Cir. 1997)). Plaintiff must show "not only the debtor's fraud or defalcation, but also that the debtor was acting in a fiduciary capacity when the debtor committed the fraud or defalcation." Honkanen v. Hopper (In re Honkanen), 446 B.R. 373, 378 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2011) (citations omitted).

"Although federal law governs the determination of whether a person or entity is a 'fiduciary,' courts considering dischargeability under § 523(a)(4) have looked to state law to evaluate the presence of a technical trust relationship barring the discharge of a debt under § 523(a)(4)." Tri Supply & Equip., Inc. v. Brady (In re Brady), 458 B.R. 814, 820 (Bankr. D. Del. 2011); see also Crowe v. Moran (In re Moran), 413 B.R. 168, 185 (Bankr. D. Del. 2009). As the Bankruptcy Court explained in Moran:

The qualification that the debtor be acting in a fiduciary capacity has consistently, since its appearance in the Act of 1841, been limited in its application to what may be described as technical or express trusts, and not to trusts ex maleficio that may be imposed because of the very act of wrongdoing out of which the contested debt arose. Thus, an exception to discharge cannot be based upon a constructive or implied trust. The Trust must have existed prior to the wrongdoing from which the debt arose.

Although federal law governs the determination of whether a person or entity is a ‘fiduciary,’ courts have found that the existence of a state statute or common law doctrine imposing trust-like obligations on a party may, at least in some circumstances, be sufficient to create a technical trust relationship that bars the discharge of a debt under section 523(a)(4). For purposes of section 523(a)(4), the applicable state law creating a fiduciary relationship must clearly outline the fiduciary duties and identify the trust property; if state law does not clearly and expressly impose trust-like obligations on a party, the court should not assume that such duties exist and should not find that there was a fiduciary relationship.

In re Moran, 413 B.R. at 185-86 (internal citations omitted) (emphasis added).

In their Supplemental Briefing Plaintiffs now assert that because Friendgift is a Delaware corporation, this Court must apply Delaware law to determine whether an express or technical trust existed. Because Defendant has had an opportunity to respond to this argument, the Court finds it appropriate to address this issue.

As discussed in the Ninth Circuit Bankruptcy Appellate Panel’s decision in Plyam v. Precision Dev., LCC (In re Plyam), the law under which a corporate agreement arose or by which it is governed applies in determining whether an express or technical trust existed for purposes of § 523(a)(4). Defendant contends that during his tenure Friendgift was a California corporation and, therefore, that California law should apply.

The determination of whether Friendgift was a California or Delaware Corporation when Defendant breached his fiduciary duties is a question of fact. However, such a determination is not material for purposes of this motion because the outcome is the same under either state’s laws. This Court has already addressed Plaintiffs’ failure to demonstrate that Defendant’s conduct gave rise to an express trust such that he was acting in a fiduciary capacity under California law in its October 2, 2018 Ruling:

The Court notes that the LASC found that ‘Defendant was co-CEO and co-President of the Board of Directors of Friendgift . . . and admit[ted] that he owed a fiduciary duty to Friendgift during the relevant times.’ Plaintiffs’ RFJN, Ex. 1. But the Ninth Circuit made clear in In re Cantrell that ‘under California law a corporate officer is not a fiduciary within the meaning of § 523(a)(4).’ 329 F.3d at 1128. The Cantrell court explained, “although officers and directors [under California law] are imbued with the fiduciary duties of an agent and certain duties of a trustee, they are not trustees with respect to corporate assets.’ Id. at 1126; see also Saccheri v. St. Lawrence Valley Dairy (In re Saccheri), 2012 WL 5359512, at * 11 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. Nov. 1, 2012), aff’d, 559 F. App’x 687 (9th Cir. 2015) (Rejecting argument that defendant was trustee for purposes of § 523(a)(4) based on the fact that defendant was ‘entrusted with the bank accounts’ and ‘had virtually ‘unlimited sway over them’’).

Doc. No. 41, p. 9. Plaintiffs Supplemental Brief does not add any new arguments or evidence to change the outcome if this Court were to apply California law.

As discussed below, this Court also finds that Plaintiffs have not established that an express trust existed under Delaware law within the meaning of § 523(a)(4).

1. Defendant’s Role as an Officer and Director of Friendgift Does Not Give Rise to an Express Trust Under Delaware Law

Plaintiffs cite a single case, Matter of Reading Co., 711 F.2d 509, 517 (3d. Cir. 1983), with the following citation: “[under Delaware law, corporate directors] stand in a fiduciary relationship to their corporation and its stockholders,” but provide no further analysis.

From this Court’s limited canvass of applicable Delaware law, it appears the mere fact that the Defendant was an officer and director of Friendgift does not give rise to an express trust. See e.g., Guth v. Loft, Inc., 5 A.2d 503, 510 (Del. 1939) (“Corporate officers and directors are not permitted to use their position of trust and confidence to further their private interests. While technically not trustees, they stand in a fiduciary relation to the corporation and its stockholders"). Furthermore, notwithstanding the Delaware Supreme Court's use of the term "express trust" in discussing corporate breaches of fiduciary duty in its seminal case Bovay v. H.M. Byllesby & Co., 27 Del. Ch. 381, (Del. 1944), it appears such imposition of an express trust arises because of, and not prior to, any wrongdoing:

Sound public policy requires the acts of corporate officers and directors in dealing with the corporation to be viewed with a reasonable strictness ... where they are required to answer for wrongful acts of commission by which they have enriched themselves to the injury of the corporation, a court of conscience will not regard such acts as mere torts, but as serious breaches of trust, and will point the moral and make clear the principle that corporate officers and directors, while not in strictness trustees, will, in such case, be treated as though they were in fact trustees of an express and subsisting trust

27 Del. Ch. 381, 409-410.

Therefore, without more, the fact that the LASC found that Defendant breached his fiduciary duties while acting as an officer and director of Friendgiftr is insufficient to establish the existence of an express trust within the meaning of § 523(a)(4).

2. Questions of Material Fact Exist as to Whether the Agreement Created an Express Trust

Plaintiffs also contend that the Agreement created an express trust because the terms of the Agreement satisfy the requisite elements for creation of an express trust [Note 1]. Furthermore, Plaintiffs assert that the LASC already found that the Defendant used Plaintiffs' investment money for expenses that were not authorized by the Agreement. Supplemental Brief, citing RJN Ex. 1, p.3:4-16, 23-26 and p.4:5-8.

There is no specific reference to the Agreement in the LASC's findings and it is not readily apparent that the LASC ever reviewed or considered the Agreement. Furthermore, certain terms in the Agreement raise triable issues of material fact regarding the validity and enforceability of the Agreement. For example, the first sentence of the agreement states "In consideration of the investment to be made by Investor, the following terms and conditions by and between Company and Investor shall be incorporated into appropriate existing and future documents to give them full force and effect." Supplemental Brief, Ex. 1 (emphasis added). Paragraph 17 on page 3 states "This Agreement and all proposed agreements are not binding on Company and Investor until all final documents reflecting Investor's Investment are fully executed by all parties." Id. Finally, the last paragraph of the Agreement states: "Upon receipt of this Agreement properly executed, we will execute it, and return a copy to you for your records. Following that, we will engage a legal representative in California to prepare the appropriate documents memorializing our Agreement." Id.

Additionally, Defendant appears to raise triable issues of fact concerning the authenticity and enforceability of the Agreement and Plaintiffs have not presented evidence demonstrating that Defendant is precluded from raising these challenges to the Agreement. E.g. see Supplemental Opposition, ¶ 5 ("Exhibit 1' Plaintiff has attached in their declaration is falsified. In particular, the document shows strikingly bright blue ink from Plaintiff ('May 5, 2009' and their signature) and dark black ink from others ink on document (which for a supposedly 10 year old document is highly unusual)").

Therefore, Plaintiffs have failed to establish as a matter of law that an express trust existed.

Based on the foregoing, Plaintiffs request for entry of judgment in their favor under § 523(a)(4) is denied.

C. Plaintiffs' Request For Leave to Amend is Denied

Plaintiffs seek leave to amend pursuant to Civil Rule 15. However, because the Court has entered a Scheduling Order [Doc. No. 15], the Plaintiffs' request for leave to amend is governed by both Civil Rules 16 and 15. As the Ninth Circuit has held, "[o]nce the ... court has filed a pretrial scheduling order pursuant to [Civil Rule] 16 ... that rule's standards [control]" with respect to a request for leave to amend. See Johnson v. Mammoth Recreations, Inc., 975 F.2d 604, 608 (9th Cir. 1992). Civil Rule 16(b)(4) provides that a scheduling order "shall not be modified except upon a showing of good cause and by leave of the ... judge." Civil Rule 16's "good cause" standard "primarily considers the diligence of the party seeking the amendment. The ... court may modify the pretrial schedule 'if it cannot reasonably be met despite the diligence of the party seeking the extension.'" Johnson, 975 F.2d at 609.

If the Plaintiffs can demonstrate "good cause" under Civil Rule 16, the Plaintiffs must then show that amendment is also appropriate under Civil Rule 15. See Johnson, 975 F.2d at 609 (explaining that the "party seeking to amend [the] pleading after [the] date specified in [the] scheduling order must first show 'good cause' for amendment under Rule 16(b), then, if 'good cause' be shown, the party must demonstrate that amendment was proper under Rule 15").

The only basis for Plaintiffs' request for leave to amend is that their original counsel did not believe they had a viable embezzlement claim under § 523(a)(4) and did not plead that claim in the Complaint, but now Plaintiffs believe they could succeed on such a claim under applicable Ninth Circuit law.

In this Court's view, regret over a poor strategic decision is not "good cause" to grant Plaintiffs leave to amend and Plaintiffs fail to cite any authority in which a Court determined this was "good cause" within the meaning of Civil Rule 16 (or Civil Rule 15). Furthermore, this case has been pending for fifteen months, since October 23, 2017, and this Court has already made several accommodations for the Plaintiffs. On this record, the Court does not find that Plaintiffs have acted diligently in seeking to amend their complaint.

Having determined that the Plaintiffs have not shown "good cause" under Civil Rule 16 with respect to the request for leave to amend, it is unnecessary to consider whether the Plaintiffs have satisfied Civil Rule 15.

Therefore, Plaintiffs request for leave to amend is denied.

D. The Court Sets New Pretrial Conference and Trial Dates

The Court previously vacated the Pretrial Conference and trial dates and ordered Plaintiff to file the motion for summary judgment. By separate order, the Court will set new Pretrial Conference and trial dates. The Pretrial Conference shall take place on May 14, 2019, at 11:00 a.m. Trial shall take place during the week of May 28, 2019. The exact date of the trial will be set at the Pretrial Conference.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the OSC is discharged and the Motion is DENIED in its entirety.

After the hearing, the Court will prepare an order consistent with this tentative ruling.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Daniel Koontz or Jessica Vogel at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. If you wish to make a telephonic appearance, contact Court Call at 888-882-6878, no later than one hour before the hearing.

Note 1: Plaintiffs' Supplemental Brief tracks California law with respect to creation of a trust.

Under California law, "the essential elements of an express trust are (1) sufficient words to create a trust; (2) a definite subject; and (3) a certain and ascertained object or res." Banks v. Gill Distribution Ctrs., Inc. (In re Banks), 263 F.3d 862, 871 (9th Cir. 2001). Delaware law requires a similar, but not identical, showing: the "elements of an express trust are a competent settlor and trustee, intent, sufficient words to create a trust, an ascertainable trust res, certain ascertained beneficiaries, a legal purpose, and a legal term." In re Moran, 413 B.R. at 186. This Court again finds that it need not determine whether to apply California or Delaware law because, as set forth above, material questions of fact exist that prevent this Court from entering judgment in Plaintiffs' favor.

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

1/22/2019

The involuntary petition is DISMISSED for the reasons set forth below.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Involuntary Petition Against a Non-Individual [Doc. No. 1]
- 2) Summons and Notice of Status Conference in an Involuntary Bankruptcy Case [Doc. No. 3]

The Petitioning Creditor has failed to file a proof of service establishing that the Summons, Notice of Status Conference, and Involuntary Petition were served upon the Alleged Debtor. The Summons issued to the Petitioning Creditor clearly informs the Petitioning Creditor of the obligation to serve the Summons, Notice of Status Conference, and Involuntary Petition upon the Alleged Debtor. The Summons further advises the Petitioning Creditor that failure to properly effectuate service may result in dismissal of the involuntary petition.

Local Bankruptcy Rule 1010-1 provides in relevant part: "The court may dismiss an involuntary petition without further notice and hearing if the petitioner fails to ... (c) serve the summons and petition within the time allowed by FRBP 7004; (d) file a proof of service of the summons and petition with the court; or (e) appear at the status conference set by the court."

Based upon the foregoing, the involuntary petition is DISMISSED. The Court will prepare and enter an appropriate order.

Docket 93

Tentative Ruling:

1/22/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Motion is GRANTED in its entirety.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed

1. Debtors' and Debtors-In-Possession's Motion for Substantive Consolidation of Jointly Administered Cases [Doc. No. 93] (the "Motion")
2. Declaration of Charles DeBus in Support of Debtors' and Debtors-In-Possession's Motion for Substantive Consolidation of Jointly Administered Cases [Doc. No. 94] (the "DeBus Declaration")
3. Notice of Errata [Doc. No. 100]
4. Notice of Motion [Doc. No. 101]
5. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Debtors-in-possession, F.A.S.S.T., LLC ("FASST") and Los Angeles Training Center, LLC ("LATC," and together with FASST, the "Debtors") move to substantively consolidate their estates, such that the assets of and claims against both estates are treated as existing against only a single pooled estate.

The Debtors also request that any order granting the Motion be effective nunc pro tunc to October 5, 2018 – the date that LATC filed its chapter 11 petition (four days prior to FASST's October 9, 2018 filing). The Debtors submit that nunc pro tunc relief is appropriate because (1) the Debtors filed petitions for relief within four days of one another and there is unlikely to be an substantial undue prejudice resulting from the court granting nunc pro tunc relief; (2) it would reduce the administrative costs in preventing creditors from stating that possible fraudulent transfers or preferences were received from FASST instead of LATC; and (3) it would simplify the administrative process altogether.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Substantive consolidation is a general equitable power of the Bankruptcy Court. The procedure combines the assets and liabilities of multiple estates into a single pooled estate, and is used to avoid prejudice to creditors who have dealt with multiple entities as a single entity. In the Ninth Circuit, substantive consolidation is appropriate where (1) creditors dealt with the entities as a single economic unit and did not rely on their separate identity in extending credit or where (2) the affairs of the debtors are so entangled that consolidation would benefit all creditors. Alexander v. Compton (In re Bonham), 229 F.3d 750 (9th Cir. 2000).

Here, both prongs of the Bonham test are satisfied. As detailed in the Declaration of Charles DeBus, the Debtors' managing member, creditors have generally dealt with the Debtors as a single economic unit, did not rely on their separate identity in extending credit, and the affairs of the Debtors' are inextricably entangled. Consolidation benefits all creditors by increasing the distribution they will receive on account of their claims. Treatment of two estates as a single estate will reduce administrative costs and thus increase all creditors' recovery.

Additionally, the Debtors' stated reasons for seeking nunc pro tunc relief are appropriate. Bonham, 229 F.3d at 765 (internal citations omitted) ("bankruptcy courts have sanctioned the substantive consolidation of two or more entities nunc pro tunc in order to allow a trustee or creditors to attach fraudulent transfers or avoidable preferences made by the debtor or consolidated entities as of the date of filing of the initial bankruptcy petition").

For the reasons set forth above, the Motion is GRANTED in its entirety.

The Debtors are directed to lodge a conforming proposed order, incorporating this

fr. 9-24-18

Docket 10

 VACATED  REASON: CONTINUED 4-1-19 at 10:00 A.M.

Tentative Ruling:

9/20/2018

For the reasons stated below, the tentative ruling is to DENY the R/S Motion without prejudice.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed

1. Notice of Motion and Motion for Relief from the Automatic Stay Under 11 U.S.C. § 362 (Real Property) (the "R/S Motion") [Doc. No. 10]
2. Trustee's Opposition to R/S Motion ("Trustee's Opposition") [Doc. No. 15]
3. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, Movant has not filed a reply.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Motion

Rogelio and Carol Gonzalez (together, the "Debtors") filed this voluntary joint chapter 7 case on July 16, 2018. On August 30, 2018, creditor Wells Fargo Bank, N.A. ("Movant") filed a "Motion for Relief From the Automatic Stay Under 11 U.S.C. § 362 (Real Property)" (the "R/S Motion") [Doc. No. 10] seeking relief from the automatic stay pursuant to §§ 362(d)(1) and (d)(2) with respect to real property located at 47 Oak Cliff Drive, Pomona, CA 91766 (the "Property"). Movant asserts that cause exists to grant it relief from stay under § 362(d)(1) because the Debtors filed a Statement of Intention that indicates the Debtors' intent to surrender the Property ("Statement of Intention"). See Motion, Exhibit 8.

Movant also asserts that cause exists to grant it relief from stay under § 362(d)

(2) because the Debtors have no equity in the Property and the Property is not necessary for an effective reorganization because this is a chapter 7 case. In support, Movant states that the total debt on the Property is $591,518.92 which is comprised of Movant's first priority deed of trust secured by a lien in the amount of $248,386.30 and approximately fifteen other liens securing an approximate indebtedness of $351,518.92. See Request for Judicial Notice, Doc No. 10, PDF p. 15. After factoring in 8% costs of sale ($49,384.64), Movant contends that the total debt exceeds the Property's $617,308 fair market value.

Opposition

On September 10, 2018, the chapter 7 trustee filed an Opposition to the R/S Motion [Doc. No. 15] ("Trustee's Opposition"). The Trustee requests that the Court deny the R/S Motion as follows. First, the Trustee contends that Movant has not established sufficient cause for relief from stay under § 362(d)(1) because (i) Movant is adequately protected by an equity cushion of $368,921.71 or 149%; and (ii) Debtors' Statement of Intention has no bearing on whether to grant Movant relief from stay because the Property is subject to administration by the Trustee pursuant to § 541.

Second, the Trustee contends that the Court should not grant Movant relief from stay pursuant to § 362(d)(2) because, using Movant's figures and assuming all the alleged liens are legitimate, the Debtors have approximately $17,402.78 in equity in the Property. [NOTE 1] Additionally, the Trustee states that he is currently evaluating the validity of the other asserted liens on the Property and requests an opportunity to try to negotiate with those creditors for a consensual sale that might provide some benefit to the estate or pursue a sale free and clear of some or all those interests.

Reply

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, Movant has not filed a reply.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1)

Under 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1), the Court shall grant relief if the movant's interest in the property is not protected by an adequate equity cushion. In the Ninth Circuit, "[a] 20% [equity] cushion has been held to be an adequate protection for a secured creditor." In re Mellor, 734 F.2d 1396, 1401 (9th Cir. 1984). Based on Movant's figures, the Court finds that Movant is adequately protected by a 149% equity cushion.

The Court also finds that the Trustee has the better argument with respect to Debtors' Statement of Intention.

Based on the foregoing, the Court finds that Movant is not entitled to relief from stay under § 362(d)(1).

Under 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2), the court shall grant relief from the stay if "(A) the debtor does not have any equity in such property; and (B) such property is not necessary for an effective reorganization."

Since this is a chapter 7 case, it is undisputed that the Property is not necessary for an effective reorganization. Therefore, the Court must only determine whether the Debtors enjoy any equity in the Property. Using Movant's figures and deducting costs of sale, Debtors' $100,000 homestead exemption, the Trustee's fees, and administrative claims, it appears unlikely that the Trustee will be able to administer the Property for the benefit of general unsecured creditors.

However, none of the purported junior lienholder filed a response to this R/S Motion. On balance, the Court is persuaded that it is premature to find that there is no equity in the Property given the relatively newness of this case and the lack of meaningful investigation by the Trustee into the validity of the junior liens.

III. Conclusion

The tentative ruling is to DENY the R/S Motion without prejudice.

The Trustee shall upload an appropriate order via the Court's Lodged Order Upload system within 7 days of the hearing.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Daniel Koontz or Jessica Vogel at

The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1) for cause to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to repossess or otherwise obtain possession and dispose of its collateral pursuant to applicable law, and to use the proceeds from its disposition to satisfy its claim. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. The Court takes judicial notice of the Chapter 7 Individual Debtor's Statement of Intention in which the Debtor stated an intention to surrender the vehicle to Movant.

This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. The 14-day stay prescribed by FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived. All other relief is denied.

Movant shall upload an appropriate order via the Court's Lodged Order Upload system within 7 days of the hearing.

No. 1153] (the "Sale Order")

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On August 31, 2018 (the "Petition Date"), Verity Health Systems of California ("VHS") and certain of its subsidiaries (collectively, the "Debtors") filed voluntary petitions for relief under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. On August 31, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the Debtors' motion for joint administration of the Debtors' Chapter 11 cases. Doc. No. 17.

On December 19, 2019, the Court conducted a hearing on the Debtors' motion for authorization to sell Saint Louise Regional Hospital ("St. Louise") and O'Connor Hospital ("O'Connor," and together with St. Louise, the "Hospitals") to the County of Santa Clara ("Santa Clara"). On December 26, 2018, the Court entered a Memorandum of Decision Overruling Objections of the California Attorney General to the Debtors' Sale Motion [Doc. No. 1146] (the "Sale Memorandum"). Among other things, the Sale Memorandum found that the Debtors were authorized to sell the Hospitals, free and clear of various conditions imposed by the Attorney General in connection with a 2015 restructuring transaction (the "Conditions"). On December 27, 2018, the Court entered an Order (A) Authorizing the Sale of Certain of the Debtors' Assets to Santa Clara County Free and Clear of Liens, Claims, Encumbrances, and Other Interests; (B) Approving the Assumption and Assignment of an Unexpired Lease Related Thereto; and (C) Granting Related Relief [Doc. No. 1153] (the "Sale Order"). The sale is currently projected to close on March 4, 2019.

On January 7, 2019, the California Attorney General (the "Attorney General") appealed the Sale Order. On January 9, 2019, the Attorney General filed a motion to stay the Sale Order pending appeal (the "Motion"), and filed an application seeking a hearing on the Motion on shortened notice (the "Application"). The Court declined to hear the Motion on shortened notice for the following reasons:

Chapter 11

The Application assumes that an emergency hearing on the Motion is necessary to prevent the California Attorney General's appeal of the [Sale Order] ... from becoming statutorily moot pursuant to § 363(m) of the Bankruptcy Code. Pursuant to the Asset Purchase Agreement, the transactions authorized by the Sale Order cannot close until after hearings on the Debtors' motions seeking authorization to modify and/or reject various collective bargaining agreements, which are scheduled to take place on January 30, 2019. Section 363(m)'s statutory mootness provisions are not triggered unless (a) the Attorney General fails to obtain a stay pending appeal (b) prior to the closing of the transactions contemplated by the Sale Order. See, e.g., Brown v. Ellman (In re Brown), 851 F.3d 619, 622 (6th Cir.), cert. denied sub nom. Brown v. Ellmann, 138 S. Ct. 328, 199 L. Ed. 2d 212 (2017) ("appeals from a bankruptcy court's decision to grant the trustee authority to sell certain property are moot if the appellant has failed to obtain a stay from the bankruptcy court's order and the trustee has already conveyed the property to a bona fide purchaser for value") (emphasis added). In the Court's view, the Attorney General's fear that his appeal of the Sale Order will become statutorily moot absent an emergency hearing on the Motion is not well founded.

Order: (1) Denying California Attorney General's Application for a Hearing on Shortened Notice and (2) Setting Hearing on Attorney General's Motion for Stay Pending Appeal for January 30, 2019, at 10:00 a.m. [Doc. No. 1226] (footnotes omitted).

Summary of Papers Filed in Connection with the Motion

In support of his contention that he is likely to prevail upon appeal, the Attorney General reiterates the arguments that he made in opposition to the Sale Motion. The Attorney General asserts that absent a stay pending appeal, he will suffer irreparable injury, based on the possibility that his appeal of the Sale Order may become statutorily moot. The Attorney General contends that the balance of hardships weighs in favor of a stay. According to the Attorney General, a stay will only minimally affect the Debtors by slightly delaying a distribution to creditors. Finally, the Attorney General asserts that a stay is in the public interest because it would allow him to continue enforcing the Conditions, thereby vindicating his policy and regulatory powers.

The Debtors oppose the Motion. The Debtors contend that the Attorney General is not likely to prevail upon appeal because he has not shown that the sale is subject to his review. The Debtors dispute the Attorney General's contention that he will suffer irreparable harm absent a stay. Richard Adcock, the CEO of Debtor VHS, testifies that if a stay pending appeal is granted, "the Sale will be in material danger of collapsing and not closing." Adcock Decl. at ¶6.

The Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors (the "Committee") opposes the Motion. The Committee contends that if the sale is not timely consummated, the likely outcome will be that the Hospitals will be shut down and the Debtors' estates liquidated.

In his Reply to the Oppositions submitted by the Debtor and the Committee, the Attorney General notes that Santa Clara has not made a legally binding commitment to provide various healthcare services required by the Conditions, which the Attorney General contends are essential. The Attorney General disputes the assertion that a stay will cause the sale to collapse.

II. Findings and Conclusions

At the outset, the Court addresses the Debtors' evidentiary objections to the Declaration of Deputy Attorney General Alicia Berry (the "Berry Decl."). The Berry Decl. summarizes actions undertaken by the Attorney General in connection with the imposition of the Conditions, including the retention of a healthcare expert who assisted in developing the Conditions. The Debtors object to the Berry Decl. as hearsay, arguing that the declaration is an effort to introduce the expert testimony of an unidentified healthcare expert.

The Court will consider the Berry Decl., but only for the purpose of providing background information relating to the imposition of the Conditions. Because the healthcare expert has not been identified and has not submitted a declaration, the Berry Decl. provides no evidentiary support for arguments regarding the effect of the Conditions on public health and safety.

Turning to the merits, the Attorney General's application for a stay pending appeal of the Sale Order is denied. Pursuant to Fed. R. Bankr. P. 8007(a)(1), the Court may issue a stay of a judgment, order, or decree pending appeal. In determining whether to grant a stay pending appeal, the Court considers the following four factors:

- (1) whether the stay applicant has made a strong showing that he is likely to succeed on the merits; (2) whether the applicant will be irreparably injured absent a stay; (3) whether issuance of the stay will substantially injure the other parties interested in the proceeding; and (4) where the public interest lies.

Nken v. Holder, 556 U.S. 418, 426 (2009).

As the Supreme Court has explained, a stay pending appeal

"is not a matter of right, even if irreparable injury might otherwise result." Virginian R. Co., 272 U.S., at 672, 47 S.Ct. 222. It is instead "an exercise of judicial discretion," and "[t]he propriety of its issue is dependent upon the circumstances of the particular case." Id., at 672–673, 47 S.Ct. 222; see Hilton, supra, at 777, 107 S.Ct. 2113 ("[T]he traditional stay factors contemplate individualized judgments in each case"). The party requesting a stay bears the burden of showing that the circumstances justify an exercise of that discretion....

The first two factors of the traditional standard are the most critical. It is not enough that the chance of success on the merits be "better than negligible." ... By the same token, simply showing some "possibility of irreparable injury," Abbassi v. INS, 143 F.3d 513, 514 (C.A.9 1998), fails to satisfy the second factor.

Id. at 433–35.

To be entitled to a stay pending appeal, the moving party must make a "minimum permissible showing" with respect to each of the four factors. Leiva-Perez v. Holder, 640 F.3d 962, 965 (9th Cir. 2011). Provided the moving party meets a minimum threshold as to each factor, the Court may "balance the various stay factors once they are established." Id. at 965. Under this balancing approach, a stronger showing of irreparable harm can offset a weaker showing of likelihood of success on the merits, and vice versa—provided that the minimum threshold with respect to each factor has been established. Id. at 965–66; see also id. at 964 ("Petitioner must show either a probability of success on the merits and the possibility of irreparable injury, or that serious legal questions are raised and the balance of hardships tips sharply in petitioner's favor. These standards represent the outer extremes of a continuum, with the relative hardships to the parties providing the critical element in determining at what point on the continuum a stay pending review is justified.").

1. Likelihood of Success on the Merits

As the Ninth Circuit has explained:

The first showing a stay petitioner must make is "a strong showing that he is likely to succeed on the merits." Id. at 1761 (quoting Hilton, 481 U.S. at 776, 107 S.Ct. 2113) (quotation marks omitted). There is some uncertainty as to the exact degree of likely success that stay petitioners must show, due principally to the fact that courts routinely use different formulations to describe this element of the stay test. What is clear, however, is that to justify a stay, petitioners need not demonstrate that it is more likely than not that they will win on the merits....

There are many ways to articulate the minimum quantum of likely success necessary to justify a stay—be it a "reasonable probability" or "fair prospect," as Hollingsworth, 130 S.Ct. at 710, suggests; "a substantial case on the merits," in Hilton's words, 481 U.S. at 778, 107 S.Ct. 2113; or, as articulated in Abbassi, 143 F.3d at 514, that "serious legal questions are raised." We think these formulations are essentially interchangeable, and that none of them demand a showing that success is more likely than not. Regardless of how one expresses the requirement, the idea is that in order to justify a stay, a petitioner must show, at a minimum, that she has a substantial case for relief on the merits.

Leiva-Perez, 640 F.3d at 967–68.

The Attorney General has failed to demonstrate that he is likely to succeed on the merits. The Sale Memorandum set forth in detail the Court's reasons for overruling the Attorney General's opposition to the Sale Motion. In the instant Motion, the Attorney General reiterates arguments previously rejected by the Court. The Attorney General does not present any new arguments showing that reconsideration of the findings contained in the Sale Memorandum is warranted.

Of particular significance is the Attorney General's inability to identify any specific provision of California law that provides him with either authority to review the sale, or authority to insist that the Conditions continue to apply subsequent to the sale. In the Sale Memorandum, the Court explained why the Attorney General lacked the ability to review the sale under Cal. Corp. Code §§ 5914–30. See Sale Memorandum at 9–11. The Court then noted that the Attorney General had not identified any specific provision of California law establishing his authority to review the sale. Id. The Attorney General still has not identified any specific statutory provision that establishes his authority to review the sale.

2. Irreparable Injury

The Attorney General argues that he will be irreparably injured absent a stay because the closing of the sale, in conjunction with the Court's finding that Santa Clara is a good-faith purchaser within the meaning of § 363(m), will render an appeal moot. As a result, the Attorney General argues, he will be unable to obtain appellate review of an important issue affecting the welfare of the people of California.

Outside the bankruptcy context, the Ninth Circuit has held that the certainty that an appeal will become moot is enough to constitute irreparable injury. See Artukovic v. Rison, 784 F.2d 1354, 1356 (9th Cir.1986). However, within bankruptcy, a majority of courts have concluded that mootness does not demonstrate irreparable injury. See, e.g., Ohanian v. Irwin (In re Irwin), 338 B.R. 839, 853 (E.D. Cal. 2006) ("It is well settled that an appeal being rendered moot does not itself constitute irreparable harm"); In re Red Mountain Mach. Co., 451 B.R. 897, 908-09 (Bankr. D. Ariz. 2011) (internal citations omitted) ("[T]he law is clear in the Ninth Circuit that irreparable injury cannot be shown solely from the possibility that an appeal may be moot"); In re Convenience USA, Inc., 290 B.R. 558, 563 (Bankr. M.D.N.C. 2003) (stating that "a majority of the cases which have considered the issue have found that the risk that an appeal may become moot does not, standing alone, constitute irreparable injury" and citing cases).

This Court addressed the Attorney General's motion for a stay pending appeal in In re Gardens Reg'l Hosp. & Med. Ctr., Inc., 567 B.R. 820, 831-32 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2017), appeal dismissed, No. 2:16-BK-17463-ER, 2018 WL 1229989 (C.D. Cal. Jan. 19, 2018). On the facts presented in Gardens, the Court found that the likelihood of mootness did amount to irreparable harm, although it found the question to be a close one. Id. The Court explained that the "inquiry is complicated in this case by the fact that the Attorney General seeks review of an important issue of state law that will likely recur in future bankruptcy cases." Id.

As set forth above, despite having been provided multiple opportunities to do so, the Attorney General still has not identified the specific statutory provision establishing his authority to review the sale or to insist upon continued applicability of the Conditions. The legal arguments raised by the Attorney General here are far weaker than the arguments presented in Gardens. Given the lack of merit in the Attorney General's arguments, the Court finds that the likelihood of mootness does not constitute irreparable injury.

3. Balance of the Hardships

The injury to the Debtors and to other stakeholders resulting from issuance of a stay will be substantially greater than the injury to the Attorney General from denial of a stay. Richard Adcock, the CEO of Debtor VHS, testifies that if the Sale Order is stayed, “it is my opinion that the sale will be in material danger of collapsing and not closing.” Adcock Decl. at ¶6. Mr. Adcock’s testimony is corroborated by the testimony of Jeffrey Smith, the County Executive for the County of Santa Clara. Mr. Smith testifies that stay “would effectively terminate the [sale] Transaction.” Smith Decl. at ¶8.

The Debtors have expended significant resources in reliance upon the Sale Order. More than 100 people have been working with representatives of Santa Clara County to effectuate the transfer of the Hospitals’ operations. Id. at ¶7. Among other things, the parties have spent significant time preparing a Transition Services Agreement; transferring the Hospitals’ information technology functions to Santa Clara County; communicating with the public regarding the transition; conducting job fairs to facilitate the transition; attending to various accounting and financial management issues; and preparing legal documents necessary for the transition. Id. at ¶10. If the sale collapses, all of that work will have been wasted.

A stay of the Sale Order would harm employee morale at the Hospitals by creating additional uncertainty. Following entry of the Sale Order, 104 employees who worked at the Hospitals between September 4, 2018 and December 28, 2018 have left. Mills Decl. at ¶13. The uncertainty created by a stay could cause more employees to leave, further damaging the Hospital’s operations.

By contrast, denial of a stay will most likely result in the Attorney General being unable to obtain appellate review of the Court’s decision. This injury is less severe than the injuries that would be suffered by the Debtors and other stakeholders were a stay issued, because the Court has found that the Attorney General’s appeal is unlikely to succeed and does not raise serious legal questions.

4. Public Interest

The public interest weighs strongly against staying the Sale Order. The most probable outcome of a stay would be the collapse of the sale. If the sale collapsed, there is a strong possibility that the Debtors would lack sufficient funds to maintain operations pending a sale to another buyer, and would be required to close the Hospitals. Closure of the Hospitals, even if it were temporary, would severely harm the public interest.

The Attorney General’s theory is that public health and welfare can be adequately protected only if he has the opportunity to enforce the Conditions. This argument overlooks the reality that enforcement of the Conditions would likely lead Santa Clara to withdraw from the sale. The Hospitals would then likely be closed for an extended period time until the sale to a new buyer could be consummated. Far from protecting public health and welfare, a stay would set in motion a series of events that, in all probability, would reduce the availability of healthcare services to the public.

#2.00 HearingRE: [12] Notice of motion and motion for relief from the automatic stay with supporting declarations REAL PROPERTY RE: 7424 Luxor Street, Downey, CA 90241 . (O, Christina)

Docket 12

Tentative Ruling:

2/1/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2) to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to foreclose upon and obtain possession of the property in accordance with applicable law. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. Since a chapter 7 case does not contemplate reorganization, the sole issue before the Court when stay relief is sought under 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2) is whether the Debtor has equity in the property. See, e.g., Martens v. Countrywide Home Loans (In re Martens), 331 B.R. 395, 398 (8th Cir. BAP 2005); Ramco Indus. v. Preuss (In re Preuss), 15 B.R. 896, 897 (9th Cir. BAP 1981).

The subject property has a value of $575,000 and is encumbered by a perfected deed of trust or mortgage in favor of the Movant. The liens against the property and the expected costs of sale total $583,850.91. The Court finds there is no equity and there is no evidence that the trustee can administer the subject real property for the benefit of creditors.

Docket 5

Tentative Ruling:

2/1/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1) to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to foreclose upon and obtain possession of the property in accordance with applicable law. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. Movant has established a prima facie case that cause exists, and Debtor has not responded with evidence establishing that the property is not declining in value or that Movant is adequately protected.

The subject property has a value of $1,740,000 and is encumbered by a perfected deed of trust or mortgage in favor of the Movant. Considering Movant's lien, all senior liens against the property, and the estimated costs of sale, there is an equity cushion of $178,363.08. There is some, but very little equity and there is no evidence that the property is necessary to a reorganization or that the trustee can administer the property for the benefit of creditors. Movant is protected by a 10.3% equity cushion in the property. The Ninth Circuit has established that an equity cushion of 20% constitutes adequate protection for a secured creditor. Pistole v. Mellor (In re Mellor), 734 F.2d 1396, 1401 (9th Cir. 1984); see Downey Sav. & Loan Ass'n v. Helionetics, Inc. (In re Helionetics, Inc.), 70 B.R. 433, 440 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1987) (holding that a 20.4% equity cushion was sufficient to protect the creditor's interest in its collateral).

Because the equity cushion in this case is less than 20%, the Court concludes that Movant's interest in the collateral is not adequately protected. This is cause to terminate the stay under 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1).

This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. The 14-day stay prescribed by FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived. All other relief is denied.

The Court notes that Debtor's case was dismissed on January 17, 2019. The Court vacates the dismissal for the limited purpose of entering an order on this Motion.

Movant shall upload an appropriate order via the Court's Lodged Order Upload system within 7 days of the hearing.

#1.00 HearingRE: [98] Motion to Reopen Case Motion to Reopen Adversary Proceeding to Enter Judgment; Memorandum of Points and Authorities; Declarations of John McDonnell and Adrian Chiang in Support Thereof.

Docket 98

Tentative Ruling:

2/4/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Motion is GRANTED in its entirety.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Motion to Reopen Adversary Proceeding to Enter Judgment [Doc. No. 98] (the "Motion")
 - a) Notice of Motion [Doc. No. 99]
- 2) Stipulation for Entry of Nondischargeable Judgment [Doc. No. 94]
- 3) Order Approving "Stipulation for Entry of Nondischargeable Judgment" [Doc. No. 95]
- 4) No Opposition to the Motion is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Plaintiffs MP Property Partners—Grapevine, LLC and MP Property Partners—90 Acres, LLC (the "Plaintiffs") move to reopen this adversary proceeding and move for the entry of judgment in their favor pursuant to a Stipulation for Entry of Nondischargeable Judgment [Doc. No. 94] (the "Stipulation") between Plaintiffs and Defendant. All prior proceedings in this action were heard by the Hon. Richard M. Neiter. Upon the filing of the instant Motion, the case was reassigned to the undersigned Judge.

Plaintiff and Defendant executed the Stipulation on April 2, 2014. Doc. No. 94. The material terms of the Stipulation are as follows:

- 1) Defendant shall pay Plaintiff the sum of $150,000 (the "Settlement Sum") over a period of ten years, with payments to be made monthly.

- 2) If a monthly payment is not received by the last business day of a month, upon ten days written notice to the Defendant, the entire remaining balance of the Settlement Sum shall be immediately due and payable. At that point, upon motion of the Plaintiffs attesting to the Defendant's default, final judgment against the Defendant shall be entered.

On April 21, 2014, Judge Neiter entered an Order Approving "Stipulation for Entry of Nondischargeable Judgment" [Doc. No. 95] (the "Order"). The proposed order on the Stipulation submitted by the Plaintiffs provided that the Court would retain jurisdiction to enforce the Stipulation until the terms of the settlement had been fully satisfied. The order entered by Judge Neiter modified the retention of jurisdiction language to provide that the Court retained jurisdiction "until the earlier of one year following the entry of this order and there is full satisfaction of the terms of the Judgment and the Stipulation." Order at 2. The adversary proceeding was closed on June 5, 2014, approximately fourteen months after entry of the Order approving the Stipulation.

According to Plaintiffs, Defendant has defaulted under the Stipulation, and owes Plaintiffs $112,175.00, plus attorneys' fees of $4,925.84 and costs of $266.27. Chiang Decl. at ¶¶5–6. Plaintiffs provided Defendant notice to cure the default on November 7, 2018. Motion at Ex. 4. Plaintiffs state that Defendant has failed to cure the default, and request entry of judgment against the Defendant in the total amount of $117,367.11. No Opposition to the Motion is on file.

II. Findings and Conclusions

The Court finds that it has jurisdiction to grant the relief requested. A Bankruptcy Court also has jurisdiction over "all civil proceedings arising under title 11, or arising in or related to cases under title 11." 28 U.S.C. §1334(b). The three types of jurisdiction conferred under 28 U.S.C. §1334(b) are known as "arising under," "arising in," and "related to" jurisdiction. "Arising under" jurisdiction exists if "the cause of action is created by title 11." Menk v. Lapaglia (In re Menk), 241 B.R. 896, 909 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1999). "Arising under" jurisdiction exists if "the cause of action is created by title 11." Menk v. Lapaglia (In re Menk), 241 B.R. 896, 909 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1999). In Canal Fin. Corp. v. Sarsenstone Corp. (In re Old Canal Fin. Corp.), 550 B.R. 519, 526 (C.D. Cal. 2016), the court found that it had arising under jurisdiction to reopen an adversary proceeding to interpret a judgment and related settlement agreement. The Canal Fin. court stated that it also possessed ancillary jurisdiction to interpret the judgment and settlement agreement. Id.

Here, the Court has both arising under and ancillary jurisdiction to interpret and enforce the Stipulation and the Order thereon. The Court finds that the language in the Order providing for a retention of jurisdiction only until one year following entry of the Order did not permanently divest the Court of jurisdiction. Instead, such language was intended to enable the Clerk of the Court to close the case after one year, so that it would not remain open for the full ten-year period during which payments were due under the Stipulation. Nothing in the Order prevents the Court from reasserting jurisdiction, and reopening the case, in circumstances such as those presented here.

Reopening the case, and entering judgment as requested by the Plaintiffs, is necessary to effectuate the treatment that the parties bargained for when entering into the Court-approved Stipulation. The Court notes that Defendant was advised by competent counsel when he executed the Stipulation. There is no dispute that Defendant has defaulted on his obligations under the Stipulation. The Stipulation provides that, upon Defendant's default, the Plaintiffs are entitled to entry of judgment for the unpaid portion of the Settlement Sum.

The Stipulation provides that "if any action at law or in equity is necessary ... to seek entry of Judgment as described herein, ... the prevailing Party shall be entitled to reasonable attorneys' fees, costs, and necessary disbursements in addition to any other relief to which said Party may be entitled." Stipulation at ¶17. Having reviewed the time entries setting forth the actions taken by Plaintiffs to collect the sums owed under the Stipulation, the Court finds the attorneys' fees of $4,925.84 and costs of $266.27 incurred by Plaintiffs to be reasonable.

Based upon the foregoing, the Motion is GRANTED in its entirety. The Court will reopen the adversary proceeding and enter judgment in favor of Plaintiffs in the amount of $112,175.00, plus attorneys' fees of $4,925.84 and costs of $266.27. Within seven days of the hearing, Plaintiffs shall submit (1) a proposed order reopening the adversary proceeding, which shall incorporate this tentative ruling by reference, and (2) a proposed judgment.

If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Jessica Vogel or Daniel Koontz at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Integrity Retail Distribution, Inc., (the "Debtor") filed this voluntary chapter 7 case on September 16, 2016 (the "Petition Date"). Carolyn Dye is the acting chapter 7 trustee (the "Trustee").

The Trustee has determined that there may be certain property of the Debtor's estate consisting of known or unknown assets or claims, which have not previously been sold, assigned, or transferred (the "Remnant Assets"). The Trustee believes potential unknown assets might include unscheduled refunds, overpayments, deposits, judgments, claims or other payment rights that would accrue in the future. [Note 1]. The Remnant Assets do not include: (a) cash held by the Trustee on behalf of the estate at the time of the Purchase Agreement in bank accounts earmarked for distribution to creditors and/or payment of professional fees, (b) any and all Goods

The Trustee has conducted due diligence and determined that the cost of pursuing the Remnant Assets will likely exceed the benefit that the estate would receive if the Trustee were to locate and administer any such assets.

Accordingly, the Trustee seeks an order authorizing her to sell the estate's interest in the Remnant Assets to Oak Point Partners, LLC, a Delaware limited liability company ("Buyer"), on the terms set forth in the asset purchase agreement (the "Purchase Agreement") attached to the Sale Motion as Exhibit A, for $6,000 (the "Purchase Price"). The proposed sale does not require the estate to pay any commissions, fees, or other costs of sale, except for the cost of filing and service the Sale Motion and related documents.

In connection with the sale, the Trustee requests entry of an order authorizing the sale free and clear of all liens, claims, interests, and encumbrances pursuant to §§ 363(b) and (f) and finding the Buyer to be a good faith purchaser pursuant to § 363(m). The Trustee also seeks approval of proposed bidding procedures set forth on page 3 of the Sale Motion. Finally, the Trustee requests a waiver of the fourteen-day stay under Bankruptcy Rule 6004(h).

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Section 363(b) of the Bankruptcy Code permits the trustee to sell estate property outside the ordinary course of business, subject to court approval. The trustee must articulate a business justification for the sale. In re Walter, 83 B.R. 14, 19–20 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1988). Whether the articulated business justification is sufficient "depends on the case," in view of "all salient factors pertaining to the proceeding." Id. at 19–20.

The Trustee has articulated sound business justification for the sale. The Trustee states that she is unaware of any Remnant Assets and believes that the cost of pursuing any Remnant Assets would likely exceed the benefit to the estate. Declaration of Carolyn Dye, ¶¶ 6-7. The Trustee further states that she believes the proposed sale is in the best interest of the estate because it will allow for an immediate infusion of $6,000 for the benefit of the estate for assets that the estate might not otherwise derive an economic benefit from. Id. at ¶ 8. Furthermore, the sale is subject to overbids to ensure that the assets are sold for the highest and best achievable price. The Trustee states that the proposed sale was negotiated at arm's length and in good faith.

The sale may proceed free and clear of all liens, claims, interests and encumbrances under § 363(f). Section 363(f) permits a sale of property "free and clear of any interest in such property of an entity other than the estate" if any one of the following conditions is met:

- (1) applicable nonbankruptcy law permits the sale of such property free and clear of such interest;
- (2) such entity consents;
- (3) such interest is a lien and the price at which such property is to be sold is greater than the aggregate value of all liens on such property;
- (4) such interest is in bona fide dispute; or
- (5) such entity could be compelled, in a legal or equitable proceeding, to accept a money satisfaction of such interest.

11 U.S.C. § 363(f).

The Trustee states that, to the extent that there are any interests that may be asserted in the Remnant Assets, one or more of the foregoing conditions have been satisfied. Although the Trustee does not identify which subsection of § 363(f) she believes would be satisfied, the Court finds that the fact that the Trustee is not aware of any Remnant Assets or whether any individual or entity holds an interest in such assets is sufficient to give rise to a bona fide dispute under § 363(f)(4) [Note 2].

The proposed Bidding Procedures are approved. In the event of an overbid that meets the proposed conditions a-e, the Court will conduct an auction in court concurrently with the hearing on the Sale Motion. Once the winning bidder is determined, the Court will take testimony to determine whether the winning bidder is entitled to the protections of § 363(m).

The fourteen-day stay under Bankruptcy Rule 6004(h) is waived.

2. Notice of Sale Motion [Doc. No. 24]
3. Notice of Sale of Estate Property [Doc. No. 25]

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Joseph J. Forman (the "Debtor") filed this voluntary chapter 7 case on October 26, 2018 (the "Petition Date"). Elissa Miller is the acting chapter 7 trustee (the "Trustee").

Through the Trustee's investigations, the Trustee learned that prior to the Petition Date the Debtor operated a convenience store on commercial real property located at 7515 East N. Avenue, Kalamazoo, MI [Parcel 39-07-33-455-055] (the "Property"). The Trustee is informed that the store closed prior to the Petition Date, but the Debtor retains an interest in the Property with an estimated fair market value of $50,000 - $75,000.

Chapter 7

The Trustee seeks an order authorizing a sale of the Property free and clear of liens, claims and interests under § 363(f) to the highest bidder at a live internet auction to be conducted on February 19, 2019 by LastBid Real Estate ("LastBid") on the terms and conditions set forth in the Online Real Estate Terms, a copy of which is attached to the Declaration of Elissa Miller (the "Miller Decl.") as Exhibit 1. The minimum proposed bid for the sale is $5,000 and the Property is being sold on an "as is, where is" basis with no warranties or representations.

The Trustee has concurrently filed a motion to employ LastBid as her auctioneer. See Doc. No. 21. Lastbid will market the sale by listing it on multiple online platforms. In exchange for its services, LastBid will charge a 10% buyer's premium to be paid by the buyer on top of their high bid. The Trustee also requests authority to reimburse LastBid its marketing expenses not to exceed $1,200.

In connection with the proposed sale, the Trustee requests the Court enter an order: (i) confirming the sale to the highest bidder at the auction (or the next highest bidder should the highest bidder not close); (ii) authorizing the Trustee to pay costs of sale, including a buyer's premium and up to $1,200 in costs due to LastBid, escrow fees, title fees and transfer taxes; (iii) authorizing the Trustee to pay the real property taxes; (iv) authorizing the Trustee to execute any and all documents that may be necessary to consummate the sale; (v) authorizing the Trustee to pay estimated taxes to the California Franchise Tax Board, if any; and (vi) waiving the fourteen-day stay prescribed by Rule 6004(h) of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file.

states that the costs of sale will be reasonable as the buyer's premium (broker's commission) will be paid by the buyer and that the sale will result in net equity for the estate. Miller Decl., ¶ 12.

The sale may proceed free and clear of all liens, claims, interests and encumbrances under § 363(f). Section 363(f) permits a sale of property "free and clear of any interest in such property of an entity other than the estate" if any one of the following conditions is met:

- (1) applicable nonbankruptcy law permits the sale of such property free and clear of such interest;
- (2) such entity consents;
- (3) such interest is a lien and the price at which such property is to be sold is greater than the aggregate value of all liens on such property;
- (4) such interest is in bona fide dispute; or
- (5) such entity could be compelled, in a legal or equitable proceeding, to accept a money satisfaction of such interest.

11 U.S.C. § 363(f).

The Court finds that the sale may proceed free and clear of all liens, claims and encumbrances pursuant to section 363(f)(2) because all interested parties received notice of the Sale Motion, did not oppose the motion, and are deemed to have consented to the sale. The Court also finds that the sale may proceed free and clear pursuant to section 363(f)(3) as to the only known lienholder, because based upon the Trustee's review of a Preliminary Title Report, the minimum sale price exceeds the only lien on the Property. Miller Decl., ¶ 12.

The Trustee is authorized to coordinate with LiveBid to conduct a live internet Auction of the Property on February 19, 2019, to execute any and all documents that may be necessary to consummate the sale, and to pay the costs of sale, including the buyer's premium and up to $1,200 to LastBid, escrow fees, title fees, transfer taxes, real property taxes, and any Franchise Tax Board fees.

To facilitate the sale, the fourteen-day stay prescribed by Bankruptcy Rule 6004(h) is waived.

#5.00 HearingRE: [870] Motion RE: Objection to Claim Number by Claimant Alhambra Park, LLC. Plan Administrator's Objection to Claim Scheduled for Alhambra Park, LLC; Declaration of Erin Gray in Support Thereof

Docket 870

Tentative Ruling:

2/4/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Plan Administrator's Claim Objection is SUSTAINED, and the Alhambra Claim is DISALLOWED in its entirety.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Plain Administrator's Objection to Claim Scheduled for Alhambra Park, LLC [Doc. No. 870] (the "Claim Objection")
 - a) Notice Objection to Claim [Doc. No. 871]
- 2) No Opposition to the Claim Objection is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

A. Background

Liberty Asset Management Corporation ("Liberty") commenced a voluntary Chapter 11 petition on March 21, 2016. From March 21, 2016 to January 29, 2017, the Hon. Thomas B. Donovan presided over this case. On January 30, 2017, the case was reassigned to the undersigned Judge. Doc. No. 325.

Liberty was a real estate investment company that bought and sold real property using a combination of its own cash, cash from investors, and bank loans. Real property acquired by Liberty was not titled in the name of Liberty or its investors, but instead was purchased in the name of various limited liability companies. At all times since its formation, Benjamin Kirk was Liberty's President, CEO, CFO, and sole shareholder. Mr. Kirk's primary role was soliciting investors for Liberty and identifying real properties for purchase and sale.

On June 18, 2018, the Court confirmed the First Amended Chapter 11 Plan of Liquidation Dated January 31, 2018 (the "Plan," and the order confirming the Plan, the "Confirmation Order"). See Doc. No. 609, Ex. A (the Plan) and Doc. No. 665 (the Confirmation Order). The Plan appointed Bradley D. Sharp as the Plan Administrator responsible for liquidating the assets of Liberty's estate.

B. The Alhambra Claim

According to the Statement of Information on file with the California Secretary of State, Alhambra Park, LLC ("Alhambra") is a California limited liability company with one managing member, Shumei Kam ("Kam"). Liberty's Schedule D provides that Alhambra holds an undisputed claim in the amount of $200,000 (the "Alhambra Claim"), secured by property located at 1020 S. Baldwin Avenue, Arcadia, CA (the "Baldwin Property").

C. The Sale of the Baldwin Property

On October 4, 2017, the Court authorized Liberty to sell the Baldwin Property to South Lake 12, LLC for $10 million. See Doc. No. 423 (the "Sale Motion") and Doc. No. 455 (the "Sale Order"). The Sale Order provided that the sale was free and clear of interests asserted by Shanghai Commercial Bank, Ltd., Blue Sky Communications, Huesing Holdings, LLC, and the Los Angeles County Tax Collector, with such interests to attach to the sale proceeds with the same validity and priority as they had prepetition. The Sale Order further provided that the sale was free and clear of all other interests.

The Sale Motion was served upon Kam, Alhambra's managing member, at her regular place of employment. Neither Kam or Alhambra objected to the Sale Motion. The Sale Order provides that "[t]hose holders of Interests against the Debtor, its estate, or any of the Property who did not object to the [Sale Motion] and the sale of the Property are deemed to have consented pursuant to section 363(f)(2) of the Bankruptcy Code." Sale Order at ¶S.

D. Summary of the Plan Administrator's Claim Objection

The Plan Administrator makes the following arguments in support of the Claim Objection:

Pursuant to § 1111(a), a claim is "deemed filed" if scheduled by the debtor, unless scheduled as disputed, contingent, or unliquidated. Alhambra is deemed to have filed a proof of claim based on Liberty's Schedule D, which listed Alhambra's claim and did not indicate that the claim was disputed, contingent, or unliquidated. However, even where the debtor schedules the claim, upon objection, it is the claimant's burden to establish the validity of its claim. See In re 333 Main, LLC, 2014 Bankr. LEXIS 2237, at *14–15 (Bankr. D. Conn. May 29, 2014) ("Scheduling a claim as undisputed in a chapter 11 case merely allows a proof of claim to be deemed file for purposes of the claims allowance process. The 'deemed filed' language of § 1111(a) does not eliminate the objection mechanism in the claims allowance process.... [U]pon the filing of the Claims Objections, the Schedule F Creditors would have the burden of proving the bona fides of their claims. To hold otherwise would allow those claims to be allowed by default.").

Alhambra has not carried its burden of showing that it holds a valid claim. The books and records that Liberty provided to the Plan Administrator contain no record of any liability to Alhambra, secured or unsecured. The Preliminary Title Report obtained in connection with the Sale Motion does not reflect a lien in favor of Alhambra on the Baldwin Property. The Plan Administrator does not have any information or documentation establishing an unrecorded lien.

Even if Alhambra had a lien of some sort, the Baldwin Property was sold free and clear of that lien. The Sale Order makes clear that the Baldwin Property was sold free and clear of all liens and interests, with only the interests of Shanghai Commercial Bank, Ltd., Blue Sky Communications, Huesing Holdings, LLC, and the Los Angeles County Tax Collector attaching to the sale proceeds. Furthermore, Liberty gave notice of the Sale Motion to Alhambra through Kam and it did not object; therefore, pursuant to ¶¶R and ¶¶S of the Sale Order, Alhambra is deemed to have consented to the sale free and clear of its alleged lien.

No Opposition to the Claim Objection is on file.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Under Bankruptcy Rule 3001(f), a proof of claim executed and filed in accordance with the Bankruptcy Rules—or a proof of claim that is "deemed filed" because it is scheduled by the debtor—constitutes prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claim. To overcome this presumption of validity, an objecting party must do one of the following: (1) object based on legal grounds and provide a memorandum of points and authorities setting forth the legal basis for the objection; or (2) object based on a factual ground and provide sufficient evidence (usually in the form of declarations under penalty of perjury) to create triable issues of fact. Durkin v. Bendor Corp. (In re G.I. Indus., Inc.), 204 F.3d 1276, 1280 (9th Cir. BAP 2000);

United States v. Offord Finance, Inc. (In re Medina), 205 B.R. 216, 222 (9th Cir. BAP 1996); Hemingway Transport, Inc. v. Kahn (In re Hemingway Transport, Inc.), 993 F.2d 915, 925 (1st Cir. 1993). Upon objection, a proof of claim provides "some evidence as to its validity and amount" and is "strong enough to carry over a mere formal objection without more." See Lundell v. Anchor Constr. Spec., Inc., 223 F.3d 1035, 1039 (9th Cir. 2000) (citing Wright v. Holm (In re Holm), 931 F.2d 620, 623 (9th Cir. 1991)). An objecting party bears the burden and must "show facts tending to defeat the claim by probative force equal to that of the allegations of the proofs of claim themselves." Holm, 931 F.2d at 623. When the objector has shown enough evidence to negate one or more facts in the proof of claim, the burden shifts back to the claimant to prove the validity of the claim by a preponderance of evidence. See Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039 (citation omitted).

Section 1111(a) provides that a proof of claim or interest is "deemed filed" if scheduled by the debtor, unless the claim is scheduled as disputed, contingent, or unliquidated. Because Liberty scheduled the Alhambra Claim and did not indicate that the claim was disputed, contingent, or unliquidated, the Alhambra Claim is deemed filed.

Section 502 requires the Court to disallow a claim that "is unenforceable against the debtor and the property of the debtor, under any agreement or applicable law for a reason other than because such claim is contingent or unmatured."

The Plan Administrator has presented facts sufficient to overcome the prima facie validity afforded to the Alhambra Claim, shifting the ultimate burden as to the claim's validity back to Alhambra. By failing to respond to the Claim Objection, Alhambra has failed to carry that burden, meaning that the Alhambra Claim must be disallowed.

As shown the Plan Administrator, the Sale Order clearly provided that the Baldwin Property was sold free and clear of Alhambra's lien, and did not contain any language providing that Alhambra's lien attached to the sale proceeds. Because Alhambra received notice of the Sale Motion through its managing member Kam and did not object, Alhambra is deemed to have consented to the sale, and cannot now challenge the effect of the Sale Order upon its alleged lien. As a result of the Sale Order, Alhambra at most holds an unsecured claim. However, as established by the Plan Administrator, Liberty has no records showing any liability to Alhambra, even on an unsecured basis. Therefore, the Court finds that Alhambra's claim must be disallowed in its entirety.

Based upon the foregoing, the Claim Objection is SUSTAINED and the Alhambra Claim is DISALLOWED in its entirety. The Plan Administrator shall submit an order

1. Notice of Motion and Motion for Order Approving Payment of U.S. Trustee Fees from Trust Account [Doc. No. 165] (the "Motion")
2. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Beach Dans, Inc. (the "Debtor") commenced a voluntary Chapter 11 petition on October 18, 2017. The Debtor's principal asset was a Denny's-franchised restaurant located at 601 Long Beach Blvd., Long Beach, CA 90802 (the "Restaurant"). On December 8, 2017, the Court approved the sale of the Restaurant for $1,010,000. See Doc. No. 57. The sale closed on December 28, 2017.

As of the preparation of the Motion, Debtor's counsel, Goe & Forsythe, LLP ("G&F"), was holding $207,230.82 in sales proceeds in its client trust account. G&F seeks authorization to pay quarterly fees to the United States Trustee (the "UST") for the fourth quarter of 2018. Fees of $4,875.00 were due by January 31, 2019.

No opposition to the Motion is on file.

#10.00 HearingRE: [176] Motion to Dismiss Debtor Debtor's Notice of Motion and Motion to Dismiss Chapter 11 Case and Make Final Distributions to Creditors; Memorandum of Points and Authorities and Declaration of Peter Yoon in Support Thereof with Proof of Service

Docket 176

Tentative Ruling:

For the reasons set forth below, the Dismissal Motion is GRANTED.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed

1. Debtor's Notice of Motion and Motion to Dismiss Chapter 11 Case and Make Final Distributions to Creditors [Doc. No. 176] (the "Dismissal Motion")
2. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Beach Dans, Inc. (the "Debtor") commenced a voluntary Chapter 11 petition on October 18, 2017. The Debtor's principal asset was a Denny's-franchised restaurant located at 601 Long Beach Blvd., Long Beach, CA 90802 (the "Restaurant"). On December 8, 2017, the Court approved the sale of the Restaurant for $1,010,000. See Doc. No. 57. The sale closed on December 28, 2017. Since that time, the Debtor has resolved and paid all secured, administrative and priority claims.

The Debtor has concurrently filed applications for final approval of professional and united states trustee fees. After payment of administrative claims, the Debtor will have approximately $44,896.14 in remaining funds that it can immediately disburse to general unsecured creditors on a pro-rata basis. As a result, the Debtor seeks authority to make those disbursements and an order dismissing this case pursuant to section 1112(b)(1) on the grounds that no further purpose would be served by keeping this case open.

No opposition to the Dismissal Motion is on file.

Chapter 11

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Section 1112(b)(1) provides, in relevant part:

[O]n request of a party in interest, and after notice and a hearing, absent unusual circumstances specifically identified by the court that establish that the requested conversion or dismissal is not in the best interests of creditors and the estate, the court shall convert a case under this chapter to a case under chapter 7 or dismiss a case under this chapter, whichever is in the best interests of creditors and the estate, if the movant establishes cause.

The Court finds that the Debtor has standing to bring a motion to dismiss, since it is a "party in interest" 11 U.S.C. § 1109(b). Based upon the representations of the Debtor that no further purpose would be served by keeping this case open, the Court finds that cause exists to dismiss this case under section 1112(b)(1).

The Debtor is authorized to make final distributions to creditors.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the Dismissal Motion is GRANTED.

The Debtor is directed to lodge a conforming proposed order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Daniel Koontz or Jessica Vogel at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. Pleadings Filed and Reviewed

2. Notice of Hearing on Debtor's Motion for Order Approving Rejection of Unexpired Copier Lease [Doc. No. 222]

4. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Debtor and debtor in possession, Sultan Financial Corporation (the "Debtor") filed this voluntary chapter 11 case on July 13, 2018 (the "Petition Date"). On November 12, 2018, the Debtor closed on the sale of substantially all of its operating assets to Aarons' Inc. As a result, the Debtor is in the process of winding up its business and seeking dismissal of this case.

To facilitate the wind-up process, the Debtor seeks an order authorizing it to reject its unexpired lease with Canon Financial Services, Inc. for a copier (the "Copier Lease"), effective December 20, 2018, pursuant to section 365(a). The Debtor states that it entered into the Copier Lease on March 24, 2015, and that the lease runs through March 23, 2020. The monthly rent payment is $247 plus tax. The Debtor submits that rejecting the Copier Lease will avoid the continuing imposition of administrative claims for rent or adequate protection against the Debtor's estate.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Under 11 U.S.C. § 365(a), a debtor in possession "may assume or reject any executory contract or unexpired lease of the debtor." 11 U.S.C. § 365(a). "A bankruptcy court's hearing on a motion to reject is a summary proceeding that involves only a cursory review of a [debtor's] decision to reject the contract." Durkin v. Benedor Corp. (In re G.I Indus.), 204 F.3d 1276, 1282 (9th Cir. 2000). "Specifically, a bankruptcy court applies the business judgment rule to evaluate a [debtor's] rejection decision." Id. A court should approve the rejection decision unless it finds that the debtor's conclusion that rejection would be advantageous is so "manifestly unreasonable that it could not be based on sound business judgment, but only on bad faith, or whim or caprice." Agarwal v. Pomona Valley Med. Grp., Inc. (In re Pomona Valley Med. Grp., Inc.), 476 F.3d 665, 670 (9th Cir. 2007) (internal citation omitted).

In light of the Debtor's sale of substantially all of its assets to Aaron's Inc., and efforts to wind-up this case, the Court finds that the Debtor has articulated a sound business judgment to reject the Copier Lease. Pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(h), Canon Financial Services, Inc., is deemed to have consented to the granting of the Rejection Motion.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the Rejection Motion is GRANTED and the Debtor is authorized to reject the Copier Lease as of December 20, 2018.

To facilitate the wind-up process, the Debtor seeks an order authorizing it to reject its unexpired lease with Pitney Bowes Global Financial Services LLC ("Pitney Bowes") for a postage meter, Contract #0030087380 (the "Postage Meter Lease"), effective December 21, 2018, pursuant to section 365(a). The Debtor states that it entered into the Postage Meter Lease on March 24, 2015. The Debtor submits that rejecting the Postage Meter Lease will avoid the continuing imposition of administrative claims for rent or adequate protection against the Debtor's estate.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

A. The Proof of Service Does Not Reflect Proper Service on Pitney Bowes

Bankruptcy Rules 6006(a), 9014(b) and 7004(b)(3) require the Debtor to serve the Rejection Motion on Pitney Bowes "to the attention of an officer, a managing or general agent, or to any other agent authorized by appointment or by law to receive service of process." Fed. R. Bankr. P. 7004(b)(3). The proof of service does not reflect service on Pitney Bowes as required by Rule 7004(b)(3). Although the Debtor served Pitney Bowes to the attention of "Customer Service Department," there is nothing in the record for this Court to conclude that service on the customer service department resulted in actual service on Pitney Bowes.

Accordingly, together with the lodging of an order granting the Rejection Motion, the Debtor is directed to file a declaration confirming that Pitney Bowes received actual notice of the Rejection Motion or demonstrating that its service on the Customer Service Department complies with Rule 7004(b)(3).

B. Lease Rejection

Under 11 U.S.C. § 365(a), a debtor in possession "may assume or reject any executory contract or unexpired lease of the debtor." 11 U.S.C. § 365(a). "A bankruptcy court's hearing on a motion to reject is a summary proceeding that involves only a cursory review of a [debtor's] decision to reject the contract." *Durkin v. Bendor Corp. I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Debtor and debtor in possession, Sultan Financial Corporation (the "Debtor") filed this voluntary chapter 11 case on July 13, 2018 (the "Petition Date"). On November 12, 2018, the Debtor closed on the sale of substantially all of its operating assets to Aarons' Inc (the "Aaron's Sale"). The total purchase price paid at closing went directly to Zions Bancorporation, N.A. dba California Bank & Trust ("CB&T") in partial satisfaction of its claim against the Debtor. As a result, the Debtor has no remaining assets other than: (a) approximately $474,550 in cash and receivables, and

(b) a right to receive contingent and unliquidated amounts from Millennium Insurance Company, Ltd. ("Millennium"). The amounts due from Millennium include payment for the Debtor's equity interest in Millennium, which would not be paid until all remaining open workers compensation claims have been satisfied or sufficiently reserved for, which the Debtor anticipates will occur in 2023 (the "Millennium Asset"). The amounts due from Millennium are subject to CB&T's security interest.

Based on the foregoing, the Debtor seeks an order dismissing this case. The Debtor states that its current financial condition and lack of any meaningful business or assets prohibits it from remaining in chapter 11 and preparing and soliciting a plan of reorganization. The Debtor further states that it is administratively insolvent and anticipates terminating the employment of its two remaining employees shortly. The Debtor attached a summary of its current financial position as Exhibit 1 to the Declaration of Randall C. Sultan. Accordingly, the Debtor submits that cause exists to dismiss this case.

Additionally, the Debtor asserts that dismissal, rather than conversion, is in the best interest of the estate and creditors. The Debtor contends that conversion to chapter 7 will not benefit creditors and will only result in reducing the estate's ability to pay existing administrative expenses.

CB&T filed a limited objection. CB&T states that as part of the Aaron's Sale, the Debtor committed to pay $300,000 at closing to CB&T provided that such payment did not render the Debtor administratively insolvent. CB&T acknowledges that the estate is administratively insolvent but contends that the Millennium Asset has an estimated current value of $650,000 and estimates the value of the Debtor's residual cash value of its equity interest could be as much as $400,000. CB&T highlights that the Debtor does not dispute that CB&T is entitled to all residual net cash of the estate, include the Millennium Asset. CB&T further states that it is engaging in ongoing discussions with Debtor's counsel to address and resolve these issues prior to the hearing on the Debtor's motion to dismiss. However, out of an abundance of caution, CB&T files this limited objection to preserve the issue respective its interest in the Millennium Asset. CB&T contends that the dismissal order should clearly indicate that CB&T is entitled to payment of the remaining funds with Millennium and directing Millennium to pay the payment directly to CB&T following the close of the respective claims period.

Chapter 11

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no reply is on file.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Section 1112(b)(1) provides, in relevant part:

[O]n request of a party in interest, and after notice and a hearing, absent unusual circumstances specifically identified by the court that establish that the requested conversion or dismissal is not in the best interests of creditors and the estate, the court shall convert a case under this chapter to a case under chapter 7 or dismiss a case under this chapter, whichever is in the best interests of creditors and the estate, if the movant establishes cause.

The Court finds that the Debtor has standing to bring a motion to dismiss, since it is a "party in interest" 11 U.S.C. § 1109(b). The Court further finds that the Debtor has established sufficient cause to dismiss this case pursuant to sections 1112(b)(4)(A) and (M) on the grounds that remaining in chapter 11 will result in continuing loss and diminution to the estate without a reasonable likelihood of rehabilitation because the Debtor is unable to propose, confirm or consummate a plan of reorganization.

On the record before it, the Court finds that no purpose would be served by converting this case to a case under chapter 7 and that, in fact, administrative claimants would be harmed by conversion. Accordingly, the Court finds it in the best interests of creditors and the estate to dismiss this case.

CB&T's limited objection is sustained. The Debtor does not dispute that CB&T holds a security interest in the Millennium Asset. Accordingly, the Debtor should include a provision in the dismissal order that preserves CB&T's interest in the Millennium Asset and directs payment to be made directly to CB&T.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the Motion is GRANTED and the case is dismissed.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On August 31, 2018 (the "Petition Date"), Verity Health Systems of California ("VHS") and certain of its subsidiaries (collectively, the "Debtors") filed voluntary petitions for relief under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. On August 31, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the Debtors' motion for joint administration of the Debtors' Chapter 11 cases. Doc. No. 17.

Debtors seek approval of procedures governing the sale of St. Francis Medical Center ("St. Francis"), St. Vincent Medical Center ("St. Vincent"), St. Vincent Dialysis Center ("St. Vincent Dialysis"), Seton Medical Center ("Seton"), Seton Medical Center Coastside ("Seton Coastside"), and related assets (collectively, the "Hospitals"). See Doc. No. 1279 (the "Bidding Procedures Motion"). Pursuant to an Asset Purchase Agreement (the "APA") dated January 8, 2019, Strategic Global Management ("SGM") has agreed to serve as the stalking horse bidder.

A. Proposed Bidding Procedures and Material Terms of the APA

Under the APA, the proposed purchase price is approximately $610 million (the "Cash Consideration"), with $420 million allocated to St. Francis, $120 million allocated to St. Vincent, and $70 million allocated to Seton and Seton Coastside combined, plus the payment of cure costs associated with the assumption and assignment of executory contracts and unexpired leases. APA at § 1.1(1)(i). The proposed breakup fee (the "Breakup Fee") is 3.5% of the Cash Consideration, or $21.35 million, plus reimbursement of reasonably documented costs and expenses in an amount not to exceed $2 million. SGM has made a good-faith deposit in the amount of $30 million.

The APA contemplates that the Debtors will seek the review and approval of the California Attorney General (the "Attorney General") as to the sale. If the Attorney General's review results in the imposition of certain types of conditions, SGM may terminate the transaction:

Purchaser [SGM] recognizes that the transactions contemplated by this Agreement may be subject to review and approval of the [Attorney General]. Purchaser [SGM] agrees to close the transactions contemplated by this Agreement so long as any conditions imposed by the [Attorney General] are substantially consistent with the conditions set forth in Schedule 8.6. In the event the [Attorney General] imposes conditions on the transactions contemplated by this Agreement which are not as set forth on Schedule 8.6 (the "Additional Conditions"), Sellers [the Debtors] shall have the opportunity to file a motion with the Bankruptcy Court seeking the entry of an order finding that the Additional Conditions are an "interest in property" for purposes of 11 U.S.C. § 363(f), and that the Assets can be sold free and clear of the Additional Conditions. If Sellers obtain such an order, from the Bankruptcy Court or another court, Purchaser shall have a period of 21 business days from the entry of such order to determine, in Purchaser's sole and absolute discretion, and in consultation with Purchaser's financing sources, whether to proceed to consummate the transactions contemplated by this Agreement. If Purchaser [SGM] determines not to proceed, Purchaser [SGM] shall have the right to terminate this Agreement and receive the return of its Good Faith Deposit.

APA at § 8.6.

Under the proposed bidding procedures, bidders may submit bids for a subset of the Hospitals (a "Partial Bid") or for all of the Hospitals (a "Full Bid"). If the Debtors receive one or more Partial Bids, they will conduct separate auctions of each asset or combination thereof (each, a "Partial Bid Auction"). The Partial Bid Auction(s) will be conducted at the Debtors' offices on April 8, 2019. If the Debtors receive one or more Full Bids, the Debtors will conduct the Full Bid Auction at the Debtors' offices on April 9, 2019. In the event that no qualifying bids are received, no auction will be conducted and SGM will be named the successful bidder.

The proposed bidding procedures authorize SGM to terminate the transaction if qualified Partial Bids are received but no qualified Full Bids are received:

If the Partial Bids do not include all four APA Facilities, and if there are no other qualified full bids, then Seller, in its discretion, will either choose (1) to have no auction and the Stalking Horse Purchaser will purchase the four APA Facilities pursuant to the Stalking Horse APA, or (2) if the Debtor and Consultation Parties deem the aggregate Winning Partial Bid(s) to be sufficient to warrant leaving one or more APA Facilities behind (the "Remaining Facility"), the Stalking Horse Purchaser shall have the option of (i) acquiring the Remaining Facility at the allocated price in the Stalking Horse APA, (ii) overbidding one or more of the Partial Bids, or (ii) terminating the Stalking Horse APA. In either event, the Stalking Horse Purchaser shall be entitled to the Break-Up Fee for all of the APA Facilities not acquired by the Stalking Horse Purchaser.

Bidding Procedures (APA, Schedule 6.1(b)(3)) at § II.H(b).

The APA requires that the Hospitals be transferred to SGM free and clear of collective bargaining agreements ("CBAs"), but expressly notes that the Debtors will not be in breach for failing to obtain any modification or rejection of an existing CBA. APA at §§ 1.7 and 4.7.

The proposed bidding procedures authorize the Debtors to employ and announce additional procedural rules at the auction, provided that the Debtors first consult with SGM, the Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors (the "Committee"), the Prepetition Secured Creditors, and any other party deemed appropriate within the business judgment of the Debtors. [Note 1]

B. Proposed Procedures Relating to the Assumption and Assignment of Executory Contracts and Unexpired Leases

The Debtors propose the following procedures with respect to the assumption and assignment of executory contracts and unexpired leases:

- 1) The Debtors will seek to assume and assign certain executory contracts and unexpired leases to be identified in the Purchase Agreements (collectively, the "Assumed Executory Contracts"). (For simplicity, as used hereafter, the term "executory contract" means an executory contract and/or an unexpired lease, as the context requires.)

- 2) The Assumed Executory Contracts will be those contracts and leases that the Debtors believe may be assumed and assigned as part of the orderly transfer of the Hospitals. The Successful Bidder(s) may choose to exclude (or add) certain executory contracts to the list of Assumed Executory Contracts, subject to further notice.
- 3) The Debtors will provide all executory contract counterparties notice of whether their contract is to be assumed and assigned to the Successful Bidder(s) within 48 hours of the conclusion of the Full Bid Auction. The Debtors, however, cannot give assurance that such notice will be irrevocable, as the Debtors cannot predict whether the Successful Bidder's transaction will be approved by the Court or will survive potential litigation with the Attorney General.
- 4) On March 5, 2019, the Debtors will serve a cure notice (the "Cure Notice") upon counterparties to the Assumed Executory Contracts. The Cure Notice will advise the counterparties of the date and time of the hearing to approve the sale of the Hospitals (the "Sale Hearing") (April 17, 2019, at 10:00 a.m.), as well as the deadline to object to the sufficiency of the Cure Amount (March 22, 2019, at 4:00 p.m.). The Cure Notice will further advise counterparties of the deadline to assert an objection to assumption and assignment, other than an objection based on the sufficiency of the Cure Amount (April 12, 2019, at 4:00 p.m.).

C. Proposed Significant Dates

The Debtors propose the following timetable with respect to the auction (all times are local prevailing time):

- 1) Service of Notice of Sale Hearing: March 1, 2019.
- 2) Service of Assumption and Cure Notice: March 5, 2019.
- 3) Deadline for Executory Contract Counterparties to Object to the Sufficiency of the Cure Amount (as to counterparties who were served the Assumption and Cure Notice on March 5, 2019): March 22, 2019, at 4:00 p.m.

D. Summary of the Objections Filed to the Bidding Procedures Motion and the Debtors' Replies in Support of the Motion

The objections to the Bidding Procedures Motion, and the Debtors' reply to each objection, are summarized below. (Certain objections have been resolved; only unresolved objections are discussed herein.)

1. Objections of the Committee and the Prepetition Secured Creditors [Doc. Nos. 1399, 1401, 1402, and 1460]

The Committee asserts that certain of the bidding protections afforded to SGM (the "Bid Protections") are not consistent with applicable precedent and market terms and practice, and will not yield optimal value for the estate. The Committee's specific objections are as follows:

- 1) The Breakup Fee of $21.35 million, or 3.5% of the Cash Consideration, is not necessary to garner SGM's participation in the auction. In 2014, the Debtors' predecessor attempted to sell the Hospitals. SGM, Prime Healthcare Services, Inc. ("Prime") and Prospect Medical Holdings, Inc. ("Prospect") all participated in the auction. Given the high level of interest exhibited in the 2014 auction, the 3.5% Breakup Fee is excessive. The Breakup Fee should be reduced to 3% of the Cash Consideration, or $18.3 million. The cases cited by the Debtors involving an equal or higher breakup fee are inapposite, because the transactions in each of those cases were much smaller.

Chapter 11

- 2) In the case of In re Promise Healthcare Group LLC, Case No. 18-12491 (CSS) (Bankr. D. Del. Dec. 4, 2018), SGM agreed that it was appropriate to limit the amount of a break-up fee. In that case, SGM argued that aggregate Bid Protections amounting to 5.4% of the nominal purchase price were excessive. SGM asserted that a 3% break-up fee was appropriate. Since a 3% break-up fee is all that SGM thought was necessary to facilitate the sale of the Los Angeles Downtown Medical Center in Promise Healthcare, no more should be necessary for SGM to serve as the Stalking Horse Bidder in this case.
- 3) The Bidding Procedures authorize SGM to terminate the transaction if Partial Bids are received but no Full Bids are received. SGM should be required to remain the Stalking Horse Bidder until the conclusion of the auction.
- 4) The Bidding Procedures do not require SGM to act as a Backup Bidder in connection with a sale of fewer than all four of the Hospitals. The Bidding Procedures should require SGM to serve as the Backup Bidder in the event of a Partial Bid Auction.
- 5) The Bidding Procedures require the Debtors to consult SGM with respect to any additional procedural rules employed at the auction. This consultation right gives SGM a greater voice regarding the conduct of the auction and could chill bidding, as other bidders might believe that SGM could tilt the rules in its favor.
- 6) SGM should not have the right to terminate the transaction if, in response to the imposition of additional conditions by the Attorney General, the Debtors seek and obtain an order authorizing the sale of the Hospitals free and clear of such additional conditions.

The Prepetition Secured Creditors assert substantially similar objections to the Bidding Procedures as the Committee.

The Debtors reply to the objections asserted by the Committee and the Prepetition Secured Creditors as follows:

- 1) The 3.5% Breakup Fee was necessary to incentivize SGM to perform the requisite due diligence to submit an opening bid and to enter into a binding contract and to secure financing for a $610 million transaction. SGM has agreed to purchase multiple hospitals, not just the most attractive ones, and has agreed to a significant cash purchase price.

CONT... Verity Health System of California, Inc. Chapter 11

- 2) The fact that SGM bid for the Hospitals in 2014 does not warrant a reduction in the Breakup Fee. While SGM may have been familiar with the Hospitals in 2014, the condition of the Hospitals has changed significantly over the past five years.
- 3) In connection with the sale of Saint Louise Regional Medical Center and O'Connor Hospital to the County of Santa Clara, this Court approved a 4% break-up fee. Other Bankruptcy Courts have approved break-up fees of 3.5% or higher. Hence, the 3.5% Breakup Fee sought here is reasonable.
- 4) There is no merit to the contention that SGM's termination rights are too broad or that SGM should be required to serve as the Backup Bidder in connection with a Partial Bid auction. These objections ignore that the Bidding Procedures were a result of an overall compromise on both sides to reach a deal. Parties cannot cherry-pick in isolation various provisions without opening up all of the Bidding Procedures to further negotiation.

SGM asserts that the terms of the APA, including the Breakup Fee, are appropriate. SGM emphasizes the enormously complicated nature of the Hospitals' businesses, and notes that the universe of prospective purchasers for such healthcare facilities, particularly facilities with a history of losses, is small. SGM contends that proceeding with the APA will produce optimal results for all stakeholders.

2. Objections of Entities Who Are Parties to or Benefit from Various Collective Bargaining Agreements with Certain of the Debtors [Doc. Nos. 1354, 1355, 1359, and 1395]

The International Union of Operating Engineers, Stationary Engineers Local 39 ("Local 39"), the Service Employees International Union, United Healthcare Workers-West ("SEIU-UHW"), the California Nurses Association (the "CNA"), and the United Nurses Association of California/Union of Health Care Professionals ("UNAC") are parties to collective bargaining agreements ("CBAs") with certain of the Debtors. The CBA currently in effect between the Debtors and Local 39 was entered into postpetition; all the other CBAs were entered into prepetition.

The Unions assert that the CBAs prohibit the Debtors from agreeing to the transfer of any of the Hospitals unless the purchaser is required to assume the CBAs. The Unions contend that the Debtors must first comply with the requirements of § 1113 before entering into an APA which contemplates the modification of the CBAs.

The Unions further contend that the proposed bidding procedures do not sufficiently incentivize prospective purchasers to assume the CBAs. According to the Unions, the Debtors should be required to provide a quantification of the bidding credit to any bidder who agrees to assume liabilities under the CBAs.

UNAC and CNA challenge the size of the Breakup Fee, raising many of the same arguments as the Committee. CNA asserts that the Breakup Fee is unnecessary given that the Hospitals were previously marketed in 2014.

Debtors dispute the Union's contention that they must obtain relief under § 1113 before proceeding with the sale. Debtors rely upon Local 211 v. Family Snacks, Inc., Official Unsecured Creditors' Comm. (In re Family Snacks, Inc.), 257 B.R. 884, 897 (B.A.P. 8th Cir. 2001):

When a debtor is selling on a going concern basis, the union urges, Ionosphere should not apply because the only meaningful time the court can make a decision on rejection is prior to the sale. We see no basis for such a distinction, unless it is to give the union veto power over a going concern sale which, as we know from experience, is often the best way to reap the greatest benefit for all creditors. Section 1113 was never intended to give unions such power. Its sole purpose is to keep a debtor from unilaterally rejecting a CBA and to plainly articulate the rules for going about rejection. If, as Ionosphere concluded, a debtor who is liquidating piecemeal should not be forced into Chapter 7 in order to preserve its assets for equitable distribution to all creditors, the same is true for a debtor who is selling its assets on a going concern basis.

Family Snacks, 257 B.R. at 897.

Debtors state that they have consistently expressed a preference to all potential buyers that they assume the existing CBAs. With respect to the Unions' request that the Debtors be required to quantify the credit to be afforded to bidders assuming the CBAs, Debtors state that they must be given broad discretion to select the highest and best bid in accordance with their business judgment. Debtors state that providing a specific valuation for the assumption of the CBAs would be unreasonable, burdensome, and bid-chilling, and contend that the provision of such information is unnecessary given the sophistication of the parties participating in the Auction(s).

3. Objection of the County of San Mateo and the Health Plan of San Mateo [Doc. No. 1361]

The County of San Mateo and the Health Plan of San Mateo (collectively, the "San Mateo Objectors") raise an issue with § 5.1(b) of the APA, which provides that SGM is permitted to meet and communicate with "applicable governmental and regulatory authorities regarding prospective compliance with regulatory requirements and related issues; so long as ... such communications and meetings do not interfere with the operation of the Businesses or the conduct of the Bankruptcy Cases and (ii) any communications or meeting with any governmental authority are approved in advance by Sellers [the Debtors] as to timing and content (and Sellers are copied on such communications and afforded the opportunity to participate in such meetings)." The San Mateo Objectors fear that such language could be construed to restrict the ability of SGM to communicate with the County on matters of interest to the County and its residents.

In response, the Debtors affirm that the restrictions and limitations set forth in § 5.1(b) on communications between SGM and governmental authorities are intended to apply only to communications regarding licensing or regulation of the Hospitals with the relevant licensing or regulatory authorities. Debtor state that the restrictions do not apply to communications involving SGM (or any other prospective buyers) and any governmental authority on subjects unrelated to licensing or regulation by that authority.

4. Objection of Hooper Healthcare Consulting LLC [Doc. No. 1397]

Hooper Healthcare Consulting LLC ("Hooper") provides consulting services to the Debtors to enable the Debtors to maximize their receipt of Hospital Quality Assurance Fees. Hooper asserts that its services have increased the Debtors' receipt of Quality Assurance Fees by $16.4 million over the past 2.5 years. Hooper receives a monthly consulting fee of $9,400 for its services, plus 3% of the increased Quality Assurance Fee receipts generated by Hooper's services, up to a maximum of $500,000 (the "Net Benefit Compensation"). According to Hooper, the Bidding Procedures Motion does not identify whether the Debtors or the successful purchaser is required to pay any Net Benefit Compensation that may come due in the future. Hooper further contends that procedures proposed by the Debtors do not provide it sufficient time to object to the assumption and assignment of its executory contract.

The Debtors maintain that Hooper's objection is premature. The Debtors state that once they have identified the Successful Bidder, they will provide Hooper with notice of how its Net Benefit Compensation will be treated. The Debtors assert that the procedures regarding assumption and assignment are standard for cases of this type and provide counterparties with a sufficient opportunity to protect their rights.

5. Reservation of Rights of MGH Painting Inc. [Doc. No. 1358] and Limited Opposition of Belfor USA Group, Inc. [Doc. No. 1364]

MGH Painting, Inc. ("MGH Painting") asserts a mechanic's lien in the amount of $225,000 against St. Vincent. MGH Painting reserves its rights to object at the Sale Hearing in the event it is not satisfied with the proposed treatment of its lien.

Belfor USA Group, Inc. ("Belfor") asserts a mechanic's lien in the amount of $250,733.03 against St. Vincent. Belfor opposes any sale of St. Vincent free and clear of its lien unless it is paid in full from the sale proceeds.

The Debtors assert that the objections of MGH Painting and Belfor are premature and are more appropriately addressed at the Sale Hearing.

6. Objection of Cigna [Doc. Nos. 1349 and 1459]

The Debtors are parties to various agreements with Cigna Healthcare of California, Inc. ("Cigna CA"), Cigna Health and Life Insurance Company ("CHLIC"), and Life Insurance Company of North America ("LINA," and collective with Cigna CA and CHLIC, "Cigna"). Customers of Cigna receive healthcare services pursuant to various Hospital Services Agreements between the Debtors and Cigna (such agreements collectively, the "Cigna Provider Agreements"). Under various short and long term disability policies (the "LINA Policies"), employees of the Debtors receive group disability benefits.

In its Opposition, Cigna requested that the Bidding Procedures Order contain the following language:

The Debtors shall, no later than the earlier of (i) one business day after the conclusion of the Auction, or (ii) thirty (30) days prior to the Closing Date, provide Cigna with written notice of its irrevocable decision as to whether or not the Debtors propose to assume and assign any or all of the Cigna Provider Agreements as part of the Sale.

Doc. No. 1349 at ¶12.

In their Reply, the Debtors stated that it was not possible to provide, by a date certain, an "irrevocable decision" regarding assumption and assignment, because the Debtors could not know whether the sale would be approved by the Court or would survive litigation with the Attorney General. Cigna filed a Sur-Reply, in which it contends that the Debtors' concerns could be resolved by the following language (additional provisions italicized):

7. Objection of UnitedHealthcare Insurance Company [Doc. No. 1351]

UnitedHealthcare Insurance Company ("UnitedHealthcare") provides health care insurance benefits through group medical policies, and has contracts with St. Francis, St. Vincent, and Seton. UnitedHealthcare requests that the Debtors provide notice of the contracts to be assumed and assigned at least 70 days before the Closing Date.

In Reply, the Debtors state that they will provide notice of the contracts to be assumed on April 11, 2019—two days after the Full Bid Auction concludes on April 9, 2019. The Debtors estimate that the Attorney General's review of the transaction will require at least four months, and contend that the proposed notice is more than adequate.

8. Objection of St. Vincent IPA Medical Corporation and Angeles IPA

St. Vincent IPA Medical Corporation and Angeles IPA (collectively, "St. Vincent IPA") are parties to Healthcare Services Risk Sharing Agreements (the "Risk Sharing Agreements") with certain of the Debtors. St. Vincent IPA requests that the Debtors be required to (1) pay in full the undisputed portion of the Cure Amount for an Assumed Executory Contract at the Closing Date, and (2) segregate the disputed portion of the Cure Amount. St. Vincent asserts that such protections are necessary to insure that the Debtors reserve sufficient funds to pay the full Cure Amounts that are ultimately determined.

The Debtors are agreeable to paying out the undisputed Cure Amounts concurrently with the closing of the transaction or as soon thereafter as is possible. However, the Debtors state that it is not administratively feasible for them to segregate the disputed Cure Amounts in the manner requested by St. Vincent IPA.

Chapter 11

The Debtors point out that their cash management system is extremely complex and is subject to deposit account control agreements in favor of Ally Bank, the DIP lender.

9. Objection of the California Attorney General [Doc. No. 1352]

The California Attorney General (the "Attorney General") seeks clarification that the transaction is subject to his review and approval pursuant to Cal. Corp. Code § 5914. The Attorney General objects to the fact that the APA was filed without many of the schedules attached, and requests an opportunity to provide further objections upon disclosure of the schedules. The Attorney General seeks clarification that the Sale Order will carve out the Attorney General's review and approval process, and that Debtors will seek an order under § 363 related to the Attorney General's conditions only after he has completed his review of the transaction under Cal. Corp. Code § 5914.

The Attorney General requests that the Bidding Procedures Order contain the following language:

Nothing in this Order or the Final Asset Purchase Agreement is intended to be or shall be construed as an adjudication of the applicability of the California Attorney General's authority or conditions issued under California Corporations Code section 5914 et seq., in relation to the sale and/or assumed leases of certain of the Debtor's assets The California Attorney General and these listed persons and entities reserve all rights and defenses concerning the applicability of the California Attorney General's Authority or conditions issued under California Corporations Code section 5914 et seq.

Nothing in this Order or the Final Asset Purchase Agreement releases, nullifies, precludes or enjoins the enforcement of any liability to a governmental unit under police and regulatory statutes or regulations (including, but not limited to, charitable trust laws such as California Corporations Code section 5914 et seq.), and any associated liabilities for penalties, damages, cost recovery, or injunctive relief that any entity would be subject to as the owner, lessor, lessee, or operator of the property after the date of entry of this Order. Nothing contained in this Order or in the Asset Purchase Agreement shall in any way diminish the obligation of any entity, including the Debtor, to comply with charitable trust laws. the Buyer's compliance with all applicable legal requirements under charitable trust laws governing such transfers.

Nothing in this Order or the Final Asset Purchase Agreement shall limit the California Attorney General's right to conduct a full review of any sale pursuant to California Corporations Code sections 5914-5924 including the right to receive the notice and all information to which he is entitled, and to have the prescribed time period of 90 days, and 45-day extension, to Approve; Disapprove; or Approve with conditions a sale under California Corporations Code sections 5914-5924 and California Code of Regulations on Nonprofit Hospital Transactions - Title 11, Chapter 15, section 999 .5.

Doc. No. 1352 at 9–10.

The Debtors assert that the Attorney General's arguments are premature because the ultimate identity of the winning bidder is unknown, meaning that it is unknown whether the sale will even be subject to the Attorney General's review under California law. The Debtors state that several counties have expressed interest in purchasing the Hospitals, in which case the sale would not be subject to the Attorney General's review.

II. Findings and Conclusions

A. Evidentiary Objections

At the outset, the Court addresses the Debtors' evidentiary objections to the Declaration of Kyrsten B. Skogstad, submitted in support of the CNA's objection. The Skogstad Declaration contains documents relating to SGM's proposal to acquire certain of the Hospitals in 2014. The Debtors object to the Skogstad Declaration on the grounds of relevance and hearsay.

The Court will admit the Skogstad Declaration; however, the declaration has only minimal relevance to the Bidding Procedures Motion. SGM's activities in connection with the 2014 sale provide some minimally relevant background information, but nothing more. Significant changes to the Hospitals have occurred in the past five years; what occurred in 2014 is useful only to the extent that it provides historical context.

B. Certain Objections Are Premature and Will Not be Decided in Connection with this Hearing used at the auction of the Hospitals. The Court finds that many of the objections are more appropriately considered at the final Sale Hearing, at which point the identity of the successful purchaser will be known. Many objections are based upon hypothetical future events and raise issues that may never ripen.

The Court finds that MGH Painting and Belfor's objections regarding the treatment of the mechanics' liens which they assert to be premature. These objections are preserved for the Sale Hearing and may be raised at that time.

To the extent that the Unions assert that the Debtors are required to reject the CBAs prior to entering into the APA, the Unions' objections are overruled. This ruling does not prevent the Unions from raising objections under § 1113 at the Sale Hearing. However, the Unions' contention that the APA and the associated bidding procedures cannot be approved prior to the adjudication of § 1113 issues is without merit. The decision in Local 211 v. Family Snacks, Inc., Official Unsecured Creditors' Comm. (In re Family Snacks, Inc.), 257 B.R. 884, 897 (B.A.P. 8th Cir. 2001) shows that the Debtors are not obligated to reject CBAs prior to the sale of assets. In Family Snacks, the debtor filed § 1113 motions only after it had sold its assets. The Family Snacks court held that the debtor's decision to not commence negotiations until after the asset sale did not automatically bar the debtor from obtaining relief under § 1113. Family Snacks, 257 B.R. at 895–96.

C. The Objections of the Unions Are Overruled

The Unions contend that the proposed bidding procedures do not sufficiently incentivize prospective purchasers to assume the CBAs. According to the Unions, the Debtors should be required to provide a quantification of the bidding credit to any bidder who agrees to assume liabilities under the CBAs.

The Court finds that requiring the Debtors to provide a precise quantification of the value to be accorded to the assumption of CBA liabilities would unduly impair the Debtors' flexibility in the conduct of the auction, and would likely yield suboptimal results for all stakeholders. The Debtors must be allowed to conduct the Auction in accordance with their business judgment, especially given the complexity of an Auction of this type. Precise quantification of the valuation to be afforded to assumption of the CBAs would not be of material assistance to the sophisticated participants in this Auction, who will be assisted by professional advisors using their own detailed financial models and projections.

The Court declines to approve the 3.5% Breakup Fee. The Court finds that a Breakup Fee of this magnitude is not warranted based on comparable transactions. Further, a Breakup Fee of 3.5% would likely chill bidding. The maximum Breakup Fee that the Court will approve is 3.0%.

It is true that the Court approved a Breakup Fee of 4.0% in connection with the sale of St. Louise and O'Connor to the County of Santa Clara. However, the Court took pains to emphasize that its approval of that Breakup Fee was not intended to provide a benchmark for future sales. A Breakup Fee must be carefully tailored to each transaction. The Breakup Fee approved in one transaction has limited precedential value as to different transactions.

The purchase price in the Santa Clara Sale was $235 million, considerably less than the Stalking Horse Bid of $610 million in the instant transaction. As a general rule, a larger transaction size results in a smaller breakup fee (in percentage terms). The cases cited by the Debtors in which higher breakup fees were approved reflect this general rule—the transactions at issue in those cases were an order of magnitude smaller than the instant transaction. For example, the 4.7% breakup fee and expense reimbursement approved in In re Women First Healthcare, Inc., 332 B.R. 115, 118 (Bankr. D. Del. 2005) involved a stalking horse bid of only $1.75 million. The 4.75% breakup fee approved in In re Lake Burton Dev., LLC, No. 09-bk-22830 (Bankr. N.D. Ga. Apr. 1, 2010) involved a stalking bid of $10.52 million.

The Debtors point to the 3.5% breakup fee approved in In re BPS Holdings, Inc., No. 16-12373 (Bankr. D. Del. Nov. 30, 2016) as a benchmark for this transaction. The sale price in BPS Holdings was $575 million, comparable to the Stalking Horse Bid here. However, the higher breakup fee in BPS Holdings was necessary given that the debtors were being investigated by the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission; had failed to timely file their most recent annual audited financial statements; and had been required to engage independent legal counsel to conduct an internal investigation of accounting practices. See generally Doc. No. 16, Case No. 16-bk-12373-KJC (Bankr. D. Del. October 31, 2016) (Bidding Procedures Motion filed in BPS Holdings). While the Hospitals offered for sale here have experienced operational losses, there is no suggestion of accounting fraud. To the contrary, the reliability of the Debtors' financials is attested to by a detailed report prepared by auditor Ernst & Young. A higher breakup fee is obviously necessary in situations involving the possibility of fraud, as purchasers will be required to conduct additional due diligence since they cannot rely upon published financial results.

The Court additionally finds that a 3.5% breakup fee is not appropriate given that SGM bid for the Hospitals in 2014. While it is true that much can change in the intervening years, SGM already has a baseline of familiarity with the Hospitals. A 3.0% breakup fee is sufficient to cover SGM's due diligence costs.

E. SGM's Consultation Rights are Approved

The Committee objects to SGM's right to be consulted in the event the Debtors decide to introduce additional procedural rules at the Auction(s). The Committee fears that such consultation rights will tilt the playing field in SGM's favor.

The Committee's objection is overruled. The Debtors retain ultimate authority over setting procedural rules, and it is in the Debtors' interest to ensure an efficient and fair auction. The Court does not believe that the sophisticated parties participating in this Auction will be deterred from bidding as a result of SGM's consultation rights.

F. SGM's Termination Rights are Unduly Broad

The APA allows SGM to terminate the transaction if the Attorney General imposes conditions beyond those set forth in Schedule 8.6, even if the Debtors obtain an order from the Bankruptcy Court authorizing SGM to purchase the Hospitals free and clear of such conditions. The Court finds that SGM's termination rights are unduly broad.

SGM receives a number of benefits under the APA, including the Breakup Fee and the right to be consulted with respect to procedural changes at the Auction(s). In return for receiving such benefits, SGM is required to assume certain obligations, including the obligation to consummate the sale. If SGM is to serve as the Stalking Horse Bidder, it is only reasonable that SGM be required to close the sale, provided that the Debtors obtain an order authorizing the sale free and clear of any additional conditions that may be imposed by the Attorney General.

The APA allows SGM to terminate the transaction in the event that the Debtors elect to proceed with a Partial Bid Auction. The Court finds this termination provision to be reasonable. SGM entered into the APA with the intent of purchasing all four Hospitals. SGM should not be required to proceed with a purchase of fewer than all four of the Hospitals.

G. St. Vincent IPA's Objection is Overruled

St. Vincent IPA contends that the Debtors should be required to segregate disputed portions of the Cure Amount. The Court finds that such segregation is unnecessary and would not be feasible, given the complexity of the Debtors' cash management system. St. Vincent IPA's objection is overruled.

H. Cigna's Objection is Sustained

The Court finds the language proposed by Cigna in its Sur-Reply with respect to the assumption and assignment of executory contracts to be generally appropriate, except that the Debtors shall have 48 hours from the conclusion of the Auction to notify executory contract counterparties. Specifically, the Court approves the following language (which differs somewhat from the that proposed by the parties):

The Debtors shall, no later than the earlier of (i) 48 hours after the conclusion of the Auction, or (ii) thirty (30) days prior to the Closing Date, provide Cigna with written notice of its irrevocable decision as to whether or not the Debtors propose to assume and assign any or all of the Cigna Provider Agreements as part of the Sale; provided, however, that such notice shall be irrevocable only to the extent that the Successful Bidder's transaction is approved by this Court and an order thereon becomes final and non-appealable.

I. Objection of the County of San Mateo and the Health Plan of San Mateo

The Debtors' Reply appears to have resolved the issues raised by the San Mateo Objectors. The Court agrees with the Debtors' characterization of § 5.1(b) of the APA. Specifically, the Court finds that the restrictions and limitations set forth in § 5.1(b) on communications between SGM and governmental authorities shall apply only to communications regarding licensing or regulation of the Hospitals with the relevant licensing or regulatory authorities. Such restrictions shall not apply to communications involving SGM (or any other prospective buyers) and any governmental authority on subjects unrelated to licensing or regulation by that authority.

J. Hooper's Objection is Overruled

To the extent that Hooper asserts that it is entitled to receive notification of the treatment of its Net Benefit Compensation prior to selection of the Successful Bidder, its objection is overruled. Hooper may raise any objections regarding its Net Benefit Compensation or the assumption and assignment of its executory contract at the Sale Hearing. It would be premature to address such objections in connection with this hearing. Because the treatment of Hooper's Net Benefit Compensation will be materially affected by the identity of the Successful Bidder, it would not be reasonable to require the Debtors to provide Hooper such information at this time.

Hooper's objection to the timeline proposed by the Debtors with respect to the assumption and assignment of executory contracts is overruled. The deadlines proposed by the Debtors are common in sales of this size and complexity.

K. The Timetable Proposed by the Debtors Provides UnitedHealthcare Sufficient Notice Regarding the Assumption of its Executory Contracts

UnitedHealthcare requests that the Debtors provide notice of the contracts to be assumed and assigned at least 70 days before the Closing Date.

The Court finds that the timetable proposed by the Debtors provides UnitedHealthcare sufficient notice of whether its executory contracts will be assumed and assigned. The Debtors will provide notice of the contracts to be assumed on April 11, 2019, two days after the Full Bid Auction concludes on April 9, 2019. In the Court's experience, the Attorney General's review of the transaction will require several months. Therefore, UnitedHealthcare will receive in excess of the 70 days' notice that it requests.

L. The California Attorney General's Objection Is Premature

The California Attorney General (the "Attorney General") seeks inclusion of broad language in the Bidding Procedures Order regarding the Attorney General's authority to review the sale. The proposed language assumes that the ultimate bidder will not be a governmental entity and that the Attorney General will therefore have authority to review the sale under Cal. Corp. Code § 5914. The winning bidder's identity cannot be known at this time, and it is possible that the winning bidder will be a governmental identity, in which case the Attorney General would not have authority to review the sale. Further, within the context of this Bidding Procedures Motion, the Court will not approve any limitations to its order not germane to its context.

The Attorney General's objection is premature. The Attorney General may raise its objection at the Sale Hearing. The Court declines to require the Debtor to include the language proposed by the Attorney General in the Bidding Procedures Order.

M. The Bidding Procedures Are Approved

Except for the (1) 3.5% Breakup Fee and (2) SGM's right to terminate as a result of additional conditions imposed by the Attorney General even if the Debtors obtain an order authorizing a sale free and clear of such conditions, the Bidding Procedures are approved. Chapter 7

10. Oral reply to be made at the hearing

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Bahram Zendedel (the "Debtor") filed this voluntary chapter 7 case on January 18, 2019 (the "Petition Date"). Alishaev Brothers Inc. ("Movant") seeks relief from the automatic stay pursuant to § 362(d)(1) to proceed under applicable non-bankruptcy law to final judgment in the nonbankruptcy action captioned Alishaev Brothers Inc. v. LA Girl Jewelry, Inc., NER Precious Metals, Inc., et al (Case No. 1:17-CV-7505 (JGK)) pending in the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York (the "District Court Action"). Movant initiated the District Court Action on October 2, 2017 by the filing of a complaint asserting claims for fraud, conversion, replevin, breach of contract, liability under a guaranty, violations of debtor and creditor law, constructive trust, and alter ego liability (the "Complaint"). RJN, Ex. 2. The District Court Action involves several non-debtor defendants. Trial is scheduled to begin on February 11, 2019.

Movant seeks an order annulling the stay retroactively to the Petition Date to cure post-petition acts taken by Movant without knowledge of the bankruptcy case. Movant states that on January 21, 2019, without knowledge of the Debtor's bankruptcy filing, Movant filed its Plaintiffs Proposed Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law (the "Proposed Findings") in the District Court Action. RJN, Ex. 5. Movant further states that Debtor responded by filing a Notice of Stay of Proceedings advising the District Court of the commencement of this case and asserting that the entire District Court Action was stayed. RJN, Ex. 6. On January 22, 2019, the District Court issued its Memo Endorsement ordering counsel for the Debtor to advise the Court when the bankruptcy stay is lifted and directing the parties to advise the court if there is any reason to delay the trial currently scheduled for February 11, 2019. RJN, Ex. 7. As a result, on January 23, 2019, counsel for the Defendant submitted a letter advising the District Court that the entire action was stayed and, therefore, the trial could not proceed. RJN, Ex. 8; Zelmanovitz Decl., ¶ 19. Movant filed a responsive letter on January 23, 2019 refuting the Debtor's counsel's blanket assertion that commencement of the Debtor's bankruptcy case stays the action against the non-debtor defendants. RJN, Ex. 9. However, Movant's counsel did advise the District Court that the action should be tried at one time to promote judicial economy. Id.

Chapter 7

On January 24, 2019, the District Court entered a Memo Endorsement finding that the automatic stay applies only to the Debtor. RJN, Ex. 10. The same day, the District Court entered a Memo Endorsement staying the February 11, 2019 trial pending a decision on a motion to lift the automatic stay as to the Debtor. RJN, Ex. 11. The District Court did not vacate or continue the February 11, 2019 trial date. Zelmanovitz Decl., ¶ 22. Accordingly, on January 28, 2019, Movant filed the R/S Motion and sought a hearing on shortened notice to allow the trial to proceed as scheduled. On January 28, 2019, this Court granted Movant's request for a hearing on shortened time [Doc. Nos. 19, 20].

Movant contends that sufficient cause exists under section 362(d)(1) to lift the stay to permit it to adjudicate its claims against the Debtor in the District Court Action. First, Movant asserts that lifting the stay will promote judicial economy because the claims arise under nonbankruptcy law, the District Court Action has been actively litigated since October 2017, the parties have engaged in extensive discovery, and the District Court has entered a Joint Pretrial Order and set the matter for trial commencing on February 11, 2019. RJN, Ex. 3 and 4. Movant states that the District Court Action has reached such an advanced stage of litigation that judicial economy would be undermined if the parties were required to relitigate their dispute in this court.

Next, Movant contends that since this is a chapter 7 case there will be no prejudice to the bankruptcy estate if the claims were to be litigated to final judgment in the District Court Action, but Movant would be significantly prejudiced if it is forced to litigate in two different forums. Movant also argues that the District Court is best suited to apply New York state law to adjudicate the claims at issue. Movant also argues that the bankruptcy case was filed in bad faith to delay or interfere with the prosecution of the District Court Action.

Movant also requests waiver of the 14-day stay prescribed by FRBP 4001(a)(3) and that the order be binding and effective in future bankruptcy cases.

Debtor filed a timely Opposition to the R/S Motion [Doc. No. 28]. Debtor states that he is the 100% owner of shares of non-debtor defendant LA Girl Jewelry, Inc., ("LAG") and that pre-petition, approximately $1,000,000 of LAG's assets were seized by the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department (the "LASD") pursuant to a prejudgment writ of attachment. Debtor contends that he is a fiduciary of LAG, that all of the shares of LAG are part of his bankruptcy estate and, therefore, that the seized assets are part of the Debtor's estate. Accordingly, the Debtor argues that lifting the stay to allow Movant to proceed against the assets of LAG will interfere with Debtor's estate and will subject Movant to potential turnover litigation by the Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee"). Debtor also contends that the seized assets belong to this estate and that granting relief from stay would impede the Trustee's ability to administer those assets and prejudice debtor's creditors.

Debtor also argues that granting relief from stay will only result in partial relief because the District Court Action involves a claim for fraud which could result in separate litigation in this case with respect to the dischargeability of any judgment. In sum, the Debtor submits that the balance of harms weighs in his favor.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, the Trustee has not filed a response or opposition.

Pursuant to this Court's OST, the Court will consider Movant's oral reply at the hearing.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

As a preliminary matter, a motion for relief from the automatic stay is a summary proceeding that does not involve an adjudication of the merits of the underlying claims. As recognized by the Ninth Circuit Bankruptcy Appellate Panel in In re Luz Int'l, Ltd.:

Given the limited grounds for obtaining a motion for relief from stay, read in conjunction with the expedited schedule for a hearing on the motion, most courts hold that motion for relief from stay hearings should not involve an adjudication of the merits of claims, defenses, or counterclaims, but simply determine whether the creditor has a colorable claim to the property of the estate. See In re Johnson, 756 F.2d 738, 740 (9th Cir.), cert. denied, 474 U.S. 828, 106 S.Ct. 88, 88 L.Ed.2d 72 (1985) ("Hearings on relief from the automatic stay are thus handled in a summary fashion. underlying the claim is not litigated during the hearing.").

219 B.R. 837, 842 (9th Cir. BAP 1998) (citation omitted). In a summary proceeding, the court's discretion is broad. In re Santa Clara Cty. Fair Ass'n, Inc., 180 B.R. 564, 566 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1995).

Section 362(d)(1) provides that "[o]n request of a party in interest and after notice and a hearing, the court shall grant relief from the stay . . . (1) for cause" 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1). "What constitutes 'cause' for granting relief from the automatic stay is decided on a case-by-case basis." Kronemyer v. Am. Contractors Indem. Co. (In re Kronemyer), 405 B.R. 915, 921 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2009); Christensen v. Tucson Estates, Inc. (In re Tucson Estates, Inc.), 912 F.2d 1162, 1166 (9th Cir. 1990). "To obtain relief from the automatic stay, the party seeking relief must first establish a prima facie case that 'cause' exists for relief under § 362(d)(1)." Truebro, Inc. v. Plumberex Specialty Prods., Inc. (In re Plumberex Specialty Prods., Inc.), 311 B.R. 551, 557 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2004). "Once a prima facie case has been established, the burden shifts to the debtor to show that relief from the stay is unwarranted." Id.

In the Ninth Circuit, courts consider 12 non-exclusive factors to determine whether "cause" exists to grant relief to allow an entity to continue pending litigation against a debtor in non-bankruptcy forum:

1. Whether the relief will result in a partial or complete resolution of the issues;
2. The lack of any connection with or interference with the bankruptcy case;
3. Whether the foreign proceeding involves the debtor as a fiduciary;
4. Whether a specialized tribunal has been established to hear the particular cause of action and whether that tribunal has the expertise to hear such cases;
5. Whether the debtor's insurance carrier has assumed full financial responsibility for defending the litigation;
6. Whether the action essentially involves third parties, and the debtor functions only as a bailee or conduit for the goods or proceeds in question;
7. Whether the litigation in another forum would prejudice the interests of other creditors, the creditors' committee and other

- interested parties;
8. Whether the judgment claim arising from the foreign action is subject to equitable subordination under Section 510(c);
 9. Whether movant's success in the foreign proceeding would result in a judicial lien avoidable by the debtor under Section 522(f);
 10. The interests of judicial economy and the expeditious and economical determination of litigation for the parties;
 11. Whether the foreign proceedings have progressed to the point where the parties are prepared for trial, and
 12. The impact of the stay on the parties and the "balance of hurt[.]"

Plumberex, 311 B.R. at 559. Not all the factors are relevant in every case, and the Court is not required to give equal weight to each factor. Id. at 560.

Movant has established a prima facie case that "cause" exists to grant relief from stay under section 362(d)(1). Granting relief from stay will best promote interests of judicial economy because the litigation involves several non-debtor defendants and is in its final stage with trial set to occur on February 11, 2019. While the District Court is not a specialized tribunal established specifically to hear the claims asserted in Movant's complaint, the District Court is much more intimately familiar with the parties' dispute and applicable New York law and can more expeditiously move the litigation to final judgment. The Court also finds that the timing of the Debtor's bankruptcy filing, and representations made in pleadings submitted to the District Court support a finding that the Debtor filed this case to hinder and delay the District Court Action from proceeding to trial.

Additionally, the Trustee has not opposed Movant's request for relief from stay and, based upon this Court's independent review of the Debtor's schedules, it does not appear that this is a surplus estate. Therefore, the Debtor has not demonstrated standing to object to the R/S Motion, particularly with respect to any alleged interest the estate might have in LAG's assets, prejudice to creditors, or potential avoidable transfer claims, among others. Furthermore, the Court is not persuaded that granting relief will only result in partial relief simply because Movant may elect to later seek a nondischargeability determination with respect to any judgment entered in the District Court. On balance, the Court finds that the balance of hurt tips in Movant's favor.

Based on the foregoing, the Court GRANTS the Motion pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1) to permit the Movant to proceed under applicable non-bankruptcy law to enforce its remedies to proceed to final judgment in the non-bankruptcy forum, provided that the stay remains in effect with respect to enforcement of any judgment against the Debtor or estate property. The Debtor's Opposition is overruled. The Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim or any other claim against the Debtor or property of the estate, except that the Movant will retain the right to file a proof of claim and/or an adversary complaint under §§ 523 or 727. This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code.

Movant's request to annul the stay retroactively to the Petition Date is GRANTED. Movant promptly filed the R/S Motion after learning of the Debtor's bankruptcy filing and granting retroactive relief will not result in irreparable harm to the Debtor, but will restore the status quo and avoid any prejudice to Movant resulting from a delay of the District Court Action. The Court also finds it appropriate to waive the 14-day stay prescribed by Federal Rule 4001(a)(3). All other relief is denied.

In light of the pending trial on February 11, 2019, Movant is directed to lodge a proposed order promptly after the hearing, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference.

Adv#: 2:18-01308 LENDMARK FINANCIAL SERVICES, LLC. v. Diaz

#100.00 HearingRE: [18] Motion for Default Judgment (MacLeod, James)

Docket 18

Tentative Ruling:

2/05/2019

The Complaint's allegations do not support entry of default judgment against the Plaintiff. Motion DENIED. By separate order, the Court will require the Plaintiff to show cause why this action should not be dismissed, for failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Plaintiff's Motion for Default Judgment Under LBR 7055-1 [Doc. No. 18] (the "Motion for Default Judgment")
 - a) Complaint to Determine Dischargeability of Debt [Doc. No. 1] (the "Complaint")
- 2) No opposition to Motion is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Lendmark Financial Services, LLC (the "Plaintiff") commenced this dischargeability action against Eva Luz Diaz (the "Defendant") on October 1, 2018. The Complaint alleges that Defendant induced Plaintiff to extend credit by false pretenses and false representations—specifically, mis-stating her income on a loan application and using her mother's social security number on the loan application, rather than her own. The Complaint seeks a judgment that indebtedness in the amount of $4,165.13, plus costs of $350.00 and reasonable attorneys' fees, is non-dischargeable pursuant to § 523(a)(2)(A).

On November 28, 2018, the Clerk of the Court entered Defendant's default. Defendant personally appeared at a Status Conference conducted on January 15, 2019, but has not responded to the Complaint or the Motion for Default Judgment.

Chapter 7

Once default has been entered, the well-pleaded factual allegations of the complaint are taken as true. Cripps v. Life Ins. Co. of North America, 980 F.2d 1261, 1267 (9th Cir. 1992). However, the Court may enter default judgment only if the Complaint sets forth allegations showing that Plaintiff is entitled to the relief requested. As set forth below, the Complaint fails to state a claim upon which relief can be granted. Upon its own motion, the Court will require Plaintiff to appear and show cause why the Complaint should not be dismissed, pursuant to Civil Rule 12(b)(6), for failure to state a claim.

Section 523(a)(2)(A) provides: "A discharge under section 727 ... of this title does not discharge an individual debtor from any debt for money, property, services, or an extension, renewal, or refinancing of credit, to the extent obtained by false pretenses, a false representation, or actual fraud, other than a statement respecting the debtor's or an insider's financial condition" (emphasis added). To except from discharge indebtedness obtained by a false statement respecting a debtor's financial condition, creditors must satisfy the stricter criteria of §523(a)(2)(B). Section 523(a)(2)(B) excepts from discharge indebtedness obtained through use of a statement in writing:

- 1) that is materially false;
- 2) respecting the debtor's or an insider's financial condition;
- 3) on which the creditor to whom the debtor is liable for such money, property, services, or credit reasonably relied; and
- 4) that the debtor caused to be made or published with intent to deceive....

§ 523(a)(2)(B).

The Supreme Court has explained the structure of §523(a)(2) as follows:

The text of § 523(a)(2) plainly heightens the bar to discharge when the fraud at issue was effectuated via a "statement respecting the debtor's financial condition." The heightened requirements, moreover, are not a shield for dishonest debtors. Rather, they reflect Congress' effort to balance the potential misuse of such statements by both debtors and creditors. As the Court has explained previously:

"The House Report on the [Bankruptcy Reform Act of 1978] suggests that Congress wanted to moderate the burden on individuals who submitted false financial statements, not because lies about financial condition are less blameworthy than others, but because the relative equities might be affected by practices of consumer finance companies, which sometimes have encouraged such falsity by their borrowers for the very purpose of insulating their own claims from discharge.” Field v. Mans, 516 U.S. 59, 76–77, 116 S.Ct. 437, 133 L.Ed.2d 351 (1995).

Specifically, as detailed in Field, the House Report noted that consumer finance companies frequently collected information from loan applicants in ways designed to permit the companies to later use those statements as the basis for an exception to discharge. Commonly, a loan officer would instruct a loan applicant “ ‘to list only a few or only the most important of his debts’ ” on a form with too little space to supply a complete list of debts, even though the phrase, “ ‘I have no other debts,’ ” would be printed at the bottom of the form or the applicant would be “ ‘instructed to write the phrase in his own handwriting.’ ” Id., at 77, n. 13, 116 S.Ct. 437. If the debtor later filed for bankruptcy, the creditor would contend that the debtor had made misrepresentations in his loan application and the creditor would threaten litigation over excepting the debt from discharge. That threat was “often enough to induce the debtor to settle for a reduced sum,” even where the merits of the nondischargeability claim were weak. H.R. Rep. No. 95–595, p. 131 (1977).

The Supreme Court has held that “a statement is ‘respecting’ a debtor’s financial condition if it has a direct relation to or impact on the debtor’s overall financial status.” Lamar, 138 S.Ct. at 1761. Such statements can include statements pertaining to a single asset, because a “single asset has a direct relation to and impact on aggregate financial condition, so a statement about a single asset bears on a debtor’s overall financial condition and can help indicate whether a debtor is solvent or insolvent, able to repay a given debt or not.” Id.

The Complaint alleges that Defendant fraudulently induced Plaintiff to extend credit by mis-stating her income on an Application for Credit (the “Credit Application”). According to the Complaint, Defendant’s representations were misleading because Defendant did not disclose “that her income fluctuated a great deal with her employer.” Complaint at ¶6.

Chapter 7

With respect to Defendant's alleged false representations regarding her income, the Complaint fails to state a claim upon which relief can be granted. The Complaint is brought under § 523(a)(2)(A), not under § 523(a)(2)(B). The Complaint's allegations regarding false written representations should have been pleaded under § 523(a)(2)(B), not § 523(a)(2)(A). A statement regarding Defendant's income clearly qualifies as a "statement regarding the debtor's financial condition..."

Even if the Complaint had been properly brought under § 523(a)(2)(B), it would still fail to state a claim upon which relief could be granted. "To survive a motion to dismiss, a complaint must contain sufficient factual matter, accepted as true, to 'state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face.' A claim has facial plausibility when the plaintiff pleads factual content that allows the court to draw the reasonable inference that the defendant is liable for the misconduct alleged." Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678 (2009) (internal citations omitted). To state a plausible claim for relief, a complaint must satisfy two working principles:

First, the tenet that a court must accept as true all of the allegations contained in a complaint is inapplicable to legal conclusions. Threadbare recitations of the elements of a cause of action, supported by mere conclusory statements, do not suffice.... Second, only a complaint that states a plausible claim for relief survives a motion to dismiss. Determining whether a complaint states a plausible claim for relief will ... be a context-specific task that requires the reviewing court to draw on its judicial experience and common sense. But where the well-pleaded facts do not permit the court to infer more than the mere possibility of misconduct, the complaint has alleged—but it has not "show[n]"—"that the pleader is entitled to relief."

Id. (citing Civil Rule 8(a)(2)).

Although the pleading standard Civil Rule 8 announces "does not require 'detailed factual allegations,' ... it demands more than an unadorned, the-defendant-unlawfully-harmed-me accusation.... A pleading that offers 'labels and conclusions' or a 'formulaic recitation of the elements of a cause of action will not do.' Nor does a complaint suffice if it tenders 'naked assertion[s]' devoid of 'further factual enhancement.'" Id. (citing Bell Atlantic Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 555 (2007)).

Even if it had asserted a claim under § 523(a)(2)(B), the facts alleged are not sufficient to state a plausible claim for relief. To obtain relief under § 523(a)(2)(B), a creditor must allege facts showing that it "reasonably relied" upon false representations made by the debtor. Here, the Complaint alleges that Plaintiff was misled by Defendant's alleged failure to disclose large fluctuations in her monthly income. Yet the Credit Application that Plaintiff provided Defendant contains very limited space for supplying information regarding monthly income. Plaintiff's contention that it reasonably relied upon Defendant's representations regarding monthly income is severely undercut where the paperwork created by Plaintiff did not provide an opportunity for Defendant to report income fluctuations. In addition, Plaintiff does not allege any specific facts showing that its reliance upon Defendant's representations regarding her income was reasonable. For example, Plaintiff does not allege that it conducted any investigation into the stability of Defendant's income.

Section 523(a)(2)(B) was enacted to address precisely this sort of conduct by creditors. The Credit Application contains only enough space for the Defendant to list monthly gross and net income. It does not contain any space for Defendant to indicate monthly income fluctuations, or require Defendant to express monthly income in terms of a range. The Credit Application appears to have been designed to facilitate the dischargeability complaints such as that filed here.

The Complaint further alleges that Defendant supplied a false social security number. Within the context of the Credit Application, the Court finds that statements regarding a social security number qualify as a statement respecting the debtor's financial condition. The reason is that lenders require applicants for credit to supply a social security number because such information allows lenders to investigate the applicant's credit history.

The allegations regarding the false social security number likewise fail to state a claim, because the Complaint does not allege facts sufficient for the Court to find that it was plausible that Plaintiff relied upon the social security number in extending credit. First, the Complaint alleges that Plaintiff extended credit to retire previous indebtedness. The most plausible inference from the Complaint's allegations is that the Plaintiff already had some familiarity with Defendant, and extended credit on this basis, rather than on the basis of the social security number. The Complaint contains no allegations supporting an inference that Plaintiff did rely upon the social security number in extending credit. For example, the Complaint does not allege that Plaintiff ran a credit check using the social security number. A blanket, threadbare statement that Plaintiff relied upon the social security number in extending credit is not sufficient to state a claim. Plaintiff must allege specific facts rendering such an allegation plausible.

Finally, Plaintiff alleges that it extended credit based upon Defendant's representation that she intended to repay the loan. Although not entirely clear from the Complaint, this allegation is apparently based upon the Promissory Note's standard “promise to pay” language. This allegation fails to state a claim for relief under § 523(a)(2)(A). To prevail on a § 523(a)(2)(A) claim on the grounds of false pretenses or false representations, a creditor must prove that:

- (1) the debtor made the representations;
- (2) that at the time he knew they were false;
- (3) that he made them with the intention and purpose of deceiving the creditor;
- (4) that the creditor relied on such representations; and
- (5) that the creditor sustained the alleged loss and damage as the proximate result of the misrepresentations having been made.

Ghomeshi v. Sabban (In re Sabban), 600 F.3d 1219, 1222 (9th Cir. 2010).

If the standard “promise to pay” language in Promissory Notes were construed as false representation sufficient to render indebtedness non-dischargeable, creditors would be able to insulate all consumer debt from discharge, rendering § 523(a)(2)(A) a nullity. To except debt from discharge, creditors must do more than show that the debtor signed a Promissory Note containing standard language. Creditors must point to specific false representations and allege facts showing that such representations were made with the intent to deceive. Here, the Complaint contains no such allegations.

Based upon the foregoing, the Court will issue an order requiring the Plaintiff to show cause why this action should not be dismissed.

#101.00 HearingRE: [84] Motion to Extend Exclusivity Period for Filing a Chapter 11 Plan and Disclosure Statement including Notice of Motion

Docket 84

Tentative Ruling:

2/5/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Debtor's Motion to extend the exclusive periods under which it may file and solicit votes on a Plan of Reorganization is GRANTED.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed

1. Debtor's Notice of Motion and Motion for an Order Extending the Exclusive Periods to File Its Plan of Reorganization and Secure Acceptance of its Plan of Reorganization Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1121(d) [Doc. No.84] (the "Motion")
2. No opposition is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Debtor and Debtor-in-Possession, Andrew's & Son Tradings Inc., dba Beston Shoes (the "Debtor") seeks a second extension of the exclusive periods under which it may file and solicit votes on a Plan of Reorganization (the "Plan"). The Debtor's exclusive period to file a Plan expires on February 8, 2019. The Debtor's exclusive period to solicit votes with respect to a Plan expires on April 9, 2019. The Debtor seeks an order (1) extending the exclusive period to file a Plan by ninety days, to and including May 9, 2019, and (2) extending the exclusive period to solicit votes with respect to the Plan by ninety days, to and including July 8, 2019. The foregoing extensions are without prejudice to the right to seek further extensions of the exclusivity periods.

The Debtor states that another extension of the exclusive periods is necessary because since seeking its prior extension several issues have arisen which diverted the Debtor's attention away from preparing and finalizing a plan of reorganization.

Chapter 11

Specifically, the Debtor had to review and respond to two motions for relief from stay with respect to Debtor's vehicles, which the Debtor states that it successfully resolved by stipulation. The Debtor also states that it experienced issues with Amazon and Walmart after both vendors withheld funds owing to the Debtor. The Debtor states that these issues have also now been resolved.

The Debtor believes it is appropriate to extend its deadlines to file a Plan because the terms of any proposed plan remain in flux as it continues to negotiate with creditors.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Section 1121(b) gives the Debtor the exclusive right to file a plan during the first 120 days after the date of the order for relief. If the debtor files a plan within the 120-day exclusivity period, §1121(c)(3) provides that exclusivity is extended for an additional 60 days to maintain exclusivity during the plan solicitation period. If the plan has not been accepted by holders of impaired claims before 180 days after the date of the order for relief, then the exclusivity period terminates, unless the debtor has obtained an extension. §1121(c)(3). Section 1121(d) permits the Court to reduce or increase the exclusivity period "for cause." Section 1121 provides the bankruptcy court "maximum flexibility to suit various types of reorganization proceedings." In re Public Service Company of New Hampshire, 88 B.R. 521, 534 (Bankr. D.N.H. 1988).

The Court finds that cause exists to extend the exclusivity periods in accordance with the Debtor's request. The Debtor continues to operate a profitable business while negotiating with its creditors towards its goal of proposing a consensual Plan. An exclusivity extension is appropriate so that the Debtor will have additional time to analyze and review its claims and continue negotiating with creditors.

The exclusive period for the Debtor to file a Plan is extended from February 8, 2019 to and including May 9, 2019. The Exclusive period for the Debtor to solicit acceptances of its Plan is extended from April 9, 2019 to and including July 8, 2019. These extensions are without prejudice to the Debtor's ability to request further extensions of exclusivity.

The Debtor shall submit a conforming order, incorporating this tentative ruling by

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2) to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to repossess or otherwise obtain possession and dispose of its collateral pursuant to applicable law, and to use the proceeds from its disposition to satisfy its claim. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. The Court finds that there is no equity in the subject vehicle and that the vehicle is not necessary for an effective reorganization since this is a chapter 7 case.

This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. All other relief is denied.

Movant shall upload an appropriate order via the Court's Lodged Order Upload system within 7 days of the hearing.

F.A.S.S.T., LLC ("FASST") filed a voluntary chapter 11 petition [Case No. 2:18-bk-21828-ER]. Shortly thereafter, this Court granted LATC and FASST's (together, the "Debtors") motion for joint administration and designated the FASST case as the lead case [FASST Case, Doc. No. 32] (the "Joint Administration Order"). The Debtor's subsequently moved for substantive consolidation, which this Court approved by order entered January 29, 2019 [FASST Case, Doc. No. 109] (the "Substantive Consolidation Order").

Summary of R/S Motion

Brentwood Gateway, LLC ("Landlord") seeks relief from the automatic stay pursuant to sections 362(d)(1) and (d)(2) to initiate an unlawful detainer action against LATC with respect to LATC's lease of commercial real property located at 11611 San Vicente Boulevard, Suite GF4, Los Angeles, California 90049 (the "Lease") based upon the Debtors' failure to pay pre and post-petition rent obligations. [Note 1] Landlord states that pursuant to the terms of the Lease, the Debtor is required to pay $33,667.34/month in base rent, plus an approximately $6,134.66/month for operating costs, taxes and parking charges. Accordingly, the total monthly rental obligation is $39,802.

Landlord states that Debtors failed to pay pre-petition rent obligations for the months of June, August and September and that pre-petition arrears total $125,930.13. Landlord further states that the Debtors have also failed to pay post-petition rent obligations in full for the months of October and December 2018 and that Debtors' post-petition unpaid rent and late fee obligations total $79,159.92. Landlord states that on December 20, 2018, Debtors' counsel advised it that the Debtors were sending two checks for $15,000, but as of the filing of the R/S Motion, those checks had not yet cleared.

Landlord contends that cause exists within the meaning of section 362(d)(1) because the Debtors are in default under the terms of the Lease and Landlord's interest is not adequately protected because of the Debtors' failure to tender five months' worth of rent obligations. Landlord further asserts that cause exists because the Debtors have failed to timely perform all obligations arising from the Lease as required by section 365(d)(3) and Debtors have made no indication that they intend to cure all arrears.

If the Court is inclined to grant Landlord's request for stay relief, Landlord also requests that the Court waive the 14-day stay prescribed by FRBP 4001(a)(3) and grant it certain extraordinary relief. In the alternative, Landlord requests that the Court require the Debtors to make adequate protection payments in the form of regular monthly payments at the Lease rate from the petition date until assumption or rejection of the Lease.

Summary of Debtors' Opposition

The Debtors filed a timely Opposition to the R/S Motion. The Debtors contend that the R/S Motion is procedurally defective because (i) Landlord filed the motion in the LATC Case despite this Court's Joint Administration Order directing all pleadings to be filed in the FASST Case; and (ii) Landlord failed to serve the R/S Motion on the Debtors.

The Debtors further contend that the R/S Motion should be denied because Landlord has failed to establish a prima facie case that cause exists to grant relief from stay. Debtors assert that there is no cause to grant stay relief because the Lease is necessary for an effective reorganization because the Debtors' sole source of income stems from their ability to operate a gym at the leased premises. The Debtors acknowledge that they are behind on post-petition rent, but state that they have already seen increased gross revenues since filing these cases and anticipate further increases in gross revenues as a result of normal seasonal upticks for the first half of 2019. The Debtors anticipate being able to make the monthly rent payment for March 2019 and should be able to make additional payments to make up for post-petition arrears beginning in April 2019. The Debtors intended to catch up on rent earlier but were forced to delay this plan after discovering that a past manager had allegedly embezzled funds from the Debtors. The Debtors believe that they may be able to redirect payments to the correct account and improve cash flow.

The Debtors also state that they intend to bring a motion to extend the time to assume the Lease for an additional ninety days and then anticipate being able to assume the Lease and provide adequate assurances of the ability to promptly cure all arrearages under the Lease. [Note 2] Finally, the Debtors challenge Landlord's accounting because they submit that October 2018 rent has been paid and that they made additional payments in December 2018. The Debtors attached copies of $32,000 worth of checks payable to Landlord. Opposition, Ex. 2.

Summary of Landlord's Reply

Landlord submitted a timely Reply. First, with respect to the Debtors' procedural arguments, Landlord states that it has cured its error in filing the R/S Motion in the LATC Case by filing the Notice in the FASST Case and argues that the Debtors have not cited any authority to support denial of the R/S Motion on this basis or demonstrated any prejudice. Landlord also asserts that Debtors' contention that it failed to serve the Debtors is wrong because its proof of service reflects service on Debtors' President and CEO, Charles DeBus, and on Debtors' counsel.

Next, Landlord highlights that the Debtors failed to provide any evidence in support of their alleged increase in post-petition profits or anticipated future profits and that any contention concerning alleged profits is misleading given that the Debtors have failed to maintain post-petition rental payment obligations. Landlord acknowledges that the Debtors have made a total of $45,483.58 in post-petition payments, but states that a check for $10,000 was returned for insufficient funds. Furthermore, since filing the Original R/S Motion, rental payments for January and February 2019 have accrued and not been paid. Landlord also highlights that the Debtors' future proposals to pay rent are not certain and argues that it should not be forced to finance the Debtors bankruptcy cases while they attempt to reorganize their affairs.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

A. Any Procedural Deficiencies With the R/S Motion Are Harmless

Debtors' contention that the R/S Motion is procedurally improper because it was not filed in the lead FASST Case and not served on the Debtors is overruled. The Debtors have not identified any prejudice resulting from these deficiencies.

B. Cause Exists to Grant Relief From Stay

As a preliminary matter, a motion for relief from the automatic stay is a summary proceeding that does not involve an adjudication of the merits of the underlying claims. As recognized by the Ninth Circuit Bankruptcy Appellate Panel in In re Luz Int'l, Ltd.:

Given the limited grounds for obtaining a motion for relief from stay, read in conjunction with the expedited schedule for a hearing on the motion, most courts hold that motion for relief from stay hearings should not involve an adjudication of the merits of claims, defenses, or counterclaims, but simply determine whether the creditor has a colorable claim to the property of the estate. See In re Johnson, 756 F.2d 738, 740 (9th Cir.), cert. denied, 474 U.S. 828, 106 S.Ct. 88, 88 L.Ed.2d 72 (1985) ("Hearings on relief from the automatic stay are thus handled in a summary fashion. The validity of the claim or contract underlying the claim is not litigated during the hearing.").

219 B.R. 837, 842 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1998) (citation omitted). In a summary proceeding, the court's discretion is broad. In re Santa Clara Cty. Fair Ass'n, Inc., 180 B.R. 564, 566 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1995).

Section 362(d)(1) provides that "[o]n request of a party in interest and after notice and a hearing, the court shall grant relief from the stay . . . (1) for cause . . ." 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1) (emphasis added). "What constitutes 'cause' for granting relief from the automatic stay is decided on a case-by-case basis." Kronemyer v. Am. Contractors Indem. Co. (In re Kronemyer), 405 B.R. 915, 921 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2009); Christensen v. Tucson Estates, Inc. (In re Tucson Estates, Inc.), 912 F.2d 1162, 1166 (9th Cir. 1990). "To obtain relief from the automatic stay, the party seeking relief must first establish a prima facie case that 'cause' exists for relief under § 362(d)(1)." Truebro, Inc. v. Plumberex Specialty Prods., Inc. (In re Plumberex Specialty Prods., Inc.), 311 B.R. 551, 557 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2004). "Once a prima facie case has been established, the burden shifts to the debtor to show that relief from the stay is unwarranted." Id.

The Landlord has made a prima facie showing that "cause" exists to lift the stay under section 362(d)(1) based upon the Debtors' failure to pay post-petition rent obligations in full for November 2018 (partial payment missing), December 2018, January 2019 and February 2019. See In re Sweet N Sour 7th Ave., Corp., 431 B.R. 63 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2010) (internal citations omitted) ("The failure to pay post-petition rent may also serve as grounds for lifting the automatic stay." The Landlord will . . . not be adequately protected if the Debtor falls behind in postpetition rent.").

The Debtors have not carried their burden to show that relief from stay is unwarranted. The Debtors do not dispute that they are in default under the Lease and owe significant arrears for unpaid rent and Debtors have not presented any evidence to support their contention that they have a realistic ability of paying future rent obligations. The Court agrees that the Debtors' assertion that gross profits have increased by approximately 15% since the inception of these cases is unsupported by evidence and is contradicted by the Debtors' inability to pay post-petition rent as it came due and the return of Debtors' December 2018 rent check because of insufficient funds. Similarly, the Debtors' have failed to present evidence to convince this Court that they could generate sufficient funds from investors or redirecting funds away from an unauthorized account to adequately protect the Landlord going forward. Additionally, to date, the Debtors have only filed a monthly operating report for FASST for October 2018, so there is no way for this Court to evaluate the Debtors' financial condition. Therefore, on this record, the Court finds that "cause" exists within the meaning of section 362(d)(1) to lift the stay.

The Landlord also argues that cause exists to lift the stay pursuant to section 362(d)(2). For relief to be granted under section 362(d)(2) the debtor must both (i) lack equity in the property, and (ii) the property must not be necessary for an effective reorganization. See 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2). Here, it is clear that the Lease is necessary to the reorganization as the Debtors cannot operate their business without the Lease. Therefore, the Landlord has not carried its burden of proof with respect to section 362(d)(2).

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the R/S Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1) to permit the Landlord to initiate an unlawful detainer proceeding and proceed under applicable state law to final judgment, provided that the stay shall remain in effect with respect to enforcement of any judgment against the Debtors or estate property absent further order of this Court. This order shall be binding and effective despite conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. The Court also finds it appropriate to waive the 14-day stay prescribed by Federal Rule 4001(a)(3). All other relief is denied.

The Landlord is directed to lodge a conforming proposed order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Daniel Koontz or Jessica Vogel at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. If you wish to make a telephonic appearance, contact Court Call at 888-882-6878, no later than one hour before the hearing.

Note 1: On December 31, 2018, Landlord filed a prior motion seeking relief from stay to initiate an unlawful detainer proceeding against LATC in the LATC Case [Doc. No. 22] (the "Original R/S Motion"). However, Landlord subsequently withdrew that motion on January 17, 2019, presumably to cure certain procedural deficiencies [Doc. No. 26].

Note 2: On January 30, 2019, the Debtors filed a Motion to Extend Time To Assume or Reject [Doc. No. 111] and self-calendared a hearing for March 5, 2019.

Docket 16

Tentative Ruling:

2/11/2019

Both parties to this action are proceeding pro se. The Court notes that Defendant filed a document captioned Objection to Enter a Final Order or Judgment [Doc. No. 24] (the "Objection"). In the Objection, Defendant asserts that the Court should conduct trial before entering judgment, disputes the allegations of the Complaint, and requests that the action be dismissed.

Defendant has not shown cause for dismissal of the action. The request for dismissal is denied. Defendant will be provided an opportunity to present a defense during the course of the litigation. Defendant's objection to the Bankruptcy Court's entry of final judgment, set forth in the Joint Status Report, is OVERRULED. This is a Complaint objecting to dischargeability of specific indebtedness and objecting to the entry of Defendant's discharge, over which the Court has core jurisdiction.

Having reviewed the Joint Status Report submitted by the parties, the Court HEREBY ORDERS as follows:

- 1) Defendant shall file an Answer to the First Amended Complaint by no later than February 26, 2019.
- 2) The litigation deadlines previously ordered by the Court shall continue to apply, as follows:

inadmissible and/or prejudicial. The moving party must set the Motion in Limine for hearing at the same time as the Pretrial Conference; notice and service of the Motion shall be governed by LBR 9013-1.

The Motion in Limine must contain a statement of the specific prejudice that will be suffered by the moving party if the Motion is not granted. The Motion must be supported by a memorandum of points and authorities containing citations to the applicable Federal Rules of Evidence, relevant caselaw, and other legal authority. Blanket or boilerplate evidentiary objections not accompanied by detailed supporting argument are prohibited, will be summarily overruled, and may subject the moving party to sanctions.

iii) The failure of a party to file a Motion in Limine complying with the requirements of ¶(2)(h)(ii) shall be deemed a waiver of any objections to the admissibility of an exhibit.

iv) Motions in Limine seeking to exclude testimony to be offered by any witness shall comply with the requirements set forth in ¶(2)(h)(ii).

i) Trial is set for the week of 9/30/2019. The trial day commences at 9:00 a.m. The exact date of the trial will be set at the Pretrial Conference. Consult the Court's website for the Judge's requirements regarding exhibit binders and trial briefs.

3) This matter shall be referred to the Mediation Panel. The Court will prepare and enter an order selecting a Mediator. Upon receipt of the order, the parties shall contact the Mediator and arrange to conduct mediation. The Court's Mediation Program allows the parties to attend one day of mediation free of charge.

The Court will prepare and enter a Scheduling Order and a Mediation Order.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Jessica Vogel or Daniel Koontz at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. If you wish to make a telephonic appearance, contact Court Call at 888-882-6878, no later than one hour before the hearing.

#7.00 Status Hearing
RE: [21] Amended Complaint 2nd Amended by Michael N Berke on behalf of Joseph Amin against Kami Emein. (Berke, Michael)

fr: 12-11-18

Docket 21

Tentative Ruling:

2/11/2019

Having reviewed the Joint Status Report submitted by the parties, the Court HEREBY ORDERS as follows:

- 1) The litigation deadlines previously ordered by the Court shall continue to apply, as follows:
 - a) The last day to amend pleadings and/or join other parties is 3/14/2019.
 - b) The last day to disclose expert witnesses and expert witness reports is 7/02/2019.
 - c) The last day to disclose rebuttal expert witnesses and rebuttal expert witness reports is 8/01/2019.
 - d) The last date to complete discovery relating to expert witnesses (e.g., depositions of expert witnesses), including hearings on motions related to expert discovery, is 8/13/2019. (For contemplated hearings on motions related to expert discovery, it is counsel's responsibility to check the Judge's self-calendaring dates, posted on the Court's website. If the expert discovery cutoff date falls on a date when the court is closed or that is not available for self-calendaring, the deadline for hearings on expert discovery motions is the next closest date which is available for self-calendaring.)
 - e) The last day for dispositive motions to be heard is 8/20/2019. (If the motion cutoff date is not available for self-calendaring, the deadline for dispositive motions to be heard is the next closest date which is available for self-calendaring.)

- g) A Pretrial Conference is set for 9/10/2019 at 11:00 a.m. By no later than fourteen days prior to the Pretrial Conference, the parties must submit a Joint Pretrial Stipulation via the Court's Lodged Order Upload (LOU) system. Submission via LOU allows the Court to edit the Joint Pretrial Stipulation, if necessary. Parties should consult the Court Manual, section 4, for information about LOU.
- h) In addition to the procedures set forth in Local Bankruptcy Rule 7016-1(b), the following procedures govern the conduct of the Pretrial Conference and the preparation of the Pretrial Stipulation:
 - i) By no later than thirty days prior to the Pretrial Conference, the parties must exchange copies of all exhibits which each party intends to introduce into evidence (other than exhibits to be used solely for impeachment or rebuttal).
 - ii) When preparing the Pretrial Stipulation, all parties shall stipulate to the admissibility of exhibits whenever possible. In the event any party cannot stipulate to the admissibility of an exhibit, that party must file a Motion in Limine which clearly identifies each exhibit alleged to be inadmissible and/or prejudicial. The moving party must set the Motion in Limine for hearing at the same time as the Pretrial Conference; notice and service of the Motion shall be governed by LBR 9013-1. Pleadings Filed and Reviewed

1. Reorganized Debtor's Post Confirmation Status Conference Report [Doc. No. 327]
2. Reorganized Debtor's Post Confirmation Status Conference Report [Doc. No. 331]

This is a post-confirmation status conference. On August 3, 2018, Debtor filed a post-confirmation status report stating that she was working to resolve certain accounting issues with respect to Class 3 secured creditor Ocwen Loan Servicing [Doc. No. 327] (the "August 2018 Report"). Debtor stated that if she were able to successfully resolve those issues, she would seek entry of a final decree closing this case, but if she were unsuccessful at resolving those issues, she would move the Court for an order requiring compliance under the confirmed plan. Id. Based on those representations, the Court continued the post-confirmation status conference to February 12, 2019.

On February 1, 2019, Debtor filed a post-confirmation status report [Doc. No. 331] (the "February 2019 Report"). However, the February 2019 Report appears to be identical to the August 2018 Report and does not provide any update on what efforts the Debtor has undertaken in the past six months to resolve her dispute with Ocwen Loan Servicing. Furthermore, the Court notes that on February 5, 2019, Debtor's counsel filed a motion to withdraw as counsel [Doc. No. 333] and scheduled a hearing

1. Post-Confirmation Status Report No. 8 [Doc. No. 305]
2. Notice of Motion and Motion in Chapter 11 Case for the Entry of A Final Decree and Order Closing Case [Doc. No. 308]

This is a post-confirmation status conference. The Court has reviewed the Debtor's Post-Confirmation Status Report No. 8 [Doc. No. 305] which states that the Debtor "is unable to project a date of final decree on the basis that the Plan payments to its creditors will extend into the year 2020" and "proposes an interim closure . . . on the basis that the chapter 11 estate is substantially consummated, but not fully administered." These representations conflict with the representations set forth in the Debtor's recently filed motion for entry of a final decree and order closing case [Doc. No. 308], which states that the bankruptcy case has been fully administered and seeks an order closing the case on a final basis.

Debtor's counsel is directed to appear to address these inconsistencies. Failure to appear may result in this Court dismissing this case without further notice or hearing for failure to appear in proper prosecution.

5) Notice of Lodgment of Pretrial Stipulation [Doc. No. 53]

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Basilio Torices and Roxanne Martinez ("Plaintiffs") commenced this Complaint to Determine the Dischargeability of Debts Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §§ 523(a)(2)(A), (a)(4) and/or (a)(6) [Doc. No. 1] (the "Complaint") against Christina M. Uzeta (the "Defendant") on April 16, 2018. Defendant commenced a voluntary Chapter 7 petition on January 12, 2018, and received a discharge on June 4, 2018. Bankr. Doc. No. 21. Defendant's bankruptcy case was closed on July 5, 2018. Bankr. Doc. No. 23.

A. Summary of the Complaint's Allegations

The Complaint's factual allegations may be summarized as follows:

Defendant operated a restaurant known as Redwood Bar & Grill ("the Restaurant"), located in Covina, California. Complaint at ¶ 17. To facilitate Plaintiffs' desire to invest in the Restaurant, Plaintiffs and Defendant entered into a transaction in December 2016. The transaction contemplated the transfer of the Restaurant's assets into a new entity, Redwood Restaurant Group ("Redwood"). Id. at ¶ 15. On December 7, 2016, Plaintiff Torices purchased 2,500 shares in Redwood for $2,500. Id. at ¶ 17. On December 7, 2016, Plaintiff Martinez purchased 2,499 shares in Redwood for $2,499. Id. at ¶ 18.

On December 21, 2016, Redwood's Articles of Incorporation were filed with the California Secretary of State. Id. at ¶ 19. Plaintiffs paid $948 to Legal Zoom to form Redwood. Id. at ¶ 20. On December 27, 2016, 49.99% of Redwood's shares were transferred to Plaintiffs, and 50.01% of Redwood's shares were transferred to Defendant. Id. at ¶ 22.

Assets of the Restaurant included (1) a liquor license worth $80,000 (the "Liquor License"), which was held in Defendant's name, and (2) various equipment, including televisions, kitchen equipment, pool tables, bar stools, and booths, collectively worth $160,000 (the "Restaurant Equipment"). Id. at ¶¶ 28 and 65.

An express condition of Plaintiffs' purchase of a 49.99% interest in Redwood for $4,999 was that the Liquor License would be transferred to Redwood. Id. at ¶¶ 56–57 and 72. On June 23, 2017, Plaintiffs and Defendant executed an escrow agreement providing for the transfer of the Liquor License to Redwood. Id. at ¶ 28. Before the transfer of the Liquor License could be completed, Defendant caused the Liquor License to be withdrawn from escrow. Id. at ¶ 62. On June 26, 2017, Defendant advised Plaintiff Torices that she would not transfer the Liquor License to Redwood unless Plaintiffs contributed $5,000 toward the Restaurant's rent. Id. at ¶ 35.

On December 20, 2016, Plaintiffs loaned Defendant $10,000. Id. at ¶ 25. The funds were to be used to pay down Defendant's indebtedness to the State Board of Equalization, which gave rise to a lien against the Liquor License. Id. at ¶ 26. On May 2, 2017, Plaintiffs loaned Defendant $3,900. Id. at ¶ 27. The funds were to be used toward the Restaurant's rental expenses. Id.

On January 23, 2017, Redwood entered into two 36-month leases with Ladco Financial Group ("Ladco"), under which it leased equipment to process sales and payments (the "Sales Equipment"). Id. at ¶23. The Sales Equipment consisted of cash drawers, credit card readers, receipt printers, and iPads. Id. at ¶47.

On August 14, 2017, Defendant filed a Certificate of Election to Wind Up and Dissolve (the "Certificate of Election") on Redwood's behalf with the California Secretary of State (the "Secretary of State"). Id. at ¶ 37. The Certificate of Election falsely stated that an election to dissolve Redwood had been held, even though no such election had occurred. Id.

On August 14, 2017, Defendant filed a Certificate of Dissolution (the "Certificate of Dissolution") on Redwood's behalf with the Secretary of State. Id. at ¶ 38. The Certificate of Dissolution falsely stated that Redwood had never incurred any debts or liabilities. In fact, Redwood had incurred liabilities in connection with the lease of Sales Equipment from Ladco. Id.

After dissolving Redwood, Defendant retained the Sales Equipment, which is worth in excess of $4,052.68. Id. at ¶ 82. Defendant retained the Sales Equipment notwithstanding Plaintiffs' written demand for return of said equipment, made on February 1, 2018. Id. at ¶ 83.

After dissolving Redwood, Defendant retained the Restaurant Equipment. Id. at ¶ 96.

Based upon the foregoing allegations, the Complaint asserts the following claims for relief:

Defendant committed fraud and defalcation within the meaning of § 523(a)(4) by unilaterally dissolving Redwood, by retaining the Sales Equipment and the Restaurant Equipment, and by failing to transfer the Liquor License to Redwood. Defendant is liable to Plaintiffs in the amount of $80,000 on account of her failure to transfer the Liquor License, in the amount of $160,000 on account of the retention of the Restaurant Equipment, and in an amount exceeding $4,052.68 on account of the retention of the Sales Equipment.

Defendant committed willful and malicious injury to Plaintiffs' property, within the meaning of § 523(a)(6), by retaining the Sales Equipment and Restaurant Equipment, and by failing to transfer the Liquor License.

Defendant made false representations to Plaintiffs, within the meaning of § 523(a)(2)(A), to induce Plaintiffs to invest $4,999 in Redwood. Specifically, Defendant represented that she intended to transfer the Liquor License to Redwood, even though she never intended to do so. Defendant's false representations have damaged Plaintiffs in the amount of $80,000, the value of the Liquor License.

B. Summary of Papers Filed in Connection with Plaintiffs' Motion to Revoke Defendant's Discharge

Plaintiffs move to revoke Defendant's discharge pursuant to § 727(d). Plaintiffs allege that Defendant knowingly and fraudulently understated the value of the Liquor License in amended schedules filed on March 27, 2018. According to Plaintiffs, Defendant stated on her amended schedules that the Liquor License was worth only $13,500, even though she was attempting to sell the Liquor License for $80,000. Plaintiffs allege that Defendant repeatedly attempted to structure a sale of the Liquor License that would evade the $13,800 statutory limit on the sales price by using relatives and acquaintances, who would receive a fraudulent "finder's fee."

Defendant denies making any false statements with respect to the value of the Liquor License, and denies attempting to sell the Liquor License for $80,000. Defendant contends that the motion to revoke her discharge should be denied as procedurally defective, because Plaintiffs seek discharge revocation by way of motion, not by way of an adversary proceeding as required by Bankruptcy Rule 7001. Finally, Defendant asserts that Plaintiffs were aware of the facts supporting their allegations of fraud since the inception of Defendant's bankruptcy case, and that consequently Plaintiffs' request for discharge revocation is time-barred.

In Reply, Plaintiffs assert that they did not become aware of Defendant's attempts to sell the Liquor License for $80,000 until June 2018, after Defendant had received a discharge.

Chapter 7

Plaintiffs move to exclude 82 documents that were produced by Defendant in an e-mail dated December 31, 2018. Plaintiffs contend that the documents should be excluded for the following reasons:

- 1) In e-mails dated May 14, 2018 and December 4, 2018, Plaintiffs notified Defendant that they would not accept electronic service of documents disclosed during discovery, and would only accept service of such documents via U.S. mail. Notwithstanding this notification, Defendant did not serve the documents via U.S. mail. Civil Rule 26(a)(4) requires that disclosures be served by U.S. mail, unless a party consents to electronic service.
- 2) The documents produced by Defendant include 61 photographs, none of which are time stamped. These photographs go to the issue of the condition of the Restaurant Equipment. Defendant sold, gave away, lost, or destroyed $160,000 worth of the Restaurant Equipment. Introduction of the photographs without corresponding time-stamps would be prejudicial to the Plaintiffs. The photographs should be excluded for lack of sufficient authentication under Federal Rule of Evidence ("FRE") 901 and as duplicates whose authenticity has not been established under FRE 1003.
- 3) Defendant produced a document clearly labeled "protected settlement negotiations" (the "Settlement Document"). The Settlement Document is inadmissible under FRE 408.
- 4) Defendant produced a document title "Story.docs," which is a letter from Defendant to her attorney commenting on the litigation. The document is inadmissible hearsay and is irrelevant.

Defendant makes the following arguments in Opposition to the Motion:

- 1) The Motion should be denied because it was not supported by a declaration, as required by LBR 9013-1(c)(3).
- 2) Plaintiffs' contention that Defendant did not properly serve the documents as required by Civil Rule 26(a)(4) lacks merit. The documents were produced pursuant to the Scheduling Order issued by the Court on July 18, 2018, not pursuant to Civil Rule 26(a)(4).
- 3) The Settlement Document is not privileged because Defendant received this document from Plaintiffs as part of their Rule 7026 disclosures.
- 4) The Motion places form over substance, and is an example of Plaintiffs' attempts to bully Defendant and litigate by intimidation. Defendant should be awarded attorneys' fees of $1,650 for being required to defend against the Motion.

Plaintiffs make the following arguments in Reply to Defendant's Opposition:

- 1) Defendant's representation that Plaintiffs disclosed the Settlement Document is false. Every document Plaintiffs disclosed under Civil Rule 7026 was Bates numbered. The Settlement Document is not Bates numbered.
- 2) Plaintiffs were not required to support the Motion with a declaration. Bankruptcy Rule 9006(d) contemplates that not all Motions will contain supporting declarations. Rule 9006(d) provides: "When a motion is supported by affidavit, the affidavit shall be served with the motion" (emphasis added). The exhibits attached to the Motion provided all the evidentiary support that was necessary.
- 3) The manner in which Defendant has disclosed the documents has made it very difficult for Plaintiffs to identify which documents Defendant intends to offer as exhibits at trial. The documents disclosed via e-mail containing perplexing file names, such as "file4(1).jpeg" and "file1-1.png." The exhibit list provided by Defendant contains descriptions of the documents, such as "Amendment to Lease 6/14/2017" and "VAAC email 1/14/2019." Plaintiffs have no way of correlating the documents disclosed via e-mail with the descriptions on Defendant's Exhibit List.
- 4) Plaintiffs should be awarded $1,750 in sanctions, pursuant to Civil Rules 26(g)(3) and 37(c)(1)(A), based upon Defendant's failure to comply with Civil Rule 7026.

D. Summary of Papers Filed in Connection with Motion In Limine Re: Documents Attached to January 2019 Email

Plaintiffs move to exclude 42 documents that were produced by Defendant in an e-mail dated January 13, 2019. [Note 1] Plaintiffs contend that the documents should be excluded for the following reasons:

- 1) The documents consist of photographs of a cell phone showing text messages. The text messages are not legible. The photographs contain additional written text in addition to the purported text messages. This additional text appears to have been written by the Defendant to her attorney.

- 2) Under FRE 1003, a duplicate is admissible to the same extent as an original unless a genuine question is raised about the original's authenticity or the circumstances make it unfair to admit the duplicate. Here, there are genuine questions as to authenticity because of the illegibility of the text messages. In addition, it would be unfair to admit the photographs because of the additional written comments by the Defendant.

Defendant makes the following argument in Opposition to the Motion:

- 1) There is no merit to Plaintiffs' argument that the text messages are inadmissible because they are duplicates. The only way for Defendant to produce an original would be for Defendant to produce her cell phone, which she can do. Apparently Plaintiffs are unaware that text messages and photographs of cell phones are routinely used in court proceedings.

Plaintiffs make the following arguments in Reply to Defendant's Opposition:

- 1) Defendant has failed to address the authenticity of the documents under FRE 1003. The documents are pictures of a cell phone; the text message data on the phone is completely illegible.
- 2) Defendant has also failed to address the fact that the additional written statements contained in the photographs makes introduction of the photographs highly prejudicial to Plaintiffs.

E. Summary of Papers Filed in Connection with Plaintiffs' Motion Regarding the Sufficiency of an Answer or Objection

Plaintiffs assert that certain of Defendant's responses to Plaintiffs' Requests for Admission (the "RFAs") are insufficient. Plaintiffs seek an order deeming the allegedly deficient responses admitted. Plaintiffs argue that such relief is warranted for the following reasons:

- 1) Defendant objected to the relevance of 53 of the 92 RFAs. Defendant's relevance objections did not conform to Civil Rule 26(b)(1). Specifically, Defendant's objections stated that the RFAs were "not likely to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence" These objections were not in conformance with the 2015 amendments to Civil Rule 26(b)(1), which now provides that discovery is limited to information "proportional to the needs of the case." The "not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence" objection is no longer available under Civil Rule 26(b)(1). See Fischer v. Forrest, 2017 WL 773694, at *3 ("The 2015 amendments deleted that language from Rule 26(b)(1), and lawyers need to remove it from their jargon").

- 2) Defendant objected that certain RFAs were vague and ambiguous. It is not ground for objection that the request is ambiguous unless the responding party cannot, in good faith, frame an intelligent reply. Parties should "admit to the fullest extent possible, and explain in detail why other portions of a request may not be admitted." U.S. ex rel. Englund v. L.A. Cnty., 235 F.R.D. 675, 684 (E.D. Cal. 2006).
- 3) Defendant objected to RFAs 67, 77, and 84 on the ground that "no time frame was given." The time frame referred to in these RFAs was obvious because the RFAs referred to ESCROW 2, a document disclosed to Defendant from which the relevant time frame was apparent. Defendant's objection was in bad faith.

Defendant makes the following arguments in Opposition to the Motion:

- 1) The Motion is not supported by a declaration as required by LBR 9013-1(c).
- 2) The Motion is time-barred by the Court's July 18, 2018 Scheduling Order, which required that all discovery motions be heard by no later than January 26, 2019.
- 3) The Motion violates LBR 7026-1(c)(3), because Plaintiffs never sent the required discovery stipulation.
- 4) Defendant's responses to the RFAs are sufficient. Defendant admitted or denied most of the RFAs. As to those RFAs which were not admitted or denied, Defendant interposed a proper objection. Even as to those RFAs to which Defendant objected, Defendant still admitted or denied the RFA.
- 5) Defendant should be awarded attorneys' fees of $2,850 for defending against the Motion.

Plaintiff makes the following arguments in Reply to Defendant's Opposition:

- 1) The Motion does not violate the Court's July 18, 2018 Scheduling Order because the Court set the Motion for hearing after Plaintiffs filed an application seeking a hearing on the Motion on shortened notice.

- 2) The Motion does not violate LBR 7026-1(c). A discovery stipulation was not necessary because Defendant refused to cooperate in preparing such a stipulation.
- 3) Defendant objected to the relevance of RFAs pertaining to Defendant's attempts to sell the Liquor License. The value of the Liquor License is highly relevant to Plaintiffs' claims. Defendant also objected to the relevance of RFAs pertaining to "Fire Insurance Inventory," a term defined in Plaintiffs' Complaint. These RFAs were relevant because the Complaint alleges that Plaintiffs are entitled to the Fire Insurance Inventory.

II. Findings and Conclusions

A. Plaintiffs' Motion to Revoke Defendant's Discharge is Denied as Procedurally Improper

Bankruptcy Rule 7001(4) provides that a proceeding to revoke a discharge is an adversary proceeding. As explained by the treatise:

Whether a discharge should be granted, or once granted whether it should be revoked, is likely to become the subject of contested litigation. Given the importance of the result to the participants, clause (4) of Rule 7001, with certain exceptions, requires that such litigation be brought in the form of an adversary proceeding subject to the rules of Part VII.

10 Collier on Bankruptcy ¶ 7001.05 (16th ed. 2018).

Here, Plaintiffs seek revocation of Defendant's discharge by way of a motion brought within a separate § 523 action. Plaintiffs have failed to meet the procedural requirements of Bankruptcy Rule 7001(4). To seek revocation of Defendant's discharge, Plaintiffs are required to initiate a separate adversary complaint against Defendant. A motion filed within a pre-existing adversary proceeding is not adequate, because motions are litigated on an abbreviated timeframe without a meaningful opportunity to take discovery. The more formal procedures associated with a separate adversary proceeding are required to determine an issue of this significance. The Motion is DENIED. The denial is without prejudice to Plaintiffs' ability to file a § 727(d) complaint against the Defendant.

B. Plaintiffs' Motion in Limine Re: Documents Attached to December 2018 E-mail is Denied Civil Rule 26(a)(4) provides that all disclosures required under Civil Rule 26 must "be in writing, signed, and served." Civil Rule 5(b) sets forth various means by which service may be accomplished. Under Civil Rule 5(b)(2)(C), service may be accomplished by U.S. mail. Under Civil Rule 5(b)(2)(E), service may be accomplished by electronic means, but only "if the person consented in writing" Civil Rule 37(c)(1) provides that if "a party fails to provide information ... as required by Rule 26(a) or (e), the party is not allowed to use that information or witness to supply evidence on a motion, at a hearing, or at a trial, unless the failure was substantially justified or is harmless."

There is no dispute that Defendant served documents electronically, and that Plaintiffs have not consented to electronic service. Thus, Defendant's service was not in strict compliance with the requirements of Civil Rule 26(a)(4).

However, it does not follow that Plaintiffs are automatically entitled to exclusion of all the documents that Defendant served electronically. Plaintiffs' Motion is itself not in strict compliance with the applicable rules. LBR 9013-1(i) provides in relevant part:

Factual contentions involved in any motion, opposition or other response to a motion, or reply, must be presented, heard, and determined upon declarations and other written evidence. The verification of a motion is not sufficient to constitute evidence on a motion, unless otherwise ordered by the court.

None of the factual contentions in the Motion were supported by declaration testimony. The exhibits attached to the Motion are not admissible as evidence because they were not authenticated by a supporting declaration. In sum, Plaintiffs failed to supply any admissible evidence in support of the relief requested in the Motion.

Plaintiffs contend that a declaration was not required. Plaintiffs cite Bankruptcy Rule 9006(d), which contemplates that not all motions need be supported by a declaration: "When a motion is supported by affidavit, the affidavit shall be served with the motion" (emphasis added). Plaintiffs' reliance upon Bankruptcy Rule 9006(d) is unavailing. The more specific LBR 9013-1(i) clearly specifies that all factual contentions in support of a motion must be supported by "declarations and other written evidence."

The Motion's evidentiary defects are not obviated by Plaintiffs' inclusion of a declaration in its Reply in support of the Motion. The declaration attached to the Reply addresses only issues raised in Plaintiffs' Opposition, does not authenticate the exhibits offered in support of the Motion, and does not otherwise establish the facts attested to in the Motion. Even if the declaration supporting the Reply did provide a sufficient evidentiary basis for the Motion, such evidence could not be considered. LBR 9013-1(g) provides that "matters raised for the first time in reply documents will not be considered."

The Motion also fails to comply with the requirements of LBR 7026-1(c). LBR 7026-1(c) applies to any dispute arising under Civil Rules 7026–37. The instant Motion falls within the ambit of the rule, as it seeks exclusion of exhibits pursuant to Civil Rules 26(a)(4) and 37(c)(1).

LBR 7026-1(c)(2) requires that the parties meet and confer prior to filing any motion seeking relief under Civil Rules 7026–37:

Prior to the filing of any motion relating to discovery, counsel for the parties must meet in person or by telephone in a good faith effort to resolve a discovery dispute. It is the responsibility of counsel for the moving party to arrange the conference. Unless altered by agreement of the parties or by order of the court for cause shown, counsel for the opposing party must meet with counsel for the moving party within 7 days of service upon counsel of a letter requesting such meeting and specifying the terms of the discovery order to be sought.

Even if the Court were to consider the unauthenticated exhibits attached to the Motion, there is no indication that Plaintiffs complied with the requirements imposed by LBR 7026-1(c)(2). Exhibit A consists of a letter which advises Defendant that "Plaintiffs will be objecting to any document Debtor uses at trial that has not been disclosed pursuant to and in strict conformance with Rule 7026, as none of Debtor's disclosures thus far have conformed with Rule 7026." The letter does not qualify as a "meet-and-confer" request within the meaning of LBR 7026-1(c)(2), as it contains no invitation to meet and confer to resolve the issue, and is instead limited to advising Defendant of Plaintiffs' intent to object.

Plaintiffs' Motion states that prior to sending the letter reproduced in Exhibit A, Plaintiffs had e-mailed Defendant and requested that the Rule 7026 disclosures be sent by U.S. mail. This representation is not supported by any declaration testimony. Even if the Court were to assume that this representation is correct, Plaintiffs were still required to conduct a Rule 7026 conference with Defendant before filing the Motion. Plaintiffs' apparent belief that such a conference would have been futile does not remove the obligation to conduct the conference.

Both Plaintiffs and Defendant request that the opposing side be required to pay sanctions. The Court cautions both parties that it looks with disfavor upon requests for sanctions. The Court understands the adversarial position of the parties. However, requests for sanctions are seldom an appropriate means of advancing a party's position in the litigation. The Court will impose sanctions only if all procedural requirements have been fastidiously complied with, and then only if the party against whom sanctions are sought has engaged in egregiously improper conduct. Plaintiffs' and Defendant's request for sanctions are both denied.

C. Plaintiffs' Motion in Limine Re: Documents Attached to January 2019 E-mail is Denied

Plaintiffs' Motion In Limine pertaining to the documents attached to Defendant's January 2019 e-mail suffers from the same defects as Plaintiffs' similar motion pertaining to the documents attached to the December 2018 e-mail. Specifically, the Motion's factual contentions are not supported by any admissible evidence, and there is no indication that Plaintiffs engaged in the required Rule 7026 conference prior to filing the Motion. For these reasons, the Motion is denied. The requests for sanctions made by both Plaintiffs and Defendant are denied.

D. Plaintiffs' Motion Regarding the Sufficiency of an Answer or Objection is Denied

On July 18, 2018, the Court issued a Scheduling Order setting forth the deadlines governing the litigation (the "Scheduling Order"). The Scheduling Order provided that the "last day to complete discovery (except as to experts), including hearings on discovery motions, is 1/26/2019." Scheduling Order at ¶ 1(f). In a footnote, the Scheduling Order explained that if the "non-expert discovery cutoff date is not available for self-calendaring, the deadline for non-expert discovery motions to be heard is the next closest previous date which is available for self-calendaring."

Because the January 26, 2019 discovery motion cutoff date was not available for self-calendaring, the deadline for discovery motions to be heard was the next closest previous date that was available for self-calendaring—in this case, January 23, 2019. Defendant filed the instant discovery motion on January 24, 2019. On January 25, 2019, the Court issued an order setting the motion for hearing on February 12, 2019, concurrently with other motions in this action (the "Order").

Civil Rule 16(b)(4) provides that a scheduling order "shall not be modified except upon a showing of good cause and by leave of the ... judge." Civil Rule 16's "good cause" standard "primarily considers the diligence of the party seeking the amendment. The ... court may modify the pretrial schedule 'if it cannot reasonably be met despite the diligence of the party seeking the extension.'" Johnson, 975 F.2d at 609.

Plaintiffs have not shown good cause for their failure to set the Motion for hearing on or before January 23, 2019. Plaintiffs had approximately seven months' notice of this deadline. Nothing prevented Plaintiffs from serving their RFAs upon Defendant at an earlier date, so that they would have sufficient time to bring a discovery motion, if necessary. Because the Motion was not timely filed, the Court declines to grant the relief requested therein.

Plaintiffs contend that Defendant's ability to object to the timeliness of the Motion has been waived by the Order setting the Motion for hearing. Nothing within the Order precluded Defendant from objecting to the Motion's timeliness or otherwise indicated that the Court had elected to disregard Plaintiffs' failure to meet the deadlines set forth in the Scheduling Order. All that the Order did was set a hearing date on the Motion.

E. Modifications Made by the Court to the Proposed Pretrial Order

The Court has made extensive modifications to the proposed Pretrial Order (the "Proposed Pretrial Order") submitted by the parties. The reasons for the Court's modifications are set forth below.

Section 523(a)(4)

The Complaint alleges that Defendant committed fraud or defalcation, pursuant to § 523(a)(4), by violating her fiduciary duties to Redwood, a California corporation. These alleged fiduciary duty violations consist primarily of Defendant's failure to transfer the Liquor License to Redwood and her retention of the Restaurant Equipment and Sales Equipment.

Section 523(a)(4) excepts from discharge a debt "for fraud or defalcation while acting in a fiduciary capacity." To prevail on a nondischargeability claim under § 523(a)(4) the Plaintiffs must prove: "1) an express trust existed, 2) the debt was caused by fraud or defalcation, and 3) the debtor acted as a fiduciary to the creditor at the time the debt was created." Mele v. Mele (In re Mele), 501 B.R. 357, 363 (B.A.P.

9th Cir. 2013) (quoting Otto v. Niles, 106 F.3d 1456, 1459 (9th Cir. 1997)). Plaintiffs must show "not only the debtor's fraud or defalcation, but also that the debtor was acting in a fiduciary capacity when the debtor committed the fraud or defalcation." Honkanen v. Hopper (In re Honkanen), 446 B.R. 373, 378 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2011) (citations omitted).

Federal bankruptcy law determines whether a fiduciary relationship exists within the meaning of §523(a)(4). Cal-Micro, Inc. v. Cantrell (In re Cantrell), 329 F.3d 1119, 1125 (9th Cir. 2003). For purposes of §523(a)(4), the fiduciary relationship "must be one arising from an express or technical trust that was imposed before and without reference to the wrongdoing that caused the debt." Lewis v. Scott (In re Lewis), 97 F.3d 1182, 1185 (9th Cir. 1996).

As the Ninth Circuit has explained, a director of a California corporation is not a trustee with respect to the corporation's assets:

[I]n Bainbridge v. Stoner, 16 Cal.2d 423, 106 P.2d 423 (1940), the California Supreme Court held:

"One who is a director of a corporation acts in a fiduciary capacity, and the law does not allow him to secure any personal advantage as against the corporation or its stockholders. However, strictly speaking, the relationship is not one of trust, but of agency...." Id. at 426 (citations omitted); see also Bancroft-Whitney Co. v. Glen, 64 Cal.2d 327, 49 Cal.Rptr. 825, 411 P.2d 921, 934 (1966) (stating that while officers and directors stand in a fiduciary relation to the corporation, they are "technically not trustees").

Therefore, under Bainbridge, although officers and directors are imbued with the fiduciary duties of an agent and certain duties of a trustee, they are not trustees with respect to corporate assets.

In re Cantrell, 329 F.3d 1119, 1126 (9th Cir. 2003).

The parties dispute whether Defendant was the President or the Secretary of Redwood. Regardless of Defendant's role, Plaintiffs are not entitled to relief on their § 523(a)(4) claim, because a director of a California corporation lacks the fiduciary relationship necessary under § 523(a)(4). As explained in Cantrell, the director's fiduciary relationship does not arise from an express or technical trust imposed before and without reference to the wrongdoing that caused the debt. Therefore, all references in the Pretrial Stipulation to issues arising under § 523(a)(4) have been removed.

Defendant's Objections to Plaintiffs' Exhibits

The Proposed Pretrial Order states that Defendant objects to the admissibility of certain of Plaintiffs' exhibits. Defendant has not filed a Motion in Limine asserting these objections. The Scheduling Order provides in relevant part:

When preparing the Pretrial Stipulation, all parties shall stipulated to the admissibility of exhibits whenever possible. In the event any party cannot stipulate to the admissibility of an exhibit, that party must file a Motion in Limine which clearly identifies each exhibit alleged to be inadmissible and/or prejudicial. The moving party must set the Motion in Limine for hearing at the same time as the Pretrial Conference The failure of a party to file a Motion in Limine complying with the requirements of ¶(1)(h)(ii) shall be deemed a waiver of any objections to the admissibility of an exhibit.

Pretrial Order at ¶(1)(h).

Defendant's ability to object to any of Plaintiffs' exhibits has been waived by his failure to comply with the Pretrial Order.

Defendant's Exhibit List

Defendant's descriptions of her exhibits do not sufficiently disclose those exhibits to Plaintiffs. Defendant has disclosed exhibits to Plaintiffs using cryptic filenames such as "file4(1).jpeg" and "file1-1.png." The Exhibit List that Defendant furnished to Plaintiffs for inclusion in the Pretrial Order includes descriptions of the exhibits but no filenames. The Court finds that Plaintiffs have no way of correlating the documents Defendant has disclosed by e-mail with the exhibit descriptions in the Pretrial Order.

To remedy this issue, Defendant shall provide Plaintiffs a CD-ROM containing all the exhibits previously disclosed. The file names of the exhibits shall correspond to the descriptions set forth in the Pretrial Order. Defendant shall cause the CD-ROM to be delivered to Plaintiffs by no later than February 23, 2019.

Plaintiffs' Alleged Damages

Although it is impossible to prejudge the outcome of trial, the Court finds it appropriate to emphasize that Plaintiffs face serious difficulties in establishing that they are entitled to the damages alleged. The Complaint alleges that Plaintiffs invested $4,999 in Redwood on December 7, 2016. The Complaint further alleges that Plaintiffs loaned Defendant $10,000 on December 20, 2016, and loaned Defendant an additional $3,900 on May 2, 2017. The sum of Plaintiffs' investment and loans to Defendant was $18,899.

The Complaint does not allege the date upon which the Restaurant closed. A declaration filed by Defendant supporting her Opposition to Plaintiffs' Motion for an Order Vacating Debtor's Discharge states that the Restaurant closed in October 2017.

Plaintiffs argue that they are entitled to damages of $160,000 in connection with Defendant's alleged wrongful retention of the Restaurant Equipment, damages of $80,000 in connection with Defendant's alleged wrongful failure to transfer the Liquor License to Redwood, and damages in excess of $4,000 in connection with Defendant's alleged wrongful retention of the Sales Equipment. The Court finds it difficult to see how Plaintiffs could plausibly be entitled to damages in excess of $240,000 based on a capital contribution of $4,999 and loans of $13,900. It appears to the Court that the alleged damages are inflated.

The Court acknowledges that the parties previously attended mediation before Howard Ehrenberg, and that the action did not settle. Nonetheless, in the Court's view, a settlement of this action would inure to the benefit of all parties. The Court's rulings on the parties' pretrial motions should facilitate settlement.

The Court will try this action on Monday, April 8 and Wednesday April 10, 2019 at 9:00 a.m. In the event the action does not settle, the parties shall submit the materials set forth in the Order Re: Courtroom Procedures [Doc. No. 4] by no later than Thursday, March 28, 2019.

III. Conclusion

Based upon the foregoing, the two Motions In Limine, the Motion to Revoke Discharge, and the Motion Regarding the Sufficiency of an Answer or Objection are DENIED.

together with Mr. Torres, the "Debtors") filed a voluntary chapter 7 petition on November 2, 2010 (the "Petition Date").

On February 4, 2011, TruGrocer Federal Credit Union fka Albertsons Employee's Federal Credit Union ("TruGrocer") initiated this adversary proceeding against the Debtors by filing a complaint to except a debt from discharge pursuant to § 523 [Doc. No. 1] (the "Complaint"). On July 28, 2011, the Debtors and TruGrocer (together, the "Parties") filed a Stipulation for Entry of Judgment [Doc. No. 9] (the "Stipulation"), pursuant to which the Defendants agreed to entry of judgment in favor of TruGrocer, and jointly and severally against them, pursuant to §§ 523(a)(2) and (6) in the total amount of $40,362.40. The Stipulation further provides that there would be a stay of execution that prohibited TruGrocer from taking any action to levy on the Judgment, other than by recording an abstract of judgment, unless the Debtors failed to make payments in accordance with the repayment terms set forth in the Stipulation.

The relevant payment provisions of the Stipulation provide:

4. The Defendants shall make the following payments on the amounts:

Beginning on October 20, 2011, and continuing on or before the 20th day of each month, the Defendants shall pay the Credit Union the sum of $300.00 per month, until the sum of $25,200.00, has been paid to the Credit Union. It is estimated that it will take 84 monthly payments to pay said sum, if there is no default or delay in payments.

5. If the Defendants pay the total sum of $25,200.00, by remitting the $300.00 a month minimum payments, without an uncured default, the Credit Union will waive the remaining balance owed under the judgment and will at that time serve on the Defendants at their last known address and file with the Court an Acknowledgment of Satisfaction in full.

10. If any payment is ten (10) days or more late, or any ACH or direct deposit payment is reversed or returned by a payee bank unpaid for any reason, or if the Defendants breach any other condition set forth herein, the Credit Union will cause to be remitted by overnight delivery, i.e., overnight mail, federal express, UPS, etc. to the Defendants, at their last know [sic] address(es), up to three times and three times only, a fifteen (15) day Notice of Default and right to cure. If the default is cured and there is more than two (2) additional subsequent defaults or if a default is not timely cured, this Stipulation for Entry of Judgment Upon Default shall be deemed "IN DEFAULT." In said case, the Credit Union may file a Declaration regarding the default with the Court, without further notice to the Defendants or a hearing. The Declaration shall list all payments, which have been received from or on behalf of the Defendants and give credit therefor.

Stipulation, ¶¶ 4, 5, 10.

On August 1, 2011, the Court entered an order approving the stipulation [Doc. No. 10]. On August 2, 2011, the Court entered a Judgment (Based on Stipulation for Judgment) [Doc. No. 11] (the "Judgment").

On September 1, 2016, TruGrocer filed a Memorandum of Costs After Judgment, Acknowledgment of Credit, and Declaration of Accrued Interest [Doc. No. 18] (the "2016 Notice"), asserting an outstanding balance under the Judgment of $24,598.21. The 2016 Notice advised that the Debtors had defaulted under the terms of the Stipulation with respect to the waiver of amounts in excess of $25,200. Id., ¶¶ 14-17. The 2016 Notice further stated that despite the Debtors' breach, if the Debtors continued to make $300 monthly payments against the Judgment, TruGrocer would not attempt to garnish the Debtors' wages. Id., ¶ 18. On October 5, 2016, TruGrocer filed the Declaration of Ann Cargile Regarding Default of Stipulation for Judgment in Support of Termination of Stay of Execution [Doc. No. 19] (the "Cargile Decl").

On October 5, 2018, TruGrocer filed its 2nd Memorandum of Costs After Judgment, Acknowledgment of Credit, and Declaration of Accrued Interest [Doc. No. 20] (the "2018 Notice").

On November 15, 2018, TruGrocer filed an Application for Renewal of Judgment [Doc. No. 21], Notice of Renewal of Judgment [Doc. No. 22], and a Proof of Service of Notice of Renewal of Judgment and Re-Service of the Declaration Regarding Default of Stipulation Previously Served and Filed on October 5, 2016 [Doc. No. 23].

Chapter 7

On December 12, 2018, Mr. Torres filed a declaration opposing the Renewal Application [Doc. No. 27] (the "Opposition"). Mr. Torres states that he paid the $25,200 debt to TruGrocer in full and denies that he was in breach of the Stipulation. Mr. Torres does not dispute that he made three late payments, but contends that he has never received any communications from TruGrocer informing him of any default. Mr. Torres states that he has attempted to obtain a copy of his payment history, but that TruGrocer has not responded. Accordingly, Mr. Torres contends that TruGrocer has no right to a renewed judgment.

On December 26, 2018, TruGrocer filed a Reply to Declaration of Donald Torres in Opposition to Notice of Renewal [Doc. No. 28] (the "Reply"). In support of the Reply, TruGrocer states that the Debtors made the first two payments under the terms of the Stipulation, but that the Debtors' December 16, 2011 check (number 1235) was returned for insufficient funds. TruGrocer states that on December 21, 2011, it sent a letter to the Debtors via overnight mail (the "December 21 Letter") advising them of the default and giving them notice of their obligation to cure the default within fifteen days, or by January 5, 2012. Cargile Declaration, Ex. A-3. TruGrocer then sent a follow up letter on January 10, 2012 (the "January 10 Letter") advising the Debtors that they failed to timely cure the default and that the waiver was null and void. Cargile Declaration, Ex. A-4. TruGrocer acknowledges that the Debtors sent a check dated January 3, 2012 (number 1207), but states that it was returned for insufficient funds. Accordingly, TruGrocer maintains its position that the Debtors defaulted under the terms of the Stipulation and, as a result, are obligated to pay the full amount due and owing under the Judgment. TruGrocer also highlights that the Debtors failed to timely object to the 2016 Notice.

TruGrocer states that the Judgment does not expire on its face until 10 years from the date it was entered, which is August 2, 2021. However, TruGrocer seeks a renewal to reflect the amounts credited based upon the Debtors' payments to date. Therefore, TruGrocer requests that the Court overrule the Opposition.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

California Code of Civil Procedure section 683.020 defines the period for enforceability of judgments. See Cal. Code Civ. Proc. § 683.020. There are certain ways to preserve a judgment, however. One way is to file an application for renewal of the judgment under the terms of California Code of Civil Procedure sections 683.120 and 683.130 prior to the expiration of the 10-year enforceability period. See Cal. Code. Civ. Proc. §§ 683.120, 683.130. This automatically renews the judgment for another period of ten years. See Cal. Code Civ. Proc. § 683.120(b) ("the filing of the application renews the judgment in the amount determined under Section 684.150 and extends the period of enforceability of the judgment as renewed for a period of 10 years from the date the application is filed").

"[A] request for the renewal of a judgment is not one for independent relief; rather it is 'an automatic, ministerial act accomplished by the clerk of the court.'" In re Zavala, 505 B.R. 268 (C.D. Cal. 2014) (quoting Goldman v. Simpson, 160 Cal.App.4th 255, 262 (2008)). "Renewal does not create a new judgment or modify the present judgment." Id. (quoting Jonathan Neil & Assocs., Inc. v. Jones, 138 Cal.App.4th 1481, 1489 (2006)). As explained in Jonathan Neil & Assocs., Inc. v. Jones:

There is simply 'the judgment,' which remains enforceable for an additional period and for which interest is calculated differently after a party renews the judgment, but the rights of the judgment creditor arise from the underlying judgment. If, for example, a judgment creditor 'renewed' a judgment that had been previously satisfied, the creditor would not have any additional rights as a result of the renewal.

138 Cal.App.4th at 1487.

In this case, Mr. Torres disputes TruGrocer's entitlement to a renewed judgment but, aside from challenging the amount of the renewed judgment, has not provided any factual or legal basis to conclude that TruGrocer's Application for a Renewed Judgment is invalid.

With respect to Mr. Torres' contention that the Judgment has been fully satisfied, TruGrocer has responded with evidence that supports its position – i.e., that the Debtors defaulted under the terms of the Stipulation by failing to timely make and cure the December 2011 payment and by failing to timely cure the default within fifteen days, by January 5, 2012. The January 10 Letter unambiguously advises the Debtors of their default:

Chapter 7

It is with disappointment that I am sending this letter to you. I have just been informed by TruGrocer Federal Credit Union that you failed to timely cure the default of the Stipulation for Entry of Judgment . . .

This is also notwithstanding the fact that Mr. Torres was already aware of the fact that the check had been returned to the Credit Union, when he called my office on December 22, 2011 (i.e., the date my letter was delivered to you) to inform me that he was mailing a new check the same day . . .

It is my understanding that Mr. Torres mailed to the Credit Union a new check dated January 3, 2012 by regular mail on January 4, 2012, in the amount of $300.00. Unfortunately, it was received by the Credit Union on January 9, 2012 . . .

. . . As such, the waiver of the $15,000 in the Stipulation for Entry of Judgment is now null and void . . .

If you continue to make your payments on or before the date your payments are due . . . the Credit Union is prepared to forego its right at this time to garnish your wages.

Ex. A-3 (emphasis in original).

Mr. Torres has not submitted any evidence to controvert TruGrocer's evidence. Moreover, Mr. Torres contends that he never received any warnings or communications from TruGrocer regarding any alleged default, but the address listed on Mr. Torres's Opposition is the same address appearing on the December 21 Letter, the January 10 Letter, and the proof of service filed in support of the 2016 Notice. Accordingly, Mr. Torres' Opposition is overruled.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the Court OVERRULES Mr. Torres' Opposition. The Application for Renewed Judgment is valid as of November 15, 2018.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Felix Anibal Diaz and Ceclia Giron Diaz (the "Debtors") filed a voluntary joint chapter 7 case on July 6, 2018 (the "Petition Date"). Shortly thereafter John J. Menchaca was appointed chapter 7 trustee (the "Trustee") and continues to serve in that capacity.

On August 28, 2018, the Trustee commenced this action by filing a complaint against Johanna Olivares (the "Defendant"). On September 5, 2018, the Trustee filed an amended complaint asserting claims for: Avoidance of Transfer; Recovery of Avoided Transfer; Determination of Value, Priority and Extent of Validity of Lien; Declaratory Relief; Quiet Title; To Remove Cloud on Title; and Injunction [Adv. No. 3] (the "Amended Complaint").

The Amended Complaint alleges that on October 12, 2017, the Debtors executed a second deed of trust (the "2nd DOT") securing debt in the amount of $325,000 against their real property located at 11119 S. Doty Avenue, Inglewood, CA 90303 APN 4033-015-024 (the "Duplex") in favor of their daughter, the Defendant, for no consideration (the "Transfer"). The Amended Complaint further alleges that the Transfer is voidable as a fraudulent and preferential transfer.

The deadline for Defendant to file an answer or response to the Amended Complaint expired on October 5, 2018. Defendant did not timely file an answer and, as of the preparation of this tentative ruling, has not filed an answer. The Clerk of the Court entered Defendant's default on November 8, 2018 [Adv. Doc. No. 14].

The Trustee now seeks entry of default judgment on his first through seventh claims for relief [Note 1] against the Defendant to avoid and recover the 2nd DOT, such that the 2nd DOT is assigned to the Estate in the amount of $324,000 as of the Petition Date without interest.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Once default has been entered, the well-pleaded factual allegations of the complaint are taken as true. Cripps v. Life Ins. Co. of North America, 980 F.2d 1261, 1267 (9th Cir. 1992). However, the Court may enter default judgment only if the complaint sets forth allegations showing that Plaintiff is entitled to the relief requested.

The Transfer is Avoided as Constructively Fraudulent Pursuant to § 548(a)(1)(B)

Section 548(a)(1)(B) permits the Trustee to avoid a transfer made within two years of the Petition Date if the Debtors "received less than a reasonably equivalent value in exchange for such transfer" and if the Debtors "w[ere] insolvent on the date that such transfer was made . . . or became insolvent as a result of such transfer."

The Trustee has established that the Debtors made the Transfer to the Defendant in the amount of $325,000 within two years before the Petition Date. Amended Complaint, ¶ 7. The well-pleaded allegations of the Amended Complaint establish that the Debtors made the Transfer for no consideration and that the Debtors were insolvent on the date of the Transfer or became insolvent as a result of the Transfer. Id., ¶¶ 7, 10, 16, 22, 23. The Amended Complaint further alleges that the Duplex made up all or substantially all of the Debtors' non-exempt assets. Id., ¶ 14. Accordingly, the Trustee is entitled to a judgment avoiding the Transfer pursuant to § 548(a)(1)(B)(i) and (ii)(I).

The Transfer is Avoided as Actually Fraudulent Pursuant to § 548(a)(1)(A)

Section 548(a)(1)(A) provides: "The trustee may avoid any transfer ... of an interest of the debtor in property ... that was made or incurred on or within 2 years before the date of the filing of the petition, if the debtor voluntarily or involuntarily made such transfer ... with actual intent to hinder, delay, or defraud any entity to which the debtor was or became, on or after the date that such transfer was made ... indebted."

Because "it is often impracticable, on direct evidence, to demonstrate an actual intent to hinder, delay or defraud creditors," courts "frequently infer fraudulent intent from the circumstances surrounding the transfer, taking particular note of certain recognized indicia or badges of fraud." Acequia, Inc. v. Clinton (In re Acequia, Inc.), 34 F.3d 800, 805 (9th Cir. 1994). Those badges of fraud include "(1) actual or threatened litigation against the debtor; (2) a purported transfer of all or substantially all of the debtor's property; (3) insolvency or other unmanageable indebtedness on the part of the debtor; (4) a special relationship between the debtor and the transferee; and, after the transfer, (5) retention by the debtor of the property involved in the putative transfer." Id.

The Trustee has established that the Debtors made the Transfer to the Defendant in the amount of $325,000 within the two years before the Petition Date. Amended Complaint, ¶ 7. The well-pleaded allegations of the Amended Complaint establish that the Debtors made the Transfer to their daughter for no consideration shortly after being sued by Deutsche Bank National Trust Company ("Deutsche Bank") for breach of contract in the amount of $153,873.76 on a $320,00 promissory note. Id., ¶¶ 7, 17. Chapter 7 judgment avoiding the Transfer pursuant to § 548(a)(1)(A).

The Transfer is Avoided as Actually Fraudulent Pursuant to § 544(b), Applying California Civil Code § 3439.04

Section 544(b)(1) permits the trustee to "avoid any transfer of an interest of the debtor in property ... that is voidable under applicable law by a creditor holding an unsecured claim that is allowable under section 502 of this title or that is not allowable only under section 502(e) of this title." The "applicable law" in this case is California's Uniform Voidable Transfers Act, codified at California Civil Code § 3439.01 et seq. The relevant provision of the California Uniform Voidable Transfers Act (the "UVTA"), §3439.04, is substantially identical to §548(a)(1)(A) of the Bankruptcy Code.

For the same reasons that the Transfer is avoidable under § 548(a)(1)(A), the Transfer is avoidable as actually fraudulent pursuant to § 544(b), applying California Civil Code § 3439.04.

The Transfer is Avoided as Constructively Fraudulent Pursuant to § 544(b), Applying California Civil Code § 3439.05

As discussed above, the Trustee may avoid transfers pursuant to California's UVTA. The relevant provision of the UVTA, § 3439.05, is substantially identical to § 548(a)(1)(B)(i)(I) of the Bankruptcy Code. Accordingly, the Transfer is avoidable as constructively fraudulent pursuant to § 544(b), applying California Code § 3439.05.

The Trustee's Request for Entry of Default Judgment Pursuant to § 547(b) is Denied

The Trustee seeks entry of default judgment on his § 547(b) preference claim. However, the Court finds that judgment on the preference claim would be inconsistent with the Court's findings that the Transfer was actually and constructively fraudulent as to creditors based, in part, upon the Trustee's allegations that the Transfer was for no consideration. Aside from parroting the elements set forth in section 547(b), the Amended Complaint does not contain sufficiently well-pleaded allegations to establish the Trustee's entitlement to entry of judgment pursuant to § 547(b).

Chapter 7

The Trustee's Request for Entry of Default Judgment Pursuant to § 544(a)(3) is Denied

Under § 544(a)(3), the trustee has the rights and powers of a bona fide purchaser of real property, including the power to avoid transfers of interest in real property. The Amended Complaint alleges several defects that render the 2nd DOT unenforceable against the Trustee as a bona fide purchaser. However, the Trustee has failed to cite any applicable California authority establishing that the purported defects render the 2nd DOT unenforceable. Therefore, the Trustee has failed to carry his burden of establishing entitlement to default judgment pursuant to § 544(b)(3).

The Transfer is Recovered Pursuant to §§ 550 and 551

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 550(a), the Trustee is entitled to recover an avoided transfer from the transferee. Accordingly, the Trustee is entitled to a judgment avoiding the 2nd DOT and recovering and assigning the 2nd DOT to the estate.

Pursuant to § 551, "any transfer avoided under section ... 544 ... is preserved for the benefit of the estate but only with respect to property of the estate." Accordingly, the Trustee is entitled to a judgment against the Defendant preserving the avoided Transfer for the benefit of the estate.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the Default Judgment Motion is GRANTED IN-PART and DENIED IN-PART. The Trustee is entitled to judgment pursuant to §§ 544(b), 548(a)(1)(A), 548(a)(1)(B)(i)(I)-(II), 550(a), and 551. The Trustee's request for a judgment on his §§ 547(b) and 544(b)(3) claims is denied.

The Trustee is directed to lodge a conforming proposed order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, and a proposed judgment within seven days of the hearing.

#3.00 HearingRE: [23] Motion for Default Judgment with proof of service (Avery, Wesley)

Docket 23

Tentative Ruling:

2/12/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Default Judgment Motion is GRANTED IN-PART and DENIED IN-PART.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed

1. Amended Complaint for: (1/4) Denial of Discharge and (5) an Accounting and Turnover [Adv. Doc. No. 2] (the "Amended Complaint")
2. Notice of Motion and Motion for Default Judgment; Request for Judicial Notice; Memorandum of Points and Authorities; Declaration in Support Thereof [Adv. Doc. No. 23] (the "Default Judgment Motion")
3. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Felix Anibal Diaz and Ceclia Giron Diaz (the "Debtors") filed a voluntary joint chapter 7 case on July 6, 2018 (the "Petition Date"). Shortly thereafter John J. Menchaca was appointed chapter 7 trustee (the "Trustee") and continues to serve in that capacity.

On August 28, 2018, the Trustee commenced this action by filing a complaint against Felix Anibal Diaz and Cecilia Giron Diaz (together, the "Debtors"). On September 5, 2018, the Trustee filed an amended complaint asserting claims for denial of discharge, accounting and turnover [Adv. Doc. No. 2] (the "Amended Complaint").

The Amended Complaint alleges that on October 12, 2017, the Debtors executed a second deed of trust (the "2nd DOT") securing debt in the amount of $325,000 against their real property located at 11119 S. Doty Avenue, Inglewood, CA 90303 APN

4033-015-024 (the "Duplex") in favor of their daughter, Johanna Olivares ("Ms. Olivares"), for no consideration (the "Transfer"). The Amended Complaint further alleges that the Debtors lied about the Transfer at the initial 341(a) Meeting of Creditors, failed to disclose the Transfer in their Statement of Financial Affairs ("SOFA"), and made other materially false statements under oath and in their schedules with respect to the Transfer. The Amended Complaint further alleges that the Debtors have failed to account for rental income derived from their post-petition lease of the Duplex.

The deadline for the Debtors to file an answer or response to the Amended Complaint expired on October 5, 2018. The Debtors did not timely file an answer and, as of the preparation of this tentative ruling, have not filed an answer. The Clerk of the Court entered Debtors' default on November 7, 2018 [Adv. Doc. No. 13, 14].

The Trustee now seeks entry of default judgment against the Debtors on all claims for relief.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Once default has been entered, the well-pleaded factual allegations of the complaint are taken as true. Cripps v. Life Ins. Co. of North America, 980 F.2d 1261, 1267 (9th Cir. 1992). However, the Court may enter default judgment only if the complaint sets forth allegations showing that Plaintiff is entitled to the relief requested.

The Debtors' Discharge is Denied Pursuant to § 727(a)(2)(A) and (B)

Section 727(a)(2)(A) and (B) provide that a debtor is not entitled to a discharge if:

The debtor, with intent to hinder, delay, or defraud a creditor or an officer of the estate . . . has transferred, removed, destroyed, mutilated, or concealed, or has permitted to be transferred removed, destroyed, mutilated, or concealed—

(A) property of the debtor within one year before the date of the filing of the petition; or

(B) property of the estate, after the date of the filing of the petition.

Chapter 7

Here, the well-pleaded allegations in the Amended Complaint establish that within one year of the Petition Date, on October 12, 2017, the Debtors transferred the Duplex to Ms. Olivares for no consideration. Amended Complaint, ¶ 7. The Amended Complaint further alleges that shortly before the Transfer occurred, the Debtors were sued by Deutsche Bank National Trust Company ("Deutsche Bank") for a breach of contract in the amount of $153,873.76 on a $320,000 promissory note. Id., ¶ 17. Finally, the Amended Complaint alleges that the Debtors made the Transfer with the intent to hinder, delay, or defraud creditors, including but not limited to, Deutsche Bank. Id., ¶ 20. Therefore, the Court finds that the Debtors are not entitled to a discharge pursuant to § 727(a)(2)(A).

The Amended Complaint further alleges that the Debtors concealed the Transfer on their SOFA and falsely scheduled a debt owing to Ms. Olivares in the amount of $324,000 on Schedule D to mislead the Trustee and conceal the existence of equity in the Duplex. Amended Complaint, ¶¶ 12a, 12b, 21. Therefore, the Court finds that the Debtors are not entitled to a discharge pursuant to § 727(a)(2)(B).

The Trustee's Request for Entry of Default Judgment Pursuant to § 727(a)(3) is Denied

Section 727(a)(3) provides that a debtor is not entitled to a discharge if:
The debtor has concealed, destroyed, mutilated, falsified, or failed to keep or preserve any recorded information, including books, documents, records, and papers, from which the debtor's financial condition or business transactions might be ascertained, unless such act or failure was justified under all of the circumstances of the case.

The Trustee seeks entry of default judgment on his § 727(a)(3) claim on the basis that the Debtors have failed to present any evidence to support their assertion that the 2nd DOT was given for consideration. However, the Court finds that judgment on this claim would be inconsistent with the Court's above findings that the Debtors transferred the Duplex for no consideration with an intent to hinder, delay, or defraud creditors and that Debtors concealed and mislead the Trustee with respect to the Transfer. Either the Debtors fabricated the debt to conceal and protect their equity (making them liable under § 727(a)(2)) or they incurred the debt but concealed, destroyed, mutilated, falsified or failed to keep records of the debt (making them liable under § 727(a)(3)). On these facts, the Trustee has failed to adequately demonstrate his entitlement to judgment under both §§ 727(a)(2) and (a)(3). Therefore, the Trustee's request for judgment pursuant to § 727(a)(3) is denied.

The Debtors' Discharge is Denied Pursuant to § 727(a)(4)(A)

Section 727(a)(4)(A) provides that a debtor is not entitled to a discharge if "the debtor knowingly and fraudulently, in or in connection with the case made a false oath or account."

The Amended Complaint alleges that the Debtors lied about their relationship to Ms. Olivares, failed to disclose the Transfer on their SOFA, and falsely scheduled a debt owing to Ms. Olivares in the amount of $324,000 on Schedule D to mislead the Trustee and conceal the existence of equity in the Duplex. Amended Complaint, ¶¶ 9, 12a, 12b, 27. Therefore, the Court finds that the Debtors are not entitled to a discharge pursuant to § 727(a)(4)(A).

The Trustee's Request for Entry of Default Judgment Pursuant to § 727(a)(4)(D) is Denied

Section 727(a)(4)(D) provides that a debtor is not entitled to a discharge if: the debtor knowingly and fraudulently, in or in connection with the case withheld from an officer of the estate entitled to possession under this title, any recorded information, including books, documents, records, and papers, relating to the debtor's property or financial affairs.

The Trustee seeks entry of judgment pursuant to § 727(a)(4)(D) on the basis that the Debtors have failed to present any evidence to support their assertion that the 2nd DOT was given for consideration. For the same reasons stated above with respect to § 727(a)(3), the Court finds that judgment on this claim would be inconsistent with the Court's other findings with respect to § 727(a)(2).

The Debtors' Discharge is Denied Pursuant to § 727(a)(5)

Section 727(a)(5) provides that a debtor is not entitled to a discharge if:

Chapter 7

The debtor has failed to explain satisfactorily, before determination of denial of discharge under this paragraph, any loss of assets or deficiency of assets to meet the debtor's liabilities.

Here, the Debtors have failed to satisfactorily explain the consideration received for the Transfer, which resulted in a loss of equity in the Duplex. Amended Complaint, ¶¶ 7, 14, 15, 16 31. Therefore, the Court finds that the Debtors are not entitled to a discharge pursuant to § 727(a)(5).

The Trustee is Entitled to an Accounting and Turnover of the Rents

Section 542(a) provides:

Except as provided in subsection (c) or (d) of this section, an entity, other than a custodian, in possession, custody, or control, during the case, of property that the trustee may use, sell, or lease under section 363 of this title . . . shall deliver to the trustee, and account for, such property or the value of such property, unless such property is of inconsequential value or benefit to the estate.

Here, the Amended Complaint alleges that the Duplex had a fair market value of $675,000 as of the Petition Date and that absent the 2nd DOT, the Duplex has equity that the Trustee could administer for the benefit of creditors. Amended Complaint, ¶¶ 5, 34, 35. [Note 1] Therefore, the Trustee is entitled to judgment pursuant to § 542(a) requiring the Debtors to turn over the Duplex to the Trustee.

The Amended Complaint also alleges that the Debtors' Schedule I states that the Debtors receive $1,250 for the lease of the Duplex and their 2017 tax return reflected monthly income of $1,300 from the lease of the Duplex. Amended Complaint, ¶ 15. The Amended Complaint further alleges that that the Debtors have not turned over or accounted for any rents received post-petition arising from the Debtors' lease of the Duplex. Id., ¶¶ 34, 35. Therefore, the Trustee is entitled to judgment pursuant to §§ 542(a) and 105(a) requiring the Debtors to provide an accounting of any post-petition rent.

For the reasons set forth above, the Default Judgment Motion is GRANTED IN-PART and DENIED IN-PART. The Trustee is entitled to judgment denying the Debtors' discharge pursuant to §§ 727(a)(2)(A), 727(a)(2)(B), 727(a)(4)(A), and 727(a)(5), for turnover of the Duplex pursuant to § 542(a), and for an accounting of any post-petition rent pursuant to §§ 542(a) and 105. The Trustee's request for a judgment on his §§ 727(a)(3) and 727(a)(4)(D) claims is denied.

The Trustee is directed to lodge a conforming proposed order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, and a proposed judgment within seven days of the hearing.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. Chapter 11 petition on March 21, 2016. Oak River Asset Management LLC ("Oak River") commenced a voluntary Chapter 11 petition on July 12, 2016. From March 21, 2016 to January 29, 2017, the Hon. Thomas B. Donovan presided over Liberty and Oak River's cases. On January 30, 2017, both cases were reassigned to the undersigned Judge.

On June 18, 2018, the Court entered an order in the Liberty case confirming the First Amended Chapter 11 Plan of Liquidation Dated January 31, 2018 (the "Liberty Plan" and the order confirming the Liberty Plan, the "Liberty Confirmation Order"). Liberty Doc. No. 609, Ex. A (Liberty Plan) and Liberty Doc. No. 665 (Liberty Confirmation Order). The Liberty Plan appointed Bradley D. Sharp as the Plan Administrator responsible for liquidating the assets of Liberty's estate. Among other things, the Liberty Plan provides that Liberty holds 100% of Oak River's equity. Consequently, the Liberty Plan provides that any surplus proceeds from Oak River's estate will be distributed to creditors of Liberty's estate.

AHA 2012 LLC ("AHA"), YCJS 2012 LLC ("YCJS"), and Frank Lee, as Trustee of the Lee Living Trust Dated 6/23/1987, and Christopher Lee (the "Lee Investors") (collectively, the "Claimants") filed identical Proofs of Claim (the "Claims") against the Liberty and Oak River estates. On January 7, 2019, the Court overruled in part the Plan Administrator's objections to the Claims, finding that the Claimants held allowed general unsecured claims against Oak River's estate in the following amounts:

- 1) AHA—$720,000;
- 2) YCJS—$900,000; and
- 3) Lee Investors—$900,000.

Memorandum of Decision Denying Objections to Proofs of Claim [Doc. No. 876] (the "Memorandum").

The Court further found that to the extent Oak River's estate did not contain sufficient funds to pay the Claims in full, the Claimants held allowed general unsecured claims for the remaining unpaid amounts against Liberty's estate.

Findings made in the Memorandum are set forth at length, as they provide necessary context for the Plan Administrator's instant motion seeking substantive consolidation of the estates of Liberty and Oak River. As explained in the Memorandum (footnotes omitted):

The claims arise from Claimants' attempt to invest in real property located at 119 Furlong Lane, Bradbury, CA 911008 (the "Furlong Property"). Pursuant to this objective, each claimant executed a contract titled Disclosure Acknowledgment and Commitment to Purchase and Sell Real Property Agreement (the "Purchase and Sale Agreement"). The contracts were substantially identical. Each Purchase and Sale Agreement was entered into between the Claimant, on the one hand, and "Liberty Asset Management Corporation and its respective parent or subsidiary companies and affiliates," on the other hand. The Purchase and Sale Agreements required Liberty and/or its subsidiaries and affiliates to purchase the Furlong Property on the Claimants' behalf, after which each Claimant would receive a fractional interest in the Furlong Property proportionate to the Claimant's investment. The Purchase and Sale Agreements further provided:

The investor acknowledges that LAMC is not the current owner of the real property [the Furlong Property] ... but has the same under purchase contract with its rights as Purchaser thereunder freely assignable to the investor

Each Claimant anticipated that after Liberty purchased the Furlong Property on their behalf, the Furlong Property would quickly be sold for a substantial profit. After several months, Claimants became suspicious as to why the Furlong Property had not been sold. At several times during 2014 and 2015, certain of the Claimants met with Benjamin Kirk and Shelby Ho to discuss the status of the Furlong Property. After these discussions provided fruitless, on January 19, 2016, Claimants commenced litigation against Liberty, Oak River, and other parties in the Los Angeles Superior Court. Claimants asserted causes of action for breach of contract, intentional misrepresentation, negligent misrepresentation, rescission, unfair competition, violation of the Corporate Securities Law of 1968, conversion, conspiracy, and alter ego. Only the causes of action for conspiracy and alter ego were pleaded against Oak River.

Memorandum at 3–4.

The primary issues regarding the allowability of the Claims was whether Claimants were entitled to receive a distribution from Liberty's estate, from Oak River's estate, or from both estates. As noted in the Memorandum:

Because more claims have been filed against the Liberty estate than the Oak River estate, Claimants' distribution will be significantly larger if it is initially paid from Oak River's estate. Claimants assert that they are entitled to receive a distribution from Oak River's estate, as well as a distribution from Liberty's estate if Oak River's estate does not contain sufficient funds to pay their claims in full. Movants assert that Claimants are entitled to receive a distribution only from Liberty's estate.

Id. at 3.

Determination of this issue was complicated by the fact that the positions taken by various parties with respect to Liberty's ownership interest in Oak River has evolved throughout these cases. As stated in the Memorandum:

Liberty commenced its voluntary Chapter 11 petition on March 21, 2016. Liberty filed a complete set of schedules on April 5, 2016. In the April 5 schedules, Liberty asserted a "20% beneficial interest" in Oak River. On June 7, 2016, Liberty filed amended schedules, in which it asserted a "[p]aternal beneficial interest" in Oak River.

On July 12, 2016, Oak River commenced its voluntary Chapter 11 petition. Oak River's petition was signed by Lawrence Perkins, in his capacity as Oak River's "authorized agent." At the time, Mr. Perkins was serving as Liberty's Chief Restructuring Officer ("CRO"). Oak River's June 12, 2016 schedules provided that its equity was held by the following persons and entities:

- 1) 16% equity interest held by AHA;
- 2) 4% equity interest held by Christopher Deryen Lee;
- 3) 16% equity interest held by the Lee Trust;
- 4) 44% equity interest held by Liberty; and
- 5) 20% equity interest held by YCJS.

On September 27, 2016, the Court granted Oak River's application to employ Mr. Perkins as its CRO, with such employment effective as of July 12, 2016. On January 25, 2018, Oak River filed a List of Equity Security Holders—Amended, which provided that Liberty held 100% of Oak River's equity. The List of Equity Security Holders—Amended was signed by Mr.

Perkins in his capacity as Oak River's CRO.

On June 18, 2018, the Court confirmed the Liberty Plan, which provides that Oak River is an "Investment Entity" of Liberty. The Liberty Plan defines an "Investment Entity" as "a single purpose limited liability entity set up to acquire assets, which was capitalized with funds provided by" Liberty. The Liberty Plan and Liberty Plan Confirmation Order contain no express findings regarding Liberty's ownership of Oak River. However, the Liberty Plan provides for the distribution of Oak River's equity to Liberty's estate, a distribution which would be impermissible unless Liberty owned 100% of Oak River's equity. Consequently, implicit in the Liberty Confirmation Order is a finding that Liberty owns 100% of Oak River's equity.

At the hearing [on the Plan Administrator's objections to the Claims], the Plan Administrator stated that Liberty's 100% ownership interest in Oak River had been established by findings made by Judge Donovan in the adversary proceeding Official Unsecured Creditors Committee for Liberty Asset Management Corporation v. Lucy Gao and Benjamin Kirk (the "Kirk/Gao Adversary Proceeding"). To ensure a clear record, the Court finds it necessary to provide clarification with respect to this statement. On January 25, 2017, Judge Donovan entered findings of fact (the "Jan. 25 Findings"), which provided, among other things, that Liberty made use of various Investment Entities in the operation of its business, and that "all of the property held by the Investment Entities is actually owned by" Liberty. The Jan. 25 Findings did not, however, specifically designate Oak River as such an Investment Entity, although the definition of "Investment Entity" was non-exclusive.

Memorandum at 8–9.

The Court found that the difficulties faced by Mr. Perkins and other interested parties in understanding Liberty's ownership interested in Oak River were caused by the malfeasance of Ms. Gao:

As found in the Kirk/Gao Adversary Proceeding, Ms. Gao was a manager at Liberty who was responsible for overseeing its accounting and record-keeping functions. After an investigator hired by the Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors appointed in Liberty's case (the "Liberty Committee") observed a document shredding truck at Liberty's offices, the Liberty Committee filed an emergency motion to force Liberty to turnover documents and information in its possession. By the time the Liberty Committee obtained an order granting its turnover motion, many of Liberty's documents had already been consigned to the shredder. Ms. Gao supervised the document shredding.

Liberty's books and records that were not destroyed were ultimately turned over to Mr. Perkins and the Liberty Committee. The remaining books and records were insufficient to permit the compilation of "even a rudimentary overview of [Liberty's] financial operations." Even attempts by the Liberty Committee to obtain records from third parties did not produce "a coherent or consistent set of underlying records on which [Liberty] based its business."

Certain public filings pertaining to Oak River remain available. The Limited Liability Company Articles of Organization (the "Articles of Organization") for Oak River's predecessor-in-interest, JPM 6 Unity Project LLC ("JPM 6"), were filed with the California Secretary of State (the "Secretary of State") on April 30, 2010. The Articles of Organization specified that JPM 6 would be managed by more than one manager. On August 13, 2010, Mr. Kirk filed a Limited Liability Company Certificate of Amendment (the "Certificate of Amendment") with the Secretary of State, changing the name of JPM 6 to Oak River Asset Management LLC. The Certificate of Amendment stated that Oak River would be managed by one manager, and designated that manager as Mr. Kirk.

On April 25, 2014, Oak River filed a Statement of Information with the California Secretary of State, which stated that Hanna Cosman was the manager of Oak River. As the Court found in the Kirk/Gao Adversary Proceeding, Hanna Cosman (aka Helena Hanna Cosman) had signature authority to transfer Liberty funds with respect to certain bank accounts. On March 12, 2015, Oak River filed an additional Statement of Information with the California Secretary of State, which stated that Mr. Kirk was the manager of Oak River. On December 7, 2016, Ms. Gao filed a Certificate of Cancellation with the California Secretary of State for Oak River, which stated that all the members of Oak River had voted to dissolve the entity.

Memorandum at 9–10.

The court held that Claimants were entitled to a recovery from the estates of both Liberty and Oak River, based on the fact that the Purchase and Sale Agreements giving rise to the Claims were entered into by Claimants, on the one hand, and

Summary of Papers Filed in Connection with the Plan Administrator's Motion to Substantively Consolidate the Estates of Liberty and Oak River

The Plan Administrator moves to substantively consolidate the estates of Liberty and Oak River. The Plan Administrator contends that substantive consolidation is appropriate for the following reasons:

- 1) Substantive consolidation is appropriate if "creditors dealt with the entities as a single economic unit and did not rely on their separate identity in extending credit" or if "the affairs to the debtor are so entangled that consolidation will benefit all creditors." Bonham v. Alexander (In re Bonham), 229 F.3d 750, 766 (9th Cir. 2000).
- 2) The Claimants did not rely on the separate identity of Oak River in choosing to invest with Liberty because at the time they made their investment, the Claimants had no knowledge of Oak River.
- 3) The affairs of Liberty and Oak River cannot be disentangled. Any accounting records that may have existed have been destroyed. The Plan Administrator has no information regarding the source of purchase money for the Furlong Property, and has no records of Oak River's intercompany payables or receivables.
- 4) Substantive consolidation is appropriate because there is a complete unity of interest between Liberty and Oak River. Both entities were controlled by Mr. Kirk prior to the filing of the bankruptcy petitions. Claims asserted against both Debtors arise from Liberty's fraudulent investment scheme.

The Claimants oppose substantive consolidation for the following reasons:

- 1) There is no evidence or argument that either Oak River or Claimants received a fraudulent conveyance or preferential payment from Liberty or from entities asserting claims against Liberty.
- 2) Claimants did not deal with Liberty and Oak River as a single economic unit, because Claimants did not extend credit to either entity. Instead, claimants contracted to purchase the Furlong Property.
- 3) The affairs of Liberty and Oak River are not hopelessly entangled. The affairs of Oak River are quite simple. The only claims that appear to be left are small tax claims and Claimant's claims. The only remaining asset is cash. All that is left to do is distribute the funds.

The Plan Administrator makes the following arguments in Reply to the Claimants' Opposition:

- 1) The Claimants have not established that they relied on Oak River's separate credit. Declarations filed by the Claimants indicate that at the time they invested, they had no knowledge of Oak River. This necessarily means that the Claimants did not rely on the separate assets of Oak River before extending credit.
- 2) Claimants assert that the estates should not be substantively consolidated because there is no evidence that they received a fraudulent transfer. Claimants mis-state the Bonham test. Substantive consolidation does not require the existence of a fraudulent transfer.
- 3) Substantive consolidation will benefit Liberty's investors. If the estates are consolidated, unsecured creditors will receive a recovery of approximately 10–15%. Absent consolidation, the recovery will be between 7–12%.

II. Findings and Conclusions

The Bankruptcy Code contains no provision permitting the substantive consolidation of two bankruptcy estates. "[T]he power of substantive consolidation derives from the bankruptcy court's general equity powers as expressed in § 105 of the Bankruptcy Code." Bonham v. Alexander (In re Bonham), 229 F.3d 750, 764 (9th Cir. 2000). The primary purpose of substantive consolidation "is to ensure the equitable treatment of all creditors." Bonham, 229 F.3d at 764. The purpose and effect of substantive consolidation are explained in Bonham:

Orders of substantive consolidation combine the assets and liabilities of separate and distinct—but related—legal entities into a single pool and treat them as though they belong to a single entity. Substantive consolidation 'enabl[es] a bankruptcy court to disregard separate corporate entities, to pierce their corporate veils in the usual metaphor, in order to reach assets for the satisfaction of debts of a related corporation.' The consolidated assets create a single fund from which all claims against the consolidated debtors are satisfied; duplicate and inter-company claims are extinguished; and, the creditors of the consolidated entities are combined for purposes of voting on reorganization plans. Without the check of substantive consolidation, debtors could insulate money through transfers among inter-company shell corporations with impunity.

Bonham, 229 F.3d at 764 (9th Cir. 2000) (internal citations omitted).

The Ninth Circuit has adopted the Second Circuit's test for determining whether substantive consolidation is appropriate. Id. at 766. That test requires consideration of two factors: "(1) whether creditors dealt with the entities as a single economic unit and did not rely on their separate identity in extending credit ... or (2) whether the affairs of the debtors are so entangled that consolidation will benefit all creditors" Union Savings Bank v. Augie/Restivo Baking Co., Ltd. (In re Augie/Restivo Baking Co., Ltd.), 860 F.2d 515, 518 (2d Cir. 1988). As explained by the Ninth Circuit:

The presence of either factor is a sufficient basis to order substantive consolidation. See id. The first factor, reliance on the separate credit of the entity, is based on the consideration that lenders "structure their loans according to their expectations regarding th[e] borrower and do not anticipate either having the assets of a more sound company available in the case of insolvency or having the creditors of a less sound debtor compete for the borrower's assets." In re Augie/Restivo, 860 F.2d at 518–19. Consolidation under the second factor, entanglement of the debtor's affairs, is justified only where "the time and expense necessary even to attempt to unscramble them [is] so substantial as to threaten the realization of any net assets for all the creditors" or where no accurate identification and allocation of assets is possible. Id. at 519.

Bonham, 229 F.3d at 766 (9th Cir. 2000).

The Second Circuit case supplying the substantive consolidation standard adopted by the Ninth Circuit provides that the remedy is "to be used sparingly." In re Augie/Restivo Baking Co., Ltd., 860 F.2d 515, 518 (2d Cir. 1988).

The posture of the Plan Administrator's substantive consolidation motion is unusual. Typically motions seeking to substantively consolidate separate estates are brought prior to the confirmation of a Chapter 11 Plan. See, e.g., Bonham, 229 F.3d at 764 (noting that "creditors of the consolidated entities are combined for purposes of voting on reorganization plans"). Here, a Plan has already been confirmed in Liberty's case.

None of the cases reviewed by the Court require that estates be substantively consolidated prior to plan confirmation. However, the Plan Administrator's decision to seek substantive consolidation subsequent to confirmation of the Liberty Plan makes it significantly more difficult for the Plan Administrator to establish that either of the Augie/Restivo factors have been met.

The Court first addresses the second factor, whether the affairs of the debtors are so entangled that consolidation will benefit all creditors. "Consolidation under the second factor ... is justified only where 'the time and expense necessary even to attempt to unscramble them [is] so substantial as to threaten the realization of any net assets for all the creditors' or where no accurate identification and allocation of assets is possible." Id. This factor contemplates that substantive consolidation will be sought prior to the plan confirmation process. It is often invoked in cases involving widespread fraud, in which the costs of hiring forensic accountants to unravel the debtors' falsified books would materially reduce the recoveries to creditors. Because creditors would bear the costs of reconstructing each separate debtors' books, a plan providing for the substantive consolidation of all debtors is proposed, under which creditors recover pro rata from the same asset pool. The plans approved in WorldCom, Enron, and Global Crossing substantively consolidated multiple debtor entities.

The fact that the Liberty Plan has already been confirmed severely undercuts the Plan Administrator's argument that substantive consolidation is warranted under the second factor. The Plan Administrator was able to propose a plan distributing assets to creditors without resorting to substantive consolidation. Creditors who voted for the Liberty Plan did not do so with the expectation that they would obtain a larger recovery because Liberty's estate would be substantively consolidated with Oak River's estate.

The Plan Administrator correctly points out that it is impossible to reconstruct Oak River's financial records. In the circumstances of this case, that fact does not support substantive consolidation. As noted by the Claimants, the absence of financial records does not prevent the Plan Administrator from distributing Oak River's assets. Nor has the absence of such records prevented confirmation of the Liberty Plan.

Where the Court is asked to invoke an equitable power such as substantive consolidation, consideration of the context in which the request arises matters. Substantive consolidation is "to be used sparingly." In re Augie/Restivo Baking Co., Ltd., 860 F.2d 515, 518 (2d Cir. 1988). Here, the Plan Administrator's belated request for substantive consolidation appears to be an attempt to avoid the consequences of the Court's decision to allow the Claimants to recover against the estates of Liberty and Oak River. It was certainly the Plan Administrator's prerogative to oppose distribution to the Claimants from Oak River's estate. But when asked to decide whether to invoke sparingly used equitable remedies such as substantive consolidation, it is also the Court's prerogative to closely scrutinize the circumstances in which the requested relief is sought. The case for the exercise of the Court's equitable powers is diminished where, as here, the relief is sought only in response to an adverse ruling and only after confirmation of the Liberty Plan.

The first factor—whether creditors dealt with the entities as a single economic unit and did not rely on their separate identity in extending credit—implies that the remedy of substantive consolidation will be sought prior to the plan confirmation process. The rationale for this factor is that creditors "do not anticipate either having the assets of a more sound company available in the case of insolvency or having the creditors of a less sound debtor company for the borrower's assets." Bonham, 229 F.3d at 766. This rationale does not absolutely depend upon substantive consolidation being sought prior to plan confirmation. The factor, however, does suggest that substantive consolidation would be sought prior to confirmation, since the plan confirmation process vindicates creditors' ability to protect their rights.

The Court agrees with the Plan Administrator's argument that, because the Claimants were not aware of Oak River's existence at the time they executed the Purchase and Sale Agreements, the Claimants dealt with Liberty and Oak River as a single economic unit and did not rely upon Oak River's separate identity when extending credit. Thus, at least with respect to these three Claimants, the Plan Administrator has shown that the first factor applies.

That the first factor is met with respect to the Claimants does not mean that the Plan Administrator is entitled to the substantive consolidation of Liberty and Oak River's estate. For the reasons discussed above, the Court does not find this to be an appropriate case to invoke the equitable remedy of substantive consolidation.

Based upon the foregoing, the Motion is DENIED. The Claimants shall submit an order incorporating this tentative ruling by reference within seven days of the hearing.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On August 31, 2018 (the "Petition Date"), Verity Health Systems of California ("VHS") and certain of its subsidiaries (collectively, the "Debtors") filed voluntary petitions for relief under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. On August 31, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the Debtors' motion for joint administration of the Debtors' Chapter 11 cases. Doc. No. 17.

A. The Bidding Procedures Order and Sale Order

On October 31, 2018, the Court entered an Order (I) Approving Form of Asset Purchase Agreement for Stalking Horse Bidder and for Prospective Overbidders to Use, (2) Approving Auction Sale Format, Bidding Procedures and Stalking Horse Bid Protections, (3) Approving Form of Notice to Be Provided to Interested Parties, (4) Scheduling a Court Hearing to Consider Approval of the Sale to the Highest Bidder and (5) Approving Procedures Related to the Assumption of Certain Executory Contracts and Unexpired Leases; and (II) an Order (A) Authorizing the Sale of Property Free and Clear of All Claims, Liens and Encumbrances [Doc. No. 724] (the "Bidding Procedures Order," and the motion for entry of the Bidding Procedures Order, the "Bidding Procedures Motion").

The Bidding Procedures Order established procedures governing the auction of Saint Louise Regional Hospital ("St. Louise"), O'Connor Hospital ("O'Connor"), and related assets (collectively, the "Hospitals"). Pursuant to an Asset Purchase Agreement [Doc. No. 365, Ex. A] (the "APA") dated October 1, 2018, the County of Santa Clara ("Santa Clara") was designated as the stalking horse bidder.

The APA provides that certain liabilities are excluded from the sale, including "Labor Obligations," defined as all "collective bargaining agreements ... that are in place with any labor unions ..." APA at ¶8.13. Santa Clara is not obligated to close the sale unless it is "satisfied, in its reasonable discretion, by the terms of the Sale Order or otherwise," that the Hospitals "are being sold and transferred to [Santa Clara] free and clear of any and all Labor Obligations to the maximum extent permitted by law." Id.

Chapter 11

Under the APA, Santa Clara has agreed to offer provisional employment to substantially all non-management employees of the Hospitals who are actively employed and in good standing. APA at ¶5.3. Employees who accept provisional employment will be provided the opportunity to apply for permanent-track positions with Santa Clara. Id.

Certain of the Debtors are parties to collective bargaining agreements (the "CBAs") with the California Nurses Association (the "CNA"), the Service Employee International Union—United Healthcare Workers West (the "SEIU-UHW"), the Engineers and Scientists of California, IFPTE Local 20 ("Local 20"), and the California Licensed Vocational Nurses Association (the "CLVNA") (collectively, the "Unions").

The Hospitals were vigorously marketed by the Debtors' investment banker, Cain Brothers, a division of KeyBank Capital Markets, Inc. ("Cain"). Twenty-five parties executed non-disclosure agreements and were granted access to a data room containing information about the Hospitals. Decl. of James M. Moloney [Doc. No. 1041] (the "Moloney Decl.") at ¶6.

Cain sent a direct e-mail communication to over 170 interested potential purchasers containing key information about the Hospitals. Id. at ¶7. Cain actively followed up with two serious potential purchasers, assisting those parties with due diligence and making itself available to answer questions. Id. at ¶¶7–8. During the marketing process, the Debtors expressed their preference that potential purchasers assume the CBAs. Decl. of Richard G. Adcock in Support of Debtors' § 1113 Motions [Doc. No. 1193] (the "Adcock Decl.") at ¶7. Notwithstanding these thorough marketing efforts, no party other than Santa Clara placed a bid for the Hospitals. Moloney Decl. at ¶9.

On December 27, 2018, the Court entered an Order (A) Authorizing the Sale of Certain of the Debtors' Assets to Santa Clara County Free and Clear of Liens, Claims, Encumbrances, and Other Interests; (B) Approving the Assumption and Assignment of an Unexpired Lease Related Thereto; and (C) Granting Related Relief [Doc. No. 1153] (the "Sale Order"). The sale is projected to close on March 4, 2019. Closing of the sale "is conditioned upon the rejection, termination and/or modification of all applicable CBAs related to [O'Connor] and [Saint Louise], pursuant to § 1113 or as otherwise agreed to between the Debtors, the respective unions, and as approved by the Court." Sale Order at ¶18. The Sale Order further provides that the "Debtors must have resolution of the collective bargaining agreements ... that cover employees at Saint Louise Regional Hospital and O'Connor Hospital prior to [Santa Clara] closing on the proposed Sale pursuant to the APA." Id. at ¶33.

B. The Settlements with Local 20 and CLVNA

On January 2, 2019, the Debtors filed motions seeking authorization to reject, modify, and or terminate the CBAs with the Unions (collectively, the "Rejection Motions"). The Debtors have reached settlements resolving the Rejection Motions with Local 20 and CLVNA. CNA and SEIU-UHW (the "Objecting Unions") continue to oppose the Rejection Motions.

The material terms of the settlement with CLVNA are as follows:

- 1) Rejection and termination of the CLVNA CBA shall be effective upon the closing of the sale.
- 2) All paid time off ("PTO") obligations that have accrued and remain unused or unpaid that arose after the Petition Date are granted allowed administrative expense status under § 503. PTO obligations that accrued between March 4, 2018 and the Petition Date are granted allowed priority status under § 507(a)(4), up to the statutory cap of $12,850, with any remaining balance to be treated as a general unsecured claim. PTO obligations that accrued prior to March 4, 2018, are granted allowed general unsecured claim status.
- 3) Notwithstanding the rejection and termination of the CLVNA CBA, allowed severance benefits are granted for any employee covered under the CLVNA CBA who is not provisionally hired by Santa Clara.

The material terms of the settlement with Local 20 are substantially similar to the terms of the CLVNA settlement.

C. Discussions Between the Debtors and CNA

The Debtors entered into three prepetition CBAs with CNA regarding the Hospitals which are still effective:

- 1) SLRH CNA Local Contract 2016–2020 [Doc. No. 1182, Ex. 1] (the "CNA Saint Louise CBA"), between Saint Louise and the CNA;
- 2) OCH CNA Local Contract 2016–2020 [Doc. No. 1182, Ex. 2] (the "CNA O'Connor CBA"), between O'Connor and CNA;
- 3) CNA/VHS Contract 12/22/16–12/21/20 [Doc. No. 1182, Ex. 3] (the "CNA Master CBA"), between VHS and CNA.

CNA represents approximately 544 registered nurses at O'Connor and approximately 204 registered nurses at St. Louise.

Shortly after the Petition Date, Andrew Prediletto, the Assistant Director of Collective Bargaining for the CNA, contacted Steven Sharrer, VHS' Chief Human Resources Officer, and requested a meeting regarding the CBAs affecting CNA. Decl. of Andrew Prediletto [Doc. No. 1270] (the "Prediletto Decl.") at ¶¶2-4. Mr. Sharrer responded that a meeting would be premature because the Debtors were not yet seeking to sell the Hospitals. Id.

Under the Bidding Procedures Order, December 5, 2018, was the deadline for parties to submit bids for the Hospitals. As noted, Santa Clara was the only party that submitted a bid.

On December 6, 2018, the Debtors met with CNA and orally presented the Debtors' proposal to (a) reject and terminate the CNA Saint Louise CBA and CNA O'Connor CBA and (b) to modify the CNA Master CBA to remove, reject, and terminate all references to Saint Louise and O'Connor contained therein, for the purpose of effectuating rejection of the CNA Saint Louise CBA and CNA O'Connor CBA. Adcock Decl. at ¶13. The Debtors explained that they were seeking authorization to reject the CBAs because the Debtors would no longer be operating the Hospitals after the sale closed. Id. at ¶12.

On December 7, 2018, the Debtors provided CNA a letter memorializing the proposal made at the December 6 meeting (the "CNA Letter"). The CNA Letter provides in relevant part:

The [Bidding Procedures Order] established a deadline of December 5, 2018 ... whereby interested parties who met certain criteria ... could submit bids to purchase the assets and liabilities of [the Hospitals]. After the Debtors undertook a thorough marketing process to sell in whole or in part the Hospitals, no Alternative Qualified Bidder (or any other bidder) has presented an Alternative Qualified Bid (or any other bid) by the Bid Deadline, nor has any part requested additional time within which to submit such a bid. So, at this time, besides the County [of Santa Clara], no party has expressed material interest in acquiring and operating the Hospitals....

Because the APA is for the sale of all operations of [the Hospitals], after the Sale closes (which we expect to occur in late February or March 2019), the Debtors will no longer operate those Hospitals and, therefore, will have no further need for the [CNA Saint Louise CBA] and [CNA O'Connor CBA], and, as the County will only acquire the Hospitals free from the CBAs, aver that rejection of them is necessary to permit reorganization of the Debtors because the only bidder in a thorough marketing and auction process will not assume the CBAs.

Corrected Decl. of Sam J. Alberts [Doc. No. 1202] (the "Alberts Decl.") at Ex. 1.

On December 13, 2018, the Debtors sent a redline copy of the CNA Master CBA showing all proposed changes to that document. The changes eliminated references to Saint Louise and O'Connor but did not alter any provisions related to the Debtors' other hospitals that are not part of the sale.

On December 13, 2018, CNA sent a letter seeking clarification about the Debtors' proposal regarding the CBAs [Doc. No. 1332, Ex. 6] (the "CNA Initial Letter"). The CNA Initial Letter asserted that the Debtors' proposed rejection of the CNA Saint Louise CBA and CNA O'Connor CBA in their entirety "is an overbroad and unnecessary step." Doc. No. 1332 at Ex. 6. Debtors responded in writing on December 18, 2018:

As previously stated, because Santa Clara County ... will not (and by operation of law cannot) assume CBAs and the Debtors will have no operations at [Saint Louise] and [O'Connor] upon closing of the sale to [Santa Clara County], no terms of the [CNA O'Connor CBA] and [CNA Saint Louise CBA] warrant survival. To the contrary, survival of any terms would unduly burden the Debtors' estates and their ability to reorganize. Due to these facts, the Debtors' proposal is the rejection and termination, in toto, of the [CNA Saint Louise CBA] and the [CNA O'Connor CBA].

Doc. No. 1332, Ex. 7.

The CNA Initial Letter also sought "information from Verity regarding Verity's and/or Cain Brothers' interactions with other entities who were interested in purchasing [Saint Louise] or [O'Connor], specifically those who advanced far enough in the process to execute nondisclosure agreements." Doc. No. 1332, Ex. 6. In response, the Debtors agreed to provide information about the bidding process, subject to confidentiality restrictions. The Debtors further agreed to arrange a meeting with either Cain Brothers or the Debtors regarding the bidding process.

CNA did not respond to the Debtors' offers for a meeting with Cain or for other sale information until January 16, 2019. On that date, CNA sent the Debtors an e-mail providing in relevant part:

The Union would like to discuss with Verity an agreement that would modify the successor clause to ensure that it is not in conflict with the APA in exchange for severance pay to nurses to mitigate any financial losses incurred by such a modification.

Doc. No. 1332, Ex. 8.

On January 19, 2019, the Debtors replied as follows:

Verity has already stated, repeatedly, that it is willing to provide severance for people who are not rehired. As such, I am not sure what, if anything actually remains in dispute. That said, if there is something else at issue, please advise. Always happy to talk by phone.

Doc. No. 1332, Ex. 8.

On January 22, 2019, the Debtors provided CNA with redacted Indications of Interest (the "IOIs") submitted by potential bidders prior to the Petition Date. The delay in the production of the IOIs resulted from the inability of the Debtors and CNA to agree upon the form of a confidentiality agreement.

D. Discussions Between the Debtors and SEIU-UHW

The Debtors are parties to a prepetition CBA with SEIU-UHW (the "SEIU-UHW CBA") that remains in effect. SEIU-UHW represents approximately 190 employees who work at Saint Louise and 512 employees who work at O'Connor. The employees work in a variety of positions, including environmental and food services, clerical support, medical records, and various technician positions (including radiology technicians, pharmacy technicians, and respiratory care practitioners).

On December 11, 2018, the Debtors met with SEIU-UHW, and orally presented the Debtors' proposal to modify the SEIU-UHW CBA to provide for the termination of the agreement's provisions with respect to Saint Louise and O'Connor. (The Debtors had sought to conduct the meeting immediately after the December 5, 2018 bid deadline, but SEIU-UHW was not available to meet until December 11.) On December 13, 2018, the Debtors provided SEIU-UHW a letter memorializing the proposal made at the December 11 meeting (the "SEIU-UHW Letter").

On December 14, 2018, SEIU-UHW's counsel sent 30 discrete information requests to the Debtors. Among other things, SEIU-UHW asked for information regarding the effective date of the proposed modification; the efforts that were made to find a bidder who would assume the SEIU-UHW CBA; and the information provided by the Debtors to potential bidders regarding the costs of operating under the SEIU-UHW CBA. On January 3, 2019, the Debtors provided written responses to SEIU-UHW's requests for information.

On January 9, 2019, SEIU-UHW sent an additional 23 requests for information. On January 12, 2019, the Debtors provided written responses. On Friday, January 11, 2019, SEIU-UHW requested a meeting with the Cain, the Debtor's financial advisors, the following Monday afternoon. The Debtors arranged for the meeting and SEIU-UHW met with Cain on Monday, January 14, 2019.

On January 14, 2019, SEIU-UHW served the Debtors with six additional information and document requests. The Debtors took the position that certain of the information requested by SEIU-UHW could be produced only if subject to a confidentiality agreement. After attempts to negotiate a confidentiality agreement proved unsuccessful, the Debtors and SEIU-UHW reached an agreement under which certain information that the Debtors contended was confidential—the Indications of Interest of nonbidders—would be produced to SEIU-UHW, with the names and identity information redacted. On January 21, 2019, the Debtors provided SEIU-UHW with redacted versions of the Indications of Interest.

On January 24, 2019, SEIU-UHW asked the Debtors if they would "consider paying severance to all employees in exchange for [SEIU-UHW's] withdrawal of its opposition." E-mail from Caitlin E. Gray to the Debtors, dated January 24, 2019, at 6:09 p.m. [Doc. No. 1501-2 at 18]. On January 28, 2019, the Debtors advised SEIU-UHW that "[w]ith respect to severance, the Debtors cannot agree to permit SEIU employees who are rehired by Santa Clara County allowed severance claims, as this would result in more favorable treatment than that which is being provided to other union employees. The Debtors, however, remain willing to provide SEIU employees who are not rehired by Santa Clara County an allowed claim for severance in the amount calculated under the SEIU CBA under the same treatment terms as agreed to with Local 20 and CLVNA." E-mail from Sam J. Alberts to SEIU-UHW, dated January 28, 2019 at 5:03 p.m. [Doc. No. 1501-2 at 14].

- 1) Rejection of the CBAs is necessary, equitable, and sought in good faith because, absent such relief, the Debtors would be unable to sell the Hospitals to Santa Clara, who was the only bidder for the Hospitals after a thorough marketing process. Pursuant to Cal. Gov't Code § 3500, known as the Meyers-Milias-Brown Act, Santa Clara cannot assume the CBAs, because Santa Clara's existing employees are already represented by a union. The Meyers-Milias-Brown Act requires Santa Clara to negotiate all collective bargaining issues with this pre-existing union.
- 2) Throughout the sale process, the Debtors' stated preference has been for buyers to accept assignment of the CBAs. Notwithstanding this preference, Santa Clara would not, and could not, take assignment of the CBAs.
- 3) Once the sale to Santa Clara closes, the Debtors will have no operational activities at the Hospitals, and accordingly will no longer have any need or use for the employees working at those facilities or the CBAs at issue.

SEIU-UHW's primary arguments in opposition to the Rejection Motion may be summarized as follows:

- 1) To reject the SEIU-UHW CBA, Debtors must "propose modifications to the existing labor contract without which the debtor cannot obtain confirmation." In re Pierce Terminal Warehouse, Inc., 133 B.R. 639, 646–47 (Bankr. N.D. Iowa 1991). "The Court must also consider whether the employer, although needing some modifications to successfully reorganize, has sought changes to the contract which materially exceed such needs. The result of such overreaching is that rejection will be prohibited." Id. Although Santa Clara will not assume the SEIU-UHW CBA, the CBA could continue between SEIU-UHW and the Debtors, with claims for breach of contract allowed. This would allow union members to make claims for severance payments under the agreement and claims for ongoing minimum pension funding contributions required under the CBA.
- 2) The Debtors have stated that rejection of the SEIU-UHW CBA is necessary to "avoid administrative expenses which can dilute creditors' recoveries and even make confirmation of a plan impossible." See Debtors' Responses to Information Request No. 5 [Doc. No. 1273, Ex. B] at ¶5. The Debtors' desire to minimize administrative claims does not establish that rejection is necessary for plan confirmation.

- 3) Even if the Debtors could establish that rejection is necessary and that all affected parties are treated fairly and equitably, the Rejection Motion must still be denied because the Debtors failed to meet with SEIU-UHW at reasonable times to confer in good faith as required by § 1113. The Debtors entered into the APA with Santa Clara before commencing negotiations with SEIU-UHW. The Debtors should have engaged with SEIU-UHW before the APA was finalized, and should have provided SEIU-UHW a meaningful opportunity to engage with Santa Clara regarding the terms of the APA. Once the Debtors signed the APA, their bargaining leverage with Santa Clara was markedly diminished. In In re Lady H Coal Co., Inc., 193 B.R. 233, 242 (Bankr. S.D.W. Va. 1996), the court rejected the Debtor's attempt to reject a CBA where, as here, the Debtors did not seek rejection of the CBA until after they had entered into a sale agreement with a party not willing to assume the CBA. The Lady H court explained "that a debtor has a duty under § 1113 to not obligate itself prior to negotiations with its union employees, which would likely preclude reaching a compromise," and held that "the Debtors could not have bargained in good faith as the Debtors were, prior to any negotiations with the union, locked into at an agreement where the purchaser was not assuming the [CBA]." Lady H, 193 B.R. at 242. Similarly, in In re Karykeion, Inc., 435 B.R. 663, 682 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2010), the court stated that the "[u]nions are correct that beginning negotiations when one party is already locked into a position does not constitute good faith."

CNA's primary arguments in opposition to the Rejection Motion (to the extent they differ from the arguments presented by SEIU-UHW) may be summarized as follows:

- 1) The Debtors have no external incentive to bargain in good faith because they are liquidating their assets. See, e.g., In Re United States Truck Co. Holdings, 2000 Bankr. Lexis 1376, *89 (Bankr. E.D. Mich. Sept. 29, 2000) ("Where a debtor is liquidating under Chapter 11 and is no longer operating a business, there is inherently a lack of an important incentive to bargain in good faith. . . Debtor no longer needs its employees to keep its business operating and consequently does not have to bargain to avert the threat of a work stoppage or a strike.") Under these circumstances, the Court must carefully scrutinize the Debtors' compliance with the requirements of § 1113. Consequently, the Debtors' refusal to meet with CNA prior to execution of the APA with Santa Clara should not be easily excused due to the pressures and constraints inherent in any bankruptcy sale.

- 2) Debtors have already violated the successor clause of the CBAs by (1) signing the APA with Santa Clara and (2) moving to sell the Hospitals prior to moving to reject the contracts under § 1113. In order to avoid an administrative claim against the estate for breach of contract, Debtors would be required to reject the CBAs retroactively. However, the Ninth Circuit Bankruptcy Appellate Panel has stated that "[b]ecause a CBA may not be rejected retroactively, unilateral breaches prior to rejection cannot be related to unsecured status." In re World Sales, 183 B.R. 872 (BAP 9th Cir. 1995).

The Debtors' primary arguments in Reply to the Oppositions of the Objecting Unions may be summarized as follows:

- 1) The Objecting Unions are seeking to block rejection of the CBAs in order to increase the estate's administrative liabilities. This is not a legitimate basis to oppose § 1113 relief and cuts directly against the "fair and equitable" perspective from which such relief must be granted. Faced with similar facts, the court in In re Chicago Const. Specialties, Inc., 510 B.R. 205, 221 (Bankr. N.D. Ill. 2014) concluded that "the only purpose of leaving the CBA in place would be to afford the Respondents the opportunity for an augmented administrative claim rather than a general unsecured claim. Naturally, a creditor would prefer to maximize its distribution from the bankruptcy estate. Nonetheless, section 1113 may not be used to elevate a union's position at the cost of any distribution to any other creditor. Such would be contrary to the purpose of section 1113 and the Bankruptcy Code as a whole."
- 2) The Objecting Unions speculate that had they been permitted to actively participate in the sale process, they may have achieved an enhanced outcome for their members. This argument fails, because the only party that bid for the assets was Santa Clara, and it is indisputable that Santa Clara cannot assume the CBAs under California law. Further, § 1113 "does not impose any obligation on the Debtors to ensure that the [union] can negotiate the best possible deal with the new owner of the Debtors' operations." In re Walter Energy, Inc., 542 B.R. 859, 890 (Bankr. N.D. Ala. 2015), aff'd sub nom. United Mine Workers of Am. Combined Benefit Fund v. Walter Energy, Inc., 551 B.R. 631 (N.D. Ala. 2016), and *aff'd sub nom. 2018). "The section 1113 inquiry focuses solely on the proposal made by the Debtors, not the other parties, and the UMWA is not entitled to a veto power over a going concern sale when the undisputed evidence establishes that it is the best way to maximize value for all creditors and provide the best chance for future employment for the Debtors' employees, including, but not limited to, UMWA-represented employees." Id.

- 3) The Objecting Unions cannot speculate on potential transactions as an alternative without presenting a proposed specific transaction to the Court—which the Unions did not do here.
- 4) The Debtors have provided up-to-date, relevant information to the Objecting Unions. The burden has now shifted to the Unions to show that the information provided is not sufficient. See In re Karykeion, Inc., 435 B.R. 663, 680 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2010) ("The debtor bears the initial burden of producing evidence of the information that it has provided to the union. The burden then shifts to the union to rebut the debtor's explicit or implicit assertion that such evidence is sufficient to enable an evaluation of the proposal.").

On January 28, 2019, CNA filed a Sur-Reply, which may be summarized as follows:

- 1) Prior to the Petition Date, potential bidders submitted Indications of Interest (IOIs) in the Debtors' assets. One of these parties—Entity A—offered to assume the outstanding pension obligations in its asset purchase. In response to discovery requests filed in connection with the Motions to Reject, the Debtors have stated that Entity A's "proposal did not provide sufficient value to the secured creditors." Doc. No. 1273-3 at 6. The Debtors further stated that they "advised this party to improve its financial offer in order to be considered as a stalking horse bidder," but that the party did not submit a revised bid. Id.
- 2) The Debtors' treatment of the IOI submitted by Entity A further illustrates why CNA should have been involved in the process of selecting the stalking horse bidder. The Debtors made the decision, without CNA's involvement, that Entity A's bid was inadequate because it did not provide sufficient value to secured creditors. The purpose of § 1113 "is to spread the burdens of saving the company to every constituency while ensuring that all sacrifice to a similar degree." In re Century Brass Prods. Inc., 795 F.2d 265, 273 (2d Cir. 1986). By instructing Entity A to submit a bid providing additional value to secured creditors, the Debtors made the determination that the burden of restructuring should fall upon the nurses, rather than the secured creditors.

On January 28, 2019, the Debtors filed a request to strike CNA's Sur-Reply, on the ground that it was not authorized. In the alternative, the Debtors assert that the Court should overrule the arguments contained in the Sur-Reply. Debtors assert that the prepetition IOIs are not relevant given that none of the IOIs resulted in a formal bid.

The Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors (the "Committee") has no objection to the Rejection Motions. [Note 1] The Committee believes that it is in the best interest of its overall constituency to close the sale to Santa Clara and to mitigate to the maximum extent possible the exposure of the Debtors' estates to postpetition claims arising under the CBAs with respect to the facilities being sold.

On January 29, 2019, the Court ordered the parties to submit further briefing addressing the following issues:

- 1) In the context of this case, should the Court interpret "necessary to permit reorganization of the debtor" to mean "necessary to permit the § 363 sale of the Hospitals" or "necessary to enable the Debtors to obtain confirmation of a plan of liquidation"?
- 2) Is it possible for the Debtors to close the sale if, as contemplated by the Unions, the Court denies the Rejection Motions, allows the CBAs to remain in effect between the Debtors and the Unions, and allows the Unions an administrative claim for breach of the CBAs?
- 3) What impact would allowance of an administrative claim by the Unions have upon the Debtors' ability to confirm a plan of liquidation?

See Order: (1) Requiring Further Briefing on Debtors' Motions to Reject Collective Bargaining Agreements and (2) Continuing Hearing on Motions from January 30, 2019 to February 8, 2019 at 10:00 a.m. [Doc. No. 1411] (the "Briefing Order").

In response to the Briefing Order, Santa Clara stated that it was willing to close the sale, absent rejection of the CBAs, only if the Objecting Unions executed stipulations fully and irrevocably waiving any enforcement of the CBAs against Santa Clara. The Objecting Unions assert that they could be provided administrative claims for breach of the CBAs without impairing the Debtors' ability to confirm a liquidating plan. SEIU-UHW estimates that it would assert an administrative claim, attributable to employee severance benefits, of approximately $3 million. CNA estimates that it would assert an administrative claim of approximately $8.56 million, attributable to the lower wages its members will be receiving under their new employment contracts with Santa Clara.

The Debtors assert that providing the Objecting Unions the administrative claims they seek would render the estates administratively insolvent, making it difficult for the Debtors to confirm a liquidating plan. According to the Debtors' best estimates, approximately $25 to $75 million will be available to satisfy administrative claims. The Debtors' calculations assume that all unions who are parties to CBAs with the Debtors would receive similar administrative claims treatment. The Debtors assert that providing the severance benefits requested by SEIU-UHW to all unions would cost $71 million. Administrative treatment for other union benefits, including unused paid time off, sick leave, and holiday pay (collectively, "PTO") would cost an additional $35 million, according to the Debtors.

The Debtors, the Committee, and SEIU-UHW argue that the phrase "necessary to permit reorganization of the debtor" should be interpreted as "necessary to effectuate the Debtors' going-concern liquidation efforts." The Debtors assert that such an interpretation is appropriate given that in the Debtors' view, the most beneficial reorganization strategy requires two or more major sales of assets, instead of a single sale of substantially all the Debtors' assets. CNA maintains that the phrase should be interpreted as "necessary to permit the § 363 sale of the Hospitals."

II. Findings and Conclusions

A. The Court Will Consider CNA's Sur-Reply

The Local Bankruptcy Rules do not authorize the filing of a Sur-Reply. However, § 1113 contemplates bargaining between the Debtors and the unions that takes place up until the date that the motion regarding the CBAs is heard. See § 1113(b) (requiring the Debtors to meet with the unions' authorized representative "at reasonable times" during "the period beginning on the date of the making of a proposal ... and ending on the date of the hearing ..."). A motion to modify or terminate a CBA is unlike most motions heard by the Court, in that the statutory predicate for the motion explicitly contemplates that the positions of the parties may change as a result of negotiation up until the hearing date. Therefore, the Court will consider CNA's Sur-Reply as well as the rebuttal arguments made by the Debtors in their request to strike the Sur-Reply.

The American Provision factors are as follows:

- 1) The debtor in possession must make a proposal to the Union to modify the collective bargaining agreement.
- 2) The proposal must be based on the most complete and reliable information available at the time of the proposal.
- 3) The proposed modifications must be necessary to permit the reorganization of the debtor.
- 4) The proposed modifications must assure that all creditors, the debtor and all of the affected parties are treated fairly and equitably.
- 5) The debtor must provide to the Union such relevant information as is necessary to evaluate the proposal.
- 6) Between the time of the making of the proposal and the time of the hearing on approval of the rejection of the existing collective bargaining agreement, the debtor must meet at reasonable times with the Union.
- 7) At the meetings the debtor must confer in good faith in attempting to reach mutually satisfactory modifications of the collective bargaining agreement.
- 8) The Union must have refused to accept the proposal without good cause.
- 9) The balance of the equities must clearly favor rejection of the collective bargaining agreement.

American Provision, 44 B.R. at 909.

Courts apply the American Provision factors even where a debtor is liquidating its assets and does not intend to continue in business after emerging from bankruptcy. Courts reason that "reorganization," as used in § 1113(b)(1)(A), is "generally understood to include all types of debt adjustment, including a sale of assets, piecemeal or on a going concern basis, under § 363 followed by a plan of reorganization which distributes the proceeds of the sale to creditors in accordance with the Bankruptcy Code's priority scheme." Family Snacks, 257 B.R. at 895. Some courts have held that where, as here, the Debtors are liquidating their assets, the phrase "necessary to permit the reorganization of the debtor" means "necessary to achieve a sale under § 363 of the Bankruptcy Code." Alpha Nat. Res., Inc., 552 B.R. 314, 333 (Bankr. E.D. Va. 2016); see also Walter Energy, 542 B.R. at 890 (requiring that the debtor's proposal "be necessary to permit ... those modifications necessary to consummate a going-concern sale"); In re Karykeion, Inc., 435 B.R. 663, 679 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2010) (finding that the debtor had proven that rejection was necessary when the closing of a § 363 sale was contingent on rejection of a collective bargaining agreement). Others courts have concluded that in a liquidating case, the phrase "necessary to permit reorganization of the debtor" means "necessary to accommodate confirmation of a Chapter 11 plan." Family Snacks, 257 B.R. at 895.

In the context of this case, the term "necessary to permit the reorganization of the debtor" is best interpreted to mean "necessary to permit the Debtors to confirm a liquidating plan." This interpretation aligns most closely with the manner in which the Debtors are prosecuting this case. From the outset, the Debtors have stated their intent to sell the six hospitals that they operate as going concerns, and use the proceeds from the sales to fund a plan of liquidation. This process is well underway. The Court has already approved the sale of two of the Debtors' hospitals to Santa Clara, and recently approved bidding procedures pertaining to the auction of the remaining four hospitals.

i. Debtors Have Not Unilaterally Breached the CBAs

Before addressing the American Provision factors, the Court finds it important to emphasize that there is no merit to CNA's contention that the Debtors have unilaterally breached the CBA's successorship provisions by executing the APA with Santa Clara. The APA was a necessary inducement for Santa Clara to serve as the stalking horse bidder. Santa Clara's role as the stalking horse bidder was the optimal means of marketing the Hospitals. Such marketing was intended to induce the participation of other bidders who may have been willing to assume the CBAs. Unfortunately no such bidders emerged. That does not diminish the reality that the APA was the best means of securing bids favorable to the Objecting Unions.

The CBA's successorship provisions bar the sale of the Hospitals to any entity that does not assume the agreements. By moving to reject the CBAs prior to closing on the sale contemplated by the APA, the Debtors have fulfilled their legal obligations. Nothing within § 1113 requires the Debtors to obtain rejection of the CBAs prior to execution of an APA. Indeed, such a result would be counter-productive to the interests of the Objecting Unions, as the APA provided the best hope that an entity willing to assume the CBAs might emerge.

Adopting CNA's position would severely circumscribe the Debtors' ability to execute APAs beneficial to the marketing of their assets. Such a result would be contrary to § 1113, which expressly contemplates that it is possible for Debtors to reject a CBA in connection with an asset sale.

ii. Factors 1, 2, 6, and 7

Within the context of this case, factors 1, 2, 6, and 7 are related. Under these factors, the Debtor must make a proposal to the unions (factor one) based upon the most complete and reliable information available at the time of the proposal (factor two). Between the time of the making of the proposal and the time of the hearing on approval of the rejection of the existing CBA, the debtor must meet at reasonable times with the unions (factor six). At the meetings, the debtor must confer in good faith in attempting to reach mutually satisfactory modifications to the collective bargaining agreement (factor seven).

According to the Objecting Unions, the Debtors cannot establish that they met and conferred in good faith regarding modification of the CBAs. The Objecting Unions' position is that the Debtors should have initiated negotiations before the APA with Santa Clara had been executed. Had negotiations commenced at this time, the Objecting Unions assert, the Debtors would have had greater leverage over Santa Clara, and it might have been possible for the Debtors to obtain additional concessions favorable to the unions. The Objecting Unions rely upon In re Lady H Coal Co., Inc., 193 B.R. 233, 242 (Bankr. S.D.W. Va. 1996) for the proposition "that a debtor has a duty under § 1113 to not obligate itself prior to negotiations with its union employees, which would likely preclude reaching a compromise." The Lady H court held that "the Debtors could not have bargained in good faith as the Debtors were, prior to any negotiations with the union, locked into at an agreement where the purchaser was not assuming the [CBA]." Id.

The Objecting Unions' reliance upon Lady H is misplaced. In Lady H, the debtor's CEO unilaterally obtained a broker to market the assets at issue, in violation of § 327. As a result of this violation, the unions received no notice of the marketing of the assets. Lady H, 193 B.R. at 242. The lack of notice deprived the unions of the "opportunity to participate in whatever process a debtor engages in to find a suitable buyer." Id. Here, by contrast, the Debtors have stated their intent to sell the Hospitals from the inception of the case. The Debtors fully complied with the requirements of § 327 when retaining Cain to market the Hospitals. As of October 1, 2018, the unions were aware of the APA and Santa Clara's decision to serve as the stalking horse bidder.

In addition, the debtor in Lady H did not pursue a possible sale to another buyer who was willing to assume the union's CBA. Id. Instead, the debtor obligated itself to a buyer that wanted to reject the CBA, primarily because that buyer had agreed to employ the debtor's officers at inflated salaries. Id. In contrast to the facts of Lady H, the record shows that the Debtors executed the APA with Santa Clara to maximize the proceeds available to the estate, not to enrich insiders, and that the Debtors aggressively marketed the Hospitals, expressing a preference for bids that would assume the CBAs. The entire purpose of the APA with Santa Clara was to produce additional favorable bids, some of which might include assumption of the CBAs. The Debtors were not "locked in" under the APA; the APA was merely the first step in a thorough marketing process. The fact that no other bidders emerged does not indicate that there were problems with the APA; it instead demonstrates that the Hospitals face such serious operational challenges that no buyers aside from Santa Clara were interested in purchasing them.

The only temporal requirement imposed by the statute regarding the Debtors' bargaining obligations is that the bargaining commence prior to the filing of a motion seeking relief under § 1113. § 1113(b)(1)(A). Here, the Debtors fulfilled this requirement. The Debtors met with CNA on December 6, 2018 and met with SEIU-UHW on December 11, 2018, prior to filing the Rejection Motions on January 2, 2019.

The decision in Local 211 v. Family Snacks, Inc., Official Unsecured Creditors' Comm. (In re Family Snacks, Inc.), 257 B.R. 884, 897 (B.A.P. 8th Cir. 2001) shows that the Debtors are not obligated to commence bargaining at the inception of the case. Similar to this case, in Family Snacks the debtor commenced negotiations only after it had sold its assets. The Family Snacks court held that the debtor's decision to not commence negotiations until after the asset sale did not automatically bar the debtor from obtaining relief under § 1113. Family Snacks, 257 B.R. at 895–96.

CNA contends that the manner in which the Debtors treated certain non-binding Indications of Interest (the "IOIs") submitted prior to the Petition Date by various potential bidders establishes that the Debtors have not negotiated in good faith. CNA points out that the IOI submitted by Entity A provided for the assumption of the Debtors' unfunded pension liabilities. According to CNA, to meet the requirements of § 1113, the Debtors were required to inform CNA of these IOIs at the time they were received. The implication of CNA's argument is that had the Debtors done so, it might have been possible to structure a sale in which the purchaser assumed the CBAs.

CNA's argument suffers from several flaws. First, CNA places far more weight upon the Indications of Interest than they can reasonably bear. An Indication of Interest is just that—a statement that a party is considering bidding for assets. For whatever reason, after conducting its due diligence, Entity A concluded that it would not further pursue its Indication of Interest.

CNA implies that had only the Debtors put CNA into contact with Entity A at the time the IOI was submitted, the result might have been different. Given the financial burdens imposed upon employees represented by CNA in connection with this bankruptcy, CNA's optimism is understandable. However, in the Court's view, the suggestion that the Debtors could have structured a more favorable transaction with Entity A falls into the category of "hopeful wishes, mere possibilities and speculation." Karykeion, Inc., 435 B.R. at 678. Had Entity A been serious about purchasing the Hospitals, it would have at the very least submitted a formal bid.

Finally, CNA's argument incorrectly assumes that § 1113 requires the Debtors to facilitate communication between unions and third-party potential asset purchasers. Section 1113 contains no such requirement.

iii. Factor 3

Factor 3 requires that the proposed modifications must be necessary to permit the reorganization of the debtor. As discussed above, within the context of this case, the term "necessary to permit the reorganization of the debtor" is best interpreted to mean "necessary to permit the Debtors to confirm a liquidating plan."

Two lines of authority exist as to the meaning of the word "necessary." In Wheeling–Pittsburgh Steel Corp. v. United Steelworkers of America, 791 F.2d 1074 (3d Cir.1986), the Third Circuit defined "necessary" as synonymous with "essential." The Second Circuit has defined "necessary" more broadly. In Truck Drivers Local 807 v. Carey Transportation, Inc., 816 F.2d 82 (2d Cir.1987), the court held that "the necessity requirement places on the debtor the burden of proving that its proposal is made in good faith, and that it contains necessary, but not absolutely minimal, changes that will enable the debtor to complete the reorganization process successfully.” The parties have not cited, and the Court has been unable to locate, any binding Ninth Circuit authority as to the scope of the word “necessary.”

The Court finds the Second Circuit’s approach to be better reasoned. As explained in Carey Transportation, the Third Circuit’s strict definition conflicts with other provisions of the statute:

Because the statute requires the debtor to negotiate in good faith over the proposed modifications, an employer who initially proposed truly minimal changes would have no room for good faith negotiating, while one who agreed to any substantive changes would be unable to prove that its initial proposals were minimal. Thus, requiring the debtor to propose bare-minimum modifications at the outset would make it virtually impossible for the debtor to meet its other statutory obligations.

Carey Transportation, 816 F.2d at 89.

Further, the “legislative history strongly suggests that ‘necessary’ should not be equated with ‘essential’ or bare minimum.” Id. A prior version of § 1113 would have permitted rejection only if the debtor’s proposal contained “such ‘minimal modifications in the contract that would permit the reorganization, taking into account the best estimate of the sacrifices expected to be made by all classes of creditors and other affected parties.’” Wheeling-Pittsburgh Steel Corp., 791 F.2d at 1083 (quoting 130 Cong. Rec. S6181-82 (daily ed. May 22, 1984)). Congress rejected this language in favor of broader language permitting rejection if “necessary to permit the reorganization of the debtor”

Applying the Second Circuit’s “necessary” standard to the instant case, the Court notes that to confirm the liquidating plan which they envision, the Debtors are first required to sell the six hospitals as going concerns. Selling the hospitals on a going-concern basis is necessary to maximize proceeds to the estate. The Debtors’ operational difficulties and mounting losses require that the hospitals be sold quickly. In a declaration filed in support of the Debtors’ First Day Motions, the Debtors’ CEO Richard Adcock testified that the hospital system was losing $175 million annually on a cash flow basis, or approximately $480,000 per day. First Day Decl. of Richard G. Adcock [Doc. No. 8] at ¶ 95.

The sale to Santa Clara is a key component of the Debtors’ overall plan of liquidation, and the CBAs must be rejected in order for the sale to close. Under Cal. Gov’t Code § 3500, Santa Clara cannot assume the CBAs, because Santa Clara’s existing employees are already represented by a union. Santa Clara is statutorily required to conduct all collective bargaining negotiations with this existing union. Santa Clara is the only party who submitted a formal bid for the Hospitals, which were thoroughly marketed by Cain (see Section I.A., above, for a discussion of Cain's marketing efforts).

The Sale Order provides that closing of the sale "is conditioned upon the rejection, termination and/or modification of all applicable CBAs related to [O'Connor] and [Saint Louise], pursuant to § 1113 or as otherwise agreed to between the Debtors, the respective unions, and as approved by the Court." Sale Order at ¶18. The Sale Order further provides that the "Debtors must have resolution of the collective bargaining agreements ... that cover employees at Saint Louise Regional Hospital and O'Connor Hospital prior to [Santa Clara] closing on the proposed Sale pursuant to the APA." Id. at ¶33.

Notwithstanding its rights under the Sale Order and APA, Santa Clara has stated that if CNA and SEIU-UHW stipulate to irrevocably waive any claims under the CBAs against Santa Clara, it is willing to close the sale absent rejection of the CBAs. No such stipulation is presently before the Court. However, even if the Objecting Unions so stipulated, the Court finds that rejection of the CBAs would still be necessary to enable the Debtors to confirm a liquidating plan.

The most likely result of the Debtors' failure to obtain rejection of the CBAs would be the accrual of substantial administrative claims in favor of the Objecting Unions. In assessing the effect of such administrative claims upon the Debtors' ability to confirm a liquidating plan, the Court does not confine its analysis to the potential claims of SEIU-UHW and CNA. The Debtors are parties to CBAs with many different unions. While not identical, the terms of these CBAs are broadly similar. Granting an administrative claim to SEIU-UHW and CNA would most likely require the Court to grant administrative claims to the other unions.

The uncontroverted testimony of David E. Galfus establishes that the granting of administrative claims to all the unions would most likely render the estate administratively insolvent. Mr. Galfus is the Managing Director of Berkeley Research Group's Restructuring and Transaction Advisory. Galfus Decl. [Doc. No. 1507] at ¶ 1. He estimates that after sale of the Debtors' assets and payment of claims secured by those assets, between $25 and $75 million will be available to pay administrative claims. Id. at ¶¶ 6-7. Mr. Galfus projects that providing the unions administrative claims would impose liabilities against the estate of approximately $71 million on account of severance, and approximately $35 million on account of paid time off, holiday pay, and extended sick leave. Id. at ¶¶ 12–13.

The administrative claims of the unions alone would total approximately $106 million, far in excess of the $25 to $75 million that will be available to pay all administrative claimants. Allowing the CBAs to remain in place would almost certainly render the estate administratively insolvent, which in turn would make it exceptionally difficult for the Debtors to confirm a plan of liquidation. For this reason, the Court finds that rejection of the CBAs is necessary to enable the Debtors to confirm a liquidating plan.

Others courts have looked with disfavor upon unions who seek to maintain CBAs for the sole purpose of augmenting an administrative claim. The facts of In re Chicago Const. Specialties, Inc., 510 B.R. 205, 221 (Bankr. N.D. Ill. 2014) are similar to this case. In Chicago Const., the debtor moved to reject a CBA because it was no longer operating. Overruling the unions' objections to rejection, the court held:

As noted above, the only purpose of leaving the CBA in place would be to afford the [unions] the opportunity for an augmented administrative claim rather than a general unsecured claim. Naturally, a creditor would prefer to maximize its distribution from the bankruptcy estate. Nonetheless, section 1113 may not be used to elevate a union's position at the cost of any distribution to any other creditor. Such would be contrary to the purpose of section 1113 and the Bankruptcy Code as a whole.

Chicago Const. Specialties, 510 B.R. at 221.

Here, the Debtors are in the process of selling the Hospitals to Santa Clara, and will no longer operate the Hospitals once the sale has closed. As was the case in Chicago Const., it makes little sense to require the Debtors to remain bound by CBAs that pertain to assets which they will no longer operate.

iv. Factor 4

Factor 4 requires that the proposed modifications to the CBAs treat all creditors, the Debtors, and all affected parties fairly and equitably. As explained by the court in Walter Energy:

This requirement "spread[s] the burden of saving the company to every constituency while ensuring that all sacrifice to a similar degree." "Courts take a flexible approach in considering what constitutes fair and equitable treatment due to the difficulty in comparing the differing sacrifices of the parties in interest." A debtor can meet the requirement "by showing that its proposal treats the union fairly when compared with the burden imposed on other parties by the debtor's additional cost-cutting measures and the Chapter 11 process generally."

Walter Energy, 542 B.R. at 892.

In applying this factor, it is important to emphasize how the Debtors arrived at this point. In early 2014, facing serious operating losses, the Debtors began evaluating strategic alternatives. First Day Decl. of Richard G. Adcock [Doc. No. 8] at ¶ 87. To continue operations until a contemplated sale or recapitalization could close, the Debtors borrowed $125 million in 2014. Id. In 2015, the Debtors entered into a recapitalization transaction with BlueMountain Capital Management LLC ("BlueMountain"). BlueMountain injected $100 million of capital and arranged for an additional $160 million of loans. Id. at ¶¶ 88–89. Despite BlueMountain's infusion of cash, the health system did not prosper. Id. at ¶ 93.

In July 2017, NantWorks, LLC loaned another $148 million to the Debtors. Id. at ¶ 94. Notwithstanding these additional capital infusions and the retention of various consultants and experts to improve operations, losses of approximately $175 million annually continued to mount. Id. at ¶ 95.

In sum, prior to seeking bankruptcy relief, the Debtors diligently attempted to put their operations on a sound financial footing. The unfortunate but undeniable reality is that the legacy cost structure imposed by the CBAs is simply too great to permit the Hospitals to continue to sustainably operate. This reality was confirmed by the recent sales process, in which Santa Clara was the only buyer who expressed interest in purchasing the Hospitals—but only on condition that the sale be free and clear of the CBAs.

Many parties have been required to make sacrifices to permit continued operations of the Hospitals. Under these circumstances, the proposed rejection and/or modification of the CBAs is fair and equitable.

v. Factor 5

Factor 5 requires the Debtors to provide the unions such relevant information as is necessary to evaluate the proposal. The Debtors have satisfied this factor. Before making the proposal, the Debtors provided the Objecting Unions a declaration detailing the Debtors' finances, assets, and liabilities; bankruptcy schedules showing the Debtors' financial status; testimony from the Debtors' investment banker; and the APA with Santa Clara. As described in Sections I.C and I.D, above, the Debtors have provided the Unions with substantial additional information subsequent to making the proposal. The Debtors have promptly responded to the Unions' requests for information.

vi. Factors 8 and 9

Under Factor 8, the unions must have refused to accept the proposal without good cause. Under Factor 9, the balance of the equities must clearly favor rejection of the collective bargaining agreement. Both factors are satisfied.

As discussed, the Objecting Unions' goal in opposing the Rejection Motions is to obtain an administrative claim for breach of the CBAs. The Objecting Unions acknowledge that Santa Clara cannot assume the CBAs and have no desire to prevent the sale from closing. While the Objecting Unions' desire to elevate the status of their claims against the estate is certainly understandable, it does not constitute good cause to refuse the Debtors' proposal. See Chicago Const. Specialties, Inc., 510 B.R. 205, 221 (Bankr. N.D. Ill. 2014) (holding that "section 1113 may not be used to elevate a union's position").

It would not be fair and equitable to deny rejection of the CBAs or to provide the Objecting Unions with administrative claims. Such a course of action would likely render the estate administratively insolvent, making it very difficult, if not impossible, for the Debtors to confirm a liquidating plan. This result would inure to the detriment of all other stakeholders in these cases.

For the same reasons, the balance of the equities clearly favors rejection of the CBAs. In this respect, the Court further notes that Santa Clara has agreed to make offers of provisional employment to substantially all employees. Individuals hired by Santa Clara will have the opportunity to join the union for Santa Clara employees. The Objecting Unions naturally would prefer to continue to be represented by their own collective bargaining organization; however, this result is precluded by California law.

The bottom line is that the sale negotiated by the Debtors will preserve the jobs of most workers at the Hospitals. Hospital employees will be permitted to join the union representing Santa Clara employees. It is regrettable that the terms of employment with Santa Clara will be less generous than those afforded by the CBAs.

Unfortunately, this result is required to permit the continued operation of the Hospitals and to enable the Debtors to propose and confirm a liquidating plan.

- g. Notice of hearing on Debtor's Motion for Continued Use of Cash Collateral [Doc. No. 67]
- h. Order Authorizing Debtor to Use Cash Collateral on an Interim Basis [Doc. No. 75] (the "Second Interim Cash Collateral Order")

This is a continued hearing on the Debtor's request for continued use of cash collateral. On November 26, 2018, the Court entered an interim order authorizing the Debtor's continued use of cash collateral through and including February 13, 2019 [Doc. No. 75] (the "Second Interim Cash Collateral Order"). In the Court's November 19 Ruling [Doc. No. 65], the Court stated:

The Court authorizes further interim use of cash collateral through and including February 13, 2019. A further interim hearing on the continued use of cash collateral shall take place on February 13, 2019, at 10:00 a.m. . . . The Debtor shall submit additional evidence in support of the continued use of cash collateral by no later than January 23, 2019. Such additional evidence shall include, at a minimum, updated financial projections as well as a discussion of the results of the Debtor's efforts to improve the profitability of the gym. The Debtor shall also submit information regarding the results of its investigation as to the validity of the security interests asserted by the secured creditors.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, the Debtor has not supplied any supplemental evidence or information in support of its continued use of cash collateral. Accordingly, the Court cannot determine that the secured creditors' interests in cash collateral is adequately protected.

For the reasons set forth above, the Debtor's request for continued use of cash collateral is DENIED.

After the hearing the Court will prepare an order denying the Debtor's request for continued use of cash collateral.

- 7) Creditor Victor Marquez's Brief Re: Whether the Marquez Deed of Trust Was Extinguished by the Doctrine of Merger [Doc. No. 143]

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

A. Procedural Background

Guillermo Alvarado (the "Debtor") commenced a voluntary Chapter 7 petition on June 15, 2016. Doc. No. 1. On August 8, 2018, the Debtor filed a motion seeking to compel the Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee") to abandon the Debtor's principal residence, located at 16923 Royal Pines Lane, Canyon Country, CA 91387 (the "Property"). Doc. No. 106 (the "First Abandonment Motion"). On September 6, 2018, the Court denied the First Abandonment Motion, without prejudice, based upon the Debtor's failure to properly set the motion for hearing. Doc. No. 117 (the "Denial Order"). Shortly after issuance of the Denial Order, the Debtor filed a Notice of Hearing on Motion of Debtors for Order Compelling Chapter 7 Trustee to Abandon Debtor's Principal Residence [Doc. No. 118] (the "Purported Notice"), but did not re-file the First Abandonment Motion. On September 10, 2018, the Court issued an order striking the Purported Notice from the record. Doc. No. 121 (the "Order Striking Purported Notice"). The Court found that the filing of the Purported Notice was procedurally improper for the following reasons:

Pursuant to the Denial Order, the Motion has been denied without prejudice. As a result, the Debtor is required to file a new motion, and pay the required filing fee, if he wishes to obtain a hearing upon the relief requested. A Motion that has been denied cannot be resuscitated by the filing of a document such as the Purported Notice.

Chapter 7

On December 18, 2018, the Debtor filed a second motion seeking to compel the Trustee to abandon the Property. Doc. No. 128 (the “Second Abandonment Motion”). The Trustee objects to the Second Abandonment Motion.

B. The Trustee’s Related Avoidance Action

On October 18, 2018, the Trustee commenced an action to avoid the post-petition transfer of the Property from the Debtor to Victor Marquez and David Marquez. On January 17, 2019, the Court entered default judgment and avoided the transfer. Adv. Doc. No. 23 (the “Marquez Judgment”). Among other things, the Court ordered that the Grant Deed transferring the Property from the Debtor to Victor and David Marquez (the “Marquez Grant Deed”) “is automatically preserved for the benefit of the estate pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 551 ahead of the Debtor’s claimed homestead exemption.” Marquez Judgment at 2.

C. Summary of Papers Filed in Connection with the Second Abandonment Motion

By the Second Abandonment Motion, the Debtor seeks an order compelling the Trustee to abandon the Property. The Trustee opposes the Motion. The Debtor and the Trustee dispute whether there is any equity in the Property to be administered for the benefit of creditors.

The gravamen of the dispute is whether the Property is encumbered by a Deed of Trust in favor of Victor Marquez (the “Marquez Deed of Trust”). The Marquez Deed of Trust is different from the Marquez Grant Deed avoided by the Trustee. According to the Debtor, the Marquez Deed of Trust was recorded on October 22, 2015, for the purpose of securing a $250,000 loan that Victor Marquez made to the Debtor on October 15, 2015. A copy of the Marquez Deed of Trust is attached as an exhibit to the Second Abandonment Motion. Doc. No. 128 at Ex. 4.

The Trustee disputes the existence of the Marquez Deed of Trust. The Trustee points to a title report, prepared by Priority Title, which did not identify the Marquez Deed of Trust as an encumbrance against the Property.

The Court conducted an initial hearing on the Motion on January 23, 2019. The Court advised the parties that it was prepared to grant the Motion upon a ground not raised in the papers. The Court stated:

Assuming without deciding that the Marquez Deed of Trust was recorded against the Property on October 22, 2015, the Court is prepared to find that as a result of subsequent events, the Marquez Deed of Trust no longer encumbers the Property. The reason is that on September 13, 2017, the Debtor transferred the Property to Victor and David Marquez by way of the Marquez Grant Deed. Under the doctrine of merger, whenever the same person holds a greater and lesser estate in the same parcel of real property, the lesser estate merges into the greater and is extinguished. Kolodge v. Boyd, 88 Cal. App. 4th 349 (2001). Subsequent to the transfer effectuated by the Marquez Grant Deed, Victor Marquez obtained a fee simple interest in the Property (with David Marquez holding an interest as a joint tenant). Victor Marquez's lesser interest (the security interest established by the Marquez Deed of Trust) merged with his greater interest (the fee simple interest resulting from the Marquez Grant Deed), and the lesser interest ceased to exist. Consequently, when the Trustee subsequently avoided the transfer effectuated by the Marquez Grant Deed, the Property was no longer encumbered by the Marquez Deed of Trust, which had been extinguished under the doctrine of merger.

Ruling Issued January 23, 2019 [Doc. No. 138] at 4.

The Court set this continued hearing to provide the parties an opportunity to respond to the Court's preliminary findings regarding the effect of the merger doctrine on the Marquez Deed of Trust.

The Debtors and Victor Marquez argue that the merger doctrine does not apply for the following reasons:

- 1) The doctrine of merger applies only when the entire title, both legal and equitable, unite in the same person. "A merger occurs when a greater and lesser estate are held by the same person. In order to effect an extinguishment by merger, the title and ownership held in both tenements must be coextensive and equal in validity, quality, right to possession, and all other characteristics. The easement is not extinguished if the person has unequal title or rights in the servient and dominant tenements." Beyer v. Tahoe Sands Resort, 129 Cal. App. 4th 1458, 1474, 29 Cal. Rptr. 3d 561, 572-73 (2005).
- 2) The merger doctrine does not apply to the present case because the Marquez Grant Deed conveyed title to Victor Marquez and David Marquez as joint tenants. In contrast, Victor Marquez was the sole beneficiary under the Marquez Deed of Trust. Because Victor Marquez had unequal title in the servient and dominant tenements, merger is not applicable.

The Trustee contends that merger is applicable based on the Court's preliminary findings.

II. Findings and Conclusions

"A merger occurs when a greater and lesser estate are held by the same person. In order to effect an extinguishment by merger, the title and ownership held in both tenements must be coextensive and equal in validity, quality, right to possession, and all other characteristics. The easement is not extinguished if the person has unequal title or rights in the servient and dominant tenements." Beyer v. Tahoe Sands Resort, 129 Cal. App. 4th 1458, 1474, 29 Cal. Rptr. 3d 561, 572–73 (2005).

On October 22, 2015, the Marquez Deed of Trust, in favor of Victor Marquez, was recorded against the Property. The Marquez Grant Deed—which the Trustee subsequently avoided—vested title to the Property in both David Marquez and Victor Marquez. Because Victor Marquez was the sole beneficiary under the Marquez Deed of Trust, but held only a joint tenancy interest in the Property under the Marquez Grant Deed, the Court finds that the doctrine of merger is inapplicable.

The Trustee questions whether the Marquez Deed of Trust is a valid encumbrance against the Property. The Trustee points out that his Preliminary Title Report did not reflect the Marquez Deed of Trust. The absence of the Marquez Deed of Trust from the Trustee's Preliminary Title Report does not show that the Marquez Deed of Trust is not a valid encumbrance. The Debtors have submitted authenticated copies of the Marquez Deed of Trust as well as copies of title reports which list the debt. See Declaration of Andrea Castro (D.E. 135) and Declaration of Philip E. Kobel (D.E. 136). Based upon these, the Court finds that the Marquez Deed of Trust exists and has not been satisfied.

The Property is encumbered by a First Deed of Trust in favor of Wells Fargo Home Mortgage in the approximate amount of $676,157.65. The original indebtedness secured by the Marquez Deed of Trust was $250,000. Debtors assert that current indebtedness under the Marquez Deed of Trust is $852,140.63. The Debtor asserts that the Property is worth $930,000; the Trustee contends that the Property is worth in excess of $989,000.

The Court concludes that regardless of whether the Property is worth $930,000 or $989,000, there is no equity in the Property for the Trustee to administer for the benefit of creditors. The indebtedness secured by the First Deed of Trust in favor of Wells Fargo and the Marquez Deed of Trust exceeds $1.5 million. Section 554(b) provides that upon motion, the Court may order the Trustee to "abandon any property

Tentative Ruling:

2/12/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Motion—which seeks to compel discovery responses—is GRANTED in its entirety.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Notice of Motion and Motion to Compel Defendants' Responses to Discovery Requests and Request for Sanctions [Doc. No. 54] (the "Motion")
- 2) No Opposition to the Motion is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Prema Thekkek and Antony Thekkek ("Plaintiffs") move to compel Felicidad Ferrer and Renato Ferrer ("Defendants") to respond to discovery requests, pursuant to Civil Rule 37. No Opposition to the Motion is on file. Plaintiffs make the following arguments and representations in support of the Motion:

Plaintiffs served a First Set of Requests for Production of Documents on Defendants on November 12, 2018. Plaintiffs served a First Set of Interrogatories on Defendants on December 13, 2018. Defendants have not responded to either of the discovery requests. Plaintiffs' attempts to meet and confer with Defendants' counsel was not successful.

Pursuant to Civil Rule 37, Defendants should be compelled to respond to Plaintiffs' discovery requests. Defendants should be sanctioned for their failure to fulfill their discovery obligations.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Civil Rule 37(a)(1) provides: "On notice to other parties and all affected persons, a party may move for an order compelling disclosure or discovery. The motion must include a certification that the movant has in good faith conferred or attempted to confer with the person or party failing to make disclosure or discovery in an effort to obtain it without court action." Production of documents may be compelled if "a party fails to produce documents or fails to respond that inspection will be permitted—or fails to permit inspection—as requested under Rule 34." Civil Rule 37(a)(3)(B)(iv).

Here, Defendants have failed to timely respond to Plaintiffs' discovery requests. The Court ORDERS Defendants to respond to discovery by no later than February 20, 2019.

Civil Rule 37(a)(5)(A) provides that where a motion to compel discovery is granted, the "court must, after giving an opportunity to be heard, require the party or deponent whose conduct necessitated the motion, the party or attorney advising that conduct, or both to pay the movant's reasonable expenses incurred in making the motion, including attorney's fees." However, if any of the following three circumstances apply, the Court must not order the payment of expenses:

- i. The movant filed the motion before attempting in good faith to obtain the disclosure or discovery without court action;
- ii. The opposing party's nondisclosure, response, or objection was substantially justified; or
- iii. Other circumstances make an award of expenses unjust.

Civil Rule 37(a)(5)(A)(i)–(iii).

Here, Plaintiffs attempted in good-faith to meet and confer with Defendants prior to filing the Motion. There is nothing in the record to indicate that Defendants' failure to fulfill their discovery obligations was substantially justified. There are no other circumstances which make an award of expenses unjust. Defendants are ordered to pay the attorneys' fees incurred by Plaintiffs in bringing this Motion.

Within ten days of the hearing, Plaintiff shall file and serve declaration setting forth the fees and costs incurred in bringing the Motion (the "Fee Declaration"). Defendants may respond to the Fee Declaration within ten days, after which the matter with respect to attorneys' fees only will be taken under submission.

Plaintiffs shall submit an order incorporating this tentative ruling by reference within seven days of the hearing.

Docket 146

Tentative Ruling:

2/12/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Motion is GRANTED.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Notice of Motion and Motion to Dismiss Counter-Complaint Against Counter-Defendant Anne Peterson [Doc. No. 146] (the "Motion")
- 2) No Opposition to the Motion is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On January 22, 2018, the Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee") filed the Trustee's First Amended Complaint: (1) For Declaratory Relief; (2) In the Alternative, for Sale of Real Property Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §363(h); (3) For Turnover; (4) For Violation of Automatic Stay; and (5) For Dissolution of Limited Liability Company [Adv. The Court subsequently entered judgment in favor of the Trustee.

On June 6, 2018, Ronald filed a Cross-Complaint for (1) Breach of Fiduciary Duty 1; (2) Breach of Fiduciary 2; (3) Breach of Contract; [and] (4) Negligence [Bankr. Doc. Complaint as to the Debtor. On January 4, 2019, Ronald commenced a new adversary proceeding against the Debtor, which contains many of the same allegations as the Purported Cross-Complaint. No Opposition to the Motion is on file.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Civil Rule 41(a)(2) provides that after the opposing party files either an answer or a motion for summary judgment, an action may be dismissed at the plaintiff's request "only by court order, on terms that the court considers proper." The Court finds that dismissal of the Purported Cross-Complaint would not prejudice the Debtor/Defendant. In addition, the Court finds that the claims brought by Ronald can be more efficiently adjudicated in the new action that was filed on January 4, 2019.

Based upon the foregoing, the Motion is GRANTED and the Purported Cross-Complaint is dismissed, without prejudice.

Ronald shall submit an order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Jessica Vogel or Daniel Koontz at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. Claire Levine (the "Debtor") and unsecured creditor Peter Rudinkas (collectively, the "Objectors") oppose the Motion.

A. Background

Debtor commenced a voluntary Chapter 11 petition on April 10, 2012. Doc. No. 1. The case was converted to Chapter 7 on July 30, 2012. Doc. No. 78. Prior to conversion, the Hon. Sandra R. Klein presided over the case. Upon conversion to Chapter 7 the case was reassigned to the undersigned Judge.

On October 31, 2012, the Court denied the motion of Capital One, N.A. ("Capital One") for stay-relief with respect to the Property. The denial was as to the bankruptcy estate only and was without prejudice. Doc. No. 129. On February 6, 2014, the Court denied Capital One's renewed motion for stay-relief. Doc. Nos. 270 and 272.

On January 11, 2019, the Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee") filed a notice stating that he intended to abandon the Property. Doc. No. 669 (the "Notice of Abandonment"). On January 14, 2019, the Trustee withdrew the Notice of Abandonment. Doc. No. 670.

An initial hearing on U.S. Bank's Motion was held on January 22, 2019. At that hearing, the Court found that U.S. Bank had failed to establish that it was the real party in interest entitled to enforce the Note or Deed of Trust against the Property. The Court noted that both the Note and Deed of Trust designated Americorp Funding, a Partnership ("Americorp") as the secured lender, and that U.S. Bank had not supplied any documentation establishing that it acquired the Note or Deed of Trust from Americorp.

The Court set this continued hearing to provide U.S. Bank an opportunity to supply documentation establishing its status as the real party in interest. See Order Setting Continued Hearing on U.S. Bank, N.A.'s Motion for Relief from the Automatic Stay [Doc. No. 672] (the "Continuance Order"). Among other things, the Continuance Order provided:

this stage carried its evidentiary burden, the heightened evidentiary standard advocated by the Debtor and unsecured creditor Peter Rudinskas (collectively, the "Objectors") is not appropriate in the context of a lift-stay motion. "Hearings on relief from the automatic stay are ... handled in a summary fashion," Johnson v. Righetti (In re Johnson), 756 F.2d 738, 740 (9th Cir. 1985), and U.S. Bank is required only to show that it has a "colorable claim" against the Property, Veal v. Am. Home Mortgage Servicing, Inc. (In re Veal), 450 B.R. 897, 908 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2011). The Objectors' request that the Court conduct an evidentiary hearing at which U.S. Bank is required to produce original copies of the Note and Deed of Trust for inspection is DENIED as unnecessary.

Continuance Order at ¶3.

B. Summary of Papers Filed in Connection with the Motion

U.S. Bank seeks stay-relief pursuant to §§ 362(d)(1) and (d)(2). Based upon a broker's price opinion, U.S. Bank asserts that the Property's value is $6.1 million. U.S. Bank states that it is owed $8,356,015.15.

In response to the Continuance Order, U.S. Bank submitted a supplemental declaration from Michael P. Ruiz, an employee of Rushmore Loan Management Services, LLC ("RLMS"), which provides in relevant part:

I have access to and am familiar with RLMS's books and records regarding the Loan, RLMS's servicing records, and copies of the applicable Loan documents. I am familiar with the manner in which RLMS maintains its books and records, including computer records relating to the servicing of the Loan. RLMS's records are made at or near the time of the occurrence of the matters set forth in such records, by an employee or representative with knowledge of the acts or events recorded. Such records are obtained, kept and maintained by RLMS in the regular course of RLMS's business. RLMS relies on such records in the ordinary course of business.

RLMS has the contractual right and responsibility to service the Loan on U.S. Bank National Association, not in its individual capacity but solely as trustee for the RMAC Trust, Series 2016-CTT's behalf.

Trust, Series 2016–CTT and is generally responsible for administration of the Loan until the loan is paid in full, assigned to another creditor, or the servicing rights are transferred. Administering the Loan includes, among other things, sending monthly payments statements, collecting monthly payments, maintaining records of payments and balances, collecting and paying taxes and insurance (and managing escrow and impounding funds), remitting monies to U.S. Bank National Association, not in its individual capacity but solely as trustee for the RMAC Trust, Series 2016–CTT, following up on loan delinquencies, home loan workouts and home retention programs, and other general customer service functions. Further, in the event of a default under the terms of the Loan, RLMS is authorized by U.S. Bank National Association, not in its individual capacity but solely as trustee for the RMAC Trust, Series 2016–CTT and under applicable law to enforce the terms of the subject deed of trust.

According to RLMS's books and records, the Loan is evidenced by a promissory note executed by Gerald Goldstein and Claire Levine and dated January 19, 2007, in the original principal amount of $4,991,000.00 (the "Note"). See Exhibit A.

RLMS's records reflect that U.S. Bank National Association, not in its individual capacity but solely as trustee for the RMAC Trust, Series 2016–CTT holds possession of the original Note. The Note is indorsed and payable in blank. See Exhibit A.

The Note is secured by a deed of trust (the "Deed of Trust") relating to real property commonly known as 3800 Wailea Alunui Drive #B101, Kihei, Hawaii 96753. The Deed of Trust reflects that it was duly recorded. See Exhibit B.

Copies of the Note and Deed of Trust which are attached hereto as Exhibits A and B, respectively, are true and correct copies of said documents contained in RLMS's business records.

The Deed of Trust was assigned to U.S. Bank National Association, not in its individual capacity but solely as trustee for the RMAC Trust, Series 2016–CTT. See Exhibit C.

- 1) Although the instant Motion has been filed by U.S. Bank, Capital One remains the party of record in three different proceedings. Capital One is the petitioner in a pending title reformation action filed prepetition in the Hawaii Land Court. Capital One has filed a Proof of Claim in the Debtor's bankruptcy case. All records that the Debtor has received regarding the mortgage have been from Capital One. These facts suggest that Capital One, rather than U.S. Bank, may be the real party in interest.
- 2) Mr. Ruiz's declaration states only that RLMS's business records reflect possession of the Note and Deed of Trust. No declarant with personal knowledge has testified that the Note and Deed of Trust are in U.S. Bank's possession. RMLS's business records are not reliable, because there is no testimony regarding the date and time that the record indicating custody was generated, who entered the record, or whether that entry was based on personal knowledge.
- 3) Exhibit C to Mr. Ruiz's declaration, which purports to reflect assignment of the Deed of Trust to U.S. Bank, is not authenticated and is inadmissible.
- 4) On November 16, 2011, Capital One petitioned the Hawaii Land Court to expunge an assignment of the Note and Deed of Trust recorded on November 24, 2009 (the "Second Assignment"). By seeking to expunge the Second Assignment, Capital One has admitted its inability to foreclose under the Note and Deed of Trust. U.S. Bank, as Capital One's successor-in-interest, should be judicially estopped from asserting that it has the ability to foreclose.

U.S. Bank's Reply to the Opposition is not due until February 15, 2019. The Trustee does not oppose the Motion.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Civil Rule 17(a)(1) provides: "An action must be prosecuted in the name of the real party in interest." "The modern function of the rule ... is simply to protect the defendant against a subsequent action by the party actually entitled to recover, and to insure generally that the judgment will have its proper effect as res judicata." U-Haul Int'l, Inc. v. Jartran, Inc., 793 F.2d 1034, 1039 (9th Cir. 1986). "Real party in interest doctrine ... ensures that the party bringing the action owns or has rights that can be vindicated by proving the elements of the claim for relief asserted." Veal v. Am. Home Mortgage Servicing, Inc. (In re Veal), 450 B.R. 897, 908 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2011).

Chapter 7

Because stay-relief proceedings "are primarily procedural" and do not finally determine a creditor's claim or security, "a party seeking stay relief need only establish that it has a colorable claim to enforce a right against property of the estate." Veal, 450 B.R. at 914–15; see also Johnson v. Righetti (In re Johnson), 756 F.2d 738, 740 (9th Cir. 1985), cert. denied, 474 U.S. 828, 106 S.Ct. 88, 88 L.Ed.2d 72 (1985) ("Hearings on relief from the automatic stay are ... handled in a summary fashion. The validity of the claim or contract underlying the claim is not litigated during the hearing").

For purposes of the instant Motion only, U.S. Bank has established that it is the real party in interest entitled to enforce the Note and Deed of Trust. Based upon Mr. Ruiz's declaration, the Court makes the following findings of fact:

- 1) RLMS has the contractual right and responsibility to service the Note and Deed of Trust on behalf of U.S. Bank. As the loan servicer, RLMS has the authority to provide testimony in support of the instant Motion. Ruiz Decl. [Doc. No. 674] at ¶¶ 3–4.
- 2) U.S. Bank holds possession of the Note. Id. at ¶ 6.
- 3) Americorp was the original lender under the Note and Deed of Trust. Id. at Ex. A, p. 1. On December 16, 2007, Americorp recorded an assignment of the Deed of Trust from Americorp to Mortgage Electronic Registration Systems, Inc. ("MERS"). Id. at Ex. A, pp. 39–44. On November 24, 2009, MERS recorded an assignment of the Deed of Trust from MERS to Capital One. Id. at Ex. A, pp. 45–47. On October 5, 2018, Roosevelt Management Company recorded an assignment of the Deed of Trust from Capital One to U.S. Bank. Id. at Ex. A, pp. 48–51.

Based upon the foregoing findings of fact, the Court finds that U.S. Bank has established a colorable claim to enforce the Note and Deed of Trust. Mr. Ruiz's declaration shows that U.S. Bank holds possession of the Note. The declaration further establishes a chain of title extending from Americorp, the original lender, to U.S. Bank.

The Objectors misapprehend the nature of a lift-stay motion. To show that it is the real party in interest entitled to stay-relief, U.S. Bank need establish only a colorable claim to enforce the Note and Deed of Trust. That is because this lift-stay hearing is not an adjudication of U.S. Bank's ultimate ability to foreclose under the Note and Deed of Trust. That issue will be determined by the Hawaii State Court. U.S. Bank is not required to show its ability to enforce the Note and Deed of Trust beyond a metaphysical doubt.

The Objectors assert that Exhibit C, the assignment of the Deed of Trust from Capital One to U.S. Bank, is not authenticated. The Objectors are mistaken. Mr. Ruiz's declaration sufficiently authenticates Exhibit C. Mr. Ruiz testifies that he is familiar with RLMS's books and records, and he describes the contents of Exhibit C. Ruiz Decl. at ¶ 9.

The Objectors take issues with the fact that Mr. Ruiz's declaration is based upon his review of RLMS's business records, rather than personal knowledge of the accuracy of the Note and Deed of Trust. Under Federal Rule of Evidence ("FRE") 803(6), records of a regularly conducted activity are admissible if:

- a) the record was made at or near the time by—or from information transmitted by—someone with knowledge;
- b) the record was kept in the course of a regularly conducted activity of a business, organization, occupation, or calling, whether or not for profit;
- c) making the record was a regular practice of that activity;
- d) all these conditions are shown by the testimony of the custodian or another qualified witness, or by a certification that complies with Rule 902(11) or (12) or with a statute permitting certification; and
- e) the opponent does not show that the source of information or the method or circumstances of preparation indicate a lack of trustworthiness.

Mr. Ruiz's declaration shows that the records submitted by U.S. Bank satisfy all the requirements of FRE 803(6). Specifically, Mr. Ruiz testifies:

I have access to and am familiar with RLMS's books and records regarding the Loan, RLMS's servicing records, and copies of the applicable Loan documents. I am familiar with the manner in which RLMS maintains its books and records, including computer records relating to the servicing of the Loan. RLMS's records are made at or near the time of the occurrence of the matters set forth in such records, by an employee or representative with knowledge of the acts or events recorded. Such records are obtained, kept and maintained by RLMS in the regular course of RLMS's business. RLMS relies on such records in the ordinary course of business.

Ruiz Decl. at ¶ 1.

The Objectors have not introduced any evidence indicating that RLMS's records, or the circumstances in which those records are prepared, lack trustworthiness. Therefore, the records submitted by U.S. Bank are admissible. There is no merit to the Objectors' contention that an absence of testimony by someone with personal knowledge of the Note and Deed of Trust requires denial of the Motion.

The Objectors maintain that Capital One, which asserted an interest in the Note and Deed of Trust prior to assignment to U.S. Bank, has acknowledged a defect in chain of title in papers filed with the Hawaii Land Court. The Objectors contend that Capital One's alleged admission judicially estops U.S. Bank from asserting that it has the ability to enforce the Note and Deed of Trust. The Objectors are incorrect. The doctrine of judicial estoppel "generally prevents a party from prevailing in one phase of a case on an argument and then relying on a contradictory argument to prevail in another phase." New Hampshire v. Maine, 532 U.S. 742, 749, 121 S. Ct. 1808, 1814, 149 L. Ed. 2d 968 (2001). U.S. Bank cannot be judicially estopped as a result of representations made by Capital One, an unrelated party, in a different case.

The Objectors contend that the Motion's allegations of a lack of equity are not supported by competent evidence. The Objectors are judicially estopped from challenging U.S. Bank's position that there is no equity in the Property. The Objectors previously persuaded the Court to approve a Settlement Agreement, followed by an Amended Settlement Agreement, both of which were predicated upon a short sale of the Property. Thus, the Objectors have acknowledged the lack of equity, and they have not demonstrated that the Property has appreciated in value since the time the Amended Settlement Agreement was approved.

The Objectors' question U.S. Bank's status as the real party in interest, pointing to the fact that Capital One has filed a Proof of Claim asserting indebtedness under the Note and is the petitioner in a prepetition action pending the Hawaii Land Court. These facts do not defeat U.S. Bank's status as the real party in interest. The Proof of Claim in question was filed nearly seven years ago, on June 12, 2012, and therefore provides minimal probative value on the question of who is now entitled to enforce the Note and Deed of Trust. The Hawaii Land Court action is even older, having been filed on November 16, 2011.

This bankruptcy petition was commenced on April 10, 2012. The Property has been protected by the automatic stay for almost seven years. U.S. Bank is owed approximately $8.35 million, and the Property is worth only $6.1 million, according to the broker's price opinion submitted by U.S. Bank. The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to §§ 362(d)(1) and (d)(2), to permit U.S. Bank, its successors, transferees, and assigns, to enforce its remedies with respect to the Property in accordance with applicable law. #2.00 HearingRE: [14] Notice of motion and motion for relief from automatic stay with supporting declarations ACTION IN NON-BANKRUPTCY FORUM RE: Worker's Compensation Case .

Docket 14

Tentative Ruling:

2/14/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the R/S Motion is GRANTED.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed

1. Notice of Motion and Motion for Relief from the Automatic Stay Under 11 U.S.C. § 362 (Action in Nonbankruptcy Forum) (Doc. No. 14) (the "R/S Motion")
2. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Tahlequah Steel, Inc. (the "Debtor") filed this voluntary chapter 7 case on November 2, 2018 (the "Petition Date"). Jason M. Rund was appointed and continues to serve as the acting chapter 7 trustee (the "Trustee").

David Livingston ("Movant") seeks relief from the automatic stay pursuant to § 362(d)(1) to proceed with a worker's compensation proceeding (Case No. ADJ9997985) (the "Worker's Comp Proceeding") before the Workers' Compensation Appeals Board of the State of California (the "Appeals Board"). Movant commenced the Worker's Comp Proceeding on May 27, 2015 by filing a claim for worker's compensation benefits arising from an injury Movant allegedly sustained while employed by the Debtor.

Movant states that the Debtor is a self-insured employer and seeks relief from stay to apply for benefits from "Uninsured Employers Fund" because at the time of Movant's alleged injury, the Debtor's insurance premiums had purportedly lapsed. It appears Movant also seeks relief from stay to allow a mandatory settlement conference to proceed. Movant asserts that cause exists to grant stay relief because the claims are non-dischargeable, arise under non-bankruptcy law, and can be most expeditiously resolved in the non-bankruptcy forum.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, neither the Debtor nor the Trustee have filed oppositions.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

As a preliminary matter, a motion for relief from the automatic stay is a summary proceeding that does not involve an adjudication of the merits of the underlying claims. As recognized by the Ninth Circuit Bankruptcy Appellate Panel in In re Luz Int'l, Ltd.:

Given the limited grounds for obtaining a motion for relief from stay, read in conjunction with the expedited schedule for a hearing on the motion, most courts hold that motion for relief from stay hearings should not involve an adjudication of the merits of claims, defenses, or counterclaims, but simply determine whether the creditor has a colorable claim to the property of the estate. See In re Johnson, 756 F.2d 738, 740 (9th Cir.), cert. denied, 474 U.S. 828, 106 S.Ct. 88, 88 L.Ed.2d 72 (1985) ("Hearings on relief from the automatic stay are thus handled in a summary fashion. The validity of the claim or contract underlying the claim is not litigated during the hearing.").

219 B.R. 837, 842 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1998) (citation omitted). In a summary proceeding, the court's discretion is broad. In re Santa Clara Cty. Fair Ass'n, Inc., 180 B.R. 564, 566 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1995).

Section 362(d)(1) permits a bankruptcy court to grant relief from the automatic stay upon a showing of "cause." Cause is a flexible concept and courts often conduct a fact intensive, case-by-case balancing test, examining the totality of the circumstances to determine whether sufficient cause exists to lift the stay. In re SCO Grp., Inc., 395 B.R. 852, 856 (Bankr. D. Del. 2007) (citing Baldino v. Wilson (In re Wilson), 116 F.3d 87, 90 (3d Cir. 1997); In re Laguna Assocs. Ltd., 30 F.3d 734, 737 (7th Cir. 1994)); In re MacDonald, 755 F.2d 715, 717 (9th Cir. 1985). "Among factors appropriate to consider in determining whether relief from the automatic stay should be granted to allow state court proceedings to continue are considerations of judicial economy and the expertise of the state court." In re Kronemyer, 405 B.R. 915, 921 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2009) (citing In re MacDonald, 755 F.2d 715, 717 (9th Cir. 1985)).

Here, the Court finds that the Worker's Comp Proceeding involves non-bankruptcy law and is within the expertise of the Appeals Board to resolve. Allowing Movant to continue the Worker's Comp Proceeding will best promote the judicial economy by fully resolving Movant's worker's compensation claim that may either support or negate the filing of a proof of claim or adversary complaint in this case.

The Court deems the Trustee's and Debtor's absence of an objection as their consent to the granting of the motion pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(h).

Based on the foregoing, to the extent the automatic stay applies, the Court GRANTS the R/S Motion pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1) to permit the Movant to proceed under applicable non-bankruptcy law to final judgment in the Worker's Comp Proceeding and/or to pursue benefits from the Uninsured Employers Fund, provided that the stay remains in effect with respect to enforcement of any judgment against the Debtor or estate property. The Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim or any other claim against the Debtor or property of the estate, except that the Movant will retain the right to file a proof of claim and/or an adversary complaint under §§ 523 or 727 (to the extent applicable). This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code.

All other relief is denied.

Movant shall upload a conforming order via the Court's Lodged Order Upload system within 7 days of the hearing.

Docket 8

Tentative Ruling:

2/14/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtors, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1) for cause to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to repossess or otherwise obtain possession and dispose of its collateral pursuant to applicable law, and to use the proceeds from its disposition to satisfy its claim. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtors or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. The Court takes judicial notice of the Chapter 7 Individual Debtors' Statement of Intention in which the Debtors stated an intention to surrender the vehicle to Movant.

This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. The 14-day stay prescribed by FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived. All other relief is denied.

Movant shall upload an appropriate order via the Court's Lodged Order Upload system within 7 days of the hearing.

#5.00 HearingRE: [10] Notice of motion and motion for relief from the automatic stay with supporting declarations PERSONAL PROPERTY RE: 2017 Mitsubishi Outlander, VIN JA4AD3A38HZ013373 . (Wang, Jennifer)

Docket 10

Tentative Ruling:

2/14/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtors, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1) for cause to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to repossess or otherwise obtain possession and dispose of its collateral pursuant to applicable law, and to use the proceeds from its disposition to satisfy its claim. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtors or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. The Court takes judicial notice of the Chapter 7 Individual Debtors' Statement of Intention in which the Debtors stated an intention to surrender the vehicle to Movant.

This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. The 14-day stay prescribed by FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived. All other relief is denied.

Movant shall upload an appropriate order via the Court's Lodged Order Upload system within 7 days of the hearing.

#7.00 HearingRE: [21] Notice of motion and motion for relief from the automatic stay with supporting declarations REAL PROPERTY RE: 845 E. Avenue K7, Lancaster, CA 93535 . (Rocha, Karel)

Docket 21

Tentative Ruling:

2/14/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the R/S Motion is DENIED.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed

1. Notice of Motion and Motion for Relief from the Automatic Stay Under 11 U.S.C. § 362 (Real Property) [Doc. No. 21] (the "R/S Motion")
2. Chapter 7 Trustee's Opposition to First City Credit Union's Motion for Relief from the Automatic Stay [Doc. No. 23] (the "Opposition")
3. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no reply is on file.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Wardine Bridges (the "Debtor") filed this voluntary chapter 7 case in pro per on March 6, 2018 (the "Petition Date"). Jason M. Rund is the appointed and active chapter 7 trustee (the "Trustee").

First City Credit Union ("Movant") seeks relief from the automatic stay pursuant to section 362(d)(1) with respect to the Debtor's interest in real property located at 845 E. Avenue K7, Lancaster, CA 93535 (the "Property") on the basis that Movant's interest in the Property is not adequately protected because the Debtor has not made 3 monthly mortgage payments totaling $360.00 and the Property is depreciating. In support of the R/S Motion, Movant states that it holds a secured claim against the Property in the amount of $9,539.08 but concedes that the fair market value of the Property is $160,000.

The Trustee filed a timely Opposition to the R/S Motion [Doc. No. 23]. The Trustee asserts that Movant is adequately protected by a significant equity cushion. Moreover, the Trustee has a pending motion for turnover of the property so that the Trustee can sell the Property and pay Movant's claim in full. See Doc. No. 24.

The Trustee further states that the estate would be harmed if the Court were to grant stay relief because there appears to be approximately $114,485.92 in available equity, after paying off Movant's claim, applicable costs of sale, and the Debtor's exemption, that can be distributed to creditors. Therefore, the Trustee requests the Court deny the R/S Motion.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no reply is on file.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Under 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1), the Court shall grant relief if the movant's interest in the property is not protected by an adequate equity cushion. In the Ninth Circuit, "[a] 20% [equity] cushion has been held to be an adequate protection for a secured creditor." In re Mellor, 734 F.2d 1396, 1401 (9th Cir. 1984).

Based on Movant's figures, the Court finds that Movant is adequately protected by a 92% equity cushion. Therefore, Movant has not established entitlement to relief from stay pursuant to § 362(d)(1).

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the R/S Motion is DENIED.

The Trustee is directed to lodge a conforming proposed order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing.

RE: [21] Show Cause Why This Action Should Not Be Dismissed For Failure To State A Claim Upon Which Relief Can Be Granted

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

For the reasons set forth below, the Court finds that the Complaint's allegations pertaining to Defendant's representations with respect to her annual income and tax refund fail to state a claim upon which relief can be granted. The Court will dismiss those allegations. Chapter 7

Conclusions:

The Complaint alleges that Defendant made various false representations to Plaintiff to obtain a loan. The alleged misrepresentations were made verbally in a telephone conversation. The parties have stipulated that in applying for the loan, Defendant verbally identified her employer and told Plaintiff that her annual income was $60,000. The parties dispute whether Defendant verbally represented that she would use a portion of her tax refund to pay down the loan. Plaintiff seeks a judgment that the indebtedness arising in connection with the loan is non-dischargeable pursuant to §523(a)(2)(A).

Section 523(a)(2)(A) excepts from discharge "money property, services, or an extension, renewal, or refinancing of credit, to the extent obtained by false pretenses, a false representation, or actual fraud, other than a statement respecting the debtor's or an insider's financial condition" (emphasis added). To except from discharge indebtedness obtained by a false statement respecting a debtor's financial condition, creditors must satisfy the stricter criteria of §523(a)(2)(B). The Supreme Court has explained the structure of § 523(a)(2) as follows:

The text of § 523(a)(2) plainly heightens the bar to discharge when the fraud at issue was effectuated via a "statement respecting the debtor's financial condition." The heightened requirements, moreover, are not a shield for dishonest debtors. Rather, they reflect Congress' effort to balance the potential misuse of such statements by both debtors and creditors. As the Court has explained previously:

"The House Report on the [Bankruptcy Reform Act of 1978] suggests that Congress wanted to moderate the burden on individuals who submitted false financial statements, not because lies about financial *1764 condition are less blameworthy than others, but because the relative equities might be affected by practices of consumer finance companies, which sometimes have encouraged such falsity by their borrowers for the very purpose of insulating their own claims from discharge." Field v. Mans, 516 U.S. 59, 76–77, 116 S.Ct. 437, 133 L.Ed.2d 351 (1995).

Chapter 7

Specifically, as detailed in Field, the House Report noted that consumer finance companies frequently collected information from loan applicants in ways designed to permit the companies to later use those statements as the basis for an exception to discharge. Commonly, a loan officer would instruct a loan applicant " 'to list only a few or only the most important of his debts' " on a form with too little space to supply a complete list of debts, even though the phrase, " 'I have no other debts,' " would be printed at the bottom of the form or the applicant would be " 'instructed to write the phrase in his own handwriting.' " Id., at 77, n. 13, 116 S.Ct. 437. If the debtor later filed for bankruptcy, the creditor would contend that the debtor had made misrepresentations in his loan application and the creditor would threaten litigation over excepting the debt from discharge. That threat was "often enough to induce the debtor to settle for a reduced sum," even where the merits of the nondischargeability claim were weak. H.R. Rep. No. 95-595, p. 131 (1977).

The Supreme Court has held that "a statement is 'respecting' a debtor's financial condition if it has a direct relation to or impact on the debtor's overall financial status." Lamar, 138 S.Ct. at 1761. Such statements can include statements pertaining to a single asset, because a "single asset has a direct relation to and impact on aggregate financial condition, so a statement about a single asset bears on a debtor's overall financial condition and can help indicate whether a debtor is solvent or insolvent, able to repay a given debt or not." Id.

Plaintiff's position is that Defendant obtained the loan by verbally making false statements regarding her income and her intent to pay down a portion of the loan using her tax refund. In the Court's view, the verbal statements made by Defendant qualify as statements respecting Defendant's financial condition, within the meaning of §523(a)(2)(A). Defendant's statement that she earned $60,000 per year clearly qualifies as a statement respecting her financial condition. Defendant's representation regarding her intent to use her tax refund to pay down the loan likewise qualifies as a statement respecting her financial condition. A tax refund is an asset, and the Supreme Court has recently held that statements regarding a single asset qualify as a statement respecting a debtor's financial condition. In Lamar, the court held that the Defendant's statement that he was expecting a tax refund of approximately $100,000, which would have been sufficient to pay his creditor's outstanding legal fees, was a statement respecting his financial condition. Lamar, 138 S.Ct. at 1757. Here, Defendant's alleged statement regarding her intent to use her tax refund to pay down the loan is strikingly similar to the statement at issue in Lamar.

Indebtedness obtained through use of a false statement respect a debtor's financial condition is dischargeable only under §523(a)(2)(B). The Complaint contains no claim under §523(a)(2)(B). Consequently, the Complaint fails to state a claim upon which relief can be granted.

Order to Show Cause at 3–4.

Summary of Papers Filed in Connection with the Order to Show Cause

In its Response to the Order to Show Cause, Plaintiff does not dispute that statements regarding Defendant's tax refund and annual income qualify as statements respecting Defendant's financial condition, and that accordingly any indebtedness Defendant obtained through such statements is dischargeable only under § 523(a)(2) (B). Plaintiff asserts that the Complaint's remaining allegations are sufficient to state a claim under § 523(a)(2)(A). Those allegations are as follows:

The [Loan] Agreement states at page 1 that the Borrower [Defendant] promises to pay to [Plaintiff] LoanMe the principal and interest due on the loan on the terms stated in the Agreement. By only making the very first payment due on the loan, LoanMe is informed and believes that Defendant had no intent to repay the loan at the time she signed the Agreement and obtained the loan proceeds and that her representation to repay was knowingly false when made. LoanMe is further informed and believes that by only making one payment, Defendant had no intent to repay the loan at the time she signed the Agreement and obtained the loan proceeds.

LoanMe is further informed and believes based on the above facts that at the time Defendant obtained the loan proceeds and made the above representations to LoanMe she had the intent to deceive LoanMe in order to obtain the loan proceeds.

LoanMe reasonably relied on Defendant's promise to repay the loan. Plaintiff obtained checking account records from Defendant which led LoanMe to agree to lend funds to Defendant. LoanMe had no reason to believe Defendant would make only one payment on the loan and file for bankruptcy a few months after obtaining the loan proceeds. Had LoanMe known that Defendant would reverse the ACH and make only one payment on the loan, LoanMe would not have loaned the proceeds to Defendant.

LoanMe is further informed and believes and thereon alleges that at the time Defendant obtained the Loan, she knew or should have known she had no ability to repay the Loan and/or was insolvent at the time the Loan was obtained.

Complaint at ¶¶ 14–17.

In Opposition to Plaintiff's Response, Defendant concedes that she made only one payment under the Loan, but argues that this fact does not support a finding that Defendant did not intend to repay the Loan at the time it was made. Defendant further argues that Plaintiff has failed to allege facts sufficient to establish that Plaintiff reasonably relied upon Defendant's promise to repay when extending credit.

In Reply to Defendant's Opposition, Plaintiff contends that Defendant's alleged fraudulent intent may be inferred by circumstantial evidence—specifically, that Defendant made only one payment on the Loan.

II. Findings and Conclusions

"To survive a motion to dismiss, a complaint must contain sufficient factual matter, accepted as true, to 'state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face.' A claim has facial plausibility when the plaintiff pleads factual content that allows the court to draw the reasonable inference that the defendant is liable for the misconduct alleged." Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678 (2009) (internal citations omitted). To state a plausible claim for relief, a complaint must satisfy two working principles:

First, the tenet that a court must accept as true all of the allegations contained in a complaint is inapplicable to legal conclusions. Threadbare recitations of the elements of a cause of action, supported by mere conclusory statements, do not suffice.... Second, only a complaint that states a plausible claim for relief survives a motion to dismiss. Determining whether a complaint states a plausible claim for relief will ... be a context-specific task that requires the reviewing court to draw on its judicial experience and common sense. But where the well-pleaded facts do not permit the court to infer more than the mere possibility of misconduct, the complaint has alleged—but it has not "show[n]"—"that the pleader is entitled to relief."

Id. (citing Civil Rule 8(a)(2)).

Although the pleading standard Civil Rule 8 announces "does not require 'detailed factual allegations,' ... it demands more than an unadorned, the-defendant-unlawfully-harmed-me accusation.... A pleading that offers 'labels and conclusions' or a 'formulaic recitation of the elements of a cause of action will not do.' Nor does a complaint suffice if it tenders 'naked assertion[s]' devoid of 'further factual enhancement.'" Id. (citing Bell Atlantic Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 555 (2007)).

Plaintiff does not dispute the Court's preliminary finding that the Complaint's allegations regarding statements that Defendant made with respect to her annual income and tax refund fail to state a claim under § 523(a)(2)(A). The Court will dismiss the allegations pertaining to Defendant's annual income and tax refund.

The Court finds that the Complaint's remaining allegations are sufficient to state a claim under § 523(a)(2)(A). Section 523(a)(2)(A) provides: "A discharge under section 727 ... of this title does not discharge an individual debtor from any debt for money, property, services, or an extension, renewal, or refinancing of credit, to the extent obtained by false pretenses, a false representation, or actual fraud, other than a statement respecting the debtor's or an insider's financial condition."

To prevail on a § 523(a)(2)(A) claim, a creditor must prove that:

- (1) the debtor made the representations;
- (2) that at the time he knew they were false;
- (3) that he made them with the intention and purpose of deceiving the creditor;
- (4) that the creditor relied on such representations; and
- (5) that the creditor sustained the alleged loss and damage as the proximate result of the misrepresentations having been made.

Ghomeshi v. Sabban (In re Sabban), 600 F.3d 1219, 1222 (9th Cir. 2010).

Here, the Complaint alleges that Plaintiff extended credit based upon Defendant's promise to repay. The Complaint alleges that Defendant never intended to repay, and that Defendant's fraudulent intent is evidenced by the fact that Defendant made only one payment on the Loan. These allegations state a claim under § 523(a)(2)(A).

The Court will conduct a Pretrial Conference on April 16, 2019, at 11:00 a.m.,

By no later than fourteen days prior to the Pretrial Conference, the parties shall submit an Amended Joint Pretrial Stipulation that reflects the dismissal of the allegations pertaining to Defendant's annual income and tax refund.

III. Conclusion

Based upon the foregoing, the Court finds that the Complaint's allegations pertaining to Defendant's representations with respect to her annual income and tax refund fail to state a claim upon which relief can be granted. The Court will dismiss those allegations. Because the Complaint's remaining allegations state a claim, the Court will discharge the Order to Show Cause, and will conduct a Pretrial Conference on April 16, 2019, at 11:00 a.m. The Court will prepare and enter an appropriate order.

Doc. No. 478] (the "Approval Order") had been satisfied. The Court fixed January 29, 2019 as the deadline for Defendants Golden Bay LLC and/or Lucy Gao to object to dismissal. Adv. Doc. No. 48.

Golden Bay LLC and Lucy Gao have not timely objected to dismissal. Plaintiff Bradley D. Sharp, Plan Administrator under the Confirmed First Amended Chapter 11 Plan of Liquidation Dated January 31, 2018 for Liberty Asset Management Corporation (the "Plan Administrator") states that all conditions set forth in the Approval Order have been satisfied, except that Crystal Waterfalls, LLC ("Crystal") has not paid UST fees for the third and fourth quarters of 2018 and has not filed its December 2018 Monthly Operating Report.

At a Status Conference conducted on September 11, 2018, the Court noted that Crystal had not yet completed all the actions contemplated by the Approval Order. In its order setting a continued Status Conference for December 11, 2018, the Court stated:

Because the ninety-day continuance of the Status Conference provides Crystal more than sufficient time to complete the remaining actions contemplated by the Approval Order, the Court expects that all such remaining actions will have been completed by the date of the continued Status Conference.

See Order Setting Continued Status Conference for December 11, 2018, at 10:00 a.m. [Doc. No. 40] at ¶3.

Crystal is ORDERED to bring its UST fees current, and to file all outstanding Monthly Operating Reports, by no later than February 27, 2019. The Court will not extend this deadline absent exceptionally compelling circumstances. Crystal has been provided more than sufficient time to complete the tasks set forth in the Approval Order.

Once the conditions set forth in the Approval Order have been satisfied, the Plan Administrator shall submit a stipulation between the Plan Administrator and Crystal, providing for the dismissal of this action, accompanied by a proposed order thereon. A continued Status Conference shall be held on April 3, 2019, at 10:00 a.m. A Joint Status Report shall be submitted by no later than fourteen days prior to the hearing. The Status Conference will go off calendar in the event the action is dismissed.

The Court will prepare and enter an appropriate order.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Jessica Vogel or Daniel Koontz at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. #4.00 HearingRE: [25] Motion to Dismiss Debtor with proof of service.

Docket 25

Tentative Ruling:

2/19/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Dismissal Motion is GRANTED.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed

1. Debtor's Voluntary Motion to Dismiss [Doc. No. 25] (the "Dismissal Motion")
2. Notice of Motion for: Debtor's Voluntary Motion to Dismiss [Doc. No. 26]
3. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Apostolic Ark Faith Assembly, Inc. (the "Debtor") filed this voluntary chapter 7 case on December 7, 2018 (the "Petition Date"). On December 27, 2018, the case was dismissed for failure to file certain case commencement documents [Doc. No. 12]. On January 4, 2019, the Court entered an order granting Debtor's request to vacate the dismissal order and reinstating the case [Doc. No. 16]. On January 14, 2019, the Debtor filed a motion to convert this case to a case under chapter 7 [Doc. No. 18], but subsequently withdrew that motion [Doc. No. 21].

Prior to the Petition Date, the Debtor conducted worship services on the leased premises of 536 S. 2nd Street, Suite I and J, Covina, CA 91723 (the "Lease"). However, on January 17, 2019, the Court entered an order lifting the automatic stay with respect to Warren Plaza, Inc., after determining that the Lease was not property of the bankruptcy estate. See Doc. Nos. 20 & 23.

As a result, the Debtor now seeks to dismiss this case pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1112(b). The Debtor states that it filed this case in an effort to reinstate its Lease, cure outstanding rent obligations, and reorganize its affairs. However, in light of this Court's order lifting the stay, the Debtor submits that there is no further relief to be obtained by remaining in bankruptcy. The Debtor states that all of its assets were located on the leased premises and that it has very little personal property that can be liquidated to pay creditors. The Debtor further states that it has few creditors and understands that as a non-individual debtor it cannot obtain a discharge.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

As a preliminary matter, the Court notes that Debtor seeks relief under § 1112(b), but that section is inapplicable because this is a chapter 7 case. Accordingly, the Court will treat the Debtor's motion as a request for relief under section 707(a).

Pursuant to section 707(a), "the court may dismiss a case under this chapter only after notice and a hearing and only for cause." The examples listed in § 707(a)(1) – (3) are merely illustrative, and a court may dismiss a petition on other grounds where cause exists. Collier on Bankruptcy, ¶ 707.03[01] (16th 2018); see also In re Padilla, 222 F.3d 1184, 1191 (9th Cir. 2000) ("The grounds that § 707(a) lists as providing 'cause' for dismissal are illustrative and not exhaustive"). "In the Ninth Circuit, 'a voluntary Chapter 7 debtor is entitled to dismissal of [its] case so long as such dismissal will cause no 'legal prejudice' to interested parties.'" In re Bartee, 317 B.R. 362, 366 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2004) (internal citations omitted). "Debtors bear the burden of proving that dismissal would not prejudice their creditors." Id.

In this case, the Debtor submits that it has very little property that could be administered for the benefit of creditors. In support of the motion, the Debtor attached a copy of its Schedule A, which lists personal property totaling only $3,600.00. None of the Debtor's creditors or the Chapter 7 Trustee have responded to its motion to voluntarily dismiss this case. Therefore, the Court finds that dismissal will no prejudice any interest parties and that "cause" exists to dismiss this case.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the Dismissal Motion is GRANTED.

The Debtor is directed to lodge a conforming proposed order, incorporating this

#6.00 Hearing re [10] Defendant's Motion To Dismiss

Docket 0

Tentative Ruling:

2/19/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Motion is DENIED.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Complaint to Determine Dischargeability of Debt and for Money Judgment [Doc. No. 1] (the "Complaint")
- 2) Defendants' Notice of Motion and Motion to Dismiss Plaintiffs' Complaint [Doc. No. 10] (the "Motion")
- 3) Plaintiff's Opposition to Debtor's Motion to Dismiss Plaintiff's Adversary Action [Doc. No. 11] (the "Opposition")
- 4) Order Setting Hearing on Defendant's Motion to Dismiss [Doc. No. 12]
- 5) Defendants' Response to: Plaintiff's Opposition to Debtor's Motion to Dismiss Plaintiff's Adversary Action [Doc. No. 15]

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On August 30, 2018, the Chapter 7 case of Jeremy Wyatt LeClair was transferred to this district from the Western District of North Carolina. On that same date, the Clerk of the Court issued a Notice of Chapter 7 Bankruptcy Case [Bankr. Doc. No. 2] (the "Notice"), which set December 3, 2018 as the deadline to file a dischargeability action.

On November 30, 2018, Alvaro Cortes ("Plaintiff") filed a Complaint to Determine Dischargeability of Debt and for Money Judgment [Bankr. Doc. No. 18] (the "Complaint"). As a result of a filing error, the Clerk of the Court (the "Clerk") did not assign the Complaint an adversary case number and did not issue a Summons. On December 3, 2018, Plaintiff attempted to re-file the Complaint, but instead mistakenly filed a document pertaining to an unrelated state court action. In connection with the December 3 filing, the Clerk opened Adv. No. 2:18-ap-01423, and instructed Plaintiff to immediately file the correct document.

On December 4, 2018, Plaintiff re-filed the correct version of the Complaint, but mistakenly filed that document in the main bankruptcy case, rather than in Adv. No. 2:18-ap-01423-ER. As a result, the Clerk opened a different adversary file, Adv. No. 2:18-ap-01425-ER, and issued a Summons in that file. The Court subsequently issued an order which closed Adv. No. 2:18-ap-01423-ER and provided that litigation of the Complaint would proceed in Adv. No. 2:18-ap-01425-ER.

Summary of the Complaint's Allegations

The allegations of the Complaint may be summarized as follows:

Plaintiff commenced an action in the Los Angeles Superior Court against Defendant (the "State Court Action"), which alleged that Defendant fraudulently offered and sold unqualified, non-exempt securities in the form of operating agreements, bridge loans, and promissory notes. The securities were intended to finance entertainment projects. Plaintiff obtained a default judgment in the amount of $590,908.50 (the "State Court Judgment").

The indebtedness established by the State Court Judgment is non-dischargeable pursuant to § 523(a)(2)(A). Defendant made false representations in connection with the sale of the securities, because Defendant was operating a Ponzi scheme under which previous investors were repaid using newer investors' funds.

Defendant converted certain of the funds raised from the sale of such securities for his own personal use. Consequently, the indebtedness established by the State Court Judgment is non-dischargeable pursuant to § 523(a)(6).

Within one year prior to the filing of the petition, Defendant transferred substantial assets to others for the purpose of hindering, delaying, and defrauding creditors. As a result, Defendant's discharge should be denied pursuant to § 727(a)(2)(A).

Summary of Papers Filed in Connection with the Motion to Dismiss

On January 22, 2019, Defendant, proceeding pro se, filed an Answer to the Complaint and a Motion to Dismiss [Adv. Doc. No. 10] (the "Motion"). Both the Answer and the Motion assert that the Complaint is time-barred because it was filed on December 4, 2018—one day subsequent to the December 3, 2018 deadline. The Motion further asserts that the Complaint fails to state a claim under § 523(a)(6), for the following reasons:

- 1) The State Court Action was never served upon Defendant.
- 2) The State of California investigated the alleged Ponzi scheme and did not charge Defendant with any wrong-doing.
- 3) Defendant did not receive or take money from Plaintiff.
- 4) Rather than being the perpetrator of the alleged Ponzi scheme, Defendant was himself the victim of the fraudulent conduct of Dror Soref.
- 5) Defendant did not solicit Plaintiff by means of promotional materials as alleged in the Complaint.

In Opposition to the Motion, Plaintiff argues that the Complaint was not filed on December 4, 2018, but was instead re-filed on that day in response to the Clerk's instructions. Plaintiff disputes Defendant's contention that the Complaint fails to state a claim under § 523(a)(6). According to Plaintiff, Defendant's arguments are an attempt to challenge facts established by the State Court Judgment. Plaintiff asserts that Defendant is collaterally estopped from presenting such a challenge.

In Reply, Defendant reiterates that the Complaint was not filed until December 4, 2018. Defendant contends that the Clerk did not accept the filings on November 30, 2018 and December 3, 2018. Based on this premise, Defendant maintains that the Complaint was not accepted for filing until December 4, 2018.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Before turning to the merits, the Court must first address a procedural irregularity. Defendant filed the Motion at the same time he filed an Answer. A motion brought under Civil Rule 12(b)(6) must be made before pleading. Where a Rule 12(b)(6) motion is brought after pleading, it is treated as a motion for judgment on the pleadings, pursuant to Civil Rule 12(c). Elvig v. Calvin Presbyterian Church, 375 F.3d 951, 954 (9th Cir. 2004). The Court will construe the Motion as having been brought under Civil Rule 12(c).

The Complaint Was Filed Timely

Turning to the merits, Bankruptcy Rule 4007(c) provides: "[A] complaint to determine the dischargeability of a debt under § 523(c) shall be filed by no later than 60 days after the first date set for the meeting of creditors under § 341(a)." The 60-day deadline is strictly enforced:

“Ninth Circuit law ... strictly construes Rule 4007(c)” and courts “cannot extend [its] time limit implicitly” where no such motion is made. *Allred v. July 2, 2013) (“[W]e have repeatedly held that the sixty-day time, limit for filing nondischargeability complaints under 11 U.S.C. § 523(c) is strict and, without qualification, cannot be extended unless a motion is made before the 60–day limit expires.” (internal quotation marks omitted)); Anwiler v. Patchett (In re Anwiler), 958 F.2d 925, 927 (9th Cir.1992) (“[A] court no longer has the discretion to set the deadline, nor can it sua sponte extend the time to file....”); cf. Kontrick v. Ryan, 540 U.S. 443, 448 n. 3, 456, 124 S.Ct. 906, 157 L.Ed.2d 867 (2004) (characterizing Rule 4004’s time prescription, which is “essentially the same” as that in Rule 4007, as “an inflexible claim-processing rule” that is “unalterable on a party’s application”). Strict construction of Rule 4007(c) is necessary due to “the need for certainty in determining which claims are and are not discharged.” Kennerley, 995 F.2d at 148. Accordingly, we held in Kennerley that a complaint to determine dischargeability was untimely because “there was no clear indication in the record at the expiration of Rule 4007(c)’s 60–day period for filing complaints ... that th[e] debt [at issue] was not to be discharged along with all others.” Id.

Willms v. Sanderson, 723 F.3d 1094, 1100 (9th Cir. 2013).

Here, Plaintiff filed the Complaint on November 30, 2018, prior to the December 3, 2018 deadline. As a result of filing errors, the Clerk required Plaintiff to re-file the Complaint twice, and did not issue a Summons until December 4, 2018. For purposes of Bankruptcy Rule 4007(c), the initial date upon which the Complaint is filed is controlling. The fact that the Clerk directed Plaintiff to re-file the Complaint does not change the reality that the Complaint was filed timely. There is no merit to Defendant’s assertion that the Complaint must be dismissed as untimely.

The Complaint States a Claim for Relief Under § 523(a)(6)

Civil Rule 12(c) is functionally identical to Rule 12(b)(6), and the same standard of review applies to motions brought under either rule. Cafasso, U.S. ex rel. v. Gen. Dynamics C4 Sys., Inc., 637 F.3d 1047, 1055 n. 4 (9th Cir. 2011).

Chapter 7

Under Civil Rule 12(b)(6), "[t]o survive a motion to dismiss, a complaint must contain sufficient factual matter, accepted as true, to 'state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face.' A claim has facial plausibility when the plaintiff pleads factual content that allows the court to draw the reasonable inference that the defendant is liable for the misconduct alleged." Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678 (2009) (internal citations omitted). To state a plausible claim for relief, a complaint must satisfy two working principles:

First, the tenet that a court must accept as true all of the allegations contained in a complaint is inapplicable to legal conclusions. Threadbare recitations of the elements of a cause of action, supported by mere conclusory statements, do not suffice.... Second, only a complaint that states a plausible claim for relief survives a motion to dismiss. Determining whether a complaint states a plausible claim for relief will ... be a context-specific task that requires the reviewing court to draw on its judicial experience and common sense. But where the well-pleaded facts do not permit the court to infer more than the mere possibility of misconduct, the complaint has alleged—but it has not "show[n]"—"that the pleader is entitled to relief."

Id. (citing Civil Rule 8(a)(2)).

Although the pleading standard Civil Rule 8 announces "does not require 'detailed factual allegations,' ... it demands more than an unadorned, the-defendant-unlawfully-harmed-me accusation.... A pleading that offers 'labels and conclusions' or a 'formulaic recitation of the elements of a cause of action will not do.' Nor does a complaint suffice if it tenders 'naked assertion[s]' devoid of 'further factual enhancement.'" Id. (citing Bell Atlantic Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 555 (2007)).

In the Motion, Defendant does not attempt to show that the Complaint fails to allege sufficient facts in support of the relief sought. Instead, Defendant disputes the truth of the facts alleged in the Complaint. Defendant misapprehends the purpose of a motion brought under Civil Rule 12(b)(6). A Rule 12(b)(6) motion tests whether the Complaint alleges a plausible claim for relief; it does not test whether the Complaint's allegations are true.

The Complaint sufficiently states a claim under § 523(a)(6). "Section 523(a)(6) excepts from discharge debts arising from a debtor's 'willful and malicious' injury to another person or to the property of another. The 'willful' and 'malicious' requirements are conjunctive and subject to separate analysis." Plyam v. Precision Development, LLC (In re Plyam), 530 B.R. 456, 463 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 2015) (internal citations omitted).

Chapter 7

An injury is "willful" when "a debtor harbors 'either subjective intent to harm, or a subjective belief that harm is substantially certain.' The injury must be deliberate or intentional, 'not merely a deliberate or intentional act that leads to injury.'" Id. at 463 (internal citations omitted). When determining intent, there is a presumption that the debtor knows the natural consequences of his actions. Ormsby v. First Am. Title Co. of Nevada (In re Ormsby), 591 F.3d 1199, 1206 (9th Cir. 2010). An injury is "malicious" if it "involves '(1) a wrongful act, (2) done intentionally, (3) which necessarily causes injury, and (4) is done without just cause or excuse.'" Carrillo v. Su (In re Su), 290 F.3d 1140, 1146–47 (9th Cir. 2002) (internal citations omitted). "Within the plain meaning of this definition, it is the wrongful act that must be committed intentionally rather than the injury itself." Jett v. Sicroff (In re Sicroff), 401 F.3d 1101, 1106 (9th Cir. 2005).

Here, the Complaint alleges that Defendant committed willful and malicious injury to Plaintiff's property by converting such property in connection with the operation of a Ponzi scheme. The facts alleged in the Complaint are sufficient to state a claim under § 523(a)(6).

In Opposition to the Motion, Plaintiff asserts that Defendant is collaterally estopped from challenging facts established by the State Court Judgment. Within the context of the instant Motion, it is not necessary for the Court to decide the extent to which the State Court Judgment precludes Defendant from contesting his liability in this action.

Chapter 7

Bahram Zendedel (the "Debtor") filed this voluntary chapter 7 case on January 18, 2019 (the "Petition Date"). Shortly thereafter, Peter J. Mastan was appointed to serve as the chapter 7 trustee and continues to serve in that capacity (the "Trustee").

Creditor Cyrus Chady ("Movant") seeks relief from the automatic stay pursuant to § 362(d)(1) to proceed under applicable non-bankruptcy law to final judgment with two related actions pending before the Los Angeles Superior Court (the "State Court"): (1) Chady v. Zendedel et al., (Case No. BC640410) (the "State Court Action"); and (2) Chady v. Shamekh et al., (Case No. BC714462) (the "Malicious Prosecution Action," and together with the State Court Action, the "State Court Actions"). Movant also contends that mandatory abstention applies pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1334(c)(2).

Movant initiated the State Court Action on November 10, 2016, by filing a complaint against the Debtor and other non-debtor defendants for: (1) fraud, (2) negligent misrepresentation, (3) conversion, (4) breach of contract, (5) money lent, (6) money paid, (7) money had and received, and (8) dependent adult abuse (the "Complaint"). Movant states that a 5-day jury trial was scheduled to begin on February 13, 2019, and that the State Court previously imposed discovery sanctions against the Debtor prohibiting him from presenting evidence at trial in opposition to certain of Movant's claims. See Ex. 2. Therefore, Movant contends that Debtor's bankruptcy filing was in bad faith and intended to delay or interfere with the trial.

Movant initiated the Malicious Prosecution Action on July 17, 2018, by filing a complaint against the Debtor and other non-debtor defendants for malicious prosecution (the "Malicious Prosecution Complaint"). Movant states that a 7-10 day trial is scheduled to begin on December 9, 2019, and that the Malicious Prosecution Action is related to the State Court Action.

As to both the R/S Motion and the Malicious Prosecution R/S Motion (together the "R/S Motions"), Movant asserts that cause exists to grant him stay relief pursuant to § 362(d)(1) because: (i) mandatory abstention applies under 28 U.S.C. § 1334(c)(2); and (ii) the claims asserted in the Complaint and Malicious Prosecution Complaint are nondischargeable and arise under nonbankruptcy law and can be most expeditiously resolved in State Court.

Chapter 7

Summary of Debtor's Oppositions

Debtor timely opposed the R/S Motions [Doc. Nos. 33 & 34] (the "Oppositions"). [Note 1] Debtor advances largely the same arguments in both oppositions. A summary of those arguments is set forth below.

Debtor states that he is the 100% owner of shares of non-debtor LA Girl Jewelry, Inc. ("LAG"), a co-defendant in both of the State Court Actions. Debtor also states that pre-petition, the Debtor and LAG were named as defendants in several other lawsuits that are currently pending in California state courts. Debtor makes the following arguments with respect to the 12 Plumberex factors:

a. Whether the relief will result in a complete or only a partial resolution of the issues.

State Court Action: The State Court Action involves a claim for fraud and Movant contends that his debt is nondischargeable. If there is a judgment entered against the Debtor for fraud, the parties may have to retry certain issues before this court to determine whether the judgment is dischargeable. Therefore, lifting the stay will only result in partial relief.

Malicious Prosecution Action: The malicious prosecution claim appears to be a dischargeable debt.

b. The degree of connection or interference with the bankruptcy case. n/a c. Whether the case involves the debtor as a fiduciary. The Debtor is a fiduciary of co-defendant LAG.

d. Whether the case is before a specialized tribunal with necessary expertise to determine the issues. The State Court is not a specialized tribunal and the claims asserted in the State Court Actions are not matters that involve unsettled questions of state law.

e. Whether the debtor's defense and potential liability is covered by insurance.

f. Whether the action involves primarily third parties. The State Court Actions both involve third parties, including LAG. [Note 2]

g. Whether the case would prejudice other creditors' interests. n/a

h. Whether a resulting judgment would be subject to equitable subordination. n/a

i. Whether a resulting judgment would result in a judicial lien avoidable by the debtor under 11 U.S.C. § 522(f). n/a j. The interests of judicial economy and the expeditious and economical resolution of litigation.

State Court Action: Movant may obtain a judgment on his fraud claim which would require new litigation in this court. This would not promote judicial economy and instead will require all parties to expend additional resources.

Malicious Prosecution Action: n/a k. Whether the parties are ready for trial.

State Court Action: As a result of Debtor's bankruptcy filing, the State Court has vacated the February 13, 2019 trial date and continued trial to July 17, 2019.

Malicious Prosecution Action: Trial is not scheduled until December 9, 2019. There is no issue of readiness before this court that is grounds for cause for the stay to be lifted.

l. The impact of the stay on the parties and the balance of harms.

State Court Action: The Debtor will be harmed by having to expend additional resources defending himself in the State Court Action. Since the State Court continued the February 13, 2019 trial date, there is no urgency to lifting the stay. The Debtor should be permitted the opportunity of a breathing spell.

Chapter 7

Malicious Prosecution Action: The Debtor will be harmed by having to expend additional resources defending himself in the Malicious Prosecution Action. Since the trial is not set to take place until December 9, 2019, there is no urgency to lifting the stay.

Debtor further argues that Movant has failed to establish that this case was filed in bad faith with respect to the State Court Action. Although this case was filed only one month prior to the start of trial in the State Court Action, the Debtor states that he did not file this case simply to delay the action from proceeding to trial. Rather, as Debtor's schedules and statement of financial affairs establish, the Debtor sought bankruptcy protection to get a breathing spell from nine different lawsuits.

Summary of Movant's Replies

Movant filed timely replies [Doc. Nos. 35 & 36] in response to the Oppositions (the "Replies"). First, Movant contends that mandatory abstention applies because Movant's claims are purely state law claims that could not have been commenced in this Court and the claims can be timely adjudicated in state court.

Next, Movant argues in the alternative that he has made a prima facie case for stay relief and the Debtor has not demonstrated that stay relief is unwarranted. Movant contends that the Debtor misstates some of the twelve Plumberex factors.

State Court Action: Movant also argues that the Debtor fails to demonstrate how piece-meal litigation of Movant's fraud-related claims against non-debtor defendants and the same claims against the Debtor in a nondischargeability action promotes judicial economy. Movant highlights that the Debtor could be estopped from challenging the state court's findings, which would make any litigation in this Court regarding the issue of nondischargeability much more expeditious and notes that the Debtor mischaracterizes the actions of the State Court with respect to the continued trial date. Movant argues that Debtor is improperly trying to forum shop and to deprive him of his right to a jury trial.

With respect to Movant's assertion that this case was filed in bad faith to delay the State Court Action from proceeding to trial, Movant again highlights that the State Court had imposed discovery sanctions that prohibited the Debtor from presenting evidence. Accordingly, the Debtor was facing imminent defeat in the State Court Action, which likely prompted the Debtor to file this case in an effort to forum shop.

Malicious Prosecution Action: Movant argues that the Debtor has failed to establish how judicial economy would not be best served by permitting the Malicious Prosecution Action from moving forward because it involves several non-debtor defendants and because the State Court is already familiar with the facts of the case and the parties' disputes. Movant also contends that the Debtor's arguments in support of several of the factors are based upon unsupported speculation and that the Debtor fails to advance a sufficient basis to show how he would be prejudiced.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, the Trustee has not filed a response to the R/S Motions.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Mandatory Abstention Applies

Upon timely motion, a bankruptcy court must abstain from a proceeding "based upon a State law claim or State law cause of action, related to a case under title 11 but not arising under title 11 or arising in a case under title 11, with respect to which an action could not have been commenced in a court of the United States absent jurisdiction under this section ... if an action is commenced, and can be timely adjudicated, in a State forum of appropriate jurisdiction." 28 U.S.C. § 1334(c)(2).

Mandatory abstention under § 1334 applies to proceedings commenced in state court and requires all of the following elements:

1. the abstention motion is timely;
2. the proceeding involves a purely state law question;
3. the proceeding is noncore and merely "related to" the bankruptcy case;
4. no independent federal jurisdiction exists for the proceeding absent filing of the bankruptcy petition;
5. an action was commenced in state court;
6. the proceeding can be timely adjudicated in state court; and
7. jurisdiction is appropriate in state court.

Chapter 7

In re Lazar, 200 B.R. 358, 370 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1996).

In this case, the Court finds that all seven factors are met with respect to both the State Court Action and the Malicious Prosecution Action.

State Court Action: Movant timely filed the R/S Motion on January 22, 2019, just four days after the Debtor's bankruptcy filing. The State Court Action involves claims for fraud, negligent misrepresentation, conversion, breach of contract, money lent, money paid, money had and received, and dependent adult abuse – all of which appear from this record to be entirely state law claims, are noncore and merely "related to" this case. It does not appear that a federal court could have jurisdiction over the claims absent this bankruptcy filing because there is no federal question involved and no diversity jurisdiction. The State Court Action was commenced pre-petition. The State Court could timely adjudicate the claims – and in fact was prepared to commence trial on February 13, 2019 if it had not been for the Debtor's bankruptcy filing. The State Court has jurisdiction to decide the claims and the Debtor has not contested the State Court's jurisdiction over the proceeding.

Malicious Prosecution Action: Movant timely filed the Malicious Prosecution R/S Motion on January 22, 2019, just four days after the Debtor's bankruptcy filing. The Malicious Prosecution Action involves a claim for malicious prosecution – which appears from this record to involve a purely state law question and is noncore and merely "related to" this case. It does not appear that a federal court could have jurisdiction over the claim absent this bankruptcy filing because there is no federal question involved and no diversity jurisdiction. The Malicious Prosecution Action was commenced pre-petition. The State Court could timely adjudicate the claim. The State Court has jurisdiction to decide the claim and the Debtor has not contested the State Court's jurisdiction over the proceeding.

The Debtor has not presented any arguments or evidence to controvert these findings. Therefore, for the reasons stated above, the Court finds that mandatory abstention applies, and Movant is entitled to orders lifting the stay to allow the State Court Action and Malicious Prosecution Action to proceed in the State Court.

Stay Relief is Appropriate Pursuant to § 362(d)(1)

Chapter 7

As an alternative basis for lifting the stay, the Court finds that Movant is entitled to stay relief pursuant to § 362(d)(1).

Section 362(d)(1) provides that "[o]n request of a party in interest and after notice and a hearing, the court shall grant relief from the stay . . . (1) for cause" 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1). "What constitutes 'cause' for granting relief from the automatic stay is decided on a case-by-case basis." Kronemyer v. Am. Contractors Indem. Co. (In re Kronemyer), 405 B.R. 915, 921 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2009); Christensen v. Tucson Estates, Inc. (In re Tucson Estates, Inc.), 912 F.2d 1162, 1166 (9th Cir. 1990). "To obtain relief from the automatic stay, the party seeking relief must first establish a prima facie case that 'cause' exists for relief under § 362(d)(1)." Truebro, Inc. v. Plumberex Specialty Prods., Inc. (In re Plumberex Specialty Prods., Inc.), 311 B.R. 551, 557 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2004). "Once a prima facie case has been established, the burden shifts to the debtor to show that relief from the stay is unwarranted." Id.

In the Ninth Circuit, courts consider 12 non-exclusive factors to determine whether "cause" exists to grant relief to allow an entity to continue pending litigation against a debtor in non-bankruptcy forum:

1. Whether the relief will result in a partial or complete resolution of the issues;
2. The lack of any connection with or interference with the bankruptcy case;
3. Whether the foreign proceeding involves the debtor as a fiduciary;
4. Whether a specialized tribunal has been established to hear the particular cause of action and whether that tribunal has the expertise to hear such cases;
5. Whether the debtor's insurance carrier has assumed full financial responsibility for defending the litigation;
6. Whether the action essentially involves third parties, and the debtor functions only as a bailee or conduit for the goods or proceeds in question;
7. Whether the litigation in another forum would prejudice the interests of other creditors, the creditors' committee and other interested parties;

8. Whether the judgment claim arising from the foreign action is subject to equitable subordination under Section 510(c);
9. Whether movant's success in the foreign proceeding would result in a judicial lien avoidable by the debtor under Section 522(f);
10. The interests of judicial economy and the expeditious and economical determination of litigation for the parties;
11. Whether the foreign proceedings have progressed to the point where the parties are prepared for trial, and
12. The impact of the stay on the parties and the "balance of hurt[.]"

Plumberex, 311 B.R. at 559. Not all the factors are relevant in every case, and the Court is not required to give equal weight to each factor. Id. at 560.

The Court finds that Movant has established a prima facie case that "cause" exists to grant relief from stay under section 362(d)(1). Granting relief from stay with respect to both the State Court Action and the Malicious Prosecution Action will best promote interests of judicial economy because the litigation involves several non-debtor defendants. Granting stay relief will allow the State Court Action and Malicious Prosecution Action to proceed towards resolution in a timely fashion and will avoid costly piece-meal litigation. Furthermore, the Debtor has not shown that the actions could proceed without him or that litigation in the State Court would be any less costly than the litigation expenses the Debtor would incur if some or all of Movant's claims against him were adjudicated in this Court. Additionally, since this is a case under chapter 7, no reorganization is in prospect and the Debtor has not shown that granting stay relief will prejudice the interests of the Debtor's other creditors. The Court also notes that the Chapter 7 Trustee has not opposed Movant's requests for stay relief.

While the State Court is not a specialized tribunal established specifically to hear the claims asserted in the underlying complaints, the claims arise under nonbankruptcy law and the State Court is more familiar with the parties' disputes and can more expeditiously move the litigation to final judgment. Furthermore, Movant presented evidence demonstrating that the State Court Action had progressed to the point where the parties were prepared for a February 13, 2019 jury trial before the matter was stayed by the Debtor's bankruptcy filing.

Chapter 7

The Court also finds that the timing of the Debtor's bankruptcy filing supports a finding that the Debtor filed this case to hinder and delay the State Court Action from proceeding to trial – especially in view of the State Court's imposition of sanctions against the Debtor preventing him from presenting evidence at trial.

On balance, the Court finds that the balance of hurt tips in Movant's favor. The Debtor has not carried his burden of proving that stay relief is unwarranted.

Based on the foregoing, the Court GRANTS the R/S Motion and Malicious Prosecution R/S Motion pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1) to permit the Movant to proceed under applicable non-bankruptcy law to enforce its remedies to proceed to final judgments in the non-bankruptcy forum, provided that the stay remains in effect with respect to enforcement of any judgments against the Debtor or estate property. The Debtor's Oppositions are overruled. The Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim or any other claim against the Debtor or property of the estate, except that the Movant will retain the right to file a proof of claim and/or an adversary complaint under §§ 523 or 727. These orders shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. All other relief is denied.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the R/S Motion and Malicious Prosecution R/S Motion are GRANTED.

Movant is directed to lodge separate conforming proposed orders, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing.

Note 1: Debtor's Oppositions contain unrelated factual assertions and unresponsive legal arguments which were made in Debtor's opposition to a different motion for relief from stay that this Court heard on February 6, 2019. See Doc. No. 28. For example, Debtor asserts that granting relief from stay may enable Movant to recover $1,000,000 worth of LAG assets seized pursuant to a pre-judgment writ of attachment, but Debtor made the same argument in its prior opposition and fails to explain how this is applicable to this Movant. Id. As these arguments appear to have been hastily copied and pasted into the present Oppositions, the Court will not address these arguments.

Docket 20

Tentative Ruling:

2/21/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1) to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to foreclose upon and obtain possession of the property in accordance with applicable law. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. Movant has established a prima facie case that cause exists, and Debtor has not responded with evidence establishing that the property is not declining in value or that Movant is adequately protected.

The subject property has a value of $545,000.00 and is encumbered by a perfected deed of trust or mortgage in favor of the Movant. Considering Movant's lien, all senior liens against the property, and the estimated costs of sale, there is an equity cushion of $48,108.64. There is some, but very little equity and there is no evidence that the property is necessary to a reorganization or that the trustee can administer the property for the benefit of creditors. Movant is protected by a 8.8% equity cushion in the property. The Ninth Circuit has established that an equity cushion of 20% constitutes adequate protection for a secured creditor. Pistole v. Mellor (In re Mellor), 734 F.2d 1396, 1401 (9th Cir. 1984); see Downey Sav. & Loan Ass'n v. Helionetics, Inc. (In re Helionetics, Inc.), 70 B.R. 433, 440 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1987) (holding that a 20.4% equity cushion was sufficient to protect the creditor's interest in its collateral).

Because the equity cushion in this case is less than 20%, the Court concludes that Movant's interest in the collateral is not adequately protected. This is cause to terminate the stay under 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1).

This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. All other relief is denied.

Movant shall upload an appropriate order via the Court's Lodged Order Upload system within 7 days of the hearing.

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set on a shortened notice in accordance with this Judge's procedures. Oppositions, if any, will be considered at the hearing.

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1). The stay is terminated as to the Debtor and the Debtor's bankruptcy estate with respect to the Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns. Movant may enforce its remedies to obtain possession of the property in accordance with applicable law, but may not pursue a deficiency claim against the debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501.

This Motion has been filed to allow the Movant to proceed with the filing of an unlawful detainer proceeding in state court. The unlawful detainer proceeding may go forward because the Debtor's right to possess the premises must be determined. This does not change simply because a bankruptcy petition was filed. See In re Butler, 271 B.R. 867, 876 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2002).

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Ben & Reef Gardens, Inc. (the "Debtor") filed a voluntary chapter 11 petition on September 18, 2018 (the "Petition Date"). On December 13, 2018, the Court entered an order converting the case to a case under chapter 7 [Doc. No. 29]. Wesley H. Avery was appointed and continues to serve as the chapter 7 trustee (the "Trustee").

Metro California, LLC ("Movant") seeks relief from the automatic stay pursuant to §§ 362(d)(1), (2) and (4) with respect to three parcels of real property located at:

- (i) 11936 Dehougne Street, Los Angeles, CA 91605 (the "Dehougne Property");
- (ii) 7723 Simpson Avenue, Los Angeles, CA 91605 (the "Simpson Property"); and
- (iii) 32222 Agua Dolce Canyon Road (the "Agua Dolce Property").

Movant asserts a blanket first priority lien against the Dehougne Property, Simpson Property and Agua Dolce Property (collectively, the "Properties"). Movant asserts that cause exists to grant it stay relief under §§ 362(d)(1) and (2) because its interest is not adequately protected by any equity cushion. Movant states that its loan has been in default since July 2011, the last payment it received was in July 2013 and that as of January 31, 2019, its total claim against the Debtor is $3,304,008.84. Movant further states that the fair market value of the Properties is $3,470,000 (Dehougne Property [$730,000] + Simpson Property [$600,000] + $2,140,000 [Agua Dolce Property]). Furthermore, Movant states that the Properties are all encumbered by a $575,210.00 judgment lien and that each property is also subject to additional tax liens (Dehougne Property [$35,055.19], Simpson Property [$37,436.41], and Agua Dolce Property [$279,627.37]). Therefore, Movant submits that there is no equity in the Properties and that the Properties are not necessary for an effective reorganization since the case was converted to chapter 7.

Movant also contends that cause exists to grant it stay relief based upon the Debtor's bad faith pursuant to § 362(d)(4). Movant states that a day before its scheduled May 9, 2018, foreclosure sales of the Properties, the Debtor's president, Ronit Waizgen, transferred unspecified ownership interests all three Properties to herself, her husband (Shaul Yakovi), and the Debtor. Such transfers were made without Movant's knowledge or consent. Movant also states that there have been multiple bankruptcy filings claiming interests in the Properties [Note 1], that the Debtor's corporate status has been suspended, and that all three Properties are subject to certain liens and other issues imposed by the City of Los Angeles as a result of building and safety and habitability issues.

Based upon the foregoing, Movant requests the Court enter an order lifting the stay to allow it to proceed under applicable nonbankruptcy law to enforce its remedies to foreclose upon and obtain possession of the Properties. Movant also requests that the Court waive the 14-day stay prescribed by FRBP 4001(a)(3), grant it relief under § 362(d)(4), and grant other extraordinary relief as set forth in paragraphs 9-11 of the R/S Motions.

Summary of Trustee's Limited Opposition to the Agua Dolce Motion

The Trustee filed a limited opposition to the Agua Dolce Motion requesting that the Court continue the hearing to April 15, 2019 at 10:00 a.m. to allow the Trustee an opportunity to investigate the value of the Agua Dolce Property and to continue with discussions with Movant and the Debtor regarding a consensual bankruptcy sale that could provide for a distribution to creditors. The Trustee contends that despite Movant's submission of an appraisal, the Agua Dolce Property is unique and, therefore, the true value cannot be known without an opportunity to market the property for sale. The Trustee has initiated discussions with Movant to this effect.

The Trustee does not object to Movant's request for stay relief with respect to the Dehougne and Simpson Properties on the basis that any attempts to pursue a sale of those properties through bankruptcy will not likely result in different sale prices than if the properties are sold through foreclosure. However, the Trustee contends that if the Dehougne and Simpson Properties are sold or foreclosed upon at Movant's appraised values ($730,000 and $600,000, respectively), Movant's remaining claim would be approximately $1,974,008 – which is slightly below Movant's asserted fair market value for the Agua Dolce Property. Therefore, the Trustee requests an opportunity to explore possible options to maximize the value of the Agua Dolce Property for the benefit of the estate and Movant.

Summary of the Debtor's Untimely Omnibus Opposition

On February 20, 2019, the Debtor filed a joinder to the Trustee's Agua Dolce Opposition and separate oppositions to the Dehougne and Simpson Motions. The entirety of the Debtor's opposition is that Debtor contends that Movant has failed to carry its burden of proof under § 362(g) on the issue of equity because Movant's appraiser is unqualified to provide an opinion of value because his license allegedly expired on November 26, 2018. The Debtor also attached the Declaration of William H. Brownstein (the "Brownstein Decl."), which states: "[t]he Debtor has found ready, willing and able buyers willing to purchase all assets of the estate, not just the Agua Dolce Property, which, in my opinion, would maximize a return to creditors and the estate." Brownstein Decl., ¶ 5.

Summary of Movant's Reply

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no reply is on file.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

A. The Debtor's Omnibus Opposition is Ordered Stricken

As a preliminary matter, the Court notes that the Debtor's Omnibus Opposition is untimely pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1((f)(1) and, as Movant highlights, the Debtor is a suspended California corporation with no legal authority to participate in this bankruptcy case. See Palm Valley Homeowners Ass'n, Inc. v. Design MTC, 85 Cal. App. 4th 553, 560, 102 Cal. Rptr. 2d 350, 355 (Cal. 2000) ("A corporation that has been suspended – either for failure to comply with tax obligations or for failure to file the Statement of Information – is 'disabled from participating in litigation activities'"). Additionally, the Debtor had not demonstrated that it has standing to object because the Debtor has not shown that this is a surplus estate. For these reasons, the Court STRIKES the Debtor's Omnibus Opposition.

The Court finds that there is sufficient evidence to grant stay relief pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(4). The filing of the petition was part of a scheme to delay, hinder and defraud creditors, which involved the transfer of part ownership in the Dehougne and Simpson Properties without Movant's consent or court approval and multiple bankruptcy filings. Declaration of Robert Keilch in support of the R/S Motions at paragraph 18.

For the same reasons, the Motion is GRANTED pursuant to section 362(d)(1) based on Debtor's bad faith filing. The 14-day period specified in Fed.R.Bankr.P. 4001(a)(3) is waived. This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. If recorded in compliance with applicable State laws governing notices of interests or liens in real property, the order shall be binding in any other case under this title purporting to affect such real property filed not later than 2 years after the date of the entry of such order by the Court, except that a debtor in a subsequent case under this title may move for relief from such order based upon changed circumstances or for good cause shown, after notice and a hearing. Any Federal, State, or local governmental unit that accepts notices of interests or liens in real property shall accept a certified copy of this order for indexing and recording. All other relief is denied.

C. The Agua Dolce Property

The Trustee's Opposition asserts that after the sale or foreclosure of the Dehougne and Simpson Properties, Movant's lien will be significantly reduced such there may be some equity available in the Agua Dolce Property that the Trustee could administer. However, the Trustee's calculations fail to take into account the asserted $575,210 judgment lien and approximately $72,491.60 in tax liens on those properties as well any costs associated with sale or foreclosure.

Based upon the Court's own calculations, it appears the Agua Dolce Property would have to generate a sale price significantly higher than Movant's appraised value before there will be any equity available to the estate:

Dehougne Property Sale Price:	$730,000

Available Proceeds for Reduction of Movant's Claim:	$694,944.81
Movant's Claim After Sale of Dehougne Property:	$2,609,064.03

Simpson Property Sale Price:	$600,000
Minus Tax Lien:	($37,436.41)

The above calculations do not take into account costs of sale, the Trustee's statutory fee or the administrative fees and expenses that would be incurred in the process. Therefore, it appears unlikely that a sale of the Agua Dulce Property would generate any equity that could be distributed to creditors.

The Trustee is directed to appear (in person or telephonically) to address the apparent lack of equity.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the Dehougne Motion and Simpson Motion are GRANTED.

Movant is directed to lodge conforming proposed orders, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing.

Tentative Ruling:

This is a continued hearing on a Motion for relief from the automatic stay. The Court finds that Movant has cured the service issues addressed in this Court's February 11, 2019 tentative ruling. See Doc. Nos. 23 & 24. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file. The Court has also reviewed the Stipulation Resolving Landlord's Motion for Relief from the Automatic Stay [Doc. No. 25].

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1). The stay is terminated as to the Debtor and the Debtor's bankruptcy estate with respect to the Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns. Movant may enforce its remedies to obtain possession of the property in accordance with applicable law, but may not pursue a deficiency claim against the debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501.

This Motion has been filed to allow the Movant to proceed with eviction efforts and to file an unlawful detainer proceeding in state court. The unlawful detainer proceeding may go forward because the Debtor's right to possess the premises must be determined. This does not change simply because a bankruptcy petition was filed. See In re Butler, 271 B.R. 867, 876 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2002).

Docket 9

Tentative Ruling:

3/1/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1) to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to foreclose upon and obtain possession of the property in accordance with applicable law. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. Movant has established a prima facie case that cause exists, and Debtor has not responded with evidence establishing that the property is not declining in value or that Movant is adequately protected.

The subject vehicle is encumbered by a perfected security interest in favor of the Movant. There is no equity in the leased vehicle and no evidence that the property is necessary to a reorganization or that the trustee can administer the property for the benefit of creditors. Movant is protected by a 0% equity cushion in the property. The Ninth Circuit has established that an equity cushion of 20% constitutes adequate protection for a secured creditor. Pistole v. Mellor (In re Mellor), 734 F.2d 1396, 1401 (9th Cir. 1984); see Downey Sav. & Loan Ass'n v. Helionetics, Inc. (In re Helionetics, Inc.), 70 B.R. 433, 440 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1987) (holding that a 20.4% equity cushion was sufficient to protect the creditor's interest in its collateral). Because the equity cushion in this case is less than 20%, the Court concludes that Movant's interest in the vehicle is not adequately protected. This is cause to terminate the stay under 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1).

This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. All other relief is denied.

#1.00 HearingRE: [44] Motion for Turnover of Property with Proof of Service (Marchisotto, Michelle)

Docket 44

Tentative Ruling:

3/4/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Motion is GRANTED in its entirety.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Chapter 7 Trustee's Notice of Motion and Motion for Order Compelling Turnover of Estate Property [Doc. No. 44] (the "Motion")
 - a) Amended Proof of Service Re: [Motion] [Doc. No. 46]
- 2) No opposition to the Motion is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

The Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee") moves for an order compelling Peter Truong (the "Debtor") to turnover $100,000 in homestead exemption proceeds (the "Homestead Funds") to the estate. The basis for the Motion is the Debtor's alleged failure to reinvest the Homestead Funds within six months of receipt.

The Debtor filed a voluntary Chapter 7 petition on November 20, 2017. Wesley H. Avery is the duly appointed and acting Trustee.

Property of the estate includes real property located at 227 S. Atlantic Blvd. #A, Monterey Park, CA 91754 (the "Property"). The Debtor asserted a $100,000 homestead exemption in the Property, pursuant to Cal. Civ. Proc. Code § 704.730. On April 9, 2018, the Court authorized the Trustee to sell the Property to Agnes Tung Ling Ma and Anthony Hocktong Tjio for $505,000. See Doc. No. 34 (the "Sale Order"). The Sale Order authorized the Trustee to pay the Debtor his $100,000 homestead exemption from the sale proceeds.

On May 9, 2018, Better Escrow Company sent a check in the amount of $100,000 (the "Homestead Funds") to the offices of Maria W. Tam, the Debtor's attorney. On July 17, 2018, Ms. Tam caused to be filed on the Debtor's behalf a Substitution of Attorney, which purported to substitute the Debtor, in pro se, as the Debtor's "new attorney." On March 1, 2019, the Debtor filed a Substitution of Attorney, which provided that the Debtor was now represented by attorney Ramon G. Barredo.

On November 12, 2018, the Trustee sent a letter to the Debtor, via e-mail, requesting evidence that the Debtor had reinvested the Homestead Funds in a new homestead, and requesting a response by no later than November 26, 2018. After the Debtor failed to respond, the Trustee sent a follow-up e-mail on December 6, 2018. As of January 30, 2019, the date of the filing of the Motion, the Debtor has not responded to the Trustee's requests for information.

Based upon the Debtor's failure to respond, the Trustee asserts that the Debtor has failed to reinvest the Homestead Funds in a new homestead. The Trustee contends that as a result, the Homestead Funds have lost their exempt status. See Wolfe v. Jacobsen (In re Jacobson), 676 F.3d 1193, 1198 (9th Cir. 2012) (holding that "if the debtor does not reinvest his proceeds [on account of a homestead exemption] in a new homestead within six months of receipt, they lose their exempt status"). The Trustee seeks an order compelling the Debtor to turnover the Homestead Funds to the estate.

The Debtor has not filed an opposition to the Motion.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Where, as here, the Debtor's homestead is the subject of a forced sale, proceeds that the Debtor receives on account of a homestead exemption lose their exempt status if the Debtor does not reinvest such proceeds in a new homestead within "six months after the time the proceeds are actually received by the ... debtor" See Cal. Civ. Proc. Code § 704.720(b); Wolfe v. Jacobson (In re Jacobson), 676 F.3d 1193, 1198 (9th Cir. 2012) ("If the debtor does not reinvest his proceeds in a new homestead within six months of receipt, they lose their exempt status.").

The Trustee has established that the Homestead Funds have lost their exempt status. Pursuant to § 521(a)(3), the Debtor is obligated to "cooperate with the trustee as necessary to enable the trustee to perform the trustee's duties under this title" The Trustee sent the Debtor two requests for information regarding the disposition of the Homestead Funds. The Trustee requested this information so that he could fulfill his statutory obligation to determine whether the Homestead Funds retained their exempt status. By failing to provide the information, the Debtor failed to fulfill his statutory obligation to cooperate with the Trustee.

As a result of the Trustee's requests for information, the burden has now shifted to the Debtor to establish that the Homestead Funds remain exempt. The Trustee cannot prove a negative—that the Debtor did not reinvest the funds—especially where the Debtor has not fulfilled his statutory obligation to cooperate with the Trustee. Further, under Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(h), the Debtor’s failure to timely oppose the Motion is deemed to be consent to the granting of the Motion. Because the Debtor has not provided any evidence that he reinvested the Homestead Funds, the Court finds that the Homestead Funds have not been reinvested and have therefore lost their exempt status.

Section 542 provides: "[A]n entity, other than a custodian, in possession, custody, or control, during the case, of property that the trustee may use, sell or lease under section 363 of this title . . . , shall deliver to the trustee, and account for, such property or the value of such property, unless such property is of inconsequential value or benefit to the estate." The "property" referred to in §542 "is generally understood to mean 'property of the estate,' as defined in section 541." Collier on Bankruptcy ¶ 542.02[2] (16th rev'd ed.). The Trustee may bring a turnover motion at "any time during the pendency of the bankruptcy case." Shapiro v. Henson, 739 F.3d 1198, 1200 (9th Cir. 2014).

Having lost their exempt status, the Homestead Funds are now property of the estate. Among other duties, the Trustee has the obligation to "collect and reduce to money the property of the estate." §704(a)(1) and (a)(4). The Trustee is entitled to turnover of the funds to enable him to fulfill his statutory responsibilities. The Debtor is ORDERED to turnover the Homestead Funds to the Trustee by no later than March 19, 2019.

Based upon the foregoing, the Motion is GRANTED in its entirety. The Trustee shall submit a conforming order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court’s tentative ruling. #5.00 HearingRE: [12] Motion for Default Judgment (Anaya, Alana)

Docket 12

Tentative Ruling:

3/4/2019

Because Debtor/Defendant's bankruptcy case has been dismissed, the Court must dismiss this dischargeability action as moot. The Motion for Default Judgment is DENIED.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Motion for Default Judgment and Memorandum of Points and Authorities in Support of Default Judgment [Doc. No. 12] (the "Motion")
 - a) Declaration of Alana B. Anaya in Support of Entry of Default Judgment [Doc. No. 12-1]
 - b) Declaration of Adriana Sera in Support of Default Judgment [Doc. No. 12-2]
 - c) Notice of Hearing on Motion for Default Judgment [Doc. No. 12-3]
- 2) Complaint to Determine the Dischargeability of Debt Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2) [Doc. No. 1] (the "Complaint")
- 3) No opposition to Motion is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

LA Financial Credit Union (the "Plaintiff") commenced this dischargeability action against Du Un Kim (the "Debtor/Defendant") on December 13, 2018. The Complaint alleges that Debtor/Defendant induced Plaintiff to extend credit by making false statements with respect to the amount of his monthly income. The Complaint seeks a judgment that indebtedness in the amount of $23,138.07, plus prejudgment interest, costs, and attorneys' fees, is non-dischargeable pursuant to § 523(a)(2)(A) and (B).

On January 30, 2019, the Clerk of the Court entered Debtor/Defendant's default. Plaintiff now moves for entry of default judgment.

On December 17, 2018, the Court dismissed Debtor/Defendant's voluntary Chapter 7 bankruptcy case, based upon Debtor/Defendant's failure to timely file all required schedules. On February 1, 2019, Debtor/Defendant's bankruptcy case was closed.

II. Findings and Conclusions

A case is moot "when the issues presented are no longer live or the parties lack a legally cognizable interest in the outcome." Powell v. McCormack, 395 U.S. 486, 496 (1969) (internal quotations omitted). "If an intervening circumstance deprives the plaintiff of a personal stake in the outcome of the lawsuit, at any point during litigation, the action can no longer proceed and must be dismissed as moot." Genesis Healthcare Corp. v. Symczyk, 596 U.S. 66, 72 (2013).

The Complaint seeks a judgment that indebtedness is excepted from the Debtor/Defendant's discharge pursuant to § 523(a)(2)(A) and (B). Debtor/Defendant's bankruptcy case has been dismissed, making it impossible for Debtor/Defendant to obtain a discharge. Because Debtor/Defendant cannot obtain a discharge, the Court lacks the ability to grant Plaintiff the relief it seeks. Consequently, the action is moot, and must be dismissed based upon the Court's lack of jurisdiction.

The Court will prepare and enter orders denying the Motion for Default Judgment and dismissing this action.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Jessica Vogel or Daniel Koontz at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. #6.00 HearingRE: [333] Motion to Withdraw as Attorney

Docket 333

Tentative Ruling:

3/4/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Motion to Withdraw is DENIED without prejudice.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed

1. Notice of Motion and Motion for Order Authorizing Jaurigue Law Group to Withdraw as Counsel for Reorganized Debtor Sondra Derderian [Doc. No. 333] (the "Motion to Withdraw")
2. Opposition to Jaurigue Law Group's Motion to Withdraw as Counsel for Reorganized Debtor Sondra Derderian [Doc. No. 336] (the "Opposition")
3. Reply in Support of Motion for Order Authorizing Jaurigue Law Group to Withdraw as Counsel for Reorganized Debtor Sondra Derderian [Doc. No. 337] (the "Reply")

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Sondra Derderian (the "Debtor") filed a voluntary chapter 11 case on November 17, 2011 (the "Petition Date"). On December 11, 2013, this Court granted the Debtor's application to employ Jaurigue Law Group ("Counsel") as her replacement general bankruptcy counsel [Doc. No. 128]. On November 6, 2014, this Court entered an order confirming the Debtor's chapter 11 plan of reorganization [Doc. No. 294].

Counsel currently seeks an order authorizing it to withdraw as Debtor's bankruptcy counsel due to irreconcilable differences. Counsel states that it cannot elaborate on the specific details without the Debtor's consent but submits that the Debtor has engaged in conduct that renders it unreasonably difficult for Counsel to effectively represent the Debtor. Counsel also states that the Debtor has breached her payment obligations under Counsel's retention agreement. Counsel states that if the Court requires further information as to the basis for its request, Counsel is prepared to supplement the record in camera. Finally, Counsel contends that its withdrawal will not prejudice the Debtor or the estate because Counsel has informed the Debtor of its intent to withdraw and there are currently no pending motions or adversary proceedings.

The Debtor filed a timely opposition arguing that the Motion to Withdraw is without merit and brought frivolously without any forewarning to the Debtor. The Debtor requests that the hearing on this matter be conducted in camera to allow an opportunity for full disclosure concerning the source of the parties' disagreement and the degree to which withdrawal will delay resolution of the Debtor's case.

Counsel filed a timely reply arguing that the Debtor has not advanced any persuasive reason why this Court should not grant its request to withdraw. Counsel reiterates that the Debtor has materially breached her fee agreement and has had an outstanding balance for nearly three years. This breach provides a basis for withdrawal under California Rule of Professional Conduct 1.16(b)(5). Additionally, the parties' relationship has now become adversarial and counter-productive.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Local Bankruptcy Rule ("LBR") 2091-1(a) requires that counsel obtain leave of court to withdraw from representation. LBR 2091-1(e)(2) provides that "no ... withdrawal will be allowed that will cause unreasonable delay in prosecution of the case or proceeding to completion."

California Rule of Professional Conduct 3-700(C)(1)(d) provides that an attorney may seek permission to withdraw if "[t]he client...renders it unreasonably difficult for the member to carry out the employment effectively." A breakdown in the attorney-client relationship renders representation unreasonably difficult and is grounds for authorizing withdrawal. Aceves v. Superior Court, 51 Cal. App. 4th 584, 592, 59 Cal. Rptr. 2d 280, 283-84 (1996). California Rule of Professional Conduct 3-700(A)(2) provides that an attorney "shall not withdraw from employment until the [attorney] has taken reasonable steps to avoid reasonably foreseeable prejudice to the rights of the client, including giving due notice to the client [and] allowing time for employment of other counsel"

Chapter 11

As a preliminary matter, the parties' request for the Court to consider evidence or argument in camera is denied. The Debtor does not dispute that she has not paid all of Counsel's outstanding fees, which is grounds for this Court to permit Counsel's request to withdraw. However, in this Court's view, it does not appear that Counsel has fully explored available options for resolving the Debtor's dispute with Ocwen Loan Servicing ("Ocwen").

In the most recent post-confirmation status report, Counsel informed the Court of its efforts to resolve an accounting issue between the Debtor and Class 3 secured creditor Ocwen. See Doc. No. 331. Counsel further advised the Court that resolution of that issue would enable the Debtor to seek entry of a final decree closing the case. Id. While the Court is mindful of the burden Counsel will endure in continuing its representation of the Debtor, the Court finds that any such burden does not outweigh the prejudice to the Debtor in permitting Counsel's request to withdraw or the burden on the Court if this case sits idly by. Considering the advanced stage of this case, it will likely be difficult and/or unnecessarily expensive for the Debtor to find competent counsel to represent her. Counsel is intimately familiar with the outstanding Ocwen issues and is in the best position to bring this case to conclusion.

For these reasons, the Motion to Withdraw is DENIED. After the hearing, the Court will issue an Order to Show Cause directing the Debtor to appear at a hearing on July 10, 2019 at 10:00 a.m. to address why this case should not be dismissed pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1112(b)(4)(M) based upon the Debtor's apparent inability to effectuate substantial consummation of a confirmed plan.

Counsel may renew its motion to withdraw by filing a regularly noticed motion and selecting a hearing date on or after July 10, 2019, provided that Counsel describes what efforts it has undertaken to resolve the Ocwen dispute and why those efforts have not been fruitful.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the Withdrawal Motion is DENIED.

The Court will prepare the order.

- h. Order Authorizing Debtor to Use Cash Collateral on an Interim Basis [Doc. No. 75] (the "Second Interim Cash Collateral Order")

This is a continued hearing on the Debtor's request for continued use of cash collateral. On November 26, 2018, the Court entered an interim order authorizing the Debtor's continued use of cash collateral through and including February 13, 2019 [Doc. No. 75] (the "Second Interim Cash Collateral Order"). In the Court's November 19 Ruling [Doc. No. 65], the Court stated:

The Court authorizes further interim use of cash collateral through and including February 13, 2019. A further interim hearing on the continued use of cash collateral shall take place on February 13, 2019, at 10:00 a.m. . . . The Debtor shall submit additional evidence in support of the continued use of cash collateral by no later than January 23, 2019. Such additional evidence shall include, at a minimum, updated financial projections as well as a discussion of the results of the Debtor's efforts to improve the profitability of the gym. The Debtor shall also submit information regarding the results of its investigation as to the validity of the security interests asserted by the secured creditors.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, the Debtor has not supplied any supplemental evidence or information in support of its continued use of cash collateral. Accordingly, the Court cannot determine that the secured creditors' interests in cash collateral is adequately protected.

For the reasons set forth above, the Debtor's request for continued use of cash collateral is DENIED.

After the hearing the Court will prepare an order denying the Debtor's request for continued use of cash collateral.

The Debtor is also directed to appear at a hearing on March 5, 2019 at 10:00 a.m. to show cause why this case should not be converted or dismissed in light of this Court's denial of the Debtor's continued use of cash collateral. The Court will prepare the order.

2. Notice of Motion [Doc. No. 20]
3. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Avelina Conde Castillo (the "Debtor") filed this voluntary chapter 11 case on January 2, 2019 (the "Petition Date"). The Office of the United States Trustee (the "UST") seeks to dismiss this case with a 2-year refiling bar based upon the following:

- i. To date, no Disclosure Statement or Plan of Reorganization has been filed
- ii. Debtor has failed to:
 - a. File an application to Employ Attorney
 - b. Appear at the § 341(a) examination
 - c. Provide sufficient evidence of closing of all pre-petition bank accounts, including closing bank statements; and or bank account information in the chapter 11 compliance declaration

See Declaration of Maria A. Ramos (the "Ramos Decl.").

The UST also states this case is the ninth bankruptcy filing between the Debtor and her spouse, Dominador R. Castillo, and that these serial bankruptcy filings evidence the Debtor's bad faith in filing this case. See Ramos Decl., ¶ 4. [Note 1] The UST highlights that on May 17, 2018, this Court dismissed one of the Debtor's prior chapter 11 cases with a 180-day refiling bar. See Case No. 2:18-bk-12147-ER, Doc. No. 21. Therefore, the UST contends that the Debtor's failure to comply with her obligations in this case suggest that she had no intention of using this filing for legitimate reorganization purposes. The UST requests that the Court impose a 2-year refiling bar.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Under § 1112(b), the Court shall dismiss or convert a case to one under chapter 7 upon a showing of "cause." 11 U.S.C. § 1112(b). Section 1112(b)(4) provides a nonexclusive list of factors that constitute "cause," including in relevant part: "(A) substantial or continuing loss to or diminution of the estate and the absence of a reasonable likelihood of rehabilitation;" "(B) gross mismanagement of the estate;" "(C) failure to maintain appropriate insurance that poses a risk to the estate or to the public;" "(F) unexcused failure to satisfy timely any filing or reporting requirement established by this title or by any rule applicable to a case under this chapter;" "(H) failure to timely provide information or attend meetings reasonably required by the United States Trustee;" and "(J) failure to file a disclosure statement, or to file or confirm a plan, within the time fixed by this title or by order of the court." enumerated causes are not exhaustive, and ‘the court will be able to consider other factors as they arise, and to use its equitable powers to reach an appropriate result in individual cases.’” In re Consolidated Pioneer Mortgage Entities, 248 B.R. 368, 375 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2000) (quoting H.R. No. 95-595, 95th Cong., 1st Sess. 405-06 (1977), aff’d, 264 F.3d 803 (9th Cir. 2001).

The long list of deficiencies detailed above provides more than sufficient "cause" within the meaning of § 1112(b) to convert, dismiss or appoint a chapter 11 trustee in this case. Additionally, the Debtor has separately moved to voluntarily dismiss this case on the grounds that "[a]fter attending the [Initial Debtor Interview], Debtor considered all the factors discussed with Mr. Baddin, and determined that circumstances exist, which would hinder the reasonable likelihood that a plan will be timely confirmed." See Doc. No. 12. Finally, the history of the Debtor’s and the Debtor’s spouse’s bankruptcy filings and the lack of any meaningful efforts to reorganize her affairs supports a finding that the Debtor filed this case in bad faith.

Having determined that cause exists, the Court must next determine whether conversion, dismissal or appointment of a chapter 11 trustee serves the best interests of creditors or the estate. See In re Products Int’l Co., 395 B.R. 101, 107 (Bankr. D. Ariz. 2008) (citing In re Nelson, 343 B.R. 671 (9th Cir. 2006)). "[W]hen deciding between dismissal and conversion under 11 U.S.C. § 1112(b), the court must consider the interests of all of the creditors." Shulkin Hutton, Inc. v. Treiger (In re Owens), 552 F.3d 958, 961 (9th Cir. 2009) (emphasis in original) (quoting Rollex Corp. v. Associated Materials, Inc. (In re Superior Siding & Window, Inc.), 14 F.3d 240, 243 (4th Cir. 1994)).

The UST states that, based upon its review of the Debtor’s Schedules and case dockets, there do not appear to be any assets that a trustee can readily administer in a chapter 7 case. Therefore, the UST contends that dismissal with a 2-year bar is in the best interest of creditors. However, the Debtor’s Schedules identify fee simple interests in three parcels of real property: (i) 11837 Wagner Street, Culver City, CA 90230 (the "Wagner Property"); (ii) 7824 Ira Avenue; Bell Gardens, CA 90201 (the "Ira Property"); and (iii) 4936-38 Clara Street, Bell Gardens, CA 90201 (the "Clara Property"). The UST’s Motion does not provide any explanation as to why it concluded that these properties could not be administered for the benefit of creditors.

Therefore, the UST is directed to appear at the hearing – in person or telephonically – to provide further clarification on this issue.

In the event the UST provides adequate grounds for this Court to conclude that conversion to chapter 7 would not be in the best interest of creditors, the Court is prepared to dismiss this case with a 2-year refiling bar based upon the Debtor's serial bankruptcy filings and this Court's determination that the Debtor filed this case in bad faith.

Note 1: See In re Avelina and Dominador Castillo, Case No. 2:10-bk-49695-ER; In re Avelinda and Dominador Castillo, Case No. 2:10-64804-BR; In re Avelina Castillo, Case No. 2:13-bk-37163; In re Avelina Castillo, Case No. 2:15-20313-NB; In re Dominador Castillo, Case No. 2:13-bk-25089-VZ; In re Dominador Castillo, Case No. 2:14-bk-29753-NB; In re Dominador Castillo, Case No. 2:14-bk-10216-NB; In re Avelina Castillo, Case No. 2:18-bk-12147-ER.

Note 2: Based upon this Court's independent review of the docket in the Debtor's most recent bankruptcy case (In re Avelina Castillo, Case No. 2:18-bk-12147-ER), it appears that on June 14, 2018, this Court granted Wells Fargo Bank, N.A.'s ("Wells Fargo") Motion for Relief from the Automatic Stay with respect to the Wagner Property [See Doc. Nos. 18, 34]. Accordingly, it is possible that Wells Fargo has already foreclosed upon the Wagner Property and there is nothing left for a chapter 7 trustee to administer. The same may be true for the Ira and Clara Properties. However, on this record, the Court cannot conclude that there are no assets that a chapter 7 trustee could administer.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

This case was transferred to the undersigned Judge on January 3, 2018. Doc. No. 1025. Prior proceedings were heard by Judges Saltzman, Carroll, and Bufford.

Jayampath P. Dharmasuriya (the "Debtor") filed a voluntary Chapter 11 petition on July 20, 2009. On September 7, 2011, Jeffrey I. Golden was appointed as the Chapter 11 Trustee. Upon the Trustee's motion, the case was converted to Chapter 7 on November 2, 2011. Jeffrey I. Golden was reappointed as the Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee") on November 9, 2011.

The Debtor's Statement of Financial Affairs listed three bank accounts located in London (the "London Bank Accounts"). On December 1, 2014, the Court approved a global settlement agreement (the "Settlement Agreement") between the Trustee, Donald H. Eller, Sarath and Hemanthi Gunatilake, Nalan Samarawickrema ("Samarawickrema"), Andrew Holdings, Inc. ("Andrew Holdings"), Jayani Manikkage, and the Debtor. Doc. No. 798. One of the provisions of the Settlement Agreement requires the Trustee to turnover up to $50,000 of the funds in the London Bank Accounts to Samarawickrema and Andrew Holdings.

The Trustee moves for an order authorizing him to distribute the funds in the London Bank Accounts (the "Funds") in accordance with the Settlement Agreement. Although the Settlement Agreement has been approved by the Court, the Trustee seeks an additional court order given Sonali Perera's position that the Funds should be paid to him, rather than to Samarawickrema and Andrew Holdings.

In Opposition to the Motion, Perera contends that the Funds should be paid to him because of a settlement agreement entered into by Perera, on the one hand, and Samarawickrema and Andrew Holdings, on the other hand, in litigation before the Los Angeles Superior Court (the "State Court Settlement"). The relevant provision of the State Court Settlement provides:

Borrowers [Samarawickrema and Andrew Holdings] herewith assign their collective shares of the proceeds of the final distribution of the Dharmasuriya bankruptcy estate upon Borrowers' filed claims, to the Lender [Perera] in an amount no greater than the amount of the unpaid balance on this Note

Doc. No. 1102, Ex. A at ¶ 5.

In Reply to Perera's Opposition, the Trustee asserts that the Funds do not constitute a distribution to Samarawickrema and/or Andrew Holdings on account of their allowed claims in the Debtor's case, and therefore do not fall within the scope of the State Court Settlement.

Samarawickrema and Andrew Holdings filed a joinder to the Motion on March 1, 2019.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Consistent with the Trustee's position, the Court finds that the distribution of the Funds does not constitute a distribution to Samarawickrema and/or Andrew Holdings on account of the claims that those parties have filed in the Debtor's case. Instead, Samarawickrema and Andrew Holdings are entitled to the Funds as a result of the Court's approval of the Settlement Agreement. Distribution of the Funds is distinct from any distribution that Samarawickrema and/or Andrew Holdings may be entitled to receive on account of the claims they have filed against the Debtor. [Note 1] Therefore, distribution of the Funds to Samarawickrema and Andrew Holdings does not

#1.00 HearingRE: [24] Motion for Turnover of Property with Proof of Service (Chung, Toan)

Docket 24

Tentative Ruling:

3/5/2019

The Turnover Motion is GRANTED in PART as set forth below.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed

1. Chapter 7 Trustee's Notice of Motion and Motion for Order Compelling Turnover of Estate Property and Documents [Doc. No. 24] (the "Turnover Motion")
2. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Wardine Bridges (the "Debtor") filed this voluntary chapter 7 case in pro per on March 6, 2018 (the "Petition Date"). Jason M. Rund is the appointed and acting chapter 7 trustee (the "Trustee"). The Trustee seeks an order compelling the Debtor to turn over real property located at 845 East Avenue K7, Lancaster, CA 93535 (the "Real Property") pursuant to § 542 so that the Trustee can market the property for sale.

The Trustee states that the Debtor valued the Real Property at $160,000, identified only one lien in the amount of $11,000 against the Real Property, and claimed an exemption of $23,175 in the Real Property. Accordingly, the Trustee believes there is approximately $114,485.92 in equity in the Real Property. After deducting costs of sale and payment of administrative claims, the Trustee estimates that there would be approximately $57,000 in proceeds available for distribution to creditors. The Trustee also requests that the Debtor be ordered to turn over all keys, mortgage statements and proof of insurance to facilitate the sale.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file.

Chapter 7

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Under §§ 521 and 542, the Debtor is obliged to identify all property of the estate and to turn over the same to the trustee, unless the property is of inconsequential value. Section 542(a) provides that an entity in possession of estate property "shall" deliver such property to the trustee. Cal. Emp't Dev. Dep't v. Taxel (In re Del Mission Ltd.), 98 F.3d 1147, 1151 (9th Cir. 1996). This a mandatory duty arising upon the filing of the bankruptcy petition. Id. The term "entity" as defined in § 101(15) is "broad enough to encompass an individual chapter 7 debtor." Bencomo v. Avery (In re Bencomo), 2016 Bankr. LEXIS 2901, at * 13 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. Aug. 8, 2016).

In light of the Trustee's representation that a sale of the Real Property will yield approximately $114,485.92, the Court finds that the Debtor possesses property that is of value to the estate. Accordingly, the Debtor is ordered to turn over the Real Property, as well as all keys, mortgage statements, and proof of insurance, to the Trustee pursuant to § 542 on or before April 12, 2019.

If the Debtor fails to timely comply with the deadline set forth above, the Trustee may submit a declaration describing the circumstances that the Trustee believes warrant issuance of a writ of eviction and upload an order with the Court's LOU system that complies with Local Bankruptcy Rule 7064-1 and contains the mandatory language set forth in LBR 7064-1(e).

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the Turnover Motion is GRANTED.

The Trustee is directed to lodge a conforming proposed order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing.

voluntary Chapter 11 petition on June 6, 2016 (the "Petition Date"). On September 18, 2018, the Court confirmed the Debtor's Joint Chapter 11 Plan of Liquidation (the "Plan"). The Plan appointed Michael R. Lane as the Liquidating Trustee responsible for, among other things, objecting to claims.

The Liquidating Trustee objects to 21 administrative expense and § 503(b)(9) claims on various grounds. The only claimants opposing the Liquidating Trustee's Motion are Fujifilm Medical Systems USA, Inc. ("Fujifilm") and JSE Emergency Medical Group, Inc. ("JSE").

A. Summary of Papers Filed in Connection with the Liquidating Trustee's Objection to JSE's Administrative Expense Claim

1. Background

On April 1, 2005, the Debtor entered into an Agreement for Emergency Medical Services (the "EMS Agreement") with JSE. Under the EMS Agreement, JSE provided physicians to staff the Debtor's general acute care hospital, located at 21530 South Pioneer Boulevard, Hawaiian Gardens, CA (the "Hospital"). Among other things, the EMS Agreement required the Debtor to provide professional liability insurance ("Malpractice Insurance") on behalf of JSE and its providers with respect to their services under the EMS Agreement. The Malpractice Insurance to be provided under the EMS Agreement was required to "provide coverage for occurrences or claims during the term of this Agreement and any renewal thereof [Debtor] agrees to purchase, at its own expense, 'tail' coverage, if warranted." EMS Agreement at ¶7.1.

On October 31, 2016, the Court granted the Debtor's motion to reject the EMS Agreement (the "Rejection Motion"). Doc. No. 508 (the "Rejection Order"). The Rejection Order provided that the EMS Agreement "shall be deemed rejected, as of midnight, October 31, 2016."

A key dispute in the litigation of the Rejection Motion was whether the Debtor was required to purchase tail coverage on JSE's behalf. There are two basic types of professional liability insurance policies: occurrence-based policies and claims-made policies. Under a claims-made policy, only claims which are reported within a specified period of time are covered. A claims-made policy can be augmented with tail coverage, which extends the reporting period in perpetuity. Tail coverage is unnecessary under an occurrence-based policy, which covers any occurrence during the policy period regardless of when the claim is made.

JSE asserted that the terms of the EMS Agreement required the Debtor to purchase tail coverage on its behalf. JSE contended that tail coverage was necessary because the Debtor had purchased a claims-made policies, leaving JSE exposed to liability in connection with the services it performed under the EMS Agreement. The Debtor's position was that tail coverage was not "warranted" under the EMS Agreement.

In finding that the Debtor had shown good cause to reject the EMS Agreement, the Court did not determine whether the Debtor was required to purchase tail coverage for JSE, or whether the Debtor's failure to purchase tail coverage would entitle JSE to an administrative claim. The Court found that adjudication of these issues was not appropriate in the context of the Rejection Motion.

2. The Liquidating Trustee's Objection to JSE's Administrative Expense Claim

JSE asserts an administrative expense claim, in the amount of $152,832.00, for "tail insurance coverage incurred post-petition as a result of Debtor in Possession's rejection" of the EMS Agreement. JSE maintains that the Debtor's rejection of the EMS Agreement forced it to purchase tail coverage to protect itself from any liability it may have incurred in connection with performing services under the EMS Agreement. JSE contends that it is impossible to allocate the cost of the premium between prepetition services and postpetition services, and therefore that the entire cost of the premium must be treated as an administrative expense.

The Liquidating Trustee disputes JSE's assertion that the Debtor's rejection of the EMS Agreement entitles JSE to an administrative expense claim. According to the Liquidating Trustee, rejection of the EMS Agreement effectuated an immediate prepetition breach of that contract, pursuant to § 365(g)(1). The Liquidating Trustee contends that under § 502(g)(1), JSE's claim arising from the rejection of the EMS Agreement must be determined and allowed "as if such claim had arisen before the date of the filing of the petition." As a result, the Liquidating Trustee argues that any damages JSE suffered from the rejection of the EMS Agreement are not entitled to administrative status.

B. Summary of Papers Filed in Connection with the Liquidating Trustee's Objection to Fujifilm's Administrative Expense Claim

On May 14, 2015, Fujifilm and the Debtor entered into the Emerald Preferred Service Agreement (the "Service Contract"), pursuant to which Fujifilm provided maintenance and service for certain medical equipment used in the operation of the Hospital.

The Liquidating Trustee asserts that the Service Contract was terminated by a letter sent by the Debtor on February 15, 2017. Fujifilm asserts that the letter did not terminate the Service Contract, because it did not comply with the Service Contract's provisions for termination, and because Fujifilm did not receive the letter until May 22, 2017.

Fujifilm asserts an administrative expense claim of $28,184.75. The claim is based on an invoice dated October 14, 2016, in the amount of $9,728.25, for the period between November 14, 2016 and February 13, 2017; an invoice dated January 14, 2017, in the amount of $9,728.25, for the period between February 14, 2017 and May 13, 2017; and an invoice dated April 14, 2017, in the amount of $9,728.25, for the period between May 14, 2017 and August 13, 2017.

The Liquidating Trustee argues that the portion of Fujifilm's claim attributable to the period subsequent to February 1, 2017 should not be entitled to administrative status. The Liquidating Trustee states that the Service Contract provided no benefit to the estate because the closure of the Hospital on February 1, 2017 made Fujifilm's equipment maintenance services unnecessary. The Liquidating Trustee points to the declaration testimony of Stan Otake, the Debtor's CEO. Mr. Otake testifies that "[a]fter the closure of the Debtor's hospital, Fujifilm did not provide any further services to the Debtor and the Debtor did not receive any benefit from its contract with Fujifilm." Otake Decl. at ¶ 11. The Liquidating Trustee notes that the declaration submitted by Fujifilm in support of its Opposition to the Motion does not indicate that Fujifilm provided any equipment maintenance services subsequent to the Hospital's closure. According to the Liquidating Trustee, the absence of such evidence in Fujifilm's Opposition bolsters Mr. Otake's testimony that the Debtor received no benefit from the Service Contract subsequent to the Hospital's closure.

Fujifilm contends that the estate remains liable under the Service Contract because the contract was not effectively terminated until May 16, 2017. Fujifilm asserts that the Service Contract was akin to an insurance contract and therefore provided a benefit to the estate.

II. Findings and Conclusions

A. The Liquidating Trustee's Objection to JSE's Administrative Expense Claim is Sustained

The burden of proving an administrative expense claim is on the claimant. The claimant must show that the debt asserted to be an administrative expense

(1) arose from a transaction with the debtor-in-possession as opposed to the preceding entity (or, alternatively, that the claimant gave consideration to the debtor-in-possession); and (2) directly and substantially benefitted the estate.

In re White Motor Corp., 831 F.2d 106, 110 (6th Cir.1987). The bankruptcy court has broad discretion to determine whether to grant such a claim. In order to keep administrative costs to the estate at a minimum, "the actual, necessary costs and expenses of preserving the estate," § 503(1)(A), are construed narrowly.

Microsoft Corp. v. Dak Indus., Inc. (In re DAK Indus., Inc.), 66 F.3d 1091, 1094 (9th Cir. 1995) (internal citations omitted).

Section 365(g)(1) provides, in relevant part, that "the rejection of an executory contract ... constitutes a breach of such contract ... immediately before the date of the filing of the petition." Section 502(g) provides, in relevant part, that a "claim arising from the rejection of an executory contract ... shall be determined, and shall be allowed ... the same as if such claim had arisen before the date of the filing of the petition." "[R]ejection of an executory contract serves two purposes. It relieves the debtor of burdensome future obligations while he is trying to recover financially and it constitutes a breach of a contract which permits the other party to file a creditor's claim." In re Onecast Media, Inc., 439 F.3d 558, 563 (9th Cir. 2006) (internal citations omitted).

Consistent with the plain language of §§ 365(g)(1) and 502(g), it is well established that a debtor's rejection of an executory contract does not entitle the contract counterparty to an administrative expense claim. See, e.g., In re AppliedTheory Corp., 312 B.R. 225, 236–37 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2004) ("It would frustrate the entire purpose of granting debtors the power to reject burdensome executory contracts if, despite choosing to reject, they were nonetheless saddled with an administrative expense corresponding to the burdensome obligation they sought to avoid, and sections 365(g) and 502(g) collectively work together to avoid that result, and to avoid the resulting prejudice to other creditors. Thus, by statute and caselaw, the damages for breach—including for failures to satisfy future obligations under the rejected contracts—gave rise to pre-petition, general unsecured, claims."); In re Spectrum Info. Techs., Inc., 193 B.R. 400, 403–04 (Bankr. E.D.N.Y. 1996) ("The significance of rejection of an executory contract is that it not only relieves the estate of burdensome future obligations but it also gives rise to a prepetition general unsecured claim for damages rather than an administrative expense priority.").

Here, the Court authorized the Debtor to reject the EMS Agreement, with such rejection effective as of midnight on October 31, 2016. Pursuant to § 365(g)(1), rejection of the EMS Agreement constituted a breach of such agreement "immediately before the date of the filing of the petition." Pursuant to § 502(g), JSE's claim arising from this prepetition breach must be determined and allowed "the same as of such claim had arisen before the date of the filing of the petition." Said another way, JSE is entitled only to a general unsecured claim, and not an administrative expense claim, on account of the breach.

JSE acknowledges that it purchased tail coverage after the EMS Agreement was rejected. This acknowledgment provides further support to the Court's determination that JSE is not entitled to an administrative expense claim on account of its purchase of tail coverage. Because the tail coverage was purchased only after JSE was no longer providing services to the estate under the EMS Agreement, JSE cannot show that the tail coverage directly and substantially benefitted the estate.

The Liquidating Trustee's objection to JSE's administrative expense claim is sustained. JSE's $152,832.00 administrative expense claim is disallowed in its entirety.

As discussed above, JSE would be entitled to a prepetition general unsecured claim on account of the rejection of the EMS Agreement, provided that it timely filed a Proof of Claim. The Notice of Bar Date for Filing Proofs of Claim in a Chapter 11 Case [Doc. No. 301] (the "Bar Date Notice") provided that the deadline for filing a claim arising from the rejection of an executory contract was the later of the general unsecured claims bar date or thirty days after the date of entry of an order authorizing rejection of the executory contract. The deadline for JSE to file a claim based on the rejection of the EMS Agreement was November 30, 2016 (thirty days after entry of the order authorizing the Debtor to reject the EMS Agreement). Because JSE did not timely file such a Proof of Claim, the Court declines to recharacterize JSE's administrative expense claim as a general unsecured claim.

Chapter 11

As set forth above, "[t]he burden of proving an administrative expense claim is on the claimant." Microsoft Corp. v. Dak Indus., Inc. (In re DAK Indus., Inc.), 66 F.3d 1091, 1094 (9th Cir. 1995). To be entitled to an administrative expense, the claimant must show that the administrative expense "(1) arose from a transaction with the debtor-in-possession as opposed to the preceding entity ... and (2) directly and substantially benefitted the estate.... In order to keep administrative costs to the estate at a minimum, 'the actual, necessary costs and expenses of preserving the estate,' § 503(1)(A), are construed narrowly." Id. (internal citations omitted).

The Court finds that with respect to the period after the Hospital closed, Fujifilm has failed to carry its burden of establishing that the Service Contract "directly and substantially benefitted the estate." In reaching this conclusion, the Court makes no findings with respect to the disputed issue of when the Service Contract was terminated. The Court need not make any such finding, because even if the Service Contract was not terminated until May 16, 2017, as Fujifilm alleges, Fujifilm still has not shown that the Service Contract benefitted the estate.

After the Hospital closed, the medical equipment that was the subject of the Service Contract was no longer in use, and therefore was no longer at risk of damage. Thus, contrary to Fujifilm's contention, the "insurance" allegedly provided by Service Contract was of no benefit to the estate. Insurance was unnecessary; the unused equipment no longer required emergency repairs or replacement parts. Nothing in Fujifilm's declaration in support of its Opposition to the Motion indicates that Fujifilm performed any repairs on any of the equipment subsequent to the Hospital's closure.

The Liquidating Trustee's objection to Fujifilm's administrative expense claim is sustained. Fujifilm is not entitled to an administrative expense claim for the period subsequent to February 1, 2017. Accordingly, Fujifilm's administrative expense claim is reduced from $29,184.75 to $8,352.61.

C. The Liquidating Trustee's Objection to Accent Card Services, Inc.'s Administrative Expense Claim is Sustained

Accent Card Services, Inc. ("Accent") asserts an administrative expense claim of $5,333.65. In support of its claim, Accent attaches invoices dated July 26, 2015 through December 16, 2015. The Liquidating Trustee objects, pointing out that the invoices predate the filing of the petition.

The Liquidating Trustee's objection is sustained. The Debtor sought bankruptcy protection on June 6, 2016. Accordingly, Accent is not entitled to an administrative priority claim.

The Court declines to recharacterize Accent's claim as a general unsecured claim, because the claim was not filed prior to the general claims bar date. (However, to the extent that the Debtor has scheduled Accent as holding a general unsecured claim that is not disputed, contingent, or unliquidated, Accent is entitled to a general unsecured claim pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 3003(c).)

D. The Liquidating Trustee's Objection to Administrative Services Cooperative, Inc.'s Administrative Expense Claim is Sustained

Administrative Services Cooperative, Inc. ("Administrative Services") asserts an administrative expense claim of $3,286.05. All of the invoices attached in support of Administrative Services' claim predate the Petition Date, except for invoices dated between November 30, 2016 through January 20, 2017. The Liquidating Trustee objects to according administrative priority status to services performed prior to the Petition Date.

The Liquidating Trustee's objection is sustained. Administrative Services is entitled to an administrative claim only on account of invoices for services performed subsequent to the Petition Date. The total amount of such invoices is $190.60.

The Court declines to recharacterize the balance of Administrative Services' claim as a general unsecured claim, because the claim was not filed prior to the general claims bar date. (However, to the extent that the Debtor has scheduled Administrative Services as holding a general unsecured claim that is not disputed, contingent, or unliquidated, Administrative Services is entitled to a general unsecured claim pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 3003(c).)

E. The Liquidating Trustee's Objection to American National Red Cross' Administrative Expense Claim is Sustained

American National Red Cross (the "Red Cross") asserts an administrative expense claim of $29,520.00.

On May 16, 2018, the Red Cross entered into a Payment Agreement and Release (the "Agreement"). In the Agreement, the Red Cross agreed to accept a one-time cash payment of $13,700.00 in full and final satisfaction of all its post-petition claims. The Liquidating Trustee asserts that the payment required by the Agreement was made on May 18, 2018, and that accordingly the Red Cross' claim has been satisfied in full.

The Liquidating Trustee's objection is sustained. Because the Red Cross' administrative claim has been satisfied, it is disallowed in its entirety.

F. The Liquidating Trustee's Objection to BETA Risk Management Authority's Administrative Expense Claim is Sustained

BETA Risk Management Authority ("BETA") asserts an unliquidated administrative expense claim for deductibles for open claims under a Healthcare Liability Coverage Contract (the "Contract"). According to BETA's Proof of Claim (Claim No. 301), BETA provides healthcare liability coverage under the Contract, and the Debtor is obligated to pay BETA a deductible of up to $25,000 per claim.

The Liquidating Trustee objects to BETA's claim. The Liquidating Trustee asserts that BETA has failed to meet its burden of showing that its claim is for an actual and necessary cost of preserving the estate, because BETA did not attach the Contract to its Proof of Claim, failed to show that the Debtor has a postpetition (as opposed to prepetition) obligation to pay the deductibles, and failed to supply evidence showing the extent to which the Debtor actually owes deductibles on specific claims.

"The burden of proving an administrative expense claim is on the claimant." Microsoft Corp. v. Dak Indus., Inc. (In re DAK Indus., Inc.), 66 F.3d 1091, 1094 (9th Cir. 1995). To be entitled to an administrative expense, the claimant must show that the administrative expense "(1) arose from a transaction with the debtor-in-possession as opposed to the preceding entity ... and (2) directly and substantially benefitted the estate." Id. (internal citations omitted).

By failing to attach the Contract to its Proof of Claim, failing to show that the Debtor has a postpetition obligation to pay the deductibles, and failing to supply evidence establishing the extent to which the Debtor owes deductibles on specific claims, BETA has not carried its burden of showing that its alleged administrative expense claim directly and substantially benefitted the estate. Accordingly, the Liquidating Trustee's objection is sustained, and BETA's administrative expense claim is disallowed.

The Court declines to recharacterize BETA's claim as a general unsecured claim, because the claim was not filed prior to the general claims bar date. (However, to the extent that the Debtor has scheduled BETA as holding a general unsecured claim that is not disputed, contingent, or unliquidated, BETA is entitled to a general unsecured claim pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 3003(c).)

$3,861.96. All of the invoices supporting Butler's claim indicate that Butler shipped goods to the Debtor prior to the Petition Date.

The Liquidating Trustee notes that one invoice reflects that Butler shipped goods to the Debtor on June 2, 2016, four days prior to the Petition Date. The Trustee argues that even if the portion of Butler's claim related to the June 2, 2016 invoice could be construed as a § 503(b)(9) claim, such claim should be disallowed as untimely.

The Liquidating Trustee's objection is sustained. The goods shipped by Butler on June 2, 2016 could conceivably give rise to a § 503(b)(9) claim. However, the deadline to file § 503(b)(9) claims was October 31, 2016. Butler did not file its claim until August 10, 2018. Therefore, even if Butler was entitled to assert a § 503(b)(9) claim on account of the June 2, 2016 shipment, such claim is time barred.

The remainder of the invoices supporting Butler's claim pertain to pre-petition shipments that would not give rise to a § 503(b)(9) claim even if the claim had been filed timely. Butler is not entitled to an administrative claim on account of goods shipped prepetition.

Butler's administrative expense claim is disallowed in its entirety. The Court declines to recharacterize Butler's administrative claim as a general unsecured claim, because the claim was not filed prior to the general claims bar date. (However, to the extent that the Debtor has scheduled Butler as holding a general unsecured claim that is not disputed, contingent, or unliquidated, Butler is entitled to a general unsecured claim pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 3003(c).)

H. The Liquidating Trustee's Objections to Derek Dobalian's Administrative Expense Claims are Sustained

Derek Dobalian ("Dobalian") asserts two administrative expense claims of $90,000 (Claim Nos. 297 and 298).

In November 2017, Dobalian executed a Payment Agreement and Release (the "Agreement"). In the Agreement, Dobalian agreed to accept a one-time cash payment of $3,000.00 in full and final satisfaction of all his post-petition claims. The Liquidating Trustee asserts that the payment required by the Agreement was made on December 21, 2017, and that accordingly Dobalian's claims have been satisfied in full.

The Liquidating Trustee's objections are sustained. Because Dobalian's administrative expense claims have been satisfied, the claims are disallowed in their entirety.

I. The Liquidating Trustee's Objections to the Employment Development Department's Administrative Expense Claims are Sustained

The Employment Development Department (the "EDD") asserts administrative expense claims of $564,720.90 (Claim No. 289) and $251,014.94 (Claim No. 306).

On March 20, 2018, the Court approved a settlement between the Debtor and the EDD. Doc. Nos. 1124 and 1139. Under the settlement, the EDD agreed to accept $259,061.00 in full and final satisfaction of all its post-petition claims. The Liquidating Trustee asserts that the payment required by the settlement was made on March 27, 2018.

The Liquidating Trustee's objections are sustained. Because the EDD's administrative expense claims have been satisfied, they are disallowed in their entirety.

J. The Liquidating Trustee's Objection to Iron Mountain Information Management, LLC's Administrative Expense Claim is Sustained

Iron Mountain Information Management, LLC ("Iron Mountain") asserts an administrative expense claim of $8,611.76, consisting of $7,109.03 on account of services invoiced post-petition and $1,502.73 on account of accrued interest on its unpaid invoices. The Liquidating Trustee objects to Iron Mountain's claim to the extent that Iron Mountain asserts an entitlement to post-petition interest.

The Liquidating Trustee's objection is sustained. The Ninth Circuit has held that because "post-petition interest is given the lowest priority in distribution under § 726, the general rule is that interest on post-petition debts is not available in bankruptcy." Elliott v. Four Seasons Properties (In re Frontier Properties, Inc.), 979 F.2d 1358, 1366–67 (9th Cir. 1992). The portion of Iron Mountain's administrative expense claim attributable to post-petition interest is disallowed. Consequently, Iron Mountain's administrative expense claim is reduced from $8,611.76 to $7,109.03.

K. The Liquidating Trustee's Objection to Jaken Medical, Inc.'s Administrative Expense Claim is Sustained Jaken Medical, Inc. ("Jaken") asserts an administrative expense claim of $4,771.54. Jaken's Proof of Claim states that its claim arose prior to the Petition Date. The Liquidating Trustee objects to according administrative priority status to services performed prior to the Petition Date.

The Liquidating Trustee's objection is sustained. Jaken's administrative expense

L. The Liquidating Trustee's Objection to Cynthia Miller-Dobalian's Administrative Expense Claim is Sustained

Cynthia Miller-Dobalian ("Miller-Dobalian") asserts an administrative expense claim of $116,000.

In November 2017, Miller-Dobalian executed a Payment Agreement and Release (the "Agreement"). In the Agreement, Miller-Dobalian agreed to accept a one-time cash payment of $17,000.00 in full and final satisfaction of all her post-petition claims. The Liquidating Trustee asserts that the payment required by the Agreement was made on December 21, 2017, and that accordingly Miller-Dobalian's claims have been satisfied in full.

The Liquidating Trustee's objections is sustained. Because Miller-Dobalian's administrative expense claim has been satisfied, the claim is disallowed in its entirety.

M. The Liquidating Trustee's Objection to MSS Nurses Registry, Inc.'s Administrative Expense Claim is Sustained

MSS Nurses Registry, Inc. ("MSS") asserts an administrative expense claim of $22,610.75. MSS' Proof of Claim form states that its claim arose prior to the Petition Date. The Liquidating Trustee objects to according administrative priority status to services performed prior to the Petition Date.

The Liquidating Trustee's objection is sustained. MSS' administrative expense claim (Claim No. 291) is disallowed in its entirety. The disallowance of Claim No. 291 has no impact on Claim No. 37, MSS' general unsecured claim.

N. The Liquidating Trustee's Objection to Nuance Communications, Inc.'s Administrative Expense Claim is Sustained

Nuance Communications, Inc. ("Nuance") asserts an administrative expense claim of $60,007.78, consisting of $45,789.93 on account of services invoice post-petition and $14,217.85 on account of accrued interest and late fees on its unpaid invoices. The Liquidating Trustee objects to Nuance's claim to the extent that Nuance asserts an entitlement to post-petition interest.

The Liquidating Trustee's objection is sustained. The Ninth Circuit has held that because "post-petition interest is given the lowest priority in distribution under § 726, the general rule is that interest on post-petition debts is not available in bankruptcy."

O. The Liquidating Trustee’s Objection to Manuel Ramirez’s Administrative Expense Claim is Sustained

Manuel Ramirez ("Ramirez") asserts an administrative expense claim of $5 million. Ramirez alleges that he sustained injuries from spinal surgery performed on August 12, 2015.

The Liquidating Trustee contends that the claim is not entitled to administrative expense status because the alleged injury occurred prepetition. Further, the Liquidating Trustee notes that according to the Complaint attached to the Proof of Claim, the surgery which allegedly caused the injury was performed at a hospital in Riverside, not at the hospital operated by the Debtor.

The Liquidating Trustee’s objection is sustained. Because the alleged injury resulted from a surgery performed prepetition, the claim is not entitled to administrative status. Nor is Ramirez entitled to a general unsecured claim against the Debtor, because the surgery which resulted in the alleged injury was not performed at the hospital operated by the Debtor. Further, the Debtor is not named as a defendant in the Complaint, and is not identified as a defendant under any of the Complaint’s eight causes of action.

P. The Liquidating Trustee’s Objection to Suture Express, Inc.’s § 503(b)(9) Claim is Sustained Suture Express, Inc. ("Suture") asserts a § 503(b)(9) claim of $8,882.23 for "goods sold" and "medical supplies delivered and received by Debtor on 6/2/2015" The invoices attached to Suture’s Proof of Claim indicate that the goods were delivered well outside the 20-day prior to the Petition Date. Accordingly, the Liquidating Trustee asserts that Suture’s claim is not entitled to administrative status.

The Liquidating Trustee’s objection is sustained. Because Suture’s claim was filed prior to the general claims bar date, the Court will recharacterize the claim as a general unsecured claim.

The Liquidating Trustee's objection is sustained and the administrative expense claim is disallowed. Disallowance of Claim No. 303 will have no impact on Claim No. 287, Thorstad's priority wage claim for the same prepetition PTO.

R. The Liquidating Trustee's Objection to Universal Metro, Inc.'s Administrative Expense Claim is Sustained

Universal Metro, Inc. ("Universal") asserts an administrative expense claim of $11,540.66. Universal's Proof of Claim form states that its claim arose between 2014 and 2016. The invoices attached to Universal's Proof of Claim predate the Petition Date, except for a single invoice dated December 1, 2016 in the amount of $931.00. The Liquidating Trustee objects to according administrative expense status to services performed prior to the Petition Date.

The Liquidating Trustee's objection is sustained. Universal is not entitled to an administrative claim on account of services performed prior to the Petition Date. Universal is entitled to an administrative claim only on account of services performed subsequent to the Petition Date. The total amount of Universal's invoices for post-petition services is $931.00. Therefore, Universal holds an administrative claim of $931.00.

The Court declines to recharacterize the balance of Universal's administrative claim as a general unsecured claim, because the claim was not filed prior to the general claims bar date. (However, to the extent that the Debtor has scheduled Universal as holding a general unsecured claim that is not disputed, contingent, or unliquidated, Universal is entitled to a general unsecured claim pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 3003(c).)

S. The Liquidating Trustee's Objection to Waste Management Healthcare Solutions' Administrative Expense Claim is Sustained

Waste Management Healthcare Solutions ("Waste Management") asserts an administrative expense claim of $10,077.30, consisting of $9,822.00 on account of services invoice post-petition and $255.30 on account of accrued interest and late fees on its unpaid invoices. I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

A. Background

To provide context for the findings made herein, the Court describes the history of this case and its prior rulings in detail.

Anne Lan Peterson (the "Debtor") commenced a voluntary Chapter 7 petition on December 14, 2011. On April 16, 2012, the Debtor received a discharge, and on April 30, 2012, the Debtor's case was closed as a "no asset" case. Bankr. Doc. Nos. 18 and 20.

Chapter 7

The Debtor was married to Ronald Peterson ("Ronald") [Note 2] from 1997 to 2010. Divorce proceedings between the Debtor and Ronald have been lengthy and contentious. In an apparent attempt to gain a tactical advantage in the divorce litigation, Ronald notified the Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee") of undisclosed assets, and the Debtor's case was reopened.

1. The Trustee's Complaint and Ronald's Purported Cross-Complaint

On January 22, 2018, the Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee") filed the Trustee's First Amended Complaint: (1) For Declaratory Relief; (2) In the Alternative, for Sale of Real Property Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §363(h); (3) For Turnover; (4) For Violation of Automatic Stay; and (5) For Dissolution of Limited Liability Company [Adv. Doc. No. 21] (the "Turnover Complaint") against Ronald Peterson ("Ronald") and two limited liability companies—Maitreya, LLC, a Nevada LLC ("Maitreya Nevada") and Maitreya, LLC, an Arizona LLC ("Maitreya Arizona") (Ronald, Maitreya Nevada, and Maitreya Arizona collectively, the "Defendants"). The Turnover Complaint sought a declaration that real property located at 359 W. Langston Street, Upland, California 91786 (the "Property") is community property of the Debtor and Ronald, and therefore property of the estate pursuant to §541(a)(2). The Turnover Complaint sought turnover of the Property, avoidance of the post-petition transfer of the Property to Maitreya Arizona, and dissolution of Maitreya Nevada pursuant to Nevada Revised Statute §86.495, on the grounds that the Trustee, as the sole owner, is entitled to liquidate Maitreya Nevada.

On February 26, 2018, Ronald, Maitreya Nevada, and Maitreya Arizona filed an Answer to the Turnover Complaint. Adv. Doc. No. 42. The Answer asserted four affirmative defenses but did not assert any counterclaims.

On June 7, 2018, the Court conducted a hearing on the Trustee's motion for summary judgment (the "MSJ") on the Turnover Complaint's first, third, and fifth claims for relief. On June 6, 2018—the day prior to the hearing on the MSJ—the Court posted, at 12:20 p.m., a tentative ruling indicated its intent to grant the MSJ. Approximately eleven hours later, at 11:03 p.m., Ronald filed a Cross-Complaint for: (1) Breach of Fiduciary Duty 1; (2) Breach of Fiduciary 2; (3) Breach of Contract; and (4) Negligence [Bankr. Doc. No. 64; Adv. Doc. No. 66] (the "Purported Cross-Complaint") [Note 3] against the Trustee and the Debtor.

On June 14, 2018, the Court entered summary judgment, in the Trustee's favor, on the Turnover Complaint's first, third, and fifth claims for relief. Adv. Doc. No. 64 (the "Judgment"). Among other things, the Judgment provided that the Property is "community property of the Debtor and Ronald," and further provided that the Property is "property of the Debtor's bankruptcy estate under 11 U.S.C. §541(a)(2)" Judgment at ¶¶2-3. The Court found that the filing of the Purported Cross-Complaint was not cause to delay entry of the Judgment. In addition, the Court found, pursuant to Civil Rule 54(b), that there was no just reason to delay entry of final judgment in the Trustee's favor with respect to the first, third, and fifth claims for relief. The Court ordered the Defendants to turnover the Property to the Trustee by no later than July 6, 2018, at 5:00 p.m. Judgment at ¶5.

Defendants failed to turnover the Property to the Trustee as ordered by the Court. On July 12, 2018, the Court denied Defendants' motion for reconsideration of the Judgment (the "Motion for Reconsideration"). See Memorandum of Decision Denying Motion for Reconsideration [Adv. Doc. No. 96] and Order Denying Motion for Reconsideration [Adv. Doc. No. 97]. In the Motion for Reconsideration, Defendants asserted that the only claims filed in the Debtor's bankruptcy case were on account of debts the Debtor incurred after she separated from Ronald. Defendants maintained that as a result, the claims were not payable from property of the estate because they did not qualify as "community claims" within the meaning of §101(7). Defendants' theory was that the absence of any creditors entitled to receive a distribution from the estate precluded the Trustee from administering estate property. In denying the Motion for Reconsideration, the Court noted that Defendants had been provided an opportunity to present their arguments before the Court entered the Judgment, but had failed to do so. Observing that Defendants had offered no explanation whatsoever for their failure to timely raise these arguments, the Court determined that the "extraordinary circumstances" necessary to support reconsideration were not present. See Zurich Am. Ins. Co. v. Int'l Fibercom, Inc. (In re Int'l Fibercom, Inc.), 503 F.3d 933, 941 (9th Cir. 2007).

Concurrently with the denial of the Motion for Reconsideration, the Court directed the Clerk of the Court to issue a Writ of Possession, authorizing the United States Marshal (the "U.S. Marshal") to enforce the Judgment by placing the Trustee in possession of the Property. Adv. Doc. No. 98. On August 10, 2018, the U.S. Marshal evicted Ronald, his fiancée, and their two children from the Property.

On July 26, 2018, Ronald appealed the Court's denial of his Motion to Reconsideration to the District Court. Adv. Doc. No. 110. On November 16, 2018, the District Court dismissed Ronald's appeal with prejudice for failure to prosecute. Adv. Doc. No. 145.

judgment hearing alleged, among other things, that Ronald and the Trustee had entered into a contract providing that Ronald would purchase the estate's interest in the Property for $125,000, but that the Trustee breached the contract notwithstanding Ronald's fulfillment of all his obligations thereunder. Purported Cross-Complaint at ¶¶30–33. [Note 4]

On June 18, 2018, the Court issued an order requiring Ronald to appear and show cause why the Court should not (1) construe the Purported Cross-Complaint as a Counter-Complaint, (2) find that the claims asserted in the Counter-Complaint are compulsory, and (3) dismiss the Counter-Complaint as untimely. Adv. Doc. No. 69. In its Preliminary Findings and Conclusions, the Court first found that the Purported Cross-Complaint was more properly characterized as a Counter-Complaint, because it sought relief against an opposing party (the Trustee), not a co-party. The Court next found that the claims asserted in the Purported Cross-Complaint were compulsory counterclaims, because they arose from the same set of operative facts as the claims asserted in the Complaint.

On July 27, 2018, the Court entered an order adopting its Preliminary Findings and Conclusions and dismissing the Purported Cross-Complaint, as to the Trustee, with prejudice. Adv. Doc. No. 113 (the "Dismissal Order"). The Dismissal Order is now final and non-appealable.

2. Ronald's Claim Objections

On August 16, 2018, the Court overruled Ronald's objections to Proofs of Claim filed by Shaco, Inc. ("Shaco") and Kathy K. Settle ("Ms. Settle"). The Court found that Ronald's claim objections were an improper attempt to gain a litigation advantage in the adversary proceeding brought by the Trustee:

In his Claim Objections, Ronald asserts that the claims do not qualify as "community claims" and therefore may not be paid from the estate's community property. The estate's primary community property asset is the Property. As discussed above, Ronald has vigorously contested the Trustee's attempts to enforce the Judgment and gain possession of the Property. Ronald's objective in prosecuting the Claim Objections is to prevent the Trustee from enforcing the Judgment.

Ronald raised the arguments he asserts now in his motion for Reconsideration of the Judgment. In denying Ronald's Motion for Reconsideration, the Court found that Ronald had failed to show that "extraordinary circumstances" excused his failure to timely raise his arguments regarding the allowability of the claims. See Zurich Am. Ins. Co. v. Int'l Fibercom, Inc. (In re Int'l Fibercom, Inc.), 503 F.3d 933, 941 (9th Cir. 2007). Based upon this finding, the Court refused to consider the arguments. Ronald cannot procedurally circumvent the Court's determination by now seeking to present these identical arguments in a different context.

The Court declines to find that Ronald lacks standing to object to the claims. It would be more precise to say that the Ronald has interposed the Claim Objections for the improper purpose of attempting to escape the consequences of his failure to timely raise the arguments he now presents. Had Ronald timely raised these arguments in opposition to the Trustee's motion for summary judgment, they would have been properly before the Court. But raising the arguments now—after the Court's express determination that the arguments would not be considered because they were untimely—is not proper.

Final Ruling Overruling Objection to Claim Number 2 [Bankr. Doc. No. 81] at 4–5.
[Note 5]

The Court went on to find that even had Ronald's claim objections been properly before it, the objections lacked merit. With respect to Ronald's argument that the Trustee was barred from administering any of the estate's community property because there were no creditors eligible to receive a distribution from such property, the Court stated:

Where an estate includes community property, distribution of such property is governed by §726(c). Section 726(c) provides a framework for the distribution of community property to holders of community claims.

A "community claim" is a "claim that arose before the commencement of the case concerning the debtor for which property of the kind specified in section 541(a)(2) is liable [estate community property], whether or not there is any such property at the time of the commencement of the case." §101(7).

"The Bankruptcy Code's distribution scheme regarding community property is generally intended to parallel state law." In re Cohen, 522 B.R. 232, 240 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2014). California Family Code §910(a) provides that "the community estate is liable for a debt incurred by either spouse before or during marriage, regardless of which spouse has the management and control of the property and regardless of whether one or both spouses are parties to the debt or to a judgment for the debt." For purposes of §910(a), "during marriage" does not include the period after the parties are separated.

The Court assumes without deciding that the indebtedness asserted by the claimants was incurred by the Debtor after she separated from Ronald. As such, the claims would not constitute community claims.

To provide for the distribution of community property, §726(c) creates four "sub-estates," described in §726(c)(A), (B), (C), and (D). Only holders of community claims are eligible to receive a distribution from sub-estates (A), (B), and (D). However, sub-estate (C) provides for a distribution to holders of all claims against the Debtor, provided that such distribution is not from the estate's community property.

The distribution contemplated by the Trustee is consistent with the § 726(c). First, the Trustee will liquidate the Property, the estate's primary community asset. Once the Property has been liquidated, costs of administration will be paid from cash on hand. Subsequent to the payment of costs of administration, the remaining funds will be divided in half, with one half allocable to the Debtor, and the other allocable to Ronald. Once the remaining funds have been divided, the Debtor's share of such funds will no longer constitute community property. Instead, such funds will be property of the estate liable for separate property claims against the Debtor—such as the claims asserted by Shaco and Settle (provided that such claims are in fact properly characterized as separate property claims). Such funds may be distributed to the claimants pursuant to §726(c)(2)(C).

Faced with similar facts, this was exactly the result reached by the court in In re Herrera, No. AP 16-90131-MM, 2017 WL 5473768, at *10 (Bankr. S.D. Cal. Nov. 13, 2017), aff'd sub nom. Herrera v. Pons, No. 17-CV-2392-GPC-NLS, 2018 WL 2229369 (S.D. Cal. May 16, 2018). The Herrera court found that proceeds of a community property asset could be distributed to pay the Debtor's post-separation debts pursuant to §726(c)(2), but only after the non-debtor had received his half of those proceeds. Id. at *10. The precise manner in which funds will be distributed is not yet before the Court. However, contrary to Ronald's contention, funds can be distributed to claimants in a manner consistent with §726(c) and other applicable provisions of the Bankruptcy Code.

3. The Trustee's Sale Motion and Ronald's Assertion of a Homestead Exemption

On December 6, 2018, the Court approved, over Ronald's opposition, the Trustee's motion to confirm the sale of the Property to Jose Mclat and Cristina Criss (the "Sale Motion"). Bankr. Doc. Nos. 119–20. Although the sale was free and clear of liens, the Court found that the Debtor's spousal support lien in the principal amount of $61,474 would attach only to Ronald's share of the net sale proceeds, subject to a further ruling determining the extent of Ronald's share.

In opposition to the Sale Motion, Ronald contended that the Trustee was required to pay him 50% of the sales proceeds directly from escrow on account of Ronald's purported $100,000 homestead exemption in the Property. The Court rejected Ronald's contention, finding that it was not procedurally proper for Ronald to assert his alleged entitlement to a homestead exemption by way of an opposition to the Sale Motion. The Court further noted that where, as here, the Debtor had claimed exemptions, a non-debtor spouse such as Ronald was not necessarily entitled to assert supplemental exemptions. The Court stated that it would determine the validity of any homestead exemption asserted by Ronald if and when Ronald properly filed a claim of exemption.

On December 29, 2011, Debtor filed Schedule C, claiming various property as exempt. Bankr. Doc. No. 11. Debtor did not assert an exemption in the Property. On February 1, 2012, Debtor filed an Amended Schedule C, but again did not assert an exemption in the Property. Bankr. Doc. No. 15. On December 14, 2018, Ronald filed a Schedule C, pursuant to §522(1), asserting a $100,000 exemption in the Property.

4. The Trustee's Interim Fee Application and Motion for Authorization to Pay Administrative Expenses from Community Property Proceeds Held by the Estate

On December 21, 2018, the Court awarded Danning, Gill, Diamond & Kollitz LLP ("DGDK"), the Trustee's general bankruptcy counsel, fees of $152,611.00 and expenses of $9,598.10, on an interim basis. Bankr. Doc. No. 131. Over Ronald's opposition, the Court authorized the Trustee to pay DGDK's allowed fees and expenses from the proceeds of the sale of the Property (the "Sale Proceeds"). Bankr. Doc. No. 130.

The Court found that payment of DGDK's allowed fees and expenses from the Sale Proceeds was consistent with § 726(c)(1):

Chapter 7

Section 726(c)(1) provides that administrative expense claims shall be paid either from community property of the estate, or from other property of the estate, "as the interest of justice requires." The legislative history contains specific examples of how this may be done:

First, administrative expenses are to be paid, as the court determines on any reasonable equitable basis, from both kinds of property. The court will divide administrative expenses according to such factors as the amount of each kind of property in the estate, the cost of preservation and liquidation of each kind of property, and whether any particular administrative expenses are attributable to one kind of property or the other.

House and Senate Reports to Bankruptcy Reform Act of 1978 (H.R. Rep. No. 595, 95th Cong., 1st Sess. 383–384 (1977); S. Rep. No. 989 95th Cong., 2d Sess. 97–98 (1978)).

Here, all property held by the estate is community property. The Court finds that the interests of justice permit payment of the estate's administrative expenses from community property. The vast majority of administrative costs were incurred in connection with the Trustee's fraudulent transfer litigation against Ronald, the Trustee's efforts to enforce the Judgment against Ronald, and other litigation made necessary as a result of actions taken by Ronald. As set forth above, the Court found that all the arguments asserted by Ronald lacked merit. Under the circumstances, it does not offend the interests of justice for the Trustee to first pay administrative costs from the estate's community property proceeds before distributing to Ronald his pro rata share of such proceeds, even though such a distribution will reduce the funds that Ronald ultimately receives.

Final Ruling Granting Trustee's Motion for Authorization to Pay Administrative Expenses from Sale Proceeds [Bankr. Doc. No. 128] at 10.

The Court overruled Ronald's contention that he was entitled to receive his pro rata share of the estate's community property prior to payment of the costs of administration. In support of his position, Ronald asserted that he was entitled to a $100,000 homestead exemption in the Property, based upon a Schedule C that Ronald filed on December 14, 2018. The Court found that Ronald was not entitled to assert a Section 522(l) provides:

The debtor shall file a list of property that the debtor claims as exempt under subsection (b) of this section. If the debtor does not file such a list, a dependent of the debtor may file such a list, or may claim property as exempt from property of the estate on behalf of the debtor. Unless a party in interest objects, the property claimed as exempt on such list is exempt.

Ronald is not entitled to assert an exemption on the Debtor's behalf pursuant to §522(l). First, a claim of exemption asserted under §522(l) must be filed within 44 days of the date of the petition. Bankruptcy Rule 4003(a). Here, the petition was filed on December 14, 2011. Ronald did not file a claim of exemption until approximately seven years later, well beyond the applicable deadline. Second, Ronald may not assert exemptions on the Debtor's behalf because the Debtor did file claims of exemption. The Debtor's failure to exempt the Property does not permit Ronald to supplement the Debtor's exemptions. As explained in In re Homan, 112 B.R. 356, 359 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1989): "Where a debtor files a list of property exemptions claimed under federal law, even an incomplete list, nothing in the language or legislative history of Section 522(l) suggests that nondebtor dependents may supplement this list with state exemptions or further federal exemptions." See also Kapila v. Morgan (In re Morgan), 286 B.R. 678, 683-84 (Bankr. E.D. Wis. 2002) ("Section 522(l) provides that a dependent of the debtor, including the debtor's spouse, whether or not actually dependent, may file a list of claimed exemptions if the debtor fails to do so. However, he did so. Since the right is his alone, she may not supplement that list, even if she disagrees with his choices."); In re Duncan, 294 B.R. 339, 344 (B.A.P. 10th Cir. 2003) (citing In re Morgan with approval).

Complaint

On January 12, 2019, Ronald filed a First Amended Complaint for (1) Declaratory Relief; (2) Breach of Fiduciary Duty; and (3) to Determine Dischargeability of Debt Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. Sections 523(a)(3), (4), and (6) (the "Complaint") against the Debtor. First, Ronald alleges that the Debtor is not entitled to receive any of the Sale Proceeds because she acted in bad faith by deliberately failing to schedule the Property. Complaint at ¶ 24. Ronald seeks a declaration that he is entitled to 100% of the Sale Proceeds. Second, Ronald alleges that the Debtor breached her fiduciary duties to him by, inter alia, failing to schedule the Property and failing to schedule Ronald as a creditor. Complaint at ¶¶ 43–52. Third, Ronald alleges that the Debtor is indebted to him on account of her breaches of fiduciary duty, and that such indebtedness is excepted from the Debtor's discharge, pursuant to § 523(a)(4) and (a)(6). Ronald alleges that the dischargeability claims are timely because the Debtor did not schedule him as a creditor and he was therefore unaware of the deadline to commence a dischargeability action. The Complaint does not name the Trustee as a defendant.

On February 15, 2019, the Court granted Ronald's motion to dismiss the Purported Cross-Complaint. Adv. Doc. No. 150. Ronald sought the dismissal because he intended to pursue his claims against the Debtor by way of the Complaint.

B. Summary of Papers filed in Connection with the Trustee's Motion to Intervene in the Declaratory Relief Complaint and the Trustee's Motion to Dismiss the Declaratory Relief Complaint

The Trustee moves to intervene in the Complaint, as of right, pursuant to Civil Rule 24(a)(2). The Trustee asserts that intervention is appropriate because the relief sought in the Complaint is inconsistent with the Trustee's administration of the estate and the prior orders of the Court.

In Opposition to the Motion to Intervene, Ronald does not dispute that the Trustee right to intervene. Ronald asserts that there is no reason for the Trustee to intervene, on the ground that the Trustee should be indifferent as to whether Ronald or the Debtor receives the Sale Proceeds. Ronald maintains that by attempting to intervene, the Trustee is impermissibly advocating on behalf of the Debtor.

In Reply to Ronald's Opposition, the Trustee contends that he is entitled to intervene because he has exclusive authority to vindicate the estate's property rights.

The Trustee moves to dismiss the Complaint's claim for declaratory relief with respect to the distribution of the Sale Proceeds, for failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted, pursuant to Civil Rule 12(b)(6). The Trustee asserts that Ronald's claim that he is entitled to 100% of the Sale Proceeds is barred by res judicata. According to the Trustee, the claim for declaratory relief is effectively a claim to estate property, which should have been litigated in connection with the Turnover Complaint.

In Opposition to the Motion to Dismiss, Ronald argues that the Trustee lacks standing because he was not named as a defendant. Ronald argues that even if the Trustee does have standing, the Complaint's allegations that the Debtor concealed the Property from the Trustee in bad faith sufficiently support the relief demanded—namely that Ronald is entitled to all of the Sale Proceeds and that the Debtor is not entitled to any of the Sale Proceeds. Ronald asserts that the Debtor cannot claim any interest in the Sale Proceeds because she did not schedule the Property and did not claim a homestead exemption in the Property. Ronald contends that res judicata does not apply, because the Court has never ruled upon the issue of whether the distribution priorities specified in § 726 apply when the Debtor has acted in bad faith.

In Reply to Ronald's Opposition, the Trustee argues that res judicata does apply. The Trustee points to the Judgment, which determined that the Property is property of the estate. Therefore, the Trustee argues, the Sale Proceeds of the Property are also property of the estate, and those proceeds are subject to distribution pursuant to the priorities of the Bankruptcy Code.

C. Summary of Papers Filed in Connection with the Trustee's Motion to Approve a Final Distribution of the Sale Proceeds

The Trustee moves to distribute the Sale Proceeds as follows:

- 1) First, all remaining expenses of administration will be paid.
- 2) Second, the remaining funds will be divided in half, one half allocable to the Debtor and the other half allocable to Ronald.
- 3) Third, the Debtor's separate debts will be paid from the half allocable to the Debtor.
- 4) Fourth, Ronald's half will be divided as follows:
 - a) The Debtor's spousal support lien of $69,186 (plus any additional interest owing as of the date of payment) will be paid in full; and
 - b) The balance will be paid to Ronald.

Prior to the filing of the motion seeking authorization to disburse the remaining

Sale Proceeds (the "Second Disbursement Motion"), the Trustee sent a written proposal to Ronald and the Debtor in an attempt to resolve issues pertaining to the final disbursement without further litigation. The Trustee advised Ronald and the Debtor that the proposal was not a settlement communication and would be submitted to the Court.

The Trustee's proposal presented Ronald and the Debtor two options. The primary difference between the two options was the treatment of the Debtor's spousal support lien (the "Support Lien"). Under Option A, the Debtor would be paid $61,474 on account of the Support Lien from Ronald's share, and Ronald would be paid the balance of his share. Under Option B, the Debtor would be paid $61,474 on account of the Support Lien from Ronald's share, but Ronald would not be paid the balance of his share. Instead, the remaining balance would be paid to an escrow agent and would be subject to final distribution by the Family Court.

Ronald rejected both options, asserting that he was entitled to all of the Sale Proceeds. However, Ronald expressed a preference to be paid his share of the proceeds after payment of the Support Lien in the event that he did not prevail upon his demand to receive all of the Sale Proceeds.

The Debtor does not support either option. The Debtor intends to serve upon Ronald a Rule 9011 motion for sanctions, and to file such motion with the Court, if Ronald does not withdraw the Complaint within the 21-day safe-harbor period specified by Rule 9011(c)(1)(A). The Debtor asserts that the Trustee should be required to hold all the Sale Proceeds until the Rule 9011 Motion is decided, so that the Court will have the ability to impose monetary sanctions against Ronald. In the event that Ronald dismisses the Complaint, the Debtor asserts that Ronald's share of the Sale Proceeds should be held in trust by Ronald's divorce attorney pending the Family Court's resolution of the remaining disputes. The Debtor maintains that Ronald's share of the Sale Proceeds must be held in trust until all the Debtor's claims against him are resolved, to prevent Ronald from improperly disposing of the Sale Proceeds.

By way of the Second Disbursement Motion, the Trustee seeks relief consistent with Option A. The Trustee has concluded that a distribution consistent with Option A provides the most expeditious means of liquidating the estate's property. The Trustee opposes the Debtor's request that Ronald's share of the Sale Proceeds be held in trust pending either the Debtor's filing of a Rule 9011 Motion or the Family Court's resolution of the Debtor's claims against Ronald. The Trustee contends that administration of the estate should not be further delayed by litigation between Ronald and the Debtor.

Ronald reiterates his position that he is entitled to all of the Sale Proceeds. First, Ronald contends that the Second Disbursement Motion amounts to an impermissible attempt by the Trustee to circumvent the Complaint. Second, Ronald states that he has filed a motion in the Family Court to modify the Support Lien. On that basis, Ronald opposes payment of the Support Lien from his share of the Sale Proceeds. Third, Ronald contends that, as alleged in the Complaint, the Debtor is not entitled to any of the Sales Proceeds because she concealed the Property from the Trustee in bad faith.

The Trustee disputes Ronald's arguments. According to the Trustee:

- 1) Ronald's Complaint does not dispossess the Bankruptcy Court of its core authority to determine the disposition of property of the estate. The relief sought in the Second Disbursement Motion is necessary to enable the Trustee to complete the administration of the estate.
- 2) Absent an order from the Family Court vacating the Support Lien, there is no basis for Ronald's contention that the Support Lien should not be paid.

II. Findings and Conclusions

A. The Trustee's Motion to Intervene is Granted

Civil Rule 24(a)(2) provides:

On timely motion, the court must permit anyone to intervene who claims an interest relating to the property or transaction that is the subject of the action, and is so situated that disposing of the action may as a practical matter impair or impede the movant's ability to protect its interest, unless existing parties adequately represent that interest.

An applicant for intervention must make four showings to qualify under Civil Rule 24(a)(2):

- 1) [The applicant] has a 'significant protectable interest' relating to the property or transaction that is the subject of the action;
- 2) the disposition of the action may, as a practical matter, impair or impede the applicant's ability to protect its interest;
- 3) the application is timely; and
- 4) the existing parties may not adequately represent the applicants interest.

Chapter 7

Perry v. Schwarzenegger, 630 F.3d 898, 903 (9th Cir. 2011).

The Trustee has satisfied all four elements and is therefore entitled to intervene in this action as a matter of right. First, the Trustee has a "significant protectable interest" relating to the property that is the subject of the action. The Complaint seeks a determination that Ronald is entitled to receive all of the Sale Proceeds and that the Debtor is entitled to receive none of the Sale Proceeds. The Sale Proceeds are property of the estate that the Trustee is required to distribute in accordance with the requirements of the Bankruptcy Code. See § 704(a)(1), (2), and (9) (requiring the Trustee to "collect and reduce to money the property of the estate," to "be accountable for all property received," and to "make a final report and file a final account of the administration of the estate with the court and with the United States trustee"). Because the Complaint affects the distribution of the estate's property, the first element is satisfied.

Second, the disposition of the action will, as a practical matter, impair and impede the Trustee's ability to protect his interest in the estate's property. As stated above, the Trustee has a statutory obligation to distribute the Sale Proceeds consistent with the requirements of the Bankruptcy Code. By seeking to dictate the distribution of the Sale Proceeds, the Complaint impairs the Trustee's ability to fulfill his statutory obligations with respect to the distribution of the estate's property.

Third, the Trustee's application to intervene is timely. The Complaint was filed on January 11, 2019. The Summons and Complaint were not served upon the Trustee. The Trustee applied to intervene on February 13, 2019, early in the proceedings.

Finally, the existing parties—Ronald and the Debtor—will not adequately represent the Trustee's interest. The Trustee has an obligation to distribute the Sale Proceeds in a manner consistent with the Bankruptcy Code. It is in the interests of both Ronald and the Debtor to obtain as much of the Sale Proceeds as possible. [Note 6]

There is no merit to Ronald's contention that by seeking to intervene, the Trustee is impermissibly advocating on behalf of the Debtor. In addition, Ronald's assertion that the Trustee should be indifferent as to the distribution of the Sale Proceeds is mistaken. The Trustee has a statutory obligation to distribute the Sale Proceeds in accordance with the requirements of the Bankruptcy Code. If the Trustee were to adopt Ronald's position and remain indifferent as to the distribution of the Sale Proceeds, he would be abandoning the fiduciary obligations imposed upon him by § 704.

B. The Court Dismisses the Complaint's Claim for Declaratory Relief

The Trustee moves to dismiss Ronald's claim seeking a declaration that the entirety of the Sale Proceeds must be distributed to Ronald. The Trustee's theory is that Ronald's declaratory relief claim is barred by res judicata.

"Res judicata is applicable whenever there is (1) an identity of claims, (2) a final judgment on the merits, and (3) privity between the parties." Tahoe-Sierra Preservation Council, Inc. v. Tahoe Regional Planning Agency, 322 F.3d 1064, 1077 (9th Cir. 2003). An "identity of claims" exists "when two suits arise from 'the same transactional nucleus of facts. Newly articulated claims based on the same nucleus of facts may still be subject to a res judicata finding if the claims could have been brought in the earlier action." Id. at 1078.

The Complaint's theory is that the Debtor's alleged bad faith concealment of the Property requires the Trustee to depart from the distribution scheme set forth in § 726(c). The Trustee is correct that the Judgment has conclusively determined that the Property—and consequently the Sale Proceeds of the Property—constitute community property of the estate. However, the Court does not agree with the Trustee's position that the Judgment precludes Ronald from challenging the Trustee's proposed distribution of the Sale Proceeds. The issue in the Turnover Complaint was whether the Property was property of the estate. The Turnover Complaint did not directly put at issue the manner in which the Trustee was required to distribute the proceeds of the Property's liquidation. During the time the Turnover Complaint was pending, the Trustee had made clear his future plans with respect to the distribution of the Sale Proceeds, but had not yet taken any concrete action. Within the context of the Turnover Complaint, it would not have been feasible for Ronald to challenge the Trustee's distribution of the Sale Proceeds, which at that point was purely hypothetical.

Although res judicata does not prevent Ronald from challenging the Trustee's proposed distribution, the Court declines to permit Ronald to pursue this challenge by way of the Complaint. Adjudication of this issue through an adversary proceeding would unduly delay the Trustee's administration of the estate. The issues raised by Ronald are more appropriately adjudicated by way of the Trustee's motion for authorization to distribute the Sale Proceeds (the "Distribution Motion"). Further, Ronald's challenge to the Trustee's proposed distribution does not require the Court to determine any disputed factual issues. As discussed below, even assuming that the allegations set forth in the first claim are true, Ronald is not entitled to the declaratory relief he demands as a matter of law. Therefore, the Court will dismiss Ronald's declaratory relief claim, pursuant to Civil Rule 12(b)(6), for failure to state a claim.

C. The Trustee's Motion for Authorization to Distribute the Sale Proceeds is Granted

The Judgment provides that the Property is "property of the Debtor's bankruptcy estate under 11 U.S.C. §541(a)(2)" Judgment at ¶¶2-3. It follows that the Sale Proceeds of the Property are also community property of the estate.

Section 726(c) governs the distribution of estate community property. Section 726(c) creates four "sub-estates," described in §726(c)(A), (B), (C), and (D). Only holders of community claims are eligible to receive a distribution from sub-estates (A), (B), and (D). However, sub-estate (C) provides for a distribution to holders of all claims against the Debtor, provided that such distribution is not from the estate's community property.

Only two creditors have filed Proofs of Claim against the estate. Shaco, Inc. asserts a claim in the amount of $122,917.79. Kathy Settle asserts a claim in the amount of $52,500.00.

A "community claim" is a "claim that arose before the commencement of the case concerning the debtor for which property of the kind specified in section 541(a)(2) is liable [estate community property], whether or not there is any such property at the time of the commencement of the case." §101(7).

"The Bankruptcy Code's distribution scheme regarding community property is generally intended to parallel state law." In re Cohen, 522 B.R. 232, 240 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2014). California Family Code §910(a) provides that "the community estate is liable for a debt incurred by either spouse before or during marriage, regardless of which spouse has the management and control of the property and regardless of whether one or both spouses are parties to the debt or to a judgment for the debt." For purposes of §910(a), "during marriage" does not include the period after the parties are separated.

The Trustee asserts that both claims are post-separation claims of the Debtor, not community claims. The Court notes that according to the Petition for Dissolution of Marriage that the Debtor filed in the Family Court, the Debtor separated from Ronald on March 18, 2010. A review of the claims indicates that the indebtedness asserted by each claimant was incurred subsequent to March 18, 2010. The Court agrees with the Trustee that the claims are not community claims.

The Trustee proposes to distribute the Sale Proceeds as follows:

Chapter 7

- 1) First, all remaining expenses of administration will be paid.
- 2) Second, the remaining funds will be divided in half, one half allocable to the Debtor and the other half allocable to Ronald.
- 3) Third, the Debtor's separate debts will be paid from the half allocable to the Debtor.
- 4) Fourth, Ronald's half will be divided as follows:
 - a) The Debtor's spousal support lien of $69,186 (plus any additional interest owing as of the date of payment) will be paid in full; and
 - b) The balance will be paid to Ronald.

The Trustee's proposed distribution is consistent with § 726(c). The Court has previously found that the Trustee is authorized to pay administrative expenses from the estate's community property (see Section I.A.4, above). Nothing in the record establishes cause for the Court to depart from its previous finding.

After all remaining expenses of administration have been paid, the Trustee proposes to divided the remaining funds in half, with one half allocable to the Debtor and the other half allocable to Ronald. The post-separation claims against the Debtor will then be paid from the half allocable to the Debtor.

Once the remaining funds have been divided, the Debtor's share of such funds will no longer constitute community property. Instead, such funds will be property of the estate liable for the separate property claims against the Debtor asserted by Shaco and Settle. Such funds may be distributed to these claimants pursuant to § 726(c)(2)(C). Faced with similar facts, this was exactly the result reached by the court in In re Herrera, No. AP 16-90131-MM, 2017 WL 5473768, at *10 (Bankr. S.D. Cal. Nov. 13, 2017), aff'd sub nom. Herrera v. Pons, No. 17-CV-2392-GPC-NLS, 2018 WL 2229369 (S.D. Cal. May 16, 2018). The Herrera court found that proceeds of a community property asset could be distributed to pay the Debtor's post-separation debts pursuant to §726(c)(2), but only after the non-debtor had received his half of those proceeds. Id. at *10.

The Trustee proposes to pay the Debtor's Support Lien from Ronald's half of the proceeds. This result is consistent with § 726(c) and the Court's prior rulings. In connection with the Sale Motion, the Court found that Ronald's half of the proceeds remained subject to the Support Lien. It is therefore appropriate for the Support Lien to be paid from Ronald's share.

Ronald argues that the Support Lien should not be paid from his share because he has filed a motion before the Family Court attacking the Support Lien. Ronald's argument lacks merit. What matters for purposes of the instant Motion is that the Support Lien remains enforceable against Ronald. Of course, Ronald is free to take whatever actions he deems necessary to secure his rights before the Family Court. Nonetheless, principles of comity do not permit this Court to disregard the Support Lien simply because Ronald contends that he will shortly convince the Family Court to modify the Support Lien.

Ronald next argues that the Debtor's alleged bad-faith concealment of the Property requires the Trustee to disregard the fact that Ronald's half of the Sale Proceeds remain encumbered by the Support Lien by not paying anything to the Debtor on account of the Support Lien. In support of his position, Ronald points to § 522(g), which prevents "a debtor from claiming an exemption in recovered property which was transferred in a manner giving rise to the trustee's avoiding powers, where the transfer was voluntary or where the transfer or property interest was concealed." Hitt v. Glass (In re Glass), 164 B.R. 759, 761 (9th Cir. BAP 1994).

"Property interests are created and defined by state law. Unless some federal interest requires a different result, there is no reason why such interests should be analyzed differently simply because an interested party is involved in a bankruptcy proceeding." Butner v. United States, 440 U.S. 48, 55, 99 S. Ct. 914, 918, 59 L. Ed. 2d 136 (U.S. 1979). The Support Lien is a property interest of the Debtor arising under California law. Assuming arguendo that the Debtor did conceal the Property in bad faith as alleged by Ronald, this still would not warrant disregarding the Support Lien. There is no provision in the Bankruptcy Code that allows the Court to abrogate property rights arising in connection with a marital dissolution proceeding simply because a debtor has assertedly concealed assets from the Trustee.

Ronald's theory that the Debtor's alleged bad faith concealment compels the Trustee to withhold payment of the Sale Proceeds from the Debtor is foreclosed by Law v. Siegel, 134 S.Ct. 1188 (2014). In Law, the Supreme Court held that the Bankruptcy Court lacked the ability to surcharge the debtor's homestead exemption to compensate the Trustee for attorneys' fees incurred overcoming the debtor's fraudulent misrepresentations. The Court held that the surcharge was unauthorized because "it contravened a specific provision of the Code." Id. at 1195.

Here, the Court has held that Ronald's portion of the Sale Proceeds are encumbered by the Support Lien in favor of the Debtor. Section 363(e) requires the Court to provide adequate protection to entities holding an interest in estate property. Directing the Trustee to withhold payment of the Support Lien to the Debtor, where the estate property held by the Trustee remains subject to that Support Lien, is in contravention of § 363(e).

III. Conclusion

Based upon the foregoing, the Trustee's Motion to Intervene is GRANTED. The Court will dismiss the Complaint's claim for declaratory relief for failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted. The Trustee's Second Disbursement Motion is GRANTED.

#100.00 HearingRE: [11] Motion for Default Judgment

Docket 11

Tentative Ruling:

3/5/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Motion for Default Judgment is DENIED.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Plaintiff's Motion for Default Judgment Under LBR 7055-1 [Doc. No. 11]
 - a) Proof of Service [Doc. No. 15]
- 2) No opposition to the Motion is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Thomas Ernesto Merino (the "Debtor/Defendant") filed a voluntary Chapter 7 petition on December 27, 2018. On December 27, 2018, Star Rae Foreman ("Plaintiff"), proceeding pro se, filed a Complaint for Determination of Dischargeability and Objecting to Debtor's Discharge [Doc. No. 1] (the "Complaint"). Among other things, the Complaint alleges that the Debtor/Defendant is indebted to Plaintiff in an amount in excess of $12,000 for renting to Plaintiff a substandard and non-permitted apartment. Plaintiff seeks a judgment that the indebtedness is non-dischargeable pursuant to § 523(a)(2)(A) and (a)(6). Plaintiff further alleges that Debtor/Defendant's discharge should be denied, pursuant to § 727(a)(3), (a)(4)(A), (a)(4)(B), and (a)(4)(D).

Debtor/Defendant has not responded to the Complaint. Plaintiff moves for entry of default judgment against Debtor/Defendant.

On February 8, 2019, the Clerk of the Court (the "Clerk") denied Plaintiff's request for entry of default, because Plaintiff had not attached a Proof of Service and copy of the Summons to the request, had not attached a Proof of Service of the request on the Debtor/Defendant, and had not attached the declaration required by Local Bankruptcy Rule ("LBR") 7055-1(a). Doc. No. 12.

On February 15, 2019, the Clerk denied Plaintiff's renewed request for entry of default, because the Summons had not been served upon the Debtor/Defendant before it expired. Doc. No. 19.

Debtor/Defendant has not filed an opposition to the Motion for Default Judgment.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Service of a Summons and Complaint is governed by Civil Rule 4, made applicable to these proceedings by Bankruptcy Rule 7004. Civil Rule 4(c) provides that a "summons must be served with a complaint."

The Clerk issued a Summons on January 7, 2019. Doc. No. 6. Plaintiff served the Complaint—but not the Summons issued by the Clerk—upon the Debtor/Defendant on January 3, 2019. Doc. No. 7. (As of January 3, 2019, the Clerk had not yet issued the Summons; thus, it was not possible for Plaintiff to have served both the Summons and the Complaint. A Summons not signed and sealed by the Clerk (such as a blank summons form) is not sufficient because it "does not confer personal jurisdiction over the defendant." Ayres v. Jacobs & Crumplar, P.A., 99 F.3d 565, 569-70 (3d Cir. 1996).) Plaintiff subsequently served the Summons, not accompanied by a copy of the Complaint, upon the Debtor/Defendant. Doc. No. 16. The exact date of service of the Summons is not clear because the handwriting on the Proof of Service is not legible. As best the Court can determine, it appears that the Summons was served on January 14, 2019.

By not serving the Summons concurrently with the Complaint, Plaintiff failed to comply with the requirements of Civil Rule 4(c), which provides that a "summons must be served with a complaint." Debtor/Defendant was not required to respond to a Complaint that was not properly served. Accordingly, the Motion for Default Judgment is DENIED.

By no later than March 15, 2019, Plaintiff shall request a new Summons from the Clerk. Plaintiff shall then serve the Summons and Complaint TOGETHER upon the Debtor/Defendant in the manner prescribed by Bankruptcy Rule 7004. By no later than March 22, 2019, Plaintiff shall file a Proof of Service establishing compliance with the requirements of Bankruptcy Rule 7004.

The Status Conference, set for March 12, 2019, at 10:00 a.m., is VACATED. Upon issuance of the alias Summons, the Clerk will issue an updated Scheduling Order setting forth the dates that will govern litigation of this action, including the date upon which a continued Status Conference will take place.

Chapter 11

Monge Property Investments, Inc. (the "Debtor") filed a voluntary Chapter 11 petition on May 31, 2012 (the "Petition Date"). The Debtor owns and operates three parcels of residential real property located at the following addresses: (1) 5908 1/2 Fayette St., Los Angeles, CA 90042 (the "Residence"); (2) 5908 Fayette St., Los Angeles, CA 90042 (the "Fayette Property"); and (3) 942-44 Marine Ave., Wilmington, CA 90744 (the "Marine Property"). The Debtor is operating its business and managing its financial affairs as a debtor-in-possession.

On August 20, 2018, the Court entered an order approving the adequacy of the Debtor's Disclosure Statement [Doc. No. 729]. The Debtor has served its solicitation package for confirmation of a plan of reorganization [See Doc. Nos. 682, 732, 733 and 734], but the confirmation hearing has been continued several times by agreement between the Debtor and certain parties as a result of the Debtor's inability to consummate a previously approved sale of the Residence after the buyer backed out.

Summary of the Sale Motion

The Debtor presently seeks an order authorizing the sale of the Fayette Property so that it can use the sale proceeds to fund necessary effective date payments proposed under its chapter 11 plan and satisfy the feasibility requirements for plan confirmation.

On August 22, 2014, the Court entered the Order Approving the Debtor's Application to Employ Vu Ly (the "Broker") as Real Estate Broker [Doc. No. 323]. The Debtor listed the Fayette Property for sale with the Broker on August 2, 2018. After a period of marketing the Fayette Property, including a series of price reductions, the Debtor entered into negotiations with Quay Tran and Linda Lam (the "Proposed Buyers") for the sale of the Fayette Property for a purchase price of $730,000, subject to overbids. The sale is on an "as-is, where-is" basis.

The Debtor believes that the proposed sale of the Fayette Property will generate approximately $492,998 of net proceeds for the Estate. Therefore, the Debtor seeks an order: (a) authorizing the sale of the Property to the Proposed Buyers free and clear of all liens, claims, and interests; (b) approving the proposed overbid procedures; (c) determining that the Proposed Buyers are good faith purchasers; (d) authorizing payment of commissions set forth in the Sale Motion at the close of escrow; and (e) waiving the fourteen-day stay prescribed by Rule 6004(h) of the Federal Rules of The key sale terms are as follows:

- 1) Proposed buyers: Quay Tran and Linda Lam (the "Proposed Buyers")
- 2) Property for sale: 5908 Fayette Street, Los Angeles, CA 90042
- 3) Purchase price: $730,000
- 4) Overbids: The initial overbid shall be $15,000; subsequent overbids shall be in the amount of $5,000. The overbid increment is subject to adjustment by the Court to facilitate bidding. Overbidders shall advise the Debtor of their intent to overbid and the amount of such interested bidder's initial overbid no later than seventy-two hours prior to the hearing on the Sale Motion. Overbidders shall provide the Debtor with a cashier's check in the amount of $10,000 prior to the hearing on the Sale Motion.

Summary of JP Morgan Chase Bank's Limited Opposition

Senior secured creditor, JP Morgan Chase Bank, N.A. ("Chase"), filed a timely limited/conditional non-opposition (the "Limited Opposition") to the Sale Motion [Doc. No. 763]. Chase states that pursuant to a stipulation and order regarding Chase's claim treatment, the Debtor agreed to pay Chase in full pursuant to the terms of the original, pre-confirmation loan amount at the time of sale, in the event the Fayette Property is sold prior to confirmation of the Debtor's plan [Doc. Nos. 694 & 702]. Chase estimates that its total claim as of filing the Limited Opposition was $165,121.41 [Note 1]

Based upon the foregoing, Chase states that it consents to the proposed sale provided that its claim is paid in full directly from escrow and that the Debtor includes certain language in the sale order, as set forth on pages 5-6 of the Limited Opposition, that preserve Chase's rights.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, the Debtor has not filed a reply.

The IRS Stipulation and Order

On February 20, 2019, the United States of America acting on behalf of the Internal Revenue Service, on the one hand, and the Debtor, on the other hand, filed a stipulation resolving the IRS's opposition to the Sale Motion [Doc. No. 764] (the

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Section 363(b) of the Bankruptcy Code permits a debtor-in-possession to sell estate property outside the ordinary course of business, subject to court approval. The debtor-in-possession must articulate a business justification for the sale. In re Walter, 83 B.R. 14, 19–20 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1988). Whether the articulated business justification is sufficient "depends on the case," in view of "all salient factors pertaining to the proceeding." Id. at 19–20.

Here, the Debtor articulates a sufficient business justification for the sale. The Debtor believes the proposed sale of the Fayette Property is in the best interest of the Estate because the sale will generate significant cash proceeds for the Estate. Additionally, the Debtor believes that the sale price is reasonable considering that the Fayette Property was actively marketed for several months. Additionally, the sale is subject to overbids, which will further ensure that the Fayette Property is sold for the highest and best price.

The Court also finds that the Debtor has met the conditions for the sale of the Property free and clear of all liens. Section 363(f) permits a sale of property "free and clear of any interest in such property of an entity other than the estate" if any one of the following conditions is met:

- (1) applicable nonbankruptcy law permits the sale of such property free and clear of such interest;
- (2) such entity consents;
- (3) such interest is a lien and the price at which such property is to be sold is greater than the aggregate value of all liens on such property;
- (4) such interest is in bona fide dispute; or
- (5) such entity could be compelled, in a legal or equitable proceeding, to accept a

11 U.S.C. § 363(f).

In this case, the Court finds that the Sale Motion satisfies the requirements of § 363(f)(3). The price at which the Property will be sold ($730,000) is greater than the aggregate value of all liens on the Fayette Property. However, Chase's Limited Opposition is sustained. The Debtor is directed to coordinate with Chase to submit a proposed Sale Order incorporating the language set forth in the Limited Opposition.

The Court has reviewed the declaration submitted on behalf of the Proposed Buyers and finds that the buyers are good faith purchasers within the meaning of § 363(m). Accordingly, if the Proposed Buyers are the successful bidders at the auction, the Court will approve an order making a § 363(m) finding.

Auction Procedures

The Court will distribute numbered auction paddles to the proposed purchaser and all qualified overbidders. The initial overbid will be $15,000. Subsequent overbids will be increments of $5,000, with the increments subject to adjustment by the Court depending upon the bidding. The Court will announce each bid level. To remain in the auction, bidders must participate at all bid levels. That is, parties who do not bid in a round cannot later change their minds and re-enter the auction. Parties may make a bid higher than that announced by the Court by approaching the podium and stating their bid.

If a bidder other than the Proposed Buyers prevails at the auction, the Court will take testimony to determine whether that bidder is entitled to the protections of § 363(m). If that buyer does not personally appear or provide testimony, the Court will not make a § 363(m) finding.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the Sale Motion is GRANTED. The Court will conduct the auction in accordance with the procedures set forth above.

Tentative Ruling: Denied.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Notice of Motion and Motion for Authority to File Complaint Under Seal [Doc. No. 9] (the "Motion")
- 2) No opposition to the Motion is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On February 5, 2019, Verity Health System of California, Inc., St. Vincent Medical Center, and St. Francis Medical Center (the "Plaintiffs") filed a redacted Complaint for Turnover, Unjust Enrichment, Damages for Violation of the Automatic Stay, and Injunctive Relief [Doc. No. 1] (the "Redacted Complaint") against Heritage Provider Network, Inc. (the "Defendant"). Plaintiffs now seek authorization to file an unredacted version of the Complaint under seal.

Plaintiffs state that Defendant has taken the position that Plaintiffs may not divulge portions of the Redacted Complaint. Plaintiffs do not agree with Defendant's position. However, Plaintiffs state that Defendant would not permit Plaintiffs to file an unredacted version of the Redacted Complaint. Plaintiffs' counsel has discussed limiting the redactions with Defendant, but the discussions have proved unsuccessful. Because Defendant does not oppose the filing of an unredacted Complaint under seal, Plaintiffs seek such relief.

No opposition to the Motion is on file.

Chapter 11

II. Findings and Conclusions

Section 107(b) provides in relevant part: "On request of a party in interest, the bankruptcy court shall ... protect an entity with respect to a trade secret or confidential research, development, or commercial information." Commercial information is "information which would cause 'an unfair advantage to competitors by providing them information as to the commercial operations'" of the party seeking protection. In re Orion Pictures Corp., 21 F.3d 24, 27 (2d Cir. 1994) (internal citations omitted).

Here, Plaintiffs seek to file a complaint under seal. The Redacted Complaint on file with the Court contains so many redactions that it is not possible for the Court to determine the wrongdoing alleged.

Plaintiffs have not established that a complaint which contains mere allegations of wrongdoing constitutes a trade secret or confidential research, development, or commercial information within the meaning of § 107(b). It is difficult for the Court to envision how a complaint could ever fall within the scope of § 107(b), since it merely alleges that the Defendant has engaged in conduct giving rise to liability. Mere allegations are not facts, and are therefore not "information" subject to protection under § 107(b).

Even if the allegations of a complaint did qualify as "information" subject to protection under § 107(b), the evidence in the record does not support the granting of the relief requested. Bankruptcy Courts "must 'carefully and skeptically review sealing requests to insure that there really is an extraordinary circumstance or compelling need' to seal the documents at issue. The reason is simple—court records are public records, and sealing abridges the public's right to know." In re Faucett, 438 B.R. 564, 568 (Bankr. W.D. Tex. 2010).

Here, Plaintiffs have not identified, even in broad terms, the nature of the information which Defendant contends is protected from disclosure. Nor have Plaintiffs identified the extraordinary circumstances or the compelling supporting the request to file the Complaint under seal. The Motion states only that "Defendant contends that the matters redacted from the Complaint may not be publicly disclosed." Kahn Decl. at ¶ 3.

Further, and perhaps more importantly, permitting the filing of the complaint under seal would severely compromise Court's ability to adjudicate the matters at issue in this proceeding. The redactions are so extensive that the Court is unable to determine the wrongdoing that is alleged. Were the Court to permit Plaintiffs to file the Complaint under seal, it would not be possible for the Court to hear any number of standard litigation motions unless the hearings on such motions were also conducted under seal. For example, the hearing on a Civil Rule 12(b)(6) Motion would have to remain sealed, as such a hearing would inevitably result in the disclosure of the Complaint's redacted allegations. In issuing tentative rulings on matters concerning the Complaint the Court itself may conceivably be violate its own redaction order. When issuing tentatives and crafting orders the Court would need to be extra vigilant that it was not airing information covered by the redaction. In fact, it could not do so considering the broad scope of the redactions.

Litigating an entire action in secrecy is not in the public interest and will not be countenanced by the Court. "The right of public access to judicial records ... is 'fundamental to a democratic state' and is analogous to the First Amendment right to freedom of speech and of the press and to the Sixth Amendment guarantee of public trials." In re Inslaw, Inc., 51 B.R. 298, 299 (Bankr. D.D.C. 1985).

Based upon the foregoing, the Motion is DENIED.

3/7/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1) for cause to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to repossess or otherwise obtain possession and dispose of its collateral pursuant to applicable law, and to use the proceeds from its disposition to satisfy its claim. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. The Court takes judicial notice of the Chapter 7 Individual Debtor's Statement of Intention in which the Debtor stated an intention not to assume his lease of the vehicle.

This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. The 14-day stay prescribed by FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived. All other relief is denied.

Movant shall upload an appropriate order via the Court's Lodged Order Upload system within 7 days of the hearing.

Docket 1

 VACATED  REASON: CONTINUED 5-14-19 AT 10:00 A.M.

Tentative Ruling:

1/14/2019

The Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee") shall appear to respond to the Court's concerns, set forth below.

The Trustee has collected and is holding receivables in the amount of $23,117.15 in a segregated account (the "Segregated Funds"). The Segregated Funds are encumbered by security interests asserted by Defendants FinishLine Capital, Inc., ML Factors Funding, LLC, Last Chance Funding, Inc., TVT Capital, LLC, Complete Business Solutions Group, Inc., Karish Kapital LLC, and Yellowstone Capital West, LLC. The Trustee is unable to determine which Defendant is entitled to the Segregated Funds. The Trustee is willing to deliver the Segregated Funds to whichever Defendant is entitled to receive them.

Pursuant to Cal. Code Civ. Proc. § 386, the Trustee seeks the following relief:

- 1) An order directing the Clerk of the Court to hold the Segregated Funds pending determination of the rights of the Defendants;
- 2) An order requiring Defendants to litigate their respective rights and claims in and to the Segregated Funds;
- 3) An order discharging the Trustee from any and all liability on account of

- the claims of each of the Defendants in and to the Segregated Funds; and
- 4) An award of costs and reasonable attorneys' fees, to be determined by the Court and paid out of the Segregated Funds.

Each Defendant was required to respond to the Complaint by no later than October 17, 2018. None of the Defendants have responded to the Complaint. In his Unilateral Status Report, the Trustee states that he intends to file a motion to deposit the Segregated Funds to the Court's registry.

Cal. Code Civ. Proc. § 386 provides:

Any person, firm, corporation, association or other entity against whom double or multiple claims are made, or may be made, by two or more persons which are such that they may give rise to double or multiple liability, may bring an action against the claimants to compel them to interplead and litigate their several claims.

In Dial 800 v. Fesbinder, 118 Cal. App. 4th 32, 42–43, 12 Cal. Rptr. 3d 711, 718 (2004), as modified (May 5, 2004), the California Court of Appeal explained the purpose and structure of interpleader actions brought under Cal. Code Civ. Proc. § 386:

In an interpleader action, the court initially determines the right of the plaintiff to interplead the funds; if that right is sustained, an interlocutory decree is entered which requires the defendants to interplead and litigate their claims to the funds. Upon an admission of liability and deposit of monies with the court, the plaintiff then may be discharged from liability and dismissed from the interpleader action. The effect of such an order is to preserve the fund, discharge the stakeholder from further liability, and to keep the fund in the court's custody until the rights of the potential claimants of the monies can be adjudicated. Thus, the interpleader proceeding is traditionally viewed as two lawsuits in one. The first dispute is between the stakeholder and the claimants to determine the right to interplead the funds. The second dispute to be resolved is who is to receive the interpleaded funds.

Dial 800, 118 Cal. App. 4th at 42–43 (internal citations omitted).

To satisfy his right to interplead the funds, the Trustee must "show that the defendants make conflicting claims" to the funds, and that the Trustee "cannot safely determine which claim is valid ..." Placer Foreclosure, Inc. v. Aflalo, 23 Cal. App. 5th 1109, 1113, 233 Cal. Rptr. 3d 694, 697 (Ct. App. 2018).

The Trustee shall appear at the hearing to address the following issues. First, the Court requires a further explanation regarding why the Trustee "cannot safely determine" which of the claims asserted by the Defendants is valid. Placer Foreclosure, 23 Cal. App. 5th at 1113. The Complaint alleges that each Defendant has recorded UCC financing statements against the Debtor's assets with the California Secretary of State. It is unclear to the Court why the Trustee cannot determine which Defendant is entitled to the funds by examining the priority of the security interests asserted by the Defendants.

Second, the Court requires further information regarding the Trustee's plans to resolve this action given the failure of any of the Defendants to respond to the Complaint. Seven entities have asserted security interests against the Segregated Funds, which amount to only $23,117.15. In the event the Court determines that the Trustee is entitled to be paid reasonable attorneys' fees from the Segregated Funds, the amount available to the Defendants will be even less. Given the small amount at issue, it would not be surprising if one or more of the Defendants continued to decline to respond to the litigation. If the Defendants refuse to participate in the litigation, how can the Court determine which Defendant is entitled to the funds?

#5.00 Status Hearing

RE: [1] Adversary case 2:18-ap-01403. Complaint by Timothy J. Yoo against Eduardo Infanzon Gutierrez. (Charge To Estate). Complaint to Avoid and Recover Fraudulent Transfer [11 U.S.C. §§ 542, 544, 550 and California Civil Code § 3439, et seq.] Nature of Suit: (13 (Recovery of money/property - 548 fraudulent transfer)) (Burstein, Richard)

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

3/11/2019

The Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee") filed a Complaint to Avoid and Recover Fraudulent Transfer [Doc. No. 1] (the "Complaint") on November 28, 2018, commencing this action. The Complaint alleges that the action is a core proceeding and that the Trustee consents to final judgment by the Bankruptcy Court. Complaint at ¶ 7.

On January 2, 2019, Defendant filed an Answer to the Complaint, in which he admitted the Complaint's jurisdictional allegations. See Answer at ¶ 1.a. (stating that Defendant denies "each and every allegation in the Complaint," with the exception of, inter alia, the allegations set forth in ¶ 7 [the jurisdictional allegations], "which are admitted as true ...").

On December 6, 2018, the Court issued a Scheduling Order [Doc. No. 3-1], which the Trustee served upon the Defendant on December 10, 2018. Doc. No. 8. The Scheduling Order provides in relevant part:

Any party contesting this Court's authority to enter a final order or judgment in this matter must file and serve a written objection no later than ten days prior to the date set for the first status conference. See Wellness Int'l Network, Ltd. v. Sharif, 135 S. Ct. 1932 (2015). Failure to raise the issue in accordance with the requirements set forth above will be deemed consent to this court's authority to enter a final order or judgment.

Chapter 7

Scheduling Order at ¶ 6.

In the Joint Status Report [Doc. No. 10] filed on February 26, 2019, Defendant checked the box indicating that he did not consent to entry of a final judgment by the Bankruptcy Court. However, Defendant did not file a written objection to the Bankruptcy Court's entry of final judgment, as required by the Scheduling Order. Therefore, Defendant is deemed to consent to the Bankruptcy Court's authority to enter a final judgment.

Defendant's failure to object to entry of final judgment by the Bankruptcy Court in his Answer similarly constitutes consent to the Bankruptcy Court's entry of final judgment. Bankruptcy Rule 7012 provides: "A responsive pleading shall include a statement that the party does or does not consent to entry of final orders or judgment by the bankruptcy court." Defendant did not state whether he consented to entry of final judgment by the Bankruptcy Court in his Answer. Civil Rule 8(b)(6) provides that "[a]n allegation ... is admitted if a responsive pleading is required and the allegation is not denied." In his Answer, Defendant admitted without qualification all the allegations set forth in ¶ 7 of the Complaint. Paragraph 7 of the Complaint provides:

This Court has jurisdiction over this proceeding pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 157(b)(1) and 1334(a) and General Order No. 13-05 of the United States District Court for the Central District of California. This is a core proceeding under 28 U.S.C § 157(b)(1), 2(E) and 2(H). The Trustee consents to final judgment by the Bankruptcy Court.

By admitting the allegations of ¶ 7 in their entirety and by failing to object anywhere in the Answer to entry of final judgment by the Bankruptcy Court, Defendant admitted that the Bankruptcy Court has core jurisdiction and consented to entry of final judgment by the Bankruptcy Court.

For these reasons, the objection asserted by Defendant in the Joint Status Report to the Bankruptcy Court's entry of final judgment is OVERRULED.

Having reviewed the Joint Status Report filed by the parties, the Court HEREBY ORDERS as follows:

- 1) The litigation deadlines previously ordered shall continue to apply, as follows:
 - a) The last day to amend pleadings and/or join other parties is 4/11/2019.
 - b) The last day to disclose expert witnesses and expert witness reports is

- c) The last day to disclose rebuttal expert witnesses and rebuttal expert witness reports is 8/29/2019.
- d) The last date to complete discovery relating to expert witnesses (e.g., depositions of expert witnesses), including hearings on motions related to expert discovery, is 9/17/2019. (For contemplated hearings on motions related to expert discovery, it is counsel's responsibility to check the Judge's self-calendaring dates, posted on the Court's website. If the expert discovery cutoff date falls on a date when the court is closed or that is not available for self-calendaring, the deadline for hearings on expert discovery motions is the next closest date which is available for self-calendaring.)
- e) The last day for dispositive motions to be heard is 9/24/2019. (If the motion cutoff date is not available for self-calendaring, the deadline for dispositive motions to be heard is the next closest date which is available for self-calendaring.)
- f) The last day to complete discovery (except as to experts), including hearings on discovery motions, is 9/28/2019. (If the non-expert discovery cutoff date is not available for self-calendaring, the deadline for non-expert discovery motions to be heard is the next closest date which is available for self-calendaring.)
- g) A Pretrial Conference is set for 10/15/2019 at 11:00 a.m. By no later than fourteen days prior to the Pretrial Conference, the parties must submit a Joint Pretrial Stipulation via the Court's Lodged Order Upload (LOU) system. Submission via LOU allows the Court to edit the Joint Pretrial Stipulation, if necessary. Parties should consult the Court Manual, section 4, for information about LOU.
- h) In addition to the procedures set forth in Local Bankruptcy Rule 7016-1(b), the following procedures govern the conduct of the Pretrial Conference and the preparation of the Pretrial Stipulation:
 - i) By no later than thirty days prior to the Pretrial Conference, the parties must exchange copies of all exhibits which each party intends to introduce into evidence (other than exhibits to be used solely for impeachment or rebuttal).

The Motion in Limine must contain a statement of the specific prejudice that will be suffered by the moving party if the Motion is not granted. The Motion must be supported by a memorandum of points and authorities containing citations to the applicable Federal Rules of Evidence, relevant caselaw, and other legal authority. Blanket or boilerplate evidentiary objections not accompanied by detailed supporting argument are prohibited, will be summarily overruled, and may subject the moving party to sanctions.

- iii) The failure of a party to file a Motion in Limine complying with the requirements of ¶(1)(h)(ii) shall be deemed a waiver of any objections to the admissibility of an exhibit.
 - iv) Motions in Limine seeking to exclude testimony to be offered by any witness shall comply with the requirements set forth in ¶(1)(h)(ii), and shall be filed by the deadline specified in ¶(1)(h)(ii). The failure of a party to file a Motion in Limine shall be deemed a waiver of any objections to the admissibility of a witness's testimony.
 - i) Trial is set for the week of 10/28/2019. The trial day commences at 9:00 a.m. The exact date of the trial will be set at the Pretrial Conference. Consult the Court's website for the Judge's requirements regarding exhibit binders and trial briefs.
- 2) The matter shall be referred to the Mediation Panel. The parties shall meet and confer and select a Mediator from this District's Mediation Panel. Plaintiff will lodge a completed "Request for Assignment to Mediation Program; [Proposed] Order Thereon" (See Amended General Order 95-01 available on the Court's website) within 15 days from the date of this hearing, and deliver a hard copy directly to chambers c/o the judge's law clerk Daniel Koontz.

Chicago, IL 60015

The address at which the Plaintiff served the Complaint is not the address for Defendant's Agent for Service of Process; it is the address of the company's corporate headquarters. Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 7004, a domestic corporation may be served by mailing a copy of the Summons and Complaint to the attention of an officer or a managing or general agent. Although the Summons and Complaint were sent to the address at which the Defendant's president conducts business, the mailing was not addressed to the attention of the president or any other corporate officer. The mailing instead was to the attention of CT Corporation System, the Defendant's Agent for Service of Process, which conducts business at a different address.

The Plaintiff is not required to re-serve the Summons and Complaint. However, to ensure that Defendant has received proper notice, the Plaintiff shall re-serve the Motion upon the following addresses:

Baxter Healthcare Corporation
Attn: Brik V. Eyre, President
1 Baxter Pkwy
Deerfield, IL 60015

Baxter Healthcare Corporation
c/o CT Corporation System
CT Corporation System
208 So. LaSalle St., Ste. 814
Chicago, IL 60015

The Motion shall be re-served by no later than January 22, 2019. A continued Status Conference shall be held on March 12, 2019, at 10:00 a.m. A Status Report shall be filed by no later than fourteen days prior to the hearing.

The Court will prepare and enter an appropriate order.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Jessica Vogel or Daniel Koontz at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

3/11/2019

The Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors of Gardens Regional Hospital and Medical Center, Inc. (the "Plaintiff") filed the instant Complaint for Avoidance and Recovery of Preferential Transfers Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §§ 547 and 550 [Doc. No. 1] (the "Complaint") against UC Irvine Medical Center (the "Defendant") on June 6, 2018. On November 2, 2018, the Clerk of the Court entered Defendant's default. Doc. No. 31.

On January 18, 2019, the Court denied Plaintiff's Motion for Default Judgment, based on Plaintiff's failure to properly serve the Summons and Complaint. Doc. Nos. 41-42. On February 1, 2019, the Court approved a stipulation between Plaintiff and Defendant to set aside the default. Doc. No. 46. On March 1, 2019, Defendant answered the Complaint. Doc. No. 50.

Shortly after the Complaint was filed, the Court issued a Scheduling Order [Doc. No. 3], which provides in relevant part:

Any party contesting this Court's authority to enter a final order or judgment in this matter must file and serve a written objection no later than ten days prior to the date set for the first status conference. See Wellness Int'l Network, Ltd. v. Sharif, 135 S. Ct. 1932 (2015). Failure to raise the issue in accordance with the requirements set forth above will be deemed consent to this court's authority to enter a final order or judgment.

Scheduling Order at ¶ 6.

In a Unilateral Status Report [Doc. No. 53] filed on March 1, 2019, Defendant checked the box indicating that it did not consent to entry of a final judgment by the Bankruptcy Court. Defendant did not file a written objection to the Bankruptcy Court's entry of final judgment, as required by the Scheduling Order. However, there is no indication that Plaintiff ever served the Scheduling Order upon the Defendant. Therefore, Defendant may not have been aware of the necessity of filing a written objection in order to contest the Bankruptcy Court's authority to enter final judgment.

If Defendant wishes to contest the Bankruptcy Court's authority to enter final judgment, it must file a written objection by no later than March 26, 2019. If Defendant does not timely object, it will be deemed to have consented to the Bankruptcy Court's entry of final judgment. If Defendant does timely object, the issue of the Court's authority to enter final judgment shall stand submitted as of the date of Defendant's objection. In the event a hearing is required, the parties will be so notified.

Having reviewed the Joint Status Report submitted by the parties, the Court HEREBY ORDERS that the following litigation deadlines shall apply:

- 1) The last day to amend pleadings and/or join other parties is 4/11/2019.
- 2) The last day to disclose expert witnesses and expert witness reports is 7/30/2019.
- 3) The last day to disclose rebuttal expert witnesses and rebuttal expert witness reports is 8/29/2019.
- 4) The last date to complete discovery relating to expert witnesses (e.g., depositions of expert witnesses), including hearings on motions related to expert discovery, is 9/17/2019. (For contemplated hearings on motions related to expert discovery, it is counsel's responsibility to check the Judge's self-calendaring dates, posted on the Court's website. If the expert discovery cutoff date falls on a date when the court is closed or that is not available for self-calendaring, the deadline for hearings on expert discovery motions is the next closest date which is available for self-calendaring.)
- 5) The last day for dispositive motions to be heard is 9/24/2019. (If the motion cutoff date is not available for self-calendaring, the deadline for dispositive

(If the non-expert discovery cutoff date is not available for self-calendaring, the deadline for non-expert discovery motions to be heard is the next closest date which is available for self-calendaring.)
- 7) A Pretrial Conference is set for 10/15/2019 at 11:00 a.m. By no later than fourteen days prior to the Pretrial Conference, the parties must submit a Joint Pretrial Stipulation via the Court's Lodged Order Upload (LOU) system. Submission via LOU allows the Court to edit the Joint Pretrial Stipulation, if necessary. Parties should consult the Court Manual, section 4, for information about LOU.
- 8) In addition to the procedures set forth in Local Bankruptcy Rule 7016-1(b), the following procedures govern the conduct of the Pretrial Conference and the preparation of the Pretrial Stipulation:
 - a) By no later than thirty days prior to the Pretrial Conference, the parties must exchange copies of all exhibits which each party intends to introduce into evidence (other than exhibits to be used solely for impeachment or rebuttal).
 - b) When preparing the Pretrial Stipulation, all parties shall stipulate to the admissibility of exhibits whenever possible. In the event any party cannot stipulate to the admissibility of an exhibit, that party must file a Motion in Limine which clearly identifies each exhibit alleged to be inadmissible and/or prejudicial. The moving party must set the Motion in Limine for hearing at the same time as the Pretrial Conference; notice and service of the Motion shall be governed by LBR 9013-1. The Motion in Limine must contain a statement of the specific prejudice that will be suffered by the moving party if the Motion is not granted. The Motion must be supported by a memorandum of points and authorities containing citations to the applicable Federal Rules of Evidence, relevant caselaw, and other legal authority. Blanket or boilerplate evidentiary objections not accompanied by detailed supporting argument are prohibited, will be summarily overruled, and may subject the moving party to sanctions.
 - c) The failure of a party to file a Motion in Limine complying with the requirements of ¶(8)(b) shall be deemed a waiver of any objections to the

- d) Motions in Limine seeking to exclude testimony to be offered by any witness shall comply with the requirements set forth in ¶(8)(b) and shall be filed by the deadline specified in ¶(8)(b). The failure of a party to file a Motion in Limine shall be deemed a waiver of any objections to the admissibility of a witness's testimony.
- 9) Trial is set for the week of 10/28/2019. The trial day commences at 9:00 a.m. The exact date of the trial will be set at the Pretrial Conference. Consult the Court's website for the Judge's requirements regarding exhibit binders and trial briefs.

The Court will prepare and enter a Scheduling Order.

Docket 44

Tentative Ruling:

3/11/2019

Tentative Ruling:

For the reasons set forth below, the Extension Motion is GRANTED.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed

1. Motion of the United States Trustee to Extend Filing Deadline to Dismiss Case Under 11 U.S.C. § 707(b) or Deny Debtor's Discharge Under 11 U.S.C. § 727 for the United States Trustee [Doc. No. 44] (the "Extension Motion")
2. Notice of Extension Motion [Doc. No. 46]
3. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Dorothy Victoria Long (the "Debtor") filed this chapter 7 case on October 22, 2018 (the "Petition Date"). The first date set for the Debtor's § 341(a) Meeting of Creditors was November 27, 2018. Accordingly, the deadline to object to the Debtor's discharge under § 727 or to file a motion to dismiss the case for abuse under § 707(b) was January 28, 2019. On January 10, 2019, the Office of the United States Trustee (the "UST") filed a statement pursuant to § 704(b)(1)(A) indicating that this case is presumed to be an abuse of the provisions of chapter 7 of Title 11 [Doc. No. 36].

On January 28, 2019, the UST filed a timely motion seeking to extend the time to object to entry of the Debtor's discharge pursuant to § 727 or to file a motion to dismiss this case pursuant to § 707(b) for sixty days, to and including March 28, 2019. The UST states that as a result of the lapse in government appropriations, the UST and its staff were prohibited from working, even on a voluntary basis, except in limited circumstances. Accordingly, the UST was unable to complete the ongoing inquiry and investigation into this case.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Extensions of time to object to discharge are governed by Rule 4004(b) which provides, in relevant part:

(b) Extension of Time.

(1) On motion of any party in interest, after notice and hearing, the court may for cause extend the time to object to discharge. Except as provided in subdivision (b)(2), the motion shall be filed before the time has expired.

Fed. R. Bankr. P. 4004(b)(1).

Similarly, extensions of time to file a motion to dismiss a case for abuse under § 707(b) are governed by Rule 1017(e)(1), which provides, in relevant part:

... a motion to dismiss a case for abuse under § 707(b) or (c) may be filed only within 60 days after the first date set for the meeting of creditors under § 341(a), unless, on request filed before the time has expired, the court for cause extends the time for filing the motion to dismiss.

Fed. R. Bankr. P. 1017(e)(1).

The Court finds that the Extension Motion was timely filed before the expiration of the sixty-day deadline on January 28, 2019. Based upon the representations in the Extension Motion and the Declaration of Alvin Mar, the Court finds that the UST has established adequate cause to grant the UST a sixty-day extension, to and including

March 28, 2019, to file a complaint under § 727 or a motion under § 707(b).

For the reasons set forth above, the Extension Motion is GRANTED.

The UST is directed to lodge a conforming proposed order, incorporating the tentative ruling by reference, within 7 days of the hearing.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. Docket 1

 VACATED  REASON: CONTINUED 5-14-19 AT 11:00 A.M.

Tentative Ruling:

8/13/2018

This is an action to quiet title, brought by Raviner Kuma Bhatia and Johanna Arias-Bhatia against Fidel Ramirez. On August 15, 2011, Fidel Ramirez and Liduvina Ramirez commenced a voluntary Chapter 7 petition. The Ramirezes' case was closed on November 22, 2011.

Ramirez holds a Short Form Deed of Trust and Assignment of Rents (the "Deed of Trust") against property located at 721 N. Alta Vista Blvd, Los Angeles, CA 90046 (the "Property"). The Deed of Trust is dated February 27, 2007, but was not recorded until March 2, 2012. Ramirez failed to disclose the Deed of Trust in his Chapter 7 case. The Bhatias dispute the validity of the Deed of Trust.

On March 16, 2018, the Bhatias reached a settlement with Ramirez, under which the Bhatias agreed to pay Ramirez $31,000 to release the Deed of Trust. Solorzano Decl. at ¶4 [Doc. No. 25]; Motion to Reopen filed in Ramirez's Chapter 7 case [Doc. No. 17, Case No. 1:11-bk-17676-VK]. Recognizing that Ramirez had failed to disclose the Deed of Trust in his Chapter 7 case, the Bhatias notified the United States Trustee (the "UST") of the settlement. The UST filed a motion seeking to reopen Ramirez's case, which was granted on August 6, 2018. See Doc. No. 20, Case No. 1:11-bk-17676-VK. David K. Gottlieb ("Trustee Gottlieb") is serving as the Trustee in Ramirez's case.

Trustee Gottlieb requests that this Pretrial Conference be continued for 60–90 days, to allow him to investigate the facts of this action, and potentially substitute in as the real party-in-interest. The Bhatias likewise request a continuance.

It appears that any settlement proceeds payable to Ramirez are most likely an asset of Ramirez's estate, meaning that Trustee Gottlieb would be required to approve any settlement of this action. The Court finds it appropriate to continue the Pretrial Conference for 90 days to allow Trustee Gottlieb to determine whether the $31,000 proposed settlement is adequate. A continued Pretrial Conference shall be held on November 13, 2018, at 11:00 a.m. Unless a settlement of this action has been approved by the Court, a Joint Pretrial Order must be submitted, via the Court's Lodged Order Upload (LOU) system, by no later than fourteen days prior to the hearing. The trial is continued to the week of November 26, 2018.

The Court will prepare and enter an appropriate order.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Cameron Schlagel or Daniel Koontz at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. Hearing required to address the issues set forth below.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed

1. Notice of Motion and Motion Under 11 U.S.C. § 1112(b)(1) to Convert, Dismiss or Appoint a Chapter 11 Trustee With an Order Directing Payment of Quarterly Fees and For Judgment Thereon [Doc. No. 10] (the "Motion")

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Nandini, Inc. (the "Debtor") filed this voluntary chapter 11 case on December 24, 2018 (the "Petition Date"). The Office of the United States Trustee (the "UST") seeks conversion of this case to a case under chapter 7 based upon the following:

- i. To date, no Disclosure Statement or Plan of Reorganization has been filed;
- ii. Debtor has failed to:
 - a. File a notice of setting/increasing insider compensation;
 - b. Appear at the § 341(a) Meeting of Creditors;
 - c. Provide sufficient evidence of the Debtor's closing of all pre-petition bank accounts, including closing bank statements; and/or bank account

- d. Provide sufficient evidence of the opening and maintenance of three debtor-in-possession bank accounts;
 - e. Provide copies of the preceding two years of state and federal income tax returns and the most recent payroll and sales tax returns at the Initial Debtor Interview;
 - f. File monthly operating reports for December 2018 and January 2019; or
 - g. Pay 4th quarter 2018 UST fees (1st quarter 2019 currently accruing)

See Declaration of Maria A. Ramos (the "Ramos Decl.").

Based upon the foregoing, the UST asserts that cause exists under § 1112(b)(1) to convert, dismiss or appoint a chapter 11 trustee in this case. The UST has reviewed the Debtor's Schedules and recommends conversion because there appear to be real and personal property assets that a trustee could administer.

The Debtor filed a timely Opposition to the Motion. The Debtor concedes that as of the filing of the UST's Motion it was out of compliance with a number of reporting obligations. However, the Debtor states that many, if not all, of the issues have been resolved or will be fully resolved prior to the hearing on the Motion. Therefore, the Debtor argues that there are insufficient grounds to convert, dismiss or appoint a chapter 11 trustee in this case and requests that the Motion be denied.

The UST filed a timely Reply to the Opposition stating that the Debtor is still not in compliance with the following U.S. Trustee requirements: (i) Debtor-in-possession voided checks; (ii) closing bank statements for pre-petition bank accounts; (iii) copies of tax returns for the preceding two years; (iv) payment of U.S. Trustee fees for the period ending December 31, 2018; and (v) no monthly operating reports have been filed to date. [Note 1] The UST also highlights that despite failing to appear at the § 341(a) Meeting of Creditors, which the UST notes was scheduled on the docket and electronically served on Debtor's counsel, the Debtor has made no attempt to contact the UST to reschedule the meeting. Therefore, the UST submits that cause exists to convert this case.

Alternatively, the UST requests that the Court order the Debtor to remain in full and timely compliance with UST requirements and set deadlines for the Debtor to file a disclosure statement and plan. If the Debtor becomes delinquent, the UST requests the Court approve of the UST providing the Debtor with a one-time written notice of such delinquency and, if not cured within 7 days, permitting the UST to submit a declaration and proposed order converting this case without further notice to the Debtor or an opportunity for a hearing.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Under § 1112(b), the Court shall dismiss or convert a case to one under chapter 7 upon a showing of "cause." 11 U.S.C. § 1112(b). Section 1112(b)(4) provides a nonexclusive list of factors that constitute "cause," including in relevant part: "(B) gross mismanagement of the estate;" "(F) unexcused failure to satisfy timely any filing or reporting requirement established by this title or by any rule applicable to a case under this chapter;" "(H) failure to timely provide information or attend meetings reasonably required by the United States Trustee;" and "(J) failure to file a disclosure statement, or to file or confirm a plan, within the time fixed by this title or by order of the court." "The enumerated causes are not exhaustive, and 'the court will be able to consider other factors as they arise, and to use its equitable powers to reach an appropriate result in individual cases.'" In re Consolidated Pioneer Mortgage Entities, 248 B.R. 368, 375 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2000) (quoting H.R. No. 95-595, 95th Cong., 1st Sess. 405-06 (1977), aff'd, 264 F.3d 803 (9th Cir. 2001).

The Debtor and the UST are directed to appear to address whether there remain any outstanding deficiencies as of the time of the hearing and whether the Debtor and UST have scheduled a continued date for a § 341(a) Meeting.

If the Court determines that the Debtor is not in compliance by the time of the hearing, the Court is prepared to find that the UST has established "cause" within the meaning of § 1112(b)(4) to convert, dismiss or appoint a chapter 11 trustee in this case for the reasons set forth in the UST's Motion and Reply. The Court is further prepared to find that conversion, rather than dismissal or the appointment of a chapter 11 trustee, is in the best interest of creditors because it appears that there are valuable assets that a chapter 7 trustee could liquidate for the benefit of creditors.

Alternatively, if the Court is satisfied that the Debtor has cured the deficiencies identified by the UST as of the time of the hearing, the Court is inclined to grant the UST's request that the Debtor be ordered to remain in full and timely compliance with UST requirements. If the Debtor becomes delinquent in any of the UST's requirements or fails to timely file a disclosure statement and plan by no later than June 21, 2019 or seek an extension of such deadlines for good cause, the UST may provide a one-time written notice of delinquency to the Debtor's counsel of record to cure within 7 days. If such deficiencies are not cured within 7 calendar days or if the Debtor thereafter fails to remain in compliance with UST requirements, the UST may submit, without further notice to the Debtor or opportunity for hearing, an application, declaration and proposed order, converting this case to a case under chapter 7 and entering judgment in favor of the UST for any outstanding quarterly fees.

Note 1: The Court notes that the Debtor filed its December and January Monthly Operating Reports on March 5, 2019, shortly after the UST filed its Reply. See Doc. Nos. 20 & 21.

Docket 35

 VACATED  REASON: CONTINUED 6-19-19 AT 10:00 A.M.

Tentative Ruling:

1/15/2019

No appearances required. Following a December 4, 2018, hearing on the adequacy of the Debtor's Disclosure Statement [Doc. No. 35], the Court set this status conference to allow time for the Debtor to determine the extent and validity of Direct Capital Corporation's ("DCC") claim. On December 10, 2018, this Court entered an order approving a stipulation between the Debtor and DCC regarding its claim [Doc. No. 50].

The Court has reviewed the Response to Debtor's Proposed Disclosure Statement and Supplemental Declaration of Eric Alan Mitnick filed by Benito Barbosa [Doc. Nos. 58, 59]. In addition to the issues this Court raised in its tentative ruling [Doc. No. 44], Mr. Barbosa contends that the Disclosure Statement lacks adequate information about the following: (i) the Debtor's transfer of his ownership interest in the Verdun Property to his wife; (ii) how the Debtor's monthly income draws are determined, information concerning the Debtor's wife's income, and financial information about the Debtor's podiatry practice; (iii) financial information about Stephens Associated Services; (iv) the Debtor's alleged inheritance of $44,000 in 2017 and how such funds were spent; and (v) the Debtor's alleged transfer of funds into an IRA account. In reply, the Debtor [Doc. No. 60] requests an opportunity to file an amended disclosure statement and states that he will attempt to address all of these issues as well as the issues raised by the Court if permitted to do so.

Based upon the foregoing, the hearing is CONTINUED to March 13, 2019 at 10:00 a.m. The Debtor is directed to file an amended disclosure statement by no later than February 15, 2019. The deadline to oppose the amended disclosure statement is

Tentative Ruling:

3/12/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Motion is GRANTED in its entirety.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Debtors' Notice of Motion and Motion for Approval of Compromise with Medline Industries, Inc. Pursuant to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 9019 [Doc. No. 1591] (the "Motion")
 - a) Declaration of Service by Kurtzman Carson Consultants, LLC Regarding Docket Numbers 1583, 1588, 1589, and 1591 [Doc. No. 1613]
- 2) Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors' Response to [Motion] [Doc. No. 1697]
- 3) No opposition to the Motion is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On August 31, 2018, Verity Health Systems of California ("VHS") and certain of its subsidiaries (collectively, the "Debtors") filed voluntary petitions for relief under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. On August 31, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the Debtors' motion for joint administration of the Debtors' Chapter 11 cases. Doc. No. 17. The Debtors seek approval of a settlement agreement with Medline Industries, Inc. (the "Settlement Agreement").

On October 9, 2018, the Court entered a Final Order Granting Debtors' Emergency Motion for Entry of an Order Authorizing Debtors to Honor Prepetition Obligations to Critical Vendors [Doc. No. 436] (the "Critical Vendor Order"). The Critical Vendor Order authorizes the Debtors to pay prepetition claims of vendors supplying critical medical supplies and services, in an aggregate amount of up to $20 million.

Medline Industries, Inc. (“Medline”) is a Critical Vendor of the Debtors with prepetition claims against the Debtors. Medline is the largest privately held manufacturer and distributor of medical supplies in the country.

Pursuant to the Critical Vendor Order, the Debtors entered into two separate letter agreements (the “Critical Vendor Letter Agreements”) with Medline: (1) an agreement dated September 17, 2018, under which Medline agreed to continue to supply goods and services to the Debtors on customary trade terms in exchange for a partial payment toward Medline’s trade claim; and (2) an agreement dated November 27, 2018, under which Medline agreed to provide services under the Daughters of Charity Health System Master Purchase Agreement dated December 1, 2015 (the “TexCap Agreement”) in exchange for partial payment of Medline’s claim arising under the TexCap Agreement. The Debtors have paid Medline $1,126,950 under the Critical Vendor Letter Agreements.

The Critical Vendor Letter Agreements provide that the Debtors and Medline shall enter into a settlement agreement to resolve matters related to the allowance and treatment of Medline’s prepetition claims and Medline’s potential avoidance liability.

The principal terms of the Settlement Agreement are as follows:

- 1) The Debtors agree that Medline holds a valid prepetition unsecured claim in the aggregate amount of $3,849,192.72 (the “Aggregate Prepetition Claim”), consisting of:
 - a) an unsecured claim in the amount of $314,167.72 for amounts due under the TexCap Agreement; and
 - b) an unsecured claim in the amount of $3,535,025 for amounts due other than under the TexCap Agreement; such claim is partially comprised of a § 503(b)(9) claim in the amount of $1,281,126 (the “Section 503(b)(9) Claim”).
- 2) The Aggregate Prepetition Claim shall be entitled to the following treatment:
 - a) The Section 503(b)(9) Claim shall be paid in full upon the effective date of a plan of reorganization or earlier at the Debtors’ discretion.
 - b) After deducting the Section 503(b)(9) Claim and payments thereon from the Aggregate Prepetition Claim, Medline shall have an allowed general unsecured claim in the amount of $1,331,116.72 (the “Allowed GUC”).

- 3) Medline will provide the Debtors with net 45 day payment terms and will continue to satisfy supply requests on a timely basis, subject to the terms of the Critical Vendor Letter Agreements.
- 4) The Debtors waive any and all avoidance actions and preference claims they may hold against Medline.
- 5) To the extent that the TexCap Agreement or any other agreements between Medline and the Debtors are deemed executory contracts, neither party waives any rights under § 365.

The Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors has no objection to the Motion. No opposition to the Motion is on file.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Bankruptcy Rule 9019 provides that the Court may approve a compromise or settlement. "In determining the fairness, reasonableness and adequacy of a proposed settlement agreement, the court must consider: (a) The probability of success in the litigation; (b) the difficulties, if any, to be encountered in the matter of collection; (c) the complexity of the litigation involved, and the expense, inconvenience and delay necessarily attending it; (d) the paramount interest of the creditors and a proper deference to their reasonable views in the premises." Martin v. Kane (In re A&C Properties), 784 F.2d 1377, 1381 (9th Cir. 1986). "[C]ompromises are favored in bankruptcy, and the decision of the bankruptcy judge to approve or disapprove the compromise of the parties rests in the sound discretion of the bankruptcy judge." In re Sassalos, 160 B.R. 646, 653 (D. Ore. 1993). In approving a settlement agreement, the Court must "canvass the issues and see whether the settlement 'falls below the lowest point in the range of reasonableness.'" Cosoff v. Rodman (In re W.T. Grant Co.), 699 F.2d 599, 608 (2d Cir. 1983). Applying the A&C Properties factors, the Court finds that the Settlement Agreement is adequate, fair, and reasonable, and is in the best interests of the estate and creditors.

Probability of Success on the Merits

This factor weighs in favor of approving the Settlement Agreement. The Debtors have established that Medline is entitled to the Section 503(b)(9) Claim, the Aggregate Prepetition Claim, and the Allowed GUC in the amounts set forth in the Settlement Agreement. See Adcock Decl. at ¶ 7 (stating that the Debtors conducted a review of their books and records to determine the appropriate amount of Medline's claims).

The Debtors have further established that any avoidance actions brought against Medline would not likely result in a meaningful recovery. See Chadwick Decl. at ¶ 4 (stating that the Debtors' analysis of prepetition transactions with Medline showed that most, if not all, of the payments made to Medline during the ninety day prepetition avoidance period would be subject to various defenses under § 547).

The Court finds that access to Medline's continued supply and services are critical to the Debtors' operations. The de minimis recovery the Debtors might be able to obtain against Medline by prosecuting avoidance actions would be more than offset by the damage to the estate resulting from the impairment of the Debtors' business relationship with Medline.

Complexity of the Litigation

This factor weighs in favor of approving the Settlement Agreement. The Settlement Agreement resolves claims related to a large number of prepetition transactions. Litigation of these issues would be factually intensive and expensive, and would provide only minimal upside to the estate. The possibility that additional litigation might yield a result nominally more favorable to the estate cannot be ruled out. Yet any such result obtained through litigation would be a pyrrhic victory from the perspective of the estate and creditors, because the additional administrative costs associated with the litigation would on net leave the estate worse off.

Paramount Interests of Creditors

This factor weighs strongly in favor of approving the Settlement Agreement. The Committee does not object to the Settlement Agreement, and no creditors have objected to the Settlement Agreement.

Difficulties to be Encountered in the Matter of Collection

This factor does not apply.

III. Conclusion

Based upon the foregoing, the Settlement Agreement is APPROVED and the Motion is GRANTED in its entirety. The Debtors shall submit a conforming order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Samuel Antonio Acevedo and Lucy Acevedo (together, the "Debtors") filed this voluntary chapter 11 case on April 3, 2018 (the "Petition Date"). The Debtors seek an order determining the value of a 2016 Honda Accord [VIN 1HGCR2F38GA067256] (the "Vehicle") pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 506(a) and Rule 3012 of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure. As set forth in Proof of Claim No. 2, the Vehicle is encumbered by a lien in favor of American Honda Finance ("Honda") in the amount of $19,708.60.

The Debtors seek a determination that the value of the Vehicle is $15,977 and request that the Court bifurcate Honda's claim into a secured claim in the amount of $15,977 and an unsecured claim of $3,731.60 for purposes of Honda's plan treatment under § 1129. In support of the $15,977 valuation, the Debtors attached a Kelly Blue Book print out dated February 14, 2019, reflecting a "Fair Purchase Price" of $15,977. [Note 1]

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file.

Chapter 11

Pursuant to § 506(a), the Court, after notice and a hearing on the matter, may value a claim secured by a lien on property and bifurcate the "total claim into secured and unsecured portions." Matter of Sandy Ridge Development Corp., 881 F.2d 1346, 1349 (5th Cir. 1989); 11 U.S.C. § 506(a); Fed. R. Bankr. P. 3012. The Debtor, as movant, bears the burden of proof to demonstrate that the lien may be modified. In re Bethoney, 384 B.R. 24, 31 (Bankr. D. Mass. 2008); see also In re Trosky, 371 B.R. 701, 707 (Bankr. M.D. Pa. 2006); In re Fletcher, 2007 WL 1804931, at * 2 (Bankr. S.D. Fla. 2007). The value of property pursuant to § 506(a) "shall be determined in light of the purpose of the valuation." When property is being valued for purposes of lien stripping under a reorganization plan, the Court determines the property's value as of the date of the plan confirmation hearing. In re Abdelgadir, 455 B.R. 896, 902 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2011).

The Court recognizes that the date of the valuation can never line up exactly with the date of confirmation. The exigencies of motion practice thus inevitably entail some lapse of time between the date of the valuation and the date of confirmation.

The Court also recognizes that the Debtors have not yet filed a Plan and Disclosure Statement, so the confirmation date is presently unknown. However, pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(h), the Court deems Honda's failure to oppose the Valuation Motion as its consent to the Court granting the Debtors' requested relief. [Note 2] Therefore, the Court is persuaded to adopt the Debtors' valuation of $15,977 and bifurcate Honda's claim into a secured claim of $15,977 and an unsecured claim of $3,731.60.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the Valuation Motion is GRANTED.

The Debtors are directed to lodge a conforming proposed order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing.

Note 1: The Debtors also attached a declaration that states their opinion of value of the Vehicle at $7,797 as of February 5, 2019, but this appears to be an error as that value is unsupported by the attached Kelly Bluebook printout that the declaration references.

Note 2: The Court also notes that vehicles typically depreciate with age, so the Debtors' proposed valuation is likely more favorable to Honda than a valuation closer to the Debtors' actual confirmation hearing date.

1. Notice of Motion and Motion for Order Determining Value of Collateral [Doc. No. 37] (the "Valuation Motion")
2. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Samuel Antonio Acevedo and Lucy Acevedo (together, the "Debtors") filed this voluntary chapter 11 case on April 3, 2018 (the "Petition Date"). The Debtors seek an order determining the value of real property located at 6220 Palladio Lane, Fontana, CA 92336 (the "Property") pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 506(a) and Rule 3012 of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure. As set forth in Proof of Claim No. 6, the Property is encumbered by a lien in favor of Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., as servicer for Default Document Processing ("Wells Fargo") in the amount of $382,478.36.

The Debtors seek a determination that the value of the Property is $435,000 as of April 2, 2018 and request that the Court make a finding that Wells Fargo holds a secured claim in the amount of $382,478.36, which is oversecured for purposes of Wells Fargo's plan treatment under § 1129. In support of the $435,000 valuation, the Debtors attached a certified appraisal. [Note 1]

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file.

Note 1: The Court notes that the Debtors have used the Petition Date as the valuation for this motion but used a February 14, 2019 date for purpose of determining the value in connection with a concurrently pending request to value their vehicle. See Doc. No. 35 and Tentative Ruling for March 13, 2019, Cal. No. 100. The Debtors provide no explanation for using different dates. Nevertheless, because Wells Fargo has not filed an objection and the Court determines that Wells Fargo is oversecured by a significant equity cushion, it does not appear that Wells Fargo will be prejudiced by the Debtors' use of the Petition Date.

RE: [18] Motion to Amend (related document(s)1 Complaint) Trustee's Notice of Motion and Motion for Leave to Amend Complaint Pursuant to FRBP 7015, and Vacate Scheduling Order; Memorandum of Points and Authorities, Declaration of Brad D. Krasnoff and Request for Judicial Notice in Support Thereof, With Proof of Service

Tentative Ruling:

3/12/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Motion is GRANTED in its entirety.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Trustee's Notice of Motion and Motion for Leave to Amend Complaint Pursuant to FRBP 7015, and Vacate Scheduling Order [Doc. No. 18] (the "Motion")
- 2) No opposition to the Motion is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On September 28, 2018, the Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee") filed the Trustee's Complaint for Interpleader [Doc. No. 1] (the "Complaint"). As set forth in the Complaint, the Trustee has collected and is holding receivables in the amount of $23,117.15 in a segregated account (the "Segregated Funds"). The Segregated Funds are encumbered by security interests asserted by seven named Defendants.

Pursuant to Cal. Code Civ. Proc. § 386, the Trustee seeks the following relief:

- 1) An order directing the Clerk of the Court to hold the Segregated Funds pending determination of the rights of the Defendants;
- 2) An order requiring Defendants to litigate their respective rights and claims in and to the Segregated Funds;
- 3) An order discharging the Trustee from any and all liability on account of the claims of each of the Defendants in and to the Segregated Funds; and

- 4) An award of costs and reasonable attorneys' fees, to be determined by the Court and paid out of the Segregated Funds.

None of the Defendants have responded to the Complaint. At a Status Conference conducted on January 15, 2019, the Court ordered the Trustee to serve a notice upon the Defendants stating that the Segregated Funds, less fees incurred by the Trustee in filing and prosecuting the action, would be paid to the Defendant which the Trustee had determined to be in first position. Defendants would then have ten days to object and request a hearing; absent an objection, the Court would enter an order approving the proposed payments.

Upon further investigation, the Trustee learned of four additional defendants who were not named in the Complaint and who likely have senior entitlement to the Segregated Funds. The Trustee seeks leave to amend the Complaint to name these additional defendants.

The initial deadline for the Trustee to serve notice upon the Defendants of the intended disposition of the Segregated Funds was March 12, 2019. Upon the Trustee's ex-parte application, the Court extended the deadline to April 12, 2019, in view of the pending motion for leave to amend. See Order Approving Trustee's Ex-Parte Application Re: Scheduling Order [Doc. No. 22]. [Note 1]

No opposition to the Motion is on file.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Civil Rule 15(a)(2), made applicable to these proceedings by Bankruptcy Rule 7015, provides in relevant part: "[A] party may amend its pleading only with the opposing party's written consent or the court's leave. The court should freely give leave when justice so requires." Leave to amend need not be granted "where the amendment of the complaint would cause the opposing party undue prejudice, is sought in bad faith, constitutes an exercise in futility, or creates undue delay." Ascon Properties, Inc. v. Mobil Oil Co., 866 F.2d 1149, 1160 (9th Cir. 1989).

Leave to amend is appropriate under the circumstances. Granting leave to amend will allow the Trustee to name additional defendants who may be in a senior position with respect to the Segregated Funds. The original Defendants will not be prejudiced, since none of them have responded to the Complaint. There is no indication that the Trustee seeks leave to amend in bad faith, or that amendment would constitute an exercise in futility. Finally, the Trustee has requested leave to amend relatively early in the litigation; as a result, granting the request will not create undue delay.

Based upon the foregoing, the Motion is GRANTED in its entirety. As previously ordered, the Trustee shall serve notice of the intended disposition of the Segregated Funds upon the Defendants by no later than April 12, 2019.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Jessica Vogel or Daniel Koontz at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. Note 1

The Motion, which was filed prior to entry of the order extending the March 12 deadline, seeks an order vacating that deadline. The Motion's request for such relief has been rendered moot by the Court's order granting the Trustee's ex-parte application for an extension of the March 12 deadline.

Docket 37

Tentative Ruling:

3/14/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2) to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to foreclose upon and obtain possession of the property in accordance with applicable law. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. Since a chapter 7 case does not contemplate reorganization, the sole issue before the Court when stay relief is sought under 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2) is whether the Debtor has equity in the property. See, e.g., Martens v. Countrywide Home Loans (In re Martens), 331 B.R. 395, 398 (8th Cir. BAP 2005); Ramco Indus. v. Preuss (In re Preuss), 15 B.R. 896, 897 (9th Cir. BAP 1981).

The subject property has a value of $645,000 and is encumbered by a perfected deed of trust or mortgage in favor of the Movant. The liens against the property and the expected costs of sale total $658,917. The Court finds there is no equity and there is no evidence that the trustee can administer the subject real property for the benefit of creditors.

The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1) for cause to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to repossess or otherwise obtain possession and dispose of its collateral pursuant to applicable law, and to use the proceeds from its disposition to satisfy its claim. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. The Court takes judicial notice of the Chapter 7 Individual Debtor's Statement of Intention in which the Debtor stated an intention to surrender the vehicle to Movant.

This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. The 14-day stay prescribed by FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived. All other relief is denied.

Movant shall upload an appropriate order via the Court's Lodged Order Upload system within 7 days of the hearing.

Docket 9

Tentative Ruling:

3/14/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1). The stay is terminated as to the Debtor and the Debtor's bankruptcy estate with respect to the Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns. Movant may enforce its remedies to obtain possession of the property in accordance with applicable law, but may not pursue a deficiency claim against the debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501.

The Movant filed an unlawful detainer action on January 24, 2019.

This Motion has been filed to allow the Movant to proceed with the unlawful detainer proceeding in state court. The unlawful detainer proceeding may go forward because the Debtor's right to possess the premises must be determined. This does not change simply because a bankruptcy petition was filed. #5.00 HearingRE: [1610] Notice of motion and motion for relief from automatic stay with supporting declarations ACTION IN NON-BANKRUPTCY FORUM RE: David Pullman v St. Vincent Medical Center BC597684 .

Docket 1610

Tentative Ruling:

3/14/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Stipulation between Movant and the Debtors providing for stay-relief is APPROVED.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Notice of Motion and Motion for Relief from the Automatic Stay Under 11 U.S.C. § 362 [Doc. No. 1610] (the "Motion")
 - a) Proof of Service [of Motion] [Doc. No. 1784]
- 2) Stipulation Between Debtor, St. Vincent Medical Center, and David Pullman, Granting David Pullman Relief from the Automatic Stay [Doc. No. 1787]
- 3) Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors' Response to Motion for Relief from Stay (Non-Bankruptcy Forum) Filed by David Pullman and Stipulation Between Debtor, St. Vincent Medical Center, and David Pullman, Granting David Pullman Relief from the Automatic Stay [Doc. No. 1794]

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On August 31, 2018 (the "Petition Date"), Verity Health Systems of California ("VHS") and certain of its subsidiaries filed voluntary petitions for relief under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. On August 31, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the Debtors' motion for joint administration of the Debtors' Chapter 11 cases. Doc. No. 17.

David Pullman ("Movant") seeks stay-relief, pursuant to § 362(d)(1), for the purpose of litigating a medical malpractice action against Debtor St. Vincent Medical Center ("St. Vincent") in the Los Angeles Superior Court. On March 12, 2019, St. Vincent and Movant stipulated to stay-relief (the "Stipulation"). The Stipulation provides that Movant will seek recovery only from applicable insurance and will waive any deficiency or other claim against St. Vincent or property of St. Vincent's estate. The Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors does not oppose the Motion or the Stipulation.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Because Movant has agreed to limit recovery to applicable insurance and to waive any deficiency claim, the Court finds the Stipulation to be appropriate. Movant is granted stay-relief under § 362(d)(1) pursuant to the terms of the Stipulation.

The Debtors shall submit an order consistent with the Stipulation within seven days of the hearing.

- 4) No Reply in support of the Motion is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On August 31, 2018 (the "Petition Date"), Verity Health Systems of California ("VHS") and certain of its subsidiaries filed voluntary petitions for relief under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. On August 31, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the Debtors' motion for joint administration of the Debtors' Chapter 11 cases. Doc. No. 17.

Myung Soo Han ("Movant") seeks stay-relief, pursuant to § 362(d)(1), for the purpose of litigating an action for assault and battery and elder abuse against the Debtors in the Los Angeles Superior Court (the "State Court Action"). The State Court Action alleges that while a patient at St. Vincent Medical Center, Movant was assaulted by an orderly when he requested that the temperature in his room be increased. The Motion does not indicate that Movant is willing to limit the recovery sought in the State Court Action to applicable insurance or that Movant will waive any deficiency claim against the Debtors. The State Court Action was filed on January 18, 2017.

In opposition to the Motion, Debtors state that they would consider stipulating to stay-relief provided Movant agreed to seek recovery only from insurance and waived any deficiency claim. Because Movant has not agreed to limit his recovery in this manner, Debtors contend that the Motion should be denied without prejudice. Debtors assert that being required to litigate the State Court Action would distract attention from pressing issues, such as the sale of the remaining hospitals.

For the same reasons, the Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors asserts that Motion should be denied without prejudice.

Movant has not filed any reply papers in support of the Motion.

II. Findings and Conclusions

As explained by the Ninth Circuit Bankruptcy Appellate Panel in Kronemyer v. American Contractors Indemnity Co. (In re Kronemyer) (internal citations omitted): "What constitutes 'cause' for granting relief from the automatic stay is decided on a case-by-case basis. Among factors appropriate to consider in determining whether relief from the automatic stay should be granted to allow state court proceedings to continue are considerations of judicial economy and the expertise of the state court, ... as well as prejudice to the parties and whether exclusively bankruptcy issues are involved." 405 B.R. 915, 921. The factors articulated in In re Curtis, 40 B.R. 795, 799-800 (Bankr. D. Utah 1984) and adopted by the bankruptcy court in Truebro, Inc. v. Plumberex Specialty Prods., Inc. (In re Plumberex Specialty Prods., Inc), 311 B.R. 551, 559-60 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2004) are also "appropriate, nonexclusive factors to consider in deciding whether to grant relief from the automatic stay to allow pending litigation to continue in another forum." Kronemyer, 405 B.R. at 921. The Curtis factors are as follows:

- 1) Whether the relief will result in a partial or complete resolution of the issues;
- 2) The lack of any connection with or interference with the bankruptcy case;
- 3) Whether the foreign proceeding involves the debtor as a fiduciary;
- 4) Whether a specialized tribunal has been established to hear the particular cause of action and whether that tribunal has the expertise to hear such cases;
- 5) Whether the debtor's insurance carrier has assumed full financial responsibility for defending the litigation;
- 6) Whether the action essentially involves third parties, and the debtor functions

- only as a bailee or conduit for the goods or proceeds in question;
- 7) Whether the litigation in another forum would prejudice the interests of other creditors, the creditors' committee and other interested parties;
 - 8) Whether the judgment claim arising from the foreign action is subject to equitable subordination under Section 510(c);
 - 9) Whether movant's success in the foreign proceeding would result in a judicial lien avoidable by the debtor under Section 522(f);
 - 10) The interests of judicial economy and the expeditious and economical determination of litigation for the parties;
 - 11) Whether the foreign proceedings have progressed to the point where the parties are prepared for trial, and
 - 12) The impact of the stay on the parties and the "balance of hurt."

Plumberex, 311 B.R. at 599.

The most important of the twelve factors is the effect of the non-bankruptcy litigation on the administration of the estate. Curtis, 40 B.R. at 806. The Curtis court held that "[e]ven slight interference with the administration may be enough to preclude relief in the absence of a commensurate benefit." Id.

Because Movant has not agreed to limit his recovery to insurance, granting stay-relief at this time would require the Debtors to defend against the State Court Action. Although it would certainly be possible for the Debtors to mount a defense at this time, requiring them to do so would nonetheless interfere with the case by distracting the Debtors' professionals from other pressing matters. Among other things, the State Court Complaint alleges that after Movant told an orderly that he was cold, the orderly threatened to kill Movant and then choked Movant, causing him to fall out of his hospital bed and injuring his mouth, side, and leg. If these allegations are proven, the damages would likely be substantial. While it is true that primary responsibility for the Debtors' defense could be assigned to special litigation counsel, the Debtors' general bankruptcy counsel would still be required to monitor the litigation.

An auction of four of the Debtors' hospitals is set to occur on April 8–9, with a hearing to approve the results of the auction set for April 17, 2019. To successfully prosecute the case for the benefit of creditors, Debtors will be required to devote substantial resources to the auction and the subsequent hearing to approve the results of the auction. Granting stay-relief at this juncture would require the Debtors to divert their attention from issues pertaining to the sale, which would be detrimental to creditors.

In view of the findings set forth above, Curtis factors two, five, seven, and eleven weigh against granting stay-relief at this time. However, after the April 17 auction has concluded, application of the Curtis factors will yield a different result. Although the relevant Curtis factors do not warrant stay-relief now, stay-relief will be warranted as of May 15, 2019.

Granting stay-relief now would interfere with the bankruptcy case by distracting the Debtors' professionals from other pressing matters (the second Curtis factor). With respect to factor five, the damages sought in the State Court Action are substantial; Movant has not agreed to limit his recovery to applicable insurance; and it is therefore not known whether available insurance proceeds will be sufficient to cover any judgment Movant may obtain. Factor five therefore weighs against granting immediate stay-relief. The litigation's interference with the case has the potential to reduce creditor recoveries; therefore, factor seven weighs against granting immediate stay-relief. The State Court Action has not reached the trial stage, so factor eleven also weighs against granting immediate stay-relief.

Factor twelve—the balance of the hurt—is neutral. As discussed, granting immediate stay-relief will harm the Debtors by distracting the Debtors' professionals from other pressing matters. On the other hand, Movant is prejudiced by the inability to pursue legal redress.

To the extent that they apply, the remaining Curtis factors weigh in favor of immediate stay-relief. The State Court Action will completely resolve the issues (factor one); the State Court is the tribunal best suited to hear the Movant's claims (factor three); and lifting the stay would result in a more expeditious determination of the State Court Action (factor ten). Nonetheless, these factors are outweighed by the harm that immediate stay-relief would impose upon the Debtors.

Having considered the applicable Curtis factors, the Court finds that Movant is entitled to stay-relief, effective as of May 15, 2019. This result gives the Debtors some breathing space to achieve their objectives, while at the same time delaying Movant's ability to proceed with the State Court Action by only two months.

III. Conclusion

Based upon the foregoing, the Motion is GRANTED; however, the order granting the Motion shall not take effect until May 15, 2019. Movants shall submit an order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing.

Summary of R/S Motion

Neal Cohen, Sally Cohen, Vera Cohen, Charles B. Serlin, Trustee of the Charles B. Serlin Living Trust 1/1/2015, Janice L. Piraino & John K. Piraino, Trustees of the Piraino Family Trust, American Overseas Trading Corporation, Luis Schwartz, Trustee of the Schwartz 1998 Family Trust, Lori Steinberg and/or Daniel Steinberg, Trustees or their successors in trust under the LKS Trust dated April 14, 2000, The Wise Trust, Phyllis F. Stark, Dall LLC, and Earl B. Abramson, Trustee of the Earl B. Abramson 1998 Trust (collectively, "Movants") seek relief from stay pursuant to §§ 362(d)(1), (2) and (4) with respect to the Palos Verdes Property. Movants state that they hold a first priority lien in the amount of $1,508,397.68 against the Palos Verdes Property and that the Debtor has failed to make 11 monthly payments. Movants attached the declaration of a licensed real estate broker, Brian Getz (the "Getz Decl."), estimating that the Palos Verdes Property has a fair market value of $1,500,000. Movants also state that the Palos Verdes Property is secured by a tax lien in favor of the County of Los Angeles in the amount of $26,922.21. Therefore, Movants contend that their interest is not adequately protected by a sufficient equity cushion.

Movant also contends that cause exists under § 362(d)(4) on the basis that the petition was part of a scheme to delay, hinder or defraud creditors that involved multiple bankruptcy filings. Movant states that pre-petition, on December 17, 2018, the Debtor's principal, Gustavo Gutierrez, filed a voluntary chapter 13 case and claimed an interest in the Palos Verdes Property. That case was dismissed on January 4, 2019. Five days later, the Debtor filed this case asserting an interest in the Palos Verdes Property.

Summary of Debtor's Opposition

On March 4, 2019, the Debtor filed a timely Opposition. Debtor contends that Movants have failed to carry their evidentiary burden because there is no evidence that the Palos Verdes Property is decreasing in value and the Debtor submits that the Palos Verdes Property is actually worth $1,900,000 which leaves a 20.6% equity cushion protecting Movants' interests. In support of this valuation, the Debtor attached the Declaration of Mr. Gutierrez (the "Gutierrez Decl."). The Debtor states that it could not obtain its own appraisal in time to respond to the R/S Motion but submits that Mr. Gutierrez has knowledge of the property values in the area. The Debtor also states that it intends to file a 100% plan funded by sales of its assets and that the Palos Verdes Property is necessary for an effective reorganization. The Debtor states that it intends to file a declaration to employ a broker shortly.

In response to Movants' contention that cause exists under § 364(d)(4), the Debtor concedes that Mr. Gutierrez filed a bankruptcy case just prior to this case, but states that his case was filed for the legitimate purpose of addressing his own financial hardships. However, Mr. Gutierrez dismissed his case to focus his efforts on this case. Therefore, the Debtor contends that there has been no scheme to delay, hinder or defraud creditors as a result of this second bankruptcy filing.

Summary Movants' Reply

Movants filed a timely Reply to the Opposition. First, Movants highlights that the Debtor is a suspended corporation and is not authorized to conduct business. Movants argue that by the Debtor's own admissions it has no ongoing business operations that generate income, no cash on hand, no receivables, no unsecured creditors and no historical income. Next, Movants state that the Debtor is in substantial default under its loan obligations and has failed to pay property taxes as they have come due. Movants assert that their nonjudicial foreclosure sale was halted by Mr. Gutierrez's individual bankruptcy filing and that this case was filed only five days later to continue to hinder and delay Movants' foreclosure efforts.

In response to the Debtor's contention that the Palos Verdes Property is worth $1,900,000, Movants state that the Debtor has had the property listed for over a year and is currently listing the property for $1,500,000 because the Debtor has been unable to obtain an interested buyer at a higher price. Movants also argues that despite having the property currently listed and having been in bankruptcy for over two months, the Debtor still has not sought court approval of its employment of the broker. Additionally, Movants contend that the Debtor has failed to provide any admissible evidence to refute their valuation.

Movants contend that they have carried their burden of proof by establishing that the Debtor has no equity in the Palos Verdes Property and that the Debtor has failed to carry its burden on all other issues. Movants argue that the Debtor cannot show that the Palos Verdes Property is necessary for an effective reorganization because it is a suspended corporation that cannot conduct business or participate in this matter. Movants also argue that the Debtor has not established that it has anything to reorganize or the financial wherewithal to do so.

In support of their request for relief under § 362(d)(4), Movants reiterate that this is the second bankruptcy case filed affecting the Palos Verdes Property. Movants highlight that Mr. Gutierrez's case was filed on the eve of the scheduled foreclosure sale and filed in bad faith because Mr. Gutierrez was not eligible to be a chapter 13 debtor since Movants' secured debt alone far exceeded applicable debt limitations. Movants state that this case was also filed on the eve of the continued foreclosure sale and while the Debtor was and remains a suspended limited liability company. Movants argue that the absence of any reasonable prospect of reorganization, coupled with the Debtor's failure to present admissible evidence of value and the timing of the filing on the eve of a foreclosure sale demonstrates that this case was filed in bad faith to prevent them from concluding their foreclosure sale.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

A. Evidentiary Objection [Note 1]

Movants ask this Court to strike paragraph 5 of the Gutierrez Declaration in its entirety. The Court overrules the evidentiary objection in-part with respect to the following testimony: "I base my valuation on the subject property at $1,900,000 on the following: . . . C. My knowledge of the property values for the last several years in the neighborhoods in which the property is located." As the sole principal of the debtor-owner of the Palos Verdes Property, Mr. Gutierrez is competent to offer lay opinion as to its value. See In re Cocreham, 2013 Bankr. LEXIS 3527, at *6-7 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. Aug. 23, 2013).

However, the Court sustains the evidentiary objection in-part with respect to subparagraphs 5A and 5B on the basis that Mr. Gutierrez's testimony attempts to bring otherwise inadmissible hearsay evidence into the record. See e.g., Cocreham, 2013 Bankr. LEXIS at *6-7 (citing Barry Russell, Bankruptcy Evidence Manual, Vol. II, § 701.2, p. 784-85 (2012-13)) ("the average debtor-homeowner . . . should be limited to giving his opinion as to the value of his home, but should not be allowed to testify concerning what others have told him concerning the value of his or comparable properties, unless the debtor truly qualifies as an expert under Rule 702 such as being a real estate broker, etc").

B. Cause Exists to Grant Relief From Stay Under § 362(d)(1)

Under 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1), the Court shall grant relief if the movant's interest in the property is not protected by an adequate equity cushion. In the Ninth Circuit, "[a] 20% [equity] cushion has been held to be an adequate protection for a secured creditor." In re Mellor, 734 F.2d 1396, 1401 (9th Cir. 1984).

Movants submitted evidence to support a finding that the Palos Verdes Property's fair market value is $1,500,000 and is encumbered by a perfected deed of trust in Movants' favor. The liens against the Palos Verdes Property and the expected costs of sale total $1,655,319.89. Therefore, the Court finds that there is no equity in the Palos Verdes Property and that Movants are not protected by an adequate equity cushion. The Court also finds that Movants' interests are not adequately protected because the Debtor failed to pay real estate taxes as they have come due. The Court finds that Movants have carried their burden of proof with respect to the Debtor's lack of equity and shifted the burden to the Debtor to demonstrate why stay relief is unwarranted.

The Debtor submitted the Gutierrez Declaration in which Mr. Gutierrez opines that the Palos Verdes Property has a value of $1,900,000. [Note 2] However, because Mr. Gutierrez is not an expert, the Court accords only minimal weight to his testimony and finds it less probative than Movant's regarding the current fair market value of the Palos Verdes Property.

Therefore, the Court finds that Movants are entitled to relief from stay with respect to the Palos Verdes Property pursuant to § 362(d)(1).

Chapter 11

Under 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2), the Court shall grant relief from the stay if "(A) the debtor does not have any equity in such property; and (B) such property is not necessary for an effective reorganization."

As discussed above, the Court finds Movants have carried their burden of proving that the Debtor does not have any equity in the Palos Verdes Property. Therefore, the first prong is satisfied.

To show that there is a necessity for effective reorganization, a debtor must show that there can be an effective reorganization in the sense that there is "a reasonable possibility of a successful reorganization within a reasonable time." United Sav. Ass'n of Texas v. Timber of Inwood Forest Associates, Ltd., 484 U.S. 365, 367, 108 S. Ct. 626, 89 L. Ed. 2d 740 (1988).

The Debtor has not carried its burden of demonstrating that there is a reasonable possibility of a successful reorganization within a reasonable time. First, the Debtor states that it is marching quickly towards a complete financial reorganization and that it intends to propose a 100% plan of reorganization funded by sale of certain of its properties. However, as of the preparation of this tentative ruling, the Debtor has not filed an application to employ any brokers. Nor does the Debtor offer any testimony about the form its plan would take or when it could be proposed and brought to fruition. [Note 3] Second, and more importantly, based upon Movants' evidence of value, it does not appear that the Debtor could sell the Palos Verdes Property under § 363(f) without Movants' consent because the Palos Verdes Property would not likely generate a sale price that exceeds existing liens.

Therefore, the Court finds that Movants have carried their burden of demonstrating that the Debtor does not have any equity in the Palos Verdes Property and the Debtor has failed to demonstrate that the Palos Verdes Property is necessary for an effective reorganization. Accordingly, Movants are entitled to relief from stay under § 362(d)(2).

D. Cause Exists to Grant Relief From Stay Under § 362(d)(4)

the property if the court finds that the filing of the petition was part of a scheme to delay, hinder or defraud creditors that involved either (1) the transfer of all or part ownership of or interest in the property without the consent of the secured creditor or court approval or (2) multiple bankruptcy filings affecting the property. 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(4).

"[T]he Code requires more than just the occurrence of [] multiple filings. It requires that 'the filing of the petition was part of a scheme to delay, hinder or defraud creditors.'" In re Khurana, 2015 Bankr. LEXIS 2399, at *23-24 (Bankr. D. Idaho July 21, 2015). Factors considered in determining whether the filing of the petition was part of a scheme to delay, hinder or defraud include:

The number of bankruptcy filings; their frequency; the time lapsed between filings; whether the filings were dismissed, and for what reasons; whether the evidence suggests that the debtor had a legitimate belief that it could reorganize in such cases; the strategic timing of the cases, especially in relation to creditor collection efforts such as foreclosure; any changes in circumstances between the various case; and others.

Id. at *25-26.

This is the second bankruptcy filing affecting the Palos Verdes Property within approximately a month. See In re Gustavo Gutierrez, 2:18-bk-24614-SK, Chapter 13 case filed on December 17, 2018, dismissed January 4, 2019 (the "Gutierrez Case"). Movants state that the Gutierrez Case was filed on the eve of a scheduled foreclosure sale of the Palos Verdes Property and that Mr. Gutierrez filed a skeletal bankruptcy petition on December 17, 2018 to delay the foreclosure sale from proceeding. The Court takes judicial notice of the fact that the Gutierrez Case was dismissed on January 4, 2019 for failure to file schedules, statements, and a plan.

The Debtor argues that Mr. Gutierrez sought bankruptcy protection in good faith to address a "long list of debts" resulting from a car accident which left him unable to address his financial affairs" and that "he allowed that case to be dismissed so that he could focus his efforts on [this case]" Opposition, p. 7:11-15. The Court does not find this explanation plausible. Mr. Gutierrez made no attempt to pursue his individual case and address his alleged mounting debt. Furthermore, Movants highlight that Mr.

Gutierrez's debt likely exceeded applicable debt limits for chapter 13 cases and the Debtor concedes that Mr. Gutierrez allowed that case to be dismissed to stop foreclosure of the Irvine Property and the Vacant Lots. Therefore, it appears that Mr. Gutierrez did not have a legitimate belief that he could reorganize his affairs in that case.

In addition to the foregoing, the Debtor filed this skeletal petition just five days after the Gutierrez Case was dismissed and on the eve of a continued foreclosure sale. And as set forth above, the Court finds that the Debtor has not established a reasonable possibility of reorganizing its affairs.

For the foregoing reasons, the Court finds that the Debtor filed the petition as part of a scheme to hinder and delay Movants' foreclosure efforts which involved multiple bankruptcy filings. Therefore, Movants are entitled to relief under § 362(d)(4).

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the R/S Motion is GRANTED.

Movants are directed to lodge a conforming proposed order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing.

Opposition, the request is overruled. Based upon this Court's limited research on the issue, it appears that corporate suspension does not prevent an entity from seeking bankruptcy protection to wind up its affairs. In re Bertuccio, 414 B.R. 604, 618 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. 2008), aff'd in part sub nom, Employment Dev. Dep't v. Bertuccio, 2011 WL 1158022 (N.D. Cal. Cal. 1990) ("[T]he subject Revenue and Tax Code forfeiture statutes purport to only revoke the corporate entity's right to enter into enforceable contracts and to protect itself in state court and do not address nor purport to affect that entities right to file for protection under the Federal Bankruptcy Code").

Note 2: The Debtor contends that it was not prepared to respond with an appraisal because it was allegedly caught off guard by how quickly Movants sought stay relief. To the extent the Debtor intended this as a request for a continuance to allow it time to obtain an appraisal, the request is denied. It appears that the Debtor has been in default under its loan obligations to the Movants for more than eleven months and sought bankruptcy protection to delay Movants' foreclosure efforts. Debtor's counsel is well seasoned in bankruptcy and should have anticipated the immediate need for an appraisal. Accordingly, the Court is unwilling to prejudice Movants any further by granting the Debtor a continuance to obtain an appraisal.

Note 3: The Court also notes that the Debtor contends that granting stay relief will prejudice other creditors, but the Debtor only has secured creditors. See Doc. No. 8.

8. Evidentiary Objections to the Declaration of Gustavo Gutierrez filed by Debtor Bona Fide Ventures LLC in Support of its Joint Opposition to Relief from Stay Motions [Doc. No. 25] (the "Evidentiary Objections")

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Debtor-in-possession, Bona Fide Ventures LLC (the "Debtor"), filed this voluntary chapter 11 case on January 9, 2019 (the "Petition Date"). The Debtor owns five real properties:

1. 1701 Irvine Blvd., Newport Beach, CA 92660 (the "Irvine Property")
2. Vacant land [APN 0459-432-22] ("Lot 1")
3. Vacant land [APN 0459-432-14] ("Lot 2," and together with Lot 1, the "Vacant Lots")
4. Vacant land at El Privilegio Road, Adelanto, CA 92808 [APN 3210-571-04] (the "El Privilegio Lot")
5. 22760 Palos Verdes Drive East, Rancho Palos Verdes, CA 90275 (the "Palos Verdes Property")

Summary of R/S Motions

Sterk Investments, Inc. ("Movant") seeks relief from stay pursuant §§ 362(d)(1) and (d)(2) with respect to the Irvine Property and the Vacant Lots (together, the "Properties"). Movant states that in December 2017 it made a short-term loan to the Debtor in the principal amount of $1,700,000 and that it presently holds a first priority lien in the amount of $1,885,879.32 against the Irvine Property which is cross-collateralized by the Vacant Lots. Movant states that the loan is in default and that as of the filing of the R/S Motions, the Debtor had failed to make 8 monthly mortgage payments. Movant also states that the Irvine Property is encumbered by a tax lien in favor of the County of Orange in the amount of $23,759.10, and the Vacant Lots are encumbered by tax liens in favor of the County of San Bernardino in the amount of $15,791.58 and $13,579.32, respectively.

Movant contends that cause exists to grant it stay relief with respect to the Properties because its interest is not adequately protected because the Debtor does not have any equity in the Properties and the Properties are not necessary for an effective reorganization. Movant attached appraisals which value the Irvine Property at $1,725,000, Lot 1 at $130,000 and Lot 2 at $95,000, for a combined value of $1,950,000. Movant argues that after applicable costs of sale, the Debtor does not have any equity in the Properties.

Summary of Omnibus Opposition

On February 26, 2019, the Debtor filed an untimely Omnibus Opposition to the R/S Motions [Doc. No. 19]. The Debtor contends that Movant has failed to carry its evidentiary burden because there is no evidence that the Properties are decreasing in value and the Debtor believes Movant's appraisals are not reliable. The Debtor states that it could not obtain its own appraisals in time to respond to the R/S Motions, but submits the declaration of the Debtor's principal, Mr. Gutavo Gutierrez who has significant knowledge of property values in the area.

With respect to the Irvine Property, the Debtor concedes that in its Schedule A, filed on January 23, 2019, it estimated the value of the Irvine Property to be $1,700,000. However, the Debtor argues that since then a property located in close proximity to the Irvine Property sold for $1,465,000, so based upon the larger square footage, Debtor believes the Irvine Property is likely worth $1,900,000. The Debtor also questions the reliability of Movant's appraisal on the basis that in December 2017 Movant obtained an appraisal from the same appraiser valuing the Irvine Property at $2,100,000. Debtor contends that Movant offers no justifiable grounds for the drastic price reduction and is missing certain information to determine whether it complies with applicable Appraisal Independence requirements.

Similarly, the Debtor argues that Movant's appraisals significantly undervalue the Vacant Lots. Debtor's Schedule A estimated the combined values to be $950,000 because they are located in a highly desirable area. The Debtor also highlights that Movant's appraisal reflects that the same properties were sold in October 2017 for $650,000 but fails to explain the significant priced reduction.

The Debtor argues that there is approximately $2,650,000 worth of collateral securing Movant's debt, which leaves a significant equity cushion of 28.8% to adequately protect Movant's interests. The Debtor also says it would be amenable to the Court entering an adequate protection order that sets a specific deadline for the Debtor to sell the Properties or Movant could be granted stay relief.

The Debtor argues that the Properties are necessary for an effective reorganization because the Debtor intends to sell the Properties and use the proceeds to pay all creditors in full. Therefore, the Debtor argues that granting relief from stay will only prejudice the Debtor's other creditors.

Order Continuing Hearings to March 18

On February 27, 2019, this Court entered an Order Continuing March 4th Relief from Stay Hearings [Doc. No. 20], continuing the hearings on the R/S Motions to March 18, 2019 and extending the deadline for Movant to respond to the Omnibus Opposition.

Summary of Movant's Replies

Movant filed a timely response to the Omnibus Opposition. First, Movant highlights that the Debtor is a suspended corporation and is not authorized to conduct business. Movant argues that by Debtor's own admissions it has no ongoing business operations that generate income, no cash on hand, no receivables, no unsecured creditors and no historical income. Next, Movant states that the Debtor is in substantial default under its loan obligations, has failed to pay property taxes as they have come due, and allowed its insurance coverage for the Properties to lapse. As a result, on February 8, 2019 (post-petition), Movant had to advance an additional $2,834 to provide insurance.

In response to the Debtor's contention that the Irvine Property is worth significantly more than Movant's appraisal reflects, Movant states that the Debtor fails to inform this Court that the Debtor had the property listed for sale on April 27, 2018 at a listing price of $1,950,00 and was unable to sell the property. Movant also explains that the decrease in value reflects the Irvine Property's current condition because the property is vacant, unkept and in disrepair and Movant's appraiser estimates that it will take a minimum of $100,000 to make the property marketable. Movant also argues that the Debtor does not have available funds to make the repairs and highlights that the Debtor failed to submit admissible evidence to controvert its appraised value.

With respect to the Vacant Lots valuations, Movant again highlights that the Debtor fails to attach any admissible evidence to support its valuations. Movant also explains that the decrease in value stems from the City of Adelanto's recent expansion of "the cannabis cultivation zone" which depressed all property values in that zone.

Movant argues that it has carried its burden of proof by establishing that the Debtor has no equity in the Properties and that the Debtor has failed to carry its burden on all other issues. Movant contends that the Debtor cannot show that the Properties are necessary for an effective reorganization because it is a suspended corporation that cannot conduct business or participate in this matter. Movant also argues that the Debtor has not established that it has anything to reorganize or the financial wherewithal to do so.

For the foregoing reasons, Movant requests that the Court grant it stay relief so that it can proceed with nonjudicial foreclosure proceedings that it commenced pre-petition and remain pending against the Properties.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

A. Evidentiary Objections [Note 1]

Movant asks this Court to strike paragraphs 7Ai and 7Aiii of the Gutierrez Declaration. The Court overrules the evidentiary objection in-part with respect to the following testimony: "I bases [sic] my valuation of the Irvine property and the vacant lots on the following: A: Irvine: i. My knowledge of the property values for the last several years in the neighborhoods in which the properties are located." As the sole principal of the debtor-owner of the Palos Verdes Property, Mr. Gutierrez is competent to offer lay opinion as to its value. See In re Cocreham, 2013 Bankr. LEXIS 3527, at *6-7 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. Aug. 23, 2013).

However, the Court sustains the evidentiary objection in-part with respect to paragraph 7Aiii on the basis that Mr. Gutierrez's testimony attempts to bring otherwise inadmissible hearsay evidence into the record. See e.g., Cocreham, 2013

The e-mail from Ms. Gay Lynn Barnes is inadmissible hearsay because it is not supported by a separate declaration from the declarant.

B. Cause Exists to Grant Relief From Stay Under § 362(d)(1)

Under 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1), the Court shall grant relief if the movant's interest in the property is not protected by an adequate equity cushion. In the Ninth Circuit, "[a] 20% [equity] cushion has been held to be an adequate protection for a secured creditor." In re Mellor, 734 F.2d 1396, 1401 (9th Cir. 1984).

Movant submitted evidence to support a finding that the subject Properties have a combined value of $1,950,000 and are encumbered by a perfected deed of trust in favor of the Movant. The liens against the Properties and the expected costs of sale total $2,095,009.32. Therefore, the Court finds that there is no equity in the Properties and that Movant is not protected by an adequate equity cushion. The Court also finds that Movant's interest is not adequately protected because the Debtor failed to maintain insurance on the Properties or pay real estate taxes, and because the Irvine Property appears to be in disrepair and the Debtor lacks necessary funds to prevent further deterioration to the Irvine Property. The Court finds that Movant has carried its burden of proof with respect to the Debtor's lack of equity and shifted the burden to the Debtor to demonstrate why stay relief is unwarranted.

The Debtor submitted the Gutierrez Declaration in which Mr. Gutierrez opines that the value of the Irvine Property is $1,900,000 and the Vacant Lots are worth a combined value of $950,000. [Note 2] However, because Mr. Gutierrez is not an expert, the Court accords only minimal weight to his testimony and finds it less probative than Movant's regarding the current fair market values of the Properties. Furthermore, the Court takes judicial notice of the Debtor's Schedule A [Doc. No. 8], filed on January 23, 2019 – only a month prior to the filing of Debtor's Omnibus Opposition – in which the Debtor listed a present value of $1,700,000 for the Irvine Property. The Court is not persuaded by Mr. Gutierrez's testimony concerning the significant increase in his opinion of that property's value.

Based on the foregoing, the Court finds that Movant is entitled to relief from stay with respect to all three Properties pursuant to § 362(d)(1).

C. Cause Exists to Grant Relief From Stay Under § 362(d)(2)

Under 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2), the Court shall grant relief from the stay if "(A) the debtor does not have any equity in such property; and (B) such property is not necessary for an effective reorganization."

As discussed above, the Court finds that Movant has carried its burden of proving that the Debtor does not have any equity in the Properties. Therefore, the first prong is satisfied.

To show that there is a necessity for effective reorganization, a debtor must show that there can be an effective reorganization in the sense that there is "a reasonable possibility of a successful reorganization within a reasonable time." United Sav. Ass'n of Texas v. Timber of Inwood Forest Associates, Ltd., 484 U.S. 365, 367, 108 S. Ct. 626, 89 L. Ed. 2d 740 (1988).

The Court finds that the Debtor has not carried its burden of demonstrating that there is a reasonable possibility of a successful reorganization within a reasonable time. First, the Debtor states that it is marching quickly towards a complete financial reorganization and that it intends to propose a 100% plan of reorganization funded by sale of certain of its properties. However, as of the preparation of this tentative ruling, the Debtor has not filed an application to employ any brokers. Nor does the Debtor offer any testimony about the form its plan would take or when it could be proposed and brought to fruition. [Note 3] Second, and more importantly, based upon Movant's evidence of value, it does not appear that the Debtor could sell the Properties under § 363(f) without Movant's consent because the Properties would not likely generate sale prices that exceeds existing liens.

Therefore, the Court finds that Movant has carried its burden of demonstrating that the Debtor does not have any equity in the Properties and the Debtor has failed to demonstrate that the Properties are necessary for an effective reorganization.

Movant is directed to lodge conforming proposed orders for each motion, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Daniel Koontz or Jessica Vogel at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. If you wish to make a telephonic appearance, contact Court Call at 888-882-6878, no later than one hour before the hearing.

Note 1: Movant highlights that the Debtor is a suspended California limited liability company not authorized to conduct business in California and cites Palm Valley Homeowners Association, Inc. v. Design MTC, 85 Cal.App.4th 553, 560 (2000) for the proposition that the Debtor is disabled from participating in this bankruptcy case. To the extent Movant intended this as a request to strike the Debtor's Omnibus Opposition, the request is overruled. Based upon this Court's limited research on the issue, it appears that corporate suspension does not prevent an entity from seeking bankruptcy protection to wind up its affairs. In re Bertuccio, 414 B.R. 604, 618 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. 2008), aff'd in part sub nom, Employment Dev. Dep't v. Bertuccio, 2011 WL 1158022 (N.D. Cal. Mar. 28, 2011) ("[A] corporation, whose powers are suspended, may nonetheless file bankruptcy to wind up its affairs"); In re Feature Homes, Inc., 116 B.R. 731, 733 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 1990) ("[T]he subject Revenue and Tax Code forfeiture statutes purport to only revoke the corporate entity's right to enter into enforceable contracts and to protect itself in state court and do not address nor purport to affect that entities right to file for protection under the Federal Bankruptcy Code").

Note 2: The Debtor contends that it was not prepared to respond with appraisals because it was allegedly caught off guard by how quickly Movant sought stay relief. To the extent the Debtor intended this as a request for a continuance to allow it time to obtain appraisals, the request is denied. It appears that the Debtor has been in default under its loan obligations to the Movants for more than eight months and sought bankruptcy protection to delay Movant's foreclosure efforts. Debtor's counsel is well seasoned in bankruptcy and should have anticipated the immediate need for appraisals. Accordingly, the Court is unwilling to prejudice Movant any further by granting the Debtor a continuance to obtain appraisals.

Note 3: The Court also notes that the Debtor contends that granting stay relief will prejudice other creditors, but the Debtor only has secured creditors. See Doc. No. 8.

Docket 13

Tentative Ruling:

3/14/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2) to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to repossess or otherwise obtain possession and dispose of its collateral pursuant to applicable law, and to use the proceeds from its disposition to satisfy its claim. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. The Court finds that there is no equity in the subject vehicle and that the vehicle is not necessary for an effective reorganization.

This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. All other relief is denied.

Movant shall upload an appropriate order via the Court's Lodged Order Upload system within 7 days of the hearing.

#9.00 HearingRE: [9] Notice of motion and motion for relief from the automatic stay with supporting declarations UNLAWFUL DETAINER RE: 3042 Honolulu Avenue, Unit C, La Crescenta, California 91214 . (Bach, Julian)

Docket 9

Tentative Ruling:

3/14/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set on a shortened notice in accordance with Judge Robles' procedures. Oppositions, if any, will be considered at the hearing.

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1). The stay is terminated as to the Debtor and the Debtor's bankruptcy estate with respect to the Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns. Movant may enforce its remedies to obtain possession of the property in accordance with applicable law, but may not pursue a deficiency claim against the debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501.

This Motion has been filed to allow the Movant to proceed with the filing of an unlawful detainer proceeding in state court. An unlawful detainer proceeding may go forward because the Debtor's right to possess the premises must be determined. This does not change simply because a bankruptcy petition was filed. See In re Butler, 271 B.R. 867, 876 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2002).

This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of this bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. All other relief is denied.

Movant shall upload an appropriate order via the Court's Lodged Order Upload system within 7 days of the hearing.

Docket 11

Tentative Ruling:

3/14/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set on shortened notice in accordance with Judge Robles' procedures. Oppositions, if any, will be considered at the hearing.

If there are no appearances as the hearing, the Court is prepared to find that there is sufficient evidence to grant relief pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(4). The filing of the petition was part of a scheme to delay, hinder, and defraud creditors, which involved the transfer of all or part ownership of, or other interest in, the Property without the consent of Movant or court approval and multiple bankruptcy filings affecting the Property. Declaration of David Cohen in support of Motion at paragraph 18.

For the same reasons, the Motion is GRANTED pursuant to section 362(d)(1) based on Debtor's bad faith filing. The 14-day period specified in Fed.R.Bankr.P. 4001(a)(3) is waived. This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. If recorded in compliance with applicable State laws governing notices of interests or liens in real property, the order shall be binding in any other case under this title purporting to affect such real property filed not later than 2 years after the date of the entry of such order by the Court, except that a debtor in a subsequent case under this title may move for relief from such order based upon changed circumstances or for good cause shown, after notice and a hearing. 3/18/2019

Pursuant to several stipulations approved by the Court, Defendant's deadline to respond to the Complaint has been extended to April 12, 2019. Having reviewed the Unilateral Status Report submitted by the Plaintiff, the Court HEREBY ORDERS as follows:

- 1) The litigation deadlines previously ordered shall continue to apply, as follows:
 - a) The last day to amend pleadings and/or join other parties is 4/11/2019.
 - b) The last day to disclose expert witnesses and expert witness reports is 7/30/2019.
 - c) The last day to disclose rebuttal expert witnesses and rebuttal expert witness reports is 8/29/2019.
 - d) The last date to complete discovery relating to expert witnesses (e.g., depositions of expert witnesses), including hearings on motions related to expert discovery, is 9/17/2019. (For contemplated hearings on motions related to expert discovery, it is counsel's responsibility to check the Judge's self-calendaring dates, posted on the Court's website. - f) The last day to complete discovery (except as to experts), including hearings on discovery motions, is 9/28/2019. (If the non-expert discovery cutoff date is not available for self-calendaring, the deadline for non-expert discovery motions to be heard is the next closest date which is available for self-calendaring.)
- g) A Pretrial Conference is set for 10/15/2019 at 11:00 a.m. By no later than fourteen days prior to the Pretrial Conference, the parties must submit a Joint Pretrial Stipulation via the Court's Lodged Order Upload (LOU) system. Submission via LOU allows the Court to edit the Joint Pretrial Stipulation, if necessary. Parties should consult the Court Manual, section 4, for information about LOU.
- h) In addition to the procedures set forth in Local Bankruptcy Rule 7016-1(b), the following procedures govern the conduct of the Pretrial Conference and the preparation of the Pretrial Stipulation:
 - i) By no later than thirty days prior to the Pretrial Conference, the parties must exchange copies of all exhibits which each party intends to introduce into evidence (other than exhibits to be used solely for impeachment or rebuttal).
 - ii) When preparing the Pretrial Stipulation, all parties shall stipulate to the admissibility of exhibits whenever possible. In the event any party cannot stipulate to the admissibility of an exhibit, that party must file a Motion in Limine which clearly identifies each exhibit alleged to be inadmissible and/or prejudicial. The moving party must set the Motion in Limine for hearing at the same time as the Pretrial Conference; notice and service of the Motion shall be governed by LBR 9013-1. The Motion in Limine must contain a statement of the specific prejudice that will be suffered by the moving party if the Motion is not granted. The Motion must be supported by a memorandum of points and authorities containing citations to the applicable Federal Rules of Evidence, relevant caselaw, and other legal authority. Blanket or boilerplate evidentiary objections not accompanied by detailed supporting argument are prohibited, will be summarily overruled, and

 - iv) Motions in Limine seeking to exclude testimony to be offered by any witness shall comply with the requirements set forth in ¶(1)(h)(ii), and shall be filed by the deadline specified in ¶(1)(h)(ii). The failure of a party to file a Motion in Limine shall be deemed a waiver of any objections to the admissibility of a witness's testimony.
- i) Trial is set for the week of 10/28/2019. The trial day commences at 9:00 a.m. The exact date of the trial will be set at the Pretrial Conference. Consult the Court's website for the Judge's requirements regarding exhibit binders and trial briefs.
- 2) In view of the parties' representation that they have engaged in preliminary settlement discussions, the Court will not order the matter to formal mediation at this time.
 - 3) A continued Status Conference is set for June 11, 2019, at 10:00 a.m. A Joint Status Report shall be submitted by no later than fourteen days prior to the hearing.

The Court will prepare and enter a Scheduling Order.

 - i) By no later than thirty days prior to the Pretrial Conference, the parties must exchange copies of all exhibits which each party intends to introduce into evidence (other than exhibits to be used solely for impeachment or rebuttal).
 - ii) When preparing the Pretrial Stipulation, all parties shall stipulate to the admissibility of exhibits whenever possible. In the event any party cannot stipulate to the admissibility of an exhibit, that party must file a Motion in Limine which clearly identifies each exhibit alleged to be inadmissible and/or prejudicial. The moving party must set the Motion in Limine for hearing at the same time as the Pretrial Conference; notice and service of the Motion shall be governed by LBR 9013-1. The Motion in Limine must contain a statement of the specific prejudice that will be suffered by the moving party if the Motion is not granted. The Motion must be supported by a memorandum of points and authorities containing citations to the applicable Federal Rules of Evidence, relevant caselaw, and other legal authority. Blanket or boilerplate evidentiary objections not accompanied by detailed supporting argument are prohibited, will be summarily overruled, and may subject the moving party to sanctions.
 - iii) The failure of a party to file a Motion in Limine complying with the

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

3/18/2019

Plaintiff and Defendant have agreed upon an open-ended extension of Defendant's deadline to respond to the Complaint to enable the parties to engage in settlement discussions. Having reviewed the Unilateral Status Report submitted by the Plaintiff, the Court HEREBY ORDERS as follows:

- 1) The litigation deadlines previously ordered shall continue to apply, as follows:
 - a) The last day to amend pleadings and/or join other parties is 4/11/2019.
 - b) The last day to disclose expert witnesses and expert witness reports is 7/30/2019.
 - c) The last day to disclose rebuttal expert witnesses and rebuttal expert witness reports is 8/29/2019.
 - d) The last date to complete discovery relating to expert witnesses (e.g., depositions of expert witnesses), including hearings on motions related to expert discovery, is 9/17/2019. (For contemplated hearings on motions related to expert discovery, it is counsel's responsibility to check the Judge's self-calendaring dates, posted on the Court's website. If the expert discovery cutoff date falls on a date when the court is closed or that is not available for self-calendaring, the deadline for hearings on expert discovery motions is the next closest date which is available for self-calendaring.)

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

3/18/2019

Having reviewed the Joint Status Report submitted by the parties, the Court HEREBY ORDERS as follows:

- 1) Defendant has timely demanded a jury trial in this avoidance action, has not filed a proof of claim against the estate, and consents to having the jury trial conducted by the Bankruptcy Court. Under these circumstances, Defendant is entitled to a jury trial. See Langenkamp v. Culp, 498 U.S. 42, 45 (1990) ("If a party does not submit a claim against the bankruptcy estate, however, the trustee can recover allegedly preferential transfers only by filing what amounts to a legal action to recover a monetary transfer. In those circumstances the preference defendant is entitled to a jury trial."). Because both Plaintiff and Defendant have consented to the Bankruptcy Court's entry of final judgment, the jury trial will be conducted by the Bankruptcy Court. See Bankruptcy Rule 9015(b) (stating that the Bankruptcy Court may conduct a jury trial only with the consent of all parties).
- 2) The litigation deadlines previously ordered shall continue to apply, as follows:
 - a) The last day to amend pleadings and/or join other parties is 4/11/2019.
 - b) The last day to disclose expert witnesses and expert witness reports is 7/30/2019.
 - c) The last day to disclose rebuttal expert witnesses and rebuttal expert witness reports is 8/29/2019.

- d) The last date to complete discovery relating to expert witnesses (e.g., depositions of expert witnesses), including hearings on motions related to expert discovery, is 9/17/2019. (For contemplated hearings on motions related to expert discovery, it is counsel's responsibility to check the Judge's self-calendaring dates, posted on the Court's website. If the expert discovery cutoff date falls on a date when the court is closed or that is not available for self-calendaring, the deadline for hearings on expert discovery motions is the next closest date which is available for self-calendaring.)
- e) The last day for dispositive motions to be heard is 9/24/2019. (If the motion cutoff date is not available for self-calendaring, the deadline for dispositive motions to be heard is the next closest date which is available for self-calendaring.)
- f) The last day to complete discovery (except as to experts), including hearings on discovery motions, is 9/28/2019. (If the non-expert discovery cutoff date is not available for self-calendaring, the deadline for non-expert discovery motions to be heard is the next closest date which is available for self-calendaring.)
- g) A Pretrial Conference is set for 10/15/2019 at 11:00 a.m. By no later than fourteen days prior to the Pretrial Conference, the parties must submit a Joint Pretrial Stipulation via the Court's Lodged Order Upload (LOU) system. Submission via LOU allows the Court to edit the Joint Pretrial Stipulation, if necessary. Parties should consult the Court Manual, section 4, for information about LOU.
- h) In addition to the procedures set forth in Local Bankruptcy Rule 7016-1(b), the following procedures govern the conduct of the Pretrial Conference and the preparation of the Pretrial Stipulation:
 - i) By no later than thirty days prior to the Pretrial Conference, the parties must exchange copies of all exhibits which each party intends to introduce into evidence (other than exhibits to be used solely for impeachment or rebuttal).
 - ii) When preparing the Pretrial Stipulation, all parties shall stipulate to the admissibility of exhibits whenever possible. In the event any party cannot stipulate to the admissibility of an exhibit, that party must file a Motion in Limine which clearly identifies each exhibit alleged to be inadmissible and/or prejudicial. The moving party must set the Motion in Limine for hearing at the same time as the Pretrial Conference; notice and service of the Motion shall be governed by LBR 9013-1. The Motion in Limine must contain a statement of the specific prejudice that will be suffered by the moving party if the Motion is not granted. The Motion must be supported by a memorandum of points and authorities containing citations to the applicable Federal Rules of Evidence, relevant caselaw, and other legal authority. Blanket or boilerplate evidentiary objections not accompanied by detailed supporting argument are prohibited, will be summarily overruled, and may subject the moving party to sanctions.

- iii) The failure of a party to file a Motion in Limine complying with the requirements of ¶(2)(h)(ii) shall be deemed a waiver of any objections to the admissibility of an exhibit.
 - iv) Motions in Limine seeking to exclude testimony to be offered by any witness shall comply with the requirements set forth in ¶(2)(h)(ii), and shall be filed by the deadline specified in ¶(2)(h)(ii). The failure of a party to file a Motion in Limine shall be deemed a waiver of any objections to the admissibility of a witness's testimony.
 - i) A jury trial is set for the week of 10/28/2019. The trial day commences at 9:00 a.m. The exact date of the trial will be set at the Pretrial Conference. Consult the Court's website for the Judge's requirements regarding exhibit binders and trial briefs.
- 3) In view of the parties' representation that they have engaged in preliminary settlement discussions, the Court will not order the matter to formal mediation at this time.
- 4) A continued Status Conference is set for June 11, 2019, at 10:00 a.m. A Joint Status Report shall be submitted by no later than fourteen days prior to the hearing.

The Court will prepare and enter a Scheduling Order.

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

3/18/2019

Having reviewed the Joint Status Report submitted by the parties, the Court HEREBY ORDERS as follows:

- 1) Defendant has timely demanded a jury trial in this avoidance action. Defendant is not entitled to a jury trial because it has filed a Proof of Claim against the estate. See Granfinanciera, S.A. v. Nordberg, 492 U.S. 33, 58, 109 S. Ct. 2782, 2799, 106 L. Ed. 2d 26 (1989). The Court will conduct a bench trial in this action.
- 2) The litigation deadlines previously ordered shall continue to apply, as follows:
 - a) The last day to amend pleadings and/or join other parties is 4/11/2019.
 - b) The last day to disclose expert witnesses and expert witness reports is 7/30/2019.
 - c) The last day to disclose rebuttal expert witnesses and rebuttal expert witness reports is 8/29/2019.
 - d) The last date to complete discovery relating to expert witnesses (e.g., depositions of expert witnesses), including hearings on motions related to expert discovery, is 9/17/2019. (For contemplated hearings on motions related to expert discovery, it is counsel's responsibility to check the Judge's self-calendaring dates, posted on the Court's website. If the expert discovery cutoff date falls on a date when the court is closed or that is not

- e) The last day for dispositive motions to be heard is 9/24/2019. (If the motion cutoff date is not available for self-calendaring, the deadline for dispositive motions to be heard is the next closest date which is available for self-calendaring.)
 - f) The last day to complete discovery (except as to experts), including hearings on discovery motions, is 9/28/2019. (If the non-expert discovery cutoff date is not available for self-calendaring, the deadline for non-expert discovery motions to be heard is the next closest date which is available for self-calendaring.)
 - g) A Pretrial Conference is set for 10/15/2019 at 11:00 a.m. By no later than fourteen days prior to the Pretrial Conference, the parties must submit a Joint Pretrial Stipulation via the Court's Lodged Order Upload (LOU) system. Submission via LOU allows the Court to edit the Joint Pretrial Stipulation, if necessary. Parties should consult the Court Manual, section 4, for information about LOU.
 - h) In addition to the procedures set forth in Local Bankruptcy Rule 7016-1(b), the following procedures govern the conduct of the Pretrial Conference and the preparation of the Pretrial Stipulation:
 - i) By no later than thirty days prior to the Pretrial Conference, the parties must exchange copies of all exhibits which each party intends to introduce into evidence (other than exhibits to be used solely for impeachment or rebuttal).
 - ii) When preparing the Pretrial Stipulation, all parties shall stipulate to the admissibility of exhibits whenever possible. In the event any party cannot stipulate to the admissibility of an exhibit, that party must file a Motion in Limine which clearly identifies each exhibit alleged to be inadmissible and/or prejudicial. The moving party must set the Motion in Limine for hearing at the same time as the Pretrial Conference; notice and service of the Motion shall be governed by LBR 9013-1. The Motion in Limine must contain a statement of the specific prejudice that will be suffered by the moving party if the Motion is not granted. The Motion must be supported by a memorandum of points and authorities containing citations to the applicable Federal Rules of Evidence, relevant caselaw, and other legal authority. Blanket or boilerplate evidentiary objections not accompanied by detailed supporting argument are prohibited, will be summarily overruled, and may subject the moving party to sanctions.

- iii) The failure of a party to file a Motion in Limine complying with the requirements of ¶(2)(h)(ii) shall be deemed a waiver of any objections to the admissibility of an exhibit.
- iv) Motions in Limine seeking to exclude testimony to be offered by any witness shall comply with the requirements set forth in ¶(2)(h)(ii), and shall be filed by the deadline specified in ¶(2)(h)(ii). The failure of a party to file a Motion in Limine shall be deemed a waiver of any objections to the admissibility of a witness's testimony.
- i) A bench trial is set for the week of 10/28/2019. The trial day commences at 9:00 a.m. The exact date of the trial will be set at the Pretrial Conference. Consult the Court's website for the Judge's requirements regarding exhibit binders and trial briefs.
- 3) In view of the parties' representation that they have engaged in preliminary settlement discussions, the Court will not order the matter to formal mediation at this time.
- 4) A continued Status Conference is set for June 11, 2019, at 10:00 a.m. A Joint Status Report shall be submitted by no later than fourteen days prior to the hearing.

The Court will prepare and enter a Scheduling Order.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Jessica Vogel or Daniel Koontz at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. If you wish to make a telephonic appearance, contact Court Call at 888-882-6878, no later than one hour before the hearing.

#35.00 Status Hearing RE: [1] Chapter 7 Involuntary Petition Against a Non-Individual. Matthew Chen (attorney Ji Yoon Kim) . (Serrano, Vera) Additional attachment(s) added on 1/31/2019 (Serrano, Vera).

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

3/18/2019

For the reasons set forth below, by separate order the Court will require YMP to show cause why the Involuntary Petition should not be dismissed, based upon the Court's inability to enter an order for relief as a result of a bona fide dispute as to Raymond's liability.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Involuntary Petition Against a Non-Individual [Doc. No. 1]
- 2) Summons and Notice of Status Conference in an Involuntary Bankruptcy Case [Doc. No. 3]
 - a) Proof of Service [Doc. No. 5]
- 3) Joint Status Report [Doc. No. 6]

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On January 31, 2019 (the "Petition Date"), YMP Property Management, LLC ("YMP") filed an Involuntary Petition Against a Non-Individual (the "Involuntary Petition"), seeking relief under Chapter 7, against 2009 Raymond LLC ("Raymond"). YMP is represented by LK Professional Law Group; Raymond is represented by Jamie Jiyeon Kim.

According to the Involuntary Petition, Raymond owes the YMP $265,000.00 for "repayment of note."

The Clerk of the Court issued an Involuntary Summons on January 31, 2019. Doc. No. 3. YMP served the Involuntary Summons upon Raymond on February 13, 2019. Doc. No. 5.

Raymond has not contested the Involuntary Petition. On March 13, 2019, YMP and Raymond filed a Joint Status Report (the "Status Report"). According to the Status Report, the Involuntary Petition corresponds to prior litigation before the Los Angeles Superior Court (the "State Court Action").

The Court takes judicial notice of the record in the State Court Action, which has not been presented to the Court by the parties. Specifically, On December 11, 2018, YMP filed a Complaint for Breach of Contract (the "Complaint") against Raymond. The Complaint alleges that YMP loaned Raymond $265,000 and that Raymond defaulted on the repayments. In its Answer to the Complaint, Raymond alleges that the loan was extended in connection with the acquisition of property located at 2009 Raymond Avenue, Los Angeles, CA 90007 (the "Property"). Raymond alleges that it borrowed funds from YMP in reliance upon YMP's representation that YMP would insure that development plans for the Property would be approved. Raymond further alleges that YMP failed to take reasonable efforts to obtain the approval of the plans, reducing the value of the Property. On January 25, 2019, Raymond filed a Cross-Complaint against YMP, asserting claims for breach of contract, breach of the covenant of good faith and fair dealing, fraud, tortious interference with prospective economic advantage, unfair business practices, and breach of contract by a third party beneficiary.

In the Status Report, YMP and Raymond state that they "are actively negotiating settlement." The parties state that they will be ready for trial on the involuntary petition in May 2019.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Section 303(b), which governs the commencement of an involuntary petition, provides in relevant part:

An involuntary case against a person is commenced by the filing with the bankruptcy court of a petition under chapter 7 or 11 of this title by three or more entities, each of which is either a holder of a claim against such person that is not contingent as to liability or the subject of a bona fide dispute as to liability or amount, ... if such noncontingent, undisputed claims aggregate at least $15,775 more than the value of any lien on property of the debtor securing such claims held by the holders of such claims.

Section 303(h) provides that if "the petition is not timely controverted, the court shall order relief against the debtor in an involuntary case under the chapter under which the petition was filed." Bankruptcy Rule 1011(b) requires that "[d]efenses and objections to the petition ... be filed and served within 21 days after service of the summons" Bankruptcy Rule 1013(a) requires the court to "determine the issues of a contested petition at the earliest practicable time and forthwith enter an order for relief, dismiss the petition, or enter any other appropriate order." Bankruptcy Rule 1013(b) provides that if a defense to the petition is not timely filed, "the court, on the next day, or as soon thereafter as practicable, shall enter an order for the relief requested in the petition."

Bankruptcy Rule 1010(a) provides that an involuntary summons shall be served "in the manner provided for service of a summons and complaint by Rule 7004(a) or (b)." Bankruptcy Rule 7004(e) requires that the summons be served within seven days of issuance.

Here, the Involuntary Summons was issued on January 31, 2019 but was not served until February 13, 2019. Because the Involuntary Summons was not served within the time prescribed by Bankruptcy Rule 7004(e), Raymond's obligation to contest the Involuntary Petition was not triggered. Therefore, the Court is not required to enter an order for relief at this time.

Based upon its review of the Status Report and the pleadings on file in the State Court Action, it appears that the parties have misunderstood the purpose of involuntary bankruptcy. "The central policy behind involuntary petitions, ... is to protect the threatened depletion of assets or to prevent the unequal treatment of similarly situated creditors. Creditors are justified in filing an involuntary bankruptcy against a debtor where exclusive bankruptcy powers and remedies may be usefully invoked to recover transferred assets, to insur[e] an orderly ranking of creditors' claims and to protect against other creditors obtaining a disproportionate share of a debtor's assets." In re Marciano, 446 B.R. 407, 419 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2010), aff'd, 459 B.R. 27 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2011), aff'd, 708 F.3d 1123 (9th Cir. 2013) (internal citations and quotations omitted). Here, it appears that YMP filed the Involuntary Petition not to safeguard against the depletion of Raymond's assets by other creditors, but rather to remove the disputes at issue in the State Court Action to the Bankruptcy Court.

The Court may not enter an order for relief against Raymond if YMP's claim is "the subject of a bona fide dispute as to liability or amount." § 303(b)(1), (h)(1). Based upon its review of the record in the State Court Action, it appears that the indebtedness alleged by YMP is subject to a bona fide dispute. By separate order, the Court will require YMP to show cause why the Involuntary Petition should not be dismissed, based on the Court's inability to enter an order for relief against Raymond

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Rideshare Port Management, LLC ("Rideshare") (Case No. 2:17-bk-22974-ER) and Red Booth, Inc. (Case No. 2:17-bk-22975-ER) ("Red Booth," and together with Rideshare, the "Debtors"), filed separate petitions for relief under chapter 11 on October 23, 2017. The Debtors have not moved for substantive consolidation or joint administration but state that they have a working relationship and their businesses are codependent.

On February 9, 2018, the Debtors filed a joint disclosure statement and plan [Rideshare Doc Nos. 53, 54; Red Booth Doc Nos. 69, 70]. At a hearing on April 5, 2018, the Court found that the joint disclosure statement did not contain adequate information, directed the Debtors to file an amended joint disclosure statement and amended plan, and set a deadline of July 24, 2018 for the Debtors to obtain confirmation and approval of the amended pleadings. See Rideshare Doc. No. 76; Red Booth Doc No. 103.

On May 11, 2018, the Debtors filed their first amended joint disclosure statement and first amended plan [Rideshare Doc. Nos. 94, 95; Red Booth Doc Nos. 114, 115]. The Court conducted a hearing on the adequacy of the first amended joint disclosure statement on July 5, 2018. In advance of the hearing, the Court posted a tentative ruling indicating the Court's intent to deny the motion for approval of the first amended joint disclosure statement with prejudice based upon the Court's determination that the first amended joint disclosure statement still lacked adequate information and the first amended joint plan was patently unconfirmable. See Rideshare Doc. No. 114; Red Booth Doc No. 132.

Counsel for the Debtors appeared at the hearing and asked whether the tentative ruling precluded the Debtors from amending the disclosure statement and plan and trying to get the outstanding issues resolved. Audio transcript, 11:16:32 a.m. – 11:16:40 a.m. The Court stated on the record that it was persuaded to reconsider setting a hearing on an Order to Show Cause why the cases should not be dismissed, "to allow [the Debtors] an opportunity to negotiate further and get to a confirmable plan." Audio transcript, 11:16:41 a.m. – 11:17:02 a.m.

The Court notes that the amended tentative ruling only reflects that it was

No. 124]. [Note 1] However, it was and remains the Court's intention to permit the Debtors to file a second amended joint disclosure statement and joint plan.

UST's Motions to Convert, Dismiss or Appoint a Chapter 11 Trustee

The Office of the United States Trustee (the "UST") filed separate Motions to Convert, Dismiss or Appoint a Chapter 11 Trustee with an Order Directing Payment of Quarterly Fees and for Judgment Thereon in both Debtors' cases. The UST recommends that the cases be dismissed based upon the following:

- Rideshare:
 - An order denying the adequacy of debtor's Disclosure Statement was entered on 7/16/18 (PACER Dkt. #124)
 - The Debtor has failed to provide sufficient evidence of worker's compensation insurance. Debtor's previously submitted proof of worker's compensation insurance showed an expiration date of 7/2/18
 - Third quarter UST fees for 2018 are fully accrued and must be paid no later than 10/31/18
 - Debtor owns no real property and at the time of filing, listed only $5,631.98 in cash. Debtor had no accounts receivables and no inventory. Additionally, the last filed Monthly Operating Report ("MOR") for the period ending August 2018 shows a total of $2,157 in three accounts consisting of $1,574.39 in the general DIP account, $358.51 in the payroll account, and $224.10 in the tax account. Debtor has not filed its September MOR which was due no later than October 15, 2018. Thus, the Debtor's schedules do not list any meaningful assets that a trustee can administer, so based on the evidence currently available, conversion would not appear to benefit creditors.

- The Debtor has failed to provide sufficient evidence of worker's compensation insurance. Debtor's previously submitted proof of worker's compensation insurance showed an expiration date of 8/13/18
- Third quarter UST fees for 2018 are fully accrued and must be paid no later than 10/31/18
- Debtor owns no real property and at the time of filing, listed only $199.62 in cash. Debtor had no accounts receivables and no inventory. Additionally, the last filed Monthly Operating Report ("MOR") for the period ending August 2018 shows a total of $209.07 in three accounts consisting of $69.09 in the general DIP account, $7.94 in the payroll account, and $129.04 in the tax account. Thus, the Debtor's schedules do not list any meaningful assets that a trustee can administer, so based on the evidence currently available, conversion would not appear to benefit creditors.

Debtors' Oppositions

Rideshare

Debtors state that since denial of the first amended joint disclosure statement, the Debtors have been diligent in their reorganizational efforts and should be afforded the opportunity to confirm a plan. The Debtors have engaged in ongoing settlement negotiations with their principals and objecting creditors Kaushaal Laxmee ("Laxmee"), Gary Oganessian, Alex Lichtenman and Howard Miller (collectively, the Objecting Creditors") respecting a consensual plan and consensual treatment of the claims. The parties believed they had reached consensual terms and were in the process of documenting the settlement and revising the plan but discovered a material misunderstanding that requires further negotiations. The Debtors cannot assure the Court, UST or parties in interest that the open issues will be resolved, but assert that it is in the best interest of Debtors' creditors to allow the Debtors additional time to negotiate. Therefore, Debtors request that the Court set a January 31, 2019 deadline for them to file a further amended joint disclosure statement and plan.

In the meantime, Rideshare states that it is in compliance with the deficiencies identified by the UST as follows: (i) proof of current Worker's Compensation insurance is attached to the Declaration of Rattan Joea (the "Roea Decl.") as Exhibit 1; (ii) Rideshare has paid its 3rd quarter UST fees and proof of payment is attached to the Roea Decl. as Exhibit 2; and (iii) a copy of its September MOR is attached to the Roea Decl. as Exhibit 3.

Debtors also submit that they are viable and profitable businesses that were forced to file for bankruptcy because of pending litigation and the resulting financial drain. The Debtors are otherwise current on all obligations and believe they can become more profitable in the future. Further, the Debtors' value stems from their ability to operate as a going concern and any liquidation value is not significant. If the Debtors are forced to liquidate, they will be forced to fire employees and creditors will receive little if anything. The Debtors also highlights that no creditors have joined in on the UST's request to dismiss. The Debtors submit that appointing a chapter 11 trustee is not in the best interest of the estate because it will only lead to further administrative claims and costs. The Debtors highlight that the UST has not alleged any fraud, dishonesty, or mismanagement.

Red Booth

Red Booth's opposition is substantially similarly to Rideshare's. However, in addition to the foregoing arguments, Red Booth states that it is in compliance with the deficiencies identified by the UST as follows: (i) Red Booth no longer has any employees and therefore does not maintain Worker's Compensation insurance; (ii) Red Booth has paid its 3rd quarter UST fees and proof of payment is attached to the Roea Decl. as Exhibit 1; and (iii) a copy of its September MOR is attached to the Roea Decl. as Exhibit 2.

UST's Replies

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, the UST has not filed replies.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Under § 1112(b), the Court shall dismiss or convert a case to one under chapter 7 upon a showing of "cause." 11 U.S.C. § 1112(b). Section 1112(b)(4) provides a nonexclusive list of factors that constitute "cause" including, among other things: "(A) substantial or continuing loss to or diminution of the estate and the absence of a reasonable likelihood of rehabilitation;" "(B) gross mismanagement of the estate;" "(E) failure to comply with an order of the court;" "(F) unexcused failure to satisfy timely any filing or reporting requirement established by this title or by any rule applicable to a case under this chapter;" "(J) failure to file a disclosure statement, or to file or confirm a plan, within the time fixed by this title or by order of the court." "The enumerated causes are not exhaustive, and 'the court will be able to consider other factors as they arise, and to use its equitable powers to reach an appropriate result in individual cases.'" In re Consolidated Pioneer Mortgage Entities, 248 B.R. 368, 375 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2000) (quoting H.R. No. 95-595, 95th Cong., 1st Sess. 405-06 (1977), aff'd, 264 F.3d 803 (9th Cir. 2001).

Here, the Debtors submit that they have cured any outstanding deficiencies identified by the UST with respect to insurance, quarterly fees, and monthly operating reports. Further, it appears the ambiguous record led the UST to believe that the Debtors could not file a joint amended disclosure statement and, as a result, no further purpose was served by keeping these cases in bankruptcy. However, because this Court orally modified its ruling denying the first amended joint disclosure statement, to remove the portion of the ruling contemplating denial with prejudice, the Court finds it appropriate to permit the Debtors a final opportunity to propose an amended joint disclosure statement as set forth below.

The Debtors are directed to remain in timely compliance with applicable filing and reporting requirements in future.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons stated above, the Motions are DENIED without prejudice. The Debtors shall have until no later than January 31, 2019 to file a second amended joint disclosure statement and plan.

The Court will conduct a hearing on the adequacy of the second amended joint disclosure statement on March 19, 2019 at 10:00 a.m.

If the Court does not approve the adequacy of the disclosure statement at that hearing, the Court will issue an order after the hearing dismissing these cases pursuant to 1112(b)(4)(A) and (J) without further notice or hearing.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On August 31, 2018 (the "Petition Date"), Verity Health Systems of California ("VHS") and certain of its subsidiaries (collectively, the "Debtors") filed voluntary petitions for relief under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. On August 31, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the Debtors' motion for joint administration of the Debtors' Chapter 11 cases. Doc. No. 17.

Debtor Verity Medical Foundation ("VMF") is party to a Services Agreement dated April 1, 2018 (the "Services Agreement") with Oncology Technology Associates, LLC ("OTA"), under which OTA manages oncology medical practices at certain medical clinics operated by VMF (the "Clinics").

Debtors seek approval of a Settlement and Asset Purchase Agreement dated February 25, 2019 (the "Agreement"). The Agreement (1) provides for the termination of the Services Agreement between VMF and OTA, (2) provides for the sale of certain assets of the Clinics to OTA, and (3) provides for the assignment to OTA of various contracts assumed by the Debtors (collectively, the "Designated Contracts").

Limited objections to the Motion filed by McKesson Specialty Care Distribution Corp. and UnitedHealthcare Insurance Company have been resolved.

The Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors has no objection to the Motion.

II. Findings and Conclusions

A. The Court Approves the Sale of the Clinics' Assets to OTA

The Court approves the private sale of the Clinic's assets to OTA, for the purchase price of $500,000. Section 363(b) permits the debtor or trustee to sell estate property out of the ordinary course of business, subject to Court approval. The debtor or trustee must articulate a business justification for the sale of the property. In re Walter, 83 B.R. 14, 19–20 (9th Cir. BAP 1988) (citing In re Continental Air Lines, 780 F.2d 1223 (5th Cir. 1986)). Whether the articulated business justification is sufficient "depends on the case," in view of "all salient factors pertaining to the proceeding." Id. "The court's obligation in § 363(b) sales is to assure that optimal value is realized by the estate under the circumstances." Simantob v. Claims Prosecutor, LLC (In re Lahijani), 325 B.R. 282, 288–89 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2005).

The Court finds that the sale provides optimal value to the estate. The sale will generate $500,000 funds for the estate, will allow the Clinics to continue to operate, and will relieve the Debtors of liability for damages that would otherwise result from rejection of the Designated Contracts.

Pursuant to § 363(f), the sale of the assets is free and clear of any and all liens, claims, and interests. Any secured creditors' liens will attach to the proceeds of the sale to the same extent, and with the same validity and priority, as those liens had prior to the sale. Holders of liens, claims, and interests have received notice of the Motion, and by failing to object are deemed to consent to the sale pursuant to § 363(f)

Chapter 11

B. The Court Approves the Settlement with OTA

Bankruptcy Rule 9019 provides that the Court may approve a compromise or settlement. "In determining the fairness, reasonableness and adequacy of a proposed settlement agreement, the court must consider: (a) The probability of success in the litigation; (b) the difficulties, if any, to be encountered in the matter of collection; (c) the complexity of the litigation involved, and the expense, inconvenience and delay necessarily attending it; (d) the paramount interest of the creditors and a proper deference to their reasonable views in the premises." Martin v. Kane (In re A&C Properties), 784 F.2d 1377, 1381 (9th Cir. 1986). "[C]ompromises are favored in bankruptcy, and the decision of the bankruptcy judge to approve or disapprove the compromise of the parties rests in the sound discretion of the bankruptcy judge." In re Sassalos, 160 B.R. 646, 653 (D. Ore. 1993). In approving a settlement agreement, the Court must "canvass the issues and see whether the settlement 'falls below the lowest point in the range of reasonableness.'" Cosoff v. Rodman (In re W.T. Grant Co.), 699 F.2d 599, 608 (2d Cir. 1983).

Applying the A&C Properties factors, the Court finds that the Agreement is adequate, fair, and reasonable, and is in the best interests of the estate and creditors. The Agreement resolves any dispute over OTA's right to receive payment for postpetition services rendered under the Services Agreement. In the absence of the Agreement, the Debtors would be required to reject the Services Agreement to avoid continued losses from the operation of the Clinics. Such rejection would expose the estate to substantial rejection damages. In addition, the Agreement provides that employees working at the Clinics will be hired by OTA, saving the Debtors from absorbing the costs that would otherwise be associated with the employees' termination. The Court notes that the Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors supports the Agreement.

C. The Court Approves the Assumption and Assignment of the Designated Contracts

Section 365(a) provides that the Debtor, "subject to the court's approval, may assume or reject any executory contract or unexpired lease of the debtor." In Agarwal v. Pomona Valley Med. Grp. (In re Pomona Valley Med. Grp., Inc.), the Ninth Circuit explained that the business judgment rule governs the Bankruptcy Court's review of the Debtors' decision to assume or reject an executory contract or unexpired lease.

Pomona Valley, 476 F.3d 665, 670 (9th Cir. 2007). The Pomona Valley court stated that the Court “need engage in only a cursory review” of the debtor’s decision, and “should presume that the debtor-in-possession acted prudently, on an informed basis, in good faith, and in the honest belief that the action taken was in the best interests of the bankruptcy estate.” Id.

Pursuant to §365(b)(1), if there has been a default in the executory contract to be assumed, the Debtor may not assume the contract unless the Debtor:

- a) cures, or provides adequate assurance that the [Debtor] will promptly cure, such default;
- b) compensates, or provides adequate assurance that the [Debtor] will promptly compensate, a party other than the debtor to such contract ..., for any actual pecuniary loss to such party resulting from such default; and
- c) provides adequate assurance of future performance under such contract or lease.

Counterparties to the Designated Contracts have not objected to the amounts that will be paid to cure any defaults under the assumed contracts and leases. As the assumption and assignment of the Designated Contracts constitute a material component of the Agreement, the Court finds that the Debtors have exercised their sound business judgment with respect to the assumption and assignment of these contracts.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the Motion is GRANTED. The Debtors shall submit a conforming order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On August 31, 2018 (the "Petition Date"), Verity Health Systems of California ("VHS") and certain of its subsidiaries (collectively, the "Debtors") filed voluntary petitions for relief under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. On August 31, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the Debtors' motion for joint administration of the Debtors' Chapter 11 cases. Doc. No. 17.

Debtor Verity Medical Foundation ("VMF") is a party to a professional services agreement (the "PSA") with San Jose Medical Group ("SJMG"). SJMG employs and contracts with physicians who provide medical services. Under the PSA, SMJG provides medical services to medical clinics operated by VMF (the "Clinics").

Debtors seek approval of a Settlement and Asset Purchase Agreement dated February 15, 2019 (the "Agreement"). The Agreement (1) provides for the termination of the PSA between VMF and SJMG, (2) provides for the sale of certain assets of the Clinics to Silicon Valley Medical Development, LLC ("Silicon Valley"), and (3) provides for the assignment to Silicon Valley of various contracts assumed by the Debtors (collectively, the "Designated Contracts"). [Note 1]

A. Objections of Health Net, LLC and UnitedHealthcare Insurance Company

The Debtors initially sought authorization to assume and assign certain managed care agreements (the "Managed Care Agreements") to Silicon Valley. UnitedHealthcare Insurance Company ("UnitedHealthcare") and Health Net, LLC ("HealthNet") are counterparties to the Managed Care Agreements. UnitedHealthcare and HealthNet filed limited objections to the assumption and assignment of the Managed Care Agreements, contending that the Debtors had not made a showing of adequate assurance of future performance.

The Debtors have reached a resolution of the objections asserted by UnitedHealthcare and HealthNet by agreeing not to assume and assign the Managed Care Agreements at this time. In addition, in furtherance of the agreement reached with UnitedHealthcare, throughout April 2009 the Debtors will continue to perform under the Medical Group Participation Agreement dated June 1, 2012 and the Medical Group/IPA Services Agreement (Professional Capitation) dated February 1, 2001.

B. Objection of Cigna

The Debtors are parties to certain provider agreements (the “Cigna Provider Agreements”) with Cigna Healthcare of California, Inc. and/or Cigna Health and Life Insurance Company (collectively, “Cigna”). The Debtors do not seek to assume and assign the Cigna Provider Agreements. Cigna asserts that any order approving the sale must provide Cigna at least sixty days to provide notice to Cigna’s members that the Clinics will be exiting the Cigna network.

The Debtors anticipate that Cigna’s objection will be resolved prior to the hearing. The Debtors state that they are not seeking to assume and assign the Cigna Provider Agreements at this time for the purpose of providing Cigna additional time to perform due diligence regarding Silicon Valleys’ ability to perform under the Cigna Provider Agreements. The Debtors state that they will continue to perform under the Cigna Provider Agreements while such due diligence is conducted.

C. Objection of the Landlord

VMF is a party to a Triple Net Medical Office Building Lease dated June 19, 2017 (the “Current Lease”) with Medical Office Buildings of California, LLC (the “Landlord”), pursuant to which VMF leases approximately 25,079 square feet of the first floor of a medical office building located in San Jose, CA (the “Premises”). VMF and the Landlord are also parties to a lease dated March 21, 1994 (the “Former Lease”). The term of the Former Lease expired on December 31, 2017, and VMF is currently occupying the second floor of the Premises as a holdover tenant.

The Landlord does not own the Premises. Instead, the Landlord leases the Premises from San Jose Healthcare System, LP (the “Ground Landlord”), pursuant to a lease dated July 1, 2000 (the “Ground Lease”). None of the Debtors is a party to the Ground Lease. The Ground Lease prohibits the Landlord from subleasing any portion of the premises to a “Precluded Transferee.”

Under the Motion, Debtors seek to assume and assign the Current Lease to Silicon Valley. The Landlord does not object to assignment of the Current Lease to Silicon Valley, but is concerned that Silicon Valley may be a Precluded Transferee under the Ground Lease. The Landlord has engaged in discussions with the Ground Lessor regarding the Debtors’ request to assume and assign the Current Lease.

The Landlord further asserts that the Former Lease cannot be assumed and assigned to Silicon Valley because it has expired. The Landlord states that it is not interested in negotiating a new lease for the portion of the Premises covered by the Former Lease.

Debtors assert that the Current Lease may be assumed and assigned to Silicon Valley because the Debtors are not bound by the terms of the Ground Lease. Further, Debtors argue that even if they were bound by the Ground Lease, the restrictions on assignment would be invalid under § 365(f)(1).

II. Findings and Conclusions

A. The Court Approves the Sale of the Clinics' Assets to Silicon Valley

The Court approves the private sale of the Clinics' assets to Silicon Valley, for the purchase price of $1.27 million. Section 363(b) permits the debtor or trustee to sell estate property out of the ordinary course of business, subject to Court approval. The debtor or trustee must articulate a business justification for the sale of the property. In re Walter, 83 B.R. 14, 19–20 (9th Cir. BAP 1988) (citing In re Continental Air Lines, 780 F.2d 1223 (5th Cir. 1986)). Whether the articulated business justification is sufficient "depends on the case," in view of "all salient factors pertaining to the proceeding." Id. "The court's obligation in § 363(b) sales is to assure that optimal value is realized by the estate under the circumstances." Simantob v. Claims Prosecutor, LLC (In re Lahijani), 325 B.R. 282, 288–89 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2005).

The Court finds that the sale provides optimal value to the estate. The sale will generate $1.27 million of funds for the estate and will allow the Clinics to continue to serve patients.

Pursuant to § 363(f), the sale of the assets is free and clear of any and all liens, claims, and interests. Any secured creditors' liens will attach to the proceeds of the sale to the same extent, and with the same validity and priority, as those liens had prior to the sale. Holders of liens, claims, and interests have received notice of the Motion, and by failing to object are deemed to consent to the sale pursuant to § 363(f) (2).

B. The Court Approves the Settlement with SJMG

Bankruptcy Rule 9019 provides that the Court may approve a compromise or settlement. "In determining the fairness, reasonableness and adequacy of a proposed settlement agreement, the court must consider: (a) The probability of success in the litigation; (b) the difficulties, if any, to be encountered in the matter of collection; (c) the complexity of the litigation involved, and the expense, inconvenience and delay necessarily attending it; (d) the paramount interest of the creditors and a proper deference to their reasonable views in the premises." Martin v. Kane (In re A&C Properties), 784 F.2d 1377, 1381 (9th Cir. 1986). "[C]ompromises are favored in bankruptcy, and the decision of the bankruptcy judge to approve or disapprove the compromise of the parties rests in the sound discretion of the bankruptcy judge." In re Sassalos, 160 B.R. 646, 653 (D. Rodman (In re W.T. Grant Co.)*, 699 F.2d 599, 608 (2d Cir. 1983).

Applying the A&C Properties factors, the Court finds that the Agreement is adequate, fair, and reasonable, and is in the best interests of the estate and creditors. The Agreement eliminates disputes under the PSA between SJMG and the Debtors. The Debtors have asserted claims against SJMG for overpayments under the PSA, and SJMG has asserted claims against the Debtors for underpayments under the PSA and for negligence. Litigation of these claims would be complex, costly, and time consuming. The possibility that litigation might yield a result nominally more favorable to the estate cannot be ruled out. Yet any such result obtained through litigation would be a pyrrhic victory from the perspective of the estate and creditors, because the additional administrative costs associated with the litigation would on net leave the estate worse off. The Court notes that the Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors supports the Agreement.

C. The Court Approves the Assumption and Assignment of the Designated Contracts

Section 365(a) provides that the Debtor, "subject to the court's approval, may assume or reject any executory contract or unexpired lease of the debtor." In Agarwal v. Pomona Valley Med. Grp. (In re Pomona Valley Med. Grp., Inc.), the Ninth Circuit explained that the business judgment rule governs the Bankruptcy Court's review of the Debtors' decision to assume or reject an executory contract or unexpired lease. Pomona Valley, 476 F.3d 665, 670 (9th Cir. 2007). The Pomona Valley court stated that the Court "need engage in only a cursory review" of the debtor's decision, and "should presume that the debtor-in-possession acted prudently, on an informed basis, in good faith, and in the honest belief that the action taken was in the best interests of the bankruptcy estate." Id.

Pursuant to §365(b)(1), if there has been a default in the executory contract to be assumed, the Debtor may not assume the contract unless the Debtor:

- a) cures, or provides adequate assurance that the [Debtor] will promptly cure, such default;
- b) compensates, or provides adequate assurance that the [Debtor] will promptly compensate, a party other than the debtor to such contract ..., for any actual pecuniary loss to such party resulting from such default; and
- c) provides adequate assurance of future performance under such contract or lease.

Counterparties to the Designated Contracts have not objected to the amounts that will be paid to cure any defaults under the assumed contracts and leases. As the assumption and assignment of the Designated Contracts constitute a material component of the Agreement, the Court finds that the Debtors have exercised their sound business judgment with respect to the assumption and assignment of these contracts.

D. The Landlord's Objection to the Assumption and Assignment of the Current Lease is Overruled

The Court overrules the Landlord's objection to the assumption and assignment of the Current Lease. First, the anti-assignment provisions of the Ground Lease are not binding upon VMF, because VMF is not a party to the Ground Lease. Second, even if the Ground Lease was binding upon VMF, the anti-assignment provision would not be enforceable in bankruptcy. Section 365(f)(1) authorizes a debtor to assign an unexpired lease notwithstanding "a provision ... that prohibits, restricts, or conditions the assignment of such ... lease"

The Court notes that the Debtors do not seek to assume and assign the Former Lease, which has expired. With respect to the portion of the Premises covered by the Former Lease, the Debtors' designation of contracts to be assigned provides that either a new lease will be negotiated or that the Former Lease will be rejected.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the Motion is GRANTED. The Debtors shall submit a conforming order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing.

The purchase price is $6,000, and the sale is subject to overbids. The Trustee does not seek a finding that the proposed purchaser is entitled to the protections of § 363(m).

No opposition to the Sale Motion is on file.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Section 363(b) permits the Trustee to sell estate property out of the ordinary course of business, subject to court approval. The debtor must articulate a business justification for the sale. In re Walter, 83 B.R. 14, 19–20 (9th Cir. BAP 1988). Whether the articulated business justification is sufficient "depends on the case," in view of "all salient factors pertaining to the proceeding." Id. at 19–20.

The Trustee has demonstrated sufficient business justification for the sale. The Trustee has a statutory obligation to liquidate the estate's assets; the sale furthers such obligation.

The Trustee is authorized to execute and deliver on behalf of the estate any and all documents necessary to implement the terms of the sale.

Notwithstanding Bankruptcy Rule 6004(f), the order approving the sale shall take effect immediately upon entry.

Auction Procedures

In the event that any qualified overbidders are present, the Court will distribute numbered auction paddles to the proposed purchaser and all qualified overbidders. The initial overbid will be $5,000, with subsequent overbids to be increments of $1,000. The overbid increment is subject to adjustment by the Court to facilitate bidding. The Court will announce each bid level. To remain in the auction, bidders must participate at all bid levels. That is, parties who do not bid in a round cannot later change their minds and re-enter the auction. Parties may make a bid higher than that announced by the Court by approaching the podium and stating their bid.

III. Conclusion

Based upon the foregoing, the Sale Motion is GRANTED. The Trustee shall submit a conforming order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing.

 - a) Notice of OSC [Doc. No. 42]

Michael Andrew Walker (the "Debtor") filed a voluntary Chapter 7 petition on October 3, 2018. On October 4, 2018, the Court entered an Order on Application to Pay Filing Fee in Installments [Doc. No. 10] (the "First Fee Installment Order"). On December 7, 2018, the Court dismissed the Debtor's case after the Debtor failed to make the payments required by the First Fee Installment Order. On December 10, 2018, the Court granted the Debtor's motion to vacate the dismissal and set new deadlines for payment of the remainder of the filing fee. See Order (1) Vacating Dismissal and (2) Setting New Deadlines for Payment of Filing Fee Installment [Doc. No. 28] (the "Second Fee Installment Order"). The Second Fee Installment Order required the Debtor to pay the remaining filing fee according to the following

- First installment payment: $78.75 on or before December 21, 2018;
- Second installment payment: $78.75 on or before January 11, 2019; and
- Third installment payment: $78.75 on or before January 25, 2019.

See Second Fee Installment Order.

The Debtor has made payments in the total amount of $180. Fees are delinquent in the amount of $155.

On February 15, 2019, the Court issued an Order Requiring Debtor to Appear and Show Cause Why Case Should Not be Dismissed Because of Debtor's Failure to Pay the Filing Fee in Installments [Doc. No. 41] (the "OSC"). The OSC ordered the Debtor to make the delinquent installment payments by no later than one week prior to the hearing. The Debtor have not made the delinquent payment and has not responded to the OSC.

Bankruptcy Rule 1017(b)(1) provides: "If any installment of the filing fee has not been paid, the court may, after a hearing on notice to the debtor and the trustee, dismiss the case."

The Debtor's case is dismissed based on the Debtor's failure to comply with the Second Fee Installment Order and the OSC. The Court will enter an order dismissing the case.

4. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition to the Motion to Dismiss is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Debtor-in-possession, Laura Marie Sarkisian (the "Debtor"), filed this voluntary chapter 11 case on January 28, 2019 (the "Petition Date"). As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, the Debtor has not filed any schedules, a statement of financial affairs ("SOFA"), or a certificate of credit counseling.

Creditor Grand Pacific Financing Corporation ("Movant") moves for an order dismissing this case with a 180-day bar to refiling pursuant to §§ 105(a), 109(h), 349(a), 521 and 1112(b)(1). Movant is the holder of a lien secured by the Debtor's residence. In support of dismissal, Movant contends that the Debtor filed this case in bad faith to thwart its foreclosure efforts. Movant states that on November 20, 2018, the Debtor's spouse, Kevork Sarkisian, filed a separate individual chapter 11 petition asserting an interest in Movant's collateral and that on January 3, 2019, that case was dismissed with a 180-day refiling bar. See Case. No. 2:18-bk-23587-BR. Movant requests that this Court take judicial notice of Mr. Sarkisian's petition, the U.S. Trustee's motion to dismiss that case, and the court's order granting the motion to dismiss and imposing a 180-day refiling bar. Shortly thereafter, the Debtor filed this case as a further attempt to take advantage of the automatic stay and delay the foreclosure.

Movant highlights that the Debtor failed to disclose Mr. Sarkisian's case in her petition and has otherwise failed to discharge her duties as a debtor-in-possession by failing to file schedules, a SOFA, and a certificate of credit counseling. Movant also highlights that the Debtor has had other cases dismissed in the past. See In re Kevork Sarkisian and Laura Maria Sarkisian, Case No. 2:11-bk-46275-PC; In re Laura Marie Sarkisian, Case No. 2:13-bk-13105-PC. [Note 1]

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file.

The Court also takes judicial notice of the U.S. Trustee's separately filed Motion Under 11 U.S.C. § 1112(b)(1) to Convert, Dismiss or Appoint a Chapter 11 Trustee with an Order Directing Payment of Quarterly Fees and for Judgment Thereon [Doc. No. 16] (the "UST Motion to Dismiss"), pursuant to which the U.S. Trustee seeks dismissal of this case with a 180-day refiling bar based upon the Debtor's failure to file case commencement documents, comply with U.S. Trustee reporting requirements, file monthly operating reports, and because the Debtor is a repeat filer. The U.S. Trustee scheduled a hearing on that motion for April 16, 2019.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Under § 1112(b), the Court shall dismiss or convert a case to one under chapter 7 upon a showing of "cause." 11 U.S.C. § 1112(b). Section 1112(b)(4) provides a nonexclusive list of factors that constitute "cause," including in relevant part: "(A) substantial or continuing loss to or diminution of the estate and the absence of a reasonable likelihood of rehabilitation;" "(B) gross mismanagement of the estate;" "(C) failure to maintain appropriate insurance that poses a risk to the estate or to the public;" "(E) failure to comply with an order of the court;" "(F) unexcused failure to satisfy timely any filing or reporting requirement established by this title or by any rule applicable to a case under this chapter;" "(H) failure to timely provide information or attend meetings reasonably required by the United States Trustee;" and "(J) failure to file a disclosure statement, or to file or confirm a plan, within the time fixed by this title or by order of the court." "The enumerated causes are not exhaustive, and 'the court will be able to consider other factors as they arise, and to use its equitable powers to reach an appropriate result in individual cases.'" In re Consolidated Pioneer Mortgage Entities, 248 B.R. 368, 375 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2000) (quoting H.R. No. 95-595, 95th Cong., 1st Sess. 405-06 (1977), aff'd, 264 F.3d 803 (9th Cir. 2001)).

Movant has established more than sufficient "cause" within the meaning of § 1112(b) to convert, dismiss or appoint a chapter 11 trustee in this case. The Debtor has utterly disregarded her duties as a debtor-in-possession and not taken any steps to prosecute this case. Additionally, the absence of a response to this Motion to Dismiss, and the fact that the only activity the Debtor has undertaken in this case was to file the petition, lend credence to Movant's contention that this case was filed in bad faith solely to hinder Movant's foreclosure efforts.

Having determined that cause exists, the Court must next determine whether conversion, dismissal or appointment of a chapter 11 trustee serves the best interests of creditors or the estate. See In re Products Int'l Co., 395 B.R. 101, 107 (Bankr. D. Ariz. 2008) (citing In re Nelson, 343 B.R. 671 (9th Cir. 2006)). "[W]hen deciding between dismissal and conversion under 11 U.S.C. § 1112(b), the court must consider the interests of all of the creditors." Shulkin Hutton, Inc. v. Treiger (In re Owens), 552 F.3d 958, 961 (9th Cir. 2009) (emphasis in original) (quoting Rollex Corp. v. Associated Materials, Inc. (In re Superior Siding & Window, Inc.), 14 F.3d 240, 243 (4th Cir. 1994)).

The Debtor has not filed any schedules in this case, so there is nothing in the record for the Court to conclude that the Debtor has any assets that a trustee could administer for the benefit of creditors. Therefore, the Court finds that dismissal is in the best interest of creditors. Additionally, in view of the Debtor's and her husband's history of bankruptcy filings, the Court finds that the Debtor filed this case in bad faith to hinder and delay Movant's foreclosure efforts. Therefore, the Court finds cause exists to grant Movant's request for a 180-day refiling bar.

#6.00 HearingRE: [28] Motion and notice of motion for Default Judgment

Docket 28

Tentative Ruling:

3/19/2019

Tentative Ruling:

For the reasons set forth below, the Court finds that Defendant is liable under § 523(a)(6) for constructively discharging Plaintiff. The Court cannot assess Plaintiff's damages upon the present record. By no later than April 9, 2019, Plaintiff shall file and serve a declaration showing the damages she suffered as a result of the constructive discharge (as opposed to the assault).

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Notice of Motion and Motion for Default Judgment [Doc. No. 28]
- 2) Memorandum of Decision Imposing Case-Dispositive Sanctions Against Defendant [Doc. No. 23]
- 3) Order Imposing Case-Dispositive Sanctions Against Defendant [Doc. No. 24]

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Celia Bryann Trujillo (the "Plaintiff") filed the instant Complaint Objecting and Seeking Exception to Discharge of Debtor [Doc. No. 1] (the "Complaint") on June 28, 2018. The Complaint alleges that Chong Sang Tak (the "Defendant") employed Plaintiff at his pizza restaurant; that Defendant failed to protect Plaintiff from another employee who sexually assaulted Plaintiff; and that Defendant's liability is excepted from discharge pursuant to § 523(a)(6).

The Complaint initially named Chong Sang Tak, In Og Tak, and Gangnam Pizza, Inc., dba Round Table Pizza ("Gangnam Pizza") as defendants. On July 30, 2018, Plaintiff filed a document captioned Amended Adversary Petition wherein Plaintiff requested that the Court dismiss Defendants In Og Tak, Gangnam Pizza, and Does 1 through 50 (the "Non-Answering Defendants"), on the ground that such defendants were named in error. The Court found that it was not appropriate to construe the Amended Adversary Petition as a First Amended Complaint, since the document requested only that the Non-Answering Defendants be dismissed and did not re-allege any of the operative claims for relief. See Order Confirming Effectiveness of Plaintiff's Voluntary Dismissal of Non-Answering Defendants [Doc. No. 12] (the "Dismissal Order") at ¶ 3. Instead, the Court construed the Amended Adversary Petition as a request for dismissal of the Non-Answering Defendants, made pursuant to Civil Rule 41(a)(1)(A). Dismissal Order at ¶ 2. The Court confirmed the effectiveness of the dismissal of the Non-Answering Defendants. Dismissal Order at ¶ 3.

On February 4, 2019, the Court struck Defendant's Answer and entered Defendant's default. See Memorandum of Decision Imposing Case-Dispositive Sanctions Against Defendant [Doc. No. 23] and Order Imposing Case-Dispositive Sanctions Against Defendant [Doc. No. 24]. Plaintiff moves for entry of default judgment. No opposition to the Motion for Default Judgment is on file.

II. Findings and Conclusions

A. Facts Established by the Complaint

Once default has been entered, the well-pleaded factual allegations of the complaint are taken as true. Cripps v. Life Ins. Co. of North America, 980 F.2d 1261, 1267 (9th Cir. 1992). The following facts are established by the Complaint. [Note 1]

Commencing in June 2016, Plaintiff was employed by Defendant as a part-time server at his restaurant, Gangnam Pizza. After the restaurant had closed for the evening on January 6, 2017, Plaintiff's supervisor, Suk Ju Park, asked Plaintiff to come to the cash register. When Plaintiff arrived at the cash register, Suk grabbed Plaintiff around the waist and began fondling Plaintiff's breasts. Plaintiff ran into the restroom to escape the unwanted touching. Park chased Plaintiff into the restroom, where he continued to fondle Plaintiff's breasts. Plaintiff succeeded in escaping from the restaurant after being subjected to Suk's unwanted touching for approximately eight to ten minutes.

On January 7, 2017, Plaintiff advised Defendant, in writing, of the assault that had occurred the previous evening. On January 8, 2017, Defendant viewed closed circuit television footage of the assault. Defendant took no action against Park. Plaintiff never returned to work at Gangnam Pizza.

Defendant was aware that other female employees at Gangnam Pizza were subjected to unwanted sexualized touching by Park. Notwithstanding such awareness, Defendant took no action to protect Plaintiff or other female employees from Park.

Shortly after Park assaulted Plaintiff, Defendant bought Park an airline ticket to enable him to return to South Korea. Defendant purchased the airline ticket to help Park avoid liability for the assault.

B. Plaintiff is Entitled to a Judgment of Non-Dischargeability

"Section 523(a)(6) excepts from discharge debts arising from a debtor's 'willful and malicious' injury to another person or to the property of another. The 'willful' and 'malicious' requirements are conjunctive and subject to separate analysis." Plyam v. Precision Development, LLC (In re Plyam), 530 B.R. 456, 463 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 2015) (internal citations omitted).

An injury is "willful" when "a debtor harbors 'either subjective intent to harm, or a subjective belief that harm is substantially certain.' The injury must be deliberate or intentional, 'not merely a deliberate or intentional act that leads to injury.'" Id. at 463 (internal citations omitted). When determining intent, there is a presumption that the debtor knows the natural consequences of his actions. Ormsby v. First Am. Title Co. of Nevada (In re Ormsby), 591 F.3d 1199, 1206 (9th Cir. 2010). An injury is "malicious" if it "involves '(1) a wrongful act, (2) done intentionally, (3) which necessarily causes injury, and (4) is done without just cause or excuse.'" Carrillo v. Su (In re Su), 290 F.3d 1140, 1146-47 (9th Cir. 2002) (internal citations omitted). "Within the plain meaning of this definition, it is the wrongful act that must be committed intentionally rather than the injury itself." Jett v. Sicroff (In re Sicroff), 401 F.3d 1101, 1106 (9th Cir. 2005).

In addition, the injury-producing conduct must be tortious in order to be excepted from discharge under §523(a)(6). Lockerby v. Sierra, 535 F.3d 1038, 1040 (9th Cir. 2008). "[C]onduct is not tortious under § 523(a)(6) simply because injury is intended or 'substantially likely to occur,' but rather is only tortious if it constitutes a tort under state law." Id. at 1041.

Plaintiff asserts that she is entitled to damages in the amount of $250,000 as a result of Defendant's conduct. According to Plaintiff's declaration:

I had to undergo psycho analysis [sic] and therapy for the harassment and assault I underwent as an employee of [Defendant].... I could not work nor finish school and estimate my damages to be in the amount of $250,000.00 for inability to work and severe emotional distress.

Chapter 7

To substantiate the damages asserted, Plaintiff attaches an unauthenticated report from Clinica Sierra Vista. Plaintiff also seeks damages of $300 on account of two weeks' unpaid wages.

Plaintiff does not articulate the legal rationale for her contention that Defendant is liable on account of Park's sexual assault. Even though it was Park, not Defendant, who committed the sexual assault, it is possible to postulate facts under which Defendant would be liable under § 523(a)(6). However, such facts are not present here. For Defendant to be liable under § 523(a)(6), it would be necessary for Plaintiff to show that Defendant knew that Park had a history of sexually assaulting female employees under his supervision, and that Defendant placed Park in a supervisory capacity because he wanted Plaintiff to be victimized by Park.

The Complaint does allege that Defendant was aware that other female employees at Gangnam Pizza were subjected to unwanted sexualized touching by Park. Critically, the Complaint does not specify whether Defendant was aware of Park's sexually abusive behavior before Park assaulted Plaintiff. Even if the Court were to assume that Defendant knew about Park's abusive tendencies before the assault, the Complaint falls short in a crucial respect. It does not allege facts sufficient to establish either that Defendant wanted Park to sexually assault Plaintiff, or that Defendant knew that it was substantially certain that the assault would occur.

Such facts would be necessary in order for the Court to find Defendant liable for the assault under § 523(a)(6). For example, the Complaint could have alleged facts showing that Defendant was a misogynist who deliberately employed sexual predators because he wanted to subject employees to sexual assault. There is nothing in the current record supporting such an inference. It is just as plausible that Defendant acted negligently or even recklessly in employing Park, but that Defendant did not employ Park for the purpose of inflicting sexual violence upon his other employees.

Although the Complaint does not establish that Defendant intended the sexual assault to occur, it does establish that Defendant is liable for a less serious offense. Specifically, the Complaint establishes that Defendant constructively discharged Plaintiff, and that he did so with the requisite intent to support liability under § 523(a)(6).

In California, an employee "discharged in violation of fundamental public policy may bring an action against their employer sounding in tort." Gantt v. Sentry Insurance, 1 Cal.4th 1083, 1098, 4 Cal.Rptr.2d 874, 824 P.2d 680 (Cal. 1992), overruled in part on other grounds, *Green v. an employee must plead and prove ... that the employer either intentionally created or knowingly permitted working conditions that were so intolerable or aggravated at the time of the employee's resignation that a reasonable employer would realize that a reasonable person in the employee's position would be compelled to resign." Vasquez v. Franklin Mgmt. Real Estate Fund, Inc., 222 Cal. App. 4th 819, 826, 166 Cal. Rptr. 3d 242, 247 (Cal. Ct. App. 2013).

The Complaint establishes that Defendant viewed video of the sexual assault shortly after it occurred, and took no action against Park, the assailant. Defendant's inaction constituted a constructive discharge of Plaintiff, as that inaction created an intolerable working environment. Constructive discharge sounds in tort and therefore can give rise to liability under § 523(a)(6).

Defendant's constructive discharge of Plaintiff was willful and malicious within the meaning of § 523(a)(6). After watching video footage of the assault, Defendant took no action against Park and made no attempt to provide Plaintiff with a safe working environment. Defendant's failure to discharge his responsibilities as an employer in these circumstances establishes that Defendant had either a subjective intent to harm Plaintiff, or a subjective belief that harm to Plaintiff was substantially certain. Consequently, the injury inflicted by Defendant was willful.

The injury was also malicious. Defendant's failure to take remedial action after learning of the assault was a wrongful act done intentionally. That Defendant acted intentionally is shown by his subsequent actions to shield Park from liability by abetting his escape to South Korea. Defendant's actions necessarily caused injury and were done without just cause or excuse.

C. Plaintiff's Damages

For tortious conduct such as constructive discharge, "the measure of damages ... is the amount which will compensate for all the detriment proximately caused thereby, whether it could have been anticipated or not." Cal. Civ. Code § 3333. An employer may be held liable for emotional distress, mental anguish, and other psychic injuries that an employee suffers in connection with employer wrongdoing. "Such harm, though less susceptible of precise measurement than more tangible pecuniary losses or physical injuries would be, is no less real or worthy of compensation." Agarwal v. Johnson, 25 Cal. 3d 932, 953, 603 P.2d 58, 71 (Cal. 1979), disapproved of on other grounds by White v. Ultramar, Inc., 21 Cal. 4th 563, 981 P.2d 944 (Cal. 1999).

In support of her claim for emotional distress damages of $250,000, Plaintiff submits an unauthenticated report from Clinica Sierra Vista. Because the report has not been authenticated by the psychotherapist who treated Plaintiff, it is inadmissible.

Plaintiff's declaration testimony is admissible to establish her emotional injuries.
Plaintiff testifies:

I had to undergo psycho analysis [sic] and therapy for the harassment and assault I underwent as an employee of [Defendant].... I could not work nor finish school and estimate my damages to be in the amount of $250,000.00 for inability to work and severe emotional distress.

Plaintiff's Decl. at ¶ 5 [Doc. No. 28].

As discussed above, Plaintiff has not established Defendant's liability under § 523(a)(6) for the sexual assault. Plaintiff has shown that Defendant is liable for constructively discharging her. Plaintiff's declaration testimony focuses on the damages Plaintiff sustained from the sexual assault, as opposed to the damages resulting from the constructive discharge.

The Court cannot assess Plaintiff's damages upon the present record. By no later than April 9, 2019, Plaintiff shall submit further evidence showing the damages she suffered as a result of the constructive discharge. As of that date, the matter of Plaintiff's damages shall stand submitted. In the event a further hearing is required, the parties will be so notified.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Cameron Schlagel or Daniel Koontz at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. If you wish to make a telephonic appearance, contact Court Call at 888-882-6878, no later than one hour before the hearing.

fr. 9-24-18; 1-28-19

Docket 10

Tentative Ruling:

3/27/2019

No appearances required. The tentative ruling is to take this matter off calendar. This is a continued hearing on Wells Fargo Bank, N.A.'s ("Movant") Motion for Relief from the Automatic Stay Under 11 U.S.C. § 362 (Real Property) [Doc. No. 10] (the "R/S Motion"). The chapter 7 Trustee, Jason M. Rund (the "Trustee") filed a timely opposition [Doc. No. 15]. This matter has been continued a number of times to afford the Trustee an opportunity to sell the real property that is the subject of the R/S Motion. To avoid unnecessary administrative costs of keeping this motion on calendar, the matter shall be taken off calendar. If the Trustee has not obtained approval of a sale of the subject property by August 31, 2019, Movant may re-notice a hearing on the R/S Motion.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Daniel Koontz or Jessica Vogel at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. If you wish to make a telephonic appearance, contact Court Call at 888-882-6878, no later than one hour before the hearing.

Chapter 7

9/20/2018

For the reasons stated below, the tentative ruling is to DENY the R/S Motion without prejudice.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed

1. Notice of Motion and Motion for Relief from the Automatic Stay Under 11 U.S.C. § 362 (Real Property) (the "R/S Motion") [Doc. No. 10]
2. Trustee's Opposition to R/S Motion ("Trustee's Opposition") [Doc. No. 15]
3. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, Movant has not filed a reply.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Motion

Rogelio and Carol Gonzalez (together, the "Debtors") filed this voluntary joint chapter 7 case on July 16, 2018. On August 30, 2018, creditor Wells Fargo Bank, N.A. ("Movant") filed a "Motion for Relief From the Automatic Stay Under 11 U.S.C. § 362 (Real Property)" (the "R/S Motion") [Doc. No. 10] seeking relief from the automatic stay pursuant to §§ 362(d)(1) and (d)(2) with respect to real property located at 47 Oak Cliff Drive, Pomona, CA 91766 (the "Property"). Movant asserts that cause exists to grant it relief from stay under § 362(d)(1) because the Debtors filed a Statement of Intention that indicates the Debtors' intent to surrender the Property ("Statement of Intention"). See Motion, Exhibit 8.

Movant also asserts that cause exists to grant it relief from stay under § 362(d)(2) because the Debtors have no equity in the Property and the Property is not necessary for an effective reorganization because this is a chapter 7 case. In support, Movant states that the total debt on the Property is $591,518.92 which is comprised of Movant's first priority deed of trust secured by a lien in the amount of $248,386.30 and approximately fifteen other liens securing an approximate indebtedness of $351,518.92. See Request for Judicial Notice, Doc No. 10, PDF p. 15. After factoring in 8% costs of sale ($49,384.64), Movant contends that the total debt exceeds the Property's $617,308 fair market value.

Chapter 7

On September 10, 2018, the chapter 7 trustee filed an Opposition to the R/S Motion [Doc. No. 15] ("Trustee's Opposition"). The Trustee requests that the Court deny the R/S Motion as follows. First, the Trustee contends that Movant has not established sufficient cause for relief from stay under § 362(d)(1) because (i) Movant is adequately protected by an equity cushion of $368,921.71 or 149%; and (ii) Debtors' Statement of Intention has no bearing on whether to grant Movant relief from stay because the Property is subject to administration by the Trustee pursuant to § 541.

Second, the Trustee contends that the Court should not grant Movant relief from stay pursuant to § 362(d)(2) because, using Movant's figures and assuming all the alleged liens are legitimate, the Debtors have approximately $17,402.78 in equity in the Property. [NOTE 1] Additionally, the Trustee states that he is currently evaluating the validity of the other asserted liens on the Property and requests an opportunity to try to negotiate with those creditors for a consensual sale that might provide some benefit to the estate or pursue a sale free and clear of some or all those interests.

Reply

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, Movant has not filed a reply.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1)

Under 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1), the Court shall grant relief if the movant's interest in the property is not protected by an adequate equity cushion. In the Ninth Circuit, "[a] 20% [equity] cushion has been held to be an adequate protection for a secured creditor." In re Mellor, 734 F.2d 1396, 1401 (9th Cir. 1984). Based on Movant's figures, the Court finds that Movant is adequately protected by a 149% equity cushion.

The Court also finds that the Trustee has the better argument with respect to Debtors' Statement of Intention.

Based on the foregoing, the Court finds that Movant is not entitled to relief from stay under § 362(d)(1).

Chapter 7

11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2)

Under 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2), the court shall grant relief from the stay if "(A) the debtor does not have any equity in such property; and (B) such property is not necessary for an effective reorganization."

Since this is a chapter 7 case, it is undisputed that the Property is not necessary for an effective reorganization. Therefore, the Court must only determine whether the Debtors enjoy any equity in the Property. Using Movant's figures and deducting costs of sale, Debtors' $100,000 homestead exemption, the Trustee's fees, and administrative claims, it appears unlikely that the Trustee will be able to administer the Property for the benefit of general unsecured creditors.

However, none of the purported junior lienholder filed a response to this R/S Motion. On balance, the Court is persuaded that it is premature to find that there is no equity in the Property given the relatively newness of this case and the lack of meaningful investigation by the Trustee into the validity of the junior liens.

III. Conclusion

The tentative ruling is to DENY the R/S Motion without prejudice.

The Trustee shall upload an appropriate order via the Court's Lodged Order Upload system within 7 days of the hearing.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Daniel Koontz or Jessica Vogel at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. If you wish to make a telephonic appearance, contact Court Call at 888-882-6878, no later than one hour before the hearing.

NOTE 1: This figure represents the total equity in the Property prior to deducting any costs of sale or taking into consideration Debtors' $100,000 homestead exemption.

Chapter 7

#2.00 HearingRE: [12] Notice of motion and motion for relief from the automatic stay with supporting declarations PERSONAL PROPERTY RE: 2018 Forest River Travel Trailer .

Docket 12

Tentative Ruling:

3/27/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtors, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2) to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to repossess or otherwise obtain possession and dispose of its collateral pursuant to applicable law, and to use the proceeds from its disposition to satisfy its claim. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtors or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. The Court finds that there is no equity in the subject trailer and that the trailer is not necessary for an effective reorganization since this is a chapter 7 case.

This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. All other relief is denied.

Movant shall upload an appropriate order via the Court's Lodged Order Upload system within 7 days of the hearing.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend

Docket 9

Tentative Ruling:

3/27/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1) for cause to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to repossess or otherwise obtain possession and dispose of its collateral pursuant to applicable law, and to use the proceeds from its disposition to satisfy its claim. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. The Court takes judicial notice of the Chapter 7 Individual Debtor's Statement of Intention in which the Debtor stated an intention to surrender the vehicle to Movant.

This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. The 14-day stay prescribed by FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived. All other relief is denied.

Movant shall upload an appropriate order via the Court's Lodged Order Upload system within 7 days of the hearing.

Tentative Ruling:

4/2/2019

In connection with prior Status Conferences, the Court has stated that it would dismiss this action once all the conditions set forth in the Order Approving Motion for Structured Dismissal of Chapter 11 Case [Bankr. Doc. No. 478] (the "Approval Order") had been satisfied. Plaintiff Bradley D. Sharp, Plan Administrator under the Confirmed First Amended Chapter 11 Plan of Liquidation Dated January 31, 2018 for Liberty Asset Management Corporation (the "Plan Administrator"), states that all such conditions have been satisfied. The Plan Administrator states that he is in the process of preparing a stipulation and order for final dismissal.

By no later than April 17, 2019, the Plan Administrator shall submit a stipulation between the Plan Administrator and Crystal Waterfalls, LLC ("Crystal"), providing for the dismissal of this action, accompanied by a proposed order thereon. Crystal shall cooperate with the Plan Administrator to ensure that the stipulation is submitted promptly.

The Court will prepare and enter an appropriate order.

#5.00 Hearing re [59] Requiring Debtor To Appear And Show Cause Why This Case Should Not Be Dismissed .

Docket 0

Tentative Ruling:

4/2/2019

For the reasons set forth below, this case is DISMISSED.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed

1. Order (1) Requiring Debtor to Appear and Show Cause Why This Case Should Not be Dismissed and (2) Vacating March 5th and 13th, 2019 Hearings and Suspending Briefing [Doc. No. 59] (the "OSC")
2. Debtor and Debtor-In-Possession's Response to Order (1) Requiring Debtor to Appear and Show Cause Why This Case Should Not be Dismissed and (2) Vacating March 5th and 13th, 2019 Hearings and Suspending Briefing [Doc. No. 64] (the "Debtor's Response")
3. Creditors Fast Machine, Inc.'s and Keith Black, Inc's Statement in Support of Dismissal re the Court's Order to Show Cause re Dismissal [Doc. No. 65] (the "KBI Parties' Response")

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

This is a hearing on the Court's Order (1) Requiring Debtor to Appear and Show Cause Why This Case Should Not be Dismissed and (2) Vacating March 5th and 13th, 2019 Hearings and Suspending Briefing [Doc. No. 59] (the "OSC"). The Court has reviewed the Debtor's Response [Doc. No. 64]. The Debtor disputes that this case was filed in bad faith but does not oppose dismissal and concedes that dismissal of this case is in the best interest of creditors, the estate and the Debtor due to a post-petition change in circumstances. The Court has also reviewed the KBI Parties' Response in which the KBI Parties support dismissal of this case [Doc. No. 65] [Note 1].

Chapter 11

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Under § 1112(b), the Court shall dismiss or convert a case to one under chapter 7 upon a showing of "cause." 11 U.S.C. § 1112(b). Section 1112(b)(4) provides a nonexclusive list of factors that constitute "cause," including in relevant part: "(A) substantial or continuing loss to or diminution of the estate and the absence of a reasonable likelihood of rehabilitation;" and "(B) gross mismanagement of the estate." "The enumerated causes are not exhaustive, and 'the court will be able to consider other factors as they arise, and to use its equitable powers to reach an appropriate result in individual cases.'" In re Consolidated Pioneer Mortgage Entities, 248 B.R. 368, 375 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2000) (quoting H.R. No. 95-595, 95th Cong., 1st Sess. 405-06 (1977), aff'd, 264 F.3d 803 (9th Cir. 2001)).

The Debtor concedes that its operations are presently hampered due to its current inability to freely use its assets and because of unexpected delays in relocating its machinery. Debtor's Response, p. 6:26-27, 7:7-12. As a result, the Debtor states that it does not have an adequate source of cash flow or income to sustain a plan of reorganization. Id., p. 9:5-6. Accordingly, the Court finds that "cause" exists within the meaning of § 1112(b)(4)(A) because that there is a substantial and continuing loss to or diminution to the estate and no reasonable likelihood of rehabilitation.

The Court also finds that "cause" exists under § 1112(b)(4)(B). The Debtor states that its intention for filing this bankruptcy case was to give it breathing room to restart its operations, but that it was unable to do so, in large part, because the KBI Parties began, post-petition, to claim ownership of the Debtor's intellectual property. However, if the Debtor's allegations are true, the Debtor provides no explanation as to why it failed to take any steps to stop the KBI Parties from engaging in such harmful conduct, such as seeking a temporary restraining order and/or damages for the KBI Parties' violation of the automatic stay. The Debtor also does not describe any other efforts it undertook to try to restart its business or otherwise reorganize its affairs. Therefore, the Court finds that the Debtor has grossly mismanaged this estate.

Having determined that cause exists under § 1112(b)(4), the Court must next determine whether to dismiss or convert this case or appoint a chapter 11 trustee. Based upon the Court's review of the Debtor's Schedules and Monthly Operating Reports, the Court finds that the Debtor does not appear to have any valuable assets that a trustee could administer for the benefit of creditors unless the trustee were to undertake the expensive and risky effort of litigating the Debtor's dispute with the KBI Parties. Furthermore, the Debtor and the KBI Parties submit that dismissal is in the best interest of creditors and the estate and no party in interest filed a response opposing dismissal. Therefore, the Court finds that dismissal of this case is in the best interest of creditors.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the case is DISMISSED.

After the hearing the Court will prepare separate orders dismissing this case and denying as moot the Debtor's (i) Motion for an Order Pursuant to Section 365 of the Bankruptcy Code Authorizing Debtor's Rejection of the Contract, as Executory [Doc. No. 45], (ii) Objection to Proof of Claim No. 8 Filed by Fast Machines, Inc. [Doc. No. 48], and (iii) Objection to Proof of Claim No. 9 Filed by Keith Black Inc. [Doc. No. 51].

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Daniel Koontz or Jessica Vogel at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. If you wish to make a telephonic appearance, contact Court Call at 888-882-6878, no later than one hour before the hearing.

Note 1: The Debtor and the KBI Parties (defined in the OSC) both rehash their grievances with the other and argue in favor of their respective factual and legal positions. Because there are other grounds for the Court to determine that "cause" exists to dismiss this case under § 1112(b)(4), the Court declines to make any findings of fact or conclusions of law that might affect the claims asserted in the State Court Action.

No. 1847]

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On August 31, 2018 (the "Petition Date"), Verity Health Systems of California ("VHS") and certain of its subsidiaries (collectively, the "Debtors") filed voluntary petitions for relief under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. On August 31, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the Debtors' motion for joint administration of the Debtors' Chapter 11 cases. Doc. No. 17.

County ("SCC"). Doc. No. 1153 (the "SCC Sale Order"). The SCC Sale Order authorized the Debtors to assume and assign to SCC any of the Debtors' executory contracts and unexpired leases designated by SCC (the "Designated Contracts"). The sale closed on February 28, 2019.

Prior to the Petition Date, Surgical Information Systems, LLC ("SIS") entered into an agreement with the Debtors' predecessor, under which SIS licenses software used in the operation of St. Louise, O'Connor, and the Debtors' other hospitals (the "SIS Agreement"). The SIS Agreement was subsequently assigned to Debtor VHS. The SIS Agreement was not a Designated Contract. SCC has determined that it has a continuing need to use the SIS software. SIS asserts that absent its consent, the SIS Agreement is non-severable, and that the SIS Agreement does not permit VHS to host the SIS software for any hospitals that it no longer owns.

VHS, SCC, and SIS have reached a settlement agreement (the "Settlement Agreement") which provides for the bifurcation of the SIS Agreement. SCC will be permitted to continue to use the SIS software in the operation of St. Louise and O'Connor. The Debtors will continue to retain any and all rights under the SIS Agreement as it pertains to the remaining hospitals serviced thereunder (the "Modified Agreement"), and will gain the express right to assign the Modified Agreement to any other party without additional consideration or fees to SIS related to 2019. The Debtors have paid SIS $877,590.13 as a cure claim and as adequate assurance of future performance. SCC has contributed $350,000 to the payment.

The Debtors move for approval of the Settlement Agreement. The Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors (the "Committee") does not oppose the Motion. No opposition to the Motion is on file.

II. Findings and Conclusions

A. Notice and Service

There is no proof of service on the docket indicating that Kurtzman Carson Consultants, LLC ("KCC"), the Debtors' claims and noticing agent, provided notice of this hearing to interested parties. Because all parties entitled to notice under the Order Granting Emergency Motion of Debtors for Order Limiting Scope of Notice [Doc. No. 132] received electronic notice of the hearing by means of the Court's Notice of Electronic Filing ("NEF") system, the Court will not require the Debtors to renotice the Motion. However, in the future, the Debtors should ensure that KCC provides notice of all matters set for hearing, and files proofs of service so indicating.

Chapter 11

B. The Settlement Agreement is Approved

Bankruptcy Rule 9019 provides that the Court may approve a compromise or settlement. "In determining the fairness, reasonableness and adequacy of a proposed settlement agreement, the court must consider: (a) The probability of success in the litigation; (b) the difficulties, if any, to be encountered in the matter of collection; (c) the complexity of the litigation involved, and the expense, inconvenience and delay necessarily attending it; (d) the paramount interest of the creditors and a proper deference to their reasonable views in the premises." Martin v. Kane (In re A&C Properties), 784 F.2d 1377, 1381 (9th Cir. 1986). "[C]ompromises are favored in bankruptcy, and the decision of the bankruptcy judge to approve or disapprove the compromise of the parties rests in the sound discretion of the bankruptcy judge." In re Sassalos, 160 B.R. 646, 653 (D. Ore. 1993). In approving a settlement agreement, the Court must "canvass the issues and see whether the settlement 'falls below the lowest point in the range of reasonableness.'" Cosoff v. Rodman (In re W.T. Grant Co.), 699 F.2d 599, 608 (2d Cir. 1983).

Applying the A&C Properties factors, the Court finds that the Settlement Agreement is adequate, fair, and reasonable, and is in the best interests of the estate and creditors. The Settlement Agreement allows the Debtors to sever an agreement which SIS contends is non-severable and allows the Debtors to retain the benefits of the SIS software for the hospitals which the Debtors still own. In addition, the Settlement Agreement expressly provides that the Debtors have the ability to assign the licenses pertaining to the remaining hospitals. The Court notes that the Committee does not oppose the Settlement Agreement.

C. The Court Approves the Assumption and Assignment of the SIS Agreement

Section 365(a) provides that the Debtor, "subject to the court's approval, may assume or reject any executory contract or unexpired lease of the debtor." In Agarwal v. Pomona Valley Med. Grp. (In re Pomona Valley Med. Grp., Inc.), the Ninth Circuit explained that the business judgment rule governs the Bankruptcy Court's review of the Debtors' decision to assume or reject an executory contract or unexpired lease. Pomona Valley, 476 F.3d 665, 670 (9th Cir. 2007). The Pomona Valley court stated that the Court "need engage in only a cursory review" of the debtor's decision, and "should presume that the debtor-in-possession acted prudently, on an informed basis, in good faith, and in the honest belief that the action taken was in the best interests of the bankruptcy estate." Id.

Pursuant to §365(b)(1), if there has been a default in the executory contract to be assumed, the Debtor may not assume the contract unless the Debtor:

- a) cures, or provides adequate assurance that the [Debtor] will promptly cure, such default;
- b) compensates, or provides adequate assurance that the [Debtor] will promptly compensate, a party other than the debtor to such contract ..., for any actual pecuniary loss to such party resulting from such default; and
- c) provides adequate assurance of future performance under such contract or lease.

The Court approves the assumption and assignment of the SIS Agreement to SCC. Assumption and assignment is necessary to effectuate the sale of the St. Louise and O'Connor Hospitals to SCC, because SCC cannot operate the Hospitals without the SIS software.

III. Conclusion

Based upon the foregoing, the Motion is GRANTED in its entirety. The Debtors shall submit a conforming order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Jessica Vogel or Daniel Koontz at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. On November 7, 2018, the Court entered an order approving the Debtors' application to employ Berkeley Research Group, LLC ("BRG") as the Debtors' financial advisor. Pursuant to the procedures set forth in the Fee Procedures Order, BRG has submitted four Monthly Applications [Doc. Nos. 883, 1099, 1203, and 1392], none of which have been opposed.

Adcock in Support Thereof

Docket 1729

Tentative Ruling:

4/2/2019

Debtors shall appear to address whether the Landlord and Readisuite received actual notice of the Motion. Provided that the Landlord and Readisuite did receive notice, the Court is prepared to grant the Motion.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Debtors' Notice and Motion for Order Authorizing (I) Rejection of Lease of Real Property and Executory Contract for Personal Property and (II) Abandonment of Personal Property [Doc. No. 1729] (the "Motion")
- 2) Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors' Response to Debtors' Motion for Order Authorizing (I) Rejection of Lease of Real Property and Executory Contract for Personal Property and (II) Abandonment of Personal Property [Doc. No. 1848]

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On August 31, 2018 (the "Petition Date"), Verity Health Systems of California ("VHS") and certain of its subsidiaries (collectively, the "Debtors") filed voluntary petitions for relief under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. On August 31, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the Debtors' motion for joint administration of the Debtors' Chapter 11 cases. Doc. No. 17.

Debtors seek authorization to reject a lease (the "Lease") between Debtor VMF, as tenant, and SFI 901 Campus Dr, LLC, as landlord (the "Landlord"), pertaining to property located at 901 Campus Drive, Daley City, CA (the "Leased Premises"). VMF operates a primary care clinic at the Leased Premises (the "Clinic"). Kris Kealey, M.D., is the only physician employed to work at the Clinic. Dr. Kealey is employed by non-debtor Verity Medical Group, PC ("VMG"). Dr. Kealey and VMG have entered into a separation agreement, effective as of March 7, 2019.

The Landlord will enter into a new lease, effective as of March 8, 2019, with a party unrelated to the Debtors, and Dr. Kealey will continue to provide services at the Leased Premises.

The Debtors and the Landlord have agreed that upon rejection of the lease, the Landlord will be entitled to retain the security deposit, in the amount of $7,959.25, in full satisfaction of the Landlord's claims arising from rejection of the Lease.

Phone and data services to the Leased Premises are provided by Readisuite. The Debtors seek authorization to reject the contract with Readisuite (the "Readisuite Contract") because the new tenant does not intend to use Readisuite as its phone and data services provider. The Debtors and Readisuite have agreed that Readisuite will be entitled to retain a security deposit in the amount of $1,700 in full satisfaction of Readisuite's claims arising from rejection of the Readisuite Contract.

The Debtors seek authorization to abandon personal property located at the Leased Premises, on the ground that the costs of removing, storing, and marketing the personal property would outweigh any benefit to the estates.

The Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors has no objection to the Motion. No opposition to the Motion is on file.

II. Findings and Conclusions

A. Notice and Service

There is no proof of service on the docket indicating that Kurtzman Carson Consultants, LLC ("KCC"), the Debtors' claims and noticing agent, provided notice of this hearing to interested parties. The Court is prepared to grant the Motion provided that the Debtors can establish that the Landlord and Readisuite received notice.

B. The Court is Prepared to Grant the Motion Provided the Debtors Establish that Notice was Sufficient

Section 365(a) provides that the Debtor, "subject to the court's approval, may assume or reject any executory contract or unexpired lease of the debtor." In Agarwal v. Pomona Valley Med. Grp. (In re Pomona Valley Med. Grp., Inc.), the Ninth Circuit explained that the business judgment rule governs the Bankruptcy Court's review of the Debtors' decision to assume or reject an executory contract or unexpired lease. Pomona Valley, 476 F.3d 665, 670 (9th Cir. 2007). The Pomona Valley court stated that the Court “need engage in only a cursory review” of the debtor’s decision, and “should presume that the debtor-in-possession acted prudently, on an informed basis, in good faith, and in the honest belief that the action taken was in the best interests of the bankruptcy estate.” Id.

The Debtors have shown that rejection of the Lease and the Readisuite Contract is in the best interests of the estates. The Debtors ceased operating the Clinic on March 7, 2019. The Debtors have no need of the Leased Premises or the services provided under the Readisuite Contract. Rejection of the Lease and the Readisuite Contract will reduce administrative expenses.

Section 554(a) authorizes the Debtors to abandon property of inconsequential value after notice and a hearing. The Debtors have established that the costs of removing, storing, and marketing the personal property located at the Leased Premises would outweigh any benefit to the estates. The Debtors are authorized to abandon the personal property.

III. Conclusion

The Court is prepared to grant the Motion provided the Debtors can establish that the Landlord and Readisuite received notice.

employ Nelson Hardiman LLP ("Nelson Hardiman") as special healthcare regulatory counsel. Pursuant to the procedures set forth in the Fee Procedures Order, Nelson Hardiman has submitted four Monthly Applications [Doc. Nos. 828, 879, 1131, and 1341], none of which have been opposed.

No objections to Nelson Hardiman, LLP's First Quarterly Fee Application for Allowance and Payment of Interim Compensation and Reimbursement of Expenses for the Period August 31, 2018 through December 31, 2018 [Doc. No. 1800] (the "Application") have been filed. Having reviewed the Application, the Court approves, on an interim basis, the fees and expenses set forth below, which may be paid (to the extent not previously paid) subject to available cash on hand in the estate:

Fees: $387,973.50

Expenses: $380.15

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Jessica Vogel or Daniel Koontz, the Judge's Law Clerks, at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. If you wish to make a telephonic appearance, contact Court Call at 888-882-6878, no later than one hour before the hearing.

Note 1

In addition, the initial notice of the hearing prepared by the Debtors did not state that Nelson Hardiman, LLP ("Nelson Hardiman") would be seeking interim compensation. On March 15, 2019, the Debtors filed a supplemental notice setting forth Nelson Hardiman's fee request. The supplemental notice did not provide parties the required 21 days' notice of the hearing. However, Nelson Hardiman timely provided separate notice of its fee application to interested parties. Therefore, the Court finds that notice was sufficient.

Note 2

The initial Fee Procedures Order did not list Nelson Hardiman, LLP, the Debtors' healthcare regulatory counsel, as a party entitled to file Monthly Fee Applications.

cases. Doc. No. 17.

Susan Chan Chow and Lindsey Chow (“Movants”), proceeding in pro se, seek stay-relief, pursuant to § 362(d)(1), for the purpose of continuing to litigate an action for wrongful death, medical malpractice, and negligent infliction of emotional distress against Debtors St. Vincent Medical Center (“St. Vincent”) and Verity Health System, Inc. (“VHS”) (collectively, the “Debtors”) in the Los Angeles Superior Court (the “State Court Action”). The State Court Action was filed on January 31, 2017. Prior to the Petition Date, St. Vincent and VHS filed Demurrers and Motions to Strike; as a result, Movants have been required to file First, Second, Third, and Fourth Amended Complaints. A hearing on a Demurrer and Motion to Strike filed by St. Vincent and VHS with respect to the Fourth Amended Complaint was set for September 12, 2018, but was taken off calendar as a result of the bankruptcy filing.

In support of the Motions, Movants allege, inter alia, that the Debtors euthanized Henry Chow (the father of Movant Lindsey Chow and the spouse of Movant Susan Chow) as a cost-saving measure.

Debtors dispute Movants’ allegations with respect to Mr. Chow’s death. Debtors oppose stay-relief at this time, explaining that they would be required to spend significant time defending against the State Court Action if the stay were lifted. Debtors request that the stay remain in place until October 15, 2019, so that the Debtors can focus upon selling their remaining hospitals.

For the same reasons, the Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors (the “Committee”) asserts that the Motion should be denied without prejudice.

In their Reply in support of the Motions, Movants request that the Bankruptcy Court conduct a jury trial of the claims asserted in the State Court Action in June or July. Movants assert that Mr. Chow died under suspicious circumstances and that a speedy trial is necessary to protect the public.

II. Findings and Conclusions

The Court declines to conduct a jury trial of the claims asserted in the State Court Action. The State Court is the forum best suited to adjudicate Movants’ claims, which all arise under non-bankruptcy law. Further, the State Court is already intimately acquainted with this matter, having ruled upon multiple Demurrers and Motions to Strike filed by the Debtors.

As explained by the Ninth Circuit Bankruptcy Appellate Panel in Kronemyer v. American Contractors Indemnity Co. (In re Kronemyer) (internal citations omitted): "What constitutes ‘cause’ for granting relief from the automatic stay is decided on a case-by-case basis. Among factors appropriate to consider in determining whether relief from the automatic stay should be granted to allow state court proceedings to continue are considerations of judicial economy and the expertise of the state court, ... as well as prejudice to the parties and whether exclusively bankruptcy issues are involved." 405 B.R. 915, 921. The factors articulated in In re Curtis, 40 B.R. 795, 799-800 (Bankr. D. Utah 1984) and adopted by the bankruptcy court in Truebro, Inc. v. Plumberex Specialty Prods., Inc. (In re Plumberex Specialty Prods., Inc), 311 B.R. 551, 559-60 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2004) are also "appropriate, nonexclusive factors to consider in deciding whether to grant relief from the automatic stay to allow pending litigation to continue in another forum." Kronemyer, 405 B.R. at 921. The Curtis factors are as follows:

- 1) Whether the relief will result in a partial or complete resolution of the issues;
- 2) The lack of any connection with or interference with the bankruptcy case;
- 3) Whether the foreign proceeding involves the debtor as a fiduciary;
- 4) Whether a specialized tribunal has been established to hear the particular cause of action and whether that tribunal has the expertise to hear such cases;
- 5) Whether the debtor's insurance carrier has assumed full financial responsibility for defending the litigation;
- 6) Whether the action essentially involves third parties, and the debtor functions only as a bailee or conduit for the goods or proceeds in question;
- 7) Whether the litigation in another forum would prejudice the interests of other creditors, the creditors' committee and other interested parties;
- 8) Whether the judgment claim arising from the foreign action is subject to equitable subordination under Section 510(c);
- 9) Whether movant's success in the foreign proceeding would result in a judicial lien avoidable by the debtor under Section 522(f);
- 10) The interests of judicial economy and the expeditious and economical determination of litigation for the parties;
- 11) Whether the foreign proceedings have progressed to the point where the parties are prepared for trial, and
- 12) The impact of the stay on the parties and the "balance of hurt."

Plumberex, 311 B.R. at 599.

The most important of the twelve factors is the effect of the non-bankruptcy litigation on the administration of the estate. Curtis, 40 B.R. at 806. The Curtis court held that “[e]ven slight interference with the administration may be enough to preclude relief in the absence of a commensurate benefit.” Id.

Because Movants have not agreed to limit recovery to insurance, granting stay-relief at this time would require the Debtors to defend against the State Court Action. Although it would certainly be possible for the Debtors to mount a defense at this time, requiring them to do so would nonetheless interfere with the case by distracting the Debtors’ professionals from other pressing matters. While it is true that primary responsibility for the Debtors’ defense could be assigned to special litigation counsel, the Debtors’ general bankruptcy counsel would still be required to monitor the litigation.

An auction of four of the Debtors’ hospitals is set to occur on April 8–9, with a hearing to approve the results of the auction set for April 17, 2019. To successfully prosecute the case for the benefit of creditors, Debtors will be required to devote substantial resources to the auction and the subsequent hearing to approve the results of the auction. Granting stay-relief at this juncture would require the Debtors to divert their attention from issues pertaining to the sale, which would be detrimental to creditors. Even after the auction has been completed, Debtors will be required to devote substantial attention to issues arising in connection with the California Attorney General’s review of the sale.

In view of the findings set forth above, Curtis factors two, five, seven, and eleven weigh against granting stay-relief at this time. Although the relevant Curtis factors do not warrant stay-relief now, stay-relief will be warranted as of July 19, 2019.

Granting stay-relief now would interfere with the bankruptcy case by distracting the Debtors’ professionals from other pressing matters (the second Curtis factor). With respect to factor five, the damages sought in the State Court Action are substantial; Movants have not agreed to limit recovery to applicable insurance; and it is therefore not known whether available insurance proceeds will be sufficient to cover any judgment Movants may obtain. Factor five therefore weighs against granting immediate stay-relief. The litigation’s interference with the case has the potential to reduce creditor recoveries; therefore, factor seven weighs against granting immediate stay-relief. The State Court Action has not reached the trial stage, so factor eleven also weighs against granting immediate stay-relief.

Factor twelve—the balance of the hurt—weighs in favor of the Debtors. As discussed, granting immediate stay-relief will harm the Debtors by distracting the Debtors’ professionals from other pressing matters. On the other hand, the Court acknowledges that Movants will suffer some prejudice as a result of further delay.

Chapter 11

However, in assessing the prejudice to Movants, the Court notes that Movants have not yet succeeded in putting the claims in the State Court Action at issue, even though the action was filed approximately eighteen months before the Petition Date. Given this fact, the prejudice to the Debtors from granting the Motion now outweighs the prejudice to Movants resulting from some additional delay.

To the extent that they apply, the remaining Curtis factors weigh in favor of immediate stay-relief. The State Court Action will completely resolve the issues (factor one); the State Court is a the tribunal best suited to hear the Movant's claims (factor three); and lifting the stay would result in a more expeditious determination of the State Court Action (factor ten). Nonetheless, these factors are outweighed by the harm that immediate stay-relief would impose upon the Debtors.

Having considered the applicable Curtis factors, the Court finds that Movants are entitled to stay-relief, effective as of July 19, 2019. This result gives the Debtors some breathing space to achieve their objectives, while at the same time delaying Movants' ability to proceed with the State Court Action only briefly.

III. Conclusion

Based upon the foregoing, the Motions are GRANTED; however, the order granting the Motion shall not take effect until July 19, 2019. Debtors shall submit an order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Jessica Vogel or Daniel Koontz at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On August 31, 2018 (the "Petition Date"), Verity Health Systems of California ("VHS") and certain of its subsidiaries (collectively, the "Debtors") filed voluntary petitions for relief under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. On August 31, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the Debtors' motion for joint administration of the Debtors' Chapter 11 cases. Doc. No. 17.

On January 3, 2019, Debtors St. Vincent Medical Center ("St. Vincent") and St. Francis Medical Center ("St. Francis," and together with St. Vincent, the "Plaintiffs") filed a Complaint for Breach of Written Contracts, Turnover, Unjust Enrichment, Damages for Violation of the Automatic Stay, and Injunctive Relief [Doc. No. 1] (the "Complaint") against Local Initiative Health Authority for Los Angeles County, d/b/a L.A. Care Health Plan ("L.A. Care").

A. Summary of the Complaint

The allegations of the Complaint may be summarized as follows:

1. Allegations Pertaining to St. Vincent

L.A. Care is an independent local public agency that provides health services to its members under contractual arrangements with hospitals, physicians, and other healthcare providers. Complaint at ¶ 7.

3. Claims for Relief

Based upon the foregoing allegations, Plaintiffs assert claims for breach of contract (first and fifth claims), turnover pursuant to § 542(b) (second and sixth claims), unjust enrichment (third and seventh claims), damages for violation of the automatic stay for the St. Vincent and St. Francis Setoffs (fourth and eighth claims), and an order enjoining L.A. Care from engaging in any further setoffs (ninth claim).

B. Summary of LA Care's Motion to Dismiss, or, in the Alternative, Stay Trial and Motion for a Protective Order

L.A. Care moves to dismiss the Complaint, for failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted pursuant to Civil Rule 12(b)(6). In the alternative, L.A. Care asserts that Plaintiffs' claims are subject to mandatory arbitration, and moves for an order staying trial until such arbitration has been conducted. L.A. Care moves for a protective order staying discovery, based on the fact that the arbitration clauses in the underlying contracts provide that discovery shall be conducted in accordance with the California Code of Civil Procedure, rather than the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. L.A. Care makes the following arguments in support of the Motions:

Plaintiffs' Claims Must be Dismissed Because they are Subject to Mandatory Arbitration; in the Alternative, the Action Must be Stayed Until Arbitration Has Been Completed

Agreement provide that "all claims and controversies arising out of or in connection with this Agreement shall be subject to binding arbitration" St. Vincent/L.A. Care Agreement at ¶ 2.6; St. Francis/L.A. Care Agreement at ¶ 3.6. The Court does not have discretion to decline to enforce the arbitration clause because this action is not a core proceeding. See Continental Ins. Co. v. Thorpe Insulation Co. (In re Thorpe Insulation Co.), 671 F.3d 1011, 1021 (9th Cir. 2012) ("In non-core proceedings, the bankruptcy court generally does not have discretion to deny enforcement of a valid prepetition arbitration agreement").

Plaintiffs' claims for breach of contract are clearly non-core, as these claims do not depend upon the Bankruptcy Code for their existence. Plaintiffs' turnover claim under Bankruptcy Code § 542 is also non-core, because Plaintiffs have attempted to manufacture core jurisdiction by repackaging what is in reality a state-law-based breach of contract claim into a purported turnover claim. In MCI Telecommunications Corp. v. Gurga (In re Gurga), the Ninth Circuit Bankruptcy Appellate Panel rejected a similar attempt to cast what was in reality a non-core breach of contract claim as a core turnover claim:

Despite Source's attempts to frame the issues herein as core, we find that the claims are noncore. It is undisputed that the underlying action is a breach of contract action. The adversary proceeding filed by Source entitled "Complaint for turnover of property, accounting, breach of contract, conversion, and breach of fiduciary duty," includes claims for relief for only one potential core issue—turnover of property pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 542(b). However, turnover proceedings involve return of undisputed funds. Here, the amounts, if any, owed to Source by MCI are in dispute and this dispute rests on breach of contract issues. In fact, Source made a prepetition demand for arbitration of the dispute, described at that time as breach of contract and accounting causes of action. Breach of contract actions are noncore claims. See 28 U.S.C. § 157.

MCI Telecommunications Corp. v. Gurga (In re Gurga), 176 B.R. 196, 199 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1994) (internal citations omitted).

The amounts that L.A. Care allegedly failed to pay Plaintiffs are all disputed amounts that Plaintiffs can claim as damages for L.A. Care's purported breach of contract. Plaintiffs cannot rely upon the turnover provision with respect to these amounts. "It is settled law that the debtor cannot use the turnover provisions to liquidate contract disputes or otherwise demand assets whose title is in dispute."

E.D.N.Y. 1986).

The Court should dismiss the non-core claims that are subject to mandatory arbitration. See Thinket Ink Info. Res., Inc. v. Sun Microsystems, Inc., 368 F.3d 1053, 1060 (9th Cir. 2004) ("Nor did the district court err in dismissing the plaintiffs' claims that were subject to arbitration pursuant to Fed.R.Civ.P. 12(b)(6)"). In the alternative, the Court should stay the proceeding until the parties have engaged in arbitration.

The Complaint Fails to State a Claim Because Plaintiffs Did Not Allege Compliance with the Government Claims Act

L.A. Care is an independent local public agency established to provide health coverage to low-income residents of Los Angeles County. Under the Government Claims Act, Plaintiffs must present L.A. Care with a claim for monetary damages prior to bringing suit. Cal. Gov't Code § 945.4. Once an aggrieved party has properly presented a Government Claim, the governmental agency has at least 45 days to respond to that claim. Id. at § 912.4.

The Complaint does not allege that Plaintiffs complied with the Government Claims Act. Thus, the first through eighth claims for relief—all of which are claims for monetary damages—must be dismissed.

The Complaint does allege that Plaintiffs made a "[d]emand for payment of the unpaid and underpaid" St. Vincent Fee for Service Claims and St. Francis Fee for Service Claims. See Complaint at ¶¶ 18 and 45. These allegations are insufficient because the Complaint does not allege any facts demonstrating that the contents of these purported demands met the statutory definition of a Government Claim. Among other things, a Government Claim must include (1) the name and address of the claimant and the person to whom notices are to be sent; (2) a statement of the "date, place, and other circumstances of the occurrence or transaction"; (3) a description of the indebtedness, obligation, injury, damage, or loss incurred, as far as they are known when the claim is presented; (4) the name and public employee who caused the injury, if known; and (5) the amount claimed, if less than $10,000, or if more than $10,000, no dollar amount is to be included, but the claim must state whether the claim is to be a limited civil case. See Cal. Gov't Code § 910.

Chapter 11

Each Claim for Relief Fails to Allege Facts Sufficient to State a Claim

Even overlooking the failure to plead compliance with the Government Claims Act, each of Plaintiffs' claims is deficient. The claims for breach of contract are inadequately pleaded because Plaintiffs do not allege that the medical services which L.A. Care allegedly failed to provide were "covered medical services" within the meaning of the underlying contracts. Further, Plaintiffs do not plead facts showing that they complied with the contractual requirements to obtain prior authorization before performing the medical services, or that the claims Plaintiffs submitted were "Clean Claims" within the meaning of the contracts.

The claims for unjust enrichment must be dismissed because LA Care and Plaintiffs entered into enforceable written contracts, and "[a]s a matter of law, an unjust enrichment claim does not lie where the parties have an enforceable express contract." Durell v. Sharp Healthcare, 183 Cal. App. 4th 1350, 1370 (Cal. 2010).

The claims for violation of the automatic stay fail because the deductions made by L.A. Care were recoupments, not setoffs, and L.A. Care was not required to obtain stay-relief before exercising the equitable remedy of recoupment. See Sims v. U.S. Dep't of Health and Hum. Servs. (In re TLC Hosps., Inc.), 224 F.3d 1008, 1011 (9th Cir. 2000) ("[R]ecoupment is an equitable doctrine that 'exempts a debt from the automatic stay when the debt is inextricably tied up in the post-petition claim'") (internal citation omitted).

The claim for injunctive relief fails because "injunctive relief is a remedy and not, in itself, a cause of action." Marcus v. ABC Signature Studios, Inc., 279 F.Supp.3d 1056, 1073 (C.D. Cal. 2017). A request for injunctive relief should be included, if at all, in Plaintiffs' prayer for relief. Hafiz v. Greenpoint Mortg. Funding, Inc., 652 F.Supp.2d 1039, 1049 (N.D. Cal. 2009).

C. Summary of Plaintiffs' Opposition

Plaintiffs make the following arguments in Opposition to the Motion.

The Arbitration Clause is Unenforceable Because it Conflicts with Bankruptcy Policies

Contrary to L.A. Care's argument, the turnover claims are core. Under § 542(b), debts that are "matured, payable on demand, or payable on order" are subject to turnover. In Process Am., Inc. v. Cynergy Holdings, LLC (In re Process Am., Inc.), 588 B.R. 82, 100 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2018), the court rejected the argument that a

Chapter 11

"turnover action cannot involve the return of disputed funds," holding instead that "§ 542(b) makes no requirement that the debt be undisputed." Thus, the fact that L.A. Care disputes liability does not take this action outside the scope of turnover.

"In core proceedings the bankruptcy court, at least when it sees a conflict with bankruptcy law, has discretion to deny enforcement of an arbitration agreement." Continental Ins. Co. v. Thorpe Insulation Co. (In re Thorpe Insulation Co.), 671 F.3d 1011, 1021 (9th Cir. 2012) (internal citations omitted). Arbitration would conflict with essential bankruptcy policies. Determination of what constitutes property of the estate subject to immediate turnover and what constitutes an improper setoff in violation of the automatic stay are critical bankruptcy issues that should be determined by this Court.

The Debtors are in Compliance with the Government Claims Act to the Extent it Applies

The Government Claims Act does not apply to "claims for goods, services, provisions or other assistance rendered for or on behalf of any recipient of any form of public assistance." Cal. Gov't Code § 905(e). By its own admission, L.A. Care is a commission established "to provide health coverage to low-income Los Angeles County residents." Motion at p. 5 fn. 1. By its terms, § 905(e) excepts from the claim requirements any claims for goods and services rendered "for or on behalf of" any public assistance recipient. Therefore, claims for direct medical services provided to L.A. Care members (that is, the individuals receiving the "public assistance" of health care coverage through L.A. Care) may be submitted directly to litigation.

Even if the § 905(e) exception does not apply to Plaintiffs' claims, Plaintiffs have substantially complied with the Government Claims Act. On September 26, 2018, Plaintiffs submitted a letter to L.A. Care demanding payment for services provided to LA Care's members (the "Demand Letter"). On November 2, 2018, Plaintiffs sent L.A. Care a letter stating that L.A. Care had violated the automatic stay by engaging in the Setoffs (the "Stay Violation Letter"). The Demand and Stay Violation Letters put L.A. Care on notice of Plaintiffs' claims against it. Pursuant to Cal. Gov't Code § 910.8, if a claim that is presented fails to contain the information required by Gov't Code § 910, the public entity may give notice of the deficiencies within twenty days. A public entity that fails to provide such notice waives any defense as to the sufficiency of the claim. By failing to respond to the Demand Letter or the Stay Violation Letter, L.A. Care has waived its ability to assert that Plaintiffs' claims do not comply with the Government Claims Act.

Chapter 11

Plaintiffs' Claims are Adequately Pleaded

Plaintiffs' claims for breach of contract are adequately pleaded. The Complaint alleges that "L.A. Care has systematically and materially breached" the underlying contracts, and that Plaintiffs have "performed all terms and conditions required" under the contracts. Plaintiffs are required to present only a short and plain statement of the claim under Civil Rule 8(a).

With respect to Plaintiffs' claims for violation of the automatic stay, LA Care's contention that its actions were in the nature of recoupment rather than setoff is a defense, not a basis for dismissal of the claims. Whether L.A. Care's withholdings qualify as a setoff or as recoupment is an issue of fact that cannot be determined in the context of a motion to dismiss.

L.A. Care argues that the claims for unjust enrichment must be dismissed because the Complaint alleges that the parties entered enforceable written contracts. LA Care ignores the fact that Plaintiffs are entitled to assert alternative theories of recovery under Civil Rule 8(d)(2).

L.A. Care attacks Plaintiffs' claim for injunctive relief on the grounds that injunctive relief is a remedy, not an independent claim. The claim is properly grounded in the Bankruptcy Code, and could alternatively be stated as a claim for declaratory relief in light of L.A. Care's allegations of recoupment. Pursuant to Civil Rule 8(d), pleadings are to be construed "so as to do justice." Plaintiffs have properly stated a claim for injunctive relief.

Summary of L.A. Care's Reply

L.A. Care makes the following arguments in Reply to Plaintiffs' Opposition:

Plaintiffs were required to satisfy the Government Claims Act's claims presentation requirements before filing this action and were required to plead specific facts demonstrating that they did so. Plaintiffs attach to their Opposition 16 pages of documents not mentioned in the Complaint in an attempt to show that they presented L.A. Care with a Government Claim. These documents are not properly before the Court and should not be considered.

Even if the Court were to consider the documents attached to Plaintiffs' Opposition, Plaintiffs have not substantially complied with the Government Claims Act. Neither the Demand Letter or the Stay Violation Letter mention a Government Claim or the Government Claims Act. Plaintiffs sent the letters to L.A. Care's Chief Operating Officer, not to L.A. Care's clerk, secretary, auditor, or board, as required by Cal. Gov't Code § 915(a). If a claimant fails to deliver or mail the claim to one of the recipients specified in § 915(a), the claim does not "substantially comply with the act" even "if it is given to a person or department whose functions include the management or defense of claims against the defendant entity." DiCampli-Mintz v. County of Santa Clara, 55 Cal. 4th 983, 987 (2012). The reason is that "[m]isdirected claims may be received by various departments or employees and forwarded to multiple people and places, making it difficult to determine whether the claims were actually delivered to, or received by, a department or employee charged with the overall management of claims against the county"; such a result would be "contrary to the Government Claims Act's goal of eliminating uncertainty in the claims-presentation requirements." Id. at 997.

L.A. Care's failure to respond to the Demand Letter or the Stay Violation Letter did not waive L.A. Care's ability to challenge Plaintiffs' compliance with the Government Claims Act. Documents that do not substantially comply with the Government Claims Act, but which are still sufficiently cognizable as claims so as to require the public entity to comply with the statute's waiver provisions, are called "claims as presented." See Phillips v. Desert Hospital Dist., 49 Cal.3d 699, 709 (Cal. 1989). To constitute a claim as presented, "the content of the correspondence to the recipient entity must at least be of such nature as to make it readily discernible by the entity that the intended purpose thereof is to convey the assertion of a compensable claim against the entity which, if not otherwise satisfied, will result in litigation." Green v. State Ctr. Cmty. Coll. Dist., 34 Cal. App. 4th 1348, 1358 (Cal. 1995). Nothing in the Demand Letter or Stay Violation Letter stated that litigation would result if the dispute was not resolved. Consequently, neither letter amounts to a claim as presented, and L.A. Care was not required to respond to the letters to avoid waiving its defenses under the Government Claims Act.

II. Findings and Conclusions

The Federal Arbitration Act (the "Arbitration Act") provides that agreements to arbitrate "shall be valid, irrevocable, and enforceable, save upon such grounds as exist at law or in equity for the revocation of any contract ..." 9 U.S.C. §§ 2-3. The Arbitration Act further provides:

If any suit or proceeding be brought in any of the courts of the United States upon any issue referable to arbitration under an agreement in writing for such arbitration, the court in which such suit is pending, upon being satisfied that the issue involved in such suit or proceeding is referable to arbitration under such an agreement, shall on application of one of the parties stay the trial of the action until such arbitration has been had in accordance with the terms of the agreement, providing the applicant for the stay is not in default in proceeding with such arbitration.

Id. at § 3.

"In non-core proceedings, the bankruptcy court generally does not have discretion to deny enforcement of a valid prepetition arbitration agreement. In core proceedings, by contrast, the bankruptcy court, at least when it sees a conflict with bankruptcy law, has discretion to deny enforcement of an arbitration agreement." Continental Ins. Co. v. Thorpe Insulation Co. (In re Thorpe Insulation Co.), 671 F.3d 1011, 1021 (9th Cir. 2012) (internal citations omitted). The reason for the core/non-core distinction is "that non-core proceedings are unlikely to present a conflict sufficient to override by implication the presumption in favor of arbitration, whereas core proceedings implicate more pressing bankruptcy concerns." Id. (internal citations and quotations omitted). However, because "not all core bankruptcy proceedings are premised on provisions of the [Bankruptcy] Code that 'inherently conflict' with the Federal Arbitration Act," a bankruptcy court "has discretion to decline to enforce an otherwise applicable arbitration provision only if arbitration would conflict with the underlying purposes of the Bankruptcy Code." Thorpe, 671 F.3d at 1021.

The Complaint alleges that L.A. Care breached the terms of the St. Vincent/L.A. Care Agreement and the St. Francis/L.A. Care Agreement (collectively, the "Agreements"). Both Agreements provide that any disputes arising thereunder "shall be subject to binding arbitration" St. Vincent/L.A. Care Agreement at ¶ 2.6; St. Francis/L.A. Care Agreement at ¶ 3.6.

To determine whether the arbitration provision is enforceable, the Court must first determine whether the claims asserted in the Complaint are core. Plaintiffs do not contest that the claims for breach of contract and unjust enrichment are, standing alone, non-core. The parties dispute whether the claims for turnover, violation of the automatic stay, and injunctive relief are core.

The Court finds that the turnover claims are not core. "An action is outside the scope of section 542(b) unless there is a debt that is 'matured, payable on demand, or payable on order.' 11 U.S.C. § 542(b). Most courts require that the debt be undisputed for the action to be core." DHP Holdings II Corp. v. Home Depot, Inc. (In re DHP Holdings II Corp.), 435 B.R. 264, 271 (Bankr. D. Del. 2010). In DHP Holdings, the court found that a claim seeking turnover of accounts receivable was non-core because the defendant disputed that it owed the debt. Rejecting plaintiff's argument that defendant's dispute was merely a general denial that was too vague to defeat core jurisdiction, the court held that defendant's "answer disputing the account receivable and asserting entitlement to setoff and recoupment is sufficient to render the debt disputed." Id.

Along similar lines, the court in MCI Telecommunications Corp. v. Gurga (In re Gurga), 176 B.R. 196, 199 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1994) found that a turnover claim predicated upon a breach of contract claim was non-core:

Despite Source's attempts to frame the issues herein as core, we find that the claims are noncore. It is undisputed that the underlying action is a breach of contract action. The adversary proceeding filed by Source entitled "Complaint for turnover of property, accounting, breach of contract, conversion, and breach of fiduciary duty," includes claims for relief for only one potential core issue—turnover of property pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 542(b). However, turnover proceedings involve return of undisputed funds. Here, the amounts, if any, owed to Source by MCI are in dispute and this dispute rests on breach of contract issues. In fact, Source made a prepetition demand for arbitration of the dispute, described at that time as breach of contract and accounting causes of action. Breach of contract actions are noncore claims. See 28 U.S.C. § 157.

MCI Telecommunications Corp. v. Gurga (In re Gurga), 176 B.R. 196, 199 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1994) (internal citations omitted).

Here, L.A. Care disputes its liability based on Plaintiffs' alleged failure to comply with the claims presentation requirements of the Government Claims Act. The Court makes no findings with respect to whether Plaintiffs complied with the Government Claims Act. [Note 1] The issues raised by L.A. Care as to Plaintiffs' compliance are sufficiently serious to render the alleged indebtedness subject to dispute. For example, L.A. Care asserts that the Demand and Stay Violation Letters did not contain all the requisite information required in a Government Claim, that the letters were not properly served, and that the letters did not sufficiently advise LA Care of the possibility of litigation. These issues are legitimate; L.A. Care cannot fairly be accused of asserting mere technicalities to defeat the Bankruptcy Court's jurisdiction. are core. However, the approximately $360,000 sought on account of the alleged setoffs is dwarfed by the approximately $25 million sought on account of the claims for breach of contract, unjust enrichment, and turnover.

Because the claims for breach of contract, unjust enrichment, and turnover are non-core, the Court lacks jurisdiction to decline to enforce the arbitration provision with respect to those claims. Thorpe, 671 F.3d at 1021. With respect to the core claims for violation of the automatic stay and injunctive relief, the Court may decline to enforce the arbitration provision "only if arbitration would conflict with the underlying purposes of the Bankruptcy Code." Id. Given the comparatively small amount at issue in connection with the stay-violation and injunctive relief claims, the Court cannot find that arbitration would conflict with the underlying purpose of the Bankruptcy Code.

The facts here are easily distinguished from those of Thorpe, in which the court found that arbitration would conflict with bankruptcy policies. In Thorpe, Continental Insurance Company ("Continental") alleged that certain actions taken by the Debtor in its attempts to confirm a plan of reorganization violated a prepetition settlement agreement between Continental and the Debtor. Thorpe, 671 F.3d at 1022. Continental filed a proof of claim asserting damages for breach of the settlement, and argued that its claim should be subject to arbitration. Id. at 1017. Rejecting Continental's motion to enforce the settlement's arbitration clause, the Thorpe court held that the determination of whether Thorpe's actions in negotiating and propounding a plan of reorganization violated a settlement agreement was a matter of bankruptcy policy. Id. at 1022. The court reasoned that permitting an arbitrator to decide such an issue would conflict with the objectives of the Bankruptcy Code. Id.

Here, adjudication of the Complaint will determine whether the Plaintiffs/Debtors are entitled to receive damages from L.A. Care on account of an alleged breach of contract. If Plaintiffs/Debtors prevail, the estate will receive an infusion of cash. Allowing an arbitrator to decide whether the contract was breached, and therefore whether Plaintiffs/Debtors are entitled to damages, will not conflict with the Bankruptcy Code. Unlike the situation in Thorpe, having this matter heard by an arbitrator will not interfere with the Court's ability to oversee any plan of liquidation the Debtors may propose.

The Court will stay this action pending the completion of arbitration. Because the arbitration clause provides that disclosure and discovery shall be conducted in accordance with the provisions of the California Code of Civil Procedure, L.A. Care's motion for a protective order excusing compliance with its discovery obligations

The Court rejects Plaintiffs' argument that it was not required to comply with the Government Claims Act. It is true that the Government Claims Act does not apply to "claims for goods, services, provisions or other assistance rendered for or on behalf of any recipient of any form of public assistance." Cal. Gov't Code § 905(e). Here, Plaintiffs are suing LA Care for money damages on account of breach of contract. While there is some ambiguity in the statute, the Court does not believe that a claim for money damages in the millions of dollars falls within the ambit of the § 905(e) exception. In reaching this conclusion, the Court notes that under California law, the "ultimate task" in statutory interpretation "is to ascertain the Legislature's intent." People v. Massie, 19 Cal.4th 550, 569, 79 Cal.Rptr.2d 816, 967 P.2d 29 (1998). Cal. Welf. & Inst. Code § 14087.9685(c) provides that "[a]ll claims for money damages" against a commission such as LA Care shall be governed by the Government Claims Act. This provision would be rendered superfluous if claims for money damages against LA Care were construed to fall within the § 905(e) exception.

County ("SCC"). Doc. No. 1153 (the "SCC Sale Order"). The SCC Sale Order authorized the Debtors to assume and assign to SCC any of the Debtors' executory contracts and unexpired leases designated by SCC (the "Designated Contracts"). The sale closed on February 28, 2019.

The Debtors seek authorization to reject certain executory contracts and unexpired leases (collectively, the "Agreements") that were not designated for assignment by SCC. The Debtors state that the Agreements provided no benefit to the estates in view of the sale of St. Louise and O'Connor. The Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors (the "Committee") does not object to the Motion. No opposition to the Motion is on file.

II. Findings and Conclusions

A. Notice and Service

There is no proof of service on the docket indicating that Kurtzman Carson Consultants, LLC ("KCC"), the Debtors' claims and noticing agent, provided notice of this hearing to the counterparties to the Agreements that the Debtors seek to reject. Provided the Debtors can establish that the counterparties received actual notice of the Motion, the Court is prepared to grant the Motion.

B. The Court is Prepared to Grant the Motion Provided the Debtors Establish that Notice was Sufficient

Section 365(a) provides that the Debtor, "subject to the court's approval, may assume or reject any executory contract or unexpired lease of the debtor." In Agarwal v. Pomona Valley Med. Grp. (In re Pomona Valley Med. Grp., Inc.), the Ninth Circuit explained that the business judgment rule governs the Bankruptcy Court's review of the Debtors' decision to assume or reject an executory contract or unexpired lease. Pomona Valley, 476 F.3d 665, 670 (9th Cir. 2007). The Pomona Valley court stated that the Court "need engage in only a cursory review" of the debtor's decision, and "should presume that the debtor-in-possession acted prudently, on an informed basis, in good faith, and in the honest belief that the action taken was in the best interests of the bankruptcy estate." Id.

The Debtors have shown that rejection of the Agreements is in the best interests of the estate. The Debtors no longer operate St. Louise or O'Connor and therefore have no need of the Agreements. SCC has not requested assignment of any of the Agreements. Rejection of the Agreements will reduce administrative expenses.

#100.00 HearingRE: [9] Notice of motion and motion for relief from the automatic stay with supporting declarations PERSONAL PROPERTY RE: 2015 Chevrolet Silverado, VIN 3GCUKTEC1FG138084 . (Wang, Jennifer)

Docket 9

Tentative Ruling:

4/04/2019

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1) to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to foreclose upon and obtain possession of the property in accordance with applicable law. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. Movant has established a prima facie case that cause exists, and Debtor has not responded with evidence establishing that the property is not declining in value or that Movant is adequately protected.

The subject vehicle has a value of $33,075 and is encumbered by a perfected security interest in favor of the Movant. Considering Movant's lien, all senior liens against the property, and the estimated costs of sale, there is no equity in the property. Movant is not protected by an equity cushion in the property. The Ninth Circuit has established that an equity cushion of 20% constitutes adequate protection for a secured creditor. Pistole v. Mellor (In re Mellor), 734 F.2d 1396, 1401 (9th Cir. 1984); see Downey Sav. & Loan Ass'n v. Helionetics, Inc. (In re Helionetics, Inc.), 70 B.R. 433, 440 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1987) (holding that a 20.4% equity cushion was sufficient to protect the creditor's interest in its collateral). Because the equity cushion in this

This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. All other relief is denied.

Chapter 11

#102.00 HearingRE: [1842] Notice of motion and motion for relief from automatic stay with supporting declarations ACTION IN NON-BANKRUPTCY FORUM RE: Saleh v. Segal BC 718838 .

Docket 1842

Tentative Ruling:

4/04/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Motion is GRANTED, except that Movants' request for retroactive annulment of the automatic stay is DENIED.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Notice of Motion and Motion for Relief from the Automatic Stay Under 11 U.S.C. § 362 [as to Debtor St. Francis Medical Center] [Doc. No. 1842] (the "Motion")
- 2) Debtors' Response to Motion for Relief from the Automatic Stay Filed on Behalf of Ebtissam Saleh, et al. [Doc. No. 1894]
- 3) Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors' Joinder to Debtors' Response to Motion for Relief from the Automatic Stay Filed by Ebtissam Saleh et al. [Doc. No. 1908]
- 4) Plaintiff's Reply to Debtor's Response to Motion for Relief of Stay Filed on Behalf of Ebtissam Saleh, et al. [Doc. No. 1993] (the "Reply")

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On August 31, 2018 (the "Petition Date"), Verity Health Systems of California ("VHS") and certain of its subsidiaries filed voluntary petitions for relief under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. On August 31, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the Debtors' motion for joint administration of the Debtors' Chapter 11 cases. Doc. No. 17.

Ebtissam Saleh, Lames Khanafer, Fatimah Khanafer, Rana Khanafer, Rim Khanafer, and Hussein Khanafer (collectively, "Movants"), seek stay-relief, pursuant to §362(d)(1), for the purpose of continuing to litigate a wrongful death action in the Los Angeles Superior Court (the "State Court Action") against the Debtors. Movants seek recovery only from applicable insurance and waive any deficiency or other claim against the Debtors or the Debtors' estates. Movants seek retroactive annulment of the stay to ratify their post-petition filing of a Second Amended Complaint for Wrongful Death (the "Second Amended Complaint") against Debtor St. Francis.

Debtors argue that the Motion should be denied as a sanction for the filing of the Second Amended Complaint. Debtors assert that the stay-violation was willful, noting that Movants were served with a Notice of Stay on October 19, 2018. The Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors (the "Committee") joins the Debtors' opposition to the Motion.

In Reply, Movants state that they filed the Second Amended Complaint in response to the request of a co-defendant, Dr. Segal, and that the Second Amended Complaint reduced the Debtors' potential exposure by removing a claim for medical negligence. Movants state that no proceedings occurred as a result of the filing of the Second Amended Complaint.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Movants filed the Second Amended Complaint without obtaining stay-relief. Unless the Court retroactively annuls the automatic stay, the filing of the Second Amended Complaint is void. See Schwartz v. United States (In re Schwartz), 954 F.2d 569, 571 (9th Cir. 1992) (holding that "violations of the automatic stay are void, not voidable").

"[T]he proper standard for determining 'cause' to annul the automatic stay retroactively is a 'balancing of the equities' test." Fjeldsted v. Lien (In re Fjeldsted), 293 B.R. 12, 24 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2003). In weighing the equities, the general trend has been to focus on two factors: "(1) whether the creditor was aware of the bankruptcy petition; and (2) whether the debtor engaged in unreasonable or inequitable conduct, or prejudice would result to the creditor." Id.

There is no admissible evidence before the Court with respect to whether Movants were aware of the bankruptcy petition. Debtors state that a Notice of Stay was served upon Movants on October 19, 2018. [Note 1] However, that Notice of Stay was inadvertently omitted from the Debtors' Opposition. Nothing in the papers filed by Movants indicates whether they were aware of the petition.

With regard to the second factor, Movants have failed to establish that the Debtors have engaged in unreasonable or inequitable conduct. There is no merit to Movants' contention that the bankruptcy petition was filed in bad faith to delay adjudication of Movants' claims against the Debtors. Movants point to the fact that the Debtors sought bankruptcy protection on August 31, 2018, shortly after the filing of Movants'

Complaint on August 17, 2018. The close proximity between the filing of Movants' Complaint and the filing of the petitions is nothing more than coincidence. Debtors sought bankruptcy protection because they were losing $175 million annually on a cash flow basis and required the protections of the Bankruptcy Code to liquidate their assets. See generally First Day Decl. of Richard G. Adcock [Doc. No. 8].

Retroactive annulment may also be justified where necessary to avoid prejudice to the party seeking stay-relief. Here, Movants have not made a sufficient showing of prejudice to be entitled to annulment. Movants checked the box on the Court's mandatory form requesting annulment, but did not include a supporting declaration setting forth facts justifying annulment. "The automatic stay is one of the fundamental debtor protections provided by the bankruptcy laws." Schwartz, 954 F.2d at 571 (citing H.R.Rep. No. 595, 95th Cong., 1st Sess. 340 (1978), reprinted in 1978 U.S.Code Cong. & Admin.News 5787, 5963, 6296-97). Movants must do more than check a box on a form if they wish to obtain annulment of the stay.

Because Movants have failed to establish that either factor applies, the request for annulment is denied. This means that the filing of the Second Amended Complaint is void. The Court declines the Debtors' and the Committee's request to deny stay-relief as a sanction for the filing of the Second Amended Complaint. On the present record, the Court cannot determine whether the stay violation was willful. Even if it was, denial of the Motion would be too severe a sanction. The filing of the Second Amended Complaint is void and therefore did not harm the Debtors or their estates.

The Court finds that stay-relief is appropriate. As explained by the Ninth Circuit Bankruptcy Appellate Panel in Kronemyer v. American Contractors Indemnity Co. (In re Kronemyer) (internal citations omitted): "What constitutes 'cause' for granting relief from the automatic stay is decided on a case-by-case basis. Among factors appropriate to consider in determining whether relief from the automatic stay should be granted to allow state court proceedings to continue are considerations of judicial economy and the expertise of the state court, ... as well as prejudice to the parties and whether exclusively bankruptcy issues are involved." 405 B.R. 915, 921. The factors articulated in In re Curtis, 40 B.R. 795, 799-800 (Bankr. D. Utah 1984) and adopted by the bankruptcy court in Truebro, Inc. v. Plumberex Specialty Prods., Inc. (In re Plumberex Specialty Prods., Inc), 311 B.R. 551, 559-60 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2004) are also "appropriate, nonexclusive factors to consider in deciding whether to grant relief from the automatic stay to allow pending litigation to continue in another forum." Kronemyer, 405 B.R. at 921. The Curtis factors are as follows:

United States Bankruptcy Court

Hearing Room 1568

10:00 AM

CONT... Verity Health System of California, Inc. Chapter 11

- 1) Whether the relief will result in a partial or complete resolution of the issues;
- 2) The lack of any connection with or interference with the bankruptcy case;
- 3) Whether the foreign proceeding involves the debtor as a fiduciary;
- 4) Whether a specialized tribunal has been established to hear the particular cause of action and whether that tribunal has the expertise to hear such cases;
- 5) Whether the debtor's insurance carrier has assumed full financial responsibility for defending the litigation;
- 6) Whether the action essentially involves third parties, and the debtor functions only as a bailee or conduit for the goods or proceeds in question;
- 7) Whether the litigation in another forum would prejudice the interests of other creditors, the creditors' committee and other interested parties;
- 8) Whether the judgment claim arising from the foreign action is subject to equitable subordination under Section 510(c);
- 9) Whether movant's success in the foreign proceeding would result in a judicial lien avoidable by the debtor under Section 522(f);
- 10) The interests of judicial economy and the expeditious and economical determination of litigation for the parties;
- 11) Whether the foreign proceedings have progressed to the point where the parties are prepared for trial, and
- 12) The impact of the stay on the parties and the "balance of hurt."

Plumberex, 311 B.R. at 599.

The most important of the twelve factors is the effect of the non-bankruptcy litigation on the administration of the estate. Curtis, 40 B.R. at 806. The Curtis court held that "[e]ven slight interference with the administration may be enough to preclude relief in the absence of a commensurate benefit." Id.

Granting stay-relief at this time will not interfere with the Debtors' prosecution of these cases because Movants have agreed to limit their recovery to available insurance. To the extent they apply, the majority of the Curtis factors weigh in favor of stay-relief. The State Court Action will completely resolve the issues (factor one); the State Court is the tribunal best suited to hear the Movants' claims (factor three); litigation in the State Court will not prejudice creditors or other interested parties (factor seven); and lifting the stay will result in a more expeditious determination of the State Court Action (factor ten). Finally, given that the litigation will not interfere with the Debtors' prosecution of these cases, factor twelve—the impact of the stay on the parties—weighs in favor of granting the Motion and allowing Movants to obtain

III. Conclusion

Based upon the foregoing, the stay is lifted, pursuant to § 362(d)(1). Movants may proceed under applicable nonbankruptcy law to enforce their remedies to proceed to final judgment in the nonbankruptcy forum, provided that the stay remains in effect with respect to enforcement of any judgment against the Debtors or property of the Debtors' estates. Movants' request that the order be binding and effective in any bankruptcy case commenced by or against the Debtors for a period of 180 days is DENIED. Movants' request for retroactive annulment of the stay is DENIED. Movants shall submit an order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing. [Note 2]

Note 1

The claims regarding service of the Notice of Stay are presented only as argument in the Debtors' Opposition, and are not established by admissible evidence, such as a declaration from a person with knowledge.

Note 2

To ensure that the Debtors have the opportunity to review Movants' proposed order as to form, Movants shall either (a) submit a Notice of Lodgment of the proposed order in accordance with the procedure set forth in Local Bankruptcy Rule 9021-1(b)(3)(A) or, in the alternative, shall (b) obtain Debtors' endorsement as to the form of the proposed order pursuant to the procedure set forth in Local Bankruptcy Rule 9021-1(b)(3)(C).

#100.00 HearingRE: [97] Motion for approval of chapter 11 disclosure statement Notice of Motion and Motion for Approval of Adequacy Debtor's Disclosure Statement Describing Chapter 11 Plan

Docket 97

Tentative Ruling:

4/8/2019

The Court will require the Debtor to make a few minor amendments to the Disclosure Statement, as discussed below. Otherwise, the Court finds that the Disclosure Statement contains adequate information.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed

1. First Amended Disclosure Statement Describing Chapter 11 Plan of Reorganization [Doc. No. 95] (the "Disclosure Statement")
2. First Amended Chapter 11 Plan of Reorganization [Doc. No. 89] (the "Plan")
3. Notice of Motion and Motion for Approval of Adequacy of Debtor's First Amended Disclosure Statement Describing Chapter 11 Plan of Reorganization [Doc. No. 97] (the "Motion")
4. Response by First Amended Disclosure Statement [sic] [Doc. No. 101] (the "FGB Response")
5. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no reply is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Debtor-in-possession, Andrew's & Sons Tradings, Inc. dba Beston Shoes (the "Debtor"), filed this voluntary chapter 11 case on July 13, 2018 (the "Petition Date"). The Debtor is an online wholesaler and retailer of shoes.

Pre-petition, the Debtor's annual sales reached more than $11,000,000. However, in early 2018, the Debtor experienced financial difficulties that resulted in it defaulting on its loan obligations to Kings Cash Group ("KCG"). KCG filed suit and ultimately recovered a judgment against the Debtor on June 19, 2018. Shortly thereafter, KCG levied on the Debtor's bank account, which severely restricted the Debtor's cash flow. Additionally, on June 22, 2018, another of the Debtor's working capital lenders, EBF Partners, LLC, dba Everest Business Funding ("EBF") obtained a judgment against the Debtor and began directing the Debtor's clients to send payments owing to the Debtor directly to EBF. As a result, the Debtor was unable to afford its monthly rent obligations to its landlord, 8 Net, Inc. ("8 Net") so the Debtor began relocating its business. Notwithstanding its efforts to vacate, 8 Net filed an unlawful detainer action against the Debtor, obtained a default judgment on June 29, 2018, and seized all of the Debtor's remaining inventory. In response, the Debtor filed this case.

The Debtor presently seeks an order approving the adequacy of its Disclosure Statement. The Disclosure Statement details the events discussed above which led to this bankruptcy filing and provides a description of significant post-petition events. The Debtor states that it has reduced its monthly expenses and intends to engage in a marketing campaign to promote sales for its most profitable shoes. The Debtor has also been negotiating with its secured creditors to ensure that it will be able to service all of its secured debt and provide a dividend to general unsecured creditors pursuant to the terms of its proposed Plan.

The Debtor proposes a reorganization Plan that will be funded by the Debtor's post-petition business operations with an Effective Date that is fourteen days after the Court enters an order approving the Plan. The Debtor anticipates that it will have at least $63,341.94 in available cash as of the Effective Date, generated from sales revenues. The Debtor submits that this is sufficient to pay $36,950 in estimated administrative claims.

The Plan proposes the following classification scheme and treatments:

- Class 1: Secured claim of First General Bank ("Loan 1"). First General Bank ("FGB") holds a first-priority blanket security lien against the Debtor's assets, which secures debt in the amount of $110,894.08. The Debtor proposes to pay FGB in full, plus 7.25% interest, by making monthly payments of $1,155.25 for a period of twelve years. FGB will retain its lien until paid in full. FGB's claim is impaired and it is entitled to vote on the Plan.
- Class 2: Secured claim of FGB ("Loan 2"). FGB holds a second-priority blanket security lien against the Debtor's assets, which secures debt in the amount of $73,991.14. [Note 1] The Debtor proposes to pay FGB in full, plus 7.25% interest, by making monthly payments of $863.40 for a period of ten years. FGB will retain its lien until paid in full. FGB's claim is impaired and it is entitled to vote on the Plan.

- Class 3: Secured claim of Amazon Capital Services, Inc. ("ACS"). ACS holds a third-priority blanket security lien against the Debtor's assets, which secures debt in the amount of $477,488.27. [Note 2] The Debtor proposes to pay ACS in full, plus 5% interest, by making monthly payments of $4,416 for a period of twelve years. ACS will retain its lien until paid in full. ACS's claim is impaired and it is entitled to vote on the Plan.
- Class 4: Secured claim of Kings Cash Group ("KCG"). KCG holds a fourth priority blanket security lien against the Debtor's assets, which secures debt in the amount of $249,512.85. The Debtor proposes to treat KCG's claim as entirely unsecured and to pay KCG pursuant to the proposed terms of repayment for other general unsecured creditors in Class 9. KCG's lien will be avoided upon confirmation of the Plan pursuant to § 1141(c). KCG's claim is impaired and it is entitled to vote on the Plan.
- Class 5: Secured claim of EBF Partners, LLC dba Everest Business Funding and Corporation Service Company ("EBF"). EBF holds a fifth priority blanket security lien against the Debtor's assets, which secures debt in the amount of $246,734.40. The Debtor proposes to treat EBF's claim as entirely unsecured and to pay EBF pursuant to the proposed terms of repayment for other general unsecured creditors in Class 9. EBF's lien will be avoided upon confirmation of the Plan pursuant to § 1141(c). EBF's claim is impaired and it is entitled to vote on the Plan.
- Class 6: Secured claim of Ally Financial ("Ally"). Ally holds a secured lien against the Debtor's 2011 Ford Truck F650, which secures debt in the amount of $20,178.97. On or about November 20, 2018, the Debtor entered into an adequate protection stipulation with Ally [See Doc. Nos. 72, 74]. The Debtor proposes to pay Ally in full, plus 5.5% interest, by making monthly payments of $490 through November 1, 2022 or until the claim is paid in full. Ally will retain its lien until paid in full. Ally's claim is impaired and it is entitled to vote on the Plan.
- Class 7: Secured claim of JP Morgan Chase Bank, N.A. ("Chase"). Chase holds a secured lien against the Debtor's 2015 Tesla Model S, which secures debt in the amount of $47,414.57. On or about January 7, 2019, the Debtor entered into an adequate protection stipulation with Chase [See Doc. Nos. 79, 81]. The Debtor proposes to pay Chase in full, plus 5% interest, by making monthly payments of $895 for a period of 60 months, or until the claim is paid in full. Chase will retain its lien until paid in full. Chase's claim is impaired and it is entitled to vote on the Plan.

- Class 8: Secured claim of Hong Kong Motors ("HKM"). HKM holds a secured lien against the Debtor's 2007 Nissan Altima, which secures debt in the amount of $4,500. The Debtor proposes to bifurcate HKM's claim into a secured claim of $2,835 (which the Debtor states is the current value of the collateral) and an unsecured claim of $1,665. The Debtor proposes to pay HKM's secured claim in full, plus 5% interest, by making monthly payments of $53 for a period of 60 months. HKM will retain its lien, up to the value of the collateral, until the secured portion of its claim is paid in full. The Debtor proposes to pay HKM's unsecured claim pursuant to the proposed terms of repayment for other general unsecured creditors in Class 9. HKM's claim is impaired and it is entitled to vote on the Plan.
- Class 8(b): Secured claim of New Commercial Capital ("NCC"). NCC has not filed a proof of claim in this case but recorded a UCC against the Debtor. The Debtor disputes that NCC holds a valid lien or is entitled to any distribution under the Debtor's Plan. To the extent NCC has a lien against any of the Debtor's assets, the Debtor proposes to strip NCC's lien as of the Effective Date. NCC will not be paid anything under the Debtor's Plan.
