The Debtor disputes that CSC holds a valid lien or is entitled to any distribution under the Debtor's Plan. To the extent that CSC has a lien against any of the Debtor's assets, the Debtor proposes to strip CSC's lien as of the Effective Date. CSC will not be paid anything under the Debtor's Plan.

Chapter 11

- Class 8(e): Secured claim of Employment Development Department ("EDD"). EDD filed a proof of claim asserting entitlement to a distribution of $47.18. The Debtor has already paid EDD's claim in full. Accordingly, EDD is not impaired and is not entitled to vote.
- Class 9: This class consists of general unsecured claims ("GUC") totaling $2,377,121. The Debtor proposes to pay $47,542.42, which represents approximately 2% of the total GUC claims, by making pro rata monthly payments of $792.37 for a period of five years. This class is impaired and all creditors in this class are entitled to vote.
- Class 10: This class consists Jiazheng Lu's 100% equity interest in the Debtor. Mr. Lu is an insider. Under the Plan, Mr. Lu will retain 100% of his ownership interest in the Debtor. Mr. Lu's claim is not impaired and he is not entitled to vote on the Plan.

First General Bank (the "FGB") submitted a timely response highlighting that the Debtor's proposed treatment for Classes 2 and 3 appear to invert the lien priority. FGB states that contrary to the current descriptions in the Debtor's proposed Disclosure Statement and Plan, it holds a second-priority blanket lien and Amazon Capital Services, Inc., holds a third-priority blanket lien against the Debtor's assets. Therefore, FGB requests that an order approving the Disclosure Statement require that the lien priority error be corrected.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no reply is on file.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Section 1125 requires a disclosure statement to contain "information of a kind, and in sufficient detail, as far as is reasonably practicable in light of the nature and history of the debtor and the condition of the debtor's books and records . . . that would enable. . . a hypothetical investor of the relevant class to make an informed judgment about the plan." In determining whether a disclosure statement provides adequate information, "the court shall consider the complexity of the case, the benefit of additional information to creditors and other parties in interest, and the cost of providing additional information." 11 U.S.C. § 1125(a). Courts interpreting § 1125(a) have explained that the "primary purpose of a disclosure statement is to give the creditors the information they need to decide whether to accept the plan." In re

Relevant factors for evaluating the adequacy of a disclosure statement may include: (1) the events which led to the filing of a bankruptcy petition; (2) a description of the available assets and their value; (3) the anticipated future of the company; (4) the source of information stated in the disclosure statement; (5) a disclaimer; (6) the present condition of the debtor while in Chapter 11; (7) the scheduled claims; (8) the estimated return to creditors under a Chapter 7 liquidation; (9) the accounting method utilized to produce financial information and the name of the accountants responsible for such information; (10) the future management of the debtor; (11) the Chapter 11 plan or a summary thereof; (12) the estimated administrative expenses, including attorneys' and accountants' fees; (13) the collectability of accounts receivable; (14) financial information, data, valuations or projections relevant to the creditors' decision to accept or reject the Chapter 11 plan; (15) information relevant to the risks posed to creditors under the plan; (16) the actual or projected realizable value from recovery of preferential or otherwise voidable transfers; (17) litigation likely to arise in a nonbankruptcy context; (18) tax attributes of the debtor; and (19) the relationship of the debtor with affiliates.

Subject to the minor amendments discussed below, the Court finds that the Disclosure Statement contains adequate information, in view of the size and complexity of the case. Among other things, the Disclosure Statement describes (1) the factors precipitating the Chapter 11 filing, (2) significant events that occurred during the Chapter 11 case, (3) the classification structure of the Plan, (4) a liquidation analysis, (5) a disclaimer, (6) risk factors, and (7) the means for execution of the Plan.

However, the Court notes that the Disclosure Statement refers to Exhibits 1 – 5, but those exhibits are not attached. Accordingly, by no later than April 16, 2019, and prior to disseminating the voting package, the Debtor is directed to file a second amended disclosure statement that attaches those exhibits. Section IV.A.2.b should also be amended to read: "In this case, the Proponent believes that classes one, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, eight(b), eight(c), eight(d), and nine are impaired" and "The Proponent believes that classes ten and eight(e) are unimpaired" The amended disclosure statement should also cure the error identified by FGB with respect to the description of Classes 2 and 3.

Although the following are plan confirmation issues, the Debtor should be aware that the proposed plan in its present form must be crammed down on Classes 8(b), 8(c), and 8(d) because, pursuant to § 1126(g), those classes will be deemed not to have accepted the plan because the holders of those claims will not receive or retain any property under the plan on account of such claims. See, e.g., In re Real Wilson Enters., 2013 Bankr. LEXIS 3997, at *9 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. Sep. 23, 2013). The Debtor should also be aware that the proposed plan in its present form cannot be confirmed over the opposition of the class of general unsecured creditors pursuant to § 1129(b)(2)(B). Here, the plan proposes to pay Class 9 general unsecured creditors only 2% of their total claim amount, but contemplates that the Class 10 equity holder, Jiazheng Lu, will retain 100% of his equity interest in the Debtor without contributing any new value.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Debtor and Debtor in Possession, Pac Anchor Transportation, Inc., consisting of the merger of Pac Anchor Transportation, Inc., and Green Anchor Lines, Inc. (the "Debtor") filed this voluntary chapter 11 case on July 6, 2017 (the "Petition Date"). The Debtor is a trucking company that provides trucking services throughout the Western United States. A material portion of its business is drayage to and from the Los Angeles and Long Beach ports.

The Debtor and the Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors (the "Committee," and together with the Debtor, the "Proponents") seek confirmation of their Joint Proposed Chapter 11 Plan of Reorganization [Doc. No. 282] (the "Plan"). The material provisions of the Plan are as follows:

1. The Plan is a reorganizing plan. The Proponents seek to accomplish payment under the Plan with both pre- and post-confirmation income from the Debtor's continued business operations generated from the Effective Date through and including approximately January 1, 2024.
2. The Effective Date will be 10 days after entry of the order confirming the plan or final approval of the class action settlement in the Superior Court of the State of California. The Proponents estimate the Effective Date will be on or before December 31, 2018.
3. On the Effective Date, the Committee will cease to exist and will be replaced by a Plan Committee that will monitor Debtor's compliance with the Plan and serve as disbursing agent.
4. The Plan consists of 15 classes of claims. Only Class 11 and Class 14 are impaired and entitled to vote.

5. Class 11 consists of general unsecured claims. The Plan proposes to pay Class 11 $4,500,000 over approximately 5 years. This represents an approximate 21.116% distribution on such claims.
6. Class 14 consists of civil and tax penalty claims. The Plan proposes to pay Class 14 a one-time $10,000 payment on January 1, 2024. This represents an approximate 0.02% distribution on such claims.
7. The Debtor shall establish a post-confirmation liquidating trust that will become effective on the Effective Date. Nigel Hamer (rather than Timothy J. Yoo or his designee), shall serve as trustee. In the event of an uncured default under the Plan, at the election of the Plan Committee, the assets of the Debtor will be transferred to and vest in the Liquidation Trust. Among other things, preferential and fraudulent transfer claims will be tolled, and the trustee will be vested with standing to pursue such claims.

Summary of the People's Opposition to the Plan

California's Attorney General, acting on behalf of the People of the State of California (the "People"), opposes confirmation of the Plan. The People assert that the Plan cannot be confirmed for the following reasons:

1. The Plan is not proposed in good faith as required by § 1129(a)(3) because the Debtor is still employing drivers as independent contractors allegedly in violation of California law and the Plan does not contain an injunction preventing the Debtor from classifying and treating drivers as independent contractors post-confirmation.
2. The Plan does not satisfy § 1129(a)(9) because the Plan does not provide for payment in full of the People's asserted priority Administrative Claim.
3. The Plan is not feasible as required by § 1129(a)(11) because the projections do not take into account an additional $150,000 needed to pay 21 newly converted drivers as employees.
4. The Plan improperly releases third parties from liability in violation of § 524(e).

The Debtor makes the following arguments in Reply to the People's Opposition:

1. The Plan is proposed in good faith. The Debtor has not employed any independent contractor drivers since September 1, 2017, and disputes that any of its employment practices have been in violations of California law. The Debtor's good faith is further demonstrated by its approved settlement with the truck drivers and commitment to only use employee drivers following the effective date of the plan. The Debtor does not object to including an injunction provision in the confirmation order.

2. The Plan is feasible. Debtor concedes that if the Administrative Claim is allowed, the Plan will be rendered infeasible, but the Debtor objects to the allowance of the Administrative Claim on a number of grounds (set forth in more detail in its objection to Motion to Allow Administrative Claim).

3. The Debtor's projections are not misleading. The Debtor utilizes Owner-Operator drivers and the projections take this change in business model into account.

4. The Plan does not release third parties from liability. The Settlement only releases insider claims for fraudulent conveyances and the People will retain its claim against Mr. Barajas in the state court action.

5. The People should be estopped from challenging the Plan on the basis of illegality and infeasibility because of its delay in challenging the Debtor's use of Owner-Operator drivers.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

A. The People's Objections are Overruled.

The People's objections are overruled in their entirety.

1. The People have not established that the Plan was not proposed in good faith within the meaning of § 1129(a)(3)

Section 1129(a)(3) requires that the "plan has been proposed in good faith and not by any means forbidden by law." As one court has explained:

The term 'good faith' in the context of 11 U.S.C. § 1129(a)(3) is not statutorily defined but has been interpreted by case law as referring to a plan that ‘achieves a result consistent with the objectives and purposes of the Code.’ ‘The requisite good faith determination is based on the totality of the circumstances.’

In re Melcher, 329 B.R. 865, 876 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. 2005) (internal citations omitted).

The People contend that the Plan is not proposed in good faith because the Debtor continues to misclassify its drivers in violation of California law and mislead this Court and its creditors. The Court finds that the People’s evidence in support of this contention is wholly insufficient and does not establish, even by a preponderance of the evidence, that the Plan was not proposed in good faith.

First, the People simply conclude that the Debtor is misclassifying its drivers in violation California law without identify which California law(s) it believes are implicated or any specific analysis as to how the Debtor’s conduct violated such provision(s). [Note 1]

Next, the People’s evidence does not support a finding that the Debtor has continued to misclassify drivers as "independent contractors" postpetition or that the Debtor intends to continue to do so after confirmation of the Plan. The People rely on the Debtor’s Monthly Operating Reports ("MORs") and Plan projections to establish the alleged ongoing misclassification, but as the Debtor points out, the People have conflated the terms "subcontractor" with "independent contractor." Debtor’s principal, Mr. Alfredo Barajas, testifies that the Debtor’s use of the term "subcontractors" includes "Owner-Operators, Entities, and non-drivers such as computer serving, maintenance on Debtor’s fuel pumps, and vehicle repairs." Barajas Decl., ¶ 11. The Court finds that this sufficiently undermines the People’s arguments on this point.

The Court also finds that the excerpts of deposition testimony from Mr. Barajas (Ex. 1 & 2), and Debtor’s former employee, Carlos Mosquera (Ex. 3) do not establish that the Debtor has continued to misclassify its employees. With respect to the Barajas testimony, the Court finds that most of the testimony was given pre-petition, on January 29, 2009, March 24, 2017, June 21, 2017 which the Court does not find particularly helpful in establishing alleged postpetition violations in light of Debtor’s testimony that it has changed its business model since filing this bankruptcy case. Chapter 11

Barajas' postpetition testimony also does not establish that the Debtor has violated California law. The People did not provide the full deposition transcript and the excerpts that were provided make it difficult to determine the context in which the People's questions were propounded. As a result, the testimony is at times vague as to whether Mr. Barajas is describing postpetition or prepetition employment practices [Note 2] and whether Mr. Barajas is describing the Debtor's employment practices with respect to all subclasses of drivers (e.g., employees, Owner-Operators, Entities, Independent Contractors) or only with respect to employee drivers. [Note 3] The Court also does not find the Mosquera testimony useful because his testimony appears to describe his prepetition employment experience with the Debtor and the People's contention is that the Debtor has continued to misclassify drivers postpetition.

The Court is also unpersuaded by the People's contention that the Debtor's principal, Alfredo Barajas, has misled this Court with respect to the Debtor's postpetition employment practices. Debtor submitted the Declaration of Mr. Barajas in which he testifies that the Debtor began converting all of its drivers from independent contractors to employees at the outset of this case and has not used independent contractors since September 1, 2017. Barajas Decl., ¶¶ 9-10. Mr. Barajas further testifies that the Debtor has utilized four different types of drivers, including Owner-Operators (drivers who drive their own trucks) and submits that the People have never alleged that Debtor's use of Owner-Operators violates California law. Id., ¶¶ 5, 6, 10.

Finally, the Court finds that the Debtor's agreement to include an injunction provision in the confirmation order will sufficiently address the People's concerns on this issue.

In sum, the Court finds that the Plan, which was proposed as a joint plan by the Debtor and the Committee of Unsecured Creditors, is designed to achieve results that are consistent with the Bankruptcy Code. The Debtor has changed its business model to prevent future litigation and through the Plan, the Debtor seeks to reorganize its affairs and avoid liquidation, while still paying out a large distribution to unsecured creditors.

Chapter 11

Section 1129(a)(9) requires that holders of certain administrative and priority claims receive cash equal to the allowed claim amount of their claims on the effective date of the plan, unless the claimant agrees to different treatment.

The People contend that the Plan does not satisfy § 1129(a)(9) because the Plan does not provide for payment in full of the People's asserted $4,000,000 priority Administrative Claim on the effective date.

For the reasons set forth in the concurrently posted tentative ruling on the People's request for an administrative claim (See Cal. No. 5.50, December 12, 2018), the Court is prepared to deny the People's request for an Administrative Claim in full. Accordingly, the Debtor's Plan will not be rendered infeasible by the need to pay such claim and is not deficient within the meaning of § 1129(a)(9) in failing to provide for that claim. The People's objection is overruled on this basis.

3. The Plan satisfies § 1129(a)(11)

Section 1129(a)(11), known as the "feasibility requirement," requires the Court to find that "[c]onfirmation of the plan is not likely to be followed by the liquidation, or the need for further financial reorganization, of the debtor or any successor to the debtor under the plan, unless such liquidation or reorganization is proposed in the plan."

The Court overrules the People's assertion that the Plan is infeasible under § 1129(a)(11), because its contention on this ground is premised entirely upon speculation and unsupported conclusions that the Debtor's projections do not take into account an extra $150,000 in expenses arising from the Debtor's conversion of Owner-Operator drivers to employees following the Effective Date. However, as the Debtor explains, the People have incorrectly conflated the term "subcontractor" with "independent contractor." The Debtor submits that its projections have properly taken into account its new employment model. Barajas Decl., ¶¶ 12-17.

4. The Plan does not contain an improper release of third-party liability in violation of § 524(e)

Section 524(e) states that "discharge of a debt of the debtor does not affect the liability of any other entity on, or the property of any other entity, for such debt." 11 U.S.C. § 524(e). Section 524(e) "precludes bankruptcy courts from discharging the liabilities of non-debtors." Resorts Int'l v. Lowenschuss, 67 F.3d 1394, 1401 (9th Cir. 1995).

The People contend that the Plan improperly releases third parties from liability in violation of § 524(e) on two grounds. First, the People assert that "there is an indefinite stay of the Enforcement Action against owner Alfredo Barajas based in part upon expected confirmation of the plan. This is tantamount to a release of a third party, and deprives the People of their right to proceed against Mr. Barajas for his individual liability for misclassification." Amended Opposition, p. 21:27-22:2.

However, the People are mistaken that the Court has issued an indefinite stay of the Enforcement Action against Mr. Barajas by way of its Order Granting Motion for Preliminary Injunction in the Pac Anchor, Transportation, Inc., Consisting of the Merger of Pac Anchor Transportation, Inc., and Green Anchor Lines, Inc. v. People of the State of California, ex rel. Xavier Becerra, Attorney General of the State of California, Adv. Case No. 2:18-ap-01244-ER (the "Adversary Proceeding"), docket number 40. That order only imposes a preliminary injunction with respect to enforcement of the Enforcement Action against the Debtor. Id. In fact, in Debtor's reply in support of its request for a preliminary injunction, the Debtor states "Debtor is not requesting a stay as to Mr. Barajas. The Motion only seeks injunctive relief as to Debtor." Adversary Proceeding, Dkt. 34, PDF p. 18: 9-10.

Second, the People contend that the Plan effectuates the provisions of a court approved settlement between the Debtor, committee of unsecured creditors, and Carlos Mosquera and Juan Francisco Rodriguez on behalf of themselves and all others similarly situated [Doc. Nos. 286, 287 & 413] (the "Settlement"), that the People assert improperly releases Alfredo Barajas and Elizabeth Zarate (the "Insiders") from fraudulent transfer liability. Although the People fail to reference the specific provision it finds objectionable, that provisions states:

In the event that Alfredo Barajas and Elizabeth Zarate file a petition seeking relief under Title 11 of the United States Code, which petition is not dismissed prior to confirmation of a plan under chapter 13 or 11 or approval of a final report under chapter 7, the Liquidating Trustee shall have a claim in the sum of $100,000 in full and complete satisfaction of any and all claims that may exist against Alfredo Barajas and/or of Elizabeth Zarate arising under California law arising under California law or arising under 11 U.S.C. § 542 et seq.

Doc. No. 287-1, Settlement, ¶ 5.

The People contend that this provision is tantamount to the release of third parties' liability. The Court does not agree. The Court approved this provision as part of a broader settlement within the context of a motion brought under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 9019, based upon this Court's determination that it was one of several forms of bargained for consideration. The Court concluded that the provision was a liquidation of potential judgment liability against the Insiders, based upon the Committee's determination that the Insiders were largely judgment proof. Furthermore, the provision is not akin to a general release of liability on all claims that could be brought against the Insiders. Instead, it is a limited release respecting the Estate's § 542 fraudulent transfer claims against the Insiders. Accordingly, the People's objections are overruled on this basis.

For the foregoing reasons, the Court finds that the Plan does not violate § 524(e).

B. The Plan Complies with All Applicable Provisions of 11 U.S.C. § 1129

As set forth below, the Court finds that the Plan complies with all applicable provisions of § 1129. The Plan is confirmed.

SECTION 1129(a)(1)

Section 1129(a)(1) requires that the "plan compl[y] with the applicable provisions of this title." According to the leading treatise, the "legislative history suggests that the applicable provisions are those governing the plan's internal structure and drafting: 'Paragraph (1) requires that the plan comply with the applicable provisions of chapter 11, such as section 1122 and 1123, governing classification and contents of a plan.'" Collier on Bankruptcy ¶ 1129.01[1] (16th rev'd ed.) Chapter 11

1. Section 1122(a)

Section 1122(a) provides that "a plan may place a claim or an interest in a particular class only if such claim or interest is substantially similar to the other claims or interests of such class."

The Plan's classification structure complies with § 1122(a).

2. Section 1122(b)

Section 1122(b) provides that "a plan may designate a separate class of claims consisting only of every unsecured claim that is less than or reduced to an amount that the court approves as reasonable and necessary for administrative convenience."

The Plan does not contain any convenience classes. Section 112(b) does not apply.

Section 1123(a)(1) requires that a plan "designate ... classes of claims, other than claims of a kind specified in section 507(a)(2) [administrative expense claims], 507(a)(3) [claims arising during the gap period in an involuntary case], or 507(a)(8) [priority tax claims], and classes of interest."

There are no involuntary gap claims because this is a voluntary chapter 11 case. The Plan appropriately classifies administrative expense claims and unsecured priority tax claims. The Plan satisfies § 1123(a)(1).

4. Section 1123(a)(2)

Section 1123(a)(2) requires that the Plan "specify any class of claims or interests that is not impaired under the Plan."

The Plan specifies that Classes 1 – 10, 12, 13 and 15 are unimpaired. The Plan satisfies § 1123(a)(2).

5. Section 1123(a)(3)

Section 1123(a)(3) requires that the Plan "specify the treatment of any class of claims or interests that is impaired under the Plan."

The Plan specifies the treatment of impaired Classes 11 and 14. The Plan satisfies § 1123(a)(3).

6. Section 1123(a)(4)

Section 1123(a)(4) requires that the Plan "provide the same treatment for each claim or interest of a particular class unless the holder of a particular claim or interest agrees to a less favorable treatment of such particular claim or interest."

The Plan provides the same treatment to claims and interests of the same class. The Plan satisfies § 1123(a)(4).

Section 1123(a)(5) requires that the Plan "provide adequate means for the plan's implementation."

The Plan will be funded by income generated by the Debtor's pre- and post-confirmation business operations. The Debtor anticipates having approximately $2,288,000 of cash on hand on the Effective Date of the Plan to pay anticipated effective date payments. The Proponents submitted evidence in support of Debtor's ability to adequately implement the Plan, in the form of: (1) balance sheets and income statements for the years of 2014, 2015, and 2016 (Disclosure Statement, Exhibit B), and (2) financial projections for the anticipated duration of the Plan (Disclosure Statement, Exhibit C). The proposed funding sources provide an adequate means for the Plan's implementation. The Plan satisfies § 1123(a)(5).

8. Section 1123(a)(6)

Section 1123(a)(6) provides: "[A] plan shall provide for the inclusion in the charter of the debtor, if the debtor is a corporation ..., of a provision prohibiting the issuance of nonvoting equity securities, and providing, as to the several classes of securities possessing voting power, an appropriate distribution of such power among such classes, including, in the case of any class of equity securities having a preference over another class of equity securities with respect to dividends, adequate provisions for the election of directors representing such preferred class in the event of default in the payment of such dividends."

The Plan specifies that the Debtor's bylaws will be amended to include the requisite language set forth above. The Plan satisfies § 1123(a)(6).

9. Section 1123(a)(7)

Section 1123(a)(7) requires that the Plan's provisions with respect to the selection of officers and directors be consistent with public policy and the interests of creditors and equity security holders.

The Reorganized Debtor will be managed by the sole shareholder, general manager, President and CEO, Alfredo Barajas, and Mr. Barajas' wife, Elizabeth Zarate (together, the "Insiders"). The Insiders will receive compensation for their management services as set forth in paragraph 15 of the Declaration of Alfredo Barajas (the "Barajas Decl.") filed in support of the Confirmation Brief. In addition, non-insider employee Bianca Bugarin will be responsible for all financial matters. The Insiders and Ms. Bugarin have extensive experience in the daily management of the Debtor. The Plan satisfies § 1123(a)(7).

10. Section 1123(a)(8)

Section 1123(a)(8) which imposes certain requirements upon individual debtors, does not apply.

SECTION 1129(a)(2)

Section 1129(a)(2) requires that the "proponent of the plan compl[y] with the applicable provisions of this title." The Court finds that the Plan Proponents have:

- 1) Obtained Court approval of a Disclosure Statement in accordance with § 1125 (see "Order Approving Disclosure Statement and Setting Hearing on Confirmation of Plan" [Doc. No. 358]);
- 2) Obtained Court approval of the employment of professional persons (see "Order Granting Application by Debtor-In-Possession to Employ Trojan and Company Accountancy Corporation as Special General Certified Public Accountant" [Doc. 3) Filed monthly operating reports.

Accordingly, the Plan Proponents have satisfied the requirements of § 1129(a)(2).

SECTION 1129(a)(3)

Section 1129(a)(3) requires that the "plan has been proposed in good faith and not by any means forbidden by law." As one court has explained:

The term 'good faith' in the context of 11 U.S.C. § 1129(a)(3) is not statutorily defined but has been interpreted by case law as referring to a plan that 'achieves a result consistent with the objectives and purposes of the Code.' 'The requisite good faith determination is based on the totality of the circumstances.'

In re Melcher, 329 B.R. 865, 876 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. 2005) (internal citations omitted).

As discussed in section II.A.1 above, the Plan seeks objectives that are consistent with those of the Bankruptcy Code and the Plan Proponents have complied with the requirements of the Code throughout this case. The Court rejects the People's contentions and finds that the Plan was proposed in good faith. Section 1129(a)(3) is satisfied.

SECTION 1129(a)(4)

Section 1129(a)(4) requires that "[a]ny payment made or to be made by the proponent, by the debtor, or by a person issuing securities or acquiring property under the plan, for services or for costs and expenses in or in connection with the case, or in connection with the plan and incident to the case, has been approved by, or is subject to the approval of, the court as reasonable."

The Plan provides that all professional fees are subject to review by the Court. The plan satisfies § 1129(a)(4).

SECTION 1129(a)(5)

Section 1129(a)(5) requires that the Plan disclose "the identity and affiliations of any individual proposed to serve, after confirmation of the Plan, as a director, officer, or voting trustee of the debtor, an affiliate of the debtor participating in a joint Plan with the debtor, or a successor to the debtor under the Plan." Section 1129(a)(5)(A)(ii) requires that the appointment to or continuation in office of a director or officer be consistent with the interests of creditors, equity security holders, and public policy.

Section 1129(a)(5)(B) requires the Plan proponent to disclose the identity of any insider to be employed by the reorganized debtor.

The Plan discloses that Mr. Barajas, an insider, will continue to serve as the Debtor's president and chief executive officer subsequent to confirmation. The Plan further discloses that Ms. Burgin, a non-insider employee, will be responsible for all financial matters of the Debtor subsequent to confirmation. The Barajas Decl. filed in support of the Plan and Disclosure Statement disclose the identities, relationships, roles and post-confirmation compensation of five additional insider employees. The Plan discloses that a Liquidating Trust will be created on the Effective Date and that Nigel Hamer as the Liquidating Trustee. The Plan satisfies § 1129(a)(5).

SECTION 1129(a)(6)

Section 1129(a)(6), which requires that a governmental regulatory commission with jurisdiction over rates charged by a debtor approve any rate changes provided for in the plan, does not apply.

SECTION 1129(a)(7)

Section 1129(a)(7), known as the "best interests of creditors test," provides in relevant part: "With respect to each impaired class of claims or interests, each holder of a claim or interest of such class has accepted the plan; or will receive or retain under the plan on account of such claim or interest property of a value, as of the effective date of the plan, that is not less than the amount that such holder would so receive or retain if the debtor were liquidated under chapter 7 of this title on such date."

Classes 1-10, 12, 13 and 15 are unimpaired and are deemed to have accepted the Plan. Classes 11 and 14 have accepted the Plan. See Ballot Summary [Doc. No. 434]. Section 1129(a)(7) is satisfied because all classes of creditors have accepted the Plan.

SECTION 1129(a)(8)

Section 1129(a)(8) requires each class to accept the Plan, unless the class is not impaired.

Classes 1-10, 12, 13 and 15 are unimpaired and are deemed to have accepted the Plan. Classes 11 and 14 have accepted the Plan. See Ballot Summary [Doc. No. 434].

SECTION 1129(a)(9)

Section 1129(a)(9) requires that holders of certain administrative and priority claims receive cash equal to the allowed claim amount of their claims on the effective date of the plan, unless the claimant agrees to different treatment.

The Plan provides for the payment of administrative claims and the priority tax claims of the Franchise Tax board and Los Angeles County Tax Collector in full on or before the Effective Date. Class 10 consists of priority unsecured wage claims. Pursuant to an order of this Court, the Debtor paid the priority unsecured wage claims in full after the commencement of this case. See Barajas Decl., ¶ 24; "Order Granting Emergency Motion of Debtor and Debtor-In-Possession for an Order Authorizing Debtor-In-Possession to Pay Pre-Petition Payroll and Related Payroll Taxes and to Honor Pre-Petition Employment Procedures" [Doc. As discussed above in section II.A.2, the People have not established entitlement to an Administrative Claim for penalties pursuant to § 503(b). Accordingly, the Plan need to provide for such claim.

The Plan satisfies § 1129(a)(9).

SECTION 1129(a)(10)

Section 1129(a)(10) requires that "at least one class of claims that is impaired under the plan has accepted the plan, determined without including any acceptance of the plan by any insider."

Classes 11 and 14 are impaired, do not consist of insiders, and have accepted the Plan. Section 1129(a)(10) is satisfied.

SECTION 1129(a)(11)

Section 1129(a)(11), known as the "feasibility requirement," requires the Court to find that "[c]onfirmation of the plan is not likely to be followed by the liquidation, or the need for further financial reorganization, of the debtor or any successor to the debtor under the plan, unless such liquidation or reorganization is proposed in the plan."

The Debtor has sufficient cash on hand to pay the amounts that are due on the Effective Date. Based upon its review of the budget projections included with the Disclosure Statement, the Court finds that confirmation is not likely to be followed by liquidation or the need for further financial reorganization. The Court has overruled the People's objections on this ground for the reasons set forth above in section II.A.3.

The Plan is feasible and satisfies § 1129(a)(11).

SECTION 1129(a)(12)

Section 1129(a)(12) requires that the Debtor pay all United States Trustee fees prior to confirmation or provide for payment of those fees on the effective date.

To the Court's knowledge, UST fees are current. Section 1129(a)(12) is satisfied.

No governmental unit has requested that the court not confirm the Plan on the grounds that the Plan's purpose is the avoidance of taxes or application of section 5 of the Securities Act of 1944. The Plan satisfies § 1129(d).

III. Conclusion

Based upon the foregoing, the Plan is confirmed. The Court will conduct a post-confirmation status report on April 10, 2019. The Debtor is directed to file a post-confirmation status report 14-days prior to the hearing.

The Debtor shall submit a conforming order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing. The confirmation order shall include a provision incorporating the injunction contemplated in the Settlement Agreement.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Daniel Koontz or Jessica Vogel at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. If you wish to make a telephonic appearance, contact Court Call at 888-882-6878, no later than one hour before the hearing.

Note 1: The Court presumes the People's contentions regarding violations of California law mirror the claims pled in its state court complaint. However, those claims have not been finally adjudicated in the People's favor and the Debtor continues to dispute that its conduct violated California law. Accordingly, even if the Court presumes the claims pled in the state court complaint are the same state court violations issue here, there is insufficient evidence before this Court to conclude that the Debtor's post-petition employment practices violated California law.

Note 2:

Chapter 7

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

A. Background

To provide context for the conclusions set forth herein, the Court describes the history of this case and its prior rulings in detail.

Anne Lan Peterson (the "Debtor") filed a voluntary Chapter 7 petition on December 14, 2011. On April 16, 2012, the Debtor received a discharge, and on April 30, 2012, the Debtor's case was closed as a "no asset" case. Bankr. Doc. Nos. 18 and 20.

On March 13, 2013, upon the motion of the United States Trustee (the "UST"), Debtor's case was reopened to permit the UST to investigate whether to file a complaint to revoke the Debtor's discharge based upon concealment of assets. Bankr. Doc. No. 23. The UST did not file a complaint to revoke the Debtor's discharge. On June 14, 2013, the Debtor's case was closed for the second time. Bankr. Doc. No. 30.

On July 6, 2016, again upon the motion of the UST, the Debtor's case was reopened, and a Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee") was appointed. The UST brought this second motion to reopen after the Trustee who had originally served was contacted by Debtor's spouse, Ronald Peterson ("Ronald"), and was advised that Ronald intended to purchase undisclosed community property assets of the estate for a price in excess of $100,000. Decl. of Brad Krasnoff [Bankr. Doc. No. 31] at ¶ 5.

1. The Trustee's Complaint and Ronald's Purported Cross-Complaint

On January 22, 2018, the Trustee filed the Trustee's First Amended Complaint: (1) For Declaratory Relief; (2) In the Alternative, for Sale of Real Property Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §363(h); (3) For Turnover; (4) For Violation of Automatic Stay; and (5) For Dissolution of Limited Liability Company [Adv. Doc. No. 21] (the "Turnover Complaint") against Ronald Peterson ("Ronald") [Note 1] and two limited liability companies—Maitreya, LLC, a Nevada LLC ("Maitreya Nevada") and Maitreya, LLC, an Arizona LLC ("Maitreya Arizona") (Ronald, Maitreya Nevada, and Maitreya Arizona collectively, the "Defendants"). The Turnover Complaint sought a declaration that real property located at 359 W. Langston Street, Upland, California 91786 (the "Property") is community property of the Debtor and Ronald, and therefore property of the estate pursuant to §541(a)(2). The Turnover Complaint sought turnover of the Property, avoidance of the post-petition transfer of the Property to Maitreya Arizona, and dissolution of Maitreya Nevada pursuant to Nevada Revised Statute §86.495, on the grounds that the Trustee, as the sole owner, is entitled to liquidate Maitreya Nevada.

Chapter 7

On February 26, 2018, Ronald, Maitreya Nevada, and Maitreya Arizona filed an Answer to the Turnover Complaint. Adv. Doc. No. 42. The Answer asserted four affirmative defenses but did not assert any counterclaims.

On June 7, 2018, the Court conducted a hearing on the Trustee's motion for summary judgment (the "MSJ") on the Turnover Complaint's first, third, and fifth claims for relief. On June 6, 2018—the day prior to the hearing on the MSJ—the Court posted, at 12:20 p.m., a tentative ruling indicated its intent to grant the MSJ. Approximately eleven hours later, at 11:03 p.m., Ronald filed a Cross-Complaint for: (1) Breach of Fiduciary Duty 1; (2) Breach of Fiduciary 2; (3) Breach of Contract; and (4) Negligence [Bankr. Doc. No. 64; Adv. Doc. No. 66] (the "Purported Cross-Complaint") [Note 2] against the Trustee and the Debtor.

On June 14, 2018, the Court entered summary judgment, in the Trustee's favor, on the Turnover Complaint's first, third, and fifth claims for relief. Adv. Doc. No. 64 (the "Judgment"). Among other things, the Judgment provided that the Property is "community property of the Debtor and Ronald," and further provided that the Property is "property of the Debtor's bankruptcy estate under 11 U.S.C. §541(a)(2)" Judgment at ¶¶2–3. The Court found that the filing of the Purported Cross-Complaint was not cause to delay entry of the Judgment. In addition, the Court found, pursuant to Civil Rule 54(b), that there was no just reason to delay entry of final judgment in the Trustee's favor with respect to the first, third, and fifth claims for relief. The Court ordered the Defendants to turnover the Property to the Trustee by no later than July 6, 2018, at 5:00 p.m. Judgment at ¶5.

Defendants failed to turnover the Property to the Trustee as ordered by the Court. On July 12, 2018, the Court denied Defendants' motion for reconsideration of the Judgment (the "Motion for Reconsideration"). See Memorandum of Decision Denying Motion for Reconsideration [Adv. Doc. No. 96] and Order Denying Motion for Reconsideration [Adv. Doc. No. 97]. In the Motion for Reconsideration, Defendants asserted that the only claims filed in the Debtor's bankruptcy case were on account of debts the Debtor incurred after she separated from Ronald. Defendants maintained that as a result, the claims were not payable from property of the estate because they did not qualify as "community claims" within the meaning of §101(7). Defendants' theory was that the absence of any creditors entitled to receive a distribution from the estate precluded the Trustee from administering estate property. In denying the Motion for Reconsideration, the Court noted that Defendants had been provided an opportunity to present their arguments before the Court entered the Judgment, but had failed to do so. Observing that Defendants had offered no explanation whatsoever for their failure to timely raise these arguments, the Court determined that the "extraordinary circumstances" necessary to support reconsideration were not present. See Zurich Am. Ins. Co. v. Int'l Fibercom, Inc. (In re Int'l Fibercom, Inc.), 503 F.3d 933, 941 (9th Cir. 2007).

Concurrently with the denial of the Motion for Reconsideration, the Court directed the Clerk of the Court to issue a Writ of Possession, authorizing the United States Marshal (the "U.S. Marshal") to enforce the Judgment by placing the Trustee in possession of the Property. Adv. Doc. No. 98. On August 10, 2018, the U.S. Marshal evicted Ronald, his fiancée, and their two children from the Property.

On July 26, 2018, Ronald appealed the Court's denial of his Motion to Reconsideration to the District Court. Adv. Doc. No. 110. On November 16, 2018, the District Court dismissed Ronald's appeal with prejudice for failure to prosecute. Adv. Doc. No. 145.

The Purported Cross-Complaint filed by Ronald on the eve of the summary judgment hearing alleged, among other things, that Ronald and the Trustee had entered into a contract providing that Ronald would purchase the estate's interest in the Property for $125,000, but that the Trustee breached the contract notwithstanding Ronald's fulfillment of all his obligations thereunder. Purported Cross-Complaint at ¶¶30–33. [Note 4]

On June 18, 2018, the Court issued an order requiring Ronald to appear and show cause why the Court should not (1) construe the Purported Cross-Complaint as a Counter-Complaint, (2) find that the claims asserted in the Counter-Complaint are compulsory, and (3) dismiss the Counter-Complaint as untimely. Adv. Doc. No. 69. In its Preliminary Findings and Conclusions, the Court first found that the Purported Cross-Complaint was more properly characterized as a Counter-Complaint, because it sought relief against an opposing party (the Trustee), not a co-party. The Court next found that the claims asserted in the Purported Cross-Complaint were compulsory counterclaims, because they arose from the same set of operative facts as the claims asserted in the Complaint.

On July 27, 2018, the Court entered an order adopting its Preliminary Findings and Conclusions and dismissing the Purported Cross-Complaint, as to the Trustee, with prejudice. Adv. Doc. No. 113 (the "Dismissal Order"). The Dismissal Order is now final and non-appealable.

2. Ronald's Claim Objections

filed by Shaco, Inc. ("Shaco") and Kathy K. Settle ("Ms. Settle"). The Court found that Ronald's claim objections were an improper attempt to gain a litigation advantage in the adversary proceeding brought by the Trustee:

In his Claim Objections, Ronald asserts that the claims do not qualify as "community claims" and therefore may not be paid from the estate's community property. The estate's primary community property asset is the Property. As discussed above, Ronald has vigorously contested the Trustee's attempts to enforce the Judgment and gain possession of the Property. Ronald's objective in prosecuting the Claim Objections is to prevent the Trustee from enforcing the Judgment.

Ronald raised the arguments he asserts now in his motion for Reconsideration of the Judgment. In denying Ronald's Motion for Reconsideration, the Court found that Ronald had failed to show that "extraordinary circumstances" excused his failure to timely raise his arguments regarding the allowability of the claims. See Zurich Am. Ins. Co. v. Int'l Fibercom, Inc. (In re Int'l Fibercom, Inc.), 503 F.3d 933, 941 (9th Cir. 2007). Based upon this finding, the Court refused to consider the arguments. Ronald cannot procedurally circumvent the Court's determination by now seeking to present these identical arguments in a different context.

The Court declines to find that Ronald lacks standing to object to the claims. It would be more precise to say that the Ronald has interposed the Claim Objections for the improper purpose of attempting to escape the consequences of his failure to timely raise the arguments he now presents. Had Ronald timely raised these arguments in opposition to the Trustee's motion for summary judgment, they would have been properly before the Court. But raising the arguments now—after the Court's express determination that the arguments would not be considered because they were untimely—is not proper.

Final Ruling Overruling Objection to Claim Number 2 [Bankr. Doc. No. 81] at 4–5.
[Note 4]

The Court went on to find that even had Ronald's claim objections been properly before it, the objections lacked merit. With respect to Ronald's argument that the Trustee was barred from administering any of the estate's community property because there were no creditors eligible to receive a distribution from such property, the Court stated:

Chapter 7

Where an estate includes community property, distribution of such property is governed by §726(c). Section 726(c) provides a framework for the distribution of community property to holders of community claims.

A "community claim" is a "claim that arose before the commencement of the case concerning the debtor for which property of the kind specified in section 541(a)(2) is liable [estate community property], whether or not there is any such property at the time of the commencement of the case." §101(7).

"The Bankruptcy Code's distribution scheme regarding community property is generally intended to parallel state law." In re Cohen, 522 B.R. 232, 240 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2014). California Family Code §910(a) provides that "the community estate is liable for a debt incurred by either spouse before or during marriage, regardless of which spouse has the management and control of the property and regardless of whether one or both spouses are parties to the debt or to a judgment for the debt." For purposes of §910(a), "during marriage" does not include the period after the parties are separated.

The Court assumes without deciding that the indebtedness asserted by the claimants was incurred by the Debtor after she separated from Ronald. As such, the claims would not constitute community claims.

To provide for the distribution of community property, §726(c) creates four "sub-estates," described in §726(c)(A), (B), (C), and (D). Only holders of community claims are eligible to receive a distribution from sub-estates (A), (B), and (D). However, sub-estate (C) provides for a distribution to holders of all claims against the Debtor, provided that such distribution is not from the estate's community property.

The distribution contemplated by the Trustee is consistent with the § 726(c). First, the Trustee will liquidate the Property, the estate's primary community asset. Once the Property has been liquidated, costs of administration will be paid from cash on hand. Subsequent to the payment of costs of administration, the remaining funds will be divided in half, with one half allocable to the Debtor, and the other allocable to Ronald. Once the remaining funds have been divided, the Debtor's share of such funds will no longer constitute community property. Instead, such funds will be property of the estate liable for separate property claims against the Debtor—such as the claims asserted by Shaco and Settle (provided that such claims are in fact properly characterized as separate property claims). Such funds may be distributed to the claimants pursuant to §726(c)(2)(C).

Faced with similar facts, this was exactly the result reached by the court in In re Herrera, No. AP 16-90131-MM, 2017 WL 5473768, at *10 (Bankr. S.D. Cal. Nov. 13, 2017), aff'd sub nom. Herrera v. Pons, No. 17-CV-2392-GPC-NLS, 2018 WL 2229369 (S.D. Cal. May 16, 2018). The Herrera court found that proceeds of a community property asset could be distributed to pay the Debtor's post-separation debts pursuant to §726(c)(2), but only after the non-debtor had received his half of those proceeds. Id. at *10. The precise manner in which funds will be distributed is not yet before the Court. However, contrary to Ronald's contention, funds can be distributed to claimants in a manner consistent with §726(c) and other applicable provisions of the Bankruptcy Code.

Id. at 5–7.

3. The Trustee's Sale Motion and Ronald's Assertion of a Homestead Exemption

On December 6, 2018, the Court approved, over Ronald's opposition, the Trustee's motion to confirm the sale of the Property to Jose Mclat and Cristina Criss (the "Sale Motion"). Bankr. Doc. Nos. 119–20. Although the sale was free and clear of liens, the Court found that the Debtor's spousal support lien in the principal amount of $61,474 would attach only to Ronald's share of the net sale proceeds, subject to a further ruling determining the extent of Ronald's share.

In opposition to the Sale Motion, Ronald contended that the Trustee was required to pay him 50% of the sales proceeds directly from escrow on account of Ronald's purported $100,000 homestead exemption in the Property. The Court rejected Ronald's contention, finding that it was not procedurally proper for Ronald to assert his alleged entitlement to a homestead exemption by way of an opposition to the Sale Motion. The Court further noted that where, as here, the Debtor had claimed exemptions, a non-debtor spouse such as Ronald was not necessarily entitled to assert supplemental exemptions. The Court stated that it would determine the validity of any homestead exemption asserted by Ronald if and when Ronald properly filed a claim of exemption.

On December 29, 2011, Debtor filed Schedule C, claiming various property as exempt. Bankr. Doc. No. 11. Debtor did not assert an exemption in the Property. On February 1, 2012, Debtor filed an Amended Schedule C, but again did not assert an exemption in the Property. Bankr. Doc. No. 15. On December 14, 2018, Ronald filed a Schedule C, pursuant to §522(l), asserting a $100,000 exemption in the Property.

4. The Trustee's Interim Fee Application and Motion for Authorization to Pay Administrative Expenses from Community Property Proceeds Held by the Estate

On December 21, 2018, the Court awarded Danning, Gill, Diamond & Kollitz LLP ("DGDK"), the Trustee's general bankruptcy counsel, fees of $152,611.00 and expenses of $9,598.10, on an interim basis. Bankr. Doc. No. 131. Over Ronald's opposition, the Court authorized the Trustee to pay DGDK's allowed fees and expenses from the proceeds of the sale of the Property (the "Sale Proceeds"). Bankr. Doc. No. 130.

The Court found that payment of DGDK's allowed fees and expenses from the Sale Proceeds was consistent with § 726(c)(1):

Section 726(c)(1) provides that administrative expense claims shall be paid either from community property of the estate, or from other property of the estate, "as the interest of justice requires." The legislative history contains specific examples of how this may be done:

First, administrative expenses are to be paid, as the court determines on any reasonable equitable basis, from both kinds of property. The court will divide administrative expenses according to such factors as the amount of each kind of property in the estate, the cost of preservation and liquidation of each kind of property, and whether any particular administrative expenses are attributable to one kind of property or the other.

House and Senate Reports to Bankruptcy Reform Act of 1978 (H.R. Rep. No. 595, 95th Cong., 1st Sess. 383–384 (1977); S. Rep. No. 989 95th Cong., 2d Sess. 97–98 (1978)).

Here, all property held by the estate is community property. The Court finds that the interests of justice permit payment of the estate's administrative expenses from community property. The vast majority of administrative costs were incurred in connection with the Trustee's fraudulent transfer litigation against Ronald, the Trustee's efforts to enforce the Judgment against Ronald, and other litigation made necessary as a result of actions taken by Ronald. As set forth above, the Court found that all the arguments asserted by Ronald lacked merit. Under the circumstances, it does not offend the interests of justice for the Trustee to first pay administrative costs from the estate's community property proceeds before distributing to Ronald his pro rata share of such proceeds, even though such a distribution will reduce the funds that Ronald ultimately receives.

Final Ruling Granting Trustee's Motion for Authorization to Pay Administrative Expenses from Sale Proceeds [Bankr. Doc. No. 128] at 10.

The Court overruled Ronald's contention that he was entitled to receive his pro rata share of the estate's community property prior to payment of the costs of administration. In support of his position, Ronald asserted that he was entitled to a $100,000 homestead exemption in the Property, based upon a Schedule C that Ronald filed on December 14, 2018. The Court found that Ronald was not entitled to assert a homestead exemption:

Section 522(l) provides:

The debtor shall file a list of property that the debtor claims as exempt under subsection (b) of this section. If the debtor does not file such a list, a dependent of the debtor may file such a list, or may claim property as exempt from property of the estate on behalf of the debtor. Unless a party in interest objects, the property claimed as exempt on such list is exempt.

Ronald is not entitled to assert an exemption on the Debtor's behalf pursuant to §522(l). First, a claim of exemption asserted under §522(l) must be filed within 44 days of the date of the petition. Bankruptcy Rule 4003(a). Here, the petition was filed on December 14, 2011. Ronald did not file a claim of exemption until approximately seven years later, well beyond the applicable deadline. Second, Ronald may not assert exemptions on the Debtor's behalf because the Debtor did file claims of exemption. The Debtor's failure to exempt the Property does not permit Ronald to supplement the Debtor's exemptions. As explained in In re Homan, 112 B.R. 356, 359 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1989): "Where a debtor files a list of property exemptions claimed under federal law, even an incomplete list, nothing in the language or legislative

5. Ronald’s Filing of the Complaint and Ronald’s Dismissal of the Purported Cross-Complaint

On January 12, 2019, Ronald filed a First Amended Complaint for (1) Declaratory Relief; (2) Breach of Fiduciary Duty; and (3) to Determine Dischargeability of Debt Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. Sections 523(a)(3), (4), and (6) (the "Complaint") against the Debtor. On February 15, 2019, the Court granted Ronald’s motion to dismiss the Purported Cross-Complaint. Adv. Doc. No. 150. Ronald sought the dismissal because he intended to pursue his claims against the Debtor by way of the Complaint. The allegations of the Complaint may be summarized as follows:

b. Second Claim for Breach of Fiduciary Duty

As Ronald's spouse, Debtor owed Ronald fiduciary duties under Cal. Fam. Code §§ 721, 1100, and 1101. Cal. Fam. Code § 721 provides in relevant part:

[I]n transactions between themselves, spouses are subject to the general rules governing fiduciary relationships that control the actions of persons occupying confidential relations with each other. This confidential relationship imposes a duty of the highest good faith and fair dealing on each spouse, and neither shall take any unfair advantage of the other. This confidential relationship is a fiduciary relationship subject to the same rights and duties of nonmarital business partners, as provided in Sections 16403, 16404, and 16503 of the Corporations Code, including, but not limited to, the following:

- 1) Providing each spouse access at all times to any books kept regarding a transaction for the purposes of inspection and copying.
- 2) Rendering upon request, true and full information of all things affecting any transaction that concerns the community property. Nothing in this section is intended to impose a duty for either spouse to keep detailed books and records of community property transactions.
- 3) Accounting to the spouse, and holding as a trustee, any benefit or profit derived from any transaction by one spouse without the consent of the other spouse that concerns the community property.

Cal. Fam. Code § 1100(c) provides:

A spouse may not sell, convey, or encumber community personal property used as the family dwelling, or the furniture, furnishings, or fittings of the home, or the clothing or wearing apparel of the other spouse or minor children which is community personal property, without the written consent of the other spouse.

Debtor’s failure to schedule Ronald as a creditor prevented Ronald from timely claiming a homestead exemption in the Property, causing him to lose his $100,000 homestead exemption. Id. at ¶ 49. Debtor’s failure to schedule the Property caused a five-year delay from the Petition Date to the date of the Property’s liquidation by the Trustee. Id. at ¶ 50. During this five year period, Ronald spent over $100,000 to pay off the mortgage against the Property, and the Property appreciated by approximately $150,000. Id. at ¶ 51. Debtor’s non-disclosure caused Ronald to lose his equity in the Property and the appreciation in the Property’s value. Id.

c. Third and Fourth Claims for Non-Dischargeability Pursuant to § 523(a)(3) and (a)(4)

By failing to schedule the Property, Debtor committed fraud in a fiduciary capacity within the meaning of § 523(a)(4). The damage caused to Ronald as a result of this fraud (the loss of his equity in the Property) is non-dischargeable. Pursuant to § 523(a)(3), the § 523(a)(4) claim is not time-barred because Debtor did not schedule Ronald as a creditor.

d. Fifth Claim for Non-Dischargeability Pursuant to § 523(a)(6)

Debtor knew that her failure to schedule the Property and to schedule Ronald as a creditor was substantially certain to injure Ronald. Id. at ¶ 77. The damage caused to Ronald as a result of these failures is non-dischargeable pursuant to § 523(a)(6). Id. at ¶ 77–78.

6. Dismissal of the First Claim for Relief and Order Authorizing the Trustee to Distribute the Sale Proceeds

On March 19, 2019, the Court granted the Trustee’s motion seeking to intervene in the Complaint. The Court dismissed the first claim for a declaration as to the distribution of the Sale Proceeds for failure to state a claim. The Court found that

Ronald was not permitted to challenge the Trustee's proposed administration of the estate by way of the Complaint, given that such a challenge would unduly delay the administration of the estate. The Court addressed Ronald's challenge to the distribution of the Sale Proceeds in the context of a motion brought by the Trustee in the Debtor's main bankruptcy case. Overruling Ronald's objections, the Court approved the following distribution of the Sale Proceeds:

- 1) First, all remaining expenses of administration will be paid.
- 2) Second, the remaining funds will be divided in half, one half allocable to the Debtor and the other half allocable to Ronald.
- 3) Third, the Debtor's separate debts will be paid from the half allocable to the Debtor.
- 4) Fourth, Ronald's half will be divided as follows:
 - a) The Debtor's spousal support lien of $69,186 (plus any additional interest owing as of the date of payment) will be paid in full; and
 - b) The balance will be paid to Ronald.

Final Ruling Granting Trustee's Motion to Approve Final Distribution of Sale Proceeds [Bankr. Doc. No. 152] at 19.

B. Summary of Papers Filed in Connection with the Motion to Dismiss

Debtor moves to dismiss the Complaint for failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted. The Motion to Dismiss initially asserted that Debtor filed her bankruptcy petition in pro se. After Defendant's Opposition pointed out that Debtor was represented by counsel when filing her petition, Debtor filed a Notice of Errata acknowledging the error and attributing it to counsel's inadvertence.

Debtor argues that the Complaint should be dismissed for the following reasons:

- 1) Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1334(c), the Court must abstain from hearing the second claim, because it is based upon California law, is not core, could not have been commenced in federal court absent bankruptcy jurisdiction, and can be timely adjudicated in the divorce proceeding which remains pending.
- 2) In the alternative, the second claim fails under Civil Rule 12(b)(6). None of the provisions of the California Family Code applies to the facts alleged. Cal. Fam. Code § 721 applies only to "transactions between" spouses. Cal.

Chapter 7

Fam. Code § 1100 applies only to conveyances of community property without the consent of the other spouse. Cal. Fam. Code § 1101 defines the remedy for a breach of fiduciary duty but does not create a separate cause of action.

- 3) The third claim, under § 523(a)(3), fails because § 523(a)(3) is an exception to the statute of limitations for commencing a dischargeability action, rather than an independent claim for relief.
- 4) The fourth and fifth claims seek determinations of non-dischargeability under § 523(a)(4) and (a)(6), on the theory that Ronald was damaged by the Debtor's failure to schedule the Property. Any damage to Ronald resulting from the Debtor's failure to schedule the Property is a post-petition claim. Therefore, the fourth and fifth claims fail under Civil Rule 12(b)(6). In addition, the fourth claim fails to allege fraud with the requisite specificity, and the fifth claim does not identify an intentional tort.

Ronald makes the following arguments in opposition to the Motion to Dismiss:

- 1) The fourth and fifth claims do not seek damages for the Debtor's post-petition conduct. Debtor's actions relate back to pre-petition conduct; therefore, the damages arising from such conduct can be determined to be non-dischargeable. [Note 5]
- 2) The allegations under Cal. Fam. Code §§ 721, 1100, and 1101 state a claim. Debtor breached her fiduciary duty to Ronald by failing to schedule the Property, by failing to schedule Ronald as a creditor, and by failing to obtain a waiver from Ronald to sell the Property. These actions damaged Ronald by preventing him from claiming his homestead exemption and by causing him to lose his equity in the Property. Debtor has never addressed why she failed to schedule Ronald as a creditor even though she sought bankruptcy protection when the parties were in the midst of a contested divorce proceeding.
- 3) The allegations under the California Family Code are also relevant to the Complaint's claim under § 523(a)(4) for fraud while acting in a fiduciary capacity, because the California Family Code defines the fiduciary duties that the Debtor owed Ronald.

Chapter 7

The Debtor makes the following arguments in reply to Ronald's opposition:

- 1) Nothing in the Opposition provides any support for the fourth claim under § 523(a)(4). The damages alleged by Ronald with respect to that claim are not cognizable since they are the result of the Trustee properly administering property of the estate and this Court denying a claim of a homestead exemption to which Ronald was never entitled.
- 2) There is no merit to Ronald's contention that the allegations under § 523(a)(4) and (a)(6) state a claim because they "relate back" to pre-petition conduct. All of the conduct alleged in the Complaint occurred post-petition and therefore does not fall within the scope of § 523(a)(4) and (a)(6).

C. Summary of Papers Filed in Connection with the Motion for Sanctions

Debtor seeks sanctions against Ronald under Bankruptcy Rule 9011 for filing the Complaint. Reiterating the arguments made in the Motion to Dismiss, Debtor asserts that the Complaint lacks merit and was filed only to harass the Debtor by needlessly increasing her legal fees. Debtor seeks an award of attorneys' fees and expenses against Ronald pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9011(b)(1), and against Ronald's counsel pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9011(b)(1)–(3). On February 21, 2019, Debtor's counsel served a copy of the Motion for Sanctions, accompanied by a demand that the Complaint be withdrawn, upon Ronald's counsel.

In opposition to the Motion for Sanctions, Ronald maintains that the Complaint has merit. Ronald places particular emphasis on the Complaint's allegations regarding the Debtor's failure to schedule the Property and failure to schedule Ronald as a creditor. Ronald disputes that the Complaint was filed only to harass the Debtor, noting that he lost his homestead exemption and lost his equity in the Property as a result of the Debtor's actions.

In reply, the Debtor states that the harms Ronald allegedly suffered from the Debtor's post-petition conduct are not compensable. The Debtor argues that the liquidation of the Property was the result of the proper functioning of the Bankruptcy Code, and that Ronald's inability to claim his homestead exemption resulted from the proper application of applicable law. Consequently, Debtor argues that sanctions against Ronald and his attorney are appropriate.

The Motion to Dismiss is Granted

"To survive a motion to dismiss, a complaint must contain sufficient factual matter, accepted as true, to 'state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face.' A claim has facial plausibility when the plaintiff pleads factual content that allows the court to draw the reasonable inference that the defendant is liable for the misconduct alleged." Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678 (2009) (internal citations omitted). To state a plausible claim for relief, a complaint must satisfy two working principles:

First, the tenet that a court must accept as true all of the allegations contained in a complaint is inapplicable to legal conclusions. Threadbare recitations of the elements of a cause of action, supported by mere conclusory statements, do not suffice.... Second, only a complaint that states a plausible claim for relief survives a motion to dismiss. Determining whether a complaint states a plausible claim for relief will ... be a context-specific task that requires the reviewing court to draw on its judicial experience and common sense. But where the well-pleaded facts do not permit the court to infer more than the mere possibility of misconduct, the complaint has alleged—but it has not "show[n]"—"that the pleader is entitled to relief."

Id. (citing Civil Rule 8(a)(2)).

Although the pleading standard Civil Rule 8 announces "does not require 'detailed factual allegations,' ... it demands more than an unadorned, the-defendant-unlawfully-harmed-me accusation.... A pleading that offers 'labels and conclusions' or a 'formulaic recitation of the elements of a cause of action will not do.' Nor does a complaint suffice if it tenders 'naked assertion[s]' devoid of 'further factual enhancement.'" Id. (citing Bell Atlantic Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 555 (2007)).

The first claim was dismissed on March 19, 2019. See Order Granting Chapter 7 Trustee's Motion to Dismiss First Cause of Action in Ronald Peterson's First Amended Complaint, for Failure to State a Claim Upon Which Relief May be Granted Under FRCP 12(b)(6) [Adv. Doc. No. 36] and Final Ruling Granting Trustee's Motion to Dismiss [Adv. Doc. No. 31].

The second claim is dismissed because mandatory abstention applies. Title 28 U.S.C. § 1334(c)(2) provides:

Upon timely motion of a party in a proceeding based upon a State law claim or State law cause of action, related to a case under title 11 but not arising under title 11 or arising in a case under title 11, with respect to which an action could not have been commenced in a court of the United States absent jurisdiction under this section, the district court shall abstain from hearing such proceeding if an action is commenced, and can be timely adjudicated, in a State forum of appropriate jurisdiction.

"Abstention can exist only when there is a parallel proceeding in state court. That is, inherent in the concept of abstention is the presence of a pendent state action in favor of which the federal court must, or may, abstain." Security Farms v. International Brotherhood of Teamsters, 124 F.3d 999, 1008 (9th Cir. 1997).

Because the claims under the California Family Code can be adjudicated in the parallel divorce proceeding and could not have been commenced in this Court absent the bankruptcy proceeding, the Court must abstain from hearing these claims. Ronald's argument that the Family Code claims lend support to his § 523(a)(4) claim does not defeat mandatory abstention. As discussed below, the Court is required to dismiss the § 523(a)(4) claim under Civil Rule 12(b)(6).

Even if mandatory abstention was not required, the Court would permissively abstain from hearing the second claim under 28 U.S.C. § 1334(c)(1). Section 1334(c)(1) authorizes the Court to abstain from hearing a proceeding "in the interest of justice" or "in the interest of comity with State courts or respect for State law." Ronald's claims under the Family Code have minimal impact upon the administration of the estate and are best adjudicated in the State Court, which has the expertise to hear them.

The claims under § 523(a)(3), (a)(4), and (a)(6) (claims three, four, and five) are dismissed pursuant to Civil Rule 12(b)(6). The Court notes that because Ronald was not scheduled as a creditor, the § 523(a)(4) and (a)(6) claims are not time-barred.

[Note 6] However, as set forth below, the Complaint fails because the indebtedness alleged did not arise prepetition.

Though not precisely articulated by Ronald, the Complaint's theory appears to be that the Debtor's failure to schedule either Ronald or the Property constitutes prepetition conduct. According to this theory, damages resulting from this pre-petition conduct qualify as pre-petition indebtedness.

Careful application of the Bankruptcy Code demonstrates that this theory lacks merit. Under the Bankruptcy Code, "the term 'debt' means liability on a claim." § 101(12). A "claim" is a "right to payment, whether or not such right is reduced to judgment, liquidated, unliquidated, fixed, contingent, matured, unmatured, disputed, undisputed, legal, equitable, secured, or unsecured.” § 101(5A). In other words, if Ronald held a “right to payment” against the Debtor prior to the petition, he would have the ability to bring an action to except the indebtedness created by that right to payment from the Debtor’s discharge.

Here, the right to payment asserted by Ronald derives from his causes of action against the Debtor for breaching fiduciary duties and committing fraud by filing a petition containing incomplete schedules. “To determine when a cause of action accrues, and therefore whether it accrued pre-bankruptcy ..., the Court looks to state law.” Goldstein v. Stahl (In re Goldstein), 526 B.R. 13, 21 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2015). As explained by the Goldstein court:

"[G]enerally, a cause of action accrues and the statute of limitation begins to run when a suit may be maintained. Ordinarily this is when the wrongful act is done and the obligation or the liability arises, but it does not accrue until the party owning it is entitled to begin and prosecute an action thereon. In other words, a cause of action accrues upon the occurrence of the last element essential to the cause of action." Howard Jarvis Taxpayers Assn. v. City of La Habra, 25 Cal.4th 809, 815, 107 Cal.Rptr.2d 369, 23 P.3d 601 (2001) (citations and internal quotation marks omitted). Therefore, if a claim "could have been brought," it has accrued. Cusano, 264 F.3d at 947.

Goldstein v. Stahl (In re Goldstein), 526 B.R. 13, 21 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2015).

Ronald could not have commenced an action for breach of fiduciary duty and fraud against the Debtor prior to the petition. Ronald’s action against the Debtor accrued after the Debtor filed a bankruptcy petition that did not schedule either Ronald or the Property. The “last element essential to the cause of action” was the filing of the petition containing the incomplete schedules. Howard Jarvis Taxpayers Assn. v. City of La Habra, 25 Cal.4th 809, 815, 107 Cal.Rptr.2d 369, 23 P.3d 601 (2001). Only after the Debtor filed the incomplete petition could Ronald have begun to prosecute his claims against the Debtor arising from the nondisclosure. Because Ronald’s claims did not accrue prepetition, he is not entitled to prosecute a dischargeability action against the Debtor.

Ronald’s claim for damages on account of the loss of his homestead exemption fails for an additional reason. Even if Ronald had been scheduled, he still would not have been permitted to assert a homestead exemption in the Property. As the Court ruled previously:

Ronald may not assert exemptions on the Debtor's behalf because the Debtor did file claims of exemption. The Debtor's failure to exempt the Property does not permit Ronald to supplement the Debtor's exemptions. As explained in In re Homan, 112 B.R. 356, 359 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1989): "Where a debtor files a list of property exemptions claimed under federal law, even an incomplete list, nothing in the language or legislative history of Section 522(l) suggests that nondebtor dependents may supplement this list with state exemptions or further federal exemptions." See also Kapila v. Morgan (In re Morgan), 286 B.R. 678, 683-84 (Bankr. E.D. Wis. 2002) ("Section 522(l) provides that a dependent of the debtor, including the debtor's spouse, whether or not actually dependent, may file a list of claimed exemptions if the debtor fails to do so. However, he did so. Since the right is his alone, she may not supplement that list, even if she disagrees with his choices."); In re Duncan, 294 B.R. 339, 344 (B.A.P. 10th Cir. 2003) (citing In re Morgan with approval).

Final Ruling Granting Trustee's Motion for Authorization to Pay Administrative Expenses from Sale Proceeds [Bankr. Doc. No. 128] at 12-13.

Ronald's contention that he suffered damages by losing the post-petition appreciation in the Property's value suffers from a similar logical defect. Had the Debtor scheduled the Property, it would have been administered by the Trustee subsequent to the filing of the petition on December 14, 2011. The end result would have been the same—the Trustee would have sold the Property, preventing Ronald from benefitting from post-petition appreciation.

The Complaint's defects could not be cured by amendment. Therefore, the dismissal is with prejudice. Cervantes v. Countrywide Home Loans, Inc., 656 F.3d 1034, 1041 (9th Cir. 2011) (holding that "a district court may dismiss without leave where a plaintiff's proposed amendments would fail to cure the pleading deficiencies and amendment would be futile").

Violations of Bankruptcy Rule 9011(b) are punishable by monetary or nonmonetary sanctions. Bankruptcy Rule 9011(c). A Rule 9011(b) motion may be brought only if the movant provides the opposing party at least 21 days to withdraw the challenge pleading. Bankruptcy Rule 9011(c).

As a preliminary matter, the Court notes that Debtor complied with Bankruptcy Rule 9011(c)'s safe-harbor requirement.

“Rule 9011(b) incorporates a reasonableness standard which focuses on whether a competent attorney admitted to practice before the involved court could believe in like circumstances that his actions were legally and factually justified.” In re Nakhuda, 544 B.R. 886, 899 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2016), aff'd, 703 F. App'x 621 (9th Cir. 2017). Although the Court finds that dismissal of the Complaint with prejudice is warranted, the legal theories set forth in the Complaint were not baseless or without legal foundation. As the discussion set forth above demonstrates, the law governing whether claims accrue before or after the petition is not straightforward. In addition, given that one result of the administration of the Debtor's estate was the eviction of Ronald from the Property, which he had occupied for many years, the Court cannot

Creditors who received notice of the petition are required to file a dischargeability complaint within sixty days of the meeting of creditors. Bankruptcy Rule 4007(c). If creditors fail to timely file a dischargeability complaint, their indebtedness is automatically discharged, even if it falls within one of the categories of debt that is non-dischargeable. This result follows from the plain language of §523(c)(1), which provides:

Except as provided in subsection (a)(3)(B) of this section, the debtor shall be discharged from a debt of a kind specified in paragraph (2), (4), or (6) of subsection (a) of this section, unless, on request of a creditor to whom such debt is owed, and after notice and a hearing, the court determines such debt to be excepted from discharge under paragraph (2), (4), or (6), as the case may be, of subsection (a) of this section.

See also Fidelity Nat'l Title Ins. Co. v. Franklin (In re Franklin), 179 B.R. 913, 923-24 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 1995) (“[I]f the debt to [the creditor] Fidelity had been listed or scheduled or if Fidelity had notice of Franklin’s bankruptcy, it would have needed to act promptly to request a determination that the debt is nondischargeable ... or else the debt would have been discharged”). A scheduled creditor who does not timely file a dischargeability complaint and thereafter seeks to collect upon the creditor’s prepetition debt acts in violation of the discharge injunction.

Section 523(c)(1)’s preambular phrase “[e]xcept as provided in subsection (a)(3)(B) of this section” creates an important exception to the sixty day deadline. Section 523(a)(3)(B) provides that indebtedness of the kind specified in §523(a)(2), (a)(4), and (a)(6) is not discharged if the creditor was not scheduled and did not have notice or actual knowledge of the bankruptcy petition. Franklin, 179 B.R. at 924. Such unscheduled creditors are not required to file a dischargeability complaint within sixty days of the meeting of creditors, and instead may file a dischargeability complaint “at any time.” Bankruptcy Rule 4007(b).

The Disclosure Statement explains the reasons for filing, describes the Debtor's assets and their values, and provides a summary of significant post-petition events. The Disclosure Statement describes the Debtor's proposed plan of reorganization, which will be funded by additional income generated from increased rents from the Virgil and Playa Vista Properties. The Debtor proposes the following classification scheme and treatment:

- Class 1: Secured claim of Seterus, Inc., as the authorized sub-servicer for Federal National Mortgage Association ("Seterus"). Seterus holds the first priority lien against the Virgil Property in the amount of $882,107. The Debtor proposes to pay Seterus's claim in full, with 5.5% interest amortized over 30 years. Seterus will be repaid in two phases. The Debtor will make 120 monthly payments to Seterus in the amount of $5,009. The Debtor will also deposit $982 a month into a tax impound account on account of this claim. The Debtor will then make a one-time ten-year balloon payment in an amount necessary to fully satisfy Seterus's claim. Seterus's claim is impaired and it is entitled to vote on the Plan.
- Class 2: Secured claim of Errol Gordon ("Gordon"). Gordon holds the second priority lien against the Virgil Property in the amount of $50,000. The Debtor proposes to pay Gordon's claim in full, with 4% interest amortized over 40 years. Gordon will be repaid in two phases. The Debtor will make 120 monthly payments to Gordon in the amount of $209. The Debtor will then make a one-time ten-year balloon payment in an amount necessary to fully satisfy Gordon's claim. Gordon's claim is impaired and he is entitled to vote on the Plan.
- Class 3: Secured claim of Gordon. Gordon also holds the second priority lien against the Senford Property in the amount of $300,701. The Debtor proposes to pay Gordon's claim in full, with 4% interest amortized over 40 years. Gordon's claim will be repaid in two phases. The Debtor will make 120 monthly payments to Gordon in the amount of $1,257. The Debtor will then make a one-time ten-year balloon payment in an amount necessary to fully satisfy Gordon's claim. Gordon's claim is impaired and he is entitled to vote on the Plan.
- Class 4: Secured claim of Los Angeles County Treasurer and Tax Collector (the "LACTTC"). LACTTC holds a property tax lien against the Senford Property in the amount of $97,939. The Debtor proposes to pay LACTTC's claim in full, with 18 interest, plus redemption penalty interest and any other fees, costs, or charges LACTTC is entitled to. The Debtor will make 60 monthly payments to LACTTC in the amount of $2,487. LACTTC's claim is impaired and it is entitled to vote on the Plan.

- Class 5: Secured claim of Mr. Cooper/Nationstar ("Mr. Cooper"). Mr. Cooper holds the first priority lien against the Playa Vista Property in the amount of $857,177. The Debtor proposes to pay Mr. Cooper's claim in accordance with the applicable loan obligations. As such, Mr. Cooper's claim is unimpaired and Mr. Cooper is not entitled to vote on the Plan.
- Class 6: Secured claim of Playa Vista Parks HOA ("PVP"). PVP holds an HOA lien against the Playa Vista Property in the amount of $70,080. The Debtor proposes to pay PVP's claim in full, at 4% interest amortized over 40 years. PVP's claim will be repaid in two phases. The Debtor will make 120 monthly payments to PVP in the amount of $323. The Debtor will then make a one-time ten-year balloon payment in an amount necessary to fully satisfy PVP's claim. PVP's claim is impaired and it is entitled to vote on the Plan.
- Class 7: Secured claim of Villa d'Este HOA ("Villa"). Villa holds an HOA lien against the Playa Property in the amount of $31,855. The Debtor proposes to pay Villa's claim in full, with 4% interest amortized over 40 years. The Debtor will make 120 monthly payments to Villa in the amount of $323. Villa's claim is impaired and it is entitled to vote on the Plan.
- Class 8: Priority unsecured claims. The Debtor does not believe any priority unsecured claims exist.
- Class 9: General unsecured claims. The Debtor estimates that general unsecured claims total approximately $723. These claims will be paid in full by the first day of the first month following the Effective Date. The Debtor submits that this proposed treatment renders general unsecured claims unimpaired and, accordingly, they would be deemed to accept the Plan and not entitled to vote.
- Class 10: Interest holders. Debtor's owners will retain their ownership interest in the Debtor.

The Debtor also proposes to pay the Franchise Tax Board's priority claim within 36 months by making monthly payments of $77. Resnik Hayes Moradi has consented to Debtor's proposal to repay its administrative claim, in an amount approved by this

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Section 1125 requires a disclosure statement to contain “information of a kind, and in sufficient detail, as far as is reasonably practicable in light of the nature and history of the debtor and the condition of the debtor’s books and records . . . that would enable. . . a hypothetical investor of the relevant class to make an informed judgment about the plan.” In determining whether a disclosure statement provides adequate information, “the court shall consider the complexity of the case, the benefit of additional information to creditors and other parties in interest, and the cost of providing additional information.” 11 U.S.C. § 1125(a). Courts interpreting § 1125(a) have explained that the “primary purpose of a disclosure statement is to give the creditors the information they need to decide whether to accept the plan.” In re Monnier Bros., 755 F.2d 1336, 1342 (8th Cir. 1985). “According to the legislative history, the parameters of what constitutes adequate information are intended to be flexible.” In re Diversified Investors Fund XVII, 91 B.R. 559, 560 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1988). “Adequate information will be determined by the facts and circumstances of each case.” Oneida Motor Freight, Inc. v. United Jersey Bank, 848 F.2d 414, 417 (3d Cir. 1988), accord. In re Ariz. Fast Foods, Inc., 299 B.R. 589 (Bankr. D. Ariz. 2003).

Relevant factors for evaluating the adequacy of a disclosure statement may include: (1) the events which led to the filing of a bankruptcy petition; (2) a description of the available assets and their value; (3) the anticipated future of the company; (4) the source of information stated in the disclosure statement; (5) a disclaimer; (6) the present condition of the debtor while in Chapter 11; (7) the scheduled claims; (8) the estimated return to creditors under a Chapter 7 liquidation; (9) the accounting method utilized to produce financial information and the name of the accountants responsible for such information; (10) the future management of the debtor; (11) the Chapter 11 plan or a summary thereof; (12) the estimated administrative expenses, including attorneys' and accountants' fees; (13) the collectability of accounts receivable; (14) financial information, data, valuations or projections relevant to the creditors' decision to accept or reject the Chapter 11 plan; (15) information relevant to the risks posed to creditors under the plan; (16) the actual or projected realizable value from recovery of preferential or otherwise voidable transfers; (17) litigation likely to arise in a nonbankruptcy context; (18) tax attributes of the debtor; and (19) the relationship of the debtor with affiliates.

In re Metrocraft Pub. Services, Inc., 39 B.R. 567, 568 (Bankr. Ga. 1984). However, “[d]isclosure of all factors is not necessary in every case.” Id.

Subject to the minor amendments discussed below, the Court finds that the Disclosure Statement contains adequate information, in view of the size and complexity of the case. Among other things, the Disclosure Statement describes (1) the factors precipitating the Chapter 11 filing, (2) significant events that occurred during the Chapter 11 case, (3) the classification structure of the Plan, (4) a disclaimer, (5) risk factors, and (6) the means for execution of the Plan.

However, the Court will require the Debtor to file an amended disclosure statement and plan by no later than April 24, 2019 to address the following two issues:

First, the Debtor proposes an Effective Date that is "the first business day that is fourteen (14) calendar days after the entry of the order confirming the Plan, with payment beginning by the first day of the following month." Disclosure Statement, p.5:18-20. This language is problematic because certain confirmation requirements mandate that effective date payments occur on the Effective Date. For example, for the Court to determine that Class 9 general unsecured claims are unimpaired, the Debtor must pay all claims in full on the Effective Date, rather than the proposed "first day of the month following the Effective Date." Therefore, the Debtor is directed to amend the language so that payments begin on the Effective Date.

Second, the Court notes that the Debtor’s financial projections in Exhibit B state that they are for a period of "5 years," but only contain 12 months of projections. The Debtor is directed to file an amended Exhibit B with the full 5-year projections.

Although the following are plan confirmation issues, the Debtor should also be prepared to present further evidence in support its confirmation brief regarding the feasibility of its proposed Plan. In its current form, the Plan proposes payment of certain obligations for months two through five, but the Debtor's projections set forth in Exhibit B to the Disclosure Statement reflect negative net monthly income for those months. The Court also notes the Debtor's proposed Plan will be funded, in part, from contributions from Sandra McBeth. As evidence of Ms. McBeth's financial ability to make such contributions, the Debtor attached Exhibit E, which purports to be copies of bank statements showing deposits and income from her employment as a real estate consultant. See Declaration of Sandra McBeth & Exhibit E. However, the bank accounts belong to Playa Vista Realty Group, Inc., and without more information about whether the statements capture all of Ms. McBeth's monthly income and expenses, the Court does not believe Exhibit E is sufficient evidence of Ms. McBeth's financial ability to fund the proposed Plan.

The following dates will apply:

Docket 12

Tentative Ruling:

4/11/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1) for cause to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to repossess or otherwise obtain possession and dispose of its collateral pursuant to applicable law, and to use the proceeds from its disposition to satisfy its claim. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. The Court takes judicial notice of the Chapter 7 Individual Debtor's Statement of Intention in which the Debtor stated an intention to surrender the vehicle to Movant.

This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. The 14-day stay prescribed by FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived. All other relief is denied.

Movant shall upload an appropriate order via the Court's Lodged Order

#4.00 HearingRE: [1840] Notice of motion and motion for relief from automatic stay with supporting declarations ACTION IN NON-BANKRUPTCY FORUM RE: Yolanda Mancilla v Saint Vincent Medical Center, BC722905 .

Docket 1840

Tentative Ruling:

4/11/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Motion is GRANTED; however, the order granting the Motion shall not take effect until June 15, 2019.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Notice of Motion and Motion for Relief from the Automatic Stay Under 11 U.S.C. § 362 [Doc. No. 1840]
- 2) Debtors' Response and Opposition to Motion for Relief from the Automatic Stay Filed on Behalf of Yolanda Mancilla [Doc. No. 1984]
- 3) Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors' Response to Motion for Relief from Stay (Non-Bankruptcy Forum) Filed by Yolanda Mancilla [Doc. No. 1978]
- 4) No Reply is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On August 31, 2018 (the "Petition Date"), Verity Health Systems of California ("VHS") and certain of its subsidiaries filed voluntary petitions for relief under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. On August 31, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the Debtors' motion for joint administration of the Debtors' Chapter 11 cases. Doc. No. 17.

Yolanda Mancilla, by and through her successor-in-interest, Fernanda Torres (the "Movant") seeks stay-relief, pursuant to §362(d)(1), to permit Movant to prosecute a wrongful death action (the "State Court Action") against the Debtors. Movant has not agreed to limit her recovery to applicable insurance. Although the State Court Action was filed on September 24, 2018, subsequent to the Petition Date, Movant does not seek retroactive annulment of the automatic stay.

In opposition to the Motion, Debtors state that they would consider stipulating to stay-relief provided Movant agreed to seek recovery only from insurance and waived any deficiency claim. Because Movant has not agreed to limit her recovery in this manner, Debtors contend that the Motion should be denied without prejudice. Debtors assert that being required to litigate the State Court Action would distract attention from pressing issues, such as the sale of the remaining hospitals. In the event the Court is inclined to grant stay-relief, Debtors request that such relief not take effect until June 15, 2019.

For the same reasons, the Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors asserts that the Motion should be denied without prejudice.

No Reply in support of the Motion is on file.

II. Findings and Conclusions

The parties have not addressed a critical issue—the fact that Movant filed the State Court Action subsequent to the Petition Date without obtaining stay-relief. Unless the Court retroactively annuls the automatic stay, the filing of the State Court Action is void. See Schwartz v. United States (In re Schwartz), 954 F.2d 569, 571 (9th Cir. 1992) (holding that "violations of the automatic stay are void, not voidable").

"[T]he proper standard for determining 'cause' to annul the automatic stay retroactively is a 'balancing of the equities' test." Fjeldsted v. Lien (In re Fjeldsted), 293 B.R. 12, 24 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2003). In weighing the equities, the general trend has been to focus on two factors: "(1) whether the creditor was aware of the bankruptcy petition; and (2) whether the debtor engaged in unreasonable or inequitable conduct, or prejudice would result to the creditor." Id.

Movant has not requested retroactive annulment of the automatic stay. That alone is sufficient reason for the Court to decline to grant such relief. In addition, there is no evidence before the Court as to either of the two factors set forth in In re Fjeldsted. The Court will not retroactively annul the stay. This means that the filing of the State Court action is void.

The Court finds that stay-relief is appropriate. To enable the Debtors to focus upon the sale of their remaining hospitals, such relief shall not take effect until June 15, 2019.

As explained by the Ninth Circuit Bankruptcy Appellate Panel in Kronemyer v. American Contractors Indemnity Co. (In re Kronemyer) (internal citations omitted): "What constitutes 'cause' for granting relief from the automatic stay is decided on a case-by-case basis. Among factors appropriate to consider in determining whether relief from the automatic stay should be granted to allow state court proceedings to continue are considerations of judicial economy and the expertise of the state court, ... as well as prejudice to the parties and whether exclusively bankruptcy issues are involved." 405 B.R. 915, 921. The factors articulated in In re Curtis, 40 B.R. 795, 799-800 (Bankr. D. Utah 1984) and adopted by the bankruptcy court in Truebro, Inc. v. Plumberex Specialty Prods., Inc. (In re Plumberex Specialty Prods., Inc), 311 B.R. 551, 559-60 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2004) are also "appropriate, nonexclusive factors to consider in deciding whether to grant relief from the automatic stay to allow pending litigation to continue in another forum." Kronemyer, 405 B.R. at 921. The Curtis factors are as follows:

- 1) Whether the relief will result in a partial or complete resolution of the issues;
- 2) The lack of any connection with or interference with the bankruptcy case;
- 3) Whether the foreign proceeding involves the debtor as a fiduciary;
- 4) Whether a specialized tribunal has been established to hear the particular cause of action and whether that tribunal has the expertise to hear such cases;
- 5) Whether the debtor's insurance carrier has assumed full financial responsibility for defending the litigation;
- 6) Whether the action essentially involves third parties, and the debtor functions only as a bailee or conduit for the goods or proceeds in question;
- 7) Whether the litigation in another forum would prejudice the interests of other creditors, the creditors' committee and other interested parties;
- 8) Whether the judgment claim arising from the foreign action is subject to equitable subordination under Section 510(c);
- 9) Whether movant's success in the foreign proceeding would result in a judicial lien avoidable by the debtor under Section 522(f);
- 10) The interests of judicial economy and the expeditious and economical determination of litigation for the parties;
- 11) Whether the foreign proceedings have progressed to the point where the parties are prepared for trial, and
- 12) The impact of the stay on the parties and the "balance of hurt."

Plumberex, 311 B.R. at 599.

The most important of the twelve factors is the effect of the non-bankruptcy litigation on the administration of the estate (factor two). Curtis, 40 B.R. at 806. The Curtis court held that "[e]ven slight interference with the administration may be enough to preclude relief in the absence of a commensurate benefit." Id.

Chapter 11

Because Movant has not agreed to limit her recovery to insurance, granting stay-relief at this time would require the Debtors to defend against the State Court Action. Although it would certainly be possible for the Debtors to mount a defense at this time, requiring them to do so would nonetheless interfere with the case by distracting the Debtors' professionals from the sale of their remaining hospitals. A hearing to approve the sale of the remaining hospitals is set for April 17, 2019 (the "Sale Hearing"). To successfully prosecute the case for the benefit of creditors, Debtors will be required to devote substantial resources to the Sale Hearing. Even after the Sale Hearing has been completed, Debtors will be required to devote substantial attention to issues arising in connection with the California Attorney General's review of the sale.

In view of the findings set forth above, Curtis factors two, five, seven, and eleven weigh against granting stay-relief at this time. Although the relevant Curtis factors do not warrant stay-relief now, stay-relief will be warranted as of June 15, 2019.

Granting stay-relief now would interfere with the bankruptcy case by distracting the Debtors' professionals from other pressing matters (the second Curtis factor). With respect to factor five, the damages sought in the State Court Action are substantial; Movant has not agreed to limit recovery to applicable insurance; and it is therefore not known whether available insurance proceeds will be sufficient to cover any judgment Movant may obtain. Factor five weighs against granting immediate stay-relief. The litigation's interference with the case has the potential to reduce creditor recoveries; therefore, factor seven weighs against granting immediate stay-relief. The State Court Action has not reached the trial stage, so factor eleven also weighs against granting immediate stay-relief.

Factor twelve—the balance of the hurt—is neutral. As discussed, granting immediate stay-relief will harm the Debtors by distracting the Debtors' professionals from other pressing matters. On the other hand, Movant is prejudiced by the inability to pursue legal redress.

To the extent that they apply, the remaining Curtis factors weigh in favor of immediate stay-relief. The State Court Action will completely resolve the issues (factor one); the State Court is the tribunal best suited to hear the Movant's claims (factor three); and lifting the stay would result in a more expeditious determination of the State Court Action (factor ten). Nonetheless, these factors are outweighed by the harm that immediate stay-relief would impose upon the Debtors.

Having considered the applicable Curtis factors, the Court finds that Movant is entitled to stay-relief, effective as of June 15, 2019. This result gives the Debtors some breathing space to achieve their objectives, while at the same time delaying Movant's ability to proceed with the State Court Action by only two months.

III. Conclusion

Based upon the foregoing, the Motion is GRANTED; however, the order granting the Motion shall not take effect until June 15, 2019. Movant shall submit an order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing.

Docket 9

Tentative Ruling:

4/11/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The automatic stay does not apply to any action taken by Movant to evict the Debtor from the Property. Movant obtained an unlawful detainer judgment against the Debtor on February 5, 2019, and obtained a writ of possession for the Property on February 13, 2019. Debtor filed a voluntary Chapter 7 petition on March 14, 2019. "[U]nder California law, entry of judgment and a writ of possession following unlawful detainer proceedings extinguishes all other legal and equitable possessory interests in the real property at issue." In re Perl, 811 F.3d 1120, 1127–28 (9th Cir. 2016). Because the Debtor's interest in the Property was extinguished pre-petition, the Property is not property of the estate and the automatic stay does not apply. The unlawful detainer judgment divested the Debtor "of all legal and equitable possessory rights that would otherwise be protected by the automatic stay." Id. at 1130.

Movant may enforce its remedies to obtain possession of the property in accordance with applicable state law, but may not pursue a deficiency claim against the debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11

#7.00 HearingRE: [7] Notice of motion and motion for relief from the automatic stay with supporting declarations REAL PROPERTY RE: 648 Robin Glen Drive, Glendale, CA 91202 . (Lisitsa, Yevgeniya)

Docket 7

Tentative Ruling:

4/11/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set on a shortened notice in accordance with Judge Robles's procedures. Oppositions, if any, will be considered at the hearing.

In the absence of any persuasive opposition, the Court is prepared to find that there is sufficient evidence to grant relief pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(4). The filing of the petition was part of a scheme to delay, hinder, and defraud creditors, which involved the transfer of all or part ownership of, or other interest in, the Property without the consent of Movant or court approval. Declaration of Leonid Polishuk in support of Motion at paragraph 18.

For the same reasons, the Motion is GRANTED pursuant to section 362(d)(1) based on Debtor's bad faith filing. The 14-day period specified in Fed.R.Bankr.P. 4001(a)(3) is waived. This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. If recorded in compliance with applicable State laws governing notices of interests or liens in real property, the order shall be binding in any other case under this title purporting to affect such real property filed not later than 2 years after the date of the entry of such order by the Court, except that a debtor in a subsequent case under this title may move for relief from such order based upon changed circumstances or for good cause shown, after notice and a hearing. Any Federal, State, or local governmental unit that accepts notices of interests or liens in real property shall accept a certified copy of this order for indexing and recording. All Blanket or boilerplate evidentiary objections not accompanied by detailed supporting argument are prohibited, will be summarily overruled, and may subject the moving party to sanctions.

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

4/15/2019

On July 12, 2018 (the "Petition Date"), a Chapter 7 involuntary petition was commenced against OBI Probiotic Soda, LLC (the "Debtor"). An order for relief was entered on September 20, 2018 and a Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee") was appointed.

On March 27, 2018, OBI Acquisition, LLC ("OBI Acquisition") filed a Complaint for (1) Intentional Interference with Prospective Economic Relations, (2) Negligent Interference with Prospective Economic Relations, (3) Breach of Fiduciary Duty, and (4) Promissory Fraud (the "Complaint") in the Los Angeles Superior Court (the "State Court") against Daniel Stepper ("Stepper"), Dino Sarti ("Sarti"), and LA Libations, LLC ("LA Libations"). OBI Acquisition brought the Complaint derivatively for the benefit of the Debtor, and named the Debtor as a nominal defendant solely in a derivative capacity.

On May 18, 2018, Stepper, Sarti, and LA Libations filed a Cross-Complaint against OBI Acquisition and various other parties (the "Stepper Cross-Complaint"). On July 3, 2018, Paul Phillips and various other parties filed a Cross-Complaint against OBI Acquisition (the "Phillips Cross-Complaint").

On February 28, 2019, the Trustee removed the action to the Bankruptcy Court. The Trustee asserts that the Complaint's derivative claims and the Stepper Cross-

Complaint's claim for declaratory relief belong to the estate. The Trustee states that he intends to commence a separate adversary proceeding that will clarify which claims belong to the estate and which do not. The Trustee anticipates that once the additional complaint is on file, the two adversary proceedings can be consolidated or otherwise streamlined to promote judicial economy.

The Court finds that this action should not proceed until the Trustee has clarified his position with respect to which claims belong to the estate and which claims do not. By no later than May 14, 2019, the Trustee shall file the separate complaint referenced in the Status Report. A Status Conference pertaining to both this action and the separate complaint shall be held on July 16, 2019, at 10:00 a.m., at which time the Court will determine whether consolidation of the proceedings is appropriate.

The Court will prepare and enter an appropriate order.

#16.00 Show Cause Hearing RE: [14] Notice to creditors re 13 Order Requiring Petitioning Creditor To Appear And Show Cause Why This Involuntary Petition Should Not Be Dismissed. April 16, 2019, at 10:00 a.m.(BNC-PDF) (Lomeli, Lydia R.)

Docket 14

Tentative Ruling:

4/15/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Second Involuntary Petition is DISMISSED, and the Petitioning Creditor is enjoined from filing a further involuntary petition against the Alleged Debtor for a period of one year.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Order Requiring Petitioning Creditor to Appear and Show Cause Why this Involuntary Petition Should Not be Dismissed [Doc. No. 13] (the "OSC")
 - a) Bankruptcy Noticing Center Certificate of Notice [Doc. Nos. 17-16]
 - b) Certificate of Service Upon Knuckles, Komosinski & Manfro, LLP [Doc. No. 18]
- 2) Declaration by Petitioning Creditor Marshall Broadway [Doc. No. 19]
- 3) Notice of Opposition by Alleged Debtor [Doc. No. 20]

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On July 20, 2018, Petro-Token Management LLC (the "Petitioning Creditor") filed an Involuntary Petition Against an Individual (the "First Involuntary Petition") against Edwin Wellington Terry (the "Alleged Debtor"), commencing Case No. 2:18-bk-18329-ER (the "First Involuntary Case"). See Doc. No. 1, Case No. 2:18-bk-18329-ER. On October 23, 2018, the Court issued an order requiring the Petitioning Creditor to show cause why the First Involuntary Case should not be dismissed (the "Order to Show Cause"). See Order Requiring Petitioning Creditor to Appear and Show Cause Why this Involuntary Petition Should Not Be Dismissed [Doc. No. 10-1, Case No. 2:18-bk-18329-ER]. Petitioning Creditor failed to respond to the Order to Show Cause.

Chapter 7

On December 27, 2018, the Court dismissed the First Involuntary Case as a result of the following deficiencies:

- 1) The Petitioning Creditor, a business entity, had failed to retain counsel and was thus not authorized to appear.
- 2) The allegations of the First Involuntary Petition did not establish that the Petitioning Creditor was entitled to an order for relief against the Alleged Debtor. The First Involuntary Petition alleged indebtedness of $12,500. Pursuant to § 303(b)(2), the Petitioning Creditor was required to hold a noncontingent, undisputed claim of at least $15,775 to be entitled to relief.
- 3) Marshall Broadway, the Petitioning Creditor's authorized representative, had failed to comply with the Court's order requiring him to submit a declaration establishing that the Petitioning Creditor was a valid corporate entity.

See Final Ruling Dismissing Involuntary Petition at 2–3 [Doc. No. 16, Case No. 2:18-bk-18329-ER].

On January 18, 2019, Petitioning Creditor filed an Involuntary Petition Against an Individual (the "Second Involuntary Petition") against the Alleged Debtor, commencing Case No. 2:18-bk-10519-ER (the "Second Involuntary Case"). Doc. No. 1, Case No. 2:19-bk-10519-ER. On February 28, 2019, the Second Involuntary Case was reassigned from the Hon. Robert Kwan to the undersigned Judge, pursuant to General Order 11-01. Doc. No. 8, Case No. 2:19-bk-10519-ER.

The Second Involuntary Petition is signed by Marshall Broadway, in his capacity as the Petitioning Creditor's authorized representative. Petitioning Creditor filed Articles of Organization with the California Secretary of State on November 20, 2018. According to the Articles of Organization, Mr. Broadway is the Petitioning Creditor's organizer.

It is well established that a corporation, trust, limited liability company, or other type of business entity "may appear in the federal courts only through licensed counsel." Rowland v. California Men's Colony, Unit II Men's Advisory Council, 506 U.S. 194, 202 (1993). This requirement is reiterated in LBR 9011-2(a).

The proposed form of Summons appended to the Second Involuntary Petition states that the Petitioning Creditor is represented by Knuckles, Komosinski & Manfro, LLP ("Knuckles"), a law firm with offices in New Jersey and New York. However, the Second Involuntary Petition is not actually signed by an attorney affiliated with Knuckles.

Chapter 7

On March 8, 2019, the Court issued an Order Requiring Petitioning Creditor to Appear and Show Cause Why this Involuntary Petition Should Not be Dismissed (the "Order to Show Cause"). Doc. No. 13, Case No. 2:19-bk-10519-ER. The Order to Show Cause provided in relevant part:

Bankruptcy Rule 9011 requires that "[e]very petition, pleading, written motion, and other paper ... shall be signed by at least one attorney of record in the attorney's individual name." Because the Second Involuntary Petition was not signed by an attorney affiliated with Knuckles, the Court cannot verify that Knuckles actually represents the Petitioning Creditor. The Court notes that Knuckles' practice is focused upon representing clients located in New York, New Jersey, and Connecticut. It does not appear that any of Knuckles' attorneys are admitted to practice in California. This casts doubt upon whether Knuckles represents the Petitioning Creditor....

If the Petitioning Creditor cannot establish that it is represented by Knuckles, the Court is prepared to dismiss the Second Involuntary Petition. Unless represented by counsel, Petitioning Creditor is not authorized to appear. If the Petitioning Creditor is not authorized to appear, the Court cannot consider the Petitioning Creditor's allegation that it holds a claim against the Alleged Debtor. In such a case, there would be no evidence before the Court establishing the Petitioning Creditor's entitlement to an order for relief, and the Court would be required to dismiss the Second Involuntary Petition.

Order to Show Cause at 5.

The OSC further advised the Petitioning Creditor that the Court was prepared to find that the Second Involuntary Petition was filed in bad faith:

The Petitioning Creditor's failure to respond to the Order to Show Cause issued in the First Involuntary Case, followed shortly thereafter by the filing of the substantially identical Second Involuntary Petition, constitutes an abuse of the bankruptcy process. In the event that the Petitioning Creditor fails to establish the legitimacy of the indebtedness alleged in the Second Involuntary Petition, the Court is prepared to find that the Second Involuntary Petition was filed in bad faith. The Court is further prepared to enjoin Petitioning Creditor from filing an involuntary petition against the Alleged Debtor for a period of one year, pursuant to § 105 and its inherent authority. Where a debtor files a petition in bad faith, the Court may impose a bar against re-filing. In re Mitchell, 357 B.R. 142, 156 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2006). A re-filing bar is likewise appropriate where a Petitioning Creditor files a petition in bad faith.

Order to Show Cause at 5–6.

In response to the Order to Show Cause, Mr. Broadway filed a declaration stating that on October 20, 2017, Petitioning Creditor entered into a contract with the Alleged Debtor, under which Petitioning Creditor would produce a cryptography coin for the Alleged Debtor for a fee of $15,000 (the "Contract"). Mr. Broadway states that the Alleged Debtor paid $2,500 but failed to pay the remainder of the balance.

Mr. Broadway states that Knuckles does not represent the Petitioning Creditor and that he does not know who Knuckles is.

The Alleged Debtor filed an Opposition in which he acknowledges entering into the Contract. The Alleged Debtor asserts that the Petitioning Creditor has failed to perform under the terms of the Contract.

II. Findings and Conclusions

The Second Involuntary Petition is DISMISSED, and Petitioning Creditor is enjoined from filing a further involuntary petition against the Alleged Debtor for a period of one year.

The Court finds that the Second Involuntary Petition was filed in bad faith. The Court maintains its finding, set forth in the OSC, that the "Petitioning Creditor's failure to respond to the Order to Show Cause issued in the First Involuntary Case, followed shortly thereafter by the filing of the substantially identical Second Involuntary Petition, constitutes an abuse of the bankruptcy process." Order to Show Cause at 5. Among the reasons supporting the dismissal of the First Involuntary Petition was the Petitioning Creditors' lack of representation by counsel. In the Final Ruling Dismissing Involuntary Petition [Doc. No. 16, Case No. 2:18-bk-18329-ER], Petitioning Creditor was informed that its lack of representation by counsel was one of the factors supporting dismissal. Nonetheless, shortly after the dismissal of the First Involuntary Petition, Petitioning Creditor filed the Second Involuntary Petition, again without counsel. Worse still, the Second Involuntary Petition falsely represented that the Petitioning Creditor was represented by the firm Knuckles. Mr. Broadway, the Petitioning Creditor's organizer, now admits that Petitioning Creditor is not represented by Knuckles and that he has no idea who Knuckles is.

In addition, Petitioning Creditor is not entitled to an order for relief, because the

Tentative Ruling:

4/15/2019

On January 31, 2018, the Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors for Liberty Asset Management Corporation ("Liberty") filed a First Amended Chapter 11 Plan of Liquidation [Bankr. Doc. No. 609, Ex. A] (the "Liberty Plan"). On June 18, 2018, the Court entered an order confirming the Liberty Plan. See Bankr. Doc. No. 655 (the "Confirmation Order").

The Liberty Plan provides for the appointment of a Plan Administrator. The Plan Administrator is the successor-in-interest Liberty, is the sole representative of Liberty's estate, and is authorized to participate in judicial proceedings to protect and enforce creditors' rights to the assets of Liberty's estate. See Liberty Plan, Art. VII(D) (2)(c). Pursuant to the Confirmation Order, the Plan Administrator has been substituted for Liberty as a defendant in this action.

This action was initially commenced in the Los Angeles Superior Court (the "State Court") on January 19, 2016. Plaintiffs allege that Liberty and various other persons and entities acting in concert with Liberty made misrepresentations to induce Plaintiffs to invest in property located at 119 Furlong Lane, Bradbury, California (the "Furlong Property"). Plaintiffs seek damages for breach of contract, intentional and fraudulent misrepresentations, and violations of California's Business and Professions Code and Corporations Code. The action was removed to the Bankruptcy Court on June 17, 2016.

The Court notes that this action is stayed as to defendant Shelby Ho as a result of Ms. Ho's commencement of a Chapter 7 petition in the U.S. Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of California, San Francisco Division. See Debtor Ho's Notice of Stay [Adv. Doc. No. 58].

Chapter 11

On August 23, 2018, the Furlong Property was sold for $6.9 million pursuant to a sale order entered in the bankruptcy case of Oak River Asset Management LLC ("Oak River"), an entity wholly owned by Liberty.

The Court has previously found that certain aspects of this action may be resolved by litigation as to the allowability of Proofs of Claim (collectively, the "Claims") filed by the Plaintiffs in the bankruptcy cases of Liberty and Oak River. See Order Continuing Status Conference from November 13, 2018 at 10:00 a.m. to January 15, 2019, at 10:00 a.m. [Adv. Doc. No. 60] at 2. On January 7, 2019, the Court entered orders in the Liberty and Oak River cases establishing the allowed amounts of Plaintiffs' Claims (such orders collectively, the "Claims Allowance Orders").

Subsequent to the entry of the Claims Allowance Orders, the Plan Administrator filed a motion seeking to substantively consolidate the estates of Liberty and Oak River (the "Substantive Consolidation Motion"). Had the Substantive Consolidation Motion been granted, it would have affected the distribution upon Plaintiffs' claims, and therefore would have affected this litigation. Pursuant to the request of the Plaintiffs and the Plan Administrator, the Court continued the Status Conference set for February 5, 2019, pending resolution of the Substantive Consolidation Motion.

On February 25, 2019, the Court denied the Substantive Consolidation Motion. Bankr. Doc. Nos. 909 and 904. The Plan Administrator appealed the denial of the Substantive Consolidation Motion to the District Court, but subsequently reached a settlement with Plaintiffs. Bankr. Doc. No. 914. No timely objections to the settlement have been filed in the bankruptcy cases of Liberty or Oak River.

The settlement provides that Plaintiffs will dismiss the Plan Administrator and Oak River from this proceeding within three business days after the entry of a final unstayed order approving the settlement.

Any objection to dismissal by Defendants Benjamin Kirk, Lucy Gao, Shelby Ho, Liberty Capital Management, Inc., Pacific Sunshine Investments, LLC, and/or Bradbury Furlong LLC (collectively, the "Remaining Defendants") shall be filed by no later than May 3, 2019. See Fed. R. Civ. Proc. 41(a)(2) (providing that where a defendant has responded to the complaint, an "action may be dismissed at the plaintiff's request only by court order, on terms that the court considers proper"). In the event that any of the Remaining Defendants object to dismissal, the Court will determine whether a hearing on such objection is required, and will notify the parties accordingly. The Court will prepare and enter a separate order advising the Remaining Defendants of the deadline to object to dismissal; the Plan Administrator shall serve that order upon the Remaining Defendants and file a proof of service so indicating.

On September 14, 2017, the Court dismissed without prejudice all claims for relief that were (a) not set forth in the Joint Pretrial Stipulation [Doc. No. 104] and/or (b) were not adjudicated in connection with the Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law Regarding Motion by the Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors for Summary Adjudication of Defendants' Liability for Breach of Fiduciary Duties and Accounting [Doc. Having reviewed the Status Report filed by the Plan Administrator, the Court HEREBY ORDERS as follows:

#103.00 HearingRE: [40] Motion to disgorge attorney's fees under 11 U.S.C. section 329 by U.S. Trustee . (Attachments: # 1 POS)(united states trustee (hy))

Docket 40

Tentative Ruling:

4/15/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Disgorgement Motion is GRANTED.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed

1. United States Trustee's Notice of Motion and Motion for an Order Disgoring Attorney Compensation Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 329 and Concurrently-Filed Request for Judicial Notice in Support Thereof [Doc. No. 40] (the "Disgorgement Motion")
2. Request for Judicial Notice in Support of United States Trustee's Motion for an Order Disgoring Attorney Compensation Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 329 [Doc. No. 41] (the "RJN")
3. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Hakop Jack Aivazian (the "Debtor") filed a voluntary chapter 11 petition for relief on October 16, 2018 (the "Petition Date"). On November 23, 2018, the Debtor filed an application to employ Leo Fasen ("Counsel") as his chapter 11 bankruptcy counsel [Doc. No. 17] (the "First Employment Application"). After the United States Trustee (the "UST") filed a timely objection and request for hearing [Doc. No. 18], the Debtor filed an amended application to employ [Doc. No. 19] (the "Second Employment Application"). Counsel also simultaneously filed an application for approval of compensation [Doc. No. 20] (the "Fee Application"). The UST filed a timely opposition to the Second Employment Application and Fee Application [Doc. No. 24].

The UST also sought conversion of the case pursuant to § 1112(b) [Doc. No. 21].

Chapter 7

On January 17, 2019, the Court entered an order granting the UST's motion and converting this case to a case under chapter 7 [Doc. No. 31].

The UST now seeks an order requiring Counsel to disgorge the entire $8,000 in fees he received in connection with his representation of the Debtor. First, the UST contends that Counsel failed to obtain an order authorizing his employment pursuant to § 327(a) and, as a result, all fees should be disgorged pursuant to § 329 and pursuant to the Court's inherent authority under § 105(a).

Second, the UST argues that disgorgement is also warranted under § 329(b) because the compensation Counsel received exceeded the reasonable value of services provided and because Counsel made misrepresentations to the Court in his First and Second Employment Applications and failed to make adequate disclosures regarding his retainer. The UST contends that Counsel failed to disclose in the First Employment Application that he was owed a pre-petition claim and that he required the Debtor to make post-petition payments for his pre-petition fees. The UST also argues that in response to its opposition highlighting this issue, Counsel filed the Second Employment Application stating that he had already received the full $8,000 retainer. Therefore, the UST concludes that counsel's conduct warrants full disgorgement of his fees and requests that the Court order Counsel to disgorge fees in the amount of $8,000 within thirty days of entry of the order granting this Disgorgement Motion, payable to the Chapter 7 trustee.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

The Bankruptcy Code and the applicable rules require counsel to seek authority from the court to represent a debtor in possession during a Chapter 11 case and to be compensated from the estate. See 11 U.S.C. § 327(a), Fed. R. Bankr. P. 2014, Local Bankruptcy Rule 2016-1. "Court approval of the employment of counsel for a debtor in possession is sine qua non to counsel getting paid. Failure to receive court approval for the employment of a professional in accordance with § 327 and Rule 2014 precludes the payment of fees." In re Shirley, 134 B.R. 940, 943 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1992) (footnote omitted); see also Atkins v. Wain, Samuel & Co. (In re Atkins), 69 F.3d 970, 973 (9th Cir. 1995) ("In bankruptcy proceedings, professionals who perform services for a debtor in possession cannot recover fees for services rendered to the estate unless those services have been previously authorized by a court order").

Section 329(a) requires any attorney representing a debtor to file "a statement of the compensation paid or agreed to be paid, if such payment or agreement was made after one year before the date of the filing of the petition . . ." Section 329(b) provides that "[i]f such compensation exceeds the reasonable value of any such services, the court may cancel any such agreement, or order the return of any such payment, to the extent excessive, to the entity that made such payment." Rule 2017(a) further provides:

On motion by any party in interest or on the court's own initiative, the court after notice and a hearing may determine whether any payment of money or any transfer of property by the debtor, made directly or indirectly and in contemplation of the filing of a petition under the Code . . . to an attorney for services rendered or to be rendered is excessive.

Fed. R. Bankr. P. 2017(a) (emphasis added). "Once a question has been raised about the reasonableness of an attorney's fees under section 329, the attorney bears the burden of establishing that the fee is reasonable." 3 Collier on Bankruptcy ¶ 329.01 (16th ed. 2019).

The Court finds that disgorgement is warranted. First, the Court agrees that Counsel's failure to obtain an order authorizing his employment precludes him from retaining any compensation received on account of any post-petition services performed. Second, for the reasons set forth in the UST's Disgorgement Motion, the Court finds that Counsel failed to make full and complete disclosures in the pleadings filed with this Court and Counsel's actions warrant disgorgement of any pre-petition retainer fees. The Court also finds that the $8,000 in compensation Counsel received exceeds the reasonable value of services provided to the Debtor because, as discussed in more detail in the Court's final ruling converting this case [Doc. No. 29], Counsel was either unqualified or ill prepared to represent the Debtor in this case.

Finally, disgorgement is appropriate because Counsel has failed to carry his burden of establishing that his fees are reasonable. Pursuant to Local Bankruptcy

SGM's bid is $610 million, with $420 million allocated to St. Francis, $120 million allocated to St. Vincent, and $70 million allocated to Seton and Seton Coastsides combined. SGM is also responsible for paying any cure costs owed in connection with executory contracts and/or unexpired leases that it designates for assumption and assignment.

The Bidding Procedures Order established a deadline of March 28, 2019, at 4:00 p.m. [Note 1] for the submission of partial bids, and a deadline of April 3, 2019, at 4:00 p.m., for the submission of full bids. The Debtors received one Qualified Bid for St. Vincent and one Qualified Bid for St. Francis. [Note 2] The Debtors did not receive a full system Qualified Bid. [Note 3] After consultation with the Consultation Parties, the Debtors determined not to conduct either a Partial Bid Auction or Full Bid Auction. Accordingly, SGM was named the Successful Bidder under the Bidding Procedures Order.

The APA requires the Debtors to use commercially reasonable to facilitate the renegotiation of the collective bargaining agreements (the "CBAs") between the Debtors and their employees:

Representatives of Sellers who are parties to collective bargaining agreements and Purchaser shall meet and confer from time to time as reasonably requested by either party to discuss strategic business options and alternative approaches in negotiating each collective bargaining agreement. The applicable Sellers and Purchaser shall each participate in all union negotiations related to any specific collective bargaining agreement. Promptly following the Signing Date, applicable Sellers shall use commercially reasonable efforts to initiate discussions with Purchaser and conduct discussions to renegotiate each collective bargaining agreement currently in effect with each applicable union. The applicable Sellers will not unreasonably withhold, condition or delay approval or implementation of any successfully renegotiated collective bargaining agreement. The parties recognize that an applicable Seller's failure to secure a modification to any collective bargaining agreement, or to conclude a successor collective bargaining agreement shall not be a breach of Sellers' obligation under this Agreement, provided that if the unions refuse to negotiate, or otherwise are not timely, reasonable or realistic in renegotiating, the collective bargaining agreements during the period between the Signing Date and the Closing Date, Sellers and Purchaser will jointly consider, and negotiate mutually in good faith, alternative approaches that may be available

A. Assumption of Certain Executory Contracts and Unexpired Leases

The Bidding Procedures Order established procedures governing the assumption and assignment of executory contracts and unexpired leases. Pursuant to those procedures, the Debtors filed and served a Notice to Counterparties to Executory Contracts and Unexpired Leases of the Debtors that May be Assumed and Assigned [Doc. No. 1704] (the "First Cure Notice"), a Supplemental Notice Re Notice to Counterparties to Executory Contracts and Unexpired Leases of the Debtors that May be Assumed and Assigned [Doc. No. 1836] (the "Second Cure Notice"), and a Second Supplemental Notice Re Notice to Counterparties to Executory Contracts and Unexpired Leases of the Debtors that May be Assumed and Assigned [Doc. No. 2065] (the "Third Cure Notice," and together with the First and Second Cure Notices, the "Cure Notices"). The Cure Notices identify the amounts (the "Cure Amounts"), if any, that the Debtors believe are owed to each counterparty on account of executory contracts and unexpired leases which the Debtors seek to assume and assign to SGM (the "Designated Contracts").

Various counterparties filed objections to the Cure Amounts, many of which have been resolved or are moot. After certain counterparties filed objections, SGM decided that it no longer wished to designate the agreements with such counterparties for assumption and assignment. Specifically, SGM is no longer seeking assignment of agreements with Workday, Inc. [Doc. No. 1804], LinkedIn Corporation [Doc. Nos. 1870 and 1877], Michael Pacelli [Doc. No. 1874], Cerner Corporation [Doc. No. 1885], or Care First Health Plan [Doc. No. 1891].

With respect to objections filed by Eurofins VRL Inc. [Doc. No. 1788], Swinterton Builders [Doc. No. 1830], CR Bard, Inc. [Doc. No. 1852], RightSourcing [Doc. No. 1856], Sunquest Information System, Inc. [Doc. No. 1876], TeleTracking Technologies, Inc. [Doc. No. 1892], Hooper Healthcare Consulting LLC [Doc. No. 1926], and Transplant Connect [Doc. No. 1953], the Debtors have reached an agreement with each counterparty establishing the appropriate Cure Amount.

The Debtors have entered into stipulations, which have been approved by the Court, providing for a continuance of the hearing as to cure and adequate assurance issues with the following counterparties: NFS Leasing, Inc. [Doc. No. 1819]; Roche

The Debtors have attempted to reach a stipulation providing for a continuance of the hearing on objections asserted by Cardinal Health 110, LLC, Cardinal Health 200, LLC, and Cardinal Health 414, LLC (collectively, "Cardinal Health"); however, Cardinal Health has not yet responded.

B. SEIU-UHW's Objection and the Debtors' Response

The Service Employees International Union, United Healthcare Workers-West ("SEIU-UHW") represents approximately 1,292 of the Debtors' employees at St. Francis and St. Vincent. Employees of the Debtors represented by SEIU-UHW are covered by CBAs containing successor clauses that purport to obligate any purchaser of the Hospitals to assume the CBAs in their entirety.

SEIU-UHW argues that the sale cannot be approved until the Debtors have first complied with the requirements of § 1113. SEIU-UHW relies upon American Flint Glass Workers Union v. Anchor Resolution Corp, 197 F.3d 76, 81-82 (3d Cir. 1999), in which the Third Circuit held that a debtor could not alter its obligations under a CBA through a partial assumption and assignment to a purchaser because that would be an "attempt to effect an alteration of the CBA" and therefore the debtor "was required to comply with the procedures set out in Code § 1113." *Am. Workers, 197 F.3d at 81–82.

The Debtors contend that SEIU-UHW's objection lacks merit. First, the Debtors argue that SGM has committed to negotiate with all unions to attempt to modify the CBAs, making it possible that a consensual resolution regarding the CBAs may be achieved. Second, the Debtors assert that the sale may be approved in advance of § 1113 relief. In support of this position, Debtors rely upon Local 211 v. Family Snacks, Inc., Official Unsecured Creditors' Comm. (In re Family Snacks, Inc.), 257 B.R. 884, 897 (B.A.P. 8th Cir. 2001):

When a debtor is selling on a going concern basis, the union urges, Ionosphere should not apply because the only meaningful time the court can make a decision on rejection is prior to the sale. We see no basis for such a distinction, unless it is to give the union veto power over a going concern sale which, as we know from experience, is often the best way to reap the greatest benefit for all creditors. Section 1113 was never intended to give unions such power. Its sole purpose is to keep a debtor from unilaterally rejecting a CBA and to plainly articulate the rules for going about rejection. If, as Ionosphere concluded, a debtor who is liquidating piecemeal should not be forced into Chapter 7 in order to preserve its assets for equitable distribution to all creditors, the same is true for a debtor who is selling its assets on a going concern basis.

Family Snacks, 257 B.R. at 897.

C. Objections by St. Vincent IPA and Angeles IPA and the Debtors' Response

St. Vincent IPA Medical Corporation and Angeles IPA (collectively, "St. Vincent IPA") are parties to Healthcare Services Risk Sharing Agreements (the "Risk Sharing Agreements") with certain of the Debtors. St. Vincent IPA argues that the Debtors should be required to withhold or earmark approximately $12 million from the sale proceeds to ensure that sufficient funds are available to pay the full Cure Amount that may ultimately be owed to St. Vincent IPA. St. Vincent IPA asserts that the Debtors have not clearly specified the Cure Amount that will be withheld.

The Debtors assert that St. Vincent IPA's concerns are not warranted for the following reasons:

- 1) Under the Final Order (I) Authorizing Postpetition Financing, (II) Authorizing Use of Cash Collateral, (III) Granting Liens and Providing Superpriority Administrative Expense Status, (IV) Granting Adequate Protection, (V)

Modifying Automatic Stay, and (VI) Granting Related Relief [Doc. No. 409]
(the “Final DIP Order”), all sale proceeds must be deposited in an Escrow Deposit Account. Deposit of the sale proceeds into the Escrow Deposit Account prevents the Debtors from spending or commingling the sale proceeds. Thus, the earmarking requested by St. Vincent IPA is not necessary.

2) Under the APA, SGM is required to pay the Cure Amount. St. Vincent IPA has not suggested that SGM is unwilling or unable to do so.

In an attempt to address St. Vincent’s concerns, the Debtors have modified § 15 of the proposed Sale Order as follows:

To the extent an Assumption Dispute relates solely to the Cure Amount, the Debtors may assume and/or assume and assign the applicable executory contract or unexpired lease prior to the resolution of the Assumption Dispute by the Bankruptcy Court, provided, that either (a) the Bankruptcy Court has estimated the maximum cure payment, pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 502(c), and Buyer has remitted such amount to the Debtors to be held as sales proceeds in the Sale Proceeds Account for the relevant Debtor(s), or (b) the Buyer provides to the relevant Debtor(s) a separate reasonably acceptable undertaking to pay the disputed cure amount (or such smaller amount as may be fixed or estimated by the Bankruptcy Court or otherwise agreed to by such non-Debtor party and the applicable Buyer). The Debtors shall be and hereby are authorized to pay disputed cure amounts from the relevant Sales Proceeds Account(s) upon entry of a final order by this Court to the extent the Buyer remitted to Sellers the amount required by item (a) of this paragraph of the Order.

II. Findings and Conclusions

A. Issues that Have Been Resolved or Will be Adjudicated at a Later Date

To provide a clear record, issues that have either been resolved or preserved for adjudication at a later date are set forth herein.

raised by various counterparties to executory contracts and unexpired leases designated for assumption and assignment shall take place on June 5, 2019, at 10:00 a.m. Although Cardinal Health has not yet stipulated to a continuance of the hearing on its objections, the Court finds it appropriate to continue the hearing on Cardinal Health's objection to that same date. The Debtors' deadline to reply to Cardinal Health's objection is May 29, 2019, at 4:00 p.m.

2. Reservations of Rights Asserted by Various Parties

The United Nurses Association of California/Union of Health Care Professionals ("UNAC") reserves its rights with respect to any § 1113 motion that may be filed in the future. The Court confirms that all issues arising under § 1113 are preserved for adjudication at a later time.

The Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors (the "Committee") reserves the right to challenge security interests asserted by the Prepetition Secured Creditors (as defined in the Final DIP Order). The Committee's ability to challenge the validity of the security interests asserted by the Prepetition Secured Creditors is preserved.

Various parties reserve their rights to object to the language of the final order approving the Sale Motion. The Debtors are directed to work with interested parties to satisfy concerns regarding the form of the Sale Order.

3. Mechanics' Liens Asserted by MGH Painting, Inc. and Belfor USA Group, Inc.

MGH Painting, Inc. ("MGH Painting") and Belfor USA Group, Inc. ("Belfor") assert mechanic's liens against St. Vincent and object to any sale free and clear of those liens. The Debtors have reviewed the mechanic's liens and have confirmed that the mechanic's liens will attach to the sale proceeds of St. Vincent.

4. Issues Raised by the California Statewide Communities Development Authority

The California Statewide Communities Development Authority (the "CSCDA") filed a reservation of rights with respect to certain obligations arising under financing extended by the CSCDA to Seton. The Debtors state that they have resolved CSCDA's concerns and that the parties have agreed to a form of Assignment and Assumption Agreement to be executed by SGM and Seton with respect to the obligations.

5. Issues Raised by the California Attorney General

The California Attorney General (the "Attorney General") filed an objection seeking clarification that the sale transaction is subject to his review and approval pursuant to Cal. Corp. Code § 5914. The Debtors and the Attorney General have agreed to include the following language preserving the Attorney General's rights in the Sale Order:

The California Attorney General, the Debtors, the Consultation Parties (as defined in the Bid Procedures Order) and the Purchaser, reserve all rights, arguments and defenses concerning the California Attorney General's authority, if any, to review the Sale under California Corporations Code sections 5914-5924 and California Code of Regulations - Title 11, Chapter 15, section 999.5, and any conditions issued thereto. Nothing in this stipulation or sale order shall be construed as a waiver of the Attorney General's statutory and regulatory authority or other rights.

The Court notes that although the Debtors will submit to the Attorney General applications for transfer of the Hospitals pursuant to Cal. Corp. Code §§ 5914 et seq., the Debtors reserve the right to challenge any conditions imposed by the Attorney General upon completion of the review, including the renewal of the conditions previously imposed in connection with the 2015 transaction involving the Debtors' predecessor. The Court finds that the Debtors' election to participate in the regulatory process established by Cal. Corp. Code §§ 5914 et seq. does not waive their ability to later assert that the Hospitals may be sold free and clear of conditions imposed by the Attorney General under § 363(f) of the Bankruptcy Code.

6. Issues Pertaining to the Transfer of the Debtors' Medi-Cal and Medicaid Provider Agreements

The Court has approved stipulations setting a continued hearing on issues pertaining to the transfer of the Debtors' Medi-Cal and Medicare Provider Agreements for June 5, 2019, at 10:00 a.m.

7. Issues Raised by United Healthcare Pertaining to the Sale of the Debtors' Accounts Receivable Free and Clear of United Healthcare's Recoupment Rights

United Healthcare Insurance Company ("United Healthcare") asserts that it has not been provided adequate assurance of SGM's future performance under certain Capitation Agreements that SGM has designated for assignment. Healthcare's recoupment rights. The Court has approved a stipulation continuing the hearing on all objections raised by United Healthcare to June 5, 2019, at 10:00 a.m.

B. St. Vincent IPA's Objection Regarding Withholding of the Sale Proceeds Has Been Sufficiently Addressed by Additional Language to be Included in the Sale Order

The Court finds that concerns raised by St. Vincent regarding its ability to recover the Cure Amount that it may ultimately be owed have been adequately addressed by the additional language that the Debtors propose to add to the Sale Order. The additional language provides that an agreement to which St. Vincent is a party may be assumed and assigned if the Court has estimated the maximum cure payment under § 502(c) and SGM has either remitted such amount to the Debtors or has provided an undertaking to pay such amount. In the Court's view, the proposed procedures provide a reasonable means of estimating St. Vincent's Cure Amount prior to final adjudication thereof. Further, the Court finds that the proposed procedures are reasonably calculated to ensure that St. Vincent ultimately will be paid whatever Cure Amount it is entitled to receive.

C. SEIU-UHW's Objection is Overruled

SEIU-UHW contends that the Debtors are required to obtain rejection of the CBAs under § 1113 prior to moving for approval of the sale. The Court has previously followed the approach set forth in Local 211 v. Family Snacks, Inc., Official Unsecured Creditors' Comm. (In re Family Snacks, Inc.), 257 B.R. 884, 897 (B.A.P. 8th Cir. 2001), in which the court held that "there is nothing in the language of §1113 that dictates when an application to reject must be made." Family Snacks, 257 B.R. at 895. The Family Snacks court reasoned that requiring the §1113 process to be completed prior to an asset sale would give unions undue power over the sale process to the detriment of other creditors:

When a debtor is selling on a going concern basis, the union urges, Ionosphere should not apply because the only meaningful time the court can make a decision on rejection is prior to the sale. We see no basis for such a distinction, unless it is to give the union veto power over a going concern sale which, as we know from experience, is often the best way to reap the greatest benefit for all creditors. plainly articulate the rules for going about rejection. If, as Ionosphere concluded, a debtor who is liquidating piecemeal should not be forced into Chapter 7 in order to preserve its assets for equitable distribution to all creditors, the same is true for a debtor who is selling its assets on a going concern basis.

Family Snacks, 257 B.R. at 897.

SEIU-UHW argues that Family Snacks is distinguishable because the CBAs at issue therein did not contain a successor clause prohibiting sale absent assumption of the CBA. The Court finds that the presence of successor clauses in the CBAs to which SEIU-UHW is a party does not require the Debtors to obtain § 1113 relief prior to entry of the Sale Order. The sale will not close until after the Attorney General has conducted a review pursuant to Cal. Corp. Code §§ 5914–5924. Pursuant to Cal. Corp. Code § 5915, the Attorney General has 90 days, plus an additional 45 days if certain conditions are satisfied, to conduct the review. During this interim period, the APA provides that SGM will attempt to renegotiate the CBAs. In the event that such negotiations fail, the Debtors have the option of seeking relief under § 1113. That is, the sale cannot close until the CBAs have either been renegotiated or modified under § 1113. Consequently, entry of the Sale Order now does not circumvent the protections afforded by § 1113.

D. The Debtors are Authorized to Assume and Assign the Executory Contracts and Unexpired Leases Designated by SGM

Section 365(a) provides that the Debtor, "subject to the court's approval, may assume or reject any executory contract or unexpired lease of the debtor." In Agarwal v. Pomona Valley Med. Grp. (In re Pomona Valley Med. Grp., Inc.), the Ninth Circuit explained the standard the Bankruptcy Court must apply in determining whether to approve the assumption of an executory contract or unexpired lease:

In making its determination, a bankruptcy court need engage in "only a cursory review of a [debtor-in-possession]'s decision to reject the contract. Specifically, a bankruptcy court applies the business judgment rule to evaluate a [debtor-in-possession]'s rejection decision." ...

Thus, in evaluating the rejection decision, the bankruptcy court should presume that the debtor-in-possession acted prudently, on an informed basis, in good faith, and in the honest belief that the action taken was in the best interests of the bankruptcy estate. n. 12 (9th Cir.2001); FDIC v. Castetter, 184 F.3d 1040, 1043 (9th Cir.1999); see also In re Chi-Feng Huang, 23 B.R. at 801 ("The primary issue is whether rejection would benefit the general unsecured creditors."). It should approve the rejection of an executory contract under § 365(a) unless it finds that the debtor-in-possession's conclusion that rejection would be "advantageous is so manifestly unreasonable that it could not be based on sound business judgment, but only on bad faith, or whim or caprice."

Pomona Valley, 476 F.3d 665, 670 (9th Cir. 2007).

The assumption and assignment of the Designated Contracts constitutes an exercise of the Debtors' sound business judgment. Assignment of the agreements is necessary to facilitate the sale of the Hospitals. The assumption and assignment of the Designated Contracts is approved. This ruling does not apply to those Designated Contracts to which counterparties have asserted an objection with respect to adequate assurance of future performance and/or the appropriate cure amount; adjudication of the assumption and assignment of such contracts shall occur on June 5, 2019, at 10:00 a.m., as set forth above.

E. The Sale Motion is Granted

Section 363(b) permits the debtor or trustee to sell estate property out of the ordinary course of business, subject to Court approval. The debtor or trustee must articulate a business justification for the sale of the property. In re Walter, 83 B.R. 14, 19–20 (9th Cir. BAP 1988) (citing In re Continental Air Lines, 780 F.2d 1223 (5th Cir. 1986)). Whether the articulated business justification is sufficient "depends on the case," in view of "all salient factors pertaining to the proceeding." Id. "The court's obligation in § 363(b) sales is to assure that optimal value is realized by the estate under the circumstances." Simantob v. Claims Prosecutor, LLC (In re Lahijani), 325 B.R. 282, 288–89 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2005).

The Debtors have demonstrated sufficient business justification for the sale. The Debtors incur significant operational losses at their hospitals, such that continued operations are not financially viable. A sale is the best means to preserve value for creditors.

The Court finds that the Debtors have adequately marketed the Hospitals. Cain Brothers ("Cain"), the Debtors' financial advisors, have been marketing the Hospitals since June 2018 and has contacted more than 181 strategic and financial buyers. Cain notified 90 parties of the sale process and provided access to a data room to sixteen parties who executed Non-Disclosure Agreements. Cain has remained in contact with

Pursuant to §363(f)(2), the sale is free and clear of all liens asserted by secured claimants. All parties asserting secured claims have consented to the sale.

The Court finds that SGM is a good-faith purchaser entitled to the protections afforded by § 363(m). The APA was negotiated at arms-length and the Hospitals were vigorously marketed by Cain.

Notwithstanding Bankruptcy Rule 6004, the order approving the sale shall take effect immediately upon entry.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

A. Relevant Background Facts

JW Wireless, Inc. (the "Debtor") filed this voluntary chapter 7 case on May 17, 2016 (the "Petition Date"). John J. Menchaca is the acting chapter 7 trustee (the "Trustee"). On June 10, 2016, the Trustee filed a Notice of Possible Dividend and Order Fixing Time to File Claim [Doc. No. 6-1] (the "Notice of Claims Bar Date"), which set a deadline of November 14, 2016 (the "Claims Bar Date"), for creditors to file proofs of claim.

On September 12, 2016, Atlantic Wireless, Inc. ("Atlantic") filed a timely Proof of Claim No. 2 (the "Atlantic Claim") asserting a claim for $2,000,000 based upon the "[f]ailure of Debtor's affiliate to pay for assets acquired." See Atlantic Claim. Atlantic also attached an addendum describing the circumstances that provide the basis for its claim. Id.

B. The Avoidance Action

On April 10, 2018, the Trustee initiated an adversary proceeding by filing a complaint (the "Avoidance Complaint") against Cellco Partnership dba Verizon Wireless, a Delaware limited partnership, BJ Mobile, Inc., a California corporation ("BJ Mobile"), Jetworld, Inc., a California corporation ("Jetworld"), JW Wireless OKC, an Oklahoma limited liability company ("JW OKC"), JWK Management, Inc., a California corporation, Jetstar Auto Sports, Inc, a California corporation . ("Jetstar"), Shaigan Ben Her ("Ben Her"), Lea Young Lee ("Lee"), Joan Yu ("J. Yu"), Chu Feng Yu ("CF Yu"), and Carolyn Rhyoo seeking to avoid and recover preferential and fraudulent transfers (the "Avoidance Action") (Adv. Case No. 2:18-ap-01097-ER).

C. The Atlantic Claim Objection [Note 1]

On February 18, 2019, the Debtor and BJ Mobile, Ben Her, J. Yu, and CF Yu (together, the "Objecting Parties") filed an objection to the Atlantic Claim [Doc. No. 43] (the "Atlantic Claim Objection"). In support of the Atlantic Claim Objection, the Debtor and Objecting Parties attached the Declaration of Kelvin J. Lo (the "Lo Decl."), in which Mr. Lo avers that "Debtor has standing to object because the outcome of this proceeding affects Debtor's rights because a surplus estate may exist." Lo Decl., ¶ 3. Mr. Lo also states that the Objecting Parties "have standing to object to the Claim under 11 U.S.C. Section 502(a), as the outcome of this claim objection directly affects their rights in the [Avoidance Action]." Id., ¶ 4.

Atlantic filed a timely opposition asserting, among other things, that the Debtor and Objecting Parties lack standing [Doc. No. 46]. The Trustee also filed a timely response stating that, as of the date of the response, the estate was insolvent and noting that the only chance of the case being a surplus estate would be if the Trustee succeeds on his claims against some or all of the Objecting Parties and other defendants [Doc. No. 47].

On March 13, 2019, the Debtor and Objecting Parties filed a timely reply [Doc. No. 48]. However, the parties subsequently stipulated to continue the hearing to be heard in connection with a second objection to the Atlantic Claim (summarized below) [Doc. Nos. 52 & 53].

D. The Second Atlantic Claim Objection [Note 2]

On March 15, 2019, Jetworld, Jetstar, and Lee (together, the "Objectors") also filed an objection to the Atlantic Claim [Doc. No. 49] (the "Second Atlantic Claim Objection," and together with the "Atlantic Claim Objection, the "Claim Objections") asserting substantially similar arguments as those set forth in the Atlantic Claim Objection. Among other things, the Objectors argue that Lee has standing to file the Second Atlantic Claim Objection because she is listed as a creditor in the Debtor's bankruptcy schedules and because the Objectors requested the Trustee object to the Atlantic Claim and he declined to do so. In support, the Objectors attached a copy of an e-mail correspondence between counsel for the Objectors and the Trustee in which the Trustee's Counsel states: "[t]he Trustee is not inclined to file an objection to the Atlantic Wireless claim at this time." Second Atlantic Claim Objection, Declaration of G. Michael Jackson (the "Jackson Decl."), Exhibit B.

Atlantic filed a timely opposition to the Second Atlantic Claim Objection [Doc. No. 55]. The Objectors filed a timely reply in support of their Second Atlantic Claim Objection [Doc. Nos. 56 & 56].

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

A. The Debtor, Objecting Parties, and Objectors Have Not Established Their Standing to Object to the Atlantic Claim

A timely filed proof of claim is deemed allowed unless a party in interest objects. 11 U.S.C. § 502(a). The term "party in interest" is not defined in the Bankruptcy Code or the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure, but courts have held that standing in a bankruptcy context requires an "aggrieved person" who is directly and adversely affected pecuniarily by an order of the bankruptcy court. In re Lona, 393 B.R. 1, 3 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. 2008) (citing Fondiller v. Robertson (In re Fondiller), 707 F.2d 441, 442-43 (9th Cir. 1983)).

1. It is Premature for the Court to Determine Whether the Debtor has Standing

Generally, a chapter 7 debtor does not have standing to object to claims because the debtor has no interest in the distribution of assets of the estate and, therefore, is not an "aggrieved person." Lona, 393 B.R. at 4; see also In re I & F Corp., 219 B.R. 483 (Bankr. S.D. Ohio 1998) (chapter 7 debtor-corporation lacks standing to file objections to proofs of claim). The Ninth Circuit Bankruptcy Appellant Panel recently reaffirmed this conclusion:

Chapter 7

In the claim objection context, a chapter 7 debtor, 'in its individual capacity, lacks standing to object unless it demonstrates that it would be 'injured in fact' by the allowance of the claim.' In the case of a corporation, this includes its officers, directors, and agents. So when the 'estate is insolvent, a chapter 7 debtor ordinarily lacks standing to object to proofs of claim.' But when 'there is a sufficient possibility of a surplus to give the chapter 7 debtor a pecuniary interest or when the claim involved will not be discharged[]' the chapter 7 debtor has standing.

In re Doorman Prop. Maint., 2018 WL 3041128, at *6 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. June 19, 2018) (internal citations omitted). The burden is on the debtor to provide sufficient evidence that disallowance of the contested claim will produce a surplus distribution to the debtor. In re Walker, 356 B.R. 834, 847 (Bankr. S.D. Fla. 2006) (citing In re Cult Awareness Network, Inc., 151 F.3d 605, 608 (7th Cir. 1998)).

The Debtor argues that it has standing to object to the Atlantic Claim because the allowance or disallowance of Atlantic's claim affects Debtor's rights because this may be a surplus estate. In the Court's view, it is premature to make any determination regarding the Debtor's standing because the estate is presently insolvent, and whether the Trustee will succeed in recovering any funds pursuant to the Avoidance Action remains unknown.

2. The Only Creditor to File a Proof of Claim was JW OKC and it is Premature for the Court to Determine Whether JW OKC has Standing

The Objecting Parties and Objectors have not demonstrated that they have standing to object to the Atlantic Claim. Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 3002(a), a "secured creditor, unsecured creditor, or equity security holder must file a proof of claim or interest for the claim or interest to be allowed" Fed. R. Bankr. P. 3002(a). In this case, only JW OKC filed a proof of claim. Therefore, it is the only creditor with a potential pecuniary interest that might be affected by disallowance of the Atlantic Claim. However, it is premature for the Court to determine JW OKC's standing because JW OKC's claim may be disallowed pursuant to § 502(d) if the Trustee succeeds against it in the Avoidance Action and JW OKC fails to comply with any turnover obligations.

Chapter 7

Additionally, even if the Court were to find that JW OKC has an allowed general unsecured claim, "[t]he majority of courts have ruled that, in cases where there is a bankruptcy trustee, general unsecured creditors do not have standing to object to claims of other creditors, unless the trustee has refused after request to object to the claim, and the court has then authorized the creditor to object." T. Jones, Inc., v. Simmons (In re Simmons), 2005 Bankr. Lexis 2954, at *9 (B.A. P. 9th Cir. Mar. 31, 2005). JW OKC does not argue that the Trustee has refused after its request to object to the Atlantic Claim and the Court has not authorize JW OKC to file an objection on its own behalf.

Even if the Court were to consider the Trustee's e-mail response to the Objectors' counsel, the Court concludes that the Trustee did not unambiguously refuse to object. Instead, the Trustee responded that he was "not inclined to file an objection to the Atlantic Wireless claim at this time." See Second Atlantic Claim Objection, Jackson Decl., Ex. B (emphasis added). The Trustee's response is not a refusal to act, but rather an understandable reservation of rights given that the estate is presently insolvent and even a successful objection would not benefit creditors unless assets are recovered.

B. The Claim Objections Raise Concerns About Potential Interference with the Avoidance Action

The Court also notes that the Objecting Parties and Objectors are all defendants in the Avoidance Action and the Objecting Parties' counsel concedes that any determination made in connection with the Atlantic Claim Objection will "directly affect[] their rights in the [Avoidance Action]." Lo Decl., ¶ 4. The Court is not inclined to make any findings that might interfere with the Avoidance Action or provide the defendants some tactical advantage. Therefore, absent further order, the Court will not consider any challenge to the Atlantic Claim brought by any defendant in the Avoidance Action until that litigation has concluded.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the hearings on the Claim Objections are

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On December 10, 2018, the Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee") filed a Complaint for: (1) A Declaratory Judgment Regarding Property of the Bankruptcy Estate; (2) Turnover; (3) Injunctive Relief; and (4) Sale of a Property in Which a Non-Debtor Asserts an Interest [Doc. No. 1] (the "Complaint") against Jenny Melendez ("Jenny") and Clara E. Melendez ("Clara," and together with Jenny, the "Defendants"). [Note 1] Defendant Jenny Melendez filed a Chapter 7 bankruptcy petition on September 5, 2018, and received a discharge on January 2, 2019. The Complaint alleges that Jenny has an interest in real property located at 1225 West 123rd Street, Los Angeles, CA 90044 (the "Los Angeles Property"). The Complaint seeks a declaration that the estate holds 66.67% of the legal title to the Los Angeles Property; that Jenny's mother, Clara, holds bare legal title to 33.33% of the Los Angeles Property; and that the estate holds a 100% beneficial interest in the Los Angeles Property. The Complaint seeks turnover, an injunction barring Defendants from recording liens against the Los Angeles Property or interfering with the Trustee's administration thereof; and sale of the Los Angeles Property pursuant to § 363(h).

Jenny filed an Answer on March 20, 2019. Doc. No. 25. The Trustee seeks leave to file a First Amended Complaint. The proposed First Amended Complaint alleges that Jenny failed to schedule an interest in property located at 1102 South Temple Ave., Compton, CA 90221 (the "Compton Property") and that Jenny falsely testified that she had no interest in the Compton Property at the § 341(a) meeting of creditors. The proposed First Amended Complaint seeks revocation of Jenny's discharge pursuant to § 727(d)(1) and sale of the Compton Property pursuant to § 363(h). The Trustee's attempts to obtain a stipulation authorizing the filing of the First Amended Complaint were not successful.

Jenny, proceeding in pro se, opposes the filing of the First Amended Complaint on the ground that she has no interest in the Compton Property. In Reply, the Trustee asserts that Jenny's Opposition goes to the merits of the action and is not grounds for denying leave to amend.

II. Findings and Conclusions

On December 13, 2018, the Court issued a Scheduling Order [Doc. No. 3], which provided that the "last day to amend pleadings and/or join parties is 3/14/2019." Scheduling Order at ¶ 1(b).

Civil Rule 15(a)(2) provides that subsequent to the filing of an answer, a complaint may be amended "only with the opposing party's written consent or with the court's leave." The Court is required to "freely give leave when justice so requires." Civil Rule 15(a)(2). Civil Rule 16(b)(4) provides that the deadlines set forth in a Scheduling Order "may be modified only for good cause and with the judge's consent."

Because the Court has entered a Scheduling Order, the Trustee's request for leave to amend is governed by both Civil Rules 15 and 16. As the Ninth Circuit has held, "[o]nce the ... court has filed a pretrial scheduling order pursuant to [Civil Rule] 16 ... that rule's standards [control]" with respect to a request for leave to amend. Johnson v. Mammoth Recreations, Inc., 975 F.2d 604, 607–08 (9th Cir. 1992). Civil Rule 16's "good cause" standard "primarily considers the diligence of the party seeking the amendment. The ... court may modify the pretrial schedule 'if it cannot reasonably be met despite the diligence of the party seeking the extension.” Johnson, 975 F.2d at 609.

If the Trustee can demonstrate “good cause” under Civil Rule 16, the Trustee must then show that amendment is also appropriate under Civil Rule 15. See Johnson, 975 F.2d at 609 (explaining that the “party seeking to amend [the] pleading after [the] date specified in [the] scheduling order must first show ‘good cause’ for amendment under Rule 16(b), then, if ‘good cause’ be shown, the party must demonstrate that amendment was proper under Rule 15”).

The Court finds that the Trustee has shown good cause under Civil Rule 16 to modify the Scheduling Order’s March 14, 2019 deadline to amend the pleadings. The Trustee states that he discovered the existence of the Compton Property on January 17, 2019. On February 25, 2019, the Trustee contacted Jenny’s counsel and attempted to obtain a stipulation authorizing the filing of the First Amended Complaint. After no stipulation was forthcoming, the Trustee filed the Motion seeking leave to amend on March 13, 2019. Because the Trustee promptly sought leave to amend after discovering the Compton Property, the Court finds good cause to modify the Scheduling Order.

The Court finds that leave to amend is justified under Civil Rule 15. Rule 15 requires the Court to “freely give leave when justice so requires.” However, “[l]eave need not be granted where the amendment of the complaint would cause the opposing party undue prejudice, is sought in bad faith, constitutes an exercise in futility, or creates undue delay.” Ascon Properties, Inc. v. Mobil Oil Co., 866 F.2d 1149, 1160 (9th Cir. 1989).

Jenny denies that she is liable for the misconduct alleged in the proposed First Amended Complaint but does not show that she would be prejudiced by the filing of the First Amended Complaint, that the First Amended Complaint would be futile, or that the Trustee’s request for leave to amend was sought in bad faith or would create undue delay. The Court finds that none of the concerns that would support denial of leave to amend apply to this proceeding.

Based upon the foregoing, the Motion is GRANTED in its entirety. The Trustee shall file the proposed First Amended Complaint by no later than April 19, 2019. Once the First Amended Complaint is filed, the Clerk of the Court will issue an updated Scheduling Order setting new litigation deadlines and the date of a continued Status Conference.

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2) to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to repossess or otherwise obtain possession and dispose of its collateral pursuant to applicable law, and to use the proceeds from its disposition to satisfy its claim. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. The Court finds that there is no equity in the subject vehicle and that the vehicle is not necessary for an effective reorganization since this is a chapter 7 case.

This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. All other relief is denied.

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Court finds that there is sufficient evidence to grant relief pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(4). The filing of the petition was part of a scheme to delay, hinder, and defraud creditors, which involved the transfer of all or part ownership of, or other interest in, the Property without the consent of Movant or court approval. Declaration of Vivian Prieto in support of Motion at paragraph 18.

For the same reasons, the Motion is GRANTED pursuant to section 362(d)(1) based on the Court's determination that this is a bad faith filing. The 14-day period specified in Fed.R.Bankr.P. 4001(a)(3) is waived. This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. If recorded in compliance with applicable State laws governing notices of interests or liens in real property, the order shall be binding in any other case under this title purporting to affect such real property filed not later than 2 years after the date of the entry of such order by the Court, except that a debtor in a subsequent case under this title may move for relief from such order based upon changed circumstances or for good cause shown, after Counts: Account Stated; and (5) To Avoid and Recover Fraudulent Transfers [Doc. No. 10] (the "Complaint") against Leon Reihanian ("Leon") and Abraham Reihanian ("Abraham," and together with Leon, the "Defendants"). [Note 1] Leon is Abraham's son.

As against Leon, the Complaint seeks to recover a $158,890 in funds allegedly loaned by the Debtor to Leon. As against Abraham and Leon, the Complaint seeks to avoid and recover the transfer of real property (the "Property") pursuant to §§ 544(b) and 550.

On October 19, 2018, the Clerk of the Court entered Abraham's default. The Trustee now moves for the appointment of a guardian ad litem for Abraham, and states that the Motion is filed in lieu of a Motion for Default Judgment. According to the Trustee, Abraham resides at the South Marin Health and Wellness Center in Greenbrae, California. In support of the Motion, the Trustee submits a statement from Dr. Arnold Knepper, which states that Abraham suffers from "severe dementia" and would be unable to testify or appear in court. Doc. No. 37, Ex. A. The Trustee proposes that co-defendant Leon be appointed to serve as Abraham's guardian ad litem.

Herstel Reihanian opposes the appointment of Leon as Abraham's guardian ad litem. Herstel, who is Abraham's other son, states that he has been caring for Abraham for the past three years. Herstel asserts that he has a better relationship with Abraham than Leon; that he has greater knowledge of Abraham's affairs than Leon; and that as a co-defendant, Leon is conflicted and will act in his own interests rather than adequately defending Abraham's interests.

In Reply to Herstel's Opposition, the Trustee states that he is indifferent as to whether Leon or Herstel is appointed as Abraham's guardian ad litem. However, the Trustee states that Herstel had previously stated that he did not have funds to hire an attorney. The Trustee states that if Herstel is appointed as the guardian ad litem, he would be willing to stipulate to set aside the entry of default.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Civil Rule 17(c) provides in relevant part: "The court must appoint a guardian ad litem—or issue another appropriate order—to protect a minor or incompetent person who is unrepresented in an action."

As the Ninth Circuit has explained in AT&T Mobility, LLC v. Yeager, 143 F. Supp. 3d 1042, 1049–50 (E.D. Cal. 2015):

Based upon the uncontroverted testimony of Dr. Knepper, the Court finds that Abraham is not competent to represent himself in these proceedings. Dr. Knepper states that Abraham suffers from "severe dementia" and is not capable of appearing or testifying in court. The Court finds that appointment of a guardian ad litem is necessary to protect Abraham's interests.

The next issue is whether Leon or Herstel would be better suited to serve as Abraham's guardian ad litem. The Court declines to make any findings regarding whether a conflict of interest prevents Leon from serving as Abraham's guardian. Based on the fact that Herstel is familiar with Abraham's affairs and has visited him every day for the past three years, the Court finds that Herstel is better suited than Leon to serve as Abraham's guardian. However, the Court will not permit Herstel to serve as Abraham's guardian unless Herstel has sufficient resources to retain counsel. A guardian ad litem is "usually a lawyer" and "has full responsibility to assist the court to secure a just, speedy and inexpensive determination of the action." Yeager, 143 F.Supp.3d at 1049-50. Absent the assistance of counsel, Herstel cannot adequately fulfill his obligations as Abraham's guardian. Herstel retained counsel to oppose the appointment of Leon as guardian, but it is not clear whether Herstel has the ability to retain counsel to defend Abraham's interests in this proceeding.

Herstel shall appear to address whether he has the ability to retain counsel to represent Abraham throughout the entirety of this proceeding. If Herstel cannot demonstrate to the Court's satisfaction that he has the ability to retain counsel on Abraham's behalf, the Court is prepared to appoint Leon as Abraham's guardian. Notwithstanding Herstel's knowledge of Abraham's affairs, without the assistance of counsel he would not be able to fulfill his obligations as a guardian ad litem. Leon is presently represented by counsel.

A continued Status Conference shall be held on June 11, 2019, at 10:00 a.m. A Joint Status Report shall be submitted by no later than fourteen days prior to the hearing. The Trustee and Abraham's guardian shall file a stipulation to set aside Abraham's default by no later than April 30, 2019. Abraham shall file an Answer to the Complaint by no later than May 14, 2019. At the June 11, 2019 Status Conference, the Court will set a new trial date and new litigation deadlines.

#2.00 Status Hearing RE: [1] Chapter 7 Involuntary Petition Against a Non-Individual. Reno Logan . (Serrano, Vera) Additional attachment(s) added on 3/21/2019 (Serrano, Vera).

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

4/22/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Involuntary Petition is DISMISSED, and the Petitioning Creditors are enjoined from filing a further involuntary petition against the Alleged Debtor for a period of 180 days.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Involuntary Petition Against a Non-Individual [Doc. No. 1]
- 2) Summons and Notice of Status Conference in an Involuntary Bankruptcy Case [Doc. No. 3]
 - a) Proof of Service [Doc. No. 6]
- 3) Secured Creditor's Status Conference Statement [Doc. No. 7]

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On March 21, 2019 (the "Petition Date"), Avis Copelin and Reno Logan (the "Petitioning Creditors") filed an Involuntary Petition Against a Non-Individual (the "Involuntary Petition"), seeking relief under Chapter 7, against First Option Lending International Inc. (the "Alleged Debtor"). According to the Involuntary Petition, the Alleged Debtor owes Copelin $25,000 on account of a promissory note and owes Logan $12,000 on account of a promissory note.

Secured creditors Alan S. Vertun and Jeffrey Vertun (the "Secured Creditors") request that the Involuntary Petition be dismissed with a 180-day bar against re-filing. Secured Creditors make the following arguments and representations in support of their request for dismissal:

Secured Creditors hold a first deed of trust (the "DOT") against real property located at 12131 McKinley Avenue, Los Angeles, CA 90059 (the "Property"). The DOT secures a loan to the Alleged Debtor and co-borrower Lloyd White in the original principal amount of $215,000.

The Alleged Debtor and White defaulted under the payments due under the Note secured by the DOT. Secured Creditor scheduled a nonjudicial foreclosure sale for March 26, 2019. The Involuntary Petition was filed on March 21, 2019. On the day prior to the nonjudicial foreclosure sale, Petitioning Creditor Avis Copelin notified the foreclosure trustee of the Involuntary Petition.

The Involuntary Petition should be dismissed because it was filed by only two petitioning creditors, not the three petitioning creditors required under § 303(b)(1). Further, the Involuntary Petition was not properly served upon the Alleged Debtor. According to the records of the California Secretary of State, the agent for service of process for the Alleged Debtor is Sorrento Management Group, located at 357 Van Ness Way, Torrance, CA 90501. According to the Proof of Service, the Involuntary Petition was served upon the Alleged Debtor at 4148 Sunswept Drive, Studio City, CA 91604 (the “Sunswept Drive Property”), which is not the proper address for service of process.

The Sunswept Drive Property is the same address used by Petitioning Creditor Avis Copelin for a business known as PMP Realestate Solutions, LLC. Copelin identified herself as the CEO of PMP Realestate Solutions, LLC in two Chapter 11 cases that were filed by that entity, both of which were dismissed.

Based upon the inadequate number of petitioning creditors, the lack of proper service, and the suspicious circumstances regarding the address upon which the Involuntary Petition was served, the Court should dismiss the Involuntary Petition with a 180-day bar against re-filing.

Neither the Petitioning Creditors or the Alleged Debtors have filed any response to the Secured Creditors’ request for dismissal.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Section 303(b) governs the commencement of an involuntary petition, and provides in relevant part:

An involuntary case against a person is commenced by the filing with the bankruptcy court of a petition under chapter 7 or 11 of this title—

- 1) by three or more entities, each of which is either a holder of a claim against such person that is not contingent as to liability or the subject of a bona fide dispute as to liability or amount, or an indenture trustee

- representing such a holder, if such noncontingent, undisputed claims aggregate at least $15,775 more than the value of any lien on property of the debtor securing such claims held by the holders of such claims;
- 2) if there are fewer than 12 such holders, excluding any employee or insider of such person and any transferee of a transfer that is voidable under section 544, 545, 547, 548, 549, or 724(a) of this title, by one or more of such holders that hold in the aggregate at least $15,775 of such claims.

Based upon the declaration of Alan S. Vertun, the Court finds that the Petitioning Creditors did not file the Involuntary Petition in good faith for the purpose of collecting upon obligations owed by the Alleged Debtor. Instead, the Petitioning Creditors and the Alleged Debtor filed the Involuntary Petition collusively, for the purpose of preventing the Secured Creditors from exercising their remedies with respect to the Property. This bad faith collusion is evidenced by the fact that the Involuntary Petition was filed only one week prior to a scheduled non-judicial foreclosure sale and by the fact that Avis Copelin, one of the Petitioning Creditors, faxed the foreclosure trustee notice of the filing on the day prior to the foreclosure sale. It is further evidenced by the fact that the Involuntary Petition was not properly served upon the Alleged Debtor. Finally, the Petitioning Creditors have failed to supply any evidence substantiating the validity of the indebtedness alleged.

Because the Involuntary Petition was filed in bad faith, the Court will enjoin the Petitioning Creditors from filing a further involuntary petition against the Alleged Debtor for a period of 180 days, pursuant to § 105 and its inherent authority. Where a debtor files a petition in bad faith, the Court may impose a bar against re-filing. In re Mitchell, 357 B.R. 142, 156 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2006). A re-filing bar is likewise appropriate where Petitioning Creditors file a petition in bad faith.

The Court will prepare and enter the order dismissing the case.

January 25, 2018, the Court issued orders setting a deadline of January 26, 2018 for the Debtors to file a disclosure statement and plan and March 7, 2018 as the deadline to obtain confirmation and approval of a plan of reorganization [Rideshare Doc. No. 30, Red Booth, Doc. No. 64]. On February 8, 2018, the Court entered orders granting the Debtors' requests to extend the deadlines to file disclosure statements and plans to February 9, 2018 [Rideshare Doc. No. 52, Red Booth Doc. No. 68]. On February 9, 2018, the Debtors filed a joint disclosure statement and joint plan [Rideshare Doc. Nos. 53 & 54, Red Booth Doc. Nos. 69 & 70].

At a hearing on April 5, 2018, the Court denied approval of the adequacy of the Debtors' joint disclosure statement for lack of adequate information and set a new deadline for the Debtors to file an amended joint disclosure statement and plan [Rideshare Doc. No. 76, Red Booth Doc. No. 103]. On May 11, 2018, the Debtors filed their first amended joint disclosure statement and plan [Rideshare Doc. Nos. 94 & 95, Red Booth Doc. Nos. 114 & 115].

In advance of the July 12, 2018 hearing on the adequacy of the first amended joint disclosure statement, the Court issued a tentative ruling indicating its intent to deny approval of the amended disclosure statement with prejudice and issue orders directing the debtors to show cause why their cases should not be dismissed based upon the Court's determination that the first amended joint disclosure statement lacked adequate information and the first amended joint plan was patently unconfirmable [Rideshare Doc. Nos. 114 & 124, Red Booth Doc. No. 132]. However, after hearing oral argument, the Court was persuaded not to deny the adequacy of the first amended joint disclosure statement with prejudice or to issue orders to show cause.

On November 27, 2018, the Court entered orders denying the United States Trustee's motions to dismiss the Debtors' cases and setting a March 19, 2019 deadline for the Debtors to obtain approval of a second amended joint disclosure statements [Rideshare Doc. No. 142, Red Booth Doc. No. 148]. Those orders cautioned the Debtors that the Court would dismiss their cases pursuant to § 1112(b)(4)(A) and (J) without further notice or hearing if they failed to obtain approval of a disclosure statement by the March 19, 2019 deadline. Id.

Most recently the Court approved a stipulation continuing the matter to April 23, 2019, but directed the Debtors to file a brief status report updating the Court on the status of the Parties' negotiations by no later than April 16, 2019 [Rideshare Doc. After the Debtors failed to timely comply with the Orders Continuing Hearing, the Court issued orders directing the Debtors to file status reports by no later than April 18, 2019 at noon or the Court would impose monetary sanctions [Rideshare Doc. No. 174, Red Booth Doc. No. 183] (the "Orders to Comply"). The Debtors did not file status reports until April 18, 2019 at approximately 7:05 p.m. (PST) [Rideshare Doc. No. 175, Red Booth Doc. No. 184] (the "Status Reports"). The Debtors state that they have been waiting for a proposal from the objecting creditors that might resolve their dispute, but that as of the filing of the Status Report, they had no definitive proposal in hand. Id. Counsel's stated excuse for not timely complying with the Court's orders was that he did not "receive the Court's Order compelling [the] report be [sic] filed today until arriving at the office late this afternoon." Id.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

The Court finds that the Debtors' Second Amended Joint Disclosure Statement lacks adequate information. The objecting creditors have raised a number of issues concerning the adequacy of disclosure and the confirmability of the Debtors' Second Amended Joint Plan. Among other disclosure issues, the Court agrees that the proposed treatment of Class 5 creditors is confusing and does not provide adequate information for creditors in that class to make an informed decision about whether to accept or reject the Second Amended Joint Plan.

The Second Amended Joint Disclosure Statement also again fails to include the contemplated "Plan Trust Agreement." In the tentative ruling denying the adequacy of the Debtors' First Amended Joint Disclosure Statement, the Court specifically rejected the Debtors' argument that the Plan Trust Agreement need not be included at this stage. The Court stated:

The Court is not persuaded by the Debtors' argument that the failure to file the Plan Trust Agreement with the Amended Disclosure Statement 'does not impact any disclosure requirements.' Reply at 13. To the contrary, the omission of the Plan Trust Agreement is significant given that the Plan Trust is an important component of the Amended Plan; thus, inclusion of the Plan Trust Agreement is relevant to the decision of those claim holders who are presented with the option of participating in the Plan Trust to cast their vote for or against confirmation of the Amended Plan. Furthermore, the failure to file this document is yet further evidence of the Debtors' lack of diligence in pursuing plan confirmation.

See Rideshare Doc. No. 114, Red Booth Doc. No. 132.

Despite the Court's prior ruling, the Plan Trust Agreement was not included as an exhibit to the Second Amended Joint Disclosure Statement and will not be provided until fourteen days prior to any confirmation hearing – which means creditors will be required to vote on the Amended Joint Plan without ever having reviewed the Plan Trust Agreement. This is not adequate disclosure.

The Court also agrees that the Amended Joint Plan appears to be patently unconfirmable because it contains impermissible third-party releases of liability in violation of § 524(e). See e.g. Resorts Int'l v. Lowenschuss, 67 F.3d 1394, 1501 (9th Cir. 1995) ("This court has repeatedly held, without exception, that § 524(e) precludes bankruptcy courts from discharging the liabilities of non-debtors"). The Debtors have not responded with any argument or authority to persuade this Court that the releases are limited in scope or otherwise excepted from binding Ninth Circuit precedent forbidding Courts from confirming plans with such provisions.

Based on the foregoing, the Second Amended Joint Disclosure Statement is DENIED and these cases are DISMISSED pursuant to § 1112(b)(4)(A) and (J). The Court also finds that "cause" exists to dismiss these cases pursuant to § 1112(b)(4)(E) based upon the Debtors' failure to timely comply with this Court's orders directing them to file status reports.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Summary of Relevant Background Facts [Note 1]

Debtor-in-possession, The Sunshine Group, LLC (the "Debtor"), filed this voluntary chapter 11 case on March 14, 2019 (the "Petition Date"). The Debtor's primary asset is commercial real property with a 28-unit motel located at 34862 Pacific Coast Highway, Capistrano Beach, CA 92624, known as the Capistrano Seaside Inn (the "Property" or "Motel"). The Debtor's schedules value the Property at $3,000,000 [Doc. No. 1, Schedule A]. Despite its current condition, the Property is listed as a historic resource on the City of Dana Point's Historic Resource Inventory and on the California Register of Historic Resources.

In 2016, the City of Dana Point (the "City") red-tagged and closed the Motel based upon its determination that the Motel posed an immediate health and safety risk to the public and issued a notice of violation requiring the Debtor to fix the issues by December 5, 2016. In 2017, after the Debtor failed to address any of the cited issues, the City initiated an action in Orange County Superior Court (the "State Court"), bearing the caption The City of Dana Point v. The Sunshine Group, LLC, et al, Case No. 30-2017-00915900-CU-PT-CJC (the "Nuisance Action"). On April 25, 2017, the State Court granted the City's ex parte application for the appointment of a receiver, appointed California Receivership Group (the "Receiver"), and delegated the Receiver with the task of abating all public nuisance conditions existing at the Property.

In an effort to address the existing health and safety violations, the Receiver requested and was authorized to issue a certificate with a first-priority lien against the Property in the approximate amount of $1,000,000 to fund the initial expenses for the remediation work. The Debtor's managing member, Dr. Ramesh Manchanda, personally funded $998,000 of that amount to avoid encumbering the Property with a third-party lien.

The Receiver then developed a comprehensive remediation plan that would preserve the historical character of the Property, maintain the low-cost affordable accommodation status, and allow for competitive bidding on the ultimate remediation (the "Receiver's Plan"). The Receiver estimated that the total cost would be approximately $5,000,000. The Debtor opposed the Receiver's Plan and argued that the project would be financially infeasible because the income from a restored 1940's style affordable motel could not service the approximately $6,000,000 in debt required for the renovation. The Debtor instead argued that it should be permitted to demolish the Motel and use the adjacent parcels of land, owned by Dr. Manchada and one of Debtor's other members, to build a new luxury hotel (the "Debtor's Plan"). The Debtor also requested that the State Court terminate the receivership. After extensive briefing, the State Court overruled the Debtor's opposition, denied its request to terminate the receivership, and approved the Receiver's Plan by an order entered October 26, 2018 (the "October 26, 2018 Order").

The Debtor appealed the October 26, 2018 Order and petitioned the Third Division of the Fourth Appellate District for the California Court of Appeal (the "Court of Appeal") for a writ of supersedeas and immediate stay of the effectiveness of the order. The City and Receiver opposed the motion. The Court of Appeal granted a temporary stay of all activity other than work needed to be performed to stabilize the hillside adjacent to the Property to prevent public safety concerns posed by a possible landslide. After considering initial briefing, on December 24, 2018, the Court of Appeal dissolved the temporary stay.

In connection with the Receiver's efforts to address the dangers posed by the hillside, the Receiver sought and obtained junior loans secured by receiver certificates against the property from Glan Investment, LLC ("Glan") and Miken Construction ("Miken") somewhere in the approximate range of $796,000 to $1,000,000 and completed the necessary work to build a retaining wall. The Receiver has also removed debris and chemicals, stripped the Motel of all furniture and fixtures, and removed the electrical system. Accordingly, the Motel is currently a shelled-out structure.

Due to a lack of funding, on February 4, 2019, the Receiver filed an ex parte application for an order subordinating Mr. Manchanda's $1,000,000 receiver's certificate lien so that the Receiver could obtain the necessary $4,000,000 in funding from third-party lenders to complete the Receiver's Plan. At the ex parte hearing, the parties negotiated a temporary resolution wherein Debtor purportedly agreed to advance a portion of the costs incurred to build the retaining wall, which prompted the State Court to continue the hearing to March 15, 2019. However, the Receiver asserts that shortly after the hearing the Debtor reneged on its agreement which forced it to scramble to ensure that contractors did not walk off the job and to file supplemental briefing in support of its subordination request. Before the State Court could re-hear the matter, the Debtor filed this bankruptcy case.

On March 29, 2019, the Receiver filed a request for its Dismissal Motion to be heard on shortened notice [Doc. No. 14]. On April 1, 2019, this Court issued an order denying that request and setting the matter for hearing on April 23, 2019, to be heard concurrently with the City's Dismissal Motion [Doc. No. 20]. The Court also excused the Receiver from any obligations to turn over the Property prior to the hearing. Id.

Summary of the City and Receiver's Dismissal Motions

The City seeks an order dismissing this case with a 180-day refile bar pursuant to §§ 105, 349(a), and 1112(b). The City argues that the Debtor filed this case in bad faith to interfere with the Nuisance Action and to thwart the City and Receiver's remediation efforts because it did not like the rulings of the State Court and Court of Appeal.

The City asserts that several indicia of a bad faith filing are present: (i) the Debtor's primary asset consists of the Property and the Debtor does not have any ongoing business it can reorganize; (ii) the Debtor does not have sufficient cash flow to fund a plan of reorganization or to make adequate payments to the Receiver; (iii) the longer the remediation is delayed, the greater likelihood of a substantial and continuing loss of value to the estate and the Debtor has thus far been responsible for the mismanagement of the Property and delays in remediating the Property; (iv) this is essentially a two-party dispute that can be easily resolved in the Nuisance Action; (v) the debtor does not have any "real creditors" other than the City and insiders and its own professionals – all of which arise out of the Nuisance Action.

The City submits that dismissal, rather than conversion, is in the best interest of the estate because the Debtor has completely abdicated its responsibility to properly maintain the safety and integrity of its only asset. The City also contends that dismissal will enable the Nuisance Action to proceed without interference and enable the Receiver to continue remediating the Property to protect the public's health and safety. The City asserts that conversion to a chapter 7 would be of no benefit to any party because a trustee would have to undertake the tasks that the Receiver is currently performing.

In the alternative, the City argues that the Court should abstain from exercising its jurisdiction over this case and dismiss it pursuant to § 305(a)(1). The City argues that, based upon the totality of circumstances, dismissal is in the best interests of the Debtor and its creditors. The City also argues that the Nuisance Action is exempt from the automatic stay pursuant to § 362(b)(4) because it is an action brought to enforce the City's police or regulatory powers.

The Receiver seeks dismissal on similar bad faith grounds. [Note 2] The Receiver argues that there is no legitimate reason for the parties to be before this Court and it is clear that the Debtor filed this case in an attempt to forum shop. In addition to the arguments advanced by the City, the Receiver highlights that the Debtor's Plan is impossible because the Debtor fails to address the historical character of the Property and the regulations imposed by the California Coastal Act. The Receiver highlights that on at least three occasions the State Court has denied the Debtor's request to terminate the receivership so that it can proceed with demolishing the Property. The Receiver also contends that the automatic stay does not apply pursuant to § 362(b)(4).

In the alternative, the Receiver argues that if the Court is not inclined to dismiss this case, the Court should issue an order excusing it from turning over the Property pursuant to § 543. The Receiver contends that the interests of creditors would be better served by permitting it to stay in control to complete the State Court approved remediation.

Summary of the Debtor's Omnibus Opposition

Chapter 11

The Debtor filed a timely omnibus opposition arguing that the Dismissal Motions should be denied because the Debtor filed this case in good faith in an effort to preserve assets of the estate and to pay its creditors in full. The Debtor argues that the City and Receiver (together, the "Moving Parties") attempt to mislead this Court into believing that the Property presents a current threat to health and safety when, in fact, those hazards have been abated. The Debtor further argues that the remaining issues center on the parties' disagreement over the future redevelopment of the Property and that under the Receiver's Plan, the Receiver will incur an unsustainable amount of secured debt against the Property that will ultimately lead to foreclosure. The Debtor also argues that the Receiver's inability to obtain normal funding demonstrates that the Receiver's Plan is not feasible. Therefore, the Debtor argues that the only party that will benefit if the redevelopment proceeds is the City because it will have the motel that it wants, and the Debtor and creditors will pay the price.

The Debtor instead asks this Court to grant its concurrently-filed motion to sell the Property under § 363, which will enable the Debtor to pay the Receiver in full and pave the way for a substantial hotel development project. The Debtor states that such a construction was in the planning stages when the City filed the Nuisance Action. The Debtor submits that its proposed sale is in the best interest of creditors because they will be paid in full and that the new development will be out of the Debtor's control and managed by experienced developers to ensure that the project is a success and does not present any future health and safety concerns.

The Debtor responds to the Moving Parties' contentions regarding the existence of indicia of bad faith as follows: (i) if approved, the Debtor's pending sale motion will permit the Debtor to reorganize by paying all claims in full; (ii) the Court should not consider whether the Debtor has the ability to make adequate payments to the Receiver because the Debtor should not be forced to fund an infeasible project that will likely result in foreclosure; (iii) this is not a typical two-party dispute, the Debtor sought bankruptcy protection in good faith to avoid continuing down a path towards a potential foreclosure and because the Receiver has accomplished its mandate to remediate existing health and safety risks; (iv) there will not be a substantial and continuing loss to the value of the estate without reasonable likelihood of rehabilitation because the Property has been remediated and no existing health and safety risks remain; (v) the Debtor does not have the precise amounts of debt owing to its creditors, but it does have creditors as a result of the Receivership's appointment and will be able to repay those debts in full through a sale of the Property.

The Debtor also disputes the Moving Parties' contention that it filed this case in an attempt to forum shop. Instead, the Debtor argues that it filed bankruptcy to protect assets of the estate from being burdened with $6,000,000 in debt to the detriment of creditors because the Receiver's redevelopment plans are infeasible. The Debtor does not intend to relitigate the money already spent on abatement work and to secure the hillside and proposes to pay those costs in full through this case.

Similarly, the Debtor contends that the totality of the circumstances weighs against the Court abstaining pursuant to § 305(a). The Debtor also argues that the Nuisance Action is not excepted from the automatic stay under § 362(d)(4) because the Receiver's actions have gone beyond the auspices of health and safety and that the Receiver should be ordered to turn over the Property pursuant to § 543.

Summary of the City and Receiver's Replies

The City filed a timely reply arguing that the Debtor's unsupported claims that the nuisance conditions have been remedied are simply false and misleading. The City asserts that it is up to the State Court, not the Debtor, to determine when such conditions have been remedied and the State Court has not yet come to that conclusion. The City contends that under the applicable Dana Point Municipal Code § 6.14.002 the public nuisance has not been abated because the Motel is nothing more than a shelled-out structure that must be renovated. The City also reiterates that the State Court has considered and rejected the Debtor's proposal to demolish the Property and concluded that demolition would not further the goals of abating the substandard conditions, maintaining the property's historical character, and remaining in compliance with the Coastal Act requirements. The City argues that the Debtor should not be allowed to use this case to circumvent the State Court's rulings.

The City also highlights that the Debtor devotes significant attention to trying to convince this Court that the Receiver is incurring too many costs to remediate the Property but notes that the Receiver is acting under the express authority of the State Court. The City also argues that allowing this case to continue will further stall remediation efforts and permit the Property to fall into greater disrepair. The City also restates its position that dismissal is in the best interest of the estate and argues that the Debtor has waived its right to challenge this argument by failing to address it in its opposition. Furthermore, the City restates its belief that the dismissal is warranted under § 305(a).

The Receiver also filed a timely reply with similar arguments as those advanced by the City. The Receiver asserts that the Debtor has mischaracterized the existing nuisance issues and its accusations that the Receiver has exceeded his authority are without merit. The Receiver argues that the Debtor's behavior underscores why the Receiver was appointed in the first place and demonstrates that this petition was filing in a bad faith attempt to circumvent the State Court's orders. The Receiver also argues that the history of the Debtor's conduct makes clear that the Debtor has never fully appreciated the dangerous conditions it created and has allowed to continue. The Receiver states that the Property remains a nuisance and the structural deficiencies affecting the Property persist. Accordingly, the Receiver reiterates its request that the Court dismiss this case or, if it is not inclined to do so, excuse the Receiver from any turnover obligations and confirm that the Receivership is exempt from the stay so that the Receiver can complete his duties.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

A. Evidentiary Rulings

The City submits evidentiary objections to the declaration of Dr. Ramesh Manchanda on multiple grounds including, among others, that the testimony lacks foundation and contains legal argument and legal conclusions. For example, Dr. Manchanda testifies that: the Debtor filed the bankruptcy proceeding in good faith (¶ 1); the Receiver's actions have gone far beyond abatement to such an extreme that the Receiver is actively interfering with property of the bankruptcy estate (¶ 1), the Receiver is attempting to completely redevelop the Property by incurring an unsustainable amount of debt that will likely lead to foreclosure (¶ 1); the Receiver has already abated the health and safety concerns for which he was appointed (¶ 2); the Receiver is unable to obtain normal financing for the renovation (¶ 6), as the health and safety issues have been resolved, any further actions by the City and Receiver are not to protect health and safety of the public, but for the City's own benefit (¶ 11).

Chapter 11

The Court agrees that much of Dr. Manchanda's declaration contains legal conclusions and argument, not evidence. The Court also finds that Dr. Manchanda has not established his personal knowledge of the matters set forth in his declaration. Accordingly, the Court declines to strike these paragraphs, but construes them only as legal argument, not evidence.

The City also submits evidentiary objections to the declaration of attorney Deborah M. Rosenthal on multiple grounds including, among others, that Ms. Rosenthal is acting as an improper expert witness pursuant to California Rules of Professional Conduct Rule 3.7 ("Rule 3.7"), because she represents the Debtor in the Nuisance Action. Rule 3.7 provides that a "lawyer shall not act as an advocate in a trial in which the lawyer is likely to be a witness" unless certain exceptions exist. However, the official comments state that the "rule applies to a trial before a jury, judge, administrative law judge or arbitrator" and "does not apply to other adversarial proceedings." The City does not cite any authority for this Court to conclude that Rule 3.7 is applicable in this bankruptcy proceeding.

Accordingly, the City's objections to the admissibility of Ms. Rosenthal's testimony are overruled (with one exception discussed below), and the Court will treat Ms. Rosenthal as an expert witness under FRE 702. In her declaration, Ms. Rosenthal states that she has been member of the College of Fellows of the American Institute of Certified Planners (AICP) since 1992 and that admission requires an average of 14-18 years of extensive experience in planning. Rosenthal Decl. at ¶ 2. Ms. Rosenthal has worked extensively with the State Historic Building Code and has represented clients before the California Coastal Commission since 1988. Id. at ¶¶ 3-4. Mr. Rosenthal also testifies that she visited the Property on several occasions and has reviewed the relevant pleadings, notices and reports upon which her testimony relies. Id. at ¶¶ 5, 11, 12-15, 18, 26-28.

Federal Rule of Evidence ("FRE") 702 provides:

- A witness who is qualified as an expert by knowledge, skill, experience, training, or education may testify in the form of an opinion or otherwise if:
- a) the expert's scientific, technical, or other specialized knowledge will help the trier of fact to understand the evidence or to determine a fact in issue;

- b) the testimony is based on sufficient facts or data;
- c) the testimony is the product of reliable principles and methods; and
- d) the expert has reliably applied the principles and methods to the facts of the case.

Under FRE 702, an expert may be qualified by "experience" or "training." Here, Ms. Rosenthal's declaration sufficiently establishes her qualifications to testify as an expert in the areas of commercial planning and development. Notwithstanding this finding, the Court notes that Ms. Rosenthal is the Debtor's proposed special litigation counsel in this bankruptcy proceeding. Rosenthal Decl. at ¶ 1. As such, Ms. Rosenthal has an incentive to provide testimony that will materially advance the Debtor's interests and defeat dismissal of this case. Therefore, the Court does not attribute significant weight to Ms. Rosenthal's testimony.

The City's objection to paragraph 7 of the Rosenthal Declaration is sustained. Ms. Rosenthal's testimony does not lay a proper foundation to establish that she has the requisite knowledge to testify as to the condition of the Property prior to the Receiver's appointment.

Chapter 11

WLB-RSK Venture, 296 B.R. 509, 514 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2003).

The Ninth Circuit Bankruptcy Appellate Panel has expanded on this concept as follows:

To determine whether a debtor has filed a petition in good faith, courts weigh a variety of circumstantial factors such as whether: (1) the debtor has only one asset; (2) the debtor has an ongoing business to reorganize; (3) there are any unsecured creditors; (4) the debtor has any cash flow or sources of income to sustain a plan of reorganization or make adequate protection payments; and (5) the case is essentially a two-party dispute capable of prompt adjudication in state court.

In re WLB-RSK, 296 B.R. at 514 (quoting In re St. Paul Self Storage Ltd. P'Ships, 185 B.R. 580, 582-83 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1995)).

Additionally, courts have found bad faith to exist where the debtor has filed bankruptcy as a litigation tactic, e.g., to forum shop. In re WLB-RSK, 296 B.R. at 515 (citing In re St. Paul Self Storage Ltd. P'Ships, 185 B.R. at 583 ("[t]he timing of the petition and the unsuccessful progress in the Minnesota litigation strongly suggests Debtor's intent to use the bankruptcy code as a means to escape to a forum which it perceived to be more friendly"); In re Siberkraus, 253 B.R. 890, 902-03 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2000)). And while bankruptcy filings arising out of a two-party dispute are not per se bad faith, "[c]ourts that find bad faith based on two-party disputes do so where 'it is an apparent two-party dispute that can be resolved outside of the Bankruptcy Court's jurisdiction.'" Sullivan v. Harnisch (In re Sullivan), 522 B.R. 604, 616 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2014) (internal citations and emphasis omitted).

The Court finds that "cause" exists within the meaning of § 1112(b) based upon the Debtor's bad faith filing. First, the Debtor concedes that it filed this case as a litigation tactic to avoid implementation of the Receiver's Plan. See Debtor's Omnibus Opposition, p. 15, lines 7-9 ("[t]he bottom line is the bankruptcy was filed to protect Debtor's assets from an additional $4 million in encumbrances for a redevelopment project that has nothing to do with remediating health and safety issues or a public nuisance").

Second, the Court finds that this case is essentially a two-party dispute over the future development of the Property and that competing plans have already been the subject of significant argument and briefing before the State Court. The Debtor offers no legitimate reason for why this dispute cannot and should not be resolved by the State Court. Instead, the Debtor repeats arguments made to the State Court that the purpose of the Nuisance Action has been achieved – i.e. the Receiver has remediated all health and safety issues – and the Receiver should not be permitted to over-encumber the Property to the detriment of the Debtor and its alleged creditors. See Debtor’s Omnibus Opposition, p. 13, lines 27-28 & p. 14, lines 1-9. The City and Receiver appear to acknowledge that the immediate threats to public safety have been remediated but highlight that the Property remains a public nuisance under applicable Dana Point Municipal Code section 6.14.002.

While it is unclear whether the State Court has recently been asked to make a determination regarding the existence of nuisance conditions, the record demonstrates that the State Court has considered and rejected the Debtor’s arguments regarding the infeasibility of the Receiver’s Plan and the feasibility of its own development plans. In denying the Debtor’s request to terminate the receivership and approving the Receiver’s request for an increased certificate to fund the Receiver’s Plan, the State Court implicitly found that nuisance conditions would exist until the Receiver’s proposed rehabilitation of the Property was complete. The Debtor offers no persuasive argument for why this Court should step in to resolve this two-party dispute or substitute its judgment in place of the State Court’s.

Additionally, the Court finds that all of the factors enumerated by the Bankruptcy Appellate Panel in In re St. Paul Self Storage Ltd. P’Ships are present. The Debtor’s Schedules and March Monthly Operating Report confirm that the Debtor is not operating, and the Property is the only valuable asset of the estate [Doc. Nos. 1 & 43]. To the extent the Debtor has general unsecured creditors, such claims appear to have arisen solely out of the Nuisance Action and it is undisputed that this is a two-party dispute. The Court notes that the Debtor concurrently-filed a motion to approve a sale of the Property pursuant to §§ 363(b) and (f), which the Debtor argues will provide a legitimate source of funding for it to reorganize and pay all claims in full. However, the Court finds that, like the filing of this petition, the proposed sale is brought in bad faith in furtherance of the Debtor’s objective of divesting control from the Receiver and regaining control of the Property.

All of the foregoing findings lead this Court to conclude that the Debtor filed this case in an attempt to forum shop its way into a potentially friendlier venue. The Court finds this to be an abuse of the judicial process and inconsistent with the spirit of the Bankruptcy Code. Therefore, the Court finds that the City and Receiver have established that "cause" exists within the meaning of § 1112(b) based upon the Debtor's lack of good faith in filing this case.

Having determined that cause exists, the Court must next determine whether conversion, dismissal or appointment of a chapter 11 trustee serves the best interests of creditors or the estate. In re Products Int'l Co., 395 B.R. 101, 107 (Bankr. D. Ariz. 2008) (citing In re Nelson, 343 B.R. 671 (9th Cir. 2006)). "[W]hen deciding between dismissal and conversion under 11 U.S.C. § 1112(b), the court must consider the interests of all of the creditors." Shulkin Hutton, Inc. v. Treiger (In re Owens), 552 F.3d 958, 961 (9th Cir. 2009) (emphasis in original) (quoting Rollex Corp. v. Associated Materials, Inc. (In re Superior Siding & Window, Inc.), 14 F.3d 240, 243 (4th Cir. 1994)).

In view of the pending Nuisance Action and ongoing receivership, the Court finds that dismissal is in the best interest of creditors because appointment of a bankruptcy trustee will only serve to increase costs and delay remediation efforts. Next, because this Court has determined that the Debtor filed this case in bad faith to interfere with the Nuisance Action, the Court finds cause exists to dismiss this case with a 180-day refiling bar pursuant to § 349(a). Absent such a bar, the Court is not convinced that the Debtor will not immediately re-filing a second bankruptcy petition.

Finally, because the Court finds that cause exists to dismiss this case, the Court need not determine the merits of the parties' arguments with respect to §§ 305, 362, and 543.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the Dismissal Motions are GRANTED and this case is dismissed with a 180-day refiling bar.

The Court will prepare the order.

Note 1: Except where noted, these facts appear to be undisputed.

Note 2: The Receiver states that it seeks dismissal pursuant to § 1307, but since this is a chapter 11 proceeding, that section is inapplicable. The Court presumes that such a request was made in error due to the Receiver's unfamiliarity with bankruptcy law and notes that after the filing of its motion, the Receiver retained bankruptcy counsel to assist it in this case. Therefore, the Court will consider the Receiver's arguments in favor of dismissal within the context of the City's request for relief under § 1112(b). The Receiver also raises a number of other arguments in favor of dismissal. However, because the Court finds that dismissal is appropriate under § 1112(b), the Court need not determine whether the Receiver's other arguments have merit.

("VHS") and certain of its subsidiaries (collectively, the "Debtors") filed voluntary petitions for relief under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. On August 31, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the Debtors' motion for joint administration of the Debtors' Chapter 11 cases. Doc. No. 17.

Individual Debtors are parties to multiple real-property, non-residential leases necessary for the operation of the Debtors' business, including office and operational space (the "Leases"). On February 19, 2019, the Court extended the Debtors' deadline to assume or reject these unexpired leases (such deadline, the "Assumption/Rejection Deadline") by 90 days, to and including March 29, 2019. Doc. No. 1579. Debtors now request that the Assumption/Rejection Deadline be extended an additional 90 days, to and including June 27, 2019. Debtors intend to obtain the consent of the lessors pursuant to § 365(d)(4)(B)(ii)'s requirement that subsequent extensions of the Assumption/Rejection Deadline be granted "only upon prior written consent of the lessor in each instance." However, Debtors request that the failure of the lessors to oppose the Motion be deemed "consent" for purposes of § 365(d)(4)(B)(ii), given the number of leases at issue.

The Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors has no objection to the Motion.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Section 365(d)(4) provides:

- (A) Subject to subparagraph (B), an unexpired lease of nonresidential real property under which the debtor is the lessee shall be deemed rejected, and the trustee shall immediately surrender that nonresidential real property to the lessor, if the trustee does not assume or reject the unexpired lease by the earlier of—
- (i) the date that is 120 days after the date of the order for relief; or
 - (ii) the date of the entry of an order confirming a plan.
- (B)
- (i) The court may extend the period determined under subparagraph (A), prior to the expiration of the 120-day period, for 90 days on the motion of the trustee or lessor for cause.
 - (ii) If the court grants an extension under clause (i), the court may grant a subsequent extension only upon prior written consent of the lessor in each instance.

A. Notice of the Motion was Not Sufficient

As set forth in the Notice of Executory Contracts and Unexpired Leases Designated by Strategic Global Management, Inc. for Assumption and Assignment [Doc. No. 2131] (the "Assumption Notice"), the Debtors intend to assume and assign unexpired leases with the following lessors (collectively, the "Lessors"):

- 1) St. Francis Lynwood Medical Plaza, LLC;
- 2) Sunshine Capital Group;
- 3) Nantworks, LLC;
- 4) Bakersfield Land & Cattle Company, LLC;
- 5) Roman Catholic Archbishop of San Francisco;
- 6) Hopevale Properties LP; and
- 7) Huffburt Property LLC.

According to the Declaration of Service by Kurtzman Carson Consultants, LLC Regarding Docket Numbers 1941, 1942, 1950, 1955, 1956, 1958, 1959 and 1960 [Doc. No. 2005], with the exception of Nantworks, LLC, the Lessors were NOT provided notice of the Motion. [Note 1]

This is the Debtors' second request for an extension of the Assumption/Rejection Deadline. Pursuant to § 365(d)(4)(B)(ii), the requested extension may be granted "only upon prior written consent of the lessor in each instance." The lack of notice to the Lessors is of particular concern given the Debtors' request that the Lessors' failure to oppose the Motion be deemed to constitute consent for purposes of § 365(d)(4)(B)(ii).

The fact that the Debtors remain current on rental payments owed to the Lessors does not obviate the notice issue. It is possible that the rent under some of the leases may be at below-market rates. If that is the case, the Lessors could be prejudiced by the relief requested in the Motion. [Note 2]

2019, provided that no Lessors object after having received proper notice of the Motion. The Court will deem a Lessor's non-opposition to constitute "consent" for purposes of § 365(d)(4)(B)(ii). Absent extension of the deadline, the Debtors will lack the ability to assume and assign any of the leases at issue to Strategic Global Management ("SGM"). This would require SGM to renegotiate the leases, making it more difficult for SGM to consummate the sale that was recently approved by the Court.

By no later than April 24, 2019, the Debtors shall serve upon the Lessors notice that unless a Lessor objects, the Court intends to extend the Assumption/Rejection Deadline to June 27, 2019. [Note 3] The notice shall be accompanied by copies of the Motion and this tentative ruling. The deadline for the Lessors to object shall be May 8, 2019. In the event that no objection is filed, the Debtors shall submit a declaration so attesting, accompanied by a proposed order granting the Motion. In the event that an objection is filed, the Court will determine whether a further hearing is required, and will notify the parties accordingly.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Jessica Vogel or Daniel Koontz at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. Note 1

There may be other Lessors not listed in the Assumption Notice affected by the relief requested.

Note 2

There is nothing in the record suggesting that the leases are below-market, and the Court makes no findings on this issue. But the possibility that the Lessors could be prejudiced by the relief sought makes proper notice critical.

All Lessors affected by the relief requested must be provided notice, including Lessors (if any) not listed in the Assumption Notice.

RE: [18] Motion for Default Judgment (MacLeod, James)

fr: 2-6-19

Docket 18

 VACATED  REASON: DISMISSED 3-20-19

Tentative Ruling:

2/05/2019

The Complaint's allegations do not support entry of default judgment against the Plaintiff. Motion DENIED. By separate order, the Court will require the Plaintiff to show cause why this action should not be dismissed, for failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Plaintiff's Motion for Default Judgment Under LBR 7055-1 [Doc. No. 18] (the "Motion for Default Judgment")
 - a) Complaint to Determine Dischargeability of Debt [Doc. No. 1] (the "Complaint")
- 2) No opposition to Motion is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Lendmark Financial Services, LLC (the "Plaintiff") commenced this dischargeability action against Eva Luz Diaz (the "Defendant") on October 1, 2018. The Complaint alleges that Defendant induced Plaintiff to extend credit by false pretenses and false representations—specifically, mis-stating her income on a loan application and using her mother's social security number on the loan application, rather than her own. The Complaint seeks a judgment that indebtedness in the amount of $4,165.13, plus costs of $350.00 and reasonable attorneys' fees, is non-dischargeable pursuant to § 523(a)(2)(A).

On November 28, 2018, the Clerk of the Court entered Defendant's default. Defendant personally appeared at a Status Conference conducted on January 15, 2019, but has not responded to the Complaint or the Motion for Default Judgment.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Once default has been entered, the well-pleaded factual allegations of the complaint are taken as true. Cripps v. Life Ins. Co. of North America, 980 F.2d 1261, 1267 (9th Cir. 1992). However, the Court may enter default judgment only if the Complaint sets forth allegations showing that Plaintiff is entitled to the relief requested. As set forth below, the Complaint fails to state a claim upon which relief can be granted. Upon its own motion, the Court will require Plaintiff to appear and show cause why the Complaint should not be dismissed, pursuant to Civil Rule 12(b)(6), for failure to state a claim.

Section 523(a)(2)(A) provides: "A discharge under section 727 ... of this title does not discharge an individual debtor from any debt for money, property, services, or an extension, renewal, or refinancing of credit, to the extent obtained by false pretenses, a false representation, or actual fraud, other than a statement respecting the debtor's or an insider's financial condition" (emphasis added). To except from discharge indebtedness obtained by a false statement respecting a debtor's financial condition, creditors must satisfy the stricter criteria of §523(a)(2)(B). Section 523(a)(2)(B) excepts from discharge indebtedness obtained through use of a statement in writing:

- 1) that is materially false;
- 2) respecting the debtor's or an insider's financial condition;
- 3) on which the creditor to whom the debtor is liable for such money, property, services, or credit reasonably relied; and
- 4) that the debtor caused to be made or published with intent to deceive....

§ 523(a)(2)(B).

The Supreme Court has explained the structure of §523(a)(2) as follows:

The text of § 523(a)(2) plainly heightens the bar to discharge when the fraud at issue was effectuated via a "statement respecting the debtor's financial condition." The heightened requirements, moreover, are not a shield for dishonest debtors. Rather, they reflect Congress' effort to balance the potential misuse of such statements by both debtors and creditors. As the Court has explained previously:

“The House Report on the [Bankruptcy Reform Act of 1978] suggests that Congress wanted to moderate the burden on individuals who submitted false financial statements, not because lies about financial condition are less blameworthy than others, but because the relative equities might be affected by practices of consumer finance companies, which sometimes have encouraged such falsity by their borrowers for the very purpose of insulating their own claims from discharge.” Field v. Mans, 516 U.S. 59, 76–77, 116 S.Ct. 437, 133 L.Ed.2d 351 (1995).

Specifically, as detailed in Field, the House Report noted that consumer finance companies frequently collected information from loan applicants in ways designed to permit the companies to later use those statements as the basis for an exception to discharge. Commonly, a loan officer would instruct a loan applicant “ ‘to list only a few or only the most important of his debts’ ” on a form with too little space to supply a complete list of debts, even though the phrase, “ ‘I have no other debts,’ ” would be printed at the bottom of the form or the applicant would be “ ‘instructed to write the phrase in his own handwriting.’ ” Id., at 77, n. 13, 116 S.Ct. 437. If the debtor later filed for bankruptcy, the creditor would contend that the debtor had made misrepresentations in his loan application and the creditor would threaten litigation over excepting the debt from discharge. That threat was “often enough to induce the debtor to settle for a reduced sum,” even where the merits of the nondischargeability claim were weak. H.R. Rep. No. 95–595, p. 131 (1977).

The Supreme Court has held that “a statement is ‘respecting’ a debtor’s financial condition if it has a direct relation to or impact on the debtor’s overall financial status.” Lamar, 138 S.Ct. at 1761. Such statements can include statements pertaining to a single asset, because a “single asset has a direct relation to and impact on aggregate financial condition, so a statement about a single asset bears on a debtor’s overall financial condition and can help indicate whether a debtor is solvent or insolvent, able to repay a given debt or not.” Id.

The Complaint alleges that Defendant fraudulently induced Plaintiff to extend credit by mis-stating her income on an Application for Credit (the “Credit Application”). According to the Complaint, Defendant’s representations were misleading because Defendant did not disclose “that her income fluctuated a great deal with her employer.” Complaint at ¶6.

With respect to Defendant’s alleged false representations regarding her income, the Complaint fails to state a claim upon which relief can be granted. The Complaint is brought under § 523(a)(2)(A), not under § 523(a)(2)(B). The Complaint’s allegations regarding false written representations should have been pleaded under § 523(a)(2)(B), not § 523(a)(2)(A). A statement regarding Defendant’s income clearly qualifies as a "statement regarding the debtor’s financial condition..."

Even if the Complaint had been properly brought under § 523(a)(2)(B), it would still fail to state a claim upon which relief could be granted. "To survive a motion to dismiss, a complaint must contain sufficient factual matter, accepted as true, to ‘state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face.’ A claim has facial plausibility when the plaintiff pleads factual content that allows the court to draw the reasonable inference that the defendant is liable for the misconduct alleged." Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678 (2009) (internal citations omitted). To state a plausible claim for relief, a complaint must satisfy two working principles:

First, the tenet that a court must accept as true all of the allegations contained in a complaint is inapplicable to legal conclusions. Threadbare recitations of the elements of a cause of action, supported by mere conclusory statements, do not suffice.... Second, only a complaint that states a plausible claim for relief survives a motion to dismiss. Determining whether a complaint states a plausible claim for relief will ... be a context-specific task that requires the reviewing court to draw on its judicial experience and common sense. But where the well-pleaded facts do not permit the court to infer more than the mere possibility of misconduct, the complaint has alleged—but it has not "show[n]"—"that the pleader is entitled to relief."

Id. (citing Civil Rule 8(a)(2)).

Although the pleading standard Civil Rule 8 announces “does not require ‘detailed factual allegations,’ ... it demands more than an unadorned, the-defendant-unlawfully-harmed-me accusation.... A pleading that offers ‘labels and conclusions’ or a ‘formulaic recitation of the elements of a cause of action will not do.’ Nor does a complaint suffice if it tenders ‘naked assertion[s]’ devoid of ‘further factual enhancement.’” Id. (citing Bell Atlantic Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 555 (2007)).

Even if it had asserted a claim under § 523(a)(2)(B), the facts alleged are not sufficient to state a plausible claim for relief. To obtain relief under § 523(a)(2)(B), a creditor must allege facts showing that it "reasonably relied" upon false representations made by the debtor. Here, the Complaint alleges that Plaintiff was misled by Defendant's alleged failure to disclose large fluctuations in her monthly income. Yet the Credit Application that Plaintiff provided Defendant contains very limited space for supplying information regarding monthly income. Plaintiff's contention that it reasonably relied upon Defendant's representations regarding monthly income is severely undercut where the paperwork created by Plaintiff did not provide an opportunity for Defendant to report income fluctuations. In addition, Plaintiff does not allege any specific facts showing that its reliance upon Defendant's representations regarding her income was reasonable. For example, Plaintiff does not allege that it conducted any investigation into the stability of Defendant's income.

Section 523(a)(2)(B) was enacted to address precisely this sort of conduct by creditors. The Credit Application contains only enough space for the Defendant to list monthly gross and net income. It does not contain any space for Defendant to indicate monthly income fluctuations, or require Defendant to express monthly income in terms of a range. The Credit Application appears to have been designed to facilitate the dischargeability complaints such as that filed here.

The Complaint further alleges that Defendant supplied a false social security number. Within the context of the Credit Application, the Court finds that statements regarding a social security number qualify as a statement respecting the debtor's financial condition. The reason is that lenders require applicants for credit to supply a social security number because such information allows lenders to investigate the applicant's credit history.

The allegations regarding the false social security number likewise fail to state a claim, because the Complaint does not allege facts sufficient for the Court to find that it was plausible that Plaintiff relied upon the social security number in extending credit. First, the Complaint alleges that Plaintiff extended credit to retire previous indebtedness. The most plausible inference from the Complaint's allegations is that the Plaintiff already had some familiarity with Defendant, and extended credit on this basis, rather than on the basis of the social security number. The Complaint contains no allegations supporting an inference that Plaintiff did rely upon the social security number in extending credit. For example, the Complaint does not allege that Plaintiff ran a credit check using the social security number. A blanket, threadbare statement that Plaintiff relied upon the social security number in extending credit is not sufficient to state a claim. Plaintiff must allege specific facts rendering such an allegation plausible.

Finally, Plaintiff alleges that it extended credit based upon Defendant's representation that she intended to repay the loan. Although not entirely clear from the Complaint, this allegation is apparently based upon the Promissory Note's standard "promise to pay" language. This allegation fails to state a claim for relief under § 523(a)(2)(A). To prevail on a § 523(a)(2)(A) claim on the grounds of false pretenses or false representations, a creditor must prove that:

- (1) the debtor made the representations;
- (2) that at the time he knew they were false;
- (3) that he made them with the intention and purpose of deceiving the creditor;
- (4) that the creditor relied on such representations; and
- (5) that the creditor sustained the alleged loss and damage as the proximate result of the misrepresentations having been made.

Ghomeshi v. Sabban (In re Sabban), 600 F.3d 1219, 1222 (9th Cir. 2010).

If the standard "promise to pay" language in Promissory Notes were construed as false representation sufficient to render indebtedness non-dischargeable, creditors would be able to insulate all consumer debt from discharge, rendering § 523(a)(2)(A) a nullity. To except debt from discharge, creditors must do more than show that the debtor signed a Promissory Note containing standard language. Creditors must point to specific false representations and allege facts showing that such representations were made with the intent to deceive. Here, the Complaint contains no such allegations.

Based upon the foregoing, the Court will issue an order requiring the Plaintiff to show cause why this action should not be dismissed.

chapter 7 on November 26, 2018 (the "Petition Date"). The Debtor's Schedule A identifies the Debtor's interest in real property located at 22828 Decoro Drive, Valencia, CA 91354 (the "Property"), valued at $415,000. See Doc. No. 11. Debtor claimed a $1.00 homestead exemption in the Property. Id., Schedule C.

On January 16, 2019, the Debtor filed a motion to avoid the judicial lien of Bosco Credit LLC ("Bosco") secured by the Property [Doc. No. 15] (the "Lien Avoidance Motion"). Bosco initially objected and requested a hearing on the Lien Avoidance Motion, but on April 11, 2019, Bosco withdrew its opposition [Doc. Nos. 16 & 28]. Accordingly, the Debtor asks this Court to grant the Lien Avoidance Motion.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Pursuant to § 522(f), a debtor may avoid the fixing of a lien on an interest of the debtor in property to the extent that such lien impairs an exemption if such lien is a judicial lien, other than a judicial lien that secures a debt of a kind that is specified in § 523(a)(5). 11 U.S.C. § 522(f). "For the purposes of this subsection, a lien shall be considered to impair an exemption to the extent that the sum of: (i) the lien; (ii) all other liens on the property; and (iii) the amount of the exemption that the debtor could claim if there were no liens on the property, exceeds the value that the debtor's interest in the property would have in the absence of any liens." Id. A debtor's interest in the property is determined by the "fair market value as of the date of the filing of the petition." 11 U.S.C. §§ 522(a), (f). To prevail on a motion to avoid a judicial lien, the debtor must show that: (1) he has an interest in the homestead property; (2) he is entitled to a homestead exemption; (3) the asserted lien impairs that exemption; and (4) the lien is a judicial lien. In re Meeks, 349 B.R. 19, 21 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 2006). "As the moving party, the debtor carries the burden of proof on all factors." Id.; see also In re Pederson, 230 B.R. 158, 160 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1999); In re Catli, 999 F.2d 1405, 1406 (9th Cir. 1993).

Based on the Court's review of the appraisal filed in support of the Lien Avoidance Motion, the Court finds that the Property was worth $505,000 as of December 19, 2018. Lien Avoidance Motion, Ex. 6.A. The Debtor claimed a homestead exemption of $1.00 pursuant to Cal. CCP § 704.140(b)(1). The sum of the Bosco lien, all other liens, and the exemption is $1,562,652.52. Subtracting the value of the Debtor's interest in the Property ($505,000) shows that the Bosco lien impairs recovering an approximate $22 million refund of federal income taxes. As set forth in the Liquidating Trustee's Ninth Post-Confirmation Status Report, filed on March 9, 2018, that litigation came to a conclusion without any recovery for the Liquidating Trust. As a result, the Liquidating Trustees stated that they would begin winding up this bankruptcy case.

After the Court conducted several Post-Confirmation Status Conferences at which it received only minimal information regarding the Liquidating Trustee's wind-up efforts, the Court issued an Order Requiring the Liquidating Trustees to Appear and Show Cause Why this Case Should Not Be Closed [Doc. No. 513] (the "Order to Show Cause"). In response to the Order to Show Cause, the Liquidating Trustees state that the "case is all but fully administered," and that the only remaining tasks consist of payment of United States Trustee fees in the amount of $650, the filing with the Court of the Liquidating Trustee's Final Report, and the filing of a motion for entry of a final decree closing the case. Response [Doc. No. 519] at ¶ 2.

On April 19, 2019, the Liquidating Trustees filed a motion seeking entry of a final decree (the "Motion for Final Decree"). In the Motion for Final Decree, the Liquidating Trustees state that "slightly more than $20,000 remains in the Liquidating Trust, which is insufficient to pay the post-petition fees of either the accountants for the Liquidating Trust, Crowe Horwath LLP, or counsel for the Liquidating Trust, in full." Declaration of Vikaran Ghei [Doc. No. 521] at ¶ 9.

Wilmington Trust Company ("Wilmington") opposes the closing of the case. Wilmington asserts that the Debtor's estate has not been fully administered. Wilmington states that it has not received any distribution on account of its claim of approximately $100 million. Wilmington asserts that the Liquidating Trustees have not provided sufficient information regarding the funds available for distribution to creditors:

The Liquidating Trustees are in possession of estate assets, which have not yet been distributed to creditors of the estate.... Although the Ninth Post Confirmation Status Report and Tenth Post Confirmation Status Report state that "[t]here is currently $813,333.00 in cash available ...," it appears that this statement may have described the cash available in 2014 when the Liquidating Trustees filed their Motion for Authority to Pay Administrative Expenses of Liquidating Trust Pursuant to Confirmed Chapter 11 Plan ("Administrative Expense Motion") [ECF No. 373, 374]. The Court granted the Administrative Expense Motion [ECF No. 399], allowing compensation of $114,984.71 to be paid to Landau Gottfried & Berger LLP and $60,000 in fees for Liquidating Trustees. Even if these payments were made from the $813,333.00, $638,348.29 should have remained available for distribution. Yet, no distributions have been made to creditors. The Court should not countenance the cloak of secrecy that has pervaded this case, if not before confirmation of the Plan (see Wilmington's two Motions to Convert at ECF Nos. 33 and 138), then at least since the Liquidating Trustees (nonprofessional fiduciaries) purchased their trusteeship.

Wilmington Opposition at ¶ 12.

In addition, Wilmington asserts that the Liquidating Trustees should be required to explain why they did not pursue an objection to a claim asserted by the Franchise Tax Board, given that the Liquidating Trustees stated in their Tenth Post-Confirmation Status Report that the Liquidating Trust had valid grounds for objecting to the FTB's claim.

Wilmington requests that the Court (1) keep the case open until distributions to creditors are made and the estate is fully administered and (2) direct the Liquidating Trustees to provide a detailed accounting of the cash and other assets of the estate and how such assets were used or distributed by the Liquidating Trustees.

II. Findings and Conclusions

The Court addresses at the outset Wilmington's opposition to the closing of the case. First, the Court declines to require the Liquidating Trustees to explain their decision not to object to the claim asserted by the FTB. The Liquidating Trust Agreement, which was approved by way of the Confirmation Order, provides in relevant part:

Except as expressly set forth in this Agreement, the Trustees shall have absolute discretion to pursue or not to pursue any and all Claims and Estate Causes of Action or other matters, activities or things as it determines is in the best interests of the Beneficiaries and consistent with the purposes of the Liquidating Trust, and shall have no liability for the outcome of its decision, except as such decision may constitute an act of gross negligence, willful misconduct, or fraud.

Nothing in Wilmington's opposition indicates that the Liquidating Trustees' decision not to object to the FTB's claim was the result of gross negligence, willful misconduct, or fraud.

Second, as requested by Wilmington, and consistent with the Plan and Liquidating Trustee Agreement, the Court will require the Liquidating Trustees to file a final accounting of the administration of estate assets (the "Final Accounting"). The Liquidating Trust Agreement requires the filing of a Final Accounting:

[A]s soon as practicable upon termination of the Liquidating Trust, the Trustees shall submit to the Bankruptcy Court a written report including: (i) financial statements of the Liquidating Trust at the end of such calendar year or period and the receipts and disbursements of the Liquidating Trust for such period; and (ii) subject to Section VII.B, a separate statement for each Beneficiary setting forth the holder's share of items of income, gain, loss, deduction or credit (collectively, "Tax Items") and will instruct all such holders to report such items on their federal income tax returns.

Liquidating Trust Agreement at ¶ VI.A.

The Liquidating Trustees shall file the Final Accounting by no later than May 31, 2019. Any objections by Wilmington to the Final Accounting shall be filed by no later than June 14, 2019. In the event Wilmington files an objection to the Final Accounting, the Court will determine whether a hearing is required and will notify the parties accordingly. The Court will not issue a final decree closing the case until Wilmington has had an opportunity to object to the Final Accounting. However, Wilmington is advised that it does not appear to the Court that the Liquidating Trustees have been anything but diligent in their administration of estate assets. The main asset of the Liquidating Trust was a claim against the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, in its capacity as receiver ("FDIC-R"), for a tax refund in excess of $22 million. After contested litigation before this Court, the District Court, and the Ninth Circuit, the Liquidating Trustees were unable to recover any of the tax refund. The absence of a recovery resulted not from malfeasance but rather from the fact that the Liquidating Trustees did not prevail in litigation that involved complicated facts and unsettled law.

The Court will prepare and enter an appropriate order.

Docket 21

Tentative Ruling:

4/23/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Motion is DENIED.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Notice of Motion and Motion to Avoid Lien [Doc. No. 23] (the "Motion")
 - a) Notice of Hearing [Doc. No. 24]
- 2) Judgment Creditor's Opposition to Debtors' Motion to Avoid Lien Under 11 U.S.C. Section 522(f) [Doc. No. 26] (the "Opposition")
- 3) No Reply in support of the Motion is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On August 24, 2018, Sandra Marshall and Bobbie Marshall (the "Debtors") filed a voluntary Chapter 7 petition. Debtors received a discharge on December 3, 2018. Doc. No. 14. Pursuant to § 522(f), Debtors move to avoid a lien (the "Lien") held by the Canyon Oaks Homeowners Association (the "Creditor") that encumbers property located at 27940 Tyler Lane, #454, Santa Clarita, CA 91387 (the "Property").

Creditor opposes the Motion. Creditor makes the following arguments and representations in support of its Opposition:

Creditor is a non-profit homeowners association. Since May 1, 2008, Debtors have been delinquent in their payments of homeowners' association fees. As a result, on April 18, 2017, the Creditor recorded the Lien. On September 27, 2017, Creditor obtained a judgment for foreclosure of the Lien.

The Lien is an assessment lien that arises by operation of law pursuant to Cal. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 5660 and 5675. As such, the lien is not a "judicial lien" within the meaning of § 522(f). Instead, the Lien is a statutory lien, which is not avoidable under § 522(f). See Koski v. Seattle First Nat'l Bank (In re Koski), 149 B.R. 170, 176

(Bankr. D. Idaho 1992) (holding that § 522(f) applies only to judicial liens and does not permit the avoidance of statutory liens). Consequently, the Motion must be denied.

The Debtors have not filed a Reply in support of the Motion.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Section 522(f) allows a debtor to "avoid the fixing of a lien on an interest of the debtor in property to the extent that such lien impairs an exemption to which the debtor would have been entitled," but only if the lien at issue is a "judicial lien" A "judicial lien" is a "lien obtained by judgment, levy, sequestration, or other legal or equitable process or proceeding." § 101(36). By contrast, a "statutory lien" is a "lien arising solely by force of a statute on specified circumstances or conditions" § 101(53).

Statutory liens are not avoidable under § 522(f). See, e.g., Rench v. U.S. (In re Rench), 129 B.R. 649, 652 (Bankr. D. Kan. 1991) ("Conspicuously absent from section 522(f) is any provision allowing the debtor to avoid statutory liens. There is no question that the tax lien which is the subject of this dispute is a statutory lien which may not be avoided under section 522(f)."); Koski v. Seattle First Nat'l Bank (In re Koski), 149 B.R. 170, 176 (Bankr. D. Idaho 1992) (holding that § 522(f) applies only to judicial liens and does not permit the avoidance of statutory liens).

The Lien at issue here is created solely by force of statute, and therefore is a statutory lien which is not avoidable under § 522(f). Specifically, Cal. Code Civ. Proc. § 5675 provides that the amount of unpaid homeowners' association assessments "shall be a lien on the owner's interest in the common interest development from and after the time the association causes to be recorded with the county recorder in the county in which the separate interest is located, a notice of delinquent assessment" Here, the Lien arose after the Creditor recorded a notice of delinquent assessment pursuant to Cal. Code Civ. Proc. § 5675.

Based upon the foregoing, the Motion is DENIED. Within seven days of the hearing, Creditor shall submit an order incorporating this tentative ruling by reference. Debtors' case was reopened solely to permit the filing of the Motion. Upon entry of the order denying the Motion, the Clerk of the Court is directed to close the Debtors' case forthwith.

LONDON BANK ACCOUNT

Docket 1107

Tentative Ruling:

4/24/2019 (updated to reflect pleading filed by the Chapter 7 Trustee on April 23, 2019):

For the reasons set forth below, the Motion is GRANTED.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Notice of Motion and Motion to Compel Trustee to Abandon Property of the Estate to Debtor Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. Section 554(b) [Doc. No. 1107] (the "Motion")

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

This case was transferred to the undersigned Judge on January 3, 2018. Doc. No. 1025. Prior proceedings were heard by Judges Saltzman, Carroll, and Bufford.

Jayampath P. Dharmasuriya (the "Debtor") filed a voluntary Chapter 11 petition on July 20, 2009. On September 7, 2011, Jeffrey I. Golden was appointed as the Chapter 11 Trustee. Upon the Trustee's motion, the case was converted to Chapter 7 on November 2, 2011. Jeffrey I. Golden was reappointed as the Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee") on November 9, 2011.

The Debtor's Statement of Financial Affairs listed three bank accounts located in London (the "London Bank Accounts"). On December 1, 2014, the Court approved a global settlement agreement (the "Settlement Agreement") between the Trustee, Donald H. Eller, Sarath and Hemanthi Gunatilake, Nalan Samarawickrema ("Samarawickrema"), Andrew Holdings, Inc. ("Andrew Holdings"), Jayani Manikkage, and the Debtor. Doc. No. 798. One of the provisions of the Settlement Agreement requires the Trustee to turnover up to $50,000 of the funds in the London Bank Accounts (the "Funds") to Samarawickrema and Andrew Holdings.

On March 15, 2019, the Court issued an order authorizing the Trustee to distribute the Funds to Samarawickrema and Andrew Holdings. Doc. No. 1109. Although distribution of the funds had been authorized by the Settlement Agreement, the Trustee sought an additional court order because Sonali Perera, an individual involved in state court litigation with Samarawickrema and Andrew Holdings, contended that the Funds should be paid to him.

Because the London Banks refused to release the Funds given the pending bankruptcy, the Trustee elected to accept the cash equivalent of the current balances of the London Bank Accounts in lieu of the actual funds from the London Bank Accounts. On January 7, 2019, the Debtor sent the Trustee a check for $41,307.71. Doc. No. 1120, Ex. D. On January 17, 2019, the Debtor sent the Trustee an additional check for $2,535.55, bringing the total amount paid to the Trustee to $43,848.26. Doc. No. 1120, Ex. E.

Based on the fact that the Trustee has been paid cash equivalent to the Funds in the London Bank Accounts, the Debtor now moves for an order compelling the Trustee to abandon the estate's interest in the London Bank Accounts, pursuant to § 554. The Debtor states that the London Banks will not release the Funds to him absent an order from the Bankruptcy Court.

Samarawickrema and Andrew Holdings (the "Objectors") oppose the Motion. The Objectors argue that the Debtor has failed to prove that the $43,848.26 paid to the Trustee represents the full amount of the Funds in the London Bank Accounts. The Objectors note that according to schedules filed in August 2009, the London Bank Accounts contained £106,000. Based on the scheduled values, the Objectors contend that the Debtor should have paid the Trustee far more than $43,848.26.

In Reply, the Debtor's counsel filed a declaration stating that the London Bank Accounts have been frozen since the Trustee was appointed in 2011. An exhibit attached to the Reply indicates that as of July 31, 2017, an account maintained at HSBC had a balance of £32,409.59. Doc. No. 1120, Ex. D.

The Trustee has not filed any papers in connection with the Motion.

Chapter 7

II. Findings and Conclusions

As a preliminary matter, the Court finds that the Objectors have standing to object to the Motion. Under the Settlement Agreement, the Objectors were entitled to receive up to $50,000 from the London Bank Accounts. The Objectors have received only $43,848.26. Therefore, the Objectors have a pecuniary interest in ensuring that cash equivalent to the full amount of the Funds in the London Bank Accounts has been paid to the Trustee.

Turning to the merits, § 554 provides that "the court may order the trustee to abandon any property of the estate that is burdensome to the estate or that is of inconsequential value or benefit to the estate."

Based upon the Declaration of Robert S. Altagen [Doc. No. 1120] (the "Altagen Decl.") and the exhibits attached thereto, the Court finds that the Debtor has paid to the Trustee cash equivalent to the full amount of the Funds in the London Bank Accounts. In addition, the Court finds that the London Bank Accounts have been frozen since the appointment of the Trustee on November 2, 2011.

The Opposition is premised upon a discrepancy between the amount of the Funds reflected on the Debtors' schedules, filed in 2009, and the amount paid to the Trustee. Focusing upon this discrepancy, the Objectors imply that the Debtor may not have fully accounted for the Funds. The Court finds that the accounting set forth in the Altagen Decl. is sufficient. The difference between the schedules and the accounting set forth in the Altagen Decl. does not establish that Funds have been hidden. In the Court's experience, schedules frequently contain errors.

The Statement Regarding Motion to Compel Trustee to Abandon Property of the Estate Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 554(b) [Doc. No. 1121] (the "Statement"), filed on April 23, 2019, corroborates this conclusion. According to the Statement:

[T]he Debtor's statement of financial affairs was totally incorrect as to the balances contained in the accounts. For example, the Debtor scheduled HSBC as having a balance of 53,000 pounds, when the statement from the end of 2011 showed a balance of 874.58 pounds.

Statement at 2.

Because the Debtor has paid to the Trustee cash equivalent to the full amount of the Funds in the London Bank Accounts, the estate's claim against the London Bank Accounts has been satisfied. The Motion is GRANTED and the Trustee is ordered to abandon the estate's interest in the London Bank Accounts. Within seven days of the

Docket 14

Tentative Ruling:

4/24/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1) to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to foreclose upon and obtain possession of the property in accordance with applicable law. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. Movant has established a prima facie case that cause exists, and Debtor has not responded with evidence establishing that the property is not declining in value or that Movant is adequately protected.

The subject property has a value of $549,900 and is encumbered by a perfected deed of trust or mortgage in favor of the Movant. Considering Movant's lien, all senior liens against the property, and the estimated costs of sale, there is an equity cushion of $48,399.89. There is some, but very little equity and there is no evidence that the property is necessary to a reorganization or that the trustee can administer the property for the benefit of creditors. Movant is protected by a 8.8% equity cushion in the property. The Ninth Circuit has established that an equity cushion of 20% constitutes adequate protection for a secured creditor. Pistole v. Mellor (In re Mellor), 734 F.2d 1396, 1401 (9th Cir. 1984); see Downey Sav. & Loan Ass'n v. Helionetics, Inc. (In re Helionetics, Inc.), 70 B.R. 433, 440 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1987) (holding that a 20.4% equity cushion was sufficient to protect the creditor's interest in its collateral).

Because the equity cushion in this case is less than 20%, the Court concludes that Movant's interest in the collateral is not adequately protected. This is cause to terminate the stay under 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1).

This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. All other relief is denied.

Docket 12

Tentative Ruling:

4/24/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1) for cause to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to repossess or otherwise obtain possession and dispose of its collateral pursuant to applicable law, and to use the proceeds from its disposition to satisfy its claim. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. The Court takes judicial notice of the Chapter 7 Individual Debtor's Statement of Intention in which the Debtor stated an intention to surrender the vehicle to Movant.

This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. The 14-day stay prescribed by FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived. All other relief is denied.

#102.00 HearingRE: [1986] Notice of motion and motion for relief from the automatic stay with supporting declarations PERSONAL PROPERTY RE: Prepetition claim against Debtors prepayment deposit of $816,900 .

Docket 1986

Tentative Ruling:

4/24/2019

The Motion is GRANTED for the reasons set forth below.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Notice of Motion and Motion for Relief from the Automatic Stay Under 11 U.S.C. § 362 [Doc. No. 1986] (the "Motion")
- 2) Debtor Verity Health System of California, Inc.'s Notice of Non-Opposition to Motion for Relief from the Automatic Stay Filed by Delta Dental of California [Doc. No. 2212]
- 3) Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors' Response to Motion for Relief from Stay (Personal Property) Filed by Delta Dental of California [Doc. No. 2199]

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On August 31, 2018 (the "Petition Date"), Verity Health Systems of California ("VHS") and certain of its subsidiaries filed voluntary petitions for relief under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. On August 31, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the Debtors' motion for joint administration of the Debtors' Chapter 11 cases. Doc. No. 17.

Delta Dental of California (the "Movant") seeks stay-relief, pursuant to § 362(d) (1), to effectuate a partial setoff of prepetition claims. The Debtors consent to the relief requested in the Motion.

Pursuant to a January 1, 2012 agreement (the "Agreement"), Movant provides services to the Debtors' self-funded dental insurance plan. As part of the Agreement, the Debtors' predecessor made a prepayment deposit in the amount of $816,900 on February 29, 2012 (the "Deposit"). As of the Petition Date, Movant has paid claims for the Debtors' employees and incurred fees for administrative services in the aggregate amount of approximately $888,821.94 for which it has not been reimbursed (the "Prepetition Claim").

Movant seeks authorization to effectuate a setoff of Movant's Prepetition Claim against the Debtors' Deposit, thereby reducing the balance of Movants' general unsecured claim to $71,921.94.

The Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors does not oppose the Motion.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Section 553(a) provides that "this title does not affect any right of a creditor to offset a mutual debt owing by such creditor to the debtor that arose before the commencement of the case under this title against a claim of such creditor against the debtor that arose before the commencement of the case." To permit an "orderly examination of the debtor's and creditor's rights," a creditor's setoff rights are stayed by § 362(a)(7). Biggs v. Stovin (In re Luz Int'l, Ltd.), 219 B.R. 837, 841 (9th Cir. BAP 1998) (internal quotations omitted).

There is no dispute as to the setoff amount asserted by the Movant. The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to § 362(d)(1). Within seven days of the hearing, Movant shall submit an order incorporating this tentative ruling by reference. [Note 1]

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Jessica Vogel or Daniel Koontz at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. If you wish to make a telephonic appearance, contact Court Call at 888-882-6878, no later than one hour before the hearing.

Note 1

To ensure that the Debtors have the opportunity to review Movants' proposed order as to form, Movants shall either (a) submit a Notice of Lodgment of the proposed order in accordance with the procedure set forth in Local Bankruptcy Rule 9021-1(b)(3)(A) or, in the alternative, shall (b) obtain Debtors' endorsement as to the form of the proposed order pursuant to the procedure set forth in Local Bankruptcy Rule 9021-1(b)(3)(C).

Docket 12

Tentative Ruling:

4/24/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set on a shortened notice in accordance with Judge Robles' procedures. Oppositions, if any, will be considered at the hearing.

Absent any timely opposition, the tentative ruling is to GRANT the Motion pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1). The stay is terminated as to the Debtor and the Debtor's bankruptcy estate with respect to the Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns. Movant may enforce its remedies to obtain possession of the property in accordance with applicable law, but may not pursue a deficiency claim against the debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501.

The Movant filed an unlawful detainer action on March 10, 2019.

This Motion has been filed to allow the Movant to proceed with the unlawful detainer proceeding in state court. The unlawful detainer proceeding may go forward because the Debtor's right to possess the premises must be determined. This does not change simply because a bankruptcy petition was filed. See In re Butler, 271 B.R. 867, 876 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2002).

This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of this bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. All other relief is denied.

Docket 220

Tentative Ruling:

5/6/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Settlement Motion is GRANTED and the Proposed Settlement is APPROVED.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed

1. Chapter 7 Trustee's Motion for Order Approving Proposed Compromise and Settlement Agreement Between the Trustee and the Ulzheimer Defendants [Doc. No. 220] (the "Settlement Motion")
2. Notice of Chapter 7 Trustee's Motion for Order Approving Proposed Compromise and Settlement Agreement Between the Trustee and the Ulzheimer Defendants [Doc. No. 221]
3. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Green Jane, Inc. (the "Debtor") filed a voluntary chapter 11 petition on March 6, 2017 (the "Petition Date"). On May 25, 2017, the Court entered an order converting the case to a case under chapter 7 [Doc. No. 61]. Shortly thereafter, the UST appointed Rosendo Gonzalez to serve as the chapter 7 trustee (the "Trustee") and he continues to act in that capacity.

On March 5, 2019, the Trustee initiated an adversary proceeding against, among other defendants, John Ulzheimer and The Ultzheimer Group, LLC (together, the "Ultzheimer Defendants"), by filing a complaint to avoid and recover alleged fraudulent transfers pursuant to §§ 542, 544, 548, 550 (the "Complaint"). See Gonzalez v. TCG Assets, Inc. et al, Adv. Case. No. 2:19-ap-01061-ER, Doc. No. 1. As stated in the Complaint, the Trustee alleges that the Ulzheimer Defendants received a pre-petition transfer of Debtor's funds in the sum of $30,000. Complaint, ¶ 64. The Trustee further alleges that the Ulzheimer Defendants had no contractual relationship of any kind with the Debtor and that they did not provide any service to the Debtor in consideration for the payment of $30,000. Id., ¶ 65. Therefore, the Trustee asserts that such transfer is an avoidable fraudulent transfer pursuant to §§ 544 and 548.

The Trustee and Ulzheimer Defendants now seek approval of a settlement that resolves the Trustee's claims against the Ulzheimer Defendants, in full, in exchange for their return of the $30,000 (the "Proposed Settlement").

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Bankruptcy Rule 9019(a) permits the Court to approve a compromise or settlement. In the Ninth Circuit, courts consider the following factors in determining the fairness, reasonableness and adequacy of a proposed settlement agreement:

- (a) The probability of success in the litigation;
- (b) the difficulties, if any, to be encountered in the matter of collection;
- (c) the complexity of the litigation involved, and the expense, inconvenience and delay necessarily attending it;
- (d) the paramount interest of the creditors and a proper deference to their reasonable views in the premises.

Martin v. Kane (In re A&C Properties), 784 F.2d 1377, 1381 (9th Cir. 1986).

"Each factor need not be treated in a vacuum; rather, the factors should be considered as a whole to determine whether the settlement compares favorably with the expected rewards of litigation." In re Western Funding Inc., 550 B.R. 841, 851 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2016). Furthermore, "compromises are favored in bankruptcy, and the decision of the bankruptcy judge to approve or disapprove the compromise of the parties rests in the sound discretion of the bankruptcy judge." In re Sassalos, 160 B.R. 646, 653 (D. Ore. 1993). In approving a settlement agreement, the Court must "canvass the issues and see whether the settlement 'falls below the lowest point in the range of reasonableness.'" Cosoff v. Rodman (In re W.T. Grant Co.), 699 F.2d 599, 608 (2d Cir. 1983).

Here, the Court finds that the Proposed Settlement is adequate, fair and reasonable and in the best interest of the estate. Approval of the parties' agreement will ensure the estate recovers 100% of the Trustee's alleged fraudulent transfer claim and avoid unnecessary costs, delay, and uncertainties attendant with litigation. The Court has not received any objection to the Settlement Motion. Accordingly, pursuant to LBR 9013-1(h), the Court presumes all interested parties consent to approval of the Settlement Motion and Proposed Settlement.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the Settlement Motion is GRANTED and the Proposed Settlement is APPROVED.

The Trustee is directed to lodge a conforming proposed order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Daniel Koontz or Jessica Vogel at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Debtor-in-possession, Dwight Stephens (the "Debtor"), filed this voluntary chapter 11 case on March 21, 2018. Pre-petition, the Debtor's non-filing spouse ("Mrs. Stephens") purchased real property located at 5337 S. Verdun Avenue, Los Angeles, CA 90043 (the "Property") using her separate property funds. Mrs. Stephens holds title to the Property as her sole and separate property. However, the Debtor believes that the estate holds a community property interest in the Property in the approximate amount of $134,983.

On February 15, 2019, the Debtor filed his first amended disclosure statement [Doc. No. 74] (the "FADS") and first amended chapter 11 plan [Doc. No. 75] (the "Plan"). The Debtor proposed to fund his Plan with, among other things, $55,000 in funds contributed by Mrs. Stephens. Mrs. Stephens intends to obtain the $55,000 contribution through a reverse mortgage on the Property.

To facilitate the reverse mortgage, the Debtor now seeks an order authorizing him to encumber the estate's community property interest in the Property with a first-priority deed of trust in favor of American Advisors Group.

The Court approves the Debtor's request to encumber his community property interest in the Property to effectuate the contemplated reverse mortgage.

2. As of the date of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

A. Summary of Relevant Background Facts

Felix Anibal Diaz and Cecilia Giron Diaz (together, the "Debtors") filed this voluntary chapter 7 case on July 6, 2018. Shortly thereafter John J. Menchaca was appointed as the chapter 7 trustee (the "Trustee") and continues to serve in that capacity.

On August 28, 2018, the Trustee initiated an adversary proceeding bearing the caption Menchaca v. Diaz et al (Adv. Case. No. 2:18-ap-01274-ER), by filing a complaint against the Debtors. On September 5, 2018, the Trustee filed an amended complaint asserting claims for, among other things, turnover of real property located at 11119 S. Doty Avenue, Inglewood, CA 90303 APN 4033-015-024 (the "Duplex"). See Adv. Doc. No. 2. On February 15, 2019, the Court entered an order granting the Trustee's motion for default judgment and entered judgment in favor of the Trustee (the "Judgment"). Adv. Doc. Nos. 27 & 28. The Judgment states, in relevant part:

Doty Avenue, Inglewood CA 90303 bearing Los Angeles County, California Assessor's Parcel Number 4033-015-024

Id.

On August 28, 2018, the Trustee also initiated an adversary proceeding bearing the caption Menchaca v. Olivares et al (Adv. Case No. 2:18-ap-01273-ER), by filing a complaint against the Debtors' daughter, Johanna Olivares ("Ms. Olivares"). On September 5, 2018, the Trustee filed an amended complaint asserting claims for, among other things, avoidance and recovery of the Duplex as a fraudulent transfer. See Adv. Doc. No. 3. On February 15, 2019, the Court entered an order granting the Trustee's motion for default judgment and entered judgment in favor of the Trustee avoiding and recovering the Duplex for the benefit of the estate. Adv. Doc. Nos. 29 & 30.

B. Summary of the Trustee's Motion for Writ of Possession

The Trustee states that the Debtors have failed to timely comply with the turnover obligations mandated by the Judgment. Accordingly, the Trustee moves for an order directing the Clerk of the Court to issue a writ of possession such that the U.S. Marshal is instructed to forcibly remove the Debtors and any other occupants from the Duplex and to deliver possession of the Duplex to the Trustee (the "Writ of Possession").

As of the date of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Civil Rule 70, made applicable herein pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 7070, provides that "on application by a party who obtains a judgment or order for possession, the clerk must issue a writ of execution or assistance." Fed. R. Bankr. P. 7070, Fed. R.

Civ. P. 70(d). Although Bankruptcy Rule 7070 applies to adversary proceedings, Bankruptcy Rule 9014(c) authorizes a court "at any stage in a particular matter [to] direct that one or more of the other rules in Part VII shall apply." Fed. R. Bankr. P. 9014(c). At least one court in this district has applied Bankruptcy Rule 7070 to contested matters involving turnover of real property from a debtor at the request of a chapter 7 trustee. See In re Kerlo, 311 B.R. 256 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2004). Additionally, the Court has the authority to enforce its own orders and judgments, as "necessary or appropriate to carry out the provisions of" the Bankruptcy Code. 11 U.S.C. § 105(a); see also Kerlo, 311 B.R. at 262 (chapter 7 trustee entitled to writ of execution to enforce turnover order).

For the reasons set forth in the Motion for Writ of Possession, the Court finds that Trustee is entitled to an order directing the Clerk of Court to issue a Writ of Possession for the Duplex.

The Trustee is directed to lodge a conforming proposed order that complies with the requirements of Local Bankruptcy Rule 7064-1 and incorporates this tentative ruling by reference within seven days of the hearing.

#4.00 HearingRE: [14] Motion For Contempt Against Micheal's Superstore Abaud, Inc., for Their Intentional Violation of The Bankruptcy Automatic Stay, The Rosenthal Fair Debt Collection Practices Act with Proof of Service

Docket 14

Tentative Ruling:

5/7/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the parties are directed to submit supplemental briefing as outlined below.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed

1. Notice of Motion and Motion for Contempt Against Michael's Superstore Abaud, Inc., for Their Intentional Violation of: The Bankruptcy Automatic Stay [and] the Rosenthal Fair Debt Collection Practices Act [Doc. No. 14] (the "Motion")
2. As of the date of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Andrea Michel (the "Debtor") filed this voluntary chapter 7 case on November 13, 2018 (the "Petition Date"). On January 13, 2018, the chapter 7 trustee filed a Report of No. Distribution. The Debtor received her discharge by order entered February 25, 2019 [Doc. No. 10] and the Court closed her case on February 26, 2019. On March 25, 2019, the Debtor moved to reopen her case to file a motion for contempt against Michael's Superstore Abaud, Inc. ("Creditor") [Doc. No. 13], which the Court granted by order entered March 27, 2019 [Doc. No. 16].

The Debtor now moves for an award of damages against Creditor arising from alleged violations of the automatic stay and the Rosenthal Fair Debt Collection Practices Act (the "RFDCPA"). In support of the Motion, the Debtor states that Creditor was listed as an unsecured creditor in her Schedule F and therefore had notice of her bankruptcy filing. Notwithstanding such notice, the Debtor states that on December 28, 2018, while the automatic stay was still in place, Creditor filed a lawsuit against her in Los Angeles Superior Court (the "State Court"), Case No. 18BFSC00635, to collect approximately $2,400 of outstanding debt from the Debtor (the "State Court Action"). The Debtor highlights that she received a discharge of Creditor's debt on February 25, 2019, and states that on March 14, 2019, her attorney sent a letter to Creditor and to the State Court to inform them that the debt had been discharged.

The Debtor contends that Creditor's actions reflect intentional, unlawful, and malicious business practices and that its conduct mandates an award of damages for its violation of the automatic stay and RFDCPA. The Debtor suggests that Creditor's actions caused her significant emotional harm because it exacerbated the anxiety and pressures inherent in the bankruptcy process and caused her to worry about going to court and having to deal with the State Court Action when the debt was no longer collectible. The Debtor therefore requests an order imposing damages for the Debtor's monetary damages, attorney's fees and costs, and punitive damages.

As of the date of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

A. Liability for Violating the Automatic Stay

1. Applicable Standard

"The automatic stay arises by operation of law upon the filing of a petition for bankruptcy and prevents creditors of the bankrupt from seeking to enforce [certain rights against] property of the estate." In re Mellor, 734 F.2d 1396, 1398 (9th Cir. 1984). The automatic stay preserves the status quo and is designed to protect debtors from all collection efforts while they attempt to regain their financial footing. Schwartz v. United States (In re Schwartz), 954 F.2d 569, 571 (9th Cir. 1992). More specifically, § 362(a)(6) enjoins "any act to collect, asses, or recover a claim against the debtor that arose before the commencement of the case"

Section 362(k)(1) provides that "[a]n individual injured by any willful violation of a stay provided by [section 362] shall recover actual damages, including costs and attorneys' fees, and, in appropriate circumstances, may recover punitive damages." In seeking damages for violation of the stay, a party "must prove by a preponderance of the evidence that: (1) a bankruptcy petition was filed; (2) the debtor is an individual; (3) the creditor received notice of the petition; (4) the creditor's actions were in willful violation of the stay; and (5) the debtor suffered damages." In re Jha, 461 B.R. 611, 616 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. 2011). A violation is "willful" if "the defendant knew of the automatic stay and . . . the defendant's actions which violated the stay were intentional. Whether the party believes in good faith that it had a right to the property is not relevant to whether the act was 'willful' or whether compensation must be awarded." Vassallo v. Naiman, 2012 WL 691783 *2-3 (E.D. Cal. March 2, 2012) (citation omitted).

In this case, the Debtor alleges that Creditor violated § 362(a) by filing the State Court Action after the Petition Date, on December 28, 2018. The Debtor has not attached any evidence, such as a declaration or copy of the state court complaint, to substantiate her claims. [Note 1] However, the Court takes judicial notice of the State Court docket for Case No. 18BFSC00635 and finds that Creditor did in fact file a small claims complaint against the Debtor on December 28, 2018. The State Court Action docket contains the following docket notations, among others:

12/28/2018 Case assigned to Hon. Carol Rose in Department 1 Bellflower Courthouse

The Court also takes judicial notice of: (a) the Debtor's Schedule F [Doc. No. 1, pp. 22 & 24], which lists Creditor at the following addresses: 909 N. Avalon Blvd., Wilmington, CA 90744 and 14502 Whittier Blvd., Whittier, CA 90605 (the "Whittier Address"); and (ii) the California Secretary of State's website, which identifies the Whittier Address as the address designated for service of process on "Abaud, Inc."

Based on the foregoing, the Court finds that Creditor is presumed to have received notice of the Debtor's bankruptcy petition and filed the State Court Action in willful violation of the automatic stay. Creditor was served with the instant Motion and has not responded with any argument to refute these findings.

2. Damages

a. Actual Damages

"The basic measure of damages for violation of the automatic stay is the amount of economic loss the debtor has suffered as the proximate result of the defendant's violation." Achterberg v. Creditors Trade Ass'n (In re Achterberg), 573 B.R. 819, 833 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 2017).

The Debtor has not identified any specific economic loss, such as lost earnings or some other out-of-pocket expenses, arising from having to defend herself in the State Court Action. Accordingly, the Court will not award any.

b. Emotional Distress Damages

Emotional distress constitutes actual damages. Dawson v. Washington Mutual Bank, F.A. (In re Dawson), 390 F.3d 1139 (9th Cir. Cal. 2004). To qualify for emotional distress damages, the debtor must (1) suffer significant harm; (2) clearly establish the significant harm; and (3) demonstrate a causal connection between that significant harm and the violation of the automatic stay. Id. at 1149. Medical evidence of emotional distress is not required; the testimony of family members, friends, and co-workers is sufficient to establish an emotional distress claim. Id.

The Motion states that that the Debtor experienced anxiety and worry in response to Creditor's actions, but the Debtor did not attach her own declaration or any other evidence to support her request for emotional distress damages. Additionally, "[f]leeting or trivial anxiety or distress does not suffice to support an award [for emotional distress damages]; instead, an individual must suffer significant emotional harm." In re Dawson, 390 F.3d at 1149. Therefore, the Court finds that the Debtor has failed to establish that she clearly suffered significant emotional harm as a direct result of Creditor's violation of the automatic stay and denies her request for emotional distress damages.

c. Attorney's Fees and Costs

Congress has also provided that the "actual damages" for an individual seeking to redress a violation of the automatic stay "shall" include "costs and attorney's fees." In re Achterberg, 573 B.R. at 834. The costs and attorney's fees include those incurred in connection with prosecuting the action to recover the damages caused by the violation of the stay even after the violation has been abated. Id. (citing America's Servicing Company v. Schwartz-Tallard (In re Schwartz Tallard), 803 F.3d 1095, 1101 (9th Cir. 2015)).

The Debtor seeks attorney's fees and costs but has not submitted any evidence of the amount of attorney's fees and costs she has incurred. However, because it is clear that the Debtor's attorney provided services and incurred costs both in connection with the State Court Action and in bringing this Motion, the Court finds it appropriate to afford the Debtor further opportunity to supplement the record.

Therefore, by no later than May 22, 2019, the Debtor is directed to file and serve on Creditor a supplemental declaration from Debtor's counsel that attaches a billing statement for services performed in connection with (a) notifying Creditor and the Superior Court of the Debtor's bankruptcy filing and discharge of Creditor's debt and (b) bringing this motion. The deadline for Creditor to object to the reasonableness of the requested fees and costs is May 29, 2019. The Court will not entertain any argument or evidence from either party beyond the scope of the appropriate amount of attorney's fees and costs the Debtor is entitled to.

The matter will be deemed submitted as of May 29, 2019, and the Court will assess the reasonableness of attorney's fees requested without the need for further hearing. The Debtor is directed to lodge a proposed order concurrently with the filing of the supplemental declaration.

d. Punitive Damages

In addition to actual damages, § 362(k)(1) permits the recovery of punitive damages "in appropriate circumstances." 11 U.S.C. § 362(k)(1). "The standard for imposition of punitive damages for violation of the automatic stay is whether the violator engaged in 'egregious, intentional misconduct.'" In re Biehl, 2017 Bankr. LEXIS 659, at * 22 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. Mar. 13, 2017) (quoting McHenry v. Key Bank (In re McHenry), 179 B.R. 165, 168 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1995)). "The Ninth Circuit has observed that it has 'traditionally been reluctant to grant punitive damages absent some showing of reckless or callous disregard for the law or rights of others.'" Id. (quoting Goichman v. Bloom (In re Bloom), 875 F.2d 224 (9th Cir. 1989)).

The Debtor has failed to show that Creditor's conduct was egregious or that it showed a callous disregard for her legal rights. For example, the Debtor does not allege that she contacted Creditor after it filed the State Court Action to request that it dismiss its claims against her and that the Creditor refused. Instead, based on this Court's review of the State Court Action docket, it appears that shortly after Debtor's Counsel sent letters to Creditor and the State Court, Creditor's claims against the Debtor were dismissed. Therefore, the Debtor's request for punitive damages is denied.

B. Violation of the Rosenthal Fair Debt Collection Practices Act

The Debtor's request for an order finding Creditor's actions to be a violation of the RFDCPA is denied. First, a claim for violation of the RFDCPA must be brought by way of an adversary proceeding pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 7001. Second, to the extent that the Debtor premises her RFDCPA claim on violations of § 362, such claim is preempted by the exclusive remedies afforded to her by the Bankruptcy Code. See Walls v. Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., 255 B.R. 38, 47 (E.D. Cal. 2000) (Dismissing claim for relief brought under Fair Debt Collection Practices Act on the basis that "Plaintiff's remedies for violations of the Bankruptcy Code lie within the Code itself").

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the parties are directed to submit supplemental briefing. By no later than May 22, 2019, the Debtor is directed to file and serve on Creditor a supplemental declaration from Debtor's counsel that attaches a billing statement for services performed in connection with (a) notifying Creditor and the Superior Court of the Debtor's bankruptcy filing and discharge of Creditor's debt and (b) bringing this motion. The matter will be deemed submitted as of May 29, 2019, and the Court will assess the reasonableness of attorney's fees requested without the need for further hearing.

The Debtor is directed to lodge a proposed order concurrently with the filing of the supplemental declaration.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On August 31, 2018 (the "Petition Date"), Verity Health Systems of California ("VHS") and certain of its subsidiaries (collectively, the "Debtors") filed voluntary petitions for relief under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. On August 31, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the Debtors' motion for joint administration of the Debtors' Chapter 11 cases.

Debtors and the Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors (the "Committee," and together with the Debtors, the "Movants") seek approval of a settlement agreement (the "Settlement Agreement") between the Debtors and St. Vincent IPA.

Movants assert that the Settlement Agreement qualifies as a transaction within the Debtors' ordinary course of business, for which Court approval is not required, pursuant to § 363(c). In an abundance of caution, Movants seek approval of the Settlement Agreement pursuant to § 363(b)(1) and Bankruptcy Rule 9019. No opposition to the Motion is on file.

The Settlement Agreement

St. Vincent IPA is a group comprised of approximately 200 doctors who work at Debtor St. Vincent Medical Center ("St. Vincent"). St. Vincent IPA's patients account for between 7–10% of the patients treated at St. Vincent, and generate significant revenue. St. Vincent has been designated a Critical Vendor within the meaning of the Final Order Granting Debtors' Emergency Motion for Entry of an Order Authorizing Debtors to Honor Prepetition Obligations to Critical Vendors [Doc. No. 436] (the "Critical Vendor Order").

St. Vincent IPA and the Debtors are parties to a Healthcare Services Risk Sharing Agreement dated January 1, 2002 (the "Risk Pool Agreement"). Under the Risk Pool Agreement, St. Vincent receives periodic payments in exchange for sharing certain risks.

The material terms of the Settlement Agreement are as follows:

- 1) Debtors will pay St. Vincent IPA $596,816 on account of services provided by St. Vincent to the Debtors for the year 2017 (the "Prepetition Claim"). The Settlement Agreement is without prejudice to St. Vincent's ability to assert a higher prepetition claim in the future.
- 2) In consideration of the payment of the Prepetition Claim, St. Vincent will forbear from filing a motion (a) seeking stay-relief to deem the Risk Pool Agreement breached and (b) seeking authorization to terminate the Risk Pool Agreement.
- 3) Debtors have wired St. Vincent IPA an additional $300,000 as post-petition compensation due under the Risk Pool Agreement. The $300,000 payment is subject to adjustment following a true up (the "True Up").
- 4) For months subsequent to October 2018 until a sale of St. Vincent has closed, the Debtors shall make interim monthly payments of $150,000 to St. Vincent IPA pursuant to the Risk Pool Agreement. The payments are subject to the True Up.
- 5) St. Vincent IPA shall continue to supply goods and services to the Debtors in accordance with customary trade terms, and the Debtors shall continue to pay St. Vincent for such goods and services in accordance with customary trade terms.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Section 363(c)(1) authorizes the Debtors to enter into transactions in the ordinary course of business without notice or hearing or Court approval. The Ninth Circuit applies two tests to determine whether a transaction has been conducted in the ordinary course of business: the “horizontal” test and the “vertical” or “creditor’s expectation” test. See Burlington Northern Railroad Co. v. Dant & Russell, Inc. (In re Dant & Russell, Inc.), 853 F.2d 700, 704 (9th Cir. 1988). The horizontal test “may be described as involving an industry-wide perspective in which the debtor’s business is compared to other like businesses. In this comparison, the test is whether the postpetition transaction is of a type that other similar businesses would engage in as ordinary business.” Id. The vertical or creditor’s expectation test “views the disputed transaction ‘from the vantage point of a hypothetical creditor and inquires whether the transaction subjects a creditor to economic risks of a nature different from those he accepted when he decided to extend credit.’” Id. (internal citation omitted).

Here, both the horizontal and vertical tests are satisfied. The horizontal test is satisfied because risk sharing agreements between doctors and hospitals are common in the healthcare industry. Declaration of Richard G. Adcock [Doc. No. 2112] at ¶ 12. The vertical test is satisfied because the Settlement Agreement involves amendments to the Risk Pool Agreement, which the Debtors entered into prepetition. A hypothetical creditor would reasonably expect the Debtors to continue to enter into transactions involving the pooling and mitigation of risk subsequent to the Petition Date. Because both the horizontal and vertical tests are satisfied, the Settlement Agreement qualifies as a transaction in the ordinary course of business for which Court approval is not required.

Even if the Settlement Agreement did not qualify as an ordinary course transaction, the Court finds that approval of the Settlement Agreement under § 363(b)(1) and Bankruptcy Rule 9019 is appropriate. Section 363(b) permits the debtor or trustee to use estate property out of the ordinary course of business, subject to Court approval. The debtor or trustee must articulate a business justification for the use of the property. In re Walter, 83 B.R. 14, 19–20 (9th Cir. BAP 1988) (citing In re Continental Air Lines, 780 F.2d 1223 (5th Cir. 1986)). Whether the articulated business justification is sufficient “depends on the case,” in view of “all salient factors pertaining to the proceeding." Id. To the extent the Settlement Agreement involves the use of estate property, the Debtors have articulated sufficient business justification in support thereof. The Settlement Agreement permits the Debtors to maintain a risk sharing program with St. Vincent IPA until the sale of St. Vincent has closed. The risk sharing program enables the Debtors to efficiently operate St. Vincent pending closing of the sale.

United States Bankruptcy Court

Bankruptcy Rule 9019 provides that the Court may approve a compromise or settlement. "In determining the fairness, reasonableness and adequacy of a proposed settlement agreement, the court must consider: (a) The probability of success in the litigation; (b) the difficulties, if any, to be encountered in the matter of collection; (c) the complexity of the litigation involved, and the expense, inconvenience and delay necessarily attending it; (d) the paramount interest of the creditors and a proper deference to their reasonable views in the premises." Martin v. Kane (In re A&C Properties), 784 F.2d 1377, 1381 (9th Cir. 1986). "[C]ompromises are favored in bankruptcy, and the decision of the bankruptcy judge to approve or disapprove the compromise of the parties rests in the sound discretion of the bankruptcy judge." In re Sassalos, 160 B.R. 646, 653 (D. Ore. 1993). In approving a settlement agreement, the Court must "canvass the issues and see whether the settlement 'falls below the lowest point in the range of reasonableness.'" Cosoff v. Rodman (In re W.T. Grant Co.), 699 F.2d 599, 608 (2d Cir. 1983). To the extent that the Settlement Agreement can be characterized as a compromise, the Court finds that the Settlement Agreement is adequate, fair, and reasonable, and is in the best interests of the estate and creditors.

Probability of Success on the Merits and Complexity of the Litigation

These factors weigh in favor of approving the Settlement Agreement. Litigation of the issues resolved by the Settlement Agreement would involve disputes over complex calculations used to determine amounts owed under the Risk Pool Agreement. Such fact-intensive litigation would be time-consuming and expensive. The possibility that additional litigation might yield a result nominally more favorable to the estate cannot be ruled out. Yet any such result obtained through litigation would be a pyrrhic victory from the perspective of the estate and creditors, because the additional administrative costs associated with the litigation would on net leave the estate worse off.

Paramount Interests of Creditors

This factor weighs strongly in favor of approving the Settlement Agreement. The Committee supports the Settlement Agreement, and no creditors have objected to the Settlement Agreement.

Difficulties to be Encountered in the Matter of Collection

This factor weighs in favor of approving the Settlement Agreement. The Settlement Agreement contains a True Up mechanism that allows for a resolution of overpayments and underpayments. Absent the Settlement Agreement, St. Vincent IPA and the Debtors might be required to litigate payment disputes.

III. Conclusion

Based upon the foregoing, the Motion is GRANTED in its entirety. Within seven days of the hearing, Movants shall submit an order incorporating this tentative ruling by reference.

Chapter 7

Neilla M. Cenci (the "Debtor") filed this voluntary chapter 7 case on December 6, 2018 (the "Petition Date"). On Schedule B, the Debtor identified her interest in a 401(k) account with "Paychex Retirement Services" with a value of $234,419.24 (the "Retirement Account") [Doc. No. 1, Sch. B]. [Note 1] Debtor claimed the entire Retirement Account as exempt pursuant to California Code of Civil Procedure ("CCP") § 704.115(a)(3), (b), (e) [Doc. No. 1, Sch. C] (the "Retirement Exemption").

The Debtor's former employer, Ball CM, Inc. ("Movant"), objects to the Debtor's Retirement Exemption and seeks an order (1) directing the Debtor not to modify, hypothecate, or otherwise dispose of the Retirement Account until further order of the Court, and (2) directing the Retirement Account Trustee to maintain an administrative freeze on the Debtor's Retirement Account until further notice. In support of its request, Movant attached the declaration of Movant's president, James Christopher Ball (the "Ball Decl."). Mr. Ball testifies as follows:

- The Debtor worked as a bookkeeper for Movant from approximately February 28, 2005 through September 6, 2018. Ball Decl., ¶ 3.
- In 2018, the IRS conducted an audit of Movant's 2015 tax return, which revealed that the Debtor created and perpetrated a fraudulent scheme of misappropriating, embezzling, converting and/or diverting funds from Movant's bank account to pay for her own personal expenses. Id., ¶ 8.
- Over the course of the Debtor's employment, the Debtor forged at least 1,081 checks. Id., ¶ 5, Ex. A.
- Mr. Ball reported the Debtor's theft to the Los Angeles County Sheriff's department and on September 6, 2018, the Debtor was arrested and charged with twenty counts of felony check forgery and theft. Id., ¶¶ 11-12.
- Based on Mr. Ball's ongoing investigation, it appears the Debtor misappropriated, embezzled, converted and/or diverted at least $1,618,388.47 in funds from Movant. Id., ¶ 18.
- Mr. Ball is the plan trustee of the Ball CM 401k plan that is administered by Paychex. Mr. Ball is currently investigating whether the Debtor stole from the 401k plan, including from her fellow employees. Id., ¶ 19.
- On October 22, 2018, the Debtor left Mr. Ball a voice message stating her intent to roll her 401k over to a Wells Fargo IRA. Id., ¶ 22.
- As a result of the Debtor's theft, Movant did not pay taxes on that revenue.

Chapter 7

Mr. Ball believes that the IRS has the legal authority to place a tax lien on the Debtor's 401k account. Id., at ¶ 23.

- Movant needs more time to complete and audit and for the IRS to act, so Mr. Ball would like his administrative freeze on the Debtor's 401k to continue. Id., at ¶¶ 23-24.

On February 27, 2019, the Debtor timely opposed the Objection to Retirement Exemption arguing that the relief Movant seeks is prohibited by the Supreme Court's decision in Guidry v. Sheet Metal Workers National Pension Fund, 493 U.S. 365, 110 S. Ct. 680 (1990), which the Debtor contends prohibits the imposition of a constructive trust to freeze 401(k) assets for the purpose of satisfying a judgment against an embezzling employee. Therefore, the Debtor argues that Movant is wrongfully withholding the funds in the Retirement Account and should be ordered to immediately release the funds to the Debtor.

In reply, Movant argues that it has not improperly alienated the funds in the Retirement Account, but instead has instituted a freeze to maintain the status quo until the disposition of the funds can be adjudicated. Movant also argues that the cases the Debtor relies on are distinguishable because they involved defined benefit pension plans and not 401(k) type retirement accounts. Moreover, Movant is convinced from its own investigation that there will be a successful criminal prosecution of the Debtor, which could result in the Debtor being ordered to pay restitution, although it is too soon to know if this will occur.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

A. Movant Has Not Established A Proper Basis to Disallow Debtor's Retirement Exemption

A claimed exemption is "presumptively valid." In re Diener, 483 B.R. 196, 203 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2012) (citing Carter v. Anderson (In re Carter), 182 F.3d 1027, 1029 n.3 (9th Cir. 1999)). Once an exemption has been claimed, it is the objecting party's burden to prove by a preponderance of the evidence that the exemption is not properly claimed. Id. (citing Fed. R. Bankr. P. 4003(c)); In re Kelley, 300 B.R. 11, 17 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2003). Initially, this means that the objecting party has the burden of production and the burden of persuasion. In re Carter, 182 F.3d at 1029 n.3. The objecting party must produce evidence to rebut the presumptively valid exemption. Id. If the objecting party can produce evidence to rebut the exemption, the burden of production then shifts to the debtor to come forward with unequivocal evidence to demonstrate that the exemption is proper. Id. The burden of persuasion, however, always remains with the objecting party. Id.

Movant appears to argue that the Debtor's Retirement Account exemption should be disallowed based on the Debtor's alleged fraudulent conduct. However, the authority Movant cites is no longer good law following the Supreme Court's ruling in Law v. Siegel, 571 U.S. 415 (2014), and Movant has not identified any other basis to support disallowance of the Debtor's exemption. Therefore, Movant has failed to carry its burden of proof and Movant's objection to the Debtor's retirement exemption is denied.

B. Movant's Request for an Order Authorizing its Freeze of the Retirement Account is Denied

Although styled as an objection to the Debtor's retirement exemption, it appears that Movant's true motivation in filing the motion was to obtain authorization to continue to impose an administrative freeze on the Retirement Account and prohibiting the Debtor from exercising any control over the funds in that account. However, Movant fails to clearly articulate a legal basis for the relief it seeks. Movant cites two decisions involving requests for imposition of preliminary injunctions [Note 2], but Movant neither states that it is seeking a preliminary injunction, nor has it carried its burden of establishing that it would be entitled to one. [Note 3]

Additionally, this is not relief the Court is willing to entertain because the Trustee has already issued her Report of No Distribution and Movant has not shown how its requested relief affects the administration of this bankruptcy case or will provide any benefit to creditors. Rather, it appears Movant's relief would be more appropriately sought before the state court.

Therefore, Movant's request is denied.

#101.00 Hearing re [27] Creditor Ball C M, Inc's Notice Of Objection To Claim Of Homestead Exemption And Objection To Homestead Exemption Claim

Docket 0

Tentative Ruling:

5/6/2019

For the reasons set forth below, CONTINUE HEARING to September 18, 2019 at 11:00 a.m.

Creditor Ball C M, Inc. ("Movant") seeks an order disallowing the Debtor's $175,000 homestead exemption pursuant to § 522(o) [Doc. No. 27] (the "Objection to Homestead Exemption"). Section 522(o) "provides that the value of property claimed as a homestead must be reduced to the extent that the value is attributable to any fraudulent transfers of nonexempt property made by the debtor within 10 years prepetition." In re McNabb, 326 B.R. 785, 787-88 (Bankr. D. Ariz. 2005) (citing 11 U.S.C. § 522(o)). "In light of Congress' adoption in section 522(o) of the identical 'intent to hinder, delay or defraud' language found in section 548(a)(1)(A) and section 727(a)(2), courts may look to case law under these sections for guidance in construing the requisite intent under section 522(o)." 4 Collier on Bankruptcy, ¶ 522.08 (16th ed. 2019). Accordingly, a debtor's exemptible interest in homestead property should not be reduced absent a showing of specific intent to hinder, delay or defraud, but a party may rely upon certain "badges of fraud" to prove the existence of actual fraud. Id.

On March 7, 2019, Movant initiated an adversary proceeding against the Debtor by filing a complaint (the "Complaint") asserting claims under §§ 523(a)(2)(A), (a)(4), (a)(6) and 727(a)(2), (a)(3), (a)(4), and (a)(5) [2:19-ap-01605] (the "Non-Dischargeability Action"). The allegations set forth in the Complaint are substantially similar to the assertions underlying Movant's Objection to Homestead Exemption. Accordingly, it appears that any ruling with respect to the instant motion may have preclusive effect and potentially interfere with the Non-Dischargeability Action. Therefore, the Court finds it appropriate to defer ruling on the Objection to Appearances required. Movants must clarify whether they are willing to limit their recovery in the State Court Action to insurance. If Movants are prepared to so limit their recovery, the Court is prepared to grant stay relief, effective immediately, so that trial of the State Court Action may proceed as scheduled on May 28, 2019. However, if Movants intend to seek a deficiency claim against St. Vincent's estate, granting stay relief at this time would be premature, as it would require the Debtors to devote resources to defending against the State Court Action. In the event that Movants wish to assert a deficiency claim beyond available insurance, the Court is prepared to delay the effectiveness of stay relief until July 19, 2019.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On August 31, 2018 (the "Petition Date"), Verity Health Systems of California ("VHS") and certain of its subsidiaries filed voluntary petitions for relief under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. On August 31, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the Debtors' motion for joint administration of the Debtors' Chapter 11

cases. Doc. No. 17.

Wanda Hadley, Alexandria Hadley, and Gabriella Hadley (collectively, the “Movants”) seek relief from the automatic stay, pursuant to § 362(d)(1), to permit Movants to prosecute a medical malpractice and wrongful death action (the “State Court Action”) against Debtor St. Vincent Medical Center (“St. Vincent”). Non-debtor Anthony Ho, M.D., is also named as a defendant in the State Court Action. Movants commenced the State Court Action on November 28, 2017. Trial in the State Court Action is scheduled to begin on May 28, 2019.

Movants contend that the following grounds exist for stay relief:

- 1) Movants seek recovery only from applicable insurance and waive any deficiency or other claim against St. Vincent or property of St. Vincent’s estate.
- 2) Movants seek recovery primarily from third parties and agree that the stay will remain in effect as to enforcement of any resulting judgment against St. Vincent or St. Vincent’s estate, except that Movants will retain the right to file a proof of claim under § 501 and/or an adversary complaint under §§ 523 or 727.

In Opposition to the Motion, Debtors state that they would consider stipulating to stay relief provided Movants agreed to seek recovery only from insurance and waived any deficiency claim. Debtors note that Movants contradict themselves by first stating that they seek recovery only from applicable insurance, but then stating that they reserve the right to file a proof of claim against St. Vincent’s estate. Debtors further assert that being required to litigate the State Court Action would distract from pressing issues, such as closing the sale of the remaining hospitals. Debtors request that if the Court is inclined to grant stay relief, such relief not take effect until July 19, 2019. The Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors joins the Debtors’ Opposition to the Motion.

No Reply in support of the Motion is on file.

II. Findings and Conclusions

The relief sought by Movants is not consistent. Movants first state that they seek recovery only from applicable insurance and waive any deficiency claim against St. Vincent. Movants then retain the right to file a proof of claim against St. Vincent. If Movants were limiting their recovery to St. Vincent’s insurance, it would not be necessary for them to file a proof of claim.

Movants shall appear to clarify whether they are willing to limit their recovery in the State Court Action to insurance. If Movants are prepared to so limit their recovery, the Court is prepared to grant stay relief, effective immediately, so that trial of the State Court Action may proceed as scheduled on May 28, 2019. However, if Movants intend to seek a deficiency claim against St. Vincent's estate, granting stay relief at this time would be premature, as it would require the Debtors to devote resources to defending against the State Court Action. Such a commitment of resources would interfere with the administration of the estate by distracting the Debtors from the critical task of closing the sale of the Debtors' remaining four hospitals. Although the Court has entered an order approving the sale, the Debtors will be required to devote substantial attention to issues arising in connection with the California Attorney General's review of the sale, the assumption and assignment of executory contracts and unexpired leases, and the treatment of collective bargaining agreements between the Debtors and various unions.

As explained by the Ninth Circuit Bankruptcy Appellate Panel in Kronemyer v. American Contractors Indemnity Co. (In re Kronemyer) (internal citations omitted): "What constitutes 'cause' for granting relief from the automatic stay is decided on a case-by-case basis. Among factors appropriate to consider in determining whether relief from the automatic stay should be granted to allow state court proceedings to continue are considerations of judicial economy and the expertise of the state court, ... as well as prejudice to the parties and whether exclusively bankruptcy issues are involved." 405 B.R. 915, 921. The factors articulated in In re Curtis, 40 B.R. 795, 799-800 (Bankr. D. Utah 1984) and adopted by the bankruptcy court in Truebro, Inc. v. Plumberex Specialty Prods., Inc. (In re Plumberex Specialty Prods., Inc), 311 B.R. 551, 559-60 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2004) are also "appropriate, nonexclusive factors to consider in deciding whether to grant relief from the automatic stay to allow pending litigation to continue in another forum." Kronemyer, 405 B.R. at 921.

Of the twelve Curtis factors, the "most important ... is the effect of [the nonbankruptcy litigation] on the administration of the estate. Even slight interference with the administration may be enough to preclude relief in the absence of a commensurate benefit." Curtis, 40 B.R. at 806. As explained above, if Movants are not willing to limit their recovery to insurance, granting stay relief would interfere with the administration of the estate by distracting the Debtors from important matters pertaining to the closing of the sale of the remaining hospitals. In the event that Movants wish to assert a deficiency claim beyond available insurance, the Court is prepared to delay the effectiveness of stay relief until July 19, 2019.

Tentative Ruling:

5/9/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the R/S Motion is GRANTED.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed

1. Notice of Motion and Motion for Relief from the Automatic Stay Under 11 U.S.C. § 362 (Real Property) [Doc. No. 31] (the "R/S Motion")
2. Debtor's Response to Motion Regarding the Automatic Stay and Declarations in Support [Doc. No. 33] (the "Opposition")

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Debtor-in-possession, Nandini, Inc. (the "Debtor"), filed this voluntary chapter 11 case on December 24, 2018 (the "Petition Date"). On January 7, 2019, the Debtor filed its schedules [Doc. No. 7]. On Schedule A, the Debtor listed a 50% interest in real property located at 1355 Beverly Estate Drive, Beverly Hills, CA 90210 (the "Property") worth $7,000,000, based on an estimated $14,000,000 fair market value. On Schedule D, the Debtor listed the secured claim of Jain 2012 Gift Trust dba Mirada Group ("Jain"), the holder of a first-priority deed of trust on the Property, in the amount of $8,500,000. The Debtor's Schedules do not identify any other secured creditor or any priority or general unsecured creditors. See Doc. No. 7.

Jain presently seeks an order granting it relief from the automatic stay pursuant to §§ 362(d)(1), (2), and (4) to proceed with its foreclosure efforts in accordance with applicable state law. First, Jain argues that cause exists to lift the stay under § 362(d) (1) because: (a) as of the date of the R/S Motion the Debtor has failed to make nineteen (19) monthly payments in the amount of $117,875 each; and (b) Jain's interest is not protected by an adequate equity cushion because Jain's current claim against the Property is $9,194,722.94 which exceeds the Property's estimated fair market value of $8,300,000 [Note 1]. Jain also asserts that the Property is encumbered by an undisclosed judgment lien securing a $57,425.21 judgment. For the same reasons, Jain argues that cause exists to lift the stay under § 362(d)(2) because there is no equity in the Property and, as a result, the Property is not necessary for an effective reorganization.

Next, Jain argues that cause exists to lift the stay under § 362(d)(4) because the Debtor filed this case in bad faith. Specifically, Jain states that on May 29, 2018, the Debtor's sole shareholder Nandini M. Savin ("Ms. Savin"), filed a voluntary individual chapter 13 bankruptcy case [Case No. 2:18-bk-16153-NB] (the "Individual Case"), which was subsequently dismissed on December 21, 2018, with a 180-day refiling bar. Jain states it obtained relief from stay in the Individual Case, but shortly thereafter that case was dismissed, and the Debtor filed this case.

Jain also argues that cause exists to grant stay relief under § 362(d)(4) because the filing of the bankruptcy petition was part of a scheme to delay, hinder, or defraud creditors that involved (a) the Debtor's transfer of a 50% interest in the Property to Ms. Savin without Jain's consent or court approval, and (b) multiple bankruptcy cases affecting the Property, which includes the Individual Case and the instant case.

On April 29, 2019, the Debtor filed a timely Opposition to the R/S Motion [Doc. No. 33]. The Debtor denies that this bankruptcy case was filed in bad faith and argues that Jain is adequately protected by a 34% equity cushion because the fair market value of the Property is $14,000,000 based upon an appraisal the Debtor obtained on December 1, 2018, shortly before filing this case. In support of its Opposition, the Debtor attached the Declaration of Ms. Savin (the "Savin Decl."). Ms. Savin testifies, in relevant part, that she transferred a 50% interest in the Property from the Debtor to herself in August 2017 on the advice of her accountant and that the transfer was done at a time when the loan was not in default. Savin Decl., ¶¶ 6-7.

As of the date of this tentative ruling, no reply is on file.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Section 362(d)(4) provides that on request of a party in interest and after notice and a hearing, the court shall grant relief from the stay with respect to an act against the property if the court finds that the filing of the petition was part of a scheme to delay, hinder or defraud creditors that involved either (1) the transfer of all or part ownership of or interest in the property without the consent of the secured creditor or court approval or (2) multiple bankruptcy filings affecting the property. 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(4).

"[T]he Code requires more than just the occurrence of [] multiple filings. It requires that 'the filing of the petition was part of a scheme to delay, hinder or defraud creditors.'" In re Khurana, 2015 Bankr. LEXIS 2399, at *23-24 (Bankr. D. Idaho July 21, 2015). Factors considered in determining whether the filing of the petition was part of a scheme to delay, hinder or defraud include:

The number of bankruptcy filings; their frequency; the time lapsed between filings; whether the filings were dismissed, and for what reasons; whether the evidence suggests that the debtor had a legitimate belief that it could reorganize in such cases; the strategic timing of the cases, especially in relation to creditor collection efforts such as foreclosure; any changes in circumstances between the various case; and others.

Id. at *25-26.

The Court finds that there is sufficient evidence to grant relief pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(4). First, Ms. Savin concedes that she transferred 50% of the Debtor's interest in the Property to herself in August 2017. Savin Decl., ¶ 6. The fact that Ms. Savin acted on the advice of her accountant does not change the fact that the transfer was without Jain's consent.

Second, this is the second bankruptcy filing affecting the Property within one year and Ms. Savin's Individual Case was dismissed with a 180-day refiling bar just three days before the commencement of this case. See 2:18-bk-16153-NB, Doc. No. 107.

The Court also notes that on December 6, 2018, eighteen days before the commencement of this case, the bankruptcy court entered an order granting Jain's motion for relief from stay under § 362(d)(1) in the Individual Case. Id., Doc No. 103. Based on this Court's review of the docket and pleadings in the Individual Case, it appears that in the approximately seven-month duration of that case, Ms. Savin tried to refinance or sell the Property without success.

Additionally, the Court does not find that the Debtor had a legitimate belief that it could reorganize its affairs in this case because the Debtor's Schedules reveal that the Debtor does not have any creditors, other than Jain, and the Debtor's Monthly Operating Reports reveal that the Debtor does not have any meaningful business to reorganize. See Doc. Nos. 1, 7, 20, 21, 25 & 30. Furthermore, despite having had the benefit of an additional five months of stay protection, the Debtor has not filed a disclosure statement and plan of reorganization, sought to employ a real estate broker, or otherwise demonstrated that it is taking meaningful steps to sell or refinance the Property. Nor has the Debtor demonstrated that in there has been any meaningful change in circumstances that will facilitate a successful reorganization in this case. [Note 2] Therefore, it appears that the Debtor is simply enjoying the benefit of twelve months of stay protection, and nineteen months of rent-free living, without any realistic hope of retaining the Property.

For the foregoing reasons, the Court finds that the filing of the petition was part of a scheme to delay and hinder Jain's efforts to exercise its state law foreclosure rights in connection with the Property. For the same reasons, the R/S Motion is granted pursuant to section 362(d)(1) based on Debtor's bad faith filing.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the R/S Motion is GRANTED pursuant to §§ 362(d)(1) and (d)(4). The 14-day period specified in Fed. R. Bankr. P. 4001(a)(3) is waived. This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. If recorded in compliance with applicable State laws governing notices of interests or liens in real property, the order shall be binding in any other case under this title purporting to affect such real property filed not later than 2 years after the date of the entry of such order by the Court, except that a debtor in a subsequent case under this title may move for relief from such order based upon changed circumstances or for good cause shown, after notice and a hearing. Any Federal, State, or local governmental unit that accepts notices of interests or liens in real property shall accept a certified copy of this order for indexing and recording. All other relief is denied.

Jain is directed to lodge a conforming proposed order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Daniel Koontz or Jessica Vogel at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. If you wish to make a telephonic appearance, contact Court Call at 888-882-6878, no later than one hour before the hearing.

Note 1: Jain also notes that in the Individual Case (defined above), Ms. Savin's schedule A valued the Property at $7,800,000 under penalty of perjury. Declaration of Martin Phillips, ¶ 3. Jain states that in connection with certain pleadings filed in the Individual Case, Ms. Savin later filed a broker's price opinion estimating the value of the Property in the range of $8,500,000 - $9,000,000. Id., ¶ 5.

Note 2: The Court acknowledges the Debtor's contention that Jain is protected by a 34% equity cushion based on the $14,000,000 fair market value estimate provided by the Debtor's appraiser. While the extent and adequacy of any equity cushion will not alter the final outcome in view of the Court's findings the cause exists to grant relief under §§ 362(d)(1) and (d)(4), the Court notes that it does not assign much weight, if any, to the Ford appraisal because Mr. Ford, and/or the Debtor, have failed to adequately explain the nearly 200% increase in value from the initial $7,800,000 valuation provided six months earlier in Ms. Savin's Schedules filed on June 26, 2018. See 2:18-bk-16153-NB, Doc.  VACATED  REASON: CONTINUED 6-11-19 AT 10:00 A.M.

Tentative Ruling:

The Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee") shall appear to respond to the Court's concerns, set forth below.

The Trustee has collected and is holding receivables in the amount of $23,117.15 in a segregated account (the "Segregated Funds"). The Segregated Funds are encumbered by security interests asserted by Defendants FinishLine Capital, Inc., ML Factors Funding, LLC, Last Chance Funding, Inc., TVT Capital, LLC, Complete Business Solutions Group, Inc., Karish Kapital LLC, and Yellowstone Capital West, LLC. The Trustee is unable to determine which Defendant is entitled to the Segregated Funds. The Trustee is willing to deliver the Segregated Funds to whichever Defendant is entitled to receive them.

Pursuant to Cal. Code Civ. Proc. § 386, the Trustee seeks the following relief:

- 1) An order directing the Clerk of the Court to hold the Segregated Funds pending determination of the rights of the Defendants;
- 2) An order requiring Defendants to litigate their respective rights and claims in and to the Segregated Funds;
- 3) An order discharging the Trustee from any and all liability on account of

- the claims of each of the Defendants in and to the Segregated Funds; and
- 4) An award of costs and reasonable attorneys' fees, to be determined by the Court and paid out of the Segregated Funds.

Each Defendant was required to respond to the Complaint by no later than October 17, 2018. None of the Defendants have responded to the Complaint. In his Unilateral Status Report, the Trustee states that he intends to file a motion to deposit the Segregated Funds to the Court's registry.

Cal. Code Civ. Proc. § 386 provides:

Any person, firm, corporation, association or other entity against whom double or multiple claims are made, or may be made, by two or more persons which are such that they may give rise to double or multiple liability, may bring an action against the claimants to compel them to interplead and litigate their several claims.

In Dial 800 v. Fesbinder, 118 Cal. App. 4th 32, 42–43, 12 Cal. Rptr. 3d 711, 718 (2004), as modified (May 5, 2004), the California Court of Appeal explained the purpose and structure of interpleader actions brought under Cal. Code Civ. Proc. § 386:

In an interpleader action, the court initially determines the right of the plaintiff to interplead the funds; if that right is sustained, an interlocutory decree is entered which requires the defendants to interplead and litigate their claims to the funds. Upon an admission of liability and deposit of monies with the court, the plaintiff then may be discharged from liability and dismissed from the interpleader action. The effect of such an order is to preserve the fund, discharge the stakeholder from further liability, and to keep the fund in the court's custody until the rights of the potential claimants of the monies can be adjudicated. Thus, the interpleader proceeding is traditionally viewed as two lawsuits in one. The first dispute is between the stakeholder and the claimants to determine the right to interplead the funds. The second dispute to be resolved is who is to receive the interpleaded funds.

Dial 800, 118 Cal. App. 4th at 42–43 (internal citations omitted).

To satisfy his right to interplead the funds, the Trustee must "show that the defendants make conflicting claims" to the funds, and that the Trustee "cannot safely determine which claim is valid ..." Placer Foreclosure, Inc. v. Aflalo, 23 Cal. App. 5th 1109, 1113, 233 Cal. Rptr. 3d 694, 697 (Ct. App. 2018).

The Trustee shall appear at the hearing to address the following issues. First, the Court requires a further explanation regarding why the Trustee "cannot safely determine" which of the claims asserted by the Defendants is valid. Placer Foreclosure, 23 Cal. App. 5th at 1113. The Complaint alleges that each Defendant has recorded UCC financing statements against the Debtor's assets with the California Secretary of State. It is unclear to the Court why the Trustee cannot determine which Defendant is entitled to the funds by examining the priority of the security interests asserted by the Defendants.

Second, the Court requires further information regarding the Trustee's plans to resolve this action given the failure of any of the Defendants to respond to the Complaint. Seven entities have asserted security interests against the Segregated Funds, which amount to only $23,117.15. In the event the Court determines that the Trustee is entitled to be paid reasonable attorneys' fees from the Segregated Funds, the amount available to the Defendants will be even less. Given the small amount at issue, it would not be surprising if one or more of the Defendants continued to decline to respond to the litigation. If the Defendants refuse to participate in the litigation, how can the Court determine which Defendant is entitled to the funds?

Tentative Ruling:

5/13/2019

Plaintiff has obtained final judgment in the State Court (the “State Court Judgment”) against Defendant, awarding Plaintiff damages of $225,000 for sexual battery (Cal. Civ. Code § 1798.5), gender violence (Cal. Civ. Code § 52.4), and violation of the Ralph Civil Rights Act (Cal. Civ. Code § 57.7). The portion of the State Court Judgment awarding Plaintiff attorneys’ fees in the amount of approximately $2.5 million remains subject to an appeal and is not yet final. However, the State Court Judgment’s award of costs in the amount of $84,090.34 is final.

On February 4, 2019, the Court found that the portion of the State Court Judgment awarding damages and costs was non-dischargeable pursuant to § 523(a)(6). Doc. Nos. 42 and 45–46. The Court stated that adjudication of the dischargeability of the fee portion of the State Court Judgment would occur once that aspect of the judgment became final.

On March 19, 2019, Defendant filed a Chapter 13 petition, Case No. 2:19-bk-12964-NB. (The Chapter 7 case in which this litigation arose was closed on August 22, 2017.) Defendant’s motion to convert his Chapter 13 case to Chapter 11 is set to be heard by Judge Bason on May 16, 2019.

The Court notes that as a result of Defendant’s recent Chapter 13 petition, the appeal of the attorneys’ fees portion of the State Court Judgment has been stayed. A continued Status Conference will be held on September 10, 2019, at 10:00 a.m. A Joint Status Report, which shall discuss the status of Defendant’s appeal of the State Court’s award of attorneys’ fees, shall be submitted by no later than fourteen days prior to the hearing.

On December 21, 2018, the Court entered an order extending the deadline for the United States Trustee (the "UST") to file either a complaint objecting to the Debtor/Defendant's discharge or a motion to dismiss Debtor/Defendant's bankruptcy case pursuant to § 707(b). Bankr. Doc. No. 31. On December 27, 2018, the Court entered an order staying this adversary proceeding. Adv. Doc. No. 16. The Court found that this dischargeability action would be rendered moot if the UST filed a complaint objecting to discharge and prevailed.

The UST has not filed a complaint objecting to Debtor/Defendant's discharge or a motion to dismiss Debtor/Defendant's bankruptcy case. However, creditor Alvaro Cortes ("Cortes") has filed a complaint (1) objecting to the dischargeability of specific indebtedness under § 523(a)(2)(A) and (a)(6) and (2) objecting to the Debtor/Defendant's discharge under § 727(a)(2).

If Cortes prevails on his claims under § 727(a)(2), this action will be rendered moot. Therefore, the Court will maintain the stay that was previously ordered until Cortes' § 727(a)(2) claims have been adjudicated. A continued Status Conference will be held on September 10, 2019, at 10:00 a.m. A Joint Status Report shall be

#14.00 Status Hearing RE: [1] Adversary case 2:19-ap-01024. Complaint by Amy's Pastry. Inc. against Fabricio Mejia, Ana Gloria Mejia. 2, & 3) Nature of Suit: (62 (Dischargeability - 523(a)(2), false pretenses, false representation, actual fraud)),(68 (Dischargeability - 523(a)(6), willful and malicious injury)),(41 (Objection / revocation of discharge - 727(c),(d),(e))) (Bensamochan, Eric)

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

5/13/2019

Appearances required.

The caption of the Complaint names Fabricio Mejia and Ana Mejia (who filed a joint voluntary Chapter 7 petition) as defendants. However, all of the Complaint's allegations are directed toward only Fabricio Mejia. It appears that the inclusion of Ana Mejia as a defendant may have been in error. Plaintiff must appear to clarify this issue. Since Ana Mejia has not filed an Answer, she may be voluntarily dismissed as a defendant, pursuant to Civil Rule 41(a)(1)(A)(i), if she was sued in error.

The Summons and Complaint were not properly served upon Defendants Fabricio Mejia and Ana Gloria Mejia. The Proof of Service [Adv. Doc. No. 6] states that the Summons and Complaint were served upon Jennifer Ann Aragon at 717 W. Temple St. #201, Los Angeles, CA 90012. Ms. Aragon filed a joint voluntary Chapter 7 petition on the Defendants' behalf. However, the Disclosure of Compensation of Attorney for Debtors [Bankr. Doc. No. 1] provides that Ms. Aragon's services do not include "representation of the debtors in any dischargeability actions ..." Therefore, service of the Summons and Complaint upon Ms. Aragon was not sufficient because Ms. Aragon was not acting as the Defendants' attorney with respect to the dischargeability litigation.

Defendant Fabricio Mejia waived any defects as to service by filing an Answer to the Complaint on February 13, 2019. See Civil Rule 12(b)(6) (providing that the defense of insufficient service of process "must be made before pleading if a responsive pleading is allowed"). Because Ana Mejia has not filed an Answer, it will be necessary for Plaintiff to obtain an alias summons in the event that Plaintiff intends to continue to prosecute the action against her.

In the event that Plaintiff elects to voluntarily dismiss Ana Mejia, the Court is prepared to order the following with respect to the litigation against Fabricio Mejia:

- 1) The following litigation deadlines shall apply:
 - a) The last day to amend pleadings and/or join other parties is 6/13/2019.
 - b) The last day to disclose expert witnesses and expert witness reports is 10/15/2019.
 - c) The last day to disclose rebuttal expert witnesses and rebuttal expert witness reports is 11/15/2019.
 - d) The last date to complete discovery relating to expert witnesses (e.g., depositions of expert witnesses), including hearings on motions related to expert discovery, is 12/15/2019. (For contemplated hearings on motions related to expert discovery, it is counsel's responsibility to check the Judge's self-calendaring dates, posted on the Court's website. If the expert discovery cutoff date falls on a date when the court is closed or that is not available for self-calendaring, the deadline for hearings on expert discovery motions is the next closest date which is available for self-calendaring.)
 - e) The last day for dispositive motions to be heard is 12/24/2019. (If the motion cutoff date is not available for self-calendaring, the deadline for dispositive motions to be heard is the next closest date which is available for self-calendaring.)
 - f) The last day to complete discovery (except as to experts), including hearings on discovery motions, is 12/28/2019. (If the non-expert discovery cutoff date is not available for self-calendaring, the deadline for non-expert discovery motions to be heard is the next closest date which is available for self-calendaring.)
 - g) A Pretrial Conference is set for 1/14/2020 at 11:00 a.m. By no later than fourteen days prior to the Pretrial Conference, the parties must submit a Joint Pretrial Stipulation via the Court's Lodged Order Upload (LOU) system. Submission via LOU allows the Court to edit the Joint Pretrial Stipulation, if necessary. Parties should consult the Court Manual, section 4, for information about LOU.

and the preparation of the Pretrial Stipulation:

- i) By no later than thirty days prior to the Pretrial Conference, the parties must exchange copies of all exhibits which each party intends to introduce into evidence (other than exhibits to be used solely for impeachment or rebuttal).
 - ii) When preparing the Pretrial Stipulation, all parties shall stipulate to the admissibility of exhibits whenever possible. In the event any party cannot stipulate to the admissibility of an exhibit, that party must file a Motion in Limine which clearly identifies each exhibit alleged to be inadmissible and/or prejudicial. The moving party must set the Motion in Limine for hearing at the same time as the Pretrial Conference; notice and service of the Motion shall be governed by LBR 9013-1. The Motion in Limine must contain a statement of the specific prejudice that will be suffered by the moving party if the Motion is not granted. The Motion must be supported by a memorandum of points and authorities containing citations to the applicable Federal Rules of Evidence, relevant caselaw, and other legal authority. Blanket or boilerplate evidentiary objections not accompanied by detailed supporting argument are prohibited, will be summarily overruled, and may subject the moving party to sanctions.
 - iii) The failure of a party to file a Motion in Limine complying with the requirements of ¶(1)(h)(ii) shall be deemed a waiver of any objections to the admissibility of an exhibit.
 - iv) Motions in Limine seeking to exclude testimony to be offered by any witness shall comply with the requirements set forth in ¶(2)(h)(ii), and shall be filed by the deadline specified in ¶(2)(h)(ii). The failure of a party to file a Motion in Limine shall be deemed a waiver of any objections to the admissibility of a witness's testimony.

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

5/13/2019

Defendant filed an Answer to the Complaint on the same day that Plaintiff filed a Request for Entry of Default. The Answer was filed 21 days late. Although the Answer was not timely filed, the Court will direct the Clerk of the Court (the "Clerk") not to enter default as requested by Plaintiff. As explained below, entry of default would be a useless act that would needlessly increase costs and cause unnecessary delay because Defendant could successfully move to set aside default if it were entered.

Civil Rule 55(c) provides: "The court may set aside an entry of default for good cause." "The 'good cause' standard that governs vacating an entry of default under Rule 55(c) is the same standard that governs vacating a default judgment under Rule 60(b)." Franchise Holding II, LLC v. Huntington Restaurants Grp., Inc., 375 F.3d 922, 925 (9th Cir. 2004). The Court may deny a motion to vacate a default for any of the following reasons: "(1) the plaintiff would be prejudiced if the judgment is set aside, (2) defendant has no meritorious defense, or (3) the defendant's culpable conduct led to the default." Am. Ass'n of Naturopathic Physicians v. Hayhurst, 227 F.3d 1104, 1108 (9th Cir. 2000), as amended on denial of reh'g (Nov. 1, 2000). Because "[t]his tripartite test is disjunctive," Plaintiff is required to demonstrate only that one of the factors applies in order for the Court to deny the motion to vacate default. Id.

Here, none of the factors apply, so it is appropriate for the Court to direct the Clerk to take no action on the Request for Entry of Default in order to avoid unnecessary costs and delay. First, no prejudice inures to Plaintiff. Merely being required to litigate the merits of a claim does not qualify as prejudice. TCI Grp. Life

Ins. Plan v. Knoebber, 244 F.3d 691, 701 (9th Cir. 2001). Second, Defendant may have a meritorious defense. Defendant's burden with respect to this factor is "not extraordinarily heavy"; Defendant is required only to allege sufficient facts to constitute a defense. TCI Grp., 244 F.3d at 700. By filing an Answer that denies the Complaint's operative allegations, Defendant has satisfied this factor. Third, there is no indication that Defendant's brief delay in answering the Complaint was culpable. "[A] defendant's conduct [is] culpable for ... where there is no explanation of the default inconsistent with a devious, deliberate, willful, or bad faith failure to respond." Employee Painters' Trust v. Ethan Enterprises, Inc., 480 F.3d 993, 1000 (9th Cir. 2007). Filing an Answer 21 days late is not devious or in bad faith.

Based upon the foregoing, and having reviewed the Unilateral Status Reports filed by Plaintiff and Defendant, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED AS FOLLOWS:

- 1) The Clerk is directed to take no action on Plaintiff's Request for Entry of Default.
- 2) The following litigation deadlines shall apply:

Ltd. v. Sharif, 135 S. Ct. 1932 (2015). Failure to raise the issue in accordance with the requirements set forth above will be deemed consent to this court's authority to enter a final order or judgment.

Scheduling Order at ¶ 6.

In the Joint Status Report [Doc. No. 23] filed on April, 2019, Defendant checked the box indicating that it does not consent to entry of a final judgment by the Bankruptcy Court. However, Defendant did not file a written objection to the Bankruptcy Court's entry of final judgment, as required by the Scheduling Order. Therefore, Defendant is deemed to consent to the Bankruptcy Court's authority to enter a final judgment.

Having reviewed the Joint Status Report filed by the parties, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED AS FOLLOWS:

- 1) The litigation deadlines previously ordered are modified pursuant to the parties' request. The following litigation deadlines shall apply:
 - a) The last day to amend pleadings and/or join other parties is 6/13/2019.
 - b) The last day to disclose expert witnesses and expert witness reports is 10/15/2019.
 - c) The last day to disclose rebuttal expert witnesses and rebuttal expert witness reports is 11/15/2019.
 - d) The last date to complete discovery relating to expert witnesses (e.g., depositions of expert witnesses), including hearings on motions related to expert discovery, is 12/15/2019. (For contemplated hearings on motions related to expert discovery, it is counsel's responsibility to check the Judge's self-calendaring dates, posted on the Court's website. If the expert discovery cutoff date falls on a date when the court is closed or that is not available for self-calendaring, the deadline for hearings on expert discovery motions is the next closest date which is available for self-calendaring.)
 - e) The last day for dispositive motions to be heard is 12/24/2019. (If the motion cutoff date is not available for self-calendaring, the deadline for dispositive motions to be heard is the next closest date which is available for self-calendaring.)
 - f) The last day to complete discovery (except as to experts), including hearings on discovery motions, is 12/28/2019. (If the non-expert discovery

- g) A Pretrial Conference is set for 1/14/2020 at 11:00 a.m. By no later than fourteen days prior to the Pretrial Conference, the parties must submit a Joint Pretrial Stipulation via the Court's Lodged Order Upload (LOU) system. Submission via LOU allows the Court to edit the Joint Pretrial Stipulation, if necessary. Parties should consult the Court Manual, section 4, for information about LOU.
- h) In addition to the procedures set forth in Local Bankruptcy Rule 7016-1(b), the following procedures govern the conduct of the Pretrial Conference and the preparation of the Pretrial Stipulation:
 - i) By no later than thirty days prior to the Pretrial Conference, the parties must exchange copies of all exhibits which each party intends to introduce into evidence (other than exhibits to be used solely for impeachment or rebuttal).
 - ii) When preparing the Pretrial Stipulation, all parties shall stipulate to the admissibility of exhibits whenever possible. In the event any party cannot stipulate to the admissibility of an exhibit, that party must file a Motion in Limine which clearly identifies each exhibit alleged to be inadmissible and/or prejudicial. The moving party must set the Motion in Limine for hearing at the same time as the Pretrial Conference; notice and service of the Motion shall be governed by LBR 9013-1. The Motion in Limine must contain a statement of the specific prejudice that will be suffered by the moving party if the Motion is not granted. The Motion must be supported by a memorandum of points and authorities containing citations to the applicable Federal Rules of Evidence, relevant caselaw, and other legal authority. Blanket or boilerplate evidentiary objections not accompanied by detailed supporting argument are prohibited, will be summarily overruled, and may subject the moving party to sanctions.
 - iii) The failure of a party to file a Motion in Limine complying with the requirements of ¶(1)(h)(ii) shall be deemed a waiver of any objections to the admissibility of an exhibit.
 - iv) Motions in Limine seeking to exclude testimony to be offered by any witness shall comply with the requirements set forth in ¶(2)(h)(ii), and

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On August 31, 2018 (the "Petition Date"), Verity Health Systems of California ("VHS") and certain of its subsidiaries (collectively, the "Debtors") filed voluntary petitions for relief under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. On August 31, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the Debtors' motion for joint administration of the Debtors' Chapter 11 cases. Doc. No. 17.

Premier, Inc. and certain of its subsidiaries (collectively, "Premier") is set for May 21, 2019 (the "Rule 9019 Motion"). In support of the Rule 9019 Motion, Debtors seek authorization to file under seal certain agreements that the Debtors and Premier entered into prior to the Petition Date (the "Confidential Agreements"). The Confidential Agreements may be described as follows:

- 1) Pursuant to the Performance Suite Solutions Subscription Agreement, dated November 14, 2011 (the "Subscription Agreement"), Premier provides technology licensing solutions and other products and services to the Debtors. The Subscription Agreement contains information regarding Premier's packaging of various technical solutions and the fee structures offered by Premier to its customers.
- 2) Pursuant to several Fair Market Valuation Engagement Agreements (the "FMV Engagement Agreements"), Premier provides the Debtors with consulting services. The FMV Engagement Agreements describe Premier's methodologies and the fees charged by Premier for its services.
- 3) Pursuant to several Business Associates Agreements (the "BAA Agreements"), VHS discloses to Premier patient information protected under the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 ("HIPAA").

The Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors (the "Committee") does not oppose the Motion. No other parties have filed an opposition to the Motion.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Section 107(b) provides in relevant part: "On request of a party in interest, the bankruptcy court shall ... protect an entity with respect to a trade secret or confidential research, development, or commercial information." Bankruptcy Rule 9018 implements § 107, and provides in relevant part:

On motion or on its own initiative, with or without notice, the court may make any order which justice requires ... to protect the estate or any entity in respect of a trade secret or other confidential research, development, or commercial information If an order is entered under this rule without notice, any entity affected thereby may move to vacate or modify the order, and after a hearing on notice the court shall determine the motion.

Commercial information is "information which would cause 'an unfair advantage to competitors by providing them information as to the commercial operations of the debtor.'" Video Software Dealers Ass'n v. Orion Pictures Corp. (In re Orion Pictures Corp.), 21 F.3d 24, 27 (2d Cir. 1994) (internal citations omitted); Ad Hoc Protective Comm. for 10 1/2% Debenture Holders v. Itel Corp. (In re Itel Corp.), 17 B.R. 942, 944 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1982) (explaining that "commercial information" is information that, if disclosed, would afford "an unfair advantage to competitors by providing them information as to the commercial operations of the debtor").

Confidential commercial information qualifies for protection under § 107(b) even if it does not rise to the level of a trade secret. Orion Pictures Corp., 21 F.3d at 27. A party seeking a protective order under § 107 need not satisfy Civil Rule 26, which provides that a protective order may issue only "for good cause":

When Congress addressed the secrecy problem in § 107(b) of the Bankruptcy Code it imposed no requirement to show "good cause" as a condition to sealing confidential commercial information. This omission is particularly significant because FRCP 26(c), from which the language of § 107(b) appears to have been drawn, expressly required "good cause" to be established before a discovery protective order could be granted—even when the material sought to be protected was "a trade secret or other confidential research, development, or commercial information."

Protection under § 107 is mandatory upon a showing that the information at issue falls within a protected category:

In other areas of the law, courts have relied on showings of "compelling reasons," or balancing the interests of privacy and public right to know, when reviewing a request for judicial non-disclosure. The mandatory language of § 107(b) negates the need for such inquiries. Thus, if the information fits any of the specified categories, the court is required to protect a requesting interested party and has no discretion to deny the application. The discretion lies not in whether a court may protect an interested party, but in whether the matters complained of fall within the exception and in what type of protective remedy is necessary under the facts of each case.

Under § 107, the strength of the public’s interest in a particular judicial record is irrelevant; if the exception pertains, the bankruptcy court must issue a protective order on a motion by the affected person or party.”).

The Court finds that the Confidential Agreements contain “confidential ... commercial information” within the meaning of § 107(b). The Confidential Agreements set forth the fees charged by Premier for its consulting and technical services and contain information regarding Premier’s commercial terms, methodologies, and product and service details. The Motion is supported by the uncontroverted testimony of Lauri Bini, Premier’s corporate counsel, that Premier maintains the confidentiality of the information set forth in the Confidential Agreements, and that disclosure of such information would harm Premier’s competitive position. The Court finds that disclosure would put Premier at a competitive disadvantage relative to competitors not required to disclose equivalent information. Because the Confidential Information constitutes “commercial information” as that term is defined in § 107(b), protection is mandatory.

Based upon the foregoing, the Motion is GRANTED in its entirety. By no later than Thursday, May 16, 2019, the Debtors shall deliver the Confidential Agreements to Judge Robles’ chambers in a sealed envelope (or envelopes) clearly marked “CONFIDENTIAL.” The Confidential Agreements shall be accompanied by a cover page containing the case caption and the title “Sealed Documents Filed in Support of Motion for Approval of Compromise with Premier Inc. Docket 1

5/13/2019

On January 24, 2019, the Court denied Plaintiff's Motion for Summary Judgment [Doc. No. 31] and denied Plaintiff's request for leave to amend the Complaint. Doc. Nos. 55 and 57. After considering the denial of the Motion for Summary Judgment and the costs of continued litigation, Plaintiff requests that the adversary proceeding be dismissed. Defendant asserts that Plaintiff has committed a material default by failing to comply with its obligations regarding preparation of the Joint Pretrial Stipulation and argues that the action should be dismissed for failure to prosecute.

Since both parties have requested dismissal, the Court will deem the parties to have stipulated to the dismissal of the action pursuant to Civil Rule 41(a)(1)(A)(ii). The Court will prepare and enter an order deeming the action to have been voluntarily dismissed, with prejudice, pursuant to said rule.

Tentative Ruling:

This is an action to quiet title, brought by Raviner Kuma Bhatia and Johanna Arias-Bhatia against Fidel Ramirez. On August 15, 2011, Fidel Ramirez and Liduvina Ramirez commenced a voluntary Chapter 7 petition. The Ramirezes' case was closed on November 22, 2011.

Ramirez holds a Short Form Deed of Trust and Assignment of Rents (the "Deed of Trust") against property located at 721 N. Alta Vista Blvd, Los Angeles, CA 90046 (the "Property"). The Deed of Trust is dated February 27, 2007, but was not recorded until March 2, 2012. Ramirez failed to disclose the Deed of Trust in his Chapter 7 case. The Bhatias dispute the validity of the Deed of Trust.

On March 16, 2018, the Bhatias reached a settlement with Ramirez, under which the Bhatias agreed to pay Ramirez $31,000 to release the Deed of Trust. Solorzano Decl. at ¶4 [Doc. No. 25]; Motion to Reopen filed in Ramirez's Chapter 7 case [Doc. No. 17, Case No. 1:11-bk-17676-VK]. Recognizing that Ramirez had failed to disclose the Deed of Trust in his Chapter 7 case, the Bhatias notified the United States Trustee (the "UST") of the settlement. The UST filed a motion seeking to reopen Ramirez's case, which was granted on August 6, 2018. See Doc. No. 20, Case No. 1:11-bk-17676-VK. David K. Gottlieb ("Trustee Gottlieb") is serving as the Trustee in Ramirez's case.

days, to allow him to investigate the facts of this action, and potentially substitute in as the real party-in-interest. The Bhatias likewise request a continuance.

It appears that any settlement proceeds payable to Ramirez are most likely an asset of Ramirez's estate, meaning that Trustee Gottlieb would be required to approve any settlement of this action. The Court finds it appropriate to continue the Pretrial Conference for 90 days to allow Trustee Gottlieb to determine whether the $31,000 proposed settlement is adequate. A continued Pretrial Conference shall be held on November 13, 2018, at 11:00 a.m. Unless a settlement of this action has been approved by the Court, a Joint Pretrial Order must be submitted, via the Court's Lodged Order Upload (LOU) system, by no later than fourteen days prior to the hearing. The trial is continued to the week of November 26, 2018.

The Court will prepare and enter an appropriate order.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On March 18, 2015, Alvaro Cortes ("Plaintiff") commenced an action in the Los Angeles Superior Court (the "State Court") against Jeremy LeClair (the "Defendant") and other parties (the "State Court Action"). The State Court Action alleged that Defendant fraudulently offered and sold unqualified, non-exempt securities in the form of operating agreements, bridge loans, and promissory notes. Chapter 7

2016, Plaintiff obtained authorization from the State Court to serve Defendant by publication. Plaintiff published the summons in the Los Angeles Daily Journal on March 17, 2016, March 24, 2016, March 31, 2016, and April 7, 2016. On June 21, 2016, Plaintiff obtained entry of default against the Defendant. On March 28, 2017, the State Court entered default judgment against the Defendant in the amount of $590,908.50 (the "State Court Judgment").

On June 12, 2018, Defendant filed a voluntary Chapter 7 petition in the Western District of North Carolina (the "North Carolina Bankruptcy Court"). On August 29, 2018, the North Carolina Bankruptcy Court found that the proper venue for Defendant's case was the Central District of California, Los Angeles Division. The conclusion was based on a finding that the Defendant currently resides in Hacienda Heights, California. See Order on Motion to Dismiss and Motion to Transfer Case [Bankr. Doc. No. 1] at ¶¶ 6–7. Defendant's bankruptcy case was transferred to this court on August 30, 2018.

On November 30, 2018, Plaintiff filed the instant Complaint to Determine Dischargeability of Debt and for Money Judgment [Adv. Doc. No. 1] (the "Complaint"). The Complaint alleges that the indebtedness established by the State Court Judgment is excepted from Defendant's discharge pursuant to § 523(a)(2)(A) and (a)(6). The Complaint further alleges that Defendant's discharge should be denied, pursuant to § 727(a)(2)(A), because Defendant transferred substantial assets to others for the purpose of hindering, delaying, and defrauding creditors within one year prior to the filing of the petition.

On February 28, 2019, the Court denied Defendant's motion to dismiss the Complaint. Adv. Doc. Nos. 17 and 19. The Court rejected Defendant's assertion that the Complaint was not filed within the time period imposed by Bankruptcy Rule 4007. The Court also rejected Defendant's contention that the Complaint's allegations under § 523(a)(6) failed to state a claim upon which relief could be granted.

Summary of Papers Filed in Connection with Defendant's Motion to Set Aside the State Court Judgment

Defendant moves to set aside the State Court Judgment. Defendant states that he was never made aware of the State Court Action while it was pending and that he became aware of the State Court Judgment on April 11, 2017 after viewing an online social media post by a former business partner. Defendant's Declaration in Support of Motion to Set Aside Entry of Default Pursuant to Rule 60(b)(4) and Fed. R. Civ. P. 55(c) ("Defendant's Decl.") at ¶ 3. Defendant argues that the State Court Judgment is void and must be set aside under Civil Rule 60(b)(4) because he was not personally served and because the State Court lacked personal jurisdiction.

Plaintiff opposes the Motion. First, Plaintiff argues that the Bankruptcy Court must give full faith and credit to the State Court Judgment and therefore lacks the ability to find that the State Court Judgment is void. Second, Plaintiff contends that the State Court Complaint was properly served upon Defendant by publication and that the State Court properly exercised personal jurisdiction over the Defendant. Third, Plaintiff asserts that the instant Motion is an improper substitute for an appeal of the State Court Judgment. Finally, Plaintiff argues that the Motion is untimely. Plaintiff notes that Defendant admits that he became aware of the State Court Judgment on April 11, 2017, and emphasizes that Defendant took no action until the filing of the instant Motion.

In reply, Defendant reiterates his contention that the State Court Judgment is void because the State Court lacked personal jurisdiction over him. Defendant further asserts that Plaintiff's application to serve the State Court Complaint by publication was deficient, because Plaintiff did not sufficiently establish that he was unable to ascertain Defendant's address.

II. Findings and Conclusions

A. The Motion is Denied

Under the Rooker-Feldman doctrine, Defendant's attempt to set aside the State Court Judgment as void is not properly before this Court. The Ninth Circuit explains the Rooker-Feldman doctrine as follows:

At its core, the Rooker-Feldman doctrine stands for the unremarkable proposition that federal district courts are courts of original, not appellate, jurisdiction. See 28 U.S.C. §§ 1331, 1332. Thus, it follows that federal district courts have "no authority to review the final determinations of a state court in judicial proceedings." Worldwide Church of God v. McNair, 805 F.2d 888, 890 (9th Cir.1986). Direct federal appellate review of state court decisions must occur, if at all, in the Supreme Court. See 28 U.S.C. § 1257.

Rooker-Feldman is not a constitutional doctrine. Rather, the doctrine arises out of a pair of negative inferences drawn from two statutes: 28 U.S.C. § 1331, which establishes the district court's "original jurisdiction of all civil actions arising under the Constitution, laws, or treaties of the United States"; and 28 U.S.C. § 1257, which allows Supreme Court review of "[f]inal judgments or decrees rendered by the highest court of a State in which a decision could be had."

Gruntz v. County of Los Angeles (In re Gruntz), 202 F.3d 1074, 1078 (9th Cir. 2000).

Defendant attacks the validity of the State Court Judgment on various grounds. In so doing, Defendant is effectively asking this Court to review a final determination of the State Court. The Rooker-Feldman doctrine prevents this Court from conducting such a review. As stated in Exxon Mobil Corp. v. Saudi Basic Industries Corp., the Rooker-Feldman doctrine bars "cases brought by state-court losers complaining of injuries caused by state-court judgments rendered before the [federal] court proceedings commenced and inviting [federal] court review and rejection of those judgments." 544 U.S. 280, 284 (2005).

The Supreme Court has explained:

Property interests are created and defined by state law. Unless some federal interest requires a different result, there is no reason why such interests should be analyzed differently simply because an interested party is involved in a bankruptcy proceeding. Uniform treatment of property interests by both state and federal courts within a State serves to reduce uncertainty, to discourage forum shopping, and to prevent a party from receiving "a windfall merely by reason of the happenstance of bankruptcy."

Butner v. United States, 440 U.S. 48, 55 (1979).

The State Court Judgment is a property interest which was created and defined by California state law. As long as the State Court Judgment remains valid and enforceable by the courts of the state of California, it is sufficient to establish indebtedness for non-dischargeability purposes. To hold otherwise would not only violate the Rooker-Feldman doctrine, but would create the uncertainty and forum-shopping that the Supreme Court warned against in Butner. If Defendant wishes to attack the validity of the State Court Judgment, he must do so before the State Court.

The Court's denial of the Motion is consistent with Ninth Circuit precedent. In MacKay v. Pfeil, 827 F.2d 540 (9th Cir.1987), MacKay filed an action in federal district court, alleging that a judgment entered by an Alaska state court was void because the court lacked personal jurisdiction. MacKay sought from federal court a declaration that the judgment entered by the state court was void. The MacKay court held that the jurisdictional attack upon the state court's judgment was barred by the

B. Litigation Deadlines

Having reviewed the Joint Status Report filed by the parties, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED AS FOLLOWS:

- 1) The following litigation deadlines shall apply:

If the expert discovery cutoff date falls on a date when the court is closed or that is not available for self-calendaring, the deadline for hearings on expert discovery motions is the next closest date which is available for self-calendaring.)
 - e) The last day for dispositive motions to be heard is 12/24/2019. (If the motion cutoff date is not available for self-calendaring, the deadline for dispositive motions to be heard is the next closest date which is available for self-calendaring.)

system. Submission via LOU allows the Court to edit the Joint Pretrial Stipulation, if necessary. Parties should consult the Court Manual, section 4, for information about LOU.

- h) In addition to the procedures set forth in Local Bankruptcy Rule 7016-1(b), the following procedures govern the conduct of the Pretrial Conference and the preparation of the Pretrial Stipulation:
- i) By no later than thirty days prior to the Pretrial Conference, the parties must exchange copies of all exhibits which each party intends to introduce into evidence (other than exhibits to be used solely for impeachment or rebuttal).
 - ii) When preparing the Pretrial Stipulation, all parties shall stipulate to the admissibility of exhibits whenever possible. In the event any party cannot stipulate to the admissibility of an exhibit, that party must file a Motion in Limine which clearly identifies each exhibit alleged to be inadmissible and/or prejudicial. The moving party must set the Motion in Limine for hearing at the same time as the Pretrial Conference; notice and service of the Motion shall be governed by LBR 9013-1. The Motion in Limine must contain a statement of the specific prejudice that will be suffered by the moving party if the Motion is not granted. The Motion must be supported by a memorandum of points and authorities containing citations to the applicable Federal Rules of Evidence, relevant caselaw, and other legal authority. Blanket or boilerplate evidentiary objections not accompanied by detailed supporting argument are prohibited, will be summarily overruled, and may subject the moving party to sanctions.
 - iii) The failure of a party to file a Motion in Limine complying with the requirements of ¶(1)(h)(ii) shall be deemed a waiver of any objections to the admissibility of an exhibit.
 - iv) Motions in Limine seeking to exclude testimony to be offered by any witness shall comply with the requirements set forth in ¶(2)(h)(ii), and shall be filed by the deadline specified in ¶(2)(h)(ii). The failure of a party to file a Motion in Limine shall be deemed a waiver of any objections to the admissibility of a witness's testimony.
- i) Trial is set for the week of 1/27/2020. The trial day commences at 9:00 a.m. The exact date of the trial will be set at the Pretrial Conference. Consult the Court's website for the Judge's requirements regarding exhibit

III. Conclusion

Based upon the foregoing, the Motion is DENIED. The Court will prepare and enter an order denying the Motion, and will prepare and enter a Scheduling Order.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Jessica Vogel or Daniel Koontz at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. If you wish to make a telephonic appearance, contact Court Call at 888-882-6878, no later than one hour before the hearing.

Both Plaintiff and Defendant assert evidentiary objections to declarations filed in support of and in opposition to the Motion. Both declarations pertain to the facts surrounding litigation of the State Court Action. The Court does not rule upon the evidentiary objections since it has not relied upon either declaration in adjudicating the Motion. See Operating Engineers' Pension Trust Fund v. Clark's Welding & Mach., 688 F. Supp. 2d 902, 907 (N.D. Cal. 2010) ("Because the Court does not rely on the statements in this declaration, it is not necessary for the Court to rule on these objections."). The Court decides the Motion purely on a legal issue—whether it is appropriate for Defendant to attack the validity of the State Court Judgment in this Court.

#3.00 HearingRE: [50] Motion to Dismiss Debtor

Docket 50

Tentative Ruling:

5/14/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Motion to Dismiss is DENIED.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed

1. Notice of Motion for: an Order Dismissing Debtor's Chapter 7 Bankruptcy Case [Doc. No. 50] (the "Motion to Dismiss")
2. Trustee's Response to Debtor's Motion for an Order Dismissing Debtor's Chapter 7 Bankruptcy Case [Doc. No. 54] (the "Trustee's Response")
3. Declaration of Brad D. Krasnoff in Further Opposition to Debtor's Motion for an Order Dismissing Debtor's Chapter 7 Bankruptcy Case [Doc. No. 58] (the "Krasnoff Decl.")
4. Debtor's Untimely Reply to Trustee's Response and Opposition to Debtor's Motion for an Order Dismissing Debtor's Chapter 7 Bankruptcy Case [Doc. No. 64]

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Hakop Jack Aivazian (the "Debtor") filed a voluntary chapter 11 petition on October 16, 2018 (the "Petition Date"). On January 17, 2019, the Court entered an order converting the case to a case under chapter 7 [Doc. No. 31]. Shortly thereafter Brad Krasnoff was appointed to serve as the chapter 7 trustee (the "Trustee") and continues to serve in that capacity.

On March 13, 2019, the Office of the United States Trustee (the "UST") filed a motion to disgorge fees from Leo Fasen ("Counsel"), the Debtor's chapter 11 bankruptcy counsel [Doc. No. 40]. Counsel did not respond to the UST's motion and on April 19, 2019, the Court entered an Order granting the UST's request and ordering Counsel to return $8,000 to the Trustee by May 19, 2019 [Doc. No. 49] (the "Disgorgement Order").

The Debtor now seeks an order dismissing this chapter 7 case. The Debtor states that he owns three parcels of real property as a joint tenant with his non-filing spouse: (i) 1257 N. Oxford Avenue, Pasadena, CA 91104 (the "Oxford Property"), (ii) 1728-1730-1734 E. Woodbury Avenue, Pasadena, CA 91104 (the "Woodbury Property"), and (iii) 1434 N. Sierra Bonita Avenue, Pasadena, CA 91104 (the "Sierra Bonita Property," and together with the Oxford Property and Woodbury Property, the "Properties"). The Debtor further states that he filed his bankruptcy case in good faith to halt foreclosure proceedings against the Properties in an effort to preserve existing equity.

The Debtor states that he has an approved loan modification agreement with the lender on the Sierra Bonita Property and is current on that loan. The Debtor further states that he is currently in escrow for a refinance of the Woodbury Property which will pay off all existing secured claims against that property and leave him with approximately $162,000 in funds that he intends to use to bring his loan obligations current on the Oxford Property. However, the proposed lender for the refinance will not proceed until this case is dismissed. Accordingly, the Debtor seeks an order dismissing his case so that he can pay secured creditors in full or cure arrears and bring his loans current.

On April 26, 2019, the Trustee filed a timely response highlighting the Debtor and Counsel's failure to address the Disgorgement Order and arguing that absent an adequate disposition of the $8,000 in disgorged funds, the motion should be denied. Specifically, the Trustee asks the Court to take judicial notice of the Debtor's claims register which establishes that the Debtor has unsecured creditors and argues that he should be afforded the opportunity to administer the $8,000 in funds for the benefit of those creditors.

On May 1, 2019, the Trustee filed a supplemental declaration stating that on April 30, 2019, after filing his Trustee's Response, he examined the Debtor at a continued 341(a) Meeting of Creditors. The Trustee states that the Debtor testified under oath that no refinance transaction regarding the Woodbury Property had closed either pre- or post-petition and that he believed the Woodbury Property was worth approximately $1,500,000 with approximately $900,000 in liens against it. against it to determine whether it contains any realizable net equity that the Trustee could administer for the benefit of creditors. Id., ¶ 6. The Trustee further notes that although the claims bar date has not yet passed, eleven claims have been filed to date and unsecured claims appear to be at least $59,512.24. Id., ¶ 7. Therefore, the Trustee believes that dismissal is not in the best interest of creditors because there is a possibility that funds can be generated for unsecured creditors.

On May 11, 2019, the Debtor filed a late reply asserting that after reviewing the Trustee's Response he requested that his unsecured tax claims be paid off through escrow. Therefore, of the claims presently filed, the proposed refinance will satisfy all claims with the exception of American Express, which the Debtor believes should be discharged and considered "charged off" because of applicable statutes of limitation. The Debtor estimates that he will receive approximately $129,560.05 from the refinance that he will use to bring his loan obligations with U.S. National Bank current, which will resolve all legitimate claims.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Section 707(a) permits the dismissal of a chapter 7 case only for cause. 11 U.S.C. § 707(a). A debtor has no absolute right to dismiss a chapter 7 case. Bartee v. Ainsworth (In re Bartee), 317 B.R. 362, 366 (B.A.P. 9th Cir 2004); Leach v. U.S. (In re Leach), 130 B.R. 855, 857 n.5 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1991). In the Ninth Circuit, "a voluntary Chapter 7 debtor is entitled to dismissal of his case so long as dismissal will cause no 'legal prejudice' to interested parties." Leach, 130 B.R. at 857. The debtor bears the burden of proving that dismissal would not prejudice creditors. Bartee, 317 B.R. at 366. Where dismissal is prejudicial to creditors, it should not be granted. Gill v. Hall (In re Hall), 15 B.R. 913, 917 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1981), citing In re Int'l Airport Inn P'ship, 517 F.2d 510 (9th Cir. 1975).

The Debtor has failed to establish "cause" to dismiss this case. As set forth in the Trustee's Response, the Trustee is investigating the value of the Woodbury Property to determine whether there is any equity that he could administer for the benefit of the estate. Since the Trustee has not yet noticed a claims bar date, the universe of general unsecured claims is presently unknown. Therefore, even if the Debtor's proposed refinance might benefit some creditors, the Debtor has not established that dismissal will not prejudice any of his creditors. Additionally, dismissal of the case might be prejudicial to the Debtor's creditors because there is no guarantee that the Debtor would pay his debts outside of bankruptcy. Bartee, 317 B.R. at 366 (internal citation omitted).

Finally, Counsel has filed a motion to reconsider the Disgorgement Order [Doc. No. 61], which the Court has set for hearing on June 4, 2019 at 11:00 a.m. Even if the Court determines that cause exists to grant that motion, Counsel would still be required to disgorge no less than $4,500 in funds to the Trustee, which could be administered for the benefit of creditors.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the Motion to Dismiss is DENIED.

The Trustee is directed to lodge a conforming proposed order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. Docket 2244

Tentative Ruling:

5/14/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Motion is GRANTED in its entirety.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Debtors' Notice and Motion to Approve Agreement Nunc Pro Tunc as of March 21, 2019, by and Between Verity Medical Foundation and Centurion Service Group LLC [Doc. No. 2244] (the "Motion")

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On August 31, 2018 (the "Petition Date"), Verity Health Systems of California ("VHS") and certain of its subsidiaries filed voluntary petitions for relief under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. On August 31, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the Debtors' motion for joint administration of the Debtors' Chapter 11 cases.

Summary of Debtors' Motion to Approve Agreement Nunc Pro Tunc Between Verity Medical Foundation and Centurion Service Group, LLC

("Centurion"), nunc pro tunc as of March 26, 2019. The Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors (the "Committee") has no objection to the Motion. No opposition to the Motion is on file. Debtors make the following arguments and representations in support of the Motion:

VMF holds a long-term professional services agreement with Sports Orthopedic and Rehabilitation Associates ("SOAR"), dated April 3, 2017 (the "PSA"). Under the PSA, SOAR provides professional medical services to certain medical clinics operated by VMF (the "Clinics").

On October 3, 2018, the Debtors filed a motion to reject the PSA (the "Motion to Reject"). On December 28, 2018, the Court approved a stipulation between the Debtors and SOAR resolving the Motion to Reject (the "SOAR Stipulation"). The SOAR Stipulation provided that during a transition period between January 1, 2019 and March 31, 2019 (the "Transition Period"), VMF would continue to fund the administrative expenses of the Clinics, including the payment of rent, and SOAR would continue to perform patient services without direct compensation under the PSA. The SOAR Stipulation provided that at the end of the Transition Period, either (1) SOAR would purchase from VMF all furniture, fixtures, equipment, and supplies used in the Clinics (the "FF&E"), (2) VMF would remove and dispose of the FF&E, or (3) VMF would sell the FF&E to a third party.

On March 11, 2019, the Debtors filed a motion seeking approval of a Settlement and Asset Purchase Agreement (the "SOAR Agreement") between the Debtors and SOAR. The SOAR Agreement provided for SOAR to purchase certain assets of the Clinic, including the FF&E. The Debtors withdrew the motion after SOAR could not consummate the SOAR Agreement. SOAR's failure to consummate the SOAR Agreement made it necessary for the Debtors to dispose of the FF&E. It was necessary for the Debtors to remove the FF&E from the Clinics prior to March 31, 2019 to avoid the obligation to pay post-petition rent for April 2019.

On March 21, 2019, the Debtors entered into the Agreement with Centurion. Under the Agreement, Centurion was obligated to remove the FF&E from the Clinics by no later than March 31, 2019, and was required to auction the FF&E. In exchange for providing these services, Centurion was entitled to receive 30% of the net proceeds of the auction, plus expenses up to $20,000.

course of business, subject to Court approval. The debtor must articulate a business justification for the sale of the property. In re Walter, 83 B.R. 14, 19–20 (9th Cir. BAP 1988) (citing In re Continental Air Lines, 780 F.2d 1223 (5th Cir. 1986)). Whether the articulated business justification is sufficient "depends on the case," in view of "all salient factors pertaining to the proceeding." Id. "The court's obligation in § 363(b) sales is to assure that optimal value is realized by the estate under the circumstances." Simantob v. Claims Prosecutor, LLC (In re Lahijani), 325 B.R. 282, 288–89 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2005).

The Debtors have demonstrated sufficient business justification for the auction of the FF&E. Absent the auction, the Debtors would have been required to continue to store the FF&E at the Clinics. The Debtors would have then been required to continue paying rent in excess of $83,000 per month.

The Debtors are not aware of any liens against any of the FF&E. To the extent that any liens against the FF&E exist, the sale shall be free and clear of such liens, with the liens to attach to the sales proceeds to the same extent, and with the same validity and priority, as they had prior to the sale. Parties with an interest in the FF&E have received notice of the Motion and have not objected. The Court deems the failure of such parties to object to constitute consent to the sale within the meaning of § 363(f) (2). See, e.g., In re Blixseth, No. BKR. 09-60452-7, 2011 WL 1519914, at *14 (Bankr. D. Mont. Apr. 20, 2011) (holding that the failure of lienholders to object to a sale free and clear constituted consent to such sale).

The Court finds that nunc pro tunc approval of the Auction Agreement is appropriate. The Debtors have not cited, and the Court has been unable to locate, any Ninth Circuit authority regarding the standard applicable to the nunc pro tunc approval of an Auction Agreement. In the Ninth Circuit, professionals seeking nunc pro tunc approval of an employment application are required to "(1) satisfactorily explain their failure to receive prior judicial approval; and (2) demonstrate that their services benefitted the bankrupt estate in a significant manner." In re Atkins, 69 F.3d 970, 974 (9th Cir. 1995). Analogizing the Atkins standard to the instant situation, the Court finds that the auction will significantly benefit the estate. The Court additionally finds that the sudden need to dispose of the FF&E which resulted from the unexpected failure of SOAR to consummate the SOAR Agreement satisfactorily explains the Debtors' failure to obtain prior judicial approval of the Auction Agreement.

Based upon the foregoing, the Motion is GRANTED in its entirety. Within seven days of the hearing, Debtors shall submit an order incorporating this tentative ruling by reference.

#1.00 HearingRE: [14] Notice of motion and motion for relief from the automatic stay with supporting declarations REAL PROPERTY RE: 29266 Pilgrim Court, Valencia, CA 91354 . (Jafarnia, Merdaud)

Docket 14

Tentative Ruling:

5/17/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1) to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to foreclose upon and obtain possession of the property in accordance with applicable law. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. Movant has established a prima facie case that cause exists, and Debtor has not responded with evidence establishing that the property is not declining in value or that Movant is adequately protected.

The subject property has a value of $450,000 and is encumbered by a perfected deed of trust or mortgage in favor of the Movant. Considering Movant's lien, all senior liens against the property, and the estimated costs of sale, there is an equity cushion of $8,638.56. There is some, but very little equity and there is no evidence that the property is necessary to a reorganization or that the trustee can administer the property for the benefit of creditors. Movant is protected by a 1.9% equity cushion in the property. The Ninth Circuit has established that an equity cushion of 20% constitutes adequate protection for a secured creditor. Pistole v. Mellor (In re Mellor), 734 F.2d 1396, 1401 (9th Cir. 1984); see Downey Sav. & Loan Ass'n v. Helionetics, Inc. (In re Helionetics, Inc.), 70 B.R. 433, 440 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1987) (holding that a 20.4% equity cushion was sufficient to protect the creditor's interest in its collateral).

Because the equity cushion in this case is less than 20%, the Court concludes that Movant's interest in the collateral is not adequately protected. This is cause to terminate the stay under 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1).

This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. All other relief is denied.

Movant shall upload an appropriate order via the Court's Lodged Order Upload system within 7 days of the hearing.

Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. Docket 7

Tentative Ruling:

5/17/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set on a shortened notice in accordance with Judge Robles' procedures. The Court finds that service was properly effectuated upon the Debtor. The Court has reviewed the Debtor's Response [Doc. No. 10] and Motion to Convert Case from Chapter 7 to 13 [Doc. No. 11] (the "Conversion Motion") and finds that the Debtor has failed to present sufficient evidence in support of her arguments. The Court further finds that the Debtor has not advanced any meritorious argument that would prevent this Court from lifting the stay to allow the unlawful detainer action to proceed to final judgment on the merits.

The Court will consider any additional arguments Movant wishes to advance in reply to the Debtor's Response at the hearing.

The tentative ruling is to GRANT the Motion pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d) (1). The stay is terminated as to the Debtor and the Debtor's bankruptcy estate with respect to the Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns. Movant may enforce its remedies to obtain possession of the property in accordance with applicable law, but may not pursue a deficiency claim against the debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On August 31, 2018 (the "Petition Date"), Verity Health Systems of California ("VHS") and certain of its subsidiaries (collectively, the "Debtors") filed voluntary petitions for relief under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. On August 31, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the Debtors' motion for joint administration of the Debtors' Chapter 11 cases.

Debtors seek approval of a settlement agreement (the "Settlement Agreement") with Premier, Inc. and certain of its subsidiaries (collectively, "Premier"). On May 15, 2019, the Court approved the Debtors' motion to file under seal various exhibits in support of the motion to approve the Settlement Agreement. Doc. No. 2382.

The Settlement Agreement resolves a series of prepetition and postpetition disputes between Premier and the Debtors over the parties' performance and obligations under seven different contracts. Premier is a public company that uses data and analytics to improve the manner in which healthcare is delivered to patients. Prior to the Petition Date, the Debtors and Premier entered into multiple agreements (collectively, the "Premier Agreements").

Pursuant to an Amended and Restated Limited Partnership Agreement, effective as of October 1, 2013 (the "LP Agreement"), VHS holds certain Class B Common Units (the "Units"), reflecting a limited partner interest in Premier LP. As of the Petition Date, VHS held 222,809 of such Units. Pursuant to the LP Agreement and the Exchange Agreement, effective as of October 1, 2013 (the "Exchange Agreement"), approximately 74,270 of the Units became exchangeable for a like amount of Class A Common Stock in Premier, Inc. (the "Tradeable Stock"), starting on October 31 of each year for a seven-year period (the seven-year period commenced in October 2013). The remaining Units are scheduled to vest on October 31, 2018 (74,270 Units), October 31, 2019 (74,270 Units) and October 31, 2010 (74,269 Units).

Pursuant to a GPO Participation Agreement, effective as of October 1, 2013 (the "GPO Participation Agreement") and a Tax Receivable Agreement, effective as of October 1, 2013 (the "Tax Receivable Agreement"), VHS is entitled to certain periodic distributions in exchange for, among other things, (1) VHS' continued participation in Premier's purchasing program under the GPO Participation Agreement and (2) VHS' continuation as a limited partner in Premier LP.

Pursuant to a Performance Suite Solutions Subscription Agreement, dated November 14, 2011 (the "Subscription Agreement"), Premier provides VHS and its hospitals the right to license Premier's technology programs and systems, including programs used to manage patient healthcare information and medical records.

Some of the distributions owed under the GPO Participation Agreement accrued within ninety days prior to the Petition Date, but were not distributed to VHS and are currently being held by Premier (the "Prepetition Distributions"). The Debtors have asserted that the Prepetition Distributions are recoverable as an avoidable preference under §§ 549 and 550. Premier has asserted that it has certain defenses to such claims, including setoff and/or recoupment.

Subsequent to the Petition Date, additional distributions accrued under the GPO Participation Agreement, which have not been distributed to VHS and are currently being held by Premier (the "Postpetition Distributions"). Premier has asserted that it has rights and interests in the Postpetition Distributions superior to the Debtors' interest in such funds. The Debtors have asserted that Premier's retention of the Postpetition Distributions constitutes a violation of the automatic stay.

Subsequent to the Petition Date, Premier has continued to provide information technology, group purchasing, and other services to VHS pursuant to the Premier Agreements. The Debtors have paid certain of Premier's invoices in the ordinary course of business. The Debtors continue to use Premier's services to operate their hospitals pursuant to the GPO Purchasing Agreement and the Subscription Agreement. The Debtors have advised Premier that they wish to continue using Premier's services under the Premier Agreements going forward, particularly as the Debtors facilitate the sale and transfer of the remaining hospitals.

Since the Petition Date, Premier has consistently disputed and continues to dispute VHS' ability to exchange its Units under the LP Agreement and the Exchange Agreement unless and until the Premier Agreements are assumed with Premier's consent, and all defaults thereunder are cured.

Premier asserts claims against the Debtors in the amount of no less than $3.1 million (the "Premier Prepetition Claim") that Premier alleges is due and owing under the Premier Agreements as of the Petition Date. Premier asserts that the Premier Prepetition Claim must be paid as a cure prior to the assumption of the Premier Agreements. On March 28, 2019, Premier Inc., Premier GP, PHSI and Premier LP each filed separate proofs of claim in the amount of $3,122,167.78, plus additional damages, fees, costs, and expenses. The Debtors dispute the amount and grounds for allowance of the Premier Prepetition Claim.

Throughout the Debtors' cases and in connection with the Debtors' sales of its hospitals, Premier has consistently maintained that any assumption and assignment of the Premier Agreements, whether in the context of a sale of the Debtors' hospitals or otherwise, would first require the payment of the Premier Prepetition Claim and Premier's consent to any assumption and assignment. Premier Asserts that its consent is required given that the Premier Agreements are enterprise agreements, and in some cases enterprise licenses, entered into as between VHS and Premier, rather than any particular hospital or other Debtor and given that the Premier Agreements include rights to intellectual property licenses, partnership interests, and personal services from Premier.

The proposed Settlement Agreement resolves the current disputes between the parties and contemplates, among other things, that the Debtor will be able to:

- 2) Resolve the dispute with respect to the Premier Prepetition Claim;
- 3) Realize the substantial value of the Debtors' currently exchangeable Units, by permitting an exchange to occur on April 30, 2019, subject to final approval of the Settlement Agreement;
- 4) Realize substantial value on account of the Units that vest in October 2019 and October 2020, by virtue of VHS' ability to sell the Units to current Limited Partners, and potentially sell to other parties acceptable to Premier GP; and
- 5) Receive periodic distributions under the GPO Participation Agreement and the Tax Receivable Agreement.

The material terms of the Settlement Agreement are as follows:

- 1) VHS shall exchange 74,270 of its Units for Tradeable Stock on April 30, 2019, and waives and shall not assign or exercise any right of first refusal under the LP Agreement and Exchange Agreement relating to this exchange.
- 2) VHS will assume the Premier Agreements as of the Execution Date of the Settlement Agreement and shall pay Premier a cure amount of $2 million. Payment of the cure amount will be derived from the exchange of the Units.
- 3) Premier shall remit to VHS the disputed distributions plus any additional accrued amounts due and owing to VHS under the Premier Agreements.
- 4) VHS shall have the ability to sell its Units for cash, subject to certain conditions.
- 5) The GPO Participation Agreement shall terminate upon the later of (a) the transitioning of the Debtors' hospitals to new buyers, (b) the expiration or earlier termination of the last agreement under which the Debtors operate or manage their hospitals for any buyer, or (c) the date upon which the Debtors cease operation of the hospitals (the "Operations Termination Date").
- 6) The Subscription Agreement shall terminate upon the later of (a) the Operations Termination Date or (b) the expiration or earlier termination of the last transition services agreement between the purchaser of any of the Debtors' hospitals.
- 7) Until they have terminated, VHS shall make monthly payments under the GPO Participation Agreement and the Subscription Agreement in the reduced amount of $112,000 per month.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Bankruptcy Rule 9019 provides that the Court may approve a compromise or settlement. "In determining the fairness, reasonableness and adequacy of a proposed settlement agreement, the court must consider: (a) The probability of success in the litigation; (b) the difficulties, if any, to be encountered in the matter of collection; (c) the complexity of the litigation involved, and the expense, inconvenience and delay necessarily attending it; (d) the paramount interest of the creditors and a proper deference to their reasonable views in the premises." Martin v. Kane (In re A&C Properties), 784 F.2d 1377, 1381 (9th Cir. 1986). "[C]ompromises are favored in bankruptcy, and the decision of the bankruptcy judge to approve or disapprove the compromise of the parties rests in the sound discretion of the bankruptcy judge." In re Sassalos, 160 B.R. 646, 653 (D. Ore. 1993). In approving a settlement agreement, the Court must "canvass the issues and see whether the settlement 'falls below the lowest point in the range of reasonableness.'" Cosoff v. Rodman (In re W.T. Grant Co.), 699 F.2d 599, 608 (2d Cir. 1983). Applying the A&C Properties factors, the Court finds that the Settlement Agreement is adequate, fair, and reasonable, and is in the best interests of the estate and creditors.

Complexity of the Litigation

This factor weighs in favor of approving the Settlement Agreement. Absent the Settlement Agreement, Premier would assert its proof of claim in an amount in excess of $3.1 million. Litigation would be accompanied by significant delay and inconvenience for the Debtors, as it would impair the ability of the Debtors to realize value on account of the Units until the litigation had been concluded. Litigation would also end the parties' otherwise productive business relationship. The litigation would involve fact-intensive issues not susceptible of easy resolution, such as whether Premier's assertion of rights in the Disputed Distributions is in the nature of a recoupment under a single integrated transaction, or alternatively whether Premier's actions constituted a violation of the automatic stay.

Difficulties to be Encountered in the Matter of Collection

This factor weighs in favor of approving the Settlement Agreement. Absent the Settlement Agreement, Premier would continue to exert contractual and legal rights, as well as commercial leverage, with respect to the Disputed Distributions and the Units. This would delay and impair the Debtors' ability to receive value on account of the Disputed Distributions and the Units.

Paramount Interests of Creditors

This factor weighs in favor of approving the Settlement Agreement. The Committee does not object to the Settlement Agreement, and no creditors have objected to the Settlement Agreement.

Likelihood of Success on the Merits

This factor weighs in favor of approving the Settlement Agreement. As discussed, the Settlement Agreement resolves a number of complicated and intertwined issues. Litigation of these issues would be factually intensive and expensive, and would provide only minimal upside to the estate. The possibility that additional litigation might yield a result nominally more favorable to the estate cannot be ruled out. Yet any such result obtained through litigation would be a pyrrhic victory from the perspective of the estate and creditors, because the additional administrative costs associated with the litigation would on net leave the estate worse off.

III. Conclusion

Based upon the foregoing, the Settlement Agreement is APPROVED and the Motion is GRANTED in its entirety. The Debtors shall submit a conforming order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Jessica Vogel or Daniel Koontz at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. Docket 2274

Tentative Ruling:

5/20/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the agreement between the Debtors and the Committee with respect to the extension of the Debtors' exclusivity period is APPROVED.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Debtors' Notice of Motion and Second Motion for Entry of an Order Pursuant to Section 1121 of the Bankruptcy Code Extending the Exclusive Periods to File a Chapter 11 Plan and Solicit Acceptances [Doc. No. 2274] (the "Motion")

Chapter 11 Plan and solicit acceptances thereof for 120 days, through and including August 26, 2019 (filing a plan) and October 25, 2019 (obtaining acceptances).

On April 17, 2019, the Court held a hearing at which it approved the sale of substantially all assets of the Debtors' four remaining hospitals to Strategic Global Management ("SGM"). Debtors state that they anticipate filing a plan after the sale to SGM closes. That sale is subject to review by the California Attorney General and therefore cannot close before the current exclusivity period terminates on April 28, 2019.

The Debtors and the Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors (the "Committee") have reached an agreement regarding the extension requested in the Motion. Under the agreement, the Committee will not oppose a 90-day extension of exclusivity—that is, through and including July 27, 2019 (for filing a plan) and September 25, 2019 (for obtaining acceptances). The Committee has until day 75—July 12, 2019 (the "Committee Objection Deadline")—to object to the full 120-day extension requested in the Motion. If the Committee objects by the Committee Objection Deadline, then the Debtors may notice the matter for hearing. If the Committee fails to object by the Committee Objection Deadline, then the Committee shall be deemed to have waived its right to object to the full 120-day extension requested in the Motion.

No other objections to the Motion are on file.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Section 1121(b) gives the Debtor the exclusive right to file a plan during the first 120 days after the date of the order for relief. Section 1121(d) permits the Court to reduce or increase the exclusivity period "for cause." Section 1121 provides the bankruptcy court "maximum flexibility to suit various types of reorganization proceedings." In re Public Service Company of New Hampshire, 88 B.R. 521, 534 (Bankr. D.N.H. 1988).

The Court finds that cause exists to extend the exclusivity period in accordance with the agreement reached between the Debtors and the Committee. An extension of the exclusivity period is appropriate given that the sale of the hospitals to SGM has not yet closed.

The exclusivity period for the Debtors is extended through and including July 27, 2019 (for filing a plan) and September 25, 2019 (for obtaining acceptances). If the Committee objects by the Committee Objection Deadline, the Debtors shall notice the Motion for a further hearing. If the Committee fails to object by the Committee Objection Deadline, the Committee's objection shall be deemed withdrawn and the exclusivity period shall then be extended through and including August 26, 2019 (filing a plan) and October 25, 2019 (obtaining acceptances) without further notice or hearing.

The Debtors shall submit an order incorporating this tentative ruling by reference within seven days of the hearing.

Chapter 11

On August 31, 2018 (the “Petition Date”), Verity Health Systems of California (“VHS”) and certain of its subsidiaries (collectively, the “Debtors”) filed voluntary petitions for relief under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. On August 31, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the Debtors’ motion for joint administration of the Debtors’ Chapter 11 cases. Doc. No. 17.

Waheed Wahidi (“Wahidi”) moves for an order authorizing Wahidi to file a class prepetition unsecured proof of claim on behalf of all creditors similarly situated as Wahidi. Ernesto Madrigal (“Madrigal”) moves for an order authorizing Madrigal to file a request for payment of administrative expenses on behalf of all creditors similarly situated as Madrigal. The Debtors oppose the Motion.

A. The Prepetition State Court Complaint

On June 21, 2018, Wahidi, on behalf of himself and all other employees similarly situated, filed a complaint against certain of the Debtors in the Superior Court of the State of California for the County of San Mateo (the “State Court”), alleging inter alia violations of the California Labor Code, California Business and Professions Code, and applicable Wage Orders issued by the California Industrial Welfare Commission. Wahidi filed a First Amended Complaint (the “State Court Complaint”) on June 26, 2018.

The State Court Complaint alleges that the Debtors, as a matter of established and uniform company policy, violated applicable California wage and hour law by:

- 1) Rounding down the recorded time of hourly employees;
- 2) Failing to provide workers meal breaks;
- 3) Failing to provide workers rest breaks;
- 4) Failing to provide itemized waged statements that were compliant with applicable law; and
- 5) Failing to pay workers all wages due as a result of the unlawful rounding, meal, and rest break policies.

See generally State Court Complaint [Doc. No. 1914, Ex. A].

The State Court Complaint seeks recovery of unpaid wages, prejudgment interest, attorneys’ fees, injunctive relief, and penalties. The proposed class consists of “[a]ll California citizens employed by [Debtors] as hourly-paid employees” during the four years preceding the filing of the State Court Complaint. See State Court Complaint at ¶¶ 3, 25. The State Court did not certify the proposed class prior to the Petition Date.

Chapter 11

B. Summary of the Motion

Movants make the following arguments and representations in support of the Motion:

The State Court Complaint includes claims filed pursuant to the Private Attorneys General Act ("PAGA"), codified at Cal. Lab. Code §§ 2699 et seq. In filing a claim pursuant to the PAGA, an employee is acting as an agent of the State of California, Iskanian v. CLS Transportation Los Angeles, LLC, 59 Cal. 4th 348, 394 (2014), and so is not required to satisfy class action requirements, Arias v. Superior Court, 46 Cal. 4th 969, 975 (2009). For these reasons, Wahidi has an absolute right to file a class claim with respect to the PAGA claims. In re Pac. Sunwear of Cal., Inc., 2016 Bankr. LEXIS 2579 *7-12 (Bankr. D. Del. June 22, 2016).

The factors supporting application of Bankruptcy Rule 7023 to the claims administration process are satisfied here. First, a class proof of claim will benefit the claims administration process. The proposed class consists of approximately 7,300 claimants. Collective resolution through a class proof of claim will be more efficient. Many of the claims are relatively small, making them economically infeasible for claimants to prosecute. Second, the Debtors provided notice of the claims bar date (the "Bar Date") to employees that were employed as of the Petition Date, but did not provide notice of the Bar Date to former employees. Absent class certification, employees who did not receive notice of the Bar Date will be unable to vindicate their rights.

The elements of numerosity, commonality, typicality, and adequacy set forth in Civil Rule 23(a) are satisfied. With respect to numerosity, joinder of approximately 7,300 current and former employees would be impractical. With respect to commonality, the claims are based on established company policies applicable to all employees. Courts have recognized that employee wage and rest break claims are amenable to class treatment when the claims are based on a uniform company policy. Nguyen v. Baxter Healthcare Corp., 275 F.R.D. 596, 600-01 (C.D. Cal. 2011); Driver v. AppleIllinois, LLC, 265 F.R.D. 293, 303 (N.D. Ill. 2010). With respect to typicality, Wahidi has been injured in the same manner as other proposed class members, because Wahidi was an hourly employee who was subjected to the Debtors' unlawful wage and hour policies. With respect to adequacy, Wahidi has no interests that diverge from those of the class, and his claims are typical of the claims of the class.

Civil Rule 23(b)(1)(B) is satisfied. Rule 23(b)(1)(B) provides that a class action may be maintained if prosecuting separate actions by individual class members would create a risk of "adjudications with respect to individual class members that, as a practical matter, would be dispositive of the interests of other members not parties to the individual adjudications or would substantially impair or impede their ability to protect their interests." Courts have found that Rule 23(b)(1)(B) is satisfied in "limited fund" cases—that is, "an action in which any recovery will come from a fixed pool of assets that is or may be insufficient to satisfy all claims against the fund." 5 Moore's Federal Practice—Civil § 23.42[2][a] (2019). This proceeding qualifies as a limited fund case because the Debtors intend to liquidate all their assets.

In the alternative, Civil Rule 23(b)(3) is satisfied because common questions of law or fact predominate over any individual questions and a class action is the superior method to adjudicate the action fairly and efficiently. A class action is superior because it is not economically feasible for most claimants to individually prosecute their claims.

The unlawful conduct alleged in the State Court Complaint continued postpetition. The resulting monetary claims are administrative expenses under § 503(b). Gonzalez v. Gottlieb (In re Metro Fulfillment, Inc.), 294 B.R. 306 (BAP 9th Cir. 2003). The cause for authority to file a prepetition class proof of claim is also cause for authority to file a postpetition class request for payment of an administrative expense. Wahidi cannot serve as the class representative because he was not a postpetition employee. Madrigal, who was a postpetition employee, should be authorized to file a class request for payment of an administrative expense.

If the Court does not permit Wahidi to file a class proof of claim, the Court should (1) extend the bar date for members of the class to file individual claims and (2) establish a practical process for collectively adjudicating the claims. The process should be similarly to that used in In re Buffets LLC's, No. 16-50557-RBK (Bankr. W.D. Tex.). In Buffets, a notice and consent form was mailed to all putative class members to participate in the bankruptcy proceedings. All consent forms had to be filed within 30 days. The procedures elicited over 1,600 unpaid wage claims.

C. Summary of the Debtors' Opposition to the Motion

The Debtors make the following arguments and representations in Opposition to the Motion:

Wahidi and Madrigal cannot satisfy the elements of Civil Rule 23. The Motion relies on nothing more than the State Court Complaint, which is overwhelmingly conclusory in its allegations. "Rule 23 does not set forth a mere pleading standard. A party seeking class certification must affirmatively demonstrate his [or her] compliance with the Rule—that is, he [or she] must be prepared to prove that there are in fact sufficiently numerous parties, common questions of law or fact, etc." Wal-Mart Stores, Inc. v. Dukes, 564 U.S. 338, 350 (2011).

Movants cannot satisfy Civil Rule 23's commonality requirement. Movants allege that as a matter of uniform company policy, the Debtors unlawfully rounded down the recorded time of hourly employees, failed to provide meal and rest breaks, and engaged in other violations of the California Labor Code.

Contrary to Movants' allegations, the Debtors lacked uniform policies with respect to rounding and meal and rest breaks. For example, within Seton, meal and rest break policies vary by department. At In-Patient Units, meal and rest breaks are typically assigned, with the first rest break typically being scheduled within two hours of the start of the shift, the first meal break occurring before the fifth hour of the shift, and the last rest break occurring before the seventh hour. Sharrer Decl. at ¶ 22. In the Emergency Department, meal and rest breaks start when the break nurse arrives at 11:00 a.m., and are assigned by the charge nurse based upon availability. Id. In the Gero-Psych Unit, employees choose the assignment they want and pre-assigned meal or rest break times are written on the assignment sheet. Id.

Policies at St. Francis also varied by department. Id. at ¶ 25. Depending upon the department in which an employee worked, rest breaks could be assigned by a supervisor or Charge Nurse; employees could be required to arrange coverage when taking a rest break; or employees were permitted to take breaks depending upon workflow. Id. at ¶ 26.

Movants have failed to present facts showing that their claims are typical of other class members. Movants do not provide any details as to their personal injuries or any indication that such injuries are common to other hourly employees. Debtors' preliminary investigation shows that Movants do not have claims typical to the rest of the class because Movants were not harmed by the Debtors' policies. With respect to the alleged rounding down of employee hours, Wahidi was covered by a collective bargaining agreement (the "CBA") negotiated by the California Nurses Association (the "CNA") during his employment at Seton. Id. at ¶ 9. The CBA contained policies with respect to the rounding of employee time. At all times during his employment, Wahidi was paid in accordance with the rounding policies negotiated by the CNA. Id. at ¶ 13.

With respect to the alleged failure to provide meal and rest breaks, hourly employees such as Wahidi who missed meal or rest breaks could claim a penalty by filing the appropriate paperwork. Id. at ¶ 29. During the course of Wahidi's employment, he was paid $1,923.52 for missed meal or rest break penalties. Id. at ¶ 34. When Wahidi was terminated for policy violations, the CNA did not pursue a grievance over his final pay. Id. at ¶ 32. Therefore, Wahidi was not injured by the Debtors' meal and rest break policies. With respect to the alleged failure to provide compliant pay stubs, Wahidi's paystubs included the nine categories of information required by Cal. Lab. Code § 226(a). Id. at ¶ 37. Similarly, Madrigal was paid $294.60 for missed meal or rest break penalties and Madrigal's union did not file a grievance over his final pay when Madrigal was terminated. Id. at ¶ 33 and 35. Like Wahidi, Madrigal was not injured by the Debtors' policies.

Movants have not shown that they can adequately represent the class. First, Wahidi and Madrigal are former employees. They cannot be class representatives on behalf of current employees. The proposed class proof of claim seeks injunctive relief on behalf of the Debtors' current employees. As former employees, Wahidi and Madrigal have no incentive or interest to pursue such relief. Second, Wahidi's employment terminated in October 2017. This means that Wahidi cannot personally assert a priority or administrative expense claim, and thus that Wahidi cannot effectively represent class members entitled to assert such claims. Third, Wahidi and Madrigal were members of nursing unions at specific locations during their employment. Other class members belong to other unions or are not represented by a union. The wage and employment requirements at issue vary depending on whether employees are union or non-union. Wahidi and Madrigal are not typical of non-union employees.

Movants have not satisfied the requirements of Rule 23(b). Wahidi's attempt to certify a class under Rule 23(b)(1) fails because there is no danger that declining to certify a class will expose class members to the risk of inconsistent individual adjudications. The putative class members' claims are extremely varied given that the Debtors lacked routine policies with respect to rounding, meal periods, and rest breaks.

Movants' alternative request for certification under Rule 23(b)(3) fails. Movants have not shown that questions of law or fact common to class members predominate over questions affecting only individual members, or that a class action is superior to other methods of adjudication. With respect to predominance, the Debtors' rounding, meal period, and rest break policies varied by department. Consequently, the claims of each individual class member vary widely; these individualized issues relative to causation and damages defeat predominance. Given these individualized issues, a class proof of claim is not superior to individual proofs of claim.

The Court should not permit class treatment of Wahidi and Madrigal's claims because there is no merit to the assertion that the Debtors violated applicable wage and hour law. Wahidi and Madrigal were both subject to CBAs which set forth terms for working conditions and provided for premium rates of pay for overtime hours. Cal. Lab. Code § 514 provides that an employee subject to a CBA meeting certain requirements may not pursue an overtime claim. This CBA exemption to the Labor Code is intended to afford additional flexibility with regard to the terms of employment of employees whose interests are protected by a collective bargaining agreement. Araquistain v. Pacific Gas & Electric Co., 229 Cal.App. 4th 227, 238 (Cal. 2014).

Wahidi and Madrigal's claims are also pre-empted by § 301 of the Labor Management Relations Act (the "LMRA"). Under the LMRA, "suits for violation of contracts between an employer and a labor organization" fall within the exclusive jurisdiction of the federal courts. 29 U.S.C. § 185. To ensure uniform interpretation of labor contracts, any state law claim that requires interpretation of a CBA or that is "inextricably intertwined" with a CBA is pre-empted. Allis-Chalmers Corp. v. Lueck, 471 U.S. 202, 213 (1985). Wahidi and Madrigal's claims are really about an employer alleging failing to pay required overtime pay by rounding down hours worked and by depriving Wahidi and Madrigal of meal and rest breaks. Because adjudication of the claims would require interpretation of the CBAs which specify the terms of overtime pay, the claims are pre-empted.

When pre-emption applies, a plaintiff can bring a § 301 claim only if he or she has exhausted the CBA's grievance procedure. The unions representing Wahidi and Madrigal did not invoke the arbitration process with respect to the claims at issue, either individually or on a group basis. Sharrer Decl. at ¶ 32–33.

The Ninth Circuit recently held that where, as here, an employer qualifies for a CBA exemption to a labor code requirement, any class claim asserted by an employee is automatically pre-empted by the LMRA. See Curtis v. Irwin Industries, Inc., 913 F.3d 1146, 1153–55 (9th Cir. 2019). The Curtis court specifically rejected the idea that Cal. Lab. Code § 510 gave employees non-negotiable state rights to overtime, independent of any interpretation of the relevant CBA. Wahidi and Madrigal's claims are pre-empted, which not only dooms the claims, but makes Wahidi and Madrigal atypical of the putative class.

There is no merit to Wahidi's contention that he is not required to satisfy class action requirements because his claims are filed pursuant to PAGA. Further, Wahidi's PAGA claim is legally insufficient. Wahidi's required pre-suit notice letter to the Labor and Workforce Development Agency (the "LWDA") was statutorily ineffective. The letter did not contain "facts and theories to support the alleged violation," Alcantar v. Hobart Serv., 800 F.3d 1047, 1056 (9th Cir. 2015), but instead provided only "a string of legal conclusions with no factual allegations or theories of liability to support them." Id. at 1057. The letter was therefore "insufficient to allow the [LWDA] to intelligently assess the seriousness of the alleged violations." Id.

D. Summary of Wahidi and Madrigal's Reply in Support of the Motion

Wahidi and Madrigal make the following arguments and representations in their reply in support of the Motion:

The Debtors' objection is substantively a premature summary judgment motion on the merits of the underlying claims. As the merits of the underlying claims are not at issue in connection with the Motion, Movants will not take the bait. The only issue before the Court is whether it makes sense for a class representative to be appointed to have standing to resolve the bankruptcy claims which arise from the violations of law alleged in the Complaint.

There is no dispute that the Debtors served notice of the bar date only upon employees who remained employed as of the Petition Date, and did not provide notice to former employees. The fact that former employees did not receive notice is a compelling reason for class treatment of the claim. Permitting a class claim will not adversely affect the administration of the estate because the Debtors have not yet filed a plan.

If the Court concludes that additional evidence is required for the Movants to satisfy Rule 23's requirements of numerosity, commonality, typicality, and adequacy, the Court must permit additional discovery. Movants concede that the Motion is not supported by detailed evidentiary support for certain factual allegations, but there is a very good reason—the Debtors filed their petitions two months after the Complaint was filed and all discovery was stayed. If the Court concludes that there are unresolved factual issues that must be resolved for the Motion to be granted, then due process requires that Movants be afforded the opportunity to take formal discovery with respect to those unresolved factual issues. See, e.g., Pitts v. Terrible Herbst, Inc., 653 F.3d 1081, 1094 n.5 (9th Cir. 2011) (stating that "the propriety of a class action cannot be determined in some cases without discovery" and that "to deny discovery in such cases would be an abuse of discretion").

II. Findings and Conclusions

Class certification is governed by Civil Rule 23. Bankruptcy Rule 7023 provides that Civil Rule 23 “applies in adversary proceedings.” Under Bankruptcy Rule 9014(c), the Court has discretion to apply Bankruptcy Rule 7023 to the claims administration process. Courts have developed a three-factor framework to guide the exercise of this discretion:

- 1) whether the class was certified pre-petition;
- 2) whether the members of the putative class received notice of the bar date; and
- 3) whether class certification will adversely affect the administration of the estate.

In re Chaparral Energy, Inc., 571 B.R. 642, 646 (Bankr. D. Del. 2017).

These factors were first articulated in In re Musicland Holding Corp., 362 B.R. 644, 654 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2007) and are commonly referred to as the “Musicland factors.” “No one factor is dispositive; a factor may take on more or less importance in any given case.” Chaparral Energy, 571 B.R. at 646.

Only if the Court determines that it is appropriate to apply Bankruptcy Rule 7023 to the claims administration process does the Court proceed to determine whether the requirements of Civil Rule 23 have been satisfied. As explained by the Chaparral Energy court:

Whether to permit a class action proof of claim is a matter of discretion. In exercising that discretion, a two-step analysis is performed. First, the court must decide whether it is beneficial to apply Bankruptcy Rule 7023, via Bankruptcy Rule 9014(c), to the claims administration process. Second, the court must determine whether the requirements of Federal Rule 23 have been satisfied, such that a class proof of claim may properly be filed.

Id. (internal citations omitted); see also Gentry v. Siegel, 668 F.3d 83, 93 (4th Cir. 2012) (“Civil Rule 23 factors do not become an issue until the bankruptcy court determines that Rule 7023 applies by granting a Rule 9014 motion. The issue on such a motion centers more directly on whether the benefits of applying Rule 7023 (and Civil Rule 23) are superior to the benefits of the standard bankruptcy claims procedures.”).

Careful consideration of the Musicland factors is necessary because “class certification may be ‘less desirable in bankruptcy than in ordinary civil litigation.’” In re Ephedra Prod. Liab. Litig., 329 B.R. 1, 5 (S.D.N.Y. 2005). Consequently, “[e]ven class actions that were certified prior to the filing for bankruptcy may ... be disallowed.” Id.

In In re First Alliance Mortgage Co., the District Court for the Central District of California stated that “class action devices ... are particularly appropriate” in bankruptcy proceedings, and that “the party opposing the use of class devices [bears] the burden.” First All. Mortg. Co., 269 B.R. 428, 445 (C.D. Cal. 2001). In the eighteen years since it was published, no decision—either published or unpublished—has cited First Alliance for this proposition.¹ More recent decisions within the Ninth Circuit have approached class proofs of claim in a manner inconsistent with the standard set forth in First Alliance.

For example, in In re Aughney, the court expunged a class proof of claim, reasoning that the “essential problem with a class proof of claim is that class action procedures often conflict with established bankruptcy procedures.” Aughney, No. 10-12666, 2011 WL 479010, at *1 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. Feb. 4, 2011). The court held that “class claims can be allowed, especially where a class was certified before bankruptcy or principles of equity and simple justice militate in favor of a claim being pursued on behalf of a class,” but emphasized that a “prerequisite for allowance ... is that the proponent must seek and obtain a determination of the Bankruptcy Court that Rule 7023 of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure be made applicable to the claims process.” Id. In Westfall v. MII Liquidation Inc., the District Court upheld the Bankruptcy Court’s denial of class certification, explaining that “bankruptcy courts have broad discretion to allow or disallow such class claims.” Westfall, No. 06-CV-02343-BENNLIS, 2007 WL 2700951, at *4 (S.D. Cal. Sept. 11, 2007).

Courts outside the Ninth Circuit have also declined to follow First Alliance.

Instead of placing the burden upon the party opposing class certification, the Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals held that it was appropriate for the Bankruptcy Court to weigh “the benefits and costs of class litigation against the efficiencies created by the bankruptcy claims resolution process.” Gentry v. Siegel, 668 F.3d 83, 92 (4th Cir. 2012). The Fourth Circuit found that “[e]ach bankruptcy case must be assessed on a case-by-case basis to determine whether allowing a class action to proceed would be superior to using the bankruptcy claims process.” Gentry, 668 F.3d at 93. First Alliance’s burden standard is also fundamentally inconsistent with the Musicland factors, which have been widely adopted.

The Court declines to follow First Alliance for the propositions that class actions are particularly appropriate in bankruptcy and that the party opposing a class proof of claim bears the burden of proof. In determining whether application of Civil Rule 23 to the claims administration process is warranted, the Court will apply the Musicland factors, keeping in mind that “[w]hether to permit a class action proof of claim is a matter of discretion.” Chapparal Energy, 571 B.R. at 646.

A. The Musicland Factors Support Applying Civil Rule 23 to the Claims Administration Process

As set forth below, the Court finds that the Musicland factors weigh in favor of invoking Civil Rule 23.

1. Factor One: Whether the Class was Certified Prepetition

The putative class was not certified prepetition, so the first Musicland factors weighs against applying Civil Rule 23 to the claims administration process. However, as noted above, no single factor is dispositive, and courts have exercised their discretion to apply Civil Rule 23 even where the class has not been certified prepetition. See, e.g., In re Kaiser Group Intern., Inc., 278 B.R. 58, 62–63 (Bankr. D. Del. 2002) Gentry v. Siegel, 668 F.3d 83, 91 (4th Cir.2012); In re MF Glob. Inc., 512 B.R. at 763–65; In re Connaught Group, Ltd., 491 B.R. 88, 98–100 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2013).

2. Factor Two: Whether Putative Class Members Received Notice of the Bar Date

Where putative class members have received actual notice of the bar date, the second factor weighs against applying Civil Rule 23 to the claims administration process. Musicland, 362 B.R. at 655. The reason is that such putative class members have an opportunity to share in the distribution from the debtors' estate by filing a proof of claim. Id. By contrast, putative class members who did not receive actual notice of the bar date lack the ability to file a proof of claim. The filing of a class proof of claim vindicates the ability of such putative class members to assert a claim against the estate.

Here, the proposed class consists of “[a]ll California citizens employed by [Debtors] as hourly-paid employees” during the four years preceding June 21, 2018, the date of the filing of the State Court Complaint. See State Court Complaint at ¶¶ 3, 25. The Debtors provided actual notice of the bar date to employees that were employed as of the Petition Date but not to former employees. Because not all members of the putative class received actual notice of the bar date, the second factor weighs in favor of applying Civil Rule 23 to the claims administration process.

The Debtors assert that they were not required to provide actual notice to all putative class members. The Debtors cite In re Mirant, 321 B.R. 189, 199 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. 2005), in which the Court declined to apply Civil Rule 23 to the claims administration process even though not all putative class members had received actual notice of the bar date. The Mirant court reasoned that actual notice was not required because “Mirant’s chapter 11 case has been well-publicized, and Mirant is willing to rely on that publicity and its published notice to bar later claims by class members.” Mirant, 321 B.R. at 199.

The Debtors’ reliance upon Mirant is misplaced. Mirant’s holding that actual notice upon putative class members was not required was based on the fact that the interests of the putative class members were being pursued “by various arms of local and state governments and [the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission].” Id. Here, by contrast, there is nothing in the record indicating that any government entity is taking action to vindicate the rights of the Debtors’ hourly employees.

Debtors also rely upon In re Circuit City Stores, Inc., 439 B.R. 652, 658 (E.D. Va. 2010). Like Mirant, Circuit City also involved a situation in which the Bankruptcy Court declined to apply Civil Rule 23 even though not all putative class members had received actual notice of the bar date. However, in reaching its decision, the Bankruptcy Court did not apply the Musicland factors. Instead, the court relied upon a different set of factors applicable in the Fourth Circuit. Thus, Circuit City is of limited utility in ascertaining whether the second Musicland factor has been satisfied.

3. Factor Three: Whether Class Certification Will Adversely Affect the Administration of the Estate

In applying the third factor, courts consider whether class certification would delay or interfere with the debtor's ability to make distributions under a plan. For example, in Musicland, the court found that the third factor weighed against invoking Civil Rule 23 where the class certification motion was filed after the court had begun the confirmation hearing. Musicland, 362 B.R. at 656. The court reasoned that the late introduction of a significant claim would delay the debtor's ability to confirm a plan by creating unforeseen issues as to plan feasibility. Id. Applying the same logic, the court in Chapparral Energy held that certification would not interfere with the plan, because the debtors intended to proceed with confirmation and consummation of the plan notwithstanding an outstanding objection to the class proof of claim. Chapparral Energy, 571 B.R. at 648–49.

Here, the Debtors have not yet filed a plan. Nor does it appear that the filing of a plan is imminent. Concurrently with this matter the Court is adjudicating the Debtors' motion to extend the exclusivity period for filing a plan to August 26, 2019. Applying Civil Rule 23 will not impair the Debtors' ability to file and confirm a plan. Factor three weighs in favor of applying Civil Rule 23 to the claims administration process.

Debtors argue that class certification would adversely affect administration of the estate because it would be more expensive than the normal claims process. Debtors' argument misapprehends the focus of the third factor, which is directed toward whether class certification will impair the Debtors' ability to prosecute a plan.

4. Conclusion Regarding Application of the Musicland Factors

Having considered the Musicland factors, the Court finds that it is beneficial to apply Civil Rule 23 (made applicable by Bankruptcy Rule 7023) to the claims administration process. While it is true that the putative class was not certified prepetition (factor one), the second and third factors weigh in favor of applying Civil Rule 23. Of particular significance to the Court is that absent application of Civil Rule 23, former employees of the Debtors who lacked actual notice of the bar date would be prejudiced.

B. Civil Rule 23(a)

A party seeking class certification must first demonstrate that:

- 1) the class is so numerous that joinder of all members is impracticable,
- 2) there are questions of law or fact common to the class,
- 3) the claims or defenses of the representative parties are typical of the claims

- or defenses of the class, and
- 4) the representative parties will fairly and adequately protect the interests of the class.

Civil Rule 23(a).

These requirements are generally referred to as “numerosity,” “commonality,” “typicality,” and “adequacy.”

With respect to the application of Civil Rule 23, the Supreme Court has held:

Rule 23 does not set forth a mere pleading standard. A party seeking class certification must affirmatively demonstrate his compliance with the Rule—that is, he must be prepared to prove that there are in fact sufficiently numerous parties, common questions of law or fact, etc. We recognized in Falcon that “sometimes it may be necessary for the court to probe behind the pleadings before coming to rest on the certification question,” 457 U.S., at 160, 102 S.Ct. 2364, and that certification is proper only if “the trial court is satisfied, after a rigorous analysis, that the prerequisites of Rule 23(a) have been satisfied,” id., at 161, 102 S.Ct. 2364; see id., at 160, 102 S.Ct. 2364 (“[A]ctual, not presumed, conformance with Rule 23(a) remains ... indispensable”). Frequently that “rigorous analysis” will entail some overlap with the merits of the plaintiff’s underlying claim. That cannot be helped. “[T]he class determination generally involves considerations that are enmeshed in the factual and legal issues comprising the plaintiff’s cause of action.” Falcon, supra, at 160, 102 S.Ct. 2364 (quoting Coopers & Lybrand v. Livesay, 437 U.S. 463, 469, 98 S.Ct. 2454, 57 L.Ed.2d 351 (1978); some internal quotation marks omitted). Nor is there anything unusual about that consequence: The necessity of touching aspects of the merits in order to resolve preliminary matters, e.g., jurisdiction and venue, is a familiar feature of litigation. See Szabo v. Bridgeport Machines, Inc., 249 F.3d 672, 676–677 (C.A.7 2001) (Easterbrook, J.).

Wal-Mart Stores, Inc. v. Dukes, 564 U.S. 338, 350–52, 131 S. Ct. 2541, 2551–52, 180 L. Ed. 2d 374 (2011).

State Court does not mean that Wahidi is entitled to such certification in federal court, where the requirements for class certification are different. *See Raphael v. Tesoro Ref. & Mktg. Co. Sept. 25, 2015) ("[T]here have been numerous rulings in [the Central District of California] holding that PAGA claims must comply with Rule 23 guidelines and failure to move for class certification will result in dismissal").

I. Commonality

Civil Rule 23(a)(2) requires a party seeking class certification to demonstrate that “there are questions of law or fact common to the class.” The Supreme Court has stated:

Commonality requires the plaintiff to demonstrate that the class members have suffered the same injury. This does not mean merely that they have all suffered a violation of the same provision of law. Title VII, for example, can be violated in many ways—by intentional discrimination, or by hiring and promotion criteria that result in disparate impact, and by the use of these practices on the part of many different superiors in a single company. Quite obviously, the mere claim by employees of the same company that they have suffered a Title VII injury, or even a disparate-impact Title VII injury, gives no cause to believe that all their claims can productively be litigated at once. Their claims must depend upon a common contention—for example, the assertion of discriminatory bias on the part of the same supervisor. That common contention, moreover, must be of such a nature that it is capable of classwide resolution—which means that determination of its truth or falsity will resolve an issue that is central to the validity of each one of the claims in one stroke.

What matters to class certification ... is not the raising of common questions—even in droves—but, rather the capacity of a classwide proceeding to generate common answers apt to drive the resolution of the litigation. Dissimilarities within the proposed class are what have the potential to impede the generation of common answers.

Wal-Mart, 564 U.S. at 349–50 (internal citations and quotation marks omitted).

Movants have failed to prove that they have satisfied the commonality requirement. Movants allege that, as a matter of established and uniform company policy, the Debtors violated applicable California wage and hour laws by rounding down the recorded time of hourly employees, failing to provide meal and rest breaks, and failing to pay workers all wages due as a result of the rounding, meal, and rest break policies. Movants submit no evidence in support of their allegation that the Debtors applied uniform policies to all their employees.

To satisfy the commonality requirement, Movants must prove that “there was a common pattern and practice [of unlawful conduct] that could affect the class as a whole.” Ellis v. Costco Wholesale Corp., 657 F.3d 970, 983 (9th Cir. 2011). To make this showing, Movants should have submitted evidence showing the existence of uniform policies that inflicted similar injuries upon all members of the putative class. No such evidence is before the Court.

In fact, the current evidentiary record supports a finding that the Debtors lacked any set of uniform policies that violated applicable law. As set forth in the declaration of Steven C. Sharrer, VHS’ Chief Human Resources Officer (the “Sharrer Decl.”), meal and rest break policies varied by department. Sharrer Decl. at ¶ 22. Sharrer testifies that in In-Patient Units, meal and rest breaks are typically assigned, with the first rest break typically being scheduled within two hours of the start of the shift, the first meal break occurring before the fifth hour of the shift, and the last rest break occurring before the seventh hour. Sharrer Decl. at ¶ 22. Sharrer states that in the Emergency Department, meal and rest breaks start when the break nurse arrives at 11:00 a.m., and are assigned by the charge nurse based upon availability. Id. According to Sharrer, in the Gero-Psych Unit, employees choose the assignment they want and pre-assigned meal or rest break times are written on the assignment sheet. Id.

As the parties seeking class certification, Movants have the burden of furnishing sufficient evidence showing that the commonality requirement has been satisfied. LBR 9013-1(i) requires that “[f]actual contentions involved in any motion ... must be presented, heard, and determined upon declarations and other written evidence.”

Movants contend that due process requires that they be afforded the opportunity to take formal discovery in support of their attempts to show that the Rule 23 requirements of numerosity, commonality, typicality, and adequacy have been satisfied. Movants’ argument incorrectly presupposes that they have been denied the opportunity to take discovery. The Debtors sought bankruptcy protection on August 31, 2018. At any time after this date, Movants could have sought information from the Debtors in support of their class proof of claim under Bankruptcy Rule 2004. An examination under Rule 2004 may relate “to the acts, conduct, or property or to the liabilities and financial condition of the debtor, or to any matter which may affect the administration of the debtor's estate ..." In Chapter 11 cases, the examination "may also relate to ... any ... matter relevant to the case or to the formulation of a plan." "The scope of a Rule 2004 examination is exceptionally broad," and Rule 2004 examinations "have been compared to a 'fishing expedition.'" In re Duratech Indus., Inc., 241 B.R. 283, 289 (E.D.N.Y. 1999). Rule 2004 contains a mechanism for compelling the production of documents. See Bankruptcy Rule 2004(c).

In In re Associated Cmty. Servs., Inc., the court declined to allow a claimant an additional opportunity to conduct discovery in support of a class certification motion. Associated Cmty. Servs., 520 B.R. 650, 655–56 (Bankr. E.D. Mich. 2014). The court reasoned that the claimant could have conducted the necessary discovery under Bankruptcy Rule 2004:

If Pepper [the claimant] needed to conduct discovery before filing a motion to apply Rule 7023, he had ample time to do so under Fed. R. Bankr. P. 2004. Rule 2004 examinations are routinely granted, and are one of the few instances where the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure permit discovery to be taken before filing a motion or commencing an action. Pepper offers no explanation as to why he has not taken a Rule 2004 examination or sought any other discovery to date that could assist him in assembling whatever facts he believes are necessary before filing a motion to apply Rule 7023.

In re Associated Cmty. Servs., Inc., 520 B.R. 650, 655–56 (Bankr. E.D. Mich. 2014).

Notwithstanding Movants' failure to marshal the appropriate evidence in support of the Motion, the Court is willing to consider Movants' request for additional time in which to conduct discovery. It is important to emphasize that because Movants could have conducted the necessary discovery under Rule 2004 prior to filing the Motion, there is no presumption that Movants are automatically entitled to a further opportunity to conduct discovery. At the hearing, Movants must present an offer of proof as to what facts the proposed discovery will yield, and should be prepared to address the Court's concerns (further explained below) regarding Movants' ability to satisfy Civil Rule 23's commonality and typicality prongs.

In determining whether to afford Movants a further opportunity to conduct discovery, the Court is guided by several principles. First, the Court is obligated to construe and apply the Bankruptcy Rules, including the rules governing discovery, in a manner that secures "the just, speedy, and inexpensive determination" of the proceedings before it. See Bankruptcy Rule 1001. Second, in determining the appropriate scope of discovery, the Court must consider “the importance of the issues at stake in the action, the amount in controversy, the parties’ relative access to relevant information, the parties’ resources, the importance of the discovery in resolving the issues, and whether the burden or expense of the proposed discovery outweighs its likely benefit.” Civil Rule 26(b)(1).

With respect to the commonality prong, the evidence before the Court shows that the Debtors operated a complex network of healthcare entities consisting of many different types of employees, including full-time employees, part-time employees, union-represented employees, non-union represented employees, exempt employees, and non-exempt employees. Sharrer Decl. at ¶ 6. The Debtors’ policies with respect to rounding and meal and rest breaks varied not only between the various hospitals but also between different departments in the same hospital. Id. at ¶ 21. Given the extensive variation in both the types of employees and the Debtors’ policies, Movants should be prepared to address what facts they anticipate eliciting through discovery that will show that a classwide proceeding is capable of generating common answers that can drive resolution of the litigation. The Supreme Court has held that “[d]issimilarities within the proposed class are what have the potential to impede the generation of common answers.” Wal-Mart, 564 U.S. at 349–50. The evidence before the Court indicates a high degree of dissimilarity among the members of the proposed class.

2. Typicality

The Ninth Circuit has explained the typicality standard as follows:

To demonstrate typicality, Plaintiffs must show that the named parties’ claims are typical of the class. The test of typicality is whether other members have the same or similar injury, whether the action is based on conduct which is not unique to the named plaintiffs, and whether other class members have been injured by the same course of conduct. Typicality refers to the nature of the claim or defense of the class representative, and not to the specific facts from which it arose or the relief sought.

not typical of those of the proposed class because Wahidi and Madrigal were not injured by the challenged policies. With respect to rounding, the evidence shows that Wahidi was paid in accordance with the rounding policies negotiated by the CNA. Shaffer Decl. at ¶ 13. With respect to meal and rest breaks, the evidence shows that Wahidi was paid $1,932.52 on account of missed breaks and that Madrigal was paid $294.60 on account of missed breaks. Id. at ¶¶ 34–35. Neither of the unions representing Wahidi or Madrigal pursued grievances over their final pay. Id. at ¶¶ 32–33.

In the Court’s view, the fact that Wahidi and Madrigal were not injured by the challenged policies is fatal to their ability to satisfy the typicality prong. Information produced from discovery regarding the effects of the policies upon other employees cannot change the fact that Wahidi and Madrigal appear to be uniquely unsuitable as class representatives. Movants should be prepared to address this issue.

3. Adequacy

“Class representation is inadequate if the named plaintiff fails to prosecute the action vigorously on behalf of the entire class or has an insurmountable conflict of interest with other class members.” Hesse v. Sprint Corp., 598 F.3d 581, 589 (9th Cir. 2010).

Here, the question of adequacy turns on Movants’ ability to satisfy the commonality and typicality prongs. For example, Movants will not be able to vigorously prosecute the action if their claims are not typical because they were not injured by the Debtors’ policies. As set forth above, it appears unlikely to the Court that Movants will be able to satisfy these prongs, even if afforded the opportunity to take additional discovery. However, in the event that Movants can establish commonality and typicality, there is nothing in the present record indicating that Movants would not adequately protect the interests of the class as a whole.

4. Numerosity

Similar to the adequacy prong, this prong also depends upon Movants’ ability to satisfy the commonality and typicality prongs. The proposed class of approximately 7,300 claimants is large enough such that joinder of each class member would be impracticable. But the proposed class of 7,300 is tenable only if Movants can also establish that the Debtors applied common policies as to all 7,300 employees and that those employees sustained injuries similar to those of Movants.

C. Civil Rule 23(b)

If the numerosity, commonality, typicality, and adequacy prongs imposed by Civil Rule 23(a) are satisfied, a class may be maintained only if one of the requirements set forth in Civil Rule 23(b) is also satisfied. Here, Movants assert that the class may be maintained pursuant to either Civil Rule 23(b)(1)(B) or Civil Rule 23(b)(3).

Under Civil Rule 23(b)(1)(B), a class may be maintained if “prosecuting separate actions by or against individual class members would create a risk of ... adjudications with respect to individual class members that, as a practical matter, would be dispositive of the interests of the other members not parties to the individual adjudications or would substantially impair or impede their ability to protect their interests.”

Movants have not satisfied Civil Rule 23(b)(1)(B). Permitting employees to seek redress by filing individual proofs of claim creates no risk of inconsistent decisions that would impair the ability of individual employees to protect their interests. First, all proofs of claim will be adjudicated by this Court, so there is no risk of different courts issuing inconsistent decisions. Second, the evidence presently before the Court shows that the employees were subject to varied policies regarding the rounding, meal, and rest break claims that are issue. As a result of this variation, employees filing individual proofs of claim will not not be prejudiced by decisions rendered with respect to other proofs of claim involving different facts.

Civil Rule 23(b)(3) provides that a class may be maintained if:

[T]he court finds that the questions of law or fact common to class members predominate over any questions affecting only individual members, and that a class action is superior to other available methods for fairly and efficiently adjudicating the controversy. The matters pertinent to these findings include:

- (A) the class members’ interests in individually controlling the prosecution or defense of separate actions;
- (B) the extent and nature of any litigation concerning the controversy already begun by or against class members;
- (C) the desirability or undesirability of concentrating the litigation of the claims in the particular forum; and
- (D) the likely difficulties in managing a class action.

sufficiently cohesive to warrant adjudication by representation.” Amchem Prod., Inc. v. Windsor, 521 U.S. 591, 623, 117 S. Ct. 2231, 2249, 138 L. Ed. 2d 689 (1997). “Implicit in the satisfaction of the predominance test is the notion that the adjudication of common issues will help achieve judicial economy.” Zinser v. Accufix Research Inst., Inc., 253 F.3d 1180, 1189 (9th Cir.), opinion amended on denial of reh'g, 273 F.3d 1266 (9th Cir. 2001). A class action is superior to other methods of litigation if “classwide litigation of common issues will reduce litigation costs and promote greater efficiency.” Valentino v. Carter-Wallace, Inc., 97 F.3d 1227, 1234 (9th Cir. 1996).

The Court’s concerns regarding Movants’ ability to satisfy the commonality and typicality prongs also cause the Court to doubt Movants’ ability to satisfy the predominance and superiority tests. As discussed above, the fact that the Debtors’ rounding, meal, and rest break policies varied not only between hospitals but also within departments in the same hospital suggests that common questions of law or fact would not predominate over individual questions. This variation further suggests that a class action would not be superior to individualized proofs of claim, as each proof of claim would assert its own unique set of facts. Movants should be prepared to explain how the information they anticipate obtaining through discovery will address the Court’s concerns.

Debtors' Chapter 11 cases. Doc. No. 17.

Iris Lara, Tanya Llera, and Jarmaine Johns (collectively, the "Movants") seek authorization to file a class prepetition unsecured proof of claim on behalf of similarly situated creditors. Movants were prepetition employees of VHS. The Debtors oppose the Motion.

A. The Prepetition State Court Complaint

On May 12, 2017, Iris Lara and Tanya Llera, individually and on behalf of all other employees similarly situated, filed a complaint against Verity in the Los Angeles Superior Court, alleging negligence, breach of implied contract, violation of the California Customer Records Act, and violation of § 17200 et seq. of the California Business & Professions Code.

On May 19, 2017, Jarmaine Johns, individually and on behalf of all other employees similarly situated, file a complaint against VHS in the San Mateo Superior Court, alleging violation of the California Confidentiality of Medical Information Act, invasion of privacy, breach of contract, negligence, and breach of implied contract. The two actions were consolidated and a consolidated complaint was filed on June 21, 2018 (the "Complaint") in the Los Angeles Superior Court (the "State Court").

The material allegations of the Complaint are as follows:

- 1) On April 27, 2016, Verity was targeted in a "phishing" scam, in which cybercriminals contacted Verity's human resources department requesting employee W-2 files.
- 2) Verity responded by sending the requested information, which included the names, addresses, and full Social Security numbers of thousands of current and former employees, as well as the personally identifiable information ("PII") of beneficiaries designated by those employees for certain of their employment benefits.
- 3) The cybercriminals were able to perpetrate this breach because Verity failed to maintain reasonable and adequate security measures to protect the employees' information from access and disclosure, and failed to properly train employees with access to PII.
- 4) As a result of Verity's substandard cybersecurity protocols, the breach was not discovered until May 22, 2016, nearly four weeks after the employee PII was released. Written notification to those affected was not sent until June 1, 2016, more than a month after the breach.

- 5) As a result of Verity's failure to maintain adequate security measures and timely notify employees of security breaches, Verity's employees have suffered an ascertainable loss in that they have had tax refunds withheld or otherwise delayed, and have been required to (a) engage professional tax, legal, or other professional assistance and (b) undertake additional security measures to minimize the risk of future data breaches at their own expense.

Based upon the foregoing allegations, the Complaint asserts claims for invasion of privacy, negligence, unjust enrichment, breach of implied contract, violation of the California Customer Records Act, violation of the Confidentiality of Medical Information Act, and violation of the Unfair Competition Law. The proposed class consists of "[a]ll current and former employees of Verity, and their spouses and dependents, whose Personally Identifiable Information was in the possession and control of Verity at any time from January 2015 to the present and was compromised by the Data Breach [of April 27, 2016]." Complaint at ¶ 54. The State Court did not certify the proposed class prior to the Petition Date.

B. Undisputed Facts Regarding the Data Breach

Verity does not dispute certain of Movants' allegations regarding the data breach. Specifically, Verity admits the following with respect to the data breach:

On April 27, 2016, Verity was targeted with an e-mail "phishing" scam. In response to an individual impersonating a Verity executive, a Verity employee sent files containing W-2 information for employees employed between January 1, 2015 and December 31, 2015 to a third party criminal. The information sent included names, addresses, Social Security numbers, earnings, and withholding information for employees who were issued a W-2 for the 2015 tax year.

On May 22, 2016, Verity's senior leadership discovered that the breach had occurred. On May 23, 2016, Mitch Creem, then the Chief Executive Officer of Verity, sent a memorandum to all employees and physicians alerting them to the breach and advising that Verity would provide a formal notification letter, identity protection systems, and a hotline for questions. On May 26, 2016, Mr. Creem sent an updated memorandum to employees, advising them that Verity had contracted with Epiq, a national firm, to notify affected individuals and to provide identity protection services and advice. On June 1, 2016, Epiq mailed a formal notice of the data breach to affected employees. Verity offered every employee two years of free identity protection services through Equifax.

C. Summary of the Motion

Movants make the following arguments and representations in support of the Motion:

The factors supporting application of Bankruptcy Rule 7023 to the claims administration process are satisfied here. First, a class proof of claim will benefit the claims administration process. The proposed class consists of approximately 7,300 claimants. Collective resolution through a class proof of claim will be more efficient. Many of the claims are relatively small, making them economically infeasible for claimants to prosecute. Second, the Debtors provided notice of the claims bar date (the "Bar Date") to employees that were employed as of the Petition Date, but did not provide notice of the Bar Date to former employees. Absent class certification, employees who did not receive notice of the Bar Date will be unable to vindicate their rights. Third, permitting a class proof of claim will not adversely affect the administration of the estate. The Debtors have been aware of the class claim since May 2016, listed the class claim in their list of 50 largest unsecured creditors, and have not yet confirmed a plan of reorganization.

The elements of numerosity, commonality, typicality, and adequacy set forth in Civil Rule 23(a) are satisfied. With respect to numerosity, joinder of approximately 7,300 current and former employees would be impractical. With respect to commonality, the claims are based on a data breach that affected all employees. Courts have recognized that data breach claims are amenable to class treatment. See Ree v. Zappos.com, Inc. (In re Zappos.com, Inc.), 888 F.3d 1020 (9th Cir. 2018).

Typicality is satisfied because class members "have the same or similar injury" and "have been injured by the same course of conduct." Hanon v. Dataproducts Corp., 976 F.2d 497, 508 (9th Cir. 1992). Movants and members of the proposed class have been injured in the same manner in that their personal data was not secured by Verity and as a result was taken by cybercriminals.

Adequacy is satisfied because Movants will fairly and adequately protect the interests of the class. Movants have no interests that diverge from those of the class and have been injured in the same manner as other class members. The same strategies that will vindicate Movants' claims will vindicate the claims of the class.

Civil Rule 23(b)(1)(B) is satisfied. Rule 23(b)(1)(B) provides that a class action may be maintained if prosecuting separate actions by individual class members would create a risk of "adjudications with respect to individual class members that, as a practical matter, would be dispositive of the interests of other members not parties to the individual adjudications or would substantially impair or impede their ability to protect their interests." Courts have found that Rule 23(b)(1)(B) is satisfied in "limited fund" cases—that is, "an action in which any recovery will come from a fixed pool of assets that is or may be insufficient to satisfy all claims against the fund." 5 Moore's Federal Practice—Civil § 23.42[2][a] (2019). This proceeding qualifies as a limited fund case because the Debtors intend to liquidate all their assets.

In the alternative, Civil Rule 23(b)(3) is satisfied because common questions of law or fact predominate over any individual questions and a class action is the superior method to adjudicate the action fairly and efficiently. The common questions applicable to this case include whether Verity owed a duty to Movants and the class members to protect their private information, whether Verity's security measures were adequate, whether Verity failed in its duty to protect this private information, and whether Verity's notice to Movants and the class members of the breach was timely and sufficient.

A class action is superior because it is not economically feasible for most claimants to individually prosecute their claims. In addition, former employees were not notified of the bar date. Absent a class proof of claim, those former employees may never know that they were required to file an individual proof of claim in order to recover from the estate.

Superiority is further supported by the fact that damages can be determined on a class-wide basis. Damages are anticipated to fall into two categories: (1) proof of monetary loss as a result of use of the breached private data; and (2) costs associated with ongoing creditor monitoring to prevent use of the breached private data. This information can efficiently be presented to the Court through expert testimony.

If the Court does not permit a class proof of claim, the Court should (1) extend the bar date for members of the class to file individual claims and (2) establish a practical process for collectively adjudicating the claims. The process should be similarly to that used in In re Buffets LLC's, No. 16-50557-RBK (Bankr. W.D. Tex.). In Buffets, a notice and consent form was mailed to all putative class members to participate in the bankruptcy proceedings. All consent forms had to be filed within 30 days. The procedures elicited over 1,600 unpaid wage claims.

D. Summary of Verity's Opposition

Verity makes the following arguments and representations in its Opposition to the Motion:

Chapter 11

The Court should not apply Civil Rule 23 to the claims administration process. First, the class was not certified prepetition despite adequate time to do so. Second, although Debtors did not provide actual notice of the bar date to all former employees affected by the data breach, such employees received constructive notice of the bar date. Notice of the bar date was published in the Los Angeles Times, San Francisco Chronicle, San Jose Mercury News, and USA Today. Notice of the bar date was also posted on the website of the Debtors' claims and balloting agent.

Third, class certification would be more costly and burdensome than normal bankruptcy processes. Verity has reason to believe that only a few proposed class members would have valid claims, and such claims can be resolved through the normal bankruptcy process of individual claims. Fewer than 30 employees ever complained to Verity of injury from the data breach. Verity proposes that its Chapter 11 Plan will provide relief to affected former and current employees by including an offer for an additional two years of identity protection services. This would provide relief not easily recoverable through class treatment.

Class certification should be denied because the claims set forth in the Complaint are without merit. Movants' negligence claim fails because damages for negligence cannot be recovered absent actual injury. "Plaintiffs asserting negligence claims ordinarily may not recover purely economic damages unconnected to physical injury or property damage." Castillo v. Seagate Tech., LLC, No. 16-CV-01958-RS, 2016 WL 9280242, at *2 (N.D. Cal. Sept. 14, 2016). Movants cannot recover damages for the projected future costs of ongoing credit monitoring. See Castillo, 2016 WL 9280242, at *4 (holding that "those who claim only that they may incur expenses in the future have not" pleaded a cognizable injury).

Movants' claim for implied breach of contract fails because for such a claim, "[n]ominal damages, speculative harm, or threat of future harm do not suffice to show legally cognizable injury." Low v. LinkedIn Corp., 900 F.Supp.2d 1010, 1028 (N.D. Cal. 2012). Movants allege a great variety of speculative out-of-pocket damages that they indisputably did not experience.

Movants' claim under the Customer Records Act fails because the statute does not apply to "[a] provider of health care, [a] health care service plan, or [a] contractor regulated by the Confidentiality of Medical Information Act." Cal. Civ. Code § 1798.81.5(e). Movants admit in the Complaint that Verity is a provider of health care. Complaint at ¶¶ 6 and 27.

(the "CMIA") fails because the statute applies only to "medical information." Cal. Civ. Code § 56 et seq. Under the statutory definitions, the personal information of employees does not qualify.

Movants' claim under the Unfair Competition Law fails because "reliance on the threat of future harm does not satisfy the UCL's 'lost money or property' standing requirement." In re Yahoo! Inc. Customer Data Sec. Breach Litig., 313 F. Supp. 3d 1113, 1130 (N.D. Cal. 2018).

Movants' claim for invasion of privacy fails because such a claim requires an intentional intrusion into private matters. See Hernandez v. Hillside, Inc., 47 Cal. 4th, 272, 286 (2009). Here, the Movants' personal information was inadvertently disclosed, not intentionally disclosed.

Movants' claim for unjust enrichment fails because by providing their personal information, class members conferred nothing of value on Verity. "The doctrine (of unjust enrichment) applies where plaintiffs, while having no enforceable contract, nonetheless have conferred a benefit on defendant which defendant has knowingly accepted under circumstances that make it inequitable for the defendant to retain the benefit without paying for its value." Hernandez v. Lopez, 180 Cal. App. 4th 932, 938, 103 Cal. Rptr. 3d 376 (2009).

Movants cannot satisfy Civil Rule 23's commonality requirement. Movants contend that commonality is satisfied because Verity allegedly had deficient policies with respect to safeguarding employee personal information. However, Movants have failed to demonstrate, as opposed to allege, the existence of such a deficient policy.

Movants cannot satisfy the typicality requirement. Movants have failed to establish that their claims are typical of other class members. Movants do not provide any showing regarding the nature of other employees' injuries. Verity's preliminary investigation shows that Movants' claims are not typical. The three Movants allegedly experienced fraudulent tax returns involving out-of-pocket costs. Verity knows of only a small group of employees (less than 30 or approximately 0.4% of the proposed class) who experienced similar issues. The vast majority of affected employees (approximately 80%) never complained of any harm and did not even sign up for the free identity protection despite Verity's urging.

Movants do not satisfy the adequacy requirement. First, Llera is a former employee and should not be a class representative on behalf of current employees. Second, Movants have a conflict of interest because the injuries they suffered (being subjected to fraudulent tax filings) were more severe than the injuries suffered by most members of the proposed class. Movants would not be adequately incentivized to pursue relief that would benefit most members of the proposed class.

Movants' attempt to certify a class under Civil Rule 23(b)(1) fails. There is no danger of inconsistent or varying adjudications because the low value of the individualized claims means that the risk of multiple separate lawsuits is low.

Movants' request for certification under Civil Rule 23(b)(3) fails. Common issues do not predominate over individualized issues. There are many individualized issues regarding causation and the fact of injury, such as whether class members suffered any cognizable harm and whether that harm was caused by Verity's disclosure, or instead resulted from a different data breach.

E. Summary of Movant's Reply

Movants make the following arguments and representations in their Reply to Verity's Opposition:

The Debtors' objection is substantively a premature summary judgment motion on the merits of the underlying claims. As the merits of the underlying claims are not at issue in connection with the Motion, Movants will not take the bait. The only issue before the Court is whether it makes sense for a class representative to be appointed to have standing to resolve the bankruptcy claims which arise from the violations of law alleged in the Complaint.

There is no dispute that the Debtors served notice of the bar date only upon employees who remained employed as of the Petition Date, and did not provide notice to former employees. The fact that former employees did not receive notice is a compelling reason for class treatment of the claim. Permitting a class claim will not adversely affect the administration of the estate because the Debtors have not yet filed a plan. There is no merit to the Debtors' contention that the proposed class members will be protected by a plan provision giving class members a further two years of identity protection services. Such unilateral treatment is not preferable to good-faith negotiations with a class representative.

The Court should reject the Debtors' attempt to turn the Motion into a hearing on the merits of the underlying claims. Nonetheless, Movants' claims have merit. There is no merit to the Debtors' contention that Movants' claims for damages are not cognizable because they are speculative and/or non-monetary. Where PII is exposed during a data breach, an injury-in-fact is established where the misuse of such PII is alleged to be imminent. Krottner v. Starbucks Corp., 628 F.3d 1139, 1143 (9th Cir. 2010); In re Adobe Systems, Inc. Priv. Litig., 66 F.Supp.3d 1197, 1215 (N.D. Cal.

2014). The increased, immediate risk that the class members' data will be misused, as clearly demonstrated by the fact the Movants were victimized by having their information used to file fraudulent tax returns, establishes imminent injury and satisfies the pleading standard. Id.; In re Yahoo!, 2017 WL 3727318 *12. Additionally, the necessity to mitigate damages by ongoing credit monitoring to guard against future theft is also recognized as a cognizable injury for purposes of negligence. Krottner, 628 F.3d at 1141-42; In re Yahoo!, 2017 WL 3727318 *16 (finding expenses paid for credit monitoring is sufficient to demonstrate an injury in fact).

Movants have sufficiently pleaded a claim under the California Customer Recording Act (the "CRA"). The CRA requires that any business that "owns, licenses, or maintains personal information about a California resident ... implement and maintain reasonable security procedures and practices appropriate to the nature of the information, to protect the personal information from unauthorized access, destruction, use, modification, or disclosure." By failing to implement reasonable security measures appropriate to the nature of the personal information of its current and former employees, the Debtors violated the CRA.

Movants have sufficiently alleged a claim under the Confidentiality of Medical Information Act (the "CMIA"). The Debtors assert that the PII disclosed does not fall within the scope of the CMIA. Whether the PII is covered under the CMIA requires a factual finding which is not properly determined in the context of a motion for class certification.

Movants have sufficiently alleged a claim under the Unfair Competition Law (the "UCL"). Debtors argue that Movants do not have standing under the UCL because they have not pleaded any cognizable injury. Debtors ignore that Movants and the proposed class members have been injured from the filing of fraudulent tax returns and the continued improper use of their identities.

Movants have sufficiently alleged a claim for invasion of privacy. The elements of a claim for invasion of privacy are as follows: "(1) a legally protected privacy interest; (2) a reasonable expectation of privacy in the circumstances; and (3) conduct by defendant constituting a serious invasion of privacy." Pettus v. Cole, 49 Cal.App.4th 402, 439 (1996). Contrary to Debtors' contention, Movants are not required to allege an "intentional intrusion."

Movants have sufficiently alleged a claim for unjust enrichment. Under California law, unjust enrichment claims can exist as a separate cause of action when "the claim is grounded in equitable principles of restitution." Hirsch v. Bank of Am., 107

Cal.App.4th 708, 721-22 (2003). Restitution is permitted under the UCL. Bank of the West v. Superior Court, 2 Cal.4th 1254 (1992). Given that the Movants have stated a valid cause of action under the UCL, the Debtors' arguments regarding the Class Claimants' unjust enrichment claims should be rejected. Furthermore, the cases the Debtors rely upon to support their argument are inapposite, as they did not involve employee-employer relationships in the context of data breaches.

Movants have satisfied Civil Rule 23's commonality requirement. Movants have alleged that they suffered the same injury—their PII was released by the Debtors in April 2016. "[O]ne type of injury allegedly inflicted by one actor in violation of one legal norm" satisfies the commonality requirement. Vaquero v. Ashley Furn. Indus., Inc., 824 F.3d 1150, 1154 (9th Cir. 2016). The extent and adequacy of the Debtors' security measures are at the heart of all of the claims. In re Anthem, Inc. Data Breach Litig. ("Anthem II"), 327 F.R.D. 299, 308 (N.D. Cal. Aug. 15, 2008). The answer does not vary among class members, making this a common issue which will drive the resolution. Id.

Movants have satisfied the typicality requirement. The Debtors argue that Movants' claims are not typical of the class because Movants do not provide any showing regarding the nature of their or other employees' injuries. The argument is misdirected, because the focus on typicality is not on the "injury suffered" but on whether the class is victimized and harmed by the same event as the representative plaintiffs. Brown v. DirecTV, 2019 WL 1434669 *3 (C.D. Cal. Mar. 29 2019). The focus is not on the injury, but on the conduct of the defendant. Hanon v. Dataproducts Corp., 976 F.2d 497, 508 (9th Cir. 1992).

II. Findings and Conclusions

Class certification is governed by Civil Rule 23. Bankruptcy Rule 7023 provides that Civil Rule 23 "applies in adversary proceedings." Under Bankruptcy Rule 9014(c), the Court has discretion to apply Bankruptcy Rule 7023 to the claims administration process. Courts have developed a three-factor framework to guide the exercise of this discretion:

- 1) whether the class was certified pre-petition;
- 2) whether the members of the putative class received notice of the bar date; and
- 3) whether class certification will adversely affect the administration of the estate.

Chapter 11

In re Chaparral Energy, Inc., 571 B.R. 642, 646 (Bankr. D. Del. 2017).

These factors were first articulated in In re Musicland Holding Corp., 362 B.R. 644, 654 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2007) and are commonly referred to as the “Musicland factors.” “No one factor is dispositive; a factor may take on more or less importance in any given case.” Chaparral Energy, 571 B.R. at 646.

Only if the Court determines that it is appropriate to apply Bankruptcy Rule 7023 to the claims administration process does the Court proceed to determine whether the requirements of Civil Rule 23 have been satisfied. As explained by the Chaparral Energy court:

Whether to permit a class action proof of claim is a matter of discretion. In exercising that discretion, a two-step analysis is performed. First, the court must decide whether it is beneficial to apply Bankruptcy Rule 7023, via Bankruptcy Rule 9014(c), to the claims administration process. Second, the court must determine whether the requirements of Federal Rule 23 have been satisfied, such that a class proof of claim may properly be filed.

Id. (internal citations omitted); see also Gentry v. Siegel, 668 F.3d 83, 93 (4th Cir. 2012) (“Civil Rule 23 factors do not become an issue until the bankruptcy court determines that Rule 7023 applies by granting a Rule 9014 motion. The issue on such a motion centers more directly on whether the benefits of applying Rule 7023 (and Civil Rule 23) are superior to the benefits of the standard bankruptcy claims procedures.”).

Careful consideration of the Musicland factors is necessary because “class certification may be ‘less desirable in bankruptcy than in ordinary civil litigation.’” In re Ephedra Prod. Liab. Litig., 329 B.R. 1, 5 (S.D.N.Y. 2005). Consequently, “[e]ven class actions that were certified prior to the filing for bankruptcy may ... be disallowed.” Id.

In In re First Alliance Mortgage Co., the District Court for the Central District of California stated that “class action devices ... are particularly appropriate” in bankruptcy proceedings, and that “the party opposing the use of class devices [bears] the burden.” First All. Mortg. Co., 269 B.R. 428, 445 (C.D. Cal. 2001). In the eighteen years since it was published, no decision—either published or unpublished—has cited First Alliance for this proposition. [Note 1] More recent decisions within the Ninth Circuit have approached class proofs of claim in a manner inconsistent with the standard set forth in First Alliance.

For example, in In re Aughney, the court expunged a class proof of claim, reasoning that the “essential problem with a class proof of claim is that class action procedures often conflict with established bankruptcy procedures.” Aughney, No. 10-12666, 2011 WL 479010, at *1 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. Feb. 4, 2011). The court held that “class claims can be allowed, especially where a class was certified before bankruptcy or principles of equity and simple justice militate in favor of a claim being pursued on behalf of a class,” but emphasized that a “prerequisite for allowance ... is that the proponent must seek and obtain a determination of the Bankruptcy Court that Rule 7023 of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure be made applicable to the claims process.” Id. In Westfall v. MII Liquidation Inc., the District Court upheld the Bankruptcy Court’s denial of class certification, explaining that “bankruptcy courts have broad discretion to allow or disallow such class claims.” Westfall, No. 06-CV-02343-BENNLIS, 2007 WL 2700951, at *4 (S.D. Cal. Sept. 11, 2007).

Courts outside the Ninth Circuit have also declined to follow First Alliance. Instead of placing the burden upon the party opposing class certification, the Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals held that it was appropriate for the Bankruptcy Court to weigh “the benefits and costs of class litigation against the efficiencies created by the bankruptcy claims resolution process.” Gentry v. Siegel, 668 F.3d 83, 92 (4th Cir. 2012). The Fourth Circuit found that “[e]ach bankruptcy case must be assessed on a case-by-case basis to determine whether allowing a class action to proceed would be superior to using the bankruptcy claims process.” Gentry, 668 F.3d at 93. First Alliance’s burden standard is also fundamentally inconsistent with the Musicland factors, which have been widely adopted.

The Court declines to follow First Alliance for the propositions that class actions are particularly appropriate in bankruptcy and that the party opposing a class proof of claim bears the burden of proof. In determining whether application of Civil Rule 23 to the claims administration process is warranted, the Court will apply the Musicland factors, keeping in mind that “[w]hether to permit a class action proof of claim is a matter of discretion.” Chapparal Energy, 571 B.R. at 646.

A. The Musicland Factors Do Not Support Applying Civil Rule 23 to the Claims Administration Process

Chapter 11

1. Factor One: Whether the Class was Certified Prepetition

The putative class was not certified prepetition, so the first Musiland factor weighs against applying Civil Rule 23 to the claims administration process.

2. Factor Two: Whether Putative Class Members Received Notice of the Bar Date

Where putative class members have received actual notice of the bar date, the second factor weighs against applying Civil Rule 23 to the claims administration process. Musiland, 362 B.R. at 655. The reason is that such putative class members have an opportunity to share in the distribution from the debtors' estate by filing a proof of claim. Id. By contrast, putative class members who did not receive actual notice of the bar date lack the ability to file a proof of claim. The filing of a class proof of claim vindicates the ability of such putative class members to assert a claim against the estate.

Here, the proposed class consists of “[a]ll current and former employees of Verity, and their spouses and dependents, whose Personally Identifiable Information was in the possession and control of Verity at any time from January 2015 to the present and was compromised by the Data Breach [of April 27, 2016].” Complaint at ¶ 54. The Debtors provided actual notice of the bar date to employees that were employed as of the Petition Date but not to former employees.

That not all employees received actual notice of the bar date does not compel the Court to apply Civil Rule 23 to the claims administration process. As discussed below with respect to Factor Three, the Court finds that class certification will adversely affect the administration of the estate. To vindicate the ability of class members to receive a distribution from the estate, the Court will extend the claims bar date to September 30, 2019; the extension shall apply only to members of the putative class and not to other creditors. See In re Connaught Grp., Ltd., 491 B.R. 88, 97 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2013) (holding that where a court denies a class certification motion, “it should set a reasonable bar date to allow the members of the putative class to file individual claims”). The Court will order the Debtors to publish notice of the extension of the bar date as to putative class members in the San Francisco Chronicle, USA Today, the San Jose Mercury News, and the Los Angeles Times. [Note 2] The notice shall be published by no later than July 8, 2019 and a proposed form of notice shall be filed and lodged with the Court no later than June 21, 2019. Any party in interest may file an opposition to the proposed notice by no later than July 1, 2019. If an opposition is filed the Court will determine if a hearing is required and will set a date. Debtors shall also publish notice of the extension on the website of their claims and balloting agent, Kurtzman Carson Consultants, LLC. Both the published and website notices must clearly state that extended bar date applies only to all current and former employees of Verity, and their spouses and dependents, whose Personally Identifiable Information was in the possession and control of Verity at any time from January 2015 to the present and was compromised by the Data Breach of April 27, 2016.

3. Factor Three: Whether Class Certification Will Adversely Affect the Administration of the Estate

The Court finds that class certification will adversely affect the administration of the estate. A class proof of claim will prove more unwieldy and be less efficient than individual proofs of claim.

The Debtors have demonstrated that significant variation exists in the types of injuries suffered by members of the proposed class. Only approximately thirty employees (or 0.4% of the proposed class) experienced practical issues resulting from the data breach. Declaration of Pascale Sonia-Roy (the "Sonia-Roy Decl.") at ¶ 21. Of these thirty employees experiencing issues, certain employees reported being victims of fraudulent tax return filings. Id. One employee reported the unauthorized use of a credit card. Id. One employee reported a fraudulent request for a second credit card. Id. One employee reported an attempted by a third-party to refinance a mortgage and draw on equity. Id. One employee reported a fraudulent request for a mortgage payment refund. None of these attempts to defraud the employees were successful. Id. All employees ultimately received their tax returns and suffered no direct damages. Id. at ¶ 22.

The Debtors received only two claims for reimbursement of out-of-pocket expenses: (1) a request by six nurses employed at St. Francis Medical Center for compensation for time and mileage to meet in-person with the Internal Revenue Service; and (2) a $30 dollar reimbursement request by another employee for the purchase of additional identity theft protection. Id. at ¶ 23.

In sum, only a very small percentage of the putative class has suffered any damages on account of the data breach. Of those employees who were injured, the out-of-pocket costs incurred vary significantly. The most effective way to address the claims of employees who have suffered damages is to allow such employees the opportunity to file proofs of claim. In contrast to a class proof of claim, individualized proofs of claim will be precisely tailored to the damages suffered by each claimant.

Movants assert that classwide litigation as to damages can be effectively managed through expert testimony that will estimate damages. Such expert testimony would be expensive, time-consuming, and inevitably less precise than individualized proofs of claim. There is no point in engaging in such an exercise where a process already exists that can effectively address any claims asserted by employees.

As explained by the court in Gentry v. Siegel, the normal bankruptcy claims process allows all claims to be consolidated in one forum and permits claimants to file proofs of claim without counsel at virtually no cost to themselves. Gentry, 668 F.3d at 93. In contrast to these systemic advantages, classwide litigation is frequently expensive, time-consuming, and protracted. Id. The normal policy concerns that typically fail a class action process—the risk of inconsistent adjudications and the deterrence of improper defendant behavior—are not a concern in a bankruptcy proceeding involving a single court. Id.

The court in In re Ephedra Prod. Liab. Litig., 329 B.R. 1, 9 (S.D.N.Y. 2005) reached a similar conclusion:

[The] superiority of the class action vanishes when the "other available method" is bankruptcy, which consolidates all claims in one forum and allows claimants to file proofs of claim without counsel and at virtually no cost. In efficiency, bankruptcy is superior to a class action because in practice small claims are often "deemed allowed" under § 502(a) for want of objection, in which case discovery and fact-finding are avoided altogether. As for fairness, although the notice requirements of Rule 23 are superior for class members to the usual bankruptcy notice by publication, this shortcoming is easily remedied by a bankruptcy notice directed specifically at class members, either at the time of the original notice or thereafter by order extending the bar date for class members.

In re Ephedra Prod. Liab. Litig., 329 B.R. 1, 9 (S.D.N.Y. 2005).

For these reasons, the Musicland factors weigh against applying Civil Rule 23 to the claims administration process. Accordingly, the Court declines to apply Civil Rule 23 and declines to authorize Movants to proceed with the proposed class proof of claim. Because the Court will not apply Civil Rule 23, it is not necessary for the Court to address whether Movants have met the class certification requirements of numerosity, commonality, typicality, and adequacy.

Support of the Class Certification Motion

Movants contend that due process requires that they be afforded the opportunity to take formal discovery in support of the Motion. Movants' argument incorrectly presupposes that they have been denied the opportunity to take discovery. The Debtors sought bankruptcy protection on August 31, 2018. At any time after this date, Movants could have sought information from the Debtors in support of their class proof of claim under Bankruptcy Rule 2004. An examination under Rule 2004 may relate "to the acts, conduct, or property or to the liabilities and financial condition of the debtor, or to any matter which may affect the administration of the debtor's estate" In Chapter 11 cases, the examination "may also relate to ... any ... matter relevant to the case or to the formulation of a plan." "The scope of a Rule 2004 examination is exceptionally broad," and Rule 2004 examinations "have been compared to a 'fishing expedition.'" In re Duratech Indus., Inc., 241 B.R. 283, 289 (E.D.N.Y. 1999). Rule 2004 contains a mechanism for compelling the production of documents. See Bankruptcy Rule 2004(c).

In In re Associated Cmty. Servs., Inc., the court declined to allow a claimant an additional opportunity to conduct discovery in support of a class certification motion. Associated Cmty. Servs., 520 B.R. 650, 655–56 (Bankr. E.D. Mich. 2014). The court reasoned that the claimant could have conducted the necessary discovery under Bankruptcy Rule 2004:

If Pepper [the claimant] needed to conduct discovery before filing a motion to apply Rule 7023, he had ample time to do so under Fed. R. Bankr. P. 2004. Rule 2004 examinations are routinely granted, and are one of the few instances where the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure permit discovery to be taken before filing a motion or commencing an action. Pepper offers no explanation as to why he has not taken a Rule 2004 examination or sought any other discovery to date that could assist him in assembling whatever facts he believes are necessary before filing a motion to apply Rule 7023.

In re Associated Cmty. Servs., Inc., 520 B.R. 650, 655–56 (Bankr. E.D. Mich. 2014).

The Court is obligated to construe and apply the Bankruptcy Rules, including the rules governing discovery, in a manner that secures "the just, speedy, and inexpensive determination" of the proceedings before it. See Bankruptcy Rule 1001. Further, in determining the appropriate scope of discovery, the Court must consider "the importance of the issues at stake in the action, the amount in controversy, the parties' relative access to relevant information, the parties' resources, the importance of the discovery in resolving the issues, and whether the burden or expense of the proposed discovery outweighs its likely benefit." Civil Rule 26(b)(1).

Debtors have already devoted significant resources to opposing the Motion. Where, as here, Movants have had an ample opportunity to conduct discovery in support of the Motion, further discovery would needlessly result in increased expense to the estate. In addition, such further discovery would not likely yield facts which would cause the Court to reconsider its conclusion that the normal claims process is superior to a class proof of claim. In particular, the proposed discovery is unlikely to defeat the Debtors' showing that the individualized damages suffered by proposed class members varies significantly. Consequently, the Court finds that the burden or expense of the proposed discovery outweighs its likely benefit.

III. Conclusion

Based upon the foregoing, the Motion is DENIED. The Debtors shall submit a conforming order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing.

Debtors' Chapter 11 cases. Doc. No. 17.

Lynn C. Morris, Hilda Daily, and Noe Guzman (collectively, the "Movants") seek authorization to file a class prepetition unsecured proof of claim on behalf of similarly situated creditors. Each Movant is employed at hospitals operated by the Debtors and is a participant in the Debtors' retirement plan. Movants intend to commence litigation against VHS, alleging that VHS diverted assets from Movants' underfunded retirement plan to create a new overfunded retirement plan, and that such actions constituted a breach of fiduciary duties imposed by the Employee Retirement Income Securities Act ("ERISA"). Debtors oppose the Motion, arguing that the Court should not permit the filing of a class proof of claim because Movants' allegations are completely devoid of merit.

A. The Debtors' Retirement Plans

Prior to 2015, the Debtors were operated by the Daughters of Charity under the name Daughters of Charity Health System ("DCHS"). Declaration of Richard G. Adcock in Support of Emergency First-Day Motions [Doc. No. 8] (the "First Day Decl.") at ¶¶ 82–88. In July 2015, DCHS entered into a recapitalization transaction with BlueMountain Capital Management LLC ("BlueMountain"), in which DCHS' name was changed to Verity Health System. Id. at ¶ 88. In connection with the BlueMountain transaction, the Debtors retained liabilities with respect to various DCHS pension plans, including a single employer defined benefit plan known as the "Church Plan." Declaration of Carlos De La Parra [Doc. No. 2225] (the "De La Parra Decl.") at ¶ 7. The Church Plan did not comply with ERISA, was not insured by the Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation (the "PBGC"), and was significantly underfunded. Id. at ¶¶ 7–8. The Debtors converted the Church Plan into the Verity Health System Retirement Plan (the "Verity Plan"), which did comply with ERISA and was partially insured by the PGBC. Id. at ¶ 7.

Effective December 31, 2016, the Board of Directors of VHS (the "Board") converted the Verity Plan into Plan A and created Plan B. Id. at ¶ 9. Plan B was funded with approximately $7,996,440 from the corpus of the Verity Plan. Id. Prior to the creation of Plan B, the Verity Plan had assets of $274,549,560. Id.

The Board conducted a special session on December 28, 2016, to consider the creation of Plan B. According to the minutes of the Board's meeting, Plan B was created "to reduce current and future premium costs from [the PBGC]." Telephonic Meeting Minutes [Doc. No. 2255 at pp. 43–44] (the "Minutes"). The Minutes explain the purpose and structure of the transaction as follows:

Specifically, the assets spun off to the new de minimis plan [Plan B] must be no more than 3% of the total assets of the Plan before the spin-off per IRS regulations, which is approximately $8 million. In order to qualify as a de minimis spin-off, a plan sponsor must transfer assets equal to the benefit obligations being spun-off to the new plan. As a result, the spun-off plan is fully funded and does not have a variable-rate premium (“VRP”). The goal of the spin-off is to have as many participants transferred to the spinoff plan as possible because the savings is based on the number of participants in the spinoff plan [Plan B]. Once the headcount is reduced in the original plan [the Verity Plan, which was converted to Plan A] while maintaining the same unfunded obligation, the VRP for the original plan is reduced due to the $500 per participant cap being applied to a lower headcount. As a result of the spin-off, PBGC premiums paid by the Plan is estimated to decrease by $300,000 to $800,000 in 2017. The annual savings will continue for each subsequent year. The actual savings will be determined by the final number of members who can be moved to the new spinoff plan. Management is still finalizing the appropriate categories of employees to transition to the de minimis spinoff plan.

Minutes at ¶ 2.

According to filings with the United States Secretary of Labor, as of December 31, 2015 (prior to the creation of Plan B), the Verity Plan was underfunded, having assets sufficient to cover only 66.36% of the Verity Plan’s liabilities. Schedule SB (Form 5500) for Verity Plan, Plan Year 2015, at Part II, § 14 [Doc. No. 1980, Ex. A]. As of December 31, 2016 (subsequent to the creation of Plan B), the newly-created Plan A (the successor to the Verity Plan) had assets sufficient to cover only 65.41% of Plan A’s liabilities. Schedule SB (Form 5500) for Plan A, Plan Year 2016, at Part II, § 14 [Doc. No. 1980, Ex. B]. That is, subsequent to the creation of Plan B, Plan A’s ability to satisfy its liabilities was reduced by approximately one percentage point, from 66.36% to 65.41%. As of December 31, 2016, Plan B was overfunded, having assets sufficient to cover 128.79% of Plan B’s liabilities. Schedule SB (Form 5500) for Plan B, Plan Year 2016, at Part II, § 14 [Doc. No. 1980, Ex. C].

No member of the Board or of the BAC is a beneficiary of Plan B. Declaration of Steven C. Sharrer [Doc. No. 2255] (the “Sharrer Decl.”) at ¶ 8. No member of the Debtors’ management is a beneficiary of Plan B. Id. at ¶ 9.

B. The Proposed Class Proof of Claim

Movants initially sought authorization to file a class proof of claim which would allege that “the BAC decided to transfer assets out of Plan A, and into Plan B, in order to protect their personal retirement benefits from any negative consequences associated with Plan A’s underfunded status.” Motion at 12. The proposed class claim would further allege that:

- 1) “Each of the BAC members, and approximately 1,000 of their fellow executives, were participants in [the Verity Plan] when the BAC decided to take this action, which included spinning $7,996,440.00 worth of assets out of the ‘under-funded’ Plan A and into Plan B.” Motion at 12.
- 2) “Each BAC member personally benefited from this spin-off by virtue of Plan B immediately being overfunded by 128.79% (thereby providing each member of the BAC with a much greater degree of retirement security). This constitutes a self-interested benefit obtained by each member of the BAC, in violation of ERISA §§ 406(a)(1)(D), and 406(b)(1).” Id. at 12–13.
- 3) “[T]he Debtor, by and through the BAC, breached a fiduciary duty of loyalty owed to [Movants] ... when it made the decision to spin assets off from Plan A, and into Plan B. In so doing, the Debtor and the BAC ... failed to act solely in the interest of all participants and beneficiaries ... [in violation of] ERISA §§ 404(a)(1)(A)(I)–(ii).” Id. at 13.

After the Debtors presented evidence showing that (1) it was the VHS Board, not the BAC, that executed the spinoff and that (2) no members of the Board are beneficiaries of Plan B, Movants modified the theory underlying their proposed class proof of claim. Movants now seek authorization to file a class proof of claim alleging that:

- 1) “[T]he Board exercised discretion to dispose of plan assets in the [Verity Plan], by moving them into Plan B and in doing so, it breached ERISA’s fiduciary duties by failing to act in the best interest of all participants and beneficiaries in the [Verity Plan], and by using the assets of the [Verity Plan] to reduce the Debtors' operating costs." Reply at 7–8.

- 2) "[T]he spin-off of Plan B used plan assets and hurt Plan A participants by increasing the underfunding of Plan A, and this decision was made in order to reduce PBGC premiums paid by the employer.... Thus, while acting as a plan sponsor and party-in-interest, VHS made a decision to use plan assets at the expense of Plan A participants in order to benefit itself, the employer.... This is a violation of ERISA § 403 where the $7.9 million in assets 'inured' to the benefit of the Debtors, and violates ERISA § 406(a)(1)(D) ... because it involved a 'transfer of assets' out of the [Verity Plan] for the use and benefit of the Debtors." Id. at 13.

The proposed class would consist of the approximately 6,924 beneficiaries who remained in Plan A subsequent to the spinoff transaction. Movants seek a monetary remedy payable by VHS, as well as attorneys' fees.

C. Summary of Papers Filed in Connection with the Motion

As described above, Movants modified the legal theory underlying their proposed class proof of claim after the Debtors presented evidence showing that certain of Movants' claims were predicated upon a demonstrably false factual predicate. The shift in Movants' legal theory has mooted some of the factual disputes initially placed at issue by the Motion. Specifically, Movants have abandoned their theory that the spinoff was a self-interested transaction by the BAC, and now argue that in executing the spinoff transaction, the Board violated its fiduciary duties to beneficiaries of the Verity Plan (which was subsequently renamed Plan A).

The primary issues that remain in dispute are as follows. First, Debtors assert that Movants' claim for breach of the fiduciary duties imposed by ERISA fails as a matter of law. According to Debtors, the ERISA allegations do not state a claim because the Board was not acting in its fiduciary capacity when it executed the spinoff transaction. Movants contend that the Board was acting in its fiduciary capacity, on the ground that the Board exercised discretionary authority to transfer assets in the Verity Plan into the newly created Plan B.

Second, Debtors contend that class certification would be wasteful and would interfere with the administration of the estate. Debtors note that the PBGC is already pursuing proofs of claim on account of the underfunded status of Plan A. Debtors argue that Movants' proposed class proof of claim is effectively duplicative of the claims being pursued by the PBGC. Movants dispute that their proposed class proof of claim is duplicative. Movants argue that unlike the PBGC, they are seeking relief for violations of Title I of ERISA, and that the PBGC lacks standing to pursue such claims.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Class certification is governed by Civil Rule 23. Bankruptcy Rule 7023 provides that Civil Rule 23 “applies in adversary proceedings.” Under Bankruptcy Rule 9014(c), the Court has discretion to apply Bankruptcy Rule 7023 to the claims administration process. Courts have developed a three-factor framework to guide the exercise of this discretion:

- 1) whether the class was certified pre-petition;
- 2) whether the members of the putative class received notice of the bar date; and
- 3) whether class certification will adversely affect the administration of the estate.

In re Chaparral Energy, Inc., 571 B.R. 642, 646 (Bankr. D. Del. 2017).

These factors were first articulated in In re Musicland Holding Corp., 362 B.R. 644, 654 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2007) and are commonly referred to as the “Musicland factors.” “No one factor is dispositive; a factor may take on more or less importance in any given case.” Chaparral Energy, 571 B.R. at 646.

Only if the Court determines that it is appropriate to apply Bankruptcy Rule 7023 to the claims administration process does the Court proceed to determine whether the requirements of Civil Rule 23 have been satisfied. As explained by the Chaparral Energy court:

Whether to permit a class action proof of claim is a matter of discretion. In exercising that discretion, a two-step analysis is performed. First, the court must decide whether it is beneficial to apply Bankruptcy Rule 7023, via Bankruptcy Rule 9014(c), to the claims administration process. Second, the court must determine whether the requirements of Federal Rule 23 have been satisfied, such that a class proof of claim may properly be filed.

determines that Rule 7023 applies by granting a Rule 9014 motion. The issue on such a motion centers more directly on whether the benefits of applying Rule 7023 (and Civil Rule 23) are superior to the benefits of the standard bankruptcy claims procedures.”).

Careful consideration of the Musicland factors is necessary because “class certification may be ‘less desirable in bankruptcy than in ordinary civil litigation.’” In re Ephedra Prod. Liab. Litig., 329 B.R. 1, 5 (S.D.N.Y. 2005). Consequently, “[e]ven class actions that were certified prior to the filing for bankruptcy may ... be disallowed.” Id.

In In re First Alliance Mortgage Co., the District Court for the Central District of California stated that “class action devices ... are particularly appropriate” in bankruptcy proceedings, and that “the party opposing the use of class devices [bears] the burden.” First All. Mortg. Co., 269 B.R. 428, 445 (C.D. Cal. 2001). In the eighteen years since it was published, no decision—either published or unpublished—has cited First Alliance for this proposition. [Note 1] More recent decisions within the Ninth Circuit have approached class proofs of claim in a manner inconsistent with the standard set forth in First Alliance.

For example, in In re Aughney, the court expunged a class proof of claim, reasoning that the “essential problem with a class proof of claim is that class action procedures often conflict with established bankruptcy procedures.” Aughey, No. 10-12666, 2011 WL 479010, at *1 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. Feb. 4, 2011). The court held that “class claims can be allowed, especially where a class was certified before bankruptcy or principles of equity and simple justice militate in favor of a claim being pursued on behalf of a class,” but emphasized that a “prerequisite for allowance ... is that the proponent must seek and obtain a determination of the Bankruptcy Court that Rule 7023 of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure be made applicable to the claims process.” Id. In Westfall v. MII Liquidation Inc., the District Court upheld the Bankruptcy Court’s denial of class certification, explaining that “bankruptcy courts have broad discretion to allow or disallow such class claims.” Westfall, No. 06-CV-02343-BENNLS, 2007 WL 2700951, at *4 (S.D. Cal. Sept. 11, 2007).

Courts outside the Ninth Circuit have also declined to follow First Alliance. In Gentry v. Siegel, the court “weighed the benefits and costs of class litigation against the efficiencies created by the bankruptcy claims resolution process.” Gentry, 668 F.3d 83, 92 (4th Cir. 2012). The court “looked at the issue both on a systemic level and in light of the facts specific to [the] case.” Id.

bankruptcy proceedings, and that the party opposing a class proof of claim bears the burden of proof, is also inconsistent with the Musicland factors. The Musicland factors—which have been widely adopted—do not contain a presumption in favor of a class proof of claim. To the contrary, application of the Musicland factors requires an "exercise of ... discretion" and "a fact and case specific analysis." Chaparral Energy, 571 B.R. at 646. The Court declines to follow First Alliance for the propositions that class actions are particularly appropriate in bankruptcy or that the party opposing class certification bears the burden of proof. Instead, the Court applies the Musicland factors to determine whether Civil Rule 23 should be made applicable to the claims administration process.

A. Factors 1 and 2: Prepetition Certification and Notice of the Bar Date

The first Musicland factor is whether the putative class was certified prepetition. The second factor is whether putative class members received notice of the bar date. The first two factors “are critical” and are often evaluated concurrently. Musicland, 362 B.R. at 655. “[Putative members of an uncertified class members who received actual notice of the bar date but did not file timely claims are the least favored candidates for class action treatment.” Id. Allowing class certification for such creditors would effectively extend “the bar date for the benefit of those who sat on their rights ... at the expense of vigilant creditors who observed the bar date.” Id.

1. Prepetition Certification

The putative class has not been certified prepetition. In fact, no litigation has been commenced at all. The allegedly wrongful conducted occurred on December 31, 2016. The publicly available forms reporting the funding status of Plans A and B which supply the basis for Movants’ allegations were filed with the Department of Labor on October 10, 2017. See Schedule SB (Form 5500) for Plan A, Plan Year 2016 [Doc. No. 1980, Ex. B] and Schedule SB (Form 5500) for Plan B, Plan Year 2016 [Doc. No. 1980, Ex. C]. The Debtors sought bankruptcy protection on August 31, 2018. Movants’ claims arose and could have reasonably been discovered sufficiently far in advance of the Petition Date to permit prepetition class certification. At the very least, litigation could have been commenced prepetition. Yet even after expiration of the bar date and the filing of the motion seeking class certification, Movants still had not finalized the legal theory underlying their proposed class complaint.

The changes in Movants’ legal theory are not minor. Movants initially alleged that members of the BAC engaged in a self-interest transaction by creating the overfunded Plan B for their own benefit. After the Debtors presented evidence showing that BAC members are not beneficiaries of Plan B, Movants alleged that in creating Plan B, the VHS Board violated its fiduciary duties to beneficiaries of the Verity Plan and Plan A (the successor to the Verity Plan). According to this new theory, the insurance savings resulting from Plan B's creation inured to VHS' benefit, but the harm resulting from the concomitant reduction in Plan A's assets was born by the Debtors' employees.

Movants' approach to the proposed class proof of claim is not well taken. Movants' initial legal theory was based upon a false factual assumption—that the BAC created Plan B for its own benefit—that could have easily been discovered. The Debtors sought bankruptcy protection on August 31, 2018. At any time after this date, Movants could have sought information from the Debtors in support of their class proof of claim under Bankruptcy Rule 2004. An examination under Rule 2004 may relate “to the acts, conduct, or property or to the liabilities and financial condition of the debtor, or to any matter which may affect the administration of the debtor's estate” In Chapter 11 cases, the examination “may also relate to ... any ... matter relevant to the case or to the formulation of a plan.” “The scope of a Rule 2004 examination is exceptionally broad,” and Rule 2004 examinations “have been compared to a ‘fishing expedition.’” In re Duratech Indus., Inc., 241 B.R. 283, 289 (E.D.N.Y. 1999). Rule 2004 contains a mechanism for compelling the production of documents. See Bankruptcy Rule 2004(c). At least one court has recognized that Rule 2004 is an appropriate means of obtaining discovery in support of a proposed class proof of claim. See In re Associated Cmty. Servs., Inc., 520 B.R. 650, 655–56 (Bankr. E.D. Mich. 2014) (“If Pepper [the claimant] needed to conduct discovery before filing a motion to apply Rule 7023, he had ample time to do so under Fed. R. Bankr. P. 2004. Rule 2004 examinations are routinely granted, and are one of the few instances where the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure permit discovery to be taken before filing a motion or commencing an action. Pepper offers no explanation as to why he has not taken a Rule 2004 examination or sought any other discovery to date that could assist him in assembling whatever facts he believes are necessary before filing a motion to apply Rule 7023.”).

In addition to the fact that the putative class was not certified prepetition, Movants' proposed claims are wholly without merit. The Court recognizes that in determining whether to apply Civil Rule 23 to the claims administration process, the focus is typically not upon the merits of the underlying claims. Nonetheless, application of the Musicland factors requires “a fact and case specific analysis.”

Chaparral Energy, 571 B.R. at 646. In conducting that case specific analysis, the Court has an obligation to screen out nonmeritorious class proofs of claim in order to conserve estate resources. That is particularly the case where, as here, Movants have abused the litigation process by first filing a class proof of claim containing allegations which Movants should have known lacked evidentiary support, and then by dramatically modifying their legal theory after the Debtors pointed out the claims' fundamental defects.

Movants allege that by executing the spinoff transaction, the Board violated its fiduciary duties to those participants in the Verity Plan that were subsequently transferred to Plan A. Movants' theory is that the spinoff harmed participants in Plan A by reducing the assets available to satisfy Plan A's obligations.

Movants' allegations that the Board violated the fiduciary duties imposed by ERISA fail as a matter of law. The "threshold question" in an action charging breach of fiduciary duty under ERISA is "not whether the actions of some person ... adversely affected a plan beneficiary's interest, but whether that person was acting as a fiduciary (that is, was performing a fiduciary function) when taking the action subject to complaint." Pegram v. Herdrich, 530 U.S. 211, 226 (2000). Here, the Board was not acting in a fiduciary capacity when it executed the spinoff transaction.

Through the spinoff transaction, the Board amended the Verity Plan "by spinning off to a new and separate plan maintained by Verity [Plan B] the liability attributable to certain participants in the Plan and assets equal to such liability." Resolution 2016-12-28-1 of the Board of Directors of Verity Health System of California, Inc. Re: Approval of Spinoff Retirement Plan [Doc. No. 2255 at pp. 46-47] (the "Spinoff Resolution"). In so amending the Verity Plan, the Board was not acting in its fiduciary capacity within the meaning of ERISA because "[p]lan sponsors who alter the terms of a plan do not fall into the category of fiduciaries." Lockheed Corp. v. Spink, 517 U.S. 882, 890, 116 S. Ct. 1783, 1789, 135 L. Ed. 2d 153 (1996). As the Supreme Court has held, "employers or other plan sponsors are generally free under ERISA, for any reason at any time, to adopt, modify, or terminate welfare plans. When employers undertake those actions, they do not act as fiduciaries, but are analogous to the settlors of a trust." Id. (internal citations and quotation marks omitted). Applying Lockheed, the Ninth Circuit has held that "a decision to spin a plan off ... is not a fiduciary act." Paulsen v. CNF Inc., 559 F.3d 1061, 1076 (9th Cir. 2009).

The Ninth Circuit's opinion in Paulsen v. CNF Inc. relied upon Systems Council EM-3 v. AT&T Corp., 159 F.3d 1376 (D.C. Cir. 1998). Systems Council is instructive, as its facts are similar to the instant matter. In Systems Council, AT&T decided to reorganize its corporate structure by spinning off operations into separate businesses, one of which was Lucent. Id. at 1378. Pursuant to the reorganization, AT&T executed an agreement with Lucent, under which AT&T would spinoff assets in its employee benefit plan to a plan established for the benefit of Lucent. Id. The plaintiffs alleged that AT&T violated fiduciary duties imposed by ERISA by favoring itself in the allocation of plan assets. Id. The court dismissed the complaint, concluding that AT&T was not acting in its fiduciary capacity when it amended the plan to allocate assets and liabilities between AT&T and Lucent. Id. at 1379–80.

As in Systems Council, here the Board amended the Verity Plan to allocate assets and liabilities between Plan A and Plan B. As was the case in Systems Council, the amendment to accomplish the allocation does not constitute a fiduciary act.

Movants further allege that the spinoff transaction violated ERISA § 403(c). ERISA § 403(c) provides in relevant part:

[T]he assets of a plan shall never inure to the benefit of any employer and shall be held for the exclusive purposes of providing benefits to participants in the plan and their beneficiaries and defraying reasonable expenses of administering the plan.

Movants' theory is that in spinning off 3% of the Verity Plan's assets to create Plan B, VHS caused such assets to inure to its benefit, because the purpose of the spinoff transaction was to reduce the amount of premiums VHS was obligated to pay to the PBGC.

This allegation is without merit. First, the allegation fails because the Board was not acting in its fiduciary capacity when executing the spinoff transaction, for the reasons set forth above. Second, ERISA § 403(c)'s anti-inurement provision "demands only that plan assets be held for supplying benefits to plan participants." Raymond B. Yates, M.D., P.C. Profit Sharing Plan v. Hendon, 541 U.S. 1, 22, 124 S. Ct. 1330, 1344, 158 L. Ed. 2d 40 (2004). VHS' receipt of benefits in the form of reduced PBGC premiums does not qualify as a violation of the anti-inurement provision. The purpose of that provision "is to apply the law of trusts to discourage abuses such as self-dealing, imprudent investment, and misappropriation of plan assets, by employers and others." Id. at 23. The assets transferred to Plan B were held to supply benefits to Plan B's participants; there is no allegation that VHS misappropriated or embezzled Plan B's assets.

2. Notice of the Bar Date

The Debtors provided notice of the bar date to Plan A participants who were current employees of the Debtors on the Petition Date. All Plan A participants who were former employees were kept apprised of important dates in the cases by the Plan A administrator. Adcock Decl. at ¶ 6. It is not clear from the record whether the Plan A administrator provided notice of the bar date to former employees.

However, whether plan participants received notice of the bar date is not relevant for purposes of determining the appropriateness of class certification, because individual plan participants lack standing to pursue claims on behalf of Plan A. The PBGC has advised the Debtors that it will shortly initiate the process of terminating Plans A and B. Sharrer Decl. at ¶ 12–13. “Upon distress termination, employers are liable to PBGC for any unfunded benefit liabilities. After recovery from the employer, PBGC must pay plan participants all guaranteed benefits and a portion of non-guaranteed benefits based on a statutory formula.” Paulsen v. CNF Inc., 559 F.3d 1061, 1074 (9th Cir. 2009). The Ninth Circuit has held that where a plan is subject to a distress termination, plan participants lack standing to assert claims against the plan sponsor for breach of ERISA fiduciary duties. Id. at 1073. Recovery for a breach of fiduciary duties inures to the benefit of the plan as a whole, and not to an individual beneficiary. Id. Since upon distress termination the plan is under the control of the PBGC, any recovery would go to the PGBC, which is already required to distribute benefits in accordance with a detailed statutory formula. Id. at 1073–74. Therefore, courts lack the ability to redress the plan participants’ injury through a favorable decision. Id. at 1074. See also In re Adams Hard Facing Co., 129 B.R. 662, 663 (W.D. Okla. 1991) (holding that if plan participants “make claims directly against the bankruptcy estate, the purposes of ERISA § 4022(c) will be defeated”); United Steelworkers of America, AFL-CIO, CLC v. United Eng’g, Inc., 52 F.3d 1386, 1392 (6th Cir. 1995) (“Several courts that have addressed the issue that confronts us today have held that ERISA now preempts direct against the employer”).

Because Plan A participants lack standing to assert their claims, the fact that certain Plan A participants may not have received actual notice of the bar date is immaterial.

B. Factor 3: Whether Class Certification Will Adversely Affect the Administration of the Estate

Class certification will adversely affect the administration of the estate. As discussed above, class certification would be pointless because the claims are wholly without merit and the Plan A participants lack standing to assert their claims. But even if that were not the case, class certification would be adverse to the administration of the estate because the PBGC has filed proofs of claims that are effectively duplicative of the proposed class proof of claim.

In Proof of Claim No. 4318 ("Claim 4318"), the PBGC asserts a claim in the amount of $310.3 million for the unfunded benefit liabilities of Plan A. In Proof of Claim No. 4325 ("Claim 4325"), the PBGC asserts a claim in the amount of approximately $30.6 million for unpaid minimum funding contributions to Plan A. In Proof of Claim No. 4327 ("Claim 4327"), the PBGC asserts a claim in the approximate amount of $27 million for insurance premiums, interest, and penalties in connection with Plan A.

The gravamen of Movants' claim is that through the creation of Plan B, VHS increased the unfunded benefit liabilities of Plan A. The PBGC's proofs of claim seek recovery on account of Plan A's unfunded benefit liabilities. Movants assert that their proposed class proof of claim differs from the PBGC's claims. Movants note that they seek recovery for breaches of fiduciary duty under Title I of ERISA, a form of relief that the PBGC lacks standing to pursue.

It is true that the statutory predicate for Movants' claim differs from that of the PBGC's claims. However, both sets of claims exist only because Plan A is underfunded. The PBGC's proofs of claim seek relief on account of Plan A's underfunded status for the purpose of redressing the injury suffered by Plan A participants. The ultimate relief sought by the PBGC—recovering assets for the underfunded Plan A—is the same as that sought by Movants. In this sense, the relief sought by Movants is duplicative of that sought by the PBGC. In determining whether to apply Civil Rule 23 to the claims administration process, it is appropriate for the Court to be cognizant of this reality. In In Re Mirant Corporation, the court declined to permit class certification because the interests of the proposed class members were being pursued "by various arms of local and state governments and [the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission]." Mirant, 321 B.R. 189, 199 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. 2005). Denial of class certification is likewise appropriate here given that the interests of the proposed class members are being pursued by the PBGC. Certifying the class proposed by Movants would mean that two separate entities, Movants and the PBGC, would be competing for assets that will go to the same place.

As set forth above, all three Musycland factors weigh against applying Civil Rule 23 to the claims administration process. Accordingly, the Court declines to apply Civil Rule 23 and declines to authorize Movants to proceed with the proposed class proof of claim. Because the Court will not apply Civil Rule 23, it is not necessary for the Court to address whether Movants have met the class certification requirements of numerosity, commonality, typicality, and adequacy.

If you wish to make a telephonic appearance, contact Court Call at 888-882-6878, no later than one hour before the hearing.

Note 1

Five published and six unpublished decisions have cited First Alliance. None of these eleven decisions cite First Alliance for the proposition that class actions are particularly appropriate in bankruptcy proceedings or that the party opposing a class proof of claim bears the burden of proof.

Note 2

In an attempt to salvage their initial theory that the BAC wrongfully executed the spinoff to protect the retirement benefits of BAC members, Movants argue that the evidence presented by the Debtors shows only that no current member of the BAC is a beneficiary of Plan B. Movants contend that the Debtors' evidence does not rule out the possibility that former members of the BAC may be beneficiaries of Plan B.

The declaration of Steven C. Sharrer, the Debtors' Chief Human Resource Officer, provides that "[n]either I nor any other member of the BAC is a beneficiary of Plan B." Sharrer Decl. at ¶ 8. The Sharrer Declaration further provides that "[n]o member of management of the Debtors or the Board of Directors of VHS is a Plan B beneficiary." Id. at ¶ 9. The Sharrer Declaration does not specify the time frame to which these statements apply. However, when reading the statements in context, it is clear that they are intended to refer to the time period during which the spinoff transaction was executed. The Court finds that the Sharrer Declaration sufficiently establishes that no members of the BAC, the Board, or the Debtors' management were beneficiaries of Plan B at the time the Board voted to execute the spinoff transaction.

Docket 104

Tentative Ruling:

5/20/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Disclosure Statement, as modified by the JPMorgan Stipulation and related Order [Doc. Nos. 107 & 109], is APPROVED.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed

1. Debtors' Disclosure Statement Describing Chapter 11 Plan of Reorganization [Doc. No. 102] (the "Disclosure Statement")
2. Debtors' Chapter 11 Plan of Reorganization [Doc. No. 103] (the "Plan")
3. Debtors Motion for Order Approving the Adequacy of the Debtors' Disclosure Statement and Setting Dates and Procedures for Approval of Plan of Reorganization [Doc. No. 104] (the "Motion")
4. Order Granting Debtors' Motion Under LBR 9019 to Approve Compromise Between Individual Debtors Damu Vusha and Akiba Vusha and Creditors Wells Fargo Bank, N,A, and US Bank National Association [Doc. No. 82]

6. Order on Stipulation Re: Non-Material Modification to Debtors' Chapter 11 Disclosure Statement and Plan to Clarify Treatment of Claim Per Stipulation [Doc. No. 109] (the "Order on JPMorgan Stipulation")
7. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Debtors-in-possession, Damu Vusha and Akiba Vusha (the "Debtors"), filed this voluntary chapter 11 case on February 5, 2018 (the "Petition Date"), to avoid a foreclosure sale initiated by Wells Fargo N.A. ("Wells Fargo") on behalf of US Bank

National Association ("US Bank") against their principal residence. The Debtors state that after seeking bankruptcy protection they successfully negotiated a global settlement with Wells Fargo and US Bank that provided for (i) a loan modification with a reduced interest rate and the addition of all outstanding arrears onto the principal balance to be repaid over 228 months, and (ii) the resolution of a pre-petition state court lawsuit the Debtors initiated against Wells Fargo and US Bank. See Doc. Nos. 73 & 82.

The Debtors' primary assets consist of three real properties: (1) their principal residence located at 6122 S. Kings Road, Los Angeles, CA 90056 (the "Principal Residence"); (2) 5150 S. Wilton Place, Los Angeles, CA 90062 (the "Wilton Property"); and 1300 W. 69th Street, Los Angeles, CA 90044 (the "69th Street Property"). The Debtors also own and operate a residential care facility called Jatkodd Crisis Intervention Center (the "Business") which provides 24/7 care to four developmentally disabled individuals. The Business operates out of the Wilton Property and pays the Debtors monthly rent. The Debtors submit that post-petition operations from the Business have been profitable. The Debtors also lease out the 69th Street Property for additional monthly income.

The Debtors now move for an order approving the adequacy of their Disclosure Statement. The Disclosure Statement details the events which led to this bankruptcy filing and provides a description of significant post-petition events. The Disclosure Statement describes the proposed Plan's classification scheme and treatment of claims. The Debtors propose a 100% reorganization Plan that will be funded over sixty months by the following sources: (i) income from the Business; (ii) rental income from the Wilton Property and 69th Street Property; (iii) the Debtors' social security income; and (iv) $2,500 in monthly contributions from one of the Debtor's mother. The Disclosure Statement advises that all classes are impaired and, accordingly, entitled to vote. The Disclosure Statement also states that the Debtors will assume their lease agreements for the Wilton and 69th Street Properties.

The Disclosure Statement states that the potential risk of the proposed Plan is that the Debtors will not have sufficient cash flow to pay all of the obligations created under the Plan. However, the Debtors attached financial projections as Exhibit C to the Disclosure Statement and believe that their Plan is feasible and that they will be able to meet all of their financial obligations. The Debtors have also included a liquidation analysis as Exhibit E to the Disclosure Statement, which shows that creditors will receive the same 100% distribution through their Plan than if the case were converted to a case under chapter 7. The Debtors propose an Effective Date that is the first business day that is fourteen (14) calendar days after the entry of the order confirming the Plan, with payment beginning by the first day of the following month.

Finally, the Debtors request that if the Court finds that the Disclosure Statement contains adequate information the Court set May 31, 2019 as the deadline to disseminate the voting package and June 30, 2019 as the deadline to return ballots in favor of or against the Plan.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Section 1125 requires a disclosure statement to contain “information of a kind, and in sufficient detail, as far as is reasonably practicable in light of the nature and history of the debtor and the condition of the debtor’s books and records . . . that would enable. . . a hypothetical investor of the relevant class to make an informed judgment about the plan.” In determining whether a disclosure statement provides adequate information, “the court shall consider the complexity of the case, the benefit of additional information to creditors and other parties in interest, and the cost of providing additional information.” 11 U.S.C. § 1125(a). Courts interpreting § 1125(a) have explained that the “primary purpose of a disclosure statement is to give the creditors the information they need to decide whether to accept the plan.” In re Monnier Bros., 755 F.2d 1336, 1342 (8th Cir. 1985). “According to the legislative history, the parameters of what constitutes adequate information are intended to be flexible.” In re Diversified Investors Fund XVII, 91 B.R. 559, 560 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1988). “Adequate information will be determined by the facts and circumstances of each case.” Oneida Motor Freight, Inc. v. United Jersey Bank, 848 F.2d 414, 417 (3d Cir. 1988), accord. In re Ariz. Fast Foods, Inc., 299 B.R. 589 (Bankr. D. Ariz. 2003).

Relevant factors for evaluating the adequacy of a disclosure statement may include: (1) the events which led to the filing of a bankruptcy petition; (2) a description of the available assets and their value; (3) the anticipated future of the company; (4) the source of information stated in the disclosure statement; (5) a disclaimer;

In re Metrocraft Pub. Services, Inc., 39 B.R. 567, 568 (Bankr. Ga. 1984). However, “[d]isclosure of all factors is not necessary in every case.” Id.

The Court finds that the Disclosure Statement contains adequate information, in view of the size and complexity of the case. Among other things, the Disclosure Statement describes (1) the factors precipitating the Chapter 11 filing, (2) a description of the Debtors’ assets and their estimated values, (3) significant events that occurred during the Chapter 11 case, (4) the classification structure of the Plan, (5) a liquidation analysis, (6) a disclaimer, (7) risk factors, (8) estimated administrative expenses, and (9) the means for execution of the Plan.

Although the following is a plan confirmation issue, the Debtors should be aware that the Court will require some evidence to be submitted in support of the Confirmation Motion (defined below) that supports the Debtors’ mother’s financial ability to make $2,500 in monthly plan contributions since it appears that her contribution is necessary to make the Plan feasible.

The following dates and deadlines will apply to solicitation and confirmation of the Debtors’ Plan:

- 5) July 24, 2019 (the "Objection Date"), is fixed as the last day for filing and serving written objections to confirmation of the Plan, as provided in Rule 3020(b)(1) of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Debtor-in-possession, Bona Fide Ventures, LLC (the "Debtor") filed this voluntary chapter 11 case on January 9, 2019 (the "Petition Date"). As of the Petition Date, the Debtor asserted an interest in five parcels of real property:

1. 1701 Irvine Blvd., Newport Beach, CA 92660 (the "Irvine Property")
2. 998 Air Base Road, Adelanto 92301 [APN 0459-432-22] ("Lot 1")

stay affecting the Palos Verdes Property [Doc. No. 42], the Irvine Property [Doc. No. 43] and the Vacant Lots [Doc. No. 44] (collectively, the "Stay Relief Orders"). Since that time, the docket does not reflect any activity in this case.

The Office of the United States Trustee (the "UST") seeks an order dismissing this case based upon the following:

- i. To date, no Disclosure Statement or Plan of Reorganization has been filed;
- ii. Debtor has failed to:
 - a. Provide sufficient evidence of the Debtor's closing of all pre-petition bank accounts, including closing bank statements;
 - b. Provide sufficient evidence of the opening and maintenance of three debtor-in-possession bank accounts;
 - c. Provide sufficient evidence of current insurance coverage for the remaining vacant land in Adelanto, CA and 9998 Air Base Road, Adelanto, CA 92301;
 - d. Provide a projected cash flow statement for the first ninety days of operation under
chapter 11;
 - e. Provide a statement of major issues and timetable report;
 - f. File monthly operating reports since the inception of this case; and
 - g. Pay 1st quarter 2019 UST fees (2nd quarter 2019 USTs fees are currently accruing)
- iii. The fact that the Court granted relief from stay with respect to a number of the Debtor's properties.

See Declaration of Gary Baddin (the "Baddin Decl.").

Based on the foregoing, the UST asserts that cause exists under § 1112(b) to convert, dismiss or appoint a chapter 11 trustee in this case. The UST has reviewed the Debtor's Schedules and recommends that the case be dismissed because the Court has already granted several secured creditor's requests for relief from the automatic stay and there are no unsecured creditors listed in the Debtor's Schedules.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Under § 1112(b), the Court shall dismiss or convert a case to one under chapter 7 upon a showing of "cause." 11 U.S.C. § 1112(b). Section 1112(b)(4) provides a nonexclusive list of factors that constitute "cause," including in relevant part: "(B) gross mismanagement of the estate;" "(F) unexcused failure to satisfy timely any filing or reporting requirement established by this title or by any rule applicable to a case under this chapter;" "(H) failure to timely provide information or attend meetings reasonably required by the United States Trustee;" and "(J) failure to file a disclosure statement, or to file or confirm a plan, within the time fixed by this title or by order of the court." "The enumerated causes are not exhaustive, and 'the court will be able to consider other factors as they arise, and to use its equitable powers to reach an appropriate result in individual cases.'" In re Consolidated Pioneer Mortgage Entities, 248 B.R. 368, 375 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2000) (quoting H.R. No. 95-595, 95th Cong., 1st Sess. 405-06 (1977), aff'd, 264 F.3d 803 (9th Cir. 2001)).

The Court finds that "cause" exists within the meaning of § 1112(b) to convert, dismiss or appoint a chapter 11 trustee in this case based upon the long list of deficiencies listed in the Motion to Dismiss and Baddin Declaration.

Having determined that cause exists, the Court must next determine whether conversion, dismissal or appointment of a chapter 11 trustee serves the best interests of creditors or the estate. See In re Products Int'l Co., 395 B.R. 101, 107 (Bankr. D. Ariz. 2008) (citing In re Nelson, 343 B.R. 671 (9th Cir. 2006)). "[W]hen deciding between dismissal and conversion under 11 U.S.C. § 1112(b), the court must consider the interests of all of the creditors." Shulkin Hutton, Inc. v. Treiger (In re Owens), 552 F.3d 958, 961 (9th Cir. 2009) (emphasis in original) (quoting Rollex Corp. v. Associated Materials, Inc. (In re Superior Siding & Window, Inc.), 14 F.3d 240, 243 (4th Cir. 1994)).

The Court has reviewed the Debtor's Schedules and agrees with the UST that dismissal is in the best interest of creditors in light of the Court's Stay Relief Orders and the absence of any unsecured creditors.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On August 31, 2018 (the "Petition Date"), Verity Health Systems of California ("VHS") and certain of its subsidiaries filed voluntary petitions for relief under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. On August 31, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the Debtors' motion for joint administration of the Debtors' Chapter 11 cases. Doc. No. 17.

Debtors move to reject various executory contracts and unexpired leases (collectively, the "Agreements"). The majority of the Agreements relate to clinics formerly operated by Verity Medical Foundation (the "Clinics") that have been sold or have ceased operations. Debtors seek to reject the Agreements given that they are no longer necessary.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Section 365(a) provides that the Debtor, "subject to the court's approval, may assume or reject any executory contract or unexpired lease of the debtor." In Agarwal v. Pomona Valley Med. Grp. (In re Pomona Valley Med. Grp., Inc.), the Ninth Circuit explained the standard the Bankruptcy Court must apply in determining whether to approve the rejection of an executory contract:

In making its determination, a bankruptcy court need engage in "only a cursory review of a [debtor-in-possession]'s decision to reject the contract. Specifically, a bankruptcy court applies the business judgment rule to evaluate a [debtor-in-possession]'s rejection decision." ...

Thus, in evaluating the rejection decision, the bankruptcy court should presume that the debtor-in-possession acted prudently, on an informed basis, in good faith, and in the honest belief that the action taken was in the best interests of the bankruptcy estate. See Navellier v. Sletten, 262 F.3d 923, 946 n. 12 (9th Cir.2001); FDIC v. Castetter, 184 F.3d 1040, 1043 (9th Cir.1999); see also In re Chi-Feng Huang, 23 B.R. at 801 ("The primary issue is whether rejection would benefit the general unsecured creditors."). It should approve the rejection of an executory contract under § 365(a) unless it finds that the debtor-in-possession's conclusion that rejection would be "advantageous is so manifestly unreasonable that it could not be based on sound business judgment, but only on bad faith, or whim or caprice."

Pomona Valley, 476 F.3d 665, 670 (9th Cir. 2007).

The Court finds that the Debtors have shown sufficient cause to reject the Agreements. As the Clinics have been sold or ceased operations, the Agreements are no longer necessary and continue to generate expenses.

Based upon the foregoing, the Motion is GRANTED in its entirety. The Debtors shall submit a conforming order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On August 31, 2018 (the "Petition Date"), Verity Health Systems of California ("VHS") and certain of its subsidiaries (collectively, the "Debtors") filed voluntary petitions for relief under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. On August 31, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the Debtors' motion for joint administration of the Debtors' Chapter 11 cases.

Debtors move for entry of an order (1) authorizing the assumption and assignment of an executory contract (the "Health Net Contract") to Silicon Valley Medical Development, LLC ("SVMD"), and (2) approving a stipulation among the Debtors, Health Net of California, Inc. ("Health Net") and SVMD, regarding the assumption and assignment of the Health Net Contract (the "Stipulation").

On March 27, 2019, the Court granted the Debtors' motion to sell certain assets to SVMD (the "SVMD Sale Motion"). Doc. No. 1919. The SVMD Sale Motion proposed assumption and assignment of multiple executory contracts from the Debtors to SVMD, including the Health Net Contract. After Health Net filed a limited opposition objecting to the assumption and assignment of the Health Net Contract, the Debtors removed the Health Net Contract from the list of executory contracts to be assumed and assigned to SVMD.

Since approval of the SVMD Sale Motion, Health Net, the Debtors, and SVMD (collectively, the "Parties") have engaged in extensive negotiations and have reached an agreement providing for the assumption and assignment of the Health Net Contract to SVMD. The Parties have agreed that SVMD will pay a cure amount of $12,837.25 to Health Net as a condition to assumption and assignment of the Health Net Contract from the Debtors to SVMD. SVMD has agreed that it must satisfy Health Net's Pre-Delegation Audit, which will continue on and after the effective date of the assignment.

The Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors (the "Committee") has no objection to the Motion. No other opposition to the Motion is on file.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Section 365(a) provides that the Debtor, "subject to the court's approval, may assume or reject any executory contract or unexpired lease of the debtor." In Agarwal v. Pomona Valley Med. Grp. (In re Pomona Valley Med. Grp., Inc.), the Ninth Circuit explained that the business judgment rule governs the Bankruptcy Court's review of the Debtors' decision to assume or reject an executory contract or unexpired lease. Pomona Valley, 476 F.3d 665, 670 (9th Cir. 2007). The Pomona Valley court stated that the Court "need engage in only a cursory review" of the debtor's decision, and "should presume that the debtor-in-possession acted prudently, on an informed basis, in good faith, and in the honest belief that the action taken was in the best interests of the bankruptcy estate." Id.

assumed, the Debtor may not assume the contract unless the Debtor:

- a) cures, or provides adequate assurance that the [Debtor] will promptly cure, such default;
- b) compensates, or provides adequate assurance that the [Debtor] will promptly compensate, a party other than the debtor to such contract ..., for any actual pecuniary loss to such party resulting from such default; and
- c) provides adequate assurance of future performance under such contract or lease.

Pursuant to § 365(f)(2), the Debtor may assign an executory contract that it has assumed in accordance with § 365(b)(1).

Here, the Court finds that the Debtor has exercised its sound business judgment in assuming and assigning the Health Net Contract. Assumption and assignment of the Health Net Contract will permit the completion of the SVMD Sale as proposed in the SVMD Sale Motion. The Court finds that the cure amount of $12,837.25 to be paid by SVMD compensates Health Net for any defaults under the Health Net Contract. The Stipulation providing for the assumption and assignment of the Health Net Contract is approved.

Based upon the foregoing, the Motion is GRANTED in its entirety. The Debtors shall submit a conforming order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing.

#100.00 Hearing re [139] Motion For Order Disallowing Claim No. 6 Filed By Sheryl Oberian Warren-Carey.

Docket 0

Tentative Ruling:

5/21/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Claim Objection is SUSTAINED IN-PART and DENIED IN-PART. Claim 6 shall be reclassified as a tardily filed general unsecured claim in the amount of $69,500 in favor of New Genesis Enterprises, Inc. and subordinated to timely filed claims pursuant to § 726(a)(3).

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

SB 246 & Cebada Group Inc. (the "Debtor") filed this voluntary chapter 7 case on June 30, 2009 (the "Petition Date"). Shortly thereafter, John J. Menchaca was appointed to serve as the chapter 7 trustee (the "Trustee") and continues to serve in that capacity. On April 8, 2010, the Trustee filed a "Notice of Possible Dividend and Order Fixing Time to File Claims," which set July 12, 2010 as the deadline for creditors to file timely proofs of claim (the "Claims Bar Date") [Doc. Nos. 23-1 & 27].

Chapter 7

On July 6, 2018, Sheryl Oberian Warren Carey ("Ms. Warren-Carey"), acting as the president of New Genesis Enterprises, Inc. ("Claimant"), filed Proof of Claim No. 6 ("Claim 6") asserting a claim for $350,000 against the Debtor's estate based on "Money Loaned." Claimant asserted that $250,000 of the claim is secured by a perfected "deed of trust and checks," and the remaining $100,000 is entitled to treatment as a general unsecured claim. In support of Claim 6, Claimant attached a copy of a Short Form Deed of Trust and Assignment of Rents securing indebtedness in the amount of $250,000, recorded with the Los Angeles County Recorder's Office on January 3, 2005, and copies of four checks drawn by New Genesis Enterprises ("NGE") to the Debtor in the amount of $69,500.

Summary of Claim Objection

On April 15, 2019, the Trustee filed an objection to Claim 6 that requests an order disallowing the claim in full (the "Claim Objection"). First, the Trustee argues that Claimant has not established entitlement to a secured claim. Although the Trustee acknowledges that the Debtor's Schedule D scheduled a secured claim for New Genesis Enterprises in the amount of $296,000, the Trustee notes that the Debtor did not provide a description of the collateral that allegedly secured the claim. Additionally, the Trustee states that as of the Petition Date, the Debtor did not have any interest in real property located in Los Angeles County. Rather, the Trustee states that the Debtor's Schedule A identified an undivided 50% interest in real property consisting of 514 acres of land located in Lompoc, California, Santa Barbara County (the "Property"). The Trustee states that the preliminary title report for the Property does not reflect any lien in favor of Claimant and highlights that on October 20, 2010, the Court entered an order granting the Trustee's motion to sell the Property [Doc. No. 50] and escrow closed in December 2010.

Next, the Trustee objects to Claim 6 on the basis that the documentation does not support an unsecured claim for $100,000 because the attached checks only total $69,500 and offer no explanation as to what the loans were for. The Trustee also argues that Claimant has not submitted any evidence establishing the nexus between Ms. Warren-Carey and NGE to support a claim payable to Ms. Warren-Carey. Therefore, the Trustee states that to the extent Claimant can offer a satisfactory explanation supporting that relationship, Claimant should be entitled to a $69,500 unsecured claim, at most.

Finally, the Trustee argues that because Claim 6 was filed several years after the Claims Bar Date, to the extent it is allowed in any amount, it should be subordinated to timely filed claims pursuant to § 726(a)(3) of the Bankruptcy Code.

Therefore, the Trustee requests that Claim No. 6 be disallowed in its entirety or allowed as a tardily filed general unsecured claim in the amount of $69,500.

Summary of Claimant's Response

Claimant filed a timely response stating that after reviewing the Claim Objection, she recognizes and agrees that Claim 6 should be reclassified as a general unsecured claim in the amount of $69,500. Claimant also explains that NGE is a Nevada Corporation established in 1996 and attaches evidence demonstrating that Ms. Warren-Carey has served as the sole officer and director since its incorporation.

Summary of Trustee's Reply

The Trustee filed a timely reply stating that after reviewing Claimant's Response and supporting evidence, the Trustee is willing to agree to allow Claim 6 as a general unsecured claim in the amount of $69,500 in favor of New Genesis Enterprises instead of in favor of Ms. Warren-Carey. However, the Trustee maintains his position that the claim should still be subordinated to timely filed claims since Claim No. 6 was filed late.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

A proof of claim executed and filed in accordance with the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure constitutes prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claim. Fed. R. Bankr. P. 3001(f). "The filing of an objection to a proof of claim 'creates a dispute which is a contested matter' within the meaning of Bankruptcy Rule 9014 and must be resolved after notice and opportunity for hearing upon a motion for relief." Lundell v. Anchor Const. Specialists, Inc., 223 F.3d 1035, 1039 (9th Cir. 2000) (citing Adv. Comm. Notes to Fed. R. Bankr. P. 9014). Upon objection, the proof of claim provides "some evidence as to its validity and amount" and carries over a "mere formal objection." Id. The objector must produce sufficient evidence

"tending to defeat the claim by probative force equal to that of the allegations in the proofs of claim themselves." Id. (quoting Wright v. Holm (In re Holm), 931 F.2d 620, 623 (9th Cir.1991)). The claim itself can be used as evidence to rebut the prima facie validity where the objector's contention is that the claim is facially defective and insufficient as a matter of law. See In re Circle J Dairy, Inc., 112 B.R. 297, 299-301 (Bankr. W.D. Ark. 1989). The claimant must "prove the validity of the claim by a preponderance of the evidence. The ultimate burden of persuasion remains at all times upon the claimant." Id.

The Court finds that Claim 6 was filed in accordance with Bankruptcy Rule 3001 and is therefore entitled to a prima facie presumption of validity. However, the Trustee has satisfied his burden of overcoming that presumption by filing an objection asserting that the evidence does not support a finding that Claimant is entitled to a claim in the amount of $350,000 or that the alleged debt is entitled to payment as a secured claim. Furthermore, in light of Claimant's Response, the Court finds it appropriate to allow Claim 6 as a general unsecured claim in favor of NGE in the amount of $69,500.

The Court also agrees that because Claim 6 was tardily filed after the Claims Bar Date any distribution on account of the claim shall be deferred pursuant to § 726(a)(3).

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the Claim Objection is SUSTAINED IN-PART and DENIED IN-PART. Claim 6 shall be reclassified as a tardily filed general unsecured claim in the amount of $69,500 in favor of New Genesis Enterprises, Inc. and subordinated to timely filed claims pursuant to § 726(a)(3).

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On March 11, 2019, Hankey Capital, LLC (the "Plaintiff") filed a Complaint for Determination that Debts are Non-Dischargeable and Damages [Doc. No. 1] (the "Complaint") against Robert Leslie Baillie Quigg (the "Defendant"). The Complaint's allegations are as follows:

At all relevant times, Defendant did business as Quigg. Complaint at ¶ 4. On August 24, 2016, Plaintiff made a loan to Quigg LA 11, LLC ("Quigg 11"), in the original principal amount of $6.2 million (the "Arden Loan"). Id. at ¶ 9. Repayment of the Arden Loan was personally guaranteed by Defendant. Id. In making the Arden Loan, Plaintiff relied upon the Guaranty and Individual Personal Financial Statement (the "Financial Statement") provided by Defendant. Id. at ¶ 10.

On November 17, 2016, Plaintiff made a loan to Quigg LA 11, LLC, in the original principal amount of $9 million (the "Windsor Loan"). Id. at ¶ 11. Plaintiff relied upon the Financial Statement in making the Windsor Loan. Id.

On November 30, 2016, without notice to Plaintiff, Defendant caused Quigg 11 and other Quigg entities to seek bankruptcy protection under Chapter 7 of the Bankruptcy Code. Id. at ¶ 7.

The Financial Statement that Plaintiff relied upon in connection with the Arden Loan and Windsor Loan was materially false as to Defendant's income, assets, and liabilities. Id. at ¶ 14. In addition, when Plaintiff made both loans, Defendant failed to disclose material facts to Plaintiff, including that Defendant would shortly cause Quigg 11 to seek bankruptcy protection. Id. at ¶ 18. The failure to disclose such material facts was done with an intent to deceive Plaintiff. Id. at ¶ 19. Had Plaintiff known the true facts, he would not have made the loans. Id.

Defendant provided Plaintiff with the misleading Financial Statement and failed to disclose material facts for the purpose of inflicting willful and malicious injury upon Defendant. Id. at ¶ 23.

Based upon the foregoing allegations, the Complaint seeks to except the indebtedness arising from Defendant's personal guaranty of the loans from Defendant's discharge, pursuant to § 523(a)(2)(A), (a)(2)(B), and (a)(6).

Chapter 7

Summary of Papers Filed in Connection with Defendant's Motion to Dismiss

Defendant moves to dismiss the Complaint, pursuant to Civil Rule 12(b)(6), for failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted. Defendant argues that the claims for fraud fail to meet the heightened pleading standard imposed by Civil Rule 9(b). According to Defendant, the fraud claims contain no allegations with respect to the false statements made by Defendant and contain no factual allegations supporting Plaintiff's claim that Defendant made false representations with the intent to defraud Plaintiff. Defendant further asserts that the claim under § 523(a)(6) does not allege facts plausibly showing that Plaintiff is entitled to the relief sought. In the event the Court denies Defendant's request for dismissal, Defendant moves for an order requiring Plaintiff to prepare a more definite statement setting forth the specifics regarding the alleged false representations, the specifics regarding the alleged knowledge of falsity, and the specifics regarding the alleged scienter.

Plaintiff opposes the Motion and asserts that the Complaint is adequately pleaded. Plaintiff requests that the Court take judicial notice of the bankruptcy schedules filed by the various Quigg entities. Plaintiff points to the discrepancy between the Quigg entities' equity as set forth in the Financial Statement and the equity set forth in the bankruptcy schedules. This discrepancy, Plaintiff argues, shows that the Financial Statement grossly overstated the equity that the Quigg entities held in various real properties.

In Reply, Defendant asserts that Plaintiff's Opposition consists mainly of Plaintiff arguing its case by relying upon material outside the four corners of the Complaint. Defendant moves to strike Plaintiff's request for judicial notice of the Quigg entities' bankruptcy schedules. Plaintiff opposes Defendant's motion to strike the request for judicial notice, arguing that requests for judicial notice are permissible in deciding motions to dismiss.

II. Findings and Conclusions

"To survive a motion to dismiss, a complaint must contain sufficient factual matter, accepted as true, to 'state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face.' A claim has facial plausibility when the plaintiff pleads factual content that allows the court to draw the reasonable inference that the defendant is liable for the misconduct alleged." Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678 (2009) (internal citations omitted). To state a plausible claim for relief, a complaint must satisfy two working principles:

Chapter 7

First, the tenet that a court must accept as true all of the allegations contained in a complaint is inapplicable to legal conclusions. Threadbare recitations of the elements of a cause of action, supported by mere conclusory statements, do not suffice.... Second, only a complaint that states a plausible claim for relief survives a motion to dismiss. Determining whether a complaint states a plausible claim for relief will ... be a context-specific task that requires the reviewing court to draw on its judicial experience and common sense. But where the well-pleaded facts do not permit the court to infer more than the mere possibility of misconduct, the complaint has alleged—but it has not "show[n]"—"that the pleader is entitled to relief."

Id. (citing Civil Rule 8(a)(2)).

Although the pleading standard Civil Rule 8 announces “does not require ‘detailed factual allegations,’ ... it demands more than an unadorned, the-defendant-unlawfully-harmed-me accusation.... A pleading that offers ‘labels and conclusions’ or a ‘formulaic recitation of the elements of a cause of action will not do.’ Nor does a complaint suffice if it tenders ‘naked assertion[s]’ devoid of ‘further factual enhancement.’” Id. (citing Bell Atlantic Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 555 (2007)).

Civil Rule 9(b) provides: “In alleging fraud or mistake, a party must state with particularity the circumstances constituting fraud or mistake. Malice, intent, knowledge, and other conditions of a person’s mind may be alleged generally.”

The Ninth Circuit has explained the application of Civil Rule 9(b) as follows:

[W]hen averments of fraud are made, the circumstances constituting the alleged fraud “be ‘specific enough to give defendants notice of the particular misconduct ... so that they can defend against the charge and not just deny that they have done anything wrong.’ ” Bly–Magee, 236 F.3d at 1019 (quoting Neubronner v. Milken, 6 F.3d 666, 672 (9th Cir.1993)). Averments of fraud must be accompanied by “the who, what, when, where, and how” of the misconduct charged. Cooper v. Pickett, 137 F.3d 616, 627 (9th Cir.1997) (internal quotation marks omitted). “[A] plaintiff must set forth more than the neutral facts necessary to identify the transaction. The plaintiff must set forth what is false or misleading about a statement, and why it is false.” Decker v. GlenFed, Inc. (In re GlenFed, Inc. Sec. Litig.), 42 F.3d 1541, 1548 (9th Cir.1994).

Vess v. Ciba-Geigy Corp. USA, 317 F.3d 1097, 1106 (9th Cir. 2003).

The Court declines to take judicial notice of the bankruptcy schedules filed by the Quigg entities, as requested by Plaintiff. It is true that pursuant to Evidence Rule 201, the Court may take judicial notice of the Quigg entities' bankruptcy schedules without converting the motion to dismiss to a motion for summary judgment. See Rose v. Beverly Health & Rehab. Servs., Inc., 356 B.R. 18, 24 (E.D. Cal. 2006), aff'd sub nom. Rose v. Beverly Health & Rehab. Servs., Inc., 295 F. App'x 142 (9th Cir. 2008) (taking judicial notice of bankruptcy court filings in the context of a motion to dismiss). Here, judicial notice is not appropriate, since Plaintiff relies upon the documents he seeks to have the Court judicially notice for the purpose of bolstering the Complaint's allegations. The facts which Plaintiff seeks to have judicially noticed could have been pleaded in the Complaint but were not. A request for judicial notice cannot be used to remedy a Complaint's failure to contain the well-pleaded allegations necessary to state a claim for relief.

The Complaint Fails to State a Claim Under § 523(a)(2)(A)

Section 523(a)(2)(A) provides: "A discharge under section 727 ... of this title does not discharge an individual debtor from any debt for money, property, services, or an extension, renewal, or refinancing of credit, to the extent obtained by false pretenses, a false representation, or actual fraud, other than a statement respecting the debtor's or an insider's financial condition."

To state a § 523(a)(2)(A) claim, a creditor must allege facts with respect to five elements:

- 1) misrepresentation, fraudulent omission or deceptive conduct by the debtor;
- 2) knowledge of the falsity or deceptiveness of his statement or conduct;
- 3) an intent to deceive;
- 4) justifiable reliance by the creditor on the debtor's statement or conduct;
- and
- 5) damage to the creditor proximately caused by its reliance on the debtor's statement or conduct.

24, 2016 and November 17, 2016, Defendant fraudulently failed to inform Plaintiff that he intended to cause the Quigg entities to seek bankruptcy protection on November 30, 2016.

The Complaint does not allege sufficient facts to support a reasonable inference that Defendant planned to cause the Quigg entities to seek bankruptcy protection at the time of the credit transactions. The Complaint does not, for example, allege facts showing that Defendant knew that the Quigg entities were in a precarious financial position at the time the loans were extended. The Complaint does not specify whether the need for Quigg to seek bankruptcy protection could have reasonably been predicted in advance or whether the bankruptcies were precipitated by unexpected adverse events.

Given the short time between the credit transactions and the bankruptcy filings, it is certainly a possibility that Defendant knew that the Quigg entities would be seeking bankruptcy protection at the time he solicited the loans. However, to state a claim for relief, the Complaint must do more than allege that Defendant obtained credit for the Quigg entities in August and November and caused the Quigg entities to seek bankruptcy protection at the end of November. Businesses seek bankruptcy protection for many different reasons, some of which can reasonably be predicted and others which cannot. Were the Quigg entities otherwise successful businesses that sought bankruptcy protection because a sale to a large client unexpectedly collapsed at the last minute? Or were they failing businesses with years of negative cash flow on the brink of insolvency all along?

Because Plaintiff may have the ability to allege facts stating a claim under § 523(a)(2)(A), dismissal of the claim is with leave to amend.

The Complaint Fails to State a Claim Under § 523(a)(2)(B)

Section 523(a)(2)(B) provides:

A discharge under section 727 ... of this title does not discharge an individual debtor from any debt for money, property, services, or an extension, renewal, or refinancing of credit, to the extent obtained by ... use of a statement in writing—

- i. that is materially false;
- ii. respecting the debtor's or an insider's financial condition;
- iii. on which the creditor to whom the debtor is liable for such money, property, services, or credit reasonably relied; and

- iv. that the debtor caused to be made or published with intent to deceive.

The Complaint fails to state a claim for relief under § 523(a)(2)(B). The Complaint alleges that the Financial Statement that Defendant provided to Plaintiff was materially false, but does not allege the particulars as to why the financial statement was materially false. When pleading allegations of fraud under § 523(a)(2)(B), the "plaintiff must set forth what is false or misleading about a statement, and why it is false." Vess v. Ciba-Geigy Corp. USA, 317 F.3d 1097, 1106 (9th Cir. 2003). Plaintiff provides further allegations as to why the Financial Statement was materially false in opposition to the Motion. Specifically, Plaintiff alleges that the value of the Quigg entities set forth in the Financial Statement was much higher than the value set forth in bankruptcy schedules filed shortly after the Financial Statements were provided. The additional allegations contained in Plaintiff's opposition should have been set forth in the Complaint. Since it appears that Plaintiff has the ability to allege facts stating a claim under § 523(a)(2)(B), dismissal of the § 523(a)(2)(B) claim is with leave to amend.

The Complaint Fails to State a Claim Under § 523(a)(6)

"Section 523(a)(6) excepts from discharge debts arising from a debtor's 'willful and malicious' injury to another person or to the property of another. The 'willful' and 'malicious' requirements are conjunctive and subject to separate analysis." Plyam v. Precision Development, LLC (In re Plyam), 530 B.R. 456, 463 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 2015) (internal citations omitted).

An injury is "willful" when "a debtor harbors 'either subjective intent to harm, or a subjective belief that harm is substantially certain.' The injury must be deliberate or intentional, 'not merely a deliberate or intentional act that leads to injury.'" Id. at 463 (internal citations omitted). When determining intent, there is a presumption that the debtor knows the natural consequences of his actions. Ormsby v. First Am. Title Co. of Nevada (In re Ormsby), 591 F.3d 1199, 1206 (9th Cir. 2010). An injury is "malicious" if it "involves '(1) a wrongful act, (2) done intentionally, (3) which necessarily causes injury, and (4) is done without just cause or excuse.'" Carrillo v. Su (In re Su), 290 F.3d 1140, 1146-47 (9th Cir. 2002) (internal citations omitted). "Within the plain meaning of this definition, it is the wrongful act that must be committed intentionally rather than the injury itself." Jett v. Sicroff (In re Sicroff), 401 F.3d 1101, 1106 (9th Cir. 2005).

In addition, the injury-producing conduct must be tortious in order to be excepted from discharge under § 523(a)(6). Lockerby v. Sierra, 535 F.3d 1038, 1040 (9th Cir. 2008). "[C]onduct is not tortious under § 523(a)(6) simply because injury is intended or 'substantially likely to occur,' but rather is only tortious if it constitutes a tort under state law." Id. at 1041.

The Complaint fails to state a claim under § 523(a)(6). First, the § 523(a)(6) claim is predicated on the § 523(a)(2)(A) and (a)(2)(B) claims, which have not been adequately pleaded. Second, there are no facts alleged supporting a reasonable inference that at the time Defendant solicited the loans, he had a subjective belief that it was substantially certain that harm would be inflicted upon Plaintiff because the Quigg entities would shortly be seeking bankruptcy protection. As discussed above, the Complaint does not allege facts showing that Defendant knew the bankruptcies were imminent at the time of the credit transactions.

Plaintiff may be able to allege facts sufficient to state a claim under § 523(a)(6). Dismissal of the § 523(a)(6) claim is with leave to amend.

Plaintiff shall file a First Amended Complaint by no later than June 5, 2019. Upon the filing of the First Amended Complaint, the Clerk of the Court will issue a Summons and Scheduling Order setting forth updated dates governing this action, including the date of a continued Status Conference.

III. Conclusion

Based upon the foregoing, the Complaint is dismissed, but Plaintiff is given leave to amend. A First Amended Complaint shall be filed by no later than June 5, 2019.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Jessica Vogel or Daniel Koontz at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. If you wish to make a telephonic appearance, contact Court Call at 888-882-6878, no later than one hour before the hearing.

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1) for cause to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to repossess or otherwise obtain possession and dispose of its collateral pursuant to applicable law, and to use the proceeds from its disposition to satisfy its claim. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. The Court takes judicial notice of the Chapter 7 Individual Debtor's Statement of Intention in which the Debtor stated an intention to surrender the vehicle to Movant.

This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. The 14-day stay prescribed by FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived. All other relief is denied.

Docket 682

Tentative Ruling:

5/23/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Motion is GRANTED.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Notice of Motion and Motion for Relief from the Automatic Stay Under 11 U.S.C. § 362 [Doc. No. 682] (the "Motion")
- 2) Opposition to Motion for Relief from Stay of Trinity Financial Services, LLC as to Real Property Located at 3800 Wailea Alunui Dr. #B101, Kihei, HI 96753 [Doc. No. 684] (the "Opposition")
- 3) No Reply in support of the Motion is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Trinity Financial Services, LLC ("Trinity") moves for relief from the automatic stay with respect to property located at 3800 Wailea Alunui Drive, #B101, Kihei, Hawaii 96753 (the "Property"). Claire Levine (the "Debtor") and unsecured creditor Peter Rudinskas (collectively, the "Objectors") oppose the Motion.

A. Background

Debtor filed a voluntary Chapter 11 petition on April 10, 2012. Doc. No. 1. The case was converted to Chapter 7 on July 30, 2012. Doc. No. 78. Prior to conversion, the Hon. Sandra R. Klein presided over the case. Upon conversion to Chapter 7 the case was reassigned to the undersigned Judge.

On October 31, 2012, the Court denied the motion of Capital One, N.A. ("Capital One") for stay-relief with respect to the Property. The denial was as to the bankruptcy estate only and was without prejudice. Doc. No. 129. On February 6, 2014, the Court denied Capital One's renewed motion for stay-relief. Doc. Nos. 270 and 272.

Chapter 7

On January 11, 2019, the Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee") filed a notice stating that he intended to abandon the Property. Doc. No. 669 (the "Notice of Abandonment"). On January 14, 2019, the Trustee withdrew the Notice of Abandonment. Doc. No. 670.

On March 5, 2019, over the opposition of the Objectors, the Court granted U.S. Bank's motion for stay relief with respect to the Property. Doc. Nos. 678 and 680.

B. Summary of Papers Filed in Connection with the Motion

Trinity seeks stay relief pursuant to § 362(d)(1) and (d)(2), and makes the following arguments in support of the Motion:

- 1) On March 5, 2019, the Court granted a motion for stay relief brought by U.S. Bank, the senior lienholder. The Court found that there was no equity in the Property. The Objectors are collaterally estopped from challenging this finding.
- 2) The Debtor received a discharge on September 10, 2015. No automatic stay is in effect as to the Debtor. The Trustee did not oppose the stay relief motion brought by U.S. Bank, indicating that the Trustee has no intent to administer the Property. Since the Property is not being administered, allowing the stay to remain in effect would serve no purpose.

Objectors make the following arguments in their Opposition to the Motion:

- 1) Trinity lacks a colorable interest in the Property. The assignment of the Note and Mortgage to Trinity was not notarized in accordance with the requirements of Hawaii law.
- 2) PNC Bank, N.A., Trinity's predecessor-in-interest, informed Debtor that the indebtedness asserted by Trinity was forgiven. Trinity has not supplied admissible evidence in support of its contention that it is owed $744,574.56.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Civil Rule 17(a)(1) provides: "An action must be prosecuted in the name of the real party in interest." "The modern function of the rule ... is simply to protect the defendant against a subsequent action by the party actually entitled to recover, and to insure generally that the judgment will have its proper effect as res judicata." U-Haul Int'l, Inc. v. Jartran, Inc., 793 F.2d 1034, 1039 (9th Cir. 1986). "Real party in interest doctrine ... ensures that the party bringing the action owns or has rights that can be vindicated by proving the elements of the claim for relief asserted." Veal v. Am. Home Mortgage Servicing, Inc. (In re Veal), 450 B.R. 897, 908 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2011). Because stay-relief proceedings "are primarily procedural" and do not finally determine a creditor's claim or security, "a party seeking stay relief need only establish that it has a colorable claim to enforce a right against property of the estate." Veal, 450 B.R. at 914–15; see also Johnson v. Righetti (In re Johnson), 756 F.2d 738, 740 (9th Cir. 1985), cert. denied, 474 U.S. 828, 106 S.Ct. 88, 88 L.Ed.2d 72 (1985) ("Hearings on relief from the automatic stay are ... handled in a summary fashion. The validity of the claim or contract underlying the claim is not litigated during the hearing").

For purposes of the instant Motion only, Trinity has shown that it is the real party in interest entitled to enforce the Note and Mortgage. This finding is based upon the declaration of Dan A. Madden, III, which establishes that Trinity has possession of the Note. Madden Decl. [Doc. No. 682] at ¶ 3.a and Ex. 2.

The Objectors assert that Trinity failed to record its assignment of the Note and Mortgage in accordance with Hawaii law, and that consequently Trinity lacks standing to seek stay relief. The Objectors misapprehend the nature of a lift-stay motion. To show that it is the real party in interest entitled to stay-relief, Trinity need establish only a colorable claim to enforce the Note and Mortgage. That is because this-lift stay hearing is not an adjudication of Trinity's ultimate ability to foreclose under the Note and Mortgage. That issue will be determined by the Hawaii State Court. Mr. Madden's declaration establishes that Trinity has a colorable claim to enforce rights against the Property.

The Objectors contend that Trinity lacks standing to seek stay relief on the ground that the indebtedness associated with the Note and Mortgage was forgiven by Trinity's predecessor-in-interest. According to Mr. Madden's declaration, the Debtor owes $744,574.56 under the Note. The Court finds that Mr. Madden's declaration establishes that Trinity has a sufficient interest in the Property to give it standing to seek stay relief. It is not necessary for the Court to determine the exact amount owed under the Note for purposes of this Motion, because as further discussed below, there is no equity in the Property regardless of how much Trinity is owed. Nothing in this ruling prevents the Debtor from challenging the amount of the indebtedness asserted by Trinity before the State Court.

On February 19, 2019, in connection with a stay relief motion brought by senior lienholder U.S. Bank, the Court found that the Property was worth $6.1 million but that U.S. Bank was owed approximately $8.35 million. The Objectors have not presented any evidence showing that this finding was in error. Because the Property's value is less than the amount owed to senior lienholder U.S. Bank, there is no equity in the Property regardless of how much Trinity is owed. The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to §§ 362(d)(1) and (d)(2), to permit Trinity, its successors, transferees, and assigns, to enforce its remedies with respect to the Property in accordance with applicable law. Trinity may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtors or the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to § 501. Because the Motion was opposed, the fourteen day stay provided by Bankruptcy Rule 4001(a)(3) shall remain in effect.

Stay relief is further supported by the lack of opposition from the Trustee. The Trustee did not oppose U.S. Bank's motion for stay relief and has not opposed this Motion. There is no indication that the Trustee intends to administer the Property for the benefit of the estate. This bankruptcy petition was commenced on April 10, 2012. The Property has been protected by the automatic stay for almost seven years. The automatic stay as to the Debtor terminated on September 10, 2015, when the Debtor received a discharge. See § 362(c)(2)(C). Allowing the stay to remain in place would be justified only if the Trustee intended to administer the Property. Since that is not the case, stay relief is appropriate.

Trinity shall submit an order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Jessica Vogel or Daniel Koontz at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2) to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to repossess or otherwise obtain possession and dispose of its collateral pursuant to applicable law, and to use the proceeds from its disposition to satisfy its claim. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. The Court finds that there is no equity in the subject vehicle and that the vehicle is not necessary for an effective reorganization since this is a chapter 7 case.

This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. All other relief is denied.

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1). The stay is terminated as to the Debtor and the Debtor's bankruptcy estate with respect to the Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns. Movant may enforce its remedies to obtain possession of the property in accordance with applicable law, but may not pursue a deficiency claim against the debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501.

The Movant filed an unlawful detainer action on February 6, 2019.

This Motion has been filed to allow the Movant to proceed with the unlawful detainer proceeding in state court. The unlawful detainer proceeding may go forward because the Debtor's right to possess the premises must be determined. This does not change simply because a bankruptcy petition was filed. #2.00 HearingRE: [19] Motion for Default Judgment Under LBR 7055-1 (Greenwood, Gail)

Docket 19

Tentative Ruling:

6/3/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Motion is GRANTED in its entirety.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Motion for Default Judgment Under LBR 7055-1 [Doc. No. 19] (the "Motion")
 - a) Notice of Hearing [Doc. No. 20]
- 2) No opposition to Motion is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On March 21, 2019, Bradley D. Sharp, the Plan Administrator under the Confirmed First Amended Chapter 11 Plan of Liquidation Dated January 31, 2018 for Liberty Asset Management Corporation (the "Plan Administrator") filed a Complaint to Determine Nature, Extent, and Validity of Lien [Doc. No. 1] (the "Complaint") against Merle D. Wright, Patricia S. Wright, and Bradford W. Wright, executor on behalf of Jeanne W. Carlson (the "Defendants").

In August 2018, the Court approved the Plan Administrator's sale of a parcel of vacant land located in the City of Duarte, County of Los Angeles, APN 8602-018-005 (the "Duarte Property"). The sale was free and clear of a lien that was recorded against the Duarte Property on January 27, 1967, to secure payment of $15,300 to Los Angeles Development Company (the "Alleged Lien"). After it was recorded, the Alleged Lien was assigned to the Defendants.

The Complaint alleges that the Alleged Lien was satisfied but that a reconveyance was never recorded. In the alternative, the Complaint alleges that the Alleged Lien merged with the fee ownership of the Duarte Property in 1994, when the Defendants acquired title to the Duarte Property such that any lien in favor of the Defendants was eliminated. The Complaint seeks a declaration that the Alleged Lien is invalid and of no force and effect.

Chapter 11

On May 3, 2019, the Clerk of the Court entered default against the Defendants. The Plan Administrator now moves for entry of default judgment. The Motion is supported by e-mail correspondence between the Plan Administrator and Defendant Bradford W. Wright, in which Mr. Wright states that he and the other Defendants waive any rights against the sales proceeds of the Duarte Property.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Once default has been entered, the well-pleaded factual allegations of the complaint are taken as true. Cripps v. Life Ins. Co. of North America, 980 F.2d 1261, 1267 (9th Cir. 1992). The Complaint establishes that the Allege Lien was satisfied but that a reconveyance was never recorded; or in the alternative, that the Alleged Lien was eliminated after merging with Defendants' fee simple interest in the Duarte Property. In either case, the Plan Administrator is entitled to a declaration that the Alleged Lien is invalid and of no force and effect.

Based upon the foregoing, the Motion is GRANTED in its entirety. The Plan Administrator shall submit a conforming judgment, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. 2. Notice of Motion for Debtor's Motion to Compel Abandonment of Personal Property (Bank Accounts) [Doc. No. 8]
3. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Trisha L. Hanson (the "Debtor") filed this voluntary chapter 7 case on May 6, 2019 (the "Petition Date"). Shortly thereafter Timothy Yoo was appointed and continues to serve as the acting chapter 7 trustee (the "Trustee").

The Debtor now moves pursuant to § 554(b) for an order compelling the Trustee to abandon the estate's interest in approximately $7,615.65 in funds being held in four bank accounts held in the Debtor and her minor daughter's names at Wells Fargo, bearing account numbers ending in 8457, 6478, 8431 and 6854 (collectively, the "Bank Accounts"), which are presently frozen. [Note 1] The Debtor asserts that cause exists to compel abandonment of the Bank Accounts because she properly disclosed the Bank Accounts on Schedule B and claimed them fully exempt on Schedule C. Accordingly, the Debtor argues that the Bank Accounts are of inconsequential value to the bankruptcy estate and the Trustee should be compelled to abandon the Bank Accounts because the Debtor needs the funds for the ongoing care of her three minor children and herself.

The Debtor states that she attempted to informally resolve the situation with the Trustee prior to filing the Motion to Compel Abandonment by requesting that the Trustee instruct Wells Fargo to release the funds. However, the Debtor understand that the Trustee is unwilling to release the funds until after the initial § 341(a) Meeting of Creditors, which is presently scheduled for June 13, 2019. Therefore, the Debtor brought this motion due to the extreme hardship that her family will suffer without more immediate access to these funds.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Section 554(b) states:

On request of a party in interest and after notice and a hearing, the court may order the trustee to abandon any property of the estate that is burdensome to the estate or that is of inconsequential value and benefit to the estate.

11 U.S.C. 554(b).

In this case, the Debtor argues that there is no equity in the Bank Accounts because she claimed them fully exempt and, as a result, the Bank Accounts are of inconsequential value and must be abandoned. While the Court is sympathetic to the Debtor's financial hardships, the Court nevertheless believes that it is premature for the Court to be able to determine that the Bank Accounts are of inconsequential value because the deadline to object to the Debtor's exemptions has not yet run.

Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 4003(b), the deadline to object to a claimed exemption is the later of thirty days after the meeting of creditors held under § 341(a) is concluded or within thirty days after any amendment to the list of supplemental schedules is filed. In this case, that would make the deadline no earlier than July 13, 2019. Fed. R. Bankr. P. 4003(b).

However, in view of the exigencies identified by the Debtor in obtaining access to the funds in the Bank Account, the Court is inclined to (1) continue this matter to June 18, 2019 at 10:00 a.m., to allow time for the Trustee to examine the Debtor at the § 341(a) Meeting of Creditors, and (2) direct the Trustee to file a response to the Motion to Compel Abandonment setting forth his position regarding the allowability of the Debtor's claimed exemptions in the Bank Accounts by no later than noon on June 17, 2019.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the matter is CONTINUED to June 18, 2019 at 10:00 a.m.

The Debtor is directed to give notice to the Trustee and other interested parties and file a proof of service evidencing the same by no later than June 6, 2019.

Note 1: The Debtor states the account ending in 8431 is held jointly in the name of the Debtor and her minor daughter. The Debtor also identifies a fifth bank account, ending in 2144, which the Debtor states is also held jointly in the name of the Debtor and her daughter, but the Debtor does not appear to be seeking an order compelling the Trustee's abandonment of this account.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Silla Automotive, LLC (the "Debtor") filed this voluntary chapter 7 case on April 10, 2017 (the "Petition Date"). Shortly thereafter, Richard K. Diamond was appointed to serve as the chapter 7 trustee (the "Trustee") and continues to serve in that capacity. On April 28, 2017, the Trustee filed a "Notice of Possible Dividend and Order Fixing Time to File Claims," which set August 1, 2017 as the deadline for creditors to file timely proofs of claim (the "Claims Bar Date") [Doc. No. 14-1].

On July 25, 2017, Pisheng Auto Parts Industries Ningbo Co. Ltd. ("Claimant") filed Proof of Claim No. 29 (the "Claim") asserting an unsecured claim for $6,031,888.91 for "Goods sold." In support of the Claim, Claimant attached approximately 17 pages of what appears to be a list of past orders (the "Printout").

Summary of Claim Objection

The Trustee filed a timely objection seeking an order disallowing the Claim in its entirety on the grounds that Claimant failed to submit adequate evidence in support of the Claim. The Trustee highlights the limited information provided in support of the Claim and notes that there is no explanation for what the 17-page Printout is, who prepared the document and what it represents. The Trustee further argues that there is no evidence that any contract ever existed between the Debtor and Claimant or that there was ever any actual sale that created the alleged liability. The Trustee also argues that even if the Printout could be construed as a contract (or if some oral contract existed), the vast majority of the debt was incurred beyond applicable two- and four-year statutes of limitation and would therefore be time-barred.

The Trustee states that on March 28, 2019, he sent a letter to Claimant asking a number of questions about the Claim and requesting additional documentation, but has not received any response. Therefore, the Trustee contends that the evidence supplied in support of the Claim is inadequate to meet the minimum threshold of validity under FRBP 3001 and should be disallowed in its entirety.

Alternatively, the Trustee argues that the Claim should be recharacterized as an equity claim.

The Trustee makes the following arguments in support of this relief:

- The Debtor was in the business of selling automotive parts prior to its bankruptcy filing.
- The individual who signed the Debtor's petition was Tom Hseun ("Hseun"), the Debtor's manager.
- The Debtor scheduled Claimant's Claim in the amount of $6,260,288 and also listed Claimant as the owner of 100% equity interest in the Debtor.
- The entire creditor body of 39 filed claims totals approximately $6,600,000. Therefore, the Claim constitutes approximately 90% of the entire creditor body.
- Hseun is also the president of Claimant.
- Based on representations of the Debtor and Claimant, the Trustee is informed and believes that:

- Claimant is the parent company of the Debtor.
- Claimant provided the Debtor with its inventory.
- Claimant is a foreign entity and did business in the United States through the Debtor.
- Claimant was in control of the Debtor at all relevant times.
- Claimant and the Debtor had and have the same principal.
- Claimant appears to allege that it sold a large quantity of goods to the Debtor for which it claims it is entitled to payment.

Based on the foregoing, the Trustee argues that Claimant's true intent at the time it made the transfers was for the transfers to be equity contributions and not sales transactions. The Trustee relies on In re Daewoo Motor Am. Inc., 2010 WL 7715192, at *11 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. July 6, 2010), aff'd 471 B.R. 721 (C.D. Cal. 2012), aff'd 554 F. App'x 638 (9th Cir. 2014), in support of his argument that most of the factors courts consider in making a recharacterization determination are satisfied in this case. Specifically, the Trustee asserts that:

- There is no documentation provided evidencing any contractual deadlines for payment.
- There is no evidence of any interest applied, or even a contract.
- There is no clarity regarding the source or extent of any repayment throughout the history of the relationship between the parties.
- The extent of debt and the fact that the Debtor only had $27,138.80 in cash as of the petition date suggests that the Debtor was massively under-capitalized.
- Claimant is the 100% owner of the Debtor and Claimant's president is also the Debtor's manager.
- Notwithstanding the extent of debt, there is no evidence of security or even an agreement between the parties which would be unlikely if this were an arm's length situation.
- It appears that the Debtor's inventory was its only product and supplied directly by Claimant.

The Trustee again highlights that despite his request for information to better explain the relationship between Claimant and the Debtor, he has received no response. Accordingly, the Trustee contends that the record supports a finding that the parties' relationship was one of equity and not debt and the Claim should be recharacterized as equity.

Finally, and in the alternative, the Trustee requests that the Court issue an order equitably subordinating the Claim pursuant to § 510(c)(1). The Trustee argues that Claimant was not an arm's-length supplier of the Debtor's but instead used the Debtor as a domestic arm and distribution center. The Trustee further argues that the Debtor was undercapitalized and received inventory from Claimant far in excess of any reasonable amount that a supplier would have provided if this were an arm's-length relationship. Additionally, the Trustee argues that non-insider creditors did not have the same advantage as Claimant regarding the Debtor's financial affairs and that Claimant caused the Debtor to incur its non-insider debt. Therefore, the Trustee asserts that the Claim should be equitably subordinated because it would be unfair to non-insider general unsecured creditors if the vast majority of the approximately $198,000 in funds on hand are distributed to Claimant in view of its relationship and control over the Debtor.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

A proof of claim executed and filed in accordance with the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure constitutes prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claim. Fed. R. Bankr. P. 3001(f). "The filing of an objection to a proof of claim 'creates a dispute which is a contested matter' within the meaning of Bankruptcy Rule 9014 and must be resolved after notice and opportunity for hearing upon a motion for relief." Lundell v. Anchor Const. Specialists, Inc., 223 F.3d 1035, 1039 (9th Cir. 2000) (citing Adv. Comm. Notes to Fed. R. Bankr. P. 9014). Upon objection, the proof of claim provides "some evidence as to its validity and amount" and carries over a "mere formal objection." Id. The objector must produce sufficient evidence "tending to defeat the claim by probative force equal to that of the allegations in the proofs of claim themselves." Id. (quoting Wright v. Holm (In re Holm), 931 F.2d 620, 623 (9th Cir.1991)). The claim itself can be used as evidence to rebut the prima facie validity where the objector's contention is that the claim is facially defective and insufficient as a matter of law. See In re Circle J Dairy, Inc., 112 B.R. 297, 299-301 (Bankr. W.D. Ark. 1989). The claimant must "prove the validity of the claim by a preponderance of the evidence. The ultimate burden of persuasion remains at all times upon the claimant." Id.

In this case, the Court agrees with the Trustee that the Claim is not entitled to prima facie validity because it does not comply with Rule 3001(c)(1) which required Claimant to attach the contract or agreement that gives rise to its right to payment. See Fed. R. Bankr. P. 3001(c)(1) ("...when a claim, or an interest in property of the debtor securing the claim, is based on a writing, a copy of the writing shall be filed with the proof of claim. If the writing has been lost or destroyed, a statement of the circumstances of the loss or destruction shall be filed with the claim").

Furthermore, even if the Court were to find that the Claim should be afforded prima facie validity, the Trustee has rebutted that presumption by providing "facts tending to defeat the claim." First, the Trustee asserts that Claimant's failure to provide additional information or documentation regarding the existence of a contract raises questions about whether the debts identified in the Claim are valid and enforceable debts against the Debtor under California law. Second, the Trustee highlights that the "Return Status" column and the "Received" notation under the "Remarks" column raise questions about whether the Debtor owes any debt for the amounts listed in those respective columns. Third, the Trustee challenges the validity and existence of any debt on statute of limitations grounds.

Claimant's failure to respond to the Trustee's request for information also raises an appropriate evidentiary basis to object to the Claim. It is widely accepted that "creditors have an obligation to respond to formal or informal requests for information [about a proof of claim] . . . [which] applies regardless whether Creditors have met their obligations to provide a summary under Rule 3001(c)." Heath v. Am. Express Travel Related Servs. Co. (In re Heath), 331 B.R. 424, 436 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2005). "If the creditor does not provide information or is unable to support its claim, then that in itself may raise an evidentiary basis to object to the unsupported aspects of the claim, or even a basis for evidentiary sanctions, thereby coming within Section 502(b)'s grounds to disallow the claim." Id. at 437.

Any one of these challenges provides a sufficient basis to shift the burden to Claimant to present facts or evidence that provide the validity of the Claim by a preponderance of the evidence. However, Claimant has failed to carry its burden of proof because, as of the preparation of this tentative ruling, Claimant has not filed a response or opposition. Therefore, the Court finds it appropriate to disallow the Claim in its entirety.

In view of the Court's ruling above, the Trustee's request for an order recharacterizing the debt or equitably subordinating the Claim are denied as moot.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the Claim Objection is SUSTAINED and the Claim is DISALLOWED in full.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Liboria Zavalza (the "Debtor") filed this voluntary chapter 11 case on April 3, 2019 (the "Petition Date"). The Debtor now seeks an order determining the value of real property located at 4053 & 4053(A) Randolph Street, Huntington Park, CA 90255 (the "Property") pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 506(a) and Rule 3012 of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure. The Debtor seeks a determination that the value of the Property is $460,000 as of April 9, 2019 and requests that the Court make a finding that, for purposes of plan treatment under § 1129, the Bank holds a secured claim in the amount of $460,000 and an unsecured claim in the amount of $725,616.25. Ocwen Loan Servicing, LLC, the authorized loan servicing agent for the Bank (together, "Creditor"), filed a timely opposition requesting at least a 60-day continuance to afford it an opportunity to obtain a verified full interior appraisal. Credit asserts that it recently obtained a Broker's Price Opinion, dated February 26, 2019, that values the Property at $538,000. Opposition, Ex. A. Liboria Zavalza (the "Debtor") filed this voluntary chapter 11 case on April 3, 2019 (the "Petition Date"). On Schedule A, the Debtor listed an ownership interest in a duplex located at 4053 & 4501(A) Raldolph [Note 1] Street, Huntington Park, CA 90255 (the "Property"). The Debtor seeks an order authorizing the Debtor to use cash collateral in accordance with the terms of the Proposed Monthly Budget (the "Budget") appearing on page 5 of the Cash Collateral Motion. The Budget provides for the following expenses to be paid for with the Bank's cash collateral:

Income:	$2,150.00
Expenses:
The Bank	($1,049.49)
Property Taxes	($960.00)
Property Insurance	($140.51)
Net Income:	$0.00

The Debtor states that she has posted an ad seeking to rent an additional room in the Property for $1,450/month and that once she secures a tenant she will increase monthly adequate protection payments to the Bank to $2,469. In support of the Cash Collateral Motion the Debtor attached copies of current lease agreements for both units as well as proof of monthly insurance and property tax expenses.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Section 363(c)(2) requires court authorization for use of cash collateral unless "each entity that has an interest in such cash collateral consents." In the Ninth Circuit, satisfaction of § 363(c)(2)(A) requires the "affirmative express consent" of the secured creditor; "implied consent," resulting from the failure of the secured creditor to object to use of cash collateral, does not satisfy the requirements of the statute. Freightliner Market Development Corp. v. Silver Wheel Freightlines, Inc., 823 F.2d 362, 368-69 (9th Cir. 1987). Absent affirmative express consent, the Debtor "may not use" cash collateral absent the Court's determination that the use is "in accordance with the provisions" of § 363 – that is, that the secured creditor's interest in the cash collateral is adequately protected. 11 U.S.C. §§ 363(c)(2)(B), 363(e).

A secured creditor's interest is adequately protected if the value of its collateral is not declining; the secured creditor is not entitled to payment to compensate for its inability to foreclose upon the collateral during bankruptcy proceedings. United Savings Association of Texas v. Timbers of Inwood Forest Associates, Ltd., 484 U.S.

365, 382 (1988). Section 361 sets forth three non-exclusive examples of what may constitute adequate protection: (1) periodic cash payments equivalent to decrease in value; (2) an additional or replacement lien on other property; or (3) other relief that provides the indubitable equivalent. See In re Mellor, 734 F.2d 1396, 1400 (9th Cir. 1984).

Here, the Court finds that the terms of the Cash Collateral Motion and the Budget comply with § 363. The Debtor's use of cash collateral is necessary to preserve the Property and to facilitate the Debtor's reorganization efforts. The Court finds that the Bank's interest in the Property is adequately protected because there is no evidence in the record to suggest that the Property is declining in value and because the Debtor has proposed to make monthly adequate protection payments in the amount of $1,049.49 (with the possibility of an increase to $2,469).

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the Court GRANTS the Cash Collateral Motion on an interim basis. The Debtor is authorized to use the cash collateral on an interim basis through and including August 21, 2019. The Debtor shall make monthly adequate protection payments to the Bank in the amount of $1,049.49 as set forth in the proposed budget. I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings Hugo Pimienta (the "Debtor") moves to vacate a stipulated non-dischargeability judgment entered against him on January 4, 2006. To provide necessary context for the issues raised by the Motion, the Court sets forth a detailed description of previous events in the Debtor's bankruptcy case and in the related bankruptcy case of the Debtor's father, Enrique Pimienta.

A. Background

Hugo Pimienta (the "Debtor") filed a voluntary Chapter 7 petition on August 5, 2003. On January 30, 2004, John Jacuzzi, Sr., Margarita Jacuzzi, John Jacuzzi, Jr., James Jacuzzi, and Patricia Jacuzzi (collectively, the "Jacuzzis") filed a complaint against the Debtor, asserting claims under §§ 523(a) and 727(a) (the "Dischargeability Complaint"). On January 4, 2006, the Court entered a stipulated judgment in favor of the Jacuzzis (the "Stipulated Judgment"). The Stipulated Judgment provided that Debtor was indebted to the Jacuzzis in the amount of $11,906,870.41, and that such indebtedness was excepted from the Debtor's discharge pursuant to § 523(a). The Stipulated Judgment assigned the Jacuzzis' § 727(a) claims to the Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee").

On May 10, 2002, John B. Jacuzzi filed a fraud complaint with the Mexican Attorney General in Mexico City, Mexico against the Debtor, Enrique Pimienta, and Arturo Pimienta (the "Mexican Fraud Complaint"). The filing of the Mexican Fraud Complaint led to the opening of a criminal investigation. The Jacuzzis provided affidavits in support of the Mexican Fraud Complaint.

On April 17, 2008, the Debtor was incarcerated by Mexican authorities as a result of the Mexican Fraud Complaint. Litigation concerning the Debtor's incarceration took place in the Chapter 7 bankruptcy case of the Debtor's father, Enrique Pimienta, filed in the Bankruptcy Court for the Southern District of Texas, Houston Division (the "Texas Bankruptcy Court"). On August 15, 2008, the Texas Bankruptcy Court issued an order directing the Jacuzzis to (1) immediately dismiss the Mexican Fraud Complaint, (2) immediately obtain the release of the Debtor from imprisonment in Monterrey, Mexico, and (3) immediately obtain the release of Enrique [Note 1] from the custody of the U.S. Marshal. Doc. No. 172, Case No. 05-30565. On February 23, 2009, the Texas Bankruptcy Court issued an order holding the Jacuzzis in contempt for failure to comply with the prior order. Doc. No. 200, Case No. 05-30565. On April 23, 2010, the Texas Bankruptcy Court issued a final contempt judgment against the Jacuzzis and in favor of Enrique and the Debtor. Doc. No. 239, Case No. 05-30565 (the "Final Judgment"). The Final Judgment provided that Enrique and the Debtor were entitled to recover $2,175,000 from the Jacuzzis, in addition to $5,000 per day from the Jacuzzis for each day after April 14, 2010, until the Jacuzzis purged themselves of contempt.

On July 26, 2011, the Jacuzzis filed an action in the United States District Court for the Southern District of Texas (the "Texas District Court"). The Jacuzzis asserted that the Final Judgment was void, arguing that the Texas Bankruptcy Court lacked personal jurisdiction because the Jacuzzis were not properly served under the Hague Convention. On October 12, 2012, the Texas District Court concluded that the Final Judgment was void for lack of personal jurisdiction. Doc. No. 36, Case No. 1:11-cv-00153. On September 27, 2013, the Texas District Court reversed its prior order and dismissed the action without prejudice, finding that it lacked subject matter jurisdiction. Doc. No. 36, Case No. 1:11-cv-00153. On August 5, 2014, the Fifth Circuit reversed the Texas District Court's determination that it lacked subject matter jurisdiction and remanded the case for further proceedings. Jacuzzi v. Pimienta, 762 F.3d 419 (5th Cir. 2014). On September 18, 2015, the Texas District Court entered summary judgment in favor of the Jacuzzis. The Texas District Court found that the Final Judgment against the Jacuzzis entered by the Texas Bankruptcy Court was void for lack of personal jurisdiction. Doc. No. 75, Case No. 1:11-cv-00153.

B. Summary of Debtor's Motion to Vacate the Stipulated Judgment

The Debtor, proceeding in pro se, moves to vacate the Stipulated Judgment, pursuant to Civil Rule 60(b)(3), (b)(5), (b)(6), and (d)(3). The Debtor makes the following arguments and representations in support of the Motion:

- 1) After obtaining the Stipulated Judgment, the Plaintiffs continued to pursue the Mexican Fraud Complaint, which resulted in the Debtor being imprisoned for five years and eight months. Plaintiffs' pursuit of the Mexican Fraud Complaint was improper because the Plaintiffs had assigned their claims against the Debtor to the Trustee. The Mexican Fraud Complaint was based upon the same allegations as the Dischargeability Complaint.
- 2) While in prison, the Debtor was tortured by a criminal group. Members of the criminal group did not mention the Jacuzzis by name, but told the Debtor that "we are here to make you pay what you owe and to collect our commission on the collection." Debtor's Decl. at ¶ 23.
- 3) In Mexico, Plaintiffs obtained a judgment against the Debtor in the amount of $8,382,517.80. This judgment was effectively a duplicate of the Stipulated Judgment.
- 4) The Debtor's imprisonment in Mexico violated the discharge injunction.

C. Summary of the Jacuzzis' Opposition to the Motion

The Jacuzzis make the following arguments and representations in Opposition to the Motion:

- 1) The Motion should be denied because the Debtor agreed to entry of the Stipulated Judgment. The Stipulated Judgment was not obtained as a result of fraud, misrepresentation, or misconduct. The gravamen of the Motion is that the Debtor's incarceration in Mexico for crimes he committed against the Jacuzzis and others should somehow relieve him of the effect of the Stipulated Judgment. Serving jail time in Mexico for the commission of crimes does not satisfy or release the non-dischargeable Stipulated Judgment.

- 2) The exhibits submitted in support of the Motion should be stricken because they are not authenticated and contain inadmissible hearsay.

D. Summary of the Debtor's Reply in Support of the Motion

The Debtor makes the following arguments and representations in his Reply in support of the Motion:

- 1) The Jacuzzis' Opposition should not be considered because it was not filed timely.
- 2) The Jacuzzis incorrectly state that the Stipulated Judgment was not obtained as a result of fraud, misrepresentation, or misconduct. To induce Debtor to execute the Stipulated Judgment, the Jacuzzis represented through their attorney that after entry of the Stipulated Judgment, they would not interfere with the Debtor's new business ventures. Instead of fulfilling this promise, the Jacuzzis took action to cause the Debtor to be incarcerated.

II. Findings and Conclusions

A. Evidentiary Rulings

In support of the Motion, the Debtor submits documents filed in connection with the Mexican Fraud Complaint (Exhibits 3–11). All the documents are in Spanish and have not been translated. The Debtor states that Exhibit 3 is a resolution issued by a Mexican Court and that Exhibits 4–11 are depositions of members of the Jacuzzi family. The Jacuzzis object to Exhibits 3–11 on the grounds that they are unauthenticated and contain inadmissible hearsay.

The Court declines to admit Exhibits 3–11 because they are not relevant to the issues presented by the Motion. As discussed in Section II.B.3., below, the Debtor is not entitled to relief from the Stipulated Judgment even assuming that the Motion's allegations are true. Therefore, it is not necessary for the Court to determine the truthfulness of the facts which the Debtor attempts to substantiate through the Exhibits.

Exhibit 13 is a brief filed on behalf of Enrique Pimienta before the Fifth Circuit. The Court will admit Exhibit 13, as it provides context for the issues adjudicated herein. However, the Court emphasizes that Exhibit 13 is of limited relevance.

Exhibit 14 is a table prepared by the Debtor setting forth a chronology of litigation in the Debtor's bankruptcy, the bankruptcies of his family members, and the action filed by the Jacuzzis in the Texas District Court. The Court will admit Exhibit 14. However, the Court relies upon the official court records themselves to establish the chronology of events, rather than the Exhibit 14.

Exhibit 2 is a letter from John Jacuzzi to W. Steve Smith, the Trustee of Enrique's bankruptcy estate. The Court declines to admit Exhibit 2, as it has not been properly authenticated. Evidence Rule 901(a) provides that "[t]o satisfy the requirement of authenticating or identifying an item of evidence, the proponent must produce evidence sufficient to support a finding that the items is what the proponent claims it is." The Debtor describes the letter in his declaration in support of the Motion, but does not explain how he acquired the letter. The Debtor is not the author of or recipient of the letter. Under these circumstances, to properly authenticate the letter, the Debtor was required to supply some explanation of how he obtained the letter.

B. The Motion is Denied

At the outset, the Court notes that there is no merit to the Debtor's contention that the Jacuzzis' Opposition was not filed timely. Pursuant to the Local Bankruptcy Rules, the Opposition was due fourteen days prior to the hearing. The Opposition was filed on May 22, 2019, which is fourteen days prior to the hearing on the Motion.

The Debtor seeks relief from the Stipulated Judgment under Civil Rule 60(b)(3), (b)(5), and (b)(6), and Civil Rule 60(d)(3). The Debtor is not entitled to relief from the Stipulated Judgment under any of these provisions.

1. Civil Rule 60(b)(3)

Civil Rule 60(b)(3) permits the Court to relieve a party from a judgment for "fraud (whether previously called intrinsic or extrinsic), misrepresentation, or misconduct by an opposing party." A motion for relief under Civil Rule 60(b)(3) must be made "no more than a year after the entry of the judgment or order or the date of the proceeding." Civil Rule 60(c)(1).

The Stipulated Judgment was entered on January 4, 2006. Debtor filed the Motion on April 29, 2019, more than thirteen years later. Debtor was not incarcerated in Mexico until April 17, 2008, and therefore had the ability to timely move for relief under Civil Rule 60(b)(3). The request for relief under Civil Rule 60(b)(3) is denied as untimely.

2. Civil Rule 60(b)(5)

Civil Rule 60(b)(5) permits the Court to relieve a party from a judgment if "the judgment has been satisfied, release, or discharged; it is based on an earlier judgment that has been reversed or vacated; or applying it prospectively is no longer equitable.”

Debtor is not entitled to relief under any of the three prongs of Civil Rule 60(b)(5). With respect to the first prong, the Stipulated Judgment has not been satisfied, released, or discharged. There is no merit to the Debtor’s contention that a subsequent judgment obtained by the Jacuzzis in Mexico constitutes a satisfaction of the Stipulated Judgment. Within the meaning of Civil Rule 60(b)(5), a money judgment such as the Stipulated Judgment is satisfied only if it is paid in full.

With respect to the second prong, the Stipulated Judgment is not based on an earlier judgment that has been vacated.

The third prong does not apply because the Stipulated Judgment has no prospective application. Relief under the third prong is limited to judgments that apply prospectively. See 12 Moore’s Federal Practice - Civil § 60.47 (2019). A money judgment such as the Stipulated Judgment has no prospective application. See In re Fine Paper Antitrust Litig., 840 F.2d 188, 193–94 (3d Cir. 1988).

3. Civil Rule 60(b)(6)

Civil Rule 60(b)(6) permits the Court to relieve a party from a judgment for “any other reason that justifies relief.” As the Ninth Circuit has explained, Civil Rule 60(b)(6) “should be used sparingly as an equitable remedy to prevent manifest injustice and is to be utilized only where extraordinary circumstances prevented a party from taking timely action to prevent or correct an erroneous judgment. Accordingly, a party who moves for such relief must demonstrate both injury and circumstances beyond his control that prevented him from proceeding with ... the action in a proper fashion.” Zurich Am. Ins. Co. v. Int’l Fibercom, Inc. (In re Int’l Fibercom, Inc.), 503 F.3d 933, 941 (9th Cir. 2007) (internal citations and quotations omitted).

The Debtor argues that he should be relieved from the Stipulated Judgment because of various actions taken by the Jacuzzis against him subsequent to the entry of the Stipulated Judgment. The Debtor asserts that the Jacuzzis were responsible for his incarceration in Mexico; his torture while in prison; the kidnapping of a family member; the kidnapping of his attorney; and various other nefarious actions.

The Motion’s underlying premise—that the Jacuzzis’ alleged wrongdoing entitles the Debtor to relief from the Stipulated Judgment—is not correct as a matter of law. The Debtor’s argument is essentially that his unlawful acts against the Jacuzzis, which resulted in the Stipulated Judgment, should be excused because of the Jacuzzis’ alleged unlawful acts against him. Civil Rule 60(b)(6) was never intended to be applied in such a manner. The Court makes no determination as to the truthfulness of any of the Debtor's allegations against the Jacuzzis, because even if all those allegations are true, they do not entitle the Debtor to relief from the Stipulated Judgment. The Debtor may (or may not) have independent claims against the Jacuzzis based upon the allegations set forth in the Motion. Those allegations do not, however, support vacatur of the Stipulated Judgment.

The Court notes that the Debtor agreed to the Stipulated Judgment after having been advised by competent counsel. In addition, the Court conducted a hearing to consider the appropriateness of the Stipulated Judgment on January 4, 2006. The Debtor and his counsel were both present at the hearing. At the hearing, the Court questioned the Debtor under oath to ensure that he fully understood the terms of the Stipulated Judgment. The Court entered the Stipulated Judgment only because it was satisfied that the Debtor had agreed to the Stipulated Judgment and fully understood its terms.

Furthermore, nothing in the Motion shows that entry of the Stipulated Judgment was in error. Rather, the focus of the Motion is entirely upon events that occurred after entry of the Stipulated Judgment.

The Debtor contends that the Jacuzzis induced him to enter into the Stipulated Judgment by representing that if he did so, the Jacuzzis would not attempt to prevent the Debtor from earning income that could be used to satisfy the Stipulated Judgment. In support of this contention, the Debtor furnishes an e-mail that he sent to the Jacuzzis' counsel on April 4, 2006. The e-mail contains the Debtor's own characterization of representations that he claims were made to induce him to enter into the Stipulated Judgment.

The e-mail is not admissible. The Debtor introduced the e-mail for the first time in his reply papers. Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(g) provides that "matters raised for the first time in reply documents will not be considered." Even if the e-mail had been properly introduced, it is not relevant. The Stipulated Judgment is not contingent upon the Jacuzzis refraining from taking any action against the Debtor in the future. Consequently, even if the Jacuzzis had made the promises alleged in the e-mail, their failure to follow through on such promises would not be cause to set aside the Stipulated Judgment.

Debtor asserts that in connection with the Stipulated Judgment, the Jacuzzis assigned all their remaining claims against him to the Trustee, who later dismissed the claims. Debtor asserts that consequently, the Jacuzzis' continued prosecution of the Mexican Fraud Complaint was inequitable. Debtor additionally argues that the

Debtor's argument fails for two reasons. First, contrary to the Debtor's characterization, the Stipulated Judgment did not assign to the Trustee all of the Jacuzzis' claims against the Debtor. The Stipulated Judgment assigned to the Trustee only those claims asserted under § 727 of the Bankruptcy Code. The Mexican Fraud Complaint has no connection to the Jacuzzis' § 727 claims.

Second, neither the assignment of the § 727 claims to the Trustee or the discharge injunction prevented the Jacuzzis from assisting the authorities in Mexico with the continued prosecution of the Mexican Fraud Complaint, a criminal action. The discharge injunction does not protect the Debtor from criminal liability. Even if the Mexican Fraud Complaint was construed as an attempt to collect the Stipulated Judgment rather than an independent criminal action, the discharge injunction would not apply. That is because the discharge injunction applies only to attempts to collect debts that have been discharged, and the indebtedness established by the Stipulated Judgment was excepted from the Debtor's discharge. See 4 Collier on Bankruptcy ¶ 524.02 (16th ed. 2019) ("Of course, the discharge applies only to debts that are discharged.").

4. Civil Rule 60(d)(3)

Civil Rule 60(d)(3) sets forth grounds upon which the Court may relieve a party from a final judgment or order. Rule 60(d)(3) explains that "[t]his rule does not limit a court's power to set aside a judgment for fraud on the court." This Court has previously explained the effect and operation of Rule 60(d)(3) as follows:

Civil Rule 60(d)(3) is a codification of the Court's "inherent power ... to investigate whether a judgment was obtained by fraud." Universal Oil Products Co. v. Root Ref. Co., 328 U.S. 575, 580 (1946). "There is no statute of limitations for fraud on the court. And jurisdiction exists to consider such a claim even if there are no adversary parties then present before the court." Valerio v. Boise Cascade Corp., 80 F.R.D. 626, 640 n.10 (N.D. Cal. 1978) aff'd, 645 F.2d 699 (9th Cir. 1981).

Fraud on the court embraces "only that species of fraud which does or attempts to, defile the court itself, or is a fraud perpetrated by officers of the court so that the judicial machinery can not perform in the usual manner its impartial task of adjudging cases that are presented for adjudication." Anand v.

CITIC Corp. (In re Intermagnetics Am., Inc.), 926 F.2d 912, 916 (9th Cir. 1991). The inquiry must focus upon "whether the alleged fraud harms the integrity of the judicial process":

‘[T]ampering with the administration of justice in the manner indisputably shown here involves far more than an injury to a single litigant. It is a wrong against the institutions set up to protect and safeguard the public, institutions in which fraud cannot complacently be tolerated consistently with the good order of society. Surely it cannot be that preservation of the integrity of the judicial process must always wait upon the diligence of litigants. The public welfare demands that the agencies of public justice be not so impotent that they must always be mute and helpless victims of deception and fraud.’

Intermagnetics, 926 F.2d at 916–917 (citing Hazel-Atlas Glass Co. v. Hartford Empire Co., 322 U.S. 238, 246 (1944), overruled on other grounds, Standard Oil of Cal. v. United States, 429 U.S. 17, 18 (1976)).

As explained by the Ninth Circuit in United States v. Estate of Stonehill, 660 F.3d 415, 444–45 (9th Cir. 2011):

Most fraud on the court cases involve a scheme by one party to hide a key fact from the court and the opposing party. For example, in Levander a corporate officer testified in a deposition that the corporation had not sold its assets, and a bankruptcy court subsequently entered a judgment against only the corporation. Levander, 180 F.3d at 1116–17. It turned out that the corporation had in fact transferred all of its assets to a related partnership. Id. We held that the false testimony constituted fraud on the court, and the bankruptcy court was allowed to amend its order to include the partnership as an additional party to the judgment. Id. at 1122–23.

Perjury or nondisclosure of evidence may constitute fraud upon the court if "that perjury or nondisclosure was so fundamental that it undermined the workings of the adversary process itself." Id. at 445.

The Debtor's theory is that the Jacuzzi's committed fraud on the court by making promises to the Debtor that they did not intend to keep for the purpose of inducing the Debtor to agree to the Stipulated Judgment. Even if these alleged misrepresentations did occur (a determination the Court does not make), they would not arise to the level of fraud on the court. The alleged misrepresentations were directed toward the Debtor, not the Court, and they did not prevent the Court from determining whether entry of the Stipulated Judgment was appropriate.

III. Conclusion

Based upon the foregoing, the Motion is DENIED. The Court will prepare and enter an order denying the Motion.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling.  - f) Access to the claims register;
 - g) The Debtors' monthly operating reports;
 - h) Press releases issued by the Committee or any of the Debtors; and
 - i) Links to other relevant websites, such as the Debtors' corporate website and the website of the Office of the United States Trustee.
- 2) The Committee will also establish and maintain an electronic mail address for creditors to submit questions and comments.

The Committee seeks a determination that, by complying with the Creditor Information Protocol, the Committee will be in compliance with the disclosure obligations imposed by § 1102(b)(3). The Committee further seeks a determination that § 1102(b)(3) does not authorize or require the Committee to provide access to confidential, proprietary, and/or other non-public information to creditors who are not members of the Committee. The Committee states that if it were required to disclose confidential information to non-Committee members, its ability to obtain proprietary information from the Debtors would be severely compromised. The Committee requests that the relief sought be granted nunc pro tunc to the date of the Committee's formation.

No opposition to the Motion is on file.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Section 1102(b)(3) requires the Committee to:

- (A) Provide access to information for creditors who—
 - (i) hold claims of the kind represented by that committee; and

- (ii) are not appointed to the committee;
- (B) solicit and receive comments from the creditors described in subparagraph (A); and
- (C) be subject to a court order that compels any additional report or disclosure to be made to the creditors described in subparagraph (A).

The Court finds that the proposed Creditor Information Protocol is an appropriate means for the Committee to satisfy the disclosure obligations imposed by § 1102(b) (3). The website contemplated by the Creditor Information Protocol will provide unsecured creditors access to material information regarding these cases. The cost of establishing the website will be de minimis.

The Court finds that the Committee's disclosure obligations under § 1102(b)(3) do not require the Committee to share confidential, proprietary, and/or other non-public information (the "Confidential Information") with unsecured creditors who are not members of the Committee. Requiring the Committee to share Confidential Information would impede the Committee's ability to carry out its statutory obligation to investigate the Debtors under § 1103. The Debtors would be reluctant to share Confidential Information with the Committee if they knew that such information could be disclosed. See In re Refco Inc., 336 B.R. 187, 197 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2006) ("Maintaining the parties' reasonable expectations of confidentiality, therefore, is often critical to a committee's performance of its oversight and negotiation functions, compliance with applicable securities laws, and the proper exercise of committee members' fiduciary duties.").

Based upon the foregoing, the Motion is GRANTED in its entirety. The Committee shall submit an order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing.

#1.00 HearingRE: [74] Notice of motion and motion for relief from the automatic stay with supporting declarations REAL PROPERTY RE: 1947 237th Pl, Torrance, CA 90501 . (Jafarnia, Merdaud)

Docket 74

Tentative Ruling:

6/6/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2) to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to foreclose upon and obtain possession of the property in accordance with applicable law. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. Since a chapter 7 case does not contemplate reorganization, the sole issue before the Court when stay relief is sought under 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2) is whether the Debtor has equity in the property. See, e.g., Martens v. Countrywide Home Loans (In re Martens), 331 B.R. 395, 398 (8th Cir. BAP 2005); Ramco Indus. v. Preuss (In re Preuss), 15 B.R. 896, 897 (9th Cir. BAP 1981).

The subject property has a value of $1,050,000 and is encumbered by a perfected deed of trust or mortgage in favor of the Movant. The liens against the property and the expected costs of sale total $1052,239.63. The Court finds there is no equity and there is no evidence that the trustee can administer the subject real property for the benefit of creditors.

Docket 68

Tentative Ruling:

6/6/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the R/S Motion is GRANTED.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed

1. Notice of Motion and Motion for Relief from the Automatic Stay Under 11 U.S.C. § 362 (Action in Nonbankruptcy Forum) [Doc. No. 68] (the "R/S Motion")
2. Declaration of Nico. N. Tabibi in Support of Motion for Relief From the Automatic Stay in Nonbankruptcy Forum [Doc. No. 69]
3. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Bahram Zendedel (the "Debtor") filed this voluntary chapter 7 case on January 18, 2019 (the "Petition Date"). Shortly thereafter, Peter J. Mastan was appointed to serve as the chapter 7 trustee and continues to serve in that capacity (the "Trustee").

Creditor Sam Thuy Nguyen dba Sam Bullion & Coin ("Movant") seeks relief from the automatic stay pursuant to § 362(d)(1) to proceed under applicable non-bankruptcy law to final judgment with an action pending before the Los Angeles Superior Court (the "State Court") captioned Sam Nguyen dba Sam Bullion & Coin v. Bahram Zendedel et al., (Case No. BC706502) (the "State Court Action"). Movant initiated the State Court Action on May 16, 2018, by filing a complaint against the Debtor and other non-debtor defendants asserting claims for (1) fraudulent transfers/conveyances/conspiracy to defraud, and to set aside or annul fraudulent transfers/conveyances, (2) fraudulent transfers/conveyances, and to set aside or annul fraudulent transfers/conveyances, (3) temporary restraining order, preliminary and permanent injunction, and (4) unjust enrichment-constructive trust (the "Complaint"). Ex. 1. Trial is scheduled to begin on November 4, 2019.

In support of its request for stay relief, Movant checked the form boxes stating that it seeks recovery primarily from third parties and agrees that the stay will remain in effect as to enforcement of any resulting judgment against the Debtor or the bankruptcy estate, that mandatory abstention applies, that the claims are nondischargeable in nature and can be most expeditiously resolved in State Court, that the claims arise under nonbankruptcy law, and that the timing of the filing of this case indicates that it was intended to delay or interfere with the State Court Action.

In addition to an order granting relief from stay, Movant requests that the Court waive the 14-day stay prescribed by FRBP 4001(a)(3) and that the order be binding and effective in any bankruptcy case commenced by or against the Debtor for a period of 180 days. Movant also requests that the stay be annulled retroactively to the petition date to cure any post-petition actions taken in the State Court Action, but does not identify what actions were taken in violation of the stay.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Section 362(d)(1) provides that "[o]n request of a party in interest and after notice and a hearing, the court shall grant relief from the stay . . . (1) for cause . . ." 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1). (In re Kronemyer)*, 405 B.R. 915, 921 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2009); Christensen v. Tucson Estates, Inc. (In re Tucson Estates, Inc.), 912 F.2d 1162, 1166 (9th Cir. 1990). "To obtain relief from the automatic stay, the party seeking relief must first establish a prima facie case that 'cause' exists for relief under § 362(d)(1)." Truebro, Inc. v. Plumberex Specialty Prods., Inc. (In re Plumberex Specialty Prods., Inc.), 311 B.R. 551, 557 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2004). Chapter 7

In the Ninth Circuit, courts consider 12 non-exclusive factors to determine whether "cause" exists to grant relief to allow an entity to continue pending litigation against a debtor in non-bankruptcy forum:

1. Whether the relief will result in a partial or complete resolution of the issues;
2. The lack of any connection with or interference with the bankruptcy case;
3. Whether the foreign proceeding involves the debtor as a fiduciary;
4. Whether a specialized tribunal has been established to hear the particular cause of action and whether that tribunal has the expertise to hear such cases;
5. Whether the debtor's insurance carrier has assumed full financial responsibility for defending the litigation;
6. Whether the action essentially involves third parties, and the debtor functions only as a bailee or conduit for the goods or proceeds in question;
7. Whether the litigation in another forum would prejudice the interests of other creditors, the creditors' committee and other interested parties;
8. Whether the judgment claim arising from the foreign action is subject to equitable subordination under Section 510(c);
9. Whether movant's success in the foreign proceeding would result in a judicial lien avoidable by the debtor under Section 522(f);
10. The interests of judicial economy and the expeditious and economical determination of litigation for the parties;
11. Whether the foreign proceedings have progressed to the point where the parties are prepared for trial, and
12. The impact of the stay on the parties and the "balance of hurt[.]"

Plumberex, 311 B.R. at 559. Not all the factors are relevant in every case, and the Court is not required to give equal weight to each factor. Id. at 560.

Movant has established a prima face case that "cause" exists to grant relief from stay under section 362(d)(1). Granting relief from stay will best promote interests of judicial economy because the litigation involves several non-debtor defendants and trial is set to begin on November 4, 2019. While the State Court is not a specialized tribunal established specifically to hear the claims asserted in the Complaint, the State Court is more intimately familiar with the parties' dispute and applicable California law and can more expeditiously move the litigation to final judgment.

Additionally, as of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition has been filed. Therefore, interested parties are deemed to have consented to the granting of the motion pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(h).

Based on the foregoing, the Court GRANTS the Motion pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1) to permit the Movant to proceed under applicable non-bankruptcy law to enforce its remedies to proceed to final judgment in the non-bankruptcy forum, provided that the stay remains in effect with respect to enforcement of any judgment against the Debtor or estate property. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim or any other claim against the Debtor or property of the estate, except that the Movant will retain the right to file a proof of claim and/or an adversary complaint under §§ 523 or 727. This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code.

Movant's request to annul the stay retroactively to the Petition Date is DENIED for lack of good cause shown. The Court also DENIES Movant's request for an order that is binding and effective in any bankruptcy case commenced by or against the Debtor for a period of 180 days and for waiver of the 14-day stay prescribed by Federal Rule 4001(a)(3). All other relief requested but not specifically granted herein is denied.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the R/S Motion is GRANTED.

Docket 13

Tentative Ruling:

6/6/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2) to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to repossess or otherwise obtain possession and dispose of its collateral pursuant to applicable law, and to use the proceeds from its disposition to satisfy its claim. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. The Court finds that there is no equity in the subject vehicle and that the vehicle is not necessary for an effective reorganization since this is a chapter 7 case.

This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. All other relief is denied.

Movant shall upload an appropriate order via the Court's Lodged Order Upload system within 7 days of the hearing.

#100.00 Hearing re [4] Cash Management Motion

Docket 0

Tentative Ruling:

6/6/2019

Subject to any opposition which may be presented at the hearing, the Court is prepared to GRANT the Cash Management Motion.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Notice of Motion and Debtor's Emergency Motion to Maintain Cash Management Account & Request to Pay Associated Fees [Doc. No. 5] (the "Motion")
 - a) Order Setting Hearing on First Day Motions [Doc. No. 2]
 - b) Declaration of Sandra Rodriguez of Service of Process [Doc. No. 6]

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Rambutan Thai, Inc. (the "Debtor") filed a voluntary Chapter 11 petition on June 1, 2019. The Debtor operates a restaurant on Sunset Boulevard in the Silver Lake neighborhood of Los Angeles, which does business as Same Same Thai. The Chapter 11 filing was precipitated by a sales tax audit conducted by the California Department of Tax and Fee Administration (the "Tax Auditor"). The Tax Auditor asserts a claim for unpaid sales taxes in the approximate amount of $350,000 for the years 2010 through 2016, which the Debtor disputes. The Debtor intends to continue restaurant operations and restructure the sales tax claim through a Chapter 11 plan.

The Debtor seeks authorization to maintain its pre-petition bank account, maintained at J.P. Morgan Chase, N.A. (the "Chase Account"), until it can transfer its credit card processing and payroll processing services to its new debtor-in-possession account. Approximately 92% of the Debtor's revenues are derived from credit card purchases, which are processed by Nationwide Merchant Solutions, Inc. ("Nationwide"). On a monthly basis, Nationwide processes credit card transactions, deducts a processing fee, and deposits the difference into the Chase Account. In April 2019, Nationwide processed $82,595.33 of credit card transactions, deducted $2,197.31 in processing fees, and deposited $80,398.02 into the Chase Account.

The Debtor's payroll is processed by Automatic Data Processing ("ADP"). Payroll is also processed from the Chase Account. The Debtor states that its business operations will be severely disrupted if it is not permitted to temporarily maintain the Chase Account. The Debtor does not provide an estimate as to how long it will take to transfer its credit card and payroll processing services to its debtor-in-possession account.

The Debtor seeks authorization (1) to pay Nationwide an estimated $2,200 in pre-petition credit card processing fees and (2) to pay ADP approximately $198 in pre-petition payroll processing fees.

II. Findings and Conclusions

At the outset, the Court notes that it is unclear from the Declaration of Sandra Rodriguez of Service of Process [Doc. No. 6] whether the Office of the United States Trustee (the "UST") received telephonic notice of the hearing, as ordered by the Court. The UST is not listed among the entities that received telephonic notice. The Debtor should be prepared to advise the Court whether the UST received the required telephonic notice.

Local Bankruptcy Rule 2015-2 requires the Debtor to comply with guidelines imposed by the United States Trustee (the "UST Guidelines"). The UST Guidelines require that upon the filing of the petition, the Debtor's pre-petition bank accounts be closed and new debtor-in-possession bank accounts be opened at financial institutions that have been designated as authorized depositories by the UST.

In this case, requiring the Debtor to immediately close the Chase Account would disrupt the Debtor's business operations. Closure would prevent the Debtor from paying its employees and receiving revenue earned from customers paying by credit card credit. The Court finds it appropriate to permit the Debtor to temporarily maintain the Chase Account until payroll and credit card processing services can be transitioned to the Debtor's debtor-in-possession account. The Debtor shall transition the payroll and credit card processing services to the debtor-in-possession account by no later than July 1, 2019. By that same date, the Debtor shall file a declaration with the Court establishing that the transition has been completed.

The Debtor is authorized to pay Nationwide approximately $2,200 for pre-petition credit card processing services and is authorized to pay ADP approximately $198 for pre-petition payroll processing services. The Court notes that in dicta, the Supreme Court has recently noted that Bankruptcy Courts have approved "'critical vendor' orders that allow payment of an essential suppliers' prepetition invoices." Czyzewski

v. Jevic Holding Corp., 137 S. Ct. 973, 985, 197 L. Ed. 2d 398 (2017). The Supreme Court’s statement in Jevic obviously was not a holding upon the validity of a critical vendor order; nonetheless, the Supreme Court’s acknowledgment that Bankruptcy Courts have reasoned that critical vendor orders are necessary to “enable a successful reorganization and make even the disfavored creditors better off” is significant. Id. at 985.

More on point, in the context of a cross-collateralization clause, the Ninth Circuit has recognized that “[c]ases have permitted unequal treatment of pre-petition debts when necessary for rehabilitation, in such contexts as (i) pre-petition wages to key employees; (ii) hospital malpractice premiums incurred prior to filing; (iii) debts to providers of unique and irreplaceable supplies; and (iv) peripheral benefits under labor contracts.” Burchinal v. Central Wash. Bank (In re Adams Apple, Inc.), 829 F.2d 1484, 1490 (9th Cir. 1987). The Ninth Circuit’s recognition of the necessity of paying prepetition debts to “providers of unique and irreplaceable supplies” is particularly salient; that relief is most analogous to the relief sought by the instant Motion.

The Debtor has established that it will suffer serious harm if it is not able to pay Nationwide and ADP. Absent payment to ADP, the Debtor will be unable to timely pay its employees. Absent payment to Nationwide, the Debtor will be unable to receive the revenues that it has already earned.

Prepetition payments obviously are frowned upon because they subvert the Bankruptcy Code’s priority scheme. Yet the priority scheme will be of little use to anyone if value is destroyed from impairment of the Debtor’s business operations.

In connection with emergency first day motions, the Court typically grants relief on an interim basis and conducts a subsequent final hearing. In this case, a subsequent final hearing is not necessary given the Court’s order that the Debtor transition its accounts with Nationwide and ADP to its debtor-in-possession account by July 1, 2019.

The Debtor has accounts with Southern California Gas Company ("SoCal Gas") and the Los Angeles Department of Water and Power (the "LADWP"). - 3) In the event that any utility provider believes that the Utility Account does not provide adequate assurance of payment, such utility provider shall be required to file, within fourteen days from the date of service of the Utility Order, a specific request for additional adequate assurance (the “Additional Assurance Request”). Any utility provider who does not timely file an Additional Assurance Request shall be deemed to have received adequate assurance of payment and shall be thereafter prohibited from altering or discontinuing service to the Debtor.
- 4) A utility provider who timely files an Additional Assurance Request may not alter or discontinue service unless so authorized by the Court after a hearing on the Additional Assurance Request.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Section 366(c)(2) provides that a utility company may “alter, refuse, or discontinue utility service if, during the 30-day period beginning on the date of the filing of the petition, the utility does not receive from the debtor . . . adequate assurance of payment for utility service that is satisfactory to the utility.” However, § 366(c)(3) provides that upon request of a party in interest and after notice and a hearing, the court “may order modification of the amount of an assurance of payment” under § 366(c)(2).

In In re Circuit City Stores, Inc., 2009 WL 484553 (Bankr. E.D. Va. Jan. 14, 2009), the court evaluated proposed procedures for determining adequate assurance of payment to utility providers. The Circuit City court concluded:

The statute does not prohibit a court from making a determination about the adequacy of an assurance payment until only after a payment “satisfactory to the utility” has been received from the debtor under § 366(c)(2). The first clause of § 366(c)(2) clearly renders the entire section subject to the court's authority outlined in § 366(c)(3).¹⁶ See 11 U.S.C. § 366(c)(2); see also 3 Collier on Bankruptcy ¶ 366.03[2] (Alan N. Resnick & Henry J. Sommer eds., 15th ed. rev.2008) (stating § 366(c)(2) means that the debtor must “pay what the utility demands, unless the court orders otherwise.”).

In re Circuit City Stores, Inc., No. 08-35653, 2009 WL 484553, at *5 (Bankr. E.D. Va. Jan. 14, 2009).

The Circuit City court rejected the interpretation of § 363(c)(2) that “concludes that a bankruptcy court may not determine the appropriate amount of adequate assurance until the debtor has first paid whatever amount the utility has demanded.” Id. at *3. Such an interpretation, the court reasoned, “is simply unworkable” and “could lead to absurd results.” Id. For instance, a utility company might “simply fail to respond to a debtor’s offer of adequate assurance, or it may choose to respond on the thirtieth day. In either event, the result would be calamitous for a debtor in the throes of bankruptcy.” Id.

“Whether utilities have adequate assurance of future payment is determined by the individual circumstances of each case.” In re Adelpia Bus. Solutions, Inc., 280 B.R. 63, 80 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2002). “Accordingly, bankruptcy courts must be afforded reasonable discretion in determining what constitutes ‘adequate assurance’ of payment for continuing utility services.” Virginia Elec. & Power Co. v. Caldor, Inc.-New York, 117 F.3d 646, 650 (2d Cir. 1997) (citations omitted).

The Court finds that the procedures proposed by the Debtor provide adequate assurance of payment to utility providers within the meaning of § 366. However, the Debtor must fund the Utility Account within twenty days of the date of the petition—that is, by June 21, 2019—rather than within twenty days of entry of the Utility Order. Section 366(b) authorizes utility providers to alter, refuse, or discontinue service if the Debtor does not furnish adequate assurance of payment within twenty days of the petition date.

The procedures which the Court is prepared to approve provide an opportunity for utility providers to object to the adequacy of the assurance of payment furnished by the Debtor. Unless a utility provider timely objects, no further hearing on the Motion will be conducted.

- ii) When preparing the Pretrial Stipulation, all parties shall stipulate to the admissibility of exhibits whenever possible. In the event any party cannot stipulate to the admissibility of an exhibit, that party must file a Motion in Limine which clearly identifies each exhibit alleged to be inadmissible and/or prejudicial. The moving party must set the Motion in Limine for hearing at the same time as the Pretrial Conference; notice and service of the Motion shall be governed by LBR 9013-1. The Motion in Limine must contain a statement of the specific prejudice that will be suffered by the moving party if the Motion is not granted. #21.00 Status Hearing

RE: [1] Adversary case 2:18-ap-01406. Complaint by Elissa D. Miller, solely in her capacity as chapter 7 trustee against Jonathan Jackson Company, a California corporation. (Charge To Estate). Complaint for (1) Avoidance and Recovery of Preferential Transfers, (2) Preservation of Preferential Transfers, and (3) Disallowance of Claims Nature of Suit: (12 (Recovery of money/property - 547 preference)) (Lev, Daniel)

fr: 3-19-19

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

6/10/2019

The Court conducted an initial Status Conference on March 19, 2019, and subsequently issued an order setting litigation deadlines. The Court did not order formal mediation, in view of the parties' representation that they had engaged in preliminary settlement discussions. In the most recent Status Report, the parties request that the matter not be referred to formal mediation at this time. In addition, the Trustee states that her prosecution of this action has been complicated by the recent staffing issues.

Good cause appearing, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED AS FOLLOWS:

- 1) The litigation deadlines previously ordered shall continue to apply.
- 2) A continued Status Conference shall be held on August 13, 2019, at 10:00 a.m. A Joint Status Report, which should report on the progress of settlement discussions, shall be submitted by no later than fourteen days prior to the hearing. If by the time of the continued Status Conference it does not appear that the parties have engaged in meaningful settlement discussions, the Court will order the matter to formal mediation.

The Court conducted an initial Status Conference on March 19, 2019, and subsequently issued an order setting litigation deadlines. Pursuant to the parties' request, the Court also ordered the matter to formal mediation. The Trustee has not yet submitted an order assigning the matter to mediation.

The Court notes that the Defendant, possibly in error, checked the box indicating that it does not consent to the Bankruptcy Court's entry of a final judgment. In connection with the previous Status Conference, the Court issued a Scheduling Order that was predicated upon the Defendant's consent to the Bankruptcy Court's entry of a final judgment. See Order (1) Setting Litigation Deadlines and (2) Setting Continued Status Conference for June 11, 2019, at 10:00 a.m. [Doc. Defendant is not allowed to withdraw its consent to the Bankruptcy Court's entry of a final judgment at this stage of the proceedings.

Having reviewed the Joint Status Report submitted by the parties, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED AS FOLLOWS:

RE: [1] Adversary case 2:18-ap-01163. Complaint by Sam S. Leslie against Leon Reihanian. (Charge To Estate). Nature of Suit: (11 (Recovery of money/property - 542 turnover of property)) (Kim, Christian)

fr. 4-23-19

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

6/10/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Motion is DENIED.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Notice of Motion and Motion for Right to Attach Order and Writ of Attachment [Doc. No. 47] (the "Motion")
- 2) Opposition to Motion by Trustee for Right to Attach Order [Doc. No. 49] (the "Opposition")
- 3) Trustee's Reply to Herstel Reihanian's Opposition to Motion for Right to Attach Order and Writ of Attachment [Doc. No. 53] (the "Reply")

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Sharp Edge Enterprises (the "Debtor") filed a voluntary Chapter 7 petition on March 13, 2017 (the "Petition Date"). On August 22, 2018, the Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee") filed a First Amended Complaint: (1) For Breach of Oral Contract; (2) For Turnover of Property to the Estate; (3) Common Counts: Open Book Account; (4) Common Counts: Account Stated; and (5) To Avoid and Recover Fraudulent Transfers [Doc. No. 10] (the "Complaint") against Leon Reihanian and Abraham Reihanian, as trustee of the Abraham Reinhanian and Nosrad Yahid Revocable Trust (UAD July 18, 2011) (the "Trust").

On April 23, 2019, the Court conducted a hearing on the Motion to Appoint Guardian Ad Litem [Doc. No. 37] (the "Motion") filed by the Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee"). Prior to the hearing, the Court issued a tentative ruling [Doc. No. 44] (the "Tentative Ruling") stating that it was prepared to grant the request of Herstel Reihanian ("Herstel") [Note 1] to serve as the guardian ad litem of Abraham Reihanian ("Abraham"), but only if Herstel could demonstrate that he had sufficient resources to retain counsel to assist him in representing Abraham's interests. The Court explained that absent the assistance of counsel, Herstel could not adequately fulfill his obligations as Abraham's guardian. The Court ordered Herstel to appear at the hearing to address whether he had the ability to retain counsel to represent Abraham throughout the entirety of this proceeding. The Court stated that if Herstel could not demonstrate the ability to retain counsel on Abraham's behalf, it was prepared to appoint Leon Reihanian ("Leon"), who is presently represented by counsel, as Abraham's guardian.

Herstel failed to appear at the hearing as ordered by the Court. Consequently, the Court denied Herstel's request to serve as Abraham's guardian. Instead, the Court appointed Leon to serve as Abraham's guardian ad litem. The Court ordered Abraham, in his capacity as trustee of the Trust, to respond to the Complaint by no later than May 14, 2019. Abraham has not responded to the Complaint.

The material allegations of the Complaint are as follows:

- 1) On December 31, 2016, the Debtor and Leon entered into an oral agreement, whereby the Debtor would loan Leon $158,890 without any deadline for repayment (the "Agreement"). At the end of the 2016 tax year, Leon owed the Debtor $158,890 on account of the Agreement (the "Unpaid Loan").
- 2) As of the Petition Date, the Unpaid Loan had not been repaid to the Debtor. Because no deadline for repayment under the Agreement was set, the Unpaid Loan was due upon demand as a matter of law. No demand for the repayment of the Unpaid Loan was made until the filing of this Complaint. By failing to repay the Unpaid Loan, Leon has materially breached the Agreement with the Debtor.
- 3) On July 25, 2011, Leon transferred his 50% interest in the property located at 141 Great Circle, Mill Valley, CA 94941 (the "Real Property") to Abraham and Nosrad Yahid for no consideration. On July 24, 2012, Abraham and Nosrad Yahid transferred their individual title ownership interest in the Real Property to the Trust for no consideration. On December 3, 2015, Abraham caused the Trust to transfer a 25% interest in the Property to Leon for no consideration.

As against Leon, the Complaint seeks to recover $158,890 in funds allegedly loaned by the Debtor to Leon. As against Leon and the Abraham, in his capacity as trustee of the Trust, the Complaint seeks to avoid and recover the transfer of real property located at 141 Great Circle, Mill Valley, CA 94941 (the “Real Property”) pursuant to §§ 544(b) and 550.

The Trustee moves for issuance of a writ of attachment against Leon. The Trustee seeks to attach Leon’s assets, including the Real Property. The Trustee asserts that he is likely to prevail upon his claims against Leon for repayment of the Unpaid Loan.

Leon did not file an opposition to the Motion. Herstel filed an opposition to the Motion. Herstel asserts that he has standing to oppose the Motion because he is a beneficiary of the Trust. Herstel contends that the grant deed purporting to transfer the Real Property to Leon from the Trust was invalid because it was executed by a party who lacked authority to act on behalf of the Trust. Herstel contends that the Trustee has not established that he is likely to prevail on his claims to recover assets from the Trust, and therefore cannot attach the Real Property. Herstel further contends that the order appointing Leon as Abraham’s guardian ad litem was not proper under California law.

In reply to Herstel’s opposition, the Trustee asserts that the opposition lacks proper evidentiary support, including any evidence that Herstel is the beneficiary of the Trust or that the 2015 transfer of the Real Property from the Trust to Leon was ineffective. The Trustee asserts that Herstel’s argument that Leon should not be appointed as guardian ad litem should have been raised in connection with the prior motion.

II. Findings and Conclusions

A. The Motion is Denied

Under Civil Rule 64, state law prejudgment remedies are available “for the seizure of property to secure satisfaction of a judgment ultimately entered.” Blastrac, N.A. v. Concrete Sols. & Supply, 678 F. Supp. 2d 1001, 1004 (C.D. Cal. 2010). California law provides for the prejudgment remedy of attachment:

‘Attachment is an ancillary or provisional remedy to aid in the collection of a money demand by seizure of property in advance of trial and judgment.’ (Doyka v. Superior Court (1991) 233 Cal.App.3d 1134, 1137, 285

Cal.Rptr. 14.) California's Attachment Law (Code Civ. Proc., § 482.010 et seq.) is purely statutory and 675 is strictly construed. (Bank of America v. Salinas Nissan, Inc. (1989) 207 Cal.App.3d 260, 270, 254 Cal.Rptr. 748.) As germane here, a plaintiff seeking a right to attach order must show “‘the probable validity’ ” of its claim. (Id. at p. 271, 254 Cal.Rptr. 748.) “A claim has ‘probable validity’ where it is more likely than not that the plaintiff will obtain a judgment against the defendant on that claim.” (§ 481.190.)

Kemp Bros. Constr. v. Titan Elec. Corp., 146 Cal. App. 4th 1474, 1476, 53 Cal. Rptr. 3d 673, 674–75 (2007).

A court must find all of the following before issuing a writ of attachment:

- 1) the claim upon which the attachment is based is one upon which an attachment may be issued;
- 2) the plaintiff has established the probable validity of the claim upon which the attachment is based;
- 3) the attachment is not sought for a purpose other than recovery of the claim upon which the attachment is based; and
- 4) the amount to be secured by the attachment is greater than zero.

Blastrac, N.A. v. Concrete Sols. & Supply, 678 F. Supp. 2d 1001, 1005 (C.D. Cal. 2010).

Attachment is “a harsh remedy because it causes the defendant to lose control of his property before the plaintiff’s claim is adjudicated.” Martin v. Aboyan, 148 Cal.App.3d 826, 831, 196 Cal.Rptr. 266 (1983). Consequently, “the requirements for the issuance of a writ of attachment are strictly construed against the applicant.”

Blastrac, 678 F.Supp.2d at 1004. As stated by the Blastrac court:

In order to establish the “probable validity” component, the plaintiff must show it is more likely than not that it will obtain a judgment against the defendant. Cal.Civ.Proc.Code § 481.190; see also Pos–A–Traction, 112 F.Supp.2d at 1182. “In determining the probable validity of a claim where the defendant makes an appearance, the court must consider the relative merits of the positions of the respective parties and make a determination of the probable outcome of the litigation.” Loeb & Loeb, 166 Cal.App.3d at 1120, 212 Cal.Rptr. 830. Thus, it is not enough for the plaintiff to make out a prima facie case for breach of contract; rather, the plaintiff must also show that the defenses raised are “less than fifty percent likely to succeed.” Pet Food Express, Ltd. v. Royal Canin USA Inc., 2009 WL 2252108, at *5 (N.D.Cal.2009). If an applicant fails to rebut a factually-supported defense that would defeat its claims, the applicant has not established probable validity.

Here, the Trustee presents bank records showing that the Debtor transferred $173,150 to Leon between January 1, 2016 and March 12, 2017. To substantiate his claim that the transfers were a loan from the Debtor to Leon, the Trustee points to Leon’s tax return, which provides that Leon received total income from the Debtor of only $26,000 during 2016. The Trustee acknowledges that Leon has produced in discovery a second 2016 tax return, which purports to show that the funds transferred from the Debtor to Leon were used to reduce the Debtor’s liabilities on its line of credit. The Trustee asserts that this second tax return is fraudulent, because it lists a filing date of February 21, 2017, exactly one day after the previously produced tax return was filed.

The Trustee has not shown that it is more likely than not that he will prevail on his claims against Leon. The Agreement under which the Debtor loaned Leon funds was not reduced to writing. To prevail upon his claims, the Trustee is required not only to show that Leon received funds from the Debtor; he is also required to establish the terms of the Agreement. Specifically, the Trustee must show that the Agreement provided that the Unpaid Loan was repayable upon the Debtor’s demand. As the Agreement has not been reduced to writing, the Trustee will be required to rely upon circumstantial evidence to establish its terms. If Leon contests the Trustee’s characterization of the Agreement, which is likely, the Court will be required to assess Leon’s credibility to ascertain the terms of the Agreement.

Based upon the second tax return, it appears that Leon will take the position that the transfers he received from the Debtor were not a loan payable upon demand, but rather were used to reduce the Debtor’s liabilities on its line of credit. The Trustee can prevail only if he shows that the the transfers were a loan payable upon demand rather than a mechanism to reduce the Debtor’s liabilities.

Since the Trustee’s case will depend heavily upon credibility determinations that require the Court to assess witness testimony, the Court cannot find at this time that it is more likely than not that the Trustee will prevail upon his claims. In reaching this conclusion, the Court emphasizes that “the requirements for the issuance of a writ of attachment are strictly construed against the applicant,” Blastrac, 678 F.Supp.2d at 1004, because prejudgment attachment is a “harsh remedy,” Martin, 148 Cal.App.3d at 831.

B. Litigation Deadlines

After Leon was appointed as Abraham’s guardian ad litem, the Court ordered the Trustee and Leon to file a stipulation to set aside Abraham’s default, in his capacity as trustee of the Trust, by no later than April 30, 2019. The most recent Status Report provides that the Trustee has repeatedly sought to obtain the stipulation but that Leon has not yet provided it. Leon is ORDERED to provide a signed stipulation by no later than June 18, 2019. In his capacity as Abraham’s guardian ad litem, Leon is FURTHER ORDERED to cause Abraham to answer the Complaint by no later than June 25, 2019. Leon’s continued failure to comply with the Court’s orders will result in the imposition of sanctions as deemed appropriate by the Court.

Having reviewed the Joint Status Report submitted by the parties, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED AS FOLLOWS:

- 1) As set forth above, the Trust shall Answer the Complaint by no later than June 25, 2019.
- 2) The following litigation deadlines shall apply:
 - a) The last day to amend pleadings and/or join other parties is 9/12/2019.
 - b) The last day to disclose expert witnesses and expert witness reports is 12/24/2019.
 - c) The last day to disclose rebuttal expert witnesses and rebuttal expert witness reports is 1/23/2020.
 - d) The last date to complete discovery relating to expert witnesses (e.g., depositions of expert witnesses), including hearings on motions related to expert discovery, is 2/11/2020. (For contemplated hearings on motions related to expert discovery, it is counsel’s responsibility to check the Judge’s self-scheduling dates, posted on the Court’s website. If the expert discovery cutoff date falls on a date when the court is closed or that is not available for self-scheduling, the deadline for hearings on expert discovery motions is the next closest date which is available for self-scheduling.)
 - e) The last day for dispositive motions to be heard is 2/18/2020. (If the motion cutoff date is not available for self-scheduling, the deadline for

(If the non-expert discovery cutoff date is not available for self-calendaring, the deadline for non-expert discovery motions to be heard is the next closest date which is available for self-calendaring.)
 - g) A Pretrial Conference is set for 3/10/2020 at 11:00 a.m. By no later than fourteen days prior to the Pretrial Conference, the parties must submit a Joint Pretrial Stipulation via the Court's Lodged Order Upload (LOU) system. Submission via LOU allows the Court to edit the Joint Pretrial Stipulation, if necessary. Parties should consult the Court Manual, section 4, for information about LOU.
 - h) In addition to the procedures set forth in Local Bankruptcy Rule 7016-1(b), the following procedures govern the conduct of the Pretrial Conference and the preparation of the Pretrial Stipulation:
 - i) By no later than thirty days prior to the Pretrial Conference, the parties must exchange copies of all exhibits which each party intends to introduce into evidence (other than exhibits to be used solely for impeachment or rebuttal).
 - ii) When preparing the Pretrial Stipulation, all parties shall stipulate to the admissibility of exhibits whenever possible. In the event any party cannot stipulate to the admissibility of an exhibit, that party must file a Motion in Limine which clearly identifies each exhibit alleged to be inadmissible and/or prejudicial. The moving party must set the Motion in Limine for hearing at the same time as the Pretrial Conference; notice and service of the Motion shall be governed by LBR 9013-1. The Motion in Limine must contain a statement of the specific prejudice that will be suffered by the moving party if the Motion is not granted. The Motion must be supported by a memorandum of points and authorities containing citations to the applicable Federal Rules of Evidence, relevant caselaw, and other legal authority. Blanket or boilerplate evidentiary objections not accompanied by detailed supporting argument are prohibited, will be summarily overruled, and may subject the moving party to sanctions.
 - iii) The failure of a party to file a Motion in Limine complying with the Plaintiff will lodge a completed "Request for Assignment to Mediation Program; [Proposed] Order Thereon" (See Amended General Order 95-01 available on the Court's website) within 15 days from the date of this hearing, and deliver a hard copy directly to chambers c/o the judge's law clerk Daniel Koontz.

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

6/10/2019

On March 1, 2018, Plaintiff commenced a complaint against the Debtor/Defendant in the United States District Court for the Central District of California (the "District Court"), asserting claims for trademark infringement pursuant to 15 U.S.C. §§1114 and 1125(a), trademark dilution pursuant to 15 U.S.C. §1125(c), unfair competition and false advertising pursuant to 15 U.S.C. §1125(a), cybersquatting pursuant to 15 U.S.C. §1125(d), common law trademark infringement, breach of contract, conversion, and violations of Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code §§14247, 17200, and 17500 (the "District Court Action") (Case No. 2:18-cv-01760-CJC-JC). On April 23, 2018, Debtor/Defendant filed a voluntary Chapter 7 petition. On May 4, 2018, the District Court stayed the District Court Action pending resolution of Debtor/Defendant's bankruptcy proceeding.

On July 23, 2018, Plaintiff commenced the instant non-dischargeability action against Debtor/Defendant in the Bankruptcy Court (the "Non-Dischargeability Action"). As the Ninth Circuit has explained, a non-dischargeability action requires consideration of two distinct issues: first, a determination of whether the Defendant is indebted to the Plaintiff; and second, a determination of whether the indebtedness is non-dischargeable. Banks v. Gill Distribution Centers, Inc., 263 F.3d 862, 868 (9th Cir. 2001). Here, the Dischargeability Action alleges that the indebtedness which Plaintiff had sought to establish by way of the District Court Action should be excepted from Debtor/Defendant's discharge pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §§523(a)(2)(A), (a)(4), and (a)(6).

On December 17, 2018, the Court entered an order (1) sua sponte lifting the automatic stay to permit the District Court Action to proceed and (2) staying the Non-Dischargeability Action until entry of a final, non-appealable judgment in the District Court Action. Doc. No. 19 (the "Stay Order"). The Stay Order provided:

The most efficient way to resolve the Non-Dischargeability Action is for Plaintiff to first prosecute the District Court Action to final judgment. In the event Plaintiff obtains judgment in its favor, Plaintiff may then return to the Bankruptcy Court to obtain a determination regarding whether such judgment is dischargeable. The District Court is better equipped than this Court to determine whether Defendant is indebted to Plaintiff on account of the allegations for trademark infringement, trademark dilution, and cybersquatting, all of which require the application of substantive non-bankruptcy law.

Stay Order at ¶ 3.

A review of the docket in the District Court Action indicates that Plaintiff has taken no action to prosecute the District Court Action subsequent to entry of the Stay Order. In addition, Plaintiff has failed to file a Status Report, notwithstanding the Court's entry of an Order to Comply with Local Bankruptcy Rule 7016-1 Re: Status Conference [Doc. No. 21] warning that the failure to file a Status Report would result in the imposition of sanctions.

By separate order, the Court will require Plaintiff to appear and show cause why this action should not be dismissed for failure to prosecute, pursuant to Civil Rule 41.

The Court will prepare and enter the Order to Show Cause.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Jessica Vogel or Daniel Koontz at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. The Clerk of the Court entered Defendant's default on April 1, 2019. On May 7, 2019, the Court approved a stipulation setting aside Defendant's default. On May 8, 2019, Defendant filed an Answer to the Complaint.

Having reviewed the Joint Status Report filed by the parties, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED AS FOLLOWS:

- 1) Because Defendant's Answer was filed only recently, the litigation deadlines previously ordered are continued, as follows:
 - a) The last day to amend pleadings and/or join other parties is 7/11/2019.
 - b) The last day to disclose expert witnesses and expert witness reports is 10/29/2019.
 - c) The last day to disclose rebuttal expert witnesses and rebuttal expert witness reports is 11/28/2019.

(If the non-expert discovery cutoff date is not available for self-calendaring, the deadline for non-expert discovery motions to be heard is the next closest date which is available for self-calendaring.)
 - g) A Pretrial Conference is set for 1/14/2020 at 11:00 a.m. By no later than fourteen days prior to the Pretrial Conference, the parties must submit a Joint Pretrial Stipulation via the Court's Lodged Order Upload (LOU) system. Submission via LOU allows the Court to edit the Joint Pretrial Stipulation, if necessary. Parties should consult the Court Manual, section 4, for information about LOU.

In the event any party cannot stipulate to the admissibility of an exhibit, that party must file a Motion in Limine which clearly identifies each exhibit alleged to be inadmissible and/or prejudicial. The moving party must set the Motion in Limine for hearing at the same time as the Pretrial Conference; notice and service of the Motion shall be governed by LBR 9013-1. The Motion in Limine must contain a statement of the specific prejudice that will be suffered by the moving party if the Motion is not granted. Docket 1

6/10/2019

The Clerk of the Court entered Defendant's default on April 29, 2019. Defendant filed an Answer to the Complaint on May 24, 2019. Defendant has not moved to set aside the default. For the reasons set forth below, the Court will sua sponte set aside the default.

Civil Rule 55(c) provides: "The court may set aside an entry of default for good cause." "The 'good cause' standard that governs vacating an entry of default under Rule 55(c) is the same standard that governs vacating a default judgment under Rule 60(b)." Franchise Holding II, LLC v. Huntington Restaurants Grp., Inc., 375 F.3d 922, 925 (9th Cir. 2004). The Court may deny a motion to vacate a default for any of the following reasons: "(1) the plaintiff would be prejudiced if the judgment is set aside, (2) defendant has no meritorious defense, or (3) the defendant's culpable conduct led to the default." Am. Ass'n of Naturopathic Physicians v. Hayhurst, 227 F.3d 1104, 1108 (9th Cir. 2000), as amended on denial of reh'g (Nov. 1, 2000). Because "[t]his tripartite test is disjunctive," Plaintiff is required to demonstrate only that one of the factors applies in order for the Court to deny the motion to vacate default. Id.

Here, none of the factors apply, so it is appropriate for the Court to set aside the default in order to avoid unnecessary costs and delay. First, no prejudice inures to Plaintiff. Merely being required to litigate the merits of a claim does not qualify as prejudice. TCI Grp. Life Ins. Plan v. Knoebber, 244 F.3d 691, 701 (9th Cir. 2001). Second, Defendant may have a meritorious defense. Defendant's burden with respect to this factor is "not extraordinarily heavy"; Defendant is required only to allege sufficient facts to constitute a defense. TCI Grp., 244 F.3d at 700. By filing an Answer that denies the Complaint's operative allegations, Defendant has satisfied this factor. Third, there is no indication that Defendant's brief delay in answering the Complaint was culpable. "[A] defendant's conduct [is] culpable for ... where there is no explanation of the default inconsistent with a devious, deliberate, willful, or bad faith failure to respond." Employee Painters' Trust v. Ethan Enterprises, Inc., 480 F.3d 993, 1000 (9th Cir. 2007). Filing an Answer approximately 25 days after the entry of default is not devious or in bad faith.

Having reviewed the Joint Status Report filed by the parties, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED AS FOLLOWS:

- 1) Because Defendant's Answer was filed only recently, the litigation deadlines previously ordered are continued, as follows:
 - a) The last day to amend pleadings and/or join other parties is 9/12/2019.
 - b) The last day to disclose expert witnesses and expert witness reports is 12/24/2019.

Appearances required. At the last post confirmation status conference, the Court directed the Debtor to file a status report by no later than 14 days prior to the continued hearing, or by May 28, 2019. On May 29, 2019, the Court issued an Order to Comply [Doc. #45.00 Status Hearing
RE: [1] Postconfirmation Status Conference

fr. 10-17-18; 1-15-19

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

6/10/2019

On June 18, 2018, the Court entered an order confirming the First Amended Chapter 11 Plan of Liquidation Dated January 31, 2018 (the "Plan"). The Plan appointed Bradley D. Sharp as the Plan Administrator responsible for liquidating the assets of the estate. (The Plan provided that all assets of the estate remained vested in the estate. See Plan at Art. 3.)

The Plan Administrator has made four distributions to holders of allowed claims. Funds distributed to date exceed $6 million.

Having reviewed the Third Post-Confirmation Status Report, the Court finds that the Plan Administrator is making sufficient progress toward effectuating the Plan. A continued Status Conference shall take place on December 10, 2019, at 10:00 a.m. The Plan Administrator shall submit a Status Report by no later than fourteen days prior to the hearing.

The Court will prepare and enter an order setting the continued Status Conference.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Jessica Vogel or Daniel Koontz at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. If you wish to make a telephonic appearance, contact Court Call at 888-882-6878, no later than one hour before the hearing.

Docket 1

 VACATED  REASON: CONTINUED 8-13-19 AT 11:00 A.M.

Tentative Ruling:

8/13/2018

This is an action to quiet title, brought by Raviner Kuma Bhatia and Johanna Arias-Bhatia against Fidel Ramirez. On August 15, 2011, Fidel Ramirez and Liduvina Ramirez commenced a voluntary Chapter 7 petition. The Ramirezes' case was closed on November 22, 2011.

Ramirez holds a Short Form Deed of Trust and Assignment of Rents (the "Deed of Trust") against property located at 721 N. Alta Vista Blvd, Los Angeles, CA 90046 (the "Property"). The Deed of Trust is dated February 27, 2007, but was not recorded until March 2, 2012. Ramirez failed to disclose the Deed of Trust in his Chapter 7 case. The Bhatias dispute the validity of the Deed of Trust.

On March 16, 2018, the Bhatias reached a settlement with Ramirez, under which the Bhatias agreed to pay Ramirez $31,000 to release the Deed of Trust. Solorzano Decl. at ¶4 [Doc. No. 25]; Motion to Reopen filed in Ramirez's Chapter 7 case [Doc. No. 17, Case No. 1:11-bk-17676-VK]. Recognizing that Ramirez had failed to disclose the Deed of Trust in his Chapter 7 case, the Bhatias notified the United States Trustee (the "UST") of the settlement. The UST filed a motion seeking to reopen Ramirez's case, which was granted on August 6, 2018. See Doc. No. 20, Case No. 1:11-bk-17676-VK. David K. Gottlieb ("Trustee Gottlieb") is serving as the Trustee in Ramirez's case.

days, to allow him to investigate the facts of this action, and potentially substitute in as the real party-in-interest. The Bhatias likewise request a continuance.

It appears that any settlement proceeds payable to Ramirez are most likely an asset of Ramirez's estate, meaning that Trustee Gottlieb would be required to approve any settlement of this action. The Court finds it appropriate to continue the Pretrial Conference for 90 days to allow Trustee Gottlieb to determine whether the $31,000 proposed settlement is adequate. A continued Pretrial Conference shall be held on November 13, 2018, at 11:00 a.m. Unless a settlement of this action has been approved by the Court, a Joint Pretrial Order must be submitted, via the Court's Lodged Order Upload (LOU) system, by no later than fourteen days prior to the hearing. The trial is continued to the week of November 26, 2018.

The Court will prepare and enter an appropriate order.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Cameron Schlagel or Daniel Koontz at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. Pleadings Filed and Reviewed

1. Reorganized Debtor's Post Confirmation Status Conference Report [Doc. No. 327]
2. Reorganized Debtor's Post Confirmation Status Conference Report [Doc. No. 331]

This is a post-confirmation status conference. On August 3, 2018, Debtor filed a post-confirmation status report stating that she was working to resolve certain accounting issues with respect to Class 3 secured creditor Ocwen Loan Servicing [Doc. No. 327] (the "August 2018 Report"). Debtor stated that if she were able to successfully resolve those issues, she would seek entry of a final decree closing this case, but if she were unsuccessful at resolving those issues, she would move the Court for an order requiring compliance under the confirmed plan. Id. Based on those representations, the Court continued the post-confirmation status conference to February 12, 2019.

On February 1, 2019, Debtor filed a post-confirmation status report [Doc. No. 331] (the "February 2019 Report"). However, the February 2019 Report appears to be identical to the August 2018 Report and does not provide any update on what efforts the Debtor has undertaken in the past six months to resolve her dispute with Ocwen Loan Servicing. Furthermore, the Court notes that on February 5, 2019, Debtor's counsel filed a motion to withdraw as counsel [Doc. No. 333] and scheduled a hearing for March 5, 2019.

Accordingly, Debtor's counsel is directed to appear to provide this Court with an update on the status of the accounting issues with Ocwen Loan Servicing. Failure to appear may result in this Court dismissing this case without further notice or hearing for failure to appear in proper prosecution.

Chapter 7

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Fatemeh Mahdavi (the "Debtor") filed a voluntary Chapter 7 petition on May 22, 2018. The Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee") moves to sell real property located at 2160 Century Park East, Unit 812, Los Angeles, CA (the "Property"). The Trustee also seeks approval of a settlement agreement resolving a title dispute as to the Property.

The Title Dispute and Proposed Settlement

James De Arruda ("De Arruda") claims that he and the Debtor held title to the Property as joint tenants, but that De Arruda was defrauded into transferring his 50% interest in the Property to the Debtor's spouse in connection with a proposed refinancing. On January 5, 2018 (prior to the commencement of the bankruptcy petition), De Arruda filed an action in the Los Angeles Superior Court (the "State Court"), seeking a judgment confirming his alleged 50% interest in the Property. De Arruda recorded a notice of lis pendens (the "Lis Pendens") against the Property. On August 20, 2018, De Arruda removed the State Court Action to the Bankruptcy Court. The Trustee disputes that there was any fraud in connection with the refinancing transaction and contends that Property is property of the Debtor's bankruptcy estate in its entirety. De Arruda also filed a Proof of Claim in the amount of $1,668,660.24, related to alleged embezzlement by the Debtor's spouse.

The material terms of the proposed settlement agreement (the "Settlement Agreement") between the Trustee and De Arruda are as follows:

- 1) The Trustee will sell the Property free and clear of the Lis Pendens.
- 2) De Arruda will waive his interest in the Property and dismiss the State Court Action that was removed to the Bankruptcy Court.
- 3) The net sale proceeds of the Property will be distributed 30% to De Arruda and 70% to the Trustee.
- 4) De Arruda's Proof of Claim will be allowed in the amount of $1 million, subject to De Arruda providing a suitable declaration to the Trustee regarding the subject matter of the claim.

The Proposed Sale

The Trustee seeks authorization to sell the Property free and clear of liens, claims, and encumbrances, pursuant to §§ 363(b) and (f). The Trustee proposes the following treatment of the liens and encumbrances against the Property:

- 1) Lien for real property taxes for fiscal year 2018–2019 (the "Property Tax Lien"). The Trustee has paid all real property taxes accrued prior to the date of closing. The sale will be free and clear of this lien.
- 2) Lien held by Century Park East Homeowners' Association (the "HOA"). The Trustee will pay through escrow undisputed amounts owed to HOA. Specifically, the Trustee will pay to the HOA $24,905.52 on account of a retrofit special assessment, $17,146.97 on account of a regular assessment, $838.13 on account of a supplemental assessment, and $1,075 on account of management company fees. The total to be paid to the HOA through escrow is approximately $45,000. To the extent that the Trustee does not pay disputed amounts to the HOA, the HOA's lien shall attach to the bankruptcy estate's 70% of the net sale proceeds to the same extent, and with the same validity and priority, as such lien had prior to the sale.
- 3) Deed of Trust in favor of Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., securing original indebtedness of $367,500 (the "Wells Fargo DOT"). The Trustee will pay through escrow all undisputed amounts owed on the Wells Fargo DOT. The sale will be free and clear of the Wells Fargo DOT.
- 4) Notice of Pendency of Action recorded by De Arruda (the "Lis Pendens"). Pursuant to the Settlement Agreement, the Lis Pendens will be withdrawn.
- 5) Tax lien recorded by the State of California Franchise Tax Board on May 4, 2018, in the amount of $232,310.89 (the "FTB Lien"). The FTB Lien is against James De Arruda and Lillian Tanaka. Pursuant to the Settlement Agreement, De Arruda is deemed to have waived his interest in the Property. The Settlement Agreement further provides that any effort by the FTB to assert that the FTB Lien attaches to the sales proceeds, including the sales proceeds distributed to De Arruda, will not affect the Settlement Agreement's validity. The sale will be free and clear of the FTB Lien.
- 6) Judgment lien in the amount of $1,289,722.22 in favor of Davoud Gharehbaghi and Iliad Ashraf Por (the "Gharehbaghi Judgment"). As to the Property, the Gharehbaghi Judgment was deemed avoided and preserved for the bankruptcy estate pursuant to a carve-out agreement approved by the Court on January 9, 2019. Doc. No. 50. Therefore, the sale will be free and clear of the Gharehbaghi Judgment.

and Parissa Nourai (the "Nourai Judgment"). The sale will be free and clear of the Nourai Judgment. On June 14, 2019, the Trustee and the holders of the Nourai Judgment filed a stipulation (the "Nourai Stipulation"), which provides that the Nourai Judgment is deemed avoided pursuant to § 547 and preserved for the benefit of the bankruptcy estate pursuant to § 551.

- 8) Tax lien recorded by the Internal Revenue Service in the amount of $446,899.19 (the "IRS Lien"). The IRS Lien is against James De Arruda and Lillian Tanaka. Pursuant to the Settlement Agreement, De Arruda is deemed to have waived his interest in the Property. The Settlement Agreement further provides that any effort by the IRS to assert that the IRS Lien attaches to the sales proceeds, including the sales proceeds distributed to De Arruda, will not affect the Settlement Agreement's validity. The sale will be free and clear of the IRS Lien.
- 9) Lien for property taxes recorded by the Los Angeles County Tax Collector in the amount of $127.73 (the "LA Tax Lien"). The sale will be free and clear of this lien, because it was recorded subsequent to the filing of the petition in violation of the automatic stay and is therefore void ab initio.

Wells Fargo Bank, N.A. ("Wells Fargo") does not oppose the Sale Motion, provided that its lien is paid in full. Wells Fargo requests that the Trustee be required to close the sale and pay Wells Fargo within ninety days of entry of the order approving the Sale Motion (such order, the "Sale Order"). Wells Fargo requests that the Sale Order contain the following language:

The loan secured by a first lien on real property located at 2160 Century Park East, #812, Los Angeles, CA 90067 will be paid in full as of the date of the closing of the sale and the sale will be conducted through escrow and based on a non-expired contractual payoff statement received directly from Wells Fargo Bank N.A.

No opposition to the Sale Motion is on file.

II. Findings and Conclusions

A. The Settlement Agreement is Approved

Bankruptcy Rule 9019 provides that the Court may approve a compromise or settlement. "In determining the fairness, reasonableness and adequacy of a proposed settlement agreement, the court must consider: (a) The probability of success in the litigation; (b) the difficulties, if any, to be encountered in the matter of collection; (c) the complexity of the litigation involved, and the expense, inconvenience and delay necessarily attending it; (d) the paramount interest of the creditors and a proper deference to their reasonable views in the premises." Martin v. Kane (In re A&C Properties), 784 F.2d 1377, 1381 (9th Cir. 1986). "[C]ompromises are favored in bankruptcy, and the decision of the bankruptcy judge to approve or disapprove the compromise of the parties rests in the sound discretion of the bankruptcy judge." In re Sassalos, 160 B.R. 646, 653 (D. Ore. 1993). In approving a settlement agreement, the Court must "canvass the issues and see whether the settlement 'falls below the lowest point in the range of reasonableness.'" Cosoff v. Rodman (In re W.T. Grant Co.), 699 F.2d 599, 608 (2d Cir. 1983). Applying the A&C Properties factors, the Court finds that the Settlement Agreement is adequate, fair, and reasonable, and is in the best interests of the estate and creditors.

Complexity of the Litigation

This factor weighs in favor of approving the Settlement Agreement. The legal issues posed by the litigation—whether fraud occurred in connection with the refinancing of the Property—are not particularly complex. However, Alireza Mahdavi, the Debtor's spouse, is the only witness who could confirm or deny De Arruda's allegations regarding the refinancing transaction. Alireza Mahdavi is incarcerated in Iran, meaning that obtaining his testimony would be expensive and complicated, if not impossible.

Paramount Interests of Creditors

This factor weighs in favor of approving the Settlement Agreement. The Settlement Agreement facilitates the sale of the Property, which will yield approximately $251,666 for the estate. No creditors have objected to approval of the Settlement Agreement. Absent approval, the significant litigation costs incurred by the estate would reduce creditors' ultimate recovery.

Probability of Success on the Merits

This factor weighs in favor of approving the Settlement Agreement. As discussed above, absent approval of the Settlement Agreement the estate would be required to incur significant litigation costs. The possibility that additional litigation might yield a result nominally more favorable to the estate cannot be ruled out. Yet any such result obtained through litigation would be a pyrrhic victory from the perspective of the estate and creditors, because the additional administrative costs associated with the litigation would on net leave the estate worse off.

Difficulties in the Matter of Collection

This factor does not apply.

B. The Proposed Sale is Approved

Section 363(b) permits the Trustee to sell estate property out of the ordinary course of business, subject to court approval. The Trustee must articulate a business justification for the sale. In re Walter, 83 B.R. 14, 19–20 (9th Cir. BAP 1988). Whether the articulated business justification is sufficient "depends on the case," in view of "all salient factors pertaining to the proceeding." Id. at 19–20.

The Trustee has demonstrated sufficient business justification for the sale. The sale is consistent with the Trustee's statutory obligation to liquidate the estate's assets.

Section 363(f) provides that estate property may be sold free and clear of liens, claims, and interests, providing one of the following conditions is satisfied:

- 1) Applicable nonbankruptcy law permits sale of such property free and clear of such interest;
- 2) Such entity consents;
- 3) Such interest is a lien and the price at which such property is sold is greater than the aggregate value of all liens on such property;
- 4) Such interest is in bona fide dispute; or
- 5) Such entity could be compelled, in a legal or equitable proceeding, to accept a money satisfaction of such interest.

The Court approves the Trustee's proposed treatment of the liens and encumbrances against the Property, and finds that the Property may be sold free and clear of such liens and encumbrances as requested by the Trustee. Pursuant to § 363(f) (3), the sale is free and clear of the Property Tax Liens, the Wells Fargo DOT, and the liens asserted by the HOA, because the purchase price of the Property exceeds the aggregate value of such liens. Pursuant to § 363(f)(2), the sale is free and clear of the IRS Lien and FTB Lien. The IRS and FTB are deemed to have consented to the sale because they received notice of the Sale Motion and did not file an opposition. The sale is free and clear of the LA Tax Lien because such lien is void ab initio, having been recorded in violation of the automatic stay. See Schwartz v. United States (In re Schwartz), 954 F.2d 569 (9th Cir. 1992). The sale is free and clear of the Lis Pendens because the Lis Pendens will be withdrawn pursuant to the Settlement Agreement. The sale is free and clear of the Gharehbaghi Judgment because that judgment has been avoided and preserved for the benefit of the estate pursuant to a carve-out agreement approved by the Court. See Doc. No. 50. The sale is free and clear of the Nouraié Judgment, which has been deemed avoided pursuant to § 547 and has been preserved for the benefit of the bankruptcy estate pursuant to § 551, in accordance with the terms of the Nouraié Stipulation.

The Trustee is authorized to pay real estate brokers' commissions directly from escrow. Having reviewed the Declaration of Zizi Pak, the real estate broker who marketed the Property, the Court finds that proposed buyer Daniel Sion Sakhai is a good faith purchaser entitled to the protections of § 363(m). In the event that an overbidder prevails at the auction, the Court will take testimony from such overbidder to determine whether §363(m) protections are warranted.

The language requested by Wells Fargo is appropriate and should be included in the Sale Order.

Auction Procedures

In the event that any qualified overbidders are present, the Court will distribute numbered auction paddles to the proposed purchaser and all qualified overbidders. The initial overbid will be $920,000, with subsequent overbids to be increments of $10,000. The overbid increment is subject to adjustment by the Court to facilitate bidding. The Court will announce each bid level. To remain in the auction, bidders must participate at all bid levels. That is, parties who do not bid in a round cannot later change their minds and re-enter the auction. Parties may make a bid higher than that announced by the Court by approaching the podium and stating their bid.

III. Conclusion

Based upon the foregoing, the Settlement Agreement is APPROVED and the Sale Motion is GRANTED. The Trustee shall submit a conforming order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing.

Note 1

The Court has modified the overbid amounts requested by the Trustee.

Trisha L. Hanson (the "Debtor") filed this voluntary chapter 7 case on May 6, 2019 (the "Petition Date"). Shortly thereafter Timothy Yoo was appointed and continues to serve as the acting chapter 7 trustee (the "Trustee").

held in four bank accounts held in the Debtor and her minor daughter's names at Wells Fargo, bearing account numbers ending in 8457, 6478, 8431 and 6854 (collectively, the "Bank Accounts"), which are presently frozen. [Note 1] The Debtor asserts that cause exists to compel abandonment of the Bank Accounts because she properly disclosed the Bank Accounts on Schedule B and claimed them fully exempt on Schedule C. Accordingly, the Debtor argues that the Bank Accounts are of inconsequential value to the bankruptcy estate and the Trustee should be compelled to abandon the Bank Accounts because the Debtor needs the funds for the ongoing care of her three minor children and herself.

The Debtor states that she attempted to informally resolve the situation with the Trustee prior to filing the Motion to Compel Abandonment by requesting that the Trustee instruct Wells Fargo to release the funds. However, the Debtor understand that the Trustee is unwilling to release the funds until after the initial § 341(a) Meeting of Creditors, which is presently scheduled for June 13, 2019. Therefore, the Debtor brought this motion due to the extreme hardship that her family will suffer without more immediate access to these funds.

The matter was continued to June 18, 2019, to allow time for the Debtor to be examined at the § 341(a) Meeting of Creditors and to afford the Trustee further opportunity to weigh in on the allowability of the Debtor's exemption following examination of the Debtor.

On June 17, 2019, the Trustee filed a Report of No. Distribution [Doc. No. 18].

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Section 554(b) states:

On request of a party in interest and after notice and a hearing, the court may order the trustee to abandon any property of the estate that is burdensome to the estate or that is of inconsequential value and benefit to the estate.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On June 8, 2018, the Court entered an Order Approving Motion for Structured Dismissal of Chapter 11 Case [Doc. No. 478] (the "Approval Order"). The Approval Order provides that the structured dismissal of the Debtor's Chapter 11 will occur through a two-step process:

- 1) First, within ten days of entry of the Approval Order, the Debtor shall set aside the sum of $3 million (the "Reserve Fund"), to be maintained in the client-trust account of the Debtor's counsel. The Reserve Fund shall be used to pay, among other claims, professional fees, sums owing on account of the Debtor's final tax returns, and outstanding fees owed to the UST. Approval Order at p. 4, ¶B.4.

- 2) Second, upon presentation of evidence by the Liberty Committee that various conditions precedent (the "Conditions Precedent") have been satisfied, the case shall be dismissed. Id. at p. 7, ¶H.d.

On February 7, 2019, the United States Trustee (the "UST") filed a motion seeking to dismiss the case, pursuant to § 1112(b) (the "Motion"). The hearing on the Motion was initially set for April 16, 2019, but was continued pursuant to a stipulation between the Debtor and the UST that was approved by the Court. The UST sought dismissal because more than seven months had passed since entry of the Approval Order, and because the Debtor was delinquent on quarterly fees and had not filed its December 2018 Monthly Operating Report.

On April 2, 2019, Bradley D. Sharp, the Plan Administrator under the Confirmed First Amended Chapter 11 Plan for Liberty Asset Management Corporation (the "Plan Administrator") filed an opposition to the Motion. The Plan Administrator states that the case should not be dismissed because one of the Conditions Precedent remains outstanding. Specifically, the Plan Administrator states that the Debtor is in the process of filing amended 2017 Tax Returns and obtaining a determination of liability under § 505.

II. Findings and Conclusions

The Court's review of the docket indicates that the Debtor has filed Monthly Operating Reports through March 2019. The Debtor's Monthly Operating Report for April 2019 was due on May 15, 2019 but has not yet been submitted. The Debtor's failure to timely file its Monthly Operating Reports is of serious concern to the Court. Timely submission of Monthly Operating Reports is essential so that the UST and interested parties can ensure that the Debtor is fulfilling its fiduciary obligations to creditors. If the Debtor's pattern of failing to timely submit its Monthly Operating Reports continues, the Court will consider imposing monetary sanctions upon the Debtor's counsel.

The Court cannot determine from a review of the docket whether the Debtor is current on UST quarterly fees.

On April 5, 2019, the Court entered an order approving the stipulated continuance

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Debtor-in-possession, Adrienne Marcia Moore (the "Debtor") filed this voluntary chapter 11 case on January 15, 2019 (the "Petition Date"). The Office of the United States Trustee (the "UST") seeks an order dismissing this case with a 180-day refile bar based upon the following:

- e. File monthly operating reports ("MORs") for February, March, April and May 2019; and See Declaration of Gary Baddin.

The UST also highlights that this is the Debtor's sixth bankruptcy filing since 2012 and four of the five cases were dismissed. [Note 1] Based on the foregoing, the UST asserts that cause exists under § 1112(b) to convert, dismiss or appoint a chapter 11 trustee in this case. The UST has reviewed the Debtor's Schedules and recommends that the case be dismissed because there do not appear to be any assets for a trustee to administer and contends that the Debtor's history of bankruptcy filings merits a 180-day refiling bar.

As of the date of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file. [Note 2]

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Under § 1112(b), the Court shall dismiss or convert a case to one under chapter 7 upon a showing of "cause." 11 U.S.C. § 1112(b). Section 1112(b)(4) provides a nonexclusive list of factors that constitute "cause," including in relevant part: "(A) substantial or continuing loss to or diminution of the estate and the absence of a reasonable likelihood of rehabilitation;" "(B) gross mismanagement of the estate;" "(F) unexcused failure to satisfy timely any filing or reporting requirement established by this title or by any rule applicable to a case under this chapter;" "(H) failure to timely provide information or attend meetings reasonably required by the United States Trustee;" and "(J) failure to file a disclosure statement, or to file or confirm a plan, within the time fixed by this title or by order of the court." arise, and to use its equitable powers to reach an appropriate result in individual cases." In re Consolidated Pioneer Mortgage Entities, 248 B.R. 368, 375 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2000) (quoting H.R. No. 95-595, 95th Cong., 1st Sess. 405-06 (1977), aff'd, 264 F.3d 803 (9th Cir. 2001)).

In this case, the Court finds that the list of deficiencies detailed above provides ample "cause" within the meaning of § 1112(b) to convert, dismiss or appoint a chapter 11 trustee in this case. The Court further finds that the Debtor's history of prior bankruptcy filings and the lack of any meaningful progress in this case since the Petition Date supports a finding that the Debtor filed this case in bad faith.

Having determined that cause exists, the Court must next determine whether conversion, dismissal or appointment of a chapter 11 trustee serves the best interests of creditors or the estate. See In re Products Int'l Co., 395 B.R. 101, 107 (Bankr. D. Ariz. 2008) (citing In re Nelson, 343 B.R. 671 (9th Cir. 2006)). "[W]hen deciding between dismissal and conversion under 11 U.S.C. § 1112(b), the court must consider the interests of all of the creditors." Shulkin Hutton, Inc. v. Treiger (In re Owens), 552 F.3d 958, 961 (9th Cir. 2009) (emphasis in original) (quoting Rollex Corp. v. Associated Materials, Inc. (In re Superior Siding & Window, Inc.), 14 F.3d 240, 243 (4th Cir. 1994)).

Based on a review of the Debtor's Schedules, the Court agrees that there does not appear to be any unencumbered assets that a chapter 7 trustee could administer for the benefit of creditors. Therefore, the Court believes that dismissal is in the best interest of creditors. The Court further finds that dismissal with a 180-day refiling bar is appropriate given the Debtor's serial bankruptcy filings and the Court's determination that the Debtor filed this case in bad faith.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the Motion to Dismiss is GRANTED and the case is DISMISSED with a 180-day refiling bar.

The UST is directed to upload a conforming proposed order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within 7 days of the hearing.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Debtor-in-possession, Andrew's & Sons Tradings, Inc. dba Beston Shoes (the "Debtor"), filed this voluntary chapter 11 case on July 13, 2018 (the "Petition Date"). The Debtor now seeks confirmation of its Second Amended Chapter 11 Plan of Reorganization [Doc. No. 106] (the "Plan").

Summary of the Plan

Class 1 – First General Bank – Accepts the Plan

FGB's claim is impaired and it voted to accept the Plan.

Class 2 – FGB – Accepts the Plan

ACS's claim is impaired and ACS was entitled to vote on the Plan, but did not cast a ballot.

Class 4 – Kings Cash Group – No Ballot Cast

Class 4 consists of the secured claim of Kings Cash Group ("KCG"). KCG holds a fourth priority blanket security lien against the Debtor's assets, which secures debt in the amount of $249,512.85. The Debtor proposes to treat KCG's claim as entirely unsecured and to pay KCG pursuant to the proposed terms of repayment for other general unsecured creditors in Class 9. KCG's lien will be avoided upon confirmation of the Plan pursuant to § 1141(c). KCG's claim is impaired and KCG was entitled to vote on the Plan, but did not cast a ballot.

Class 5 – EBF Partners, LLC dba Everest Business Funding and Corporation Services Company – No Ballot Cast

Class 5 consists of the secured claim of EBF Partners, LLC dba Everest Business Funding and Corporation Service Company ("EBF"). EBF's lien will be avoided upon confirmation of the Plan pursuant to § 1141(c). EBF's claim is impaired and EBF was entitled to vote on the Plan, but did not cast a ballot.

Class 7 – JP Morgan Chase Bank, N.A. – Accepts the Plan

Class 7 consists of the secured claim of JP Morgan Chase Bank, N.A. ("Chase"). Chase holds a secured lien against the Debtor's 2015 Tesla Model S, which secures debt in the amount of $47,414.57. On or about January 7, 2019, the Debtor entered into an adequate protection stipulation with Chase [See Doc. Nos. 79, 81]. The Debtor proposes to pay Chase in full, plus 5% interest, by making monthly payments of $895 for a period of 60 months, or until the claim is paid in full. Chase will retain its lien until paid in full. Chase's claim is impaired and it voted to accept the Plan.

Class 8 – Hong Kong Motors – No Ballot Cast

Class 8 consists of the secured claim of Hong Kong Motors ("HKM"). HKM holds a secured lien against the Debtor's 2007 Nissan Altima, which secures debt in the amount of $4,500. The Debtor proposes to bifurcate HKM's claim into a secured claim of $2,835 (which the Debtor states is the current value of the collateral) and an unsecured claim of $1,665. The Debtor proposes to pay HKM's secured claim in full, plus 5% interest, by making monthly payments of $53 for a period of 60 months. HKM will retain its lien, up to the value of the collateral, until the secured portion of its claim is paid in full. The Debtor proposes to pay HKM's unsecured claim pursuant to the proposed terms of repayment for other general unsecured creditors in Class 9. HKM's claim is impaired and HKM was entitled to vote on the Plan, but did not cast a ballot.

Class 8(b) – New Commercial Capital – Deemed to Reject the Plan

Class 8(b) consists of the secured claim of New Commercial Capital ("NCC"). NCC has not filed a proof of claim in this case but recorded a UCC against the Debtor. The Debtor disputes that NCC holds a valid lien or is entitled to any distribution under the Debtor's Plan. To the extent NCC has a lien against any of the Debtor's assets, the Debtor proposes to strip NCC's lien as of the Effective Date. NCC will not be paid anything under the Debtor's Plan, so it is deemed to have rejected the Plan pursuant to § 1126(g).

To the extent that CSC has a lien against any of the Debtor's assets, the Debtor proposes to strip CSC's lien as of the Effective Date. CSC will not be paid anything under the Debtor's Plan, so it is deemed to have rejected the Plan pursuant to § 1126(g).

Class 8(d) – Bank of the West – Deemed to Reject the Plan

Class 8(d) consists of the secured claim of Bank of the West ("BoW"). BoW has not filed a proof of claim in this case but recorded a UCC against the Debtor. The Debtor disputes that BoW holds a valid lien or is entitled to any distribution under the Debtor's Plan. To the extent that BoW has a valid lien against any of the Debtor's assets, the Debtor proposes to strip BoW's lien as of the Effective Date. BoW will not be paid anything under the Debtor's Plan, so it is deemed to have rejected the Plan pursuant to § 1126(g).

Class 8(e) – Employment Development Department – Unimpaired (Deemed to Accept)

Class 8(e) consisted of the secured claim of Employment Development Department ("EDD"). EDD filed a proof of claim asserting entitlement to a distribution of $47.18. The Debtor has already paid EDD's claim in full. Accordingly, EDD is not impaired, was not entitled to vote, and is deemed to accept the Plan.

Class 9 – General Unsecured Claims – Accepts the Plan

Class 9 consists of general unsecured claims ("GUC") totaling $2,377,121. The Debtor proposes to pay $47,542.42, which represents approximately 2% of the total GUC claims, by making pro rata monthly payments of $792.37 for a period of five years. Class 9 is impaired and has voted to accept the Plan.

Class 10 – Equity Interests – Unimpaired (Deemed to Accept)

Class 10 consists of Jiazheng Lu's 100% equity interest in the Debtor. Mr. Lu is an insider. Under the Plan, Mr. Lu will retain 100% of his ownership interest in the Debtor. Mr. Lu's claim is not impaired and he was not entitled to vote on the Plan.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

A. Issues Preventing Confirmation of the Debtor's Plan at This Time

i. Several Classes Did Not Vote

Classes 3, 4, 5, and 8 are impaired classes that were entitled to vote, but did not cast ballots. Debtor argues that in the absence of any objection, these non-voting classes should be deemed to have accepted the Plan.

The Court acknowledges the split of authority regarding whether a non-voting, non-objecting, class of creditors is deemed to have accepted or rejected a plan. See Bell Road Inv. Co. v. M. Long Arabians (In re M. Long Arabians), 103 B.R. 211 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1989) (members of a class must affirmatively vote in favor of the plan in order for that class to have accepted plan treatment); compare Heins v. Ruti-Sweetwater, Inc. (In re Ruti-Sweetwater, Inc.), 863 F.2d 1263 (10th Cir. 1988) (Non-voting, non-objecting creditor who is a member of a class that casts no votes is deemed to have accepted the plan of reorganization for purposes of section 1129(a)(8) and 1129(b)).

Plan proponents have dealt with the problem of a non-voting class by including prominent language in the Plan, Disclosure Statement and Plan Ballot providing that creditors who did not vote would be deemed to accept the plan. See, e.g., In re Adelpia Communications, 368 B.R. 140, 260-62 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2007) ("Section 7.3 of the Plan adopts a presumption that '[i]f no holders of Claims or Equity Interests eligible to vote in a particular Class vote to accept or reject the Plan, the Plan shall be deemed accepted by the holders of such Claims or Equity Interests in such Class.'... I overruled the ACC Bondholder Group's objection, and uphold the Plan presumption with respect to the non-voting creditors in these classes.").

Unfortunately, the Debtor did not include any such language in the Plan, Disclosure Statement or Ballot. In fact, the Debtor's Ballot expressly stated that failure to return a timely ballot would result in the vote not being counted as either an acceptance or rejection of the Plan. See Confirmation Brief, Ex. 4.

Therefore, the Court finds it appropriate to reopen voting for non-voting Classes 3, 4, and 5 (the "Non-Voting Classes") and direct the Debtor to serve a supplemental notice to those classes and file a proof of service evidencing the same by no later than June 26, 2019, that: (i) notes that such classes previously received copies of the Debtor's solicitation package and have failed to timely return a ballot; (ii) unambiguously states that the deadline to submit a ballot has been extended to July 26, 2019, and notifies such classes that the failure to timely return a ballot by the July 26th deadline will be deemed acceptance of the Plan; and (iii) notifies creditors that additional copies of the solicitation package can be obtained by contacting Debtor's counsel.

In the event the Non-Voting Classes do not return ballots by the July 26, 2019 deadline, those classes will be deemed to have accepted the Plan and the Debtor will not be required to submit a supplemental confirmation brief addressing the issues raised below. However, if one or more of the Non-Voting Classes casts a ballot to reject the Plan, then the Court's concerns discussed below with respect to the Debtor's ability to cramdown the Plan on certain classes will necessitate a supplemental confirmation brief addressing those issues. In such case, the September 18, 2019 hearing will serve as a status conference and the Court will set a new confirmation date at that time.

ii. The Confirmation Brief Is Conclusory And Not Supported By Sufficient Evidence (applicable only if classes which previously did not return a ballot now return a ballot voting against the Plan.)

Unless the Court deems Debtor's non-voting, non-objecting, classes as having accepted the Plan, the Debtor has not satisfied § 1129(a)(8) and must therefore demonstrate that the Plan can be crammed down on those classes. However, the Court finds that the Confirmation Brief fails to adequately address certain issues or attach adequate evidence with respect to the following cram down issues:

1. Classes 1, 2, and 3 appear to be similarly situated secured creditors with claims secured by the same collateral, but the Debtor fails to address why the

- Plan does not unfairly discriminate against Class 3 by proposing to pay it only 5% interest when Classes 1 and 2 will receive 7.5% interest on their claims. Similarly, the Debtor has not provided any evidence to establish that the 5% interest rate will result in Class 3 receiving the present value of its claim.
2. The Plan proposes to avoid the secured liens held by claimants in Classes 4 and 5 on the basis that those liens are fully underwater, but the Debtor has not submitted evidence to show that it is entitled to strip off those liens pursuant to § 506(a)(1), because that section provides that "the value shall be determined in light of the purpose of the value and the proposed disposition or use of such property" which, in this case, requires some evidence of the Debtor's value as a going concern. [Note 1]
 3. The Debtor has not submitted evidence establishing that the 5% interest rate proposed for Class 8 will result in that class receiving the present value of its claim.

Accordingly, the Debtor is directed to submit a supplemental brief in support of confirmation of the Plan that addresses the foregoing issues by no later than August 19, 2019.

B. The Confirmation Brief's Discussion of Classes 8(b), 8(c), and 8(d) is Inadequate

The Plan proposes to avoid the secured liens held by the claimants in Classes 8(b), 8(c), and 8(d) and provides that those classes will not receive any distribution under the Plan on the basis that the Debtor cannot determine any loan or monies owed to those claimants and no proofs of claim have been filed. First, the Confirmation Brief appears to argue that these creditors should be deemed to have accepted the Plan because they did not cast ballots. However, as the Court specifically noted in its tentative ruling issued in advance of the Disclosure Statement hearing, the clear language of § 1126(g) necessitates a finding that these classes are deemed to reject the Plan.

Second, the Confirmation Brief states that the Plan can be crammed down on these Classes because they will receive the "indubitable equivalent" of their claims, but since the Plan does not provide for these claimants to either retain their liens or receive any distribution under the Plan, the Court cannot find that these claimants are

Nevertheless, Court notes that although the Debtor did not schedule any of the claims in these classes as "disputed," "contingent," or "unliquidated," the Debtor did state that the amount of such claims was "unknown." Therefore, the holders of such claims were effectively on notice of the need to file proofs of claim. See Fed. R. Bankr. P. 3003(c)(2) (Any creditor . . . whose claim or interest is not scheduled or scheduled as disputed, contingent, or unliquidated shall file a proof of claim or interest within the time prescribed by subdivision (c)(3) of this rule; any creditor who fails to do so shall not be treated as a creditor with respect to such claim for the purposes of voting and distribution). In the absence of any proofs of claim, the Court believes the more appropriate analysis is to hold that the Plan can be crammed down on Classes 8(b), 8(c), and 8(d) because they are not entitled to receive any distribution.

Since section 1126(g) mandates that Classes 8(b), 8(c) and 8(d) are deemed to reject the Plan, the Debtor is not required to serve these classes with notice of the Court's decision to reopen balloting. Although the Plan will not be consensual as to these classes, for the reasons stated above, the Plan can be crammed down on Classes 8(b), 8(c), and 8(d) and the Debtor is not required to submit further briefing with respect to these classes.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the Court is not in a position to confirm the Debtor's Plan at this time. The hearing is CONTINUED to September 18, 2019 at 10:00 a.m.

After the hearing, the Court will prepare a scheduling order.

On December 27, 2018, Star Rae Foreman ("Plaintiff") filed a Complaint for Determination of Dischargeability and Objecting to Debtor's Discharge [Doc. No. 1] (the "Complaint") against Thomas Ernesto Merino (the "Defendant"). Before Defendant sought bankruptcy protection, Plaintiff obtained a judgment against Defendant in the amount of $10,114 in the small claims division of the Superior Court of the State of California (the "State Court Judgment"). resulted from Defendant renting to Plaintiff an unpermitted apartment unit. The instant Complaint seeks a determination that the indebtedness established by the State Court Judgment is excepted from Defendant's discharge pursuant to §§ 523(a)(a)(A) and (a)(6) as well as denial of Defendant's discharge pursuant to § 727(a)(3) and (a)(4)(A).

Defendant moves to dismiss the Complaint, for failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted. Plaintiff opposes the Motion. Both parties are proceeding in pro se.

Summary of the Complaint's Allegations

The allegations of the Complaint may be summarized as follows:

Claims Under § 523(a)(2)(A) and (a)(6)

On July 1, 2016, Defendant rented to Plaintiff an apartment located at 1343 W 40th Place, Los Angeles, CA 90804 (the "Apartment"). Complaint at ¶ 13. Prior to execution of the rental agreement, Defendant represented to Plaintiff that the Apartment was in compliance with applicable codes and regulations. Id. at ¶ 12. Defendant did not disclose to Plaintiff that the Apartment was an unpermitted unit. Id.

The Apartment lacked a working furnace or a securable door, in violation of California law. Id. at ¶¶ 20–21. When Plaintiff demanded that Defendant bring the Apartment into compliance, Defendant refused, stating "You can name all the codes you want to, you still have to pay rent. If you don't like it leave." Id. at ¶ 16. While Plaintiff resided at the Apartment, Defendant accessed the Apartment without authorization and verbally threatened and harassed Plaintiff. Id. at ¶ 22. In April 2017, Defendant removed Plaintiff's personal property from the Apartment and destroyed it. Id. at ¶ 23.

On July 27, 2017, the City of Los Angeles (the "City") issued a Substandard Order against the Apartment. Id. at ¶ 27. The City determined that the Apartment was not permitted, contained hazardous electrical wiring, lacked adequate heating, was missing smoke alarms, and lacked carbon monoxide alarms. Id.

On August 21, 2017, the Housing and Community Investment Department of Los Angeles (the "HCIDLA") determined that Defendant was not entitled to demand rent for the Apartment because the Apartment was not properly registered and lacked a Certificate of Occupancy. Id. at ¶ 28.

On January 17, 2018, Plaintiff obtained a judgment against Defendant in the small claims division of the Superior Court of the State of California (the "State Court

Claims Under § 727(a)(3) and (a)(4)(A)

Defendant is currently married to Yvette Merino. Defendant has failed to disclose all marital assets to the Chapter 7 Trustee (the “Trustee”). Id. at ¶ 50. Pursuant to § 727(a)(3), Defendant is not entitled to a discharge. Id.

Defendant has knowingly and fraudulently made the following false statements in connection with his bankruptcy petition:

- 1) Defendant’s Statement of Financial Affairs (the “SOFA”) stated that his income in 2017 was $2,000 per month. At the § 341(a) meeting, Defendant stated that the figure on the SOFA was not correct. Id. at ¶ 55. The SOFA provided that Defendant paid $800 per month in rent. At the § 341(a) meeting, Defendant acknowledged that his monthly rental payments were less than $800. Id. at ¶ 61.
- 2) Defendant stated at the § 341(a) meeting that he was legally separated from his spouse, when in fact Defendant and his spouse both lease an apartment located at 1620 N. Avon St., Burbank, CA 91505. Id. at ¶¶ 56 and 59. On his schedules, Defendant falsely stated that he lives at 1343 W. 40th Place, Los Angeles, CA 90037, when in fact he lives with his spouse in Burbank. Id. at ¶ 60.
- 3) Defendant failed to list in the SOFA information regarding businesses from which he had received income. Id. at ¶ 57.
- 4) At the § 341(a) meeting, Defendant initially stated that his spouse had no assets. Upon further questioning Defendant admitted that his spouse owned a vehicle. Id. at ¶ 58.
- 5) On his schedules, Defendant valued his vehicle at $5,000. The vehicle is actually worth at least $7,500. Id. at ¶ 62.
- 6) On his schedules, Defendant stated that the value of the electronics and furniture he owned was $1,500. The value of these items is considerably higher. Id. at ¶ 63.
- 7) On his schedules, Defendant stated that he did not own a cell phone. At the § 341(a) meeting, Defendant acknowledged that he owned a cell phone. Id. at ¶ 65.
- 8) On his schedules, Defendant misrepresented the nature of the State Court

Summary of Papers Filed in Connection with Defendant's Motion to Dismiss

Defendant asserts that the Complaint's allegations under § 523(a)(2)(A) and (a)(6) fail to state a claim upon which relief can be granted. With respect to the claims under § 523(a)(2)(A), Defendant argues that the State Court Judgment was entered against him based upon violations of landlord/tenant law. Defendant maintains that being found guilty of such violations does not establish liability under § 523(a)(2)(A). With respect to the claims under § 523(a)(6), Defendant argues that the Complaint fails to allege that Defendant acted with the intent of inflicting injury upon Plaintiff.

With respect to the claim under § 727(a)(3), Defendant denies that he concealed any assets. Defendant asserts that the Chapter 7 Trustee elected not to administer any assets after conducting a full examination. With respect to the claim under § 727(a)(4)(A), Defendant asserts that none of the alleged false statements were material.

In opposition, Plaintiff argues that Complaint's factual allegations state claims under § 523(a)(2)(A) and (a)(6) and § 727(a)(3) and (a)(4)(A). With respect to § 523(a)(2)(A), Plaintiff points to the allegations that Defendant falsely represented that the Apartment was compliant with applicable codes and regulations when inducing Plaintiff to rent the Apartment. With respect to § 523(a)(6), Plaintiff points to the allegation that Defendant seized and destroyed Plaintiff's personal property located at the Apartment.

With respect to § 727(a)(3), Plaintiff reiterates her allegation that Defendant has concealed his spouse's assets from the Trustee. Plaintiff presents a new allegation, not raised in the Complaint, that Defendant has concealed from the Trustee a third vehicle in the possession of Defendant's spouse.

With respect to § 727(a)(4)(A), Plaintiff reiterates the Complaint's allegations, and accuses Defendant of additional wrongdoing, such as supplying false addresses to taxing authorities.

In reply, Defendant moves to strike Plaintiff's opposition because it was filed two days late. Defendant further asserts that many of the facts alleged in the opposition are irrelevant.

Chapter 7

A. Defendant Has Waived Any Objections Regarding Lack of Proper Service of the Summons and Complaint

On March 7, 2019, the Court denied Plaintiff's motion for default judgment and ordered Plaintiff to obtain an alias summons and re-serve the Summons and Complaint upon the Defendant by no later than March 15, 2019. See Order (1) Denying Motion for Default Judgment, (2) Requiring Plaintiff to Obtain Another Summons By No Later than March 15, 2019, and (3) Vacating Status Conference Set for March 12, 2019, at 10:00 a.m. [Doc. No. 31]. Plaintiff failed to obtain an alias summons and failed to re-serve the Summons and Complaint as ordered by the Court.

In the Motion to Dismiss, Defendant has not objected to Plaintiff's failure to properly serve the Summons and Complaint. Civil Rule 12(h)(1)(B) provides that the defense of insufficient service of process is waived if not presented in a pre-answer motion to dismiss. Defendant has waived his ability to object to Plaintiff's failure to properly serve the Summons and Complaint. By filing the Motion to Dismiss without asserting an objection as to service of process, Defendant has consented to the Court's jurisdiction.

B. The Court Declines to Strike Plaintiff's Opposition to the Motion

Plaintiff filed her Opposition to the Motion two days late, on June 7, 2019, rather than June 5, 2019. The Court declines to strike the Opposition, as requested by the Defendant. Defendant's ability to submit a Reply was not unduly prejudiced by Plaintiff's slight delay in filing the Opposition.

C. In Adjudicating the Motion to Dismiss, the Court Declines to Consider Matters Extraneous to the Complaint

Both Plaintiff and Defendant have presented for the Court's consideration matters extraneous to the Complaint. Plaintiff has submitted (1) affidavits of Defendant in the State Court Action, (2) portions of the record of the State Court Action, and (3) letters from agencies of the City of Los Angeles regarding the Apartment's compliance with applicable regulations. Defendant has submitted (1) portions of the record of the State Court Action and (2) a letter from Defendant's bankruptcy counsel to the Chapter 7 Trustee.

Consideration of such extraneous matters is not proper in the context of the instant Motion to Dismiss. See Civil Rule 12(d) ("If, on a motion under Rule 12(b)(6) or 12(c), matters outside the pleadings are presented to and not excluded by the court, the motion must be treated as one for summary judgment under Rule 56."). extraneous materials falls within any exception which would permit the Court to consider the materials without converting the motion to dismiss to a motion for summary judgment. See, e.g., In re Silicon Graphics Inc. Sec. Litig., 183 F.3d 970, 986 (9th Cir. 1999), as amended (Aug. 4, 1999), superseded on other grounds by Burbrink v. Campbell, 734 F. App'x 416 (9th Cir. 2018) (setting forth circumstances under which the Court may consider extraneous matters without converting a motion to dismiss to a motion for summary judgment); Rose v. Beverly Health & Rehab. Servs., Inc., 356 B.R. 18, 24 (E.D. Cal. 2006), aff'd sub nom. Rose v. Beverly Health & Rehab. Servs., Inc., 295 F. App'x 142 (9th Cir. 2008) (same).

The papers submitted by both Plaintiff and Defendant contain numerous accusations against the opposing party that are not relevant to the legal issue at hand—namely, whether the Complaint alleges sufficient facts to state a claim for relief. See, e.g., Motion at 2 (“Plaintiff is a mentally disabled and disturbed person who has nothing better to do but to waste the Court’s time and disturb defendant’s life”); Opposition at 9 (“The defendant has a history of supplying false addresses to the IRS and to the California State Income Tax Department”). Such accusations serve no legitimate purpose and are of no assistance to the Court in adjudicating the Motion. The Court understands the adversarial position of the parties. However, personal attacks upon an opposing party are not an appropriate means of advancing one’s position in the litigation.

D. The Complaint States a Claim Under § 523(a)(2)(A)

"To survive a motion to dismiss, a complaint must contain sufficient factual matter, accepted as true, to ‘state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face.’ A claim has facial plausibility when the plaintiff pleads factual content that allows the court to draw the reasonable inference that the defendant is liable for the misconduct alleged." Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678 (2009) (internal citations omitted). To state a plausible claim for relief, a complaint must satisfy two working principles:

First, the tenet that a court must accept as true all of the allegations contained in a complaint is inapplicable to legal conclusions. Threadbare recitations of the elements of a cause of action, supported by mere conclusory statements, do not suffice.... Second, only a complaint that states a plausible claim for relief survives a motion to dismiss. Determining whether a complaint states a plausible claim for relief will ... be a context-specific task that requires the reviewing court to draw on its judicial experience and common sense. But where the well-pleaded facts do not permit the court to infer more than the mere possibility of misconduct, the complaint has alleged—but it has not "show[n]"—"that the pleader is entitled to relief."

Although the pleading standard Civil Rule 8 announces “does not require ‘detailed factual allegations,’ ... it demands more than an unadorned, the-defendant-unlawfully-harmed-me accusation.... A pleading that offers ‘labels and conclusions’ or a ‘formulaic recitation of the elements of a cause of action will not do.’ Nor does a complaint suffice if it tenders ‘naked assertion[s]’ devoid of ‘further factual enhancement.’” Id. (citing Bell Atlantic Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 555 (2007)).

Section 523(a)(2)(A) provides: "A discharge under section 727 ... of this title does not discharge an individual debtor from any debt for money, property, services, or an extension, renewal, or refinancing of credit, to the extent obtained by false pretenses, a false representation, or actual fraud, other than a statement respecting the debtor's or an insider's financial condition."

To state a claim under § 523(a)(2)(A), a complaint must contain factual allegations showing that:

- 1) the debtor made the representations;
- 2) that at the time he knew they were false;
- 3) that he made them with the intention and purpose of deceiving the creditor;
- 4) that the creditor relied on such representations; and
- 5) that the creditor sustained the alleged loss and damage as the proximate result of the misrepresentations having been made.

Ghomeshi v. Sabban (In re Sabban), 600 F.3d 1219, 1222 (9th Cir. 2010).

The Complaint alleges that Defendant induced Plaintiff to rent the Apartment by representing that the Apartment complied with all applicable codes and regulations. The Complaint further alleges that the Apartment contained serious compliance issues, including a lack of adequate heating, hazardous wiring, a lack of a securable door, and missing smoke alarms and carbon monoxide alarms. The Complaint states a plausible claim for relief under § 523(a)(2)(A). The facts alleged support a reasonable inference that Defendant was aware of the Apartment's defects but concealed those defects from Plaintiff in order to secure Plaintiff's tenancy. alleges that Plaintiff suffered damages from the representations, since she would not have rented the Apartment had she been aware of the compliance issues.

E. The Complaint States a Claim Under § 523(a)(6)

"Section 523(a)(6) excepts from discharge debts arising from a debtor's 'willful and malicious' injury to another person or to the property of another. The 'willful' and 'malicious' requirements are conjunctive and subject to separate analysis." Plyam v. Precision Development, LLC (In re Plyam), 530 B.R. 456, 463 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 2015) (internal citations omitted).

An injury is "willful" when "a debtor harbors 'either subjective intent to harm, or a subjective belief that harm is substantially certain.' The injury must be deliberate or intentional, 'not merely a deliberate or intentional act that leads to injury.'" Id. at 463 (internal citations omitted). An injury is "malicious" if it "involves '(1) a wrongful act, (2) done intentionally, (3) which necessarily causes injury, and (4) is done without just cause or excuse.'" Carrillo v. Su (In re Su), 290 F.3d 1140, 1146-47 (9th Cir. 2002) (internal citations omitted).

The Complaint alleges that the Apartment failed to meet habitability requirements imposed by California law. Specifically, the Complaint alleges that the Apartment lacked a working furnace or securable door, contained hazardous electrical wiring, and lacked smoke alarms or carbon monoxide alarms. The Complaint further alleges that Defendant was aware of these defects but failed to take any remedial action.

The Complaint states a claim under § 523(a)(6). The allegation that Defendant was aware of the Apartment's serious habitability deficiencies but failed to take remedial action supports a reasonable inference that Defendant either subjectively intended to harm the Plaintiff, or at the very least had a subjective belief that harm was substantially certain. Defendant's alleged failure to place the Apartment into compliance qualifies as an intentional wrongful act, done without just cause or excuse, which necessarily causes injury.

F. The Complaint Fails to State a Claim Under § 727(a)(3)

Section 727(a)(3) provides that a debtor is not entitled to a discharge if:

the debtor has concealed, destroyed, mutilated, falsified, or failed to keep or preserve any recorded information, including books, documents, records, and papers, from which the debtor's financial condition or business transactions might be ascertained, unless such act or failure to act was justified under all of the circumstances of the case.

The Complaint alleges that Defendant failed to schedule the community property assets of his spouse, Yvette Merino. The Complaint does not describe the assets which were allegedly not disclosed or state their value.

Section 727(a)(3) prevents a debtor from receiving a discharge where the debtor has concealed or destroyed business records that would enable the Trustee or creditors "to ascertain [the Debtor's] financial position or to follow [the Debtor's] business transactions with any assurance of accuracy." Cox v. Lansdowne (In re Cox), 904 F.2d 1399, 1402 (9th Cir. 1990). For example, in Cox, the court upheld the denial of discharge of a debtor who had failed to keep any financial records for real estate and a major corporation in which the debtor held an interest. Id.

The Complaint fails to state a claim under § 727(a)(3). The Complaint does not allege that Defendant failed to keep accurate records of his financial condition. Instead, the Complaint alleges that the Defendant failed to properly schedule certain community property assets associated with his spouse. By its terms, § 727(a)(3) does not pertain to misrepresentations on a debtor's schedules.

Because the Complaint's allegations fall completely outside the scope of § 727(a)(3), the claims under § 727(a)(3) are dismissed without leave to amend. See Reddy v. Litton Indus., Inc., 912 F.2d 291, 296 (9th Cir. 1990) (holding that the Court may dismiss complaint without leave to amend where any proposed amendment would be futile).

G. The Complaint Fails to State a Claim Under § 727(a)(4)(A)

Section 727(a)(4)(A) provides that a debtor is not entitled to a discharge if "the debtor knowingly and fraudulently, in or in connection with the case made a false oath or account"

To state a claim under § 727(a)(4)(A), a complaint must contain factual allegations showing that:

- 1) the debtor made a false oath in connection with the case;
- 2) the oath related to a material fact;
- 3) the oath was made knowingly; and
- 4) the oath was made fraudulently.

Chapter 7

Retz v. Samson (In re Retz), 606 F.3d 1189, 1197 (9th Cir. 2010).

"A fact is material 'if it bears a relationship to the debtor's business transactions or estate, or concerns the discovery of assets, business dealings, or the existence and disposition of the debtor's property.' An omission or misstatement that 'detrimentally affects administration of the estate' is material." Retz, 606 F.3d at 1198 (internal citations omitted). A false statement is made "knowingly" if the debtor "acts deliberately and consciously." Id. A false statement is made "fraudulently" if the debtor makes the statement "with the intention and purpose of deceiving creditors." Id.

The Complaint alleges that Defendant is not entitled to a discharge because Defendant made statements on his schedules that he later corrected at the § 341(a) meeting. The Complaint fails to state a claim under § 727(a)(4)(A) with respect to such statements. Where a debtor makes representations on schedules that he later corrects at the meeting of creditors, it is not plausible that such statements were deliberately and consciously made for the purpose of deceiving creditors. Had the statements been made with a deliberate intent to deceive, the debtor would not have corrected them at the § 341(a) meeting. The allegations set forth in ¶¶ 55, 61, and 65 are dismissed without leave to amend.

The Complaint alleges that Defendant valued a vehicle worth $7,500 at only $5,000. Complaint at ¶ 62. The Complaint alleges that Defendant valued furniture and electronics at $1,500 when those items are worth considerably more (the Complaint does not allege the correct value of the furniture and electronics). Id. at ¶ 63. These allegations fail to state a claim under § 727(a)(4)(A). Even if it is true that Defendant mis-stated the value of these items, the mis-statement was not material because it did not "detrimentally affect the administration of the estate." Retz, 606 F.3d at 1198. The items were disclosed, making it possible for the Trustee to conduct a further investigation in the event the Trustee doubted Defendant's valuation. The allegations set forth in ¶¶ 62 and 63 are dismissed without leave to amend.

The Complaint alleges that on his schedules, Defendant misrepresented the nature of the State Court Judgment that Plaintiff obtained against. Id. at ¶ 64. Like the allegations set forth in ¶¶ 62 and 63, this alleged misrepresentation is not material. The allegations set forth in ¶ 64 are dismissed without leave to amend.

The Complaint alleges that Defendant failed to list in the SOFA information regarding businesses from which he received income. Id. at ¶ 57. The Complaint does not contain the names of specific businesses which the Defendant allegedly failed to disclose. The threadbare allegation that Defendant failed to disclose some unidentified business does not permit the Court "to infer more than the mere possibility of misconduct" and therefore fails to state a claim. Iqbal, 556 U.S. at 678. The allegations set forth in ¶ 57 are dismissed without leave to amend.

The Complaint alleges that Defendant falsely stated that he does not live with his spouse and that Defendant provided a false address. Complaint at ¶¶ 56 and 59–60. These allegations are intended to bolster Plaintiff's theory that Defendant failed to disclose community property assets associated with Defendant's spouse, thereby preventing the Trustee from liquidating such assets for the benefit of creditors.

Plaintiff's allegations of non-disclosure of community property assets fail to state a claim under § 727(a)(4)(A). To state a claim under § 727(a)(4)(A), Plaintiff is required to allege facts showing that the nondisclosure "related to a material fact." Retz, 606 F.3d at 1197. Without allegations regarding the nature or value of the non-disclosed assets, the Court cannot determine whether the nondisclosure was material. Absent a showing of materiality, Plaintiff cannot state a claim under § 727(a)(4)(A).

The claims pertaining to non-disclosure of community property assets are dismissed. The Court declines to provide Plaintiff leave to amend. Plaintiff has acknowledged that she does not know which community property assets Defendant has allegedly failed to disclose. See Opposition at 10 ("Without a detailed accounting of all property at the 3 bedroom home in Burbank, his wife's income and tax returns, and the chance to depose his wife it is impossible to know the extent of the assets being hidden by Thomas Merino."). Therefore, granting leave to amend would be futile.

H. Litigation Deadlines

Having reviewed the Unilateral Status Report filed by the Plaintiff, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED AS FOLLOWS:

- 1) By no later than July 3, 2019, Defendant shall file an Answer to the claims under § 523(a)(2)(A) and (a)(6). It is not necessary for Defendant to file an Answer to the claims under § 727(a)(3) and (a)(4)(A), which have been dismissed without leave to amend.

The Motion must be supported by a memorandum of points and authorities containing citations to the applicable Federal Rules of Evidence, relevant caselaw, and other legal authority. Blanket or boilerplate evidentiary objections not accompanied by detailed supporting argument are prohibited, will be summarily overruled, and may subject the moving party to sanctions.

iv) Motions in Limine seeking to exclude testimony to be offered by any witness shall comply with the requirements set forth in ¶(2)(h)(ii), and shall be filed by the deadline specified in ¶(2)(h)(ii). Plaintiff will lodge a completed "Request for Assignment to Mediation Program; [Proposed] Order Thereon" (See Amended General Order 95-01 available on the Court's website) within 15 days from the date of this hearing, and deliver a hard copy directly to chambers c/o the judge's law clerk Daniel Koontz.

III. Conclusion

Based upon the foregoing, the Motion to Dismiss is GRANTED IN PART and DENIED IN PART. The Motion is DENIED as to the claims under § 523(a)(2)(A) and (a)(6). The Motion is GRANTED as to the claims under § 727(a)(3) and (a)(4) (A), which are dismissed without leave to amend. #5.00 HearingRE: [97] Motion for approval of chapter 11 disclosure statement (Second Amended-with proof of service) (Tiggs, Marcus)

Docket 97

Tentative Ruling:

6/18/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Disclosure Statement is APPROVED.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed

1. Second Amended Individual Debtor's Disclosure Statement in Support of Plan of Reorganization [Doc. No. 97] (the "Disclosure Statement")
2. Second Amended Individual Debtor's Chapter 11 Plan of Reorganization [Doc. No. 98] (the "Plan")
3. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Debtor and Debtor-in-possession, Dwight Stephens (the "Debtor"), filed this voluntary chapter 11 case on March 21, 2018 (the "Petition Date"). The Debtor owns and operates his own podiatry practice. The Debtor sought bankruptcy protection to reorganize his affairs and resolve collection efforts brought by pre-petition judgment creditors. The Debtor previously sought approval of an earlier version of the disclosure statement but was directed to file an amended disclosure statement to address the Debtor's potential community property interest, if any, in Debtor's non-filing spouse's real property located at 5337 S. Verdun Avenue, Los Angeles, CA (the "Verdun Property"). In support of the Disclosure Statement, the Debtor has included a Moores/Marsden analysis that reflects that he has a $143,982.80 community property interest in the Verdun Property.

The Debtor presently seeks approval of his Second Amended Disclosure Statement [Doc. No. 97]. The following provisions are the material provisions of Debtor's Second Amended Plan [Doc. No. 98]:

Chapter 11

Administrative Claims

The Debtor anticipates that administrative fees for professionals will be approximately $37,700 as of the effective date. The Debtor proposes to pay all administrative claims in full, on the effective date, from the Debtor's fully exempt retirement account, unless other arrangements are made with the Debtor's professionals for deferred payments.

Priority Tax Claims

i. Los Angeles County Tax Collector (the "LACTC"): The Debtor proposes to pay the LACTC's priority claim of $113.25 in full on the effective date and pay the LACTC's secured claim of $2,735.42 in full by making 24 equal monthly installments of $146.33/mo with 18% interest.

ii. Internal Revenue Service (the "IRS"): The Debtor proposes to pay the IRS's priority tax claim of $1,901 in full by making 34 equal monthly installments of $141.80/mo with 5% interest.

Class 2(c) – Secured Claim of Benito Barbosa ("Mr. Barbosa")

Mr. Barbosa obtained a pre-petition medical malpractice judgment against the Debtor individually. On February 21, 2019, Mr. Barbosa filed amended Proof of Claim No. 4-2 asserting a claim for $2,139,530.92, which Mr. Barbosa asserts is partially secured (the "Barbosa Claim"). The Debtor and Mr. Barbosa have reached an agreement, in principle, which will resolve the Barbosa Claim and anticipate filing a stipulation memorializing their agreement shortly. Pursuant to the parties' agreement, Mr. Barbosa will hold an allowed secured claim of $200,000, which the Debtor proposes to pay in full within 1 year of the effective date with 0% interest. The remainder of Mr. Barbosa's claim will be separately classified as an unsecured claim in Class 6(c) and will be paid $0.00.

The Debtor states that absent resolution of the Barbosa Claim, the Debtor's Plan will be infeasible.

Class 6(a) – General Unsecured Claims

This class includes any allowed unsecured claims of $100 or less and any allowed unsecured claim larger than $100 but whose holder agrees to reduce its claim to $100. Each member of this class will receive 100% of the allowed claim on the effective date. This class is unimpaired and not entitled to vote on the Plan.

Class 6(b) – General Unsecured Claims

This class consists of all allowed general unsecured claim not in Class 6(a) and not entitled to priority. The Debtor proposes to pay creditors in this class 30% of their claims over a period of 5 years with 0% interest. This class is impaired and entitled to vote on the Plan.

Class 6(c) – Unsecured of Claim of Mr. Barbosa

This class consists of the remainder of Mr. Barbosa’s claim, pursuant to the stipulation in principle between Barbosa and the Debtor to resolve the Barbosa Claim. This class will receive $0.00.

Means of Implementation

The Debtor’s Plan will be funded from the following sources:

- i. Approximately $4,000 - $5,000 cash available as of the confirmation hearing;
- ii. Reverse Mortgage of the Verdun Property. The Debtor anticipates the reverse mortgage will produce $55,000 during month 1 of the Plan and an additional $115,000 in month 13.
- iv. Future disposable income for 5 years. The Debtor anticipates having approximately $900 net future income to put towards plan payments, which the Debtor anticipates will increase to $1,201/month starting in April 2020 once the Debtor’s non-filing spouse finishes paying off her car. The source of the Debtor’s monthly income is from the Debtor’s draw from the podiatry practice, social security, lump sum contributions from the Debtor’s non-filing spouse, and monthly contributions from the Debtor’s non-filing spouse’s income.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file.

Courts interpreting § 1125(a) have explained that the “primary purpose of a disclosure statement is to give the creditors the information they need to decide whether to accept the plan.” In re Monnier Bros., 755 F.2d 1336, 1342 (8th Cir. 1985). “According to the legislative history, the parameters of what constitutes adequate information are intended to be flexible.” In re Diversified Investors Fund XVII, 91 B.R. 559, 560 (Bankr. Relevant factors for evaluating the adequacy of a disclosure statement may include: (1) the events which led to the filing of a bankruptcy petition; (2) a description of the available assets and their value; (3) the anticipated future of the company; (4) the source of information stated in the disclosure statement; (5) a disclaimer; (6) the present condition of the debtor while in Chapter 11; (7) the scheduled claims; (8) the estimated return to creditors under a Chapter 7 liquidation; (9) the accounting method utilized to produce financial information and the name of the accountants responsible for such information; (10) the future management of the debtor; (11) the Chapter 11 plan or a summary thereof; (12) the estimated administrative expenses, including attorneys' and accountants' fees; (13) the collectability of accounts receivable; (14) financial information, data, valuations or projections relevant to the creditors' decision to accept or reject the Chapter 11 plan; (15) information relevant to the risks posed to creditors under the plan; (16) the actual or projected realizable value from recovery of preferential or otherwise voidable transfers; (17) litigation likely to arise in a nonbankruptcy context; (18) tax attributes of the debtor; and (19) the relationship of the debtor with affiliates.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Debtor-in-possession, Andrew's & Sons Tradings, Inc. dba Beston Shoes (the "Debtor"), filed this voluntary chapter 11 case on July 13, 2018 (the "Petition Date"). The Debtor now seeks confirmation of its Second Amended Chapter 11 Plan of Reorganization [Doc. No. 106] (the "Plan").

Summary of the Plan

Class 1 – First General Bank – Accepts the Plan

Class 1 consists of the secured claim of First General Bank ("Loan 1"). First General Bank ("FGB") holds a first-priority blanket security lien against the Debtor's assets, which secures debt in the amount of $110,894.08. The Debtor proposes to pay FGB in full, plus 7.25% interest, by making monthly payments of $1,155.25 for a period of twelve years. FGB will retain its lien until paid in full. FGB's claim is impaired and it voted to accept the Plan.

Class 2 – FGB – Accepts the Plan

Class 2 consists of the secured claim of FGB ("Loan 2"). FGB holds a second-priority blanket security lien against the Debtor's assets, which secures debt in the amount of $73,991.14. The Debtor proposes to pay FGB in full, plus 7.25% interest, by making monthly payments of $863.40 for a period of ten years. FGB will retain its lien until paid in full. FGB's claim is impaired and it voted to accept the Plan.

Class 3 – Amazon Capital Services, Inc. – No Ballot Cast

Class 3 consists of the secured claim of Amazon Capital Services, Inc. ("ACS"). ACS holds a third-priority blanket security lien against the Debtor's assets, which secures debt in the amount of $477,488.27. The Debtor proposes to pay ACS in full, plus 5% interest, by making monthly payments of $4,416 for a period of twelve years. ACS will retain its lien until paid in full. ACS's claim is impaired and ACS was entitled to vote on the Plan, but did not cast a ballot.

Class 4 – Kings Cash Group – No Ballot Cast

Class 4 consists of the secured claim of Kings Cash Group ("KCG"). KCG holds a fourth priority blanket security lien against the Debtor's assets, which secures debt in the amount of $249,512.85. The Debtor proposes to treat KCG's claim as entirely unsecured and to pay KCG pursuant to the proposed terms of repayment for other general unsecured creditors in Class 9. KCG's lien will be avoided upon confirmation of the Plan pursuant to § 1141(c). KCG's claim is impaired and KCG was entitled to vote on the Plan, but did not cast a ballot.

Class 5 – EBF Partners, LLC dba Everest Business Funding and Corporation Services Company – No Ballot Cast

Class 5 consists of the secured claim of EBF Partners, LLC dba Everest Business Funding and Corporation Service Company ("EBF"). EBF holds a fifth priority blanket security lien against the Debtor's assets, which secures debt in the amount of $246,734.40. The Debtor proposes to treat EBF's claim as entirely unsecured and to pay EBF pursuant to the proposed terms of repayment for other general unsecured creditors in Class 9. EBF's lien will be avoided upon confirmation of the Plan pursuant to § 1141(c). EBF's claim is impaired and EBF was entitled to vote on the Plan, but did not cast a ballot.

Class 6 – Ally Financial – Accepts the Plan

Class 6 consists of the secured claim of Ally Financial ("Ally"). Ally holds a secured lien against the Debtor's 2011 Ford Truck F650, which secures debt in the amount of $20,178.97. On or about November 20, 2018, the Debtor entered into an adequate protection stipulation with Ally [See Doc. Nos. 72, 74]. The Debtor proposes to pay Ally in full, plus 5.5% interest, by making monthly payments of $490 through November 1, 2022 or until the claim is paid in full. Ally will retain its lien until paid in full. Ally's claim is impaired and it voted to accept the Plan.

Class 7 – JP Morgan Chase Bank, N.A. – Accepts the Plan

Class 7 consists of the secured claim of JP Morgan Chase Bank, N.A. ("Chase"). Chase holds a secured lien against the Debtor's 2015 Tesla Model S, which secures debt in the amount of $47,414.57. On or about January 7, 2019, the Debtor entered into an adequate protection stipulation with Chase [See Doc. Nos. 79, 81]. The Debtor proposes to pay Chase in full, plus 5% interest, by making monthly payments of $895 for a period of 60 months, or until the claim is paid in full. Chase will retain its lien until paid in full. Chase's claim is impaired and it voted to accept the Plan.

Class 8 – Hong Kong Motors – No Ballot Cast

Class 8 consists of the secured claim of Hong Kong Motors ("HKM"). HKM holds a secured lien against the Debtor's 2007 Nissan Altima, which secures debt in the amount of $4,500. The Debtor proposes to bifurcate HKM's claim into a secured claim of $2,835 (which the Debtor states is the current value of the collateral) and an unsecured claim of $1,665. The Debtor proposes to pay HKM's secured claim in full, plus 5% interest, by making monthly payments of $53 for a period of 60 months. HKM will retain its lien, up to the value of the collateral, until the secured portion of its claim is paid in full. The Debtor proposes to pay HKM's unsecured claim pursuant to the proposed terms of repayment for other general unsecured creditors in Class 9. HKM's claim is impaired and HKM was entitled to vote on the Plan, but did not cast a ballot.

Class 8(b) – New Commercial Capital – Deemed to Reject the Plan

Class 8(b) consists of the secured claim of New Commercial Capital ("NCC"). NCC has not filed a proof of claim in this case but recorded a UCC against the Debtor. The Debtor disputes that NCC holds a valid lien or is entitled to any distribution under the Debtor's Plan. To the extent NCC has a lien against any of the Debtor's assets, the Debtor proposes to strip NCC's lien as of the Effective Date. NCC will not be paid anything under the Debtor's Plan, so it is deemed to have rejected the Plan pursuant to § 1126(g).

Class 8(c) – Corporation Service Company as Representative – Deemed to Reject the Plan Class 8(c) consists of the secured claim of Corporation Service Company as Representative ("CSC"). CSC has not filed a proof of claim in this case but recorded a UCC against the Debtor. The Debtor disputes that CSC holds a valid lien or is entitled to any distribution under the Debtor's Plan. To the extent that CSC has a lien against any of the Debtor's assets, the Debtor proposes to strip CSC's lien as of the Effective Date. CSC will not be paid anything under the Debtor's Plan, so it is deemed to have rejected the Plan pursuant to § 1126(g).

Class 8(d) – Bank of the West – Deemed to Reject the Plan

Class 8(d) consists of the secured claim of Bank of the West ("BoW"). BoW has not filed a proof of claim in this case but recorded a UCC against the Debtor. The Debtor disputes that BoW holds a valid lien or is entitled to any distribution under the Debtor's Plan. To the extent that BoW has a valid lien against any of the Debtor's assets, the Debtor proposes to strip BoW's lien as of the Effective Date. BoW will not be paid anything under the Debtor's Plan, so it is deemed to have rejected the Plan pursuant to § 1126(g).

Class 8(e) – Employment Development Department – Unimpaired (Deemed to Accept)

Class 8(e) consisted of the secured claim of Employment Development Department ("EDD"). EDD filed a proof of claim asserting entitlement to a distribution of $47.18. The Debtor has already paid EDD's claim in full. Accordingly, EDD is not impaired, was not entitled to vote, and is deemed to accept the Plan.

Class 9 – General Unsecured Claims – Accepts the Plan

Class 9 consists of general unsecured claims ("GUC") totaling $2,377,121. The Debtor proposes to pay $47,542.42, which represents approximately 2% of the total GUC claims, by making pro rata monthly payments of $792.37 for a period of five years. Class 9 is impaired and has voted to accept the Plan.

Class 10 – Equity Interests – Unimpaired (Deemed to Accept)

Class 10 consists of Jiazheng Lu's 100% equity interest in the Debtor. Mr. Lu is an insider. Under the Plan, Mr. Lu will retain 100% of his ownership interest in the Debtor. Mr. Lu's claim is not impaired and he was not entitled to vote on the Plan.

The Debtor estimates that it will have approximately $60,622.83 in administrative claims on the Effective Date and submits that it has sufficient cash on hand to pay all allowed administrative claims in full as required.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

A. Issues Preventing Confirmation of the Debtor's Plan at This Time

i. Several Classes Did Not Vote

Classes 3, 4, 5, and 8 are impaired classes that were entitled to vote, but did not cast ballots. Debtor argues that in the absence of any objection, these non-voting classes should be deemed to have accepted the Plan.

The Court acknowledges the split of authority regarding whether a non-voting, non-objecting, class of creditors is deemed to have accepted or rejected a plan. See Bell Road Inv. Co. v. M. Long Arabians (In re M. Long Arabians), 103 B.R. 211 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1989) (members of a class must affirmatively vote in favor of the plan in order for that class to have accepted plan treatment); compare Heins v. Ruti-Sweetwater, Inc. (In re Ruti-Sweetwater, Inc.), 863 F.2d 1263 (10th Cir. 1988) (Non-voting, non-objecting creditor who is a member of a class that casts no votes is deemed to have accepted the plan of reorganization for purposes of section 1129(a)(8) and 1129(b)).

Plan proponents have dealt with the problem of a non-voting class by including prominent language in the Plan, Disclosure Statement and Plan Ballot providing that creditors who did not vote would be deemed to accept the plan. See, e.g., In re Adelpia Communications, 368 B.R. 140, 260-62 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2007) ("Section 7.3 of the Plan adopts a presumption that '[i]f no holders of Claims or Equity Interests eligible to vote in a particular Class vote to accept or reject the Plan, the Plan shall be deemed accepted by the holders of such Claims or Equity Interests in such Class.'... I overruled the ACC Bondholder Group's objection, and uphold the Plan presumption with respect to the non-voting creditors in these classes.").

Unfortunately, the Debtor did not include any such language in the Plan, Disclosure Statement or Ballot. In fact, the Debtor's Ballot expressly stated that failure to return a timely ballot would result in the vote not being counted as either an acceptance or rejection of the Plan. See Confirmation Brief, Ex. 4.

Therefore, the Court finds it appropriate to reopen voting for non-voting Classes 3, 4, and 5 (the "Non-Voting Classes") and direct the Debtor to serve a supplemental notice to those classes and file a proof of service evidencing the same by no later than June 26, 2019, that: (i) notes that such classes previously received copies of the Debtor's solicitation package and have failed to timely return a ballot; (ii) unambiguously states that the deadline to submit a ballot has been extended to July 26, 2019, and notifies such classes that the failure to timely return a ballot by the July 26th deadline will be deemed acceptance of the Plan; and (iii) notifies creditors that additional copies of the solicitation package can be obtained by contacting Debtor's counsel.

In the event the Non-Voting Classes do not return ballots by the July 26, 2019 deadline, those classes will be deemed to have accepted the Plan and the Debtor will not be required to submit a supplemental confirmation brief addressing the issues raised below. However, if one or more of the Non-Voting Classes casts a ballot to reject the Plan, then the Court's concerns discussed below with respect to the Debtor's ability to cramdown the Plan on certain classes will necessitate a supplemental confirmation brief addressing those issues. In such case, the September 18, 2019 hearing will serve as a status conference and the Court will set a new confirmation date at that time.

ii. The Confirmation Brief Is Conclusory And Not Supported By Sufficient Evidence (applicable only if classes which previously did not return a ballot now return a ballot voting against the Plan.)

Unless the Court deems Debtor's non-voting, non-objecting, classes as having accepted the Plan, the Debtor has not satisfied § 1129(a)(8) and must therefore demonstrate that the Plan can be crammed down on those classes. However, the Court finds that the Confirmation Brief fails to adequately address certain issues or attach adequate evidence with respect to the following cram down issues:

1. Classes 1, 2, and 3 appear to be similarly situated secured creditors with claims secured by the same collateral, but the Debtor fails to address why the Plan does not unfairly discriminate against Class 3 by proposing to pay it only 5% interest when Classes 1 and 2 will receive 7.5% interest on their claims. Similarly, the Debtor has not provided any evidence to establish that the 5% interest rate will result in Class 3 receiving the present value of its claim.

2. The Plan proposes to avoid the secured liens held by claimants in Classes 4 and 5 on the basis that those liens are fully underwater, but the Debtor has not submitted evidence to show that it is entitled to strip off those liens pursuant to § 506(a)(1), because that section provides that "the value shall be determined in light of the purpose of the value and the proposed disposition or use of such property" which, in this case, requires some evidence of the Debtor's value as a going concern. [Note 1]
3. The Debtor has not submitted evidence establishing that the 5% interest rate proposed for Class 8 will result in that class receiving the present value of its claim.

Accordingly, the Debtor is directed to submit a supplemental brief in support of confirmation of the Plan that addresses the foregoing issues by no later than August 19, 2019.

B. The Confirmation Brief's Discussion of Classes 8(b), 8(c), and 8(d) is Inadequate

The Plan proposes to avoid the secured liens held by the claimants in Classes 8(b), 8(c), and 8(d) and provides that those classes will not receive any distribution under the Plan on the basis that the Debtor cannot determine any loan or monies owed to those claimants and no proofs of claim have been filed. First, the Confirmation Brief appears to argue that these creditors should be deemed to have accepted the Plan because they did not cast ballots. However, as the Court specifically noted in its tentative ruling issued in advance of the Disclosure Statement hearing, the clear language of § 1126(g) necessitates a finding that these classes are deemed to reject the Plan.

Second, the Confirmation Brief states that the Plan can be crammed down on these Classes because they will receive the "indubitable equivalent" of their claims, but since the Plan does not provide for these claimants to either retain their liens or receive any distribution under the Plan, the Court cannot find that these claimants are

Nevertheless, Court notes that although the Debtor did not schedule any of the claims in these classes as "disputed," "contingent," or "unliquidated," the Debtor did state that the amount of such claims was "unknown." Therefore, the holders of such claims were effectively on notice of the need to file proofs of claim. See Fed. R. Bankr. P. 3003(c)(2) (Any creditor . . . whose claim or interest is not scheduled or scheduled as disputed, contingent, or unliquidated shall file a proof of claim or interest within the time prescribed by subdivision (c)(3) of this rule; any creditor who fails to do so shall not be treated as a creditor with respect to such claim for the purposes of voting and distribution). In the absence of any proofs of claim, the Court believes the more appropriate analysis is to hold that the Plan can be crammed down on Classes 8(b), 8(c), and 8(d) because they are not entitled to receive any distribution.

Since section 1126(g) mandates that Classes 8(b), 8(c) and 8(d) are deemed to reject the Plan, the Debtor is not required to serve these classes with notice of the Court's decision to reopen balloting. Although the Plan will not be consensual as to these classes, for the reasons stated above, the Plan can be crammed down on Classes 8(b), 8(c), and 8(d) and the Debtor is not required to submit further briefing with respect to these classes.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the Court is not in a position to confirm the Debtor's Plan at this time. The hearing is CONTINUED to September 18, 2019 at 10:00 a.m.

After the hearing, the Court will prepare a scheduling order.

- 2) Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors' Response to the Debtors' Motion to Approve Terms of a Private Sale of Clinics to Union Square Hearing, Inc. in Accordance with Sections 363(b) and (f) of the Bankruptcy Code [Doc. No. 2500]

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On August 31, 2018 (the "Petition Date"), Verity Health Systems of California ("VHS") and certain of its subsidiaries (collectively, the "Debtors") filed voluntary petitions for relief under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. On August 31, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the Debtors' motion for joint administration of the Debtors' Chapter 11 cases. Doc. No. 17.

Until January 31, 2019, Debtor Verity Medical Foundation ("VMF") operated two clinics (the "Clinics") located at (1) 2504 Samaritan Drive, Ste. 20, San Jose, CA and (2) 450 Sutter Street, Ste. 1404, San Francisco, CA. The Clinics were operated pursuant to a Physician Employment Agreement (the "PEA") between Dr. Matthew D.

Mingrone, M.D. (the "Doctor") and non-debtor Verity Medical Group, PC ("VMG"). By separate agreement, VMG and the Doctor terminated the PEA, effective January 31, 2019. Now that the Doctor is no longer affiliated with VMG and VHS, Union Square Hearing, Inc. (the "Buyer") seeks to purchase certain assets used in the continued operation of the Clinics (the "Purchased Assets"). The Purchased Assets include all furniture, fixtures, equipment, medical records, and inventory located at the Clinics.

Debtors seek approval of an Asset Purchase Agreement (the "APA") between VHS, VMF, the Buyer, the Doctor. The APA provides that Buyer will purchase from VMF the Purchased Assets, by way of a private sale, for $30,000. The APA further provides that VMF, the Buyer, and the Doctor have entered into a transition services agreement which, among other things, permits Buyer's use and enjoyment of the Clinics pending Court approval of the APA.

The Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors has no objection to the Motion. No opposition to the Motion is on file.

II. Findings and Conclusions

The Court approves the APA. Section 363(b) permits a debtor to sell estate property out of the ordinary course of business, subject to Court approval. The debtor must articulate a business justification for the sale of the property. In re Walter, 83 B.R. 14, 19–20 (9th Cir. BAP 1988) (citing In re Continental Air Lines, 780 F.2d 1223 (5th Cir. 1986)). Whether the articulated business justification is sufficient "depends on the case," in view of "all salient factors pertaining to the proceeding." Id. "The court's obligation in § 363(b) sales is to assure that optimal value is realized by the estate under the circumstances." Simantob v. Claims Prosecutor, LLC (In re Lahijani), 325 B.R. 282, 288–89 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2005).

The Court finds that the sale provides optimal value to the estate. The sale will generate $30,000 in funds for the estate and will allow the Clinics to continue to operate without interruption. Absent the sale, the estate would incur costs to remove the Purchased Assets from the Clinics. Further, the Purchased Assets would likely fetch a much lower sales price if sold to a buyer who did not intend to use the Purchased Assets in the continued operation of the Clinics.

Pursuant to § 363(f)(2), the sale is free and clear of liens, claims, and interests. To the extent any entity asserts a lien or other interest in the Purchased Assets, such entity's failure to file an opposition to the Motion constitutes consent to a sale free and clear of its interest. [Note 1]

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

A. Background

Patricia J. Kennedy (the "Debtor") filed a voluntary Chapter 7 petition on December 5, 2018. The Debtor received a discharge on May 20, 2019. Doc. No. 54.

On April 19, 2019, the Court entered an order granting the motion of Rachel Howitt and Michael Zugsmith (collectively, the "Creditors") to conduct a Rule 2004 examination of the Debtor. Doc. No. 45 (the "Rule 2004 Order"). Shortly thereafter, the Debtor moved to set aside the Rule 2004 Order. Doc. No. 48 (the "Opposition"). On April 30, 2019, the Court entered an order (1) deeming the Opposition to constitute a motion for a protective order (the "Motion for Protective Order") and (2) setting a briefing schedule on the Motion for Protective Order. Doc. No. 51.

B. The Debtor's Statement of Financial Affairs

The Debtor's Statement of Financial Affairs (the "SOFA") provides that the Debtor made the following transfers within two years prior to the filing of the petition:

Transferee	Description of Property Transferred	Payments Received by the Debtor for the Transfer	Date of Transfer
Rita Watnick Lily et Cie 9044 Burton Way Beverly Hills, CA 90211	Miscellaneous clothing	$22,000	September 24, 2018

C. Summary of Papers Filed in Connection with the Motion

Creditors initially stated that a Rule 2004 examination was necessary to enable Creditors to obtain information regarding the transfers listed in the SOFA, “any other transfers from the Debtor within two years of the Petition Date, and the Debtor’s financial affairs and assets (disclosed and undisclosed), including, but not limited to, any and all prepayments and the source of payments made.” Doc. No. 41 at 2–3. Creditors further asserted that the “examination is also needed to determine if cause exists for relief from the stay and to ascertain the location and/or disposition of personal property.” Id.

After the Court set a hearing and briefing schedule on the Motion for Protective Order, Creditors asserted an additional reason for the Rule 2004 examination: that the Trustee has offered to sell to Creditors the estate’s interest in preference and fraudulent transfer claims. Creditors did not submit any evidence in support of their contention that the Trustee had offered to sell them the estate's avoidance claims until June 17, 2019, at which time Creditors submitted an e-mail from the Trustee's counsel stating that a purchase and sale agreement pertaining to the avoidance actions was attached. (Creditors did not supply the actual purchase and sale agreement on the ground that it is confidential.)

Debtor's position is that a Rule 2004 examination is improper for the following reasons:

- 1) A Rule 2004 examination of the Debtor would provide no benefit to the estate. The deadline for Creditors to file a dischargeability action under § 523 or an action objecting to the Debtor's discharge under § 727 has elapsed. Creditors do not need to determine whether cause exists to seek stay relief. The Debtor received her discharge on May 20, 2019, terminating the automatic stay as to the Debtor pursuant to § 362(c)(2)(C). Creditors seek a Rule 2004 examination for the improper purpose of harassing the Debtor.
- 2) Creditors assert that they are considering purchasing the estate's avoidance claims. Creditors lack standing to prosecute the avoidance claims unless and until they purchase such claims from the Trustee. Absent standing, Creditors have no basis or need for Rule 2004 discovery for the purpose of prosecuting the avoidance claims.

Creditors dispute that the purpose of the examination is to harass the Debtor. Creditors assert that they have established good cause for the examination, because they seek information related to the Debtor's assets and prepetition transfers of personal property.

II. Findings and Conclusions

The Motion for Protective Order is Granted

Bankruptcy Rule 2004(a) provides: "On motion of any party in interest, the court may order the examination of any entity." A Rule 2004 examination "may relate only to the acts, conduct, or property or to the liabilities and financial condition of the debtor, or to any matter which may affect the administration of the debtor's estate, or to the debtor's right to a discharge."

"The scope of a Rule 2004 examination is exceptionally broad," and Rule 2004 examinations “have been compared to a ‘fishing expedition.’” In re Duratech Indus., Inc., 241 B.R. 283, 289 (E.D.N.Y. 1999). Rule 2004 may be used by Trustee “as a pre-litigation device to determine if there are grounds to bring an action.” In re Roman Catholic Church of Diocese of Gallup, 513 B.R. 761, 764 (Bankr. D.N.M. 2014). However, “[m]atters having no relationship to the debtor’s affairs, or the administration of the bankruptcy estate are not proper subjects of a Rule 2004 examination.” In re Fin. Corp. of Am., 119 B.R. 728, 733 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1990).

Creditors initially asserted that the purpose of the examination was “to determine if cause exists for relief from the stay and to ascertain the location and/or disposition of personal property.” Doc. No. 41 at 2–3. The Court finds that there is no need for Creditors to conduct a Rule 2004 examination to determine if cause exists for filing a motion for stay relief. Debtor received a discharge on May 20, 2019. Therefore, the stay has terminated as to the Debtor by operation of law. See § 362(c)(2)(C) (providing that with respect to the Debtor, “the stay ... continues until the earliest of ... the time a discharge is granted or denied”).

Under the circumstances, a Rule 2004 examination is not a legitimate mechanism for Creditors to obtain information regarding the location and/or disposition of the Debtor’s personal property. The deadline for Creditors to file either a dischargeability action under § 523 or an action objecting to the Debtor’s discharge under § 727 has expired. Had the deadline not elapsed, Creditors might be entitled to Rule 2004 discovery with respect to the location and/or disposition of Debtor’s personal property, provided that such discovery was reasonably calculated to lead to information that could support a § 523 or § 727 claim. For example, information about personal property could conceivably support a § 523(a)(4) claim on the ground of larceny, or a § 727 claim that the Debtor had concealed assets. Since Creditors’ ability to commence either a § 523 or § 727 action is now time-barred, there is no reason for Creditors to obtain information regarding the Debtor’s personal property.

In Opposition to the Motion for Protective Order, Creditors assert an additional reason for the 2004 examination: that they are considering purchasing the Trustee’s avoidance claims. It was procedurally improper for Creditors to wait until the Debtor had sought a protective order to assert this additional basis for the examination. It was also not proper for Creditors to fail to submit any evidence supporting the contention that a sale offer for the avoidance actions was on the table until after the Debtors asserted an evidentiary objection. Notwithstanding these procedural irregularities, the Court will consider Creditors’ argument that a Rule 2004 examination is proper in view of Creditors’ potential purchase of the estate’s avoidance claims. Chapter 7 of the argument does not prejudice the Debtor, who has had an opportunity to respond in her reply papers.

The fact that Creditors are considering purchasing the estate's avoidance claims does not entitle Creditors to conduct a Rule 2004 examination of the Debtor on issues pertaining to such claims. At this point the Trustee is the only party with standing to prosecute the avoidance claims. Unquestionably, the Trustee would have the ability to examine the Debtor under Rule 2004 for the purpose of investigating whether to file an avoidance action. However, it does not follow that Creditors can use Rule 2004 discovery to evaluate whether to purchase the estate's avoidance rights from the Trustee. Creditors do not have the ability to file an avoidance action unless and until they acquire that right from the Trustee—which may never happen. Therefore, information obtained by Creditors through a Rule 2004 examination would not facilitate administration of the estate, since Creditors have no interest in the estate's avoidance claims. Good cause for a Rule 2004 examination is shown "if the examination is necessary to establish the claim of the party seeking the examination." In re Dinubilo, 177 B.R. 932, 943 (E.D. Cal. 1993). Creditors cannot show good cause because they have no interest in the estate's avoidance claims.

In In re J & R Trucking, Inc., 531 B.R. 818 (Bankr. N.D. Ind. 2010), the court refused to allow creditors to examine the debtor to obtain information regarding potentially avoidable prepetition transfers. The J & R Trucking court stated:

*In assessing the propriety of a request for a 2004 examination, its purpose as an investigatory device arising out of the needs of the trustee should be kept in mind, and where a proposed examination goes beyond that purpose it should be carefully scrutinized. Here, both motions, although couched in the rule's language of matters affecting the administration of the estate and investigating the conduct of the debtor, exceed those boundaries. Remember, these are chapter 7 cases and it is the trustee's the duty to investigate the debtor's affairs and the rights of the bankruptcy estate. To the extent the movants seek to discover avoidable transfers, they are intruding upon the trustee's duties and taking those duties upon themselves. While the court may understand their curiosity, there is nothing the movants could do with that information once they got it. They could not act upon it, or seek to recover any such transfers; the trustee has the exclusive right to do so. Matter of Perkins, 902 F.2d 1254, 1258 (7th Cir.1990) (If a third party tries to prosecute a cause of action belonging to the trustee, the action should be dismissed.). So, in that sense,* their examination can serve no real purpose. While movants may genuinely want to help the trustee, should the trustee desire that assistance, they must do so directly, acting for, at the behest of, and in the name of the trustee, and not indirectly, in a manner that treats the trustee as simply an incidental beneficiary of an endeavor actually undertaken for someone else. Cf. Matter of Vitreous Steel Products Co., 911 F.2d 1223, 1231 (7th Cir.1990) (trustee may accept help from creditors but creditors may not act in their own name to protect the interests of the estate).

In re J & R Trucking, Inc., 431 B.R. 818, 822 (Bankr. N.D. Ind. 2010).

As was the case in J & R Trucking, it is not appropriate for Creditors to use Rule 2004 discovery to inquire into the estate's avoidance claims. The fact that Creditors are considering purchasing the avoidance claims does not change the analysis. Unless and until the Creditors acquire the avoidance claims from the Trustee, it is the Trustee who has the exclusive right to prosecute those claims. [Note 1]

Creditors argue that they need Rule 2004 discovery to assess the merits of the avoidance claims to determine if the claims are worth purchasing. That argument is without merit. Rule 2004 is not a mechanism for Creditors to conduct due diligence regarding a potential purchase of the estate's avoidance claims. See J & R Trucking, 431 B.R. at 821 (stating that it is not appropriate for creditors to use Rule 2004 "to deal with their special problems").

For these reasons, the Motion for Protective Order is GRANTED. The Court will QUASH the order requiring the Debtor to appear for a Rule 2004 examination.

Evidentiary Rulings

The Debtor moves to strike certain factual statements presented in the Creditor's Opposition, on the ground that the statements are not supported by declaration testimony, are irrelevant, constitute hearsay, and violate the best evidence rule. The statements at issue describe the circumstances giving rise to the Creditors' indebtedness and summarize information contained in the Debtor's schedules. Creditors assert that the Debtor's evidentiary objections are frivolous because the statements merely reiterate information contained in Debtor's schedules or information contained in Debtor's Motion for a Protective Order.

The Court declines to strike any material from the Opposition. The Court agrees with the Creditors that most of the statements to which the Debtor objects summarize information in the Debtor's schedules or reiterate information already contained in Debtor's Motion for a Protective Order. However, to the extent the statements constitute the Creditor's characterization of information contained in the Debtor's schedules, the Court relies upon the schedules themselves, and construes the Creditor's characterization of the schedules only as argument. Further, the Court notes that Creditors' characterization of the events giving rise to their indebtedness against the Debtor has only minimal relevant to the instant Motion.

III. Conclusion

Based upon the foregoing, the Motion for Protective Order is GRANTED and the order requiring the Debtor to appear for a Rule 2004 examination is QUASHED.

The Debtor shall submit an order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Monge Property Investments, Inc. (the "Debtor") filed a voluntary Chapter 11 petition on May 31, 2012 (the "Petition Date"). The Debtor presently seeks an order authorizing the sale of real property located at 5908 ½ Fayette Street, Los Angeles, CA 90042 (the "Property") so that it can use the sale proceeds to fund necessary effective date payments proposed under its chapter 11 plan and satisfy the feasibility requirements for plan confirmation.

Chapter 11

On August 22, 2014, the Court entered the Order Approving the Debtor's Application to Employ Vu Ly (the "Broker") as Real Estate Broker [Doc. No. 323]. The Debtor listed the Property for sale with the Broker on May 3, 2018. On August 20, 2018 the Court approved a sale of the Property for $295,000, but the buyer later backed out and the Property was relisted for $249,806 [Doc. No. 728]. After a period of renewed marketing, and extensive negotiations, the Debtor accepted the offer an offer of $230,000 from Dino and Rowena Cruz, subject to overbids.

The Debtor believes that the proposed sale will generate approximately $103,836 of net proceeds for the Estate and will allow for payment in full of Valensi Rose, PLC's ("VR") and the Employment Development Department's ("EDD") administrative claims directly from escrow. The Debtor also obtained Court approve of its stipulation with VR for payment in full directly from escrow [See Doc. Nos. 797 & 801].

Therefore, the Debtor seeks an order: (a) authorizing the sale of the Property to the Proposed Buyers free and clear of all liens, claims, and interests; (b) approving the proposed overbid procedures; (c) determining that the Proposed Buyers are good faith purchasers; (d) authorizing payment of commissions set forth in the Sale Motion at the close of escrow; (e) authorizing payments of liens, claims and interests on and against the Property, if any, at the close of escrow; (f) authorizing the payment of real property taxes, plus interest, and all customary escrow fees and costs at the close of escrow; (g) transferring and attaching any liens, claims and interests to the net proceeds and authorizing the Debtor to hold that portion of the sale proceeds attributable to any disputed interests, if any, pending further order of the Court; (h) compelling all holders of any interest against the Property to execute any document necessary to facilitate the close of escrow; and (i) waiving the fourteen-day stay prescribed by Rule 6004(h) of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure.

The key terms of the proposed sale are as follows:

- 1) Proposed buyers: Dino and Rowena Cruz (the "Proposed Buyers")
- 2) Property for sale: 5908 ½ Fayette Street, Los Angeles, CA 90042
- 3) Purchase price: $230,000 (all cash)

- 5) Overbids: The initial overbid shall be $15,000; subsequent overbids shall be in the amount of $5,000. The overbid increment is subject to adjustment by the Court to facilitate bidding. Overbidders shall advise the Debtor of their intent to overbid and the amount of such interested bidder's initial overbid no later than seventy-two hours prior to the hearing on the Sale Motion. Overbidders shall provide the Debtor with a cashier's check in the amount of $10,000 prior to the hearing on the Sale Motion.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Section 363(b) of the Bankruptcy Code permits a debtor-in-possession to sell estate property outside the ordinary course of business, subject to court approval. The debtor-in-possession must articulate a business justification for the sale. In re Walter, 83 B.R. 14, 19–20 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1988). Whether the articulated business justification is sufficient "depends on the case," in view of "all salient factors pertaining to the proceeding." Id. at 19–20.

Here, the Debtor has articulated a sufficient business justification for the sale. The Debtor believes the proposed sale of the Property is in made in good faith and in the best interest of the Estate because the sale will generate enough funds to pay all administrative claims in full, contribute to Debtor's proposed plan payment to unsecured creditors, and provide an infusion of funds for Debtor's general operating expenses. The Debtor believes that the sale price is reasonable considering that the Property was actively marketed. Additionally, the sale is subject to overbids, which will further ensure that the Property is sold for the highest and best price.

The Court also finds that the Debtor has met the conditions for a sale of the Property free and clear of all liens. Section 363(f) permits a sale of property "free and clear of any interest in such property of an entity other than the estate" if any one of the following conditions is met:

- (1) applicable nonbankruptcy law permits the sale of such property free and clear of such interest;

- (2) such entity consents;
- (3) such interest is a lien and the price at which such property is to be sold is greater than the aggregate value of all liens on such property;
- (4) such interest is in bona fide dispute; or
- (5) such entity could be compelled, in a legal or equitable proceeding, to accept a money satisfaction of such interest.

11 U.S.C. § 363(f).

In this case, other than possibly the Los Angeles County Treasurer and Tax Collector which would be paid directly through escrow, the Debtor does not believe that there are any liens or encumbrances on the Property. Therefore, the Court finds that the sale is appropriate pursuant to § 363(f)(3) and (4).

The Court has reviewed the declaration submitted on behalf of the Proposed Buyers and finds that the buyers are good faith purchasers within the meaning of § 363(m). Accordingly, if the Proposed Buyers are the successful bidders at the auction, the Court will approve an order making a § 363(m) finding.

Auction Procedures

The Court will distribute numbered auction paddles to the Proposed Buyers and all qualified overbidders. The initial overbid will be $15,000. Subsequent overbids will be increments of $5,000, with the increments subject to adjustment by the Court depending upon the bidding. The Court will announce each bid level. To remain in the auction, bidders must participate at all bid levels. That is, parties who do not bid in a round cannot later change their minds and re-enter the auction. Parties may make a bid higher than that announced by the Court by approaching the podium and stating their bid.

If a bidder other than the Proposed Buyers prevails at the auction, the Court will take testimony to determine whether that bidder is entitled to the protections of § 363(m). If that buyer does not personally appear or provide testimony, the Court will not make a § 363(m) finding.

Tentative Ruling:

6/18/2019

The Motion is GRANTED for the reasons set forth below.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Debtor's Motion for Valuation of Real Property Located at: 1820 W. 146th St., Unit F, Gardena, CA to Determine Extent of Secured Claims; and to Extinguish/Avoid the Junior Lien of Complete Business Solutions Group AKA Par Funding [Doc. No. 47] (the "Motion")
- 2) No opposition to the Motion is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Ya-Chuan Victor Lee (the "Debtor") filed a voluntary Chapter 11 petition on April 3, 2019. The Debtor owns property located at 1820 W. 146th St., Unit F, Gardena, CA (the "Property"). On May 2, 2019, the Court authorized the Debtor to employ Donald Arthur Bonseigneur, a real estate broker at Berkshire Hathaway Home Services, to market the Property. Doc. No. 27. Debtor is in the process of marketing the Property. Debtor initially listed the Property for sale at $425,000, but has reduced the price due to lack of interest.

The Property is encumbered by a First Deed of Trust in favor of Specialized Loan Services in the amount of $228,320, a Second Deed of Trust in favor of J.P. Morgan Chase Bank, N.A. in the amount of $113,680, and a Security Agreement in favor of Complete Business Solutions Group, Inc. ("CBSG") in the amount of $81,343 (the "CBSG Lien"). Debtor moves for an order valuing the Property at $355,000 and avoiding the CBSG Lien as wholly unsecured, pursuant to § 506. Once a buyer has been identified, Debtor intends to file a motion to sell the Property free and clear of liens. Debtor submits an appraisal in support of his contention that the Property is worth $355,000.

Chapter 11

II. Findings and Conclusions

Section 506(a)(1) provides in relevant part:

An allowed claim of a creditor secured by a lien on property in which the estate has an interest ... is a secured claim to the extent of the value of such creditor's interest in the estate's interest in such property ... and is an unsecured claim to the extent that the value of such creditor's interest ... is less than the amount of such allowed claim. Such value shall be determined in light of the purpose of the valuation and of the proposed disposition or use of such property, and in conjunction with any hearing on such disposition or use or on a plan affecting such creditor's interest.

The appraisal establishes that the Property has a value of $355,000. The Debtor intends to sell the Property. Therefore, in determining the secured status of the CBSG Lien, the Court finds it appropriate to consider the cost of sale. At a $355,000 appraised value, the cost of sale is $21,300 (6% of the $355,000 appraised value). The sum of the liens senior to the CBSG Lien is $342,000. Once costs of sale are added to the senior encumbrances of $342,000, the CBSG Lien is wholly unsecured. Therefore, the Debtor is entitled to avoid the CBSG Lien.

Based upon the foregoing, the Motion is GRANTED. The Debtor shall submit an order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Jessica Vogel or Daniel Koontz at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. #100.00 HearingRE: [12] Notice of motion and motion for relief from the automatic stay with supporting declarations REAL PROPERTY RE: 18649 West Avenue B8, Lancaster, CA 93536 .

Docket 12

Tentative Ruling:

6/20/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Court finds that there is sufficient evidence to grant relief pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(4). The filing of the petition was part of a scheme to delay, hinder, and defraud creditors, which involved the transfer of all or part ownership of, or other interest in, the Property without the consent of Movant or court approval. Declaration of Shane Ellis in support of Motion at paragraphs 6 and 18.

For the same reasons, the Motion is GRANTED pursuant to section 362(d)(1) based on the fact that the Debtor did not schedule the subject property or otherwise assert any interest in the subject property. The 14-day period specified in Fed.R.Bankr.P. 4001(a)(3) is waived. This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. If recorded in compliance with applicable State laws governing notices of interests or liens in real property, the order shall be binding in any other case under this title purporting to affect such real property filed not later than 2 years after the date of the entry of such order by the Court, except that a debtor in a subsequent case under this title may move for relief from such order based upon

Tentative Ruling:

6/20/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2) to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to repossess or otherwise obtain possession and dispose of its collateral pursuant to applicable law, and to use the proceeds from its disposition to satisfy its claim. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. The Court finds that there is no equity in the subject vehicle and that the vehicle is not necessary for an effective reorganization since this is a chapter 7 case.

This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. All other relief is denied.

Movant shall upload an appropriate order via the Court's Lodged Order Upload system within 7 days of the hearing.

Docket 15

Tentative Ruling:

6/20/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtors, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1) to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to foreclose upon and obtain possession of the property in accordance with applicable law. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtors or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. Movant has established a prima facie case that cause exists, and Debtors have not responded with evidence establishing that the property is not declining in value or that Movant is adequately protected.

The subject property has a value of $200,000 and is encumbered by a perfected deed of trust or mortgage in favor of the Movant. Considering Movant's lien, all senior liens against the property, and the estimated costs of sale, there is an equity cushion of $23,169.85. There is some, but very little equity and there is no evidence that the property is necessary to a reorganization or that the trustee can administer the property for the benefit of creditors. Movant is protected by a 11.6% equity cushion in the property. The Ninth Circuit has established that an equity cushion of 20% constitutes adequate protection for a secured creditor. Pistole v. Mellor (In re Mellor), 734 F.2d 1396, 1401 (9th Cir. 1984); see Downey Sav. & Loan Ass'n v. Helionetics, Inc. (In re Helionetics, Inc.), 70 B.R. 433, 440 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1987) (holding that a 20.4% equity cushion was sufficient to protect the creditor's interest in its collateral).

Because the equity cushion in this case is less than 20%, the Court concludes that Movant's interest in the collateral is not adequately protected. This is cause to terminate the stay under 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1).

This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. All other relief is denied.

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1). The stay is terminated as to the Debtor and the Debtor's bankruptcy estate with respect to the Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns. Movant may enforce its remedies to obtain possession of the property in accordance with applicable law, but may not pursue a deficiency claim against the debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501.

The Movant filed an unlawful detainer action on January 16, 2019.

This Motion has been filed to allow the Movant to proceed with the unlawful detainer proceeding in state court. The unlawful detainer proceeding may go forward because the Debtor's right to possess the premises must be determined. This does not change simply because a bankruptcy petition was filed. #104.10 HearingRE: [2474] Notice of motion and motion for relief from automatic stay with supporting declarations ACTION IN NON-BANKRUPTCY FORUM RE: Steele v. Verity Health Systems of CA, Inc., et al.. (Leeds, Nathaniel)

Docket 2474

Tentative Ruling:

6/20/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Motion is GRANTED; however, the order granting the Motion shall not take effect until September 1, 2019.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Notice of Motion and Motion for Relief from the Automatic Stay Under 11 U.S.C. § 362 [Doc. No. 2474] (the "Motion")
- 2) Debtors' Response and Opposition to Motion for Relief from the Automatic Stay Filed on Behalf of Christopher Steele [Doc. No. 2531]
- 3) Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors' Joinder to Debtors' Response and Opposition to Motion for Relief from the Automatic Stay Filed on Behalf of Christopher Steele [Doc. No. 2534]
- 4) Creditor Christopher Steele's Reply to Debtors' Opposition to Motion for Relief from Automatic Stay to Complete Pending State Court Litigation [Doc. No. 2554]

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On August 31, 2018 (the "Petition Date"), Verity Health Systems of California ("VHS") and certain of its subsidiaries filed voluntary petitions for relief under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. On August 31, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the Debtors' motion for joint administration of the Debtors' Chapter 11 cases. Doc. No. 17.

Christopher Steele ("Movant") seeks stay relief, pursuant to § 362(d)(1), for the purpose of litigating a medical malpractice action against Debtor St. Louise Regional Hospital ("St. Louise") in the Santa Clara Superior Court (the "State Court Action"). Movant has not agreed to limit his recovery to applicable insurance.

Debtors oppose the Motion. Debtors argue that Movant has no ability to assert a claim against any of the Debtors because he failed to timely file a proof of claim. In the event the Court is inclined to grant the Motion, Debtors request that relief not take effect until after September 1, 2019, so they can retain their focus on the sale of the hospitals that was approved in April 2019. The Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors joins the Debtors' opposition.

In reply, Movant states that he did file a proof of claim. Movant requests that the stay be lifted so that discovery can begin in the State Court Action.

II. Findings and Conclusions

At the outset, the Court notes that the confusion concerning whether Movant timely filed a proof of claim resulted from Movant incorrectly filling out the proof of claim form. In the box where Movant was supposed to provide his name, Movant instead listed the address of his attorney's office. As a result of this error, Movant is not listed as a creditor on the claims register. Instead, the claims register lists the creditor associated with Movant's claim as "555 California Street, Ste. 4925" (the address of Movant's attorney's office). Movant's erroneous completion of the proof of claim form prevented the Debtors from identifying him as a claimant when searching the claims register.

Because Movant has filed a proof of claim (Proof of Claim No. 423), there is no merit to the Debtor's contention that stay relief should be denied on the ground that Movant cannot assert a claim against the estate. [Note 1]

As explained by the Ninth Circuit Bankruptcy Appellate Panel in Kronemyer v. American Contractors Indemnity Co. (In re Kronemyer) (internal citations omitted): "What constitutes 'cause' for granting relief from the automatic stay is decided on a case-by-case basis. Among factors appropriate to consider in determining whether relief from the automatic stay should be granted to allow state court proceedings to continue are considerations of judicial economy and the expertise of the state court, ... as well as prejudice to the parties and whether exclusively bankruptcy issues are involved." 405 B.R. 915, 921. The factors articulated in In re Curtis, 40 B.R. 795, 799-800 (Bankr. D. Utah 1984) and adopted by the bankruptcy court in Truebro, Inc. v. Plumberex Specialty Prods., Inc. (In re Plumberex Specialty Prods., Inc), 311 B.R. 551, 559-60 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2004) are also "appropriate, nonexclusive factors to consider in deciding whether to grant relief from the automatic stay to allow pending litigation to continue in another forum." Kronemyer, 405 B.R. at 921. The Curtis factors are as follows:

Chapter 11

- 1) Whether the relief will result in a partial or complete resolution of the issues;
- 2) The lack of any connection with or interference with the bankruptcy case;
- 3) Whether the foreign proceeding involves the debtor as a fiduciary;
- 4) Whether a specialized tribunal has been established to hear the particular cause of action and whether that tribunal has the expertise to hear such cases;
- 5) Whether the debtor's insurance carrier has assumed full financial responsibility for defending the litigation;
- 6) Whether the action essentially involves third parties, and the debtor functions only as a bailee or conduit for the goods or proceeds in question;
- 7) Whether the litigation in another forum would prejudice the interests of other creditors, the creditors' committee and other interested parties;
- 8) Whether the judgment claim arising from the foreign action is subject to equitable subordination under Section 510(c);
- 9) Whether movant's success in the foreign proceeding would result in a judicial lien avoidable by the debtor under Section 522(f);
- 10) The interests of judicial economy and the expeditious and economical determination of litigation for the parties;
- 11) Whether the foreign proceedings have progressed to the point where the parties are prepared for trial, and
- 12) The impact of the stay on the parties and the "balance of hurt."

Plumberex, 311 B.R. at 599.

The most important of the twelve factors is the effect of the non-bankruptcy litigation on the administration of the estate. Curtis, 40 B.R. at 806. The Curtis court held that "[e]ven slight interference with the administration may be enough to preclude relief in the absence of a commensurate benefit." Id.

Because Movant has not agreed to limit his recovery to insurance, granting stay relief at this time would require the Debtors to defend against the State Court Action. Although it would certainly be possible for the Debtors to mount a defense at this time, requiring them to do so would nonetheless interfere with the case by distracting the Debtors' professionals from focusing upon completing the sale of their four remaining hospitals.

To enable the Debtors to retain their focus upon the sale, the Court will grant stay relief, but such relief shall not take effect until September 1, 2019. This result gives the Debtors some breathing space to achieve their objectives, while at the same time delaying Movant's ability to proceed with the State Court Action by only

#107.00 Hearing
RE: [8] Notice of motion and motion for relief from the automatic stay with supporting declarations PERSONAL PROPERTY RE: 2018 Chevrolet Camaro .

Docket 8

Tentative Ruling:

6/20/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1) for cause to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to repossess or otherwise obtain possession and dispose of its collateral pursuant to applicable law, and to use the proceeds from its disposition to satisfy its claim. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. The Court takes judicial notice of the Chapter 7 Individual Debtor's Statement of Intention in which the Debtor stated an intention to surrender the vehicle to Movant.

This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. The 14-day stay prescribed by FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived. All other relief is denied.

Movant shall upload an appropriate order via the Court's Lodged Order Upload system within 7 days of the hearing.

Docket 58

Tentative Ruling:

6/26/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2) to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to repossess or otherwise obtain possession and dispose of its collateral pursuant to applicable law, and to use the proceeds from its disposition to satisfy its claim. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. The Court finds that there is no equity in the subject vehicle and that the vehicle is not necessary for an effective reorganization since this is a chapter 7 case.

This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. All other relief is denied.

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1). The stay is terminated as to the Debtor and the Debtor's bankruptcy estate with respect to the Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns. Movant may enforce its remedies to obtain possession of the property in accordance with applicable law, but may not pursue a deficiency claim against the debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501.

The Movant filed an unlawful detainer action on April 18, 2019.

This Motion has been filed to allow the Movant to proceed with the unlawful detainer proceeding in state court. The unlawful detainer proceeding may go forward because the Debtor's right to possess the premises must be determined. This does not change simply because a bankruptcy petition was filed. Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

7/2/2019

The Involuntary Petition is DISMISSED for the reasons set forth below.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Involuntary Petition Against an Individual [Doc. No. 1]
- 2) Summons and Notice of Status Conference in an Involuntary Bankruptcy Case [Doc. No. 3]
- 3) Proof of Service of Summons and Notice of Status Conference [Doc. No. 5]

On May 21, 2019, Jeffrey Thompson ("Thompson") filed an involuntary petition (the "Involuntary Petition") against 795 Fairfield Circle, LLC ("Fairfield"). Thompson alleges that Fairfield owes him $247,000 on account of "investment, unpaid services and improvements."

On June 11, 2019, Thompson filed a Proof of Service indicating that the Involuntary Petition was served upon Fairfield at the address "795 Fairfield Circle, Pasadena, CA 91106" on June 10, 2019.

The Statement of Information on file with the California Secretary of State indicates that Thompson is the manager of Fairfield.

Numerous defects require dismissal of the Involuntary Petition. First, service was improper. The Summons was not served upon Fairfield within seven days of issuance, as required by Bankruptcy Rule 7004. In addition, the Summons was served upon the incorrect address. Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 7004, service upon a corporation is made "by mailing a copy of the summons and complaint to the attention of an officer, a managing or general agent, or to any other agent authorized by appointment or by law to receive service of process" Service would have been proper had the Involuntary Petition been served either upon Thompson, in his capacity as Fairfield's manager, or upon Fairfield's registered agent for service of process. Records on file with the California Secretary of State indicate that Thompson's address is "530 S. Lake Ave., Pasadena, CA 91101," and that the address of Fairfield's registered agent, Bizstartup.com, is "14425 Sylvan St., Van Nuys, CA 91404." The Involuntary Petition was not served upon either of these addresses.

Second, Thompson did not use the correct Official Form when commencing these proceedings. Thompson used Official Form 105, Involuntary Petition Against an Individual, when he should have used Official Form 205, Involuntary Petition Against a Non-Individual.

Third, it appears to the Court that Thompson filed the Involuntary Petition in order to place Fairfield into bankruptcy without being required to retain and pay counsel to represent Fairfield. As Fairfield's manager, Thompson could have caused Fairfield to file a voluntary Chapter 7 petition, but only if he retained an attorney to represent Fairfield. See Rowland v. California Men's Colony, Unit II Men's Advisory Council, 506 U.S. 194, 202 (1993) ("[A] corporation may appear in the federal courts only through licensed counsel"); see also Local Bankruptcy Rule 9011-2(a). In view of Thompson's position as Fairfield's manager, the Court can find no legitimate reason for Thompson to have filed an involuntary petition against Fairfield as opposed to causing Fairfield to filing a voluntary Chapter 7 petition.

Based upon the foregoing, the Involuntary Petition is DISMISSED. The Court will prepare and enter an order dismissing the case.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. Docket 21

Tentative Ruling:

7/3/2019

Tentative Ruling:

For the reasons set forth below, the R/S Motion is GRANTED IN-PART and DENIED IN-PART.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed

1. Notice of Motion and Motion for Relief From the Automatic Stay Under 11 U.S.C. § 362 (Real Property) [Doc. No. 21] (the "R/S Motion")
2. Debtors' Untimely Opposition to Motion for Relief of Automatic Stay [Doc. No. 23]
3. Discharge Order [Doc. No. 12]

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Haroon-Ur-Rashid Temueri and Shaheen Shrein Temueri (the "Debtors") filed a voluntary chapter 7 petition on August 4, 2015. On November 16, 2015, the Debtors received a chapter 7 discharge and the case was closed one day later [Doc. Nos. 12 & 13]. On April 17, 2019, the Court entered an order granting Debtors' Motion to Reopen Case for the limited purpose of filing a motion under 11 U.S.C. § 522(f) [Doc. No. 19] [Note 1].

The Bank of New York Mellon FKA The Bank of New York, as Successor Trustee to JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A., as Trustee on Behalf of the Certificate holders of the CWHEQ Inc., CWHEQ Revolving Home Equity Loan Trust, Series 2006-F ("Movant") filed a motion for relief from the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C

§§ 362(d)(1) and (d)(2) with respect to real property located at 28601 Silverking Trail, Santa Clarita, California 91390 (the "Property") [Doc. No. 21] (the "R/S Motion"). The evidence attached in support of the R/S Motion support a finding that there is no equity in the Property.

On July 2, 2019, the Debtors filed an untimely Opposition [Doc. No. 23] requesting that the Court deny the R/S Motion because they have tried to make payments to Movant but the payments have been returned and communications with Movant have not been productive.

II. Findings and Conclusions

The filing of a bankruptcy case imposes an automatic stay on virtually all creditor debt collection activities. See § 362(a). However, the automatic stay does not last indefinitely. In a chapter 7 case for an individual, the automatic stay terminates when a discharge is granted or denied.

In this case, the discharge was granted on November 16, 2015. Upon the granting of the discharge, the automatic stay was replaced by the discharge injunction provided by § 524(a). Therefore, Movant's request for an order confirming that there is no stay in effect is GRANTED. The Court also finds it appropriate to waive the 14-day stay prescribed by FRBP 4001(a)(3). All other relief requested is denied.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the R/S Motion is GRANTED IN-PART and DENIED IN-PART.

Movant is directed to lodge a conforming proposed order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1). The stay is terminated as to the Debtor and the Debtor's bankruptcy estate with respect to the Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns. Movant may enforce its remedies to obtain possession of the property in accordance with applicable law, but may not pursue a deficiency claim against the debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501.

The Movant filed an unlawful detainer action on April 19, 2019.

This Motion has been filed to allow the Movant to proceed with the unlawful detainer proceeding in state court. The unlawful detainer proceeding may go forward because the Debtor's right to possess the premises must be determined. Docket 129

Tentative Ruling:

For the reasons set forth below, the Court declines to reopen this adversary proceeding and set this matter for trial until the District Court for the Northern District of California has adjudicated Ho's appeal of the Judgment Denying Discharge. A Status Conference concerning the status of the appeal shall be held on October 15, 2019, at 10:00 a.m. and a joint status conference report shall be filed no later than October 7, 2019.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

 - a) Notice of Motion [Doc. No. 130]
- 2) Defendant Tsai Luan Ho a/k/a Shelby Ho's Opposition to Plan Administrators' Motion to Reopen Adversary Proceeding and Schedule Trial [Doc. No. 132] (the "Opposition")
 - a) Request for Judicial Notice [Doc. No. 133]
- 3) Plan Administrator's Reply in Support of Motion to Reopen Adversary Proceeding and Schedule Trial [Doc. No. 134] (the "Reply")

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

A. Background

Trial in this adversary proceeding was set for May 29–30, 2018. On May 28, 2018, Defendant Tsai Luan Ho a/k/a Shelby Ho ("Ho") filed a voluntary Chapter 7 petition in the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of California (the "Northern District Bankruptcy Court"). [Note 1] The Court took the trial off calendar. Based upon Plaintiff's representation that it intended to pursue a non-dischargeability action against Ho in the Northern District Bankruptcy Court, the Court subsequently dismissed this action without prejudice.

On December 29, 2017, the Court entered a Memorandum of Decision Finding that Plaintiff is Entitled to Judgment Against Defendants in the Amount of $74,140,695.29 (the "Memorandum of Decision") and corresponding judgment (the "Judgment") in the adversary proceeding Plan Administrator v. Lucy Gao and Benjamin Kirk (Adv. No. 2:16-ap-01337-ER). On February 8, 2019, the District Court reversed the Memorandum of Decision and Judgment and remanded the action for further proceedings. The Plan Administrator subsequently entered into separate settlement agreements with Gao and Kirk. On June 18, 2019, the Court approved a stipulation dismissing the action with prejudice as to Gao. The action remains pending as against Kirk, who has not yet made all the installment payments required by the settlement.

Prior to taking trial of the instant action off calendar, the Court issued two tentative rulings. The first tentative ruling granted Plaintiff's Motion in Limine to exclude certain evidence presented by Ho that had not been timely produced during discovery. The second tentative ruling held that Ho was precluded from contesting the following findings of fact contained in the Memorandum of Decision:

- 1) Investors contributed funds to Liberty that were earmarked for investments in specific properties, pursuant to investment contracts entered into between Liberty and the investors. Liberty did not use the funds in accordance with the investment contracts to purchase the properties for which the funds had been earmarked. Rather than segregating the funds contributed by each investor to insure that such funds were used for their intended purpose, Liberty treated all investor funds as a single capital pool. Liberty used this capital pool to attempt to acquire whatever property it was pursuing at the time, regardless of whether that property was the one specified by the investor. Memorandum of Decision at 6.
- 2) Liberty received approximately $36.26 million for the purchase of specified real properties from various investors, but failed to purchase any of the properties in question and failed to return any of the investors' funds. Id. at 7.
- 3) Liberty engaged in the business of acquiring and selling commercial properties. As of 2012, Liberty's business of acquiring and selling commercial properties was not profitable. Id. at 7.

Although Ho was not a party to the litigation that produced the Memorandum of Decision, the Court found that preclusion was appropriate because Kirk qualified as the virtual representative of Ho. See Irwin v. Mascott, 370 F.3d 924, 929 (9th Cir. 2004) (holding that privity exists for issue preclusion purposes “when two parties are so closely aligned in interest that one is the virtual representative of the other”).

On July 20, 2018, Plaintiff filed a non-dischargeability action against Ho in the Northern District Bankruptcy Court (the "523 Action"). On August 23, 2018, the Chapter 7 Trustee in Ho's bankruptcy case filed a § 727 complaint to deny Ho's discharge (the "727 Action"). On April 9, 2019, the Northern District Bankruptcy Court entered judgment denying Ho's discharge, pursuant to § 727(a)(3) (the "Judgment Denying Discharge"). On April 16, 2019, Ho appealed the Judgment Denying Discharge to the United States District Court for the Northern District of California (the "District Court"). On June 7, 2019, the Northern District Bankruptcy Court denied Ho's motion for a stay pending appeal of the Judgment Denying Discharge. Ho's appeal of the Judgment Denying Discharge remains pending before the District Court. Proceedings in the 523 Action have been stayed pending resolution of the appeal of the Judgment Denying Discharge. On April 26, 2019, the Northern District Bankruptcy Court issued a minute order providing that the 523 Action "may be restored to the calendar after the District Court acts on the pending appeal" of the Judgment Denying Discharge.

B. Summary of Papers Filed in Connection with the Motion to Reopen

Plaintiff seeks an order reopening the instant adversary proceeding and setting the matter for an immediate status conference and trial.

Ho opposes the Motion. Ho asserts that if the proceeding is reopened, the parties must be given additional time to conduct discovery. Ho contends that the pretrial proceedings were based in significant part on the findings contained in the Memorandum of Decision. Specifically, Ho asserts that certain findings contained in the Final Joint Pretrial Stipulation Between the Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors, Tsai Luan Ho, and Benjamin Kirk as Modified by the Court [Doc. No. 89] (the "Pretrial Order") were predicated upon the Memorandum of Decision, and that such findings now fail in view of the District Court's reversal of the Memorandum of Decision. According to Ho, the Plan Administrator must now start from scratch to prove a case against Ho.

The Plan Administrator disputes Ho's contention that findings in the Pretrial Order were predicated upon the Memorandum of Decision. The Plan Administrator contends that Ho's arguments are merely an attempt to delay trial.

II. Findings and Conclusions

In the interests of judicial efficiency, the Court will not set this matter for trial until the District Court has decided Ho's appeal of the Judgment Denying Discharge. In the event that the District Court overturns the Judgment Denying Discharge, Plaintiff will be required to pursue the 523 Action to obtain a recovery against Ho. The 523 Action is based upon the same nucleus of operative facts as this action. The potential for duplicative litigation weighs against proceeding to trial at this time. In addition to wasting judicial resources, the additional costs resulting from a duplicative trial would decrease the recoveries available for distribution to creditors by the Plan Administrator.

A Status Conference shall be held on October 15, 2019, at 10:00 a.m. The parties shall file a Joint Status Report, which shall discuss the status of the appeal of the Judgment Denying Discharge, by no later than October 7, 2019. Once the District Court has adjudicated the appeal, the Court will determine whether it is appropriate to restore this matter to the trial calendar.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Jessica Vogel or Daniel Koontz at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. If you wish to make a telephonic appearance, contact Court Call at 888-882-6878, no later than one hour before the hearing.

Ho is the only remaining defendant in this action. On April 17, 2018, the Court approved a stipulation dismissing Benjamin Kirk with prejudice. Doc. No. 91.

Chapter 7

Reconsideration on Court Granting Disgorgement of Fees [Doc. No. 90]

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Hakop Jack Aivazian (the "Debtor") filed a voluntary chapter 11 petition for relief on October 16, 2018. On November 23, 2018, the Debtor filed an application to employ Leo Fasen ("Counsel") as his chapter 11 bankruptcy counsel [Doc. No. 17] (the "First Employment Application"). After the United States Trustee (the "UST") filed a timely objection and request for hearing [Doc. No. 18], the Debtor filed an amended application to employ [Doc. No. 19] (the "Second Employment Application"). Counsel also simultaneously filed an application for approval of compensation [Doc. No. 20] (the "Fee Application"). The UST filed a timely opposition to the Second Employment Application and Fee Application [Doc. No. 24].

The UST also sought conversion of the case pursuant to § 1112(b) [Doc. No. 21]. On January 17, 2019, the Court entered an order granting the UST's motion and converting this case to a case under chapter 7 [Doc. No. 31].

Summary of Disgorgement Motion

The UST also moved for an order requiring Counsel to disgorge the entire $8,000 in fees he received in connection with his representation of the Debtor on the basis that: (a) Counsel failed to obtain authorization of his employment, (b) Counsel's compensation exceeded the reasonable value of services provided to the Debtor, and (c) Counsel made misrepresentations and contradicting statements to the Court in his employment applications [Doc. No. 40] (the "Disgorgement Motion"). Counsel did not file an opposition to the Disgorgement Motion or appear at the hearing to contest the Court's tentative ruling. Accordingly, on April 19, 2019, the Court entered an order granting the Disgorgement Motion and directing Counsel to disgorge $8,000 in fees to the Chapter 7 Trustee by May 19, 2019 [Doc. No. 49] (the "Disgorgement Order").

Summary of Motion to Reconsider Disgorgement Motion

On May 7, 2019, Counsel filed a motion requesting that the Court reconsider the Disgorgement Order pursuant to Civil Rule 60(b) based on the limited grounds that the Court reduce the amount of fees required to be disgorged from $8,000 to $4,500 in order to reflect and conform with the amount of fees Counsel was actually paid by the Debtor in connection handling the Debtor's bankruptcy petition [Doc. No. 61] (the "Reconsideration Motion"). In support of the Reconsideration Motion, Counsel attached a declaration from the Debtor confirming that he only paid Counsel $4,500 [Id.].

Summary of the UST's Opposition

On May 9, 2019, the UST filed an Opposition [Doc. No. 63] arguing that reconsideration is unwarranted because (a) counsel failed to oppose the Disgorgement Motion or appear at the hearing, (b) there is no newly discovered evidence to support relief under Civil Rule 60, (c) any request for relief under Civil Rule 59 would be untimely, and (d) the evidence filed in support of the Reconsideration Motion is insufficient based on the numerous contradicting representations in the record.

Order Setting Evidentiary Hearing on Reconsideration Motion

Based on the Court's review of the Reconsideration Motion and Opposition, the Court issued an order setting an evidentiary hearing for June 4, 2019 and directing the Debtor to appear to provide testimony under oath regarding Counsel's fees [Doc. No. 65].

Counsel and the UST subsequently stipulated to continue the June 4, 2019 evidentiary hearing to July 10, 2019 [69, 72, 79 & 81].

Summary of Debtor's Supplemental Declaration

On July 2, 2019, the Debtor, acting through new counsel, filed a supplemental declaration that again states that as best as he can remember, he only paid Counsel a total of $4,500 in connection with this case [Doc. No. 87] (the "Supplemental Debtor Decl."). The Debtor further states that he has had difficulties remembering the details from the relevant time period because he was recovering from serious medical issues. Finally, the Debtor requests that the Court excuse him from personally appearing at the Evidentiary Hearing because it is difficult and painful for him to walk. The Debtor states that he is willing to appear by Court Call if the Court finds it

UST's Notice of Withdrawal of Opposition

On July 3, 2019, the UST filed a Notice of Withdrawal of its Opposition based on its review of the Debtor's Supplemental Declaration [Doc. No. 90]. The UST states that it has no objection to the Court entering an amended Disgorgement Order requiring Counsel to disgorge only $4,500, but requests that the amended order require Counsel to immediately disgorge the funds to the Chapter 7 Trustee and file a declaration so stating along with proof of payment.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Civil Rule 60(b)(1), made applicable herein by Bankruptcy Rule 9024, provides in relevant part:

On motion and just terms, the court may relieve a party or its legal representative from a final judgment, order, or proceeding for the following reasons: (1) mistake, inadvertence, surprise, or excusable neglect . . .

Fed. R. Civ. P. 60(b)(1); Fed. R. Bankr. P. 9024.

Excusable neglect "encompass[es] situations in which the failure to comply with a filing deadline is attributable to negligence," and includes "omissions caused by carelessness." Pioneer Inv. Servs. Co. v. Brunswick Assocs. Ltd., 507 U.S. 380, 388, 394, 113 S. Ct. 1489, 123 L. Ed. 2d 74 (1993). The determination of whether neglect is excusable "is at bottom an equitable one, taking account of all relevant circumstances surrounding the party's omission." Id. at 395. Additionally, Civil Rule 60(b)(6) authorizes the Court to relieve a party from a final judgment for "any other reason that justifies relief." Fed. R. Civ. P. 60(b)(6).

In this case, Counsel states that he tried to obtain a declaration from the Debtor regarding the actual amount of fees he received from the Debtor but was unable to do so in time for the hearing. Additionally, the Debtor has since retained other counsel and filed a supplemental declaration confirming that he only paid Counsel $4,500. In view of the Debtor's Supplemental Declaration, the Court finds it appropriate to excuse the Debtor's attendance at the Evidentiary Hearing and find that Counsel only received a total of $4,500 in compensation from the Debtor in connection with pre- and post-petition representation of the Debtor. Because the Disgorgement Order was predicated on the Court's finding that Counsel received $8,000 in compensation – a finding that is now no longer supported by the record – relief appears warranted under Civil Rule 60(b)(6). Alternatively, the Court finds that relief is warranted under Civil Rule 60(b)(1) based on Counsel's excusable neglect. In so ruling, the Court finds that Counsel's delay was relatively short, has not resulted in any direct prejudice to parties in interest and has not unfairly hindered the Chapter 7 Trustee's ability to administer the estate.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the Reconsideration Motion is GRANTED. Counsel is directed to disgorge $4,500 in fees to the Chapter 7 Trustee by no later than July 19, 2019 and file a declaration with the Court confirming that payment has been timely made. If Counsel fails to either timely make the disgorgement payment or file a declaration in accordance with this tentative ruling, the Court will issue an order directing Counsel to appear and show cause why the Court should not impose sanctions for failure to comply with an order of the Court.

The Court will prepare the order.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Daniel Koontz or Jessica Vogel at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Sergio Miranda and Esmeralda Miranda (together, the "Debtors") filed a voluntary chapter 11 petition (the "Bankruptcy Case" or "Main Case") on April 24, 2013 (the "Petition Date") [2:13-bk-20738-TD]. On December 6, 2013, the Debtors filed their Chapter 11 Plan of Reorganization [Main Case Doc. No. 103] (the "Plan"). On August 7, 2014, the Debtors obtained an Order Confirming Chapter 11 Plan of Reorganization [Main Case, Doc. No. 139] (the "Confirmation Order"). On February 3, 2015, the Court entered an Order Granting Motion for Final Decree [Doc. No. 155] and closed the Debtors' case on March 13, 2015.

On February 23, 2019, the Debtors moved to reopen their case to initiate an adversary proceeding to enforce the provisions of their confirmed Plan, which the Court granted by order entered February 27, 2019 [Doc. Nos. 161 & 163]. On February 25, 2019, the case was transferred from Judge Thomas B. Donovan to Judge Ernest M. Robles.

Summary of Complaint

On March 31, 2019, the Debtors initiated an adversary proceeding by filing a complaint against Bank of America National Association ("Bank of America") and Shellpoint Mortgage Servicing LLC ("Shellpoint," and together with Bank of America, the "Defendants") asserting claims for breach of contract, declaratory judgment and injunction [2:19-ap-01079-ER, Adv. Doc. No. 1] (the "Complaint").

The allegations of the Complaint are as follows:

- Pre-petition, the Debtors acquired interests in two parcels of real property: (1) 1123 West 119th Street, Los Angeles, CA 90044 (the "1123 Property"); and (2) 1118 West 119th Street, Los Angeles, CA 90044 (the "1118 Property," and the Plan have proved abortive. Id., ¶ 22.

In support of the Complaint, the Debtors attached the Plan (Ex. 1) and the Order confirming the Plan (Ex. 2).

Based on the foregoing allegations, the Debtors assert that they are entitled to damages arising from the Defendants' alleged breach of contract ("Claim One"). The Debtors allege that the Plan constituted a written contract between the Debtors and Defendants, that the Debtors have substantially performed all of the terms required of them, that the Defendants breached the contract, and that the Debtors have suffered harm as a result of Defendants' breach.

The Debtors also seek entry of a declaratory judgment in their favor finding that the Defendants are bound by the Plan and ordering the Defendants to comply with the terms of the Plan ("Claim Two").

Summary of Bank of America's Motion to Dismiss

On April 24, 2019, Bank of America moved to dismiss the Complaint, without leave to amend pursuant to Rule 12(b)(6) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. First, Bank of America states that it cannot have been bound by the Debtors' Plan because it was neither a servicer nor lender of either loan for the Properties at the time the Debtors' Plan was confirmed because, prior to confirmation, Assignments of Deeds of Trust were executed and recorded conveying Bank of America's rights to third parties. In support of this argument, Bank of America requests the Court take judicial notice of twelve documents relevant to establishing that it assigned its rights away prior to confirmation of the Debtors' Plan. Therefore, Bank of America argues that the Debtors' breach of contract claims must fail because the Plan did not create a contract between the Debtors and Bank of America. Alternatively, Bank of America contends that dismissal is appropriate because the Complaint fails to adequately state a claim for relief because it fails to adequately set forth what Bank of America failed to perform that subjects it to a breach of contract claim.

With respect to Claim Two, Bank of America argues that because the Debtors cannot succeed on their breach of contract claim against it, the Debtors' request for declaratory and injunctive relief must also be dismissed because they are not independent claims that can stand alone.

Bank of America also highlights that this is the Debtors' second attempt to hold it accountable for the alleged breach of contract claim. More specifically, Bank of America states that on May 12, 2017, the Debtors filed a lawsuit in state court against Bank of America, Ditech, and Nationstar. However, Ditech filed a demurrer which was sustained without leave to amend, Nationstar obtained judgment in its favor pursuant to a motion for summary judgment, and Bank of America was dismissed on August 8, 2018 pursuant to its request for dismissal.

Summary of the Debtors' Opposition

The Debtors make the following arguments in opposition to the Motion to Dismiss. First, the Debtors argue that the motion should be dismissed because Bank of America only served Debtors' counsel with the motion and failed to serve the Debtors directly as required by Local Bankruptcy Rule ("LBR") 9013-1(d)(1). Next, the Debtors argue that Bank of America is precluded from challenging the Confirmation Order under the principle of res judicata because it received notice of the Debtors' solicitation package and could have raised these arguments in opposition to plan confirmation. The Debtors also argue that Bank of America has not presented any evidence demonstrating that it transferred the underlying promissory notes along with the deeds of trust and, as a result, the alleged transfers may not have been legally effective.

The Debtors further argue that even if Bank of America legally assigned its rights away before the Plan was confirmed, it was still bound by the Plan because it had a full and fair opportunity to object and it failed to do so. The Debtors also appear to argue that Bank of America's argument that it assigned its interests away pre-confirmation is an affirmative defense and that raising that defense in connection with its Rule 12(b)(6) motion is not procedurally proper.

Next, the Debtors argue that to the extent Bank of America is attempting to assert that res judicata precludes the Debtors from pursuing their claims against it in this action because of its dismissal from the state court action, such argument must fail because the dismissal was without prejudice. Finally, the Debtors argue that the Complaint contains sufficient allegations to adequately plead claims for relief for breach of contract and declaratory relief because of the liberal pleading rules in federal courts.

The Debtors also raise a number of objections to Bank of America's request for judicial notice to the extent that it seeks to introduce the requested documents for the truth of the facts contained within those documents and objects to Exhibits I and J on the basis that those documents lack relevance with the matters at issue in this case.

Summary of Bank of America's Reply in Support of its Motion to Dismiss

Bank of America filed a reply responding to the Debtors' arguments as follows. First, Bank of America maintains that its service of the motion was proper under applicable local rules. Second, Bank of America argues that res judicata is inapplicable because it is illogical to argue that it is bound by a Plan that affects property it had no legal interest or rights in just because the Debtors mistakenly listed it as the holder of the secured claims in its Plan. Bank of America also argues that the Debtors cannot satisfy a necessary res judicata element because there was no prior action between Bank of America and the Debtors.

Next, Bank of America states that it does not seek to have this Complaint dismissed on the grounds that it was previously dismissed from the state court action and that it was simply highlighting the Debtors' litigation history to provide further support for the baseless claims the Debtors are presently asserting against it. Finally, Bank of America reiterates that the allegations in the Complaint fail to adequately state claims for relief.

Bank of America also filed a response to the Debtor's objection to its request for judicial notice setting forth the basis for why the Debtors' objection should be overruled.

Order Notifying Parties that Motion to Dismiss Will be Treated as Motion for Summary Judgment

After reviewing Bank of America's Motion to Dismiss, which contains several exhibits going beyond the four corners of the Debtors' Complaint, the Court issued an order informing the parties that the Motion to Dismiss would be treated as a motion for summary judgment [Adv. Doc. No. 15] (the "Order"). The Order provided the parties the opportunity to submit additional materials for the Court's consideration in connection with the Motion. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b) (made applicable pursuant to Fed. R. Bankr. P. 7012) ("If, on a motion under Rule 12(b)(6) . . . , matters outside the pleadings are presented to and not excluded by the court, the motion must be treated as one for summary judgment under Rule 56. All parties must be given a reasonable opportunity to present all the material that is pertinent to the motion"). The deadline to submit additional materials was June 19, 2019.

Summary of Bank of America's Supplemental Declaration

On June 12, 2019, Bank of America submitted the declaration Susan E. Magaddino, Assistant Vice President of Bank of America [Adv. Doc. No. 23] (the "Magaddino Declaration" or "Magaddino Decl."), which attached additional evidence in support of the motion. In addition to referring to the documents filed with its request for judicial notice, Bank of America also attached, among other things, pre-confirmation date letters from Bank of America to the Debtors informing them that the servicing of the respective loans for the Properties were being transferred to new servicers [Adv. Doc. No. 23, Ex. 2 & 3].

Summary of the Debtors' Supplemental Opposition

On June 19, 2019, the Debtors filed a supplemental opposition responding to the Magaddino Declaration [Adv. Doc. No. 24] (the "Supplemental Opposition"). The Debtors' Supplemental Opposition does not contain any additional evidence for the Court's consideration. Instead, the Debtors repeat their contention that Bank of America has not presented sufficient evidence establishing that it was not bound by the Plan because there is no evidence that Bank of America transferred the underlying promissory notes along with the deeds of trust.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

A. The Debtors Have Not Been Denied Due Process

As a preliminary matter, the Court finds that the Debtors have not been denied due process by not being individually served with the Motion to Dismiss because they had a full and fair opportunity to respond to the motion. Furthermore, the Debtors were notified of the Court's intention to convert the Motion to Dismiss into a motion for summary judgment and submitted a timely Supplemental Opposition.

B. Request for Judicial Notice

In view of the Court's conversion of the Motion to Dismiss into a motion for summary judgment, the Court need not rule on the parties' dispute over whether and to what extent this Court may grant Bank of America's requests for judicial notice. Instead, the Court considers all of the evidence in the record and reviews such evidence in the light most favorable to the Debtors, as the non-moving parties, with all justifiable inferences drawn in their favor. Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc., 477 U.S. 242, 255, 106 S.Ct. 2505, 91 L.Ed.2d 202 (1986); see also Easley v. City of Riverside, 765 Fed. Appx. 282, 283 (9th Cir. 2019) (same).

C. Applicable Standard

Summary judgment is proper "if the pleadings, depositions, answers to interrogatories, and admissions on file, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact and that the moving party is entitled to a judgment as a matter of law." Fed. R. Civ. P. 56 (incorporated by Bankruptcy Rule 7056); Celotex Corp. v. Catrett, 477 U.S. 317, 323, 106 S.Ct. 2548, 91 L.Ed.2d 265 (1986). The moving party has no burden to negate or disprove matters on which the non-moving party will have the burden of proof at trial. Sluimer v. Verity, Inc., 606 F.3d 584, 586 (9th Cir. 2010). The moving party need only point out to the court that there is an absence of evidence to support the non-moving party's case. Id. (citing Celotex, 477 U.S. at 325). The burden then shifts to the non-moving party to "designate specific facts showing that there is a genuine issue for trial." Id. (citing Celotex, 477 U.S. at 324).

Federal Rule of Civil Procedure ("Rule") 56(c) mandates the entry of summary judgment, after adequate time for discovery and upon motion, against a party who fails to make a showing sufficient to establish the existence of an element essential to that party's case, and on which that party will bear the burden of proof at trial. Celotex, 477 U.S. 317, 322.

1. The Debtors Lack Standing to Challenge the Effectiveness of Bank of America's Assignments

The Debtors challenge the validity of Bank of America's assignment of its interests in the relevant loans to Green Tree and Nationstar on the grounds that Bank of America has not produced any evidence to establish that it assigned the promissory notes along with the deeds of trust. Because the Debtors lack standing to challenge the efficacy of the assignments, this argument fails. [Note 1]

Generally, "third parties do not have enforceable contract rights unless they are intended beneficiaries." Dicion v. Mann Mortg., LLC, 718 F. App'x 476, 478 (9th Cir. 2017). Accordingly, a third-party borrower lacks standing to challenge the effectiveness of an assignment unless the assignment is void, as opposed to voidable. Id.; see also Banares v. Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., 2014 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 29909, 2014 WL 985532, at *5 (N.D. Cal. Mar. 7, 2014). In Barnes, the court determined that violations of a purchase and sale agreement – such as failing to assign the deed of trust or endorse the note – rendered the assignment of a mortgage voidable, and not void. 2014 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 29909, at *5 (rejecting Glaski v. Bank of America, N.A., 218 Cal. App. 4th 1079, 160 Cal. Rptr. 3d 449 (2013)); see also Christie v. Bank of New York Mellon, N.A., 617 Fed. Appx. 680, 681 (9th Cir. 2015) (As a borrower, Christie does not have standing under California law to challenge irregularities in the assignment of her Note or Deed of Trust because those instruments are negotiable and her obligations thereunder remain unchanged even if her creditor changes). In this case, the Debtors' challenges to the relevant assignments would render the assignments voidable, not void. Therefore, the Debtors have not demonstrated that they have standing to attack the assignments on this basis.

Similarly, the Debtors lack standing to assert that the assignments were defective because Bank of America has not established that MERS was authorized to assign Bank of America's rights under the respective promissory notes. See e.g., Dicion v. Mann Mortg., LLC, 718 F. App'x 476, 478 (9th Cir. 2017) ("A challenge to the validity of an assignment based on the executor's lack of authority would make the assignment voidable, not void"); Paik-Apau, 2012 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 151397, 2012 WL 5207495, at *5 ("Paik-Apau's challenges to the assignments of her loan go to whether those assignments are voidable, as she argues that persons or entities lacked authority to assign the loan documents. She lacks standing to make those challenges"); Deutsche Bank Tr. Co. v. Beesley, 2012 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 156838, 2012 WL 5383555, at *6 (D. Haw. Oct. 30, 2012) ("Nor do the Beesleys create standing to contest the validity of the assignments by questioning the power of any person or entity making the assignments"); Siliga v. Mortgage Electronic Registration Sys. (2013) 219 Cal. App. 4th 75 (holding that borrower could not challenge MERS's authority to assign note and deed of trust when language of deed of trust expressly permitted MERS to exercise all rights and interests of lender, which necessarily included authority to assign).

This Court is aware of the California Supreme Court's decision, Yvanova v. New Century Mortg. Corp., in which the court held that a "home loan borrower has standing to claim a nonjudicial foreclosure was wrongful because an assignment by which the foreclosing party purportedly took a beneficial interest in the deed of trust was not merely voidable but void, depriving the foreclosing party of any legitimate authority to order a trustee's sale." 62 Cal. 4th 919, 942-43, 199 Cal. Rptr. 3d 66, 365 P.3d 845 (2016). However, the Yvanova court expressly limited its application to instances in which a borrower has suffered injury arising from a nonjudicial foreclosure. Id. at 924. Furthermore, since Yvanova's ruling, "courts have confirmed that the decision is expressly limited to the post-foreclosure context," which makes it inapplicable to the facts of this case. Watson v. Bank of Am., N.A., 2016 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 154375, at *46-49 (S.D. Cal. Nov. 7, 2016) (citing Saterbak v. JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A., 245 Cal. App. 4th 808, 815, 199 Cal. Rptr. 3d 790 (2016) (borrower lacked standing to challenge cancellation of assignment of deed of trust prior to a foreclosure and because the allegations render the assignment voidable, not void)).

Moreover, the Yvanova court stated that its ruling was predicated on its "concern[] only with prejudice in the sense of an injury sufficiently concrete and personal to provide standing" and concluded that a borrower meets the general standard for standing to sue by showing an invasion of his or her legally protected interest. 62 Cal. 4th at 937-38. In this case, the Debtors have not established that their alleged injuries stem from the purportedly ineffective assignments. For example, the Debtors do not assert that both Bank of America and the assignees of the loans have attempted to collect under the loans or that they have suffered a wrongful foreclosure. Rather, it appears the Debtors' prejudice, if any, is entirely one of their own making as a result of their failure to properly name Green Tree and Nationstar in their Plan or later seek to amend the Plan to name those parties. Therefore, the Court finds that the Debtors have not alleged any harm, injury or prejudice "sufficiently concrete and personal to provide standing" to challenge the assignments. Yvanova, 62 Cal. 4th at 937.

2. The Debtors are Estopped From Challenging the Effectiveness of Bank of America's Assignment to Green Tree

The Court also finds that the Debtors are estopped from challenging the effectiveness of the assignment from Bank of America to Green Tree with respect to the 1118 Property. The doctrine of judicial estoppel "generally prevents a party from prevailing in one phase of a case on an argument and then relying on a contradictory argument to prevail in another phase." New Hampshire v. Maine, 532 U.S. 742, 749, 121 S. Ct. 1808, 1814, 149 L. Ed. 2d 968 (2001).

As Bank of America highlights, on June 20, 2013, almost six months before the Debtors filed the Plan, Green Tree file a Notice of Transfer of Claim [Main Case, Doc. No. 46] giving the Debtors notice of Bank of America's assignment of its interests in the 1118 Property. The Debtors subsequently acknowledged Green Tree as the legal assignee by entering into a Stipulation Re: Treatment of Creditor's Claim Under Debtors' Chapter 11 Plan of Reorganization with Green Tree [Main Case, Doc. No. 113] (the "Green Tree Stipulation"), which this Court also approved [Main Case, Doc. No. 117]. The Green Tree Stipulation provides, in relevant part:

The terms of this Stipulation may not be modified, altered, or changed by the Debtors' Chapter 11 Plan; any subsequently filed amended or modified Chapter 11 Plan of Reorganization or any order on the foregoing without the express written consent of the Creditor. The above terms of this Stipulation shall be incorporated into the Debtors' Chapter 11 Plan and/or any subsequently filed amended or modified Chapter 11 Plan and confirmation order thereon. In the event of a conflict between a term or provisions of this Stipulation and Debtors' Chapter 11 Plan, or any amendments or modifications thereto, the terms of this Stipulation shall control.

Therefore, despite the fact that the Debtors' Plan identifies Bank of America as the holder of the Class 5(a) claim [Main Case, Doc No. 103], any reference to Bank of America was effectively replaced by the relevant provisions of the Green Tree Stipulation. Furthermore, based on this Court's independent review of relevant documents filed in the main case, the Court notes that Green Tree was the only impaired creditor to cast ballots in favor of the Debtors' Plan and, without Green Tree's votes, the Debtors would not have obtained confirmation of their Plan [See Main Case, Doc. Nos. 134, 135 & 136].

Based on the foregoing, the Court finds that the Debtors are estopped from now taking the contradictory position that Bank of America's assignment was ineffective – i.e. that Green Tree did not have the authority to take any legal actions with respect to the 1118 Property – to gain a tactical advantage against Bank of America in this action. The Court also notes the absurdity in this argument because if the Green Tree assignment was ineffective, then the Confirmation Order must be vacated and there would no longer be any binding Plan that could support the Debtors' breach of contract claim in this action.

For the same reasons, the Court finds that the Debtors have waived and forfeited any rights to challenge the effectiveness of the 1118 Property assignment.

3. Res Judicata is Inapplicable

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1141(a), ". . .the provisions of a confirmed plan bind the debtor . . . any entity acquiring property under the plan, and any creditor . . . whether or not the claim or interest of such creditor . . . is impaired under the plan and whether or not such creditor . . . has accepted the plan." "Once a bankruptcy plan is confirmed, it is binding on all parties and all questions that could have been raised pertaining to the plan are entitled to res judicata effect." Trulia v. Barton, 107 F.3d 685 (9th Cir. 1995).

In this case, the undisputed facts demonstrate that Bank of America ceased to be a creditor of the Debtors' prior to the filing, and confirmation, of the Plan. Accordingly, the Court rejects the Debtors' contention that the Plan should be afforded a res judicata effect to bar Bank of America from raising this issue because the argument incorrectly presupposes that Bank of America was a creditor or party-in-interest that could be bound by the Plan, despite having no interest legal or equitable interest in the property dealt with by the Plan.

4. Bank of America is Entitled to Judgment as a Matter of Law

Turning to the merits, the Court finds that Bank of America is entitled to judgment as a matter of law. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 56, made applicable by Fed. R. Bankr. P. 7056. Based on this Court's review of the relevant pleadings and evidence, the Court finds there can be no genuine dispute as to the following material facts:

1123 & 1123 ½ W 119th Street, Los Angeles, CA 90044 (the "1123 Property")

xiii. Green Tree cast the only ballots in favor of the Debtors Plan [Main Case, Doc. Nos. 134, 135 & 136].

xiv. On August 7, 2014, the Court entered an Order Confirming the Debtors' Plan [Main Case, Doc. No. 139].

The Debtors claim that Bank of America was bound by the terms of their confirmed Plan and subsequently breached those terms by sending them mortgage statements that do not reflect the terms of the confirmed Plan. However, the evidence before the Court, submitted by Bank of America, establishes that Bank of America was neither the holder of the notes and deeds of trust for the Properties, nor the servicers of the loans as of the date the Debtors obtained confirmation of their Plan. Despite being afforded an opportunity, the Debtors have not responded with any evidence to controvert Bank of America's evidence. Therefore, on this record, the Court finds that Bank of America was not bound by the Plan because it had no legal or equitable interest in the property dealt with by the Plan.

Accordingly, the Bank is entitled to judgment in its favor with respect to the Debtors' breach of contract claim. Furthermore, because the Debtors have not established as a matter of law that Bank of America was bound by the Plan, the Court will also enter judgment in favor of Bank of America on the Debtors' second claim for relief for declaratory and injunctive relief.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the Court will enter summary judgment in Bank of America's favor.

Bank of America is directed to submit an order indicating that judgment has been granted in its favor within seven days of the hearing.

#7.00 HearingRE: [19] Motion to Dismiss Adversary Proceeding

Docket 19

Tentative Ruling:

7/9/2019

The Court will treat the instant Motion to Dismiss as a motion for summary judgment. Hearing is continued to August 21, 2019 at 10:00 a.m. July 19, 2019 is the deadline for the Plaintiffs to file and serve any additional briefs, including a statement of uncontroverted facts and conclusions of law and a statement of genuine issues. Shellpoint shall have to and including July 29, 2019 to file any additional briefs, including a statement of uncontroverted facts and conclusions of law and a statement of genuine issues.

The Court notes that Exhibit 4 to the Declaration of Erin McCarthy does not appear to be the correct Assignment of Deed of Trust and should be corrected.

The parties should focus their briefs on the following issue: The crux of the Plaintiffs' breach of contract claim is that Nationstar was bound by the Plan and, therefore, as the servicer of Nationstar's successor-in-interest, Shellpoint is also bound. However, it is unclear whether there is evidence establishing that Nationstar was identified in the Plan or that Nationstar ever received appropriate notice.

Chapter 11

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

A. Background

On August 31, 2018 (the "Petition Date"), Verity Health Systems of California ("VHS") and certain of its subsidiaries filed voluntary petitions for relief under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. On August 31, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the Debtors' motion for joint administration of the Debtors' Chapter 11 cases. Doc. No. 17.

UnitedHealthcare Insurance Company ("UnitedHealthcare") and Cigna Healthcare of California, Inc. and various entities affiliated with Cigna (the "Cigna Entities," and together with UnitedHealthcare, the "Movants") are both parties to various agreements with the Debtors. Under the agreements, members of health insurance plans administered by Movants receive benefits at the Debtors' hospitals.

On February 19, 2019, the Court entered an Order (I) Approving Form of Asset Purchase Agreement for Stalking Horse Bidder and for Prospective Overbidders, (2) Approving Auction Sale Format, Bidding Procedures and Stalking Horse Bid Protections, (3) Approving Form of Notice to be Provided to Interested Parties, (4) Scheduling a Court Hearing to Consider Approval of the Sale to the Highest Bidder and (5) Approving Procedures Related to the Assumption of Certain Executory Contracts and Unexpired Leases; and (II) An Order (A) Authorizing the Sale of Property Free and Clear of All Claims, Liens and Encumbrances [Doc. No. 1572] (the "Bidding Procedures Order"). The Bidding Procedures Order established procedures governing the assumption and assignment of executory contracts and unexpired leases. Pursuant to those procedures, the Debtors filed various notices designating the executory contracts and unexpired leases which the Debtors intend to assume and assign (the "Designated Contracts," and the list of Designated Contracts, the "Designation Schedule"). On May 2, 2019, the Court entered an order approving the sale of certain hospitals operated by the Debtors to Strategic Global Management ("SGM"). See Doc. No. 2306 (the "Sale Order"). Pursuant to the Sale Order, SGM may add agreements to the Designation Schedule up until thirty days prior to the closing of the sale, and may remove agreements from the Designation Schedule up until seven days prior to closing.

The contracts between the Debtors and Movants are not subject to the Sale Order's provisions regarding SGM's time to add and remove agreements from the Designation Schedule. The Bidding Procedures Order provides in relevant part:

The Debtors shall, no later than the earlier of (i) 48 hours after the conclusion of the Auction, or (ii) thirty (30) days prior to the Closing Date, provide Cigna with written notice of its irrevocable decision as to whether or not the Debtors propose to assume and assign any or all of the Cigna Provider Agreements as part of the Sale; provided, however, that such notice shall be irrevocable only to the extent that the Successful Bidder's transaction is approved by this Court and an order thereon becomes final and non-appealable. The Debtors shall provide the same notice to UnitedHealthcare Insurance Company.

Bidding Procedures Order at ¶ 7.

This language was included in the Bidding Procedures Order to resolve Movants' objections to the assumption/rejection timeline. Movants had argued that the timeline did not provide them sufficient time to notify health plan beneficiaries of changes in coverage, as required by law. The tentative ruling on the Bidding Procedures Motion explained the reason for the inclusion of the language as follows:

UnitedHealthcare requests that the Debtors provide notice of the contracts to be assumed and assigned at least 70 days before the Closing Date.

The Court finds that the timetable proposed by the Debtors provides UnitedHealthcare sufficient notice of whether its executory contracts will be assumed and assigned. The Debtors will provide notice of the contracts to be assumed on April 11, 2019, two days after the Full Bid Auction concludes on April 9, 2019. In the Court's experience, the Attorney General's review of the transaction will require several months. Therefore, UnitedHealthcare will receive in excess of the 70 days' notice that it requests.

B. Summary of Papers Filed in Connection with the Motion

The Debtors have declined to provide Movants with an irrevocable decision as to whether their agreements will be assumed or rejected. Movants seek an order compelling the Debtors to comply with ¶ 7 of the Bidding Procedures Order. Movants assert that pursuant to ¶ 7, the Debtors were required to provide an irrevocable decision by no later than April 11, 2019 (that is, 48 hours after the conclusion of the Auction). Movants seek an order compelling the Debtors to provide an irrevocable decision within one business day of entry of an order on the Motion.

The Debtors and SGM oppose the Motion. The Debtors assert that because the Auction did not take place, the language requiring them to provide notice by the earlier of "48 hours after conclusion of the Auction" was never triggered. Debtors' position is that the deadline to provide an irrevocable decision is thirty days prior to the closing of the sale. Debtors maintain that they are in compliance with the Bidding Procedures Order, and contend that the Motion amounts to an impermissible collateral attack upon the order. SGM argues that it should be provided an additional time to determine whether the agreements should be assumed and assigned given the complexity of the transaction.

In Reply, Movants contend that the Debtors' interpretation of the Bidding Procedures Order is absurd:

The Debtors' position that it did not have to provide irrevocable notice on April 11, 2019, because the auction scheduled for August 9, 2019, was unnecessary due to the lack of a qualified bidder is simply absurd. If a qualified bidder submitted a full bid by the April 3, 2019 bid deadline and prevailed in the full bid auction on April 9, 2019, the Debtors concede that they would have had to make the irrevocable designation by April 11, 2019. However, since no bidder submitted a qualified bid and the auction was not necessary, the Debtors claim that this Court did not require them to make the irrevocable designation by April 11, 2019, and the Purchaser would have three months, if not more, to make this designation.

This makes no sense. Why would the Court provide months of additional time for the Purchaser to make an irrevocable designation decision when it had been involved in this transaction since at least January 2019, but make a new bidder make this decision by the April 11 designation deadline? The answer is clearly that it did not. The Court required all parties to make the designation by April 11, 2019, or possibly earlier if the sale was going to close in less than thirty days from that date.... [T]he "48 hours" after the conclusion of the auction language was used in lieu of a fixed date to allow for the possibility that the Auction, if held, may not have concluded on April 9, 2019. The "thirty (30) days" language was included so as to accelerate the required notice if the Sale Closing was to occur shortly after the Sale Hearing.

Reply at ¶¶ 5–6.

Movants further assert that the Debtors' interpretation of the Bidding Procedures

Order is inconsistent with representations made by the Debtors during the adjudication of the Bidding Procedures Motion:

The Debtors conveniently ignore that, in their reply to United's Bid Procedures Objection, they agreed to provide notice to all parties of whether their executory contracts will be assumed and assigned to the "Successful Bidder(s) on the day after the Full Bid Auction concludes" and argued that "given the fourth month time period for the AG review of the transaction, this timeline should be more than sufficient to satisfy the timing concerns raised" by United and Cigna. (Docket No. 1448, p. 6.) Thus, the Debtors explained that the four-month AG review would provide United ample time to provide notice to its members if the Purchaser does not have the contracts assumed and assigned to it.

Reply at ¶ 7.

II. Findings and Conclusions

The Court rejects the Debtors' interpretation of the Bidding Procedures Order. The Debtors now assert that language in the Bidding Procedures Order keying deadlines to the "conclusion of the Auction" is ineffectual because the Auction never took place. The Debtors' interpretation is inconsistent with representations made by the Debtors during the adjudication of the Bidding Procedures Motion. Specifically, the Debtors stated:

As indicated above, the Debtors will provide all parties with notification of whether their contract is to be assumed and assigned to the Successful Bidder(s) on the day after the Full Bid Auction concludes. The Debtors, however, cannot give assurance that such notice will be irrevocable as the Debtors cannot predict whether the Successful Bidder's transaction will be approved by this Court or whether it will survive any potential litigation with the AG. Nonetheless, given the four month time period for the AG review of the transaction, this timeline should be more than sufficient to satisfy the timing concerns raised in both the Cigna and United Objections.

Based upon the Debtors' representation, the Court made the following finding in Tentative Ruling on Bidding Procedures Motion [Doc. No. 2564, Ex. A] at 40.

The Debtors persuaded the Court that it was acceptable for Movants to receive notice of whether their agreements would be assumed and assigned on April 11, 2019—two days after the Auction was scheduled to occur. The Debtors are now judicially estopped from taking a contrary position. See Hamilton v. State Farm Fire & Cas. Co., 270 F.3d 778, 782 (9th Cir. 1982) ("Judicial estoppel is an equitable doctrine that precludes a party from gaining an advantage by asserting one position, and then later seeking an advantage by taking a clearly inconsistent position").

In addition, the Debtors' interpretation of the Bidding Procedures Order is unduly strained. The Bidding Procedures Order keys various deadlines to the "conclusion of the Auction." Even though the Auction did not take place, the Debtors have still observed these deadlines. For example, the Debtors provided contract counterparties notice of whether their contract had been designated for assumption within 48 hours after the time the Auction had been scheduled to take place.

Based upon the foregoing, the Motion is GRANTED, except that the deadline for the Debtors to provide an irrevocable designation as to the assumption or rejection of Movants' agreements shall be July 17, 2019, at 5:00 p.m. (instead of one day after entry of an order approving the Motion).

The Court will prepare and enter an appropriate order.

Chapter 11

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

A. Background

On August 31, 2018 (the "Petition Date"), Verity Health Systems of California ("VHS") and certain of its subsidiaries filed voluntary petitions for relief under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. On August 31, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the Debtors' motion for joint administration of the Debtors' Chapter 11 cases. Doc. No. 17.

Seoul Medical Group, Inc. (the "Group") moves for an order shortening the time by which Debtor St. Vincent Medical Center ("St. Vincent") must assume or reject the Healthcare Services Risk Sharing Agreement (the "Agreement") with the Group.

On May 1, 2017, St. Vincent entered into the Agreement with the Group. The Group is an integrated practice association ("IPA") of doctors who in the past have referred patients to St. Vincent for treatment.

On February 19, 2019, the Court entered an Order (I) Approving Form of Asset Purchase Agreement for Stalking Horse Bidder and for Prospective Overbidders, (2) Approving Auction Sale Format, Bidding Procedures and Stalking Horse Bid Protections, (3) Approving Form of Notice to be Provided to Interested Parties, (4) Scheduling a Court Hearing to Consider Approval of the Sale to the Highest Bidder and (5) Approving Procedures Related to the Assumption of Certain Executory Contracts and Unexpired Leases; and (II) An Order (A) Authorizing the Sale of Property Free and Clear of All Claims, Liens and Encumbrances [Doc. No. 1572] (the "Bidding Procedures Order"). The Bidding Procedures Order established procedures governing the assumption and assignment of executory contracts and unexpired leases. Pursuant to those procedures, the Debtors filed various notices designating the executory contracts and unexpired leases which the Debtors intend to assume and assign (the "Designated Contracts," and the list of Designated Contracts, the "Designation Schedule"). On May 2, 2019, the Court entered an order approving the sale of St. Vincent and other hospitals operated by the Debtors to Strategic Global Management ("SGM"). See Doc. No. 2306 (the "Sale Order").

On April 11, 2019, the Debtors removed the Agreement from the Designation Schedule. See Notice of Executory Contracts and Unexpired Leases Designated by Strategic Global Management, Inc. for Assumption and Assignment [Doc. No. 2131] at 18. However, pursuant to the Sale Order, Strategic may add agreements to the Designation Schedule up until thirty days prior to the closing of the sale, and may remove agreements from the Designation Schedule up until seven days prior to closing.

B. Summary of Papers Filed in Connection with the Motion

The Group seeks entry of an order compelling the Debtors to file a motion to assume or reject the Agreement within sixty days of the date of entry of an order granting the instant Motion. The Group contends that such an order is necessary for the following reasons:

- 1) The Group needs certainty regarding its operations, including whether St. Vincent will remain as a treatment option for patients.
- 2) The Group has legitimate concerns that St. Vincent and VHS have misappropriated the risk pool funds that the Group is entitled to receive under the Agreement.
- 3) The Debtors have defaulted under the Agreement. If the Debtors wish to assume the Agreement, they must pay the Group approximately $4 million to cure the default.

Debtors oppose the Motion for the following reasons:

- 1) There is no merit to the Group's argument that it needs certainty regarding whether St. Vincent will remain as a treatment option for the Group's patients. Under the Agreement, the Group provided services to patients of the Central Health Plan. In August 2018, the Central Health Plan terminated its relationship with St. Vincent. St. Vincent ceased providing in-network care to the Group's patients since termination of its relationship with the Central Health Plan.
- 2) The allegation that the Debtors have mishandled risk pool funds is not supported by any evidence and should be disregarded.
- 3) The Group's claim that the Debtors owe $4 million on account of an alleged default shows that the Agreement is non-executory. The Group was discharged from any of its obligations under the Agreement when Central Health Plan terminated its relationship with St. Vincent. The only obligation remaining under the agreement is the payment of money, which means that the Agreement is not executory.

SGM opposes the Motion. SGM asserts that it needs additional time to make an irrevocable decision as to whether to add the Agreement to the Designation Schedule.

Chapter 11

In Reply, the Group argues that the Debtors conflate the Central Health Plan's termination of its relationship with St. Vincent with the end of the patient care relationship between the Group and St. Vincent. According to the Group, after St. Vincent terminated its relationship with the Central Health Plan, the Group continued to refer patients to St. Vincent pursuant to the terms of the contract that was in place before the Agreement took effect.

II. Findings and Conclusions

At the outset, the Court declines the Group's request that the Debtors' Opposition be disregarded. The Group correctly notes that the Opposition was filed one day late. However, the late filing resulted only from the fact that the Debtors inadvertently filed an incorrect document in response to the Motion and did not realize the error until the next day. See Notice of Errata Re Debtors' Opposition [Doc. No. 2641] (stating that the Debtors "inadvertently filed an incorrect document" on June 26, and filed the corrected document on June 27). The brief delay occasioned by this inadvertence did not prejudice the Group's ability to file a Reply to the Opposition.

Pursuant to § 365(d)(2), the Debtors may assume or reject an executory contract at any time prior to plan confirmation. However, the Court may order the Debtors, for cause, to "determine within a specified period of time whether to assume or reject" an executory contract. § 365(d)(2). "In deciding whether to accelerate the debtor's decision, the court must balance the interests of the contracting party against the interests of the debtor and its estate." In re Physician Health Corp., 262 B.R. 290, 292 (Bankr. D. Del. 2001). "Where a party seeks to shorten the Debtor's statutory period to assume or reject, the burden is on the movant to demonstrate cause." In re Dana Corp., 350 B.R. 144, 147 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2006).

The Group has not carried its burden of demonstrating cause to shorten the period under which the Debtors must assume or reject the Agreement. Shortening the deadline would deprive SGM of the benefits of certain of the procedures it negotiated for when agreeing to purchase a substantial portion of the estate's assets. Ensuring that the sale closes in an orderly manner is of vital importance to the estate and creditors. Affording SGM the benefit of the protections it negotiated is of particular importance given that no other bidder emerged to purchase the estate's assets.

There is no merit to the Group's contention that shortening the deadline is necessary to provide the Group's patients certainty regarding whether they will receive treatment at St. Vincent. The Group's patients have not received treatment at St. Vincent, under the auspices of the Agreement, since August 2018. Chou Decl.

[Doc. No. 2632] at ¶ 7. The Group attempts to muddy the waters by asserting that its patients continue to receive treatment at St. Vincent. It is true that St. Vincent continues to provide care to the Group's patients under fee-for-service payor arrangements that are not subject to the terms of the Agreement. That St. Vincent continues to provide care pursuant to a different agreement is not relevant to the relief that the Group seeks. [Note 1]

The Court declines to consider the Group's allegation that the Debtors have improperly handled risk pool funds. The allegation is supported by no evidence. Further, whether the Group may (or may not) have a claim against the Debtors on account of the risk pool funds is not relevant to deciding whether the deadline to assume or reject the Agreement should be shortened.

Based upon the foregoing, the Motion is DENIED. The Debtors shall submit a conforming order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing.

The Group attempts to elide the distinction between the Agreement and a prior Physicians Capitated Agreement that was in effect between June 1, 2014 and May 1, 2017 (the "2014 Agreement"). The declaration of Min Young Cha in support of the Motion states that the Group's "physicians continue to refer and direct our patient members for inpatient hospital treatment at St. Vincent whenever it is medically appropriate." I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Felix Anibal Diaz and Cecilia Giron Diaz (together, the "Debtors") filed a voluntary chapter 7 petition on July 6, 2018. The Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee") moves to sell real property located at 11119 S. Doty Avenue, Inglewood, CA 90303 (the "Property"). The Trustee also seeks an order compelling the Debtors to turnover over the Property, free and clear of all possessions and occupants, within 7 days of entry of an order approving the sale.

The Trustee seeks authorization to sell the Property pursuant to § 363(b) on an "as is, where is" basis without any warranties or contingencies. The Trustee states that the Property is encumbered by a first deed of trust securing $313,408.11 in debt. The Trustee also states that there is a second deed of trust recorded against the Property securing $324,000 in debt, but that pursuant to a judgment entered in the Trustee's favor on February 15, 2019, in Menchaca v. Olivares, 2:18-ap-01273-ER, the deed of trust was assigned to the estate. Therefore, the Trustee anticipates that, after paying off the first deed of trust and all costs of sale, the sale will result in approximately $324,000 in net proceeds for the estate.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

The Proposed Sale is Approved

Section 363(b) permits the Trustee to sell estate property out of the ordinary course of business, subject to court approval. The Trustee must articulate a business justification for the sale. In re Walter, 83 B.R. 14, 19-20 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1988). Whether the articulated business justification is sufficient "depends on the case," in view of "all salient factors pertaining to the proceeding." Id. at 19-20.

The Trustee has demonstrated sufficient business justification for the sale. The sale is consistent with the Trustee's statutory obligation to liquidate the estate's assets.

The Trustee is authorized to pay real estate brokers' commissions directly from escrow. Having reviewed the Declarations of the Trustee and Jan Neiman, the real estate broker who marketed the Property, the Court finds that the proposed buyers are good faith purchasers entitled to the protections of § 363(m). In the event that an overbidder prevails at the auction the Court will take testimony from such overbidder to determine whether § 363(m) protections are warranted.

The Court finds it appropriate to waive the 14-day stay pursuant to Fed. R. Bankr. P. 6004(h).

The Court will announce each bid level. To remain in the auction, bidders must participate at all bid levels. That is, parties who do not bid in a round cannot later change their minds and re-enter the auction. Parties may make a bid higher than that announced by the Court by approaching the podium and stating their bid.

Turnover

Section 542(a) provides that an entity in possession of estate property "shall" deliver such property to the trustee. Cal. Emp't Dev. Dep't v. Taxel (In re Del Mission Ltd.), 98 F.3d 1147, 1151 (9th Cir. 1996). This a mandatory duty arising upon the filing of the bankruptcy petition. Id. The term "entity" as defined in § 101(15) is "broad enough to encompass an individual chapter 7 debtor." Bencomo v. Avery (In re Bencomo), 2016 Bankr. LEXIS 2901, at * 13 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. Aug. 8, 2016).

The Trustee shall be entitled to an order directing turnover over the Property as is necessary to facilitate the Trustee's administration of the estate and to ensure timely closing of the sale.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the Sale Motion is GRANTED. The Court will conduct an auction in accordance with the procedures set forth above.

The Trustee is directed to lodge a conforming proposed order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing.

#100.00 HearingRE: [109] Motion For Final Decree and Order Closing Case. (and Administratively Reopening-with proof of service)

Docket 109

Tentative Ruling:

7/9/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Motion is GRANTED in its entirety.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Motion for [Order] (1) Administratively Reopening Chapter 11 Case and (2) Entry of Discharge of Chapter 11 Case Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1141(d)(5) Upon Completion of Payments to Creditors and Final Decree Closing Chapter 11 Case [Doc. No. 109] (the "Motion")
 - a) Notice of Motion [Doc. No. 110]
- 2) No opposition to the Motion is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Blake Adams Bailey and Gretchen Frances Palmer (together, the "Debtors") filed a voluntary Chapter 11 petition on January 8, 2014. On September 25, 2014, the Court entered an order confirming the Debtors' Chapter 11 Plan (the "Plan"). See Doc. No. 86 (the "Confirmation Order"). The Plan provided for the Debtors to make monthly payments to general unsecured creditors for a period of five years. On January 29, 2015, the Court entered an order administratively closing the case so that the Debtors would not have to continue paying fees to the United States Trustee during the five-year payment period. Doc. No. 106.

Debtors seek an order administratively reopening the case, entry of a discharge, and entry of a final decree. Debtors assert that they have made all payments required under the Plan and attach bank statements to that effect. No opposition to the Motion is on file.

Chapter 11

The Motion is GRANTED in its entirety. Pursuant to the confirmed Plan, the Debtor is entitled to a discharge upon the completion of all payments contemplated by the Plan. The evidence submitted in connection with the Motion establishes that the Debtors have made all payments required under the Plan. Accordingly, the Debtors are entitled to entry of a discharge as provided by the Plan.

Entry of a final decree is appropriate. Pursuant to § 350(a) and Bankruptcy Rule 3022, the Court shall enter a final decree closing a chapter 11 case after the estate is fully administered. In determining whether an estate is fully administered, a court should consider:

- (1) whether the order confirming the plan has become final;
- (2) whether deposits required by the plan have been distributed;
- (3) whether the property proposed by the plan to be transferred has been transferred;
- (4) whether the debtor or the successor of the debtor under the plan has assumed the business of the management of the property dealt with by the plan;
- (5) whether payments under the plan have commenced; and
- (6) whether all motions, contested matters, and adversary proceedings have been finally resolved.

Here, the estate has been fully administered because the Debtors have made all payments required under the Plan.

Based upon the foregoing, the Motion is GRANTED in its entirety. Within seven days of the hearing, the Debtors shall submit a conforming order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference. Upon entry of the order granting the Motion, the Clerk of the Court is directed to enter an Order of Discharge.

#101.00 HearingRE: [464] Motion to Reconvert Case from Chapter 7 to Chapter 11 (Egbase, Anthony)

Docket 464

Tentative Ruling:

7/9/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Motion is GRANTED.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Debtor's Motion to Reconvert Case from Chapter 7 to Chapter 11 [Doc. No. 464] (the "Motion")
 - a) Notice of Hearing on Motion [Doc. No. 467]

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Deborah Earle (the "Debtor") filed a voluntary Chapter 11 petition on December 9, 2012. On April 25, 2016, the Court confirmed the Debtor's Chapter 11 Plan of Reorganization (the "Plan"). Doc. No. 387. On July 19, 2018, the Court entered an order requiring the Debtor to remain in compliance with the reporting requirements imposed by the Office of the United States Trustee (the "UST"). Doc. No. 436 (the "Compliance Order"). Under the Compliance Order, the Debtor was entitled to receive a one-time written notice of delinquency from the UST, and the opportunity to cure the delinquency within seven days. The Compliance Order provided that in the event of any subsequent delinquencies, the UST was entitled to immediate conversion or dismissal of the case upon application.

On March 27, 2019, the Court converted the case to Chapter 7 after the Debtor failed, for the second time, to remain in timely compliance with UST reporting requirements.

The Debtor now moves to reconvert the case to Chapter 11. In the event the case is converted to Chapter 11, the Debtor intends to file a motion to sell property located at 4702 W. 165th Street, Lawndale, CA (the "Property"). On April 9, 2019, the Debtor—without the involvement of the Chapter 7 Trustee—entered into an agreement to sell the Property to Oliver Smith and Margaret Smith.

Chapter 7

The Chapter 7 Trustee does not oppose the Motion.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Section 706(b) provides: "On request of a party in interest and after notice and a hearing, the court may convert a case under this chapter to a case under chapter 11 of this title at any time."

In view of the absence of opposition from the Chapter 7 Trustee, the Court will reconvert the case to Chapter 11. The previously entered Compliance Order shall remain in effect. This means that in the event the Debtor fails to comply with any UST reporting requirements, the case will immediately be reconverted to Chapter 7 upon application of the UST, without further notice or hearing. The Debtor has already received the one-time notice of delinquency to which she is entitled under the Compliance Order. Therefore, the UST is not required to notify the Debtor of any reporting deficiencies prior to submitting an application seeking reconversion of the case.

Regarding her obligation to comply with UST reporting requirements, the Debtor is advised that Local Bankruptcy Rule ("LBR") 2015-2(a)(1) provides: "The ... debtor in possession ... must timely provide the United States Trustee with financial, management and operational reports, and such other information requested by the United States Trustee pursuant to the Guidelines and Requirements for Chapter 11 Debtors in Possession as necessary to properly supervise the administration of a Chapter 11 case." Debtors are under a continuing obligation to comply with all requirements imposed by the UST. Failure to timely comply is grounds for dismissal or conversion. If debtors do not timely submit the required information, the UST cannot effectively carry out its oversight responsibilities under 28 U.S.C. §586. There is nothing in the statute that says that debtors may ignore their compliance obligations until receiving a warning from the UST. The UST's office does not have the resources to babysit every single Chapter 11 debtor with respect to reporting and compliance obligations. By commencing a Chapter 11 petition, the Debtor voluntarily accepted the responsibility of complying with all applicable laws and regulations, including reporting obligations imposed by the UST's office.

The Debtor shall submit a conforming order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing.

RE: [48] Notice of motion and motion for relief from automatic stay with supporting declarations ACTION IN NON-BANKRUPTCY FORUM RE: pending lawsuit . (Slates, Ronald)

fr. 6-24-19

Docket 48

Tentative Ruling:

7/11/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the R/S Motion is GRANTED.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed

1. Notice of Motion and Motion for Relief From the Automatic Stay Under 11 U.S.C. § 362 (Action in Nonbankruptcy Forum) [Doc. No. 48] (the "R/S Motion")
2. Response to Motion Regarding the Automatic Stay and Declaration(s) in Support [Doc. No. 50] (the "Opposition")
3. Notice of Continued Hearing on Creditor/Movant's Motion for Relief From Stay and Service on Debtor and All Interested Parties [Doc. No. 52]
4. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no further opposition is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Neilla M. Cenci (the "Debtor"), filed this voluntary chapter 7 case on December 6, 2018 (the "Petition Date"). On June 3, 2019, Ball CM, Inc. ("Movant") filed this request for relief from the automatic stay pursuant to § 362(d)(1) to proceed with an action bearing the caption Ball CM, Inc. v. Cenci, Case No. 18STCV04108 (the "State Court Action") pending in Los Angeles Superior Court (the "State Court"). Movant commenced the State Court Action on November 7, 2018 by filing a complaint against the Debtor asserting claims for breach of employment duties, breach of fiduciary duty, constructive fraud, fraud & deceit, and for an accounting (the "Complaint").

Chapter 7

Movant makes the following arguments in support of relief from stay:

- Mandatory abstention applies under 28 U.S.C. § 1334(c)(2);
- The claims are nondischargeable in nature and can be most expeditiously resolved in the nonbankruptcy forum;
- The claims arise under nonbankruptcy law and can be most expeditiously resolved in the nonbankruptcy forum;
- Movant seeks relief from stay to litigate the State Court Action and use any resulting judgment as issue and/or claim preclusion in a pending adversary proceeding Movant initiated against the Debtor in this bankruptcy case;
- Movant intends to move to amend the Complaint to add other non-debtor parties to the State Court Action, so it would be in the interests of judicial economy to proceed against all parties in one forum;
- The State Court Action can be tried more expeditiously in the State Court, is in the advanced stages of discovery, and trial will likely be set for November 2019.

On June 17, 2019, Debtor's Counsel filed an opposition to the R/S Motion arguing that the R/S Motion should not be granted because Movant did not serve the Debtor as required by Local Bankruptcy Rule ("LBR") 9013-1(d)(1). The Court agreed, directed Movant to serve the Debtor, and continued the hearing to this date and time. On June 24, 2019, Movant filed an amended proof of service reflecting service on the Debtor [Doc. No. 52].

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, the Debtor has not filed a substantive opposition.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Section 362(d)(1) provides that "[o]n request of a party in interest and after notice and a hearing, the court shall grant relief from the stay . . . (1) for cause . . ." 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1). Estates, Inc. (In re Tucson Estates, Inc.), 912 F.2d 1162, 1166 (9th Cir. 1990). Plumberex Specialty Prods., Inc. (In re Plumberex Specialty Prods., Inc.)*, 311 B.R. 551, 557 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2004). "Once a prima facie case has been established, the burden shifts to the debtor to show that relief from the stay is unwarranted." Id.

In the Ninth Circuit, courts consider 12 non-exclusive factors to determine whether "cause" exists to grant relief to allow an entity to continue pending litigation against a debtor in non-bankruptcy forum:

1. Whether the relief will result in a partial or complete resolution of the issues;
2. The lack of any connection with or interference with the bankruptcy case;
3. Whether the foreign proceeding involves the debtor as a fiduciary;
4. Whether a specialized tribunal has been established to hear the particular cause of action and whether that tribunal has the expertise to hear such cases;
5. Whether the debtor's insurance carrier has assumed full financial responsibility for defending the litigation;
6. Whether the action essentially involves third parties, and the debtor functions only as a bailee or conduit for the goods or proceeds in question;
7. Whether the litigation in another forum would prejudice the interests of other creditors, the creditors' committee and other interested parties;
8. Whether the judgment claim arising from the foreign action is subject to equitable subordination under Section 510(c);
9. Whether movant's success in the foreign proceeding would result in a judicial lien avoidable by the debtor under Section 522(f);
10. The interests of judicial economy and the expeditious and economical determination of litigation for the parties;
11. Whether the foreign proceedings have progressed to the point where the parties are prepared for trial, and
12. The impact of the stay on the parties and the "balance of hurt[.]"

Chapter 7

Plumberex, 311 B.R. at 559. Not all the factors are relevant in every case, and the Court is not required to give equal weight to each factor. Id. at 560.

The Court finds that Movant has established a prima facie case that "cause" exists to grant relief from stay under § 362(d)(1). First, granting stay relief will promote interests of judicial economy and avoid piecemeal litigation because Movant intends to seek leave to amend the Complaint to add non-debtor defendants. The Court also finds that stay relief is appropriate because Movant's claims arise under state law and the State Court is more intimately familiar with the parties' dispute and applicable California law to more expeditiously move the litigation to final judgment.

Additionally, as of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no substantive opposition has been filed and Movant has cured the service deficiency raised by Debtor's Counsel. Therefore, pursuant to LBR 9013-1(h), the Debtor and all other interested parties are deemed to consent to the granting of the R/S Motion.

Based on the foregoing, the Court GRANTS the Motion pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1) to permit the Movant to proceed under applicable non-bankruptcy law to enforce its remedies to proceed to final judgment in the non-bankruptcy forum, provided that the stay remains in effect with respect to enforcement of any judgment against the Debtor or estate property. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim or any other claim against the Debtor or property of the estate, except that the Movant will retain the right to file a proof of claim and Movant's rights are preserved with respect to its adversary complaint filed under §§ 523 and 727 (In re Ball CM, Inc., v. Cenci, 2:19-ap-0165-ER). This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code.

Movant's request for waiver of the 14-day stay is denied for lack of good cause shown. All other relief requested but not specifically granted above is denied.

(Raftery, Kelly)

Docket 23

Tentative Ruling:

7/11/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2) to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to foreclose upon and obtain possession of the property in accordance with applicable law. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. Since a chapter 7 case does not contemplate reorganization, the sole issue before the Court when stay relief is sought under 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2) is whether the Debtor has equity in the property. See e.g. Nev. Nat'l Bank v. Casbul of Nev., Inc. (In re Casgul of Nev., Inc.), 22 B.R. 65, 66 (9th Cir. BAP 1982); Ramco Indus. v. Preuss (In re Preuss), 15 B.R. 896 (9th Cir. BAP 1981).

The subject property has a value of $945,000 and is encumbered by a perfected deed of trust or mortgage in favor of the Movant. The liens against the property and the expected costs of sale total $1,308,560.52. The Court finds there is no equity and there is no evidence that the trustee can administer the subject real property for the benefit of creditors.

Further, the Court finds that there are facts presented in the Motion sufficient for the court to find bad faith pursuant to § 362(d)(4). Debtor's filing of the petition was part of a scheme to delay, hinder, and defraud creditors that involved the filing of multiple bankruptcy cases affecting the property. See Declaration of C. Lacey Blanton, paragraph 18(b).

The 14-day period specified in Fed.R.Bankr.P. 4001(a)(3) is waived. This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. If recorded in compliance with applicable State laws governing notices of interests or liens in real property, the order shall be binding in any other case under this title purporting to affect such real property filed not later than 2 years after the date of the entry of such order by the Court, except that a debtor in a subsequent case under this title may move for relief from such order based upon changed circumstances or for good cause shown, after notice and a hearing. All other relief is denied.

Movant shall upload an appropriate order via the Court's Lodged Order Upload system.

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1) for cause to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to foreclose upon and obtain possession of the property in accordance with applicable law. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. The Court takes judicial notice of the Chapter 7 Individual Debtor's Statement of Intention in which the debtor stated an intention to surrender the property to Movant.

This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. The 14-day stay prescribed by FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived. All other relief is denied.

Movant shall upload an appropriate order via the Court's Lodged Order Upload system within 7 days of the hearing.

Docket 9

Tentative Ruling:

7/11/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1). The stay is terminated as to the Debtor and the Debtor's bankruptcy estate with respect to the Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns. Movant may enforce its remedies to obtain possession of the property in accordance with applicable law, but may not pursue a deficiency claim against the debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501.

The Movant filed an unlawful detainer action on April 9, 2019.

This Motion has been filed to allow the Movant to proceed with the unlawful detainer proceeding in state court. The unlawful detainer proceeding may go forward because the Debtor's right to possess the premises must be determined. This does not change simply because a bankruptcy petition was filed. See In re Butler, 271 B.R. 867, 876 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2002).

system. Submission via LOU allows the Court to edit the Joint Pretrial Stipulation, if necessary. Parties should consult the Court Manual, section 4, for information about LOU.

- h) In addition to the procedures set forth in Local Bankruptcy Rule 7016-1(b), the following procedures govern the conduct of the Pretrial Conference and the preparation of the Pretrial Stipulation:
- i) By no later than thirty days prior to the Pretrial Conference, the parties must exchange copies of all exhibits which each party intends to introduce into evidence (other than exhibits to be used solely for impeachment or rebuttal).
 - ii) When preparing the Pretrial Stipulation, all parties shall stipulate to the admissibility of exhibits whenever possible. In the event any party cannot stipulate to the admissibility of an exhibit, that party must file a Motion in Limine which clearly identifies each exhibit alleged to be inadmissible and/or prejudicial. The moving party must set the Motion in Limine for hearing at the same time as the Pretrial Conference; notice and service of the Motion shall be governed by LBR 9013-1. The Motion in Limine must contain a statement of the specific prejudice that will be suffered by the moving party if the Motion is not granted. The Motion must be supported by a memorandum of points and authorities containing citations to the applicable Federal Rules of Evidence, relevant caselaw, and other legal authority. Blanket or boilerplate evidentiary objections not accompanied by detailed supporting argument are prohibited, will be summarily overruled, and may subject the moving party to sanctions.
 - iii) The failure of a party to file a Motion in Limine complying with the requirements of ¶(3)(h)(ii) shall be deemed a waiver of any objections to the admissibility of an exhibit.
 - iv) Motions in Limine seeking to exclude testimony to be offered by any witness shall comply with the requirements set forth in ¶(3)(h)(ii), and shall be filed by the deadline specified in ¶(3)(h)(ii). The failure of a party to file a Motion in Limine shall be deemed a waiver of any objections to the admissibility of a witness's testimony.

On February 22, 2019, the Court issued a Scheduling Order [Doc. No. 4], which the Plaintiff served upon the Defendants on March 14, 2019. Doc. No. 6. The Scheduling Order provides in relevant part:

Any party contesting this Court's authority to enter a final order or judgment in this matter must file and serve a written objection no later than ten days prior to the date set for the first status conference. *See Wellness Int'l Network, Ltd. v. Tentative Ruling:

On July 12, 2018 (the "Petition Date"), a Chapter 7 involuntary petition was commenced against OBI Probiotic Soda, LLC (the "Debtor"). An order for relief was entered on September 20, 2018 and a Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee") was appointed.

On March 27, 2018, OBI Acquisition, LLC ("OBI Acquisition") filed a Complaint for (1) Intentional Interference with Prospective Economic Relations, (2) Negligent Interference with Prospective Economic Relations, (3) Breach of Fiduciary Duty, and (4) Promissory Fraud (the "Complaint") in the Los Angeles Superior Court (the "State Court") against Daniel Stepper ("Stepper"), Dino Sarti ("Sarti"), and LA Libations, LLC ("LA Libations"). OBI Acquisition brought the Complaint derivatively for the benefit of the Debtor, and named the Debtor as a nominal defendant solely in a derivative capacity.

On May 18, 2018, Stepper, Sarti, and LA Libations filed a Cross-Complaint against OBI Acquisition and various other parties (the "Stepper Cross-Complaint"). On July 3, 2018, Paul Phillips and various other parties filed a Cross-Complaint against OBI Acquisition (the "Phillips Cross-Complaint").

On February 28, 2019, the Trustee removed the action to the Bankruptcy Court. The Trustee asserts that the Complaint's derivative claims and the Stepper Cross-Complaint's claim for declaratory relief belong to the estate. The Trustee states that he intends to commence a separate adversary proceeding that will clarify which claims belong to the estate and which do not. The Trustee anticipates that once the additional complaint is on file, the two adversary proceedings can be consolidated or otherwise streamlined to promote judicial economy.

The Court finds that this action should not proceed until the Trustee has clarified his position with respect to which claims belong to the estate and which claims do not. By no later than May 14, 2019, the Trustee shall file the separate complaint referenced in the Status Report. A Status Conference pertaining to both this action and the separate complaint shall be held on July 16, 2019, at 10:00 a.m., at which time the Court will determine whether consolidation of the proceedings is appropriate.

The Court will prepare and enter an appropriate order.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Jessica Vogel or Daniel Koontz at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Berger Bros., Inc. (the "Debtor") filed a voluntary Chapter 7 petition on June 27, 2018. The Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee") moves to sell a 0.9743% limited partnership interest in I.C. Hospitality Fund, L.P. (the "Interest") to Partnership

Liquidity Investors IV, LLC (the "Purchaser"). The purchase price is $180,000.

The Trustee provided notice of the Sale Motion to all creditors. A notice specifying the key terms of the sale was posted on the Court's website. In addition, the Trustee forwarded the Sale Motion to parties who have in the past purchased limited partnership interests from bankruptcy estates. Specifically, the Trustee sent the Motion to JM Partners, Pearlman & Tishbi, Terre Verte Company, Inc., LHB Ventures, LLC, and LCG USA. No overbidders tendered a deposit by the July 10, 2019 deadline proposed in the Sale Motion.

No opposition to the Sale Motion is on file.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Section 363(b) permits the Trustee to sell estate property out of the ordinary course of business, subject to court approval. The Trustee must articulate a business justification for the sale. In re Walter, 83 B.R. 14, 19–20 (9th Cir. BAP 1988). Whether the articulated business justification is sufficient "depends on the case," in view of "all salient factors pertaining to the proceeding." Id. at 19–20.

The Trustee has demonstrated sufficient business justification for the sale. The sale is consistent with the Trustee's statutory obligation to liquidate the estate's assets.

Section 363(f)(4) provides that estate property may be sold free and clear of any interest that is subject to a bona fide dispute. Santa Barbara Bank & Trust ("Santa Barbara Bank") recorded a security interest against the Interest on November 5, 2002. Hathaway Dinwiddie Construction Company ("Hathaway") recorded a security interest against the Interest on January 15, 2008. Cal. Comm. Code § 9515(a) provides that "a filed financing statement is effective for a period of five years after the date of filing." To the extent that Santa Barbara Bank and/or Hathaway assert liens against the Interest, the Court finds that the liens are in bona fide dispute, based upon the Trustee's assertion that the financing statements have lapsed. Therefore, the sale is free and clear of any lien asserted by Santa Barbara Bank and/or Hathaway.

The Court approves the overbid procedures proposed in the Sale Motion, except that overbidders will be permitted to bid for the Interest provided that they have tendered a cashier's check in the amount of $36,000 to the Trustee prior to the auction. The Sale Motion proposed that overbidders be required to tender the deposit by no later than July 10, 2019. In the interest of maximizing the sale price received by the estate, overbidders who have tendered the deposit after the proposed deadline but prior to the auction will be permitted to participate.

Having reviewed the declaration of Jerome A. Fink, the manager of the Purchaser, the Court finds that the Purchaser is entitled to the protections of § 363(m). In the event that an overbidder prevails at the auction, the Court will take testimony from such overbidder to determine whether §363(m) protections are warranted.

The Trustee seeks approval of a breakup fee of 10% of the ultimate sales price. The Court declines to approve a breakup fee expressed as a percentage of the ultimate sales price, rather than as a percentage of the stalking horse bid. Breakup fees are typically calculated as a percentage of the stalking horse bid. See Official Comm. of Subordinated Bondholders v. Integrated Res., Inc. (In re Integrated Res., Inc.), 147 B.R. 650, 662 (S.D.N.Y. 1992) ("A break-up fee should constitute a fair and reasonable percentage of the proposed purchase price, and should be reasonably related to the risk, effort, and expenses of the prospective purchaser") (emphasis added); see also In re NEC Holdings Corp., Case No. 10-11890 (PJW) (Bankr. D. Del. Jul 30, 2010) (Docket No. 303) (approving break-up fee and expense reimbursement of approximately 3.5% of the stalking horse purchase price); In re Leiner Health Prods. Inc., Case No. 08-10446 (KJC) (Bankr. D. Del. May 30, 2008) (Docket No. 358) (approving break-up fee and expense reimbursement of 3% of the stalking horse purchase price). Calculating the breakup fee as a percentage of the ultimate sales price, as proposed by the Trustee, would make it impossible for the Court to ascertain the amount of the breakup fee until after conclusion of the auction. This would prevent the Court from ensuring that the breakup fee does not chill bidding.

The Court will approve a breakup fee of 10% of the stalking horse bid—that is, $18,000 (10% of $180,000). The Court finds that a breakup fee of $18,000 is reasonable and will not chill bidding. The fact that the breakup fee is high when expressed in percentage terms is acceptable given the comparatively small size of the transaction.

The Trustee is authorized to execute and deliver on behalf of the estate any and all documents necessary to implement the sale. Notwithstanding Bankruptcy Rule 6004(h), the order approving the sale shall take effect immediately upon entry.

Auction Procedures

In the event that any qualified overbidders are present, the Court will distribute numbered auction paddles to the proposed purchaser and all qualified overbidders. The initial overbid shall be $190,000, with subsequent overbids to be increments of $5,000. The overbid increment is subject to adjustment by the Court to facilitate bidding. The Court will announce each bid level. To remain in the auction, bidders

Chapter 11

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On August 23, 2013, the Court entered an order confirming the Debtor's Second Amended Chapter 11 Liquidating Plan (the "Plan"). See Doc. No. 257 (the "Confirmation Order"). The Plan establishing a Liquidating Trust and appointed Vikaran Ghei and Michael Zaitzeff to serve as the Liquidating Trustees. The Plan provided that the Liquidating Trustees would receive a flat combined monthly fee of $10,000 (that is, $5,000 for each Liquidating Trustee) for administering the Liquidating Trust.

Following confirmation of the Plan, the Liquidating Trustees pursued litigation against a receiver appointed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (the "FDIC-R"), in the hopes of recovering an approximate $22 million refund of federal income taxes. As set forth in the Liquidating Trustee's Ninth Post-Confirmation Status Report, filed on March 9, 2018, that litigation came to a conclusion without any recovery for the Liquidating Trust. As a result, the Liquidating Trustees stated that they would begin winding up this bankruptcy case.

On April 19, 2019, the Liquidating Trustees filed a motion seeking entry of a final decree (the "Motion for Final Decree"). Wilmington Trust Company ("Wilmington") opposed the Motion for a Final Decree. Among other things, Wilmington argued that the Liquidating Trustees had not provided sufficient disclosure regarding their administration of the estate's assets.

On April 25, 2019, the Court ordered the Liquidating Trustees to file a final accounting of the administration of estate assets (the "Final Accounting"). See Doc. Nos. 522–23. The Court stated that a final decree would not be entered until Wilmington had been provided an opportunity to object to the Final Accounting.

On May 31, 2019, the Liquidating Trustees filed the Final Accounting. According to the Final Accounting, the Liquidating Trust collected assets totaling $968,287.83. The Liquidating Trust is administratively insolvent, and no assets have been distributed to creditors. A total of $520,000 has been distributed to the Liquidating Trustees on account of the flat monthly fees provided for in the Plan.

Wilmington requests that the Court disallow all but $100,000 of the monthly flat fees incurred by the Liquidating Trustees, and order the Liquidating Trustees to return the balance of $420,000 to the estate to be distributed to creditors. Wilmington states that had it known that the Liquidating Trustees intended to pursue fruitless litigation against the FDIC-R, it would have opposed the $10,000 per month flat fee. According to Wilmington, the Liquidating Trustees should have realized that the litigation could not possibly succeed in view of the lack of a tax sharing agreement between the Debtor and its wholly owned subsidiary, First Regional Bank of California (the "Bank"). Wilmington contends that the Liquidating Trustees pursued the litigation only to incur significantly monthly fees.

The Liquidating Trustees oppose Wilmington's request for disgorgement for the following reasons:

- 1) The Liquidating Trust Agreement gives the Liquidating Trustees "absolute discretion to pursue or not to pursue any and all Claims and Estate Causes of Action," and provides that the Liquidating Trustees "shall have no liability for the outcome of [their] decision, except as such decision may constitute an act of gross negligence, willful misconduct, or fraud." The Liquidating Trustees' decision to pursue the tax refund litigation was not grossly negligent. To the contrary, the Liquidating Trustees pursued the litigation in good faith after consulting with experienced counsel.
- 2) Wilmington agreed to the monthly flat fee on the record at the Confirmation Hearing. The record reflects that when Wilmington agreed to the flat fees, it understood that, in contrast to fees incurred by other professionals, the flat fees would not be subject to the opportunity to object on the basis of reasonableness.
- 3) Wilmington suggests that as of the Confirmation Hearing, it was not aware that the tax refund was an asset of the estate. Wilmington deposed the Debtor's Chief Restructuring Officer (the "CRO") prior to the Confirmation Hearing. At that deposition, Wilmington questioned the CRO regarding the tax refund.

II. Findings and Conclusions

A. Wilmington's Request that the Liquidating Trustees Be Required to Disgorge $420,000 in Fees is Denied Wilmington's request that the Liquidating Trustees be required to disgorge $420,000 in monthly flat fees is denied. There is no merit to Wilmington's contention that the tax refund litigation was doomed from the outset and that the Liquidating Trustees pursued such litigation only to enrich themselves.

The estate's primary asset was its claim against the FDIC-R for a tax refund in excess of $22 million. After contested litigation before this Court, the District Court, and the Ninth Circuit, the Liquidating Trustees were unable to recover any of the tax refund. The absence of a recovery does not mean that the Liquidating Trustees should not have pursued the litigation. A review of the record shows that the litigation involved complicated facts and unsettled law. On April 8, 2015, this Court issued a 32 page ruling dismissing the Liquidating Trustees' claims with prejudice. Doc. No. 72, Adv. No. 2:14-ap-01221-ER. On August 16, 2016, the District Court affirmed the dismissal in an 18 page ruling. Doc. No. 119, Adv. No. 2:14-ap-01221-ER. The Ninth Circuit affirmed the dismissal in a brief ruling issued on November 20, 2017. Doc. No. 127, Adv. No. 2:14-ap-01221-ER.

Wilmington contends that the Liquidating Trustees should have realized that the absence of a written tax sharing agreement between the Debtor and the Bank was fatal to the estate's tax refund claim. In their First Amended Complaint against the FDIC-R, the Liquidating Trustees alleged that an Affiliated Transactions Policy ("ATP") between the Debtor and the Bank constituted an implied tax sharing agreement, and therefore governed the allocation of tax refunds between the Debtor and Bank. The Court found that the Liquidating Trustees had not pleaded facts sufficient to show that the ATP amounted to an implied contract.

Given that the tax refund was the estate's primary asset, it was not unreasonable for the Liquidating Trustees to pursue the litigation in this Court, and to appeal this Court's dismissal of the tax refund claims to the Ninth Circuit. In many similar cases, bank holding companies have reached settlements with the FDIC even in the absence of executed tax sharing agreements. Through such settlements, bank holding companies have obtained recoveries ranging from between 2% to 14% of the amount of the tax refund. See, e.g., In re DBT Holding Company, Case No. 11-60177 (14% recovery) (Bankr. S.D. Ga.); In re Corus Bankshares, Inc., Case No. 10-26881 (Bankr. N.D. Ill.) (8% recovery) (Bankr. N.D. Ill.); In re Commerce Bancorp, Inc., Case No. 09-23477 (Bankr. N.D. Ill.) (2% recovery). Even a settlement at the lower end of this range would have resulted in a substantial recovery to the estate. Further, had the Liquidating Trustees succeeded in obtaining reversal of the dismissal, the recovery to the estate could potentially have been greater than those achieved in similar cases.

Wilmington contends that it agreed to the monthly flat fee at the Confirmation Hearing only because it was not aware that the Liquidating Trustees intended to pursue the tax refund litigation. Wilmington's alleged lack of awareness does not warrant disgorgement. The Liquidating Trust Agreement, which was approved by way of the Confirmation Order, provides in relevant part:

Except as expressly set forth in this Agreement, the Trustees shall have absolute discretion to pursue or not to pursue any and all Claims and Estate Causes of Action or other matters, activities or things as it determines is in the best interests of the Beneficiaries and consistent with the purposes of the Liquidating Trust, and shall have no liability for the outcome of its decision, except as such decision may constitute an act of gross negligence, willful misconduct, or fraud.

Liquidating Trust Agreement at ¶ I.D.

The Plan clearly provided that the Liquidating Trustees would have the ability to pursue any and all claims on behalf of the estate. If Wilmington was dissatisfied with this broad grant of authority to the Liquidating Trustees, its remedy was to appeal the Confirmation Order. Wilmington is not entitled to retroactively rewrite the terms of the confirmed Plan because it is unhappy with the Liquidating Trustees' administration of the Liquidating Trust.

B. The Liquidating Trustees' Motion for Entry of a Final Decree is Granted

Pursuant to § 350(a) and Bankruptcy Rule 3022, the Court shall enter a final decree closing a chapter 11 case after the estate is fully administered. In determining whether an estate is fully administered, a court should consider:

- (1) whether the order confirming the plan has become final;
- (2) whether deposits required by the plan have been distributed;
- (3) whether the property proposed by the plan to be transferred has been transferred;
- (4) whether the debtor or the successor of the debtor under the plan has assumed the business of the management of the property dealt with by the plan;
- (5) whether payments under the plan have commenced; and
- (6) whether all motions, contested matters, and adversary proceedings have been finally resolved.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Debtors-in-possession, Samuel Antonio Acevedo and Lucy Acevedo (together, the "Debtors") filed this voluntary Chapter 11 case on April 3, 2018 (the "Petition Date"). Both Debtors are employed and generate regular monthly income. The Debtors' primary asset consists of a rental property located at 6220 Palladio Lane, Fontana, CA 92336 (the "Rental Property"), which they rent out for an additional $2,450 in monthly income.

On March 13, 2019, the Debtors obtained an order granting their motion to value the Rental Property at $435,000 for purposes of plan confirmation [Doc. No. 45]. On March 19, 2019, the Debtors obtained an order granting their motion to value their 2016 Honda Accord (the "Vehicle") at $15,977 for purposes of plan confirmation, which resulted in the bifurcation of American Honda Finance's claim into a secured claim of $15,977 and an unsecured claim of $3,731.60 [Doc. No. 50] (the "Vehicle Valuation Order").

The Debtors presently seek approval of their Disclosure Statement. The following provisions are the material provisions of the Debtors' Plan:

Administrative Claims

The Debtors anticipate that administrative fees for professionals will be approximately $15,968 on the Effective Date. The Debtors propose to pay all administrative claims in full, on the Effective Date, from available cash on hand and with the assistance of a one-time $6,000 family contribution payment.

Priority Tax Claims

The Debtors propose to pay the Internal Revenue Service's (the "IRS") claim of $1,968 in full over five years from the Petition Date, with 6% interest, in equal monthly installments of $32.50.

Class 5(a) – Secured Claim of Wells Fargo Bank, National Association ("Wells Fargo")

Wells Fargo holds a first-priority deed of trust against the Rental Property securing debt in the approximate amount of $382,478.36. The Debtors propose to pay Wells Fargo's claim in full, plus 5% interest, by making monthly installment payments of $2,053.23 over a thirty-year period, beginning October 1, 2019. Wells Fargo's claim is impaired, and it is entitled to vote on the Plan.

Class 5(b) – Secured Claim of American Honda Finance Corporation ("Honda")

Honda holds a perfected security interest in the Vehicle. Pursuant to the Vehicle Valuation Order, Honda holds a secured claim of $15,977 and an unsecured claim of $3,731.60. However, the Debtors are proposing to pay Honda the full amount of its $19,708.60 claim, plus 6.75% interest, by making monthly installment payments of $388 over a five-year period, beginning October 1, 2019. Honda's claim is impaired, and it is entitled to vote on the Plan.

Class 6(b) – General Unsecured Claims

This class consists of all allowed general unsecured claims, which the Debtors estimate hold aggregate claims in the amount of $26,044.41. The Debtors propose to pay this class 4% of their claims, without interest, over a 5-year period by making equal pro-rata monthly installment payments totaling $18.48. This class is impaired and entitled to vote on the Plan.

Means of Implementation

The Debtors' Plan will be funded from the following sources:

- i. Approximately $10,477 in anticipated cash on hand on the Effective Date.
- ii. A one-time $6,000 family contribution.
- iii. Future disposable income for 5 years. The Debtors anticipate having sufficient income to cover all proposed plan payments. After deducting expenses and making all of the foregoing proposed Plan payments, the Debtors projections indicate that they will only have approximately $1/month in net monthly income.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Section 1125 requires a disclosure statement to contain "information of a kind, and in sufficient detail, as far as is reasonably practicable in light of the nature and history of the debtor and the condition of the debtor's books and records . . . that would enable. . . a hypothetical investor of the relevant class to make an informed judgment about the plan." In determining whether a disclosure statement provides adequate information, "the court shall consider the complexity of the case, the benefit of additional information to creditors and other parties in interest, and the cost of providing additional information." 11 U.S.C. § 1125(a). Courts interpreting § 1125(a) have explained that the "primary purpose of a disclosure statement is to give the creditors the information they need to decide whether to accept the plan." In re Monnier Bros., 755 F.2d 1336, 1342 (8th Cir. 1985). "According to the legislative history, the parameters of what constitutes adequate information are intended to be flexible." In re Diversified Investors Fund XVII, 91 B.R. 559, 560 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1988). "Adequate information will be determined by the facts and circumstances of each case." Oneida Motor Freight, Inc. v. United Jersey Bank, 848 F.2d 414, 417 (3d Cir. 1988), *accord. In re Metrocraft Pub. Services, Inc., 39 B.R. 567, 568 (Bankr. Ga. 1984). However, “[d]isclosure of all factors is not necessary in every case.” Id.

The Court finds that the Disclosure Statement is inadequate in the following respects:

1. The Debtors’ Liquidation Analysis (Disclosure Statement, Part 4, page 5) does not contain adequate information because it appears the only asset the Debtors have included in their "Net liquidation value of Debtors’ assets" is the anticipated cash on hand as of the Effective Date. While the Debtors did attach a copy of their Schedules A/B, they failed to include a comprehensive liquidation analysis for each asset. The Court finds this particularly troubling because there appears to be approximately $52,521.64 in equity in the Rental Property and the Debtors have not included any analysis to support their conclusion that the Rental Property would have a $0.00 liquidation value if the case were converted to a Chapter 7
2. The Disclosure Statement does not contain any discussion of the events which led to the bankruptcy filing, therefore creditors are unable to adequately evaluate the risks associated with voting in favor of the Debtors' Plan.

3. The Debtors' proposal to pay Honda the full amount of its Proof of Claim despite the Court's Vehicle Valuation Order bifurcating $3,731.60 of the claim into an unsecured claim is unsupported by any meaningful explanation. The Debtors appear to be attempting to overpay Honda by paying its $3,731.60 unsecured claim in full, with interest, while paying other similarly situated unsecured creditors only 4% of their claims. Accordingly, the Debtors' amended disclosure statement either needs to amend its proposed treatment of Honda's claim or provide a meaningful explanation for creditors to evaluation whether this payment is fair and equitable.

For the foregoing reasons, the Disclosure Statement does not contain adequate information and must be amended.

Additionally, although the following are plan confirmation issues, the Debtors should be aware of the following issues:

1. The Debtors have not attached a declaration or declaration(s) from the family member(s) contemplated to make the $6,000 family contribution payment or any evidence to support the financial ability of that person or persons to make such payment. In support of any plan confirmation brief, the Debtors should be prepared to attach evidence to support this payment.
2. The Debtors' net monthly income after making all anticipated Plan payments is less than $1. Therefore, the Debtors' plan confirmation brief must include adequate briefing to satisfy this Court that confirmation of the Plan is not likely to be followed by liquidation in the event any unforeseen expenses arise.
3. The Debtors are proposing to retain their interest in the Rental Property, while only paying general unsecured creditors 4% of their claims and not providing any new value contributions. Accordingly, the Debtors should be aware that they will not be able to satisfy the absolute priority rule unless Class 5(b) votes to accept the Plan.

III. Conclusion

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Debtor and Debtor-in-Possession, United International Mortgage Solutions, Inc. (the "Debtor"), filed this voluntary chapter 11 case on September 12, 2018 (the "Petition Date"). The Debtor is a California corporation that owns three residential real properties: (i) 1258 N. liens on the Properties and to reorganize its affairs.

The Debtor seeks an order approving the adequacy of its Disclosure Statement. The Disclosure Statement explains the reasons for filing, describes the Debtor's assets and their values, and provides a summary of significant post-petition events. The Disclosure Statement describes the Debtor's proposed plan of reorganization, which will be funded by additional income generated from increased rents from the Virgil and Playa Vista Properties. The Debtor proposes the following classification scheme and treatment:

- Class 1: Secured claim of Seterus, Inc., as the authorized sub-servicer for Federal National Mortgage Association ("Seterus"). Seterus holds the first priority lien against the Virgil Property in the amount of $882,107. The Debtor proposes to pay Seterus's claim in full, with 5.5% interest amortized over 30 years. Seterus will be repaid in two phases. The Debtor will make 120 monthly payments to Seterus in the amount of $5,009. The Debtor will also deposit $982 a month into a tax impound account on account of this claim. The Debtor will then make a one-time ten-year balloon payment in an amount necessary to fully satisfy Seterus's claim. Seterus's claim is impaired and it is entitled to vote on the Plan.
- Class 2: Secured claim of Errol Gordon ("Gordon"). Gordon holds the second priority lien against the Virgil Property in the amount of $50,000. The Debtor proposes to pay Gordon's claim in full, with 4% interest amortized over 40 years. Gordon will be repaid in two phases. The Debtor will make 120 monthly payments to Gordon in the amount of $209. The Debtor will then make a one-time ten-year balloon payment in an amount necessary to fully satisfy Gordon's claim. Gordon's claim is impaired and he is entitled to vote on the Plan.
- Class 3: Secured claim of Gordon. Gordon also holds the second priority lien against the Senford Property in the amount of $300,701. The Debtor proposes to pay Gordon's claim in full, with 4% interest amortized over 40 years. Gordon's claim will be repaid in two phases. The Debtor will make 120 monthly payments to Gordon in the amount of $1,257. The Debtor will then make a one-time ten-year balloon payment in an amount necessary to fully satisfy Gordon's claim. Gordon's claim is impaired and he is entitled to vote on the Plan.

- Class 4: Secured claim of Los Angeles County Treasurer and Tax Collector (the "LACTTC"). LACTTC holds a property tax lien against the Senford Property in the amount of $97,939. The Debtor proposes to pay LACTTC's claim in full, with 18 interest, plus redemption penalty interest and any other fees, costs, or charges LACTTC is entitled to. The Debtor will make 60 monthly payments to LACTTC in the amount of $2,487. LACTTC's claim is impaired and it is entitled to vote on the Plan.
- Class 5: Secured claim of Mr. Cooper/Nationstar ("Mr. Cooper"). Mr. Cooper holds the first priority lien against the Playa Vista Property in the amount of $857,177. The Debtor proposes to pay Mr. Cooper's claim in accordance with the applicable loan obligations. As such, Mr. Cooper's claim is unimpaired and Mr. Cooper is not entitled to vote on the Plan.
- Class 6: Secured claim of Playa Vista Parks HOA ("PVP"). PVP holds an HOA lien against the Playa Vista Property in the amount of $70,080. The Debtor proposes to pay PVP's claim in full, at 4% interest amortized over 40 years. PVP's claim will be repaid in two phases. The Debtor will make 120 monthly payments to PVP in the amount of $323. The Debtor will then make a one-time ten-year balloon payment in an amount necessary to fully satisfy PVP's claim. PVP's claim is impaired and it is entitled to vote on the Plan.
- Class 7: Secured claim of Villa d'Este HOA ("Villa"). Villa holds an HOA lien against the Playa Property in the amount of $31,855. The Debtor proposes to pay Villa's claim in full, with 4% interest amortized over 40 years. The Debtor will make 120 monthly payments to Villa in the amount of $323. Villa's claim is impaired and it is entitled to vote on the Plan.
- Class 8: Priority unsecured claims. The Debtor does not believe any priority unsecured claims exist.
- Class 9: General unsecured claims. The Debtor estimates that general unsecured claims total approximately $723. These claims will be paid in full by the first day of the first month following the Effective Date. The Debtor submits that this proposed treatment renders general unsecured claims unimpaired and, accordingly, they would be deemed to accept the Plan and not entitled to vote.
- Class 10: Interest holders. Debtor's owners will retain their ownership interest in the Debtor.

The Debtor also proposes to pay the Franchise Tax Board's priority claim within 36 months by making monthly payments of $77. Resnik Hayes Moradi has consented to Debtor's proposal to repay its administrative claim, in an amount approved by this Court, by making monthly payments in the amount of $1,000 until its claim is satisfied.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Section 1125 requires a disclosure statement to contain "information of a kind, and in sufficient detail, as far as is reasonably practicable in light of the nature and history of the debtor and the condition of the debtor's books and records . . . that would enable. . . a hypothetical investor of the relevant class to make an informed judgment about the plan." In determining whether a disclosure statement provides adequate information, "the court shall consider the complexity of the case, the benefit of additional information to creditors and other parties in interest, and the cost of providing additional information." 11 U.S.C. § 1125(a). Courts interpreting § 1125(a) have explained that the "primary purpose of a disclosure statement is to give the creditors the information they need to decide whether to accept the plan." In re Monnier Bros., 755 F.2d 1336, 1342 (8th Cir. 1985). "According to the legislative history, the parameters of what constitutes adequate information are intended to be flexible." In re Diversified Investors Fund XVII, 91 B.R. 559, 560 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1988). "Adequate information will be determined by the facts and circumstances of each case." Oneida Motor Freight, Inc. v. United Jersey Bank, 848 F.2d 414, 417 (3d Cir. 1988), accord. In re Ariz. Fast Foods, Inc., 299 B.R. 589 (Bankr. D. Ariz. 2003).

Relevant factors for evaluating the adequacy of a disclosure statement may include: (1) the events which led to the filing of a bankruptcy petition; (2) a description of the available assets and their value; (3) the anticipated future of the company; (4) the source of information stated in the disclosure statement; (5) a disclaimer; (6) the present condition of the debtor while in Chapter 11; (7) the scheduled claims; (8) the estimated return to creditors under a Chapter 7 liquidation; (9) the accounting method utilized to produce financial information and the name of the accountants responsible for such information; (10) the future management of the debtor; (11) the Chapter 11 plan or a summary thereof; (12) the estimated administrative expenses, including attorneys' and accountants' fees;

(13) the collectability of accounts receivable; (14) financial information, data, valuations or projections relevant to the creditors' decision to accept or reject the Chapter 11 plan; (15) information relevant to the risks posed to creditors under the plan; (16) the actual or projected realizable value from recovery of preferential or otherwise voidable transfers; (17) litigation likely to arise in a nonbankruptcy context; (18) tax attributes of the debtor; and (19) the relationship of the debtor with affiliates.

In re Metrocraft Pub. Services, Inc., 39 B.R. 567, 568 (Bankr. Ga. 1984). However, “[d]isclosure of all factors is not necessary in every case.” Id.

Subject to the minor amendments discussed below, the Court finds that the Disclosure Statement contains adequate information, in view of the size and complexity of the case. Among other things, the Disclosure Statement describes (1) the factors precipitating the Chapter 11 filing, (2) significant events that occurred during the Chapter 11 case, (3) the classification structure of the Plan, (4) a disclaimer, (5) risk factors, and (6) the means for execution of the Plan.

However, the Court will require the Debtor to file an amended disclosure statement and plan by no later than April 24, 2019 to address the following two issues:

First, the Debtor proposes an Effective Date that is "the first business day that is fourteen (14) calendar days after the entry of the order confirming the Plan, with payment beginning by the first day of the following month." Disclosure Statement, p.5:18-20. This language is problematic because certain confirmation requirements mandate that effective date payments occur on the Effective Date. For example, for the Court to determine that Class 9 general unsecured claims are unimpaired, the Debtor must pay all claims in full on the Effective Date, rather than the proposed "first day of the month following the Effective Date." Therefore, the Debtor is directed to amend the language so that payments begin on the Effective Date.

Second, the Court notes that the Debtor's financial projections in Exhibit B state that they are for a period of "5 years," but only contain 12 months of projections. The Debtor is directed to file an amended Exhibit B with the full 5-year projections.

Chapter 11

Although the following are plan confirmation issues, the Debtor should also be prepared to present further evidence in support its confirmation brief regarding the feasibility of its proposed Plan. In its current form, the Plan proposes payment of certain obligations for months two through five, but the Debtor's projections set forth in Exhibit B to the Disclosure Statement reflect negative net monthly income for those months. The Court also notes the Debtor's proposed Plan will be funded, in part, from contributions from Sandra McBeth. As evidence of Ms. McBeth's financial ability to make such contributions, the Debtor attached Exhibit E, which purports to be copies of bank statements showing deposits and income from her employment as a real estate consultant. See Declaration of Sandra McBeth & Exhibit E. However, the bank accounts belong to Playa Vista Realty Group, Inc., and without more information about whether the statements capture all of Ms. McBeth's monthly income and expenses, the Court does not believe Exhibit E is sufficient evidence of Ms. McBeth's financial ability to fund the proposed Plan.

The following dates will apply:

(As ordered above, the First Amended Disclosure Statement containing minor amendments described above must be filed by April 24, 2019.)

For Approval Of Fees And Reimbursement Of Expenses; Declaration Of Monica Y. Kim, Esq. (POS Attached) (Attorneys for Jacob Nathan Rubin, MD, FACC, Patient Care Ombudsman)]- for Levene, Neale, Bender, Yoo & Brill LLP, Ombudsman Health, Period: 10/1/2018 to 4/30/2019, Fee: $99,671.00, Expenses: $1,035.52.

Docket 2620

Tentative Ruling:

7/16/2019

On May 24, 2019, the Debtors provided notice to professionals employed in this case that a hearing on interim fee applications would take place on August 14, 2019. See Notice to Professionals of Scheduled Hearing Date for Interim Fee Applications [Doc. No. 2446] (the "Notice"). Levene, Neale, Bender, Yoo & Brill LLP ("LNBYB") noticed a hearing on its first interim fee application on this date, rather than on the August 14 date specified in the Notice. For cases in which more than one professional has been employed, Local Bankruptcy Rule 2016-1(2) sets forth a procedure under which all fee applications are heard on the same date. Pursuant to this procedure, LNBYB should have set its interim fee application for hearing on August 14, 2019, concurrently with the hearings on the fee applications filed by other professionals. The Court will not require LNBYB to renotice this hearing for August 14, 2019. However, in the future, professional fee applications that are not noticed in accordance with LBR 2016-1(2) will be denied.

Turning to the merits, on October 25, 2018, the Court entered an Order on Debtors' Motion Establishing Procedures for Monthly Payment of Fees and Expense Reimbursement [Doc. No. 661], and on October 16, 2018, the Court entered an Amended Order on Debtors' Motion Establishing Procedures for Monthly Payment of Fees and Expense Reimbursement [Doc. No. 826] (the "Fee Procedures Order"). [Note 1] Pursuant to the Fee Procedures Order, each professional employed by the estate may file a monthly fee application (each, a "Monthly Application") seeking payment of interim compensation in an amount equal to 80% of the fees sought and 100% of the expenses incurred during the prior month. If no objection is filed and served within ten calendar days after the date of the filing of the notice of the Monthly Application, the Monthly Application is deemed approved on an interim basis, and the Debtor is authorized to pay 80% of the fees and 100% of the expenses requested in the Monthly Application without further order of the Court. [Note 2] The failure to object to a Monthly Application does not result in a waiver of a party's ability to object to an interim fee application.

On October 9, 2018, the Court entered an order appointing Jacob Nathan Rubin, MD as the patient care ombudsman (the "PCO") in these cases. Doc. No. 430. On November 2, 2018, the Court approved the PCO's application to employ LNBYB as its counsel. Doc. No. 751. For the fee period at issue, LNBYB has submitted seven Monthly Applications [Doc. Nos. 854, 1123, 1317, 1595, 1911, 2256, and 2457], none of which have been opposed. The Fee Procedures Order requires LNBYB to hold payments received from the Debtors in its trust account, until such time as the Court awards fees and costs to LNBYB in accordance with its Fee Applications.

No objections to the First Interim Application of Levene, Neale, Bender, Yoo & Brill LLP for Approval of Fees and Reimbursement of Expenses [Doc. No. 2620] (the "Application") have been filed. Having reviewed the Application, the Court approves, on an interim basis, the fees and expenses set forth below:

Fees: $99,671.00

Expenses: $1,035.52

To the extent requested in the Application, LNBYB is authorize to transfer the fees and expenses awarded above from its trust account to its general operating account. [Note 3]

Note 1

Note 2

Pachulski Stang Ziehl & Jones, LLP ("PSZJ"), which has been employed as the Debtors' conflicts counsel, is authorized to receive payment of fees and expenses every four months, instead of every month.

Note 3

Pursuant to the Fee Procedures Order, LNBYB has been paid a total of $89,976.62 in connection with its Monthly Applications. Those funds remain in LNBYB's trust account. LNBYB will not seek payment of the unpaid balance of $10,729.90 until it files its final fee application.

#1.00 HearingRE: [16] Notice of motion and motion for relief from the automatic stay with supporting declarations REAL PROPERTY RE: 2573-2575 East Jefferson Street, Carson, CA 90810 . (Jafarnia, Merdaud)

Docket 16

Tentative Ruling:

7/19/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2) to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to foreclose upon and obtain possession of the property in accordance with applicable law. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. Since a chapter 7 case does not contemplate reorganization, the sole issue before the Court when stay relief is sought under 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2) is whether the Debtor has equity in the property. See, e.g., Martens v. Countrywide Home Loans (In re Martens), 331 B.R. 395, 398 (8th Cir. BAP 2005); Ramco Indus. v. Preuss (In re Preuss), 15 B.R. 896, 897 (9th Cir. BAP 1981).

The subject property has a value of $506,000 and is encumbered by a perfected deed of trust or mortgage in favor of the Movant. The liens against the property and the expected costs of sale total $599,147.82. The Court finds there is no equity and there is no evidence that the trustee can administer the subject real property for the benefit of creditors.

Tentative Ruling:

7/19/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. Docket 67

Tentative Ruling:

7/19/2019

Tentative Ruling:

For the reasons set forth below, the R/S Motion is DENIED.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed

1. Notice of Motion and Motion for Relief From the Automatic Stay Under 11 U.S.C. § 362 (Real Property) [Doc. No. 69] (the "R/S Motion")
2. Response to Motion Regarding the Automatic Stay and Declaration(s) in Support [Doc. No. 69] (the "Opposition")
3. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, Movant has not filed a reply

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Felix and Cecilia Diaz (the "Debtors") filed this voluntary chapter 7 case on July 6, 2018. Shortly thereafter, John J. Menchaca was appointed to serve as the Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee") and continues to serve in that capacity.

Nations Direct Mortgage, LLC ("Movant") seeks relief from the automatic stay pursuant to § 362(d)(1) to proceed under applicable nonbankruptcy law to enforce its remedies to foreclose upon and obtain possession of the Property and for waiver of the 14-day stay prescribed by FRBP 4001(a)(3). Movant states that it holds a first-priority deed of trust against the Debtors' interest in real property located at 11119 Doty Avenue, Inglewood, CA 90303 (the "Property") securing debt in the amount of $312,467 as of June 2, 2019. Movant further asserts that pursuant to the Debtors' schedules, the Property is worth $645,000, and that the Debtors do not have any equity in the Property after deducting Movant's claim, a second-priority deed of trust recorded in favor of Johanna Olivares secured $324,000 in debt, and applicable costs of sale. Therefore, Movant contends that its interest in the Property is not protected by an adequate equity cushion.

On July 5, 2019, the Trustee filed a timely Opposition to the R/S Motion asserting that Movant's interest is more than adequately protected by an equity cushion because (i) the fair market value of the Property is $680,000; (ii) the second-deed of trust has been avoided for the benefit of the estate so Movant's interest is the only encumbrance on the Property; and (iii) Movant's equity cushion is 106%. More importantly, the Trustee contends that the R/S Motion should be denied because the Trustee has a pending motion to sell the Property which, if granted, will result in full payment of Movant's lien within approximately thirty days.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, Movant has not filed a reply.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1), the Court shall grant relief if the movant's interest in the property is not protected by an adequate equity cushion. In the Ninth Circuit, "[a] 20% [equity] cushion has been held to be an adequate protection for a secured creditor." In re Mellor, 734 F.2d 1396, 1401 (9th Cir. 1984).

Using Movant's figures, the Court finds that Movant is adequately protected by a 43.6% equity cushion. Furthermore, on July 11, 2019, the Court entered an order granting the Trustee's motion to sell the Property for $680,000 [Doc. No. 71], which will result in Movant being paid in full through escrow very shortly. Therefore, Movant has not established that relief from stay is warranted under § 362(d)(1).

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the R/S Motion is DENIED.

The Trustee is directed to lodge a conforming proposed order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing.

#4.00 HearingRE: [11] Notice of motion and motion for relief from the automatic stay with supporting declarations UNLAWFUL DETAINER RE: 3910 West Commonwealth Ave., Fullerton, CA 92833 With Proof of Service.

Docket 11

Tentative Ruling:

7/19/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1). The stay is terminated as to the Debtor and the Debtor's bankruptcy estate with respect to the Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns. Movant may enforce its remedies to obtain possession of the property in accordance with applicable law, but may not pursue a deficiency claim against the debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501.

The Movant filed an unlawful detainer action on March 19, 2019.

This Motion has been filed to allow the Movant to proceed with the unlawful detainer proceeding in state court. The unlawful detainer proceeding may go forward because the Debtor's right to possess the premises must be determined. This does not change simply because a bankruptcy petition was filed. See In re Butler, 271 B.R. 867, 876 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2002).

Tentative Ruling:

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Court finds that there is sufficient evidence to grant relief pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(4). The filing of the petition was part of a scheme to delay, hinder, and defraud creditors, which involved the transfer of all or part ownership of, or other interest in, the Property without the consent of Movant or court approval and [multiple bankruptcy cases affecting the Property. #2.00 Hearing re [29] Debtors' Motion to Convert Case Under 11 U.S.C. §§706(a)

Docket 0

Tentative Ruling:

7/22/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Conversion Motion is DENIED.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed

1. Debtor's Motion to Convert Case Under 11 U.S.C. §§706(a) or 1112(a) [Doc. No. 29] (the "Conversion Motion")
2. Order Setting Hearing on Debtors' Motion to Convert Case and Related Briefing Deadlines [Doc. No. 33] (the "Order")
3. Chapter 7 Trustee's Opposition to Debtors' Motion to Convert Case Under 11 U.S.C. §§ 706 or 1112(a) [Doc. No. 39] (the "Opposition")
4. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no reply is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Norberto and Erica Pimentel (together, the "Debtors") filed this voluntary Chapter 7 case on March 20, 2019 (the "Petition Date"). Shortly thereafter Wesley Avery was appointed to serve as the Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee") and continues to serve in that capacity.

On June 13, 2019, the Debtors filed the Conversion Motion seeking to convert this case to a case under Chapter 13. The Debtors submit that conversion is sought in good faith because the case has not been previously converted and the Debtors are eligible for relief under Chapter 13.

On June 18, 2019, the Court issued its Order setting the matter for hearing and setting related briefing deadlines. Among other things, the Order directed the Debtors to give notice of the hearing date and applicable briefing deadlines by no later than June 28, 2019 and to file a proof of service evidencing service in accordance with the Order [Doc. No. 33]. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, the Debtors have failed to comply.

Notwithstanding the Debtors' failure to give notice, the Trustee filed a timely Opposition asserting that the Debtors do not qualify to be Chapter 13 Debtors because they have not submitted any evidence of their ability to make plan payments and because their expenses appear to be understated such that they may not have any disposable net monthly income to repay creditors through a chapter 13 plan. The Trustee also argues that the Debtors have acted in bad faith by failing to adequately disclose assets and making false statements and representations in their schedules and under oath at the 341(a) meeting of creditors. Furthermore, based on these allegations, on May 20, 2019, the Trustee initiated an adversary proceeding against the Debtors by filing a Complaint asserting a claim for relief under § 727(a)(4)(A) [See Avery v. Pimentel et al., 2:19-ap-01146-ER (the "Discharge Action")]. Therefore, the Trustee argues that the Debtors request to convert their case is a bad faith attempt to avoid litigating the Discharge Action.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no reply is on file.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

As a preliminary matter, the Court notes that the Debtors failed to comply with this Court's Order directing them to give notice of the hearing on their Conversion Motion. Accordingly, on this basis alone, the Conversion Motion must be denied.

Additionally, and alternatively, the Court finds that sufficient grounds exist to deny the Conversion Motion on the merits. Section 706 provides that a "debtor may convert a case under [Chapter 7] to a case under chapter 13 . . . of this title at any time, if the case has not been converted under section 1112, 1208, or 1307 of this title. Any waiver of the right to convert a case under this subsection is unenforceable." 11 U.S.C. § 706(a). However, conversion is subject to § 706(d), which states "[n]otwithstanding any other provision of this section, a case may not be converted to a case under another chapter of this title unless the debtor may be a debtor under such chapter." 11 U.S.C. § 706(d).

In Marrama v. Citizens Bank of Massachusetts, 549 U.S. 365 (2007), the Supreme Court considered whether § 706(a) provided a Chapter 7 debtor the absolute right to convert to Chapter 13. Noting that § 1307(c) permits the bankruptcy court to convert or dismiss a Chapter 13 case for "cause," the Marrama Court found that the bankruptcy court was not required to convert a Chapter 7 case to Chapter 13 where circumstances existed that would justify dismissal under § 1307(c):

Nothing in the text of either § 706 or § 1307(c) (or the legislative history of either provision) limits the authority of the court to take appropriate action in response to fraudulent conduct by the atypical litigant who has demonstrated that he is not entitled to the relief available to the typical debtor. On the contrary, the broad authority granted to bankruptcy judges to take any action that is necessary or appropriate 'to prevent an abuse of process' described in § 105(a) of the Code, is surely adequate to authorize an immediate denial of a motion to convert filed under § 706 in lieu of a conversion order that merely postpones the allowance of equivalent relief and may provide a debtor with an opportunity to take action prejudicial to creditors.

Id. at 374-75 (footnotes omitted).

In determining whether a debtor has engaged in bad-faith conduct, the bankruptcy court must review the "totality of the circumstances." In re Yan Sui, 2013 WL 1397416, at *7 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. Apr. 4, 2013) aff'd, 2014 WL 3037618 (9th Cir. July 7, 2014). A bankruptcy court should consider:

- (1) whether the debtor misrepresented facts in his or her petition or plan, unfairly manipulated the Bankruptcy Code or otherwise filed the chapter 13 petition or plan in an inequitable manner;
- (2) the debtor's history of filings and dismissals;
- (3) whether the debtor's only purpose for filing the chapter 13 protection is to defeat state court litigation; and
- (4) whether egregious behavior is present.

Id. at *7-8 (citing In re Leavitt, 171 F.3d 1219, 1224 (9th Cir. 1999)). A finding of bad faith does not require fraudulent intent by the debtor. Id.

In this case, the Trustee has raised sufficient concerns regarding the Debtors' bad-faith conduct in this case and the Debtors have failed to respond to refute those arguments. Therefore, on this record, the Court finds that the Debtors' request to convert this case to a case under chapter 13 is sought in bad faith in an attempt to defeat the Discharge Action. The record also supports a finding that the Debtors have engaged in egregious behavior by failing to provide accurate and complete information in their schedules and in response to questioning under oath (see e.g. Farrar v. Sandoval, 2005 WL 6960187, at *7, fn 12 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. Aug. 3, 2005) (internal citations omitted) ("‘Egregious’ conduct has been described as unexcused and unjustified dishonesty . . . [o]r, it may be ‘behavior that demonstrates bad faith and prejudices creditors—for example, concealing information from the court . . .").

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the Conversion Motion is DENIED.

The Trustee is directed to lodge a conforming proposed order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing.

States Trustee (the "UST"), the Court converted the case to Chapter 7. On July 11, 2019, the Court granted the Debtor's motion to reconvert the case to Chapter 11. Doc. No. 476.

The Debtor moves to sell real property located at 4702 West 165th Street, Lawndale, CA (the "Property") free and clear of liens, claims, and interests. The proposed purchasers are Oliver Smith and Margaret Smith (the "Buyers"). The sale is subject to overbids.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Section 363(b) permits the debtor to sell estate property out of the ordinary course of business, subject to court approval. The debtor must articulate a business justification for the sale. In re Walter, 83 B.R. 14, 19–20 (9th Cir. BAP 1988). Whether the articulated business justification is sufficient "depends on the case," in view of "all salient factors pertaining to the proceeding." Id. at 19–20.

The Debtor has demonstrated sufficient business justification for the sale. The sale will generate proceeds sufficient to pay the administrative claim of the Law Offices of Alik Segal, as well as secured claims and tax claims asserted against the Property.

Section 363(f)(3) provides that estate property may be sold free and clear of liens, provided that the sales price exceeds the aggregate value of all such liens. Here, the sales price of $660,000 exceeds the aggregate value of all liens asserted against the Property. Pursuant to § 363(f)(3), the sale is free and clear of liens, claims, and interests.

The Court approves the overbid procedures set forth in the Sale Motion. The initial overbid shall be $670,000. Subsequent overbids shall be in increments of $5,000. The overbid increment is subject to adjustment by the Court to facilitate bidding (see "Auction Procedures," below).

The Court notes that the Debtor did not submit Form 6004-2, Notice of Sale of Estate Property. Notice of the sale was provided to creditors and interested parties, and the Property was extensively marketed. Notwithstanding the Debtor's failure to submit Form 6004-2, the Court will permit the sale to go forward.

Having reviewed the declaration of the Debtor, the Court finds that the Buyers are entitled to the protections of § 363(m). In the event that an overbidder prevails at the auction, the Court will take testimony from such overbidder to determine whether § 363(m) protections are warranted.
