approximate amount of $10,000." Sale Motion at 8. On October 5, 2015, the Court entered an order approving the Debtor's employment of A.O.E. Law & Associates ("AOE") as her general bankruptcy counsel. Doc. No. 324. AOE has not submitted an application for compensation as required by § 330. AOE must obtain approval of a properly noticed application for compensation before receiving payment from the estate. The Court notes that the Plan [Doc. No. 353] provides that "Debtor will pay the professional fees of [AOE] of $12,000 in monthly installment[s] of $200 for 60 months starting on the first day of the month after the Effective Date of the plan." Plan at Art. I.A. However, the Plan also provides that "[p]rofessional fees may only be paid upon application to and approval by the court." Art. I. Further, Local Bankruptcy Rule ("LBR") 2016-1(c)(1) provides that "each professional person employed in the case must file a final fee application" (emphasis added). A statement within the Plan that professional fees will be paid does not qualify as a fee application within the meaning of LBR 2016-1(c)(1).

Debtor requests that she be authorized to deliver the Property to the Buyers "free and clear of any tenancy," pursuant to § 542(a). Sale Motion at 17. The Sale Motion does not specify whether the Property is occupied or whether the Debtor anticipates any difficulties delivering the Property to the Buyers free of any occupants. Absent further information, the Court declines to enter an order requiring turnover of the Property by any occupants. The Debtor may seek turnover by way of a separately noticed motion.

Auction Procedures

In the event that any qualified overbidders are present, the Court will distribute numbered auction paddles to the proposed purchaser and all qualified overbidders. The initial overbid shall be $670,000, with subsequent overbids to be increments of $5,000. The overbid increment is subject to adjustment by the Court to facilitate bidding. The Court will announce each bid level. To remain in the auction, bidders must participate at all bid levels. That is, parties who do not bid in a round cannot later change their minds and re-enter the auction. Parties may make a bid higher than that announced by the Court by approaching the podium and stating their bid.

Docket 2633

Tentative Ruling:

7/23/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Motion is GRANTED in its entirety.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Debtors' Notice of Motion and Motion to Assume and Assign Promissory Note Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 365(a) [Doc. No. 2633] (the "Motion")
 - a) Declaration of Service by Kurtzman Carson Consultants, LLC Regarding Docket Numbers 2632 and 2633 [Doc. No. 2702]

- 3) No opposition to the Motion is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On August 31, 2018 (the "Petition Date"), Verity Health Systems of California ("VHS") and certain of its subsidiaries filed voluntary petitions for relief under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. On August 31, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the Debtors' motion for joint administration of the Debtors' Chapter 11 cases. Doc. No. 17. Debtors move for an order authorizing Debtor Verity Medical Foundation ("VMF") to assume and assign a Forgivable Promissory Note (defined below) to John Lee, M.D. and Leonard Sender, M.D., Inc., dba Chan Soon-Shiong Institutes for Medicine Immuno-Oncology Network, Mariposa ("CSSI").

VMF contracts with physicians and other healthcare professionals to provide healthcare services. VMF held or holds long-term professional service agreements with various medical groups, including Verity Medical Group, P.C. ("VMG"). Chaitali Nangia, M.D. ("Dr. Nangia") was employed by VMG. On October 13, 2017,

Chapter 11

Dr. Nangia signed a promissory note, in the principal sum of $300,000, in favor of VMF (the “Forgivable Promissory Note”). The Forgivable Promissory Note was provided in connection with a physician employment agreement between Dr. Nangia and VMG. Pursuant to the Forgivable Promissory Note, Dr. Nangia received $300,000, to be used to purchase a primary residence. The Forgivable Promissory Note was to be forgiven over time as long as Dr. Nangia continued to practice at VMF clinics. As of the date of the Motion, the Forgivable Promissory Note has an outstanding balance of $225,000.

As part of the winding up of VMF, VMG and Dr. Nangia have mutually terminated their employment relationship and Dr. Nangia has transitioned her practice to CSSI. Debtors argue that the purpose of the Forgivable Promissory Note—providing an economic incentive for Dr. Nangia to remain in the community providing medical care—would be best achieved through an assumption and assignment of the Forgivable Promissory Note to CSSI. Dr. Nangia and CSSI have consented to the assignment.

The Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors has no objection to the Motion. No opposition to the Motion is on file.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Section 365(a) provides that a debtor, "subject to the court's approval, may assume or reject any executory contract or unexpired lease of the debtor." In Agarwal v. Pomona Valley Med. Grp. (In re Pomona Valley Med. Grp., Inc.), the Ninth Circuit explained that the business judgment rule governs the Bankruptcy Court's review of the Debtors' decision to assume or reject an executory contract or unexpired lease. Pomona Valley, 476 F.3d 665, 670 (9th Cir. 2007). The Pomona Valley court stated that the Court “need engage in only a cursory review” of the debtor's decision, and “should presume that the debtor-in-possession acted prudently, on an informed basis, in good faith, and in the honest belief that the action taken was in the best interests of the bankruptcy estate.” Id.

A contract is executory if the obligations of both parties “are so far unperformed that the failure of either to complete performance would constitute a material breach excusing the performance of the other.” Unsecured Creditors' Comm. v. Southmark Corp. (In re Robert L. Helms Constr. & Dev. Co., Inc.), 139 F.3d 702, 705 (9th Cir. 1998).

The Court finds that the Forgivable Promissory Note is an executory contract. Both parties to the contract have material obligations that have not been performed.

Chapter 11

Dr. Nangia must continue to provide medical services to obtain forgiveness of the remaining balance. VMF (and assignee CSSI) are required to forgive the remaining balance provided that Dr. Nangia continues to provide medical services. [Note 1]

The Court approves the assumption and assignment of the Forgivable Promissory Note to CSSI. [Note 2] In view of the closure of the VMF clinics and absent Dr. Nangia's continued employment by VMG, the estate has no need of the Forgivable Promissory Note. Assignment of the Forgivable Promissory Note will relieve the Debtors of further costs associated with administering the Forgivable Promissory Note.

Based upon the foregoing, the Motion is GRANTED in its entirety. The Debtors shall submit an order incorporating this tentative ruling by reference within seven days of the hearing.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Jessica Vogel or Daniel Koontz at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. If you wish to make a telephonic appearance, contact Court Call at 888-882-6878, no later than one hour before the hearing.

Note 1

Courts have held that a "note is not usually an executory contract if the only performance that remains is repayment." Pennsylvania Tire Co. v. Firestone (In re Pennsylvania Tire Co.), 26 B.R. 663, 674 (Bankr. N.D. Ohio 1982). The remaining unperformed obligations under the Forgivable Promissory Note extend beyond repayment. Dr. Nangia must continue to provide medical services to trigger forgiveness of the remaining balance.

Note 2

The assignment of the Forgivable Promissory Note is appropriate pursuant to § 363(b)(1), which authorizes the Debtors to use estate property other than in the ordinary course of business upon Court approval.

Motion for Approval of Accommodations Requested by Old Republic Insurance Company

Debtors move for an order, nunc pro tunc to July 1, 2019, authorizing the Debtors to agree to certain accommodations requested by Old Republic Insurance Company ("Old Republic") in connection with the renewal of a workers' compensation and employer's liability insurance policy provided by Old Republic to certain of the Debtors (the "Workers' Compensation Policy").

Current coverage under the Workers' Compensation Policy expired on July 1, 2019. The Debtors sought proposals for workers' compensation insurance from twenty-two carriers. Twenty-one of those carriers declined. The only carrier agreeing to provide insurance, the California Compensation Insurance Fund, demanded a premium of $16,238,980. The annual premium under the renewed Workers' Compensation Policy offered by Old Republic (the "Renewed Workers' Compensation Policy") is $1,311,970. The premium for the Renewed Workers' Compensation Policy is 33% higher than the premium under the existing policy. Old Republic has also required the Debtors to provide Old Republic with a replacement Letter of Credit whereby the amount of the Letter of Credit is increased by $4,253,638 to $38,340,934 (the "Replacement Letter of Credit").

Old Republic has conditioned its willingness to offer the Renewed Workers' Compensation Policy upon the entry of an order providing old Republic with the following (collectively, the "Accommodations"):

- 1) The Debtors shall assume all obligations to Old Republic under prior agreements.

- 2) The automatic stay shall not prohibit Old Republic from cancelling the Renewed Workers' Compensation Policy pursuant to the terms of the policy and/or the terms of any other agreements between the Debtors and Old Republic.
- 3) All collateral held by Old Republic posted by the Debtors, whether posted before or after the filing of the Debtors' bankruptcy petitions, shall secure all obligations of the Debtors to Old Republic no matter when they arise.
- 4) The reimbursement obligations and any other obligations arising under the agreements between Old Republic and the Debtors shall be administrative obligations entitled to priority under § 503(b), and shall be deemed actual and necessary expenses of the estates to be paid in the ordinary course of business.
- 5) The Debtors' rights against all collateral held by Old Republic, in whatever form, shall be governed by the terms of the agreements between Old Republic and the Debtors, and the Debtors shall not take any action against Old Republic in their bankruptcy cases inconsistent with the terms of those agreements, including without limitation actions for turnover or estimation.
- 6) Old Republic shall not draw on the Replacement Letter of Credit based upon the Debtors' insolvency or bankruptcy. The terms of the existing Stipulation for Entry of Order Resolving Adversary Proceeding between the Debtors and Old Republic Insurance Company [Doc. No. 24, Adv. No. 2:18-ap-01277-ER] shall remain in effect.

The Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors does not objection to the Motion. No opposition to the Motion is on file.

Motion for Authorization to Make Capital Contribution to Marillac Insurance Company, Ltd.

To secure the Replacement Letter of Credit required by Old Republic in connection with the issuance of the Renewed Workers' Compensation Policy, the Debtors seek authorization to make a capital contribution to their wholly-owned captive insurer, Marillac Insurance Company, Ltd. ("Marillac"). Marillac is not a debtor. The contribution is necessary so that Marillac will have sufficient collateral to obtain the Replacement Letter of Credit.

The existing Letter of Credit is fully secured by Marillac assets—$34,087,296 of liquid securities. Under the terms of the Renewed Workers' Compensation Policy, the amount of the Replacement Letter of Credit has been increased by $4,253,638 to $38,340,934. In order for the Replacement Letter of Credit to be fully secured, it is necessary for the Debtors to make a capital contribution to Marillac in the amount of $4,253,638.

Shortly after the Petition Date, the Court entered an order authorizing the Debtors to continue to administer insurance coverage currently in effect and pay insurance premiums and other costs necessary to maintain coverage. See Doc. No. 131 (the "Insurance Order").

II. Findings and Conclusions

A. The Motion for Approval of Accommodations Requested by Old Republic Insurance Company is Granted

Section 363(b) permits the debtor to use estate property out of the ordinary course of business, subject to Court approval. The debtor must articulate a business justification for the use of the property. In re Walter, 83 B.R. 14, 19–20 (9th Cir. BAP 1988) (citing In re Continental Air Lines, 780 F.2d 1223 (5th Cir. 1986)). Whether the articulated business justification is sufficient "depends on the case," in view of "all salient factors pertaining to the proceeding." Id.

The Debtors have demonstrated ample business justification for providing the Accommodations to Old Republic. As employers and operators of a non-profit healthcare system in California, the Debtors are required to maintain workers' compensation insurance coverage. See Cal. Lab. Code § 3700. The Renewed Workers' Compensation Policy offered by Old Republic is the most economical means of obtaining such coverage. The only other entity willing to extend coverage to the Debtors required a premium of $16,238,980, much higher than the $1,311,970 premium required by Old Republic. The Accommodations required by Old Republic are reasonable in view of the coverage being extended.

Based upon the foregoing, the Motion is GRANTED in its entirety.

B. Motion for Authorization to Make Capital Contribution to Marillac Insurance Company, Ltd. is Granted

To secure the Replacement Letter of Credit required by Old Republic under the Renewed Workers' Compensation Policy, it is necessary for the Debtors to make a $4,253,638 capital contribution to Marillac. Given the favorable terms of the Renewed Workers' Compensation Policy, the Debtors have demonstrated sufficient business justification for making the capital contribution. The Motion is GRANTED in its entirety.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On August 31, 2018, Verity Health Systems of California ("VHS") and certain of its subsidiaries (collectively, the "Debtors") filed voluntary petitions for relief under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. On August 31, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the Debtors' motion for joint administration of the Debtors' Chapter 11 cases. Doc. No. 17. The Debtors seek approval of a settlement agreement with Smith & Nephew, Inc. (the "Settlement Agreement").

On October 9, 2018, the Court entered a Final Order Granting Debtors' Emergency Motion for Entry of an Order Authorizing Debtors to Honor Prepetition

Obligations to Critical Vendors [Doc. No. 436] (the “Critical Vendor Order”). The Critical Vendor Order authorizes the Debtors to pay prepetition claims of vendors supplying critical medical supplies and services, in an aggregate amount of up to $20 million.

Smith & Nephew, Inc. (“S&N”) is a critical vendor of the Debtors, pursuant to a Vendor Agreement executed on October 5, 2018 and subsequently extended to February 5, 2019.

On March 17, 2017, O’Connor Hospital (“O’Connor”) and S&N executed a NAVIO Pricing Agreement (the “NAVIO Agreement”), pursuant to which S&N placed a NAVIO surgical system (the “NAVIO Equipment”) at O’Connor. The Debtors maintain that they own the NAVIO Equipment pursuant to the NAVIO Agreement. S&N disagrees and asserts it owns the NAVIO Equipment.

On December 27, 2018, the Court approved the sale of substantially all of O’Connor’s assets to Santa Clara County. Doc. No. 1153. On January 15, 2019, the Debtors and S&N entered into a stipulation which provided that the NAVIO Equipment was not being sold along with the other assets of O’Connor to Santa Clara County, and that the parties retained all rights, claims, defenses, and arguments with respect to the ownership and possession of the NAVIO Equipment.

The Settlement Agreement resolves the dispute concerning ownership of the NAVIO Equipment and allows S&N to remove the NAVIO Equipment from O’Connor as consideration to agreeing to further extend the Vendor Agreement through December 31, 2019. S&N has also agreed to reduced its general unsecured claim against O’Connor by $391,000, the cost of the NAVIO Equipment, subject to an inspection of the system and verification that the system is in good working order and condition. If the NAVIO Equipment is not in good working order, the parties agree to negotiate in good faith toward a reduced claim reflecting the equipment’s damaged condition.

The Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors has no objection to the Motion. No opposition to the Motion is on file.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Bankruptcy Rule 9019 provides that the Court may approve a compromise or settlement. "In determining the fairness, reasonableness and adequacy of a proposed settlement agreement, the court must consider: (a) The probability of success in the litigation; (b) the difficulties, if any, to be encountered in the matter of collection; (c) the complexity of the litigation involved, and the expense, inconvenience and delay necessarily attending it; (d) the paramount interest of the creditors and a proper deference to their reasonable views in the premises." Martin v. Kane (In re A&C Properties), 784 F.2d 1377, 1381 (9th Cir. 1986). "[C]ompromises are favored in bankruptcy, and the decision of the bankruptcy judge to approve or disapprove the compromise of the parties rests in the sound discretion of the bankruptcy judge." In re Sassalos, 160 B.R. 646, 653 (D. Ore. 1993). In approving a settlement agreement, the Court must "canvass the issues and see whether the settlement 'falls below the lowest point in the range of reasonableness.'" Cosoff v. Rodman (In re W.T. Grant Co.), 699 F.2d 599, 608 (2d Cir. 1983). Applying the A&C Properties factors, the Court finds that the Settlement Agreement is adequate, fair, and reasonable, and is in the best interests of the estate and creditors.

Probability of Success on the Merits and Complexity of the Litigation

These factors weigh in favor of approving the Settlement Agreement. The Debtors no longer use the NAVIO Equipment. Santa Clara County did not purchase the NAVIO Equipment when it acquired substantially all of O'Connor's assets. The Settlement Agreement benefits the estates by (1) providing for the disposition of the unnecessary NAVIO Equipment in exchange for S&N agreeing to reduce its unsecured claim against the Debtors by the cost of the NAVIO Equipment and (2) providing for an extension of the Vendor Agreement with S&N through December 31, 2019.

The possibility that litigation regarding the ownership of the NAVIO Equipment might yield a result nominally more favorable to the estate cannot be ruled out. Yet any such result obtained through litigation would be a pyrrhic victory from the perspective of the estate and creditors, because the additional administrative costs associated with the litigation would on net leave the estate worse off. Further, if the Debtors elected litigation, S&N might cease providing services as a Critical Vendor, further damaging the estates.

Paramount Interests of Creditors

This factor weighs strongly in favor of approving the Settlement Agreement. The Committee does not object to the Settlement Agreement, and no creditors have objected to the Settlement Agreement.

Difficulties to be Encountered in the Matter of Collection

an agreement with the County (the "Contract"). St. Francis was entitled to reimbursement from federal, state, and County sources on account of the Services under the terms of the Contract. The State of California (the "State") conducted an audit of the Services provided by St. Francis during the 2008–2009 fiscal year (the "Reimbursement Period") to determine the final amounts to which St. Francis was entitled during the Reimbursement Period (the "Audit"). The State concluded in the Audit that the amounts earned by St. Francis during the Reimbursement Period exceeded reimbursement limits under the Contract. At the request of St. Francis, the County appealed the results of the Audit (the "Appeal"). During the pendency of the Appeal, the County approached St. Francis and requested that it enter into the Settlement Agreement. The Settlement Agreement modifies the Contract by increasing the reimbursement cap for the Services, which will allow St. Francis to recover an additional $215,590 in reimbursements for performing the Services. Under the Settlement Agreement, St. Francis authorizes the County to withdraw the Appeal.

The Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors has no objection to the Motion. No opposition to the Motion is on file.

These factors weighs in favor of approving the Settlement Agreement. The Settlement Agreement achieves the aim of the Appeal without the need for further delay or litigation risk by modifying the Contract to allow for an additional $215,590 in reimbursements from federal and state sources. Debtors' Chapter 11 cases. Doc. No. 17.

Individual Debtors are parties to multiple real-property, non-residential leases necessary for the operation of the Debtors' business, including office and operational space (the "Leases"). On February 19, 2019, the Court extended the Debtors' deadline to assume or reject these unexpired leases (such deadline, the "Assumption/Rejection Deadline") by 90 days, to and including March 29, 2019. Doc. No. 1579. On May 15, 2019, the Court further extended the Assumption/Rejection Deadline to and including June 27, 2019. Doc. No. 2383. Debtors now move for a 90-day extension of the Assumption/Rejection Deadline, to and including September 25, 2019. Debtors state that an extension is necessary because Strategic Global Management ("SGM"), the purchaser of the Debtors' remaining hospitals, has not made a determination regarding the assumption or rejection of the Leases.

The Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors has no objection to the Motion. No opposition to the Motion is on file.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Section 365(d)(4) provides:

- (A) Subject to subparagraph (B), an unexpired lease of nonresidential real property under which the debtor is the lessee shall be deemed rejected, and the trustee shall immediately surrender that nonresidential real property to the lessor, if the trustee does not assume or reject the unexpired lease by the earlier of—
 - (i) the date that is 120 days after the date of the order for relief; or
 - (ii) the date of the entry of an order confirming a plan.
- (B)
 - (i) The court may extend the period determined under subparagraph (A), prior to the expiration of the 120-day period, for 90 days on the motion of the trustee or lessor for cause.
 - (ii) If the court grants an extension under clause (i), the court may grant a subsequent extension only upon prior written consent of the lessor in each instance.

B.R. 231, 237 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1988), aff'd, 875 F.2d 1380 (9th Cir. 1989).

In its prior ruling extending the Assumption/Rejection deadline to June 27, 2019, the Court deemed a Lessor's non-opposition to constitute "consent" for purposes of § 365(d)(4)(B)(ii). See Doc. No. 2247. The Court finds it appropriate to continue to deem the Lessor's non-opposition to constitute consent. Because the Debtors remain current on lease payments, this approach does not prejudice the Lessors. In addition, absent extension of the deadline, the Debtors will lack the ability to assume and assign any of the leases at issue to SGM. This would require SGM to renegotiate the leases, making it more difficult for SGM to consummate the purchase of the Debtors' remaining hospitals.

The Lessors have received notice of the Motion and have not objected to the relief requested. The Assumption/Rejection Deadline is extended to and including September 25, 2019.

The Debtors shall submit an order incorporating this tentative ruling by reference within seven days of the hearing.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Jessica Vogel or Daniel Koontz at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. Chapter 7

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Danning, Gill, Diamond & Kollitz, LLP ("Applicant"), former general bankruptcy counsel to former Chapter 7 Trustee, David A. Gill (the "Former Trustee"), and successor Chapter 7 Trustee, Diane C. Weil (the "Trustee"), applies for final allowance of fees $13,328.50 and costs of $496.86 for the period of December 1, 2016 though February 4, 2019 (the "Current Fee Period") as well as final approval of previously approved interim fees totaling $30,209.50 and costs totaling $832.74 (the "Application"). See Doc. Nos. 70, 74, 98, 108.

Julian & Irma Buck (the "Debtors") oppose the Application. They argue that they have standing to object because this is a surplus case and identify the following objectionable time entries from the Current Fee Period totaling $4,795.50 that they contend are unreasonable or improper:

- 1) 1/3/17: (0.7) by E. Israel for "Edit and Execute Motion for Authority to Make Interim Distributions to Creditors" $455

The Debtors state that the main asset of the Estate was the Debtor's renewal commissions and that from the outset of Applicant's employment the Debtors had expressed their willingness to pay all claims in full. In support of this, the Debtors highlight that they, and not Applicant, successfully reduced claims by approximately 38% by filing claim objections. Therefore, the Debtors argue that the objectionable time entries are not reasonable because they either did not require any special skill requiring a senior partner to undertake such task or the task did not benefit the Estate given the Debtors commitment to pay all claims in full. As noted above, the Debtors also object to certain entries on the basis that the services identified represent functions that the Trustee should have performed.

Applicant filed a timely Reply responding to the Debtors' identified objections. Applicant generally argues that the Debtors have failed to submit any evidence in support of the Opposition and that notwithstanding the Debtors' alleged good intentions to pay all claims in full, the reality in chapter 7 cases is that debtor's good intentions often fall short. Accordingly, Applicant counters that the Debtors' expressed intentions did not obviate the need for it to perform services on behalf of the Former Trustee and Trustee.

With respect to the Debtors' specific objections, Applicant responds as follows:

Chapter 7

- Work Performed By Senior Partner [Entries 1, 2, 4, 5, 9, 14, 15 & 17 above]: Applicant's policy is to staff all cases with a partner to oversee associate's work and provide guidance regarding case strategy. Accordingly, partners must review pleadings and periodically meet with associates. Mr. Israel rendered only approximately 23.6% of the time billed during the Current Fee Period, which Applicant submits is reasonable. Even if the Court concludes that Mr. Israel should not have billed for certain services, fees for those services should not be denied in their entirety, but instead the rates should be reduced by $170/hour (the difference between the partner and associate rates). Therefore, at most, Applicant submits that its fees should only be reduced by a total of $714 for these entries.
- Transition Memo (Entries 10-13 above): Applicant argues that the four entries the Debtors highlight with respect to its preparation of a transition memo were reasonable because they were performed at the request of the Trustee.
- Entry 3 above: Applicant states that Debtors failed to explain why this entry should be disallowed. The Trustee is required to prepare a status report for the U.S. Trustee annually and it is common practice for the Trustee to ask Applicant to provide the portion of the status report that identifies the status of legal projects. The (0.1) time spent for this is modest for this task.
- Alleged Trustee Function (Entries 6-7 above): Applicant states that these entries were for Mr. D'Alba's services in responding to communications from attorneys at Farmers Insurance Company, that both entries were initiated by the insurance company, and it would have been inappropriate to "hand off" the calls.
- Vague as to Nature of Issues (Entry 8 above): Applicant states that this entry is reasonable when it is viewed in relation to the other time entries surrounding it and not viewed in a vacuum. Applicant provides an explanation as to what this entry represents.
- Entries 16 & 18 above: Applicant states that these two entries were performed by Applicant's paralegal and highlights that the Debtors have not provided any explanation as to why these entries are unreasonable. Applicant states that its paralegals have the lowest billing rates at the firm and that it routinely has its paralegals draft the bulk of its fee applications to keep costs low.

Finally, Applicant states that to the extent the Debtors seek to challenge any of their fees previously approved on an interim basis, such a challenge should be overruled because the Debtors did not raise any prior objections to its fees and have not now identified any specific unreasonable fees. Therefore, Applicant requests the Court overrule the entirety of the Debtors' objections and approve its fees.

On July 18, 2019, the Trustee filed an untimely declaration highlighting that she did not execute the declaration filed in support of the Application. The Trustee offers no explanation or excuse for the untimely filing. Although not outright stating so, the Trustee appears to object to the amount of fees Applicant billed over the course of this case in connection with preparation of three fee applications. The Trustee states that after making a voluntary reduction of $2,000 for fees in that category, Applicants fees still represent just over 20% of Applicant's total fees. The Trustee does not identify any specific time entries that she believes are unreasonable or provide any guidance as to what amount of fees she believes would be reasonable. [Note 1]

On July 19, 2019, Applicant filed a response to the Weil Declaration highlighting how untimely the filing was and requesting that the Court strike the pleading in its entirety. Applicant also argues that there is nothing in the bankruptcy rules or U.S. Trustee Guidelines that caps fees for a particular category of services and the Bankruptcy Code authorizes the submission of interim fees. Applicant also asserts that the estate benefited by Applicant's submission of interim fee applications because payment of professional fees created tax deductions that reduced administrative income taxes and minimizing bank fees. Applicant also highlights that the Former Trustee who served as the trustee for approximately 8.5 of the 10-year life of this case signed off on Applicant's final fees. Finally, Applicant submits that its fees are reasonable in view of the services performed.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Section 330(a)(1) allows the Court to award "reasonable compensation for actual, necessary services rendered" by a professional. In determining the amount of compensation to award, the Court considers the nature, the extent, and the value of such services, taking into account all relevant factors, including—

- (A) the time spent on such services;
- (B) the rates charged for such services;
- (C) whether the services were necessary to the administration of, or beneficial at the time at which the service was rendered toward the completion of, a case under this title;
- (D) whether the services were performed within a reasonable amount of time commensurate with the complexity, importance, and nature of the problem, issue, or task addressed;
- (E) with respect to a professional person, whether the person is board certified or otherwise has demonstrated skill and experience in the bankruptcy field; and
- (F) whether the compensation is reasonable based on the customary compensation charged by comparably skilled practitioners in cases other than cases under this title.

11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(3).

"The statute does not require that the services result in a material benefit to the estate in order for the professional to be compensated; the applicant must demonstrate only that the services were 'reasonably likely' to benefit the estate at the time the services were rendered." Sheridan & Kotel, P.C. v. Bergen Brunswig Drug Co. (In re Mednet), 251 B.R. 103, 108 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2000).

The Court overrules the Trustee's objection. The Weil Declaration was submitted eight days late and the Court does not find the objection particularly helpful since it does not identify any specific entries that the Trustee believes are objectionable or include any authority to support the Trustee's contention that Applicant's fees are excessive. Moreover, the Court finds that Applicant's fees are relatively low considering that this case is nearing its tenth year. When viewed within the context of the facts of this case, and considering the fact that Applicant prepared and submitted three separate fee applications and has already voluntarily reduced its fees by $2,000, the Court is not persuaded to find that Applicant's fees for time spent preparing fee applications and related activities are unreasonable.

With respect to the Debtors' Opposition, the Court rules as follows:

- Work Performed By Senior Partner [Entries 1, 2, 4, 5, 9, 14, 15 & 17 above]:
 - OVERRULE objections to entries 1, 2, 4, 5, 14, 15, & 17. The Court is not persuaded that Applicant's fees were unreasonable.
 - SUSTAIN objection to entry 9 on the grounds that this entry should have been billed at an associate rate. Therefore, Applicant's fees are reduced from $67 for this entry to $48 [Note 2], for a total fee reduction of $19.
- Transition Memo (Entries 10-13 above):
 - OVERRULE objections. These fees were incurred at the request of the Trustee and the Trustee has not raised any specific objection to the fees. Furthermore, given the length of this case and the importance of providing accurate and comprehensive information to the Trustee, the Court finds these fees reasonable.
- Entry 3 above:
 - OVERRULE objection. The Debtors have not identified any basis to support a finding that this entry is unreasonable.
- Alleged Trustee Function (Entries 6-7 above):
 - OVERRULE objections. Applicant has provided a sufficient explanation to conclude that these fees are reasonable.
- Vague as to Nature of Issues (Entry 8 above):
 - OVERRULE objection. Applicant has provided a sufficient explanation to conclude that this fee is reasonable.
- Entries 16 & 18 above:
 - OVERRULE objections. The Debtors have not identified any basis to support a finding that these entries are unreasonable.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the Application is GRANTED IN-PART and DENIED IN-PART. Applicant's fees are APPROVED on a final basis, as follows:

#100.00 HearingRE: [14] Notice of motion and motion for relief from the automatic stay with supporting declarations PERSONAL PROPERTY RE: 2017 Chevrolet Pickup .

Docket 14

Tentative Ruling:

7/25/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1) for cause to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to repossess or otherwise obtain possession and dispose of its collateral pursuant to applicable law, and to use the proceeds from its disposition to satisfy its claim. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. The Court takes judicial notice of the Chapter 7 Individual Debtor's Statement of Intention in which the Debtor stated an intention to surrender the vehicle to Movant.

This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. The 14-day stay prescribed by FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived. All other relief is denied.

Movant shall upload an appropriate order via the Court's Lodged Order Upload system within 7 days of the hearing.

Docket 12

Tentative Ruling:

7/25/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2) to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to foreclose upon and obtain possession of the property in accordance with applicable law. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. Since a chapter 7 case does not contemplate reorganization, the sole issue before the Court when stay relief is sought under 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2) is whether the Debtor has equity in the property. See, e.g., Martens v. Countrywide Home Loans (In re Martens), 331 B.R. 395, 398 (8th Cir. BAP 2005); Ramco Indus. v. Preuss (In re Preuss), 15 B.R. 896, 897 (9th Cir. BAP 1981).

The subject property has a value of $410,000 and is encumbered by a perfected deed of trust or mortgage in favor of the Movant. The liens against the property and the expected costs of sale total $512,123.21. The Court finds there is no equity and there is no evidence that the trustee can administer the subject real property for the benefit of creditors.

#102.00 HearingRE: [15] Notice of motion and motion for relief from the automatic stay with supporting declarations REAL PROPERTY RE: 618 Alta Vista Drive, Glendale, CA 91205 . (Smith, Nathan)

Docket 15

Tentative Ruling:

7/25/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the trustee and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995). The Court has reviewed the Debtor's Response [Doc. No. 17], in which the Debtor states that he has no knowledge or interest in the subject property and was not involved in any scheme to delay, hinder or defraud creditors.

The Court finds that there is sufficient evidence to grant relief pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(4). The filing of the petition was part of a scheme to delay, hinder, and defraud creditors, which involved the transfer of all or part ownership of, or other interest in, the Property without the consent of Movant or court approval and multiple bankruptcy cases affecting the Property. Declaration of Nicole Currey in support of Motion at paragraph 18.

The 14-day period specified in Fed.R.Bankr.P. 4001(a)(3) is waived. This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. If recorded in compliance with applicable State laws governing notices of interests or liens in real property, the order shall be binding in any other case under this title purporting to affect such real property filed not later than 2 years after the date of the entry of such order by the Court, except that a debtor in a subsequent case under this title may move RE: [11] and [12] Notice of motion and motion for relief from the automatic stay with supporting declarations UNLAWFUL DETAINER RE: 18660 Villa Clara St., Rowland Heights, CA 91748 With Proof of Service.

Docket 11

Tentative Ruling:

7/25/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1). The stay is terminated as to the Debtor and the Debtor's bankruptcy estate with respect to the Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns. Movant may enforce its remedies to obtain possession of the property in accordance with applicable law, but may not pursue a deficiency claim against the debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501.

The Movant filed an unlawful detainer action on June 3, 2019.

This Motion has been filed to allow the Movant to proceed with the unlawful detainer proceeding in state court. The unlawful detainer proceeding may go forward because the Debtor's right to possess the premises must be determined. This does not change simply because a bankruptcy petition was filed. The Court takes judicial notice of the Chapter 7 Individual Debtor's Statement of Intention in which the Debtor stated an intention to surrender the vehicle to Movant.

This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. The 14-day stay prescribed by FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived. All other relief is denied.

Movant shall upload an appropriate order via the Court's Lodged Order Upload system within 7 days of the hearing.

No appearances required. The tentative ruling is to take this matter off calendar. This is a continued hearing on Wells Fargo Bank, N.A.'s ("Movant") Motion for Relief from the Automatic Stay Under 11 U.S.C. § 362 (Real Property) [Doc. No. 10] (the "R/S Motion"). The chapter 7 Trustee, Jason M. Rund (the "Trustee") filed a timely opposition [Doc. No. 15]. This matter has been continued a number of times to afford the Trustee an opportunity to sell the real property that is the subject of the R/S Motion. To avoid unnecessary administrative costs of keeping this motion on calendar, the matter shall be taken off calendar. If the Trustee has not obtained approval of a sale of the subject property by August 31, 2019, Movant may re-notice a hearing on the R/S Motion.

1. Notice of Motion and Motion for Relief from the Automatic Stay Under 11 U.S.C. § 362 (Real Property) (the "R/S Motion") [Doc. No. 10]
2. Trustee's Opposition to R/S Motion ("Trustee's Opposition") [Doc. No. 15]
3. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, Movant has not filed a reply.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Motion

Rogelio and Carol Gonzalez (together, the "Debtors") filed this voluntary joint chapter 7 case on July 16, 2018. On August 30, 2018, creditor Wells Fargo Bank, N.A. ("Movant") filed a "Motion for Relief From the Automatic Stay Under 11 U.S.C. § 362 (Real Property)" (the "R/S Motion") [Doc. No. 10] seeking relief from the automatic stay pursuant to §§ 362(d)(1) and (d)(2) with respect to real property located at 47 Oak Cliff Drive, Pomona, CA 91766 (the "Property"). Movant asserts that cause exists to grant it relief from stay under § 362(d)(1) because the Debtors filed a Statement of Intention that indicates the Debtors' intent to surrender the Property ("Statement of Intention"). See Motion, Exhibit 8.

Movant also asserts that cause exists to grant it relief from stay under § 362(d)(2) because the Debtors have no equity in the Property and the Property is not necessary for an effective reorganization because this is a chapter 7 case. In support, Movant states that the total debt on the Property is $591,518.92 which is comprised of Movant's first priority deed of trust secured by a lien in the amount of $248,386.30 and approximately fifteen other liens securing an approximate indebtedness of $351,518.92. See Request for Judicial Notice, Doc No. 10, PDF p. 15. After factoring in 8% costs of sale ($49,384.64), Movant contends that the total debt exceeds the Property's $617,308 fair market value.

On September 10, 2018, the chapter 7 trustee filed an Opposition to the R/S Motion [Doc. No. 15] ("Trustee's Opposition"). The Trustee requests that the Court deny the R/S Motion as follows. First, the Trustee contends that Movant has not established sufficient cause for relief from stay under § 362(d)(1) because (i) Movant is adequately protected by an equity cushion of $368,921.71 or 149%; and (ii) Debtors' Statement of Intention has no bearing on whether to grant Movant relief from stay because the Property is subject to administration by the Trustee pursuant to § 541.

Second, the Trustee contends that the Court should not grant Movant relief from stay pursuant to § 362(d)(2) because, using Movant's figures and assuming all the alleged liens are legitimate, the Debtors have approximately $17,402.78 in equity in the Property. [NOTE 1] Additionally, the Trustee states that he is currently evaluating the validity of the other asserted liens on the Property and requests an opportunity to try to negotiate with those creditors for a consensual sale that might provide some benefit to the estate or pursue a sale free and clear of some or all those interests.

Reply

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, Movant has not filed a reply.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1)

Under 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1), the Court shall grant relief if the movant's interest in the property is not protected by an adequate equity cushion. In the Ninth Circuit, "[a] 20% [equity] cushion has been held to be an adequate protection for a secured creditor." In re Mellor, 734 F.2d 1396, 1401 (9th Cir. 1984). Based on Movant's figures, the Court finds that Movant is adequately protected by a 149% equity cushion.

The Court also finds that the Trustee has the better argument with respect to Debtors' Statement of Intention.

Based on the foregoing, the Court finds that Movant is not entitled to relief from stay under § 362(d)(1).

Chapter 7

11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2)

Under 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2), the court shall grant relief from the stay if "(A) the debtor does not have any equity in such property; and (B) such property is not necessary for an effective reorganization."

Since this is a chapter 7 case, it is undisputed that the Property is not necessary for an effective reorganization. Therefore, the Court must only determine whether the Debtors enjoy any equity in the Property. Using Movant's figures and deducting costs of sale, Debtors' $100,000 homestead exemption, the Trustee's fees, and administrative claims, it appears unlikely that the Trustee will be able to administer the Property for the benefit of general unsecured creditors.

However, none of the purported junior lienholder filed a response to this R/S Motion. On balance, the Court is persuaded that it is premature to find that there is no equity in the Property given the relatively newness of this case and the lack of meaningful investigation by the Trustee into the validity of the junior liens.

III. Conclusion

The tentative ruling is to DENY the R/S Motion without prejudice.

The Trustee shall upload an appropriate order via the Court's Lodged Order Upload system within 7 days of the hearing.

Docket 58

Tentative Ruling:

8/1/2019

This is a continued hearing on Ford Motor Credit Company LLC's ("Movant") motion for relief from the automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. § 362 with respect to a 2015 Ford Explorer (the "Vehicle"). In advance of the initial July 2, 2019 hearing, the Court posted a tentative ruling indicating its intention to grant the motion pursuant to § 362(d)(2). Notwithstanding the Debtor's failure to file an opposition to the R/S Motion, the Debtor appeared at the hearing, through counsel, and requested a continuance to this date. The Court granted the Debtor's request and directed the Debtor to give notice. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, the Debtor has not filed a notice of continuance or status report updating the Court on the status of any negotiations between the Debtor and Movant. Moreover, the Court has reviewed Movant's Supplemental Declaration [Doc. No. 61], in which Movant again requests that the Court grant it stay relief.

Based on the foregoing, the Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d) (2) to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to repossess or otherwise obtain possession and dispose of its collateral pursuant to applicable law, and to use the proceeds from its disposition to satisfy its claim. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. The Court finds that there is no equity in the subject vehicle and that the vehicle is not necessary for an effective reorganization since this is a chapter 7 case.

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. On August 31, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the Debtors' motion for joint administration of the Debtors' Chapter 11 cases. Doc. No. 17.

Jason Shank ("Movant") seeks stay relief, pursuant to § 362(d)(1), so that Movant may commence an action for wrongful termination against the Debtors. See Notice of Motion and Motion for Relief from the Automatic Stay Under 11 U.S.C. § 362 [Doc. No. 2689] (the "First Motion"). Movant initially stated that he sought recovery only from applicable insurance and waived any deficiency claim against the estates. The Debtors and the Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors (the "Committee") filed responses indicating that they did not oppose the First Motion in view of Movant's agreement to limit his recovery to insurance. The Debtors requested that stay relief not take effect until September 30, 2019, to enable them to focus upon completing the sale of their four remaining hospitals.

After the Debtors and the Committee responded to the First Motion, Movant filed a Notice of Errata to Jason Shank's Motion for Relief from Automatic Stay [Doc. No. 2799] (the "Notice of Errata") and a Notice of Motion and Motion for Relief from the Automatic Stay Under 11 U.S.C. § 362 [Doc. No. 2800] (the "Second Motion"). The Notice of Errata provides in relevant part:

To the extent that the Debtor has an insurance policy that will provide coverage for his wrongful termination claims, [Movant] will pursue relief under said policy. In the event that the insurance carrier does not provide coverage for damages resulting from [Movant's] wrongful termination claims, declines to extend coverage, or there is no insurance coverage, a separate motion for leave will be filed.

[Movant] is concurrently filing a corrected Motion for Relief that corrects this mistake and makes no other changes.

Notice of Errata at 2.

The declaration in support of the Second Motion provides in relevant part: "Movant has been informed of potential coverage for Movant's claims under Debtor's EPLI insurance policy; however, at this time Debtor has not made its information known to Movant." Turner Decl. at ¶ 6c.

The Second Motion is inconsistent as to whether Movant waives any deficiency claim against the estates. The declaration filed in support of the Second Motion states that Movant does waive any deficiency claim against the estates. However, the Second Motion itself states that Movant does not waive any deficiency claim against the estates.

Debtors filed an opposition to the Second Motion, asserting that the Second Motion should be denied for the following reasons:

- 1) The Second Motion was filed without the required notice.
- 2) Movant should be bound by the declaration filed in support of the First Motion, which stated that he would seek recovery only from applicable insurance.

The Committee filed an opposition to the Second Motion. The Committee opposes stay relief to the extent that Movant seeks to assert a deficiency claim, on the ground that granting such relief could negatively impact the estates.

II. Findings and Conclusions

At the outset, the Court notes that on August 1, 2019, Movant filed a notice purporting to voluntarily dismiss both the First and Second Motions. Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(k) provides that the voluntary dismissal of a motion is subject to Bankruptcy Rule 7041(a). Under Bankruptcy Rule 7041(a), where parties have responded to a motion, the motion may be voluntarily dismissed only upon a stipulation of dismissal signed by all parties who have responded. Here, the Debtors and the Committee have responded to both the First and Second Motions and have not stipulated to the voluntary dismissal of either Motion. Consequently, Movant's purported notice of withdrawal is ineffective. The Motions shall remain on calendar.

Turning to the merits, in contrast to the First Motion, the Second Motion does not provide that Movant will waive any deficiency claim against the estates. Non-bankruptcy litigation in which recovery is limited to applicable insurance has far less an effect upon the administration of the estate than litigation in which recovery is not so limited. In determining whether to lift the stay, the most salient factor considered by the Court is the effect of the non-bankruptcy litigation on the administration of the estate. See In re Curtis, 40 B.R. 795, 806 (Bankr. D. Utah 1984) ("The most important factor in determining whether to grant relief from the automatic stay to permit litigation against the debtor in another forum is the effect of such litigation on the administration of the estate. Even slight interference with the administration may be enough to preclude relief in the absence of a commensurate benefit."). Because it seeks stay relief without limiting recovery to applicable insurance, the Second Motion differs materially from the First Motion; the Second Motion cannot be fairly construed as an inconsequential amendment to the First Motion. Consequently, the Court will treat the First and Second Motions separately.

A. The First Motion is Granted, But Relief from Stay Shall Not Take Effect Until September 30, 2019

As explained by the Ninth Circuit Bankruptcy Appellate Panel in Kronemyer v. American Contractors Indemnity Co. (In re Kronemyer) (internal citations omitted): "What constitutes 'cause' for granting relief from the automatic stay is decided on a case-by-case basis. Among factors appropriate to consider in determining whether relief from the automatic stay should be granted to allow state court proceedings to continue are considerations of judicial economy and the expertise of the state court, ... as well as prejudice to the parties and whether exclusively bankruptcy issues are involved." 405 B.R. 915, 921. The factors articulated in In re Curtis, 40 B.R. 795, 799-800 (Bankr. D. Utah 1984) and adopted by the bankruptcy court in Truebro, Inc. v. Plumberex Specialty Prods., Inc. (In re Plumberex Specialty Prods., Inc.), 311 B.R. 551, 559-60 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2004) are also "appropriate, nonexclusive factors to consider in deciding whether to grant relief from the automatic stay to allow pending litigation to continue in another forum." Kronemyer, 405 B.R. at 921. The Curtis factors are as follows:

- 1) Whether the relief will result in a partial or complete resolution of the issues;
- 2) The lack of any connection with or interference with the bankruptcy case;
- 3) Whether the foreign proceeding involves the debtor as a fiduciary;
- 4) Whether a specialized tribunal has been established to hear the particular cause of action and whether that tribunal has the expertise to hear such cases;
- 5) Whether the debtor's insurance carrier has assumed full financial responsibility for defending the litigation;
- 6) Whether the action essentially involves third parties, and the debtor functions only as a bailee or conduit for the goods or proceeds in question;
- 7) Whether the litigation in another forum would prejudice the interests of other creditors, the creditors' committee and other interested parties;
- 8) Whether the judgment claim arising from the foreign action is subject to equitable subordination under Section 510(c);
- 9) Whether movant's success in the foreign proceeding would result in a judicial lien avoidable by the debtor under Section 522(f);

- 10) The interests of judicial economy and the expeditious and economical determination of litigation for the parties;
- 11) Whether the foreign proceedings have progressed to the point where the parties are prepared for trial, and
- 12) The impact of the stay on the parties and the "balance of hurt."

Plumberex, 311 B.R. at 599.

As noted above, the most important of the twelve factors is the effect of the non-bankruptcy litigation on the administration of the estate. Curtis, 40 B.R. at 806. The Curtis court held that “[e]ven slight interference with the administration may be enough to preclude relief in the absence of a commensurate benefit.” Id.

Granting stay relief at this time would interfere with the administration of the estate by distracting the Debtors’ professionals from completing the sale of their four remaining hospitals. To enable the Debtors to retain their focus upon completing the sale, the Court will grant stay relief, but such relief shall not take effect until September 30, 2019. This result gives the Debtors some breathing space to achieve their objectives, while at the same time delaying Movant’s ability to proceed with the non-bankruptcy litigation by only approximately two months.

Absent further order of the Court, Movant may seek recovery only against applicable insurance and may not assert a deficiency claim against the estates. Movant’s request that the order be binding and effective in any future bankruptcy case, no matter who the debtor may be without further notice, is denied.

B. The Second Motion is Denied Without Prejudice

Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1(d)(2) requires at least 21 days’ notice of motions seeking relief from the automatic stay. The Second Motion was filed on July 25, 2019, only eleven days prior to the hearing. Because notice of the Second Motion was insufficient, it is DENIED without prejudice. Movant may refile the Second Motion on regular notice in the event that Movant seeks to assert a deficiency claim against the estates. The Debtors’ request that Movant be bound by his initial representation that he would seek recovery only from applicable insurance is DENIED.

III. Conclusion

Based upon the foregoing, the First Motion is GRANTED, but stay relief shall not take effect until September 30, 2019. The Second Motion is DENIED without prejudice.

Tentative Ruling:

8/1/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set on a shortened notice in accordance with Judge Robles' procedures [see Doc. Nos. 10 & 11]. Oppositions, if any, will be considered at the hearing.

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1). The stay is terminated as to the Debtor and the Debtor's bankruptcy estate with respect to the Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns. Movant may enforce its remedies to obtain possession of the property in accordance with applicable law, but may not pursue a deficiency claim against the debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501.

The Movant filed an unlawful detainer action on March 6, 2019.

This Motion has been filed to allow the Movant to proceed with the unlawful detainer proceeding in state court. The unlawful detainer proceeding may go forward because the Debtor's right to possess the premises must be determined. This does not change simply because a bankruptcy petition was filed. See In re Butler, 271 B.R. 867, 876 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2002).

#1.00 Hearing
RE: [23] Motion to set aside RE: Default "Notice Of Motion And Motion To Set Aside Default; Memorandum Of Points And Authorities; Declaration(s) And Exhibit(s) In Support Thereof"

FR. 7-24-19

Docket 23

Tentative Ruling:

8/5/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Motion to Set Aside Default is GRANTED.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Notice of Motion and Motion to Set Aside Default [Doc. No. 23] (the "Motion")
- 2) No opposition to the Motion is on file

I. Summary of Pleadings

Merchants Acquisition Group, LLC ("Plaintiff") filed this dischargeability action against Paul A. Carrasco (the "Defendant") on March 25, 2019. The Clerk of the Court entered Defendant's default on May 2, 2019. On June 26, 2019, the Court ordered Plaintiff to file a Motion for Default Judgment. Plaintiff's Motion for Default Judgment is set for hearing on August 13, 2019.

Defendant moves to set aside the default. No opposition to the Motion is on file. Defendant has retained counsel and has attached a proposed Answer to the Motion.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Civil Rule 55(c) provides: "The court may set aside an entry of default for good cause." "The 'good cause' standard that governs vacating an entry of default under Rule 55(c) is the same standard that governs vacating a default judgment under Rule 60(b)." *Franchise Holding II, LLC. v. Chapter 7

922, 925 (9th Cir. 2004). The Court may deny a motion to vacate a default for any of the following reasons: "(1) the plaintiff would be prejudiced if the judgment is set aside, (2) defendant has no meritorious defense, or (3) the defendant's culpable conduct led to the default." Am. Ass'n of Naturopathic Physicians v. Hayhurst, 227 F.3d 1104, 1108 (9th Cir. 2000), as amended on denial of reh'g (Nov. 1, 2000). Because "[t]his tripartite test is disjunctive," Plaintiff is required to demonstrate only that one of the factors applies in order for the Court to deny the motion to vacate default. Id.

As explained below, none of the factors apply. Accordingly, the Motion is granted and Defendant's default is vacated.

1. Vacating the Defaults Would Not Prejudice the Plaintiff

Merely being required to litigate the merits of a claim does not qualify as prejudice to the Plaintiff. TCI Grp. Life Ins. Plan v. Knoebber, 244 F.3d 691, 701 (9th Cir. 2001), as amended on denial of reh'g and reh'g en banc (May 9, 2001). However, a financial loss occasioned by the delay resulting from being required to litigate can establish prejudice. Am. Ass'n of Naturopathic Physicians v. Hayhurst, 227 F.3d 1104, 1109 n.2 (9th Cir. 2000), as amended on denial of reh'g (Nov. 1, 2000).

Vacating the default does not prejudice the Plaintiff. Defendant's default was entered on May 2, 2019. Defendant moved to set aside the default on July 3, 2019. The minor delay resulting from Defendant's failure to timely respond to the Complaint has not resulted in substantial prejudice to the Plaintiff.

2. The Default Was Not the Result of Culpable Conduct

"[A] defendant's conduct [is] culpable for ... where there is no explanation of the default inconsistent with a devious, deliberate, willful, or bad faith failure to respond." Employee Painters' Trust v. Ethan Enterprises, Inc., 480 F.3d 993, 1000 (9th Cir. 2007).

Here, Defendant's failure to respond to the Complaint was not devious or in bad faith. Defendant did not respond to the Complaint because he did not have sufficient income to retain counsel. Upon obtaining a job and earning sufficient income to retain counsel, Defendant moved to set aside the default. Defendant's default was not the result of culpable conduct.

3. Defendant May Have a Meritorious Defense

"A defendant seeking to vacate a default judgment must present specific facts that would constitute a defense.... But the burden on a party seeking to vacate a default judgment is not extraordinarily heavy." TCI Grp., 244 F.3d at 700. "All that is necessary to satisfy the 'meritorious defense' requirement is to allege sufficient facts that, if true, would constitute a defense: the question whether the factual allegation [i]s true is not to be determined by the court when it decides the motion to set aside the default." United States v. Signed Pers. Check No. 730 of Yubran S. Mesle, 615 F.3d 1085, 1094 (9th Cir. 2010) (internal citations omitted).

Here, Defendant disputes the Complaint's dischargeability allegations, contending that he always intended to repay the indebtedness at issue. Defendant has pointed to facts that, if true, would constitute a meritorious defense.

4. Litigation Deadlines

In view of Defendant's default, the Court previously vacated the litigation deadlines governing this action. Good cause appearing, the Court HEREBY ORDERS AS FOLLOWS:

- 1) The following litigation deadlines shall apply:
 - a) Defendant shall file the Answer attached to the Motion by no later than 8/09/2019.
 - b) A Status Conference shall be held on 10/15/2019. A Joint Status Report shall be submitted by no later than fourteen days prior to the hearing.

 - d) The last day to disclose expert witnesses and expert witness reports is 2/25/2020.
 - e) The last day to disclose rebuttal expert witnesses and rebuttal expert witness reports is 3/26/2020.
 - f) The last date to complete discovery relating to expert witnesses (e.g., depositions of expert witnesses), including hearings on motions related to expert discovery, is 4/14/2020. (For contemplated hearings on motions related to expert discovery, it is counsel's responsibility to check the Judge's self-calendaring dates, posted on the Court's website. If the expert discovery cutoff date falls on a date when the court is closed or that is not available for self-calendaring, the deadline for hearings on expert discovery motions is the next closest date which is available for self-calendaring.)

Submission via LOU allows the Court to edit the Joint Pretrial Stipulation, if necessary. Parties should consult the Court Manual, section 4, for information about LOU.
- j) In addition to the procedures set forth in Local Bankruptcy Rule 7016-1(b), the following procedures govern the conduct of the Pretrial Conference and the preparation of the Pretrial Stipulation:
 - i) By no later than thirty days prior to the Pretrial Conference, the parties must exchange copies of all exhibits which each party intends to introduce into evidence (other than exhibits to be used solely for impeachment or rebuttal).
 - ii) When preparing the Pretrial Stipulation, all parties shall stipulate to the admissibility of exhibits whenever possible. In the event any party cannot stipulate to the admissibility of an exhibit, that party must file a Motion in Limine which clearly identifies each exhibit alleged to be inadmissible and/or prejudicial. The moving party must set the Motion in Limine for hearing at the same time as the Pretrial Conference; notice and service of the Motion shall be governed by LBR 9013-1. The Motion in Limine must contain a statement of the specific prejudice that will be suffered by the moving party if the Motion is not granted. The Motion must be supported by a memorandum of points and authorities containing citations to the applicable Federal Rules of Evidence, relevant caselaw, and other legal authority. Blanket or boilerplate evidentiary objections not accompanied by detailed supporting argument are prohibited, will be summarily overruled, and may subject the moving party to sanctions.

prejudice, a cash collateral stipulation between the Debtor and Fannie Mae, because the Trustee was not a party to the stipulation:

Absent the consent of the Trustee, the Debtor lacks authority to continue to operate property of the estate. See § 721 (providing that the Court "may authorize the trustee to operate the business of the debtor for a limited period ...") (emphasis added). Nothing on the docket indicates that the Trustee has authorized the Debtor to continue to manage the Property or continue to collect rental income from the Property. The Court declines to approve a Stipulation sanctioning the Debtor's unauthorized activities.

Further, the Debtor lacks authority to enter into stipulations with respect to the use of cash collateral. The Stipulation treats the Debtor as though he were a debtor-in-possession acting as a fiduciary to creditors in a Chapter 11 case, rather than a Chapter 7 Debtor whose non-exempt assets are subject to administration by the Trustee. It is the responsibility of the Trustee to make decisions with respect to the use of estate property, including the use of cash collateral. See, e.g., § 363(b)(1) (authorizing the Trustee to use property of the estate). The Court cannot approve a Stipulation which allows the Debtor to usurp the Trustee's responsibilities.

Order Disapproving Without Prejudice "Stipulation Between Federal National Mortgage Association and Debtor for Adequate Protection and Authorization to Use Cash Collateral Under 11 U.S.C. § 363 on an Interim Basis" [Doc. No. 28] (the "Order Disapproving Cash Collateral Stipulation").

Summary of the Settlement Agreement and Fannie Mae's Opposition Thereto

As noted above, Debtor did not schedule any interest in the Property. The Debtor asserts that he holds only bare legal title to the Property and that his parents hold an equitable interest in the Property. The Trustee disputes that contention, based on the fact that the Debtor is the borrower on the mortgage encumbering the Property, has collected rents on the Property, and has claimed interest expense deductions in connection with the Property's mortgage on his tax return.

The material terms of the Settlement Agreement are as follows:

- 1) The Debtor shall pay the estate the total sum of all allowed unsecured claims plus the amount required to pay administrative expenses (the "Settlement Amount") in exchange for the estate's release of any claim to the Property.

- 2) Upon execution of the Settlement Agreement, the Debtor shall tender to the Trustee a good faith payment of $50,000. Any remaining balance owed shall be paid on the later of (a) 30 days after the claims bar date or (b) the date any claims objections are resolved by a final order.

The Trustee states that the Debtor has tendered the $50,000 good faith payment required by the Settlement Agreement.

Fannie Mae asserts a security interest in the Property's rents. Fannie Mae objects to the Settlement Agreement to the extent that the funds tendered by the Debtor in connection with the Settlement Payment constitute its cash collateral. Fannie Mae asserts that the Court should require the Debtor and/or the Trustee to submit evidence establishing that the Settlement Payment is not made from funds constituting Fannie Mae's cash collateral. In the alternative, Fannie Mae argues that the court should require the Debtor to provide adequate protection of its interests pursuant to §§ 361 and 363.

The Trustee has not filed a reply to Fannie Mae's opposition.

II. Findings and Conclusions

A. Fannie Mae's Opposition to the Settlement Agreement is Overruled

Section 363(c)(2) requires court authorization for the use of cash collateral unless "each entity that has an interest in such cash collateral consents." In the Ninth Circuit, satisfaction of Section 363(c)(2)(A) requires the "affirmative express consent" of the secured creditor; "implied consent," resulting from the failure of the secured creditor to object to use of cash collateral, does not satisfy the requirements of the statute. Freightliner Market Development Corp. v. Silver Wheel Freightlines, Inc., 823 F.2d 362, 368-69 (9th Cir. 1987). Absent affirmative express consent, the Trustee "may not use" cash collateral absent the Court's determination that the use is "in accordance with the provisions" of Section 363—that is, that the secured creditor's interest in the cash collateral is adequately protected. See §§ 363(c)(2)(B) and (e).

A secured creditor's interest is adequately protected if the value of its collateral is not declining; the secured creditor is not entitled to payment to compensate for its inability to foreclose upon the collateral during bankruptcy proceedings. United Savings Association of Texas v. Timbers of Inwood Forest Associates, Ltd., 484 U.S. 365 (1988).

Fannie Mae's opposition presumes that the Property's rental income constitutes its cash collateral. That presumption would not be controversial if the Property were property of the estate. See § 363(a) (defining "cash collateral" as "cash ... in which the estate and an entity other than the estate have an interest ...") (emphasis added). However, the Debtor disputes that the Property is property of the estate. As set forth in the Settlement Agreement, the Debtor contends that "while he is listed as an owner [of the Property] and has taken deductions for mortgage interest in his tax returns, ownership to the [Property] is actually with his parents and that his parents have paid all expenses, including the acquisition costs, and put him on title solely for family reasons." Settlement Agreement at ¶ C. The Settlement Agreement further provides that "[p]ending receipt of the full settlement amount, Trustee agrees to forebear prosecution of any adversary complaint to determine the ownership of the Templeton Property and/or any action to dispute the ownership of the Property and will cooperate in any refinancing necessary to make the payment due hereunder." Settlement Agreement at ¶ 4.

Because it has not been established that the Property is property of the estate, it has not been established that rental income generated by the Property is Fannie Mae's cash collateral. In fact, the purpose of the Settlement Agreement is to enable the Trustee to avoid the expense of attempting to establish that the Property is property of the estate. The Settlement Agreement provides that upon receipt of the Settlement Amount, the Trustee will release the estate's claim to the Property. Settlement Agreement at ¶ 3a.

Since it has not been established that the Property's rental income constitutes Fannie Mae's cash collateral, the Court declines to require the Debtor and/or the Trustee to submit evidence establishing that the Settlement Amount will not be paid from the Property's rental income. Fannie Mae's opposition to the Settlement Agreement is OVERRULED.

B. The Settlement Agreement is Approved

Bankruptcy Rule 9019 provides that the Court may approve a compromise or settlement. "In determining the fairness, reasonableness and adequacy of a proposed settlement agreement, the court must consider: (a) The probability of success in the litigation; (b) the difficulties, if any, to be encountered in the matter of collection; (c) the complexity of the litigation involved, and the expense, inconvenience and delay necessarily attending it; (d) the paramount interest of the creditors and a proper deference to their reasonable views in the premises." Martin v. Kane (In re A&C Properties), 784 F.2d 1377, 1381 (9th Cir. 1986). "[C]ompromises are favored in bankruptcy, and the decision of the bankruptcy judge to approve or disapprove the compromise of the parties rests in the sound discretion of the bankruptcy judge." In re Sassalos, 160 B.R. 646, 653 (D. Ore. 1993). In approving a settlement agreement, the Court must "canvass the issues and see whether the settlement 'falls below the lowest point in the range of reasonableness.'" Cosoff v. Rodman (In re W.T. Grant Co.), 699 F.2d 599, 608 (2d Cir. 1983). Applying the A&C Properties factors, the Court finds that the Settlement Agreement is adequate, fair, and reasonable, and is in the best interests of the estate and creditors.

Complexity of the Litigation

This factor weighs in favor of approving the Settlement Agreement. The dispute over ownership of the Property is fact-intensive and would be expensive and time consuming for the Trustee to litigate.

Probability of Success on the Merits

This factor weighs in favor of approving the Settlement Agreement. The possibility that additional litigation might yield a result nominally more favorable to the estate cannot be ruled out. Yet any such result obtained through litigation would be a pyrrhic victory from the perspective of the estate and creditors, because the additional administrative costs associated with the litigation would on net leave the estate worse off.

Paramount Interests of Creditors

This factor weighs in favor of approving the Settlement Agreement. The Settlement Agreement will generate funds sufficient to pay (a) unsecured creditors who have filed allowed claims in full and (b) the expenses of administering the estate. The only entity opposing approval of the Settlement Agreement is Fannie Mae. However, as noted above, Fannie Mae's opposition is predicated upon the assumption that the Property is property of the estate, a fact that has not been established.

Difficulties to be Encountered in the Matter of Collection

This factor weighs in favor of approving the Settlement Agreement. Absent approval of the Settlement Agreement, the Trustee would be required to commence litigation to establish the estate's ownership of the Property and would then be required to file a motion to sell the Property. The Settlement Agreement allows the Trustee to avoid these expense and time-consuming steps.

III. Conclusion

Based upon the foregoing, Fannie Mae's opposition is OVERRULED and the Settlement Agreement is APPROVED. The Trustee shall submit a conforming order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing.

- #3.00 Show Cause Hearing
RE: [1] Order Requiring Plaintiff To Appear And Show Cause Why This Action Should Not Be Dismissed For Failure To Prosecute

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

8/6/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Order to Show Cause is DISCHARGED.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Order Requiring Plaintiff to Appear and Show Cause Why this Action Should Not be Dismissed for Failure to Prosecute [Doc. No. 26] (the "Order to Show Cause")
 - a) Bankruptcy Noticing Center Certificate of Notice [Doc. No. 29]
- 2) Plaintiff's Response to Order to Show Cause for Dismissal [Doc. No. 31]
- 3) (In Chambers) Order Reopening Action in Light of Lifting of Automatic Stay in Bankruptcy Court [Doc. No. 20, Case No. 2:18-cv-01760-CJC-JC]

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On March 1, 2018, Maground, GmbH ("Plaintiff") commenced a complaint against Roberto Kai Hegeler (the "Debtor/Defendant") in the United States District Court for the Central District of California (the "District Court"), asserting claims for trademark infringement pursuant to 15 U.S.C. §§1114 and 1125(a), trademark dilution pursuant to 15 U.S.C. §1125(c), unfair competition and false advertising pursuant to 15 U.S.C. §1125(a), cybersquatting pursuant to 15 U.S.C. §1125(d), common law trademark infringement, breach of contract, conversion, and violations of Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code §§14247, 17200, and 17500 (the "District Court Action"). See Maground, GmbH v. Roberto Kai Hegeler and Maground, LLC (Doc. No. 1, Case No. 2:18-cv-01760-CJC-JC). On April 23, 2018, Debtor/Defendant filed a voluntary Chapter 7 petition. On May 4, 2018, the District Court stayed the District Court Action pending resolution of Debtor/Defendant's bankruptcy proceeding.

On July 23, 2018, Plaintiff commenced an action against Debtor/Defendant in the Bankruptcy Court (the "Non-Dischargeability Action"). On December 17, 2018, the Bankruptcy Court entered an order (1) sua sponte lifting the automatic stay to permit the District Court Action to proceed and (2) staying the Non-Dischargeability Action until entry of a final, non-appealable judgment in the District Court Action. Doc. No. 19 (the "Stay Order"). The Stay Order provided:

The most efficient way to resolve the Non-Dischargeability Action is for Plaintiff to first prosecute the District Court Action to final judgment. In the event Plaintiff obtains judgment in its favor, Plaintiff may then return to the Bankruptcy Court to obtain a determination regarding whether such judgment is dischargeable. The District Court is better equipped than this Court to determine whether Defendant is indebted to Plaintiff on account of the allegations for trademark infringement, trademark dilution, and cybersquatting, all of which require the application of substantive non-bankruptcy law.

Stay Order at ¶ 3.

On June 11, 2019, the Bankruptcy Court conducted a Status Conference in the Non-Dischargeability Action. The Bankruptcy Court subsequently issued an Order Requiring Plaintiff to Appear and Show Cause Why this Action Should Not be Dismissed for Failure to Prosecute [Doc. No. 26] (the "Order to Show Cause"). The Order to Show Cause was based upon the following:

A review of the docket in the District Court Action indicates that, as of the date of the June 11, 2019 Status Conference, Plaintiff had taken no action to prosecute the District Court Action subsequent to entry of the Stay Order. In addition, Plaintiff has failed to file a Status Report, notwithstanding the Court's entry of an Order to Comply with Local Bankruptcy Rule 7016-1 Re: Status Conference [Doc. No. 21] warning that the failure to file a Status Report would result in the imposition of sanctions. The Court has clearly advised Plaintiff that it was necessary for Plaintiff to obtain a final judgment in the District Court Action in order to prosecute the instant Non-Dischargeability Action. Plaintiff's failure to diligently prosecute the District Court Action is tantamount to failure to prosecute the Non-Dischargeability Action.

Plaintiff filed an untimely response to the Order to Show Cause. [Note 1] Plaintiff states that June 12, 2019, it filed a notice in the District Court stating that the automatic stay had been lifted and requesting that the District Court Action be restored to the active calendar.

The Court's review of the District Court's docket indicates that the District Court Action was restored to the District Court's active calendar on August 1, 2019.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Civil Rule 41(b), made applicable to these proceedings by Bankruptcy Rule 7041, provides in relevant part: "If the plaintiff fails to prosecute or to comply with these rules or a court order, a defendant may move to dismiss the action or any claim against it. Unless the dismissal order states otherwise, a dismissal under this subdivision (b) ... operates as an adjudication on the merits."

The Court weighs five factors in determining whether to dismiss a case for lack of prosecution:

- 1) the public's interest in expeditious resolution of litigation;
- 2) the court's need to manage its docket;
- 3) the risk of prejudice to the defendants;
- 4) the public policy favoring the disposition of cases on their merits; and
- 5) the availability of less drastic sanctions.

Money maker v. CoBEN (In re Eisen), 31 F.3d 1447, 1451 (9th Cir. 1994).

Plaintiff failed to prosecute the District Court Action, upon which this action is predicated, for approximately six months. Although that delay inflicted some prejudice upon the Defendant, dismissal would be too harsh a sanction given the strong public policy favoring disposition of cases on their merits. The Court will discharge the Order to Show Cause.

A Status Conference shall be held on January 14, 2020, at 10:00 a.m. A Joint Status Report, which shall discuss the status of the District Court Action, shall be filed by no later than fourteen days prior to the hearing.

The Court will prepare and enter an order discharging the Order to Show Cause and an order setting the continued Status Conference.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Debtors-in-possession, Damu Vusha and Akiba Vusha (the "Debtors"), filed this voluntary Chapter 11 case on February 5, 2018 (the "Petition Date"). The Debtors' primary assets consist of three real properties: (1) their principal residence located at 6122 S. Kings Road, Los Angeles, CA 90056 (the "Principal Residence"); (2) 5150 S. Wilton Place, Los Angeles, CA 90062 (the "Wilton Property"); and 1300 W. 69th Street, Los Angeles, CA 90044 (the "69th Street Property"). The Debtors also own and operate a residential care facility called Jatkodd Crisis Intervention Center (the "Business") which provides 24/7 care to four developmentally disabled individuals. The Business operates out of the Wilton Property and pays the Debtors monthly rent. The Debtors state that post-petition operations from the Business have been profitable. The Debtors also lease out the 69th Street Property for additional monthly income.

The Debtors now seek confirmation of their Chapter 11 Plan of Reorganization [Doc. No. 103] (the "Plan"). [Note 1]

Class 1(A) – Secured Claim of U.S. Bank, National Association – Accepts the Plan

Class 1(A) consists of the secured claim of U.S. Bank, National Association ("US Bank"). US Bank holds a first-priority lien against the Principal Residence, which secures debt in the amount of $609,000.

On October 25, 2018, the Debtors filed a Motion Under LBR 9019 to Approve Compromise Between Individual Debtors Damu Vusha and Akiba Vusha and Creditors Wells Fargo Bank, N.A. and US Bank National Association [Doc. No. 73] (the "Plan Treatment Stipulation"), which the Court approved by order entered December 6, 2018 [Doc. No. 82]. Pursuant to the Plan Treatment Stipulation the Debtors propose to pay US Bank's claim in full over 228 months with 3% interest by making monthly payments of $3,507.48. The Debtors also propose to make the monthly escrow payments for taxes and insurance by making an additional monthly payment of $580.97.

US Bank's claim is impaired and, pursuant to the Plan Treatment Stipulation, it is deemed to accept the Plan.

Class 1(B) – Secured Claim of J.P. Morgan Acquisition Corp. – Accepts the Plan

Class 1(B) consists of the secured claim of J.P. Morgan Acquisition Corp. ("JP Morgan"). JP Morgan holds a first-priority lien against the Wilton Property, which secures debt in the amount of $310,833.69 and $4,078.86 in pre-petition arrears.

On March 12, 2019, JP Morgan filed a Stipulation Re: Adequate Protection and Treatment of Creditors' Claim Under Debtors' Chapter 11 Plan of Reorganization [Doc. No. 95] (the "JP Morgan Stipulation"), which the Court approved by order entered on the same date [Doc. No. 98]. Pursuant to the JP Morgan Stipulation, the

The Debtors also propose to make the monthly escrow payments for taxes and insurance by making an additional monthly payment of $321.56. Finally, the Debtors propose to cure the pre-petition arrears by making six equal monthly installment payments of $784.33 beginning the first month following confirmation of the Plan.

JP Morgan's claim is impaired, and it voted to accept the Plan.

Class 1(C) – Secured Claim of CSMC 2018-RPL8 Trust – Accepts the Plan

Class 1(C) consists of the secured claim of CSMC 2018-RPL8 Trust ("CSMC"). CSMC holds a first-priority lien against the 69th Street Property, which secures debt in the amount of $277,258.87 and $4,723.57 in pre-petition arrears.

On July 3, 2019, the Debtors filed a Motion to Approve Stipulation for Plan Treatment on First Lien Secured by Real Property Located at 1300 West 69th Street, Los Angeles, CA 90044-2535 [Doc. No. 130] (the "CSMC 2018-RPL8 Trust Stipulation"), which the Court by order entered on July 24, 2019 [Doc. No. 138]. Pursuant to the CSMC 2018-RPL8 Trust Stipulation, the Debtors propose to pay CSMC's claim in full with 3.25% interest by making monthly payments of $1,060.60. The Debtors also propose to make the monthly escrow payments for taxes and insurance by making an additional monthly payment of approximately $308.54. Finally, the Debtors agreed to make a one-time payment of $1,367.15 to CSMC to cure arrears through June 1, 2019.

CSMC's claim is impaired, and it voted to accept the Plan.

Class 1(D) – Secured Claim of Santander Consumer USA – Deemed to Reject

Class 1(D) consists of the secured claim of Santander Consumer USA ("Santander"). Santander holds a secured lien against the Debtors' 2004 Toyota Sienna, securing debt in the amount of $3,622.13 and $2,561.29 in pre-petition arrears. Chapter 11

Class 1(E) – Secured Claim of the Internal Revenue Service – Deemed to Reject

Class 1(E) consists of the secured claim of the Internal Revenue Service (the "IRS"). The IRS holds a blanket security lien against the Debtors' assets, securing debt in the amount of $40,222.59. The Debtors propose to pay the IRS's claim in full by making monthly payments of $759.60 for sixty months.

The IRS's claim is impaired, and it did not cast a ballot. Therefore, Class 1(E) is deemed to reject the Plan.

Class 2(A) – General Unsecured Claims – Deemed to Reject

Class 2(A) consists of general unsecured claims ("GUC") totaling $65,608.32. The Debtors propose to pay 100% of all claims in Class 2(A) over a period of five years by making monthly payments of $1,093.46 beginning on the first day of the month following the Effective Date.

Claims in this class are impaired and entitled to vote on the Plan. No votes were received. Therefore, Class 2(A) is deemed to reject the Plan.

Class 2(B) – Unsecured Claim of U.S. Department of Education – Deemed to Reject

Class 2(B) consists of the unsecured claim of the U.S. Department of Education c/o FedLoan Servicing ("U.S. Dept. of Educ.") for Debtors' student loans totaling $46,383.05 (the "Student Loans"). The Debtors propose to pay their Student Loans in full over a period of 18 years in accordance with the current terms of repayment. The Debtors state that they are on an "income-based" repayment plan and are not making any payments. Debtors propose to begin making payments of $214.73 per month beginning on the first day of the month following the Effective Date.

Class 2(B) is impaired, and U.S. Dept. of Educ. did not cast a ballot. Therefore, Class 2(B) is deemed to reject the Plan.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file.

Chapter 11

For the reasons set forth below, the Court will require the Debtors to submit supplemental briefing and evidence in support of plan confirmation.

A. The Debtors Have Not Satisfied § 1129(a)(8) And Have Not Established That The Plan Can Be Crammed Down On All Impaired Classes

Section 1129(a)(8) requires each class to accept the Plan, unless the class is not impaired. Impaired Classes 1(A), 1(B), and 1(C) have accepted the Plan. However, Classes 1(D), 1(E), 2(A), and 2(B) did not cast ballots and are deemed to have rejected the Plan. See In re M. Long Arabians, 103 B.R. 211, 215-16 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1989) (To accept a Plan, members of a class must affirmatively vote in favor of the Plan). Accordingly, the Plan does not satisfy § 1129(a)(8) and must, therefore, satisfy § 1129(b).

Pursuant to § 1129(b)(1), a plan may be confirmed where not all impaired classes vote to accept the plan, provided that "the plan does not discriminate unfairly, and is fair and equitable, with respect to each class of claims or interests that is impaired under, and has not accepted, the plan." With respect to a class of secured claims, the condition that a plan be fair and equitable includes the following requirements:

- (i)(I) that the holders of such claims retain the liens securing such claims, whether the property subject to such liens is retained by the debtor or transferred to another entity, to the extent of the allowed amount of such claims; and
- (II) that each holder of a claim of such class receive on account of such claim deferred cash payments totaling at least the allowed amount of such claim, of a value, as of the effective date of the plan, of at least the value of such holder's interest in the estate's interest in such property;
- (ii) for the sale, subject to section 363(k) of this title, of any property that is subject to the liens securing such claims, free and clear of such liens, with such liens to attach to the proceeds of such sale, and the treatment of such liens on proceeds under clause (i) or (iii) of this subparagraph; or
- (iii) for the realization by such holders of the indubitable equivalent of such claims.

11 U.S.C. § 1129(b)(2)(A).

Under the Plan, Classes 1(D) and 1(E) are impaired, did not cast ballots, and are deemed to reject the Plan. Therefore, the Plan must be crammed down on these classes. However, the Court finds that the Debtors have not carried their burden of proving that § 1129(b)(2)(A)(i)(II) is satisfied because they have not shown that the holders of claims in Classes 1(D) and 1(E) are receiving the present value of their claims as of the effective date since the Plan does not contemplate paying any interest to these classes. Therefore, the Debtors must revise the Plan to address this issue and submit evidence establishing that the proposed interest rates adequately compensate the respective creditors for the risk of receiving payments over time.

Similarly, with respect to a class of unsecured claims, the condition that a plan be fair and equitable includes the following requirements:

- (i) the plan provides that each holder of a claim of such class receive or retain on account of such claim property of a value, as of the effective date of the plan, equal to the allowed amount of such claim; or
- (ii) the holder of any claim or interest that is junior to the claims of such class will not receive or retain under the plan on account of such junior claim or interest any property, except that in a case in which the debtor is an individual, the debtor may retain property included in the estate under section 1115, subject to the requirements of subsection (a)(14) of this section.

11 U.S.C. § 1129(b)(2)(B).

Under the Plan, Classes 2(A) and 2(B) are impaired, did not cast ballots, and are deemed to reject the Plan. Therefore, the Plan must be also crammed down on these classes and, for the same reasons set forth above, the Debtors have not carried their burden of proving that § 1129(b)(2)(B)(i) is satisfied because they have not proposed to pay Classes 2(A) and 2(B) any interest. The Debtors have also not satisfied § 1129(b)(2)(B)(ii)'s absolute priority rule because under the Plan the Debtors will retain their equity interests in estate assets without providing any new value. Therefore, the Debtors must also revise the Plan to address this issue and submit evidence establishing the adequacy of the proposed interest rates.

B. The Debtors Have Not Established That The Plan Satisfies § 1129(a)(11)

Section 1129(a)(11), known as the "feasibility requirement," requires the Court to find that "[c]onfirmation of the plan is not likely to be followed by the liquidation, or the need for further financial reorganization, of the debtor or any successor to the debtor under the plan, unless such liquidation or reorganization is proposed in the plan."

The Debtors submit that they have sufficient cash on hand to pay the anticipated amounts that are due on the Effective Date and submitted budget projections as Exhibit C to the Disclosure Statement and the Declaration of Anna Joyce Giles as Exhibit 1 to the Confirmation Brief in support of the Plan's feasibility.

However, as set forth above, the Debtors will need to modify the Plan to provide for interest payments to Classes 1(D), 1(E), 2(A) and 2(B), which will also necessitate revised plan projections. Furthermore, the Debtors' projections only contain information for the first twelve months of the Debtors' Plan and do not appear to account for costs of inflation or the potential for any increase in future income. Accordingly, the Court is unable to make an informed decision about the feasibility of the Debtors' Plan.

Finally, the Debtors' Plan relies, in part, on future income from the Business, but the Debtors have not submitted any evidence establishing that the net profits from the Business will be adequate to make the proposed Plan payments. This is especially important given that the nature of the Business exposes it to extensive risk and because any significant impact on the profitability of the Business has the potential to sink the Debtors' Plan.

Based on the foregoing, the Court will require the Debtors to submit revised plan projections for a minimum of five years as well as financial projections for the Business for five years.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the hearing is CONTINUED to September 24, 2019 at 10:00 a.m. The Debtors are directed to file supplemental briefing addressing the issues identified above by no later than September 3, 2019. The deadline to file any opposition to the supplemental briefing is September 10, 2019. The deadline for the Debtors to file a reply to any opposition is September 17, 2019.

The Debtors are directed to give notice of the continuance and lodge a scheduling

#100.00 HearingRE: [19] Motion for Default Judgment

Docket 19

Tentative Ruling:

8/6/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Motion for Default Judgment is GRANTED.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Complaint for Nondischargeability of Debt [Doc. No. 1] (the "Complaint")
- 2) Plaintiff's Motion for Default Judgment Under LBR 7055-1 [Doc. No. 19] (the "Motion")
 - a) Notice of Motion for Default Judgment Under LBR 7055-1 [Doc. No. 20]

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On April 4, 2019, Security First Bank (the "Plaintiff") filed a Complaint for Nondischargeability of Debt [Doc. No. 1] (the "Complaint") against Jorge Villalobos Aguirre (the "Defendant"). After Defendant failed to respond to the Complaint, the Clerk of the Court entered Defendant's default on May 15, 2019. Doc. No. 12. The Complaint alleges that the Defendant obtained credit from the Plaintiff by materially overstating his income. The Complaint alleges that the indebtedness incurred is non-dischargeable pursuant to § 523(a)(2)(B).

II. Findings and Conclusions

Once default has been entered, the well-pleaded factual allegations of the complaint are taken as true. Cripps v. Life Ins. Co. of North America, 980 F.2d 1261, 1267 (9th Cir.1992). Based upon the Complaint's allegations, as well as the evidence submitted in support of the Motion for Default Judgment, the Court makes the findings set forth below.

Section 523(a)(2)(B) excepts from discharge indebtedness obtained through use of a statement in writing:

- iii. on which the creditor to whom the debtor is liable for such money, property, services, or credit reasonably relied; and
- iv. that the debtor caused to be made or published with intent to deceive....

§ 523(a)(2)(B).

To prevail upon a claim under § 523(a)(2)(B), a creditor must satisfy, by a preponderance of the evidence, the following requirements:

- (1) a representation of fact by the debtor,
- (2) that was material,
- (3) that the debtor knew at the time to be false,
- (4) that the debtor made with the intention of deceiving the creditor,
- (5) upon which the creditor relied,
- (6) that the creditor's reliance was reasonable,
- (7) that damage proximately resulted from the representation.

In re Candland, 90 F.3d 1466, 1469 (9th Cir. 1996), as amended (Oct. 2, 1996).

A statement is "materially false if it includes information which is 'substantially inaccurate' and is of the type that would affect the creditor's decision making process. To except a debt from discharge, the creditor must show not only that the statements are inaccurate, but also that they contain important and substantial untruths."

Candland, 90 F.3d at 1470.

On June 19, 2018, Defendant executed a Consumer Loan Agreement (the "June Agreement") with Plaintiff for the principal amount of $14,346.00. To obtain the credit, Defendant represented that his annual income was $56,000, when in fact Defendant's annual income was only $19,145.28.

On August 14, 2018, Defendant executed an additional Consumer Loan Agreement (the "August Agreement") with Plaintiff for the principal amount of $5,700. To obtain the credit, Defendant represented that his annual income was $85,000, when in fact Defendant's annual income was only $19,145.28.

Plaintiff relied upon Defendant's representations regarding his annual income in deciding to extend the credit. Defendant's representations were material. Given the disparity between his actual income and the income represented on the loan applications, Defendant knew that the representations were false and made the representations for the purpose of deceiving Plaintiff. Plaintiff reasonably relied upon the representations, and was damaged as a result of that reliance, since Plaintiff would not have extended the credit had it known Defendant's actual annual income. Plaintiff is entitled to a judgment that the indebtedness arising in connection with the June Agreement and August Agreement is excepted from Defendant's discharge, pursuant to § 523(a)(2)(B). [Note 1]

Based upon the foregoing, the Motion for Default Judgment is GRANTED. Within seven days of the hearing, Plaintiff shall submit a proposed default judgment.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Jessica Vogel or Daniel Koontz at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. If you wish to make a telephonic appearance, contact Court Call at 888-882-6878, no later than one hour before the hearing.

Note 1

The Complaint requests an award of "the Plaintiff's other costs and disbursements incurred for the collection of this debt and of this action as permitted by applicable law." Complaint at ¶ 28.b.iv. In the Motion for Default Judgment, Plaintiff has not requested attorney's fees and has submitted no evidence regarding the attorney's fees incurred. Therefore, the Court declines to award attorney's fees. However, Plaintiff is entitled to costs in the amount of $350 on account of the fee for filing the Complaint.

The Court conducted an initial Status Conference on March 19, 2019, and subsequently issued an order setting litigation deadlines. The Court did not order formal mediation, in view of the parties' representation that they had engaged in preliminary settlement discussions. At the Status Conference conducted on June 11, 2019, the Court advised the parties that the matter would be ordered to formal mediation at the August 13, 2019 Status Conference unless the parties had demonstrated they had engaged in meaningful settlement discussions.

Based upon its review of the Joint Status Report, it does not appear to the Court that the parties are making meaningful progress toward settlement. Good cause appearing, the Court HEREBY ORDERS AS FOLLOWS:

FR. 3-19-19; 6-11-19

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

8/8/2019

The Court conducted an initial Status Conference on March 19, 2019, and subsequently issued an order setting litigation deadlines. The Court did not order formal mediation, in view of the parties' representation that they had engaged in preliminary settlement discussions.

The Trustee and the Defendant have agreed upon an open-ended extension of Defendant's deadline to respond to the Complaint, terminable by the Trustee, to enable the parties to engage in settlement discussions.

At the Status Conference conducted on June 11, 2019, the Court advised the parties that the matter would be ordered to formal mediation at the August 13, 2019 Status Conference unless the parties had demonstrated they had engaged in meaningful settlement discussions.

Based upon its review of the Trustee's Unilateral Status Report, it does not appear to the Court that the parties are making meaningful progress toward settlement. Therefore, the Court will order the matter to formal mediation and will set a deadline by which Defendant must respond to the Complaint.

Good cause appearing, the Court HEREBY ORDERS AS FOLLOWS:

- 1) Defendant shall respond to the Complaint by no later than 9/13/2019.
- 2) A continued Status Conference shall be held on 10/15/2019 at 10:00 a.m.

A Joint Status Report shall be submitted by no later than fourteen days prior to the hearing.

- 3) The following litigation deadlines shall apply:
- a) The last day to amend pleadings and/or join other parties is 11/14/2019.
 - b) The last day to disclose expert witnesses and expert witness reports is 2/25/2020.
 - c) The last day to disclose rebuttal expert witnesses and rebuttal expert witness reports is 3/26/2020.
 - d) The last date to complete discovery relating to expert witnesses (e.g., depositions of expert witnesses), including hearings on motions related to expert discovery, is 4/14/2020. (For contemplated hearings on motions related to expert discovery, it is counsel's responsibility to check the Judge's self-calendaring dates, posted on the Court's website. If the expert discovery cutoff date falls on a date when the court is closed or that is not available for self-calendaring, the deadline for hearings on expert discovery motions is the next closest date which is available for self-calendaring.)
 - e) The last day for dispositive motions to be heard is 4/21/2020. (If the motion cutoff date is not available for self-calendaring, the deadline for dispositive motions to be heard is the next closest date which is available for self-calendaring.)
 - f) The last day to complete discovery (except as to experts), including hearings on discovery motions, is 4/25/2020. (If the non-expert discovery cutoff date is not available for self-calendaring, the deadline for non-expert discovery motions to be heard is the next closest date which is available for self-calendaring.)
 - g) A Pretrial Conference is set for 5/12/2020 at 11:00 a.m. By no later than fourteen days prior to the Pretrial Conference, the parties must submit a Joint Pretrial Stipulation via the Court's Lodged Order Upload (LOU) system. Submission via LOU allows the Court to edit the Joint Pretrial Stipulation, if necessary. Parties should consult the Court Manual, section 4, for information about LOU.
 - h) In addition to the procedures set forth in Local Bankruptcy Rule 7016-1(b), the following procedures govern the conduct of the Pretrial Conference and the preparation of the Pretrial Stipulation:

- parties must exchange copies of all exhibits which each party intends to introduce into evidence (other than exhibits to be used solely for impeachment or rebuttal).
- ii) When preparing the Pretrial Stipulation, all parties shall stipulate to the admissibility of exhibits whenever possible. In the event any party cannot stipulate to the admissibility of an exhibit, that party must file a Motion in Limine which clearly identifies each exhibit alleged to be inadmissible and/or prejudicial. The moving party must set the Motion in Limine for hearing at the same time as the Pretrial Conference; notice and service of the Motion shall be governed by LBR 9013-1. The Motion in Limine must contain a statement of the specific prejudice that will be suffered by the moving party if the Motion is not granted. The Motion must be supported by a memorandum of points and authorities containing citations to the applicable Federal Rules of Evidence, relevant caselaw, and other legal authority. Blanket or boilerplate evidentiary objections not accompanied by detailed supporting argument are prohibited, will be summarily overruled, and may subject the moving party to sanctions.
 - iii) The failure of a party to file a Motion in Limine complying with the requirements of ¶(1)(h)(ii) shall be deemed a waiver of any objections to the admissibility of an exhibit.
 - iv) Motions in Limine seeking to exclude testimony to be offered by any witness shall comply with the requirements set forth in ¶(1)(h)(ii), and shall be filed by the deadline specified in ¶(1)(h)(ii). The failure of a party to file a Motion in Limine shall be deemed a waiver of any objections to the admissibility of a witness's testimony.
- i) Trial is set for the week of 5/25/2020. The trial day commences at 9:00 a.m. The exact date of the trial will be set at the Pretrial Conference. Consult the Court's website for the Judge's requirements regarding exhibit binders and trial briefs.
- 4) The matter shall be referred to the Mediation Panel. The parties shall meet and confer and select a Mediator from this District's Mediation Panel. Plaintiff will lodge a completed "Request for Assignment to Mediation Program; [Proposed] Order Thereon" (See Amended General Order 95-01 available on the Court's website) within 15 days from the date of this hearing, and deliver a fr: 3-19-19; 6-11-19

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

8/8/2019

The Court notes that the Defendant, possibly in error, checked the box indicating that it does not consent to the Bankruptcy Court's entry of a final judgment. On March 20, 2019, the Court entered a Scheduling Order predicated upon the Defendant's consent to the Bankruptcy Court's entry of a final judgment. See Doc. No. 13 (the "Scheduling Order"). The Scheduling Order provides in relevant part:

Defendant has timely demanded a jury trial in this avoidance action, has not filed a proof of claim against the estate, and consents to having the jury trial conducted by the Bankruptcy Court. Under these circumstances, Defendant is entitled to a jury trial. See Langenkamp v. Culp, 498 U.S. 42, 45 (1990) ("If a party does not submit a claim against the bankruptcy estate, however, the trustee can recover allegedly preferential transfers only by filing what amounts to a legal action to recover a monetary transfer. In those circumstances the preference defendant is entitled to a jury trial."). Because both Plaintiff and Defendant have consented to the Bankruptcy Court's entry of final judgment, the jury trial will be conducted by the Bankruptcy Court. See Bankruptcy Rule 9015(b) (stating that the Bankruptcy Court may conduct a jury trial only with the consent of all parties).

Chapter 7

Scheduling Order at ¶ 1.

Defendant is not allowed to withdraw its consent to the Bankruptcy Court's entry of a final judgment at this stage of the proceedings.

On March 20, 2019, the Court ordered the Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee") to submit an order assigning this matter to mediation (the "Mediation Order"). Doc. No. 31. The Trustee failed to submit the Mediation Order. On June 26, 2019, the Court once again ordered the Trustee to submit the Mediation Order. Doc. No. 17. The Mediation Order has not yet been submitted.

Based upon the foregoing, the Court HEREBY ORDERS AS FOLLOWS:

- 1) The Trustee shall submit the Mediation Order by no later than August 27, 2019. If the Trustee does not comply with this deadline, the Court will require the Trustee to appear and show cause why this action should not be dismissed for failure to prosecute, pursuant to Civil Rule 41.
- 2) Defendant shall be deemed to have consented to the Bankruptcy Court's entry of a final judgment in this action.
- 3) The litigation deadlines previously ordered shall continue to apply, subject to an extension for good cause shown.
- 4) Absent further order of the Court, no further Status Conferences will be conducted.

The Court will prepare and enter an appropriate order.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Jessica Vogel or Daniel Koontz at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. If you wish to make a telephonic appearance, contact Court Call at 888-882-6878, no later than one hour before the hearing.

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

8/9/2019

On April 24, 2019, the Court issued a Scheduling Order [Doc. No. 6], which the Plaintiff served upon the Defendant on April 25, 2019. Doc. No. 7. The Scheduling Order provides in relevant part:

Any party contesting this Court's authority to enter a final order or judgment in this matter must file and serve a written objection no later than ten days prior to the date set for the first status conference. See Wellness Int'l Network, Ltd. v. Sharif, 135 S. Ct. 1932 (2015). Failure to raise the issue in accordance with the requirements set forth above will be deemed consent to this court's authority to enter a final order or judgment.

Scheduling Order at ¶ 6.

In his Answer to the Complaint, Defendant contests the Bankruptcy Court's authority to enter a final judgment in this proceeding. See Answer at p. 17, ¶ 4 (seeking a determination that "the Bankruptcy Court ruling as to this proceeding is not a final order"). However, Defendant did not file a written objection to the Bankruptcy Court's entry of final judgment, as required by the Scheduling Order. Therefore, Defendant is deemed to consent to the Bankruptcy Court's authority to enter a final judgment. Further, a dischargeability action brought under § 523(a)(2), (a)(4), and (a)(6) is a core proceeding over which the Bankruptcy Court has statutory and constitutional authority to enter final judgment.

On February 26, 2019, the Court granted Plaintiff relief from the automatic stay, to enable Plaintiff to prosecute against Defendant two actions pending in the Los Angeles Superior Court (the "State Court Actions"). Plaintiff seeks to establish the indebtedness which is alleged to be non-dischargeable in this proceeding by way of the State Court Actions. On June 18, 2019, the Court granted Plaintiff's motion to abstain from adjudicating this dischargeability action until Plaintiff had obtained final, non-appealable judgments in the State Court Actions.

Trial in one of the State Court Actions is set to commence on September 6, 2019. Trial in the other State Court Action is set to commence on December 9, 2019.

Based upon the foregoing, the Court HEREBY ORDERS AS FOLLOWS:

- 1) Defendant shall be deemed to consent to the Bankruptcy Court's authority to enter final judgment in this proceeding.
- 2) The litigation deadlines previously ordered by the Court are VACATED.
- 3) A continued Status Conference shall take place on January 14, 2020, at 10:00 a.m. A Joint Status Report, which should discuss the status of the State Court Actions, shall be filed by no later than fourteen days prior to the hearing.

The Court will prepare and enter an order setting the continued Status Conference.

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

8/9/2019

In this dischargeability action, Plaintiffs have named as defendants the Debtor, Ryan J. McMillin, as well as G-Sight Solutions, Inc. ("G-Sight"), an entity that the Debtor allegedly used to perpetuate a scheme to interfere with Plaintiffs' business by diverting customers. The Complaint seeks a determination that the Debtor's indebtedness to Plaintiffs is non-dischargeable pursuant to § 523(a)(2)(A), (a)(4), and (a)(6). The prayer does not seek any relief against G-Sight. G-Sight has not responded to the Complaint.

The Court cannot enter judgment against G-Sight, which is not a debtor, on the claims for relief under § 523. By separate order, the Court will require Plaintiffs to appear and show cause why the Court should not dismiss the Complaint as to G-Sight, pursuant to Civil Rule 12(b)(6), based upon the Complaint's failure to state any claims upon which relief can be granted as to G-Sight.

The hearing on the Order to Show Cause shall take place on September 24, 2019, at 10:00 a.m. Plaintiff shall file a response to the Order to Show Cause by no later than September 3, 2019. Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

8/9/2019

In this dischargeability action, Plaintiffs have named as defendants the Debtor, Allan J. Macquarrie, as well as Celgine Tabingo, Clarke Miller, KarmaBox Vending, and MyKarmabox.com (collectively, the "Non-Debtor Defendants"). The Complaint seeks a determination that the Debtor's indebtedness to Plaintiffs is non-dischargeable pursuant to § 523(a)(2)(A). The Complaint alleges that the Non-Debtor Defendants participated with the Debtor in the conduct giving rise to the indebtedness alleged to be non-dischargeable.

The Court cannot enter judgment against the Non-Debtor Defendants on the claim for relief under § 523(a)(2)(A). By separate order, the Court will require Plaintiffs to appear and show cause why the Court should not dismiss the Complaint as to the Non-Debtor Defendants, based upon the Complaint's failure to state any claims upon which relief can be granted as to the Non-Debtor Defendants.

The hearing on the Order to Show Cause shall take place on September 24, 2019, at 10:00 a.m. Plaintiff shall file a response to the Order to Show Cause by no later than September 3, 2019. Any opposition to Plaintiff's response shall be filed by no later than September 10, 2019. Plaintiff's reply to any opposition shall be filed by no later than September 17, 2019.

Prior to the Debtor's bankruptcy filing, Plaintiffs commenced an action in the State Court seeking to establish the indebtedness alleged to be non-dischargeable (the "State Court Action").

By separate order, the Court will require Plaintiffs and the Debtor to show cause why the Court should not sua sponte lift the automatic stay to allow the State Court Action to proceed. In the Court's view, the most efficient way to resolve this action is for Plaintiffs to prosecute the State Court Action to final judgment. In the event Plaintiffs obtain a final judgment in their favor, Plaintiffs may then return to this Court for a determination as to whether the indebtedness established by that judgment is dischargeable. The briefing deadlines set forth with respect to the Order to Show Cause regarding dismissal of the Non-Debtor Defendants shall also apply to the Order to Show Cause regarding the lifting of the automatic stay.

The Status Conference shall be continued to the date of the hearings on the Orders to Show Cause. At the continued Status Conference, the Court will set updated litigation deadlines.

The Court will prepare and enter the Orders to Show Cause and the order setting the Continued Status Conference.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Jessica Vogel or Daniel Koontz at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. If you wish to make a telephonic appearance, contact Court Call at 888-882-6878, no later than one hour before the hearing.

#34.00 Show Cause Hearing re [6] Requiring Debtor To Appear And Show Cause Why This Case Should Not Be Dismissed Based Upon Debtor's Lack Of Representation By Counsel

Docket 0

Tentative Ruling:

8/9/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Chapter 7 petition is DISMISSED.

Tucson Train LLC (the "Debtor") filed a voluntary Chapter 7 petition on July 5, 2019. The Debtor is not represented by counsel. On July 10, 2019, the Court entered an Order Requiring Debtor to Appear and Show Cause Why this Case Should Not be Dismissed Based Upon Debtor's Lack of Representation by Counsel [Doc. No. 6] (the "Order to Show Cause"). Debtor has not responded to the Order to Show Cause and has not retained counsel.

"[A] corporation may appear in the federal courts only through licensed counsel." Rowland v. California Men's Colony, Unit II Men's Advisory Council, 506 U.S. 194, 202 (1993). This requirement is reiterated in Local Bankruptcy Rule ("LBR") 9011-2(a).

Debtor's Chapter 7 petition is DISMISSED. The Court will prepare and enter an order of dismissal.

 VACATED  REASON: Cont'd to 10/15/2019 at 11:00 a.m.

Tentative Ruling:

8/13/2018

This is an action to quiet title, brought by Raviner Kuma Bhatia and Johanna Arias-Bhatia against Fidel Ramirez. On August 15, 2011, Fidel Ramirez and Liduvina Ramirez commenced a voluntary Chapter 7 petition. The Ramirezes' case was closed on November 22, 2011.

Ramirez holds a Short Form Deed of Trust and Assignment of Rents (the "Deed of Trust") against property located at 721 N. Alta Vista Blvd, Los Angeles, CA 90046 (the "Property"). The Deed of Trust is dated February 27, 2007, but was not recorded until March 2, 2012. Ramirez failed to disclose the Deed of Trust in his Chapter 7 case. The Bhatias dispute the validity of the Deed of Trust.

On March 16, 2018, the Bhatias reached a settlement with Ramirez, under which the Bhatias agreed to pay Ramirez $31,000 to release the Deed of Trust. Solorzano Decl. at ¶4 [Doc. No. 25]; Motion to Reopen filed in Ramirez's Chapter 7 case [Doc. No. 17, Case No. 1:11-bk-17676-VK]. Recognizing that Ramirez had failed to disclose the Deed of Trust in his Chapter 7 case, the Bhatias notified the United States Trustee (the "UST") of the settlement. The UST filed a motion seeking to reopen Ramirez's case, which was granted on August 6, 2018. See Doc. No. 20, Case No. 1:11-bk-17676-VK. David K. Gottlieb ("Trustee Gottlieb") is serving as the Trustee in Ramirez's case.

Trustee Gottlieb requests that this Pretrial Conference be continued for 60–90 days, to allow him to investigate the facts of this action, and potentially substitute in as the real party-in-interest. The Bhatias likewise request a continuance.

It appears that any settlement proceeds payable to Ramirez are most likely an asset of Ramirez's estate, meaning that Trustee Gottlieb would be required to approve any settlement of this action. The Court finds it appropriate to continue the Pretrial Conference for 90 days to allow Trustee Gottlieb to determine whether the $31,000 proposed settlement is adequate. A continued Pretrial Conference shall be held on November 13, 2018, at 11:00 a.m. Unless a settlement of this action has been approved by the Court, a Joint Pretrial Order must be submitted, via the Court's Lodged Order Upload (LOU) system, by no later than fourteen days prior to the hearing. The trial is continued to the week of November 26, 2018.

The Court will prepare and enter an appropriate order.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. Chapter 11

Debtor-in-possession, Maria G. Gallarza-Dominguez (the "Debtor"), filed this voluntary Chapter 11 case on June 26, 2018 (the "Petition Date"). The Debtor is employed and generates regular monthly income. The Debtor's primary assets consist of real property located at 8429 Rives Ave, Downey, CA 90240 (the "Rives Property") and 10735 Lesterford Avenue, Downey, CA 90241 (the "Rental Property"). The Debtor collects monthly income from the Rental Property.

The Debtor states that she sought bankruptcy protection after experiencing several years of financial difficulties that arose after her husband lost his high earnings job and as a result of a loss of rental income from the Rental Property. The Debtor and her husband attempted to modify the lien on the Rental Property, but negotiations were unsuccessful, and they ultimately fell behind on the payments. The Debtor and her husband also fell behind on payments for the Rives Property but were able to modify that loan and have been current ever since. The Debtor states that she now has stable rental income and anticipates being able to increase that income in August 2019.

On January 17, 2019, the Court entered an order granting the Debtor's motion to value the Rental Property at $700,000 for purposes of plan confirmation [Doc. No. 42] (the "Rental Property Valuation Order"). Pursuant to that order, the first-priority lien recorded in favor of Deutsche Bank National Trust Company, as Trustee for U.S. Bank, N.A., serviced by Ocwen Loan Servicing, LLC ("Deutsche Bank") was bifurcated into a secured claim of $700,000 and an unsecured claim of $495,778.35 and Real Time Solutions' second-priority lien was stripped off in full.

The Debtor presently seeks approval of her Disclosure Statement. The following provisions are the material provisions of the Debtor's Plan:

Administrative Claims

The Debtor anticipates that administrative fees for professionals will be approximately $30,000 on the Effective Date. The Debtor proposes to pay all administrative claims in full, on the Effective Date, from available cash on hand.

Post-Petition Tax Claim

The Debtor proposes to pay the Los Angeles Property Tax Collector's post-petition real property tax claim of $10,620.99 in full on the Effective Date.

Chapter 11

Class 2(a) – Secured Claim of Forethought Life Insurance Company ("Forethought")

Forethought holds a first-priority deed of trust against the Rives Property securing debt in the approximate amount of $220,576.42. The Debtor proposes to continue making regular monthly mortgage payments as they become due based on the respective loan documents. Accordingly, the Debtor states that this claim will remain unchanged and is unimpaired.

On June 7, 2019, Forethought filed a timely objection to the Debtor's Disclosure Statement asserting that, despite the Debtor's classification of its' claim as unimpaired, certain language in the Plan appeared to apply to its claim in a way that it argued resulted in an impairment. Accordingly, Forethought asserted that the Disclosure Statement and Plan must be modified to either classify it as an impaired creditor with voting rights or make it clear that those provisions do not apply to its claim. Forethought also requested that the Plan clarify whether the loan will remain impounded for taxes and insurance after confirmation because the Plan does not adequately address this.

On July 2, 2019, the Debtor filed a Motion to Approve Stipulation Resolving Objection to Confirmation of Chapter 11 Plan and For Plan Treatment on First Lien Secured By Real Property Located at 8429 Rives Ave, Downey, CA 90240 [Doc. No. 66] (the "Motion re Forethought Treatment"), pursuant to which the Debtor sought approval of a stipulation resolving Forethought's Objection in exchange for the Debtor's agreement to make adequate protection payments and modify the Plan treatment described in the Plan.

On July 24, 2019, the Court entered an order granting the Motion re Forethought Treatment [Doc. No. 81]. Accordingly, Forethought's claim is unimpaired for purposes of plan confirmation and Forethought will be deemed to have accepted the Plan pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1126(f).

Class 5(a) – Secured Claim of Deutsche Bank

Deutsche Bank holds a first-priority deed of trust against the Rental Property. Pursuant to the Rental Property Valuation Order, Deutsche holds a secured claim of $700,000 against the Rental Property. The Debtor proposes to pay Deutsche's claim in full, plus 5.5% interest, by making monthly installment payments of $4,099.21 over a thirty-year period. Deutsche's claim is impaired, and it is entitled to vote on the

Chapter 11

Class 6(b) – General Unsecured Claims

This class consists of all allowed general unsecured claims, which the Debtor estimate hold aggregate claims in the amount of $684,385.99. The Debtor proposes to pay this class 3% of their claims, without interest, over a 5-year period by making equal pro-rata monthly installment payments totaling $342.19. This class is impaired and entitled to vote on the Plan.

Means of Implementation

The Debtor's Plan will be funded from the following sources:

- i. Approximately $40,671.76 in anticipated cash on hand on the Effective Date.
- ii. Future disposable income for 5 years. The Debtor anticipates having sufficient income to cover all proposed plan payments. After deducting expenses and making all of the foregoing proposed Plan payments, the Debtor's projections indicate that she will only have approximately ($995.25) in net monthly income for the month of July 2019 and then approximately $0.75/month for the remaining months of her Plan.

Amended Liquidation Analysis

Following an initial hearing on the adequacy of the Debtor's Disclosure Statement, the Court sua sponte ordered the matter continued to this date and directed the Debtor to file an amended liquidation analysis to address certain issues identified by the Court [see Doc. No. 76, incorporated in full by reference]. On July 30, 2019, the Debtor submitted a timely Amended Liquidation Analysis [Doc. No. 83], which satisfactorily addresses the Court's concerns.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no outstanding opposition is on file.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Section 1125 requires a disclosure statement to contain "information of a kind, and in sufficient detail, as far as is reasonably practicable in light of the nature and history of the debtor and the condition of the debtor's books and records . . . that would enable. . . a hypothetical investor of the relevant class to make an informed judgment about the plan." adequate information, “the court shall consider the complexity of the case, the benefit of additional information to creditors and other parties in interest, and the cost of providing additional information.” 11 U.S.C. § 1125(a). Courts interpreting § 1125(a) have explained that the “primary purpose of a disclosure statement is to give the creditors the information they need to decide whether to accept the plan.” In re Monnier Bros., 755 F.2d 1336, 1342 (8th Cir. 1985). “According to the legislative history, the parameters of what constitutes adequate information are intended to be flexible.” In re Diversified Investors Fund XVII, 91 B.R. 559, 560 (Bankr. In re Ariz. Fast Foods, Inc.*, 299 B.R. 589 (Bankr. D. Ariz. 2003).

Relevant factors for evaluating the adequacy of a disclosure statement may include: (1) the events which led to the filing of a bankruptcy petition; (2) a description of the available assets and their value; (3) the anticipated future of the company; (4) the source of information stated in the disclosure statement; (5) a disclaimer; (6) the present condition of the debtor while in Chapter 11; (7) the scheduled claims; (8) the estimated return to creditors under a Chapter 7 liquidation; (9) the accounting method utilized to produce financial information and the name of the accountants responsible for such information; (10) the future management of the debtor; (11) the Chapter 11 plan or a summary thereof; (12) the estimated administrative expenses, including attorneys' and accountants' fees; (13) the collectability of accounts receivable; (14) financial information, data, valuations or projections relevant to the creditors' decision to accept or reject the Chapter 11 plan; (15) information relevant to the risks posed to creditors under the plan; (16) the actual or projected realizable value from recovery of preferential or otherwise voidable transfers; (17) litigation likely to arise in a nonbankruptcy context; (18) tax attributes of the debtor; and (19) the relationship of the debtor with affiliates.

warrant approval. Among other things, the Disclosure Statement describes: (1) the factors precipitating the Chapter 11 filing, (2) a description of the Debtor's assets and their estimated values, (3) the classification structure of the Plan, (4) an Amended Liquidation Analysis, (5) risk factors, (6) estimated administrative expenses, and (7) the means for execution of the Plan.

Although the following are plan confirmation issues, the Debtor should be aware of the following issues that may prevent confirmation of the Plan:

1. The Debtor's Projected Income and Expenses reflects negative income of ($999.25) beginning in July 2019 and does not identify sufficient subsequent income to make up for the shortfall. Additionally, after the July 2019 deficit, the Debtor's net monthly income after making all anticipated Plan payments is less than $1. Therefore, the Debtor's plan confirmation brief must include adequate briefing to address how the Debtor intends to make up for the shortfall and satisfy this Court that confirmation of the Plan is not likely to be followed by liquidation in the event any unforeseen expenses arise.
2. The Debtor proposes to retain her interest in the Rives Property and Rental Property, while only paying general unsecured creditors 3% of their claims, without interest, and without providing a new value contribution. Accordingly, the Debtor should be aware that she will not be able to satisfy the absolute priority rule unless Class 6(b) votes to accept the Plan.

The following dates and deadlines will apply to solicitation and confirmation of the Debtor's Plan:

- 1) A hearing will be held on the confirmation of the Debtors' Chapter 11 Plan of Reorganization on November 5, 2019, at 10:00 a.m.
- 2) In accordance with FRBP 3017(a), the Disclosure Statement, the Plan, a notice of hearing on confirmation of the Plan and, if applicable, a ballot conforming to Official Form No. 14, shall be mailed to all creditors, equity security holders and to the Office of the United States Trustee, pursuant to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 3017(d), on or before August 23, 2019.
- 3) September 27, 2019 is fixed as the last day for creditors and equity security holders to return to Debtors' counsel ballots containing written acceptances or rejections of the Plan, which ballots must be actually received by Debtors' counsel by 5:00 p.m. on such date.

- 4) October 15, 2019 is fixed as the last day on which the Debtors must file and serve a motion for an order confirming the Plan (the "Confirmation Motion") including declarations setting forth a tally of the ballots cast with respect to the Plan ("Ballots"), and attaching thereto the original Ballots, and setting forth evidence that the Debtors have complied with all the requirements for the confirmation of the Plan as set forth in Section 1129 of the Bankruptcy Code.
- 5) October 22, 2019 (the "Objection Date"), is fixed as the last day for filing and serving written objections to confirmation of the Plan, as provided in Rule 3020(b)(1) of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure.
- 6) October 29, 2019 is fixed as the last day on which the Debtors may file and serve a reply to any opposition to the Confirmation Motion ("Reply").

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the Disclosure Statement is APPROVED.

The Debtor is directed to lodge a conforming proposed order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Daniel Koontz or Jessica Vogel at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. Docket 2768

Tentative Ruling:

8/13/2019

On October 25, 2018, the Court entered an Order on Debtors' Motion Establishing Procedures for Monthly Payment of Fees and Expense Reimbursement [Doc. No. 661], and on October 16, 2018, the Court entered an Amended Order on Debtors' Motion Establishing Procedures for Monthly Payment of Fees and Expense Reimbursement [Doc. No. 826] (the "Fee Procedures Order"). [Note 1] Pursuant to the Fee Procedures Order, each professional employed by the estate may file a monthly fee application (each, a "Monthly Application") seeking payment of interim compensation in an amount equal to 80% of the fees sought and 100% of the expenses incurred during the prior month. If no objection is filed and served within ten calendar days after the date of the filing of the notice of the Monthly Application, the Monthly Application is deemed approved on an interim basis, and the Debtor is authorized to pay 80% of the fees and 100% of the expenses requested in the Monthly Application without further order of the Court. [Note 2] The failure to object to a Monthly Application does not result in a waiver of a party's ability to object to an interim fee application.

On November 6, 2018, the Court entered an order authorizing the Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors (the "Committee") to retain Milbank LLP ("Milbank") as its counsel. Pursuant to the procedures set forth in the Fee Procedures Order, Milbank has submitted eight Monthly Applications [Doc. Nos. 871, 872, 1177, 1420, 1679, 1975, 2271, and 2469], none of which have been opposed.

No objections to the Second Interim Application of Milbank LLP for Approval and Allowance of Compensation for Services Rendered and Reimbursement of Expenses Incurred [Doc. No. 2768] (the "Application") have been filed. Having reviewed the Application and the Declaration of Michael Strollo [Doc. Chapter 11

The Debtors move to assume an executory contract between Debtor Verity Medical Foundation (“VMF”) and Medecision, Inc. (the “Medecision Contract”), so that the Medecision Contract can be assigned to SVMD. SVMD deems the Medecision Contract necessary to operate the Clinics purchased in the sale, and has requested assignment of the Medecision Contract.

No opposition to the Motion is on file.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Section 365(a) provides that the Debtor, "subject to the court's approval, may assume or reject any executory contract or unexpired lease of the debtor." In Agarwal v. Pomona Valley Med. Grp. (In re Pomona Valley Med. Grp., Inc.), the Ninth Circuit explained that the business judgment rule governs the Bankruptcy Court's review of the Debtors' decision to assume or reject an executory contract or unexpired lease. Pomona Valley, 476 F.3d 665, 670 (9th Cir. 2007). The Pomona Valley court stated that the Court “need engage in only a cursory review” of the debtor's decision, and “should presume that the debtor-in-possession acted prudently, on an informed basis, in good faith, and in the honest belief that the action taken was in the best interests of the bankruptcy estate.” Id.

Pursuant to § 365(b)(1), if there has been a default in the executory contract to be assumed, the Debtor may not assume the contract unless the Debtor:

- a) cures, or provides adequate assurance that the [Debtor] will promptly cure, such default;
- b) compensates, or provides adequate assurance that the [Debtor] will promptly compensate, a party other than the debtor to such contract ..., for any actual pecuniary loss to such party resulting from such default; and
- c) provides adequate assurance of future performance under such contract or lease.

SVMD has agreed to pay a cure amount of $13,836.93 as a condition to the assumption and assignment of the Medecision Contract to SVMD. Medecision has not objected to the cure amount. The Court finds that the cure amount satisfies the requirements of § 365(b)(1).

Given that assignment of the Medecision Contract to SVMD will facilitate SVMD's operation of the Clinics purchased from the Debtors, the Court finds that the Debtors have exercised their sound business judgment with respect to the assumption

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Debtor-in-possession, Monge Property Investments, Inc. (the "Debtor"), filed this voluntary chapter 11 case on May 31, 2012 (the "Petition Date"). The Debtor now seeks confirmation of its Second Amended Chapter 11 Plan of Reorganization [Doc. No. 682] (the "Plan").

Summary of the Plan

Class 1 – JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A. – Claim Satisfied in Full

Class 1 consisted of the secured claim of JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A. ("Chase") in the approximate amount of $165,121.41, secured by a first-priority lien against 5908 Fayette Street, Los Angeles, CA 90042 (the "Fayette Property"). The Debtor sold the Fayette Property and paid Chase in full on March 14, 2019.

Class 2 – Los Angeles County Treasurer and Tax Collector – Claim Satisfied in Full

Class 2 consisted of the secured claim of the Los Angeles County Treasurer and Tax Collector (the "LACTTC") in the approximate amount of $59,439.37. The Debtor used proceeds from the sale of the Fayette Property to pay LACTTC in full.

Class 3 – Priority Unsecured Claims – No Claims Exist

Class 3 is designated for holders of certain priority claims specified in §§ 507(a) (3), (4), (5), (6), and (7). The Debtor does not believe any such claims exist.

Class 4 – General Unsecured Claims – Accepts the Plan

Class 4 consists of general unsecured claims totaling $78,711 that are not entitled to priority under § 507(a). Class 4 claimants will be paid in full in 60 equal monthly installments of $1,312, commencing on the first day of the first month following the Effective Date. Class 4 is impaired and voted to accept the Plan.

Class 5 – Equity Interests – Unimpaired (Deemed to Accept)

Chapter 11

Class 5 consists of the equity interests in the Debtor. The Plan provides for the sole equity holder to retain his interest in the Debtor. Class 5 is unimpaired and is therefore deemed to accept the Plan.

The Debtor also used the sale proceeds from the Fayette Property to pay the following administrative and priority tax claims: (i) the United States of America, on behalf of the Internal Revenue Service, in the amount of $210,762, in full satisfaction of Claims 13 and 14; (ii) the LACTTC, in the amount of $96,104, in full satisfaction of Claims 7 and 12; (iii) the Los Angeles Housing & Community Investment, in the amount of $37,248, in full satisfaction of Claim 9; (iv) Payne Financial Forensics, in the amount of $7,205, pursuant to the Court's Order approving this applicant's fees (Doc. No. 699); (v) the Employment Development Department, in the amount of $5,795.46, in full satisfaction of Claim 15; and (vi) the Franchise Tax Board, in the amount of $11,502, in full satisfaction of Claim 10.

On June 21, 2019, the Court entered an order approving the Debtor's sale of real property located at 5908 ½ Fayette Street, Los Angeles, CA 90042 [Doc. No. 806]. The Debtor states that the sale closed on August 1, 2019 and the Debtor used the sale proceeds to pay Valensi Rose's administrative claim in full. Therefore, the only remaining administrative claim is the claim of Debtor's counsel, Resnik Hayes Moradi LLP ("RHM"), which the Debtor proposes to pay in full following Court approval.

As of the date of this tentative ruling, there are no pending oppositions to confirmation of the Plan.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

A. Preliminary issue

In support of Confirmation, the Debtor submitted the Declaration of Roksana D. Moradi-Brovia (the "Moradi-Brovia Decl."), [Doc. No. 775]. Ms. Moradi-Brovia states that she only received a single ballot in connection with confirmation of the Debtor's Plan and attached a copy of that ballot as Exhibit A. The single ballot was filed by Class 4 claimant Jesus Navarro and cast in favor of the Plan (the "Navarro Ballot"). However, the Navarro Ballot is dated March 15, 2019, despite the fact that the front page of the ballot unambiguously states: "If your ballot is not received by the proponent's attorney on or before 9/24/2018, and such deadline is not extended, your vote will not count as either an acceptance or rejection of the Plan." The Court has reviewed the record and has been unable to locate any order extending the voting deadline.

Neither the Debtor, nor any other interested party, has raised this issue. However, unless this Court deems the Navarro Ballot timely, the Debtor will have failed to have obtained acceptance of an impaired consenting class and the Court must deny confirmation of the Debtor's Plan.

Bankruptcy Rule 3017(c) states that "[o]n or before approval of the disclosure statement, the court shall fix a time within which the holders of claims or interests may accept or reject the plan" Fed. R. Bankr. P. 3017(c). "Once the date for filing an acceptance or rejection of the plan has been fixed, a creditor must accept or reject the plan within this time limit, or move the court to permit [the] late filing where failure to file timely was the result of excusable neglect." In re Ekstrom, 2010 Bankr. LEXIS 982, at *44-45 (Bankr. D. Ariz. Mar. 23, 2010) (citing In re Paul, 101 B.R. 228 (Bankr. S.D. Cal. 1989)). In determining whether excusable neglect exists, courts consider a broad range of factors including: (1) whether granting the delay will prejudice the debtor; (2) the length of the delay and its impact on efficient court administration; (3) whether the delay was beyond the reasonable control of the person whose duty it was to perform; (4) whether the creditor acted in good faith; and (5) whether clients should be penalized for their counsel's mistake or neglect. In re Paul, 101 B.R. at 230-31 (citing In re Dix, 95 B.R. 134, 138 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1988)).

In this case, the voting deadline was set for September 24, 2018 and there has been no formal request to allow the late-filed Navarro Ballot. However, since it appears that the only remaining class of claimants is Class 4 general unsecured creditors and the Debtor has proposed a 100% Plan, the Court finds that it is in the best interests of creditors and the Debtor to treat the Debtor's Confirmation Brief as a request to allow the Navarro Ballot.

Applying the Dix factors, the Court finds good cause exists to allow the Navarro Ballot. First, the Debtor will not be prejudiced if the Court were to deem the Navarro Ballot timely but would be prejudiced if the Court declines to do so. Additionally, because of unanticipated delays resulting from the Debtor's efforts to sell real property that was necessary to fund the Plan, the confirmation hearing has been continued several times. Therefore, even though the delay does not appear to have been beyond Mr. Navarro's control, such delay has not resulted in any detriment to the administration of this case. The Court also has no reason to find that Mr. Navarro acted in bad faith.

Based upon the foregoing, the Court finds that sufficient excusable neglect exists to allow the late-filed Navarro Ballot to be counted.

B. The Plan Complies With All Applicable Provisions of 11 U.S.C. § 1129

As set forth below, the Court finds that the Plan complies will all applicable provisions of § 1129. The Plan is confirmed.

SECTION 1129(a)(1)

Section 1129(a)(1) requires that the "plan compl[y] with the applicable provisions of this title." According to the leading treatise, the "legislative history suggests that the applicable provisions are those governing the plan's internal structure and drafting: 'Paragraph (1) requires that the plan comply with the applicable provisions of chapter 11, such as section 1122 and 1123, governing classification and contents of a plan.'" Collier on Bankruptcy ¶ 1129.01[1] (16th rev'd ed.) (citing S. Rep. No. 989, 95th Cong., 2d Sess. 126 (1978)).

1. Section 1122(a)

Section 1122(a) provides that "a plan may place a claim or an interest in a particular class only if such claim or interest is substantially similar to the other claims or interests of such class."

The Plan's classification structure complies with § 1122(a).

2. Section 1122(b)

Section 1122(b) provides that "a plan may designate a separate class of claims consisting only of every unsecured claim that is less than or reduced to an amount that the court approves as reasonable and necessary for administrative convenience."

Chapter 11

The Plan does not contain any convenience classes. Section 1122(b) does not apply.

3. Section 1123(a)(1)

Section 1123(a)(1) requires that a plan "designate ... classes of claims, other than claims of a kind specified in section 507(a)(2) [administrative expense claims], 507(a)(3) [claims arising during the gap period in an involuntary case], or 507(a)(8) [priority tax claims], and classes of interest."

The Plan appropriately designates classes of claims and interests. The Plan satisfies § 1123(a)(1).

4. Section 1123(a)(2)

Section 1123(a)(2) requires that the Plan "specify any class of claims or interests that is not impaired under the Plan."

The Plan specifies which classes are impaired and which classes are unimpaired. The Plan satisfies § 1123(a)(2).

5. Section 1123(a)(3)

Section 1123(a)(3) requires that the Plan "specify the treatment of any class of claims or interests that is impaired under the Plan."

The Plan specifies the treatment of impaired classes. The Plan satisfies § 1123(a)(3).

6. Section 1123(a)(4)

Section 1123(a)(4) requires that the Plan "provide the same treatment for each claim or interest of a particular class unless the holder of a particular claim or interest agrees to a less favorable treatment of such particular claim or interest."

The Plan provides the same treatment to claims and interests of the same class. The Plan satisfies § 1123(a)(4).

7. Section 1123(a)(5)

Section 1123(a)(5) requires that the Plan "provide adequate means for the plan's

Chapter 11

- The Plan will be funded by sale proceeds from the following sources:
- i. sale proceeds generated from the sale of the Debtor's interest in real property located at 5908 Fayette Street, Los Angeles, 90042 and 5908 ½ Fayette Street, Los Angeles, CA 90042; [Note 2]
 - ii. collection of rental income from real property located at 942-44 Marine Avenue, Wilmington, CA 90744; and
 - iii. funds on hand in Debtor's Debtor-in-possession bank accounts.

The Debtor anticipates that all remaining allowed administrative claims will be paid by the Effective Date. The Debtor submitted evidence in support of its ability to adequately implement the Plan, in the form of income and expense projections, which are attached as Exhibit B to its Disclosure Statement. The proposed funding sources provide an adequate means for the Plan's implementation. The Plan satisfies § 1123(a)(5).

8. Section 1123(a)(6)

Section 1123(a)(6) provides: "[A] plan shall provide for the inclusion in the charter of the debtor, if the debtor is a corporation ..., of a provision prohibiting the issuance of nonvoting equity securities, and providing, as to the several classes of securities possessing voting power, an appropriate distribution of such power among such classes, including, in the case of any class of equity securities having a preference over another class of equity securities with respect to dividends, adequate provisions for the election of directors representing such preferred class in the event of default in the payment of such dividends."

The Plan specifies that the Debtor's bylaws will be amended to include the requisite language set forth above. The Plan satisfies § 1123(a)(6).

9. Section 1123(a)(7)

Section 1123(a)(7) requires that the Plan's provisions with respect to the selection of officers and directors be consistent with public policy and the interests of creditors and equity security holders.

The Plan does not contain any provision with respect to the selection of officers and directors. The Plan satisfies § 1123(a)(7).

Chapter 11

10. Section 1123(a)(8)

Section 1123(a)(8), which imposes certain requirements upon individual debtors, is inapplicable in this case.

SECTION 1129(a)(2)

Section 1129(a)(2) requires that the "proponent of the plan compl[y] with the applicable provisions of this title." The Court finds that the Debtor has:

- 1) Obtained Court approval of a Disclosure Statement in accordance with § 1125 (see "Order Approving Adequacy of Debtor's Second Amended Disclosure Statement Describing Second Amended Chapter 11 Plan of Reorganization and Setting Dates for Confirmation of Second Amended Chapter 11 Plan of Reorganization [Doc. No. 729]);
- 2) Obtained Court approval of the employment of professional persons (see Doc. Nos. 89, 90, 230, 232, 286, 323, 335, 400, 416, 422, 640, 675); and
- 3) Filed monthly operating reports.

Accordingly, the Debtor has satisfied the requirements of § 1129(a)(2).

SECTION 1129(a)(3)

Section 1129(a)(3) requires that the "plan has been proposed in good faith and not by any means forbidden by law." As one court has explained:

The term 'good faith' in the context of 11 U.S.C. § 1129(a)(3) is not statutorily defined but has been interpreted by case law as referring to a plan that 'achieves a result consistent with the objectives and purposes of the Code.' 'The requisite good faith determination is based on the totality of the circumstances.'

In re Melcher, 329 B.R. 865, 876 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. 2005) (internal citations omitted).

The Plan seeks objectives that are consistent with those of the Bankruptcy Code and the Debtor has complied with the requirements of the Code throughout this case. The Plan satisfies § 1129(a)(3).

SECTION 1129(a)(4)

Section 1129(a)(4) requires that "[a]ny payment made or to be made by the proponent, by the debtor, or by a person issuing securities or acquiring property under the plan, for services or for costs and expenses in or in connection with the case, or in connection with the plan and incident to the case, has been approved by, or is subject to the approval of, the court as reasonable."

Chapter 11

The Plan provides that all professional fees are subject to review by the Court. The Plan satisfies § 1129(a)(4).

SECTION 1129(a)(5)

Section 1129(a)(5) requires that the Plan disclose "the identity and affiliations of any individual proposed to serve, after confirmation of the Plan, as a director, officer, or voting trustee of the debtor, an affiliate of the debtor participating in a joint Plan with the debtor, or a successor to the debtor under the Plan." Section 1129(a)(5)(A)(ii) requires that the appointment to or continuation in office of a director or officer be consistent with the interests of creditors, equity security holders, and public policy. Section 1129(a)(5)(B) requires the Plan proponent to disclose the identity of any insider to be employed by the reorganized debtor.

The Plan discloses that the Debtor's post-confirmation management will remain the same as the Debtor's pre-confirmation management. The Plan satisfies § 1129(a)(5).

SECTION 1129(a)(6)

Section 1129(a)(6), which requires that a governmental regulatory commission with jurisdiction over rates charged by a debtor approve any rate changes provided for in the plan, does not apply.

SECTION 1129(a)(7)

Section 1129(a)(7), known as the "best interests of creditors test," provides in relevant part: "With respect to each impaired class of claims or interests, each holder of a claim or interest of such class has accepted the plan; or will receive or retain under the plan on account of such claim or interest property of a value, as of the effective date of the plan, that is not less than the amount that such holder would so receive or retain if the debtor were liquidated under chapter 7 of this title on such date."

Classes 1 and 2 have been paid in full. Class 3 was designated as priority unsecured claims, but the Debtor does not believe that any such claims exist. Therefore, the only remaining impaired class is Class 4, which consists of general unsecured creditors whose claims total approximately $78,711. Class 4 has voted to accept the Plan. See Exhibit A to Moradi-Brovia Decl. [Doc. No. 775]. Accordingly, all classes have either accepted the Plan or have been paid in full. The Plan satisfies § 1129(a)(7).

SECTION 1129(a)(8)

Section 1129(a)(8) requires each class to accept the Plan, unless the class is not impaired.

Classes 1 and 2 have been paid in full. Class 3 was designated as priority unsecured claims, but the Debtor does not believe that any such claims exist. Class 4 is impaired and has voted to accept the Plan. See Exhibit A to Moradi-Brovia Decl. [Doc. No. 775]. All classes have either accepted the Plan or have been paid in full. The Plan satisfies § 1129(a)(8).

SECTION 1129(a)(9)

Section 1129(a)(9) requires that holders of certain administrative and priority claims receive cash equal to the allowed claim amount of their claims on the effective date of the plan, unless the claimant agrees to different treatment.

The Plan provides for the payment of all outstanding allowed administrative and priority claims in full on or before the Effective Date. The Plan proposes to pay administrative fees owing to its bankruptcy counsel, RHM, as soon as those fees are approved by the Court and RHM has agreed to this treatment. The Plan satisfies § 1129(a)(9).

SECTION 1129(a)(10)

Section 1129(a)(10) requires that "at least one class of claims that is impaired under the plan has accepted the plan, determined without including any acceptance of the plan by any insider."

Class 4 consists of non-insider general unsecured claims, is impaired, and has voted to accept the Plan. Section 1129(a)(10) is satisfied.

SECTION 1129(a)(11)

Section 1129(a)(11), known as the "feasibility requirement," requires the Court to find that "[c]onfirmation of the plan is not likely to be followed by the liquidation, or the need for further financial reorganization, of the debtor or any successor to the debtor under the plan, unless such liquidation or reorganization is proposed in the plan."

The Debtor submits that it has sufficient cash on hand to pay the amounts that are due on the Effective Date. Based upon its review of the budget projections included with the Disclosure Statement, the Court finds that confirmation is not likely to be followed by liquidation or the need for further financial reorganization. The Plan is feasible and satisfies § 1129(a)(11).

SECTION 1129(a)(12)

Section 1129(a)(12) requires that the Debtor pay all United States Trustee fees prior to confirmation or provide for payment of those fees on the effective date.

To the Court's knowledge, UST fees are current. Section 1129(a)(12) is satisfied.

SECTION 1129(a)(13)

Section 1129(a)(13), which contains requirements pertaining to the payment of retirement benefits, does not apply.

SECTION 1129(a)(14)

Section 1129(a)(14), which contains requirements pertaining to the payment of domestic support obligations, does not apply.

SECTION 1129(a)(15)

Section 1129(a)(15), which imposes certain requirements upon individual debtors, does not apply.

SECTION 1129(a)(16)

Section 1129(a)(16) provides: "All transfers of property under the plan shall be made in accordance with any applicable provisions of nonbankruptcy law that govern the transfer of property by a corporation or trust that is not a moneyed, business, or commercial corporation or trust."

Section 1129(a)(16) is inapplicable in this case.

SECTION 1129(b)

SECTION 1129(c)

Section 1129(c), which states that the court may confirm only one plan in a particular case, is satisfied.

SECTION 1129(d)

Section 1129(d) provides: "Notwithstanding any other provisions of this section, on request of a party in interest that is a governmental unit, the court may not confirm a Plan if the principal purpose of the Plan is the avoidance of taxes or the avoidance of the application of section 5 of the Securities Act of 1933."

No governmental unit has requested that the court not confirm the Plan on the grounds that the Plan's purpose is the avoidance of taxes or application of section 5 of the Securities Act of 1944. The Plan satisfies § 1129(d).

For the reasons set forth above, the Plan is CONFIRMED.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Debtor and Debtor-in-Possession, United International Mortgage Solutions, Inc. (the "Debtor"), filed this voluntary chapter 11 case on September 12, 2018 (the "Petition Date"). The Debtor is a California corporation that owns three residential real properties: (i) 1258 N. Virgil Avenue, Los Angeles, CA 90029 (the "Virgil Property"); (ii) 5935 Playa Vista Dr., #414, Playa Vista, CA 90094 (the "Playa Vista Property"); and (iii) 6205 Senford Avenue, Los Angeles, CA 90056 (the "Senford Property," and together with the Virgil Property and Playa Vista Property, the "Properties"). liens on the Properties and to reorganize its affairs.

The Debtor seeks an order approving the adequacy of its Disclosure Statement. The Disclosure Statement explains the reasons for filing, describes the Debtor's assets and their values, and provides a summary of significant post-petition events. The Disclosure Statement describes the Debtor's proposed plan of reorganization, which will be funded by additional income generated from increased rents from the Virgil and Playa Vista Properties. The Debtor proposes the following classification scheme and treatment:

- Class 1: Secured claim of Seterus, Inc., as the authorized sub-servicer for Federal National Mortgage Association ("Seterus"). Seterus holds the first priority lien against the Virgil Property in the amount of $882,107. The Debtor proposes to pay Seterus's claim in full, with 5.5% interest amortized over 30 years. Seterus will be repaid in two phases. The Debtor will make 120 monthly payments to Seterus in the amount of $5,009. The Debtor will also deposit $982 a month into a tax impound account on account of this claim. The Debtor will then make a one-time ten-year balloon payment in an amount necessary to fully satisfy Seterus's claim. Seterus's claim is impaired and it is entitled to vote on the Plan.
- Class 2: Secured claim of Errol Gordon ("Gordon"). Gordon holds the second priority lien against the Virgil Property in the amount of $50,000. The Debtor proposes to pay Gordon's claim in full, with 4% interest amortized over 40 years. Gordon will be repaid in two phases. The Debtor will make 120 monthly payments to Gordon in the amount of $209. The Debtor will then make a one-time ten-year balloon payment in an amount necessary to fully satisfy Gordon's claim. Gordon's claim is impaired and he is entitled to vote on the Plan.
- Class 3: Secured claim of Gordon. Gordon also holds the second priority lien against the Senford Property in the amount of $300,701. The Debtor proposes to pay Gordon's claim in full, with 4% interest amortized over 40 years. Gordon's claim will be repaid in two phases. The Debtor will make 120 monthly payments to Gordon in the amount of $1,257. The Debtor will then make a one-time ten-year balloon payment in an amount necessary to fully satisfy Gordon's claim. Gordon's claim is impaired and he is entitled to vote on the Plan.

Chapter 11

- Class 4: Secured claim of Los Angeles County Treasurer and Tax Collector (the "LACTTC"). LACTTC holds a property tax lien against the Senford Property in the amount of $97,939. The Debtor proposes to pay LACTTC's claim in full, with 18 interest, plus redemption penalty interest and any other fees, costs, or charges LACTTC is entitled to. The Debtor will make 60 monthly payments to LACTTC in the amount of $2,487. LACTTC's claim is impaired and it is entitled to vote on the Plan.
- Class 5: Secured claim of Mr. Cooper/Nationstar ("Mr. Cooper"). Mr. Cooper holds the first priority lien against the Playa Vista Property in the amount of $857,177. The Debtor proposes to pay Mr. Cooper's claim in accordance with the applicable loan obligations. As such, Mr. Cooper's claim is unimpaired and Mr. Cooper is not entitled to vote on the Plan.
- Class 6: Secured claim of Playa Vista Parks HOA ("PVP"). PVP holds an HOA lien against the Playa Vista Property in the amount of $70,080. The Debtor proposes to pay PVP's claim in full, at 4% interest amortized over 40 years. PVP's claim will be repaid in two phases. The Debtor will make 120 monthly payments to PVP in the amount of $323. The Debtor will then make a one-time ten-year balloon payment in an amount necessary to fully satisfy PVP's claim. PVP's claim is impaired and it is entitled to vote on the Plan.
- Class 7: Secured claim of Villa d'Este HOA ("Villa"). Villa holds an HOA lien against the Playa Property in the amount of $31,855. The Debtor proposes to pay Villa's claim in full, with 4% interest amortized over 40 years. The Debtor will make 120 monthly payments to Villa in the amount of $323. Villa's claim is impaired and it is entitled to vote on the Plan.
- Class 8: Priority unsecured claims. The Debtor does not believe any priority unsecured claims exist.
- Class 9: General unsecured claims. The Debtor estimates that general unsecured claims total approximately $723. These claims will be paid in full by the first day of the first month following the Effective Date. The Debtor submits that this proposed treatment renders general unsecured claims unimpaired and, accordingly, they would be deemed to accept the Plan and not entitled to vote.
- Class 10: Interest holders. Debtor's owners will retain their ownership interest in the Debtor.

The Debtor also proposes to pay the Franchise Tax Board's priority claim within 36 months by making monthly payments of $77. II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Section 1125 requires a disclosure statement to contain "information of a kind, and in sufficient detail, as far as is reasonably practicable in light of the nature and history of the debtor and the condition of the debtor's books and records . . . that would enable. . . a hypothetical investor of the relevant class to make an informed judgment about the plan." In determining whether a disclosure statement provides adequate information, "the court shall consider the complexity of the case, the benefit of additional information to creditors and other parties in interest, and the cost of providing additional information." 11 U.S.C. § 1125(a). Courts interpreting § 1125(a) have explained that the "primary purpose of a disclosure statement is to give the creditors the information they need to decide whether to accept the plan." In re Monnier Bros., 755 F.2d 1336, 1342 (8th Cir. 1985). "According to the legislative history, the parameters of what constitutes adequate information are intended to be flexible." In re Diversified Investors Fund XVII, 91 B.R. 559, 560 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1988). "Adequate information will be determined by the facts and circumstances of each case." Oneida Motor Freight, Inc. v. United Jersey Bank, 848 F.2d 414, 417 (3d Cir. 1988), accord. In re Ariz. Fast Foods, Inc., 299 B.R. 589 (Bankr. D. Ariz. 2003).

Relevant factors for evaluating the adequacy of a disclosure statement may include: (1) the events which led to the filing of a bankruptcy petition; (2) a description of the available assets and their value; (3) the anticipated future of the company; (4) the source of information stated in the disclosure statement; (5) a disclaimer; (6) the present condition of the debtor while in Chapter 11; (7) the scheduled claims; (8) the estimated return to creditors under a Chapter 7 liquidation; (9) the accounting method utilized to produce financial information and the name of the accountants responsible for such information; (10) the future management of the debtor; (11) the Chapter 11 plan or a summary thereof; (12) the estimated administrative expenses, including attorneys' and accountants' fees;

(13) the collectability of accounts receivable; (14) financial information, data, valuations or projections relevant to the creditors' decision to accept or reject the Chapter 11 plan; (15) information relevant to the risks posed to creditors under the plan; (16) the actual or projected realizable value from recovery of preferential or otherwise voidable transfers; (17) litigation likely to arise in a nonbankruptcy context; (18) tax attributes of the debtor; and (19) the relationship of the debtor with affiliates.

In re Metrocraft Pub. Services, Inc., 39 B.R. 567, 568 (Bankr. Ga. 1984). However, “[d]isclosure of all factors is not necessary in every case.” Id.

Subject to the minor amendments discussed below, the Court finds that the Disclosure Statement contains adequate information, in view of the size and complexity of the case. Among other things, the Disclosure Statement describes (1) the factors precipitating the Chapter 11 filing, (2) significant events that occurred during the Chapter 11 case, (3) the classification structure of the Plan, (4) a disclaimer, (5) risk factors, and (6) the means for execution of the Plan.

However, the Court will require the Debtor to file an amended disclosure statement and plan by no later than April 24, 2019 to address the following two issues:

First, the Debtor proposes an Effective Date that is "the first business day that is fourteen (14) calendar days after the entry of the order confirming the Plan, with payment beginning by the first day of the following month." Disclosure Statement, p.5:18-20. This language is problematic because certain confirmation requirements mandate that effective date payments occur on the Effective Date. For example, for the Court to determine that Class 9 general unsecured claims are unimpaired, the Debtor must pay all claims in full on the Effective Date, rather than the proposed "first day of the month following the Effective Date." Therefore, the Debtor is directed to amend the language so that payments begin on the Effective Date.

Second, the Court notes that the Debtor's financial projections in Exhibit B state that they are for a period of "5 years," but only contain 12 months of projections. The Debtor is directed to file an amended Exhibit B with the full 5-year projections.

Chapter 11

Although the following are plan confirmation issues, the Debtor should also be prepared to present further evidence in support its confirmation brief regarding the feasibility of its proposed Plan. In its current form, the Plan proposes payment of certain obligations for months two through five, but the Debtor's projections set forth in Exhibit B to the Disclosure Statement reflect negative net monthly income for those months. The Court also notes the Debtor's proposed Plan will be funded, in part, from contributions from Sandra McBeth. As evidence of Ms. McBeth's financial ability to make such contributions, the Debtor attached Exhibit E, which purports to be copies of bank statements showing deposits and income from her employment as a real estate consultant. See Declaration of Sandra McBeth & Exhibit E. However, the bank accounts belong to Playa Vista Realty Group, Inc., and without more information about whether the statements capture all of Ms. McBeth's monthly income and expenses, the Court does not believe Exhibit E is sufficient evidence of Ms. McBeth's financial ability to fund the proposed Plan.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Liboria Zavalza (the "Debtor") filed this voluntary chapter 11 case on April 3, 2019 (the "Petition Date"). The Debtor has an interest in real property located at 4053 & 4053(A) Randolph Street, Huntington Park, CA 90255 (the "Property"). The Property is encumbered by a First Deed of Trust (the "DOT") in favor of HSBC Bank, N.A., as Trustee for the Registered Holders of Nomura Home Equity Loan, Inc.,

Asset-Backed Certificates, Series 2007-3 (the "Bank"). The Bank asserts a secured claim against the Property in the amount of $1,185,616.25. See Proof of Claim 3-1 ("Claim 3").

The Debtor seeks an order valuing the Property at $460,000, in order to bifurcate the Bank's claim for plan treatment purposes (the "Valuation Motion"). In support of the claimed valuation, the Debtor submits an Appraisal Report prepared by Perez & Associates (the "Debtor Appraisal"). Attached to the Debtor Appraisal is a Construction Bid Summary prepared by EC Precise Designs (the "Construction Summary"). According to the Construction Summary, the Property requires repairs in the approximate amount of $243,600.

On May 21, 2019, Ocwen Loan Servicing, LLC, the authorized loan servicing agent for the Bank (together, the "Bank"), filed a timely opposition requesting at least a 60-day continuance to afford it an opportunity to obtain a verified full interior appraisal. The Bank stated that it recently obtained a Broker's Price Opinion, dated February 26, 2019, that valued the Property at $538,000. Opposition, Ex. A. Accordingly, the Bank believed there may be significantly more equity in the Property than alleged by the Debtor.

On June 3, 2019, the Debtor and Bank stipulated to continue the hearing to allow time for the Bank to conduct its own appraisal [see Doc. Nos. 23 & 24]. On July 31, 2019, the Bank submitted a timely supplemental opposition with an Appraisal Report prepared by Reliant Appraisal that estimates that the value of the Property is $465,000 [Doc. No. 58] (the "Bank Appraisal"). Accordingly, the Bank requests the Court enter an order valuing the Property at no less than $465,000.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no reply is on file.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Section 506(a)(1) provides in relevant part:

An allowed claim of a creditor secured by a lien on property in which the estate has an interest ... is a secured claim to the extent of the value of such creditor's interest in the estate's interest in such property ... and is an unsecured claim to the extent that the value of such creditor's interest ... is less than the amount of such allowed claim. Such value shall be determined in light of the purpose of the valuation and of the proposed disposition or use of such property, and in conjunction with any hearing on such disposition or use or on a plan affecting such creditor's interest.

11 U.S.C. § 506(a)(1).

Based on the Court's review of the competing appraisals, the Court finds the Bank Appraisal slightly more persuasive because it is dated closer in time to plan confirmation and the Debtor Appraisal takes into account repairs that appear to be slightly inflated. For example, the Debtor's Construction Summary contemplates installation of solid maple doors, high-end self-closing drawers and cabinets, and brand-named fixtures, among other things. In other words, it appears that a number of the repairs contemplated by the Construction Summary would upgrade the Property's interior to a level that exceeds the average quality demanded by the market. As a result, the Debtor's inflated repair estimate implies that the Property is in worse condition than it actually is and, in turn, likely resulted in an undervaluing of the Property.

Therefore, the Court finds that for plan treatment purposes, the Property has a value of $465,000.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the Court finds that for plan treatment purposes, the Property has a value of $465,000.

The Bank is directed to lodge a proposed order incorporating this tentative ruling within 7 days of the hearing.

Docket 17

Tentative Ruling:

8/13/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Motion is GRANTED and the Complaint is DISMISSED.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Creditor's Notice of Motion and Motion for Authority to Compromise with Debtor Fabricio Mejia Under Rule 9019 [Doc. No. 17] (the "Motion")
- 2) No opposition to the Motion is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Fabricio Mejia and Ana Gloria Mejia (the "Debtors") filed a voluntary Chapter 7 petition on October 26, 2018. On January 25, 2019, Amy's Pastry, Inc. (the "Plaintiff") filed an Adversary Complaint to Determine Nondischargeability of Debt (Section 523) and Objection to Discharge (Section 727) (the "Complaint") against the Debtors. The Complaint asserts claims under § 523(a)(2)(A) and (a)(6) and § 727(c)(1) and (a)(4)(A). On May 22, 2019, Plaintiff dismissed Debtor/Defendant Ana Gloria Mejia, with prejudice.

Plaintiff moves for approval of a settlement agreement with Debtor/Defendant Fabricio Mejia (the "Settlement Agreement"). The Settlement Agreement was reached in connection with a global mediation that also resolved workers' compensation and wage and hour claims against the Debtors. The Debtors have agreed to pay $8,000 to resolve all issues. Of this amount, $2,500 is attributable to settle the instant Complaint against Debtor/Defendant Fabricio Mejia.

No opposition to the Settlement Agreement has been filed.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Bankruptcy Rule 7041 provides in relevant part: "a complaint objecting to the debtor's discharge shall not be dismissed at the plaintiff's instance without notice to the trustee, the United States trustee, and such other persons as the court may direct, and only on order of the court containing terms and conditions which the court deems proper."

The Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee") and the United States Trustee (the "UST") have received notice of the settlement of the § 727 claims. The Trustee and the UST have not objected to the Settlement Agreement, and have not sought authorization to intervene in the action to continue to prosecute the § 727 claims against Debtor/Defendant Fabricio Mejia.

The Court finds that the Settlement Agreement, under which Debtor/Defendant will pay $2,500 in exchange for dismissal of the § 523 claims, is appropriate. The majority of the wrongful conduct alleged in the Complaint pertains to the § 523 claims, not the § 727 claims. This is not a situation in which the Debtor/Defendant has proffered a settlement payment in order to buy a discharge.

Because no party has sought authorization to intervene to continue to prosecute the § 727 claims, those claims will also be dismissed.

Based upon the foregoing, the Settlement Agreement is APPROVED and the Complaint is DISMISSED. Within seven days of the hearing, Plaintiff shall submit an order incorporating this tentative ruling by reference.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Jessica Vogel or Daniel Koontz at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set on a shortened notice in accordance with this judge's procedures [see Doc. Nos. 12 & 13]. Oppositions, if any, will be considered at the hearing.

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1). The stay is terminated as to the Debtor and the Debtor's bankruptcy estate with respect to the Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns. Movant may enforce its remedies to obtain possession of the property in accordance with applicable law, but may not pursue a deficiency claim against the debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501.

The Movant filed an unlawful detainer action on June 25, 2019.

This Motion has been filed to allow the Movant to proceed with the unlawful detainer proceeding in state court. The unlawful detainer proceeding may go forward because the Debtor's right to possess the premises must be determined. This does not change simply because a bankruptcy petition was filed. See In re Butler, 271 B.R. 867, 876 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2002).

Chapter 11

On June 8, 2018, the Court entered an Order Approving Motion for Structured Dismissal of Chapter 11 Case [Doc. No. 478] (the "Approval Order"). The Approval Order provides that the structured dismissal of the Debtor's Chapter 11 will occur through a two-step process:

- 1) First, within ten days of entry of the Approval Order, the Debtor shall set aside the sum of $3 million (the "Reserve Fund"), to be maintained in the client-trust account of the Debtor's counsel. The Reserve Fund shall be used to pay, among other claims, professional fees, sums owing on account of the Debtor's final tax returns, and outstanding fees owed to the UST.
- 2) Second, upon presentation of evidence by the Liberty Committee that various conditions precedent (the "Conditions Precedent") have been satisfied, the case shall be dismissed.

On February 7, 2019, the United States Trustee (the "UST") filed a motion seeking to dismiss the case, pursuant to § 1112(b) (the "Motion"). The hearing on the Motion was initially set for April 16, 2019, but was continued pursuant to a stipulation between the Debtor and the UST that was approved by the Court. The UST sought dismissal because more than seven months had passed since entry of the Approval Order, and because the Debtor was delinquent on quarterly fees and had not filed its December 2018 Monthly Operating Report.

On June 18, 2019, the Court conducted a hearing on the Motion. At the hearing, the Debtor advised that it was anticipated that all of the Conditions Precedent set forth in the Approval Order would be satisfied shortly, and that the case could be dismissed. The Court ordered the parties to lodge a stipulated order of dismissal and stated that if such an order had not been lodged by this continued hearing date, it reserved the right to levy sanctions.

On August 16, 2019, Bradley D. Sharp, the Plan Administrator under the Confirmed First Amended Chapter 11 Plan of Liquidation Dated January 31, 2018 for Liberty Asset Management Corporation (the "Plan Administrator"), submitted a declaration containing a draft Final Order (1) Dismissing Chapter 11 Case, (2) Dismissing Adversary Proceeding and (3) Approving Distributions to Liberty Asset Management Corporation (the "Final Dismissal Order"). The Plan Administrator states that the Debtor has not responded to his request to provide certain final figures to be included in the Final Dismissal Order.

3, 2015, the Court entered an Order Granting Motion for Final Decree [Main Case, Doc. No. 155] and closed the Debtors' case on March 13, 2015.

On February 23, 2019, the Debtors moved to reopen their case to initiate an adversary proceeding to enforce the provisions of their confirmed Plan, which the Court granted by order entered February 27, 2019 [Main Case, Doc. Nos. 161 & 163]. On February 25, 2019, the case was transferred from Judge Thomas B. Donovan to Judge Ernest M. Robles.

Summary of Complaint

On March 31, 2019, the Debtors initiated this adversary proceeding by filing a complaint against Bank of America National Association ("Bank of America") and Shellpoint Mortgage Servicing LLC ("Shellpoint," and together with Bank of America, the "Defendants") asserting claims for breach of contract, declaratory judgment and injunction [2:19-ap-01079-ER, Adv. Doc. No. 1] (the "Complaint").

The allegations of the Complaint are as follows:

- Pre-petition, the Debtors acquired interests in two parcels of real property: (1) 1123 West 119th Street, Los Angeles, CA 90044 (the "1123 Property"); and (2) 1118 West 119th Street, Los Angeles, CA 90044 (the "1118 Property," and together with the 1123 Property, the "Properties"). Debtors were responsible for making all escrow payments directly after the effective date of the Plan. Id. Paragraph 5b describes the treatment for the 1123 Property and again provides that the Debtors would be responsible for direct payment of escrow fees. Id., ¶ 18.

- Post-petition, Bank of America hired Ditech Financial LLC ("Ditech") to service the mortgage on the 1118 Property and the Debtors began making payments to Ditech. Id., ¶ 19.
- After making more than a year of Plan payments to Ditech, Ditech informed the Debtors that they owed escrow fees of $54,635.64 and corporate advances in the sum of $140,885.45 in connection with the 1118 Property. Id., ¶ 20.
- During the pendency of the Bankruptcy Case, and before the Plan was confirmed, Bank of America appointed Nationstar Mortgage LLC ("Nationstar") to service the mortgage for the 1123 Property and the Debtors began making payments to Nationstar. Id., ¶ 21. In the later part of 2018, Shellpoint informed the Debtors that it was the new servicer of the loan and the Debtors have been making payments to Shellpoint ever since. Id.
- Post-confirmation, despite the fact that they continued making payments in accordance with the Plan, the Debtors received mortgage statements that did not reflect the terms of the confirmed Plan in several respects. Id., ¶ 22.
- The Debtors' attempts to obtain the servicers' compliance with the terms of the Plan have proved abortive. Id., ¶ 22.

In support of the Complaint, the Debtors attached the Plan (Ex. 1) and the Order confirming the Plan (Ex. 2).

Based on the foregoing allegations, the Debtors assert that they are entitled to damages arising from the Defendants' alleged breach of contract ("Claim One"). The Debtors allege that the Plan constituted a written contract between the Debtors and Defendants, that the Debtors have substantially performed all of the terms required of them, that the Defendants breached the contract, and that the Debtors have suffered harm as a result of Defendants' breach.

The Debtors also seek entry of a declaratory judgment in their favor finding that the Defendants are bound by the Plan and ordering the Defendants to comply with the terms of the Plan ("Claim Two").

Chapter 11

Summary of Shellpoint's Motion to Dismiss

On June 7, 2019, Shellpoint moved to dismiss the Complaint without leave to amend pursuant to Rule 12(b)(6) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. First, Shellpoint argues that the Debtors' claims are barred by the doctrine of res judicata. Shellpoint states that this is the Debtors' second attempt to relitigate facts and claims that have already been adjudicated pursuant to a final judgment on the merits. Specifically, Shellpoint states as follows:

- On December 13, 2017, the Debtors filed a First Amended Complaint in the Superior Court of the State of California, County of Riverside (the "State Court") (Case No. RIC1708696) (the "State Court Complaint" or "State Court Action") against, among others, Nationstar Mortgage LLC ("Nationstar") asserting a breach of contract claim for its alleged failure to adhere to the terms of the Debtors' Plan.
- Nationstar appeared as the servicer for the loan in reference to the 1123 Property.
- On August 1, 2018, Nationstar's motion for summary judgment was granted and Nationstar was dismissed from the State Court Case.

Shellpoint further states that on or about December 17, 2018, Nationstar executed an Assignment of Deed of Trust transferring the beneficial interest in the 1123 Property's deed of trust (the "1123 DOT") to Wilmington Savings Fund Society, d/b/a Christiana Trust, as Owner Trustee on Behalf of CSMC 2018-RPL6 Trust ("Wilmington"), and that Shellpoint is the current servicer of the 1123 Property loan. Therefore, Shellpoint argues that the Debtors are barred from asserting the same claims against it because it has privity with Nationstar as the current servicer for Nationstar's successor-in-interest. Shellpoint also argues that issue preclusion applies for similar reasons.

Next, Shellpoint argues that the Complaint fails on the merits. Shellpoint states that on July 11, 2013, Mortgage Electronic Registration Systems, Inc. ("MERS") as nominee for Countrywide Home Loans, Inc. ("Countrywide") executed an Assignment of Deed Trust transferring the beneficial interest in the 1123 DOT to Nationstar and that the Debtors were aware of this transfer because, before filing their Plan, the Debtors entered into a loan modification agreement with Nationstar. However, despite such knowledge, Shellpoint highlights that the Debtors Plan did not classify Nationstar's interest in the 1123 Property and instead continued to list Nationstar's predecessor-in-interest, BAC Home Loans, with respect to any proposed treatment for the 1123 Property. Shellpoint further highlights that the Debtors never notified Nationstar of the bankruptcy case, the Plan, or any other filings within the bankruptcy case. Therefore, Shellpoint argues that the Debtors have failed to identify the existence of a valid enforceable contract against it or otherwise demonstrated that Shellpoint has breached the Plan and caused the Debtors' to incur damages.

Similarly, Shellpoint argues that the Debtors' claim for declaratory relief must also fail because there is no actual or present controversy. Shellpoint also argues that, to the extent the Debtors seek injunctive relief, such claim must also fail because it is a remedy and not a cause of action, and because the Debtors have failed to allege facts demonstrating that they are entitled to such relief.

In support of the Motion to Dismiss, Shellpoint requests the Court take judicial notice of five documents relevant to establishing the applicability of its preclusion arguments and chain of title evidence for the 1123 Property.

Summary of the Debtors' Opposition

The Debtors make the following arguments in opposition to the Motion to Dismiss. First, the Debtors argue that res judicata is not applicable because the State Court Action did not involve a final judgment on the merits with respect to Nationstar. The Debtors request that the Court take judicial notice of relevant pleadings filed in the State Court Action to establish that the State Court's decision to grant Nationstar's motion for summary judgment was based on a limited finding that it lacked jurisdiction over the issues. Therefore, the Debtors argue that there is no preclusive effect.

Next, the Debtors argue that contrary to Shellpoint's contentions, the Complaint does adequately plead the asserted claims for relief because under applicable federal pleading standards, the Debtors were only required to allege claims for relief, not causes of action, statutes or legal theories. Therefore, the Debtors argue that Shellpoint has failed to demonstrate that the Complaint should be dismissed for failure to state a claim under Civil Rule 12(b)(6).

Summary of Shellpoint's Reply

Shellpoint filed a timely reply arguing that the Debtors' Opposition misrepresents the State Court's ruling by arguing that the court dismissed the Complaint on jurisdictional grounds without reaching the merits. Shellpoint acknowledges that the Minute Order has a notation reflecting the parties' discussion on the record about the State Court's jurisdiction, but highlights that the Minute Order also includes the State Court's ultimate findings which states:

Court makes the following orders:

Summary Judgment on 1st Amended Complaint of MIRANDA for Defendant(s) NATIONSTAR MORTGAGE LLC is Granted.

See Debtors' RJN, Ex. C (the "Minute Order").

Shellpoint also highlights that the final order states:

"[a]fter full consideration of the evidence, and the written submissions by the Nationstar and Plaintiffs, the Court finds that there are no triable issues of material fact as to Plaintiffs' First Amended Complaint against Nationstar, and that Nationstar is entitled to judgment as a matter of law."

See Shellpoint RJN, Ex. 2, Judgment in Favor of Defendant Nationstar Mortgage LLC and Against Plaintiffs Sergio Lopez Miranda and Esmeralda Miranda (the "State Court Judgment").

Shellpoint argues that this language is not ambiguous, or only a partial holding, but instead clearly evidences a final ruling on the merits. Finally, Shellpoint highlights that the State Court Judgment provides for Nationstar, as the prevailing party, to recover attorneys' fees and costs and that Nationstar was ultimately awarded its attorneys' fees and costs. Shellpoint argues that under applicable law, Nationstar would not have been considered the "prevailing party" unless the matter was decided on the merits. Therefore, Shellpoint maintains its position that this Court should give full faith and credit to the State Court Judgment and dismiss this Complaint on the grounds that the claims are barred by res judicata.

Chapter 11

Shellpoint also argues that even if this Court rules that neither claim or issue preclusion apply, the Complaint should still be dismissed because the Complaint fails to properly plead sufficient allegations to support the asserted claims for relief and because the Debtors' legal theories fail on the merits.

Summary of the Debtors' Unauthorized Sur-Reply

On July 4, 2019, the Debtors filed an unauthorized sur-reply arguing that, pursuant to California Code of Civil Procedure section 437c(g) [Note 1], the State Court was required to specify its reasons for granting Nationstar's motion for summary judgment. The Debtors argue that the only evidence in the record that explains the State Court's reasoning for granting summary judgment appears in the Minute Order and highlight the State Court's finding that this Bankruptcy Court has exclusive jurisdiction over the matter. See Debtors' RJN, Ex. C.

The Debtors also highlight that in support of Nationstar's request for entry of summary judgment, Nationstar argued that the State Court lacked jurisdiction because this Court retained exclusive jurisdiction. See Debtors' RJN, Exs. A & B. Therefore, the Debtors argue that when considered in connection with the Minute Order, it is clear that the State Court entered judgment in Nationstar's favor based solely on a determination that it lacked jurisdiction. The Debtors also argue that even though the State Court entered judgment in Nationstar's favor, the State Court Judgment is not entitled to preclusive effect so as to bar the claims in this action because the limited jurisdictional finding demonstrates that there was no final judgment on the merits.

The Debtors also argue that the fact that Nationstar was awarded attorneys fees and costs does not establish that the State Court Judgment was on the merits as to the Debtors' claims, but only that Nationstar was the prevailing party on the motion for summary judgment. The Debtors argue that this Court may not draw any unsupported inferences from the State Court's findings and must focus on what the Minute Order and State Court Judgment actually state. Therefore, the Debtors argue that because neither document supports the conclusion that the State Court Judgment was on the merits, Shellpoint's res judicata argument must fail.

With respect to the sufficiency of the Complaint, the Debtors maintain their position that the allegations satisfy applicable pleading standards, but request leave to amend if this Court determines that the Complaint is insufficient.

Order Notifying Parties That Motion to Dismiss Will be Treated as Motion for Summary Judgment

After reviewing the pleadings, including both parties' requests for the Court to take judicial notice of exhibits that go beyond the four corners of the Complaint, the Court issued an order informing the parties that the Motion to Dismiss would be treated as a motion for summary judgment [Adv. Doc. No. 36] (the "Order"). The Order provided the parties the opportunity to submit additional materials for the Court's consideration in connection with the Motion. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b) (made applicable pursuant to Fed. R. Bankr. P. 7012) ("If, on a motion under Rule 12(b) (6) . . . , matters outside the pleadings are presented to and not excluded by the court, the motion must be treated as one for summary judgment under Rule 56. All parties must be given a reasonable opportunity to present all the material that is pertinent to the motion").

Summary of Debtors' Supplemental Opposition

On July 19, 2019, the Debtors timely submitted a supplemental opposition [Adv. Doc. No. 40], a statement of controverted facts and genuine issues of law [Adv. Doc. No. 41], and declarations from Elizabeth Akintimoye [Adv. Doc. No. 42] (the "Akintimoye Decl.") and Sergio and Esmeralda Miranda [Adv. Doc. No. 43] (the "Miranda Decl."). The Supplemental Opposition advances the following arguments: (1) the assignment of the 1123 Property deed of trust from Bank of America to Nationstar is void as a violation of the automatic stay and is an avoidable post-petition transfer pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 549(c); (2) Shellpoint should be equitably estopped from arguing it is not bound by the Plan because (a) Nationstar had both constructive and actual knowledge of the Debtors' Bankruptcy Case, had an obligation to notify the Debtors of its purchase of the 1123 DOT pursuant to 12 U.S.C. § 2605 and Rule 3001(e)(2) of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure, and failed to take any steps to notify them; and (b) Nationstar was served with relevant pleadings before confirmation of the Debtors' Plan and failed to object. Based on the foregoing, the Debtors contend that there are triable issues of material fact on the issue of whether Nationstar had notice of the Bankruptcy Case before the Plan was confirmed and whether it is bound by the Plan.

Summary of Shellpoint's Supplemental Reply

On July 29, 2019, Shellpoint timely submitted a supplemental reply [Adv. Doc. No. 45], a statement of uncontroverted facts [Adv. Doc. No. 46], a declaration from Katisha Gill [Adv. Doc. No. 47] (the "Gill Decl."), and an amended request for judicial notice [Adv. Doc. No. 48]. Shellpoint makes the following arguments: (1) Shellpoint cannot be bound by the Plan or equitably estopped from making that argument because Nationstar was a known creditor during the pendency of the Bankruptcy Case and Debtors failed to identify Nationstar as a creditor in their Plan or provide it with proper notice to participate in the Bankruptcy Case or object to the Plan; (2) even if Nationstar had actual and constructive knowledge of the Bankruptcy Case, it did not have a duty to inject itself into the bankruptcy process and the Debtors still had an obligation to provide formal notice of relevant pleadings; (3) the Debtors have failed to submit admissible evidence establishing that they provided Nationstar with formal notice of relevant confirmation pleadings; and (4) the Debtors have failed to establish as a matter of law that they are entitled to declaratory or injunctive relief.

The Unauthorized Miranda Declaration

On July 30, 2019, the Debtors submitted the Supplemental Declaration of Sergio Miranda in Opposition to the Motion for Summary Judgment by Shellpoint Mortgage Servicing LLC [Adv. Doc. No. 49] (the "Unauthorized Miranda Declaration"), notwithstanding this Court's unambiguous notice to the parties that it would not consider any additional pleadings filed later than the respective dates set forth in the Order [see Adv. Doc. No. 36], and without first requesting the Court's permission. Therefore, the Unauthorized Miranda Declaration is ordered STRICKEN and will not be considered.

notice. The Court considers all of the evidence in the record and reviews such evidence in the light most favorable to the Debtors, as the non-moving parties, with all justifiable inferences drawn in their favor. Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc., 477 U.S. 242, 255, 106 S.Ct. 2505, 91 L.Ed.2d 202 (1986); see also Easley v. City of Riverside, 765 Fed. Appx. 282, 283 (9th Cir. 2019) (same).

B. Applicable Standard

Summary judgment is proper "if the pleadings, depositions, answers to interrogatories, and admissions on file, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact and that the moving party is entitled to a judgment as a matter of law." Fed. R. Civ. P. 56 (incorporated by Bankruptcy Rule 7056); Celotex Corp. v. Catrett, 477 U.S. 317, 323, 106 S.Ct. 2548, 91 L.Ed.2d 265 (1986). The moving party has no burden to negate or disprove matters on which the non-moving party will have the burden of proof at trial. Sluimer v. Verity, Inc., 606 F.3d 584, 586 (9th Cir. 2010). The moving party need only point out to the court that there is an absence of evidence to support the non-moving party's case. Id. (citing Celotex, 477 U.S. at 325). The burden then shifts to the non-moving party to "designate specific facts showing that there is a genuine issue for trial." Id. (citing Celotex, 477 U.S. at 324).

Federal Rule of Civil Procedure ("Rule") 56(c) mandates the entry of summary judgment, after adequate time for discovery and upon motion, against a party who fails to make a showing sufficient to establish the existence of an element essential to that party's case, and on which that party will bear the burden of proof at trial. Celotex, 477 U.S. 317, 322.

C. This Court is Not Persuaded That Res Judicata Applies

Shellpoint argues that the Debtors are precluded from litigating the claims asserted in the Complaint because those claims have already been fully adjudicated in the State Court Action. To determine the preclusive effect of an existing state court judgment, the "bankruptcy court must apply the forum state's law of issue preclusion." Plyam v. Precision Development, LLC (In re Plyam), 530 B.R. 452, 462 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2015). California preclusion law requires that:

1. The issue sought to be precluded from relitigation is identical to that decided in a former proceeding;
2. The issue was actually litigated in the former proceeding;
3. The issue was necessarily decided in the former proceeding;
4. The decision in the former proceeding is final and on the merits; and
5. The party against whom preclusion is sought was the same as, or in privity with, the party to the former proceeding.

Lucido v. Super. Ct., 795 P.2d 1223, 1225 (Cal. 1990).

Even if all five elements are satisfied, preclusion is appropriate "only if application of preclusion furthers the public policies underlying the doctrine." Harmon v. Kobrin (In re Harmon), 250 F.3d 1240, 1245 (9th Cir. 2001) (citing Lucido v. Super. Ct., 795 P.2d at 1225).

In this case, the Court finds that because the State Court Judgment does not contain any specific findings of fact or conclusions of law indicating the basis for entry of Judgment in Nationstar's favor, this Court could only infer that the State Court rejected Nationstar's jurisdictional arguments and agreed with Nationstar's other arguments. While the Court agrees that the State Court's entry of judgment in Nationstar's favor (as opposed to an order dismissing Nationstar) is persuasive evidence that the State Court found in Nationstar's favor on the merits, the record is simply too sparse to conclude that elements 2-4 above are satisfied. This is especially true considering the jurisdictional dialogue referenced in the Minute Order and the absence of a transcript from that hearing.

Therefore, the Court finds that the Debtors are not precluded from litigating the claims asserted in the Complaint on the grounds that the claims are barred by res judicata.

D. The Debtors Have Not Established That Equitable Estoppel Applies

The Debtors argue that under the doctrine of equitable estoppel Shellpoint should be bound by the Plan, notwithstanding the fact that Shellpoint's predecessor-in-interest Nationstar is not identified as a creditor in the Plan, because Nationstar knew of the Debtors' bankruptcy case and failed to inform the Debtors that Bank of America assigned the 1123 DOT to Nationstar. In California, five elements must be present for the doctrine of equitable estoppel to apply:

- (a) a representation or concealment of material facts;
- (b) made with knowledge, actual or virtual, of the facts;
- (c) to a party ignorant, actually and permissibly, of the truth;
- (d) with the intention, actual or virtual, that the ignorant party act on it; and
- (e) that party was induced to act on it.

Simmons v. Ghaderi, 44 Cal. 4th 570, 584, 80 Cal. Rptr. 3d 83, 187 P.3d 934 (2008), citing, 13 Witkin, Summary of California Law, Equity, § 191 at 5270528 (2005). "The party asserting equitable estoppel has the burden of proof." Busching v. Superior Court, 12 Cal.3d 44, 53, 115 Cal. Rptr. 241, 524 P. 2d 369 (1974).

The Court finds that the Debtors cannot satisfy the third element, because the undisputed facts show that the Debtors had reasonable inquiry notice that Nationstar acquired Bank of America's interest in the 1123 Property before the Debtors filed their Plan. See In re Lua, 529 B.R. 766, 776-77 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2015), overruled on other grounds ("The evidence must show that the party asserting equitable estoppel not only lacked actual knowledge of the true facts, but also did not have notice of the facts sufficient to put a reasonably prudent person on inquiry").

First, the Debtors admit that "[o]n 11/27/2013, [they] signed a written loan modification with Nationstar." Miranda Declaration, ¶ 14. Second, the Debtors do not dispute that the loan modification agreement identifies Nationstar as "Lender." Miranda Declaration, ¶ 16 & Ex. F. Although the Debtors assert that they did not have actual knowledge that Nationstar was the lender until much later (Miranda Declaration, ¶ 16), the Court finds that the Debtors were on reasonable inquiry notice of such fact by signing the loan modification agreement. [Note 2]

Additionally, the Court finds that the Debtors were on inquiry notice of Nationstar's interest in the 1123 Property as early as July 11, 2013, when the Assignment of Deed of Trust was recorded (Shellpoint's RJN, Ex. 4), because the filing of a plan of reorganization that purports to modify an interest in property is analogous to a subsequent purchaser acquiring an interest in real property. See Gates Rubber Co. v. Ulman, 214 Cal. App. 3d 356, 364, 262 Cal. Rptr. 630 (1989) (In California, "[t]he act of recording creates a conclusive presumption that a subsequent purchaser has constructive notice of the contents of the previously recorded document").

Therefore, the Debtors cannot establish as a matter of law that when they filed their Plan on December 6, 2013, they were both actually and permissibly ignorant of Nationstar's interest in the 1123 Property. [Note 3]

E. Shellpoint is Entitled to Judgment as a Matter of Law

Turning to the merits, the Court finds that Shellpoint is entitled to judgment as a matter of law. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 56, made applicable by Fed. R. Bankr. P. 7056. "A confirmed plan is a contract, approved by the court, that involves matters of offer, acceptance, performance, and other contract principles." Official Comm. of Unsecured Creditors of Toy King Distribs. v. Liberty Sav. Bank, FSB (In re Toy King Distribs.), 256 B.R. 1, 156-57 (Bankr. M.D. Fla. 2000) (internal citations omitted). "A breach of the confirmed plan is actionable if the responsibility for the breach can be laid at the door of one or more of the defendants . . . because each is a party to the confirmed plan." Id.

The Court finds that the Debtors' breach of contract claim fails as a matter of law because there is no genuine dispute that Shellpoint's predecessor-in-interest, Nationstar, is not listed as a creditor in the Debtors' Plan (Main Case, Doc. No. 103) and therefore cannot be considered a "party" to the confirmed Plan or capable of breaching the Plan. Accordingly, Shellpoint is entitled to judgment in its favor with respect to the Debtors' breach of contract claim.

Additionally, because the Debtors have not established as a matter of law that Shellpoint is bound by the Plan, the Court will also enter judgment in Shellpoint's favor on the Debtors' second claim for relief for declaratory and injunctive relief.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the Court will enter summary judgment in Shellpoint's favor.

Shellpoint is directed to submit a proposed order, incorporating the tentative

Note 1: California Code of Civil Procedure section 437c(g) provides, in relevant part: ". . . Upon the grant of a motion for summary judgment on the ground that there is no triable issue of material fact, the court shall, by written or oral order, specify the reasons for its determination. The order shall specifically refer to the evidence proffered in support of and, if applicable, in opposition to the motion that indicates no triable issue exists. The court shall also state its reasons for any other determination. The court shall record its determination by court reporter or written order."

Note 2: The Debtors argue that the loan modification agreement is void because it was done without the approval of the bankruptcy court, in violation of the automatic stay, and because Nationstar did not discuss the terms of the agreement with the Debtors' attorney. Miranda Declaration, ¶ 15. However, none of these arguments are relevant to whether the Debtors had constructive notice of Nationstar's interest in the 1123 Property and it is immaterial to the instant dispute whether the loan modification agreement is valid.

Note 3: The parties dispute whether Nationstar was aware of the Debtors' bankruptcy case, whether it received adequate notice of the Debtors' proposed Plan, and whether it had any legal obligation to give notice of the assignment of deed of trust or otherwise participate in the bankruptcy process. The Debtors even attach a declaration from Elizabeth Akintimoye, who states that in her role as a volunteer paralegal she specifically remembers mailing relevant plan confirmation documents to Nationstar [Adv. Doc. No. 42, ¶¶ 5-7]. However, because the Debtors are unable to satisfy the third prong of the equitable estoppel test, the Court finds that these factual and legal disputes are not material to the outcome of this motion. While some of the Debtors arguments, if true, may give rise to other claims for relief, they do not create triable issues of material fact relevant to the claims asserted in the Complaint because the Debtors have not otherwise carried their burden of proof as to the applicability of equitable estoppel.

The Debtors also argue, without adequate support, that the recording of their bankruptcy petition defeats the subsequent assignment of the deed of trust by Bank of America to Nationstar and renders the assignment void as a violation of the automatic stay. There is no merit to the Debtors' contention that the assignment of the 1123 DOT violated the automatic stay and, more importantly, such contention is not material to whether the Debtors received actual or constructive notice of the assignment.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Sergio Miranda and Esmeralda Miranda (together, the "Debtors") filed a voluntary chapter 11 petition (the "Bankruptcy Case" or "Main Case") on April 24, 2013 (the "Petition Date") [2:13-bk-20738-TD]. On December 6, 2013, the Debtors filed their Chapter 11 Plan of Reorganization [Main Case Doc. No. 103] (the "Plan"). On August 7, 2014, the Debtors obtained an Order Confirming Chapter 11 Plan of Reorganization [Main Case, Doc. No. 139] (the "Confirmation Order"). On February 3, 2015, the Court entered an Order Granting Motion for Final Decree [Doc. No. 155] and closed the Debtors' case on March 13, 2015.

On February 23, 2019, the Debtors moved to reopen their case to initiate an adversary proceeding to enforce the provisions of their confirmed Plan, which the Court granted by order entered February 27, 2019 [Doc. Nos. 161 & 163]. On February 25, 2019, the case was transferred from Judge Thomas B. Donovan to Judge Ernest M. Robles.

Summary of Complaint

On March 31, 2019, the Debtors initiated an adversary proceeding by filing a complaint against Bank of America National Association ("Bank of America") and Shellpoint Mortgage Servicing LLC ("Shellpoint," and together with Bank of America, the "Defendants") asserting claims for breach of contract, declaratory judgment and injunction [2:19-ap-01079-ER, Adv. Doc. No. 1] (the "Complaint").

The allegations of the Complaint are as follows:

- Pre-petition, the Debtors acquired interests in two parcels of real property: (1) 1123 West 119th Street, Los Angeles, CA 90044 (the "1123 Property"); and (2) 1118 West 119th Street, Los Angeles, CA 90044 (the "1118 Property," and the Plan have proved abortive. Id., ¶ 22.

In support of the Complaint, the Debtors attached the Plan (Ex. 1) and the Order confirming the Plan (Ex. 2).

Based on the foregoing allegations, the Debtors assert that they are entitled to damages arising from the Defendants' alleged breach of contract ("Claim One"). The Debtors allege that the Plan constituted a written contract between the Debtors and Defendants, that the Debtors have substantially performed all of the terms required of them, that the Defendants breached the contract, and that the Debtors have suffered harm as a result of Defendants' breach.

The Debtors also seek entry of a declaratory judgment in their favor finding that the Defendants are bound by the Plan and ordering the Defendants to comply with the terms of the Plan ("Claim Two").

Summary of Bank of America's Motion to Dismiss

On April 24, 2019, Bank of America moved to dismiss the Complaint, without leave to amend pursuant to Rule 12(b)(6) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. First, Bank of America states that it cannot have been bound by the Debtors' Plan because it was neither a servicer nor lender of either loan for the Properties at the time the Debtors' Plan was confirmed because, prior to confirmation, Assignments of Deeds of Trust were executed and recorded conveying Bank of America's rights to third parties. In support of this argument, Bank of America requests the Court take judicial notice of twelve documents relevant to establishing that it assigned its rights away prior to confirmation of the Debtors' Plan. Therefore, Bank of America argues that the Debtors' breach of contract claims must fail because the Plan did not create a contract between the Debtors and Bank of America. Alternatively, Bank of America contends that dismissal is appropriate because the Complaint fails to adequately state a claim for relief because it fails to adequately set forth what Bank of America failed to perform that subjects it to a breach of contract claim.

With respect to Claim Two, Bank of America argues that because the Debtors cannot succeed on their breach of contract claim against it, the Debtors' request for declaratory and injunctive relief must also be dismissed because they are not independent claims that can stand alone.

Bank of America also highlights that this is the Debtors' second attempt to hold it accountable for the alleged breach of contract claim. More specifically, Bank of America states that on May 12, 2017, the Debtors filed a lawsuit in state court against Bank of America, Ditech, and Nationstar. However, Ditech filed a demurrer which was sustained without leave to amend, Nationstar obtained judgment in its favor pursuant to a motion for summary judgment, and Bank of America was dismissed on August 8, 2018 pursuant to its request for dismissal.

Summary of the Debtors' Opposition

The Debtors make the following arguments in opposition to the Motion to Dismiss. First, the Debtors argue that the motion should be dismissed because Bank of America only served Debtors' counsel with the motion and failed to serve the Debtors directly as required by Local Bankruptcy Rule ("LBR") 9013-1(d)(1). Next, the Debtors argue that Bank of America is precluded from challenging the Confirmation Order under the principle of res judicata because it received notice of the Debtors' solicitation package and could have raised these arguments in opposition to plan confirmation. The Debtors also argue that Bank of America has not presented any evidence demonstrating that it transferred the underlying promissory notes along with the deeds of trust and, as a result, the alleged transfers may not have been legally effective.

The Debtors further argue that even if Bank of America legally assigned its rights away before the Plan was confirmed, it was still bound by the Plan because it had a full and fair opportunity to object and it failed to do so. The Debtors also appear to argue that Bank of America's argument that it assigned its interests away pre-confirmation is an affirmative defense and that raising that defense in connection with its Rule 12(b)(6) motion is not procedurally proper.

Next, the Debtors argue that to the extent Bank of America is attempting to assert that res judicata precludes the Debtors from pursuing their claims against it in this action because of its dismissal from the state court action, such argument must fail because the dismissal was without prejudice. Finally, the Debtors argue that the Complaint contains sufficient allegations to adequately plead claims for relief for breach of contract and declaratory relief because of the liberal pleading rules in federal courts.

The Debtors also raise a number of objections to Bank of America's request for judicial notice to the extent that it seeks to introduce the requested documents for the truth of the facts contained within those documents and objects to Exhibits I and J on the basis that those documents lack relevance with the matters at issue in this case.

Summary of Bank of America's Reply in Support of its Motion to Dismiss

Bank of America filed a reply responding to the Debtors' arguments as follows. First, Bank of America maintains that its service of the motion was proper under applicable local rules. Second, Bank of America argues that res judicata is inapplicable because it is illogical to argue that it is bound by a Plan that affects property it had no legal interest or rights in just because the Debtors mistakenly listed it as the holder of the secured claims in its Plan. Bank of America also argues that the Debtors cannot satisfy a necessary res judicata element because there was no prior action between Bank of America and the Debtors.

Next, Bank of America states that it does not seek to have this Complaint dismissed on the grounds that it was previously dismissed from the state court action and that it was simply highlighting the Debtors' litigation history to provide further support for the baseless claims the Debtors are presently asserting against it. Finally, Bank of America reiterates that the allegations in the Complaint fail to adequately state claims for relief.

Bank of America also filed a response to the Debtor's objection to its request for judicial notice setting forth the basis for why the Debtors' objection should be overruled.

Order Notifying Parties that Motion to Dismiss Will be Treated as Motion for Summary Judgment for summary judgment [Adv. Doc. No. 15] (the "Order"). The Order provided the parties the opportunity to submit additional materials for the Court's consideration in connection with the Motion. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b) (made applicable pursuant to Fed. R. Bankr. P. 7012) ("If, on a motion under Rule 12(b)(6) . . . , matters outside the pleadings are presented to and not excluded by the court, the motion must be treated as one for summary judgment under Rule 56. All parties must be given a reasonable opportunity to present all the material that is pertinent to the motion"). The deadline to submit additional materials was June 19, 2019.

Summary of Bank of America's Supplemental Declaration

On June 12, 2019, Bank of America submitted the declaration Susan E. Magaddino, Assistant Vice President of Bank of America [Adv. Doc. No. 23] (the "Magaddino Declaration" or "Magaddino Decl."), which attached additional evidence in support of the motion. In addition to referring to the documents filed with its request for judicial notice, Bank of America also attached, among other things, pre-confirmation date letters from Bank of America to the Debtors informing them that the servicing of the respective loans for the Properties were being transferred to new servicers [Adv. Doc. No. 23, Ex. 2 & 3].

Summary of the Debtors' Supplemental Opposition

On June 19, 2019, the Debtors filed a supplemental opposition responding to the Magaddino Declaration [Adv. Doc. No. 24] (the "Supplemental Opposition"). The Debtors' Supplemental Opposition does not contain any additional evidence for the Court's consideration. Instead, the Debtors repeat their contention that Bank of America has not presented sufficient evidence establishing that it was not bound by the Plan because there is no evidence that Bank of America transferred the underlying promissory notes along with the deeds of trust.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

A. The Debtors Have Not Been Denied Due Process

As a preliminary matter, the Court finds that the Debtors have not been denied due process by not being individually served with the Motion to Dismiss because they had a full and fair opportunity to respond to the motion. Furthermore, the Debtors were notified of the Court's intention to convert the Motion to Dismiss into a motion for summary judgment and submitted a timely Supplemental Opposition.

B. Request for Judicial Notice

In view of the Court's conversion of the Motion to Dismiss into a motion for summary judgment, the Court need not rule on the parties' dispute over whether and to what extent this Court may grant Bank of America's requests for judicial notice. Instead, the Court considers all of the evidence in the record and reviews such evidence in the light most favorable to the Debtors, as the non-moving parties, with all justifiable inferences drawn in their favor. Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc., 477 U.S. 242, 255, 106 S.Ct. 2505, 91 L.Ed.2d 202 (1986); see also Easley v. City of Riverside, 765 Fed. Appx. 282, 283 (9th Cir. 2019) (same).

C. Applicable Standard

Summary judgment is proper "if the pleadings, depositions, answers to interrogatories, and admissions on file, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact and that the moving party is entitled to a judgment as a matter of law." Fed. R. Civ. P. 56 (incorporated by Bankruptcy Rule 7056); Celotex Corp. v. Catrett, 477 U.S. 317, 323, 106 S.Ct. 2548, 91 L.Ed.2d 265 (1986). The moving party has no burden to negate or disprove matters on which the non-moving party will have the burden of proof at trial. Sluimer v. Verity, Inc., 606 F.3d 584, 586 (9th Cir. 2010). The moving party need only point out to the court that there is an absence of evidence to support the non-moving party's case. Id. (citing Celotex, 477 U.S. at 325). Federal Rule of Civil Procedure ("Rule") 56(c) mandates the entry of summary judgment, after adequate time for discovery and upon motion, against a party who fails to make a showing sufficient to establish the existence of an element essential to that party's case, and on which that party will bear the burden of proof at trial. Celotex, 477 U.S. 317, 322.

Chapter 11

1. The Debtors Lack Standing to Challenge the Effectiveness of Bank of America's Assignments

The Debtors challenge the validity of Bank of America's assignment of its interests in the relevant loans to Green Tree and Nationstar on the grounds that Bank of America has not produced any evidence to establish that it assigned the promissory notes along with the deeds of trust. Because the Debtors lack standing to challenge the efficacy of the assignments, this argument fails. [Note 1]

Generally, "third parties do not have enforceable contract rights unless they are intended beneficiaries." Dicion v. Mann Mortg., LLC, 718 F. App'x 476, 478 (9th Cir. 2017). Accordingly, a third-party borrower lacks standing to challenge the effectiveness of an assignment unless the assignment is void, as opposed to voidable. Id.; see also Banares v. Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., 2014 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 29909, 2014 WL 985532, at *5 (N.D. Cal. Mar. 7, 2014). In Barnes, the court determined that violations of a purchase and sale agreement – such as failing to assign the deed of trust or endorse the note – rendered the assignment of a mortgage voidable, and not void. 2014 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 29909, at *5 (rejecting Glaski v. Bank of America, N.A., 218 Cal. App. 4th 1079, 160 Cal. Rptr. 3d 449 (2013)); see also Christie v. Bank of New York Mellon, N.A., 617 Fed. Appx. 680, 681 (9th Cir. 2015) (As a borrower, Christie does not have standing under California law to challenge irregularities in the assignment of her Note or Deed of Trust because those instruments are negotiable and her obligations thereunder remain unchanged even if her creditor changes). In this case, the Debtors' challenges to the relevant assignments would render the assignments voidable, not void. Therefore, the Debtors have not demonstrated that they have standing to attack the assignments on this basis.

Similarly, the Debtors lack standing to assert that the assignments were defective because Bank of America has not established that MERS was authorized to assign Bank of America's rights under the respective promissory notes. See e.g., Dicion v. Mann Mortg., LLC, 718 F. App'x 476, 478 (9th Cir. 2017) ("A challenge to the validity of an assignment based on the executor's lack of authority would make the assignment voidable, not void"); Paik-Apau, 2012 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 151397, 2012 WL 5207495, at *5 ("Paik-Apau's challenges to the assignments of her loan go to whether those assignments are voidable, as she argues that persons or entities lacked authority to assign the loan documents. She lacks standing to make those challenges"); Deutsche Bank Tr. Co. v. Beesley, 2012 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 156838, 2012 WL 5383555, at *6 (D. Haw. Oct. 30, 2012) ("Nor do the Beesleys create standing to contest the validity of the assignments by questioning the power of any person or entity making the assignments"); Siliga v. Mortgage Electronic Registration Sys. (2013) 219 Cal. App. 4th 75 (holding that borrower could not challenge MERS's authority to assign note and deed of trust when language of deed of trust expressly permitted MERS to exercise all rights and interests of lender, which necessarily included authority to assign).

This Court is aware of the California Supreme Court's decision, Yvanova v. New Century Mortg. Corp., in which the court held that a "home loan borrower has standing to claim a nonjudicial foreclosure was wrongful because an assignment by which the foreclosing party purportedly took a beneficial interest in the deed of trust was not merely voidable but void, depriving the foreclosing party of any legitimate authority to order a trustee's sale." 62 Cal. 4th 919, 942-43, 199 Cal. Rptr. 3d 66, 365 P.3d 845 (2016). However, the Yvanova court expressly limited its application to instances in which a borrower has suffered injury arising from a nonjudicial foreclosure. Id. at 924. Furthermore, since Yvanova's ruling, "courts have confirmed that the decision is expressly limited to the post-foreclosure context," which makes it inapplicable to the facts of this case. Watson v. Bank of Am., N.A., 2016 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 154375, at *46-49 (S.D. Cal. Nov. 7, 2016) (citing Saterbak v. JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A., 245 Cal. App. 4th 808, 815, 199 Cal. Rptr. 3d 790 (2016) (borrower lacked standing to challenge cancellation of assignment of deed of trust prior to a foreclosure and because the allegations render the assignment voidable, not void)).

Moreover, the Yvanova court stated that its ruling was predicated on its "concern[] only with prejudice in the sense of an injury sufficiently concrete and personal to provide standing" and concluded that a borrower meets the general standard for standing to sue by showing an invasion of his or her legally protected interest. 62 Cal. 4th at 937-38. In this case, the Debtors have not established that their alleged injuries stem from the purportedly ineffective assignments. For example, the Debtors do not assert that both Bank of America and the assignees of the loans have attempted to collect under the loans or that they have suffered a wrongful foreclosure. Rather, it appears the Debtors' prejudice, if any, is entirely one of their own making as a result of their failure to properly name Green Tree and Nationstar in their Plan or later seek to amend the Plan to name those parties. Therefore, the Court finds that the Debtors have not alleged any harm, injury or prejudice "sufficiently concrete and personal to provide standing" to challenge the assignments. Yvanova, 62 Cal. 4th at 937.

2. The Debtors are Estopped From Challenging the Effectiveness of Bank of America's Assignment to Green Tree

The Court also finds that the Debtors are estopped from challenging the effectiveness of the assignment from Bank of America to Green Tree with respect to the 1118 Property. The doctrine of judicial estoppel "generally prevents a party from prevailing in one phase of a case on an argument and then relying on a contradictory argument to prevail in another phase." New Hampshire v. Maine, 532 U.S. 742, 749, 121 S. Ct. 1808, 1814, 149 L. Ed. 2d 968 (2001).

As Bank of America highlights, on June 20, 2013, almost six months before the Debtors filed the Plan, Green Tree file a Notice of Transfer of Claim [Main Case, Doc. No. 46] giving the Debtors notice of Bank of America's assignment of its interests in the 1118 Property. The Debtors subsequently acknowledged Green Tree as the legal assignee by entering into a Stipulation Re: Treatment of Creditor's Claim Under Debtors' Chapter 11 Plan of Reorganization with Green Tree [Main Case, Doc. No. 113] (the "Green Tree Stipulation"), which this Court also approved [Main Case, Doc. No. 117]. The Green Tree Stipulation provides, in relevant part:

The terms of this Stipulation may not be modified, altered, or changed by the Debtors' Chapter 11 Plan; any subsequently filed amended or modified Chapter 11 Plan of Reorganization or any order on the foregoing without the express written consent of the Creditor. The above terms of this Stipulation shall be incorporated into the Debtors' Chapter 11 Plan and/or any subsequently filed amended or modified Chapter 11 Plan and confirmation order thereon. In the event of a conflict between a term or provisions of this Stipulation and Debtors' Chapter 11 Plan, or any amendments or modifications thereto, the terms of this Stipulation shall control.

Chapter 11

Therefore, despite the fact that the Debtors' Plan identifies Bank of America as the holder of the Class 5(a) claim [Main Case, Doc No. 103], any reference to Bank of America was effectively replaced by the relevant provisions of the Green Tree Stipulation. Furthermore, based on this Court's independent review of relevant documents filed in the main case, the Court notes that Green Tree was the only impaired creditor to cast ballots in favor of the Debtors' Plan and, without Green Tree's votes, the Debtors would not have obtained confirmation of their Plan [See Main Case, Doc. Nos. 134, 135 & 136].

Based on the foregoing, the Court finds that the Debtors are estopped from now taking the contradictory position that Bank of America's assignment was ineffective – i.e. that Green Tree did not have the authority to take any legal actions with respect to the 1118 Property – to gain a tactical advantage against Bank of America in this action. The Court also notes the absurdity in this argument because if the Green Tree assignment was ineffective, then the Confirmation Order must be vacated and there would no longer be any binding Plan that could support the Debtors' breach of contract claim in this action.

For the same reasons, the Court finds that the Debtors have waived and forfeited any rights to challenge the effectiveness of the 1118 Property assignment.

3. Res Judicata is Inapplicable

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1141(a), ". . .the provisions of a confirmed plan bind the debtor . . . any entity acquiring property under the plan, and any creditor . . . whether or not the claim or interest of such creditor . . . is impaired under the plan and whether or not such creditor . . . has accepted the plan." "Once a bankruptcy plan is confirmed, it is binding on all parties and all questions that could have been raised pertaining to the plan are entitled to res judicata effect." Trulia v. Barton, 107 F.3d 685 (9th Cir. 1995).

In this case, the undisputed facts demonstrate that Bank of America ceased to be a creditor of the Debtors' prior to the filing, and confirmation, of the Plan. Accordingly, the Court rejects the Debtors' contention that the Plan should be afforded a res judicata effect to bar Bank of America from raising this issue because the argument incorrectly presupposes that Bank of America was a creditor or party-in-interest that could be bound by the Plan, despite having no interest legal or equitable interest in the property dealt with by the Plan.

4. Bank of America is Entitled to Judgment as a Matter of Law

Turning to the merits, the Court finds that Bank of America is entitled to judgment as a matter of law. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 56, made applicable by Fed. R. Bankr. P. 7056. Based on this Court's review of the relevant pleadings and evidence, the Court finds there can be no genuine dispute as to the following material facts:

[Main Case Doc. Nos. 113, 117].

xiii. Green Tree cast the only ballots in favor of the Debtors Plan [Main Case, Doc. Nos. 134, 135 & 136].

xiv. On August 7, 2014, the Court entered an Order Confirming the Debtors' Plan [Main Case, Doc. No. 139].

The Debtors claim that Bank of America was bound by the terms of their confirmed Plan and subsequently breached those terms by sending them mortgage statements that do not reflect the terms of the confirmed Plan. However, the evidence before the Court, submitted by Bank of America, establishes that Bank of America was neither the holder of the notes and deeds of trust for the Properties, nor the servicers of the loans as of the date the Debtors obtained confirmation of their Plan. Despite being afforded an opportunity, the Debtors have not responded with any evidence to controvert Bank of America's evidence. Therefore, on this record, the Court finds that Bank of America was not bound by the Plan because it had no legal or equitable interest in the property dealt with by the Plan.

Accordingly, the Bank is entitled to judgment in its favor with respect to the Debtors' breach of contract claim. Furthermore, because the Debtors have not established as a matter of law that Bank of America was bound by the Plan, the Court will also enter judgment in favor of Bank of America on the Debtors' second claim for relief for declaratory and injunctive relief.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the Court will enter summary judgment in Bank of America's favor.

Bank of America is directed to submit an order indicating that judgment has been granted in its favor within seven days of the hearing.

Reorganization (Second Amended) [Doc. No. 125] (the "Confirmation Brief")

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Debtor and Debtor-in-possession, Dwight Stephens (the "Debtor"), filed this voluntary chapter 11 case on March 21, 2018 (the "Petition Date"). The Debtor now seeks confirmation of his Second Amended Individual Debtor's Chapter 11 Plan of Reorganization [Doc. No. 114] (the "Plan"). No objections to confirmation are on file.

Summary of the Plan

Administrative Claims

The Debtor anticipates that administrative fees for professionals will be approximately $28,700 as of the effective date. The Debtor proposes to pay all allowed administrative claims in full, on the effective date, from the Debtor's fully exempt retirement account, unless other arrangements are made with the Debtor's professionals for deferred payments.

Priority Tax Claims

i. Los Angeles County Tax Collector (the "LACTC"): The Debtor proposes to pay the LACTC's priority claim of $113.25 in full on the effective date and to pay the LACTC's secured claim of $2,735.42 in full, plus 18% interest, by making 24 equal monthly installments of $146.33/mo, beginning July 2019 and continuing through June 2021.

ii. Internal Revenue Service (the "IRS"): The Debtor proposes to pay the IRS's priority tax claim of $1,901 in full, plus 5% interest, by making equal monthly installments of $85.11/mo beginning October 2019 and continuing through September 2021.

Class 2(c) – Secured Claim of Benito Barbosa ("Mr. Barbosa") – Accepts the Plan

Pursuant to the Court approved Barbosa Stipulation, Class 2(c) consists of the $200,000 secured claim of Mr. Barbosa against certain of the Debtor's assets described in the stipulation [Doc. Nos. 110 & 112]. The Debtor will pay this claim in full without interest by making (i) monthly payments over the duration of the Plan; (ii) a one-time payment of $45,000 on or near the Effective Date; and (iii) a one-time payment of $115,000 on or before the one-year anniversary of the Effective Date.

The remainder of Mr. Barbosa's claim is separately classified as an unsecured claim in Class 6(c), discussed below.

Mr. Barbosa's claim is impaired, and he has voted to accept the Plan.

Class 6(a) – General Unsecured Claims – Unimpaired (Deemed to Accept)

Class 6(a) includes any allowed unsecured claims of $100 or less and any allowed unsecured claim larger than $100 but whose holder agrees to reduce its claim to $100. Each member of this class will receive 100% of the allowed claim on the effective date. This class is unimpaired and not entitled to vote on the Plan. However, the Debtor's Confirmation Brief states that no there are no creditors in this class.

Class 6(b) – General Unsecured Claims – Accepts the Plan

Pursuant to the Court approved Class 6(b) consists of all allowed general unsecured claim not in Class 6(a) and not entitled to priority. The Debtor proposes to pay creditors in this class at least 30% of their claims over a period of 5 years with 0% interest.

This class is impaired and voted to accept the Plan.

Class 6(c) – Unsecured of Claim of Mr. Barbosa – Accepts the Plan

Pursuant to the Barbosa Stipulation, Class 6(c) consists of the Mr. Barbosa's unsecured claim of $1,939,530.42. This class will receive $0.00.

This class is fully impaired, but Mr. Barbosa has voted to accept the Plan.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

As set forth below, the Court finds that the Plan complies with all applicable provisions of § 1129. The is confirmed.

Chapter 11

Section 1129(a)(1) requires that the "plan compl[y] with the applicable provisions of this title." According to the leading treatise, the "legislative history suggests that the applicable provisions are those governing the plan's internal structure and drafting: 'Paragraph (1) requires that the plan comply with the applicable provisions of chapter 11, such as section 1122 and 1123, governing classification and contents of a plan.'" Collier on Bankruptcy ¶ 1129.01[1] (16th rev'd ed.) (citing S. Rep. No. 989, 95th Cong., 2d Sess. 126 (1978)).

1. Section 1122(a)

Section 1122(a) provides that "a plan may place a claim or an interest in a particular class only if such claim or interest is substantially similar to the other claims or interests of such class."

The Plan's classification structure complies with § 1122(a). The Plan contains one secured creditor class, a convenience class of general unsecured creditors, a class of general unsecured creditors, and a separate class of the general unsecured claim of Mr. Barbosa. The Debtor represents that there are no creditors taking part in the convenience class. Furthermore, Mr. Barbosa has stipulated to the separate classification of his general unsecured claim from other general unsecured claims and agreed to receive less favorable treatment.

2. Section 1122(b)

Section 1122(b) provides that "a plan may designate a separate class of claims consisting only of every unsecured claim that is less than or reduced to an amount that the court approves as reasonable and necessary for administrative convenience."

The Plan designates a convenience class of general unsecured creditors as Class 6(a), but the Debtor represents that no creditors have elected to participate in this class. Accordingly, § 1122(b) does not apply. In the event any general unsecured creditor tardily elects to participate in this class, the Court finds the proposed treatment for Class 6(a) comports with § 1122(b).

3. Section 1123(a)(1)

Section 1123(a)(1) requires that a plan "designate ... classes of claims, other than claims of a kind specified in section 507(a)(2) [administrative expense claims], 507(a)(3) [claims arising during the gap period in an involuntary case], or 507(a)(8) [priority tax claims], and classes of interest."

The Plan appropriately designates classes of claims and interests. The Plan satisfies § 1123(a)(1).

4. Section 1123(a)(2)

Section 1123(a)(2) requires that the Plan "specify any class of claims or interests that is not impaired under the Plan."

The Plan specifies that Class 6(a) is unimpaired and that all other classes are impaired. The Plan satisfies § 1123(a)(2).

5. Section 1123(a)(3)

Section 1123(a)(3) requires that the Plan "specify the treatment of any class of claims or interests that is impaired under the Plan."

The Plan specifies the treatment of all impaired classes. The Plan satisfies § 1123(a)(3).

6. Section 1123(a)(4)

Section 1123(a)(4) requires that the Plan "provide the same treatment for each claim or interest of a particular class unless the holder of a particular claim or interest agrees to a less favorable treatment of such particular claim or interest."

The Plan provides the same treatment to claims and interests of the same class. The Plan satisfies § 1123(a)(4).

7. Section 1123(a)(5)

Section 1123(a)(5) requires that the Plan "provide adequate means for the plan's implementation."

The Plan will be funded from the following sources:

- i. Approximately $4,000 - $5,000 cash available as of the confirmation hearing;
- ii. Reverse Mortgage of real property located at 5337 S. Verdun Avenue, Los Angeles, CA 90043. The Debtor anticipates the reverse mortgage will produce $55,000 during month 1 of the Plan and an additional $115,000 in month 13.

- iv. Future disposable income for 5 years. The Debtor anticipates having approximately $1,131 net future income available to be able to make the proposed plan payments, which the Debtor anticipates will increase to $1,432/month starting in April 2020 once the Debtor's non-filing spouse finishes paying off her car. The source of the Debtor's monthly income is from the Debtor's draw from his podiatry practice, his social security income, lump sum contributions from the Debtor's non-filing spouse, and monthly contributions from the Debtor's non-filing spouse's income.

The Debtor submitted evidence in support the Disclosure Statement for the following funding sources to support a finding that they provide an adequate means for the Plan's implementation. The Plan satisfies § 1123(a)(5).

8. Section 1123(a)(6)

Section 1123(a)(6) provides: "[A] plan shall provide for the inclusion in the charter of the debtor, if the debtor is a corporation ..., of a provision prohibiting the issuance of nonvoting equity securities, and providing, as to the several classes of securities possessing voting power, an appropriate distribution of such power among such classes, including, in the case of any class of equity securities having a preference over another class of equity securities with respect to dividends, adequate provisions for the election of directors representing such preferred class in the event of default in the payment of such dividends."

The Debtor is an individual. Section 1123(a)(6) does not apply.

9. Section 1123(a)(7)

Section 1123(a)(7) requires that the Plan's provisions with respect to the selection of officers and directors be consistent with public policy and the interests of creditors and equity security holders.

The Debtor is an individual. Section 1123(a)(7) does not apply.

10. Section 1123(a)(8)

Section 1123(a)(8) was added to the Bankruptcy Code to provide that, to be confirmable, an individual debtor's plan must provide for the payment to creditors of all or such portion of earnings from personal services or other future income of the debtor. The Plan provides for the payment of a portion of the Debtor's future income to creditors. The Plan satisfies § 1123(a)(8).

11. Section 1123(b)

Section 1123(b) sets forth provisions that are permitted, but not required in a plan of reorganization. The Plan appropriately implements some of § 1123(b)'s optional provisions. The Plan complies with § 1123(b).

SECTION 1129(a)(2)

Section 1129(a)(2) requires that the "proponent of the plan compl[y] with the applicable provisions of this title." The Court finds that the Debtor has:

- 1) Obtained Court approval of a Disclosure Statement in accordance with § 1125 (see Order Approving Second Amended Disclosure Statement in Support of Second Amended Plan of Reorganization [Doc. No. 119]);
- 2) Obtained Court approval of the employment of professional persons (see Doc. Nos. 18 & 78);
- 3) Obtained Court approval for the Debtor to further encumber community property to facilitate a reverse mortgage [Doc. No. 102]; and
- 4) Filed monthly operating reports.

Accordingly, the Debtor has satisfied the requirements of § 1129(a)(2).

SECTION 1129(a)(3)

Section 1129(a)(3) requires that the "plan has been proposed in good faith and not by any means forbidden by law." As one court has explained:

The term 'good faith' in the context of 11 U.S.C. § 1129(a)(3) is not statutorily defined but has been interpreted by case law as referring to a plan that 'achieves a result consistent with the objectives and purposes of the Code.' 'The requisite good faith determination is based on the totality of the circumstances.'

In re Melcher, 329 B.R. 865, 876 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. 2005) (internal citations omitted).

The Plan seeks objectives that are consistent with those of the Bankruptcy Code and the Debtor has complied with the requirements of the Code throughout this case. Under Fed. R. Bankr. P. 3015(f), the Court is not required to receive evidence as to good faith because no party has objected to confirmation. The Plan satisfies § 1129(a)(3).

SECTION 1129(a)(4)

Section 1129(a)(4) requires that "[a]ny payment made or to be made by the proponent, by the debtor, or by a person issuing securities or acquiring property under the plan, for services or for costs and expenses in or in connection with the case, or in connection with the plan and incident to the case, has been approved by, or is subject to the approval of, the court as reasonable."

The Plan provides for Court approval of all professional fees. See Plan at I.A. The Plan satisfies § 1129(a)(4).

SECTION 1129(a)(5)

Section 1129(a)(5) requires that the Plan disclose "the identity and affiliations of any individual proposed to serve, after confirmation of the Plan, as a director, officer, or voting trustee of the debtor, an affiliate of the debtor participating in a joint Plan with the debtor, or a successor to the debtor under the Plan." Section 1129(a)(5)(A)(ii) requires that the appointment to or continuation in office of a director or officer be consistent with the interests of creditors, equity security holders, and public policy. Section 1129(a)(5)(B) requires the Plan proponent to disclose the identity of any insider to be employed by the reorganized debtor.

The Debtor is an individual. Section 1129(a)(5) does not apply.

SECTION 1129(a)(6)

Section 1129(a)(6), which requires that a governmental regulatory commission with jurisdiction over rates charged by a debtor approve any rate changes provided for in the plan, does not apply.

SECTION 1129(a)(7)

Section 1129(a)(7), known as the "best interests of creditors test," provides in relevant part: "With respect to each impaired class of claims or interests, each holder of a claim or interest of such class has accepted the plan; or will receive or retain under the plan on account of such claim or interest property of a value, as of the effective date of the plan, that is not less than the amount that such holder would so receive or retain if the debtor were liquidated under chapter 7 of this title on such date."

Classes 2(c), 6(b), and 6(c) have accepted the Plan. Class 6(a) is unimpaired and deemed to accept the Plan. Accordingly, all classes have either accepted the Plan or will receive treatment that is no less favorable than they would receive under Chapter 7. The Plan satisfies § 1129(a)(7).

SECTION 1129(a)(8)

Section 1129(a)(8) requires each class to accept the Plan, unless the class is not impaired. All impaired classes have accepted the Plan. Accordingly, the Plan satisfies § 1129(a)(8).

SECTION 1129(a)(9)

Section 1129(a)(9) requires that holders of certain administrative and priority claims receive cash equal to the allowed claim amount of their claims on the effective date of the plan, unless the claimant agrees to different treatment.

The Plan provides for the payment of all outstanding allowed administrative claims in full as soon as the fees are approved by the Court and none of the professionals have requested a different payment arrangement. The Plan also provides for payment of priority tax claims in a manner consistent with § 1129(a)(9)(C)(ii). The Plan satisfies § 1129(a)(9).

SECTION 1129(a)(10)

Section 1129(a)(10) requires that "at least one class of claims that is impaired under the plan has accepted the plan, determined without including any acceptance of the plan by any insider."

All impaired classes have accepted the Plan. Accordingly, § 1129(a)(10) is satisfied.

SECTION 1129(a)(11)

Section 1129(a)(11), known as the "feasibility requirement," requires the Court to find that "[c]onfirmation of the plan is not likely to be followed by the liquidation, or the need for further financial reorganization, of the debtor or any successor to the debtor under the plan, unless such liquidation or reorganization is proposed in the plan."

The Debtor submits that he has sufficient cash on hand to pay the amounts due on the Effective Date and sufficient net monthly income to pay the proposed plan payments. Based upon the Court's review of the budget projections included with the Disclosure Statement, the Court finds that confirmation is not likely to be followed by liquidation or the need for further financial reorganization. The Plan is feasible and satisfies § 1129(a)(11).

SECTION 1129(a)(12)

Section 1129(a)(12) requires that the Debtor pay all United States Trustee fees prior to confirmation or provide for payment of those fees on the effective date.

To the Court's knowledge, UST fees are current. To the extent any fees are outstanding, the Plan provides that all such fees will be paid by the Effective Date. Section 1129(a)(12) is satisfied.

SECTION 1129(a)(13)

Section 1129(a)(13), which contains requirements pertaining to the payment of retirement benefits, does not apply.

SECTION 1129(a)(14)

Section 1129(a)(14), which contains requirements pertaining to the payment of domestic support obligations, does not apply.

SECTION 1129(a)(15)

Section 1129(a)(15) imposes certain requirements upon individual debtors if the holder of an unsecured claim objects to confirmation of the Plan. Section 1129(a)(15) does not apply because no objections to the Plan are on file.

SECTION 1129(a)(16)

Section 1129(a)(16) provides: "All transfers of property under the plan shall be made in accordance with any applicable provisions of nonbankruptcy law that govern the transfer of property by a corporation or trust that is not a moneyed, business, or commercial corporation or trust."

No governmental unit has requested that the court not confirm the Plan on the grounds that the Plan's purpose is the avoidance of taxes or application of section 5 of the Securities Act of 1944. The Plan satisfies § 1129(d).

6/18/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Disclosure Statement is APPROVED.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed

12. Second Amended Individual Debtor's Disclosure Statement in Support of Plan of Reorganization [Doc. No. 97] (the "Disclosure Statement")
13. Second Amended Individual Debtor's Chapter 11 Plan of Reorganization [Doc. No. 98] (the "Plan")
14. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Debtor and Debtor-in-possession, Dwight Stephens (the "Debtor"), filed this voluntary chapter 11 case on March 21, 2018 (the "Petition Date"). The Debtor owns and operates his own podiatry practice. The Debtor sought bankruptcy protection to reorganize his affairs and resolve collection efforts brought by pre-petition judgment creditors. The Debtor previously sought approval of an earlier version of the disclosure statement but was directed to file an amended disclosure statement to address the Debtor's potential community property interest, if any, in Debtor's non-filing spouse's real property located at 5337 S. Verdun Avenue, Los Angeles, CA (the "Verdun Property"). In support of the Disclosure Statement, the Debtor has included a Moores/Marsden analysis that reflects that he has a $143,982.80 community property interest in the Verdun Property.

The Debtor presently seeks approval of his Second Amended Disclosure Statement [Doc. No. 97]. The following provisions are the material provisions of Debtor's Second Amended Plan [Doc. No. 98]:

Administrative Claims

The Debtor anticipates that administrative fees for professionals will be approximately $37,700 as of the effective date. The Debtor proposes to pay all administrative claims in full, on the effective date, from the Debtor's fully exempt retirement account, unless other arrangements are made with the Debtor's professionals for deferred payments.

Priority Tax Claims

i. Los Angeles County Tax Collector (the "LACTC"): The Debtor proposes to pay the LACTC's priority claim of $113.25 in full on the effective date and pay the LACTC's secured claim of $2,735.42 in full by making 24 equal monthly installments of $146.33/mo with 18% interest.

ii. Internal Revenue Service (the "IRS"): The Debtor proposes to pay the IRS's priority tax claim of $1,901 in full by making 34 equal monthly installments of $141.80/mo with 5% interest.

Class 2(c) – Secured Claim of Benito Barbosa ("Mr. Barbosa")

Mr. Barbosa obtained a pre-petition medical malpractice judgment against the Debtor individually. On February 21, 2019, Mr. Barbosa filed amended Proof of Claim No. 4-2 asserting a claim for $2,139,530.92, which Mr. Barbosa asserts is partially secured (the "Barbosa Claim"). The Debtor and Mr. Barbosa have reached an agreement, in principle, which will resolve the Barbosa Claim and anticipate filing a stipulation memorializing their agreement shortly. Pursuant to the parties' agreement, Mr. Barbosa will hold an allowed secured claim of $200,000, which the Debtor proposes to pay in full within 1 year of the effective date with 0% interest. The remainder of Mr. Barbosa's claim will be separately classified as an unsecured claim in Class 6(c) and will be paid $0.00.

The Debtor states that absent resolution of the Barbosa Claim, the Debtor's Plan will be infeasible.

Class 6(a) – General Unsecured Claims

This class includes any allowed unsecured claims of $100 or less and any allowed unsecured claim larger than $100 but whose holder agrees to reduce its claim to $100. Each member of this class will receive 100% of the allowed claim on the effective date. This class is unimpaired and not entitled to vote on the Plan.

Class 6(b) – General Unsecured Claims

This class consists of all allowed general unsecured claim not in Class 6(a) and not entitled to priority. The Debtor proposes to pay creditors in this class 30% of their claims over a period of 5 years with 0% interest. This class is impaired and entitled to Class 6(c) – Unsecured of Claim of Mr. Barbosa

This class consists of the remainder of Mr. Barbosa’s claim, pursuant to the stipulation in principle between Barbosa and the Debtor to resolve the Barbosa Claim. This class will receive $0.00.

Means of Implementation

The Debtor’s Plan will be funded from the following sources:

- i. Approximately $4,000 - $5,000 cash available as of the confirmation hearing;
- ii. Reverse Mortgage of the Verdun Property. The Debtor anticipates the reverse mortgage will produce $55,000 during month 1 of the Plan and an additional $115,000 in month 13.
- iv. Future disposable income for 5 years. The Debtor anticipates having approximately $900 net future income to put towards plan payments, which the Debtor anticipates will increase to $1,201/month starting in April 2020 once the Debtor’s non-filing spouse finishes paying off her car. The source of the Debtor’s monthly income is from the Debtor’s draw from the podiatry practice, social security, lump sum contributions from the Debtor’s non-filing spouse, and monthly contributions from the Debtor’s non-filing spouse’s income.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Section 1125 requires a disclosure statement to contain “information of a kind, and in sufficient detail, as far as is reasonably practicable in light of the nature and history of the debtor and the condition of the debtor’s books and records . . . that would enable. . . a hypothetical investor of the relevant class to make an informed judgment about the plan.” In determining whether a disclosure statement provides adequate information, “the court shall consider the complexity of the case, the benefit of additional information to creditors and other parties in interest, and the cost of providing additional information.” 11 U.S.C. § 1125(a).

#7.00 Hearing RE: [67] Notice of Motion and Defendants' Motion to Vacate Default Pursuant to F.R.C.P. 60(b)

Docket 0

Tentative Ruling:

8/20/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Motion to Set Aside Default is GRANTED.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Notice of Motion and Defendants' Motion to Vacate Default Pursuant to FRCP 60(b) [Doc. No. 67] (the "Motion")
- 2) Trustee's Opposition to Defendants' Jenny Melendez's and Clara Melendez's Motion to Vacate Entry of Default [Doc. No. 70] (the "Opposition")
- 3) Defendants' Reply to Trustee's Opposition to Defendants' Jenny Melendez's and Clara Melendez's Motion to Vacate Entry of Default [Doc. No. 72] (the "Reply")

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On December 10, 2018, the Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee") filed a Complaint for: (1) A Declaratory Judgment Regarding Property of the Bankruptcy Estate; (2) Turnover; (3) Injunctive Relief; and (4) Sale of a Property in Which a Non-Debtor Asserts an Interest [Doc. No. 1] (the "Complaint") against Jenny Melendez and Clara E. Melendez (collectively, the "Defendants"). On March 20, 2019, Jenny Melendez, proceeding in pro se, filed an Answer to the Complaint. Doc. No. 25.

On April 19, 2019, the Court granted the Trustee's motion for leave to file a First Amended Complaint (the "FAC"). At the hearing, Defendant Jenny Melendez appeared and requested that the matter be assigned to mediation. Doc. No. 33. On July 10, 2019, the Court entered an order assigning the matter to mediation. Doc. No. 58. After Defendants failed to Answer the FAC, the Clerk of the Court entered Defendants' defaults.

Chapter 7

Defendants have retained counsel and move to set aside the defaults. The Motion states that Defendants incorrectly believed that they were not required to file an Answer to the FAC, since Defendants had filed an answer to the original Complaint.

In opposition, the Trustee argues that there is no declaration testimony supporting the Defendants' alleged confusion. The Trustee asserts that the Defendants' failure to Answer the FAC was culpable, since the Summons attached to the FAC clearly stated that an Answer was required. In support of his contention that Defendant Jenny Melendez was not confused, the Trustee points to the fact that the attorney representing Jenny Melendez in her bankruptcy case (but not in the adversary proceeding) withdrew from representation. One of the reasons for the attorney's withdrawal was that Jenny Melendez had consulted with other individuals and was ignoring his advice. According to the Trustee, this indicates that Jenny Melendez had been advised by multiple attorneys regarding bankruptcy issues, and therefore could not have been confused about the legal effect of failing to file an Answer to the FAC.

In reply, Defendants reiterate that they were confused about the legal effect of failing to Answer the Complaint. Defendants assert that this confusion does not constitute culpable conduct.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Civil Rule 55(c)—made applicable to these proceedings by Bankruptcy Rule 7055—provides: "The court may set aside an entry of default for good cause." "The 'good cause' standard that governs vacating an entry of default under Rule 55(c) is the same standard that governs vacating a default judgment under Rule 60(b)." Franchise Holding II, LLC v. Huntington Restaurants Grp., Inc., 375 F.3d 922, 925 (9th Cir. 2004). The Court may deny a motion to vacate a default for any of the following reasons: "(1) the plaintiff would be prejudiced if the judgment is set aside, (2) defendant has no meritorious defense, or (3) the defendant's culpable conduct led to the default." Am. Ass'n of Naturopathic Physicians v. Hayhurst, 227 F.3d 1104, 1108 (9th Cir. 2000), as amended on denial of reh'g (Nov. 1, 2000). Because "[t]his tripartite test is disjunctive," the Trustee is required to demonstrate only that one of the factors applies in order for the Court to deny the motion to vacate default. Id. However, "judgment by default is a drastic step appropriate only in extreme circumstances; a case should, whenever possible, be decided on the merits." United States v. Signed Pers. Check No. 730 of Yubran S. Mesle, 615 F.3d 1085, 1089 (9th Cir. 2010).

The Trustee has failed to demonstrated that any of the factors applies. Defendants have a meritorious defense, the default was not the result of Defendants' culpable conduct, and the Trustee would not be prejudiced by vacatur of the default.

Defendants' Failure to Timely Respond to the FAC Was Not Culpable

A "defendant's conduct is culpable if he has received actual or constructive notice of the filing of the action and intentionally failed to answer.... Neglectful failure to answer as to which the defendant offers a credible, good faith explanation negating any intention to take advantage of the opposing party, interfere with judicial decision-making, or otherwise manipulate the legal process is not 'intentional' under our default cases, and is therefore not necessarily ... culpable." TCI Grp. Life Ins. Plan v. Knoebber, 244 F.3d 691, 697–98 (9th Cir. 2001), as amended on denial of reh'g and reh'g en banc (May 9, 2001). In addition, a "defendant's conduct [is] culpable ... where there is no explanation of the default inconsistent with a devious, deliberate, willful, or bad faith failure to respond." Employee Painters' Trust v. Ethan Enterprises, Inc., 480 F.3d 993, 1000 (9th Cir. 2007). The Ethan Enterprises court found culpability where the defendants provided the opposing party with an incorrect address, thereby precluding normal service of process. Id

Although Defendants received actual notice of the FAC and failed to timely respond, Defendants' actions were negligent, not culpable. Defendant Jenny Melendez did file an Answer to the initial Complaint. Further, Jenny Melendez appeared at the hearing on the Trustee's motion for leave to file the FAC and requested that the matter be assigned to mediation. This demonstrates that Jenny Melendez was sincerely seeking to resolve the litigation, and that her failure to file an Answer to the FAC was not devious or in bad faith. Jenny Melendez's attempts to obtain assistance in responding to the litigation were delayed because the self-help desk in the Woodland Hills division of the Bankruptcy Court is only open one morning every month. Melendez Decl. at ¶ 3. It was not until July 5, 2019—after Defendants' defaults had been entered—that Jenny Melendez was able to meet with M. Jonathan Hayes, who agreed to represent Defendants pro bono. Id.

Defendants Have a Meritorious Defense

A party has a meritorious defense if "there is some possibility that the outcome of the suit after a full trial will be contrary to the result achieved by the default." Hawaii Carpenters' Trust Funds v. Stone, 794 F.2d 508, 513 (9th Cir. 1986). The burden of demonstrating a meritorious defense "on a party seeking to vacate a default judgment is not extraordinarily heavy." Knoebber, 244 F.3d at 700. "All that is necessary to satisfy the ‘meritorious defense’ requirement is to allege sufficient facts that, if true, would constitute a defense: ‘the question whether the factual allegation [i]s true’ is not to be determined by the court when it decides the motion to set aside the default. Rather, that question ‘would be the subject of the later litigation.’” Mesle, 615 F.3d at 1094.

Defendants have satisfied the meritorious defense requirement by showing that there is some possibility that they will not be found liable on the claims asserted in the FAC after a full trial. Defendants have attached a proposed Answer to the Motion which denies the allegations of the FAC and contains affirmative defenses.

The Trustee Has Not Demonstrated that it Would Be Prejudiced By Vacatur of the Default

"To be prejudicial, the setting aside of a [default] must result in greater harm than simply delaying resolution of the case. Rather, ‘the standard is whether [plaintiff’s] ability to pursue his claim will be hindered.’ Falk, supra, 739 F.2d at 463; see also Thompson, supra, 95 F.3d at 433–34 (to be considered prejudicial, ‘the delay must result in tangible harm such as loss of evidence, increased difficulties of discovery, or greater opportunity for fraud or collusion’).” Knoebber, 244 F.3d at 701. Prejudice exists were vacatur of the default would allow the defendant "to move and hide assets." Franchise Holding, 375 F.2d at 926.

The FAC was filed on April 18, 2019. The Clerk of the Court entered Defendants’ defaults on June 11, 2019. The brief delay resulting from Defendants’ initial failure to Answer the FAC does not prejudice the Trustee.

Litigation Deadlines

In view of the vacatur of Defendants’ default, the litigation deadlines previously ordered by the Court shall be continued, as follows:

- 1) Defendants shall file the Answer attached to the Motion by no later than 8/21/2019.
- 2) The following litigation deadlines shall apply:

- iv) Motions in Limine seeking to exclude testimony to be offered by any witness shall comply with the requirements set forth in ¶(1)(h)(ii), and shall be filed by the deadline specified in ¶(1)(h)(ii). I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Deborah Earle (the "Debtor") filed a voluntary Chapter 11 petition on December 9, 2012. On April 25, 2016, the Court confirmed the Debtor's Chapter 11 Plan of Reorganization (the "Plan"). Doc. property. The Court declined the Debtor's request for authorization to pay the Debtor's counsel approximately $22,000 in fees directly from escrow. The Court directed counsel to hold such fees in its Attorney/Client Trust Account pending the Court's ruling upon a final application for compensation.

A.O.E. Law & Associates, APC, the Debtor's general bankruptcy counsel ("Applicant"), seeks fees in the amount of $22,000.00 and expenses in the amount of $912.94. No opposition to the Application is on file.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Section 330(a)(1) allows the Court to award "reasonable compensation for actual, necessary services rendered" by a professional. In determining the amount of compensation to award, the Court considers the nature, the extent, and the value of such services, taking into account all relevant factors, including—

- (A) the time spent on such services;
- (B) the rates charged for such services;
- (C) whether the services were necessary to the administration of, or beneficial at the time at which the service was rendered toward the completion of, a case under this title;
- (D) whether the services were performed within a reasonable amount of time commensurate with the complexity, importance, and nature of the problem, issue, or task addressed;
- (E) with respect to a professional person, whether the person is board certified or otherwise has demonstrated skill and experience in the bankruptcy field; and
- (F) whether the compensation is reasonable based on the customary compensation charged by comparably skilled practitioners in cases other than cases under this title.

§330(a)(3).

"The statute does not require that the services result in a material benefit to the estate in order for the professional to be compensated; the applicant must demonstrate only that the services were 'reasonably likely' to benefit the estate at the time the services were rendered." *Sheridan & Kotel, P.C. v. Having reviewed the Application, the Court approves the requested fees and expenses as reasonable. The Court notes that Applicant has discounted the fees requested by $16,485.00. Applicant is awarded fees and expenses as follows:

Fees: $22,000.00

Expenses: $912.94

Applicant is authorized to release the fees and expenses awarded from its Attorney/Client Trust Account.

Applicant's employment was approved on October 5, 2015. Prior to the effective date of employment, Applicant exhausted a retainer in the amount of $10,000. To the extent necessary, Applicant's draw-down of the retainer is approved.

Chapter 7

October 16, 2018. On January 17, 2019, the Court entered an order converting the case to a case under Chapter 7. Shortly thereafter, Brad D. Krasnoff was appointed to serve as the Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee") and continues to serve in that capacity.

On July 3, 2019, the Trustee filed the Employment Application seeking an order authorizing him to employ Danning, Gill, Diamond & Kollitz (the "Firm") as his general bankruptcy counsel on a nunc pro tunc basis, effective April 23, 2019. The Trustee states that the delay in submitting the Employment Application is largely attributable to the Debtor's failure to respond to the Trustee's requests for information in a manner sufficient for the Trustee to determine whether there were any assets that could be administered for the benefit of the estate. The Trustee also submitted billing entries through June 30, 2019 as Exhibit 4 to the Employment Application.

The Office of the United States Trustee (the "UST") filed a timely Limited Opposition to the Employment Application asserting the following objections:

- i. The Trustee fails to adequately explain why the Firm's employment should be effective as of April 23, 2019, because the attached billing entries do not contain any entries for services performed prior to June 3, 2019.
- ii. The billing entries raise concerns that the Firm is performing services that the Trustee should be performing himself and the Trustee fails to explain why these services are being performed by the Firm.
- iii. The Trustee has not adequately explained why retention of counsel is necessary in the first instance, given the current available assets to liquidate for the benefit of creditors and, even if counsel is required, the Trustee has not disclosed whether he considered hiring another firm with lower billing rates.

Based on the foregoing, the UST requests that the Court deny the Employment Application under the current terms.

On July 26, 2019, the Firm submitted the Israel Declaration in response to the Limited Opposition. First, Mr. Israel states that the submission of billing entries that only dated back to June 3, 2019, was in error and attributable to the Firm's recent switch to a new billing system. In support of his declaration, Mr. Israel attaches amended billing entries that contain all time entries dating back to April 23, 2019. Second, with respect to the UST's concerns that the Firm is performing administrative functions, Mr. Israel explains that the Trustee only asked the Firm to get involved in coordinating insurance after the Debtor's first counsel ignored his requests. Finally, Mr. Israel states that the Trustee still does not know whether there will be any further assets to administer, but that the Firm is now working with Debtor's new counsel to try to determine whether there is any equity in one of the Debtor's real properties.

On August 14, 2019, the Firm submitted a Reply on behalf of the Trustee in response to the Limited Opposition. The Reply largely tracks the Israel Declaration and, accordingly, will not be summarized herein.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 327(a), a trustee may employ a professional or professional organization that does not hold or represent an interest adverse to the estate, and that qualifies as a disinterested person, to represent or assist the debtor-in-possession in carrying out the debtor-in-possession duties under Title 11. Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 2014, an employment application brought under § 327 must state:

the specific facts showing the necessity for the employment, the name of the person to be employed, the reasons for the selection, the professional services to be rendered, any proposed arrangement for compensation, and, to the best of the applicant's knowledge, all of the person's connections with the debtor, creditors, any other party in interest, their respective attorneys and accountants, the United States trustee, or any person employed in the office of the United States trustee.

Fed. R. Bankr. P. 2014(a). Additionally, LBR 2014-1(b)(3)(A)-(E) sets forth a list of information to be included in any notice of an employment application.

Having reviewed the Employment Application and the attached Statement of Disinterestedness, the Court finds that the Employment Application contain sufficient information to satisfy the requirements of Bankruptcy Rule 2014 and LBR 2014-1(b)(3).

Additionally, the Court finds it appropriate to grant nunc pro tunc employment, effective as of May 1, 2019. A nunc pro tunc approval of employment "should be limited to situations in which 'exceptional circumstances' exist." In re Atkins, 69 F.3d 970, 974 (9th Cir. 1995). "To establish the presence of exceptional circumstances, professionals seeking retroactive approval must satisfy two requirements: they must (1) satisfactorily explain their failure to receive prior judicial approval; and (2) demonstrate that their services benefitted the bankrupt estate in a significant manner." Id.

Based on the representations set forth in the Employment Application, Israel Declaration and Reply, the Court will authorize employment effective as of May 1, 2019. The Court agrees that this is an unusual case involving the conversion from Chapter 11 to 7 and the withdrawal of Debtor's counsel following conversion. The Court also notes that the usual practice in this district is to authorize employment effective approximately one-month prior to the application's filing date and that no prejudice has resulted from the additional delay in this case. Accordingly, the Court is satisfied with the explanations provided for failure to obtain approval of the Firm's employment earlier. However, based on the Court's review of the amended billing entries submitted in support of the Israel Declaration, the first entry date is May 1, 2019. Therefore, the record does not support the Trustee's request for employment to be effective earlier than that date.

With respect to the second prong identified above, the Court finds that the Firm's services have benefitted the estate in a significant manner because the Firm is assisting the Trustee in determining whether there are any assets that could be liquidated for the benefit of creditors. The Court acknowledges that there remain uncertainties with respect to any recovery, but the Court balances that uncertainty with the risk the Firm is undertaking in performing services that may not result in any future compensation.

The UST's objection concerning whether the Firm is performing administrative functions that should be performed by the Trustee is preserved and may be reasserted in connection with the reasonableness of any fees sought in connection with any future fee application.

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1) for cause to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to repossess or otherwise obtain possession and dispose of its collateral pursuant to applicable law, and to use the proceeds from its disposition to satisfy its claim. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. The Court takes judicial notice of the Chapter 7 Individual Debtor's Statement of Intention in which the Debtor stated an intention to surrender the vehicle to Movant.

This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. The 14-day stay prescribed by FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived. All other relief is denied.

Movant shall upload an appropriate order via the Court's Lodged Order Upload system within 7 days of the hearing.

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1) for cause to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to repossess or otherwise obtain possession and dispose of its collateral pursuant to applicable law, and to use the proceeds from its disposition to satisfy its claim. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. The Court takes judicial notice of the Chapter 7 Individual Debtor's Statement of Intention in which the Debtor stated an intention to surrender the vehicle to Movant.

This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. The 14-day stay prescribed by FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived. All other relief is denied.

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. The Court finds that there is sufficient evidence to grant relief pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1) based on the Debtor's bad faith filing. serve as the Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee") and continues to serve in that capacity.

Summary of R/S Motion

Secured creditor, Cathay Bank (the "Movant"), seeks relief from the automatic stay pursuant to §§ 362(d)(1) and (d)(2) to pursue its remedies under non-bankruptcy law with respect to all of the Debtor's personal property. Movant states that it holds a blanket security lien against the Debtor's personal property, including, but not limited to, inventory, equipment, accounts, chattel paper, instruments, letters of credit rights, letters of credit documents, deposit accounts, investment property, money, other rights to payment and performance, payment intangibles, general intangibles, all patents, trademarks and copyrights, and all proceeds and products thereof (collectively, the "Property").

Movant asserts that cause exists to grant it stay relief under § 362(d)(1) because its interest is not adequately protected. Specifically, Movant states that as of July 12, 2019 its claim against the Debtor totaled $2,779,345.95, which greatly exceeds the $1,000,423.26 value the Debtor scheduled for the Property in its Schedule B. Movant further asserts that the Debtor is in default of its loan obligations to Movant and that the Debtor's principals have recently perpetrated fraud against Movant in order to secure additional funding and delay Movant from exercising its rights against the Property. See Declaration of Gregory Badura.

Movant further asserts that stay relief is required under § 362(d)(2) because there is no equity in the Property and the Property is not necessary to an effective reorganization because this a chapter 7 liquidation case.

Summary of Debtor's Response

On August 21, 2019, the Debtor filed a timely Response arguing that the R/S Motion should be denied or, alternatively, that the hearing should be continued because Movant failed to properly serve the Debtor at the address designated in its petition as its mailing address. The Debtor concedes that "cause probably does exist for [stay] relief," but argues that Movant should not be excused from complying with applicable local and federal service requirements. The Debtor also argues that Movant's allegations of fraud are inflammatory, prejudicial and not necessary to the Court's determination of whether stay relief is warranted.

Summary of Reply

On August 23, 2019, Movant filed a timely Reply arguing that it did properly serve the Debtor at the address designated as its principal place of business (the "PPB Address") and noting that the PPB Address was the address that appeared on the docket because the Debtor incorrectly listed the PPB Address as its mailing address when it set up its address in the CM/ECF system for notice purposes.

Movant also highlights that the Debtor concedes that stay relief is proper and counter's Debtor's argument that its allegations regarding fraud are irrelevant by highlighting that such fraudulent behavior may be relevant for establishing "cause" under § 362(d)(1).

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

As a preliminary matter, the Court finds that, in view of the Debtor's Response, any service deficiencies were harmless and has not resulted in any prejudice to the Debtor. Therefore, the Court finds it appropriate to consider the merits of the R/S Motion.

Cause Exists to Grant Relief Under 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1)

Under 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1), the Court shall grant relief if the movant's interest in the property is not protected by an adequate equity cushion. In the Ninth Circuit, "[a] 20% [equity] cushion has been held to be an adequate protection for a secured creditor." In re Mellor, 734 F.2d 1396, 1401 (9th Cir. 1984).

Based on Movant's unrefuted evidence, the Court finds that Movant is not protected by any equity cushion because the Property is entirely underwater. Therefore, cause exists to grant stay relief under § 362(d)(1).

Cause Exists to Grant Relief Under 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2)

Under 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2), the court shall grant relief from the stay if "(A) the debtor does not have any equity in such property; and (B) such property is not necessary for an effective reorganization."

The Court also finds that cause exists to grant relief under § 362(d)(2). The Debtor does not have any equity in the Property and the Property is not necessary for an effective reorganization because this is a chapter 7 case.

III. Conclusion

The tentative ruling is to GRANT the R/S Motion pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §§ 362(d)(1) and (d)(2) to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to repossess or otherwise obtain possession and dispose of its collateral pursuant to applicable law, and to use the proceeds from its disposition to satisfy its claim. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. The Court finds that Movant's interest is not protected by an adequate equity cushion and, in fact, that there is no equity in the Property. The Court further finds that the Property is not necessary for an effective reorganization since this is a chapter 7 case.

This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. All other relief is denied

Movant shall upload an appropriate order via the Court's Lodged Order Upload system within 7 days of the hearing.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On August 31, 2018 (the "Petition Date"), Verity Health Systems of California ("VHS") and certain of its subsidiaries (collectively, the "Debtors") filed voluntary petitions for relief under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. On August 31, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the Debtors' motion for joint administration of the Debtors' Chapter 11 cases. Doc. No. 17.

Debtors move for an order fixing October 4, 2019, as the bar date for filing requests for the allowance of postpetition administrative expenses against the Debtors under §§ 503(b) and 507(a)(2) (an "Administrative Expense Claim"). The Debtors propose that the following entities that hold Administrative Expense Claims should not be required to assert an Administrative Expense Claim (collectively, the

- 2) A holder of an Administrative Expense Claim related to or incurred during the Postpetition Period that previously has been allowed by order of the Court;
- 3) A holder of an Administrative Expense Claim that has been paid in full by the Debtors pursuant to the Bankruptcy Code or in accordance with an order of the Court;
- 4) Administrative Expense Claims based upon liabilities that the Debtors incur in the ordinary course of their business to providers of goods and services;
- 5) Professional fee claims subject to allowance under § 330;
- 6) Claims relating to the assumption and cure of an executory contract under § 365(b);
- 7) Administrative Expense Claims arising out of the employment by one or more of the Debtors of an individual from and after the Petition Date, but only to the extent that such Administrative Expense Claim is solely for outstanding wages, commissions, or reimbursement of business expenses; and
- 8) U.S. Trustee fees.

No opposition to the Motion is in file.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Bankruptcy Rule 3003(c)(3) provides, in relevant part, that “the court shall fix and for cause shown may extend the time within which proofs of claim or interest may be filed.” Bankruptcy Rule 2002(a)(7) requires that potential claimants receive at least 21 days’ notice of the claims bar date. Here, the Debtors will provide the required 21 days’ notice of the Administrative Claims Bar Date.

The Debtors’ proposal that holders of certain Administrative Expense Claims not be required to file a proof of claim is approved. Requiring holders of Excluded Claims to file a proof of claim would needlessly increase the burden upon the estate and would serve no purpose, as the Excluded Claims (1) are not contested by the Debtors, (2) have already been adjudicated, and/or (3) will be adjudicated in the future. For example, there is no reason that individuals who have been employed by the Debtors subsequent to the Petition Date and who have received wage payments in the ordinary

Tentative Ruling:

8/27/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Cash Collateral Motion is GRANTED on a final basis.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed

1. Notice of Motion and Motion in Individual Chapter 11 Case for Order Authorizing Use of Cash Collateral [Doc. No. 17] (the "Cash Collateral Motion")
2. Order re: Notice of Motion in Individual Chapter 11 Case for Order Authorizing Use of Cash Collateral [Doc. No. 32] (the "Interim Cash Collateral Order")
3. Debtor's Supplemental in Support of Motion for Order to Use Cash Collateral [Doc. No. 60]
4. As of the date of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

This is a continued hearing on Liboria Zavalza's motion for authority to use cash collateral generated from the Debtor's lease of a duplex located at 4053 & 4501(A) Randolph Street, Huntington Park, CA 90255 (the "Property"). The Debtor rents out both units and collects monthly rental income totaling $2,150 from the Property. The Property is subject to a first-priority deed of trust in favor of HSBC Bank, N.A., as Trustee for the Registered Holders of Nomura Home Equity Loan, Inc., Asset-Backed Certificates, Series 2007-3 (the "Bank") in the amount of $1,185,616.25. [Note 1]

Chapter 11

The Court previously approved the Debtor's Proposed Monthly Budget (the "Budget"), which provides for the following expenses to be paid for with the Bank's cash collateral:

Income:	$2,150.00
Expenses:
The Bank	($1,049.49)
Property Taxes	($960.00)
Property Insurance	($140.51)
Net Income:	$0.00

In connection with the original hearing, the Debtor represented that she was trying to rent out an additional room in the Property for $1,450/month and that once she secured a tenant, she would increase monthly adequate protection payments to the Bank to $2,469. Accordingly, the Court approved the Budget on an interim basis and directed the Debtor to file a supplemental declaration with respect to those efforts.

On August 14, 2019, the Debtor submitted a timely Supplemental Declaration stating that she had not yet obtained an additional tenant, but that she has increased the rent to current tenants by $450/month (which the Court presumes the Debtor is paying to the Bank). [Note 2]

As of the preparation of the date of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Section 363(c)(2) requires court authorization for use of cash collateral unless "each entity that has an interest in such cash collateral consents." In the Ninth Circuit, satisfaction of § 363(c)(2)(A) requires the "affirmative express consent" of the secured creditor; "implied consent," resulting from the failure of the secured creditor to object to use of cash collateral, does not satisfy the requirements of the statute. Freightliner Market Development Corp. v. Silver Wheel Freightlines, Inc., 823 F.2d 362, 368-69 (9th Cir. 1987). Absent affirmative express consent, the Debtor "may not use" cash collateral absent the Court's determination that the use is "in accordance with the provisions" of § 363 – that is, that the secured creditor's interest in the cash collateral is adequately protected. 11 U.S.C. §§ 363(c)(2)(B), 363(e).

A secured creditor's interest is adequately protected if the value of its collateral is not declining; the secured creditor is not entitled to payment to compensate for its inability to foreclose upon the collateral during bankruptcy proceedings. United Savings Association of Texas v. Timbers of Inwood Forest Associates, Ltd., 484 U.S. 365, 382 (1988). Section 361 sets forth three non-exclusive examples of what may constitute adequate protection: (1) periodic cash payments equivalent to decrease in value; (2) an additional or replacement lien on other property; or (3) other relief that provides the indubitable equivalent. See In re Mellor, 734 F.2d 1396, 1400 (9th Cir. 1984).

The Court finds that the terms of the Cash Collateral Motion and the Budget comply with § 363. The Debtor's use of cash collateral is necessary to preserve the Property and to facilitate the Debtor's reorganization efforts. The Court finds that the Bank's interest in the Property remains adequately protected because there is no evidence in the record to suggest that the Property is declining in value and because the Debtor is making monthly adequate protection payments to the Bank.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the Cash Collateral Motion is GRANTED on a final basis.

The Debtor is directed to lodge a conforming proposed order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Liboria Zavalza (the "Debtor") filed this voluntary chapter 11 case on April 3, 2019 (the "Petition Date"). On Schedule A, the Debtor listed an ownership interest in a duplex located at 4053 & 4501(A) Raldolph [Note 1] Street, Huntington Park, CA 90255 (the "Property"). The Debtor rents out both units and collects monthly rental income totaling $2,150 from the Property. The Property is subject to a first-priority deed of trust in favor of HSBC Bank, N.A., as Trustee for the Registered Holders of Nomura Home Equity Loan, Inc., Asset-Backed Certificates, Series 2007-3 (the "Bank") in the amount of $1,185,616.25.

The Debtor seeks an order authorizing the Debtor to use cash collateral in accordance with the terms of the Proposed Monthly Budget (the "Budget") appearing on page 5 of the Cash Collateral Motion. The Budget provides for the following expenses to be paid for with the Bank's cash collateral:

Income:	$2,150.00
Expenses:
The Bank	($1,049.49)
Property Taxes	($960.00)
Property Insurance	($140.51)
Net Income:	$0.00

The Debtor states that she has posted an ad seeking to rent an additional room in the Property for $1,450/month and that once she secures a tenant she will increase monthly adequate protection payments to the Bank to $2,469. In support of the Cash Collateral Motion the Debtor attached copies of current lease agreements for both units as well as proof of monthly insurance and property tax expenses.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Section 363(c)(2) requires court authorization for use of cash collateral unless "each entity that has an interest in such cash collateral consents." In the Ninth Circuit, satisfaction of § 363(c)(2)(A) requires the "affirmative express consent" of the secured creditor; "implied consent," resulting from the failure of the secured creditor to object to use of cash collateral, does not satisfy the requirements of the statute. Freightliner Market Development Corp. v. Silver Wheel Freightlines, Inc., 823 F.2d 362, 368-69 (9th Cir. 1987). Absent affirmative express consent, the Debtor "may not use" cash collateral absent the Court's determination that the use is "in accordance with the provisions" of § 363 – that is, that the secured creditor's interest in the cash collateral is adequately protected. 11 U.S.C. §§ 363(c)(2)(B), 363(e).

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtors, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2) to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to repossess or otherwise obtain possession and dispose of its collateral pursuant to applicable law, and to use the proceeds from its disposition to satisfy its claim. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtors or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. The Court finds that there is no equity in the subject vehicle and that the vehicle is not necessary for an effective reorganization since this is a chapter 7 case.

This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. All other relief is denied.

Movant shall upload an appropriate order via the Court's Lodged Order Upload system within 7 days of the hearing.

Guillermo Luix Calixtro (the "Debtor") filed a pro se voluntary Chapter 11 petition on August 6, 2019. On August 7, 2019, the Debtor filed a motion seeking relief from the in rem provisions of a May 11, 2018 order lifting the automatic stay as to real property located at 19830 East Saddle Ridge Lane, Walnut, CA 91789 (the "Property") that was entered in the Chapter 13 case of the Debtor's spouse. See Order Granting Motion for Relief from the Automatic Stay Under 11 U.S.C. § 362 [Doc. On August 7, 2019, the Court set the Motion for hearing on September 3, 2019, but enjoined Bayview Loan Servicing, LLC (“Bayview”), the servicing agent that had obtained the RFS Order granting in rem relief, from exercising its remedies with respect to the Property pending further order of the Court. Bayview opposes the Motion.

A. Background

On June 9, 2010, the Debtor and his spouse, Tina Calixtro (collectively, the “Debtors”), filed a voluntary Chapter 11 petition, Case No. 2:10-bk-33389-ER (the “First Bankruptcy”). [Note 1] On June 16, 2011, the Court entered an order confirming the Debtors’ Chapter 11 Plan. Doc. No. 74, Case No. 2:10-bk-33389-ER (the “Confirmation Order”). The Plan provided for the Debtors to make monthly payments of $3,766.93, for a period of 312 months, on account of the indebtedness against the Property. Confirmation Order at 2–3.

On March 5, 2014, the Debtors filed a Postconfirmation Status Report [Doc. No. 97, Case No. 2:10-bk-33389-ER], which stated that the “Debtors are currently unemployed and have no wherewithal to fund their plan.” Postconfirmation Status Report at ¶ 3. The Postconfirmation Status Report further stated that the Debtors did not oppose dismissal of the case. Id. at ¶ 6.

On March 24, 2014, the First Bankruptcy was dismissed upon the motion of the United States Trustee (the “UST”), based upon the Debtors’ failure to remain current on quarterly UST fees. Doc. No. 100, Case No. 2:10-bk-33389-ER.

On December 13, 2016, the Debtor only filed a second voluntary Chapter 11 petition, Case No. 2:16-bk-26296-ER (the “Second Bankruptcy”). On April 20, 2017, upon the motion of the UST, the Court dismissed the Second Bankruptcy and imposed a 180-day bar to re-filing. Doc. No. 72, Case No. 2:16-bk-26296-ER. In dismissing the case, the Court found that the Debtor had failed to provide evidence of insurance coverage to the UST, and had routinely filed late or incomplete Monthly Operating Reports. The Court found that the Debtor’s filing of incomplete Monthly Operating Reports prevented the UST from fulfilling its statutory obligation to ensure that debtors-in-possession are acting as fiduciaries for creditors. See Final Ruling Granting UST’s Motion to Dismiss [Doc. No. 67, Case No. 2:16-bk-26296-ER].

On June 15, 2017, the Court denied the Debtor’s motion to vacate the 180-day bar to re-filing. Doc. No. 90, Case No. 2:16-bk-26296-ER.

On June 20, 2017, the Debtor’s spouse, Tina Calixtro (“Calixtro”), filed a Chapter 13 petition, Case No. 2:17-bk-17465-VZ (the “Spouse’s Bankruptcy”). On May 11, 2018, Bayview obtained the RFS Order against the Property. The Court found that the filing of the bankruptcy petition was part of a scheme to hinder, delay, or defraud creditors that involved multiple bankruptcy cases affecting the Property. RFS Order at ¶ 3.d.2. The Court further found that the Debtor was involved in the fraudulent scheme. Id. at ¶ 3.d.3. On June 14, 2018, the Court denied Calixtro's motion for reconsideration of the RFS Order. Doc. No. 75, Case No. 2:17-bk-17465-VZ. On July 24, 2018, the Court dismissed Calixtro's Chapter 13 case. Doc. No. 79, Case No. 2:17-bk-17465-VZ.

B. Summary of the Motion

Debtor seeks relief from the in rem provisions of the RFS Order, and argues that such relief is warranted for the following reasons:

- 1) There is equity in the Property and the Debtor will continue to apply for a loan modification.
- 2) Debtor is working as a paralegal and now has monthly income of $7,500, which is sufficient income to successfully reorganize.
- 3) The in rem provisions of the RFS Order should not apply to the Debtor, because the RFS Order was entered in Calixtro's Chapter 13 case. Calixtro is not and has never been a borrower on the loan against the Property.

Debtor also seeks an order imposing the automatic stay as to Bayview and all creditors pursuant to § 362(c)(4).

C. Summary of Bayview's Opposition

Bayview makes the following arguments in Opposition to the Motion:

- 1) To the extent the Motion seeks relief under § 362(c)(4), it is procedurally improper. Section 362(c)(4) does not apply to the Debtor because the Debtor did not have two bankruptcy cases pending within the one year period prior to the filing of the instant case.
- 2) The RFS Order containing the in rem provisions was entered by Judge Zurzolo. To the extent the Debtor seeks relief from the in rem provisions of the RFS Order, he must obtain such relief from Judge Zurzolo.
- 3) Debtor has not shown good cause for relief from the in rem provisions of the RFS Order. The Motion effectively constitutes a motion for reconsideration under Civil Rule 60(b). The Debtor has failed to represent the changed circumstances that are a prerequisite to such relief. The Debtor is not represented by counsel in his Chapter 11 case, so the chances of him being able to successfully confirm a plan are slim. There is no merit to the Debtor's contention that his monthly income of $7,500 will enable him to successfully reorganize. In the Second Bankruptcy Case, the Debtor's monthly income was $8,150, yet the Debtor proved unable to reorganize. Bayview's claim against the Property is approximately $1.2 million. Assuming the Debtor confirmed a Chapter 11 Plan with an interest rate of 6.25%, the Debtor would be required to make monthly payments of $7,388.61 on the Property, excluding property taxes and insurance.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Section 362(c) limits the extent to which debtors who have been a party to one or more pending bankruptcy cases within the one year period prior to the filing of a subsequent case can receive the protections of the automatic stay in the subsequent case. Section 362(c)(3) applies to debtors who have been a party to one bankruptcy case pending within the one year period prior to the filing of the subsequent case. Section 362(c)(4) applies to debtors who have been a party to two or more cases pending within the one year period prior to the filing of the subsequent case.

The Second Bankruptcy Case filed by the Debtor was dismissed on April 20, 2017. Because the Second Bankruptcy Case was not pending within the one year period prior to the filing of the instant case, neither § 362(c)(3) or § 362(c)(4) apply. The only issue for the Court's consideration is whether the Debtor should be entitled to relief from the in rem provisions of the RFS Order.

Section 362(d)(4) provides that the court may grant relief from the automatic stay as to real property "if the court finds that the filing of the petition was part of a scheme to delay, hinder, or defraud creditors that involved either (A) transfer of all or part ownership of, or other interest in, such real property without the consent of the secured creditor or court approval; or (B) multiple bankruptcy filings affecting such real property." Section 362(d)(4) further provides that where properly recorded, any such order granting stay relief "shall be binding in any other case under this title purporting to affect such real property filed not later than 2 years after the date of the entry of such order by the court, except that a debtor in a subsequent case under this title may move for relief from such order based upon changed circumstances or good cause shown, after notice and a hearing." Section 362(d)(4) was added to the Bankruptcy Code in 2005 as a new fourth ground for granting stay relief and was “intended to reduce abusive filings.” Black v. HSBC Bank (In re Black), 514 B.R. 605, 612 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 2014) (citing H.R. Rep. No. 109-31, pt. 1, at 70 (2005), reprinted in 2005 U.S.C.C.A.N. 88, 138).

First, the Court rejects Bayview’s contention that only Judge Zurzolo, who entered the RFS Order, can determine whether the Debtor is entitled to relief from the in rem provisions of that order. In In re Black, the court considered the application of the in rem provisions of a stay relief order that had been entered by a different bankruptcy court in determining whether a secured creditor had violated the automatic stay. In re Black, 514 B.R. at 607. It was not necessary for the Black court to refer the matter to the court that had entered the stay relief order. Similarly, this Court has the ability to determine whether the Debtor is entitled to relief from the RFS Order’s in rem provisions “based upon changed circumstances or for good cause shown”

Second, the Court rejects the Debtor’s contention that the in rem provisions of the RFS Order should not apply to him simply because the RFS Order was entered in Calixtro’s Chapter 13 case. Section 362(d)(4) relief applies “against not only the debtor, but also every non-debtor, co-owner, and subsequent owner of the property.” Alakozai v. Citizens Equity First Credit Union (In re Alakozai), 499 B.R. 698 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2013). Because § 362(d)(4) expressly contemplates that the relief it affords will apply against any entity asserting an interest in the property, the fact that the RFS Order was entered in Calixtro’s Chapter 13 case, rather than a prior case filed by the Debtor, is not grounds for relief from the RFS Order’s in rem provisions.

To be entitled to relief from the in rem provisions of the RFS Order, the Debtor must show “changed circumstances” or “good cause.” § 362(d)(4). The Debtor has failed to make the requisite showing.

Debtor’s primary argument is that as a result of a job as a paralegal that he obtained on August 1, 2019, he now has the necessary income to fund a successful Chapter 11 Plan. According to the Debtor’s Statement of Financial Affairs (the “SOFA”), he earned $30,000 in 2017; $34,500 in 2018; and $18,500 for the period from January 1, 2019 to August 6, 2019. SOFA [Doc. No. 26] at ¶ 4. According to the Debtor’s Schedule I: Your Income [Doc. No. 26] (“Schedule I”), his monthly income is now $9,000, consisting of $5,000 in wages earned as a paralegal, $3,500 on account of a family contribution, and $500 for providing services as a notary.

The Debtor’s declaration filed in support of the Motion (the “Debtor’s Decl.”) [Doc. No. 6] is not consistent with the Debtor’s schedules. The Debtor’s Decl. provides that he earns $7,500 per month as a paralegal, not $5,000 as set forth in the Debtor’s schedules. Debtor’s Decl. at ¶ 6. The Debtor’s Decl. further provides that the Debtor is earning additional income as a licensed real estate agent. Id. The Debtor's Schedule I contains no mention of income earned as a real estate agent.

The "debtor has a duty to prepare schedules carefully, completely, and accurately." In re Mohring, 142 B.R. 389, 394 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 1992), aff'd, 153 B.R. 601 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1993), aff'd, 24 F.3d 247 (9th Cir. 1994). Here, the Debtor's inability to provide the Court consistent information regarding basic details such as the amount of his monthly income casts serious doubt upon the Debtor's ability to successfully confirm a Chapter 11 plan. To successfully confirm a Chapter 11 plan, the Debtor must comply with numerous and highly technical requirements set forth in § 1129. The Debtor is attempting to achieve this process without the assistance of bankruptcy counsel.

The Motion contains further inaccuracies. The Debtors' Decl. states in bold type that "Tina Calixtro is not and never been [sic] on the LOAN for the property at 18930 E. Saddle Ridge Ln., Walnut, CA 91789." Debtor's Decl. at ¶ 6. This assertion is contradicted by the Deed of Trust against the Property, which defines the "Borrower[s]" as "Guillermo Calixtro and Tina Calixtro, Husband and Wife as Joint Tenants." Doc. No. 24, Ex. A.

The Debtor's inability to complete simple tasks, such as filing declarations containing accurate information and supplying the Court with consistent information regarding the basic details of his finances, shows that he will be unable complete the much more complex task of confirming a Chapter 11 plan.

The United States Trustee (the "UST") has filed a motion to convert the Debtor's case to Chapter 7, pursuant to § 1112(b), based upon the Debtor's failure to comply with UST reporting requirements. (The UST's motion is set for hearing on September 24, 2019, at 10:00 a.m.) According to the UST, the Debtor has failed to furnish the following information:

- 1) Sufficient evidence of closing of all pre-petition bank accounts including:
 - a) Closing bank statements; and/or
 - b) Bank account information in the Chapter 11 compliance declaration.
- 2) Sufficient evidence of the opening and maintenance of three debtor-in-possession bank accounts (general, payroll, and tax), including a copy of the debtor-in-possession check for each account.
- 3) Sufficient evidence of current insurance coverage including:
 - a) The declaration page for each policy; and/or
 - b) Insurance information in the Chapter 11 Compliance declaration.

See generally Motion Under 11 U.S.C. § 1112(b)(1) to Convert, Dismiss or Appoint a Chapter 11 Trustee with an Order Directing Payment of Quarterly Fees and for Judgment Thereon [Doc. No. 17] (the “§1112(b) Motion”).

The UST further states that the Debtor has failed to pay quarterly fees since the filing of the petition. Id.

The Debtor’s failure to comply with UST reporting requirements further demonstrates his inability to successfully reorganize. Local Bankruptcy Rule (“LBR”) 2015-2(a)(1) provides: “The ... debtor in possession ... must timely provide the United States Trustee with financial, management and operational reports, and such other information requested by the United States Trustee pursuant to the Guidelines and Requirements for Chapter 11 Debtors in Possession as necessary to properly supervise the administration of a Chapter 11 case.” Debtors are under a continuing obligation to comply with all requirements imposed by the UST. Failure to timely comply is grounds for dismissal. If debtors do not timely submit the required information, the UST cannot effectively carry out its oversight responsibilities under 28 U.S.C. §586. There is nothing in the statute that says that debtors may ignore their compliance obligations until receiving a warning from the UST. By commencing a Chapter 11 petition, the Debtor voluntarily accepted the responsibility of complying with all applicable laws and regulations, including reporting obligations imposed by the UST’s office. If the Debtor cannot fulfill these basic reporting obligations, he will be unable to accomplish the much more difficult task of confirming a Chapter 11 plan.

In support of his contention that he has the ability to reorganize, the Debtor states that his monthly income is $9,000. A significant portion of this income—$3,500—consists of a family contribution. A plan funded by a significant family contribution may be feasible, but only where “evidence in support of the contribution is submitted.” In re Deutsch, 529 B.R. 308, 312 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2015) [Note 2]. Further, “[r]eliance on contributions from family is disfavored, but not prohibited.” Id.

Here, the Debtor has not submitted any evidence in connection with the Motion showing that he will consistently receive $3,500 in monthly income from family members. Without such income, the Debtor will not have the ability to reorganize.

Chapter 11

The Debtor's schedules provide that his monthly expenses are $8,474. Absent the anticipated family contribution, the Debtor's monthly income is only $5,500.

The Property has been the subject of two Chapter 11 cases and one Chapter 13 case during the past nine years. All these cases were dismissed. The Second Bankruptcy Case was dismissed with a 180-day bar against refiling. The Debtor has had multiple opportunities to reorganize. He has failed to demonstrate changed circumstances showing that his latest attempt to reorganize will be any more successful than the past failed attempts. The Debtor is not entitled to relief from the in rem provisions of the RFS Order.

By separate order, the Court will require the Debtor to appear and show cause why the instant Chapter 11 case should not be dismissed, pursuant to § 1112(b).

Based upon the foregoing, the Motion is DENIED.

Note 1

Prior to the First Bankruptcy, the Debtor sought bankruptcy protection on November 6, 1992, Case No. 92-bk-52728. Doc. No. 1, Form 101, Case No. 2:19-bk-19171-ER. The Debtor's schedules do not specify the chapter of the 1992 bankruptcy case.

Note 2

In re Deutsch addressed the feasibility of a Chapter 13 plan. Its holding applies here, since the feasibility requirement for a Chapter 11 plan propounded by an individual is comparable to the feasibility requirement for a Chapter 13 plan.

#5.00 HearingRE: [7] Notice of motion and motion for relief from the automatic stay with supporting declarations PERSONAL PROPERTY RE: 2018 Honda Fit, VIN: 3HGGK5H60JM719294 . (Wang, Jennifer)

Docket 7

Tentative Ruling:

8/28/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2) to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to repossess or otherwise obtain possession and dispose of its collateral pursuant to applicable law, and to use the proceeds from its disposition to satisfy its claim. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. The Court finds that there is no equity in the subject vehicle and that the vehicle is not necessary for an effective reorganization since this is a chapter 7 case.

This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. The 14-day stay prescribed by FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived. All other relief is denied.

Movant shall upload an appropriate order via the Court's Lodged Order Upload system within 7 days of the hearing.

April 10, 2017. The Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee") moves to sell the remaining assets of the estate, excluding (1) cash, (2) any and all Goods (as that term is defined in § 9-102(a)(44) of the Uniform Commercial Code), and (3) the purchase price of the remaining assets (the property to be sold, the "Remnant Assets"). The only Remnant Assets of which the Trustee is aware are certain auto parts. The Trustee previously retained a broker to sell the auto parts, but to date has received only $2,800.00 from such sales. The Trustee has been advised that the remaining auto parts are dated and that sales of those parts can only be made occasionally. The Trustee asserts that the sale of the Remnant Assets provides an efficient means to close the case, while avoiding the expense associated with reopening the case in the future to administer later-discovered assets.

The proposed purchaser is Oak Point Partners, LLC ("Oak Point"). The purchase price is $5,200.00. The sale is subject to overbids; however, no overbidders contacted the Trustee within the deadline set forth in the Sale Motion. Accordingly, the Trustee requests that appearances at the Sale Hearing be waived.

No opposition to the Sale Motion is on file.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Section 363(b) permits the Trustee to sell estate property out of the ordinary course of business, subject to court approval. The Trustee must articulate a business justification for the sale. In re Walter, 83 B.R. 14, 19–20 (9th Cir. BAP 1988). Whether the articulated business justification is sufficient "depends on the case," in view of "all salient factors pertaining to the proceeding." Id. at 19–20.

The Trustee has demonstrated sufficient business justification for the sale. The sale is consistent with the Trustee's statutory obligation to liquidate the estate's assets.

Section 363(f) provides that estate property may be sold free and clear of liens, claims, and interests, providing one of the following conditions is satisfied:

- 1) Applicable nonbankruptcy law permits sale of such property free and clear of such interest;
- 2) Such entity consents;
- 3) Such interest is a lien and the price at which such property is sold is greater than the aggregate value of all liens on such property;
- 4) Such interest is in bona fide dispute; or
- 5) Such entity could be compelled, in a legal or equitable proceeding, to accept a money satisfaction of such interest.

Chapter 7

The Trustee's UCC search has not revealed any liens asserted against the Remnant Assets. To the extent that any liens are asserted against the Remnant Assets in the future, the Court finds that any such lien would be in bona fide dispute. Pursuant to § 363(f)(4), the sale is free and clear of any liens which may exist against the Remnant Assets.

The Sale Motion advised overbidders that they were required to contact the Trustee by no later than fourteen days prior to the hearing if they wished to submit an overbid. The Sale Motion advised interested parties that no auction would take place if the Trustee did not receive a timely bid from a qualified overbidder. The Trustee has filed a statement indicating that no overbids have been received. Therefore, the Court will approve the sale of the Remnant Assets to Oak Point, will not conduct an auction, and will waive appearances at the Sale Hearing.

Notwithstanding Bankruptcy Rule 6004(h), the order approving the sale shall be effective immediately upon entry.

Having reviewed the declaration of the Trustee submitted in support of the Sale Motion, the Court finds that the sale to Oak Point was negotiated at arm's length and in good faith. Oak Point is entitled to the protections of § 363(m) as a good-faith purchaser.

Based upon the foregoing, the Sale Motion is GRANTED. Within seven days of the hearing, the Trustee shall submit a conforming order incorporating this tentative ruling by reference.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Debtors-in-possession, Samuel Antonio Acevedo and Lucy Acevedo (together, the "Debtors"), filed this voluntary Chapter 11 case on April 3, 2018 (the "Petition Date"). The Debtors sought bankruptcy protection after experiencing several years of financial hardship predicated by Mr. Acevedo's unexpected loss of employment. Both Debtors are now employed and generate regular monthly income. The Debtors' primary asset consists of a rental property located at 6220 Palladio Lane, Fontana, CA 92336 (the "Rental Property"), which they rent out for an additional $3,100 in monthly income [see Doc. No. 85].

On March 13, 2019, the Debtors obtained an order granting their motion to value the Rental Property at $435,000 for purposes of plan confirmation [Doc. No. 45]. On March 19, 2019, the Debtors obtained an order granting their motion to value their 2016 Honda Accord (the "Vehicle") at $15,977 for purposes of plan confirmation, which resulted in the bifurcation of American Honda Finance's claim into a secured claim of $15,977 and an unsecured claim of $3,731.60 [Doc. No. 50] (the "Vehicle Valuation Order").

The Debtors presently seek approval of their First Amended Disclosure Statement (the "Amended Disclosure Statement"). Below is a description of the material provisions of the Debtors' Amended Plan:

Administrative Claims

The Debtors anticipate that administrative fees for professionals will be approximately $14,529 on the Effective Date. The Debtors propose to pay all administrative claims in full, on the Effective Date, from available cash on hand and with the assistance of a one-time $7,000 family contribution payment.

Priority Tax Claims

The Debtors propose to pay the Internal Revenue Service's (the "IRS") claim of $1,968, in full, plus 6% interest, within five years from the Petition Date, by making equal monthly installments of $32.50 beginning on the Effective Date.

Class 5(a) – Secured Claim of Wells Fargo Bank, National Association ("Wells Fargo")

Wells Fargo holds a first-priority deed of trust against the Rental Property securing debt in the approximate amount of $382,478.36. The Debtors propose to pay Wells Fargo's claim in full, plus 5% interest, by making monthly installment payments of $2,053.23 over a thirty-year period, beginning October 1, 2019. Wells Fargo's claim is impaired, and it is entitled to vote on the Amended Plan.

Chapter 11

Honda holds a perfected security interest in the Vehicle. Pursuant to the Vehicle Valuation Order, Honda holds a secured claim of $15,977 and an unsecured claim of $3,731.60. Accordingly, the Debtors propose to pay Honda's secured claim in full, plus 6.75% interest, by making monthly installment payments of $314 over a five-year period. Honda's claim is impaired, and it is entitled to vote on the Amended Plan.

Class 6(b) – General Unsecured Claims

This class consists of all allowed general unsecured claims, which the Debtors estimate hold aggregate claims in the amount of $29,776.01. The Debtors propose to pay this class 4% of their claims, without interest, over a 5-year period by making equal pro-rata monthly installment payments totaling $19.85. This class is impaired and entitled to vote on the Amended Plan.

Means of Implementation

The Debtors' Plan will be funded from the following sources:

- i. Approximately $8,917.81 anticipated cash on hand on the Effective Date.
- ii. A one-time $7,000 family contribution.
- iii. Future disposable income for 5 years. The Debtors anticipate having sufficient income to cover all proposed plan payments.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Section 1125 requires a disclosure statement to contain "information of a kind, and in sufficient detail, as far as is reasonably practicable in light of the nature and history of the debtor and the condition of the debtor's books and records . . . that would enable. . . a hypothetical investor of the relevant class to make an informed judgment about the plan." In determining whether a disclosure statement provides adequate information, "the court shall consider the complexity of the case, the benefit of additional information to creditors and other parties in interest, and the cost of providing additional information." 11 U.S.C. § 1125(a). Courts interpreting § 1125(a) have explained that the "primary purpose of a disclosure statement is to give the creditors the information they need to decide whether to accept the plan." In re Monnier Bros., 755 F.2d 1336, 1342 (8th Cir. 1985). Relevant factors for evaluating the adequacy of a disclosure statement may include: (1) the events which led to the filing of a bankruptcy petition; (2) a description of the available assets and their value; (3) the anticipated future of the company; (4) the source of information stated in the disclosure statement; (5) a disclaimer; (6) the present condition of the debtor while in Chapter 11; (7) the scheduled claims; (8) the estimated return to creditors under a Chapter 7 liquidation; (9) the accounting method utilized to produce financial information and the name of the accountants responsible for such information; (10) the future management of the debtor; (11) the Chapter 11 plan or a summary thereof; (12) the estimated administrative expenses, including attorneys' and accountants' fees; (13) the collectability of accounts receivable; (14) financial information, data, valuations or projections relevant to the creditors' decision to accept or reject the Chapter 11 plan; (15) information relevant to the risks posed to creditors under the plan; (16) the actual or projected realizable value from recovery of preferential or otherwise voidable transfers; (17) litigation likely to arise in a nonbankruptcy context; (18) tax attributes of the debtor; and (19) the relationship of the debtor with affiliates.

In re Metrocraft Pub. Services, Inc., 39 B.R. 567, 568 (Bankr. Ga. 1984). However, “[d]isclosure of all factors is not necessary in every case.” Id.

The Court finds that the Amended Disclosure Statement is inadequate in the following respects:

1. The Amended Disclosure Statement is not supported by financial projections. The Debtors are directed to submit financial projections for the 5-year duration of the plan in support of the second amended disclosure statement.
2. Part 3.C. states that the Debtors’ future disposable income will be $39.27, as set forth in Exhibit A1. The Debtors also disclose that their monthly rental income from the Rental Property increased in July 2019. However, it appears that the Debtors have not included the increased rental income figure in their Exhibit A1 calculations. Therefore, the Debtors should submit a revised Exhibit A1.

3. The proposed distribution for Class 6(b) general unsecured creditors is not clear. Part 1.D states that Class 6(b) creditors will be paid 4% of their allowed claims without interest in equal monthly installments over 5 years. However, the Debtors also discuss payments to this class in terms of quarterly payments. See Acevedo Declaration, ¶ 33. The Court also notes that Paragraph 18.c. of Exhibit A1 states that payments to unsecured creditors will be $39.27. It appears the correct figure is the $1,191.04 figure (4% of $29,776.01 = $1,191.04), but the Debtors should strike the language in Paragraph 18.c of Exhibit A1 that states "(Payment to Unsecured Creditors)," and also clarify whether payments to Class 6(b) will be made on a monthly or quarterly basis.

Additionally, although the following are plan confirmation issues, the Debtors should be aware of the following issues:

1. The Debtors have not attached a declaration from Catalina Vasquez evidencing her financial ability to make the proposed $7,000 cash contribution. In support of any plan confirmation brief, the Debtors should be prepared to attach evidence to support this payment.
2. The Debtors are proposing to retain their interest in the Rental Property, while only paying general unsecured creditors 4% of their claims and not providing any new value contributions. Accordingly, the Debtors should be aware that they will not be able to satisfy the absolute priority rule unless Class 6(b) votes to accept the Plan.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the approval of the Amended Disclosure Statement is DENIED. The Debtors are directed to file a second amended disclosure statement and second amended plan by no later than September 20, 2019 and self-calendar a hearing for October 16, 2019 at 10:00 a.m.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Debtors-in-possession, Samuel Antonio Acevedo and Lucy Acevedo (together, the "Debtors") filed this voluntary Chapter 11 case on April 3, 2018 (the "Petition Date"). Both Debtors are employed and generate regular monthly income. The Debtors' primary asset consists of a rental property located at 6220 Palladio Lane, Fontana, CA 92336 (the "Rental Property"), which they rent out for an additional $2,450 in monthly income.

On March 13, 2019, the Debtors obtained an order granting their motion to value the Rental Property at $435,000 for purposes of plan confirmation [Doc. No. 45]. On March 19, 2019, the Debtors obtained an order granting their motion to value their 2016 Honda Accord (the "Vehicle") at $15,977 for purposes of plan confirmation, which resulted in the bifurcation of American Honda Finance's claim into a secured claim of $15,977 and an unsecured claim of $3,731.60 [Doc. No. 50] (the "Vehicle Valuation Order").

The Debtors presently seek approval of their Disclosure Statement. The following provisions are the material provisions of the Debtors' Plan:

Administrative Claims

The Debtors anticipate that administrative fees for professionals will be approximately $15,968 on the Effective Date. The Debtors propose to pay all administrative claims in full, on the Effective Date, from available cash on hand and with the assistance of a one-time $6,000 family contribution payment.

Priority Tax Claims

The Debtors propose to pay the Internal Revenue Service's (the "IRS") claim of $1,968 in full over five years from the Petition Date, with 6% interest, in equal monthly installments of $32.50.

Class 5(a) – Secured Claim of Wells Fargo Bank, National Association ("Wells Fargo")

Wells Fargo holds a first-priority deed of trust against the Rental Property securing debt in the approximate amount of $382,478.36. The Debtors propose to pay Wells Fargo's claim in full, plus 5% interest, by making monthly installment payments of $2,053.23 over a thirty-year period, beginning October 1, 2019. Wells Fargo's claim is impaired, and it is entitled to vote on the Plan.

Class 5(b) – Secured Claim of American Honda Finance Corporation ("Honda")

Honda holds a perfected security interest in the Vehicle. Pursuant to the Vehicle Valuation Order, Honda holds a secured claim of $15,977 and an unsecured claim of $3,731.60. However, the Debtors are proposing to pay Honda the full amount of its $19,708.60 claim, plus 6.75% interest, by making monthly installment payments of $388 over a five-year period, beginning October 1, 2019. Honda's claim is impaired, and it is entitled to vote on the Plan.

Class 6(b) – General Unsecured Claims

This class consists of all allowed general unsecured claims, which the Debtors estimate hold aggregate claims in the amount of $26,044.41. The Debtors propose to pay this class 4% of their claims, without interest, over a 5-year period by making equal pro-rata monthly installment payments totaling $18.48. This class is impaired and entitled to vote on the Plan.

Means of Implementation

The Debtors' Plan will be funded from the following sources:

- iv. Approximately $10,477 in anticipated cash on hand on the Effective Date.
- v. A one-time $6,000 family contribution.
- vi. Future disposable income for 5 years. The Debtors anticipate having sufficient income to cover all proposed plan payments. After deducting expenses and making all of the foregoing proposed Plan payments, the Debtors projections indicate that they will only have approximately $1/month in net monthly income.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Section 1125 requires a disclosure statement to contain “information of a kind, and in sufficient detail, as far as is reasonably practicable in light of the nature and history of the debtor and the condition of the debtor’s books and records . . . that would enable. . . a hypothetical investor of the relevant class to make an informed judgment about the plan.” In determining whether a disclosure statement provides adequate information, “the court shall consider the complexity of the case, the benefit of additional information to creditors and other parties in interest, and the cost of providing additional information.” 11 U.S.C. § 1125(a). Courts interpreting § 1125(a) have explained that the “primary purpose of a disclosure statement is to give the creditors the information they need to decide whether to accept the plan.” In re Monnier Bros., 755 F.2d 1336, 1342 (8th Cir. 1985). “According to the legislative history, the parameters of what constitutes adequate information are intended to be flexible.” In re Diversified Investors Fund XVII, 91 B.R. 559, 560 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1988). “Adequate information will be determined by the facts and circumstances of

Relevant factors for evaluating the adequacy of a disclosure statement may include: (1) the events which led to the filing of a bankruptcy petition; (2) a description of the available assets and their value; (3) the anticipated future of the company; (4) the source of information stated in the disclosure statement; (5) a disclaimer; (6) the present condition of the debtor while in Chapter 11; (7) the scheduled claims; (8) the estimated return to creditors under a Chapter 7 liquidation; (9) the accounting method utilized to produce financial information and the name of the accountants responsible for such information; (10) the future management of the debtor; (11) the Chapter 11 plan or a summary thereof; (12) the estimated administrative expenses, including attorneys' and accountants' fees; (13) the collectability of accounts receivable; (14) financial information, data, valuations or projections relevant to the creditors' decision to accept or reject the Chapter 11 plan; (15) information relevant to the risks posed to creditors under the plan; (16) the actual or projected realizable value from recovery of preferential or otherwise voidable transfers; (17) litigation likely to arise in a nonbankruptcy context; (18) tax attributes of the debtor; and (19) the relationship of the debtor with affiliates.

In re Metrocraft Pub. Services, Inc., 39 B.R. 567, 568 (Bankr. Ga. 1984). However, “[d]isclosure of all factors is not necessary in every case.” Id.

The Court finds that the Disclosure Statement is inadequate in the following respects:

1. The Debtors’ Liquidation Analysis (Disclosure Statement, Part 4, page 5) does not contain adequate information because it appears the only asset the Debtors have included in their "Net liquidation value of Debtors’ assets" is the anticipated cash on hand as of the Effective Date. While the Debtors did attach a copy of their Schedules A/B, they failed to include a comprehensive liquidation analysis for each asset. The Court finds this particularly troubling because there appears to be approximately $52,521.64 in equity in the Rental

Chapter 11

Property and the Debtors have not included any analysis to support their conclusion that the Rental Property would have a $0.00 liquidation value if the case were converted to a Chapter 7

2. The Disclosure Statement does not contain any discussion of the events which led to the bankruptcy filing, therefore creditors are unable to adequately evaluate the risks associated with voting in favor of the Debtors' Plan.
3. The Debtors' proposal to pay Honda the full amount of its Proof of Claim despite the Court's Vehicle Valuation Order bifurcating $3,731.60 of the claim into an unsecured claim is unsupported by any meaningful explanation. The Debtors appear to be attempting to overpay Honda by paying its $3,731.60 unsecured claim in full, with interest, while paying other similarly situated unsecured creditors only 4% of their claims. Accordingly, the Debtors' amended disclosure statement either needs to amend its proposed treatment of Honda's claim or provide a meaningful explanation for creditors to evaluation whether this payment is fair and equitable.

For the foregoing reasons, the Disclosure Statement does not contain adequate information and must be amended.

Additionally, although the following are plan confirmation issues, the Debtors should be aware of the following issues:

3. The Debtors have not attached a declaration or declaration(s) from the family member(s) contemplated to make the $6,000 family contribution payment or any evidence to support the financial ability of that person or persons to make such payment. In support of any plan confirmation brief, the Debtors should be prepared to attach evidence to support this payment.
4. The Debtors' net monthly income after making all anticipated Plan payments is less than $1. Therefore, the Debtors' plan confirmation brief must include adequate briefing to satisfy this Court that confirmation of the Plan is not likely to be followed by liquidation in the event any unforeseen expenses arise.
5. The Debtors are proposing to retain their interest in the Rental Property, while only paying general unsecured creditors 4% of their claims and not providing any new value contributions. Accordingly, the Debtors should be aware that they will not be able to satisfy the absolute priority rule unless Class 5(b) votes to accept the Plan.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Debtors-in-possession, Samuel Antonio Acevedo and Lucy Acevedo (together, the "Debtors"), filed this voluntary Chapter 11 case on April 3, 2018 (the "Petition Date"). The Debtors' primary asset consists of a rental property located at 6220 Palladio Lane, Fontana, CA 92336 (the "Property"), which they rent out for an additional $3,100 in monthly income. The Debtors state that they are holding approximately $12,196.43 in cash on hand generated from the Property. The Property is subject to a first-priority deed of trust in favor of Wells Fargo Bank (the "Bank") securing a claim in the amount of $381,367.03. On March 13, 2019, the Debtors obtained an order granting their motion to value the Rental Property at $435,000 for purposes of plan confirmation [Doc. No. 45].

The Debtors presently seek an order authorizing the use of cash collateral to make a one-time payment to Debtor's counsel, the Law Offices of Lionel E. Giron ("Counsel"), for payment of recently approved interim fees in the amount of $8,000. In support of the Cash Collateral Motion the Debtors attached the Court's Interim Fee Order.

Chapter 11

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Section 363(c)(2) requires court authorization for use of cash collateral unless "each entity that has an interest in such cash collateral consents." In the Ninth Circuit, satisfaction of § 363(c)(2)(A) requires the "affirmative express consent" of the secured creditor; "implied consent," resulting from the failure of the secured creditor to object to use of cash collateral, does not satisfy the requirements of the statute. Freightliner Market Development Corp. v. Silver Wheel Freightlines, Inc., 823 F.2d 362, 368-69 (9th Cir. 1987). Absent affirmative express consent, the Debtor "may not use" cash collateral absent the Court's determination that the use is "in accordance with the provisions" of § 363 – that is, that the secured creditor's interest in the cash collateral is adequately protected. 11 U.S.C. §§ 363(c)(2)(B), 363(e).

A secured creditor's interest is adequately protected if the value of its collateral is not declining; the secured creditor is not entitled to payment to compensate for its inability to foreclose upon the collateral during bankruptcy proceedings. United Savings Association of Texas v. Timbers of Inwood Forest Associates, Ltd., 484 U.S. 365, 382 (1988). Section 361 sets forth three non-exclusive examples of what may constitute adequate protection: (1) periodic cash payments equivalent to decrease in value; (2) an additional or replacement lien on other property; or (3) other relief that provides the indubitable equivalent. See In re Mellor, 734 F.2d 1396, 1400 (9th Cir. 1984).

In this case, the Court finds that the Bank is over-secured and adequately protected by a 4.3% equity cushion (after deducting costs of sale). The Court further finds that the Bank is adequately protected because there is no evidence in the record to suggest that the Property is declining in value or that the Debtors are not current on their post-petition monthly mortgage obligations to the Bank. Additionally, because an award of interim professional fees is always subject to disgorgement, it does not appear that the Bank's interests will be prejudiced by the proposed use of its cash collateral.

Finally, the Court deems the Bank's failure to file a response or opposition to the Cash Collateral Motion as its consent to the granting of the motion pursuant to Local

Moyron

Docket 2913

Tentative Ruling:

9/3/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Motion is GRANTED in its entirety.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Debtors' Notice of Motion and Motion for Entry of an Order Pursuant to Section 1121 of the Bankruptcy Code Extending the Exclusive Periods to File a Chapter 11 Plan and Solicit Acceptances [Doc. No. 2913] (the "Motion")
 - a) Declaration of Service by Kurtzman Carson Consultants, LLC Regarding Docket Numbers 2893 and 2913 [Doc. No. 2294]
- 2) Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors' Response to Debtors' Notice of Motion and Second Motion for Entry of an Order Pursuant to Section 1121 of the Bankruptcy Code Extending the Exclusive Periods to File a Chapter 11 Plan and Solicit Acceptances [Doc. No. 2316]

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On August 31, 2018, Verity Health Systems of California ("VHS") and certain of its subsidiaries (collectively, the "Debtors") filed voluntary petitions for relief under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. On August 31, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the Debtors' motion for joint administration of the Debtors' Chapter 11 cases. Doc. No. 17.

On December 28, 2018, the Court entered an order extending the exclusive period within which the Debtors could file and solicit votes on a plan of reorganization from December 29, 2018 and February 27, 2019, to April 28, 2019 (filing a plan) and June 27, 2019 (obtaining acceptances). Doc. No. 899. On June 7, 2019, the Court entered an order further extending the exclusivity period to August 26, 2019 (filing a plan) and October 25, 2019 (obtaining acceptances). Doc. No. 2520.

The Debtors move to further extend the exclusivity period to October 25, 2019 (filing a plan) and December 24, 2019 (obtaining acceptances), without prejudice to the Debtors' ability to seek further extensions.

The Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors (the "Committee") has no objection to the Motion. No other opposition to the Motion is on file.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Section 1121(b) gives the Debtor the exclusive right to file a plan during the first 120 days after the date of the order for relief. Section 1121(d) permits the Court to reduce or increase the exclusivity period "for cause." Section 1121 provides the bankruptcy court "maximum flexibility to suit various types of reorganization proceedings." In re Public Service Company of New Hampshire, 88 B.R. 521, 534 (Bankr. D.N.H. 1988). A "transcendent consideration is whether adjustment of exclusivity will facilitate moving the case forward toward a fair and equitable resolution." Official Comm. of Unsecured Creditors v. Henry Mayo Newhall Mem'l Hosp. (In re Henry Mayo Newhall Mem'l Hosp.), 282 B.R. 444, 453 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2002). In determining whether cause exists to extend the exclusivity period, courts consider a variety of factors, including:

- 1) the size and complexity of the case;
- 2) the necessity of sufficient time to permit the debtor to negotiate a plan of reorganization and prepare adequate information;
- 3) the existence of good faith progress toward reorganization;
- 4) the fact that the debtor is paying its bills as they become due;
- 5) whether the debtor has demonstrated reasonable prospects for filing a viable plan;
- 6) whether the debtor has made progress in negotiations with its creditors;
- 7) the amount of time which has elapsed in the case;
- 8) whether the debtor is seeking an extension of exclusivity in order to pressure creditors to submit to the debtor's reorganization demands; and
- 9) whether an unresolved contingency exists.

In re Dow Corning Corp., 208 B.R. 661, 664–65 (Bankr. E.D. Mich. 1997).

The Court finds that cause exists to further extend the exclusivity period to October 25, 2019 (filing a plan) and December 24, 2019 (obtaining acceptances), as requested by the Debtors. First, these are complex cases. In addition to bankruptcy law, the Debtors' sale of their hospitals implicates issues of healthcare regulatory law, labor law, and mergers and acquisitions law. Second, the Debtors have made significant progress in these cases. The Debtors' sale of O'Connor Hospital ("O'Connor") and Saint Louise Regional Hospital ("Saint Louise") to the County of Santa Clara closed on February 28, 2019. On May 2, 2019, the Debtors obtained approval of the sale of substantially all the assets of St. Francis Medical Center, St. Vincent Medical Center, St. Vincent Dialysis Center, and Seton Medical Center (including Seton Coastside) to Strategic Global Management, Inc. ("SGM" and the "SGM Sale," respectively). Doc. No. 2306.

Third, the Debtors require additional time to negotiate a plan of reorganization. The Debtors have submitted the SGM Sale to the review of the California Attorney General, which review remains ongoing. The timing of the closing of the SGM Sale affects any plan the Debtors could propose.

Fourth, the Debtors are paying their ordinary course administrative expense as they come due. As a result, creditors are not prejudiced by the requested extension.

Fifth, the Debtors have demonstrated reasonable prospects for filing a viable plan. The Debtors have sold two of their hospitals and have obtained approval of the sale of their remaining hospitals. The Debtors' ability to execute on the sale process shows that they will be able to propose a viable plan.

Sixth, the Debtors have made progress in negotiations with creditors. The Debtors have prepared drafts of a Plan and Disclosure Statement, and have discussed issues relating to the Plan with the Committee and other stakeholders.

Seventh, the cases have not been pending for an unreasonable amount of time in view of their complexity. The cases have been pending for approximately one year.

Eighth, the Debtors did not seek the extension to pressure creditors. The Committee does not object to the requested extension and no other creditors have objected.

Ninth, various unresolved contingencies exist, the most significant of which is the need to close the SGM Sale.

In sum, consideration of the Dow Corning factors supports the extension of exclusivity requested by the Debtors. The Motion is GRANTED in its entirety.

The Debtors shall submit an order incorporating this tentative ruling by reference within seven days of the hearing.

Docket 2893

Tentative Ruling:

9/3/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Motion is GRANTED in its entirety.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Debtors' Notice of Motion and Motion for Order Authorizing Disposal of Patient Records [Doc. No. 2893] (the "Motion")
 - a) Declaration of Service by Kurtzman Carson Consultants, LLC Regarding Docket Numbers 2893 and 2913 [Doc. No. 2938]
- 2) Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors' Response to the Debtors' Motion for Order Authorizing Disposal of Patient Records [Doc. No. 2933]

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On August 31, 2018 (the "Petition Date"), Verity Health Systems of California ("VHS") and certain of its subsidiaries filed voluntary petitions for relief under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. On August 31, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the Debtors' motion for joint administration of the Debtors' Chapter 11 cases. Doc. No. 17.

The Debtors move for authorization to dispose of certain patient records in the manner set forth in § 351. The medical records at issue are medical records of patients who were minors (the "Minors' Patient Records") when treated at the general acute care hospital (the "Hospital") operated by Robert F. Kennedy Medical Center ("RFKMC"). The Hospital closed fifteen years ago. Debtor VHS is in possession of the RFKMC medical records because when the Hospital closed in 2004, the records were retained by the Debtors' predecessor, the Daughters of Charity Health System. The Debtors are paying for storage of at least 16,591 Minors' Patient Records at a cost of $3,000 per year.

opposition to the Motion. No other opposition to the Motion is on file.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Section 351 provides:

If a health care business commences a case under chapter 7, 9, or 11, and the trustee does not have a sufficient amount of funds to pay for the storage of patient records in the manner required under applicable Federal or State law, the following requirements shall apply:

(1) The trustee shall—

(A) promptly publish notice, in 1 or more appropriate newspapers, that if patient records are not claimed by the patient or an insurance provider (if applicable law permits the insurance provider to make that claim) by the date that is 365 days after the date of that notification, the trustee will destroy the patient records; and

(B) during the first 180 days of the 365-day period described in subparagraph (A), promptly attempt to notify directly each patient that is the subject of the patient records and appropriate insurance carrier concerning the patient records by mailing to the most recent known address of that patient, or a family member or contact person for that patient, and to the appropriate insurance carrier an appropriate notice regarding the claiming or disposing of patient records.

(2) If, after providing the notification under paragraph (1), patient records are not claimed during the 365-day period described under that paragraph, the trustee shall mail, by certified mail, at the end of such 365-day period a written request to each appropriate Federal agency to request permission from that agency to deposit the patient records with that agency, except that no Federal agency is required to accept patient records under this paragraph.

(3) If, following the 365-day period described in paragraph (2) and after providing the notification under paragraph (1), patient records are not claimed by a patient or insurance provider, or request is not granted by a Federal agency to deposit such records with that agency, the trustee shall destroy those records by—

(A) if the records are written, shredding or burning the records; or

(B) if the records are magnetic, optical, or other electronic records, by otherwise destroying those records so that those records cannot be retrieved.

Here, the Debtors intend to comply with all requirements of § 351 with respect to the Minors' Patients Records. Specifically, the Debtors will:

- 1) Publish notice of the proposed disposal of the Minors' Patient Records in a newspaper of general circulation in Los Angeles (the "Published Notice");
- 2) Within 180 days of the Published Notice, notify patients and/or insurance carriers of their right to claim the applicable records;
- 3) Request permission from the United States Department of Health and Human Services ("DHHS") to deposit any unclaimed records with the DHHS;
- 4) To the extent that records remain unclaimed and/or are not accepted for deposit with the DHHS, destroy the records in the manner specified in § 351(3).

The Minors' Patient Records impose an unnecessary financial burden upon the Debtors' estates. The Debtors intend to dispose of the Minors' Patient Records in the manner specified in § 351. The Motion is GRANTED in its entirety.

The Debtors shall submit a conforming order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing.

#104.00 APPLICANT: DAVID M GOODRICH, Trustee

Hearing re [286] and [287] Trustee's Final Report and Applications for Compensation

Docket 0

Tentative Ruling:

9/3/2019

On June 8, 2017, the Court entered an Order on Final Fee Applications Allowing Payment of: (1) Court and U.S. Trustee Fees; and (2) Final Fees and Expenses of the Trustee and Professionals [Doc. No. 276] (the "Final Fee Order"). On August 10, 2017, the Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee") filed a Final Account, certifying that the estate had been fully administered. On September 22, 2017, the case was closed.

On May 17, 2018, upon the motion of the United States Trustee (the "UST"), the case was reopened so that the Trustee could file an amended Trustee's Final Report. The amendment was necessary because the Trustee had inadvertently omitted a Chapter 11 administrative claim asserted by Montgomery Management Company ("Montgomery") in the amount of $38,800.00.

The Amended Trustee's Final Report (the "Amended TFR") provides for a payment of $17,761.33 to Montgomery on account of its $38,800.00 administrative claim. The Trustee's treatment of Montgomery's administrative claim is approved.

Because the estate is administratively insolvent, the amount to be paid to the Trustee and the professionals employed by the estate will be reduced to enable partial payment of Montgomery's administrative claim. The Trustee has already made interim payments to the estate's professionals in accordance with the Final Fee Order.

No objection has been filed in response to the Amended TRF. The court approves the fees and expenses, and payment, as requested by the Trustee, as follows:

Total Fees: $6,752.45 (only $3,752.45 to be paid as a result of the estate's administrative insolvency)

Total Expenses: $13.25 (to be paid in full)

Total fees allowed: $51,178.37

Interim fee payments to date: $45,178.37 (no further amounts to be paid)

Total expenses allowed: $408.51

Miller For Summary Judgment or, in the Alternative, for Summary Adjudication of Issues; Memorandum of Points and Authorities, with proof of service, , Plaintiff Elissa D Miller, Chapter 7 Trustee (Werth, Steven)

Docket 21

Tentative Ruling:

Updated on 9/04/19 to reflect an untimely request for a continuance filed by the Defendants:

For the reasons set forth below, the Motion is GRANTED. The Trustee and the Defendants shall appear to advise the Court whether they are willing to stipulate to dismissal of the remaining claims for alter ego and conspiracy.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Notice of Motion and Motion of Elissa D. Miller for Summary Judgment or, in the Alternative, for Summary Adjudication of Issues [Doc. No. 21] (the "Motion")
 - a) Request for Judicial Notice in Support of [Motion] [Doc. No. 22]
 - b) Proposed Statement of Uncontroverted Facts and Conclusions of Law Regarding [Motion] [Doc. No. 23] (the "SUF")
 - c) Declaration of Steven F. Werth in Support of [Motion] [Doc. No. 24]
- 2) No opposition to the Motion is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Rosa Huong Duong (the "Debtor") filed a voluntary Chapter 7 petition on September 28, 2018. On February 11, 2019, the Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee") filed a Complaint for (1) Avoidance and Recovery of Fraudulent Conveyance Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §§ 544, 548, and 550, (2) Alter Ego, and (3) Conspiracy to Commit Fraudulent Transfer [Doc. No. 1] (the "Complaint") against Mik H. Mai ("Mai"), DLMRT Corporation, Inc. ("DLMRT"), the Debtor, and Pier Duong ("Duong," and together with Mai, DLMRT, and the Debtor, the "Defendants"). The Complaint seeks to avoid, as actually and constructively fraudulent, the Debtor's transfer of property located at 8809 E. Fairview Ave., San Gabriel, CA 91775 (the "Property") to Mai, DLMRT, Duong, and the Debtor. [Note 1] The Complaint also alleges that the Debtor is the alter ego of DLMRT and seeks a judgment that DLMRT is jointly and severally liable for the debts of the Debtor. Finally, the Complaint alleges that the Defendants conspired to commit fraud upon the Debtor's creditors by transferring the Property.

The Trustee moves for summary judgment on her claims for avoidance of the transfer of the Property as actually and constructively fraudulent and for recovery of the Property or the value thereof. The Trustee does not seek summary judgment on her claims for alter ego and conspiracy to commit a fraudulent transfer. In the event the Motion is granted, the Trustee anticipates stipulating with Defendants to dismiss the claims for alter ego and conspiracy to commit a fraudulent transfer.

On the day prior to the hearing on the Motion, Defendants filed an Opposition to Motion for Summary Judgment and Request for Continuance [Doc. No. 29] (the "Continuance Request"). Defendants request that the hearing on the Motion be continued for at least eight weeks. Defendants state that they intend to file a motion to allow late responses to Requests for Admission that were served upon the Defendants on April 24, 2019. In support of the Continuance Request, Defendants' counsel, David Lally, states that he has been experiencing severe pain over the past six months in connection with shoulder surgery.

II. Findings and Conclusions

1. The Continuance Request is Denied

The material facts set forth in the declaration of David Lally (the "Lally Decl.") regarding his recent health issues are as follows:

- 1) In March 2019, Lally's shoulder froze. The constant pain prevented him from working for more than ten minutes at a time. Lally Decl. at ¶¶ 23–24. Lally's physicians refused to prescribe pain medication, citing the opioid epidemic. Id. at ¶ 25.
- 2) As a result of delays involving issues with insurance and the availability of doctors, Lally did not have surgery until July 2, 2019. Id. at ¶¶ 31–32.
- 3) Lally's pain made it difficult for him to sleep, reducing his productivity. Id. at ¶ 37 ("Needless to say, the lack of sleep eliminated any motivation to get things done.").

Chapter 7

The Court is sympathetic to Lally's health difficulties and understands that appropriate accommodations must be afforded to counsel who become ill during the course of representation. However, Lally's failure to defend against the Motion cannot be attributed solely to his health challenges, but instead reflects a lack of diligence.

On Tuesday, May 28, 2019, Lally send opposing counsel an e-mail requesting an extension of time to respond to the Requests for Admission (the "RFAs") that had been served on April 24, 2019. Continuance Request, Ex. 4. Lally proposed responding to the RFAs by Wednesday, June 5. Id. Opposing counsel consented to the requested extension. Id. Lally failed to complete the RFAs by the extended deadline that he had proposed. Nothing in the record indicates that Lally took any further action to secure an additional extension of time to complete the RFAs. That is, Lally was afforded accommodations by opposing counsel on account of his health issues, yet he still failed to complete the RFAs.

On June 25, 2019, Lally appeared before the Court in an unrelated trial matter, Torices et al. v. Uzeta, Adv. No. 2:18-ap-01103-ER. Lally represented the defendants and was present the entire day. As the transcript of the trial reflects [Doc. No. 126, Adv. No. 2:18-ap-01103-ER], Lally conducted a cross-examination of two witnesses and a direct examination of one witness. Notwithstanding his health difficulties, Lally was able to effectively represent his clients at the trial.

On July 17, 2019, the Trustee filed the instant Motion. Under the Local Bankruptcy Rules, Lally had until August 14, 2019—approximately one month—to file an opposition on behalf of his clients. The opposition was not due until well after Lally's shoulder surgery took place on July 2, 2019.

Lally states that the pain in his shoulder continued even after the surgery, until the second or third week of August. Lally Decl. at ¶ 33. That does not excuse Lally's dilatory conduct. Lally clearly had the ability to function even before the surgery took place, as demonstrated by his representation at the June 25, 2019 trial. Lally had more than sufficient time to oppose the Motion or, if that proved impossible, seek to withdraw from representation. See California Rule of Professional Conduct (providing that a lawyer "shall withdraw from representation of a client if the lawyer's ... physical condition renders it unreasonably difficult to carry out the representation effectively"). Instead, Lally waited until the day before the hearing on the Motion to request a continuance.

Lally's contention that his delay should not be imputed to his clients ignores the fact that attorneys act as agents for their clients. As the Supreme Court explained in Link v. Wabash Railroad Co., 370 U.S. 626 (1962):

Chapter 7

There is certainly no merit to the contention that dismissal of petitioner's claim because of his counsel's unexcused conduct imposes an unjust penalty on the client. Petitioner voluntarily chose this attorney as his representative in the action, and he cannot now avoid the consequences of the acts or omissions of this freely selected agent. Any other notion would be wholly inconsistent with our system of representative litigation, in which each party is deemed bound by the acts of his lawyer-agent and is considered to have "notice of all facts, notice of which can be charged upon the attorney."

Id. at 633–34 (internal citation omitted).

Wabash's holding has been subsequently reiterated. In Hamilton v. Neptune Orient Lines, Ltd., 811 F.2d 498, 500 (9th Cir. 1987), the court held that "[t]he plaintiff cannot avoid ... dismissal by arguing that [he] is an innocent party who will be made to suffer for the errors of [his] attorney."

For these reasons, the Continuance Request is DENIED.

2. The Motion is Granted

Summary judgment is appropriate "if the movant shows that there is no genuine dispute as to any material facts and the movant is entitled to judgment as a matter of law." Civil Rule 56 (made applicable to these proceedings by Bankruptcy Rule 7056). [Note 2] The moving party has the burden of establishing the absence of a genuine issue of material fact and that it is entitled to judgment as a matter of law. Celotex Corp. v. Catrett, 477 U.S. 317, 323 (1986). "[S]ummary judgment will not lie if the dispute about a material fact is "genuine," that is, if the evidence is such that a reasonable jury could return a verdict for the nonmoving party." Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc., 477 U.S. 242, 248 (1986). "A fact is 'material' only if it might affect the outcome of the case[.]" Fresno Motors, LLC v. Mercedes Benz USA, LLC, 771 F.3d 1119, 1125 (9th Cir. 2014). If the moving party shows the absence of a genuine issue of material fact, the nonmoving party must "go beyond the pleadings and by her own affidavits, or by the 'depositions, answers to interrogatories, and admissions on file,' designate 'specific facts showing that there is a genuine issue for trial.'" Celotex, 477 U.S. at 324 (quoting Fed. R. Civ. P. 56(e)). The court is "required to view all facts and draw all reasonable inferences in favor of the nonmoving party" when reviewing the Motion. Brosseau v. Haugen, 543 U.S. 194, 195 n.2 (2004).

upon each of the Defendants. None of the Defendants responded to the RFAs. Civil Rule 36(a)(3) provides that if a response to a RFA is not timely served, the matters set forth in the RFA are admitted against the responding party. By failing to respond to the RFAs, Defendants are deemed to have admitted all of the matters set forth in the RFAs.

LBR 7056-1(f) provides:

In determining any motion for summary judgment or partial summary adjudication, the court may assume that the material facts as claimed and adequately supported by the movant are admitted to exist without controversy, except to the extent that such facts are:

- 1) Included in the "statement of genuine issues," and
- 2) Adequately controverted by declaration or other evidence filed in opposition to the motion.

Defendants have not filed any evidence controverting the facts set forth in the Trustee's Proposed Statement of Uncontroverted Facts and Conclusions of Law (the "SUF") filed in support of the Motion. Having reviewed the SUF, the Court finds that the facts set forth therein are supported by adequate evidence. The facts set forth in the SUF are deemed admitted by the Defendants.

For the reasons set forth below, the Court finds that the Trustee is entitled to summary judgment in her favor with respect to her claims for avoidance of the transfer of the Property as actually and constructively fraudulent and for recovery of the Property or the value thereof.

A. Material Facts as to Which there is No Genuine Dispute

Having reviewed the Motion, the pleadings on file, and the evidence submitted in support of the Motion, the Court finds that there is no genuine dispute as to the following material facts:

- 1) On September 6, 2005, the Debtor purchased the Property for $830,000.
- 2) The Property is subject to a first priority deed of trust to secure payment of a loan in the principal amount of $616,000, Document No. 05-2136935.
- 3) In connection with the purchase of the Property, the Debtor encumbered the Property with a stand-alone second mortgage in the amount of $154,000, Document No. 05-2136936.

- 4) The Property is improved with two residential units.
- 5) Between September 23, 2013 and November 22, 2013, Mai made the following payments to the Debtor, in the aggregate amount of $169,500:
 - a) $50,000 on September 23, 2013 (via a personal check which the Debtor cashed);
 - b) $49,800 on October 22, 2013 (via a personal check which the Debtor cashed);
 - c) $9,000 on October 23, 2013 (via a personal check which the Debtor cashed);
 - d) $13,000 on October 24, 2013 (via a personal check which the Debtor cashed);
 - e) $10,000 on October 24, 2013 (via a wire transfer to the Debtor's account);
 - f) $9,500 on November 5, 2013 (via a personal check which the Debtor endorsed);
 - g) $9,640 on November 11, 2013 (via a personal check which the Debtor endorsed); and
 - h) $9,000 on November 22, 2013 (the record does not specify the manner in which this payment took place).
- 6) At no time did Mai make any payments to the Debtor other than those set forth in ¶ 5, above.
- 7) On June 8, 2016, Mai Tran ("Tran") and Ngan Nguyen ("Nguyen") filed a complaint against the Debtor in the California Superior Court (Case No. EC065291), asserting claims for breach of contract (the "Tran/Nguyen Action").
- 8) On August 3, 2016, default was entered against the Debtor in the Tran/Nguyen Action.
- 9) On October 12, 2016, Mai recorded a Deed of Trust against the Property in the amount of $800,000 as Document No. 20161248275 (the "October 2016 Deed of Trust") (attached to the Complaint as Ex. 1).
- 10) On December 16, 2016, judgment against the Debtor in the amount of $192,557.25 was entered in the Tran/Nguyen Action (the "Tran/Nguyen Judgment").
- 11) On March 7, 2017, Tran and Nguyen recorded an abstract of the Tran/Nguyen Judgment against the Debtor in the Los Angeles County Recorder's Office, Instrument No. 20170263062.

California Secretary of State on behalf of DLMRT (the "Articles") (attached to the Complaint as Ex. 2).

- 13) The Articles reflect that the Debtor is the sole director of DLMRT.
- 14) On June 13, 2017, an unsigned Statement of Information was filed with the California Secretary of State on behalf of DLMRT (the "June 2017 Statement") (attached to the Complaint as Ex. 3).
- 15) The June 2017 Statement reflects that the Debtor was the President, Chief Executive Officer, Secretary, Chief Financial Officer, and Agent for Service of Process of DLMRT.
- 16) On February 14, 2018, Debtor executed a Deed in Lieu of Foreclosure with respect to the Property in favor of Mai, purportedly to satisfy $1,800,000 in unpaid debt (the "Deed in Lieu") (attached to the Complaint as Ex. 5). The Deed in Lieu was recorded with the Los Angeles County Recorder's Office on February 20, 2018, as Document No. 20180166041. At the time of the execution of the Deed in Lieu, the Property had a value in excess of $1,600,000, and the liens recorded against the Property totaled less than $800,000.
- 17) On February 22, 2018, Mai executed a Grant Deed transferring his interest in the Property to DLMRT (the "February 2018 Grant Deed") (attached to the Complaint as Ex. 6).
- 18) The Debtor is currently leasing the two residential units on the Property to third parties.
- 19) According to the Debtor's schedules, the Debtor's only significant asset is an apartment located at 1717 South San Gabriel Blvd., Unit L, San Gabriel, CA 91776 (the "San Gabriel Property"). The San Gabriel Property is worth $340,000 but is subject to liens in the amount of $338,000.

B. The Trustee is Entitled to Summary Judgment on her Claim to Avoid the Transfer of the Property as Actually Fraudulent, Pursuant to § 548(a)(1)

Section 548(a)(1)(A) provides: "The trustee may avoid any transfer ... of an interest of the debtor in property ... that was made or incurred on or within 2 years before the date of the filing of the petition, if the debtor voluntarily or involuntarily made such transfer ... with actual intent to hinder, delay, or defraud any entity to which the debtor was or became, on or after the date that such transfer was made ... indebted."

Because "it is often impracticable, on direct evidence, to demonstrate an actual intent to hinder, delay or defraud creditors," courts "frequently infer fraudulent intent from the circumstances surrounding the transfer, taking particular note of certain recognized indicia or badges of fraud." Acequia, Inc. v. Clinton (In re Acequia, Inc.), 34 F.3d 800, 805 (9th Cir. 1994). Those badges of fraud include "(1) actual or threatened litigation against the debtor; (2) a purported transfer of all or substantially all of the debtor's property; (3) insolvency or other unmanageable indebtedness on the part of the debtor; (4) a special relationship between the debtor and the transferee; and, after the transfer, (5) retention by the debtor of the property involved in the putative transfer." Id.

Multiple badges of fraud apply. None of the following facts are in dispute: The Debtor transferred the Property, through Mai, to DLMRT, an entity she controlled. As a result, the Debtor retained control of the Property. The Debtor continues to receive rental income from the Property's two residential units. The events relating to the transfer occurred in close proximity to events adverse to the Debtor in the Tran/Nguyen Action. Mai recorded the October 2016 Deed of Trust two months after default was entered against the Debtor in the Tran/Nguyen Action. Two months after recordation of the abstract of the Tran/Nguyen Judgment, the Debtor formed DLMRT. Approximately seven months later, the Debtor effectuated the transfer.

The transfer was a transfer of substantially all of the Debtor's property. At the time of the transfer, there was equity in the Property of approximately $800,000. The Debtor's schedules indicate that her only significant asset is the San Gabriel Property, which is worth $340,000 but is encumbered by liens in the amount of $338,000.

The transfer left the Debtor insolvent. In her schedules, the Debtor identified assets in the approximate amount of $360,000 and liabilities in the approximate amount of $970,000.

C. The Trustee is Entitled to Summary Judgment on her Claim to Avoid the Transfer of the Property as Actually Fraudulent, Pursuant to § 544, Applying Cal. Civ. Code § 3439.04(a)(1)

Section 544(b)(1) permits the trustee to "avoid any transfer of an interest of the debtor in property ... that is voidable under applicable law by a creditor holding an unsecured claim that is allowable under section 502 of this title or that is not allowable only under section 502(e) of this title." The "applicable law" in this case is Cal. Civ. Code § 3439.04(a)(1), California's implementation of the Uniform Voidable Transactions Act (the "UVTA"), which provides:

(a) A transfer made or obligation incurred by a debtor is voidable as to a creditor, whether the creditor's claim arose before or after the transfer was made or the obligation was incurred, if the debtor made the transfer or incurred the obligation as follows:

(1) With actual intent to hinder, delay, or defraud any creditor of the debtor....

(b) In determining actual intent under paragraph (1) of subdivision (a), consideration may be given, among other factors, to any or all of the following:

(1) Whether the transfer or obligation was to an insider.

(2) Whether the debtor retained possession or control of the property transferred after the transfer.

(3) Whether the transfer or obligation was disclosed or concealed.

(4) Whether before the transfer was made or obligation was incurred, the debtor had been sued or threatened with suit.

(5) Whether the transfer was of substantially all the debtor's assets.

(6) Whether the debtor absconded.

(7) Whether the debtor removed or concealed assets.

(8) Whether the value of the consideration received by the debtor was reasonably equivalent to the value of the asset transferred or the amount of the obligation incurred.

(9) Whether the debtor was insolvent or became insolvent shortly after the transfer was made or the obligation was incurred.

(10) Whether the transfer occurred shortly before or shortly after a substantial debt was incurred.

(11) Whether the debtor transferred the essential assets of the business to a lienor that transferred the assets to an insider of the debtor.

The transfer was actually fraudulent pursuant to § 544, applying Cal. Civ. Code § 3439.04(a)(1). As noted above, there is no dispute that the Debtor retained control of the Property after the transfer and the transfer was of substantially all of the Debtor's assets. In addition, none of the following facts are in dispute: First, the transfer was concealed by the October 2016 Deed of Trust, which falsely stated that Mai had a claim of $800,000, and was further concealed by the Deed in Lieu, which falsely purported to satisfy an unpaid debt of $1,800,000 to Mai. In actuality Mai's claim against the Debtor was no more than $169,500, the amount of the payments that Mai had made to the Debtor. Second, by way of the Deed in Lieu, the Debtor transferred the Property to a lienor (Mai), who subsequently transferred the Property to an inside of the debtor (DLMRT). Finally, as discussed in Section II.D., below, there is no dispute that the Debtor did not receive reasonably equivalent value in exchange for the transfer.

D. The Trustee is Entitled to Summary Judgment on her Claim to Avoid the Transfer of the Property as Constructively Fraudulent, Pursuant to § 548(a)(1)(B)

Section 548(a)(1)(B) provides that a transfer is avoidable if the debtor "received less than a reasonably equivalent value in exchange for such transfer" and if the debtor:

- 1) was insolvent on the date that such transfer was made ... or became insolvent as a result of such transfer ...;
- 2) was engaged in a business or a transaction, or was about to engage in a business or a transaction, for which any property remaining with the debtor was an unreasonably small capital;
- 3) intended to incur, or believed that the debtor would incur, debts that would be beyond the debtor's ability to pay as such debts matured; or
- 4) made such transfer to or for the benefit of an insider ... under an employment contract and not in the ordinary course of business.

§ 548(a)(1)(B).

The transfer was constructively fraudulent pursuant to § 548(a)(1)(B). First, the undisputed facts show that the Debtor did not receive reasonably equivalent value for the transfer. Prior to execution of the Deed in Lieu, Mai made payments to the Debtor of $169,500. At the time the Debtor executed the Deed in Lieu, the Property had equity of $800,000. The Debtor received only 21% of the Property's value in exchange for the transfer. That does not constitute reasonably equivalent value. See Kendall v. Carbaat (In re Carbaat), 357 B.R. 553, 561 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. 2006) (holding that the minimum amount required to meet the reasonably equivalent value test is 70% of the value transferred).

Second, as discussed above, there is no dispute that the transfer left the Debtor insolvent.

E. The Trustee is Entitled to Summary Judgment on her Claim to Avoid the Transfer of the Property as Constructively Fraudulent, Pursuant to § 544, Applying Cal. Civ. Code § 3439.05(a)

Section 544(b) authorizes the avoidance of transfers under applicable state law. Cal. Civ. Code § 3439.05(a), which is similar to § 548(a)(1)(B), provides that a "transfer made ... by a debtor is voidable as to a creditor whose claim arose before the transfer was made ... if the debtor made the transfer ... without receiving a reasonably equivalent value in exchange for the transfer ... and the debtor was insolvent at that time or the debtor became insolvent as a result of the transfer"

For the same reasons that there is no genuine dispute that the transfer was constructively fraudulent pursuant to § 548(a)(1)(B), there is no genuine dispute that the transfer was constructively fraudulent pursuant to § 544(b), applying Cal. Civ. Code § 3439.05(a).

F. The Trustee is Entitled to Summary Judgment on her Claims Under §§ 550 and 551

Where a transfer has been avoided under §§ 544 or 548, § 550(a) authorizes the Trustee to "recover, for the benefit of the estate, the property transferred, or, if the court so orders, the value of such property"

Because the Trustee is entitled to summary judgment on her claims to avoid the transfer under §§ 544 and 548, it follows that the Trustee is entitled to summary judgment on her claim under § 550(a).

Under § 550(a), the Court "has discretion whether to award ... recovery of the property transferred or the value of the property transferred." USAA Fed. Savings Bank v. Thacker (In re Taylor), 599 F.3d 880, 890 (9th Cir. 2010). The statute "does not explain when a court should award ... recovery of the actual property and when it should, in the alternative, award ... recovery of the value of the property." Id. at 890. In determining whether to award the Property or its value, the Court must keep in mind the purpose of § 550, which is "to restore the estate to the financial condition it would have enjoyed if the transfer had not occurred." Alfas v. Wirum (In re Straightline Investments, Inc.), 525 F.3d 870, 883 (9th Cir. 2008) (internal citation omitted).

Here, the best way to restore the estate to the financial condition it would have enjoyed if the transfer had not occurred is to order the return of the Property to the Trustee. An award of the value of the Property would not restore the estate to its pre-transfer condition, because there is nothing in the record showing that the Defendants have the ability to satisfy a money judgment.

Where a transfer has been avoided under §§ 544 or 548, § 551 provides that the avoided transfer "is preserved for the benefit of the estate but only with respect to property of the estate." Having avoided the transfer under §§ 544 or 548, the Trustee is entitled to summary judgment on her claim to preserve the avoided transfer pursuant to § 551.

Pursuant to § 542(a), Defendants are ordered to turnover the Property to the Trustee within seven days of the date of entry of judgment.

G. Disposition of the Trustee's Remaining Claims for Alter Ego and Conspiracy to Commit a Fraudulent Transfer

The Trustee has represented that in the event summary judgment is granted in her favor, she intends to stipulate with the Defendants to dismiss her remaining claims for alter ego and conspiracy to commit a fraudulent transfer.

In view of the granting of the Motion, the Court finds the contemplated stipulation of dismissal of the remaining claims to be appropriate. The Trustee and the Defendants shall appear to advise the Court whether they are willing to stipulate to dismissal of the alter ego and conspiracy claims.

III. Conclusion

Based upon the foregoing, the Motion is GRANTED. The Trustee and the Defendants shall appear to advise the Court whether they are willing to stipulate to dismissal of the alter ego and conspiracy claims. Within seven days of the hearing, the Trustee shall submit (1) a proposed order incorporating this tentative ruling by reference and (2) a proposed judgment. (For purposes of the separate document rule, set forth in Civil Rule 58(a), both an order and a judgment must be submitted.)

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed

1. Notice of Objection to Claim [Doc. No. 101]
2. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Hakop Jack Aivazian (the "Debtor") filed a voluntary Chapter 11 petition on October 16, 2018. On January 17, 2019, the Court entered an order converting the case to a case under Chapter 7 [Doc. No. 31]. Shortly thereafter, Brad Krasnoff was appointed to serve as the Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee") and continues to serve in that capacity.

On October 31, 2018, American Express National Bank ("AmEx") filed Proof of Claim No. 1-1 (the "Claim") asserting an unsecured claim of $5,130 for credit card debt. In support of the Claim, AmEx attached an account statement dated April 28, 2010.

The Debtor presently seeks an order disallowing the Claim in its entirety on the grounds that the Claim is barred by the applicable California 4-year statute of limitations set forth in California Code of Civil Procedure ("CCP") 337. The Debtor states that the last activity on this account was the last payment he made in 2010, which is well beyond the 4-year statute of limitations.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Under 11 U.S.C. § 502(a), a claim is deemed allowed unless a party in interest objects. The term "party in interest" is not defined in the Bankruptcy Code or the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure, but courts have held that standing in a bankruptcy context requires an "aggrieved person" who is directly and adversely affected pecuniarily by an order of the bankruptcy court. In re Lona, 393 B.R. 1, 3 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. 2008) (citing Fondiller v. Robertson (In re Fondiller), 707 F.2d 441, 442-43 (9th Cir. 1983)).

Generally, a chapter 7 debtor does not have standing to object to claims because the debtor has no interest in the distribution of assets of the estate and therefore, is not an "aggrieved person." Lona, 393 B.R. at 4. However, there are two recognized exceptions to the proposition that a chapter 7 debtor lacks standing to object to a creditor's proof of claim: (1) when disallowance of the claim would create a surplus case, with the excess amounts payable to the debtor; and (2) where the claim at issue would not be dischargeable. In re Cherne, 514 B.R. 616, 621 (Bankr. D. Idaho 2014) (citing Wellman v. Ziino, 378 B.R. 416 n.5 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2007); In re Lona, 393 B.R. at 4; Menick v. Hoffman, 205 F.2d 365 (9th Cir. 1953)). The burden is on the debtor to provide sufficient evidence that disallowance of the contested claim will produce a surplus distribution to the debtor. In re Walker, 356 B.R. 834, 847 (Bankr. S.D. Fla. 2006) (citing In re Cult Awareness Network, Inc., 151 F.3d 605, 608 (7th Cir. 1998)).

In this case, the Debtor has not even addressed the issue of standing, let alone carried his burden of proof to show that disallowance of the Claim would create a surplus case or that the Claim is otherwise nondischargeable. Additionally, from this Court's review of relevant pleadings, it is premature to determine whether there is a sufficient possibility of a surplus.

2. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Hakop Jack Aivazian (the "Debtor") filed a voluntary Chapter 11 petition on October 16, 2018. On January 17, 2019, the Court entered an order converting the case to a case under Chapter 7 [Doc. No. 31]. Shortly thereafter, Brad Krasnoff was appointed to serve as the Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee") and continues to serve in that capacity.

On December 13, 2018, American Express National Bank ("AmEx") filed Proof of Claim No. 7-1 (the "Claim") asserting an unsecured claim of $1,469.12 for credit card debt. In support of the Claim, AmEx attached an account statement dated July 8, 2010.

The Debtor presently seeks an order disallowing the Claim in its entirety on the grounds that the Claim is barred by the applicable California 4-year statute of limitations set forth in California Code of Civil Procedure ("CCP") 337. The Debtor states that the last activity on this account was the last payment he made in 2010, which is well beyond the 4-year statute of limitations.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Debtor and Debtor-in-Possession, United International Mortgage Solutions, Inc. (the "Debtor"), filed this voluntary Chapter 11 case on September 12, 2018 (the "Petition Date"). The Debtor is a California corporation that owns three residential real properties:

- i. 1258 N. Virgil Avenue, Los Angeles, CA 90029 (the "Virgil Property");
 - ii. 5935 Playa Vista Dr., #414, Playa Vista, CA 90094 (the "Playa Vista Property");
- and
- iii. 6205 Senford Avenue, Los Angeles, CA 90056 (the "Senford Property," and together with the Virgil Property and Playa Vista Property, the "Properties").

The Debtor filed this case to address several defaulted loans secured by liens on the Properties and to reorganize its affairs. The Debtor now seeks confirmation of its First Amended Chapter 11 Plan of Reorganization [Doc. No. 81] (the "First Amended Plan"). [Note 1]

Summary of the First Amended Plan

Administrative Claims

Chapter 11

On May 9, 2019, the Court entered an order authorizing the Debtor's employment of Aaron Joshua to serve as the Debtor's accountant [Doc. No. 90]. However, the Debtor's Confirmation Brief states that the only professional of the Debtor's estate is Debtor's Counsel.

Priority Tax Claims

The Debtor proposes to pay the Internal Revenue Services $400 priority tax claim in full on the Effective Date.

The Debtor also proposes to pay the Franchise Tax Board's $2,542 priority claim in full, with 5% interest, by making 36 monthly payments of $77, beginning on the Effective Date.

Class 1 – Nationstar Mortgage LLC d/b/a Mr. Cooper ("Nationstar") [Note 2] – Voted to Reject the First Amended Plan

Nationstar holds the first-priority lien against the Virgil Property in the amount of $882,107. The Debtor proposes to pay Nationstar's claim in full, with 5.5% interest amortized over 30 years. Nationstar will be repaid in two phases. The Debtor will make 120 monthly payments to Nationstar in the amount of $5,009. The Debtor will also deposit $982 a month into a tax impound account on account of this claim. The Debtor will then make a one-time ten-year balloon payment in an amount necessary to fully satisfy Nationstar's claim. The balloon payment will be calculated by subtracting from the principal amount all payments made following the Effective Date. The Debtor will raise the funds to make the balloon payment by either refinancing the Virgil Property or from contributions from its owners.

Nationstar's claim is impaired, and it voted to reject the Plan.

Class 2 – Secured Claim of Errol Gordon ("Gordon") – Deemed to Reject Subject to Debtor's Request to Accept Late-Filed Ballot

Gordon holds a second-priority lien against the Virgil Property in the amount of $50,000.

Pursuant to the First Amended Plan, the Debtor proposed to pay Gordon's claim in full, with 4% interest amortized over 40 years as follows. Gordon would be repaid in two phases. The Debtor would make 120 monthly payments to Gordon in the amount of $209. The Debtor would then make a one-time ten-year balloon payment in an amount necessary to fully satisfy Gordon's claim. Gordon's claim is impaired and he was entitled to vote on the First Amended Plan, but did not timely cast a ballot.

On August 14, 2019, the Debtor and Gordon entered into a stipulation regarding Gordon's Class 2 treatment [Doc. No. 108] (the "Class 2 Claim Stipulation"). [Note 3] Pursuant to that stipulation, the parties state that Gordon actually holds a $100,000 second-priority lien against the Virgil Property, as well as a $50,000 third-priority lien and a $50,000 fourth-priority lien against the Virgil Property.

Also pursuant to the Class 2 Claim Stipulation, the parties agreed to the following modified treatment for Class 2:

- Gordon will hold a $150,000 secured claim against the Virgil Property;
- Following confirmation, Gordon will record a reconveyance of his fourth-priority lien;
- Gordon's claim will be paid in full with 4% interest amortized over 40 years;
- Gordon will be repaid in two phases:
- First, the Debtor will make 60 monthly payments of $627;
- Second, the Debtor will make a one-time 5-year balloon payment, in an amount to be calculated by deducting all principal payments made by the Debtor to Gordon following the Effective Date, plus any accrued but unpaid interest, fees, charges and attorneys' fees.

The Debtor submits that the proposed modifications constitute non-material modifications. The Debtor also asks the Court to accept Gordon's submission of a late ballot voting in favor of the First Amended Plan (as modified by the Class 2 Claim Stipulation) on behalf of this class pursuant to Rule 9006(b) of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure (the "FRBP"). The Debtor states that Gordon's failure to submit a timely ballot is the result of excusable neglect because Gordon does not believe he received the Debtor's Solicitation Package. The Debtor further submits that allowance of a late-filed Class 2 ballot will not result in any delay or prejudice to other creditors.

Gordon also holds a second-priority lien against the Senford Property in the amount of $300,701. Pursuant to the First Amended Plan, the Debtor proposed to pay Gordon's claim in full, with 4% interest amortized over 40 years. Gordon would be repaid in two phases. The Debtor would make 120 monthly payments to Gordon in the amount of $1,257. The Debtor would then make a one-time ten-year balloon payment in an amount necessary to fully satisfy Gordon's claim. Gordon's claim is impaired and he was entitled to vote on the First Amended Plan, but did not timely cast a ballot.

On August 14, 2019, the Debtor and Gordon entered into a stipulation regarding Gordon's Class 3 treatment [Doc. No. 110] (the "Class 3 Claim Stipulation"). [Note 4] Pursuant to that stipulation, the parties state that Gordon actually holds a $150,000 first-priority lien against the Senford Property and a $35,000 second-priority lien against the Senford Property.

Also pursuant to the Class 3 Claim Stipulation, the parties agreed to the following modified treatment for Class 3:

- Gordon will hold a $185,000 secured claim against the Senford Property;
- Gordon's claim will be paid in full with 4% interest amortized over 40 years;
- Gordon will be repaid in two phases:
- First, the Debtor will make 60 monthly payments of $774;
- Second, the Debtor will make a one-time 5-year balloon payment, in an amount to be calculated by deducting all principal payments made by the Debtor to Gordon following the Effective Date, plus any accrued but unpaid interest, fees, charges and attorneys' fees.

The Debtor submits that the proposed modifications constitute non-material modifications. The Debtor also asks the Court to accept Gordon's submission of a late ballot voting in favor of the First Amended Plan (as modified by the Class 3 Claim Stipulation) on behalf of this class pursuant to Rule 9006(b) of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure (the "FRBP"). The Debtor states that Gordon's failure to submit a timely ballot is the result of excusable neglect because Gordon does not believe he received the Debtor's Solicitation Package. The Debtor further submits that allowance of a late-filed Class 3 ballot will not result in any delay or prejudice to other creditors.

Class 4 – Secured Claim of Los Angeles County Treasurer and Tax Collector (the "LACTTC") – Deemed to Reject the First Amended Plan

LACTTC holds a property tax lien against the Senford Property in the amount of $97,939. The Debtor proposes to pay LACTTC's claim in full, with 18% interest, plus redemption penalty interest and any other fees, costs, or charges LACTTC is entitled to. The Debtor will make 60 monthly payments to LACTTC in the amount of $2,487.

LACTTC's claim is impaired, but it did not cast a ballot. Therefore, Class 4 is deemed to reject the First Amended Plan.

Class 5 – Secured Claim of Mr. Cooper/Nationstar ("Mr. Cooper") – Unimpaired and Not Entitled to Vote

Mr. Cooper holds the first-priority lien against the Playa Vista Property in the amount of $857,177. The Debtor proposes to pay Mr. Cooper's claim in accordance with the applicable loan obligations. As such, Mr. Cooper's claim is unimpaired and Mr. Cooper was not entitled to vote on the Plan.

Class 6 – Secured Claim of Playa Vista Parks HOA ("PVP") – Voted to Reject the First Amended Plan

PVP holds an HOA lien against the Playa Vista Property in the amount of $70,080. The Debtor proposes to pay PVP's claim in full, at 4% interest amortized over 40 years. PVP's claim will be repaid in two phases. The Debtor will make 120 monthly payments to PVP in the amount of $323. The Debtor will then make a one-time ten-year balloon payment in an amount necessary to fully satisfy PVP's claim. The balloon payment will be calculated by subtracting from the principal amount all payments made following the Effective Date. The Debtor will raise the funds to make the balloon payment by either refinancing the Virgil Property or from contributions from its owners.

PVP's claim is impaired, and it voted to reject the First Amended Plan.

Class 7 – Secured Claim of Villa D'Este HOA ("Villa") – Deemed to Reject First Amended Plan

Villa holds an HOA lien against the Playa Vista Property in the amount of $31,855. The Debtor proposes to pay Villa's claim in full, with 4% interest amortized over 40 years. The Debtor will make 120 monthly payments to Villa in the amount of $323.

Villa's claim is impaired, but it did not cast a ballot. Therefore, Class 7 is deemed to reject the First Amended Plan.

Class 8 – Priority Unsecured Claims – N/A

The Debtor does not believe any priority unsecured claims exist.

Class 9 – General Unsecured Claims – Unimpaired and Not Entitled to Vote

The Debtor estimates that general unsecured claims total approximately $723. These claims will be paid in full on the Effective Date. The Debtor submits that this proposed treatment renders general unsecured claims unimpaired and, accordingly, claimants in this class are deemed to accept the Plan and not entitled to vote.

Class 10 – Interest Holders

Debtor's owners will retain their ownership interest in the Debtor.

Opposition to the First Amended Plan

Nationstar, PVP and Villa oppose confirmation of the First Amended Plan. The opposition of each entity is summarized below:

Nationstar's Opposition

Nationstar (Class 1) asserts that the First Amended Plan cannot be confirmed for the following reasons:

1. The First Amended Plan is not proposed in good faith as required by § 1129(a)(3) because:
 - a. This Court has already determined that the filing of the petition was part of a scheme to hinder, delay, or defraud Nationstar from proceeding with its state-law rights pursuant to § 362(d)(4) in connection with its request for stay relief [Nationstar Objection, Ex. B];
 - b. This is the 13th bankruptcy filing affecting the Virgil Property;
 - c. The Debtor is not an obligor under the loan;
 - d. Although the Debtor is proposing to pay Nationstar's claim with 5.5% interest (which is already down from the note rate of 6.375% fixed), the way the language is drafted means that the Debtor will not actually end up paying any interest because the proposed balloon payment will be calculated by doing a straight deduction of all plan payments made during years 1 through 10 from the $890,872.62 principal. See Confirmation Brief, 13:7-10 ("The balloon payment will be computed as follows: $882,1007 less all Plan payments made by the Debtor to claimant from the Effective Date. The Debtor will raise funds to make the balloon payment by either refinancing the property or from contributions from its owners").

2. The First Amended Plan is not fair and equitable as required by § 1129(b)(2)(A) because:

a. Nationstar's claim is impaired and it voted to reject the plan and the Debtor is not paying Nationstar the present value of its claim because the plan language results in a 0% interest rate;

b. Even if the Debtor were paying 5.5% interest, the Debtor has not presented any evidence to show that this is an appropriate interest rate to compensate Nationstar for the risk of deferred cash payment;

c. The Debtor is not an obligor under this loan.

3. The First Amended Plan is not feasible as required by § 1129(a)(11) because:

a. The Debtor has not presented sufficient evidence to establish its ability to make the proposed 10-year balloon payment. There is no evidence in the record that the Virgil Property has any equity, let alone adequate equity to refinance the Virgil Property. Nor is there any evidence to show that the Debtor, on its own, will generate sufficient cash flow or that the Debtor's owners have the financial means to fund the proposed balloon payment.

4. The Debtor is not an obligor under the loan and is attempting to effectuate a third-party discharge for the original borrower, Sandra McBeth, in violation of § 524(e). The Debtor only obtained its asserted interest in the Virgil Property by way of an unauthorized grant deed [Nationstar Objection, Ex. C].

PVP's Opposition

PVP (Class 6) asserts that the First Amended Plan cannot be confirmed for the following reasons:

1. The First Amended Plan is not proposed in good faith as required by § 1129(a)(3) and violates several provisions of the Bankruptcy Code because:

a. The corporate resolution authorizing the Debtor to file this bankruptcy case is invalid because it was only signed by one of the Debtor's principals, Sandra McBeth ("Ms. McBeth") and, based on PVP's review of the schedules filed in Ms. McBeth's individual Chapter 13 bankruptcy case, there are reasons to question whether Ms. McBeth had any authority to sign the corporate resolution.

b. The Debtor was not the record owner of the Senford Property as of the Petition Date and appears to only own a 50% interest in that property, with the other 50% appearing to be owned by James K. Reynolds.

c. The Debtor did not own 100% of the Virgil Property as of the Petition Date. In the year prior to the Debtor's bankruptcy filing, there were a number of deeds of trust purporting to transfer fractional interests in the Virgil Property to various third parties.

d. The Debtor only owns 50% of the Playa Vista Property, with the other 50% appearing to be owned by Ms. McBeth's family trust.

e. The Class 2 and Class 3 claims of Mr. Gordon are undisclosed personal debts of Ms. McBeth and not corporate debts of the Debtor's. PVP also questions the validity of these debts and believes further investigation is required.

f. The Debtor's Confirmation Brief improperly seeks approval of a "Second Amended Plan," which contains different provisions with respect to Class 2 and Class 3 which are to the detriment of other secured creditors that voted against the First Amended Plan. Moreover, the Second Amended Plan has not been presented to creditors for review and the Court did not authorize the Debtor's solicitation of a Second Amended Plan.

g. The proposed changes set forth in the Class 2 and Class 3 Stipulations are not "immaterial" and are brought in bad faith as an attempt to dilute "no" votes and cram down a plan that otherwise fails. Pursuant to those stipulations, Mr. Gordon gets to keep his security interests and gets paid in half of the time as proposed in the First Amended Plan. In exchange for two late ballots, Mr. Gordon is now being treated more generously than other similarly situated secured creditors who timely voted to reject the plan.

h. The Debtor has failed to establish that Mr. Gordon's late-filed ballots should even be accepted. If Mr. Gordon did not, in fact, receive the Solicitation Package, then the Debtor's solicitation of Mr. Gordon's votes violated § 1125.

In support of its opposition, PVP attached the Declaration of James A. Judge (the "Judge Declaration") and twelve supporting exhibits.

Villa's Opposition

Villa (Class 7) asserts that the First Amended Plan cannot be confirmed for the following reasons:

1. The First Amended Plan is not feasible as required by § 1129(a)(11) because:

- a. The Debtor's budget reflects negative net monthly income for months 2 – 5 and the Debtor has not provided sufficient evidence to show that it has the ability to make all plan payments during that time frame;
 - b. The plan is being funded, in part, from contributions from Ms. McBeth, but the Debtor has not submitted sufficient evidence to show that Ms. McBeth can feasibly make those contributions. This is especially necessary in light of the fact that Ms. McBeth filed her own individual Chapter 13 bankruptcy case on July 3, 2018, which was dismissed on September 24, 2018 at her Chapter 13 confirmation hearing. Additionally, the information in Ms. McBeth's individual schedules undermines the Debtor's evidence of Ms. McBeth's financial stability. Villa requests the Court take judicial notice of Ms. McBeth's Schedule I;
 - c. Villa believes that the Playa Property is currently vacant and not generating any income. Despite making several requests from the Debtor for a copy of new and old leases, the Debtor has failed to produce any evidence establishing that the Playa Property is being rented. See Nahmias Declaration, ¶¶ 3-7. Since the Debtor's plan relies on its ability to generate income from the Playa Property, the absence of evidence establishing whether it is being rented creates further questions concerning the feasibility of the First Amended Plan.
2. The First Amended Plan does not satisfy the best interest of creditors test set forth in § 1129(a)(7). Debtor's liquidation analysis is deficient because the Debtor states that if the case were converted a case under Chapter 7, Villa would not receive any payments because there are no repayment plans in a Chapter 7. This is inaccurate because if the case were converted to Chapter 7 Villa would be paid, in full, from the sale of the Playa Property, which would result in a more favorable treatment because then Villa would not have to wait ten-years to receive full repayment with a below-prime interest rate.
3. The First Amended Plan is not fair and equitable as required by § 1129(b)(2)(A) because:
- a. The plan does not unambiguously state that Villa will retain its lien;
 - b. The proposed interest rate of 4.4% is below prime and Debtor has failed to submit evidence establishing that this is an appropriate interest rate to compensate Villa for the risk of deferred cash payment;
4. The late-filed ballots of Errol Gordon should not be counted because Debtor's Confirmation Brief is not supported by sufficient evidence to establish the existence of any excusable neglect. However, in the event the Court is inclined to accept the late-filed Gordon ballots, Villa requests that the Court also accept its own late-filed

5. Based on the foregoing, Villa requests that the Court convert the case to a case under Chapter 7.

Debtor's Omnibus Reply

The Debtor makes the following arguments in Reply to the Oppositions filed by Nationstar, PVP and Villa:

Reply to Nationstar Opposition

1. Nationstar is correct that it appears that the Debtor is proposing to pay zero interest on its claim, but the Debtor submits that the relevant language contained a typographical error and should have instead read: "the balloon payment will be computed as follows: $882,107 less all principal payments made by the Debtor to claimant from the Effective Date."
2. The Debtor also offers to advance the proposed balloon payment for Nationstar's claim from 10 years to only 5 years after the effective date, while keeping the amortization term at 30 years.
3. The Debtor denies any assertion that the First Amended Plan was proposed in bad faith. The Debtor highlights that Nationstar's rights have not been restrained because Nationstar has had nine months to foreclose on the Virgil Property if it believed the Debtor's reorganization efforts were not done in good faith. The Debtor acknowledges the prior bankruptcy filings but argues that this case has been handled competently and with full disclosure since its outset.
4. Nationstar's contention that the First Amended Plan will likely be followed by a future need for reorganization or liquidation is unsupported by any admissible evidence or legal authority. Conversely, the Debtor has submitted the Declaration of Sandra McBeth as evidence of the existence of equity in the Virgil Property. The Debtor also highlights that it was prepared to refinance the Virgil Property during the pendency of this case, and had a willing lender lined up, but elected to withdraw that motion to allow the Debtor instead to address Nationstar's claims through a plan of reorganization.
5. The Debtor is not seeking to discharge any debt obligations between Ms. McBeth and Nationstar. However, because the Debtor holds title to the Virgil Property, it was required under the Code to include Nationstar's claim in its plan of reorganization.

Chapter 11

1. In response to PVP's contention that Ms. McBeth's schedules undermine her financial ability to make plan funding contributions, the Debtor states that Ms. McBeth made an error in her schedules because she was representing herself. The Debtor states that these mistakes have not impacted this case and the Debtor has operated with full transparency.
2. The Debtor also refutes PVP's assertion that the corporate resolution is invalid and instead states that the resolution was 100% accurate and effective and is supported by ownership interests that have been provided to the California Secretary of State.
3. The Debtor acknowledges that there have been prior transfers of interests in the Properties, but counters that the transfers have been disclosed from the start of this case and that all interests have been transferred back to the Debtor. The Debtor contends that there is no prohibition to the Debtor clearing up title and bringing assets into the estate. The Debtor also contends that revocable family trusts are generally ignored in bankruptcy and title to assets is attributed to be held by the debtor.
4. With respect to Mr. Gordon's liens, the Debtor states that Mr. Gordon holds valid liens against the Virgil Property and, accordingly, the Debtor had an obligation to provide for the treatment of those claims in its plan.
5. In response to PVP's contention that the Debtor failed to adequately brief the issue of accepting Mr. Gordon's untimely ballots and whether the Class 2 and 3 Stipulations implement material modifications to the plan, the Debtor counters that the Confirmation Brief does address the Ekstrom case and provides an adequate basis to find the existence of excusable neglect. The Debtor also restates its position about why it does not believe the stipulations materially alter the plan.
6. The Debtor highlights that PVP has not objected to the Debtor's proposed treatment of its claim and highlights that if the First Amended Plan is not confirmed then PVP's claim will likely be extinguished in the event that Nationstar forecloses on the Playa Vista Property.

Reply to Villa Opposition

1. The Debtor counters Villa's contention that the plan is infeasible because there is negative net monthly income for months two through five by highlighting that the Debtor's budget clearly shows available cash to cover the shortfalls for those months.
2. The Debtor also counters Villa's contention that the plan is not adequately supported by evidence of Ms. McBeth's financial ability to make monthly plan contributions by highlighting that information in the First Amended Disclosure Statement contains sufficient details about Ms. McBeth's income as a real estate consultant operating through her DBA, Playa Vista Realty Group ("PVRG"). As further support, the Debtor attaches a supplemental declaration from Ms. McBeth in support of the Omnibus reply as well as recent bank statements reflecting monthly income of approximately $42,000.

3. With respect to Villa's contentions that the Playa Vista Property is not generating rental income, the Debtor attaches a copy of the existing lease as Ex. B.

4. The Debtor also argues that its liquidation analysis is accurate with respect to Villa's claim because the Playa Vista Property is almost entirely encumbered by existing liens such that a chapter 7 trustee would not seek to administer the property.

5. The Debtor argues that given the alternatives to the treatment the Debtor has proposed, a 4.5% interest rate amortized over 10 years is far more than what Villa would receive in a chapter 7 case. However, the Debtor offers to increase the interest rate to 5.5% and reduce the balloon payment date from 10 years to 5 years.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

As a preliminary matter, the Court declines to determine whether it is appropriate to accept the Late-Filed ballots from Class 2 and Class 3 or whether the Class 2 and 3 Claim Stipulations material modify the First Amended Plan because even if the Court were to accept the ballots and find that the modifications are immaterial, the Court would nevertheless find that the First Amended Plan is fatally flawed. [Note 6]

For the reasons stated below, confirmation of the First Amended Plan is DENIED. [Note 7]

A. Villa's Request for Judicial Notice is Granted

The Court grants Villa's request for the Court to take judicial notice of Ms. McBeth's individual Schedule I, filed in In re Sandra McBeth, Case No. 2:18-bk-17700-SK, on the basis that the document is a matter of public record [Villa RJN, Ex. A]. However, the Court only takes judicial notice of the date of filing and existence of Schedule I, and not for the truth of the matters asserted therein.

B. The First Amended Plan is Not Feasible

Section 1129(a)(11), known as the "feasibility requirement," requires the Court to find that "[c]onfirmation of the plan is not likely to be followed by the liquidation, or the need for further financial reorganization, of the debtor or any successor to the debtor under the plan, unless such liquidation or reorganization is proposed in the plan."

"The purpose of section 1129(a)(11) is to prevent confirmation of visionary schemes which promise creditors and equity security holders more under a proposed plan than the debtor can possibly attain after confirmation." Pizza of Hawaii, Inc. v. Shakey's Inc. (Matter of Pizza of Hawaii, Inc.), 761 F.2d 1374, 1382 (9th Cir. 1985). To satisfy the feasibility requirement, the Debtor must present "evidence to demonstrate that the Plan has a reasonable probability of success." Acequia, Inc. v. Clinton (In re Acequia, Inc.), 787 F.2d 1352, 1364 (9th Cir. 1986). "The key element of feasibility is whether there exists a reasonable probability that the provisions of the plan of reorganization can be performed. However, where the financial realities do not accord with the proponent's projections or where the projections are unreasonable, the plan should not be confirmed.... 'The inquiry is on the viability of the reorganized debtor, and its ability to meet its future obligations, both as provided for in the plan and as may be incurred in operations.' 'In this respect, section 1129(a)(11) requires the plan proponent to show concrete evidence of a sufficient cash flow to fund and maintain both its operations and obligations under the plan.'" In re Sagewood Manor Assocs. Ltd. P'ship, 223 B.R. 756, 762 (Bankr. D. Nev. 1998) (internal citations omitted). "Feasibility is the heart of every Chapter 11 reorganization case. It is the most important element of § 1129(a)." In re Linda Vista Cinemas, L.L.C., 442 B.R. 724, 737 (Bankr. D. Ariz. 2010).

In Linda Vista Cinemas, the court explained how the feasibility standard applies to Plans that propose a balloon payment:

If a final payment, in the form of a "balloon" payment, is proposed to come from new financing to be acquired by the Debtor in the form of some new lending vehicle, then proof of feasibility is necessary. Whether that balloon payment can likely be made, and new financing acquired, requires credible evidence proving that obtaining that future financing is a reasonable likelihood. See In re Inv. Co. of The Southwest, Inc., 341 B.R. 298, 311, 314, 316 (B.A.P. 10th Cir. 2006) (plan not feasible where there was no evidence to demonstrate how the debtor would be able to fund required balloon payments).

Chapter 11

A court may not confirm a plan if its feasibility depends on future refinancing, unless there is an adequate evidentiary showing that such refinancing is likely to occur. See In re Made in Detroit, Inc., 299 B.R. 170, 179–80 (Bankr. E.D. Mich.2003) (plan not confirmed when proponent made inadequate showing of ability to obtain financing); In re Vanderveer Estates Holding, LLC, 293 B.R. 560 (Bankr. E.D.N.Y. 2003) (similar); In re Walker, 165 B.R. 994 (E.D. Va. 1994) (similar with respect to future sale of property).

The Debtor has failed to carry its burden of demonstrating that the plan is feasible. In support of the Debtor's ability to make the proposed balloon payments to creditors, the Debtor submitted various declarations from Ms. McBeth attesting to the alleged equity in the Properties and references a withdrawn Motion for Postpetition Financing as evidence of the Debtor's future ability to refinance the Properties. See Omnibus Reply, 7:11-18. The Court finds this evidence is woefully insufficient and does not support a finding that future financing is reasonably likely – either through a refinance of from owner contributions.

This problem is even further compounded by the concessions offered in the Debtor's Omnibus Reply to modify the proposed treatment for Classes 1 and 7 by advancing the balloon payment deadline from 10 years to only 5 years following the Effective Date. Furthermore, some of the affected liens on the Properties have been in default for a significant period of time and Ms. McBeth and related parties have been attempting to address the indebtedness for years. There is nothing in the record to indicate that the Debtor's prospects for refinancing is greater than any of its predecessors.

The Court recognizes that the Debtor's ability to make a future balloon payment can never be established with certainty. But in cases where courts have approved balloon-payment plans, the Debtor has provided evidence showing there is a reasonable probability that the balloon payment will be made. See, e.g., SPCP Grp., LLC v. Cypress Creek Assisted Living Residence, Inc., 434 B.R. 650, 657 (M.D. Fla. 2010) (changes in debtor's management structure, as well as the fact that the debtor had increased its revenue during the Chapter 11 case, provided evidence of its ability to make a balloon payment); Linda Vista Cinemas, 442 B.R. at 732 (balloon payment was feasible because existing indebtedness would be reduced by half by the time the balloon payment became necessary). Here, no such evidence exists. Instead, all the Debtor provides in support of its ability to make the balloon payment is speculation and unwarranted optimism. The Debtor provides no "credible evidence proving that obtaining [the] future financing is a reasonable likelihood." Linda Vista Cinemas, 423 B.R. at 738.

Additionally, the Court finds that the Debtor has failed to satisfy its evidentiary burden to show that it will have sufficient monthly cash reserves to satisfy its proposed plan obligations. As set forth in the Financial Projections submitted as Exhibit B to the First Amended Disclosure Statement, the success of the plan depends, in part, upon Ms. McBeth's ability to make monthly plan contributions of $6,000. To establish Ms. McBeth's financial condition, the Debtor submitted various declarations from Ms. McBeth describing her success as a real estate consultant operating under the dba Playa Vista Realty Group, Inc. ("PVRG") and PVRG bank statements. However, the PVRG bank statements are not particularly useful because they are heavily redacted and provide only a limited financial snapshot of PVRG's financial condition. Therefore, the Court again finds that the Debtor's evidence is inadequate.

Therefore, the Court finds that the First Amended Plan does not satisfy § 1129(a) (11).

C. The First Amended Plan is Not Fair and Equitable

Section 1129(a)(8) requires each class to accept the plan, unless the class is not impaired. To accept a plan, members of a class must affirmatively vote in favor of the plan. In re M. Long Arabians, 103 B.R. 211, 215-16 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1989). Classes 1 and 6 voted to reject the plan. Classes 4 and 7 did not vote and are deemed to reject the plan. Therefore, even assuming the Court were to accept the late-filed Class 2 and Class 3 ballots (which it presently has not), to confirm the First Amended Plan, the Debtor would still be required to establish that, with respect to Classes 1, 4, 6 & 7, the First Amended Plan "does not discriminate unfairly, and is fair and equitable." 11 U.S.C. § 1129(b)(1).

Classes 1, 4, 6 & 7 consist of secured claims. To satisfy § 1129(b)(1)'s "fair and equitable" requirement, the First Amended Plan must provide that those classes (1) retain the liens securing their claims, and (2) receive deferred cash payments with a present value equal to the allowed amount of their claims. 11 U.S.C. § 1129(b)(2)(A)(i)(I). The Debtor, as plan proponent, has the burden of proof on all issues pertaining to plan confirmation, including establishing that each of the foregoing requirements are satisfied. The Debtor has not carried its burden of proof as to either.

First, the First Amended Plan does not state that Classes 1, 4, 6 & 7 will retain their respective liens securing their claims. Although the Debtor argues in the Omnibus Reply that this was its intent, the operative language in the plan does not clearly state that Classes 1, 4, 6 & 7 will retain their liens. Second, the Debtor has not submitted any evidence establishing that the proposed interest rates provide Classes 1, 6 & 7 with a stream of payments equal to the present value of their claims, aside from making the conclusory statements that the significant equity cushions in the Properties more than adequately accounts for any risks of default. Confirmation Brief, 39:26-28, 40:1, 41:24-26, 42:1-2, 43:11-15. [Note 8]

Therefore, the Court finds that the First Amended Plan cannot be crammed down on Classes 1, 4, 6 & 7.

D. The Plan is Not Proposed in Good Faith

Section 1129(a)(3) requires that the "plan has been proposed in good faith and not by any means forbidden by law." As one court has explained:

The term 'good faith' in the context of 11 U.S.C. § 1129(a)(3) is not statutorily defined but has been interpreted by case law as referring to a plan that 'achieves a result consistent with the objectives and purposes of the Code.' 'The requisite good faith determination is based on the totality of circumstances.'

In re Melcher, 329 B.R. 865, 876 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. 2005) (internal citations omitted).

The Court finds that the First Amended Plan has not been proposed in good faith. The Debtor has not established that the Properties dealt with by the First Amended Plan are, in fact, property of the estate or that it is obligated to pay the debts it proposes to pay pursuant to terms of the First Amended Plan. Although the Debtor argues that it has an obligation under the Bankruptcy Code to provide for treatment of any claims against the Properties, this premise is based on the unsupported assumption that the Debtor holds valid legal title to the Properties. The Debtor concedes that there have been a number of unauthorized transfers of interest affecting the Properties, which several interest holders have claimed were done in violation of their security agreements. Therefore, the Debtor appears to be asking this Court to validate the unauthorized transfers without following the proper procedures for obtaining quiet title.

For the same reason, the Court finds that the First Amended Plan appears to be a continuation of the Debtor's, Ms. McBeth's and other third parties' pattern of attempting at all costs to hinder and delay creditors. The Court incorporates its prior findings made in connection with Nationstar's request for stay relief, in which this Court found that:

The Debtor's bankruptcy filing was part of a scheme to delay, hinder or defraud creditors. Movants have presented evidence to show that as early as 2011, McBeth has been in default of her loan obligations with respect to the Virgil Property (SRJN Ex. 1) and that since that time, McBeth, the Debtor, and other individuals have filed no less than nine bankruptcy cases affecting the Virgil Property. [] The evidence also shows that there have been at least two transfers of all or part ownership of the Virgil Property without Movants' consent (SRJN, Ex. 2, 5). The Court also finds that under McBeth's apparent control, the Debtor has used this bankruptcy filing to further this scheme.

Next, the Court finds that the object of the scheme is to delay and hinder Movants' ability to foreclose on the Virgil Property and that McBeth and the Debtor have succeeded in forestalling the foreclosure process for over seven years.

Finally, for the reasons set forth above, the Court finds that the scheme satisfies both sections of sections 362(d)(4)(A) and (B) because the evidence shows that there have been two transfers without Movants' consent and nine bankruptcy filings affecting the Virgil Property.

The Court is not persuaded by the Debtor's contentions that McBeth's transfer of the Virgil Property was for a legitimate purpose or that this bankruptcy case was filed with the good faith intention of reorganizing. Instead, Movants' evidence reveals that McBeth transferred the Virgil Property without Movants' consent and on the eve of a trustee's sale and that since such transfer, McBeth and the Debtor have filed successive bankruptcy petitions to thwart Movants' foreclosure efforts.

[Doc. No. 48].

In view of the numerous fatal defects with the First Amended Plan, the absence of an impaired consenting classes, and the Debtor's half-hearted attempt to satisfy its evidentiary burden of proof, the Court finds that the First Amended Plan was not proposed in good faith.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, confirmation of the First Amended Plan is DENIED.

After the hearing the Court will issue an order directing the Debtor to appear and show cause as to why this case should not be dismissed in view of the Debtor's failure to provide evidence establishing that it holds valid legal title to the Properties.

The Court will prepare the order.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Daniel Koontz or Jessica Vogel at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. If you wish to make a telephonic appearance, contact Court Call at 888-882-6878, no later than one hour before the hearing.

Note 1: The Debtor's Confirmation Brief seeks confirmation of a Second Amended Plan, which the Court presumes the Debtor intends to mean the First Amended Plan, as modified by the Class 2 Stipulation and Class 3 Stipulation.

Note 2: The First Amended Plan identifies the claimant in this class as Seterus, Inc. as Authorized Sub-Servicer for Federal National Mortgage Association, but Nationstar filed a timely opposition to the Confirmation Brief stating that it is the first-priority lienholder on the Virgil Property.

Note 3: The Debtor lodged an order for approval of the Class 2 Claim Stipulation, but for the reasons set forth herein, the Court need not determine whether to approve the stipulation because sufficient alternative grounds exist to deny confirmation.

Note 4: The Debtor lodged an order for approval of the Class 3 Claim Stipulation, but for the reasons set forth herein, the Court need not determine whether to approve the stipulation because sufficient alternative grounds exist to deny confirmation.

Note 5: Villa requests that the Court accept its late-filed ballot rejecting the Debtor's First Amended Plan. However, in the absence of an affirmative vote in favor of the plan, Villa's Class 7 claim is already deemed to have rejected the plan. Since there are no other creditors in Class 7, it would make no difference whether the Court accepts Villa's late-filed ballot or not.

Note 6: If the Court were to reach the issue on the present record, the Court would deny the Debtor's request to accept the late-filed ballots because the Debtor has not submitted a declaration from Mr. Gordon substantiating the Debtor's claims that Mr. Gordon did not receive the Solicitation Package and was unaware of the deadline to cast a ballot.

Note 7: The Court has not addressed all of the issues and arguments raised by the parties in their various briefing because, for the reasons set forth herein, there are several alternative grounds to deny confirmation.

Note 8: The Debtor offers to submit additional briefing on this issue in the event the Court determines that the Debtor's evidence is insufficient. This is illusory. The Debtor, as plan proponent, bears the burden of proof as to all confirmation issues. Accordingly, the Debtor should have anticipated the need to submit evidence establishing the appropriateness of its proposed interest rates as soon as it became aware that its plan needed to be crammed down on several impaired rejecting classes.

3, 2019. The Debtor owns property located at 1820 W. 146th St., Unit F, Gardena, CA 90249 (the "Property"). On May 2, 2019, the Court authorized the Debtor to employ Donald Arthur Bonseigneur, a real estate broker at Berkshire Hathaway Home Services, to market the Property. Doc. No. 27.

On July 2, 2019, the Court entered an order valuing the Property at $355,000, and avoiding a junior lien asserted by Complete Business Solutions Group, aka Par Funding (the "CBSG Lien") as wholly unsecured. Doc. No. 59.

On May 14, 2019, the Court approved a stipulation between the Debtor and JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A. ("Chase") authorizing the Debtor to use the cash collateral generated by the Property. The Property is currently occupied by a paying renter.

Debtor moves to sell the Property free and clear of liens, claims, and interests. The proposed purchasers are Juan and Maribel Morales (the "Buyers"). The sale is subject to overbids. The Debtor proposes to pay secured claims against the Property directly from escrow.

The Bank of New York Mellon, N.A., as Trustee for Structured Asset Mortgage Investments II Inc., Bear Stearns ALT-A Trust Mortgage Pass-Through Certificates, Series 2005-7 (the "Bank of New York Mellon") holds a first deed of trust against the Property. The Bank of New York Mellon does not oppose the Sale Motion, provided that its claim is paid in full from escrow pursuant to an updated payoff demand.

Chase holds a second deed of trust against the Property. Chase does not oppose the Sale Motion, provided that its claim is paid in full from escrow pursuant to an updated payoff demand. Chase requests that the following language be included in the order approving the Sale Motion:

- 1) Subsequent to entry of an Order on Debtor's Motion, Chase, by and through its counsel of record, will provide an updated formal, written payoff demand to Debtor, Debtor's counsel and the designated escrow officer with respect to Chase's Claim;
- 2) Chase's claim is undisputed and shall be paid in full, directly from escrow from the proceeds of the sale as a second position secured Creditor in accordance with the terms and provisions of its payoff demand provided;
- 3) If Debtor disputes any amounts set forth in any payoff demand provided by Chase, that Debtor be required to identify what amounts are in dispute in writing at least 24 hours prior to any close of escrow. Further, that Debtor immediately release to Chase any and all funds not alleged to be disputed, and

Further, Chase's lien shall immediately attach to the sale proceeds with the same force and effect, and in the same priority, validity and scope as its lien with respect to the Subject Property, and Chase's claim will continue to accrue interest at its per diem rate and fees and costs in any payoff demand provided until said claim is paid off in full;

- 4) Prior to any scheduled closing of escrow, counsel for Chase will be authorized to obtain a copy of the estimated HUD-1 Settlement/Closing Statement for review and approval;
- 5) Chase reserves the right to require an updated payoff demand prior to any close of any escrow to ensure its claim is paid in full; and
- 6) Chase always preserves the right to seek a motion for relief from the automatic stay in the event the sale is not consummated for any reason, or there is a breach of the Cash Collateral Stipulation.

Doc. No. 76 at 4–5.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Section 363(b) permits the debtor to sell estate property out of the ordinary course of business, subject to court approval. The debtor must articulate a business justification for the sale. In re Walter, 83 B.R. 14, 19–20 (9th Cir. BAP 1988). Whether the articulated business justification is sufficient "depends on the case," in view of "all salient factors pertaining to the proceeding." Id. at 19–20.

The Debtor has demonstrated sufficient business justification for the sale. The sale will generate approximately $31,000.00 in net proceeds to the estate which can be distributed to creditors through a Plan of Reorganization

Section 363(f) provides that estate property may be sold free and clear of liens, claims, and interests, providing one of the following conditions is satisfied:

- 1) Applicable nonbankruptcy law permits sale of such property free and clear of such interest;
- 2) Such entity consents;

- 3) Such interest is a lien and the price at which such property is sold is greater than the aggregate value of all liens on such property;
- 4) Such interest is in bona fide dispute; or
- 5) Such entity could be compelled, in a legal or equitable proceeding, to accept a money satisfaction of such interest.

Pursuant to § 363(f)(3), the sale is free and clear of the liens of the Bank of New York Mellon, Chase, and the Los Angeles County Tax Collector, because the sales price of the Property exceeds the aggregate value of the liens, and the Debtor intends to pay the liens in full directly from the sales proceeds. The sale is free and clear of the CBSG lien, which has been avoided and no longer attaches to the Property. Doc. No. 59.

The Debtor is authorized to pay from the sales proceeds (1) normal closing costs, (2) a real estate broker's commission in the amount of 6% of the sales price, and (3) amounts due to the Bank of New York Mellon, Chase, and the Los Angeles County Tax Collector on account of their liens against the Property.

The Court declines to approve the 3% breakup fee requested by the Debtors. "[A] 'break-up fee' is an incentive payment to an unsuccessful bidder who placed the estate property in a sales configuration mode ... to attract other bidders to the auction. Break-up fees are important tools to encourage bidding and to maximize the value of the debtor's assets. The usual rule is that if break-up fees encourage bidding, they are enforceable; if they stifle bidding they are not enforceable." In re Integrated Res., Inc., 147 B.R. 650, 659 (S.D.N.Y. 1992) (internal citations and quotations omitted).

Break-up fees are typically approved for sales of large businesses in which potential purchasers must conduct time-consuming and expensive due diligence. Here, the asset being sold is residential property that purchasers can evaluate without expending significant sums on due diligence. The Court finds that a break-up fee is not necessary to incentivize bidding. The break-up fee is detrimental to the estate because it will reduce the recovery to creditors in the event that an overbidder prevails at the auction.

Having reviewed the declaration of the Buyers, the Court finds that the Buyers are good-faith purchasers entitled to the protections of § 363(m). In the event that an overbidder prevails at the auction, the Court will take testimony from such overbidder to determine whether §363(m) protections are warranted.

The Debtor is authorized to execute any and all documents that may be necessary to consummate the sale. The Debtor is authorized to retain the net sale proceeds in the

The Trustee moves to sell the Liquor License to Huaqing Yuan and Haidilao Catering (U.S.A.), Inc. (the "Buyers") for $90,000.00. The sale is subject to overbids. No opposition to the Sale Motion is on file.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Section 363(b) permits the Trustee to sell estate property out of the ordinary course of business, subject to court approval. The Trustee must articulate a business justification for the sale. In re Walter, 83 B.R. 14, 19–20 (9th Cir. BAP 1988). Whether the articulated business justification is sufficient "depends on the case," in view of "all salient factors pertaining to the proceeding." Id. at 19–20.

The Trustee has demonstrated sufficient business justification for the sale. The sale is consistent with the Trustee's statutory obligation to liquidate the estate's assets. The bidding procedures proposed by the Trustee are approved.

The Trustee requests that the Buyers be afforded the protections of § 363(m). The Trustee's declaration filed in support of the Sale Motion does not contain any evidence that the Buyers are entitled to such protections. At the hearing, the Court will take testimony from the Buyers to determine whether they are entitled to the protections of § 363(m). In the event that an overbidder prevails at the auction, the Court will take testimony from such overbidder to determine whether §363(m) protections are warranted.

On October 4, 2018, the Court entered a Final Order (I) Authorizing Postpetition Financing, (II) Authorizing Use of Cash Collateral, (III) Granting Liens and Providing Superpriority Administrative Expense Status, (IV) Granting Adequate Protection, (V) Modifying Automatic Stay, and (VI) Granting Related Relief [Doc. No. 409] (the “Final DIP Order”). The Final DIP Order authorized the Debtors to borrow up to $185 million (the “DIP Financing”) from Ally Bank (the “DIP Lender”) under a credit agreement (the “DIP Credit Agreement”), and authorized the Debtors to use the cash collateral of the Prepetition Secured Creditors. [Note 1] Under the DIP Credit Agreement, the DIP Financing expires and matures in accordance with its terms on September 7, 2019 (the “Maturity Date”).

On December 27, 2018, the Court entered an order approving the sale (the “SCC Sale”) of substantially all assets of O’Connor Hospital (“O’Connor”) and Saint Louise Regional Hospital (“St. Louise”) to the County of Santa Clara (“SCC”). Doc. No. 1153 (the “SCC Sale Order”). The SCC Sale closed on February 28, 2019. The proceeds of the SCC Sale (the “SCC Sale Proceeds”) were placed into “sales proceeds” deposit accounts in the name of the relevant selling Debtor at Bank of America, each denominated by the Debtors as an “Escrow Deposit Account” within the meaning of paragraph M of the Final DIP Order. Pursuant to the Final DIP Order, the Escrow Deposit Accounts are subject to the senior and priming liens of the DIP Lender, and are subject to deposit account control agreements in favor of the DIP Lender. See Final DIP Order at ¶ M.

The Debtors have undertaken a wind down of the operations of Debtor Verity Medical Foundation (“VMF”). In connection with this wind down, the Debtors have disposed of and/or transferred certain physician practices through sales and/or settlements with the owners of such practices (the proceeds of sales of VMF assets, the “VMF Sales Proceeds”). See Doc. Nos. 1338, 1367, 1368, 1915, 1919, and 2429. The VMF Sales Proceeds have been deposited in the Escrow Deposit Accounts. The Escrow Deposit Accounts hold approximately $187 million, consisting of the SCC Sale Proceeds, the VMF Sale Proceeds, and the proceeds of the sales of various other assets.

On May 2, 2019, the Court entered an order approving the sale (the “SGM Sale”) of substantially all assets of St. Francis Medical Center, St. Vincent Medical Center, St. Vincent Dialysis Center, and Seton Medical Center (including Seton Coastside) to Strategic Global Management, Inc. (“SGM”). Doc. No. 2306 (the “SGM Sale Order”). The Debtors have submitted the SGM Sale to review by the California Attorney General under applicable non-bankruptcy law.

Under the DIP Budget, the Debtors expect to have a borrowing balance of $86 million on the September 7, 2019 Maturity Date. If the SGM Sale closes by the end of October 2019, the Debtors expect to need access to an additional $50 million in cash. [Note 2] The continued operations of St. Francis Medical Center, St. Vincent Medical Center, St. Vincent Dialysis Center, Seton Medical Center, and Seton Coastside (collectively, the “Remaining Hospitals”) generate losses of approximately $450,000 per day.

The Debtors obtained an offer of continued debtor-in-possession financing through an extension of the DIP Credit Agreement until the earlier of the closing of the SGM Sale or December 31, 2019. The DIP Lender proposed to charge a 60-basis points extension fee. The estimated incremental cost of the extension is $3 million if financing is extended through October and $5 million if financing is extended through December 31, 2019.

As an alternative to the extension of the DIP Credit Agreement, the Debtors received a cash collateral proposal from UMB Bank and Wells Fargo. Under that proposal, the Debtors would use the cash collateral held in the Escrow Deposit Accounts to fully defease the obligations under the DIP Credit Agreement, including payoff of the outstanding borrowing balance as of the Maturity Date. Cash collateral would also be used to sustain the operations of the Remaining Hospitals while the Debtors attempt to close the SCC Sale.

The Debtors, the Prepetition Secured Creditors, and the Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors (the “Committee”) prefer the less costly cash collateral proposal offered by UMB Bank and Wells Fargo over an extension of the DIP Credit Agreement.

B. Summary of Papers Filed in Connection with the Motion

The Debtors seek authorization to use cash collateral pursuant to the terms of a proposed Supplemental Cash Collateral Order and Cash Collateral Budget (collectively, the “Cash Collateral Agreement”). The Prepetition Secured Creditors have consented to the Debtors’ use of cash collateral. Under the Cash Collateral Budget, the Debtors will pay off the outstanding amounts owed to the DIP Lender and then use cash collateral to fund operational expenses until the earlier of (1) December 31, 2019, (2) the effective date of a plan of liquidation, (3) the date of any stay, revocation, reversal, amendment or other modification of the Final DIP Order or the Supplemental Cash Collateral Order, (4) the occurrence of an Event of Default, or (5) the date the Court dismisses or converts the cases or orders the appointment of a Trustee or examiner. An "Event of Default" includes, without limitation, the termination of the Asset Purchase Agreement between certain of the Debtors and SGM.

The Debtors propose four forms of adequate protection for the Prepetition Secured Creditors: (1) adequate protection payments; (2) replacement liens; (3) preservation of the Debtors' equity cushion through continuous maintenance of real property; and (4) superpriority expenses of administration for any proven diminution in value. Adequate protection payments will be equivalent to the postpetition, non-default interest on the outstanding balances of the MTI Obligations and MOB Financing (as defined in the Final DIP Order).

The Committee supports the Debtors' proposed use of cash collateral pursuant to the Supplemental Cash Collateral Order, but requests that the following provisions be included in the order:

- 1) The order should make clear that the Committee's right to challenge the validity of the Prepetition Liens, pursuant to ¶ 5(e) of the Final DIP Order, remains in effect.
- 2) The Supplemental Cash Collateral Order states that the Prepetition Secured Creditors have liens on substantially all of the Debtors' assets. By way of pending adversary proceedings, the Committee has challenged the extent to which certain liens asserted by the Prepetition Secured Creditors have been properly perfected. The Supplemental Cash Collateral Order should not adversely affect the adversary proceedings being prosecuted by the Committee.
- 3) The Committee has appealed to the Ninth Circuit provisions in the Final DIP Order granting waivers under §§ 506(c) and 552(b). The Supplemental Cash Collateral Order, which reiterates those waivers, should not affect the Committee's prosecution of the appeal or this Court's ability to revisit the issue as appropriate.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Section 363(c)(2) requires court authorization for the use of cash collateral unless "each entity that has an interest in such cash collateral consents." In the Ninth Circuit, satisfaction of Section 363(c)(2)(A) requires the "affirmative express consent" of the secured creditor; "implied consent," resulting from the failure of the secured creditor to object to use of cash collateral, does not satisfy the requirements of the statute. Freightliner Market Development Corp. v. Silver Wheel Freightlines, Inc., 823 F.2d 362, 368-69 (9th Cir. 1987). Absent affirmative express consent, the Debtors "may not use" cash collateral absent the Court's determination that the use is "in accordance with the provisions" of Section 363—that is, that the secured creditor's interest in the cash collateral is adequately protected. §§ 363(c)(2)(B) and (e).

The Prepetition Secured Creditors have consented to the use of cash collateral. The Cash Collateral Agreement negotiated with the Prepetition Secured Creditors is supported by the Committee. The proposed use of cash collateral is approved. The Court finds that the Cash Collateral Agreement is superior to an extension of the DIP Credit Agreement because it will result in substantial savings for the estates.

The Court finds that the Prepetition Secured Creditors are adequately protected. In addition to adequate protection payments, the Prepetition Secured Creditors will receive replacement liens and a superpriority administrative expense claim for any proven diminution in value. The use of cash collateral to maintain the operations of the Remaining Hospitals constitutes further adequate protection. See In re Megan-Racine Associates, Inc., 202 B.R. 660, 663 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 1996) (concluding that "[a]s long as there was a continuous income stream being generated by the Debtor, the fact that the Debtor consumed a portion of those monies to operate and maintain the facility each month did not diminish the value of the [secured creditor's] interest in the [cash collateral]").

The Court finds that the Debtors would suffer irreparable harm absent approval of the use of cash collateral. The DIP Credit Agreement matures on September 7, 2019. Without the use of cash collateral, the Debtors would be unable to operate the Remaining Hospitals while they attempt to close the SGM Sale. Use of cash collateral is also necessary to enable the Debtors to pay off the DIP Loan and avoid a default as to the Scheduled Termination Date of the DIP Credit Agreement.

The Court agrees with the Committee that the Supplemental Cash Collateral Order should explicitly provide that nothing contained therein (1) prejudices the Committee's ability to challenge the validity of the Prepetition Liens pursuant to ¶ 5(e) of the Final DIP Order, (2) prejudices the Committee's ability to prosecute the appeal of the Final DIP Order, or (3) prejudices the Committee's ability to challenge, by way of pending adversary proceedings, the extent to which certain liens asserted by the Prepetition Secured Creditors have been properly perfected. The Debtors and the Committee shall negotiate appropriate language to this effect.

A final hearing on the Motion shall take place on September 30, 2019, at 10:00 a.m. Any opposition to final approval of the Cash Collateral Agreement shall be submitted by no later than September 16, 2019; replies in support of final approval, if any, shall be submitted by no later than September 23, 2019.

Based upon the foregoing, the Motion is GRANTED in its entirety.

Note 1

The term “Prepetition Secured Creditors” is defined in the Final DIP Order and means:

- 1) UMB Bank, N.A., as successor Master Trustee under the Master Trust Indenture dated as of December 1, 2001;
- 2) Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., as bond indenture trustee under the California Statewide Communities Development Authority Revenue Bonds (Daughters of Charity Health System) Series 2005 A, G and H;
- 3) U.S. Bank, N.A., as note trustee under the California Public Finance Authority Revenue Notes (Verity Health System) Series 2015 A, B, C, and D and California Public Finance Authority Revenue Notes (Verity Health System) Series 2017 A and B;
- 4) Verity MOB Financing, LLC; and
- 5) Verity MOB Financing II, LLC.

Note 2

The Debtors’ cash needs do not factor in the possibility that the Debtors could receive additional supplemental payments—such as a payment of Hospital Quality Assurance Funds—since the timing of any such payment is not predictable.

Docket 34

 VACATED  REASON: PER ORDER ENTERED 9-9-19

9/4/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2) to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to repossess or otherwise obtain possession and dispose of its collateral pursuant to applicable law, and to use the proceeds from its disposition to satisfy its claim. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. The Court finds that there is no equity in the subject vehicle and the Debtor has not responded with any evidence to satisfy his burden under 11 U.S.C. § 362(g)(2).

This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. All other relief is denied.

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

9/9/2019

Plaintiff has obtained final judgment in the State Court (the “State Court Judgment”) against Defendant, awarding Plaintiff damages of $225,000 for sexual battery (Cal. Civ. Code § 1798.5), gender violence (Cal. Civ. Code § 52.4), and violation of the Ralph Civil Rights Act (Cal. Civ. Code § 57.7). The portion of the State Court Judgment awarding Plaintiff attorneys’ fees in the amount of approximately $2.5 million remains subject to an appeal and is not yet final. However, the State Court Judgment’s award of costs in the amount of $84,090.34 is final.

On February 4, 2019, the Court found that the portion of the State Court Judgment awarding damages and costs was non-dischargeable pursuant to § 523(a)(6). Doc. Nos. 42 and 45–46. The Court stated that adjudication of the dischargeability of the fee portion of the State Court Judgment would occur once that aspect of the judgment became final.

On March 19, 2019, Defendant filed a Chapter 13 petition, Case No. 2:19-bk-12964-NB. (The Chapter 7 case in which this litigation arose was closed on August 22, 2017.) On June 5, 2019, Judge Bason granted Plaintiff’s motion for relief from the automatic stay, to enable Plaintiff to continue litigating the appeal of the fee portion of the State Court Judgment. Doc. No. 46, Case No. 2:19-bk-12964-NB. The appeal of the fee portion of the State Court Judgment remains pending.

A continued Status Conference shall be held on January 14, 2020, at 10:00 a.m. A Joint Status Report, which shall discuss the status of Defendant’s appeal of the fee portion of the State Court Judgment, shall be submitted by no later than fourteen days prior to the hearing.

Tentative Ruling:

9/9/2019 (amended prior to hearing)

For the reasons set forth below, this hearing is VACATED.

On February 21, 2019, the Court issued a Scheduling Order [Doc. No. 26] (the "Scheduling Order") which, among other things, set a Pretrial Conference for September 10, 2019, and required the parties to submit a Joint Pretrial Stipulation by no later than fourteen days prior to the Pretrial Conference. After the parties failed to timely submit the Joint Pretrial Stipulation, the Court issued an Order to Comply with Local Bankruptcy Rule 7016-1 Re: Pretrial and Trial Procedures [Doc. No. 31] (the "Order to Comply"). The Order to Comply warned the parties of the consequences of failing to fulfill their litigation obligations:

The parties are further advised that that the Court views the Pretrial Conference as an indispensable component of the resolution of this litigation and strictly enforces compliance with the Local Bankruptcy Rules. A material default by the Plaintiff in complying with obligations regarding the preparation of the Joint Pretrial Stipulation will most likely result in dismissal of the action for failure to prosecute. See Moneymaker v. CoBEN (In re Eisen), 31 F.3d 1447, 1451 (9th Cir. 1994) (dismissing action for failure to prosecute). A material default by the Defendant in fulfilling Defendant's corresponding obligations will most likely result in striking of the answer, entry of a default, and entry of judgment in favor of the Plaintiff. See Hester v. Vision Airlines,

9/10/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Court will order the Property to be sold at auction.

- 1) Order to Show Cause Why an Order for Sale of a Dwelling Should Not be Made, and Determination of Homestead Exemption [Doc. No. 118] (the "Order to Show Cause")

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Bondcorp Realty Services, Inc. (the "Plaintiff") commenced this dischargeability action against Andrew Stephan Hutchings (the "Defendant") on December 27, 2012. On December 1, 2015, the Court entered judgment in favor of Plaintiff in the amount of $302,000. Doc. No. 99 (the "Judgment").

On August 6, 2019, upon Plaintiff's application, the Court issued an Order to Show Cause Why an Order for Sale of a Dwelling Should Not be Made, and Determination of Homestead Exemption [Doc. Belen Street, Long Beach, CA 90815 (the "Property") should not be sold at a U.S. Marshall's auction in order to satisfy the Judgment.

Summary of Defendant's Opposition and Plaintiff's Reply

Defendant filed an untimely Opposition to the Order to Show Cause. Defendant makes the following arguments in support of the Opposition:

- 1) An execution sale would be pointless because there is no equity in the Property. According to an appraisal dated August 9, 2019, the Property is worth $645,000. Liens against the Property total $702,508.
- 2) Plaintiff has received over $100,000 from two other State Court defendants who were involved in the transaction that gave rise to the Judgment. Plaintiff's failure to disclose the receipt of such funds raises serious credibility issues. Before allowing the sale of the Property, the Court should require Plaintiff to disclose the total amount it has collected from other State Court defendants involved in the transaction.
- 3) Service of the Order to Show Cause was improper. The Order to Show Cause was not personally served upon all the tenants occupying the Property. Posting of the Order to Show Cause at the Property was not sufficient to apprise the tenants of their rights. In addition, the Order to Show Cause was not served upon the lienholders.

Plaintiff makes the following arguments in Reply to the Opposition:

- 1) The appraisal submitted in support of Defendant's claim that the Property has no equity is inadmissible because it is not authenticated by the appraiser. Further, the alleged lack of equity in the Property is irrelevant. A judgment creditor who forecloses on real estate takes title subject to pre-existing liens. Plaintiff is willing to take the risk that there may be no equity in the Property. In addition, although lack of equity is not relevant, one of the liens against the Property is avoidable because it was granted to an insider for no consideration. Upon obtaining title to the Property, Plaintiff intends to initiate legal action in the State Court to ascertain all parties' rights in the Property, unless the Bankruptcy Court is the proper venue for such action.
- 2) Plaintiff was not required to serve the Order to Show Cause upon the lienholders. Cal. Civ. Proc. Code § 704.770 does not require service upon lienholders. The lienholders will be properly notified of the upcoming sale at the proper time pursuant to Cal. Civ. Proc. Code § 701.540(h).

II. Findings and Conclusions

For the reasons set forth below, the Court will issue an order providing that the Property shall be sold at auction to satisfy the Judgment.

Under Cal. Civ. Proc. Code § 704.740, a judgment creditor may enforce a money judgment by applying to the Court for an order requiring the judgment debtor to show cause why the dwelling should not be sold. Here, as noted above, the Court issued the Order to Show Cause upon Plaintiff's application.

Cal. Civ. Proc. Code § 704.770(b) requires the Plaintiff to serve the Order to Show Cause as follows:

Not later than 30 days before the time set for hearing, the judgment creditor shall do both of the following:

- (1) Serve on the judgment debtor a copy of the order to show cause, a copy of the application of the judgment creditor, and a copy of the notice of the hearing in the form prescribed by the Judicial Council. Service shall be made personally or by mail.
- (2) Personally serve a copy of each document listed in paragraph (1) on an occupant of the dwelling or, if there is no occupant present at the time service is attempted, post a copy of each document in a conspicuous place at the dwelling.

Plaintiff served the Order to Show Cause in accordance with the requirements of Cal. Civ. Proc. Code § 704.770(b). Pursuant to Cal. Civ. Proc. Code § 704.770(b)(1), Plaintiff timely served the Order to Show Cause upon Defendant by mail. Doc. No. 121. Pursuant to Cal. Civ. Proc. Code § 704.770(b)(2), Plaintiff timely served the Order to Show Cause upon the occupants of the Property by posting. Contrary to Defendant's contention, Plaintiff was not required to personally serve the Order to Show Cause upon the occupants residing at the Property. Cal. Civ. Proc. Code § 704.770(b)(2) authorizes service by posting if the occupants are not present. The declaration filed in support of the Proof of Service of the Order to Show Cause states that the process server attempted personal service, but served the Order to Show Cause by posting because no occupants were present. Under these circumstances, service by posting meets the requirements of the statute.

Defendant's contention that service was defective because the lienholders were not served is likewise without merit. Nothing within Cal. Civ. Proc. Code § 704.770(b) requires service of the Order to Show Cause upon lienholders. Lienholders are only required to receive notice of the sale. See Cal. Civ. Proc. Code § 701.540(h) (requiring the levying office to provide lienholders at least 20 days' notice of the sale).

There is no merit to Defendant's contention that a sale should not be ordered because the liens against the Property exceed the anticipated sales price. [Note 1] Under Cal. Civ. Proc. Code § 704.800, a homestead may not be sold unless the bid amount exceeds the homestead exemption plus all liens against the homestead. However, the more stringent minimum bid requirements set forth in Cal. Civ. Proc. Code § 704.800 apply only to a homestead. For real property that is not a homestead, the less stringent minimum bid requirements set forth in Cal. Civ. Proc. Code § 701.620(a) apply. See Hon. Alan M. Ahart, Cal. Pract. Guide: Enforcing Judgments & Debts (The Rutter Group 2019) at Ch. 6D-7 (stating that "minimum bid requirements are substantially greater if a real property dwelling subject to the homestead exemption is put up for sale," but explaining that if the real property being sold is not a homestead, the minimum bid requirement is governed by Cal. Civ. Proc. Code § 701.620(a)). Under § 701.620(a), the minimum bid need not exceed the liens against the Property. Section 701.620 requires only that the minimum bid exceed the total of (1) all preferred labor claims that are required by § 1206 to be satisfied from the proceeds, (2) the amount of any state tax lien superior to the judgment creditor's lien, and (3) the amount of any deposit made pursuant to § 720.260, including interest, if the purchaser is not the judgment creditor.

Here, the minimum bid amount is governed by § 701.620(a), not § 704.800, because the Property is not a homestead. A homestead is "the principal dwelling (1) in which the judgment debtor or the judgment debtor's spouse resided on the date the judgment creditor's lien attached to the dwelling, and (2) in which the judgment debtor or the judgment debtor's spouse resided continuously thereafter until the date of the court determination that the dwelling is a homestead." Cal. Civ. Proc. Code § 701.710. The Order to Show Cause required Defendant to submit written evidence establishing that he qualified for a homestead exemption with respect to the Property. In his Opposition to the Order to Show Cause, Defendant has not asserted that the Property is a homestead or that he is entitled to a homestead exemption. Defendant has not submitted any evidence showing that he or his spouse lives at the Property. To the contrary, Defendant's declaration in support of his Opposition shows that the Property is not a homestead. That declaration states that the Property "is a rental property ..." Decl. of Andrew Hutchings [Doc. No. 123] at ¶ 9.

There is no evidence before the Court indicating that the sale will not generate the minimum bid amount under Cal. Civ. Proc. Code § 701.620(a). Defendant's opposition based upon an alleged lack of equity in the Property is overruled.

Defendant next argues that Plaintiff should be required to disclose the total amount collected from unspecified third-party State Court defendants before proceeding with the sale. The Court declines to order such disclosure. Judgment in this action was entered solely against the Defendant. Amounts that the Plaintiff has collected against unrelated third-party defendants in an unrelated action before the State Court have no relevance whatsoever to this action.

Plaintiff states that once it obtains title to the Property, Plaintiff intends to commence an action to invalidate an alleged insider lien. Plaintiff states that it intends to commence such action before the State Court absent guidance to the contrary from this Court. The Court agrees with Plaintiff that the State Court is the proper forum for such an action. The Court would not have jurisdiction over Plaintiff's contemplated action to invalidate the alleged insider lien.

The Bankruptcy Court has jurisdiction over "all cases under title 11." 28 U.S.C. § 1334(a). "Generally, in the bankruptcy context, the word 'case' is a term of art which refers to 'that which is commenced by the filing of a petition; it is the "whole ball of wax," the chapter 7, 9, 11, 12 or 13 case.'" Blevins Elec., Inc. v. First Am. Nat'l Bank (In re Blevins Elec., Inc.), 185 B.R. 250, 253 (Bankr. E.D. Tenn. 1995).

The Bankruptcy Court also has jurisdiction over "all civil proceedings arising under title 11, or arising in or related to cases under title 11." 28 U.S.C. §1334(b). The three types of jurisdiction conferred under 28 U.S.C. §1334(b) are known as "arising under," "arising in," and "related to" jurisdiction. "Arising under" jurisdiction exists if "the cause of action is created by title 11." Menk v. Lapaglia (In re Menk), 241 B.R. 896, 909 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1999). "Arising in" jurisdiction applies to "those administrative proceedings that, while not based on any right created by title 11, nevertheless have no existence outside bankruptcy." Id. "Related to" jurisdiction exists if "the outcome of the proceeding could conceivably have any effect on the estate being administered in bankruptcy.... An action is related to bankruptcy if the action could alter the debtor's rights, liabilities, options, or freedom of action (either positively or negatively) and which in any way impacts upon the handling and administration of the bankruptcy estate." Fietz v. Great Western Savings (In re Fietz), 852 F.2d 455, 457 (9th Cir. 1988) (internal citations omitted).

Chapter 7

The Court would not have jurisdiction over the contemplated action under 28 U.S.C. § 1334(a). The Debtor's bankruptcy case was closed on April 26, 2013. Having been closed, the case no longer qualifies as a "case under title 11" within the meaning of 28 U.S.C. § 1334(a).

The Court would not have any of the three types of jurisdiction specified in 28 U.S.C. § 1334(b) over the contemplated action. There would be no "arising under" jurisdiction, as the contemplated action is not created by title 11. There would be no "arising in" jurisdiction, because the contemplated action is not an administrative proceeding that has no existence outside bankruptcy. There would be no "related to" jurisdiction. The contemplated action could have no effect upon the estate, because the Debtor's case was closed long ago.

The only other plausible jurisdictional basis over the contemplated action would be ancillary jurisdiction. "Ancillary jurisdiction may rest on one of two bases: (1) to permit disposition by a single court of factually interdependent claims, and (2) to enable a court to vindicate its authority and effectuate its decrees." Sea Hawk Seafoods, Inc. v. Alaska (In re Valdez Fisheries Dev. Ass'n, Inc.), 439 F.3d 545, 549 (9th Cir. 2006). Neither of these bases apply to the contemplated action. Nothing about the contemplated action raises claims which are factually interdependent with the dischargeability claims that the Court has already adjudicated. Nor is adjudication of the contemplated action necessary to enable the Court to vindicate the effectiveness of the Judgment. The effectiveness of the Judgment has not been called into question; the contemplated action is merely a means by which Plaintiff may collect upon the Judgment.

III. Conclusion

Based upon the foregoing, the Court will order the Property to be sold at auction. Plaintiff shall submit an order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Carlos Nevarez or Daniel Koontz at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. Adv#: 2:19-01143 United States Trustee for the Central District of v. Lee

#2.00 HearingRE: [15] Motion for Default Judgment Against Debtor/Defendant to Deny Discharge; Proof of Service (Law, Dare)

Docket 15

Tentative Ruling:

9/10/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Motion is GRANTED in its entirety.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Complaint Objecting to Discharge Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §§ 727(a)(3), 727(a)(5) and 727(a)(6) [Adv. Doc. No. 1] (the "Complaint")
- 2) Plaintiff's Motion for Default Judgment Under LBR 7055-1 (the "Motion for Default Judgment") [Doc. No. 15]
- 3) No opposition is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Sang Hoon Lee (the "Debtor") filed a voluntary Chapter 7 petition on December 20, 2018 (the "Petition Date"). On May 16, 2019, the United States Trustee (the "UST") commenced this action (the "Complaint") objecting to the Debtor's discharge pursuant to §§ 727(a)(3), (a)(5), and (a)(6)(A). The Complaint alleges that the Debtor (1) failed to keep records relating to over $300,000 in loans and the disposition of the loan proceeds, (2) failed to satisfactorily explain the disposition of the approximately $300,000 in loan proceeds, and (3) failed to obey a Court order to attend a Rule 2004 examination and to produce documents. After the Debtor failed to respond to the Complaint, the Clerk of the Court entered default on June 25, 2019. Doc. No. 11. The UST seeks entry of default judgment against the Debtor.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Once default has been entered, the well-pleaded factual allegations of the complaint are taken as true. Cripps v. Life Ins. Co. of North America, 980 F.2d 1261,

Chapter 7

1267 (9th Cir.1992). Based upon the Complaint's allegations, as well as the evidence submitted in support of the Motion for Default Judgment, the Court makes the following findings:

A. The Debtor is Not Entitled to a Discharge Pursuant to § 727(a)(3)

Section 727(a)(3) provides that a debtor is not entitled to a discharge if the debtor has:

concealed, destroyed, mutilated, falsified, or failed to keep or preserve any recorded information, including books, documents, records, and papers, from which the debtor's financial condition or business transactions might be ascertained, unless such act or failure to act was justified under all the circumstances of the case.

Here, the Debtor has failed to maintain and preserve adequate records to document the dissipation of over $307,139 in loan proceeds that were borrowed from eleven banks and credit unions. Debtor testified that the proceeds were used for gambling, living expenses, and the repayment of loans from friends. Debtor failed to produce any books and records accounting for the sums repaid to friends or identifying the names of the friends who were repaid. In fact, Debtor has failed to produce any books and records describing in any manner the dissipation of the loan proceeds.

The UST is entitled to judgment on his claim for denial of discharge pursuant to § 727(a)(3).

B. The Debtor is Not Entitled to a Discharge Pursuant to § 727(a)(5)

Section 727(a)(5) provides that a debtor is not entitled to a discharge if the "debtor has failed to explain satisfactorily, before determination of denial of discharge under this paragraph, any loss of assets or deficiency of assets to meet the debtor's liabilities."

In a four month period in 2018, the Debtor obtained $307,139 in loan proceeds from eleven banks and credit unions. The Debtor has failed to provide any details regarding the dissipation of the loan proceeds, aside from a cursory statement that a small amount was used for gambling and living expenses, with the balance being used to repay personal loans from friends. Debtor has failed to provide the names of the friends who were repaid, has failed to provide any details of the circumstances giving rise to the loans from friends (such as when the funds were borrowed or how much was borrowed), and has failed to provide any information regarding the circumstances and methods of repayment.

The Debtor has failed to satisfactorily explain the dissipation of $307,139 in loan proceeds. The UST is entitled to judgment on his claim for denial of discharge pursuant to § 727(a)(5).

C. The Debtor is Not Entitled to a Discharge Pursuant to § 727(a)(6)(A)

Section 727(a)(6)(A) provides that a debtor is not entitled to a discharge if the debtor "has refused, in the case, to obey any lawful order of the court, other than an order to respond to a material question or to testify."

On March 28, 2019, the Court ordered the Debtor to appear at a Rule 2004 examination, to take place on April 24, 2019, and to produce documents in connection with the Rule 2004 examination. Bankr. Doc. No. 24 (the "Rule 2004 Order"). The Debtor failed to appear at the Rule 2004 examination and failed to comply with the document production requirements set forth in the Rule 2004 Order.

A debtor's complete disregard of an order requiring the debtor to appear at a Rule 2004 examination is grounds for denial of discharge, even though such an order includes a requirement to testify. Sicherman v. Rivera (In re Rivera), 338 B.R. 318, 329 (Bankr. N.D. Ohio 2006), aff'd, 356 B.R. 786 (B.A.P. 6th Cir. 2007); see also Grochocinski v. Eckert (In re Eckert), 375 B.R. 474, 481 (Bankr. N.D. Ill. 2007), aff'd sub nom. Eckert v. Grochocinski, No. 07-C-6012, 2008 WL 4547224 (N.D. Ill. Apr. 2, 2008) (holding that the debtor's failure to produce documents pursuant to a Rule 2004 examination order constituted grounds for denial of discharge).

Here, the Debtor completely disregarded the Rule 2004 Order. The UST is entitled to judgment on his claim for denial of discharge pursuant to § 727(a)(6)(A).

III. Conclusion

Based upon the foregoing, the Motion is GRANTED in its entirety. Within seven days of the hearing, the UST shall submit (1) a proposed order incorporating this tentative ruling by reference and (2) a proposed judgment. (For purposes of the separate document rule, set forth in Civil Rule 58(a), both an order and a judgment must be submitted.)

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Carlos Nevarez or Daniel Koontz at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear,

#4.00 HearingRE: [26] Motion for Default Judgment Plaintiff's Motion for Default Judgment under LBR 7055-1 with Proof of Service

Docket 26

Tentative Ruling:

9/10/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Motion is GRANTED, but only as to Estrada.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Complaint to Avoid Voidable Transactions and for Turnover [Doc. No. 1] (the "Complaint")
- 2) Plaintiff's Motion for Default Judgment Under LBR 7055-1 (the "Motion") [Doc. No. 26]
 - a) Memorandum of Points and Authorities in Support of Motion for Default Judgment Against Janet Estrada and Steven Molina [Doc. No. 23]
- 3) Notice of Opposition and Request for a Hearing [Doc. No. 28]

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Manuel Macias (the "Debtor") filed a voluntary Chapter 7 petition on January 19, 2018 (the "Petition Date"). On May 1, 2019, the Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee") commenced this action (the "Complaint") against Janet Estrada ("Estrada") and Steven Molina ("Molina," and together with Estrada, the "Defendants") to avoid and recover the pre-petition transfers of property located at 11468 Esther Street, Norwalk, CA 90650 (the "Norwalk Property"). The Trustee seeks (1) avoidance of the transfers pursuant to §§ 544(b), 548(a)(1)(A), and 548(a)(1)(B); (2) recovery of the avoided transfers pursuant to § 550; and (3) turnover of the Norwalk Property. After Defendants failed to respond to the Complaint, the Clerk of the Court entered their defaults on June 19, 2019. Doc. Nos. 13–14. The Trustee seeks entry of default judgment against the Defendants.

On September 9, 2019, Molina filed an untimely opposition to the Motion for Default Judgment. Molina states that he did not become aware of the Complaint until August 21, 2019, when he received a copy of the Motion for Default Judgment. Molina states that he does not live at the Norwalk Property, which is the address upon which the Summons and Complaint were served. Molina requests that the Motion for Default Judgment be denied and that he be allowed to defend against the litigation.

II. Findings and Conclusions

A. The Court Will Defer Ruling Upon the Motion for Default Judgment as to Molina

Entry of a defendant's default cuts off the defendant's right to appear in the action or present evidence. Horton v. Sierra Conservation Ctr., No. 1:09-CV-01441-AWI-SMS, 2010 WL 743849, at *1 (E.D. Cal. Mar. 1, 2010) report and recommendation adopted, No. 1:09-CV-01441AWISMS, 2010 WL 1267743 (E.D. Cal. Mar. 31, 2010); Great Am. Ins. Co. v. M.J. Menefee Const., Inc., No. F06-0392 AWIDLB, 2006 WL 2522408, at *2 (E.D. Cal. Aug. 29, 2006); see also Hon. A. Wallace Tashima and James M. Wagstaffe, California Practice Guide: Federal Civil Procedure Before Trial at 6:43 (if Defendant files an answer after default, the court should not accept the answer for filing; if the clerk accepts the answer, the court will order it stricken). The only procedure available to a defaulted defendant is to file a motion to set aside the default under Civil Rule 55(c).

As to Molina, the Court will defer ruling upon the Motion for Default Judgment to provide Molina an opportunity to file a motion to set aside his default (the "Motion"). Molina shall file the Motion by no later than October 2, 2019. Molina is strongly advised to retain counsel.

B. The Motion for Default Judgment is Granted as to Estrada

Once default has been entered, the well-pleaded factual allegations of the complaint are taken as true. Cripps v. Life Ins. Co. of North America, 980 F.2d 1261, 1267 (9th Cir.1992). Based upon the Complaint's allegations, as well as the evidence submitted in support of the Motion for Default Judgment, the Court makes the following findings (the findings are made only as to Estrada):

1. Prepetition Transfers of the Norwalk Property

As of July 7, 2011, the Debtor held fee title to the Norwalk Property. By a grant deed recorded in Los Angeles County on May 23, 2012, the Debtor transferred the Norwalk Property to himself and Janet Estrada (the "2012 Transfer"). The grant deed described the 2012 Transfer as a bona fide gift for which the grantor received nothing in return.

By a grant deed recorded in Los Angeles County on November 24, 2015, the Debtor and Estrada transferred the Norwalk Property to the Debtor, Estrada, and Steven Molina (the "2015 Transfer"). The grant deed described the 2015 Transfer as a bona fide gift for which the grantor received nothing in return.

By a grant deed recorded in Los Angeles County on October 3, 2016, the Debtor, Molina, and Estrada transferred the Norwalk Property to Molina and Estrada (the "2016 Transfer," and together with the 2012 Transfer and the 2015 Transfer, the "Transfers"). The grant deed described the 2016 Transfer as a bona fide gift for which the grantor received nothing in return.

2. The Transfers are Avoidable as Actually Fraudulent Pursuant to § 544(b), Applying Cal. Civ. Code § 3439.04

The Trustee's claim under § 544(b), applying Cal. Civ. Code § 3439.04, is timely. The 2012 Transfer occurred on May 23, 2012. The Complaint was filed on May 1, 2019. The seven year limitations period imposed by Cal. Civ. Code § 3439.09(c) is tolled by § 546(a). See Rund v. Bank of Am. Corp. (In re EPD Inv. Co., LLC), 523 B.R. 680, 692 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2015) ("Accordingly, we hold that so long as a state-law fraudulent transfer claim exists on the petition date (or the date the order for relief is entered), i.e., the state's applicable repose period governing the action has not yet expired on the petition date (or the order for relief date), the trustee may bring the avoidance action under § 544(b), provided it is filed within the limitations period in § 546(a). The 'reach back' period is established on the petition date (or the order for relief date) and encompasses all transfers within the relevant period provided by state law."). Therefore, the Trustee had until January 19, 2020 (two years after the Petition Date) to file the Complaint.

Section 544(b)(1) permits the Trustee to "avoid any transfer of an interest of the debtor in property ... that is voidable under applicable law by a creditor holding an unsecured claim that is allowable under section 502 of this title or that is not allowable only under section 502(e) of this title." The "applicable law" in this case is Cal. Civ. Code § 3439.04(a)(1), California's implementation of the Uniform Voidable Transactions Act (the "UVTA"), which provides:

(a) A transfer made or obligation incurred by a debtor is voidable as to a creditor, whether the creditor's claim arose before or after the transfer was made or the obligation was incurred, if the debtor made the transfer or incurred the obligation as follows:

- (1) With actual intent to hinder, delay, or defraud any creditor of the debtor....
- (b) In determining actual intent under paragraph (1) of subdivision (a), consideration may be given, among other factors, to any or all of the following:
 - (1) Whether the transfer or obligation was to an insider.
 - (2) Whether the debtor retained possession or control of the property transferred after the transfer.
 - (3) Whether the transfer or obligation was disclosed or concealed.
 - (4) Whether before the transfer was made or obligation was incurred, the debtor had been sued or threatened with suit.
 - (5) Whether the transfer was of substantially all the debtor's assets.
 - (6) Whether the debtor absconded.
 - (7) Whether the debtor removed or concealed assets.
 - (8) Whether the value of the consideration received by the debtor was reasonably equivalent to the value of the asset transferred or the amount of the obligation incurred.
 - (9) Whether the debtor was insolvent or became insolvent shortly after the transfer was made or the obligation was incurred.
 - (10) Whether the transfer occurred shortly before or shortly after a substantial debt was incurred.
 - (11) Whether the debtor transferred the essential assets of the business to a lienor that transferred the assets to an insider of the debtor.

The Transfers were actually fraudulent pursuant to § 544, applying Cal. Civ. Code § 3439.04(a)(1). Multiple badges of fraud apply. The 2016 Transfer was to an insider, because the grant deed for the 2016 Transfer is described as an "interfamily transfer." The 2016 Transfer was concealed because it was required to be disclosed in the Debtor's Statement of Financial Affairs but was not. In addition, the Debtor concealed the 2015 Transfer and the 2016 Transfer by testifying that he had transferred nothing worth more than $5,000 in the past four years. The value given to the Debtor in exchange for the Transfers was not reasonably equivalent to the value of the Norwalk Property because the grant deeds for the 2012 Transfer, 2015 Transfer, and 2016 Transfer describe the Transfers as gifts.

Section 548(a)(1)(A) provides: "The trustee may avoid any transfer ... of an interest of the debtor in property ... that was made or incurred on or within 2 years before the date of the filing of the petition, if the debtor voluntarily or involuntarily made such transfer ... with actual intent to hinder, delay, or defraud any entity to which the debtor was or became, on or after the date that such transfer was made ... indebted."

Because "it is often impracticable, on direct evidence, to demonstrate an actual intent to hinder, delay or defraud creditors," courts "frequently infer fraudulent intent from the circumstances surrounding the transfer, taking particular note of certain recognized indicia or badges of fraud." Acequia, Inc. v. Clinton (In re Acequia, Inc.), 34 F.3d 800, 805 (9th Cir. 1994). Those badges of fraud include, but are not limited to, "(1) actual or threatened litigation against the debtor; (2) a purported transfer of all or substantially all of the debtor's property; (3) insolvency or other unmanageable indebtedness on the part of the debtor; (4) a special relationship between the debtor and the transferee; and, after the transfer, (5) retention by the debtor of the property involved in the putative transfer." Id.

For the same reasons that the Transfers are avoidable as actually fraudulent pursuant to § 544, applying Cal. Civ. Code § 3439.04(a)(1), the Transfers are avoidable as actually fraudulent pursuant to § 548(a)(1)(A).

4. The Transfers are Avoidable as Constructively Fraudulent Pursuant to § 548(a)(1)(B)

Section 548(a)(1)(B) permits the Trustee to avoid a transfer if the Debtor "received less than a reasonably equivalent value in exchange for such transfer" and if the Debtor "was insolvent on the date that such transfer was made ... or became insolvent as a result of such transfer."

The Debtor received no consideration for the Transfers and became insolvent as a result of the Transfers. Accordingly, the Transfers are avoidable as constructively fraudulent pursuant to § 548(a)(1)(B).

5. The Transfers are Avoidable as Constructively Fraudulent Pursuant to § 544, Applying Cal. Civ. Code § 3439.05(a)(1)

Section 544(b)(1) permits the Trustee to "avoid any transfer of an interest of the debtor in property ... that is voidable under applicable law by a creditor holding an unsecured claim that is allowable under section 502 of this title or that is not allowable only under section 502(e) of this title." The "applicable law" in this case is

Cal. Civ. Code § 3439.05(a)(1), which is substantially similar to § 548(a)(1)(B). Cal. Civ. Code § 3439.05(a)(1) provides that a transfer is voidable "if the debtor made the transfer ... without receiving a reasonably equivalent value in exchange for the transfer ... and the debtor was insolvent at that time or the debtor became insolvent as a result of the transfer"

As discussed, the Debtor received no consideration for the Transfers and became insolvent as a result of the Transfers. The Transfers are avoidable as constructively fraudulent pursuant to § 544, applying Cal. Civ. Code § 3439.05(a)(1)

6. The Trustee is Entitled to Recover the Norwalk Property Pursuant to § 550(a)

Where a transfer has been avoided under §§ 544 or 548, § 550(a) authorizes the Trustee to "recover, for the benefit of the estate, the property transferred, or, if the court so orders, the value of such property"

Having avoided the Transfers of the Norwalk Property under §§ 544 and 548, the Trustee is entitled to recover the Norwalk Property for the benefit of the estate.

7. The Court Declines to Order Turnover of the Property

Section 542 requires any entity in possession of property of the estate to turnover such property to the Trustee.

Both Molina and Estrada claim an interest in the Norwalk Property. Because the Court is granting the Motion only as to Estrada, any turnover order would not be possible to enforce. The Court declines to order turnover at this time.

III. Conclusion

Based upon the foregoing, the Motion is GRANTED, but only as to Estrada. Because the Court is not granting the Motion as to Molina, the Court will not enter final judgment at this time. Within seven days of the hearing, the Trustee shall submit an order (but not a judgment) granting the Motion as to Estrada.

Docket 55

Tentative Ruling:

9/16/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Motion is GRANTED IN PART and DENIED IN PART. Only the allegations pertaining to the $803,600.26 in payments made within the one year period prior to the Petition Date relate back. The Trustee will be permitted to amend the Complaint to substitute the preference allegation with a fraudulent transfer allegation, but only with respect to the $803,600.26 in payments already alleged in the Complaint.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Notice of Motion and Motion for Leave to Modify Scheduling Order to Permit Filing of First Amended Complaint [Doc. No. 55] (the "Motion")
- 2) Defendant Cellco Partnership's Response in Opposition to Plaintiff's Motion to Amend Complaint [Doc. No. 61] (the "Opposition")
- 3) Reply to Opposition to Motion for Leave to Modify Scheduling Order to Permit Filing of First Amended Complaint [Doc. No. 70] (the "Reply")

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

JW Wireless, Inc. (the "Debtor") filed a voluntary Chapter 7 petition on May 17, 2016 (the "Petition Date"). On April 10, 2018, the Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee") filed an avoidance action (the "Complaint") against Cellco Partnership dba Verizon Wireless ("Verizon") and other defendants. The Complaint alleges that the Debtor made preferential transfers to or for the benefit of Verizon of $1,626.44 within ninety days of the Petition Date, and that the Debtor made preferential transfers to or for the benefit of Verizon of $803,600.26 within one year of the Petition Date. The Complaint further alleges that Verizon is an insider, because it exercised control over the Debtor by requiring the Debtor to liquidate stores and use the funds to pay off the Debtor's line of credit with Verizon.

On July 18, 2018, after having conducted an initial Status Conference, the Court entered a Scheduling Order [Doc. No. 25] fixing August 16, 2018 as the deadline to amend pleadings and/or join parties. On April 2, 2019, the Trustee filed the instant Motion, which seeks leave to modify the Scheduling Order to permit the Trustee to file a First Amended Complaint (the "FAC"). The hearing on the Motion was continued several times by stipulation to permit mediation to occur. A mediation conference was conducted on August 23, 2019, at which a settlement with respect to nine of the defendants was reached. Doc. No. 101. However, no settlement was reached with respect to Verizon, which opposes the Motion.

A. Summary of the Trustee's Motion for Leave to Amend the Complaint

The Trustee makes the following arguments and representations in support of the Motion:

In his pre-litigation analysis of the Debtor's books and records, the Trustee discovered that the Debtor made payments of $803,600.26 to Verizon within the one year period prior to the Petition Date. The payments could not be traced to any contemporaneous shipments of Verizon products or other value to Debtor, and therefore appeared to have been made on account of antecedent debts. Accordingly, the Complaint alleged a single claim for relief against Verizon, to avoid and recover a preferential transfer of $803,600.26 for the benefit of the estate.

On December 24, 2019, the Trustee served requests for production (the "RFPs") on Verizon, seeking invoices issued by Verizon to the Debtor. The Trustee granted Verizon two extensions of time to respond to the RFPs. On February 22, 2019, Verizon produced 58 pages in response to the RFPs, but explained that it had not yet collected all responsive documents and would supplement its production once it had collected the remaining documents. As of the date of the filing of the Motion, the additional documents have not been produced.

The documents produced contained a summary of payments from the Debtor to Verizon (the "Payment Summary"). The Trustee's financial advisors performed a forensic investigation of the Debtor's books and records in light of the information contained in the Payment Summary. The forensic analysis revealed that the Debtor made payments in excess of $29 million to Verizon, but that the payments were for merchandise shipped to Stellar Connections, Inc. ("Stellar"), not to the Debtor. Stellar is another venture in which two of the Debtor's principals hold an interest.

The Trustee seeks leave to amend the Complaint to allege that:

- 1) The Debtor paid Verizon $29 million between February 2013 and May 2016.
- 2) Such payments are avoidable as constructively fraudulent transfers. The Debtor received no value from Verizon in exchange for these payments. Instead, these payments consisted of payments for goods shipped and delivered to stores owned by Stellar.

Good cause exists to modify the Scheduling Order to permit the filing of the proposed FAC. The Trustee has acted diligently in investigating and discovering the true facts concerning the Debtor's finances. The Trustee filed the Motion only three weeks after receiving the forensic accounting report on the Debtor's finances from his financial advisors. If amendment were not permitted, the bankruptcy estate would suffer severe prejudice, as the Trustee was not aware of the over $29 million in fraudulent conveyances, which were not disclosed in the Debtor's schedules or statement of financial affairs.

B. Summary of Verizon's Opposition to the Motion

Verizon opposes the Motion, and makes the following arguments and representations in support of its Opposition:

The Trustee has not shown good cause to amend the Scheduling Order because the Trustee has failed to show that he diligently investigated the $29 million in transfers. The Trustee had access to the Debtor's bank statements showing the transfers during the three years following his appointment, but failed to serve any discovery on Verizon prior to the deadline to amend pleadings.

The proposed amendment is futile because it is barred by the statute of limitations. Pursuant to § 546(a), the two-year limitations period on avoidance actions expired on May 17, 2018. The Motion was not filed until April 2, 2019, almost eleven months after the limitations period expired.

Chapter 7

The only basis upon which the proposed FAC could be timely is if it related back to the date of the filing of the Complaint under Civil Rule 15(c)(2). An amendment relates back when it “asserts a claim or defense that arose out of the conduct, transaction, or occurrence set out—or attempted to be set out—in the original pleading.” Civil Rule 15(c)(2). Only the $803,600.26 of individual payments alleged in the Complaint could even arguably fall within the scope of the relation back rule. Courts have held that each transfer constitutes a distinction transaction for purposes of Civil Rule 15(c)(2). See, e.g., In re MBC Greenhouse Co., 307 B.R. 787, 793 (Bankr. D. Del. 2004) (plaintiff could not relate back amended preference complaint adding new transfers); In re Austin Driveway Servs., Inc., 179 B.R. 390, 393 (Bankr. D. Conn. 1995) (each transfer “is an isolated event”); In re Slaughter Co. & Assoc., Inc., 242 B.R. 97, 102-03 (Bankr. N.D. Ga. 1999) (relation back to “bootstrap new transactions into viable actions is an abuse of due process which cannot be allowed, even to maximize recovery to the estate”); In re New Bedford Capacitor, Inc., 301 B.R. 375, 380 (Bankr. D. Mass. 2003); In re Kam Kuo Seafood Corp., 67 B.R. 304, 308 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 1986) (denying relation back to additional payments under preference theory).

Even if not barred by the statute of limitations, the proposed FAC would be futile on the merits of substantive law as well. A fraudulent transfer claim must allege that the debtor did not receive reasonably equivalent value for the transfer. The Trustee alleges in only a conclusory fashion that the Debtor did not receive reasonably equivalent value for the payments allegedly made to Verizon. The Trustee concludes that the Debtor received no value because the goods were shipped to the Debtor’s affiliate, Stellar. The Trustee presents no evidence for this allegation, which contradicts the Trustee’s allegations in an avoidance action filed against Stellar in its bankruptcy case, pending before Judge Zurzolo. In that proceeding, the Trustee alleges that Stellar caused a payment of $2.5 million to be directed to Verizon, in satisfaction of obligations owed not by Stellar, but by the Debtor. The Trustee alleges that the $2.5 million paid to Verizon was a fraudulent transfer with respect to Stellar, because the debt was the Debtor’s obligation.

In addition, the proposed FAC fails to allege facts sufficient to show that the Debtor did not indirectly receive benefits through its relationship with its affiliate Stellar on account of the payments. Here, the Debtor received reasonably equivalent value on account of the shipments to Stellar because Stellar subsequently transferred funds to the Debtor.

Allowing amendment would be prejudicial to Verizon because Verizon would be required to search for documents and witnesses dating back to 2013, making it difficult for Verizon to defend itself.

The proposed amendment should be denied because it is not sought in good faith. After three years of access to the Debtor's records, which reflect payments to Verizon, the Trustee sought to amend the Complaint only after Verizon provided the Trustee authority showing that the Trustee's preference theory failed because the Trustee could not show that Verizon is an insider.

Finally, the Court should deem the Trustee to have abandoned his preference claim and should dismiss that claim as moot.

C. Summary of the Trustee's Reply

The Trustee makes the following arguments and representations in his Reply in support of the Motion:

The proposed FAC is not barred by the statute of limitations because the claims relate back to the Complaint. Where, as here, the factual situation out of which the action arises remains the same and has brought to the party's attention, a change in the legal theory on which the action is prosecuted does not defeat relation back. See Santana v. Holiday Inns, Inc., 686 F.2d 736, 738–39 (9th Cir. 1982).

In Mendelsohn v. Mack Fin. Corp. (In re Frank Santora Equip. Corp.), 202 B.R. 543 (Bankr. E.D.N.Y. 2009), the court found that an amended complaint related back on facts mirroring those presented here. The Trustee sought to amend his original preference complaint to assert a fraudulent transfer claim, which the Trustee discovered after reviewing discovery produced by the defendant. The Mendelsohn court held that the proposed new fraudulent transfer claim "arises from the same transaction as the preference claim." Mendelsohn, 202 B.R. at 545.

There is no merit to Verizon's contention that the proposed FAC fails to state a claim for fraudulent transfer. Verizon contends that the FAC fails because it does not sufficiently allege facts showing that Verizon did not receive an indirect benefit from the transfers as a result of its relationship with Stellar. However, once the Trustee has shown that the transfer was for the benefit of a third party, it is Verizon's burden to prove that the indirect benefit doctrine applies. Unencumbered Assets Tr. v. Biomar Techs., Inc. (In re Nat'l Century Fin. Enters.), 341 B.R. 198, 217 (Bankr. S.D. Ohio 2006).

Contrary to Verizon's argument, the Trustee has sought leave to amend in good faith. The Trustee promptly provided the Payment Summary to his financial advisors after it was produced by Verizon in discovery. Within three weeks of receiving an analysis from his financial advisors, the Trustee filed the Motion. The Trustee has not engaged in dilatory conduct in this unusually complex case.

Verizon claims that it will be prejudiced by the proposed FAC because it will have to locate documents and witnesses from six years ago. Verizon's argument overlooks the fact that a fraudulent transfer claim has a four year look-back period to begin with. Verizon is a large corporation and has not explained why it will be unable to locate records and witnesses from only six years ago.

II. Findings and Conclusions

A. The Proposed FAC Relates Back, But Only With Respect to the $803,600.26 in Payments Alleged in the Complaint

Section 546(a) requires the Trustee to commence an avoidance action within "2 years after the entry of the order for relief." The Debtor sought bankruptcy protection on May 17, 2016. The Trustee was required to commence all avoidance actions by no later than May 17, 2018.

The Trustee filed the Motion seeking leave to amend on April 2, 2019. The Trustee could not commence a separate avoidance action against Verizon. Therefore, the proposed FAC is time-barred unless it relates back to the Complaint.

Civil Rule 15(c) provides: "An amendment to a pleading relates back to the date of the original pleading when the amendment asserts a claim or defense that arose out of the conduct, transaction, or occurrence set out—or attempted to be set out—in the original pleading."

"An amended claim arises out of the same conduct, transaction, or occurrence if it 'will likely be proved by the "same kind of evidence" offered in support of the original pleading.' To relate back, 'the original and amended pleadings [must] share a common core of operative facts so that the adverse party has fair notice of the transaction, occurrence, or conduct called into question.' The relation back doctrine of Rule 15(c) is 'liberally applied.'" ASARCO, LLC v. Union Pac. R. Co., 765 F.3d 999, 1004 (9th Cir. 2014) (internal citations omitted). In addition:

In deciding whether an amendment to state a new claim against the original defendant is proper, the policies underlying the statute of limitations are implicated. See Santana v. Holiday Inns, Inc., 686 F.2d 736, 738–39 (9th Cir.1982). Thus, amendment of a complaint is proper if the original pleading put the defendant on notice of the "particular transaction or set of facts" that the plaintiff believes to have caused the complained of injury. Id. at 739. Fairness to the defendant demands that the defendant be able to anticipate claims that might follow from the facts alleged by the plaintiff. See, e.g., id. ("It is apparent from [the plaintiff's] original complaint that [the defendant] was not taken by surprise by the addition of the claim for interference with employment relations."); see also Grattan v. Burnett, 710 F.2d 160, 163 (4th Cir.1983) (observing that "the Title VII proceedings should have put defendants on notice of the possibility that [the plaintiffs] might bring claims under the Civil Rights Act"), aff'd, 468 U.S. 42, 104 S.Ct. 2924, 82 L.Ed.2d 36 (1984).

Percy v. San Francisco Gen. Hosp., 841 F.2d 975, 979 (9th Cir. 1988).

The Complaint alleges that the Debtor paid Verizon $803,600.26 within the one year period prior to the Petition Date, and seeks to avoid the payments as a preference. The proposed FAC alleges that the Debtor paid Verizon $29 million within an approximately three year period prior to the Petition Date, and seeks to avoid the payments as a constructively fraudulent transfer.

The Court finds that the only conduct alleged in the proposed FAC that relates back to the Complaint is the Debtor's payments to Verizon of $803,600.26 within the one year period prior to the Petition Date. The Complaint put Verizon on notice that it was required to defend itself against the Trustee's attempt to avoid payments of $803,600.26. Verizon could reasonably have anticipated that the Trustee might seek to amend the Complaint to allege that the payment was a constructively fraudulent transfer rather than a preference. "[A]n amendment which changes the legal theory on which an action initially was brought is of no consequence to the question of relation back if the factual situation out of which the action arises remains the same and has been brought to the defendant's attention by the original pleading." Santana v. Holiday Inns, Inc., 686 F.2d 736, 739 (9th Cir. 1982).

The FAC's allegations regarding the Debtor's payment of approximately $28 million to Verizon between February 2013 and May 2015 do not relate back to the Complaint. In Peltz v. CTC Direct (In re MBC Greenhouse Co.), 307 B.R. 787 (Bankr. D. Del. 2004), the estate representative sought leave to amend a preference action to include allegations that an additional 39 transactions, in the aggregate amount of approximately $8 million, were avoidable as preferences. The MBC Greenhouse court found that the proposed amended complaint did not relate back. It reasoned that the proposed amended complaint alleged "a whole new set of specific transactions" that were "distinct from the ones set forth in the original complaint." MBC Greenhouse, 307 B.R. at 793. The court further explained that aside "from their characterization as preferential transfers and similar payees there is no commonality between the thirty nine transactions (except as to one) and the six separate transactions alleged in the original complaint." Id. at 794.

As was the case in MBC Greenhouse, the FAC does not contain sufficient allegations to show that the additional $28 million in payments alleged in the FAC are related to the $803,600.26 in payments alleged in the Complaint. The FAC is devoid of specific factual allegations establishing that these additional payments were part of the same scheme. The fact that both sets of payments were between the Debtor and Verizon is immaterial; in MBC Greenhouse, the payments also involved similar payees. MBC Greenhouse, 307 B.R. at 794.

In New Bedford Capacitor, Inc. v. Sexon Can Co. (In re New Bedford Capacitor, Inc.), 301 B.R. 375, 380 (Bankr. D. Mass. 2003), the court reached the same result as in MBC Greenhouse. The Bedford court found that not all payments made during the preference period were part of the same transaction and held that the addition of a new transaction would not relate back. The fact that the transaction was between the same parties did not change the result: "the debtor-creditor relationship alone is insufficient to warrant the conclusion that all payments during the preference period are part of the same conduct, transaction or occurrence." Bedford, 301 B.R. at 380.

In Gordon v. Slaughter (In re Slaughter Co. & Assoc., Inc.), 242 B.R. 97, 103 (Bankr. N.D. Ga. 1999), the court likewise held that an amended complaint which included additional allegedly preferential transfers did not relate back. The court held that "to allow the Trustee to use the relation-back doctrine to bootstrap new transactions onto viable actions is an abuse of due process which cannot be allowed, even to maximize recovery to the estate." Slaughter, 242 B.R. at 102–103.

To the extent the Trustee relies upon Mendelsohn v. Mack Fin. Corp. (In re Frank Santora Equip. Corp.), 202 B.R. 543 (Bankr. E.D.N.Y. 2009) to argue that the $28 million in payments made between May 2013 and May 2015 relate back, such reliance is misplaced. In Mendelsohn, the court held that an amended complaint which replaced a preference claim with a fraudulent transfer claim related back. However, the amended complaint in Mendelsohn involved the same transaction; unlike the proposed FAC at issue here, it did not allege additional transactions. Mendelsohn, 202 B.R. at 544. Consistent with Mendelsohn, the Court finds that with respect to the $803,600.26 payment alleged in the Complaint, the amendment which substitutes a fraudulent transfer claim for a preference claim does relate back. However, nothing in Mendelsohn supports the Trustee's contention that allegations pertaining to an additional $28 million in payments which were not alleged in the Complaint can relate back.

B. The Trustee is Granted Leave to Amend

Because the Court has entered a Scheduling Order, the Trustee's request for leave to amend is governed by both Civil Rules 16 and 15. As the Ninth Circuit has held, "[o]nce the ... court has filed a pretrial scheduling order pursuant to [Civil Rule] 16 ... that rule's standards [control]" with respect to a request for leave to amend. See Johnson v. Mammoth Recreations, Inc., 975 F.2d 604, 608 (9th Cir. 1992). Civil Rule 16(b)(4) provides that a scheduling order "shall not be modified except upon a showing of good cause and by leave of the ... judge." Civil Rule 16's "good cause" standard "primarily considers the diligence of the party seeking the amendment. The ... court may modify the pretrial schedule 'if it cannot reasonably be met despite the diligence of the party seeking the extension.'" Johnson, 975 F.2d at 609.

If the Trustee can demonstrate "good cause" under Civil Rule 16, the Trustee must then show that amendment is also appropriate under Civil Rule 15. See Johnson, 975 F.2d at 609 (explaining that the "party seeking to amend [the] pleading after [the] date specified in [the] scheduling order must first show 'good cause' for amendment under Rule 16(b), then, if 'good cause' be shown, the party must demonstrate that amendment was proper under Rule 15").

The Court finds that the Trustee has diligently prosecuted the Complaint. The Trustee sought leave to amend shortly after his financial advisors conducted an additional review of the Debtor's books and records that was informed by the Payment Summary produced by Verizon. It is true that the Trustee did not serve discovery upon Verizon until after the deadline for seeking leave to amend had expired. However, given the complexity of this action—which involves ten defendants—it cannot be said that the Trustee unduly delayed propounding discovery.

Having found that the Trustee has shown "good cause" under Civil Rule 16 with respect to the request for leave to amend, the Court next considers whether the Trustee has satisfied Civil Rule 15. Under Civil Rule 15, the "court should freely give leave [to amend] when justice so requires." However, "[l]eave need not be granted where the amendment of the complaint would cause the opposing party undue prejudice, is sought in bad faith, constitutes an exercise in futility, or creates undue delay." Ascon Properties, Inc. v. Mobil Oil Co., 866 F.2d 1149, 1160 (9th Cir. 1989).

state a fraudulent transfer claim. Verizon's theory is that the Trustee has failed to allege facts showing that Verizon did not indirectly benefit from the value received by its affiliate, Stellar. Verizon's argument misconceives the burden of proof that applies to the indirect benefit doctrine. "[O]nce a plaintiff has established that consideration for the transfer passed to a third-party, the burden of demonstrating and quantifying reasonably equivalent value for the transfer shifts to the defendant." Unencumbered Assets Trust v. Biomar Technologies, Inc. (In re Nat. Century Fin. Enterprises, Inc.), 341 B.R. 198, 217 (Bankr. S.D. Ohio 2006). It is Verizon's burden of proof to assert the indirect benefit doctrine as a defense. The proposed FAC is not required to allege facts sufficient to defeat a defense which may be asserted by Verizon. Consequently, Verizon has not shown that the claims alleged in the proposed FAC are futile.

Nor has the Trustee sought leave to amend in bad faith. Verizon maintains that the real reason for the proposed amendment was not information provided by the Trustee's forensic accountants, but instead Verizon's furnishing of the Trustee with authority showing infirmities in its preference claim. The Court finds that while perhaps the authority supplied by Verizon played some role in the Trustee's decision to seek leave to amend, the primary factor motivating the decision was information the Trustee received from the forensic accounting conducted by his financial advisors.

Verizon contends that bad faith exists on the ground that the proposed FAC contains allegations inconsistent with those of a complaint filed by the Trustee in an action pending before Judge Zurzolo. In that action, brought on behalf of the Stellar estate (the "Stellar Action"), the Trustee alleges that Stellar caused a payment of $2.5 million to be directed to Verizon, in satisfaction of obligations owed not be Stellar, but by the Debtor. All that can be inferred from the allegations in the Stellar Action is that the Debtor had an obligation of $2.5 million to Verizon. The existence of such an obligation is not necessarily inconsistent with the allegation that the $803,600.26 in payments from the Debtor to Verizon at issue here were constructively fraudulent.

Allowance of the proposed amendment will not unduly prejudice Verizon. As noted, from the outset of this litigation Verizon has been on notice that it would be required to defend its receipt of the $803,600.26 in payments. The change in the Trustee's legal theory is not prejudicial, as Verizon could reasonably have anticipated the possibility that the Trustee would seek avoidance under a fraudulent transfer theory rather than a preference theory.

Finally, as discussed above, leave to amend will not result in undue delay. The Trustee sought leave to amend shortly after an analysis of materials propounded in discovery revealed the necessity of seeking avoidance on a fraudulent transfer theory.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Debtor-in-possession, Andrew's & Sons Tradings, Inc. dba Beston Shoes (the "Debtor"), filed this voluntary chapter 11 case on July 13, 2018 (the "Petition Date"). On June 27, 2019, the Court issued the Scheduling Order continuing the confirmation hearing. See Doc. No. 126. The Court further directed the Debtor to reopen voting for certain non-voting classes, with supplemental notice to the affected creditors. See id. The supplemental notice had to unambiguously inform creditors that the deadline to submit a ballot had been extended to July 26, 2019, and that failure to timely cast a vote would be deemed acceptance of the Plan. See id. The Debtor complied with the directive, timely filing proof of service evidencing supplemental notice to such classes. See Doc. No. 125. On August 19, 2019, the Debtor filed a Plan Ballot Summary, indicating that only one of the non-voting classes had submitted a vote in the interim. See Doc. No. 130. Having reviewed the Supplemental Status Report, the Court finds it appropriate to CONFIRM the Plan.

Class 8 – Hong Kong Motors – Deemed to Accept the Plan (No Ballot Cast Following Supplemental Notice)

Class 8 consists of the secured claim of Hong Kong Motors ("HKM"). HKM holds a secured lien against the Debtor's 2007 Nissan Altima, which secures debt in the amount of $4,500. The Debtor proposes to bifurcate HKM's claim into a secured claim of $2,835 (which the Debtor states is the current value of the collateral) and an unsecured claim of $1,665. The Debtor proposes to pay HKM's secured claim in full, plus 5% interest, by making monthly payments of $53 for a period of 60 months. HKM will retain its lien, up to the value of the collateral, until the secured portion of its claim is paid in full. Class 8(b) – New Commercial Capital – Deemed to Reject the Plan Class 8(b) consists of the secured claim of New Commercial Capital ("NCC"). NCC has not filed a proof of claim in this case but recorded a UCC against the Debtor. To the extent NCC has a lien against any of the Debtor's assets, the Debtor proposes to strip NCC's lien as of the Effective Date.

NCC will not be paid anything under the Debtor's Plan, so it is deemed to have rejected the Plan pursuant to § 1126(g).

CSC will not be paid anything under the Debtor's Plan, so it is deemed to have rejected the Plan pursuant to § 1126(g).

Class 8(d) – Bank of the West – Deemed to Reject the Plan

Class 8(d) consists of the secured claim of Bank of the West ("BoW"). BoW has not filed a proof of claim in this case but recorded a UCC against the Debtor. To the extent that BoW has a valid lien against any of the Debtor's assets, the Debtor proposes to strip BoW's lien as of the Effective Date.

BoW will not be paid anything under the Debtor's Plan, so it is deemed to have rejected the Plan pursuant to § 1126(g).

Class 8(e) – Employment Development Department – Unimpaired (Deemed to Accept)

Class 8(e) consisted of the secured claim of Employment Development Department ("EDD"). EDD filed a proof of claim asserting entitlement to a distribution of $47.18. The Debtor has already paid EDD's claim in full.

Class 9 – General Unsecured Claims – Accepts the Plan

Class 9 consists of general unsecured claims ("GUC") totaling $2,377,121. The Debtor proposes to pay $47,542.42, which represents approximately 2% of the total GUC claims, by making pro rata monthly payments of $792.37 for a period of five years.

Class 9 is impaired and has voted to accept the Plan.

Mr. Lu's claim is not impaired and he was not entitled to vote on the Plan.

The Debtor estimates that it will have approximately $60,622.83 in administrative claims on the Effective Date and submits that it has sufficient cash on hand to pay all allowed administrative claims in full as required.

As of the date of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

As set forth below, the Court finds that the Plan complies with all applicable provisions of § 1129. The plan is confirmed.

SECTION 1129(a)(1)

Section 1129(a)(1) requires that the "plan compl[y] with the applicable provisions of this title." According to the leading treatise, the "legislative history suggests that the applicable provisions are those governing the plan's internal structure and drafting: 'Paragraph (1) requires that the plan comply with the applicable provisions of chapter 11, such as section 1122 and 1123, governing classification and contents of a plan.'" Collier on Bankruptcy ¶ 1129.01[1] (16th rev'd ed.) (citing S. Rep. No. 989, 95th Cong., 2d Sess. 126 (1978)).

1. Section 1122(a)

Section 1122(a) provides that "a plan may place a claim or an interest in a particular class only if such claim or interest is substantially similar to the other claims or interests of such class."

The Plan's classification structure complies with § 1122(a).

2. Section 1122(b)

Section 1122(b) provides that "a plan may designate a separate class of claims consisting only of every unsecured claim that is less than or reduced to an amount that the court approves as reasonable and necessary for administrative convenience."

Chapter 11

The Plan does not contain any convenience classes. Section 1122(b) does not apply.

3. Section 1123(a)(1)

Section 1123(a)(1) requires that a plan "designate ... classes of claims, other than claims of a kind specified in section 507(a)(2) [administrative expense claims], 507(a)(3) [claims arising during the gap period in an involuntary case], or 507(a)(8) [priority tax claims], and classes of interest."

There are no involuntary gap claims because this is a voluntary chapter 11 case. The Plan provides that the Debtor does not have any priority tax claims. In addition, the Plan appropriately classifies administrative expense claims. The Plan satisfies § 1123(a)(1).

4. Section 1123(a)(2)

Section 1123(a)(2) requires that the Plan "specify any class of claims or interests that is not impaired under the Plan."

The Plan specifies that only Classes 8(e) and 10 are unimpaired. The Plan satisfies § 1123(a)(2).

5. Section 1123(a)(3)

Section 1123(a)(3) requires that the Plan "specify the treatment of any class of claims or interests that is impaired under the Plan."

The Plan specifies the treatment afforded to each impaired class—Classes 1 – 8(d) and 9. The Plan satisfies § 1123(a)(3).

6. Section 1123(a)(4)

Section 1123(a)(4) requires that the Plan "provide the same treatment for each claim or interest of a particular class unless the holder of a particular claim or interest agrees to a less favorable treatment of such particular claim or interest."

The Court previously determined that Classes 1 – 3 were similarly situated secured creditors, but the Plan treated Class 3 differently to the extent a lower rate of interest was offered to Class 3 than Classes 1 and 2. See Doc. No. 126. However, as ACS, the claimant in Class 3, failed to submit a ballot following renewed notice, ACS is deemed to accept the Plan. The Plan satisfies § 1123(a)(4).

7. Section 1123(a)(5)

Section 1123(a)(5) requires that the Plan "provide adequate means for the plan's implementation."

The Plan will be funded by income generated by Debtor's pre- and post-confirmation business operations. The Plan Proponent anticipates Debtor having approximately $63,341.94 of cash on hand on the Effective Date of the Plan to pay effective date payments of approximately $45,619.62. See Second Amended Disclosure Statement. [Note 1]

In support, the Plan Proponent submitted the following evidence of Debtor's ability to adequately implement the Plan: 1) historical financial statements for the years 2015, 2016, and 2017 (Disclosure Statement, Exhibit B(3)), 2) Debtor's post-petition income and expenses from July 1, 2018 through January 31, 2019 (Disclosure Statement, Exhibit B(4)), and 3) financial projections for the anticipated duration of the Plan (Disclosure Statement, Exhibit B(5)). Total monthly payments under the plan equal $8,688.37, and as Debtor's financial projections demonstrate, Debtor will have an average monthly net income of $8,695 for the duration of the Plan. The proposed funding sources provide an adequate means for the Plan's implementation. The Plan satisfies § 1123(a)(5).

8. Section 1123(a)(6)

Section 1123(a)(6) provides: "[A] plan shall provide for the inclusion in the charter of the debtor, if the debtor is a corporation ..., of a provision prohibiting the issuance of nonvoting equity securities, and providing, as to the several classes of securities possessing voting power, an appropriate distribution of such power among such classes, including, in the case of any class of equity securities having a preference over another class of equity securities with respect to dividends, adequate provisions for the election of directors representing such preferred class in the event of default in the payment of such dividends."

Chapter 11

Debtor's Confirmation Brief affirms that the Confirmation Order will contain a provision amending the Debtor's charter to include the requisite language set forth above. The Plan will satisfy § 1123(a)(6) through the proposed inclusion language within the Confirmation Order.

9. Section 1123(a)(7)

Section 1123(a)(7) requires that the Plan's provisions with respect to the selection of officers and directors be consistent with public policy and the interests of creditors and equity security holders.

The Reorganized Debtor will continue to be managed by the sole shareholder and President, Jiazheng Lu. The Plan will not change or select any officer, director, or trustee. The Plan satisfies § 1123(a)(7).

10. Section 1123(a)(8)

Section 1123(a)(8), which imposes certain requirements upon individual debtors, does not apply.

SECTION 1129(a)(2)

Section 1129(a)(2) requires that the "proponent of the plan compl[y] with the applicable provisions of this title." The Court finds that the Plan Proponent has:

- 1) Obtained Court approval of a Disclosure Statement in accordance with § 1125 (see "Order Approving Disclosure Statement and Setting Hearing on Confirmation of Plan" [Doc. No. 111]);
- 2) Obtained Court approval of the employment of professional persons (see "Order Granting Application to Employ Steven P. Chang, Law Offices of Langley & Chang" [Doc. No. 53]); and
- 3) Filed monthly operating reports.

Accordingly, the Plan Proponent have satisfied the requirements of § 1129(a)(2).

SECTION 1129(a)(3)

Section 1129(a)(3) requires that the "plan has been proposed in good faith and not by any means forbidden by law." As one court has explained:

The term 'good faith' in the context of 11 U.S.C. § 1129(a)(3) is not statutorily defined but has been interpreted by case law as referring to a plan that 'achieves a result consistent with the objectives and purposes of the Code.' 'The requisite good faith determination is based on the totality of the circumstances.'

In re Melcher, 329 B.R. 865, 876 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. 2005) (internal citations omitted).

The Plan seeks objectives that are consistent with those of the Bankruptcy Code and the Plan Proponent has complied with the requirements of the Code throughout this case. Under Fed. R. Bankr. P. 3015(f), the Court is not required to receive evidence as to good faith because no party has objected to confirmation. Section 1129(a)(3) is satisfied.

SECTION 1129(a)(4)

Section 1129(a)(4) requires that "[a]ny payment made or to be made by the proponent, by the debtor, or by a person issuing securities or acquiring property under the plan, for services or for costs and expenses in or in connection with the case, or in connection with the plan and incident to the case, has been approved by, or is subject to the approval of, the court as reasonable."

The Plan provides that payment of all professional fees is subject to review by the Court. The plan satisfies § 1129(a)(4).

SECTION 1129(a)(5)

Section 1129(a)(5) requires that the Plan disclose "the identity and affiliations of any individual proposed to serve, after confirmation of the Plan, as a director, officer, or voting trustee of the debtor, an affiliate of the debtor participating in a joint Plan with the debtor, or a successor to the debtor under the Plan." Section 1129(a)(5)(A)(ii) requires that the appointment to or continuation in office of a director or officer be consistent with the interests of creditors, equity security holders, and public policy. Section 1129(a)(5)(B) requires the Plan proponent to disclose the identity of any insider to be employed by the reorganized debtor.

The Plan discloses that Mr. Lu, an insider, will remain as sole shareholder and President. In addition, the Debtor delivered Insider Compensation notices on July 18, 2018, which were not opposed. The Declaration by Jiazheng Lu (the "Lu Declaration") filed in support of the Plan and Disclosure Statement further attests to the identity and role of Mr. Lu as insider, as well as his post-confirmation equity interests. The Plan satisfies § 1129(a)(5).

SECTION 1129(a)(6)

Section 1129(a)(6), which requires that a governmental regulatory commission with jurisdiction over rates charged by a debtor approve any rate changes provided for in the plan, does not apply.

SECTION 1129(a)(7)

Section 1129(a)(7), known as the "best interests of creditors test," provides in relevant part: "With respect to each impaired class of claims or interests, each holder of a claim or interest of such class has accepted the plan; or will receive or retain under the plan on account of such claim or interest property of a value, as of the effective date of the plan, that is not less than the amount that such holder would so receive or retain if the debtor were liquidated under chapter 7 of this title on such date."

Classes 8(e) and 10 are unimpaired and are deemed to have accepted the Plan. Classes 1 – 8 and 9 have either accepted the Plan or are deemed to have accepted the Plan. See Plan Ballot Summary (regarding Second Amended Chapter 11 Plan) [Doc. No. 130]. Classes 8(b), 8(c), and 8(d) are impaired, but did not file a proof of claim in this case. These claims are subject to cram down under § 1129(b). As discussed below, the requirements of § 1129(b) have been satisfied with respect to Classes 8(b), 8(c), and 8(d). The Plan satisfies § 1129(a)(7).

SECTION 1129(a)(8)

Section 1129(a)(8) requires each class to accept the Plan, unless the class is not impaired.

Classes 8(e) and 10 are unimpaired and are deemed to have accepted the Plan. Classes 1 – 8 and 9 have either accepted the Plan or are deemed to have accepted the Plan. See Plan Ballot Summary (regarding Second Amended Chapter 11 Plan) [Doc. No. 130]. Except for such classes subject to § 1129(b), Section 1129(a)(8) is satisfied because all classes of creditors have either accepted the Plan or were deemed to have accepted the Plan.

Chapter 11

Section 1129(a)(9) requires that holders of certain administrative and priority claims receive cash equal to the allowed claim amount of their claims on the effective date of the plan, unless the claimant agrees to different treatment.

The Plan provides for the payment of all outstanding allowed administrative claims in full as soon as the fees are approved by the Court and none of the professionals have requested a different payment arrangement. The Plan also provides for payment of priority tax claims in a manner consistent with § 1129(a)(9)(C). The Plan satisfies § 1129(a)(9).

SECTION 1129(a)(10)

Section 1129(a)(10) requires that "at least one class of claims that is impaired under the plan has accepted the plan, determined without including any acceptance of the plan by any insider."

Classes 1, 2, 5, 6, 7, and 9 are impaired, do not consist of insiders, and have accepted the Plan. Section 1129(a)(10) is satisfied.

SECTION 1129(a)(11)

Section 1129(a)(11), known as the "feasibility requirement," requires the Court to find that "[c]onfirmation of the plan is not likely to be followed by the liquidation, or the need for further financial reorganization, of the debtor or any successor to the debtor under the plan, unless such liquidation or reorganization is proposed in the plan."

The Debtor has sufficient cash on hand to pay the amounts that are due on the Effective Date. Based upon its review of the balance sheets, budget projections, and the Lu Declaration included with the Disclosure Statement, the Court finds that confirmation is not likely to be followed by liquidation or the need for further financial reorganization. The Plan is feasible and satisfies § 1129(a)(11).

SECTION 1129(a)(12)

Section 1129(a)(12) requires that the Debtor pay all United States Trustee fees prior to confirmation or provide for payment of those fees on the effective date.

SECTION 1129(a)(13)

Section 1129(a)(13), which contains requirements pertaining to the payment of retirement benefits, does not apply.

SECTION 1129(a)(14)

Section 1129(a)(14), which contains requirements pertaining to the payment of domestic support obligations, does not apply.

SECTION 1129(a)(15)

Section 1129(a)(15), which imposes certain requirements upon individual debtors, does not apply.

SECTION 1129(a)(16)

Section 1129(a)(16) provides: "All transfers of property under the plan shall be made in accordance with any applicable provisions of nonbankruptcy law that govern the transfer of property by a corporation or trust that is not a moneyed, business, or commercial corporation or trust."

The Plan does not provide for the transfer of any property. The Plan satisfies § 1129(a)(16).

SECTION 1129(b)

The Plan provides for no payment to Classes 8(b), (c), and (d) ("Classes 8(b)-(d)"), and further provides for the avoidance of the liens asserted by the claimants in these classes. Pursuant to § 1126(g), Classes 8(b)–(d) are deemed to reject the Plan.

Where certain classes are deemed to reject a plan, the plan may still be confirmed "if the plan does not discriminate unfairly, and is fair and equitable" with respect to the rejecting classes. § 1129(b)(1).

Section 1129(b)(2)(A) provides that a plan is "fair and equitable" with respect to a class of secured claims if the plan provides one of the following types of treatment:

- (i)(I) that the holders of such claims retain the liens securing such claims, whether the property subject to such liens is retained by the debtor or transferred to another entity, to the extent of the allowed amount of such claims; and
- (II) that each holder of a claim of such class receive on account of such claim deferred cash payments totaling at least the allowed amount of such claim, of a value, as of the effective date of the plan, of at least the value of such holder's interest in the estate's interest in such property;
- (ii) for the sale, subject to section 363(k) of this title, of any property that is subject to the liens securing such claims, free and clear of such liens, with such liens to attach to the proceeds of such sale, and the treatment of such liens on proceeds under clause (i) or (iii) of this subparagraph; or
- (iii) for the realization by such holders of the indubitable equivalent of such claims.

The Debtor contends that there is no reason to believe that any monies are owed to the claimants in Classes 8(b)–(d), who all failed to file proofs of claim in this case.

The Court previously found that in order to obtain a distribution from the estate, the holders of claims in Classes 8(b)–(d) were required to file proofs of claim. See Ruling Continuing Confirmation Hearing [Doc. No. 123]. The Court reasoned that because the Debtor scheduled the claims in Classes 8(b)–(d) as "unknown," holders of claims in these classes were effectively on notice of the need to file proofs of claim in the event they wished to receive a distribution from the estate. The Court noted that Fed. R. Bankr. P. 3003(c)(2) requires a creditor holding a claim that is not scheduled or is scheduled as disputed, contingent, or unliquidated to file a proof of claim in order to be treated as a creditor for purposes of voting and distribution. The Court concluded that claimants scheduled as holding "unknown" claims, like claimants, are scheduled as holding disputed, contingent, or unliquidated claims, and required to file a proof of claim in order to be treated as a creditor for voting and distribution purposes.

Because the holders of claims in Classes 8(b)–(d) did not file proofs of claim, they do not hold allowed claims and are not entitled to receive a distribution from the estate. Under § 1129(b)(2)(A)(i)(I), Classes 8(b)–(d) are entitled to retain their liens, but only "to the extent of the allowed amount" of their claims. Since they did not hold allowed claims, the Plan's provision avoiding the liens of the claimants in Classes 8(b)–(d) is consistent with § 1129(b)(2)(A)(i)(I). The Plan also satisfies § 1129(b)(2)(A)(i)(II) with respect to these classes. As they do not hold allowed claims, it is not necessary for Classes 8(b)–(d) to receive any cash payments.

In sum, the "fair and equitable" requirement set forth in § 1129(b)(2) is satisfied with respect to Classes 8(b)–(d).

SECTION 1129(c)

Section 1129(c), which states that the court may confirm only one plan in a particular case, is satisfied.

SECTION 1129(d)

Section 1129(d) provides: "Notwithstanding any other provisions of this section, on request of a party in interest that is a governmental unit, the court may not confirm a Plan if the principal purpose of the Plan is the avoidance of taxes or the avoidance of the application of section 5 of the Securities Act of 1933."

No governmental unit has requested that the court not confirm the Plan on the grounds that the Plan's purpose is the avoidance of taxes or application of section 5 of the Securities Act of 1944. The Plan satisfies § 1129(d).

Tentative Ruling:

5/6/2019

For the reasons set forth below, CONTINUE HEARING to September 18, 2019 at 11:00 a.m.

Creditor Ball C M, Inc. ("Movant") seeks an order disallowing the Debtor's $175,000 homestead exemption pursuant to § 522(o) [Doc. No. 27] (the "Objection to Homestead Exemption"). Section 522(o) "provides that the value of property claimed as a homestead must be reduced to the extent that the value is attributable to any fraudulent transfers of nonexempt property made by the debtor within 10 years prepetition." In re McNabb, 326 B.R. 785, 787-88 (Bankr. D. Ariz. 2005) (citing 11 U.S.C. § 522(o)). "In light of Congress' adoption in section 522(o) of the identical 'intent to hinder, delay or defraud' language found in section 548(a)(1)(A) and section 727(a)(2), courts may look to case law under these sections for guidance in construing the requisite intent under section 522(o)." 4 Collier on Bankruptcy, ¶ 522.08 (16th ed. 2019). Accordingly, a debtor's exemptible interest in homestead property should not be reduced absent a showing of specific intent to hinder, delay or defraud, but a party may rely upon certain "badges of fraud" to prove the existence of actual fraud. Id.

On March 7, 2019, Movant initiated an adversary proceeding against the Debtor by filing a complaint (the "Complaint") asserting claims under §§ 523(a)(2)(A), (a)(4), (a)(6) and 727(a)(2), (a)(3), (a)(4), and (a)(5) [2:19-ap-01605] (the "Non-Dischargeability Action"). similar to the assertions underlying Movant's Objection to Homestead Exemption. Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2) to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to repossess or otherwise obtain possession and dispose of its collateral pursuant to applicable law, and to use the proceeds from its disposition to satisfy its claim. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. The Court finds that there is no equity in the subject vehicle and that the vehicle is not necessary for an effective reorganization since this is a chapter 7 case.

Tentative Ruling:

9/19/2019

Motion GRANTED for the reasons set forth below.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed

1. Notice of Motion and Motion for Approval of Stipulation for Relief from Automatic Stay; Memorandum of Points and Authorities; Declarations of Behzad Nahai, Daniel J. McCarthy, Steven Hakim, and Nick Eliopoulos (the "Motion") [Doc. No. 14]
2. No opposition filed as of the date of this tentative ruling.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Soul Hollywood, LLC (the "Debtor") filed a voluntary Chapter 7 petition on July 5, 2019 (the "Petition") [Doc. No. 1]. Howard M. Ehrenberg (the "Trustee") was appointed as Chapter 7 trustee. On Schedule G of the Petition, Debtor represents being party to a lease for restaurant facilities located at 7046 Hollywood Blvd., Los Angeles, CA (the "Lease"). See Doc. No. 1. On May 15, 2019, the Lessor, 7046 Hollywood, LLC (the "Landlord"), filed an unlawful detainer in state court based on Debtor's breaches, and obtained a favorable ruling to repossess the commercial premises. However, Debtor filed the Petition shortly after the ruling was entered and prior to entry of the state court judgment. Consequently, the Debtor and the Trustee entered into a stipulation for termination and rejection of the Lease, which was approved, without opposition, by this Court's order on August 7, 2019 [Doc. Nos. 4 & 10]. Pursuant to the Lease terms, Debtor tendered $200,000 to Landlord as security deposit. Eliopoulos Decl., ¶ 1. However, Landlord represents that monetary claims stemming from Debtor's breaches and rejection of the Lease will likely surpass $200,000 as follows:

1. $86,271.05 in rental damages awarded following trial in the unlawful detainer action;
2. $4,841 in attorneys' fees and $1,382.06 in costs, which were awarded post-trial in the unlawful detainer action;
3. a total of approximately $33,744.78, consisting of 1) the monthly base rent under the Lease of $22,759.04, 2) Debtor's monthly share of property taxes of $1,147.8, 3) Debtor's monthly share of insurance costs of $231.88, and 4) Debtor's monthly share of maintenance expenses of $1,169.85 from the period of June 26 to August 6, 2019; and
4. $156,515.05 in rejection damages pursuant to § 502(b)(6), which are limited to 15% of the remaining term of the Lease. [Note 1]

Motion at 5-6.

To that effect, Landlord and Trustee entered into an additional stipulation for relief from the automatic stay (the "Stipulation"), upon which Landlord will be entitled to offset the $200,000 security deposit against its anticipated damages, in exchange for a $4,000 portion of the security deposit to be paid to the Trustee following entry of the unlawful detainer judgment. See Motion, Ex. A. In addition, this exchange will serve as full satisfaction of the Debtor's estate to the security deposit. Id.

Pursuant to § 362(d)(1), the Landlord herein seeks approval of the Stipulation in order to enter the unlawful detainer judgment, liquidating its claims against Debtor for amounts owed associated with rejection and breach of the Lease. Landlord contends that cause exists under § 362(d)(1) relief because Debtor's estate has no interest left in the security deposit as amounts owed under the Lease will likely exceed $200,000 as described above. Additionally, Landlord argues that approval of the Stipulation is in the best interest of creditors, who would not otherwise have access to the $4,000 paid to Trustee in consideration of the Stipulation.

with § 362(d)(1), "for cause, including the lack of adequate protection of an interest in property of such party in interest." Given that the meaning of the word "cause" in § 362(d)(1) has not been specifically defined, "discretionary relief from the stay must be determined on a case by case basis." In re Castlerock Properties, 781 F.2d 159, 163 (9th Cir. 1986).

Here, several factors support relief from the automatic stay. First, upon review of the declarations and exhibits attached, it is determined that Landlord has proffered sufficient evidence supporting that the amounts owed by Debtor under the Lease will likely surpass the sum paid as security deposit. Even if Landlord is successful in finding a lessee consenting to pay on terms comparable to the Lease, it is highly probable that Landlord's claims will ultimately exceed $200,000. As of consequence, the estate's interest in the security deposit would then be zero. Second, it is anticipated that approval of the Stipulation will promote judicial economy, fairness, and equity in this matter. Accordingly, pursuant to the Stipulation, the Debtor's estate is to be supplied with an additional $4,000, and further expected is that the parties will avoid the expenses and risks of continued litigation. Third, the Court notes that no party submitted an opposition or objection to the Motion. Therefore, pursuant to § 362(d)(1), the Court finds cause to approve the Stipulation.

III. Conclusion

Based on these findings and conclusions, the Court hereby GRANTS the Motion. Movant is to lodge a conforming order within 7 days of this tentative ruling.

(Nalbandyan, Akop)

Docket 2969

Tentative Ruling:

9/19/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Third Motion (defined below) is GRANTED, but stay relief shall not take effect until September 30, 2019.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Final Ruling Granting First Motion for Relief from the Automatic Stay [Doc. No. 2851]
- 2) Notice of Motion and Motion for Relief from the Automatic Stay Under 11 U.S.C. § 362 [Doc. No. 2969] (the "Motion")

- 5) Reply to Oppositions to Motion for Relief from the Automatic Stay [Doc. No. 3075] (the "Reply")

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On August 31, 2018 (the "Petition Date"), Verity Health Systems of California ("VHS") and certain of its subsidiaries filed voluntary petitions for relief under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. On August 31, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the Debtors' motion for joint administration of the Debtors' Chapter 11 cases. Doc. No. 17.

Jason Shank ("Movant") seeks stay relief, pursuant to § 362(d)(1), so that Movant may commence an action for wrongful termination against the Debtors. This is the third motion for relief from the automatic stay that Movant has filed (the "Third Motion").

Chapter 11

At a hearing conducted on August 5, 2019, the Court granted Movant's first motion for stay relief (the "First Motion"). The Court ruled that stay relief would take effect on September 30, 2019; that Movant could seek recovery only against applicable insurance; and that Movant could not assert a deficiency claim against the estates. See Final Ruling Granting First Motion [Doc. No. 2851].

Also at the August 5 hearing, the Court denied without prejudice Movant's second motion for stay relief (the "Second Motion"), because Movant had failed to give the required 21 days' notice of the Second Motion. Like the First Motion, the Second Motion sought stay relief to permit Movant to pursue a wrongful termination action against the Debtors; however, the Second Motion also sought to preserve Movant's ability to seek recovery beyond applicable insurance. Specifically, the Second Motion provided:

To the extent that the Debtor has an insurance policy that will provide coverage for his wrongful termination claims, [Movant] will pursue relief under said policy. In the event that the insurance carrier does not provide coverage for damages resulting from [Movant's] wrongful termination claims, declines to extend coverage, or there is no insurance coverage, a separate motion for leave will be filed.

[Movant] is concurrently filing a corrected Motion for Relief that corrects this mistake and makes no other changes.

Notice of Errata filed in Support of Second Motion [Doc. No. 2799] at 2.

The Third Motion is substantially identical to the Second Motion, which was denied without prejudice. The Third Motion provides that at the present time, Movant will seek recovery only from insurance. However, the Third Motion preserves Movant's right to file a further motion seeking stay relief in the event that insurance coverage does not exist or proves insufficient.

The Debtors do not oppose the Third Motion, provided that stay relief not take effect until September 30, 2019 (the date already set by the Court in granting the First Motion).

The Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors (the "Committee") argues that stay relief would be premature and could negatively affect the Debtors' bankruptcy cases, given that Movant has preserved his right to seek a recovery beyond applicable insurance at some point in the future.

In his Reply filed in support of the Third Motion, Movant explains that he has been unable to ascertain whether the Debtors' insurance policy is applicable to Movant's wrongful termination claims. Movant states that as a result of this uncertainty, it is necessary for him to preserve his right to seek a recovery beyond insurance.

II. Findings and Conclusions

As explained by the Ninth Circuit Bankruptcy Appellate Panel in Kronemyer v. American Contractors Indemnity Co. (In re Kronemyer) (internal citations omitted): "What constitutes 'cause' for granting relief from the automatic stay is decided on a case-by-case basis. Among factors appropriate to consider in determining whether relief from the automatic stay should be granted to allow state court proceedings to continue are considerations of judicial economy and the expertise of the state court, ... as well as prejudice to the parties and whether exclusively bankruptcy issues are involved." 405 B.R. 915, 921. The factors articulated in In re Curtis, 40 B.R. 795, 799-800 (Bankr. D. Utah 1984) and adopted by the bankruptcy court in Truebro, Inc. v. Plumberex Specialty Prods., Inc. (In re Plumberex Specialty Prods., Inc), 311 B.R. 551, 559-60 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2004) are also "appropriate, nonexclusive factors to consider in deciding whether to grant relief from the automatic stay to allow pending litigation to continue in another forum." Kronemyer, 405 B.R. at 921. The Curtis factors are as follows:

- 1) Whether the relief will result in a partial or complete resolution of the issues;
- 2) The lack of any connection with or interference with the bankruptcy case;
- 3) Whether the foreign proceeding involves the debtor as a fiduciary;
- 4) Whether a specialized tribunal has been established to hear the particular cause of action and whether that tribunal has the expertise to hear such cases;
- 5) Whether the debtor's insurance carrier has assumed full financial responsibility for defending the litigation;
- 6) Whether the action essentially involves third parties, and the debtor functions only as a bailee or conduit for the goods or proceeds in question;
- 7) Whether the litigation in another forum would prejudice the interests of other creditors, the creditors' committee and other interested parties;
- 8) Whether the judgment claim arising from the foreign action is subject to equitable subordination under Section 510(c);
- 9) Whether movant's success in the foreign proceeding would result in a judicial lien avoidable by the debtor under Section 522(f);

- 10) The interests of judicial economy and the expeditious and economical determination of litigation for the parties;
- 11) Whether the foreign proceedings have progressed to the point where the parties are prepared for trial, and
- 12) The impact of the stay on the parties and the "balance of hurt."

Plumberex, 311 B.R. at 599.

As noted above, the most important of the twelve factors is the effect of the non-bankruptcy litigation on the administration of the estate. Curtis, 40 B.R. at 806. The Curtis court held that “[e]ven slight interference with the administration may be enough to preclude relief in the absence of a commensurate benefit.” Id.

The only additional relief sought in the Third Motion that was not granted in connection with the First Motion is the explicit preservation of Movant’s future right to file a further motion for stay relief, for the purpose of pursuing a deficiency claim, should insurance coverage prove inadequate. The Court finds it appropriate to grant this additional relief. The preservation of Movant’s ability to seek additional stay relief in the future will not interfere with the administration of the estate.

Relief from stay shall not take effect until September 30, 2019, the date the Court has already set in granting the First Motion. Absent further order of the Court, Movant may seek recovery only against applicable insurance and may not assert a deficiency claim against the estates; but Movant’s ability to file a future motion for stay relief, for the purpose of pursuing a deficiency claim, is explicitly preserved.

III. Conclusion

Based upon the foregoing, the Third Motion is GRANTED, but stay relief shall not take effect until September 30, 2019. Within seven days of the hearing, Movant shall submit an order incorporating this tentative ruling by reference. [Note 1]

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1) for cause to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to repossess or otherwise obtain possession and dispose of its collateral pursuant to applicable law, and to use the proceeds from its disposition to satisfy its claim. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. The Court takes judicial notice of the Chapter 7 Individual Debtor's Statement of Intention in which the Debtor stated an intention to surrender the vehicle to Movant.

This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. The 14-day stay prescribed by FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived. All other relief is denied.

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

9/23/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Court will adopt the Preliminary Findings and Conclusions set forth in the Order to Show Cause.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Order Requiring Plaintiffs to Appear and Show Cause Why the Complaint Should Not Be Dismissed as to Defendant G-Sight Solutions, Inc., for Failure to State a Claim Upon Which Relief Can Be Granted [Doc. No. 19] (the "Order to Show Cause")
- 2) Plaintiff's Response to Order to Show Cause [Doc. No. 24]
- 3) Notice of Voluntary Dismissal of Defendant G-Sight Solutions, Inc. [Doc. No. 25]

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

In this dischargeability action, Plaintiffs have named as defendants the Debtor, Ryan J. McMillin, as well as G-Sight Solutions, Inc. ("G-Sight"), an entity that the Debtor allegedly used to perpetuate a scheme to interfere with Plaintiffs' business by diverting customers. The Complaint seeks a determination that the Debtor's indebtedness to Plaintiffs is non-dischargeable pursuant to § 523(a)(2)(A), (a)(4), and (a)(6). The prayer does not seek any relief against G-Sight. G-Sight has not responded to the Complaint.

On August 19, 2019, the Court entered an Order Requiring Plaintiffs to Appear and Show Cause Why the Complaint Should Not Be Dismissed as to Defendant G-Sight Solutions, Inc., for Failure to State a Claim Upon Which Relief Can Be Granted [Doc. No. 19] (the "Order to Show Cause"). The Order to Show Cause required Plaintiffs to respond to the Court's Preliminary Findings and Conclusions (the "Preliminary Findings"). Specifically, the Court found that the Complaint failed to state a claim upon which relief can be granted as to G-Sight, since § 523 does not permit the Court to enter relief against a non-debtor such as G-Sight.

Plaintiffs do not object to the dismissal of G-Sight, provided that the dismissal is without prejudice to Plaintiffs' ability to file an amended complaint naming G-Sight as a defendant. Plaintiffs further request that the Court specify that the dismissal does not prejudice their ability to maintain a case against G-Sight pending in the Los Angeles Superior Court. On September 13, 2019, Plaintiffs filed a notice of voluntary dismissal of G-Sight.

II. Findings and Conclusions

A. The Court Adopts the Preliminary Findings

The Preliminary Findings set forth in the Order to Show Cause are adopted as the findings of the Court and are incorporated herein by reference. The dismissal is without prejudice to Plaintiffs' ability to file an amended complaint naming G-Sight as a defendant. This Court cannot opine on what effect, if any, that the dismissal will have on Plaintiff's ability to maintain an action against G-Sight in the Los Angeles Superior Court (the "State Court Action"); however, it is not the Court's intent that the dismissal interfere with Plaintiff's ability to prosecute the State Court Action.

Chapter 7

In this dischargeability action (the "Dischargeability Action"), Plaintiffs have named as defendants the Debtor, Allan J. Macquarrie, as well as Celgine Tabingo, Clarke Miller, KarmaBox Vending, and MyKarmabox.com (collectively, the "Non-Debtor Defendants"). The Complaint seeks a determination that the Debtor's indebtedness to Plaintiffs is non-dischargeable pursuant to § 523(a)(2)(A). The Complaint alleges that the Non-Debtor Defendants participated with the Debtor in the conduct giving rise to the indebtedness alleged to be non-dischargeable. Prior to the Debtor's bankruptcy filing, Plaintiffs commenced an action in the State Court seeking to establish the indebtedness alleged to be non-dischargeable (the "State Court Action").

On August 19, 2019, the Court entered an Order Requiring Plaintiffs to Appear and Show Cause Why (1) the Complaint Should Not Be Dismissed as to the Non-Debtor Defendants and Why (2) the Court Should Not Sua Sponte Lift the Automatic Stay to Allow the Plaintiffs to Prosecute the State Court Action to Final Judgment [Doc. No. 15] (the "Order to Show Cause"). The Order to Show Cause required the parties to respond to the Court's Preliminary Findings and Conclusions (the "Preliminary Findings"). Specifically, the Court found that the Complaint failed to state a claim upon which relief could be granted as to the Non-Debtor Defendants, because § 523 enables a creditor to obtain a judgment that certain indebtedness of a debtor should be excepted from the debtor's discharge, but does not permit the Court to enter relief against non-debtor parties. The Court further found that the most efficient way to resolve the Dischargeability Action was for Plaintiffs to first prosecute the State Court Action to final judgment. Provided Plaintiffs obtained a judgment in their favor, Plaintiffs could then return to the Bankruptcy Court to obtain a determination regarding with such judgment is dischargeable. The Court noted that the State Court was better equipped to determine the State Court Action's claims for breach of contract, intentional misrepresentation, negligent misrepresentation, fraud, malice, constructive fraud, breach of fiduciary duty, conversion, accounting, unjust enrichment, unfair business practices, fraudulent concealment, gross negligence, return of property, and intentional infliction of emotional distress.

Neither Plaintiffs or the Debtor opposes dismissal of the Complaint as to the Non-Debtor Defendants. The Debtor opposes the lifting of the automatic stay to allow the State Court Action to proceed. The Debtor states that he is in default in the State Court Action and cannot afford to defend himself against the State Court Action. The Debtor argues that the action can be tried more cost-effectively in the Bankruptcy Court.

Plaintiffs support the lifting of the automatic stay to allow the State Court Action to proceed to final judgment. In his reply to the Plaintiffs' briefing, the Debtor again emphasizes the prejudice he would suffer as a result of being required to defend the State Court Action as a result of his lack of funds.

II. Findings and Conclusions

As the Ninth Circuit has explained, a non-dischargeability action requires consideration of two distinct issues: first, a determination of whether the Defendant is indebted to the Plaintiff; and second, a determination of whether the indebtedness is non-dischargeable. Banks v. Gill Distribution Centers, Inc., 263 F.3d 862, 868 (9th Cir. 2001). Here, the Dischargeability Action alleges that the indebtedness which Plaintiff had sought to establish by way of the State Court Action should be excepted from Debtor/Defendant's discharge pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §§523(a)(2)(A).

As explained by the Ninth Circuit Bankruptcy Appellate Panel in Kronemyer v. American Contractors Indemnity Co. (In re Kronemyer) (internal citations omitted): "What constitutes 'cause' for granting relief from the automatic stay is decided on a case-by-case basis. Among factors appropriate to consider in determining whether relief from the automatic stay should be granted to allow state court proceedings to continue are considerations of judicial economy and the expertise of the state court, ... as well as prejudice to the parties and whether exclusively bankruptcy issues are involved." 405 B.R. 915, 921. The factors articulated in In re Curtis, 40 B.R. 795, 799-800 (Bankr. D. Utah 1984) and adopted by the bankruptcy court in Truebro, Inc. v. Plumberex Specialty Prods., Inc. (In re Plumberex Specialty Prods., Inc), 311 B.R. 551, 559-60 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2004) are also "appropriate, nonexclusive factors to consider in deciding whether to grant relief from the automatic stay to allow pending litigation to continue in another forum." Kronemyer, 405 B.R. at 921. The Curtis factors are as follows:

- 1) Whether the relief will result in a partial or complete resolution of the issues;
- 2) The lack of any connection with or interference with the bankruptcy case;
- 3) Whether the foreign proceeding involves the debtor as a fiduciary;
- 4) Whether a specialized tribunal has been established to hear the particular cause of action and whether that tribunal has the expertise to hear such cases;
- 5) Whether the debtor's insurance carrier has assumed full financial responsibility for defending the litigation;
- 6) Whether the action essentially involves third parties, and the debtor functions

- only as a bailee or conduit for the goods or proceeds in question;
- 7) Whether the litigation in another forum would prejudice the interests of other creditors, the creditors' committee and other interested parties;
 - 8) Whether the judgment claim arising from the foreign action is subject to equitable subordination under Section 510(c);
 - 9) Whether movant's success in the foreign proceeding would result in a judicial lien avoidable by the debtor under Section 522(f);
 - 10) The interests of judicial economy and the expeditious and economical determination of litigation for the parties;
 - 11) Whether the foreign proceedings have progressed to the point where the parties are prepared for trial, and
 - 12) The impact of the stay on the parties and the "balance of hurt."

Plumberex, 311 B.R. at 599.

The State Court Action asserts claims for breach of contract, intentional misrepresentation, negligent misrepresentation, fraud, malice, constructive fraud, breach of fiduciary duty, conversion, accounting, unjust enrichment, unfair business practices, fraudulent concealment, gross negligence, return of property, and intentional infliction of emotional distress.

Here, the most salient considerations are Curtis factors four (the State Court's expertise to adjudicate the claims asserted in the State Court Action) and ten (the interests of judicial economy). Both factors weigh in favor of lifting the automatic stay to allow the State Court Action to proceed to final judgment. The State Court Action asserts multiple state law claims, all of which require the application of substantive non-bankruptcy law. The State Court, rather than the Bankruptcy Court, is best equipped to decide these issues. Judicial economy is best served by allowing the State Court to adjudicate the issues arising solely under state law, with the Bankruptcy Court then adjudicating the dischargeability issues arising solely under Bankruptcy Law. In the event that Plaintiffs obtain final judgment in their favor in the State Court Action, Plaintiffs may then return to the Bankruptcy Court to obtain a determination regarding whether such judgment is non-dischargeable.

Debtor argues that he would be prejudiced by the lifting of the automatic stay because he would incur significant costs in attempting to set aside the default entered against him in the State Court Action. The fact that Debtor permitted a default to be entered against him in the State Court Action is not cause to decline to lift the automatic stay. Debtor is not entitled to be shielded from the consequences of failing Neither party opposes dismissal of the Non-Debtor Defendants. The Court will dismiss the Non-Debtor Defendants, based upon its finding that the Complaint fails to state a claim against the Non-Debtor Defendants upon which relief can be granted.

III. Conclusion

Based upon the foregoing, the Court will (1) dismiss the Complaint as to the Non-Debtor Defendants for failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted, (2) lift the automatic stay to permit Plaintiffs to prosecute the State Court Action to final judgment, and (3) conduct a Status Conference on January 14, 2020, at 10:00 a.m.

Debtors-in-possession, Damu Vusha and Akiba Vusha (the "Debtors"), filed this voluntary Chapter 11 case on February 5, 2018 (the "Petition Date"). The Debtors' primary assets consist of three real properties: (1) their principal residence located at 6122 S. Kings Road, Los Angeles, CA 90056 (the "Principal Residence"); (2) 5150 S. The Debtors also own and operate a residential care facility called Jatkodd Crisis Intervention Center (the "Business") which provides 24/7 care to four developmentally-disabled individuals. The Business operates out of the Wilton Property and pays the Debtors' monthly rent. The Debtors state that post-petition operations from the Business have been

On August 7, 2019, the Court held a motion hearing regarding Debtors' Chapter 11 Plan of Reorganization [Doc. No. 103] (the "Plan"), which was then continued to September 24, 2019 [see Doc. Pursuant to the Tentative Ruling, which was incorporated in full by the Scheduling Order, the Court identified issues concerning the showing made by the Debtors that the Plan satisfied § 1129(a)(8) and (a)(11). By September 3, 2019, the Debtors complied with the Court's instructions to submit supplemental briefing addressing the issues described above. Having reviewed the Supplemental Confirmation Brief, the Court finds it appropriate to DENY the Plan's confirmation without prejudice.

Summary of the Plan

Chapter 11

Class 2(A) – General Unsecured Claims – Deemed to Reject

Class 2(A) consists of general unsecured claims ("GUC") totaling $69,958.51. The Debtors propose to pay 100% of all claims in Class 2(A), with the federal funds interest rate of 2.25%, over a period of five years by making monthly payments of $1,165.98 beginning on the first day of the month following the Effective Date. [Note 4]

Claims in this class are impaired and entitled to vote on the Plan. No votes were received. Therefore, Class 2(A) is deemed to reject the Plan.

Class 2(B) – Unsecured Claim of U.S. Department of Education – Deemed to Reject

Class 2(B) consists of the unsecured claim of the U.S. Department of Education c/o FedLoan Servicing ("U.S. Dept. of Educ.") for Debtors' student loans totaling $45,883.05 (the "Student Loans"). The Debtors propose to pay their Student Loans in full over a period of 18 years in accordance with the current terms of repayment. The Debtors state that they are on an "income-based" repayment plan and are not making any payments. Debtors propose to begin making payments of $212.42 per month beginning on the first day of the month following the Effective Date. [Note 5]

Class 2(B) is impaired, and U.S. Dept. of Educ. did not cast a ballot. Therefore, Class 2(B) is deemed to reject the Plan.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

As set forth below, the Court finds that the Plan does not comply with all applicable provisions of § 1129. Specifically, the Plan does not pay general unsecured creditors the total present amount of their claims, thereby failing to satisfy § 1129(b)(2)(B).

A. The Plan Fails to Comply With All Applicable Provisions of 11 U.S.C. § 1129

SECTION 1129(a)(1)

Section 1129(a)(1) requires that the "plan compl[y] with the applicable provisions of this title." According to the leading treatise, the "legislative history suggests that the applicable provisions are those governing the plan's internal structure and drafting: 'Paragraph (1) requires that the plan comply with the applicable provisions of chapter 11, such as section 1122 and 1123, governing classification and contents of a plan.'" Collier on Bankruptcy ¶ 1129.01[1] (16th rev'd ed.) (citing S. Rep. No. 989, 95th Cong., 2d Sess. 126 (1978)).

1. Section 1122(a)

Section 1122(a) provides that "a plan may place a claim or an interest in a particular class only if such claim or interest is substantially similar to the other claims or interests of such class."

The Plan's classification structure complies with § 1122(a). The Plan contains five classes of secured creditors, a class of general unsecured creditors, and a class comprised of the unsecured claim of the U.S. Department of Education for the Debtors' student loans.

As to the discrimination of unsecured creditors, the Court recognizes that there is split between courts prohibiting the discrimination of unsecured debt in favor of long-term nondischargeable unsecured debt. See In re Sutton, No. 10-10539-8-RDD, 2012 WL 433480, at *3 (Bankr. E.D.N.C. Feb. 9, 2012) (discussing the jurisdictional split regarding separate classification of student loans). Courts allowing for such discrimination reason that: "1) the debtor will not be afforded a fresh start if the student loan is not separated from other general unsecured claims; 2) strong public policy exists for repayment of educational loans; 3) Congress prefers reorganization over liquidation; and 4) unsecured creditors are not harmed by favorable treatment because distribution must be equivalent to liquidation under Chapter 7." See at *4. Here, the Debtors' separate classification is consistent with the reasons referenced in In re Sutton. First, separate classification of the U.S. Department of Education's educational loan is permissible because the long-term student loan debt is nondischargeable pursuant to § 523(a)(8) and is distinctly different from the remaining general unsecured claims. Second, the separate classification would not result in any unfair discrimination against either class of unsecured creditors in violation of § 1129(b)(1) because the Plan proposes to pay 100% of both classes of claims, assuming that the Debtors amend their plan to pay a suitable interest rate to the claimants in Class 2(A). Third, any discrepancy in interest rates paid out to either class of unsecured creditors is the result of the longer repayment term to Class 2(B) pursuant to the individual student loan agreements.

Therefore, to the extent that Debtors modify the Plan as discussed below, the Plan satisfies § 1122(a).

2. Section 1122(b)

Section 1122(b) provides that "a plan may designate a separate class of claims consisting only of every unsecured claim that is less than or reduced to an amount that the court approves as reasonable and necessary for administrative convenience."

The Plan does not contain any convenience classes. Section 1122(b) does not apply.

3. Section 1123(a)(1)

Section 1123(a)(1) requires that a plan "designate ... classes of claims, other than claims of a kind specified in section 507(a)(2) [administrative expense claims], 507(a)(3) [claims arising during the gap period in an involuntary case], or 507(a)(8) [priority tax claims], and classes of interest."

The Plan appropriately designates classes of claims and interests. The Plan satisfies § 1123(a)(1).

4. Section 1123(a)(2)

Section 1123(a)(2) requires that the Plan "specify any class of claims or interests that is not impaired under the Plan."

The Plan specifies that all classes are impaired. The Plan satisfies § 1123(a)(2).

5. Section 1123(a)(3)

Section 1123(a)(3) requires that the Plan "specify the treatment of any class of claims or interests that is impaired under the Plan."

The Plan specifies the treatment of all impaired classes. The Plan satisfies § 1123(a)(3).

6. Section 1123(a)(4)

Section 1123(a)(4) requires that the Plan "provide the same treatment for each claim or interest of a particular class unless the holder of a particular claim or interest agrees to a less favorable treatment of such particular claim or interest."

The Plan provides the same treatment to claims and interests of the same class. The Plan satisfies § 1123(a)(4).

7. Section 1123(a)(5)

Section 1123(a)(5) requires that the Plan "provide adequate means for the plan's implementation."

The Plan will be funded by income from the Business, the Debtors' monthly Social Security Income, rental income from the 69th Street Property and the Wilton Property, and a $2,500 monthly contribution from one of the Debtor's mother.

As demonstrated by Debtors' projected income and expenses for the next five years [Doc. No. 148], these funding sources provide an adequate means for the Plan's implementation. The Plan satisfies § 1123(a)(5).

8. Section 1123(a)(6)

Section 1123(a)(6) provides: "[A] plan shall provide for the inclusion in the charter of the debtor, if the debtor is a corporation ..., of a provision prohibiting the issuance of nonvoting equity securities, and providing, as to the several classes of securities possessing voting power, an appropriate distribution of such power among such classes, including, in the case of any class of equity securities having a preference over another class of equity securities with respect to dividends, adequate provisions for the election of directors representing such preferred class in the event of default in the payment of such dividends."

The Debtors are individuals. Section 1123(a)(6) does not apply.

9. Section 1123(a)(7)

Section 1123(a)(7) requires that the Plan's provisions with respect to the selection of officers and directors be consistent with public policy and the interests of creditors and equity security holders.

The Debtors are individuals. Section 1123(a)(7) does not apply.

Chapter 11

10. Section 1123(a)(8)

Section 1123(a)(8) was added to the Bankruptcy Code to provide that, to be confirmable, an individual debtor's plan must provide for the payment to creditors of all or such portion of earnings from personal services or other future income of the debtor. The Plan provides for the payment of a portion of the Debtors' future income to creditors. The Plan satisfies § 1123(a)(8).

11. Section 1123(b)

Section 1123(b) sets forth provisions that are permitted, but not required in a plan of reorganization. The Plan appropriately implements many of § 1123(b)'s optional provisions. For example, the Plan impairs all classes pursuant to § 1123(b)(1); provides for the assumption of executory contracts and unexpired leases pursuant to § 1123(b)(2); provides for the settlement or adjustment of claims pursuant to § 1123(b)(3)(A) and designates the Debtors as the representatives of the estate to enforce any claims or causes of actions belonging to the estate pursuant to § 1123(b)(3)(B); and modifies the rights of holders of claims pursuant to § 1123(b)(5). In sum, the Plan complies with § 1123(b).

SECTION 1129(a)(2)

Section 1129(a)(2) requires that the "proponent of the plan compl[y] with the applicable provisions of this title." The Court finds that the Debtors have:

- 1) Complied with the Bankruptcy Code's provisions with respect to the use of cash collateral (see Order Re: Notice of Motion and Motion in Individual Chapter 11 Case for Order Authorizing Use of Cash Collateral [Doc. Nos. 23, 43]);
- 2) Obtained Court approval of a Disclosure Statement in accordance with § 1125 (see Order Approving Debtors' Disclosure Statement in Support of Plan of Reorganization [Doc. No. 120]);
- 3) Obtained Court approval of the employment of professional persons (see Doc. Nos. 32, 35, 38, 45 and 63); and
- 4) Filed monthly operating reports.

Accordingly, the Debtors have satisfied the requirements of § 1129(a)(2).

Chapter 11

Section 1129(a)(3) requires that the "plan has been proposed in good faith and not by any means forbidden by law." As one court has explained:

The term 'good faith' in the context of 11 U.S.C. § 1129(a)(3) is not statutorily defined but has been interpreted by case law as referring to a plan that 'achieves a result consistent with the objectives and purposes of the Code.' 'The requisite good faith determination is based on the totality of the circumstances.'

In re Melcher, 329 B.R. 865, 876 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. 2005) (internal citations omitted).

The Plan seeks objectives that are consistent with those of the Bankruptcy Code and the Debtors have complied with the requirements of the Code throughout this case. Under Fed. R. Bankr. P. 3015(f), the Court is not required to receive evidence as to good faith because no party has objected to confirmation. The Plan satisfies § 1129(a)(3).

SECTION 1129(a)(4)

Section 1129(a)(4) requires that "[a]ny payment made or to be made by the proponent, by the debtor, or by a person issuing securities or acquiring property under the plan, for services or for costs and expenses in or in connection with the case, or in connection with the plan and incident to the case, has been approved by, or is subject to the approval of, the court as reasonable."

The Plan provides for Court approval of all professional fees. See Plan at II.a.1.i. The Plan satisfies § 1129(a)(4).

SECTION 1129(a)(5)

Section 1129(a)(5) requires that the Plan disclose "the identity and affiliations of any individual proposed to serve, after confirmation of the Plan, as a director, officer, or voting trustee of the debtor, an affiliate of the debtor participating in a joint Plan with the debtor, or a successor to the debtor under the Plan." Section 1129(a)(5)(A)(ii) requires that the appointment to or continuation in office of a director or officer be consistent with the interests of creditors, equity security holders, and public policy. Section 1129(a)(5)(B) requires the Plan proponent to disclose the identity of any insider to be employed by the reorganized debtor.

The Debtors are individuals. Section 1129(a)(5) does not apply.

SECTION 1129(a)(6)

Section 1129(a)(6), which requires that a governmental regulatory commission with jurisdiction over rates charged by a debtor approve any rate changes provided for in the plan, does not apply.

SECTION 1129(a)(7)

Section 1129(a)(7), known as the "best interests of creditors test," provides in relevant part: "With respect to each impaired class of claims or interests, each holder of a claim or interest of such class has accepted the plan; or will receive or retain under the plan on account of such claim or interest property of a value, as of the effective date of the plan, that is not less than the amount that such holder would so receive or retain if the debtor were liquidated under chapter 7 of this title on such date."

Classes 1(A), 1(B), and 1(C) have accepted the Plan. Classes 1(D), 1(E), 2(A), and 2(B) did not cast ballots and are deemed to have rejected the Plan. Through the Plan, the Debtors propose to pay all claims in full. Accordingly, all classes have either accepted the Plan or will receive treatment that is no less favorable than they would receive under Chapter 7. The Plan satisfies § 1129(a)(7).

SECTION 1129(a)(8)

Section 1129(a)(8) requires each class to accept the Plan, unless the class is not impaired. Impaired Classes 1(A), 1(B), and 1(C) have accepted the Plan. Classes 1(D), 1(E), 2(A), and 2(B) did not cast ballots and are deemed to have rejected the Plan. See In re M. Long Arabians, 103 B.R. 211, 215-16 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1989) (To accept a Plan, members of a class must affirmatively vote in favor of the Plan). Accordingly, the Plan does not satisfy § 1129(a)(8) and must, therefore, satisfy § 1129(b) [discussed below].

SECTION 1129(a)(9)

Section 1129(a)(9) requires that holders of certain administrative and priority claims receive cash equal to the allowed claim amount of their claims on the effective date of the plan, unless the claimant agrees to different treatment.

The Plan provides for the payment of all outstanding allowed administrative claims in full as soon as the fees are approved by the Court and none of the professionals have requested a different payment arrangement. The Plan also provides for payment of priority tax claims in a manner consistent with § 1129(a)(9)(C)(ii). The Plan satisfies § 1129(a)(9).

SECTION 1129(a)(10)

Section 1129(a)(10) requires that "at least one class of claims that is impaired under the plan has accepted the plan, determined without including any acceptance of the plan by any insider."

Classes 1(A), 1(B), and 1(C) consist of non-insider claims, are impaired, and have voted to accept the Plan. Section 1129(a)(10) is satisfied.

SECTION 1129(a)(11)

Section 1129(a)(11), known as the "feasibility requirement," requires the Court to find that "[c]onfirmation of the plan is not likely to be followed by the liquidation, or the need for further financial reorganization, of the debtor or any successor to the debtor under the plan, unless such liquidation or reorganization is proposed in the plan."

The Debtors submit that they have sufficient cash on hand to pay the amounts that are due on the Effective Date. Based upon a review of the budget projections included as Exhibit C to the Disclosure Statement (which was updated on Exhibit C to the Supplemental Confirmation Brief), and the Declaration of Anna Joyce Giles attached as Exhibit 1 to the Confirmation Brief, the Court finds that confirmation is not likely to be followed by liquidation or the need for further financial reorganization.

The Plan is feasible and satisfies § 1129(a)(11).

SECTION 1129(a)(12)

Section 1129(a)(12) requires that the Debtor pay all United States Trustee fees prior to confirmation or provide for payment of those fees on the effective date.

To the Court's knowledge, UST fees are current. To the extent any fees are outstanding, the Plan provides that all such fees will be paid by the Effective Date.

Section 1129(a)(16) provides: "All transfers of property under the plan shall be made in accordance with any applicable provisions of nonbankruptcy law that govern the transfer of property by a corporation or trust that is not a moneyed, business, or commercial corporation or trust."

The Plan does not provide for the transfer of any property. The Plan satisfies § 1129(a)(16).

SECTION 1129(b)

Section 1129(b), which contains requirements for cram-down, applies. With respect to a class of secured claims, the condition that a plan be fair and equitable includes the following requirements:

- (i)(I) that the holders of such claims retain the liens securing such claims, whether the property subject to such liens is retained by the debtor or transferred to another entity, to the extent of the allowed amount of such claims; and 11 U.S.C. § 1129(b)(2)(A).

Under the Plan, Classes 1(D) and 1(E) are impaired, did not cast ballots, and are deemed to reject the Plan. Therefore, the Plan must be crammed down on these classes. In this case, Debtors propose to pay Class 1(D) 100% of the outstanding claim balance at an interest rate of 25.49%, which was set pursuant to the vehicle purchase agreement. See Exhibit B of the Supplemental Confirmation Brief. Comparably, the Debtors propose to pay Class 1(E) 100% of its claim with the applicable interest rate of 5% set by the Internal Revenue Service. See I.R.S. Rev. Rul. 2019-15. Given that the Plan provides that Classes 1(D) and 1(E) will receive the total amount of their claims, with an appropriate interest rate, these claimants will receive the present value of their claims as of the Effective Date. The Court accordingly finds that the proposed treatment of Classes 1(D) and 1(E) is consistent with § 1129(b)(2)(A)(i)(II).

In sum, the "fair and equitable" requirement set forth in § 1129(b)(2) is satisfied with respect to Classes 1(D) and 1(E).

With respect to a class of unsecured claims, the condition that a plan be fair and equitable includes the following requirements:

- (i) the plan provides that each holder of a claim of such class receive or retain on account of such claim property of a value, as of the effective date of the plan, equal to the allowed amount of such claim; or
- (ii) the holder of any claim or interest that is junior to the claims of such class will not receive or retain under the plan on account of such junior claim or interest any property, except that in a case in which the debtor is an individual, the debtor may retain property included in the estate under

11 U.S.C. § 1129(b)(2)(B).

Under the Plan, Classes 2(A) and 2(B) are impaired, did not cast ballots, and are deemed to reject the Plan. Therefore, the Plan must be crammed down on these classes.

As to Class 2(A), Debtors propose to pay general unsecured creditors (the "GUC") 100% of their claims, at the current federal interest rate of 2.25%. Payment to these creditors at the proposed interest rate is insufficient. The Plan does not satisfy § 1129(b)(2)(B)(i) as discussed below.

The subject of calculating appropriate interest rates payable by debtors invoking the cram down option was taken up by the Supreme Court in Till v. SCS Credit Corp., 541 U.S. 465 (2004); First S. Nat'l Bank v. Sunnyslope Hous. L.P. (In re Sunnyslope Hous. L.P.), 859 F.3d 637, 646 (9th Cir. 2017) (applying the "Till test" to ensure that a creditor received the present value of its claim through payments proposed in a Chapter 11 plan). In Till, following a consideration of several calculation formulas, the Court endorsed the "formula approach," which is determined by first "looking to the national prime rate, reported daily in the press," and by then "adjust[ing] the prime rate accordingly." Till, 541 U.S. at 478–479. The bankruptcy court is authorized to adjust the base interest rate by considering risk factors such as "the circumstances of the estate, the nature of the security, and the duration and feasibility of the reorganization plan." Id. at 479.

As authorized by Till, the Court finds that Debtors have failed to give the GUC the total value of their claims by proposing to pay such claims an insufficient rate of interest, i.e., the federal interest rate of 2.25%. Moreover, by only offering an interest rate of 2.25%, Debtors wholly fail to account for any risk of non-payment absorbed by the GUC. Therefore, the Plan runs afoul the Court's considerations in Till, and thereby fails to satisfy § 1129(b)(2)(B)(i). Based on the findings set forth in Till, the Court determines that to receive the present value of their claims, the GUC must be paid with an interest rate of at least 6%, consisting of the federal prime rate of 5%, plus an addition of one hundred (100) basis points to account for the risk absorbed by creditors [Note 6]. An upward adjustment of one hundred basis points is fair to both the GUC—who must wait to be fully paid over the next sixty months—and the Debtors—whose income projections indicate that the Plan’s feasibility will not be compromised. Therefore, to the extent that Class 2(A) claimants were to be paid with at least an interest rate of 6%, the Plan would be in a better position to meet the requirements under § 1129(b)(2)(B)(i) with respect to this class.

Accordingly, the Court would be amenable to the Plan’s modification by Debtors to ensure that the GUC are paid with a suitable rate of interest. When a modification does not "materially" impact or affect the rights of any affected creditors, a court may deem that prior acceptances apply to the amended plan, and Fed. R. Bankr. P. 3019 would not mandate new disclosures or re-solicitation of votes. See In re American Solar King Corp., 90 B.R. 808, 825–26 (Bankr. W. D. Tex. 1988) (determining that the proposed modification was not material and previously-accepting creditors were deemed to accept modified plan). Here, it is determined that such a modification would not materially impact or affect the rights of the GUC, who stand to receive an increased amount of recovery on the original payment schedule proposed by the Debtors. The Debtors may amend the Plan to provide a sufficient rate of interest to the GUC.

Separately, Debtors propose to pay Class 2(B), consisting of unsecured student loans, in full at the interest rate fixed by Debtors’ individual student loan agreements. As the claimant in Class 2(B) is entitled to receive the total amount of its claim, with an appropriate rate of interest, the Court finds that the treatment of Class 2(B) under the Plan is consistent with § 1129(b)(2)(B)(i). Notwithstanding the Debtors’ proposed payment schedule of claims in Class 2(B), this tentative ruling will not alter or affect any terms or provisions on the Debtors’ respective student loan agreements.

Finally, to the extent that the Plan’s treatment of Classes 2(A) and 2(B) meets § 1129(b)(2)(B)(i), the requirements of absolute priority are not triggered.

Therefore, provided that the Plan complies with the findings set forth above, the "fair and equitable" requirement provided in § 1129(b)(2) will be satisfied with respect to Classes 2(A) and 2(B).

The Debtors also propose to make the monthly escrow payments for taxes and insurance by making an additional monthly payment of approximately $308.54. CSMC's claim is impaired, and it voted to accept the Plan.

Class 1(D) – Secured Claim of Santander Consumer USA – Deemed to Reject

Class 1(D) consists of the secured claim of Santander Consumer USA ("Santander"). Santander holds a secured lien against the Debtors' 2004 Toyota Sienna, securing debt in the amount of $3,622.13 and $2,561.29 in pre-petition arrears. The Debtors propose to pay Santander's claim in full pursuant to the terms of the original Vehicle Loan Agreement, by making monthly payments of $417.73 until the claim is satisfied.

Santander's claim is impaired, and it did not cast a ballot. Therefore, Class 1(D) is deemed to reject the Plan.

Class 1(E) – Secured Claim of the Internal Revenue Service – Deemed to Reject

Class 1(E) consists of the secured claim of the Internal Revenue Service (the "IRS"). The IRS holds a blanket security lien against the Debtors' assets, securing debt in the amount of $40,222.59. The Debtors propose to pay the IRS's claim in full by making monthly payments of $759.60 for sixty months.

Claims in this class are impaired and entitled to vote on the Plan. No votes were received. Therefore, Class 2(A) is deemed to reject the Plan.

Class 2(B) consists of the unsecured claim of the U.S. Department of Education c/o FedLoan Servicing ("U.S. Dept. of Educ.") for Debtors' student loans totaling $46,383.05 (the "Student Loans"). The Debtors propose to pay their Student Loans in full over a period of 18 years in accordance with the current terms of repayment. The Debtors state that they are on an "income-based" repayment plan and are not making any payments. Debtors propose to begin making payments of $214.73 per month beginning on the first day of the month following the Effective Date.

Class 2(B) is impaired, and U.S. Dept. of Educ. did not cast a ballot. Therefore, Class 2(B) is deemed to reject the Plan.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

For the reasons set forth below, the Court will require the Debtors to submit supplemental briefing and evidence in support of plan confirmation.

A. The Debtors Have Not Satisfied § 1129(a)(8) And Have Not Established That The Plan Can Be Crammed Down On All Impaired Classes

Section 1129(a)(8) requires each class to accept the Plan, unless the class is not impaired. Impaired Classes 1(A), 1(B), and 1(C) have accepted the Plan. However, Classes 1(D), 1(E), 2(A), and 2(B) did not cast ballots and are deemed to have rejected the Plan. See In re M. Long Arabians, 103 B.R. 211, 215-16 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1989) (To accept a Plan, members of a class must affirmatively vote in favor of the Plan). Accordingly, the Plan does not satisfy § 1129(a)(8) and must, therefore, satisfy § 1129(b).

Pursuant to § 1129(b)(1), a plan may be confirmed where not all impaired classes vote to accept the plan, provided that "the plan does not discriminate unfairly, and is fair and equitable, with respect to each class of claims or interests that is impaired under, and has not accepted, the plan." With respect to a class of secured claims, the condition that a plan be fair and equitable includes the following requirements:

- (i)(I) that the holders of such claims retain the liens securing such claims, whether the property subject to such liens is retained by the debtor or transferred to another entity, to the extent of the allowed amount of such claims; and
- (II) that each holder of a claim of such class receive on account of such claim deferred cash payments totaling at least the allowed amount of such claim, of a value, as of the effective date of the plan, of at least the value of such holder's interest in the estate's interest in such property;
- (ii) for the sale, subject to section 363(k) of this title, of any property that is subject to the liens securing such claims, free and clear of such liens, with such liens to attach to the proceeds of such sale, and the treatment of such liens on proceeds under clause (i) or (iii) of this subparagraph; or
- (iii) for the realization by such holders of the indubitable equivalent of such claims.

11 U.S.C. § 1129(b)(2)(A).

Under the Plan, Classes 1(D) and 1(E) are impaired, did not cast ballots, and are deemed to reject the Plan. Therefore, the Plan must be crammed down on these classes. However, the Court finds that the Debtors have not carried their burden of proving that § 1129(b)(2)(A)(i)(II) is satisfied because they have not shown that the holders of claims in Classes 1(D) and 1(E) are receiving the present value of their claims as of the effective date since the Plan does not contemplate paying any interest to these classes. Therefore, the Debtors must revise the Plan to address this issue and submit evidence establishing that the proposed interest rates adequately compensate the respective creditors for the risk of receiving payments over time.

Similarly, with respect to a class of unsecured claims, the condition that a plan be fair and equitable includes the following requirements:

- (i) the plan provides that each holder of a claim of such class receive or retain on account of such claim property of a value, as of the effective date of the plan, equal to the allowed amount of such claim; or
- (ii) the holder of any claim or interest that is junior to the claims of such class will not receive or retain under the plan on account of such junior claim or interest any property, except that in a case in which the debtor is an individual, the debtor may retain property included in the estate under section 1115, subject to the requirements of subsection (a)(14) of this section.

11 U.S.C. § 1129(b)(2)(B).

Under the Plan, Classes 2(A) and 2(B) are impaired, did not cast ballots, and are deemed to reject the Plan. Therefore, the Plan must be also crammed down on these classes and, for the same reasons set forth above, the Debtors have not carried their burden of proving that § 1129(b)(2)(B)(i) is satisfied because they have not proposed to pay Classes 2(A) and 2(B) any interest. The Debtors have also not satisfied § 1129(b)(2)(B)(ii)'s absolute priority rule because under the Plan the Debtors will retain their equity interests in estate assets without providing any new value. Therefore, the Debtors must also revise the Plan to address this issue and submit evidence establishing the adequacy of the proposed interest rates.

B. The Debtors Have Not Established That The Plan Satisfies § 1129(a)(11)

Section 1129(a)(11), known as the "feasibility requirement," requires the Court to find that "[c]onfirmation of the plan is not likely to be followed by the liquidation, or the need for further financial reorganization, of the debtor or any successor to the debtor under the plan, unless such liquidation or reorganization is proposed in the plan."

The Debtors submit that they have sufficient cash on hand to pay the anticipated amounts that are due on the Effective Date and submitted budget projections as Exhibit C to the Disclosure Statement and the Declaration of Anna Joyce Giles as Exhibit 1 to the Confirmation Brief in support of the Plan's feasibility.

However, as set forth above, the Debtors will need to modify the Plan to provide for interest payments to Classes 1(D), 1(E), 2(A) and 2(B), which will also necessitate revised plan projections. Furthermore, the Debtors' projections only contain information for the first twelve months of the Debtors' Plan and do not appear to account for costs of inflation or the potential for any increase in future income. Accordingly, the Court is unable to make an informed decision about the feasibility of the Debtors' Plan.

Chapter 11

Finally, the Debtors' Plan relies, in part, on future income from the Business, but the Debtors have not submitted any evidence establishing that the net profits from the Business will be adequate to make the proposed Plan payments. This is especially important given that the nature of the Business exposes it to extensive risk and because any significant impact on the profitability of the Business has the potential to sink the Debtors' Plan.

Based on the foregoing, the Court will require the Debtors to submit revised plan projections for a minimum of five years as well as financial projections for the Business for five years.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the hearing is CONTINUED to September 24, 2019 at 10:00 a.m. The Debtors are directed to file supplemental briefing addressing the issues identified above by no later than September 3, 2019. The deadline to file any opposition to the supplemental briefing is September 10, 2019. The deadline for the Debtors to file a reply to any opposition is September 17, 2019.

Docket 222

Tentative Ruling:

9/23/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Motion is GRANTED in its entirety.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Notice of Motion and Motion of Debtor Lenore Pride to Enter a Discharge Upon Completion of Plan Payments; Declaration of Lenore Pride [Doc. No. 222] (the "Motion")
- 2) No opposition to the Motion is on file as of the date of this tentative ruling.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Lenore Pride (the "Debtor") filed a voluntary Chapter 11 petition on February 1, 2013. The Court issued an order confirming the Debtor's Chapter 11 plan of reorganization (the "Plan") on August 30, 2013. See Order Confirming Debtor's Chapter 11 Plan of Reorganization [Doc. No. 144.] The Plan provided that the Debtor was to make monthly payments to creditors over a 60-month period. On October 27, 2014, an order was issued to administratively close the case. See Order Granting in Part, Denying in Part Motion for Entry of Final Decree Closing Debtor's Chapter 11 Case [Doc. No. 212]. On August 7, 2019, Debtor requested and obtained an order reopening the case [Doc. No. 220] to enter a discharge from this Court, which is sought herein. Debtor asserts that she has made all required payments contemplated in the Plan and attaches a declaration to that effect. See Pride Decl., ¶ 4. The Debtor submits that the Plan has been completed and therefore requests that the Court enter her discharge.

As of the date of this tentative ruling, there is no opposition to the Motion on file.

Chapter 11

The Motion is GRANTED in its entirety. Pursuant to the confirmed Plan, the Debtor is entitled to a discharge upon the completion of all payments contemplated by the Plan. The evidence submitted in connection with the Motion establishes that the Debtor has made all payments required under the Plan. Accordingly, the Debtor is entitled to entry of a discharge as provided by the Plan.

Entry of a final decree is appropriate. Under 11 U.S.C. § 350(a) and Fed. R. Bankr. P. 3022, the Court shall enter a final decree closing a chapter 11 case after the estate is fully administered. In determining whether an estate is fully administered, a court should consider:

- (1) whether the order confirming the plan has become final;
- (2) whether deposits required by the plan have been distributed;
- (3) whether the property proposed by the plan to be transferred has been transferred;
- (4) whether the debtor or the successor of the debtor under the plan has assumed the business of the management of the property dealt with by the plan;
- (5) whether payments under the plan have commenced; and
- (6) whether all motions, contested matters, and adversary proceedings have been finally resolved.

In re Ground Systems, Inc., 213 B.R. 1016, 1019 (9th Cir. BAP 1997), quoting Fed. R. Bankr. P. 3022 advisory committee's notes (1991).

The Court finds that entry of a final decree closing this case is warranted as follows: (i) the order confirming the Plan is now final; (ii) all payments required by the Plan have been made; and (iii) the Plan did not propose for the transfer of any property [Note 1]. In sum, the estate has been fully administered.

Based upon the foregoing, the Motion is GRANTED in its entirety. Within seven days of the hearing, the Debtors shall submit a conforming order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference. Upon entry of the order granting the Motion, the Clerk of the Court is directed to enter an Order of Discharge.

No. 36] (the "Order"). On September 11, 2019, the Court denied the Debtor's motion for reconsideration of the Order. See Order Denying Motion for Reconsideration [Doc. No. 39] and Memorandum of Decision Denying Motion for Reconsideration [Doc. No. 38]. On September 13, 2019, the Court denied the Debtor's second motion for reconsideration of the Order. See Order Denying Second Motion for Reconsideration with Prejudice [Doc. No. 43].

On September 5, 2019, the Court entered an Order Requiring Debtor to Appear and Show Cause Why this Case Should Not be Dismissed Pursuant to § 1121(b)(1) [Doc. No. 32] (the "Order to Show Cause"). The Order to Show Cause contained the Court's Preliminary Findings and Conclusions (the "Preliminary Findings") as to why the case should be dismissed. On September 18, 2019, the Debtor filed a declaration stating that he did not dispute the Preliminary Findings and did not oppose dismissal of the case.

Two other motions have been scheduled to be heard concurrently with the hearing on the Order to Show Cause: (1) the motion of the United States Trustee (the "UST") to convert the Debtor's case to Chapter 7, pursuant to § 1112(b), based upon the Debtor's failure to comply with UST reporting requirements (the "UST § 1112(b) Motion") and (2) the Debtor's motion for authorization to use cash collateral (the "Cash Collateral Motion"). The Debtor has not filed any papers in opposition to the UST § 1112(b) Motion. Wilmington Trust, N.A., successor trustee to Citibank, N.A., as Trustee, for the benefit of registered holders of Structured Asset Mortgage Investments II Trust 2007-AR5, Mortgage Pass-Through Certificates, Series 2007-AR5, its assignees and/or successors, by and through its servicing agent Select Portfolio Servicing, Inc. ("SPS"), which holds a security interest in one of the Debtor's parcels of real property, opposes the Cash Collateral Motion, based on the fact that the loan on the property at issue is over 130 months in default.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Section 1112(b) provides that the Court, upon request of a party in interest, "shall convert a case under this chapter to a case under chapter 7 or dismiss a case under this chapter, whichever is in the best interests of creditors and the estate, for cause unless the court determines that the appointment under section 1104(a) of a trustee or an examiner is in the best interests of creditors and the estate." Section 1112(b)(4) contains a nonexclusive list of factors that constitute cause for dismissal or conversion. The factors set forth in § 1112(b)(4) "are not exhaustive, and 'the court will be able to consider other factors as they arise, and to use its equitable powers to reach an appropriate result in individual cases.'" *Pioneer Liquidating Corp. v. "[W]hen deciding between dismissal and conversion under 11 U.S.C. § 1112(b), the court must consider the interests of all of the creditors." Shulkin Hutton, Inc. v. Treiger (In re Owens), 552 F.3d 958, 961 (9th Cir. 2009).

The Preliminary Findings set forth in the Order to Show Cause are adopted as the findings of the Court and are incorporated herein by reference. The case is dismissed for the reasons set forth in the Preliminary Findings. As set forth in the Preliminary Findings, dismissal, rather than conversion, is in the best interests of creditors because conversion to Chapter 7 would not likely result in a distribution to unsecured creditors.

Based upon the Debtor's failure to comply with UST reporting requirements, the UST § 1112(b) Motion is GRANTED, except that the Court will dismiss the case, rather than order conversion to Chapter 7 as requested by the UST. [Note 1] The Court will enter judgment in favor of the UST for any unpaid quarterly fees.

The Cash Collateral Motion is DENIED as moot in view of the dismissal of the case.

Within seven days of the hearing, the UST shall submit an order on the § 1112(b) Motion and SPS shall submit an order on the Cash Collateral Motion. The Court will prepare and enter an order on the Order to Show Cause.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On November 28, 2018, the Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee") filed a Complaint to Avoid and Recover Fraudulent Transfer [Doc. No. 1] (the "Complaint") against Eduardo Infanzon Gutierrez (the "Defendant"). Pursuant to § 544, the Complaint seeks to avoid, as actually and constructively fraudulent, the Defendant's receipt of $225,000 of the sale proceeds (the "Sale Proceeds") of a condominium located at 4314 Marina City Drive, Unit 720, Marina del Rey, CA (the "Property"). The Complaint further seeks to recover the Sale Proceeds for the benefit of the estate pursuant to § 550. The Trustee moves for summary judgment on all claims for relief set forth in the Complaint. The Defendant opposes the Motion.

On May 2, 2019, the Trustee served Requests for Admission (the "RFAs") upon the Defendant. On June 3, 2019, Defendant's counsel requested an extension of time to respond to the RFAs. The Trustee extended Defendant's deadline to respond to the RFAs through and including June 18, 2019. Defendant failed to respond to the RFAs by the June 18, 2019 deadline.

On June 21, 2019, the Trustee advised Defendant's counsel that the RFAs had not been received, and stated that as a result of Defendant's failure to respond, the RFAs were deemed admitted against the Defendant.

On July 28, 2019, Defendant's counsel e-mailed the completed RFAs to the Trustee. The Trustee refused to accept the RFAs because they were untimely. The Trustee filed the instant Motion on July 31, 2019. The Motion seeks entry of summary judgment against the Defendant on the ground that all material facts have been admitted by the Defendant.

Defendant filed an untimely Opposition to the Motion. Defendant seeks to withdraw the RFAs that have been deemed admitted. Defendant submits a declaration stating that he did not timely respond to the RFAs because he is 74 years old, suffers from diabetes and cardiac complications, and needed to translate the RFAs into Spanish to insure the accuracy of his responses.

The Trustee asserts that the Opposition should be stricken because it was not timely filed. The Trustee opposes Defendant's request to withdraw the admissions of the RFAs. The Trustee argues that Defendant has failed to satisfy the "excusable neglect" standard set forth in Pioneer Investment Services Co. v. Brunswick Associates Ltd. Partnership, 507 U.S. 380 (1993). The Trustee notes that Defendant could have, but did not, seek to withdraw his admissions of the RFAs on July 28, 2019, the date upon which the Trustee refused to accept the RFAs. The Trustee states that he would be prejudiced if Defendant were permitted to withdraw his admissions to the RFAs, because the Trustee did not take Defendant's deposition, did not conduct a solvency analysis of the Debtor as of the date of the transfer, and did not pursue mediation, all in reliance upon the deemed admissions.

II. Findings and Conclusions

A. The Motion is Denied

Defendant has failed to diligently comply with his litigation obligations in this action. First, Defendant failed to timely respond to the RFAs, even though the Trustee extended Defendant's response deadline. Second, after the Trustee refused to accept the untimely RFAs, Defendant failed to immediately file a motion to withdraw the deemed admissions. Instead, Defendant waited until filing an Opposition to the Motion to seek withdrawal of the deemed admissions. Third, Defendant's Opposition to the Motion was untimely. Defendant's dilatory conduct is not well taken.

Denying Defendant's request to withdraw the deemed admissions would eliminate presentation of the case on the merits and would amount to a case-dispositive sanction. Imposition of a case-dispositive sanction requires the Court to find that Defendant's non-compliance involved "willfulness, fault, or bad faith," and that a lesser sanction would not remediate Defendant's non-compliance. R & R Sails, Inc. v. Ins. Co. of Pennsylvania, 673 F.3d 1240, 1247 (9th Cir. 2012).

Defendant is 74 years old, suffers from diabetes, and suffers from cardiac complications as a result of having previously experienced two heart attacks. Defendant's Decl. [Doc. No. 23] at 2. It was necessary for Defendant to arrange for the RFAs to be translated into Spanish to insure that his responses to the RFAs were accurate. Id. As a result of these difficulties, Defendant submitted the RFAs approximately one month late. Notwithstanding these health and language issues, Defendant still could have—and should have—submitted the RFAs timely. However, the Court cannot find that Defendant's lack of diligence rises to the level of "willfulness, fault, or bad faith" such that the imposition of terminating sanctions would be justified. For the reasons discussed below, the Court will grant Defendant's request to withdraw the deemed admissions.

Permitting the Defendant to withdraw the deemed admissions necessitates denial of the Motion. One of the facts deemed admitted was that the Debtor and Defendant agreed that Defendant would receive only $120,000 from the proceeds of the sale of the Property. In his response to the RFAs, the Defendant explains that the agreement was that the Defendant would receive $120,000, plus reimbursement for the funds he contributed to pay expenses related to the Property. Defendant further states that Sale Proceeds he received constituted reimbursement for the fact that he had paid the majority of the mortgage and maintenance expenses on the Property during the time the Debtor lived in the Property.

Summary judgment is appropriate "if the movant shows that there is no genuine dispute as to any material facts and the movant is entitled to judgment as a matter of law." Civil Rule 56 (made applicable to these proceedings by Bankruptcy Rule 7056). The moving party has the burden of establishing the absence of a genuine issue of material fact and that it is entitled to judgment as a matter of law. Celotex Corp. v. Catrett, 477 U.S. 317, 323 (1986). "[S]ummary judgment will not lie if the dispute about a material fact is "genuine," that is, if the evidence is such that a reasonable jury could return a verdict for the nonmoving party." Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc., 477 U.S. 242, 248 (1986). "A fact is 'material' only if it might affect the outcome of the case[.]" Fresno Motors, LLC v. Mercedes Benz USA, LLC, 771 F.3d 1119, 1125 (9th Cir. 2014). If the moving party shows the absence of a genuine issue of material fact, the nonmoving party must "go beyond the pleadings and by her own affidavits, or by the 'depositions, answers to interrogatories, and admissions on file,' designate 'specific facts showing that there is a genuine issue for trial.'" Celotex, 477 U.S. at 324 (quoting Fed. R. Civ. P. 56(e)). The court is "required to view all facts and draw all reasonable inferences in favor of the nonmoving party" when reviewing the Motion. Brosseau v. Haugen, 543 U.S. 194, 195 n.2 (2004).

Here, the Defendant has shown that there are genuine disputed issues of material fact as to whether Defendant's receipt of the Sales Proceeds was actually and constructively fraudulent. Genuine issues of material fact include whether the Defendant paid the mortgage and upkeep expenses on the Property, and whether the Sales Proceeds that Defendant received were commensurate with his payments toward the Property.

B. Defendant's Request to Withdraw the Deemed Admissions is Granted

Under Civil Rule 36(a)(3), a request for admission is "admitted unless, within 30 days after being served, the party to whom the request is directed serves on the requesting party a written answer or objection addressed to the matter and signed by the party or its attorney." By failing to timely respond to the RFAs, Defendant has admitted the matters set forth in the RFAs.

A matter admitted under Civil Rule 36 "is conclusively established unless the court, on motion, permits the admission to be withdrawn or amended." Civil Rule 36(b). "[T]he court may permit withdrawal or amendment if it would promote the presentation of the merits of the action and if the court is not persuaded that it would prejudice the requesting party in maintaining or defending the action on the merits." Id.

"The first half of the test in Rule 36(b) is satisfied when upholding the admissions would practically eliminate any presentation of the merits of the case." Conlon v. United States, 474 F.3d 616, 622 (9th Cir. 2007). Here, upholding the admissions would establish Defendant's liability on the fraudulent transfer claims set forth in the Complaint, eliminating any presentation of the merits of the case. Defendant satisfies the first prong of the test in Civil Rule 36(b).

Chapter 7

The second prong requires the Court to consider whether permitting withdrawal "would prejudice the requesting party in maintaining or defending the action on the merits." Civil Rule 36(b). The Ninth Circuit has held:

The party relying on the deemed admission has the burden of proving prejudice.

The prejudice contemplated by Rule 36(b) is 'not simply that the party who obtained the admission will now have to convince the factfinder of its truth. Rather, it relates to the difficulty a party may face in proving its case, e.g., caused by the unavailability of key witnesses, because of the sudden need to obtain evidence' with respect to the questions previously deemed admitted.

Conlon v. United States, 474 F.3d 616, 622 (9th Cir. 2007) (internal citation omitted).

"When undertaking a prejudice inquiry under Rule 36(b), district courts should focus on the prejudice that the nonmoving party would suffer at trial." Id. at 623. "[R]eliance on a deemed admission in preparing a summary judgment motion does not constitute prejudice." Id. at 624. A "lack of discovery, without more," does not constitute prejudice, since the court can reopen the discovery period, "and prejudice must relate to the difficulty a party may face in proving its case at trial." Id.

The Trustee argues that he would be prejudiced by a withdrawal of the admissions because he elected not to depose the Defendant or conduct a solvency analysis of the Debtor in view of the admissions. The Ninth Circuit has held that in the Civil Rule 36(b) context, prejudice does not exist unless a party seeks withdrawal of the admissions either in the middle of trial or on the eve of trial. See, e.g., Conlon, 474 F.3d at 624 (upholding order denying motion to withdraw admissions that was issued eight days prior to the trial); 999 v. C.I.T. Corp., 776 F.2d 866, 869 (9th Cir. 1985) (upholding denial of motion to withdraw admissions that was made during the middle of trial). Where trial is not imminent, the preferred approach is to reopen discovery. See Conlon, 474 F.3d at 624 (citing with approval Perez v. Miami-Dade Cty., 297 F.3d 1255, 1268 (11th Cir. 2002), in which the court stated that the district court should have extended the discovery deadlines rather than denying the motion to withdraw admissions).

Here, trial is set for the week of October 28, 2019. Because Defendant's request to withdraw his admissions was not made on the eve of trial or in the middle of trial, the Court will reopen discovery, in accordance with the Ninth Circuit's directive in Conlon. fr, 6-5-19; 7-10-19; 7-24-19, 8-20-19, 9-4-2019

Tentative Ruling:

9/24/2019

At issue is whether Medi-Cal Provider Agreements (the "Provider Agreements") entered into between four hospitals (the "Hospitals") and the California Department of Health Care Services (the "DHCS") are executory contracts which must be transferred pursuant to § 365 of the Bankruptcy Code, or statutory entitlements that may be transferred free and clear of successor liability under § 363 of the Bankruptcy Code. If the Provider Agreements are executory contracts, the DHCS may be entitled to receive payments potentially in excess of $50 million in connection with the transfer of the Provider Agreements to the purchaser of the Hospitals. By contrast, if the Provider Agreements are statutory entitlements, they can be transferred to the purchaser free and clear of claims and interests under § 363, meaning that the DHCS would receive no payments in connection with the transfer. For the reasons set forth below, the Court finds that the Provider Agreements are statutory entitlements.

I. Facts

On August 31, 2018 (the "Petition Date"), Verity Health Systems of California ("VHS") and certain of its subsidiaries (collectively, the "Debtors") filed voluntary petitions for relief under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. On August 31, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the Debtors' motion for joint administration of the Debtors' Chapter 11 cases. Doc. No. 17.

On May 2, 2019, the Court entered an order approving the sale of substantially all of the assets of four of the Debtors' hospitals—St. Francis Medical Center, St. Vincent Medical Center, St. Vincent Dialysis Center, and Seton Medical Center (collectively, the "Hospitals")—to Strategic Global Management, Inc. ("SGM"). See Doc. No. 2306 (the "SGM Sale Order").

Each of the Hospitals has executed a Provider Agreement with DHCS. The Asset Purchase Agreement (the "APA") [Doc. No. 2305-1] which governs the sale of the Hospitals to SGM provides that the sale cannot close unless a settlement has been reached with DHCS resolving all financial defaults existing under each Provider Agreement. APA at ¶ 8.7.

Pursuant to Cal. Welf. & Inst. Code § 14169.52(a), each of the Hospitals is required to pay a quarterly Hospital Quality Assurance Fee (an "HQA Fee") to the DHCS, which is assessed regardless of whether the hospital participates in the Medi-Cal Program. See Cal. Welf. & Inst. Code § 14169.52(a) (imposing the HQA Fee upon "each general acute care hospital that is not an exempt facility"). As this Court has previously explained, the "HQA Fee allows California to obtain more healthcare funds from the federal government, which generally matches state Medi-Cal contributions dollar-for-dollar." In re Gardens Reg'l Hosp. & Med. Ctr., Inc., 569 B.R. 788, 791 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2017), aff'd, No. 2:16-BK-17463-ER, 2018 WL 1354334 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. Mar. 12, 2018) ("Gardens II").

According to the DHCS, the Debtors are liable for approximately $30 million in HQA Fees attributable to the Hospitals. DHCS asserts that the Provider Agreements associated with each Hospital cannot be transferred to SGM unless the Debtors first assume the Provider Agreements under § 365 of the Bankruptcy Code. In the process of assuming the Provider Agreements, the Debtors would be required to cure the unpaid HQA Fees, or provide adequate assurance that the unpaid HQA Fees would be promptly cured.

The Debtors receive Medi-Cal fee-for-service payments on account of medical services provided to Medi-Cal beneficiaries by the Hospitals. DHCS asserts that the Debtors are liable for approximately $25 million in Medi-Cal fee-for-service overpayments, and that such overpayments must also be cured in connection with the assumption of the Provider Agreements. The Debtors dispute the validity of the audit that resulted in the calculation of the overpayments.

The Debtors contend that the Provider Agreements are not contracts and that it is therefore unnecessary for the Debtors to assume the Provider Agreements under § 365 in order to transfer the agreements to SGM. According to the Debtors, the Provider Agreements are a statutory entitlement to participate in the Medi-Cal program and should be treated as licenses that can be sold, free and clear of claims, interests, and encumbrances, under § 363(f). In support of the contention that the Provider Agreements are not contracts, Debtors argue that the Provider Agreements do not impose any obligations upon the DHCS. Debtors maintain that the only obligations existing under the Provider Agreements are those that are already imposed under applicable law, and that an agreement to comply with applicable law "is a gratuitous promise which does not provide the consideration necessary to make a contract enforceable." Gardens II, 569 B.R. at 797.

The Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors (the "Committee") agrees with the Debtors that the Provider Agreements are not contracts. Like the Debtors, the Committee takes the position that the Provider Agreements are assets of the Debtors' respective estates that can be sold free and clear of all interests under § 363(f).

II. Discussion

If the Provider Agreements are executory contracts, they can be transferred to SGM only if they are first assumed by the Debtors. To assume an executory contract, the Debtors must either cure all defaults under the contract, or provide adequate assurance that the defaults will be cured promptly. § 365.

An executory contract is “a contract that neither party has finished performing.” Mission Prod. Holdings, Inc. v. Tempnology, LLC, 139 S. Ct. 1652, 1657, 203 L. Ed. 2d 876 (2019). Of course, an agreement that is not a contract can never qualify as an executory contract.

Terms not defined in the Bankruptcy Code have the meaning accorded to such terms under nonbankruptcy law. See Mission Prod. Holdings, 139 S.Ct. at 1661 (“And ‘breach’ is neither a defined nor a specialized bankruptcy term. It means in the Code what it means in contract law outside bankruptcy.”). The Bankruptcy Code does not define the term “contract,” so the term has the same meaning under § 365 of the Bankruptcy Code as it does under non-bankruptcy law. As the Supreme Court has explained, “[p]roperty interests are created and defined by state law. Unless some federal interest requires a different result, there is no reason why such interests should be analyzed differently simply because an interested party is involved in a bankruptcy proceeding.” Butner v. United States, 440 U.S. 48, 55, 99 S. Ct. 914, 918, 59 L. Ed. 2d 136 (1979).

The first issue the Court must confront, then, is whether the Provider Agreements are contracts. The Court finds that they are not. [Note 1]

The Court’s determination of whether the Provider Agreements are contracts is informed by decisions involving Medicare Provider Agreements. For purposes of this issue, there are no meaningful differences between the Provider Agreements and a Medicare Provider Agreement. Both types of agreements allow hospitals to obtain reimbursement from the government for providing healthcare services. In both cases, the hospitals’ reimbursement entitlement is dictated by the Medicare statute and the regulations promulgated thereunder.

In PAMC, Ltd. v. Sebelius, 747 F.3d 1214, 1221 (9th Cir. 2014), the Ninth Circuit declined to apply the contract doctrine of “substantial compliance” to a Medicare Provider Agreement. In that case, PAMC, a hospital, appealed the decision of the Secretary of the Department of Health and Human Services to reduce the reimbursements for which PAMC was eligible. PAMC’s reimbursements had been reduced because it had submitted certain required data 28 minutes late. In challenging the Secretary's decision to reduce its reimbursement eligibility, PAMC argued, among other things, that it had substantially complied with the terms of its Medicare Provider Agreement. The Ninth Circuit rejected PAMC's attempt to avail itself of the contract doctrine of "substantial compliance":

[T]he whole notion of importing contract doctrines into an area that is a complex statutory and regulatory scheme is problematic. We have, on occasion, stated that providers and others have contracts with the government in this area, but our decisions have turned on the regulatory regime rather than on contract principles. See, e.g., United States v. Bourseau, 531 F.3d 1159, 1162, 1169–70 (9th Cir.2008); Pac. Coast Med. Enters. v. Harris, 633 F.2d 123, 125 n. 1, 133–35 (9th Cir.1980). As the Eleventh Circuit Court of Appeals held when hospitals complained of legislative impairment of their contract rights in this area because they had agreements with the Secretary: "Upon joining the Medicare program, however, the hospitals received a statutory entitlement, not a contractual right." Mem'l Hosp. v. Heckler, 706 F.2d 1130, 1136 (11th Cir.1983); see also Bennett v. Ky. Dep't of Educ., 470 U.S. 656, 669, 105 S.Ct. 1544, 1552, 84 L.Ed.2d 590 (1985) (stating that while states had "grant agreements" with the federal government and those had a "contractual aspect," the program should not be viewed like a "bilateral contract" and should not "be construed most strongly against the drafter" (internal quotation marks omitted)); cf. Sebelius v. Auburn Reg'l Med. Ctr., — U.S. —, —, 133 S.Ct. 817, 828–29, 184 L.Ed.2d 627 (2013) (declining to apply equitable tolling principles to time set by Secretary for appealing to the Board); Kaiser Found. Hosps., 649 F.3d at 1160 (declining to apply excusable neglect equitable analysis to Board's dismissal of case for "failure to timely submit a position paper").

PAMC, Ltd. v. Sebelius, 747 F.3d 1214, 1221 (9th Cir. 2014).

Other courts have been even more explicit in stating that a Medicare Provider Agreement is not a contract. In Mem'l Hosp. v. Heckler, cited with approval in PAMC, hospitals argued that new legislation reducing the amount of Medicare reimbursements they were entitled to receive constituted "an unconstitutional taking of their property without just compensation in violation of the fifth amendment, because it would abrogate a vested contractual right to Medicare reimbursement."

Chapter 11

Heckler, 706 F.2d 1130, 1136 (11th Cir. 1983). The Heckler court squarely rejected the hospital's contention that the Medicare Provider Agreement was a contract: "Upon joining the Medicare program, however, the hospitals received a statutory entitlement, not a contractual right." Heckler, 706 F.2d at 1136.

Significantly, the Heckler court observed that "[c]ourts have upheld retroactive adjustments in the Medicare reimbursement system." Id. It emphasized that such retroactive adjustments were permissible precisely because Medicare Provider Agreements were not contracts. Id. A similar result was reached in Germantown Hosp. & Med. Ctr. v. Heckler, 590 F. Supp. 24, 30–31 (E.D. Pa. 1983), aff'd sub nom. Germantown Hosp. & Med. Ctr. v. Schweiker, 738 F.2d 631 (3d Cir. 1984), in which the court held:

There is no contractual obligation requiring [the Department of Health and Human Services] to provide Medicare reimbursement. Rather, upon joining the Medicare program, providers gain a statutory entitlement to reimbursement. Thus the amount of reimbursement is governed not by contract but by statute; specifically the Medicare Act's "reasonable cost" provisions.

Germantown, 590 F.Supp. at 30–31.

Similarly, in Guzman v. Shewry, the Ninth Circuit held that a Medi-Cal Provider Agreement was not a contract. 552 F.3d 941 (9th Cir. 2009). In Guzman, a physician sought a preliminary injunction to prevent the DHCS from temporarily suspending him from the Medi-Cal program. Among other things, the physician argued that because his suspension deprived him of the ability to receive reimbursement for treating Medi-Cal patients, he had been deprived of his right to contract with the state. Id. at 954. Rejecting this argument, the court held that "[p]articipation in the Medi-Cal program entitles Guzman to reimbursement for treating patients who receive Medi-Cal benefits; it does not involve bidding on government contracts." Id.

In addition, the Provider Agreements lack a key feature found in all contracts—obligations imposed on both parties to the agreements. It is true that the Provider Agreements contain language which purports to impose obligations upon the DHCS. However, this language merely reiterates obligations which DHCS already has under applicable law. As this Court has previously held, "an agreement to comply with applicable law is a gratuitous promise which does not provide the consideration necessary to make a contract enforceable." Gardens Reg'l, 569 B.R. at 797. as contracts, it would be necessary for the Provider Agreements to impose upon DHCS some obligation that DHCS was not already required to perform under applicable law.

DHCS cites a number of provisions within the Provider Agreement that it claims constitute consideration sufficient to render the Provider Agreements contractual in nature. However, all of the provisions which DHCS cites are merely restatements of federal law, federal regulations, state law, or state regulations. For example, the following provisions, cited as examples of consideration by DHCS, are codified in various laws or regulations:

- 1) Debtors will be subject to the sanctions available to DHCS if they fail to comply with applicable law.
- 2) To submit a treatment authorization request, the Debtors must use a National Provider Identifier (“NPI”) that is appropriately registered and is compliant with all NPI requirements.
- 3) Debtors cannot engage in conduct inimical to public health, morals, welfare, or safety.
- 4) Debtors cannot refuse healthcare services based upon race, color, ancestry, marital status, national origin, gender, age, economic status, or physical or mental disability.
- 5) Only qualified medical personnel may provide healthcare services.
- 6) Any overpayments must be repaid by the Debtors in accordance with applicable statutes and regulations.
- 7) Debtors are subject to certain automatic and permissive suspensions and mandatory and permissive exclusions.

DHCS cites a number of cases in which courts have held that Medicare Provider Agreements are executory contracts. These authorities are not persuasive, because the issue of whether the provider agreements were executory contracts versus statutory entitlements was not litigated. Instead, the courts simply assumed, without meaningful analysis, that the provider agreements were executory contracts.

For example, in In re University Medical Center, 973 F.2d 1065 (3d Cir. 1992), the Third Circuit assumed that a Medicare Provider Agreement was an executory contract, even though the Third Circuit had ruled eight years prior in Germantown Hosp. & Med. Ctr. v. Schweiker, 738 F.2d 631, 632 (3d Cir. 1984) that Medicare Provider Agreements are statutory entitlements, not contracts. In Germantown, the court rejected the argument that a reduction in Medicare reimbursement rates impaired the contract rights of the Medicare providers. Id. The University Medical Center decision contained no discussion of Germantown and made no attempt to reconcile Germantown's holding that reductions to Medicare reimbursement rates did not amount to a breach of contract. Similarly, in In re Heffernan Memorial Hospital District, 192 B.R. 228, 231 n.4 (Bankr. S.D. Cal. 1996), the issue was not litigated and the debtor appeared to concede that the provider agreement was an executory contract. Likewise, in In re St. Johns Home Health Agency, Inc., 173 B.R. 238 (Bankr. S.D. Fla. 1994), the debtor conceded that the provider agreement was an executory contract, and the Bankruptcy Court disregarded prior binding Eleventh Circuit precedent rejecting the contention that a provider agreement gave the provider "a vested contractual right to Medicare reimbursement." Mem'l Hosp. v. Heckler, 706 F.2d 1130, 1136 (11th Cir. 1983).

Having found that the Provider Agreements are not contracts and therefore are not subject to assumption and assignment under § 365, the Court must determine whether the Provider Agreements can be sold free and clear of liens, claims, and interests under § 363.

Courts have held that interests such as the Provider Agreements constitute "property of the estate" under § 541 that may be sold under § 363. In Matter of Fugazy Exp., Inc., 124 B.R. 426, 430 (S.D.N.Y. 1991), the court held that a license issued by the Federal Communications Commission was property of the estate, notwithstanding a provision within the Federal Communications Act providing that the Act did not create ownership rights in licenses. The holding is consistent with Ninth Circuit precedent stating that "[g]overnment licenses, as a general rule, are considered to be 'general intangibles' under the Uniform Commercial Code, 'i.e., personal property interests in which security interests may be perfected.'" MLQ Inv'rs, L.P. v. Pac. Quadracasting, Inc., 146 F.3d 746, 749 (9th Cir. 1998).

The Court finds that the Provider Agreements are akin to a license issued by a government agency, and therefore that the Provider Agreements may be sold under § 363. The Provider Agreements create a statutory entitlement to bill the Medi-Cal program for providing Medi-Cal services. See Guzman, 552 F.3d at 954 (stating that "[p]articipation in the Medi-Cal program entitles [physician] Guzman to reimbursement for treating patients who receive Medi-Cal benefits"). This right to receive reimbursement for providing healthcare services is a property interest.

DHCS contends that the Hospitals hold no property interest in the Provider Agreements and that as a result, the Provider Agreements cannot be sold under § 363.

Chapter 11

In support of its position, DHCS cites Erickson v. U.S. ex rel. Dep't of Health & Human Servs., 67 F.3d 858, 862 (9th Cir. 1995), in which the court held that a physician convicted of submitting false claims to Medicare did "not possess a property interest in continued participation in Medicare, Medicaid, or the federally-funded state health care programs." Id.

DHCS ignores the difference between a property interest in the right to continue to participate in Medi-Cal and a property interest in the existing right to bill Medi-Cal for providing services. Erickson stands for the unremarkable proposition that a Medi-Cal provider who engages in criminal conduct has no right to continue as a Medi-Cal provider. No one disputes that if the Hospitals violated Medi-Cal statutes or regulations, their right to continue as Medi-Cal Providers could be suspended. But at present, the Provider Agreements are in good standing and the Hospitals have the right to receive reimbursements for providing services to Medi-Cal beneficiaries. It is this right that amounts to a property interest.

The Provider Agreements may be sold free and clear of the liabilities which DHCS contends attach to the Provider Agreements. This includes the alleged liabilities for approximately $30 million in unpaid HQA Fees and $25 million in Medi-Cal overpayments (collectively, the "Liabilities").

Section 363(f)(1) provides that a sale of estate property may be "free and clear of any interest in such property of an entity other than the estate" if certain conditions are satisfied. As this Court has previously explained:

The Bankruptcy Code does not define the phrase "interest in ... property" for purposes of § 363(f). The Third Circuit has held that the phrase "interest in ... property" is "intended to refer to obligations that are connected to, or arise from, the property being sold." Folger Adam Sec., Inc. v. DeMatteis/MacGregor JV, 209 F.3d 252, 259 (3d Cir. 2000). That conclusion is echoed by Collier on Bankruptcy, which observes a trend in caselaw "in favor of a broader definition [of the phrase] that encompasses other obligations that may flow from ownership of the property." 3 Alan N. Resnick & Henry J. Sommer, Collier on Bankruptcy ¶ 363.06[1] (16th ed. 2017).

Courts have held that interests in property include monetary obligations arising from the ownership of property, even when those obligations are imposed by statute. For example, in Mass. Dep't of Unemployment Assistance v. OPK Biotech, LLC (In re PBBPC, Inc.), 484 B.R. 860 (1st Cir. BAP 2013), the court held that taxes assessed by Massachusetts under its unemployment insurance statutes constituted an "interest in ... property." The taxes were computed based on the Debtor's "experience rating," which was determined by the number of employees it had terminated in the past. Id. at 862. Because the Debtor had terminated most of its employees prior to selling its assets, its experiencing rating, and corresponding unemployment insurance tax liabilities, were very high. Id. The PBBPC court held that the experience rating was an interest in property that could be cut off under § 363(f). Id. at 869–70. Similarly, in United Mine Workers of Am. Combined Benefit Fund v. Leckie Smokeless Coal Co. (In re Leckie Smokeless Coal Co.), 99 F.3d 573, 581, the court held that monetary obligations imposed by the Coal Industry Retiree Health Benefit Act of 1992 constituted an "interest in ... property" within the meaning of § 363(f).

In re Gardens Reg'l Hosp. & Med. Ctr., Inc., 567 B.R. 820, 825–26 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2017), appeal dismissed, No. 2:16-BK-17463-ER, 2018 WL 1229989 (C.D. Cal. Jan. 19, 2018).

The Liabilities are an “interest in property” within the meaning of § 363(f). The Liabilities arise because the Hospitals have elected to exercise their statutory entitlement to provide medical services, and receive reimbursement for providing such services, under the Provider Agreements. As such, the Liabilities are a monetary obligation arising from the ownership of property (the property being the reimbursement rights associated with the Provider Agreements).

The Provider Agreements may be sold free and clear of the Liabilities only if one or more of the conditions specified in § 363(f)(1)–(5) is satisfied. Here, the Court finds that § 363(f)(5) is satisfied. Under § 363(f)(5), property may be sold free and clear of an interest, if the entity holding the interest “could be compelled, in a legal or equitable proceeding, to accept a money satisfaction of such interest.”

The interest that DHCS holds in the Provider Agreements is its right to receive payment of the Liabilities. DHCS could be compelled to accept a money satisfaction of such interest in a legal or equitable proceeding. In fact, receiving a money satisfaction is and has been DHCS’ objective all along. Throughout these cases, DHCS has withheld funds payable to the Hospitals to recover the Liabilities. [Note 3] That DHCS would accept a money satisfaction is apparent in its briefing. DHCS states that the Debtors must “pay the debt through the proceeds of the sale” or “within five days of the closing of the sale,” and that the Debtors “must establish and maintain a trust account in the amount of $70 million for 36 months for potential reimbursement to [DHCS] of any Medi-Cal overpayment” Doc. No. 3043 at 10.

The Debtors request that the order on the Motion state that DHCS’ recoupment rights against SGM, if any, must be first exercised against payments due to the Debtors from Medi-Cal, then against funds held by the Debtors generated by past interim Medi-Cal payments, and then against any sale proceeds generated by the sale of the Provider Agreement. The issue of the applicability of recoupment subsequent to the sale of the Provider Agreements free and clear of claims and interests has not been sufficiently briefed. The Court declines to decide the issue at present, without prejudice to the ability of interested parties to raise the issue by way of motion.

DHCS requests that the order on the Motion be stayed for 14 days, pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 6004(h). The purpose of Bankruptcy Rule 6004(h) is to provide sufficient time for an objecting party to appeal before an order can be implemented. The sale to SGM is not expected to close until mid-to-late October 2019. Because the Provider Agreements will not be transferred to SGM until the sale closes, the stay imposed by Bankruptcy Rule 6004(h) is not necessary to protect DHCS’ right to appeal.

III. Conclusion

Based upon the foregoing, the Debtors are authorized to sell the Provider Agreements to SGM, free and clear of claims, interests, and encumbrances, pursuant to § 363(f)(5).

Note 1

The Debtors object to declaration testimony submitted by Hanh Vo with respect to the amount of the Liabilities. As a result of its determination that the Provider Agreements may be sold free and clear of the Liabilities, it is not necessary for the Court to adjudicate the amount of the Liabilities at this time. Because the Court has not considered the Vo declaration in reaching its decision, the Court does not rule upon the Debtors' evidentiary objection. See Operating Engineers' Pension Trust Fund v. Clark's Welding & Mach., 688 F. Supp. 2d 902, 907 (N.D. Cal. 2010) ("Because the Court does not rely on the statements in this declaration, it is not necessary for the Court to rule on these objections.").

Note 2

In Gardens II, the Court found that under the principle of equitable recoupment, DHCS could withhold Medi-Cal and supplemental quality assurance payments owed to a debtor, for the purpose of recovering unpaid hospital quality assurance fees owed by the debtor. Gardens II did not decide whether a Medi-Cal Provider Agreement was a contract or a statutory entitlement akin to a license, as the issue did not affect the outcome of the decision:

The Court finds that, regardless of whether the Provider Agreement is considered a license or contract, the Debtor's HQA Fee liability and entitlement to Medi-Cal Payments would still arise from the same transaction or occurrence.... As discussed previously, the Debtor's acknowledgment in the Provider Agreement that unpaid HQA Fees could be withheld from its Medi-Cal Payments establishes the necessary logical relationship between the Debtor's fee liabilities and its payment entitlements. That logical relationship exists whether the Provider Agreement is classified as a license or a contract.

Gardens II, 569 B.R. at 799.

In support of its argument that the Provider Agreements are executory contracts, DHCS cites the observation made in Gardens II that Medicare Provider Agreements "are similar in many respects to ... [a] Medi-Cal Provider Agreement ..."). Gardens II, 569 B.R. at 799 n.12. DHCS then cites decisions holding that Medicare Provider Agreements are executory contracts. As discussed in greater detail below, the Court does not find the decisions cited by DHCS to be persuasive, because they reached the conclusion that Medicare Provider Agreements are executory contracts without meaningful analysis.

Note 3

DHCS asserts that its withholdings are authorized under the equitable principle of recoupment. As the issue is not presently before it, the Court expresses no opinion on whether the withholdings were permissible recoupments.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On August 31, 2018 (the "Petition Date"), Verity Health Systems of California ("VHS") and certain of its subsidiaries (collectively, the "Debtors") filed voluntary petitions for relief under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. On August 31, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the Debtors' motion for joint administration of the Debtors' Chapter 11 cases. Doc. No. 17.

“APA”) between Debtors Verity Medical Foundation (“VMF”) and VHS, on the one hand, and RadNet Management, Inc. (“RadNet”), on the other hand. The APA provides for the sale of VMF’s interest in a bank account at JP Morgan Chase Bank, Inc. with an account number ending in 2072 (the “Chase Account”) to RadNet, for an aggregate purchase price of $123,000.

On August 31, 2017, VMF entered into a purchase agreement with RadNet (the “VMF-RadNet APA”), pursuant to which VMF acquired all of the fixed assets and leasehold rights used in the oncology services business Breastlink Medical Group, Inc. (“Breastlink”). Under the VMF-RadNet APA, VMF holds title to the Chase Account, but RadNet controls the Chase Account and is required to transfer receipts credited to the Chase Account related to the Breastlink business to VMF.

On March 27, 2019, the Court approved the sale of certain of VMF’s assets, including Breastlink, to Oncology Technology Associates, LLC (“OTA”). The order approving the sale provides that VMF retains title to the Chase Account and that Breastlink receipts credited to the Chase Account after March 31, 2019 belong to VMF. Since the sale of Breastlink to OTA, the Debtors and RadNet have worked together to reconcile various accounts receivable and payable between them. As part of this process, RadNet and VMF have agreed to a final reconciliation of the proceeds in the Chase Account attributable to VMF’s operation of the Breastlink business. The Parties have agreed to transfer title of the Chase Account and its proceeds to RadNet in exchange for a one-time payment by RadNet to VMF of $123,000. The payment represents the Parties’ estimate of the amount of the deposits in the Chase Account related to the Breastlink business.

No opposition to the Motion is on file.

II. Findings and Conclusions

A. The Court Approves the Settlement With RadNet

Bankruptcy Rule 9019 provides that the Court may approve a compromise or settlement. "In determining the fairness, reasonableness and adequacy of a proposed settlement agreement, the court must consider: (a) The probability of success in the litigation; (b) the difficulties, if any, to be encountered in the matter of collection; (c) the complexity of the litigation involved, and the expense, inconvenience and delay necessarily attending it; (d) the paramount interest of the creditors and a proper deference to their reasonable views in the premises." Martin v. Kane (In re A&C Properties), 784 F.2d 1377, 1381 (9th Cir. 1986). "[C]ompromises are favored in bankruptcy, and the decision of the bankruptcy judge to approve or disapprove the compromise of the parties rests in the sound discretion of the bankruptcy judge." In re Sassalos, 160 B.R. 646, 653 (D. Ore. 1993). In approving a settlement agreement, the Court must "canvass the issues and see whether the settlement 'falls below the lowest point in the range of reasonableness.'" Cosoff v. Rodman (In re W.T. Grant Co.), 699 F.2d 599, 608 (2d Cir. 1983).

Applying the A&C Properties factors, the Court finds that the settlement with RadNet is adequate, fair, and reasonable, and is in the best interests of the estate and creditors. The settlement relieves the Debtors of any further administrative burden associated with the Chase Account and reconciliation of the proceeds attributable to the Breastlink business. Absent the settlement, the Debtors and RadNet would be required to litigate disputes regarding reconciliation of the proceeds deposited into the Chase Account. The settlement provides for the immediate infusion of cash into the estates. No creditors have opposed the settlement.

B. The Debtors are Authorized to Sell the Chase Account to RadNet

Section 363(b) permits a debtor to sell estate property out of the ordinary course of business, subject to Court approval. The debtor must articulate a business justification for the sale of the property. In re Walter, 83 B.R. 14, 19–20 (9th Cir. BAP 1988) (citing In re Continental Air Lines, 780 F.2d 1223 (5th Cir. 1986)). Whether the articulated business justification is sufficient "depends on the case," in view of "all salient factors pertaining to the proceeding." Id. "The court's obligation in § 363(b) sales is to assure that optimal value is realized by the estate under the circumstances." Simantob v. Claims Prosecutor, LLC (In re Lahijani), 325 B.R. 282, 288–89 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2005).

The Court finds that the sale provides optimal value to the estate. The sale will generate $123,000 in funds for the estates and will eliminate administrative burdens associated with the Chase Account.

Pursuant to § 363(f)(2), the sale is free and clear of liens, claims, and interests. To the extent any entity asserts a lien or other interest in the Chase Account, such entity's failure to file an opposition to the Motion constitutes consent to a sale free and clear of its interest. [Note 1]

The Debtors shall submit an order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Noberto Pimentel and Erica Pimentel (collectively, the "Debtors") filed a joint voluntary Chapter 7 petition on March 20, 2019. The Debtors scheduled their interest in real property located at 11421 Angell Street, Norwalk, CA 90650 (the "Property"). On July 25, 2019, the Court denied the Debtors' motion to convert to Chapter 13 (the "Conversion Motion"). See Doc. No. 41. The Court found that Debtors' bad faith failure to provide accurate and complete information in their schedules and in response to questioning under oath warranted denial of the Conversion Motion. See Final Ruling Denying Conversion Motion [Doc. No. 40].

On June 18, 2019, the Court authorized the Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee") to employ Keller Williams Realty (the "Broker") to market the Property. See Doc. No. 35.

The Trustee moves for an order compelling the Debtors to cooperate with the Broker in arranging for the Property to be shown to potential buyers. The Trustee states that the Debtors have refused to cooperate with the Broker regarding access to the Property. The Court granted the Trustee's application for an order setting a hearing on this Motion on shortened notice. See Doc. No. 52.

As of the date of the issuance of this tentative ruling, no Opposition to the Motion is on file.

II. Findings and Conclusions

A. Notice of the Motion

The Trustee did not provide notice of the Motion as ordered by the Court. The Debtors did not receive notice of the hearing date until September 21, 2019; the Court ordered the Trustee to provide the Debtors telephonic notice of the hearing by no later than 8:00 p.m. on September 18, 2019.

The Trustee did not provide the Debtors' counsel telephonic notice of the hearing by September 18, 2019, at 8:00 p.m., as ordered by the Court. However, the Debtors' counsel did receive electronic notice of the hearing, by means of the Court's Notice of Electronic Filing System, on September 18, 2019, at 2:51 p.m.

Given that the Motion concerns the Trustee's attempts to market the Property, the Court will not require the Trustee to renotice the hearing. However, the Court will permit the Debtors to present an oral opposition to the Motion at the hearing, even though the Debtors have not submitted a written opposition by September 23, 2019, at 1:00 p.m., the deadline ordered by the Court.

B. The Motion is Granted

Section 521(a)(3) provides that the "debtor shall ... cooperate with the trustee as necessary to enable the trustee to perform the trustee's duties under this title."

The Property is an asset of the estate which the Trustee is responsible for administering for the benefit of creditors. The Trustee has obtained the Court's approval to employ the Broker to assist him with his duties. The Debtors' failure to cooperate with the Broker in scheduling showings of the Property to prospective purchasers constitutes a failure to cooperate with the Trustee.

The Debtors voluntarily subjected themselves to the requirements of the Bankruptcy Code, including the obligation to cooperate the Trustee, by choosing to seek bankruptcy relief. "A chapter 7 debtor has an affirmative duty to cooperate with the case trustee in the administration of the bankruptcy estate.... This duty to cooperate is based upon one of the very simple goals of any chapter 7 case—to maximize the return to creditors through the orderly liquidation of the assets. Where a debtor fails to cooperate with the case trustee, the trustee is then forced to expend estate resources in pursuing the debtor's cooperation, which results in the reduction of the distribution to creditors." In re Stinson, 269 B.R. 172, 176 (Bankr. S.D. Ohio 2001)

The Court will enter an order compelling the Debtors to cooperate with the Broker. The Trustee should not have been required to file a motion to compel the Debtors to fulfill their statutory obligations under the Bankruptcy Code. Therefore, the Trustee's request for attorneys' fees is GRANTED. The Debtors shall pay the Trustee's counsel $500 in attorneys' fees as a sanction for failing to fulfill their obligation to cooperate with the Trustee. See Stinson, 269 B.R. at 176 (ordering the debtors to pay the attorneys' fees incurred by the Trustee after the debtors failed to fulfill their obligation to cooperate with the Trustee).

#101.00 Hearing re [44] Objection To Priority Proof Of Claim No. 14 Filed By Premium Export Consulting Aka Odile Olleris

Docket 0

Tentative Ruling:

9/24/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Trustee's Claim Objection is SUSTAINED, and classification of Claim No. 14 as a priority claim is DISALLOWED. Claim No.14 shall be reclassified as a general unsecured claim.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Objection to Claim No. 14 [Doc. No. 44] (the "Claim Objection")
 - a) Notice of Objection to Claim [Doc. No. 45]
- 2) No Opposition to Claim Objection is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Lux Beauty Group, Inc. (the "Debtor") commenced a voluntary Chapter 7 petition on August 24, 2019. On January 7, 2019, Premium Export Consulting aka Odile Olleris (the "Claimant") filed a proof of claim asserting an unsecured priority claim totaling $2,000 (the "Claim"). See Claim Objection, Rund Decl. Ex. A. The Claim was allegedly entitled to priority pursuant to § 507(a)(4). In support of the Claim, Claimant attached a document titled Mutual Release and Settlement Agreement (the "Settlement Agreement"), as well as a singular e-mail addressed from Debtor's Chief Executive Officer to Claimant. Claim at 5–8.

Trustee Jason M. Rund (the "Trustee") herein partially objects to the Claim, insofar as it was classified as a priority claim and thereby requests its reclassification to a general unsecured claim. The Trustee objects on grounds that Claimant's evidence does not establish that the Claim is entitled to priority status pursuant to § 507(a)(7), which requires that a claim relate to earned wages, salaries, or commissions with time and amount limitations set by the statute. Instead, the Trustee concludes that the evidence proffered suggests the Claim relates to general business debt between Claimant and Debtor. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Section 502 requires the Court to disallow a claim that "is unenforceable against the debtor and the property of the debtor, under any agreement or applicable law for a reason other than because such claim is contingent or unmatured."

Under Bankruptcy Rule 3001(f), a proof of claim executed and filed in accordance with the Bankruptcy Rules constitutes prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claim. To overcome the presumption of validity created by a timely-filed proof of claim, an objecting party must do one of the following: (1) object based on legal grounds and provide a memorandum of points and authorities setting forth the legal basis for the objection; or (2) object based on a factual ground and provide sufficient evidence (usually in the form of declarations under penalty of perjury) to create triable issues of fact. In re G.I. Indus., Inc., 204 F.3d 1276, 1280 (9th Cir. BAP 2000); In re Medina, 205 B.R. 216, 222 (9th Cir. BAP 1996); In re Hemingway Transport, Inc., 993 F.2d 915, 925 (1st Cir. 1993). Upon objection, a proof of claim provides "some evidence as to its validity and amount" and is "strong enough to carry over a mere formal objection without more." See Lundell v. Anchor Constr. Spec., Inc., 223 F.3d 1035, 1039 (9th Cir. 2000) (citing In re Holm, 931 F.2d 620, 623 (9th Cir. 1991)). An objecting party bears the burden and must "show facts tending to defeat the claim by probative force equal to that of the allegations of the proofs of claim themselves." Holm, 931 F.2d at 623. When the objector has shown enough evidence to negate one or more facts in the proof of claim, the burden shifts back to the claimant to prove the validity of the claim by a preponderance of evidence. See Lundell, 223 F.3d at 1039 (citation omitted).

The evidence proffered in support of the Claim does not demonstrate that it is entitled to priority under § 507(a)(4), which provides in relevant part:

Allowed unsecured claims are prioritized "but only to the extent of $12,850 for each individual or corporation...earned within 180 days before the date of the filing of the petition...for—

- (A) wages, salaries, or commissions, including vacation, severance, and sick leave pay earned by an individual; or
- (B) sales commissions earned by an individual or by a corporation with only 1 employee, acting as an independent contractor in the sale of goods or services for the debtor in the ordinary course of the debtor's business if, and only if, during the 12 months preceding that date, at least 75 percent of the amount that the individual or corporation earned by acting as an independent contractor in the sale of goods or services was earned from the debtor."

Here, the Settlement Agreement indicates that the amount owed by Debtor to the Claimant was likely the resolution of a dispute for unpaid debt, which is itself referenced by Debtor's CEO in an attached e-mail. See Claim Objection, Rund Decl. Ex. A. Moreover, the Settlement Agreement is devoid of any terms and provisions evincing an intention by the signatories to enter into an employment agreement, or a similar relationship. Instead, the Settlement Agreement can reasonably be interpreted, as the Trustee contends, to be an agreement to pay a lump sum to settle prior business debt totaling $10,000. Therefore, the Court determines that the burden of proof has shifted back to Claimant, and in the absence of any further evidence, the Trustee's Claim Objection is SUSTAINED.

The Court hereby DISALLOWS the Claim's priority classification and reclassifies it as a general unsecured claim. The Trustee shall submit a conforming order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing.

Consumer Legal Remedies Act; and (6) Conspiracy [Doc. No. 1] (the "Complaint") against Parkridge.

Under the heading "General Allegations," the Complaint alleges:

Through this bankruptcy proceeding, Parkridge is attempting to discharge those obligations and avoid paying Plaintiffs what they [are] owed. As set forth in Plaintiffs' complaint, Section 523 of the Bankruptcy Code prohibits discharge for these exact types of acts. This Court should not permit Parkridge [to] avoid Plaintiffs' valid and non-dischargeable interest by abusing the Bankruptcy Code.

Complaint at ¶ 10.

The Complaint alleges that Parkridge operated a diploma mill and issued at least 6,000 false high school diplomas. Id. at ¶¶ 27–31. The Complaint seeks class certification on behalf of a putative class consisting of residents of the State of California who purchased educational services from Parkridge from January 2012 through the present. Id. at ¶ 46. The Complaint asserts claims for fraud and deceit, conspiracy to commit common law fraud, negligent misrepresentation, violations of the Business and Professions Code, and violation of the Consumer Legal Remedies Act, and seeks a money judgment on behalf of members of the putative class. Other than the allegations set forth in ¶ 10, quoted above, there are no allegations regarding the dischargeability of the damages sought.

Summary of Papers Filed in Connection with Parkridge's Motion to Dismiss

Parkridge moves to dismiss the Complaint, pursuant to Civil Rule 12(b)(6), for failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted. According to Parkridge, the Complaint seeks to except Plaintiffs' claims from discharge. Parkridge notes that under § 727(a)(1), it is not eligible to receive a discharge since it is not an individual. Parkridge argues that since it cannot receive a discharge, the Complaint fails to state a claim, and cannot ever be amended to state a claim.

Plaintiffs dispute Parkridge's characterization of the Complaint. Plaintiffs state that the Complaint mentions "nondischargeability of debt" for purposes of context but does not assert a nondischargeability claim. Plaintiffs assert that the Motion should be denied for the following reasons:

- 1) Plaintiffs have standing to bring each of their claims against Parkridge.

Chapter 7

Specifically, as alleged in the Complaint, Plaintiffs have sustained particularized injuries as a result of Parkridge's wrongdoing, Plaintiffs' claims are not "general" and cannot be brought by any other creditor, and the Chapter 7 Trustee lacks standing to assert Plaintiffs' claims.

- 2) The Complaint is a core proceeding, notwithstanding the fact that it asserts claims under state law. Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 157(b)(3), a determination "that a proceeding is not a core proceeding shall not be made solely on the basis that its resolution may be affected by state law." Plaintiffs' claims invoke substantive rights created by bankruptcy law since the adjudication of those claims will affect property of Parkridge's estate. Alternatively, the Complaint falls within the Court's "related to" jurisdiction.
- 3) In the event the Court determines that the Complaint fails to state a claim, Plaintiffs should be granted leave to amend.

Parkridge makes the following arguments in Reply to Plaintiffs' Opposition:

- 1) None of Plaintiffs' arguments are relevant. The Motion to Dismiss mentions nothing about standing, whether the Complaint is a core proceeding, or the Court's "related to" jurisdiction. Parkridge can only assume that Plaintiffs, realizing that a dischargeability complaint is not legally supportable, seek to change tactics by arguing that the Complaint belongs in Bankruptcy Court anyway.
- 2) Notwithstanding the fact that the Complaint's caption states "Complaint for Nondischargeability of Debt," Plaintiffs now claim that the Complaint is not one for dischargeability at all. If this is true, the Complaint violates Civil Rule 8 since it is misleading and does not give Parkridge fair notice of the relief being sought. For that reason as well, the Complaint should be dismissed.
- 3) If the Complaint is not brought under § 523, then it is unclear what relief is being sought. Plaintiffs have already filed two proofs of claim, each in the amount of $4.5 million. In view of the filing of these proofs of claim, the Complaint is an unnecessary redundancy.
- 4) By now taking the position that the Complaint does not seek relief under § 523, Plaintiffs are effectively seeking to amend the Complaint without a motion requesting permission to do so. The deadline for Plaintiffs to file an amended complaint as of right has passed. If Plaintiffs wish to amend the Complaint, they must file a motion so requesting.

Chapter 7

II. Findings and Conclusions

A. The Motion to Dismiss is Denied

"To survive a motion to dismiss, a complaint must contain sufficient factual matter, accepted as true, to 'state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face.' A claim has facial plausibility when the plaintiff pleads factual content that allows the court to draw the reasonable inference that the defendant is liable for the misconduct alleged." Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678 (2009) (internal citations omitted). To state a plausible claim for relief, a complaint must satisfy two working principles:

First, the tenet that a court must accept as true all of the allegations contained in a complaint is inapplicable to legal conclusions. Threadbare recitations of the elements of a cause of action, supported by mere conclusory statements, do not suffice.... Second, only a complaint that states a plausible claim for relief survives a motion to dismiss. Determining whether a complaint states a plausible claim for relief will ... be a context-specific task that requires the reviewing court to draw on its judicial experience and common sense. But where the well-pleaded facts do not permit the court to infer more than the mere possibility of misconduct, the complaint has alleged—but it has not "show[n]"—"that the pleader is entitled to relief."

Id. (citing Civil Rule 8(a)(2)).

Although the pleading standard Civil Rule 8 announces "does not require 'detailed factual allegations,' ... it demands more than an unadorned, the-defendant-unlawfully-harmed-me accusation.... A pleading that offers 'labels and conclusions' or a 'formulaic recitation of the elements of a cause of action will not do.' Nor does a complaint suffice if it tenders 'naked assertion[s]' devoid of 'further factual enhancement.'" Id. (citing Bell Atlantic Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 555 (2007)).

The Complaint's caption is misleading, suggesting that the Complaint is for dischargeability, when in fact none of the claims for relief asserted in the Complaint are brought under § 523. Parkridge is correct that a dischargeability claim would fail to state a claim for relief, since Parkridge is a business entity that is not eligible to receive a discharge. However, Parkridge's contention that the Complaint is brought under § 523 mischaracterizes the Complaint. The Complaint contains 164 paragraphs of allegations; only one paragraph refers to § 523. None of the six claims for relief pleaded in the Complaint pertain to dischargeability. As to these six claims, the Complaint seeks money damages.

Because Parkridge's Motion is predicated upon a mischaracterization of the Complaint, the Motion is DENIED. Parkridge has failed to demonstrate that the Complaint's claims for fraud and deceit, conspiracy to commit common law fraud, negligent misrepresentation, violations of the Business and Professions Code, and violation of the Consumer Legal Remedies Act fail to state claims upon which relief can be granted.

B. The Court Will Require Plaintiffs to Show Cause Why the Court Should Not Lift the Automatic Stay, Allow the State Court Action to Proceed, and Abstain from Hearing the Complaint

The Complaint is substantially identical to a class action complaint that the Plaintiffs filed in the State Court prior to the filing of the petition (the "State Court Action"). Plaintiffs have filed a class proof of claim based upon the State Court Action. The Complaint appears to be Plaintiffs' attempt to liquidate their class proof of claim.

Title 28 U.S.C. § 1334(c)(1) provides in relevant part: "[N]othing in this section prevents a district court in the interest of justice, or in the interest of comity with State courts or respect for State law, from abstaining from hearing a particular proceeding arising under title 11 or arising in or related to a case under title 11." In Christensen v. Tucson Estates, Inc. (In re Tucson Estates), the Ninth Circuit set forth the factors the Court should consider in determining whether to permissively abstain:

- (1) the effect or lack thereof on the efficient administration of the estate if a Court recommends abstention,
- (2) the extent to which state law issues predominate over bankruptcy issues,
- (3) the difficulty or unsettled nature of the applicable law,
- (4) the presence of a related proceeding commenced in state court or other nonbankruptcy court,
- (5) the jurisdictional basis, if any, other than 28 U.S.C. § 1334,
- (6) the degree of relatedness or remoteness of the proceeding to the main bankruptcy case,
- (7) the substance rather than form of an asserted "core" proceeding,
- (8) the feasibility of severing state law claims from core bankruptcy matters to allow judgments to be entered in state court with enforcement left to the bankruptcy court,

- (9) the burden on [the bankruptcy court's] docket,
- (10) the likelihood that the commencement of the proceeding in bankruptcy court involves forum shopping by one of the parties,
- (11) the existence of a right to a jury trial, and
- (12) the presence in the proceeding of nondebtor parties.

912 F.2d 1162, 1167 (9th Cir. 1990).

Not all the factors are relevant in every case, and the Court is not required to give equal weight to each factor. Truebro, Inc. v. Plumberex Specialty Products, Inc. (In re Plumberex Specialty Products, Inc.), 311 B.R. 551, 560 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2004).

In the Court's view, the most efficient way to resolve the Complaint is for the Court to lift the automatic stay to permit the State Court Action to proceed and to abstain from hearing the Complaint. The State Court Action is substantially identical to the Complaint. Abstention is appropriate because: (1) the Complaint asserts claims arising solely under nonbankruptcy law (factor two), (2) there is a related proceeding already commenced in state court (factor four), (3) the Plaintiffs have demanded a jury trial (factor eleven), and (4) abstention will not interfere with administration of the estate because Plaintiffs can prosecute the State Court Action to final judgment and then proceed with their class proof of claim (factor one).

By separate order, the Court will require Plaintiffs to show cause why the Court should not lift the automatic stay to permit the State Court Action to proceed and abstain from adjudicating the Complaint.

III. Conclusion

Based upon the foregoing, the Motion is DENIED. Within seven days of the hearing, Parkridge shall submit an order denying the Motion that incorporates this tentative ruling by reference. The Court will prepare and enter the Order to Show Cause.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Fatemeh Mahdavi (the "Debtor") filed a voluntary Chapter 7 petition on May 22, 2018. The Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee") moves to sell real property located at 1398 Davies Drive, Beverly Hills, CA 90210 (the "Property"). The Trustee also seeks approval of a settlement agreement (attached to the Motion as Exhibit A) with the Debtor resolving treatment of her homestead exemption following the proposed sale.

The Proposed Agreement on the Homestead Exemption

The Debtor claimed a homestead exemption in the amount of $175,000 in the Property, which is the community property of the Debtor and her non-filing spouse. Reference is made to the judgment lien (the "Judgment Lien") of Davoud and Illiad Ashraf Por (collectively, "Gharenbaghi"), which currently impairs the Property's title. Pursuant to a prior court-approved agreement between the Trustee and Gharenbaghi, it was stipulated that the Judgment Lien would be subordinated to the payout of 1) all administrative expenses and 2) the costs of the sale. See Motion, Ex. 6. Further, the Trustee represents that at the current purchase price of $2,700,000, there is an insufficient amount of equity from the Property's sale to pay out Debtor's homestead exemption and the Judgment Lien. To that effect, the Debtor and the Trustee entered into an agreement (the "Homestead Agreement") providing in relevant part as follows:

1. The Debtor accepts the sale of the Property for the amount of $2,700,000, subject to overbids, which the Trustee requests herein;

2. The Debtor will immediately seek to avoid the Judgement Lien to the extent it impairs her homestead exemption;
3. Following the sale of the Property, the Debtor shall accept $95,000 in full satisfaction of her claimed homestead exemption;
4. The Trustee shall waive application of reinvestment procedures with respect to Debtor's homestead exemption.

See Motion, Ex. 1.

The Proposed Sale

The Trustee seeks authorization to sell the Property free and clear of liens, claims, and encumbrances, pursuant to §§ 363(b) and (f). The Trustee proposes the following treatment of the liens and encumbrances against the Property:

- 1) Lien for real property taxes for fiscal year 2018–2019 (the "Property Tax Lien"). The Trustee has paid all real property taxes accrued prior to the date of closing. The sale will be free and clear of this lien. In addition, the Trustee proposes to pay any undisputed real property taxes that become due for the fiscal year 2019-2020, currently estimated to be $8,000, assuming that the Property is sold on or about early October. Disputed amounts, if any, will attach to the net sale proceeds.
- 2) Deed of Trust in favor of ZB, N.A. dba California Bank & Trust, securing original indebtedness of $367,500 (the "ZB DOT"). The Trustee will pay through escrow all undisputed amounts owed on the ZB DOT, and any disputed amounts will attach to the net proceeds of the sale. The sale will be free and clear of the ZB DOT.
- 3) Debtor's Homestead Exemption in the amount of $175,000. Provided the Homestead Agreement is approved by the Court, the Debtor will be paid pursuant to the terms therein.
- 4) Judgment lien in the amount of $1,289,722.22 in favor of Davoud Gharehbaghi and Iliad Ashraf Por. The Judgment Lien is subject to the court-approved carve-out agreement (the "Carve-Out Agreement") [Doc. No. 50], which determines distribution of net sale proceeds to Gharehbaghi. Notwithstanding the terms of the Carve-Out Agreement, under the Homestead Agreement, Debtor will seek to avoid the Judgment Lien as it impairs her homestead exemption claim. If Debtor prevails on the avoidance motion, Trustee provides that the sale will be free and clear of the Judgment Lien as it will have been avoided. If Debtor does not prevail, Gharenbaghi will instead be paid according to the Carve-Out Agreement. Pursuant to the Carve-Out Agreement, Gharenbaghi may file a general, unsecured claim against the Debtor's estate to the extent net sale proceeds are insufficient to pay the Judgment Lien. The sale will either be free and clear of the Judgment Lien, or Gharenbaghi will be paid from the net sale proceeds.

- 5) Judgment lien in the amount of $754,265.74 in favor of Melissa Nourai and Parissa Nourai (the "Nourai Judgment"). The sale will be free and clear of the Nourai Judgment. On June 14, 2019, the Trustee and the holders of the Nourai Judgment filed a stipulation (the "Nourai Stipulation"), which provides that the Nourai Judgment is deemed avoided pursuant to § 547 and preserved for the benefit of the bankruptcy estate pursuant to § 551.
- 6) Lien for unsecured property taxes recorded by the Los Angeles County Tax Collector in the amount of $127.73 (the "LA Tax Lien"). The sale will be free and clear of this lien, because it was recorded subsequent to the filing of the petition in violation of the automatic stay and is therefore void ab initio.

The Trustee projects that after the above-liens are resolved, and the costs of sale are fully paid, the net proceeds totaling approximately $176,514 will be largely consumed by Trustee's fees and the fees of professionals.

Opposition by the IRS

The Internal Revenue Service (the "IRS") filed an opposition on September 11, 2019, partially objecting to the Motion insofar as Trustee therein proposed to pay Debtor her homestead exemption ahead of an unsecured priority claim held by the IRS in the amount of $389,874.89. The gravamen of the grounds asserted is that the Debtor's homestead exemption remains liable for accrued tax penalties under §§ 522(c) and 523(a) inter alia. The IRS further argues that the Motion was not properly served because the Trustee did not serve the U.S. Attorney's Office or the Attorney General pursuant to Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure 9014(b) and 7004(b)(5). The IRS does not oppose the actual sale of the Property but instead requests the following: 1) payment of net sale funds on account of its priority claim, and 2) denial of the Trustee's proposal to pay Debtor her homestead exemption.

Chapter 7

Trustee's Reply

On September 18, 2019, the Trustee filed a Reply to the Opposition, contending that the preliminary title report of the Property (Motion, Ex. 2) does not indicate that the IRS in fact possesses any recorded lien or claim as to the Property. Moreover, the Trustee represents that following discussions with the United States Attorney, she understands that the IRS neither opposes the sale of the Property nor seeks to continue the Motion to a later date. To the extent that the Opposition concerns a dispute between Debtor and the IRS, the Trustee takes no position on the issue. However, the Trustee proposes that any order should include language instructing the Trustee to hold funds available for the Debtor's homestead exemption in a segregated account pending future resolution of such dispute.

The Debtor's Reply

The Debtor filed her own reply on September 18, 2019, agreeing with the Trustee's request to hold potential homestead exemption funds in a segregated account until future notice. The Debtor further justifies continuance of this hearing to have more time to mount an adequate defense of her rights to the homestead exemption. As to this argument, she provides a terse list of options she could potentially exercise in the future. Moreover, Debtor contends that it would be premature to determine the IRS's rights to the funds in question as her lien avoidance motion remains outstanding and may be opposed by Gharenbaghi [Note 1].

II. Findings and Conclusions

On a preliminary note, the Motion was not in compliance with Rules 9014(b) and 7004(b)(5) of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure. Notwithstanding deficient, the IRS replied and did not address the notice issue.

Chapter 7

With the exception of the provisions identified below, the Court determines that the Homestead Agreement is approved because it facilitates the sale of the Property, which is in the best interest of the creditors and consistent with the Trustee's statutory obligation to liquidate estate assets. The Court reserves approval of Provisions D and F of the Homestead Agreement, which relate to the $95,000 payment to the Debtor on account of her homestead exemption. As discussed below, this issue will be determined on a later date, once the Debtor and the IRS have had an opportunity to submit supplemental briefing. Until such later date, the Homestead Agreement is partially approved.

B. The Proposed Sale is Approved

Section 363(b) permits the Trustee to sell estate property out of the ordinary course of business, subject to court approval. The Trustee must articulate a business justification for the sale. In re Walter, 83 B.R. 14, 19–20 (9th Cir. BAP 1988). Whether the articulated business justification is sufficient "depends on the case," in view of "all salient factors pertaining to the proceeding." Id. at 19–20.

The Trustee has demonstrated sufficient business justification for the sale. The sale is consistent with the Trustee's statutory obligation to liquidate the estate's assets.

Section 363(f) provides that estate property may be sold free and clear of liens, claims, and interests, providing one of the following conditions is satisfied:

- 1) Applicable nonbankruptcy law permits sale of such property free and clear of such interest;
- 2) Such entity consents;
- 3) Such interest is a lien and the price at which such property is sold is greater than the aggregate value of all liens on such property;
- 4) Such interest is in bona fide dispute; or
- 5) Such entity could be compelled, in a legal or equitable proceeding, to accept a money satisfaction of such interest.

The Court approves the Trustee's proposed treatment of the liens and encumbrances against the Property, and finds that the Property may be sold free and clear of such liens and encumbrances as requested by the Trustee. Pursuant to § 363(f) (3), the sale is free and clear of the Property Tax Liens and the ZB DOT because the purchase price of the Property exceeds the aggregate value of such liens. The sale is free and clear of the LA Tax Lien because such lien is void ab initio, having been recorded in violation of the automatic stay. See Schwartz v. United States (In re Schwartz), 954 F.2d 569 (9th Cir. 1992). To the extent that any funds are available to the Debtor for her homestead exemption, such funds are to be placed on a segregated account until final resolution of the IRS's claim to such funds. As a result, the sale is free and clear of the homestead exemption declaration. The sale is free and clear of the Judgment Lien because Gharenbaghi will only be entitled to recover net sale proceeds, if any, pursuant to the Carve-Out Agreement, and otherwise may file a claim for any unsecured portion thereof. See Motion, Ex. 6. In any case, Gharenbaghi has not filed any opposition to the Sale Motion. The sale is free and clear of the Nouraié Judgment, which has been deemed avoided pursuant to § 547 and has been preserved for the benefit of the bankruptcy estate pursuant to § 551, in accordance with the terms of the Nouraié Stipulation.

The Trustee is authorized to pay real estate brokers' commissions directly from escrow. Having reviewed the Declaration of Zizi Pak, the real estate broker who marketed the Property, the Court finds that proposed buyer Abdulaziz M. Alathel is a good faith purchaser entitled to the protections of § 363(m). In the event that an overbidder prevails at the auction, the Court will take testimony from such overbidder to determine whether §363(m) protections are warranted.

Auction Procedures

In the event that any qualified overbidders are present, the Court will distribute numbered auction paddles to the proposed purchaser and all qualified overbidders. The initial overbid will be at $2,710,000, with subsequent overbids to be increments of $10,000. The overbid increment is subject to adjustment by the Court to facilitate bidding. The Court will announce each bid level. To remain in the auction, bidders must participate at all bid levels. That is, parties who do not bid in a round cannot later change their minds and re-enter the auction. Parties may make a bid higher than that announced by the Court by approaching the podium and stating their bid.

C. Further Briefing is Required to Resolve the IRS's Entitlement to the Disputed Sale Proceeds

The IRS argues that the Debtor's 2016 tax debts are not dischargeable under § 523(a)(1) and entitled to priority under §507(a)(8). On reply, the Debtor asks to postpone determination of this issue to a later date, once she has had the opportunity to review her options and properly contest the IRS's claim. The Court is amenable to the Debtor's request and agrees that adequate consideration of this issue requires supplemental briefing by Debtor and the IRS. The continuance of this issue to a later date is also appropriate in light of the Debtor's pending lien avoidance motion, which concerns the same funds and the homestead exemption at issue here. For the reasons set forth above, the Court instructs the Trustee to hold funds available for the Debtor's homestead exemption in a separate account pending an order from the Court resolving the dispute between the Debtor and the IRS.

III. Conclusion

Based upon the foregoing, the Homestead Agreement is PARTIALLY APPROVED, as set forth above, and the Sale Motion is GRANTED. The Trustee shall submit a conforming order, incorporating this tentative ruling by reference, within seven days of the hearing. Notwithstanding Bankruptcy Rule 6004(h), the order approving the sale shall take effect immediately upon entry.

The dispute regarding the IRS's entitlement to funds originally earmarked for the Debtor's homestead exemption is CONTINUED to January 8, 2020, with the following briefing schedule: the IRS's Supplemental Opposition, if any, shall be filed on or before December 25, 2019; and the Debtor's Supplemental Reply, if any, shall be filed on or before January 1, 2020.

Note 1: As of September 23, 2019, Gharenbaghi has not filed any opposing papers to Debtor's lien avoidance motion.

#116.00 HearingRE: [24] Notice of motion and motion for relief from the automatic stay with supporting declarations PERSONAL PROPERTY RE: 2015 Toyota Sienna .

Docket 24

Tentative Ruling:

9/26/2019:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2) to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to repossess or otherwise obtain possession and dispose of its collateral pursuant to applicable law, and to use the proceeds from its disposition to satisfy its claim. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. The Court finds that there is no equity in the subject vehicle and that the vehicle is not necessary for an effective reorganization since this is a chapter 7 case.

This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. The 14-day stay prescribed by FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived. All other relief is denied.

Movant shall upload an appropriate order via the Court's Lodged Order Upload system within 7 days of the hearing.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Daniel Koontz or Carlos Nevarez, the Judge's law clerks at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling

Tentative Ruling:

3/27/2019

No appearances required. The tentative ruling is to take this matter off calendar. This is a continued hearing on Wells Fargo Bank, N.A.'s ("Movant") Motion for Relief from the Automatic Stay Under 11 U.S.C. § 362 (Real Property) [Doc. No. 10] (the "R/S Motion"). The chapter 7 Trustee, Jason M. Rund (the "Trustee") filed a timely opposition [Doc. No. 15]. This matter has been continued a number of times to afford the Trustee an opportunity to sell the real property that is the subject of the R/S Motion. To avoid unnecessary administrative costs of keeping this motion on calendar, the matter shall be taken off calendar. If the Trustee has not obtained approval of a sale of the subject property by August 31, 2019, Movant may re-notice a hearing on the R/S Motion.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Daniel Koontz or Jessica Vogel at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. Chapter 7

9/20/2018

For the reasons stated below, the tentative ruling is to DENY the R/S Motion without prejudice.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed

1. Notice of Motion and Motion for Relief from the Automatic Stay Under 11 U.S.C. § 362 (Real Property) (the "R/S Motion") [Doc. No. 10]
2. Trustee's Opposition to R/S Motion ("Trustee's Opposition") [Doc. No. 15]
3. As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, Movant has not filed a reply.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Motion

Rogelio and Carol Gonzalez (together, the "Debtors") filed this voluntary joint chapter 7 case on July 16, 2018. On August 30, 2018, creditor Wells Fargo Bank, N.A. ("Movant") filed a "Motion for Relief From the Automatic Stay Under 11 U.S.C. § 362 (Real Property)" (the "R/S Motion") [Doc. No. 10] seeking relief from the automatic stay pursuant to §§ 362(d)(1) and (d)(2) with respect to real property located at 47 Oak Cliff Drive, Pomona, CA 91766 (the "Property"). Movant asserts that cause exists to grant it relief from stay under § 362(d)(1) because the Debtors filed a Statement of Intention that indicates the Debtors' intent to surrender the Property ("Statement of Intention"). See Motion, Exhibit 8.

Movant also asserts that cause exists to grant it relief from stay under § 362(d)(2) because the Debtors have no equity in the Property and the Property is not necessary for an effective reorganization because this is a chapter 7 case. In support, Movant states that the total debt on the Property is $591,518.92 which is comprised of Movant's first priority deed of trust secured by a lien in the amount of $248,386.30 and approximately fifteen other liens securing an approximate indebtedness of $351,518.92. See Request for Judicial Notice, Doc No. 10, PDF p. 15. After factoring in 8% costs of sale ($49,384.64), Movant contends that the total debt exceeds the Property's $617,308 fair market value.

On September 10, 2018, the chapter 7 trustee filed an Opposition to the R/S Motion [Doc. No. 15] ("Trustee's Opposition"). The Trustee requests that the Court deny the R/S Motion as follows. First, the Trustee contends that Movant has not established sufficient cause for relief from stay under § 362(d)(1) because (i) Movant is adequately protected by an equity cushion of $368,921.71 or 149%; and (ii) Debtors' Statement of Intention has no bearing on whether to grant Movant relief from stay because the Property is subject to administration by the Trustee pursuant to § 541.

Second, the Trustee contends that the Court should not grant Movant relief from stay pursuant to § 362(d)(2) because, using Movant's figures and assuming all the alleged liens are legitimate, the Debtors have approximately $17,402.78 in equity in the Property. [NOTE 1] Additionally, the Trustee states that he is currently evaluating the validity of the other asserted liens on the Property and requests an opportunity to try to negotiate with those creditors for a consensual sale that might provide some benefit to the estate or pursue a sale free and clear of some or all those interests.

Reply

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, Movant has not filed a reply.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1)

Under 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1), the Court shall grant relief if the movant's interest in the property is not protected by an adequate equity cushion. In the Ninth Circuit, "[a] 20% [equity] cushion has been held to be an adequate protection for a secured creditor." In re Mellor, 734 F.2d 1396, 1401 (9th Cir. 1984). Based on Movant's figures, the Court finds that Movant is adequately protected by a 149% equity cushion.

The Court also finds that the Trustee has the better argument with respect to Debtors' Statement of Intention.

Based on the foregoing, the Court finds that Movant is not entitled to relief from stay under § 362(d)(1).

Chapter 7

11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2)

Under 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2), the court shall grant relief from the stay if "(A) the debtor does not have any equity in such property; and (B) such property is not necessary for an effective reorganization."

Since this is a chapter 7 case, it is undisputed that the Property is not necessary for an effective reorganization. Therefore, the Court must only determine whether the Debtors enjoy any equity in the Property. Using Movant's figures and deducting costs of sale, Debtors' $100,000 homestead exemption, the Trustee's fees, and administrative claims, it appears unlikely that the Trustee will be able to administer the Property for the benefit of general unsecured creditors.

However, none of the purported junior lienholder filed a response to this R/S Motion. On balance, the Court is persuaded that it is premature to find that there is no equity in the Property given the relatively newness of this case and the lack of meaningful investigation by the Trustee into the validity of the junior liens.

III. Conclusion

The tentative ruling is to DENY the R/S Motion without prejudice.

The Trustee shall upload an appropriate order via the Court's Lodged Order Upload system within 7 days of the hearing.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Daniel Koontz or Jessica Vogel at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. If you wish to make a telephonic appearance, contact Court Call at 888-882-6878, no later than one hour before the hearing.

NOTE 1: This figure represents the total equity in the Property prior to deducting any costs of sale or taking into consideration Debtors' $100,000 homestead exemption.

#2.00 HearingRE: [12] Notice of motion and motion for relief from the automatic stay with supporting declarations PERSONAL PROPERTY RE: 2016 Jeep Cherokee, VIN No. 1C4PJLCB2GW128306 with Proof of Service.

Docket 12

Tentative Ruling:

10/3/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2) to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to repossess or otherwise obtain possession and dispose of its collateral pursuant to applicable law, and to use the proceeds from its disposition to satisfy its claim. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. The Court finds that there is no equity in the subject vehicle and that the vehicle is not necessary for an effective reorganization since this is a chapter 7 case.

This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. The 14-day stay prescribed by FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived. All other relief is denied.

Movant shall upload an appropriate order via the Court's Lodged Order Upload system within 7 days of the hearing.

Docket 7

Tentative Ruling:

10/3/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1). The stay is terminated as to the Debtor and the Debtor's bankruptcy estate with respect to the Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns. Movant may enforce its remedies to obtain possession of the property in accordance with applicable law, but may not pursue a deficiency claim against the debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501.

The Debtor allegedly continues to occupy the property after her residential lease went into default. The Movant filed an unlawful detainer action on June 24, 2019.

This Motion has been filed to allow the Movant to proceed with the unlawful detainer proceeding in state court. The unlawful detainer proceeding may go forward because the Debtor's right to possess the premises must be determined. This does not change simply because a bankruptcy petition was filed. See In re Butler, 271 B.R. 867, 876 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2002).

Docket 16

Tentative Ruling:

10/7/2019

For the reasons set forth below, this action is dismissed, with prejudice, for failure to prosecute.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Order Requiring Plaintiff to Appear and Show Cause Why this Action Should Not be Dismissed for Failure to Prosecute, Pursuant to Civil Rule 41(b) [Doc. No. 34] (the "Order to Show Cause")
 - a) Bankruptcy Noticing Center Certificate of Notice [Doc. No. 38]
- 2) Defendant's Response to Order to Show Cause Why this Action Should Not be Dismissed [Doc. No. 39]

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On May 14, 2018, Manuel Ramirez (the "Plaintiff") filed this dischargeability complaint (the "Complaint") against Gabriel Axel Gutierrez Contreras (the "Defendant").

On February 21, 2019, the Court issued a Scheduling Order [Doc. No. 26] (the "Scheduling Order") which, among other things, set a Pretrial Conference for September 10, 2019, and required the parties to submit a Joint Pretrial Stipulation by no later than fourteen days prior to the Pretrial Conference. After the parties failed to timely submit the Joint Pretrial Stipulation, the Court issued an Order to Comply with

CONT... GABRIEL AXEL GUTIRREZ CONTRERAS Chapter 7

Local Bankruptcy Rule 7016-1 Re: Pretrial and Trial Procedures [Doc. No. 31] (the "Order to Comply"). The Order to Comply directed the parties to submit the Joint Pretrial Stipulation, and warned them of the consequences of failing to do so:

The parties are further advised that that the Court views the Pretrial Conference as an indispensable component of the resolution of this litigation and strictly enforces compliance with the Local Bankruptcy Rules. A material default by the Plaintiff in complying with obligations regarding the preparation of the Joint Pretrial Stipulation will most likely result in dismissal of the action for failure to prosecute. See Moneymaker v. CoBEN (In re Eisen), 31 F.3d 1447, 1451 (9th Cir. 1994) (dismissing action for failure to prosecute). A material default by the Defendant in fulfilling Defendant's corresponding obligations will most likely result in striking of the answer, entry of a default, and entry of judgment in favor of the Plaintiff. See Hester v. Vision Airlines, Inc., 687 F.3d 1162, 1169 (9th Cir. 2012) (setting forth the factors the Court must consider before striking a pleading and declaring default).

Order to Comply at 2.

The Order to Comply specified the parties' obligations in the event that the parties could not agree upon the form of the Joint Pretrial Stipulation:

- 1) In the event that the parties cannot agree upon the form of the Joint Pretrial Stipulation, both parties must lodge separate proposed Pretrial Stipulations by no later than seven days prior to the Pretrial Conference. See LBR 7016-1(d) (2).
- 2) In the event the Defendant fails to cooperate with the Plaintiff in the preparation of the Joint Pretrial Stipulation per the requirements of LBR 7016-1(d), the Plaintiff must lodge a proposed Pretrial Stipulation, accompanied by a declaration asserting Defendant's failure to cooperate, by no later than seven days prior to the Pretrial Conference. See LBR 7016-1(e)(1).

Order to Comply at 1–2.

Notwithstanding the issuance of the Order to Comply, the parties failed to submit either a Joint Pretrial Stipulation or separate proposed Pretrial Stipulations.

On September 10, 2019, the Court issued an Order Requiring Plaintiff to Appear and Show Cause Why this Action Should Not be Dismissed for Failure to Prosecute, Pursuant to Civil Rule 41(b) [Doc. No. 34] (the "Order to Show Cause"). Plaintiff has not responded to the Order to Show Cause. Defendant filed a response requesting that the Complaint be dismissed.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Civil Rule 41(b), made applicable to these proceedings by Bankruptcy Rule 7041, provides in relevant part: "If the plaintiff fails to prosecute or to comply with these rules or a court order, a defendant may move to dismiss the action or any claim against it. Unless the dismissal order states otherwise, a dismissal under this subdivision (b) ... operates as an adjudication on the merits."

The Court weighs five factors in determining whether to dismiss a case for lack of prosecution:

- 1) the public's interest in expeditious resolution of litigation;
- 2) the court's need to manage its docket;
- 3) the risk of prejudice to the defendants;
- 4) the public policy favoring the disposition of cases on their merits; and
- 5) the availability of less drastic sanctions.

Moneymaker v. CoBEN (In re Eisen), 31 F.3d 1447, 1451 (9th Cir. 1994).

As set forth below, application of the Eisen factors supports dismissal of the action for failure to prosecute.

1. Public's Interest in Expeditious Resolution of Litigation

As the Ninth Circuit has explained, "[t]he public's interest in expeditious resolution of litigation always favors dismissal." Pagtalunan v. Galaza, 291 F.3d 639, 642 (9th Cir. 2002). By failing to comply with his obligations regarding the submission of the Pretrial Stipulation, Plaintiff has impeded the expeditious resolution of this action. This factor favors dismissal.

2. The Court's Need to Manage its Docket

Courts have the "power to manage their dockets without being subject to the endless vexatious noncompliance of litigants" Ferdik v. Bonzelet, 963 F.2d 1258, 1261 (9th Cir. 1992), as amended (May 22, 1992). As discussed above, Plaintiff's failure to fulfill his responsibilities regarding the Pretrial Stipulation has delayed resolution of this action, and has consequently placed an additional burden upon the Court's docket. This factor favors dismissal.

Chapter 7

3. The Risk of Prejudice to the Diligent Party

A diligent party suffers prejudice if the noncompliant party's actions impair the diligent party's "ability to go to trial or threaten to interfere with the rightful decision of the case." In re Phenylpropanolamine (PPA) Prod. Liab. Litig., 460 F.3d 1217, 1227 (9th Cir. 2006).

As the Court advised both parties in the Scheduling Order, the Pretrial Conference is an indispensable component of the resolution of the litigation. Plaintiff's failure to participate in the Pretrial Conference has impaired Defendant's ability to go to trial and has interfered with the Court's ability to adjudicate this matter. This factor weighs in favor of dismissal.

4. The Public Policy Favoring the Disposition of Cases on Their Merits

Normally, "the public policy favoring disposition of cases on their merits strongly counsels against dismissal." In re PPA Prods., 460 F.3d at 1228. However, "a case that is stalled or unreasonably delayed by a party's failure to comply with deadlines and discovery obligations cannot move forward toward resolution on the merits." Id. This factor therefore "lends little support" to a party "whose conduct impedes progress in that direction." Id. (citations and quotations omitted). In other words, parties have a responsibility "to refrain from dilatory and evasive tactics." Morris v. Morgan Stanley & Co., 942 F.2d 648, 652 (9th Cir. 1991).

Plaintiff failed to participate in the Pretrial Conference. Plaintiff has failed to respond to the Order to Show Cause. Plaintiff's conduct has prevented this case from moving forward. This factor favors dismissal.

5. The Availability of Less Drastic Sanctions

The Court finds that less drastic sanctions would not adequately remediate Plaintiff's non-compliance. Prior to the Pretrial Conference, the Court warned Plaintiff that failure to fulfill his obligations regarding the Pretrial Stipulation could result in dismissal. Notwithstanding this warning, Plaintiff failed to participate in the Pretrial Conference. Plaintiff has failed to submit any response to the Order to Show Cause. This factor weighs in favor of dismissal.

III. Conclusion

Based upon the foregoing, this action is dismissed, with prejudice, for failure to prosecute, pursuant to Civil Rule 41(b). The Court will prepare and enter an appropriate order.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Rogelio and Carol Gonzalez (the "Debtors") filed a joint voluntary Chapter 7 petition on July 16, 2018. The Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee") moves to sell real property located at 47 Oak Cliff Drive, Pomona, CA 91766 (the "Property") to Elysa and Kevin Thangchaipinyokul (the "Buyers"). The purchase price is $540,000, and the sale is subject to overbids.

On August 30, 2018, Wells Fargo Bank, N.A. ("Wells Fargo") moved for relief from stay with respect to the Property. Wells Fargo subsequently assigned its loan against the Property to Specialized Loan Servicing, LLC ("Specialized Loan"). To enable the Trustee to complete the sale of the Property, the stay relief motion has been continued four times pursuant to stipulation.

The Trustee seeks authorization to sell the Property free and clear of liens, claims, and encumbrances, pursuant to §§ 363(b) and (f) and 724(a) and (b). The Trustee proposes the following treatment of the liens and encumbrances against the Property:

- 1) Deed of trust recorded on March 19, 2004, securing an original obligation of $240,000, in favor of Mortgage Electronic Registration Systems, and subsequently assigned to Specialized Loan. Undisputed sums owed to Specialized Loan will be paid in full through escrow.
- 2) Deed of trust recorded on November 27, 2006, securing an original obligation of $24,392.86, in favor of Walters Wholesale Electric Co. ("Walters"). Undisputed sums owed to Walters will be paid in full through escrow.
- 3) State tax lien recorded on March 18, 2010, securing an original obligation of $12,249.22 in favor of the Franchise Tax Board (the "FTB"). The lien will attach to a like amount of the net sale proceeds, and will be treated pursuant to § 724(b), with the exception of penalties, which shall be avoided and preserved for the estate pursuant to § 724(a).

The Trustee estimates that sales proceeds in the estimated amount of $139,310.03 will be distributed in accordance with § 724(b). The Trustee estimates that tax penalties in the estimated amount of $34,401.97 will be avoided pursuant to § 724(a); these funds will be used to pay the claims of creditors and the expenses of administration. The Trustee notes that there is insufficient equity in the Property for the Debtors to receive the homestead exemption they claimed in the amount of $100,000. The Trustee requests that payment of the Debtors' homestead exemption be limited to whatever judgment liens the Debtors can avoid under § 522(f). The Trustee requests that the Court set a deadline of November 1, 2019 for the Debtors to file a § 522(f) motion.

The IRS' Opposition to the Sale Motion

The IRS opposes the Sale Motion, and makes the following arguments in support of its Opposition:

The Property cannot be sold free and clear of the IRS' tax lien under § 363(f). Section 363(f) does not apply because California law does not allow the sale free and clear of the IRS' liens. See Clear Channel Outdoor, Inc. v. Knupfer (In re PW, LLC), 391 B.R. 25, 37 (9th B.A.P. Cir. 2008) (citing from Nguyen v. Calhoun, 105 Cal. App. 4th 428, 438, 129 Cal. Rptr. 436 (2003)).

Section 363(f)(3) is not applicable. Under § 363(f)(3), the sales price must exceed the aggregate value of all liens against the Property. Clear Channel, 391 B.R. at 39–41. The aggregate value of all liens—$768,621.73—exceeds the sales price of $540,000.

Section 363(f)(4) is not applicable. Under § 363(f)(4), the Property can be sold free and clear of a lien if there is a bona fide dispute as to the validity of the lien. The IRS agrees that pursuant to § 724(a) and § 726(a)(4), the Trustee may avoid the IRS' lien to the extent that it pertains to tax penalties. Consequently, there is no bona fide dispute pursuant to § 363(f)(4).

Section 363(f)(5) is not applicable. Under § 363(f)(5), the Property may be sold free and clear of a lien if the lienholder “could be compelled in a legal or equitable proceeding to accept a money satisfaction” of its lien. The Trustee has not identified a legal or equitable proceeding in which the IRS could be compelled to release its lien for less than payment in full.

In the event the Court approves the sale, the Court must provide adequate protection of the IRS' liens by ordering that the liens attach to the proceeds of the sale.

The Trustee's reliance on § 724(b) as authority for the sale is misplaced. Section 724(b) permits the subordination of tax liens to certain administrative expenses. “As is patently obvious, however, the plain language of § 724 does not separately authorize sale of estate property. Instead, it sets forth a mandatory distribution scheme after an otherwise already authorized sale has been conducted. Section 363 is the only basis for authorizing Trustee to sell estate property.”

Jubber v. Bird (In re Bird), 577 B.R. 365, 385 (B.A.P. 10th Cir. 2017). As discussed above, the Trustee has failed to establish that the sale may be free and clear of the IRS' lien under § 363.

In addition, pursuant to § 724(e), the Trustee must exhaust unencumbered assets of the estate before subordinating the IRS' federal tax lien. The Trustee has not shown that he has administered the estate's other unencumbered assets. Further, any motion to subordinate the IRS' tax lien is premature. Unless the administrative expenses and priority claims are less than the IRS' tax lien, the estate is being administered primarily for the benefit of the Trustee, his professionals, and the IRS as a secured creditor. Because the amounts of administrative and priority claims are not yet known, it is not clear whether subordination is necessary.

Finally, pursuant to § 522(c)(2)(B), the Debtors' homestead exemption is liable for payment of the IRS' tax lien. Therefore, the IRS must receive the funds that would otherwise be paid to the Debtors on account of their homestead exemption.

The Trustee's Reply to the IRS' Opposition

The Trustee makes the following arguments in Reply to the IRS' Opposition:

Contrary to the IRS' argument, the sale is authorized under § 363(f)(5). As explained by the court in In re Healthco Int'l, Inc.:

There is another reason why subparagraph (f)(5) is satisfied here. The interest in question is a tax lien. Section 724(b), discussed in full below, subordinates tax liens to administrative expense priority debt and liens which are otherwise junior to the tax lien. As shall be seen, the subordination can be a full or partial subordination. That means the County could be compelled to accept a money satisfaction of its interest by payment of less than the full amount of the debt.

Healthco, 174 B.R. 174, 177 (Bankr. D. Mass. 1994).

The IRS is not entitled to have the full amount of its tax lien attach to the sales proceeds as a form of adequate protection. If the IRS were given adequate protection for the full amount of its liens, this would effectively negate § 724(b). Section 724(b) is an exception to the general requirement that lienholders be provided adequate protection. See In re A.G. Van Metre, Jr., Inc., 155 B.R. 118, 121 (Bankr. E.D. Va. 1993), subsequently aff'd, 16 F.3d 414 (4th Cir. 1994) (holding that although § 363(e) generally requires that lienholders be provided adequate protection, "§ 724(b) sets forth a definite exception to this general rule in cases involving statutory tax liens").

Chapter 7

The IRS contends that the Trustee must exhaust unencumbered estate assets before subordinating the IRS' tax liens. The Trustee is not aware of any other unencumbered assets and/or any other secured creditors to surcharge.

The IRS states that any motion to subordinate its tax liens is premature. The Sale Motion does not seek subordination of the IRS' tax liens. The Sale Motion requests that the IRS' liens attach to the net sales proceeds. It does not seek authorization to distribute any proceeds, allow fees, or determine priority regarding the sales proceeds subject to the IRS' liens.

At the outset of the case, an IRS Revenue Officer sent a letter to the Trustee, advising that the IRS would support a sale of the Property. In a telephone conversation conducted on March 29, 2019, counsel for the IRS advised the Trustee's counsel that the Trustee's proposed carve-out stipulation regarding the sale was unnecessary, because the Trustee could avoid the penalty portions of the IRS' tax liens. The Trustee relied upon the IRS' consent to the sale in employing a real estate broker who marketed the Property. The IRS should be estopped from changing its position and opposing the Sale Motion.

The IRS' Sur-Reply to the Trustee's Reply

The IRS filed a Sur-Reply to the Trustee's Reply, in which the IRS makes the following arguments:

The Court should consider the IRS' Sur-Reply to permit the IRS to respond to arguments that the Trustee raised for the first time in the Reply.

The letter sent by the IRS' Revenue Officer to the Trustee does not constitute "consent" to the sale for purposes of § 363(f)(2). The letter generally supported a sale of the Property, if such a sale would pay in full the IRS' claim. The letter did not consent to a specific sale with specific terms. The proposed sale does not provide for full payment of the IRS' claim. Consequently, the letter does not constitute consent to the sale proposed in the Sale Motion.

II. Findings and Conclusions

A. The IRS is Not Estopped from Opposing the Sale Motion

Although the Local Bankruptcy Rules do not authorize the filing of a Sur-Reply, the Court will consider the IRS' Sur-Reply. Absent consideration of the Sur-Reply, the IRS would be prevented from responding to arguments that the Trustee raised for the first time in his Reply.

Chapter 7

The letter sent by the IRS to the Trustee does not constitute consent to the sale for purposes of § 363(f)(2). The letter provides in relevant part (emphasis added):

The IRS would support your sale of the debtor’s personal residence, which appears to have more than sufficient equity to pay the primary mortgage holder and the Internal Revenue Service in full, with sufficient funds remaining that would allow you to make a meaningful distribution to other unsecured creditors.

Letter from IRS to the Trustee dated August 13, 2018 [Doc. No. 81, Ex. 7].

In the letter, the IRS expressed its support for a sale that would generate sufficient proceeds to pay its claim in full. The sale at issue will result in payment in full of the IRS’ claim. The letter does not constitute consent to the sale by the IRS for purposes of § 363(f)(2). There is no merit to the Trustee’s contention that the IRS should be estopped from opposing the Sale Motion.

In support of his estoppel argument, the Trustee also submits a declaration from his counsel regarding remarks allegedly made by the IRS’ counsel in a conversation with the Trustee’s counsel that took place on March 29, 2019. According to the declaration, counsel for the IRS advised the Trustee’s counsel that a carve-out stipulation with the IRS was unnecessary because the Trustee could avoid the penalty portions of the IRS tax liens. The declaration constitutes inadmissible hearsay, because it is offered to establish the truth of certain out-of-court statements allegedly made to the Trustee’s counsel by counsel to the IRS. The Court does not consider the declaration.

B. The Trustee is Authorized to Sell the Property, Free and Clear of the IRS’ Tax Lien, Pursuant to §§ 363(f)(5) and 724(b)

Under § 363(f)(5), property may be sold free and clear of an interest, if the entity holding the interest “could be compelled, in a legal or equitable proceeding, to accept a money satisfaction of such interest.”

In In re Healthco Int’l, Inc., the court held that § 724(b) was a legal proceeding under which the holder of a tax lien “could be compelled to accept a money satisfaction of its interest by payment of less than the full amount of the debt.” Healthco, 174 B.R. 174, 177 (Bankr. D. Mass. 1994). Under § 724(b)(2), the Trustee is authorized to subordinate a tax lien to administrative expenses, to the extent of the amount of the lien. The operation of § 724(b)(2) “falls squarely within the language of § 363(f)(5), inasmuch as it creates a mechanism by which lien creditors are compelled to receive less than full payment for their interest.” In re Grand Slam U.S.A., Inc., 178 B.R. 460, 464 (E.D. Mich. 1995).

Here, the IRS holds a tax lien of the type that is subject to subordination under § 724(b)(2). Accordingly, the Trustee may sell the Property free and clear of the IRS’ tax lien pursuant to § 363(f)(5).

Section 724(e) requires that the Trustee exhaust unencumbered assets of the estate before subordinating a tax lien under § 724(b). As the estate has no unencumbered assets aside from the Property, the Court finds that the Trustee has satisfied the requirements of § 724(e).

The non-penalty portion of the IRS’ tax lien shall attach to the net proceeds of the sale, to be handled in accordance with § 724(b). Such treatment provides sufficient adequate protection to the IRS. See In re A.G. Van Metre, Jr., Inc., 155 B.R. 118, 121 (Bankr. E.D. Va. 1993), subsequently aff’d, 16 F.3d 414 (4th Cir. 1994) (holding that treatment of statutory tax liens in accordance with § 724(b) does not violate the adequate protection requirement of § 363(e)).

C. The Trustee May Sell the Property Free and Clear of Liens Notwithstanding the Fact that the Aggregate Face Value of the Liens Exceeds the Proposed Purchase Price

In Clear Channel Outdoor, Inc. v. Nancy Knupfer (In re PW, LLC), the Ninth Circuit Bankruptcy Appellate Panel (the “BAP”) held that property could not be sold free and clear of liens under § 363(f)(3) where the face value of the liens exceeded the sales price. Clear Channel, 391 B.R. 25, 39 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2008). Here, the face value of the liens against the Property is $768,621.73, well in excess of the proposed sales price of $540,000. If the Court were to follow Clear Channel, the sale could not be approved.

BAP decisions are not binding upon Bankruptcy Courts within the same judicial district. In re Arnold, 471 B.R. 578, 589–90 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2012). The Court declines to follow Clear Channel. Instead, the Court follows those cases holding that property may be sold free and clear of liens, provided that the sales price exceeds the economic value of all the liens. See In re Beker Indus., Inc., 63 B.R. 474, 477 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 1986); In re Collins, 180 B.R. 447, 450–51 (Bankr. E.D. Va. 1995); In re Terrace Gardens Park Partnership, 96 B.R. 707 (Bankr. W.D. 1989).

Based on the fact that the Property has been marketed by a qualified real estate broker, the Court finds that the proposed sales price of $540,000 is equal to the Property's fair market value. In such circumstances, the sales price by definition exceeds the economic value of the liens. Accordingly, the Property may be sold free and clear of liens pursuant to § 363(f)(3).

D. The Debtors Must File Any § 522(f) Motion By No Later Than November 1, 2019

Pursuant to the Trustee's request, the Court will require that the Debtors file any § 522(f) Motion by no later than November 1, 2019, or be forever barred from doing so. A deadline for the filing of a § 522(f) Motion is necessary to enable the Trustee to distribute the Property's net sales proceeds.

However, the Court notes that pursuant to § 522(c)(2)(B), any funds to which the Debtors are entitled on account of their homestead exemption remain liable for the IRS' tax liens. Therefore, the Debtors will not be entitled to be paid any funds on account of their homestead exemption even if they prevail on a § 522(f) Motion. Instead, such funds must be paid to the IRS.

E. The Trustee's Proposed Treatment of Liens and Encumbrances Against the Property is Approved

The Court approves the Trustee's proposed treatment of liens and encumbrances against the Property. Liens and encumbrances that are out-of-the money are not entitled to be paid through escrow, as the holders of such liens and encumbrances do not possess allowed secured claims. See § 506(a).

F. Auction Procedures

In the event that any qualified overbidders are present, the Court will distribute numbered auction paddles to the proposed purchaser and all qualified overbidders. The initial overbid shall be $550,000, with subsequent overbids to be increments of $10,000. The overbid increment is subject to adjustment by the Court to facilitate bidding. The Court will announce each bid level. To remain in the auction, bidders must participate at all bid levels. That is, parties who do not bid in a round cannot later change their minds and re-enter the auction. Parties may make a bid higher than that announced by the Court by approaching the podium and stating their bid.

Because the IRS has objected to the Sale Motion, the Court declines to waive the stay imposed by Bankruptcy Rule 6004(h).

Having reviewed the declaration of Pamela Temple, the Court finds that the Buyers are good-faith purchasers entitled to the protections of § 363(m). In the event that an overbidder prevails at the auction, the Court will take testimony from such overbidder to determine whether §363(m) protections are warranted.

G. The Stay Relief Motion is Denied as Moot

On August 30, 2018, Wells Fargo Bank, N.A. ("Wells Fargo") moved for relief from stay with respect to the Property. Wells Fargo subsequently assigned its loan against the Property to Specialized Loan. The Trustee proposes to pay through escrow all undisputed sums owed to Specialized Loan. In view of the Court's approval of the sale, the motion for stay relief is DENIED as moot.

III. Conclusion

Based upon the foregoing, the Sale Motion is GRANTED and the Motion for Stay Relief is DENIED as moot. Within seven days of the hearing, the Trustee shall submit orders on both motions, which shall incorporate this tentative ruling by reference.

The Court has adjusted the overbid increment proposed by the Trustee.

Docket 0

Tentative Ruling:

10/7/2019

Tentative Ruling:

Appearances are required. This is a post-confirmation status conference. Counsel for Debtor and secured creditor PHH Mortgage (collectively, the "Parties") appeared at the September 24, 2019 post-confirmation status conference and advised the Court that they had tentatively settled an outstanding accounting dispute. However, Debtor had delayed in returning a signed copy of the settlement agreement. Noting this matter's protracted post-confirmation history, the Court directed the Parties to finalize any tentative settlement agreement and file an order requesting final decree and discharge no later than October 8, 2019, otherwise the case would be dismissed forthwith with a bar to refile. As of the date of this tentative ruling, there is nothing to show that the settlement agreement has been yet executed.

For the reasons set forth above, it is hereby ORDERED that an order summarily dismissing this case shall be entered, unless the Parties demonstrate that the settlement agreement has been executed and an order for final decree and discharge will be filed without delay.

If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Daniel Koontz or Carlos Nevarez at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

10/11/2019

The Court conducted an initial Status Conference on March 19, 2019. The Court did not order formal mediation, in view of the parties' representation that they had engaged in preliminary settlement discussions.

The Trustee and the Defendant have agreed upon an open-ended extension of Defendant's deadline to respond to the Complaint, terminable by the Trustee, to enable the parties to engage in settlement discussions.

Based upon its review of the Trustee's Unilateral Status Report, it does not appear to the Court that the parties are making meaningful progress toward settlement. Therefore, the Court will order the matter to formal mediation and will set a deadline by which Defendant must respond to the Complaint.

Good cause appearing, the Court HEREBY ORDERS AS FOLLOWS:

- 1) Defendant shall respond to the Complaint by no later than 11/12/2019.
- 2) A continued Status Conference shall be held on 1/14/2020 at 10:00 a.m. A Joint Status Report shall be submitted by no later than fourteen days prior to the hearing.
- 3) The following litigation deadlines shall apply:

(For contemplated hearings on motions related to expert discovery, it is counsel's responsibility to check the Judge's self-calendaring dates, posted on the Court's website. If the expert discovery cutoff date falls on a date when the court is closed or that is not available for self-calendaring, the deadline for hearings on expert discovery motions is the next closest date which is available for self-calendaring.)

- g) A Pretrial Conference is set for 8/11/2020 at 11:00 a.m. By no later than fourteen days prior to the Pretrial Conference, the parties must submit a Joint Pretrial Stipulation via the Court's Lodged Order Upload (LOU) system. Submission via LOU allows the Court to edit the Joint Pretrial Stipulation, if necessary. Parties should consult the Court Manual, section 4, for information about LOU.

the admissibility of exhibits whenever possible. In the event any party cannot stipulate to the admissibility of an exhibit, that party must file a Motion in Limine which clearly identifies each exhibit alleged to be inadmissible and/or prejudicial. The moving party must set the Motion in Limine for hearing at the same time as the Pretrial Conference; notice and service of the Motion shall be governed by LBR 9013-1. The Motion in Limine must contain a statement of the specific prejudice that will be suffered by the moving party if the Motion is not granted. The Motion must be supported by a memorandum of points and authorities containing citations to the applicable Federal Rules of Evidence, relevant caselaw, and other legal authority. Blanket or boilerplate evidentiary objections not accompanied by detailed supporting argument are prohibited, will be summarily overruled, and may subject the moving party to sanctions.

- iii) The failure of a party to file a Motion in Limine complying with the requirements of ¶(1)(h)(ii) shall be deemed a waiver of any objections to the admissibility of an exhibit.
- iv) Motions in Limine seeking to exclude testimony to be offered by any witness shall comply with the requirements set forth in ¶(1)(h)(ii), and shall be filed by the deadline specified in ¶(1)(h)(ii). Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

10/11/2019

On May 9, 2019, the Court entered an order approving a settlement between the Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee") and Defendants John Ulzheimer and the Ulzheimer Group, LLC (collectively, the "Ulzheimer Defendants"). On May 22, 2019, the Trustee dismissed all claims against the Ulzheimer Defendants.

Defendants TCG Assets, Inc., TCG Int'l Holdings, Inc., Michael B. Citron, Kenneth R. Morris, the Law Office of Kenneth R. Morris LLC, and Nicholas Moffat (collectively, the "Remaining Defendants") are represented by Manny Singh, solely for the purposes of settlement. Mr. Singh is located in Fort Lauderdale, Florida, and is not licensed to practice law in the State of California.

On August 2, 2019, all of the Remaining Defendants except for Nicholas Moffat ("Moffat") executed a settlement agreement (the "Settlement Agreement"). Mr. Singh has assured the Trustee that Moffat's signature is forthcoming, but no signature has been provided to the Trustee. However, the Remaining Defendants have made the first three installment payments required under the Settlement Agreement. The Trustee intends to seek approval of the Settlement Agreement. If Moffat does not sign the Settlement Agreement, the Trustee intends to strike Moffat from the Settlement Agreement and pursue a default judgment against Moffat.

Based upon the foregoing, and having reviewed the Trustee's Unilateral Status Report, the Court HEREBY ORDERS AS FOLLOWS:

- 1) A continued Status Conference shall be held on January 14, 2020, at 10:00 a.m. The Trustee shall submit a Status Report by no later than fourteen days prior to the hearing.
- 2) The Court will maintain the litigation deadlines set by way of the Order (1) Setting Litigation Deadlines and (2) Setting Continued Status Conference for October 15, 2019 at 10:00 a.m. [Doc. No. 23] issued on July 18, 2019. In the Court's experience, the maintenance of litigation deadlines is the best means of facilitating settlement.

The Court will prepare and enter an order setting the continued Status Conference.

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

10/11/2019

The Chapter 7 Trustee (the "Trustee") has been unable to serve the Summons and Complaint because the Defendant's home has been foreclosed upon, the Defendant has refused to disclose to the Trustee where she is now living, and the Defendant has refused to accept e-mail service of the Summons and Complaint. The Trustee has been in communication with Defendant's spouse regarding the Complaint.

Defendant's tactical evasion of service is not well taken. Defendant is the president and 100% shareholder of Fu Kong, Inc., the Debtor. In that capacity, Defendant signed a declaration authorizing the Debtor to seek protection under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. See Doc. No. 15, Case No. 2:18-bk-17345-ER. The List of Equity Security Holders that the Debtor was required to file with its petition required the Defendant to provide her address. The Defendant chose to cause the entity in which she is the 100% shareholder to subject itself to the Bankruptcy Court's jurisdiction so that the entity could benefit from the protections of the Bankruptcy Code. Having caused the entity which she owns to obtain the benefits of bankruptcy protection, the Defendant cannot now avoid the associated burdens of litigation by failing to keep the Court apprised of her current address. See Carey v. King, 856 F.2d 1439, 1441 (9th Cir. 1998) ("[a] party, not the ... court, bears the burden of keeping the court apprised of any changes in [her] mailing address").

Defendant IS ORDERED to provide the Trustee a mailing address at which she will accept service of the Summons and Complaint by no later than October 22, 2019. Once the Trustee obtains an alias summons, the Clerk of the Court will issue an

Tentative Ruling:

10/11/2019

In an attempt to initiate settlement discussions, Plaintiff's counsel sent Defendant an e-mail providing in relevant part:

I also want to discuss resolving this matter and reaching a settlement. The small claims court already issued a judgment and my client is willing to discuss a payment plan. Please give me a call as soon as possible to discuss.

Doc. No. 11, Ex. 1.

In his Unilateral Status Report, Defendant responds as follows to Plaintiff's attempts to initiate settlement discussions:

I am not open to any type of discussion where the opposing side begins with a nonsensical tactic clearly designed to intimidate. Telling me that I have a small claims judgment is redundant, ridiculous and a complete waste of time. I am very much aware of the judgment issued by the small claims court.... If this is the manner in which attorneys attempt to initiate the settlement process it's not surprising why most people don't trust lawyers and perhaps the entire legal process.

Doc. No. 13.

The Court does not view the language in Plaintiff's e-mail as an intimidation tactic. The Court notes that the issues raised in this litigation are not complex and are susceptible to resolution through mediation. The Court's Mediation Program allows

 - b) The last day to disclose expert witnesses and expert witness reports is 2/25/2020.
 - c) The last day to disclose rebuttal expert witnesses and rebuttal expert witness reports is 3/26/2020.

If the expert discovery cutoff date falls on a date when the court is closed or that is not available for self-calendaring, the deadline for hearings on expert discovery motions is the next closest date which is available for self-calendaring.)

Docket 1

Tentative Ruling:

10/11/2019

On September 13, 2019, Plaintiff filed a First Amended Complaint for Nondischargeability of Debt Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §§ 523(a)(2)(A) and 523(a)(2)(B) [Doc. No. 9] (the "First Amended Complaint"). Under Civil Rule 15(a)(1)(B), Plaintiff's deadline to file the First Amended Complaint without obtaining "the opposing party's written consent or the court's leave" was September 10, 2019 (21 days after service of the Answer). See Civil Rule 15(a)(1)(B) and (a)(2). Plaintiff did not obtain the opposing party's written consent or the Court's leave prior to filing the First Amended Complaint.

On September 18, 2019, the Court issued an Order on First Amended Complaint [Doc. No. 10] (the "Order"), which provided in relevant part:

- 1) The deadline for Plaintiff to file an amended complaint as a matter of course was September 10, 2019. Because Plaintiff did not file the First Amended Complaint by this deadline, Plaintiff must obtain either the Defendant's consent or the Court's leave prior to filing the First Amended Complaint.
- 2) Until Plaintiff either (a) obtains Defendant's consent to the filing of the First Amended Complaint or (b) obtains the Court's leave to file the First Amended Complaint upon noticed motion (see Civil Rule 15(a)(2)), the Court will take no action on the First Amended Complaint, and the Complaint shall remain the operative pleading in this action. The Clerk of the Court is directed not to issue a Summons in connection with the First Amended Complaint.

Order at 2.

Plaintiff has not obtained Defendant's consent to the filing of the First Amended Complaint and has not obtained the Court's leave to file the First Amended Complaint. Therefore, the Complaint filed on July 22, 2019 remains the operative pleading in this action.

Prior to the Debtor's bankruptcy filing, Plaintiff commenced an action in the State Court (the "State Court Action") seeking to establish the indebtedness alleged to be non-dischargeable in this action (the "Non-Dischargeability Action"). As the Ninth Circuit has explained, a non-dischargeability action requires consideration of two distinct issues: first, a determination of whether the Defendant is indebted to the Plaintiff; and second, a determination of whether the indebtedness is non-dischargeable. Banks v. Gill Distribution Centers, Inc., 263 F.3d 862, 868 (9th Cir. 2001).

In the Court's view, the most efficient way to resolve the Non-Dischargeability Action is for Plaintiff to first prosecute the District Court Action to final judgment. In the event Plaintiff obtains judgment in its favor, Plaintiff can then return to the Bankruptcy Court to obtain a determination regarding whether such judgment is non-dischargeable. The State Court Action asserts claims for breach of contract, breach of the covenant of good faith and fair dealing, money had and received, negligence, fraud, and recovery on a contractor's bond. The State Court is better equipped than this Court to determine whether Defendant is indebted to Plaintiff on account of these claims, all of which require the application of substantive non-bankruptcy law.

By separate order, the Court will require Plaintiff and the Debtor to show cause why the Court should not sua sponte lift the automatic stay to allow the State Court Action to proceed to final judgment. The hearing on the Order to Show Cause shall take place on November 19, 2019, at 10:00 a.m. Plaintiff shall file a response to the Order to Show Cause by no later than October 29, 2019. Any opposition to Plaintiff's response shall be filed by no later than November 5, 2019. Plaintiff's reply to any opposition shall be filed by no later than November 12, 2019.

The Status Conference shall be continued to the date of the hearing on the Orders to Show Cause. At the continued Status Conference, the Court will set updated litigation deadlines.

The Court will prepare and enter the Order to Show Cause and the order setting the continued Status Conference.

Docket 129

Tentative Ruling:

10/11/2019

Trial in this adversary proceeding was initially set for May 29–30, 2018. On May 28, 2018, Defendant Tsai Luan Ho a/k/a Shelby Ho ("Ho") (the only remaining defendant) filed a voluntary Chapter 7 petition in the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of California (the "Northern District Bankruptcy Court"). The Court took the trial off calendar. Based upon Plaintiff's representation that it intended to pursue a non-dischargeability action against Ho in the Northern District Bankruptcy Court, the Court subsequently dismissed this action without prejudice.

On July 20, 2018, Plaintiff filed a non-dischargeability action against Ho in the Northern District Bankruptcy Court (the "523 Action"). On August 23, 2018, the Chapter 7 Trustee in Ho's bankruptcy case filed a § 727 complaint to deny Ho's discharge (the "727 Action"). On April 9, 2019, the Northern District Bankruptcy Court entered judgment denying Ho's discharge, pursuant to § 727(a)(3) (the "Judgment Denying Discharge"). On April 16, 2019, Ho appealed the Judgment Denying Discharge to the United States District Court for the Northern District of California (the "District Court"). On June 7, 2019, the Northern District Bankruptcy Court denied Ho's motion for a stay pending appeal of the Judgment Denying Discharge. Ho's appeal of the Judgment Denying Discharge remains pending before the District Court. Proceedings in the 523 Action have been stayed pending resolution of the appeal of the Judgment Denying Discharge. On April 26, 2019, the Northern District Bankruptcy Court issued a minute order providing that the 523 Action "may be restored to the calendar after the District Court acts on the pending appeal" of the Judgment Denying Discharge.

On July 9, 2019, the Court conducted a hearing on Plaintiff's motion to reopen this adversary proceeding (the "Motion to Reopen"). Plaintiff sought an order reopening this proceeding and setting the matter for an immediate status conference in trial.

The Court ruled that it would not set this matter for trial until the District Court had decided Ho's appeal of the Judgment Denying Discharge. The Court reasoned:

In the event that the District Court overturns the Judgment Denying Discharge, Plaintiff will be required to pursue the 523 Action to obtain a recovery against Ho. The 523 Action is based upon the same nucleus of operative facts as this action. The potential for duplicative litigation weighs against proceeding to trial at this time. In addition to wasting judicial resources, the additional costs resulting from a duplicative trial would decrease the recoveries available for distribution to creditors by the Plan Administrator.

Ruling on Motion to Reopen [Doc. No. 135] at 4.

The Court set this Status Conference to monitor the status of Ho's appeal of the Judgment Denying Discharge. The appeal remains pending before the District Court (briefing was completed on October 9, 2019).

A continued Status Conference to monitor the appeal shall be held on December 10, 2019, at 10:00 a.m. A Status Report shall be submitted by no later than seven days prior to the hearing.

The Court will prepare and enter an order setting the continued Status Conference.

Docket 3188

Tentative Ruling:

10/15/2019 (this matter will not be called for hearing until 11:00 a.m.):

Before the Court is the Debtors' motion to sell four not-for-profit hospitals free and clear of regulatory conditions which the California Attorney General claims authority to impose under Cal. Corp. Code § 5914. For the reasons set forth below, the Court finds that § 363 of the Bankruptcy Code authorizes a sale free and clear of the conditions imposed by the Attorney General.

I. Facts

On August 31, 2018 (the "Petition Date"), Verity Health Systems of California ("VHS") and certain of its subsidiaries (collectively, the "Debtors") filed voluntary petitions for relief under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. The Debtors' cases are being jointly administered.

As of the Petition Date, the Debtors operated six acute care hospitals in the state of California. On December 27, 2018, the Court authorized the Debtors to sell two of their hospitals—O'Connor Hospital and Saint Louise Regional Hospital—to Santa Clara County. [Note 1] That sale closed on February 28, 2019.

On February 19, 2019, the Court entered an order establishing bidding procedures (the "Bidding Procedures Order") for the auction of the Debtors' four remaining hospitals—St. Francis Medical Center ("St. Francis"), St. Vincent Medical Center (including St. Vincent Dialysis Center) ("St. Vincent"), Seton Medical Center ("Seton"), and Seton Medical Center Coastsides ("Seton Coastsides") (collectively, the "Hospitals"). Under the Bidding Procedures Order, Strategic Global Management ("SGM") was designated as the stalking horse bidder. SGM's bid for all four of the Hospitals was $610 million.

The Hospitals were extensively marketed by the Debtors' investment banker, Cain Brothers, a division of KeyBank Capital Markets, Inc. ("Cain Brothers"). Cain Brothers notified ninety parties of the auction process. Sixteen of these parties requested continued access to a data room containing information about the Hospitals.

Notwithstanding Cain Brothers' thorough marketing efforts, the Debtors did not receive any qualified bids for all of the Hospitals. The Debtors received one bid to purchase only St. Vincent and one bid to purchase only St. Francis. After consulting with the Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors (the "Committee") and the largest secured creditors, the Debtors determined not to conduct an auction. On May 2, 2019, the Court entered an order finding that SGM was the winning bidder and approving the sale to SGM (the "SGM Sale").

In 2015, prior to the commencement of these cases, the Debtors' predecessor sought authorization from the California Attorney General (the "Attorney General"), pursuant to Cal. Corp. Code § 5914, to implement a System Restructuring and Support Agreement (the "Restructuring Agreement"). The Attorney General approved the Restructuring Agreement, subject to various conditions (the "2015 Conditions"). Among other things, the 2015 Conditions required capital expenditures to make the Hospitals seismically compliant, and required the Hospitals to maintain specified levels of emergency services, intensive care services, cardiac services, and various other services.

Cal. Corp. Code § 5914 requires a non-profit entity operating a health facility to obtain approval from the Attorney General when selling a material amount of its assets to a for-profit entity. Pursuant to Cal. Corp. Code § 5914, the Debtors submitted the SGM Sale to the Attorney General for review.

The Asset Purchase Agreement under which SGM agreed to purchase the Hospitals (the "APA") provided that SGM would close the sale so long as any conditions imposed by the Attorney General under the review process set forth in Cal. Corp. Code § 5914 were substantially consistent with conditions that SGM had agreed to accept (the "Approved Conditions"). [Note 2] In the event that the Attorney General sought to impose conditions materially different from the Approved Conditions (the "Additional Conditions"), the APA provided that the Debtors would have an opportunity to seek a determination from the Court that the Hospitals could be sold free and clear of the Additional Conditions under § 363(f) of the Bankruptcy Code. Under the APA, Additional Conditions imposing upon SGM costs of $5 million or more are conclusively deemed to be materially different from the Approved Conditions. Further, if the Debtors fail to obtain a final, non-appealable order authorizing the sale free and clear of the Additional Conditions, SGM is not obligated to close on the sale and is entitled to a refund of its good faith deposit.

On September 25, 2019, the Attorney General consented to the SGM Sale, subject to various conditions (the "2019 Conditions"). The 2019 Conditions are materially different from the Approved Conditions that SGM had agreed to accept. In particular, two of the 2019 Conditions impose an additional financial burden upon SGM of approximately $305 million. First, the 2019 Conditions require that SGM continue to operate St. Vincent as a licensed general acute care hospital through December 2024. SGM had agreed to maintain St. Vincent's general acute care license only through December 2020. SGM estimates that continuing to operate St. Vincent as a general acute care hospital for an additional four years would cost approximately $285 million. Second, the 2019 Conditions require St. Francis to provide annual charity care in an amount of $12,793,435 for six fiscal years. The required charity care amount is approximately $6.4 million more than the charity care that St. Francis provided in fiscal year 2019. The charity care requirement imposes an additional incremental cost of approximately $20 million.

SGM will not close the sale absent an order finding that the Hospitals can be sold free and clear of the Additional Conditions pursuant to § 363(f). If the SGM Sale does not close, the most likely outcome will be the closure of St. Vincent, Seton, and Seton Coastside. The Debtors would be required to close these three Hospitals to conserve resources to continue to operate St. Francis, the most solvent of the Hospitals, during the time it would take to obtain approval of a sale of St. Francis. The Debtors cannot continue to sustain operational losses of approximately $450,000 per day without the prospect of a prompt sale. There is no back-up bidder to purchase the Hospitals if the SGM Sale does not close.

The Debtors are facing very significant liquidity constraints. Recently, the California Department of Health Care Services (the "DHCS") began withholding certain Medi-Cal fee-for-service payments owed to the Debtors, for the purposing of recovering alleged Medi-Cal overpayments. As of the beginning of October 2019, DHCS had withheld approximately $4.5 million. The Debtors do not have the ability to borrow under any debtor-in-possession financing facility. At this time, the Debtors' cases are being financed by a consensual cash collateral stipulation executed between the Debtors and the principal secured creditors (the "Cash Collateral Stipulation").

Termination of the APA constitutes an event of default under the Cash Collateral Stipulation. It is unclear whether the Debtors would be able to obtain alternative financing. Further, the Debtors must begin the expensive process of closing the Hospitals while they still possess a significant cash buffer. [Note 3] In short, the Debtors' prediction that failure of the SGM Sale would necessitate the closure of St. Vincent, Seton, and Seton Coastside is not a bluff.

The Attorney General asserts that imposition of the 2019 Conditions will not result in the closure of St. Vincent, Seton, or Seton Coastside. The Attorney General points to a declaration from Kenneth Sim, M.D. (the "Sim Decl."), the Chairman of Allied Physicians of California, A Professional Medical Corporation ("Allied"). According to the Attorney General, the Sim Decl. shows that Allied is prepared to acquire Seton and Seton Coastside and operate both Hospitals in accordance with the 2019 Conditions.

Contrary to the Attorney General's characterization, the Sim Decl. provides no certainty that a sale of Seton and Seton Coastside will occur. The Sim Decl. states only that "Allied remains interested in purchasing Seton" Sim Decl. at ¶ 5. The Court further notes that Allied did not timely submit a qualified bid for Seton. At this late stage in the proceedings, Allied's vague statement that it is "interested" in purchasing Seton and Seton Coastside does nothing to dissuade the Court from its conclusion that absent consummation of the SGM Sale, Seton and Seton Coastside will most likely close.

The Attorney General also points to a bid for the Hospitals submitted by Prime Healthcare ("Prime"). The Attorney General overlooks the Prime did not submit a qualified bid. Among other things, Prime failed to submit the mandatory good faith deposit. In fact, Prime itself recognized that its "bid will not be formally considered at auction" and was submitted only "for reference." [Note 4] Further, Prime stated that it did not want to serve as a back-up bidder. [Note 5] In short, Prime's offer to purchase the Hospitals is just as illusory as Allied's.

Finally, the Attorney General points to an offer by AHMC Healthcare, Inc. ("AHMC Healthcare") to purchase St. Francis. The Attorney General is correct that AHMC submitted a qualified bid to purchase St. Francis. However, even assuming that AHMC would follow through on its prior bid to purchase St. Francis, that still would not prevent the closure of St. Vincent, Seton, and Seton Coastside. As discussed above, the Debtors lack sufficient cash to continue operating all four Hospitals during the time it would take for a sale of St. Francis to close. The Debtors would be required to close St. Vincent, Seton, and Seton Coastside in order to have sufficient funds to maintain operations at St. Francis during the sale process.

Chapter 11

It is against this backdrop that the Debtors move for authorization to sell the Hospitals free and clear of the Additional Conditions, pursuant to § 363(f). The Debtors argue that the Additional Conditions constitute an "interest in property" within the meaning of § 363(f), and that a sale free and clear of the 2019 Conditions may be authorized under § 363(f)(1), (4), or (5), for the following reasons:

- Pursuant to § 363(f)(1), the Hospitals may be sold under applicable nonbankruptcy law, because under California law, the purchaser of assets does not assume successor liability.
- Pursuant to § 363(f)(4), the validity of the Additional Conditions is subject to a bona fide dispute, because the Attorney General abused his discretion in imposing the 2019 Conditions.
- Pursuant to § 363(f)(5), the Attorney General could be compelled to accept a money satisfaction of certain of the Additional Conditions, such as the condition that SGM provide specified levels of charitable care.

The Debtors assert that imposition of the Additional Conditions violates § 525, which prohibits government entities from discriminating against debtors in the issuance of licenses for failure to pay a dischargeable debt. According to the Debtors, the Additional Conditions constitute an attempt by the Attorney General to collect a dischargeable debt. The Debtors' theory is that Attorney General's refusal to approve the SGM Sale absent imposition of the Additional Conditions amounts to the discriminatory denial of licensure in contravention of § 525.

Finally, the Debtors request that the Court issue a writ of mandate compelling the Attorney General to approve the SGM Sale without imposition of the Additional Conditions, pursuant to Cal. Civ. Proc. Code § 1085 or § 1094.5. The Debtors assert that a writ of mandate is justified because the Attorney General abused his discretion by imposing the Additional Conditions.

The Committee supports the Motion. The Committee argues that prompt closing of the SGM Sale is the best means of insuring a distribution to unsecured creditors.

The Attorney General opposes the Motion. He disputes the Debtors' contention that the Hospitals may be sold under applicable nonbankruptcy law, or that a bona fide dispute exists as to the Attorney General's authority to impose the Additional Conditions. The Attorney General denies that he abused his discretion in imposing the Additional Conditions. He notes that he considered an extensive record in arriving at the Additional Conditions, and states that the Debtors' dislike of the Additional Conditions does not mean that imposition of the conditions was an abuse of discretion.

Service Employees International Union, United Healthcare Workers-West ("SEIU-UHW"), which represents approximately 1,303 employees at St. Vincent and St. Francis, opposes the Motion. SEIU-UHW contends that the Additional Conditions are economically feasible for SGM.

The United Nurses Association of California/Union of Health Care Professional ("UNAC"), which represents approximately 900 registered nurses at St. Francis, urges SGM, the Attorney General, and the Debtors to explore prospects for a consensual resolution with respect to the Additional Conditions.

II. Discussion

Section 363(d)(1) authorizes non-profit entities, such as the Debtors, to sell estate assets only if the sale is "in accordance with nonbankruptcy law applicable to the transfer of property by" a non-profit entity. Section 541(f) similarly provides that property held by debtors that are § 501(c)(3) corporations under the Internal Revenue Code may be transferred, but "only under the same conditions as would apply if the debtor had not filed a case under this title." Section 363(b) authorizes the Debtors to sell estate property out of the ordinary course of business, subject to court approval. The Debtors must articulate a business justification for the sale. In re Walter, 83 B.R. 14, 19–20 (9th Cir. BAP 1988). Whether the articulated business justification is sufficient "depends on the case," in view of "all salient factors pertaining to the proceeding." Id. at 19–20. Section 363(f) provides that a sale of estate property may be "free and clear of any interest in such property of an entity other than the estate," provided that certain conditions are satisfied.

A. The Additional Conditions are an "Interest in Property" Within the Meaning of § 363(f)

As this Court has previously explained:

The Bankruptcy Code does not define the phrase "interest in ... property" for purposes of § 363(f). The Third Circuit has held that the phrase "interest in ... property" is "intended to refer to obligations that are connected to, or arise from, the property being sold." Folger Adam Sec., Inc. v. DeMatteis/MacGregor JV, 209 F.3d 252, 259 (3d Cir. 2000). That conclusion is echoed by Collier on Bankruptcy, which observes a trend in caselaw "in favor of a broader definition [of the phrase] that encompasses other obligations that may flow from ownership of the property." 3 Alan N. Resnick & Henry J. Sommer, Collier on Bankruptcy ¶ 363.06[1] (16th ed. 2017).

Courts have held that interests in property include monetary obligations arising from the ownership of property, even when those obligations are imposed by statute. For example, in Mass. Dep't of Unemployment Assistance v. OPK Biotech, LLC (In re PBBPC, Inc.), 484 B.R. 860 (1st Cir. BAP 2013), the court held that taxes assessed by Massachusetts under its unemployment insurance statutes constituted an "interest in ... property." The taxes were computed based on the Debtor's "experience rating," which was determined by the number of employees it had terminated in the past. Id. at 862. Because the Debtor had terminated most of its employees prior to selling its assets, its experiencing rating, and corresponding unemployment insurance tax liabilities, were very high. Id. The PBBPC court held that the experience rating was an interest in property that could be cut off under § 363(f). Id. at 869–70.

Similarly, in United Mine Workers of Am. Combined Benefit Fund v. Leckie Smokeless Coal Co. (In re Leckie Smokeless Coal Co.), 99 F.3d 573, 581, the court held that monetary obligations imposed by the Coal Industry Retiree Health Benefit Act of 1992 constituted an "interest in ... property" within the meaning of § 363(f).

In re Gardens Reg'l Hosp. & Med. Ctr., Inc., 567 B.R. 820, 825–26 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2017), appeal dismissed, No. 2:16-BK-17463-ER, 2018 WL 1229989 (C.D. Cal. Jan. 19, 2018).

The Additional Conditions are an "interest in property" within the meaning of § 363(f). First, the Additional Conditions are monetary obligations arising from the ownership of property. Similar to the "experience rating" at issue in PBBPC, Inc., 484 B.R. 860, the Additional Conditions were calculated based upon the Hospitals' prior operating history. Among other things, the Additional Conditions require that SGM cause the Hospitals to provide specified levels of healthcare services. The required service levels have been set based upon the Hospitals' historical operations. For example, the Additional Conditions require that St. Francis "maintain and provide 24-hour emergency and trauma medical services at no less than current licensure and designation with the same types and/or levels of services" [Note 6] St. Francis is required to maintain cardiac services, critical care services, neonatal intensive services, women's health services, cancer services, pediatric services, orthopedic and rehabilitation services, wound care services, behavioral health services, and perinatal services, all at "current licensures, types, and/or levels of services." [Note 7] St. Vincent, Seton, and Seton Coastside are also required to maintain various healthcare services at current levels. [Note 8]

Second, the Attorney General's statutory authority to impose the Additional Conditions arises from the Debtors' operation of the Hospitals as non-profit entities. Had the Debtors not operated the Hospitals in this manner, there could be no contention that the SGM Sale is subject to the Attorney General's review pursuant to Cal. Corp. Code § 5914. In this sense as well, the Additional Conditions "arise from the property being sold," In re Trans World Airlines, Inc., 322 F.3d 283, 290 (3d Cir. 2003), and therefore qualify as an "interest in ... property" within the meaning of § 363(f).

B. The Debtors May Sell the Hospitals Free and Clear of the Additional Conditions Pursuant to § 363(f)(1)

Sale of the Hospitals may be free and clear of the Additional Conditions only upon satisfaction of one or more of the five prongs set forth in § 363(f).

Under § 363(f)(1), a sale free and clear may be approved if permitted by applicable nonbankruptcy law. As set forth below, the Court finds that the Attorney General's decision to impose the Additional Conditions is subject to judicial review by administrative mandate under California law. This Court is empowered to conduct such judicial review pursuant to § 1221(e) of the Bankruptcy Abuse Prevention and Consumer Protection Act of 2005 ("BAPCPA"), which provides:

Nothing in this section shall be construed to require the court in which a case under chapter 11 of title 11, United States Code, is pending to remand or refer any proceeding, issue, or controversy to any other court or to require the approval of any other court for the transfer of property.

Upon review of the Attorney General's decision, the Court finds that the imposition of the Additional Conditions constituted an abuse of discretion, for the reasons explained below. Therefore, the Additional Conditions must be set aside, which means that the Debtors are authorized to sell the Hospitals free and clear of the Additional Conditions under applicable nonbankruptcy law.

1. The Attorney General's Imposition of the Additional Conditions is Subject to Judicial Review by Administrative Mandate

Cal. Civ. Proc. Code § 1094.5 provides for judicial review by administrative mandate of decisions made by agencies or officers of the State of California. A decision is subject to reversal if "there was any prejudicial abuse of discretion." Cal. Civ. Proc. Code § 1094.5(b). An "abuse of discretion is established if ... the order or decision is not supported by the findings, or the findings are not supported by the evidence." Id. Under administrative mandamus, the Court must "begin its review with a presumption of the correctness of administrative findings, and then, after affording the respect due to these findings, exercise independent judgment in making its own findings." Fukuda v. City of Angels, 20 Cal. 4th 805, 819, 977 P.2d 693, 701 (1999). "[T]he presumption provides the trial court with a starting point for review but it is only a presumption, and may be overcome. Because the trial court ultimately must exercise its own independent judgment, that court is free to substitute its own findings after first giving due respect to the agency's findings." Id.

The Attorney General contends that administrative mandamus review is not available because the Additional Conditions were not issued subsequent to "a proceeding in which by law a hearing is required to be given, evidence is required to be taken, and discretion in the determination of facts is vested in the inferior tribunal." Cal. Civ. Proc. Code § 1094.5(a). The Attorney General acknowledges that he conducted "public meetings ... to hear comments from interested parties" as required by Cal. Corp. Code § 5922. However, the Attorney General asserts that such public meetings were not "hearings" within the meaning of Cal. Civ. Proc. Code § 1094.5(a), because public comments were not presented under oath and no effort was made to determine the accuracy of the information offered by members of the public. The Attorney General's position is that the Debtors are entitled only to traditional mandamus review under Cal. Civ. Proc. Code § 1085.

"Quasi-legislative acts are ordinarily reviewed by traditional mandate, and quasi-judicial acts are reviewed by administrative mandate. 'Generally speaking, a legislative action is the formulation of a rule to be applied to all future cases, while an adjudicatory act involves the actual application of such a rule to a specific set of existing facts.'" Friends of the Old Trees v. Dep't of Forestry & Fire Prot., 52 Cal. App. 4th 1383, 1389, 61 Cal. Rptr. 2d 297, 303 (1997) (internal citation omitted).

The Court is not persuaded by the Attorney General's contention that administrative mandamus review is unavailable to the Debtors. In reviewing the SGM Sale, the Attorney General hired JD Healthcare, Inc. to prepare expert reports containing information on how the SGM Sale would affect the availability of healthcare services in the regions served by the Hospitals. The JD Healthcare expert reports contained recommendations regarding the conditions that the Attorney General should impose on the SGM Sale. Upon receiving the expert reports, the Attorney General asked the Debtors to respond to the conditions recommended by JD Healthcare. The Attorney General conducted public meetings, all of which were transcribed, at which members of the public commented on the SGM Sale. "[P]urely documentary proceedings can satisfy the hearing requirement of Code of Civil Procedure § 1094.5, so long as the agency is required by law to accept and consider evidence from interested parties before making its decision." Friends of the Old Trees, 52 Cal. App. 4th at 1391–92. Here, the Attorney General received evidence from JD Healthcare, conducted hearings at which members of the public commented, and elected to impose the Additional Conditions after considering all the evidence collected during the review process. The Attorney General's review of the SGM Sale was a quasi-judicial act subject to review by administrative mandate.

The Attorney General next asserts that administrative mandamus review is unavailable because the Debtors have failed to produce the complete administrative record supporting the Attorney General's decision. This contention is without merit. For purposes of administrative mandamus review, a partial record is sufficient if it "accurately represent[s] the administrative proceedings, provide[s] the reviewing court with an understanding of what occurred below, and enable[s] that court to undertake an independent judicial review of the administrative decision." Elizabeth D. v. Zolin, 21 Cal. App. 4th 347, 349, 25 Cal. Rptr. 2d 852 (1993). The record before the Court consists of the expert reports prepared by JD Healthcare, partial transcripts of public meetings conducted by the Attorney General, and various letters submitted by stakeholders. The record on file provides the Court with an understanding of reasons for the Attorney General's decision.

2. In Imposing the Additional Conditions, the Attorney General Abused His Discretion

Under certain circumstances, the sale of a not-for-profit healthcare facility is subject to review by the Attorney General. Cal. Corp. Code § 5914. The Legislature enacted Cal. Corp. Code § 5914 to ensure that the public was not deprived of the benefits of charitable health facilities as a result of the transfer of those facilities' assets to for-profit entities. In enacting § 5914, the Legislature found:

Charitable, nonprofit health facilities have a substantial and beneficial effect on the provision of health care to the people of California, providing as part of their charitable mission uncompensated care to uninsured low-income families and under-compensated care to the poor, elderly, and disabled.

Transfers of the assets of nonprofit, charitable health facilities to the for-profit sector, such as by sale, joint venture, or other sharing of assets, directly affect the charitable use of those assets and may affect the availability of community health care services....

It is in the best interests of the public to ensure that the public interest is fully protected whenever the assets of a charitable nonprofit health facility are transferred out of the charitable trust and to a for-profit or mutual benefit entity.

1996 Cal. Legis. Serv. Ch. 1105 (A.B. 3101) (West).

The Attorney General has "discretion to consent to, give conditional consent to, or not consent to" the sale of a healthcare facility. Cal. Corp. Code § 5917. In exercising that discretion, the Attorney General "shall consider any factors that the Attorney General deems relevant," including but not limited to whether any of the following apply:

- a) The terms and conditions of the agreement or transaction are fair and reasonable to the nonprofit corporation.
- b) The agreement or transaction will result in inurement to any private person or entity.
- c) Any agreement or transaction that is subject to this article is at fair market value. In this regard, "fair market value" means the most likely price that the assets being sold would bring in a competitive and open market under all conditions requisite to a fair sale, the buyer and seller, each acting prudently, knowledgeably and in their own best interest, and a reasonable time being allowed for exposure in the open market.
- d) The market value has been manipulated by the actions of the parties in a manner that causes the value of the assets to decrease.
- e) The proposed use of the proceeds from the agreement or transaction is consistent with the charitable trust on which the assets are held by the health facility or by the affiliated nonprofit health system.

- f) The agreement or transaction involves or constitutes any breach of trust.
- g) The Attorney General has been provided, pursuant to Section 5250, with sufficient information and data by the nonprofit corporation to evaluate adequately the agreement or transaction or the effects thereof on the public.
- h) The agreement or transaction may create a significant effect on the availability or accessibility of health care services to the affected community.
- i) The proposed agreement or transaction is in the public interest.
- j) The agreement or transaction may create a significant effect on the availability and accessibility of cultural interests provided by the facility in the affected community.

Cal. Corp. Code § 5917 (West).

Nothing in the record indicates that SGM's bid was other than for fair market value (factor (c)). The Hospitals were thoroughly marketed by Cain Brothers. SGM was the only bidder interested in purchasing the Hospitals. The Court must presume that a bid submitted after extensive marketing reflects the Hospital's fair market value.

There is no indication that SGM, or any other party, took any actions to decrease the value of the Hospitals (factor (d)). In view of the extensive marketing, the terms of the sale are fair and reasonable to the Debtors (factor (a)). There is no evidence that any of the parties involved in the SGM sale have engaged in any conduct that would amount to a breach of trust (factor (f)), or that the SGM Sale will inure to the benefit of any private person or entity (factor (b)). Nor has there been any suggestion that the Debtors failed to provide the Attorney General with sufficient information to evaluate the SGM Sale (factor (g)). Factor (e) does not apply, because the proceeds of the SGM Sale are fully encumbered by the claims of creditors, leaving no remaining equity that could be devoted to charitable purposes.

The remaining factors are (1) the effect of the SGM Sale on the accessibility of healthcare services (factor (h)) and cultural interests (factor (j)) in the affected communities and (2) whether the SGM Sale is in the public interest (factor (i)). In electing to impose the Additional Conditions, the Attorney General abused his discretion in the application of these factors.

By letter dated August 23, 2019 (the "August Letter"), the Debtors advised the Attorney General that if the Additional Conditions were imposed, SGM would not complete the sale and the most likely outcome would be the closure of St. Vincent, Seton, and Seton Coastside. The August Letter advised the Attorney General that SGM had submitted the only offer for the Hospitals, and that the "Debtors cannot sustain incurring ongoing operational losses to maintain the going-concern value of St. Vincent and Seton without the realistic prospect of a purchaser." August Letter at 14. The Debtors stated that upon the failure of the SGM Sale, they would be required to begin the process of closing St. Vincent, Seton, and Seton Coastside "almost immediately." Id.

Having overseen the Debtors' bankruptcy cases since their inception, the Court has become intimately familiar with the Debtors' operational and cash flow situation. As discussed above, the Debtors' statements regarding the necessity of closing certain of the Hospitals upon the failure of the SGM Sale are not an idle threat.

Imposition of the Additional Conditions will dramatically reduce the availability of healthcare services by causing the closure of three of the four Hospitals. In addition to the loss of healthcare services, closure of the Hospitals will destroy approximately 2900 jobs. Closure of the Hospitals will require the relocation of many patients suffering from critical conditions. None of this is in the public interest. [Note 10]

The Court understands that the Additional Conditions were imposed with the laudable objective of increasing the amount of healthcare services provided by the Hospitals. The Court can only assume that the Attorney General does not believe the representation that imposition of the Additional Conditions will result in a collapse of the SGM Sale. Unfortunately, the dire economic circumstances in which the Debtors now find themselves leaves the Court with no doubt that if the SGM Sale is not completed, three of the Hospitals will almost certainly close.

Because the Additional Conditions will reduce health care services by resulting in the closure of three of the Hospitals, imposition of the Additional Conditions was an abuse of the Attorney General's discretion.

B. The Debtors May Sell the Hospitals Free and Clear of the Additional Conditions Pursuant to § 363(f)(4)

Under § 363(f)(4), the Hospitals may be sold free and clear of the Additional Conditions provided the Additional Conditions are "in bona fide dispute ..." A bona fide dispute exists if "there is an objective basis for either a factual or legal dispute as to the validity" of the interest at issue. In re Octagon Roofing, 123 B.R. 583, 590 (Bankr. N.D. Ill. 1991).

As discussed above, the Debtors contend that the Attorney General abused his discretion in imposing the Additional Conditions. Such a contention qualifies as a bona fide dispute regarding the Attorney General's authority to impose the Additional Conditions.

Chapter 11

A bona fide dispute exists for an additional reason. The Debtors have shown that by imposing the Additional Conditions, the Attorney General violated § 525.

Section 525 provides in relevant part:

[A] governmental unit may not deny, revoke, suspend, or refuse to renew a license, permit, charter, franchise, or other similar grant to, condition such a grant to, discriminate with respect to such a grant against, deny employment to, terminate the employment of, or discriminate with respect to employment against, a person that is or has been a debtor under this title ... or another person with whom such ... debtor has been associated, solely because such ... debtor is or has been a debtor under this title ... or has not paid a debt that is dischargeable in the case under this title

In In re Aurora Gas, LLC, the court held that the State of Alaska violated § 525 by refusing to approve the debtor's sale of oil and gas leases unless the purchaser posted a bond of $6 million to pay for the cost of plugging abandoned wells that the purchaser was not acquiring. In re Aurora Gas, LLC, No. A16-00130-GS, 2017 WL 4325560 (Bankr. D. Alaska Sept. 26, 2017). The court held that by conditioning approval of the sale upon the posting of a bond, the State was attempting to collect upon the debtor's obligation to pay for the costs of plugging the abandoned wells. Imposition of such a condition, the court found, constituted impermissible discrimination against the debtor and its affiliate, the purchaser of the gas leases, in violation of § 525.

The facts of this case are strikingly similar. Here, the Attorney General has conditioned approval of the SGM Sale upon SGM assuming the obligation to operate the Hospitals in accordance with conditions similar to the 2015 Conditions that are an obligation of the Debtors. As discussed, the Additional Conditions require that SGM maintain and operate the Hospitals at current licensure and service levels. The Additional Conditions amount to an attempt by the Attorney General to enforce the obligations imposed by the 2015 Conditions. The 2015 Conditions are liabilities that are dischargeable in bankruptcy. By conditioning the transfer of the Hospitals upon the assumption of the Additional Conditions, which impose obligations equal to or in excess of the 2015 Conditions, the Attorney General is impermissibly discriminating against the Debtors in violation of § 525.

The fact that the Additional Conditions can be characterized as a regulatory obligation does not change the analysis. Regulatory obligations such as the Additional Conditions qualify as a "debt" under the Bankruptcy Code's broad definition of the

Under the Bankruptcy Code, "debt" means "liability on a claim," 11 U.S.C. § 101(12), and "claim," in turn, includes any "right to payment," § 101(5)(A). We have said that "[c]laim" has "the broadest available definition," Johnson v. Home State Bank, 501 U.S. 78, 83, 111 S.Ct. 2150, 115 L.Ed.2d 66 (1991), and have held that the "plain meaning of a 'right to payment' is nothing more nor less than an enforceable obligation, regardless of the objectives the State seeks to serve in imposing the obligation," Pennsylvania Dept. of Public Welfare v. Davenport, 495 U.S. 552, 559, 110 S.Ct. 2126 (1990). See also Ohio v. Kovacs, 469 U.S. 274, 105 S.Ct. 705, 83 L.Ed.2d 649 (1985). In short, a debt is a debt, even when the obligation to pay it is also a regulatory condition.

F.C.C. v. NextWave Pers. Commc'ns Inc., 537 U.S. 293, 302–03, 123 S. Ct. 832, 839, 154 L. Ed. 2d 863 (2003).

C. The Debtors May Sell the Hospitals Free and Clear of Certain of the Additional Conditions Pursuant to § 363(f)(5)

Under § 363(f)(5), property may be sold free and clear of an interest, if the entity holding the interest "could be compelled, in a legal or equitable proceeding, to accept a money satisfaction of such interest."

An interest "that can be reduced to a specific monetary value" falls within the scope of § 363(f)(5). In re Trans World Airlines, Inc., 322 F.3d 283, 291 (3d Cir. 2003); see also In re Vista Marketing Grp. Ltd., 557 B.R. 630, 635 (Bankr. N.D. Ill. 2016) ("[O]ne would be hard-pressed to present a clearer example of a situation where the interest-holder could be compelled to accept a money satisfaction of its interest under subsection (f)(5) than the calculable monetary obligation asserted by the District in its surcharge bill and disconnection notice.").

Among the Additional Conditions are requirements that each of the Hospitals provide specified levels of charity care and community benefit services. The Additional Conditions allow any shortfalls in charity care or community benefit services to be satisfied through deficiency payments to tax-exempt entities within the Hospitals' service area. The charity care and community benefit obligations can easily be reduced to a specific monetary value. The Debtors may sell the Hospitals free and clear of these obligations pursuant to § 363(f)(5).

D. The Court Certifies a Direct Appeal of its Decision to the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals

Title 28 U.S.C. § 158(d)(2) provides that the Bankruptcy Court, acting on its motion, may certify a direct appeal of an order to the Court of Appeals if the order "involves a matter of public importance" or if an immediate appeal of the order will "materially advance the progress of the case or proceeding."

Certification is warranted here. The interplay between the sale provisions of the Bankruptcy Code and the authority of the Attorney General to regulate the sale of assets subject to a charitable trust is a matter of public importance. The issue has arisen in past cases decided by this Court, see In re Gardens Reg'l Hosp. & Med. Ctr., Inc., 567 B.R. at 820 and In re Verity Health Sys. of California, Inc., 598 B.R. at 283, and will continue to arise in future cases.

A direct appeal will materially advance the progress of the case. Closing of the SGM Sale is the lynchpin of the Debtors' plan of reorganization. However, under the APA, SGM is not obligated to close the sale unless the Debtors obtain a final, non-appealable order authorizing a sale free and clear. The Debtors are facing severe liquidity constraints and cannot afford to continue to operate the Hospitals for much longer. A direct appeal will facilitate resolution of this case by providing certainty regarding the permissibility of a sale free and clear far sooner than would otherwise be possible. If the Court's order is upheld, SGM can proceed to close the sale. If not, the Debtors can commence shutting down St. Vincent, Seton, and Seton Coastside.

III. Conclusion

Based upon the foregoing, the Court finds that the Debtors may sell the Hospitals to SGM, free and clear of the Additional Conditions. The sale may proceed under applicable nonbankruptcy law pursuant to § 363(f)(1) because the Debtors are entitled to a writ of mandate, pursuant to Cal. Civ. Proc. Code § 1094.5, that imposition of the Additional Conditions was an abuse of the Attorney General's discretion. A bona fide dispute as to the Attorney General's authority to impose the Additional Conditions exists under § 363(f)(4), because the Debtors (1) have shown that they are entitled to a writ of mandate reversing the Additional Conditions and (2) have shown that the Attorney General's imposition of the Additional Conditions violates § 525. Pursuant to §363(f)(5), the sale is free and clear of the charity care and community benefit obligations, which can be reduced to a monetary valuation.

The Court will prepare and enter an order certifying this matter for a direct appeal

SEIU-UHW contends that it is economically feasible for SGM to operate the Hospitals while complying with the Additional Conditions. The record does not support SEIU-UHW's contention. SGM was the only bidder willing to purchase the Hospitals and has stated unequivocally that it will not complete its purchase if the Additional Conditions are imposed. These facts show that the Additional Conditions render operation of the Hospitals economically infeasible.

Tentative Ruling:

8/13/2018

This is an action to quiet title, brought by Raviner Kuma Bhatia and Johanna Arias-Bhatia against Fidel Ramirez. On August 15, 2011, Fidel Ramirez and Liduvina Ramirez commenced a voluntary Chapter 7 petition. The Ramirezes' case was closed on November 22, 2011.

Ramirez holds a Short Form Deed of Trust and Assignment of Rents (the "Deed of Trust") against property located at 721 N. Alta Vista Blvd, Los Angeles, CA 90046 (the "Property"). The Deed of Trust is dated February 27, 2007, but was not recorded until March 2, 2012. Ramirez failed to disclose the Deed of Trust in his Chapter 7 case. The Bhatias dispute the validity of the Deed of Trust.

On March 16, 2018, the Bhatias reached a settlement with Ramirez, under which the Bhatias agreed to pay Ramirez $31,000 to release the Deed of Trust. Solorzano Decl. at ¶4 [Doc. No. 25]; Motion to Reopen filed in Ramirez's Chapter 7 case [Doc. No. 17, Case No. 1:11-bk-17676-VK]. Recognizing that Ramirez had failed to disclose the Deed of Trust in his Chapter 7 case, the Bhatias notified the United States Trustee (the "UST") of the settlement. The UST filed a motion seeking to reopen Ramirez's case, which was granted on August 6, 2018. See Doc. No. 20, Case No. 1:11-bk-17676-VK. David K. Gottlieb ("Trustee Gottlieb") is serving as the Trustee in Ramirez's case.

Trustee Gottlieb requests that this Pretrial Conference be continued for 60–90 days, to allow him to investigate the facts of this action, and potentially substitute in as the real party-in-interest. The Bhatias likewise request a continuance.

It appears that any settlement proceeds payable to Ramirez are most likely an asset of Ramirez's estate, meaning that Trustee Gottlieb would be required to approve any settlement of this action. The Court finds it appropriate to continue the Pretrial Conference for 90 days to allow Trustee Gottlieb to determine whether the $31,000 proposed settlement is adequate. A continued Pretrial Conference shall be held on November 13, 2018, at 11:00 a.m. Unless a settlement of this action has been approved by the Court, a Joint Pretrial Order must be submitted, via the Court's Lodged Order Upload (LOU) system, by no later than fourteen days prior to the hearing. The trial is continued to the week of November 26, 2018.

The Court will prepare and enter an appropriate order.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Cameron Schlagel or Daniel Koontz at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. If you wish to make a telephonic appearance, contact Court Call at 888-882-6878, no later than one hour before the hearing.

Chapter 11

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Debtors-in-possession, Samuel Antonio Acevedo and Lucy Acevedo (together, the "Debtors"), filed this voluntary Chapter 11 case on April 3, 2018 (the "Petition Date"). The Debtors sought bankruptcy protection after experiencing several years of financial hardship predicated by Mr. Acevedo's unexpected loss of employment. Both Debtors are now employed and generate regular monthly income. The Debtors' primary asset consists of a rental property located at 6220 Palladio Lane, Fontana, CA 92336 (the "Rental Property"), which they rent out for an additional $3,100 in monthly income [see Doc. No. 85].

On March 13, 2019, the Debtors obtained an order granting their motion to value the Rental Property at $435,000 for purposes of plan confirmation [Doc. No. 45]. On March 19, 2019, the Debtors obtained an order granting their motion to value their 2016 Honda Accord (the "Vehicle") at $15,977 for purposes of plan confirmation, which resulted in the bifurcation of American Honda Finance's claim into a secured claim of $15,977 and an unsecured claim of $3,731.60 [Doc. No. 50] (the "Vehicle Valuation Order").

The Debtors submitted their First Amended Disclosure Statement on July 26, 2019, which the Court denied for reasons specified in its tentative ruling [Doc. No. 89] and discussed below. The Debtors now seek approval of their Second Amended Disclosure Statement ("Amended Disclosure Statement"). Below is a description of the material provisions of the Debtors' Amended Plan:

Administrative Claims

The Debtors anticipate that administrative fees for professionals will be approximately $6,000 on the Effective Date, consisting of $4,000 for remaining Chapter 11 fees and $2,000 for administrative fees owed to former counsel. The Debtors propose to pay all administrative claims in full, on the Effective Date, from available cash on hand and with the assistance of a one-time $7,000 family contribution payment.

Priority Tax Claims

The Debtors propose to pay the Internal Revenue Service's (the "IRS") claim of $1,968, in full, plus 6% interest, within five years from the Petition Date, by making equal monthly installments of $32.50 beginning on the Effective Date.

Class 5(a) – Secured Claim of Wells Fargo Bank, National Association ("Wells Fargo")

Wells Fargo holds a first-priority deed of trust against the Rental Property securing debt in the approximate amount of $382,478.36. The Debtors propose to pay Wells Fargo's claim in full, plus 5% interest, by making monthly installment payments of $2,053.23 over a thirty-year period, beginning October 1, 2019. Wells Fargo's claim is impaired, and it is entitled to vote on the Amended Plan.

Class 5(b) – Secured Claim of American Honda Finance Corporation ("Honda")

Honda holds a perfected security interest in the Vehicle. Pursuant to the Vehicle Valuation Order, Honda holds a secured claim of $15,977 and an unsecured claim of $3,731.60. Accordingly, the Debtors propose to pay Honda's secured claim in full, plus 6.75% interest, by making monthly installment payments of $314 over a five-year period. Honda's claim is impaired, and it is entitled to vote on the Amended Plan.

Class 6(b) – General Unsecured Claims

This class consists of all allowed general unsecured claims, which the Debtors estimate hold aggregate claims in the amount of $29,776.01. The Debtors propose to pay this class 70% of their claims, without interest, over a 5-year period by making equal pro-rata monthly installment payments totaling $347.39. This class is impaired and entitled to vote on the Amended Plan.

Means of Implementation

The Debtors' Plan will be funded from the following sources:

- i. Approximately $9,071.81 anticipated cash on hand on the Effective Date.
- ii. A one-time $7,000 family contribution.
- iii. Future disposable income for 5 years. The Debtors anticipate having sufficient income to cover all proposed plan payments.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

In determining whether a disclosure statement provides adequate information, "the court shall consider the complexity of the case, the benefit of additional information to creditors and other parties in interest, and the cost of providing additional information." 11 U.S.C. § 1125(a). Courts interpreting § 1125(a) have explained that the "primary purpose of a disclosure statement is to give the creditors the information they need to decide whether to accept the plan." In re Monnier Bros., 755 F.2d 1336, 1342 (8th Cir. 1985). Relevant factors for evaluating the adequacy of a disclosure statement may include: (1) the events which led to the filing of a bankruptcy petition; (2) a description of the available assets and their value; (3) the anticipated future of the company; (4) the source of information stated in the disclosure statement; (5) a disclaimer; (6) the present condition of the debtor while in Chapter 11; (7) the scheduled claims; (8) the estimated return to creditors under a Chapter 7 liquidation; (9) the accounting method utilized to produce financial information and the name of the accountants responsible for such information; (10) the future management of the debtor; (11) the Chapter 11 plan or a summary thereof; (12) the estimated administrative expenses, including attorneys' and accountants' fees; (13) the collectability of accounts receivable; (14) financial information, data, valuations or projections relevant to the creditors' decision to accept or reject the Chapter 11 plan; (15) information relevant to the risks posed to creditors under the plan; (16) the actual or projected realizable value from recovery of preferential or otherwise voidable transfers; (17) litigation likely to arise in a nonbankruptcy context; (18) tax attributes of the debtor; and (19) the relationship of the debtor with affiliates.

The Court previously found the First Amended Disclosure Statement to be inadequate in the following regards: 1) financial projections supporting the plan over its 5-year duration were not supplied; 2) the Debtors did not account for an increase in their rental income for the month of July 2019, as provided in the Exhibit A1 calculations; and 3) Debtors’ proposed distribution to general unsecured creditors was confusingly described.

The Court determines that the Debtors have sufficiently addressed two of the issues listed above. First, the Debtors provided budget projections for the next five years, as set forth in Exhibit A3. Second, the Debtors reworked their A1 calculations. The revised Exhibit A1 form specifies rental income totaling $2,450 as of September 10, 2019, which is consistent with a monthly rental income of $2,120 as indicated on Debtors’ latest monthly operating report for August 2019. Exhibit A1 accordingly calculates Debtors’ monthly net income at $357.27. This figure is consistent with Debtors’ future disposable monthly income of $357.27, as stated in Part 3.C. of the Amended Disclosure Statement.

However, Debtors’ proposed distribution to the class of unsecured creditors remains unclear. The Court will note that it is clear that payments to general unsecured creditors will be tendered on a monthly, not quarterly basis, but Debtors are still unable to consistently represent exactly how much creditors will be paid. Part 3.C. of the Amended Disclosure Statements provides unsecured creditors will be paid $357 (100% of the Debtors’ future disposable income). This payment figure is consistent with the amount represented in Exhibit A1. However, the Debtors’ supporting declaration provides that the payment to unsecured creditors will instead be $347.39 per month, which the Court will point out is 70% of $29,776.01. Based on the terms proposed in the Amended Disclosure Statement, the $347.39 payment appears to be the correct figure.

For the sake of sufficiency, the Court further remarks on other discrepancies discovered in the Amended Disclosure Statement as follows:

1. Debtors apparently did not strike out the language stating "(Payment to Unsecured Creditors)" in Exhibit A1 as unambiguously instructed in the - Court's previous tentative ruling.

Chapter 11

2. Certain figures provided in the liquidation analysis of Part 4 are inaccurate. Debtors claim that the estimated percentage of unsecured claims that would be paid out in liquidation is 0%. This statement is plainly wrong. Based on other figures provided in Part 4, there would be approximately $3,483.45 in liquidation funds available to unsecured creditors. This amount is about 11.7% of the general unsecured claims. Debtors are further directed to remove the parentheses around the figure of $3,483.45 in Part 4, the liquidation value available to unsecured creditors. This figure should not be represented as a negative number.
 3. Debtors did not individually sign the Amended Disclosure Statement under penalty of perjury. There are three signature lines on the last page of the form F 2081-1.DISCLSR.STMT: one immediately following the last section of the disclosure form, and two lines after the language of "I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the United States that the foregoing is true and correct." The Debtors signed the former, but not the latter.

The Court determines that these discrepancies are either immaterial or the result of typographical errors. Accordingly, by no later than October 23, 2019, and prior to disseminating the voting package, the Debtor is directed to file a third amended disclosure statement that corrects the issues discussed above.

Subject to the minor amendments discussed above, the Court finds that the Disclosure Statement contains adequate information. Among other things, the Amended Disclosure Statement describes: (1) the factors precipitating the Chapter 11 filing, (2) a description of the Debtors' assets and their estimated values, (3) the classification structure of the Plan, (4) an amended Liquidation Analysis and monthly net income calculations, (5) risk factors, (6) estimated administrative expenses, (7) a five-year budget projection, and (8) the means for executing the Plan.

On a separate matter, in its previous tentative ruling, the Court cautioned Debtors regarding certain plan confirmation issues. At least one issue remains outstanding. The Debtors propose to retain their interest in Rental Property, while paying general unsecured creditors 70% of their claims, without interest, and without providing a new value contribution. That Debtors are now proposing to pay a noticeably higher percentage of general unsecured claims than previously proposed does not mean that the issue of absolute priority is resolved. Accordingly, the Debtors should be aware that the absolute priority rule will not be satisfied unless Class 6(b) votes to accept the Plan.

III. Conclusion

The Amended Disclosure Statement is APPROVED, subject to the correction of certain issues set forth above.

The following dates and deadlines will apply to solicitation and confirmation of the Debtor's Plan:

- 1) A hearing will be held on the confirmation of the Debtors' Chapter 11 Plan of Reorganization on January 15, 2020, at 10:00 a.m.
- 2) In accordance with FRBP 3017(a), the Disclosure Statement, the Plan, a notice of hearing on confirmation of the Plan and, if applicable, a ballot conforming to Official Form No. 14, shall be mailed to all creditors, equity security holders and to the Office of the United States Trustee, pursuant to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 3017(d), on or before October 28, 2019.
- 3) November 27, 2019 is fixed as the last day for creditors and equity security holders to return to Debtors' counsel ballots containing written acceptances or rejections of the Plan, which ballots must be actually received by Debtors' counsel by 5:00 p.m. on such date.
- 4) December 20, 2019 is fixed as the last day on which the Debtors must file and serve a motion for an order confirming the Plan (the "Confirmation Motion") including declarations setting forth a tally of the ballots cast with respect to the Plan ("Ballots"), and attaching thereto the original Ballots, and setting forth evidence that the Debtors have complied with all the requirements for the confirmation of the Plan as set forth in Section 1129 of the Bankruptcy Code.
- 5) December 29, 2019 (the "Objection Date"), is fixed as the last day for filing and serving written objections to confirmation of the Plan, as provided in Rule 3020(b)(1) of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

Debtors-in-possession, Samuel Antonio Acevedo and Lucy Acevedo (together, the "Debtors"), filed this voluntary Chapter 11 case on April 3, 2018 (the "Petition Date"). The Debtors sought bankruptcy protection after experiencing several years of financial hardship predicated by Mr. Acevedo's unexpected loss of employment. Both Debtors are now employed and generate regular monthly income. The Debtors' primary asset consists of a rental property located at 6220 Palladio Lane, Fontana, CA 92336 (the "Rental Property"), which they rent out for an additional $3,100 in monthly income [see Doc. No. 85].

On March 13, 2019, the Debtors obtained an order granting their motion to value the Rental Property at $435,000 for purposes of plan confirmation [Doc. No. 45]. On March 19, 2019, the Debtors obtained an order granting their motion to value their 2016 Honda Accord (the "Vehicle") at $15,977 for purposes of plan confirmation, which resulted in the bifurcation of American Honda Finance's claim into a secured claim of $15,977 and an unsecured claim of $3,731.60 [Doc. No. 50] (the "Vehicle Valuation Order").

The Debtors presently seek approval of their First Amended Disclosure Statement (the "Amended Disclosure Statement"). Below is a description of the material provisions of the Debtors' Amended Plan:

Administrative Claims

The Debtors anticipate that administrative fees for professionals will be approximately $14,529 on the Effective Date. The Debtors propose to pay all administrative claims in full, on the Effective Date, from available cash on hand and with the assistance of a one-time $7,000 family contribution payment.

Priority Tax Claims

The Debtors propose to pay the Internal Revenue Service's (the "IRS") claim of $1,968, in full, plus 6% interest, within five years from the Petition Date, by making equal monthly installments of $32.50 beginning on the Effective Date.

Class 5(a) – Secured Claim of Wells Fargo Bank, National Association ("Wells Fargo")

Wells Fargo holds a first-priority deed of trust against the Rental Property securing debt in the approximate amount of $382,478.36. The Debtors propose to pay Wells Fargo's claim in full, plus 5% interest, by making monthly installment payments of $2,053.23 over a thirty-year period, beginning October 1, 2019. Wells Fargo's claim is impaired, and it is entitled to vote on the Amended Plan.

Class 5(b) – Secured Claim of American Honda Finance Corporation ("Honda")

Honda holds a perfected security interest in the Vehicle. Pursuant to the Vehicle Valuation Order, Honda holds a secured claim of $15,977 and an unsecured claim of $3,731.60. Accordingly, the Debtors propose to pay Honda's secured claim in full, plus 6.75% interest, by making monthly installment payments of $314 over a five-year period. Honda's claim is impaired, and it is entitled to vote on the Amended Plan.

Class 6(b) – General Unsecured Claims

This class consists of all allowed general unsecured claims, which the Debtors estimate hold aggregate claims in the amount of $29,776.01. The Debtors propose to pay this class 4% of their claims, without interest, over a 5-year period by making equal pro-rata monthly installment payments totaling $19.85. This class is impaired and entitled to vote on the Amended Plan.

Means of Implementation

The Debtors' Plan will be funded from the following sources:

- iv. Approximately $8,917.81 anticipated cash on hand on the Effective Date.
- v. A one-time $7,000 family contribution.
- vi. Future disposable income for 5 years. The Debtors anticipate having sufficient income to cover all proposed plan payments.

As of the preparation of this tentative ruling, no opposition is on file.

In determining whether a disclosure statement provides adequate information, "the court shall consider the complexity of the case, the benefit of additional information to creditors and other parties in interest, and the cost of providing additional information." 11 U.S.C. § 1125(a). Courts interpreting § 1125(a) have explained that the "primary purpose of a disclosure statement is to give the creditors the information they need to decide whether to accept the plan." In re Monnier Bros., 755 F.2d 1336, 1342 (8th Cir. 1985). In re Metrocraft Pub. Services, Inc., 39 B.R. 567, 568 (Bankr. Ga. 1984). However, “[d]isclosure of all factors is not necessary in every case.” Id.

The Court finds that the Amended Disclosure Statement is inadequate in the following respects:

1. The Amended Disclosure Statement is not supported by financial projections. The Debtors are directed to submit financial projections for the 5-year duration of the plan in support of the second amended disclosure statement.
2. Part 3.C. states that the Debtors’ future disposable income will be $39.27, as set forth in Exhibit A1. The Debtors also disclose that their monthly rental income from the Rental Property increased in July 2019. However, it appears that the Debtors have not included the increased rental income figure in their Exhibit A1 calculations. Therefore, the Debtors should submit a revised Exhibit A1.
3. The proposed distribution for Class 6(b) general unsecured creditors is not clear. Part 1.D states that Class 6(b) creditors will be paid 4% of their allowed claims without interest in equal monthly installments over 5 years. However, the Debtors also discuss payments to this class in terms of quarterly payments. See Acevedo Declaration, ¶ 33. The Court also notes that Paragraph 18.c. of Exhibit A1 states that payments to unsecured creditors will be $39.27. It appears the correct figure is the $1,191.04 figure (4% of $29,776.01 = $1,191.04), but the Debtors should strike the language in Paragraph 18.c of Exhibit A1 that states "(Payment to Unsecured Creditors)," and also clarify whether payments to Class 6(b) will be made on a monthly or quarterly basis.

Additionally, although the following are plan confirmation issues, the Debtors should be aware of the following issues:

1. The Debtors have not attached a declaration from Catalina Vasquez evidencing her financial ability to make the proposed $7,000 cash contribution. In support of any plan confirmation brief, the Debtors should be prepared to attach evidence to support this payment.
2. The Debtors are proposing to retain their interest in the Rental Property, while only paying general unsecured creditors 4% of their claims and not providing any new value contributions. Accordingly, the Debtors should be aware that they will not be able to satisfy the absolute priority rule unless Class 6(b) votes to accept the Plan.

The Debtors' primary asset consists of a rental property located at 6220 Palladio Lane, Fontana, CA 92336 (the "Rental Property"), which they rent out for an additional $2,450 in monthly income.

debt in the approximate amount of $382,478.36. The Debtors propose to pay Wells Fargo's claim in full, plus 5% interest, by making monthly installment payments of $2,053.23 over a thirty-year period, beginning October 1, 2019. Wells Fargo's claim is impaired, and it is entitled to vote on the Plan.

Class 5(b) – Secured Claim of American Honda Finance Corporation ("Honda")

Honda holds a perfected security interest in the Vehicle. Pursuant to the Vehicle Valuation Order, Honda holds a secured claim of $15,977 and an unsecured claim of $3,731.60. However, the Debtors are proposing to pay Honda the full amount of its $19,708.60 claim, plus 6.75% interest, by making monthly installment payments of $388 over a five-year period, beginning October 1, 2019. Honda's claim is impaired, and it is entitled to vote on the Plan.

The Debtors propose to pay this class 4% of their claims, without interest, over a 5-year period by making equal pro-rata monthly installment payments totaling $18.48. This class is impaired and entitled to vote on the Plan.

Means of Implementation

The Debtors' Plan will be funded from the following sources:

- vii. Approximately $10,477 in anticipated cash on hand on the Effective Date.
- viii. A one-time $6,000 family contribution.
- ix. Future disposable income for 5 years. The Debtors anticipate having sufficient income to cover all proposed plan payments. After deducting expenses and making all of the foregoing proposed Plan payments, the Debtors projections indicate that they will only have approximately $1/month in net monthly income.

Chapter 11

“[d]isclosure of all factors is not necessary in every case.” Id.

The Court finds that the Disclosure Statement is inadequate in the following respects:

1. The Debtors’ Liquidation Analysis (Disclosure Statement, Part 4, page 5) does not contain adequate information because it appears the only asset the Debtors have included in their "Net liquidation value of Debtors’ assets" is the anticipated cash on hand as of the Effective Date. While the Debtors did attach a copy of their Schedules A/B, they failed to include a comprehensive liquidation analysis for each asset. The Court finds this particularly troubling because there appears to be approximately $52,521.64 in equity in the Rental Property and the Debtors have not included any analysis to support their conclusion that the Rental Property would have a $0.00 liquidation value if the case were converted to a Chapter 7
2. The Disclosure Statement does not contain any discussion of the events which led to the bankruptcy filing, therefore creditors are unable to adequately evaluate the risks associated with voting in favor of the Debtors’ Plan.
3. The Debtors’ proposal to pay Honda the full amount of its Proof of Claim despite the Court’s Vehicle Valuation Order bifurcating $3,731.60 of the claim into an unsecured claim is unsupported by any meaningful explanation. The Debtors appear to be attempting to overpay Honda by paying its $3,731.60 unsecured claim in full, with interest, while paying other similarly situated unsecured creditors only 4% of their claims. Accordingly, the Debtors’ amended disclosure statement either needs to amend its proposed treatment of Honda’s claim or provide a meaningful explanation for creditors to evaluation whether this payment is fair and equitable.

For the foregoing reasons, the Disclosure Statement does not contain adequate information and must be amended.

Additionally, although the following are plan confirmation issues, the Debtors should be aware of the following issues:

3. The Debtors have not attached a declaration or declaration(s) from the family member(s) contemplated to make the $6,000 family contribution payment or any evidence to support the financial ability of that person or persons to make such payment. In support of any plan confirmation brief, the Debtors should be prepared to attach evidence to support this payment.

4. The Debtors' net monthly income after making all anticipated Plan payments is less than $1. Therefore, the Debtors' plan confirmation brief must include adequate briefing to satisfy this Court that confirmation of the Plan is not likely to be followed by liquidation in the event any unforeseen expenses arise.
5. The Debtors are proposing to retain their interest in the Rental Property, while only paying general unsecured creditors 4% of their claims and not providing any new value contributions. Accordingly, the Debtors should be aware that they will not be able to satisfy the absolute priority rule unless Class 5(b) votes to accept the Plan.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, approval of the Disclosure Statement is DENIED. The Debtors are directed to file a first amended disclosure statement by no later than July 26, 2019, and self-calendar a hearing for September 4, 2019 at 10:00 a.m. Oppositions, if any, are due by August 21, 2019. #25.00 HearingRE: [3140] Motion Debtors' Notice of Motion and Motion for Order Authorizing Debtors to Enter Agreements for Records Retention Support Services with GRM Information Management Services of California, LLC; Memorandum of Points and Authorities; Declaration of Richard G. Adcock

Tentative Ruling:

10/15/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Motion is GRANTED.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Debtors' Notice of Motion and Motion for Order Authorizing Debtors to Enter Agreements for Records Retention Support Services with GRM Information Management Services of California, LLC [Doc. No. 3140] (the "Motion")
 - a) Declaration of Service by Kurtzman Carson Consultants, LLC Regarding Docket Numbers 3130, 3131, 3140 and 3141 [Doc. No. 3349]
- 2) Limited Objection of Cerner Corporation to Debtors' Motion for Order Authorizing Debtors to Enter Agreements for Records Retention Support Services with GRM Information Management Services of California, LLC [Doc. No. 3202]
- 3) Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors' Response in Conditional Support of Debtors' Motion for Order Authorizing Debtors to Enter Agreements for Records Retention Support Services with GRM Information Management Services of California, LLC
- 4) Stipulation Between Debtors and Cerner Corporation on Motion for Order Authorizing Debtors to Enter Agreements for Records Retention Support Services with GRM Information Management Services of California, Inc.

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On August 31, 2018 (the "Petition Date"), Verity Health Systems of California ("VHS") and certain of its subsidiaries filed voluntary petitions for relief under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. On August 31, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the Debtors' motion for joint administration of the Debtors' Chapter 11 cases. Doc. No. 17.

The Debtors seek authorization to enter into an agreement with GRM Information Management Services of California, LLC (“GRM”), under which GRM will provide records retention services to the Debtors. As part of their wind down, the Debtors need to consolidate their remaining paper records at a single location with a single records retention and retrieval provider going forward, and have that provider maintain certain electronic records which may be necessary to respond to patient or regulatory inquiries. GRM will provide these services for the next seven years for a total cost of approximately $500,000, with an option to extend.

The Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors (the “Committee”) supports the Motion, provided that the Committee and its successors in interest are allowed to access financial records stored by GRM.

Cerner Corporation (“Cerner”), which provides medical records services to the Debtors through copyrighted software, filed a limited objection to the Motion. Cerner objects to any unauthorized use of its licensed software by GRM. Subsequent to the filing of Cerner’s limited objection, the Debtors and Cerner executed a stipulation providing for the withdrawal of the limited objection.

No other opposition to the Motion is in file.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Under § 363(b), the Debtors are authorized to use estate property outside the ordinary course of business, subject to Court approval. The Debtors must articulate a business justification for the proposed use of estate property. In re Walter, 83 B.R. 14, 19–20 (9th Cir. BAP 1988) (citing In re Continental Air Lines, 780 F.2d 1223 (5th Cir. 1986)). Whether the articulated business justification is sufficient "depends on the case," in view of "all salient factors pertaining to the proceeding." Id.

Here, the Debtors have demonstrated ample business justification for entering into the records retention agreement with GRM. The Debtors must maintain records in order to respond to patient and regulatory inquiries. Consolidating all remaining records with a single provider is the most efficient means of accomplishing this necessity.

The Court agrees that the Committee, and its successors in interest, should be provided access to any financial records stored by GRM. The Debtors shall include language in the order to this effect.

Based upon the foregoing, the Motion is GRANTED in its entirety. The Debtors shall submit an order incorporating this tentative ruling by reference within seven days

#1.00 HearingRE: [12] Notice of motion and motion for relief from the automatic stay with supporting declarations PERSONAL PROPERTY RE: 2915 Nissan Pathfinder, VIN: 5N1AR2MN0FC677645 . (Wang, Jennifer)

Docket 12

Tentative Ruling:

10/17/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1) for cause to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to repossess or otherwise obtain possession and dispose of its collateral pursuant to applicable law, and to use the proceeds from its disposition to satisfy its claim. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. The Court takes judicial notice of the Chapter 7 Individual Debtor's Statement of Intention in which the Debtor stated an intention to surrender the vehicle to Movant.

This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. The 14-day stay prescribed by FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived. All other relief is denied.

Movant shall upload an appropriate order via the Court's Lodged Order Upload system within 7 days of the hearing.

#2.00 HearingRE: [9] Notice of motion and motion for relief from the automatic stay with supporting declarations PERSONAL PROPERTY RE: U 2010 MAZDA CX-7 with Proof of Service. (Zahradka, Robert)

Docket 9

Tentative Ruling:

10/17/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2) to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to repossess or otherwise obtain possession and dispose of its collateral pursuant to applicable law, and to use the proceeds from its disposition to satisfy its claim. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. The Court finds that there is no equity in the subject vehicle and that the vehicle is not necessary for an effective reorganization since this is a chapter 7 case.

This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. The 14-day stay prescribed by FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived. All other relief is denied.

Movant shall upload an appropriate order via the Court's Lodged Order Upload system within 7 days of the hearing.

Tentative Ruling:

10/17/2019

For the reasons set forth herein, the Motion for Relief from the Automatic Stay Under 11 U.S.C. § 362 (the "Motion") is CONTINUED to November 6, 2019 at 10:00 a.m.

First, Movant's proof of service [Doc. 11] does not reflect that the Motion was served on all lienholders as required by Local Bankruptcy Rule 4001-1(c)(1)(C)(iv). By no later than October 23, 2019, Movant is directed to take the following actions: (i) file a notice of continued hearing ("Notice") on the docket; (ii) serve the Notice on all interested parties pursuant to applicable federal and local rules; and (iii) file a proof of service evidencing compliance with this ruling.

Second, the Court determines that issues raised in two outstanding motions—Trustee's Proposed Abandonment of Property Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 554 and Local Bankruptcy Rule 6007-1 ("Trustee's Motion") [Doc. Felix Anibal Diaz and Cecilia Giron Diaz (collectively, the "Debtors") initiated a voluntary Chapter 7 proceeding on July 6, 2018 (the "Petition Date"). John J. Menchaca was subsequently appointed as Chapter 7 trustee (the "Trustee"). On September 13, 2018, the Court entered an order granting Trustee's application to employ the Law Offices of Wesley H. Avery, APC (the "Applicant") as his general bankruptcy counsel, with an effective employment date of August 7, 2019 [Doc. No. 21].

In connection with this First and Final Application, the Applicant seeks an allowance of reduced fees in the amount of $78,744 and costs in the amount of $651.85, for a total award of $79,395.85. Applicant initially sought fees totaling $83,744 but consented to a $5,000 reduction. On October 9, 2019, the Debtors filed an untimely objection to the Application on the grounds that certain requested fees exceeded reasonable compensation for actual, necessary services rendered pursuant to § 327 [Note 1]. Specifically, the Debtors object to an itemized list of time entries totaling $10,822. First, the Debtors highlight that Applicant seeks reimbursement for a "trip to the clerk's office" in the amount of $468 that should have been performed by a courier or by administrative staff. Second, the Debtors object to a collection of entries dated January 2, 2019 to January 8, 2019 worth $10,354.50, and which mainly consist of research and drafting services in preparation for a "Motion for Default Judgment." Debtors argue that these fees are excessive and unreasonable because Applicant had already charged nearly 13 hours of fees in preparation for a "request for entry of default" on a "547(b)/548 Complaint" back in August 2018 [Note 2]. Debtors conclude that the fees charged to complete the Motion for Default Judgment are unreasonable in light of Mr. Avery's skill and advanced bankruptcy expertise.

Applicant timely responded to the Opposition on October 15, 2019, highlighting a list of discrepancies and errors contained therein. Applicant primarily requests that the Court strike the Opposition for reasons including, inter alia, its untimeliness and the fact that it was seemingly drafted and filed by an attorney other than Glenn Park ("Park"), Debtors' attorney of record, utilizing Park's ECF login. The Applicant also calls the Debtors' credibility into question based on their discharge denial on fraudulent grounds pursuant to §§ 727(a)(2) and (a)(4). Applicant further contends that the compensation sought is for actual and necessary services, which were recorded contemporaneously as they were rendered. While employing a full-time trustee administrator and asset clerk, Applicant claims that legal services, which occasionally include clerical work, are primarily performed by Wesley Avery as a solo practitioner. Finally, Applicant notes that all unsecured creditors will receive 100% of their allowed claims. In sum, Applicant argues all services rendered were within the scope of employment as Trustee's counsel, necessary for this case, and eventually

Relevant Case History

Menchaca v. Olivares (In re Diaz), Adv. No. 2:18-01273 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2018)

The Debtors possessed title to real property located at 11119 S. Doty Avenue, Inglewood, California 90303 (the "Property"), which they claimed as their residence as of the Petition Date. On October 12, 2017, a deed of trust was recorded by which Debtors purportedly transferred an interest in the Property worth $325,000 to their daughter, Johanna Olivares (the "Defendant"), to secure antecedent debt, for no consideration paid. See Adv. No. 2:18-01273, Doc. No. 1, Ex. 1. On August 28, 2018, the Applicant commenced the above-captioned adversary proceeding against the Defendant to recover valuable equity in the Property for the estate's benefit. On September 5, 2018, Applicant filed an amended complaint asserting twelve causes of action, consisting of: Avoidance of Transfer; Recovery of Avoided Transfer; Determination of Value, Priority and Extent of Validity of Lien; Declaratory Relief; Quiet Title; To Remove Cloud on Title; and Injunction (the "Amended Complaint"). See Adv. No. 2:18-01273, Doc. No. 3. The gravamen of the Amended Complaint was that the transfer was voidable as a fraudulent and preferential transfer. Defendant failed to file a response or opposition by the October 5, 2018 deadline. Upon the Applicant's Request for Entry of Default Under Local Bankruptcy Rule 7055-1, the Clerk of the Court subsequently entered Defendant's default on November 8, 2018. See Adv. No. 2:18-01273, Doc. Nos. 13, 14.

Following a status conference on December 18, 2018, the Court directed Applicant to file a motion for default judgment. See Adv. No. 2:18-01273, Doc. No. 20. The Applicant complied with the Court's orders, preparing the 146-page Motion for Default Judgment (the "Default Judgment Motion Against Olivares") on the first seven causes of action asserted in the Amended Complaint, and dismissing the remaining causes of action. On February 15, 2019, the Court entered an order granting in part, denying in part the Default Judgment Against Olivares. According to the Court's tentative ruling, the Trustee was entitled to recover the Property for the estate's benefit pursuant to §§ 544(b), 548(a)(1)(A), 548(a)(1)(B)(i)(I)-(II), 550(a), and 551, but not under 547(b) or 544(a)(3). See Adv. No. 2:18-01273, Doc. No. 27. Ultimately, the Court's adjudged that the transfer could be avoided as an actual and constructive fraudulent transfer, and that the Trustee was entitled to recover the avoided deed of trust. See Adv. No. 2:18-01273, Doc. No. 29. The adversary proceeding was closed on March 18, 2019.

Menchaca v. Diaz (In re Diaz), Adv. No. 2:18-01274 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2018)

On August 28, 2018, the Trustee commenced a second adversary proceeding by filing a complaint against the Debtors. On September 5, 2018, the Trustee filed an amended complaint asserting claims for denial of discharge, accounting and turnover (the "Amended Complaint against Diaz"). See Adv. No. 2:18-01274, Doc. No. 2. The claims asserted in the Amended Complaint against Diaz are premised, inter alia, on Debtors' fraudulent transfer to Defendant, and allegations that Debtors lied at the initial 341(a) creditors' meeting, did not disclose the Property's transfer in their Statement of Financial Affairs, made materially false representations under penalty of perjury in their schedules, and that they failed to account for rental income derived from the Property's lease. See id. Debtors failed to timely file a response or opposition. Upon the Applicant's Request for Entry of Default Under Local Bankruptcy Rule 7055-1, the Clerk of the Court subsequently entered Debtors' default on November 7, 2018. See Adv. No. 2:18-01274, Doc. No. 14. Pursuant to the Court's order, Applicant filed and prepared the 141-page Motion for Default Judgment (the "Default Judgment Motion Against Diaz"), which was partly granted. In granting the Default Judgment Against Diaz, the Court held that Debtors' discharge was denied due to fraudulent conduct pursuant to §§ 727(a)(2)(A), (B), and (a)(4)(A). See Adv. No. 2:18-01274, Doc. No. 25. The second adversary proceeding was closed on March 18, 2019.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

As a preliminary matter, that Court finds that it was improper for Debtors' new attorney, Ruben Salazar ("Salazar"), to file the Opposition using Park's ECF account. Regardless of Park's individual circumstances, Salazar should have relied on his own ECF account, or taken the necessary steps to timely procure. Notwithstanding this fact, the Court will consider the substantive arguments raised in the Opposition because there is nothing to suggest that Salazar does not actually represent the Debtors.

compensation to award, the Court considers the:

nature, the extent, and the value of such services, taking into account all relevant factors, including—

- (A) the time spent on such services;
- (B) the rates charged for such services;
- (C) whether the services were necessary to the administration of, or beneficial at the time at which the service was rendered toward the completion of, a case under this title;
- (D) whether the services were performed within a reasonable amount of time commensurate with the complexity, importance, and nature of the problem, issue, or task addressed;
- (E) with respect to a professional person, whether the person is board certified or otherwise has demonstrated skill and experience in the bankruptcy field; and
- (F) whether the compensation is reasonable based on the customary compensation charged by comparably skilled practitioners in cases other than cases under this title.

§ 330(a)(3).

The Debtors' objection against Applicant's requested fees of $10,354.50 for services connected to the adversary proceedings is OVERRULED. While the Court observes that Applicant's requested fees are particularly high for a Chapter 7 proceeding, the Court also recognizes that Applicant was required to expend substantial time and resources litigating the conveyance of the Property from Debtors to their daughter. As discussed above, Applicant's services were paramount to the successful administration of this case as they enabled the Trustee to recover, market, and sell the Property, thereby realizing gross receipts of $680,000. The Court further observes that the receipts realized were sufficient to pay off both secured and unsecured creditors in full, and ample enough to provide Debtors with a surplus north of $8,000 [Note 3]. The Debtors ascribe much importance to the time entries recorded in connection with the "Motion for Default Judgment," arguing that these requested fees are exorbitant as Applicant had previously prepared a "request for entry of default." The Court finds that Debtors' objection has no merit. Upon revisiting the docket, the Court agrees with Applicant that these two pleadings are distinct and were filed for different reasons at separate stages of litigation. Accordingly, Applicant prepared the request for entry of default [Adv. No. 2:18-01273, Doc. No. 13] requesting that the Clerk's office enter default against Defendant under Local Bankruptcy Rule 7055-1(a), while the Default Judgment Motion against Olivares was prepared as ordered by Court [Adv. No. 2:18-01273, Doc. No. 20]. Moreover, Applicant's requested fees are understandable because of the higher rate charged by an accredited bankruptcy specialist such as Mr. Avery, which Debtors concede is "not unreasonable." See Opposition at 8. Finally, the Court notes that Applicant voluntarily reduced its fees by $5,000. In sum, the Court determines that the requested fees described above are reasonable, and therefore, rejects Debtors' invitation to exercise its discretion to appoint a fee examiner under Local Bankruptcy Rule 2016-1(e).

Notwithstanding the abovementioned, the Court finds it appropriate to reduce Applicant's fee of $468 for a "trip to the clerk's office" by 50% ($234) as an amount excessively charged for an administrative task. See Application, Ex. 1 at 17. The Court determines that this reduced fee is consistent with the nature of the task, and commensurate with the rates charged by administrative staff performing similar services.

Based on the foregoing, the Court approves fees in the total amount of $78,510 and expenses in the total amount of $651.85 for a total award of $79,161.85.

Docket 3173

Tentative Ruling:

10/21/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the Motion is GRANTED and the Assumption/Rejection Deadline is extended to and including December 24, 2019.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Debtor's Notice of Motion and Fourth Motion for Entry of an Order Pursuant to § 365(d)(4) of the Bankruptcy Code Extending the Time to Assume or Reject Unexpired Leases of Nonresidential Real Property Nunc Pro Tunc [Doc. No. 3173] (the "Motion")

- 2) No opposition to the Motion is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On August 31, 2018 (the "Petition Date"), Verity Health Systems of California ("VHS") and certain of its subsidiaries (collectively, the "Debtors") filed voluntary petitions for relief under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. On August 31, 2018, the Court entered an order granting the Debtors' motion for joint administration of the Debtors' Chapter 11 cases. Doc. No. 17.

Individual Debtors are parties to multiple real-property, non-residential leases necessary for the operation of the Debtors' business, including office and operational space (the "Leases"). On February 19, 2019, the Court extended the Debtors' deadline to assume or reject these unexpired leases (such deadline, the "Assumption/Rejection Deadline") by 90 days, to and including March 29, 2019. Doc. No. 1579. On May 15, 2019, the Court further extended the Assumption/Rejection Deadline to and including June 27, 2019. Doc. No. 2383. On August 1, 2019, the Court further extended the Assumption/Rejection Deadline to and including September 25, 2019. Doc. No. 2838. Debtors now move for an extension of the Assumption/Rejection Deadline to and including December 24, 2019. Debtors state that an extension is necessary because Strategic Global Management (“SGM”), the purchaser of the Debtors’ remaining hospitals, has not made a determination regarding the assumption or rejection of the Leases.

No opposition to the Motion is on file.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Section 365(d)(4) provides:

(A) Subject to subparagraph (B), an unexpired lease of nonresidential real property under which the debtor is the lessee shall be deemed rejected, and the trustee shall immediately surrender that nonresidential real property to the lessor, if the trustee does not assume or reject the unexpired lease by the earlier of—

- (i) the date that is 120 days after the date of the order for relief; or
- (ii) the date of the entry of an order confirming a plan.

(i) The court may extend the period determined under subparagraph (A), prior to the expiration of the 120-day period, for 90 days on the motion of the trustee or lessor for cause.

(ii) If the court grants an extension under clause (i), the court may grant a subsequent extension only upon prior written consent of the lessor in each instance.

In its prior ruling extending the Assumption/Rejection deadline to September 25, 2019, the Court deemed a Lessor’s non-opposition to constitute "consent" for purposes of § 365(d)(4)(B)(ii). See Doc. No. 2760-1. The Court finds it appropriate to continue to deem the Lessor’s non-opposition to constitute consent. Because the Debtors remain current on lease payments, this approach does not prejudice the Lessors. In addition, absent extension of the deadline, the Debtors will lack the ability to assume and assign any of the leases at issue to SGM. This would require SGM to renegotiate the leases, making it more difficult for SGM to consummate the purchase of the Debtors' remaining hospitals.

The Lessors have received notice of the Motion and have not objected to the relief requested. The Assumption/Rejection Deadline is extended to and including December 24, 2019.

The Debtors shall submit an order incorporating this tentative ruling by reference within seven days of the hearing.

On September 26, 2019, the Court entered a Memorandum of Decision Authorizing Debtors to Sell Medi-Cal Provider Agreements, Free and Clear of Interests Asserted by the California Department of Health Care Services, Pursuant to §363(f)(5) [Doc. No. 3146] (the "Memorandum of Decision"). On October 11, 2019, the Court entered an order memorializing the relief granted in the Memorandum of Decision. See Doc. No. 3372 (the "Order"). The California Department of Health Care Services (the "DHCS") has appealed the Order, and moves for a stay pending appeal.

A. Summary of the DHCS' Motion for a Stay Pending Appeal of the Order

The DHCS makes the following arguments and representations in support of the Motion:

The DHCS is likely to succeed in its appeal of the Order. The Court's conclusion that the Debtors' Medi-Cal Provider Agreements (the "Provider Agreements") are not executory contracts is mistaken because both parties provided consideration. The DHCS provided consideration because it does not have any pre-existing legal duty to authorizing any health care entity to become a Medi-Cal provider. There is sufficient consideration by the Debtors because the Debtors receive the benefit of being able to receive payments for treating Medi-Cal beneficiaries. In addition, the Debtors provided consideration by agreeing that any purchaser of the Provider Agreements would be subject to successor liability, and that the Debtors would be jointly and severally liable for the purchaser's successor liability. No federal or state statutes or regulations mandate joint and several successor liability by the purchaser.

DHCS will suffer irreparable injury absent a stay, because the Medi-Cal program will be significantly harmed absent a stay. Once the sale closes and funds are distributed to creditors, it will be extremely difficult, if not impossible, for DHCS to recover its claim against the Debtors for unpaid HQA fee obligations and Medi-Cal overpayments. DHCS will also suffer irreparable harm because absent a stay, its appeal will likely become moot.

Other parties will not be harmed by a stay. The only potential impact of a stay is a slight delay in the distribution to creditors. The harm that the potential delay will impose is far outweighed by the significant harm to the Medi-Cal Program that will result if a stay is not granted.

A stay promotes the public interest by maintaining the integrity of the Medi-Cal Program.

B. Summary of the Debtors' Opposition to the Motion

The Debtors make the following arguments in Opposition to the Motion [Note 1]:

The DHCS has failed to demonstrate a likelihood of success on the merits of its appeal. To make such a showing, the DHCS must demonstrate that the Memorandum of Decision constituted an abuse of the Court's discretion. In attempting to make this showing, the DHCS merely repeats arguments that the Court considered and rejected.

For the first time, the DHCS argues that the joint and several liability provisions in the Provider Agreements and DHCS' decision to "execute" the Provider Agreements constitute non-statutory obligations, providing consideration. DHCS waived this argument by failing to assert it in opposition to the Debtors' motion to sell the Provider Agreements free and clear of DHCS' interests. Therefore, the argument will not succeed on appeal.

There is no merit to DHCS' argument that it will suffer irreparable injury because its appeal will likely become moot absent a stay. In the bankruptcy context, most courts have concluded that the statutory policy of mootness does not demonstrate irreparable injury. Nor is a stay necessary to protect DHCS from being harmed by distributions to creditors through the Debtors' Plan of Liquidation. The Debtors do not intend to confirm a Plan until November or December 2019. Distributions to creditors will not begin for months.

The Debtors, SGM, and the community of patients served by the Debtors' hospitals (the "Hospitals") will suffer substantial injury if a stay is granted. DHCS has requested that the Debtors hold more than $70 million in trust to cover alleged HQAF and overpayment liabilities. A $70 million hold-back would create a liquidity crisis that would likely require the Debtors to close three of their Hospitals.

A stay is contrary to the public interest because the public would be harmed if the Debtors were required to close three of their Hospitals. A stay could also cause the sale of the Hospitals to SGM to collapse, to the detriment of the estate.

If the Court grants a stay, it should require DHCS to post a supersedeas bond in the amount of $915 million.

Chapter 11

DHCS makes the following arguments in its Reply in support of the Motion:

The Order involves a matter of significant public importance. The Court should certify a direct appeal of the Order to the Ninth Circuit, pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 158(d)(2). The issue of the proper characterization of the Provider Agreements will arise in almost all bankruptcy sales of hospitals in the State of California.

The Debtors erroneously claim that DHCS waived the argument that consideration exists because the Provider Agreements required the Debtors to agree to the imposition of successor joint and several liability. In its Supplemental Objection, DHCS stated that the “Debtors’ eligibility to participate in the Medi-Cal program is conditioned upon its consent to the terms of the Agreements.” Doc. No. 3043 at 13. Successor joint and several liability is a term agreed to by the parties in the Provider Agreements.

II. Findings and Conclusions

A. The Motion for a Stay Pending Appeal is Denied

At the outset, the Court addresses the Debtors’ evidentiary objection to the declaration submitted in support of the Motion by Deputy Attorney General Kenneth K. Wang (the “Wang Decl.”). The Wang Decl. states that absent a stay pending appeal, the Medi-Cal program will sustain irreparable injury as a result of DHCS’ inability to recover the Debtors’ alleged HQAF and overpayment liabilities. The Debtors assert that the testimony lacks foundation regarding the declarant’s personal knowledge, and that only an expert can testify regarding the impact of the Order on the Medi-Cal program.

The Debtors’ evidentiary objection is overruled. The DHCS is an agency of the State of California involved in the administration of the Medi-Cal program. As counsel to the DHCS, Mr. Wang is qualified to testify regarding the manner in which the Order might affect the operations of the Medi-Cal program.

Turning to the merits, the DHCS’ application for a stay pending appeal of the Order is denied. Pursuant to Fed. R. Bankr. P. 8007(a)(1), the Court may issue a stay of a judgment, order, or decree pending appeal. In determining whether to grant a stay pending appeal, the Court considers the following four factors:

- (1) whether the stay applicant has made a strong showing that he is likely to succeed on the merits; (2) whether the applicant will be irreparably injured absent a stay; (3) whether issuance of the stay will substantially injure the other parties interested in the proceeding; and (4) where the public interest lies.

Nken v. Holder, 556 U.S. 418, 426 (2009).

As the Supreme Court has explained, a stay pending appeal

"is not a matter of right, even if irreparable injury might otherwise result." Virginian R. Co., 272 U.S., at 672, 47 S.Ct. 222. It is instead "an exercise of judicial discretion," and "[t]he propriety of its issue is dependent upon the circumstances of the particular case." Id., at 672–673, 47 S.Ct. 222; see Hilton, supra, at 777, 107 S.Ct. 2113 ("[T]he traditional stay factors contemplate individualized judgments in each case"). The party requesting a stay bears the burden of showing that the circumstances justify an exercise of that discretion....

The first two factors of the traditional standard are the most critical. It is not enough that the chance of success on the merits be "better than negligible." ... By the same token, simply showing some "possibility of irreparable injury," Abbassi v. INS, 143 F.3d 513, 514 (C.A.9 1998), fails to satisfy the second factor.

Id. at 433–35.

To be entitled to a stay pending appeal, the moving party must make a "minimum permissible showing" with respect to each of the four factors. Leiva-Perez v. Holder, 640 F.3d 962, 965 (9th Cir. 2011). Provided the moving party meets a minimum threshold as to each factor, the Court may "balance the various stay factors once they are established." Id. at 965. Under this balancing approach, a stronger showing of irreparable harm can offset a weaker showing of likelihood of success on the merits, and vice versa—provided that the minimum threshold with respect to each factor has been established. Id. at 965–66; see also id. at 964 ("Petitioner must show either a probability of success on the merits and the possibility of irreparable injury, or that serious legal questions are raised and the balance of hardships tips sharply in petitioner's favor. These standards represent the outer extremes of a continuum, with the relative hardships to the parties providing the critical element in determining at what point on the continuum a stay pending review is justified.").

Chapter 11

As the Ninth Circuit has explained:

The first showing a stay petitioner must make is "a strong showing that he is likely to succeed on the merits." Id. at 1761 (quoting Hilton, 481 U.S. at 776, 107 S.Ct. 2113) (quotation marks omitted). There is some uncertainty as to the exact degree of likely success that stay petitioners must show, due principally to the fact that courts routinely use different formulations to describe this element of the stay test. What is clear, however, is that to justify a stay, petitioners need not demonstrate that it is more likely than not that they will win on the merits....

There are many ways to articulate the minimum quantum of likely success necessary to justify a stay—be it a "reasonable probability" or "fair prospect," as Hollingsworth, 130 S.Ct. at 710, suggests; "a substantial case on the merits," in Hilton's words, 481 U.S. at 778, 107 S.Ct. 2113; or, as articulated in Abbassi, 143 F.3d at 514, that "serious legal questions are raised." We think these formulations are essentially interchangeable, and that none of them demand a showing that success is more likely than not. Regardless of how one expresses the requirement, the idea is that in order to justify a stay, a petitioner must show, at a minimum, that she has a substantial case for relief on the merits.

Leiva-Perez, 640 F.3d at 967–68.

The DHCS has failed to demonstrate that it is likely to succeed on the merits. The Memorandum of Decision sets forth in detail the Court's reasons for finding that the Provider Agreements are executory contracts that may be sold to SGM, free and clear of the interests asserted by the DHCS. In the instant Motion, the DHCS largely reiterates arguments previously considered and rejected by the Court.

The DHCS asserts that the Debtors provided consideration when entering into the Provider Agreements by agreeing that any purchaser of the Provider Agreements would be subject to successor liability, and that the Debtors would be jointly and severally liable for such successor liability. The DHCS contends that no federal or state statute or regulation mandates joint and several successor liability by the purchaser.

The DHCS filed two briefs in opposition to the Debtors' motion to sell the Provider Agreements, and did not raise this argument in either brief. The DHCS waived the argument by failing to timely raise it. See LBR 9013-1(f)(2) (providing that an opposition to a motion “must be a complete written statements of all reasons in opposition thereto ...”); see also In re Silberkraus, 253 B.R. 890, 910 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2000), subsequently aff'd, 336 F.3d 864 (9th Cir. 2003) (holding that the failure to timely file an opposition constitutes a waiver of the arguments that could have been presented in the opposition). The DHCS’ untimely assertion of this additional argument is not sufficient to show that it is likely to succeed on the merits.

The DHCS claims that it did raise the argument, and points to the following single sentence in its Supplemental Objection: “Debtors’ eligibility to participate in the Medi-Cal program is conditioned upon its consent to the terms of the Agreements.” Doc. No. 3043 at 13. The DHCS’ theory is that the argument was raised because successor joint and several liability is a term in the Provider Agreements.

By including a single sentence referring generally to the Debtors’ eligibility to participate being conditioned upon consenting to the Provider Agreements, the DHCS did not apprise the Court of the argument that consideration was provided through the Debtors’ agreement to joint and several successor liability. On page 14 of the Supplemental Objection, the DHCS listed seven “terms and conditions specified in the Agreements” that, according to the DHCS, “indisputably exemplified” consideration. The successor liability provision was not in the list. A vague and generic reference to the fact that the Debtors consented to all provisions in the Provider Agreements cannot cure this omission. There is no merit to the DHCS’ contention that the argument regarding joint and several successor liability was raised in the Supplemental Objection.

2. Irreparable Injury

The DHCS argues that it will be irreparably injured absent a stay because the closing of the sale, in conjunction with the Court’s finding that SGM is a good-faith purchaser within the meaning of § 363(m), will render an appeal moot. As a result, DHCS argues, it will be unable to obtain appellate review of an important issue affecting the welfare of the people of California.

Outside the bankruptcy context, the Ninth Circuit has held that the certainty that an appeal will become moot is enough to constitute irreparable injury. See Artukovic v. Rison, 784 F.2d 1354, 1356 (9th Cir.1986). However, within bankruptcy, a majority of courts have concluded that mootness does not demonstrate irreparable injury. See, e.g., Ohanian v. Irwin (In re Irwin), 338 B.R. 839, 853 (E.D. Cal. 2006) (“It is well settled that an appeal being rendered moot does not itself constitute irreparable harm”); In re Red Mountain Mach. Co., 451 B.R. 897, 908-09 (Bankr. D. Ariz. 2011) (internal citations omitted) (“[T]he law is clear in the Ninth Circuit that irreparable injury cannot be shown solely from the possibility that an appeal may be moot”); In re Convenience USA, Inc., 290 B.R. 558, 563 (Bankr. M.D.N.C. 2003) (stating that “a majority of the cases which have considered the issue have found that the risk that an appeal may become moot does not, standing alone, constitute irreparable injury” and citing cases).

Chapter 11

The primary objective of § 363(m)’s mootness rule “‘is to protect the interest of a good faith purchaser ... of the property,’ thereby assuring finality of sales.” In re Onouli-Kona Land Co., 846 F.2d 1170, 1172 (9th Cir. 1988) (internal citations omitted). In view of the importance of finality in bankruptcy sales, the Court finds, consistent with the majority of courts, that the risk of mootness does not constitute irreparable injury to DHCS.

Even if mootness were deemed to constitute irreparable injury, the Court notes that a stay pending appeal “‘is not a matter of right, even if irreparable injury might otherwise result.’” Nken, 556 U.S. 418 at 433 (internal citation omitted).

The DHCS next argues that the impossibility of recovering alleged payments owed by the Debtors to the Medi-Cal program constitutes irreparable injury. This argument fails, since “economic injury alone does not support a finding of irreparable harm, because such injury can be remedied by a damage award.” Rent-A-Ctr., Inc. v. Canyon Television & Appliance Rental, Inc., 944 F.2d 597, 603 (9th Cir. 1991).

3. Balance of the Hardships

The injury to the Debtors, the estate, SGM, and other stakeholders resulting from issuance of a stay will be substantially greater than the injury to the DHCS from denial of a stay. Peter C. Chadwick, a Managing Director of Berkeley Research Group, LLC (“BRG”), the financial advisors to the Debtors, testifies as follows regarding the impact of a stay:

The stay—and the more than $70 million hold-back—requested by DHCS would create a liquidity crisis that would have severe economic impact on the Debtors’ cases. By way of illustration, the hold-back of $70 million, plus the $5.5 million already recouped by DHCS in the last five weeks, would cause the Debtors to face a liquidity crisis in the first week of December 2019. Among other things, the Debtors would not have sufficient cash on hand to meet payroll obligations and other accrued liabilities, let alone potentially close the SGM Sale or effectuate a plan.

Chapter 11

Currently, the Debtors have sufficient cash on hand to sustain operations and, if necessary, conduct an orderly shut-down of hospital operations and transfer of patients. However, if the Debtors were required to hold-back $70 million, the Debtors would not have sufficient cash on hand to accomplish the foregoing, and would likely be required to close at least three of the Hospitals.

Chadwick Decl. at ¶¶ 5–6.

By contrast, denial of a stay could result in DHCS being unable to obtain appellate review of the Court's decision. This injury is less severe than the injuries that would be suffered by the Debtors and other stakeholders were a stay issued. In particular, closing of three of the Hospitals would impose serious harm upon a large number of patients who depend upon the Hospitals.

4. Public Interest

The public interest weighs strongly against staying the Order. A stay of the Order will interfere with a timely closing of the SGM Sale and would cause the Debtors to face a liquidity crisis which would likely require them to close three of the Hospitals. Closure of these Hospitals, even if temporary, would severely harm the public interest.

Delay of the SGM Sale harms the administration of the estate, which is also against the public interest. See Adelson v. Smith (In re Smith), 397 B.R. 134, 148 (Bankr. D. Nev. 2008) (holding that there "is a great public interest in the efficient administration of the bankruptcy system").

B. The Court Certifies a Direct Appeal of its Decision to the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals

Title 28 U.S.C. § 158(d)(2) provides that the Bankruptcy Court, acting on its motion, may certify a direct appeal of an order to the Court of Appeals if the order "involves a matter of public importance" or if an immediate appeal of the order will "materially advance the progress of the case or proceeding." [Note 2]

The issue of whether the Provider Agreements are properly characterized as executory contracts that must be assumed and assigned under § 365 or as licenses that may be sold free and clear under § 363 is a matter of public importance that will likely arise in future bankruptcy cases involving healthcare assets. A direct appeal will materially advance the progress of the case, in view of the importance of the SGM Sale to the Debtor's plan of reorganization.

The Court will certify a direct appeal of the Order to the Ninth Circuit.

III. Conclusion

The Court will prepare and enter orders (1) denying DHCS' motion for a stay pending appeal and (2) certifying a direct appeal of the Order to the Ninth Circuit.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Carlos Nevarez or Daniel Koontz, the Judge's Law Clerks, at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. If you wish to make a telephonic appearance, contact Court Call at 888-882-6878, no later than one hour before the hearing.

Note 1

The Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors (the "Committee") also opposes the Motion. The Committee argues that a stay will delay and possibly destroy the SGM Sale. The Committee notes that each day that the SGM Sale is delayed reduces the recovery to unsecured creditors, since the Debtors are losing approximately $450,000 per day.

Note 2

The DHCS' request for certification of a direct appeal was procedurally improper, because it was presented for the first time in the DHCS' reply, depriving the Debtors of an opportunity to respond. However, the Court may certify a direct appeal on its motion, and the Court has certified a direct appeal of a related order authorizing the Debtors to sell the Hospitals free and clear of conditions asserted by the Attorney General. Under the circumstances, the Court will overlook the procedural irregularity in the DHCS' request.

#7.00 HearingRE: [8] Motion to Amend Motion for Leave to File First Amended Complaint

Docket 8

Tentative Ruling:

10/22/2019

For the reasons set forth below, the motion for leave to file a First Amended Complaint is DENIED. By separate order, the Court will require the Plaintiff to appear and show cause why this action should not be remanded to the Los Angeles Superior Court.

Pleadings Filed and Reviewed:

- 1) Notice of Motion and Plaintiff's Motion for Leave to File its First Amended Complaint [Doc. No. 8] (the "Motion")
- 2) No opposition to the Motion is on file

I. Facts and Summary of Pleadings

On June 26, 2018, Faoud Barakat (the "Plaintiff") filed a Complaint for Damages, Fraud, [and] Breach of Contract in the Los Angeles Superior Court (the "State Court Complaint") against Cafa Homes, Inc. ("Cafa Homes") and Carlos A. Flores. On September 4, 2019, Cafa Homes filed a voluntary Chapter 7 petition. On September 5, 2019, Plaintiff removed the State Court Complaint to the Bankruptcy Court.

The material allegations of the State Court Complaint are as follows:

- 1) Flores is the principal, sole owner, and manager of Cafa Homes. Flores is the alter ego of Cafa Homes.
- 2) In January 2016, Plaintiff loaned Flores and Cafa Homes $145,000.00 for the purpose of refurbishing real property located in Los Angeles (the "Property"). Flores represented to Plaintiff that the loan would be secured by the Property. Flores presented to Plaintiff a forged Deed of Trust which appeared to have been recorded, when in fact the Deed of Trust had never been recorded. The recording stamps on the Deed of Trust had been forged.

- 3) Flores and Cafa Homes have defaulted on the payments due under the loan.

Based upon the foregoing allegations, the State Court Complaint asserts claims for fraud and breach of contract against Cafa Homes and Flores.

Plaintiff seeks leave to file a First Amended Complaint (the "FAC"). The proposed FAC maintains the allegations of the State Court Complaint, but adds Terra Nova Capital, Inc. ("Terra Nova"), the supervising broker over Flores, as a defendant. The proposed FAC adds claims for relief under § 523(a)(2)(A) and (a)(6) against Cafa Homes. Flores and Terra Nova have not sought bankruptcy protection.

II. Findings and Conclusions

Civil Rule 15(a)(2) provides that subsequent to the filing of an answer, a complaint may be amended "only with the opposing party's written consent or with the court's leave." The Court is required to "freely give leave when justice so requires." Civil Rule 15(a)(2). However, "[l]eave need not be granted where the amendment of the complaint would cause the opposing party undue prejudice, is sought in bad faith, constitutes an exercise in futility, or creates undue delay." Ascon Properties, Inc. v. Mobil Oil Co., 866 F.2d 1149, 1160 (9th Cir. 1989).

Here, granting leave to amend would constitute an exercise in futility. The proposed FAC adds claims for relief under § 523(a)(2)(A) and (a)(6) against Cafa Homes. The § 523 causes of action fail to state a claim upon which relief can be granted against Cafa Homes, because Cafa Homes is a business entity that is not eligible to receive a discharge. See § 727(a)(1) (providing that the "court shall grant the debtor a discharge, unless the debtor is not an individual"). Because Cafa Homes is ineligible to receive a discharge, the Court cannot grant any meaningful relief on the proposed § 523 causes of action.

The removed State Court Complaint contains only non-core claims arising under non-bankruptcy law. The only claims in the proposed FAC which arise under bankruptcy law fail to state a claim upon which relief can be granted. Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1452, the Court will require Plaintiff to appear and show cause why the State Court Complaint should not be remanded.

The Court will prepare and enter an (1) order denying the motion for leave to file the FAC and an (2) order requiring Plaintiff to appear and show cause why the State Court Complaint should not be remanded.

Chapter 11

On August 20, 2019, secured creditor Banc of California, National Association (the "Creditor") timely objected to several of Debtor's claimed objections. The objecting Creditor holds a claim in the amount of $2,617,169.05 secured by Debtor's interest in real property located at 1511 Summitridge Drive, Beverly Hills, CA 90210 (the "Property"). See Doc. No. 29.

In its objection Objection, the Creditor contends that Debtor impermissibly seeks exemptions in property not recognized under state law, and otherwise, seeks exemptions in amounts exceeding the statutory limits. The Court summarizes the Creditor's and Debtor's position below:

- i. Miscellaneous household goods, furnishings, and appliances (the "Household Goods & Furniture")
 - a. Value: $9,000
 - b. Amount of Exemption: $9,000 per § 703.140(b)(3)
 - c. Creditors' Objection: Debtor's Schedule C does not adequately describe the values of each exempt item; amount claimed exceeds statutory cap per § 703.140(b)(3)
- ii. Electronics – misc. consumer electronics (televisions, stereos, cellphones) (the "Electronics")
 - a. Value: $3,500
 - b. Amount of Exemption: $3,500 per § 703.140(b)(3)

On August 27, 2019, the Debtor filed a timely opposition. First, as a general point of contention, the Debtor argues that the Objection has no legal or factual support and that the arguments made therein are contrary to law or otherwise unintelligible. Debtor claims that the Objection is nothing more than frivolous and harassing motion practice, intended to augment the legal expenses of an over-secured creditor. Debtor cites to case law supporting the inclusion of the Electronics and the Sports and Hobby Equipment as applicable exemptions under §703.140(b)(3). Additionally, the Debtor claims that any argument that he ignored statutory limits by improperly "lumping" non-exempt property with claimed exemptions is nonsensical and unsupported by any evidence.

Finally, Debtor states that Creditor wrongly assumes the order in which he intends to apply his wildcard exemption under §703.140(b)(5). Debtor represents that he planned to first apply the wildcard exemption (with the entire unused amount available under § 703.140(b)(1) equaling $30,825) towards the value of the Bank Accounts and Deposit totaling $17,976.28. See Opposition at 6. The remaining exemption amount of $12,848.72 would then be applied to available equity, if any, in the Business Interests and the Property, in that order. See Opposition at 6. See id. Therefore, Debtor asks the Court to deny the Objection in its entirety, and in addition, to preclude any legal fees Creditor may request from this allegedly frivolous Objection.

As of the date of this tentative ruling, no reply is on file.

II. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

A claimed exemption is "presumptively valid." In re Diener, 483 B.R. 196, 203 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2012) (citing Carter v. Anderson (In re Carter), 182 F.3d 1027, 1029 n.3 (9th Cir. 1999)). Once an exemption has been claimed, it is the objecting party's burden to prove by a preponderance of the evidence that the exemption is not properly claimed. Id. (citing Fed. R. Bankr. P. 4003(c)); In re Kelley, 300 B.R. 11, 17 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2003). Initially, this means that the objecting party has the burden of production and the burden of persuasion. In re Carter, 182 F.3d at 1029 n.3. The objecting party must produce evidence to rebut the presumptively valid exemption. Id. If the objecting party can produce evidence to rebut the exemption, the burden of production then shifts to the debtor to come forward with unequivocal evidence to demonstrate that the exemption is proper. Id. The burden of persuasion, however, always remains with the objecting party. Id.

As of April 1, 2019, the dollar amounts of exemptions permitted under California Code of Civil Procedure section 703.140(b) are as follows:

California's "household good exemption" under § 703.140(b)(3) allows debtors to claim an exemption up to the amount of $725 per item, for an unlimited number of eligible items. Cf In re Mohring, 142 B.R. 389, 395 (Bankr. motion). The Debtor claimed exemptions under § 703.140(b)(3) in the following property: (i) $9,000 for Household Goods; (ii) $3,500 for Electronics; (iii) $1,000 for Sports and Hobby Equipment; and (iv) $5,000 for Clothing. At the outset, the Court deems Debtor's claimed exemptions as valid. Creditor posits that Debtor must have exceeded the statutory exemption under § 703.140(b)(3) because the property claimed as exempt is not described with specificity. However, given that Creditor has failed to proffer any evidence demonstrating that any of the claimed items has a value higher than $725, it follows that Creditor's argument is based on pure conjecture. The Court refuses to entertain the speculative premises asserted by Creditor.

Next, the Creditor argues that the Electronics and the Sports and Hobby Equipment cannot be claimed as exempt pursuant to § 703.140(b)(3). The Court rejects this particular argument as well. California bankruptcy courts construe state exemption statutes liberally to effect their purpose "to sav[e] debtors and their families from want by reason of misfortune or improvidence." In re Dunnaway, 466 B.R. 515, 521 (Bankr. E. D. Cal. 2012); see also In re Turner, 186 B.R. 108, 115 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1995). With this policy in mind, courts undertaking inquiries of this kind first look to the statute and then turn to the past decisions of California bankruptcy courts addressing identical or similar questions. See In re Dunnaway, 466 B.R. at 521. The Court recognizes that while § 703.140 does not define "household goods," "household furnishings," or "household use," California's general exemption statute provides that household furnishings and appliances are exempt if "ordinarily and reasonably necessary to, and personally used or procured for use by" debtor and debtor's family in their residence. Cal. Civ. Proc. Code § 704.020(a). Further, courts faced with this question have upheld debtors' claims of exemptions in electronics and objects routinely used for entertainment, sport, or other recreational purposes. See e.g. In re Dunnaway, 466 B.R. at 526 (granting debtor's exemption in several firearms); In re Lucas, 77 B.R. 242, 245 (9th Cir. BAP 1987) (overturning lower court's denial of debtor's exemptions in a camera, exercise bike, and golf clubs.) Here, the Creditor did not provide either any evidence that the Debtor or his family use the disputed property in a manner inconsistent with state law, nor any legal authority to otherwise disallow Debtor's claimed exemptions. Therefore, Creditor has not satisfied its burden of proof as to these objections.

Therefore, the Objection is OVERRULED. The Debtor is entitled to an exemption of $725 per each item eligible under § 703.140(b)(3).

Chapter 11

CCP § 703.140(b)(5)

Under the "wild card" exemption of § 703.140(b)(5), the Debtor may exempt his interest in goods which are not fully exemptible under other exemption provisions, up to $1,550, plus any unused amount of the exemption provided under paragraph (1).

Here, the full $29,275 exemption remains available under § 703.140(b)(1) because Debtor did not claim any property exempt therefrom. Therefore, the Debtor has a valid wild card exemption of $30,825, consisting of the unused exemption of $29,275 under § 703.140(b)(1), and the amount available under § 703.140(b)(5), which is $1,550.

The Debtor claimed exemptions under § 703.140(b)(5) as follows: (i) $17,465.91 in the Bank Accounts and Deposit, and for undetermined amounts in (ii) the Business Interests and (iii) for the Property, to the extent any amount of the exemption remains available. Accordingly, the Court finds that the Debtor may still exempt up to $13,359.09 in the Business Interests and the Property. However, the Court cannot determine if Debtor claimed property in excess of the remaining wild card exemption because the amounts to be exempted from the Business Interests have not been asserted (see Doc. No. 29) with the appropriate level of specificity. The Debtor states that the values of his Business Interests are unknown to him; however, this response ignores the fact that debtors have a duty to inform creditors which property they intend to exempt from the estate. See Hyman v. Plotkin (In re Hyman), 967 F.2d 1316–20, n. 6 (9th Cir. 1992) ("[b]ecause the time to object is relatively short, [] it is important that trustees and creditors be able to determine precisely whether a listed asset is validly exempt simply by reading a debtor's schedules.").

The Court lacks the necessary facts to determine whether Debtor has asserted exemptions in excess of his wild card exemption. However, to the extent that Debtor has a valid wild card exemption available, the Objection against exemptions under § 703.140(b)(5) is OVERRULED as premature. The Debtor shall specify monetary allocations of exemptions claimed under § 703.140(b)(5) in an amended Schedule C, to be filed no later than 30 days following entry of an order incorporating this tentative ruling.

#100.00 HearingRE: [11] Notice of motion and motion for relief from the automatic stay with supporting declarations PERSONAL PROPERTY RE: 2015 Toyota Camry .

Docket 11

Tentative Ruling:

10/24/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1) to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to foreclose upon and obtain possession of the property in accordance with applicable law. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. Movant has established a prima facie case that cause exists, and Debtor has not responded with evidence establishing that the property is not declining in value or that Movant is adequately protected.

Based on Debtor's schedules, the Court finds that the subject vehicle has a value of $15,000 and is encumbered by a perfected security interest in favor of the Movant. Considering Movant's lien and estimated costs of sale, there is some, but very little equity and there is no evidence that the trustee can administer the property for the benefit of creditors. Movant is protected by an estimated equity cushion in the property of 8.3%.

The Ninth Circuit has established that an equity cushion of 20% constitutes adequate protection for a secured creditor. Pistole v. Mellor (In re Mellor), 734 F.2d 1396, 1401 (9th Cir. 1984); see Downey Sav. & Loan Ass'n v. Helionetics, Inc. (In re Helionetics, Inc.), 70 B.R. 433, 440 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1987) (holding that a 20.4% equity cushion was sufficient to protect the creditor's interest in its collateral). Because the equity cushion in this case is less than 20%, the Court concludes that Movant's interest in the vehicle is not adequately protected. This is cause to terminate the stay under 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1).

This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. The 14-day stay prescribed by FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived. All other relief is denied.

Movant shall upload an appropriate order via the Court's Lodged Order Upload system within 7 days of the hearing.

No appearance is required if submitting on the court's tentative ruling. If you intend to submit on the tentative ruling, please contact Daniel Koontz or Carlos Nevarez, the Judge's law clerks at 213-894-1522. If you intend to contest the tentative ruling and appear, please first contact opposing counsel to inform them of your intention to do so. Should an opposing party file a late opposition or appear at the hearing, the court will determine whether further hearing is required. Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1). The stay is terminated as to the Debtor and the Debtor's bankruptcy estate with respect to the Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns. Movant may enforce its remedies to obtain possession of the property in accordance with applicable law, but may not pursue a deficiency claim against the debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501.

The Movant filed an unlawful detainer action on July 11, 2019. Following trial, an unlawful detainer judgment favorable to the Movant was entered on August 12, 2019.

This Motion has been filed to allow the Movant to proceed under applicable nonbankruptcy law to enforce its remedies to obtain possession of the property. Under California law, debtors' possessory interests are extinguished following entry of an unlawful detainer judgment and a writ of possession. In re Perl, 811 F.3d 1120, 1128 (9th Cir. 2016). (Wilkinson, Reilly)

Docket 10

Tentative Ruling:

10/30/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1) for cause to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to repossess or otherwise obtain possession and dispose of its collateral pursuant to applicable law, and to use the proceeds from its disposition to satisfy its claim. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. The Court takes judicial notice of the Chapter 7 Individual Debtor's Statement of Intention in which the Debtor stated an intention to surrender the vehicle to Movant.

This order shall be binding and effective despite any conversion of the bankruptcy case to a case under any other chapter of Title 11 of the United States Code. The 14-day stay prescribed by FRBP 4001(a)(3) is waived. All other relief is denied.

Movant shall upload an appropriate order via the Court's Lodged Order Upload system within 7 days of the hearing.

#2.00 HearingRE: [21] Notice of motion and motion for relief from the automatic stay with supporting declarations REAL PROPERTY RE: 10970 South Avalon Blvd, Los Angeles, CA 90061 .

Docket 21

Tentative Ruling:

10/30/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2) to permit Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns, to enforce its remedies to foreclose upon and obtain possession of the property in accordance with applicable law. Movant may not pursue any deficiency claim against the Debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501. Since a chapter 7 case does not contemplate reorganization, the sole issue before the Court when stay relief is sought under 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2) is whether the Debtor has equity in the property. See, e.g., Martens v. Countrywide Home Loans (In re Martens), 331 B.R. 395, 398 (B.A.P. 8th Cir. 2005); Ramco Indus. v. Preuss (In re Preuss), 15 B.R. 896, 897 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1981).

The subject property has a value of $510,000 and is encumbered by multiple perfected deed of trusts in favor of the Movant. The liens against the property and the expected costs of sale (based upon 8% of the estimated gross sale price) total $523,398. The Court finds there is no equity and there is no evidence that the trustee can administer the subject real property for the benefit of creditors.

The subject property has a fair market value of $596,000 and is encumbered by a perfected deed of trust or mortgage in favor of the Movant. The liens against the property and the expected costs of sale (based upon 8% of estimated gross sale receipts) total $643,680. #4.00 HearingRE: [5] Notice of motion and motion for relief from the automatic stay with supporting declarations UNLAWFUL DETAINER RE: 5319 Live Oak Street, Cudahy, CA 90201 . (Cruz, Joseph)

Docket 5

Tentative Ruling:

10/30/2019

Tentative Ruling:

This Motion for relief from the automatic stay has been set for hearing on the notice required by LBR 4001(c)(1) and LBR 9013-1(d)(2). The failure of the Debtor, the trustee, and all other parties in interest to file written opposition at least 14 days prior to the hearing as required by LBR 9013-1(f) is considered as consent to the granting of the Motion. LBR 9013-1(h). Cf. Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995).

The Motion is GRANTED pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1). The stay is terminated as to the Debtor and the Debtor's bankruptcy estate with respect to the Movant, its successors, transferees and assigns. Movant may enforce its remedies to obtain possession of the property in accordance with applicable law, but may not pursue a deficiency claim against the debtor or property of the estate except by filing a proof of claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 501.

The Movant filed an unlawful detainer action on August 20, 2019, with a trial scheduled to take place on November 11, 2019.

This Motion has been filed to allow the Movant to proceed with the unlawful detainer proceeding in state court. The unlawful detainer proceeding may go forward because the Debtor's right to possess the premises must be determined. This does not change simply because a bankruptcy petition was filed.
